

FLAG DAY

CHILDREN PAY HONOR TO OLD GLORY AT LIBRARY STORY HOUR

The weekly story hour for the summer opened Tuesday morning at the Glendale library when a large number of little folks enjoyed the special flag day program which Mrs. Danford had prepared for them. Mrs. Danford understands and loves children and prepares her programs from the viewpoint of the child, so she is able to keep her young hearers quiet and intensely interested for the hour and they leave with the feeling that they have not had enough and are anxious to return.

Tuesday was flag day for the children and they were entertained with three short but intensely interesting stories bearing on the topic of the day. These stories were interspersed with selections of a patriotic character on the phonograph. An effective poster of Lincoln was displayed on the book rack where books of interest to the young were collected. Following the program the children marched past the desk very quietly and each received a small American flag as a souvenir, in honor of the brother or a friend who is now serving the flag in the Army or Navy. After the youngsters had all joined in singing America, the usual instruction in book selection was given them and application cards were given out.

If there are children enough interested in the story hour this summer to warrant such a course, Mrs. Danford will divide them into two classes, the older ones in one class and the smaller tots in another. Twelve years is the age limit.

All children, whether they live in Glendale or not, are welcome to the story hour, although those living outside the city limits cannot hold cards. Mrs. Danford has found that the time and thought she has given to the story hour in the past has borne fruit in the increased use of the library by the children and in the intelligence they display in selecting books.

Next Tuesday there will be some new books on the display rack to be examined by the children.

PATRIOTIC LAWN PARTY

The J. O. C., together with the companion class, the Young Men's Bible Class of the First Methodist Church of Glendale, held a Patriotic Lawn Party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Clewett of 710 West Ninth street, on the evening of July 3rd.

The spacious lawn was beautifully lighted by Japanese lanterns and the grand old moon. Games were enjoyed by the crowd, especially a series of contests to decide the much discussed question of "Which is the head of the house, the man or the woman?" All had to register and were chosen by selective draft, and points were given in each contest. The Y. B. M. B. C. won the contest, to the sorrow of the J. O. C.'s. Fruitade was served during the evening, and at a late hour adjourned to the house, which was decorated in the national colors by red, white and blue crepe paper ribbons intertwined overhead, and bouquets of red and white carnations in blue bowls, and flags. The delicious refreshments were served of cake and red, white and blue ice cream, with a tiny flag standing in each slice. Mr. Clewett furnished music on the Victrola, which was enjoyed very much. The Star-Spangled Banner was played and all dispersed to their homes feeling that a most delightful evening had been spent, and that Mr. and Mrs. Clewett were an excellent host and hostess.

BROADWAY TEACHERS

Mrs. Mary Ogden Ryan, principal of the Broadway school, is entertaining her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Wheeler of San Francisco. Later she will go north with her daughter. Just at present they are enjoying numerous side trips.

Miss Ruth Pierce of 214 West Colorado boulevard will be at home the early part of the summer, but will spend the month of August at Big Bear Lake.

Miss Elizabeth Paul will go to San Luis Obispo later in the summer. At present she is at home at 800 West Eighth street.

Miss Helen E. Herrick is teaching summer school at the Colorado boulevard school.

Miss Tennie Mathews will leave in a few days for Berkeley, where she will be the rest of the summer.

Miss Helen O. Wright will be "at home."

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Friday. Westerly winds.

MRS. WALTERS RECEIVES LETTER OF THANKS FROM FRENCH SOLDIER

The regular meeting of the Glendale Branch took place as usual last Monday afternoon and there was a good attendance in spite of the absence of several members. It was decided that the next meeting will be devoted to finishing up all the work on hand, which will then be sent in to Los Angeles headquarters. Every member is requested to attend the meeting next Monday and bring something to place in the pockets of the hospital shirts. Puzzle post cards, California views, lavender sachets, etc., are to be used. This last is a little luxury much appreciated by the poor, war-torn and weary soldiers when they are convalescing. Anyone having fresh lavender is earnestly requested to bring it to us next Monday. A very interesting letter has been received by the president, Mrs. Walters, from a soldier in a French hospital, who has received one of our garments. It was read and is published below. How can we falter for one moment in this work when we see how much our efforts are appreciated? The entertainment to be given at "La Ramada" Saturday, July 21st, afternoon and evening, promises to be a delightful affair and plans are well under way for it. Many prominent people are taking part.

The letter received by Mrs. Walters is reproduced here:
Hospital Auxiliaire No. 5,
Cognac, Charente, France.
4 Juin, 1917.

Chero Madame.
How pleased I have been this morning to be able to speak a few words of English when I found your kind little note and puzzle post cards in my pyjama's pocket!

It were addressed to Tommy Atkins; by chance it came across to Frenchmen who are all very pleased to wear them. Let me thank you for me and all my comrades and through you all the Californian people who is so good to us!

Let us hope with the aid of America that the war will be soon over but before "the brutes" must be punished!

I have been wounded in the Champagne, two bones broken in my leg, but I got it still! It will take a good long time before to be able to go along!

Merci de tout mon coeur pour vos bons souhaits de guerison. J'esperai que vous n'aurez pas trop de peine a comprendre mon mauvais anglais et y terminai avec un "hurray" pour les Etats Unis.

Recevez ehue Madame l'hommage de mon plus profond respect.

GEORGES DICHET.

(Translation) Thank you with all my heart for your good wishes and I hope you will not have too much trouble in comprehending my bad English, and I close with a "hurray" for the United States. Receive, dear madame, the homage of my most profound respect.

MISS FIELD TAKES SUMMER COURSE

Mrs. F. A. Field and her daughter, Miss Bessie Field, of the Glendale Union High School faculty, have returned from a week's stay in Riverside, where they visited relatives, Mrs. C. W. Craig and Mrs. Densmore. Miss Bessie Field left immediately for Long Beach, where she will remain for six weeks, taking a course of conversational Spanish in a summer school which has been established by three charming teachers, the Misses Sammes, who are natives of old Mexico. These teachers, who at present are employed as teachers in Arizona, open this school in the summer so that any one wishing to perfect themselves in conversational Spanish may do so.

FAMILY CELEBRATION

A merry party celebrated yesterday with a dinner served on the lawn at the home of Mr. F. R. Stofft on Pacific avenue and later adjourned to the home of Mr. W. W. Stofft, 1639 Stocker street for the evening, when fireworks and music furnished the entertainment. Those enjoying this joint celebration were Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Gaede and son, Miss Evelyn Gaede, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Stofft and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stofft, son and daughter, Mrs. Delia M. Doudna, and Mr. Victor Walstrum of Los Angeles.

The friends of Mr. Hardin J. Darnley, 625 North Louise, will be sorry to learn that he is ill with typhoid fever and was taken to the Crocker street hospital, Los Angeles, last Sunday.

NEW ARMIES TO BE WELL FED

GOVERNMENT TO TRAIN GIGANTIC ARMY OF COOKS BEFORE SIXTEEN CANTONMENTS OPEN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, July 5.—The National Army will be well fed if preparation counts for aught. The general staff is working on a plan to feed the more than half million rookies who will assemble in the 16 cantonments for training next fall. The variety of the menu will necessarily be limited to the regular army rations. But it will be properly prepared and served. In recent wars the "grub" of the valiant volunteer has been the object of scandal. It was "embalmed beef" in the Spanish War. On the border last year the National Guard howled lustily against the army mess. The answer was incompetent cooks.

To guard against repetition of such complaints the General Staff has completed plans to train a gigantic army of cooks before the cantonments open. Within a few weeks thousands of young men will be mobilized and instructed in the art of military culinary. When the cantonments open the new cooks will be right on the job ready to feed the recruits.

The instruction will include how to feed a company of 150 men three times a day on schedule time, kitchen sanitation—of utmost importance to the health of the men—and how to lend a touch of variety to the limited possibilities of the army ration. There will be no cause for apologies for the food officials are determined. The Regular Army soldiers thrive on it. It is pure. It will be properly prepared. And there will be enough to keep every soldier well and fit, military heads say.

INVESTIGATION OF RACE RIOTS

WAR DEPARTMENT PROBE OF EAST ST. LOUIS DISTURBANCES REVEALS ASTONISHING SITUATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
EAST ST. LOUIS, July 5.—The war department investigation of race riots here began this morning under Col. George H. Hunter, representing Gen. Thomas H. Barry, commander of the Central department of the army. Alleged laxity on the part of the militia is the cause of the probe. Astonishing revelations are being brought to light and show an organized plot among the negroes to make Independence day a second St. Bartholomew's day. Four companies of blacks, all armed, were practicing for a revenge massacre for the killing of negroes last May, it was declared.

NATION'S BIRTHDAY

ADDRESS DELIVERED BY REV. C. A. COLE AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"Blessed is that nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom He has chosen for His own inheritance." Ps. 33:12.

This country of ours is a goodly heritage. Its providential beginning; its splendid history; its great domain; its glorious institutions; its nearly ideal form of government; its exalted national spirit, make every patriotic citizen proud of his country and flag.

Our country is young, 141 years old to-day. Yet what a marvelous growth she has made. Confronting with vigor and wisdom all the obstacles and problems of the complex age, she has emerged from the struggles with glory, and reaching out for the highest and best in every phase of life, has achieved more than any nation on the earth.

Yet there are traits and institutions that lead down. Upon every hand are revelations of the selfishness, dishonesty, fraud, "graft," and thievery, under innumerable names, which rob the helpless, the widow and the fatherless and which make men untrue to God and their country.

But, with all our defects and sins, our progress, citizenship, philanthropy, popular education, love of liberty, etc., place us high among the nations of earth. We have stood the test of diversified nationalities, the test of internal war, the pressure of organized corruption. Surely our fathers builded on a good foundation. The elements of justice, liberty, equality and faith in God, however much they may be hidden at times, are abiding, and America will stand so long as they do abide.

Men have walked through the graveyards of the nations, along the Mediterranean, and read the inscriptions which are written there. And there is no record of any nation which died from high tariff, or low tariff, or free trade, or bank guarantee, or labor troubles, or coinage, or immigration. But stone after stone, down the rows, bears the mark, "This people forgot God, and therefore is perished."

This is the thought for our Fourth of July. It is a time for the nation to bend low and listen to the voice of God, and He's not speaking from the noise and explosion of fireworks, not in parades and jollification, but in the still, small voice. It says, "Thou art young among the nations. Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth."

"Blessed is that people whose God is the Lord." Not whose God is greed, pleasure, lust, money, etc.

It seems to me that this day should be made memorable by each one of us as the beginning of an effort to cleanse the wounds and care for the "body politic" of our Nation, as we would one of our family who through the ambition of strong young manhood had been led into a wild country where he had been harmed and sorely beset.

Instead of this terrible waste of money and life in our unworthy way of "celebrating," why not make it a day when our patriotism shall be shown in festivals that will uplift and widen the aspirations of our people? Why not set up a milestone as the children of Israel did and say, "Thus far hath the Lord led us."

We will try to make the way better next year and teach our children that the country for which "our fathers died" is so good a land because God is our strength; teach our children to be good, honest, loving citizens; that the golden rule is the rule of good to each and every creature. That love and truth are better than gold, silver and precious stones and that our country is great only when every individual is loyal to these principles. That to God and the Book we owe our national existence and we should honor them above all else.

We hear it said that the Constitution should follow the flag. That is not nearly so important a question as whether or not the Bible shall follow the flag. The Bible was here before the flag and without it the flag could never have been. It was the Bible which taught our fathers that all men are created equal; it was the Bible which gave them the model of a "church without a bishop and a state without a king." The Bible used to lay open in every schoolhouse and it was out of its open pages that the children of the land drew their principles of liberty, equality and the brotherhood of men, upon which the nation was later built. The last generation removed the Bible from the school and

OLD FASHIONED PICNIC

MONTE VISTA PEOPLE OBSERVE FOURTH OF JULY IN GOOD OLD STYLE

On July Fourth the editor had the pleasure of attending a quiet and old fashioned Fourth of July picnic at Monte Vista Park. There were almost a thousand people present to do honor to the day and engage in social conversation. Our Glendale townsmen, Thomas D. Ogg, Wilnot Parcher, Oma Fish and others, were present to enjoy the festivities and patriotism of the day.

The Maygrove band was one of the leading attractions, and this band was indeed worth hearing. The band is made up of probably twenty persons, five or six of these being members of the Maygrove family.

The war spirit was mixed with the doings of the day. Mr. Rowley, the chairman of the meeting, has sons who have enlisted, and Mr. Paul, the main speaker of the day, knows much about war and gave a very logical talk on the needs of the hour. The Red Cross was strongly represented by the Sunland Chapter and the speakers greatly emphasized the need of Red Cross workers and Red Cross funds.

Never think for a minute that Sunland and Tujunga are asleep at the switch when it comes to the question of war. The people of these places are very much awake and already many young men have reported out to answer their country's call.

READER THROWS BOUQUETS

To the Glendale Evening News:
Your paper for some months past has been steadily improving, so it seems to me.

The issue of July 2nd is especially good, full of interesting "news."

Anyone reading it would know Glendale and community to be a real "hive" one with its people engaged in altruistic work of the highest order. The Red Cross, in which so many are giving generously of their time and effort, the work of the W. C. T. U., the news of the Congress of Mothers' picnic, the plans for the Fourth of July celebration and opening of the Pacific avenue playgrounds are all most interesting and show what Glendale is doing.

Then the poem, "Plant a Tree," by Glendale's "grand old man," Samuel Parker, is beautiful and should be used in our schools for more reasons than one.

While Tropic is first to fall into line with the work laid down by Herbert C. Hoover and shows true patriotism there, I feel proud to belong to Glendale after reading these splendid achievements. And I believe the publicity and helpful policy of the "News" helps in more ways than we sometime realize.

A READER.

CANNING DEMONSTRATION

The committee on "Food Values, Canning and Preserving" under the County Council of Defense, which has been working in Glendale for the past two months, has secured Mrs. Jessica C. Hazzard for a demonstration in canning vegetables and fruit.

This meeting will be held in the Council Chamber of the Glendale City Hall on Tuesday morning, July 10, at 10 o'clock. All interested are urged to be present. Mrs. Hazzard has been doing remarkable work for the Los Angeles home-garden committee with her daily demonstrations in the old Tribune building.

Glendale is very fortunate in having her come out here. This will be a practical demonstration and all questions will be answered thoroughly. Mrs. Hazzard has been in Glendale in the past and is known to many of our home makers. Any one who has ever heard her lecture or attended her demonstrations is enthusiastic over the manner in which she presents her work.

Do not forget the place, the date and the time: Council Chamber City Hall, Tuesday, July 10th, promptly at 10 o'clock.

MRS. KARA S. ROOT,
Chairman.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S BRANCH

The Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U. met at the home of Miss Isabel Barrett, 1464 West Third street, Tuesday evening, July 3. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Ruby Smart, president of the W. C. T. U. The following officers were elected: President, Sabin Buck; vice-president, Emma Esterly; corresponding secretary, Marjorie Tyler; recording secretary, Vivian Engle; treasurer, Evangeline Quackenbush. It was planned to make comfort bags for soldiers and sailors this summer.

LOOK AT THIS TAX BILL

What a fuss our forefathers made about the taxes of George III. But the taxes he imposed upon the American colonists were only a flea bite compared with those we are now confronting. Now we are going to find that our jewelry (and we do love sparkling things) is going to cost twelve million dollars more than the jeweler has been charging heretofore. It is going to cost us ninety million dollars more to write letters, unless we cut out a lot of our business and social correspondence. The goods of the brewers and distillers are to be marked up one hundred and fifty million dollars, and we will have to show if they still are as necessary to us at that price as we thought they were. If, as a people, we could get along without cigarettes, the government would find itself short sixty-five million dollars in its calculations. That is what it expects us to pay for that habit. For using the telephone, the electric toaster, the gas range and other such conveniences around the house (a good deal like the old tyrannical hearthstone tax) we have got to pay forty million dollars. The automobile, of course, is not overlooked, nor the movie show, according to present plans. Each is good for eighty million dollars, the government figures.

These are just starters. There remains the income tax, the tax on excess profits, stamp taxes (getting close to George III again), and taxes of various sorts too numerous to classify under general titles. Perhaps altogether the government will want something like $20 from each American, men, women and children, this year. Next year will be another story, but if the war lasts it will be a story we shall all have to hear, and we may be sure its chapters will be no less thrilling. But as we have got to absorb this long delayed education somehow, let's make it easier, right at the start, by getting rid of the idea that taxes and George III are the same thing. Democracy has to have taxes, too, when it takes on a job the size of ours. When we look at the job and think what would become of us if we shouldn't be big enough to do it, we ought to be glad we are a twenty billion dollar country and can afford to be taxed.

RED CROSS TASK IS BIG ONE

The task before the American Red Cross is to support the American doctors and nurses already at the front, to care for the great armies which we are to raise, to watch over the dependent families of our soldiers who are called to the colors, to provide recreation and sanitary protection for our troops after they are sent to France, to take over the work of guarding France against the ravages of tuberculosis, to care for the women and children of the devastated districts and to bring to Russia a concrete message of help which will strengthen her wavering resolution and her faith in democracy and discipline.

Such a task is appalling in size, but if carried out with the support of every individual American it can be accomplished. Canada, with 8 million population contributed money and material to a value of 16 million dollars for her Red Cross and the relief of her sick and wounded. If America does as well, instead of the 100 million dollars which Mr. Davidson asks, 200 million dollars will be the contribution of America to its Red Cross.—From the Outlook.

WAR TAX AND LOCAL BUDGETS

At the present time, and without the aid of war taxes, according to Director H. W. Clark of the Tax Payers' Association of California, the federal government is raising, by taxation, about $1,300,000,000 per year. The special war tax bill now before congress is calculated to raise $1,810,420,000 more by taxation. It is proposed, therefore, to raise for the federal government $4,110,420,000 in one year by taxation alone. That will be slightly more than $31.10 per capita for every man, woman and child in the United States. If it were raised on a per capita basis, California's share would be $93,000,000.

"It being necessary," Mr. Clark continues, "to increase the burden of federal taxation to such an extent that it will in some appreciable measure, be borne by even the smallest taxpayers, surely local tax-levying and tax-spending officials will be acting with highest patriotism if they exercise extraordinary care in the framing of their budgets for the fiscal year 1917-18. No one will object to the heavy federal burden. On the contrary, because of the tremendous necessity we are under to win the war, that burden, whatever it may be, will be borne gladly and cheerfully. But everyone will object and should object to an unnecessary penny being included in the budgets of local governmental subdivisions. Sane and practical economy should and must be practiced in governmental affairs in California during the immediate future, if never again. Budgets should be framed with extreme care; all dead timber should be cut out of departments without hesitation; and no new functions should be taken on unless their indispensability is readily apparent. No estimate of needs should be permitted to get by a board of supervisors or any governing body that is not itemized down to the last penny. Above all things maximum levies should not be made solely because they may have been customary."—Whittier News.

IS HE A NAPOLEON?

Alexander Kerensky, Russia's new war minister, will become the Russian Napoleon and lead her disorganized armies to victory under a dictatorship like that which Bonaparte created in France 118 years ago. This is the conviction of students of Russian affairs in Washington who are alive to the lessons of history, according to Basil M. Manley. They see in Russia precisely the condition that existed in France following the revolution and they reason its outcome must be similar.

In 1799 the French directors, which occupied a position analogous to the Russian provisional government, had lost the power which it once possessed over the French people. France was surrounded by enemies. The French treasury had run dry. The army was starving and disorganized. Like the Russian army it had thrown off the old discipline and soldiers were deserting by thousands. Peace agitation filled the air. Weary with long struggle and feeling its independence was safely guarded by the Rhine and the Alps, the nation longed for peace.

The French directory knew peace would be suicidal, but was powerless to continue aggressive warfare until as a last resort Napoleon was placed in charge of the armies of France just as Kerensky was last week named to command the armies of Russia.

Like Kerensky, Napoleon had been one of the most ardent of revolutionists and strong anti-monarchist. When Napoleon took charge of the armies to save France he had no more idea of becoming emperor than Kerensky has. Kerensky's great speech announcing re-establishment of iron discipline in the Russian army sounds like an echo of Napoleon's speeches to the French armies of 1799.

Kerensky lacks military training, but today victory requires organization and consolidation of entire nations, not mere groups of soldiers and it is a task for a statesman, not for a soldier. It was Lloyd George, not a member of the British military staff, who re-organized Great Britain for victory. For this task the training of Kerensky admirably fits him. And above all, he has captured the confidence of the Russian soldiers and peasants to the same degree as the little corporal held the French people and its army enthralled by his courage and daring.

Out of the volcanic upheaval of every revolution some leader of overwhelming greatness has appeared. It is not unreasonable to expect that the Russian revolution will run true to form and develop its Napoleon or its Cromwell, in the person of some such genius as Kerensky.—Stockton Mail.

WANTS DRY AMERICA

SEVERAL MILLIONS OF JAPANESE WHO DEPEND ON TEA INDUSTRY ROOTING FOR BONE-DRY AMERICA

TOKIO, June 10 (by mail).—Several millions of Japanese whose livelihood depends directly or indirectly on the tea industry, are to-day rooting for a "bone-dry" America.

The connection between the tea fields of Nippon and the brass rail of the United States isn't as vague as it appears, for George F. Mitchell, supervising tea examiner of the U. S. Treasury Department, who is in the Orient inspecting the tea industry, has made the statement that the big boom in America's tea consumption may be due to the spread of the prohibition wave.

In 1916, according to Mitchell, America drank 109,500,000 pounds of tea and is consuming more of the beverage every day. Tea from Japan is the most popular in America. Forty-two and two-tenths per cent. of the tea America drinks comes from this country and Formosa. And over one pound of tea is drunk per capita in the United States, says Mitchell.

DIDN'T GET THE UMBRELLA

One of Chauncey Mitchell Depew's best stories is the story of the spotted dog which, as a boy, he bought from a local dog dealer. "The next morning it was raining," he says, "and I took the dog out into the woods, but the rain was too much for him. It washed the spots off. I trotted the dog back to the dealer.

"Look at this animal," I said. "The spots have all washed off."
"Great guns, boy!" he replied, "there was an umbrella went with that dog. Didn't you get the umbrella?"

Father is supposed to be the head of the household. But when Mother has completed the Monday morning wash, look at the line and you will see four furloughs of many clothes that father doesn't wear. But down at the end of the line you will see two old socks, a reggedy undershirt and a torn handkerchief. That is father's share of the wash.

Out in Kansas a lodge passed the usual resolutions in token of a deceased member in which was stated that the lodge lost a good member, the widow a dutiful husband, the editor two years' subscription, and Shears & Sawbuck a good customer.

It has been suggested that one of the first things to be done for the conservation of the country's supplies should be the cutting of at least two inches from the top of women's shoes.

It is said that after Easter the weather usually settles, but it seems to be doing it like some delinquent subscribers.

Nowadays you will hear a great many men talking war as they stand on the street corners. The majority of them you couldn't get into a recruiting office with a submarine drag net of large size.

A German newspaper states that owing to the big shortage of potatoes, fats, and oils, in that country, about thirty varieties of wild plants are eaten. The 1917 harvest will be of a moderate volume, unless a miracle happens, the paper adds.

OUR NATION'S BIRTHDAY
 placed the flag above it. Can the flag still fly there unless supported by the Bible below it?
 America was made by the Book. It is the book that lifted up the nations. It is the book that is reverently kissed by the President of the United States on taking his oath of office. The Bible is the book that makes the home, because the principles taught from it are the foundation of the home. The freedom and liberty of which we boast is better than the freedom of other countries because it is founded upon the Bible. If we would have the nation continue to live, if we would maintain the progress which we have set in the past, if we would have the freedom and liberty we have enjoyed handed down to our children, we must retain the open Bible as an institution, and insist that it be used and taught in all schools and revered as the Word of God.
 So, while we rejoice and celebrate our nation's birthday, let us beware that we do not lose sight of the great evils and perils that beset us as a nation. Intemperance, Sunday desecration, degraded manhood, loss of Bible study, are the foes which seriously threaten us. While we have destroyed others by force of arms, we are destroying ourselves by permitting the existence of social evils and organized iniquities that are degrading our best manhood and womanhood. While we glory in this beloved country of ours, let us watch all her foes with a jealous eye, and be heroes in the moral battles to be waged for truth, righteousness and liberty, real liberty. It seems clear that God has a great mission and future for the Christian nation, if she shall seize her opportunities and discharge her obligations. "Blessed is that nation whose God is the Lord, and the people whom He hath chosen for His inheritance."
 "O God, look down upon the land which thou hast loved so well, And grant that in unbroken truth their children still may dwell; Nor, while the grass grows on the hill and streams flow through the vale, May they forget their father's faith, or in their covenant fail. Keep, God, the fairest, noblest land that lies beneath the sun— Our country, our whole country, and our country ever one."
 To-day we are called to duty in war. With no thought of minimizing its call, but to stress its importance, I wish to exhort to another duty.
 Abraham Lincoln, speaking of the great army of men who had given their lives for the nation, pleaded, "that from these honored dead, we take increased devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that the nation shall, under God, have a new birth of Freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."
 Redpath, the historian, wrote: "Peace to the memories of the fathers! Green be the graves where sleep the warriors, patriots, sages! Calm be the resting place of all the brave and true! Gentle be the summer rains where armies have met in battle! Forgotten be the animosities and heart burnings of the strife! Sacred be the trust committed to our care, and bright the visions of coming ages!"
 "Increased devotion," "high resolve," "hold sacred trusts and visions."
 Is not this a call to duty? We owe not less but more. The higher call than the call to arms is ours. A call to live devotedly, with high resolve and with world visions for a nation made sacred with blood.
 To-day young men should resolve to answer to the double call to duty, to free a land from the slavery of greed and gain, to give life for the saving of our cities, to sacrifice strength and blood for the solutions of the mighty problems of this marvelous century, as well as the call to arms.
 "God give us men! And yet again we pray to Thee, O give us MEN! God give us men with nerves of steel; With brains that think; with hearts that feel; With tongues that bless; with hands that lift; Whose wills control; whose feet are swift To raise the fallen from the dust; Men, who in honor shall be just; Men, far too noble to be bought; Not honor seeking—but besought By those who love them, for their worth. And not because of gold or birth. God give us such men! Such men of power As grasp the problems of the hour. And who like heroes ever stand For Thee, and home, and native land." Oh God! we need such men to-day As will not barter souls away, Nor from the orphan nor the wives Of drunkards crush the very lives. But who the weaker hand will press And lift toward Thee and righteousness.
 Oh, what a nation would be ours, Had we to-day such men and powers Used aright! O God, again we humbly pray, Give us such men! Give us such men!"

RED CROSS AID
 The K. P. Hall at the corner of Brand boulevard and Park avenue, Tropic, was filled to its capacity Tuesday evening, July 3, when hosts of young people, accompanied by some of Tropic's most prominent matrons, came out to do their bit for the benefit of the Red Cross of their city.
 The fathers of the Acacia street school take this opportunity to thank all those who so faithfully worked and gave to make their dance a success; to the Knights of Pythias for the donation of their hall, and to the "Rohara Club" of Tropic for their support and attendance.
 Little Mable Todd sold 52 tickets and Master George, the 6-year-old son of Mr. Geo. Peterson, chairman of the affair, sold 10 tickets helping the cause.

OUR ANNUAL FIRE LOSS
 Though an enemy army may never land on our shores, there is a powerful enemy already here who annually inflicts upon us damages totaling $200,000,000. That enemy is fire.
 Niles Searls, general fire inspector for the Southern Pacific, explains just what that $200,000,000 annual fire loss means. The money represents:
 Total amount paid out in dividends by all the railroads in the country.
 One-half of all the gold and silver mined within the borders of the United States.
 If all the buildings destroyed during any one year were erected on the two sides of a single street, they would stretch out along that street for a thousand miles.
 To accomplish this annual destruction, fire starting at one end of this street would have to burn at the rate of three miles a day for every day in the year.
 Going through such a burned street at every 1000 feet one would pass the ruins of a building from which an injured person was being removed, and every three quarters of a mile would be the ruin of a building in which a life was lost.
 During the year 1907 the fire loss of the United States was one-half the cost of all the new buildings erected.
 Now you be careful.

THAT WHICH WE CALL BEING FREE
 That which we call being free is but to say That we are free to obey— That we are free to adore, to reverence right. Once swerve from that sublimer, statelier way, Once break the golden gyves of self-control, And lo, a desolate freedom finds the soul, A broad captivity whose realm begins Where folly's vaporous air holds blinding sway, But its dark distance its wild boundary wins Among the appalling gloom of unrestricted sins. —Edgar Fawcett.
 Time is a good trader. He takes your youth and beauty and gives you false teeth and rheumatism.

It's Easy This Way
 If they could only see all they were buying, most anyone could make a fairly good purchase of shoes, but it's what they can't see in shoes that makes their guess a gamble.
 You can't tell from the outside how a shoe is made inside or how much service you're going to get from the shoe or how much merit is in the material.
 Real shoe merit is about 5% finish outside and 95% quality underneath.
 Fraud is easily covered by a coat of polish.
 Selz shoes have only one standard, the best—all leather—that your money can buy, and you will find their name on them.

WHITE CAPS

By Margaret Mason
(Written for the United Press)
Belinda's pretty head is white
But not from fright nor age.

White caps on the crests of the fashionable waves are now numerous to be seen. Reared aloft on the waved crests of fashionable devotees it is nautically fitting that the favorite shape of them should be dubbed the Marine.

It is a jaunty little copy of the marine tam o' shanter of white satin braided in white soutache braid with a long silken tassel of white falling from the center over the right ear where the fullness of the tam also flops rakishly.

What more inspiring display of the national colors could one's heart desire than a military cap of white satin with a white stray visor poised above a pair of blue eyes atop a mass of Titian hair?

A cunning little round hat of white satin has its brim rolled up all around with an inch quilling of the white satin standing up on top of that. A French fold of the satin around the crown with a pump bow in front is the only other adornment.

Another similar model of white straw has an upstanding banding of inch high white quills instead of the satin quilling and yet another has the same effect accomplished with white wheat.

Wheat by the way, all white or au naturel, is sewn as plentifully in the millinery field as it is sown in the country fields. It strives to take the place of the barred aigrette and is so successful in the attempt that but few regret the aigrette.

With wheat such a factor in the food crisis of the war it seems only right that we should put it above everything else, and what higher eminence can it hope to attain than milady's bonnet?

SOME OF THE BIGGEST, COSTLIEST THINGS

The largest library is the National, in Paris, which contains three million books.

The tallest monument is in Washington, D. C. It is five hundred and fifty-five feet high.

The highest chimney is in Glasgow, Scotland, and is four hundred and seventy-four feet high.

The deepest coal mine is near Lambert, Belgium, and is thirty-five hundred feet deep.

The largest monolith is in Egypt—one hundred and six feet.

The biggest dock is at Cardiff, Wales.

The strongest electric light is at the Sydney lighthouse, Australia.

The greatest bank is the Bank of England, London.

The oldest college is University College, Oxford. It was established in the year 1050.

The largest college is in Cairo, Egypt. It has on its register each year over ten thousand students and three hundred and ten teachers.

The largest bronze statue is that of Peter the Great in Petrograd, Russia. It weighs some eleven hundred tons.

Damascus is claimed to be the oldest city in the world.

The most costly book is a Hebrew Bible, which is owned by the German government, and which the Pope offered one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars for, but which the government of Germany would not give up.—Chicago Tribune.

THE "FUNNIEST" TELEPHONE AD

"All the machinery of government is working for success in the war and efficient telephone service is essential," reads a big display advertisement in the Washington newspapers, which, in another part, continues: "You can help if, during the business hours of the day, you will restrict the use of the telephone so far as possible, avoid all unnecessary calls and make your talks brief."

The local telephone company carries this advertising over its signature. All of a sudden the local telephone service at the Capital is practically doubled, and the company has been staggering under a heavy load that has almost swamped it. Hundreds of new "Hello" girls and hundreds of new telephones have been added, all incident to the war. The public has been asked by the telephone company to reserve their telephone nickels.

HIS MOTHER'S HABIT

A kind hearted old man came upon a small whimpering urchin. "What's the matter, my little man?" he asked sympathetically. "I'm lost. Boo-oo!" "Lost? Nonsense! We mustn't give up hope so soon. Where do you live?"

ATTITUDES DIFFICULT

"Do your constituents indorse your attitude?" "I don't know yet," replied Senator Sorghum. "Attitudes are not as easy as they used to be. I can remember the time when all I needed in the way of an attitude was an Ajax-defying-the-lightning pose while I mentioned George Washington and the American eagle."—Washington Star.

A training school for army Y. M. C. A. secretaries will be held in San Francisco beginning July 5th. All the secretaries who have been appointed to positions of any kind with the army Y. M. C. A. are to spend one month in as thorough training as can be given during the time allowed before the opening of the Y. M. C. A. buildings in August.

Nearly two hundred buildings are to be erected by the International Army Y. M. C. A. Council for the soldiers and there will be one building for each brigade of between 5000 and 6000 soldiers.

The plan will be to have entertainments and picture shows every night in the week to keep the soldiers busy so that forces of evil in the country surrounding the camps will not attract them so strongly.

TUJUNGA

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson of Rose Hill were guests of friends in Tujunga on Thursday.

The Patriotic Society given by the Ladies' Guild proved to be a very successful affair. The program was entirely patriotic and well rendered. The ladies in white adorned with the national colors served refreshments to those in attendance.

The Women's Guild of Tujunga wishes, through the columns of the "Tri-City Weekly," to thank the community whose generosity made the Guild's Patriotic Evening a most successful affair.

The Episcopal Guild will hold a special meeting at the home of Mrs. Shaner Tuesday, July 10, at 2:30 p. m. Important business will come up before the meeting and all members are requested to be present.

The Woman's Club of Tujunga held their last meeting of the year at Bolton Hall June 28th. The only business before the club was the election of officers for the coming year.

The colony picnic will hold forth some time in September at the club house and an exhibition of fruit, flowers, and fancy work is asked from all residents of the colony.

The contractors for the Treat home on Los Angeles street are busy laying out the foundation, and will commence building at once.

The Colonial Dancing Club gave a very enjoyable dress party on July 4th, a number of ladies and gentlemen appearing in quaint colonial costumes. Cake and ice cream were served during the evening.

The summer school was opened on Monday, with Miss Solstrom, teacher, and a goodly number of pupils in attendance.

A brush fire started by Joe Allen at the mouth of the Big Tujunga last Friday threatened for a few hours to be a serious one. It was finally controlled after burning over five acres of land. The fact that there was no wind saved us from a dreadful fire.

Frank Green left Tuesday morning to join the troops at San Pedro.

Mr. Eveslage and sister have rented the home of Simon Haverstick for the summer.

Mr. H. K. Wheeler and family have returned to the West coast after several months' residence in Los Angeles, and will remain here during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Burlingame of Long Beach have returned to their home on El Centro for the summer, bringing guests for over the Fourth.

Rev. and Mrs. Campbell have returned from a few days' sojourn at Long Beach.

Mrs. Tomarron of Walnut drive brought in some very fine potatoes raised on her ranch and from their own seed. Some of them weigh 17 ounces.

Mr. Haag of San Ysidro Road had the misfortune to lose a very fine Guernsey cow on Sunday last. Too much green alfalfa was the cause.

Mrs. Ludke of the grocery store spent the week with friends and relatives at Santa Ana and Garden Grove.

A meeting of the women of Tujunga is earnestly requested to consider work for the Red Cross. It will be held at the Glorietta Heights school house on Saturday, July 7th, at 2:30 p. m. Business of importance to come before the meeting. Let every lady interested attend.

Miss Julia Culver has returned from a week's visit in Los Angeles, and incidentally to get better information in regard to the Red Cross work.

Mr. Freeman of Wisconsin is visiting with his wife, who came here some months ago for her health, and is pleased to know of her continued improvement.

Mr. Keyser was a caller on friends at Santa Ana on Friday.

The library was closed on Wednesday, it being a legal holiday.

A LITTLE OF BOTH

"Are you going to fight or raise food?" "Little o' both, sub," replied Mr. Erastus Pinkley. "I's gineter git my chicken coop well populated an' den I's gineter hang right over it wif a shotgun."—Washington Star.

The announcement that Geraldine Farrar will appear as the star next week in another Lasky Feature Play Company production, following the unprecedented success of "Carmen," is of intense interest to all of our patrons. Not even her wonderful career in grand opera overshadows her achievements on the screen, where she occupies to-day a position unsurpassed, and where she has set an artistic mark that probably will never be reached.

Miss Farrar's characterization of the fiery Carmen will remain forever in the memories of those who have seen her. In this, her second photo play, "Maria Rosa," she reaches new heights in photodramatic acting. In the title part in this play she appears as a Spanish peasant girl, simple of manner and clean of thought and life, who is plunged into the midst of tragedy by reason of the jealousy of an unworthy peasant suitor.

The scenes are laid in a little village in Spain. The characters are simple folk, children so to speak, in the ways of the great outside world, but men and women of strength and force, of deep passions and sincere loves. In the midst of these human forces Maria Rosa becomes the center of a drama, thrilling in its episodes, gripping in its appeal and happy in its ending.

It's cool at the Auditorium and the fans keep it so. Come out for an evening's pleasure.

THE CLEVER KOREANS.

Our fuel resources are still so ample that we find it hard to conceive of a country so poorly supplied with fuel as Korea is. According to an article in the Journal of School Geography, the land bears very little timber, and although good deposits of bituminous and anthracite coal have been found, the government, before the Japanese occupation at least, would give no concessions for mining. The natives dig the surface coal out in a crude way and let the debris and rain water fill up the shafts. Accordingly, the coal, when they finally get it, is usually well rotted from dampness. This poor stuff is sold for as much as $9 a ton—a price that makes it inaccessible for the majority of the natives.

Korean ingenuity, however, has found a means of combating these unfavorable conditions. When a Korean starts to build his house he first lays down a system of flues where the floor is to be. These flues begin at a fireplace, usually built in an outer shed or in a closed alleyway connected with the house. From the fireplace the flues branch out like ribs of a fan, and end in a trench at the back of the floor space. This trench, in turn, opens into a chimney, usually built at some distance from the house. When the flues are completed the builder carefully covers them over with flagstones; he then cements the whole floor and covers it with a sort of thick oiled paper. The rest of the house is then built round the completed floor.

The heating system works in this way: When it is time to cook the rice for the morning meal, the housewife lights a little straw or brushwood in the fireplace in the outer shed. While the rice is cooking, the heat from the fireplace passes through the flues, heating the stone flags of the floor and diffusing a pleasant warmth that lasts until it is time to prepare the next meal. Two heatings a day generally suffice to keep the floor warm. On the floor the people sit by day and sleep by night. The heavy oiled paper that covers the floor prevents any smoke from entering the room. Since the occupants always leave their shoes at the door, the paper wears a long time, and gradually takes on a rich brown color. So here the Koreans sit through the severe winter in their snug little houses; there is no smoke to bother them and no ashes to litter up the house; and all this comfort is brought about by a few handfuls of straw or brushwood.

In the Filipino Senate is a prominent leader of the Moros, from the southern islands of the Philippine archipelago; and two others, from tribes which used to be considered incorrigible, piratical, and murderous, represent their people in the lower house of the Island Legislature. This speaks well for the innate capacity of human nature and its adaptability to the forms of modern self-government.—The Classmate.

"This plant belongs to the begonia family," said the housewife who was showing her little conservatory. "Ah," said the visiting neighbor, "you are taking care of it while they are away."—Boston Times.
