SOUTHERN CAMPUS

morning

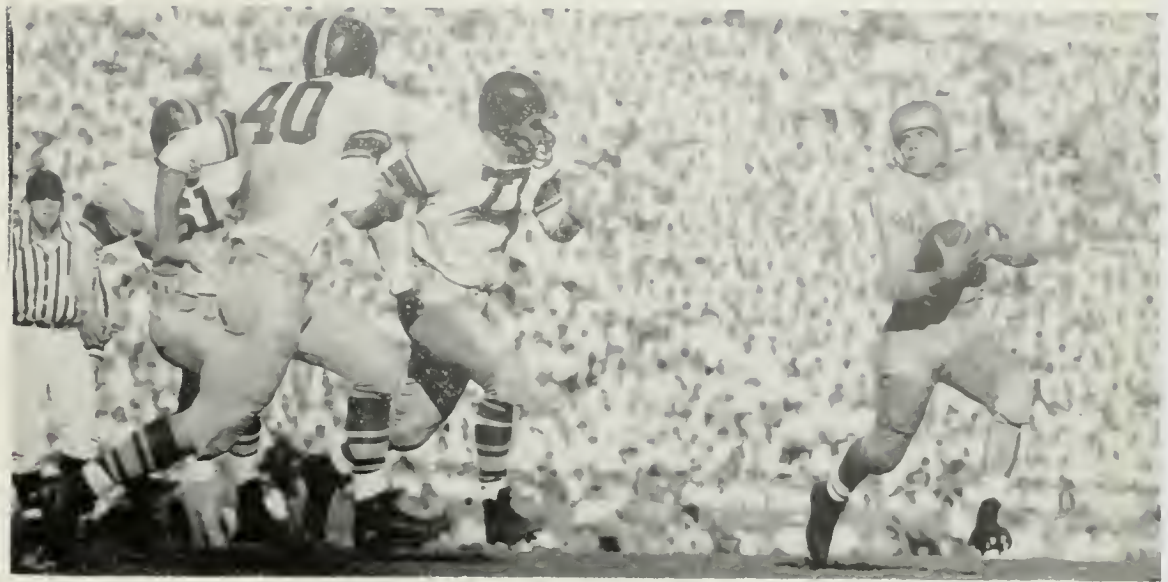

A day on the campus of the university begins with the traffic jam in the parking lots, the last minute cup of coffee, the professor hurrying to class, the lecture hall filling with students, the Royce Hall chimes ringing out the hour, the hush of the class as the instructor clears his throat and spreads out his notes, the pencil moving across the paper. It is the academic period of the day, the time to listen, to observe, to question, to record and to learn. The lecture ends, the notebook closes and it is afternoon

afternoon when classrooms disperse and student activity becomes more diversified. The quad comes alive, the coop fills up, Kerckhoff Hall generates with dynamic energy. The student pursues his individual interests in committee meetings, rallies, float building, bridge games, beer busts. And on a Saturday afternoon, he is part of a tightly packed rooting section shouting support for his team. Afternoon is opportunity for expression, and evening

evening is opportunity for relaxation. The campus is transformed as lights outline new shapes in the familiar buildings. Sounds change too, with a dance band in the Women's Gym, a play on the Royce Hall stage, a torchlight parade winding down Hilgard. The night is full of singing from a sorority, applause from an auditorium, noise from a carnival. Diversion ends the day. Then the cycle begins again with each new day. And the days become the year.

progress

President Robert Gordon Sproul, a name synonymous with progress, is charged with the immense task of directing the activities of the eight campuses. During his presidency two campuses were added.

Framed against Westwood's rolling hills, the majestic edifices of U.C.L.A. stand today, not only symbolic of the progress on one great campus, but symbolic of the growth and development on every campus of the University of California. Celebrating the 35th anniversary of the founding of the "Southern Branch" of the University, and the 25th anniversary of its relocation at Westwood, U.C.L.A. students were able to boast of at least four major buildings under construction during the past year. As the Music and Life Science Buildings neared completion in the Spring semester, construction was begun on the new Clarence A. Dykstra Residence Hall, which will provide housing for over 300 students. Only partially completed, the fabulous new Medical Center will someday tower 12 stories into the heavens. Up at Mount Hamilton, future astronomers gazed into those heavens through the recently installed 120-inch telescope reflector, second largest in the world. At Scripps Institution of Oceanography located at La Jolla, students were given an opportunity to study examples of life beneath the sea in a new marine aquarium. Santa Barbara students were able to fathom the rolling waters of the blue Pacific from their new campus by the sea at Goleta. Farther up the coast at San Francisco, completion of the Jane Moffitt Memorial Hospital afforded great new facilities for medical study and research. Food seemed to be a chief concern of students on the Berkeley campus as a Home Economics Building and Cafeteria rose to take their places among other buildings like the nationally famous Berkeley library. The University's agriculture center at Davis stressed student housing facilities and decided that fraternities and sororities would be permitted to build on campus. The dedication of the College of Letters and Science at Riverside, with five initial buildings on its campus, was the keynote to the University's policy of continuous progress.

development

The 31st governor of California, Goodwin J. Knight, has witnessed new improvements on all eight campuses since taking office.

Jesse Steinhart, Gus Olson, Gerald Hagar, Thomas Cunningham, Howard Naffziger, Arthur McFadden, Edwin Pauley, Edward Carter, Robert Underhill, Robert G. Sproul, Edward Dickson, Dorothy Chandler, Chester Nimitz, Earl Fenston, Harold Powers, Victor Hansen, Cornelius Haggerty, Donald McLaughlin, and alumni representative Edwin Harbach make up the Board of Regents. A significant event for the Regents this year was the dedication of the Riverside Campus.

"Our concern is always for the students. Any student who is serious about getting a good education will receive it here at U.C.L.A." is the firm conviction of the Chancellor, Dr. Raymond B. Allen. This statement is very typical of the continuous interest that Dr. Allen displays in the individual student and his needs as well as in the U.C.L.A. campus and the University as a whole. In 1953 he became the first chancellor of U.C.L.A. In the short period of one year he saw the realization of his pet project, a project of future importance for many students, when he secured the finance for a new dormitory. It is his belief that when the dorm is finally completed it will add to the spirit of University life. He has found that the students here at U.C.L.A. have more opportunities and show a greater interest in their extra-curricular activities than elsewhere, and that when they work together, bound by common interests, they build a foundation of loyalty to the University and make for greater unity in every phase of campus life. Dr. Allen's past record speaks for itself. From the University of Minnesota, he received his B.A., M.A. and M.D. degrees. Awarded the Mayo Foundation Fellowship in 1930, he received his Ph.D. from Minnesota's Mayo Division in 1943. He served as President of the University of Washington prior to coming to U.C.L.A. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi and a fellow of the American College of Physicians. The Chancellor said, "I consider myself to be about the luckiest man alive because I am a part of a growing, living University."

Dean Hahn returned from a sabbatical to resume his watch over the activities of some 11,000 Bruins. Heading Dean Hahn's competent staff are Dean Rogers and Dean Atkinson. They work for the maintenance of proper student body activities functioning in accordance with University regulations. Their specific duties and responsibilities are divided into a triangular system. Dean Rogers supervises women's activities procedures as well as living group functions. Dean Atkinson handles men's activities, cases of student discipline and honor systems. The Panhellenic and Interfraternity advisors are also found under Dean Hahn's supervision. Individual counseling is stressed in the Dean of Student's office.

for the students

Dean of Students, Milton E. Hahn, recipient of a Hamline University alumni award for his outstanding accomplishments in administrative work, hopes to further progress at U.C.L.A. with his future plans for a student union and pavilion.

serving you

The Student Services proved to be a valuable aid to many a student on campus. From the time of admission and registration to finally graduation and employment through the Bureau of Occupations or the Teacher Placement Bureau, the student services were continually on the job. Wonders were performed by the Foreign Students Counselling Service helping students from abroad to achieve the goal of getting to know his fellow students better. The regular students were counseled also by an equally proficient staff. Veterans affairs, the handicapped and selective services were handled through the Special Services.

As manager of the Public Information Office, Andrew Hamilton was always willing to supply needed information.

Donald LaBoskey, Special Services Superintendent, handled veterans' affairs, selective service, and worked with handicapped students.

Headed by John Adams, the Bureau of Occupations was kept busy finding employment for students as well as graduates and alumni.

The job of teacher placement was filled by Aubrey Berry, Assistant Professor of Education. It was a welcome service to many people.

Edgar L. Lazier has been UCLA's Associate Director of Admissions since 1946 and has been affiliated with the zoology department.

Students numbering 13,945 from as far as the Orient filled all their I.B.M. cards under the watchful eye of Dr. William C. Pomeroy.

With her competent staff of advisors, Dr. Dorothy Clendenen became quite popular with students desiring help in problem areas.

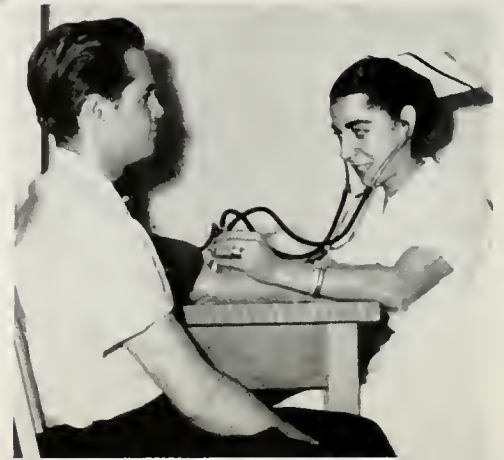

In Dr. Clifford Prator's absence, Dave Palmer, the acting head of the foreign student counselling, aided many with their problems.

student health

Working with the Los Angeles County Hospital before coming to UCLA twenty-seven years ago, Dr. D. MacKinnon received his graduate degree from Stanford University.

Students who are about to enter UCLA, or who are re-entering, are required to have a physical at Student Health. In addition to this, each student is offered a yearly exam. A neuropsychiatric clinic gives consultation for emotional trouble.

university extension

Dr. Paul H. Sheats, Associate Director of University Extension, was elected vice-chairman of UNESCO. He is also the president of the Adult Education Association.

The University Extension provided classes for those who were not able to attend the regular sessions. Nightly activity was centered around the Art, Business Administration and other buildings. Classes were offered in drama, art and vocations.

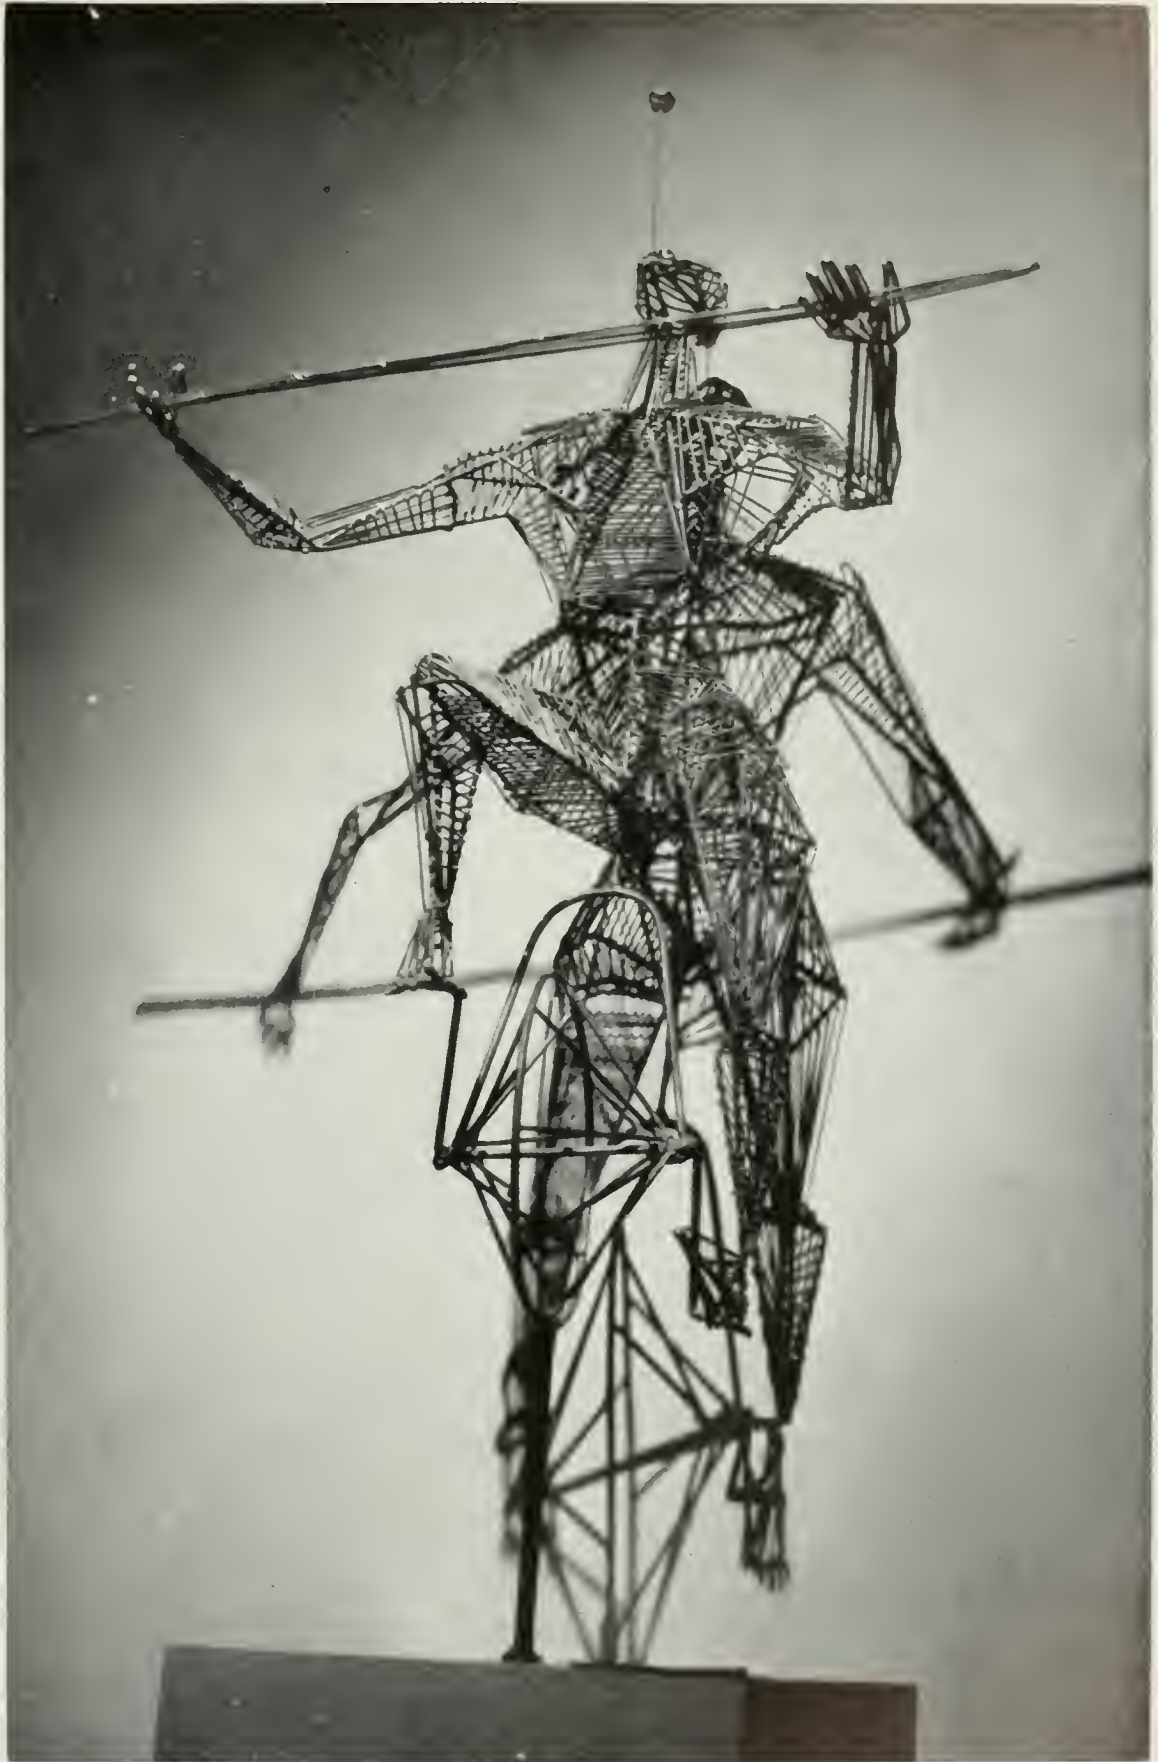

college of applied arts

The College of Applied Arts is made up of several departments which include Theater Arts, Art, Music, Home Economics, Business Education, and the R.O.T.C. Associated with these are the inter-departmental majors of dance, apparel design, apparel merchandising, pre-nursing, public health, pre-occupational therapy and pre-optometry. The College anticipates with great pride the completion of the new Music Building which will be a stimulus to finer music, as there will be better accommodations for music students. In the Home Economics Department there has been an addition of an institutional management laboratory which offers a wonderful opportunity for men as well as women in the food industry. The Art Building, along with its outstanding work rooms and well-equipped library, affords excellent facilities for exhibiting works of art. At the climax of the year, the department sponsors a Student Art Show in the building's Art Gallery. All phases of student art are displayed at this time. Displayed are exhibits of wire sculpture, textile designs, mobiles, paintings, and stables. Also included in this College is the Department of Physical Education, in which recreation majors learn the significance of cooperation and leadership.

Dean David F. Jackey hopes to appropriate enough time and funds to give his faculty members a chance to do research for development of the school and the students.

Contemporary wire sculpture portraying a unicyclist was displayed at the spring Student Art Show.

Dr. G. A. Dancs, Head of the Art Department, is always present to introduce the visiting speakers.

The third annual Music Festival was organized by the Music Chairman, Raymond Moreman.

Professor Ralph Freud, Chairman of the Theater Arts Department, has directed the Ramona Festival.

Dorothy M. Leahy's ambition is to make the Home Economics Program at U.C.L.A. the very best.

Dr. Samuel Wanous, Business Education Chairman, taught at the University of Hawaii last summer.

This past year Ben Miller, Chairman of the P.E. Department, has received his full professorship.

Motion pictures, theater, and radio are the three mediums of the Theater Arts Department.

Educating our young men for the future are Colonel Wiley T. Moore, Air Science Department Chairman; Colonel Robert Green Ballance, Naval Science Chairman; and Colonel Maxwell H. Thompson, Head of the Military Science Department.

Morning activity revolves around busy Royce Hall.

college of letters and science

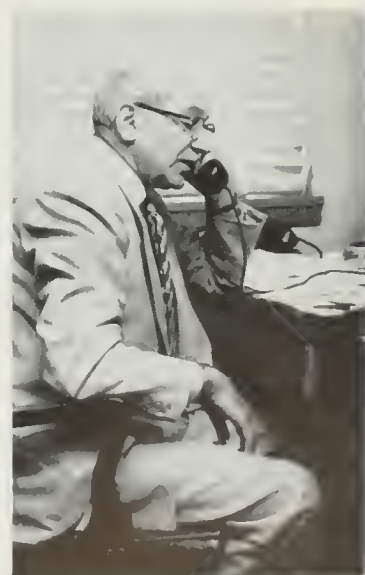

Dean Dodd encouraged research in Letters and Science.

The College of Letters and Science offers liberal arts students a general educational program designed to provide the most valuable and useful education possible. The College is moving toward this goal under the capable leadership of Dean Paul A. Dodd. The chief problems confronting the department at present include preparing for an influx of new students, maintaining high quality in class instruction, reducing the size of classes and acquiring reading rooms. Two new projects have been initiated since World War II. One, the honors program, enables qualified students to study without following general requirements. The other secures positions for students in Latin America. The College of Letters and Science stresses research, considering it the bulwark of modern education.

A favorite seminar spot is in the UCLA Library.

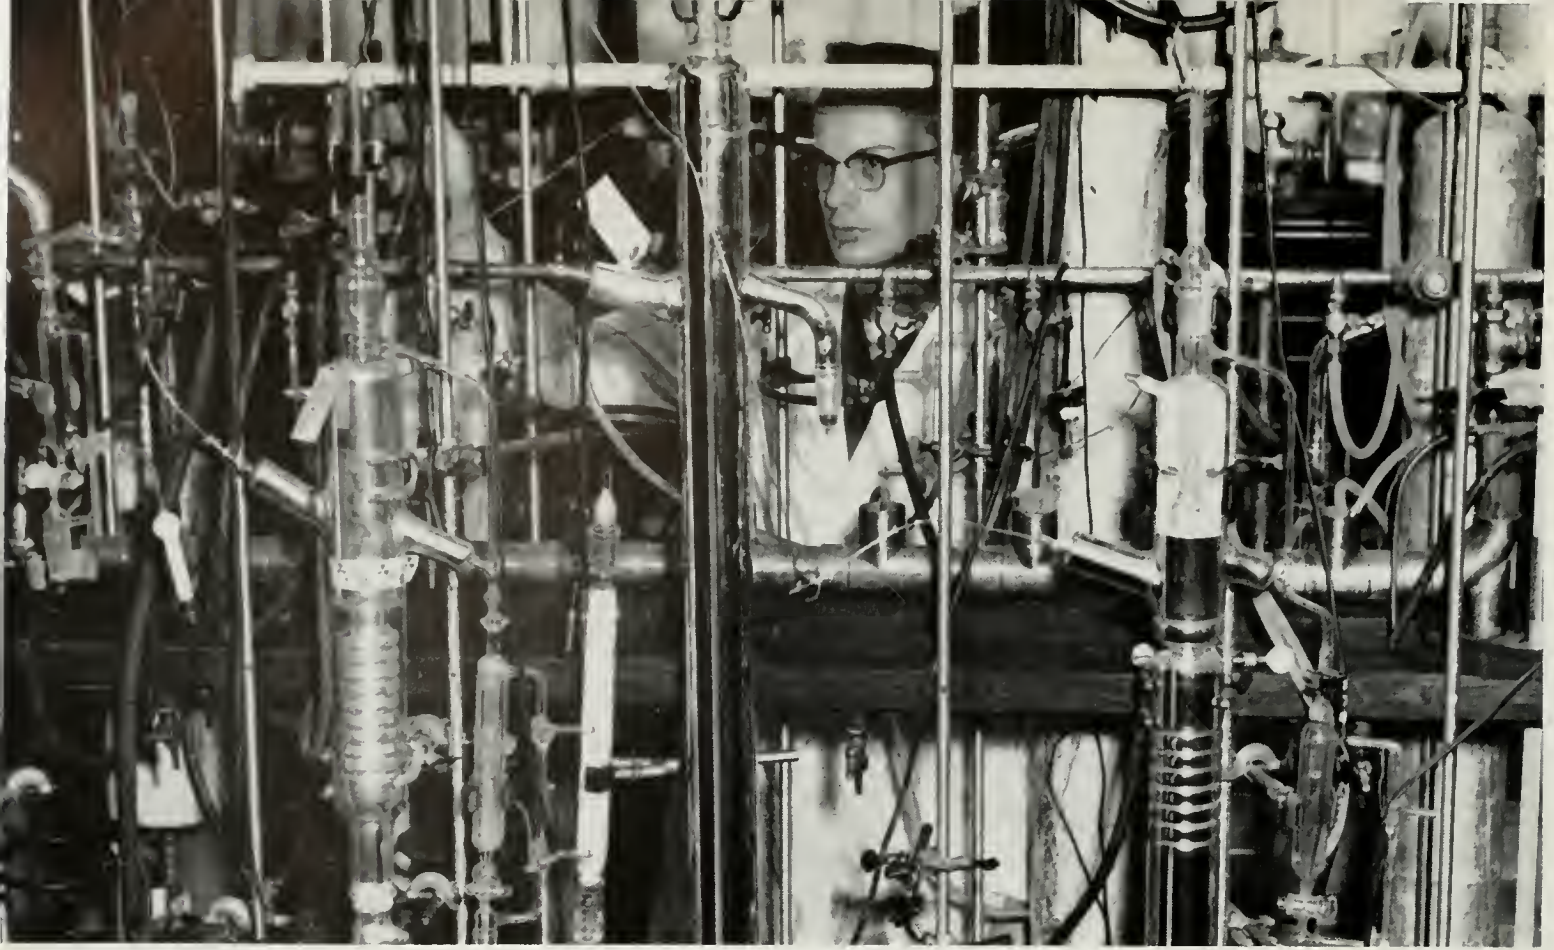

Dr. Franklin P. Rolfe, Humanities Department Chairman, looks ahead to a great future in the recently completed Humanities Building.

Dr. William Young, Physical Sciences Divisional Dean, was nominated to the board of directors of the American Chemical Society.

Dr. J. A. C. Grant, Divisional Dean of Social Sciences, may be found in his leisure time studying the arbitration of many law disputes.

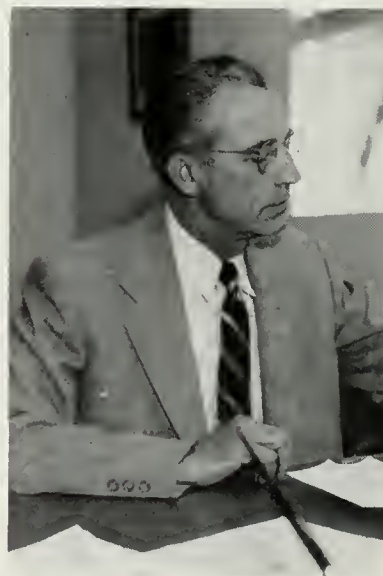

The Divisional Dean of Humanities, Roy M. Dorcus, teaches psychology and will publish a book on hypnosis.

Hidden behind the maze of lab apparatus, students learn to develop their scientific knowledge.

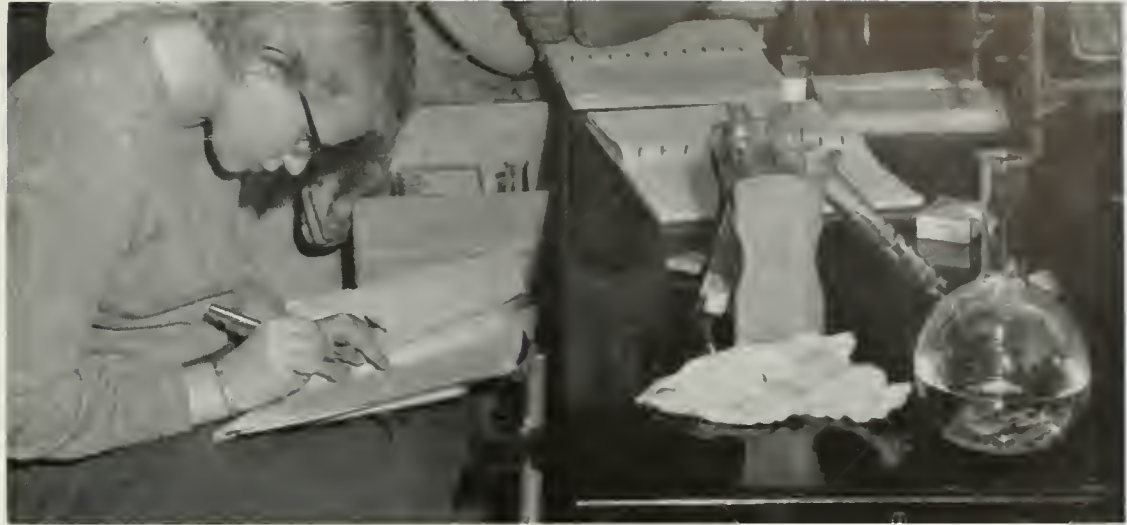

Chairman Leonard Broom was one of the many anthropology-sociology professors who won fellowships.

The Department of Chemistry was guided by Dr. Francis Blacet, who specialized in photo-chemistry.

Dr. Majl Eving, Chairman of the English Department, is prominent in Los Angeles musical circles.

Endless hours are spent in the chemistry laboratory. The experiments started here might lead to major discoveries.

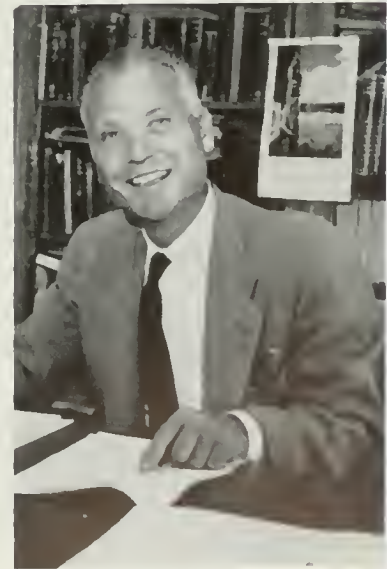

History Department Head Roland D. Hussey is on a leave of absence. Acting Chairman is Dr. Galbraith.

The Mathematics Department's Acting Chairman was Dr. Beckenbach, who has helped edit three books.

Thomas Jenkin's forthcoming book is "Study of Political Theory." He capably heads Political Science.

Psychology's F. Gengerelli came to UCLA when UCLA came to Westwood in 1929.

college of agriculture

Dean Robert Hodgson has been agricultural consultant to Morocco, Palestine, Egypt, and North Africa.

There are two divisions in the College of Agriculture. One division offers instruction and the other is the Agriculture Experiment Station that undertakes most all of the research. The seven departments in the College are Botany, Agricultural Economics, Floriculture and Ornamental Horticulture, Entomology, Irrigation and Soils, Plant Pathology, and Subtropical Horticulture. Floriculture, ornamental, general, and subtropical horticultures are majors which are offered only at UCLA. The Subtropical Horticulture Department is world-famous. One half of the majors in this department are foreign students who will return to their respective countries to apply the vast knowledge of horticulture. UCLA ranks among the top five colleges in the United States in Floriculture and in Ornamental Horticulture. The University Explorer Club has featured as one of its programs this year the work that has been done at UCLA in the use of light in controlling blossoming. Experiments such as this have brought great recognition from all over the country. Approximately 150 students are enrolled in the College, and two professors were added this past year to meet some of the increasing demands in UCLA's growing Agricultural departments.

The College of Agriculture was the first new school established by the Regents on the Westwood campus.

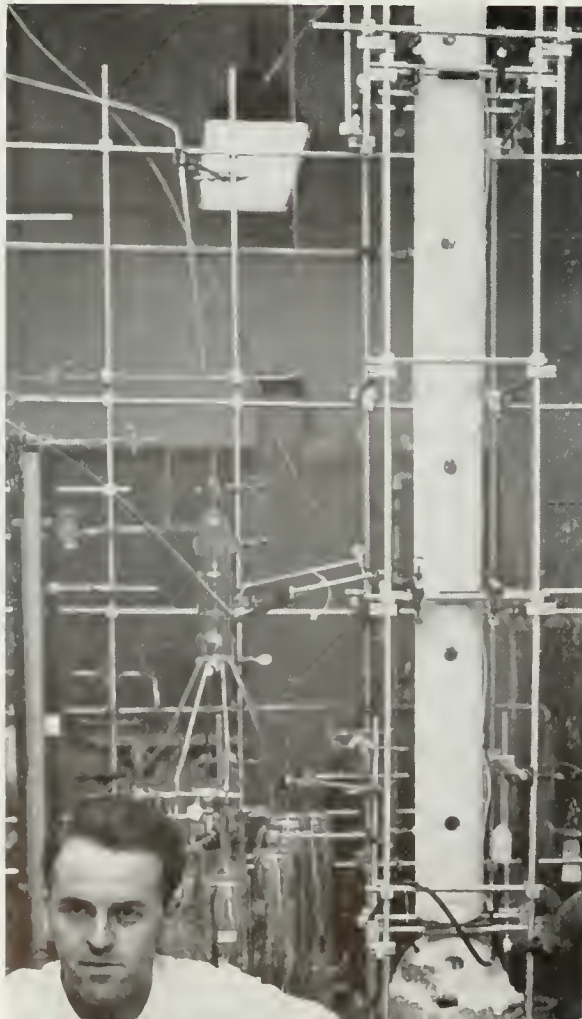

Botanical research in the UCLA department is widely known for the work which is being done in plant growth regulators and Virology.

Llewellyn Boelter, Dean of the College of Engineering, in his ten years with UCLA has stimulated interest in the experimental solution of engineering problems.

college of engineering

Last year can be considered one of stabilizing growth for the Engineering Department. The Engineering School is fairly new, having been on campus for just seven years. Already it has received a great deal of recognition because of its tremendous building program, only a part of which has been completed. Another building will join the present one in the next two or three years. In regard to undergraduate enrollment, it is now the largest since the war; however, 90% of all graduate students attend night classes. After an extensive study by the faculty, and upon the advice of engineers in practice, the engineering curriculum has been designed to make it possible to obtain a more complete education in engineering. The curriculum is somewhat unusual and has been described as "unified." Each of the requirements is very important, irrespective of the sort of engineering one may visualize as a career objective. It offers study in that field without specialization, giving opportunity for individual choice through the provision of elective courses. The Los Angeles campus engineering selections are designed to make possible the transfer of students to the Berkeley and to the Davis campuses for the completion of special engineering courses that are being offered there without the loss of any previous credits.

Labs are vital to advanced engineering.

T. A. Rogers has been an Assistant Engineering Dean since June, 1954.

W. L. Orr taught the first class in engineering at UCLA in 1944.

Assistant Dean C. Martin Duke has specialized in civil engineering.

The recently completed Engineering Building has been an important addition to the growth of the department.

school of business administration

The School of Business Administration is fostering a number of projects in its new schedule of training, among which is the advancing of the Executive Program. This program has been undertaken in order to contribute to the subsequent development of experienced businessmen. It acquaints them with the modern developments found in business in ways that increase their effectiveness on the job. The program is offered once a week throughout the year, and at the termination of this period a certificate is presented. For the same purpose, the department sponsors projects designed for supervisors and engineers. The department was recently successful in organizing an alumni association whose purpose is to develop a contact between Business Administration and its alumni on matters of school activity and trends in executive management. Other purposes include the exchange of ideas on college curriculum, scholarships and awards, and news in the business field. The School considers the research programs as being a most essential part of its educational functions. They are designed to provide a broad study of business management with emphasis upon the type of education that leads to administrative responsibility.

Dean Cyril O'Donnell, who is also a faculty representative on the Board of Control, has recently completed a text on the principles of management.

The Production Management Lab furthers study of production control and plant layout.

The Executive Program Coordinator Robert Buchele has a special interest in executive development.

Doing much research in behalf of the science of marketing at UCLA was Acting Dean George Robbins.

Present overseer of the department Assistant Dean J. Weston specializes in the finance field.

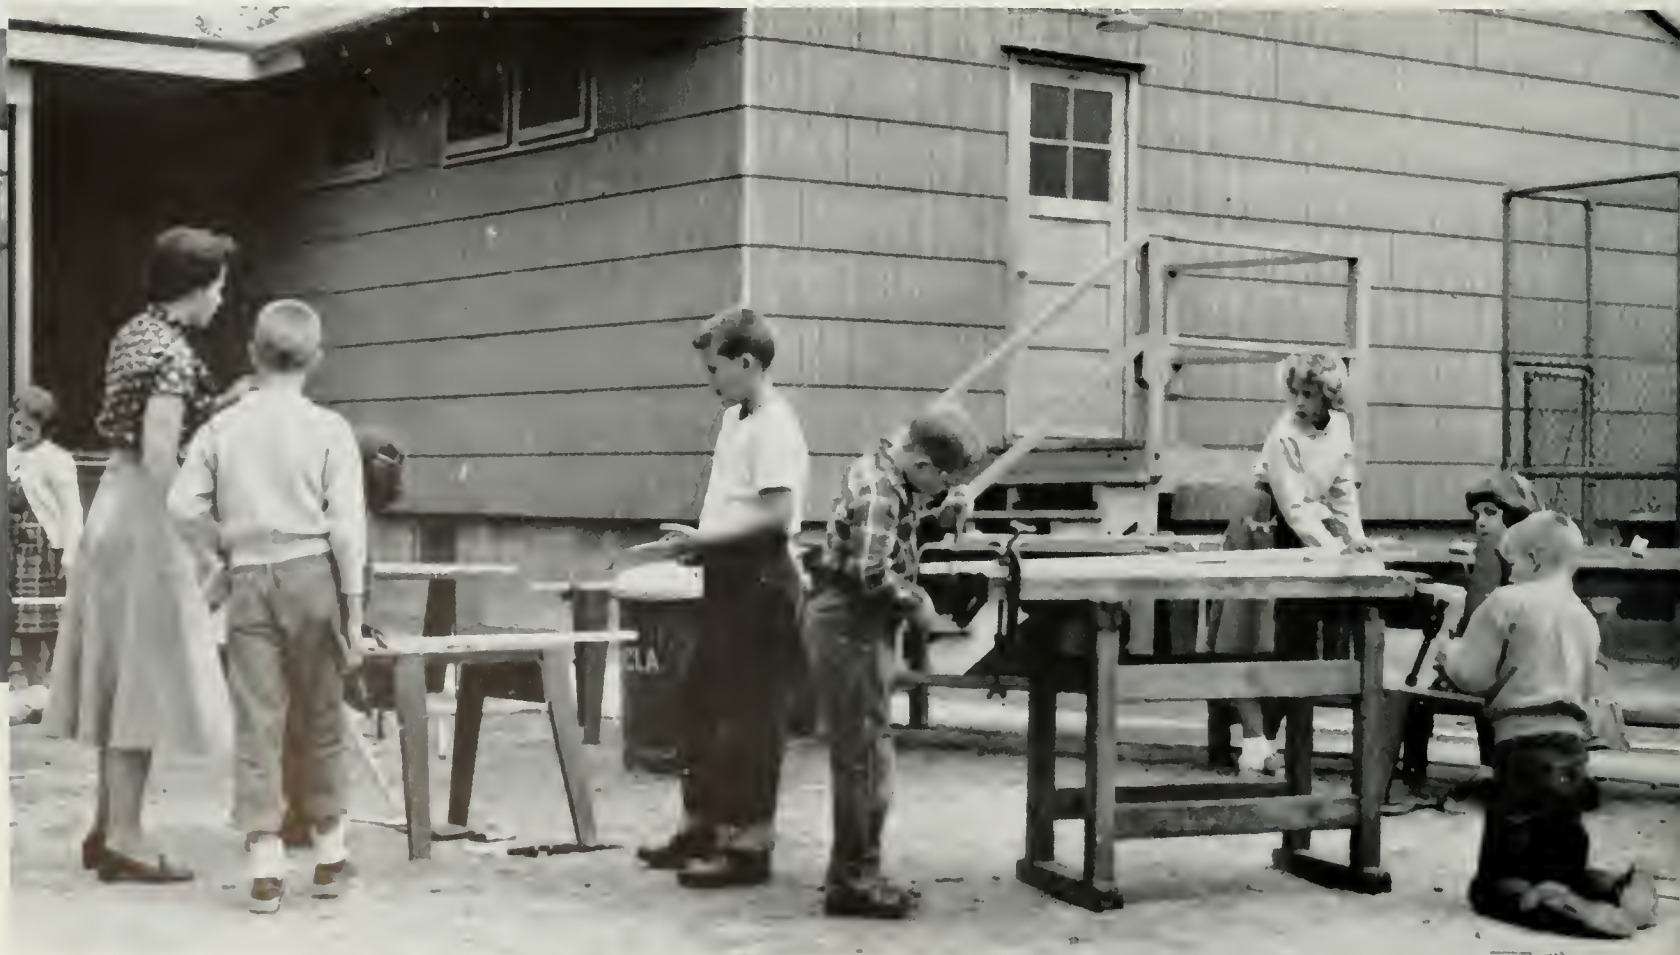

Dean of the School of Education Edwin A. Lee is especially interested in the approaching modernization of the Education Building.

Assistant Dean Clarence Fielstra has been promoting many improved teaching methods.

school of education

Student teachers gain experience with children at the University Elementary School.

The School of Education has the distinction of having the largest enrollment of any school at U.C.L.A. It offers professional curricula for students preparing for teaching in elementary and secondary schools, to graduates seeking Master of Arts in Education, Master of Education, or Doctor of Education Degrees, and to experienced teachers preparing for educational administration, research, or other specialized fields. Plans for the expansion and modernization of the Education Building provide for increasing all the facilities of the department. This will be completed in 1956.

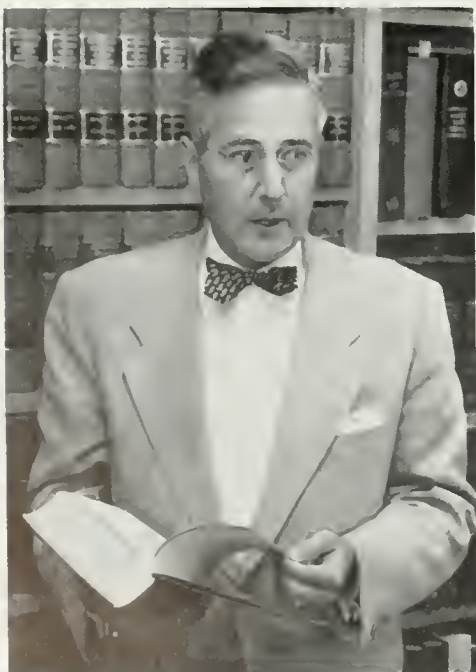

An example of contemporary art at UES.

The University Elementary School promotes child personality development.

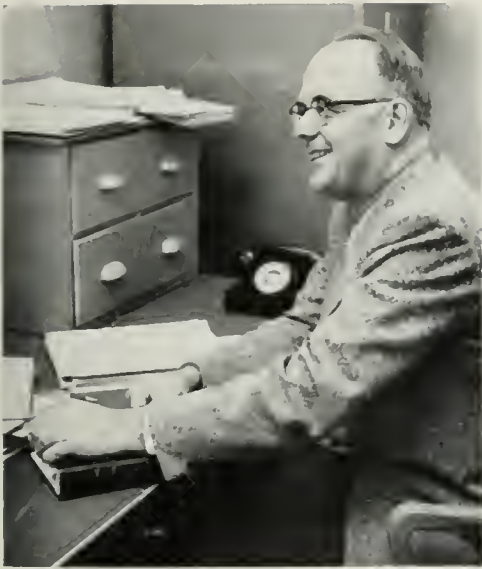

The atmosphere in the modern Law Library is conducive to study.

school of law

Dean L. Dale Coffman, whose name can be found in "Who's Who in America," spoke at many Bar Association meetings and wrote for the new UCLA law review publication.

Assistant Dean Harold E. Verrall was the chairman of Faculty Admissions Committee.

The UCLA Law School, established in 1949, has now received its charter of the Order of the Coif, the national legal scholastic fraternity. It is the youngest school to be admitted to the Order. Fifty students comprised the enrollment the first year, and now there are approximately 370. The top ten percent of the graduating students were members in the Order of the Coif. A publication consisting of student work is the UCLA Law Review, put out by exceptionally qualified students. The Board of Editors membership carries with it a unique and valuable prestige, giving an opportunity for a practical experience with legal materials. The first volume of the quarterly publication that was finished during the fall contained articles by leading members of the Law School. The significant part of the Law Building is the library. The annual rate of increase was 15,000 volumes, bringing the collection to 80,000. Seniors are given the opportunity to participate in at least one case trial in the practice Court, where the judge is a distinguished federal bench jurist. All trials are held in the School courtroom.

The Law School boasts of a modern building where students can gain useful judicial experience in a unique courtroom.

Dean of the School of Medicine Dr. S. L. Warren's main concern is the finishing of the new Medical School and Hospital in which he has taken an active part since the plans were first presented.

The infectious diseases laboratory is the scene of much research.

school of medicine

In 1945 a committee was set up to study the need for a School of Medicine in the Southern California area. The results of the committee's findings can now be seen dominating once-vacant areas of our campus. Construction of the Medical School on the UCLA campus will serve the needs of the entire Southwest for doctors, nurses, medical technologists, hospital administration officials and others working in the medical field. That building we now see nearing completion is a part of what will someday be the outstanding medical center in the United States. Covering seven acres, the building will accommodate 2500 students. In the future the height of the building will be increased from four stories to twelve. In addition to this the future plans will include a neuropsychiatric unit and more laboratory sections. Special research projects are in the fields of cancer and atomic energy for peace-time use. There have been many problems to be solved, such as facilities for parking, transportation, division of space between departments, and financial difficulties. The successful solution of these and many other problems and a great deal of good planning have made the Medical School one of the country's finest.

Assistant Dean of the School of Medicine Joel J. Pressman helped to plan UCLA's Medical Center.

Associate Dean Joseph Ross came from Boston to fill an important position in the Medical school.

The Med School anxiously awaited the opening of the new 320-bed University hospital in the spring.

Receiver of an award for outstanding service in nursing was Dean Lulu Hassenplug.

The UCLA School of Nursing was the first in the world to develop the undergraduate program leading to a Bachelor of Science degree. It prepares the student for nursing on a staff level, caring for patients in homes and industries. It is recommended that the graduates work as staff nurses in a hospital or public health agency for two years before going on to a Masters degree that prepares them for supervisory and teaching positions. The medical center will be used as a teaching hospital. There are twenty-two faculty members to give instruction to new nursing students. The Nursing School was begun in 1949, admitting its first undergraduates to the College Basic Program in 1950.

public health

Associate Dean Wilton L. Halverson is interested in health in foreign countries.

The School of Public Health operating on both of the California campuses is the only state-wide school. Under the direction of Associate Dean Wilton L. Halverson the school works jointly with the School of Medicine, and it is hoped that it will share laboratory space in the medical building sometime in the future. The School supplements Pre-Medical and Pre-Nursing curricula. At present, a special research project in connection with employees of the Public Health Department of Los Angeles in the field of heart disease and its effects is being carried on. The School also works on health programs for underdeveloped sections of foreign countries under U. S. governmental supervision.

social welfare

Donald S. Howard served as UNRRA's Director of Welfare, Research, and Planning.

The School of Social Welfare at UCLA gives basic training to students interested in social welfare as a profession. Maintaining an intellectual curiosity, students must also develop academically and personally so that they are able to understand complex social problems and their causes. An intellectual capacity to reason in dealing with human problems, an academic satisfaction of 15 required units in social sciences and psychology with a 1.75 grade point average, plus a personal desire to help people will prepare prospective students in the School of Social Welfare. The Pre-Social Welfare program in the College of Letters and Science is the recommended plan for graduate work.

graduate division

Dean Vern O. Knudsen of the Graduate Division was privileged to receive an honorary membership in the Acoustic Society of America, the third person thus honored.

Assistant Dean Leo Delsasso, a Bruin fan since 1919, likes to hike in the high Sierras when not doing acoustics research.

Assistant Dean Gustav O. Arlt, an alumnus of the University of Chicago, was also the sponsor of the Graduate Association.

The Graduate Division on the UCLA campus offers advanced study leading to master's degrees in the Arts, Business Administration, Education, Public Administration, Science and Social Welfare. The degrees of Doctor of Education and Doctor of Philosophy are conferred in addition to the Certificate in Social Welfare and the certificates of completion of the general secondary and the junior college teaching credentials and administration and supervision credentials. The offering of Graduate instruction on this campus was authorized in June 1933. The first master's degrees were conferred a year later in the thirteen fields of study that were provided by the Division. Besides an acceptable bachelor's degree, the minimum requirement for admission to graduate division is a grade point average of 1.5 in undergraduate work in all courses taken the junior and senior years and in all of the upper division courses in the major. Additional fields will soon be available.

committee on fine arts

Committee members were (seated) Patricia Kraemer, Chairman Gustave Artt and Alma Hawkins, (standing) Executive Secretary Jack Morrison, George Jamieson, Gibson Dances, Kenneth MacGowan, William Mcnitz, Robert Rogers.

The Committee on Fine Arts is interested in the production of dance, art, music, concert, and theater events. The committee sponsors art exhibits along with the national circuits of museums. Among this year's exhibits were the Irish show which featured contemporary art, the Charles Sheeler exhibit and the exhibit of classical works. In addition to this the committee worked with the production of university films, approving some twenty for release this year, among them "Time Out of War." The children's film series was produced through this committee, as were plays put on by the UCLA Theater Arts Department, student-faculty committee

Assisting Chancellor Raymond B. Allen (seated) on the Student-Faculty Committee were active members Dr. Vandraegan, Nancy Grobaty and ASUCLA Vice-President Jean Diether—the committee's co-chairmen, and Mr. Dick Hill.

Chancellor Allen's Student-Faculty Committee held many informal discussion periods this year as they carried out objectives of the original committee created by Provost Dykstra. Studies are made of university problems and action recommended on such things as organizations, appropriate groups and administrative offices. The committee members are free to explore, confer, and request assistance of individuals on campus who are familiar with the particular problem. Members are appointed after a consultation with the ASUCLA president and vice-prexy. A film series for children was planned this year.

One part of the concert series which gave students better appreciation of music was given by the Bruin Symphony Orchestra.

One of the objectives of the Fine Arts Committee is to provide and sponsor the Concert Series for the students of the university. "Music of Three Centuries" was the theme for this year's series which featured music of the 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries. The series included two concerts by the Los Angeles Chamber Symphony Orchestra, two comic operas and the annual Young Artists concert. All four programs were given on Sunday evening in Royce Hall. Opening the series, the Chamber Symphony, directed by Lukas Foss, played music written by Purcell, Bartok, Beethoven and Mozart. In January the Opera Workshop presented Domenico Cimarosa's "The Secret Marriage" and "Forever Rembrandt" by Eugene Zador. Playing again in February, the Chamber Symphony offered a program of music by Hindmith, Milhaund, Copland, Hayden, and Barber. With the coming of June, UCLA concert-goers looked forward to the big series event, the L. A. Music Festival directed by Franz Waxman.

Tackling the problems of student government were the eleven elected members of Student Legislative Council, who tried to streamline ASUCLA to make it more functional and efficient. Meeting at 7 p.m. every Wednesday in the Kerckhoff Memorial Room, SLC was responsible for giving activities more definite academic value to students. A housing committee was set up by SLC over the summer to investigate the campus housing conditions. A report of this committee's investigation findings contributed toward the construction of a dormitory in April which will house 800 students when completed. SLC also established the improvements committee whose purpose was to find possible methods of finance for the long hoped-for Pavilion.

According to Robert's Rules of Order, this resolution should be ruled . . .

Mr. Chairman, I call for the question . . .

Thinking over the problems of legislation are Student Body President Skip Byrne and Vice President Jean Diether. Some of the worries that were probably on their minds were the plans for the spring Leadership Camp and the new ASUCLA personnel department which was set up to assist in training and placement of committee chairmen. A big boost to activities this year was the increase in office space. Because of the extra offices vacated by the athletic department, an on-campus center was provided for international students. Due to the efforts of SLC members, students were not only well-represented but also well-informed about all the activities of SLC members. Reports of the work of all the SLC members were dittoed up every week.

As ASUCLA student body president, easy-going Skip Byrne presided over all the SLC meetings. A member of Kappa Sigma and a political science senior, he plans to go on to law school next year. Skip's past record of student body activities includes being upper division rep, sophomore class president, an honorary Spur and a member of Cal Club. His other activities were membership in Gold Key, the URC Student Board, the 1953 Project India, Yeomen, the Chancellor's student-faculty committee and the ASUCLA Finance Committee. The emphasis during Skip's administration was on the student leadership program. Skip also tried to tackle the problems of campus government in a concrete fashion in order to make this year's student government more operative and representative of the students. In line with this goal was the formation of the committee to investigate Manning's Studio. Skip was also responsible for the further implementation of International Board.

A warm sunny smile and a friendly personality are some of the attributes of Jean Diether, UCLA's student body vice president and ASUCLA's official hostess. An Alpha Phi, Jean was a senior majoring in apparel merchandising. Jean was Skip's right-hand gal and shared the responsibility of making ASUCLA policy. She was also in charge of public relations and student-faculty relations. As public relations chairman, Jean was responsible for seeing that over 2000 students from high schools were taken on tours of the campus. An expansion of the orientation program to include freshman clubs was one of Jean's pet projects during the year. After graduation this June, Jean plans to go to Europe. Before becoming vice prexy Jean was on the Chancellor's student-faculty committee, Cal Club, AWS Associate Board besides being chairman of the YWCA student-faculty retreat. She was also the co-chairman of the Junior Prom and the IFC-Panhellenic Social Council and the Chairman of the URC Spring Reception.

Students brought their problems to their eight representatives, and they strove to represent Bruins more completely and take government right to the students through informal coffee hours and rep sessions. As All-U-Rep, Bernie Nebenzahl worked to get a closer coordination of all reps. Bernie also was active in Yeomen, Kelps, Cal Club and Gold Key. "How do the upper division students think about this" was the question that Ralph Hansen sought to answer. Yeomen, Sigma Nu, and SOUTHERN CAMPUS Business Manager work kept Ralph busy. Office hours, personal contact and a lower division council helped Phi Sigma Delta Al Lasher determine what frosh and sophs wanted out of student government. Al was a Yeomen member and formerly was frosh prexy and on fall drive committee. TEP Irv Drasnin vitalized the Men's Rep Board. Irv also had experience on Gold Key, Cal Club, Athletic Advisory Board, Yeomen, Project India and DAILY BRUIN sports editor. A student-faculty committee and a women's rep board occupied Joyce Clasen. Some of Joyce's past activities included Spurs, YWCA, the RCB Bruin Board and Cal Club. Wielding the gavel at the weekly meetings of President's Cabinet was the job of Sigma Nu Charlie Decker. Charlie's experience includes Cal Club, Yeomen, Project India, Gold Key and the Uni-Camp Spring Drive. A living group council composed of reps from IFC, Panhel and Dorm Councils was formed by Fiji Ron Pengilly. Previously Ron attended Leadership Camp and was the fraternity rep to the Gayley Avenue Living Group Council and Fiji rush chairman. An informal commuters' council met bi-monthly under the leadership of Gene Preston. Gene also was formerly on Student Judicial Board and chairman of Cafeteria Investigation Committee, URC Panel of Americans and the Inter-Faith Council.

The student body at large was the concern of All-University Rep Bernie Nebenzahl.

Ralph Hanson handled the big job of representing the upper division students.

Lower division opinion was determined by Al Lasher through rep sessions and polls.

Representing women students on campus was job of vivacious Pi Phi Joyce Clasen.

Popular Irv Drasin pleased women and men in his role as Men's Rep.

Appointed Rep Charlie Decker presided over all the meetings of President's Cabinet.

Luncheons, a telephone grapevine and newspaper for commuters occupied Gene Preston.

Fiji Ron Pengilly saw that the living groups had a voice in SLC.

Cal Club and Gold Key member Bob Stein guided men's activities.

associated men students

The program of the Associated Men Students began with a bang this year with the presentation of Men's Week, during the week of November 15-20. Men's Week events included the Men's Stag and Dads' Dinner, the Frosh-Soph Brawl, Class Days in the Coop, Rally and Rally Dance and the addition of a "Belle of UCLA" contest. Chancellor Allen was serenaded by students during the Christmas Sing sponsored by AMS and AWS. The Spring Sing presented by AMS this spring was better than ever. A permanent trophy case was set up in Kerekhoff Hall to house the perpetual trophies for the Spring Sing. Plus the job of coordinating all these events and all those of the AMS Executive Board. AMS President Bob Stein somehow found the time to participate in Yeomen, Phi Sigma Delta, Cal Club and Gold Key.

On Exec Board were (l to r) A. Glickman, D. Gertsman, J. Odabashian, P. Selwyn, Vice President B. Ashworth, Secretary M. McCaffrey, D. Fleming, E. Petko, J. Taylor, A. Hoffman and L. Weiner.

Figuring out new activities for this year's Men's Week are members of Bob Rosetta's committee. Individual class days and painting pants were the highlights.

SAE Bob Rosetta was chairman of the successful Men's Week events.

Alpha Gam Betty Bock took over the task of the AWS presidency.

AWS Chairman Betty Bock tried to stimulate interest in AWS by the interesting activities offered to women students on campus this year. Betty was kept quite busy trying to keep track of her fourteen AWS committees plus the AWS Associate, Judicial and Rep Boards. AWS events included the traditional Women's Week in the springtime when members of the "weaker" sex took over. During Women's Week, there were parties, fashion shows, a Hi-Jinx show and the traditional banquet which closes the week. At the banquet, awards are given out to outstanding women students and new members are tapped for women's honoraries. The Christmas Sing sponsored jointly with the AMS and a special Orientation Day at the beginning of each semester are all included in the year-long program of AWS.

The activity body of ASUCLA was President's Cabinet. Cabinet's job was to coordinate and improve school activities and also to set up the activity calendar for the year. Board members include (seated from l to r) Chairman Charlie Decker, Secretary Judy McFall, Sue Eggleston, Nancy Grobaty, Marian Troyer, Betty Bock and (standing l to r) Jerry Lewis, Al Glickman, Dave Pierson, Bob Stein, Armin Hoffman, Paul Selwyn, Sandy Goldberg, Harv Joffe.

board of control

Serving a second year on Board of Control, Sigma Pi Bob Brewster was its chairman. Bob was also a member of Cal Club and Gold Key and was formerly the President of AMS and Yeomen. Board members (seated l to r) were Secretary Lorraine Shore, Chairman Bob, Jean Diether, Skip Byrnc, John Jackson, Dr. Cyril O'Donnell and (standing l to r) Barney Atkinson, George Taylor, Wilbur Johns, William Ackerman and Royce Hamilton. The Board of Control handled all ASUCLA finances which include the bookstore, cafeteria, the athletic program and the service departments.

international board

I. Board Chairman was Alpha Phi Nancy Grobaty.

Newly formed "I" Board consisted of Barbara Hunt, Hildegard Hiller, Mehnga Singh Sanghera, Nancy Grobaty, Gerry White, Arun Bhatia, Pat McIntyre, Dana Lou Tharp.

service board

Service Board was led by Chairman Armin Hoffman.

Coordinating the campus service organizations are Service Board members George Wyman, Paul Selwyn, Armin Hoffman, Joan Schultz, Janice Seward, Nancy Towle.

student judicial board

Personable Bob Mennell guided the verdicts of Student Judicial Board as its chairman.

Seniors and juniors with a 2.0 over-all average were eligible to be members of Judicial Board. Students on SJB who were in charge of student disciplinary matters were (clockwise from lower right) Brigid Gray, Sue Eggleston, Chairman Bob Mennell, Kurt Kenworth, Susie Leonardsen, Paul Rosenthal and Joe Poliner. Not pictured is John de Luca.

commuters' council

living group council

Living Group Rep Ron Pengilly headed the Living Group Council which was composed of representatives from all campus living groups, including fraternities, sororities, dorms and co-ops. Common living group problems such as lockouts and parking were discussed and solved at council meetings.

men's athletic board

Men's Athletic Board Chairman Tom Warburton was busy coordinating the men's athletic program.

Men's Athletic Board members were (l to r) B. Scaman, E. White, R. Miller, F. Earle, J. Peterson, L. Hansen, T. Warburton, B. Putnam, J. Strong, J. Read, W. Vendley, B. Senn, R. Tatus and B. Bache.

speech activities board

Speech Activities Board members (l to r) are Jack Melitz, William Wittenberg, Chairman Al Fink, Jerry Bazar and Paul Rosenthal. SAB entered the National PiKD tournament for the first time this year.

Prospective orators, debators and all forensic activities were the concerns of SAB Chairman Al Fink.

publications board

Pub Board members were (l to r) Ralph Melaragno, M. E. Vogel, Chuck Francis, Mr. Morris, Mary Cook, Lee Monteleone, Marty McReynolds, John Price, Ralph Hansen, Dan Bachman, Fern Victor.

The uniting force behind all campus publications was Pub. Board Chairman Marty McReynolds.

national students association

A special fall election elected AEPi Norm Epstein as coordinator of NSA. Besides his NSA duties, he took part in Gold Key and SLC.

NSA members included (l to r) Charles Hansen, Walker Bush, Barbara Davis, Norm Epstein, Les Hurwitz, Barbara Klausner, Bill Kitteringham and Don Palmer. This year NSA was streamlined and the Student Discount Service was expanded. NSA acted as the liaison body between ASUCLA and the student community beyond this campus.

graduate students association

A graduate of Princeton, Bruce Arnold served as GSA President. Bruce tried to obtain just what the grad students really wanted.

Officers of the Graduate Students Association for the year were (l to r) Bob Haig, President Bruce Arnold and Bob Gross. GSA is geared to meet the extra-curricular needs of the ever-increasing number of graduate students at UCLA. All grad students automatically become members of the GSA upon registration.

As chairman of Welfare Board, Jim Luter's wit and humor at meetings amused board members. Jim, a senior, majored in speech.

welfare board

What was it that students wanted most: lower prices in the cafeteria, more parking spaces, later library hours or perhaps fewer thefts on campus? These were only a few of the many student requests which members of Welfare Board worked on this year. An anti-theft campaign was sponsored by the Sunshine Committee, while members of the Labor Committee investigated student labor problems. The Library Committee saw to it that the group study room was kept open. A student disaster preparedness program was started. Candidates for California elections were interviewed.

Members of Welfare Board informally met every Wednesday at 3 p.m. in the Kerekhoff Hall Memorial Room to discuss problems concerning the general welfare of students. Aside from their work, members took time out for two retreats which were held at the home of their sponsor, Ivan Hinderaker, of the Political Science Department.

alumni association

UCLA's Alumni Association had its beginnings in 1925. Dedicated to UCLA's future, the Bruin Alumni organization became autonomous in 1934 and in that same year started a drive to establish a grad school here. The Alumni sponsors undergraduate scholarships each year and publishes a monthly magazine. Some of the activities planned by the association every year include the Homecoming buffet, alumni basketball game, the Charter Day banquet, vacation trips and football and homecoming film showings. The association also sponsors an alumni employment and counseling service and a UCLA progress Fund. The purpose of the organization is to unite the former students of UCLA to give service to the school.

Executive Secretary John Jackson headed UCLA Alumni in KH 308.

As field secretary, Waldo Edmunds was in charge of the monthly Alumni Magazine.

Assistant Alumni Secretary Harry Longway was in charge of the Alumni membership.

Friendly William Ackerman signs everything from ASUCLA cards to game tickets as part of his work as General Manager.

The power behind all student body activity comes from the offices of the ASUCLA officials and Kerckhoff Hall. These men and women act as advisors for each of the various campus functions. Through their experience, careful direction, and critical evaluation, student leaders were able to carry out their jobs, and Bruins could enjoy many extra privileges provided for their use. From game tickets and new merchandise in the student store to the UCLA finances, the officials kept the wheels of ASUCLA speeding along smoothly. Keeping close watch on the publications, the athletic programs, and the accounts certainly comprised a big and never-ending job for these people who seldom received any of the credit they so well deserved.

Having promised the students a yearbook in June, the Southern Campus staff found themselves confronted by one early deadline after another and by combining ambition with experience managed to meet them successfully. To insure that June date the business staff had television actress Vampira sign a Southern Coffin Document vowing that the book would be out on time or else the staff would meet with a most gruesome death. Kerckhoff 304 became a busy traffic intersection, and Scop moved into one of the corners; there followed an interlude of hilarious battles of words and bantering about between two staffs. In the midst of the Homecoming rush, the staff appeared in the parade riding in a fire engine hijacked from some fraternity across town. The chummy Tuesday afternoon meetings when the group all gathered within the confines of the tiny office inner sanctum were quite a contrast to the eagerly awaited elaborate dinner meetings with Mr. Morris "the Menace" presiding. Sales people and secretaries watched the charts to see their books and hours added while the copy staff surveyed intently a record of their progress. Her pica rule in hand, Editor Mary supervised the whole production, giving encouragement to all.

Intent on Southern Campus work, Mary Cook dashed around the office singing and making funny noises 'til the staff was determined to make a record of "Our Editor in Sound." Conscientious and efficient Mary was formerly the '54 Organizations Editor.

Four years of yearbook experience helped as the pressure of turning out pages on time was put on Ruth Reiter who, as Associate Editor, had the last deadlines.

Dividing his time between Kerekhoff offices 108 and 304, Southern Campus Business Manager Ralph Hansen was seen most often talking to people on the stairs.

Art work was done on a big scale by Beta Jay Novak, who turned out the incomparable layouts of the Life Magazine type in between the tournaments and ski excursions.

Engravings Editor Barbara Webb had pills for all ills and posters for publicity.

Kathe Knope and her Glendale copywriters used a secret formula for even lines.

Pi Phi Peg Manuel pleased everyone with the work she did as Organization Editor.

The telephone girl with the friendly voice was sparkling Photo Editor Peggy Albin.

A big promoter, amiable Don Chatelain, in Sigma Nu tradition, planned sales drive.

Friendly, dependable Betty Fukuda, Office Manager, was captain of the card files.

Working with Manning's on senior reservations was Jo Randall, native of Maryland.

All organizations layouts were done by Remi Kramer.

Phi Mu Marion Troyer was the Record Coordinator.

Helping Pat as senior editor was her roommate Sue Jones.

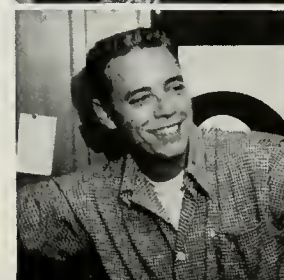

ACHiO Pat Farley served the staff as co-senior editor.

Biggest boomer on the business staff was Valerie Burk.

Phantom Dick Foster haunted the office to edit sports.

Record staff members recorded our memories in sound.

Keeping the office phone lines busy were Photo Committee Staffers Diana Millholland, Carol Lisle, and Peg Albin.

Punching holes in carbon and copy paper were Dick Kitzrow, Barb Ellwood, Bob Amstadter, Chris McCoy, and Kathc Knapc.

Mat knife and glue clan was (l to r) V. Havens, J. Ruiz, J. Jackson, Peg Manuel, B. Bystrom, B. Brown, D. Hedden.

daily bruin

Climaxing his Daily Bruin experience, Marty McReynolds led the staff through the fall semester.

Hell sheets, beef reports, nepa-depa meetings, shop problems and Len occupied Fern Victor's time.

Business Manager Jack Ferguson's chief interests were money, ad breaks and a eute office manager.

In January Irr Drasnin resigned his Men's Rep position to serve as the new Daily Bruin editor.

After serving a semester as Associate editor of Scop, Lee Cake became spring Managing Editor.

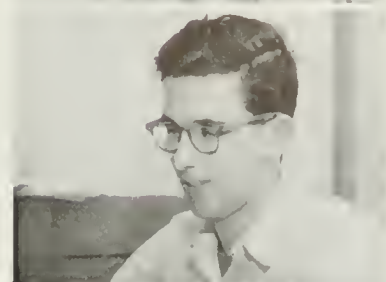

Wally Truesdale moved up from the job of Classifieds Manager to the job of spring Business Manager.

Change never comes easy, and this old axiom certainly held sway for the Daily Bruin, as the frequently spotlighted publication experimented under the growing pains of constitutional changes during the spring semester. Despite the trials and errors involved, most agreed that this change was for the better as the spring editorial board, under the direction of Editor Irv Drasnin, exerted determined efforts toward much sought after goals of a complete campus coverage and journalistic objectivity. Drasnin was backed up by Managing Editor Lee Cake, City Editor Marty Sklar, Business Manager Wally Truesdell, News Editor Tom Spiro and Feature Editor Curt Owen. The social editor was Mary Solow, sports editor, Ed Isenson, and supplements editor, Evelyn Grossman. During the fall semester the staff, headed by Marty McReynolds, included Fern Victor, managing editor, Barry Tunick and Phil Berk, city editors, Business Manager Jack Ferguson, Social Editor Evelyn Grossman, the feature editors, Jerry Farber and Chuck Lomas, and Marty Sklar who edited all the Daily Bruin sports copy. Included in the year was a convincing 14-0 victory over the Daily Trojan in the Blood Bowl.

T. A. Phillip Berk amused the staff members with layouts and films.

Busy Barry Tunick was city editor and poet's nook proprietor.

A special November election made Chuck Lomas fall feature editor.

Zena Stanten supervised fall parties, banquets and cub classes.

Fall sports editor Marty Sklar was promoted to city editing job.

As social editor, Evelyn Grossman covered all campus social events.

A nose for news was important asset of News Editor Fredy Perlman.

'Campus Casanova' Steve Wayne designed supplement magazines.

Barbara Elwood was fall night editor and production manager.

Mary Solow went from co-fine arts editor to spring social editor.

Putting the paper to bed every night were members of the night staff which included (l to r) night editors Eric Shuman, Jean Fox and Al Greenstein and desk editors Bennie Benson and Harry Boyle. Not pictured above are Bob Paskin and Jean Schenkman.

Two desks, two typewriters, one bulletin board and a telephone located up in KH 301 served as the headquarters for Scop, UCLA's humor magazine. Scop returned to campus this year after an absence of two years. Under the editorship of Ralph Melaragno, cartoonists and writers were attracted to the staff, and a short story writing contest was held during the fall semester. Other editors on the magazine staff included Managing Editor M. E. Vogel, Associate Editor Lee Cake, Business Manager John Price and Art Editor Bonnie Shrubar. Sharing the office with Southern Campus, members of Scop put out two issues during the year. This year Scop was striving for more than a humor magazine and tried to make it a literary magazine as well. As Editor, Ralph encouraged creative writing such as essays and short stories and hoped that the magazine this year would follow in the tradition of past magazines and be All-American once again. With such contributors as Claude Baum, Dick Guttman, Mel Albaum, Irv Drasnin, Michael Chester and Jay Victor, Scop neared success.

Editor Ralph Melaragno's task of reactivating Scop this year was a hard one with many difficulties.

A senior majoring in English, Lee Cake served as Associate Editor for Scop for the fall semester.

Her chores as Scop's Managing Editor and work as a law grad student kept M.E. Vogel mighty busy.

Rounding up advertising and keeping an eye on the Scop budget was the job of Kappa Sig John Price.

organizations control board

OCB functioned smoothly under the direction of a most capable chairman, Sue Eggleston.

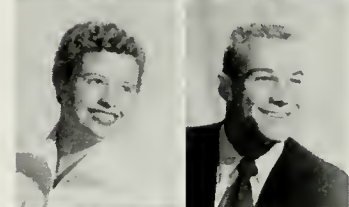

OCB continued to serve Bruins with its many projects by assisting in the formation and recognition of new groups and by publicizing existing campus organizations. OCB Chairman Sue Eggleston, Assistant Chairmen Joan Weissman and Don Cornell, and board members were responsible for enforcing the ASUCLA constitution and by-laws by conducting scholastic checks on the chairmen and presidents of all recognized organizations and by validating the signatures on the petitions and initiatives circulated on campus. Functions of these organizations were coordinated by the use of social calendars and social regulations in conjunction with the President's Cabinet. OCB's newest idea to benefit students and interest them in greater ASUCLA participation was a plan whereby OCB acted as a guide on the how, what, and where of all student activities and campus organizations.

alpha lambda delta

Alpha Lambda Delta may be known as the freshman women's honorary, but it has included freshman, sophomores, and juniors on the roll this year. A grade average of 2.5 during the first half or the entire freshman year is required for eligibility. With the emphasis on personal enjoyment, the activities were planned to provide cultural and social experiences. The year began with the Autumn Tea, which featured Mrs. Josephine Reps of the Art Department and her discourse on "Clothes for the College Woman." The fall pledging ceremony was followed by an exchange with Phi Eta Sigma at the Hollywood Tick Tock. A Senior Award was given during the spring term to the senior girl with the highest grade point average.

The Alpha Lambda Deltas were led by Susan Talley, Darlene Bender, Glenda Brill, and Constance Joyner.

President Art Goldfarb, Secretary Bill Windham, Norton Karno, the publicity chairman and Richard Noto, scholastic coordinator planned events.

Stimulating and rewarding freshman scholarship among men and aiding the students by informing them on topics of particular interest to them are a few of the objects of Phi Eta Sigma. The organization has undertaken the project of tutoring freshman classes rather than individuals and, the response being very good, hope to enlarge this program. The group also had a booth for Mardi Gras. An initiation dinner with Alpha Lambda Delta was held at the Tick-Tock Restaurant, at which the speaker was Jan Popper. Phi Eta Sigma sponsored a talk by Dr. Fred Woellner on "Teaching on the University Level," a very informative and humorous summary of his magazine article. Between semesters members celebrated at a stag.

Nu Chapter of the foreign language honorary society, Alpha Mu Gamma, this year has extended its activities into new fields in hopes of being of service to its membership and to the student body in general. To stimulate student interest in cultural, social, and linguistic aspects of foreign countries, the organization sponsored two panel discussions on "Understanding Europe" and "Understanding Asia." These were presented free of charge. Featured as guest speakers were faculty members who had recently returned from those places. They were such a success that another discussion, this time concerned with the Near East, took place. Other events which were planned by Nu Chapter included the showing of films on foreign cultures and a special spring party.

Conducting the Uni Camp King Contest and the Fall Drive Little Man on Campus Contest, managing and directing the Homecoming Parade, and painting class numerals on levis during Men's Week were just some of the campus projects of ever-busy Alpha Phi Omega. The national service fraternity consists of men trained in scouting who are interested in upholding its fine ideals. Additional activities of the organization were helping with new-student orientation and conducting the commuters' car pool program. The Bruin Chi Chapter, made up of only the service and activity-minded students, was able to provide many experienced people to fill ASUCLA positions. Camping trips, exchanges and parties rounded out a year full of success.

Arnold Air Society, the social honorary for the AFROTC, furnishes the social activity for cadet members and aids the Wings with planning the social program for the entire AFROTC unit. Starting out the year with a rush party at the Beta house, AAS moved into full swing. Working in conjunction with the AFROTC to help plan and build a Homecoming float took up most of the time in October, but there was still time for an informal initiation, followed by the formal initiation at the SAE house. AAS members were fortunate to have Arthur F. Kelly, Vice President of Western Air Lines, as their guest speaker. The big Chandelle Ball, held in November was a highlight of the year. Installation dinners, informal parties, and a field trip to Nellis Air Force Base at Las Vegas rounded out the year for the AAS boys, better known as the Don Brown Squadron.

After a rousing party-to-end-all-parties, Cal Men started off the first term by planning their schedule of events. Led by the president, Martin F. Berman, the organization took an active part in student activities, which included all-U dances, orientation of new students, and the various drives on campus. During "Round-up Time in Westwood" Week, Cal Men again answered the call in filling many important posts as well as building Queen Betty's float in fine traditional style. A full social calendar was planned for the service honorary by Social Chairman Ron Kathren. This program was made up of numerous exchanges and sports activities, but the biggest highlight of the season came around when most of the campus was traveling northward to Berkeley. Enthusiastic Cal Men turned out for a "Our Car Broke Down on the Way to Cal" Halloween shindig.

The past year was filled with activity for members of the UCLA chapter of Cal Club, as they played host to delegates from the Santa Barbara, Berkeley, San Francisco, and Davis chapters at their annual convention in February. The three day convention consisted of panel discussions by members of the seven state-wide committees, talks by many prominent men in the University scene, and more casual moments of "Southern California Hospitality." A Christmas party for the Chancellor and Mrs. Allen, leisurely Sunday night dinner meetings, and a trip to the new Riverside campus highlighted a big year for members of this honorary All-U organization.

Dedicated to promoting service and scholastic standards among the Junior women. Chimes pitched right in and got to work in September, when they helped with the hostessing at President Sproul's reception. October kept the Chimes busy selling Homecoming buttons. The biggest part of his Thanksgiving dinner was the reward of some lucky Bruin who had purchased a chance on the Chimes' turkey raffle. It was one way that the Chimes found profitable for raising money to help orientate transfer students. Worthwhile projects like these continued throughout the year under the efficient guidance of President Marilyn Strickland, as the Chimes chalked up a successful year of service to UCLA.

The honorary naval fraternity, Conning Tower, is composed of midshipmen from the NROTC who desire to develop a high degree of fellowship and leadership. They work to stimulate higher understanding between the officers and midshipmen. Sponsoring and planning social, athletic, and other special events and making sure the name of Conning Tower is well known about campus are some of the functions of this group. During the year Conning Tower members got together for a hayride, the annual Initiation dance, and the Stripe and Star Ball following the navy final dress parade and the Presentation of Awards.

In fostering interest and appreciation of the arts among all students of the university, Delta Epsilon has organized the Art Club this year which is open to all undergraduates in the art department. Another aim of the fraternity is to establish and maintain the high standard of scholarship and the bond of fellowship among its members. This organization sponsors various programs during the year to raise money to enable needy art students to continue their study. A lecture series featuring the notable men and women in the many and diverse branches of the field of art has been conducted by the art fraternity, in addition to their showing of the U. P. A. films on the campus, which has been a part of the functions of the group each year.

Discussing the wonders of the spring Art Show were Delta Epsilon president Jean Mason and her assistants, Rea Moscow, Patty Pyle, Kathie Cooper, and Don Pascoe.

Beta chapter of Delta Phi Upsilon, the National Honorary Women's Fraternity of Early Childhood Education, was founded on the southland campus in 1923. Members concentrate on becoming acquainted with faculty, students and others in the field of their professional interest. They strive to promote professional attainment as part of a national organization. Sophomores with a 1.7 grade average are eligible for membership. A field trip to John Tracy Clinic, workshops for art and music in the classroom, and two open houses for all elementary education majors featuring outstanding speakers were some of the year's activities, highlighted by the fraternity's regional convention in San Jose during March.

Don Bragg, President Paul Selwyn, and Don Shulman devoted their time to officiating over the boys who wear the Gold Key emblem.

The purpose of Gold Key is to honor those men of upper division status who have given outstanding service to the university. This year the activities of the organization included such athletic events as the semi-annual Gold Key-Yeoman football and basketball games. The first semester was highlighted by the pigskin fracas, which added another win to Gold Key's string of victories. The highlight of the game was a spectacular 85-yard kickoff return by the former Gold Key president, Al Lundy. Among other events on the calendar were exchanges with the various other honoraries at UCLA. At their monthly meetings, the group was honored in having as the speakers such men as Dean of Men Byron Atkinson, Basketball Coach John Wooden, and Dr. F. Woellner of the education department.

mortar board

Serving as UCLA's senior women's honorary, Mortar Board promoted scholarship, service, and leadership to UCLA among its women. In the fall Mortar Board members were actively engaged in selling calendars to any obliging Bruin. February carried Board members over to a Regional Conference at Occidental. The cold winds of March didn't keep the girls at home, as they ventured out for an exchange with the SC chapter. The spring meant more hustling for Mortar Board enthusiasts as the preparations were made for the annual honor tea for outstanding UCLA women. Marianne Garard and her very capable assistants led Mortar Board girls through another top year.

"Roll over SC's tootsies." was the cry of the spirited members of Phrateres during Men's Week, when they all were busy selling Tootsie Rolls. Providing a service and social group for women on campus and establishing a spirit of friendliness are the functions of Phrateres, and the girls who are "famous for friendship" saw to it that these things were accomplished. A formal dance at the Santa Ynez Inn with the SC and L.A. State chapters was just one of the highlights of a year crammed full of activities. Semi-annual initiation and installation banquets, exchanges and parties such as the coketail orientation party and the surprise kidnap breakfast, and a convention for all chapters concluded a bang-up year for Phrateres.

"You're great! We've done it again." This was Don Gertsman speaking to the 3600 Bruins who participated in the big double section "Uclarama" stunt at the SC game. That stunt was making history, for it comprised the largest card stunt section ever successfully attempted. This year Rally Committee added "Sound" to the fabulous animated card stunts, which also lit up at the games. On the social scene, Rally Comm was far from inactive, and members enjoyed the booming weekend party at Cal, a pizza party, a sock party, a Christmas party, and the big climax, their 25th annual banquet. By helping to build up school spirit and keeping it at a high level during the season through campus rallies and half-time entertainment Rally Comm upheld its purpose, and deserves a rousing ovation for a job well done.

UCLA's energetic and hard working Rally Comm Chairman, Don Gertsman, was largely responsible for the great success of the terrific card stunts this year. Credit is also due Skip Nevell, vice chairman, Pat Fox, stunt artist, Diane Heisler, Joyce Hertzberg, Ruth Bruney, secretaries, and all the industrious members of Rally Committee who labored to give Bruins spectacular card-studded games.

Upper division students who had printer's ink in their blood and who gave outstanding service to a major campus publication were eligible for membership in the National Journalism Honorary, Pi Delta Epsilon. Activities of the honorary included putting out the Orientation Bruin every semester and giving awards to the outstanding students in publications. Members of the journalism honorary also helped out with Publications Day. For the first time this year, Pi Delta Epsilon took part in the yearbook conference for the Western United States which was held on the UCLA campus in the spring.

Beginning the fall semester with two successful open houses followed by the tapping of new members, Shell and Oar, the women's honorary for crew, started off on another spirited year dedicated to social life and service. The cold rains of December didn't dampen their spirit as they sponsored an All-U open house at the Beta house to help publicize the activities of both Shell and Oar and Crew. "How much am I offered for—" sounded through the coop, where both organizations held an auction in spring with proceeds going for a new shell. Off to Ballona Creek to paint the boathouse, observation platform, and dock kept those hearty mates busy in spring, topping this only by serving as hostesses at the big Annual Newport Regatta in May.

Mates at the helm were Goddard, Nielson, President Beth Wood, Hiller, and Elliott.

To promote school spirit and give service to the school was the purpose of Spurs, sophomore women's service honorary. In keeping with their tradition, members of Spurs sold "Lick SC" suckers and pom-poms. Starting off the year's activities, Spur members were hostesses at Orientation Day and the President's Reception. To stir up more spirit for Homecoming, they sold "Spurshey" bars, and their motto was "A Spurshey eaten means Stanford beaten." Their float won the prize for being the most original one in the Homecoming parade. Honorary members of Spurs were tapped and the boys took part in all Spur activities. Other activities of Spurs included starting off the Christmas caroling, purchasing a Christmas tree for the library and having socials with other honoraries.

Hart, Gertsman, Connell, Nebenzahl Odabashian, and Garofalo led the Kelps.

Another zany year was registered in the Kelp log. Following a slight faux pas at Berkeley, the clan retreated to the USC campus where the Kappas were serenaded in a mock pinning. Taking ninety Uni-campers to a football game was the next endeavor. The big push for the year was the raffle, show, and New York trip. Kelp tickets became a blight on the countryside. Kent Harkins assembled the "Kelp Review" in kaleidoscope fashion, as Larry Connell went psycho over the books. Despite an infirm bus the group was on hand for the Garden Tournament in Madison. Between games Kelps had three TV appearances, an interview with Dr. Ralph Bunche and a tour of the UN. North American Airlines arranged a special flight home for Kelps, faced with the prospect of a long walk. Low Lord Hart and Potentate Odabashian were last seen stumbling into a sanitarium with fits of exhaustion.

Donning sheets and cups, an illustrious group of spirited young ladies who "live it up" under the title of Trolls started out a most successful year by serenading Bruins with their haunting refrains from the steps of Royce Hall. The Trolls were bouncing back from glories in the Spring Sing (second in Odd Ball Group), drumming up spirit in any way, shape, or form, tangible or intangible. A presentation of Trolls' Homecoming Queen candidate and her official entourage of princesses, pages, and paupers was a highlight of the fall festivities. A near fantastic parade entry climaxed Homecoming Week as Trolls, fifty strong, paid tribute to "Object Indians," as usual winning a trophy for "Most Evading the Theme." Trolls' treasury was kept bare as a result of sending many sympathy cards to the Kelps. With capable leaders and a new sponsor, Trolls moved through this crazy year, their hearts filled with dedication and spirit.

In addition to leading a victorious football team, Captain John Peterson guided the UCLA lettermen through the year as president of Varsity Club. The organization of letter-winning men worked for closer association between the athletes and the students by its various service projects and activities on campus. The most important event during the fall semester was the annual athletic banquet, where the lettermen had the privilege of hearing Kenny Washington, the main speaker at the dinner. The whole group enthusiastically joined in the All Sports Day, held by the Varsity Club each spring, and by their active participation made it the greatest program of the semester. The purpose of the club is not only to serve UCLA, but to provide social events for lettermen.

Another national honorary recently establishing a chapter on the UCLA campus is the Wings, the women's auxiliary to the Air Force ROTC honorary, the Arnold Air Society. Among events in which the Wings participate are reviewing the formal Air Force drills, hostessing for many of the Air Force social functions, and frequently visiting nearby air bases. At March Air Base Wings piloted B-47 and jet link trainers and witnessed some special demonstrations on judo, rescue by parachute, and the maneuverability of helicopters. The monthly meetings were planned to provide films and speakers to give the members a clearer idea of how the Air Force operates. Members of Wings can be recognized on campus by their official uniform consisting of a navy blue skirt and a navy and white wings on a light blue sweater.

The big sports event of the year for the Yeomen is their annual football game with Gold Key. This season was a record year for the lower division group as, sparked by their great tailback, Yoshio Setoguchi, they registered their best score of recent years in a 6-12 finish. Contrary to this service honorary's own claims of being ten percent service and ninety percent honorary, the Yeomen, guided by President Jack Taylor, provided service for many campus occasions. One of these was ushering for the Men's Stag. Don Chatelain, the vice president, arranged for the big exchange in January with Spurs, Chimes, Gold Key, and Mortar Board, which was heartily endorsed by all twenty-four recognized members. After socializing with swimming and dancing, Yeomen settled down to a second semester of honor and campus service.

This year Alpha Upsilon Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi, the national business administration honorary, was engaged in an active program of business research, field trips, speakers, and exchanges. Each semester the Alpha Kappa Psi Scholarship Award was given to the most outstanding graduate from the department. With great enthusiasm, the members of AKPsi and Phi Chi Theta kept up with the Yuletide spirit in decking the halls of BAE. The fraternity did its utmost during the year to promote the recently-formed Council of Business Administration Students. Alpha Chi Delta professional sorority is an organization of university women devoting themselves to business education, business administration, and economics. Some of the objectives of the organization are the promotion of higher business education and training for all women, the partaking in activities pertaining to a professional and commercial nature, and the promotion among members of a mutual friendship and consideration of business experience and possibilities. The sorority is chiefly interested in contributing all effort possible to improve the code of business ethics. Among the various activities of the year were a student-faculty picnic, dinner and miniature golf parties, an award tea and exchanges.

Alpha Chi Sigma, the national professional chemistry fraternity, has as its objects the binding of its members with a tie of true and lasting friendship and the striving for advancement of chemistry both as a science and a profession. The group also strives to aid members by every honorable means in the attainment of their ambitions as chemists. As a service to the Chem Department, free tutoring, as well as seminars, was offered to freshman chemistry students. The social calendar included pledge-sponsored dinner dances, departmental picnics, parties at the beach, and "smokers." The fraternity sponsors a freshman prize exam in chemistry for UCLA students and then on a national scale, a $1000 award in pure and applied chemistry.

Increasing professional alertness and promoting research in business education are two of the purposes of the Business Education Association. The organization offers guidance in the field and acquaints members with vocational opportunities, also providing occasions for social activities. A Christmas party found members playing Santa to instructors and administrators in a humorous way. The monthly meetings were sparked with speeches by top people in business and teaching. This year the group initiated a bulletin, "On the Beam," which was published each month. Vice President Inez Hall, Secretary Diane Lee, and President James Yee held many discussions on coming social events for the EPiDs.

Open to any student interested in Oriental culture and background. Epsilon Pi Delta functioned as a social organization aimed primarily at helping both the Chinese American and foreign Chinese students to adjust themselves academically and socially to the two-fold rule of a college career. From the time of the welcome party in October until the barbecue in June EPiDs were on the go. An SC versus UCLA rally, a tennis tournament, a Christmas party, picnics and barbecues, banquets, snow hikes, a Tri-Collegiate Hop, and a long awaited "Easter Ball" were just a few of the innumerable activities on the EPiD social calendar during a very complete year.

Under the leadership of Ruth Cummings, the Home Economics Club whipped up another year of interesting activities. Included in this were trips to Pepperdine and La Verne colleges, where members saw the province workshops. Taking time out from Christmas baking to sew rag dolls for the Greek children didn't prevent the girls from enjoying the annual Christmas party which they threw for the foreign students. men's glee club Singing for the homecoming rally and for the other football rallies of the season was the UCLA Men's Glee Club. In addition to this, the choral group led students in the serenading for the Christmas Sing. They also gave a noon performance in Royce Hall. The Men's Glee Club audiences this year extended farther than a usual campus scope, as the singers participated in the Southern California Glee Club Festival. Just before Christmas vacation, the men caroled through the halls to bring in a little holiday spirit the last week of school. Catching the enthusiasm of Spring Sing, the Men's Glee Club very often participated in the annual affair as a non-competing entry. Like every active campus organization, they also found time in their busy schedule of appearances for social functions such as the men's stags.

Raising their voices for the Men's Glee Club were President Armin Hoffman, Vice President Ron Freeman, and Secretary Tom Stewart.

Mr. Maurice Gerow and the Women's Glee Club president, Yvonne Stein, were in charge of keeping the music season on a high note.

Requiring personal auditions for membership, the Women's Glee Club is designed for any student who is interested in music and in fine group singing. Under the new leadership of Mr. Maurice Gerow, the students experienced many activities of which they are justly proud. They attended the Intercollegiate Spring Festival of Music at Pomona, which was regarded as one of the high points of the year. Also included in their calendar was a Royce Hall noon concert, participation in Spring Sing, and a spring concert in conjunction with the Men's Glee Club. Besides their public appearances they enjoyed several informal parties together and some with the men's group. The year was brought to a close with a banquet, at which time awards were given out.

Among the guests were Chancellor and Mrs. Allen, as well as several deans of the University. Better known around campus as MAC club, this organization offers many social and recreational activities to UCLA students, and has grown right along with the University. Masonic Affiliates terminated the first semester by welcoming over one hundred new and happy members at a formal initiation banquet. MAC enthusiasts were kept busy during the holidays with such outstanding events as the annual Thanksgiving dinner for fifty children from All Nations Foundation, a Christmas party and a big "Spring Sneak" for MAC members.

D. Dawson, J. Mason, J. Creange, J. Barton, R. Horowitz, G. Embree, M. Paulenko, N. Mintz, (J. Dahlen and J. Dufreane not pictured) handled all council business.

mu phi epsilon

President Jeanne Moore and the other officers of Mu Phi Epsilon spent many long hours planning the Mu Phi Epsilon Spring Concert.

Founded on the cornerstones of Music, Friendship, and Harmony, Mu Phi Epsilon served as UCLA's national music sorority in the professional field. Throughout the year the girls made fine use of their musical talents by presenting monthly programs at the Veterans Hospital. On the national scene, they contributed to the support of the music school for underprivileged children at Gads Hill in Chicago. The girls also kept busy with their worthwhile project of helping to raise funds for music scholarships for needy children. The Phi Nu chapter's activities calendar for the year included such events as a Founders Day banquet at the Huntington Hotel, and Patrons' programs and teas. All actives devoted most of their spare time to preparing for the musical highlight of the year, when they presented the annual Mu Phi Epsilon Spring Concert.

With the ringing cries of "allemande left and a docey do," the Nisei Bruin Club was off to a rousing beginning of another big year. This exuberant air set a standard for subsequent activities which are designed to provide the nisei students with a vital round-up of extra-curricular activities, ranging from intramural basketball tourneys to other diverse interest events. Nisei Week saw the NBCers in full swing, operating their booth at the carnival. Then followed the Frosh Reception, the Cal trip, the SC-UCLA social mixer, the basketball tourneys, and the annual Blow-out. Closing the year's activities was a snow hike, in all its verve and gaity with the voices of happy folks echoing the fun of a top year for the Nisei Bruins.

Among the many receptions following different musical presentations on campus, the Phi Betas sponsored one for the UCLA orchestra concert given in Royce Hall in November. Another reception followed the Los Angeles Chamber Music Concert during the fall semester. Sunday evenings were spent around Sawtelle Hospital, where the organization put on ward shows to entertain the patients. Phi Beta members gave some of their time to the army, as they presented several "package shows" at Camp Pendleton and Camp Edwards. The purpose of the music and speech professional fraternity is to seek and create the best in both fields. The members are directly involved in the shows and in the performing, and yet they support other presentations. An outstanding Phi Beta pianist Joan Stave was awarded recognition at the Hollywood Bowl last summer for her achievement in piano performance.

The girls with the eyes for business were the Phi Chi Thetas who were guided by Jackie Kasnitz, Mary Lou Nelson and Joyce Brickman.

Phi Chi Theta offers to advanced freshmen women the opportunity to fulfill the purpose of promoting higher business education. This national business fraternity for women saw a flourishing year in the UCLA chapter. The initiation of new members and the privilege of hearing prominent speakers in the business field are just two of the many activities that could be crowded into the calendar for the school year. The group functions for the fall term included, in addition to the variety of meetings and exchanges, a Christmas get-together with Alpha Kappa Psi, the men's business fraternity. The occasion was a meeting of both organizations, which was highlighted by a speech on the problems of finance. The culminating touch was the decoration of the Christmas tree, which brought eager cooperation and welcomed all students on entering the halls of BAE.

sigma alpha iota

Continually striving to raise the standards of productive musical work among university women, the members of the national professional music sorority, Sigma Alpha Iota, set a fast pace for themselves this year with a full schedule of projects and activities. Auditions, concerts, musicales, teas, State Day, Incorporation Day, dinners, and Sunday workshop meetings quite adequately filled the activities calendar for the year. When the girls were not occupied by these exciting events they were engaged in sponsoring such projects as the American Music Awards, the Sigma Alpha Iota Foundation Fund, and the International Music Fund. Sigma Alpha Iota members were proud of their sorority sisters Marilyn Syme, Joan McSeveney, and June Gusella, who won top honors in various aspects of the musical world. At the peak of the SAI scale was Merry Carol Robinson.

sigma phi delta

And away they go! The enthusiastic engineers of Sigma Phi Delta were continually working to perfect the last word in modern transportation.

Sigma Phi Delta, an international fraternity of engineers, again displayed its engineering talent by building what is undoubtedly the noisiest Pontiac in all captivity. With prexies Jack Birdsall and Herb Redlich doing their best to maintain order and sanity over the uninhibited snarls of "Le Bombe." Hal Lazar put life into the ESUC Newsletter as editor for the fall semester aided by Warren Juran, who served as a staff writer and Coop correspondent. Matt Wolf represented the sophomores in ESUC, and Paul Barbour led the scholastic parade as a member of Tau Beta Pi. Socially, the semester-ending TGIO party went departmental for the first time as the fall semester faded away, and the Red Rose formal highlighted the spring semester. House parties, exchanges, and treasure hunts rounded out a well-filled year of activities and learning for the illustrious SPD boys.

"If you like to do it, URA does it" is a motto for the University Recreation Association, an organization which provides the activities of twenty-one clubs, holds dances such as the one for Mardi Gras, and takes part in many of the other campus events. Giving students a chance to meet friends with similar interests, the purpose of the University Recreation Association is to supply the definite need for relaxation and for recreation during the university life of students. The URA office in Kerckhoff Hall is always stirring with excitement . . . applications are constantly being taken for every group from badminton to science fiction clubs, plans are being made for the Friday night recreational dances held in the women's gym, and committee chairmen for the dances have members busily cutting crepe paper decorations. URA has a magic club for those interested in card tricks, a flying club where Sunday morning breakfast hops are quite the thing, and a sports car group for some really great automotive fun.

*Hey, how's the weather up there!

ski club

The Bruin Ski Club opened with a pre-season party held at Helen Williams' home at which more than one hundred members attended. On Thanksgiving Day a comparable crowd of Bruins took over the McGee Creek Lodge at Mammoth where they enjoyed four wonderful days of shirt sleeve skiing. A lack of snow in the Big Bear Area, site of the Bruin Ski Lodge, caused the ski enthusiasts again to trek to Mammoth Mountain, where they found skiing conditions excellent. The Bruin Ski Lodge opened in January for the first snowfall. There a group of eager skiers enjoyed the slopes of Snow Valley in the San Bernardino Mountains. Between semesters they gathered up their skis and poles, checked their clamps and wax jobs, and headed for snow country all over the United States. A joint party was held at Switzerland's with the Hughs Ski Club in order to start off the second semester in an enthusiastic manner.

President Norma Tryk, Ron Calhoun, Margrit Rose, and Sue Benjamin laid great plans for Mammoth ski outings during school vacations.

Past president John Hall had that snow blood running through his veins as he surveyed skiing conditions with his slope-mates.

It takes a lively group to make skiing trips fun, and for the Bruin skiers there was never a lack of either crowds or laughs.

Laughter echoed through Snow White Lodge as weary skiers, dragging their skis behind them, trudged in from the snowy slopes.

Shushing and skimming over the ski slopes was a speedy member of the Bruin Ski Club.

Secretary Joan Kussy, President Al Glickman, Vice President Sue Wood, and Treasurer Gerry Croymans presided over the Senior Class.

Bermuda shorts, good sunburns, and Danny Thomas were seen at the Senior Brunch.

Unique! That's the word for this year's Senior Council. The Senior Class of 1955 can be justly proud of its top-notch representative student government which was responsible for establishing many firsts for the class. The year began with the inauguration of the Senior Social Club, which held monthly meetings at the West-side Tennis Club, a Beverly Hills hilltop, and the Beverly Wilshire Hotel. It was a sad day for seniors when the class was put on "social pro" for a month due to misfiling of a so-called Xmas Party. Although that was a dull month, seniors had time to be nostalgic over memories of the colossal Senior Brunch organized by Chairman Alan Indictor. With entertainment like Danny Thomas, the Four Jokers, and Ginny Simms, the Coliseum really was rocking before the SC game took over. A big first for this class was a mid-year commencement for seven-hundred graduates. With Paul Selwyn as Senior Week chairman, and Gerry Hall handling the arrangements for the glamorous Aloha Ball held at the Ambassador Hotel, seniors had wonderful memories of their "big" year.

A large bear sitting in a convertible was the Junior Class contribution to the Homecoming Parade. During Men's Week the Coop was taken over for two hours by Juniors who decorated it and provided entertainment for all coop-timers. As usual, painting the "C" was a project which was looked forward to by all council members. Covered with yellow paint, the juniors declared it was quite successful as well as great fun. A Junior-Senior football game was staged in which the girls played the first half and the fellows the second. The "Number One Prom for the Number One Team," honoring the gridiron stars, took place at the GlenAire Country Club on December 3. It featured the band of Alan Schrader. For the spring semester the Junior Council embarked on a schedule of Spring Sing rehearsals and open houses.

With more Sophomore Council memberships sold this year than ever before in the history of the University, the Sophomore Class was assured of an outstanding year under the guidance of a well organized, representative student government. Soph Council provides its members with the opportunity to participate in class government and the determination of class policies. Social life is not neglected, as Council members soon found out at the many Council functions. Open houses seemed to dominate the social scene in November and December and again in spring when the Soph class took over the Beta and the SAE houses for one day. Getting away from the thought of finals, sophomores almost got snowed under on their snow trip to Big Bear Lake. It didn't take them long to get thawed out for the Dublin Ball in March. The class council luau in spring was just an example of the great spirit of the class that took Coop day honors.

Secretary El Brunner wrote down the great words of wisdom of Treasurer Bill McKinley, Vice-President Jean Shinoda, and President Dave Gorton.

The fall of '54 ushered in one of the most spirited Freshman Classes that Bruin territory has ever seen. Following the tense election, Delta Sig Dave Gorton stepped into the president's seat and mapped out his big plans for Men's Week activities. Corncob pipes, distributed by class council members, provided a "homey" atmosphere, while a hot Dixieland band kept the Coop far from quiet. The sophomores' faces were mud when freshmen overthrew them in the Frosh-Soph Brawl, but the crowning blow was their invitation from the Frosh Council to a premiere showing of films of the classic battle. The Dublin Ball proved to be such a huge success that it was followed up by a Frosh-Soph Luau. A snow trip and many open houses brought the Freshman Class into a unified group which will go in history among great classes.

170 productions

RH 170 was the home of successful productions of "The Happy Time," Samuel Taylor's romantic comedy, and "The Love of Four Colonels," Peter Ustinov's hilarious comedy. Two actors from "The Happy Time," Charles Schulte and Burt Metcalfe, won "Oscars" for the best performances by an actor and supporting actor. "Four Colonels" won the best production award, and also best actress.

Dick Kitzrow and Burt Metcalfe were mighty "happy" in many of the scenes from "The Happy Time" by Samuel Taylor. This gay romantic comedy kept RH 170 rollicking with laughter for many weeks. With brilliant direction by Edward Hearn this production stood out as superior in UCLA's theater world.

one acts

Six sets of outstanding one-acts gave TA majors a chance to emote.

The Theater Arts Department presented an "Oscar" for the best performance by an actress in a one-act to Susan Risken, a newcomer to the UCLA stage.

The UCLA Theater Arts Department is continually encouraging new talent in the play-writing field through its one-acts program. Those future Eugene O'Neills have an opportunity to test their ability by writing for a series of one-acts presented in K37. K37 was also the stage for the department's thesis production of "Fig Tree Madonna" directed by a student, Jerry Rosen.

cinema

It was an award-winning year for the motion picture division of the UCLA Theater Arts Department. "A Time Out of War," the story of a quiet day in the lives of soldiers during the Civil War, was made by Denis and Terry Sanders. The Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences honored the two-reel short-subject with an academy award. It was acclaimed the best short dramatic film by the Venice International Festival. The Screen Producer's Guild first award, the Edinburg merit award, and the British Film Institute award completed the roster. The film "Bird Hunt," written and directed by Richard Hawkins, has already won three awards and appears to be following in the path of "A Time Out of War." UCLA "movies are better than ever."

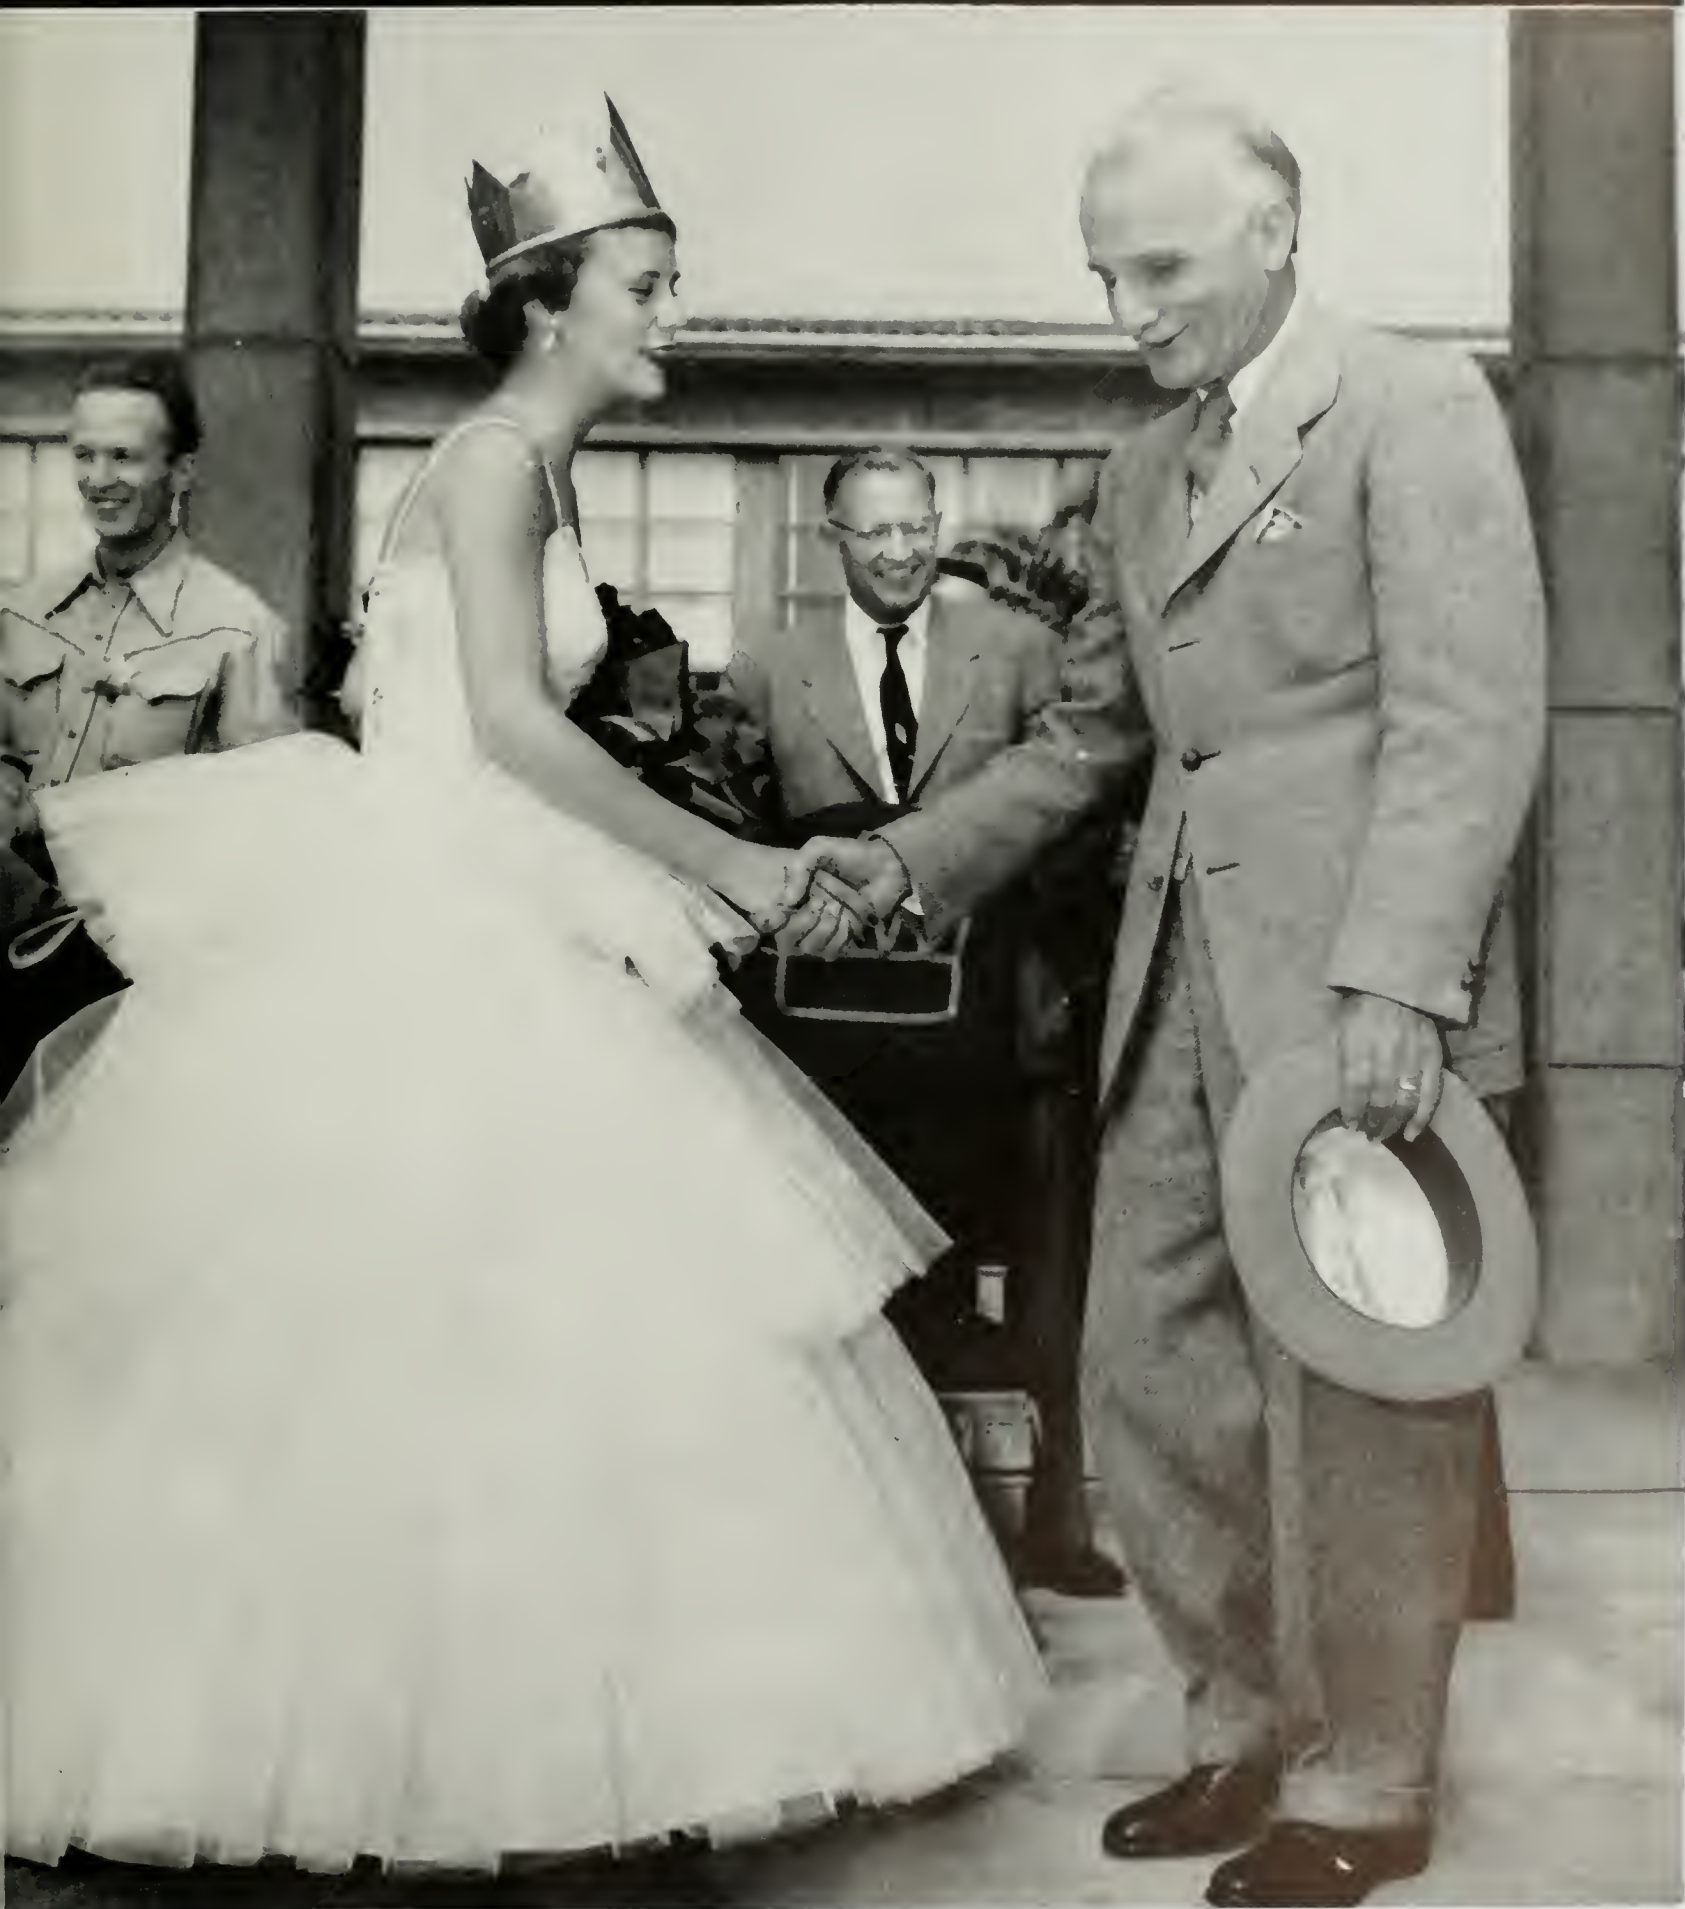

radio

The radio division of UCLA's Theater Arts Department has many outstanding accomplishments to be proud of this year. During each week of the school year they produce two radio series for the city and county school system. "Adventure With Books" summarizes books in a dramatic form which may induce youngsters to read them. "People, Places, and Things" includes programs of every type as the name implies. An hour-long production of the Broadway hit "The Innocents" by William Archibald, adapted by Fred Gerber, was a credit to Dick Tumin's direction. Publicizing the UCLA sports world is the weekly "Sports Package" on KBIG. Ed Long succeeded Bruce Rice as commentator. The yearbook record is the great work of the division.

Skip Byrne, Dean Hahn and Chancellor Allen welcome students to campus on Orientation Day. Howdy Show performers provided entertainment for the new Bruins.

University President Robert G. Sproul, Mrs. Sproul, Chancellor Raymond B. Allen, Mrs. Allen and Assistant Dean of Students Barney Atkinson were on hand to greet new, incoming students at the fall President's Reception. Student body leaders were hosts and hostesses at the Reception and dance.

president's reception

UCLA's campus was completely changed into a cowboy's paradise when students donned levis and cowhides to carry out the 1954 Homecoming theme of "Round-up Time in Westwood." The week's events began with the Alumni Picnic on Sunday, October 10. The student-produced Homecoming Show Monday evening featured student performers and was highlighted by the selection of the Queen and her court. For the first time a Western-style banquet was presented Tuesday. To stir up spirit for the Stanford game on Saturday, Homecoming's slogan was "Cowboy Joe Brings Injun Woe." All of Westwood Village took part in the Village Day activities on Wednesday. Desmond's parking lot was the scene of the Village Dance that evening. Starting at 3:30 p.m. Friday, the Homecoming Parade was immediately preceded by a spirited student rally. After the parade a rally dance featured Spade Cooley and his western music. The winning floats were announced at the dance where Delta Sigma Phi was awarded the sweepstakes prize. Climax of the week was the football game with Stanford on Saturday when the Bruins smashed the Stanford Indians by 72-0 before an excited crowd of 70,555.

An official, administrative duty of UCLA's first Chancellor.

a satire on humans

A Satire on Humans With Interspersed Songs, A Subtle Theme, Occasional Risque Dances and Laughable Sketches for All was the long title of this year's Homecoming Show which was presented in Royce Hall Auditorium, Monday evening, October 11. The Lancers, popular recording quartet, were featured in the second show along with the initial presentation of the 1954 Homecoming Queen and her court.

The Alumni Picnic on Sunday was not only for UCLA alumni but also for promising future Bruins.

entertaining everyone

The orchestra of Spade Cooley provided the music for the yearly Rally Dance. Held on the Kerckhoff Hall Patio, the dance followed the float parade.

Western-style chow was served to hungry Bruin cowpokes at the first Homecoming Barbecue held in the Kerckhoff Patio.

queen betty and her court

Betty Bernard was kept busy as a bee with all her activities as Queen of UCLA's 1954 Homecoming.

Walking on the clouds for a week was this year's Homecoming Queen, Betty Bernard. A 21 year-old senior, Betty was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and planned to become a doctor. Her regal proportions included light brown hair, blue eyes and a charming smile. Betty stands 5'4" and weighs 115. Her court included freshman Mary Jo Beyer, a member of Delta Delta Delta; sophomore Dixie Gott, a member of Kappa Delta; junior Roberta Williams, a member of Delta Gamma and senior Dee Ross, a member of Alpha Chi Omega. Betty and her court were selected from among the twenty-eight finalists between the first and second shows. They were presented at the climax of the second show. Film stars Kim Novak and Robert Frances were among the judges. Classes were dismissed at 11 a.m. on Tuesday, October 12, in order that the student body could witness the coronation of the 1954 Queen and her court at the Art Parterre.

It was a tense and thrilling moment for the queen finalists and the audience at this year's Homecoming Show when the Queen and her court were chosen by the judges and announced for the first time.

Kappa Delta's float entry boasted the motto of "Bruin Scored—Injun Gored" and depicted a defeated Indian, gored by a bull driven on by a victorious Bruin.

The float entered by the Bruin Village had as its theme "Final Ride for Injun Hide." Alpha Tau Omega chose TV starlet Vampira as their sweetheart for their float. Vampira rode on a coffin perched on a hearse. She held a rope in her hand which was attached to several Indians. The theme was "Vampira Corrals Zombie Indians."

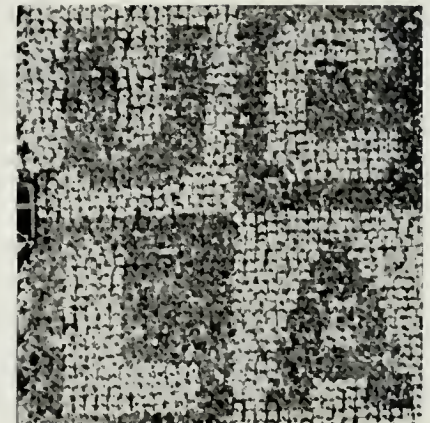

cowboy joe brings injun woe

Stanford's Warrior may look grim, unfriendly and pugnacious, but he failed to frighten the mighty UCLA Bruins who sent the Indians back to the farm.

Homecoming Chairman Les Hewitt served as chauffeur for Queen Betty Bernard preceding the much-anticipated game.

Parade winners were presented before the game: Beta Theta Pi in the men's division, Kappa Sigma-Pi Beta Phi in the mixed division, and the Delta Sigma Phi's stagecoach was awarded the sweepstakes.

A spectacular climax to the week of events was the Homecoming game itself. The spirit and enthusiasm built up during the week overwhelmed the Stanford Indians when the Bruins drove to a record-breaking 72-0.

all-u weekend

Bruins got all aboard the Rooters' Train for an exciting All-U-Weekend up north at Cal. Taking their last look at LA before departing, Bruin rooters gaze out the windows of the train and wonder what the outcome of the gridiron battle will be. Head Yell Leader Norm Jacobs has no doubts about who will win the game as he leads the Bruins at a pre-game rally. The Rooters' Train left at 9 p.m., October 28, from the Union Station and arrived in Oakland at 8 p.m. on the morning of the big game.

Cheerleader Roger Bunting led Bruin band members and Bruin rooters in a rally in the stands during the Cal game.

Halftime card stunts were right-side up again this year.

Students from the eight campuses of the University converged on the Berkeley campus for the yearly All-U-Weekend celebration beginning on Friday, October 29. A special rooters' train transported the UCLA fans to the Berkeley campus, arriving early Friday morning. The weekend activities were kicked off with a rally at 8:30 p.m. which was highlighted by a large bonfire. Following the rally was the All-University Dance. The big feature of the weekend, as far as the Bruins were concerned, was the gridiron clash the next day at 2 p.m. in the Strawberry Canyon Stadium. Between-game activities spotlighted the theme "Brother Bruin's Birthday," which commemorated the founding of the Los Angeles branch.

men's week

Mud-slingers enthusiastically participated in the Frosh-Soph Brawl on Trotter Field.

UCLA's males took over the campus during Men's Week November 15-20. The week's events began with the dads' dinner held at the living groups on Monday evening. This was followed by the Men's Stag at 8:15 p.m. in the Men's Gym. At the Men's Stag, the thirty-three girls competing for the title of 'Belle of UCLA' were presented. Other events of the week included the traditional Frosh-Soph Brawl, Junior Day, Senior Day, the AWS Men's Week Open House and a banner slogan contest between the living groups. Climaxing the week was the rally dance held at 8 p.m. Friday in the Women's Gym. Throughout the week, campus men had the seat of their pants painted by Alpha Phi Omega.

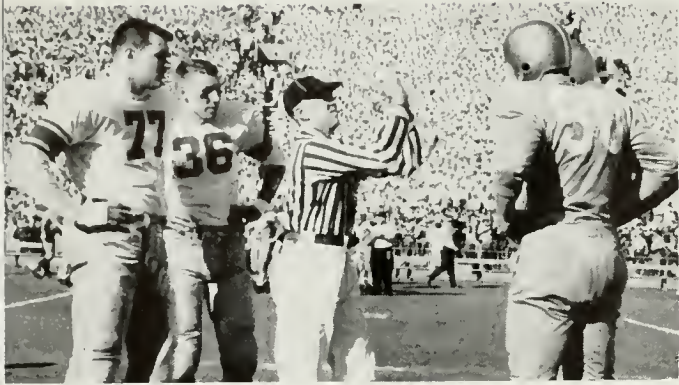

Classes took over the Coop on class days, and the week ended with the Rally Dance Friday evening featuring the music of Jerry Fielding's orchestra.

Bruins enthusiastically endorsed Tommy Trojan's antics preceding the game.

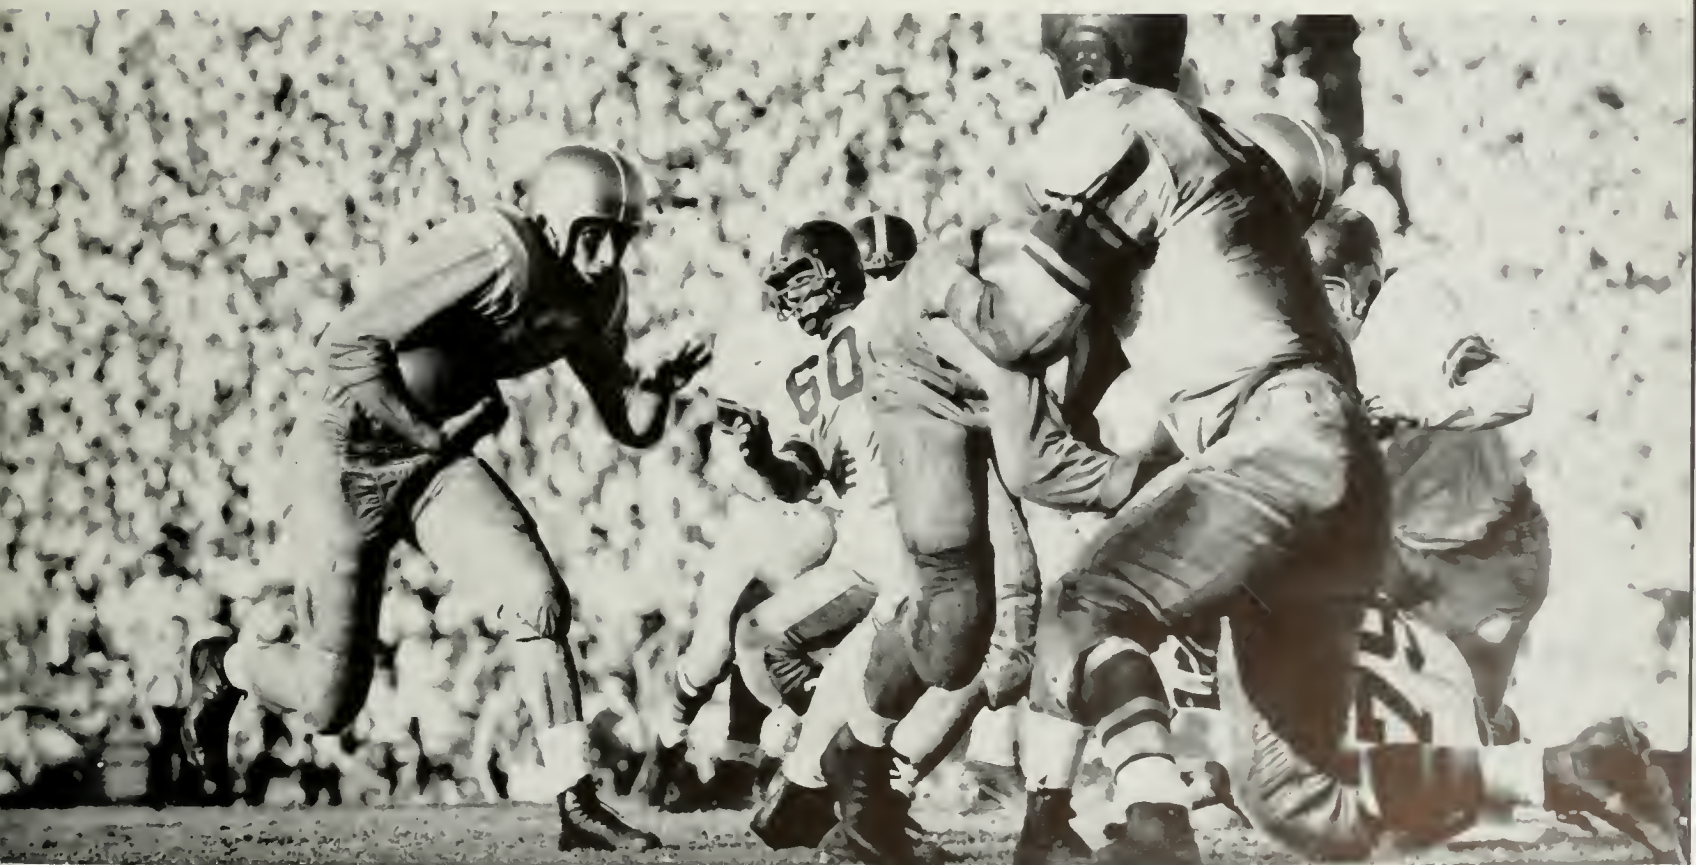

The gates opened at 9:15 a.m. at the Coliseum on November 20, and seniors were the first rooters in the stands for the grid battle with SC that afternoon. Seniors entered through the peristyle entrance at gate 31, and members of the rally committee were present to usher them to their seats in the special senior section of the stands. The yearly senior brunch was sponsored by the senior class, and Al Indictor was chairman of the affair. The brunch began at 10 a.m. with box lunches provided for those in attendance. Leading off the entertainment program for the seniors which began at 10:15 a.m. were the Four Jokers, who were followed by Danny Thomas and Gimmy Simms. The senior brunch tickets entitled seniors to sit in seats on the 50-yard line for the SC game. Approximately 650 seniors attended the traditional brunch. The gridiron victory put a happy end to the day's events.

Crosstown rivalry came to a climax at the traditional bell game, when the Bruins' spectacular performance in the last quarter caused delirious excitement in the rooting section.

A rousing cheer greets Coach Sanders at the rally.

Congratulations from Chancellor Raymond B. Allen and the entire student body were given to UCLA's number one coach, Red Sanders, at the campus rally on the Art Parterre the Monday after the SC game.

"The unified student spirit that we've had this year is the greatest I've ever seen anywhere," was the comment of Head Yell Leader Norm Jacobs to sum up highlights of Bruin spirit activities. The yell and song leaders appeared on television shows to boost school spirit, and the yell leaders also started the innovation of wearing powder blue Bermuda shorts at football games. Another spirit booster this year was the jackass which followed the Trojan horse around the track at the SC game. Other features of the year include the helicopter for the game with Maryland, the rally in the tunnel following the SC game, and the half-time basketball games between UCLA and SC yell leaders.

let the drums roll out

The Bruin Band, made up of about 150 members, is divided into three separate organizations . . . the concert band, the football and activities band, and the ROTC band. The objectives of the bands are to provide educational and professional training, to voice the school spirit of the University by the perpetuation of worthwhile traditions, maintaining standards of value and respect, and passing on a heritage that will instill pride and challenge. Eight concerts were given by the concert band this year both on campus and at the nearby high schools in addition to a series of four noon concerts given on the KH patio this spring. Playing for sports events, Orientation and rallies was the football and activities band. The ROTC group gave a spring concert and played for many military reviews.

Clarence Sawhill, the director of UCLA's band, was a familiar figure during the football season, leading the Bruin musicians seated below the rooters' section.

Leading the "great Bruin Band" out onto the field for the football half-time activities was Dick Jones. Band formations of all kinds entertained the Bruin rooters.

junior prom

The first formal dance of the year, the Junior Promenade, sponsored by the Junior Class, was presented at the Glen Aire Country Club, Friday evening, December 3. Featuring the dance music of Allen Schrader and his orchestra, the dance this year was given in honor of UCLA's number one football team. KMPC Disc Jockey Johnny Grant was master of ceremonies for the prom and the Flairs, a popular vocal group, presented the intermission entertainment. Highlight of the evening was the crowning of education major Janet Seward as queen. Her court included Virginia Burger, La Verne Lanarsic, Missy Griffin and Barbara Joan Ellis. Campus living groups had their lockouts extended to 3 a.m.

Carolling up the row and to the Chaneellor's, AMS and AWS members gave the traditional Sing.

carols and kids

At the traditional Christmas sing, Chancellor Allen was given gifts to distribute among needy families. Co-sponsors AWS-AMS were put on social probation. Each summer more than five hundred children of varying racial and religious backgrounds spend the greatest ten day vacation of their lives at Uni-Camp, high in the mountains above Redlands. From some of the less-fortunate areas of the city, these youngsters are given this opportunity by UCLA students who raise the money and volunteer their time during the summer to work with them. Keeping in touch with the kids through the year is an important phase in Uni-Camp counseling. At Christmas, Uni-Camp kids are treated to dinner at the fraternities and sororities and then, taking their Christmas presents with them, meet their counselors at the Religious Conference Building for a party. Singing, laughing, and greeting last summer's friends from camp make a happy evening for these underprivileged children.

Following dinner at the houses, Uni-Camp children were given a special Christmas party held at RCB.

"We wanted to show the East what kind of spirit we have out here and to get a little publicity for the team and the school. I guess we did it." This was the comment of the Kelps, expressed by Dave Hart, on returning from New York where they had followed the Bruin hoopsters for the ECAC Holiday Festival in Madison Square Garden. In a section directly under the bucket, the Kelps were able to successfully cheer the Bruins and heckle their opponents. Between halves the hermuda clad group entertained a delighted crowd by exhibiting their ever-present artificial palm to which was fastened a Los Angeles city sign and throwing out into the audience over three cases of Sunkist oranges. As a result, Kelps received photographs and write-ups in New York papers and were given a full page spread in a national sports magazine.

"You are assured of a bright future if you are willing to work for it" was Chancellor Allen's commencement comment.

mid-year graduation

For the first time in several years, graduation ceremonies for students finishing in January were observed. Formerly deprived of cap and gown, these students this year could receive their diplomas and commissions in the traditional style of those graduating in June. The graduates, about one-hundred and twenty of whom received advanced degrees, heard talks by Chancellor Allen, Judge Thomas Cunningham, Rear Adm. Rolland Smoot, and John Moittel representing the graduating class. The ceremonies differed somewhat from annual spring commencement in that no degrees were conferred and there was no academic procession. An informal reception for graduates and their families was held on the Quad following the ceremonies. Of the graduating class, a total of fifty-four senior men in uniform received their commissions in either the Army, Navy, or the Air Force.

student counseling

ASUCLA President Skip Byrne takes his place in the counselor's group to advise new students on campus activities.

At the beginning of the second semester a former UCLA tradition, that of student activity counseling, was reinstated for the benefit of the incoming Bruins. Upper division leaders in the various organizations on campus assembled in the Kerckhoff community and men's lounges and served as the advisors. Every student going through the registration line, was counseled in order to find out what type of campus activities interested him. Appointments were made for the student with people in these particular organizations. A follow-up appointment was made again for the new student and his activity counselor to determine to what extent the previous counseling had helped him to find his place among those student government and campus activities. On May 27 a dinner was held for the Bruins who gave their time and efforts to help with the counseling.

Amid acclaim as one of the greatest football teams in collegiate gridiron history, UCLA on February 23 became the first recipient of the Grantland Rice Award. The award signified the 1951 supremacy of the Bruin squad on the national scene. A large gathering of students and visitors on the quad looked on as the editorial director of Look Magazine presented Chancellor Allen with the two and one-half foot high gold trophy. In accepting the award the Chancellor stated, "I accept this trophy with greatest humility. I liken this football team to Grantland Rice in character. It was dependable, outstanding, a thoroughbred, modest . . . and the best." Among other speakers present at the ceremony was Mrs. Florence Rice Butler, daughter of the late Dean of American sportswriters. Acting as master of ceremonies for the event was Wilbur Johns.

greek week

The Greek Week highlight was the naming of the queen, AEPHI's petite Bonnie Supowitz. After the announcement by Chairman Ed Peck, comedian Orson Beane took over.

The purpose of Greek Week is to integrate all sororities and fraternities on campus and to offer constructive services to the community. During the week prior to Greek Week, a contest was held to select the queen. Greek meets were scheduled at the various houses for officers. These meetings dealt with problems facing the organizations such as pledge training, scholarship, social and school activities, organization, finance, administration, and publicity. On Wednesday all the houses participated in dinner exchanges. Each house entertained members from five other houses and sent representatives to five others. Under the supervision of the LA Department of Parks and Recreation, the groups went to Kenter Canyon to work on their community project. Reigning at the Grecian Nights Dance on Friday was Bonnie Supowitz, chosen at the banquet on Monday.

Fraternity and sorority members traveled to Kenter Canyon to work on a Community Project. A barbeque, water line and trees were added to the park.

The end of Greek Week brought with it the Athletic Day which featured both the chariot races and the keg rolling contest. Working for weeks to devise a chariot to fulfill the contest's qualifications, each fraternity entered the race with their usual high hopes. As the Grecian-garbed groups tore over the finish line, the Phi Delta Thetas reached for the laurels.

The setting for this year's traditional Greek Week Climax, the Grecian Nights Dance, was the Del Mar Beach Club where a fine dance band provided some music just for dreamers.

President Robert Gordon Sproul shakes hands with Dr. Robert Gray who was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by Chancellor Raymond B. Allen during the Charter Day ceremonies. charter day Charter Day ceremonies to commemorate the 87th anniversary of the University started with the assembly in Royce Hall where Dr. Gordon Gray, speaking before approximately two thousand students and faculty members, emphasized the demand for the college education of the nation's youth. The problem, he said, has to do with the increasing number of young people who have come to expect a college education. "It simply has become a part of our life to go to college." That evening five hundred alumni and friends attended the annual Charter Banquet in the Embassy Room of the Ambassador Hotel. Judge Thomas Cunningham, president of the Alumni Association who was sponsoring the event, presided.

spring drive

Spring Drive, chief support of Uni-Camp—UCLA's official spring charity, was led this year by Dave Hart. The goal was set at $10,000 to accommodate the additional sessions planned for the underprivileged children who participated in the program. Fund-raising entertainment included a Jazz Concert combining the talents of the Bobby Troup Trio, songstress Connie Moore, and a rhythm-and-blues group, the Nuggets. A cartoon show featured Jim "Magoo" Backus in person. A Brown Bag Rally was led by great Joe E. Brown. The climax was the URA's Mardi Gras. Bruins generous response made it possible for five-hundred kids who ordinarily would not have any vacation to have the time of their lives at University Camp's mountain retreat.

Spring Drive's "Brown Bag Rally," led by UCLA's number-one rooter Joe E. Brown, brought Bruin enthusiasm to a high pitch which resulted in their generous response.

Laughter rang out as Bruins thrilled to the antics of Joe E. Brown at the rally.

With the April Fool's Day theme, a foolish contest was held to find the court jester, the Biggest Fool of Mardi Gras. Uninhibited Jack Taylor won the cup and set the mood for a gay Mardi Gras ahead. Climaxing the annual Spring Drive was the festive Mardi Gras carnival, sponsored by the University Recreation Association. A successful way of raising money for many underprivileged children who will be sent to Uni-Camp, the proceeds from Mardi Gras soared to well over $7000 this year. On April 1st over sixty-five colorful booths sprang up in the quad between the Women's and the Men's Gyms, with themes ranging from Drench Wench to the Marriage Booth. The Hatton Sisters, the Hi-Fi Quartette, and the music of the Tommy Oliver band were added attractions at the Friday night fete which featured an evening-long dance. Reigning over the Mardi Gras was the King, Dr. Woodward Baldwin, who was elected by penny votes in a contest held throughout the week preceeding Mardi Gras.

"Step right up folks. See the . . ."

The crowning event of the evening came when Dr. Baldwin stepped to the throne as King of the 1955 April Fool's Day Mardi Gras.

Dancing "girls" created the Mardi Gras "fools" atmosphere.

A huge, happy crowd turned out to eat, drink, and be merry.

Delta Delta Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon filled the stage with blue and green as they sang the beautiful "Low Lands," which brought them the trophy for first in mixed division as well as the most coveted trophy for Grand Sweepstakes.

spring sing

This year the tenth annual presentation of Spring Sing once again filled the Hollywood Bowl with a multitude of beautiful songs. From a heated rivalry between two fraternities has grown the largest collegiate singing event in the nation. More than 80 groups competed in the preliminaries in order to be among the 25 finalists vying for top honors in the Bowl. A spectacular array of 18 trophies adorned the stage. Winning special awards were Trolls who won the Frank Bull Award, and Theta Xis who placed second in men's division and won the best original arrangement trophy for "Happy Wanderer." Spring Sing was dedicated to Dean Milton E. Hahn this year and Ronald Reagan served as the Master of Ceremonies and cane collector.

Singing "A Whale of a Tale" were those snappy sailors from the Phi Kappa Sigma house who took a first place trophy in men's division.

"Skip To My Lou" echoed from the Bowl as Jewel Quam led the Kappa Deltas in a folk song medley, first in women's division.

Pi Beta Phi-Beta Theta Pi posed the leading question "What Do You Want," and walked off with a first place trophy in novelty division.

"Stop" didn't stop the Pi Lambda Phi quartet from singing out for the first place trophy in men's quartet division at Spring Sing.

"Sho-nuff" the first place winner in women's quartet division just had to be the Kappa Delta girls' great rendition of "John Henry."

"Be Prepared" was the hilarious warning offered by the Zeta Beta Tau Scouts as they marched on to win first in the odd ball division.

women's week

"Caribbean Capers" suited the Troll performances as well as the Hi-Jinx show.

Women on the Bruin campus reigned supreme for one whole week this spring. A committee headed by Tommie Capelouto planned many activities for the seven days when "Bruin Belles Became Bermudans." Future brides turned out to view Monday's fashion show, "Wedding Belles in Bermuda." It featured the fashions of Cahill. Tuesday brought an agenda which called for a Coop Day and the hi-jinx show in the evening. The show, having the theme of "Caribbean Capers," was highlighted by the crowning of Miss Heatwave. Voting for the Women's Week queen was done in the Coop that day. A noted personality picked the queen by standards kept secret throughout the program . . . the one with "the cutest knees." A football game between the Red and White Socks turned into a "Bermudan Brawl." In addition, there was a card stunt section. Thursday night was the AWS Banquet where new members were tapped for various honoraries. The week was dotted with many great events.

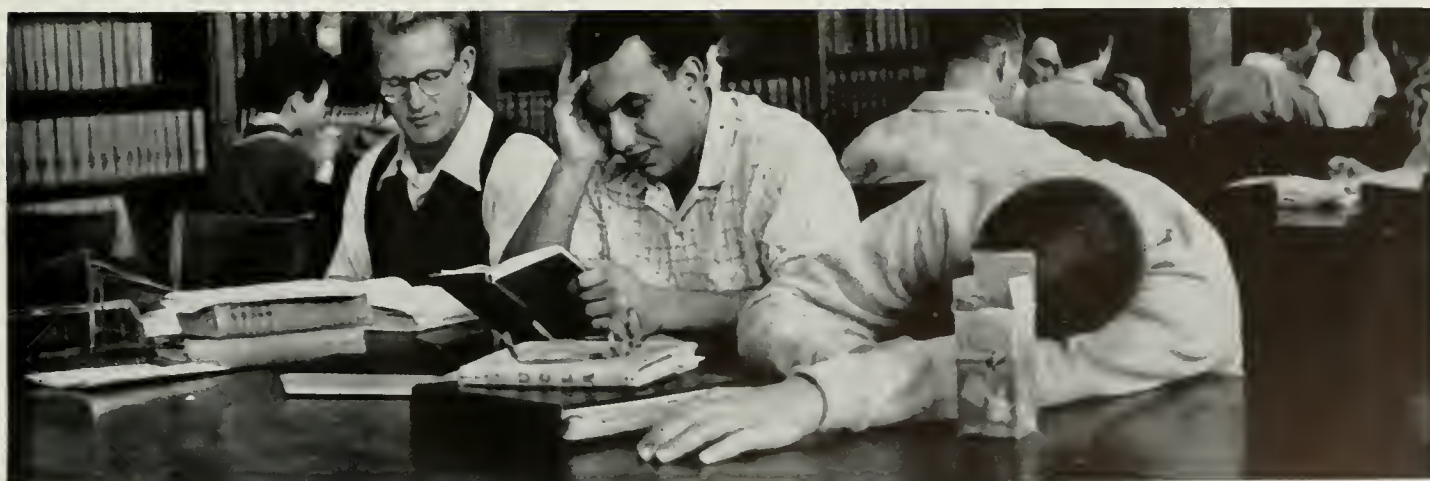

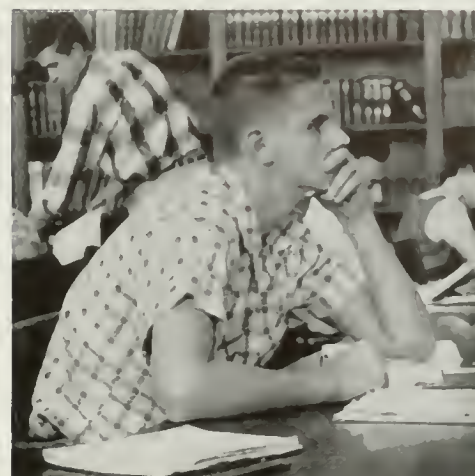

AEPhi Tommie Capelouto (fourth from left, back) was chairman of the AWS Executive Committee who did all the careful planning which made up an exciting week for the girls.

Midterm exams are usually taken in one's stride because all thoughts are turned toward possible vacation spots for spring recess. But on returning from the beach, mountains and desert, comes the sobering thought of the fast-approaching finals. For the poor, tired seniors, this is just something which must be done before graduation. Juniors who have only one year left realize that they can't give up just when most of it's over. And lower division Bruins just struggle. A cloud of depression and despair hung over the campus and students stumbled into the Coop for an eye-opener. Sales increased notably for the No-Doz company and also at the Student Store where textbooks were purchased at long last because the library had run out of copies. Activities were abandoned and parties were scarce. But when the doom day came and went there was a great sense of satisfaction accompanying that of relief, as Bruins came to realize how much knowledge was absorbed.

While some groups are carrying on seminars in the group-study room of the library, others find that the noise down there is extremely distracting . . . especially for those who have fallen asleep on the job. Meditation is most important for learning more difficult material and consists in directing that far-off look either toward the ceiling or the library clock. Generally, Phi Betes and students on probation take their studying more seriously.

aloha ball

Aloha Ball, the big social event of the year for seniors, was held at the Ambassador Hotel the night before graduation. It was a gay and yet nostalgic climax for college careers. Seniors swayed to Carroll Wax's music in an atmosphere softly illuminated by beautiful chandeliers and fragrant with the heavenly perfume of Hawaiian leis. As white-jacketed senior men and their dates drifted in from pre-parties, a genial mood settled over the crowd. Highlight of the evening was the anxiously anticipated presentation of Aloha Ball Queen. Notable among the couples were Gerry Hall, ball chairman, and his executive secretary, Marlene Malouf. With a grand flourish, the dance was ended and with mixed emotions, seniors awaited the graduation day.

With mixed thoughts of eagerness for the future and reluctance to leave behind their happy years at UCLA, these graduates made a solemn spectacle as the hundreds of black robes and mortar boards proceeded slowly around the Art Parterre.

graduation

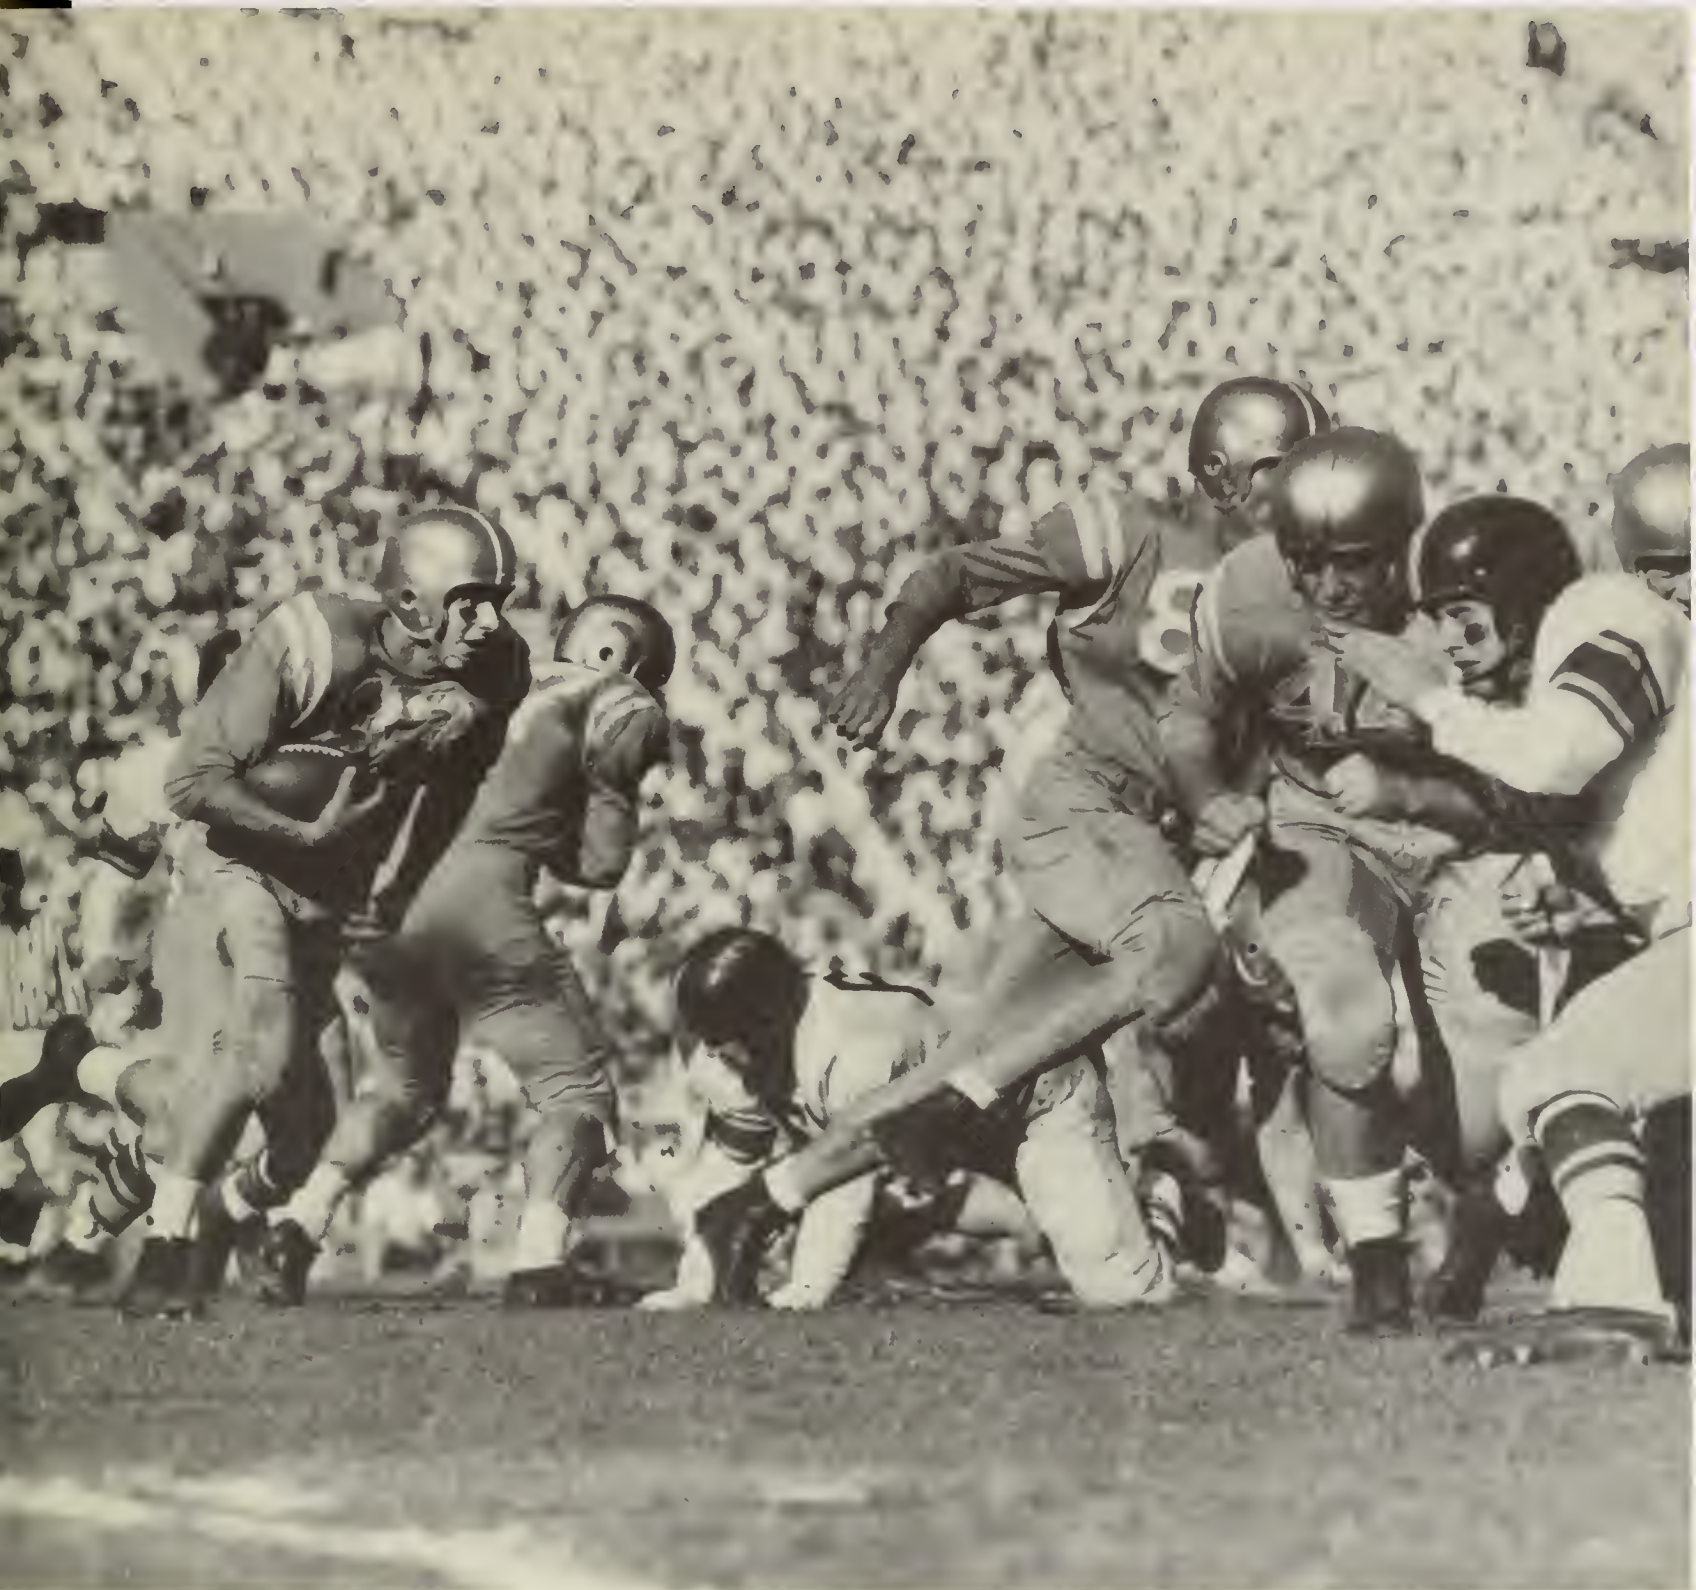

This June, approximately 1370 Bruins received diplomas during the graduation ceremonies. Of this total number seven hundred and fifty were in the College of Letters and Science and some three hundred in Applied Arts. One hundred and ninety were graduated in Business Administration, and Doctor's Degrees were awarded to eighty law students and to twenty-six in the medical school. The commencement address was given by Chancellor Raymond B. Allen, who spoke of what lay ahead for the graduate. Student speakers voiced their hope for the future success of Bruin alums. President Robert G. Sproul gave his congratulations to the rows of black-robed figures who had realized a goal and were embarking on the careers awaiting them.

It was hard for the graduates to believe that their days at UCLA were over until they had the treasured diplomas in their hands and listened to Dr. Sproul.

In one of the locker room talks, "Red" stated that this was one of the best teams he has seen and he was sure of a good one next year.

coach of the year

The football season is over and the Bruins can sit back and look over their very fine efforts of the past season. A great part of the credit must go to the finest single wing coach if not the finest coach that a school could possibly have. "Red" Sanders has done with football what scientists are attempting to do with television and that is to get it to perfection. It is a small wonder that Sanders was voted the number one coach in the nation and was praised on a radio show which covered every part of the United States. Without his help the team wouldn't have done nearly as well as they did. It seemed even with the first game that the Bruins were going to be the team to try and beat but no one ever got a chance to do it. After rolling over poor San Diego Navy and having a hard time with Maryland and Washington they faced the Stanford game. It turned out to be one of the biggest scores that UCLA has ever had. When the team travelled to Berkeley for a game with the "Big Brother" of the north, this game also turned out to be a simple one. But on the horizon was the big game with USC. When the day arrived there was no doubt that the Bruins would win, but it was a little uncertain as to the finish. With the final score 34-0 the Bruins were in position to go to the Rose Bowl, but a most inadequate ruling by the PCC said a team is not allowed to return two years in a row. So the Bruins had to sit back and watch the boys from Vermont Elementary go at it with the Ohio State team. But in summary it can be said that this was one of the finest teams that Sanders has ever coached and that the ex-Vanderbilt mentor not only installed a rugged new system of play, but fostered in the teams a higher kind of aggressive spirit and will to win.

number one in the nation

These two boys are responsible for keeping the Bruins on the winning track. Co-Captains John Peterson (50) and All-American Jack Ellena (77) put the needed spirit and coordination in the team to finish with flying colors, a top national rating and three All-American team players.

Ducky Drake was one of the most needed men for the Bruins because of his endless rolls of adhesive tape and gauze. Jerry Morgan and the managers did an excellent job of helping Drake out with the players.

Carrying the ball again is the Calerico Kid, Primo Villanueva (19), racking up another pile of yardage.

Primo Villanueva (19) is tackled after making a nice run.

Being pulled down by Clarence Norris (90) is one of the greatest ends in California history, Jim Hanifan. But despite the great passing of Paul Larson, the Bruin eleven was just too much for the California Bears and they romped over them by a score of 27-6

Presenting the future varsity football players for UCLA. This freshman squad is a proving ground for the men who will make up the great Sanders single-wing team. Johnson and his staff prepared the men for the rugged contact found in most of college ball. The team tried hard this season but their opponents were too powerful for them in most of the games.

Playing in an almost deserted Coliseum the Brubabes battle a fairly strong Stanford team but again come out on the short end of the score 25-0. But in the long run the Brubabes have developed some good men for Coach Sanders to use in his Bruin team for next season. Having only three games to play hampered a small Brubabe squad, but all things considered, they made an excellent showing in the games they played.

Under the able direction of "Jock" Stewart the UCLA soccer team had its best season with co-captain Earl Hanson keeping up spirits.

This was by far the most successful season that UCLA has had with their soccer team. "Jock" Stewart has done wonders with the boys who came out for this rugged game. A lot of the team is made up of boys from other countries where the sport of soccer is more popular than any other game. After having won all their games the team had to play the boys from USF. This turned out to be one of the best games of the season. USF won 3-1 and retained its championship but "Jock" Stewart promises to try again next season to cop the title from the USF team. Lots of luck in attempting to beat the champs.

water polo

The churning Bruin water poloists of 1954 started off the season a little slow, but as time went on it was plain to see that this was not the year the Bruins had hopes for. But with the Stanford and California games behind them the boys were looking forward to the battle with the USC team. But it was a sad day in Waterville that afternoon as the water birds from USC gave the Bruins a startling defeat and USC went on to win the championship. Besides showing a fine amount of teamwork the team produced a crop of boys ready for next year's great UCLA Bruin water polo team. Among the outstanding men were George Thayer, guard, and captain Gordon Newman of the polo team.

cross country

Again coach Craig Dixon has done it. He has consistently produced a fine group of boys who are able to stand the grueling run around the UCLA 3.5 mile cross country course, which is considered one of the hardest courses on the west coast. Again as before Bob Hunt and Bob Seaman were the sparks to ignite the Bruins into one of the most successful seasons the team has had. A good part of the team is also on the track team and it is in cross country where they get the preparation necessary for the heart pounding races. With the help of Craig Dixon the team should make another fine showing next season to keep the record of UCLA and the cross country team up in the top national ratings.

basketball

The basketball season is over and the UCLA Bruins can sit back and look over one of the best seasons they have ever had. But the big stumbling block was the OSC game. It was a sad team that came back from a hard-fought game, yet the Bruins were outclassed by Big "Swede" Halbrook who did an excellent job of covering up the Bruin offense. But the story was different when they went to the invitational games in New York City during the Christmas holidays. A very strong Bruin team upset Niagara and La Salle. The Bruins are also proud that they handed USF its only defeat of the year. But the second game was not as good, because Coach Woolpert was prepared to smash the Bruins in the Cow Palace up in San Francisco. The Bruins will be losing several seniors next season. They are Bob Ballard, Ron Bane, Don Bragg, Mark Costello, Johnny Moore and Eddie White. Even with the loss of these great players, Coach Johnny Wooden expects to have another outstanding team for next season. To Coach Wooden, a top-flight leader in the know-how department and a sterling personality if ever there was one, UCLA has already doffed its hat. This is John Wooden's seventh season at UCLA. His seven-year record to date: 135 wins, 54 defeats. Watch for things in the future.

This is the man who sent the Bruins to the play-offs at OSC. Coach Wooden gave the rooters one of the best teams they have ever had. In coming seasons Coach Wooden will undoubtedly turn in another outstanding record to display to loyal Bruins.

These two young men were the sparks for the Bruins during the finest season they have ever had. Don Bragg and John Moore, with the fine assistance of the other teammates led the Bruins to a chance to play Oregon State for the Pacific Coast honors.

Assistant Coach Bill Putnam, 1954 all-coast guard for UCLA, continued in his familiar role as varsity aide. Rene Miller was the solo man who followed the Bruins faithfully helping them with the problems of team management. Without help of these men the Bruins would not have had such a successful season.

Going in for a lay-up, Morris Taft (22) evades the USC players to score two points. UCLA drove on to win the series and also a chance to play the OSC northern division champions. Coach Johnny Wooden molded together a fine team outranking all of the other division teams in most of the departments.

Don Bragg (52) racks up two points for the Bruins during the last of the games which would open the door to the OSC playoffs at Corvallis. The Bruins won the series with a final game score of 75 to 55. This gave them the chance to play Oregon State and bring home a possible PCC championship. But luck was against the Bruins, the OSC boys stopping them cold in the heated race for the NCAA championship.

Rambling Ronnic Bane is one of the centers on the Bruin five with a season record of 10 points per ballgame.

Mark Costello, a husky guard, takes the field in freethrows with a season's net average of about .571 percent.

Junior Willie Naults, the second highest scorer on the team, set a PCC record in rebounds for the season: 163.

This is the last time guard Eddie White is going to appear on the hardwoods at UCLA. He is now a high senior.

Morris Taft is hitting on an average of 12.6 points per game which puts him in third spot for high score laurels.

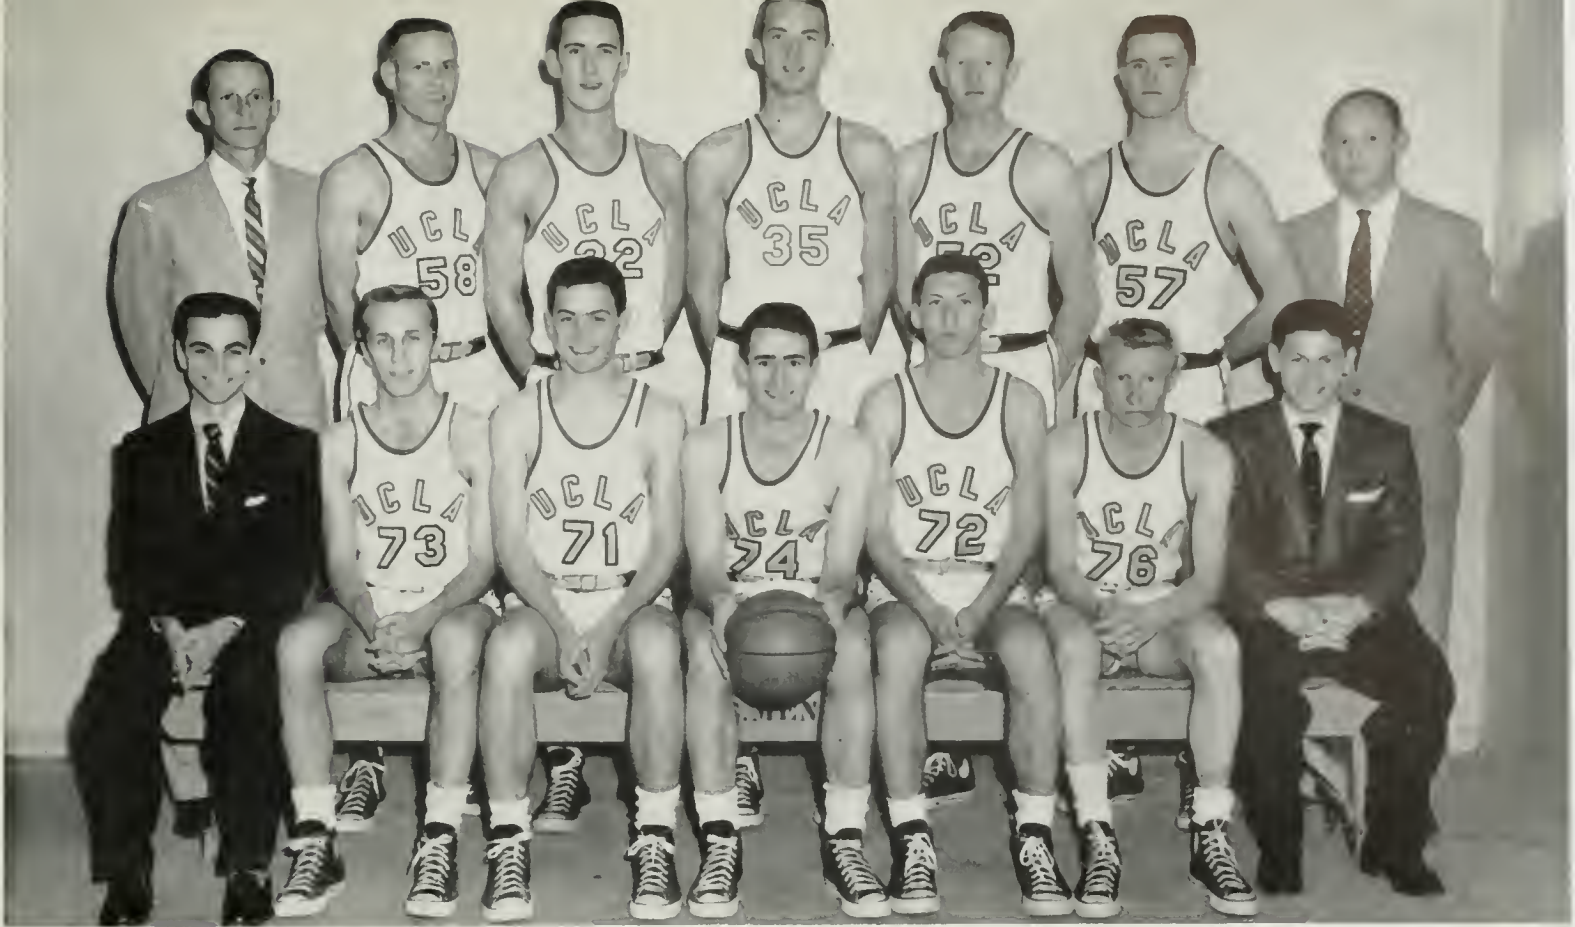

Coming up through the ranks of freshman ball and into the spotlight is Conrad Burke who is a Dorscy High alum.

Another newcomer to the Varsity Club ranks is Carroll Adams who held down the forward slot in the Bruin club.

Just arrived from two years JC ball is Dave Hall who played in the guard position for the U C L A casaba men.

Another JC graduate is Allen Herring who as a Junior weighed 160 pounds and played one of the forward positions.

Ben Rogers, who is just a sophomore, shows promise for the Bruin five next season as a fast-moving center man.

This was by far not the best season that the Brubabes have had. Coach Deane Richardson did a good job with the fine material that turned out but the other teams had the edge on height and speed. The real purpose of a freshman basketball team is to condition the men for the varsity team. This semester a number of boys were taken off the Brubabes roster and put in among the ranks of one of the finest varsity teams in the nation. Men such as Ben Rodgers, Conrad Burke and others will prove themselves worthy of the outfit they will wear when they play for the UCLA squad. The junior varsity is one of the best places for freshmen to learn the real techniques of ball handling and sportsmanship. UCLA is fast becoming one of the best places that an athlete can come to get the experience and fun out of playing in a game which is coached by such fine men as Deane Richardson and his great coaching staff.

Ducky Drake, the head track coach, helps ease the pain in the leg of a cinderman. A lot depended on Ducky, and he brought the team through with flying colors as per usual. The fine work done by Drake and by his assistants, plus the fine teamwork displayed by the cindermen added up to a great track season for the UCLA Bruins.

The '55 trackmen were undoubtedly the greatest team in all of UCLA track history. With only one loss in the season, which went to USC, the Bruins, for the first time since 1951, beat both Stanford and Cal. Twenty-seven meet records were broken and two were tied to give UCLA some undisputed prestige. In shotput Don Vick set a new record for the University, while Clyde Wetter broke the world's record for left-handed shotput; Wetter is the greatest shot-putter, pound for pound, in the world. Bob Seaman again came through for the cindermen and set a new time in the mile with a four-minute, 10.7 seconds mark, also doing a great job in the 880. Other outstanding men were Bert Kohnhorst, sprints, Jim Ball and Chuck Hollaway in the hurdles, Nick Dyer, high jump and Bob Jones, the javelin.

Billy Heil puts up a stiff argument to the deaf ears of little boy in blue.

Success was definitely the keynote for the varsity baseballers. Head man on the baseball diamond is Coach Art Reichle. Reichle has been running the show on Joe E. Brown field for twelve years. He also doubles as a frosh football aide. This season was a good one for the horsehidiers who won most of the conference games. Besides the regular game the Bruins had several encounters with the Fort Ord team and many other squads in the California area. The team is going to lose several of its players this season, but as usual the freshman baseball team will provide replacements. Coach Art Reichle hopes to have another set of good fielders and pitchers to start next year's baseball season.

With a large team the freshmen baseballers had plenty to call upon in an emergency. After going through their schedule, the Frosh feel that they have had a fairly good season, only losing five out of their last fourteen starts. Part of the trouble that faced the team as well as all the teams in spring sports was the threat of rain. There was not really a large amount of practice, but as can be seen by the scores there is plenty of material in the freshman ranks that somebody will be on the rosters of the Varsity. Good luck with your frosh team next season, Coach John Matulich.

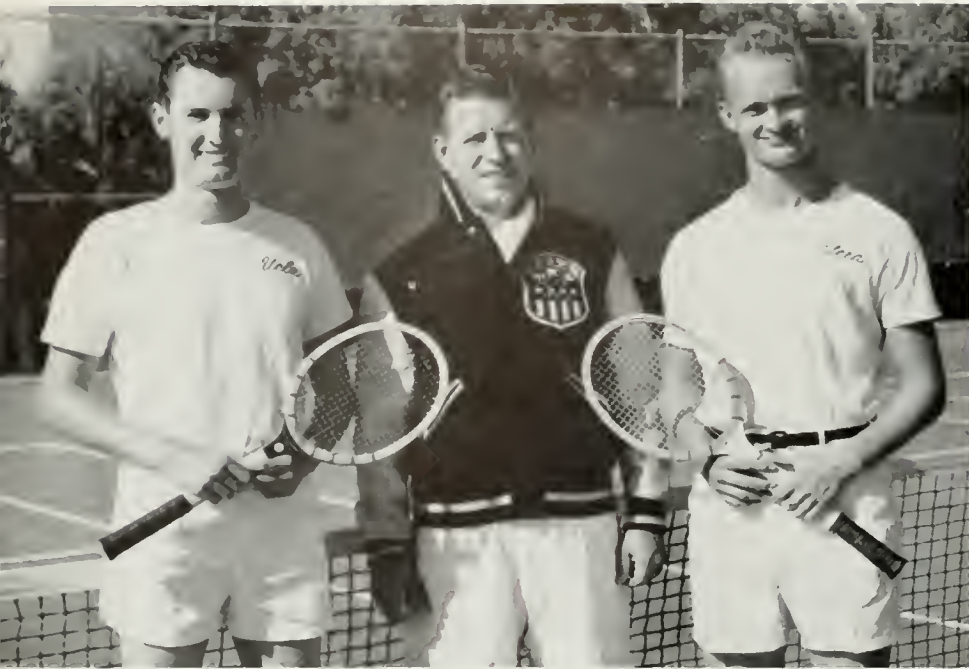

Coach John Matulich with the help of student manager Chuck Fenton shaped the freshman into a smooth running and fast moving club that really went places the past season.

Inter-collegiate champions Jim Read and Dick Doss, co-captains of the Varsity Tennis Team, interrupt a practice doubles game to talk over the success of the 1955 season with UCLA's outstanding racket squad coach, J. D. Morgan.

Four-year lettermen. Co-captains Dick Doss and Jim Read led the Varsity in defending the NCAA national champions, having won this title the last three years. Doss and Read were members of these championship teams and did their best at the North Carolina championships in June to make it four in a row. Doss was outstanding at the number one position, having beaten Cliff Mayne of Cal and Jacque Grigry of USC, losing only to Jack Frost of Stanford in the long three-set struggle. In the conference singles, Jim Read took the lead for the Bruins. A 6-3 loss at the hands of the Trojans snapped UCLA's record of thirty-one consecutive victories. The Bruins' chances improved by the winning of the California inter-collegiate team title at Ojai for the fifth straight year and winning the doubles with USC 5-4.

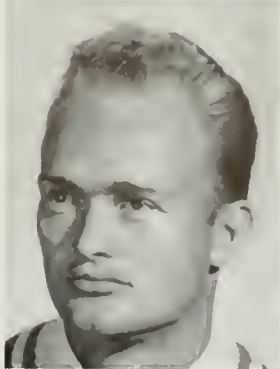

Jim Read, the varsity tennis co-captain and Number Two man on the team, is a three-time member of the national inter-collegiate championship team.

The Frosh Team was led by John Lesch, the '53 national junior champion, Mike Franks, Southern California junior champion, and at third and fourth positions by Franklin Johnson, national hard-court champ, and John Cranston, former national boys doubles cup winner and high-ranking junior. This is probably the best frosh team UCLA has seen and will aid the Varsity immeasurably. Franks and Lesch hold a double victory over Moss and Green of Modesto, who were members of the US Davis Cup Team. The UCLA frosh annihilated the Trojan frosh without the loss of a set in their first match and were favored throughout the season. As sophomores next year, this frosh group will make a strong bid to start UCLA on another three-year domination of the NCAA tennis championships.

Myron Franks, John Lesch, John Cranston, Frank Johnson, Coach J. D. Morgan (standing) and Aaron Johnson, Albert Prager, M. Mauri and Herman Rundle (seated) made up the list of the frosh racketeers.

Monday through Friday the UCLA crew can be found at Ballona Creek where the 2000 meter race, Olympic distance, is held. Three mile races, fast becoming the UCLA policy, are held at San Pedro Cerritos Channel. UCLA encouraged by the fifteen length victory over Stanford last year, was among the best national crews at the fifth annual Newport Regatta for the Western Spring Championship.

Junior Varsity crew members were George DaVall, Leonard Thomas, Ronald Housden, Joe Bremen, Bob Leventhal, Mal Smith, Bill Meyer and Larry Miller joined coxswain Gary Balenger to beat USC's crew.

gymnastics

With many of the men pictured above returning next season, the Bruins figure that they have a good chance of doing well in the PCC gym clashes against the strong northern teams. The rope climb and the high horse, two of the most difficult of all the events, give UCLA no trouble because of the outstanding men in the field.

Under the excellent direction of Ralph Berrilli the Bruin gym team again brought fame to UCLA. This season the squad hosted the AAU meets, but they were only able to take a second place spot. A strong team is returning next year, and Coach Berrilli hopes to place the Bruins high in the national ratings. This year the UCLA team was outstanding in the rope climb and rings. Being weak in a few of the other departments cost the Bruins some of the meets. But a strong will to win and a bunch of hard working boys will bring the prizes back to Westwood. Ralph has been at UCLA for several years, and he has always turned out one of the best gym squads on the West Coast. Good luck in '56.

The UCLA paddle boys were strong in the breast and backstroke but lacked depth in the other sections. But with men like Thayer and Schwartz returning next season, the swimmers shouldn't meet too much opposition except from the ever-powerful Santa Monica City College which turns out a good set of athletes in all sports.

Splashing their way to a not too successful season, the tankmen of UCLA hope to come through with the stuff next season. The duck-boys were strong in diving and the back and breast stroke but lacked the depth in the other departments. It seemed that the other schools were strong in what the Bruins lacked. Dick Smith, who is the present coach of the tankmen, is hoping to get some more new men for the team so that next season they will be ready for any squad that they might run up against. Again this season the Bruins had the help of returning team men, but this was not all that the team needed to win with. Good luck next season and bring some more honors back to the Westwood pool.

"This has been the best team that UCLA has ever had," said Norman Padgett, the coach of the Bruins Rugby team. This year UCLA hosted a team from Oxford-Cambridge and really gave them a run for their money. There is a chance that the team may be invited to play in the British Isles next year if everything goes right. This season a strong Canadian team was beaten three times by the hard-hitting Bruins. The forward wall of the team, as well as most of the team, is made up of football players. A few of the outstanding men were: Sam Boghossian, Steve Palmer, Primo Villanueva and many others. The football training that these men had helped a lot in this rough game.

The UCLA Rugby team might be hampered by the loss of some of the finest men to play the international sport. But Norm Padgett is confident that the football team will again produce a group of men that are in condition to play the rugged game against the fine squads of the Canadian All Stars and the Oxford-Cambridge men.

Coach Briggs Hunt, head wrestling mentor since way back in 1935, once again led his boys with the skill that made them one of the hardest mat squads in the southland area. Coach Hunt picks his men from the wrestling classes he teaches in gym. If a man proves that he has the reliability to be a matman, Coach Hunt will teach him holds and falls that are necessary for a good college wrestler to know. Then he is slowly but surely put up against tougher competition. The goal that a lot of the heavyweights strive for is to be like Big Jack Ellena who was the PCC heavyweight champion last year. Next year Coach Hunt hopes to give the Bruins another great mat team to bring home honors.

Coach Hunt is very happy with the way that some of the newcomers to the team are shaping up. Jay Novak and Robert Pierce have shown great talent in the heavy-weight class with many of the other men showing up very well in their respective classes. We look forward to another fine wrestling squad when fall rolls around.

Composed of members of the ROTC units at UCLA, the Rifle team has once again brought fame and glory to Westwood. The Bruins entered in the Southwestern Texas Invitational rifle match and placed third with the fine shooting of Richard Tatus who is an All American. A strong Bruin team hosted men from other western colleges in matches which showed the Bruins to be very powerful. Under the direction of Master Sergeant William Berry the team hopes to have a good number of the boys to return next season in order to keep the strength and spirits running high. In National Intercollegiate competition, UCLA placed fourth in the nation. The division matches were at UCLA.

Coached by competent trainer Joe Drury, UCLA's Cricket Team did a fine job in this season's games, playing one of the fastest-moving and ever-favorite sports of England which is but a comparatively new one to the sports fans of the United States.

The UCLA Cricket team had another one of its good seasons under the able direction of Joe Drury. But in one of the final matches of the season, a strong team from Oxford-Cambridge came through at the last moment and smashed the Bruins. A very sound reason for this loss is that cricket is played in England just as much as football is played in the United States. It is very hard for men to adapt themselves to a strange and different sport and put themselves up against a team which does nothing but travel over the country playing in exhibition matches. But with a little more practice the cricket team could be a fine and fast moving group displaying the fine sportsmanship.

The season started out with a big turnout for the tryouts. But the quality of the men was not up to the standards that are set by Vic Kelley, coach of UCLA's Golf Team. Out of the large group that turned out only four men were chosen to represent UCLA in the matches with California, Stanford and USC. But Kelley expressed hope for the UCLA team in the two important matches that were still to be played. If UCLA came through and won the two matches, it would be a good chance of taking the title away from the powerful Stanford Indians. But a school not offering a scholarship in golf can not begin to collect as fine a team of men as one where a scholarship is offered for good golfers.

This is one of the newest sports to be added to the long list that UCLA already has. With the great sailing weather this spring, Jack Taylor and Jordan Mo got the kids together for several good outings. With a lack of funds staring them in the face, the UCLA Sailing Club faced the problem of what the outcome of the club was going to be. Actually this is the second season the club has really been organized and they really have not had a good chance to get a foothold. Another thing that hampered the club was that none of the other colleges have a sailing club and no chance for an intercollegiate race is on the immediate schedule. We hope that something will come of this fine group of boys and girls.

These boys and girls have organized one of the newest organizations to come to UCLA, the Sailing Club. Jack Taylor, Marilyn Coleman, Jordan Mo, and Lewis Bedford have attempted to get several intercollegiate meets with the other western colleges.

Panhellenic is the union of sororities qualified for membership by meeting certain high standards. The Council is composed of two delegates from each of the national sororities on campus. At meetings policies are established and ideas are compared as they confer on individual problems. Their purpose is to cooperate with the University Administration in ideals for student life in order to best serve the whole University community. This organization sponsors workshop discussions, exchange dinners, Greek Week and the IFC-Panhellenic Retreat to bring about intersorority friendship. They also award a Panhellenic Scholarship Cup to promote scholarship achievement. This year's officers are president Charlotte Roen, Kappa; first vice president Adrienne Clark of Gamma Phi Beta; second vice president Barbara Seeley, Gamma Phi Beta; treasurer Audrey Brown, Alpha O; secretary Marilyn Taylor, Sigma Kappa; and a very fine executive secretary, Joy Ekdahl of Chi Omega.

House president Ann Davis guided the Alpha Chis through another most eventful season.

Beauty and activities were the keynotes for another successful year with the Alpha Chi Omegas. Crowns glittered on the heads of Dee Ross, senior attendant to the queen in Homecoming, and Francis Saba, queen of the Air Force Chandelle. Outstanding in activities were Mary Cook, the editor of Southern Campus; Louise Goon, guitarist and singing star of the Homecoming Show and the Kelp Review; Spur Marilyn Eacrett; and the generous sprinkling of Trolls: Marolyn Asaro, Arline Hans, Barabara Moore, Marquise Peek, Jean Williams, Building a Homecoming float with the Sigma Nus and entering Spring Sing with the Delts did not prevent the Alpha Chis from maintaining a high scholarship average.

President Marilyn Larson guided the ADChis through still another year of fun and work.

Another busy year for the ADChis resulted in a happy combination of activity and fun. Everyone enjoyed the exchange with the Alpha Gamma Omegas, who later joined forces with them to build a Homecoming float. A party was held for underprivileged children as a philanthropic project. During the holidays came the Christmas date affair. This year's party was a progressive dinner, having the theme of "Christmas Around the World." Between semesters everyone migrated up to the mountains for a Snow Sneak. Activity-minded ADChis included Diane Chase and Dorothy Namuth, two of the members of the A Capella choir. Lorraine Larson found some time to be active in the Pre-Registered Nurses Club, and Marilyn Lewis was in the Baptist Student Fellowship. There was much excitement over the National Convention held here in April.

Alpha Kappa Alpha boasts an outstanding program of UCLA and sorority activities. They sponsored the inter-sorority play day, a Turkey Trot, hosted the AKA regional conference, and did philanthropic work at Easter and Thanksgiving. Activities in which the girls participated are Kories, Marianne Fulcher; Phrateres, Flo Clarke, Ingle Luster and Diane Watson; Panel of Americans, Viv Credille and Viv Robinson, who served as the president of Stevens and on the Fall Drive.

Play-day, the Turkey Trot, and Mardi Gras are only a few of the activities in which the girls were participating this semester.

Mary Ann Buford, AKA president, led her girls through an exciting semester.

President Marion Roper led the ADPis in a successful year of prize-winning activities.

The ADPi house was the scene of constant activity beginning with winning the house decorations and skit for Homecoming to the annual Diamond Ball.

The Alpha Delta Pis began a successful year by winning the sweepstakes prize for their Homecoming house decorations. This was immediately followed by the first prize in the Homecoming Bar-B-Q skit contest. The pledge class presented its fabulous "Three Coins in a Fountain" party. Activities held the attention of several ADPis. Joan Kussy held the office of Senior Class secretary; Lyola Henry was a Mortar Board, and Barbara Reich was the AWS Model Josie chairman. Rally Committee occupied the time of Kathy Hyler, Dorrie Shaeffer, Pat Nelson, and Ann Altman. Trolls were Sheila Kelly, Pat Wilson, and Sylvia Robertson. Marlene Foltz was a member of Chimes, while Jodi Hoss and Joaquin Boscow belonged to Shell and Oar. The second semester found the ADPis practicing for Spring Sing with the Sigma Pis. The Diamond Ball was the perfect finish.

Moving into a newly-remodeled house put the AEPhis in the right spirit for a good year of activities. They joined the Phi Sigma Deltas to produce the most humorous float for homecoming, which was followed on the social calendar by a formal honoring their new pledges. Spring was spotlighted by the appearance of George Gobel at the bi-annual Charity Ball sponsored by the UCLA and SC AEPhi chapters. Many AEPhis found spots in student activities. Tommie Capelouto was elected president of both Trolls and Wings, chairman of Women's Week, AWS Board and chairman of Spring Blood Drive. Spurs claimed Sandy Lattin, Martha Simcoe, and Marilyn Milstein, Pat Goldring became an Alpha Lambda Delta and worked with Sylvia Schecter on Uni-Champ Board. Ina Steinberg and Maddie Guttman were chosen by Wings, while many girls were tapped for Trolls, and Esther Nathan was active in Panel of Americans.

This year proved to be very outstanding with so many ambitious members working on the various committees.

Under the leadership of Janet Berger, the AEPhis enjoyed their beautiful new house.

Alpha Gams, boast a year studded with activities and gala events. The fall semester was highlighted by the annual Christmas Formal held at the Hollywood Plaza. They also gave a party for children afflicted with cerebral palsy. In the spring, the girls, in conjunction with the Gamma Phis and the Alpha Phis, hosted a Syracuse Ball Spring Formal at the Sportsman's Lodge. They also enjoyed Spring Sing practice with the Lambda Chis. Chris McCoy was Southern Campus living group editor. Linda McCausland was chosen Scabbard and Blade queen. Pat Eggers wielded the gavel this year for AOPi, leading the active and house meetings.

Spurred on by winning the Spring Sing second place, women's division, a Panhellenic trophy, and a biffy for Uni-Camp during spring '54, the AOPis entered many activities this year. Margie Anderson was OCB policy chairman; Larie Elliot, Greek Week chairman, Shell and Oar vice-prexy; Audrey Brown, Panhellenic treasurer; Jody McNeilly, chairman of the February graduation, Women's Week chairman; and Kitchie Williams, the chairman of Junior Coop Day and Prom publicity. Editor of "Presby" was Rachel Bryant; assistant editor of "Beam" was Gerry Owen; while Sally Mosher took over the chairmanship of the AWS Philanthropy Committee. Along social lines was the initiation dance, a pledge Italian party, Homecoming open house, a Roman toga party given with the Alpha Sigs, and various Christmas festivities including a formal at the Bel-Air Club. Spring semester highlights were the formal at Romanoff's and initiation dance.

Even with school work and campus activities, the members found time for just having fun.

The gold rug was the greatest topic of conversation in the Alpha Phi house after it was remodeled for fall rushing. Among the many social events was the annual Alpha Phi-Sigma Nu Beer Garden party and the Syracuse Ball with Gamma Phi Beta and Alpha Gamma Delta in the spring. Their pledges were rescued by a US Navy patrol boat at four in the morning after spending most of the night on a ship in the LA Harbor after their ditch with the Deltas. Many honors were bestowed on the hard-working Alpha Phis. Jean Diether was the ASUCLA Vice-President and a member of Trolls. The Senior Class Vice-President, Sue Wood, was on Mortar Board. Clarann Johnson was a Chime member, while Rosemary Woolldridge was active in Religion in Life Week. Nancy Plummer participated in Mortar Board. Nancy Grobaty and Brigid Gray were members of International Board and Phi Beta Kappa, respectively. The Alpha Phis were led this year by prexies Barbara Holman and Theresia Long.

alpha xi delta

Terry Martin guided the Alpha Xi clan in activities and meetings in the second semester.

Alpha Xis began the fall semester by jointly sponsoring a Presents Open House with the Acacia and Zeta Psi fraternities. As their social calendar progressed, there were many memorable parties such as the Ski Jump and Monster Rally costume parties. The Hollywood Plaza Hotel was the background for the Winter Informal. The big event of the year was the annual Rose Ball which was held at the Bel-Air Hotel during the spring. Once again, activities were in the spotlight with Chris Poulos as a Sophomore Sweetheart and Clola Keene a Spur member. Karen Nielsen served as the president of Delta Phi Upsilon and Joyce Brickman and Joan Knight were also quite active in Phi Chi Theta. Alpha Xis on Rally Committee were Shirley Bach. Karen Nielsen, Clola Keene, Sue Tucker, Gretchen Kambietz, and Allene Kilough. Shell and Oar claimed Karen Nielsen, Joyce Brickman, Sue Tucker, and Chris Poulos; Southern Campus found Nancy Allen and Ruth Elerath.

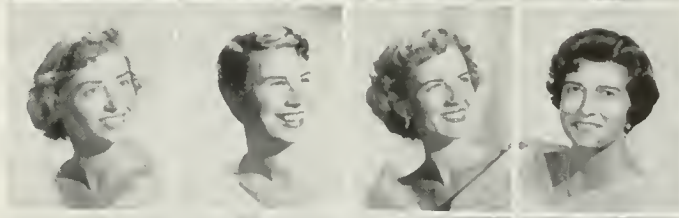

While waiting for the dinner bell, the girls spent their time in the afternoons on the back patio practicing up on their ping-pong game.

Helen Taniguchi took over the role of prexy and helped her sisters with all problems.

September brought twenty-four new pledges to the Chi Alpha Deltas. The Christmas season was very busy for the members, as they gave their annual Christmas Alumnae Luncheon when all exchanged gifts. Also during the holiday season Chi Alpha Deltas gave their traditional Christmas Formal which was held at the Riviera Country Club. The members supported the Christmas Drive and collected a basket of food for the needy. Between semesters the girls once again tripped up to the snow for skiing. This year twenty four of them went to Big Bear Ski Resort, returning home without a single broken bone. Spring began with pledge initiation and the formal dance at which the new actives were honored. A Valentine's Party was given at which all attending had a wonderful time, as they swept along with the party's romantic theme. For Mardi Gras the sorority sold flowers, and in April held a banquet with their alumnae Charter Day. June signaled the end of a successful year, celebrated with a beach party.

Julie Miselman, first prexy of the UCLA chapter, worked to overcome beginners' obstacles.

Delta Phi Epsilon joined Panhellenic on this campus in October, 1954. In just these few months they have participated in Mardi Gras and the Hillel Purim Carnival. The pledges were honored at a dance at the Crescendo in the spring. DPhiE members, along with other groups, diligently worked on the Hillel-sponsored community project which was to supervise a children's game room. Fraternity exchanges were numerous, but for the DPhiEs the highlight of the fall events was their New Year's Eve party. In the spring Delta Phi Epsilon held their Spring Formal and Mother-Daughter Tea. Already they are enthusiastically participating in all campus activities, and a very high honor was given to Sandy Perilmuter who was chosen for membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, the freshman women's honorary. Since their founding on this campus they have actively supported all UCLA functions both on and off the campus.

Songleader Dolores Dallons' sunny smile was an inspiration for Chi Omega's enthusiasm.

In spare moments the girls had a chance to get together for a chat and listen to favorite records, while looking over the scrapbook.

Winning the second place in the mixed division during Spring Sing in 1954 started the ChiOs off on the winning streak. Winning first place in the AWS Christmas Stocking Drive and winning the Little Man on Campus contest with the Phi Kappa Sigmas were two honors picked up by the house this year. A fall initiation dance at the Beverly Hills Hotel in the Rodeo Room and the annual dinner for the dads in conjunction with Men's Week were two of the activities on the social agenda for the fall term. The pledge party for that semester was the "Pago Pago Luau" at the Seacombers. Toys were given to the girls' dates at a Christmas Cocktail party. Spring functions included the initiation dance at the Santa Ynez Inn and the formal at the Miramar. Joy Ekdahl, house president the spring semester, worked hard in Panhellenic and Spurs. Johnna Moore was the AWS Publicity Chairman and also a Spur.

Tri Delts colored their calendar with many events, including their annual Pansy Ring Breakfast held in May; the Open House held for the purpose of gathering finances for three scholarships presented to women students at UCLA. their Star and Crescent Ball held in both fall and spring to honor their new initiates; building their Homecoming float with the Phi Kaps; participation in Mardi Gras and the Spring Sing, and a "Post Mortem" at the close of the semester. Dean Mason was Spurs' publicity chairman; Ruth Reiter, associate editor of SoCam; Marianne Garard, Mortar Board prexy, Shirley Roberts, village relations chairman for Homecoming; Martha Lindgren and Carol Imhof, who were chairmen of Uni-Camp Christmas Party; and Dee Dee Riley and Sally Hamiel, Daily Bruin office managers.

Even doing odd jobs around the house was fun for the Delta Gammas when girls with a little free time gave up a bridge hand to join in.

Dee Gees had a busy year in which the girls entered the Spring Sing mixed division with the Kappa Sigs doing their Holiday Medley. They were presented with the permanent Dads' Dinner Trophy and soon after they walked away with the Kappa Kappa Gamma Scholarship Award which was given to them during the AWS Dinner. They earned this recognition by attaining the highest scholarship on the row. Participation in intramurals and a devilish siege in getting their homecoming float together in time were also highlights of the semester. Mona McTaggart was Cal Club president; Sandy Sprague, Sophomore Class Secretary; Carol Strahan, Junior Class Vice-President; Susie Leonardson, AWS treasurer; and Gretchen Hall was chairman of Model Josie. The Delta Zetas raked in their share of the honors, capturing first place in intramural volleyball, the award for the best participation during Women's Week, and a prize for the most original float in Homecoming. Social activities began with a fall initiation dance, and the holidays brought a Christmas formal; "Mistletoe Magic" was the theme. In the spring a dinner-dance was held. The annual Elections Open House, which came along in May, added another success to the list. Activity girls included Gerry Croymans, the Senior Class Treasurer; Barbara Peck, Junior Class Secretary; Nancy Omelianovitch, Spur; Carolyn Hackamack, on Mardi Gras Executive Committee, and Beth Wood, a Spur, and the president of Shell and Oar.

Gloria Johnson, in addition to being house prexy, studied hard to obtain a scholarship.

delta sigma theta

Members of Delta Sigma Theta held their convention in New York this year and quite a few of the sisters from the Los Angeles chapters attended. Activities which individually and collectively went to make their year the success it was included their exciting and beautiful White Christmas Formal which was a gala event: the Founders Day Luncheon and their annual, anxiously awaited, Sweetheart Dance in February. The members of Delta Sigma Theta also awarded scholarships to those girls who worked diligently throughout the year, for the purpose of promoting a high-planned scholastic record for their own house and to inspire the girls to do their best. The girls who were recipients of the scholarship award this year were Gloria Johnson, Jean Foreman, and Angela Gilliam.

theta upsilon

Happy occasions with dates at formals and with Theta Upsilon sisters are recalled as a group of the girls reminisce over the sorority scrapbook and press clippings.

All recreation-minded Theta Us answered the call to the courts as the sorority participated in the intramural volleyball program. Time was also spent in working up a skit for the olio at the Homecoming Barbecue on the Kerckhoff Patio. The Men's Week Dance was heralded a success for Theta Upsilon, as the pledges came through with a one-hundred per cent attendance. Besides participating in Women's Week and Mardi Gras for campus activities, the sorority held many social functions. Among these were the Christmas formal, the Iris Ball, a rollicking hayride and other miscellaneous parties held at the sorority house. Members seen around Kerckhoff and in campus organizations were Carmen San Germain, Phrateres treasurer; Nancy Towle, president of Phrateres; and Lorene Elliott, who was a Sophomore Sweetheart. Bernadine Johnson was Alpha Chi Delta prexy, while Liz Thomas and Terry Parfin were kept busy with work on the Senior Class Executive Council.

Mary Anne Murphy enjoyed every aspect of her job while president.

Studies are temporarily put aside while the Gamma Phi Betas do some harmonizing to warm up for Spring Sing.

The Gamma Phis thrived on happy times under the guiding hand of President Sue Johnson.

A "Deep Purple" hue enhanced the Sportsmen's Lodge on the evening of the Orchid Ball presented by the Gamma Phis of UCLA and USC in the fall of the year. A Crescent Dance, the annual Christmas formal, and the Syracuse Ball held in conjunction with the Alpha Gams and Alpha Phis topped this season's social calendar. Winning the trophy for the most beautiful float with the Delts in the Homecoming parade brought shrieks of delight from Sophomore Sweethearts Janie O'Briant and Barbara Seeley. Janie was also a Spur and Barbara was vice-president of the Sophomore Class, second veep for Junior Panhellenic and a Spur. Enjoying the opportunity of wielding the gavel in the prexy's absence was Panhellenic veep, Adrienne Clark. Soon the excitement of the Junior Prom arose and a delighted Gamma Phi, Missy Griffin, was chosen to be one of the prom attendants. A girl who can be complemented on her spirit and enthusiasm in leading the student body in school songs at all the athletic events is Ruthy Joos. For outstanding service to the university above and beyond the average person, Sandy Kutin was tapped for Chimes.

Among the impressive display of honors for Kappa Alpha Theta were the first place trophy in women's quartet division in Spring Sing and the trophy for women's intramural swimming. The mixed group singing with SAE also sang their way into the finals. There were very few dull moments for the Thetas due to the Spring and Fall Drive open houses and their combined efforts with the SAEs to build the Homecoming float. There was the Theta-Fiji formal at Christmas, exchanges, and a patio dinner with Pi Phi's. Pat Price was a Model UN delegate. Gail Rising was a Cal Clubber, a Chime and AWS vice-president. Judy Pickard served as Spurs president, and Nancy Fletcher was outstanding as Greek Week co-chairman. And Uni Camp counselors were Darlene Dwyer and Sandy Powers.

The KDs had a busy year which started off with their annual State Day Convention, held at the Bel-Air Hotel. Highlighting the social calendar for the fall semester were the initiation dance and the Diamond Dagger Formal that was at the Sportsmen's Lodge in December. This was followed by a Christmas Open House later in the same month. In the spring, the White Rose Formal was the main social event. In the activities spotlight were Sophomore Homecoming Attendant Dixie Gott and Junior Prom Princess Barbara Ellis. Spur Sue Pittman was AWS Orientation chairman while Kathe Knope served as Copy Editor of Southern Campus. In Trolls were Virginia Millican, Neta Kleaveland, and Ellie Stones. The KD quartet, a winner of the Spring Sing Frank Bull Award, was also heard on campus and again in Spring Sing.

This year was a very profitable one for the Kappa Kappa Gammas with so many activities and honors won by the girls. They received Most Profitable and Most Beautiful awards in the Mardi Gras with the SAEs and sponsored Primo Villanueva for "Little Man on Campus," winning third place. The Powder Bowl football game ended with the score 20-0 with the Kappas winning over the Delta Gammas. The formals were the Kappa-Beta Christmas formal and Kappa-Fiji Spring formal. Sue Downing, Shelby Hunsinger, and Diana Millholland all were members of Spurs, while Trolls tapped Bobbie Bath, Char Roen, Lorna McPherson, Gay Horton, and Joyce Larson. Betty Bernard was the Homecoming Queen, while Janet Seward was Junior Prom Queen. Janet and Viva Hamblen helped bring up the spirit as song leaders. The Phi Mu house added two new trophies to their collection with the winning of first place for their Christmas decorations, and for 100 per cent attendance by the pledges at the Men's Week annual Rally Dance. When a Kansas chapter house burned down, the Phi Mus gave a dinner to raise money for a new house. The Phi Mu pledge class presented a Record Party for the actives. In December, the annual Snowball formal was held at the Beverly Wilshire. Activity-minded members included Anne Goddard, Margie Thomas, Marion Troyer, and Bette Beck, members of Shell and Oar; Helen Souther, Pauline Porter, and Julie Purkiss on Rally Committee, Julie Culliton was a member of Spurs, while Grace Morehead was Panhellenic Secretary. The successful year ended with participation in Spring Sing and Mardi Gras, and with the perfect end, the annual Carnation Ball.

Leading the peppy Phi Mus through another busy year was President Margaret Johnson.

Phi Sigma Sigma's active members started the semester off with a bang. Evelyn Grossman gave her valuable time to the Daily Bruin as Social Editor and Supplements Editor besides finding time as General News Assistant for the ASUCLA News Bureau. For her outstanding work she became a member of Pi Delta Epsilon Journalism Honorary. The musically inclined were Angela Gitelson and Marlene Goodman on the Sigma Alpha Iota Music Honorary executive board. Excitement ran wild through the house when Shirley Ann Shafer was tapped for Spurs and Jo Kurtz for Trolls. The Phi Sig Sigs walked away from the Hillel Vaudeville Show with the sweepstakes award; they also participated in the Olio Show. All of the girls were anxiously waiting for Mardi Gras. The most excited of all, however, was Timy Sherman, who occupied a big position on the Executive Committee for the carnival. This gave the girls another reason to avidly support Unicamp.

Diane Rogaway initiated several programs to help Phi Sigma Sigma actives and pledges.

Like all other Bruins, Phi Sigma Sigmas had to budget their time to include studies and social affairs.

Midst an atmosphere unfamiliar to Robin Hood and Little John, the Pi Phis Golden Arrow Dance held at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel was a fall sensation. A week-end informal given at the Palm Springs Tennis Club highlighted the spring semester. Serving the interests of the university were Spurs Jere Wright and Peg Manuel, Chimes President Marilyn Strickland, Treasurer Peggy Albin and Clydeen Kintz and Joyce Clasen. A number of queens and sweethearts reigned over the year's outstanding social events. They included Sandy Swartzel, Sweetheart of Sigma Chi; Sophomore Sweetheart Jere Wright, and AFROTC Military Ball Princess Toby Livingston. Tapping was a thrilling moment for Jean Cowan, Babs Bystrom and also Jean Lambert who were Wings, and for Jere Doud, Joyce Dickson, Julie MacFarland, and Emily Holliday all of the "dixie-cup toting" Trolls.

Many of the members were active on campus, and some of them received scholastic honors. A very outstanding honor came to Carol Hyman, who was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. Joni Gerson and Joan Weissman were Chimes, Barby Sampson and Barbara Hochman were Sophomore Sweethearts, Charlene Bernstein acted as chairman of AWS Orientation, Linda Friedman became a Spur; while Paulette Attie joined the Trolls and kept things lively.

Joan Cougler directed Sigma Kappa through a year full of achievement.

Shrieks of delight were heard among the Sigma Kappas as it was announced that they had won not only the sweepstakes in sorority division for their homecoming float, but the first prize for house decorations as well. Their popular pizza booth at Mardi Gras also proved to be a great success. A busy social season included such functions as the bi-annual Violet Ball honoring the new actives, a date dinner, the Neanderthal Ball which is given in conjunction with the Sigma Chis, a Christmas tree-trimming party and costume party, "Santa's Workshop," given by the pledges. Sigmas outstanding in activities were Judy Toner, who was both the chairman of Co-ed Auxiliary and a member of the homecoming executive board, Risha Malotke, Spur and associate chairman of the YWCA. Joanne Major and Sue Faulkner were Spurs, Marilyn Taylor, Panhellenic secretary. Trolls got Margie Orr, Joan Cougler and Beverly Taylor. Another year had gone by much too quickly.

The newly-acquired television set in Sigma Kappa's den attracted a large audience and was much enjoyed by all.

Zeta Tau Alphas topped off a most succesful year by winning the prize for the most beautiful float in Homecoming in the sorority division. They were finalists in the Spring Sing and also won the Blood Drive Trophy. They chose the Biltmore Bowl for their initiation dinner-dance and traveled to the Beverly Wilshire Hotel to swing and sway at their annual White Violet Ball. The belles were "bella. bella." at their Italian Party and later on celebrated the Christmas season with a tree-trimming party. Members who participated in campus activities were Mary Ann Pitney, who was tapped by Spurs; Jeanette Wichmer acted as Approvals chairman for Mardi Gras. Doretta Keith was Spring Sing art director in '54, and Carolyn Rogers became its approvals chairman in '55. Carol Taylor, Shirley Sellers, Leah Day, and Joyce Hertzberg were on UCLA's Rally Committee. Laurie Quanstrom became a new member of Shell and Oar.

interfraternity council

Tom Brooks was well qualified for his dual role as Phi Delta Theta and IFC president.

President Tom Brooks found his Executive Secretary Don Atherton indispensable in helping to solve problems which came before the IFC Judicial Board.

UCLA's Interfraternity Council served as the guiding light and coordinator of the activities of all 35 social fraternities on campus with the university, the community, and each other. A self-governing body, the IFC held bi-weekly dinner meetings at the various fraternity houses. A big part of the tremendous job performed by IFC is rushing management. This year a new program of orientation was put into effect to benefit all rushees. Another worthy project of IFC was the sponsoring of a scholarship to bring a foreign student to UCLA. The biggest project of the year was Greek Week. Included in the top events of the week were the Greek meets, a dinner banquet, exchange dinners, the workday at Kenter Canyon, and the grande finale, the Grecian Nights Dance at the Del Mar Beach Club. IFC and Panhellenic co-sponsored the dance as well as a joint president's retreat to restful Coronado for a weekend of relaxation.

When the president was in absentia Vice Prexy Don Champlin called the board members Frank Fleisher, Tom McGaughy, Dick Hall and John Peterson to order.

acacia

Active as ever, the Acacians far exceeded themselves this year, winning first prizes during Homecoming for house decorations and entertainment and having men in virtually all campus activities. Bob Mennell and Bob Shaw were with Rally Committee, Don Crum, Bruce Follette, John Weaver, George Jones, and Dave Bullock with Phi Mu Alpha, Bill Ullmark and Lance Fletcher on the DB staff, and Larry Connell and Norm Stewart joined John George in Kelps. On the gayer side, the house remembers the day pledge Dave Jones put a tape recorder in a sorority pledge dorm . . . then played the recording at their exchange the next night. And almost any night, when gay troubadours of the house had little else to do, they would stage impromptu serenades up and down the row under a midnight moon. The big blasts of the year included the Sand Blast, the Fools' Frolic, the Pajama Game, and the Disaster Party. Black and White Formal and the Wintergarden Formal stood high as traditional events long to be remembered. Thus went the social, political and scholastic Acacia year.

Many of the intellectual AEPis climbed to new heights during endless seminars at the modern house on Gayley.

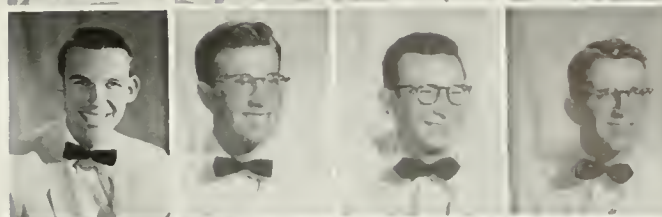

President Charles Friedman did his best to uphold the high scholastic average of AEPi.

Well settled this year in their new ultra-modern house on Gayley, brave AEPis threw caution to the wind and swung all doors and windows wide to usher in the crowd attending their All-U Open House after the SC game. Celebrating a big triumph in the Homecoming parade when their artistic creation won the most beautiful float division, this ne'er to be forgotten fete was only a preview of the great events to come. The "Tropical Treat," the winter and spring formals, and the semi-annual initiation dances were just a few of the highlights on a busy social calendar. A campus activity boys rundown included Paul Turner, Norm Epstein, and Les Hurwitz. Les served on the Welfare Executive Board, NSA, and Yeomen. Norm was a member of Gold Key and acted as NSA coordinator on SLC. The first place in scholarship was something to be proud of for the socially active AEPi's.

High on a Landfair hill the bell tolled for the boys of Alpha Sigma Phi. Don Champlin and Gary Smith fulfilled the duties of the house presidency during the fall and spring semesters respectively, and maintained the reputation of the house as a social center for the twenty-sixth year. The Alpha Sigs joined Kappa Kappa Gammas in sponsoring an Open House for the Olympic Fund. Christmas "spirit" was prevalent at the Beverly Hills Hotel where the annual Christmas Formal held sway amidst the merry holiday decorations. Some of that "spirit" carried over to March 26th when the Alpha Sigs celebrated their Silver Anniversary of the Black and White Spring Formal held at the Bahia Hotel in Ensenada, Mexico. Brothers who tore themselves away from the hill to participate in campus activities included Don Rose, Jack Horger, and Don Champlin. Rose was active in Greek Week and campus political circles, while Horger worked on Mardi Gras, and all Alpha Sigs were busy at the "Beachcomber."

The "hairy chested men" of the hilltop house on Strathmore discovered their musical talents and kept the joint jumpin' when Spring Sing was just a memory.

ATO was led through a "howling-mad" semester by Steve Boyle, blossoming theologian. Messing about in all phases of campus life, the "hairy-chested men" can look back on one of their most successful years. Socially, they were right in there. The Palm Springs Weekend, a three-way formal with the Oxy and SC chapters, and the ever-tremendous Heidelberg Open House were the big affairs . . . with assorted parties here and there to take up what little time was left. Vampira left her job handling lay-away accounts at the morgue to ride their Homecoming float. They sponsored the DG Tigers in the Beer Bowl Game. In the activities field they had members in Kelps, Phi Phi, Yeomen, Gold Key, and Dudes. Their intramural keg-rolling team was led by Swivel-Hips Donato to another smashing defeat at the field of combat, but all in all it was a successful year for the staunch men.

Man's best friend didn't always display the fraternity spirit, but the BST brothers did.

Starting off the fall semester with an open house Beta Sigma Tau embarked on another big year. With two capable prexies, Milt Kagan and Dick Hook, at the helm to guide them, the boys of the Brentwood manor once more prided themselves on being an intercultural, interracial social fraternity based on the spirit of true brotherhood. Carrying this spirit of brotherhood over into campus activities were Fernando Del Rio, Bill Black, and Dick Hook. Dick was active in the CCUN, while Bill was a member of the Council for Student Unity. Fernando organized the Mexican-American Club. The annual trek to Ormsby Village youth camp was the workday all enjoyed. Exchanges and parties filled the gap between the fall and the famous "flunk-out" party.

The Chi Phis proved that they all were red blooded American boys as they won the blood drive trophy for the second time in succession. Backing this up was their success in the Intramural Basketball League which was the proof that they could be both athletes and scholars. Building a Homecoming float was another way in which the Chi Phis developed their muscles. They used up any excess energy in campus activities. Dick Turnblade shouted commands as NROTC unit commander and joined John Frey and Ted Borock sorting Rally Comm cards. Leo Burns was vice prexy of the BusAd honorary, Alpha Kappa Psi. Socialwise the annual "Cuban Nights" party was the hot event of a busy year as Chi Phi's unusual exchanges rounded out the social wheel.

What'll you have? . . . This space is reserved for Chi Phi root beer mugs.

Social events of the year were on the usual high keel for the Betas with the Miami Triad, the Kappa-Beta formal and a real blast . . . the Luan Party. After recuperating from a few of these fiascoes, members were found wandering around Kerckhoff trying to get into activities. Betas who were in the campus spotlight were Bob Emenegger, producer of the Varsity Show, and John Considine, who wrote the score for the production. Jay Novak did the art work for this year's Southern Campus, while John Peterson was president of Varsity Club. John was co-captain of the gridiron team and Don Bragg, of the varsity hoopsters; both were members of Cal Club. delta chi Tom McGaughey served as president of Delta Chi and as an active member of IFC board.

The fall semester brought Delta Chis various house parties and exchanges which came to a climax in December with a White Carnation Ball held at the Del Mar Hotel. Activities didn't lag, thanks to such industrious members as Paul Rude, the secretary of ESUC and president of the electrical engineering department of ESUC; Bob Lampton, secretary of the electrical engineering department; Pierre Vacho, Delta Kappa Alpha, the motion picture honorary; Tom McGaughey, representative at large on IFC executive board; Mike Roberto, representative at large for ESUC; Gordon Benhard, corresponding secretary of Tau Beta Pi, the engineering honorary, and varsity crew man Bob Amstadter. Building a Homecoming float and having a booth in Mardi Gras numbered among the year's projects. They also announced that they have the blueprints for a new home to be built on Gayley.

The biggest penny pitchers of the Delta Chi house placed their bets on Bruin victories and bearskins.

President Bernard Harris cracked the whip as Kappa Nus moved into their "Nu" campus home.

Fresh from a wet triumph in the Greek Week chariot races the Kappa Nus sat back to reflect on such noteworthy events as the establishment of a campus home, and the graduation of the remaining founder member in June. Irwin Hirshorn and Mort Schwartz, both Phi Eta Sigmas, hoisted scholarship; George Lauer, desk editor of the Daily Bruin, and Joe Merdler, editor of the AFROTC Wingtips, were the activity men. Merdler spent all of his spare time on the varsity cricket field. Everyone agreed that their homecoming float was a true work of art, representing hours of fun and hard work. Arnie Babbín was the KN entry for the Homecoming Show. The social whirl included such highlights as the snow trip, theater parties, a four day blast at Berkeley for the Cal game, a "Kappy New Year" blowout, a hobo party, and the Kappa Nuau Luau. Things were far from spiritless.

The year's activities of the Delta Sigs were sparked by the success of their float in the Homecoming parade. On hand to toast the sweepstake winner were the many members who were participants in the support of many campus activities. The Delta Sigs boast such active members as Dave Gorton, Freshman Class president; John Odabashian, able Kelp president, and Stan Hughes, money-making treasurer of the Sophomore Class. A weekend exchange in the snow, a sailor's ball and their annual winter formal, the Carnation Ball, brightened the social season. Bud Ashworth, AMS vice-president and Junior Class treasurer Mike Gomez, were among the crew that set sail for Catalina and their spring formal. In addition to placing first in the Spring Sing novelty section, the Delta Sigs added to the force behind the past season's successful football team. An impressive number of its members adorned the roster. During the long season, rooters cried for 'Wham Bam' Sam Boghosian, Terry 'Hey Hey' Debay and Jim Decker.

The big gray Delt house again came through with some top socialites and athletes. At the dean's request the fabulous Barbary Coast Party had to be postponed a year, but a Delt luau held in a Beverly Hills canyon was a nice replacement. A joint effort with the Gamma Phi's provided a trophy for the most beautiful float in the Homecoming parade. The Christmas season was celebrated with the Tri Delt-Delt formal. The Delts per usual breezed through their finals to throw a great Post-Mortem party with the Kappas, Tri Delts, and the Betas. In athletics they won the intramural sportsmanship trophy and brought home both the basketball and the volleyball championships. A few of the men were prominent in UCLA's athletic program. These were All-American and lineman of the year Jack Ellena and rugby stars Roger White and Don Duncan. In track Bob Hunt broke the school record in the two mile and was captain of the cross-country team. Bill George and Norm Von Herzen were co-captains for the swimming team. Out on the volleyball courts, Mike O'Hara, Mal Riley, Rolf Engan, and Don Smith were All-American. Between sports and parties, Delts tried to study a little.

Intramurals took up a good deal of time in the afternoons for the Kappa Sig's; but all was not wasted, for they racked up some tidy honors for the fraternity. Ending up third in the intramural rating, they were league champs in both volleyball and bowling. The perennial Bowery Party and an Arabian Nights got things off to a good start. The weekend formal at Christmas, held at the Del Mar Hotel, and the Bum's Rush Party sort of finished everything. In addition, there was a family banquet to give parents an opportunity to see where their money was going. The Punch Bowl with the ATOs, DGs and the Kappas was as usual termed a success. Big wheels and little spokes were seen all over the campus. Skip Byrne, ASUCLA president, was one of the outstanding members. Skip's work was something for the house to be really proud of. Bruin business managers were Jack Ferguson and Wally Truesdale; Scop's was John Price. Curt Owen edited DB features; Don McCampbell was band drum major.

Hal Angle did his best to keep the boys of the redwood home in line and out of trouble.

Having begun that modernistic trend in fraternity house design, the Lambda Chis this year were looking across campus for some new worlds to conquer. Led by Presidents Harold Angle and Jared Carter, the brothers brought back just about everything from an auctioned sorority pledge class to some top Men's Week and Spring Sing trophies. Athletically they participated in, and even managed, the baseball, track, swimming, and the water polo teams. The social program was filled by exchanges and serenades, the gigantic Cross and Crescent formal and those fantastic parties like the Parisienne and the Alcatraz. Yeomen Benson, Shenas, Johnson, and Foster and Kelp Proctor kept things jumping. Reid and Shenas, Men's Week chairman, were on Spring Sing committee; Johnson and Bush, on Homecoming. Foster was IFC junior executive secretary and Southern Campus sports editor.

The men of the Big Blue Castle once again blazed through a glorious year. Having completed the new wing to house the trophies the Phis pointed towards their third straight All-U intramural title. IFC president Tom Brooks and "little big man" Rene Miller led the brothers and a big black canine through such orgies as the Miami Triad, which was held with those same old people from down the street, the Phi Delt-Dee Gee formal, hill parties, waterfights and the notorious "Hog-wallow." All-American brother Bob Davenport "pogoed" a bit on the gridiron; while tennis co-captains Dick Doss and Jim Read led the Bruin "Racquet Squad," and Dave Drum starred for the swim team. Cheerleader Tony Rexrode had time for Kelps along with Al Lundy, John Martin and Bill Young. After Cal weekend and Balboa "functions" the Phis settled down to maintain their 3.0 average, but were saddened to find that Rocky didn't make his grades. It was a great year for the Greeks.

The "Big Voice" of President Tom Brooks led the brothers through numerous Phi functions.

Fiji house strength fell to a new low in the past year as seven men were drafted, leaving only the president, Roger Johnson, and the second semester pledges to carry the load. Social pro vanished, replaced by a calendar filled with the Kappa-Fiji, Theta-Fiji formals, roadhouses, islanders, exchanges and many other minor orgies that left sorority row in a virtual swoon. The philanthropic spirit was rampant as once again the brothers threw a Christmas Eve beer bust for underprivileged orphans and held raffle after raffle for the Russian editors exchange. Jim Collier was the man on Dude's relay team. New heights were reached in scholastic achievement by establishing quiet hours from three to four a.m. three days a week. And so with an eye to the future, the Fijis have elected Roger Comerford as their new prexy to lead the Fijis somewhere in the coming year.

Athletes were overrunning the Phi Psi house but there wasn't a scholar among them. In intramural volleyball, skiing and swimming the Phi Psis were the all-university champions. Jack McKay was a member of the football varsity team while Art Hutchins, Lathan Brewer and Al Bailey went out for frosh basketball. Conrad Burke and Dale Brudvig were real "Wooden's boys." The Washington-Jefferson Phi Psi-Fiji duo at the Del Mar Club and a weekend formal at the Mission Inn composed a basic social calendar. Attempting to woo sorority row they threw their annual pajamarino. Supplementing the social calendar the Phi Psis threw an exchange here and there with a few of the houses on Hilgard. A real boast of the house was Jerry Eckerman, who won second place in the Little Man on Campus contest. An occupant of Kerckhoff Hall was Gordon Treharne, chairman of the Greek Week dance and a member of Sophomore Council. Winning the nation-wide Flagpole Squatters of America Award was George Cuning, a real All-American. Not satisfied with an ordinary serenade, they established Spring Sing: now just look what's happened!

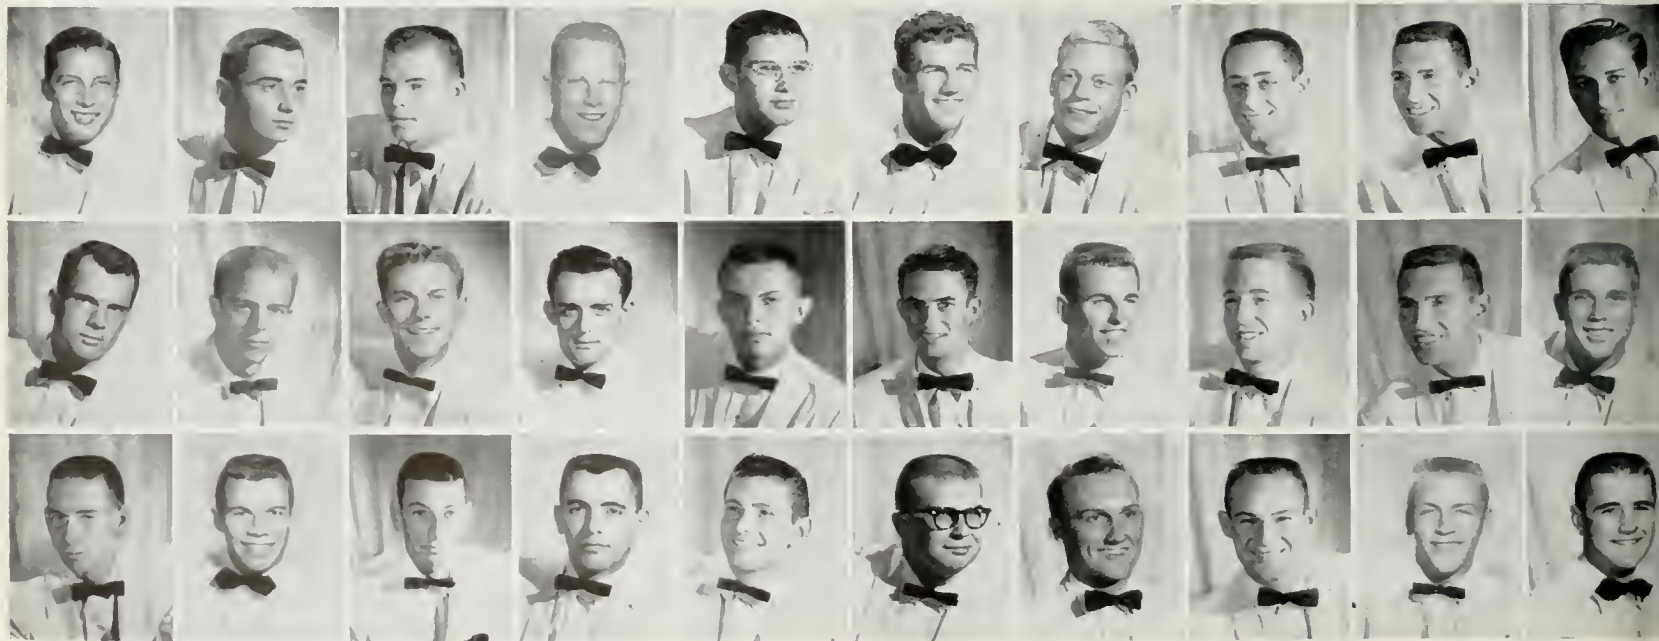

Workouts for the athletes were rugged endurance tests that were hard to stand up under.

In the fall semester the big Black Alpha of the Phi Kap house was Prexy Harry Heidel.

Fellow Kelps Pete Nelson, George Millay, and Dick Tatus were awed by the antics of Kelp veep Jim Garofalo while Roger Todd cavorted on the hardwoods. And Pete Nelson, Bob Thompson, and Dick Knaub galloped for the thinclads. Activity man Bill Spivak threw the Dublin Ball for the Frosh-Soph Classes. Striving to maintain their lead in intramurals the boys of the Skull House ended the year with President Eisenhower's greeting to all of the seniors.

The Phi Kappa Taus crammed an eventful social schedule into the gaps between Homecoming, Mardi Gras and Spring Sing. First came the Red Carnation Ball, held at the Players. Paul Ruch did an admirable job at the helm of the TKE crew during the fall semester.

Teke celebrated the close of another great year. They reminisced over such gala events as the exciting Red Carnation Ball which was presented this year at the Beverly-Wilshire Hotel in an atmosphere of stateliness and grace. They were the proud owner-builders of the smallest complete float in UCLA's annual Homecoming parade. Getting together with their SC chapter, they co-hosted a gay and warm get-together which will provide a lot of memories for years to come. Their pledges vied with actives in friendly football games. They also had the presence of mind to take off to Colorado for a little skiing and a lot of living between semesters to relieve the stress and strain of school. Teke Dick Kerr was prominent as an officer in UCLA's Arnold Air Society, Hurley Squadron, doing his part for the Teke brothers.

The Phi Sigs began the year by building a prize winning Homecoming parade float with the AEPhis. Following this, outstanding events of the social calendar consisted of a pajamarino, "The Las Vegas Affair," and the Hawaiian Luau. Highlighting the spring semester were their Spring Formal and "The Gold Rush." In the activity spotlight were Allan Lasher, lower division rep and Yeoman president. Other Yeomen were Dave Gill and Dick Franklin. Armin Hoffman produced the Homecoming Show and served as Phi Sig president. Gold Key claimed Dick Orgell, Basil Clyman, Armin Hoffman, Bob Stein, and Paul Selwyn. Gold Key prexy. Bob Stein also held the AMS presidency. Baseballer Gary Concoff led the letterman parade which included Dave Entin, Sandy Goldberg, Al Lasher, Mo Corn, and Paul Selwyn. Sanford Goldberg also served as the personnel director of ASUCLA for this year.

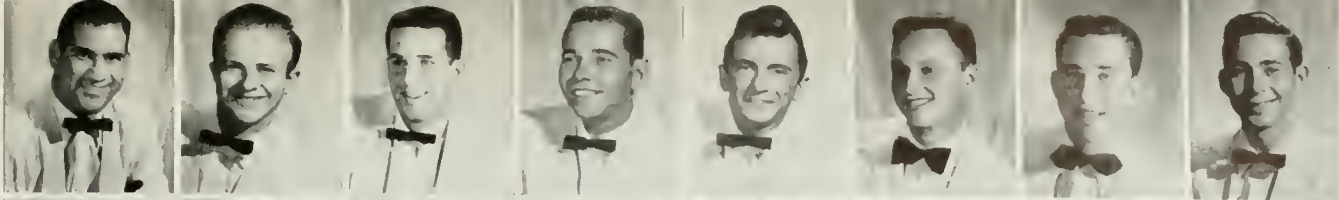

Armin Hoffman took time off at Christmas to play the piano on the USO tour up to Alaska.

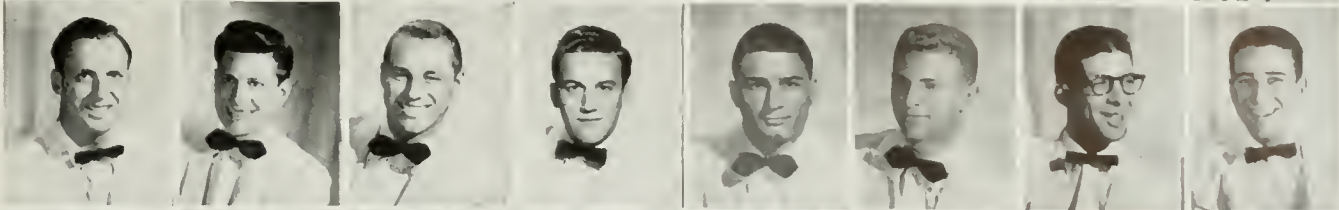

Everyone turned out for the bridge games in the afternoon, but every once in a while their very smallest player fell asleep.

Sneak photo catches the Pi Lambda Phis playing a little basketball on the modern court.

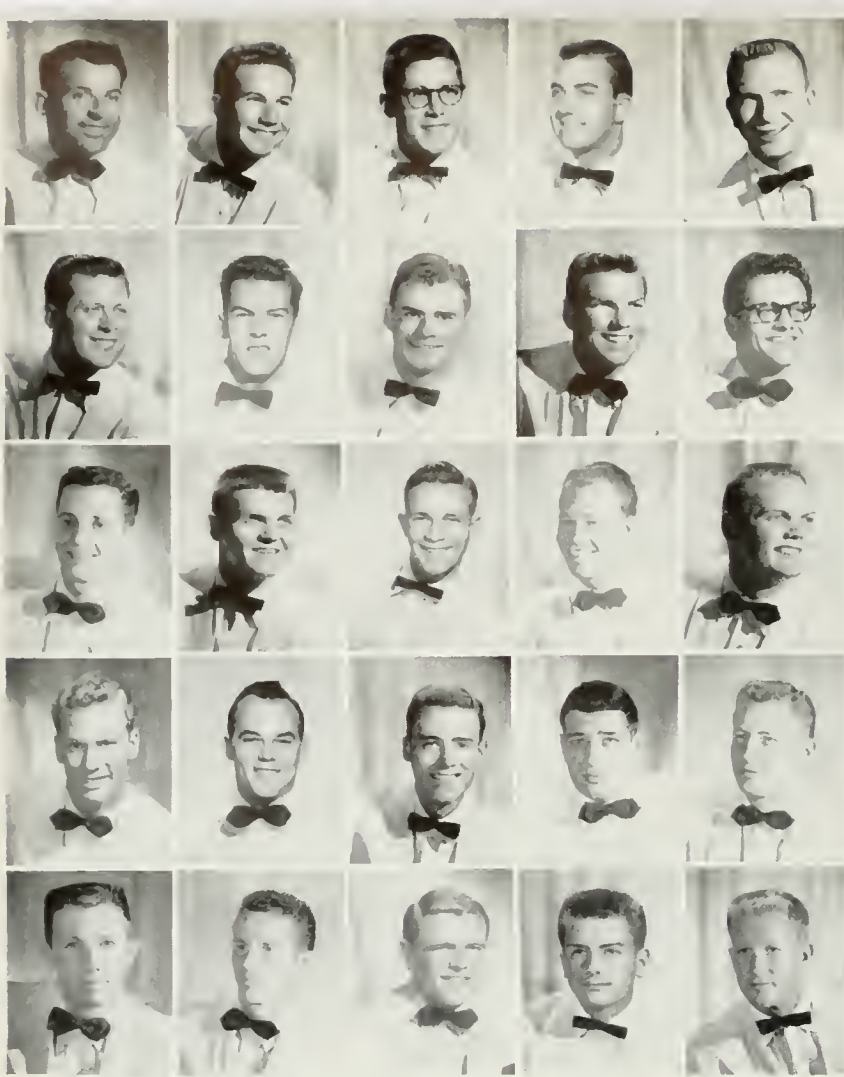

pi lambda phi

The amazing Jerry Dorfman led Pi Lams on through another year of action and surprise.

Paced by long Jerry Dorfman and pudge Jess Beim, Pi Lambda Phi had another banner year. Trophies, awards, and championships helped out a great social and athletic season. The South Sea Spree, a fabulous Monte Carlo, two formals, and a Heaven and Hell party rounded out a scoring two semesters. On campus, Dick Borum and Don White were in Gold Key, with Dick being secretary-treasurer, while Steve Platt was in Yeoman. Borum was a co-chairman of the Junior Prom and worked on Spring Sing while Don was chairman of rallies. IFC secretary Steve Platt was on Greek Week and Stan Naftaly served as chairman of the Cerebral Palsy drive. Athletically, Stan King was a top frosh sprinter and Larry Grossman finished his third year of varsity golf. A championship basketball season topped a successful intramural year for all at 711 Gayley.

Those SAEs are at it again. After walking away with last year's Mardi Gras honors, it seems they've returned for a repeat performance, aided and abetted by the likes of the Kappas. What's more, after copping no less than three first places in last year's Spring Sing, they entered this year with the Tri Delt in the mixed division and into the Men's Group, Novelty, Odd Ball and Quartet divisions. They also conjured a lulu of a Homecoming float, due to the Theta savoir faire. The social butterflies fitted from the Tri Delt snow week-end to moonlight magic at the Kappa Luau to a rollocking folk dance with the Dee Gees and finally their afternoon and evening party with the Thetas. They got themselves in shape for their truly fabulous Masquerade and the Delta Ball by playing in and winning the All-U Softball championships. Prominent in UCLA activities was Bob Rosetta, Men's Week chairman, Roger Poyner was on Dublin Ball Committee and Yeomen. Ron Florence was chairman for Men's Week Stag and also for the Junior Prom Queen Contest. Mike Payer lent his talents for planning events to UCLA's "Greek Week."

A campus-wide survey showed that the Sammie house was one of the finest SAM chapters at UCLA. Reasons for this were their basement swimming pool caused by leaky pipes and the intramural record highlighted by hard fought victories over some of the strongest sororities on campus. Their social program was marked by their semesterly Father-Son banquet held at Giro's, their quite gay Sweetheart Formal and enthusiastic participation in UCLA's Homecoming, Mardi Gras, and intramurals. Pent-up frustrations of "social pro" gave way to the dances and parties and weird entertainment for which the Sammies were noted. Norm Jacobs, head yell leader, Cal Clubber and Gold Key, was joined in glory by Stu Hackel, PiDE proxy and Gold Key, DB City Editor was Phil Berk; Ben Green and Marv Sherman, Kelps and Yo-Yos, Posing for pictures with the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi made John Maller's job enjoyable.

Sigma Chi came of age this year with the advent of its one hundredth anniversary. Festivities took place at Miami University with the Sigma Chis from all over making a mass migration for the celebration of their centennial year. With graduation the house saw the loss of Ben Bennett, who was an outstanding member of the chapter. A few improvements were made on the house in terms of redecorating and refurnishing the interior and constructing a new parking lot, in addition to adding more recreational equipment. Sigma Chis were startled but pleased as IFC reported that they had jumped from the twenty-fifth spot to fifth in scholastic rating. A busy program included the Miami Triad, Neanderthal Ball, and the careful selection of the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, who was lovely Sandy Schwartzel. Under Bob Contino's direction they enjoyed their best social year.

Sir John Bourbon of Gayley and his comrades, the Sigma Nu men of distinction, spent many afternoons sipping tea in the garden.

President and sports enthusiast Jack Morris cheered the Sigma Nu's athletes on to fame.

With a lavish social calendar backing them up, especially during the fall semester, the talented "Snakes" of the 601 club embarked on bigger and better things this year. The traditional ADT and German Beer party, besides many get-togethers at Dutton's Topanga Canyon Country Club, not to mention the extraordinary Movie Party featuring flicks of the silent era raised the boys to new heights on the row. The arrival of nine black puppies of former mascot Dixie started a search which ended in the adoption of a new and now famous mascot, Sir John Bourbon, the aristocratic English bulldog. Full support was given to the Mullholland and Spring Drives with brother Dave Hart serving as chairman of the latter. BMOC included yell leaders Tom Stoeber and Roger Bunting, Cal Clubber and Appointed Rep Charlie Decker, and Upper Division Rep Ralph Hansen. Ralph was Sales Manager Don Chatelain's boss in KH 304 where he managed Southern Campus business. Dave Pierson led the Soph Class as prexy, and Bill McKinley counted coins as Frosh Treasurer, and on went the glories for Sigma Nus.

Carl Moroney, noted for his ape-calls, did a fine job, assisted by brother Art Sturdley.

Sigma Pis whirled through a tremendous social season, moved not by an inner spirit, but rather by "Brutus," their 150 pound great dane. Their famed initiation dance was held at the Santa Ynez Inn, and equally well remembered is the post party at 1620 Purdue. Their Pajamarino and Parisienne party were two of the biggest blasts on campus. Their Frontier Party was undeniably a success. In fact, their whole social program was quite eventful. Kurt Kenworth was busy as chairman of UCLA's Spring Sing. Skip Keyzers was on Dublin Ball committee. Robert Seaman gained nation-wide acclaim as an outstanding half-miler and joined forces with Chuck McCrary in Yeomen. Bob Jones was claimed by Kelps, Uni-camp Committee, and the track team. UCLA's number one football team was bolstered by the talents of Warner Benjamin. Sigma Pis enjoyed a great season.

Nineteen fifty-four proved to be a milestone in Tau Delta Phi history. They anxiously anticipated the debut of the brand new lair, the modern beauty found at 619 Landfair. As hosts of "The Chase," the annual UCLA-USC joint endeavor, they provided their guests with entertainers such as Hollywood's Rita Moreno, The Lancers, and other timely favorites. Their Sweetheart Dance, given in November, was a never to be forgotten evening for the members and their dates. Tau Deltas won the outstanding IFC scholarship rating and made a consistently good showing during intramurals. Brothers participating in campus activities include Art Ulene and Larry Wang, who held positions in Phi Eta Sigma, Denny Galanter and Don Behrstock, who were moving forces on the university's Gym Team, and brother Al Goodman who was a valuable member of UCLA's Swim Team.

Chuck Cohen watched proudly as his fraternity chalked up the honors.

TEPs blasted their way to the top of the ladder in both All-U and league intramurals to become champions of All-U football and tennis doubles, as well as defenders of league basketball and baseball top spot. The same enthusiasm was visible in their industrious participation in Spring Sing, in which the Tep Quartet thrilled the audience with their rendition of old favorites. During Mardi Gras, they managed a booth which succeeded in bringing in much money for UCLA's Uni-Camp Drive. Included in their active social program, comprised of house parties, socials, and exchanges was their memorable Spring Formal. The fellows and their dates will long remember the dreamy atmosphere of the big evening. Everyone will remember Irv Drasnin as UCLA's inimitable Men's Rep who spurred the Student Legislative Council by his tireless and dynamic spirit and who won the unanimous support of his co-workers with his contagious good spirits. He also reigned as the DB editor. Ed Isenson ranked as one of DB's finest sports writers and was elected to serve as Sports Editor this season.

TEPs peruse the records of their athletic victories, gala soirees, and outstanding members.

The fruit of Al Repashy's conscientious leadership can be seen in Theta Chi's success.

Theta Chi's members will recall 1954-55 as a year studded with social activities and scholarship recognition. They hosted gala house parties and the real highlight of the season, their Circle Bar X Dream Girl Formal. The fellows elected their "dream girl" from sorority girls attending the affair. They excelled in scholarship to tie the Sigma Chis for the award for highest scholastic average of the pledge classes; they also went on to tie Sigma Chi again, sharing the honor of having the most improvement in over-all scholastic average. Yes indeed, it was a successful year for members of Theta Chi, and they are anxious to score another.

Zeta Psis enjoyed their share of parties, exchanges, athletics, and formals as there was never a dull moment at 930 Hilgard in the last year. The first main event of the social season was their bi-annual Presents Party following sorority presents. A very enjoyable Christmas Formal was next on the agenda, followed by many numerous Saturday night drags. "Old Vienna," an old German beer garden type of party with the German band, music, and dances, was given during the spring, with a great deal of success. A "must" that was another tradition was the Spring Formal which was also a big success. The 1954-55 season was another great year for the Zeta Psis with many things highlighting a tremendous social year. There were many Greek Week and Mardi Gras stunt activities added to their credit plus hard work and enthusiasm which proved they have what it takes for getting everything done.

"I see a bar . . . over thar." Zeta Psis take a look around campus, checking on Hilgard.

Athletes! Athletes! Gil Moreno, varsity football player, started off the long chain of events. Frank Moran donned toothpicks to qualify for the skiing team. Members of the water polo squad were Kerry Swart and Hal Reid. Don Girardi and Yanal Hickmat released their energy and enthusiasm by playing soccer and Lindy Kell worked out in basketball. After building a Homecoming float with the Kappas and entering the Spring Sing and Mardi Gras, some of them still had time to join campus activities. Well-known Junior Class persident was Jerry Lewis. Not to be outdone, Jim Lumsden became a member of the Senior Executive Board. Organizations Control Board was represented by member Don Cornell. In their spare time the Theta Deltas found a few idle moments to sponsor formals and often a party or two while waiting between intervals of the intramural events.

A game of "yo ho, heave, ho" turned into an afternoon group project, leaving the poor, drenched victim with only man's best friend.

Setting off the spark on a dynamite year for the TX men was the annual Singapore Sling, set in a smoky den of foreign intrigue. Recuperating from that blast didn't keep the boys out of campus activities. BMOC were Gold Keyer Doug Donnell, Yeomen Prexy Jack Taylor, and Mardi Gras Chairman Tony Plaia. Rally Comm members Lad Lynch, Dick Wilbur, Jack Taylor and Kelp Trav Haskins boosted campus spirit, as Phi Eta Sigma Terry Stockman raised house scholarship. Captain of the Hurley Squadron Lloyd Egenes and sailing team captain Louie Bedford took to the air and the sea, while Dick Kitzrow took to the Southern Campus staff. Yankee in Patee, the Pajama Game, Go Native, and the Roaring Twenties parties were just getting the boys prepared for the solemn Post Mortem ahead.

The ZBTs had enough trophies, honors, and fabulous parties to keep the big Strathmore White House aglow at all times.

Originality was the word for the ZBT float again this year as the boys of the Strathmore White House twisted the crepe paper into a winner. The gridiron kept wingback Al Tanner in the winner's circle, while diamonds in the rough, Larry Greenblatt and Jack Willis warmed up in the nearest dugout for the baseball season ahead. Writing up the mighty Bruin victories in the fall was Bruin Sports Editor Marty Sklar who moved over to City Editor in the Spring. The fall was complete with intramurals, exchanges, and parties, parties, parties. Among the top blasts of the year were the Greek and the Pajama Parties. Livening things on campus were Al Tanner, Jim Bay, Cal Darrow, Bob Rosichan, Bob Brownstein, Gary Baker, and Bernie Nebenzahl. Kelps to the end, Bernie served UCLA in Cal Club and as All-U Rep, joining Marty Sklar, Frank Fleisher, and Al Glickman in donning Gold Key. Dissension among the ranks occurred when ZBT Yeomen Ron Katz and Alan Reed met house Gold Keyers in the football game of the century. Making final arrangements for the grand march to the diplomas was Senior Class President Al Glickman. ZBTs had a chance to recuperate from an eventful year at the Palm Springs Weekend.

living groups

Viv Larsen, Dorm Council president, was also prexy of her living group, Douglass Hall.

Dormitory Council represents approximately 450 University women residing in nine different living groups. The Council's purpose is the promotion of inter-dorm friendliness and the co-ordination of the activities of the various groups. The year's activities began with a fall orientation program put on for the new freshmen. During All-Cal Weekend the Council had an exchange with the Cal dorms. The annual Christmas party was held at Hershey Hall, and in May came the yearly "Dorm's Doin's," featuring booths and skits provided by the girls. The theme this year was "Foreign Fantasy." An all-dorm dance is being planned for the coming year. The newest activity of the Council is an exchange dinner program. These many activities were planned at bi-monthly council meetings. The presidency was turned over to Jean Sladies between semesters, as Karolin Fritter transferred to the University of Alaska. Advisor to the Council Abbie Lundgren stated that it is looking forward to expanding its already large program in activities and scholarship, as new dorms are anticipated in the future.

campus hall

Members of Campus Hall enjoyed this semester which saw the calendar marked by participation in campus events and social activities. Art Mason, social chairman, arranged gay exchanges with Douglass Hall, Rudy Hall, and Twin Pines. During Homecoming the boys, in cooperation with Rudy Hall, had a lot of fun building their float. The boys also entered the intramural contests. Activities within the hall were highlighted by two tournaments in particular: the animated ping-pong tourney won by John Briggs and Augusto Velarde, and the after-dinner cribbage bouts which Bill Tipton and William Holsten consistently cornered. Boys who participated in school activities were Don Lagerberg, who played tackle on the frosh football squad, Bud Hamilton, a moving force on Rally Committee, Norm Tipton on the UCLA rifle squad, and Philip Loman, a photographer for the Southern Campus. The men of Campus Hall chalked off another year gratifying to all.

Gerald McDonald, this year's president, did a fine and admirable job in leading his men.

Viv Larsen, president, led the girls through many gay and memorable activities this year.

Douglas Hall members enjoyed an excellently rounded out year highlighted by their participation in UCLA's celebrated Spring Sing and the annual Homecoming Parade. The girls spent many evenings in their cozy music room in preparation for the Sing try-outs. Earlier in the season they worked diligently on a float which netted them an Honorable Mention in this year's fabulous parade. Some of the girls were active individually, also. Mary Jo Gobel and Nancy Lou Kreisbaum were Spurs; Virginia Jacobsen, Dorm Council historian; and Viv Larsen, Dorm Council rep.

Celebrating their second year, the members of the Helen Matthewson Club were treated by their alumnae to an annual Christmas season breakfast held at the Biltmore Hotel. Other Yuletide events included the winter dance. The ingenious pledges presented the actives with a Farmyard Fantasy party, and they were in turn surprised by an initiation dinner at the Swiss Chalet. Working all through the night with the Sig Phi Deltas, the girls produced a notable Homecoming float. Parties, exchanges, work hours and oddly enough even school work took care of the "spare" time.

Residents of Mira Hershey Hall, campus dormitory for women, began the year's busy round of activities by participating in Homecoming and by giving a post SC game party. A swimming party in honor of the new girls was welcomed during the warm days at the beginning of the semester. Exchanges with Cal Men and Blacker Hall at Cal Tech rated high spots on the Hershey calendar. At Christmas time the dorm was the scene of much activity as the girls worked on charity projects and held the Dorm Council party. A new television set was a welcome addition to the house. Perhaps the highest point in the first semester's social events came when the annual Midwinter Night's Dream formal was held at the Portuguese Bend Club. At the beginning of the second semester, the girls were found sponsoring Howdy Week to acquaint new students with the campus and its activities. Initiation and the Senior Breakfast were important events for everyone in the house. A dance put on with the Pre-Med Association, and the Spring formal held at the Knickerbocker Hotel brought the Hershey Hall social year to a successful close.

Activities held the attention of the girls at Mira Hershey Hall, while exchanges and formals were among the top social functions of the year.

Ann Hammargren, Patsy Binkley, Maggie Higgins, Jean Sladies, and Sue Sublette won for the dorm a Southern Campus at the Dorm Council party at Christmas. Many fields were invaded by Neva Hall girls, among them Dorm Council with Virginia Hirst, president, secretary Ann Hammargren, and Barbara Hayes, social chairman. Exchanges were with Cal Club and Robson Hall. Homecoming events took a little of the dorm's spare time, while Neva Hallites also kept up with the mood of the seasons in giving a big Christmas party for children. Afterwards it was decided that it was a toss-up as to which had the most fun at the party.

Rudy Hall enjoyed a successful year under the leadership of Tina Larsen, president.

Rudy Hall members found time to relax and to read between social activities and studies.

Under the guidance of capable president Tina Larsen, Rudy Hall had a full calendar of social events and activities. Exchanges were followed by the Homecoming Parade in which the girls and Campus Hall fellows entered their jointly-constructed float. The two living groups also decided to celebrate the Christmas spirit with a party. Throughout the year there were many community dinners which were held in the charming Spanish atmosphere of their patio and living room. In between social events the girls found time to enter intramurals and win the plaque for volleyball and softball. Individuals who were active on campus were Darlene Bender who was secretary-treasurer of URA, and Joan Bell who was elected chairman of AWS Model Josie. Johanne Robinson was chosen best supporting actress of fall '54.

On the list of social activities for members of Stevens House were the several dorm parties, a Soek Hop, and a TGIO party to end the semester.

Members of the Stevens House had another very successful year to their credit with the girls accomplishing many activities. Adding their time and talent to Southern Campus and Daily Bruin were Gloria Lopez, Trina Ouellet. The Dublin Ball and Frosh Council claimed ASUCLA secretary Donnie Clemensen. Vivian Credille, Pat Ostland, Barbara Stevens, Elenore Ellis and Vivian Robinson had their interests centered in Panel of Americans, while the girls working for the Dorm Council were Barbara Stevens, Connie Berry, and Adair Bentley, who was Stevens House president. Other capable officers of the house were Connie Berry, secretary; Trina Ouellet, treasurer, and Eva Okamoto assisting the president as vice-president of the dorm.

The theme for the Twin Pines' December formal was "Rhapsody in White," one of the many social events of the year. Activity-minded members were Marilou Jones, Mortar Board secretary; Dana Lou Tharp, active in International House, and Margaret Hunts, Chimes. Frances Hugos and Pat Bollin won the women's tennis doubles in intramurals. Karolin Fritter served as Dorm Council president. Activities at the Y-Coop included the bi-annual Backwards Dance, a banquet for the installation of new officers, a formal, and many spontaneous beach and snow parties. Activities claimed the spare time of several members. Nancy Ishizaki was president of the Business Education Association. Holding the gavel as YWCA president was Julie Sound, who also was active in Mortar Board and Southern Campus. Ron Bundy became a member of Tau Beta Pi honorary engineering fraternity. Guidance of Coop campus and social affairs was in the hands of President Edward Moore. Y-Coop is inter-racial and inter-religious and is open to all UCLA students. It is still in the experimental stage since it is the only co-educational co-operative of its kind now existing in the U.S.

Activities galore were the rule at Winslow Arms this year. They entered volleyball intramurals jointly with Rudy Hall and enjoyed a social whirl highlighted by a gala dinner-dance at the Crescendo. There were social exchanges with Sigma Phi Delta and Robson Hall and dinner exchanges with many of the dorms. A beach party and Yuletide festivities wound up the list of events. Officers the first and second semester, respectively, were Sylvia Neilson and Patricia McMullan, presidents; Arleen Nestor and Joy Haroldson, the vice-president-social chairmen; Nancy De Maranville and Joan Lilley, secretary-treasurers; Joy Haroldson and Marilyn Williams, Dorm Council delegates, and Jane Franks and Sandra Dial, House Rules Committee. And Joy Haroldson served as Dorm Council treasurer. Winslow housemother was Mrs. Fee.

A June book . . . but what else? There was never any doubt about it. That limb was a little weighty with the whole staff sitting on it, but no one sawed it off. The deadlines were impossible, but we never missed a one. Pressure was unbearable; yet we pushed ahead. Staff, you never let me down. Jay . . . it was a joy to see you come striding in daily with that green folder full of layouts and spouting words like telerium, lithography, ruling pen and where's the grease pencil. A big bushel-basket full of golf balls to you, boy snerk, for 452 of the greatest pages ever to be sewn together. Ruth . . . scrambling spaghetti, chopping up heads, brave one, you've been through a lot. To think this all started way back in Spurs with pom poms and suckers. May it never end. Barbara . . . I'd frown but you only teased. I'd growl but you made me laugh. Girl of many talents, a gold-plated churchkey for your patience and generosity. Here's to an even earlier and better book in '56. Each year gets better and better, Miss Editor; I'll be looking for great things from you. Kathe . . . don't tempt me—the coop, Palm Springs, Glendale—there's work to be done. But nothing was too much to ask, even seven forms in one week! What is there about Glendale that produces so many young copywriters? And girl sports writers yet! What will they think of next, eager one? Peg . . . long, thorny fingers pointing; sad droopy little faces pleading; tall dark men sprawling on the floor; mountains of lists, postcards; such efficiency, organization and coordination. Peggy . . . cheery little one, is it any wonder that the grouchiest old professor was so easily persuaded with your happy voice? Don't tell me you want to do this again? Third time's a charm. Ralph . . . you amaze me! Are you sure you aren't quadruplets? How do you manage to be in so many places all at the same time? I suggest you carry a portable telephone with you though, busy boy. Don . . . now you wouldn't really make me push that peanut up Hilgard, would you? After all, it was bad enough to have to hold that bottle of purple plasma for Vampira. And stand in a salesbooth! Jo . . . Can I still have my senior picture taken? Good Lord, window washers at this time of night? Betty . . . office hours at 7:30 in the morning! 4500 people owe their correct places and names to you. Ginny . . . I'm sure you could talk the Salvation Army into a page contract, if we had the room. Remi . . . 80 pages in one weekend, phenomenal! Dick K. . . what's the name of that town again? Dick F. . . phantom boy, you really gave us a scare at the end. And to all the wonderful people who do this yearly: H.E.M. . . they were all happy dinner meetings. Manning . . . you're a pistol! Stan and Ray . . . bigger, better photography. Karmi, Mr. Wuertz, Pete . . . your help was priceless. And the unforgettable things: the fire engine, the PiDE hill party, the tanned rat hide cover, Albro on the windowsill, atmosphere on the floor, cookie hanging on mailbox, apple rotting on desk, the "privacy" of the inner office . . . the people, the days, nights, year . . . that is SoCam.

Mary

With all the sales campaigns finally ended and the book all wrapped up, the only thing a tired old business manager can do is sit back and get melancholy over what was and what should have been . . . I wish Vampira had taken me to her phantom lair, but then, Fletcher Jones might not like it, I drive a Studebaker, you see . . . Don, you've often asked me exactly what does the business manager do. If everyone else does his or her job, the business manager doesn't have to do anything. I want to thank you now for making my job so easy. You were a terrific sales manager, and you were also able to keep the rest of the staff laughing with your personality . . . Johanna, I'll never tell Albro about those late at night discussions while we were pasting up the Seniors . . . Betty, I'm not sure you were on my staff except for the outstanding job you did . . . Virginia, it was a great feeling never to worry about contracts . . . To the production staff, thanks for making a great book. It's always easier to sell something that will sell itself . . . Frank, thanks for lunch at the Fox and Hounds. That Garlic bread at the Smoke House is out of this world and of course topped with creme de menthe over ice . . . Lee, hope you had a nice trip to Europe. Stan, Ray, Al, and Herb, if you want any help in knocking out a wall to enlarge your lab, just give me a call. Thanks for the patience. I always meant to give you more notice. Thanks for all the pictures . . . Barbara, thanks for the help to the sales staff. You were never too busy to help us. Thanks for all the help you gave me personally . . . Dick, thanks for the help and understanding . . . Bruce, great cocktail party. J.V. and I had a good time . . . Merlyn and Chuck, thanks for the aid . . . Ken, my favorite roomy of 1955, erstwhile world traveller and mixer extraordinary of martinis, have a great European vacation. When you get back, we'll drop into Ciro's for the show (how droll) . . . H.E.M., I hope Don and I didn't cause your ulcers any trouble . . . And so, I bid adieu to KH304. I'm leaving just in time, because rumor has it that SoCam is moving to the fifth floor next year.
