It has been found that the timber of the islands exposed to more sun and to the weather produces better all-round résults than does the fir from the dense forests. It is therefore an advantage to have the raw material drawn from these islands. Before the Anacortes plant is completed, Mr. Calkins says that the sister plant to be located on Vancouver Island will be started. Other plants along the coast will be erected later.

HE DECLINED TO

The property upon which the plant will be erected has 450 feet of water frontage, so that the situation is ad-mirably adapted for the operations. Situated convenient to the islands, east of the southern end of Vancouver Island, the main supply of wood will be

NANAIMO LADIES PROTEST.

As a result of the victory at Victoria recently the Vancouver ladies hockey team now claims the undisputed championship of British Columbia.

It might be added that when the Nanaimo laddes played at Vancouver lists week the Terminal City team promised a return match to be played later in the season at Nanaimo. The local city has now waited for some time for that game and the only answer they received to their inquiries was that the Vancouver ladies could not get a team together to play could not get a team together to play, and yet the Vancouver team was able to come to Victoria with its full strength and now lays claim to the championship.

RAW MATERIAL

The Supply of Raw Material is Practicably Inexhaustible

Everyone familiar with the Northwest knows that there are hundreds of square miles of turpentine bearing forests on Puget Sound and surrounding country; it is also a well-known fact that the butts of fir trees contain the most resin, turpentine, etc. That is why-trees are frequently felled leaving stumps from ten to twelve feet high. These stumps are at the present time considered worthless, and may be had for the cost of removing. Mill waste, such as slabs, sawdust, etc., at the present time is being burned as a means of riddance, and can be purchased at a very small cost.

We offer 100,000 Shares of Treasury Stock at 25c, per share. Par value $1.00. If you wish to get stock at this price in this manufacturing industry, act promptly, as the allotment will be quickly taken up, and without question the Stock will soon go to par. We feel safe in guaranteeing 25 per cent. annually on investment, as dividends should be no less than 75 per cent, on investment. We refer by permission to Puget Sound National Bank, and

REMEMBER, that we are not speculating in an unknown, unproven proposition, but are making investment in a staple manufacturing industry, manufacturing commodities for which there is a ready market and upon which there is an immense profit. Now is the time to investigate. (You will find our proposition just as we represent it.)

Well Known Toronto Correspondent Tells the Other Side of the lamaican Incident.

Canadians have already learned there were two sides to the Swettenham-Davis incident, says the Toronto News, Davis increase, on the but just how much there was to be said on the side of the British governor is perhaps best told in a letter from a Toronte citizen now in Jamai from a Toronto citizen now in Jamaica. Mr. R. E. A. Land, writes to The News from Montego Bay, Jamaica, Hepoints out that Governor Swettenham never intended that the United States marines should land, and gave express orders to this effect, but it is reported the coional secretary disregarded these and invited Admiral Davis to. lund. There were plenty of troops at Kingston, and the black people are loyal, so that there was no danger of an up-rising. Mr. Land proceeds:

Mr. J. Castell Hopkins' Charge Mr. J. Castell Hopkins, in a re-address before the Empire Club, c the Swettenham-Davis igcident by the American Associated Press. Or "More important, however, than any dispute between an American admiral and a British governor is the fact, which I have been leading up to, of Canadian sympathy with the former, caused by a twisting of telegraphed news to a degree which the American Associated Press has never equated. I charge that important and responsible body with sending one-sided, colered, inaccurate pen-pictures of the complicated condition in Kingston and Jamaica generally. There is an annexationist party there composed of certain American merchants and lispute between an American admira annexationist party there composed of certain American merchants and others who benefit by trade with the United States and of a few English who resent the withdrawal of the British fleeet and look upon the West Indies as fated to join the Union. This section is opposed to the governor and the English administration, and vehemently hostile to him and them in any ently hostile to him and them in any ssue such as the present. Yet it was the opinions, the processes, the animus, of this section of the population that permeated and practically compiled the dispatches from Jamalea.

Moulded by Associated Press.

"In a nuishell it may be said that Canadian public opinion was moulded in this whole matter by the utterances and opinions of the American Associated Press. We never received any report of the governor's action. It was chiefly a retailing of virulent criticism chiefly a retailing of virulent criticism of his inconceivable imprudence in orderng troops out of Kngston and in daring to resent in satirical terms the unwarranted action of an American admiral. Cuba is hardly American soil yet if a British admiral were to land yet if a British admiral were to land sailors at Santiago after an earth-quake, clear the streets under waving flags, and hoist the Union Jack over a public building "in the interests of charity," it does not require a vivid That this fear is not exaggerated Mr. Land quotes from statements of Mr. T. These also were streets with names—Polk street and Taylor street and Sansome street and Montgomery street were some of them. They were all famous business and financial streets, and they all were ankie-deep in mud tracks running through vacant lots. They all were streets before April 18, 1906, filled with shors and office buildings, banks and streets before April 18, 1206, lined with shops and office buildings, banks and warehouses. Now the streets were only like lines on a blank plan. The houses and bunks and buildings were no longer there; only the holes in the ground heaped with bricks and scrapiton, and you could look agrees from iron, and you could look across from one street to another, and the nex and the next beyond that, and se nothing but waste ground and jagge nothing but waste ground and jagged stumps of waits. Ruins are not really nearly so amusing as archaeologists pretend. They need extreme age to develop their qualities of interest. that COD LIVER OIL and IRON are that COD LIVER OIL and IRON are beyond question the greatest medicines known. Then why does not everybody take Cod Liver Oil and Iron? Simply because most people cannot take the Oil and few can digest the Iron in any ordinary farm. These difficulties have been entirely removed by the introduction of FERROL, in which the Iron is scientifically combined with the Oil, rendering the Oil palatable and the Iron digestible. While is manufactured from the best quality of Cod Liver Oil (the whole of the Oil and is richer in oil than any othe emulsion, and while it contains just the emulsion, and while it contains just the right quantity of the best form of Iron and Phosphorus, it is so scientifically prepared that not one person in a thousand finds any trouble in taking it, and infants digest it without difficulty. Morover the well-established value of the Oil and Iron is immensely enhanced by the process of manufacture, and as the formula is freely exposed it is not to be wondered at that physicians everywhere have fully endorsed FERROL and used it largely in their practice. A National Service.

Ear. Roberts, presiding at a meeting of the Royal United Service Institution a few weeks ago, said universal military training was needed to secure not only the safety of the nation and the empire, but the moral, physical conditions of the people. One of the main difficulties that he had met was based on the mistaken notion that as a meritime power we could rely almost entirely on the navy, and did not require in addition a sufficient and efficient army. ### No One Need Be Bald

Premature baldness is unnatural and absolutely unnecessary. It is, indeed, remarkable that so many youths and men in the prime of life will remain in that deplorable state, when by the use of proper remedies and the observance of the laws of health and nature they can again become the possessors of as fine and luxuriant heads of hair as they desire. If you would have dark, rich hair, long, thick hair, you must see that your hair is well nourished. Starving hair falls out, turns grey, does, not grow, keeps dry and rough.

THE EVANS VACUUM CAP is a practical invention constructed on scientific and hygienic principles by the simple means of which a free and normal circulation is restored throughout the scalp. The minute blood vessels are gently stimulated to activity, thus allowing the food supply which can only be derived from the blood, to the carticle to the hair roots, the effects of which are quickly seen in a healthy, vigorous growth of hair. There is no rubbing, and as no drugs or chemicals of whatsoever kind are employed there is nothing to cause irritation. It is only necessary to wear the Cap three or four minutes daily.

By William T. Ellis.

A terrible struggle for death is being waged all about me as these words are being penned; for I write in the famine district of Central China, where more than three million persons are at close gille with starvation. It seems incongruous to be writing such the loyous Easter theme when the clamors of the mortially hungry fill my ears, with the stating of women beside the uncodined dead as a minor undertone; and all about me is suffering, hopelessness, death. Yet after all, it is when we draw nearest to men most a fire beyond me grave, is "of all men most pitfable."

The great mass of people, who hold to the Easter expectation, may not be blyd to the truth that to-day there is raging a more than ordinarily severe attack upon the doctrine of the resurrection. With all respect for the scholars who are troubled upon this point, it must be borne in mind that this attempt to discredit the resurrection of Jesus is not, as they foundly believe, "advanced theology"; it has been one of the favorite endeavors of Satan ever since the wonder-stricken women beheld the empty tonh in Joseph's garden. In this portion of Scripture which the Sunday schools are at present studying, Paul is combatting this very bereay. The modern praacher who tries to discredit the resurrection finds himself side with the objectors whom the aposite overthrew.

The motif, which is an unusually graceful development of the blouse design, is elaborate enough to be used on the central panel by the woman whose time is limited. On the other hand, the embroidery can be so rapidly done that the pattern may be repeated on every panel of a many-gored skirt, with fair prospects of a speedy finish. It can also be adapted to a circular skirt such as is shown on the figure.

For the benefit of those who may not have seen last Sunday's paper, when the attractive blouse of this suit was given, a few of the directions for this Wallachian embroidery will be repeated.

Wallachlan embroidery will be repeated.

Use several strands of mercerised cotton or one of twisted floss. The former is preferable for sheer materials, the latter being more effective for linens. The work requires no padding, and the stitches.

The puried edge, of course, always goes on the outer edge of the figure being worked. Set the attitches closely and evenly. This is a skirt panel should prove very particularly necessary since there is no padding.

It is better to have the skirt made up, or at least basted—if a woman is to do her own embroidery, as otherwise the bias scams are apt to stretch. On a circular skirt, however, do not stitch the hem until after the embroidery is finished, or it will be practically certain to pull out of shape.

Where one does not need to be economical in out.

Where one does not need to be economical in cutting a gored skirt, the motif may be stamped on straight pieces of the material and embroidered before the separaje gores are cut. Be sure, however, to allow pienty of length to permit the design being made even when the gores are sewed together.
While as a rule the average woman will prefet to embroider this shirtwaist suit in white, because of its superior laundering and non-fading qualities, it would be very effective on some of the pale-colored linens or cottons. The embroidery may be carried out in self-tones, or it can be done in white.

The string color and ecru linens are particularly good this yeat. A striking treatment for the former would be to embroider the design in a soft dull blue and trim the blooss, and the skirt, too, if desired, in Irish lace insertion and big crocheted lines but

Now any one who attempts to embroider at all can do buttonholing, after a fashion, but it is important in this work to keep the edges very even.

Choose a pattern that is not too elaborate if you are a beginner. It is really surprising how effective these simple conventional designs can be made. Have it stamped on a rather heavy liner of good quality, and use a linen thread for the buttonholing.

Before beginning the work, outline the entire design with a chain stitch or an uneven darning or running stitch to keep the linen from fraying and to strengthen the edge.

deep and very even. The Roman cutwork patterns will always have indicated short cross dines for bars and spiders. These should be worked as the buttonholing progresses. Do one side of a figure and when as bar, is reached run a thread across it, catch in the opposite side twist back on the thread, twist back as and buttonhole back to the starting place, and continue the buttonholed outline till the next bar is reached.

The puried edges are always on the outside of each figure. This enables the linen to be carefully cut away under the bars and give a showy, open enext way under the bars and give a showy, open enext scarfs and centrepieces all develop well in this work, which is practically nothing more than a buttonhole stitch.

Philip alone had no rendezvous with capital. He was a loafer; he knew he was a loafer; and the workers knew he was a loafer; and the could not challenge their eyes with a denial. When one is submerged, one feels it and shows it. But Philip's revenge was nigh.

A magnificent automobile swept down Bloomsbury, street into the main thoroughfare. It was driven by an august being in furs, and its freight was another august being in furs, Philip, who, like many improvident persons, loved and understood motor cars, at once perceived that it was a four-speed, eight cylinder Panhard, 60 h. p., with coachwork by Vedrine, and that the chauffeur was imprudently running on the fourth speed. He stopped to behold it. There is mothing surprising hi a man stopiping to gaze at a motor car; but when a motor car stops to gaze at a man, there may be fair matter for stupefaction, and Philip's mild astonishment, as the automobile jerked itself back on its haunches exactly in front of him, may therefore be excused.

weeks have reminded a number that continued over the porch and a number of summer will soon be at hand, and in response to their requests this week a convenient little lake cottage is illustrated.

This house will cost almost any price from £50 and up; depending on the finish and how substantial the house is built. We will illustrate next week a duplex changes most of the necessary cenveniences for an enjoyable summer outing. The large screened porch is one of the primary requisites for pleasure and comfort and furnishes an outdoor living room.

New York, March 30.—For the first time in America, transfusion of blood was resorted to vesterday to severed to the proper conflection made.

rted to yesterday to say of a patient, says a dispatch fro ing chance for complete recovery. Anderson himself though weakened by the loss of blood and the ordest of the safe eration soon railied and bigs fair to be himself again in a few days. An-

life of a patient, says a dispatch from Philadelphia. Mrs. Anderson was dying from anaemia in the Polyclinic hospital. The doctors decided on a big stroke to save her life, and the husband of the dying woman cheerfully permitted a quantity of his blood to be pumped into his wife's veins. The woman was brought back to conscious an was brought back to conscious of twenty per cent, effective April 1st. An order to this effect was received by the local office of the comman.

representing an increase in some cases of tweaty per cent. effective April 1st. An order to this effect was received by the local office of the company. The increase in rates is not the same in all instances. Between Chicago and New York the day rate has been increased twenty per cent. where 40 cents has been charged for a message of ten words it will be raised to 50 cents after April, 1st. The night rate will be increased from 30 to 40 cents. In other cases the increase is smaller.
