

COLLECTION OF PURITAN AND ENGLISH THEOLOGICAL LITERATURE

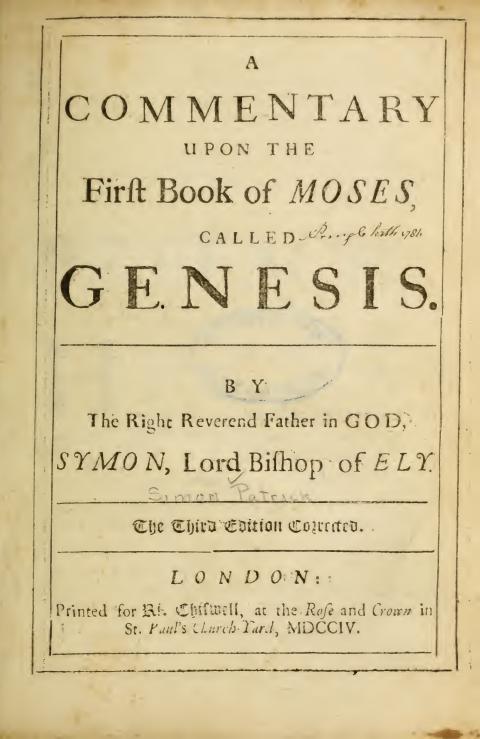

Ť

LIBRARY OF THE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

SCC princeton, New Jersey 9167

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2013

http://archive.org/details/cuponfi00patr

THE PREFACE.

AVING been perswaded to put together some scattered Notes, which I long ago made upon several Places of Holy Scripture, I began the last Year to confider some Texts in the Book of GENESIS. Where I soon found there would be a necessity of making an entire Commentary, upon a good part of it: And therefore I resolved to go through the whole, in the same manner as I had done the three first Chapters.

After I had fimsbed the better half of my Work, I was informed that Monsseur l'Clerk had publissed a Critical Commentary upon A the the fame Book : But whether I have concurred in any thing with him, or contradicted him, I am not able to fay; baving wanted leisure to peruse bis Work, by reason of the Publick Business, which came upon me in the end of the Year. When I likewife understood that a very Learned Friend and Brother had put into the Press, Annotations upon all the Five Books of Moles. But by communicating some of our Papers to each other, we found there would be no reason, that either of us should lay aside our Design; but go on, in our several ways, to make the Scriptures better understood, by all forts of Persons: For all helps are little enough in this Age; which seems to take pleafure in being ignorant of the most important Iruths.

In which we are so particularly instructed by Moses, as by no other Author, nor by all the Authors that are, or have been known to be, extant in the World. For to him we owe the Knowledge of the beginning of the World; of the first Parents of Mankind; the Inventers of Arts; the Original of Nations; the Founders of Kingdoms and Empires; the Institution of Laws; the Fountain of Keligious Rites; Yea, of all the ancient Mythology; and, which is most considerable, the means means of propagating that Sense of God and of Religion, which Mankind brought into the World with them., and how it came to be corsupted.

There have been those who have taken the liberty to fay, That it is impossible to give any tolerable Account of the Creation of the World, in Six Days; of the Situation of Paradife; the Fall of our first Parents, by the sedustion of a Serpent, Sc. But, I hope, I have made it appear, there is no ground for fuch prefumptuous Words : But very good reason to believe every thing that Mofes hath related, without for faking the literal Sence, and betaking our selves to, I do not know what, Allegorical Interpretations. Particularly, I find the Truth of what I have noted concerning Paradife, very much confirmed by a Learned and Judicious Discourse of Monf. Huetius; which I did not meet withal, till I had made an end of these Commentaries: But then took a review of what I had written, and found caufe to correct what I had noted out of Mr. Carver, concerning the Spring of Tigris and Euphrates. I might also have given a clearer secount of the Deluge, if I had observed some things, which are come to my notice fince thefe l'apers went to the Press: But, I hope, I A -2 bave bave faid enough to evince that it is not fo incredible, as fome have pretended. For, having made the largest Concessions concerning the beighth of the highest Mountains, which, according to the old Opinion, I have allowed may be thirty Miles high, Gen. VII 19. (whereas if instead of thirty, I had said not above three perpendicular, I had had the best of the Modern Philosophers to defend me) it appears there might be Water enough to cover the lostiest of them; as Moses bath related.

Whofe account of the Families by whom the Earth was peopled after the Flood, is fo surprifingly agreeable to all the Records that remain in any Language, of the feweral Nations of the Earth, that it carries with it an uncontroulable Evidence of bis Sincerity and Iruth, as well as of his admirable Universal Knowledge. For as there is no Writer that hath given us an Account of fu many Nations, and so remote as he bath done : So he hath not fatisfied himself with naming them; but acquainted us with their Original; and told us at what time, and from what place, and on what occasion they were dispersed into far distant Countries. And this with such brevity, that he bath informed us of more in one Chapter, than we can find in the great Volumes of all other Authors : Having Hiving shown us from whom all those People descended, who are spread over the Face of the Earth, from the Caspian and Persian Sea, to Hercules his Pillars (as the Ancients speak) that is, all the World over.

In fort, what sover is most ancient in those Countries, which are furthest from all Commerce with his own, is clearly explained by Moles: whole Writings therefore cannot but be highly valued by all those who will apply their Minds serioully to the findy of them. For if they, who now have no regard to bim, would but compare what he hash written on the fore-named Subject, with what they find in those Heathen Writers, whom they have in the greatest veneration, they would be forced to coxfess bim to be a Man of wonderful Understanding; and could not reasonably doubt be had an exact knowledge of the Truth of these things, whereaf he wrote. To this purpole, 1 remember, the famous Bochartus speaks, who bath given the greatest Light to the Tenth of Genefis, wherein the jethings are delivered.

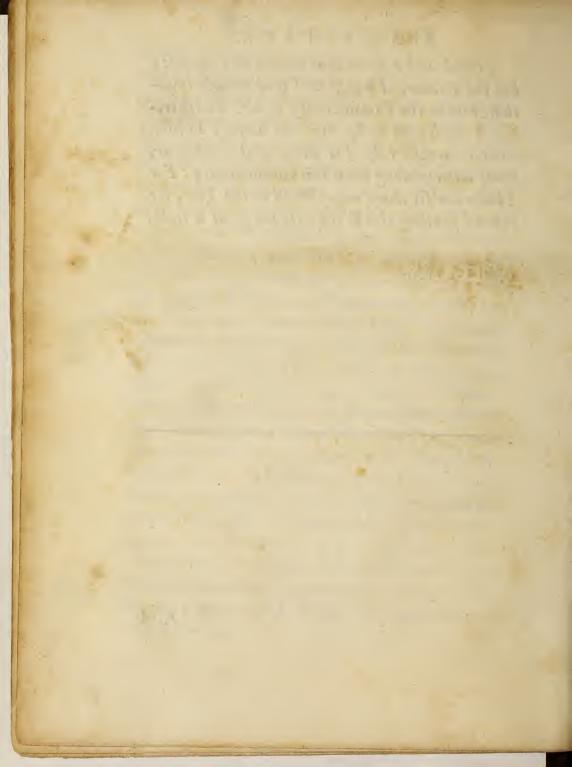

And truly, it is fome wonder, That they who fo much cry up the Egyptian Learning, should not eafily grant (unlefs they will believe all Historians bat only those whom we account Sacred, that Moses Moses must needs be qualified, even without the help of Divine Revelation (which he certainly bad) to write both of their Original, and of all those who were related to them, being bred up in their Country; nay, in their Court till he was XL Years old; and well verfed in all the Wisdom, that was to be found among them, A&s VII. 22. Which Wildom of theirs, I doubt not, was much augmented by Abraham's living among them, (as I have observed upon XIII 2.) but especially by Joleph's long Government of that Country, for the (pace of LXXX Years: Who was indued with such an incomparable Spirit, that the wifest Men among them learnt of him ; for he taught their Senators Wildom, Plalm CV. 22. And, in like manner, Moles lived XL Years more among the Midianites, where, it appears by Jethro, there wanted not Versons of great Knowledge. And from thence be might eafily be instructed in all that the Arabians knew : Who were no mean People (it appears by the Story of Job and his three Friends, and Elihu, who is supposed by some to have wrote that admirable Book) and were near Neighbours to the most famous Nations of the Eastern Countries ; From whom, it is evident by this Hiftory, all Learning, Arts, and Sciences originally came.

I

I could add a great deal more to this purpose; but the Reader, I hope, will find enough to satisfie him in the Commentary it self. And therefore I shall only make this one Request to him, That he would take his Bible and read every Verse intirely along with this Commentary: For I have not set down every Word of the Text, for fear of swelling this Work unto too great a Bulk.

April 10. 1694.

Chapter

A

COMMENTARY

UPON THE First Book of Moses,

CALLED.

GENESIS.

Hat MOSES wrote this and the Four following Books hath been fo constantly believed, both by Jews, Christians, and Heathens, that none, I think, denied it, till Aben Ezra (a Jewish Doctor, who lived not much above five hundred Years ago) railed some Doubts about it, in his Notes upon the First of Deuteronomy, out of XII Passages in these Books themselves: Which he pretended could not be his, but the Words of a later Author. But when I meet with those places, I shall make it appear, that all fuch Exceptions are very frivolous, and ought not to shake our belief of this Truth, That these Five Books were penned by MOSES and no Body elfe.

The first is called GENESIS, because it contains the Hiftory of the Creation of the World, with which which it begins; and the Genealogy of the Patriarchs, down to the Death of Joseph, where it ends. VV It comprehends an Hiftory of Two thousand three hundred and fixty nine Years, or thereabouts: The truth of all which it was not difficult for Mofes to know, because it came down to his time, through but a very few Hands. For from Adam to Noah, there was one Man (Methufelah) who lived to long as to fee them both. And fo it was from Noah to Abraham: Shem conversed with both! As Isaac did with Abraham and Foleph: From whom these things might eafily be conveyed to Moles, by Amram; who lived long enough with Joseph. In thort, Moses might have been confuted, if he had written any thing but the Truth, by learned Men of other Nations, who sprang from the same Root, and had the like means of being acquainted with the great things here reported by Tradition from their Fore-fathers: Who lived fo long in the beginning of the World, that they more certainly transmitted Things to their Posterity. Besides, it is not reasonable to think, they had not the use of Writing as we have; whereby they conveyed the knowledge of Times foregoing, to those that came after.

A COMMENTARY

Verse I.

Verse 1. In the beginning.] The World is not eternal, but had a beginning, as all Philosophers acknowledged before Aristotle. So he himself informs us, L. J. de Cælo, cap. 2. (speaking of the ancient Opinions concerning the Original of the World) Terbueror mer so a martes E) qaniv, they all faid it had a beginning : But some thought it might have no End; others judged it to be corruptible.

God created.] He who is Eternal gave a Being to this great Fabrick of Heaven and Earth, out of Nothing.

and the second second

Chapter

I.

upon GENESIS.

thing. It is observed by Eusebius (in the beginning Chapter of his Book De Præpar. Evang. p. 21, & 25. Edit. Parif.) That neither the ancient Historians, nor the Philosophers, do so much as mention GOD, ede méres avoual Q., no, not lo far as to name him, when they write of the beginning of the World. But this Divine Law-giver, defigning to hang the whole Frame of his Polity, upon Piety towards GoD, and to make the Creator of all, the Founder of his Laws. begins with him. Not after the manner of the Eeyptians and Phanicians, who bestowed this adorable Name, upon a great Multitude : But puts in the Front of his Work, the Name of the fole Caule of all Things : the Maker of whatfoever is feen or unfeen. As if he had told the Hebrew Nation. That he who gave them the Law contained in these Books, was the King and Law-giver of the whole World : Which was, like a great City, governed by him. Whom therefore he would have them look upon, not only as the Enacter of their Laws; but of those alfo which all Nature obeys. See L. VII. De Præpar. Evang. c. 9, 10 & L. XII. c. 16.

The Heaven and the Earth.] The Hebrew Particle Eth. put before both Heaven and Earth, signifies as much as with, if Maimonides understood it aright; and makes the Sence to be this: He created the Heavens, with all things in the Heavens, and the Earth with all things in the Earth; as his Words are in More Nevochim, P. II. cap. 30. Certain it is these two words, Heaven and Earth, comprehend the whole visible World. Some would have the Angels comprehended in the word Heaven ; particularly Epiphanius, Hærel. LXV. n. 45. a μα seava i yn i Ayeroi cerianouv. But others of the Fathers are ot a different B 2 Opi-

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter Opinion, as Petavius there observes. It is a pretty Conceit of Theophilus Antiochenus, L.II. ad Autolychum, That the Heavens are mentioned before the Earth, to thow that God's Works are not like ours: For he begins at the top, we at the bottom: That is, he first made the first Stars and all beyond them, (fo I take the word Heaven here to fignifie) for they had a beginning, as well as this lower World, though they do not seem to be comprehended in the fix days Work, which relates only to this Planetary World, as I may call it, which hath the Sun for its Center. And thus Philo understood the first word Bereschith, in the beginning, to respect the order wherein things were created. God began his Creation with the Heaven, as the most noble Body, and then proceeded to the Earth ; an account of which follows.

Verse 2.

I.

Ver. 2. And the Earth was without form, &c.] Some connect this Verse with the foregoing, by translating the first Verse in this manner, When God first created, or began to create, the Heaven and the Earth, the Earth was without form, &c. That is, at first he only created a rude Matter of those things, which afterwards were fashioned as we now see them.

Without form.] A confused, indigested heap, without any order or shape.

And void.] Having no Beafts, nor Trees, nor Herbs, nor any thing elfe, wherewith we now behold it adorned.

So these two words, Tobu Vabohu, are used in Scripture, where we meet with them (which is not often) for confusion and emptines, XXXIV. Isaiab 1.1. IV. 7er.23. Being a description of that which the Ancients called the CHAOS (of which the Barbarims had a Notion, no less than the Greeks) whereinthe the Seeds and Principles of all things were blended Chapter rogether. This is called, in the Pagan Language, by 1. Epicharmus, $\pi \rho \tilde{\omega} \tau \sigma \Theta \tilde{\omega} \tilde{\sigma}$, the first of the Gods: Because all things sprang out of this; which was indeed the first of the Works of God, who, as Moses shows in the sequel, produced this beautiful World out of this C H A O S.

upon GENESIS

And darkness was upon the face of the deep.] Nothing was to be seen, for want of Light: Which lay buried, as all things else did, in that great Abys, or vast confused heap of Matter before-mentioned. So the Hebrew word Tehom signifies (which we translate deep) tumult and turbid confusion: The first Matter being very heterogeneous, as they speak, i. e. of various forts and kinds, hudled together without distinction.

And the Spirit of God moved.] Men have been extreamly fanfiful in the Exposition of these plain Words: Some understanding by the Spirit of God, the Sun, which gives Spirit and Life to all things upon Earth; others the Air, or the Wind: When as yet there was no Sun in the Firmament, nor any Wind that could stir, without the Power of the Almighty to excite it. This therefore we are to understand to be here meant; The Infinite Wisdom, and Power of God, which made a vehement Commotion, and mighty Fermentation (by raising, perhaps, a great Wind) upon the Face of the Waters: That is, on that fluid Matter before-mentioned, to sparate the parts of it one from the other.

Waters.] That which Moses before called the Deep, he now calls the Waters: Which plainly shows that some Parts of the confused Mass, were fluid and light; as other Parts were folid and heavy. The heavy

5

A COMMENTARY

Chapter I.

vy naturally funk, which he calls the Earth; and the lighter Parts got above them, which he calls the Waters: For it is clearly intimated the Waters were uppermoft.

The Word we here translate moved, fignifies literally brooded upon the Waters, as an Hen doth upon her Eggs. So the ancient and modern Interpreters have obferved : And Morinus, who opposes it, hath faid nothing to make us doubt of this Sence of the Phrafe. From whence fome have, not unhappily, conjectured, the Ancients took their Notion of a $\varpi_{\mathcal{C}} \omega \partial \omega$, a first laid Egg, out of which all things were formed. That is, the CHAOS (out of which all the old Philosophers, before Aristotle, thought the World was produced) consisting of Earth and Water, of thicker and thinner Parts, as an Egg doth of Yolk and White.

Now the Spirit of God thus moved upon the Waters, that by its incubation (as we may call it) it might not only feparate, as I faid, those Parts which were jumbled together; but give a vivifick Virtue to them, to produce what was contained in them. The Souls and Spirits, that is, of all living Creatures, were produced by the Spirit of God, as Porphyry faith Numenius understood it. For his Opinion, he tells us, was, That all things came out of the Water Stowyów orl, being Divinely inspired: For which he quoted these words of the Prophets, as he called Moses. See Porphyry, mept T& Nump ANTPS, on those words of Homer:

--- Ise ov Nuppaion, i Nniades na réor).

Which gives us to understand, that the Spirits of all living Creatures (which we call their Active Forms) did

upon GENESIS.

did not arife out of Matter, for that is flupid; but Chapter proceeded from this other Principle, the Powerful 1. Spirit of God, which moved upon the Face of the \sim Waters, by a vital Energy, (as St. Chryfoftom tpeaks) fo that they were no longer flanding Waters, but moving, having $\zeta anxled the Subapar, a certain living$ Power in them. From whence we may also gather, that the Spirits of living Creatures are diffinctthings f om Matter; which of it felf cannot moveat all, and much less produce a Principle of Motion.

And thus indeed all the Ancient Philosophers apprehended this Matter: And some of them have most lively expressed it. For Laertius in the Life of Anaxagoras tells us, that he taught among other things, Inzvia Xphuala in Sus eina NES einstand diendommer, all things were budled together : And then the Mind came and set them in order. And Thales before him (as Tully informs us, L.I. de Nat. Deor.) Aquam dixit, esfe initium rerum: Deum autem eam mentem qua ex aqu'a cuncta fingeret; said, Water was the beginning of things : And God that Mind who formed all things out of the 11 ater.

By the Spirit of God fome of the ancient $\mathcal{J}ews$ have underftood the Spirit of the Meffiah, (as Hackspan observes in his Cabala Judaica, n. LXVI. out of Baal Hatturim, the Hierufalem Targum, &c.) which explains the Evangelist St. $\mathcal{J}ohn$, who in the beginning of his Gospel stays, all things were made by the Eternal $\Lambda O \Gamma O \Sigma$ or WORD of God, (the same with the Ness of the ancient Philosophers) whose Almighty Spirit agitated the vast confused Mass of Matter, and put it into Form.

Ver.

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter I. Verse 2.

8

Ver. 3. And God faid.] These words are taken notice of by Longinus, $\pi e \geq 2$ $\sqrt[6]{4}$ ss, as a truly lofty expression; wherein appears the Wildom of Moses, who represents God like himself, commanding things into Being by his Word; that is, by his Will: For wheresoever we read these words in the History of the Creation, He faid, the meaning must be understood to be He willed, as Maimonides interprets it, More Nev. P. I. cap. 65. This Justin Martyr demonstrates Orpheus had learnt out of Moses his Books, when he swears by the Heaven, the Work of the Great and Wise God, and by the Word of the Father, which he spake at first, when he established all the World by his Counsels. So his words are in Thegawer. eis "Exames, p. 16."

And as there is nothing more famous in Antiquity than the ro' Oppinic with, Orpheus his Egg, which I before mentioned; so it is remarkable that the Egyptians (among whom Orpheus travelled) described their God KENEPH, with an Egg coming out of his Mouth: Which was a lively Representation of this World (noted by the Egg) produced by God's Omnipotent Word. For how richly foever the CHAOS was furnished with Materials, it would have brought forth nothing, without his Powerful Motion, and Wife Contrivance, by whom it was created. So Anaxagoras himfelf refolved ver uiv aezui runnoews, that Mind was the Principle of Motion, (as Laertius tells us in his Life) by which Mind he understood God, as others have reported his Opinion more largely in these admirable words. The Beginning of all things is 5 NES, the Mind, who is the Caufe and the Lord of the whole World; and gave raziv rois aranlois, i, numou rois anuvirois, &c. order to things in disorder, diforder, and motion to things immoveable, and di Chapter function to things confused, and beauty to things de- 1. formed.

Let there be Light.] Having spoken of the Creation of all things, now follows an account of their Formation out of that rude Matter which was at first created. And the first thing produced was Light; which Greg. Nazianzen (Orat. XLIII. p. 699. a.) calls and uarov is ainhior, because it was not yet collected into a Body, as it is now in the Sun. Others think it to have been a dimmer fort of Light from the Sun, not yet perfectly formed. Abarbinel (upon the XL of Exodus) takes this to be the SCHECHINAH, the most excellent of all created things, called, in Holv Scripture, the Glory of the LORD; which God, saith he, sealed up in his Treasures, after the Luminaries were created, to ferve him upon special Occalions, (for instance, to lead the Ifraelites in the Wildernefs, by a cloudy Pillar of Fire) when he would make himfelf appear extraordinarily Prefent. And becaule of the Perfection of this Light he fanfies it is that Moles lays in the next Verle, That God law the Light (repeating the word Light) that it was good : Whereas in all the reft of the Six Days Work, he only fays, He faw it was good, without naming again the thing he had made.

But it feems to me most rational by this Light, to understand, those Particles of Matter, which we call Fire, (whose two Properties, every one knows, are Light and Heat) which the Almighty Spirit that formed all things, produced as the great Instrument, for the Preparation and Digestion of the rest of the Matter; which was still more vigorously moved and agitated, from the top to the bottom, by this restlefs Chapter lefs Element, till the purer and more thining Parts I. of it, being feparated from the groffer, and united in a Body fit to retain them, became Light.

Ver. 4. And God faw the Light, that it was good.] He was pleafed in this Work of his, as agreeable to his Defign. Which for the prefent was (we may conceive) to influence the upper Parts of the CH A-OS, and to be the Inftrument of Rarefaction, Separation, and all the reft of the Operations, which were neceffary to mold it into fuch Creatures, as were afterwards made out of it.

And God divided the Light from the Darknefs.] Appointed that they fhould conftantly fucceed one another; as we fee they do now, that this Light is embodied in the Sun; and as they did then, by the circular Motion of this first Light of Fire, round about the CHAOS, in the space of Twenty-four Hours; which made it Day to those Parts where it shined; and Night, where it did not. It is remarkable how Moses ascribes every thing to GOD, the Former of all things; who by making this Light move round about the Chaos, still more prepared, and exalted the remaining indigested Parts of Matter, for their feveral uses.

Verse 5

Ver. 5. And God called the light, day; and the darknefs he called Night.] He fetled them (that is) in fuch a conftant Courfe, that it gave them these diftinct Names.

And the Evening and the Morning were the first Day.] In the Hebrew Language, Evening and Morning fignifie a whole Day; which the Motion of this Light made, if we conceive it to have been formed about Noon, and to have gone round the fore-mentioned Heap of Matter in Twenty-four Hours.

How

10

Verle 4.

How long all things continued in mere Confusi-Chapter on, after the CHAOS was created, before this Liebt was extracted out of it, we are not told. It might be (for any thing that is here revealed) a great while; and all that time the mighty Spirit was making fuch Motions in it, as prepared, disposed, and ripened every Part of it, for fuch Productions as were to appear fucceffively in fuch spaces of time. as are here, and afterward mentioned by Moles; who informs us, That after things were fo digested, and made ready (by long Fermentations perhaps) to be wrought into Form, God produced every day, for fix days together, fome Creature or other, till all was finished; of which Light was the very first. This Maimonides hath very happily illustrated, in his More Nevochim, P. II. c. 30. where he observing that all things were created at once, and then were afterwards separated one from another successively; he fays, their wife Men refemble this proceeding to that of a Husbandman, who fows feveral Seeds in the Earth at the fame moment; fome of which are to come up after one day, others after two, and others not till three days be past; though the whole fowing was in one and the fame moment. Thus God made all things at the first, which did not appear together; but, in the space of fix Days, were formed and put in order one after another: Light being the Work of the first Day.

Ver. 6. And God faid, Let there be a firmament.] Verfe 6. The next thing that God commanded to come forth of the Chaos, was the Air; particularly, that Region next to us, wherein the Fowls fly, as it is expounded afterwards, verfe 20. The Hebrew word Rachia properly fignifies a Body expanded, or fpread forth, (as may be C 2 feen feen in Fxod. XXXIX. 3. Ifai. XL. 19. Jer. X.9. where Chapter it can have no other meaning) but is by the LXX. translated sepéwua, and from thence by us. Firmament ; because the Air, though vastly extended and fluid, yet continues firm and stable in its place.

ACOMMENTARY

> In the midst of the Waters, and let it divide the Waters from the Waters.] This Region of the Air, manifeftly parts the Waters above it in the Clouds, from those below it, here upon Earth ; the one of which Waters bear a good proportion, and are in fome meafure equal unto the other; for there are vast Treasures of Water in the Clouds; from whence the Waters here below, in Springs and Rivers are supplied. This appeared afterwards in the Deluge, which was partly made by continued Rains for many days. The great Objection against this Exposition is, That now there were no Clouds, neither had it, after this, rained on the Earth, Gen. II. 6. But it must be considered, That neither were the Waters below, as yet gathered into one place: And therefore Moles here speaks of the Air, as a Body intended to be stretched between the Waters above and beneath, when they thould be formed.

> That the Clouds above are called Waters in the Scripture-Language, is plain enough from Pfalm CIV. 3. Jer. X. 13. and other places.

Verse 7.

Ver. 7. And God made the firmament, and divided, &c.] What his Divine Will ordered, his Power effected; by that Light which rowled about the CHAOS, and that Heat which was excited within it; whereby fuch Exhalations were raifed, as made the Firmament. That is, the thicker Parts of them made this Region of the Air, which is the lower firmament, verse 20. And the thinner Parts of them

12

1.

upon GENESIS.

them made the Æther, or higher Firmament, where Chapter in the Sun and the Planets are feated, verse 14, 15. I.

Ver. 8. And God called the firmament Heaven.] Verfe 8. Made it fo different from the reft of the Mafs, cal-Verfe 8. led Earth, that it had the Name of Heaven, to diflinguish it from the other. So all above the Earth is called, as appears by the following part of the Chapter, in the Verses now mentioned. And that's the very import of the word Schamaim, which, in the Arabick Language, (as Æben Ezra observes) fignifies heighth or altitude.

And the Evening and the Morning were the second Day.] This was the Work of another whole Day. Concerning which it is commonly noted. That it is not faid of this, as of all the Works of the other five Days, God faw that it was good. What the reason of this should be, is enquired by all Interpreters; and the most folid Account that I can find of it, is this; That the Waters mentioned upon this Day, were not yet separated and distinguished from the Earth : And therefore in the next Day's Work, when he did gather the Waters together, verse 10. and when he commanded the Earth (which was become dry) to bring forth, verse 12. these words, God saw that it was good, are twice repeated. Which made Picherellus and Ger. Vollins, think the two next Verles (9, 10.) belonged to the fecond Davs Work; and that the first words of the ninth Verse should be thus translated. And God had said, Let the Waters under the Heaven, &c. And so the words in the end of the tenth Verfe, God faw that it was good, relate to the fecond Day. L. 2. de Orig. Idolol. c. 67.

13 10 - U - Ja

Ver.

A COMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 9. And God faid, Let the Waters under the I. Heaven] All the Waters which continued mixed with the Earth, and covered the Surface of it.

14

Verse 9. Be gathered together, &c.] Collected into one Body by themselves.

And let the dry Land appear.] Distinct and separate from the Waters.

There being fuch large Portions of Matter drawn out of the CHAOS, as made the Body of Fire and Air before-mentioned, there remained in a great Body, only Water and Earth; but they so jumbled together, that they could not be diffinguished. It was the Work therefore of the third Day, to make a Separation between them; by compacting together all the Particles which make the Earth, which before was Mud and Dirt; and then, by raifing it above the Waters which covered its Superficies, (as the Pfalmist also describes this Work, Psalm CIV. 6.) and, lastly, by making such Caverns in it, as were sufficient to receive the Waters into them. Now this we may conceive to have been done by fuch Particles of Fire as were left in the Bowels of the Earth : Whereby fuch Nitro-fulphureous Vapours were kindled, as made an Earth-quake; which both lifted up the Earth, and also made Receptacles for the Waters to run into; as the Pfalmift (otherwife I should not ven-ture to mention this) seems in the fore-mentioned place to illustrate it, Pfalm CIV. 7, where he fays, At thy rebuke they (i.e. the Waters) fled; at the voice of thy thunder they hasted away. And so God himself speaks, Job XXXVIII. 10. I brake up for it (i.e. for the Sea) my decreed place, and fet bars, and doors. Histories also tell us, of Mountains that have been, in feveral Ages, lifted up by Earth-quakes; nay, Iflands

If ands in the midft of the Sea: Which confirms this Chapter Conjecture, That poffibly the Waters were, at the I. firft, feparated by this means; and fo feparated, that they fhould not return to cover the Earth. For the Word, in the beginning of this Verse, which we tranflate gathered, comes from Kav, which fignifies a Square, a Rule, or perpendicular Line: And therefore denotes they were most exactly collected, and fo poifed in such just Proportions, that they should not again overflow the dry Land.

This Work of God (whereby the Waters were fent down into their proper Channels, and the Earth made dry, and fitted for the Habitation of fuch Creatures, as were afterwards created) is obferved by Strabo in his Geography, as an Act of Divine Providence, L. XVII. Becaufe, fays he, the Water covered the Earth, and Man is not indegradies and Creature that can live in the Water, God made ito $20\chi ds$ in 77 $\gamma \tilde{\eta}$ models is in the Water, God made ito χds is $\tau \tilde{\eta}$ $\gamma \tilde{\eta}$ models is χds , &c. many Cavities and Receptacles in the Earth for the Water; and raifed the Earth above it, that it might be fit for Man's Habitation.

Ver. 10. And called the dry Land, &c.] This is Verfe 10.fufficiently explained, by what hath been faid upon Verfe 5, & 8. only this may be added, That the word Eretz, Earth, in Arabick, fignifies any thing that is low and funk beneath, oppofite to Schamaim, Heavens, which in that Language, as I noted before, fignifies high and lifted up.

Ver. 11. And God faid, Let the Earth bring forth Verfe 11. grafs, the Herb yielding, &c.] Or, rather, it fhould be translated, and the Herb yielding, &c. though the copula be omitted, which is usual in Scripture: Particularly in Habak. III. 11. the Sun, Moon, i. e. the Sun and Moon.

Mo-

A COMMENTARY

16

Chapter I.

Moles having flown how the first Matter, (ver. 2. and then the Elements of things, as we call them (ver. 2, 6, 9, 10.) were produced, he proceeds to the Production of more compounded Bodies. And here an account is given of all forts of Vegetables, which are ranged under three Heads; Gras, which comes up every Year without fowing; Herbs, bearing a Seed, which comprehends (as Abarbinel here notes) all fort of Corn, and whatfoever is fown; and Trees, which also bear Fruit. There are several kinds of all these; which some have cash into Eighteen, others into Six and thirty Claffes; none of which could at the first spring out of the Earth, of it self, by the power of external and internal Heat, and of the Water mixed with it, (no, not fo much as one fingle Pile of Grass) without the Almighty Power and Wildom of God; who brought together those Parts of Matter, which were fitted to produce them; and then formed every one of them, and determined their feveral Species; and also provided for their continuance, by bringing forth Seed to propagate their Species to the end of all things. And here it is very remarkable, how God hath fecured the Seeds of all Plants, with fingular Care : Some of them being defended by a double, nay, a treble inclosure.

Verse 12.

Ver. 12. And the Earth brought forth Grafs, and the Herb, &c.] Thefe things did not grow up out of Seed, by fuch a long process, as is now required to bring them to Maturity; but they sprung up in their Perfection, in the space of a Day, with their Seeds in them, compleatly formed, to produce the like throughout all Generations. Thus Moses gives a plain Account of the first Production of things, according to the natural Method: For supposing they had had a Beginning, the Herb and the Tree must natural-Chapter ly be before the Seed they bear: As the Hen is before the Egg she lays. And to make a Question, which was sirst (as some of the Philosophers did) is very frivolous; because that Power which alone could produce the Seeds of all things, could as easily make the things themselves, with a power to propagate their Kind, by Seed.

upon GENESIS.

It is therefore most judiciously noted by Abarbinel, a learned Jew, That the Production of Plants in the beginning, differed from their Production ever fince in these two things: First, That they have forung ever fince out of Seed, either fown by us, or falling from the Plants themselves; but at the beginning were brought out of the Earth, with their Seed in them, to propagate them ever after. And, Secondly, They need now, as they have done fince the first Creation, the influence of the Sun, to make them fprout: But then they came forth by the Power of God, before there was any Sun, which was not formed till the next Day. Of this last Theophilus Antiochenus, long before Abarbinel took notice, L. II. ad Autolycum, where he fays, God produced things in this order; forefeeing the Vanity of Philosophers, who, faying nothing of him, made all things to be produced by the Sun, 200 70 501 geize, out of the Elements. Porphyry himfelf allo (L. II. TEL 270ris) could observe out of Theophrastus, That the Earth brought forth Trees and Herbs before Beafts, Stroleg mer 2 Sh weg Lwar aredune i yi, &c. Which Eusebius remembers in his Prapar. Evang. L. I. c. 9. p. 28.

Ver. 14. Let there be Lights.] This is a different Verle 24. word from what we had, verfe 3. fignifying, as Paulus

17

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter lus Fagius observes, that which is made out of Light; I. luminous Bodies, whereby Light is communicated to us: The Hebrew Particle, Mem, before a word, being used to express the Instrument of an Action: And so now we are to conceive, that the Light produced at first, having for three Days circulated about the Earth, and that near unto it, to further the Production of the things before-mentioned, was on this fourth Day distributed into several Luminaries, at a great distance from the Earth. So it follows; In the firmament of Heaven, in the upper Region, which we call the Æther, or Sky, where the Sun and the Planets are placed.

To divide the Day from the Night.] By a continued circular Motion, finished in four and twenty Hours; in one part of which, by the prefence of the Sun, the Day is made; and in the other part, by the Sun's absence. Night is made, in a constant succession.

And let them be for Signs and for Seafons.] That is, for Signs of the Times or Seafons; as Ger. Voffins expounds it, by the Figure of $v \partial a' \partial voiv$. And by Times are meant, the Spring, Summer, Autumn, and Winter: And, by confequence, the Seafons for Ploughing, Sowing, Planting, Pruning, Reaping, Vintage, Sailing, $C^{vc.}$ L. de Scientiis Mathemat. c. 28.

And for Days, and Years.] By a fpeedy fwift Motion round, in twenty-four Hours to make Days; and by a flower, longer Motion to make Years; and a grateful variety of Seafons in the feveral Parts of the Earth, which by this annual Motion are all visited with the Sun's Beams.

Ver.

18

+ 10

.

upon GENESIS.

Ver. 15. And let them be for Light, &c.] i. e. Let Chapter them there continue to give conftant Light and I. Warmth to the Earth: And fo they do immovably.

Ver. 16. And God made two great Lights] It is Verfe 16. obfervable, that nothing is faid to have been created, fince the first Matter, out of which all things were made or formed. And the two great Lights, or Luminaries, Inlightners, (as the word fignifies) are the Sun, which inlightens us by Day; and the Moon, which inlightens us by Night. The Moon indeed is not fo great as the rest of the Planets, (for it is the least of all, except Mercury.) but it affords the greatest Light to us; by reflecting the Beams of the Sun to us, in its absence; and thereby very much abating the disconsolate Darkness of the Night.

He made the Stars also.] That is, the reft of the Planets, and their Attendants.

Ver. 17. And God fet them in the firmament of Hea-Verle 17. ven, &c.]. By the repetition of this fo often, Moses intended to fix in the Peoples Mind this Notion; That though the heavenly Bodies be very Glorious, yet they were but Creatures, made by God, and set or appointed by his Order, to 've us Light: And therefore he alone is to 'orfhipped, not they.

It is commonly taken notice ..., that there is no mention of the Creation of Angels, in all this Hiltory; nor was there any need of it. For the ancient Idolatry confifting in the Worship of the Sun, Moon, and Stars, (as appears from the very Names of the most ancient Idols in the Old Test ament, such as Moloch, Asstaroth, and the like,) which they believed to be Eternal Beings: The great Design of Moses D 2 was

A COMMENTARY

Chapter was to confute this Opinion, by reprefenting them I. (over and over) as the Work of the Eternal God; which ftruck at the very Root of Idolatry. The worfhip of Angels was a later Invention.

Verfe 18. Ver. 18. And to rule over the day, and over the Night.] Some have fanfied, that the ancient Idolatry fprung from this word Rule: Men looking upon thefe glorious Lights, as having a Dominion over them. Whence the Sun was called Baal, that is, Lord, or Governor, by the Eastern People; and Moloch, that is, King, by the Egyptians. But one word fure was not the ground of fo foul an Error; when the Scope of Moses was to fhow that these things were made by an higher Being, and made not to rule over Men; but over the Day and the Night; which the Sun makes when it rifes and fets, by the order and appointment of God.

> And God fam that it was good.] He was pleased with this Work, as fuitable to the ends for which he intended it. The first Light was good (ver. 4.) for the purpole to which it ferved; which was, by its. heat, to agitate, rarifie, and separate the Matter of the CHAOS, for the making of Air, and gathering together the Waters, and drying the Earth, and producing Grass, Herbs, and Trees; which made it neceffary it should continue some Days near to the Earth, that it might powerfully penetrate into the Matter it was to digest : But, if it should have continued longer fo near to the Earth, it would not have. been good for it; because it would have burnt up. all the Plants, that the Earth had brought forth; and, by its too fcorching heat, have hindred the Production of those living Creatures, which were ready on the next Day to be made ; or, at least, made the the Earth unfit for their Habitation. For the Air, Chapter which all living things, even Filhes themfelves, I. need; (nay, the Plants alfo, which have Veffels for conveying Air to all their Parts,) would have been fo very hot, that it would have afforded no refrefhment to them: Therefore it was good that it fhould be advanced into the Firmament of the Heaven, and there embodied in those Luminaries, which, being removed further from us, give fuch a moderate heat as is necessary for the prefervation of us, and of all things living that dwell upon the Earth.

Ver. 19. And the Evening, &c.] Thus the fourth Verse 19. Day concluded.

Ver. 20. And God faid, Let the Waters, &c. 7 Now Verse 20. God proceeded to form the lower fort of Animals, 15 gain or living Creatures, viz. The Fift; and the Fowl; which are in many respects inferior to Beasts. And the Fishes are called moving (in the Hebrew, creeping) Creatures; because their Bellies touch the Water, as creeping things do the Earth. Both Fifnesand Fowls were made out of the Waters; that is; out of fuch Matter as was mixed with the Waters, which contained in them many things befides fimple Water; for the Sea and Rivers are still very richly furnished with various Compounds, for the nourishment of an innumerable multitude of Fishes. The great congruity that there is between Fish and Fowl in: many particulars, will not let us doubt they had thefame Original: For they are both oviparous, whichmakes them more fruitful than the Beafts of the Earth; neither of them have any Teats; they both. direct, (and, as I may fay, steer) their Course by their-Tail, Sc. See Ger. Vollius, de Orig. & Progr. Idolol. L. III. c. 78:

Bring

ACOMMENTART

22

Chapter I.

Bring forth abundantly.] That is, various forts of both kinds; there being many hundred kinds of Fishes, and Birds, or Fowls; many of the latter of which live in the Water, (which flows their Original to have been from thence.) and others of them live both in the Air and Water. The Formation of these Creatures is, in every part of them, very wonderful, especially in those parts whereby they are fitted to fwim, and to fly. Which demonstrate a most wife Agent, by whose infinite Power they were fo contrived, as to be able alfo to propagate their Kind.

Verle 21. . . · · ·

25. 5 ...

Ver. 21. And God created great Whales.] The valtnels of these Creatures, perhaps, made Moses again use the word Create, (which he had not done since the beginning of the Chapter,) not because they were made as the CHAOS was, out of Nothing; but because it required a greater Power to make out of the precedent Matter, moving things of fo huge a Bulk, and of fuch great Agility, than to make any other thing hitherto formed.

The Hebrew word Tanim, which we translate Whales, comprehends feveral forts of great Fifnes, as Bochartus observes in his Hierozoic. P. I. L. I. c. 7. where he shows the prodigious bignels of some of them. But he should have added, that this word alfo fignifies Crocodiles, which, he himfelf flows, are fet forth in Job XLI. as the most astonishing Work of God. For Job Ludolphus, I think, hath demonstrated, that nothing but the Crocodile can be meant by this word Tanim, in Ezek. XXIX. 2. and XXXII. 2. and some other places. Vid. L. I. Comment. in Histor. Æthiop. Cap. XI. n. 86.

And

upon GENESIS.

And God faw that it was good.] Was pleafed with Chapter the Structure of these several Creatures: Of the I. Birds, who were fu nithed with Wings to fly in the Air; and of the Fiscs, whose Fins serve them to swim in the Water; and of Water-fowl, whose Feet are formed so, as to ferve for the fame use; and some of them (such as dive under Water) covered so them (such as dive under Water) covered so thick with Feathers, and those so function and flippery, (as the Learned and Pious Mr. Ray hath observed) that the Bodies are thereby defended from the cold of the Water; which cannot penetrate or moisten them. See Wischom of God in the Creation, P. I p. 135.

Ver. 22. And God bleffed them, &c.] His bleffing Verle 22. them, was giving them a Power to multiply and increase, till they had filled the Water with Fish, and the Air with Fowl. Which required a particular Care of Divine Providence, as Abarbinel observes ; because they do not bring forth young ones perfectly formed, as the Beafts do; but lay their Eggs in which they are formed, when they are out of. their Bodies. This, faith he, is a wonderful thing, That when the Womb, as we may call it, is feparate from the Genitor, a living Creature like it felf should be produced. Which is the reason, he fanfies, that a Bleffing is here pronounced upon them, and not on the Beasts, that were made the next Day. The ancient Fathers are wont to observe, That the first Blessing was given to the Waters, as a Type of Baptism. Theophilus ad Autolyc. L. II. and Tertullian de Baptismo, cap. 2.

And let Fowl multiply in the Earth.] There, for the most part, they have their Habitation and their Food ; though some live upon the Water.

Vers.

Chapter Ver. 23. See verse 19.

24

1. Ver. 24. And God faid, Let the Earth bring forth.] Yerle 23. duced Creatures fill more Noble: The Matter be-Verle 24. ing more digested and prepared in five Days time, than it was at first. I do not know whether there be any weight in the Note of Abarbinel, who observes that Moses here uses a new word, which we tranflate bring forth; to show the difference between Plants and Animals. The former of which spring out of the Earth indeed, but continue fix'd in it, and perish if they be separated from it: Whereas Animals, though made out of the Earth, and living upon it, have a separate existence, and do not set the set of the here to it.

> After his kind.] Three forts of living Creatures are immediately mentioned, which were formed out of such Matter, as the Earth afforded, (not simple Earth, we must understand, no more than before fimple Water; for it was impregnated with many other Principles ;) the first of which, Behemah, which we translate Cattle, always fignifies the Flocks and Herds of tame Beafts, when it is diftinguished from Chaja, which we translate in the end of the Verfe, Beasts of the Earth, that is, wild Beasts : Between which two, he mentions a third kind of living Creatures on the Earth, which he calls Remesh, creeping things; because whatever Feet they have, they are fo fhort and fmall, that they feem to the naked Eye to have none at all; but to crawl on their Bellies upon the Ground. Of all these three kinds, there are various forts wherewith God hath replenished the Earth: And of every kind, fome vafily great, and others very little; as Abarbinel notes even among Reptiles.

Reptiles, there being Serpents of a prodigious length, Chapter and other creeping things far smaller than Ants. I.

Ver. 25. And God made, &c.] The Earth did verfe 25. not bring them forth by Virtue of the Influence of Verfe 25. Heaven, upon prepared Matter: But God framed them out of the Matter fo prepared, and produced them in their full perfection, after their feveral kinds.

And God faw it was good.] Was pleafed with the great variety of these Creatures, and their compleat Structure, fitting them for their several uses.

Ver. 26. Let us make Man.] God not only re- Verse 26. ferved Man for the last of his Works; but doth, as it were, advise and confult about his Production. Not to fignifie any Deliberation within himfelf, or any Difficulty in the Work; but to represent to us the Dignity of Man, and that he was made (as Abarbinel gloffes) with admirable Wifdom, and great Prudence. To the fame purpose S. Chrysoftom here speaks. And see Greg. Nysfen, de Opificio Hominis, cap. 3. and Orat. I. on these words: With Greg. Nazianzen. Orat. XLIII. p. 699. who observes that God brought him into this World, as into a noble Palace, ready furnished with all manner of things. Which is the Notion also of Methodius : See Epiphanius, Haref. LXIV. n. 18. It is to be observed also. That God doth not fay, Let the Earth bring forth Man, as he faid before, verse 24. of other Animals; for the same Reason : To represent Man as a far more noble Work, than any other upon Earth. For though he was made (as we read in the next Chapter) of the dust of the ground; yet a greater Power and Skill was imployed, in producing a Creature of fuch Beauty and Majesty.

E

Let

A COMMENTARY

Let us.] The ancient Christians look'd upon this Chapter as a plain intimation of a Plurality of Persons in the Godhead. Infomuch that Epiphanius fays, This is n the Language of God to his WORD and only Begotten, as all the faithful believe, Hæref. XXIII. n. 2. and fee Haref. XLIV. n. 4. and Hæref. XLVI. n. 2. where he fays, Adam was menhaquera en yere I Maleos, is if, i aris Trolucita, formed by the Hand of the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Ghost. To which one cannot but incline, who confiders how poorly the Jews expound this place: Who fansie a kind of Senate or Council of Angels, without whom God doth nothing, (which they ground upon Dan. IV. 14.) whereas there is not the least fignification as yet of any fuch Beings; much lefs, that they had any hand in the making Man; who was not made in their Image, but in the Image of God. Yet thus Sainrnilus foolifhly expounded these words, as Epiphanius informs us, in the fore-named Hæref. p. 62. Edit. Parif. And Moses Gerundensis still more foolishly imagines God lpake to the Earth, that it should bring forth Man, as it had done other Creatures. But Maimonides, who magnifies that Saying of their Masters, (That God doth nothing without his Council,) is forced to acknowledge, (More Nevoch. P. II. cap. 6.) That it is not to be understood, as if he askt their Advice, or was affifted by their Judgment, but only that he used them as Instruments in the producing of every thing. Which is directly contrary. to the very words, which are not in the form of a Command, but of a Consultation before Execution. Others therefore think God speaks after the manner of Kings; who advife with their Council, but do things themselves: And are wont to speak in the Plu-

26

I.

Plural Number, when they declare their Pleasure. Chapter But I take this to be a Custom much later than the I. Days of Moses; when they spake as the King of Egypt doth to Joseph, Gen. XLI. 41, 44. 1 am Pharaoh; and see I have set thee (not we have set thee) over the Land of Egypt. In which Stile the King of Perfia writes long after this, Ezra VI. 8. I Darius make a decree.

All these poor hifts are a plain Confession, that they found it very hard (as the Socinians do at this day) to give any account of this way of speaking, without granting a Plurality of Perfons in the Godhead. And therefore Menasseh Ben Israel in his Conciliator, mentions one of their Doctors, who, in Bereschith Rabba, says, That when Moses by God's Direction was about to write these words, Let us make Man, he cryed out, O Lord of the World, why wilt thou give Men occasion to err, about thy most simple Unity? To which he received this Answer, Write as I bid thee; and if any Man love to err, 1 . 1. The fame Story is told by Joseph Albo. With the fame . that their Doctors have been long puzzled with this manner of Speech, which unavoidably fuggedied to their Thoughts, more than One Person in the ty: Which till they believe, they are at a loss when to say about it.

In our Image, after our likenefs.] Two words (fome think) to express the same thing: Wi h this difference only, as Abarbinel explains it, That the last words, after our likenefs, give us to understand, that Man was not created properly and perfectly in the Image of God; but in a refemblance of him. For he doth not say, in our likenefs (says that Author,) as he had said in our Image, but after our likenets: E 2 Where where the Caph of Similitude (as they call it) abates Chapter fomething of the Sence of what follows; and makes it fignifie only an approach to the Divine Likenefs, S in Understanding, freedom of Choice, Spirituality, Immortality, &c. Thus Tertullian explains it, Habent illas utique lineas Dei, quà immortalis anima, quà libera & sui arbitrii, quà præscia plerumque, quà rationalis, capax intellectus & scientia, L. II. contra Marcion. cap. 9. And so Gregor. Nyssen. cap. 16. De Opific. Hom. Marles TE Staroeistay in Tegestolien Sucarus Eyson, &c. All have a Power of Confidering and Defigning, of Confulting and Fore-appointing what we intend to do. Purity and Holiness likewise seem to be comprehended in this: As may be gathered from the Apostle, Coloff. III. 10. For the new Man confists in Righteousness, and true holiness, Ephes. IV. 2.4. But though he was created with a Faculty to judge aright, and with a Power to govern his Appetite, which he could controul more eafily than we can do now; yet he was not made immutably good, (quia hoc Soli Deo cedit, which belongs to God alone, as Tertullian excellently discourses in that place,) but might, without due care, be induced to do evil, as we fee he did. For an habituated, confirmed estate of Goodness, was even then to have been acquired by Watchfulnels and Exercile : Whereby in process of time, he might have become so stedfast, that he could not have been prevailed upon by any Temptation, to do contrary to his Duty.

> And let them have dominion, &c.] Some have thought the Image of God confisted in this alone. (See Greg. Nysfen. cap. 4. De Opific. Hom. p. 133.) Which rather follows upon Man's being made in God's Image, viz. An Intelligent Being; which gave him Do-

I.

Dominion over other things, that are not indued with Chapter fuch Understanding. I conclude this Note with a I. very pertinent Observation of his in that Book, cap. 16. That Moses speaks more magnificently of Man, than any Philosopher ever did: For they could say nothing of him beyond this, That he was Mineg's Koma, a little World: But according to the Churches account, his Greatness confists not in his Likeness to the created World; but in his being made ral sindra fra xlioravia. quorees, after the Image of the Nature of the Creator of all things.

Over all the Earth.] Over all four-footed Creatures in the Earth, though never so wild; as Bochartus observes.

Ver. 27. And God created Man in his own Image.] Verle 27. From these words Origen gathers there is a great deal of difference between Einer, Image, and Ouoloma, Likeness; because, though God said, verse 26. Let us make Man in our Image, and after our Likenes, yet here he is faid to have made him only in his own Image; and not, for the present, after his Likenes. For that, faith he, (Lib. IV. contra Cellum) is referved to the other World; when, as St. John fays, I Epist. III. 2. Sporo duras isome Da, we shall be like him. But this feems too curious. No doubt God made Man just as he designed, in such a compleat refemblance of himself, that there is no Creature like to Man, no more than God hath any equal to himfelf : As some of the Hebrew Doctors explain this Matter. And therefore Moles repeats it again, In the Image of God created he him: To imprint upon the Minds of Men, a Sense of the great Dignity of Humane Nature; which was foully debated by worthipping any Creature.

A COMMENTART

Chapter Male and Female created he them.] He made Woman I. the fame Day he made Man; as he did both Sexes of all other living Creatures, and as he made Herbs and Plants with Seed in them to propagate their Species, on the fame Day they were produced. It is plain by this alfo, That Woman as well as Man was made in the Image of God. And it feems to be pertinently obferved by Abarbinel, That Mofes here again ufes the word Create, (and that three times) to denote the Original of Humane Souls; which are not made out of pre-existent Matter, as our Bodies are; but by the Power of God, when they had no Being at all.

Verle 28. Ver. 28. And God bleffed them, &c.] The former part of this Bleffing, be fruitful and multiply, God had beftowed before (verfe 22.) upon other Creatures: Unto which he adds two things here, replenifb the Earth and fubdue it. He gives them the whole Earth for their Poffeffion, with a Power to fubdue it: That is, to make it fit for their Habitation, by bringing under, or driving away wild Beafts. For, Secondly, he gives them the Dominion (unto which he defigned them in their Creation) over all other Creatures; whether in the Water, Air, or Earth. And he fpeaks to them in the Plural Number; which is a demonstration, that Man and Woman were both created, and received his Bleffing, on the fame Day.

Verse 29.

20

Ver. 29. Behold, I have given you, &c.] Here he affigns them their Food; and makes no mention at all of Beafts, but only of Plants and Fruits of the Earth. For Beafts being made by pairs, in their feveral Species, (we may well fuppofe) as Man and Woman were, and not being yet multiplied; the killing of Beafts, Birds, and Fishes, would have been the

upon GENESIS.

the Deftruction of the kind : Whereas there were Chapter Plants innumerable, and great variety of Fruit for I. their Suftenance. And therefore here being no grant made to them of Animals for their Food, though no prohibition neither, it is very probable they abstained from eating Flesh, till after the Flood, (when God expressly gave them every living thing for Meat, as much as the Herbs, IX. 2.) unless it were upon some special occasions : As, perhaps, when they facrificed living Creatures; which they did in process of time, (IV. 4) though not at the first.

Ver. 30. And to every Beast, &c.] Here he gives to Verse 30. the Beasts, and Fowl, and Creeping things, all Herbs for their Food, but saith nothing of Fruit; from which we cannot well think the Birds would abstain: And therefore they are included in the Phrase, of every green Herb.

Ver. 31. Very good.] From these words Epipha-Verse 31. nius confutes the Manichees, Hæref. LXVI. n. 18. where there is an explanation of this Phrase (God (aw that it was good) throughout this whole Chapter. Where it being faid at the end of every Day's Work, God fam it was good; and particularly here on the Sixth Day, before he had guite ended the Work of it, he saith so of the formation of the Beasts, ver. 25. Abarbinel will have this to relate particularly to the Creation of Man and Woman. But the beginning of the Verse plainly hows that he speaks of every thing that he had made: And therefore their Doctors in Berischeth Rabba (whom he mentions) fay a great deal better. That Man is meant in the first and principal place, when Mofes fays, God faw every thing that be had made ; and behold, it was very good.

CHAP.

A COMMENTART

CHAP. II.

MOSES having given a fhort Account of the orderly Production of all Things, from the meanest to the noblest, explains more largely in this Chapter fome things, which were delivered briefly in the foregoing, because he would not too much interrupt the coherence of his Discourse about the Works of the Six Days. Particularly he relates how Eve was made; and also further illustrates the Production of Adam, &c.

Verse 1. Ver. 1. Thus the Heavens, and the Earth.] i.e. The visible World.

Were finished.] Brought to that Perfection wherein we see them.

And all the hoft of them.] That is, all Creatures in Heaven and in Earth; which are called Hoft, or Army, because of their vast variety, and excellent order.

Verse 2.

32 Chapter II.

> Ver. 2. And on the feventh Day God ended his Work.] Or rather, had ended, (as it may be tranflated) for he did not work on the Seventh Day: But, rested from all his Work which he had made; having so compleatly finished it, that there remained no more to be done. An Emblem of the Rest that we shall have, when we have done our Work faithfully, and less none undone, as Origen's words are, L. VI. contra Celsum.

Verse 3.

Ver. 3. And God bleffed the seventh Day, and sanctified it.] As God sanctified Jeremiah in after-times from from his Mother's Womb, (Jer. I. 5.) by ordaining Chapter him to be a Prophet : So he now determined and appointed the Seventh Day, from the very beginning of the World, to be observed in Memory of its Creation. And this setting it apart, and confecrating it to that Holy Use, was his bleffing it, or recommending it to be observed, as a Day of bleffing and praising him, in all his Works of wonder : And (I know not why I should not add) of his bestowing Bleffings upon all his pious Worshippers.

There is no mention, indeed, made of Adam's, or Abel's, &c. observing this Day; which hath inclined many to conclude these words to have been written by way of anticipation : This Day being let apart in after-times by the Law of Moles for Col's Service; but, in their Opinion, not till then. To which I cannot agree; because it seems to me far more reasonable to think, That God took Care to preferve the Memory of the Creation in the Minds of Mankind ; and the Worship of Him, the One Only God, by whom it was created : Which could not be done by any means more effectually, than by fetting apart this day for that purpole. Which if he had not appointed, yet Men being made Religious Creatures, I cannot but think they would have agreed upon fome fet time for the Exercise of their Religion, as well as fome fet place (though that be not mentioned neither) where to meet for Divine Service : And what time more proper, wherein to Honour their Creator, with their Sacrifices, Praises, and Thanksgivings, than this Day ? Which Philo well files TE nospes yevence, the birth-day of the World : Which was fo much observed all the World over, (though they forgot the reason) that the Seventh Day. Chapter II.

Diy, he observes, may be truly called 'Evern' TardinuG., the Universal Festival, kept by all People. 70*fephus* speaks to the same purpose, and there is a great deal more said by Aristobulus a Peripatetick Philosopher, out of Hesiod, Homer, and others, in Eusebius his Prapar. Evang. L. XIII. c. 12. concerning the Sacredness of the Seventh Day. Which though Mr. Selden (L. III. de Jure N. & G. cap. 17, &c.) endeavours to prove is meant of the Seventh Day of the Month, not of the Seventh Day of the Week; yet we may look upon that as a Remain of this ancient Tradition. Which, in time, Men forgot, as. they did the most Natural Duties; having so corrupted their ways, (as we read Gen. VI. 10, 11.) that there was nothing good among the generality of them. And therefore no wonder if they did ; not regard the Service of God, every Seventh Day :: To which I shall show in due place, Noah, the only righteous Man among them, had some regard. Which continued in the Family of Abraham after the Flood : Mofes speaking of it, not long after their coming out of Egypt, (where it is likely they were not fuffered to observe it, having no time free from their intolerable Labours,) as a Day known to them before the . giving of the Law at Mount Sinai, Exod. XVI. 23, 25, 26;

Which is not to be underftood, as if the Patriarchs before and after the Flood, kept fuch a Reft, as God enjoyned the Israelites by Moses: For that was proper to them, for a peculiar reason; because they had been Slaves in Egypt; and therefore were commanded to keep the Sabbath, without doing any manner of work upon that Day, Deut. V. 15. Which is all the Christian Fathers mean, when they fay the Par

upon GENESIS.

Patriarchs did not Sabbatizare, keep the Sabbath as Chapter the Jews did. (See Tertullian adv. Judæos, cap. 2, & II. 4. Irenæus, and others.) For in Religious Offices I doubt not they observed the Seventh Day; as a proper time for that Sacred Hynnn; which Galen himself (L. III. de usu partium) says, we should all sing to the Creator of all; if we our selves sirft know, and then tell others; ci & we'v & two opsiav, &c. how wonderful he is in Wisdom, how great in Power, and how rich in Goodness.

Because that in it he had rested from all his Work.] This is the reason why this Day was distinguished from the other Six; That a remembrance of God's resting from all his Works on this Day, might be preferved; by Mens laying asside their other Employments so long as to praise him Solemnly, by whom this great World was made.

Which God created, and made.] Or, as the Hebrew phrase is, created to make, i. e. rested from all the Six Day's Work. For he created something at the first, out of which to make all the rest, in fix Days space; and now he ceaseth from all.

Ver. 4. These are the generations, &c.] That is, this Verle 4. is a faithful Account of the Original of the World. Which Moses here repeats, more deeply to imprint on the Peoples Minds, that the World was not a God, but the Work of God: Which they were to acknowledge every Seventh Day.

In the Day.] i. e. At that time (so Day often fignifies) when the LOR D God made the Earth and the Heavens. It is observed by Tertullian, That exinde Dominus qui retro Deus tantum, &c. from henceforward (verse 7, 8, 9, 15, &c.) he is called LOBD, who hitherto was called only God: Of which he F 2

A COMMENTART.

Chapter endeavours to give a reason, L. adv. Hermog. cap. 3. II. The Hebrew Doctors observe, that Jehovah Elohim LORD God) joyned together, is the full and perfect Name of God: And therefore fitly referved till this place, when the Works of God were perfected, and not before.

Verse 5.

36

Ver. 5. And every Plant in the Field, before it was in the Earth, &c.] That is, before there was any Seed to produce them, God made them to fpring up, with their Seed in them; as was faid before, in the first Chapter. And Moses here mentions these alone, because they were the first Productions out of the Earth; without which there had been no Food for living Creatures.

For the LORD God had not caufed it to rain on the Earth, and there was not a Man to till the Ground.] Here are two Reafons to confirm, that Plants were not produced, in the way they are now: For there had been no flowers of Rain; nor was there any Man to prepare the Earth to receive the Seed, (if there had been any) both which are neceffary in the ordinary Method of Divine Providence, ever fince the World was made. From hence fome collect there was no Praadamites, (People before Adam,) for then Mofes could not have faid, there was no Man to till the Earth.

Verse 6.

Ver. 6. But there went up a Mist, &c.] Many think this will best cohere with what went before, by tranflating it, nor did there (taking the Particle &' not, from the foregoing Verse, as is usual) a Mist go up from the Farth. See Druss, Levit. X. 6. and Hottinger in Hexapl. Paris. p. 89. But I see no necesfity of this; and think it more likely there did go up a Vapour or Steam out of the Earth, when it care reekreeking out of the Waters, (as was faid upon Verse 9. Chapter of the 1. Chap.) to mothen the Superficies of it; before any Clouds were raifed, by the Power of the Sun, to give Rain.

37

Ver. 7. Out of the Dust of the Ground.] Not dry, Verle 7. but moift Duft, as the LXX. hive it, + ac Dewrtov you Doto wis. From whence the Apostle calls him an Sew nor yoïner, I Corinth. XV. 47. which teaches us this Duft was mixt with Water : For fo 286 fignifies ; Limus, as the Vulgar Latin hath it. Which agrees with the Hebrew jatzar, formed; which is used concerning Potters, who make their Veffels of Clay, not of d y Earth. Diodorus Siculus seems to have had some Notion of this, when he faith Man was made out of the Slime or Mud of Nile. Upon which Original of Man's Body, the ancient Fathers make many Pious Reflections : But none better or shorter than that of Nazianzen's, who fays, it is to teach us, iv orav ב המופשות בשם אוש ד כיואטים, אוש ד׳ אצי הטוקיבאאשור שב, that when we are apt to be lifted up because we are made after God's Image, the thoughts of the Dirt out of which we were taken, may humble and lay us low.

And God breathed into his Nostrils the breath of life.] This being faid of no other Creature, leads us to conceive not only that the Soul of Man is a diffinct thing, of a different Original from his Body; but that a more excellent Spirit was put into him by God (as appears by its Operations) than into other Animals. For though the fimple Speech of inspiring him with the breath of Life would not prove this, yet Moses speaking in the Plural Number, that God breathed into him Nischmath chajim, the Breath or Spirit of Lifes, it plainly denotes not only that Spirit which makes Chapter makes Man breathe and move; but think, also reason II. and discourse.

And he became a living Soul.] This is the immediate refult of the Union of the Soul with the Body. Which Eusebius thus explains, L. VII. Prapar. Evang. cap. 10. Moses having laid the Foundations of Religion before-mentioned, viz. The Knowledge of God, and of the Creation of the World, proceeds to another Point of Doctrine molt necessary to be understood; which is the Knowledge of a Man's felf; to which he leads him by flowing the difference between his Soul and his Body : His Soul being an Intelligent Substance, made after the Image of God; his Body, only an Earthly Covering of the Soul. To which Moses adds a third, wroled Zwins รับพาหใน กหล, 2) งาเมลลาไห้ไม่ อินย์ลุมมง, O.c. A certain Vital Breath, whereby the other two are united and linked together by a powerful Bond, or ftrong Tie. His Soul, it is manifest, did not come out of the Earth, or any power of Matter; but from the Power of God, who infused it into him by his Divine Inspiration.

And this was the Original of Eve's Soul alfo, though it be not mentioned: For if her Soul had been made out of Adam, as her Body was, he would have faid not only, She is Bone of my Bone, but Soul of my Soul; which would have mightily strengthned the Bond of Marriage, and exceedingly heightned Conjugal Affection.

Verse 8.

28

Ver. 8. And the LORD God planted.] Or, had planted; for it doth not feem to be a new thing.

A Garden.] A most pleasant part of the Earth.

Eastwards.] Or, as others translate it, before, in the beginning. viz. On the Third Day, when he made all

upon G E N E S I S.

all Vegetables. And it cannot be denied that mik- Chapter kedem may fignifie time, as well as place : But as the greatest part of Interpreters, Ancient and Modern, UN take it here to fignifie place; fo Moles himfelf ules it in the following part of this Book, III. 24. XI. 2. XII. 8. XIII. II.

In Eden.] A Country (as most understand it) fo called, perhaps from its Pleasure : Tomor Sugge gu owti, Slaugis aler rapore grize, curis maying rous, as Theophilus ad Autolyc speaks, L. II. Where Eden was, there are two or three places of Scripture, that give fome direction to our fearch, 2 Kings XIX. 12. Ifa. XXXVII. 12. Ezek. XXVII. 23. which flow there was a Country, that for many Ages after this, retained the Name of Eden: And that Eastward, as Moses here tells us it was fituated. That is, Eastward of Judaa, or of the Defart of the Amorites, where he wrote these Books. For the Scripture calls those People, the Children of the East, who dwelt in Arabia, Mesopotamia, and Persia. But in what Country of the East Eden was, will be best understood from ver. 10.

And there he put the Man, whom he had formed.] He was formed we must suppose in some other place; and conducted hither by God, in Token of his fingular Kindness to him. Where he declared him, faith a. Syriae Writer mentioned by Hottinger, (in his Dif-fert. de Hexaplis, Parif. p. 115.) an Heir of Paradife, and made him מלכא וכהנא ונכיא a King, a Prieft, and a Prophet.

Ver. 9. And out of the Ground.] Of that Garden Verle 9. before-mentioned.

Made the LORD God to grow every Tree; &c.] The greatest variety of the choicest Plants, Flowers; and 11.

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter II.

40 and Fruit: For Tree comprehends every thing that grows out of the Earth.

Pleasant to the sight.] He gratified Man's Eye, as well as his Taste, and his Smell.

The Tree of Life.] So called, because there was a Virtue in it, as several of the ancient Fathers think, not only to repair the Animal Spirits, as other Nourishment doth; but also to preserve and maintain them, and all the Organs of the Body, in the fame equal Temper and State, wherein they were created, without any decay : Until Man should have been fit to be translated into another World. To this purpose Irenaus, St. Chrysoftom, Theodoret, but especially Greg. Nazianzen Speak, 'Es per sv Epeivaper, &c. If therefore we had continued what we were, and kept the Commandment, we should have been what we were not by coming to the Tree of Life, arradavariadevles i Orio TAnonasouves, being made immortal, and approaching nigh to God. Orat. XLIII. p. 699. D. And why we thould think it impossible or unlikely, that God should make such a Fruit, I do not see. Nay, it feems necessary there should have been such a kind of Food ; unlefs we will suppose God would have preferved Adam (had he continued innocent) from dying, by a continual Miracle : Which is a harder Suppolition than the other.

But this Garden being also a Type of Heaven; perhaps God intended by this Tree to represent that immortal Life, which he meant to bestow upon Man with himself, Revel. XXII. 2. And so St. Austin in that famous baying of his, Erat ei in cæteris lignis alimentum, in isto autem Sacramentum, L. VIII. de Gen. ad Lit. cap. 4. In other Trees there was Nourishment for Man; but in this also a Sacrament. For it was both

upon GENESIS.

both a Symbol of that Life, which God had already Chapter bestowed upon Man, (who was hereby put in mind, that God was the Author of his Being, and all his www Enjoyments,) and of that Life he was to hope for in another World, if he proved Obedient.

In the midst of the Garden.] This fignifies either its Situation, or its Excellence : For that which is most Eminent in any place, the Hebrews say is in the midst, XXIII. 10.

The Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil.] So called, as I take it, because God intended by this Tree to prove Adam and Eve, whether they would be good or bad : Which was to be made known, by their abstaining from its Fruit, or eating of it. It is generally thought indeed by Interpreters, (of which I leave the Reader to judge,) that it had this Name afterward; either because the Tempter pretended it would make them fo wife, as to know all things, (for so good and evil may be expounded, (III. 5.) to fignifie as much as all things what foever,) or becaule in the event, upon the eating of this Fruit, they did actually know by miferable experience." (which they would not learn without it,) the great difference between obeying, and difobeying God's Commands. That is, they who did not fufficiently attend to their Duty, nor confider what it was to Sin, and what the effect of it would be; prefently, upon the eating of this Fruit, reflected upon both. For they faw how grievous it was to incur God's Displeasure, by believing a Creature rather than Him, and by being fo ungrateful as not to acknowledge his Bounty in all the Bleffings they enjoyed; without thinking Him envious in denying them one, as a proof of their Obedience.

Some

11.

A COMMENTART

4² Chapter

П.

Some think it was fo called, as a Caveat to them, not to fludy Craft and Subtilty; but to content themfelves in a fimple, plain way of life, (wherein God made them,) without any Curiofity to know more than was needful for them. Which they think is confirmed by III. 6. She fam it was good to make one wife; i. e. cunning and wily.

Verse 10. Ver. 10. And a River went out of Eden, &c.] These words affords us fuch a Key to open to us the Place where this Garden was planted, that one can scarce doubt whereabout it was; though the precise spot of Ground be not marked out in this description of it. For it lay in the Country of Eden; and we are directed to find that out by this remarkable Circumstance, That a River went out of it. Which doth not fignifie that the Spring of the River was in Eden; but that the River run through that Country into the Garden, to mater it. The Garden therefore, it is propable, was a part of the Province of Eden; and was water'd by that River which came from it. The only difficulty is to find what River this was. Our Country-man Mr. Carver, in his learned Discourse of the Terrestrial Paradise, chap. VII. endeavours to prove, that the two great Rivers, Euphrates and Tigris, having but one and the same Fountain in Ar-menia the greater, run along for some time in one Stream called Tigris: Upon which he thinks this. Garden was seated, before this River parted into two Streams, Euphrates and Tigris: This he confirms out of the Two Epistles of the Nestorian Christians written to Rome 1552. and translated by Masins; where they called Tigris the River of Eden. And there are indeed fome ancient Authors, particularly Lucan, and Boetins, who fay that these two Rivers come out of of the same Spring : But their mistake arole, its like- Chapter ly from hence, That they fprung (as Strabo tells us II. out of one and the same Mountain, viz. Niphates, U which is a part of Taurus : And Eupbrates sprung out of the Northern fide of it, and Tigris out of the Southern; as Salmasius observes upon Solinus, p. 621, &c. Certain it is, that the best Authors, both Ancient and Modern, make them to have different Springs, from whence they hold different Courfes, Euphrates toward the West, and Tigris toward the East : And do not make one River, till (after they have run through many Countries) they meet and joyn together about Apamia according to Ptolomy. And then indeed they make for a long way, but one great Stream : Which I take to be the River here mentioned by Mofes, and run through the Country of Eden, which perhaps lay on both fides of the River; as the Garden it is plain by verse 8. did on the Eastern side of it; extending it self to the place, where these united Rivers parted again. For so it follows.

And from thence.] i. e. Below the Garden.

It parted.] Or, was divided again, as it had been before into two other Streams. By which words we feem to have found the Place where the Garden ended; but being not told where it began, nor how far it fpread it felf Eastmard from the River fide, I will not prefume to fay what Country or Countries it included. Certain it is there was a Country, as I obferved before, called Eden in after-times, which was part of the Kingdom of Asyria, 2 Kings XIX. 12. And that Kingdom then comprehended not only the Country anciently called Ashur, but Mesopotamia, and Babylonia, &c. In fome part of G 2 which

A COMMENTARY.

Chapter which last Province it is probable this Garden was II. seated.

> And became into four Heads.] He doth not fay was parted into four Heads, but became into four Heads, (whole Names here follow,) two before they united, viz. Tygris, and Euphrates; and two after they again parted, viz. Pilon, and Gibon. These he calls Heads, or Principal Rivers, as David Chytraus, Ithink, rightly understands it, quatuor illustria & magna flumina efficiebant, made four famous and great Rivers. For all Divisions from the main Stream are called the Heads of a Water; as Sir W. Raleigh obferves out of Ulpianus. And it is indifferent whether the Water come out of a Fountain, or out of a River: ora Lake: For that part of the River (fuppose) where the Branch forsakes the main Stream, is called the Head of that Branch ; which becomes a new Riyer. In like manner may Euphrates and Tigris be called the Heads of that River which they made at their meeting : As where they part again, the beginnings (as the LXX. translate the word) of the other two Rivers, Pilon and Gibon, are properly called the Heads of them.

Verse 11.

44

Ver. 11. The name of the first is Pison, or Phison.] This is that Branch which runs Westerly; and being nearest to the place where Moses wrote, on the other side of Jordan, is first mentioned by him. It is a long time fince both this River and Gihon have lost these Names: The Greek and Roman Writers calling them still, after their parting, by the Names they had before they met, Euphrates and Tigris. But there was a remainder of the Name of Pison preferved in the Easterly River called Passing which is the fame with Oroatis, as Salmasius observes in his Exerc. Exerc. Plinianæ in Solin. p. 701, 702. And is called Chapter (as Mr. Carver notes) by Kenophon Simply Phylens; 11. in which the Name of Philon is plainly enough retained. Which continued till the time of Alexander the Great : For. 2. Curtins, as he further notes, commonly calls Tigris it felf, by the Name of Phasis, and fays it was fo called by the Inhabitants thereabouts. Which, in all probability, was at first the Name of this other River Phifon ; but loft by the many alterations which were made, for a long time, in the course of it, as Pliny tells us. For he fays, the Orcheni, and other neighbouring Nations, made great and deep Cuts or Canals to carry the Water of Euphrates (meaning this River) into their Fields; and fo it loft its course, and run through Tigris and the Marshes into the Sea. Strabo faith the fame, that from these Sweeyay, as he calls them, deep Trenches which carried the Water of Euphrates into Tigris, came the Name of Pasitigris; that is, Pison mixed with Tigris. See Salmafius in the fore-named Exercitations. pag. 703. where he flows this River was not perfectly reftored to its Course till the times of Alexander the Great.

That is it, which compasses the whole Land of Hawilah.] By finding where this Country was, we certainly find the River Phison: Now Moses makesmention of two Havilah's; one descended from Cush, Gen. X. 7: and the other from Jostan; ver. 29. The latter of these cannot be here meant, for his Posterity were planted Eastward; but the former, who were a more Western People, in that part of Arabia Falix which bordered upon this Stream. For the Ishmaelites (who inhabited Arabia Deserta) are described by Moses, XXV. 18, as bounded by Shur towards:

A COMMENTARY.

Chapter wards Egypt, and by Havilab in the way to Affyria. II. And Saul found Havilab in after-times in the very fame fituation, I Sam. XV. 7. And fiill, much later, Strabo mentions the Xaurolaïei (which are certainly the Pofterity of Chavilab) among the People of Arabia. See Bochart's Phaleg. L. IV. c. 11.

> Where there is Gold.] Nothing is more famous than the Gold of Arabia: Where Diodorus Siculus fays it is digged up in great Lumps, as big as a Chefnut, L. II. p. 93. Edit. H. Steph.

Verle 12.

46

Ver. 12. And the Gold of that Land is good.] i.e. Is excellent: For the fore-named Author fays, it is of fuch a flaming Colour, that it adds much to the Luftre of precious Stones, that are fet in it.

There is Bdellium.] The Hebrew word being Bedolach, some have thought Bdellium to come from thence, which is an Aromatick Gum. Others think Bedolach to be Chryftal, others Amber; but Bochart rather thinks it fignifies Pearl: Which he proves (in his Hierozoic. P. II. L. V. c. 25.) from the Country it self here mentioned, viz. Havilab, which he looks upon as that Part of Arabia, which lies upon the Persian Gulph : Where, at Catipha, there is a great Pearl-filbing. The Manna also wherewith the Israelites were fed in the Wilderness, is described Numb. XI. 7. to be round like Coriander-Seed, and of the Colour of Bedolach. Now in his former Description Moses lays it was white, Exod. XVI. 14. which agrees to Pearls, as also doth roundness, but not to the sweet Gum called Bdellium : Of which see Salmasins in his Exerc. Plin. p. 1150.

And the Onyx Stone] This Country alfo was famous for precious Stones; as appears by the Report which Nearchus (Alexander's Admiral) made of the Western

upon GENESIS.

Western Coast of the Persian Gulph, in Strabo, L. XVI. Chapter But Braunius (L. II De Vestiin Sacerd. Hebr cap. 18.) II. thinks Schoham should rather be translited the Sardonyx. Which soever it be, Arabia was famous both for the Onyx and Sardonyx, as Salmasius observes out of Pliny, 16. p. 562, 563.

Ver. 13. The name of the fecond River is Gibon.] Verle 13. There are no footsteps of this Name remaining that I can find; but we are directed, by the Country it is said to compass, to take it to be the Eastern Stream that arose from the parting of Euphrates and Tigris; as Pison I said was the Western.

Compassetb, or runneth along by the whole I and of Æthiopia.] Or Cufb: Who was leated more Eallward than his Sons, Havilah, Seba, and the reft, (mentioned Gen. X. 6, 7.) upon the Borders of this River. For when People first began to spread themselves, they kept as near to great Rivers as they could ; for the better communion one with another, and affording mutual Succour and Affistance. It is probable that he gave Name to the Country of Susiana; which the Greeks called Kiasia, and is now called by the Persians Chuzestan, i. e. The Province of Chus, And when his Posterity multiplied, they went more Westward toward the Arabian Sea: From whence his Brother Mitzraim passed into Egypt. Our Tranflators follow the LXX. in rendring the Hebrew Name Cufb, by Æthiopia: Not meaning that in Africa, but this in Afra. For the Ancients frequently mention a double Æthiopia, as many have observed ; particularly Job Ludolphus, who herein justifies the LXX. in great part, L. II. Comment. in Histor. Æthior. Cap. III. n. 16. and the second second

Ver.

ACOMMENTARY

48 Chapter II.

Ver. 14. The name of the third is Hiddekel.] Which River leing called by Daniel, X. 4. the great River ; cannot be, as many have fansied, Nahar-malca: For that was but a Cut, made by Trajan to waft his Army out of Euphrates into Tigris, (as Ammian. Marcellinus tells us,) and therefore Hiddekel, is Tigris it felf. Which, as Pliny fays, was called Diglito, in those Parts where its Course was flow; and where it began to be rapid, it took the Name of Tigris. And fo the Arabians call this River Deglat; and Degela. from the Hebrew word Hiddekel. Which Salmafins derives from Hadda, or Chadda, tharp pointed; and Kal, swift ; because of its very quick and hasty Motion: And thence the Greeks he observes derive the Name of Tigris, Dat & ozutul G., Exerc. in Solin. p. 694. Rauwolff in his Travels, P. II. c. 9. fays, That when he was at Caruch, on the Confines of Media, (which was about an hundred Years ago,) Tigris was still called in their Language Hiddekel.

Which goeth toward the East of Assignation of the second constraints o

The fourth River is Euphrates.] None doubt that the River called here in the Hebrew Perah or Phrath, is the fame that hath been called for many Ages Euphrates. The Course of which was so well known

upon GENESIS.

known in those Days, that Moses gives no Description Chapter of it. II.

Ver. 15. And the LORD God took the Man. 7 After such a manner as he took David from the Verse 15. Sheepfolds, (Pfalm LXXVIII.70.) by an extraordinary Motion. For as a Prophet was fent from God to anoint him; fo God himfelf, I suppose, appeared to Adam. in a visible Glorious Majesty, which the Jews call the SCHECHINAH, (as was noted before, I. 2.) because it was a Token of God's special Presence, and by it he dwelt among his People. It feems to have been a very hining Flame, or amazing Splendour of Light, breaking out of a thick Cloud: Of which we afterward read very often, under the Name of the Glory of the LORD; which at first appeared to Moses, as a flame of Fire out of the midit of a Bufh, Exod. III. 2. To this I cannot think our first Parents to have been Strangers; but look upon it as highly probable, that this Divine Majesty conducted Adam from the place where he was formed, into the Garden of Eden.

And put him.] Or, placed him there.

To drefs it, and to keep it.] To preferve it by his Care and Labour, in the Condition wherein he found it. Theophilus Antiochenus thinks it is not without a Mystery, that God's putting Man into Paradife is twice mentioned, (here, and verse 8) to fignifie that after Man was cast out of one Paradife, he should still have a right to another: By being well instructed in his Banishment, and prepared for a Restitution, at the general Refurrection and new Creation, L. II. ad Autolycum.

Ver. 16. And the LORD God commanded the Verfe 16. Man.] This is a further Indication, that the Divine H Ma.

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter Majesty appeared to Adam and spake to him; as he II. did to Moses, out of the flame in the Bush, saying,

Of every Tree in the Garden thou maist freely eat.] A very liberal Concession; which was abundantly sufficient to demonstrate that it was not Envy (of which the Divine Nature is not capable) which moved their Creator to abridge our first Parents Liberty, in one particular.

Verse 17.

50

Ver. 17. But of the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil. (why so called see ver. 9.) thou shalt not eat of it.] This small restraint it was fit to lay upon Adam, to make him sensible, that though he had Dominion over all things, yet he was not their Lord; but a Servant to the most High: Who required this Abstinence in token of his Subjection, and to prove his Obedience to him. This Account many of the Fathers give of it; particularly Tertullian, who calls this the Primordial Law; which was, quali matrix omnium praceptorum Dei, (adv. Judæos, cap. 2.) including, as it were, in its Womb, all the Natural Laws of God. For, as in observing this Law he had testified his unspotted Love and Obedience to God; fo in violating it, he threw off the Divine Government, and oppofed his own Will to God's. But still some ask, Why should his Obedience be tried, in such an Instance as this? Not confidering that an Experiment of it, could scarce have been made in any of the Moral Precepts : Which there was no occasion to violate. For what fhould tempt him to Idolatry, or to take God's Name in vain, or to murder his Wife? How was it possible to commit Adultery, when there was no Body but he and the in the World ? How could he Steal, or what room was there then for Coveting, when God had put put him in poffeffion of all things? It had been in Chapter vain. to forbid that, which could not be done; and II. it had not been Vertue to abftain from that to which there was no Temptation; but from that which invited them to Tranfgrefs. I fpeak in the Plural Number; becaufe it must be remembred that this Prohibition was given not only to Adam but to Eve alfo, (III. 1, 2.) An Account of whose Production immediately follows.

Theophilus Antiochenus in the place before-named, hath feveral pretty Reflections upon this Prohibition; and this among the reft: That Adam and Eve being but newly brought into the World, were in fimplicity, to be wholly ordered and governed by the Will and Pleasure of their Heavenly Parent; and not affect much Knowledge, (as not agreeable to their Infant State,) but to grow up in it by degrees, and not jap' & hamar pequeiv, to aim at Wildom above their Age. To which purpose Greg. Nazianzen alfo discourses in many places: Orat. XXXVIII. p. 619. Orat. XLII. p. 681. and Carm. Arcan. VII. p. 162. And indeed many excellent Meditations may be raifed from hence; particularly, That Christians new-born should not be so greedy of Knowledge, as careful and folicitous of well-doing: For many have been ruin'd by early Speculations. Which, if one could pick any good Senfe out of such stuff as the Valetinians uttered, I should think they intended to represent; when they faid, The last of their Æons, whom they called Wifdom, labouring to comprehend the Bigg, or Depth, (i. e. the Father of all) had like to have loft it felf, till it was helpt by "Op@, or Limit. That is, we are preferved by fetting some Bounds to our Desires after Knowledge.

H 2

Thor

51

Chapter Thou fhalt furely die.] In the Hebrew, dying thou II. fhalt die; to show the certainty of it, as we rightly translate it. Which doth not signifie, as appears by the event, that he should instantly die; but become Mortal; lose the Immortality wherewith he was invessed, Gen. III. 19. And, as Athanasius thinks, the doubling the Expression denotes, Min μώνον δατοθνή-σπειν, άλλα i, en the trip to Savate φθορά διαμένειν, (L. De Incarn. Verbi,) he should not only die, but remain in the Corruption of Death; as we should all have done, had not the Second Adam obtained for us an happy Refurrection.

I need not add, That Difeafes, Sickneffes, and Pains, the fore-runners of Death, are included in this Threatning.

Verfe 18. Ver. 18. And the LORD God faid.] Or, had faid, as it is by fome translated; the better to show that the foregoing Precept was given to both. And to fay in this place, is as much as to refolve and decree: As Melansthon well explains it, in one of his Epistles, Dicere, hoc loco fignificat, miranda fapientia fancire, & nobis hoc decretum tradere; to fay, here fignifies to establish with wonderful Wisdom, and to deliver this Decree to us. L. I. Epist. 126. Where he again repeats it, The LORD faid, that is, by his wise Counfel and immutable Decree, he established this Order.

> It is not good that the Man should be alone.] Uncomfortable to want Society, and unfit there should not be an increase of Mankind. Concerning which Plato hath left these wonderful Words, L. VI. De Legibus: This is the Encouragement to Marriage, not only that humane Race may be perpetuated; but a Man may, maidas maidan dei ras Des implicates and autor wird wagendebray, leave Childrens Children behind him Chapter when he is gone, to ferve God in his stead. II.

upon GENESIS.

I will make him an help.] For all the Necessities www. and Ules of Life.

Meet for him.] In whofe Company he shall take Delight; so the Hebrew Phrase, as before him, imports; being as much as, answerable to him, every way fitted for him; not only in likeness of Body, but of Mind, Disposition, and Affection: Which laid the Foundation of perpetual Familiarity and Friendship. Or, as the Author of Cether Schem Tobh, mention'd by Hackspan, interprets it, She shall always be ready to observe and serve him. For to stand before any one, in the Hebrew Language, signifies to do what is desired. See more on verse 25.

Ver. 19. And out of the Ground the LORD God Verle 19. formed.] Or, had formed, 1. 20. 25.

Every Beast of the Field, &c.] The Ground here must be understood to comprehend the Water also; out of which the Fowl were made.

And brought them unto ADAM.] It is commonly thought that this Name of Adam, given to the first Man, fignifies as much as red Earth. But Job Ludolphus hath made it far more probable, that it imports Elegant, or Beautiful. See his Histor. Æthiop. L. I. cap. 15. n. 17, 18. and his Commentaries upon that Chapter, N. 107. How the Beasts and Birds were brought to him, we are not told: But, it is likely, by the Ministry of Angels; who were perpetual Attendants upon the SCHECHINAH, or Divine Majesty.

To fee what he would call them.] To exercise and improve his Understanding.

And

53

A COMMENTARY

And whatever Adam called, &c.] God approved of it.

Verse 20. Adam gave Names, to all Creatures; yet among them all, when they were brought before him, there was not a fit Companion found for him. It doth not tollow from his giving Names, that he knew the Nature of all those Creatures: For the Names of them in Scripture (which they who are of this Opinion generally suppose were the Names given by Adam) are taken from their Voice, their Colour, their Magnitude, or some such External Difference, and not from their Nature. Therefore this impoling Names upon them, denotes rather his Dominion, than his Knowledge. The Anonymous Author of the Chron. Excerpta before Joh. Antiochenus Malala fays, That Adam imposed Names upon all Creatures, rala rindno Des, by the Commandment of God, ro &' aurs. ovouse is i zuvain dirs "Agger & Kup's Einer autois, but his own Name and his Wife's were told him by an Angel of the Lord.

54

II.

Chapter

Verfe 21. Ver. 21. And the LORD God caufed a deep fleep, &c.] Whereby he was made lefs fenfible of the Pain, which otherwife he would have felt in the opening his Side; if his Mind had not been wholly intent upon fomething elfe. As it was in this Sleep; which was accompanied with an Ecstafie, (fo the LXX translate this Word, and it is agreeable to what we read Job IV. 13.) wherein was represented to his Mind, both what was done to him, and the Mystery of it; as appears by verse 23,24. Vid. Epiphan.Haref. XLVIII. n. 4, 5, 6.

> And he took one of his Ribs.] Tho. Bartholinus, a late famous Physician, thinks it probable that Adam had had XIII Ribs on each Side, and that God took away Chapter one pair, with the Musculous Parts that adhere to II. them; and out of them made Eve. For commonly Men have but XII Ribs, though fometimes there have been found (as Galen and Riolanus upon him testifie) those who have had XIII. and, very rarely, fome who have had but XI: As Bartholin himfelf obferved in a lufty ftrong Man whom he diffected. An. 1657. who had but XI on one fide, and a fmall appearance of a XIIth on the other. Histor. Anatom. & Medic. Centur. V. cap. 2. It is fit here to be observed. That God did not form Eve out of the Ground, as he had done idam; but out of his Side: That he might breed the greater Love between him and her, as the Parts of the fame Whole. Whereby he alfo effectually recommended Marriage to all Mankind, as founded in Nature; and as the re-union of Man and Woman. It is likewife observable, That there is no mention here of his breathing a Soul into her, as into him: For Moles only explains what was peculiar to Eve, (which was her being made out of his Side,) the reft is supposed in those Words, verse 19. I will make him an help meet for him ; which the vulgar Latin rightly translates fimile ei, like unto him. For so the Hebrew word Kenegdo is used by the Tewish Writers, particularly by Benjamin in his Itinerary; where, speaking of the Fews at Germuda, and naming feveral, he fays there were many more Kenegdem, like unto them. And so the word art among the Greeks denotes likeness and similitude, as well as contrary. Of which see Const. L' Empereur, Annot. in Benj. Tudel. p. 138. The Woman therefore was in all things like him; only he made out of the Earth, the out of him : That he might cleave 01

upon GENESIS.

A COMMENTART

Chapter to her with the dearest Love and Affection. It was II. also faid before this, I. 27. That both Man and Woman were made in the likeness of God.

And closed up the Flesh, instead thereof.] Made the Flesh as firm, as it was before.

Verfe 22. Ver. 22. And the Rib, &c. made he Woman.] Which was as easie for the Divine Power to do; as to make the Man himself out of the Earth.

> And brought her to him] Not merely by ccnducting her to the fame place where he was; but the Divine Majefty (which now appeared to Eve) prefented and gave her to him, to be his Wife. God himfelf made the Espoulals (if I may so speak) between them, and joyned them together in Marriage.

Verse 23. Ver. 23. And Adam said, &c.] Now indeed s have found, what I could not see before among all God's Creatures, another self.

She fhall be called Woman, &c.] Partake of my Name, as the doth of my Nature. For he called her Iffcha, as he was called Iffch. From whence Sepher Cofri, and Abarbinel endeavour (in a very long Difcourfe) to prove the Hebrew to be the Primitive Language. And Abarbinel observes the Christians to be of the fame Opinion, quoting for a proof of it, St. Anftin's Book, De Civitate Dei.

Verse 24.

56

Ver. 24. Therefore fhall a Man leave his Father and Mother, and cleave to his Wife.] Cohabit with her, rather than with his Parents, (if they cannot all dwell together,) and be joyned to her in the clofeft and most infeparable Affection: As if they were but one Person, and had but one Soul and one Body. That's the meaning of the next words.

And

upon GENESIS

And they shall be one Fless.] Most intimately con-Chapter joyned in entire and inseparable Love. Which arose from the fingular Union of the Flesh of our first u Parents; one of them being taken out of the other. From whence Maimonides and other Hebrew Doctors infer all mixture with Beafts to be contrary to Nature; who are neither one Flesh with us, nor one with another. For in this our Bodies, as well as our Souls, have a preheminence above theirs; which were not made one Flesh after such a maoner as Man and Woman were. They hence also conclude all incestuous Marriages, &c. to be unlawful, as may be feen in Mr. Selden, D. Jure N. & G. Lib. 5. cap. 2. Their Observation is more pertinent who take notice. That God creating and joyning together but one Man and one Woman in the beginning; intended Mankind should be fo propagated, and not by Polygamy. Which in process of time indeed became the general practice; but from the beginning it was not lo, as our Saviour speaks in the Case of Divorces. Which he concludes, from these very words, were against the Divine Institution, which made two to be one Flefb, (Matth. XIX. 5, 6, 8.) So he interprets thefe words, (and St. Paul doth the fame, 1 Cor. VI. 16.) they shall be one Flesh: And so doth Jonathan's Paraphrase, and the Samaritan Code, as Mr. Selden obferves in the place now named.

Ver. 25. And they were both naked, the Man and Verse 25. his Wife.] They did not yet find any necessity of Cloths.

And they were not afhamed.] Did not blufh; no more than little Children do, when they behold one another naked and embrace with an innocent Affection. Befides, there was no Body but they two I who

A COMMENTARY

Chapter (who in effect were as One) to behold them: III. And therefore they had no more reason to blush, than a Man doth when he is naked alone by himfelf.

58

CHAP. III.

E Ufebins observes, (L. VII. Præpar. Evang. cap. 9, 10.) That Moses having settled the great Doctrines of the Creation of the World, and the Dignity of Man, made in the Image of God; proceeds very wisely to instruct the Israelites, that there are none so happy, but without due Care and Watchfulnels, may become most miserable: There being Πονης δς δαίμων, (as his words are) a wicked Dæmon at every Man's Elbow, βάσπαν α, ή μισύναλ G. ή f άνθεώπων άεχη στι δτίδελ G. σωδηςίας, envious, a hater of those that are good, and from the beginning a wily underminer of Mens Salvation.

Now this following immediately after the relation of the formation of Eve, hath made fome fanfie, that our first Parents fell the very fame day they were made. And thus much, I think, must be fupposed, That they did not continue very long in their happy state: For, if they had persisted stedfassing in their Duty, for a confiderable time; they would have acquired such an habit of well-doing, as would not have been so easily lost. But that they continued longer than a Day, there are many Circumstances to induce us to believe. For it required some time for Adam to be acquainted with all other Creatures, and to impose Names upon them: And there being being none of them a meet help for him, he flept Chapter fome time, till Eve had taken her Beginning out of III. him. Whom, when he faw, he received, and own'd her for his Wife; and no doubt made more Reflections upon God's Wildom, Power, and Goodnels, than are set down in this Sacred Story. They both also received a Command from God, not to eat of one Tree in the Garden: Into which, when they were brought, we cannot but think they walk'd about it, and took fuch a view of it, as to be convinced, by the bountiful Provision God had made for them. they had no reason to complain of the small Restraint he laid upon them. All which could not be performed to speedily as some have imagined; for though God can do what he pleafes in an inftant, yet Man cannot; and God himself did not in one Day create the World. And, befides, that some time was neceffary for transacting all these things; it is not likely the Devil would immediately fet upon Eve, as foon as the Command was laid upon them; but rather let it be a little forgotten. And if the time be observed when he affaulted her, it will much confirm this Opinion, which was in the ablence of her Husband; for that we cannot eafily believe to have been upon the fame Day they were created. The extraordinary Kindness they had one for the other, will scarce allow us to think it possible, they should be so soon separated. It is plain also, God santified the feventh Day before their fall: Which it is highly probable they spent in admiring and praising the Almighty Goodness.

Ver. I. Now the Serpent.] Or, that Serpent (as some Verse I, think it should be translated) which the Tempter made use of, as his Instrument to deceive.

2

Was

59

A COMMENTARY

60

Was more [ubtil.] The whole Species of Serpents Chapter is noted by Aristotle (L.I. Histor. Animal. c. I.) to be III. ualiza Griber Q., extremely infidious: But this was n extraordinary wily. What fort it was, is not here expressed: But all agree there is now none like it; the Curfe of God having degraded it. St. Bafil in his Book of Paradise, (p. 627.) saith it was not a frightful Creature, as it is now, atha are goning in nueeG, but mild and gentle: Not crawling and winding about, in a terrible manner, upon the Ground, arr junios 671 robar Belnuis, but lofty, and going upright upon its Feet. Several of the Jews have been of this Opinion; and our famous Mr. Mede inclines to it, Discourse XXXVIII. p. 291, &c. But I take the conjecture of another very learned Person, now a Bilhop of our Church, to be far more probable: Which I shall endeavour to strengthen. There were (and still are in the Eastern and Southern Parts of the World,) Serpents having Wings, and thining very brightly, like to Fire. So we read, Ifai. XIV. 29. of a flying fiery Serpent. Which fiery Serpents are called Seraphims, in Numb. XXI. 6, 8. and termed fiery, not merely with respect to their Venom, which made fore Inflammations in the Bodies of those who were bitten by them; but because they appeared fhining like Fire, when they flew in the Air.

> Whence Seraphim is the Name also of the highest fort of Angels, (called the Angels of the Presence,) Ifai. VI. 2, 6. Who appeared, I suppose, in some such form with flaming Wings. For otherwise, I cannot think Serpents would have been honoured as Sacred things in so many Countries, as we find they anciently were; unless they had been the Symbols of Angels

Angels. The Devil therefore, I conceive, made use Chapter of some such Serpent, (but of a more surpassing brightnefs, than any now extant,) that he might refemble one of the most illustrious Angels, who appeared sometimes in the like shape. Which moved Eve the more readily to hearken unto the Voice of the Serpent; taking it to be one of the heavenly ~ Seraphims, which the had feen fometime, in fuch a fplendid form, attend upon the Divine Glory, or Majefty : For the Angels always made a part of the SCHECHINAH. And thus, one would think, Tertullian understood this matter, when he faid in this Book De Prascript. Hæret. C. XLVII. Istum fuisse Serpentem, cui Eva, ut filio Dei crediderat, this was the Serpent, to whom Eve gave credit, as to the Son of God. Which if any one take to be the words of the Hereticks he is there speaking of; yet those are not, which we find in this Book against the Valentinians, cap. 2. where he faith the Serpent was a Primordio Divinæ imaginis prædo, an Usurper of the Divine Image from the beginning. See Bp Tenifon of Idolatry, p. 356. To which that passage in Epiphanius may be added, who mentions some Hereticks (who might have fome Truth among them) that faid, the Woman liftned to the Serpent, is Errei In wis us Oes, and believed him, or was perfuaded by him, as the Son of God, Haref. XXXVII. n. 25. And, one would think, Rabbi Bechai had this Notion in his Mind, when he faid (upon the 14th Verse of this Chapter,) this is the Secret (or Mystery) of the Holy Language, that a Serpent is called SARAPH, as an Angel is called SARAPH. For which he quotes the fore-named place, Numb. XXI. 6. and then adds, The Scripture calls Serpents Seraphim, because they were Chapter were Toledoth hanacass hakadmoni, the off-fpring of III. this old Serpent : Understand this, (so he concludes, as our Saviour speaks in another Case, mhoso readeth.

62

as our Saviour speaks in another Case, whose readeth, let him understand,) as a Matter of great concernment. Which can have no other meaning, I think, but this; That the Devil (whom St. John also calls the old Serpent, Revel. XII. 9.) in this Serpent here spoken of, counterfeited a glorious Seraphim, and thereby seduced Eve to give Credit to him.

However this be, it is most reasonable to suppose, it was some beautiful Creature, whom Eve thought an Angel, who wish'd them well, discoursed with her: For she was not so simple as to think that Beasts could speak; much less, that they knew more of God's Mind than her self. Nor doth it seem at all credible to me, that she should have been otherways deceived, but by some Creature which appeared so gloriously, that she took it for an heavenly Minister; who, she thought, came to explain to them the meaning of the Divine Command.

Yea, hath God faid.] This doth not look like the beginning of a Difcourfe, but the conclusion: As the Jews themfelves have obferved. And, it is not improbable, that the Tempter, before he spake these words, represented himself as one of the heavenly Court; who came, or was sent, to congratulate the happiness that God had bestowed upon them in Paradife: Which was so great, that he could not easily believe he had denied them any of the Fruit of the Garden. He defired therefore to be satisfied from her own Mouth, of the Truth of what he pretended to have heard; or to know how they understood the Command of God. For so these words may be translated, Is it true indeed, hath God faid, Ye shall not east of every Tree, &c. Which is a very ancient Inter-Chapter pretation, and more probable than theirs, who would III. have the Hebrew Particles, aph ki, fignifie as much as ut ut : Although God hath faid, ye shall not eat, notwithstanding ye shall not die. So they suppose he was going to add, but before he had spoken the latter part of the Sentence, Eve interrupted him faying, We may eat of the Fruit of the Tree of the Garden. This had been too gross, shally to contradict what God had faid: Whereas the beginning of the Verse tells us, he went more supposed of the work.

of

Ver. 2. And the Woman Said unto the Serpent, We Verse 2. may eat of the Fruit of the Trees of the Garden.] She feems to have understood him, as if he thought God had forbid them to eat of any Fruit in the Garden. And indeed the foregoing Question is ambiguous; like those Oracles of his which made him be called Aozia's, (oblique or crooked) by the ancient Heathen; because they had two meanings. She truly therefore reports the Sence of God's Prohibition, in this and the following Verle. Though there are those who think, the pronounced these words, We may eat of the Fruit, &c. with some admiration, that they should be restrained from one Fruit, when God had most liberally granted them all the rest. The reason of which the did not know, and thowed her defire perhaps to understand it.

Ver. 3. But of the Fruit of the Tree, which is in the Verle 3. midft of the Garden, God hath faid, ye fhall not eat of it, nor touch it, left ye die.] Some fanfie the Woman here began to prevaricate in two things: First, In faying they might not touch it : Secondly, In faying only there was danger, if they meddled with it, and not an absolute threatning. Of which the Devil, they Chapter III. they think, took advantage; and immediately affured her, there was no danger at all. This laft they ground upon the Hebrew Particle pen, which we translate left, and expresses a doubting. But I do not think either of these Observations are folid: For that Particle doth not always imply a Doubt, as we may learn from the Second Pfalm, the last Verse, and many other places: And the touching of the Fruit, fignifies the plucking it off from the Tree, in order to eat it: Which was expressly forbidden.

Verse 4.

64

Ver. 4. Ye fhall not surely die.] You are under a mistake: Death will not be the certain Consequence of your eating this Fruit. For God is too Good to inflict such an heavy Punishment, for so small a Fault.

Verse 5.

Ver. 5. For God, &c.] The Particle ki, which we translate for, fignifies here as much as but, (as Abarbinel and others observe,) just as in Pfalm CXV. 1. So the meaning is, you shall be in no danger, but quite contrary, be great gainers by tasting of this Fruit: As God himself knows, who only keeps you in Awe by his Threatning, but will not be so severe as to execute it; when he sees you much improved, not impaired by eating it.

Then your Eyes (hall be opened.] For you will immediately difcover abundance of things, whereof you are now ignorant.

And ye shall be as Gods.] Like unto us, the Angels of God: Who are frequently called Elohim, i. e. Gods, in Scripture. Thus Maimonides understands it. More Nevoch. Pars I. c. 2. and Onkelos, who translates it Princes, meaning Angels, who are called 'Apxal, Principalities and Powers, &c.

Knowing

Knowing Good and Evil.] i. e. All manner of Chapter things. Or, as fome of the Hebrews understand it, 111. know what is fit for you to do, without any Advice or Inftruction, and without any Restriction; being subject to none, but enjoy freely what you please. For to know is fometimes as much as to enjoy, in the Scripture-Language: So that according to this Interpretation, he promiles them likeness to God himself; who is absolutely free, and subject to none.

But in this Suggestion the Devil proved, what our Saviour fays of him, That he was a Lyar from the beginning: For there are no lefs than four Lyes (as some reckon them) in these two Verses. Which makes it feem strange that Eve should give Credit to these Suggestions, which were very foolish : It being incredible that God should envy them any thing, who had given them their Beings, and innumerable Bleffings. I can give no account of it, but this: that when we are fearching after the Reason of things (as she, I suppose, was of this Prohibition) and cannot find it; if one be suggested to us, which never came into our Mind before, though in it felf unlikely, we are ready to catch at it, and to be pleased with it. For when the Mind is weary with enquiring, it is fatisfied with a false Reason, rather than have none. The Promise also of Knowledge was very tempting; especially of fuch Knowledge as he gave her hope would raife and advance her, to a more noble Condition. And it is likely the thought an heavenly Minister (as the took him to be) might understand God's meaning better than her felf.

Ver. 6. And when the Woman faw the Tree was Verse 6. good, &c.] This Verse gives a further account of that which seems very strange, the Disobedience of our K first first Parents. She look'd fo long upon the forbidden Fruit, till she not only had an Appetite to it, as excellent Food, but was taken with its beautiful Colour; and was also strongly possessed, by the persuafion of the old Serpent, that her Mind would be no less pleased than her Palate, by an increase in Knowledge and Wildom. These are powerful Temptations, (expressed in these words, good for Food, pleafant to the Eyes, and to be defired to make one wife,) and the could fee no Evil in the thing it felf ; it being the mere Pleasure of God, of which she did not apprehend the Reason, that made the eating of it a Crime. This Fruit also was planted, not in an obscure place, but in the midst of the Garden, (Verse 2.) near to the Tree of Life : Which made it the more inviting; by its being always in her Eye, as well as very beautiful; and raifed, perhaps, the greater wonder in her, that God fhould forbid a thing, which he had made so eminent for its Beauty. Hereupon she yielded, and (as it follows) took of the Fruit thereof and did eat.

65

Chapter III.

66

And gave unto her Husband with her.] Who returned to her, it is likely, as the was eating the Fruit; and was foon perfuaded to bear her company; for it immediately follows, and he did eat.

It is a question whether he debated the Matter with her, till he was satisfied with the Arguments that moved her to eat; or, his great Affection to her drew him in, to do as she did : Without any other Consideration, perhaps, than this; That he chose rather to die, than out-live one, whom he loved most passionately. To this last, the Apostle's words seem to incline, I Tim. II. 14. Adam was not deceived : Though they do not necessarily signifie, it must beconconfessed, That he was not seduced by the Tempter's Chapter Arguments, but only that Eve was first seduced, III. and then help'd to seduce him. So that he might be wrought upon, both by those Arguments, and by his Affection also to his Wife: But could have been deceived by neither, had he not been first guilty of a great aregorize and fraguma, (as St. Chrysoftom calls it) heedlessed and non-attention, arising from solution makes upon her gazing upon the beautiful Fruit, is this; Pd/ymuer rasivegas eis hraz duris Bolenamer, &c. Orat. XLVIII. p. 700. D.

ð

Ver. 7. And the Eyes of them both were opened.] Not Verle 7. in the Senle the Serpent promifed, but a very much different : For they foon faw their Folly, and made fud Reflections upon what they had done.

And they knew (or felt) that they were naked] A cold fhivering feized on them; and they perceived also that they were stript of their intellectual Ornaments, (as Athanasius expounds it, contra Gentes, p. 4.) and blush'd also at their Bodily Nakedness, of which they were not before at all assumed.

And they fewed Fig-leaves together.] Or, twifted the young Twigs of the Fig-tree, with the Leaves on them : Which are very broad in the Eastern Countries. Pliny reckons this among the Trees that have the largest Leaves, L. XVI. cap. 24, and cap. 26. where he faith, it hath folium maximum, umbrosi fim imque, the greatest and most shady Leaf of all other.

And made themselves Aprons.] A Covering, which they girt about them.

Ver. 8. And they heard the Voice of the LORD Verse 8. walking in the Garden.] The Sound of the Majestatick Prefence, or the Glory of the LORD, approaching K 2 nearer Chapter nearer and nearer unto the place where they were. For III. the walking may be referred to Voice, as well as to the LORD: Signifying that the Sound, as I faid (for fo Voice is often used in Scripture) of the Divine Majesty's approach, came still nearer, and made a louder Noise, to terrifie them. For thus the word walk is applied to the Voice, (i. e. Sound) of the Trumpet at the giving of the Law, when Moses says of it, (Exod. XIX. 19.) The truth of the and green stronger.

Just so, I conceive, the Sound which the Motion of the SCHECHINAH made, did at this time. And that,

In the cool of the Day.] When the Wind began to rife, (foit is in the Hebrew, in the wind of the Day,) that is, towards the Evening, as most understand it : For then there was wont to be a gentle breath of Wind; as Aristotle observes of his Country, $+ Z_{equ-}$ wegs $+ \delta_{ei} \lambda_{loc}$ weiv, the West Wind was wont to blow towards the close of the Day. Which being a soft and gentle Gale, the Sound they heard was the more astonishing, which seemed to threaten a dreadful Storm.

Onkelos thus paraphrafes the first words, they heard the Voice of the WORD of the LORD: That is, of the Son of God; who appeared in very glorious Clouds; or rather, in flaming Fire, of fuch an amazing Brightness, that they were not able to endure the fight of it. For soit follows:

Adam and his Wife hid themselves from the prefence of the LORD God, &c.] It's plain by this there was the appearance of an extraordinary Prefence : Which affrighted them, and made them run among the Trees of the Garden; i. e. into the Thickets, or the closeft places they could find there.

I cannot but think the SCHECHINAH, or Chapter Divine Majesty, appeared quite otherwise than for. merly: That is, not in fomild a Luftre as when they _ were first acquainted with him ; but in a more terrible burning Light, as if it would confume them. For fo we read in after-times, that the fame LOR D who appeared unto Moses in a flame of Fire out of the midst of a Bush, (Exod. III. 2.) came down in a more dreadful manner, at the giving of the Law, from Mount Sinai. When the Mountain was altogether on a: (moak. (Exod. XIX. 18.) because the LORD descended upon it in Fire : And that Fire so great, that it flamed unto the midst of Heaven, (Deut. IV. II.) with darkness, clouds, and thick darkness.

Ver. 9. And the LORD God called unto Adam. Verse 9. As he did to Moles out of the Bush, Exod. III. 4. and to Israel out of the midst of the Fire, Deut. IV. 12:

And faid unto him.] With a Majestick Voice, against which he could not stop his Ears.

Where art thou? Why dolt thou run into Coverts, like the wild Beasts ? Such Questions do not argue Ignorance in him that asks them ; but are intended to awaken the Guilty to a confession of their Crimes. As appears from IV. 10. Where is Abel thy Brother ? Of whom Cain Rubbornly refuling to give an account, the LORD faid immediately, i (to fhow h needed not to be informed,) the Voice of thy Brother's Blood crieth unto me; from the Ground.

Ver. 10. And he faid, I heard thy Voice, and I was Verse 10: afraid, because Iwas naked, &c.] The very Sound of the approach of thy Presence, so affrighted me, because I found I had lost my Innocency, that I hid my felf from thee. This was a foolifh and vain attempt; but.

III.

A COMMENTARY.

but as Guilt makes Men fearful, so that bereaves them Chapter ĪIJ. of all Confideration.

Ver. 11. And he faid, Who told thee that thou waft Verse 11. naked ?] Divested of those noble Endowments, which I befrowed on thee.

> Hast thou eaten, &c.] Transgressed my Commandment?

Ver. 12. And the Man Said, The Woman whom thou Verse 12. gavest, &c.] I confess my Guilt ; into which I was drawn by her, whom thou gavest me for an help. Thus we are apt to excuse and palliate our Faults: by laying that Load upon others, with which we ought to charge our felves.

Ver. 12. And the LORD God faid unto the Woman, &c.] What moved thee to violate my Command

And five faid, The Serpent beguiled me.] My Weaknels was deceived, by the Cunning of the Devil. Thus fhe also threw the blame upon another. But God, no doubt, convinced them both, of the greatness of their Guilt, and the miferable Condition into which they were faln by their Transgreffion; before he ended this Discourse with them. Which shows the Infinite Mercy of the Creator of all, who would not abandon them; but fought after them, to fave them, when they had loft themfelves.

Verse 14. Ver. 14. And the LORD faid unto the Serpent, Thon art curfed. &c. 7 It is observed by Tertullian, That though God inflicted Punishmentson Adam and Eve, vet he did not curse them, as he did the Serpent, ut restitutionis canditatos, they standing fair for a Restitution to his Favour, L. II. adv. Marcion, c. 25. And Imay add, God did not begin with them; but first Sentences the Serpent, before he proceeds to Judgment upon upon them: Which denotes that he (the old Ser- Chapter pent) was the great O.fender, being the first Mover III. to Sin; which made his Crime more grievous than theirs.

Verse 13.

70

Now, to be Curfed, is to be deprived of what was before enjoyed, and doomed to a miserable wretched Condition of life : The particulars of which follow. The only Difficulty is, Why the Scrpent (literally fo called) fhould be curfed, as it manifeftly is. (though the Devil alfo, I shall show is intended) being but an Inftrument which the Evil Spirit used ; and had neither Will to Sin, nor yet understanding or Knowledge of what the Devil did ? It is commonly answered, That this is no more than the Curle which God inflicted upon the Earth, (which was not capable of Sinning) for Adam's fake, verse 17. But still the Reason of that Curse is required; which is evident enough : Man himself being punished by the Curle upon the Earth : Which did not yield its Fruit fo plentifully and fo eafily, as it had done before his Transgreffion. And the Reason of this Curse upon the Serpent, may be the better differend by another Instance which we find Exod. XXI. 28. where an Ox which gored a Man or a Woman, that they died, isordered to be stoned, and his Flesh not to be eaten. This fure was to flow the great value God fet upon Man's Life : Which he fecured alfo by this Punishment; which moved all Owners to look well to their Beafts that might indanger it: Even fo was the Serpent condemned, in Mercy to Adam and his Wife, (whom, it is manifest by what follows, God intended to reftore into his Favour,) that they might be ever mindful of the foulnels of their Gilt, and excited to Repentance; by seeing a noble Creature, (who Was Chapter was but the Instrument of it,) so extreamly debased III. into a most vile Condition.

A COMMENTARY

Upon thy Belly shalt thougo.] This shows the Serpent was a more noble Creature before this Fact : But changed after it, from a flying Seraph (as the word is Numb. XXI. 6.) into a foul creeping Serpent; not moving aloft in the Air, but crawling upon the Earth, and licking the Dust. So it follows.

And dust shalt thou eat, all the days of thy life.] There is no viler Food than this: Which doth not fignifie the Serpent should feed upon nothing else: But that creeping on the Ground it cannot but lick up much Dust together with its Food, what soever that be.

All this is literally the Curfe of the Serpent: But as the Devil lay hidden under the Covert of the Serpent, though he be not named; fo his Curfe is intended in this Curfe of the Serpent, though it be not feparately mentioned. As appears by the following Verfe, which hath a peculiar refpect to the Devil, under the Name of the Serpent. And the Devil's Curfe in general was this; to be thrust down further than before, from his ancient Heavenly Habitation; and condemned to live in the lower smoaky Region of the Air: Where he hath lost all relish of Celestial Enjoyments, and pleases himself only in his vile Endeavours to make Mankind as wicked as himfelf.

Verse 15. Ver. 15. I will put enmity between thee and the Woman, and between thy Seed and her Seed.] An irreconcileable Feud, throughout all Generations. Which is true of the Serpent, literally understood, between whom and Mankind there is such an Antipathy, that it discovers it felf both in the natural and fensitive Faculties Faculties of them both : Their Humours being Poi- Chapter fon to each other; and Man being aftonished at the III. fight of a Serpent more than any other Creature; and the Serpent in like manner at the fight of a Man, especially (if Naturalists say true) of a maked Man. Thus Mr. Mede, Discourse XXXIX. p. 295. But this is far more true and certain of the Spiritual Serpent, the Devil, and his Angels, (who joyned with him in his Apostasie,) and the Woman and her Seed, in whom these words are more literally fulfilled. For Maimonides justly admires, that the Seed of the Woman (hould be only mention'd, and not of Adam, (without whom the could have no Seed; which therefore must be his Seed,) and that it should be faid of her Seed, not of his, that it bruised the Serpent's Head. More Nevochim, P. II. cap. 20. This, faith he, is one of the Passages in Scripture which is most wonderful, and not to be understood, according to the Letter; but contains great Wisdom in it. In which Words he wrote more Truth than he was aware ; but was not able to unfold this hidden Wildom, as we Christians, bleffed be God, are able to do. For this Seed here spoken of is Christ, asboth the Targums (that ascribed to Jonathan, and that called the Hierusalem) expound it; and as we are taught to understand it, by God's Words to Abraham, when he renewed this Promise : In thy Seed (that is Christ, faith the Apoftle) shall all Nations be bleffed, Gen. XXII. 18. Gal. III. 8, 16. For he vanquished the Devil, who had now vanquished Mankind. 'So it here follows.

It shall bruise thy Head.] i. e. That SEED of the Woman shall despoil thee of thy Power, (meaning the Devil,) and abolish thy Tyranny. For in the Head of the Serpent (to which there is here an allu-L fion)

A COMMENTARY.

74 Chapter

iII.

There is a notable Example of this Enmity, in the ftruggle between Chrift and the Devil for the Empire, in Rev. XII. 7, 8. where Chrift deftroyed the Soveraignty of the Serpent in the Roman Empire fo effectually; that there was no more place found, for the Dragon and his Angels, in Heaven; i.e. The Devil utterly loft his Soveraignty in that State; as Mr. Mede interprets it.

And thou shalt bruise his Heel.] This Victory over the Devil was not to be gotten without Blood : For the Devil did all that he was able to defiroy this Seed. But that was impossible to be done; he could only affault his lower part, (called here the Heel,) viz. His Body or Flesh: Which, by his Instruments, he perfecuted, despitefully used, and at last crucified. By which very means (fo admirable was the Wisdom and Goodness of God) the Seed of the Woman conquered the Devil as the Apostle shows, Heb. II. 14, 15. For it must be here noted, That Christ was pro-properly and literally the Seed of the Woman, and Chapter not at all of the Man : Being born, without him, of a pure Virgin. The tender Mercy of God alfo muft u here be acknowledged ; which gave our firft Parents hope of a recovery, as foon as they were faln : By making them this molt gracious Promife. Which, though here fomething obscurely delivered, grew clearer and clearer, in every Age, till Chrift came.

It cannot be denied likewife, but that by Seed, may be understood (collectively) all the Faithful, who by the Power of the Lord, vanguish all the Power of their Spiritual Enemy. (See Luke 10. 19.) Yet fo. that we must confess, there was one Eminent Seed here primarily intended, by whom they overcome. Unto whom another Seed is not here opposed in this last part of the Verse, (as in the former part,) but the Serpent himself : Which points at a fingle Combate (as I may call it) between this promifed Seed and the Devil. But if we will take in the other Sence alfo, understand by Seed, Christ with all his Members, then the brnifing their Heel fignifies, (as Mr. Mede expounds it,) the Devil's deceit and guile in affaulting us unawares : As they do who come behind others, when they do not observe them, and catch hold of their Heel. For that this is an Emblem of guile and deceitful dealing, appears from the Story of Elan and Jacob; the latter of whom had his Name from catching his Brother by the Heel at his Birth, which Esan took for an indication of his beguiling him, as he did two times. See Difcourfe XXXVII. :p. 184.

It is fit, I think, here to note further, (what the learned Mr. Alix, hath observed,) That God in this Promise did a particular Kindness to our Father Adam.

A COMMENTARY.

Chapter III.

76

Adam. Who having been feduced by his Wife to eat the forbidden Fruit, it might have occalioned a Breach between them; had not God taken Care to prevent it, by making this gracious Promife of a Redeemer, to depend upon this Union with his Wife: From whom, he affures them, one fhould defcend, that fhould repair their Loffes.

The time likewife when this Promife was made is remarkable: Which was, before God had rejected Cain and preferred Seth to him; and long before any reftriction made to Noah's Family, or Sem's, (who derived from him,) that all the World might look upon the MESSIAH as a common Benefit to all the Sons of Adam.

Verfe 16. Ver. 16. Unto the Woman he faid.] Next to the Serpent, the Woman receives her Sentence, (as Mr. Mede well notes,) because the was more in the fault than Adam: Being guilty, as his words are (Difcourfe XXXVIII. p. 287.) both of her own perfonal Sin, and of her Husband's alfo. Whence it is that he, who had only finned himfelf, and not caufed others to fin, had his Judgment last of all. This fhould be a little more confidered than it is, by all those, who not only do Evil themselves, but draw others into the fame Guilt.

> I will greatly multiply thy forrow and conception,] i. e. Thy forrow in thy Conception: Which includes all the time of Womens going with Child; when they frequently nauseate all their Food; or have troublefome Longings; and endure many other things which are very grievous to them; especially when they are in danger to miscarry of their Burden.

> > Tra

In forrow fhalt thou bring forth Children.] Brute Chapter Creatures are observed to bring forth their Young, III. with far lefs pain, and difficulty, and danger, than Women commonly have in their Labour. Who, after they are delivered of their Children, are still in danger, by many Accidents : Especially when that stays behind which should follow the Birth, (as it fometimes doth from various Causes, noted by Bartholinus, in his Histor. Anotom. & Medic. Cent. V. Hist. XXXII. n. 3.) which occasions fore Torments, and puts their Lives in the greatest hazard.

And thy defire shall be to thy Husband.] That is, it shall be subject to him; as the Vulgar Latin and Aben Ezra expound this Phrase: Which is so used, IV. 7.

And he shall rule over thee.] Have Power to controll thy Defire. This looks like putting her more under the Will of her Husband, than was intended in her first formation: Because she had not given a due regard to him; but eaten the forbidden Fruit, without staying to confult him and ask his-Advice.

Ver. 1.7: And unto Adam he faid, Because thou hast Verle 17. bearkned to the voice of thy Wife, &c.] Been so weak, as to mind her more than me.

Curfed shall the Ground be.] It shall not bring forth so plentifully, nor so easily as it did.

For thy fake.] Because of thy Sin; which shall be punished partly by its barrenness.

In forrow shalt thou eat of it.] It shall cost thee as great deal of Labour and Toil, before thou reapest the Fruits of it.

All the days of thy life.] Every part of the Year, that bring along with it new wearifor Labours. 77

ACOMMENTART

Chapter Ver. 18. Thorns and Thiftles, &c.] It shall cost thee III. abundance of Pains to root up the Thorns, Thistles, and unprofitable Weeds; which shall come up in stead Verse 18. of better Plants.

. 78

And thou shalt eat the Herb of the Field.] Be content with fuch things as the common Field produces; instead of the delicious Fruits of Paradife. Here the Rabbins cry out Mensura pro mensura, behold the Justice of God, who ferved Man in his kind. He was not fatisfied with the choice Fruits of the Garden in which God put him; and therefore he took them from him, and fent him to eat the 'ordinary Food of Beasts; and that not without hard Labour. Maimon. More Nevoch. P. I. cap. 2.

Verle 19. Ver. 19. In the fineat of thy face, &c.] Some conclude from hence, that the Earth brought forth, before the Fall, without any Pains to cultivate it. And indeed there needed none; all things being produced at the first, by the Divine Power, in full Perfection. But what Labour would have been neceffary in time, if Man had continued Innocent, we do not know : only these words figniste, that less Toil would have ferved than Men must now take for their Sustemance.

Some of the Jews reckon up Nine Punishments befides Death, which God inflicted upon Adam; and as many upon Eve. See Pirke Elieser, cap. XIV. and Vorstius upon him.

Till thou return to the Ground.] i.e. Till thou diest, and mouldrest into Dust.

For out of it thou wast taken.] From whence thou wast taken, as it is explained, verse 23. which shows the Particle ki is not always to be translated for ; but sometime whence, or whom, as IV. 25. God hath given given me another Seed instead of Abel, כי ההרנו whom Chapter Cain flew.

HPON GENESIS.

The rest of this Verse needs no Explication.

Ver. 20. Called her name Eve.] Some think the was Verle 20. called Iffchabefore, and now he changed her Name into Eve: In belief that God would make her the Mother of all Mankind; and of the promifed Seed particularly; by whom (as D. Chytrans adds) he hoped to be raifed from the Dead, to immortal Life.

Mother of all living.] Of all Men that fhould live hereafter, or of him that fhould give Life to Mankind. So Havab may be interpreted, viva or vivificatrix: Because the was the Mother of all Mankind, or because Mankind, now sentenced to death, were by her Seed, to be made alive.

Ver. 21. Unto Adam and his Wife, did the LOR D Verse 21. God make coats of skins, &c.] The first Cloaths of Mankind were of the Leaves of Trees, which they made themselves; being ready at hand, woven by Divine Art. The next were of the Skins of Beafts ; which were much warmer, and better able to defend them from the injury of the Cold and Weather : And these were made by God's Direction. Who having made a most gracious Covenant with our first Parents, (verse 15.) it feems not unreasonable to suppole, that he also fignified to them, they should, for the confirmation of it, offer to him Sacrifices : By the Blood of which, Covenants were ratified in aftertimes, from this Example. For it is not likely, that the Beafts, of whole Skins these Coats were made, died of themselves; or, that they were killed merely for this use, or for their food. And therefore what is fo probable, as that, by God's Order, they W.ere were flain for a Sacrifice to him, (the better to represent to them their Guilt, and that the promised Seed thould vanquish the Devil, and redeem them. by fhedding his Blood,) and that of the Skins of those Beasts God directed Coats to be made, to cloath them ? But whether, by dreffing them and making Leather of them; or, only by drying them, and letting the Hair still continue on them, we cannot tell. Certain it is, that this was a very ancient fort of Cloathing; as we learn not only from Profane Authors, but from the Sacred : Particularly, Heb. XI. 27. The Jewish Doctors have carried this Matter for far, as to fay, That Adam being a Priest, these were his Prieftly Garments. The Skin indeed of the Burnt-Offering under the Law, is given to the Prieft. Lev. VII. 8. but not to make him Cloaths: And Fre. if this were true, must have been a Priest also; for she had a Coat made of Skins, no less than Adam. Who, they fansie, left this Coat to his Posterity; fo that Noah, Abraham, and all the reft of the Patriarchs (as Abel they faid did) facrificed in the very fame Coat; till Aaron was made High-Prieft, and had fpecial Garments appointed him by God. Among which, one being called by this very Name of כחנה (Exod. XXVIII.) it gave ground to this idle Conceit.

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter III.

Verle 22.

Ver. 22. Behold the Man is become, &c.] Man, in this place, includes Woman: And these words are generally thought to be spoken Sarcastically; to reprove their great Folly, in thinking to encrease their Knowledge, whether God would or no.

Like one of us.] These words plainly infinuate a Plurality of Perfons in the Godhead ; and all other Explications of them, feem to be forced and unnatural :

80

tural: That of Mr. Calvin's being as difagreeable to Chapter the Hebrew Phrase, as that of Socinus to the Excellen- III. cy of the Divine Nature. This, I think, is well proved by Theodorick Hackspan, Disput. IV. De Locut. Sacris, n. 15, &c.

81

And now, left be put forth his Hand, &c.] This feems an abrupt kind of Speech; something being kept back: As, let us turn him out, (or fome fuch like words,) left he take also of the Tree of Life, and live for ever. Which many of the ancient Fathers look upon as a merciful Dispensation; that Man might not be perpetuated in a State of Sin. So Iraneus, L. III. cap. 37. and Greg. Nazianzen. Orat. XXXVIII. p. 619. God thus ordered, ⁷Ινα μη άθαναλον & το κα-κον, η γίνε φιλανθεωπία ή τιμωρία, &c. That Sin might not be Immortal; and the Punishment might be a Kindness. Which he repeats, Orat. XLII. p. 681. So Epiphanius also, Hæref. XXXVII. n. 1. When Man had spoiled himself, God unmade him, that he might make him better. And Methodius in him, Hæref. XLIV. n. 24, 25, &c. and 29. where he proceeds fo far as to fay. That Death was not fent upon Man, 671 x2no nul, out of any evil Design to him, but as a Mercy.

Ver. 23. Therefore God fent him forth, &c.] Or, Verle 23. caft him out; and that with reproach and difgrace; as Aben Ezra observes the Hebrew word, in this form, to fignifie. And so cast him out, that he should not return again.

To till the Ground, from whence he was taken.] This confirms what I faid upon the Second Chapter, ver. 8. That Adam was made in another place, and thence brought into Paradife: From whence being now expelled, he was fent back to the place, where he was

Chapter was first formed; there to labour in all the Toils of

- Husbandry. Though it must be confessed, these
- words may fignifie no more, than those Verse 19. of this Chapter, That he had his Original from the Earth: By the tilling of which he was put in Mind of his return thither.
- Werle 24. Ver.24. So he drove out the Man.] (With his Wife) or, as Aben Ezra translates it, After he had driven him out, he placed, &c. This word Uris is that which the Hebrews properly use in Divorces: And therefore denotes, they think, that the Lord put him away from his Presence, as a Man did his Wife, to whom he gave a Bill of Divorce: Or, as a Prince baniss a Subject that hath rebelled against him, whom he fends into Exile out of his own Country.

And he placed at the East of the Garden.] This shows the Entrance into Paradise, was from the East: At which Entrance Adam being cast out, it is likely he afterwards inhabited some of the Eastern Countries. Eutychius, Patriarch of Alexandria, saith a Mountain in India, which the Mahometans commonly call Sarandib, as Mr. Selden observes, L. I. De Synedr. cap. 2. p. 452, &c. But Aben Ezra's Conjecture seems more reasonable, That he dwelt in some Country, not far from Paradise.

Cherubims.] Some of the heavenly Ministers, that waited upon the Divine Majesty: Who were called by this Name in Moses his time, when he wrote this History in the Wilderness, after the giving of the Law. For the Glory of the LORD, I take it, here appeared, at the expulsion of Adam and Eve, in a most dreadful manner; to deter them from attempting to come near this place again; for fear of being confumed.

And

82

III.

And a flaming Sword.] Or, flame of a Sword. Con- Chapter cerning which Maimonides thus discourses, P. I. More III. Nevoch cap. 4. Our wife Men understand by labat (flame) an Angel: According to that of the Pfalmift, He maketh his Angels Spirits : His Ministers (lohet) a flaming Fire, Plalm CIV. 4. That is, one of the Seraphims, or a flaming Angel, in the form of a flying fiery Saraph, (or Serpent,) whole Body moving in the Air, refembled the vibrations of a Sword, was appointed, with the Cherubines, to guard the Entrance of the Garden. For the Cherubims and Seraphims, are frequently mentioned in Scripture, as Attendants upon the SCHECHINAH, or Divine Majesty: Which appeared here in great Glory, at the Paffage into the Garden of Eden; as it did in after-times at the Door of the Tabernacle of the Congregation of Ifrael, to their great aftonishment.

Which turned every way.] Angels fays Maimonides, in the fore-named place, can turn themselves into all forms and fhapes : Some of which ftrike greater Terror into those that behold them, than others do. But I take this Expression, not to signifie mutation of Shapes, but the motion of the Angel: Which was fo very fwift and glittering, that devouring Flames feemed to come streaming out on every side.

To keep the way of the Tree of Life.] To secure the Passage into the Garden of Eden, where this Tree was; that none fhould dare to attempt a re-entrance. But Adam was so far from thinking of this; that, if the Eastern Traditions were to be credited, I should add, He plunged himself into the deepest Sorrow for a long time; bewailing his Sin, begging Pardon, Oc. till God dispatcht an Angel to comfort him, and further affure him of his Favour. Which being but M 2 proChapter probable Conjectures, I fay no more of fuch Matters. III. Nor can I affert with any degree of Confidence

84

III. Nor can I affert with any degree of Confidence, what our great Primate of Ireland fays in his Annals, That it feems to have been the tenth Day of the World's Age, when Adam was caft out of Paradife: In Memory of which Calamity, the Solemn Day of Expiation, and the great Faft was inflituted in aftertimes, wherein all were to afflict their Souls, Lev.XVI. 29. This indeed is the Doctrine of the Jems, who fay, The great Day of Expiation (which was on the tenth of September) was appointed and fanctified from the Creation of the World: But there is no other Authority for it.

It will be more uleful, I think, to observe what Footsteps there are of these things remaining in the Gentile World. I will mention but two. One of which is noted by Eusebius, who shows (L.XII. Prepar. Evang. cap. 11.) that Plato in his Symposium hath preserved the Memory of Paradise: His nmmG. Δids , Garden of Jupiter, being the same with this Garden of God, in which Man was at first placed. The other by St. Austin, who says Pherecydes, the Scholar of Pythagoras, called the Beginner of Evil, 'Oquovía: That is, a Dæmon in the Shape of a Serpent. So Heideggerus observes out of him, Exercit. IV. De Adamo & Eva, n. 82.

CHAP.

and the second second second

85 Chapter IV.

CHAP. IV.

Ver. 1. A ND Adam knew Eve his Wife, &c.] After Verse 1. they were thrown out of Paradife; not before, (whatsoever some of the Jewilb Doctors fanfie to the contrary;) nay, as some will have it, after they had spent some time in Acts of Repentance, which is not an improbable Opinion.

I have gotten a Man from the LORD.] i. e. The promifed Meffiah; which the imagined would have been her First-born. For the words of the Promife, (III. 15.) might as well be expounded of the first Seed the Woman had, as of any of his Posterity.

Ver. 2. She bare his Brother Abel.] But gives no Verse 2. reason of his Name, which signifies Vanity; as the did of Cain's, which signifies Acquisition, or Possessin. Nor is it faid who gave this Second Son the Name of Abel: But it seems they made no account of him, in comparison with the First-born. Quod non posserunt in eo spem fasta promission de Semine, ut in Kain, (as Job. Forsterus judiciously speaks, in his Lexicon, on the word Hevel,) because they did not place in him their hope of the promised Seed, as they did in Cain.

And Abel was a keeper of Sheep, &c.] The younger Son was a Shepherd; and the elder an Husbandman and Planter. For this last feems to have been Adam's chief Imployment, both before and after his Fall, (Gen. II: 15. III. 23.) and therefore, either chosen by Cain in Imitation of his Father, or put upon him by his direction, as the more noble of the two.

Whence

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter IV.

86

Whence the Eastern People gave him the Name of Abdalcariths; which some mistook for another Son of Adam: But in truth was another Name of Cain, fignifying a tiller of the Field, as Mr. Selden shows, L. V. De Jure N. & G. cap. 8.

The Patriarchs indeed after the Flood, at least in Abraham's Family, chose to feed Cattle: But that was because it was less Laborious, and more suitable to that unsettled Condition wherein they lived for many Years, removing like the ancient Nomades, from one Country to another.

Verse 3.

Ver. 2. In process of time.] In the Hebrew, the words are, in the end of Days : That is, in the conclusion of the Year; or, after Harvest. So Days fignifie in many other places, particularly, Judg. XI. 4. where, after Days, is after a Year. This was a very seasonable time to make their grateful acknowledgments to God; who had given them a fruitful Year, and bleffed them with increase. Accordingly God ordained in future times, that the Israelites should keep a folemn Feast, in the Years end, to thank him for the ingathering of their Fruits, Exod. XXIII. 16. XXXIV.22. But in what Year of the World it was that Cain and Abel brought these Sacrifices, we have no means to know. It was, no doubt, when they were grown Men; and perhaps had more Brothers and Sifters besides themselves. See Verse 17.

Cain brought of the Fruit of the Ground, an offering unto the LORD.] These were the most ancient Sacrifices among the Gentiles, both Greeks and Romans, as their Authors tell us; and therefore it is most likely that Adam began with these Oblations, of Herbs, Flowers, Frankincense, Meal, &c. in which Cain followed him; being of the same Profession, and provided vided with ftore of fuch things. Now as there were Chapter fome folemn Times of making their devout Acknowledgments to God: So, I doubt not, there were fome fet Places, where they met for that purpofe. For the word in Hebrew for brought, is never ufed about Domeftick or Private Sacrifices; but always about those Publick Sacrifices, which were brought to the Door of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, to be offered by the Priest. As Lev. IV. 4. He shall bring the Bullock to the door, &c. Which occurs all along, especially in the minth Chapter of that Book.

And therefore, I fuppole, they brought these Sacrifices here mentioned, to some fixed Place; looking towards the SCHECHINAH, or Glorious Prefence of God, at the Entrance of the Garden of Eden, from which Adam had been expelled. For there being, no doubt, some settled Place, where they performed Sacred Offices; it is most reasonable to think it had respect to the SCHECHINAH, or Divine Majesty. Wheresoever that appeared, there they appeared (as the Scripture sets) before God: Because there he manifested his special Presence, which moved them to go thither to Worship him, to give him Thanks, or to enquire of him, as we read Rebekkah did, XXV. 22.

What kind of Sacrifices these were, is a Question among learned Men. The Talmudists are of Opinion they were whole Burnt-Offerings, and that there were no other before the Law was given, (which I shall not now examine,) nor would the Jews, after the giving of the Law, permit the Gentiles to offer any other at their Temple.

It is their Opinion also, That Cain and Abel brought these Sacrifices to Adam, to be offered by him. For which which I fee no convincing Reafon: But, rather, they themselves seem to have offered them. And then this place effectually confutes their Opinion, who n fay the First-born, were separated to the Office of Priesthood : For by these words it is plain, the youngest facrificed, as well as the eldest. And so they did in following Ages; when we find Jacob performing the Office of a Prieft, Gen. XXVIII. 18. XLVI. 1. Which proves their Opinion rather to be true, who fay, That every Man anciently had the Power, in his own Family, to do the Office of a Prieft, as Job did, I. 5. But when Families combined together, under one Head, Prince, or Governor, he had the fole Right of Sacrificing devolved to him, as their common Father. Thus Melchizedeck was both King of Salem, and Priest of the most High God. All which was taken away by the Law of Mofes, which permitted none to officiate among the I/rae-lites, but the Family of Aaron; and no Sacrifices to be offered, but at the Tabernacle of the Congregation, Lev. XVII. 3, 4, 5.

It is a much harder Question, How they came to facrifice at all; either Meal or Beasts: Since we read of no Command from God requiring them to bring him fuch Oblations: Which had led fome to conclude. That Men did this out of a grateful Inclination, to return him fome of his own Bleffings; though they had no Directions from 'him about it. But if this were true, how came Abel to believe that his Sacrifice of a Beast, would be so acceptable to God, as the Apostle fays it was by Faith? Heb. XI. 4. That Faith had fomething elfe to warrant it, than barely his own Reason. Adam, in all likelihood, had received fome order concerning it; and began to facrifice

88

Chapter IV.

Sacrifice (as I noted before, III. 21.) by direction Chapter from the SCHECHINAH, or Divine Majesty: IV. From whence a Voice spake to him upon several occafions, 11. 16, 17. III. 8, 9, Ge. This Order indeed is not recorded, no more than many other things which Mofes in this fhort Hiftory omitted, (as Enoch's Prophecy, Noah's Preaching, the Pcopling of the World, &c. See Verse 15.) but it doth not seem probable that Adam would have prefumed to invent a way of Worthip, by killing Beafts, and burning their Fat: Especially fince one cannot perceive any Inclination to it in Nature. And therefore Eusebius very judicioully refolves, in my opinion, that this way of Worship was not taken up by chance, or by a Humane Motion, Mara Delav & Orivolar Jose BAnnévov, but suggested to them by a Divine Intimation, L. I. Demonstr. Evang. Cap. 10. Of which Plato one would think had fome Notion, when he forbids his Law-maker (in his Epinomis) to make any alteration in the Rites of Sacrificing, because, & Suuardo eisi-אמן דא שיאדא קטסבו אל דסוצדמי הבפו, it is not poffible for our Mortal Nature to know any thing about fuch Matters.

Ver. 4. And Abel he also brought of the Firstlings of Verle 4. his Flock, &c.] Many have fansied from hence, that Cain's Guilt lay in this, that he did not bring the first of his Fruit, as he ought to have done, and as the Heathens ever did, or were bound to do by their Pontifical Laws, (as Mr. Selden observes, Chap. I. of his Hist. of Tythes) in their Pramessum, i. e. the First-fruits of their Corn, or their Calpar, which was the richest of their Wine. For it is only faid, he brought of the Fruit of his Ground, when Abel brought of the Firstlings of his Flock. And Moses also adding, N that that Abel brought of the Fat thereof, that is, the very best; they think Cain's Fault was, that he brought not the fullest Ears of Corn, (which he kept for himfelf,) but the lankest, or brought themwith a niggardly Hand, or a grudging Mind. Thus Palladius in his Life of St. Chrysoftom fays, He was the first that tasted the First-fruits, and kept the best things for his own Belly. Two awapy we anty & outo wpwτω, τη έαυτε λαμαργία τα σεωτεία ευλάξας, p. 108. But there is no certainty of this; and the Apolle to the Hebrews hath directed us to a better account, XI. 4. Abel offered with a pious Mind ; Cain without a due Sense of God, and fincere Affection to him. He offered the Fruit of his Ground; but did not devote himself to God. Therefore it follows.

ACOMMENTART

Chapter V IV.

90

The LORD had respect unto Abel and his Offering.] He graciously accepted them: and his Offering was accepted, because he himself was accepted. It is a Metaphor from those who when a Present is made to them, look kindly upon the Person that brings it, if they like him and his Present; or turn away their Face, if they disclain them.

How God testified his Acceptance of Abel's Sacrifice, is the only difficulty: Which the Jews fay was by Fire coming from Heaven (or rather, I think, by a Stream of Light, or a Flame from the SCHECHINAH, or glorious Presence of God, to whom it was offered) which burnt up his Sacrifice. Thus Theodotion of old translated these Words, 'Antiphe fer Gri rais Sucias 'AGin, i, diverprote, He looked upon Abel's Sacrifices, and set them on Fire. Which St. Hierom, and other ancient Writers approve. The Footsteps of which we meet withal in Gen. XV. 17. and and Examples of it very many, in future times : Chapter When Moles offered the first great Burnt-offering IV. according to the Law, Iev. IX. 24. When Gideon offer'd upon the Rock, Judg VI. 21. And David flayed the Plague, I Chron. XXI. 26. and Solomon confecrated the Temple, 2 Chron. VII.13. and when Elijah contended with the Baalites, I Kings XVIII. 28, Oc. Whence the Israelites, withing all Prosperity to their King, pray that God would accept (in the Hebrew, turn into Ashes) his burnt Sacrifice, Psal. XX. 4. And we find fome Relicks of this among the Heathen. For when the Greeks went on Shipboard to the Trojan War, Homer represents Jupiter promifing them good fuccefs in this manner, Iliad. 2. 2.354.

"Asea Two Omore crain ua on mara paivar, by lightning on the Right-hand of them (as it may be translated) or fhining graciously upon them, (as the ancient Scholiast expounds it) and making favourable Tokens appear to them. In like manner he gave the fame encouragement to the Trojans, when they were going to fet upon the Greeks, Iliad. X. v. 236, 237.

> ZL's j opin Kegnidns endetia on mara pairan, 'Asea mis

Jupiter giving them good signs, lightned upon them. And Thunder sometimes accompanying these Flashes of Lightning (as it did on Mount Sinai) Virgil makes him to have established Covenants in that manner, Æneid. XII. v. 200. Where after Æneas had cal-N 2 led

A COMMENTARY

Chapter led the Sun to witness, Gc. Latinus lists up his Eyes IV. and Right-hand to Heaven, saying,

Audiat hæc genitor, qui fædera fulmine sancit .-

Let the (Heavenly) Father hear what I say, who establishes Covenants with Thunder.

If fuch Paffages as these were attended, no confidering Man would think the Books of Moses to be of less Antiquity than they pretend to; they opening to us the very Fountains of things; particularly of the ancient Religion.

Verse 5.

Ver. 5. But unto Cain and his Offering he had not respect.] He did not fo much as shine upon his Sheaves; much less make them ascend up to Heaven in a Smoak: Though he were the Elder Brother, and brought his Offering first.

And Cain was very wroth.] This highly incenfed him against Abel : When he should have made severe Reflections on himfelf, and confidered what it was that provoked God to flight his Sacrifice; that fo he might amend it, and procure his favour. Unto which he had not a Title by his Birthright, but by his Piety. It is poffible indeed that Eve might have inftilled an Opinion into him, that he being the First-born, was the Bleffed Seed which God had promised. And then this may be conceived to have enraged him the more against his Brother; when he saw such a distinguishing mark of God's special Favour to him in the very act of Sacrificing. Which made him look upon Abel with a jealous Eye, and tempted him to kill him; that he might not supplant him in his hope, of being the Fulfiller of the Oracle before-mentioned, III. 15.

And

And his Countenance fell.] He did not meerly look Charles dejectedly through grief; but knit his Brows, and IV. had a down-look (as we fpeak) lowring and cloudy: Like thofe who have evil Defigns in their Heads, and meditate nothing but Revenge.

07

Ver. 6. And the LORD faid unto Cain, &c.] He Verle 6. did not intend wholly to calt off Cain, by refuling his Sacrifice, it is plain, I think, by this Queftion. Which was, in effect, to tell him, He had no reason to be angry, or out of humour; but only to become a better Man: And then God would have respect unto him also. So it follows, Ver. 7. If thou dost well, shalt thou not be accep-Verse 7. ted ? &c.] There are valt varieties in the Interpretation of this Verse, with which I shall not trouble the Reader. (See Theodorick Hackspan, L. I. Miscel. C. 4. Mercer, and L. de Dieu, different from all, with Dr. Lightfoot) but only give the Sence of our Tranflation. If thou dost well, shalt thou not be accepted ? Canst thou doubt that I have an impartial Respect to true Goodnes, wheresoever I find it?

But if thou dost not well, Sin (that is, the Punishment of Sin, as Verse 13. XIX. 15. and many other places) lieth at the door.] Is ready to follow the Offence.

And unto thee shall be his desire, and thou shalt rule over him.] He is still thy younger Brother, and shall be subject to thee, (See III. 16.) and thou shall be his Superiour. So here are Three things suggested to Cain, to appeale his Anger against his Brother. First, That the reason of his not being respected, was not in his Brother, but in himself: Who, if he would do well, as Abel had done, should find favour no less than he. Secondly, That there was no reason he he that did ill hould fare like him that did well: but quite contrary, should feel the marks of God's Displeasure. And yet, Thirdly, This should not al-VU ter his civil right, nor give Ebel any Authority over him: But he should still retain the Priviledge of his Birth-right; and need fear no harm from his Brother. who was his inferiour.

ACOMMENTARY

Verfe 8.

94

IV.

Chapter

Ver. 8. And Cain talked with Abel his Brother.] Asked him in a friendly manner (as one Brother fpeaks to another) if he would walk into the Fields. This feems more likely to me, than that he told him how the LORD had chidden him, (as Aben Ezra interprets it) or that he disputed with him about the other World, and the Judgment to come, as others of them expound it. Which Mr. Selden very judicioully concludes to have arilen from Onkelos his Paraphrafe on the foregoing Verfe, which is this; If thou amend thy Worship (or Service of me) shalt thou not be pardoned? but if thou dost not amend it, thy Sin shall remain to the day of Judgment, in which thou shalt be punished, if thou dost not repent. Upon which follows in some Editions of the Pentateuch, the dispute which Cain had with Abel about the Day of Judgment, as a traditional Explication of this 8 Verfe. L. VII. de fure N. & Gent. cap. 4.

When they were in the Field.] When he had drawn him from Company, and had him alone.

Cain role up against Abel his Brother.] Affaulted him on a sudden; took him at an Advantage.

And flew him.] Gave him a stab; or some other way wounded him; fo as to thed his Blood. Verse II.

Ver. 9. The LORD faid unto Gain, Where is thy Brother?] Which is not spoken, as if he was Ignorant ; norant; but to awaken Cain. and make him sensible, Chapter that he knew what had passed. IV.

Verse 9

95

And he faid, I know not.] I can give no account of him.

Am 1 my Brother's Keeper?] Was he committed like a little Child, to my care; to look after him, and fee he took no harm? Rage made him rude; and not mind what he faid, nor to whom he fpake. Salvian indeed (L. I. de gubern. Dei) thinks this Speech proceeded from Atheism; and that, in those early days the Opinion fprung up, which, in his time, had infected many, Deum terrestria non respicere, &c. That God did not mind what we do on Earth; but the fouleft Fact may be covered with a Lye. But this Conceit is confuted by the very question which is put to Cain.

Ver. 10. And he said, What hast thou done?] Con-Verse 10. fider, what an heinous Crime thou hast committed; which cannot be concealed from me. For,

The Voice of thy Brother's Blood cryeth, &c.] Calls for fpeedy and fevere Vengeance. In the Hebrew it is Bloods, in the Plural Number; becaufe, fay the Hebrew Doctors, he killed Abel and all his Posterity, which were in his Loins: According to what we read 2 Kings IX. 26. I have feen the Blood of Naboth, and the Blood of his Sons, (though we read of no body stoned but Naboth himself) faith the LORD, and I will requite thee in this Plat, &c. See Sanbedrim, Cap. IV. and Excerpt. Gemara, Cap. VI. N. 7. do Job. Coch.

Ver. 11. And now thou art curfed from the Earth, Verfe II. which hath opened, &c.] I pass a Sentence of perpetual banishment upon thee, from this Country ; which hath drunk in the Blood of thy Brother. Hitherto:

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter therto Adam and his Children had lived together; IV. but now, as Aben Ezra well observes, Cain was bamissing into a Region far off from his Father: Who dwelt in the Neighbourhood of Paradise.

Verle 12.

96

Ver. 12. And when thou tillest the Ground, &c.] And wheresoever thou shalt flee, the Earth, which thou tillest, shall be barren; and not bring forth answerable to thy Labour.

A Fugitive and a Vagabond shalt thou be in the Earth.] In that ftrange Country thou shalt have no reft; but wander up and down unquietly, and not know where to fettle: Or as the LXX. translate the Words, go about groaning and trembling, full of Anguish in thy Mind, and with a continual shaking in thy Body. Thus St. Bafil in his Homily against Drunkenness understood it, when he faid, A Drunkard draws upon himself the Curse of Cain, Tpépuir is recipie oper & dia marros Bis. Staggering and turned about uncertainly all his life long. Hen. Valefins thinks his Brother's Ghost haunted him whithersoever he went: Which made him run from place to place to avoid its Perfecution. So he paraphrases these Words, (Annot. in L. III. Euseb. Hift. Eccles. Cap. 6.) Umbra fratris tui quem occidisti, persequeter te ubique, & aderit infesta. And so he interprets the foregoing Words, The Voice of thy Brother's Blood cryeth to me from the Ground. Thy Brother, whom thou hast impiously flain, requires me to avenge him, and exact the Punishment of thee, which is due for his Murder. And indeed it was a Notion, not only among the Pagans but among the Jews also (as he flows) that the Ghoft of those who were murdered, persecuted their Murderers, and required Punihment of them.

Ver.

upon GENESIS.

Ver. 13. My punifhment is greater than I can bear.] Chapter This is too heavy a Punifhment, for I fink under the IV. weight of it. Others interpret it, (as appears by the Verfe 13. Margin of our Bible,) My fin is unpardonable; or, too Verfe 13. great to be forgiven. Thus he, who at first was not to fensible of his Sin as to confess it, now thinks it to no purpose to beg Mercy.

Ver. 14. Behold, thou hast driven me this day from Verse 14. the face of the Earth.] Banished me (as was said before, Verse 11.) from my own Native Country.

And from thy Face shall I be hid.] And more than that, I am banished from thy blessed Presence, (as appears from verse i6.) and shall not have the liberty to come before thy Glorious Majesty. With respect to which he may be said to have been Excommunicated, though not in the full sence of that word, as Mr. Selden shows, L. I. de Synedr. cap. 2. p. 446, 455, &c.

And Ishall be a Fugitive, &c.] Wandring up and down in unknown Regions.

And it shall come to pass that every one that findeth me, shall flay me.] I shall be look'd upon as a Comnion Enemy: So that whosever lights upon me, taking me for a dangerous Person, will kill me. To find another, in Scripture-language, signifies to fall upon him by chance or unawares; without any precedent hatred: As Bochart observes from 1 Sam. XXIV. 14. and other places, L. II. Hierozoic. P. I. cap. 21.

Ver. 15. And the LOR D faid unto him, Therefore Verfe 15. whofo flayeth Cain, &c.] Or, (as the word we tranflate therefore may be rendred,) not fo: It fhall not be as thou sufpectest. But Lud. de Dieu gives many Instances where this word زار is used as an Af-O firmative, Chapter firmative, fignifying as much as furely. So the mean-IV. ing is, Take it for a certain Truth, that if any Man Max flay Cain, he (that is Cain,) fhall be avenged feven fold; or, rather, through feven Generations. God will punish the flaughter of Cain a long time: For the Number feven is doeles winder, (as the Chronic. Except. before Job. Antiochemus speak,) an Indication of an indeterminate, but great Number; fignifying as much, as he shall endure many Punishments. For God intended the Life of Cain should be prolonged, in a miserable estate, as an Example of his Vengeance; to deter others from committing the like murder.

> And the LORD fet a mark upon Cain, &c.] What this Mark was, we must be content to be ignorant. Some think God fligmatized him with a Letter of his Name, in his Forehead; (or, rather, I should think, fet fuch a Brand upon him, as fignified him to be accurfed ;) others, that he look'd most frightfully, fo that every Body avoided him; or, that his Head fhaked continually; or, (as others) he had a trembling in his whole Body ; or, his Face; perhaps, was blasted by Lightning from the Presence of the Lo'R D. Certain it is, that it was some notorious Mark of God's Displeasure: Which made Men shun him. For we must not imagine there was no Body in the World, at this time, but Adam, Eve, and Cain : But confider that the Defign of this Holy Book is not to give us a particular Account of the whole Race of Mankind descended from Adam, (who, no doubt, had a great many more Children than Cain and Abel; and they also had Children before this hapned,) but only of those Persons who were most remarkable; and whole Story was neceffary to be known, for the under-understanding of the Succession down to Moses his Chapter time. Accordingly we read, presently after this, that IV. Cain had a Wife; and more than that, he built a City: Which supposes a great Company of People to inhabit it, verse 17. And here, by the way, we need not wonder, there is no mention made of the Institution of Sacrifices; when the first Peopling of the World is only supposed, not related.

98

Ver. 16. And Cain went out.] Not voluntarily, but Verse 16. by the force of the Divine Curse.

From the presence of the LORD. There was a Divine Glory, called by the Jews the SCHECHINAH. which appeared from the beginning, (as I have often faid before,) the fight of which Cain never after this enjoyed; but was banished from it: And God withdrawing his gracious Presence from him, (fo St. Chryfostom,) he was also for faken by him, and put out of his special Protection. If Cain, after this, turned a down-right Idolater (as many think) it is very likely he introduced the Worship of the Sun, (which was the most ancient fort of Idolatry,) as the best refemblance he could find of the Glory of the LORD: Which was wont to appear in a flaming Light. And in after-times they worshipped Fire in the Eastern Countries; as the best Emblem of the Sun, when it was absent.

And dwelt in the Land of Nod.] At last he fettled in a Country, which had the Name of Nod; from his wandring up and down, like a Vagabond, till he fixed here. Where it feems, he still continued restless, moving from one part of the Country to another, till, in conclusion, he built a City, (for his fecurity, somethink,) as we read in the Verse following.

Some

99

ITT

A COMMENTARY.

1,00 Chapter

IV.

Some translate it, in the Land of Vagabonds : And R. Solomon fansies the very Ground shak'd under him. and made Peoplerun away from him, faying, This is the cruel Man, that killed his Brother.

On the East of Eden.] He still went Eastward fromthat Country, where Adam settled after he was thrust out of Paradise. See III. 24. Which Junius thinks, was in that Tract of Ground where the Nomades afterwards dwelt, bordering upon Susiana. Which is far more probable than the Conceit of the Author of. the Book Cofri, (Pars. II. § 14,) who would have Cain's going from the prefence of the LORD nothing else, but his Expulsion out of the Land of Canaan. where Adam dwelt after he was thrust out of Paradife: And, confequently, the Land of Nod was not far from the Land of Canaan. Nothing can be more ungrounded than this; which overthrows also all that Moses faith of Eden, and the Garden planted there, from whence Adam went out on the East side, and therefore not toward Canaan which was Weltward.

Verlei17. Ver. 17: And Cain knew his Wife.] There hath been no mention hitherto of any Woman in the World but Eve, much less of Cain's having a Wife. And therefore it is uncertain whether this were a Wife he took before he killed his Brother, or after. It is most probable before ; because we may well think all the World abhorred the thoughts of Marriage, with fuch an impious Murderer, whom God alfo had accursed. But whether it were before or after; I see no reason to conclude that this Wife was his Sister: There being Women enough in the World befide, before this time, as we faid before, verse 15. For even in our Country, in the Age before us, there forung fprung from two Persons, Three hundred sixty seven Chapter Children, within the space of eighty Years. And IV. therefore, the World being now (when Cain slew Abel) an Hundred and twenty eight, or an Hundred and thirty Years old, according to Archbishop Usher, and Jac. Capellus's Chronology, we cannot but conceive there were a great Number of People in it, descended from all those Sons and Daughters which Adam begot, Chap. V. 4. We are not told how many, but some of the ancient Eastern Traditions (in Cedrenus) say, he had thirty three Sons, and twenty seven Daughters.

It is true indeed, That at the first Cain could marry none but his own Sisters. Which was then Lawful, because absolutely necessary : But prohibited by God, when that Necessity ceased. Of which the Eastern People were so sensible, that they took care to have it thought, that Cain and Abel did not marry those who were nearest of Kin to him, but those that were at some distance. For their Tradition is, That Eve, at her two first Births, brought Twins, a Son and a Daughter, viz. Cain with his Sifter Azron, and Abel with his Sifter Awin ; as Saidus Verle 17. Patricides Patriarch of Alexandria reports. Now, such was their Caution, not to match with those that were nearest in Blood, but with those further off, as much as was then poffible ; Cain was not fuffered to marry his Twin-Sifter, nor Abel his : But Adam gave Awin to Cain, and Azron to Abel. I cannot vouch the truth of this Story : Which Imention only to flow, That Mankind have had a Senfe, that all possible Care should be used, to avoid Marriages with the nearest Relations: Forthough this Story was derived, perhaps, from the Jews, yet it was believed by other People.

A COMMENTARY

ro2 Chapter

IV.

People. See Mr. Selden, L. V. De Jure N. & G. c. 8. Whence Diodorus Siculus fays, Lib. I. it was nouvor & G. των ανθεώπων, the common use of Mankind, that Brothers and Sisters should not be joyned in Marriage. And Plato (L. VIII. de Legib.) calls such Marriages μηθαμώς öπα i Steoμισή, by no means holy, but hateful to God. For though they were not so in the beginning of things, they became so afterwards: That being natural in one state of things (as Grotius well observes, Lib. de Jure B. & P. c. 10.) which is unnatural in another state.

And he built a City.] Not as foon as he came into this Country; but when he had a numerous Progeny, able to People it: And confequently in his old Age. His end in building it, fome think, was to crofs the Curfe of wandring too and fro: Others, to defend himfelf against those whom his guilty Confcience made him fear; or, to fecure the Spoils which by force and violence (as Josephus relates, L. I. Antiq. c. 3.) he had taken from others. There are those, who imagine, that when he attempted to build the City, he often broke off the Work, out of a panick fear: Such an one as Romulus felt, after he had killed his Brother Remus.

And called the Name of the City, after the Name of his Son.] Some think he declined his own Name, because he knew it to be odious every where. But it is more likely, it was for that reason, which moved Men in after-times to do the same. For it hath been a very ancient Usage, for great Men to call the Cities which they built by the Name of their Sons, rather than their own : Out of the great Love they bare to their Children. Thus Nimrod called Nineveh after the Name of his Son Ninus. Which the Pfalmist mist notes as a piece of the Vanity of Mankind, to Chapter call their Lands (that is, the Houses where they dwelt, IV. as R. Solomon Jarchi interprets it) by their own Names, to be a lasting Monument of them and of their Family.

upon GENESIS.

103

Enoch.] There were an ancient People called by Pliny, Heniochi; by Mela, Eniochi; and by Lucan, Enochii: Some of which lived fo far Eastmard, that Sir W. Raleigh fansies they might be the Posterity of this Enoch.

Ver. 18. And unto Enoch was born Irad, &c.] It is Verfe 18. remarkable, that though Mofes gives us fome account of the Defcendants of Cain; yet he faith not a word of the Years that they lived, and carries their Genealogy but a little way. Whereas he deduces the Genealogy of Setb down to the Flood, and fo to his own time, &c. And alfo relates particularly, (Chap. V.) to what Age the Life of his principal Pofterity was prolonged. It feems, he look'd upon Cain's Race, as fuch a Reprobate Generation, that he would not number them in the Book of the Living; as St. Cyril fpeaks.

Ver. 19. Lamech took unto him two Wives.] By a Verse 19. fmall transposition of Letters, Lamech being the fame with Malech, which signifies a King; some of the Jews fansie him to have been a great Man: For none but such, they fay, had two Wives in those ancient Times: Though they hold it was lawful (as Selden shows, L. V. De Jure N. & G. cap. 6.) for any Body that could maintain them, to have had more. But it is more likely that Lamech was the first, that adventured to transgress the Original Institution: Which was observed even by the Cainites till this time. When, perhaps, his earness define of feeing that

A COMMENTARY

104 that bleffed Seed which was promifed to Eve, might Chapter induce him to take more Wives than one: Hoping, IV. by multiplying his Posterity, some or other of them might prove to happy as to produce that Seed. And this he might poffibly perfuade himfelf was the more likely; because the Right that was in Cain the Firstborn, he night now conclude was revived in himfelf: Who being the Seventh from Cain, had fome reason to imagine the Curse laid upon him, of being punished, sevenfold, i.e. for seven Generations, was > now expired; and his Posterity restored to the Right of fulfilling the Promife.

Verfe 20. Ver. 20. He was the Father.] The Hebrews call him the Father of any thing ; who was the first Inventer of it; or, a most excellent Master in that Art. Such was Jabal in the Art of making Tents, folding Flocks, and all other parts of Pastorage. Which though begun by Abel, was not by him brought to Perfection: Or, if it were, Jabal was the first in the Family of Cain, that was Eminent in the following Inventions.

Of such as dwell in Tents.] Taught Men to pitch Tents; which were movable Houses, that might eafily be carried from place to place, when there was occasion to remove for new Pasture. Under this is comprehended all that belongs to the Care of Cattel, in their breeding, feeding, and preferving, as appears by what follows.

And of [uch as have Cattel.] In the Hebrew the words are, and of Cattel. Where the copulative Van, which we tranflate and, fignifies as much as with: And fo the words are to be here translated, fuch as dwelt in Tents, with Cattel. Thus Bochartus observes at is used, I Sam. XIV. 18. The Ark of God was at that

upon GENESIS.

that time, with the Children of Ifrael; as we, with the Chapter Ancients, truly translate it. And fo it should be IV. translated. Exod. I. 5. All the Souls that came out of Facob's Loins were feventy Souls, with Fofeph. For Fofeph is not to be added (as we feem to understand it) unto the Seventy; but made up that Number, as appears from Gen. XLVI. 27. So that the Sence of this whole Verse seems to be, That though Men fed Cattel before in good Pastures; yet Jabel was the first that, by the Invention of Tents, made the more Defart Countries ferviceable to them : Where, when they had eaten up all the Grass in one place, they might in a little time take up their Tents, and fix them in another. To this purpole R. Solomon Jarchi. And in these Tents, it's likely, he taught them to defend their Cattel, as well as themselves, from Heat and Cold, and all other Dangers to which they were exposed in those Desart Places.

Ver. 21. Father of fuch as handle the Harp and Or-Verle 21. gan.] The first Inventer of Musical Instruments, and that taught Men to play upon them. What Cinnor is, (which we translate Harp,)see in Bochartus his Canaan, L. II. cap. 7. p. 808. I believe the first word includes in it all Stringed, the latter all Wind Musical Instruments.

It is poffible that Apollo, or Linus, or Orpheus (for there are all these various Opinions) might be the Inventer of the Harp among the Greeks: But it was their Vanity that made them fansie such Instruments had their Original, in their Country.

Ver. 22. Tubal-Cain.] The Arabians still call a Plate Verse 22. of Iron or Brass, by the Name of Tubal, (as Bochartus observes out of Avicenna, and others, L. III. Phaleg. cap. 12.) who as it follows in the Text, was

P

ACOMMENTARY

106

IV.

An Instructer of every Artificer in Brass and Iron.] Chapter i. e. Found the Art of melting Metals, and making . all forts of Weapons, Arms, and other Instruments of Iron and Brass. Many think that Vulcan is the fame with Tubal-Cain, (their Names being not unlike,) particularly Gerb. Vollins, De Orig. Idolol. L. I. cap. 16.

> His Sifters Name was Naamah.] Whom Vollins. (Ib. cap. 17.) takes to have been the Heathen Minerva, or Venus. Her Name fignifies Beautiful, or Fair, one of a sweet Aspect : And the Arabians say, she invented Colours and Painting, as Jabal did Mulick. See Elmacinus, p. 8.

Ver. 22. And Lamech faid unto his Wives, &c. Verse 23. Hear my Voice, ye Wives of Lamech, hearken unto my. Speech.] Something had preceded these Words, which was the occasion of them : But it is hard to find what it was. Jacobus Capellus indeed (in his Historia Sacra & Exotica) hath a Conceit that Lamech was now in a vapouring Humour, being puffed up with the glory of his Son's Inventions; to whole Musick and other Arts, he endeavoured to add Poetry : Which he expressed in the following Words, that feem to him a Thrasonical Hymn, wherein he brags what Feats he would do. For fo he reads the Words, (with Eben Ezra) not I have stain, but I mill kill a Man with one blow of my Fift, &c. But I can fee no warrant, for this Translation, without a Violence to the Hebrew Text, and therefore we must seek for another Interpretation.

> I have flain a Man to my wounding, &c.] These words would have a plain Exposition, (which otherwife are difficult,) if we could give Credit to the Hebrew Tradition ; which St. Hierom fays feveral Chrifti-

upon GENESIS.

107

Christians followed : That Lamech being informed Chapter by a certain Youth, as he was a Hunting, that there was IV. a wild Beaft lay lurking in a fecret place, went thither; and unawares killed Cain, who lay hid there : And then, in a Rage at what he had done, fell upon the Youth that had occasion'd this Mistake, and beat him to Death. But, as there is no certainty of this ; fo it doth not agree with the next Verfe : Which feems to suppose Cain to be now alive. Therefore Lud. de Dien, following Onkelos, reads the Words by way of Interrogation; Have I flain a Man? Or, fo much as a Boy ? that you should be affraid of my Life? It feems the use of Weapons being found out by one of his Sons, and grown common; his Wives apprehended that forme Body or other might make use of them to flay him. But he bids them comfort themfelves, for he was not guilty of flaying any Body himfelf; and therefore might reasonably hope, no Body would hurt him.

And then the Meaning of the next Verse is easie.

Ver. 24. If Cain shall be avenged seven fold, truly Verse 24. Lamech seventy and seven fold.] If God hath guarded Cain fo strongly, who was a Murderer, as to threaten great and long Punishments to those that flay him ; he will punish them far more, and pursue them with a longer Vengeance, who shall flay me, being a guiltless Person.

There are divers other Interpretations, which I shall not mention; because this is most pertinent to the preceding Discourse.

Ver. 25. Bare a Son.] The Jews think he was born Verle 25. a Year after Abel was killed.

And called his Name Seth.] Mothers anciently gave Names to their Children, as well as the Fathers. P 2 And

A COMMENTARY.

108

Chapter And Eve gave this Son, the Name of Seth; becaufe IV. fhe look'd upon him as appointed (fo the word fignifies) by God, to be what Cain, fhe thought, fhould have been; till God rejected his Sacrifice, and he flew Abel. In whofe room fhe believed God had fubftituted this Son, to be the Seed from whom the Redeemer of the World fhould come.

The Arabians fay, (particularly Elmacinus, p. 7.) That Seth was the Inventer of Letters and Writing, (as Jubal was of Mulick, and Tubal-Cain of Arms,) which fo much furpassed all other Inventions, that some (as Cedrenus tells us) called him, a God; i.e. the highest Benefactor to Mankind. Which, if it were true, we might think that thence his Children were called the Sons of God, VI. I. But it is most likely this mistake arose from Symmachus his Translation of the last Words of the next Verse, which, if we may believe Suidas, was thus, Then began Seth to be called by the Name of God. For which there is no Foundation either there, or any where else in Scripture. For though it be faid that Moses was made a God to Pharaob, yet he is never fimply called a God, as Jacobus Capellus well observes. Nor is any King, or. Prince called by that Name particularly, in Scripture, though in general it fays of them all, That they are Gods.

Verse 26.

Ver. 26. To him also was born a Son.] When he was an Hundred and five Years old, as we read, V. 6.

And he called his Name, Enos.] Signifying the weak and miferable Condition of Mankind; which he feemed, by giving him this Name, to deplore.

Then

Then began Men to call upon the Name of the Chapter LORD. This doth not import that Men did not IV. call upon the LORD (which includes all his Wor. (hip and Service) before this time : But that now (as Jac. Capellus conceives) they were awakened, by the Confideration of their Infirmity before-mentioned, to be more serious and frequent in Religious Offices: Or, rather, (as others understand it,) they began to hold more Publick Assemblies. For Families being now multiplied, to which Religion was before confined, they joyned together and met in larger Societies and Communion, for the folemn Worship of God by Sacrifices, and other Religious Services. For, to call upon God, comprehends, as I faid, all Religion : Which confifts in acknowledging him to be the LORD of all; in lauding all his Glorious Perfections; giving him Thanks for his Benefits, and beseeching the Continuance of them.

But it being fcarce credible, that Publick Affemblies were not held long before this, (it being probable that even when Cain and Abel facrificed, their Families joyned together to worfhip God,) it hath. moved fome Men of Note, (fuch as Bertram and Hackfpan,) to follow our Marginal Translation; then began Men (i. e. the Children of Seth.) to call themfelves by the Name of the LORD: That is, the Servants or Worfhippers of the Lord; in diffinction from the Cainites, and fuch prophane Perfons, as had forfaken him.

And indeed a great number of the Jewish Writers, with whom Mr. Selden joyns, in his De Diis Syris, Prolegom. 3. would have the Words expounded thus, to fignifie that Apostalie ; then was there Prophanation, by invoking the Name of the LORD. For the word hechal.

ACOMMENTART

TTO

Chapter hochal, which we here translate began, fignifying prophaned, in Lev. XIX. 12. (Thou shalt not prophane the IV. Name of the LORD thy God,) they take Moses his meaning to be, That the most Holy Name which belongs to the Creator and Possessor of Heaven and Earth alone, was now impiously given unto Creatures : Particularly to the Sun. And thus the Arabick Interpreter, in Erpenius his Edition, Then began Men to apostatize from the Workip of God. But a great Number of very Learned Men have opposed themselves to this Interpretation; and with much Judgment: Mofes being here speaking of the Pious Family of Seth, and not of Impious Cain's : And the word hochal (as Hakspan observes) with the Preposition le following in the next word, being constantly used in the Sense of Beginnings, not of Prophanation. And therefore they content themselves with our Marginal Translation : Or, elfe think that God was now first called upon by the Name of Fehovah: Or, that Liturgies, as we call them, or Publick Forms of Worship were now appointed, at fet Hours : Or, some other considerable Improvements made in Religious Offices. For the Arabian Christians represent this Enos as an excellent Governor : Who, while he lived, preferved his Family in good order, and when he died, called them all together; and gave them a Charge to keep God's Commandments, and not to affociate themfelves with the Children of Cain. So Elmacinus.

CHAP.

upon GENESIS.

Chapter V.

CHAP. V.

Ver. 1. THis is the Book of the Generations of A-Verfe 1. dam.] i. e. Here follows a Catalogue of the Posterity of Adam. So the word Book fignifies, Matth. I. 1. An Account of those from whom Christ the Second Adam came; as here, an Account of those who came from the First Adam. Yet not of all, but of the principal Persons, by whom in a Right Line, the Succession was continued down to Noab,&c. As for the Collateral Lines, which, no doubt, were very many, by the other Sons and Daughters which the Persons here mentioned begot, they are omitted : Because no more than I have said, was pertinent to Moses his purpose.

In the Day that God created Man.] This is repeated again, only to imprint on their Minds, that Adam was not produced, like other Men, by Generation, but by Creation.

In the likenefs of God created he him.] This also is again mentioned; to remember Men how highly God had honoured them, and how fhamefully they had requited him.

Ver. 2. Male and Female created he them, &c.] Of Verle 2. different Sexes, to be joyned together in Holy Marriage : As Mofes had flown, Chap. II. 22, 23, &c.

Called their Name Adam.] The common Name to both Sexes; like Homo in Latin, &c.

Ver.

Chapter V.

Ver. 3. And Adam lived an hundred and thirty Years.] This doth not affure us he had no Children but Cain and Abel till now : But only acquaints us with his Age, when Seth was born.

And begat a Son in his own likeness, after his image.] Not so persect as himself, when he was created; but with those Impersections which impaired him, after he had eaten the forbidden Fruit: That is, inclined to Sin, and tubject to Death. For his own Likeness and Image, wherein this Son was begotten, seems to be opposed to the Likeness and Image of God, wherein Adam was made, I 26. which, though not quite lost, was lamentably defaced.

Maimonides will have this to refer to Seth's Wifdom and Goodness; he proving truly a Man like to his Father Adam: Whereas the rest before him proved rather Beasts. More Neuochim, Par. 1. c. 7.

Called his Name Seth.] He intends to give here an Account of those descended from Seth alone, not of his Posterity by Cain, (who are only briefly mentioned in the foregoing Chapter, verses 17, 18.) because in Seth the Posterity of Adam were preserved, when all the Children of Cain perished in the Deluge.

Verse 4.

Ver. 4. And he begat Sons and Daughters.] After the Birth of Seth he begot more Children, (as he had done, it's probable, many before) whose Names are not here recorded: Because Moses fets down only that Race of Men, from whom Noah and Abraham, (the Father of the Faithful,) and the Messiah were derived.

Verse 5.

Ver. 5. Lived nine hundred and fifty Years.] It is not reasonable to take a measure of the length of the Lives of the Patriarchs, by the shortness of ours. For,

For, as Folephus well observes, (L. I. Antig. cap. 4. Chapter and out of him, Eusebius, L. IX. Præpar. Evang. cap. 12.) they being Men much beloved of God, and U newly made by him, with a ftrong Constitution, and excellent Temper of Body, and using better Diet, the Vigor of the Earth ferving at the first, for the Production of better Fruits : All these things, joyned with their Temperance, constant Exercise and Labour, a sweet Temper of Air, their Knowledge in the Nature of Herbs and Plants, &c. might well contribute very much, to as long a Life as is here mentioned. Which was but neceffary alfo, (and therefore God's Providence took special Care of them,) that the World might be the fooner peopled; Knowledge and Religion more certainly propagated, by the Authority of Living Teachers; Arts and Sciences brought to a great Perfection, which could not have been effected in a short Life, like ours. And therefore Folephus shows, that herein Moles hath the Testimony of all the Greeks and Barbarians alfo: Who have wrote about ancient Affairs: Of Manethus (for instance) who wrote the Egyptian History; Berofus, who wrote the Chaldean; Mochus, Heftieus, &c. who wrote the Phanician; with a great Number of Greek Writers whom he mentions: Who all fay. Men lived anciently a thousand Years. None indeed came up to that full Summ; but some so near it, that they who were not exactly acquainted with the Sacred Story, might well speak in that manner.

And this ought not to feem incredible to us in these Days, when we confider how long several have lived in the later Ages of the World; as Pliny reports in his Natural History, L.VII. cap. 48. Nay, in Q Times

ACOMMENTART

Chapter Times nearer to us, there are Inftances of this kind, V. as the Lord Bacon observes in his Hift. Vitæ & Mortis; and Bartholin. in his Histor. Anatom. Rariorum, Cent. V. Hist. 28.

114

But nothing is more remarkable than that which Gaffendus reports in the Life of Nicol. Peireskius, L. V. That he received a Letter from Aleppo, no longer ago than the Year 1636. of a Man then in Perfia, known to feveral Perfons worthy to be believed, who was Four hundred Years old: Idque ipfis omnindeffe exploratum, atque indubium: And the Perfons that wrote this, were fully affured of the undoubted Truth of it.

Such Instances indeed are rare; and there is one that thinks Men did not generally live to fuch a great Age in the old World. For Maimonides is of Opinion. That none attained to fo many Years as are here mentioned; but only the particular Perfons exprefly named by Mofes: All the reft of Mankind, in those Days, living only the ordinary term, which Man did in after-times. Or, in other words, this extraordinary length of Days, was the Priviledge only of these singular Individuals; either from their accurate way of Living and Diet, or God's special Favour in Reward of their eminent Vertue and Piety, More Nevoch. Pars II. cap. 47. But Nachmanides (another great Jewish Doctor) opposes this with much. Reafon: For that their eminent Vertue was not the Caufe they only had this Priviledge, appears by Enoch, the most holy Man of them all, who did not live to the Age of Four hundred Years. And as there is no ground to believe these were the only Persons who lived exactly Temperate in all things: So it is manifest Moles doth not delign to give us an Account upon GENÉSIS.

count of those that lived longest, but of those from Chapter whom Noab descended, and it is incredible that V. they alone should be very long lived, and no Body voi else, though descended from the same Parents.

Ver. 6. And Seth lived an hundred and five Years, Verse 6. and begat Enos.] We must not think he lived fo long, before he begat any Children; No mere than that Adam had none till he was an Hundred and thirty Years old, when he begat Seth, (verfe 3.) for we know he had Cain and Abel, and, in all likelihood, many others before. Therefore to explain this and other things that follow, verse 18. and 28. which seem more strange (for Jared is faid to have lived an Hundred fixty two Years, before he begat Enoch; and Lamech an Hundred eighty two Years before he begat Noah,) we must consider, as was noted, verse 4. that Moles fets down only those Persons by whom the Line of Noah was drawn from Seth, and Abraham's Line from Noah, by their true Ancestors; whether they were the Eldelt of the Family or no. Seth it's likely had many other Children before Enos was born, as Noah, we may be confident had before he begat Sem, Ham, and Japhet : Which was not till he was Five hundred Years old, verse 32. As Lamech alfo had feveral before Noab was born : Though Moses doth not mention them; because he was here concerned only to inform us, who was the Father of Noab.

Begat Enos.] The Arabian Christians, as I observed before, (IV. 26.) make him to have been a Man of fingular Goodness.

Ver. 9. Begat Cainan.] The fame Writers repre-Verle 9. fent him to have been like to his Father; and fay, he gave his Children a Charge not to mingle with the Q 2 Seed

A COMMENTARY

116

Chapter Seed of Cain. So Elmacinus. Yet there is but little difference between his Name, and that of Cain's; no V. more than between Irad and Jared, and fome other of Sem's Posterity and Cain's. Which may teach us, lays Jac. Capellus, (in his Hiftor. Sacra & Exotica.) Ne fatale nescio quod omen nominibus propriis effingamus; that we should not fansie there is, we do not know what, fatal Omen in Proper Names. The Wickedness of Judas Iscariot did not make the other Judas, called by that Name, to think the worse of it. And therefore Jared feared not to call his Son Enoch, by the very Name of Cain's eldeft Son, IV.17. And Methuselah also gave his Son Lamech, the Name of one of Cain's Grand-children, IV. 18.

Verse 12. Ver. 12. Begat Mahalaleel. This Name imports as much as a Praiser of God : Which Cainan imposed upon this Son of his, (as Jacobus Capellus fansies,) because he was born after he had lived ten Weeks of Years, (i.e. when he was Seventy Years old) in the beginning of the Sabbatick Year: Which was the Eighth Jubilee from the Creation. For, as there were Sacrifices, and a distinction of clean Beasts and unclean; so he conceives there might be a distribution of Years by Sevens or Weeks, (as they spake in after-times,) from the very beginning of the World. But there is no certainty of this: Nor of what the fore-named Arabian Writers fay of this Mahalaleel, that he made his Children swear, by the Blood of Abel, (so Patricides,) not to come down from the Mountainous Country where they dwelt, to converse with the Children of Cain.

He is mentioned also by the Mahometans, as Hottinger observes in his Histor. Orient. p. 20.

Ver.

Ver. 15. Begat Jared.] The fame Arabian Writers Chapter make him alfo a ftriftly Pious Man, and an excellent V. Governor: But fay, That in his Days fome of Seth's Verfe 15. Pofterity, (about an bundred in number,) notwith-Verfe 15. ftanding all his Perfuafions to the contrary, would go down and converfe with the Children of Cain; by whom they were corrupted. And thence they fanfie he was called Jared, (which fignifies defcending;) either becaufe they went down from the Holy Mountain, as they call it, where Seth's Pofterity dwelt; or Piety, in his time, began very much to decline. See Hottinger's Smegma Orient. L. I. cap. 8. p. 235, &c.

Ver. 18. Begat Enoch. Whom the Arabians call Verfe 18. Edris; and represent him as a very learned Man, as well as a Prophet: And especially skilled in Astronomy. See Hottinger, Histor. Orient. L. I. c. 3. and Smegma Orient. p. 240. The Greeks anciently had the fame Notion of him, as appears by a Discourse of Eupolemus, which Eusebius quotes out of Alexand. Polyhistor. L. IX. Præpar. Evang. c. 17. where he fays Enoch was the first who taught the knowlege of the Stars, and that he himself was taught, & 'Ay Exav Deg, by the Angels of God; and was the fame Perfon whom the Greeks call Atlas. Certain it is his Story was not altogether unknown to the ancient Greeks; as appears in what they fay of 'Arrano's, or Karrano's, which is the fame with Enoch, whofe Name in Hebrew is Chanoch. For Stephanus in his Book De Urbibus fays, that this Annacus lived above Three hundred Years, and the Oracle told the People, that when he died they should all perish; as they did in the Flood of Deucalion : In which he confounds the History of Enoch and Methuselah, as Bochart well observes, L.II. Phaleg. c. 13. Ver.

A COMMENTARY

Ver. 21. Begat Methuselah.] Enoch being a Pro-Chapter phet, (as we learn from St. Jude,) and forefeeing the V. Destruction that was coming upon the Earth by a m Verle 21. Deluge, immediately after the Death of this Son of his, gave him this Name of Methufela, which imports as much. For the first part of it, Methu, evidently carries in it the Name of Death; being as much as, be dies : And fela fignifies, the fending forth of Water, in Job V. 10. And therefore Methusela, is as much, as when he is dead, thall enfue an emilion or inundation of Waters, to the destruction of the whole Earth. Which ingenious Conjecture of Bochartus, in his Phaleg, L. II. c. 13. is far more probable than any other Account of his Name.

118

Verse 22. Ver. 22. Enoch walked with God after he begat Methuselah.] Of all the reft Moses only fays, they lived after they begat those Sons here mentioned; but of this Man, that he walked with God: i. e. Was not only fincerely Obedient to God, (as we suppose his Fore-fathers to have been,) but of an extraordinary Sanctity, beyond the rate of other Holy Men; and held on also in a long course of such fingular Piety, notwithstanding the wickedness of the Age, wherein he lived. And the very fame Character being given of Noah, VI. 9. it may incline us to believe, That as Noab was a Preacher of Righteousses; so Enoch, being a Prophet, was not only Exemplary in his Life, but also feverely reproved the Wickedness of that Age, by his Word.

Verse 24. Ver. 24. And Enoch walked with God.] Persevered in that Course before-mentioned, to the end of his Days.

And was not.] He doth not fay, that he died, (as he doth of the reft in this Chapter, both before and after,) after,) but that he was not, any longer among Men Chapter in this World. For, V.

119

God took him.] Tranflated him to another place. Which plainly fignifies the different manner of his leaving this World; in fo much that the Apoftle faith, he did not fee death, Heb. XI. 5. Which confutes the Conceit of Aben Ezra, and R. Solomon, and others, who would have this word took to fignifie, that he was fnatcht away by an untimely death. Contrary to the Opinion of their other better Authors, particularly Menachem; who in his Commentary on this place faith; that God took from Enoch Lis bodily Cloaths, and gave him Spiritual Raiment.

But whither he was translated we are not told. The Author of the Book of Ecclefiafticus, Chap.XLIV. (according to the Vulgar Translation,) faith into Paradife. And upon this Supposition, the Arthiopick, Interpreter hath added these words to the Text: God translated him into Paradife, as Indolphus obferves, L. III. Commentar. in Arthiop. Hift. Cap. V. n. 40. And accordingly we find in the Calendar of that Church, a Festival upon July XXV. called, The Afcenfion of Enoch into Heaven, (for they were not so foolist as to understand by Paradife a place upon Earth, but a Heavenly Mansion,) unto which he was advanced, Si angar agertis redeivar, (as Eusebius speaks, L. VII. Prepar. Evang. cap. 8.) because of his consummate Vertue.

And it is no unreasonable Conjecture, That God was gracioully pleased to take him unto himself at this time, to support and comfort Mankind in their State of Mortality, (Adam, the Father of them all, being dead not above fifty feven Years before,) with the hope of a better Life, in the other World. For which

A COMMENTART

120

Chapter which reafon it is not improbable, that he was tran-V. flated in fome fuch visible manner, as Elijab afterward was, by a glorious Appearance of the SCHECHI-NAH, from whence fome heavenly Ministers were fent to carry him up above.

- Verle 25. Ver. 25. Begat Lamech] The fame Name with one of Cain's Posterity, IV. 18. But, as he was of another Race, so he was the Grand-child and the Father of the best Men in those Days, viz. Enoch and Noah.
- Verfe 27. Ver. 27. All the days of Methufelah, &c.] What was wanting in the Days of his Father, God, in fome fort, made up in his Age: Which was extended to the longest term of all other Men. He died in the very Year of the Deluge, according to the import of his Name. See Verfe 21.
- Verle 29. Ver. 29. He called his Name Noah.] Which fignifies Reft, or Refreshment; which proceeds from Reft and Quiet. Because, fays he,

This same shall comfort us, concerning our work and toil of our Hands.] He expected, some think, that he should be the bleffed Seed, promised III. 15. Or, that it should spring immediately from him. But the last words, toil of our hands, seem to import some inferiour Consolation, which he expected from Noah: And the Hebrew Interpreters generally expound it thus; He shall make our Labour in tilling the Earth, more easie and less toilsome to us. Which agrees to what follows.

Because of the Ground which the LORD hath cursed.] There was a general Curse upon it, for the Sin of Adam; and a particular upon some part of it, for the Sin of Cain: Now God, he foretells, would take them both off in great measure; and bless blefs the Earth to the Posterity of this same Man: Chapter Who perfected the Art of Husbandry, and found out V. fitter Instruments for plowing the Earth, than had been known before. When Men being chiefly employed in digging and throwing up the Earth with their own Hands, their labour was more difficult: Which now is much abated, because the pains lie more upon Beasts than upon Men. And indeed Noah is called, IX. 20. Isch baadamab, a Man of the Ground (which we translate an Husbandman) one that improved Agriculture, as other famous Men had done Pastorage, and found out other Arts, IV. 20, &c.

1 .4 A

In the fame place alfo (IX.20.) we read that Noah planted a Vineyard : With respect to which, if he was the first Inventer of making Wine, he might well be faid here, to comfort them concerning their work and toil of their hands : Wine chearing the Heart, and reviving the Spirits of Men, that are spent with Labour.

But if the last Words of this Verse be expounded of the LORD's Cursing the Ground, by sending, a Flood upon it, as Enoch had foretold; then Noah is here called their Comforter, with respect to his being the Restorer of the World, after it had been dispeopled by that Inundation. And so Jacobus Cappellus, not unreasonably interprets them to have relation to both Curses, à maledistione, quam Terræ inflixit, S inflicturus est Dens. He shall give Men rest from the Curse which God hath inflicted, and intends further to inflict upon the Earth. Hist. Sacra & Exot. ad A.M. 1053.

Ver. 32. And Noah was Five hundred Years old.] Verse 32. See Verse 6. where I have said enough to shew, it is not reasonable to think he had no Children till this Age of his Life.

R

And

A COMMENTARY

122 Chapter

V.

And Noah begat Shem, Ham, and Japhet.] Here ends the Line of Adam, before the Flood. For though these Three were married, it appears (VII. 13.) before the Flood came; yet they either had no Children, or they did not live: For they carried none with them into the Ark.

It doth not follow that Shem was the Eldest of these Three, because he is here, and every where else in this Book, mentioned first: For I shall show plainly in its due place that Japhet was the Eldest. (X. 21.) Scaliger indeed would have this a fettled Rule, that, Hunc Ordinem Filii in Scriptura habent, quem illis natura dedit. That Children are placed in Scripture, according to the Order which Nature hath given them. But. it is apparent from many Instances, that the Scripture hath regard to their Dignity otherways, and not to the Order of their Birth. As Abraham is mentioned before Nabor and Haran, merito excellentia, with respect to his Excellence (as St. Auftin speaks) to which God raifed him, though he was not the Eldest Son of Terab, Gen. XI. 28. Thus Jacob, is mentioned before Elan, Mal. I. I. and Ilaac before Ishmael, I Chron. I. 28. Thus Shem's Eminence in other respects, placed him before Japhet, to whom he was inferiour in the order of Nature : As appears even from their Genealogy both in Gen. X. and I Chron. I. where Shem's Pofterity are placed below those of both his other Brothers.

CHAP.

upon GENESIS.

123 Chapter VI.

CHAP. VI.

Ver. 1. W Hen Men began to multiply.] To en-Verse 1. crease exceeding fast; for they were multiplied before, but not so as to fill the Earth. Or the Word Men may be limited to the Children of Cain, (see Verse 2.) who now began to be very numerous.

And Daughters were born to them.] In great numbers: For Daughters no doubt they had before; but now fo many more Daughters than Sons, that they had not Matches for all: No, though we fhould fuppofe they followed the fteps of Lamech, (IV.19.) and took more Wives than one.

Ver. 2. The Sons of God.] There are two famous Verle 2. Interpretations of these Words, (belides that of some of the Ancients, who took them for Angels.) Some understand by the Sons of God, the great Men, Nobles, Rulers, and Judges, whether they were of the Family of Seth or of Cain: And fo indeed the word Elohim fignifies in many places, Exod. XXI. 6. XXII. 28, Gc. and the ancient Greek Version, which Philo and St. Austin used, perhaps meant no more, where these words are translated, of ayyerou to Des, The Angels of God, his great Ministers in this World; who in after-times were mistaken for Angels in Heaven. These great Persons were taken with the Beauty of the Daughters of Men, i.e. of the meaner fort, (for fo sometimes Men fignifies, Pfal. XLIX. 2, Gc.) and took, by Force and Violence, as many as they pleafed; being to potent as to be able to do any thing R 2 with

A COMMENTARY

Chapter with impunity. For they that should have given a VI. good Example, and punished Vice, were the great Promoters of it.

But there are other ancient Interpreters, and most of the latter, who by the Sons of God understand the Posterity of Setb, who were the Worshippers of the true God. IV. Ult.

They faw the Daughters of Men.] Conversed with the Daughters of Cain. So Tho. Aquinas himself interprets it. Pars I. 2.51. Art. 3. ad 6.

That they were Fair.] Being exceedingly taken with their Beauty.

And they took them Wives.] Made Matches with them, and perhaps took more than one apiece.

Of all that they chose.] Whomsoever they liked, (fo the word chuse is used in many places, Pfal. XXV. 12, Gc.) without regard to any thing elfe but their Beauty. Some of the Hebrews by Daughters understand Virgins, which they distinguish from Nafim, Wives or married Women; whom they also took and abused as they pleased. But there is no evidence of this. The plain Sence is, that they who had hitherto kept themselves (unless it were some few, see Verse 15.) unmingled with the Posterity of Cain, according to a Solemn Charge which their godly Forefathers had given them, were now joined to them in Marriage, and made one People with them. Which was the greater Crime, if we can give any credit to what an Arabick Writer faith, mentioned first by Mr. Selden in his Book de Dis Syris, Cap. 2. Prolegom. O. de Jure N. & G. L. V. Cap. 8. f. 578.) that the Children of Seth had fworn by the Blood of Abel, they would never leave the mountainous Country which they inhabited, to go down into the Valley where the Children

124

upon GENESIS.

Children of Cain lived. The same Author (viz. Pa- Chapter tricides with Elmacinus also) says, that they were VI. inveigled to break this Oath, by the Beauty of Naamab before-mentioned, IV. 22. and the Mulick of her Brother Jubal. For the Cainites spent their time in Feafling, Mufick, Dancing, and Sports: Which allured the Children of Seth to come down and marry with them. Whereby all manner of Impurity, Impiety, Idolatry, Rapine and Violence, filled the whole Earth, and that with Impunity, as Eulebius observes, L. VII. Præpar. c. 8. This Moles here takes notice of, that he might give the reason, why the whole Posterity of Seth, even those who sprang from that holy Man Enoch (except Noah and his Family) were overflown with the Deluge, as well as the race of Cain : Because they had defiled themselves with their cursed Affinity; and thereby were corrupted with their wicked Manners.

Ver. 3. And the LORD faid.] Refolved with Verfe 3. himfelf.

My Spirit.] Either speaking by his Prophets, such as Enoch had been, and Noah was: Or working inwardly in all Men's Hearts.

Shall not always strive with Man.] Chide and Reprove them, and thereby endeavour to bring them to Repentance; but proceed to punish them. There are several other Interpretations, which may be seen in all Commentators: Which to me seem more forced than this.

For that he alfo is Fleft.] For that befides his wicked Actions, he is grown wholly Flefhly in his Inclinations and Affections. He favours nothing but carnal things; and confequently is incurable. Or, as others expound it, even the best of them (the Children of Setb) are become flefhly Men.

Yes

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter Yet his days shall be an Hundred and twenty years.] VI. I will not destroy Mankind presently; but have patience with them so long, that it may appear I would willingly have saved them.

Verse 4.

126

Ver. 4. There were Giants in the Earth.] Men of vast Stature and Strength, which tempted them to oppress others by Violence: For so feveral of the Ancients translate the Hebrew word Niphilim by Blaps, Violent Men, who carried all before them by main force: Tyrants who filled the World with Rapines and Murders, and all manner of Wickedness, having society with the Devil, (as Ensebius understands it, I. VII. prapar. c. 8.) in infernal Arts, which they introduced. Josephus calls them Sector's is markly information of God and Man. Which made Origen look upon them only as impious Atheist's: But, no doubt, the extraordinary Bulk and Strength of their Body is also intended.

In those days.] i. e. Before the Sons of God married with the Daughters of Men. For these Giants were produced by those who went down and mixed with the Posterity of Cain in the days of Jared: As both Elmacinus and Patricides understand it.

And also after that, when the Sons of God came in unto the Ghildren of Men, and they bare Children to them.] The word Children is not in the Hebrew : and it better agrees with what goes before to translate it, Even they bare Giants unto them. Befides those which were before, there was a new Race of Gigantick Persons begot by the Sons of God on the Daughters of Men.

The fame became mighty Men.] Of great Power, as well as Strength of Body.

Which

Which were of old] This may refer either to what Chapter goes before, or to that which follows. VI.

127

Men of renown.] Of great Undertakings, and adventurous Actions: Which got them a great Name in Ancient time. But they were no lefs famous for their Wickednefs, than for their valorous and great Exploits; for by their means all Mankind were overrun with Impiety, as it follows in the next Verfe.

Ver. 5. God faw the Wickedness of Man that it was Verse 5: great, &c.] All forts of Wickedness in an high degree overspread the whole Earth.

And that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart, &c.] And that there were no hopes of their amendment; their very Minds being fo fet upon Wickednefs, that they thought of nothing elfe but how to fatisfie their Lufts. In the Margin it is, their whole imagination, i.e. all the Defigns, and Contrivances of all the Men of that Age, and this continually, Day and Night, were only Rapine, Filthinefs, and all manner of Evil.

Ver. 6. And God repented, &c.] God can neither Verse 6. properly repent, nor be grieved: But such Expression ons signifie he resolved to do, as Men do; who when they repent of any thing, endeavour to undo it. And so it here follows.

Ver. 7. The LORD faid, I will defiroy Man whom I Verfe 7. have created, &c.] Though they be my Creatures, 1 am refolved to have no pity upon them, but to abolish them, and all things else upon the Earth. For that fort of Punishment which God intended, would in its own nature sweep all away.

For it repenteth me that I have made them.] See Verse 6. This represents how highly God was offended, that he would leave nothing of the old World

ACOMMENTARY

128

VI.

World remaining, but only to preferve the Seed of a Chapter new one.

Ver. 8. But Noah found Grace, &c.] This fingle

Verle 8. Perfon God refolved to spare, because (asit follows) he continued untainted in the midst of an universal Contagion.

Verse 9.

Ver. 9. These are the generations of Noah.] An account of his Family. Or as Paulus Fagius (who upon XXXVII. 2. expounds the Word we translate Generations, to fignifie Events) These are the things which befel Noah and his Family. Which way foever we expound this, the next Words are inferted by a Parenthefis as a Character of Noah, who was,

A just Man.] Free from that Violence, which the reft committed.

And perfect in his generations.] Not guilty of any of those other Sins, which every where abounded.

And Noah walked with God.] Not only did well, but was addicted (as we speak) to it; continuing constant in the way of Righteousnes.

Verle 10.

Ver. 10.] And Noah begat three Sons, &c.] V. 32. Ver. 11.] The Earth also was corrupt before God.] Verle 11. Ver. 11. J Ine Darm and the Corruption is always The Jewish Doctors say, That by Corruption is always understood either Filthiness (or forbidden mixtures) or else Idolatry. Some take the first to be here meant, and then the next words, Filled with Violence, denote their perverting of Justice, taking Bribes, and oppreffing Men by open force. But others think it better by Corruption to understand Idolatry : And then this Generation is accused of the two highest Crimes that can be committed ; the one of which is between Man and his Neighbour, and the other between Man and God. The highest degree of the former is, when they that fit in Judgment make Unrighteous Decrees: Decrees: Which R. Solomon thinks is principally Chapter meant in these words, the Earth was filled with Violence. VI. See Mr. Selden, L. V. De Jure N. & G. cap. 9. latter MM end. However we understand the words, they point at some special enormous Sins, which are only comprehended in general words before.

Ver. 12. Godlooked upon the Earth, &c.] No Verle 12. Fruits of God's long-futtering appearing, he refolved to visit Men for their Wickedness: Which had rather encreafed, than been leffened, by his forbearing them One hundred and twenty Years : which now we must suppose, drew near to an end, Verse 13. The observation of some of the Hebrew Doctors perhaps is too curious, which is this: That the Name of Jehovah, which we translate LORD, is used, Verse 3. where the first mention is made of this matter; for it betokens the clemency of the Divine Majesty; till the One hundred and twenty Years were out, and then Mofes uses the Word Elohim, which is a Name of Judgment; the time of which wascome.

For all Flefs, i.e. all Men, had corrupted his way upon Earth.] Wholly departed from the Rule of Righteousnels; or had made their way of Life abominable throughout the whole World.

Ver. 13. The end of all flesh is come before me.] I Verle 13. am determined to make an end of, i.e. to destroy all Mankind fhortly, So it follows.

I will destroy them with the Earth. 7 i. e. With all the Beasts and the Fruits of the Earth. Or, from the Earth, as it is in the Margin.

Ver. 14. Make thee an Ark.] This Vessel was not in Verse 14. the form of one of our Ships, or Boats : for it was not made tharp forward to cut the Waves, but broad like

1:09

130

Chapter like a Cheft 5 and therefore had a flat bottom, with a VI. Cover or a Roof. We do not find it had any Rudder, being fteered by Angels.

Of Gopher wood.] There are various Opinions about Gopher, which some take for Cedar, others for Pine, &c. but our learned Nic. Fuller in his Miscellanies hath observed, that it is nothing else but that which the Greeks call KunderwGe, the Cypress Tree. For taking away the termination, Cuper and Gophar differ very little in their found. Bochartus hath confirmed this, and shown that no Country abounds fo much with this Wood, as that part of Affyria which was about Babylon : Where Arrianus fays Alexander built a Navy of these Trees, τόταν 3 μόνον τῶν δέν-δ gav ἐυπορίαν ἕ) ἐν τῆ χώςα τω ᾿Ασυρίων, &c. (L. VII.) for there is great plenty of these Trees alone in the Country of Affyria, but of other fit for making Ships, there is great scarcity. Strabo faith the fame, L. XVI. from whence Bochart thinks it probable, that Noah and his Children lived in this Country before the Flood; for it is not likely that fuch a vaft Bulk as the Ark, was carried far from the place where it was made : And the Mountains of Ararat, which he will have to be the Gordiaan Mountains, are upon the Borders of Affyria Northward ; which way the Wind blew (if there were any) in all likelyhood; the Rain coming from the South Sea, L. I. Phaleg. c. 4.

Rooms shalt thou make.] Little Cabbins or Cells; to sever the Beasts from the Birds; the clean Beasts from the unclean; and to preserve their several forts of Food.

And shall pitch it, &c.] So the Arabick Translation expressly, pitch it with pitch. For the bitumen, which was plentiful thereabouts (which others think is here meant) meant) was of the fame nature, and ferved for the Chapter fame ule with Pitch : Being very glutinous and tenacious, to keep things close together. But not only the Chinks were filled with it; but the whole Body of the Ark feems to have been all over daubed with it.

Within.] To give a wholfome Scent, some think, among so many Beasts.

And without.] To make the Ark more glib and flippery, to fwim in the Water more eafily.

Ver. 15. And this is the fashion, &c.] There are Verse 15. those who take these for Geometrical Cubits; every one of which contains Six of the common. But there is no need of such : For taking them for common Cubits, containing each only one Foot and an half, it is demonstrable there might be room enough in the Ark, for all forts of Beasts and Birds, with Noah's Family, and their necessary provision. See Verse 20.

Ver. 16. AlWindow shalt thou make to the Ark.] To Verse 16. let in the Light into the several Apartments: For which, should we conceive, that one great Window might be so contrived as to be sufficient; I do not see how that would exclude many little ones, here and there, for greater convenience.

And in a Cubit shall thou finish it above.] That is, finish the Ark; which had a Cover it is plain from VIII. 13. and was made shelving, that the Rain might slide off.

And the Door of the Ark shalt thou set in the side thereof.] But on what side, or whereabouts on the side, is not certain. It is probable on one of the long sides, and in the middle of it. Patricides calls it the Eastern side.

S 2

. .

With

ACOMMENTARY

132

Chapter VI.

With lower, fecond, and third Stories, &c.] That Arabian Author, and Pirke Eliefer (cap. 23.) place
Noah and his Family in the uppermost Story; the Birds in the middle; and the Beasts in the lowest. But they forget to leave a place for their Provision: And therefore they make a better distribution who think the Beasts were bestowed in the lower Story, and that the third ferved for the Birds, with Noah and his Family : The fecond between both, being left for the Stores that were to be laid in of Meat and Drink for them all. The creeping things, fome think, might well live in the stores that.

Verle 17. Ver. 17. And behold, I, even I, do bring a Flood of Waters, &c.] i. e. They shall unavoidably be all fwept away; for I my felf will bring a Deluge upon them: Notan ordinary Flood, but one of which I will appear to be the Author. All Nations, it plainly appears, by fuch Records as remain, had heard fomething of this Flood. Lucian in his Dea Syria tells a long ftory of it, out of the Archives of Hierapolis very like to this of Moles, only he puts the Name of Dencalion instead of Noah. Plutarch mentions the Dove sent out of the Ark. And so doth Abydenus, mentioned by Eusebius, (L. IX. Præpar. Evang. cap. 12.) speak of Birds in general, which being sent out, returned again to the Ship, finding no place to reft in but there only. Folephus mentions a great many more. not only Berofus the Chaldean, but Hieronymus Ægyptins who wrote the Ancient Phanician History, Mnaseas, Nicholaus Damascenus, with many others. St. Cyril alfo, L.I. against Julian, quotes a passage out of Alexander Polyhistor, wherein is part of the Story ; only he calls Noab by the Name of Kisuthros, (as Abydenus calls. him him Seifithrus) in the Dialect of the Affyrians, as fome Chapter conjecture. And now it appears that the Americans VI. have had a Tradition of it, (as credible Authors, Acofta, Herrera, and others inform us,) which faith The whole Race of Mankind was dettroyed by the Deluge, except fome few that efcaped. They are the words of Augustin Corata, concerning the Peruvian Tradition. And Lupus Gomara faith the fame from those of Mexico. And if we can believe Mart. Martinius his History of China, there is the like among the People of that Country.

Hpon GENESIS.

Ver. 18. And with thee I will establish my Covenant.] Verse 18. I will make good the Fromise I have made to thee, to preferve thee and all that are with thee in the Ark. For so the word Covenant is sometimes used: And it is reasonable to think God made him such a Promise; which is plainly enough implied in verse 8. Or, otherwise, we must understand this of the Covenant about the promised Seed, III. 15. Which he faith he will establish with him; and consequently preferve him from perishing.

Thou, thy Sons, and thy Sons Wives with thee.] This Paffage fhows the Ark was not an hundred Years in building, as fome have imagined: For none of thefe Sons were born an hundred Years before the Flood; and we must allow fome Years for their growth, till they were fit to take Wives. Compare V. 32. with VII. 6. And, if we observe how Sem, though he had a Wife before the Flood, yet had no Children, (for Arphaxad his first Child was not born till two Years after the Flood, XI. 10.) it will incline us to think, that Noah received the Command for building the Ark, not long before the Flood came.

Ver.

A COMMENTARY.

Chapter Ver. 19. Two of every fort.] i. e. Of unclean Beasts, VI. as it is explained, VII. 2.

134

Verse 19. Species. Lucian in his Book of the Syrian Goddess, where he describes the Flood, saith, all Creatures went into the Ark, eig Edyra, by pairs.

Verse 20. Ver. 20. Of Fowls after their kind, &c.] In fuch Numbers as is directed afterward, VII. 3. Which feems to fome to be fo very great, there being many forts of living Creatures, that they could not poffibly be crowded into the Ark; together with Food sufficient for them. But such Persons never distinctly confidered fuch things as thefe. First, That all those which could live in the Water, are excepted : And fo can several Creatures besides Fishes. Secondly. That of the Species of Beafts, including alfo Serpents, there are not certainly known and described above an hundred and fifty, (as Mr. Ray hath observed,) and the Number of Birds above five hundred. Thirdly, That that there are but a few Species of very vast Creatures, fuch as Elephants, Horfes, &c. And Fourthly, That Birds are generally of fo fmalla bulk, that they take up but little room. And, Fifthly, That if we suppose creeping Infects ought to be included, they take up less, though very numerous. And, Lastly, That less Provision would ferve them all, when they were shut up close, and did not spend themselves by Motion ; and belides, were in a continual confused Agitation, which pall'd their Appetites. From all which, and many more Confiderations, it is easie to demonstrate there was more than room enough, for all forts of Creatures that God commanded to be brought into the Ark : And for their Food; during the time they ftayed in it.

Two

upon GENESIS.

Two of every fort fall come unto thee, &c.] In the Chapter foregoing Verse he had faid, Two of every fort shalt thou VI. bring into the Ark. Which hemight think impoffible ; for by what means fould he get them all together ? Therefore here it is explained in these words, they hall come unto thee; by the Care of God, who made them and moved them to it. R. Elecfer (c. . 3) is Pirke) is commonly centured for faving, The Angels 11 at govern every Species of Creatures brought them wither. But (ferting alide the Opinion or Angels poul rly prefiding over every kind of Creatice,) The no recongruity in affirming that God, by the Min as of his Angels, brought them to the Ark: Eulie suber agreeable to the Holy Scriptures, which represent the Divine Majefty, as employing their Service in all Affairs here below.

Ver. 21. Take unto thee of all Food that is eater, &c.] Verle 21. Either by Man or Beast: Food suitable to every Creature. Among which, though there be many that feed on Flesh; yet other Food, as several Histories testifie, will go down with them, when they are accustom'd to it. See Philostratus, L. V. c 15. Tzetzes Chil. V. Hist. 9. Sulpit. Severus, De Monacho Thebaid. Dial. I. c. 7.

Ver. 22. Thus did Noah, according to all that God Verle 22. commanded him, &c.] He made the Ark of fuch Dimensions, and laid up Provisions for all Creatures, as he was directed. This he did when the hundred and twenty Years drew towards an end. See Ver. 18.

CHAP.

A COMMENTARY.

CHAP. VII.

136 Chapter VII.

Verfe I. Ver. I. Ome thou and all thy House into the Ark.] When the time of God's Patience was expired, he required him to enter into the Ark which he had prepared; and unto which all forts of Creatures were gathered.

For I have seen thee, &c.] I have observed thee sincerely Obedient, when all the reft of the World were impious.

Verle 2.

Ver. 2. Of every clean Beast, &c.] The distinction of Beasts clean and unclean being made by the Law of Mofes, hath given fome a colour to fay that he wrote this Book after they came out of Egypt and received the Law : Which made him speak in that Style. But it may be answered to this, That though with respect to Mens Food the distinction of clean and unclean Creatures was not before the Law; yet fome were accounted fit for Sacrifice, and others not fit, from the beginning. And then clean Beafts in this place, are such as are not rapacious; which were not to be offered unto God. In fhort, the rite of Sacrificing being before the Flood, this difference of Beafts was also before it. The only Question is, How Men came to make this difference ? Some imagine; That they confidered the Nature of Beafts, and by common Reason determined that ravenous Creatures were unfit for Sacrifice: But it is more likely that they had Directions from God for this, as they had for Sacrificing. Which though they be not recorded, yet I think, are rather to be supposed, than imagine imagine Men were left in fuch Matters to their own Chapter Difcretion. Abarbinel indeed here fays, That Noab VII. out of his profound Wifdom difcerned clean from unclean : And if he had ftop'd here, and not added, That he difcerned the difference from their Natures, he had faid the truth. For, he being a Prophet, may be thought to have had Inftructions from above about fuch Matters; though others, who first were taught to facifice had them before him.

137

By fevens.] Seven couple, it is most probable, that they might have fufficient for Sacrifice when they came out of the Ark; and, if need were, for Food if other Provision did not hold out: At least for Food, after the Flood, when God inlarged their former Grant, IX. 3.

Ver. 4. For yet feven Days, &c.] So much time he Verle 4. gave him for the disposing himself, and all things else in the Ark.

Ver. 5. And Noah did according unto all that the Verle 5. LORD commanded him.] He had faid the fame before, VI. 22. with respect to the preparation of the Ark, and provision of Food : And now repeats here again with respect to his entring into it himself, with all other Creatures. For so it follows, verse 7, 8, &c.

Ver. 6. Noah was fix hundred years old, &c.] Cur-Verse 6. rent, as we speak, not compleat, as appears by comparing this with IX. 28, 29. where he is faid to have lived three hundred and fifty Years after the Flood, and in all nine hundred and fifty. Whereas it should have been nine hundred fifty one, if he had been full fix hundred Years old when the Flood began.

V. 10. And it came to pass after seven Days, &c.] Verse 10. As he had said, verse 4.

Ver.

ACOMMENTART

Chapter Ver. 11. In the fecond Month.] Of the Year, and of VII. the fix hundreth Year of Noah's Life: i. e. In October; for anciently the Year began in September: Which Verfe 11. was changed, among the Ifraelites, in Memory of their coming out of Egypt, into March, Exod. XII. 2.

The feventeenth Day of the Month.] Which was the beginning of our November.

All the Fountains of the great deep were broken 11, &c.] Here are two Causes affigned of the Deluge: First, The breaking up the Fountains of the great Deep; And, Secondly, The opening the Windows of Heaven. By the great Deep is meant, those Waters that are contained in vast quantities, within the Bowels of the Earth. Which being preffed upward, by the falling down of the Earth, or fome other Caule unknown to us, gushed out violently at several parts of the Earth, where they either found or made a vent. For that's meant by breaking up the Fountains of the great Deep: The great holes, or rather gaps that were made in the Earth ; at which those subterraneous Waters burft out. This joined with the continual Rains for forty Days together, might well make fuch a Flood, as is here described. For Rain came down not in ordinary Showers, but in Floods; which Mofes calls opening the Windows, or Flood-gates of Heaven : And the LXX translate Cataracts. Which they can best understand, who have feen those Fallings of Waters in the Indies, called Spouts: Where Clouds do not break into Drops, but fall with a terrible Violence, in a Torrent. In short, it is evident from this History, that the Waters did once cover the Earth, (we know not how deep,) fo that nothing of the Earth could be feen, till God feparated them, and "raifed some into Clouds, and made the rest fall into Chan-

138

Channels, which were made for them, and comman- Chapter ded dry Land to appear, Gen. I. 2, 7, 10. Therefore VII. it is no wonder, if these Waters were raised up again, ~ by some means or other, to cover the Earth as before : Especially when the Waters above the Firmament, came down to join with those below, as they did at the beginning.

139

This some wife Heathens look'd upon as a possible thing. For Seneca treating of that fatal Day, (as he calls it, L. III. Nat. Queft. c. 27.) when the Deluge shall come, (for he fansied it still Future,) questions how it may come to pals. Whether by the force of the Ocean overflowing the Earth; or, by perpetual Rains without intermiffion ; or, by the fwelling of Rivers, and the opening of new Fountains; or, there shall not be one Cause alone of so great a mischief, but all these things concur, uno agmine ad exitium humani generis, in one Troop to the Destruction of Mankind. Which last Resolution, he thinks, is the Truth, both there, and in the last Chapter of that Book. Where he hath these remarkable Words; Il here hath not Nature disposed Moisture, to attack us on all fides, when it pleases? Immanes sunt in abdite lacus, &c. ' There are huge Lakes which we do not ' see; much of the Sea, that lies hidden; many Ri-' vers that flide in fecret. So that there may be Caufes ' of a Deluge on all fides, when fome Waters flow ' in under the Earth ; others flow round about it, " which being long pent up overwhelm it; and Ri-' vers join with Rivers, Pools with Pools, &c. And ' as our Bodies sometimes dissolve into Sweat, so the · Earth shall melt, and without the help of other · Caufes, shall find in it felf, what will drown it, &c. "There being on a fudden. every where, openly, T 2 and

A COMMENTARY.

Chapter ' and fecretly, from above, and from beneath, an E-

140

VII. ' ruption of Waters. Which words are written as if

- he had been directed to make a Commentary upon Mofes.
- Verse 1.2. Ver. 12. And the Rain was upon the Earth forty Days, &c.] It continued raining so long, without any intermission:
- Verfe 13: Ver. 13. In the felf fame Day, &c.] In that very. Day, when the Rain began, did Noab and his Family, Oc. finish their going into the Ark. Which could not be done in a Day or two; but required a good deal of time: And now he had compleated it; the very last Creature being there bestowed. For, it is likely, he put in all other things first; and then went in himself, with his Wife, and Children, and their Wives: Who were no sooner entred, but the Waters brake in upon the Earth from beneath; and came down pouring from above.
- Verle 16. Ver. 16. The LOR D (but him in.] Or, that the Door after him: Clofed it to fast, that the Waters could not enter, though it was not pitched, as the rest of the Ark. How this was done, we need not enquire. It is likely by an Angelical Power; which, I supposed before, conducted the several Creatures into the Ark.
- Verse 17. Ver. 17. And the Flood was forty Days upon the Earth, &c.] After forty Days Rain, the Waters were so high; that they bare up the Ark, so that it did not touch the Earth.
- Verfe 18. Ver. 18. And the Waters prevailed.] By more Rain, which fell after the forty Days, the Inundation grew ftrong and mighty, (as the Hebrew word fignifies,) fo ftrong, that the Waters bore down Houses, and Trees, as some expound it.

And

And were increased greatly.] He faid before, verse Chapter 17. they were increased, but now, that they were ViI. greatly increased. Which must be by more Rain fill falling on the Earth; though not in such uninterrupted Showers, as during the forty Days.

And the Arkwent upon the face of the Waters.] Moved from place to place, as the Waves drove it.

Ver. 19. And the Waters prevailed exceedingly upon Verle 19. the Earth.] This is an higher Expression than before; fignifying their rising still to a greater pitch by continued Rains.

All the high Mountains, that were under the whole Heaven, were covered.] There were those anciently, and they have their Succeffors now, who imagined the Flood was not Universal, and cr & of τότε άνθρωποι άκεν, but only there, where Men then dwelt; as the Author of the Questions, Ad Orthodoxos, tells us, 2. 34. But they are confuted by these Words, and by other Paffages, which fay all Flefh died. For the Truth is, the World was then fully peopled, as it is now, and not only inhabited in fome Parts of it, as may be eafily demonstrated, if Men would but confider, That in the space of One thouland fix hundred fifty fix Years, when Men-lived fo. long as they then did, their increase could not but be fix times more than hath been in the space of Five thousand Years fince Mens Lives are shortned, as we now see them. Therefore it is a strange Weakness. to fansie, that only Palastine, Syria, or Mesopotamia, or fome fuch Country, was drowned by the Flood no more of the Earth being then inhabited : For those Countries could not have held the fortieth part of the Inhabitants, which were produced between the Creation and the Flood : no, all the Earth was.

A COMMENTARY.

1'4'2 Chapter VII.

no

apter was not more than sufficient to contain them; as VII. many have clearly proved.

Plato fays, there were in his days, Marayol royou, ancient Traditions, which affirm'd there had been fundry Destructions of Mankind by Floods, as well asother ways: In which Bearin The avection ref. TENDay yer, a small parcel of Mankind were left. And particularly he faith concerning Floods, That they were to great, that only ourse Lunea, fome very little Sparks of Mankind were laved, and those upon the tops of Mountains : And the like he faith of Beafts, That and via raira, very few of them were left, to support the life of Mankind. L. III. De Legib. p. 677. Edit. Seran. But this appears to have been an imperfect Tradition, the higher Mountains having been covered with the Waters, as well as the low Countries; and that all the Earth over. Which need not seem strange if we consider what was said before upon Verse II. And withal observe that the Diameter of the Earth being seven thousand Miles, and confequently from the Superficies to the Center, no less than Threethousand five hundred Miles, it is not incredible, (as Sir W. Raleigh discourses, L.I. c. 7. S. 6.) that there was Water enough in the great Deep, which being forced up from thence, might overflow the loftielt Mountains: Especially, when Water came pouring down alfo from above fo fast, that no Words can express it. For there is no Mountain above thirty Miles high, upright; which thirty Miles being found in the Depths of the Earth, One bundred and fixteen times; why fhould we think it incredible that the Waters in the Earth (Three thousand five hundred Miles deep) might be well able to cover the space of thirty Miles in heighth ? It would

upon GENESIS.

would help Mens unbelief, if they would likewife Chapter confider the vaft Inundations, which are made yearly VII. in Egypt, only from the Rains that fall in Acthiopia: And the like Overflo wings yearly in America, of the great River Orenoque; whereby many Iflands and Plains, at other times inhabited, are laid twenty Foot under Water, between May and September.

Ver. 20. Fifteen Cubits upwards did the Waters pre-Verle 20. wail, &c.] Moles doth not here plainly fay, That the Waters prevailed fifteen Cubits above the higheft Mountains; though I do not fee, but there might be Water enough heaped up, by the fore-mentioned means, to cover them so bigh: And the whole Verle be thus interpreted, The Waters prevailed fifteen Cubits upwards, after the Mountains were covered. Otherwife, by the high Hills in the Verle before, we must understand only such fingle Hills, as are in feveral Countries; and by Mountains in this Verle, those long Ridges of Hills (such as Caucafus and Taurus, &c.) which stretch themselves many hundreds of Miles, through a great part of the Earth. See VIII. 5.

Ver. 24. And the Waters prevalled apon the Earth Verle 24. an hundred and fifty days.] These words feem to me to import, That what loever hort Intermit flons there might be, yet the Rain continued an Andred and fifty Days. Otherwise, it is hard to explain how the Waters increased more and more, as it is faid, Verjo 17, 18, 19. Besides, had the Rain ended as we commonly suppose, at forty Days end, the Waters could not have prevailed an Hundred and fifty Days, but would have such much before that time; by reafon of the Declivity of the Earth. And yet they were

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter were fo far from falling, that (as Mr. Ray hath ob-VIII. ferved in his pious and learned Discourse of the Discourse intion of the World.) the tops of Mountains were not Verse 11. seen, till the beginning of the tenth Month; that is, till Two hundred and seventy Days were passed.

CHAP. VIII.

144

Verle I. Ver. I. A ND God remembred Noah, &c. 7 Took A Compassion upon him, and heard his Prayers, which we may well suppose he made for himfelf, and for all Creatures that were with him. Thus the word remember is used, XIX. 29. XXX. 22. The Hebrew Doctors here again take notice of the word Elohim, (See VI. 12.) which is the Name for Judges ; and observe that even God's Justice was turned to Mercy. Justice it felf was fatisfied, as Sol. Farchi expresses it.

> And God made a Wind to pass over the Earth, &c.] Some gather from lience, that during the fall of the Rain, there was no Storm or violent Wind at all; but the Rain fell down-right. And confequently the Ark was not driven far from the place where it was built : It having no Masts, or Sails, but moving as a Hulk or Body of a Ship, without a Rudder, upon a calm Sea. Philo indeed (in his Book De Abrahamo) gives a quite different Description of the Deluge; representing the incefant Showers, to have been accompanied with dreadful Thunder and Lightning, Storms and Tempests. But there is not a word in this Story to countenance it.

This Wind it is very probable was the North-wind, Chapter which is very drying, and drives away Rain, (Prov. VII. XXV. 23.) which came, perhaps, out of the South, as I faid upon VI. 14. Thus Ovid reprefents it in the Flood of Deucalion, where he faith Jupiter, Nubila disjecit, nimbisque Aquilone remotis, &c.

And the Waters affwaged.] This drying Wind, and the Sun, which now began to fhine, with great power, mide the Waters fall. For, if the Second Month, when the Flood began, was part of our October and November; then the Flood abated (after an Hundred and fifty Days) in the beginning of May, when the Summer came on apace.

Ver. 2. The Fountains also of the Deep.] There Verse 2. was no further irruption or boiling up of the Water out of the Bowels of the Earth.

And the Rain from Heaven was restrained.] So that the Rains ceased at the end of an Hundred and fifty Days.

Ver. 3. And the Waters returned from off the Earth Verle 3. continually, &c.] The Waters rolling to and fro by the Wind, fell by little and little : And after the end of the Hundred and fifty Days began to decreafe. So the Vulgar Latin well translates the latter end of this Verle, mere abated, i. e. began fensibly to decreafe.

Ver. 4. And the Ark rested in the seventh Month, &c.] Verse 4. Of the Year, not of the Flood.

Upon the Mountains of Ararat.] i.e. Upon one of the Mountains, as XIX. 29. God overthrew the Cities in which Lot dwelt; i.e. In one of which he dwelt. Judg. XII. 7. Jephtah was buried in the Cities of Gi-V lead; lead i.e. In one of the Cities. For there was no Chapter one Mountain called by this Name of Ararat : But it VII. belonged to a long Ridge of Mountains, like the Alps ~ or Pyrenaan, which are Names appertaining, not to one, but to all. And Sir W. Raleigh, I think, truly judges that all the long Ridge of Mountains, which run through Armenia, Mesopotamia, Assyria, Media, Susiana, &c. i. e. From Cilicia to Paraponisus, are called by Moles, Ararat, as by Pliny they are called Tanrus. And that Author thinks the Ark fettled in fome of the Eastern Parts of Taurus, because Noah planted himself in the East after the Flood, (and it is likely did not travel far from the place where the Ark rested,) as appears, he thinks, from Gen. XI.2. where we read his Posterity, when they began to spread, went Westward and built Babel. The common Opinion is, That the Ark refted in some of the Mountains of Armenia, as the Vulgar Latin translates the word Ararat; i. e. faith St. Hierom, upon the higheft part of Taurus. But Epiphanius (who was before him) faith, upon the Gordican Mountains; and fo Fonathan, and Onkelos, and the Nubiensian Geographer, and many others mentioned by Bochartus : Who is of this Opinion, as having the most Authority. Many of which fay. That fome Relicks of the Ark were remaining upon those Mountains: Which (as Theodoret observes upon Isa. XIV. 12.) were accounted the highest in the whole World. V. Phaleg. L. H. c. 3: and L.IV. c. 38.

ACOMMENTARY

146

> There were fuch Remainders of this Hiftory among the ancient Scythians, that in their difpute with the Egyptians about their Antiquity, they argue it partly from hence; that if the Earth had ever been drown'd, their Country must needs be first inhabited again, again, because it was first clear'd from the Water; Chapter being the highest of all other Countries in the World. VII.

Thus their Argument runs in Justin, L. II. cap. 1. where he hath given us a brief relation of it, (if we had Trogus, whom he Epitomizes, it's likely we should have understood their Tradition more perfectly.) in this manner, If all Countries were anciently drown'd in the Deep, protecto editifimam quamque parten, we must needs grant the highest parts of the Earth, were first necovered of the Waters, that ran down from them: And the sooner any part was dry, the sooner were Animals there generated. Now Scythia is so much raised above all other Countries, that all the Rivers which rise there, run down into the Mœotis, and so into the Pontick and Egyptian Sea, &c.

Ver. 5. And the Waters decreased continually until Verse 5. the tenth Month.] For the Summer's heat must needs very much dry them up, when there was no Rain.

In the tenth Month were the tops of the Mountains feen.] This shows the Mountain on which the Ark rested was the highest, at least in those Parts: Because it settled there above two Months before the tops of other Mountains were seen. And, perhaps, the Ark, by its weight, might settle there, while the top of that Mountain was covered with Water: Which, it's possible, might not appear much before the rest.

Ver. 6. At the end of forty days.] Forty Days after Verse 6. the tops of the Mountains appeared, i.e. on the *ele*venth Day of the eleventh Month; which was about the end of our July.

Ver. 7. He fent forth a Raven.] For the fame End, Verfe 7. no doubt, that the Dove was fent forth: To make discovery whether the Earth were dry: For if it V 2 were

A COMMENTARY

Chapter were, the fmell of the dead Carcafes, he knew, VII. would allure it to fly far from the Ark: Which it did not, but only hover'd about it, as it follows in the next Words.

> Went forth to and fro.] In the Hebrew more plainly, going forth, and returning. That is, it often went from the Ark, and as often returned to it. For after many flights, finding nothing but Water, it still. betook it felf unto the Ark : either entring into it. or fitting upon it; till at last the Waters being dried up, it returned no more. That is, Fifty Days after its first going forth, Verse 13. All which time it spent in going out, and coming back. Bochart indeed approves of the Greek Version; which makes the Raven, not to have returned : For which he gives. fome specious Reasons, (L. II. cap. 12. P. H. Hierozoic.) and hath fuch of the Hebrews to countenance ... him, as R. Eliefer, who faith, (Pirke, cap. 23.) That the Raven found a Carcale of a Man upon a Mountain. and so would return no more.

But the next words (which in the Greek and Hebrew are both alike) confute this Translation.

Until the Waters were dried up from the Earth.] Which make this plain and eafie Sence, in connexion with the foregoing, (as they run in the Hebrew,) that while the Earth continued covered with Water, the Raven often flew from the Ark, but finding no convenient place to reft in, returned thitheragain: Till the Ground was dry. Whereas, according to the Greek, we mult fuppofe the Raven to have returned to the Ark, when the Waters were dried up from the Ground. Which is very abfurd : For, if it had fome time fat upon a Carcafe floating in the Waters, before they were dried up, or upon the top.

148

top of fome Mountain which already appeared: Chapter what fhould make it return when all the Waters were VII. gone every where, and not rather while they remained upon the Ground ?

Ver. 8. Alfo he fent forth a Dove.] As a proper Crea-Verle 8. ture to make further Difcoveries: Being of a ftrong flight, loving to feed upon the Ground, and pick up Seeds; and conftantly returning to its reft, from the remoteft places. These two Birds, (the Raven and the Dove,) some imagine were sent forth upon one and the fame Day, or but a Day between; as Bochartus conjectures. But this doth not agree with Verse 10. where it is faid, Noab stayed yet other seven Days, and then sent out the Dove again: Which relates to seven Days preceding; which seem to have passed between the sending out of the Raven and of the Dove.

Ver. 9. The Dove found no reft, &c.] For, though Verfe 9the tops of the Mountains appeared, yet they continued muddy, as some conceive 5 or, they were so far off, that the Dove could not easily reach them.

Ver. 10. And he staid yet other seven days.] It ap-Verse 10. pears by this, that on the seventh Day, Noah expected a Blessing rather than on another Day: It being the Day devoted from the beginning to Religious Serwices. Which he having (it is likely) performed, thereupon sent out the Dove upon this Day, as he had done before, with hope of good Tidings.

Ver. 11. And, lo, in her Mouth was an Olive-leaf, (or Verfe 15. Branch the word fignifies) pluckt off:] Bochart thinks the Dove brought this out of Affyria, which abounds with Olive-Trees, and lay South of Ararat; the Wind then blowing towards that Country from the North. (See Hierozoic. L. 1. c. 6. p. 2.) where he shows out of

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter of many Authors, that not only Olive-Trees, but some VII. other also, will live and be green under Water. All the difficulty is, how the Dove could break off a Branch (as the Vulgar translates it) from the Tree. But it is eafily folved, if we allow, as I have faid before, that now it was Summer-time; which brought new Shoots out of the Trees, that were eafily cropt.

So he knew the Waters were abated.] The tops of Mountains were feen before, verse 5. but now he understood the Waters had left the lower Grounds. Yet not fo left them that the Dove would stay; the Earth it is likely, remaining very chill.

Verse 12. Ver. 12. And he staid yet other seven days.] See Verse 10. The Observation there, being confirm'd by what is repeated here.

Returned not again to him any more.] There wanting neither Food, nor a Neft wherein to repole it felf. By which Noah understood, the Earth was not only dry, and fit to be inhabited: But that it was not quite spoiled by the Flood, but would afford Food for all Creatures.

Verse 12.

150

Ver. 13. Noah removed the covering of the Ark.] Some of the Boards on the top. For he could fee further by looking out there, than if he look'd out at the Door, or the Window, which gave him a profpect but one way.

The face of the Ground was dry.] Quite freed from Water, but yet fo foft and muddy, that it was not fit to be inhabited : As appears by his ftaying ftill, almost two Months more, before he thought fit to go out. So the following Verse tells us.

Verle 14. Ver. 14. In the fecond Month, &c.] If their Months were fuch as ours, twelve of which make Three hundred dred fixty five Days, then Noah ftaid in the Ark a Chapter whole Year and ten Days, as appears by comparing VII. this Verfe with VII. 11. But if they were Lunar Months, which is most probable, then he was in the Ark just one of our Years: Going out on the Three hundred and fixty fifth Day after his entrance into it.

npon GENESIS

Was the Earth dried.] Perfectly dried, so that no moisture remained; and Grass, it is likely, was sprung up for the Cattle.

It need not feem a wonder, that Mofes gives fo punctual and particular an Account of this whole matter, and of all that follows; for he lived within Eight hundred Years of the Flood: And therefore might very well know what had been done within that Period, and eafily tell how the World was peopled by the Posterity of Noah. Which could not but be fresh in memory, when Men lived so long; that not much above three Generations had passed, from the Flood to Moses. For Shem, who faw the Flood was contemporary with Abraham; as he was. with Jacob, whose great Grand-child was the Father of Moses.

Ver. 16. Go forth out of the Ark.] Though he faw Verse 16. the Earth was fit to be inhabited; yet he waited for God's Order to go out of the Ark, as he had it for his entring into it.

Thon and thy Wife, &c.] I do not think the Observation of some of the Jews is absurd; who by comparing this Verse with VII. 13. make this Collection: That while they were in the Ark, the Men did not cohabit with their Wives; it being a time of great Affliction: And therefore they kept as under in separate Apartments. So R. Elieser in his Pirke, Cap. XXIII. where R. Levitas thus gathers it: When they went into

rsi

2 201 . .

A COMMENTARY

into the Ark it is faid, VII. 13. Noah and his Sons en-Chapter tred, and then Noah's Wife, and his Sons Wives : Be-VII. hold, faith he, here the Men are put together, and the Women together. But when they come out it is here faid, Go forth, thou and thy Wife, and thy Sons, and thy Sons Wives, with thee; 10, here they are coupled together, as before they were separated. And to we find them again, verse 18. where it is faid. Noah went forth and his Wife, &c.

152

Verle 17. Ver. 17. Bring forth every living Greature, &c. that they may breed, &c.] One would think, by this, that no Creature bred in the Ark, no more than Men: But now are fent forth to breed and multiply in the Earth.

Ver. 20. And Noah built an Altar to the LORD.7 Verse 20. We never read of any built before this time: Though we may reasonably conclude there was an Altar upon which Cain and Abel offered; in the place appointed for Divine Worship.

> Offered Burnt-offerings.] He reftores the ancient Rite of Divine Service; which his Sons and their Posterity followed. Some think these Burnt-Offerings had fomething in them of the Nature of a Propitiatory Sacrifice, as well as Eucharistical, which they certainly were for their Deliverance from the Flood. Their Reason is taken from what follows.

Verle 21. Ver. 21. The LORD Smelled a sweet savour.] That is, as Munster understands it, he ceased from his Anger and was appealed. So the Syriack alfo, and Josephus, L. I. Antiq. c. 4. But it may signifie no more, but that his Thankfulnels was as grateful to God, as sweet Odors are to us.

And

upon GENESIS.

And the LORD faid in his heart.] He determi- Chapter ned, or refolved in himfelf. The Vulgar understands VIII. this, as if the LORD spake comfortably to Noah, (which in the Hebrew Phrase is, speaking to ones heart) and faid,

I will not again Curse the Ground any more.] i. e. After this manner, with a Deluge.

For the imagination of Man's heart is evil from his youth.] Such a proclivity there is in Men to evil, that if I should scourge them thus, as often as they deferve, there would be no end of Deluges. But the Words may have a quite different sence, being connected with what went before in this manner; I will not curse the Ground any more for Man's sake; tho' be be so very evilly disposed, &c.

Thole Words, from his Youth, fignify a long radicated corruption, as appears from many places, Ifa. XLVII. 12, 15. Jerem. III. 25. Ezek. XXIII. 8, &c. Sol. Jarchi extends it fo far as to fignifie, from his Mother's Womb.

Ver. 22. While the Earth remaineth.] While Men Verse 22. shall inhabit the Earth.

Seed-time and Harvest, &c.] There shall not be fuch a Year as this last has been : In which there was neither Sowing nor Reaping; nor any distinctions of Seasons, till the Rain was done.

Day and Night shall not cease.] One would think by this Expression, that the Day did not much differ from Night; while the Heavens were covered with thick Clouds, which fell in dismal Floods of Rain.

X

CHAP.

ACOMMENTARY

CHAP. IX.

154 Cha pter IX.

Verse I. Ver. I. A ND God bleffed Noah and his Sons, &c.] The Divine Majesty appeared now to Noah and his Sons ; to affure them of his Favour and Protection; and to renew the Bleffing befrowed upon Adam (as after a new Creation) faying, Increase and Multiply.

Verse 2. Ver. 2. The fear of you, &c.] He feems also to confirm to them, the Dominion which God gave to Adam, at first, over all Creatures, I. 26. Verse 2.

Ver. 2. Every moving thing that liveth shall be meat for you, &c.] Here the first Grant made to Mankind concerning Food, is enlarged, as St. Basil observes, n σορώτη νομοθεσία την καρπών δπόλαυση σαυεχώρησε, The first Legislation granted to them the use of Fruits; but now of all living Creatures; which they are as freely permitted to eat of, as formerly of all the Fruits of the Garden. For God seeing Men to be agendeis. contumacious, as Greg. Nyff. expresses it (Tom.I.p. 157.) Ghi marraw & Enoravor ourez wenoz, He conceded to them the enjoyment of all things. This is the general fence. of the Jews, and of the Christian Fathers, and of the first Reformers of Religion. They that would have this only a renewal of fuch an old Charter, are of later standing; and can shew us no Charter, but are led. by fome reasonings of their own, not by the Scripture : Unless we will admit such a Criticism upon Gen. I. 20. as feems to me very forced. And they would have this also understood only of clean Creatures : But I do not find any Ground for the diffinction

upon GENESIS.

etion of Clean and Unclean Creatures, with respect Chapter to Food, but only to Sacrifice, as was said before. IX.

The reafon why God now granted the liberty to eat Flefh, Abarbinel thinks was, becaufe otherwife there would not have been Food enough for Noab and his Sons: The Fruits of the Earth, which before were abundant, being all deftroyed; fo that for the prefent there was not fufficient for their Sultenance. Others think the reafon of it was, becaufe the Fruits of the Earth, were not now fo nutritive as they had been, before the Salt-water of the Sea very much spoiled the Soil.

Ver. 4. But flefb with the life thereof, &c.] Here is Verle 4. one Exception to the foregoing large Grant, that the Blood of Beasts should not be eaten : Just as at the first, one Fruit in the midst of the Garden was excepted, when all the rest were allowed. The Hebrew Doctors generally understand this to be a prohibition to cut off any Limb of a living Creature, and to eat it while the Life, that is, the Blood was in it : Dum adhuc vivit, & palpitat, seu tremit, as a Modern Interpreter truly represents their fence. Which is followed by many Chriftians. See Mercer, Musculus, especially Mr. Selden, L. VII. c. I. de Jure N. & G. who think, as Maimonides doth, that there were fome People in the old World fo fierce and barbarous, that they eat raw Flefh, while it was yet warm from the Beast out of whose Body it was cut : And he makes this to have been a part of their Idolatrous Worship. (See More Nevochim, Pars III. c.48.) But, supposing this to be true, there were so few of these People, we may well think, (for he himself faith, it was the Custom of the Gentile Kings to do thus) that there needed not to have been a Precept X 2 given

A COMMENTARY

Chapter given to all Mankind, to avoid that, unto which IX. Humane Nature is of it felf averfe.

> St. Chryfoltom therefore expounds this, of not eating things strangled : And L. de Dien of not eating that which died of it felf: For Nephefh in Scripture fignifies sometime a dead Carcase. But it is manifest, it was not unlawful for all People to eat fuch things; for God himself orders the Israelites, to give that which died of it felf to a Stranger, or to fell it to an Alien, Deut. XIV. 21. And therefore the simplest sence feems to be, that they should not eat the Blood of any Creature: Which was a politive Precept, like that of not eating of the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil. And the reason of it, perhaps, was, that God intending in after-times to referve the Blood, for the Explation of Sin, required this early abftinence from it, that they might be the better prepared to submit to that Law, and understand the reason of it: Which was, that it was the Life of the Beaft, which God accepted in flead of their Life, when they had forfeited it by their Sins.

> And there is another plain Reafon given of this Prohibition, immediately after it; that they might be the more fearful of shedding the Blood one of another; when it was not lawful so much as to taste the Blood of a Beast.

Verse 5.

155

• ¹1

Ver. 5. And furely.] Or rather, for furely, as the LXX. the Vulgar Latin, and a great number of learned Men, expound the Particle Van as a Caufal, not as a Copulative in this place. So that the fence is this: Therefore I command you to abstain from the Blood of living Creatures, that you may be the farther off from shedding the Blood of Men. For that is so precious in my account, that I will take care he be feverely verely punished, by whom it is shed; yea, the very Chapter Beast shall dye that kills a Man. So it follows, IX.

157

At the hand of every Beast will I require it.] Not as if Beasts were to blame, if they killed a Man; (for they are capable neither of Vice nor Vertue) but this was ordained with respect to Men, for whose use Beasts were created. For, First, such Owners as were not careful to prevent such Mischiefs were hereby punished: And, Secondly, others were admonished by their example to be cautious: And, Thirdly, God hereby instructed them that Murder was a most grievous Crime, whose Punishment extended even to Beasts. And Lastiy, the Lives of Men were hereby much secured, by the killing such Beasts, as might otherways have done the like Mischief hereaster. See Bochart in his Hierozoic. P. I. L. I. c. 40.

At the hands of every Man's brother, &c.] And therefore much more will I require it at the Hand of every Man. Whom he calls Brother, to flow that Murder is the more heinous upon this account; becaufe we are all Brethren. Or the meaning may be, (as fome will have it) that though he be as nearly related as a Brother, he fhall not go unpunished.

Ver. 6. Whoso sheds Man's blood.] He repeats it 0. Verse 6. ver again, to enact this Law more strongly. Or, as the Hebrews understand it, he spake before of the punishment he would inflict himself upon the Murderer; and now of the care we should take to punish it.

By Man shall his blood be shed.] That is, by the Magistrate or Judges. For God had kept the punishment of Murder in his own Hand till now; as we may gather from the story of Cain, whom he banished, but suffered no Body to kill him. But here gives authority to Judges to call every Body to an account

ACOMMENTART

Chapter account for it, and put them to death. They that IX. would fee more of the Senfe of the Jews about thefe and the foregoing words, may read Mr. Selden de Jure N. & G. L. I. cap. 5. and L. IV. cap. 1. and de Synedrijs, L. I. cap. 5.

> I will only add, That they rightly conclude, that as Courts of Judicature were hereby authorized; fo what was thus ordained againft Murder, by a parity of Reason, was to be executed upon other great Offenders; there being some things which are no less dear to us than Life; as Virginal Chastity, and Matrimonial Fidelity, Sc.

> For in the Image of God made he Man.] Notwithftanding the Sin of Man, there remained fo much of the Image of God in him, as intitled him to his peculiar protection.

Verse 7.

158

Ver. 7. And ye, be ye fruitful, &c.] You need not doubt therefore of the bleffing I now beftowed upon you, (Verse 1.) for you see what care I take of the preservation, as well as the propagation of Mankind.

Verse 9.

Ver. 9. I will establish my Covenant with you.] Because Beasts cannot Covenant, most understand by that Word simply a Promise; as Jer. XXXIII. 25. But there is no need of this Explication; the Covenant being made directly with Noah, including all other Creatures, who were to have the benefit of it.

Verfe 10. Ver. 10. From all that go out of the Ark, to every Beast of the Earth.] That is, it shall extend not only to those which now go out of the Ark; but to all their breed in future Ages.

Verfe II. Ver. II. And I will establish my Covenant with you, &c.] Doubt not of it; for I tell you again, I will faithfully keep this folemn promise.

Any

Any more be a Flood to destroy the Earth.] That is, Chapter the whole Earth; for particular Inundations there IX. have been often.

Ver. 12. And the LORD faid, This is the Token Verle 12. of the Covenant, &c.] I do not only give you my Word; but a Token or Sign that I will keep it.

Ver. 12. I do fet my Bow in the Clouds, &c.] Most Verse 12. think this doth not fignifie there never had been a Rain-bow before the Flood; for fince there was both Sun and Clouds, it is likely, they fay, there was a Rain-bow alfo: Only now it was appointed for a Sign, which it was not before. But as this Opinion hath nothing in Scripture to enforce it, fo grounds in Nature there are none to warrant it; unlefs we will affert this manifest untruth, That every disposition of the Air, or every Cloud is fitly disposed to produce a Rain-bow. They are the words of that great Divine, Dr. Jackson, (Book I. upon the Creed, c. 16.) who adds, That if other Natural Caufes, with their Motions and Dispositions depend upon the final (as Scripture Philosophy teaches us) they who acknowledge the Scripture, have no reason to think that either the Clouds or the Air had that peculiar disposition before the Flood, which is required to the production of the Rain-bow : When this wonderful Effect had no such use or end, as it hath had ever since. For it was appointed by God, to be a Witness of his Covenant with the new World; a Meffenger to fecure Mankind from Destruction by Deluges. Now if it had appeared before the Flood, the fight of it after the Flood would have been but a poor comfort to Noah and his timorous Posterity: Whose Fear least the like Inundation might happen again, was greater than could be taken away by a common or usual Sign.

ACOMMENTART

Chapter Sign. The ancient Poets had a better Philosophy IX. (though they knew not the original of it) when they feigned Iris to be the Daughter, or (as we would now speak) the Mother of Wonderment, (Oatmarig. Ekyporor) the Messenger of the great God Jupiter, and his Goddels Juno: whom Homer (as he observes) reprefents as fent with a peremptory command to Neptune not to aid the Gracians; by the swelling we may suppose, of Waters, which much annoyed the Trojans.

My Bow.] It is called His, not only because he is the Author of all things, which have Natural Caufes, as there are of this: But because He appointed it to a special end; as a signification and an assurance of his Mercy to Mankind.

Verfe 14. Ver. 14. When I bring a Cloud over the Earth.] i. e. When there are great figns of the Rain, which come out of the Clouds.

That the Bow shall be seen in the Cloud.] Not always but at certain times; often enough to put Men in mind of this promife, and ftir up their belief of it. For it doth as it were fay, I will not drown the Earth again, though the Clouds have thickned as if they threatned it. Common Philosophy teaches us, that the Rain-bow is a natural fign there will not be much Rain after it appears; but that the Clouds begin to disperse. For it is never made in a thick Cloud, but in a thin: So that if it appear after Showers, which come from thick Clouds, it is a Token that now they grow thin. But the God of Nature chofe this to be a fign, that he would never let them thicken again to fuch a degree to bring a Deluge upon the Earth. And indeed the admirable Form or Composition of this glorious Circle (as the Son of Syrach calls it, Ecclus. XLIII. 12.) bent by the Hands

160

Hands of the most High, doth naturally excite one to Chapter look beyond the material and efficient cause of it, unit, unnow that we have Moses his Commentary upon it, we may see in the mixt Colours of the Rain-bow, these two things; the Destruction of the old World by Water, and the future Consumption of the present World by Fire; whose flaming Brightness is predominant in the waterish Humour.

Ver. 15. And I will remember my Covenant, &c.] Verle 15. Look upon it as a Token of my Faithfulnels to my Word.

Ver. 16. I will look upon it, that I may remem-Verfe 16. ber, &c.] This is fpoken after the manner of Men; the more to confirm their belief, that God would not go back with his Word.

Ver. 17. And God faid, This is the Token, &c.] As Verle 17. the Promise is repeated twice, to express its certainty, ver. 9, 11. So is the Token of it as oft repeated, for the same reason, ver. 12. and here ver. 17.

Ver. 18. And the Sons of Noah, &c.] They are here Verle 18. again named, with respect to what follows: But not in their order, as shall be proved in its proper place, (X. 21.) for Japhet was the Eldest.

And Ham is the Father of Canaan.] This Son of Ham is here all alone mentioned, because he was concerned in the following wicked Fact of his Father : And his Posterity were those wicked People whose Country God gave to the Israelites.

Ver. 19. And of them was the whole Earth over-Verle 19. Spread.] By this it appears, that though Noah lived above three hundred years after he came out of the Ark, yet begat no more Children; or if he did, none of them lived to have any Posterity.

Y

Ver.

ACOMMENTARY

162

Chapter Ver. 20. Began to be an 'Husband man.] To im-XI. prove the Art of Husbandry; which was underftood Verse 20. nothing in old time, which the greatest Men thought more worthy their fludy; as we fee by the Romans themselves, 'till they were corrupted by the Luxury which their Conquests brought in among them.

> And he planted a Vineyard.] There were Vines here and there before the Flood ; but Noah feems to have been the first that made a Vineyard, and put them in order. And the first, perhaps, that invented Wine-Presses, to pressout the Juice of the Grapes, and make Wine. If he was not the Inventer of these two. (planting of Vineyards, and making Wine) yet we may well allow him to be the Improver of them, as he was of Husbandry.

Verse 21. Ver. 21. And he drank of the Wine, and was drunken.] Being unacquainted with the strength of the Liquor, (as feveral of the Fathers, as well as of the Jewifs Doctors, think) or elfe being old and unable to bear its strength : As Epiphanius understands it. See Hæref. LXIII. n. 3. For it is manifelt, from what follows, that this hapned a great while after the Flood ; Ham having a Son ; nay more than one, for Canaan was not his first-born.

And he was uncovered in his Tent.] The heat of the Weather, or of the Wine, perhaps, made him throw off the Clothes: Or he was negligent being not himfelf.

Verse 22. Ver. 22. And Ham the Father of Canaan, &c.] There are some Circumstances, which follow, that make the Opinion of the Hebrew Doctors not improbable; that Canaan first faw Noah in this indecent posture and and made fport with it to his Father : Who was fo Chapter far from reproving him, as he ought to have done, IX. that he alfo did the fame.

162

And told his two Brethren without.] In the Street, publickly before the People, he proclaimed his Father's shame, and mock'd at it. For it is hard to think that God curfed him meerly for his Irreverence, but there was fomething of Derifion joined with it, and perhaps of Prophaneness and Irreligion : in laughing (we may conceive) at the promife of the Melliah, which, it is likely, he heard his Father often speak of; but now thought him incapable to beget. For Ham is generally thought to have been an impious Man; and some take him to have been the first Inventer of Idols after the Flood; nay, of Magick, which he learnt of the wicked Cainites before the Flood. Thus Galpar Schottus, L. I. de Magia, cap. 2. Prolegom. Where he endeavours to fhow he was the fame with him whom the Persians call Zoroaster.

Ver. 23. And Shem and Japhet took a Garment, &c.] Verle 23. A great Argument of their Piety, and dutiful Affection to their Father; which God therefore greatly rewarded.

Ver. 24. And knew what his younger Son had done.] Verle 24. Finding himfelf covered with Clothes that were not his own, he enquired, it is likely, how it came about : And was informed how he had been abused by one of his Sons, and honoured by the other.

His younger Son.] Some make this an Argument that Canaan was the first made himself merry with his Grandfather : And is here called his younger or little Son, (nothing being more common than to call those the Sons of another, who were his Grand-Children, as Cousin-Germans are called Brothers) for Ham Y 2 was

e

ACOMMENTART

164

Chapter IX.

was neither little, nor his younger Son; but the middlemost, as he is always placed. Nor doth it feem atn all pertinent to the matter, to mention the Order of his Birth; but very fit, if he spake of the Grandson. to diffinguish him from the reft. And what follows. is a farther proof of it.

Verfe 25. Ver. 25. Curfed be Canaan, &c.] If what I faid before, (verse 22, 24) be allowed, it makes it easie to give an account why Canaan is curfed rather than Ham; because he was first guilty. Ham indeed was. punished in him : But he had other Sons, on whom the Punishment did not fall, but only on this. For which I can find no reason so probable as that before-named. Which if it be not allowed, we must have recourse to an harsh Interpretation; and by Canaan understand Canaan's Father, as some do.

A Servant of Servants.] That is, the baseft and wilest of Servants. See the next Verse.

Verle 26.

Ver. 26. Bleffed be the LORD God of Shem.] The LORD was the God of Shem, after a peculiar manner, just as he was the God of Abraham, because of the gracious Covenant made with him : For God fettled his Church in the Family of Shem; and Chrift was born of his Posterity; and he himself in all likelihood, kept up the Worship of the true God, and opposed Idolatry. In short, to be the God of Shem. was to beftow all manner of Bleffings upon him; which Noab here prophefies to him, by bleffing the LORD for them: Whom he acknowledges to be the Author of them, out of his special Grace and Favour towards him. For he was the younger Brother of Faphet, as I shall shew, X. 21. Thus Facob interprets this Phrase, XXIX. 19, 20.

And

upon GENESIS.

And Canaan shall be his fervant.] This was fulfil- Chapter led eight hundred Years after, when the Israelites, IX. (who were descended from Shem) took possession of the Land of Canaan; fubduing thirty of their Kings; killing moft of the Inhabitants; laying heavy Tributes upon the Remainder; and using the Gibconites (who faved themfelves by a wile) though not as Servants to them, yet as mere Drudges for the fervice of the Tabernacle. Whofe Name David is thought to have changed into Nethinim, (Ezra VIII. 20.) People who had voluntarily furrendred themfelves, (as they did to Joshua when he had discovered their Fraud) to do what he would with them. Solomon alfo made all the Remainders of the People of Canaan fubject to fervile Labours, when all the Ifraelites were free, as is plainly fignified, 2 Chron. VIII. 7, 8, 9. And fee Joseph. Antig. L. VIII. c. 2. Thus, as the Bleffing promised to Abraham, was not fulfilled in his own Person, but in his Posterity, many Generations after his Death ; fo this Curfe upon Cham, did not take place till the fame time : The Execution of God's Curfe upon the one, being his conferring of a Bleffing upon the other.

Ver. 27. God shall inlarge Japhet.] i. e. His Habita-Verse 27. tion; for God gave him, for his Possessin, all the Isles of the Sea Westward, and those Countries near to them, as Spain, Italy, Greece, Asia the less, &c. as Bochart hath observed in his Phaleg. L. I. c. 1. Who further notes, That in the Hebrew word for inlarge there is a plain Allusion to Japhet's Name; as there is to many others in Scripture; Noah, verse 29. Judah, Dan, Gad, &c. XLIX. 8, 16, 19. They that translate this word persuade, (as it is in the Margin,) did not consider, that it is commonly taken in a bad

A COMMENTART.

166

Chapter IX. bad Sence, when it is so used, for deceiving and seducing : And that it governs, as Grammarians speak, an Accusative Case, and not a Dative, (as it doth here,) when it fignifies to allure or perfuade. In short, this is a Promifeot a very large Portion to 'Japhet's Posterity in the Division of the Earth. Which was but neceffary; for that part of the World which bends to the North being affigned to him, vast Regions were requisite for such a numerous Offspring as were likely to come from him : The Fruitfulnels of People being wonderfully great in cold Climates. And accordingly, befides all Europe, and the leffer Afra, there fell to the share of his Posterity, Media, part of Armenia, Iberia, Albania, and the vast Regions towards the North, which anciently the Scythians, now the Tartars, inhabited : From whom the People of the New World, (as we call it) feem to be derived; the Scythians going thither by the Streights of Anian. Of which more upon X. 32.

Moses hath not told us, what were the Names of any of their Wives, but the Greeks have given to Japetus his Wise the Name of Kroupton, (as Hesiod calls her,) because the Name of Kroupton, (as Hesiod calls her,) because the was the Mother of so many famous Nations. So Vossius, L. I. De Orig. Idolol. c. 18. And Campanella's Observation in this Verse is, That all Empires descended from the Sons of Japhet. L. De Monarchia Hispan. c. 4. Which may be true of the great Empires, but the Egyptians seem to have been the first considerable Princes, and Nimrod was of the Race of Ham.

And he shall dwell in the Tents of Shem.] i.e. His Territories shall be so dilated, that in future times he shall posses fome of his Brother's Countries: Which npon G E N E S I S.

167

Which is also prophetied of, Numb. XXIV. 24. where Chapter it is faid they of Cittim shall afflict the Children of Af- 1X. fur and Eber : i.e. Afflict the Agrians and the Hebrews, who were of the Posterity of Shem. And so both the Greeks and the Romans did; who invaded and conquered that part of Afia which belonged to Shem. The Chaldee Paraphrast gives a Spiritual Interpretation of this Paffage, which is very apt, That the Gentiles should come into the Church, which was in the Family of Shem. And it is very remarkable, (which is observed by our Mr. Mede, B. I. Difc. 48.) That all the Offspring of Japhet are at this day Chriftians, Magog only excepted (i. e. the Turks,) whom God feems to have referved, as he did fome of the Canaanites in the Land of Israel, to prove and punish us withal. Our Learned N. Fuller gives a quite different Interpretation from all these, making God the Subject of this Speech, not Japhet; and thus translates it : God shall dwell in the Tents of Shem ; among them shall be the Schechinah, or the Divine Majesty. But this doth not agree with what follows.

And Canaan shall be his Servant.] The Greeks and Romans descended from Japhet conquered Canaan: And whatsoever Relicks there were of them any where, (for inftance at Tyre, built by the Sidonians; at Thebes, by Cadmus; at Carthage, by Dido;) they were all cut off by the Greeks or Romans. It is observed by Campanella, That None are descended from Cham, but Slaves; and Tyrants, who are indeed Slaves, Cap. IV. De Mon. Hispan. But Mr. Mede's Observation is more pertinent, (in the fore-named Discourse, p. 358.) There hath never yet been a Son of Cham, that hath scepter over the Head of Japhet. Sem hath subdued Japhet, and Japhet sub-Chapter X. dued Sem : But Cham never fubdued either. Which made Hannibal, a Child of Canaan, cry out with amazement of Soul, Agnosco fatum Carthaginis, I acknowledge the Fate of Carthage. Livy, L. XXVII. in fine.

Verse 28. Ver. 28. And Noah lived after the Flood three hundred and fifty Years.] Which was of great Advantage for the certain Propagation of the Knowledge of those things before related, and of those that follow in the next Chapter. For he died not above two and thirty Years before Abraham was born.

СНАР. Х.

168

Verse 1. Ver. 1. NO W these are the Generations of the Sons of Noah, &c.] As he had often before mentioned the three Sons of Noah, fo now he mentions them again, being to give an Account of their Children, by whom the Earth was peopled after the Flood. And he reckons them in the fame order he had always done, (VI. 10. VII. 13. IX. 18.) first Shem, then Ham, and last of all Japhet. But it is obfervable, that in the next Verse he gives an Account first of the Sons of Japhet : Who was indeed the eldest. There is great use of this Genealogy, as Maimonides shows, (Par. III. More Nev. c. 50.) because the Doctrine of the Creation of the World, which is the Foundation of the Law, (i. e. of Religion,) would not have been so eafily believed ; if Moses had not given an Account of the Succeffion of Mankind, kind, from the first Man to the Flood; and from Chapter the Flood to his own time : Showing from whom X. all Nations were derived, and how they came to be difperfed.

Shem, is named first of Noah's Sons, because the bleffed Seed was to spring out of his Family : In which the true Religion was preferved : Which was foon lost in the Posterity of the other two; among whom their Names remained in great Honour. For,

Ham was the Heathen Jupiter, who was called Hammon in Egypt, which, it will appear, was part of Ham's Portion, and is called the Land of Ham, as every one knows, in many places of the Pfalms. And accordingly the fame Country is called by Plutarch Xnudz.

Japhet also seems to have been the fame with Japetus, whom the Greeks own to have been their Father. Nor do they know any Name of greater Antiquity; which made them give it to decrepit Perfons, (as many, particularly Bochart, have observed,) and it became a Proverb in that Country, Older than Japetus. Whom their Poets feign to have attempted War against Jupiter; because of the Diffentions which the unlikeness of their Manners begat between them. Which seems to be nothing but the Story in Chapter IX. of this Book, verse 22. For Ham, as I faid, is the Heathen Jupiter.

Ver. 2. The Sons of Japhet.] Were leven; the eldeft of which, Gomer, had three Sons; and the fourth Javan, had four: Whole Names we have in the following Verfes.

Gomer.] It's hard, at this diftance, to find what Country was peopled by his Posterity; but Bochar-Z 170

Χ.

A COMMENTARY.

Chapter tus in his Phaleg hath made fuch probable Conjectures. about this and all that follow, from other Scriptures, and from Neighbouring Places, and the Relicks of their Names in ancient Geographers, and fuch like things, that they carry a great appearance of Truthin them. Our famous Camden (in his Account of the first Inhabitants of Britain.) thinks that the Cimbri and Cimmerii descended from this Gomer, who. gave them their Name; and that the old Britains came from him, because they call themselves Kumero. Cymro, and Kumeri; which feems to denote them the Posterity of Gomer. But this, as also the Notion ot Ludov. Cappellus in his Chron. Sacra. p. 104. (who, if this of Mr. Camden be not accepted, propounds. another, of the Comari and Chomari, a People in Scythia (mentioned by Ptolomy) within the Mountain. Imans, near Baltriana,) is confuted by what we read. in Ezekiel, who makes Gomer to have been a Neighbour of Torgamah, Ezek. XXXVIII. 6. And Torgamab was a Nation that usually went to the Marts of Tyre, XXVII. 14. and confequently were not feated in the furthermost part of the North; but, as will appear afterward, not very far from Tyre. And in: fome Country thereabouts we must seek for Gomer : who, it's likely, gave Phrygia its Denomination. For a, part of it was called Kalaneraumen, by Diodorns and Hesychius, because it look'd as if it were burnt. Such was all the Country about Cayfter, Maander, and the City Philadelphia. Now this is the very fignification of Gomer. For in the Hebrew Gamar is to confume; and fo the Chaldee and Syriack frequently use it : Whence Gumra, or Gumrois a Coal. And Phrygia is of the same signification, (for peryun in. Greek is to torrifie.) which being the Name of part of

of the Country, in time became the Name of the Chapter whole.

171

Magog.] The fecond Son of Japhet, was in all likelyhood the Father of the Scythians; which is the Opinion of Josephus, Theodoret, St. Hierom, and others. For all that is faid in Scripture about Magog exactly agrees to them; as Bochartus hath shown at large, out of Ezekiel: L. III. Phaleg. c. 13.

Madai.] From him the Country of Media took its Name : Where he and his Children settled. And it is the farthermost Country Eastward, where any of the Posterity of Japhet inhabited. What is the Name of this Country at present, is not easie to tell; the ancient name and limits of Countries fo remote, being quite worn out of memory. But it is no improbable Conjecture of Bochartus, (L. III. c. 14.) That the ancient Sarmate took their Name from this Man, Sear or Sar-Madai, being in Chaldee, as much as the Relicks of Madai, or the Medes. Dr. Fackfon. I think, hath well observed, (Book I. c. 16.) that Scythia or the North part of Afia-Minor, and other parts adjacent, were inhabited by the Sons of 7aphet, before they came into Greece, (where the next Son fettled,) or the other parts of Europe.

Javan.] Planted himself in Greece; under which word is comprehended, not only Achaia and the rest of the Gountries thereabout; but even Macedonia, and the Nations neighbouring to it, towards the West: The Sea that washes them, being called the Ionian Sea. And indeed the Hebrew word it taking away the Vowels, may be either read Javar or Ion. From whence the Iones; whom Homer calls Jaones, which is near to Javan; which a Persian in Aristophanes his Acharnenses pronounces Jaonau: As Gro-Z 2 Chapter tius observes. Annot. in L. I. De V. R. C. Hence Da-X. niel calls Alexander, who came out of Macedonia, the King of Javan, VIII. 21. And the Chaldee Paraphrase hath here instead of Javan, Macedonia. See Bochart. L. III. cap. 3.

Tubal and Meshech.] These two are constantly joyned together by Ezekiel in many places, XXVII. 12. XXXII. 26, &c. Which is a fign thefe two Brothers planted themselves not far from one another. And no Conjecture seems so probable as that of Bochartus, who takes these to be the People, whom the Greeks call Moschi and Tibareni : who are as constantly joyned together in Herodotus, as Moschech and Tubal are in Ezekiel. And none need wonder that Tubal was changed into Tubar, and then into Tibar: For nothing was more common among the Greeks, than to thange the Letter L into R, as Beriap for Belial, and Dixwo for Phicol, &c. The Moschi inhabited the Mountains called Moschici, North-east of Cappadocia, and all the Mountains (as Bochart thinks) from the River Phasis to the Pontus-Cappadocicus. The Tibareni were in the middle between the Trapezuntii and the Inhabitants of Armenia the lefs. So Strabo defcribes them, who was born not far from these Countries, and had reason to know them. Nor is this a new Opinion of Bochart's, that the Tibareni came from Tubol: For Epiphanius in his Ancorats, mentions among the Descendants of Japhet, Tibaerris, together with the Chalybes and Mossinaci: whom our Broughton follows.

Tiras.] Or; Thiras, the youngest of the Sons of Japhet, possessed Thrace and Mysia, and therest of Europe towards the North. For $\Theta \in \mathcal{Z}_{i}$ is Thiras or Thras by the change of the Letter Samech into Xi: Which in 173 in the Greek Alphabet (received from the Phanici- Chapter ans) answers to the Letter Samech ; so that some of X. the Hebrews write Thracia with an f. Thrafia: And a Thracian Woman is called by the Greeks themselves Doassa and Opiasa: Which comes very near to Thiras. And that great Man Bochartus fays a great deal more to confirm this; which was the Opinion, he shows, of many of the Ancients, Phaleg. L. III. c. 2. And in late times, of Ludovicus Capellus, who adds that poffibly Tros and Troes were derived from this Thiras.

Ver. 2. And the Sons of Gomer.] Now follows an Verle 3. Account of those that descended from the eldest Son of Faphet. Albkenaz was the eldeft Son of Gomer: whole Posterity settled in Bithynia, (where we find the foot-steps of his Name, in the Sinus Ascanius, and Ascanius Lacus, and Amnis,) and in Troas, and the leffer Phrygia: In which is a Country and a City called Ascania, and Ascania Infula. Into which Country the Offspring of Albkenaz brought Colonies from Gomer, or the greater Phrygia : And extended themfelves to the Sea. Which being called by the People upon the Coast Ascenaz, was pronounced by the Greeks "AzerQ. Which being an odious Name in their Language, fignifying inhospitable, they changed it into the contrary, and called it EugenG., the Enxin Sea. See more in the fore-named Author, L. III. c. 9. Ludov. Capellus hapned upon the fame Conjecture. Riphath, or Diphath, as it is written in I Chron. I. 6. whole Posterity Josephus thinks to have inhibited Paphlagonia: which is a Country near to Phrygia, upon the Euxine Sea: And there are remainders of the Name in feveral places, both ways written, with Refb, or with Daleh ; as Bochart flows, L. III.

ACOMMENTARY

i74 Chapter X.

L. III.c. 10. Mela places the Riphaces in this Country as Grotins observes, Annot. in L. I. de V. R. C.

Togarmah.] His Posterity, it is manifest, settled Northward of Judaa, by that place in Ezek. XXXVIII. 6. where the Greek Scholiast faith, some hereby understand the Cappadocians and Galatians. And indeed Cappadocia lies near to Gomer or Phrygia, with whom Togarmah is wont to be joyn'd : And in respect of Judaa it lies Northward: And was most famous for excellent Horfes; which the Prophet faith came from Togarmah, Ezek. XXVII. 14. The Greek Interpreters constantly write it Torgama, or Thorgama; from whence the Name of the Trogmi or Trocmi may well be thought to be derived : Who, Strabo faith, L. XII. lived near Pontus and Cappadocia: And it appears by Ptolomy, they poffeffed fome Cities in Cappadocia it felf. This People are called by Stephanus, Trocmeni, and in the Council of Chalcedon. Trocmade's, or Trogmades : For their Bilhop is often mentioned 'Emiozon G. Tegzuadow. See Bochart in the fame Book, cap. 11.

Verle 4.

Ver. 4. And the Sons of Javan] Having told us what Sons Gomer had, he informs us who had defcended from Javan: Who had four Sons, that gave Names to four Provinces.

Elista.] His First-born inhabited Peloponnesus: In which there was an ample Country, called by the Ancients Elis: and one part of it called by Homer, Alisium. I omit the other Arguments whereby Bochartus proves this to be the part of the Earth, where Elista's Posterity settled, not far from their Father Javan. Nay, Ludovicus Capellus, p 105. Chronol. Sacra. thinks the Addres, Holes, and the Country Holia had its Name from thence.

Tar-

Tarshish.] (Or, Tarsis.) Neither peopled Cilicia Chapter where we meet with a like Name, nor the Coast a- X. bout Carthage, as some of the Ancients thought; but, as Eusebius, and from him our Broughton, and lately Bochart, have observed, from him came the Iberi in Spain. Oapoeis IE & IGnpes. Which Name of Iberi came, as Bochart thinks, from the Phanicians, who called the Bounds and utmost Limits of any thing Ebrim or Ibrim, a word often used in the Syriac Version of the Psalms and the New Testament. From whence, it is not unlikely, the Spaniards were called by this Name of Iberi, because they were thought to poffess the utmost Ends of the Earth Westward." However we may well think Tarfhifh to be Spain, or that part of it which was most frequented by the Phænicians, viz. about Gades and Tarteffus : As Bochartus, I think, hath proved by evident Arguments; fetched chiefly from what Ezekiel fays of Tarfis, (XXVII. 12.) and comparing it with this Country, L. III. Phaleg. c. 7. Kittim.] The fame Author hath proved by folid

175

-3

Kittim.] The fame Author hath proved by folid Arguments, and by good Authority, that from him came the People who inhabited Italy: In which there were anciently many footfteps of this Name. For there was in Latium it felf a City called Keria, as Halycarnaffaus tells us: Which was one of those feven great and populous Cities taken by Coriolanus, as Plutarch, in his Life, tells us. There was a River called Keris about Cuma; mentioned by Aristotle, as turning Plants into Stones. And the very Name of Latines answers to Chittim: For most fay it comes a latendo, being formed to express this ancient Scripture Name. For Chetema in Arabick (which is a branch of the Hebrew Tongue) is to hide: And Che-

A COMMENTARY

Chetim is hidden, and latent. And so no doubt it was Chapter anciently used in Hebrew : For what better sence can we make of those words of Jeremy II. 22. thy iniquity. is hidden or laid up with me: According to an usual Expression in Scripture, Deut. XXXII. 34. 706 XXI. 9. Hof. XIII. 12. where there are words of the like import with this. That famous Man, Bochart, faith a great deal more, to affert this, L. III. c. 5.

Dodanim.] He is called Rhodanim, in I Chron. I. 7. By whom the Greek Interpreters understand the People of Rhodes, (and fo do feveral of the Ancients,) but the Name of that Illand is much later than Moles his time : And therefore it is better to understand hereby, that Country now called France : Which was peopled by the Posterity of this Son of Javan. Who when they came to this Coast, gave Name (as Bochart conjectures) to the great River Rhodanus. Where it is likely they first feated themselves, and called the adjacent Coast Rhodanusia: which had anciently in it a City of the fame Name, mention'd by Stephanus; and faid to be feated in Massaria, in tractu Massiliense, where now stands Marseilles. See Bochart, L. III. c. 6 These Dodanites were never mentioned in any other places of Scripture, which makes it the more difficult where to find them : But this Account seems more probable than that of our learned Mede, who places them in Epirus, (where there was a City called Dodona,) and part of Peloponne-Jus : All which, and feveral Countries thereabout, feem to be comprehended under the Name of .7avan.

Verse 5.

170

X

Ver. 5. By these were the Isles of the Gentiles divided.] By the word Isles we commonly understand Countries compassed round about by the Sea. But there

upon GENESIS.

there were not such Islands enough to contain the Sons Chapter of Japhet, (though these were part of their Portion,) and therefore we must seek for another sence of this word. Which the Hebrews use (as Mr. Mede hath obferved) to fignifie, all those Countries divided from them by the Sea; or, fuch as they uled not to go to, but by Sea. See Book I. Difc. 47. Many places testifie this, Ifai. XI. 10, 11. XL. 15. Jer. II. 10, &c. Now if Moses wrote this Book in Egypt, (as he thinks it probable) they commonly went from thence to Phrygia, Cappadocia, Paphlagonia by Sea, as well as to Greece, Italy, &c. To Media indeed, he thinks, they did not use to go by Sea, and therefore makes this an Objection against Madai being the Father of the Medes : For their Country cannot be called an Isle. But the far greater part of the Regions, peopled by the Sons of Japhet, being such as he confesses the Hebrews call Ifles; Mofes might well fay, the Ifles of the Gentiles were parted among them, though Media be comprehended which was not such an Ifle. But there is no need of all this, if we take the word we translate Ifle, for a Region, Country, or Province. And fo it plainly fignifies, Job XXII. 30. Ifai. XX. 6. where, in the Margin, we translate it Country. And then the word Goim, which we render Gentiles, signifies a multitude of People; as it doth often in Scripture : Particularly Gen. XVII. 4, 16. And fo we translate it, Nations, in the last word of this Verse; and in the last Clause of this Chapter; by these were the [Goim] Nations divided in the Earth. Which may ferve to explain this Phrase here; which we may thus interpret, by these, or among these, were divided the Regions of the People or Nations (descended from Faphet) in their Lands; in the feveral Countries which they poffeffed.

Aa

Di-

177

X.

ACOMMENTART

T78 Chapter X.

Divided.] It appears by the following words, (according to his Language, Family, and Nation,) this great Division of the Earth was made orderly; and not by a confused irregular Dispersion, wherein every one went whither he listed, and seated himself where he thought good. This Mr. Mede thinks isalso suggested in the very word we translate divided: Which signifies not a scattered, but a distinct Partition.

Every one after his Tongne, or Language.] The fame is faid, ver. 20. and v.31. of the Posterity of Cham and Shem. Which fignifies they did not all speak the fame Language, but doth not prove that every one of the fore-mentioned People, had a Language peculiar to themselves, distinct from the rest, and not understood by them. As when Abasuerus is faid to have caused Letters to be written to an hundred twenty seven Provinces, according to their Language and their Writing, (Esth. XIII.9.) it doth not prove there were so many several forts of Writing, and so many several Languages in his Empire : But only that to each of them was directed a Letter, in that Language which they spake:

After their Families, in their Nations.] The Particle in denotes, as Mr. Mede observes, Families to be subordinate to Nations; as parts to a whole. Families are parts of a Nation, and a Nation is an Offspring containing many Families. So here was a twofold order in this Division: First, They were ranged according to their Nations; and then every Nation was ranked by his Families: So that every Nation had his Lot by himfelf; and in every Nation, the Families belonging to it, had their Portion by themfelves. The number of Nations descended from Japhet phet were feven, according to the number of his Sons, Chapter who were all Founders of feveral Nations. But the X. number of Families is not here entirely fet down: For Mofes names only the Families of Gomer and Javan. Whofe Children perhaps are rather to be lookt upon as Founders of Nations; and therefore mentioned by Mofes, when the Pofterity of the reft are omitted.

179

Ver. 6. And the Sons of Ham.] Having given an Verfe 6 account of the Sons and Grand-Sons of Japhet, the eldeft Son of Noah, he next proceeds to the Sons of Ham, the fecond Son of Noah, which were Four : And gives an account also of every one of their Sons, and of some of their Grand-Sons.

Cull.] Gave name to a Country very often mention'd in Scripture; which most of the Ancients take for Æthiopia, and fo we commonly translate the word Cufb. But, if by AEthiopia they meant that Country South of Egypt, and not an Eastern Country, (which may be a question,) Jonathan is rather to be followed, who here Paraphrafes it Arabia. For Cufb is the fame with Chusan, (only this latter is a diminutive,) which is made the fame with Midian, Habak. III. 7. And fo Mofes his Wife is called a Cushite, (we read it Æthiopian,) for she was a Midianite, Exod. II. 16, 21. and therefore was of Arabia, not of Æthiopia : And fo we should tranflate it, (Numb. XII. 2.) an Arabian Woman. And there is a Demonstration of it in Ezek. XXIX. 10. that Cufb cannot be Æthiopia; for, when God faith he will make Egypt defolate, from the Tower of Syene, to the Border of Cufb, if we should understand by Cufb the Country of Athiopia, it will be as if he had faid, from Æthiopia to Æthiopia. For every one Aa 2 knows knows Syene was the Border of Egypt towards Althio-Chapter pia : And therefore here being two opposite Borders, it is manifest that Cufb, which is the opposite term to ~~ Syene, cannot be Æthiopia, but Arabia : Which bounded that part of Egypt, which is most remote from Æthiopia. A great number of other Arguments. out of the Scriptures, evince this: Which Bochartus hath collected, L. IV. Phaleg. c. 2. and Philip. Beroaidus afferted the fame thing, before him.

A COMMENTARY

Mizraim.] The Father of them who inhabited Egypt, whose Metropolis [Alcairo] the Arabians at this Day call Mefer; and the first Month among the ancient Egyptians was called Mefori : And Cedrenus calls the Country it felf Mestra, as Grotius observes in his Annot. in L. I. De V. R. C. and Lud. Cappellus in his Chron. Sacra p. 109. And this word Mizraim being of the Dual. Number, (which flows it to be the Name of the Country rather than of a Person.) denotes two Egypts, as Bochart observes. For so there were, the higher and the lower. All that Country was called the higher, where Nile runs in one Stream : The lower was that, where it is divided into many : Which the Greeks call Delta, from its triangular form.

Phut.] All Africa was divided between Mizraim and Phut, as Bochartus observes. For all Egypt, and feveral other parts of Africa, as far as the Lake Tritonides, (which divides Africa into two almost equal parts) fell to Mizraim. The reft, beyond that Lake, to the Atlantick Ocean, was the Portion of Phut. Of which Name there are fome footfteps, in the City Putea, which Ptolemy, L.III. c. I. calls D'strys. And the River called Phut, mentioned by Pliny, as Grotius notes; and a Country, which St. Hierom in his time fays.

180

X.

fays was called Regio Phutenfis : Which lies not far Chapter from Fez. Another name of Africa is Lub, which we X. often meet withal in Scripture: Whence the Name of Lybia. Concerning which, and a great many other Proofs that Phut was planted in Africa, fee the famous Bochartus, L. IV. Phaleg. c. 33.

Canaan.] The youngest Son of Ham, every one knows, gave Name to that Country, which God gave afterwards to the Ifraelites. Which the Phanicians, who descended from the Canaanites, called Xva, by a contraction of the word Canaan, as many have observed out of Eusebius, L. I. Prapar. c. 10. who quotes Sanchuniathon and Philo Byblius for it. It is fo certain that the Phænicians had their Original from the Canaanites, that the LXX uses their Names promiscuoufly. For example, Shaul is called, Gen. XLVI. 10. the Son of a Canaaniti/b Woman: Whom in Exod. VI. 15. they call the Son of a Phænician Woman. And so in the New Testament, the Woman whom St. Matthew calls a Woman of Canaan, XV. 22. St. Mark calls a Syrophænician; VII. 26. We never indeed find the Phænicians called Canaanites by the Greeks : For their Posterity being ashamed (as we may suppose) of that Name, because of the Curse pronounced upon Canaan, chose to be called rather Syrians, or Affyrians, or Sidonians, or Phænicians. For Syria, which was a common Name to a great many People round about, was at first proper to them; from the Metropolis of Phanicia, which was Tyre, in Hebrew Sor or Sur; from whence Surim, and thence the Greek Ziegs. They that would fee more of this, may read the fore-named Author, L. IV. Phaleg. s. 24-

Ver.

A COMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 7. In this Verle Moses acquaints us, what Peo-X. ple descended from the eldest Son of Ham, viz. Cush, who had five Sons: And the fourth of them Verle 7. had two.

182

Seba.] There were four Nations, that had the Name of Seba or Shebah, as Bochart observes, L. II. c. 25. Three of them are mentioned here in this Chapter. The first of them, this Son of Cush is written with Samech; all the reft with Schin: viz. The Grand-fon of Culb, who was the Son of Raamab or Rhegma, in the end of this Verse. The third was the Son of Jocktan, the Son of Shem, verfe 28. And the fourth was a Grand-Child of Abraham, by his Son Jockshan XXV. 2. They that descended from the three first of thefe, were a People given to Trade; from the fourth came a People addicted to Robbery. The first, the second, and the fourth, were seated near the Persian Sea; the third near the Arabian. Whence Pliny faith the Sabaans ftretched themselves to both Seas, L.V. c. 28. For all these four People, were comprehended under the Name of Sabeans, though very different one from another. But it may be doubted whether the Sabaans, who descended from Jockshan the Grand-Child of Abraham, did live near the Persian Sea. And I shall show upon XXV. 2. that Bochart himself thought otherwife, upon further Consideration.

And as for this Seba, he was the Father of a People in Arabia called Jemamites, as Aleannis an Arabian Writer tells us. Whofe words are, A certain Man called Saba gathered together the Tribes of the Jemanites: i. e. He was the Founder of the People called by that Name, from a famous Queen of that Country called Jemama. See Bochartus, L.IV. c. 8. where where he flows where they were fituated : And that Chapter they are the Sabeans who are faid by Agatharcides to X. have been a very tall proper People, mentioned IJai.

Havilah.] Or, Chavilah. There were two Havilabs also: One the Son of Cufb here mentioned ; another the Son of Jocktan, verse 29. From this Havilab feem to have come the People called Chaulothai, by Eratofthenes: Who were feated in Arabia Falix, (as Strabo tells us,) between the Nabatai and the Agrai, i. e. the Hagerens: By Pliny they are called Chavelæi, (which comes nearest to the Hebrew Name,) who were feated in that part of the Country, which lay towards Babylon. As appears by this; that in the Scripture the Wilderness of Shar (nigh Egypt) and Havilab are opposed, as the most remote opposite Bounds of Arabia. Thus the Isomaelites are said to have dwelt from Havilah to Shur, Gen. XXV. 18. that is before Egypt, & Regione Ægypti, over-againft Egypt, as Bochart translates it. That is, Havilah bounded them on the North-East; and Shur on the South-West: Which Shur was near to Egypt. And fo Saul is faid to have smitten the Amalekites from Havilab to Shur, &c. 1 Sam. XV. 7. where we translate the last words, over against Egypt.

Sabta.] Or Sabtha, (whom the Ancients call Sabatha, or Sabathes,] feems to have been fettled in that part of Arabia Fælix called Leanitis, upon the Perfian Sea. Where there was a City, not far diftant from the Sea, called by Ptolemy ZaqSa. From whence they fent Colonies over the Sea into Perfia, as Bochart fhows by feveral Arguments, L.IV. c. 10. For there is an Ifland on that Coaft called Sophtha, and a People called Meffabatæ or Maffabathæ upon the Com-

182

Chapter Confines of Media : From the Chaldean word Mefa, X. (which fignifies middle) and Sabatha; as if one would fay, the Mediterranean Sabta.

184

Raamah.] Or, as the Ancients pronounce his Name, Rhegma, was fituated in the fame Arabia, upon the Perfian Sea. Where there is a City mentioned by Ptolemy's Tables Rhegama; in the Greek Text expressly Péγma, Rhegma. And fo Stephanus mentions both Pñyma πέλης and κόλπ & Pñyma, about the Perfian Gulph.

Sabtecha.] Or Sabtheca, as fome read it, was the youngest Son of Cufb; except Nimrod, who is mentioned by himself. It is hard to find the place of his Habitation : But the reft of the Sons of Cufb being feated about the Persian Sea, (except Nimrod, who, as Moses tells us, went to Babylon) Bochartus thinks it reasonable to seek for him in that part of Caramania, where there was a City called Samydace. and a River Samydachus : Which, he thinks may have come from Sabetecha, by the change of the Letter B into M: Which was very frequent in Arabia, and the Neighbouring Countries. For Merodach, is also called Berodach, in the Book of Kings. And in the Chaldee Paraphrase, Basan is called Bathnan and Mathnan: And Abana (the famous River of Damafcus) is expounded Amana : And Meccha and Beccha, are the fame City among the Arabians. In like manner Sabtecha or Sabithace, might be changed into Samydaee. Now into Caramania there was a short cut over the Streights of the Persian Gulph, out of Arabia. I fee nothing any where more probable than this Conjecture of that very Learned Man. L. IV. Phaleg. c. 4.

And

And the Sons of Ramah ; Sheba and Dedan.] He Chapter gives an Account of none of Cufb's other Sons po- X. fterity, but only of this : Whofe two Sons were feated U near him, and one other. For the younger of them, Dedan, seems to have left his Name in a City now called Dadan, hard by Rhegma, upon the fame Shore, Eastward. And from this Dadan the Country now hath its Name: Of which Ezekiel speaks, XXVII. 15. as Bochart flews plainly, L. IV. c. 6. And Sheba (or as others read it, Seba, or Saba) his elder Brother, was feated in the fame Country, not far from Dedan, where Pomponius mentions a People called Sabai; and Arrianus speaks of a great Mountain not far off, called Sabo, from this Saba : Whofe Posterity easily passing over the Straits before-mentioned, into Caramania, might poffibly give Name to a City there, which Ptolemy calls Sabis : And Pliny mentions a River of the fame Name: And Dionys. Periegetes speaks of a People called Sabæ. Of whom the Scripture feems to speak in those places where Sheba and Seba are joyned together, LXXII. 10. The Kings of Sheba (i.e. of this Country) and Seba (hall offer Gifts. And sometimes Sheba and Raamah (or Rhegma) are joyned, Ezck. XXVII. 22. where the Prophet speaks of this Sheba the Son of Rhegma; who brought those precious Commodities there mentioned, out of Arabia: They lying very commodioufly for Traffick upon the Perfan Gulph. And these are the People also mentioned, verse 23. of that Chapter, with fundry other Nations; who lived upon Tigris and Euphrates, which run into the Persian Sea; and therefore it is reafonable to think that Sheba's Posterity lived near the fame Sea.

185

Bb

Ver.

A COMMENTART

186

Chapter

X.

Verse 8.

Ver. 8. And Cufb begat Nimrod.] Befides all the fore-mentioned, he allo begat this Son; whom Mofes diftinguishes from the reft, and mentions him alone by himfelf, because he was the most eminent among his Brethren, though born the last; a mighty Commander, as Moses here describes him. Thus in the Title of Pfal. XVIII. it is faid David was delivered out of the hand of all his Enemies, and out of the hand of Saul: Who is particularly mentioned by himfelf, because he was his Chief Enemy. Sir W. Raleigh thinks he was begotten by Cufb, when his other Children were become Fathers; and so being younger than his Grandsons, he is named after an account is given of every one of them.

Nimrod] The Author of the Chronicon Alexandr. thinks he was the fame with Ninus : But Vossius rather takes him for him, whom the Greek Writers call Belus, that is, Lord: And that Ninus was his Son, fo called from the very thing it felf, Nin in Hebrew fignifying a Son. L.I. de Idolol. cap. 24. The fame Chronicon faith, that Nimrod taught the Affyrians to worthip the Fire : And both Elmacinus and Patricides affirm the fame. See Hotting. Smegma Orient. L. I. c.8. p 272. Which if it be true, I doubt not was as an Emblem of the Divine Majefty; which used to appear in a glorious Flame. Ur a City of Chaldea feems to have had its name from the Fire which was there worfhipped : And that Ur also from whence Abraham came, the Hebrews fansie had the fame original; for their Fable is, That Abraham was thrown into the Fire, because he would not Worfhip it; and by the power of God delivered, as St. Hieram tells us in his Questions upon Genesis.

upon GENESIS.

He began to be a mighty one in the Earth.] He was Chapter the first great Warrior and Conqueror; so Gibbor X. is to be understood, not for a Giant, or Man of great Stature; but for a potent Person: And as some will have it, a more fevere Governour than they had been, who only exercised Paternal Authority. For he was the first that put down the Government of Elderschip, or Paternity (as Sir W. Raleigh speaks) and laid the Foundation of Soveraign Rule.

Ver. 9. He was a mighty Hunter.] Or rather, Verle a. mighty in Hunting : For the word tzid doth not fignifie a Hunter, but Hunting. Which shows by what means he came to be fo great a Monarch. He hardned himself to Labour by this Exercise (which was very toilfom) and drew together a great Company of robust Young Men, to attend him in this sport : Who were hereby also fitted to pursue Men, as they had done wild Beasts. For this was lookt upon in all Ages, as the rudiment of Warfare, (as Bochart shews out of a great many Authors, L. IV. cap. 12.) All the Heroes of old, fuch as Neftor, Thefeus, Castor, Pollux, Ulysfes, Diomedes, Achilles, Æneas, &c. being all bred up to hunting, as Xenophon informs us. And it was not without some such reafon, that noble Families carry in their Coat of Arms (as Enligns of their valorous Atchievements) Lyons, Bears, Tygers, &c. from their killing fuch like fierce Creatures. For it must be farther noted, that in this Age of Nimrod, the Exercise of Hunting might well be the more highly effeemed, and win him the Hearts of Mankind; because he delivered them, by this means, from those wild Beasts, whereby they were much infelted, and very dangeroufly exposed, while they were but few, and lived fcattered up Bb 2 and 188 Chapter X.

187

A COMMENTARY

n

and down, in the open Air, or in Tents, but weakly defended. The destroying of wild Beasts, (and perhaps of Thieves whom he hunted alfo) was a great Service in those times, and made many joyn with him in greater Defigns which he had at last; to subdue Men, and make himself Master of the People, who were his Neighbours, in Babylon, Susiana, and Affyria. The memory of this Hunting of his, was preferved by the Affyrians (who made Nimrod the fame with Orion) who joyned the Dog and the Hare (the first Creature perhaps that was hunted) with his Constellation. This Mr. Selden observes in his Titles of Honour, Part. I. cap. 1. where he farther notes that he is to this day called by the Arabians, Algebar, the mighty Man, or the Giant : From the Hebrew Gibbor here in the Text.

Before the LORD.] i. e. To the higheft degree. For fo, a great City to God, is a very great City, Jonah III. 3. and a Child very beautiful is called 25 eG. ΘeG fair to, or before God, Acts VII. 20. Or the meaning may be, he was truly fo, not only in common Opinion. For that is faid to be before God, which really is: Becaufe God cannot be deceived with falfe Appearances.

Wherefore it is faid, even as Nimrod the Mighty, &c.] i. e. Thence came the common Proverb: Which Mofes alledges as a proof of the Truth of what he delivered. Nothing being more ufual in his days, than for Men to fay when they would express how exceeding great any Man was, He is like Nimrod, the mighty Hunter before the LOR D. Thus common Sayings are quoted in other places, nothing being more notorious than fuch Proverbial Speeches, Numb. XXI. 27. I Sam. X. 12. It is not improbable that Nimrod is the fame Chapter with him whom the Greeks calls Bacchus; whole X. Conquests in the East, as far as India, are nothing else but the Expeditions of Nimrod and his Succeffors. The very Name of Bacchus imports this, which was made out of Bar-Ghus the Son of Cush, as Dammasek, (i. e. Damascus,) was out of Darmasek. Many other Arguments for this, are collected by Bochartus. L. I. Phaleg. cap. 2.

Ver. 10. The beginning of his Kingdom was Babel. Verle 10. (See XI. 5, 8.) Which, according to the Gentile Writers, was built by Belus, (the fame with Nimrod, who was called Belus, as I noted before, from Baal, because of his Dominion and large Empire, over which he was an absolute Lord.) They that fay, his Son Ninus (or, as Philo-Byblius, his Son Babylon) was the Builder, may be thus reconciled with the fore-mention'd Opinion; That Belus began it, and his Son much augmented it. See Voff. L. I. de Idol. cap. 24. & L. VII. c. 9. There are those that fay it was built by Semiramis, but as they have it only from Ctefias, who is not to be relied on against Berofus and Abydenus, who wrote the History of that Country out of the ancient Records, and fay Belus built it; fo if it be true, we must understand it of her rebuilding it, after it was decayed, or adding greater Splendor to it. And this also must be understood not of the Wife of Ninus; for it is a question whether he had any Wife of that Name: Or, if he had, the was different from her whom the Greeks to much magnifie, who lived almost Two thousand Years after the Son of Belus, as Salmasias observes (Exercit. in Solin. p. 1228.) out of Philo-Byblins.

189

A COMMENTART

196 Chapter X.

And Erec, &c.] Having built Babel, which he made the chief City of his Kingdom, he proceeded to build three Cities more, in the fame Country. Which, they that think he won by Conquest, imagine also that he made Babel the Head City, because he won it first; and then the other. And all this, fay some before the dispersion we read of in the next Chapter : which others think hapned after the dispersion. Erec feems to have been the City, which Ptolemy calls Arecca, and Ammianus Arecha: Which lay in the Country of Susiana upon the River Tigris. Whence the Areccai Campi in Tibullus, as Salmafius observes in his Exercit. in Solinum, p. 1194. From whence Huetius thinks the Country below it was called Iraque; mentioned by Alferganus, and other Arabian Writers.

Acchad.] It is an hard matter to give any account of this City; but the LXX. calling it Archad, from the Chaldee Idiom, which is wont to change the Daghes, which doubles a Letter, into R, (as Darmafek for Dammafek, i. e. Damafcus; and by the fame reason, Archad for Acchad,) the footsteps of this Name may be thought to remain in Argad, a River of Sittacene in Persia. For nothing is more common, than to change ch into g.

Chalne.] It is fometimes called Chalno, Ifai. X. 9. and Channe, Ezek. XXVII. 23. From whence the Country called Chalonitis, (mentioned by Pliny, and Strabo, Polybins, and Dionyf. Periegetes,) may well be thought to have taken its Name: Whofe chief City was called Chalne, or Chalone, (which is the fame,) and afterwards changed by Pacorus, King of Perfia, into Ctefiphon.

Ver.

Ver. 11. Out of that I and went forth Afbur.] This Chapter Tranflation is not fo likely, as that in the Margin, X. He went out into Affyria. For Mofes is speaking of what Nimrod the Son of Cush did, and not of the Verle 11. Sons of Shem, among whom Albur was one. Nor is it agreeable to the order of Hiftory to tell us here what Albur did, before there be any mention of his Birth, which follows, verse 22. Belides, it was not peculiar to Afbur, the Son of Shem, that he went out of the Land of Shinar: For fo did almost all Men who were disperfed from thence. Add to this, that Allyria is called the Land of Nimrod by Micah, V.6. They hall waste the Land of Asyria with the Sword, and the Land of Nimrod with their Lances; or, in the entrance thereof, as we translate it. Therefore it is very reasonable to take Aston here, not for the Name of a Man, but of a Place, as it is frequently: And expound the word Albur, as if it were Lea-Bur into Albur; as beth in 2 Sam. VI. 10. is put for lebeth; other Examples there are of this; 2 Sam. X. 2. 1 Chron. XIX. 2. By going forth into Afhur, Bochart thinks is meant Nimrod's making War there : For fo the Hebrew Phrase, go forth, imports in 2 Sam. XI. I. Pfalm LX. 12. Ifai. XLII. Zach. XIV. 2. So Nimrod went forth into Affyria, which belong'd to the Children of Shem : But was usurped, he thinks, by this Son of Culb; who had no right to it, but what he got by his Sword. If this be true, Mr. Mede's Observation which I mentioned upon verse 27. of the foregoing Chapter, [That the Posterity of Cham never subdued either those of Japhet, or Shem, must be understood of such large Conquests as they two made over one another, and over him.

And

A COMMENTARY

And builded Nineveh.] Which Nimrod fo called Chapter, from his Son Ninus: The very word Niniveth being X. as much as Ninus his habitation, בין נוד. Thus Cain \sim built a City, and called it, not by his own, but his Son's Name, IV. 17. This was the chief City of Affyria, and flourished in great Glory till it was utterly razed by the Medes, and never again re-built. It ftood on the East-side of Tygris.

Rehoboth.] There was a City of this Name upon Euphrates, which was famous for the Birth of Saul, one of the Kings of Edom, Gen. XXXVI. 37. which the Arabians call Rahabath-Melic, i. e. Rahabath of the Kings, a little below Cercusium, at the Mouth of the River Chaboras. But this being too far distant from Niniveb, (to which this and the two following Cities were Neighbours) Bochart's Conjecture is not unreasonable, That this is the City which Ptolemy calls Birtha, on the West of Tigris, at the Mouth of the River Lycus. For in the Chaldee Tongue Streets are called Birtha; and that is the fignification of Rehoboth, as the Margin of our Bible will inform the Reader.

Calab, or Calach.] Seems to have been the chief City of the Country called Calachene ; about the Fountain of the River Lycus : Which Strabo often mentions.

192

Verse 12. Ver. 12. And Resen, &c.] The fore-named great Man conjectures this to have been the City, which Xenophon calls Lariffa, fituate upon the Tigris : Which Moses might well call a great City. For so Xenophon fays it was, and defcribes the heighth of the Walls to have been an hundred Foot, the breadth five and twenty, and the compass of it eight Miles about. The Greeks found it in Ruins, and uninhabited, when they they came into those parts; being destroyed by the Chapter Persians, when they spoiled the Medes of their Em-Χ. pire. And it is possible, as Bochart goes on, the Greeks asking whole City that was, and the Affyrians answering Leresen, i. e. Resen's, (adding, as is usual, le, the Note of the Genitive Cafe) they might thence call it Lariffa. Such a Mistake, he shows, there is in the Vulgar Translation of the Bible; which takes this Particle le for part of the Name. For, in 1 Chron. V. 26. where it is faid the King of Affyria, carried the Ifraelites to Halah, the Vulgar fays unto Labelah. Whereas it is certain from 2 Kings XVII. 6. that it should be unto Halah, or Helah. However it is reafonable to think, that these words, this is a great City, belongs to Refen, not to Nineveh : Whole greatnefs as well as Babylon's was very well known; and therefore these words seem to be added, to denote Refen to be a great deal bigger than the two beforenamed, Rehoboth and Calab. See Bochart, L. IV. c. 23.

They that think Nimrod fettled his Kingdom in Babel before the Difpersion, by confusion of their Languages, imagine that he made this Expedition into Affyria, (where he built Niniveh, and the rest of the Cities here mentioned) after they were forced to leave off their vain-glorious Building at Babel, and to disperse themselves into other Countries.

Ver. 13. And Mizraim (the fecond Son of Cham) Verle 13. begat Ludim.] By whom we are to understand the Æthiopians, as Bochart hath proved by many Arguments, (which I shall not mention) and therefore understands by these words, that the Æthiopians mere a Colony of the Egyptians, L. IV. Phaleg, c. 26. For it appears by Diodorus that they were near of kin; having many things common to both Nations; which C c he

ACOMMENTART

194 Χ.

Chapter he reckons up, and are sufficient to persuade those who confider them, that they have the fame Original : The only difference among them, being this; which of them was of greatest Antiquity. The Egyptians fansied they were the first of all Men ; and the Athiopians pretended that they living more Southerly, had a stronger Sun; which contributed more efficacioufly to natural Generation : And that Egypt was a Country thrown up by the Mudd which Nilus left, and so got out of the Sea. But Moses hath determined this Controversie in these words, and by the reft of his Hiftory. Which flows that the first Men after the Flood, came from the Mountains of Armenia, which is in the North; and confequently they went to the Southerly Countries by degrees, through Allyria, Babylon, Syria, and Egypt into Æthiopia. And their discourse is ridiculous about the Original of Egypt, unto which we fee nothing added by the Nile, in many Ages, Anamim.] Our Broughton takes these to be the Numidians, among whom he finds Anubis. Others take them for the Anaita in Æthiopia. But these Anamims being derived from Mizraim, we are rather to. feek them about Egypt : And the Opinion of Bochartus is probable, that they are the Nomades, who lived about Ammon and Nasamonitis; and called Anamii: from Anam, which fignifies a Sheep among the ancient Egyptians, as it doth among the Arabians. For the Nomades fed Sheep, as Herodotus tells us, and lived upon them, (whereas they abstained from eating Coms or Swine,) and their Garments alfo, as he tells us, were of Sheep-Skins.

Leha-

Lebabim.] Thefe are thought to be the Lybians; Chapter but that being a Name which belongs to the greateft X. part of Africa, it cannot be well thought that to great a Portion fell to this Son of Mizraim, or that to many People were descended from him. Therefore Bochart with great reason thinks the Lebabai were not all the Lybians; but those whom Ptolemy, Pliny, and others call Lybiagyptii: Because they lived next to Egypt on the West of Thebais, in a fandy, adust Soil, burnt by excessive heat; from whence he thinks they had the Name of Lebabim. For Lebaba fignifies both a Flame and Heat. As in Joel I. 19. The flame (lebaba in the Hebrew) or scorching heat, bath burnt all the trees of the field.

Naphtuhim.] These feem to be the People of Nephthuah; and what that is, we may learn from Plutarch: Who in his Book. De Iside & Osiride, fays, the Egyptians call the Country and the Mountains that lie upon the Sea, Nephthun, which may incline us to think that the Naphtuhim were those People that lived upon the star of the Mediterranean in Marmarica: For the People upon the Red-Sea belonged to Arabia, not to Egypt. It is not improbable that from hence came the Name of Neptune, who originally was a Lybian God; and known to none but that People.

There was a City called Nepata by Pliny, which Grotius thinks may explain this Name: But it was in Æthiopia; and Moses is speaking of the Sons of Mizraim.

Ver. 14. And Pathrusim.] Who were the Inhabi-Verle 14. tants, it is likely, of Patros: Which was a part of Egypt; though represented fometime in Scripture as a Country distinct from it: Just as Thebais is in some C c 2 Au196 Chapter X.

Authors faid to be, whereas it was the upper Egypt. Bochart hath brought a great many Arguments to prove this: Particularly from Ezekiel XXIX. 14. which fhows clearly that Pathros belongs to Egypt: For the Prophet foretelling that God would bring again the Captivity of Egypt, he faith he would caufe them to return into the Land of Pathros, into the Land of their Habitation, or Nativity: That is, into Thebais, which Nebuchadnezzar had principally afflicted carrying most of the Inhabitants of Thebes into Cap, tivity. This feems a more probable Account of the Pathrusim, than theirs who take them to be the Pharusi, (as Grotins doth) or Phautusii ; who were a People of Æthiopia.

Caslubim, or Casluchim.] These were the Colchi, who though they lived far from Egypt, from whence they are said here to descend, yet there are a great many Arguments, that they had their Original from that Country. For several ancient Authors say so, as Herodotus, Diadorus, Strabo, and Ammianus: All of great Credit. And there are many Reasons whereby Herodotus proves it, (as Bochart shows in his admirable Work, often mentioned, L. IV. Phaleg, c. 31.) they agreeing in so many things, especially in their Manners and Language, that one can scarce have any doubt of it. These People were seated at the East-end of the Euxine Sea.

Out of whom came Philistim.] They were the Offfpring of the People of Colchis, as will appear in what follows.

And Caphtorim.] These were a People near to Colchis, as appears from hence; that the Philistim, who are faid here to come from Cashuchim, in other places are said to have come from Caphtor, Jer. XLVII. XLVII. 4. Amos IX. 7. And Moles himself relates Chapter how the Avims nigh to Gaza (a famous City of the X. Philistim) were driven out by the Caphtorim, Deut. II. 23. All the Ancients therefore are in the right, who take the Caphtorim, for the Cappadocians : Yet, not all the Inhabitants of that Country, (part of which was poffeffed by other People, as was faid before) but that part of Cappadocia which was next to Colchis, viz. About Trapezund, where Colchis ended. For there we find the City called Side, and the Country Sidene, mentioned by Strabo. Now Side in Greek (as Bochart ingenioufly observes) fignifies the fame with Caphtor in Hebrew, viz. Malum punicum: And therefore in all likelihood, the fame Country was called by the Hebrews Caphtor, and by the Greeks Sidene.

What invited the Caphtorim out of Egypt into this Country, is hard to tell at this diftance of time. But Strabo thinks it was the Fame of the Gold, wherewith the Country abounded. And as this drew them thither, fo perhaps the Coldness of the Country very much different from that wherein they were born; or elfe their Neighbours the Scythians; and Mesech and Tubal, (viz. the Moschi and Tibareni) who dwelt near them, and might be troublessome to them, made them think of returning back again: And in their way through Palestine they fell upon the Avim, whom they dispossed of their Country, and settled there, (Dent. II. 23.) by the Name of Philistim.

Ver. 15. And Canaan.] Now follows an account Verle 15of the Posterity of Ham's youngest Son.

Sidon.] Was his First-born: Who was the Foun der of the famous. City called by his Name, Sidon: Which Which Trogus faith was to called from plenty of Fifb on that Coast. And so the present Name of it, Said, fignifies Fishing or Fishery : As the Town in Galilee called Bethfaida, is as much as the place of Fishing: For that Sea upon which it lies, the Hebrems fay, abounded with Fish. However the Sidonians came from this Son of Canaan; and some of them. (if he did not found it himfelf,) called the City by this Name, in memory of him. It was far more ancient and famous than Tyre : For we read of it in the Books of Moles and Johna, and the Judges : But nothing of Tyre till the Days of David. Nor doth Homer mention Tyre; though he speaks of Sidon, and the Sidonians in many places.

Heth.] His fecond Son, was the Father of the Hittites, or the Children of Heth, often mentioned in Scripture : Who dwelt about Hebron and Beersheba, in the South of the Land of Canaan. They were a very Warlike People, and ftruck a Terror into their Neighbours : From whence the word Hittha, feems to be derived, which fignifies fright and sudden Consternation; fuch as came upon the Syrians, when they thought the Kings of the Hittites were coming against them, 2 Kings VII. 6. This was the Country of the Anakims : For from Arba, who was an Hittite, defcended Anak; and from him those three Giants, Ahi. man, Shefhai, and Talmai, and the reft of the Anakims, Numb. XIII. 22, 33. Jofh. XV. 13, 14.

198

Chapter

Χ.

Verse 16. Ver. 16. The Jebusite.] This People, who were situated near to the former, descended from Jebus the third Son of Canaan: And were a very Warlike People alfo; for they kept Jerusalem and the Fortress of Zion, to the times of David; notwithstanding all the Power of the Benjamites. And when David David befieged it, they mock'd at his Attempt, 2 Sam. Chapter V. 8. X.

And the Emorite.] They came from Emor, the G fourth Son of Canaan, and are commonly called Amorites : Who possible the Mountainous Parts of Judza; and many of them passed over Jordan, and making War upon the Moabites and Ammonites, seized upon Bashan and Heshbon, and all the Country between the Rivers of Jabbok and Arnon, Numb. XIII. 29. Josh. V. I. In memory of which Victory some Canaanite Poet made a Triumphing Song, which Moses hath recorded, Numb. XXI. 27. What a mighty People these were we learn from Amos II. 9.

Gergasite.] There was a Remnant of this People about Gerasa or Gadara beyond Jordan in our Saviour's time, Matth. VIII. 28. Mark V. I. Luke VIII. 26. And they were called, perhaps, by this Name from the fat, clayie Soil of the Country where they lived; for garges in Hebrew is white Clay.

Ver. 17. And the Hivite, or Hevite.] They lived Verse 17: in and about Mount Hermon, as we read Josh. XI. 3. which being toward the East of the Land of Canaan, they are call'd Kadmonites, i. e. Orientals, or Easterlings, Gen. XV. 19. The Gibeonites and Sichemites were Colonies for them, (Josh. XI. 19. Gen. XXXIV. 2.) who dwelt more Westward: The former of them, Neighbours to Jerusalem; and the latter to Samaria.

Arkite.] This People, Bochart thinks, inhabited Mount Libanus, where Ptolemy and Josephus mention a City called Arca or Arce: In which, he thinks, was the Temple Veneris Architidis, worshipped by the Phanicians, as Macrobius tells us, L. I. Saturn. c. 27.

A COMMENTARY

Chapter c. 27. Pliny also mentions Arca among the Cities of X. the Decapolitan Syria, and faith it was one of those which had a Royal Jurisdiction, under the Name of a Tetrarchy, as Salmasius observes in his Exerc. in Solin. p. 576.

200

Sinite.] St. Hierom faith, that not far from Arca there was a City called Sin; where we may suppose these People to have dwelt. But Bochart rather by the Sinites understands the Peleusiots, whose City was called Sin; which is of the very same signification with Pelusium.

Verse 18. Ver. 18. And the Arvadite.] These People are the fame with the Aradii, who posses the Island called Aradus upon the Coast of Phanicia, and part of the Neighbouring Continent: Where a place called Antaradus, opposite to the Island, was seated. Strabo and others speak of this Island, and mention another of the same Name in the Persian Gulph, (as Salmasius observes upon Solinus, p. 1023.) whose Inhabitants, said, they were a Colony from this Island I now speak of, and had the same Religious Rites with these Aradians. Who were very skilful in Navigation, and therefore joyned by Ezekiel with Zidon, XXVII. 8. where he makes them also a Warlike People, verse 11.

Zemarite.] They who make these the same with the Samaritans; do not observe that these Names are written quite differently in the Hebrew. And that the Samaritans so much spoken of in Scripture, had their Name from Somron. And therefore Bochart thinks these are the Samaritans mentioned by St. Hierom, who says, they inhabited the Noble City of Edessa in Cælosgria (it should be the City of Emesa or Emisa, which was in that Country, but Edessa in MesoMesopotamia, beyond Euphrates) and so both the Chapter Chaldee Paraphrases have here for Zemarite, Emisai. X. But I do not see why we should not rather think this Son of Canaan (Zemarus) from whom the Zemarites came, was the Founder of the City of Zemaraim, (Josh. XVIII. 22.) which fell to the Lot of the Tribe of Benjamin.

Hamathite.] Thefe were the Posterity of the last Son of Canaan: From whom the City and Country of Hamath took its Name. Of which Name there were Two; one called by the Greeks Antiocha, the other Epiphania: The former called the Great, Amos VI. 2. to diftinguish it from this, which St. Hierom fays in his time was called Epiphania, and by the Arabians (in the Nubian Geographer) Hama. This is the City which is meant when we so often read that the bounds of Judea were to the Entrance of Hamath, Northward, Numb. XIII. 21. XXXIV. 8. and other places. For it is certain they did not reach to Antiochia, but came near to Epiphania.

Afterwards were the Families of the Canaanites spread abroad.] In process of time they enlarged their bounds: For they posseled all the Country, which lies from Idumaa and Palastine, to the Mouth of Orontes: Which they held for Seven hundred Years, or thereabout. Moses indeed confines the Land of Canaan in narrower bounds toward the North, (as hath been faid) but we must confider that he deferibes only that part of Canaan, which God gave to the Israelites for their Portion. Now there being Eleven Nations who had their Original (as appears from this and the foregoing Verses) from fo many Sons of Canaan; we do not find that the First, and the Five last were devoted by God to destruction, Verfe as the reft were. For we read nothing of the Zidonians, Arkites, Sinites, Aradites, Zemarites, and Hamathites, among those Nations upon whom the Sentence of Excision was pronounced by God, and their Country bestowed upon the Ifraelites. But we read of Two others not here mentioned, who made up the Seven Nations, whom God ordered to be cut off, viz. the Perizzites, and those who were peculiarly called Canaanites, who sprang from some of the fore-named XI. Families; but we do not know from which. We shall meet with it in the XV. Chapter of this Book.

Verse 19. Ver. 19. And the border of the Canaanitres, &c.] Here Moses describes the Bounds of that Country, which was given by God to the Jews.

From Sidon.] i. e. The Country of Sidon, which extended it felf from the City, fo called, towards the East, as far as Jordan, or near it. This therefore may be lookt upon as the Northern bounds of the promifed Land.

As thon comeft to Geras unto Gaza, &c.] These and all the rest belonging to the Southern bounds: For these two were Cities near to the Philistims. We often read of Gaza; and Gerar was famous for Abraham's and Isaac's sojourning there (Gen. XX. I. XXVI. 1.) and for the overthrow of the Cushites, 2 Chron. XIV. 13.

Sodom and Gomorrha, &c.] These Four Cities, are famous for their destruction, by Fire and Brimstone. from Heaven.

Even unto Lashah.] Or Lasa, which St. Hierom takes for Callirrhoe, as doth Jonathan also: A place famous for hot Waters, which run into the dead Sea. But Bochartus (L. IV. Phaleg, c. 37.) doubts of Χ.

14

upon GENESIS.

of this, becaufe Callirrhoe was not in the Southern part Chapter of Judea, as Lashab was: He propounds it there- X. fore to confideration, whether it may not be a City of the Arabs called Lusa: Which Ptolemy places in the middle way, between the Dead Sea, and the Red.

Ver. 20. Thefe are the fons of Ham, after their Fa-Verle 20. miles, &c.] This is fufficiently explained by what was faid upon verfe 5. where Muses concludes his account of the Sons of Japhet. Only it may be obferved in general, that thefe Four Sons of Ham and their Children, had all Africa for their Portion (Mizraim having Egypt, and Phut the reft) and no Imall part of Afra which fell to the fhare of Cush and Canaan.

Ver. 21. Unto Shem also, the Father of all the Chil- Verle 21. dren of Eber.] That is, of the Hebrew Nation, whom Moses would have to know from what an illustrious Original they sprung; and therefore breaks off the Thread of his Genealogy, to give a short touch of it. I can give no reason so likely as this, why he calls Shem the Father of Eber's Children, rather than of any other descended from him. He having told them before, that Ham was the Father of Canaan, (IX. 22.) whom God cursed, and at the same time bleffed Shem: He now tells them, that this bleffed Man was the Father from whom their Nation was descended; that they might comfort themselves in their noble Stock, and believe Canaan should be subdued by them.

The Brother of Japhet the Elder.] Scaliger tranflates these words, Sem the Elder Brother of Japhet: But the he which is prefixt to Gadol, i. e. Greater, plainly directs us to refer the word Greater or Elder Dd 2 to

A COMMENTARY.

204 Chapter t X. n

to him who was last spoken of, viz. Japhet. Who may be plainly proved to have been the Eldest Son of Noah, from this observation, That Noah was Five hundred years old, before any of his Three Sons, Sem, Ham, and Faphet were born, V. 22. When he was Six hundred Years old he entred into the Ark with them, VII. II. And when he came out, two Years after the Flood, Shem begat Arphaxad, being then an Hundred Years old, XI. 10. and confequently Noah was Six hundred and two. From whence it follows, that Shem was born when Noah was Five hundred and two Years old: And therefore Faphet must be Two Years older than he ; for Noah began to have Children when he was Five hundred. But God preferred Shem before him; giving hereby an early demonstration (of which there were many instances afterward) that he would not be confined to the order of Nature, in the disposal of his Favours; which he frequently bestowed upon the younger Children: As he did upon Jacob, and in after-times upon David, who was the youngest and meanest of all his Father's Children.

Even unto him were Children born.] Perhaps he was the last of his brethren that married; and then Moses thews in the following Verses, had Five Sons :the Progeny of Two of which are mentioned, but the rest passed over in filence.

Verse 22.

Ver. 22. Elam.] Was his First-born; from whom came the Elamites, mentioned Acts II. 9. whose Metropolis was the famous City of Elymais. They lay between the Medes and Mesopotamians (as Bochartus shows, L. II. Phaleg, c. 2.) and were a very Warlike and Fierce People, as Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Ezekiel testifie. The Susians were a Neighbouring People, but but different from them : And therefore when Da-Chapter niel fays Sufhan was in the Province of Elam, he X. takes Elam in a large fence; as Pliny and Ptolemy alfo do, who mention Elamites at the mouth of the River Eulaus (Ulai in Daniel) which was below Sufiana. See Salmasius Exerc. in Solin. p. 1193, 1194. And thus Josephus may be allowed to fay the Elamites were Π_{egaw} apxny?, the Founders of the Persians, who were a dittinct People from them : Though often comprehended under this Name of Elam.

Afbur.] From whom came the People called at first Affyres, and afterward Affyrians: Which was a Name as large as their Empire, comprehending even Syria it felf; which in feveral Authors is the fame with Affyria. But in proper speaking it was only that Country, whose Head was Niniveh, called sometimes Adiabene, and Aturia or Affyria.

Arphaxad.] Many, following Josephus, make him the Father of the Chaldees. But I find no good reafon for it; and it feems more probable that the Chaldees (in Hebrew, Chafdim) came from Chefed one of Abraham's Brother's Sons, Gen. XXII. 22. which St. Hierom politively affirms. Therefore it is more reafonable to think Arphaxad gave Name to that Country, which Ptolemy calls Arraphachitis: which was a part of Affyria.

Lud.] Seems to have given Name to the Country of Lydia, which lay about Maander; and included in it Mysia and Caria, which lay on the South fide of that River. Which having the most Windings and Turnings in it, of any River in the World (for it returns sometimes towards its Fountain) the Phanicians call this Country, and another, viz. Hthiopia,

ACOMMENTART

Chapter thiopia, that lay upon the Nile (which next to Mæ-X. ander is the most crooked of all Rivers) by the Name of Lud: which in their Language fignified bending, or crooked. See Bochart. L. II. Phaleg. c. 12.

Aram.] From whom sprung the Syrians, whose Name anciently was Aramai; the Children of Aram. A Name not unknown to the ancient Grecians ; for Homer mentions the "Aguno in his fecond Book of Iliads; and fo doth Hefiod; and Strabo alfo faith, that many underftood by the Arimi, the Syrians. And the Syrians at this day call themfelves Aramaans. But Syria being fo large a Name, that ancient Authors extend it to all those Countries that lay between Tyre and Babylon; we must not take all the People of them to have been the Posterity of Aram. For it is evident fome of them defcended from Canaan, others from Afbur, others from Arphaxad. Therefore those are to be thought to have come from him, to whom the Name of Aram is prefixt or subjoyned, as Aram-Naharajim, and Padan-Aram (i. e. the Mesopotamians) Aram-Soba (the People of Palmyra, and the Neighbouring Cities) Aram-Damesek (situated between Libanus and Anti-Libanus, whole chief City was Damafcus) and perhaps Aram-Maacha, and Aram Bethrehob; which were places beyond fordan, one of which fell to the share of Manasseh, the other of After.

Verle 23.

206

Ver. 23. And the Children of Aram, &c.] The Four Perions that follow in this Verfe, are called the Sons of Shem, I Chron. I. 17. Nothing being more ordinary in Scripture, than to call those the Sons of any Person, who were his Grandfons, XXIX. 5, &c. Uz.] Or Utz, the First-born of Aram, is gene-Chapter rally faid to have been the Builder of Damafcus: X. The Valley belonging to which, is by the Arabians at this day called Gaut, and Gauta, which differs from Utz in the Letters, but not in the Pronunciation; it being common to pronounce the Letter Ajin by our G. as in the words Gaza and Gomorrha. Accordingly the Arabick Paraphrast for Utz hath here Alganta. There were two other Uz's besides this, one the Son of Nahor (Abraham's Brother) Gen. XXII. 21. whose Country was Aussian in Arabia Deserta: The other was of the Posterity of Edom, Gen. XXIVI. 28.

207

Hull.] Or Chul. Grotius observes out of Ptolemy that there was a City in Syria called Chollæ, which he thinks might be founded by this second Son of Aram. But Bochart more probably conjectures that his Posterity posses of Armenia. For the Armenians, and Arabians, and Syrians were much alike, as Strabo faith, in their shape of Body, Speech, and Manner of Life. And there are divers Cities, which Ptolemy places in this Country, that begin with Hol or Chol; as Cholus, Choluata, Cholana: And Cholobetene (the Name of the Country) which in their Language is Cholbeth, signifies as much as the House or Seat of Chol.

Gether.] It is hard to give any account of the Country where his Posterity settled, unless they gave the River Getri its Name, which the Greeks call Kevleitn; which runs between the Carduchi, and the Armenians, as Xenophon tells us. This is Bochart's Conjecture, which is a little nearer than that of Grotius, (Annot. in L. I. de V. R. C.) who explains this this by the City Gindarus, in Ptolemy, and the Peo-Chapter ple called by Pliny, Gindareni, in Calo Syria. But Χ. after all, it may feem as probable that Gadara, the n chief City of Peræa, which Ptolemy places in the Decapolis of Celo Syria, had its Name and Original from this Gether.

ACOMMENTARY

> Math. 7 Who is called Melech, in I Chron. I. 17. feated himfelf, as Bochart thinks, in Melopotamia. about the Mountain Masins, (which is Grotins's conjecture also) from whence there flowed a River which Kenophon calls Masca. The Inhabitants of which Mountain Stephanus calls Masiani; and perhaps the Moscheni, whom Pliny speaks of, between Adiabene and Armenia the greater, were descended from this Mass or Mesech.

Verfe 24. Ver. 24. And Arphaxad begat Salah.] Having given an account of the Posterity of Shem's youngest Son; he now tells us what People descended from his third Son.

Salah.] In Hebrew Shelah. His Father being born but two Years after the Flood, (XI. 10.) feenis to have given this Name to his Son, to preferve the Memory of that dreadful Punishment : That his Posterity might not incur the like by their Sins. For Sela fignifies the letting forth of Waters, Job V. 10. He is thought to have been the Father of the Sufiani: The chief City of their Country, next to Sula, being called Sela. as we find in Ammian. Marcellinus: Eicher because he was the Founder of it, or in Memory of him.

And Salah begat Eber.] The Father of these from whom came the Hebrew Nation (as was faid before, Verse 21.) Abraham being descended from him in the Sixth Generation. All other derivations of the Name

208

Name of Hebrew have great Objections lie against Chapter them; but this hath none, that I can see; and is most X. agreeable to the Grammar of that Language, in which all such Names ending in Jod (as vor y doth) are noted to come either from a Place, or Country, or People, or Author: Therefore fince there is no Country, or Place, from which the Name of Hebrew can be derived, it is most reasonable to deduce it from the Author of this People, Heber. And it is authorized by that Speech of Balaam, Numb. XXIV. 24. Where as by Afbur is meant the Affyrians, so by Heber, in all reason, we are to understand the Hebrews.

Ver. 25. Peleg.] Either he, or fome of his Poste-Verse 25. rity in memory of him, it is not unlikely, gave Name to a Town upon Eupbrates, called Phalga; not far from the place, where the River Chaboras runs into it: Upon which Charrab stood, built by Charan the Brother of Abraham.

For in his Days was the Earth divided.] The great Dilperfion, which we read of in the following Chapter, fell out just when he was born, which made his Father call him by this Name, fignifying Division, and Separation. Which it appears, by the Account given of his Ancestors, (XL. from verse 10, to 16) hapned in the bundred and first Year after the Flood. In that Year the Tower of Babel and their Language were confounded ; upon which neceffirily followed the Separation here mentioned. The Age that preceded, from the Deluge to this Division, is called by the ancient Peets, the Golden Age, (as Bochart obferves, L. I. Phaleg. c. 9 J becaule the Earth not being divided, they enjoyed all things in common. And Noab (whom they called Saturn) governing Ee them, them, not as Kings do their Subjects, but as Parents Chapter their Children, not fo much with Fear and Dread, aswith Love and Reverence to his Fatherly Authority; it made the World fo happy as it hath not been fince.

209

Joktan or Jektan.] The Brother of Peleg, had a numerous Offspring, of thirteen Sons; all seated in the inmost parts of Arabia Fælix. So the Arabians. it is certain, derive their own Original: Who in this may as well be credited, as the Europaans who derive themselves from Japetus, or Japhet, and the Africans from Cham or Hammon. They call him Cabtan, (as our Mr. Pocock, as well as others, observes) by which Name the Arabick Paraphrast upon this place, explains that of Jektan. And this Cahtan they fay expresly was the Son of Eber, the Son of Salab, &c. From whence the Name of Catanitæ, a People in Arabia Fælix mention'd by Ptolemy; and a City, in the Territory of Mecha, still remains the very Name of Jektan, being called Baisath-Jektan; i.e. the Seat or Habitation of Jektan, in the Arabian Geographer. See Mr. Pocock's Notes upon Abul-Farajus concerning the Original of the Arabians, p. 38, 39.

Verse 26. Ver. 26. Almodad.] The eldest Son of Joktan seems to have given Name to the People whom Ptolemy. calls 'AMsuais"), in the middle of Arabia Falix, near the Original of the River Lar, which runs into the Persian Gulph. The Greeks who knew little of this People, who lived a great way from the Sea, might eafily milpronounce their Name; calling them Allumæotæ, instead of Almodæi.

> Sheleph, or Saleph.] Was, it is likely, the Father of the Salapeni. For such a People there were, mentioned by Prolemy, who calls them Sarannos: Who

Χ.

Who were remote from the reft, about the Neck Chapter of Arabia; not far from the Spring of the River X. Betins.

Hatzermaveth.] Though the Arabians write this Name with the very fame Letters, yet it founds among them thus, Hadramuth, or Chadramuth. Which the Greeks pronounce divers ways, because of the ambiguous Sound of the two Letters, Tzadi and Cheth: For sometimes he is called Asarmoth, sometimes (without an A) Sarmouth, and Armoth, and Atermoth, as Bochartus hath observed. Who thinks the Country called Chatramitis or Atramatis, Chatramotis or Atramotis, to have been peopled by the Children of this Hadramuth, as the Arabians pronounce this Name Hatazmaveth. 'Adequitz, Salmafius Thowsis the Name of a City or Place, and 'Adequil'), of a People or Nation, Exercit. in Solin. p. 498. And the same People he observes (p. 490.) are called by Artemidorus, 'Arequan'), whole Country was that part of Arabia which abounded with Frankincenfe, Myrrh, Calfia, and Cinnamon, as Theophrastus tells us. And Strabo calls them (as he there notes) Xaτραμωή), and Uranius in Stephanus Xaτραμώ): So differently was this hard word pronounced. Who were so famous, that Eustathius Antioch. Eusebius, and others, make this Hatzermaveth the Father of the Arabians, and Epiphanius derives their Language from him; which they (as was faid before) derive from Jektan himfelf; looking upon the Dialect of Chadramitis as barbarous. See Bochartus, L. II. Phalee. c. 16. Where he observes that Hatzermaveth in Hebrew lignifies the Entrance of Death, and Hadbramauth in Arabick, the Region of Death : Because the Air of that Country was very thick and foggy, (and con-

Ee 2

ACOMMENTARY

212

Chapter confequently unwholfom) as Arrianus relates; who
X. faith, that the Frankincenfe and Myrth, were therefore gathered only by the King's Slaves, and by condemned Perfons.

Jerah, or Jerach.] From whom came the People called Jerachæi, who lived near the Red-Sca; called by Agatharcides and others, 'Azizaĩoi, Alilai : Which is the very fame in Arabick, with the other in Hebrew. For Hilal is the Moon in that Language, as Jerach is in Hebrew. And the Nubienfian Geographer mentions a People about Mecha, who at this day are called Bene-hilal, the Children of Jerach, as the Hebrews would have expressed it. It seems they. are come more towards the East, when anciently they dwelt in the South. Ptolemy mentions also an Island, upon the Coast of the Alilei, which he calls Repanar mo : But it doth not fignifie the Ille of Hawks, (as the Greeks fansied, who imagined all these old words to come from their Tongue) but of the Ferachæi.

Verse 27. Ver. 27. Hadoram] He seems to have fixed his Seat in the utmost Corner of Arabia towards the East, where there was a People, whom Pliny calls Drimati: A Name easily made from Hadoramus. And the extream Promontory of that Country is called by the Greeks Corodamon, by transposing the Letters D and R from Hadoramus. I can find nothing more likely, than this Conjecture of that great Man Bochartus, who hath out-done all that went before him in this Argument, L. II. Phaleg. c. 20.

Uzal.] Abraham Zachut, as he also observes, says the Jews (who in his time dwelt there) called the chief City of Aljeman, by the Name of Uzal. Now the Kingdom of Aljeman or Jeman, is the South-part

npon GENESIS.

part of Arabia Falix: As the very Name of Jeman Chapter imports, which fignifies both the Right-hand and the X. South.

Diklah.] Both in the Chaldee and Syriack Language Dicla figuifies a Palm, or a Grove of Palms: Which led Bochartus to conclude that the Minai, a People of Arabia Falix, whole Country abounds with fuch Trees, were the Posterity of this Diklah. Both Pliny and Strabo mention them. And this is far more probable than the Conjecture of Ludovicus Cappellus, That the Country of Dangala in Acthiopia, near Egypt, might have its Name from this Man: For that is too remote from the rest of this Man's Posterity : And fo is Director mentioned, as he observes, by Herodotus, Chronolog. Sacra, p. 108.

Ver. 28. And Obal.] Which in the Arabick Pro-Verse 28.nunciation is Aubal, as Cocab, a Star in Hebrew, is in Arabick Caucab, &c. The Polterity of this Aubal or Obal, Bochart thinks, passed over the Streights of the Sinus Arabicus, out of Arabia Falix, into Arabia Troglodytica; where we meet with this Nume, in the Sinus Abalites, (which others call Aualites) and in a great Trading Town called by Arrianus 'Aualeitus; and in a People who lived in that Sinus, called by Ptolemy, 'Aualitag, and 'Adslira; I believe it should be 'Asslirag from this Obal.

Abimael.] Which the Arabians pronounce Abimal, i. e. the Father of Mali, or the Malita; a People in Arabia next to the Minai before-mentioned. Theophrastus faith, Mali is the Metropolis of a Country in Arabia the Spicy. From whence the People called Malita, whom Ptolemy calls Manita, by an usual change of the Letter L into N, as Nabonidus is the fame-with Labonidus, &c. And it is probable that Mali

A COMMENTARY

Chapter Mali is the Contraction of Abimali: Nothing being X. more common than in compound Names to omit the first part. At Sittim, Numb. XXV. I. for Abel-Sittim, XXX. 49. Hermon very often for Baal-Hermon, Judg. III. 3. Nimrim for Beth-Nimrim, and Salem for Jerusalem.

214

Sheba. 7 From whom came the Sabæans, who fometimes comprehend a great many People, but here are to be taken strictly for those, upon the Red-Sea : between the Minai and the Catabanes : Whofe Metroplis, which flood upon an high Mountain full of Trees, is called by ancient Authors Saba and Sabai, Sabo and Sabas, as Salmafins hows out of Stephanus, Agatharcides, and others; who fay that this City was mon yannison, much the tairest of all in Arabia. Excerc. in Solin. p. 491, 492, &c. In latter times this Name was changed into Miriaba, the ancient Name being loft, as the fame Salmafins there observes, p. 497, & 1118. Which Pliny faith fignifies as much as Dominos omnium, the Lords of all : For from Rabba, to rule, comes Marab, which fignifies in their Language, (as Bochart observes) the Seat of those that Rule .: That is, the Royal City, where their Kings lived. The Nubiensian Geographer faith, the Oueen of Sheba came from hence to hear the Wildom of Solomon.

Werse 29. Ver. 29. And Ophir.] Which the Arabians pronounce Auphir, fignifying abundance: Gold being found there in fuch plenty that they exchanged it for Brass and Iron, giving a double or triple proportion of Gold for them. Bochart thinks he gave the Name of Ouppin to an Island in the Red Sea, mentioned by Eupolemus in Eusebius. And observes that there were two Ophirs, one belonging to India, whithere ther Solomon's Ships went once in three Years, (which Chapter he takes for Taprobana, now Zeilan) and the other X. belonging to Arabia, where the Posterity of this Ophir, here mentioned, setled. Whose Country he takes to have been near to the Sabæans their Brethren; which Stephanus and Ptolemy call Cassanitis. The same in set of the Ophir; for Chosan is a Treafure, which the Arabians write Chazan, from which comes the word Gaza, for abundance of Riches.

Havilah, or Chavilah.] See Verse 7. where we had this Name before, among the Sons of Cush; from whom the Havilab here spoken of is very different: Giving Name, it is probable to the Country which the Nubiensian Geographer calls Chaulan: And fays it was a part of Arabia Fælix, nigh also to the Sabæans; which he accurately describes. See Phaleg. L. II. c. 28.

Jobab.] The Father of the Jobabites, near to the Sachalites, as Ptolemy expressly fays; if instead of Jobaritæ in him, we should read Jobabitæ, as Bochartus corrects the Passage, with great Reason. And thinks also the Reason of this Name to be plain: For Jebab in Arabick fignifies a Defart: And there are many such in the Country of the Jobabites above the Sinus of Sachalites.

Ver. 30. And their dwelling was from Messa, Scc.] Verse 30. Their Conclusion confirms what hath been said, that all the thirteen Sons of Joktan were seated in Arabia Falix; except Obal; who went it's likely, after Mofes's time, over into Abalites; the Passage being short cross that Streight before-mentioned, (Verse 28.) which was not above four or five Miles broad. For Arabia Falix lies between the Red-Sea and the Perfian Gulph. Now Mesa, or Musa, was a famous-

A COMMENTARY.

216

Chapter

X.

famous Port-Town in the Red-Sea, which the Egyptians and Æthiopians frequented in their way to the sin Country of the Sapharites in the East; from whom they brought Myrrh, Frankincenfe, and fuch like things. Ptolomy's Tables plainly flow this, That from Mula the Sapharitæ lay directly Eastmard; and Saphar was the Metropolis of the Country at the foot of the Mountain Climax: Which anciently, it's likely, was called Saphar, from the City at the bottom of it. And thus we are to understand Moles when he fays here, that Sepher was a Mountain of the East; not Eastward from Judæa, but from Mesha, which was in the West. See Bochart, L. H. Phaleg. c. 20. where he observes that the Arabick Paraphrast (of the Paris Edition) takes Mesha to be Meccha, and instead of from Mesha to Sephar, faith from Meccha to Medina. Which is nearer Truth than their Opinion, who place the Children of Joktan about Cophetes, upon the Coast of India. But he flows that some of the Children of Cush setled between Meccha and Medina: And it sufficiently appears that Joktan's Children dwelt in the inmost part of Arabia Fælix ; and are the Genuine 'Arabians.

Werfe 31. Ver. 31. This is explained, Verfe 5.

Ver. 32. By these were the Nations divided after the Verse 32. Flood. They and their Defcendants fhared the whole Earth among them as it is faid exprefly, 1X. 18. Of them was the whole Earth over-spread. But according to the foregoing Account we find only three parts of the Earth, Europe, Afia, and Africa poffeffed by the three Sons of Noah and their Children. Which hath made some so bold as to sav, there were other People in America, who were not drown'd by the Flood. And one of their Reasons why it was not peopled trom from any of the other three parts of the Earth is, that Chapter we can give no Account how Lyons, Bears, Wolves, Х. Foxes, and fuch like Creatures should get thither: For none, fure, would carry them by fhipping, though Men themselves might, by that means, pass over into those Regions. But this difficulty is not so great as they make it. For it is manifest, That though the Continent of America was found full of fuch Beafts, when the Spaniards first came thither, yet none of the Illands, though very large, which lay remote from the Land, had any Lyons, Tigers, or fuch like Creatures in them. Which is a demonstration, that these Creatures, were not originally from that part of the Earth; for then the Islands would have been furnished with them, as well as the Continent; just as they are with all forts of Vegetables : And confequently the Continent it felf was flored with these Creatures from some other part of the Earth. Which might be done by fome Neck of Land not yet difcovered ; which joyns some part of Europe, or Afra, to the Continent of America. Or, if there be no fuch Neck of Land now extant, yet there may have been such a Bridge (as we may call it) between the Northern parts of Afia, or Europe, and some Northern part of America; or, between the South-East part of China, or the Philippine Iflands, and the Southern Continent of that other part of this World : Though now broken off (as many suppose England to have been from France) by the violence of the Sea, or by Earthquakes; which have made great alterations in the Earth. And truly, he that observes (as that great Man the Lord Chief Justices Hales speaks, in his Book of the Origin of Mankind, § II. c. 7.) the infinite number of Islands, lying between the Conti-Ff nent

A COMMENTARY

Chapter nent of China and Nova Guinea, the most contiguous XI. to each other; hath probable reasons to believe, that these were all formerly one Continent, joyning. China and Nova Guinea together: Though now, by the irruption of the Sea, crumbled into many small Islands.

218

CHAP. XI.

Verse 1. Ver. 1. A ND all the Earth.] i.e. The Inhabitants of the Earth; as 1 Kings X. 24. all the Earth is explained 2 Chron. IX. 23. all the Kings of the Earth.

Were of one Language.] In the Hebrew of one Lip; which is one Inftrument of Speech, comprehending the reft. Their Mouth formed the fame words. So it follows.

And of one Speech.] Or, Word, as the Hebrew hath it. Some diffinguish these two so subtilly, as to say, they had not only the fame Language, but the fame manner of pronunciation; which is often very different in the fame Language. The Heathens themfelves acknowledge there was but one Language anciently, (see Josephus, and out of him Eusebius, L. IX. Prap. Evang. c. 14, 15.) which in all likelyhood was the fame that had been from the beginning, which Adam himself spake. For Methuselah, the Grandfather of Noah, lived fome time with him, and spake, we may well suppose, the same Language that he did. And we cannot but think the fame of Noah who propagated it among his Posterity till this time. But whether this was the Hebrew or no, we cannot be certain.

certain. The Chaldee Paraphrasts, and the Hebrew Chapter Writers generally fay it was 5 and moft Chriftian XI. Writers have been of their Opinion : Infomuch that R. Gedaliah, upon these words, faith; The wife Men among the Christians have fearched what was the first Tongue; and all the World confess that from Adam to the Flood they Spake the Holy Language. Which it is not to be thought, we have now entire and pure; but that a confiderable part of it still remain in the Bible. As may be proved by no contemptible Arguments; particularly this, that Shem the Son of Noah, was for some time contemporary with Abraham, who descended from him; and in whose Family continued the same Language which they both spake, unto Mofes his days.

They that have fanfied there were more Languages than one, at this time, grounded their mistake upon those words, Gen. X. 5, 20, 31. where the Sons of Noah are faid to have had the Earth divided among them, according to their Tongues. Not confidering, that he speaks of this very Division, of which he is going to give an account; and briefly mentioned there, verse 25. For the thirteen Sons of Joktan, immediately after mentioned, (who had their share in the division,) were not in being, when their Uncle Peleg was born; as the most learned Primate Usher hath demonstrated in his Annals, A. M. 1757.

Ver. 2. As they journeyed from the East.] He doth Verse 2. not speak of all the Posterity of Noah, who after the Flood planted in the East; much less Noah himself: But of a great Colony of them, who when the East was much peopled, chose to go Westward. By the East, most understand Armenia, where they suppose the Ark rested, and Noah with his Sons planted. But this this hath great difficulty in it, for the Mountains of Armenia lay North of Shinar, or Affyria, and not East. Which Bochart folves in this manner: Affyria being divided into two parts; one on this fide, the other on the further fide of Tigris, they called all that part beyond Tigris, the East Country; though a great part of it towards Armenia was really Northmard; and that part on this fide they called West, though fome of it lay to the South, L. I. Phaleg. c. 7. But there is no need of the help of this folution; the Mountains of Ararat running a long way Eastmard: From which when Noah and his Sons defcended, they fettled, it's likely, in Countries, which were very much Eastmard of Affyria.

Ff 2

220

Chapter XI.

They found a plain.] They continued to dwell in the Mountainous Countries of the East, where the Ark refted, till they grew very numerous, and wanted room; and then descended into the Plain, and some of them went Westwardly into the Land of Shinar, that pleasant Plain, (as Mr. Mede fansies) where God at the Beginning had placed the first Father of Mankind, Adam.

Shinar.] By this Name we are to understand not only that part of Affyria, where Babylon stood; but all that Country which bordered upon Tigris unto the Mountains of Armenia; from whence Noah and his Sons are supposed to have descended, when the Earth was dry, and not to have gone far from thence at first till they were multiplied; and then some of them came into this Country; which Noah had inhabited before the Flood; Thus Bachart; in the place before-named. But there is no certainty the Ark rested in Armenia; it might be further Eastmard, upon some other part of that long Ridge of Mountains, called Ararat: Ararat : From whence they descended when the Earth Chapter was dry, and dwelt in the lower Grounds, which XI. were warmer and more fruitful than the Mountains.

But that from the East Mankind were propagated. is apparent from the increase of Arts and Sciences, which, as Dr. Jackson observes, (Book I. c. 16.) were in some measure perfected there, (in Times as ancient as any prophane Hiftory can point us unto,) and thence derived as from a Center, to more remote parts of the World. The ripenels of Literature, Civil Discipline, and Arts among the Eastern People, before they did fo much as bud forth in Greece or Italy (I may add Egypt either) is a demonstration, that these were the Stock, and the other but Slips or Branches transplanted from thence. Nay, the State and Grandure of those Eastern Countries, before Greece or Italy, or any other Western People, grew into the fashion of a Kingdom, shows, that the Eastern People were the Heirs of the World, and others Nations but as Colonies from them.

Ver. 3. They faid one to another.] i. e. Consulted Verse 3. together.

Go to.] And stirred up one another to lay all their Hands to this Work.

Let us make Brick.] In that low and fat Soil, there was no Stone, as is intimated in the next Words, and they had Brick for Stone. No Body doubts but this is a true Translation of the Hebrem word Labenab: For Herodotus, and Justin, and many others, defcribe the Walls of Babylon as made of fuch Materials. What Chemar is (which was the Cement to joyn the Bricks together) doth not fo plainly appear. We translate it Slime; following herein a great many of the Hebrews: Particularly Kimchi, who who fays it is Mortar, made of Sand and Lime. But there is much reason to think it was that which the Ancients called "Aoger 1@, a kind of Pitch, (as Kimn chi himfelf acknowledges fome understand it.) which is defcribed by Authors as a very glewy thing, and therefore used by Noah, by God's Direction, about the Ark. There was great plenty of it in Affyria, as Theodoret here observes, from some Fountains which vomited it up with the Water. And fo Strabo and Dion affirm, that it was very fit for this purpole; and Herodotus fays exprelly, that the Walls of Babylon were cemented with it; and fo do many others, both Greek and Roman Authors, mentioned by Bochartus, L.I. Phaleg. c. 1.2. And it is very observable, that Arrianus faith, L. VII. The Temple of Belus in the midst of the City of Babylon, of a vast bignels, was made of Brick, cemented with Afphaltus.

ACOMMENTARY

Verse 4.

212

Chapter

XI.

Ver. 4. And they faid, Go to now.] At the first perhaps they spake only of building themselves Houses; but now they laid their Heads together, and confulted to make a huge Monument of their Greatness.

A City and a Tower.] Some fanfie one thing to be expressed in two words: A City and a Tower, being a City with Turrets. But both this Verse and the next, express them fo feverally, that we ought to think them to have been diffinct. Yet, that the Tomer was part of the City, is plain by verse 8. where it is faid, they left off to build the City, making no mention of the Tower: Which was contained in the City, as a part of it; and may well be thought, to have been the Acropolis, (as the Greeks speak,) a strong Place, in the highest part of the City; such as we call a Cittadel. For the Scripture by a Tower, means means fome Fortrels to keep out an Enemy, which was Chapter wont to be built in the midst of the City, that it might XI. command every part of it.

Some fansie the Temple of Belus, before-mentioned, was afterward built, where this Tower stood; and was nothing else but the Tower perfected for another use. Or, rather, a Temple was built round about the Tower, which stood in the midst of it, as Herodotus describes it, L. I. $Ev \mu t \sigma \phi$ To steps $\pi t g \gamma G$. sepeces, &c. in the midst of the Temple, was a strong Tower, Gc.

Whole top may reach up unto Heaven.] i.e. To the Clouds. As much as to fay, an exceeding high Tower. For the fame is faid of the Walls of the Cities of Canaan; Deut. I. 28. IX. 1. and therefore can mean no more here. And is an usual Phrase in Scripture ; as when the Pfalmift fays, They that fail upon the Sea, are sometime listed up to Heaven, CVII. 25. which is a Language that other Authors speak; for Homer mentions a Fir-tree which was sequerizins; extended to Heaven, i. e. very tall. Which I note to fhow the fensless spite of Julian the Apostate, who endeavours to difcredit this Sacred Story, by the Poetical Fiction of the Giants warring with Heaven: As if there were no more Truth in the one, than in the other. But St. Cyril in his Fourth Book against him, truly observes, That in Scripture, this Phrase, eis segudo, to Heaven, is put and TE ulss, for that which is highly elevated; as this Tower was. Which being half a quarter of a Mile in breadth and length, had another Tower flood upon it; and a third upon that; and so on, weyed & oxla mopyar, (as Herodotus speaks,) till there were eight Towers in all : Which made it of a vast heighth. Let 224 Chapter XI.

ACOMMENTART

Let us make us a Name, &c.] Here he plainly acquaints us with their Intention in building this City and Tower: which was to be a perpetual Monument of their Fame. To spread it far and wide, while they were alive; and that their Names might live in this Monument when they were dead : All Posterity faying, such and such Persons were the Founders of the First and Mother City of the World. So David is faid to have got himself a Name, 2 Sam. VIII. 13. 1. e. extended his Fame by his great Atchievements. And God is said to do the same, Isai. LXIII. 12, 14. Therefore there was no occasion for affigning other Reasons for the building of this Tower; when Moses gives one fo clearly. That which hath been commonly fansied is, That they might fecure themselves against another Inundation : From which they were fecured by the Divine Promife, (if they would believe it,) together with the addition of a Sign to it, IX. 12. And if they did not believe it, why did they come down from the Mountains into the plain Country, to build this Tower 3 which might more rationally have been erected upon the top of the highest Mountains, if their meaning had been, by this means, to preferve themfelves from future Floods. If there were any other meaning befides that mentioned by Moses, I should think that most probable which I find in Dr. Jackson, (Book I. on the Creed, c. 16.) That it might be a Refuge whereunto they might refort, and continue their Combination : Something of which feems to be intimated in the next There is a Conjecture also made by a most words. worthy Friend of mine, a good while ago, Dr. Teni-fon, now Archbishop of Canterbury, in his Book of Idolatry (which is not inconfistent with these.) That this Tower Tower was confecrated by the Builders of it to the Chapter Sun, as the caufe of drying up the Waters of the XI. Deluge (or rather, as the most illustrious and nearest refemblance of the Schechinah, as I noted on Chap. IV.) and that it was intended as an Altar whereon to Sacrifice to it. But it is propounded only as a Conjecture : Which those Jews feem also to have had in their Minds, who by the Word Shem, (Name) understand God : As if their meaning were, Let us make us a God; and raife him a Temple. And perhaps future times did convert it to that use.

Least we be scattered abroad upon the Face of the whole Earth.] Here they speak as if they feared a Dispersion ; but it's hard to tell from what cause, unless it were this, That Noab having projected a divifion of the Earth among his Posterity, (for it was a deliberate business, as I noted upon X. 5.) these People had no mind to submit unto it; and therefore built this Fortress to defend themselves in their Resolution of not yielding to his design. Thus the most learned User, ad A. M. 1757. But what they dreaded, they brought upon themselves by their own vain attempt to avoid it : And now there is no memory preferved of the Names of those that conspired in this attempt. Thus what Solomon faith, was long before verified, Prov. X. 2.4. The fear of the Wicked shall come upon him. But this evil by God's Providence was attended with a great Good : For by this dispersion the whole Earth was peopled, and the foundation laid of feveral great Nations and Kingdoms.

Ver. 5. And the LOR D came down to fee, &c. Verle 5. This is an Accommodation to our Conceptions; and means no more; but that by the effects, he made it appear, that he observed their Motions, and knew their Intentions. G g Which

A COMMENTART

226

Chapter XI.

Which the Children of Men builded.] It is generally agreed that Children of Men in Scripture, is opposed to Children of God: As bad Men and Infidels. are to the good and the Faithful. Which gives us to understand, that neither Noah, nor Shem, nor Arphaxad, Salabor Heber were engaged in this Work : But fome of the worfer fort of People who degenerated from the Piety of their Ancestors. It is probable some of the Race of Ham; who its likely carried much of the Spirit of Cain with him into the Ark: Otherwife he could not have behaved himself so vilely towards his Father after they came out of it. For that terrible Judgment, it feems, had not reformed him; and then it is no wonder if he grew more wicked after it was over. Josephus and others, take Nimrod (his Grand-child) to have been the apymyerns, as his Word is, Ring-leader of this Crew, who combined in this defign. But I take it to be more probable that he came and fetled here after the Dispersion. For there being not much above an Hundred Years between the Flood and this time, it is not likely fuch a great Kingdom could be erected in that space, as we read of, Gen. X. 10. And therefore he grew fo great after this Dispersion, when he came out of Arabia, or some Neighbouring Country, and fetled here in Babel :-Which was called by this Name, upon occasion of the Confusion of Languages, and had it not before. Which is an Argument that what we read, X. 10, 11. must be understood to have hapned after this time. But, if all this be true that some of Cham's Race began this defign, which other bad People were toomuch disposed to follow, and that they who retained the true Religion (from whom Abraham descended) were:

upon GENESIS.

were not of the number, it is credible that they escaped Chapter the Punishment here mentioned, (in the next Verses) X1. retaining still their ancient Seat, and the ancient Language also; which continued in the Family of Heber, and was called Hebrew.

227

Ver. 6. And the LOR D faid, &c.] This Verfe Verfe 6. only expresses a Resolution to spoil their Project; and the necessity of so doing.

Ver. 7. Let us.] The Rabbins fansie this is spoken Verse 7. to the Angels. But it is beyond the Angelical Power to alter Mens Minds so in a moment, that they shall not be able to understand what they did before. Therefore God spake to himself: And this Phrase suggests to us more Persons than One in the Godhead. In short, None but he who taught Men at first to speech, which is described in the next words. Navatianus therefore anciently took it, that this was spoken by God to his Son.

Confound their Language.] The word Confound is to be mark'd: For God did not make every one fpeak a new different Language, but they had fuch a confufed remembrance of the Original Language which they fpake before, as made them speak it very differently: So that by the various Inflections, and Terminations, and Pronunciations of divers Dialects, they could no more understand one another, than they who understand Latin can understand those who speak French, Italian, or Spanish; though these Languages arise out of it.

And yet it is not to be thought, there were as many feveral Dialects as there were Men; fo that none of them underftood another : For this would not meerly have difperfed Mankind, but deftroyed them.

Chapter XI.

228

them. It being impoffible to live without Society, or to have Society without understanding one another : For if the Father could not have understood the Son, nor the Husband his Wife, there could have been no comfort in living together. Therefore it is likely that every Family had its peculiar Dialect; or rather the fame common Dialect (or way of speaking) was given to those Families, whom God would have to make one Colony in the following Dispersion. Unto which Dispersion they were constrained by their not being able to have such Familiarity as they had before with every body; but only with those who understood their particular Speech.

Into how many Languages they were divided, none can determine. The Hebrews fansie into LXX which Opinion hath much prevailed. Being grounded upon the foregoing Chapter; where the Descendants from the Sons of Noah are just fo many. The Greek Fathers make them LXXII. because the Greek Version adds two more (Elifa among the Sons of Faphet, and Cainan among the Sons of Shem) and the Latin Fathers follow them, But this is a very weak Foundation; it being apparent that many of the Sons of Canaan used the very fame Language in their Country, and so did Javan and Elishah in Greece : And in other places fo many concurred in the Use of the same Speech, that fcarce Thirty remains of the Seventy to be distinct, as Bochart hath observed. See Selden, L. II. de Synedr. cap. 9. Sect. III.

Verse 8.

Ver. 8. So the LORD feattered them.] Broke their Combination by making them speak several Languages; which cut off the common bond of one Society. For as the Unity of one common Language guage (to use the Words of Mr. Mede, p. 362.) had Chapter knit all Mankind into one Community: So God in XI. his Wisdom saw that Plurality of Languages was the best means to force them into a Plurality of Societies.

Abroad from thence.] Into all the Regions of the North, South, and Weft: The Eaft being inhabited before by Noah and tuch of his Offspring as abode with him. Which is not to be underflood as if they were immediately fcattered into the remotelt places from Babel: But first into the neighbouring Countries; and by degrees into those which were further off, according as their Families increased.

How long this Dispersion hapned after the Flood, cannot be certainly determined. But we can demonstrate it was not much above 100 Years. For Peleg (in whole days this came to pals, X. 25.) was born but an Hundred and one Years after : As was obferved before upon that place. Now some think this Division was just made at his Birth : Which St. Austin takes to have been the reason why his Father called him Peleg, quiatunc ei natus est, quando per linguas terra divisa eft, because he was then born to him, when the Earth was divided by their Languages. But the Text doth not make this out, for it only fays in his Days the Earth was divided. And the Thirteen Sons of Joktan (Peleg's Brother) who had their hare in this division, being not then born, we must conclude that if this division began at Peleg's Birth, it was not finished till some Years after. Elmacinus says in the Fortieth Year of Peleg's Age; the Hebrews generally fay at his Death.

See Hottinger's Smegma Orient. p. 62. and 166.

229

A COMMENTARY

230 Chapter XI.

And they left off to build the Tower.] I fee no reafon to believe that God over-turn'd it by a terrible Tempest, as Epiphanius expresses it, Tou mopyou aveuw Gozà avespeder. Which is the Opinion of Folephus, L. I. c. 5. Antiq. and Abydenus mention'd by Eufebius, L. IX. c. 4. Præpar. Evan. and divers others of the Ancients. Nor is there any ground for what othersfay, (particularly Benjamin Tudal, in his Itinerary, p. 77.) that it was burnt by Fire from Heaven. For Moses doth not intimate that this was either burnt, or over-turn'd : But only that they defisted from their Enterprize : Which naturally ceafed, when they could no longer joyn to carry on the Building. Which may rather lead us to think, that the City and Tower flood long after this : And that Bochart's Conjecture is not unreasonable, That it was the very Tower which was afterward confecrated to Belus, described by Herodotus, L. I. For it is evident, that though this City and Country lay wafte for fome time, Men being frighted by the confusion of their Languages from living there, yet Nimrod, a bold Man, came and made this the Seat of his Empire :-And, it's very probable, carried on that Work which was broke off by the Dispersion. For it is not faid, Gen. X. 10. that he built Babel, (as he did Niniveh, and other Cities, verse 11.) but only that it was the beginning of his Kingdom, the head City, where he made his refidence.

Verse 9.

Ver. 9. Therefore is the Name of it called Babel.] Which fignifies in Hebrew Confusion: So frivolous is their Conceit, who make it to have been called by this Name, from Babylon, the Son of Belus. All the difficulty is to know who called it by this Name. Some think the Children of Heber, in whose Family the the original Language continued. But it may be as Chapter rationally conceived, that in the confusion of Lan-XI. guages, all retained fome of the ancient words, and particularly this: By which they all commonly called this Place.

Confound the Language of all the Earth. That is, the Language of all those People who were in this Western Colony; not the Language of Noah, and his Plantation more Easterly, who kept, as I said, the Primitive Language.

Scatter them abroad upon the face, &c.] This Difperfion was fo ordered, that each Family and each Nation dwelt by it felf: Which could not well be done, as Mr. Mede obferves, but by directing an orderly Divifion: Either by cafting of Lots, or chufing according to the Birth-right, after Portions of the Earth were fet out according to the Number of their Nations and Families. For otherwife, fome would not have been content to go fo far North as Magog did, and others fuffered to enjoy more pleafant Countries.

Ver. 10. These are the Generations of Shem.] It ap-Verle 10. pears from the foregoing Chapter, that these here mentioned, were not all the Persons who descended from him: But these were the Ancestors of Abraham, whom Moses derives by these from Shem.

Ver. 11. Lived after he begat Arphaxad. five hundred Verle II. Years.] So that as he had feen Methufelah and Lamech before the Flood, he might alfo fee, not only Abraham, but his Son Ifaac, who by this Account was one and twenty Years old when Shem died.

Ver. 14. Begat Eber.] Who was the Father of those from whom came the Hebrew Nation : Abrahame being descended from him in the fixth Generation. And Chapter And that Nation being called Eber, Numb. XXIV. 24.

232

XI. and the Children of Eber, Gen. X. 21. It is not rea-

- fonable, as I observed before, to seek for any other derivation of the Name of Hebrews.
- Verse 16. Ver. 16. Peleg, or Phaleg.] It is not unlikely that either he, or some of his Posterity in memory of him, gave name to a Town upon Euphrates called Phalga: Not far from the place where Chaborus runs into it, upon which Harah, (or Charrah) stood, built by Haran. Abraham's Brother.

Ver. 18. Ren, or Regan. 7 (As fome pronounce the Verse 18. Hebrew word) gave Name to a Field near Asyria, Judith I. 5. or, as Tobit faith, in Media: Where Strabo mentions a City called Raga, and fo doth Stephanus, Paya monis in Musiq. In the Hundred and thirtieth Year of his Life, if we may believe Elmacinus, (p. 29.) Nimrod began to Reign in Babylon. And in his days also he fays, the Egyptian Kingdom began. Which need not feem strange, though scarce two hundred Years were passed fince the Flood, when we confider the vast increase of People in these Ages, from a few Planters, within such a compass of time : And likewife the extraordinary Fruitfulnels which God after the Flood bestowed upon them for the Peopling of the Earth. For he fays twice to Noah, and his Sons, immediately after they came out of the Ark, increase and multiply, IX. 1, 7. and replenish the Earth. From this Antiquity of the Egyptian Kingdom, it is, that the later Pharaohs called themselves the Sons of ancient Kings, Ifa. XIX. 11.

In Reu's time also both the Egyptians and Babylonians now began to make Images and worship them, if Patricides may be credited. See Hotting. Smegma. Orient. cap. 2. n. 16.

Ver.

Ver. 20. Begat Serug.] From whom (Bochartus Chapter thinks) fome of his Defcendants might call the City Sarug : which the Arabian Geographer fays was near to Charra or Haran. He first began to celebrate every Year the Memory of famous Men, after they were dead; and commanded them to be honoured as Benefactors; if we may believe Suidas in the word $\Sigma \ell \rho \chi$, and Damascen, and a long Roll of other Authors mentioned by Jacobus Geussius, Par. I. c. 2. De Victimis Humanis.

Ver. 22. Begat Nahor.] The fame Writers fay, Verle 22. That Idolatry increasing much in his days, there was a great Earthquake (the first that had been observed) which overturned their Temples, and broke their Images in Arabia.

Ver. 24. Terah.] Whom they make to have been Verfe 24 an Idolatrous Prieft; but to have repented and been converted to the Worship of the True God. See Verse 31.

Ver. 26. And Terah lived feventy Years, and begat Verle 26. Abraham, Nahor, and Haran.] i. e. He was feventy Years old before he had any Children; and then had three Sons one after another: Who are not fet down in the order wherein they were born. For Abraham's being first named doth not prove him to have been the eldest Son of Terah; no more than Shem's being first named among Noah's three Sons, proves him to have been the First-born, IX. 18. For there are good Reasons to prove that Abraham was born fixty Years after Haran; who was the eldest Son; having two Daughters, married to his two Brothers, Nahor and Abraham: Who feems to be the youngest, though named first, both here and in the next Verse, because of his preheminence. See Verse 32.

Ver.

ACOMMENTARY

Ver. 28. Haran died before his Father, &c.] In his Chapter own Country, (as it here follows) out of which he XI. did not go, as the reft of this Family did.

In Ur of the Chaldees.] That part of Mesopotamia. Verse 28. which was next to Asyria, is called the Land of the Chaldees. For Ur, as Abarbinel observes, was in Me-Supotamia: Lying in the way from Tigris to Nifibis. And therefore St. Stephen makes Mesopotamia and the Land of the Chaldees the very fame, Acts VII. 2, 4. Eupolemus indeed, as Bochart notes, places this Ur. from whence Abraham came, (Verse 31.) in Babylon : But Ammianus speaks of an Ur in Mesopotamia, situated as before-mentioned; which we have reason to think was the place from whence Abraham came, because from thence to Canaan the way lay straight through Charran (or Haran,) but it did not do fo. if he came from Babylon. And no good account can be given why he should go about through Mesopotamia, and Charran; when there was a fhorter way through Arabia, if he came from Babylon.

274

Ver. 29. The Father of Iscah. i. e. Of Sarai, whom Verse 29. Abraham married; she being his eldest Brother's Daughter, Sifter to Lot. For Haran had three Children, Lot, verse 27. and Milchab, whom Nahor married, and Sarah whom Abraham married. That is, Haran dying, the two remaining Brethren married his two Daughters. For if we should understand any Body elfe by Iscah, but Sarah; there is no account whence she descended : Which Moles sure would not have omitted; because it very much concerned his Nation to know from whom they came, both by the Father's and the Mother's fide. It is no wonder the thould have two Names; one perhaps before they came out of Chaldaa, and another after.

Ver.

Ver. 31. Went forth from Ur of the Chaldees.] See Chapter what was faid Verse 26. unto which I have nothing XI. to add but this, That this Country was fo famous for Superstition, that the Chaldeans in Daniel's time were Verse 31. reckoned as a distinct fort of Diviners, from Magicians, Aftrologers, and South-fayers, or Sorcerers, (Dan. II. 2, 10. IV. 7. V. II.) And, it's likely, from some fuch fort of Men Terab and his Family learnt the worthip of Idols, Joh. XXIV. 2. But though he had been an Idolater, yet it may be probably concluded from his leaving Ur of the Chaldces, with an intention to go to Canaan, (as it is here faid) that now he was become a Worshipper of the True God. For what should move him to it, but Obedience to the Divine Direction, which Abraham received, (as we read in the next Chapter,) to which he would not have agreed, if he had not believed in God. As Lot it's plain did, whom he took along with him. That word is much to be remarked ; which makes him the principal Agent in their removal: Abraham himfelf being governed by his Motion. For Moles fays, He took Abraham, and Lot, the Son of Haran, &c. And though Nahor did not now go along with his Father to Haran, (being left behind perhaps to look after some concerns,) yet afterwards he followed him, with all his Family. Asappears from Chapter XXVII. 43. and the following Chapter. And he alfo forfook Idolatry; for Rebekkah his Grand child was married to Isaac, and his great Grand-children, Rachel and Leab, nay, their Father Laban, feem to have been worshippers of the true God, (though with a mixture of some Superstition,) for he makesmention of Jehouah upon feveral occasions, Gen. XXIV. 31, 50, 5I.

And

235

ACOMMENTARY

236 Chapter XI. m

And they came unto Haran.] It is poffible that Te. rab going from Ur to Canaan, and staying in this place, called the City Xappay, (Charra) after the Name of his Son Haran, (or Charan) who died a little before, verse 28. For both the Greek and Roman Writers call a City, famous for the death of Graffus, by the Name of Charra : Situate on a River of the fame Name. It's likely from Abraham's Brother were derived both the Name of the River and of the City, which the Arabians to this day call Charan or Charran.

And dwelt there.] It's plain he intended to go to Canaan, and not to settle here: But being arrested with the Sickness of which he died, could go no further.

Verse 32. Ver. 32. And the days of Terah were two hundred and five Years. 7 Mofes doth not fumm up the Years of any Man's Life mentioned in this Chapter, (as he doth in Chapter V.) but only of Terah's. Which he dothon purpose that we may know when this new Period of Time began, (of Abraham's leaving his own Country, and thereby becoming the Father of the Faithful,) which we are not to count from the time when Terah began to have Children, (Ver. 26.) but from the time of his Death ; immediately after which Abraham went on towards Canaan. See Uster. Chronol. C. III. and C. VII.

From this also we learn when Abraham was born. For, if seventy five Years (which was Abraham's Age when his Father died, and he went from Haran, XII. 4.) be subducted from Two hundred and five, it is manifest that he was born when his Father was an Hundred and thirty Years old: That is, Threescore Years after his Brother Haran, as I faid on Verse 26. CHAP.

upon GENESIS.

237 Chapter XII.

CHAP. XII.

Many ancient Authors speak of Abraham, as Jo-Sephus observes, and out of him Eusebius: who names others also, L. IX. Præpar. Evang. c. 16, 17,&c. All that I shall note is, That one great Design of Moses being to lead the Jews to understand the Genealogy of this noble Ancestor of theirs; he hastens to it: Relating other Matters briefly; but spending many Pages about him. For he comprises, for instance, the History of the World from the Creation to the Flood, containing One thousand fix hundred fifty fix Years, in the compass of fix Chapters: But bestows on the History of Abraham nineteen Chapters; though it continue no longer space of time than an Hundred and seventy five Years.

Ver. 1. Now the LORD had faid unto Abram.] Verle 13. While he lived in Ur of the Chaldees; from whence it is certain he called him while his Father was alive, XI. 31. We are not told how he fpake to him; for here is no mention, as Maimonides observes, (P. II. c. 41.) of his speaking in a Dream, or a Vision, or by the Hand of an Angel: But only simply and absolutely that the LORD faid to him. By a Voice, when he wasawake, I suppose, from the Schechinah, or Divine Glory: For St. Stephen saith express, The God of Glory appeared to him, before he dwelt in Charran, Acts VII. 2.

Get thee out of thy own Country, &c.] Which began a good while ago to be infected with Idolatry, (See XI. 18, 22.) Some of Shem's Posterity forgetting the the Creator of All, and worshipping the Sun, as the Chapter great God, and the Stars as leffer Gods. So Maimo. XII. mides in his More Nevoch. P. III. c. 29. where he faith the Zabii relate in one of their Books, (which he there names.) That Abram contradicting their worthip, the King of the Country imprison'd him, and afterward banished him into the utmost parts of the East, and confiscated all his Estate. A Tale invented to take away from him the Honour of his voluntary leaving his Country; and to discredit this Sacred Hiftory, which tells us he directed his Courfe quite another way, towards the West. Abarbinel and others will not have this Call of God to Abram to have been when he was in Ur, but after they came to Haran; to which he fansies Terab came, because of some Misfortunes he had in Ur. But this is invented to contradict St. Stephen, Acts VII. 2. with whom Aben Ezra agrees, who expounds these words of his calling out of Ur. For it's hard to find any other reason why he defigned to go to Canaan, (XI. 21.) the place whether he went after Terah was dead.

A COMMENTARY

> Into a Land that I will shew thee.] He had the Divine Direction, it feems, all along, to conduct him in his Journey. But it argued, as the Apostle obferves, a great Faith in God, that he would follow him, not knowing the Country to which he would lead him.

Verse 2.

228

Ver. 2. And I will make of thee a great Nation.] First, by multiplying his Posterity; and then by making them a select, peculiar People: whom he distringuished by his Favours, from all other Nations. So it follows.

I

I will bless thee.] Bestow many Benefits both Tem- Chapter poral and Spiritual upon him. XII.

239

And make thy Name great.] Make him famous throughout the World; as he is to this day, not only among the Jews, but among Christians and Makometans. So Maimonides observes; that all Mankind admire Abraham, even they that are not of his Seed.

And thou fhalt be a Bleffing.] Others fhall be the better for thee; as Lot was, and the King of Sodom, &c. Or, as the Hebrews understand it; thou shalt be so prosperous, that when Men would wish well to others, they shall use thy Name, and say; The Lord bless thee as he did Abraham, Ver. 3. I will bless them that bless thee, &c.] The Verle 3. higheft Token of a particular Friendship, which he here contracts with Abram (who is called the Friend of God) in promising to espouse his Interest so far, as to have the fame Friends and Enemies that he had. Which is the form, wherein Kings and Princes make the strictes Leagues one with another.

And Curfe them that Curfe thee.] Maimonides will have it, (in the place before-named) that the Zabeans loaded Abram with all manner of Curfes and Reproaches, (when he was fent out of their Country) which, he bearing patiently, God turned upon themfelves.

And in thee shall all the Families of the Earth be bleffed.] Which was most eminently fulfilled in Christ. And here it must be remarked that this Promife, of Blessing all the World in Abram, was made to him before he received Circumcission, while he was in Ur of the Chaldees, and before he had any Issue, (for Sarai was barren and had no Child, XI. 30.) And there-

ACOMMENTARY

240 therefore before any preference of Isaac to Ishmael: Chapter or any distinction made between his Posterity, and the reft of Mankind. In token that they were all LAN concerned in this Promife; whether descended from Abraham, or not. In hort, this Promife only limits the Birth of the Melfiab to the Seed of Abraham; but declares that his Benefits should be common to all other Nations.

XII.

Verse 4.

Ver. 4. So Abram departed, &c.] Having flaid some time in Haran, where his Father fell fick and died, he profecuted his Journey from thence to Canaan, after his Father was dead. So St. Stephen tells us exprelly, Acts VII. 4. from thence (i.e. from Charran) when his Father was dead, he removed him into this Land, &c. It was a wonderful effect of Abraham's Faith (Iobserved before) to move him to leave his own Native Country to go to Haran : But it was still a greater, after he had travelled a long way from Ur hither; to go three hundred Miles more from hence to Canaan; a Country of which he had no knowledge, nor had fent any Body before him to difcover it : Taking his Journey through the dangerous and barren Delarts of Palmyrena; and having nothing to support him, but only the Promise of God. Which made him climb over the high Mountain, either of Libanus, Hermon, or Gilead : For in that part of the Country he entred, as Sir W. Raleigh hath observed. See Verle 5.

And Lot went with him.] He might conclude perhaps, that Abram being called in a special manner out of Chaldea, was thereby diffinguished from the reft of Shem's Posterity; and that he joyning with him in obeying the fame Call, might claim the priviledge of fulfilling the Promife of the Melfiab, no leis than Abram. And

And Abram was seventy and five Years old, when he Chapter departed out of Haran.] See XI. ult. XII.

Ver. 5. All the Souls they had gotten. (Hebr. had un made) in Haran.] i.e. All the Slaves born in their Verse 5. House, or bought with their Money. The Chaldee Paraphrast interprets this of the Profelytes they had won to God: For fuch only would Abram carry with him. And some of the Hebrew Doctors are so nice, as to fay, That Abram instructed the Men, and Sarai the Women, in the true Religion: Concerning which he wrote a Book, (if we may believe Maimonides, De Idolol. c. 1.) and left it to his Son Isaac. We read also in Pirke Eliezer, c. 25. that he took a House, which fronted Charran, where, according to the ancient Piety, he kept great Hospitality : And inviting those that went in or came out of the Town, to refresh themselves if they pleased, set Meat and Drink before them; faying, There is but one God in the World.

And into the Land of Canaan they came.] We are told before, XI. 31. that Terab went forth to go to this Country, but could not reach it, as Abram did. Who entred into it, at the North part of it, as appears by the following part of the Story: Where we read he went to Sichem and the Plain, and verse 9. went on still towards the South.

Ver. 6. Sichem and the plain of Moreh.] Or, as Mr. Verfe 6. Mede, following the LXX. will have it, the Oak of Moreh: Understanding by Oak, not only one single Oak, but a Holt or Grove of Oaks. See XIII. 18. Where, I suppose, he intended to have fixed his dwelling; had not the Temper of the People, who inhabited that Country, made it inconvenient.

And

ACOMMENTARY

242 Chapter XII.

And the Canaanite was then in the Land]. It was very pertinent to Moles his Defign, speaking of Abram's Paffage through this Country, to tell who was at that time possefield of it. But it is dubious whether he mean by the Canaanite a particular People descended from Canaan, as he doth XV. 21. or, in general, all the Nations, which the Ifraelites afterward destroyed. It feems to me the first of these is meant, and that by Land he means only that part of the Country where Sichem lay, which was then possefied by this particular People. For, in the next place that Abram went to, it is faid, The Canaanite and the Perizzite dwell then in the Land, (XIV. 7.) i. e. in that part of the Country. Where we do not read what Entertainment Abram met withal; but I take it, as an Argument of Abram's great Faith, that he would adventure among fuch a rough and fierce People : Who had no kindness for the Posterity of Shem upon an old Score; and if the ancient Tradition in Épiphanius be true, upon a fresh Account. For he faith (Hæref. LXVI. n. 84.) that this Country called Canaan, did really belong to the Children of Shem, by Virtue of the Division made among the Sons of Noah : But the Children of Canaan had dispossefield them. So that these words, the Ganaanite was then in the Land, fignifies, they had already invaded this Country, before Abraham'came thither. To whom God promifing to give it, he only reftored the Posterity of Shem, (from whom Abram descended) unto that which the Children of Ham had wrongfully feized.

By all which it is easie to see how frivolous their Reasonings are, who from this place conclude Moses did not write this Book: Because these words seem to fignifie the Writer of them lived after the Canaanites Chapter were thrown out of this Land: Which was after XII. Mofes his Death.

to

If thefe Men had not a greater Inclination to Cavil, than to find out the Truth, they would rather have faid the meaning is, The Canaanite was poffeffed of this part of the Country in Abraham's time, though thrown out of it by Jacob's Sons, (Gen.XXXIV.) before the Times of Moses. Which is another way of explaining these words: Against which I see no Objection but this, That their Prince is called an Hivite, XXXIV.'2. To which there is an Answer, verse 30. which shows the People were partly Cannanites.

Ver. 7. And the LORD appeared unto Abram.] Verle 7. As he had done before, (Verse 1) but now, it is likely, in a more glorious manner; to establish him in Faith and Obedience.

And faid unto him, &c.] There was a Voice came from the Shechinah, or Divine Glory, which now appeared to him; and told him this was the Country he intended to beftow upon his Pofterity. It is very remarkable that he no fooner entred Canaan, but God renewed his Promife to him, made before he came out of his own Country.

And it is further obfervable, (as we fhall fee in the following Story) that Abram's Obedience was conftantly rewarded in kind, according to the quality of the Service he performed: Though in quantity, the Reward far exceeded the Service. Thus having left his own Country and Father's Houfe, (which was the first trial of his Obedience) God promifes to give him the whole Land of Canaan, and to make his Posterity a mighty Nation. See XVII. 6-XXII. 16.

5 2

And

A COMMENTART

244 Chapter XII.

And there he built an Altar, &c.] This was fo glorious an Appearance, that it moved him to offer up a folemn Sacrifice to God; for which he built an. Altar here in Sichem. And it being the first that he built in this Country, it made this become the first place that was established for Publick Worship, after the Ifraelites conquered the Land of Ganaan. For here was the Sanctuary of God in Joshna's time, near this very Grove where Abram first pitched his Tenr, and built an Altar, Josh. XXIV. 1, 25, 26. It continued famous also in after-times, as appears from Judg. IX. 6.

Verse 8.

Ver. 8. And he removed from thence unto a Mountain, &c.] Though the LORD here appeared to him, yet he did not think fit to truft himfelf among the Canaanites, (who were the chief of the wicked Nations, that poffeffed this Land) or, he thought fit to fee the reft of the Country, which God promifed to give him: And therefore came hither, which was about tmenty Miles further Southward.

And there he built an Altar.] Upon the Mountain; where they anciently chose to facrifice, rather than in other places. And, it is likely, God again appeared to him here, to encourage and strengthen him against all his Fears. Which made him build a new Altar and offer Sacrifices of Thanksgiving to God, to implore his continued Favour.

And it is observable, That the Promise which God made in the former place, verse 7. he renewed again in this, and more at large, after he came out of Egypt, XIII. 3, 4, 14, 15, 16.

On the East of Bethel.] So it was called in after-

Ver.

npon GENESIS.

Ver. 9. And Abram journeyed, &c.] He did not Chapter think fit to fix yet in the fore-named place : But XII. made a further progrefs into the Southern parts of the Country. Yet, after he had been in Egypt, Verfe 9. (the Story of which follows) he returned to this place.

Ver. 10. A Famine in the Land.] Of Canaan. Verle 10. He went down.] Egypt lay low in comparison with Canaan.

To fojourn.] Not to dwell there: For he doubted not of God's Promife to him, of poffeffing the Land which he had left.

Ver. 11. Thou art a fair Woman, &c.] She was now Verle 11. threefcore Years old: But having comely Features, and being of a fair Complexion, (in comparison with the Egyptians, who were fallow) fhe feemed to be younger than fhe was.

Ver. 12. They will kill me.] Knowing them to Verfe 12. be a libidinous People, he was afraid they might be tempted to make him away; that they might have his Wife.

Ver. 13: Say, thou art my Sister.] He himfelf, upon Verle 13: another occasion, explains in what sence the was so, XX. 12. Therefore he teaches her not to tell a Lye, but to conceal the Truth.

Ver. 15. Pharaoh.] The Egyptian Kingdom began Verfe 15about three hundred Years before this, (in the days of Ragau, XI. 18. if the Arabian Writers fay true) and now was grown to be very powerful, by the means of fome King of this Name; which (it appears by this place) was very ancient, and continued to be the Name of all the Kings of Egypt, till the Captivity of Babylon; and we know not how much longer. Just as Ptolemy was their Name after the times of 245 Chapter XII.

A COMMENTARY

of Alexander: And Casar and Augustus were the Names of all the Emperours of Rome; and Candace of all the Queens of Æthiopia; and the like may be obferved in several other Countries. Ludolphus takes Pharaob to be a compound word, signifying as much as Father of the Country: For that's the meaning of Phar-ot, in the Æthiopick Language; as Pharmut is Mother of the Country.

The Princes also, &c.] The Courtiers who studied to gratify their Prince's Pleasure.

Was taken into Pharaob's House.] Into the House of the Women, it is probable, (for the Egyptian Kings were now, as I said, very great; like those of Persia in after-times) intending to make her one of his Concubines.

- Verse 16. Ver. 16. And he had Sheep and Oxen, &c.] By the Gift of the King; besides those he had of his own before.
 - Verse 17. Ver. 17. And he plagued Paraoh, &c.] Some of the Hebrews think they had grievous Ulcers in the Secret Parts; which made both him and his Servants uncapable to enjoy either her, or any one else.

His House.] His Courtiers partake of the Punishment; because they were Partners in the intended Sin.

Verfe 18. Ver. 18. Why didft thou not tell me, &c.] Some think he fpeaks this fubtilly to Abraham, to fee what he would fay; not knowing yet that fhe was his Wife. Or, that his Priefts and wife Men had confulted the Oracles about the Caufe of their Plagues. But the fimpleft Account is, That Sarai being interrogated about it, confeffed the whole Truth. Whereupon he expoftulated thus with Abram; who being filent, filent, he took it for granted, that indeed she was Chapter his Wife.

. Ver. 19. Now therefore behold thy Wife, &c.] He difclaims all Intention of abufing another Man's Wife, Verfe 19. (fo Vertuous they were in those days) but would have made her his own, (as he faith in the foregoing words, I might have taken her to me to Wife;) that is, a fecondary Wife, as the manner was in those days; for it is not likely he had no Wife at all before.

Ver. 20. Pharaoh commanded his Men concerning Verse 20. him, &c.] Gave strict Orders none should hurt him, or any thing belonging to him : But conduct him fafely, whether he had a mind to go. And accordingly the next words tell us they did.

They fent him away, &c.] Not with Violence, but gave him a fafe Conduct: Sending him away, perhaps, with a Guard for his Security. Such was the Generofity of the Egyptian Princes in those times.

CHAP. XIII.

Ver. 1. [Nto the South.] Into the Southern part of Verse 1. Canaan, where he had been before, XII.9.

Ver. 2. Very rich. &c.] His Riches were increased Verse 2. fince he went into Egypt, by the Bounty of Pharaoh, XII. 16. And, (if we could believe Josephus, L. I. Antiq. c. 8.) by the Rewards he had for teaching them several Pieces of Learning, which he brought out of Chaldæa. The Author of Schalsch. Hakkab. quotes Eusebius his Præpar. Evang. L. IX. c. 45 to prove this. And indeed, I find Eusebius quoting Josephus in Chapter XIII. Arithmetick and Aftrology, of which the Egyptians were ignorant before: And in the XVIIth Chapter Eupolemus, who fays that Abram was familiarly converfant with the Egyptian Priefts at Heliopolis, (when he went thither by reafon of the Famine in Canaan) and taught them many things; particularly the Cæleftial Sciences; which he calls Astrology, i. e. the Knowledge of the Stars.

ACOMMENTART

Verle 3.

Verle 4.

248

Ver. 3. Unto Bethel, &c.] Which was the fecond Place wherein he dwelt, after his first entrance into Canaan, XII. 8.

Ver. 4. Unto the place of the Altar, &c.] This feems to intimate that the Altar it felf, was either faln or thrown down. Some think demolished by Abram himself, when he left the place; others by the Canaanites when he was gone.

And there Abram called on the Name of the LORD.] Commended himfelf, and all he had, to God's Protection: Who had promifed to beftow this Country upon him. Perhaps he built the Altar again, and offered Sacrifice thereon.

Verfe 5.

Ver. 5. And Lot alfo, &c.] God had bleffed him likewife as a faithful Companion of Abraham in his Travels; and Partaker alfo of his Faith.

Werfe 6. Ver. 6. The Land was not able to bear him, &c.] There was not fufficient Pasturage for them both, in that part of the Country.

Verle 7.

Ver. 7. And there was a strife, &c.] Wealth commonly breeds Contentions. Yet here was no difference between the Masters; but between their Serwants: Each endeavouring to get the best Pastures, and the best watering Places for their Flocks.

And

And the Canaanite and the Perizzite, &c.] This Chapter part of the Country, was inhabited by the People, XIII. peculiarly called Canaanites, and by the Perizzites, (a very very rugged and barbarous Nation. See XV. 20.) among whom Contention would have been dangerous, at leaft very fcandalous.

Ver. 8. Abram faid to Lot.] The beft, the wifeft, Verfe 8. and Men of greatest Experience in the World, are most inclined to Peace; and most yielding in order to it.

Let there be no strife between me and thee.] There had been none yet; but their Servants Quarrel, might have proved theirs at last.

And between my Herds-men, &c.] And here, fignifies or : As XIX. 12. Exod. XII. 5.

For we are Brethren.] Near Kinsmen, whom the Hebrews call Brethren.

Ver. 9. Is not the Land before thee, &c.] There is Verle 9. room enough, though not here, yet in other parts of the Country: Now, fince we cannot remain together, take thy choice which way thou wilt go, &c. A wonderful Condefcenfion in Abram, to let the younger, and leaft in Eftate, pleafe himfelf. And he did not defire Lot to leave the Country, but only to fettle himfelf in what part of it he liked beft; that he might be near to help him, as he did afterwards.

Ver. 10. Beheld all the Plain of Jordan, &c.] A Verfe 10. fruitful and pleafant Country, well watered by the Streams of Jordan: Which in many windings and turnings run through it, and at fome times overflowed it; which made the Ground very rich. And therefore Mofes compares this Plain to the Garden of Eden, (as most understand those words, the Garden K k ef

A COMMENTARY

Chapter of the LORD,) which was well watered by a Ri-XIII. ver running through it: And to the Land of Egypt; which is fatned by the overflowing of Nile, as this was by the overflowing of Jordan.

As thou comest to Zoar.] These words are not to be referred to the Land of Egypt, immediately foregoing, (from which Zoar was at a great distance,) but to those words in the beginning, a Plain well watered every where; even to the utmost Skirts of it, which was Zoar.

Verse 11. Ver. 11. And Lot chose him all the Plain of Jordan.] He was invited by the richness of the Soil; without regard to the Manners of the People: Which proved afterwards a great Affliction to him.

And Lot journeged East.] For the Plain of Jordan lay East from Bethel, where they now were.

- Verle 12. Ver. 12. And Abram dwelt in the Land of Canaan, &cc.] In that part of the Country, where the People peculiarly called Canaanites (Verse 7: and XII.6.) were feated: Otherwise, if the Land of Canaan be taken largely, the Plain of Jordan was also a part of it.
- Verse 13. Ver. 13. The Men of Sodom were wicked, &c.] Their Sins were grown ripe for Punishment; having been brought (as it were) before the LORD; and sentenced at his Tribunal, to the Judgment which shortly after befel them.
- Verse 14. Ver. 14. And the LOR D faid unto Abram, &c.] It is likely the LOR D appeared again to him, (as he had done formerly, XII. 7.) after Lot was separated from him: Both to comfort him in his absence, by renewing his Promise in larger words; and to assure him that his Posterity, not Lot's, should inherit this Country. Lift

250

upon GENESIS.

Lift up thine eyes, &c.] He dwelt now, it is like-Chapter ly, upon the Mountain, which was on the East of XIII. Bethel, (where he pitched his Tent before he went into Egypt, XII. 8. and returned to it when he came from thence, Ver. 3, 4. of this Chapter,) which gave him the advantage of a fair and long prospect of the Country every way.

251

Ver. 15. For all the Land thou feeft, &c.] That Verle 15. whole Country, fome Parts of which he faw a great way, in every Quarter of it, and all the reft contiguous to them, were hereby affured to him.

For ever.] It doth not fignifie ftrictly Time without end: But a very long Period. The fews indeed fay that this word Olam, when it is written full, as they fpeak; that is, with Vau, denotes Eternity; though without Vau they confess it fignifies only a long time. But this small Observation is quite overthrown by many Examples to the contrary. For, Exod. XV. 18. where the Lord is faid to reign for ever, this word Olam is without a Vau, and yet denotes Eternity. And Deut. XV. 17. where it is faid, he shall be thy Servant for ever; it is written with a Vau, and yet denotes only a term of fifty Years at the most.

Ver. 16. I will make thy Seed as the dust of the Verse 16. Earth, &c.] More than could be contained in that Land.

Ver. 17. Arife, walk through the Land, &c.] He Verle 17. would have him, for his fatisfaction, go and view it all more nearly, in every part of it. Or, he gives him leave (if he defired to understand more fully, both the Quality and Quantity of the Inheritance he bestowed on him) to go and survey it: Promising he would protect and preferve him in his perambu-K k 2 lation.

A COMMENTARY

Chapter lation. Nay, fome look upon this, as giving him a XIII. Warrant to take posseffion of the Country, though he should not yet enjoy it.

252

Verle 18. Ver. 18. Then Abram removed his Tent.] To a place about Twenty four Miles from Bethel, where he was before.

> And dwelt in the Plain.] Here the word we had before XII. 6. is in the Plural Number; and is taken by many for Oaks, i. e. for an Oaken Grove: So the Arabick Interpreter. The LXX. translate it, $\pi a e g^2 \ddot{\tau}$ $\delta \rho u \ddot{o}$, by the Oak, in the Singular Number; for there feems to have been one Oak more eminent than the reft. Under which Abram pitched his Tent, and built an Altar unto the LORD.

> This is confirmed by XVIII. I. compared with Verse 8. And indeed the Ancients very much reverenced an Oak, and thererefore planted this Tree very frequently. Jacob buried the Idolatrous Trumpery of his Family under an Oak, (XXXV. 4.) which was by Schechem, where the place of Publick Worship feems to have been fix'd in Joshua's time, Josh. XXIV. I, 26. The Angel of the LORD also appeared to Gideon under an Oak, Judg. VI. 11, 19, 25. IX. 6. And of all other Trees, an Oak was held most Sacred by the Heathen; particularly by the Druids. See Plimy, L. XVI. c. 44. Max. Tyrius, Differt. 34. And Pausanias in his Account of Arcadia fays, the Ancients made the Images of their Gods of Oak, being the most durable Wood.

> This Oak some fansie was in being in the time of Constantine, and there was great resort to it. See Sozomen, L.II. cap. 4. Here Abram dwelt a long time, and many great things passed here, before he removed to any other place.

> > Mamre.

Mamre.] Was the Name of a Man among the Chapter Amorites, as appears from the next Chapter, verse XIII. 13.

Which is in Hebron.] Or rather, by or near Hebron, (for so the Particle Beth is often used,) which was a very ancient City, built seven Years before Zoar, i.e. the famous City of Tanis in Egypt, Numb. XIII. 22. It was called Arba, or Kirjath-Arba at the first, XXIII. 2. but in Mofes his time, Hebron. There are those indeed who say it was not called Hebron till the time of Joshua, who gave it to Caleb for his Portion, Jofs. XV. 12, 15. And thence conclude this Paffage was not wrote by Mofes, but put in by some other Hand, after his time. But I see not the least proof of this Affertion, that Caleb was the first who gave it this Name. His Grandson, mentioned I Chron. II. 42, 43. may rather be thought to have taken his Name from this Place, than to have given a Name to it. Befides, there have been two Occasions of giving one and the same Name; as appears by what is faid of Beersheba, XXI. 31. XXVI. 23. And therefore this City might have the Name of Hebron in Moles his time; and it might be confirmed in Johna's.

CHAP.

253

A COMMENTARY.

CHAP. XIV.

254 Chapter XIV.

Verse I. Ver. I. A ND it came to pass, &c.] It is very ea-fie to give an account of this War, which the Kings of the East made upon the King of Sodom and Gomorrah, &c. if what was faid before, XII. 6. be admitted; that the Canaanites had invaded the Rights of the Children of Shem, and gotten poffeffion of a Country belonging to them; which they now endeavoured to recover, (as they had attempted before, verse 4.) For Elam, of which Chedorleomer was King, descended from Shem, Gen. X. 22.

Amraphel King of Shinar.] i. e. King of Babylon, as it is commonly understood. But it cannot well be thought that fo potent a King, as he is supposed to have been in those days, should need any Associates in a War against fuch petty Princes, as those mentioned verse 2. Or, that the King of Elam (whofe Ouarrel this was, as appears from verfe 4.) should not be able of himfelf to grapple with them: Or, that the Kings of Sodom and Gomorrha, &c. durft have adventured, with a handful of People in comparison, to rebel against him, after he had brought them under his subjection. Therefore we must either take Amraphel to have been some small Prince in the Country of Shinar, i.e. Affyria: Or, if he were King of Babylon, that Monarchy was not very great in the days of Abram. And we must also look upon the reft as Names of some particular Places (like Sodom and Gomorrha) over which Arioch and Chedorlaomer reigned: Who were fuch Kings as those in Canaan when when Johna conquered it: Or elfe, Commanders of Chapter Colonies, which they had led out of Affyria and Per-XIV. fia, and fettling thereabouts endeavoured to inlarge their Plantations. As the manner was in those and in fucceeding Times; when the Captains of a Troop, and Leaders of a fmall Body of Men, were called Princes or Kings.

255

Ver.

Arioch King of Ellafar.] There was a City (mentioned by Stephanus de Urbibus) called Ellas, in Calo-Syria, on the Borders of Arabia; where Arioch perhaps commanded.

Chedorlaomer King of Elam.] Concerning this Country fee X. 22. where Chedorlaomer was either Governor of fome little Province or City; or, a Commander of fome Troop of that Nation.

Tidal King of Nations.] Some take Gojim in this place, which we tranflate Nations, for a Country or City. But it is more agreeable to the common ufe of the word in Scripture, to take it to fignifie a People: Who either wanted a fixed Habitation, or were gathered out of fundry Regions.

Thus part of Galilee being inhabited by a mixed People of divers Countries, was thence called Galilee of the Nations, or Gentiles, Matth. IV. 15. There were alfo, as Sir W. Raleigh observes, several petty Countries which adjoyned to Phanicia, (viz. Palmyrena, Batanea, Apamena, Laodicene, &c. which lay towards Mesopotamia on the North, and Arabia on the East,) over which we may suppose Tidal reigned. Eupolemus, an ancient Greek Writer, relating this Story, calls them Armenians, who made this inrode upon the Phanicians, as Eusebius tells us out of Alexander Polybistor. L. IX. Prapar. Evang. c. 17.

Ver. 2. These made War with Bera King of Sodom. Chapter &c.] They were Lords of the Country called Pen-XIV. - tapolis, or five Cities. Which were fo fmall, that there Verse 2. was no great need to bring a great King from beyond Tigris, with fuch a mighty Monarch as he of Babylon. is thought now to have been; and feveral other Nations between these Kings and Euphrates, to subdue their petty Province. It had been madnefs alfo for these Kings to result such powerful Armies, as the Eaftern Kings are commonly supposed to have brought against them. And therefore I think it reasonable by the Kings in the first Verse to understand some fuch petty Princes as these mentioned in the fecond.

Verle 3. Ver. 3. Valley of Siddim.] The five Cities flood in this goodly Valley, which now is the Salt-Sea or Lake: Since the overthrow of these Cities by Fire and Brimflone from Heaven. Some will not have Siddim a proper Name, but translate it ploughed Lands; in which this Valley was very rich.

•Verfe 4. Ver. 4. Twelve Years they ferved Chedorlaomer, &c.] This fhows he was the Principal in this War: And if he had been King of all that Country called Elam, we cannot think he would have paffed through fo great a part of the World, as Afyria, Mesopotamia, and part of Arabia to conquer five Towns. All whose Riches could not countervail the Charge; though he had fent only one of his Lieutenants, with a small Force to bring them under.

Verse 5.

Ver. 5. Smote the Rephaims.] In their way to Sodom, they subdued these Warlike People, who, it is likely, opposed their Passage into Pentapolis. And these Rephaims, it appears by XV. 20. were a part of Canaan's Posterity, situate (as one may gather from Josh.

256

Job. XII. 4. XIII. 12.) on the other fide Jordan, in Chapter Bashan, or Batanea. They were of a Giant-like Sta-XIV. ture : And therefore the LXX. here and in other places, instead of Rephaim, have Giants.

Afhtaroth-Karnaim.] It is plain from the forenamed place, and from Deut. I. 4. that Afhtaroth was a place in Bafhan. Whether fo called, becaufe the Goddels Aftarte, i. e. Diana or Juno, was here worfhipped, no Body can refolve. They that are of this Opinion fanfie that Karnaim, which in Hebrew fignifies two horned, denotes the New Moon. But this word may as well note that Afhtaroth was a City in the form of a half Moon.

And the Zuzims.] Another Warlike People thereabouts: Who, fome think, are the fame with the Zamzummims, Deut. II. 10.

The Emims.] It appears from Deut. II. 9, 10, &c. that these were also a Gigantick People, and near Neighbours to the Horites, mentioned in the next Verse. For the Emims posses of the field of Kirjath-jearim; and the Horites posses of Mount Seir; till the former were driven out by the Moabites, and the latter by the Children of Esan: And then the Country of the Emims was called Moab, and the Country of the Horites was called Edom.

Ver. 7. And they returned.] From the Conquest of Verse 7. the fore named People.

And came to En-misspat.] Fell upon this Country, which was called afterward by this Name; because God here judged the Israelites for their Murmurings, and Contention with Mases. From whence also it was called Kadesh, because here the Lord was sanctified among them, Num. XX. 13.

A COMMENTARY

258 Chapter

XIV.

All the Country of the Amalekites.] The Country which was afterwards poffeffed by the Amalekites: who were not yet in being : For they were the Dem scendants of Esan, as Moses thows, Gen. XXXVI. 16. And alfo the Amorites, who dwelt in Hazczon-Tamar.] Which is the fame with En-Gaddi, near the dead Sea. 2 Chron. XX. 2.

Ver. 10. Full of Slime-pits.] Into which they hoped Verse 10. their Enemies might fall, and so be broken : Which made them draw up their Army, and wait for them in this place.

And the Kings of Sodom and Gomorrha fled.] Were routed, as we now speak. Of the word Slime see XI. 2.

And fell there.] i. e. A great flaughter was made of their Armies : For they themselves escaped, it appears by the following part of the Story. Some will have it, that many of them fell into those Slime-pits, in which they hoped to have feen their Enemies plunged. But the fimplest Sence is; many of them were flain, and the reft, as it follows, escaped to the Mountain. But made such ill use of their Preservation, from being killed with their Fellows, that they only lived to fuffer a greater Vengeance.

Verle 11. Ver. 11. And they took all the Goods, &c.] This is a further proof that Chedorlaomer, and the reft of his Confederates in this War, were but petty Princes. (like the Kings of Sodom and Gomorrha, &c.) for having broken the Army of the five Kings, they refted contented, and march'd away with the Prisoners and Booty; but took not one of their Cities: Which, if they had been fuch great Kings, as is imagined, they would have certainly fack'd, and perhaps burnt, if they had not thought fit to keep them. But we read, Verle

upon GENESIS.

Verse 17. the King of Sodom still reigned after this Chapter Victory, and went out of his City, to meet A-XIV. bram.

Ver. 12. And they took Lot, &c.] Who is here cal-Verfe 12. led his Brother's Son, and Verfe 14, and 16. Abram's Brother. This was the Foundation of Abram's Quarrel with the Four Kings; whofe War was just against the King of Sodom and his Confederates: But they unjustly feized upon Lot and his Goods; who was but a Sojourner in that Country, and had no hand in their Revolt.

Who dwelt in Sodom] In the Country of Sodom, where he hired fome Ground for his Cattel; but it is not likely he yet dwelt in the City, (for then he had not been taken Captive,) but afterwards, for more fecurity, betook himfelf thither.

Ver. 13. Told Abram the Hebrew.] So called from Verle 13. his Anceftor, Heber, as was before obferved. To which may be added, That if he had been called by this Name, as many think, only from his paffing over Eupbrates, (which the LXX. took to be the reafon, when they translated it $\pi e d \pi m c$) it would not have defcended to all his Posterity, who did not come from beyond the River. So little a thing as that, would not have given a Name to a whole and eminent Nation; who are usually denominated from fome eminent Progenitor.

And thefe were confederate with Abram.] The three fore-named Families were near Neighbours to Abram; who, it is likely, farmed (as we now fpeak) fome Ground of them: and fo entred into a League of Mutual Defence, having the fame Intereft. I fhould think alfo, that having the Prieft of the most High God not far from them, Verfe 18. they were good, L1 2 pious pious People, (rather than conclude, as I find some Chapter do, that they were utter strangers to the true Religixiv. on) which made Abram more forward to embrace, S if not to court, their Friendship. For the Sins of the Amorites being not yet full, (XV. 16.) there might be some remainders of true Piety among them : And it is no Argument, that because these three Familes were of that Nation, they were wicked Idolaters.

A COMMENTARY

Verse 14.

260

Ver. 14. Armed his trained Servants.] Drew forth a select number of his Servants, whom he had instructed to handle Arms ; in case of any Affaults by Robbers or injurious Neighbours. We read before, XII. 5. of the Servants they brought with them from Haran; and now they were more increased, as their Cattel were, (XII. 16. XIII, 2, 6.) fo that he might well make a little Army out of them.

And pursued them to Dan.] As far as that place, where one of the Heads or Springs of Jordan breaks forth, called Dan, as Josephus relates, where he speaks of this very History, L. I. Antiq. c. 10. This plain and short Account of this word Dan, overthrows the Argument which Cavellers draw from hence to prove that Moles did not write this Book.

Verle 15. Ver. 15. And he divided himself against them, he and his Servants by night.] The Vulgar Latin here reads, His Companions being divided, he fell upon them by Night : Minding rather the fence, than the words. For here is no mention of any but Abram and his Servants: Though it appears by the last Verfe of the Chapter, that his Confederates before-mentioned, Verse 13. Aner, Escol, and Mamre, joyned with him in this Expedition. Which they managed with great Judgment, (for Stratagems in War were never wanting, from the beginning) Abram and his Servants making making one Troop, or Battalion, (as they now speak) Chapter and the Confederates making three more. Who, di-XIV. viding themselves, fell upon the four Kings, in the four Quarters of their Camp: That they might the more distract them; and make them apprehend their Forces to be more numerous, than indeed they were. They were put also into the greater Confusion, because this Affault was made in the Night: When, perhaps, they were buried both in Wine and in Sleep.

Ver. 15. Unto Hobah.] Which lay in the Vale Verse 15. between Libanus and Antilibanus : Called by Amos I. 5. the Valley of Aven, and Beth Eden, or the Seat of Pleasure. In this Vale was Damascus seated.

Ver. 16. He brought back all the Goods, &c.] All Verse 16. the Prey, whether in Money, Cattle, or other things, which the four Kings had carried away.

The Women also, and the People.] It feems they had carried away all the People of Pentapolis, who did not flee to the Mountains, or fenced Cities. And Women, in those days, were a special part of their Booty.

Ver. 17. Went out to meet him.] To congratulate Verse 17. his Victory; and to defire his People might be restored to him.

At the Valley of Shaveh.] This feems to have been a pleafant Place, wherein the King (that is Melchizedeck, I guess by what follows) took delight. Whence it was called the King's-Dale. In which the King of Sodom met Abram; and Melchizedeck entertained him with Bread and Wine.

Ver. 18. And Melchizedeck.] The Jews generally Verfe 18. fay this was Shem, the Son of Noah. But we have reason to look upon this Opinion, as proceeding from

A COMMENTART

262

from their Pride and Vanity: Which could not en-Chapter dure to think the Father of their Nation had any Su-XIV. perior in another Nation, efpecially among the Ca-S naanites. And therefore they will have Abram to have been bleffed by his great Anceftor Shem; to whom also he paid Tithes: Which is a fancy so plainly confuted by the Apostle to the Hebrews, that it is strange any Christians should follow it. For he faith exprelly, that Melchizedeck was not rereadorsmer G. It autor, VII. 6. his Descent, or Pedigree, was not counted from them : Which is not true of Shem. Nor could Shem be faid to be without Father or Mother; whole Genealogy is evident from Adam. Nor was Shem's Priesthood, if he had any, of a different Order from Levi's; who was in his Loins, as well as in the Loins of Abram. And therefore it could not be faid that Levi paid him Tithes in the Loins of Abram. but it would be as true that he received Tithes in the Loins of Shem: For, according to this Interpretation, he was in the Loinsboth of him that received Tithes, and of him that paid them; and fo the whole. Argumentation of the Apostle falls to the Ground. But setting aside these and other Christian Reasons, (which are ftrongly urged by Bochartus, L. II. Phaleg, c. 1.) there is no Caufe, that we can difcern, why Mofes thould call Shem (whom he fo often mentions) by any other Name than his own : Nor is it likely that Shem reigned in the Land of Canaan; which now was in the poffettion of his Brother's Son : Nor could Abram be faid to, sojourn there as in a Arange Country, if his Noble Ancettor, Shem, had been a King there. Nor is this an ancient Opinion among the Jews, at least not constantly believed : For Josephus fays expresly, that Melchizedeck was Xavavaíav Subasns, a Potentate of 5 of the Canaanites, L. VII. de Bello, Jud. c. 18. And Chapter yet it was fo common that it went to the Samaritans, XIV. as Epiphanius tells us, Haref. LV. n. 6. (though not U to the Arabians, who fay he was the Son of Peleg. See Hotting. Swegens: Orient. 256, 269, 306.) and many Christians have embraced it, merely (as far as I can difcern) becaufe they would not acknowledge any good Man to have been then among the Canaanites. Some Hereticks held him to be usa' in The Subaur, as Epiphanius tells us in the place fore-mentioned, Num. I. Which was the Opinion of Hieracas, a great Scholar and famous Phyfician in Egypt, Haref. LXVII. n. 2. And some of the Church took him to have been the Son of God himfelf, who then appeared to Abram, er idea aulowns, in the form of a Man, Haref. LV. n. 7. But the plain truth is, he was a King and Prieft (for those two Offices anciently were in the same Person) in that Country : Where Men were not as yet wholly degenerated, and faln from the true Religion.

King of Salem.] It is a great Error to think that this Salem was the fame with Jerufalem. For it is plain, as Bochart observes, (L. II. Phaleg, c. 4.) that Salem was In the way which led from the Valley of Damascus unto Sodom: Which we learn from this very place of Scripture. And fo St. Hierom fays, that he learnt from the Jews in his time, that it was seated on this side of Jordan: And it retained it's Name in our Saviour's days, as appears by the Story of John's Baptizing near Salim, Joh. III. 23. Several of the Fathers are of the fame Mind, quoted by Mr. Selden in his Review of the History of Tithes, p. 452.

Brought

A COMMENTARY

264 Chapter XIV. \sim

Brought forth Bread and Wine. This he did as a King, not as a Priest: For it was not an Act of Religion, but of Hospitality. Thus Heathens themselves understood this History, as we find by Eupolemus, (quoted by Eusebius, L. IX. c. 17.) who faith he received Abram as they were wont to do Strangers; in a City called Argarizin, which he interprets the Mount of the most High : We know not in what Language it fo fignifies, or whether it be misprinted for Harelion: But, I think, the plain fence is, that he treated Abram and his Followers, by caufing Provisions to be brought forth for their Refreshment after the Fight. For Bread and Wine comprehended all fort of Provision for their Repast : As to eat Bread with another, in this Book, is to feast with him, XLIII. 25. And thus Tertullian it is certain understood it; who faith expresly, he brought them forth to Abram, and offered them to him, and not to God, L. adv. Judeos, c. 3. And Epiphanius observes that the word in the Greek is not ralavelne, but Izebane, not he offered, but brought out. So it seems his Copy had it.

Verle 19. Ver. 19. And he bleffed him.] This he did as a Priest, (which Office is just before-mentioned) as he did the other as a King.

> Bleffed be Abram of the most bigh God.] He prayed God to confirm the Bleffing, which he had pronounced upon him.

> Possession of Heaven and Earth.] Rather Creator, as the LXX. and Vulgar Latin translate it. See Dr. Spencer, L. I. de Leg. Hebr. c. 4. § 10. and Lud. de Dieu before him, in his Notes on this place, and Hotting. Smegma Orient. p. 87. By this, and the next Verle, wherein he gives Glory to the most high God for Abram's Victory, it is apparent that he was a Worhipper fhipper of the One only True God, the Maker and Chapter Governor of all things : To whom he also ministred XIV. in the Office of a Prieft; who bleffed Men in his www Name.

265

And he gave him.] i. e. Abraham gave to Melchizedeck, as the Apostle explains it, Hebr. VII. 2. But the words are so doubtful as they lie here, that Eupolemus (in the place above-mentioned) thought Melchizedeck had bestowed Gifts upon Abram.

Tithes of all.] He doth not fay of what all ; but that which goes before leads us to think he means Tithes of all the Spoil, which he had taken from Chedorlaomer, &c. For he had nothing elfe there to Tithe; unless it were the remainder of the Provifions he had carried along with him in this Expedition : All the reft of his own Estate being many Miles off, at Mamre. And thus Josephus interprets it, Senatiw & reizs, the Tithe of what was gotten by War. And thus the Apoltle himfelf feems to expound it, Hebr. VII. For having faid, Verse 2. he gave him the tenth part of all: When he comes to argue from this, he calls it the tenth part of the Spoils, Verse 4. And indeed it was a very ancient Custom to offer to God (whole Priest Melchizedeck was) the tenth part of what they took in War. Diodorns Siculus reports it of the Greeks; and many Authors of the Romans. From whence we cannot infer that they gave only Tithe of fuch things; but rather, that these were extraordinary Acknowledgments of God's Mercy to them : Which it was usual to make, out of those Possessions which he had bleffed them withal. For why should they give Tithe of the Spoils, If they were not wont to pay Tithe of of other things? And therefore St. Chryfoltom makes this Reflection upon this Practice of Abram; That it thould teach us to be willing and ready to offer unto God, amagyas, the First-Fruits of all that he hath bestowed on us. This is confirmed by the Story of Facob : Which, together with this of Abram, flows plainly the Cuftom of paying Tithes was before the Law of Moles: And that not only of the Spoils of War, but of their Flocks, Corn, and other Fruit, which Jacob vowed unto God, XXXIII 22. See there.

ACOMMENTARY

266

Chapter XIV.

Verse 21. Ver. 21. Give me the Persons, &c.] A truly generous Disposition becoming a King; to love the Persons of his Subjects better than their Goods.

Verse 22. Ver. 22. I have lift up my Hand.] i.e. Sworn, 25. the Phrase is used in many places, Exod. VI. 8. Numb. XIV. 20, &c.

Pollestor of Heaven and Earth.] See Verse 19.

Verle 22. Ver. 23. I will not take from a Thred, &c.] i. e. The meanest thing.

I have made Abram rich.] He would have this to be only the Work of God; who promifed, a great while ago, to blefs him, and had now renewed his Promise by Melchizedeck. And he would not have it thought that love of Spoil had carried him to the War; but only love of Justice. In short, here is a most noble Example (as Maimonides observes, P. III. More Nevoch. c. 50.) of Contentedness with what he had, of despising Riches, and seeking Praise rather from Virtue.

And

22

Verle 24. Ver. 24. Except only that which the young Men (i. e. the Soldiers) have eaten. For which he did not think it reasonable they should pay.

upon GENESIS.

267

And the Portion of them that went with me.] He Chapter XV. could not bind his Confederates by his own Act; but left them to deal with their Countrymen as they w pleased : In either keeping their share of the Spoil, or parting with it, as he had done. The Jews truly observe, that they who staid with the Stuff and Carriages, had their Portion equal with those that fought : As we read in the Story of David, I Sam. -XXX. 25. But it is not certain that this Cuftom was as old as Abram's time; which they would gather from this place. For here they take the young Men for those who fought and pursued the Enemy : And Aner, Efficol, and Mamre, staid to guard the Carriages. But I fee no ground for this; it being most probable, as I observed before, that they attack'd the Enemy, as well as Abram's Servants; and thereby acquired a Title to part of the Spoil. But whether we confider it this way, or the other, Abram could not give away their Right, when he generoully parted with his own.

CHAP. XV.

Ver. 1. A ND after these things.] After this great Verse 1. Victory, and his generous refusal of the King of Sodom's offer.

The Word of the LORD came to Abram.] God revealed himfelf more clearly to him. For this is the first time we read, of the Word of the LORD coming to him; and of his having a Vision: That is, being made a Prophet, and that in an high Degree; M m 2 God

A COMMENTART

Chapter XV.

268

God revealed his Mind to him, not in a Dream, but in a Vision; when he was awake, but having his Senfes (as Maimonides explains it) bound up from their ordinary Functions; during the time that the heavenly Influence came upon his Mind, and diffued itelf to his Imagination; where it represented feveral things to him; More Nevochim, P. II. c. 41. But these woulds may be understood, of his having these things represented to him, by the Divine Majesty; when he was perfectly awake, and used all his. Senfes.

Fear not, Abram.] He heard thefe words, while he was in the Ecstafie, (according to Maimonide's Explication) incouraging his hope in God, that he and Lot should be faste from any new Invasion by these, or any other Enemies. For, perhaps there were some Rumours abroad of the Affyrians recruiting their Forces; with an Intention to renew the War.

I am thy Shield.] I will protect and defend thee.

And thy exceeding great Remard.] Will give thee far more, than thou hast lately denied to take, for my fake.

Verse 2.

Ver. 2. LOR D God, what wilt thou give me, &c.] What good will all the Riches in the World do me, if I have not a Child to inherit my Eftate?

To go childlefs.] Is to die, (to go out of the World without Children) as Luke XXII. 22. truly. the Son of Man goeth, i. e. must die shortly. He doth not slight God's Promise made in the foregoing Verse; but only defires him to be so gracious as to give him a Child for his Remard.

Land.

upon GENESIS

And the Steward of my Houfe is this, &c.] He that Chapter takes care of all I have, (and therefore deferves best of XV. me) is not of my Kindred.

269

Eliezer of Damascus.] Some think this fignifies no more, but that he was born of a Syrian Woman.

Ver. 3. And Abram faid, &c.] He repeats the Verfe 3. fame again, out of a great Concern to have God's Promife fulfilled : Which he did not disbelieve, but earneftly long'd for, more than for all the Riches in the World.

One born in my House is an Heir.] It is likely, that Eliezer was one of those Souls (i. e. Servants) gotten in Haran, (XII. 5.) and had been such a wile and faithful Manager of all things committed to his Care, that Abram intended, before the Promise made to him, to have left him his Heir: Thinking he should have no Child of his own; Sarab being barren, as we read, XI. 30.

Ver. 4. And behold, the Word of the LORD came to Verle 4... him, &c.] A new Affurance is given him, from the Schechinab, or Divine Majesty, that he should have an Heir begatten by himself.

Ver. 5. And he brought him forth abroad, and Verse 5. faid, &c.] Maimonides thinks (More Nev. P. II. c. 46.) that all this which follows was done in a Vision. But others will have it, that he was really conducted out of his Tent into the open Air, and look'd upon the Stars. The former Opinion is more probable, because the Sun was not yet gone down, verse 12. and therefore the Stars were not to be seen with the Eye, but were represented only in a Vision.

So shall thy Seed be.] Nehem. IX. 23. He not only promises him an Heir; but that this Heir should have

A COMMENTART

Chapter XV.

have a numerous Posterity. Which, as before XIII. 16. he compared to the Dust of the Earth; so here he compares to the Stars of Heaven. Showing (say some of the Jews) by the former their Humiliation; and by this their Exaltation and Advancement. And indeed, in this Chapter, he speaks of both.

Verse 6.

Ver. 6. He believed in the LORD.] Was fully perfuaded that God both could and would perform his Promife; though it feemed to be very difficult, if not impossible, according to the ordinary course of Nature: He and Sarah both, being very old.

And be accounted it to him for Righteousness.] The Lord effeemed it a most noble Act, and high Expresfion of a pious Confidence in him, (as that Act of Phineas was, in after-times, Pfalm CVI. 31.) and thereupon graciously owned him for a righteous Perfon: Though he was not free from all Sin whatsoever; but was guilty of fome that were not confistent with perfect Righteousness.

It is here to be confidered, That Abram believed this Promife before, (XII. 1, 2, 3, 4.) but now his Faith was the more remarkable; becaufe, notwithftanding fome time had paffed fince the first making of the Promife, and he had no Ifsue; he still perfisted in the belief, that God would bestow a Son upon him; though it grew every day more and more unlikely.

Verse 7.

Ver. 7. I am the LOR D that brought thee, &c.] He re-minds him of what he had already done for him; that he might confirm him in the belief of what he promifed further to do.

To give thee this Land, &c.] To bestow it upon thy Children for their Inheritance.

Ver.

upon GENESIS

Ver. 8. Whereby fhall I know, &c.] This is not fpo-Chapter ken doubtingly; for the firength of his Faith is high-XV. ly commended; but he defires to have it more and we more firength ned and confirmed: As fome good Men Verle 8. did in after-times, when they were put upon very difficult Services. So Gideon, Judg. VI. 37, &c.

Ver. 9. And he faid unto him, Take me an Hei-Verle 9. fer, &c.] i. e. Offer unto me (lo it fhould be rendered, as Mr. Mede observes, Book II. p. 472.) the following Creatures: Which are of four forts. From whence the Hebrew Doctors would persuade us the rise and the fall of the four Monarchies are signified in these words. But it is a better Observation, That God hereby fore-signified their Sins schould be expiated by Sacrifices. For these were the Creatures, and these alone, which were appointed to be offered in facrifice to God, by the Law of Moses. And it justifies their Opinion, who think there were clean and anclean Beasts, with respect to Sacrifice, before the Law; though not with respect to Meat.

Yet here is fomething fingular, That God required Abram to offer an Heifer of three Years old, with a Goat and a Ram of the fame Age; whereas afterwards, under the Law, they were commonly of one Year old. I know not the reason of this difference; but certain it is, that a Ram of three Years old, is in its full ftrength, and the vigour of its Age; as Bochars observes. Whence it is that Lucian introduces Gangmede proffering to offer unto Jupiter, (if he would difmiss him) $\ddot{\tau}$ recerfi, $\ddot{\tau}$ $\mu_{t}\gamma_{zv}$, &c. A Ram of three Years old, a big one, the Leader of the Flock. Hierozoic. P. I. Lib. II. c. 46.

A

A COMMENTART

Chapter Ayoung Pigeon.] The Hebrew word Gozal, fignifies XV. the young Ones of Ring-Doves, Wood-Pigeons, or any other of that kind; as he also observes.

Verse 10. Ver. 10. And he took unto him.] Now we must suppose he was come out of his Ecstassie; and really performed all that follows: Until he fell into it more yrofoundly than before.

Divided them in the midft.] There is no footstep of this Rite any where in the Scripture, fave only in the Prophet Feremy, XXXIV. 18, 19. But this place thows it to have been very ancient : And St. Cyril in his Tenth Book against Julian, derives this Custom from the ancient Chaldaans. As others derive the very word Berith, [ברית] which fignifies a Covenant, from the word used both here and in Jeremy, viz. , Batar, which is the very fame by Transposition of Letters, and signifies to divide or cut asunder. Because Covenants were made by dividing a Beast, and by the Parties covenanting, paffing between the parts of the Beast, so divided : Signifying, that so fhould they be cut alunder who broke that Covenant. Thus Mr. Mede in the place fore-mentioned, truly explains this Rite; which was as much as if they had faid : Thus let me be divided and cut in pieces, if I violate the Oath I have now made in the prefence of my God.

We find in Zenobius that the People called Molotti retained something of this Custom; for they confirmed their Oaths, when they made their Covenants, raranbalorres els ra unegà rès 685, by cutting Oxen into little bits.

Laid each piece one against another.] So that there was a space left between them; through which the Parties covenanting might pass. Which seems to be meant

upon G E N E S I S.

meant by Homer when he fays, Iliad. d. v. 461. that Chapter after the Priest had prayed to Apollo, the Sacrifice XV. was slain and slea'd, and then they cut it up, making Duplicates, which were exactly answerable one to the other.

Δίσθυχα ποιήσαντες,

But the Birds divided he not.] Thus it was prefcribed afterwards, Levit. I. 17. because they were but an appendage to the Sacrifice, and their Blood was not sprinkled upon the Altar. It is likely, not withstanding, that the Birds were laid one against the other, as the pieces of the Beasts were. And there being a Prophecy of the state of Abram's Family in future times, verse 13, 14. Some fansie that the Division of these Beasts represented the Dispersion of his Posterity into divers Countries.

Ver. 11. And when the Fowls came down, &c.] The Verle 11. Birds of prey. For the Hebrew word Ajit, fignifies Avis rapax & carnivora, ravenous Birds, that feed on Flefh. Whence Bochartus thinks an Eagle is called in Greek 'Aetro's and 'Autro's, as the principal Bird of prey. Hierozo. P. I. L. III. c. 12. And by these Fowls fome think the Egyptians are represented, who fell upon the Ifraelites; as rapacious Birds do upon dead Carcaffes, and endeavoured to hinder their offering Sacrifices unto God.

Abram drove them away.] He fat by the pieces of Flefh (as the LXX tranflate it) to watch left Vultures, or fuch like Creatures, fhould fnatch them away. For he looking upon them as things hallowed, watched to fee what God intended in them.

Ver.

273

A COMMENTARY.

274

Chapter Ver. 12. A deep fleep, &c.] Some would have it, XV. That he being tired with the great Labour of fetching the Sacrifices, cutting them up, and watching Verle 12. them, naturally fell into a Sleep. But Maimonides, more reasonably, looks upon this as the continuance of what was begun before in a Vision: Which at last was converted into a profound fleep; wherein things were represented to him in a Dream. And therefore their wife Men fay, this was a Prophetical Sleep. More Nevoch. P. II. c. 45.

An horror of great darknefs fell upon him.] Prophecy faith the fore-named Author, begins fometimes in Vifion; afterwards that Terror and vehement Passion, which follows the high working of the imaginative Faculty, being multiplyed, it ends in a deep Sleep, as it did here in Abram. Such a Terror also poffeffed Daniel in fome of his Visions, while he was awake, Dan. X. 8. as the fame Maimonides observes in the XLI. Chapter of that Book.

This Horror of great Darknels, many think fignified the difinal Condition of Abram's Pofterity in Egypt: Which God now reprefented to him. And this Horror coming upon him, at the going down of the Sun, was, they think, a further Signification of it. For we fay, a Man's Sun is fet, when he falls into great Calamities. And it fignified, fome imagined, these Calamities thould come upon them a great while hence.

Verse 13. Ver. 13. And he faid unto Abram, &c.] Here he informs him, what the State of his Family should be, from the birth of Ifaac: (which he had promised to him, Verse 5.) for the space of Four hundred Years.

Thy.

upon GENESIS.

Thy Seed.] This flows from whence the Four hun-Chapter dred Years are to commence: viz. From the time of XV. his having a Son.

Be a stranger in a Land that is not theirs.] i. e. Sojourn partly in Canaan and partly in Egypt. There are those indeed who fansie Canaan cannot be faid to be a Land that was not theirs; God having bestowed it upon Abram. But God himself teaches us otherwise, Exod. VI. 4. where he calls it, the Land of their Pilgrimage, wherein they were strangers: Because they were not at present posselled of it, though they had a good Title to it.

And they shall afflict them four hundred Years.] These four hundred Years are not to be referred only to what immediately goes before, [they shall afflict them] but to all the rest, their sojourning in a strange Land, and their being in Servitude. These three things were to come to pass within that space: So that it is as if he had said, Thy Seed shall not posses this Land till four hundred Years hence. During which time, they shall be Sojourners in this Land and in Egypt, and also, some part of it, be no better than Slaves, nay endure fore Affliction.

It must here be noted, That from the Birth of *I*faac, when these Years began, to their Deliverance out of the Egyptian Bondage, was just Four hundred and five Years. But the five odd Years are not mentioned; it being the manner of all Writers to take no notice of broken Numbers, (as they call them) when they name a round Sum. Thus the Greek Interpreters of the Bible are commonly called the LXX: Though there were Seventy two of them. And the Roman Writers call those Centumviri, who were in all an Hundred and five. And Moses in another N n 2 place,

275

Chapter place, Numb. XI. 21. faith, the Ifraelites were Six XV. bundred thousand; not reckoning the Three thousand five bundred and fifty above that Number, as appears from Numb. I. 46. and II. 32.

276

If it feems a difficulty, that their fojourning is faid in Exod. XII. 40. to have been Four hundred and thirty Years, it is removed by confidering, that in those Years is comprehended the time of Abram's fojourning alfo; as well as his Seed. And it was just twenty five Years from his coming into Canaan to the Birth of Isaac: Which, added to Four hundred and five Years before-mentioned, make up the Number of Four hundred and thirty. And this is fo exactly true, that if we divide this Sum of Four hundred and thirty into equal parts, it is computed by the best of the ancient, as well as later Writers, that the Hebrew Nation sojourned just Two hundred and fifteen Years in Canaan, (reckoning that fort time Abram was in Egypt, Chap. XII.) and as many after they went into Egypt. See Uffer. Chronol. Sacra, C. X.

Verse 14. Ver. 14. I will judge.] i. e. Punish them.

Verse 15. Ver. 15. Go to thy Fathers.] i. e. Die, and depart to the other World.

> In Peace.] And see none of the fore-named Calamities.

Verfe 16. Ver. 16. The Iniquity of the Amorites, &c.] Abram now lived among the Amorites, XIV. 13. But under their Name is comprehended all the other Nations of Canaan. Who were very wicked; but God forbare them till their Wickedness had overflowed the whole Country, and that to the greatest heighth. Their most heinous Iniquities, were abominable Idolatries, Cruelty, beastly Filthiness, to a prodigious excess, Levit. XVIII. 22, 23, &c. See TheoTheoloret upon Pfalm CV. 44. and P. Fagius upon Chapter Levit. V. 1. XV.

277

But in Abram's time their Iniquity was not full, i.e. There were feveral good Men ftill remaining among them, as Mamre, Efficol, and Aner feem to have been, who were confederate with Abram; and Melchizedek certainly was, who being Prieft of the most high God, had some People sure worshipped together with him. And therefore God staid till there was an universal Corruption, and they were all ripe for Destruction. For we read of none but Rabab whose Faith faved her and her Family, when the time of their Destruction came.

Ver. 17. Behold, a fmoking Furnace.] If the great Verle 17. Horror, ver. 12. reprefented the extream Milery of the Children of Ifrael in Egypt: Then this feems to fignifie God's Vengeance upon the Egyptians, for oppressing them in the Furnaces, wherein they wrought, Exod. IX. 8.

A burning Lamp, or a Lamp of Fire.] i.e. The Schechinah, or Divine Majesty, appeared in great Splendor, (so Maimonides rightly explains it, P. I. More Nev. cap. 21.) like to a flaming Fire. So it appeared to Moses, when God came to deliver them from the Egyptian Bondage, Exod. III. 2, 6, &c.

Paffed between the pieces.] In Token, as it follows, verse 18. that he entred into a Covenant with Abram and with his Posterity: For passing between the pieces, he confumed them, (as St. Chrysoftom rightly understands it) and thereby testified his Acceptance of the Sacrifices which Abram offered. I noted before, that there is no such Rite we read of any where in Scripture, but in Jeremiab, of making a Covenant in this manner. But there are those who think they find r find this Cuftom in other Nations: For if Dictys Cretenfis do not Lye, after the manner of the Cretians, (as Bochart speaks) both the Greeks and Trojans, from the time of Homer, did make Covenants, in this fashion. Certain it is, the Bæotians and Macedonians passed on some occasions, through the parts of a Beast diffected: But it was for Lustration, not for Covenanting, as the same Bochart observes, P. I. Hierozote. L. H. c. 46.

278 Chapter XV.

Verse 18.

Ver. 18. Unto thy Seed will I give this Land, &c.] Here is the utmost extent of the Donation made to Abram: Which began to be fulfilled in David, (2 Sam. VIII. 3, &c.) for till then they did not inlarge their Borders, as far as Euphrates.

The River of Egypt.] So Nile is commonly called, but cannot be here meant; because the Israelites never enjoyed all the Land of Egypt, on this fide Nile. Therefore we are to understand by it, that little River, which came out of that Branch of Nile, called Peleusiacum brachium: From whence a small River not Navigable, ran toward Judza; falling into the Egyptian or Phænician Sea. For this River was the Bounds of Palestine; and is mentioned by Strabo and others, whom G. Vossius cites, L. II. De Idolol. c. 74. It is called, Amos VI. 14. the River of the Wildernes; because it run through the Wildernes, which is between Egypt and Palastine, into the Sea.

Verle 19. Ver. 19 The Kenites, and Kenizzites.] These are put into the Number of the Nations, whose Country God gave to Abram; but whether they were descended from any of the Sons of Canaan we cannot tell: Nor are we certain where they dwelt. Only Eustathius, Bishop of Antioch, says the Kenites dwelt about Libanus and Amanus: And the Kenizzites its likely likely were their Neighbours. But the Names of these Chapter People were quite extinct between the times of Abram XV. and Moses, for we find no mention of them by Jo-Source in the Division of the Land of Canaan; nor in the Account he gives of the Nations he conquered. We read indeed of the Kenezites, Numb. XXXII 12. Josh. XIV. 6, 14. but they were of the Children of Afrael. And of the Kenites, Judg. I. 16. IV. 11, 17. but they descended from the Father-in-Law of Mofes. And therefore those whom Moses here speaks of, it is probable lost their Name, being incorporated into some of the Seven Nations who inhabited this Country when Joshna subdued it.

The Kadmonites.] These are no where else mentioned: But are thought by Bochartus to be the same with the Hivites: Who living about Mount Hermon, toward the East of the Land of Canaan, were thence called Kadmonites, i.e. Orientals. See IX. 17.

Ver. 20. Hittites.] See X. 15.

Perizzites.] They were a People inhabiting the Mountainous and woody Country of Canaan, as appears from Joh. XI. 3. XVII. 13. From whence we may gather they were a wild fort of People, who lived far from Cities, in little Villages; and thence perhaps had their Name: For Pherazoth in Hebrew tignifies Pagi, Villages. But from which of the Sons of Canaan they defeended, there is not the least fignification in Holy Scripture.

Rephaim.] They dwelt in Bashan; and perhaps in other Countries thereabouts. See XIV. 5.

Ver. 21. Amorites.] These were the mightiest Peo-Verse 21. ple in the Land of Cancan. 'See X. 16.

Canaanites.] These were some of the Posterity of Canaan, who peculiarly inherited his Name; living upon

Verle 20.

Chapter upon the Sea-Coast, and upon the Banks of Jordan, Numb. XIII. 30. Deut. I. 7. XI. 30. And it is a reasonable Conjecture, That they sprang from such of n Canaan's Sons, as had, for a time, the greatest Power and Authority in that Country: And therefore had the Prerogative of being called by his Name. Or elfe, they were fo called, becaufe they were Merchants, and great Traders by Sea. For fo the word is used in Scripture.

> Gergasite.] See X. 16. Jebusite.] See there also.

280

XVI.

CHAP. XVI.

Verfe 1. Ver. 1. CArai bare him no Child.] Still the fulfilling) of God's Promise was deferred ; for the greater trial of Abram's Faith. Which now had held out ten Years, (Verse 2.) without seeing any Fruit of it.

> She had an handmaid, an Egyptian.] An Egyptian by Nation; but a Profelyte to the true Religion. St. Chryfostom thinks Pharaoh bestowed her upon Sarai, when he took her into his Houfe, or when he fent her away, XII. 15, 20. Which he learnt from the Jews, who fay the fame ; as may be feen in Pirke Eliefer, c. 26. who fays alfo, as R. Solomon Jarchi doth, that the was Pharaoh's Daughter, by his Concubine. But it is more likely the was fuch a Servant to Sarai as Eliezer was to Abram; born in his House of an Egyptian, as he was of a Syrian Woman.

> > Ver.

upon GENESIS.

281

Ver. 2. And Sarai faid unto Abram, &c.] It is like- Chapter ly he having acquainted her with the Promife, the XVI. grew impatient to have it fulfilled, fome way or Verfe 2.

Go in unto my Maid.] i. e. Take her to Wife, Verse 3.

It may be I may obtain Children by her.] Being born of her Bond-flave, they would be Sarai's Children; according to the Custom of those Times, XXX. 3. Exod. XXI. 4.

And Abram hearkned to the voice of Sarai.] Thinking, perhaps, that God might fulfil his Promife this way; because he had only told him he should have Seed, but had not, as yet, said by Sarai.

Ver. 3. Gave her to her Husband Abram to be his Verle 3. Wife.] A fecondary Wife, (which was a Liberty they took in those days) who was not to be Mistress of the House; but only to bear Children, for the increase of the Family. Now I can see no good Reafon, why Sarai her self should perswade her Husband (contrary to the inclination of all Women) to take another Wife, which she her self also gave him; but only the eager desire the was posses a good account also of Jacob's Wives contending searness a steep did, for his Company.

Ver. 4. Her Mistress was despised in her Eyes.] Ha-Verse 4. gar began to take upon her, as if she had been Mistress of the House; at least much more favoured by God, who had made her Fruitful: Which was accounted a great Blessing, and Honour in those days; especially in a Family that had no Heir.

Ver. 5. My wrong be upon thee.] Thou art the caule Verie 5. of this Injury (or these Affronts) which I suffer, by be-

00

282

Chapter being too indulgent to my Maid, and not repreffing XVI. her Infolence. Or, it is incumbent on thee, to fee me redreffed of the Wrong that is done me. See Lud. de Dieu.

> The Lord judge between me and thee.] Sometimes this Phrase fignifies an Appeal to God, as the Avenger of Wrongs: But here it seems only to denote her committing the Equity of her Cause to the Judgment of God.

Verse 6.

Ver. 6. Behold, thy Maid is in thy hand.] Is subject unto thee.

Do with her as pleases thee.] Use her as thy Maid, and not as my Wife.

And when Sarai dealt hardly with her.] Beat her perhaps; or, imposed on her, too much, or too fervile Labour.

She fled from her face.] Run away, to avoid her cruel ulage.

Verse 7.

Ver. 7. And the Angel of the LOR D, &c.] This is the first time that we read of the Appearance of an Angel. By whom Maimonides will fcarce allow us to understand more, than a Messenger, (More Nevoch. P. II. c. 42.) But some Christians go so far into the other extream, as to understand hereby, the Eternal AOTOS, or Son of God. It seems to me more reasonable, to think, that though the Schechinah, or Divine Majesty, did not appear to her; as it had often done to Abram: Yet one of the heavenly Ministres, who were Attendants upon it, and made a part of its Glory, was sent to stop her Proceedings. And a great Favour it was, that the LORD would dispatch fuch a Messense.

In

In the way to Shur.] She was flying into Egypt, her Chapter own Country, (upon which the Wilderness of Shur XVI. bordered) and only refted a while at this Fountain, to refresh her self.

Ver. 8. And he faid, Hagar, Sarai's Maid.] He takes Verfe 8. notice of her being Sarai's Maid, rather than Abram's Wife; to put her in mind of her Duty; and that the could not honeftly leave her Mistress without her Consent: For so it follows in the next Verse.

Ver. 9. Return to thy Mistress, and submit, &c.] It is Verse 9. the fame word here translated fubmit, with that Verfe 6. where it is rendred dealt hardly : Signifying that the should be Patient, and indure the Hardship of which fhe complained, (or, fuffer her felf to be afflicted by her.)

Ver. 10. I will multiply, &c.] I will make thee par-Verfe 10. taker of the Promise to have made to Abram, XV. 5. The Angel delivers this Meffage to her, in the Name of God, who sent him.

Ver. 11. Behold, thou art with Child, &c.] Do not Verle 11. doubt of what I lay; for thou art with Child of a Son, who shall be the Father of a great People. This Promise was renewed to Abram in the next Chapter, XVII. 20. and we find was performed, XXV. 12.

Shalt call his Name Ishmael.] Some of the Jews take notice of the Honour which was here done him, in calling him by his Name before he was born : There being but Six, they fay, who were thus diftinguished from others; the two first were the Sons of Abram, (Ishmael, and Isaac,) and the last was the Mellins.

The LORD hath heard thy affliction.] Thy Complaint under the Affliction thou hast endured from thy Mistress, and here in the Wilderness. This Paf-

fage

Chapter sage shows it was an Angel which appeared and spake XVI. to her from the LORD, and not the LORD himfelf.

Verse 12. Ver. 12. A wild Man.] The Hebrew word Phere here joyned with Man, fignifies a wild Ass. And so is well translated by Bochart, Tam ferus quam onager, as wild as a wild Ass. Which loves to ramble in Defarts; and is not eafily tamed, to live in Society.

His Hand shall be against every Man, &c.] He shall be very Warlike: And both infest all his Neighbours, and be infested by them.

He shall dwell in the presence of his Brethren.] Be a Nation by himself; near to all his Brethren, whether descended from Isaac, or from the rest of Abram's Sons by Keturah: Who, though annoyed by him, shall not be able to disposses him. This is such an exact Description of the Posterity of Ishmael, throughout all Generations, that none but a Prophetick Spirit could have made it; as Doctor Jackson truly obferves, (Book I. on the Creed, c. XXV.) wildness being so incorporated into their Nature, that no change of Times hath made them grow tame.

Verse 13.

284

Ver. 13. She called the Name of the LORD that fpake to her.] By his Angel, for the look'd upon the Prefence of the Angel, as a Token of the Divine Prefence; though the faw it not in its full Glory.

Thou God feest me.] Takest Care of me, wheresoever I am.

For she said, Have I also here looked after him that seeth me?] There are various Interpretations of these words: The plainest is that of De Dieu: Who observes that the word Halom always signifies Place, not Time; or, that which is done in any Place; and so we

upon GENESIS.

we translate it by the word here. But there he makes Chapter a ftop, after that word, by way of admiration; in XVI. this manner: And even here alfo! Or, even thus far! It had been lefs wonder, if God had taken care of me in my Mafter's Houfe; but doth he follow me with his Favour even hither? This is wonderful. And then the next words, (have I looked after him that feeth me) carried this fence, Have I beheld God, who taketh care of me? What a Favour is this that he would fo far condefcend to me? It ought never to be forgotten; therefore fhe called his Name, Thon God feeft me.

Ver. 14. Beer-lahai-roi.] Some would have this Verfe 14. refer, both to Hagar, and to God: in this manner: The Well of her that liveth, and of him that feeth, (i. e. who preferves me in Life.) So it was an acknowledgment that she owed her Life and Safety to God.

Ver. 15. Abram called his Son's Name, &c.] Ha-Ver 15. gar having told him at her return the foregoing Story, he gave his Son this Name; in Obedience to the Angels Command, Verfe 11.

Ver. 16. Fourfcore and fix years old.] He was Seven-Verfe 16. ty five Years old when he came into Canaan, XII. 4. and had been ten Years there when he took Hagar to Wife, (Verfe 3. of this Chapter) and therefore was then eighty five Years old; and confequently eighty fix the next Year, when Ifhmael was born.

CHAP.

285

CHAP. XVII.

Verse 1. Ver. 1. W Hen Abram was ninety nine years old.] Thirteen Years after Ismael's Birth.

> The LORD appeared to Abram.] In a visible Majesty; to fatisfie him that the Promise made, (XV.4, 5.) should not be fulfilled in Ismael.

> I am the Almighty God.] Or, All-fufficient. This is the first time we meet with this Name: Which was most fitly used here, when he speaks of a thing very difficult to be done; but not beyond the Power of God, who can do all things, and needs none to affist him.

Walk before me.] Go on to please me.

And be thou perfect.] Till thou hast compleated thy Faith and Obedience.

Verse 2.

286

Chapter XVII.

> 2. Ver. 2. And I will make my Covenant, &c.] Establish and perform my Covenant : For it was made before, and now only confirmed, by a Sign or Token of it, verse 11.

- Verse 3. Ver. 3. Abram fell on his face.] Being aftonished at the Brightness of that Majesty which appeared to him, verse 1.
- Verle 4. Ver. 4. As for me, behold, my Covenant, &c.] Be not afraid, for it is I, who am conftant to my word, and now again ingage my felf unto thee.

Thou shalt be a Father of many Nations.] Not only of Jews, and Ismaelites, and others; but, in the Spiritual Sence, of all the Gentile World.

5. Ver. 5. Neither shall thy Name, &c.] Abram is commonly interpreted, high Father, and Abraham the Father

Verse 5.

Father of a Multitude. So the very Text expounds Chapter the reafon of this Name: For a Father of many Nations XVII. have I made thee. There are many ways of making out this meaning; but none feems to me to plain, as that of Hottinger's; who makes it a composition of Ab, (a Father) and the old word Raham, which still in Arabick fignifies a great Number, Smegma Orient. cap. 8. § 19.

Ver. 6. And I will make thee exceeding fruitful, &c.] Verfe 6. I observed before, XII. 7. that Abram's Obedience was constantly rewarded in kind, &c. of which here is a new proof. For upon his submission to be Circumcifed, (wherein his Obedience was next tried) which might seem to weaken the power of Generation, (as Maimonides affirms it doth, More Nevoch. P. III. c. 49.) God promises that he would make him so exceeding Fruitful, that Nations and Kings should proceed from him : As there did both by Israel, Edom, and Ismael, from whom the Saracens came, &c.

Ver. 7. An everlasting Covenant.] The word Olam, Verse 75. which we translate Everlasting, hath often a limited fignification, to the end of fuch a Period, (as Exod. XXI. 6. a Servant for ever, is till the Year of Jubilee) though with respect to the thing fignified, this Covenant is absolutely everlasting; and continues now that the fign is abolished. The next words tells us what was fignified in this Covenant of Circumcision.

To be a God unto thee, &c.] I think Maimonides hath truly observed, that in Circumcission, they covenanted with God, to have no other God but him : Or, in his Phrase, they covenanted concerning the belief of the Unity of God, More Nevoch. P. III. cap. 49. Who Chapter Who promifed to be their God; that is, to befrow XVII. all manner of Bleffings upon them, and at last to fend the Melfiah.

Verle 8. Ver. 8. And I will give thee, &c.] Here he again renews his Promile, (XII. 7. XIII. 15. XV. 18.) and confirms it by this Covenant, to give him that Land, wherein he was at present a Stranger, and to put his Seed in possession of it.

An everlasting possession.] If they did not forfeit it by their Disobedience to him.

Verle 9. Ver. 9. Thou shalt keep my Covenant therefore, &c.] Now follows Abraham's part of this Covenant, which was mutual between God and him.

Verse 10. Ver. 10. This is my Covenant.] Which the next Verse explains, by the Sign or Token of the Covenant. As the Paschal Lamb is called the Passover of the Lord, Exod. XII. 11. That is, the memorial of the Angel's paffing them by, when he killed the Egyptian Children, XIII. 9. But Circumcifion was fuch a Sign. that they entred thereby into a Covenant with God to be his People. For it was not a mere Mark, whereby they should be known to be Abraham's Seed. and diffinguished from other Nations: But they were made by this, the Children of the Covenant, and intitled to the Bleffings of it. Though, if there had been no more in it but this, That they who were of the same Faith, as Maimonides speaks, should have one certain Character, whereby they should be known and joyned one to another, without the mixture of any other People; it had been a very wife appointment. And this Mark was very fitly chosen, because it was such a Token, as no Man would have fet upon himself and upon his Children; unless it were for Faith and Religion fake. For it is not a Brand

288

Brand upon the Arm, or an incision in the Thigh; but Chapter a thing very hard, in a most tender part : Which no XVII. Body would have undertaken, but on the fore-named un account, P. III. More Nev. c. 49.

289

It may be proper here to add; That Covenants were anciently made in those Eastern Countries, by dipping their Weapons in Blood, (as Xenophon tells us) and by pricking the Flesh, and sucking each others Blood, as we read in Tacitus. Who observes, (L. XII. Annal.) that when Kings made a League, they took each other by the Hand, and their Thumbs being hard tied together, they prick'd them, when the Blood was forced to extream parts, and each Party lick'd it : Which he faith was accounted Arcanum fædus, quasi mutuo cruore sacratum, a mysterious Covenant, being made Sacred by their mutual Blood. How old this Cultom had been, we do not know : But it is evident God's Covenant with Abraham was folemnized on Abraham's part, by his own and his Son Isaac's Blood, and so continued through all Generations, by cutting off the Fore-skin of their Flefh, (as it follows in the next Verse) whereby as they were made the Select People of God : So God in conclusion, sent his own Son, who by this very Ceremony of Circumcifion, was confecrated to be their God and their Redeemer.

Ver. II. Ye shall circumcife the Flesh of your Foreskin. Verse II. i. e. The Foreskin of your Flesh : For that Member, which is the Instrument of Generation, is peculiarly called by the Name of Flefb, in many places, Lev. XV. 2. Ezek. XVI. 26. In which part of the Body, rather than in any other, God appointed the Mark of his Covenant to be made ; that they might be denoted to be an Holy Seed, confecrated to him from the Pp be-beginning. The Pagans made Marks in feveral parts of their Bodies, (some in one, some in another) whereby they were confectated to their Gods: But the Character which God would have imprinted upon his People, wasin one peculiar part and no other, (from which they never varied,) viz. In that part which ferved for the Propagation of Mankind. Of which some have given Natural, others Moral Reafons; but the most plain and obviousis, That it might be an apt Token of the Divine Covenant made with Abraham and his Posterity: That God would multiply their Seed, and make them as the Stars of Heaven, XV. 5. It is probable also, that this part was chosen, rather than any other; to make them sensible, that this was a Divine Sacrament : For nothing but God's Institution, could at first engage Men to lay that part bare, which Nature hath covered.

290 Chapter XVII.

It is of late indeed made a Question by some learned Men, whether this were the Original of Circumcifion: Which they fansie the Jews borrowed from the Egyptians, and not the Egyptians from the Fews. Certain it is, that not only the Egyptians, but several other Nations, did very anciently use Circumcifion. Now it is improbable, fay they, that the Egyptians, (who feem to have had it the most early of all Nations, who fprang not from Abraham) would borrow this Cultom from the Hebrews, whom they perfectly hated, (Shepherds being an abomination to them, XI.VI. 34.) and therefore they gave themfelves the liberty to fay, That God did not now enjoyn Abraham a new thing, when he ordered him to be circumcifed; but only made this a Sign of his Covenant with him, which it was not with other NaNations. But unless it can be proved that Circum-Chapter cifion was in use before Abraham's time, (which doth XVII. not appear from any good Authors, though fuch as Celfus were so bold as to affirm it, as we find in Origen, L.V.) fuch Arguments as thefe will not perfuade us to believe, that it came from the Egyptians or any other Nation : But they had it, if not from the Hebrews, yet from the Posterity of Ismael, or other People descended from Abraham. Who being highly beloved of God, it is not credible that God would fet the Mark of Ham's Race upon him and his Posterity : Much less make it the Token of his Covenant with them. See 7. Ludolphus, L. III. Comment. in Histor. Hethiop. c. 1. n. 2. The only Authority upon whom the broachers of this Novelty rely is Herodotus: Who in his Second Book, cap. 104. fays, " The People of Colchis and the Egyptians, were the ' only Nations that were circumcifed, aπ' agyns, ' from the beginning: The Syrians and Phanicians " who live in Palestine acknowledging they had this " Rite from them. Which is just such a Tale as he tells in the Second Chapter of that Book, that the Egyptians, were the first inhabiters of the Earth, unless perhaps the Phrygians. This Opinion proceeded from their own vain Conceit; which made them loath to confess they received Circumcifion from any other People. Though I think there is a convincing Argument of it in Moles himfelf; who tells us in Chapter X. 14. that the Philistim came from the Casuchim, i.e. the People of Colchis; as that People came originally from Egypt. (So Herodotus himfelf, Diodorus, and abundance of other credible Authors, teftifie.) This, it appears by what I noted there, was before the time of Moles, nay, before Pp 2 Abra-

291

292

- Chapter X VII.

ww

Abraham : For the Philistim had a King among them in his days : As we read in this Book, XX. and XXVI. Now these Philistim were an uncircumcifed People, and therefore the People of Colchis no doubt were fo alfo, when they went out of their Country, and drove the Avim out of Palestine. And confequently the Egyptians had no fuch Rite among them. when the Calluchim came from Egypt; but put a grois cheat upon Herodotus when they made him believe they had been circumcifed, and agans, from the beginning. And, in like manner they imposed upon him, who told him the Inhabitants of Palestine, (whom he calls Syrians and Phanicians) confessed they received Circumcifion from the Egyptians. For there were no Inhabitants of Palestine circumcised but the Jews, who always professed they received it from Abraham. Who, we may be confident was the first Person in the World that was circumcifed : There being nothing to induce any Body to use such a Rite, unless they had been directed to it by God, as Abraham was. From whom the Ismaelites received it ; and from them the Arabians : And from those Countries, or from Abraham's Children by Keturah, it was derived (as feems most probable to me) to the Egyptians: From whom the People of Colchis, who knew themselves to be an Egyptian breed, imbraced it; in imitation of their famous Anceftors. But, after Abraham's time, who found no fuch Rite among the Philistim, a Colony of theirs; to whom in all likelihood they would have communicated it, as the Egyptians did to them, if it had been then used in that Country.

Verse 12. Ver. 12. And he that is eight days old, &c.] Maimonides thinks that if Circumcifion had not been per-

performed in their Infancy, it might have been in Chapter danger to have been neglected afterward. For an XVII. Infant felt, not so much pain as an adult Person vi would have done; in whom the Flesh is more compact, and his Imagination ftronger. The Parents alfo, (especially Fathers) have not fo firong an Affection to a Child when he is newly born, as they have when he is grown up : And fo more eafily fubmitted to this harsh Rite, at their first appearance in the World; than they would have done, after they were more endeared to them. But the Child could not be circumcifed before the eighth Day after his. Birth ; because till then he was look'd upon as imperfect ; and not yet fufficiently cleanfed and purged : For which reason Beasts were not accepted by God, till seven Days were past, after their Birth, Exod. XXII. 20. See More Nevoch. P. III. cap. 49.

And, as the Child was not to be circumcifed before the eighth Day, fo he was not (unlefs perhaps in cafe of great weaknefs) to be kept uncircumcifed beyond that Day. On which, if the Parents did not caufe it to be circumcifed, the Houfe of Judgment, as the Jews speak, were bound to do it. And if they did not (being ignorant perhaps of the neglect) the Child when he came of Age, (i.e. was thirteen Years old) was bound himself to get it done. If he did not, the Judges (if it were known to them) were obliged to take care of it : As Mr. Selden observes, L. I. de Synedr. cap. 6. p. 96, 97.

Ver. 13. He that is born in thy House, or bought with Verse 13. Money, must needs be circumcifed.] Not whether they would or no: For Men were not to be compelled to Religion; which had been a profanation of this Covenant. But Abraham was to persuade them to it; and,

Chapter land, if they confented not, to keep them no longer XVII. in his House: But to sell them to some other People. So Maimonides expounds it, in his Book of Circumcifion Cap. I. which is true both of Servants born in the Houfe, and bought with Money : But as for the Children of these Slaves, they were to be circumcifed whether their Parents would or no: Because they were the possession of their Masters, not of their Parents. For which cause, when the Parents were set free, their Children were left behind, as their Masters Goods, Exod. XXI. 4.

294

Verse 14. Ver. 14. That Soul shall be cut off from his People.] That is, if when he came to the Age of thirteen Years, he did not cause it to be done.

> What it is to be cut off is very much disputed. The fimplest Sence seems to be, he shall not be accounted one of God's People. But the Hebrew Doctors generally take this to have been a Punishment inflicted by the Hand of Heaven, i. e. of God : Though they be much divided in their Opinions about it. Of which Mr. Selden treats at large in L. VII. De Jure N. & G. c. 9. and De Synedr. L. I. c. 6. and more briefly L'Empereur in his Notes upon Cornel. Bertram De Republ. Jud. p. 351. Some say it was the fhortning of the Man's Life; others fay it was the making him Childles; fo that his Family and Name perished in Ifrael. Maimonides would have it the extinction both of Soul and Body, like a Brute. And Abarbinel takes it for the loss of the Happiness of the World to come. Some Christiaus would have it, to be Excommunication: which cannot be, because fuch a Person never was a Member of the Church. which he was to be made by Circumcifion. The first of these Opinions seems more probable than the reft :

reft : For God himfelf faith of feveral Offenders, to Chapter whom he threatens this Punifhment, I will cut him XVII. off, and I will fet my face against him, Lev. XVII. 10. XX. 5, 6. XXIII. 30. Yet in other places, it mult be confessed, this Cereth, or cutting off, fignifies more largely, a Punifhment by the Judge, and not by the Hand of God. And therefore the fignification of it must be determined by the Matter, with which it is joyned. Thus the violation of the Sabbath is threatned with cutting off, Exod. XXXI. 14. which was to be done by ftoning him : And fo were incefluous Perfons, Blafphemers, Idolaters, and others, to be judicially cut off by the Rulers.

Ver. 15. Sarah shall be her Name.] The same Let-Verse 15. ter is added to her Name, that was to Abraham's, and for the same reason; for in the next Verse it is said, she shall be a Mother of Nations.

Ver. 16. Give thee a Son also of her.] Here now Verle 16. the promifed Seed is determined to spring from Sarab. See XVI. 2.

Ver. 17. Abraham fell on his face.] Worshipped God Verse 17. with the humblest Reverence.

And laughed.] Not doubting of the Promife, (for the Apostle tells us quite contrary, Rom. IV. 19.) but out of the exceeding great Joy wherewith he was transported; and the Admiration wherewith he was furprized. Which produced the following Questions.

Shall a Child be born unto him, who is an bundred Tears old? &c.] As if he had faid, ftrange ! that I and Sarab at this Age fhould have a Child. What joyful News is this ! Accordingly the Chaldce tranflates the word laughed ; he rejoyced.

295

Ver.

Chapter Ver. 18. O that Ishmael might live before thee !] In XVII. his Posterity; as appears by God's Answer to this Petition, Verse 20.

.296

Verse 18. Ver. 19. Call his Name Isaac.] He had this Name

- Verle 19. from Abraham's, not from Sarah's Laughter: For that was after this; and proceeded not from the fame Caufe with Abraham's.
- Verse 20. Ver. 20. I have heard thee.] He shall 'have a numerous Posterity. See Doctor Jackson's First Book on the Creed, c. 26. where he shows how the Hagerens grew a mighty Nation : And at last (when they were called Saracens) became the Scourges of all these parts of the World.
- Verfe 21. Ver. 21. But my Covenant will I eftablish with Ifaac.] The great Bleffings I have promifed in the Covenant I have made with thee, shall come to thy Posterity by Ifaac, not by Ishmael: Particularly the Messiah.
- Verse 22. Ver. 22. And God went up from Abraham.] That visible Majesty wherein he appeared to him, (Verse 1.) called often, in after-times, the Glory of the LORD, went up to Heaven from whence it came.
- Verse 25. Ver. 25. Ishmael was thirteen Years old, &c.] From hence it was that the Saracens, descended from him, did not circumcife their Children till they were thirteen Years old. So it was in the days of Josephus, L. I. Antiq. c. 13. And the Saracens in Spain and Africk observed the fame Custom.
- Verse 26. Ver. 26. In the felf-fame day.] The Jews will have this to be the fame with the great Day of Expiation, instituted in Moses his time: So that God every Year remembred, fay they, the Covenant of Circumcision. But this is an ungrounded Fancy.

Ver.

Ver. 27. And all the Men of his House.] Maimo- Chapter nides understands by the Men of his House, those XVIII. whom Abraham had converted from Idolatry, and made Profelytes to the true Religion. So do others Verse 27. among the Jews (see his Treatise of the Worship of the Planets, c. 1. § 9. But it is more proper to understand by the Men of His House, all his Family in general. Who were either (as it follows) born in his House, (and therefore it is likely were bred up in the true Religion, and so easily persuaded to receive the Mark of Circumcision) or bought with his Money; who submitted to Abraham's Arguments, not to his Authority: For Religion is to be chosen, not compelled.

297

CHAP. XVIII.

Ver. 1. A ND the LORD appeared to him.] The Verfe 1. Glory of the LORD, or the Divine Majefty, which the Jews call the Schechinah, as it had done lately, XVII. 1. And as the LORD then appeared to establish his Covenant with him, by Circumcifion: So fome of the Jews imagine he again appeared to visit, comfort, and heal him, now that he was very fore of his Circumcifion. Or, rather, I should think, to testifie by this illustrious Manifestation of his Glory, (Verse 2.) his high Approbation of Abraham's ready Obedience to so harsh a Command. So the Jews themselves esteem it, and therefore think that by receiving it, Abraham fulfilled that Precept, which goes just before it, XVII. 1. be Qq thom

Chapter thou perfect. Which may have fome truth in it, if right-XV III. ly underftood : For his Faith and Obedience grew more perfect, by fubmitting to this Command; and was compleated, when he facrificed his Son.

> However this be, I think it is plain from Verse 10.that this Appearance of the Divine Majesty, was not long after the former.

In the Plain.] Or, the Oaks, of Mamre; mentioned before, XIII. 18. This Place continued famous till the time of Conftantine; both Jews, Gentiles, and Christians, meeting here once a Year, not only for Traffick, but for Religion: Christians here calling upon God; and there being an Altar here alfo, on which the Gentiles facrificed, and invoked the Angels. Of which Superstition Constantine being informed by his Mother, he caused that Altar to be demolished, and a Church to be built in its place. See Sozomen, L. II. cap. 4. Enseb. in vita Constant. L. III. cap. 53.

And he fat in the Tent door.] To observe what Strangers passed that way.

In the heat of the Day.] In the Afternoon, when Travellers fought for places of Refreshment.

Verse 2.

298

Ver. 2. And he lift up his Eyes, and looked.] Having faln down on his Face, (I suppose) and worshipped the Divine Majesty, as he did, XVII.17. he beheld, when he rose up again.

And lo, there flood three Men by him.] Three Angels, in the fhape of Men, (for so the Apostle to the Hebrews calls them, XIII. 2. And so Moses himself calls two of them, XIX. 1) who were part of the heavenly Retinue, as I may call it, waiting upon the Divine Majesty, mentioned in the Verse foregoing. There is a maxim among the Jews that no Angel performs

upon GENESIS.

forms two Ministeries, (is sent, that is, on two Messa-Chapter ges) nor are two Angels fent upon one Embassy, (as XVIII. Maimonides Speaks, More Nevoch. P. H. cap. 6.) and therefore they think these three Angels were dispatch'd for different purpoles; one of them, and the principal, to bring a Confirmation of the Birth of Ilaac; another to bring Lot out of Sodom, and a third to overthrow the Cities of Sodom and Gomorrha. And therefore when one of these Angels had delivered that Meffage to Abraham, there were but two that went to Sodom, XIX. I. and Lot speaks to one of them, as taking a particular care of him, verse 19, &c. and then it is faid. The Lord rained Fire and Brimstone from the Lord out of Heaven, verse 24. That is, that Angel of the Lord, who was fet by the LOR D of Heaven and Earth over that Work. Some of them indeed affign another Work for one of them, (as we find in that Title of the Talmud called Bava-Metzia, cap. 7.) but they agree in the main Notion, That they had different Offices with which they were intrusted. But some Christians, and those of great Authority, have made a Question whether they were all created Angels; one of them at least, seeming to be the LORD of all. Nay, St. Cyril in his first Book against Julian thinks there was a Representation of the bleffed, individed Trinity; for Abram speaks to them, verse 4. ws eis crass of Theis, as if the three were but one. But St. Hilary's Opinion (and Eusebius's, L. V. Demonstr. c. 9.) is more likely, That the Son of God only appear'd with two Angels attending on him: Which many think is evident from verse 22, and 25. of this Chapter. Yet, I think, another Account may be given of those Verles; and if we should make that an Argument that one of them Qq2 was

299

Chapter was the increated LORD, another of them must XVIII. be so also: For he is called likewise by the Name of Jehovah, Gen. XIX. 24. See St. Austin, L. II. de Trin. cap. 11. and L. III. cap. 11. where he consutes the fore-named Opinion.

> And when he faw them, he ran to meet them.] Was forward to invite them to refresh themselves with him: For he took them to be considerable Persons, as appears by what follows.

> And bowed himself towards the ground.] After the manner of the Eastern People; in Token of the Respect and Honour he had for them. For this was a Civil Action (not Religious) it is manifest by this. That he did not know them to be Angels; but only Persons of Quality, (as we now speak) their Aspect and Habit, I suppose, being extraordinary.

Verse 3.

300

Ver. 3. My Lord, If now I have found, &c.] One of them appeared more Honourable and Superior to the other two; and therefore he makes his address to him, as the chief : Praying him, if he thought him worthy of fuch a Favour, to honour him with their Company.

Verse 4.

Ver. 4. And wash your Feet.] i. e. To wash your Feet. For this was performed by Servants, and not: by the Guests themselves.

And reft yourfelves under the Tree.] In an Arbour under a great Tree: Where they were wont to eat, for coolnefs fake. See Dr. Hammond upon Pfalm CXXVIII. 3. St. Hierom fometimes calls this Tree, an Oak; fometimes a Turpentine-Tree, (as f. Filefacus observes, L. I. Select. c. 13.) Unlefs we will fay, that he thought Abraham dwelt under the one, and entertained them under the other. And fo Enfebium, L. V. Demonstr. Evang. c. 9. expressly relatesit, That God God appeared to him under the O.k, where he dwelt: Chapter And that he entertained the Angels under a Turpen- XVIII. tine-Tree; which was had in great Honour in his time.

Ver. 5. I will fetch a morsel of Bread.] Or, rather, Verse 5. a. Loaf of Bread; as de Dien shows the word imports: Under which is comprehended, all necessary Provision at a Meal:

And comfort ye your hearts.] Refresh you rselves.

For therefore are ye come to your fervant.] Divine Providence hath directed you to come this way, at this time a day; that I may have an opportunity to entertain you holpitably.

Ver. 6. Make Cakes upon the Earth.] Many inter-Verfe 6. pret it upon the Coals or hot Embers; according to what we read, I Kings XIX. 6. But Bochartus thinks the word there, fignifies as it doth here, upon hot Stones. Others will have it, that they were laid upon the Hearth and covered with hot Embers, (P. I. Hierozoic. L. II. c. 34.) and fo they prepare them at this Day, as Leon. Lawwolff tells us in his Travels, P. II. c. 9. where he faith, That as he went through a Country, that lies between Mefopotamia and Media, a. Woman prefently made them Cakes, about a Finger thick, and of the bignefs of a Trencher; Which the firft laid upon hot Stones, and turned them often; and then threw Alhes and Embers over them: Which he fays were very favoury.

Ver. 7. A Calf tender and good.] Which was a Verse 7. noble Entertainment in those Countries.

Ver. 8. And he took Butter.) Though we read Verse 8. of Cheese in Homer, Euripides, Theocritus, and others; yet they never mention Butter: Nor hath Aristotle a word of it, (at Bochart observes, Hierozoic. P. I.

5. 2.

Chapter XVIII.

202

c. 2. c. 41.) though he hath fundry Observations about Cheefe: For Butter was not a thing then known among the Greeks; though we see by this and many other places, it was an ancient Food among the Eastern People.

And he ftood by them.] Waited upon them, and ministred to them. For he did not stand unmovable; but as Servants do that attend upon the Table, who, as there is occasion, bring or take away, Gc. See P. Fagins on Deut. I. 28.

Verse 9.

Ver. 9. And they faid unto him, Where is thy Wife ?] One of them (the reft fignifying fome way their Confent) ask'd him for his Wife; not being ignorant, but to introduce the following Difcourfe.

In the Tent.] In her Apartment: For Women had their Apartments by themselves.

Verse 10.

Ver. 10. And he faid.] The principal of the three Angels; or, rather the LORD himfelf, as it is explained, verse 13. For, as Theodorick Hackspan judiciously observes, this appearance of the Divine Majesty was different from the foregoing: Not being immediate by himself alone, like that XVII. 1. nor merely mediate by an Angel, like that XVII. 7, 10, 11, 12, &c. But mixed, the LORD himself (ver 1.) being conjunct with the Angels, whom he imployed in this Embassy.

I will certainly return to thee.] To fulfil the Promife which I made thee, XVII. 19.

According to the time of life.] Nine Months hence; which is the time of perfecting the Life of a Child in the Womb. This appears to be the Sence from verse 14. where he calls it the time appointed, or a fet time.

In

In the Tent door, which was behind him.] The An-Chapter gels fat with their Backs to Sarah's Tent : Unto the XVIII. Door of which the was come to liften, having heard \longrightarrow that they ask'd for her.

Behind him.] This hows the Truth of what Hackspan notes, That this was a mixt Apparition: For this word him plainly relates to the Angel, whole words were in truth the LORD's, who was there present. For as he observes in another place, (Disput. II. de Nominibus Divinis, n. 15.) the Scripture relates these Matters fo, that fometimes it mentions the principal Caufe, whole words are related ; fometimes only the fecondary Caufe : In which latter Cafe, it must be understood, That when the words exceed the Dignity of the Minister, the LORD himself spake them. For the Sacred Writers mind more by whole Authority any thing is spoken, than by whole Ministry: So that it is not much material, from whole Mouth any Message comes ; but what is faid, must be attended. This will be made plainer, when I come to Gen. XXII. 11, 12, &c.

Ver. 11. It ceafed to be with Sarah after the manner Verle 11. of Women.] She was no longer capable of Conception; according to the ordinary course of Nature.

Ver. 12. Laughed within her self.] Not as Abraham Verse 12. for Joy; but out of Incredulity: Not thinking it possible for an old Woman, to Conceive by an old Man. And her smiling at this, was the more excusable, because she did not know them to be Angels of the LORD, but took them only for some great Men.

Ver. 13. And the LORD faid.] The Divine Verle 13. Majesty (mentioned Verse 1.) said, Why doth she not

303

Chapter not believe my Messenger? The Angel spake these XVIII. words, but the words were the LORD's, (not his) who was now prefent with the Angels, and in a little time appeared without them, v. 17, &c.

- Verse 14. Ver. 14. At the time appointed will I return to thee. Take it from my felf, that what hath been told thee by them, shall be effected.
 - Verse 15. Ver. 15. Sarah denied.] Fear (as it follows)put her into a confusion : So that the did not mind what fhe faid. Otherwise she would not have denied, what the might well think they knew. Therefore the is only made fentible of her Fault, by a fimple Affirmation, of what the denied; without any further Reproof.

Nay, but thou didft laugh.] The person that speaks feems to have turned to her, and faid, Do not deny, what I know to be true.

Verle 16. Ver. 16. Looked toward Sodom.] As if they intended to travel that way.

> And Abraham went with them, to bring them on the may.] A piece of Civility like the former : Having entertained them, he accompanied them to far as to direct them in the Road to Sodom.

204

Verse 17. Ver. 17. And the LOR D faid.] The Divine Majesty, mentioned Verse 1. began now to discourse plainly and openly with him: not by the Ministry of Angels, but by himfelf. For, I take it, the three Angels had now left Abraham alone: Who returning towards his Tent, faw the Glory of the LORD, and head him speak what follows.

> Shall I hide from Abraham,&c.] These words seem to have been spoken to Abraham: Otherwise, how came he to expolulate with the LOR D, as he doth, werse 23, &c. unless we will conceive, (as we may) verse Verse 20, 21. to be the declaration of God's Intenti-Chapter on to deftroy Sodom: And these words and the next, XVIII. to be his resolution within himself, to acquaint Abraham with that Intention.

Ver. 18. Seeing that Abraham shall furely, &c.] This Verse 18. is one reason why the Divine Majesty resolves to acquaint Abraham with his intended Proceedings: Because he had already revealed to him greater things, and made him most gracious Promises.

Ver. 19. For I know, &c.] This Verse contains ano-Verse 19. ther reason; because he knew Abraham would approve himself so faithful to him: That he would not fail to enjoy all that he had promised.

To keep the way of the LORD.] Is to perfift in the True Religion and Worship of God.

To do Justice and Judgment.] Includes in them all those Vertues which were opposite to the Sins of Sodom.

Ver. 20. Because the cry.] Of their Sins: Which Verse 20. are faid to cry; First, To show the enormous Greatness and Impudency of them: For grandis absque dubio clamor est, qui a terra ascendit ad cælum: As Salvian speaks. And, Secondly, to show that the Goodness of God could no longer bear with them; their Sins compelling him, as one may say, to punish them. For Deus eos noluerit perdere, sed ipst extorserint, ut perirent. They not only called, but cried to him for Vengeance, as he also speaks, L.I. de Gubern. Dei, p. 19, 20. Edit. Baluzii; and L. IV. p. 75. L. V. p. 113.

Of Sodom and Gomorrha.] As they were the principal and greatest Cities, so they were the most wicked; and led the rest into all manner of Impiety: Who therefore also perished with them.

Very

Very grievous.] Not to be tolerated any longer. Chapter

There are prodigious Stories related of the Wicked-XVIII. mels both of their Judges and of the People, in the Gemara Sanhedrim, cap. XI. which are there alledged as an Explication of this Verfe.

Verse 21. Ver. 21. I will go down now, &c.] He uses the Language of a good Judge, (Verfe 25.) who never paffes Sentence, much less executes it, till he hath examined the Caufe.

> Whether they have done altogether, &c.] Whether they are come to the highest pitch of Wickednes: Or, (as de Dieu) whether they are fo refolved to go on in Sin, that there is no hope of them.

> If not, I will know.] That fo I may use means for their Reformation.

205

Verse 22. Ver. 22. And the Men.] The three Men mentioned Verse 2. It is commonly faid that only two of them went away from Abraham, and that the third remain'd and held discourse with him. But I fee no reason for this: They that came in and eat with him, and role up from the Table, (Verle 16.) who no doubt were all three, being the Perfons that are here faid now, to have turned their Faces from thence, i. e. From the place where they had been entertainod by Abraham : Or, where he parted with them.

> And went towards Sodom.] As they intended, Verle 16.

But Abraham stood yet before the LORD.] Not before any of those three, but before the Divine Majesty: Who appeared to him, verse 1. and had spoken to him, verse 12. and discoursed with him, verse 17, 20. in whose Presence he still continued. Some by food understand, he prayed : But that follows in the next Verse.

Ver

upon GENESI3.

Ver. 23. Abraham drew near.] Approached to-Chapter wards the Divine Majesty, to make his Address by XVIII. Prayer and Supplication to him. Perhaps the Divine Majesty remained in the place where it first ap-Verse 23. peared, verse 1. and Abraham by conducting the three Men some part of their way, being gone further from it, now came nearer to it. Though the Phrase doth not necessarily import it, to draw nigh to God, in the Holy Language, signifying no more but to worship him.

Wilt thou destroy the righteous with the wicked?] As much as to fay, I know thou wilt not. For fuch Queftions ftrongly deny; as in verse 17.

Ver. 24 Fifty righteous within the City.] Of So-Verle 24dom, which was the Chief, and comprehended the reft of the Country of Pentapolis : Which one would guess, by Gen. XIV. 17. depended upon Sodom as the Metropolis. So what is faid here of it, I take to refer to the whole Region.

Wilt thou not spare the place for the fifty, &c.] He defires two things of God. First, That he would not destroy the Righteous with the Wicked. Secondly, That he would spare the Wicked for the sake of the Righteous; if any confiderable Number of them were found among the Wicked.

Ver. 25. Shall not the Judge of all the Earth do Verse 25. right?] This refers (as we translate it) only to the first part of his Request, not to destroy the Righteous with the Wicked. Which was contrary to common Justice, much more to that exact Justice, which is administred by the Supreme Lord of the World: From whom there lies no Appeal. But, according to the Vulgar Translation, which is this, [Thou who judgest all the Earth, wilt by no means exe-R r 2 cute Chapter cute this Judgment.] it refers to the other part allo :-XVIII.

- That God would not be fo fevere as to destroy a whole Country; whilft there were many good Men still remaining in it: And fo the word Right, includes in it Clemency. And indeed this Passage seems to relate to both parts of his Request : And is to be interpreted thus; Shall not the Supreme Judge flow. Mercy, as well as do. Justice?
- Verse 26. Ver. 26. And the LORD faid, If I find fifty, &c. then will I (pare, &c.] This flows the foregoing Interpretation to be right : God promising most gracioully to be merciful to all, for the fake of a few, in comparison with the Multitude of Offenders.
- Verse 27. Ver. 27. Who am but Dust and Ashes.] Very mean. and vile.
- Verle 28. Ver. 28. Lack five of the fifty righteous.] A great Argument of Abraham's Modesty; who durst not prefume to ask too much at once; but by degrees proceeds, in the following Verses, to petition for greater Abatements : And that with Fear and Trembling, least the LORD should be angry with his Importunity.

208

Verle 32. Ver. 32. I mill not destroy it for tens Sake.] A wonderful Representation of the tender Mercy of the most High; who condescended so low as to grant a Reprieve to the whole Country, for the fake of fo small a Number, if they could have been found in it. And his Mercy was still greater, even beyond Abraham's defire ; for he spared one of the five Cities : For the fake of three or four Persons, as we read XIX. 20, 21.

We do not find, that Abraham makes express mention of Lot in any of the foregoing Petitions: But it is plain from XIX. 29. that he was in his Thoughts, which which God knew; and he is comprehended in those Chapter words, Verse 23. of this Chapter; Wilt thou destroy XIX. the righteous with the wicked?

Ver. 33. And the LORD went his way.] The Verle 33. Divine Majesty, or the Glory of the Lord, disappeared (and ascended perhaps towards Heaven) after this Communication with Abraham was finished.

And Abraham returned to bis place.] In the Plain of Mamre, verse 1.

CHAP. XIX.

Ver. I. A ND there came two Angels.] There were Verse I. three at the first, (XVIII. 2.) but the Chief of them was gone; having dispatch'd his Mesfage to Abraham; unto whom he was peculiarly sent. See XVIII.

At even.] They had been with Abraham in the heat of the Day: And were now come to the Gates of Sodom.

Lot fat in the Gate of Sodom.] The Hebrew Doctors will have it, that he was made a Judge in this City; and the prime Judge of all: For they adventure to name five (in Bereschith Rabba) and fay Lot was the Prelident of the Court, which fate in the Gate of the City. But this is only a fansie of theirs: He rather fat in the Gate of this City, as Abraham did at his Tent door; to invite Strangers to his House, (according to the Hospitality of those days) which was the greater Charity, because he knew the City to be fo wicked, that (if we may believe the Hebrew Doctors) they not only denied them all affistance, but abused Chapter abused them, and were cruel to them, (fee Gemara Sanhedrim, C. XI. & Pirke Eliefer, cap. 25.) for which last, they quote those words of Ezekiel, XXII. 29. they have oppressed the stranger wrongfully. Which are spoken of Israel, whom XVI. 49. he had compared with Sodom : One of whofe Sins he fays was, want of Compassion to the poor and needy.

Rofe up to meet them, &c.] Just as Abraham did ; whofe Civility he imitates, as well as his Charity. For the bowing himself to lowly, was a Token of the great Honour he paid them : Who had the appearance of great and noble Persons. And therefore he calls them Lords in the next Verfe.

Verse 2.

310

XIX.

Ver. 2. Turn in, I pray you, and tarry all night, &c.] It is late, and the Night draws on, take up your Lodging with me, and refresh your felves; and go away as early as you pleafe.

> And they faid, Nay, &c.] It was as great a Civility in Strangers, not to be forward to accept, as it was in him to invite. And therefore they refule him at first, to try his Kindness But intending, no doubt, to embrace his Offer, if he preffed them further. So the following words are to be underftood.

> We will abide in the street all night.] Unless you perfift in your Invitation. In those hot Countries; it was not unufual to lie in the open Air, especially in Summer. And in a City, they were fafe from being infested by wild Beasts, or Robbers.

Concerning washing the feet.]. See XVIII. 4.

Ver. 2. He preffed upon them greatly] Would not be denied, but was so earnest that they yielded. It is the fame word with that verse 9.

Bake unleavened Bread.] Which would be soonest ready, that so they might, in good time, repose themselves. Ver.

Verle 3.

upon GENESIS.

Ver. 4, And before they lay down.] To take their Chapter reft. XIX.

Both old and young.] A manifest Token of an universal Depravation of Manners, and Dissolution of Verse 4. Government.

From every quarter.] Or, as fome understand it, from the most extream parts of the City: As in Pfalm XIX. 4. One, it feems, told another, what goodly Perfons were come to their City: And all ran to the House where they heard they were; with the same wicked Inclinations. This is a proof there were not ten righteous Perfons in Sodom.

Ver. 5. That we may know them.] A modelt word Verle 5. for a lewd Fact. Some indeed will have it understood fimply, of their examining what they were, whence they came, and what their business was. Which might perhaps be their pretence; but Lot's answer to them, verse 7, 8. interprets their meaning to be filthy.

Ver. 6. Went out at the door.] To try if he could Verse 6. persuade them to depart. From whence, perhaps, the Jews gathered he was a Man of Authority among them.

Ver. 7. Do not fo wickedly.] As to break the Verse 7. Rights of Hospitality; and violate the Laws of Nature.

Ver. 8. Behold now, I have two Daughters, &c.] Verfe 8. This must be understood to have been spoken in a great Perturbation and Perplexity of Mind; and out of a vehement Desire to preferve the Men whom he had entertained: Which made him say, he had rather they should abuse his own Daughters, than those Strangers.

Chapter For therefore came they under the shadow of my roof.] XIX. He pleads the Laws of Hospitality, which obliged him to protect them; though he himself suffered by it.

Ver. 9. And they faid, Stand back.] Give way to us. This one fellow, &c.] Here is one, and he but a Sojourner; who takes upon him to be a Cenfor Morum, and controul the whole City. This shows he was no Judge.

Now will we deal worfe with thee, &c.] Abuse thee more than them. For it is the same word with verse 7. doing wickedly.

Verse II.

Ver. 11. Smote the Men with blindnefs.] Not with a total Blindnefs, (for then they would not have fought for the Door of Lot's Houfe, but rather have groped for the way home) but fuch a Dimnefs that they could not fee any thing diftinctly, or in its right place: But there feemed to be a Door, fuppofe, where there was none: Or, there was fuch a Confusion in their Brain, that all things were turned topfie turvy, (as we fpeak) in their Imagination; and appeared quite otherwife than they were.

Verse 12.

Ver. 12. Son-in-law, and thy Sons, and thy Daughters.] Here the Copulative and, must be expounded or: As it is used in many places, XIII.8. Let there be no strife between me and thee, or between my herds-men, and thine. And so we translate it, Exod. XII. 5. Thou shalt take it out of the Sheep, or out of the Goats: And Exod. XXI. 15. He that smitch his Father, or his Mother, shall be put to death. And so it should be translated here, Hast thou any here besides, Son-in-law, or thy Sons, or thy Daughters: As much as to say, we are desirous to save all that are nearly related to thee, for thy sake.

Ver.

Verse 9.

Ver. 14. Which married his Daughters.] Had espou- Chapter fed them for their Wives, but had not yet confum- XIX. mated the Marriage; as some understand it. O- UNI thers will have it, that, Befides those two Virgin Verle 14. Daughters at home with him, he had other Daughters, who were actually married in the City. Which they gather from the next Verfe; take thy Wife and two Daughters, which are here : As if he had more Daughters eliewhere. And R. Jehuda (in Pirke E.lieser, c. 25.) names one of them married to one of the great Men of Sodom, and calls her Pelothit. But this feems rather to have been the Name of one of them who were faved by the Angels, and thence fo called : For it fignifies delivered, or (natch'd from deftruction.

He seemed as one that mocked.] Who was not in earnest; but only made sport with them, and spake in jeft. For it is the fame word from whence Ifaac is derived, which fignifies Laughter.

Ver. 15. And when the morning arose. At break of Verse 15. Day: For the Sun did not rife, till Lot was got into Zoar, verse 22.

Take thy Wife, and thy two Daughters, which are here.] These last words, which are here, are not without Emphasis : And paraphrased thus by the Chaldee Interpreter, which are found faithful with thee : Are not corrupted by the common Wickedness of this place; or, that believe what we threaten.

Ver. 16. While he lingred.] Being loth to leave Verse 16. his Goods, or his Sons-in-law, and Children: Or, as fome think, praying God to spare the City.

The Men laid hold upon his hand, &c.] One of the Angels laid hold upon him and his Wife; and the other upon his two Daughters: Whom they pulled out

Sí

ITVV

Chapter out of the Houfe with fome kind of conftraint; and XIX. led them out of the City.

Verfe 17. liar Charge of preferving Lot and his Family. See XVIII. 2.

Escape for thy life.] Make haste, if thou lovest thy Life.

Look not behind thee.] To fee what becomes of thy Goods; or, as if thou wast loth to leave Sodom. Make no delay, no not fo much as to turn about and look back.

Neither Stay thou in the Plain.] Do not reft, until thou hast got out of the Plain: For every Place in it is to be destroyed.

Verse 18. Ver. 18. And he faid unto them, &c.] Both the Angels were still with him : But he seems particularly to speak to him that led him and his Wise out of Sodom; who had spoken before to him, and bid him make haste, verse 17. But there are those (Franzius for instance) who would have the word Adonai translated not, my Lord, but my Lords, as if he spake to both.

Verse 19.

314

Ver. 19. I cannot escape to the Mountain, &c.] He that lingred before, verse 16. now thought he could not make hafte enough. Either being crazy; or, tired with fitting up all Night; or, fearing the deftruction would overtake him, before he could reach the Mountain; and defiring, perhaps, to have a better dwelling than that.

Verse 20. Ver. 20. My Soul shall live.] Rejoyce, and be exceeding thankful.

Verse 21. Ver. 21. See, I have accepted thee.] Granted thy Request.

I will

I will not overthrow, &c.] A wonderful Instance of Chapter the Divine Clemency: Which in the midst of Wrath XIX. remembred Mercy.

Ver. 22. Haste thee.] Make no more delaies: No, Verse 22. not to make any further Petitions.

I cannot do any thing till thou be come thither.] Having made thee this Promile, I must defer the Vengeance till thou art safe there.

Called Zoar.] In after-times it had this Name; from the smalness of it; which he twice mentions, verse 20.

Ver. 24. The LORD rained from the LORD. Verse 24. It cannot be denied that here is an Intimation of a Plurality of Persons in the Deity. Yet there are many both ancient and modern Interpreters, who think the meaning is no more, than the LORD fent this Rain from himself, it being the manner of the Scripture Phrase, to repeat the Noun instead of the Pronoun (as Grammarians speak) of which Cocceius (upon the Gemara of the Sanhedrim, C. IV.) gives these Instances, Gen. II. 20. I Sam. XII. II. Zech. I. 16. And there are others, which come nearer to these words, Exod. XXIV. and be (i.e. the LORD, verfe 2.) Said unto Moses, Come up unto the LORD. Hos. I. 7. I will fave them by the LORD their God. Zech. X. 12. I will frengthen them in the LORD, &c. The Council of Sirmium indeed anathematizes those who thus interprets these words, and do not fay, the Son rained from the Father, Socrat. L. II. c. 20 Yet St. Chryfostom did not fear to fay this is an Idiom of the Scriprure-Language, which intended only to how, in rule of Thursday Emizare, that the LORD brought this Punishment upon them. Others also have observed, that the Scripture-Phrase being very Sí 2 con-

Chapter concife, by the LORD (in the beginning of the Verse) may be meant the Angel of the LORD. For whereloever mention is made of the LORD it is to be understood of him, וביה דינו, and his house of judgment, (as the Jewish Doctors speak) i. e. of the Angels which attend his Divine Majesty. And thus I find Arethas, (or Andreas Cassariensis) in his Commentaries upon the Revelation, p. 729. understand these words. For he there compares that Captain who was over the Locusts, Revel: IX. IP. to the Angel that was fent to cut off the Army of Senacherib, and to this Angel, O The Dobouar & Sidney on One Spor Grishoas, who had the Charge of executing the fiery destruction upon Sodom committed to him. For all Angels, faith he, are not ministring Spirits, eis dianoviav owing lov, for Mens Prefervation, but some serve, sis muse hav, for Punishment. And that they can bring Fire from Heaven, and raife Storms and Tempefts, appears by the Story of Job.

> Out of Heaven.] From the Lord whole Seat is in Heaven. The like expression we have, Revel. XX. 9.

> "Upon Sodom and upon Gomorrha."] And the neighbouring Cities, Admah and Zeboim; as appears from Deut. XXIX. 22.

> Brimstone and Fire.] A most hideous Shower, or, rather Storm of Nitre, Sulphur, or Bitumen, mingled with Fire, fell upon this Country from above; and, as the Tradition was among the Heathen, accompanied with a dreadful Earthquake : Which made an irruption of those bituminous Waters, whereby this Country was turned into the Lake called Afphaltites, or the falt, or dead Sea. So Strabo, L. XVI. in his description of that Lake. And indeed it doth not feem feen improbable, that the Earth quaked, while the Chapter Heavens did to terribly frown, and the Almighty's XIX. Voice thundred from the Clouds, as Doctor Jackson V (neaks, Book 1. on the Creed, c. 15. For the word yara=poon, (which St. Peter ules, 2 Pet. II. 6.) may be thought to import fome fuch Subversion. But it was his Ignorance of the Sacred Tradition in the Scriprures, which made Strabo wholly afcribe the defolation of that Country to the Earth; and not at all to the Heavens. Whereas Tacitus was better informed : Who fays these Judaical Cities (as he calls them) fulminum jactu (or ictu) arsisse, were burnt by the stroke of Thunder bolts from Heaven : And, a little after, igne cælesti flagrasse, were set on fire and confumed by Lightning, L. V. Hiftor. With which fell such abundance of bituminous Stuff, that the Valley which had only fome Pits of Bitumen in it before, XIV. 2, 10. became a Lake of it.

216

XIX.

Ver. 25. And he overthrew those Cities, &c.] Super Verle 25. impium populum gehennam missi è cælo, as Salvian gloffes, L. I. & L. IV. de Gubern. Dei. He fent Hell from Heaven upon an impious People. Of whole destruction there remains an everlasting Monument in the Salt-Sea: Into which that plain Country is. turned. The quality of which, and of the Soil about it is fo contrary to the Nature of all other Seas, or Inland Lakes, that no Philosopher can give an account of it, like that which Moles hath given us : As the same Doctor Jackson truly observes. He that will read Tacitus in the place forementioned, or Pliny, or Diodorus, may be fatisfied of this. The Country where these Cities stood, being become a Pan, or Receptacle (as the fore-named Doctor well calls it) of fuch a strange Moisture, that it may be called led Liquid Pitch, rather than Water. For it is fo stiff that no Wind will move it; nor will a Camel fink, if thrown into it; nor any Fish, or Bird, that ules the Water, live in it : And therefore called the Dead-Sea, and Salt-Sea, as Salmafius thinks, (Exerc. Plinian. Pag. 577, 614.) because no creature can live there, and becaule the noifom Steams that come from it, blast all that grows of it felf, or is sown in the Earth about it. Nor do the Rivers that run into it, at all alter it; but it infects all their Waters. with the loathfom Qualities of those Dregs of God's Wrath (to use Doctor Jackson's words once more) which first settled in it, at this overthrow: Just like bad Humours, when they settle in any part of our Bodies, plant, as it were, a new Nature in it, and turn all Nourishment into their substance.

218 Chapter XIX. ~

Verse 26. Ver. 26. His Wife looked back from behind him. 7 She not only lagg'd behind, as we speak, but turned about and flood still a while, bewailing perhaps the loss of all there : Or, as some of the Jews fansie, to fee what would become of her Kindred, and whether they would follow her or no.

Became a pillar of Salt.] Or, as some understand it, an everlasting Monument: Whence, perhaps, the Jews have given her the Name of Adith, (as they call her in Pirke Elieser, cap. 25.) because she remained a perpetual Testimony of God's just Displeature. For the ftanding still too long, fome of that dreadful Shower before-mentioned, overtook her; and falling upon her, wrapt her Body in a Sheet of Nitro-Sulphureous Matter : Which congealed into a Cruft as hard as Stone: And made her appear like a Pillar of Salt, her Body being, as it were candied in it. Kimchi calls it an heap of Salt; which the Hebrews fay continued for many Ages. Their Conjecture is Chapter not improbable, who think the Fable of Niobe was XIX. hence derived : Who the Poets feign, was turned into a Stone, upon her excellive Grief for the death of her Children.

fay

Ver. 27. Gat to the place, where he flood before the Verse 27. LORD.] Where he prayed, say the Jews, or communed with God, XVIII. 22, 33.

Ver. 28. The smoke of the Country, &c.] Some think, Verse 28. the Hebrew word fignifies, like the smoke of a Lime-Kiln; or of a boiling Cauldron. After the Showre was over, the Reek or Steam of it remained : And made that Country look dismally, which before was like the Garden of God, (XIII. 10.) but now become a stinking Puddle of filthy Water, rad in Gord Sum Sum fpeaks, noisom beyond expression.

Ver. 29. Overthrew the Cities, wherein Lot dwelt.] Verle 29. In one of which he dwelt: Which is an ufual manner of Speaking in Scripture, Gen. VIII. 4. the Ark rested on the Mountains, (i. e. on one of the Mountains) of Ararat, Judg. XII. 7. Jeptbah was buried in the Cities (i. e. one of the Cities) of Gilead. Which explains that of St. Matthew, XXVI. 8. when his Disciples, (i. e. one of his Disciples, Judas) saw it he had indignation, &c.

Ver. 30. And Lot went up out of Zoar, &c.] It Verle 30. appears from hence, that this good Man was very timerous, not having fo firong a Faith as his Uncle Abraham. For he that had lately obtain'd a Pardon for this Place, becaufe he was afraid he fhould not have time enough to get to the Mountain, now forfakes it: For fear, I fuppofe, a new Showre fhould come from Heaven and deftroy it, after the reft; be-because the Inhabitants, perhaps, continued unreformed, though they had feen fuch a terrible Example of the Divine Vengeance upon their wicked Neighbours. If his fear to dwell in Zoar proceeded from this Caule, it was the more reasonable; becaufe he might think, though God had spared them. for the prefent, yet they taking no warning by the Galamity of their Country, would fhortly perifh as the reft had done. And fo Theodoret and others think this City was afterwards deftroyed : Of which there is no certain Record; and if the Tradition be true, it was not speedily swallowed up, as they report, but retained for some time the Name of Zoar ; being before called Bela, XIV. 2.

220 Chapter XIX.

Dwelt in the Mountain.] It is not faid what Mountain; but it is probable one of the Mountains in the Country afterward called Moab; from one of his Children, which he here begat. For Epiphanius Haref. LIII. describes the Country of Moab, as lying Thege & whunks, &c. beyond the Salt, or Dead Sea. See Salmaf. Exerc. Plin. p. 615.

Verle 31. Ver. 31. There is not a Man in all the Earth. 7 Not one remaining of their Kindred, that they knew: For they were not much acquainted, we may fuppose, beyond that Country which was destroyed; and those of Zoar were fo wicked, that they look'd upon them as Beafts, rather than Men.

Verse 32. Ver. 32. Let us make him drink Wine.] Which they brought with them out of Sodom, to support their Spirits in their flight; or, elfe got at Zoar : Of which they invited their Father to drink liberally, and chear himfelf under his extream great Sorrow.

That

That we may preferve Seed of our Father.] This Chapter Fact of theirs being objected by Celfus against our XIX. Religion, Origen gives this account of it, (Lib. IV. contra Celf.) That these two Maids having learnt fomething of the Conflagration of the World, and feeing their own City and Country destroyed by Fire, imagined Zwave or 78 yerss ril aropa nov, that the Seminary of Mankind remained only in their Father and them. And if what they did was upon this supposition, That there was no other way to reftore the World ; they did no worfe than the Stoicks thought their mise Men might do, if the Race of Mankind were extind, so that none but he and his Daughter were left alive. Jrenaus makes the fame Excufe for them, and fays they did this innocently, and in their fimplicity, believing all Mankind were destroyed, L. IV. cap. 51. But I take their Conjecture to be highly probable, who conceive that the eager Defire, which then possessed the Hearts of good People, to fulfil the Promise of the Meffiah, was that which put them upon this, otherwife monstrous, Crime. For which there are these Reasons. First. That they had lived fo chaftly in the midft of the Impurities of Sodom, that one cannot think a Spirit of Uncleanness now entred into them, and carried them to this Action. And indeed. Secondly, Their joyning together in this Contrivance, (whereas Matters of this Nature use to be carefully concealed from the nearest Friends, or make them fall out, if they find themfelves ingaged in the fame Intrigue) fhows that they were acted by Counfel and Defign, and not by brutish Lust. And, Thirdly Their perpetuating the Memory of this Fact, in the Names of their Children, is a Demonstration there was some-Tr thing thing extraordinary in it; and that they were not Chapter ashamed of it, but rather gloried in it; desiring it XIX. might be remembred that these Children were descended from Lot. Who they thought, perhaps, might pretend to fulfil the Promife as well as Abraham; Being the Son of Abraham's elder Brother; and called out of Sodom by the Ministry of Angels, as Abraham. was called out of Chaldea.

322

Verse 33. Ver. 22. He perceived not when she lay down, &c.7 This feems hard to be understood : But it must be noted, That Moles only fays he did not perceive when the came to bed to him, and when the got up again; not that he did not perceive when he lay with her, of which he could not but have fome perception.

> Though M. Montaigne in his Effays, relates a Story of a Widow, who, being drunk, was abused by a Hind in her House, and afterward finding her self with Child, could not remember how it came to pafs. But the Fellow at last confessed his Fact . Of which, whatfoever Senfe fhe had then, fhe had perfectly forgot it when she awaked.

Ver. 34. Go thou in, &c.] If he had retained any Verse 34. remembrance of what he had done the Night before. one cannot think he would have faln into the fame Snare fo foon again. For which reafon, it is probable, he did not think he had been intoxicated but only drank fo freely, as to make him fleep foundly, and forget his Sorrow.

Verfe 37. Ver. 27. Moab.] Most will have this word to fignifie, from my Father. But Drusius in Deut. II.8. takes the import to be, Aqua Patris.

Ver. 38. Ben-ammi.] This signifies as much as, Chapter the Son of my People. Which doth not acknowledge XX. fo plainly, as the other, That this Son was begotten by her Father: But only that he was the Son of Verse 38 one of her own Nation, or Kindred; not by a Stranger.

CHAP. XX.

Ver. 1. JOurneyed from thence.] i. e. From Mamre, Verse 1. where he had dwelt a great while, and where many remarkable Paffages had hapned, XIII. 18. XVIII. I.

Toward the South Country.] Toward Egypt: For fome fanfie the very Stench of the Lake of Sodom was offensive to him in Mamre.

Sojourned in Gerar.] The Metropolis of Palestine ; and, as some compute it, not much above fix Miles from Mamre.

Ver. 2. Abraham faid of Sarah, &c.] Just as he Verse 2. had done in Egypt, XII. 13. when there was greater reason for it; the being then thirty Years younger than now; when the was no lefs than ninety Years old. But it feems her Beauty remained at this Age; being healthful, and having born and fuckled no Children: And Women in those days living fo long that they were as fresh at ninety, as they are now at forty or fifty. Where many that are of excellent Constitutions, and naturally handsom, continue very lovely.

Abimelech.] The Name of all the Kings of Pale-Stine; as Pharaoh was of the King's of Egypt. It is Tt 2

not

Chapter not improbable, as the Author of Tzemath David XX. conjectures, that the fucceeding Kings took the Name of him who was the first King of the Country : Ad A. M. 2600.

> Sent and took Sarah.] By violence, fome think ; but I fee no ground for it. He defired to have her; and might think Abraham would look upon it as a great Honour, to have his Sifter become Wife to a King: And Abraham it is likely flowed no unwillingnefs, not being in a condition to deny him.

Verse 3.

324

Ver. 2. And God came to Abimelech in a dream by Night.] Two differences are observed by Maimonides, between this manifestation, which God made of his Mind to Abimelech; and that which he made to the Prophets. For it is only faid here, God came to Abimelech, and that he came in a dream by night. The very fame is faid of Laban the Syrian, who doth not seem to have been so good a man as Abimelech, XXXI. 24. But of Jacob it is faid, God spake unto Israel, and he spake to him in the Visions of the Night, (Not in a Dream,) and faid, Jacob, Jacob, XLVI. 2. See More Nevoch. P. H. c. 41. God was not a Stranger to other Nations, when he was peculiarly kind to Abraham : But spake to them in Dreams, and fometimes in Visions; as appears in Eliphaz and Elihu, Job IV. 13. XXIII. 14, 15, &c.

Thou art but a dead Man.] viz. If thou doft not reftore Abraham his Wife, verfe 7.

She is a Man's Wife.] Or, married to a Husband, (as we translate it in the Margin) fo compleatly, that he hath enjoyed her as his Wife. For from this place the Jewish Doctors prove, that the Marriage Contract was not perfected in these days, till the Parties had lain together : After which if any other Perfon fon lay with the Woman, he was to be put to death, Chapter as an Adulterer; but not, if he lay with her after XX. the Contract, before it was confimmated by actual \checkmark Enjoyment. See Mr. Selden, de Jure N. & G. L. V. c. 4. P.551.

Ver. 4. But Abimelech had not come near her.] To Verle 4. ule her as his Wife.

Wilt thou flay also a righteous Nation?] He was afraid (as became a good Man and a good King) left his People fhould fuffa; upon his account; who in this particular, had no Guilt upon them.

Ver. 5. Said he not unto me,&c.] The Fault is in Verle 5. them, not in me : For I had both their words for it, that he was their Brother; and he faid nothing of her being his Wite.

In the integrity of my heart.] Not with any intention to Defile her; but to make her my Wife.

And innocence of my hands.] I did not take her by Violence from Abraham; but he and the confented to it.

Ver. 6. And God faid unto him in a dream,] The Verfe ć. fame Expression is still retained, which we had verfe 3. to show that this was a lower Degree of Divine Manifestation, than was in Abraham's Family.

I know thou didst this in the integrity, &c.] i. e. That thou didst not defign any Evil.

For I alfo, &c.] Or, rather, And I alfo withheld ' thee. I dealt well with thee, because of thy integrity. Some think he was withheld by a Disease in the Secret Parts, verse 17.

From sinning against me.] From committing Adultery.

Ver. 7. He is a Prophet.] This is the first time we Verse 7. meet with the word Nabi, a Prophet : And Abraham is

326 Chapter XX.

is the first that is honoured with this Name. Which fignifies one familiar with God; who might come to him, to confult him upon all occasions; and be authorifed to declare God's Mind and Will to others; and also prevail with him by his Prayers for a Bleffing upon them. Soit here follows.

He shall pray for thee.] Obtain Life and Health to thee. The greater any Prophet was, the more powerful he was in Prayer : As appears by the Stories of Moses, Elias, and Samuel. See Pfalm XCIX. 6.

It appears by this whole Hiftory of Abimelech, that he was a Man of great Vertue in those Days: And not an Idolater, but a Worshipper of the true God, as Melchisedeck the High-Priest of that Country was: Yet not so well acquainted with Divine Revelations as Abraham was.

Verse 8.

Ver. 8. Abimelech rose up early in the morning.]This is a farther Token of his Goodness, that he delayed not to obey the Divine Command.

Called all bis Servants.] His Privy Council, (as we fpeak) who were all of the fame Mind with him; That this was a Divine Admonition; which it was not fafe to difobey. From whence we may probably gather, his Court was not fo corrupted, as Abraham fulpected.

Verse 9.

Ver. 9. What haft thou done unto us?] Into what Danger haft thou brought us?

Thou hast brought on me and my Kingdom a great Sin.] Run me into the hazard of committing a great Sin, or fuffering an heavy Punishment, (for fo Sin is fometimes taken) in not telling me the truth.

Thou hast done deeds unto me, that ought not to be done.] This is not fair dealing; such as I might have expected from thee.

Ver.

Ver. 10. What famest thou,&c.] What didst thou Chapter observe in my Country, that made thee think we XX. would meddle with thy Wife ? What Tokens of Injustice, or Impurity didst thou see among us ? Verse 10.

Ver. 11. Because I thought surely, &c.] The word Verse 11. Rak which we translate surely, signifies only : and may be thus well translated here, This only I saw wanting in your Country, the fear of God : i. e. A Sence of Religion, which restrains Men from all manner of Wickedness. It seems the People were not so good as their King.

Ver. 12. And yet indeed she is my Sister.] Do not Verse 12. condemn me of telling a Lye; for struly my Sister. Such was the Language of those Days, to call their Wives, Sisters; and their Nephews, Brothers. As he calls Lot, XIII. 8. who was his Nephew, and the Brother of Sarah; as was observed upon XI. 29.

She is the Daughter of my Father.] i. e. His Father's Grand-daughter; who are frequently in Scripture called the Children of their Grand-fathers. For the was Daughter to Haran, elder Brother of Abraham.

But not the Daughter of my Mother.] It feems Terah had two Wives, by one of which he had Haran, the Father of Lot and Sarah; and by the other he had Abraham. So Sarah was Daughter to one who was his Brother by his Father's fide, but not by his Mother: And with fuch a Niece they thought it not unlawful then to marry. No regard being had to Confanguinity (if we may believe R. Solomon Jarchi) by the Father's fide, before the Law of Moses, but only by the Mother's.

The more received Opinion indeed of the Hebrers Chapter Doctors is, (as Mr. Selden observes, L. V. de Jure N. XX. & G. cap. 2.) that Sarab was indeed the Daughter of Terab by his fecond Wife, and fo Abraham's half Sifter. And Said Batricides (Patriarch of Alexandria above seven hundred Years ago) in his Arabick Hiftory, tells us the Name of Terab's first Wife was Hona; and the Name of his fecond Tevitha, by whom he had Sarah. But there is no other Authority for this.

228

Verfe 12. Ver. 13. When God caufed me to wander.] The Hebrew word which we translate mander, being in the Plural Number, the LXX. render the word Elohim (God) the Angels : Who by the Command of God led him from his Father's Houle, through divers Countries. But the Chaldee translates it, when because of the Idols of Chaldea I was called away from my own Country, &.c. For fo the Gods, that is, the Idol Gods, might be faid to cause him to wander : Becaufe it was by reason of them, that God would not have him ftay any longer in his own Country. But there is no need of these Devices: Nothing being more usual, in the Hebrew Language, than for the Flural Number to be put instead of the Singular; especially when they speak of God, as Bochart obferves in many places, Gen. XXXV. 7. Exod. XXXII. 4. Pfalm CXLIX. 2. Ecclef. XII. 1. See Hierozoic. P. I. L. H. c. 24. Nay, Hackspan hath rightly obferved, that there are Nouns of the Plural Number in their Termination, which in fignification are Singular; with which it is usual to joyn a Verbof the Plural Number, because of the Plural Termination of the Noun. A plain Example of which we have Gen. IV. 6. Why is thy Countenance (in the Hebrew Faces) faln. The

The like he observes in the Syriack Language, John Chapter I. 4. The life (in the Syriack lifes) was the light of XX. Men.

Ver. 16. I have given thy Brother a thousand pieces Verle 16. of Silver.] The word pieces is not in the Hebrer. But by Ceseph Silver, all, in a manner, understand Shekels. For anciently there were no Shekels of Gold or Brass, but only of Silver. Yet there are those who think he did not give him thus much in Money; but in the Goods before-mentioned, verse 14. which were worth a thousand Shekels. See XXIII. 16.

He is unto thee a covering of the Eyes, &c.] These words are very varioufly expounded, according as the first word bu is interpreted : Which may relate either to the Gift before-mentioned, and be translated, this; or, to Abraham, and be translated, he, as it is by us. If they refer to the former, then the Sence is ; I have given him that Sum of Money to buy thee a Veil, that all who converse with thee here, or in any other Country, (where thou shalt come) may know thee to be a married Woman. For a Veil was worn in Token of Subjection to the Power of the Husband; and that thereby their Chaltity might be preferved safe from the Snares of others. As G. Vorstins observes upon Pirke Elieser, Cap. XXXII. Or, as others interpret it, This Money will be a covering to thine Eyes, (that is, a defence to thy Modestry) it being a testimony that Abimelech paid dear for taking thee into his House.

If they refer to Abraham, then the meaning is; Thou needest no other defence of thy Modesty and Chastity than he, nor hast any reason to say bereaster, he is thy Brother; for he is so dear to God that God will defend him, and he will defend thee, without such shifts as this thon hast used: Nay, not only thee, but all that V v are

A COMMENTART

Chapter are with thee; and that even against strangers. I omit XXI. other Interpretations: And refer the Reader to L. de Dieu.

> Thus she was reproved.] Or, instructed, (as some translate it) not to dissemble her Condition. Or, this was the Reprehension he gave her, for saying. Abraham was her Brother.

- Verse 17. Ver. 17. So Abraham prayed unto God, &c] Befeeched God to restore them all to their Health, now that his Wife was restored to him, verse 14.
- Verse 18. Ver. 18. For the LOR D had fast closed up, &c.] By fuch Swellings (some understand it) in the Secret Parts, that the Men could neither enjoy their Wives; nor the Women who were with Child, be delivered.

CHAP. XXI.

Verse 1. Ver. 1: A ND the LORD visited Sarah, &c.] Bestowed upon her the Bleffing he had promifed her, i.e. made her conceive. For fo the word visit fignifies; either in a bad Sence to inflict Punishment, (Exod. XX. 5.) or, in a good Sence, to confer Bleffings; as here, and Exod. III. 16. and many other places.

And he did unto her as he had spoken.] Performed his Promise, by making her bring forth a Child . For so it is explained in the next Verse, Sarah conceived and bare Abraham a Son.

Verse 2.

330

Ver. 2. Sarab conceived, &c.] God not only made her Womb fruitful, but brought the Fruit of it to perfection; and then brought it into the World.

At

At the fet time, of which God had fpoken to him.] Chapter XVIII. 14. It is not faid, where Ifaac was born. For XXI. we are not told here, whether Abraham departed from Gerar into any other part of this Country, as Abimelech kindly offered and gave him liberty to do, XX. 15. But it appearing by the latter end of this Chapter, that he continued a long time in Abimelech's Country, though not at Gerar; it is probable Ifaac was born at Beerfheba, Verfe 21.

Ver. 6. God hath made me to laugh.] i. e. To rejoyce Verse 6. exceedingly.

So that all that hear, will laugh with me.] All my Friends and Neighbours, will congratulate my Happines, and rejoyce with me.

Ver. 7. Give Children fuck.] It is ufual to put the Verle 7. Plural Number for the Singular, as was observed before XIX. 29. Or, the hoped perhaps to have more Children after this. And her giving him fuck, was a certain proof, that the had brought him forth of her own Womb; and that he was not a fuppositious Child, as Menochius well observes. Others note, That the greatest Persons in those ancient Days, suckled their own Children: Which Favorinus, a Greek Philosopher, prefied as a Duty upon a Noble Woman by many strong Arguments: Which are recorded by A. Gellius, who was prefent at his discourse, L. XII. Noct. Attic. cap. 1.

Ver. 8. The Child grew, and was meaned.] At the Verle 8. Age of five Years old, at St. Hierom reports the Opinion of fome of the Hebrems.

Made a great Feast the same day.] Rather now, than at his Nativity; because there was greater hope of life, when he was grown so strong, as to be taken from his Mother's Breast.

332 Chapter XXI.

Verse 9.

Ver. 9. Sarah faw the Son of Hagar, &c. mocking] He laugh'd and jear'd, perhaps, at the great builtle which was made at Ifaac's weaning: Looking upon himfelf as the First-born, and by the right of that, to have the privilege of fulfilling the Promise of the Melfiab. This gives a good account of Sarah's Earnestness for the Expulsion, not only of him, but of his Mother also; who, it's likely, flattered and bare him up in those Pretensions. Many think he did more than mock him, because St. Paul calls it Persecution, Gal. IV. 29. which St. Hierom takes for beating Isac: Who, perhaps, refenting his Flouts, might fay fomething that provoked Ismael to strike him. And it is very probable his Mother encouraged him to this, or maintained him in his Infolence: Which was the reafon Sarah pressed to have them both turned out of doors.

Some think he jested upon his Name, and made it a matter of Merriment. For fo the word is used, XIX. 14.

Verse 10. Ver. 10. Cast out, &c.] Let them not dwell here any longer; nor continue a part of thy Family. Shall not be Heir, &c.] She judged, by what she Shall not be Heir, &c.] She judged, by what she had seen of his fierce and violent Spirit, that it would not be safe for her Son, to let Isomael have any share in his Father's Inheritance: For she was a fraid he would make himself Master of all.

Verle 11. Ver. 11. Grievous, because of his Son.] His Wife is not here mentioned; because his principal Concern was for her Son: But it appears, by the next Verse, he had some Consideration of her also.

Verse 12. Ver. 12. God faid-unto Abraham, &cc.] By this he was satisfied that Sarah's Motion proceeded not merely from her Anger; but, from a Divine Incitation.

483

For

For in Ifaac shall thy Seed be called.] Here the Blef-Chapter fing promifed to Abraham's Seed, XVII. 7, 8. is limited to the Posterity of Ifaac: And the meaning of the Phrase is; they that defcend from Ifaac, and not they that defcend from Isomael shall be owned by me for the Children of Abraham; particularly the Messtable seed.

Ver. 13. Also of the Son of thy hand-maid, &c.] He Verle 13. renews the Promise he made him before, XVII. 20. that Ishmael should have a numerous Posterity: Because he was descended from Abraham.

Ver. 14. Rose up early in the morning.] Delayed Verse 14. not to fulfil the Divine Will.

Took Bread and a bottle of later.] Which includes all fort of Provision for their prefent necellity : Till they came to the place unto which, in all probability, he directed them to bend their Course. For it is not reasonable to think, that he sent them to seek their Fortune (as we speak) without any care what became of them. It may feem strange rather, that he did not send a Servant to attend them, but let Hagar. carry the Provision her felf: Which I suppose was. done to humble her; and to flow that her Son, was to have no Portion of Abraham's Inheritance, nor of. his Goods; of which Servants were a part. Doctor. Fackson, Book I. on the Creed, chap. 25. thinks that Abraham would scarce have suffered them to go into a. Wildernefs, fo poorly provided, when he had ftore of. all things, unlefs he had been directed by fome fecret Inftingt; prefaging the rude and fharking kind of life,. unto which his Progeny was ordained. Yet, it is probable, he was as kind to him, as he was to the Sonshe. had by Keturah, and fent him some Tokens of his: Love afterwards. See XXV. 6.

Ver.

Chapter Ver. 15. She caft the Child under one of the Shrubs.] XXI. He being faint, and ready to die with Thirft. A Prefage (faith the great Man before-named) that his

334

Verle 15. Posterity should be pinched with the like Penury: Scantiness of Water (which was their best Drink) streightning their Territories in Arabia, as Strabo obferves, L. XVI. And after they had inlarged their Bounds, even in Mesopotamia it felf, they were still confined to the dry and barren Places of it.

Verfe 16. Ver. 16. And she went and sat her down, &c.] Her Strength carried her further than he could go: But her Affection still kept her within sight of the place where he was.

Verfe 17. Ver. 17. And God heard the Voice of the Lad.] Who cried, it feems, as well as his Mother : And it moved the Divine Pity to fend an Angel to their Relief.

Fear not.] Do not think I come to terrifie thee : Or, do not fear the Death of thy Child.

- Verse 18. Ver. 18. Lift up the Lad, &c.] It seems he was so faint, that he was not able to stand without support.
- Verse 19. Ver. 19. Opened her Eyes.] Made her see what she did not observe before; by reason of her Tears, or the great disturbance of her Mind.
- Verfe 20. Ver. 20. And God was with the Lad.] Preferved and profpered him : So that he grew to be a Man.

Became an Archer.] A skilful Hunter and Warriour alfo, with Bow and Arrows. Am. Marcellinus, L. XIV. tells us, that the Saracens, who were of the Pofterity of Ifhmael, never fet their Hands to the Plough, but got their Living for the most part, by their Bow. For such as they were themselves, such fuch was their Food, (Vians universis caro feri-Chapter na, &c.) they all lived upon wild Flesh, or Venison, XXI. and such wild Fowl as the Wilderness afforded, with Herbs and Milk. Dr. Jackson observes that he compares them to Kites; ready to spy a Prey, but so wild withal that they would not stay by it, (as Crows or other ravenous Birds do by Carrion) but presently fled with what they caught into their Nests.

Ver. 21. He dwelt in the Wilderness of Paran.] Verse 21. Which was near to Arabia: In which Country all the Oriental Writers say the Posterity of Ishmael lived. Particularly Patricides, who says he went into the Land of Fathreb; which is that part of Arabia, in which is the City of Medina.

A. Wife out of Egypt.] Out of her own Country, where she was best acquainted. The Jewish Doctors fay he had two Wives, whofe Names they tell us were Aischab and Phatimah : The first of which received Abraham churlishly when he went to visit his Son; and therefore he put her away and took the other, who proved more civil, when he made a fecond Journey thither. Which, though it look like a Fable, yet I think it not improbable that Abraham might go to fee how his Son lived, and that Ismael might sometimes wait upon him, (as the Author of Schalschall. Hakab. and Pirke Eliefer affirm) for we cannot think they were fo unnatural, as never to have any correspondence . Especially since we read that Ismael, as well as Isaac, took care of Abraham's Funeral, XXV. 9. After which, it is not improbable Hagar might have another Husband : Which is. the account Aben Ezra (upon Pfalm LXXXIII. 6.) gives of the People called Hagarenes, who are there mentioned as distinct from the Ismaelites :. They were,

Chapter were, faith he, descended from Hagar by another XXI. Husband, not by Abraham.

336

Verle 22. Abimelech and Pichol, &c.] It is plain by Verle 22. this that Abraham still lived, if not in the Country of Gerar, yet very near it.

God is with thee in all that thou doft.] They faw him fo thriving and prosperous, that they were afraid he might grow too strong for them; if he should have a mind to disturb them.

Verse 23. Ver. 23. Swear that thou wilt not deal falfly, &c.] That as there hath been a long Friendship between me and thee, so thou wilt not violate it; but alway preferve it, even when I am dead : According to thy trequent Professions, and (perhaps) Promises.

According to the kindness, &c.] Abimelech thought he might claim this Oath from Abraham; by Virtue of the Obligations he had laid upon him.

Verse 24. Ver. 24. I will smear.] He was as forward to confirm his Promises, as to make them.

Verle 25. Ver. 25. And Abraham reproved Abimelech.] But before he fware, he thought it neceffary to fettle a right Understanding between them : And therefore argued with Abimelech (as it may be rendred) about a Well of Water digged by Abraham's Servants, which Abimelech's had injuriously taken from him. This was Wildom to complain of Wrongs now, before they entred into a Covenant, that they being redressed, there might remain no occasion of Quarrels afterward.

Verle 26. Ver. 26. Abimelech faid, I wot not, &c.] This is the first time I heard of it. If thou hadst complained before, I would have done thee right.

Ver. 22. And Abraham took Sheep, &c.] Some think they were a Prefent he made to Abimelech; in gratitude titude for what he had bestowed on him, (XX.14.) or Chapter in token of Friendship with him. But others think XXI. they were defigned for Sacrifice ; by which they made a Covenant one with another. At least, some of them ferved for that use.

337

Ver. 28. And he set seven Ew-lambs by themselves. Verse 28. The meaning of this is afterwards explained, verse 20. That though they were part of the Prefent he made him; yet they flould be understood alfo (being fet apart from the reft) to be a purchase of a quiet posselfion of that Well.

Ver. 20. A witness unto me that I have digged this Verse 30. Well.] By this Token it shall be remembred hereafter, that I digged this Well, and that thou didft grant me quiet possession of it.

Ver. 21. Called the place Beer-sheba.] The Hebrew Verse 31. word Sheba fignifies both an Oath, and alfo feven. Perhaps for both reasons this Place had this Name. We are sure for the first, which is here mentioned : Because they fware to each other.

Ver. 32. Thus they made a Covenant, &c.] By giving Verle 32. and excepting those Sheep and Oxen, mentioned v.27. and perhaps by offering Sacrifices; or, at least, by eating and drinking together: As Isaac and Abimelech did in after-times, XXVI. 20.

Here some observe it was not unlawful, by the Law of Nature, to make Covenants with Infidels and Idolaters, for mutual Defence and Commerce, or fuch like reafons. But I fee no proof that Abimelech was fuch a Person. In future Ages the People of Canaan were fo corrupted by this, as well as other Sins, that God commanded them to be exterminated, and made it unlawful to enter into a Covenant with them, Exod. XXXIV. 15. But as the Philistines were none of 328 XXI.

Chapter of them: So it still remained lawful to make Leagues with other Gentiles, who were not of the seven Nations of Canaan, as we see by the Examples of David and Solomon, and others.

> They returned into the Land of the Philistines.] Into that part of the Country, where they dwelt : For both Abimelech and Abraham were now in that Land, as appears from the last Verse of this Chapter.

Verse 33.

Ver. 33. Abraham planted a Grove. 7 For a solemn and retired place wherein to worship God. For, as Servius fays upon the IX. Æneid. Nunquam est Lucus fine Religione. There never was a Grove, in ancient times, without Religion. And therefore here, we may well: suppose Abraham built an Altar: Which was fenced and bounded with an Inclosure, and shaded with Trees, as Mr. Mede (Discourse XIX.) observes their Prosench's or Places of Prayer to have been in after-times. For that this was intended for a Place of Prayer appears by the following words, and called there on the Name of the Lord. &c.

From hence, some think, the Custom of planting Groves was derived into all the Gentile World: Who fo prophaned them by Images, and Filthinefs, and Sacrifices to Damons, that God commanded them, by the Law of Moles, to be cut down. But Abraham made use of a Grove before this, XII. 6, 8. where we find he built an Altar on a Mountain, which I queftion not was compassed with Trees. See XIII. 18. therefore I take this only to have been the first Grove that he planted himfelf.

Called upon the Name of the LORD, the everlasting God.] I find that Maimonides in feveral places, of his More Nevochim, translates the last words, The LORD God of the World, or the LORD the Almighty, mighty Greator of the World. For this was the great Chapter Article of Faith in those Days, That God made the XXII. World, Par. II. cap 30. & Par. III. c. 29.

Ver. 34. Sojourned many days, &c.] The word Days Verle 34. often fignifies Years: And, it is likely, fignifies fo in this place. For here Ifaac was born, and here he was weaned: And after that Abraham found fo much friendship from Abimelech, and fo many conveniencies of Life, that they invited him to stay a long time in this Country.

CHAP. XXII.

Ver. 1. A ND it came to pass after these things.] Verse T. That which follows, fell out while Abraham dwelt at Beer scheba, or near it, verse 19.

God did tempt Abraham.] Proved or tried his Faith, in a very difficult Instance. The Hebrews take great notice, that the Name of Elohim (which they call Nomen Judicii) is here used; as it is in several of the following Verses.

And faid unto him, Abraham.] I suppose there was such a visible appearance of the Divine Majesty to him, as he had often seen, XV. 1. XVII. 1. XVIII. 1.

Here I am.] A Phrase, expressing readinels to hearken, and to give answer, ver. 7, 12.

Ver. 2. Take now.] Immediately.

Verse 2.

Thy Son.] A hard thing, had it been Ismael.

Thy only Son Ifaac.] His only Son by Sarah, and the Child of the Promife, XXI. 12.

X x 2

When

340 Chapter

XXII.

Whom thou lovest.] Who was far dearer to him than any thing in this World; dearer than his own Life: For Men will venture that to preferve their. Children. According to an old faying in Euripides:

Children are to all Mankind, their very Life, or Soul.

Whence it was that Pacatus Drepanius faid in his Panegyrick to Theodofius the Great, Instituente Natura plus fere filios quam nosmetips diligimus. We are taught by Nature to love our Sons, in a manner, more than our felves. But the love of God in Abraham was stronger than either.

Get thee into the Land of Moriah.] So it was called afterwards, from God's appearing there (verse 14) for the Deliverance of Isaac, as many think. Certain it is, that the Temple of Solomon was built upon Mount Moriah, 2.Chron. III. I. But this Name belonged not only to that Mountain; but to all the Mountainous Country thereabouts : Which is here called the Land of Moriab. Which Aquila translates ualaquin, conspicuous: For it is derived from the word Raab, to see. And the LXX. translate it not amile, yhi by high Country: Which is very confpicuous. But Mount Sion, and Acra, and other neighbouring Mountains, being also very high, this Name of Moriah belonged to them; because they were very conspicuous. Infomuch that Mount Sion is often uled in Scripture for Mount Moriah: For all that Mountainous Country, went by one and the fame Name.

And

And offer him there.] The Hebrews observe the word Chapter is ambiguous, and may be translated, make him to go up: XXII. But Abraham understood it in the usual fence, That he should kill him, as they did the Beasts for Sacrifices. A very hard injunction; which some think God would not have laid upon Abraham, if he had not had a power thus to dispose of Isaac, inherent in him, as his Father. See Dr. Taylor, Duct. Dubit. L. III. c. 5. Rule 2. n. I.

Upon one of the Mountains.] There were more Hills than one thereabouts, (Pfalm CXXV.2.) as I observed on the foregoing Verse. And it may be further here noted, That, in ancient Times, they chofe Mountains, or high Places, whereon to worfhip God and offer Sacrifices, XII. 8. Which God himself approved of, till they were prophaned, as the Groves were, (see XXI. 22.) and then he commanded Abraham's Posterity, not to worthip in high' Places, but only in one certain Mountain, where he ordered his Temple to be feated. Nothing is plainer in the Gentile Writers, than that they chose Mountains for Places of Worship: And herein Celfus the Epicurean compares them with the Jews; observing, particularly out of Herodotus, that the Persians offered Sacrifices to Jupiter, going up, 677 ra 5. 4. Norala. 20 spear, to the top of the highest Mountains, as his words are in Origen, L. V. contra Celf. It is well known also that these Mountains were well shaded with Trees; fo that commonly Groves and Mountains are mention'd together, as Places for Religious Worfhip.

Ver. 3. And Abraham rose up early in the Morn-Verse 3. ing, &c.] Some here take notice of the readiness of his Obedience, in several Instances. First, That herose er role up early. Secondly, Sadled his Afs himfelf, (though the Phrase doth not certainly import so much.) Thirdly, Carried Wood ready cleft along with him, for the Offering; left he should find none there.

342 Chapter XXII.

And Ifaac bis Son.] It is an Enquiry among the Jews, how old Ifaac was at this time. Some of them fay feven and thirty, whom the Arabick Christian Writers follow, Patricides and Elmacinus. Aben Ezra more probably faith he was thirty. But there is no certainty of fuch things. For I find in the Gemara Sanhedrim, cap. 10. n. 4. it is faid, this fell out a little after he was weaned. See verse 9.

And went unto the place.] That is, toward the Place: Which he did not fee, till the third Day after he fet out.

Verse 4.

Ver. 4. On the third day.] It was not much above one Days Journey from Beerscheba to Moriah: But an Ass goes flowly; especially being loaded, as this was, with a burden of Wood; and with Provisions, we must suppose, for their Journey: And Abraham, and his Son, and Servants, went on foot, and could not travel far on a Day, (Isac being but young) for it doth not appear, they had more than one single Ass, verse 5.

And fam the place afar off.] It is most reasonable to suppose, that God had given him some Token or Sign, whereby he should know it. And I cannot but think it highly probable, that the Divine Glory appeared in the place, where he was to make the Oblation. Which Conjecture I find confirmed by R. Elieser, among other of the Jews, who says, That when God bad him go to the place, he would tell him of, verse 2. and there offer his Son; he akt how

he

he fhould know it? And the Answer was, Wherefo- Chapter ever thou feeft my Glory, there I will stay, and wait for XXII. thee, &c. And accordingly now, He beheld a Pillar of of Fire reaching from Heaven to the Earth, and thereby knew this was the place. See Pirke Eliefer, c. 31.

Ver. 5. Go yonder and worship.] This confirms the Verse 5. fore-mentioned Conjecture, That the Divine Glory appearing upon the Mountain, he went thither to worship God.

And come again to you.] He either speaks of himfelf alone; or, believed God would restore Ifaac to. Life, though he did slay him.

Ver. 6. And laid it upon Ifaac his Son.] A Figure Verle 6... of Chrift, who carried his own Crofs, John XIX. 17. according to the Roman Cuftom. Philo's Reflection upon Ifaac's carrying the Wood for his own Sacrifice is, That nothing is more laborious than Piety.

Ver. 7. Behold, the Fire and the Wood, &c.] It ap-Verfe 7. pears by this, that he had not hitherto acquainted Ifaac with his Intention.

Ver. 8. So they went both of them together.] It feems Verfe 8.. they staid a while, (as they were going together, v.6.) till Isac had finished this Discourse with his Father 3 and then they proceeded.

Ver. 9. Built an Altar there.] Of Turf, some think; Verse 9. or, of such Stone as he could gather there.

And bound Ifaac his Son.] Both his Hands, and his Feet; as it is explained in Pirke Eliefer, cap. 31. When the Gentiles offered Humane Sacrifices, they tied both their Hands behind their Backs, as appears from Ovid, L. III. de Pont. Eleg. 2. and other Authors. Whether Ifaac was thus bound, it matters not; but we cannot doubt that Abraham had now acquainted him with the Will of God, and perfuaded him him willingly to comply and fubmit unto it : Wherein he prefigured Chrift the more exactly, who laid down his Life of himself, and no Man (without his Confent) could take it from him, as he speaks, John X. 17, 18. We have reason to believe this of Isaac. because he being younger and stronger, could have made resistance, had he been so minded. Josephus fays he was twenty five Years old, L. I. Antig. 14. And Bochartus makes him twenty eight; the word Naar, which we translate Lad, being used for one of that Age; nay, Joseph is called fo when he was thirty years old, Hierozoic. P. I. L. III. c. 9. This is certain. That he was old enough to carry fuch a load of Wood, (Verse 6.) as was sufficient to make a fire to offer up a Burnt-offering. There are those alfo, who think Ifaac was laid upon the Altar to be offered, in that very Place where Christ was crucified. And thus much is true, That though Mount Calvary was without Jerusalem, and therefore different from Mount Moriah, on which the Temple flood ; yet they were fo near, and it's likely only parts of one and the fame Mountain, that they were anciently both comprehended under the Name of Moriah.

344 Chapter XXII. in

Verse 10. Ver. 10. Abraham stretched forth his Hand, &c.] His Obedience proceeded fo far, that it evidently appeared he was fully refolved to do as he was bidden : For the Knife was just at Isaac's Throat, ready to do the Execution. Infomuch that God made account of it, as if it had been actually done, and accepted his Obedience as ordinange is maulering, as intirely perfect, and absolutely compleated, as Philo speaks. And yet there have been those, who disparage this Obedience, by endeavouring to make the World believe, lieve, that the Sacrificing of Children was in use be- Chapter fore Abraham's time. And the very first thing that XXII. hath been alledged, as a proof of it, is the very Objection in Philo, made by cavilling Calumniators (as he calls them) who faid, Why fhould fuch Praise be bestowed on Abraham, wis igyesported xexawspynperns realers, as if he had attempted a thing altogether new, which private Men, and Kings, and whole Nations do upon occasion? The learned Reader cannot but know that one of our own Countrymen, (Sir 7. Marsham in Canon. Chronic. § V.) hath fet this in the front of all his Arguments, to prove that Abraham was not the first who facrificed his Son: Without acquainting the Reader with Philo's Answer to this, which quite overthrows all his Pretensions. For he fays (Lib. de Abrahamo, p. 375, 376. Edit. Parif.) That fome Barbarians have done this, following the Cuftom of their Country, or being in great distress, &c. But nothing of this Nature could move Abraham to it, for the Cultom of Sacrificing Children was neither in Babylon, nor Mesopotamia, nor Chaldaa, where he had lived a long time: No, nor (as it follows a little after) in that Country where he then lived; But מטדיה בעובאלב הדישד ל מראבשמו אמועטדמדע אי הבראאמץuirs magadeizualQ, he was to be the Beginner of a perfeelly new and unusual Example. What plainer Confutation can there be of what the fore-named Author pretends, than this: Which he most difingenuoufly concealed ? Nor is there more ftrength in what follows in him, out of Sanchuniathon; who fays that Saturn offered his only Son. For by Saturn it is evident he meant Abraham, as appears by the Name of that Son, whom fuch like Authors call 7EUD; which is plainly the very fame with 7 E HID, as Yv Ilaac

Chapter Ifaac is called in the Second Verse of this Chapter. I XXII. Omit the relt, which is of the like stamp.

- 345

Ver. 11. And the Angel of the LORD called to Verle 11. him, &c.] That is, the LORD himself, by his Angel. See upon XVIII. 10. To which I shall here add, That, whether it be faid in these Holy Books, the LORD faid any thing, or an Angel spake, we are always to understand both to have been present : For the Angels ever attend upon the Divine Majefty; and being ministers of his, do nothing but by his Order. Therefore when he is faid to speak, it is by them; and when they are faid to speak, it is from him. It is the LORD therefore that speaks, whofoever be the Minister. Of which St. Auftin gives a demonstration from this very place, L. III. de Trinitate, Cap. XI. In the beginning of this Chapter, verse 1, 2. 'We read that God tempted Abraham, and bad him go and offer to him his Son . But here the Angel ' of the LORD called to him and bad him not to do 'it. What is the meaning of this? Will they (whole ' Opinion he there opposes) fay that God commanded ' Ifaac to be flain, and that his Angel forbad it : And ' that Abraham obeyed the Angel who bad him spare ' his Son, against the Command of God, who bad ' him flay him? This Sence is ridiculous and not to be ' endured. The plain meaning is, That God spake both times; in the one Cafe and in the other: But ' by an Angel who was his Minister. That's the rea-' fon Angels fometimes speak as if they were the 'LORD, because they speak in his Name : Just as ' when a Publick Crier pronounces the Sentence of 'a Judge, Non Scribitur in gestis, ille præco dixit, sed "ille Judex, it is not written in the Records, That * the Crier, but the Judge pronounced that Sentence. And

And thus R. Jehudah understood this Paffage, whole Chapter gloss is this (in Pirke Eliefer, cap. 31.) He, i.e. the XXII. Lord, made his Voice to be heard from between the two Cherubims, and faid, Lay not thy hand upon the Lad. I do not know whether it be worth observing, That God is not called in all this Story (as the Jews note) by the Name of Jehovah, till now: Which being, fay they, Nomen misericordia, is most agreeable to this part of the Story, as Elohim was to the former part, verse I.

Abraham, Abraham.] He ingeminates his Name, that he might make him attend to what he faid, and put a ftop to his proceedings.

Ver. 12. Now I know thou feareft God, &c.] Thou Verle 12. halt given sufficient proof of the regard thou hast to God and his Commands. It is apparent from what thou hast done; and thou needest do no more to evidence it. And so Hakspan translates the word know in this place, now I have proved, or approved, as Pfalm 1. ult. Matth. VII. 23. Which Proofs do not argue Ignorance, no more than Questions do, Gen. III. 9. John VI. 5, 6.

No Body (that I know of) hath better explained this whole Matter than Mofes Maimonides, whofe words are these, (More Nevochim, P. III. c. 24.) This Story of Abraham makes good two great Foundations of the Law. ' One is, to show us how far ' the Fear and Love of God extends it felf. For here was a Command to do that, with which the loss of ' Money, or of Life it felf is not to be compared ; ' nay, that from which Nature abhorred, viz. That a ' Man very Rich and in great Authority, who earnest-'ly defired an Heir, which was born to him, when ' he had no hope of one, in his old Age; fhould fo Yy 2 over-

348 Chapter XXII.

' overcome his natural Affection to him, (which ' could not but be exceeding great) as to forego all the Expectations he had from him, and Confent, after a Journey of three Days, to flay this Son with his own Hands. This is the greatest thing that ever ' was performed. For, if he had done it, in that mo-' ment when he was commanded, it might have been ' thought a sudden, precipitant, and inconfiderate 'Act: But to do it, so many days after he received ⁶ the Command, upon mature deliberation, is the ' highest Proof of his Obedience; and that this Act ^e proceeded from nothing but from the Fear and Love of God. For he did not make haste to slay his Son, out of any fright he was in, left God should ' have flain him, or taken away his Estate, if he had ' disobeyed : But took time to confider of it, that he ⁶ might flow to all Men what one ought to do for the Love and Fear of God, and not for fear of ' Punishment, or hope of worldly Reward: For the ' Angel faith, Now I know thou fearest God.

⁶ The Second thing we are taught by this Hiftory is, ⁶ That the Prophets were fully affured of the Truth of ⁶ those things, which God spake to them, either in ⁶ Dreams, or in Visions, or any other way: Which ⁶ they believed as strongly, as things of Sense. For ⁶ if Abraham had in the least doubted whether this ⁶ were the Will of God or no, which he received ei-⁶ ther in a Vision, or a Dream, he would never have ⁶ confented to a thing, which Nature abhorred.

This very Story is told by Alexandria Polyhistor, as Eusebius relates out of him, L.IX. Præpar. Evang. § XIX.

Verle 13. Ver. 13. Abraham lift up his Eyes.] From looking upon Isaac, or upon the Angel.

And.

And looked.] He heard, we may suppose, a bustling Chapter Noise, which the Ram made, when it was caught in XXII. the Thicket: Which made him look that way, from whence the Noise came.

And behold, behind him a Ram, &c.] Bochart gives many Reasons to prove that the most ancient reading, and much better was, Behold, one Ram: Achar, which we translate behind, being put for Achad, one or a fingular Ram, P. I. Hierozoic. L. II. c. 49. But it is not material which way we take it : Nor need we enquire how the Ram came there. Nothing is more common than for Sheep to go aftray; and by God's Providence this Ram was caught in a Thicket not far from Abraham: Whereby he made good what Abraham had told his Son, God will provide a Lamb for a Burnt Offering. In which this Ram was a. notable Type of Chrift, who was a Sacrifice provided by God, not by Man; as this Ram was brought by Divine Providence to be offered, not by Abrabam.

And Abraham took the Ram, and offered him up for a burnt-offering, instead of his Son.] Saying, as R.S. represents it, Lord, accept this Sacrifice, as if my Son himself were flain, and his Blood shed, and his Skin flea'd off, and he were burnt and reduced to Asses.

And the Ram being accepted inftead of his Son, may be thought to fignifie that the offering of the bleffed Seed, God's only Son, fhould be fuspended till future times, and that in the mean seafon the offering the Blood of Beasts should serve as a Pledge (touse the words of Mr. Medé) of that Expiation which the bleffed Seed of Abraham should one day make, Difcourse XXV. where he observes, that the more lively: lively to express this, God so disposed, That the very Place where the Ram was offered instead of Isaac. should be the Place of Sacrifice for Israel. For there it was, where the LORD answered David by Fire from Heaven (1 Chron. XXI. 26.) and fo defigned it for the Place he had chosen for his Altar: There David pitched him a Tabernacle, I Chron. XXII. I. and there Solomon built him an House. 2 Chron. III. r.

350 Chapter XXII. 5mm

Verle 1.4. Ver. 14. Jehovab-jireb.] The LORD will fee or provide: That is, take care of their Safety who ftedfastly obey him.

> As it is faid to this day.] Which is thus called to this day. Or, as others interpret it, now it is a proverbial Speech when Men are in great fraits, in the Mount of the LORD it shall be seen : Where a double variation is observed, from what was said before : For here is Jehovah instead of Elohim, (verse 12.) and then Jeraeh, instead of jireh, i. e. the Passive instead of the Active : Signifying, that the LORD will not only see or provide, but make himself confpicuous, by fo providing, that all shall behold the 'Care he takes of those that fear him.

Werle 15. Ver. 15. And the Angel of the LORD called, &c.] This confirms what was noted on verse 12. that it was God himself, who called to Abraham to stay his Hand, and now fays, By my felf have I fworn, faith the LORD, &c. What can be clearer, as Hackspan gloffes, (Disput. II. de Nominibus Divinis, n. 16.) than that we are to turn away our Eyes from the Angel, and fix them upon God; who bleffed Abraham, and is called the LORD, for whole fake (verfe 12.) Abraham spared not his only Son. In all like *Cafes therefore, which exceed the Angelical Dignity,

ty, we are always to understand, some such words as Chapter these, here mentioned, Neum Jehovah, thus saith the XXII. LORD.

251

Ver. 16. By my felf have I fworn, &c.] I observed Verse 16. upon XII. 7. and XVII. 6. That God inlarged his Mercies to Abraham, proportionable to his Obedience. Which is apparent in this great and last Tryal of all, the offering his Son : Which was rewarded by the Ratification of God's former Promise or Covenant, by a most folemn Oath: By my felf have I from, I will multiply thy Seed, &c. This was promifed before, but not confirmed by an Oath: And belides the very Promile is now more Affectionate, (it I may fo file it) in bleffing I will blefs thee, and in multiplying I will multiply thee, &c. In the latter end also of the Bleffing, there feems to be couched the highest of all Bleffings, That God would make his own only Son fuch a Sacrifice as Abraham was ready to have made his Son Isaac: That all the Nations of the World (verse 18.) might be bleffed in him, i. e. all that would follow the Faith of Abraham. So Abarbinel himself interprets it upon XII. 2.

Ver. 17. Possels the Gate, that is, the Cities of his Verle 17. Enemies.] And confequently their Country. For the Gates being taken, thereby they entred into their Cities: And their Cities being furrendred, the Country was conquered.

Ver. 18. In thy Seed shall all the Nations of the Earth Verse 18. be bleffed.] God promised to make Abraham's Seed as numerous as the Stars of Heaven, XV. 5. which Promise he assure that here shall be fulfilled in Isaac, verse 17. But moreover directs him to expect aster the multiplying of his Posterity, One particular Seed, who should bring a Blessing to all Mankind. This 35² Chapter XXII.

This Singularity St. Paul observes and prefies very much, Gal. III. 16. applying it to the Melfiab. And it is further observable, that there is an increase of Sence in these words, as there is in the former. For he doth not simply fay, LCCri, they shall be bleffed, but the bleffed, but fed in bim: To show, as facobus Altingius thinks, that this Person should not stand in need of any Blefsing himself, as the rest of Abraham's Seed did; But be the Author of all Blessings unto others, who should derive them from him alone, L. II. Schilo.

Because thou hast obeyed, &c.] As a Reward (the word in the Hebrew fignifies) for obeying my Voice.

- Verfe 19. Ver. 19. Went together to Beer-sheba.] Where he had for some time setled his abode, XXI. 33.
- Verse 20. Ver. 20. Milcab hath born Children, &c.] The following Genealogy is set down to show, whence Rebekab the Wife of Isaac was descended. For she alone of all Bethuel's Daughters (which is probable were many) is mentioned, verse 23.

Verse 21. Ver. 21. Huz his first-born.] There were two other of this Name. One the Son of Aram, X.23. another of the Posterity of Esau, XXXVI. 28. But this Uz here mentioned, is he from whom Job defcended: Whose Country was called Aussis, (so the LXX. translate Uz, Job I. 1.) and his Posterity called Aussis by Ptolemy; who were a People of Arabia Deferta, near Chaldæa, not far from Eupbrates.

> Buz.] From whom came Elibu the Buzite, Job XXXII. 2. a People in some part of the same Country, or near it.

> > Aram.]

npon G E N E S I S.

Aram.] Who inhabited, perhaps, fome part of Chapter Syria: Which had the Name of Aram from another, XXIII. mentioned X. 23.

Ver. 22. Chefed.] He was the Father of the Chal. Verte 22. dxans, who are called Chafdim in Scripture from this Chefed or Chafad, as fome read it. Where the reft that followed fettled, or whether they had any Posterity, or no, I cannot find. It's likely they never grew to make a Nation or a Family, and so left no Name behind them.

Ver. 24. And his Concubine.] This was not an ill Verle 24. Name in these ancient Times : But signifies a Wife, who was not the Mistress of the Family; but only taken for the increase of it, by Procreation of Children. Such Wives were generally Servants; whereas the prime Wife was a Free Woman; or made so by being married to govern the Family, and bring Children to inherit the Estate.

CHAP. XXIII.

Ver. I. A ND Sarah was an hundred and feven and Verfe I. twenty, &c.] The whole Verfe may be thus translated, And the years of the life of Sarah, were (in the whole) an hundred twenty and feven years: It being usual with the Hebrews to repeat a word (as Life is here) when they would fignifie any thing to be compleat. And Sarah is the only Woman whose intire Age is set down in Scripture.

Ver. 2. Kirjath arba.] i. e. The City of Arba, who Verle 2. was a famous Man among the Anakims, (as we read, Z z Jolle.

Chapter Josh. XIV. ult.) and either built this City, or made it XXIII. the place of his Refidence; from whence he took his Name.

It doth not appear when Abraham left Beer-sheba, and removed to this place.

The fame is Hebron.] A very ancient City, as appears from Numb. XIII. 22. When it is affumed this Name, inftead of Kirjath-Arba, is not certain : But fome conjecture it might be after Abraham purchased a Burial-place in this Country. See XIII. 18.

Abraham came.] Some fansie he was in some other part of the Country, when his Wife died. And several of the Jews have a Conceit, that he came from Mount Moriah, (which is confuted by what we read XXII. 19.) where Sarah hearing he was gone to facrifice her Son, died with Grief. But Maimonides. Speaks better sence, when he says, Abraham came from his own Tent, which was separate (as I noted before, XVIII. 9.) from his Wife's: As appears further from XXIV. 67.

To mourn for Sarab, and to meep for her.] The first relates to private Sorrow : The other to the publick, especially at the Funeral Solemnities; when they made great Lamentation. After Abraham had performed the former, he made preparations for the latter : But what the Rites of Mourning were in those days, we do not know. It's likely they shut themselves up from Company, neglected the Care of their Bodies, abstained from their ordinary Food : Which, with many others, were the Custom's of Abraham's Posterity, who made it a part of their Religion, to mourn for the dead.

Verle 3.

354

Ver. 3. And Abraham stood up from before his dead.] By this it seems to be apparent, that in Abraham's timetime they fat upon the Ground while they mourned, Chapter as it is certain they did in future Ages. In which Po-XXIII. flure they continued till they had fatisfied natural Affection, and the decent Cuftom of the Age and Country where they lived. Then they role up as Abraham here did, to take care of the Interment of his Wife. Seven Days, in after Ages, were the common time of Mourning: And for illustrious Perfons, they mourned thirty Days.

Spake unto the Sons of Heth.] In whole Country he now lived : Concerning whom fee X. 15. By the Sons are meant the principal Persons of that Nation.

Ver. 4. I am a Stranger and a Sojourner with you.] Verle 4. Though I am not a Native of your Country; yet I have lived long enough among you, to be known to you.

Give me possession of a burying place, &c.] I do not defire any large Possession among you, being but a Sojourner, let me only have a place, which I may call my own, wherein to bury those of my Family, which dye.

Ver. 5. And the Children (or Sons) of Heth an-Verse 5. fwered, &c.] By one of their Body, who spake in the Name of the rest : As appears by the first words of the next Verse. Hear us, my Lord : In which form they were wont to address themselves to great Men, ver. 11, 13, 15, 16.

Ver. 6. Thou art a mighty Prince.] We have a great Verse &. Honour for thee.

In the choice of our Sepulchres, &c.] Make choice of any one Sepulchre; and no Body will deny to let thee have it. Every Family (at leaft great ones) had their proper place for Burial: Which, I suppose, Z z 2 were Chapter were fometime fo large, that they might fpare others XXIII. a part of them; or, of the Ground wherein they were made.

Verfe 7.

350

Ver. 7. Abraham flood up.] It feems they had defired him to fit down among them, while they treated this bufines: Which when they had granted, he flood up to thank them.

And bowed himself.] The Hebrew word fignifies the bowing of the Body. And there are other words in that Language proper to the bowing of the Head, or of the Knee.

Verse 8.

Ver. 8. Intreat for me to Epbron, &c.] He defires them to mediate between him and this Man (who perhaps was not then prefent in the Affembly) for a Purchafe of a convenient Place in his Ground.

Verse 9.

Ver. 9. Cave of Machpelab.] We take this word Machpelah for a proper Name, as many others do : But the Talmudists generally think it to have been Speluncam duplicem, (as the Vulgar Latin also, with the LXX. understand it) a double Cave. Yet they cannot agree in what fense it was fo; whether they went through one Cave into another; or, there was one above another. For that by a Cave is meant, a Vault, arched over with Stones, or Wood, which the Ancients called Crypta, no Body doubts. Salmafius hath described them in his Plin. Exercit. p. 1208. where he fays this Gave is faid to have been double, in the fame fence that the Greeks called theirs any Aaya auoisiouna, because they had a double Entrance, so that one might go into them at both Ends, as Hefychius expounds it. Which flows, as he adds, it was a large place, and would contain many Bodies. And of this he is so confident as to say, Non quærenda est alia duplicis spelunce interpretatio. No other Interpretation of of this double Sepulchre ought to be fought after. Chapter But learned Men will not hearken to fuch Dictates ; XXIII. and particularly Theodorick Hackspan maintains Machpelab to be a proper Name (as we take it) by these two Reasons. First, Because the Field it self wherein this Cave was, is called the Field of Machpelah, verse 19. Which doth not signifie sure that there was a double Gate to this Field, but that it was in that Tract of Ground, called Machpelah. And, Secondly, This Field in Machpelah, is faid to be before Mamire, verse 17. Which plainly denotes it to be a place fo called, Miscell. Lib. I. cap. 10. For which last Reason, Guil. Vorstius also takes it to have been the Name of a Country, or Province, in which this Field and Cave lay, Animadu. in Pirke Eliefer, p. 179.

Which is in the end of his Field.] Burying places were not anciently in the Cities, much lefs in their Temples; but in the Fields, in Caves, or Vaults made to hold a good number of Bodies. And fo they continued it's manifest in our Saviour's Time among the Jews; as appears by Lazarus his Monument, John XI. 30, 31. and by the Burying places for Strangers, Matth. 27. 7. and their carrying the Widows Son out of the City, Luke VH. 12, &c.

This feems to have been in the corner of the Field before-mentioned; which perhaps was near the Highway: For there they fometimes affected to bury their dead, as appears from Gen. XXXV. 8, 19. Josh. XXIV. 30.

Ver. 10. And Ephron dwelt.] The Hebrew word Verse 10. for dwelt signifies literally fat. Which hath made some think that Ephron was a great Man (a Ruler, or Governor) among the Children of Heth: Who sat

ACOMMENTART

Chapter fat as a Prince or Judge in this Affembly. And that XXIII. this was the reafon why Abraham (Verfe 8.) addreffed himfelf to others of the fame Rank, that they would make way for him into his Favour.

358

In the audience of the Children of Heth, &c.] It is judicioufly observed by Cornel.Bertram, that all weighty Matters in those days were determined by the King, (if they had any) or the Elders, with the Consent of the People, de Repub. Judaic. cap. 3. Marriages were a Matter of Publick Right, XXIX. 22. as Sepulchres were it appears by this place. Both of them being held to belong to Religion.

- Verle 11. Ver. 11. In the prefence of the Sons of my People, &c.] Contracts, or Grants, were wont to be made before all the People, or their Reprefentatives, till Writings were invented.
- Verle 12. Ver. 12. Abraham bowed, &c.] Because by their Intercession this Favour was granted him.
- Verfe 13. Ver. 13. I will give thee Money for the Field.] This was the fureft Title, he thought, by Purchafe. And it was but reafonable he fhould buy it, if he would have any Land in Canaan; for the time of poffeffing it, according to God's Promife, was not yet come.
- Verfe 15. Ver. 15. The Land is worth four hundred Shekels.] This is the first time we meet with the Name of Shekel. Mention was made of Money before in general, XVII. 12, 13. and of pieces of Silver. XX. 16. (which shows the use of Money was found out in those early days, and they did not Trade merely by the Exchange of one Commodity for another) but we have no Name for the Money till now : And cannot exactly tell of what value a Shekel of Silver was. But Josephus, L. III. Antiq. c. 10. faith 'Atlma's dixe; Searma's upan GENESIS.

Segxpuss; that is, half an Ounce: Which in our XXIII. Money wants not much of half a Crown.

359

What is that between me and thee?] Some will have this to fignifie, as much as, This is not worth Speaking of between Friends, and therefore I had rather thou would ft accept it as a gift. But it is more reafonable to think, that he only pretended to use him kindly, and not to exact upon his Necessfity. It being as much as to fay, This is no great Price, but a friendly Bargain: Pay it therefore, and bury thy dead.

Ver. 16. Abraham weighed to Ephron. &c.] They Verse 16. did not tell Money as we do now, but meigh it; for it was not stampt anciently, as Aristotle observes : But in the beginning of the World was received, meyiles i salqua, by its bulk and its weight. Which being very troublesome, they learnt in time to set a Mark upon it, to free them from that inconvenience. O. D. yacarling it In To Tors on Meior, for that Mark was set upon it to denote its Quantity, i.e. how much it is worth. For having the Publick Stamp, that made it current, at a known value. Which must not be understood of Foreign Money, which was still weighed, though stampt . But of that of their own Country, which they were affared was worth fo much as the Mark expressed. Yet it is continued to be weighed among the Jews in David's time, I Chron. XXI. 25. nay, till the Captivity of Ba-bylon, Jerem. XXXII. 9. And indeed the very word Shekel comes from Shakal to weigh. And may be interpretred as Waserns observes, the weight.

From all which Herm. Conringius well concludes there is no Truth in what the Jews fay, in Bereschith Rabba, Chapter Rabba, and other Books, that Joshua, David, and XXIII. Mordecai, nay Abraham, coined Money in their days.

To support which Fiction they have counterfeited fome Coins, with the Inscription of Senex & Anus on one fide, and Juvenus & Virgo on the other. As if Isaac and Rebekah were now married : Or Abraham had power to coin Money in a Country where he did but sojourn and was no Soveraign.

Verle 17. Ver. 17. Which were before Mamre.] Over against Mamre, See XIII, 18.

Were made sure.] By a solemn Contract, in a Publick Affembly, (verfe 11.) where the Money was tendred and accepted; and all there prefent defired to be Witness to it.

- Verse 18. Ver. 18. In the presence of the Children of Heth.] See Verse 11.
- Verle 19. Ver. 19. And after this Abraham buried Sarah, &c.7 It is not likely that Ephron had ever buried any of his Family here, but had only begun to make a Vault in this Field which Abraham bought of him, with all the Trees therein, (verse 17.) or, if it were finished, he fold it before he had made use of it. For we cannot think Abraham would lay his Wife's Body among those of the Hittites : But in a vacant place where he intended to be interred himself : As his Family after him also were, XLIX. 30, 31.

260

Verse 20. Ver. 20. Was made sure.] He repeats this, which had been said verse 17. because now the Purchase was more confirmed, by the laying Sarah's Body in this place : It being a kind of taking actual possession of it.

CHAP.

upon GENESIS.

361 Chapter XXIV.

CHAP. XXIV.

Ver. 1. A ND Abraham was old.] Some of the He-Verle 1. brews, and Christian Writers also, refer this to his Wisdom; as the next words [well stricken in Years] unto his Age: No Body being called Zaken (though far more aged) in the Holy Scripture till now: And therefore they translate it Elder; which is the Name of a wise Man. See Selden, L. I. de Synedr. cap. 14. p. 556, &c. Certain it is that Abraham was now an hundred and forty Years old: For he was an hundred when Isaac was born, XXI. 5. and Isaac was forty when he married Rebekah, XXV. 20.

Ver. 2. And Abraham faid unto his eldeft Servant Verle 2. of his House.] Or, rather, as the LXX. translate it, He faid to his Servant, the Elder of his House: That is, the Steward, or Governor of his Family, as the Hierus. Targum translates it. See Mr. Selden, L. I. de Synedr. cap 14. p. 550. And Dr. Hammond upon A&. XI. not. b. All take this Servant to have been Eliezer, mentioned XV. 2.

Put thy Hand under my Thigh.] Some will have this Phrase to import no more than, Lift me up, that I may stand, and call God to witness. But Abraham, no question, was now so vigorous, as to be able to rise of himself: Having many Children after this. Others therefore follow the Opinion of the Jewiss Doctors, which is this, in short; Before the giving of the Law, the ancient Falhers survey by the Covenant of Circumcisson. They are the words of R. Eliefer in his Pirke, cap. 49. And it is not improbable that this A a a Chapter manner of Swearing, by putting the Hand under that XXIV. part which was the fubject of Circumcifion, had refpect to the Covenant God made with that Family, and their right to accomplish the Promise of the Mesfah. But this was not a Custom peculiar to Abraham's Family, for we find it among other Eastern People: And therefore, it is likely, more ancient than Circumcifion. For which Caufe, Aben Ezra himfelf, thinks putting the Hand under the Thigh, was a Token of Subjection and Homage, done by a Servant to his Lord: He fitting, and the Servant putting his Hand under him. Grotius imagines, that the Sword hanging upon the Thigh, (Pfalm XLV. 2.) this was as much as to fay, If I falfifie, kill me. Which is very witty; but the other feems plainer; fignifying asmuch as, I am under thy power, and ready to do what thou commandest.

Verse 3.

262

Ver. 3. Smear by the LORD.] It was not lawful to fwear by any Creature; but only by him that made them all. For they took the greatest Care to declare, that they worshipped him alone.

That thou wilt not take a Wife unto thy Son.] It feems he intended to leave the Guardianship of his Son to him, (if he should die, before he had disposed of him) as unto a wise and faithful Servant, who had managed his Affairs above fifty Years; and we do not know how much longer.

Of the Daughters of the Canaanites.] For thoughthere were fome good People among them, as appears by Melchizedeck and Abimelech; yet he faw them degenerating apace into all manner of Wickednefs; especially into Idolatry: Which would bring them, he knew, to utter Defolation, when they had filled up the measure of their Iniquity, XV. 16.

Ver.

upon GENESIS.

Ver. 4. But go into my Country.] i. e. Into Mefopo-Chapter tamia, where he lived for fome time in Haran, after XXIV. he came from Ur: Which was also in that Country, where the two the two

And my kindred.] The Family of his Brother Nahor, which he heard lately was increased, (XXII. 20.) who, though they had some Superstition among them, retained the Worship of the True God; as appears from this very Chapter, verse 31, 50.

And take a Wife unto my Son Ifaac.] Which, no doubt, was by Ifaac's Confent, as well as his Father's Command.

Ver. 5. Must I needs bring thy Son again into the Verse 5. Land from whence thou camest? He defires (like a confcientious Man) to understand the full Obligation of his Oath, before he took it. And his doubt was, whether, if a Woman would not come with him into Canaan, he should be bound to go again, a second time, and carry Isaac to her.

Ver. 6. Beware, that thou bring not my Son thither Verle 6. again.] He would by no means his Son fhould go to that Country, which God commanded him to forfake : That Command obliging not only himfelf, but his Posterity. See Verse 8.

Ver. 7. The LORD God of Heaven, &c.] He who Verle 7. rules all things above, as well as below, who brought me from my own into this Country, and hath promifed, and confirmed that Promife with an Oath, that my Posterity shall inherit it, will prosper thy Journey, and dispose fome of my Kindred to come hither, and be married to my Son.

Send.

262

Shapter Send his Angel before thee.] Good Men were ever

- XXIV. very fensible of God's Providence, governing all things, and prospering their Proceedings by the Ministry of Angels: Which Abraham's Servant takes particular notice of, verse 40.
- Verse-8.

364

Ver. 8. And if the Woman will not be willing to follow thee, &c] If it fall out otherways than I hope, thou haft done thy Duty: If thou bring not my Son into that Country again. He speaks (both here and verse 6.) as if Isaac had once been there: Because Abraham himself came from thence, and this Servant also, and a great many of his Family, (XII. 5) who if Isaac went to substance.

Verse 10. Ver. 10. And the Servant took ten Camels, &c.] Camels were of great use in those Countries, as they are at this day: Some of them being made for carriage of Burdens; and others for swift travelling; which latter fort were called by a peculiar Name, $\Delta_{29}\mu_{20}$ des, Dromedaries, as Salmassius observes in his Plinian. Exercit. p. 987. These perhaps were of that kind, for the greater expedition: Like those we read of 1 Sam. XXX. 17.

For all the Goods of his Master were in his Hands.] He might chuse what Accommodations he pleased for his Journey; having every thing belonging to his Master at his Command : Who being a great Person, it was fit his principal Servant should be well attended, (as it appears he was, verse 32.) especially when he went upon such an Errand, as to court a Wise for his Master's Son. Most refer this to the Presents he carried along with him: And R. Solomon will have it that he carried a Writing with him nuder his Master's Hand, (an Inventory we call it) specifying all his.

upon GENESIS.

his Goods and Riches, that they might know what a Chapter great Match his Son was. XXIV.

City of Nabor.] Which was Haran, from whence Abraham came, XI. 31. and to which Jacob went to find his Kindred, XXVIII. 10. How far it was thither we are not told, nor how long they were going to it: And Moles omits also what soever passed in the way, as not pertinent to his Story.

Ver. 11. Camels kneel down.] The Posture wherein Verse 11. they rest themselves.

Ver. 12. O LORD God of my Master Abra-Verle 12. ham, &c.] He had observed the Kindness of God to have been so great to Abraham, and Abraham to have such a peculiar Interest in his Favour; that in confidence he would make good Abraham's words, (verse 7, & 40.) he not only begs he might have good Success in his Journey, but defires a fign of it, to confirm his Faith; and such a fign as was most apposite to denote the Person that would make a good Wife; by her Courtesse, Humility, Condescension, Hospitality, prompt and laborious Charity: All which are included in what he defires, and the did.

Ver. 14. Thereby shall I know that thou hast showed Verse 14. kindness to my Master.] He had no Confidence that God would do any thing for, his own sake, but for his Master's ; whom God had most wonderfully blessed.

Ver. 15. And it came to pass before he had done Verse 15. speaking, &c.] This shows it was by a Divine Suggestion, that he made this Prayer; which was answered immediately. Such is the Divine Goodness; or, rather, (to use the words of Sam. Bochartus, upon occasion of many such Instances) Sie enim parata &

obrie -

265

Chapter obvia effe folent Dei beneficia, ita ut preces nostras non XXIV. tam fequantur, quam occupent atque antecedant, P. I. Hierozoic. L.2. cap. 49. So forward is God to bestow his Benefits upon us, that they do not so much follow our Prayers, as prevent and go before them. See Verse 45.

266

With her Pitcher upon her Shoulder.] Behold the Simplicity, Frugality, and Industry of that Age.

- •Verfe 20. Ver. 20. Drew for all his Camels.] There were ten of them, (verfe 10.) and they are a very thirfty fort of Creatures: And therefore the took a great deal of Pains to ferve him who was but a tranger, in this manner. Which thewed extraordinary Goodnets, and a most obliging Disposition; at which he might well be amazed, as it follows in the next Verfe.
 - Verfe 21. Ver. 21. Wondring at her, held his peace, &c.] He was fo aftonish'd at her Kindness, readiness to do Good, and laborious Diligence, &c. and also at the Providence of God in making things fall out so pat to his Defires; that for the present he could not speak : Having his Mind employ'd in marking and observing every Passage; where he might judge how to conclude, whether this was the Woman, or no, whom God defigned for his Master's Son.

Verse 22. Ver. 22. The Man took.] Gave her, as the Phrase is often used. But he first asked her whose Daughter she was, as appears from verse 47.

> A golden Ear-ring.] Or, rather, (as the Margin hath it) a Jewel for the Forehead. And fo we tranflate the Hebrew word, Ezek. XVI. 12. and this Perfon himfelf expounds it, verfe 47. I put the Ear-ring or Jewel, upon her Face, i. e. her Forehead. For fuch Ornaments were used in those Times and Countries, hanging down between the Eye-brows, over the Nose. Two

upon GENESIS.

Two Bracelets for her Hands.] i. e. Wrefts. Chapter Ver. 26. Bowed his Head, and worfhipped the LORD.] XXIV. Gave folemn Thanks to God for hearing his Prayer : And acknowledged that by his Providence he was conducted to the execution of his Defires; as it follows in the next Verse. Ver. 27. Mercy and Truth.] Mercy in promising, Verse 27. and Truth in performing: Or, hath truly been merciful to him according to his Promise, verse 7. See Verse 49.

367

The House of my Master's Brethren.] i. e. His near Kindred.

Ver. 28. Told them of her Mother's House.] The Verse 28. Women in the Eastern Countries, had their Apartments by themselves; as was before observed, and appears again, verse 67. Thither it was proper for Rebekah to go, and acquaint her Mother with what had passed.

Ver. 30. When he faw the Ear-ring, &c.] This was Verse 30: the reason, why he ran to invite the Man to their House.

He frood by the Camels at the Well.] Expecting to fee the iffue.

Ver. 31. Come in, thou bleffed of the LORD.] Whom Verle 31. God favoureth, and I pray may still continue in his Favour. For it refers both to the time past and future.

Ver. 32. Water to wash his Feet, &c.] As the Cu-Verse 32. from was in those Countries. See XVIII. 4.

Ver. 33. I will not eat, &c.] An excellent Ser-Verle 33.. vant; who preferred his Master's Profit, to his own Pleasure.

Ver.

Chapter Ver. 35. The LORD hath bleffed my Master great-XXIV. ly, &c.] Inriched him exceedingly, fo that he is become a Perfon of great Eminence, XXIII. 6.

368

Verle 35. Ver. 36. Given all that he hath.] Declared him his Verle 36. Heir, and fetled his whole Eftate upon him.

Verse 40. Ver. 40. The LORD before whom I walk.] Whom I worship and study to please; keeping a grateful remembrance of his Benefits always in my Mind. For so Abraham's own words are, verse 7. The God which brought me from my Father's House, &c.

Verle 41. Ver. 41. Thou shalt be clear from this my Oath.] Or Curse, as the Hebrew word imports : For all Oaths were made anciently with some Imprecations upon themselves, if they sware fally.

Verle 42. Ver. 42. O LORD God of my Master, Abraham, &c.] He doth not relate just the very words which he faid; but the Sense of them, and most of the words.

> Prosper my way which I go.] The Defign in which I am engaged.

- Verse 48. Ver. 48. My Master's Brother's Daughter.] The Grand-Daughter of his Brother Nahor.
- Verse 49. Ver. 49. If ye will deal kindly and truely.] Be really and fincerely kind.

That I may turn to the right-hand, or to the left.] A kind of proverbial Speech; fignifying, that I may take fome other courfe (which way God shall direct) to fulfil my Master's desire. It is the fancy of some of the Hebrew Doctors, that he meant, he might go either to the Ishmaelites, or the Children of Lot.

Verfe 50. Ver. 50. Laban and Bethuel.] The chief Manager of this Affair was Laban; for Bethuel is not mentioned till now; becaufe, perhaps, he was old, and unfit

upon G E N E S I S.

unfit for Business: But consents to all that is de Chapter fired. XXIV.

369

The thing proceedeth from the LORD.] It appears \cdots to be the Divine Will and Pleafure.

We cannot speak unto thee good or bad.] No way contradict it.

Ver. 51. Rebekah is before thee.] Is by us delivered Verle 51. to thee, to be difposed of according to thy defire: As the Phrase is used XX. 15.

As the LORD hath fpoken.] Declared, by those Signs which thou hast related to us.

Ver. 52. Worshipped the LORD, to the Earth.] Verse 52. Gave the most humble Thanks unto Almighty God, for his Goodness to him.

Ver. 53. Gave to her Brother and Mother.] Here is Verfe 53. no mention of the Father: Which hath made fome think, as Jofephus did, that the Father was dead; and Bethuel, mentioned verfe 50. was her younger Brother. But I take it to be more likely, that her Father being infirm, had committed the Care of his Daughter to Laban and his Wife: And fo appeared no more, than was just abfolutely neceffary in this Treaty of Marriage. Which was carried on principally by Laban, who is mentioned therefore before her Mother.

Precious things.] Presents of great value.

Ver. 55. Let the Damsel abide with us a few days, Verle 55. at least ten.] There is nothing more common in Scripture, than by Days to express a Year. And therefore we have exactly translated these words in the Margin, a full Year, or ten Months. See IV. 3. Lev. XXV. 29. I Sam. I. 3. compared with verse 7, and 20. Some think this cannot be the meaning, because the Servant was in such haste to return to his Master. B b b But

270

Chapter But it was as fit for them to flow their Love to Rebe-XXIV. kab, as it was for him to fhow his Concern for his Master. Besides, there was something of Decency in it, the Cultom being in all Countries, for her that was espoused to a Husband, to stay some time with her Parents, before the Confummation of the Marriage. And one would think the Custom then was. for to keep her a Year or near it; which makes them desire the might stay at least ten Months, that they might not depart too far from the common Ufage and that the might have the longer time to fit her felf with the usual Nuptial Ornaments. Thus Onkelos it is certain understood it, and the Paraphrase of Uzielides, and the Mauritanian Jews, as Mr. Selden observes, L.V. de Jure N. & G. cap. 5.

Verse 56.

Ver. 56. That I may go to my Master.] Whom he would have to rejoyce with him.

Verle 57. Ver. 57. Enquire at her Mouth.] Let her resolve how it shall be. St. Ambrose observes upon this Pasfage. That they do not confult her about the Marriage, for that belonged to the Judgment of the Parents, but about the time of going to compleat it. Upon which occasion he quotes the words of Hermione when the was courted by Oreffes, (in Euripides his Andromacha) which he thinks were taken from hence, Nuppel use-דעי עוצי דאל בעמי חמדאר בעולה ערר גערעי בצרו, א' צא בעלי no knew rade. My Father will take care of my Marriage : These things do not belong to my determination, Lib. I. de Abrahamo Patriarcha, cap. ult.

Verfe 58. Ver. 58. Wilt thou go with this Man?] That is, prefently, as he desires. For that she should be Ifaac's Wife was agreed already between them; and we are to suppose the had confented. The only Question was, Whether fo foon as the Man defired ?

And

And she said, I will.] I agree to go, without any Chapter delay: Which no doubt, very much indeared her to XXIV. Isaac.

Ver. 59. And her Nurfe.] Whofe Name was De-Verfe 59. borah, XXXV. 8. who did not fuckle her, perhaps: But was (as we fpeak) her Dry-Nurfe: For whom, it is likely, fhe had a great Affection. It being a piece of ancient Piety and Gratitude, to keep fuch Perfons as long as they lived, who had taken care of them in their Infancy. It is probable alfo fhe was remarkable for Prudence, and other eminent Qualities; or, elfe Mofes would fcarce have let her Name, and her Death and Burial had a place in this Hiltory, XXXV. 8.

Ver. 60. And they bleffed Rebekah, &c.] Her Fa-Verle 60. ther and Mother, with all the reft of their Family and Kindred, prayed God to make her exceeding Fruitful; and to make her Posterity Victorious over their Enemies: Which were the great things they defired in those days. The Hebrews look upon this (as Mr. Selden observes in the place before-named on verse 55.) as an Example of the solern Benediction, which was wont to be given (even before the Law of Moses) when the Spoule was carried to her Husband.

Thou art our Sifter.] Near Coufin or Kinswoman : For all that were near of Kin called one another Brothers and Sifters.

Ver. 61. Her Damsels.] Who waited upon her ; Verle 61. and were given as part of her Portion.

Ver. 62. Well of Lahai-roi.] Mentioned XVI. 14. Verle 62. By which it appears that Abraham, after the death of Sarah, returned to live at Beer-Sheba, or thereabouts; for that was nighthis Well: And it is probable Abraham and Isaac were not parted.

Bbb 2

Ver.

Chapter Ver. 63. To meditate, &c.] The cool of the Even-XXIV. ing and Solitude, are great Friends to Meditation.

372

Verfe 63. did, who met any Perfon whom they honoured. Verle 64. Verfe 7 Tech a Veil] Not only out of Modelty.

Verle 64. Ver. 65. Took a Veil.] Not only out of Modefty, Verle 65. but in Token of her Subjection to him. Many will have this to have been a peculiar Ornament belonging to a Bride, called by the Romans Flameum, by the Greeks Gipsegv, as Mr. Selden obferves, L. V. de Jure N. & G. cap. 5. Whence those words of Tertullian, de Veland. Virgin. c. 2 Etiam apud Ethnicos velate, (i. e sponse) ad virum ducuntur. Even among Heathens, Brides are brought to their Husbands with a Veil over their Faces.

Verfe 66. Ver. 66. And the Servant told Ifaac all things that he had done.] How the had confented to be his Wife.

Verse 67. Ver. 67. Brought her into his Mother Sarah's Tent.] That Apartment wherein his Mother dwelt : Which was diffinct from that of the Husband's.

> And Isaac was comforted after the death of his Mother.] The Love he had to his Wife helpt to alleviate the Sorrow he had conceived at his Mother's death: Which was fo great, that now it had continued three Years. Such was the pious affection Children had for their Parents, in ancient Days.

> Isaac was forty Years old when he married Rebekah, (XXV. 20.) and, if we can believe the Jews, (in Seder Olam) she was but fourteen.

> > CHAP.

HPON GENESIS.

373 Chapter XXV.

CHAP XXV.

Ver. 1. THEN again Abraham took a Wife.] Verle I. Sarah being dead, and Agar long ago fent away, and his Son Ifaac lately married, he wanted a Companion in his old Age. For, having given up Sarah's Tent unto Rebekah (XXIV. ult.) it is probable he gave up his own to Ifaac, and fo dwelt in a Tent by himfelf; where he found it neceffary to have a Wife to look after his Family.

And her Name was Keturah.] We are not told what Family fhe was of: But it is not unlikely fhe had been born and bred in his own Houfe, as Eliefer his Steward was; and, perhaps, was Chief among the Women, as he among the Men-Servants. Many of the Jews will have her to be Hagar, whom (Sarah, who was the Caufe of her Expulsion, being dead) he now received again. So the Hierusfalem Paraphrafe, and Jonathan also: But Aben Ezra confutes this Opinion with good reason; for no account can be given of Abraham's having more Concubines than one (verse 6.) unless we make Keturah distinct from Hagar. Nor can any Body tell why he should call Hagar by the Name of Keturah here, when he calls her by her own Name, verse 12.

Ver. 2. And she bare him.] He was now an hun-Verle 2. dred and forty Years old: But so vigorous as to beget many Children. Which need not seem strange, considering the Age to which they then lived, (tor he lived thirty and five Years after this Marriage, verse verse 7. and that now, in our time, Men have had Children after they have been seventy, nay eighty Years of Age.

374 Chapter XXV.

To the Truth also of this Hiltory we have the Teftimony of Pagan Writers. For Alexander Polyhistor (mentioned by Josephus and by Eusebius, L. IX. Præpar. Evang. cap. 20.) tells us that Cleodemus (called by some Malchas) writing the History of the Jews, reports just as Moses doth, "On & Xefileges' Alexaus istanov in a content of the Jews, reports just as Moses doth, "On & Xefileges' Alexaus istanov in a content of the Jews, reports just as Moses doth, "On & Xefileges' Alexaus istanov in a content of the Jews, reports just as Moses doth, "On & Xefileges' Alexaus istanov in a content of the Jews, reports just as Moses doth, "On de Xefileges' Alexaus istanov in a content of the second of the Jews, reports just as Moses doth, "On de Xefileges' Alexaus istanov in a content of the second of the Jews, reports just as Moses doth, "On de Xefileges' Alexaus istanov istanov

Zimran.] This Son of his, with all the reft of his Brethren, were fent by Abraham into the Eaft Country (as we read verfe 6.) and therefore we must feek for them in those Parts, viz. in Arabia, and the Countries thereabout; where fome footsteps of them have remained for many Ages; particularly of Zimran, from whom we may well think the Zamareni were descended, a People mentioned by Pliny, with their Towns in Arabia Fælix, L. VI. cap. 28.

And Jockshan.] Concerning whom I can find nothing but only this, That Theophanes a Chronographer, in the beginning of the IX. Century, after he hath treated of the Ishmaelites and Madainites, (the latter of which came from one of Keturah's Children) and the Parts of Arabia where Mahomet was born; immediately adds, that there were other People, addirees, more in the Bowels of Arabia, descended from Jestan, called Amanita, that is Homerita. Perhaps it should be written Jokshan, not Jestan: For Philostorgius express of the Homerites, 'Est J ro in "G. The dar Xetisges, &c. That they are one of the Nations descended from Keturah and Abraham, L. III. Hist. Hift. Ecclef. § 4. where he relates a famous Embaffy Chapter which Conftantius fent to them, to win them to Chri-Stianity, and the good fuccefs of it. And there is this ftrong proof of their defcent from fome of Abraham's Family, that they retained the Rite of Circumcifion, even when they were Idolaters. For he fays exprefly, That it was a circumcifed Nation, $\pi g \exists a \neq \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a \neq \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a \neq \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a \neq \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a \neq \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a \neq \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a \neq \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a \neq \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a \neq \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a \neq \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a = \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a = \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a = \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a = \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a = \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a = \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a = \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a = \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g \exists a = \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g fle a = \partial \gamma$ -Solu $\pi g fle \mu vo \mu a a circumcifed Nation, \pi g fle a = \partial \phi fle \mu a a fle \mu a fle a fle a fle a fle h a fle h$

Medan.] From whom the Country called Madiania, in the Southern part of Arabia Fælix, it's likely, had its Name.

Midian.] From whom Midanitis, in Arabia Pætræa, had its Denomination.

And Ifbak.] I can find no Footsteps of his Posterity, unless it be in Bacascami, which Pliny fays was one of the Towns of the Zamareni; who descended from his eldest Brother Zimran. There were a People also hard by, called Bachilitæ, as he tells us, L.VI. Nat. Hist. cap. 28.

And Shuah.] Perhaps he had no Children, or fo few that they were mixt with fome of their other Brethren, and left no Name behind them. Yet Pliny in the next Chapter, mentions a Town called Suafa, in that part of Arabia which is next to Egypt, L. VI. cap. 29.

Ver. 3. And Jokshan begat Sheba.] I observed be-Verse 3 fore upon X. 7. that there are four of this Name, 9r near it, all comprehended by the Greek and Roman Writers under the Name of Sabæans. One of them the Son of Raamab had a Brother called Dedan, as this Sheba here hath. But they were the Fathers of a distinct People; as is evident from the Scripture-Story, and from other Authors. For, belides the Sabai in the furthermost parts of Arabia, near the Perfian and the Red-Sea, there were also a People of that Name (descended, it is very probable, from this Son of Jokshan) in the very Entrance of Arabia Falix : as Strabo tells us. Who fays, that they and the Nabatæi were the very next People to Syria: And were wont to make Excursions upon their Neighbours. By which we may understand, (which otherwife could not be made out) how the Sabaans broke into Job's Country, and carried away his Cattle. For it is not credible they could come fo far as from the Persian or Arabian Sea: But from this Country there was an easie Passage, through the Desarts of Arabia, into the Land of Uz or Aussitis, which lay upon the Borders of Euphrates. See Bochart in his Phaleg. L.IV. cap. 9.

375

376 Chapter XXV.

And Dedan.] There was one of this Name, (as I faid before) the Son of Rhegma, Gen.X. 7. who gave Name to a City upon the Persian Sea, now called Dadan. But befides that, there was an Inland City called Dedan in the Country of Idumaa: mentioned by Jeremiah, XXV. 23. XLIX. 8. whofe Inhabitants are called Dedanim, Isi. XXI. 13. And this Dedan here mentioned, may well be thought to be the Founder of it, as the fame Bochart observes, L.IV. cap. 6.

And the Sons of Dedan were Afhurim, and Letushim, and Leummim.] If these were Heads of Nations, or Families, the Memory of them is lost. For it is a mistake of Cleodemus (who mentions the first of these

upon GENESIS.

these in Euseb. Præpar. Evang. L. IX. c. 20.) to de-Chapter rive the Asyrians from this Ashurim: They having XXV. their Original from Ashur, one of the Sons of Shem, WWW X. 22.

Ver. 4. And the Sons of Midian, Ephab.] The Name Verle 4. of Ephab, the eldeft Son of Midian, continued a long time; for these two are mentioned by Ifaiab as near Neighbours, LX. 6. And not only Josephus, Eusebius, and St. Hierom, but the Nubiensian Geographer also, tells us of a City called Madian in the Shoar of the Red-Sea: Near to which was Ephab in the Province of Madian. TBY, Epha or Hipha is the same with that Place the Greeks call "IntaG., and Ptolomy mentions both a Mountain and a Village of this Name, on the same Shoar, a little below Madiane which is the Madian here mentioned, as Bochart obferves in his Hierozoic. P. I. L. 2. cap. 3.

And Epher] I can find no remainders of his Family, unlefs it be among the Homeritæ before-mentioned, whofe Metropolis was called $T_{a'paegv}$: In which Theophilus (fent by Conftantius to convert that Country) built a Church; as Philostorgius relates, L. III. Hist. Eccles. § 4. Which City is mentioned by many other Authors, as Jacobus Gotofredus obferves in his Differtations upon Philostorgius : Particulary by Arrianus in his Periplus of the Red-Sea, where he calls the Metropolis of the Homeritæ express press of the Name 'Apag: Which one cannot well doubt came from this Epher.

And Hanoch.] In that part of Arabia Falix where the Adranita were feated, there was a great trading Town called Cane as Ptolomy tells us, and fhows its distance from Alexandria. Kayn Eputogeov is axegv. L. VIII. Pliny also mentions a Country in Arabia which C c c he he calls Regio Canauna; which may be thought to have taken its Name from this Perfon and his Pofterity.

378 Chapter XXV.

And Abidah.] The Relicks of this Name remain (if the two laft Syllables, as is ufual, be inverted) in the People called $\Delta \iota \& nvol$, who lived in an Ifland called $\Delta \iota \& s$ or $\Delta \iota \& s$, which lay between Arabia and India, and is by Authors faid to belong fometimes to the one, and fometimes to the other. Philoftorgius faith only they bear the Name of Indians, (in the place before-named, where he faith Theophilus, who was fent to convert the Homerites, was born here.) But Pliny reckoning up the Tracts of Arabia, places the Ifle called Devadæ (which I take to be this) over against the fore-named Region called Canauna, L. VI. cap. 28. And Strabo; (as Gothofred observes) Agatharcides, and others call it Δt - εay .

And Eldaah.] I know not where to find any Remains of this Name, unlefs it be in the City Elana, (which might eafily be formed from Eldaah, by leaving out the Daleth and turning the Ain into Nun, than which nothing more common) which was feated in the Sinus Arabicus, toward the Eaft; called by others 'Andra; (Ælana) from whence the Sinus it felf was called Elanites, and the People that lived in it Elanitæ, as Salmasius shows out of many Authors, Exercit. in Solinum, p. 482.

- Verse 5.
- Ver. 5. Gave all he had to Ifaac.] As he defigned long before, XXIV. 26.
- Verse 6.

Ver. 6. Sons of his Concubines.] Which were Hagar and Keturah : Who were Wives; but of an inferior fort, according to the manner of those Times and Countries. Keturah is expressly called his Concubine,

upon GENESIS.

cubine, I Chron. I. 32. as the is above, verse I. of Chapter this Chapter called his Wife. Which R. Bechai (in XXV. Mr. Selden, cap. 2. de Successionibus) thus explains. She was his Concubine, because of a servile Condition; but his Wife, because married with Covenants, to provide for her and her Children; though they were not to heir his Estate. The Talmudists indeed do not perfectly agree in this matter: For though they all agree (and prove it evidently) that they were real Wives; yet some fay they were made to only by Solemn Espousals, without any Marriage Settlement in Writing, as the principal Wives had : Others think they had a Writing alfo, but not with fuch Conditions as the principal Wives enjoyed. Abarbinel hath an accurate Discourse about this, which Buxtorf hath translated into his Book de Sponsalibus, n. 17. And fee also Mr. Selden, L. V. de Jure N. & G. cap. 7. p. 570, &c. and G. Sckickard, de Jure Regio, cap. 2. p. 70.

Gave gifts.] Some Portion of his Money, or moveable Goods: Or, perhaps, of both. Which, in all probability, he gave to Ishmael, as well as to these Sons, (though it be not mentioned Gen. XXI. 14.) because Moses here faith, he gave Gifts to the Sons of his Concubines; of which Hagar was one.

Into the East Country.] Into Arabia and the adjacent Countries, as was faid before. For the Midianites are called the Children of the East in Judg. VI. 3, 33. VII. 12. VIII. 10.

Ver. 7. These are the Days of the Years of Abra-Verle 7. ham, &c.] This is spoken by anticipation, (to finish the Story of Abraham) for Esau and Jacob were born before he died: And were now fisteen Years old. For Isaac was but fixty Years old when they were Cccc 2 born.

Chapter born, verse 26. and seventy five when Abraham di-XXV. ed: Who was an hundred Years old at Isaac's birth, and lived to the Age of one hundred seventy and five. Verse 8 Ver. 8. Abraham gave up the ghost. Died of no Difease, but old Age.

In a good old Age.] Without Pain, or Sickness.

- Full of Years.] The Hebrew hath only the word full. We add Years to make up the Sence. Which fome think rather to be this, That he was fatisfied and had enough of this World, defiring to live no longer. Like that Expression in Seneca, Epist. LXI. Vixi, Lucili Charissina, quantum satisfies of ; mortem plenus expecto.

Gathered to his People.] It doth not relate to his Body, which was not buried with them; and therefore must relate to his Soul, which is supposed by this still to live in that place, where his pious Forefathers were gone. Or else, it is an Hebrew Idiotism, signifying no more, but that he left this World as all his Fathers had done before him.

Verse 9,

380

Ver. 9. His Sons, Ifaac and Ishmael, &c.] By this it appears that Isaac and Ishmael were not strangers one to another. Nay, some of the Orientals tell us, that Abraham went to see Ishmael at his House, and that Ishmael came to see him after he was sent away: Which is not at all improbable. For no doubt Abraham provided for him suitable to the Condition of his Birth: And Ishmael could not but be convinced that the Inheritance of his Father belonged of right to Isaac, who was the Son of a Free-Woman, and he only of a Bond-Woman. Nor could he well be ignorant that Isaac, was to be Heir of Abraham's Estate, by God's Designation.

In the Field of Ephron, &c.] See XXIII. 17.

Ver.

upon GENESIS

Ver. 11. Ifaac dwelt by the Well Labai roi.] He Chapter continued after Abraham's death, his former Habitation which he had when he married, XXIV. 62.

Ver. 12. Now these are the Generations of Ish-Verse II. mael, &c.] Having mentioned the Blessing of God Verse I2. which went along with Isaac, after his Father's death (in the foregoing Verse) he takes this occasion to show, that God was not unmindful of his Promise made to Abraham concerning Ishmael also, XVII. 20.

Ver. 13. Nebaioth.] As he was the first-born of Verle 13. Isomael, to his Posterity gave the denomination to the whole Country of Arabia Petræa (in the best part of which, see verse 3. they inhabited) which Pliny, Strabo, and Ptolomy call Nabatæa; and sometimes other Authors call Nabathis : As the Inhabitants were called Nabatai; who are mentioned also by Dionysius Periegetes in his Description of the World, and by Plutarch in the Life of Demetrins; who, he faith, was fent to fubdue the Arabs called Nabatei, (Tes yarsuirs, NaBarais,) where he was in great danger to perifh, by falling, eis Tonss avid pss, into places where there was no Water. These are commonly called in Scripture Ismaelites, as if they had been the fole Heirs of their Progenitor: And they dwelt near to the Midianites, (their half Brethren) for in the Story of Joseph, he is said in one place to be fold unto the Ishmaelites, in another to the Midianites, (Gen. XXXVII. 27, 28, 26.) they being Neighbours, and Co-partners in Traffick. The Country of Moab allo was near to these Nabatei, as appears from Epiphanius, Hæref. LIII. where speaking of the Countries that lay beyond the Dead-Sea he mentions this, which he calls Nafamun Xueg, the Region of Nebaioth, Iturea, and Moabitis. See Salmafins, Plin. Exercit. p.615. Kedar.]

382 Chapter XXV.

Kedar.] His Posterity called Kedareni were alfo seated in Arabia Petræa, together with their elder Brother. And their Name allo was fo famous, that fome Authors call the whole Country Kedar. For the Language of Kedar is the Arabian Language: And when David complains that he had dwelt long in the Tents of Kedar, the Chaldee expounds it, in the dwelling of the Arabians. But those Arabians called Scenitæ were properly the People of Kedar. And yet not all the Scenita, (i. e. all the Arabs who dwelt in Tents) but those only who dwelt in Arabia Petrea. For there were divers kinds of them, (all called Sun-()) some near Euphrates, others in Arabia Falix, &c. as Salmasius shows in his Plin. Exercit. p. 484. Some take them to be the fame with those whom Ptolomy calls Pharanitæ: For what the Pfalmist calls dwelling among the Tents of Kedar, is called, I Sam. XXVI. 1. dwelling in the Wilderness of Paran. Pliny only fays Pharanitis bordered upon the Arabs, (in ora contermina gentis Arabia) and fo later Writers make Pharan and Arabia Petræa to be near Neighbours, as the fame Salmasius shows, p. 485.

Verse 14. Ver. 14. Dumah.] He seems, by Isaiah XXI. 11. to have been seated near Idumaa.

Verfe 15. Ver. 15. Hadar.] Some think the Athritæ in Arabia Fælix came from him. In which likewife there was a City called Tema, from the next Son of Iffmael. And Jetur the next Son to him, may well be thought to have been the Father of the Ituræi in Cælo-Syria. And Kedemab the last of his Sons to have dwelt near his Brother Kedar. For so Jacobus Capellus expounds those words, Jer. XLIX. 28. Go up to Kedar, and Spoil the Men of Kedem, (which we translate the Men of the East.) And there are some other other People in those Countries, whose Name found Chapter fomething like the rest of the Sons of Islomael, but XXV. not so like as these I have mentioned. Which makes me omit all further search after them, enough having been faid to show the truth of this Account which Moses gives us of Islomael's Posterity.

282

Ver. 16. These are their Names, by their Towns.] Verse 16. Though some of them dwelt in Tents (and thence were called Scenite Arabes) yet they did not live so scatteringly; but pitched them together and made a Town.

And their Castles.] They had even then Places of Defence: Which may make it probable, that they had also walled Towns, to which they reforted from their Tents in the Fields, when they were in any danger, Ifai. XLII. 11. For it must be here noted. That as there were divers People of this Name of Scenita Arabes; so there was this difference among them (as Salmafius observes in the fore-named place) that some of them were Nomades, who wandred from place to place; others of them were not. Particularly the Sabæan Scenitæ, and most of the rest dwelt in Tents, but were fixed in their Habitations, and did not remove from one place to another : As those that dwelt in Mesopotamia did, who wereboth Scenite and also Nomades. They therefore who were fettled in Tents, as the Sons of Ismael were, had reason to build Fortress for the fecurity of their. flender Habitations.

Twelve Princes according to their Nations.] Or, rather, (as Dr. Jackson well gloffes, Book I. on the Creed; c. 25.) twelve Heads of fo many feveral Houfes, Tribes, or Clans. Which kind of Government they continued till four hundred Years after Christ; and is better expressed by Heathen Writers than by many Christian Interpreters, when they call them Φύλαgχου A'edbav Rulers of their Tribes, as Strabo speaks, L. XVI. in his Description of Syria. And so the later Writers speak of the Saracens (who were the same People formerly called Scenita Arabes) whose Governors they called Phylarcki Saracenorum, as may be seen in Sextus Rusus, and Jornandes.

364 Chapter XXV.

See Salmas. as before, p. 484, 485.

Verse 17. Ver. 17. Gathered unto his People.] The fame Phrases being used here of the Death of Ishmael, that were Verse 8. of the death of Abraham; they show the meaning is no more, but that they left the World as others had done before them. We do not read where Ishmael was buried. It is likely in his own Country, not in the Cave of Machpelah: For that had been to give his Posterity a claim to a share in the Land of Canaan.

Verse 18. Ver. 18. They dwelt from Havilah unto Shur, &c.] See Gen. X. 7. Josephus L. I. Antiq. cap. 12. makes the Ishmaelites to have possessed the whole Tract between Euphrates and the Red-Sea : Which appears by this place not to be true. For between them and Euphrates were the Amalekites and Moabites, who did not reach to Euphrates neither. The Ishmaelites therefore possessed the Country, which in that part Eastward, that was next to the Amalekites, was called the Wilderness of Havilab; and in that part next to Egypt was called the Wilderness of Shur. And in other places of Scripture is called Kedar, the Wilderness of Paran; and the Wilderness of Sin. All which was comprehended afterward under the Name ot Arabia. For Stephanus (as Salmasius observes, Plin. Exerc. p. 488.) makes but two Arabia's. One which which he calls the Spicy, between the Persian and the Chapter Arabian Sea: The other on one end of it Westward, XXV. was next to Egypt; on the other end Northward, next to Syria.

As then goest towards Affyria.] The Wildernefs of Shur was over against Egypt; and touched it in that part, by which the Way lay from Egypt to Affyria. Or, as some understand the whole Verse, The Sons of Ishmael dwelt from Shur, which is towards Egypt; unto Havilah, which is towards Affyria; in the way from Egypt thither.

He died (Heb. fell) in the prefence of all his Brethren.] Of all his Relations, or Kindred: Which are call'd Brethren in Scripture. But his Death has been spoken of before, and in this Verse mention being made only of the Situation of his Country, some interpret it in this manner, His Lot fell, i.e. he had his Portion in the prefence of all his Brethren: According to the Promile made to his Mother, XVI. 12. The Children of Keturah lying on the East of his Country, and Isac's Seed on the West. Or, if we take it to relate to his Death, it may have the sonce: Till Death he dwelt in the presence of all his Brethren, and was in a flourishing Condition.

Ver. 19. These are the Generations of Isaac.] His Verse 19. principal defign being to give an Account of those descended from Abraham by Isaac; Moses returns to that, after a short Account of his other Posterity.

Ver. 20. The Syrian, of Padan-Aram, &c.] Bethuel Verfe 20. and Laban are called Aramites or Syrians; not becaule they were of that Nation, but becaule they lived in the Country of Aram or Syria, that is in Padan Aram; as it is here explained, and appears more Ddd fully Chapter fully from Rebekah's discourse with her Son Jacob, XXV. when the fent him thither, XXVIII. 2, 5. where he living twenty Years with his Uncle Laban, was upon that account called a Syrian, though born in Canaan, Deut. XXVI. 5.

Padan-Aram, was a part of Mesopotamia. I say a part of it; for Mesopotamia it self was called Aram-Nabaraim; that part of Syria (for there were many other Aram's) which lay between the two great Rivers of Euphrates and Tigris. Which Country had two parts also: One toward the North, from the Mountains of Armenia to the River Chaboras, i. e. Araxes, (from whence Balaam feems to have been fetcht, Numb. XXIII.7.) which was exceeding fruitful, and upon that account called Pedan. Which fignifies in Arabick, the fame that Sede doth in Hebrew, i e. a Field. And therefore what Mofes calls going. to Padan-Aram, Gen. XXVIII. 2. the Prophet Hofea calls fleeting to Sede-Aram, into the Country, or Field of Syria, Hofea XII. 12. This being a cultivated Country, abounding with all plenty. The other part of Mesopotamia was Southerly, from the fore-named River unto Babylon : And was very ftony and barren The Syrians lived in the former : And the Arabians in the latter; as Bochart observes, L. II. Phaleg. cap. 6.

Verse 21. Ver. 21. Ifaac intreated the LORD for his Wife, &c.] The Hebrew word Atar doth not signifie barely to intreat or pray: But to befeech with earnestness, vehemence, and importunity. It's most likely he continued these importunate Prayers several Years: The desire of seeing the Messah, making them very uneasie under Barrenness. And some of the Hebrews fansie, That she remaining barren twenty Years, Isaac at at last carried her with him to Mount Moriah (where Chapter he should have been offered) and there made most XXV. fervent Supplications for a Son: As if he would remember God of the Promise he had there made him, that he would multiply Abraham's Seed, as the Stars of Heaven, XXII. 17.

287

Ver. 22. And the Children struggled together within Verse 22. her.] Some time before her delivery (verse 24) she felt as if two were wrestling together in her Womb: And put her into Pangs, by striving which should get out first.

If it be so, why am I thus?] If I cannot be delivered, why did I conceive?

And she went.] The Struggling and Pangs, we must fuppose, ceased for some time: So that she was able to go and consult the Divine Majesty, about this unusual Contest.

To enquire of the LORD.] There was fome Place where the Divine Majefty used to appear, which was the fetled Place of Worthip. See IV. 3. Maimonides will have it, that the went to the School of Sem, or Heber, who were Prophets, to defire them to confult the Divine Majesty about her Case, More Nevoch. P. II. cap. 41. And it is very probable, that there was fome divinely-inspired Person attending the SCHECHI-NAH wheresoever it was: Such as Melchizedek was at Salem. Whom Patricides takes to have been the Perfon, to whom Rebekah reforted, for resolution of her Doubt.

Ver. 23. And the LORD faid unto her.] By Verle 23. Melchizedek, faith the fore-named Patricides : By an Angel, faith Maimonides. Who tells us (in the place now mentioned) their Masters are so settled in their Opinion, that she went to enquire of the fore-named D d d 2 Pro-

Chapter Prophets, and that by the LORD is meant his An-XXV. gel; that they will have Heber to be him that gave the anfwer, (for Prophets, fay they, are fometimes called Angels) or the Angel that fpake to Heber in this

288

Prophecy. But it is molt reasonable to think that the LORD spake to her by an Angel, from the SCHE-CHINAH.

Two Nations are in thy Womb.] The Heads of two Nations.

Two manner of People shall be separated.] Greatly differing in their Dispositions, Manners, course of Life, and Country: Which will make them perpetually disagree.

From thy Bowels.] Shall isfue from thee.

The elder shall serve the younger.] In his Posterity, not in his own Person.

- Verse 24. Ver. 24. When her days to be delivered were fulfilled.] This demonstrates, the time of her Delivery was not come, when the strugling first began.
- Verse 25. Ver. 25. Red all over.] Some will have it with red Hair, not only on his Head, but all over his Body.

Like an hairy Garment.] As rough as Hair-Cloth: Just as the Poets defcribe Satyrs. He was hirfutus; not only hairy all over, but those Hairs as stiff as Bristles; arguing great strength of Body: And a rough, fierce Temper.

They called his Name Efan.] Which fignifying made in Hebrew, that is commonly taken for the reafon of his Name; that he was as full of Hairs when he was born, as others are at Man's Eftate. But I think it may as well denote his active Genius, which they thought this prefaged.

Ver. 26. Jacob.] He certainly had his Name, from Chapter his taking his Brother by the Heel at his birth: As if XXV. he would fupplant him; as he afterwards did.

Was threefcore Years old.] God exercifed Ifaac's Verfe 26 Faith and Patience (juft as he had done Abraham's) for the space of twenty Years, before he gave him a Child. For he was forty Years old when he married (Verfe 20.) and now fixty.

Ver. 27. A cunning Hunter.] Had great Skill in Verse 27. Hunting, in which his active Genius delighted.

A Man of the Field.] That took pleafure to be abroad, purfuing wild Beafts, in Woods and Mountains : Where afterwards he had his Habitation.

A plain Man, dwelling in Tents.] He loved not violent Exercife, but kept at home; or lookt after the Flocks of Sheep, and the Breed of Cattel.

Ver. 28. And Ifaac loved Efau, &c.] Not only Verle 28... because he was his first-born, and because his love of Hunting argued him to be a Man of great Activity and Valour, who was likely to prove a great Person: But because he also took care frequently to entertain his Father with Venison, (which was of divers forts) and afforded him such variety at his Table, as gave his Father frequent occasion to commend him.

But Rebekah loved Jacob.] Being a Man of a more meek and quiet Temper, fuitable to her own Dispofition; and more at home also with her, than Efan was; and defigned by God to inherit the Promise, verse 23. It is likely Esan made great court (as we speak) to his Father; and Jacob to his Mother: Whereby they won their Affection.

Ver. 29. He was faint.] With too violent and long Verle 29. 3 pursuit of his Sports.

-290

Chapter Ver.30. Feed me, I pray thee, with that fame red, &c.] XXV. It was made of Lentiles, as we learn from the last Verfe of this Chapter. And St. Austin upon Pfalm XLVI. Verfe 30. faith they were Egyptian Lentiles; which were in great esteem, and much commended by Athenaeus, and A. Gellius: And gave the Pottage, it is probable, a red tincture. Some think Efau did not know what it was, and therefore calls it only by its Colour; asking for that red, that fame red, as it is in the Hebrew.

Therefore was his Name called Edom.] This repeated eager defire of he knew not what, for which he fold his Birth-right, gave him the Name of Edom : Which fignifies red. Whence the City which he built, and the whole Country his Posterity inhabited, was called by the fame Name; and by the Greeks Idumæa; bordering toward the South upon Judæa, Arabia, and "Egypt.

Verse 31. Ver. 31. Sell me this day thy Birth-right.] The eldest Son had several Priviledges belonging to him above the rest: The chief of which was to have a double Portion of his Father's Estate. As for the right of Priesthood, there are many reasons to prove it did not belong thereunto. But what soever they were, Jacob cunningly made an Advantage of Esan's Necessity, to purchase them all for a small matter. In which some think he did not amiss: About which I shall not dispute.

Werfe 32. Ver. 32. What profit shall this Birth-right do to me ?] He speaks very slightly, if not contemptuously of it: Preferring the present Satisfaction of his Appetite, before his future Dignity and Greatness. For some are of Opinion he pretended to be fainter than really he was; out of a vehement longing for the Pottage; which, perhaps, was a rarity.

upon GENESIS.

Ver. 33. Swear to me this day.] That I shall peace- Chapter able enjoy the Prerogative of the Birth-right. XXVI.

Efau feems to have been very violent in all things; Verfe 33. and to have purfued this as eagerly as he did his Verfe 33. Sports: Jacob, on the contrary, very fedate and crafty to make the best use of the Opportunities he met with, to promote his Ends.

Ver. 34. Rofe up and went his way] Well fatif-Verse 34. fied, and without any trouble for what he had done. Which the Apostel censures as a piece of Prophaneness: Parents being wont to give a special Bleffing to their First-born.

Despise his Birth-right.] He thought, perhaps, he could recover that by Force, which he had lost by his Brother's Craft.

CHAP. XXVI.

Ver. 1. A ND there was a famine in the Land, &c.] Verfer a... Such a Scarcity of Provisions, as were in Abraham's days (XII. 10.) when he was newly come into Canaan, happened again in the days of Ifaac.

And Isaac went.] It is not faid from whence he went: But it is probable, atter the Death of Abraham, he went and dwelt where his Father had often done, at Mamre near Hebron. For he was not now at Beersheba, or the Well Lahai-roi, (which was the last place of his Habitation that we read of, XXV. 11.) for that was in this very Country of Gerar, to which he now went.

39² Chapter Unto Abimelech.] The Son, it is most likely, of him XXVI. to whom Abraham went: For he is not to be thought the fame; it being an hundred Years fince that time. And all the Kings of that Country were, for many Ages, called by the Name of Abimelech; as appears from the Story of David: Who fled to one of that Name called Achiss in 1 Sam. XXI. 10. but Abimelech in the Title of the XXXIV. Pfalm. See Gen. XX. 2.

Verse 2.

Ver. 2. And (or for) the LORD appeared to him.] He intended to have gone into Egypt, as Abraham his Father had done in the like Cafe, XII. 10. But God forbad him, (appearing to him either in a Vifion, or a Dream, or as the Glory of the LORD appeared afterward to Moses and the Congregation of Israel upon several occasions) and directed him to ftay in this Country, which was in the way to Egypt: Where he promises to provide for him.

Though Egypt was a most plentiful Country; yet the King of it at this time, was not so good a Man, perhaps, as him that reigned in the Days of Abraham.

Verse 2.

Ver. 3. Sojourn in this Land, &c.] He not only promifes to take care of him at prefent, during the Famine: But renews the Promifes made to Abraham his Father at fundry times, and in divers places, XII. 3. XV.5. XVII.2,8. and at last confirmed by an Oath, XXII. 16, 17.

I will be with thee, and blefs thee.] Thefe, and fuch like words Maimonides fhows express a special Providence over those to whom they are spoken, and over all belonging to them. More Nevoch. Par. III. cap. 18.

Unto

Unto thy Seed will I give all these Countries.] Which Chapter he repeats again in the next Verse; having mentioned the vast multiplication of his Seed.

393

Ver. 4. In thy Seed shall all the Nations of the Earth Verse 4. beblessed.] In this is contained the Promise of the Mession of the highest Blessing God could bestow. Which he assured Abraham should spring out of his Family, XXII. 18. and now assures the same to Isaac.

Ver. 5. Because that Abraham obeyed my Voice.] In Verle 5. going out of his own Country, when God called him; in circumcifing himself and his Family; but especially (XXII. 18.) in offering his Son Isaac.

And kept my charge.] i. e. Observed the Sabbath-Day, says Menasseb Ben-Israel, out of the Hebrew Doctors, L. de Creat. Problem. VIII. But it seems more rational to understand by this word which we tranflate charge, all that he commanded him to observe : The Particulars of which follow.

My Commandments, my Statutes, and my Laws.] These are nicely distinguished by some of the fews; especially Abarbinel: Who, by Commandments, understands not only that of Circumcision, but of Expelling Ishmael : And by Statutes, (Hebr. Chukkothai, which always relates to Ceremonial Things) not only binding his Son Isaac to offer him in Sacrifice, but his offering a Ram afterwards in his stead : And by Laws, (which include the Judicial part of Mofes his Writings) histaking a Wife for Isaac out of another Country; and bestowing Gifts upon the Children of his Concubines, referving the Land for Ifaac. But this may feem too curious: And fo many words may be thought rather to be used, only to express his exact Obedience to God in every thing, Fee whe-

ACOMMENTART

Chapter whether belonging to Religion, or to Justice, Mercy, or any other Duty: According to what he requi-XXVI. red of him, XVII. I. Walk before me, and be thon 15 mm perfect.

Verse 6.

394

Ver. 6. And Isaac dwelt in Gerar.] This is a fresh Instance of his constant Obedience; in trusting to God's Providence here, and not going down into Egypt, as he was inclined.

Verfe 7. Ver. 7. She is my Sifter.] Or, Coufin ; for fo the was. He told part of the Truth, but not all.

> For he feared to fay, &c.] He imitated his Father ; as Children are apt to do.

Verse 8. Ver. 8. Sporting with Rebekah his Wife.] Using fuch familiarity with her, and blandishments, as were notallowable between Brethren and Sifters ; but common between Man and Wife, even openly. As embracing her in his Arms, and kiffing her, perhaps, very often: He having an exceeding great love to her, XXIV. 67.

Verse 9.

Ver. 9. Of a surety she is thy Wife.] It seems he took Isaac to be so good a Man, that he lookt upon the Liberties he took with Rebekab, as Tokens of Conjugal Love, not of incestuous Defires.

Verfe 10. Ver. 10. Brought guiltiness upon us.] It is likely the Punishment inflicted upon his Father and Family, (XX. 17.) only for taking Sarah into his Houfe, with an intention to make her his Wife, was yet in memory among them.

Verfe 11. Ver. 11. He that toucheth this Man or his Wife, &c.] This looks like a modest word, as it is used, XX. 6. and I Cor. VII. I. But the Chaldee Paraphrast (and the Hebrew Doctors) interpret it of not doing them any injury : Becaufe he speaks of the Man, as well as his Wife; and so it is explained, verse 29.

upon GENESIS.

Ver. 12. Then Ifaac fowed in that Land.] Most take Chapter this to have been in the time of Famine : Which XXVI. makes it the greater wonder, that the Ground should with then bring forth so plentifully. But it seems more Verse 12. likely to me, that the Dearth was at an end : For it is said Verse 8. that he had been in that Country a long time, when Abimelech faw him sporting with his Wife.

An hundred fold.] This, in it felf, is not wonderful; though, at this time, it was a fingular Bleffing of God, after there had been some time ago a Dearth; and, perhaps, the Soil not rich, which afforded fo large a Crop. Otherwife, Varro fays, (L.I. de re Rustica, c. 44.) that in Syria, about Gadera, and in Africa about Byzacium, they reap'd an hundred Bushels for one, (ex modio nasci centum.) Pliny and Solinus fay the fame of that Country Byzacium, : In fo much that Bochartus fanfies the Metropolis of that rich Country, viz. Adrumentum, had its Name from hence; fignifying in the Phanician Language, as much as, the Region of an hundred fold, Lib. I. Canaan, cap. 24. Nay, fome places in Africa were fo rich that they produced two hundred, yea three hundred fold, as he shows out of feveral good Authors in the 25th Chapter of that Book. Whence he thinks Africa had its Name ; being as much as "Euzayus yn, Terra Spicarum, a Land of Ears of Corn. All which I have noted, that this Passage may not seem incredible to any Reader.

And the LOR D bleffed him.] Or, for the LOR D bleffed him. This is the reason of the fruitfulness of that Soil; which naturally would not have yielded fo much.

Ver.

Chapter Ver. 13. And the Man waxed great, &c.] I suppose XXVI. he had many such fruitful Years; so that his Riches increased till he grew very great, and bought more Verse 13. Cattel than he had before. For in them confisted the ancient Riches, as Servius tells us on the first of Virgil's Eclogues. Omne Patrimonium apud majores peculium dicebatur, à pecoribus; in quibus universa eorum substantia constabat. Unde etiam PECUNIA dicta fuit, à PECULIO. The same also we find faid by Columella.

396

- Verfe 14. Ver. 14. Great store of Servants.] The Margin hath, ftore of Husbandry. Which is very likely; because he was incouraged in it, by his great Crops : Which could not likewise but increase the Number of his Servants. The Arabick set forth by Erpenius hath only, a great revenue, or vast increase: Which among the Eastern People, as I said, was principally from their Cattel. But God blessed him with abundance of Corn also.
- Verse 16. Ver. 16. Thou art much mightier than we.] As the People envied him, verse 14. so the King himself, it seems, began to fear him. And therefore desired him, in a friendly manner, to leave his Country. For they were not yet grown so wicked, as to attempt to destroy those who lived quietly among them; when they apprehended they would become richer and stronger than themselves.
- Verfe 17. Ver. 17. The Valley of Gerar.] Where that was, is uncertain; but at some distance from the City where Abimelech dwelt, and near to which Isaac had inhabited before.

Verse 18. Ver. 18. Which they had digged in the days of Abrabam.] He chose to open the old ones, rather than dig new; both because he was certain there to find a Spring Spring of Water, and becaufe it was most easile, and Chapter lefs obnoxious to Censure or Envy : And because he XXVI. would preferve his Father's Memory ; for which reafon he did not give them new Names, but those they had in his Father's Days.

Ver. 19. They digged in the Valley, &c.] In pro-Verse 19. cels of time, they found a necessity of more Water; and so digged till they met with a new Spring, in the Valley.

Ver. 20. The Water is ours.] Because it was found Verse 20. in their Soil, as Menochius observes. But they having let the Ground to Isaac, the Water was truly his, as long as the Contract lasted.

Ver. 21. And they digged another Well.] I suppose Verse 21. in the same Valley : For rather than contend, he receded from his Right in the other Well.

Ver. 22. He removed from thence.] To avoid Verse 22. ftrife, he quitted that part of the Country, and went to another : Where he was not disturbed in his Pasturage.

For now the LORD hath made room for us.] He was streightned before for want of sufficient Water for his Flock : Which now he enjoyed in abundance.

And we shall be fruitful in the Land.] Increase more than formerly: Now that they could water their Flocks quietly and plentifully.

Ver. 23. Went up from thence to Beer-sheba.] Where Verse 23. he and his Father had anciently lived, XXI. 33. XXV. 11.

Ver. 24. And the LOR Duppeared unto him the Verse 24. Same Night.] As he had done before he came to Gerar, verse 2.

I'anz .

Chapter I am the God of Abraham] Who was fo kind to XXVI. him, and made a Covenant with him.

I am with thee.] My special Providence is over thee; as was explained before, verse 3.

Verle 25. Ver. 25. Built an Altar there.] To offer Sacrifice unto the LOR D.

> Called upon the Name of the LORD.] As Abraham had done before him, in this very place, XXI. 33. And pitched his Tent there.] Refolved to fettle in Verfe 26. Ver. 26. Phicol, &c.] The fame Name and the fame Office that he had, who is mentioned XXI. 22. but he was not the fame Man, no more than Abimelech the fame King. It is probable this was a Name of fome Dignity among them; like that of Tribunus or Dictator among the Romans: Which passed from one to another.

298

Verse 28. Ver. 28. We faw certainly the LORD was with thee, &c.] We have observed such a special Providence over thee, that we come to establish a perpetual Friendship with thee, by a solemn Oath, if thou wilt consent to our defire. They were assid, it seems, left being disobliged by their sending him out of their Country, he should fall upon them one time or other; being mightier than they, as they acknowledged, verse 18.

Verfe 29. Ver. 29. Have fent thee away in peace.] They remember him how they difmiffed him peaceably; and did not go about to feize upon his Eftate, while he lived among them : Which they make an Argument, why he fhould contract a nearer Friendship with such Civil People.

Thou art now the bleffed of the L O R D.] This looks like an high Complement, or flattering Expression.

this place.

Ver. 30. He made them a Feast, &c.] So Covenants Chapter were made, by eating and drinking together. XXVI.

Ver. 32. Told him concerning the Well they had digged, &c.] They had begun to dig before Abimelech Verle 30. and Phicol came, verse 25. and now they came at a Verse 32. Spring of Water.

Ver. 33. He called it Sheba.] From the Oath which Verle 33. was lately made between him and Abimelech. It had been called fo before by Abraham, XXI. 31. but that Name, perhaps, was forgotten, and fo he revived it, as he had done others, verfe 18.

Ver. 34. The Daughter of Beeri the Hittite, &cc.] Verfe 34. Josephus faith these two Men, Beeri and Elon, whose Daughters Esau married, were Dynaste, powerful Men among the Hittites: Which is not improbable. But his Father fure had given the same Charge to him, that Abraham had done concerning his own Marriage, XXIV. 3. and then it was a very undutiful, nay, an impious action, to marry with those People, who were under the Curse of God. The Scripture might well call him prophane: Who seems not to have regarded either the Curse or the Blessing of the Almighty.

Ver. 35. A grief of mind.] His very marrying with Verle 35. them, forely afflicted his Father and Mother. Or, as others interpret it, their Idolatry and bad Manners extreamly grieved them.

CHAP.

400 Chapter XXVII.

CHAP. XXVII.

Verse 1. Ver. 1. W Hen Ifaac was old] An hundred thirty and seven Years old, as many have demonstrated.

He faid unto him, My Son, &c.] It appears by this and what follows, that though Esau had difpleafed him by his Marriage; yet he retained his natural Affection to him, which he had from the beginning.

Ver. 3. Thy Quiver.] Some take the Hebrew word to fignifie a Sword: Which was as neceffary for a Huntiman, as a Bow and Arrows.

Verse 4.

Verse 2.

Ver. 4. Make me favory meat, &c.] To raife his feeble Spirits, and enable him to deliver his last and folemn Benediction, with the more vigour.

My Soul may blefs thee before I die.] It feems Ifaac did not understand the Divine Oracle, XXV. 25. as Rebekab did; Or, she had not acquainted him with it. For he intended to bestow upon Efau the promised Land; which was that God told Abraham he would bless his Posterity withal. For the last Benediction of these great Men, was the settling of their Inheritance; and making those their Heirs upon whom they bestowed their Blessing. Now the Birth-right which Efau had sold facob gave him right only to the greatest part of Ifaac's Estate: But not to the Land of Canaan, which was to be disposed of by Ifaac, according to Divine Direction.

Verse 7.

Ver. 7. And bless thee before the LOR D.] These words show it was not a common Blessing, but a solemn lemn Benediction, and by Divine Authority or Ap- Chapter probation, which Isaac meant to give his Son Esan. XXVII.

Ver. 8. Obey my Voice, &c.] Rebekab having juft verfe 8. reafon to conclude, that Efau had forfeited the Blef-Verfe 8. fing, which the was defirous to preferve in her Family, by marrying with the People of Canaan, who were curfed by God; thought of this Device to get Jacob preferred before him. And indeed, it cannot be denied, that it was a prophane thing (as I noted before) to marry with a Daughter of Heth. And he feems afterwards to have had no good Defign in marrying with a Daughter of Ifbmael, (XXVIII. 9.) for it looks as if he went about to fet up the Pretenfions of that Family, againft Ifaac's.

Ver. 9. Two good Kids of the Goats.] Two fat Verse 9. fucking Kids, as Aben Ezra expounds this Phrase, Kid of the Goats, (upon Exod. XXIII. 19.) which in old time were accounted very delicious Meat: A Present fit for a King, I Sam. XVI. 20. and which Manoah prepared for the Angel, whom he took for a Noble Guest, Judg. XIII. 15. And (which is most proper to be here considered) allowed to decayed and weak People, as an excellent Nourishment.

Both these Kids were not prepared for Ifaac : But she took the most tender and delicate parts of both, and dressed them for him.

And I will make them favory Meat.] Drefs it fo, as to pleafe his Palate ; and not to be diftinguished by him for Venison. For, we know, the natural taste of things may be quite altered, by various forts of Seasonings, as we call them : And ordered in such manner, that Bochartus fays, he knew skilful Huntsmen take a Pasty made of Beef, for Venison.

Fff

Chapter Ver. II. An hairy Man.] In the Hebrew, ifch Sair, XXVII. a rough Man, hairy like a Goat. For the fame word Sair fignifies a Goat, Gen. XXXVII. 31. Lev. IX. 15. Verfe II. and other places.

Verse 12 · Ver. 12. A deceiver.] One that cheats his Father; impoling on his Age, and on his Blindness : Which, he wifely confiders, would have been an high Provocation if it had been discovered.

Verle 13. Ver. 13. Upon me be thy Curfe.] i. e. There is no danger: I will warrant the success.

Verse 15. Ver. 15. Took goodly Raiment, &c.] His best Clothes ; which most suppose were laid up in a Cheft, among odoriferous Flowers, or other Perfumes : Both to preferve them from Moths, and to comfort the Brain when they were worn : For their Smell ismentioned verse 27. It is a groundless Fansie of the Fews, that these were Sacerdotal Garments, (and the very fame that Adam wore, which descended to Noah, &c.) for. as there was no Sacrifice now to be made, so the Primogeniture did not make him a Priest, more than Jacob, as was noted before. One may rather fay, these were Garments belonging to him, as Heir of the Family: Between whom and the other Sons, it's very probable the Affection of Parents was wont to make fome difference in their Apparel.

Verse 16. Ver. 16. Put the Skin of the Kids of the Goats.] It is observed by Bochartus, That in the Eastern Countries, Goats-Hair was very like to that of Men, P.I. Hierozoic, L. 2. c. 51. So that Isac might easily be deceived, when his Eyes were dim, and his Feeling no less decayed than his Sight.

Verse 18. Ver. 18. Who art thou, my Son?] He suspected him, from his Voice, and returning so soon from Hunting. Ver.

Ver. 19. I am Efau thy first-born, &c.] Here are Chapter many Untruths told by Jacob, befides this, (for his XXVII. Father did not bid him go, get him some Venison, Verse nor did God bring this Meat to him, which he had Verse 19. prepared, &c.) which cannot be wholly excused : But it must be confessed, he and his Mother were possefied with a false Opinion, That they might deceive Isaac, for the good of his Family.

Arife, Ipray thee, and fit and eat, &c.] He was lying upon his Bed, one would guess by this, being aged and infirm : And he intreats him to arise up himself, and fit : For so they did in those Days (as we do now) at their Meals. This appears afterwards, when Joseph's Brethren fat down to eat Bread XXX VII. 25. and fat when they eat with J Egypt, XLIII. 33 And so Homer makes all ro's fit at their Feasts, as Atkenans observes Custom continued among the Macedoni days of Alexander, as Bochartus observes in his rozoic. P. I. L. II. c. 50.

Ver. 21. Come near, &c.] Ifaac ftill fulpected by Verfe 21. this long difcourfe with him, wherein he observed his Voice, that it was not Efan. And the Hebrews, in Bereschith Rabba fay, that he fell into a great sweat, and his Heart melted in him like Wax, while he talked with him : So that an Angel came to support him, from falling down.

Ver. 23. So he bhiffed him.] After he had once Verle 23. more askt him whether he was his very Son Efau, which Jacob affirmed, verle 24. who was punished for this Deceit, when he was cheated himself by Laban, in the business of his Wives, as well as in other things : And (as the Hebrews observe) he that deceived his Father by the Skins of the Kids of Goats, Fff 2 was Chapter was deceived himself into a falle opinion that Joseph XXVII. was killed; by his Brethren dipping his Coat in the Blood of a Kid of the Goats, Gen. XXXVII. 31.

Ver. 26. Come now and kiss me.] Some think he Verle 26. had a defire to be fatisfied that way, whether he was Esau or not. But I take it rather, to be a Token of his great Love and Affection, wherewith he bestowed his Bleffing upon him.

404

Verse 27. Ver. 27. He smelled the Smell of his Raiment.] As he embraced him, he perceived the Fragrancy of his Garments: Which he could not before, while he ftood remote; his Senfes being weak and dull. The Jews who fansie these to have been the Garments wherein Adam ministred; imagine also that they retained the fcent which they had in Paradife. So Bereschith Rabba, and R. Sol. Jarchi, as Braunius obferves, L. I. de Vestib. Hebr. Sacerd. c. 4.

See the smell of my Son.] The apprehension of one Senfe, is, in this Language, often uled for the apprehenfion of another, (as Maimonides speaks, P. I. More Nevoch cap. 46.) as, see the Word of the LORD, Jer. II. 21. i. e. Hear his Word. And fo in this place, See the Smell is as much, as Smell the Odour of my Son, &c. But it may simply signifie, Behold, or observe ; no Field that God hath adorned with the greatest variety of the most. fragrant Flowers, Smells Sweeter than my Son.

Verse 28.

Ver. 28. Therefore God give thee, &c.] I take it fora fign that God will give thee, (for so it may be tranflated, as a Prophecy, as well as a Prayer) the greatest abundance: Which proceeds from a rich Soil, well-watered from Heaven. These two are the Causes of Plenty.

upon GENESIS.

The Dem of Heaven.] Rain fell only at certain Chapter Seafons, in that Country : But there was a recompence for it by large Dews; which very much refreshed the Earth; and are represented in Scripture as a Divine Gift, Job XXXVIII. 28. Micab V. 7. which God threatens sometimes to withhold, because of Mens Offences, I Kings XVII. I.

Ver. 29. Let People ferve thee, &c.] As the former Verle 29. part of the Bleffing relates to Wealth: So this, to Dominion and Empire: Which was fignally fulfilled in the days of David, when the Moabites, Ammonites, Syrians, Philistines, and Edomites also were fubdued under him.

Let thy Mother's Sons how down to thee.] This is a third part of the Bleffing, giving him a Prerogative in his own Family : And in the next words he pronounces a Bleffing upon all that should be Friends to him; as on the contrary, a Curfe upon his Enemies.

Ver. 33. Isaac trembled very exceedingly.] What the Verse 33. Hebrews say upon verse 21. (see there) had been more proper here: That his Heart melted 3 and he was ready to fwoon away.

Who?] A broken form of Speech.

Yea, and he shall be bleffed.] He had bleffed himfo feriously, and with such Affection, and (it is likely) extraordinary Confidence in Gods Approbation, that he would not revoke it. For he felt, as I take it, the Spirit of Prophecy upon him, when he pronounced this Bleffing: And it inlightned him to understand the Oracle formerly delivered, XXV. 23.

Ver. 35. Taken away thy Blefing.] Which I intend-Verle 35. ed to have beftowed on thee; looking upon it s thine, by the right of being my. First-born.

Chapter Ver. 37. All his Brethren.] His Kindred. XXVII. What fhall I now do unto thee, my Son ?] Having given Jacob fo much; it was but a fmall matter he Verle 37. could do for him.

Verle 39. Ver. 39. Behold, thy dwelling shall be the fatnefs, &c.] Some have translated it, Thy dwelling shall be without the fatnefs of the Earth, and the Dem from above: But by thy Sword shalt thou live, &c. i. e. He prophesies that he should inhabit a poor Country: But maintain himself plentifully by his Sword. For, otherwise (they think) his Blessing would be the fame with Jacob's, verse 28. But if we retain our Translation, there is a manifest difference between this and Jacob's Benediction. For here he makes no mention of plenty of Corn and Wine; and gives him no such Dominion as he did to Jacob, (the Jews observe other differences) and whatsoever fatness was in the Soil of his Country, it did not last, as appears by Mal. I. 3.

Verse 40.

406

Ver. 40. By thy Sword shalt thou live.] Live upon Spoil. Or, as others interpret it, be in perpetual War to defend thy Country.-

And fhalt ferve thy Brother.] Here Ifaac speaks out, the very words of the Oracle mentioned before, XXV. 23. which was fulfilled in the days of David, 2 Sam. VIII. 14. and 1 Chron. XVIII. 13. (the Circumstances of which Conquest are more fully defcribed, 1 Kings XI. 15. &c.] And again, after they had recovered some strength, Amaziah made great flaughters among them, 2 Kings XIV. 7. As the Maccabees did afterwards, 1 Macc. V. 65. and at last were utterly disabled by Hircanus, the Son of Simon Maccabeus, as we read in Josephus, L. XIII. Antig. c. 17.

When

When thou shalt have the Dominion.] St. Hierom and Chapter the LXX. do not understand this of their having any XXVII. Dominion over the Seed of Jacob, (which we never understand read of) but only of their re-gaining Power to shake off Subjection to them, as it follows in the next words.

Thou shalt break his Yoke from off thy Neck.] Which they did in the days of Joram, as we read, 2 Kings VIII. 20, 22. 2 (bron. XXI. 8, &c.

Ver. 41. And Esau faid in his Heart.] Defigned and Verse 41. refolved within himself: And, as it should seem, was? so full of it, that he could not contain his Purpose within his own Breast, but in his Anger blurted it eut to some Body; who told it to Rebekah.

The days of mourning for my Father, &c.] He will die fhortly, (in which he was deceived, for he lived three and forty Years after this) and then I will be revenged. He had fome regard to his Father still remaining (whom he would not grieve) but no confideration of his Mother, who had helpt Jacob to fupplant him.

Ver. 44. Tarry with him a few days.] A Year or Verle 44. two. But herein the alfo was miltaken : For he did not return in twenty Years time.

Until thy Brother's Fury.] Time, in which various things happen, very much allays Fury and Rage.

Ver. 45. And he forget, &c.] The memory of it be Verle 45.; much worn out, and grown weak.

Why fhould I be deprived of you both in one day?] She had reason to think, that if Esan killed Jacob, and the Publick Justice did not punish it (according to the Precept, IX. 6. which had setted Courts of Judicature) God himself would prosecute Esan with his Vengeance, as he did Cain. .07

Chapter Ver. 46. I am weary of my life, because of the Daugh-XXVIII. ters of Heth.] The two Wives of Esau, who were Hittites, were such a continual Vexation to her; that Verse 46 the wisht rather to die, than to live among them.

If Jacob take a Wife, &c.] She pretends only this reason for sending Jacob among her Kindred; and says not a word of the danger his Life was in: For the would not afflict her Husband; but only preferve her Son.

What good shall my life do me?] I had rather die than live in such perpetual Vexation: Therefore let him go and take a Wife, as Abraham did for thee, of our Kindred.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Verle 1. Ver. 1. A ND Ifaac called Jacob.] Sent for him to come to him.

And bleffed him.] Renewed and confirmed the Bleffing he had already given him : That it might not be thought to be of less force, because procured by Artifice and Subtilty, XXVII. 25.

rle 2. Ver. 2. To Padan-Aram.] See XXV. 20.

. Ver. 3. And God Almighty blefs thee, &c.] This is the folemn Bleffing mentioned Verfe 1. wherein he ratifies what he had done : And more fully and diftinctly fettles the Land of Promife upon him; and makes him the Father of the promifed Seed.

Verse 4.

Ver. 4. Give thee the Bleffing of Abraham.] The Bleffing of Abraham was, that he fhould inherit the Land of Canaan; and that in his Seed all the Nations of

Verle 2. Verle 3.

of the Earth should be blessed, Gen. XV. 18. XXII. Chapter 18: Both which he now confirms to Jacob. XXVIII.

Ver. 5. And Ifaac fent away Jacob.] In some haste, Verse 5. as the LXX. translate verse 2. Arise, flee, i. e. de-Verse 5. part without any delay. Which looks as if Rebekab had at last, suggested something to him of the Danger he was in.

And he went to Padan-Aram.] Prepared himfelf to go, and fet forward. Or, elfe it is fpoken by anticipation; for he did not come thither till after feveral Paffages; which are related in this and in the next Chapter.

Son of Bethuel the Syrian.] See XXV. 20.

Jacob's and Esan's Mother.] Now Jacob is put first; as being lately declared Isaac's Heir, and Heir of all the Promises.

Ver. 9. Then went Efau unto Ishmael, &c.] To the Verle 9. Family of Ishmael; for he himfelf died fourteen Years ago. And therefore Nebaioth (his eldeft Son, XXV. 13.) is here mentioned, as the prefent Head of the Family: Whofe Sifter Esau married. Whereby he showed himfelf not to have any great regard to the Divine Revelation: Otherwise he could not but have known, that this Family, being descended from a Bond-Woman, was not to inherit the Promises made to Abraham and Isac.

Ver. 10. Jacob went out from Beer-scheba, &c.] Quite Verse 10. alone, without any Servants to attend him, and without any Presents to court a Wife, or gain the Kindness of Laban: Neither of which were wanting, when Abraham sent Eliefer to take a Wise for Isaac. But as he was sent away in haste, (as I noted before, verse 5.) so hereby the Anger of Esan was mitigated, who at present was left the sole Possessor of Ggg all all Ifaac's Riches, and faw Jacob depart in a poor Con-Chapter XXVIII. dition. This also was an act of Divine Faith, that God would take a fingular Care of him, and let him want nothing. And as they could not but hope that Laban, being fo near a Relation, would be glad. to fee him and entertain him: So it is probable hemight carry Letters of Credence with him, thathe was to be Heir to Isaac; as Elieser affured them Ifaac was to be to Abraham, XXIV. 26. We are to suppose likewife, that he was not fent without Mo-ney to bear his Charges, (as we speak) and had fome Provision with him: For we read of Oil; verse -18. which he poured on the top of the Pillar.

Verse II. Ver. II. And he lighted upon a certain place, &c.7 A convenient place (fhaded with lovely Trees; fee verse 19.) to lodge in : Unto which he did not go by defign; but hapned (as we fpeak) upon it, when he did not think of it.

> And he took of the Stones of that place.] One Stone, from among many others that were there: As appears from verse 18. The fame form of Speech was observed before, XIX. 29. XXI. 7.

Verfe 12. Ver. 12. And he dreamed.] He had the following Representation made to him in a Dream.

> Behold, a Ladder, &c.] It is judicioully observed by Maimonides in his Preface to More Nevochim, that there are two forts of Prophetick Parables (as he. calls them,) in one of which, every word hath fome peculiar fignification : In the other, the whole Parable reprefents the thing intended, but every word hath not its weight; fome ferving only for Elegance. Among the first fort he reckons this: In which the Ladder may be thought to represent the Divine Providence, which governs all things; and particularly now.

now directed Jacob in his Journey, every fiep of Chapter which was under God's Guidance. It being fet up-XXVIII. on the Farth denoted, he thinks, the stedfaltness of un Providence, which nothing is able to shake. And the top of it reaching to Heaven fignifies, that it extends it felf all the World over; to every thing, great or small, high or low : And the feveral steps in the Ladder, the Motions and Actions of Divine Providence. The Angels which went up and down, fignifies that they are the great Ministers of God's Providence, by whom he manages all things here below: And that they are never idle, but always in motion to ferve those especially who ferve God faithfully. Their ascending represents their going to receive the Divine Orders and Commands; and their descending, the execution of his Orders. Or, (with a peculiar respect to Jacob's present Condition) the one fignified, their fafe Conduct of him in his Journey to Padan-Aram; and the other, their bringing him safe home again.

This is infinitely more folid, than the Conceit of almost all the ancient Rabbins, that God represented in this Ladder, the rife, and the fall of the four great Monarchies. For where is there any mention in this Dream of four Angels? Or, of Seventy Steps reprefenting the feventy Years Captivity in Babylon ? Or, of two and fifty Steps reprefenting the time of the Reign of the four Kings of Persia and Media, according to their computation? &c. All this is the pure invention of idle Men, who dream upon the Holy Scriptures.

Ver. 13. And behold the LORD food above it. Verle 13. Finally, he faw the Divine Majesty or Glory, (fo the Targum here expounds it) as the unmovable Mover of Chapter of all things. From whom all comes as the first XXVIII. Cause, and to whom all returns, as the last End.

Ggg 2

412

I am the LORD God, &c.] This is the first time that we read of God's appearing to Jacob: And it was only in a Dream. But it made such a deep impression upon him, that he doubted not of the Truth of what was now expressly promised him by God: himself; that he should have the bleffing of Abraham, as his Father had told him, verse 4.

Verse 15. Ver. 15. Behold I am with thee.] Or, will be with thee, i. e. My peculiar Providence shall be over thee, and take Care of thy fafety, as Maimonides well expounds it; in his More Nevoch. P. III. cap. 18.

> I will not leave thee, &c.] This flows the intent of the Dream was to comfort Jacob, in his folitary and poor Condition, by an affurance that God's watchful Providence floud attend him, till he had accomplifhed all his Promifes to him.

Ver. 16. Surely The LORD is in this place.] By Verse 16. his special' extraordinary Presence : For here he had manifested himself to him, and given him singular Affurances of his Favour; and that the very first Night, after he went from home .: Which made this place more acceptable to him than his Father's Houfe. For now he was become a. Prophet, as Maimonides observes, More Nevoch. P. II. cap. 45. where he fays, That they who Prophecy in a Dream do not call it a Dream after Prophecy is come to them in a Dream, but fimply fay, it was a Prophecy. Thus the Patriarch Jacob, after he awakned out of his Prophetick Dream, (wherein he heard the LORD speak to him, verse 13, 14.) he doth not call it a Dream, but roundly fays, Surely the LORD is in this place, &c.

And

And I knew it not.] I did not expect to meet with Chapter fuch a Divine appearance and Revelation to me. XXVIII.

Ver. 17. And he was afraid.] Poffetfed with a Religious, Awful Apprehention of God. Which made Verle 17. him fay, How dreadful is this place?] With what Reverence ought I here to behave my felf?

This is none other but the House of God.] The Divine Majesty dwells here: This is not a common Place, but a Sacred; having a Divine Presence in it.

And this is the Gate of Heaven.] Here God keeps his Court attended by his Holy Angels: Whom he had feen come from Heaven hither, and go up from hence thither. So Mr. Mede explains it, Book II. p. 436. The Prefence of God in one Place more than another, confifts in his Train or Retinue. A King is there, where his Court is: And fo God is there fpecially prefent, where the Angels keep their Station. Which is the meaning of the Gate of Heaven, i. e. Heaven's Court: For the Gate was wont to be the Judgment-Hall, and the Place where Kings and Senators ufed to fit, attended by their Guards and Minifters.

Ver. 18. Took the Stone and set it up for a Pillar.] Up-Verfe 18. on the top of some other Stones, which he heaped up together: That it might remain as a Monument of the Divine Mercy to him; and preferve the Memory of this Heavenly Vision: And that by this Token he might know this Place, when God brought him back again, and commemorate his Goodness to him here.

This Stone was held in great Veneration by the Jews in future times, and translated to Jerusalem. After:

Chapter After the deftruction of which by Titus, they were XXVIII. wont (upon that Day when it was taken, which was the only Day they were permitted to come thither) with great Lamentation and rending their

414

Garments, to go and anoint this Stone. Such is the Power of fond Superstition. See Voffins, de Idolol. Lib. VI. cap. 38.

Poured Oil on the top of it.] Not in honour of this Stone, (as Bonfrerius himfelf confess) much less of any Idol to which it was dedicated : But to confecrate it as a Monument of God's great Mercy to him, in the before-mentioned Celeftial Vision. Oil, it appears by this, was anciently used, in confecrating things, before the Law of Moles : And not only in this Family, but in others also it is probable; from whence the Pagan Cuftom came of anointing Stones. which by Theophrastus are called Airragol Airon, upon which Superstitious People were wont when they met with them in the High-ways, to pour Oil and fall down and worship. A great many Authors mention them, which are collected by Elmenhorstins in his Observations upon Arnobius, p. 37. They that would be fatisfied how wretchedly fome of the Romilh Writers plead for the worship of Images from this very place, may read Dr. Jackson's Treatile of the Original of Unbelief, Chap. XXXV. where he excellently explains this action of Jacob, n. 5, 6, 7.

Verse 19. Ver. 19. And he called the Name of that place Bethel.] From this word Bethel, came the word Bayrible (as Scaliger in his Animadv. upon Enseb. p. 198. and others think) among the Heathen : Whereby they denoted rude Stones, which they worshipped either as Symbols of Divinity, or astrue Gods, animated by some heavenly Power. Of which worship fee

upon GENESIS.

fee Photins in his Bibliotheca, CCXLII. But efpeci-Chapter ally Bochartus, L. II. Canaan, cap. 1. where he flows XXVIII. the Phænicians (at leaft as the Jews think) first worfhipped this very Stone which Jacob anointed: And afterward confecrated others, which they called Batylia, and Batyli, in memory of this Stone anointed at Bethel. See p. 785, 786. Certain it is, this Idolatrous Practice came very early into the World: Which made Moses forbid the erecting of such Pillars, they being in his time converted to a prophane use, Lev. XXVI. 1. Deut. XII. 3. XVI. 22.

But the Name of that City.] Which was near to the place, where this Pillar was fet up.

Was Luz at the first.] So called, perhaps, from the many Almond-trees which grew there, (for Luz fignifies an Almond, fee XXX. 37.) among which it is probable Jacob took up his lodging, because they were a kind of Covering to him. Both this Luz in the Tribe of Benjamin, and the other among the Hittites in the Tribe of Ephraim, Judg. I. 26. Bochart doubts not had there Name from this Original, L. I. Canaan, cap. 35:

Ver. 20. Jacob womed a Vom.] This is the first Vow Verse 200. that we read of in Scripture: Which all Men allow is a part of Religion, and so was acknowledged by the Law of Moses, Deut. XXIII. 21. Pfalm L. 12. Pfalm LXV. 2, &c.

Perhaps Jacob was the first, that in this manner expressed his devout Affection towards God.

If God will be with me, &c.] Perform his Promise to me, verse 15.

Give me Bread to eat, &c.] Support and maintain me; which is the explication of the Promife.

Chapter Ver. 21. Then (ball the LORD be my God.] I XXVIII. will most Religiously worship and ferve him. Which doth not imply, that he would not worship him, if Verle 21. he did not bring him home in Peace : But that, if he did, he would perform some special Service to him, and worship him with extraordinary Devotion: Confectating (as it follows) this Place to his Honour; offering him Sacrifice, and giving him the Tenths of all he had, to maintain his worthip.

416

Verle 22. Ver. 22. And this Stone, which I have fet for a Pillar.] All Pillars were not unlawful, but fuch only as were for Idolatrous uses: As Maimonides refolves, L. de Idol. cap. VI. § 8. And therefore the Tems so expound those words, before mentioned, Thou shalt not set thee up any Statue or Pillar, which the LORD thy God hateth, Deut. XVI. 22. concerning Pillars fet up for worhip, not of those for memorial.

Shall be God's House.] Here will I fet apart a Place for God's Solemn Worship and Service: Build an Altar, and offer Sacrifice, &c. See XXXV. 3.

Give the tenth unto thee.] Derativ The memoriauevov, faith Josephus, the Tithe of all his In-come; for the maintenance of Burnt-Sacrifices, and fuch like pious Uses; and, perhaps, for the relief of the Poor. As for the Priests we do not yet read of any Tithe given to them: Though Mr. Selden (in his Hiftory of Tithes, p. 4, &c. and Review, p. 451.) thinks they were paid to Ifaac, who was then Priest of the Family. And fo Bishop Montacute in his Book against him, p. 199. who observes that we read only of Abraham and Jacob paying Tithe, not of Isaac ; Because Ifaac was a more special Type of Christ than either of Hpon GENESIS.

of thefe. And Abraham and Jacob were Types of Chapter those two People who were to have part in the true XXVIII. Ifaac; for Abraham was Father of all the Faithful; and Jacob was the Type of the Synagogue; as St. Ambrose handles these Matters in the Life of Abraham. Yet the same Bishop confess, That many doubt whether Jacob paid the Tenth of all to Isaac, or immediately to God: Because Jacob also was a Priest himself. See p. 205, &c.

This, I think, we may certainly conclude from this place, That Jacob, the Grand-child of Abraham, vowing the Tenth of all, as Abraham had given the Tenth of the Spoil, he was induced to it, by the Cuftom, which was then among Religious People. How they came to pitch upon this Portion, rather than a Fifth, Sixth, or any other, is not so easie to be resolved. But they feem to speak with much reason, who observe that in this Number Ten, all Nations in a manner end their Account (Aristotle in his Problems, SXV. L.III.) and then begin again with compound Numbers. Or, as other phrase it, This is the end of less Numbers, and the beginning of greater. So that it was lookt upon as the most perfect of all other; and accordingly had in great regard. But, after all, it feems most likely to me, that they had some Divine Direction for it, as they had for Sacrificing. And it may be further noted, That what they gave to their Kings was the Tenth Part, as well as what they gave to God. And nothing more common among the Gentiles than Tenths paid to their Kings; and that very anciently, for it appears from I Sam. VIII. 14, 15, 17. that it was part of the Jus Regium aniong the Eastern People. Aristotle himself mentions it under the Name of Maraics vou Gu, an anci-Hhh ent

Chapter ent Law in Babylon: And it was also used in Athens, XXIX. which was a Commonwealth, as Dr. Spencer flows in his Learned Work, de Leg. Hebr. Ritual. L. III. cap. 10. § 1. And Bishop Mountague shows they were paid among the Romans, p. 248, &c.

CHAP. XXIX.

Verse 1. Ver. 1. A ND Jacob went on his Journey.]. Because the Hebrew Phrase, for went on, is list up his feet; some will have it that he proceeded most: cheerfully in his Journey, after this Glorious Vision. Which we may believe to be true, though not fignified by this manner of speaking.

To the People of the East.] To Mesopotamia, which lay Eastward from Canaan.

Ver. 2. A great Stone upon the Wells Month.] To Verse 2. keep the Water clean and cool.

Verse 5. Ver. 5. Laban the Son of Nahor.] Grandson of Nahor: Who is mentioned rather than Bethuel; becaule he was the Head of the Family.

> Ver. 6. Rachel his Daughter.] Her Name in Hebrew fignifies a Sheep. For it was anciently the manner to give Names, even unto Families, from Cattle both great and small. So Varro tells us, Lib. II. de Re. Rustica, c. I.

Multa nomina babemus ab utroque pecore, &c. à minore PORCIUS, OVILIUS, CAPRILI-US; à majore, EQUITIUS, TAURUS, &c. See Bochart, P. I. Hierozoic. Lib. II. cap. 43.

418

Verse 6.

Ver. 7. It is yet high day, &c.] A great deal of Chapter the Afternoon yet remains. It was the Cuftom of XXIX. those Eastern Countries, where the Sun had great power in Summer time, to bring their Flocks towards Verse 7. Noon into shady places, where there was Water to refresh them: Otherwise the extream Heat would have killed them. There they rested (it appears by many places of Scripture; particularly Camic. I. 7.) till the Heat of the Day was over, and then having watered them again, they carried them out to feed till Sun set.

Ver. 9. For fise kept them.] It was a noble Employ-Verle 9 ment in those Days to keep Sheep: Whence God himself hath the Name of the Shepherd of Ifrael. She had those under her, we are to impose, who took the greatest pains about them; but the was the Chief Shepherdes, who inspected them all.

Ver. 10. Went near, and rolled the Stone] He was Verle 10. ftronger, or more dextrous at fuch things, than any Body there: Or, the meaning is, he affifted in this Work; and, perhaps, was the first that set to his Hand about it.

Ver. 11. Jacob kiffed Rachel.] Having told her Verle 11. who he was, and fatisfied her of the Truth of it, then (after the Cuftom used among near Relations, at their first meeting) he faluted her: And that with more than ordinary Affection, for he wept for Joy to see her. Laban in like manner killed him.

Ver. 12. Her Father's Brother.] So all near Rela- Verse 12. tions are called verse 15.

Ver. 13. He told Laban all these things.] Which Verse 13. are mentioned in the foregoing and this Chapter: The reason of his coming from home; God's Pro-H h h 2 vidence

A COMMENTARY

Chapter vidence over him in his Journey; and his happy meet-XXIX. ing with Rachel.

420

Verse 14. So very near of Kin to me, that I can deny thee nothing.

- Verse 15. Ver. 15. Because thou art.] Or, as de Dieu tranflates the word Haci, (and gives many Instances of it) Art thou not my Brother? It is fit then, that thou shoulds ferve me for nothing?
- Verse 17. Ver. 17. Leab was tender-eyed.] Some translate it, had delicate Eyes. So the Chaldee : And then the meaning is, All her Beauty lay in her Eyes.

Beautiful and well-favoured.] Was every way amiable: Being well shaped, having good Features, and a fine Complexion.

- Verse 18. Ver. 18. I will serve thee seven years for Rachel, &c.] He had not brought Money enough with him to purchase a Wise, (as the manner was in those Days) and therefore offers his Service, for seven Years, instead of it.
- Verse 19. Ver. 19. It is better that I give her thee, &c.] He seems to answer cunningly: And yet one cannot but take it for a Contract; as it appears to have been, by verse 21.
- Verfe 20. Ver. 20. They feemed unto him but a few Days.] He valued Rachel fo much, that the Price at which he purchased her seemed inconfiderable.
- Verse 21. Ver. 21. Give me my Wife.] So she had been by Contract, ever since it was made (verse 19.) and he doth not now demand that he might have her to Wife; but that he might enjoy her: Being already his Wife by that solemn Agreement made seven Years ago.

Verse 22. Ver. 22. Laban gathered together the Men of the place.] All such private Contracts were compleated, by. by the Elders or Governors of the Place, in the pre-Chapter fence of all the People. We had an Inftance of this XXIX. before in Abraham's purchase of a Sepulchre for his Family, XXIII. 11, 18. Which was a Sacred and Religious thing, as well as the Rites of Marriage; and therefore both of them Publici Juris, as Cornel. Bertram speaks, part of the Publick Care.

Ver. 23. In the Evening.] At Bed time. Verle 23. Brought her to him.] The Modesty of those Times made them bring the Bride to her Husband's Bed, veiled, and without lights: So that it was the easier for Laban to deceive Jacob by bringing Leak to him. Whom he could not hope so readily to dispose in Marriage, as Rachel; because the was homely.

Ver. 24. Gave unto his Daughter, Zilpah his Maid, Verle 24... &c.] A very poor Portion: Yet all that he gave to Rachel afterward, verse 29. which made them say, That he used them as Strangers, not as his Children; putting them off without any Portion, XXXI. 14, 15.

Ver. 26. It must not be so done in our Country, &c.] Verle 26. We do not read of any such ancient Custom : And therefore this seems a mere shift, or a jest. Or, if it had been true, he should have told it Jacob beforehand.

Ver. 27. Fulfil her week, &c.] Perfect this Marriage Verle 27. with Leak by keeping a feven Diys Feast, (as the Custom was) and then thou shalt have Rachel also. For he doth not speak of a Week of Years, but of Days; as Mr. Selden shows out of many Authors, L.V. de Jure N. & G. cap. 5. where he hath this plain Commentary upon these words.

Marriages are to be celebrated, according to Custom, by a seven Day's Feast: Compleat this Marriage thou bast begun with Leah, and then upon Condision of another-

A COMMENTART

Chapter ther seven Years Service, thou shalt marry Rachel also; XXIX. and keep her Wedding Feast seven Days.

Ver. 20. And ferved with him yet other feven Years 7 Verle 30. After he had folemnly married Rachel, and bedded her, (as we speak) for that he did, seven Days after his Marriage with Leab was accomplifhed. So this Verse begins, And he went in also unto Rachel, and then began his other feven Years Service. There was no politive Law, as yet, against such Marriages as this; (with two Sifters) which were afterwards exprelly condemned : But at present indulged ; as the Marriage of a Man's own Sifter was in the beginning of the World. Whence that faying of the Jews in the Gemara Hierofol. upon the Title Sanhedrim, The World was built by Indulgence. And Jacob, it is very likely, thought there was an unavoidable neceffity for his marrying these two Sisters. For Rachel was his true Wife; Leab being imposed upon him by a Cheat. But, having known her, he concluded he could not honeftly leave her; no more than he could Rachel, to whom he was first contracted.

Verse 31.

422

Ver. 31. Leah was hated.] Comparatively, not abfolutely. For Leah having joyned with her Father to deceive him, he could not love her fo well as Rachel; to whom he had engaged his first Affection.

Verse 32. Ver. 32. Reuben.] The Name of this Son, and of all the rest that follow, are derived from the Hebrew Tongue: Which shows that Laban's Family spake the fame Language with Abraham's; with some little variation, as appears afterward, XXXI. 47.

CHAP.

423 Chapter XXX.

CHAP. XXX.

Ver. 1. E Noied her Sifter.] Was fo grieved, that it Verse 1. made her fret, into Impatience and Rage. For it is a frantick Speech which follows.

Give me Children or I die.] I shall make my felf away, (as we now speak) or die with Grief. See here the great danger of too eager and impatient Desires: The fulfilling of which was her death indeed.

Ver. 2. Jacob's Anger was kindled.] He conceived Verse 2. a just Indignation against her Impatience, which he expresses with some heat.

Am I in God's stead, &c.] Is it in my power to give what God thinks fit to deny? Thus he puts her in mind of what the Pfalmist faid afterward, Children are a gift that cometh of the LORD, as the old Translation hath it, CXXVII. 3.

Ver. 3: Behold my Maid Bilhath, go in unto her.] Verle 3: She followed the fteps of Sarah, Jacob's Grand-mother, (XVI. 1.) in adopting the Son of her Maid-Servant : Whom fhe gave to Jacob out of the fame Principle, that Sarah gave Hagar to be Abraham's Wife; a vehement defire to fulfil the Promife, that their Seed should be as the Stars of Heaven; and especially the Promife of the Meffiah; which made them so extreamly troubled at Barrennes.

She shall bear upon my Knees.] Bring me a Child, whom I may fet upon my Knees, as my own. For fo it follows.

That :

A COMMENTART

That I may have Children.] Though not by my Chapter own Body, yet by her. For the being Rachel's Ser-XXX. vant, the Children that were born of her, were Rachel's Children, not her own.

- Ver. 4. And the gave him Bilhah her hand-maid to Verse 4. Wife.] Of such kind of Wives as this and Zilpah, verse 9. see XXV. 6.
- Ver. 6. God hath judged me.] Decided the Con-Verle.6. troversie between me and my Sister; and given Senstence on my-fide.

She called his name Dan.] The Mothers fometimes gave Names to their Children, (as Leab had done to hers, mentioned in the foregoing Chapter) but with the Approbation of the Father, who fometime controlled them, XXXV. 18.

424

Verse 9

Verfe 8. Ver. 8. With great wrestlings, &c.] I have strugled exceeding hard (i.e. in inceffant, vehement Defires, and perhaps in Prayers to God) to have another Child, before my Sifter; and have prevailed. Ver. 9. Took Zilpah her Maid, and gave her to 7a--cob to Wife.] Imitating her Sifter, and perhaps out of the fame Principle; hoping fome or other of her Children might be the Father of the Meffiah : And therefore the more Children she had, the more likely fome of them might be so happy.

Werfe 11. Ver. 11. A troop cometh.] The Hebrew Writers generally expound it, Good fortune cometh: as Mr. Selden shows in his Syntagm. de Diis Syris, cap. 1. And the LXX. translate it en ruzy, in a lucky hour : And other Greek Versions relignaz, as in St. Chryfostom, (Hom. LVI. on this Book) who expounds it Errero you τε σχόπε, I have obtained my aim. Others have . Eulyma, which is the fame: Whence the Latin anciently had it, Beata facta, or Falix sum, as in St. Auftin, ftin, Q. XCI. in Gen. And this feems to some to be Chapter nearer to the Hebrew than any other Translation; XXX. because what other way soever we expound the word Gad either for a Troop, or Fortune, we must make two words of Bagad, as the Maforites do, and take 2 to fignifie as much as N2, according as we translate it, A Troop cometh, or Good Fortune cometh. But I fee no neceffity of this, for taking Gad for a Troop, it may be fimply translated, With a Troop; a Troop shall follow this, i.e. a great many more Children. And it must be confessed that Jacob in his Bleffing, XLIX. 19. doth allude to this fignification of the word, which I doubt not is the truest. For Gad, or Gada never denotes Fortune any where, but in the Targum of Onkelos and Jonathan, and among the Rabbins who follow them : And therefore this may be lookt upon as a later not the ancient fignification of the word.

Ver. 14. In the days of Wheat-harvest.] Which Verse 14began at Pentecost, when the First-Fruits of it were offered; as Barley-harvest began at the Passover.

Mandrakes.] In the Hebrew the word is Dudaim : Which here fignifies the Fruit of a Tree or Plant, (whatfoever it be) and in the Book of Canticles VII. 13. it fignifies the Flowers; and thefe are the only two places where this word is found in the Bible. Which Job Ludolphus gives many reafons to prove, cannot fignifie a Mandrake : For the Flowers of that have a bad fmell, and the Fruit of it a bad tafte. And therefore after great variety of Opinions, he concludes it to be that which in Syria they call Manz: Which is an excellent fort of Fruit, growing upon a Plant, in the top of which there are great Bunches of it, like a Cucumer. From whence he fanfies this I i i Chapter Fruit was anciently called Dudaim : From the He-

426

- XXX. brew word Dud, which fignifies, propinquas cognatus, amicus, a Neighbour, Kinsman, or Friend. Such were these Dudaim, which he calls Cognatos aut patrueles ab una stirpe profestos, vide Comment. in L. I. Histor. Æthiop. cap. 9. n. 72.
- Verle 15. Ver. 15. Taken away my Husband.] It feems he had eftranged himfelf, for fome time, from Leab's Bed, out of his great Love to Rachel, or becaufe he took little Delight in her. Or, Rachel's envy at her having fo many Children, when fhe her felf had none; made her contrive ways to keep him from Leab.
- Verse 16. Ver. 16. Thou must come into me, &c.] I cannot think of any good Reason, either of this Contention among Jacob's Wives for his Company, or their giving him their Maids to be his Wives, or for Moles his taking fuch particular notice of all this; but only the earnest Desire they had to fulfil the Promise made to Abraham, That his Seed should be as the Stars of Heaven for Multitude; and that in one Seed of his (the Meffiah) all the Nations of the Earth should be bleffed. It had been below the Dignity of fuch a Sacred Hiftory, as this is, to relate fuch things, if there had not been fomething of great Confideration in them. And what can that be, but chiefly the Birth of the bleffed Seed ; which was the Object of the Hopes of all pious people in those Days. For it is evident, both by Rachel and her Sister, that it was Children they defired, and not meerly the Company of their Husbands : As it here follows.
- Verse 17. Ver. 17. God hearkened to Leah.] To her earnest Prayer, or vehement Desire : And gave her another Son.

Ver.

Ver. 18. God hath given me my hire.] I purchafed Chapter my Husband's Company, and God hath repayed me, XXX. by the Gift of another Son. Unto which the adds Verfe' 18. a further Reflection: as if this was the Reward of Verfe' 18. her Kindnefs to her Husband, in beftowing her Maid upon him, to be his Wife.

Ver. 19. Conceived again.] The birth of this Son Verse 19. begat a greater Kindnels between them; and made him less a stranger to her Bed.

Ver. 20. God hath endowed me with a good Dowry.] Verle 20. By reftoring her Husband to her, and beftowing new Fruitfulnels upon her : For the had cealed to bear, XXIX. ult.

Ver. 21. Dinah.] No reason is given of her Name: Verse 21. But it seems to have the same with that of Rachel's First-born by Bilhah, verse 6. For, as if she had now got the better of Rachel, she calls this Child by a Name, importing Judgment.

Ver. 22. God remembred Rachel.] He would not Verfe 22. have Leah infult over her, nor triumph too much; and therefore bleffed Rachel with a Son out of her own Womb. For that was to remember her.

Ver. 24. Joseph.] His Name seems to have been Verse 24. taken both from ending her Reproach, which she mentions before, verse 23. The LORD hath taken away (Asaph) the Hebrew word is) my reproach: And from adding another Son to this.

God shall add to me another Son.] This was a great Expression of her Faith ; more than we find in all the former Births.

Ver. 25. Send me away.] It is plain, by this, that the Verle 25. feven Years Service for Rachel were now finished; just when Joseph was born: And therefore he defires to be dismissed, having lived with him fourteen Years.

Iii 2

To

427

ACOMMENTART

Chapter To my own Place, and to my Country.], i.e. To his XXX. Father's Houfe in Canaan: Which was his Country, because he was born there.

428.

- ^{26.} Ver. 26. For thou knoweft what fervice I have done thee.] He appeals to himfelf, whether he had not ferved him with all Diligence and Fidelity: And therefore deferved to be difmiffed after fuch long Labours.
- Werfe 27. Ver. 27. I have learned by experience.] Or, as the Ancients understood the word Nichashti, I have found by Divination: And Aben-Ezrathinks he learnt it by confulting with his Teraphim. But there needed no such advice with them; the thing was plain in it felf, that he had brought Prosperity along with him into his House.
- Verle 29. Ver. 29. Thou knowest how I have served thee.] With how much Care and Fidelity, as he had admonished him before, verse 26.

And how thy Cattle was with me] How they profpered under my Care.

- Verle 30, Ver. 30. Bleffed thee fince my coming.] So St. Hierom explains the Hebrew Phrale, at my Foot: Ever fince I fet my Foot within thy Doors; or, fince I entred into thy Service. Othersexpound it, Where-foever I went, or by my leading thy Flock. But Maimonides fays this Phrale, Leragli (at my Foot) fignifies, because of me, for my sake. And fo he explains the like Phrale, XXXIII. 14. P. I. More Nevoch.cap.28.
- Verfe 31. Ver. 31. Thou shalt not give me any thing, &c.] I will take nothing of thee at present; but make this following Bargain with thee, for the future.
- Verle 32. Ver. 32. All the speckled and spotted, &c.] In this place, and in XXXI. 10. there are four distinct words used to express what should be his.

The

The first of them is Nakod, which we well tran-Chapter flate fpeckled. For the word fignifies little Points or XXX. Pricks, which the Greeks.call signate: As many have observed; particularly Bochart in his Hierozoic. P. I. L. II. c. 45.

The fecond is Talu, which fignifies broader and larger Spots; which we frequently fee in Cattle.

The next is Akod, which fignifies fpotted with divers Colours : But most properly, Spots, or rather Circles, or Rings about the Feet or Legs (which we translate Ring-straked) so Symmachus renders it λ Sinoradas, white-footed : And Onkelos and Jonathan, having Marks on their Feet; rather Lists round their Legs or Feet; for the word denotes binding or twisting about any thing.

And then the last word Barud signifies whitis Spots like Hail. For Barud, in Hebrew, is Hail.

This shall be my hire.] He doth not mean, that those Cattle which were already speckled and spotted, &c. should be given him : For that doth not agree with what went before, thou shalt not give me any thing, (i. e. I will take nothing that is now thine) and befides, it would have been no wonder, if those that were spotted already, should bring forth others like to themselves. Thereofre the Sence is, That he would separate all the Spotted Sheep and Goats; and then out of those which were of one Colour, he would have all that should prove hereafter at all marked with any of the fore-mentioned variety. Now this was a thing fo unlikely to happen, that Laban, in the next Verfe, embraces the motion very greedily: Thinking that white or black Cattle, would ? bring forth none but fuch as were like themfelves.

4:9

A COMMENTARY.

Chapter Ver. 33. So shall my Righteousness, &c.] This fe-XXX. paration being made, it would appear that if he had any spotted, they were not taken from Laban's Flock ; Verse 23, but given to him by God out of them, as a Reward of his honest Diligence.

Verfe 34. Ver. 34. I would it might be according to thy word.] He thought this fo good a Bargain, that he was afraid Facob would not stand to it.

Verse 35. Ver. 35. Into the hands of his Sons.] i.e. of Laban's Sons, who were now grown up : Though, perhaps, when Jacob first came to him, they were fo little as not to be able to look after the Flocks; which his Daughter therefore fed, XXIX. 9. As for Jacob's Sons, the eldeft of them was scarce seven Years old; and therefore could not be fit for fuch Employment. Laban therefore went and separated the Spotted Cattle from the reft; and then, left Facob fhould get any of them to mix with those of one Colour, he committed tham to his own Sons, to be fed apart by themselves: And, as it follows in the next Verse, made a distance of three days journey, between the one and the other; that none might be in danger to stray the Flock which was fed by 7acob: Unto whole Care were committed all that had no Spots at all.

420

Verse 36. Ver. 36. Set three days journey, &c.] That they might be sure, not to come near, so much as to see one another.

Ver. 37. Of the Hafel.] The Hebrew word Luz Verfe 27. fignifies an Almond, as Bochart proves at large, out of a great many Authors. And therefore St. Hierom here rightly translates it, Virgas Amygdalinas. And the Hebrew Interpreters, who will have it fignifie an Hasel-tree, confess that herein they depart from the Opinion Opinion of those that went before them. So Aben Chapter Ezra and Kimchi, who both acknowledge that the XXX. ancient Doctors expound it, Almon-rods.

431

And pilled white strakes in them.] He had three Ar-Verle 8. tifices to compaishis end. The first was this. To peel off the Bark from the Rods, at certain distances. till the white appeared between the Bark, which was of a different Colour. And these Rods, thus discoloured, he laid in the Channels of Water, at that time when the Cattle were wont to couple, (as it follows in the next Verse) that their Fancies might be painted with such divers Colours, as they faw in the Rods. See verse 40, 41.

Ver. 39. And the Flocks conceived before the Rods, Verle 39. and brought forth, &c.] The Greek Fathers afcribe this to the miraculous Operation of God, as Bochart obferves in his Hierozoic. P. I. L. II. cap. 49. But the Latin Fathers, particularly St. Hierom, look upon it as done by the natural Operation of the Imagination. For which he alledges the like thing done in Spain among Horfes and Mares : And brings Quinctilian and Hippocrates to justifie the like Conceptions in Women. Which he backs with a great Number of Authorities, out of Galen and other Writers: Who have observed indelible Marks, to have been imprefied upon Children, by the Objects that were prefented to their Mother's Imagination, at the time of her Conception.

And St. Auftin faysthe Egyptians, by the like Device with this of Jacob's, had ftill a new Apis, or Pied-Bull, to fucceed that which died : To whom they gave Divine Honour. But whatfoever Power there might be in natural Imagination to produce fuch Effects, it must be acknowledged that God gave an extra-

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter extraordinary Bleffing to this Contrivance: As appears by the Vision which Jacob fays he had, where-XXX. in God (who had directed him to this Invention) promised to give it success, XXXI. 10, 11, 12. For Beafts have very rarely fuch a ftrong and vehement Imagination, as produces such Effects ; unlefs it be moved by fome unufual Paffion. And therefore we must confess that God excited and stirred up their Imagination; which otherwife would not have wrought in that manner; at least, not in all the Catle. For, let any Shepherd now try this Device, and he will not find it do, what it did then by a Divine Operation. Vide G. Vollius, L. III. de Idolol. cap. 22.

432

Werfe 40. Ver. 40. And Jacob did Separate the Lambs, &c.] One Species is put for all : And the meaning is, That those young Cattle (whether Lambs, or Kids of the Goats, &c.) which were thus brought forth spotted, he did not fuffer to remain with the Flock of Laban; left he should fay that he did him wrong by letting themmix together, and fo bring forth spotted Cattle, (and perhaps he might alfo think that they looking upon Laban's one-coloured Cattle, might bring forth young ones like to them) But, inftead of this way of inriching himfelf, he had a fecond Artifice; which was to put the spotted Cattle, (produced by the former Device) foremost: So that Laban's Flock fhould always look upon them, and thereby be the more apt to conceive the like. And then it follows. in the end of this Verse.

He put his own Flocks by themselves, and put them not to Laban's Cattle.] Which looks like a repetition of what was faid in the beginning of the Verse: But the meaning is, that those which brought forth spotted. fpotted, by this fecond Artifice, he also put by them-Chapter felves; and fuffered them not to be mingled with La. XXX. ban's Cattle, as before he had separated those that were brought forth spotted, by looking upon the Rods.

Ver. 14. And it came to pass, when the stronger Cattle Verse 14. did conceive, that Jacob, &c.] This was his third Artifice: Which is thus expounded by the Chaldee and a great number of other Authors, (which may be feen in Bochart, P. I. Hierozoic. L. II. cap. 46.) that he laid the Rods before the Cattle only in the Springtime, when the Sun was ascending, and the Cattle lufty and vigorous: But let them alone when the Cattle 'came together in September, or the declenfion of the Year, (for they bred twice a Year in those Countries) at which time they were become more feeble. If he had always laid the Rods before the Cattle, there might have been none but spotted, and fo Laban have been quite impoverished. Therefore he chose to do it only in their first and prime Copulation, which was in the Spring-time : And omitted it in the latter, which was in the Autumn. Our famous Mr. Mede follows this Interpretation, Discourse XLV. p. 355. But there is no certainty in it : For Pliny and Columella prefer these begot in Autumn, to those begot in the Spring. And therefore our Translation is most proper, which represents Facob, as using this Artifice, of laying the Rods before them, only when the stronger Cattle came together; and not when the weaker. And fo the LXX. understood the words, without respect to the former or latter breed : And fo the Hebrew words import, as Bochartus shows in the place before named, p. 514.

Ver.

A COMMENTARY.

434 Chapter XXXI.

Ver. 42. And the Man increased exceedingly, &c. 7 Some have made it a question, whether he got all this Riches honeftly; because Laban did not think of his Verle 43. using any Art, but only of bare calual Productions. But, as what was not directly against the Contract. may be thought to be allowed by it; foit is certain that Jacob might lawfully take what God bestowed upon him : Who feems to have directed him by an Angel to use this Artifice; or, at least, testified his Approbation of it : Intending to transfer unto Jacob the Wealth of Laban, as he gave the Riches of the Egyptians to the Israelites. For the World is his, and the Fulnels thereof : And he may dispose of every thing in it, as he pleases.

Maid-Servants, &c.] To look after his Cattle : and after his Camels and Affes, which he also purchased.

CHAP. XXXI.

Verse 1. Ver. 1. HE heard the words of Laban's Sons.] Who uttered fuch discontented or threatning Speeches, as made him fear they would fall upon him and do him mischief. This was the first Cause of his resolved flight.

> Hath taken away all that was our Father's.] They speak of him, as if he had been a Thief : which made him suspect they would use him accordingly.

All this Glory.] All these Riches, verse 16.

Ver. 2. And Jacob beheld the Countenance of Laban, &c. 7 This was the fecond Caufe of his Refolution tion to be gone; That he faw by Laban's looks things Chapter were not likely to go well with him if he stayed any XXXI. longer.

Verse 2.

Ver. 3. And the LOR D faid unto Jacob, &c.] This Verle 3. was the third Caule, the Divine Majesty appeared to him, and bad him be gone. And ashe had his Warrant, fo he seals it with his Promise to protect him in his Return to his own Country.

Ver. 4. Jacob fent and called Rachel and Leah.] Verle 4. Rachel is first mentioned as his chief Wife: for so she was in his designment: And so the Posterity of Leab afterward acknowledged, naming her first in the Blessing of Ruth, 1V. 11.

To the Field unto his Flock.] That he might difcourse them privately : Fearing also, it is likely, that he might be seized by Laban and his Sons, if he went to the House.

Ver. 5. The God of my Fathers hath been with me.] Verle 5. Hath appeared to me, (verse 3.) and bid me not fear your Father.

Ver. 6. With all my power.] I have omitted nothing Verse 6. that I could do, to promote his Interest.

Ver. 7. Hath deceived me.] Dealt unjustly with Verse 7. me, in not standing to his Agreement.

Changed my Wages ten times.] i.e. Very often; as many interpret it from like Expression in other places, particularly Lewit. XXVI. 26. where ten Women are put for a great number of Women. But others think that he really changed his Wages, just ten times. For he ferved him fix Years, after he made the Agreement with him, mentioned in the foregoing Chapter, verse 31, &c. And the first Year he stood to his Bargain: But seeing him thrive exceedingly, he altered the form of their Covenants, Kkk 2 at the end of that Year. And in like manner, every half Year, when the Ews brought forth young ones. (which they did twice a Year) and he faw them (potted ; he broke his Contract, and made a new one, lefs advantageous to Jacob : Sometimes restraining it to one fort of Cattle, sometimes to another : And not letting him have the whole benefit of his Contract. Which is not at all improbable : For Jacob mentions his ill dealing with him in the very fame words, verfe 41. And in the next Verse to this he relates how Laban would fometimes let him have only the fpeckled; at another time, none but the ring-straked; and fo we may suppose of the rest. See this explained by St. Hierom in Quaft. Hebr. and by St. Austin, 2. XCV. in Gen.

ACOMMENTART

But God suffered him not to burt me.] To defraud me of my Wages, by these changes which he made in them.

426

Chapter

XXXI.

Verle 9. Ver. 9. Thus hath God taken away, &c.] He prudently conceals his own Artifice, and only relates what hand God had in the business, (which indeed was the Chief, for without his Bleffing it could not have pro-Spered) for fear perhaps that they fhould any way divulge it, and bring him into danger with Laban. For every Body cannot keep a Secret, (the Hebrews make too severe and foolish Reflections on Women upon this occasion) and his whole Estate depending on this, he thought it best to keep it to himself for the present.

Verle 10. Ver. 10. It came to pass, at the time the Cattle con-ceived, &c.] to confirm them in the Opinion, that the hand of God had transferred all the Riches of their Father unto him ; he relates what was represented to him in a Dream. The

The Rams that leaped, &c.] He beh id them fuch, Chapter as he had agreed to have for his Hire; and therefore XXXI. likely to produce others fpotted, and ftriked, like themfelves. According to the common Observation of the Poet:

Sic catulos canibus similes, sic matribus hædos.

For in the Hebrew the words ring-firaked and fpeckled, may be referred to the Ews as well as to the Rams! And it is probable he had this Vision before he made his Agreement with Laban; whereby he was directed to the Artifice of which he made use: Or, else God represented to him afterward, that he approved it, and would make it fuccessful.

Grizled.] This word (Barud) is not used before := But I took notice of it in the foregoing Chapter, verse 32. that it fignifies as much as great white or grey Spots, like to Hail-stones. It is just the quite contrary to Naked, speckled or sprinkled, with little black Spots, which were upon the Sheep that were white : As these were whitish or grissed Spots, upon those that were black.

Ver. 11. And the Angel of God spake unto me, &c.] In the Name of God, as his Ambassadour : God being Verse 11. supposed to be present, where his Angels, who are his Retinue, are faid to appear, as I have often noted. See XXVIII. 17.

Ver. 12. Lift up now thine eyes.] He said verse 10, Verse 12. that he did lift up his Eyes : Therefore the meaning here is, Observe now, and mark what thou seest.

I have seen all that Laban doth unto thee.] Taken such notice of it, that I will do thee Right.

Ver'

437

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 13. I am the God of Bethel.] It is plain by XXXI. this, that though the Angel only appeared, verle 11. yet God himfelf was prefent and remembred him, how Verse 13. he had appeared unto him in Bethel, XXVIII. 11, 12, &c. and how Jacob had anointed the Pillar, and vowed avow unto him. So Maimonides expounds it ; for Facob, no doubt, faith he, made the Vow to God. and not to the Angel: And therefore the Angel (as he understands it) speaks here in the Name of God and not of himself, More Nevoch. P. 1. cap. 27 See Chapter II. 11, 15. But I fee no reafon why we should not suppose the Divine Majesty himself to have appeared also, as he did at Bethel : When 7acob faw the Angels afcending and defcending upon the Ladder, and the LOR D himfelf standing at the top, and speaking to him, as he doth here. For upon a ferious Confideration of all the Circumstances, this Vision, here mentioned, seems to me to be diftinct from what was represented by an Angel in a Dream, verse II. For he had that it is evident, at the beginning of his last fix Years Service; this, at the conclusion of them : But he puts them both together, because they belong to the same Matter.

And God now remembers his Vow, to flow him that he was well-pleafed with it; and to excite him to perform it, when he had brought him (as he affures him he would) to that place again.

Verse 14. Ver. 14. Rachel and Leab answered, &c.] They immediately confented to go along with him ; and not fo much as to acquaint their Father with it : For they knew he would give them nothing.

> Is there any Portion, &c.] We shall get nothing by staying with him : The reason of which follows.

> > Ver.

Ver. 15. Are we not counted as Strangers? &c.] He Chapter hath not dealt with us as if we were his Children: XXXI. But as if we were of fome other Family; whom he had bought, and fold again.

Sold us.] Not fo much giving us in Marriage; as felling us for the Price of Jacob's Labour.

Quite devoured our Money,] Kept to himfelf all the Money he got by thy Service; and given us not a Farthing of it.

Ver. 16. For all the Riches, &c.] God hath but Verle 16. given us that which was our own : And therefore thou maist lawfully keep it, and go away with it.

Ver. 17. Jacob rose up.] Prepared himself for the Verse 17. Journey.

And set his Sons.] As was but needful :: Reuben his eldeft, being scarce fourteen Years old; and Joseph his youngeft, scarce fix.

Upon Camels.] They used to ride upon Camels in the East-Country; especially when they made long Journeys. See XXIV. 10.

Ver. 18. He carried away all his Cattle.] But no-Verle 18. thing of Laban's; as Josephus, without any reason, fansies.

Ver. 19. Laban went to shear his Sheep.] Which gave Verse 19. Jacob the better opportunity to escape, whilft he was buffe about that; and feasting, perhaps, his Shearers.

And Rachel had ftolen.] In all likelyhood his Wivesreturned to the Houfe, to fetch what they had left there, when Jacob fent to speak with them in the Field, (verse 4.) and then Rachel took away these Images.

The Images that her Father had] These Images in the Hebrew are called TERAPHIM: Of which we

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter we read very often, afterward, in the Holy Scripture. XXXI. Mercer and Simeon de Muis take it for an exotick word: But others derive it from the Hebrew word Rapha, which fignifies to cure or heal; as if thefe were lookt upon as Salvatores, Saviours and Deliverers, or Prefervers from Milchief.

440

There are other Derivations, of which there is no certainty : But most agree they were a kind of Penates, as the Romans called them, Houshold Goods : In which style Laban speaks of them, when he says, verse 30. Wherefore hast thou stolen my Gods? But it is a great Question among the Hebrew Doctors, Whether in these ancient Times, they worshipped them as Gods. or only used them as Instruments of Divination; as Mr. Selden observes, de Diis Syris Syntagm. I. cap. 2. Where he shows, that several of the Hebrew Doctors take them to have been Figures in Humane shape. (I Sam. XIX. 12.) made by Astrologers to be capable (as they fansied) of the heavenly Influences. And for this reason, they think, Rachel stole them, that Laban might not enquire by them, which way Jacob and his Family were gone. Hottinger also hath many ingenious Arguments to prove, that they were the same with the Arabian Talismans, in after times : which were Images made under fuch or fuch Constellations, to receive the heavenly Influences : Either to be a Phylactery, or an Oracle. See L. I. Histor. Orient. cap. 8.

But the Conjecture of Lud. de Dieu upon this place, feems to me far more probable, that they were the Reprefentations of some Angelical Powers, (Teraphim and Seraphim being the very same, by the change only of a Letter) who, they imagined, declared the Mind of God, by them. For, in those CounCountries where the SCHECHINAH, or Pre-Chapter sence of the Divine Majesty did not appear, as it did. XXXI. in Abraham's Family, they had at least some Tradition of it, and of the Angels that were its Attendants: The refemblance of which they made, in hope they might by that means have a Communication with them, and gain Intelligence from Heaven. Of which, evil Spirits made their Advantage; and abused Mankind by the lying Answers they gave to their Enquiries. For there is no reason to think that God allowed, much lefs appointed the making of thefe Teraphim: Which Gaffarel adventures to fay, were Pioully used before the Law of Moses, and God manifested his Mind and Will by them. This had been to lead Men into Idolatry, by Image-worthip: Unto which they were too prone of themselves.

Expolitors differ very much about Rachel's Intention in stealing them. Some fansie, she still retained a tang of Superstition: But I take it to be more likely, that facob, who loved her extreamly, and was no less beloved by her, had brought her off from the false Notions and bad Customs of her Country. And then she did not carry them away, for fear Laban fhould enquire by them, which way they were gone: (for the knew they were but vain Idols, which could give no Direction) But, rather defigned to convince her Father of his Superstition ; by letting him fee, that his Gods (as he called them) could not preferve themselves, much less do any service to him. Or, perhaps, she intended to give her self some Portion of his Goods, which the thought juftly belonged to her: And fo took these Teraphim, which were of fome value (though finall Images) because they are generally supposed to have been made of Silver.

L11

Ver.

441

A COMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 20. Jacob stole away unawares.] Without the XXXI. knowledge of Laban. For the word Heart (as it is in the Hebrew) is here put for the Understanding and Verse 20. Will.

Laban the Syrian.] There being no neceffity of mentioning his Country, (which was well known from the preceding Story) fome think he is here called the Syrian, to denote that as cunning as he was, Jacob was too hard for him. For the Syrians, in ancient Authors, are obferved to have been a very crafty, fubtil People. But there is no certainty of this; there being a frequent redundance very obvious in this Language. See verfe 25.

Verse 21. Ver. 21. So he fled, &c.] Pack'd up his Baggage (as we now speak) and made all ready for a speedy flight: And (as it follows) rose up, and made all the haste he could to get over the River.

And passed over the River.] i. e. Euphrates, frequently called in Scripture, the River, in regard of its eminence.

Mount Gilead.] So called afterward, from what. Jacob and Laban did there, verse 48. Injoyned to Mount Libanus.

Verse 22. Ver. 22. On the third day.] There was such a distance between Jacob's Flock and his (XXXII. 36.) that he could not hear sooner: Especially when he was taken up with other business, (verse 19.) and did not make enquiry.

Verse 23. Ver. 23. Took his Brethren.] Some of his near Kindred.

They overtook him.] The Hebren word imports, They came close up to him.

Verse 24. Ver. 24. And God came to Laban the Syrian in a. Dream, &c.] See concerning this Expression, XX. 3.

Speak

442

Speak not to Jacob either good or bad.] About his Chapter return to thee. Unto which God charges him, he XXXI. should neither allure him by Promiles, nor affright him by Threats.

Ver. 25. Then Laban overtook Jacob.] This is a dif- Verse 25. ferent word from that in verse 23. fignifying he came near, or approached just to him : So that they might confer one with another.

Now Jacob had pitched his Tent, &c.] For Jacob and Laban had both pitched their Tents in the fame Mount: not far from one another. This Josephus thinks they had done, in the Evening; when Laban came up fo close to him, that if the Night had not parted them, they might then have difcourfed together : Which they did the next Morning, when they came nearer one to another; after God had warned Laban not to ftop his Journey.

Here Gilead is redundant, as the word Syrian was before in verse 20, 24.

Ver. 26. As Captives taken with the Smord.] As Prizes Verle 26. in War; which are wont to be carried off with force and violence.

Ver. 28. Thou haft now done foolifly in so doing. Verse 28. He feems to pretend, that he would have been very kind to him, if they had parted with mutual Confent: And would have him think he had loft by ftealing away, not only the Mulick and Merriment, (before-mentioned, verse 27.) but such Gifts as he would have bestowed upon him.

Ver. 29. The God of your Father Spake unto me, &c. Verse 29 There is no ground to think that the SCHECHI-NAH, or Divine Majesty appeared to him; for we do not read either here or verse 24. of his seeing any thing, but hearing one speak to him, and that in a Dream :

443

L11 2

ACOMMENTARY

444

Chapter Dream: Who told him, I suppose, that he was the XXXI. God of Isaac, and of Abraham. Or, if he faw a glo-

- rious Appearance, it was in his fleep only; not when he was awake.
- Verse 30. Ver. 30. Stolen my Gods.] See verse 19.
- Verfe 31. Ver. 31. Because I was afraid.] This is an Anfwer to the first part of Laban's Exposulation, verse 26, 27, &c.
- Verse 32. Ver. 32. With whom soever thou findest, &c.] This is an Answer to the last part of it. From which some gather, that Thest was punished with death, in those days. Sacrilege perhaps was.
- Verse 33. Ver. 33. Laban went into Jacob's Tent, &c.] This shows that Men and Women had every one of them, their distinct Tents, apart by themselves; as was noted before, XXIV. ult.
- Verse 34. Ver. 34. Camels Furniture.] The Saddle upon which they rode, or laid their Carriage.
 - Searched all their Tent.] Except that place where the fat.
- Verse 35. Ver. 35. Let it not displease, &c.] She begs his Pardon that she did not stand up to do him Reverence, as became a Child to her Father: And excuses it, by an Infirmity which was upon her.

And he fearched.] He looked all about the place where the fat.

Verle 36. Ver. 36. Jacob answered and said, &c.] He proceeded farther in his Answer; and expostulates with Laban, as he had done with him: Setting forth the causses of his Pursuit, the injustice of Charging him with Theft, and all his unkind usage of him, from the time he came to him, till his Departure; notwithstanding his faithful Services, which he represents most admirably.

Ver. 38. Thy Ews and She-Goats have not caft their Chapter young.] I lookt to carefully after them, and fuch was XXXI. the Bleffing of God upon my Care, none of them milcarried. A moft high Commendation of his Ser-Verle 38. vice. Who would not have valued fuch a Servant, for whole fake God beftowed fuch an unwonted Fecundity upon Laban's Flock ?

The Rams of thy Flock have I not eaten.] Under Rams are comprehended the Lambs also: For if he had eaten any of them, it had been no great Commendation to abstain from the Rams. But he contented himself with Pulse, or such like mean Diet, to promote his Master's Profit.

Ver. 39. That which was torn of Beasts, &c.] And Verse 39. that also which was stolen by Thess, was not brought to Laban's Account; but Jacob made them good. Which was not only an unjust exaction, but an inhumane: For the most careful Shepherd in the World could not have his Eye every where, to prevent such things, especially in the dark; as it follows.

Whether ftolen by day or by night.] A most barbarous usage of a Nephew, and a Son-in-law, to make him pay for that which wild Beasts devoured, or Thieves stole against his will; when no Body could fee their approach in the Night. Some question where facob got Money to pay for them. But itis to be confidered, that he did not come quite unprovided, from his Father's House; with which alio, we may reasonably think, he still held some Correspondence.

Ver. 40. Thus was I, in the day the drought, &c.] Verse 40. -While I ferved thee, the Heat confumed me in the Day-time, and the Frost nipt me by Night. For in those.

A COMMENTART

Chapter those Countries Shepherds were wont to watch their XXXI. Flocks; especially about the time that Ews were likely to yean: As we read Luke II. 8. See Bochart in his Hierozoic. P. I. L. II. cap. 44.

445

My Sleep departed from mine Eyes.] Many times he took no reft; being awakned by wild Beaft, or by Thieves, or kept awake by his great folicitude for his Flock.

- Verse 41. Ver. 41. Thus have I been Twenty Years in thy House.] This hath been my manner of life, for no less than twenty Years, that I have been a Servant in thy Family.
- Verle 42. Ver. 42. The fear of Ifaac.] The God whom Ifaac feared; that is, worthipped : As the Chaldee interprets it.

Thou hadst sent me away now empty.] Without Goods, Wives or Children: For he seems to have been so barbarous, that if he had been left to himself, he would have made them all his Slaves.

God hath feen my affliction.] How ill thou hast treated me; and taken care to relieve me. For fo the word feen signifies in many places; particularly, XVI. 13.

Werfe 43. Ver. 43. These Cattle are my Cattle, &c.] Because they belonged to his Daughters, and their Children, therefore he calls them his. That is, now he is in a good mood, and pretends the same Care of every thing that Jacob had, as if it were his own. So it follows.

> And what can I do this day unto these my Daughters? &c.] How can I do them any harm, when they are so very dear to me?

Verse 44. Ver. 44. Let us make a Covenant, &c.] Enter into a strict League, by some Monument or other : that that shall remain as a Testimony of our Friend-Chapter ship. XXXI.

Ver. 45. Set it up for a Pillar.] For a Monument of Verle 45. What Laban defired.

Ver. 46. Jacob faid to his Brethren gather Stones, &c.] Verle 46. He prays every one, whom Laban had brought with him, to bring a Stone; and they did fo, and laid them together on an heap; which was flat at the top like a Table: So that they did eat upon it the next Morning, verfe 54.

Ver. 47. Laban called it Jegar-Sahadutha, &c.] One Verle 47. of them gave it a Syriac Name, fignifying the heap of Testimony: The other an Hebrew, fignifying the heap of Witness. For Gal is an Heap in Hebrew, and Ed, a Witness. These two Languages were different: But not so much that they did not understand one another, as appears by the whole Story.

Ver. 48. This beap is a Witness between me and thee Verse 48. this day.] It shall remain as a Monument, that we agree; not to transgress these Bounds, as it is explained, verse 52.

Ver. 49. Mizpah.] A Watch-Tower. This shows Verse 49. that Laban understood Hebrew as well as Syriac: Or, rather, that these were two Dialects: Which differed in pronunciation, and in many words, (as those mentioned verse 47.) but in most, had the same common to them both.

The LORD watch between me and thee.] Observe how we behave our selves, when we cannot see one another. Here he uses the Name of Jehovah; which shows he was acquainted with the Religion of Jacob, as well as his Language; and worthipped, it's likely, the LORD of Heaven and of Earth; though not without some superstitious mixtures.

447

A COMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 50. If thou shalt afflict my Daughter, &c.] It XXXI. seems to be a short form of Speech, importing; God who observes all things will punish thee for it. Verse 50. If they take other Wigges helides my Daughters]

If thou take other Wives besides my Daughters.] Which might have been worse for them and their Posterity: And therefore he lays this restraint upon him.

No Man is with us, &c.] Though here be no Man befides our felves, to be Witnels of this Agreement; yet, confider that God (which is infinitely more) knows it, and will punish him that transgreffes it.

In these two last Verses, he discourses very Religiously; which revived also his natural Affection to his Children.

Verse 52. Ver. 52. This heap be witness, and this Pillar be witness, &c.] It seems that Laban and his Company set up an Heap, made of the Stones which every one brought; and Jacob set up one single large Stone (verse 45.) in the form of a Pillar. And, it's likely, his Pillar lookt towards the Land of Canaan; and their Heap towards Haram.

That I will not pass over this heap, &c.] As Stones were fet in the Confines of Fields to be Boundaries, and Land-marks (as we call them) to diftinguish Mens Possefilions, and limit them from incroaching one upon another: So were this Heap, and this Pillar intended to be in the nature of such Boundaries; beyond which neither of them should pass armed, to offend the other.

Verle 52.

448

Ver. 53. The God of Abraham, and the God of Nahor.] These two were Brethren, (for he doth not mean, fure, their Grand-father, the Father of Terab, XI. 24.) and before Abraham, was called out of Zr, they both worshipped other Gods, Josh XXIV.2. But But then Abraham renounced those Gods, and wor-Chapter (hipped only the Creator of Heaven and Earth. As XXXI. Nahor, I have formerly conjectured, also did; when he followed him to Haran. Therefore, I think, we need not make a question by which of Abraham's Gods Laban now swears: For I take him to have been bred up in the true Religion, which made Abraham defire his Son should have a Wife out of his Family; for which reason Isaac also sent Jacob hither.

The God of their Father.] As much as to fay, by the God of our Ancestors: Who, after God's appearing to Abraham and calling him out of his own Country, became the Worshippers of the LORD of Heaven and Earth alone. See XI. 31.

Jacob swear by the fear of his Father Isaac.] By him whom Isaac worshipped, verse 42. He mentions the fear of Isaac rather than the God of Abraham; to declare more plainly and undoubtedly, by what God he sware. For Abraham had been an Idolater; but Isaac never was.

Ver. 54. Jacob offered Sacrifice.] Peace-Offerings, Verle 54. (as they were afterward called) part of which were eaten by him that offered them, and by his Friends. This further flows they were of the fame Religion, by their partaking of the fame Sacrifice : Which Jacob no doubt offered to the True God.

Called his Brethren to eat Bread.] Invited them to Feast with him upon that Sacrifice : Whereby they confirmed the Covenant lately made between them.

Ver. 55. Laban bleffed them.] Prayed God to pre-Verle 55. ferve and prosper them.

Returned to his place.] Viz. Haran.

Mmm

CHAP.

449

ACOMMENTARY

450 Chapter XXXII

CHAP. XXXII.

Verse 1. Ver. 1. HE Angels of God met him.] To incourage and comfort him, with the affurance that God was with him. This is a remarkable Paffage, showing the fingular Care God had of him: Who, as he appeared to him when he went from Canaan; fo now appeared to him again in his return thither; that he might depend upon the Promise he then made him, XXVIII. 13, 14, 15.

Ver. 2. This is God's hoft.] Which attend upon the Verse 2. SCHECHINAH, or Divine Majesty; to execute his Commands.

> Mahanaim.] i. e. Two Hofts, or Camps, as it is in the Margin. Either, because there were several Squadrons (as we speak) of the Angels; drawn up like an Army, ready for his defence: Or, because, besides his own Family, which was pitched here in order like a Camp, there was that of the Angels alfo. The former seems most probable, because this Name relates to God's Hoft, mentioned before; which confisted of several Troops of Angels.

Verle 2.

Ver. 3. And Jacob Sent Messengers before him, &c. 7 As he was about to pass over Jordan (verse 10.) he feat some to wait upon his Brother.

Unto the Land of Seir.] Which Efan, it feems, had conquered in Jacob's absence, according to the Bleffing of his Father, XXVII. 40. By thy Sword shalt thom live. This Jacob thought fit to congratulate to him ; and at the same time to try how he stood affected towerds himself.

The

The Country of Edom.] So it was called in Moses Chapter his time. XXXII.

Ver. 4. Thus fhall ye speak to my Lord Esan.] He calls him his Lord, that he might mollifie his Anger, Verse 4. if any remained, by humble Language. Which sounded as if he had no thoughts of the Birth-right he had purchased of him. This also was the Style wherein others addressed themselves to Esan, after he had won the Principality of Seir.

Thy fervant Job.] These are submissive words also, importing his Inferiority.

I have sojourned with Laban, &c.] This hath the fame defign with the foregoing words; to infinuate that he was much inferior to Esau; having been a Servant a long time to Laban.

Ver. 5. And I have Oxen, &c.] Yet he adds this, Verle 5. That he was plentifully provided for, left Efan fhould think he came a begging, and might prove a burden to him; fo the Hebrews understand it. And Maimonides observes that he mentions only Oxen, Asses, and Flocks, (i. e. of Sheep and Goats) because these were the common Posses of all Men, and in all Countries, that had any thing. But Horses and Camels, were not ordinary Goods, but the Possesson of a few great Persons, and in some Countries only. More Nevochim, Par. III. cap. 39. Jacob indeed had Camels (verse 7, 15. and XXXI. 17.) but, it is likely, they were not many, and he had no great breed of them.

Men-Scrvants and Maid-Servants.] These were a part of their Posses of Servants.] These were a which they bought and fold; and were no where more plentiful than in Syria, (from whence Jacob came) if it were then such a Country, as it Mmm 2 was

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter was in after times, when the Roman Writers say, XXXII. they were fervituti nati, born to flavery.

> That I may find grace in thy fight.] He courts his Friendship, and defires he would favour him, and not hinder him in his Passage to their old Father.

Verle 6 Ver. 6. We came to thy Brother Efau, and also he cometh to meet thee.] They reported, no doubt, what he reply'd to Jacob's Meffage; and this coming to meet bim fignifies, that he gave them a civil reception: And pretended, at least, to be glad to hear of his Brother's return; and therefore prepared to come and welcome him into his own Country.

> Four hundred Men with him.] Nobly attended; partly to fhow his Greatness, and partly to do honour to Jacob by a Publick Salutation.

Verse 7.

452

Ver. 7. Then Jacob was greatly afraid, &c.] Being confcious to himfelf what caufe Efau had not to love him. He interpreted his coming to meet him, with fuch a Number, otherwife than it was reprefented. The Vision of Angels indeed, who meet him, (verse 1.) might have fortified him against all fear of Esau's meeting him : But the first Motions of such Passions cannot always be prevented.

He divided the People that were with him, &c.] Put his Family and all belonging to him, in as good a. Pofture, as he was able.

Verle 9.

Ver. 9. O God of my Father Abraham, &c.] As he had prudently disposed all things for the prefervation of his Family, at least of some of them : So he address himself to God, (of whose Goodness both Abraham and Ifaac had had very long experience) without whose Favour, he knew the Angels themfelves could do nothing for him. For they are his Host, verse 2. and act only by his Command.

Returns

Return unto thy Country.] He represents to God that Chapter he was in the way of Obedience to his Orders : And XXXII. then remembers him of his gracious Promise, I will considered deal well with thee.

Ver. 10. I am not worthy, &c.] Next, he acknow-Verle 10. ledges what God had done for him already; and how unworthy he was of the smallest part of it.

With my Staff.] As a poor Traveller, having no more than I could carry about me. Travellers ufed Staffs then, as they do now; for their Eafe, and for their Defence.

Ver. 11. The Mother with the Children.] i.e. My Verse 11. whole Family: Which could not confist with God's Promise, mentioned in the next Verse.

Ver. 12. As the Sand of the Sea.] The words of Verle 12. God's Promife are as the dust of the Earth, XXVIII. 14. But that fignified the fame with what God had faid to Abraham, XXII. 17. which this Promise authorized him to apply to himself, as the Seed whom he intended to bless.

Ver. 13. He lodged there.] i.e. In Mahanaim, or Verle_13. thereabouts: Where he hoped God would command the Angels, which he had feen, to protect him.

And took of that which came to his hand, &c.] According to this Translation, he took what he first light upon, without any choice; being still in a Paffion of Fear. But the Hebrew Phrase Translate which was in his Hand, fignifies what was in h s Power to prefent him withal, viz. Such Cattle as are after mentioned; though he had no Jewels, or precious Raiment. And it appears that he chose them with great Consideration, in exact Proportions: For having commended himself, upon such good Grounds,

:0:

A COMMENTARY

Chapter to the Protection of the Almighty, his Fear va-XXXII. nished.

454

- Verse 14. Two hundred She-Goats, and twenty He-Verse 14. Goats, &c.] The Males bear the proportion of one to ten Females. And so it was in the Rams and Bulls; which was the proportion Varro faith was observed in his Days and Country. See Bochart in his Hierozoic. P. I. L. II. cap. 54.
- Verfe 15. Ver. 15. Milch Camels.] Who had lately foaled : For nothing was more delicious in those Countries (as Bochart observes out of Aristotle, Pliny, and many other Authors, Ib. lib. II. cap. 2.) than Camels Milk.
- Verfe 18. Ver. 18. It is a prefent.] With which he hoped to fweeten him; there being a great Power in Gifts to win Mens Hearts, even when they are difaffected: As the wife Man observes in many places, Prov. XVII. 8. XVIII. 16, &c.

And behold he is behind us.] He would not have $E \int au$ think that he was afraid to fee him.

- Verfe 19. Ver. 19. And fo he commanded the fecond, &c.] He therefore diffributed them into feveral Droves, that they might make a greater appearance; and that he might still be more and more pleased, with the Respect which was shown him, and the Present intended him. For every new Drove, and new Speech, made a new Impression upon him.
 - Verle 21. Ver. 21. Lodged that night in the company.] Or, Camp, i. e. where he pitched the Tents for his Family.
- [Verle 22. Ver. 22. He rose up that night.] Before it was Day; in the last Watch of the Night.

His Eleven Sons.] i. e. All his Children: For the Daughter is comprehended.

Palled

Paffed over the ford Jabbok.] This was a little Ri-Chapter ver, flowing from the Country of the Ammonites, XXXII. and falling into Jordan, where it comes out of the Lake of Genefareth. It was in one place fordable; and there Jacob first passed over himself, to try the depth of it.

Ver. 23. And he took them, and fent them over, &c.] Verse 23. Having tried the Ford, he returned : and caused them all to pass over : And so (as it follows) was left alone, on the East-side of the Brook.

Ver. 24. And there wrestled a Man with him.] He Verse 24. staid alone, in all likelihood, that he might commend himself and his Family to God, by earnest Prayer : Which feems to be confirmed by the Prophet Hofea, XII. 4. And as he was Praying, or when he had done, a Man encountred him, with whom he grapled ; taking him, perhaps, for fome of Efau's Attendants come to surprise him. For it was so dark, that he could not fee what kind of Countenance he had: Or, if he could, Angels were wont to appear fo like to Men, that at the first they did not discern the difference. Maimonides fansies all this was done in a Prophetick Vision, More Nevoch. P. II cap. 42. but the whole Narration confutes this. The only question is, whether this was a created Angel, or the Eternal AOTOZ, as many of the ancient Fathers understood it. Whose Opinion is opposed by St. Austin. (as I observed upon the XVIII. Chapter) and feems to me not fo probable, as that this Angel was one of God's Hoft, mentioned verse 2. sent from the SCHECHINAH, or Divine Majesty : By whose Order, and in whole Presence, he strove with Jacob, in such manner, as is here described. In short, I take him to be one of those whom the Jews call Angels Chapter Angels of the Presence; that wait continually upon XXXII. the Divine Majesty, and make a part of his Retinue. See XXXV. 10.

He touched the hollow of his Thigh.] The Angel gave over the Combat; but made him know, by this light touch, what he could have done, if he had pleafed, i. e. quite overthrown him, as eafily as he made him go limping. This difcovered to Jacob that he was more than a Man, who wrestled with him: And that he had not prevailed against him by his own Strength; but by the Power of God.

The hollow of Jacob's Thigh was out of joynt.] The Thigh Bone flipt out of the Cavity, or Socket, into which it was inferted.

Werfe 26. Ver. 26. And he faid, Let me go.] Though the Angel ceafed to wreftle any longer, yet Jacob would not let go his hold: And, the more to fet off his Victory, the Angel feems not to be able to break from him, without his Confent.

For the Day breaks.] It is time for thee to follow thy Family over the Brook.

And he faid, I will not let thee go, except thou blefs me.] By this it plainly appears, Jacob began to understand who he was.

Verle 27. Ver. 27. What is thy Name?] / The Angel doth not yet own his Quality; but speaks as if he were unacquainted with Jacob.

Ver.

456

Verse 25. Ver. 25. And when he faw that he prevailed not against him.] Though Jacob, no doubt, was extraordinarily strengthned by God, in this Combat, (Hosea XII. 5.) yet the Angel who represented God, could have prevailed against him, if his Orders had not been to let Jacob have the better.

Ver. 28. Thy Name shall be called no more Jacob, Chapter but Ifrael.] i. e. Not only Jacob, (as this Expression XXXII. on is used 1 Sam. VIII. 7.) or not so much Jacob, which as Ifrael. Which Name abolished the other, in his Verse 28 Posterity: Who were called Ifraelites, but never Jacobites.

For as a Prince haft thou power with God, and with Men.] These words explain the End and Intention of this Combat; which was to show, That he having such Power with God, as to prevail over one of his Ministers, needed not fear his Brother Esau. So the Vulgar Latin expresses it, If thou hast been strong against God, how much more shalt thou prevail with Men ? And it is the Sence of our Translation, which more literally renders the Hebrew words, Thou hast behaved thy felf like a Prince (so the word Scharitha imports) with God, and with Men, &c. That is, hast showed fuch an Heroick Spirit (as we speak) in this Combat, that thou needest not fear Esau and all his followers. This Victory is an assure that thou shalt get the better of him.

There is no Body skilled in the Original Language, but eafily fees no other Derivation of the Name of Ifrael is to be fought for, but what is contained in this word Scharitha : Which gives the reason of it. For Sar, as St. Hierom observes, fignifies a Prince; and the Jod in the beginning, is the common note of a proper Name. So the meaning of Ifrael is as much as a Prince with God.

Ver. 29. Jacob askt him and said, Tell me, I pray Verse 29. thee, thy Name.] Jacob having told him his own Name, defires him to requite him in the same kind: That thereby he might more certainly know, whether he was an Angel or a Man. For these words Nnn feem

A COMMENTARY.

458 Chapter XXXII. n

feem to demonstrate, he did not think him to be God himfelf.

Wherefore dost thou ask after my Name?] Do not enquire after it. Rase thinks Angels changed their Names according to the Offices and Functions to which they were affigned.

And he bleffed him there.] Renewed the Bleffing which God had promifed to Abraham and his Seed : Whereby Jacob was fully fatisfied who he was. For he pronounced this Bleffing in the Name of God, from whom he came.

Verse 30. Ver. 30. I have seen God face to face.] Been admitted to the nearest Familiarity with him. For helookt upon this Angel, as a part of the SCHECHI-NAH; which now allo, it's likely, visibly appeared, and made him call this Place Peniel, the Face of God. Which doth not import that the SCHECHINAH appeared in an humane Figure, (for it never did) but that he lookt upon it as a Token of the Divine Prefence, and that it approached very near him; aswhen one Friend speaks to another face to face, as the ancient Phrase was.

> And my life is preferved.] This is commonly interpreted by the Opinion, which was in old time, that if they faw one of the heavenly Ministers, they were to be no longer Men of this World, but die presently. But it may refer (as Menochius observes) to the principal Scope of the Combat, which was to con-firm Jacob against the fear of Esau : And so the meaning is, I doubt not, I am fafe; God will preferve me. from any hurt by Elau.

Ver. 21. He halted upon his Thigh.] Because the Hip-Verse 21. Bone was out of its place. Many think this lasted only for a time : And fome will have it; that the Angel cured him before he gat to Efan. But there is Chapter no certainty of either of these Conjectures. XXXIII.

gel

Ver. 32. Therefore the Children of Ifra: leat not of the Sinew which forank, &c.] That Sinew (or Tendon) Verle 32. which faitens the Hip-Bone in its Socket: Which comprehends the Fleih of that Muscle, which is connected to it. He that eat of this was to be beaten, as the Jewish Masters tell us. See Mr. Selden, Lib. II. de Synedriis p. 552. Hottinger de Leg. Hebr. § 3. Vorstins upon Pirke Elieser, p. 221.

CHAP. XXXIII.

Ver. 1. JAcob lifted up his Eyes, &c.] Being come to Verle IN his Family, (whom he fent before him over the Brook, XXXII. 23.) and looking about him, he beheld Esau and his Train, at some distance: And put himself, his Wives, and Children, in good order to meet him.

Ver. 2. Joseph bindermost.] As more dear to him, Verse 2. than any of the reft: For he did not yet know that the Messiah was to proceed from Judah, one of the Sons of Leah.

Ver. 3. And he paffed over before them.] Put him-Verle 3. felf in the front of them.

Bowed himfelf to the Ground feven times.] At fome convenient diffance he began to bow; and fo, at every other ftep, or more, he bowed again (feven times) till he came near to his Brother.] This was to testifie the great Honour he had for him: And to take out of Efau's Mind all suspicion, that he lookt upon himself, as the elder Brother.

Nnn 2

Ver.

459

ACOMMENTARY

460 Chapter Verse. 4.

Ver. 4. Efau ran to meet him.] This declares the XXXIII. forwardness of his Affection : Which would not let ~ him proceed to ceremonioully as Jacob did.

Kiffed him. This word is mark'd in the Hebrew Text (as fourteen other words in the Bible are) with four unusual Points overit. To denote, as the Hebrew Doctors think, fome remarkable thing; which fome of them take to be, the fincerity of Efan's Reconciliation to his Brother. And truly, if he heartily pardoned the Injury, which he conceived Facob had done him, it is much to be noted; and ought to be lookt upon as a fign he was become a good Man. And fo Mart. Bucer I remember understood it, in his Commentaries upon the Epistle to the Romans: Where he makes this an Argument that Efau was not a Reprobate, as some are apt to imagine. It it be faid that God deterred him from doing his Brother any hurt, it is more than can be proved. For it is recorded indeed that God threatned Laban in such a manner, that he durst not meddle with him : But no fuch thing is faid of Efau; though it would have been of more concern to have recorded the fame here, if Moses had known of any such Divine Apparition to him.

Verse 7.

1 778 1 1

Ver. 7. Joseph and Rachel.] The Hebrew Doctors here observe, that Joseph goes before his Mother; but the Mothers of all the reft went before their Children : Of which, I think, it is not needful to feek a reason. For it is likely Moses did not take care to place his words exactly. Or, if he did, no more ought to be made of it than this; that Joseph being a goodly Child, his Mother put him before her; as we commonly do, when we would fhow a Child to advantage. Or, he being very young and a forward Child. Child, ftept before his Mother; as Children are wont Chapter to do, when fome fine flow appears which they ea- XXXIII. gerly defire to behold.

Ver. 8. What meanest thou by all this drove? &c.] Verle 8. The Servants, no doubt, had told him, (as their Mafter had ordered, XXXII. 17, &c.) but he asks Jacob, that he might have an opportunity to declare how little he needed or defired tuch a Prefent.

These are to find grace in the fight of my Lord] To teffifie my respect to thee, that I may obtain thy Favour and Good-will towards me. For Inferiors were wont to approach to their Superiors with Prefents, to make themselves the more kindly accepted. And it is observable, that as he and all his made such Obeysance to E_{fan} , as fignified he was his Servant, (as he calls himself, verse 5.) to he still Honours E_{fan} by the Name of his Lord.

Ver. 9. I have enough, my Brother, &c.] In this he Verle 9. fhows himfelf not to be of a covetous Humour : But as free from that Vice, as from Revenge.

Ver. 10. If I have found grace in thy fight.] If thou Verle 10. lovelt me.

As though I had feen the face of God.] For Efau's kind Reception of him, he could not but look upon as a Token of the Divine Favour towards him. Some think by God may be meant an Angel, or a great Man : Into whofe prefence, Inferiors, as I faid, were wont to approach with Prefents.

And thou wast pleased with me.] Received me kindly. Verse 11. Ver. 11. Take my Blessing.] i. e. My Present, as we expound it in the Margin of 1 Sam. XXV. 27.

I have enough.] It is a larger word in the Hebrew, than that uled by Ffau, verfe 9. fignifying that he had enough to spare of all forts of things: And therefore

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter fore Esan need not fear his impoverishment, by ac-XXXIII. cepting this Prefent.

Ver. 12. And he faid, Let us take our journey, &c. 7 くく Verse 12. Esan invites him to go along with him, to the Land of Seir, and there refresh himself.

I will go before thee.] Show thee the way and conduct thee.

Verse 13. Ver. 13. And be said unto him, &c.] i.e. Jacob faid this in excuse, that he could not go fo fast as Elau; and therefore defired to follow after by eafie lournies.

Children are tender.] Joseph was not above fix or seven Years old.

Flocks and Herds with young.] The Hebrew word Aloth (in I Sam. VI. 7.) fignifies Kine that had fucking Calves. Unto which Sence Bochart inclines in this place ; and so do Jonathan Onkelos, and other ancient Interpreters. See his Hierozoic. P. I. Lib. II. cap. 20.

Are mith me.] Must be lookt after very carefully.

All the Flock will die] i. e. All that are big with young; or have newly brought forth young.

Verfe 14.

- 1.62

Ver. 14. I will lead on softly.] Follow thee with a gentle pace ; fuch as the Flocks and Children can bear.

According as the Cattle that go before me.] It was obferved before, XXX. 30. that Maimonides interprets this Phrase [Leregel] for the fake : And so he underftands it here, with respect to the Cattle and Children. More Nevoch. P. I. cap. 28. Or, becaufe of the Cattle, &c. that they may not be over-driven.

Until I come to my Lord, unto Seir.] Moses omits this Journey to Seir; as he doth his Visit to his Father, Which one cannot think he deferred for fo many Years, as were between his return to Canaan, and the mention of his coming to Mamre, XXXV. 27. Or, Chapter Jacob was hindred, perhaps, by fomething which he XXXIII. could not foresee, from performing this Promise to his Brother : Of which, no doubt, he gave him an account, that he might not be thought to break his word.

Ver. 15. Let me now leave with thee, &c.] He would Verse 15. have left some of his Followers with Jacob, to show him the way, and to be a Guard to him; or honourably attend him.

Let me find grace in the fight of my Lord.] In this also be so kind, as to gratifie my defire, XXXIV. 11.

Ver. 16. Efau returned that day.] The same day Verse 16. they met together; because he would not be a burden to Jacob.

Ver. 17. Journeyed to Succoth.] After he had been Verfe 17. with his Brother in Seir, if he did follow him thither; as it is likely he did, though not here mentioned; No more than the Entertainment he gave him, and fuch like things; which one cannot think were wanting at this meeting.

Built him an House.] Intending to make some stay in this place.

Ver. 18: And Jacob came to Shalem, a City of Sche-Verfe 18. chem.] Or, he came fafe and found (fo the Hebrews generally understand the word Shalem) to that City called Schechem. And it may refer either to the foundnefs of his Leg; which was perfectly well, fo that he halted no longer: Or, to the fafety of his Perfon; in that he was not at all hurt by Efau: Or, rather, to the fafety of every thing he had; no evil accident having befallen him, of any fort, fince he left Laban. Which is the rather now mentioned, because in the next Chapter, Mose gives a relation of a very fad misfortune, which befel his Family.

When

462

ACOMMENTART

Chapter When he came from Padan-Aram.] Some think this XXXIII. needed not to have been added : Whereas it expreffes more fully what was faid before, that he came fafe all the way from thence thither.

464

And pitched his Tent before the City.] Becaufe it was the Sabbath-Day, faith Menasseh ben Israel, out of the Hebrew Doctors (Probl. VIII. de Creatione) which made him stop and rest here, and not enter the City, till it was ended. But this is a mere fancy, for the Rest from all Labours on this Day, was not commanded to be observed till they came out of Egypt; And the true reason of pitching his Tent here, was for the convenience of Pasturage.

Verse 19: Ver. 19. And he bought a parcel of a Field.] He made a small purchase, that he might be the less imposed upon by the Inhabitants of that Country: Who had disturbed Abraham and Isaac, about the Wells they digged in the Ground they hired of them.

For an hundred pieces of Money.] The Margin hath an hundred Lambs. But this is the right Translation, it appears from Ad. VII. 16. And Bochart hath taken a great deal of Pains to show that Kessta doth not signifie a Lamb, but some sort of Money: Though of what value is uncertain, P. I. Hierozoic. Lib. I. cap. 2. and Lib. II. cap. 43. For a great while before this time, money was in use; with which they trafficked, and not by exchanging one Commodity for another. See XXIII. 16.

Verse 20. Ver. 20. Called it El-Elohe-Ifrael.] This Altar is dedicated to God, the God of Ifrael; who had delivered him from Laban and Efan, and lately honoured him with with a new Name; importing his great Power with him.

CHAP.

465 Chapter XXXIV.

CHAP. XXXIV.

Ver. 1. WEnt out.] From her Mother's Tent, Verle 1. which was without the City, XXXIII. 18.

To see the Daughter of the I and.] Into the City of Shechem, to look about her with the young Women, (as the Hebrew word imports) who, as fosephus relates, celebrated a Festival at this time, where some fine Spectacles were presented.

Ver. 2. And when Shechem.] From whom the City, Verse 2. perhaps, had its Name.

Prince of the Country.] Or, one of the Prime Nobility of the Country, verse 19.

Took her, &c.] By force, (as both the Targum's, and many others understand it) and ravished her. From whence we learn, that this was done some Years after Jacob's return into Canaan: For then Dinah was not much older than Joseph; and now we must suppose her, at least fifteen. And indeed the bloody Fact of her Brethren shows as much, who must be grown up to be Men: Which they were not when Jacob returned to Canaan; the eldest of them being then scarce a stripling of fourteen Years old.

Ver. 3. His Soul clave unto Dinab.] He could Verfe 3. think of nothing elfebut her : For he loved her extreamly, as it follows in the next Words.

Speak kindly to the Damfel] Courted her to marry him; with fuch Professions of fincere Affection, as might gain her Heart, notwithstanding the Injury he had done her.

A COMMENTARY.

Ver. 4. Get me this Damsel to Wife.] Treat with Chapter XXXIV. her Father about our Marriage.

Ver. 5. And Jacob heard, &c.] By fome of Dinah's Verfe 4. Servants, or Companions; for it is not to be thought, Verle 5. that fhe went out alone.

Now his Sons were with the Cattle in the Field. which he had lately purchased, XXXIII. 19. or, in fome hired Ground remote from the City.

Held his peace, &c.] Took no notice of what he heard; till he could have their Advice and Affiftance.

Verse 6. Ver. 6. And Hamor went out.] Of the City, to treat with Jacob in his Tent, XXXIII. 18.

Verse 7. Ver. 7. And the Sons of Jacob, &c.] As they were treating, in came Jacob's Sons . Who, hearing how their Sister had been abused, were very much afflicted, and no less angry.

Wrought Folly in Ifrael.] Or, against Ifrael. Committed a Wickedness, highly to the disgrace and injury of Israel's Family.

Which thing ought not to be done.] Contrary to the Law of Nations; That a Virgin should be violated without Punishment. So Rase.

Ver. 8. Hamor communed with them.] With the whole Family, Jacob, Leah, and Dinah's Brethren.

Longeth.] Is extreamly in Love.

For your Daughter.] The Daughter of Jacob and Leab; unto whom he speaks in the presence of her Brethren.

- Verse 9. Ver. 9. And make ye Marriages with us, &c.] Become one People with us, Verfe 16.
- Verse 10. Ver. 10. And ye shall dwell with us.] Settle your selvs among us.

466

Verse 8.

And

And the Land shall be before you.] In any part of our Chapter XXXIV. Country.

467

Dwell je.] He repeats it again, to beget in them a confidence of a Settlement among them; in the Enjoyment of all their Rights and Privileges; as much as if they had been Natives.

And trade ye. TExercife what Traffick you pleafe up and down the Country, without any Lett or Impediment.

And get you Poffelfions therein.] Purchase Land.

Ver. 11. Let me find Grace in your Eyes.] Grant Verle 11. this Petition, which my Father makes in my behalf, XXXIII. 15.

And what ye (ball fay unto me, &c.] Make your own Terms, I will agree to them.

Ver. 12. Ask me never so much Dowry and Gift. Verse 12. This flows more fully, That the Cuftom of those times was (as was noted upon XXIX. 18.) for Men to give Money for their Wives. But there was a greater reason for a Dowry now, and a large one too; that he might make Compensation, for the Wrong he had done. For there was a natural Equity in those Laws of Moses, (Exod. XXII. 16. Deut. XXII. 28.) by which Men were bound to make Satisfaction to the Fathers ; if either by Inticement or Violence, they had abused their Daughters.

Dowry and Gift, feem to be diftinct things : The Dowry being given to the Parents; the Gift, to the Kindred.

Ver. 13. The Sons of Jacob answered, &c.] Hence Verle 3. fome infer that by the Cuftom of those Days, the Consent of the Brethren was required, rather than of the Parents : For the Sons of Jacob here make the Contract, as Laban had done with Abraham's Servant

0002

A COMMENTARY

Chapter vant XXIV. 50. But it is more reasonable to think, XXXIV. that Jacob left it to them to confider what was fit to 468

- be done, in a matter which required great Deliberation; and then to report their Opinion to him: Who had the greatest interest in her, and right to dispose of her.
- Verfe 14. Ver. 14. We cannot do this thing.] It is against our Religion. Which was partly true; for though Jacob himself had married one whose Father was uncircumcised (as Isaac had done before him) yet by degrees this Opinion prevailed among them; till it was essentiablished by the Law of Moses.

For that were a reproach to us.] They plead Honour, as well as Confcience.

- Verse 15. Ver. 15. In this will we confent unto yon.] Upon these Terms, we will agree to the Match.
- Verse 17. Ver. 17. We will take our Daughter, and be gone.] By this it appears they treated in their Father's Name, as was noted before, Verse 13.
- Verfe 18. Ver. 18. And their words pleafed Hamor, &c.] It may feem ftrange, they fhould to eafily confent to be circumcifed, till we confider how paffionately Shechem loved Dinah, and the great Affection Hamor had to Shechem: Who was his beloved Son, verfe 19. Befides, this was but a poor Prince, and his City little and mean: Which he thought to inrich and ftrengthen by Jacob's Family (who were very wealthy) being incorporated with them, verfe 23.
- Verfe 19. Ver. 19. He was more honourable.] In greater esteem with his Father, and all the Family, than any other belonging to it.
- Verse 20. Ver. 20. Came into the Gate of the City.] Where all Publick Affairs were transacted.

And

And communed with the Men of the City.] Such Chapter great Matters could not be concluded without the XXXIV. Publick Confent. See XXIII. 18. XXIX. 22.

Ver. 21. These Men are peaceable.] They use many Verse 21 Arguments to persuade the People to Consent : And the first is that the Israelites had hitherto lived inoffensively among them.

Let them dwell in the Land and trade therein.] By a Publick Decree, or Law.

For the Land is large enough.] This is the fecond Argument, there was Land enough in their Country uncultivated; which these Men would improve.

Ver. 23. Shall not their Cattel, &c.] This is the Verle 23. greatelt Argument of all; taken from the Profit they fhould have by them; the gain of no lefs than all they had. Which is not to be understood, as if they intended to over-power them, and seize upon all their Stock: But that by Inter-marriages, their Estates would be inherted by them, as much as by the Ifraelites.

Ver. 24. All that went out of the Gate of his City.] Verle 24. i. e. All the Citizens (XXIII. 18.) who were met together in the Common-Hall, (or Place of Publick Affemblies) and were foon perfuaded to yield to the Reafons, which had perfuaded their Rulers.

Ver. 25. On the third Day, when they were fore.] Verle 25. And began to be a little Feverish. For the greatest Pain and Anguish, the Jews observe, was upon the third Day after Circumcision; which very much indisposed them. See Pirke Elief. cap. 29. and Vorstins his Annotations, p. 195. And indeed Hippocrates observes the same of all Wounds and Ulcers; that Chapter that they are then most inflamed, by a conflux of sharp XXXIV. Humours to them.

ACOMMENTARY

Two of the Sons of Jacob, &c.] With their Servants: For they two alone, could not destroy a whole City, though but fmall.

Slevo all the Males.] The Women and Children in those Days were always spared in the most deadly Wars : As when the Midianites were killed, Numb. XXXI. 7, 9. and the Edomites, I Kings XI. 16. And so Moses commanded they should do even with the Canaanites, Deut. XX. 12, 14. See Bochart, P.I. Hierozoic. L. II. c. 56. Selden de Jure N. & G. Lib. VI. c. 16. p. 745. and de Synedr. L. I. p. 81.

Verle 26. Ver. 26. Took Dinah out of Shechem's House.] Where it feems the remained after the Rape he had committed, in hope of a Marriage.

And went out.] Carried her home.

470

Verse 27. Ver. 27. And the Sons of Jacob.] The rest of his Sons (who were able to bear Arms) came after the flaughter; and helpt to plunder the City. Thus they were all involved in the Guilt ; which was very great and manifold; as Bonfrerius, and, out of him, Menochins have observed.

Because they had defiled.] Their Prince had defiled her . Whofe Fact, it seems, they did not disapprove : And therefore it is imputed to them all, as the caufe of their flaughter.

Ver. 28. They took their Sheep, &c.] It is a rea-Verse 28. sonable Conjecture of Bonfrerius, That Jacob caused all these to be restored to the Wives and Children of the flain : Whom he fet at liberty.

And

And spoiled even all that was in the House.]Of Hamor Chapter and Shechem : Which, perhaps, they kept to them-XXXIV. felves, in compensation of the Wrong he had done; and none of the Family, perhaps, surviving to own them.

Verse 30. Te have troubled me.] Disturbed my Verse 30. Quiet, and made it unsafe for me to live in this Country; where I hoped to have settled.

Made me to stink, &c.] Made me odious to all the Country, as a Murderer, a Robber, and a Breaker of my Faith.

Ver. 21. Should be deal with our Sifter, as with an Verse 31. Harlot?] As with a common Whore, that profituted her self to his Lust? If she had done so, there had been no ground for their Quarrel, (according to the Hebrew Doctors) because Shechem had not then offended against the Laws of the Sons of Noah, (as they (peak) i.e. The right of Nations: Which was not violated by a Man's lying with a fingle Woman, by her free Consent. But Dinah being forced and violently ravished, (as they take the fence of verse 2. to be) they tell their Father they might right themfelves by making War upon them. For there was no other way to deal with Princes, whom they could not implead in any Court; and therefore betook themfelves to Arms. See Mr. Selden, L. VII. de Jure N. & G. juxta Hebr. cap. 5.

471

A COMMENTARY

47² Chapter XXXV.

CHAP. XXXV.

Verse. 1. Ver. 1. A ND God Said unto Jacob.] There were several ways, as Maimonides observes, whereby God communicated himfelf unto the Prophets. Unto whom he is faid, fometimes to fpeak by an Angel in a Dream, as he did to Facob, XXXI. 11. Sometimes by an Angel, without any mention how it was, whether in a Dream or Vision, or not : Of which he takes this place to be an Instance; and verse the 10th of this Chapter, and XXII. 15. Thirdly, In other places there is no mention of an Angel, but of God alone speaking ; yet in a Vision, or Dream, XV. I. And, Lastly, God is faid to fpeak abfolutely, neither in a Dream, nor Vision, nor by Angel, XII. 1. XXXI. 2. More Nevochim, P. H. cap. 42. In which Claffis, I think he might have put this Aparition to Jacob, as well as that last mentioned: For there is no difference between them, but this ; That in the former place (XXXI. 2.) it is faid, The LORD Said unto Facob ; and here, God Said unto Facob .-

Arife, go up to Bethel, and dwell there.] By this advice God showed, he still took Care of him; and delivered him from the Fear he was in of the Ganaanites and Perizites. Who, one would think, detested the Fact of Shechem; or, else it may seem strange that they did not immediately cut off Jacob and his Family, who had taken such a terrible Revenge for it; but let them remove quietly to Bethel But Moses gives us the true reason of this, Verse 5.

Make

Make there an Altar.] Perform the Vow which Chapter thou madeft in that place, XXVIII. 20, 21, 22. Some XXXV. wonder Jacob made no more haste to this place, after un his return to his own Country, (for now he had been about nine Years in Canaan) and some of the Hebrew Doctors fansie, God punished him for deferring fo long to go thither (where he promifed to worfhip him, if he prospered his Journey and brought him back again in fafety) by fuffering his Daughter Dinab to be ravished. But it is more probable, that he met with obstructions, which made it not safe for him, as yet, to go thither; or, that he waited till God, who had conducted him hitherto, should direct him to take his Journey to that place. For, it is. very probable, he enquired of him about his removal.

Ver. 2. Then Jacob said unto his houshold, &c.] Verle 2. Being to perform a solemn Sacrifice to God, he calls upon his Family to prepare themselves for it.

And to all that were with him.] Hired Servants who lived with him.

Put away the ftrange Gods.] Rachel had her Fathers's Teraphim, which now, it is to be fuppoled, the confeffed. And he fulpected there might be fome among the Men-Servants and Maid-Servants, he brought with him out of Mefopotamia, (XXXII. 5.) where there was much Superstition: And that in the facking of Shechem they might bring away fome Images with them (for the fake of the Silver and Gold) which they kept fecretly among them.

And be clean.] Wash your Bodies, as Aben Ezra truly interprets it: For this was the ancient Rite of cleansing. Wherein he seems to have followed Jonathan, who thus paraphrases it, Purifie gour selves Ppp from

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter from the polution of the flain, whom you have touched ; XXXV. referring it to the foregoing flaughter of the People mi of Shechem.

> And change your Garments.] Put on clean Cloaths. Which was but a reasonable Injunction, being to appear before the Divine Majesty : In whose Presence it was rudeness to be seen in fordid Raiment : Especially in those, wherein they had newly defiled themfelves, by a bloody flaughter. These two, I doubt not, were pious Cuftoms, which their godly Ance-. stors, had observed, from the beginning of offering Solemn Sacrifices. It being very unfeemly to appear before a great Man, in dirty Apparel, or with a fweaty Body. And I do not fee, why we should not look upon these, as an external Profession, of the like Purity in their Minds and Hearts. All Nationsretained these Washings, and white Raiment, when they performed the Solemn Offices of Religion . Which were not derived from Idolaters, but from the purest Antiquity.

Verse 4.

474

Ver. 4. And they gave unto Jacob all the strange Gods.] Which, it feems by this Expression, were numerous.

And the Ear-rings that were in their Ears,] In the Ears of the Idols; for there was no harm in the Ear-Rings they wore themselves. So some interpret it : not confidering, that befides the Ear-Rings which where Ornaments, there were others worn in the nature of Amulets; or, for some other superstitious Ules: Having the Effigies of some God or other; or, some Symbolical Notes, in which they fansied there was some Power to preferve them from leveral Mischiefs. Maimonides in his Book of Idolatry, cap. 7. mentions such Idololatrical Rings, as were utterly unlawful to be used; and Vessels marked with Chapter the Image of the Sun, the Moon, or a Dragon: Which XXXV. were Symbols of Divinity among the Heathen; who made Marks also, in feveral parts of their Bodies.

terly

And Jacob hid them.] Buried them in the Earth; after he had first broke them in pieces (as some think) or melted them, as Moses and Hezekiah did, Exod. XXXII. 20. 2 Kings XVIII. 4. Which, if it be true, it is but a Tale which is told of the Samaritans; that they digged up these Idols and worshipped them. See Hottinger Smegma Orient. p. 359.

Under an Oak which was by Shechem.] It was fo unknown under what Oak this was, that there is no ground for their Opinion, who think this was the fame Oak mentioned in Josh. XXIV.26. For he intended to abolish the memory of these Idols; and therefore hid them, where he thought no Body would find them.

It took up some time to do all this; and yet the People of the Land did not fall upon Jacob's Family: The Providence of God watching over him, as it follows in the next Verse.

Ver. 5. And they journeyed : And the terrour of the Verle 5. LORD was upon the Cities round about them, &c.] Here is the true reason why the Country did not, at least, fall upon the Rear of Jacob's Family, when they marched away: Because God made a panick Fear to fall upon them. Who, otherwise (one would guess by this) had an inclination to be revenged for the destruction of Shechem. For, though they could not justifie the Fact of Shechem; yet they might think Jacob's Sons too cruel in the Punishment of it: For their own Father was of that Opinion.

Ppp 2

A COMMENTARY

476 Chapter XXXV. Verfe 6. Verfe 7. Verfe 8.

Ver. 6. So Jacob came to Luz.] See XXVIII. 19. Ver. 7. Built there an Altar, &c.] And offered Sacrifices of Thankfgiving to God, for performing his Promife to him, befeeching him still to continue his Care of him.

Ver. 8. Deborah Rebekah's nurse died.] She went to attend Rebekah, when the was married to Ilaac: Which troubles the Jews to give an account how the came here into Jacob's Family. R. Solomon folves it thus; That Rebekah having promifed Jacob when he went away, to fend for him, (XXVII. 45.) the performed this Promife by Deborah : Whom the fent to Padan-Aram to invite him home; and in her return fhe died here. But it is more reasonable to suppose. that Jacob had been at his Father's Houle, before this time: And Rebekab being dead, (whether before or after, is uncertain) Deborab was defirous to live with his Wives, who were her Country Women. And that her death is here mentioned (though we read nothing of Rebekab's) to give an account how this Oak came by the Name of Allon-Bacuth, in aftertimes.

Under an Oak.] There were many about Bethel: Near to which there was a Wood, or Forest; out of which the Bears came, who devoured the Children that cursed Elisha, 2 Kings II. 23. And under an Oak also, the old Prophet found the Man of God sitting, as he went from Bethel, I Kings XIII. 14.

Verse 9.

Ver. 9. And God appeared unto Jacob again, &c.] The SCHECHINAH, or Divine Majesty, who bad him go to Bethel, verse 1. appeared to him when he came there; in a most glorious manner: As he had done when he lodged there in his Journey to Padan Aram, XXVIII. 13.

Ver. 10. Ifrael shall be thy Name.] This is a far Chapter more honourable Name than that of Jacob: And XXXV. therefore by it thou shalt be commonly called. For Verse 10. the Name of Jacob was given him from the supplant- Verse 10. ing of his Brother, and getting the advantage of him: But this of Ifrael from his prevalence over the Angel of God.

And he called his Name Ifrael.] He folemnly confirmed that Name, which was given him before by his Angel, XXXII. 28.

This feems to me to prove, That it was no more than an Angel, who wreftled with Jacob, and told him his Name fhould be changed. For, if it had been God himfelf, Jacob, was as much fatisfied then, as he could be now, that Ifrael fhould be his Name. But I take it, God referved the declaration of it from his own Mouth, till this time: When he ratified what he had before spoken by his Angel.

And thus I find (fince I noted this) St. Hierom understood this Passage: Whose words are these. Dudum nequaquam ei nomen ab Angelo imponitur, &C. This Name was not heretofore imposed on him by the Angel; who only foretold that God would impose it on him: That therefore which was there promised should be, we are taught was fulfilled.

Ver. 11. I am God Almighty, &c.] Here God re-Verfe I.R. news his Promife to him, as he had often done to Abraham. He had first bleffed him by Ifaac, XVIII. 3. when he fent him from home. Then he himself bleffed him when he appeared to him, the first Night of his Journey, verse 13. of that Chapter. And now again, when he was come back to the very fame place; where he bleffed him before. And he speaks to him, by the Name of El-shaddai, i. e. God All-

A COMMENTARY

Chapter All fufficient : The very fame whereby his Father had XXXV. bleffed him, XXVIII. 3. and whereby God bleffed Abraham, XVII. 1.

- Verfe 13. Ver. 13. And God went up from him.] It is evident by this, that a visible Majesty or Glory appeared to him at this time : From whence the foregoing words were spoken to him: Which being done, it went up towards Heaven. In the Hebrew the words are, went up from upon him. or, over him; and the very same is said of Abraham, XVII. 22. as if the SCHECH I-NAH appeared over his Head, in great Lussre; whils the, perhaps, lay prostrate upon the Ground.
- Verse 14. Ver. 14. Set up a pillar in that place.] To be a Monument of the Divine Goodness; Who there appeared to him; and made him such gracious Promises, as those before-mentioned, verse 11, 12. And to serve for an Altar whereon to offer Sacrifice. For so the word Matzebah signifies, Hosea III. 4. And therefore Isaiah seems to make an Altar and a Pillar the same thing, XIX. 19.

Poured a drink-offering thereon.] To confecrate it unto the Solemn Service of God. For which end he poured Oil upon it, as he had done upon the Stone, (XXVIII. 18.) which, in all likelihood, was a principal part of this Pillar. And having done all this, we are to suppose he not only offered Sacrifice; but paid the Tenth of all that God had given him, according to his Vow, XXVIII. ult.

Verse 15.

478

. Ver. 15. Called the Name of the place.] Or, rather, of that place; that famous Place, which God had made fo remarkable by his Goodnels to him. For the Hebrews, not without Reason, make the He before Makom, to add an Emphasis to that word.

Bethel.]

Beshel.] i. e. The Houfe of God. So he faid he Chapter would make this Place, XXVIII. 22. and now he is as XXXV. good as his Word, by renewing the Name he had given it thirty Years before, when he first went into Mesopotamia.

Ver. 16. And there was but a little may to come to Verfe 16. Ephrath.] When they were come within a little of Ephrath. The Hebrew word for a little is Chibrath: Whofe precife fignification is uncertain. Benjamin Tudelensis faith, this Place was within half a Mile and a little more of Ephrath. See his Itinerar. p. 47. and Const. L. Empereur on the Place, p. 176.

Ver. 17. Fear not: Thou shalt have this Son also] Verse 17. The Midwife seems to comfort Rachel with her own Prediction, XXX. 24.

Ver. 18. She called his Name Ben oni.] Rachel feems Verfe 18. to give her former Hopes of a fecond Son for loft; at leaft fhe expected no Comfort from him : Being ready to expire. And therefore fhe called him a Son of Sorrow : His birth being her death.

But his Father called him Benjamin.] To comfort Rachel in her Sorrow, and to avert the finister Omen, Jacob immediately changed his Name into Benjamin, fignifying The Son of his Right-hand, or of his Strength, as it is commonly interpreted. Though others will have it, The Son of Years, i.e. of his old Age: or, putting both together, the support and stay of his old Age.

Names are oft-times ftrangely adapted to things; and the Prefages of Parents have anciently been offerved to be fulfilled.

> -Heu nunquam vana parentum Auguria-

> > Which.

A COMMENTARY

480

Chapter Which is in no Instance more verified than in this XXXV. Child of Jacob's: Who did not bear either of these Names for nought. There being two very different Fates of his Posterity (as Dr. Jackson observes in a Discourse of his upon St. Matth. II. 17, 18.) answerable to the contrary importance of the Names given him by his Father and his Mother. No Tribe in 1/rael more Valorous, yet none fo subject to forrowful Disasters as this Tribe of Benjamin. It was almost extirpated in the time of the Judges, XX. 25, &c. and yet before the conclusion of that Age, Benjamin became the Head of his Brethren: The first King of Israel being chosen out of that late desolate Tribe. And though that King proved at last but a Ben-oni; yet this Tribe fluck close to Judah, when all the reft revolted to his Brother Joseph.

Verle 20. Ver. 20. Jacob fet a pillar upon her Grave.] After that Law was made (Deut. XVI. 22.) against erecting Pillars; the Jews did not think all Pillars unlawful; but only those for Superstitious Uses: Not those which were in Memory of some thing; as Maimonides his words are, L. de Idolol. cap. 6.

Verfe 21. Ver. 21. And Ifrael journeyed.] This is the first time that Moses calls him Israel; after this Name was given him by God. Which he repeats twice in the next Verse: And then calls him Jacob again, in the latter end of it. It is in vain to fearch for a Reafon. Some of the Jews will have it, That he calls him Israel, because he bear the death of his beloved Wife, with admirable Patience and Submission to God's Will. But they cannot give so good a Reafon, why he immediately alters his Style, and calls him Jacob again. See Verse 22.

Beyond

Beyond the Tower of Edar.] i. e. The Tower of the Chapter Flock, as fome translate it. Who think there was XXXV. fuch a Tower near Jerusalem, because of those words of Micab, IV. 8. O tower of the Flock, the strong-hold of the Daughter of Zion. Which if it be true, it doth not prove there was no Tower in Jacob's days called by that Name: But rather, that in future Ages this Tower was renewed, in the same, or a neighbouring Place; and called by the ancient Name, which it had in the days of Jacob.

Ver. 22. Went and lay with Bilhah, his Father's Con-Verle 22. cubine.] She is called his Wife, XXX. 4. and, according to the Laws of those Times, was truly so; as I have often observed all those called Concubines were : Though not the principal Wives, but of a lower Rank. See Mr. Selden, de Jure N. & G. L. V. cap. 7. p. 570, 571, &c.

And Ifrael heard it.] And highly refented it, as we find XLIX. 4. But in this fhort Hiftory Mofes paffes over Ifrael's Cenfure of this Inceft till he came to die: Which fhows fufficiently, how he was affected when the Fact was committed. Or, perhaps, thefe words, Ifrael heard it, may fignifie; That though Reuben thought to have committed this Sin fo fecretly, as to have concealed it from his Father; yet he came to the knowledge of it: And gave him fuch private Rebukes, as were fitting; but proceeded not to Publick Punifhment, to avoid Scandal.

Now the Sons of Jacob were twelve.] Their Number being now compleated by the Birth of Benjamin, after whom he had no more Children; Moses thought good here to enumerate them. And they being all born (fave Benjamin alone) before he had the Name of Israel, it may be the reason, perhaps, why he calls him Jacob. Qqq Ver.

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 26. Which were born to him in Padan-Aram. 7AII XXXV. except Benjamin; who (as was faid just before, verse 18.) was born in Canaan.

Verse 26. Ver. 27. Jacob came to Isaac his Father. &c.] To Verse 27. dwell with him, and to be the Comfort of his old Age. For it is not to be doubted, he had been with him before, fince he came from Mesopotamia : But now came to ftay with him, till Death parted them.

Unto the City of Arba, &c.] Called Kirjath-Arba, XXIII. 2. from a great Man (Jofh. XIV. 15) among the Anakims, whole Name was Arba; and either was born, or dwelt, or ruled here. It was afterward called Hebron, where Abraham dwelt a long time, XIII. 18. and where he bought a Burying place for his Family, XXIII. 19.

Ver. 28. The days of Isaac were an hundred and four-Verle 28. score Years.] He lived five Years longer than his Father Abraham, XXV. 7.

Ver. 29. His Sons Efan and Jacob buried. 7 As Isaac Verle 29. and Ishmael had done Abraham, (XXV. 9.) and no doubt in the fame place : He fojourning there (as was said before) as his Father had done before him. By this it appears, the Friendship between Esau and Facob continued, after the interview they had at Facob's return into this Country. of all high which this and the A att to the or the

the week of the set of the set of the set of the CHAP. A Transford of Transford of the state

482

483 Chapter XXXVI.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Ver. 1. Hefe are the Generations of Efau.] Which Verfe 1. are here fet down, to fhow how effectual his Father's Blefling was, XXVII. 29. And, as Maimonides thinks (P. III. c. 50. More Newoch.) to prevent the deftruction of any of the Family of Efau, but only those of Amaleck. Who descended from the First-born of Efau by a Concubine, the Sister of Lotan, an Horite, one of the ancient Inhabitants of Seir, Verse 12, & 22. His Descendants were to be destroyed, by an express Precept, for a particular Offence, (Exod. XVII.) but the Divine Justice took Care of the rest. by distinguishing them thus exactly from him: That they might not perish under the Name of Amalekites.

Ver. 2. Efan took his Wives, &c.] The Names of Verle 2. thefe Wives are not the fame with those, he is faid to have married, XXVI. 34. Therefore it is probable his former Wives died without Iffue: And so he took another Daughter of Elon (when Judith was dead) called Adab: And the Daughter of a Man called Anab; by whom he had such Children as here follow.

The Daughter of Zibeon.] The word Daughter here fignifies Neice; or, fhe is called Zibeon's Daughter, because he bred her: As the Children of Michael are mentioned, 2 Sam. XXI.8. Though she had none at all; but only educated the Children of her Sister: As Zibeon, perhaps, did his Brother Anab's Daughter, verse 20.

A COMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 3. Bashemath, Ishmael's Daughter.] She is cal-XXXVI. led by another Name, XXVIII. 9. But it is likely Estau changed her Name from Mahalah, which figni-Verse 3. fies sickly and instrum, into this of Bashmath, which fignifies Aromatick and Fragrant. Either because the Name better pleased him, or he thought would better please his Father: Or, she grew more healthy after Marriage; or, perhaps, she had two Names given her at the first.

Verse 6.

484

Ver. 6. Went into the Country from the face of his Brother Jacob.] Into another Country out of the Land of Canaan: Into which he lately came to bury his Father, as we read in the latter end of the laft Chapter. Which being done, he and Jacob, no doubt, agreed about the division of Ifaac's Estate: Out of which a large share came to Efan: Who had something also of his own there before, (all his Sons before-mentioned being born to him in Canaan, verse 5.) besides what he had in Seir.

His Brother Jacob.] He knew of no other Name his Brother had; that of Ifrael, it's likely, being not yet published, and commonly used.

Verse 7.

Ver. 7. For their Riches were more than that they might dwell together.] There was not room enough in the Land of Canaan (where they were but fojourners, and could have no more than the prefent Poffeffors would let to them) for fuch a vaft Stock as they had between them: And therefore were conftrained to feparate, as Abraham, for the fame reafon, had done from Lot, XIII. 6, &cc. And Efan having begun before to fettle in Seir, did not think fit to bring what he had there hither : But carried what his Father left him thither. Where he had enlarged his Dominion, fince Jacob's return to Canaan.

Ver. 8. Thus dwelt Efau in Mount Seir.] It is a Que-Chapter ftion how he could be faid to have gone to dwell in XXXVI. Seir, upon this occafion: Seeing we find him there before, when Jacob came out of Mefopotamia, XXXII.3. Verfe 8. But the Anfwer is eafle, That then he had only fome part of the Country, and not the beft of it neither : And therefore, perhaps, had fome of his Eftate ftill in Canaan, while the reft of it was in Seir. And it feems remarkable to me, that he is not faid till now, to dwell in Mount Seir, but only in the Land of Seir, or barely in Seir, to which he invited Jacob at his return, (XXXII.3. XXXIII. 14, 16.) This Mountainous Country, which was richer than the other, he got into his poffeffion after that time.

Esan is Edom.] The Father of the Edomites, as it follows, Verse 9.

Ver. 12. She bare to Eliphaz, Amaleck.] This was Verfe 12.. neceffary to be fet down (as I observed on verse 1.) that there might be a distinction between the Amalekites, who were to be destroyed, and the rest of the Posterity of Esau: Concerning whom it is said, Thou shalt not abbor an Edomite, because he is thy Brother, Deut. XXIII. 7. Thus Joseph Albo. For, though they made a distinct People from the Edomites, and lived in a Neighbouring Country; yet they posses that part of Mount Seir which was near Kadesh Barnea, as may be gathered from Numb. XIII. 29. and XIV. 43.

Ver. 15. These were Dukes.] The word Allouphe, Verse 15. if we may believe R. Solomon Jarchi, signifies Heads, Chiefs, or Rulers of Families. Who may be called Princes; though their Government was not yet Regal, but a kind of Aristocracy in the beginning.

A COMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 16. Duke Korah.] He is not reckon'd among XXXVI. the Sons of Eliphaz, verse 11. but called the Son of Aholibamah, verse 14. and accordingly faid to Rule over a Family descended from hers, verse 18. We must suppose therefore, there were two Korah's; one the Son of Aholibamah; the other a Nephew of Eliphaz, by some of his Sons or Grand-Sons: Who came to be a great Ruler, and to get the Government of fome of these Families: And, according to the Style of Scripture, is reckoned for Eliphaz his Son.

486

Verle 20. Ver. 20. These are the Sons of Seir the Horite.] From this Seir the Country had its Name: But from whom he descended is not recorded.

> Who inhabited the Land.] Who were the ancient Inhabitants of this Country, before Efan conquered it: And, perhaps, were the first that possefield it after the Flood. Whose Genealogy, I suppose, is here mentioned, because Efan's Posterity married with some of them: Particularly his eldest Son Eliphaz took Timna, Sister of Lotan (one of Seir's Sons) for his Concubine, verse 22. Yea, Efan himself seems to have married one of his Family, viz. Abolibamah: Whose Father and Uncle are faid to be Hivites, ver.2. but here plainly called Horites: Being descended from Seir the Horite, though dwelling then among the Hivites.

Verse 21. Ver. 21. These are the Dukes of the Horites.] The Heads of their Families; who governed the Country, before Esau and his Posterity disposses of them: And settled themselves in the same form of Government, which they found among these Horites.

In the Land of Edom.] So it was called in the days of Mofes.

Ver. 24. This is that Anab, who found the Mules in Chapter the Wilderness.] Not by Accident, but by his Art and XXXVI. Industry he invented (as we speak) this mixture, and produced this new kind of Creature. So it is Verle 24. commonly interpreted. But the word found, though used four hundred times in Scripture, never signifies (as Bochart hath observed, P.I. Hierozoic. Lib. II. cap. 21.) the Invention of that which was not before : but the finding that which already is in being. Nor doth Jemim fignifie Affes in Scripture : And therefore others have read the Hebrew word as if it had been written Jamim, (as St. Hierom observes) imagining that as Anab fed his Father's Affes, he found a great collection of Waters, (see Voffins, L. III. de Idolol. cap. 75.) which some fansie to have been hot Waters, or Baths, as the Vulgar Latin interprets it. But then we must read the Hebrew quite otherwise than we do now: And Bochart gives other Reasons against this Interpretation; and endeavours to establish another Opinion. That by Jemim we are to understand Emim, a Gigantick sort of People, mentioned in Scripture, and next Neighbours to the Horites. These Anab is faid to find, i. e. to meet withal and incounter; or, rather, to have fall'n upon, ona fudden and unexpectedly; as this Phrase he shows fignifies in Scripture. This Opinion he hath confirmed with a great many Reasons; to which another late learned Writer (Wagenseil) thinks an Answer may be given : Though he inclines to it, if one thing were not in the way ; which makes him think, here is rather meant some Herb or Plant, called ia usiv which word the LXX. retains, not knowing how to . translate it. And thus Aben Ezra affirms many In-1 terpreters of the Scripture have understood it : Which

ACOMMENTARY

488

Chapter Which feems to be the most probable Conjecture of XXXVI. all others. See Wagenseil in his Annot. upon that Title of the Talmud, called Sota, p. 217, 218, &c.

> As he fed the Affes of Zibeon his Father.] The Sons of Princes were wont to follow this Imployment, in ancient Times, as Bochart shows out of many Authors: Particularly the Scholiast upon Homer's Odyffes. To πάλαμον, ѝ, οι τω Βαπλέων ται δες ἐποίμαμνον. Hierozoic. P. I. L. II. Cap. 44.

- Verse 28. Ver. 28. The Children of Dissin are these: Uz, &c.] From this Man the whole Country, or a great part of it, is called by the Name of Uz, Lament. IV. 21. which was in Arabia Petrea, in the Borders of the Land of Canaan.
- Verle 36. Ver. 30. These are the Dukes that came of Hori.] This Hori was the Ancestor of Seir; by whom this Country was first planted.

Among their Dukes.] Or, according to their Families; or Principalities.

Verfe 31. Ver. 31. And thefe are the Kings that reigned in the Land of Edom.] It appears by this, that after feveral Dukes (as we translate it) had ruled the Country; the Edomites changed their Government into a Monarchy. And here follows a Catalogue of their Kings. For I can find no ground for the Opinion of the Hebrew Doctors, that Alluph, a Duke, differed in nothing from Melech, a King; but that the latter was crowned, the former not crowned.

> Before there reigned any King over the Children of Ifrael.] Mofes having a little before this (XXXV. 11.) mentioned the Promife of God to Jacob, That Kings fbould come out of his Loins; observes it as a thing remarkable, being a great exercise of their Faith, that Efan's Posterity should have fo many Kings: And

And there was yet no King in Ifrael when he wrote Chapter this Book, nor (asit is commonly interpreted) a long time after. This Mofes might well write without a Spirit of Prophecy; nor is there any reafon to fay, this Paffage was inferted by fome Body elfe, after the death of Mofes. We might rather affirm, if it were needful, that Mofes his meaning is, All thefe were Kings in Edom, before his own time: Who was the first King in Ifrael, Dent. XXXIII. 5. For he truly exercised Royal Authority over them, as Mr. Selden observes, L. II. de Synedr. cap. 1, 2.

489

Ver. 32. The name of his City was Dinhabab.] Of Verle 32. which he was Governor, perhaps, before he was made King; and wherein he reigned.

Ver. 33. Of Bozrah.] Which was afterward the Verle 33. principal City of the whole Country; as we read in the Prophet Isaiah. XXXIV. 6. and Jeremiah XLIX.3. and Amos I. 12.

It feens, by this Lift of their Kings, that the Kingdom at this time was Elective; for the Father did not fucceed the Son. Which may have been the reafon, perhaps, why it lasted but a while, before their Government was altered again, verse 40. Maimonides hath an Opinion different from all others, that none of these Kings were of the Race of Esau; but strangers, who oppressed the Edomites: And and here set down by Moses to admonish the Israelites, to observe that Precept, Deut. XVII. 15. Not to set a stranger to be a King over them, who is not their Brother, i. e. One of their own Nation.

Ver. 35. Who Smote Midian in the Field of Moab.] Verse 35. The Midianites, perhaps, came to invade them; and Hadad march'd out and met them in the Frontiers Rrr of

A COMMENTARY.

Chapter of their Country, which joyned to that of Moab: XXXVI. Where he got a great Victory over them.

490

Verle 37. And Saul of Rehoboth by the River reign-Verle 37. ed, &c.] If by the River we fhould underftand Euphrates, (as it ufually fignifies) near to which ftood the City of Rehoboth, (Gen. X. 11.) it may feem ftrange that one fhould be chosen from fo remote a Country, to be King of Edom: Unlefs we fuppofe him to have been born there, but to have lived in Edom: And by his great Atchievements, to have got into the Throne. Otherwife, we must take this for fome other City; which ftood by the most known River of this Country.

- Verle 38. Ver. 38. Baal-hanan.] This Name is the reverle (as I may call it) of Hani-ball.
- Verfe 39. Ver. 39. His Wifes name was Mehetabel, &c.] None of their Wives, much less their Pedigree, are named befides this alone : Which shows the was an eminent Woman in those times, and that Country; either for Wisdom, or Parentage, or Estate, or some other Excellence.
- Verfe 40. Ver. 40. And these are the names of the Dukes that came of Esau.] They feem now to have returned to their first Constitution; and Kings were laid aside for fome time. But in future Ages, we find they changed again, and then Kings reigned successively, the Son after the Father, as they did in Israel. Some think, these were the great Men, who ruled in Edom, in Moses his time.

According to their Families, &c.] They were the Heads of different Families; and lived in different Places; and, perhaps, reigned at the fame time, in feveral Parts of the Country : So the words feem to import.

Ver. 43. In the Land of their Possession.] In their Chapter own County; whilst the Seed of Jacob sojourned in a XXXVII strange Country, and possession to Land of their own.

He is Efau, &c.] He ends as he began. This is Verle 43. the Account of Efau; the Father of the People who are now called Edomites.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Ver. I. A ND Jacob dwelt in the Land, &c.] Ha-Yerfe I. ving given us an Account of Efau's removal to Seir, (XXXVI. 6, 7.) and of the Prosperity of his Family there : He now goes on to tell us, that Jacob still continued in the Country, where his Father had sojourned, in the Land of Canaan.

Ver. 2. These are the Generations of Jacob.] These Verle 2. words are to be connected with the latter end of XXXV. 23, 24, &c. where he relates how many Sons Jacob had; and then gives an account of the Family of Esau, (in the XXVI Chapter) which being ended; he returns to finish the History of Jacob.

And the Lad was with the Sons of Bilhah, &c.] Thefe words vehu naar, fignifie he was very young, in the fimplicity of his Childifh Years; and comein by way of a Parenthefis, in this manner. Joseph being feventeen Years old, was feeding the Flock with his Brethren, (and he was but a Youth, unexperienced, and therefore called a Child, verse 30.) with the Sons of Bilbah, &c. Which last words are an Explication of the former, flowing with which of his Brethren he was. Not with the Sons of Leah, but with the Rrr 2 Sons

A COMMENTARY.

Chapter S ns of his Hand-Maids: Particularly with Bilbab's XXXVII. whom we may look upon as a Mother to him, now Rachel was dead, having waited upon her. And Zilpha's Sons were also mentioned in the fecond place, as those, it is likely, who were thought to have less emulation to him, than the Sons of Leak. But we fee by this, how much our greatest Prudence often fails: For Reuben and Judab, the Children of Leak, had more kindness for Joseph than any of the rest.

Their evil report.] What evil Lives they led.

Verfe 3.

492

Ver. 3. Because he was the Son of his old Age.] Benjamin was more so than he; and the rest were born not many Years before him: But he is so called, because he had been married a good while to Rachel before he had him: And he was the greatest Comfort of his old Age; Benjamin not being yet grown up, to give any proof of his suture worth.

He made him a Coat of many Colours.] It is commonly thought to fignifie a Garment wrought with Threds of divers Colours; or made up of pieces of Silk or Stuff, which had much variety in them; or, wrought, as fome think, with Figures of Fruit, or other things. See Salmasius upon Flav. Vopiscus, p. 396. But Braunius (de Vestib. Sacerd. Hebr. L. I. cap. 17.) hath proved, I think, that the Hebrew word Passim here fignifies a long Garment, down to the Heels or Ankles; and with long Sleeves, down to the Wress: Which had a border at the bottom, and a Facing (as we speak) at the Hands, of another Colour, different from the Garment. See verse 23.

Verse 4.

Ver. 4. Could not speak peaceably to him.] In a kind and friendly manner: But churlishly, and with evident signs of hatred. Aben Ezra fansies, they would not

npon GENESIS.

not fo much as falute him, or with him peace (as the Chapter Phrase then was, peace be to thee) or, ask him how he XXXVII. did ; as our Custom is.

Ver. 5. Foseph dreamed a Dream.] This was usual Verse 5. among the ancient Patriarchs, and others alfo, as appears by Elihu: Who hows that all Dreams were not Illusions of Evil Spirits, Job XXXIII. 14, 15, &c. And long before his time Abimelech was warned by God in a Dream, Chapter XX. of this Book, Verfe 3, 6, 7. Upon which Confideration, (as Dr. Jackson well observes) we should not mistrust the Reports of several ancient Historians; who tell us how Princes and Fathers of Families have had Fore-warnings of future Events : Either concerning themselves, their Kingdoms, or Posterity, Book I. upon the Creed, chap. 9.

He told his Brethren.] This argues his great Innocence and Simplicity; that he had not yet understanding enough to confider, how ill this Dream might be expounded; or, not Prudence enough to conceal, what might be ill interpreted by them.

They hated him yet more.] The first ground of their Hatred was, their Father's great Love to him; and then, his informing their Father of their bad Behaviour : Which was still increased by the fine Clothes his Father bestowed on him; and now most of all, by this Dream; which they interpreted to fignifie his Superiority over them.

Ver. 7. Your Sheaves flood round about; and made Verle 7. obeysance, &c.] Or, gathered round about mine : Which was fulfilled, when they came for Corn into Egypt; of which these Sheaves, somethink, were an apt Reprefentation.

Ver.

493 "

A COMMENTART

Chapter Ver. 8. Shalt thou indeed reign over us?] It feems XXXVII. they could readily interpret the meaning of a Dream: Which shows how common they were in those Verse 8. Days.

For his Dreams, and for his Words.] This feems to import, that he had more Dreams of like nature; and was wont to talk of them: Which they thought favoured of Arrogance.

Verse 9.

494

Ver. 9. He dreamt yet another Dream.] Which confirmed the former; by repeating the fame thing, under different Figures. For as the former was taken from the Earth; fo this from Heaven: And is more comprehenfive than the former; for it concerns his Father as well as his Brethren.

Behold the Sun and the Moon, &c.] They feemed to defcend to him, or he to be carried up to them : Where they bowed, and layed at his Feet.

Verfe 10. Ver. 10. His Father rebuked him.] Gave him a check; that Joseph might not grow conceited of himfelf; and his Brethren might not be provoked to hate him.

> What is this Dream that thou hast dreamed ?] What an idle Dream is this ?

> Shall I, and thy Mother, and Brethren, &c.] Who can believe this? Thy Mother is dead, (which is fufficient to flow the vanity of this Dream) and thy Father fure is not to truckle unto thee; no, nor thy elder Brethren.

Verse 11. Ver. 11. His Brethren envied him.] Though Jacob feemed to flight what he faid; it incensed his Brethren against him.

But his Father observed the Saying.] He did not look upon it as a mere fancy; but thought there might be something in it. And therefore, though

he

upon GENESIS.

he thought fit publickly to flight it, yer he took fuch Chapter notice of it privately, that he preferved it in Mind, XXXVII. and laid it up in his Heart; as the Scripture elfewhere \checkmark fpeaks. And it really was fulfilled, when he went down into Egypt; and, no doubt, fhowed that Refpect which was due to the Vice-Roy of the Country : And fo did his Mother Bilbath, and all his Brethren.

Ver. 12. His Brethren ment to feed their Fathers flock Verle 12. in Shechem.] As their Flocks increased, so they inlarged their Pasture: And they often removed to find fresh Pasture. Besides, he had made a Purchase in this Place; where they fed his Flocks in his own Ground.

Ver. 13. Come, I will fend thee unto them.] Make Verle 13.. thy felf ready, that I may fend thee to inquire of thy Brethrens welfare. About which he was now the more folicitous; because they were gone to a place, where they had, some Years ago given great provocation to the Country, and their barbarous Cruelty.

Ver. 15. A certain Man found him.] Some take Verle 15. this to have been an Angel: Who took care of him, when he was at a loss, which way to go. So Maimonides, P. II. More Nevoch. cap. 42. Where he makes this Passage the very same with that XVI. 7. The Angel of the LOR D found her, &c.

Ver. 18. They confpired against him.] The Hebrew Verse 18. word fignifies, they took subtil and crafty Counsel against him to flay him. Laid their Heads together (as we now speak) to kill him so, that the Murder might be concealed from their Father.

Ver. 19. Behold, this Dreamer cometh.] In the He-Verle 19. brew, This Master of Dreams; or, a frequent Dreamer; one that hath Dreams at command,

A COMMENTART

Chapter Ver. 20. Cast him into some pit.] Which they were XXXVII. wont to dig frequently in those Countries, to hold Rain-Water for their Cattle, when they could not Verse 20. find a Spring, or were near to a River.

496

Verse 21. Verse 21. He delivered him out of their Hands.] Preferved him from being murdred by them, as they intended: Which he did by the following Counsel. Which seemed to have something of Humanity in it; and yet would effect what they resolved.

Verle 22. Ver. 22. Caft him into this pit.] That he might perish with Hunger.

> And lay no hands upon him, &c.] Let us not kill him. This he faid that he might fave his Life; intending fecretly to draw him out of the Pit, and reftore him fafe to his Fasher. By which piece of good Service, Reuben, perhaps, hoped to reconcile his Father to him; who was justly angry with him, for defiling his Bed, XXXV. 22.

Verfe 23. Ver. 23. His Coat of many Colours.] By this it feems he was diftinguished from the rest of his Brethren: Being not yet grown up to such laborious Imployments as they followed abroad; and therefore indulged to wear a richer fort of Garment, with his Father at home. For, according to the common Notion, it was wrought, or embroidered with Flowers; which was accounted Noble, as well as Beautiful, in ancient Times. As appears by Plato, who, commending the Government then admired in Greece, compares it to such a Garment that hath variety of Colours in it, L. VIII. de Republ. p. 557. Kudud Ga markisn aus around emerces is a an action and inder the arathism aus accounted with a first an action and markism aus a construction and a start and a start on a a start a start and a start and a start and a start a start and a start and a start and a start a start a start and a start and a start a start a start a start a start and a start a start a start a start a start and a start a start a start a start a start and a start a start a start a start a start and a start a start a start a start a start a start and a start a start a start a start a start a start a and a start a and a start a

upon GENESIS.

Ver. 24. The pit was empty, there was no Water in Chapter it.] This shows, the use of such Pits was to hold Wa-XXXVII. ter: Which at this time was dried up, for want of Verse 24.

Ver. 25. A company of Ishmaelites.] In the Language Verse 25. of these Times, it is called a Caravan: Merchants not daring to travel alone, or in small Numbers, in those Eastern Countries, through the Desarts; for sear of Robbers, or of wild Beasts.

From Mount Gilead.] They came from Parts beyond that; but passed that way to Traffick there.

With their Camels.] Which were, and still are, the most proper Beasts for Carriage in those Countries : Being able to travel a great way, in the Defarts, without Drink. And the Midianites (who are here the same with the Ishmaelites, v. 28.) had as great a breed of them, as any other Country: As Bochart observes, P. I. Hierozoic. L. II. cap. 3.

Bearing Spicery.] The word Necoth, which we, and a great many others translate Spicery in general, feems to fignifie fome particular fort of Spicery, as the following words do. A great many Conjectures there are, what fort; and Bochart most probably concludes it to be Storax. See the fore-named Book, P. II. L. IV. cap. 12.

Balm.] So Kimchi, whom the Modern Interpreters generally follow, expounds the Hebrew word Tzeri: Which the Ancients interpret Refin; and Bochart justifies them, by such Reasons as these. That there was no Balm in Gilead in these Days; but it was brought thither out of Arabia Fælix in the Reign of King Solomon: And then it grew on this fide Jordan, about Engaddi and Hiericho; not beyond Jordan in the Land of Gilead. Ib. Par. I. Lib. II. cap. 51.

Ver.

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 26. What profit is it, if we flay our Brother ? &c. 7 XXXVII. We shall get nothing by letting him dye in the Pit : Had we not better make Money of him ?

Verle 26. And conceal his Blood.] Though we should be able to conceal his Murder ; which is not easie to do.

Verse 27. Ver. 27. For he is our Brother, and our Flesh. 7 Natural Affection perfwaded to this; rather than to the other. The standard in the loss is the

And his Brethren were content.] As many of them as were then prefent; for Reuben was not among them at this Consultation.

Verle 28. Ver. 28. Then paffed by Midianites.] They are called Ishmaelites just before, verse 25. And so they are immediately in this very Verfe, [Sold Joseph to the Ifmaelites.] For they were very near Neighbours, and joyned together in Trade, making now one Caravan, with a Joynt Stock, as this Story intimates. Read Judg. VIII. 1, 2, 22, 23, 24, 26. and it will appear the Scripture speaks of them, as one and the fame People, in after-times.

> For twenty pieces of Silver.] Most understand so many Shekels : Which was a very small Price; but therefore demanded and no more, that the Bargain might be clapt up the fooner.

498

Verse 29. Ver. 29. Reuben returned to the pit.] He pretending some business, had withdrawn himself from the Company, with an intention, when his Brethren were gone from the Pit, to come privately and take Joseph out, and carry him to his Father. Upon that Defign he now came thither.

> Rent his Clothes.] As they used to do, when they mourned for the dead : Whereby he expressed his real Grief for his Brother.

> > Ver.

upon GENESIS.

Ver. 30. The Child is not.] He is dead; as this Chapter Phrase commonly fignifies. XXXVII-

Whether shall I go?] I know not whether to flee, to hide my self from my Father's Anger. Who might Verse 30. justly expect the eldest Son should take the greatest Care of him.

Ver. 31. And they took Joseph's Coat, &c.] His Bre-Verle 31. thren it feems perfwaded Reuben alfo, to joyn with them, in concealing the Sale of Joseph; and making their old Father believe he was devoured by fome wild Beaft.

Ver. 32. They fent the Goat, &c.] They first sent it Verse 32. by a Messenger; and immediately followed themfelves, with the Tale which is here related.

Ver. 33. An evil Beaft.] Some wild Beaft, of which Verse 33. there were great flore in those Countries, (luch as Lions, and Bears) for he could not fuspect his Brethren would kill him.

Ver. 34. Rent his Clothes, and put Sackcloth on his Verle 34. Loins.] This was the higheft degree of Mourning in those Days. We read often of putting on Sackcloth in future Ages, upon such fad Occasions: But this is the first time we meet with it; which shows the great Antiquity of such Customs.

Mourned for his Son many days.] Beyond the ordinary time of Mourning. Many Year's (as the word Days fometimes fignifies) perhaps, till he heard he was alive. So the following Verse feems to denote; that he refolved not to cease Mourning for him, as long as he lived.

Ver. 35. All his Sons and Daughters.] He had but Verse 35. one Daughter : Therefore the meaning is, his Sons, Wives, or their Daughters.

Chapter I will go down into the Grave, &c.] If Scheol here XXXVII. be expounded Grave, then the next words must be w who thus translated, mourning for my Son; as R. Solomon interprets them. For Joseph was not buried in a Grave; and therefore he could not think of going down to him thither. And thus Christophorus à Caftro upon the Second of Baruch acknowledges Scheol fignifies in this place, and interprets it in this manner. Lugere non desinam, donec me sepultura demandetis. I will not cease to mourn, till you lay me in my Grave. But if we follow our Translation, which is most common, I will go down to my Son, then Scheol must fignifie the State, or Place of the Dead; as it often doth : And particularly Ifaiah XIV. (where the King of Babylon is expressly denied the honour of a Grave, verse 19, 20.) Scheol is said, to be moved for him, and to meet him, and to fir up the dead for him. Verse 9.

Thus his Father wept for him.] Continued his Mourning; not only by wearing Sackcloth, but in fuch paffionate Expressions as these.

Verse 36.

500

Ver. 36. And the Midianites.] In the Hebrew the word is Medanim (a diftinct Name from those Verse 38.) who were a People derived from Medan, one of the Sons of Keturah, and Brother to Midian, XXV. 2. They and the Midianites lived near together in Arabia, not far from the Ishmaelites: Who all joy ned together in this Caravan, and made one Society of Merchants; confisting of Medanites, Midianites, and Ishmaelites.

An Officer.] The Hebrew word Saris, often times fignifies an Eunuch: By whom the Eastern Queens were attended. But it likewise fignifies all the great Courtiers, (as the Chaldee here translates it) such as the Bed-Chamber-Men, the Lord Chamberlain, (as we Chapter now (peak) and luch like Officers of State : And XXXVII. therefore is rightly translated here, for Potiphar had a Wife. The truth is, this was the prime fignification of the word : Till, in after times, the depravation of Manners, and the jealousie of the Eastern Kings. made them set none but Slaves, who were castrated, to attend their Queens; by whom they were preferred to great Offices; and fo came to enjoy this Name.

the

Pharoab.] This was a common Name to all the Kings of Egypt. See XII. 15.

Captain of the Guard.] The LXX. translate it, Mafter Cook: And so Epiphanius calls his Wife, 7 78'Agyuayeips, Heref. XXVI.n. 17. Our Margin hath it. Chief of the Slaughter-men, or Executioners. But the word Tabachime may better be translated Soldiers, than Butchers, or Executioners : And here, fome think, may denote him, whom we call the Provost-Marshal. Others, will have it, The Master of the Horse. But I fee no more proper translation than ours, Captain of the Guard : Or, rather, Chief Commander of the Kings's Guard; fuch an one as Nebuzaradan was, 2 Kings XXV. 20. For Schar is more than one whom we now call a Captain. See XL. 2. This Phrafe. Schar-Hatabachim is explained by Hottinger out of the Ethiopick Tongue. See Smegma Orient. p. 85.

CHAP.

A COMMENTARY.

502 Chapter XXXVI

CHAP. XXXVIII.

Verse 1. Ver. 1. A T that time.] It is uncertain whether he mean at the time Joseph was fold (which is just before-mentioned) or, at the time facob returned from Mesopotamia to live in Canaan, XXXIII. 18.0r when he went to settle with his Father at Mamre, XXXV. 27. But, take it any of these ways, there was time enough for all the Events following, before they went into Egypt; supposing Judah's Children to have married very young : As may be feen in most Interpreters.

Fudah went down from his Brethren.] Either upon some business, or in some discontent.

Adullamite.] A Citizen of Adullam ; which was a famous Town or City, that fell afterwards to the Tribe of Judah: Whole King was flain by Joshua, XII. 19. And where there was a famous Cave, in which David hid himfelf, I Sam. XXII. I.

Verfe 2.

Ver. 2. Judah sam there.] So as to fall in Love with her. For, according to the old Saying, "Ex 78 Spar To Epar.

A Daughter of a certain Canaanite] It was not fo bad for a Man circumcifed to marry the Daughter of one uncircumcised; as it was to give their Daughters in Marriage to an uncircumcifed Husband, (XXXIV. 14.) For an uncircumcifed Man was accounted unclean, though he had renounced Idolatry : But a Woman born of uncircumcifed Parents, was not fo accounted ; if the embraced the worthip of the True God. Whence Salmon Salmon, a great Man in the Tribe of Judah, married Chapter Rahab who was a Canaanite. Such a one we mult fup-XXXVIII pole this Woman, whom Judah married, to have been; or elfe he had offended his Father, as much as Efau did Ifaac, by marrying the Daughters of Heth.

Whose name was Shuah.] Her Father's Name was Shuah, verse 12.

He took her.] To be his Wife, verse 12.

Ver. 5. And he was at Chezib when fibe bare him.] Verle 5. Some think this Town the fame with Achzib, belonging to Judah, Jofb. XV. 44. But why Mofes mentions his Absence when this Child was born, and why he fets down the Place where he then was, we cannot give an account: Though there was, no doubt, fome special Reason for it. Perhaps it is to some, why the gave the Name to this and to her former Son, (whereas he himself named the first, verse 3.) because he was not at home when they were born.

Ver. 6. Whofe name was Tamar.] She seems also to Verse 6. have been a Woman of Canaan; but not an Idolater.

Ver. 7. Was wicked in the fight of the LORD.] Verle 7. i. e. Exceeding impious; and that notorioufly. See Gen. X. 9. What particular Sins he was guilty of, is but conjectured. Some fanfie they were of the fame Nature with his next Brothers. See Bonfrere, or Menochius out of him.

And the LORD flew kim.] Cut him off fuddenly, by fome unufual stroke.

Ver. 8. Go in unto thy Brother's Wife, &c.] This Verle 8. (fay the Hebrew Doctors) was an ancient Cuftom, in force by the Law of Mofes: Which only enacted what had been formerly practifed, (Maimon. P. III. cap. 49. More Nevoch.) that when a Man died without Iffue, his next Brother should marry his Wife, Deut.

A COMMENTARY.

Chapter Deut. XXV. 5. Which Cuftom afterward extended XXXVIII to the next Confin, if no Brother remained.

And raife up Seed unto thy Brother.] Preferve thy Brother's Name and Family; by begetting a Child, which may be accounted his, and inherit his Eftate. For fo the Law was; that the First-born of such a match was not to be lookt upon as a Child of him that begat him; but as his Brother's, who was the Mother's first Husband. All the following Children were to be his own.

Verse 9.

504

Ver. 9. Onan knew that the Seed should not be his.] i.e. The First-born should be reputed his Brother's Child.

Left he should give Seed to his Brother.] Or, left a Child should be born in the name of his Brother, as the Vulgar Latin interprets it very exactly, according to the Opinion of the Hebrews; as Mr. Selden observes, L. VII. de Jure N. & G. cap. 3.

Verse 10. Ver. 10. The thing which he did displeased the LORD.] This made his Sin the more heinous, that he acted against the Divine Promise made to Abraham, concerning the multiplying of his Seed; Especially against the Belief of the Promise of the Melsiah; that Seed for which all good Men longed.

Verle 11. Ver. 11. Remain a Widow in thy Father's House, &c.] It feems the Contract of Marriage at first, was so understood in those Days, that if the Husband died without Issue, the Woman must marry his next Brother; and, as long as any of his Brethren remained, they were bound to marry his Wise, and preferve their Brother's Memory : Or, else solemnly renounce her, to their great infamy and disgrace. This was so well known, that there is nothing in the Law, that enjoyns any new solemn Contract in such a Case : Cafe: Because the first Husband being dead, she and Chapter the next Brother were Man and Wife, without any XXXVIII. further Agreement, by Virtue of the Original Law: Until he renounced her. Yet by the Constitutions afterwards made by their Elders, it was ordained, that he should espouse and endow her solemnly before Witnesses: As Mr. Selden shows in his Uxor Hebr. Lib. 1. cap. 12. and Lib. 2. cap. 2. and 10.

But Judab thought Selab was too young to perform this contract; and therefore defired her to ftay till he was grown up: And to abide in her own Father's Houfe, rather than in his; that Selab might not think of Marriage too foon.

For he faid, Left peradventure he die alfo.] This fome make an Argument, that he never intended to give her his Son. But it is more agreeable to verfe 24, and 26. to think that according to the Cuftom of those Days, he could not refuse it. And therefore he thought it was their youthful Folly, which made his two other Sons perisch : Which made him resolve to keep this till he had more Discretion, and was better instructed in his Duty. Or, if we imagine their Sin was known to none but Tamar; the meaning may be, that he thought their marrying too young was the cause of their death: And therefore he determined to keep this only remaining Son, till he was of a riper Age.

Ver. 12. In process of time.] In the Hebrew the Verse 12. words are, The Days were multiplied, i. e. after some Years.

To Timmath.] A Town not far from Adullam, it is probable, for it was also within the Lot of the Tribe of Judah, Jofb. XV. 57.

Ttt

He

Chapter He went up to Timnath.] Some have made a diffi-XXXVIII. culty about this Phrase: For Sampson is faid to have gone down to Timnath, Judg. XIV. 5. But they fhould S have confidered (as Bochart observes, P. I. Hierozoic. L. III. cap. 4.) that these were two different Places, one called Timnah, the other Timnathah : This in the Tribe of Judah; the other in the Tribe of Dan. To this they went up, because it was in a mountainous Country : To the other they went down, because it was in a Valley.

> To his Sheep-flearers.] It was the Cuftom at fuch times to make a Feast, (as we do now) and to invite their Kindred and Friends to it, (as he doth his Friend Hirab) which appears sufficiently from the Story of Absalom, 2 Sam. XIII.23. For in those Countries, where they had vaft Flocks, Sheep flearing was a kind of Harvest: Which made that time to be observed with such Joy, as there used to be in Harvest. Whence David's Servants faid to Nabal, that they were come to him on a good Day; for he was thearing Sheep, I Sam. XXV.8. Accordingly Judah having finished the time of mourning for his Wife, went to recreate himfelf, with his Friends, atthis Festival Season.

506

Verse 14. Ver. 14. She put off her Widows Garments.] In which, it feems, fuch Perfons continued, till they were married to the next Brother. But she, at this time, laid them alide, that he might not have the least suspicion the was the Perfon whom he courted.

> Covered her with a Veil.] As all Women did, in the Eastern Countries, when they went abroad: And there are Examples of it also in the Western Parts. of the World; as Mr. Seldon at large flows, in his Uxor Hebraica, L. III, cap. 17. Where he produces

upon GENESIS.

duces several Passages out of the Alcoran requiring Chapter this.

507

Wrapt her felf.] Muffled her Face with it, as we fpeak, that the might not be known.

And fat in an open place.] Where two Ways met, as the Hebrew words feem to import: Unlefs we take it for a proper Name, as it is in the Margin of our Bibles. Either way, it fignifies, in a Publick Place, where every Body might fee her. It is commonly noted, That there was fo much Modesty left, in those ancient Days, that Harlots both went veiled, and alfo fat without the Cities, (see Origen L. IV. contra Celsum, p. 206.) But, however the latter part of this Observation be, the former part of it is not true. For, as Bochartus observes, (P. I. Hierozoic. Lib. II. cap. 46.) Proprium fuit meretricum non velari, sed revelari; it was proper to Harlots not to be covered, but to go bare-faced : As appears from Ifai. XLVII. 2. Nahum. III. 5, &c. All that can be answered to this is. That it might be otherwife, in very ancient Times. Which I do not take to be true : For all Women, as I observed before, were covered; and therefore Harlots were diftinguished only by their fitting in the High-ways, not by their Veils.

For the faw that Selah was grown, and the was not given, &c.] She refolved, if the could, to have a Child by one of this Family; and hoped, perhaps, that Selah might come along with his Father, and have the fame Defires his Father had : And in those Days (as I noted before) there were no fuch Solemnities required, as the Jews afterwards used (though the Law did not enjoyn it) to the making a Marriage with one's Brother's Wife. Which was to be contracted, they fay, before two Witness, and Tttz by Chapter by giving a piece of Money, or a Writing: But this XXXVIII. was ordained only by their Elders, not by the Ori-. ginal Law. See verse II. And therefore flie thought if the could have caught Selab by this Device, it would have been held Lawful : But this Plot failing her, she so far transgressed, as to admit Judah himself. to lie with her.

A COMMENTARY

508

Verse 15. Ver. 15. Because she covered her face.] This is not the reason why he took her for an Harlot; but why. he did not know her to be his Daughter-in-law, (as Mr. Selden observes in the place before-named, verse. 14.) because he could not see her Face: And he thought her to be an Harlot, because she sat in trivio, in the High-way; where the publickly exposed her felf.

Verse 16. Ver. 16. Let me come in unto thee.] There was an expréss Law that there should be no Kedeshah (or Whore) among the Daughters of Israel, i. e. none who should prostitute her Body without Marriage, Deut. XXIII. 18. Levit. XIX. 29. But before the giving of the Law (faith Maimonides) if a Man found a fingle Woman in a Publick Place, and they agreed on certain terms, to lie together without being married, they were not punished. See Mr. Selden. L. V. de Jure N. & G. cap. 4.

What wilt thou give me?] That which made such Facts not to be punished, was (faith the same Maimonides) because of the Contract which passed between them. This Reward which he gave the Harlot for the use of her Body, being like the Dowry a Man gave his Wife, when he put her away : Which being paid, it was thought he did her no wrong. More Nevoch. P. III. cap. 49. They that would now have their wicked Practices warranted by fuch Examples,

Part State

upon GENESIS.

amples; fhould confider that every thing not punish-Chapter ed by Men, was not allowed by God: And that we XXXVIII, now live under another Dispensation, which expressly forbids such uncleanness; and declares, that not only Adulterers, but Whoremongers, God will judge, i. e. punish, Hebr. XIII. 4. See verse 23.

509

Ver. 17. A Kid from the Flock.] Which was lookt Verse 17. upon as a valuable Present, in those Days; as I have observed before, XXVII.9.

Wilt thou give me a Pledge, &c.] A Pawn, as we now speak, to be returned, when he sent what he promised.

Ver. 18. Thy Signet.] His Ring, wherewith he Verse 18. fealed.

Thy Bracelets.] The Hebrews generally understand by this word, his Cloak, or fome fuch Garment. Others, his Girdle.

And thy Staff, &c.] Which, it is likely, had fomething in it, to diftinguish it from other Mens Staffs. And the asks so many things, that by some or other of them (if not by all) it might be certainly known, who was the Father, if the proved with Child.

And he came in unto her.] Not publickly; but in fome by place, to which they retired.

And fhe conceived by him.] Though he did not know her, yet fhe knew him: Which aggravated her Crime, and made it Inceft in her, though only Fornication in him. Unto which, one would think, fhe was tempted, by her vehement defire to have a Child, by one of this Family; unto which the Promife of the Meffiah belonged. For though the feems to have been one of the Seed of Canaan, (as I faid before, verfe 6.) yet embracing the Religion of facob, the renounced the Impiety of the Canaanites : And

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter so is mentioned in the Genealogy of our Saviour, as XXXVIII. well as Rahab and Ruth.

510

Verfe 19. Laid by her Vail from her, &c.] Retired Verfe 19. into her Father's House (for within Doors they did not wear Veils) where she cloathed her felf again, like a Widow.

Verfe. 21. Ver. 21. Where is the Harlot? By this it is appa-"rent that the word Kedeschah, fignifies a common Whore (as we speak) who publickly prostituted her felf for hire: As the Hebrew Doctors observes upon this place, and upon Deut. XXIII. 17. But whence this Name should be given to Harlots is a great doubt : it coming from a Root, which fignifies that which is Which hath inclined fome learned Men to Sacred. think, that the Women-Priests confectated to the Service of Baalphegor, or Priapus, who were no better than Whores; and the Men-Priest, who served Albteroth, mentioned 2 Kings XXIII. 7. made all Whores be called Kedeschim, which was the Name for those devoted to such impure Ministeries. See Mr. Selden, De diis Syris Syntag. I. cap. 5. and Syntag. II. cap. 2. But fuch beaftly Idolatry, furely, was not fo old, as the Days of Jacob: And it feems more reasonable to me to think, that the Original word fignifying Separation; it was applied either to those who were separated unto Holines, or unto Uncleannefs, as Harlots were.

> And they faid there was no Harlot in this place.] They knew of none, that publickly professed to be a Prostitute: Nor had they seen any one sit publickly to invite Customers.

Verse 23. Ver. 23. Let her take it to her.] Keep the Pledge to her felf.

Left

upon GENESIS.

Lest we be ashamed.] 'Though the Fact he had com- Chapter mitted was in those Days Lawful, (faith Maimonides) XXXVIII. that is, was not punished by the Judges; yet Men did not publickly bealt of it, nor were willing to own it; but were ashamed it should be known, (which was a fign they were fenfible there was a moral surpitude in it) and therefore endeavoured to hide and conceal it; even with the loss of those Goods which were of greatest value. For the Sence, faith he, of Judab's words is this, It is better to lose what the hath of ours, than by inquisition after it, to divulge the business, and increase our shame, More Nevochim, P. III. cap 49. where he bids his Reader obferve, this is the Moral Vertue, which ought to be learnt from this History; together with Justice and Equity; Which appears in his performing the Agreement he made of fending a Kid; of which he desires his Friend to be a Witness, that he might not lie under any suspicion of having offered Violence to her.

Ver. 24. Bring her forth.] Out of her Father's Verle 24. Houle, into the place of Judgment: Where he would have her fentenced to the feverest Punishment.

Let her be burnt.] Not prefently, (for that had been the higheft Injustice and Cruelty, to burn the Child in her Belly) but after she was delivered : Till which time he would have her kept in such fafe Custody, that this Execution might be done upon her. Some think burning was the Punishment for Adultery in those Days. Others think the Punishment depended on the Will of the Supreme Governor, whosever he was: Whom some also take to have been Judab himself; as Chief in his own Family: And that he was so fevere against her because the Chapter file had difgraced his Family, and he was glad to be XXXVIII. rid of her, that he might not give his Son Selah to her. But there are those, who think by burning is meant no more, but branding her in the Fore-head. to denote her to be an Whore. See Mr. Selden, L. VII. de Jure N. & G. cap. 5. If Judah did mean burning her at a Stake, (as we now speak) it was a Punishment not then commonly used, but inflicted (as his words are L. III. Uxor Hebr. cap. 12.) ex more scu lege aliqua singulari: By some singular Cuftom or Law.

ACOMMENTARY

All this proceeds upon a supposition, that the really was Selah's Wife, though not folemnly married (as the Jews pretend it was necessary, after the Law was given) by Virtue of the first Contract with his eldest Brother. Which was the reason of her being kept at her Father's House; that no Body else might pretend to her, but she be referved for him : Otherwife there could have been no ground for proceeding against her as an Adulteres.

512

Werfe 26. Ver. 26. She has been more righteous than I.] Thefe words do not fignifie, that the had in this matter committed a less Sin than he, (for the had committed a greater) but that in another matter, which was the occasion of this, he had broken his word with her, when the had, till now, kept her Faith with him; and lived a Widow honeftly in expectation of his Son. Besides, she committed this Fact, out of desire to have a Child; he, to satisfie his Luft.

And he knew her no more.] Which fome have tranflated quite contrary, and he ceased not to know her, i. e. he folemnly married her, and took her to be his Wife: Which was unlawful after the Law of Moles was given, but as lawful before, as many other things Chapter which they practifed. And two of the Chaldee Pa-XXXIX. raphrafts have feigned a Bath-coll to have come from Heaven, to countenance the Fact. See Mr. Selden, L. V. de Jure N. & G. cap. 9. and L. VII. cap. 5. But, it is not likely, he would take his Son's Wife, to be his own. And likewife having known her, though by an Error, most think Selab himself afterward had her not to Wife: But she rather did Penance (as we now speak) in Widowhood all her Days. For Selah, we find, had Children by another, Numb. XXVI. 19.

was

Ver. 28. This came out first.] Perceiving there were Verse 28. Twins struggling in her Womb, the Midwife, to distinguish this from the other, as the First-born, bound this Three about his Wrist.

Ver. 29. How haft thou broke forth ?] What is the Verle 29. Caufe of this? Or, what a Violence is this? Speaking as one aftonifhed at his Eruption. For it was without Example; and therefore the Novelty of the thing, made her break out into this Exclamation. Though, if it be true which a learned Anatomift affirms; that where Twins are of the fame Sex, they are wrapped in the very fame Secundines, as they call them, (whereas those that are of a different, are feparated by diftinct Inclosures) the other Son being ftronger and more vigorous, might force his way the more readily, when his Brother was nearer to the Birth. Fernelius, L. VII. Physiolog. cap. 12.

This breach be upon thee.] Take thy Name from this Breach. Be thou ever called Eruption or Breach; as Bochart interprets it. Hierozoic. P. I. L. II. cap. 30.

Ver.

A COMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 30 Called Zarab. 7 Which most think figni-XXXIX. fies as much as, he arifeth, (being used commonly of the Sun's rifing) because this Child appeared first, by Verfe 30. putting out his Hand before the other.

CHAP. XXXIX.

Verse 1. Ver. 1. A ND Joseph.] Having ended this Story of Judah, he returns to that of Joseph, which he had begun before in the XXXVII Chapter ; repeating, where he left off, how he was fold to Potiphar.

Brought down.] It is a descent from Judaa to Egypt : Which lies very low.

Verse 2.

514

Ver. 2. And the LORD was with Joseph. 7 To guide him in his Deportment, and in the Management of all Affairs committed to him : So that, as it follows, he mas a prosperous Man.

He was in the House of his Master.] One of his Domeftick Servants.

Verle 3. Ver. 3. His Master Sam that the LORD was with him, &c.] Found by Observation and Experience, that he was an extraordinary Person. It is not likely that Potiphar knew God, by the Name of Jehovah : But the meaning is, he observed the happy Fruits of Joseph's Service ; which Moses, not he, ascribes to the LORD's peculiar Bleffing.

And

Verse 4. Ver. 4. And he served him.] Found such Favour with his Master, that he took him to wait upon his Person.

And he made him Overseer over his House.] In time Chapter he advanced him to a higher Station, to be (as they XXXIX. now speak) his Major Domo; to whom all the Servants in the Family were to be obedient.

And put all he had into his Hand.] Committed all his Estate, both within Doors and without (as appears by the next Verse) to his Care and Management.

Ver. 6. He left all he had in 'Joseph's Hand.] Did Verse 6. not call him to a daily Account, nor concerned himfelf about any Busines: But trusted intirely to his Prudence and Fidelity.

And he knew not ought he had, fave the Bread which he did eat.] This is the highest Expression of Confidence; fignifying that he was utterly careles about any thing that concerned his Estate: Not minding what his Expence or Receipts were; but, taking his Ease, left all to foseph's Honesty. In short, he thought of nothing, but only to enjoy what he had, without any Care or Trouble.

And Joseph was a goodly Person, &c.] Being the Son of a beautiful Mother.

Ver. 7. Cast her Eyes upon Joseph.] Lookt upon Verse 7.] him Amorously, or rather Lasciviously: He being young as well as handsom.

Ver. 9. How can I do this great Wickednefs? &c.]Verfe 9. Here are three He Hejedia's, as the Hebrews call them; pointing us to fo many remarkable things. How shall I commit fuch a Wickedness as Adultery? Such a great Wickedness? Against fo kind a Master, who fo intirely trusts in my Integrity? Especially, fince it cannot be committed without the highest Offence to God?

Vvv2

Ver.

A COMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 10. Day by day.] Took all occasions to fo-XXXIX, licite him,

Or to be with her.] He avoided, as much as was pof-Verse 10. fible, to entertain any Discourse with her, shunning her Company, Gc.

Verfe 11. Ver. 11. About this time.] The Phrase in the Hebrew (where there are again two He's, of the fame kind with the former) fignifies fome remarkable Day. R. Solomon and Josephus think it was some Festival. when the Master and the reft of the Family were gone to the Temples; and fhe staid at home; feigning her felf not well. But the Vulgar translates it fimply, upon ; a certain Day. Or, it may fignifie, having the like Op-. portunity, as formerly, and Joseph being about his bufinels in the Houle, the caught him, O.c.

To do his business.] To cast up his Accounts ; faith ; the Chaldee Interpreters.

None of the Men of the House were within.] In that part of the House, where he was.

Verse 12.

Ver. 12. Left the Garment in her Hand.] If he had ftruggled to get the Garment away from her; the Acculation might have been more specious, that he went about to ravish her. Epiphanius hath made a good Reflection upon this Example. Karaliurraves דע ועמדות, א דל השעות צא מדלאטהי. 'אדראל פלסאנו ד τόπον, iva μή, πέση τη wayin, &c. vid. Haref. LXXIX. n. 9. He left his Garment, that he might not lofe his Body. And hunn'd the Place, that he might not fall into the Snare. And indeed it was dangerous, to adventure himfelf in her Company; much more to touch her, left he should fall into Temptation.

Werfe 14. Ver. 14. She called unto the Men of her Houfe.] Cried to them; who were in her Apartment, to come and . help hera. Her He hath brought in.] In her Rage, the reflects upon Chapter her Husband, as acceffory to her danger, that the XXXIX. might the more incenfe him again the Joseph. There is formething like this in Apuleius his Story (L. X. Metamorph.) of the Step-Mother's Love to her Son-inlaw; which was turned into Hatred, and made her contrive just fuch a Lye as this, when he would not yield to her.

To mock us.] To abuse our Family.

I cried with a loud Voice.] An improbable Story, (for no Body heard it) but was eafily believed againft a Servant; whom they all, perhaps, envyed. If fhe pretended it was done in Joseph's Apartment, the Question might have been askt her; What fhe did there?

Ver. 17. Came in unto me to mock me.] To offer Verle 17. Violence to me (as the Hebrew Phrase signifies) and rob me of my Chastity.

Ver. 18. He left his Garment with me.] Philo ob-Verse 18. ferves, that this was an Argument rather, that she laid hands on him : For he could have easily taken his Garment from her, if he had not fled has filly from her Importunity. But her Husband's Jealoussie made him credulous.

Ver. 20. Joseph's Master took him, &c.] Caused Verse 20. him to be apprehended, and carried to Prison. During his Anger, he would not hearken to the Apology, which we cannot but think he offered to make for himfelf. Unless we suppose (which is not unlikely) that his Master would not so much as see him; but ordered him immediately to be hurried to the Goal.

A place where the King's Prifoners were bound.] Where the King himfelf canfed those, who had offended.

ACOMMENTART

518

Chapter fended him, to be committed. This fhows Potiphar XXXIX. was a great Man, (fee XL. 3.) and that he lookt upon the Crime as very great : For this Prifon, we muft think, was moft frictly guarded, that they who were thrown into it, might not efcape Punifhment. And it appears by what the Pfalmift fays, CV. 18. that the Prifoners were hardly ufed : And that Joseph (XL. 15.) was thrust into the lowest part of the Prifon : Which was the most difmal; as well as of greatest difficulty to make an efcape out of it.

> And he was there in the Prison.] His Master proceeded no further against him: But there he left him. Perhaps, Joseph found means to let him know the truth; which made him not form any Process to take away his Life, or inflict any other Punishment on him: And yet, to fave his Wife's Credit, he let him lie in the Prison.

Verse 21. Ver. 21. The LORD was with Joseph.] The same Wildom, and Vertue appeared in him, now he was in Prison: That his Master discerned, when he came first into his House, verse 2.

Give him favour.] So that he had more liberty than the rest, after some short Confinement.

Keeper of the Prison.] The Under-keeper, it appears from XL. 4.

Verse 22. Ver. 22. Committed to Joseph's Hand, &c.] His Favour increased so much (as it had done in his Master's House, verse 4.) that he, in effect, was the Keeper of the Prison; not a Prisoner.

СНАР.

upon GENESTS?

519 Chapter XL.

In

CHAP. XL.

Ver. 1. HAD offended their Lord.] In the Hebrew Verfe 1. is a word of the Plural Number for Lord, viz. Adonim; ratione dignitatis, faith Bochartus; becaufe of his high Authority. And fo it is used not only, when he speaks of the King, but of great Men; particularly of. Joseph's Master, XXXIX. 2.

Interpreters do but guels at their Offence : Which might as well be an attempt upon his Life, (by Poifon, or other ways) as any thing elfe.

Ver. 2. Wrath against two of his Officers.] They are Verse 2... called by the same of Dignity (viz. Saris) which we met withal before, XXXVII. 36. For in all Courts such Officers had a principal Place. See verse 4...

Chief Butler.] Or, Cup-bearer to the King, verfe 13. He fimply named the Butler and Baker in the foregoing Verfe: But now the Schar (as the Hebrew word is) which in the next Verfe we translate Captain, i. e. the Principal Officer of those kinds. Which would incline one to think, that some Under-Butler and Baker were accused of a great Fault, for which the Head-Butler and Baker were to answer: Who, perhaps, were discovered to have ordered them to do what they did.

Chief Baker.] Who took care of all baked Meats, and Confections, &c. verfe 17.

Ver. 3. He put them in Ward, &c.] To be kept Verle 3. close Prisoners.

ACOMMENTARY

520 Chapter

XL.

In the House of the Captain of the Guard, Sc.] In that Prison, of which Potiphar had the chief Custody. Who by this appears to have been fuch an Officer, as we call Lieutenant of the Tower.

Into the Prison, where Foseph was bound.] Into that very place where Joseph had been bound. For now he was at liberty, in the Prison.

Verle 4.

Ver. 4. And the Captain of the Guard charged Jofeph, &c.] By this it appears Potiphar's Anger was mitigated towards him (having heard the Truth, it is likely, before this time) and was of the fame Mind, with the Under-Keeper of the Prifon : Who intrusted all'in Foseph's hand.

And he ferved them.] Attended upon them (which shows they were great Persons) to provide them what they wanted, Oc.

And they continued a season.] The Hebrew word is, Famim, i.e. Days : Which frequently fignifies a Year : as hath been observed before, XXIV. 55.

Verle 5.

Verle 6.

Ver. 5. Each Man according to the Interpretation of his Dream.] Suitable to the Office which he had held; and to the Events, which were shortly to befal them.

Ver. 6. Joseph came unto them in the Morning.] To fee that they were fafe, and to know what they wanted.

And behold they were [ad.] It was very extraordinary, that they should both of them dream, in the fame Night, fuch Dreams ashad a great refemblance, one to the other; and feemed to import a great Change in their Condition : Which made fuch a deep Impression upon them, that they were folicitous to know the meaning.

the Verle 8. Ver. 8. We have dreamed a Dream, and there is no Interpreter of it.] i.e. Here in Prison, we have not the opportunity, of getting them interpreted. If they Chapter had been at liberty, there were Men in those Countries who pretended to the Skill of Interpreting Dreams. Which for the most part were not to be regarded; but some Dreams carried such lively reprefentations in them, and so suitable to their present Condition, and made likewise so great a Commotion in their Spirits; that they could not but attend to them : Nay, think God had fent them, and therefore defire to know the meaning of them.

Thus we find Achilles advising Agamemnon (in Ho-Homer's Iliad I.) to consult with the Interpreters of their Gods, for what Offence they had sent the Plague among them; saying, To what Priest, or to what Prophet shall we go?

"א א טינופ פדטאסי, א ז אבל ד' לימצ כא בולה לדיי.

Or to what vender of Dreams? For even Dreams come from Jupiter.

Do not Interpretations belong to God?] Who can fhow the meaning of Dreams, but he that fent them? viz. God. This flows that God did fometime admonifh other Nations (as we faw XX. 6. XXXI. 24.) as well as the Jews by Dreams: Until they forgot (as Dr. Jackson judicioufly fpeaks) that Interpretations were from God, and laboured to find out an art of Interpreting.] Then they either ceafed, or were fo mixed with delufions, that they could not be difcerned: Or, if their Events were in fome fort forefeen; yet Men, being ignorant of God's Providence, commonly made choice of fuch means for their avoidance, as brought upon them the Events which they feared, Book I. on the Creed, chap. 9.

Xxx

521

Ver.

A COMMENTARY.

Chapter Ver. 12. The three Branches, are three Days.] i.e. XL. Signifie three Days. So he understood their meaning to be, rather than Months or Years; becau'e of their Verse 12. sudden budding, blossoning, knitting, and ripening of the Grapes, verse 10.

Verfe 13. Ver. 13. Shall lift up thy Head.]i. e. Advance thee; or, as it is in the Margin, reckon thee; number thee among his Servants (as the Phrafe is ufed, Exod.X X XI. 12.) For there being a Roll, or Catalogue of all the Officers of the Court, with their feveral Salaries, they were all called over on fome certain Day (it fhould feem by verfe 20. before the King's Birth-Day) and fummoned to give their Attendance. And then fuch as the King was offended withal, were ftruck out, and punished according to their deferts; or pardoned and graciously restored to their Places. This Exposition best agrees with the Event, verfe 20. where the Heads of both these Officers are faid to be listed up: Though one of them only, was advanced to his former Station.

Verle 14. Ver. 14. But think on me, when it shall be well with thee, &c.] When my Prediction is come to pass, I ask no other Reward of thee, but that thou wilt be an Instrument of delivering me from my Imprisonment. Joseph was not only grown expert in interpreting Dreams, (which he was not before he came into Egypt, XXXVII. 6, &c.) but fully affured he knew the right meaning of them; as appears by this Passage. And such kind of Predictions by Dreams were frequent in ancient Times, among the Heathen, as well as among the Hebrems: Though in after Ages they grew rare in both. For (as Dr. Jackson admirably speaks, in the place before-named) the increase of Wickedness in the World; multiplicity of Business;

upon GENESIS

Business; solicitude of Mind about worldly Affairs; Chapter and Menstoo much depending on Politick Devices to XL. accomplish their Ends; caused the defect of true Dreams, and of other Divine Admonitions, for the welfare of Mankind.

Ver. 15. Imas stolen.] Carried away by Violence, Verse 15. without the knowledge of my Father; and sold for a Slave. His Brethren, in selling him, committed that Crime, which the Latins call Plagium. For, Qui hominem liberum vendit, plagiarius est.

Out of the Land of the Hebrews.] Some Men would have it thought, that these words were added by 70-Ibna, or some other, after Moles his time : Because Canaan was not called the Land of the Hebrews in his days, much lefs in Joseph's. But they fould have confidered, that Joseph doth not call all the Land of Canaan by this Name; but only that part of it, where Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob had very long lived, viz. about Hebron. There Abraham (who was the first that is called an Hebrew) settled with his Family, when he came out of Chaldaa, XIII. 17, 18. There Isaac dwelt alfo, XXXV.27. and JacobXXXVII. 1, 14. where it is faid indeed, they were Strangers or Sojourners, in this Country : But they were Strangers of great Note and Name (as Jacobus Altingius hath well observed) who were treated as Princes, XXIII. 6. lived by their own Laws ; made Leagues, not only with private Men, but with Cities and with Kings, XXI. 22, 23. XXVI. 28. XXXIV. 6. and the Fame of them could not but be spread abroad, both by the Victory which Abraham got, in a Battel, over feveral Kings; and by the facking of Shechem, which the Neighbours durst not revenge. All which might well make that part of the Country wherein they XXX 2 had Chapter had refided for three Generations, be called the Land XL. of the Hebrews: Where they were at first planted, by the consent of the Natives; who were confederate with Abraham, XIV. 13.

> That they should put me into the Dungeon.]Into which he was thrown at the first, as a great Malefactor : For this was the lowest and darkest place in the Prison, being under ground. So the Hebrew word commonly fignifies, a Pit, either with or without Water in it : And thence, this part of a Prison. Which Bochartus well translates, cryptam fubterraneam; and sometimes fignifies a Grave, Pfalm XXVIII. I. Hierozoic. P. I. L. III. cap. 4.

Verle 16° Ver. 16. The chief Baker faw the Interpretation was good.] It was well the chief Butler propounded his Dream first, which had a good fignification: For if this Man had spoken first, the other, it is likely, would not have proposed his Dream.

Three mhite Baskets.] Or, as we now speak, three Wicker Baskets, and (as the Margin hath it) the Twigs so twisted, that they were full of holes; as ours many times are wrought.

Verle 17. Ver. 17. In the upper most Basket.] They were fet one upon another : In the lowermost of which, we may suppose, was Bread; in the middlemost Pies; and in the highest, the finer fort of Pastes of all forts, Bisket, Tarts, Gc.

Verfe 19. Ver. 19. Lift up thy Head.] The fame Phrafe which was used of the other, (verse 13.) but with this addition, from off thee. To fignifie, that his Name should be called for another purpose; that he might not only have his Name struck out of the Roll, but his Head struck off from his Body. Though there is no neceffity so to understand it; but only simply, that he should lose his life. And

upon GENESIS.

And shall hang thee on a Tree.] They that fansie his Chapter Head was first cut off, will have the Body only hang-XL. ed on a Gibbet. But it is more likely he was hanged by the Neck, as Malefactors are now among us, upon a Gallows.

And the Birds shall eat thy Flesh.] He was left there, to be devoured by Birds of Prey.

Ver. 20. Pharaoh's Birth-day.] Either the Day on which he was Born, or the Day on which he came to the Crown: Which was Natalis Imperii, the Birth-day of his Empire. Both of them were wont to be celebrated with Rejoycing and great Feafts; in ancient time, as well as now. See the Commentators upon Matth. XIV. 6.

Ver. 21. And he gave the Cup.] His Fault we may Verse 21. fuppose, was of a smaller Nature; or, there was not evident proof against him; or, he had better Friends, who interceded for him: So that he was not only pardon'd, but restored to his Office.

Ver. 22. But he hanged the chief Baker.] Ordered Verse 22. him to be hanged, being found guilty of what he was accused, &c.

Ver. 23. Tet did not the chief Butler remember Jo-Verle 23. feph, but forgat him.] He repeats it, to fhow how very unmindful he was of him. After the manner of those vain Courtiers, who have no value for Wisdom or Vertue, but are wholly given up to their Pleasures. It would have cost him nothing, to mention Joseph to Pharaoh: But he seems to have been one of those who will spend their Interest, as we now speak, for no Body but themselves. Or, as it may be interpreted, he did not as soon as he came to his Place call him to mind, who foretold his good Fortune: And so, in process of time, he quite forgot him.

CHAP.

ACOMMENTARY

526 Chapter XLI.

CHAP. XLI.

Verse I. Ver. I. A T the end of two full Years.] It is uncer-tain whether two Years after Joseph was first put in Prison, or after the Chief Butler was taken out of Prison. It seems to relate to the latter, being connected immediately with that Hiftory.

Pharaoh dreamed.] Had an extraordinary Dream; fent from God.

He flood by the River. Where they were wont to recreate themfelves; especially in hot Weather, and when they expected its Rife to fuch a Degree, as to give hopes of a plentiful Year.

Verfe 2.

Ver. 2. Behold, there came up out of the River.] This is a most apt and lively Figure; representing things exactly conformable to the state of that Country : Which was inriched by the yearly overflowing of the River Nilus. Without which the Beafts would have had no Grass to feed them, much less to fatten them. But Bochart thinks the Hebrew word Fear (which we translate River) properly fignifies, a Cut, as we speak, or a Canal out of Nile: Of which there were many, for the drawing its Water into feveral Parts of the Country, Hierozoic. P. I. Lib. II, cap. 42.

Well-favoured Kine, &c.] Or, Oxen. By which the Fieldsbeing ploughed, and all the business of Husbandry managed, their fatnels was a proper Token of Fertility; as their leanness was of Famine. So Bochart observes; and see Vossius de Idolol. Lib. I. cap. 29.

And

upon GENESIS

And they fed in a Meadow.] This represented Nile Chapter as having overflowed a great way; to the inriching XLI. of a Pasture, at a distance from the River.

Ver. 3. Stood by the other Kine.] This fignified, Verle 3. the Events denoted hereby, to be near one to the other.

Upon the Brink of the River.] Not feeding in a Meadow (as the former did) but picking up Grafs here and there near the River. For this was a fign, it had not overflowed at all, or very little: There being no Food for the Cattle; but on the River's Bank: Where, perhaps, he faw them eating the Flags.

Ver. 5. Came up upon one Stalk.] A Token of great Verse 5. Plenty.

Ver. 6. Blasted with the East-wind.] To this Wind Verse 6. (which the Hebrews call Kadim) is ascribed in Scripture, all the Mischief that was done to Corn, or Fruit; by Blasting, Smutting, Mildews, Locusts, &c. and was more pernicious in Egypt, than other places, because it came through the vast Desarts of Arabia.

Ver. 7. And behold, it was a Dream.] Or, behold Verse 7.-* the Dream, continued to run in his Mind. When he was awake, he could not put it out of his Thoughts, but it perpetually presented it felf to him; as it had done, when he was alleep. This shew'd it to be one of those Dreams, which the Greeks called Ostrunta, fent from God: As the Interpretation and the Event shewed afterward more evidently. Bochart notes out of Josephus, L. XVII. a Dream of Archelaus (mentioned Matth. II. 22.) composed of both these Figures. For he faw ten Ears of Corn very plump and ripe, devoured by Oxen. Which Simon Essent interpreted to fignifie, that he should live ten Years; and

A COMMENTARY

Chapter and then there should be a great turn of Affairs, (be-XLI. cause Oxen turn up the Ground, by the Plough) and accordingly it came to pass, Hierozoic. P. I. Lib. II. cap. 41.

Verse 8.

528

Ver. 8. His Spirit was troubled.] He could not reft fatisfied till he understood the meaning of these Dreams: Which he thought imported some great Alteration, in the State of his Country.

Called for all the Magicians of Egypt.] The word in Hebrew, (or rather Chaldee) for Magicians, had a bad fignification in after times: But what kind of Men they were now, we do not know. Whether they profefied to interpret Dreams and expound Things fecret, by natural Observations; or, such Rules as are now found in the Books of Oneirocriticks; or, by consulting Damons; or, only by the foolish Art of Aftrology, to which they were much addicted in such

Our learned Nic. Fuller, Lib. V. Miscell. Sacr. cap. 11. thinks the Hebrew word Chartummim imports, fuch as divined by certain Superstitious Characters, Pictures, Images, and Figures; which they engraved with Magical Rites and Ceremonies.

All the wife Men thereof.] These were the same, I suppose, with those who were called Philosophers in Greece. From whence several great Men went to learn of the Egyptian Priest: Who were famous for Wisdom before it came into Greece.

Told them his Dream.] He told them both his Dreams, as appears from what follows: But Mofes speaks in the Singular Number, because they were, in effect, but one and the same Dream.

But there was none that could interpret them.] Either they were amazed, and did not attempt an Exposition, tion, as beyond their Skill; or, what they faid gave Chapter no fatisfaction to the King. The feven Kine, and the XLI. feven Ears, it is likely they thought had a great Myftery in them; if the worthip of the Planets were then among them. Which they invoked with fecret or inutterable Invocations, $K \lambda horson a p Signator, (as the$ Oracle mentioned by Porphyry speaks) which wereinvented by that most excellent of all Magicians (faiththe fame Oracle) the King of the feven Sounds, whomall Men knew, i. e. Oftanes or Hostanes.

----- Άς εῦρε Μάγων δχ' ἄθλ5 . Έπλαρθόγγε Βασιλδίς εν πάντες Ισάσν.

By which feven Sounds (of which he was the Inventor and Governor) Mr. Selden thinks is meant the Harmony, which the Ancients fuppofed the Seven Planets to make. Whom these Magicians called upon $i\pi$ lanepávku, with feven Invocations to each Planet, upon its proper Day. As he fhews, Lib. III. de Jure N. & G. cap. 19. But the more they laboured to find out this Mystery, the more they were puzzled and perplexed in their Thoughts: Nor could their Prayers (if they went that way to work) help them to difclose the Secret.

Ver. 9. Ido remember my Faults this day.] Call to Verse 9. mind the Offences I committed against Pharaoh: Or, assome will have it, my Ingratitude to one, who was in Prison with me.

Ver. 11. Each Man according to the Interpretation of Verle 11. his Dream.] Just according to the Event, was each of our Dreams.

Ver. 13. As he interpreted to us, fo it was.] He re-Verse 13. peats the thing often; to show how exactly foseph hit the Truth in his Interpretation.

Me

A COMMENTARY.

Chapter Me he reftored to my Office. &c.] He told me, that on XLI. fuch a Day, I should be reftored to my Office; and he told the other he should be hanged.

Verfe 14. Ver. 14. Brought him hastily.] With all speed; that Pharaob might not continue in suspence.

> Out of the Dungeon.] It is reasonable to think, That though he was thrown into the Dungeon at the first, (XL. 15.) he did not continue there, when he lookt after all the Prisoners, and did the whole businels of a Keeper, XXIX. 22, 23. Therefore this Part, as is usual, is put for the Whole: Signifying no more, than that they brought them out of Prison; where he had been in the Dungeon.

> And he fhaved himfelf, &c.] It was the Cuftom in most Countries, when Men were in a mournful Condition, to neglect their Hair, both of the Head and the Beard : And not to shift their Clothes, as in Prosperity; but to continue in a rueful Drefs, whereby they expressed the Sence they had of their Calamity.

Verle 16. Ver. 16. It is not in me.] A modest answer. I do not pretend to more Wisdom, than those thou hast already confulted.

> God shall give Pharaoh an answer of peace.] But God, I doubt not will direct me to give the King a satiffactory answer: Nay, an answer that shall be serviceable to him and his Kingdom.

Verfe 17. Ver. 17. And Pharaoh faid unto Joseph, &c.] We may well suppose that Joseph defired to know the Dream: Which Pharaoh repeats in this, and the following Verses, something more fully than it is set down before.

Verse 21. Ver. 21. When they had eaten them up it could not be known that they had eaten them, &c.] An Emblem of

npon GENESIS.

of a very grievous Famine : Which is represented, Chapter not only by the lean Kine devouring the Fat, (as much as to fay, the barren Years confuming all the growth of the Fertil) but by their remaining Lean, as if they had eaten nothing : Which reprefents what often happens in Famine : that Men eat greedily, but are not satisfied : Because God breaks the Staff of Bread, Levit. XXVI. 26. i. e. takes away its nourifhing Virtue; as Bochart expounds it, Hierozoic. P. I. Lib. II. cap. 41. But this feems to be a straining of that Phrase, break the Staff of Bread : Which signifies no more, than want of Bread to support Man's Life. And all that can be gathered from this part of the Dream, is; That there fould be fuch exceeding great fcarcity, that Men fould have but just enough to keep them alive.

Ver. 25. The Dream of Pharaoh is one.] One and Verse 25. the fame thing is reprefented, by two feveral Figures.

God hath hern Pharaoh what he is about to do.] God hath in these Dreams revealed by Pharaob, what he intends (hortly to bring to país.

Ver. 26. The seven good kine, &c.] He represents Verse 26. in this, and in the following Verse, how one thing is fignified by two Dreams. Seven good Kine, and feven Good Ears, representing seven Years of plenty ; and feven lean Kine, and feven empty Ears, as many Years of scarcity.

Ver. 28. This is the thing which I have spoken, &c. Verse 28. I have told the King in fhort, what the Divine Providence is about to effect.

Ver. 29. Behold there come seven Years, &c.7 I will Verse 29. repeat it more at large. Take notice then, that in the next seven Years to this, there shall be very great

Yyy 2

5-21

XLI.

Chapter great crops of Corn, every where, throughout the XLI. whole Country.

- Ver. 30. And there shall arife after them, &c.] And Verse 30. immediately after they are ended, shall follow seven Years as barren as the former were fruitful; the Earth bringing forth little or no Corn. Which will make so great a Famine, that there shall be no memory of the foregoing plenty; for there shall be no Corn left, but all eaten up, throughout all the Land of Egypt.
- Verfe 31. Ver. 31. And the plenty shall not be known, &c.] I fay, there shall be no mark remaining of the foregoing Plenty; by reason of the extream Scarcity, in the following Years, which will be very heavy.
- Verle 22. Ver. 22. And for that the Dream was doubled, &c.]The repetition of the Dream fignifies the certainty of what I fay: God having fo determined ; who will shortly justifie the Truth of my Predictions. But here, and in the foregoing Discourse, verse 25, 28. he directs Pharaoh to look up unto God, as the Author of all these Events ; and that not in an ordinary, but extraordinary manner. For fuch Fertilty, and fuch Famine did not proceed from mere Natural Caufes ; but from an Over-ruling Providence. It is observed by Pliny, L. V. Nat. Hist. cap. 9. that when Nile rofe only tmelve Cubits, a Famine followed : When thirteen, great Scarcity : When fourteen, they had a good Year : When fifteen, a very good : And if it role fixteen, it made delicias, luxuriant Plenty : And the greatest increase they ever knew, was to eighteen Cubits. Now that this River should overflow fo largely for feven Years together, as to make vaft Plenty ; and then for the next feven Years not to overflow its Banks at all or very little, and so make a sore and and long Famine; could be ascribed to nothing but Chapter an extraordinary Hand of God; it being quite out XLI. of the course of Nature. And indeed the Dream sto signifie fomething beyond that; for it is unnatural for Oxen to devour one another.

533

Ver. 33. Look out a Man discreet and wise.] One Verse 33. fit to manage so great an Affair. He that could foretel such Events, was fit to advise what was to be done upon the foresight of them. But, it's probable, he did not presume to give such Directions, till he was askt his Opinion.

Ver. 34. Let Pharaoh do this.] When this is Verse 34. done.

Let him appoint Officers.] Let that chief Ruler appoint Officers under him, in the feveral Provinces of the Kingdom: Such as the Romans called Prafectos Annona.

Take up a fifth part.] Some have askt why not the half, fince there were to be as many Years of Famine, as of Plenty. To which fuch answers as these have been given by Interpreters : That the greater and richer fort were wont in time of Plenty to fill their Store-Houses; as a Provision against a scarcer Year, which sometimes hapned. And, Secondly, That in time of Famine. Men are wont to live more frugally; and not spend so much as they do in better times. And, Thirdly, That even in those Years of greatest Famine, something might be sown : at least near the Banks of Nile. But the plainest Answer is, That ten Parts being the Tribute due to Kings in many Countries, and it is likely here, (as I observed upon. XXVIII. ult.) Pharaoh was advised to double this Charge, in the Years of extraordinary Plenty : Whenthe fifth Part was not more than the tenth in other Years:

A COMMENTARY

Chapter Years. Or, (which is rather to be supposed from XLI. a good King and a good Councellor) to buy as much more as was his Tribute; Which he might do at an easie rate, when vast Plenty made Corn very cheap.

Verse 35. Ver. 35. Gather all the Food of those good Years that come.] The fifth Part of the growth of the next serven Years.

And lay up Corn.] In places provided for that purpose.

Under the Hand of Pharaoh.] Not to be medled withal, but kept by Pharaoh's order; to be difpenfed hereafter, as need shall require.

And let them keep Food in the Cities.] Let this Food be referved in the feveral Cities of the Kingdom.

Verse 36. Ver. 36. And that Food shall be for store.] Shall not be spent; but laid up and preserved against the time of Famine.

That the Land, &c.] The People of the Land do not perish.

Verfe 37. Ver. 37. And the thing was good in the Eyes, &c.] The King and all the Court were pleafed with this Advice. But fome may wonder that Pharaoh and his Ministers should so readily believe a young Man, and a stranger; of a Nation whom they did not converse withal, and lately accused of a great Crime. But they may be fatisfied, by considering, that Joseph had cleared himself in the Opinion of the Keeper of the Prison; where he had been known already to have interpreted Dreams exactly according to? the Events, in two notorious Cases, which the chief Butler had reported, verse 12, 13. And besides, his Exposition of the Figures which Pharaob faw in his Dream,

upon GENESIS.

Dream, was fo natural, that it was apt to beget be- Chapter lief, if he had not been an Expounder of Dreams XLI. before. And above all it is to be confidered, that God who fent the Dreams, and made them flick in Pharaob's Thoughts, difpoled his Mind alfo to receive the Interpretation, with a deep Senfe of its Truth.

535

Ver. 38. Pharaob faid to bis Servants.] The great Verle 38. Ministers of the Kingdom, and Officers of the Court, who stood about him.

In whom is the Spirit of God.] Without which, he could not forefee and foretel fuch things.

Ver. 39. And Pharaob faid unto Joseph.] It feems Verse 39. all his Servants were of Pharaoh's Mind, and consented to what he said : Being amazed at the Wisdom, which appeared in Joseph.

Farafmuch as God hath shewed thee all this.] God wrought in him the highest Opinion of Joseph, as a Man Divinely inspired.

There is none so discreet and wife as thou art.] Thou thy self art the only Person, whom thou advises the to set over the Land, verse 32.

Ver. 40. Thou shalt be over my House.] Be the chief Verse 40. Minister in my Court : For that is meant by his House.

And according to thy word.] As thou shalt give Orders.

Shall all my People be ruled.] The Margin tranflates it armed; as if he put the whole Militia of the Kingdom into his Hands: But this feems too narrow a Sence; nor was there any thoughts of War at this time, but of the Government of the Kingdom in time of Peace. And therefore we also translate it kis, i. e. obey, as the LXX and Vulgar well translate it; Chapter it; and as it fignifies in Pfalm II. ult. kifs the Son, XLI. i. e. submit to him, and obey him.

530

Only in the Throne will I be greater than thon.] Thou fhalt have no Superiour, but only my felf.

Verse 41. Ver. 41. See, I have set thee over all the Land of Egypt.] He had advised Pharaoh only to set a Man to be the chief Inspector of the Stores of Corn, verse 33. (for which Pharaoh thought none so fit as Joseph himself, verse 39.) but he now constitutes him Chief Governor, under him, in all Affairs of the whole Country.

Verle 42. Ver. 42. Took off his Ring, &c.] This is well explained by Volfius, Lib. I. de Orig. & Progr. Idolol. cap. 9. in these words, Tum ut Symbolum dignitatis, tum ad literas & diplomata publico nomine fignandas: Both in Token of the Dignity to which he was preferred; and that he might seal Letters and Patents in the King's Name.

Vesture of sine Linnen.] So the Hebrew word Schesch fignifies, rather than Silk, (as it is translated in the Margin) though not the common Linen, but that which the Ancients called Bysus: Which Pollux faith was Nive TADG, a fort of Linen, very pure, and soft; and very dear; because it did not grow every where. Linum tenuissimum S pretiosissimum, as Braumins shows, Lib. I. de Vestib. Sacerdot. Hebr. cap. 6. In Garments made of this, great Men only, not the Vulgar People, were cloathed: Kings themselves, it appears by Solomon, being arrayed in such Vestures.

Put a gold Chain about his Neck.] Another Token of the highest Dignity.

Verle 43. Ver. 43. Made him ride in the second Chariot which he had.] In the best of the King's Coaches (as we now now speak) except one, which Pharaob referved for Chapter himfelf: And attended, no doubt, with a fuitable XLI. Equipage, of Foot-men, and Horse-men, perhaps, for a Guard to his Person.

Cried before him. Bow the Knee. They that went before his Chariot, to make way for him, required all to do him fuch Reverence, as they did to the King himfelf, when he appeared : Which was by bowing their Knees or their Body. The word they used to this purpole, as they went along, was Abrech : Which we translate bow the Knee, deriving it from the Hebrew word Barach, which hath that Signification. Though others will have it to fignifie the Father of the King : For Rach in the Syrian Language fignifies a King, if we may believe R. Solomon. Others tranflate it, a tender Father; viz. Of the Country which he had preferved. (See Vollius, L.I. de Idololov. 29:) And Hottinger will have it as much as God face the King; or, a Bleffing light on you. See Smegma Orient. p. 131. But unless we understood the old Egyptian Language, I think we had as good reft in the Hebrew Derivation, as in any other; according to our own Translation.

And he made him Ruler over all the Land of Egypt.] After this manner he constituted him Supreme Governor of the whole Country, under himself: According to his Resolution, verse 41.

Ver. 44. I am Pharaoh.] This is my Will and Verle 44. Pleasure; who am King of Egypt.

Without thee fhall no Man lift up his hand or foot, &c.] A Proverbial Speech. Let no Man prefume to do the fmalleft thing, in Publick Affairs, without thy Order.

27.2

Ver.

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 45. And Pharaoh called Joseph's Name.] He LXI. gave him a new Name; partly, because he was a Foreigner; and, partly, to honour him; and yet to de-

538

Verle 45. note him to be his Subject; though Ruler of every-Body elfe. We find Nebuchadnezzar did the fame in Babylon, Dan. I. 7. And it is still the Custom in the Eastern Countries: Where the Mogul never advances any Man, but he gives him a new Name; and that fignificant of fomething belonging to him. As not long ago; he called his Brother-in-law Asaph Chan, the gathering, or the rich Lord : And his Physician Macrod. Chan; the Lord of my Health, &c. as Peter de la Valle relates in his Travels, p. 465: where he obferves the fame of his Wives; p. 470.

Zaph-nath Paaneah.] Which St. Hierom interprets, the Saviour of the World. But the whole Stream of Interpreters carry it for another Signification; which is the Interpreter of Secrets; or the Revealer of future things: See Sixt. Amama; and Athan: Kirker his Pro-dromus; cap. 5. and our Countryman J. Gregory, chap. . 16. of his Observations. Who, with Mr. Calvin, thinks it is ridiculous to attempt to make this Senfe out : of the Hebrew Language: And yet there are those who think they have done it with success. Tzaphan being to hide or cover; whence Tzaphnath, that which is. hidden, or fecret : And Panah fignifying, to look into or contemplate. So that Campeg. Vitrigna thinks 70fephus and Philo not to have ill interpreted this word, Overpone ims and aputo in Euperis. (Obferv. Sacr. Lib. I. cap. 5.) an Interpreter of Dreams, and a Finder out of things hidden. But as Jacchiades observes upon Dan.I.7. that the Egyptian and Persian Kings gives Names, for Honour and Glory, (in token of their Supreme Greatnefs and Authority) fo it was most for their Glory, to to give them out of their own Language. And there- Chapter fore if this be the meaning of Zaph-nath Paaneah, the XLI. Egyptian Tongue and the Hebrew had a great Affinity

And he gave him to Wife.] Either the King then disposed of the great Noble-Mens Daughters, when their Parents were dead, (as our Kings lately did of their Wards) or Afenath was of Pharaoh's Kindred, and so he provided her a Husband, and gave her a Portion. Or, the meaning simply is; he made this match for him.

The Daughter of Potipherah.] This is a different Name from his, who was Captain of the Guard; and was of a different Quality. And therefore there is no reason from some likeness in their Names, to think that Joseph married the Daughter of him who had been his Master: For he would have abhorr'd to match with one, that was born of so lewd a Woman as his Mistres; as Vossiw well observes in the place fore-named.

Priest of On.] Or, Prince of On, (as the Margin hath it) for the word Cohen signifies both Priest and Prince, (see 2 Sam. VIII. nlt.) Priests being anciently the Prime Men of the Kingdom; for Kings themselves were Priests.

On was a famous City in Egypt, called afterwards Heliopolin: Which gave Name to one of the Nóuze, i. e. Provinces of Egypt, whereof this Poti-pherak was Governor, or Lieutenant. Concerning which Province, and Afenath, and Poti-pherah, see Mr. Selden, L. III. de Synedriis, p. 406.

And Joseph went out over all the Land of Egypt.] To fee what places were fittest for Stores.

Ver.

ACOMMENTARY

Ver. 46. Joseph was thirty Years old.] So he had Chapter been out of his own. Country thirteen Years ; for he LXI. was but seventeen Years old (XXXVII. 2.) when he Verle 46. was fold into Egypt. In which time, we may well think, he had learnt the Language of that Country, and gained much Experience; but never fent to his Father : In which there is visibly a special Providence of God; for his Father might have used means for his Deliverance, and then he had never come to this Greatness.

When he flood before Pharaoh.] When Pharaoh made him his Prime Minister. For the great Counsellors and Ministers alone, were admitted into the King's Presence, (in the Eastern Countries, and, it's like, the fame State, was kept here) and are faid to ftand before the King, Dan. I. 29. and to fee the King's Face, Efther I. 14.

And went throughout all the Land of Egypt.] He feems to have only taken a general view of the Country before, verse 45. but now a more particular; to: give Orders for the Building of Store-Houses, against the plenteous Years came.

540

Werfe 47. Ver. 47. Brought forth by bandfuls.] Such large Ears, that a few of them would make a Sheaf: Which our Translation seems here to mean by handfuls : For Sheaves are. bound up with Mens Hands. And fo it may be interpreted, it brought forth Sheaves, or Heaps : Or, more literally, handfuls upon one Stalk, i.e. vast abundance. Some conceive the Corn was laid up in Sheaves, heaped up very high; and not thrash'd out : For so it would keep the lonc ger:

Verle 48. Ver. 48. And he gathered up all the Food.] The fifth Part, as he had proposed, verse 34. i. e. he bought it; which.

upon GENESIS.

which he might do at a small Price, when there was Chapter unusual Plenty. XLI.

And laid up the Food in the Cities.] It is very probable he laid it up, as it was gathered, unthrash'd: That there might be Food for the Cattle also. So the Vulgar, In manipulos reduct fegetes congregate funt in horrea. And what was laid up in the first Year of Plenty; it is reasonable to think was difpensed in the first Year of Famine, Se.

Round every City.] This was very wifely ordered; for it was lefs charge to Pharaoh for the prefent, and more easile to the Country, when they wanted Provision.

Ver. 49. Gathered Corn as the Sand of the Sea.] The Verle 49. following words explain this Hyperbolical Expression on. And the reason of his heaping up so much was, that there might be sufficient to supply the Necessities of other Countries, as well as of Egypt.

Ver. 51. God hath made me forget all my toil.] The Verfe 51... great Affliction, and hard Labour he endured in Pri-fon.

And all my Father's House.] 'The Unkindness of his Brethren, who were the cause of all his Trouble. By imposing this Name on his First-born, he admonished himself in the midst of his Prosperity, of his former Adversity: Which he now thought of with Pleasure.

Ver. 52. In the Land of my Affliction.] In the Coun-Verle 52. try where I have fuffered much Affliction.

Ver. 53. And the feven Years of Plenteoufnefs, were Verle 53. ended.] It was belied the Intention of Mofes to relate any of the Affairs of that Country, but what belonging to this Matter: And therefore he paffes over all other Transactions of these feven Years; as he doth

A COMMENTARY

Chapter doth all the things that hapned in Jacob's Family, ever XLI. fince Joseph came from it.

543

Verle 54. Countries thereabouts, Canaan, Syria, &c. It feems there was a general want of Rain.

> But in all the Land of Egypt there was Bread.] They did not feel the Famine prefently, because they had much to spare from the former Years of plenty.

Verse 55. Ver. 55. And when all the Land of Egypt was famished.] When they had eaten up all their own Stores: Which, we may suppose, failed in two Years time.

The People cried to Pharaoh, &c.] Made earnest Petitions to the King, for relief of their Necefsities.

Verse 56. Ver. 56. And the Famine was over all the face of the Earth.] Grew still greater in all the Neighbouring Countries.

And the Famine waxed fore in the Land of Egypt.] For the Egyptians themselves, having spent all their own Stores, were sorely pinch'd.

Verle 57. Ver. 57. And all Countries came to buy Corn, &c.] i. e. The Neighbouring Countries, as was faid before, verfe 54. For, if the most distant had come, the Store-Houses had been soon emptied.

Becaufe the Famine was fore in all Lands.] It increafed more and more, in those Countries beforenamed: Which were grievously afflicted by it.

CHAP.

upon GENESIS.

543 Chapter XLII.

G H A' P.' XLII.

Ver. 1. A ND when Jacob faw that there was no Corn in Verse 1... Egypt, &c.] He faw, perhaps, some pass by laden with Corn, which they had bought there. Or, one Sense (as is frequent in Scripture) is put for another : Seeing for Hearing; as it is expressed, verse 2.

Why do ye look one upon another?] As idle People ufe to do, while none of them will ftir to feek Relief. Or, rather, as Men that know not what course to take, expecting who would begin to advise for their. Prefervation.

Ver: 2. That we may live, and not die.] He excites Verse 22. them to make no further delay, by the great Necefsity wherein they were; no less than danger of perishing.

Ver. 4. Left mischief befal him.] He being, as yet, Verse 4. but young, and not used to travel, Jacob was afraid the Journey might be hazardous to him. Besides, he could not but defire to have some of their Company 3. though this was not his principal Reason.

Ver.5. Came to buy Corn among those that came.] Peo-Verse 5. ple came from all Parts thereabout, upon the same busines: And Jacob's Sons among others; whom, perhaps, they met withal upon the Road.

Ver. 6. And Joseph was the Governor, &c.] The He. Verse 6. brew word Schallit fignifies sometimes, one that hath absolute Power: And seems to be used here to set forth the high Authority which Joseph exercised under Pharaoh.

He

ACOMMENTART

Chapter He it was that fold to all the People of the Land.] XLII. Appointed at what Rates Corn fhould be fold, in every Part of the Country. For it is not to be fuppofed that he in Prifon, could treat with every Man that came to buy: But he, by his Deputies, who obferved his Orders.

And Joseph's Brethren came.] It fhould feem by this, that all Foreigners, were ordered to come to him; in the Royal City, where he refided: Or, at leaft, their Names were brought to him, that he might speak with such as he thought fit: And thereby get the better Intelligence of the State of their several Countries; and be sure to see his Brethren, who, he knew, would be constrained to come thither.

They bowed themselves before him, &c] Unwittingly fulfilled his Dream. This feens to have been done after the manner of their own and other Eastern Countries; not of Egypt, where they only bowed the Knee, XLI. 40.

Verse 7.

544

Verse 8.

Ver. 7. Spake roughly to them.] Gave them hard words, as we speak. Or, spake in harsh Tone to them, and with a stern Countenance.

Ver.8. And they knew not him.] They had not feen him in twenty Years: In which time a Youth alters far more than grown Men do; fo that, though he knew them, they might not know him. Who appeared alfo in fuch Pomp and State, that it made them not think of him: And he spake also to them by an Interpreter, verse 23. Which represented him as a Stranger to them.

Verse 9.

Ver. 9. Ye are Spies.] He did not think they were fuch Perfons, but faid this to provoke them, to give an account of themfelves, and of his Father. Nor is there any reafon to look upon this as a Lye. For they

upon GENESIS.

they are not words of Affirmation, but of Probation Chapter or Trial: Such as Judges ufe, when they examine XLII. fulpected Perfons, or inquire into a Crime, of which Men are accufed. And therefore have the force of an Interrogation; Are ye not Spies? Or, I must take you for Spies, till you prove the contrary.

To fee the nakedness of the Land are ye come.] The weak Places of the Country; which are least defenfible. Or, as others will have it, the Secrets of the Land: For it is the same word that is used to express the Privy Parts.

Ver. 11. We are all one Man's Sons.] There needed Verfe 11. no more than this to take off his Sufpicion. For no Man would have fent his Sons, but rather his Servants, if they had come upon an ill Defign: Or, at leaft, not all his Sons; or, not all of them together in a Company: But difperfed them rather about the Country. Nor was it probable, that one Man could have a Defign upon Egypt; but all the great Men of Canaan mult have joyned in it: And then they would have fent Men of different Families, not all of one alone.

We are true Men.] This was a good Argument, that they faid true, when they told him (verse 10.) they had no other business in Egypt but to buy Corn.

Ver. 12. And he faid unto them, Nay, &c.] Unless Verfe 12. you have better Arguments than this, I must take you for Spies. He slights their Argument, as great Men sometimes do, when they know not presently how to answer it. He had a mind also to have them give a further account of their Family, that he might be informed what was become of his Brother Benjamin.

Aaaa

Ver.

ACOMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 13. Thy Servants are twelve Brethren, &c.] LXII. They inforce their former Argument, by relating their Condition more fully and diftinctly. But Verse 13. still it amounts to no more than this; That it was not likely a Parent would venture all his Children,

540

The youngest is this day with our Father.] This was the thing he desired to know.

And one is not.] Is dead. So they thought, because they had heard nothing of him in twenty Years space.

Verfe 14. Ver. 14. This is that I spake unto you, &c.] This confirms what I faid, and gives me just ground for suspicion, that you are Spies: Because you pretend to have another Brother, which is not likely; for why should not your Father send all, as well as so many? This was but Cavil; but served to compass his end: Which was to see his Brother.

Verse 15. Ver. 15. Hereby shall ye be proved.] By this very thing shall you be tried; whether you be honest Men; or no.

By the Life of Pharaoh, &c.] As fure as Pharaoh lives; or, ita falous fit, fo let Pharaoh be fafe and in health, as I will keep you here, till I fee your younger Brother. Others expound it, If Pharaoh have any Authority here, i. e. be King of this Country, you fhall not ftir from hence, &c. But most Authors take this for an Oath : The Original of which is well explained by Mr. Selden in his Titles of Honour, p. 45. where he observes, that the Name of Gods being given to Kings very early, & dperfis information, (as Aristotle states, L. VI. Ethic. cap. 1.) from the excellence of their Heroick Vertue, which made them them anciently great Benefactors to Mankind: Thence Chapter arofe the Cultom of Swearing by them; which Aben XLII. Ezra faith continued in his time (about 1170.) when Egypt was governed by Caliphs. If any Man fwore by the King's Head, and was found to have fworn falfly, he was punished capitally. And then Schach Ifmael, the first Sophi, got the Perfian Empire, no Oath was held fo Sacred (as Leunclavius reports) as to Swear by his Head, i. e. in effect, by his Life.

But St. Balil will not have this to be an Oath : But a solemn Asseveration to perswade Belief. For saith he, Tom. I. Hom. in Pfal. XV. p. 155.) "Eson rives No-יא אות אות אוצע טראנטי בא טיובה, איץ טראנו הליובה, אר. There are certain Speeches which have the fashion of Oaths, and vet are not Oaths: But Sugareia negs Tes axeorlas, ferve only to perfwade the Auditors. Such he takes this to be; and that of St. Paul, Nh + hurregy nau'ynow, by our rejoycing, I Corinth. XV. 21. where he faith the Apostle was not unmindful of the Evangelical Commandment, not to Swear : But by a Speech, in form of an Oath, he would have them believe that his glorying in them (or rather in Christ) was dearer to him than any thing elfe. And the truth is, Fudah seems to have taken these words of Foseph, only for a solemn Protestation, XLIII. 2. wherein he exposed the Life of Pharaoh (which was most dear to him) unto Execration, if he was not as good as his word. So G. Calixtus understands it.

Ver. 16. Send one of you, and let him fetch your Verle 16. Brother.] At first he proposed, that only one of them should return home, to bring their Brother to him; and all the rest remain, in the mean time, Prisoners in Egypt.

Ver.

A COMMENTARY

Chapter Ver. 17. And he put them all together into Ward, &c.] LXII. That they might confult one with another, which of

548

Verse 17. seems, they could not agree: Every one fearing to be the Meffenger of fuch fad Tidings to their Father; who might fuspect they were all lost.

Verse 18. Ver. 18. Joseph Said unto them the third day, &c.] I have no mind to destroy you: For I know there is a God, who will punish all Injustice and Cruelty. Therefore I make this new Proposition to you.

Verse 19. Ver. 19. Let one of your Brethren, &c.] This shall be the proof of your Honesty. Instead of sending one of you to your Father, you shall all go but one; who shall remain bound in Prison till you bring your younger Brother: And in the mean time carry Provision for your Families.

Verse 20. Ver. 20. But bring your youngest Brother, &c.] Fail not to let me fee your youngest Brother: And so shall you justifie your selves to be no Spies; and suffer nothing.

> And they did fo.] They confented to this Propofal.

Werfe 21. Ver.21. And they faid one to another.] They that had the chief Hand, in the Confpiracy against Joseph, began upon this occasion to make the following Reflections on it.

We are verily guilty, &c.] See the Power of Confcience, which flies in their Face and reproaches them for a Fact committed above Twenty Years ago.

In that we faw the anguish of his Soul, &c.] We would have no pity, when he befought us with Tears; and now, nothing that we can fay, will move this Man. They observe their Guilt in their Punishment. For, as they had thrown Joseph into a Pit, so they had had been thrown into a Prifon themfelves : And as Chapter nothing he could fay, would incline them to fpare XLII. him, fo now they found Joseph inexorable to them.

This Anguish of his Soul, and his Entreaties are not mentioned before, (*Chap.*XXXVII.) but could not but be supposed, if they had not been mentioned here.

Ver. 22. And Renben answered them, &c.] You Verse 2: should have hearkned unto me, and then you had not come into this Distress.

Behold alfo, his Blood is required.] You killed him, and now you must pay for it with the loss of your Lives. For he thought him to be dead.

Ver. 23. Spake to them by an Interpreter.] This flows Verle 27 the Egyptian Tongue and the Hebrew were different; though in fome words they might agree.

Ver. 24. And he turned himsfelf about from them.] Verse 24 And went into some other Room.

And wept.] Natural Affection was too ftrong for the Perfon he put on: And would not fuffer him to counterfeit any longer.

Returned to them, and communed with them.] When he had vented his Paffion, and composed himself to his former Temper, he repeated to them what he had told them before: But added withal, That if they brought Benjamin with them, they might Traffick in the Land, Verse 34.

And took from them Simeon.] Who, the Hebrews fay, was the Perfon that put Joseph into the Pit: And therefore was now ferved in his kind. This, I think, may be fairly conjectured, That Reuben being refolved to fave him, and Judab also inclined to favour him; if Simeon had joyned with them, their Authority might have prevailed to deliver him.

A COMMENTARY

Chapter And bound him before their eyes.] Caused him to XLII. be bound in their presence; to strike the greater Terror into them.

550

Verse 25. Ver. 25. To give them Provision for the way.] That they might carry what they bought intire, for the use of their Family.

And thus he did unto them.] Thus the Person, to whom Joseph gave that Command, did unto them.

- Verse 26. Ver. 26. And they laded their Assessment Corn, &c.] It is not faid how many Assessment and the state of the stat
- Verse 27. Ver. 27. And as one of them opened his Sack, &c.] Wherein was their Provision for the way, verse 25.
- Verse 28. Ver. 28. He faid unto his Brethren, &c.] Who all prefently opened their Sacks, and found their Money there. For so the Story is told by Judab at their return to Egypt, XLIII. 21. And both by that place and this, it appears this hapned to them when they came unto their Inn, to rest themselves, in their first day's Journey.

And their Heart failed them, &c.] Their Guilt made them afraid; otherwife they would have rejoyced. But all things terrifie an evil Confcience: Which made them think fome Defign was laid to undo them all.

What is this that God hath done unto us?] Now God was in all their Thoughts, as the Chief Governour of all things; wholeever was the Instrument.

Verse 30. Ver. 30. The Man who is the Lord of the Land.] By this it appears foseph was little less than a King, i.e. in his Authority and Sway, which he bare in that Country.

Took

Took us for Spies.] In the Hebrew it is, He gave us, Chapter i. e. treated us as Spies; by delivering us to be put XLII. in Prison.

551

Ver. 34. And ye shall traffick in the Land.] Buy Verle 34. Corn, or any thing elfe the Country affords; without any lett or impediment.

Ver. 35. When both they and their Fathers fam the Verle 35bundles of Money, &c.] They had feen the fame before: Therefore this is fet down to express the Fear which Jacob himself was in, at the fight of the Money; though we may well suppose their Fear was increased, when they perceived him to have the same Apprehensions which they had, of some design that might be laid against their Lives, when they returned to Egypt, though they brought their younger Brother with them.

Ver. 36. Simeon is not.] He lookt upon him as Verse 36. dead; being in the power of so rough a Man, as they described the Lord of the Land to be: Especially if he did not send Benjamin thither, as, for the present he was resolved not to do.

All these things are against me.] Or, upon me, as the Hebrew words carry it. Those are heavy Burdens, which lie upon me, not upon you: Who can be content to have Benjamin go, after I have lost two of my Sons already.

Ver. 37. Slay my two Sons if I bring him not to Verle 37. thee.] Nothing could be more foolifhly faid; for what Good would it do Jacob (nay, what an increafe of his Affliction would it have been) to lofe two Grand-children, after he had loft another Son? But it was fpoken out of a passionate Defire to redeem Simeon, and to make more Provision for their Family: Being confident that Joseph (who pro->

A COMMENTARY

Chapter professed to fear God, verse 18.) would be as good as XLIII. his word.

Ver. 38. He is left alone.] The only Child of his Verle 38. Mother.

Bring down my grey Hairs with forrow to the Grave.] You will make me, who am worn away already, die with Grief.

CHAP. XLIII.

Verse I. Ver. I. A ND the Famine was fore, &c.] Still increased to a greater Scarcity.

Verfe 2. Ver. 2. When they had eaten up the Corn, that they brought out of Egypt.] So that they had nothing to live upon, but only the poor Crop, that their own Country produced: Which could not long fustain them.

Buy us a little Food.] He hoped, it is likely, the next Year would be better; and fo only defired a fupply of their prefent Neceffity.

Verse 3.

552

Ver. 3. And Judah spake unto him, &c.] Reuben had spoken to him in vain, (XLII. 37, 38.) and Levi, perhaps, had not yet recovered his Interest in him, since the barbarous Action at Shechem: And therefore Judah took upon him to perswade his Father; being next in Birth, and of no small Authority among his Brethren.

Ye shall not see my Face.] But be taken for Spies; and so lose their Lives.

Verse 5.

Ver. 5. We will not go down.] Because it would not only have been to no purpose : But also indangered their Lives.

Ver.

upon GENESIS.

Ver. 6. Wherefore dealt ye fo ill with me, &c.] It was Chapter unkindly done of you, to tell him of another Bro-XLIII. ther. For what need was there to fay any thing of Verfe 6.

Ver. 7. The Man askt us straitly, &c.] They having Verse 7. told him, they were all one Man's Sons, XLII. 11. he might well ask them, what Mans? And whether there were any more of them? And whether their Father and Brother were yet living?

And we told him according to the tenor of these words.] Answered every question, as Truth required.

Ver. 8. Send the Lad with me.] Truft him with me. Verse 8. He calls him Lad, because he was the youngest of them all; and one of whom his Father was as tender, as if he had been a little Child: Though indeed he had Children of his own, XLVI. 21.

That we may live, &c.] These were very moving Arguments; the Preservation of a whole Family; Benjamin and all: who, if he went, might return in safety; but if he staid at home, must perish with all the rest.

Ver. 9. I will be surety for him.] Be bound in what Verse 9. Penalty thou pleasest, to bring him back.

Of my hand shalt thou require him.] Punish me (who will be answerable for him) if he miscarry.

Bear the blame for ever.] Lye under thy Difpleasure, as long as I live. All this fignifies only, that he would do his utmost to secure him : And rather suffer the heaviest thing himself, than lose Benjamin.

Ver.10. For except we had lingred, &c.]If thon hadst Verse 10. not hindred us by these Scruples about Benjamin, we had been there and at home again, by this time.

Ver. 11. Take of the best Fruits.] The Hebrew word Verse 11. Mizzimrath fignifies, of the most praised; or, as Bochart more literally interprets it, que in hac terra funt maxime B b b b de554 Chapter XLIII.

decantata, (P. II Hierozoic. Lib. V. cap. 9.) those Fruits which are most celebrated in the Land of Canaan: Which was as famous for the things following, as Egypt was for Corn. And it seems at this time did not want them; which might make them more acceptable in Egypt, where they grew at no time. For Egypt being a low and plain Country, and Canaan an hilly; it made their Products very different.

Balm.] Rather Refin, as we observed on XXXVII. 25.

Honey.] For which this Country was famous; efpecially in fome parts of it, about Tekoah, as Bochart alfo observes. And therefore was a fit Present for a King, as we see in the Story of David, 2 Sam. XVII. 29. And was carried from hence, to the Marts of Tyre, Ezek. XXVII. 17.

Species.] The word Necoth fignifies Storax, as was also observed before, XXXVII. 25.

Myrrhe.] Which Bochart translates Masticht.

Nuts.] He also proves by many Arguments, that the word Botnim fignifies those Nuts we call Piftachio's. Which may well be numbred among the best Fruits of the Land: Being very friendly to the Stomach and Liver; powerful against Poison; and highly esteemed by the Ancients, as a delicious Food. And so Maimonides and Kimchi expound the word.

Almonds.] They are fitly joyn'd with Pistachio's, as he observes; being fructus congeneres: And therefore Dioscorides treats of them together: And Theophrastus describes the Pistachio as sponov tais à public hois, like unto Almonds. Vide Canaan, Lib. I. cap.

Verle 12. Ver. 12. Take double Money.] Other Money befides their first. Which, if it fignifie as much more as the first; the reason was because he thought, Corn might now be grown dearer. Ver.

upon GENESIS.

Ver. 14. If I be bereaved, I am bereaved.] I fubmit Chapter unto it, and will bear it as patiently as I am able. Or, XLIII. as fome paraphrafe it; as I have been bereaved of Jofeph and Simeon, fo now I am of Benjamin: No new Verfe 14. thing happens to me; but I have been used to fuch Afflictions: Which I may therefore bear more equally.

Ver. 15. Stood before Joseph.] Presented themselves Verse 15. to him in his Office, (as we speak) or, in the Place, where he gave Audience to those who came to Petition him, or to buy Corn of him. For it is plain, by the next Verse, that he was not at his own House.

Ver. 16. Bring these Men home.] Conduct them Verse 16. to my House.

And flay.] The Hebrew Phrase signifies a great flaughter; of several sorts of Creatures perhaps; that here might be a plentiful Provision.

Ver. 18. And the Men were afraid, &c.] Every thing Verse 18. (as was observed before, XLII. 28.) terrifies aguilty Conscience.

And fall upon us.] i. e. Kill us.

And take us for Bond-men, &c.] Rather, or, take us for Bond men and our Affes.

Ver. 19. They came near to the Steward, &c.] They Verse 19. defired to speak with him, before they entred into the House: That they might set themselves right in his Opinion.

Ver. 20. We came at the first time to buy food.] And Verse 20. we paid for it what was demanded.

Ver. 21. When we came to the Inn,&c.] There we found Verse 21. that very Money, to a farthing, in our Sack's mouth, &c.

Ver. 22. We cannot tell who put our Money, &c.] We Verle 22. are ignorant how it came there; but suppose it was by fome mistake: And therefore have brought it again, with new Money for another Purchase.

Bbbb2

Ver.

ACOMMENTARY

Ver. 22. Peace be to you.] Trouble not your felves Chapter about that Matter. XLIII.

Your God, and the God of your Fathers, &c.] This Verse 23. Steward had learnt of Joseph the knowledge of the True God : To whole Kindnels he bids them afcribe this Event.

> And he brought Simeon out unto them. 7 Unbound : as free as themselves.

- Ver. 24. Gave them Water.] Ordered Water to be Verse 24. brought, as the Custom was, to wash their Feet. See XVIII.4.
- Ver. 26. Bowed themselves to the ground, &c.] Here Verse 26. again was Joseph's Dream fulfilled. See XLII. 6.
- Verle 28. Ver. 28. Thy fervant our Father, &c.] Here they made a Reverence to him, in the Name of their Father : Whereby that part of the Dream (XXXVII. 9, 10.) which concern'd him, was also fulfilled. And they speak likewise of him in an humble style ; signifying his inferiority to Foseph.

Verse 29. Ver. 29. Saw ins Bronker Den him k fit to take no-him before, verse 16. but did not think fit to take no-Ver. 29. Saw his Brother Benjamin.] He had feen tice of him at the first : Or, perhaps, was then full of Business, when they presented themselves at their first appearance; and had not leisure to speak with them till Dinner time.

God be gracious unto thee, my Son.] He bleffed him, as Superiors were wont to do those below them : Whom they called their Sons, with respect to themfelves, as Fathers of the Country.

Ver. 20. His bowels did yern.] He felt a great com-Verle 30. motion within himself; which he was not able to keep from breaking out : And therefore he made baste out of the Room where they were; as if some other business called him away.

556

Ver_

upon GENESIS

Ver. 31. Set on bread.] Set the Dinner upon the Chapter XLIII.

Ver. 32. And they fet on for him by himfelf,&c.] There Verfe 31. feems to have been three Tables. One, where he fat alone Verfe 32. in State 3 another where his Brethren fat 3 and a third Verfe 32. where the great Men of Egypt were entertained.

For the Egyptians might not eat Bread with the Hebrews, &c.] Because the Hebrews (saith Jonathan) did eat those Bealts which the Egyptians worshipped. And to the same purpose writes Onkelos. In which regard the Egyptians were as scrupulous to eat with a Grecian. in after times, as now with an Hebrew. So Bochart obferves out of Atheneus L. VII. Deipnof. where Anaxandrides, a Comedian, jeers the Egyptians for worthipping. an Eel, as a great God, whom we, faith he, think to be most excellent Meat. And out of Herodotus, who in his Euterpe, cap. 41. saith, no Egyptian Man or Woman. would kils the Mouth of a Greek; nor make use of a Knife, a Spit, or a Potbelonging to them; nortake a bit of Beef cut with a Greek's Knife. See Bochart's Hierozoic. P. I. Lib. II. cap. 53. And Dr. Spencer, de Rit. Hebr. p. 125. But though it appear by fuch Paffages, that in the time of Herodotus, and other fore-named Writers, feveral Animals were held fo Sacred among the Egyptians, that they would not eat them. yet it may well be questioned whether it were so in the days of Foseph. For there is not the leaft fign of it in this ftory ; much lefs of their worshipping fuch Creatures : The worship of the famous Ox, called Apis, being a much later Invention, as many learned Men have demonstrated : And fome of them having given probable Reafons that Foseph himself was the Person at first represented by that Figure under the Name of Ab, i. e. Father of his Country. See Ger. Vollius, L. I. de Idel. cap. 29.

There-

A COMMENTARY.

Therefore it is most likely that this Abhorrence, is to Chapter be refolved only into the very different Manners of the XLIII Hebrews from the Egyptians: Particularly at their Meals. in the way of drefling their Meat, or in their eating. For we know some of the Jews themselves afterwards scrupled to eat with those who had unwashen Hands; and feveral Nations have avoided fuch familiarity with others, merely on the account of their different cuftoms. Of which the Egyptians were exceeding tenacious, as Herodotus himself informs us; particularly in their eating. For he concludes his Discourse about their Feasts with this Observation, (in his Book before-mention'd. cap. 28.) Парелого Эхрешиеног номого, алон вовна 67-* xlien?). Using their own Country Customs, they receive no other. And in the Ninety first Chapter of the same Book, he faith, that as they would use no Greek customs. to (to speak all in a word) und a Mar unda ua Sc. Neither would they use the Customs of any other Men in the World what sever. Nay, one part of Egypt differed extreamly from another: For in the Theban Province they abitained from Sheep, and facrificed Goats; but, in the Mendesian, quite contrary, they abstained from Goats. and facrificed Sheep: As he tells us in his Enterpe, cap. 42. And the wifelt of them were fo nicely Superstitious, that fome of them thought it unlawful to eat of the Head of any living Creature; others of the Shoulder-blade; others of the Feet; others of some like part. So Sextus Empiricus tells us, L. III. Pyrrb. Hypol. c. 24. Αιγυπίων ζημ σορών εί) νομαζομέων, οι μέν πεφαλίω ζώε φαγείν ανίεεςν εί) νομάζσεν, &c. Upon which score I do not know but luch a kind of People might be fo whimfical, as to refuse to eat with one another.

Verse 33.

33. Ver. 33. They fat before him.] For that was the Cuftom before the way of lying upon Beds was invented, See XXVII. 19. XXXVII. 25. And

upon GENESIS

And the Men marvelled one at another.] That they Chapter fhould be fo exactly difpofed, according to the order XLIII. of their Birth; and fo kindly treated by one that had lately used them very roughly.

Ver. 34. And he took and fent meffes, &c] Ordered Verle 34. thole that waited to take and carry Meffes from his own Table, unto theirs. For fuch was the ancient Cuftom, for great Men to honour fuch as were in their Favour, by fending Difhes to them, which were first ferved up to themfelves : From whence they were called MISSA, Meffes, things fent. The ancient way of eating also is to be observed, which was not like ours : As appears by Plutarch in his Sympof. L. II. Q. ult. where he disputes, which was the better Custom, to eat out of one common Dish; or every one to have a Dish to himfelf: As the manner was in old time. When all the Meat being set on the Table, the Master of the Feast distributed to every one their Portion.

Benjamin's Mess mas five times as much, &c.] He had five Dishes to their one : Which was intended as a peculiar respect to him. Or, as others understand it, there was five times as much Meat in his Mess, as in one of theirs. Which might well be part of the cause of their wonder, verse 23.

And they drank.] After they had dined, plenty of Wine was brought in, for every one to drink as much as they pleafed. For fuch is the Cuftom of the Abyffines at this Day; not to drink or talk at Dinner; but after the Meat is taken away: As Ludolphus affures us from Telezins. Who takes it to have been the ancient Cuftom among other Nations; particularly the Romans: For which he alledges those Verses of Virgil, Heneid, I.

Poft-

A COMMENTART.

560 Chapter XLIV.

Postquam prima quies epulis, mensæque remotæ Crateras magnas statuunt, & vina coronant.

I mention Wine here in Egypt : For though Herodotus faith in his days they had noVines, but used drink made of Barley, i.e. such as ours, (*Lib.II.cap.*77.) yet in the time of Joseph it seems to have been otherwise. For it it is not likely the chief Butler would have dreamt of a Vine and Grapes, and pressing them into Pharaoh's Cup, (XL. 9, 10, 11.) if he had never seen them in Egypt,

And were merry with him.] So we well translate the last words of this Chapter; which fignifies their drinking plentifully; more liberally than at home: Not till they were drunk (as R. Soloman faith fome used to abuse this place, to countenance that Vice) but till they were very cheerful. For they could not be so fensiles, as before so great a Man, in a strange place, where they were also full of fear, to make themselves drunk.

CHAP. XLIV.

Verfe I. Ver. I. Fill the Mens Sacks with Food, as much as they can carry.] This feems to be an order, to load them more liberally than at their first coming, XLII. 25.

Verse 2.

Ver. 2. And put my Cup, &c.] The Hebrew word Gabiah fignifies an emboffed Cup, (as we now fpeak) or a Bowl; or Goblet with a great Belly: which St. Hierom translates Scyphus. This he ordered hisSteward to put in Benjamin's Sack, that he might make a trial of his Brethrens Concern for him, and Affection both to him and to to their Father : And whether they would discover Chapter any Envy to Benjamin, because of his extraordinary XLIV. Kindness to him.

561

Ver. 3. The Men were fent away.] Had a País, we Verse 3. may suppose, from Joseph; to carry so much Corn out of the Country, as their Asses were loaded withal.

Ver. 4. Wherefore have ye rewarded evil for good ?] Verle 4. Being entertained to kindly at my Master's Table; why have ye stole his Cup?

Ver. 5. Is not this it, wherein my Lord drinketh ?] Verle 5. Did you not think, this would be prefently enquired after ?

And whereby indeed he divineth ?] The Hebrew word Nachafb, which we tranflate Divine, it is very likely was anciently of an indifferent fignification. And therefore Grotius thinks that Fofeph meant by this Speech, that he used this Cup in his Drink-Offerings; when he facrificed, to prepare himfelf to receive Divine Prefages. But, I think, we had better fay, there was a kind of Divination by Cups (though we know not what it was) as, we are certain there was by many other things among the Greeks, (who borrowed much of their Religion from the Egyptians) than give this or other fuch like Interpretation of these words : Particularly, their obferving the sparkling of the Wine in their Libations. For it feems plain to me, that Joseph speaks of the Cup he used at his own Table: And it is not probable that he used the fame in Sacrifices to God. Such Veffels as were used in Divine Service, were not used in their own:Being held Sacred, and therefore separated from common use; and kept so fafe, no doubt, that it was not easie to steal them. He speaks therefore of some Divination that was used at their Meals : Which doth not fignifie that Joseph practifed it, nor doth hisSteward Cccc fay Chapter fay he did ; but only asks fuch a Question, as might. XLIV. make them think he did. For, being a known Interprev v ter of Dreams; People, perhaps, thought he was skilled alfo in the Arts of Divination. But the words are ftill capable of a more fimple Interpretation. For Nacash fometimes signifies no more than to make an Experiment : As in the words of Laban, XXX. 27. And fo the meaning may be, (as Aben Ezra expounds this Paffage) might you not have confidered, that my Master made a trial, (fo we interpret in the Margin) by laving this in your way, whether you were honeft Men. or Filchers, as you are now proved to be? Or, as others will have it, This is the Cup wherein he drinks himself, and finds out what is in other Men, when they drink liberally with him at his Table ; as you lately did. But the former is more likely to be the meaning.

Ye have done evil, in fo doing.] You have rendred your felves very criminal by this Fact. Or, you have done very foolifhly in ftealing a thing of this Nature : Which, being in continual use, would be foon milled. Ver. 7. God forbid that thy Servants, &c.] They dif-

- Verse 7.
- Verse 8.

claim the Charge, with the greatest Vehemence. Ver. 8. Behold, the Money, &c.] And bring a very good Proof of their Honefty. 1 1 1 1 1 1

Verse 9. Ver. 9. Both let him die, and we alfo, &c.] Sometimes Innocence makes Men too Confident; and lefs cautious than, in Prudence, they ought to be. For their Money having been put into their Sacks, they knew not how, it was reasonable to have suspected this alfo might prove true.

Verle 10. Ver. 10. Now alfo, let it be according to your word, &c.] I defire not fo much : But only that he with whom the Cup is found, be my Bond-man; as you propound. 011 Gree My

upon GENESIS.

My bond-man.] He speaks in the Name and Place Chapter of his Master; by whom he was sent after them, and XLIV. for whom he acted.

Ver. 11. Then they speedily took down, &c.] They Verse 11. were desirous to have their Innocence cleared, without delay.

Ver. 13. Rent their Clothes.] As the manner was, Verle 13. when any fad thing befel them, XXXVII. 29, 34.

Ver. 14. Judah and his Brethren came, &c.] He is Verfe 14. mentioned by Name, though not the eldeft Son; becaufe he was chiefly concerned for Benjamin, (XLIII. 9.) and, as the Jems fanfie, ftood to him in this diftrefs, when the reft would have delivered him up as a Bond-man : Refolving either to fet him free, or to be a Bond-man with him.

For he was yet there.] Not gone from home, fince he gave order to his Steward to pursue them.

They fell before him on the ground.] The Dream of foseph was again fulfilled. See XLII. 6.

Ver. 15. Wot not that fuch a Man as I can certainly Verle 15. divine?] Could not I who foretold this grievous Famine, difcover fuch a Theft as this, which you have committed?

Ver. 16. And Judah faid.] He standing bound, as I Verse 16. faid (verse 14.) for Benjamin to his Father, took upon him to plead his Cause: Which Benjamin, being young, could not do so well himself. And indeed Judah seems to have been a Man of the best Sense, Courage, and Eloquence among them.

What shall we say to my Lord? What shall we speak? or kom, &c.] A most pathetical beginning: And very apt to move Compassion.

God hath found out the iniquity of thy Servants, &c.]Having made fome paule, after those words, [How shall we Cccc 2 clear

Chapter clear our selves ?] he proceeds to an ingenuous acknowledgment, that he and his Brethren had been XLIV. guilty of many Sins; for which God had now brought them hither to suffer the Punishment of them. Yet, he neither confesses this particular Guilt, nor denies it, nor excuses it : But acknowledging God's Justice, casts himself and his Brethren upon Foseph's Mercy.

564

Verse 18. Ver. 18. Then Judah came near to him.] The Equity which appeared in Joseph (expressed in the words foregoing) emboldned Judah to approach nearer to him. For he feems to have spoken the former words, as foon as he entred the Room: When he and his Brethren cast themselves down on the Ground, verse 14.

> Speak a word in my Lord's Ears.] Have a favourable Audience for a few words more. For he doth not mean to speak to him privately : And by a Word he means all the following Speech, which he makes as fhort as it was possible.

And let not thy Anger burn against thy Servant.] And be pleafed to hear me out, with Patience.

For thou art even as Pharaoh.] I know before whom I speak : And therefore will not impertinently trouble thee : But barely lay the state of our Case before thee. Verse 20. Ver. 20. A little one.] So Benjamin was, in compa-rifon with themfelves.

He alone is left of his Mother, &c.] We do not read. that they had faid this to Joseph before ; but only that the youngest was with their Father, XLII. 13, 32. But no doubt, Judah remembers him now of nothing, but what had been then delivered ; but related more briefly than it is here.

Verle 27.

Ver. 27. My Wife bear me two Sons.] He called Rachel his Wife; as if he had no other . Because she was the only Perfon he defigned to marry; and was by confequence his principal Wife. Ver.

Ver. 30. His life is bound up in the Lad's life.] It fo Chapter depends upon the Life of his Son; that if he think XLV. he be dead, he will die with Grief alfo.

765

Ver. 33. Let thy Servant abide instead of the Lad,&c.] Verse 30. It will be the same to thee, (nay, 1 may be able to do Verse 33. thee more Service) and the greatest act of Pity to our aged Father.

Ver. 34. For how shall I go up to my Father, &c.] I Verse 34. must abide here too, if thou wilt not difmis him : For I am not able to see my Father die.

There is nothing could be faid more moving, than what is delivered in this Speech of Judah; which flowed, any one may see, from such Natural Passions, as no Art can imitate. Which makes me wish that they who think these Historical Books of Scripture were written with no other Spirit, but that with which honest Men now write the Hiftory of their Country, or the Lives of any famous Persons; would seriously read and confider thisSpeech of Fudab's to Foseph: together with the foregoing Dialogue between Jacob and his Sons, (from the 29thVerfe of the XLIIChapter, to the 15th of the XLIII.) and, I hope, it may make them change their Opinion : And be of the Mind of Dr. Jackson, B. I. on the Creed, cap. 4. ' That feeing fuch Paffages are related by Men ' who affect no Art, and who lived long after the Par-' ties that first uttered them; we cannot conceive how · all Particulars could be fo naturally and fully recorded;unlefs they had been fuggested by his Spirit, who 'gives Mouth and Speech to Men. Who being alike ' present to all Successions, is able to communicate the ^c fecret Thoughts of Fore-fathers to their Children; and. ' put the very Words of the deceased (never registred ⁶ before) into the Mouths or Pens of their Succeffors, for many Generations after : And that as exactly and di.

566 Chapter XLV.

distinctly as if they had been caught in Characters of Steel or Brass, as they issued out of ther Mouth. For it is plain, every Circumstance is here related, with fuch natural Specifications (as he speaks) as if Moses had heard them talk; and therefore could not have been thus represented to us; unless they had been written by his Direction, who knows all things, as well fore-past, as present, or to come.

Philo justily admired this Speech, which he hatle expressed in an Eloquent Paraphrase: And Josephus hath endeavoured to out-do him.

CHAP. XLV.

Verfe I. Ver. I. Ould not refrain himfelf.]Tears began to run down his Cheeks; or, were ready to burft out with fuch Violence that he could not hinder them. Caufe every Man to go out from me.] He would not have the Egyptians, to be Witneffes of his Brethrens Guilt; nor did it become his Dignity to be feen by them in fuch a Paffion : And therefore he commanded those that attended him, to leave him alone with his Brethren.

Verse 2.

Ver. 2. He wept aloud.] Which we express very properly in our Language, he cried. For Tears having been long suppressed, are wont, when they break out, to be accompanied with some Noise.

And the Egyptians, and the house of Pharaob heard.] They whom he fent forth, being in the next Room, heard him cry: And reported, what a Passion he was in, to the whole Court.

Ver.

Ver. 3. 1 am Joseph.] This word made them start, Chapter as appears by the next I crse. XLV.

767

Doth my Father yet live ?] May I believe what you verfe ?. have told me? XLIII. 28. He faith not this, becaufe Verfe ?. he doubted of it : But to express his Joy at that good News.

And they could not an fiver him.] Being aftonish'd, as it follows, at his Presence. For they could not but reflect upon their cruel usage of him; and now faw him in full Power to punith them.

Ver. 4. Come near to me, I pray you.] This, I think, Verfe 4. fignifies, that they had ftarted back, as Men affrighted : And therefore he invites them kindly to approach him.

I am Joseph your Brother.] This word Brother, added to what he said before, verse 3. was a Comfort to them. For it showed that his Greatness did not make him forget his Relation.

Whom you fold into Egypt.] Nor their Unkindnefs alienated his Affection from them.

Ver. 5. Now therefore be not grieved, &c.] Do not Verle 5 afflict your felves too much for your Sin: Becaule God hath turned it into Good.

God fent me before you, &c.] When you thought only to be rid of me, God intended another thing: Which is now come to pafs. For he hath made me an Inftrument of preferving all your Lives. A moft happy Event of a moft wicked Deed.

Ver. 6. Neither earing, nor harveft.] Or, no Plough-Verfe 6. ing, Sowing, or Harveft. For to what purpole flould they fow, when they knew (if they believed Joseph) that nothing would come of it.

Ver. 7. And God fent me before you, &c.] He repeats Verle 7. what he had faid, verfe 5 concerning the Hand of God in this bulinefs: That by fixing their Thoughts upon his Pro-

Chapter Providence, they might be the lefs oppressed with the XLV. weight of their own Guilt.

J To fave your lives by a great deliverance.] In a wonderful manner.

Verse 8.

568

Ver. 8. It was not you but God, &c.] He mentions this a third time, that they might fee he did not think fo much on their Unkindnefs, as on God's great Goodnefs: And therefore be confident, he would not remember what they had done to him; but what God had done for them all.

Hath made a Father unto Pharaoh]Given me the Authority of a Father with him : So that he Honours me, and doth nothing without my Advice and Counfel. And there was very good Reason for it, his Wisdom being so great and experienced, Ut non ab homine fed a Deo responsa dari viderentur, (as Trogus, an ancient Historian among the Heathen, observes) that his Answers seemed not to be given by a Man, but by God. Which made him Regi Percharum, very dear to the King, as the same Author relates : Who tells also the Story of his being fold by his Brethren, who envied his excellent Wit. See Justin, Lib. XXXVI. cap. 2.

Lord of all his House.] The principal Person in hisCourt. And Ruler throughout all the Land of Egypt.] Chief Governor of the whole Country : In which were several Provinces, which had distinct Governors; who were all under the Government of Joseph.

Verfe 10. Ver. 10. Thou shalt dwell in the Land of Goshen] This was that part of the lower Egypt, which lay next to Arabia and Palestine; abounding with fair Pastures: Being watred by many Streams from the Nile. Certain it is, it lay next to Canaan; for Jacob went directly thither, when he came into Egypt; and staid there till Joseph came to him, XLVI. 28.

And

And thou shalt be near unto me.] Therefore the Royal Chapter City (where Joseph resided, that he might be always XLV. near to Pharaoh) was at this time in the lower Egypt, at Zoan, Pfalm LXXVIII. 43. which other Authors call Tanks. Which was situated, not far from that Mouth of Nile which Plutarch calls ravitude source. For that part of Egypt is called the higher, where Nile runs only in one Stream : That the lower, where it divides into many ; and from its triangular Form is called by the Greeks $\Delta i \lambda \pi a$. In the Eastern Part of which, or very near it, toward the Red Sea, was this Country, called the Land of Goshen.

This argues the great Authority of Joseph, that he makes such Promises as these, before he had askt the Consent of Pharaoh.

Ver. 12. And behold, your Eyes see, &c.] You cannot Verle 12. but be convinced, by the Lineaments you see in my Face, and by the Language which I speak, and by all the things which I have related concerning the state of our Family; that indeed it is your Brother Joseph, who speaks to you. Or, more simply; you have it not by Hear-say, which might deceive you; but are Eye-witnesses that I am alive, and say these things to you.

Ver. 13. Tell my Father of all my glory.] Of the great Verse 13. Honour which is done me in Egypt.

Ver. 15. His Brethren talked with him.] After their Verle 15. fright was over, and he had so affectionately embraced them; they conversed freely and familiarly with him: Acknowledging, it's likely, their Crime; and acquainting him with what had passed in their Family since they committed it.

Ver. 16. And the fame thereof, &c.] All the Court Verse 16. rang (as we speak) with the News of Joseph's Brethren being come; and that they were to setch their Father D d d d and Chapter and fettle in Egypt. For Joseph (it appears by the next XLV. Verse) went and acquainted Pharaoh with his Defire.

570

- And it pleased Pharaoh well, and his Servanis.] No wonder that Pharaoh, who had raised Joseph so high, was pleased to be kind to his Father and Family: And the Court follows the Pleasure of the King.
- Verle 17. Ver.17. Pharaoh faid unto Joseph,&c.] This, no doubtwas the Answer Pharaoh made to Joseph's Petition: Wherein he grants him not only what he askt; but all conducing to it.
- Verse 18. Ver. 18. I will give you the good of the Land, &c.] The richest Part of the Country, which produces the noblest Fruits.
- Verfe 19. Ver. 19. Now thon art commanded.] Now that thou haft my Warrant for it, go about it prefently.
- Verse 20. Ver. 20. Regard not your stuff.] If there be not Waggons enough, to bring all your Stuff, do not matter it ; you shall have better here. But the Vulgar seems to take it in a quite contrary Sense; as if he had said, Leave nothing behind you; but bring all you have with you, if you think good : Though whatsoever the Land of Egypt affords, is all yours.

All the good of the Land of Egypt, &c.] You shall not want when you come hither, if it be to be had in. Egypt.

- Verse 21. Ver. 21. Gave them Waggons.] And Horses, no doubt, to draw them; with which Egypt abounded.
- Verle 22. Ver. 22. To each Man changes of Raiment.] Two Vefts; or Robes, as St. Hierom translates it: Otherwise there would not have been a change. These were part of the ancient Riches, as much as Money.

Verle 23. Ver. 23. After this manner.] The Hebrew word Cezoth fignifies, according to that which he had given to Benjamin, i.e. Money, and feveral changes of Raiment:

Be-

Besides what follows, ten Asses laden with the good things Chapter of Egypt, &c. XLV.

Bread and Meat.] i. e. All manner of Provision. Ver. 24. See that ye fall not out, &c.] About what you Verse 24. have formerly done to me; or, any thing else, that I have faid to you. But when you reflect upon your felling me, adore the Providence of God; which by that means brought about your Happiness and mine.

Ver. 26. His Heart fainted.] At the mention of Jo-Verse 26. feph's Name, he fell into a Swoon: Being fully perfwaded he was dead, and giving no Credit to what they said of his being alive.

Ver. 27. And they told him all the words of Joseph.] Verse 27. When he was come to himself, they related all that had passed between them and Joseph: How great a Man he was, and how desirous to see him, Sc. verse 13.

And when he faw the Waggons.] Had not only heard their Relation, but faw alfo those Carriages (which, no doubt, were splendid, and suitable to Joseph's Quality) that were come to bring him into Egypt, he lookt upon them as a sufficient Confirmation of the good News.

The Spirit of Jacob revived.] Which Bochart tranflates Pristino vigori restitutus est, he was reftored to his former Vigor. Not only recovered perfectly from his fainting Fit; but raised to a greater Livelines than he had felt since the loss of Joseph.

Ver. 28. It is enough, &c.] I with for no more, but Verle 28. to live to fee him; and then I shall be content to die.

Dddd2 CHAP.

CHAP. XLVL

572 Chapter XLVI.

Verse 1. Ver. 1. Ame to Beersheba.] Which was in his way. from Hebron (where he now lived, XXXV. 27.) into Egypt: Lying in the most Southerly -Parts of Canaan; near that Wilderness through which, the Ifraelites went, when they came from Egypt.

And offered facrifice.] Recommended himself and his Family, unto God's Protection in his Journey to Egypt, and unto his Prefervation, when he came there. And he the rather called upon God in this place, because both his Father and Grand-Father had found Favour with him here, XXI. 23: XXVI. 23:

Unto the God of his Father Isaac. Who was his. immediate Anceftor, and had conferred the Bleffing of Abraham upon him: And therefore he mentions him rather than Abraham:

Verle 2.

Ver. 2. In the Visions of the Night.] See upon XX. 2. Jacob, Jacob:] He redoubles his Name to awaken his Attention; and he calls him Jacob rather than Ifrael, (as he is called in the beginning of the Verle) to remember him what he was originally, and that by his Favour he was made Ifrael.

Verie 3: Ver. 2. Fear not to go down into Egypt.] He was afraid. perhaps, that if Joseph thould die, his Family might be made Slaves. For which he had fome reafon, from what was faid to Abraham, in a like Vision, XV. 13.

> I will make of thee a great Nation.] He renews the Promise, which at the same time was made to Abraham, That his Seed should be as numerous as the Stars of Heaven, XV. 5.

> > Ver.

Ver. 4. I will go down with thee, &c.] Take care of Chapter thee in thy Journey, that no Evil thall befal thee; and XLVI. preferve thee and thy Family there.

And bring thee up again.] i. e His Posterity, who Verse 4. should multiply there : For the Scripture speaks of Parents and Children, as one Person.

Put his Hands upon thine Eyes.] Be with thee when thou leavest this World; and take care of thy Funeral, when thou art dead. For this was the first thing that was done, when one expired, to close his Eyes: Which was performed both among Greeks and Romans (as many Authors inform us) by the nearest Relations, or dearest Friends. See Mr. Selden, L. II. de Synedr. cap. 7. n. 12. and Menochius, de Repub. Hebr. L. VIII. cap. 4. Qu. 11.

In short, by these words God affures him, that Jofeph should not die, while he lived, (as Mr. Selden observes out of Baal-haturim, in his Additions to the fore-named Chapter, p. 737.) and that he should die in Peace, having his Children about him.

Ver.7. His Daughters.] He had but one Daughter, and Verle 7. therefore the Plural Number is used for the Singular, (as verse 23. Sons is put for Son) or, else he includes his Grand-Daughter, who, in Scripture-Language, is called the Daughter of her Grand-Father. But the first seems the truest Account, if what is faid verse 15. be confidered. Where the whole Number of his Descendants from Leab being summed up, Dinab (under the Name of Daughters) must be taken in, to make up three and thirty; reckoning Jacob himself also, for one of them.

Ver. 9. Hanoch.] From whom came the Family of Verse 9. the Hanochites, as we read Numb. XXVI. 5.

Phallu.] From whom, in like manner, sprung the Family of the Phalluites; as Moses there notes: And says the Chapter the same of the rest of Reuben's Sons, that they were XLVI. the Fathers of Families, when they came into Egypt.

574

Verse 10. muel in Numb. XXVI. 12. and 1 Chron. IV. 24.

Ohad.] He is named among the Sons of Simeon, when Moses was sent to bring them out of Egypt, Exod. VI. 15. But either he had no Posterity, or they were extinct: For shortly after there is no mention of him, in Numb. XXVI. 12. Nor is he to be found among his Sons in 1 Chron. IV. 24.

Jachin.] Is called Jarib in 1 Chron. IV. 24. and is thought by some to have been the Grand-Father of Zimri, whom Phineas slew in his Fornication with the Midianitish Woman.

Verfe 12. Ver. 12. Er and Onan died in the Land of Canaan.] And therefore are not to be numbred among them, that went down into Egypt: But instead of them the two Sons of Pharez are set down, though, perhaps, not now born; to supply the place of Er and Onan.

The Sons of Pharez, were Hezron and Hamul.] When Jacob went down into Egypt, Pharez was fo young, that one can scarce think he had two Sons at that time : But they were born soon after, before Jacob died. And St. Auftin seems to have truly judged, that Jacob's defcent into Egypt, comprehends all the seventeen Years, which he lived after it. Or, we may conceive it poffible, that their Mother was with Child of them, when Jacob went down into Egypt. For then Pharez is thought to have been fourteen Years old; at which Age it is fo far from being incredible that he might have two Sons, that in these latter Ages, some have begotten a Child when they were younger. Jul. Scaliger, a Man of unquestionable Credit, assures us, that in his memory, there was a Boy, not quite twelve Years old, who had had a Daughter by a Cousin of his, who was not quite Chapter ten. Rem notam narro, & cujus memoria adhuc recens est XLVI. in Aquitania. This was a known thing, the Memory of which was then fresh in Aquitain.

575

Ver. 13. And the Sons of Islachar, Tola.] Some have Verfe 13. wondred that he fhould give his eldeft Son a name that fignifies a Worm. Perhaps it was (as Bochart conjectures) because he was a poor shriveled Child when he was born, not likely to live. And yet it pleased God, that he became a great Man, from whom sprang a numerous Off-spring, Numb. XXVI. 23. and so fruitful, that in the days of David there were numbred above two and twenty thousand of them, 1 Chron. VII. 2. who were Men of Might and Valour.

Ver. 15. Which she bare unto Jacob in Padan-Aram.] Verse 15. She bare the Fathers of them there: But the Children were born in Canaan.

All the Souls of his Sons and Daughters, &c.] See verse 7.

Ver. 19. Rachel, Jacob's Wife.] She was his only Verle 19. choice, as was noted before on XLIV. 27.

Ver. 21. The Sons of Benjamin, &c.] He being now Verle 21.but about twenty four Years old, we cannot well think he had all these Sons when he went down into Egypt : But some of them were born afterward, before Jacob died; as was said before, verse 12. Yet they are all here mention'd, because they were most of them now born, and all became the Heads of Families in their Tribe. It is possible he might begin so early to beget Children, as to have all these before they went into Egypt. See Verse 12.

Ver. 26. Came out of his Loins.] In the Hebrew, ont of Verle 26. his Thigh. A modelt Expression: The Parts serving for the Propagation of Mankind, being placed between the Thighs.

Chapter All the Souls were threefcore and fix.] i. e. Leaving out XLVI. Joseph and his two Sons (who did not come with Jacob into Egypt, but were there already) and Jacob himfelf, (who could not be faid to come out of his own Loins) they made just this Number.

576

Verfe 27. Ver. 27. All the Souls, which came into Egypt, were threefcore and ten.] There is a remarkable difference between this Verfe and the foregoing. There (verfe 26.) they only are numbred who came with Jacob into Egypt: Which were no more than threefcore and fix. But here are numbred all that came into Egypt, (viz. first and last) which plainly comprehend Jacob, Joseph and his two Sons: And make up threefcore and ten.

Verle 28. Ver. 28. And he fent Judah before him.] Who feems by the whole Story, to have been the most eminent among Jacob's Children, when Joseph was gone; as was noted before, XLIV. 14.

To direct his way, &c.] To give Joseph notice of his coming; and to receive Directions from him, in what part of Goshen he should expect him.

And they came into the Land of Goshen.] Into that part of it which Joseph had appointed.

Verle 29. Ver. 29. Prefented himself to him.] With fuch Reverence, as a Son owes to his Father: Who embraced him most tenderly. For some refer the next words to Jacob, he fell on his Neck, &c.] Which expresses the highest Affection.

> And wept on bis Neck a good while.] We read before how Joseph fell upon Benjamin's Neck, and wept; which was answered by the like Endearments on Benjamin's part, XLV. 14. But the Affection wherewith Jacob embraced Joseph, (as Maimonides understands it) or (as R. Solomon Jarchi) Joseph embraced his Father, far furpassed that. For they continued longer infolded in one another's another's Arms; where Tears of Joy flowed to fast, Chapter that for a good while they could not speak. XLVI.

577

For

Ver. 30. And Ifrael faid unto Joseph.] Some make this an Argument, that it was Joseph, who, lighting out of Verse 30. his Chariot, threw himself into his Father's Arms and wept, &c. Which made Moses now more distinctly mention who faid the following words.

Now let me die, &c.] These words fignified that he now enjoyed the utmost Happiness he could defire on Earth; which therefore he was willing to leave, because nothing could be added to it. These were the first Thoughts which his Passion suggested to him; though to live with Joseph, and to enjoy his Conversation, was far more than barely to see his face.

Ver. 32. The Men are Shepherds, &c.] He feems to Verfe 32. have been afraid, left Pharaoh fhould have preferred his Brethren, and made them Courtiers, or Commanders in the Army, &c. which might have procured them the Envy of the Egyptians: And, befides, have feparated them one from another. Whereas by profeffing themfelves Shepherds, and Traders in Cattle, they kept all together in a Body, feparate from the Egyptians. Which two Reafons were fuggefted by Jofephus.

Ver. 33. What is your Occupation?] Your way of li-Verse 33. ving : For Men did not live idly in those days.

Ver. 34. Ye shall say, Thy Servants Trade hath been, &c.] Verse 34. He directs them to justifie, what he told them he would inform Pharaoh.

That ye may dwell in the Land of Goshen.] A rich Country, abounding with Pasturage, and also next adjoyning to Canaan (as was noted before, XLV. 10.) unto which, when the time came, they might the more easily return.

57⁸ Chapter XLVI.

For every Shepherd. 7 Not univerfally, without limitation, but every Foreign Shepherd. For a confiderable part of the Egyptian People were Shepherds, as Diodorus Siculus tells us, (L. I. § 2. p. 47. Edit. Steph.) where he faith the Country being divided into three Parts, the Priests had one, their King a second, and the Soldiers a third : And there were three other Ranks of Men under these, viz. Shepherds, Husbandmen, and Artificers. The Husbandmen, he faith, ferv'd their King, and Priefts, and Military Men in tilling their Ground, for small Wages, and spent all their time in it. And the like, account, he faith, is given of their Shepherds, who, from their Fore-fathers, followed that way of living. Which makes it plain they could not abominate those who were fo serviceable to them; though they might contemn them as mean People, who never role to any higher Employment. But we need not go to him for the proof. of this: It being apparent from this very Book, that the Egyptians had Sheep, and Oxen, as well as Horfes and Affes, which they fold to Joseph for Corn in the time of Famine, (XLVII. 17.) and that Pharaoh Spake to 70feph to make fuch of his Brethren as were Men of Skill, Rulers over his Flocks, (XLVII. 6.) which is a demonstration they bred Cattle as well as other Nations. And therefore if we will understand this to be true of all Shepherds, without exception, then by Egyptians (to whom Shepherds are faid to be an abomination) we must not understand all the People of the Country of Egypt, (Shepherds being a part of them) but only the Courtiers and great Men; as in XLV. 2. the Egyptians are faid to hear fofeph weep; i. e. those that belong'd to the Court: Who, it is likely, despised Shepherds, (as Rupertus Tuitiensis long ago expounded this Passage) but that is far short of abominating them, which the Hebrew brew word imports. But after all this, I do not see how Chapter they could be contemptible, if it be true which the XLVI. same Diodorus saith, p. 58. That when they buried a Corps, and made the Funeral Encomium, they never mentioned the Parentage of the deceased, "Ymorausa'vorses a marlas busies in res ral Aiguration, making account that all the People of Egypt were alike well-born.

We must confine therefore this Affertion to Foreign Shepherds; and it is not easie to give the reason why they were an abomination to the Egyptians, who were Shepherds themfelves. Onkelos and Jonathan, with a great many others, think that they would not converse (for that is meant by abomination) with the Hebrew Shepherds, because they had no greater regard to those Creatures which the Egyptians worshipped, than to breed them up to be eaten. But there is no good proof that they worshipped Sheep or Oxen in those Days ; and, on the contrary, it appears both out of Herodotus, and Diodorus Siculus, that they facrificed fuch Creatures, in their days, and also eat of the Sacrifices, when they had done. See Herodot. in Euterpe, c.40,41. And therefore the reason given by others for this Abhorrence is not folid; that the Egyptians did eat no Flefh, and upon that fcore could not endure those that did. This is the Account which Aben Ezra gives of this Matter; who fansies they were like the Indians, in his time, who abominated Shepherds, because they drunk Milk; contrary to their manners, who tafted nothing that came from any living Creature. But, as it cannot be proved that this Superstition was so old as Facob's time; fo the contrary is evident from this very Book, XLIII. 16. where Foleph bids his Steward go home and flay and make ready a Dinner for his Brethren : Whom he did not intend to entertain after the Eeee 2 Hebrew

580 Chapter XLVI.

Hebrew but after the Egyptian fashion; that he might not be known by them. And fo Herodotus informs us, that in his days, though they abstain'd from some Animals. yet they eat of others, both Fish and Birds, Euterpe, c.78. And Diodorus giving an account after what manner their Kings lived, faith they used a fimple Diet, eating Veal and Grefe, &c. L. I. S 2. p. 45. Edit. Steph.

Jof. Scaliger therefore thinks this fort of Men were abominable, because they had often raised Rebellion in Egypt, and made a King of their own; who erected that which is called the Pastoral Kingdom. This is embraced by many great Men, who have only the Authority of Manetho for it; who fays these were Phanician Shepherds (as Josephus tells us, L. I. contra Appian.) who reigned in Egypt, and burnt their Cities, threw down their Temples; in short, omitted no fort of Cruelties. Upon this account the famous Bochartus (Lib. IV. Canaan, cap. 4.) thinks it possible the Egyptians hated Shepherds, who had done for much Mischief: And, I may add, the Hebrew Shepherds 70feph might think would be more abominated, because they came out of that very Country, from whence those Phænician Rovers made their Invasion. But as it doth not appear that they who did the fore-named Mischief were all Foreigners; so the time which is asfigned for this Pastoral Kingdom, doth not agree with the Scripture Story. For it is faid to have been in the One thousand one hundred and twelfth Year before the Israelites going out of Egypt; in the XVth Dynasty, as they call it : That is, about Two and forty Years after the Flood, when Mizraim the Father of the Egyptians was scarce born, or was very young.

Our great Primate Uffer endeavours to avoid this abfurdity, by placing this Invafion (which he thinks was out out of Arabia) three hundred Years after the Flood : Chapter When they took Memphis : Over-run all the lower XLVI. Egypt; and their firft King, there reigned nineteen years. But I have this to except; that Abraham coming a good while after this into Egypt, was well entertained there; though he was as much a Shepherd as his Grand-child Jacob. See Gen. XII.

From whence I conclude, That if this Story of Manetho be true, it hapned after the time of Abraham; and fo was fresh in their memory. Such a third Rebellion of the Shepherds the same Manetho mentions, within less than two hundred Years before the Children of Israel's departure out of Egypt. But this seems to be a Story framed, from that departure of the Israelites themselves (who were Shepherds) out of Egypt under the Conduct of Moses. And so Josephus, and several of the ancient Christians (Tatianus, Justin Martyr, and Clem. Alexand.) understood it. See Uffer. ad An. M. 2179.

All this confidered Gaulmin (in his Notes-upon the -Book called the Life of Moles, p. 267, &c.) hath more probably conjectured, that this aversation to Shepherds arole from their being generally addicted, in those parts, to Robbery: Which way of Life made them abominable. This he justifies out of Heliodorus, L. I. and Achilles Tatius, L. III. who describe the Seat of these Bénohos and Noimeves (whom the Egyptians called Hysch) and the manner of their Life. To which Opinion I find Bochartus himself inclined before he died, and confirms it (in his Hierozoic. L. II. c. 44. P.I.) by many Proofs, that Shepherds anciently were furaz hominum genus, a thievish fort of People; which made them odious. Against which I fee no exception but this; that Aulus Gellius tells us (Lib. XI. cap. 18.) out of an ancient Lawyer, That the old Egyptians held all manner of Thefts

582

Thefts to be lawful, and did not punish them. And Chapter Diodorus Siculus mentions this Law among them. That XLVI. they who would live by Robbery, were to enter their Names, and bring what they ftole, immediately to the Priest, who mulet the Man that was robb'd a fourth part; and gave it to the Thief. By which means all Thefts were discovered, and Men were made more careful, to look well after their Goods. But one cannot believe this Law was of such Antiquity, as the Times of Joseph: Or, if it was, those Out-Laws (as I may call them) who robb'd upon the Borders, were not concern'd in it: Nor had their Neighbours, who were no less addicted to Theft, the benefit of it. Particularly those in Palestine, from whence Jacob came; one would guels by what we read I Chron. VII. 21, 22. were then much addicted to Robbery. For, before this Generation ended, we are told there the Men of Gath flew feveral of the Sons of Ephraim, (who himfelf was then alive) for they came down to take their Cattle, faith that holy Writer; that is, to get what Plunder they could in Gohen : Where the Ephramites defending their Cattle, were some of them killed by the Philistines, to the great grief of their Father. The Ethiopians also are noted by Strabo (Lib. XVII. p. 787.) to live for the most part, Noucodinos i, doropous, after a very poor, sharking, roving manner, by feeding Cattle, where they could find Food for them. And immediately adds, Tois 8' Aizumious amarla ravarlia ounbélonne, that all things were quite contrary among the Egyptians, who were a more civilized People, inhabiting certain and known Places, &c. Which hows that their Manners were very different; which eafily bred hatred. Which appears by what Plutarch faith, (in his Book de Isid. & Osir.) that the Egyptians avoided the Conversation of black Pcople :

People: Which was the Complexion of the Ethiopians. Chapter And for fome fuch reason, he faith, in the fame Book, XLVII. they avoided all Mariners (of others Nations, that is) as here Moses fays they did Shepherds, upon some or other of the accounts before-mentioned.

It looks like a piece of great Generofity in Joseph, not to conceal from Pharaoh the quality of his Family : Though fuch kind of Men were under a very ill Character. He hoped they would diftinguish themselves from such vile Shepherds, as had made the Name odious: And if they did not gain the Love of the Egyptians, they would be the more secured in the Love of God, by not learning their evil Manners and Superstitions; from which they would be preferved, by having no Conversation with them.

CHAP. XLVII.

Ver. 1. JOfeph came and told Pharaoh, &c.] He had his Verfe I. Warrant fome time ago, to fend for his Father and his Family, XLV. 17, &c. But it was good Manners to acquaint him they were come; and to know his pleafure, how he fhould difpofe of them.

Behold, they are in the Land of Goshen.] They stop there (which was the entrance of Egypt) till they know thy pleasure.

Ver. 2. And he took fome of his Brethren, &c.] The He-Verfe 2... brew word Miktfe (which we translate fome) fignifies in common Language, de extremitate, from the fag-end, as we speak, of his Brethren. Which hath made some imagine, he presented the meanest of his Brethren to Pharaoh; that he might neither be afraid of them; nor think Chapter think of advancing them to Employments in the Court XLVII. or Camp. But this is a mere Fancy; the word here denoting only, that he took from among all his Brethren five of them: As Bochart observes, who tranflates it ex omnibus fratribus fuis; taking it to be like that Phrase, XIX. 4. where we translate it, from all Quarters, P. I. Hierozoic. Lib. II. cap. 34.

Verse 3.

584

Ver. 2. Both we and our Fathers.] It is not an Employment we have lately taken up, but were bred to it by our Ancestors: Who followed the same Profession. For this was the most ancient way of living, as Columella observes in his Preface; In rusticatione antiquissima est ratio pascendi, eademque questuosifima. In Country bulinels, the most ancient, as well as most gainful. is the way of feeding Cattle. From whence he thinks came the name of PECUNIA for Money, and PECU-LIUM, for Riches, à pecoribus, from Cattle; because the Ancients had no other Poffessions. Et adhuc apud quasdam gentes unum hoc reperitur divitiarum genus. And to this day, faith he, there is no other Riches to be found among fome Nations. Which is still true of the Abrilines, especially of the Beklenses, as Ludolphus assures us, L. I. Hist. Æthiop. cap. 10. § 8. and Comment. in Histor. L. IV. cap. 4. n. 13.

Verse 4.

Ver. 4. To sojourn in the Land are we come.] We do not desire to settle, but only to sojourn here, during the Famine.

For the Famine is fore in the Land of Canaan.] It was an high Country, in comparison with Egypt; and the Grass sooner burnt up there, than in Goshen: which being a very low Country, they found some Pasture in it for their Flocks, and therefore befeech him to fuffer them to dwell there. For, as St. Austin observes, from those that knew the Country; there was more Grass in the the Marshes and Fenny parts of Egypt, when the Nile Chapter did not overflow enough to make plenty of Corn. XLVII. Quest. CLX. in Gen.

Ver. 6. The Land of Egypt is before thee.] It is all in Verse 6. thy Power; dispose of them as thou pleaseft.

Any Man of activity.] Vigorous and industrious; and that understands his business.

Make them rulers over my Cattle.] Such as Doeg was to Saul, I Sam. XXI. 7. And those great Officers mentioned I Chron. XXVII. 29, 30, 31. were to King David. For the Eastern Kings raised part of their Revenue from Cattle; and so did the Egyptian (it appears by this place) who had some prime Officers, to oversee the lower sort of Shepherds. This shows that all Shepherds were not an abomination to the Egyptians, but only those of other neighbouring Nations (the Arabians, Phænicians, and stations) who were either an ill fort of People; or, forbidden by the Laws of Egypt (which abounded with Cattle) to Traffick with them there.

Ver. 7. Jacob bleffed Pharaoh.] Gave him Thanks Verfe 7. for his Favour; and prayed for his Health and Safety : For that's the Bleffing of an Inferior to a Superior. Thus Naaman prays Elifha, Take a Bleffing of thy Servant, i. e. an acknowledgment of my Obligations to thee. erfe

Ver. 9. Pilgrimage.] So good Men are wont to call V their Life; tho' they never ftir from their Native Soil: Looking upon it as a Passage, not a Settlement. But Jacob had reason to call his life so more literally: Having been tossed from place to place, ever fince he went from his Father's House into Mesopotamia, and returned from thence into Canaan. Where he dwelt a while at Succoth; and then at Shechem; and after that removed to Bethel; and so to Hebron unto his Father Isac; from whence he was now come into Egypt.

Ffff

Few

9.

Chapter Few and evil have been the Days, &c.] They had been XLVII. few, in comparison with his Fore-fathers; and evil, because full of Labour and Care; Grief and Sorrow upon many occasions.

586

Verfe 10. Ver. 10. Jacob bleffed Pharaoh.] At meeting and at parting, fuch Salutations were usual. See Verfe 7.

Verse 11. Ver. 11. In the Land of Ramefes.] In that part of Goshen, which in the days of Moses was called Ramefes; from the Name of the City which the Hebrews built there for Pharaoh. Unless, perhaps, the City was called so from the Country of Ramefes, wherein it stood.

Verfe 12. Ver. 12. And Joseph nourished his Father, &c.] Though there was some Pasture in this Country for their Cattle, yet not Food enough for themselves; which Joseph therefore took care to supply them withal.

> According to their Families.] According as their Children were more, or fewer, so he proportioned their allowance.

Verse 13. Ver. 13. There was no Bread in all the Land.] This was the third Year of the Famine (XLV.6.) in which all the Corn, which Men had stored up in their several Families, was wholly spent.

Verse 14. Ver. 14. And Joseph gathered up all the Money, &c.] As long as the Egyptians had any Money left, they bought Corn of Joseph: Which supported them all the third; and, it is probable, the fourth and fifth Year of the Famine.

And Joseph brought the Money into Pharaoh's House.] Into the Treasury; which he filled, and not his own Coffers, as Philo observes.

Verse 15. Ver. 15. And when Money failed.] This we may probably conceive, was in the fixth Year of the Famine: When they were forced to fell their Cattle for Food.

Ver.

Ver. 18. They came the fecond Year.] i.e. The next Chapter Year after the fale of their Cattle; which was the last XLVII. of the Famine, as appears from the next Verse.

Ver. 19. Wherefore should we die, we and our Land?] Verse 18. The Land is faid to die, (as Bochart observes, in the be-Verse 19. ginning of his Hierozoicon.) cùm inculta jacet & desolata, when it lies until'd and desolate: As he shows by example out of some Poets.

We, and our Land will be Servants unto Pharaoh.] We, that were free, will become the King's Bond-men: And our Land, which was our own, we will hold of him.

And give us Seed, &c.] This flows it was now the last Year of the Famine: They defiring Corn not merely for Food, but also to fow; in hopes to have a Crop the next Year. For Joseph had told them, there should be but feven Years of Famine: And it is likely Nilus had now begun to overflow the Country, as formerly; which confirmed his word.

Ver. 20. And Joseph bought all the Land of Egypt for Verle 20. Pharaoh.] So the whole Country became the King's Demeasne; in which no Man had any Propriety but himself.

Ver. 21. As for the People, he removed them to Cities.] Verse 21. Remote from those wherein they had formerly dwelt. Under the word Cities, is comprehended all the Villages about them.

From one end of the borders of Egypt, &c.] Transplanted them into far distant Parts of the Country; from whence he brought others, in like manner, into their places: That they might in time, forget the Dominion they formerly had in the Lands they had fold; and that there might be no Combination afterwards to regain them: The old owners being separated far one from another. F ff f 2 Ver.

588

Ver. 22. Only the Land of the Priefts bought he not. 7 Chapter This is commonly noted, as a great piece of Religion in XLVII. Joseph, that he took not away the Land of those who ~ Verse 22. were God's Ministers : Tho' engaged, it's thought, in Superflitious, if not Idolatrous Services, (for that the word Cohanim here fignifies Priefts, not Princes, as fometimes it doth, the ancient Verfions-generally agree.) But it is plain they were in no neceffity to fell their Lands. having their Diet continually from the King : Which isgiven as the reason (in the following part of this Ver(a) why he did not buy them. This therefore is rather to, be observed, that the Priests had anciently some Publick Lands allotted to them for the fupport of their Dignity. For both Herodotus and Diodorus tells us, they had a Publick Maintenance, as Volfius observes, Lib. I. de Idolol, cap. 29. The Priesthood being confined to certain Families, (as it was in Ifrael to that of Aaron) and held in fuch Veneration, that they were all not only areitigs, free from paying Tributes, and Sourpol'ovres usmin Brake; next to the King in Honour and in Power ; but received a third of the Royal Revenues .: Out of which they maintained the Publick Sacrifices, and their Servants, and rais islas ypeias i yophyses, provided for their own Necessities. Thus Diodorus Siculus, L. I. as I find him alledged by Jac. Capellus in his Hift. Sacra & Exot. ad A. M. 2294. Constantine the Great, in part, imitated this Constitution, in that Law of his, which made even all the Professors of Learning free from all Publick, Charges of any fort, befides; the Salary he allowed them; that they might the more chearfully follow their feveral Studies

Verie 23: Ver. 23: Behold, I have bought you this day, and your Land, &c.] The Bargain could not be denied; but he would not be forigid as to tye them strictly to it. For in the next Verfe, he required only a fifth part of the in- Chapter creafe of their Ground for the King; and tells them, XLVII. the reft fhould be their own. An act of great Humanity and Equity: Wherein he fhow'd himfelf, both a good Man, and a wife States-man; in taking away all matter of complaint from the People. For a tenth part of the increafe was due, in all likelihood, to the King before, (XXVIII. 22.) which he now only doubles: When he might have taken all; or, given them but one or two parts, and kept all the reft for the King.

in

Ver. 25. Thon hast faved our lives, &c.] We owe our Verse 25. very Lives to thee; and therefore let us but have thy Favour, and we shall willingly be Pharaoh's Servants. This is an high Expression of their Thankfulness, for such good Terms as he offered them; which they readily accepted: With Professions of their Obligation to be Pharaoh's Bond-men.

Ver. 26. Joseph made it a Law.] By his Advice this Verse 26. Law was enacted; whereby the Power of the Egyptian Kings was mightily increased; for we read not of the like Constitution in any other Nation. Thucydides indeed relates that the People of Attica paid to Pisistratus the twentieth part of their Corn; and Appianus Alexandr. says, the old Romans paid the tenth of their Corn, and the fifth of their Fruit: But it was the peculiar Prerogative of the Egyptian Kings, to have the fifth of all the increase of the Field: Which Joseph procured them by this admirable Management.

Ver. 27. And Ifrael dwelt in the Land, &c.] ' See Verse 27. Verse 11.

And they had posselfions thereins] They could have no Land of their own, (for all the Country was become Pharaoh's) but the meaning is, they farmed (as we fpeak) Land of the King; to whom they became Tenants. And z

And grew and multiplied exceedingly.] And confe-Chapter XLVII. quently inlarged their habitation beyond the Territory of Rameses, where they were first placed, into o. ther Parts of Goshen. Which we must not fansie to have v. * . been a Country now empty of People : For though, perhaps, about Rameses there might be some vacant Ground, sufficient for Jacob's Family, when they came first to plant there : Yet when they increased very much, no doubt, they lived among the Egyptians, where they could find admiffion. This plainly appears at their going from thence, Exod. XII. 22, 23. where God commands them to sprinkle their Door-Posts with the Blood of the Paschal Lamb, to secure them from the Destruction, which was coming upon their Neighbours, who wanted this Mark of Safety.

590

Verse 29. Ver. 29. If I have now found grace in thy fight.] This is a Phrase used a little before, ver. 25. in a little different Sence. For there it fignifies the Favour flown to another : But here is as much, as if thou lovest me.

Put thy Hand under my Thigh.] i. e. Swear to me, as it is explain'd in verse 31. See XXIV. 2.

Deal kindly and truly with me.] Show me true Kindnefs, in promifing and performing what I defire. See XXIV. 27, 49.

Verse 30. Ver. 30. I will lie with my Fathers, &c.] So all Men naturally defire to do: But he had a peculiar reason for it. Which was his belief that the Country where their Bodies lay, was his in Reversion; and that God, in due time, would put his Children into possession of it. For which time they could not but the more earneftly long, because the Bodies of their Ancestors were there buried. See L.5. which explains the reason why Jacob exacts an Oath of Joseph ; not because he doubted he might not otherwife fulfil his Defire; but that Pharaoh Pharaob might be willing to let him carry his Body Chapter thither, when he found he lay under fo facred an XLVII. Obligation to do it.

791

Ver. 31. And Ifrael bowed himsfelf upon the Bed's head. Verse 31. Raifed up hisHead from his Pillow, and bowed : Either to Joseph, in Thankfulnels for his Promise ; or, to God, for the Affurance he had receiv'd, that he should be buried with his Pious Fore-fathers : Or, elfe this bowing was the ufual Ceremony, wherewith an Oath was attended. The Chaldee Paraphrast thinks the Divine Glory now appeared; which Jacob devoutly worshipped. But, if the Author to the Hebrews had not understood his bowing to be an act of Worship, the Interpretation of fome modern Writers might, pethaps, have been thought reasonable : Who translate these words thus, He laid himself down upon his Pillow : As weak Men are wont to do; after they have fat up a while, 'to difpatch some business. For the Hebrew word Scharab, which fignifies to bow the Body; fignifies also to fall down upon the Earth: And therefore might here be translated lie down. But the Apostle, as I faid, hath over-ruled all fuch Conceits, if we suppose him to translate this Pasfage, Heb. XI. 21. Which to me indeed doth not feem evident. For the Apostle is there speaking of another thing; not of what Facob did now, when Holeph Sware to him; but of what he did after theseithings, (XLVIII. 1.) when he bleffed Joseph's Sons. Then the Apostle fays, he worshipped upon the top of his Staff. Which is not the Translation of Moses his words in this place : But words of his own, whereby he explains the following Story ; and fhows how ftrong his Faith was, when his . Body was fo weak that he was no able to bow himfelf. and worthip, without the help of his Staff. This clearly removes all the difficulty, which Interpreters have made,

Chapter made about reconciling the words of Moses here in XLVIII. this Verse, to the Apostle's words in that.

But however this be, 'Jacob's bowing here, I doubt not, fignifies worfhipping; as the Vulgar Latin takes it: Where the word God is added, (which is not in the Hebrew) and these words thus translated, Ifrael worfhipped God, turning himself to the Bed's head.

CHAP. XLVIII.

Verse 1. Ver. 1. A Fter these things.] Sometime after, though not long (for Jacob was nigh his end, when he sent for Joseph to make him swear he would bury him with his Fathers) he grew so weak, that he concluded he could not live long.

One told Joseph.] A Meffenger was sent from his Father's House, to acquaint Joseph with his weak Condition. So the next Verse teaches us to understand it.

He took with him, &c.] Immediately he went to receive his Bleffing, and took with him his two Sons, that he might blefs them alfo.

Verse 2.

Ver. 2. One told Jacob, &c.] Joseph sent a Messenger before him, to let his Father know, he was coming to visit him.

Ifrael strengthned himself.] This Message revived him; and made him stir up all his Spirits to receive him chearfully.

And fat upon his bed.] Leaning, it's likely, upon his Staff, for the support of his feeble Body. See XLVII. ult.

Verle 3. Ver. 3. Appeared to me at Luz.] He appeared twice to him in this place. First, when he went to Padam-Aram,

592

Aram, XXVIII. 13. (upon which he gave this Place the Chapter Name of Bethel, verse 19.) and when he returned from XLVIII thence, XXXV. 6.9, &c. and, both times, made him the Promise which here follows; and therefore it is likely he hath respect to both.

593

And bleffed me.] Promised to me the Bleffing which follows.

Ver. 4. For an everlasting posselfion.] We do not read Verle 4. this in either of the Appearances, in fo many words : But he said it in effect, when he told him, in the last Appearance there, XXXV. 12. The Land which I gave to Abraham, and Isaac, to thee will I give it, &c. Now he gave it to Abraham and his Seed for ever, XIII. 15.

Ver. 5. And now thy two Sons, &c.] Having affured Verfe 5. him God would be as good as his Word, in giving the Land of Canaan to his Posterity; he tells him what share his Children should have in it.

Are mine.] Thy two Sons shall be reckoned as if I had begotten them: And accordingly have each of them an Inheritance, equal with the reft of my Sons, and be distinct Tribes.

As Reuben and Simeon, shall they be mine.] He instances in them, because they were his eldest Sons : Who, he fays, should have no more than Ephraim and Manasseh. And, perhaps, the meaning may be; these two shall be accounted as the First-born of my Family. For he gives Joseph the Primogeniture, (who was indeed the First-born of his first intended Wife) and bestows a double Portion upon him; by making his two Sons equal to the reft of his Children.

Ver. 6. And thy iffue which thou begettest after them, (ball be thine.] I will make no diftinct Provision for them, as I have done for these two: But they shall be called after the Name of their Brethren in their Inheri-Famile,

Gggg

Chapter tance, i. e. be reckoned among these two, Ephraim and XLVIII. Manasseh; and not make distinct Tribes as they shall, but be comprehended in them.

Verle 7. Ver. 7. And as for me, when I came from Padan-Aram. Rachel died by me, &c.] He mentions her death (which doth not feem to belong to the foregoing difcourse) because it hapned presently after that last Promise in Bethel. (XXXV. 18.) and he thought it would be grateful to his Son, to hear him remember his dear Mother. For it is as if he had faid ; And now, my Son, this puts me in mind of thy Mother, who died immediately after that Promise of multiplying my Seed : And yet I see it fulfilled. in those Children which God hath given thee. Or, we may look upon these words, as giving the reason why he took. Ephraim and Manasseh to be his own Children; and the Sence to be, as if he had faid : Thy Mother indeed, and my beloved Wife, died foon after the began to bear Children; when the might have brought me many more : And there-. fore I adopt these her Grand-Children, and look upon them as if they had been born of Rachel. And I do it in Memory and Honour of her; supplying by adoption. what was wanting in Generation.

And I buried her there.] He could not carry her to the Cave of Machpelah, where he defired to be laid himfelf; because she died in Child-bed. Which constrain'd him to bury hersooner, than otherwise he might have done. And it is to be supposed he had not in his Travels, all things necessary to preferve her Body long; by embalming her, as Joseph did him.

Verse 8.

Ver. 8. And Ifrael beheld Joseph's Sons, &c.] He faw two others stand by Joseph; but could not discern distinctly who they were, by reason of the dimness of his Sight, verse 10.

Ver.

594

Ver. 9. And I will bless them.] As he had just be- Chapter fore promised, verse 5. XLVIII.

Ver. 10. And he brought them near unto him.] And r made them kneel down before him : as the twelfth Verse 9. Verse sto intimate. Verse 10.

And he kissed them, &c.] Expressed the greatest Affection to them.

Ver. 12. Brought them out from between his Knees.] It Verfe 12. appears by Verfe 2. that Jacob fat upon his Bed; and his Legs hanged down, they kneeled between his Knees. From whence Joseph took them. And then feems to have placed himfelf in the fame posture, bowing himself with his Face to the Earth (as the following words tell us) to give his Father Thanks for his Kindness to his Children. Or, rather, we may conceive, that while Jacob embraced them in his Arms, and kissed them with more than ordinary Affection, Joseph was afraid that they might lie too long, or press too hard upon his Father's Breast; and create fome trouble to a feeble old Man: And therefore he withdrew them from thence, and disposed them to receive his Blessing.

Ver. 13. And Joseph took them both, &c.] Made them Verle 13. kneel down by himself, before Jacob: Placing Ephraime towards Jacob's Left Hand, Sc.

Ver. 14. Stretched out his right hand; and laid it on E-Verle 14. phraim's head.] Laying Hands on the Head of any Perfon, was always used in this Nation, in giving Blessings, and designing Men to any Office; and in the Confecration of Publick and Solemn Sacrifices. This is the first time we meet with the mention of it; but in aftertime we often read of it; particularly when Moses confituted Joshua to be his Successor, God orders him to do it, by laying his Hands on him, Numb. XXVII. 18, 23. Deut. XXXIV. 9. Thus Children were brought to Gggg 2. our

595

Chapter our bleffed Saviour, that he might lay his Hands on them XLVIII. and blefs them; and fo he did, Matth. XIX. 13, 15. And the Right Hand being the ftronger, and that wherewith we commonly perform every thing; the laying that on Ephraim's Head was giving him the preheminence.

Who was the younger.] It is observed by Theodoret upon I Sam. XVI. that God was wont from the beginning to prefer the younger before the elder. As Abel before Cain; Sem defore Japhet; Ifaac before Ifhmael; Jacob before Efan; Judab and Joseph before Reuben; and here Ephraim before Manasseh; as afterwards Moses before Aaron; and David the youngest of all, before his elder Brethren. Which was to show that the Divine Benefits were not tied to the Order of Nature; but dispensed freely according to God's most wife Goodnefs.

Guiding his Hands mittingly.] He did not mistake, by reason of his blindness; but foreseeing by the Spirit of Prophecy, how much Ephraim would excel the other, he designedly and on purpose, thus laid his Hands across: So that the Right Hand lay upon the Head of Ephraim, who was next to his Left, &c.

Verfe 15. Ver. 15. He bleffed Joseph.] In the Bleffing he bestowed on his Children.

> All my life long.] The Hebrew word Mehodi fignifies à die quo ego fum (as Bochart interprets it, Hierozoic: P. I. Lib. II. c. 14.) ever fince I had a being.

Verle

596

Ver. 16. The Angel which redeemed me.] Who by God's Order, and as his Minister, preferved me in all the Dangers wherein I have been. Many of the ancient Ft hers (as Athanasius L. IV. contra Arianos, Cyril upon this place; Procopius Gazaus, &c.) understand hereby an increated Angel, viz. The Second Person of the the bleffed Trinity. ' But the Discourse it not con- Chapter ' cerning the fending of the Son of God, in our Flefh XLVIII. ' to redeem Mankind, but only concerning the Prefer- L ' vation and Prosperity of one Man; and therefore I ' do not know whether it be fafe to call him an Angel, ' 1.e. a Minister, or Messenger, lest we detract from his ' Divinity. For in conferring Bleffings, he is not a Mef-' senger or Minister; but a principal Cause together ' with the Father. They are the words of that famous Divine Georg. Calixtus; who follows St. Chryfoftom, who takes this Angel to be one properly fo called : And thence proves the heavenly Ministers take care of Pious Péople. And so doth St. Basil in no less than three places of his Works : Which flow it was his fetled Opinion. But it did not enter into their Thoughts that Facob here pray'd to an Angel; but only witht these Children might have the Angelical Protection, by the special Favour of God to them. For it is just such an Expression as that of David, to a contrary purpose, Pfalm XXXV. 6. Let the Angel of the Lord perfecute them. Where no Body will fay he prays to an Angel; though his words are exactly like these of Jacob.

And let my Name be named on them] Here he plainly. adopts them to be his Children, as he faid before he would, verse 5. For to be called by one's Name, (which is the fame with having his Name named on them) is as much as to be one's Children. For thus they that are faid to be called by God's Name, became his peculiar People. Therefore Tostatus well interprets it, Sint duo Capita tribuum inter Filios Jacob : Let them be the Heads of two Tribes among the Sons of Jacob. But none fo plainly as David Chytraus, whole words are thele, Vera & simplicissima sententia hæc est; Isti pueri, à me adoptati, &c. The true and most simple Sence is, These Youths, Manasseth and I and Ephraim, who are adopted by me, shall not hereafter be Chapter called the Sons of Joseph, but my Sons : And be Heirs, and XLVIII. in the division of the Inheritance of the Land of Canaan. receive an equal Portion with my Sons.

597

Grow into a multitude.] The Hebrew word, as Onkelos interprets it, fignifies increase like Fishes (as we also in the Margin translate it) which are the most fruitful of all Creatures, as Authors commonly observe. See Bochart. P. I. Eib. I. cap. 6. Hierozoic.

598

Verle 19. Ver. 19. His younger Brother shall be greater than he.] His Family multiplied faster, according to the fignification of his Name : As appears from Numb. I. 33, 35. And the Kingdom was afterward established in him; and all the ten Tribes called by the Name of Ephraim.

> Shall become a multitude of Nations.] In the Hebrew the words are fulness of Nations, i e. of Families. As much. as to fay, his Seed shall replenish the Country with numerous Families : For that which replenishes the Earth, is called the fulnefs of the Earth, Pfalm XXIV. 1. and that which replenishes the Sea, the fulness of the Sea, Pfalm XCVI. 11. Isai. XLII. 10. See L. de Dien.

Verse 20. Ver. 20. And he bleffed them that day.] He concluded with a folemn Benediction upon them both: And when he pronounced it, worshipped God (as the Apostle tells us, Hebr. XI. 21.) leaning upon the top of his Staff. Whereby he was supported from falling; of which he would have been in danger, when he bowed, if he had not leaned on it.

> In thee (hall Ifrael blefs.] When my Posterity would wish all Happiness to others, they shall use this form of Speech; God make you like Ephraim and Manaffeh. Which continues, they fay, among the Jews to this Day.

> > Ver.

Ver. 21. Bring you again into the Land of your Fathers.] Chapter Where your Fathers fojourned: and which God be-XLVIII. ftowed upon them in reversion.

Ver. 22. Which I took out of the Hand of the Amo-Verse 21. rite, &c.] He doth not mean the City of Shechem; Verse 22. which his Sons took unjustly and cruelly (and not from the Amorites, but the Hivites) without his knowledge, and contrary to his will: But that piece of Land, which he bought of Hamor the Father of Sheching Gen. XXXIII. 19. compared with St. John IV. 5. Which feems to be the reason why Foseph was himself here buried in his own Ground, given by his Father, Josh. XXIV. 22. and not in the Cave of Machpelah. The only difficulty is, how he could fay, that he took this Land from the Amorite by his Sword, and by his Bow, (which comprehend all warlike Instruments) when he bought it for an hundred Pieces of Silver of Hamor the Hivite. It is to be supposed therefore that he took it, i. e. recovered it from the Amorites, who had feized on it, after his removal to another part of Canaan, and would not restoreit, but constrain'd him to drive them out by force. We read nothing indeed in the foregoing Hiftory, either of their invading his Poffession, or his expelling them thence : But the Scripture relates many things to have been done, without mentioning the circumstances of Time and Place; as Bochartus observes. And among other Instances gives that in XXXVI. 24. where Ana is faid to have met with the Emims (so he understands it) in the Wilderness: Of which encounter we find no mention in any other place. See his Hierozoic. P. II. L. IV. cap. 13: And, as I take it, we have a plainer Instance in the place a little before mentioned, Hebr. XI. -21. where the Apostle says, Jacob, when he was a dying, bleffed both the Sons of Joseph and worshipped, leaning :

599

Chapter leaning upon the top of his Staff.] Of which there is not XLIX. a word in this History, but only of his bleffing them,

600

There are those who, with St. Hierom, understand by Sword and Bow, his Money: Which he calls by those warlike Names, to fignifie this was the only Instrument he used to acquire any thing. Just as the Romans, when they would fignifie they had got any thing, without any other help, but their own Industry alone, fay they obtained in Proprio Marte; using a similitude from Military Expences and Labours. If this do not seem harsh, it is not hard to give an account why he calls those Amorites, who before were called Hivites: For Amorites feems to have been the general Name of all the seven Nations of Canaan, they being the Chief; just as all the People of the seven united Provinces, are now commonly called Hollanders, who are the most Potent of allthe reft.

CHAP. XLIX.

Verfe 1. [Ver. 1.] Acob called unto his Sons.] When he had done fpeaking with Joseph, perceiving his end approaching, he sent one to call the rest of his Sons to come to him.

> Gather your felves together.] Come all in a Body to -me. Let me fee you all together before I die.

> What shall be in the last Days.] The Condition of your Posterity in future Times. Jacob is the first, that we read of, who particularly declared the future state of 'every one of his Sons, when he less the World. But it hath been an ancient Opinion, That the Souls of all excellent cellent Men, the nearer they approached to their de-Chapter parture from hence, the more Divine they grew; and XLIX, had a clearer profpect of things to come. Whence Xenophon, L. VIII. makes his Cyrus fay, when he was near his end, That the Souls of Men, at the point of death, become Prophetick. Which never was univerfally true; for Prophecy is not a natural thing; nor were all excellent Men partakers of it; and God communicated it in what measures he pleased, to those who had any thing of it; and to Jacob more than had been befrowed upon his great Ancestors. For these last words of his, may be called Prophecies rather than Benedictions: Some of them containing no Bleffing in them; but all of them Predictions.

Ver. 2. Gather your felves together.] This is repeated, Verle 2. to haften them; as the two next words, hear and hearken, are used to excite their Attention. It was the manner of good Men among the Hebrews, to call all their Children before them, and give them good Counsel, together with their Bleffing, when they drew near to their end: The words then spoken, being likely to stick fast in their Mind.

Ver. 3. Reuben, &cc.] It is commonly obferved, that Verla 3. the Style wherein he speaks to his Sons, is much more lofty than that hitherto used in this Book. Which hath made some fansie that Jacob did not deliver these very words; but Moses put the Sense of what he said into such Poetical Expressions. But it seems more reasonable to me, to think that the Spirit of Prophecy now coming upon him, raised his Style as well as his Understanding: As it did Moses's also; who delivered his Benedictions (in Deut. XXXIII.) in a strain more sublime, than his other Writings.

Hhhh

Thou

602 Chapter XLIX.

Thou art my first born.] So we read XXIX. 22. To. whom the Jews commonly observe belonged three Prerogatives, a double Portion of the Father's Effate, the Priefthood, and the Kingdom, (as they fpeak) i. e. chief Authority among his Brethren. The first of these, faith the Chaldee Paraphrast was given to Joseph, the second to Levi, the third to Judah, because Reuben had forfeited all the Rights of his Primogeniture, by his Inceft with his Father's Wife. But Mr. Selden himfelf (who gives a full account of the Jews Opinion in this matter) acknowledges the Priesthood was not confined to the First-born before the Law, as appears by Abel's offering Sacrifice as well as Cain, and Moles being a Priest as well as Aaron (Pfalm XCIX. 6.) unless we understand thereby the Office of Chief Priest. And fo Jonathan here reports the ancient Opinion of the Jews, that Reuben loft the High-Priestbood. L. I. de Synedr. cap. 16. p. 642, &c.

My might.] Whom I begot, when I was in my full. Vigour.

The beginning (or the first-fruits) of my strength.] The fame thing, in more words. Or, it may be interpreted, the prime support of my Family. The Firstborn is called, the beginning of strength in Deut. XXI. 17. Pfalm CV. 36.

The Excellency of Dignity] Who hadst the Preheminence among thy Brethren, (being the First-born) if thou hadst not fall'n from it by thy Folly; as it follows afterwards.

And the Excellency of Power.] Who wast born to the highest Authority among them. 'The Hebrews refer Dignity to the Priesthood, and Power to the Kingdom. But there being no solid ground to think the Priesthood, as I said before, was confined to the eldest Brother :

ther; I take Dignity to fignifie the double Portion of Chapter the Eftate; and Power, Authority among them, while XLIX. they remained in one Family.

Ver. 4. Unstable as Water.] The Hebrew word Pa-Verse 4. chaz fignifying bafte, and in the Chaldee having the fignification of leaping; the Interpretation of St. Hierom feems most reasonable; which is, poured out like Water out of a Veffel upon the Ground. And then it denotes Reuben's falling from his Dignity, and lofing his Preheminence; as Water suddenly disappears, when it is poured out on the Earth, and fuckt up into it. Many refer it, particularly Ca. Vitringa in his late Sacred Obfervations, (Lib. I. cap. 12.) unto his unbounded Lust: But that is taken notice of in the latter part of this Verle, and given as a reason of his being degraded. Others therefore translate the Hebrew word Pachaz by the Latin word, Levis; a light or vain Person (as we speak at this day) and then the meaning still is, Water is not more prone to flow, when it is poured out, than thon wast to lose thy Dignity So Georg. Calixtus.

, Thou shalt not excel.] There is nothing Great faid to be done by this Tribe in Scripture. And they were not fo numerous (to which the Vulgar Latin refers this) by more than a third part, as the Tribe of Judab (to whom God gave part of Reuben's Prerogative) when Moses by God's Command took the Sum of all the Congregation, Numb. I. 21, 27.

Becaufe thou wentest up to thy Father's Bed.] Committedst Incest with my Wife, XXXV. 22.

Then defiledst thou it : He went up to my Couch.] Or, rather, When thou defiledst my Couch, it vanished, i.e. his Excellency departed. For the word Halah, which is here translated to go up, fignifies often in Scripture, to vanish or perish. As in Psalm CII. 25. Isa. V. 24. which H h h h 2 makes makes the eafieft Senfe of this place, in this manner, 'Exi-' quò polluifti thorum meum, ascendit ut vapor aut fumus ' excellentia & dignitas tua, i. e. dilapsa est, extinita est, ' evanuit. From the time that thou defiledst my Couch, ' thy Excellency and Dignity went up like a Vapour or ' Smoak, i.e. it sid away, it was extinct; it vanished. They are the words of the fore-named Calixtus. Who well observes that this is explained in 1 Chron. V. 1.

Verse 5:

604

Chapter

XLIX.

Ver. 5. Simeon and Levi are Brethren.] So were all the reft; but the meaning is, they are alike in their Difpolitions, and linkt together in the fame wicked Defigns; for fo the word Brother fometimes fignifies, a Companion or Affociate, that agrees in the fame Inclinations or Undertakings with others. As Prov. XVIII. 9.

Instruments of Cruelty are in their Habitations.] The word Mecheroth (which we translate Habitations) is nove where elfe found ;' nor is there any root in the Hebrem Language, from whence it may derive that Signification. Therefore Lud. du Dieu, from the Æthiopick Language, translates it Counfels: For fo the word fignifies in that-Tongue; and in an ill Senfe, Confpirations, Machinations, or mischievous Devices. This Job Ludolphus approves of, and translates this Sentence after this manner, Gonsilia corum nihil sunt nise vis & arma : Their Counfels are nothing, but Force and Arms. Vid. Comment. in-Histors, Æthiop. Lib. I. cap. 15. n. 106. Aben Ezra is not much different, who translates it, their Compacts :-As G. Vorstius, notes upon Pirke Eliefer, cap. 38. where there are other various Interpretations : With which I shall not trouble the Reader, because I have given that which I think most natural.

Yerle 6.

Ver. 6. O my Soul, come not thou, &c.] He utterly difclaims all knowledge of their wicked Fact before-hand : or, approbation of it afterward. For by Soul is meanthim-himself; and so the word Honour or Glory seems to Chapter mean, in the following words; which are but a Re-XLIX. petition of this. Or, else it signifies the Tongue, as in many places of Scripture, (particularly Pfalm XXX. 12.) and the meaning is, He never in Thought, much less in Word assented to what they did. They gloried in the flaughter they made; but God forbid that I should fo much as approve it.

605

Secret fignifying the fame with Affembly is, in reafon, to be interpreted a Secret place, or Clofet; where Cabals (as we now fpeak) are wont to be held.

Slew a Man.] i.e. Shechem; a great Man: Or, the Singular Number is put for the Plural.

In their felf-will.] The Hebrew word Ratson may well be translated Humour. When they were in a Fit of Rage.

They digged down a Wall.] Broke into Hamor's House, where Shechem was. In the Margin we translate it houghed Oxen: And indeed the Hebrew word Schor fignifies an Ox, not a Wall; which they call Shur. Yet the Vulgar, the Syriack, Arabick, Chaldee, and a great number of the Hebrew Authors interpret it a Wall. And though the LXX. translate it coste guomnous ravege, they havestring'd an Ox; yet the Author of the Greek Scholion . (as Bochart acknowledges) translates it Replic wow reiyG., they undermin'd a Wall. The truth is, we read of neither in the Story, but only of their taking their Sheep and their Oxen, XXXIV. 28. which fignifies not their houghing them; but their driving them away. Perhaps, they both broke down a Wall to come at their Flocks 5 and also houghed those which they were afraid would otherwife have escaped their hands and got away.

Ver.7. Curfed be their Anger.] Their Fury was most ex-Verse 7.7ecrable, and detestable: And brought a Curse upon' them. . For Chapter For it mas fierce.] Oùtragious; or, as the Vulgar XLIX. translates it, pertinacious. Not a fudden, impetuous Passion, that was soon over: But a setted, inflexible Rage. So he condemns them upon a double account. First, that they had such an implacable defire of Revenge; and then, that their Revenge was too cruel.

> I will divide them in Jacob, &c.] This is the Punishment, which by a Prophetick Spirit he foretells God would inflict upon them : That they who were affociated in Wickedness, should be disjoyned one from another; when his Children came to inherit the Land of Canaan. And so it fell out ; for Simeon's Posterity had not a separate Inheritance by themselves, but only a Portion in the midst of the Tribe of Judah, as we read Forh. XIX. 1, 9, and accordingly we find them affifting one another, to enlarge their Border, Judg. I. 3,17, and their Portion being too strait for them, we read how in after times they acquired Poffessions, where they could. far from the rest of their Brethren : Five hundred of this Tribe, under feveral Captains, going to Mount Seir, and there fetling themfelves, I Chron. IV. 39, 4.2. It is a constant Tradition also among the Hebrews (as P. Fagius observes) that a great many of this Tribe wanting a livelihood applied themselves to the teaching of Children; and were employed as School-Mafters in all the other Tribes of Ifrael : Where few followed this Employment but Simeonites. If this be true, it is a further Proof of their scattered Condition.

> As for the Tribe of Levi, it is manifelt they had no Inheritance allotted to them, among their Brethren; but were difperfed among all the Tribes: Having certain Cities affigned to them, with a little Land about them. This indeed did not prove a Curfe to them; they having the Tenth of all the Increase of the Land, throughout out the whole Country. For this Curfe feems to have Chapter been taken off, upon that eminent Service they did in XLIX. falling upon the Worthippers of the Golden Calf; and thereby confectating themfelves unto the LORD, Exod.XXXII.26,29. Upon which account Mofes bleffes this Tribe, a little before he died, Deut. XXXIII. 9. whereas he gives no Bleffing at all to the Tribe of Simeon; but leaves them under this Curfe: A great ringleader of the Idolatry with Baal-Peor, being a Prince of this Tribe; whom Phineas, of the Tribe of Levi; flew in his Zeal for the Lord Numb. XXV. 11, 14.

Ver. 8. Judab, thou art he whom thy Brethren shall Verse 8. praise.] Or, thou art Judab; and well maiss thou be so called, for thy Brethren shall praise thee. The Name of Judab signifies Praise, unto which his Father alludes. It was given him by his Mother, in Thankfulness to God for him, XXIX. 35. and now his Father gives another reason of his Name; because all his Brethren should applaud his worthy Acts, and praise God for them. Which is not spoken of Judab's Person; but of his Family, or Tribe: Who in future times were very famous Thy Hand shall be in the Neck of thy Enemies.] To overthrow them, and bring them under: Which was eminently fulfilled in David, as he himself acknowledges, Pfalm XVIII. 40. And so were the foregoing words; when all the Daughters of Ifrael came forth of their Cities singing his Praises in such an high strain, as offended Saul, 1 Sam. XVIII. 6, 7.

Thy Father's Children shall bow down to thee.] Ac-knowledge thee their Superior.

Ver. 9. Judah is a Lion's Whelp, &c.] He fets forth in Verfe 9. this Verfe, the Warlike Temper of this Tribe, and their undaunted Courage, and Terriblenefs to their Enemies.

And

607.

Chapter And he feems to express the beginning, increase, and XLIX. full growth of their Power; by a young Lion, a Lion, www.and a Lionefs; which is the fiercest of all other.

> A Lion's Whelp.] This Tribe gave early proof of their Valour; being the first that went to fight against the Canaanites, after the Death of Joshua, Judg. I. 1, 2. And David, who was of this Tribe, when he was but a Youth, killed a Lion, and a Bear, and the great Giant Goliab.

> From the prey, my Son, thou art gone up.] He fpeaks as if he faw them returning in Triumph; with the Spoils of their Enemies: Alluding unto Lions, who having gotten their Prey in the Plain, return fatiated to the Mountains. As Bochartus observes, P. I. L. III. cap. 2. Hierozoic.

> He ftoopeth down, he coucheth as a Lion.] The Hebrew word Ari fignifies a grown lion, come to his full strength. By whose ftooping down (bending his Knees the Hebrew word fignifies) and couching to take his rest, (which all four-footed Beasts do, but the Lion is observed, to sleep whole days in his Den, or in Thickets, that he may be fresher for his Prey in the Night) Jacob sets forth the Ease and Quiet that Judah should enjoy after their Victories, without any fear of Disturbance.

> And as an old Lion.] I think Bochart hath plainly demonstrated that Labi, fignifies a Lionefs: Which is rather fiercer than a Lion; as he observes out of Herodotus, and other Authors, P. I. Hierozoic. Lib. III. c. I.

> Who shall rouse him up?] Having overcome his Enemies, he shall live in fecure Peace; free from their Incursions: None daring to invade him; no more than to stir up a sleepy Lion.

Verse 10. Ver. 10. The Scepter shall not depart from Judah, &c.] That the first word Schebet is rightly translated Scepten, we we have the unanimous Testimony of the three Targum's Chapter of the ancient Book Rabboth, with a great many of the XLIX. modern Rabbins, (such as Chaskuni, Bechai, Abarbi-V nel. &c.) who all think the word fignifies a Scepter, and not a Tribe, as some few would have it : Whom some Christians follow; particularly Jac. Altingius hath lately afferted it in Schilo; but, in my judgment, against the clearest evidence for the other fignification. For. as Schebet doth not originally fignifie a Tribe, but a Rod or Wand Incoting from the Root of a Tree, (from whence it was translated to fignifie a Tribe, who fpring out of a common Stock, i.e. the Father of the Family) fo the Verse foregoing being a plain Prediction of 711dab's Dominion, not only over external Enemies, but over his Brethren, what can we fo reasonably think to be the Defign of this Verfe, as to foretel the Continuance and Duration of that great Power and Authority promised in the foregoing? It is observable also, that the very same Phrase is used in this Sence, and cannot have another, Zachar. X. II. The Scepter of Egypt shall depart away: Where there are two of the words here uled; fignifying the Dominion, which the Egyptians then exercised over the poor Jems, should quite cease. And if Moses had meant a Tribe in this place, he would not have said the Tribe shall not depart from Judah, but the Tribe of Judah shall not cease: For the former looks like a tautology.

The meaning of this word then being fetled, it is manifelt Jacob here gives Judab the higheft Superiority over his Brethren; and informs them, that from the time his Authority (hould be established, there should continue a Form of Government in this Tribe, till the coming of the Melsiah. The word Scepter is more uled in ancient Times (as Mr. Selden observes in his Titles of Honour) to Chapter to fignifie Kingly Power, than either Crown or Diadem, XLIX. which have been used more in latter times. And therefore the LXX translate it "Apxwv, of whole Authority the Rod, Staff, or Scepter was the Enfign. And accordingly in the Prophecy of Amos 1.5. He that holdeth the Scepter, is used absolutely for a King. Now this Regal Power began in the Tribe of Judah, when David was King over all Ifrael, I Chron. XXVIII. 4. and his Pofterity held it, till the Captivity of Babylon.

Tiii

But then the next word in this Verse, Mechokek which we translate Law-giver) signifies a diminution of this Dignity, before the finishing of this Prophecy. For Mechokkim were not of equal Power with Kings; and therefore we translate the word elsewhere Governours, Judg. V. 9, 14 who were not indued with an absolute Power, but depended on the Power of another. And thus R. Solomon Farchi expresly fays (in his Commentaries on the Sanhedrim) that as Schebet fignifies the higheft Authority, so Mechokek fignifies a leffer Magistrate or Ruler; who was fet over the People by the Authority and Licence of the Kings of Persia. For this kind of Power, was fettled among them, at their return from Babylon, when Zerobabel was made their Governor. And aftersthey were invaded by the Seleucidæ this Authority was recovered and maintained by the Maccabees; till they were deprived of it by Herod and the Romans. At which time Chrift came ; when it is evident they were become Subjects to the Romans, by the very enrolling that was made of them at the Birth of our Saviour : Which was a publick Teftimony of Augustus his Sovereignty over them. So that the meaning of this Prophecy is ; There shall be either Kings, or Governors among the Jews till Christ come. So 7. Christoph. Wagenfeil (who hath discussed this place, with great exactnefs) nefs) gives the Sence of these words; and it is literally Chapter true; Till the Captivity they had Kings; after their re- XLIX. turn they had Governors, under the Persians, Greeks, and Romans. See his Confut. Carm. Memorialis Libri Nitzachon. R. Lipmanni, pag. 293, &c.

To ftrengthen which Interpretation he makes this judicious Remark, in another place of the fame Book, pag. 373. That the whole time, from the beginning to the end of Judah's Authority, was well nigh equally divided between Kings, and Governors. For, according to Josephus, L. XI. Antiq. cap. 4. they lived under Kings, from David's time to the Captivity, Five hundred thirty two Years; and under the Mechokkim or Governors, after the Captivity, much about the same number of Years. For there being Five hundred eighty and eight Years from the Captivity to our Saviour's Birth; if feventy Years be deducted (which was the time their Captivity lasted) and ten be added, (in which after the Birth of Chrift, Herod and his Son Archelaus reigned in Judaa, and it was not yet reduced into the Form of a Province) there were just Five hundred twenty and eight Years; that is, the space in which they were under Kingly Authority, and under subordinate Governors, was in a manner, of the fame length. Which makes it the more wonderful, that Jacob should so many Ages before exactly divide the whole Power he foresaw would be in Judah, between them that weilded a Scepter; and those who were only subordinate Governors.

That the Letter Van before the word we translate Law-giver, hath the force of a Disjunctive, and is not a mere Copulative, all allow : And there are many Examples of it in other places, particularly, in the Tenth Commandment, Exod. XX. 14. The greatest Objection I ii i 2 that Chapter that I can find against this Interpretation is, That though Zerobabel, the first Governour after the Captivity, was of XLIX. the Tribe of Judab; yet the Maccabees, who were their Governors most of the time after the Captivity, were of the Tribe of Levi. But it is to be confidered, that the Prophecy doth not fay these Rulers or Governors, should be of the Tribe of Fudab; but only in that Tribe. which had a Government of their own, till the coming of Christ. Besides, by Judah is not to be understood merely the People of that Tribe; but all those that were called Jews, confifting allo of the Tribes of Benjamin and Levi ; who were incorporated with them : And were all called Judah, in opposition to the Kingdom. of Israel. For Benjamin it is evident, was so near to Judah, that they were reputed the very fame. Whence it is that Mordecai, who was of the Tribe of Benjamin. is called Isch Jehudi, a Jew, in Esther 11. 5. because that Tribe was comprehended under Judah, from the time that the rest rent themselves from the House of David." When Jeroboam also set up the meanest of the People for Priefts; who were not of the Tribe of Levi, 1. King. XII. 23. This made the Levites fly to Judah and become one with them. And therefore the Maccabees were, in effect, Jews, who held the chief Authority among them, till Antigonus was driven out and killed by Herod : Who was an Edomite, fet over them by the Romans.

> From between bis Feet.] The common Interpretation every Body knows, which is, of his Seed, or Posterity : But Ludolphus instead of Raglau; Feet, would have us read Daglau, Banners, according to the Samaritan Copy. Which is well consuted by the fore-named Wagenfeil, p: 269. of the fore-named Book : Where he translates these words thus, Evento the last end of that State. For so the People.

People at the Feet fignifies (Exod. XI. 8. 2 Kings III. Chapter) 9.) those that bring up the Rear, as we now speak. XLIX: And so some ancient Interpreters in the Talmud, he flows, expound it here, of the last Posterity of judab, and the times when their Commonwealth was coming to a conclusion.

Until Shiloh come.] Let the original of this word Shiloh be what it will, (which fome tranflate to be fent, others his Son, or Child, or his Seed, others Quiet, Peaceable, Pacifick, Prosperous, and confequently Renowned, August, to whom Gifts or Offerings shall be made, as R. Solomon takes it; others, whole is, viz. the Kingdom) the Melliab or Christ is certainly hereby meant : As all the three Targum's agree; and the Talmud in the Title Sanbedrim, cap. XI. and Baal-Hatturim, Bereschit-Rabba, and many other ancient and modern Jews. I will mention only the words of R. Bechai; who confesses, It is right to understand this Verse of the Melsiah, the last Redeemer. 'Which is meant when it faith, till Shilo come ' i.e. his Son, proceeding from his Seed. And the rea-' fon why the word beno is not used in this Prophecy. ⁶ but Shilo, is, because he would emphatically express a ' Son, who should be brought forth of his Mother's "Womb, after the manner of all those, that are born of-' a Woman. Of this Interpretation they are fo con-vinced, that to evade the Argument we urge from hence, to prove the Melliah is come, they have invented a great many Tales of the Power they have still in some remote Parts of the World. There is a Book written on purpole, called, The Voice of glad Tidings, wherein they. labour to prove, they have a Kingdom still remaining. Which if it should be granted, fignifies nothing; for this Prophecy is concerning their Government in their own Country, the Land of Canaan : As they themselves very Chapter XLIX. very well know; which makes them fo defirous to return thither again, that the Hand of Judah may be upon the Neck of his Enemies, and he may go up from the prey like a Lion, and tie his Afs to the Vine, and wash his Garments in Wine, &c. as the words are in the reft of this Prophecy. And whatsoever some of them are pleafed to fay concerning their Power, no Body knows where; they are sometimes in a contrary humour : For in the Gemara Sanhedrim they fay, Cap. XI. § 32. There shall not be the least Magistrate in Israel, when the Melsiah comes.

> Unto him shall the gathering of the People be.] So this Clause is expounded by Abarbinel himself, whose words are; The People of the Nations shall be gathered to worship him, i. e. the Messiah. See L'Empereur in Jacchiad. p. 164. and Codex Middoth, p. 106, 107. Wagenseil indeed thinks the most literal Interpretation to be this, To him shall be the Obedience of the People: Which is the Interpretation of Onkelos and the Hierusalem Paraphrast. Kimchialso (Lib. Radic.) so expounds it, The People shall obey him; taking upon them to observe what he shall command them. And in Prov. XXX. 17. which is the only place besides this, where this word Jikkab is found, it feems to fignifie Obedience.

> See Confut. Carm. R. Lipmanni, p. 295. where Wagenfeil after the examination of every particular word in this Verse, thus summs up the Sence of it in this Paraphrase.

> That Royal Power and Authority which shall be established in the Posterity of Judah, shall not be taken from them 3 or, at least, they shall not be destitute of Rulers and Governors, no not when they are in their declining Condition: Until the coming of the Messiah. But when he is come, there shall be no difference between the Jews and other Nations: Who

Who fhall all be obedient unto the Melfiah. And after that Chapter the Posterity of Judah shall have neither King, nor Ruler. XLIX. of their own: But the whole Commonwealth of Judah shall quite lose all Form ; and never recover again.

615

The Truth of this Exposition appears exactly from their History : Of which it will be uleful here to give an account. For from David to the Captivity of Baby. lon they held the Scepter, for five whole Ages and more, as I observed above. After which, when seventy Years were finished in that Captivity, they lived by their own Laws in their own Country : But had no absolute Authority of their own, independent upon others; nor ever enjoyed a full Liberty. For they were at first under the Persian Monarchs : Afterwards, upon the Conquest made by Alexander, under the Greeks : And then under the Kings of Afia Minor and Egypt; till the Roman. Yoke was imposed upon them. Yet all this time, while they were under the Empire of others, they enjoyed Governors or Rulers of their own : Who administred their Affairs, under those Monarchs. The first was Zerobabel, called the Captain, or Prince of Judah, Haggai, I.I. After him Ezra and Nehemiah. And before them it is likely there were fome others, as Fof. Scaliger gathers from Nehem. V. 15. After the death of Nehemiah the Government came into the Hands of the High Priefts. as appears from Fosephus, L. XI. cap. 8. where he thows how Jaddus the High-Priest met Alexander in his Expedition against Persia: Which Power was confirmed in that Order, by the Maccabees, as we commonly call them. It begain in Mattathias; and was continued in his Sons. The third of which, Simon, railed it to fuch a Splendor, that he looked like a Prince, as the Reader may fee it described in 1 Maccab. XIV. From whence his Grand-Child Aristobulus seems to have taken occasion to affect the -

616

Chapter the Name of King : Though he had but the Shadow of XLIX. that Power. Yet his Posterity kept that Name, to the time of Herod : Who ftript-them of all their Power. and deftroyed their Family. After his death the Kingdom was divided by Augustus into Tetrarchies : Archelaus being made Tetrarch of Judaa; and the reft of the Country divided between Philip and Antipas. But Archelaus misbehaving himfelf, he was deprived of his Government, and banished to Vienne in France : And then Judaa was reduced into the Form of a Province, and ruled by Roman Governors. After which there was no Ring, nor Ethnarch of Judæa : So that after this time we may fafely conclude, the Jews loft even their Mechokkim or Governors; as they had long ago loft the Scepter : And had no Power remaining among them, of administring the Affairs of their Commonwealth.

Now at this time our bleffed Lord and Saviour, 7efus Chrift, the true Shiloh came : Who was the Founder of a new and heavenly Kingdom. And nothing more was left to be done for the fulfilling of this Prophecy. but after his Crucifying, to destroy Jerusalem and the Temple, and therewith the whole Form of their Government, both Civil and Sacred. Then all Power was intirely taken from Judah, when Chrift had erected his Throne in the Heavens, and brought many People, in several Parts of the Earth, unto his Obedience, and made them Members of his Celestial Kingdom. Till which time this Prophecy was not compleatly fulfilled : Which may be the reason possibly, that it is not alledged by Christ and his Apostles; because the Jews might have faid, We have still a Government among us : Which could not be pretended after the destruction by Titus. Which is now above, Sixteen hundred Years ago. And there is not the least fign of their restitution. Which

Which fo perplexed R. Samuel Maroccanus, that it Chapter made him write thus to a Friend of his, above Six XLIX. bundred Years fince.

I would fain learn from thee, out of the Testimonies of the Law, and the Prophets, and other Scriptures, why the Jews are thus smitten in this Captivity wherein we are : Which may be properly called, the PERPETUAL ANGER OF GOD, because it hath no end. For it is now above a Thousand Years, since we were carried captive by TITUS; and yet our Fathers who worshipped Idols, kill'd the Prophets, and cast the Law behind their Back, were only punished with a Seventy Years Captivity, aud then brought home again: But now there is no end of our Calamities, nor do the Prophets promise any.

If this Argument was hard to be answered then in his days, it is much harder now in ours : Who still fee them pursued by God's Vengeance; which can be for nothing elfe but rejecting, and crucifying the Mesfiab, the Saviour of the World.

Ver. 11. Binding his Foal unto the Vine, &c.] This Verle 11. verfe fets forth the great Fertilty of Judah's Country (abounding with Vineyards and Pastures) by two Hyperbolical Expressions. First, That Vines should be as common there, as Thorn-Hedges in other places; so that they might tie Assessment of the second of the

Kkkk

Choice

Chapter XLIX.

618

Choice Vine.] The Vine of Sorek (which we here translate choice, and in Ferem. II. 2.1. noble Vine) was the most excellent in all that Country. For Sorek was a place, not above half a Mile from the Valley of Elchol ; from whence the Spies brought the large Bunches, as a Sample of the Fruitfulnels of the Country. See Bochart. P. I. Hierozoic. Lib. III. cap. 12.

Verle 12.

Ver. 12. His Eyes hall be red with Wine, &c. 7 This-Verse fets forth the Healthfulness and Vigour of the Inhabitants of that fertile Country. But Dr. Castell thinks. this not to be a good Translation; because it can be faid of none but a Drunkard, that his Eyes are red with Wine. And therefore it ought to be translated his Eyes (or his Countenance, for so Eyes sometimes signifies) shall be brighter and more shining than Wine. So the word we render red signifies in the Arabick Tongue, as he shows in his Oratio in Schol. Theolog. p. 31. and in his Lexicon: Yet the fame word in the Proverbs, XXIII. 29. cannot have any other fignification than red; and the red Colour of the Eyes, answers well here to the whiteness of the Teeth, which follows; and there is no more reafon to think he means, they fhould make their Eyes red with drinking Wine, than that they should walk their Clothes in it : But it may only express the great abundance of Wine; to serve not only their neceffity, but excels.

And his Teeth white with Milk.]. Milk doth not make the Teeth white ;, but gives fuch an excellent Nourishment, that they who live upon it are healthy and ftrong :: And their Teeth not fo apt to rot, as theirs who feed. upon greater Dainties. So the meaning is, the rich Pastures in that Country, should feed great Flocks, and confequently they should have abundance of Milk, fo good and nourifhing, that the Teeth of the Countrymen who lived upon it, should be as white as the Chapter Milk they drank. Or, if the foregoing words be XLIX. translated, His Eyes shall be brighter than Wine; these words are to be translated, His Teeth whiter than Milk.

men

619

Out of these three Verses foregoing, Bochartus thinks the whole Story of Silenus was forged by the Poets, See his Canaan, Lib. I. cap. 18. p. 482.

Ver. 13. Zebulun shall dwell at the Haven of the Sea.] Verle 13. Near the Lake of Tiberias; called in Scripture the Sea of Galilee.

He shall be an Haven for Ships.] The Lot that fell to him extended from thence to the Mediterranean: Where there were Ports for Ships.

His border shall be unto Zidon.] He doth not mean the City of Zidon, for the Tribe of Zebulun did not extend themselves beyond Mount Carmel, which is forty Miles at least from thence : But the Country of Zidon, i. e. Phænicia, (as Bochart observes in his Phaleg. L. IV. cap. 34.) which the Zebulonites touched. For as the Phænicians were called Syrians from Sur, i. e. Tyre: fo they were called Sidonians from Sidon, as Hefychius tells us. Who interprets Zistici, by Polivines. Whence the LXX have Phænicians for Sidonians, Deut. III: 9. and Phænice for Sidon, Ifa. XXIII. 2.

It is very much to be admired, That Jacob fhould foretel fo many Years before hand, the Situation of his Pofterity in the Land of Canaan; when their feveral Portions fell to them by Lot, and not by their own choice, Josh XIX. 10, 11. This could not have been, but by the Spirit of Prophecy. And it is remarkable alfo, that he mentions Zebulon before Ischar, who was his elder Brother, (XXX. 11.) for no other reason, that I can difeern, but because Zebulon's Lot was to come up before Ischar's, in the Division of the Land: His be-K k k k 2 ing

A COMMENTART.

Chapter ing the third, and Islachar's the fourth, Josh XIX. 10, 17. XLIX. By this they were taught that their Habitation in the Land of Canaan, was the Gift of God ; and did not come by chance: Their Fore-father having fo long before, predicted the very Portion they should inherit.

620

Verse 14. Ver. 14. Is a char is a strong Ass.] As he compared fudah to a Lion, because of his Valour, so he compares Is achar to an Ass, and a strong Ass, because he forefaw they would be very patient and unwearied in rustical Labours : In which Asses were principally employed in those Countries.

> Couching down between two burdens.] There are various Opinions about the Signification of that word, which we translate Burdens. But none seem to me so apt as that, to express the great strength of an Ass: Which lies down, with its Load hanging down on both fides. Whence a she Ass is called Athon (as Bochart observes) from the word Ethan; which signifies Strength: Because no Beast of that bigness can carry such heavy Burdens.

Verse 15. Ver. 15. And he faw that rest was good.] Or, as fome will have it, their resting place ; the Country that fell to their share in the Land of Canaan; no part of which was more fruitful, than some parts of Issachar's Portion. Which way soever we take it, he seems to foretel they would chuse to follow Husbandry rather than Merchandize (as Zebulon did) and love Quiet and Peace; as Husbandmen do: Especially when they live in a zich Soil, as this Tribe did. For so it follows.

> And the Land that it was pleasant.] The famous Valley of Jezreel was in this Tribe : Whose Border extended as far as Jordan; where there was a very pleasant Country, Josh. XIX. 18, 22.

> > Bowed

Bowed his Shoulder to bear.] Taking any Painsto till Chapter the Land; and to carry in the Corn, with other XL1X. Fruits of the Earth,

And became a Servant unto Tribute.] Submitting to the heaviest Taxes, rather than lose their Repose. For the Preservation of which they were content to give any Money; that they might redeem their Services in the Wars, or otherways, by large Contributions.

Ver. 16. Dan shall judge his People, &c.] In the word Verle 16. Judge he alludes to the Name of Dan : Which fignifies Judging, i.e. Ruling and Governing. A great many follow Onkelos, who expounds it thus; A Man shall arife out of the Tribe of Dan, in whole days the People shall be delivered, &c. And accordingly we read that Sampson, who was of this Tribe judged Ifrael twenty Years. So she meaning is, the Tribe of Dan Chall have the Honour to produce a Judge, as well as other Tribes. But there is this Exception to this Interpretation; that all the Tribes did not produce Judges : And all Ifrael (whom, the Judges governed) cannot be faid to be Dan's People. But by his People (whom he is faid here to judge) are properly meant those of his Tribe. And therefore: Jacob's meaning is, that though he were the Son of a Concubine, yet his Posterity should be governed by a Head of their own Tribe; as the other Tribes of Israel were. So by this he took away all distinction between the Sons of his Concubines (of whom Dan: was the first), and those which he had by Leab and Rachel. - Under Dieter

Ver. 17. Dan shall be a Serpent by the way.] The next words show, what kind of Serpent he should be like, an Adder in the Path. The Hebrew word Schephiphon, some take for a Basilisk; others for an Asp, or a Viper; others a Snake, or Adder, &c. The Vulgar translates it

Chapter Cerastes, which is a kind of Viper: And Bochartus (in XLIX. his Hierozoicon, P. II. L. III. c. 12.) hath confirmed this Translation; by showing how well it agrees to the Characters which Authors give of it : That it lies in Sand. and in the Ruts, which Cart-wheels make in the Highway; and fo is ready to bite Travellers, or their Horfes. Which is the harder to be avoided, becaufe it is of a Sandy Colour; to that of mothol wyvogvers marting. many tread upon it unawares. And Nicander fays, the Poilon of these Serpents is chiefly felt in the Thighs and Hams of those they bite. Which perfectly agrees with what Jacob faith in the following words.

> That biteth the Horfe-heels, fo that this Rider hall fall backward.] The Horfe not being able to ftand, when the Venom works in his Legs, the Rider must needs fall with him. All this fome make to be a description of Sampson, who led no Armies against his Enemies, but overthrew them by Subtilty and Craft. But it rather belongs to all the Danites (as what was faid before to all the Zebulonites and Macharians) who Jacob forefaw would, astu potins, quam aperto Marte rem gerere. Manage their Wars, rather by Cunning and Craft, than by open Hostility, as Bochart speaks. An Example of which we have in Judg. XVIII. 27.

622

Verse 18. Ver. 18. I have maited for thy Salvation, O LORD.] They that refer the foregoing words to Sampson, make an easie Interpretation of this Verse. Which is, That Jacob forefeeing his great Atchivements for the Deliverance of his Children, prays that God would upon all Occasions, vouchsafe to fend such Deliverers unto them, from their Oppressors. And the Chaldee Paraphrasts make him look beyond fuch Deliverers unto Chrift, the great Saviour of the World! For these are the words of Onkelos (in the Complutensian Edition, for they are not not to be found in Buxtorf's or Bomberg's) I do not mait Chapter for the Salvation of Gideon, the Son of Joalb, which is XLIX. temporal Salvation, or of Sampson the Son of Manoah, which is also a transitory Salvation; but I expect the Redemption of Chrift, the Son of David, &c. Jonathan and the Hierusalem Targum fay the same. And if we take all this Prophecy to belong to the whole Tribe, (as I believe it doth) that doth not exclude fuch a Sense. But Jacob forefeeing the Diftreffes wherein they would be; (Jofb. XIX. 47. Judg. I. 34.) prays God to help them, and deliver them, and teach them to look up to him in all their Straits and Necessities: And especially to wait for the Melliah. Yet after all, I think, the words may have another meaning, which is this. Jacob perceiving his approaching death, and his Spirits beginning to fail him, in the middle of his Speech to his Sons, breaks out into this Exclamation, (which belongs to none of them) faying, I wait, O LORD, for a hapby Deliverance out of this World, into a better Place.

And then having refted himfelf a while, to recover his Strength, he proceeded to blefs the reft of his Sons.

Vet. 19. Gad, a Troop shall overcome him.] Or, invade Verse 19, him. There is an Allusion in every Word to the Name of Gad: Whose Inheritance being in a Frontier Country beyond Jordan, was very much exposed to the Incursions of the Ammonites, and Moabites, and the rest of those envious Neighbours, that dwelt in or near Arabia. And some think the word Troop hath a great Propriety in it; signifying not a just Army, but a Party, as we speak, a Band of Men, that came oft-times, to rob and spoil. But it appears by the Prophet Jeremian, XLIX. 1. that the Ammonites sometime possible themselves of the Country of Gad, or, at least, of some part of it, and Chapter exercifed great Cruelties there, Amos 1. 13. Long be-XLIX. fore which the Book of Judges informs us, how they were oppressed by this People for eighteen Years together, X. 8. and came with a great Army and encamped in Gilead (verse 17.) which was in the Tribe of Gad.

But he (hall overcome at the last.] This was eminently fulfilled, when Jephtha the Gileadite, fought with the Children of Ammon, and fubdued them before the Children of Ifrael, Judg. XI. 33. and when this Tribe (together wich their Brethren of Reuben and Manasseh) made War with the Hagarites, and pollefied themfelves of their Country : Which they kept till the Captivity, because the War was of God, I Chron. V. 22.

Verse 20. Ver. 20. Out of Alber.] i. e. Of his Country.

His Bread shall be fat.] Shall be excellent Provision, of all forts, for the Sustenance of Humane Life. For Bread comprehends not only Corn, but Wine and Oil, and all forts of Victuals, XXI. 14.

And he hall yield royal dainties.] His Country hall afford not only all things necessary; but the choicest Fruits, fit to be ferved up to the Table of Kings. For part of it lay about Carmel, (John XIX. 26.) where there was a most delicious Valley.

Verfe 21. Ver. 21. Naphtali is a Hind let locfe.] As he had compared Judah to a Lion, and Islachar to an Als, and Dan to a Serpent; so he compares this Son to a Hind, which is not confined within Pales or Walls : But runs at large, whether it pleafeth. Whereby is fignified that this Tribe would be great Lovers of Liberty.

> He giveth goodly (or pleasing) words.] Which denotes their Address (as we now speak) charming Language. and Affability, to win the Favour of others : And thereby preferve their Peace and Liberty. Mercer makes this Verse to signifie their speed and swiftness in dispatch of of Business; and their smoothness in the management of Chapter it : which might render them acceptable to all Men. XLIX. There are no Instances indeed in Scripture to make out this Character : For Barak, who was of this Tribe, was very flow in undertaking the Deliverance of Ifrael. Nor do we read they were more zealous Affertors of Liberty than others. But yet this will not warrant us to alter the punctation of the words (as Bochart doth P. I. Hierozoic. L. III. cap. 18.) to make a quite different sence, which is this : Naphtali is a well-spread Tree, which puts out beautiful branches. For we do not find that they were either more beautiful, or numerous than other Tribes : But we find, quite contrary, that Simeon, Judah, Iffachar, Zebulon, and Dan, were all more numerous than they when Moles took an account of them, Numb.I. 23,27,29,31,39. Belides, this Interpretation makes this verse, in a manner, the very same with the next, concerning Joseph. Therefore though the LXX. agree to Bochart's Version, we had better stick to our own; which makes a Sence clear and proper enough.

625

Ver. 22. Joseph is a fruitful Bough.] Or, young Plant. Verse 22. It is an Allusion to his Name; which imports growth and increase: And may well be understood of the great Dignity to which he was risen in Egypt. Unto which he was advanced in a short time, after Pharaoh took notice of him: Like a Bough or young plant, which shoots up apace; and thence compared in the next words to A fruitful Bough by a Well.] Or, Spring of Water: which in those dry Countries, made the Plants which were set near them, to grow the faster, and to a greater heighth, (Pfal. I. 3.) and therefore signifies his extraordinary advancement.

Whofe Branches run over the Wall.] Cover the Wall that furrounds the Spring; or, the Wall against which L111 the Chapter the Tree is planted. Which feems to denote the two XLIX. Tribes of Ephraim and Manaffeh; which fprang from him, and were very flourishing : As appears from Josh. XVII. 14, 17. where they tell him, they were a great People, whom the LORD had bleffed hitherto. And Jossua there acknowledges as much, faying, Thon art a. great People, and hast great Power : And therefore affigns them a larger Portion of Land, than they had at first. The Hebrew word Banoth, which we translate Boughs literally fignifying Daughters; fome think that as he speaks of the Sons of Joseph in the foregoing part of the Verse; so in this he speaks of his Daughters that they should go to the Wall, i.e. faith Dr. Lightfoot, even to the Enemy: To repair the Hostile Tribe of Benjamin; which otherwise had decayed for want of Wives. For fo the word Schur fignifies, and is translated by us an Enemy: Pfalm XCII. 11. And D. Chytraus understands hereby Daughters, the Cities of the Tribe of Ephraim which should be well governed, though some should set themselves against it.

626

Verfe 23. Ver. 23. The Archers.] In the Hebrew the words Baale chitfim fignifie Masters in the Art of Shooting; and therefore denotes those here spoken of, to be skilful in doing Mischief: Such were his Brethren, who were full not only of Envy, but Hatred to him, XXXVIII. 4. 5, IF. Some refer it also to Potiphar's Wife; who wickedly flandered him. And others to the whole Tribe of Ephraim; who were incompassed with Enemies (who in general are meant by Archers) when the Kingdom was settled in them, over the ten Tribes.

Have forely grieved him.] By their unkind, or rather churlish Behaviour towards him; for they could not speak peaceably to him, (XXXIII. 4.) and, it's likely, they reviled him, and threw out bitter words against gainst him: which were properly compared to Ar- Chapter rows, Pfalm LXIV. 3. XLIX.

627

And fhot at him.] Defigned to deftroy him; and did actually throw him into fore Afflictions, XXXVIII. 22, 24. 28.

And bated him.] Which arole from their hatred to him.

Ver. 24. But his Bow abode in ftrength.] He armed Verse 24. himself with invincible Patience; having nothing else to oppose unto their malicious Contrivances. It seems to be a Metaphor from those Soldiers, who have Bows so well made, that though often, never so often bent, they neither break, nor grow weak. Such was the Temper of Joseph's Mind.

And the Arms of his Hands were made ftrong.] i. e. He was strengthned and supported : Being like to a strenuous Archer, the Muscles and Sinews of whose Arms are so firm and compact, that though his Hands draw his Bow continually, he is not weary.

By the Hands of the mighty God of Jacob.] Which Fortitude he had not from himfelf, but from the Almighty; who had supported Jacob in all his Adversities; and made all that Joseph did (when he was fold and imprisoned) to prosper in his Hands, XXXIX. 3. 22, 23. The Hebrew word Abir, which signifies Potent or Powerful, and we translate mighty One, is as much as the LORD of Jacob. For from Power it comes to signifie Potestas, Authority and Dominion also, as Bochart observes.

From thence.] From the Divine Providence over him, before-mentioned.

Is the Shepherd.] Joseph became the Feeder and Nourisher of his Father, and of his Family, and of their Flocks and Herds : Preserving them all from being famissing the L111 2 And Chapter XLIX.

628

And the Stone of Ifrael,] Who upheld them all, and kept them from being ruin'd. Or, Shepherd may fignifie his being made Governor of all the Land of Egypt; and the Stone of Ifrael, the Support of his Family. For Shepherd is a Name of Dignity and Authority: And Stone fignifies the Foundation (as Abarbinel here expounds it) upon which the whole Building relies: As Jacob and all his Children did upon Joseph for their Suftenance.

Some I find (particularly D. Chytræns) refer the words from thence unto Joseph: And then by the Shepherd and Stone of Ifrael understand those excellent Men who by their Wildom and valour supported the Common-wealth of Ifrael. Such as Joshna, the Captain of the Lord's Host, and Abdon, one of the Judges, who were of the Tribe of Ephraim: And Gideon, Jair, and Jephthah, who were of the Tribe of Manasseh. But the following words incline rather to the former Sence.

Verfe 25. Ver. 25. Even by the God of thy Father.] Or, from himthat bleffed me, and advanced thee, to be the Support of my Family. For it refers to all that went before.

> Who fhall help thee.] Having said what God had already done for him; he now foretels what he would do hereafter: which relates to all his Posterity; whom God would Protect and Defend.

> And by the Almighty.] Or, from him who is all-fufficient; by which Name he revealed himfelf unto Abraham, when he entred into Covenant with him and with his Seed, XVII. I.

> And blefs thee with the bleffings of heaven above, bleffings of the deep that lieth under.] The meaning feems to be, that his Posterity should be planted in a very fertile Soil : watred from above with the Dew of Heaven and with Showers of Rain ; and watered beneath with Springs

HPONGENESIS:

Springs and Rivers. As G. Vossius well interprets it, Chapter L. I. de Idolol. cap. 77. XLIX.

Bleffings of the Breafts, and of the Womb.] A promife of a numerous and thriving Progeny. Or, of a vaft increase of Cattle, so well fed, that they should bring up their Young prosperously, as well as bring them forth abundantly.

Ver. 26. The bleffings of thy Father.] Either the Blef-Verle 26. . fings bettowed by God upon Jacob; or, the Bleffings Jacob conferred on his Son Joseph.

Have prevailed.] Are greater.

Above the bleffings of my Progenitors.] Than the Bleffings God bestowed upon Abraham and Ifaac: who had not so many Sons, as God had bleffed him withal: Upon every one of whom also he conferred a share in the Inheritance of the Land of Canaan; whereas Ishmael was excluded by Abraham, and Esau by Isaac. Or, the meaning may be, I have done more for thee, than they for me, i. e. thou shalt be happier than 1. For Jacob led an unsettled Life; but Joseph flouriss for in great Splendour in Egypt, to the end of his days.

Unto the utmost bounds of the everlasting Hills.] As long as the World shall last. For perpetuity is expressed in Scripture by the durableness of Mountains, Isai. LIV. 10... And here he seems to allude to the noble Mountains which fell to be the Portion of Joseph's Children, viz. Bashan and Mount Ephraim. But there are those who think, he hath not respect to the durableness of these. Mountains; but to their fruitfulness; translating the Hebrew word Tavath not Bounds, but Desires, as the Vulgar Latin doth. And then the Sence is, Unto all that is most desireable, in those ancient Hills; which abounded with the most excellent Fruit. And this Translation is grounded on Moses his Blessing, which seems to be an.

Interpretation of Jacob's, Deut. XXXIII. 15. where he Chapter bleffes him; for the chief things of the ancient Moun-XLIX. vvv tains, and for the precious things of the lasting Hills.

> Of him that was separate from his Brethren.] The word Nazir, which we translate separate ; fignifies one that is separated from others, vel Voto, vel Dignitate, (as Bochart observes, P. II. Hierozoic. L. V. cap. 6.) either by a Vow, or by his Dignity. And in the latter fence Foleph is called Nazir, because of his eminent Dignity; whereby he was advanced above all his Brethrem : Being the Vice-Roy of Egypt.

630

Verse 27. Ver. 27. Benjamin shall raven as a Wolf.] This sets forth the warlike Temper of this Tribe : A Wolf being both a ftrong and undaunted, and alfo a very rapacious Creature : And thence in after times dedicated to Mars. From whence Wolves are called Martii and Martiales in Virgil and in Horace : And warlike Men are called by the Greeks Aunoge gres, of a Wolf-like Temper. And the History justifies this Character : The Tribe of Benjamin alone maintaining a War with all the other Tribes; in which they overcame them in two Battles, though they. had fixteen to one against them. And they killed then more Men of Ifrael, then they had in their whole Army. See Bochart, P. I. Hierozoic. L. III. cap. 10.

> In the morning he shall devour the prey, and at night he shall divide the spoil. This doth not signifie (as the fore-named Author observes, in the same place) the whole Day, but the whole Night : One part of which is the Evening, and the other the Morning. And therefore the Particle and fignifies here as much as after : And this is the fence. The Tribe of Benjamin shall be like a ravening Wolf; who shall have his prey to eat till morning light; after he hath divided it in the evening. For the division of the Prey, goes before the eating of it. This Paffage Paffage is like that Job. VII. They 'burnt them with Chapter fire, and ftoned them with ftones, i.e. burnt them, after XLIX. they had ftoned them; as we there rightly translate it. And this applyed to Benjamin, fignifies fuch fucces in their Wars, that they should come home loaded with the Spoils of their Enemies.

I omit the fancy of the Talmudifts, who imagine Benjamin is compared to a Wolf; because the Altar of Burnt-offering, where the Morning and Evening Sacrifices were daily confumed, stood in this Tribe. They that would know what they say of this, may look into Codex Middoth, cap. 3. § 1. and L'Empereur's Annotations there.

Ver. 28. All these are the twelve Tribes of Israel.] From Verse 28. these sprang the Twelve Tribes of Israel: Or, these are the Blessings of the Twelve Tribes: For these words plainly show, that what he had said, was not to be fulfilled in their Persons, but in their Posterity.

And bleffed them; every one according to his bleffing, &cc] He did not give them a new Bleffing after all this: But the meaning is, he bleffed them (in the manner fore-going) every one according to the Bleffing defigned by God for them. There feems indeed to be no Benediction beftowed on the three first Tribes; but that it is to be understood only comparatively : For he provided for them all a Portion in the Land of Cannaan.

Ver. 29. I am to be gathered to my People.] Must Verse 29. die shortly.

Bury me with my Fathers, &c.] The reason of this Injunction is well explained by Mercer; to whom I refer the Reader.

Ver. 30. In the Cave that is, &c.] He describes the Verse 30. place so particularly, in this and the two next Verses ; because

Chapter because he would not have them mistake it, when they XLIX, went to bury him : And that he might flow his Title to it, if the Inhabitants of Canaan (from which he had been absent some Years) should dispute the laying his Body there.

Verle 33. Ver. 22. When Jacob had made an end of commanding his Sons.] Concerning his Burial; which he briefly added to his Prophecy.

He gathered up his Feet into the Bed.] The Hebrews think that out of Reverence to God he fat up when he pronounced a Bleffing on his Sons : His Feet hanging down upon the Ground. And indeed it is very probable he endeavoured to put himself into a Posture of Authority at least : And therefore sat on his Bed-side while he spake. And now the Prophetick Spirit, which had raifed his Natural Spirits above their ordinary pitch, departing from him, they prefently funk fo much the lower; and in a fhort time he expired.

Yielded up the Ghost. The Hebrews will have it to express an easie death.

And was gathered to his People.] To his Ancestors. From whence there are fome (particularly Theodoret) who infer the belief they had, in those days, of another Life : In fociety with those who were departed out of this Life. For Brutes are never faid to be gathered to those of their Kind, that died before them.

CHAP.

CHAP. L.

Ver. 1. Joseph fell on his Father's face.] He was trans-Verse 1. ported by his Affection, to the tenderest Expressions of it: Though he was a Man in great Dignity and Authority.

And kiffed him.] It is likely he first closed his Eyes, as God promifed he should do, XLVI. 4. (and as the Custom was) and then parted from his Body with a Kiss. Of which we find many Examples both among Heathen and Christian People: But they will not warrant us to say that it was done by every Body; for all that I have observed were such near Relations as Jofeph was to Jacob. Thus Ovid represents Niobe as kisfing her flain Sons; and Meleager's Sisters kissing him when he lay dead : And Corippus represents Justin the younger falling upon Justinian, and weeping, and kissing him, just as Joseph did here:

Ut prius ingrediens corpus venerabile vidit; Incubnit lachrymans, atque oscula frigida carpfet Divini patris.

Yet Dionys. Areopag. cap. 7. Eccles. Hierarch. describing the Funeral of Christians, saith, the Bishop prayed over the Corps when it was brought into the Church, and after Prayer, 'Aulos accudes' The neuspaper, &c. both he himself kissed the dead person, and after him all that were present did the same: So it seems to have been their taking a solemn leave of the Dead, till they met in another World.

Ver.

633 Chapter

Chapter Ver. 2. His Servants the Physicians.] Great Men anciently, among other Servants that waited on them, had a Physician. And Joseph, being Vice-Roy of Egypt, Verse 2. may well be supposed to have kept more than one in his Retinue.

634

To embalm his Father.] Of which there was now the greater necessity; because his Body was to be carried a great way to its Sepulchre. And both Herodotus and Diodorus Siculus tell us, there were those in Egypt who professed the Art of Preferving Bodies from Corruption. Which, it is likely, was part of their Phylicians Employment: For the word Ropheim (which we translate Physicians) constantly signifies in Scripture, such as cure or heal fick Bodies. But the LXX. here aptly enough translate it enlapsass, (those that prepared and fitted Bodies for their Interment, by embalming them, as we translate it) because this now was their proper business. Whence it is that Pliny faith, Lib. XI. cap. 37. Mos es Ægyptiis cadavera asservare medicata, it is the Custom of the Egyptians to preferve dead Bodies ordered by the Physicians Art. In which Art they excelled all other People : Bodies of their Embalming remaining to this Day; and are often brought into these Countries, under the name of Mummy: Concerning which a late German Physician (Joach. Struppins) hath written a peculiar Treatise.

And the Physicians embalmed Israel.] The fore-named Authors (Herodotus and Diodorus Siculus) tell us the manner how it was performed; and at what Rates: There being three feveral Prices, according to the Cost that Men would bestow upon their Friends. Upon the first Rank of Funerals they spent a Talent of Silver: The fecond cost about Twenty pound: About the third they made small Expence, as Diodorus expressly tells us,

L.I.

635

E. I. § 2. p. 57. Edit. Hen. Steph. And Herodotus in three Chapter diftinct Chapters, fhows how they ordered the Bodies L. of the better, middle, and meaner, fo as to preferve them; and yet with a greater or leffer Expence. Vid. Euterpe, cap. 86, 87, 88. If things were thus in Joseph's Days, it is not to be thought that he would spare any cost, but had his Father's Body embalmed in the noblest manner.

Ver. 2. And forty days were fulfilled for him.] That is, Verse 2. for his Embalming: Which could not be finished in a little time : For Diodorus tells us of several Officers who were employed about it, one after another : And fays exprelly, they spent more than thirty Days in it. Which differs fomething from what is here related : But it is likely, in future times (when Diodorus lived) they might have attained to a greater Perfection in this Art; and made their Spices penetrate the whole Body in lefs than forty Days, but more than thirty. And Herodolus doth not really differ from this, when he faith, in the place before-named, Taura mothoavles, when they had done these things, (fust the Body with Myrrb, Calfia, and other Spices, except Frankincense) meixelisa virpa, neu Jarles nuieas Esounnorla, they pickled it in Nitre, where it lay foaking feventy Days. That is, thirty Days more; till the forty were made up feventy : Longer than which neither the Bodies of the better, nor the meaner fort were to be falted. But after that they were wrapped in fine Linnen and Gums; to make it flick like glue: And fo they delivered the Body to the Kindred of the deceased intire (as Diodorus writes, p. 58.) in all its Features, the very Hairs of the Eye-lids being preferved.

There have been some so morose, as to censure Joseph for following the perverse Customs, as they call them, of the Egyptians: Who spent too much upon dead Bodies. Mmmm 2 But

626

Chapter But they fhould have confidered how much more perverse it is, not to follow the decent Customs of the country where we live: And that dead Bodies, especially of the Faithful, are not to be neglected, but treated (as St. Auftin speaks, L. I. de Civ. Dei, cap. 13.) as the Organs of the Holy Ghost: Which the Ancients, he thinks, did well to carry to their Funerals, officiosà Pietate.

And the Egyptians mourned for him (eventy days.] i.e. All that time they were preparing his Body, in the manner before related, for its Funeral : Which Herodotus fays, was just seventy Days. He also and Diodorus defcribe their manner of Mourning; and fay that they daubed their Heads with Mud (as the Jews sprinkled Ashes on their Heads) and went about lamenting till the Corps was buried : Abstaining from Bathing, and from Wine, and from all delicate Food, or fine Clothes. Which latter part of their Mourning, it's likely, might be in use in Joseph's time; though not the former, of belmearing their Heads and Faces with Mud. But it is fufficient to fay that they appeared in the Habit of Mourners, (all the time the Body was Embalming) which was very various in different times and places: And continued in some Countries a great many Days longer than in others. This time of feventy Days may feem to fome too long: but Jacobus Capellus propoles this to their Confideration (Hift. Exot. & Sacra. ad A. M. 2310.) that Joseph being next to their King, the Egyptians honoured his Father with a Royal Funeral, and a Mourning of feventy days; which he thinks is a round Number for Seventy two: For Diodorus fays fo many were the Days of Mourning for their King. ' It feem-' ing reasonable to them, that as they gave the Fifth ⁴ part of the increase of their Land, to their King when · he.

637

⁶ he was alive; fo they fhould beftow the fifth part of Chapter
⁶ the Year upon him, in Mourning for him when he L.
⁶ was dead: which was juft Seventy two, not reckon⁶ ing the five odd Days, which did not come into their ⁶ account. As to thole who object, that this was im⁶ moderate Mourning, having more of Ambition than ⁶ Piety in it; his Anfwer is, That (granting it to be ⁶ true) Joseph did not bring in this Cuftom; and had ⁶ peculiar reafon to follow what he found in use there:
⁶ That they might be the more condemned who vex⁶ ed the innocent Posterity; on whose Parent they ⁶ had bestowed Royal Honours. Besides, there is ⁶ fomething due to Kings and great Men, to diftin⁶ guish them from the Dregs of the People.

Ver. 4, And when the Days of Mourning were past.] Verse 44. That is, the feventy Days before-named.

Joseph spake unto the House of Pharaoh.] To the great Officers of the Court, unto whom, it is most probable, he spake by a Messenger: Strict Mourners (such as Joseph was) using to keep close in their Chambers, and not to appear in Publick, or make Visits. At least it was against the Custom to appear in the Court (if the same usage was there in these Days, which was in the Persian Court in Mordecai's time; and such rational Customs one cannot but think were very ancient) in the Habit of a Mourner, Esth. IV. 1, 2. For which reason he did not go himself to make the following Request to Pharaoh: They who were in the state of Mourning being lookt upon as defiled.

Ver. 5. My Father made me swear, &c.] See XLVII. Verse 5; 29, 30. where Jacob engaged him by an Oath to carry his Body into Canaan, to be buried there: That he might keep up some Claim to that Country, by Vertue of the Sepulchre, which his Grand-father had there:

Chapter there purchased; and where his Father Isaac lay bu-L. ried.

> Which I have digged for me.] In the Cave that Abraham had bought, Gen. XXIII. (which was a large place) Jacob, it feems, had taken care to have a Grave digged for himfelf. From which and fuch like Examples St. Auftin argues (in the place quoted above, on werfe 3.) the Bodies of the dead, especially of good Men, are to be treated with fuch a Regard, as they themselves thought was due to them.

Verse 6.

628

Ver. 6. According as he made thee fixear.] The Religion of an Oath, it appears from hence, was in those Days to Sacred, that the King who had not fivorn himfelf, would not have another Man violate it, for his fake: Who might have pretended he could not fpare Joseph to long from his bufines, being his Chief Minister in the Land of Egypt. Such Heathen Kings as these will rise up in Judgment against those Christian Princes, who make a Jest of their Oaths.

Verse 7.

Ver. 7. All the Servants of Pharaoh.] This feems to be explained by the next words, the Elders of his Houfe; the Principal Officers of Court. For the word all must be understood with some limitation, as usually in Scripture: Some being left behind, no doubt, to wait upon the King. Thus in Matth. III. 5. all Judæa is faid to have gone out to John's Baptism, i. e. a great many.

The Elders of his House, &c.] I have observed before on XXIV. 2. that Elder is a Name of Dignity : As the Hierusalem Targum there expounds it instead of his Servant the Elder of his House, having these words, His Principal Servant, who was set over all the rest, as their Governor. And it appears by this place that this was used not only by the Hebrews, but by the Egyptians. long long before Moses his time, as a Title of Honour, and Chapter Dignity: As it hath fince been by all Nations whatfoever. See Mr. Selden, L. I. de Synedr. eap. 14.

629

All the Elders of the Land of Egypt.] The Principal Perfons in Authority and Dignity, throughout the whole Country, as well as those of the Court: Such as were Governors of Provinces, and Cities, and Counfellors, &c. Which Honour they did to Jacob, in all likelihood, by Pharaob's Command: For how well foever they might stand affected to Joseph, they could not of their own accord defert their Charge.

Ver. 8. All the House of Joseph, &c.] Their whole Verse 8. Family; except such as were necessary to look after their little Ones and their Flocks, &c. This verse also thows, the word all must have a limited Sence.

Ver. 9. And there went up with him both Chariots and Verle 9.9. Horfemen.] As a guard to him; which, it is likely, always attended him, as Vice-Roy of the Kingdom: But now might be neceffary for his Safety, as he paffed through the Defarts; or, in cafe he fhould meet with any opposition, when he came to challenge his Burying Place. Though it was probable that Matter was fettled before-hand with the Canaanites; who were in no Condition to oppofe the Kingdom of Egypt: Which : was grown very Rich, and they very Poor by the late Famine.

And it was a very great company.] That he might appear in greater State, at fuch a Solemnity.

Ver. 10. And they came to the threshing floor of Atad.] Verse 10. Some take Atad for a Place, and translate the word before it in the same Sence, as if he had said they came to Goren-Atad. But Forsterus in his Lexicon thinks Atad was the proper Name of a Man, who was eminent in that Country for his Threshing-floor. Though there are

640

L.

Chapter are those who take it for a Bramble, with which that Floor was fenced in: For fo the word fignifies, Judg. IX. 14. And the Africans called a Bramble Atadim (as Bochart observes, L. II. Canaan, cap. 15.) which is the Plural Number of Atad. But the Talmudifts are fo fanciful, that, not fatisfied with fuch reasons, they fay Facob's Coffin was here furrounded with Garlands (Crowns they call them) just like a Threshing-floor, which is hedged about with Thorns. For the Tradition, they fay is, that the Sons of Efan, Ishmael, and Keturah all met here; and seeing Joseph's Crown hanging over the Coffin, they all pull'd off theirs, and hanged them up in the fame manner. So the Excerpt. Gemaræ in Sota, cap. I. S. 45.

> Beyond Fordan.] Some translate it, On this fide Fordan. Both are true, with respect to several Places : For it was on this fide fordan with respect to those in Canaan: But beyond Jordan with respect to those who came unto Canaan, through the Defarts; as Joseph did now, and the Ifraelites afterward. Why Joseph paffed this way, which was very much about; and not the direct Road, which was a great deal fhorter, is hard to tell. Perhaps it was a better way for Chariots : For it is not probable they feared any opposition from the Philistines, or Edomites; with whom the Matter might have been concerted (as we now speak) beforehand, if they had apprehended their paffage would meet with any hindrance from them.

> There they mourned, &c.] Wherein this great and fore Lamentation confifted, we are not able to give a certain account : But, in after times, they fat with their Faces covered; having Afhes fprinkled on their Heads; crying out with a mournful Voice; fometimes wringing, fometimes clapping their Hands together ; fmiting their their Breafts, or their Thighs; with many other Ex-Chapter preffions of Grief and Sorrow. But why they made L. this Lamentation at the Floor of Atad, rather than at the Grave, is harder to refolve. Perhaps it was a more convenient place to ftay in feven Days, than that where he was to be buried: And the Mourning being made in the Country where the Body was laid, was the fame as if it had been made at the Grave. Or, it was the Fashion, perhaps, at the very entrance of the Country, where they carried a Corps to be buried, to fall into a Lamentation: And they made the fame again, when they came to the Place where it was interred. Though there is nothing of that here mentioned.

641

Seven Days.] That that was the time of Publick Mourning among Jews in fucceeding Ages, it appears from many Inftances: Particularly 1 Sam. XXXI. 13. Eccluf. XXII. 13. Judith XVI. 29. And just fo long their Joy lasted at folemn Weddings; as we read in XXIX. of this Book, verse 27.

Ver. 11. This is a grievous mourning to the Egypti-Verle 11. ans.] By this it appears this was a folemn Publick Mourning, in which the Egyptians themfelves joyned, though not related to him. And therefore, it's likely, confifted in fuch Wailings, and outward Expreffions of Sorrow, as were made even by those who had no inward Grief. For in following times there were a fort of Men called Derud, Lamenters, (from the Hebrew word Saphad used in the foregoing Verse) who had a Publick Office, as our Bearers have, to attend upon Funerals and make doleful Lamentations. See Buxtorf. Lex Talmud. f. 1524.

Abel-Mitzraim.] This flows the Lamentation wasexceeding great, that it chang'd the very Name of Nnnn the Chapter the Place where it was made: Or, at least, gave a L. Name to it.

Ver. 14. And Joseph returned into Egypt, &c.] They Verle 14. had a prosperous Journey: And there is no ground for what some Jews bid us here note; that not one Man was lost, though they had a Battle with the Edomites in their way to Canaan.

Verse 15. Ver. 15. Joseph will peradventure hate us, &c.] Their Guilt was so great, that it continued to make them suspicious.

Verse 16.

642

Ver. 16. And they fent Meffengers unto Joseph.] The fame Guilt made them fearful to go themselves: But they first tried how he would answer a Messenger they fent to him (for it doth not appear there was more than one,) in all their Names; with a Letter, perhaps, confirming what he delivered by word of Mouth. Some think this Messenge was sent before they went to bury their Father; while the time of Mourning lasted: When Joseph's Heart, they thought, was tender, and his Father fresh in memory. But this is not a sufficient reason, to make us think, it was not done in order of time, as it is here placed in the Story.

Thy Father commanded before he died.] This was a feigned Story: For we do not find that Joseph had acquainted his Father with their usage of him. Or, if he did, it would have been more proper to have left this Charge with Joseph, than with them; or, rather, he knew him so well, that he needed not to command him to take no Revenge.

Verse 17. Ver. 17. Forgive the trespass.] So we well translate the Hebrew Phrase, Take away the Trespass: Which is used elsewhere in this Book, XVIII. 24, 26. and in Hosea, XIV. 2. And by forgive is meant, Remitte pænam quam ab illis possi jure exigere propter peccatum in te te commissum: As Bochart well explains this Passage, Chapter P. I. Hierozoic. Lib. II. cap. 41. Remit the Punishment, L. which thou maist justly exact of them, for the Offence they committed against thee.

Of the Servants of the God of thy Father.] They urge belides the Command of their Father, and the Relation they had to him as his Brethren; that they were of the fame Religion with him. Which makes the greateft conjunction of Minds and Affections, if it be rightly understood and practifed. For how can the Worshippers of the fame God, hate one another? There are those who think they call themselves the Servants of God, not merely upon the account of their worshipping the True God; but because they were Teachers also of the True Religion: For this made them, above other Ifraelites, to be the Servants of God. So Jac. Alting. L. III. Schilo, cap. 14.

And Joseph wept when they Spake unto him.] By their Meffenger. Which shows he was so far from being Angry at them; that he pitied them, and had a tender Affection to them.

Ver. 18. And his Brethren also went, &c.] The Mef-Verle 18. fenger acquainting them, how he ftood affected to them; and, it's likely, carrying back a kind Meffage from him, and an Invitation to come to him; they went to his House, and humbled themselves at his Feet. In which Joseph's Dream was still further fulfilled.

We are thy Servants.] They had not yet overcome their Fear (fo close did their Guilt stick to their Confciences) and therefore call themselves his Servants; not his Brethren. They had fold him to be a Servant; and now they offer themselves to be so to him.

Ver-

642

Ver. 19. For am I in the place of God?] His Father Chapter Facob had faid the fame to Rachel, XXX. 2. to per-L. Iuade her to submit to Divine Providence : Which Verse 19 feems to be the scope of the words here. Shall I presume to oppose my felf to what is come to pass : As if I were God, and not He, who hath ordered things fo-much. for our Good ? This appears to be the Senfe by what follows: And may be thus expressed; Shall I punish you for that (for that may be meant by being in the place of God, to whom Vengeance belongs) which God hath turned so much to all our Advantage? Though the words may be fimply rendred, I am in the place of God, without an Interrogation. As much as to fay, I have nourified and sustained you all this while, and can you think I will now do you hurt?

644

Verle 20. Ver. 20. But as for you, ye thought evil against me. &c.] It is true indeed, ye thought to deftroy me : 'But God defigned by that very evil Contrivance of yours, to bring about the greatest Good both to you and me.

> To bring to pals, as it is this Day, &c.] To accomplish what you now see, the Preservation of our whole Family: Which he understands by much People, in the next words, who by this means were faved from perifhing. Herein appears the wonderful Wildom of God's Over-ruling Providence: Which, contrary to the Nature of Sin, and the Will of Sinners, turns the Evil they do into Good : And directs it to the most excellent Ends.

Verle 21. Ver. 21. Now therefore fear you not.] He again incourages their Hope; by repeating what he had faid, rse 19. I will nourish you, &c.] I will still take care of you verse 19.

all, as I have done hitherto.

And

And he comforted them, &c.] With fuch Difcourse as Chapter this, he raifed up their drooping Spirits: For he spake L. most kindly to them.

Ver. 22. And Joseph dwelt in Egypt, &c.] 'He conti-Verse 22' nued in Egypt; and so did his Brethren, to their dying Day. And, no doubt, made his Word good to them: Being one of the greatest Examples of Heroick Vertue: To which none can arrive, unless they be meek and placable as he was. For Nihil est magnum, quod non idem sit placidum; as Seneca truly said.

Joseph lived an hundred and ten Years.] Not so long as his Fore-fathers; for he was the Son of his Father's old Age, and lived a great part of his time full of Thought and Care: Having the Weight of a great Kingdom's Affairs lying on him. For eighty of these Years he spent in Egypt, (being but thirty Years old when he first should before Pharaoh) in great Prosperity indeed; but in no less Solicitude to discharge so great a Trust as was committed to him.

Ver. 23. Ephraim's Children of the third Generation.] Verfe 23. i.e. His great Grand-Children. In which Jacob's Prediation began to be fulfilled, XLVIII.19,20.XLIX.25.We find indeed that after Joseph's death (I fuppole) Ephraim had fome of his Children flain, 1 Chron. VII.21,&c. But God fo bleffed those who remained, that when Moses took an account of them after their coming out of Egypt; they were increased to above eight thousand, more than the Children of Manasche, Numb. I. 23, 35.

Brought up upon Joseph's Knees.] He lived to embrace and dandle them (as we now speak) in which old Men and Women much delight. Machir had only Gilead by his sirst Wife; but he had more Children by a second, as we read 1 Chron. VII. 16. All which were born before Joseph died; and, perhaps, by

- Chapter by Children he means the Children of his Grand-Chil-L. dren.

> Joseph's great Authority, and his Children's great Increase, over-awed his Brethren so that they never durst dispute their Father's Will: In which he gave a double Portion unto them. Which one would guess by their Temper, was as displeasing to them, as their Father's Kindness to Joseph anciently had been : But they durft not oppose it; nor do we find they quarrelled at it.

Verse 24. Ver. 24. God will surely visit you.] He explains his meaning by what follows; and bring you out of this Land, &c. For the word visit is used indifferently either for bestowing good things, or inflicting evil. Thus he died in the fame Faith with his Anceftors: That God would make good his Promifes to them.

Verfe 25. Ver. 25. And Joseph took an Oath.] As his Father had done of him, XLVII. 20, 31.

Of the Children of Israel.] Not only of his Brethren mentioned before, verse 24. but of all their Family, who were to fucceed them; and might live (when his Brethren were dead) to carry his Body out of Egypt; which he defired, for the fame reason his Father had done.

Carry up my Bones from bence.] He did not defire to be carried immediately after his Death, as his Father was when his Embalming was finished; but that they should carry him when they themselves returned to Canaan: By which time he knew his Flesh would be quite dried up, and nothing left but Bones. The reafon why he did not defire to be carried away prefently, was, that his Body remaining with them, they might look upon it as a Pledge and Security of the Promise

646

S

647

Promife God had made, of giving them the Poffeli-Chapter on of that Land; wherein he defired to be buried, L. or not buried at all. But he had repeated it twice, that God would furely vifit them, verfe 24, 25.) and was fo confident of it, that he defired to be kept unburied, till the time of that Vifitation. Perhaps alfo he confidered that they could not be of fuch Authority, as he had been; to prevail to have his Body carried to Canaan, as his Father's was: And therefore defired them not to think of laying him there; till that time came, when they thould make a folemn and univerfal departure thither.

We read nothing what became of the reft of his Brethren, but Josephus saith they were all carried into the Land of Canaan to be buried : For they had the same defire, in all likelihood, and gave the same charge concerning their Bodies; to keep Posterity in hope, that God would certainly bring them thither. Which the words of St. Stephen also may seem to import : when he faith Acts VII. 15, 16. Jacob died, and our Fathers, and were carried over into Siehem, &c. though we read of none of their Fathers beside Joseph, yet it seems the Tradition was, that they were all carried thither, after his Example. And so St. Hierom faith, That he saw at Sichem the Sepulchres of the XII. Patriarchs. Epitaph. Paula, cap. 6.

Ver. 26. So Joseph died.] After he had taken the Verse 26. fore-named Oath of them, and affured them again of the Truth of God's Promise: Which were the last things he did.

Some, perhaps, may think it strange that so wise and great a Man as Joseph, whose dying words, one cannot but think, would have left a deep Impression upon his Brethren, should not give them abundance of good Counsel

648 Chapter (L. fr

Counfel at his departure from this World: And lay fome other Charge upon them, befides this of carrying up his Bones to the Land of Canaan. But Mofes did not intend to write all that excellent Men faid and did: And we may very well think, when he declared his ftedfaft Faith in the Promife made to Abraham (which the Apoftle takes notice of, Hebr. XI. 22.) and affured them God would perform it; he enlarged himfelf on that Subject, in more words than are here related.

Being an hundred and ten Years old.] This was faid before, verse 22. but here repeated to fignifie he did not live a Year beyond it; and so died just fifty four Years after his Father; and an hundred forty four Years before their departure out of Egypt.

And they embalmed him.] His Brethren took the fame care of his Body, that he had done of his Father's, v.2. See there. For that Joseph died before any of his Brethren, the Jems gather from Exod. I. 6. where it's faid, Joseph died, and all his Brethren. He first, and they followed him. But not content with this, some of them adventure to tell us how many Years every one of them lived; nay, the very Month and Day of their Birth, as may be seen in R. Bechai. Reuben, for instance, they fay was born the XIV. Day of Cislen, and died when he was CXXV. Years old, $\mathfrak{S}^{*}c$.

And he was put in a Coffin in Egypt.] To be preferved in that Cheft or Ark, (as the Hebrew word is commonly translated) till they themselves went from thence. Herodotus in the Book above-named (Euterpe cap. 86, 90.) speaks of the Onzal, Chefts wherein dead Bodies were inclosed, after their Embalming: Which they laid ar oins paralo, in the House or Cell, where these Chefts were reposited, reared against the Wall of it.

it. Whether Joseph's Coffin was put into such a com- Chapter mon Repolitory, or, rather, preferved in a place by it felf, we cannot determine. But the Chaldee hath an odd conceit (as G. Schikkard observes in his Jus Regium, p. 159.) that it was kept in the River Nile. Which arole, perhaps, from a miltake of the Relation which that Author had met withal, of the Place where they laid their Bodies: Which were let down very deep Wells, or Vaults some call them (some of which were not fat from the River Nile) and so put into a Cave, which was at the bottom of those Wells. For fo F. Vanfleb and others, who have gone to fearch for Mummies, describe the Places jwhere they lye : And tell us they found some of the Coffins made of Wood (not putrefied to this Day.) and others of Clothes pasted together, forty times double; which were as ftrong as Wood, and not at all rotten.

The Reader cannot but observe, That from the time of Joseph's advancement to the Government, till the time of his Death, i. e. for eighty Years, there is no mention of the Death of any King in Egypt. For it was not Mases his Intention to write the History of that Kingdom, or to give us the Series of their Kings : But only to acquaint us with the Series of the Patriarchs, and give fome account of them, from the Creation to his own time. All other things must be learnt out of other Authors. And, according to Eufebius, whom Fac. Capellus follows, the first King of the XVIIIth Dynasty (when the Egyptian History he makes account ceased to be fabulous) was Amos : Whose Dream 70seph interpreted, as was by him preferred. After he had reigned XXV Years he left the Kingdom to Chebros; who reigned XIII Years. Next to whom was Amenophis (as much as to fay, a Servant of Noph, i.e. 0000 Mem-Memphis) who reigned XXI Years: And then left the Kingdom to Mephres, who held it XII Years. To whom Josephus, out of Manetho, substitutes Amersis, and fays he reigned XII Years. And then succeeded Mephramuthosis, who reigned XXVI Years: In the beginning of whose time Joseph died.

649

L.

A COMMENTARY, &c.

650

Chapter

L

The END of the Book of GENESIS.

Books written by SYMON. PATRICK, D. D. now Lord Bifloop of ELX; and printed for Richard. Chifwell.

Aqua Genitalis :: A Difcourfer concerning Baptifm: In which is inferted a Difcourfe to perfwade to a confirmation of the Baptifmal Vow. 8vo.

An Exposition of the Ten Commandments. 820.

----Heart's Eafe: Or, a Remedy against all Troubles. With a Consolatory-Discourse, particularly directed to those who have loss their Friends and Relations. To which is added Two Papers, printed in the time of the late Plague. The fixth Edition corrected, 12mo. 1695.

The Pill-r and Ground of Truth. A Treatile shewing that the Roman Church falfly claims, to be That Clurch, and the Pillar of That Truthmentioned by St. Paul, in 1 Tim. 3. 15. 4to.

An Examination of Bellarmin's Second Note of the Church, viz. AN-TIQUITT. 40

- AB

An Examination of the Texts which Papifts cite out of the Bible to 7 prove the Supremacy of St. Peter and of the Pope, over the whole Church. In Two Parts. 4to.

-A private Prayer to be used in difficult Times.

-A Thankfgiving for our late wonderful Deliverance from Popery and Slavery.

-A Prayer for Charity, Peace and Unity; chiefly to be used in Lent.

-A Sermon Preach'd upon St. Peter's Day; printed with Enlargements. 4to.

-A Sermon Preached in St. James's Chappel, before the Prince of Orange, Jan. 20. 1688. on Ilaiab 11.6.

-A Second Part of the Sermon before the Prince of Orange, on the fame Text. Preached in Covent-Garden.

A Sermon Preached before the Queen in March 1639[§], on Colof. 3. 15. A Sermon againft Murmuring, Preached at Covent-Garden in Lent, 168[§]. on 1 Cor. 10. 10.

-A Sermon against Confuring, Preached at Covent-Garden in Advent, 1688. on 1 Cor. 4. 10.

A Fafl-Sermen before the King and Queen, April 16. 1690. on Proverbs . 14. 34.

A Thankfgiving-Sermon before the Lords, Nov. 26. 1691. for reducing ; of Ireland, and the King's fafe return. On Deut. 4. 9.

-A Fast-Sermon before the Queen, April 8. 1692. On Numb. 10. 9.

-Easter-Sermon before the Lord Mayor, 1696. on 2 Tim. 2. 8.

----- A Sermon before the Lords, Nov. 5. 1696. on Dan. 4. 35.

A Commentary on the Five Books of Moles in 5 Volumes. 410.

-A Commentary on Joshua, Judges and Ruth. 410.

-A Commentary ou the 1 fl. and 2d. Books of Samuel.

SCRIPTORUM ECCLESIASTICORUM Historia Literaria facili (o perfpicua methodo digesta. Pars Altera. Qua plusquam DC. Scriptores novi, tam Editi quam Manuscripti recensentur; Prioribus plusima adduntur; breviter aut obscure dista illustrantur; reste asserta vindicantur. Accedit ad finem cujusvis Seculi CONCILIORUM omnium tum Generalium tum Particularium Historica Notitia. Ad Calcem vero Operis Dissertationes tres, (1) De Scriptoribus Ecclesias incerte etatis. (2) De Libris & officiis Ecclessificis Gracorum. (3) De Eusebit Casariensis Arianismo adversus Joannem Clericum. Adjesti sunt Indicies utilistimi Scriptorum Alphabetico-Chronologici. Studio & Labore Gulielmi Cave, S. T. P. Canon. Windesoriensis.

THIRTEEN Volumes of Archbishop Tillston's Sermons; Published from the Originals by Dr. Barker.

The 14th. Vcl. is in the Prefs with a large and and useful Table to the whole. . Dr. Cave's Primitive Christianity. The fifth Edition. 1698.

Dr. Conant's Sermons, published by Dr. Williams, Lord Bishop of Chichester. In two Vol. 800.

A Difcourse of the Government of the Thoughts, by Ges. Inly, Sub-Dean of York. In 12mo, The third Edition. 1699.

Wharton's Sermons in Lambeth Chappel, before Archbishop Sancroft, in the Year 1688, 1689, 1690. In 2 Vol. 80%, with his Life, Second Edit. 1700.

 Seafons, Health, Difeafes. Of their Animals, Vegetables, Minerals, Jewels-Of their Houfing, Cloathing, Manufactures, Trades, Commodities. And of the Coins, Weights and Meafures ufed in the principal places of Trade in those Parts. By John Fryer, M. D. Cantabridg, and Fellow of the Royal Society. Folio. 1698.

The Lite of Henry Chichele, Archbifhop of Canterbury, in which there is particular Relation of many Remarkable Paffages in the Reigns of Henry V. and VI. Kings of England: Written in Latin by Dr. Arthur Duck. L. L. D. Chancellor of the Diocefs of London, and Advocate of the Court of Honour; Now made Englifh, and a Table of Contents annexed. 8vo. 1699.

Short Memorials of Thomas Lord Fairfax, Written by himfelf. Published 1699. The Life of John Whitgift Archbishop of Canterbury, in the times of Queen Elizabeth aud King James 1. Written by Sir Geo. Paul, Comptroler of his Grace's Houshold. To which is annexed a Treatife Entituled, Confpiracy for pretended Reformation. Written in the Year 1591. By Richard Cosin. L. L. D. Dean of the Arches, and Official Principal to Bishop Whitgift. 8vo. 1699.

The Works of Josephus, the Learned Jew. Containing, 1. The Life of Josephus, by himself. 2. The Jewish Antiquities, in Twenty Books. 3. The Wars with the Romans, in seven Books. 4. His Book against Apion, in defence of the Antiquities of the Jews, in two Parts. 5. The Martyrdom of the Maccabes: As also, 6. Philo's Embassy from the Jew's of Alexandria to Caius Caligula. Compared with the Original Greek, and illustrated with a new Map of the Holy Land, and divers other Sculptures. Folio. 1701.

The Third Part of Mr. Russmorth's Historical Collections; Containing the Principal Matters which happened from the meeting of the Parliament, Novemb. 3. 1640. to the end of the Year 1644. Wherein is a particular account of the Rife and Progress of the Civil War to that Period. With Alphabetical Tables. In Two Vol. Fol.

The Fourth and last Part of Mr. Russen billionical Collections, Containing the principal Matters which happen'd from the beginning of the Year 1645. (where the third Part ended) to the Death of King Charles the First, Jan. 30 1648. Intwo Vol. Fol. 1701.

The Trial of Thomas Earl of Stafford, upon an Impeachment of High Treason by the Commons in Parliament, in the Names of themselves and all the Commons of England, 1641. shewing the Form of Parliamentary Proceedings in an Impeachment of Treason. Published by John Rushworth Esciption Second Edition. Folio. 1700.

The Memoires of the Reign of King Charles I. With a Continuation to the Reftauration of King Charles II. By Sir Phillip Warwick, Knight. 800. 1701.

An Exposition of the 39 Articles of the Church of England, By Dr. Burnet Bishop of Sarum. Fol. 2d Edition. 1702.

A Treatife concerning the Caufes of the prefent Corruption of Christians, and the Remedies thereof. 2d Edition. 1702.

Directions for leading a Devout Life. Written by a Lady 12mo. 1702.

Elisha Coles English-Latin, and Latin-English Dictionary. The Fifth Edition Enlarged. 1703.

Wilhelmi Schickardi Horologium Ebraum Editio ultima. Prioribus omnibus accuratior dy pleniori Linguarum Grece Latina nec non Anglicane cum Habraica harmenja locupleta?a. 1703.

Her. 11.125% il J.L.Brown; In 0 76

