Overview

History of Alps project Start: 2013

At the end of the project, focus on Languages spoken in alpine region

Specific cultural topics (i.e. small museums)

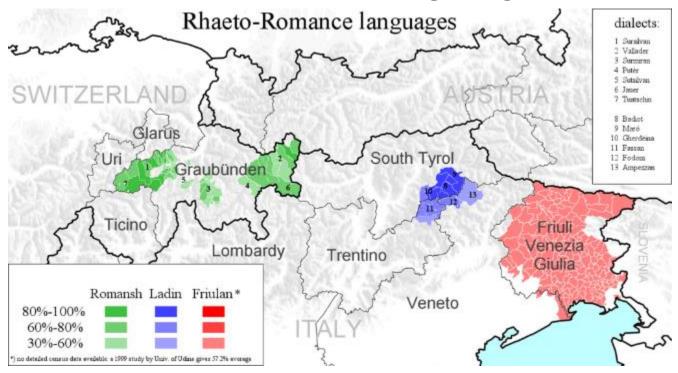

Evolution Interreg submission

Labisalp donation

- Uploading of bulletins about alpine topics.
- Selection of important texts for Alps.
- Big project with texts in German, Italian, French and Latin.

Rhaeto-Romance languages

History

- Originally derived from the latin population settled in the Alps during the Roman Empire
- Integration with the local celtic population
- Basically is a regional latin version with an independent evolution
- Recently is considered an endangered language because the integration and the use of other languages like German and Italian
- The lack of nationalism supports this disappearance

Current picture (Romansh)

- Rumantsch Grischun is considered a national language of Switzerland but it's an artificial language.
- Local versions of Romansh are spoken like daily language to communicate with the family, with friends and with fellow citizens.
- These languages have not produced different registers of communication and they have been kept with the same use than in the past.

Current picture (Ladin)

- Instead the ladin languages have not a common artificial language.
- They are fragmented following the division per valleys.
- Their presence is split between South Tyrol, Trentino and Veneto.

Rhaeto-Romansh digital library

Problem - What project? Wikipedia?

WIKIPEDIA The Free Encyclopedia

Current picture

- Which regional version of Rhaeto-romansh to use?
- It exists a Rumantsch Gritschun Wikipedia but it's pretty dormient.

Solution

- A solution is not possible. The Rumantsch Grischun is predominant but not used in a daily use. Difficulties to find contributors.
- Ladin languages have not an unified writing system.

Problem - What project? Wiktionary?

Current picture

- Wiktionary is an interesting project for Rhaeto-Rumantsch.
- Possibility to include every regional version and to define a distribution of words.

Solution

- The project Wiktionary is under review.
- Possibility to integrate it with Wikidata

Problem - What project? Wikisource?

Current picture

- A Rhaeto-Romansh Wikisource doesn't exist.
- There is a huge literature in Rhaeto-Romansh.

Solution

- To aggregate the Rhaeto-Romansh digital library in the most similar language: Italian.
- Italian Wikisource community is very active.

The literature - Romansh

- Crestomazia Retorumantscha (http://www.crestomazia.ch/) but dormient.
- Collection of texts done by Caspar Decurtins in the 1880

The literature - Ladin

- Collection of legends.
- The most important is the collection of the kingdom of Fanes.
- The collection was done by Karl Felix Wolff.
- Similarities with the Arthurian cycle.
