BAR ORIENTALS FROM LAND OWNING, NOW LIBERAL PLANK

B. C. Party Convention Concludes; M. A. Macdonald Re-elected President

Resolution to Wipe Out Liquor Board Turned Over to Manson

Move of Victoria Man for Poultry Industry Aid Is Endorsed

Nelson, B.C., Sept. 30.—After expressing approval of the achievements in legislation and administration of the Provincial Government and making a series of important recommendations for future policy, the convention of the British Columbia Liberal Association adjourned at a late hour last night.

M. A. Macdonald, K.C., was unanimously re-elected president, no other candidate being nominated, and a precedent was established in choosing a woman, Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, M.P.P., as first vice-president.

Honorary president, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King; honorary vice-president, Hon. John Oliver; secretary, Hon. L. Fisher, K.C.; treasurer, C. D. McCann, M.P.P.; Dominion vice-president, Hon. M. A. Macdonald, K.C.; Executive members: William Ivel, Victoria; Lower Mainland, F. R. McD. Russell, Vancouver; Upper Mainland, Fred Dawson, Prince Rupert; Central Interior, Dr. K. C. MacDonald, K.C.; Vernon; Eastern Interior, Noble Binns, Trail; Provincial executive members: E. P. Dawson, Nelson; D. McPherson, Grand Forks; Fred Dawson, Prince Rupert.

New University Buildings.

Of outstanding importance among the recommendations of new policies was the resolution demanding the immediate construction of the permanent university building at Point Grey. All portions of the Province joined unanimously in urging this step upon the Government.

Oriental Exclusion.

A strenuous debate on Oriental exclusion in the forenoon was succeeded in the evening by the most drastic resolution ever passed by a political convention in this Province. The resolution, introduced by Mr. Gale, urges the Provincial Government to enter into negotiation with the Federal Government asking legislation debarbing Asiatic aliens from the ownership of land and other natural resources in Canada.

Milk and Food Products.

More rigorous inspection of milk and food products was demanded in a resolution passed unanimously, with an especially strong measure of support from women delegates.

To bring this about it was recommended that the Provincial Government appoint a commission consisting of two veterinarians, two dairymen and a medical man to enquire into the situation.

Liquor Control Question.

A series of resolutions in reference to the Liquor Control Board and the beer situation was not reported by the resolutions committee. Chairman R. H. Gale announced they were being forwarded to the Provincial Government for consideration by the Liberal caucus and the Attorney-General.

Some criticism of this course was voiced, but committee stated that Attorney-General Manson had addressed the committee at great length, and the Premier stated to the convention that any action by the Government in dealing with a situation which was receiving close attention.

It was revealed that one of the resolutions recommended dispensing with the present Liquor Control Board.

Women on Jury.

At the instance of the women delegates, the convention, by a majority, recommended that women voters be added to the jury list.

Attorney-General Manson.

In a parting speech before adjournment, Attorney-General Manson had been the most successful in the history of the party, and that Liberalism had achieved a new unity in British Columbia. He expressed the hope that annual reunions of the party would be held.

RUMOR OF JUGO-SLAV REVOLUTION UNTRUE

Officials Declare the Report Spread by Enemies

Belgrade, Sept. 30.—The Serbian Press Bureau issued a note to-day denying "the alarming news concerning a purported revolution in Belgrade aimed against the crown," and declared "the reports are due to enemy activities."

An earlier dispatch than that above said an unconfirmed report had reached the Hungarian News Agency in Paris that King Alexander of Yugoslavia had been assassinated.

MAN SOUGHT BY VANCOUVER POLICE

Wish to Find Fred Wells Following Robbery

City Employees Have Short Wait for Pay

Vancouver, Sept. 30.—With a very definite clue to work upon, convincing them that Fred Wells, drug addict with a prison record, was a party to Friday's City Hall holdup here, the police are continuing their search for this man. In the meantime City Hall employees, who were to have received their pay from the $76,304 which was stolen, will have to wait until after Monday.

The police are so far plumbussed by the absolute disappearance of the Hudson automobile used by the bandits, which was last seen headed south on Beatty Street a few minutes after the robbery. Several theories are advanced, that most favored being that in their apparent careful plans the robbers arranged to hide the car somewhere in or about the city and continue their escape by another conveyance.

ARMSTRONG HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Assistant Paymaster Robert Armstrong, who was knocked senseless by one of the robbers, discovered, on examining his overcoat last night, that he had a narrow escape from death. His assailant fired three revolver shots during a struggle for possession of the money bag. Two bullets smashed through the window of City Engineer Fellowes's private office. The third penetrated the sleeve of Armstrong's coat and wedged downward through the material below the pocket. It was evident that the bandit had endeavored to shoot Armstrong through the hand which held to the bag during the struggle.

The police are given variously 25 and 27, but according to police records, he is only 22. He was one, and probably the main bandit, in the belief of the police.

SENT TO ASYLUM FOR TREATMENT

Wells is docked at headquarters as a drug addict, and when arrested in 1915 on a charge of breaking and entering, was sent to the asylum for treatment, where he escaped a prison sentence, when he was given the age of 18. Arrested again in June, 1921, on a vagrancy charge, he was sentenced to six days.

The police are taking an interest in the whereabouts of a second man, who was known to be a companion of Wells, and who, it is believed, was also in the hands of the Seattle police at the time Wells is said to have been arrested in that city.

A Long Delay.

Ten hours after the $75,000 City Hall robbery in Vancouver had been committed, and three hours after the boat said to have carried the perpetrators had cleared for Seattle from this city, the local police force were notified by Vancouver police that the hold-up had taken place, and that the men were thought to be on the Princess Charlotte.

Stepping ashore from the Princess Charlotte, Wells was docked here at 3:15 p. m. yesterday. Provincial Constables Robert Owens and Malcolm McPhail bought a copy of The Times, which was the first intimation they had of the robbery.

N. CHAMBERLAIN TO ARRIVE MONDAY

Is Ex-Lord Mayor of Birmingham and British M.P.

Neville Chamberlain, M.P. for Ladywood, Division of Birmingham, England, will arrive in the city on Monday, accompanied by Mrs. Chamberlain.

Mr. Chamberlain recently landed at Quebec on a Canadian tour and has visited Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg. He plans to go back to Ottawa, and from there to visit American relatives in New England, returning home late in the fall.

Mr. Chamberlain, who is the younger son of the late Joseph Chamberlain, has followed in his footsteps in the public life of Birmingham, of which his father was mayor in the seventies, when great public improvements were inaugurated, on a scale which set an example to the municipalities of the Empire.

Mr. Chamberlain entered the Birmingham City Council in 1911, became an alderman in 1914, and next year served as Lord Mayor. During the war he was for a period Director of National Service, and served on the body controlling the British liquor situation.

He is a well-known business man in Birmingham, which with its extended boundaries is the second largest city in Great Britain, and where the name of Chamberlain has been a potent one in its life for 60 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrow Cadbury will also arrive on Monday. Mr. Barrow Cadbury is well known for his interest in social welfare matters, and is a member of the famous Cadbury family of Bourneville, cocoa and chocolate manufacturers. Bourneville is perhaps the finest model industrial village in England, greater individualism being permitted than at Port Sunlight, Lever's industrial centre near Liverpool.

BRITISH PLANES ARE SEEN OVER CONSTANTINOPLE

Constantinople, Sept. 30.—British aeroplanes flew over the capital to-day, causing a flurry of excitement in Istanbul. The aerial manoeuvres gave the populace another evidence of Great Britain's preparedness to meet eventualities.

BRITISH LAND AT CONSTANTINOPLE

Troops Reinforce Line Near the Bosphorus

Greeks and Armenians Are Encouraged

Constantinople, Sept. 30.—Large forces of British infantry have been landed here from the trans-Atlantic liner Glengorm Castle. These soldiers are to reinforce the lines on the Asiatic side of the Bosphorus, which the British will defend in the event the Turkish Nationalist army at Ismid begins a movement toward Constantinople. The Kemal army is understood to consist of two divisions.

When the Glengorm Castle entered the Golden Horn and the masses of infantrymen became visible from the city the immense gatherings of Greeks and Armenians seeking visas outside the Inter-Allied passport bureau quickly melted away. The expression was heard: "We won't bother with passports now. The British are sending ships and troops."

The arrival of these several thousand additional British troops has encouraged the Greeks and the Armenians here to discard their Turkish fezes, which they wore for protection, and resume conventional western headgear.

The arrival of British war units has lessened the danger of an uprising within the city.

IRISH POSTAL WORKERS RESUME AFTER STRIKE

London, Ont., Sept. 30.—Gordon Dibeald, twenty-one, was found not guilty by a jury at an early hour this morning of the charge of murdering Christine Neare, his fifteen-year-old sweetheart. The verdict of not guilty was based on the ground of insanity. The prisoner is in jail awaiting an order from the Lieutenant-Governor that will send him to the Hamilton Asylum for Criminal Insane.

ZAIMIS HEADS GREEK CABINET

Assembly to Decide Trials of Arrested Men

Athens, Sept. 30.—Alexander Zaimis, who was Premier when King Constantine was expelled from Greece in 1917 and whose father headed the Greek Cabinet when King Otho I. was dethroned by the revolution of 1862, has been selected to head the new Ministry, which is composed of independents, Venizelists and military officers.

A most favorable impression was created by the proclamation of the revolutionary committee that the arrested political and military leaders shall remain in prison, but that the manner of their trial shall be left in the future to the National Assembly.

FRENCH ENVOY AND KEMAL CONFER

Bouillon Attempts Near East Settlement

Constantinople, Sept. 30.—When Franklin Bouillon, the French envoy, arrived at Smyrna he was met in the harbor by Mustapha Kemal Pasha, who saluted him and kissed him on both cheeks.

After a further exchange of amenities, the pair went ashore and held a long conversation in the house in which former King Constantine of Greece resided during his visit in Smyrna last year.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha's requirements that the British withdraw their troops from Asia Minor as a condition precedent to a limited retreat of the Ottoman forces from the neutral zone of the straits is looked upon by local military opinion as closing the door to peace.

WOULD MAKE NO WAR DECLARATION

London, Sept. 30.—In connection with reports circulated in the United States that war had been declared by Great Britain on Turkey, it was pointed out to-day that no declaration of war would be necessary, as peace never has been concluded between the two countries. Their relations are still governed by the terms of the armistice of 1918.

TURKS TO REPLY TO THE ALLIES NEXT WEEK

Angora, Sept. 30.—The National Assembly is debating the terms of the Angora Government's reply to the Allied peace proposals. The reply is expected to be ready for transmission to the Allies by the middle of next week.

REVISION OF BRITISH DECISIONS IN NEAR EAST

Much Criticism of Premier Lloyd George

London, Sept. 30.—The grave despondent view held in official quarters here regarding the prospect of avoiding war with the Turks is shared in Allied military circles in Constantinople, according to dispatches from the Eastern capital to the Associated Press.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha's requirements that the British withdraw their troops from Asia Minor as a condition precedent to a limited retreat of the Ottoman forces from the neutral zone of the straits is looked upon by local military opinion as closing the door to peace.

HEAVY RESPONSIBILITY

Whether this is the final view of the responsible military heads does not appear. Great responsibility rests with the latter and their political colleagues. How and when the attempt to enforce the Government's demands for the withdrawal of the Kemalists is to be made now lies with Lieut.-General Sir Charles Harbord and Vice-Admiral Brock, commander of the British naval forces in the Near East, and Sir Horace Rumbold, British High Commissioner in Constantinople. Their decision is awaited with profound interest.

If war breaks out, and at the moment it appears that almost a miracle will be needed to avert it, "You have been a long time coming," Mustapha Kemal told his visitor. "I have purposely delayed my return to Angora to discuss the present situation with you."

CABINET'S COURSE IS CONDEMNED

It is probable the nation would rally to the Government's support if fighting were to begin, but at present the voice of the people as represented by the press is raised in condemnation of the manner in which the whole Eastern situation has been managed.

Premier Lloyd George, who but yesterday was a national hero, now is the butt of violent criticism, accused of having meddled with international politics, which he does not understand and of having brought the country face to face with another war, the duration and extent of which can not be foreseen, and all for the purpose of saving the faces of himself and his colleagues. Some of the comments are quite vicious in tone, others credit the Prime Minister with good intentions but nevertheless roundly condemn his policy. In the latter category is the comment of the influential Spectator, which terms the Government's management of the affairs as despicable and execrable.

"All the lessons taught by one able diplomat after another about the way to deal with the Turks have been ignored, as though they did not exist," it says. "Lloyd George has turned our foreign policy inside out and made a mess of it."

Such extracts might be multiplied indefinitely from the London and provincial newspapers.

WORKING MEN ARE AGAINST WAR

Labor throughout the country is up in arms against the idea of a new war, and although no definite threats have yet been made there have been sinister rumors of industrial action to prevent prosecution of a campaign against the Turks.

The general anxiety of the British people is deepened by the prospect of additions to the already huge taxes which are a legacy of the Great War. It is figured in some quarters that the preparatory measures for war, such as the moving of troops, stores and warships to the Near East, already have cost the country £20,000,000.

Horne to Resign?
There is an unconfirmed rumor that Sir Robert Horne, Chancellor of the Exchequer, dismayed at the outlay and the certain ruin of his budget programme, has threatened to resign.

BRITISH CABINET IS AWAITING A MESSAGE FROM GEN. HARRINGTON

Near Eastern Situation Grows More Critical; British Policy Remains Unchanged; British in Constantinople Say Hopes Are Waning.

London, Sept. 30.—The Cabinet adjourned at 6:30 o'clock this evening after waiting about an hour for expected news from Constantinople, which, however, did not arrive. All the Ministers were remaining within call to reassemble as soon as the looked-for dispatch from General Harington was received.

London, Sept. 30.—Whatever incidents may happen in the Near East in connection with the Turkish Nationalists, it is asserted here that the British policy towards the Turks will remain, in its broad lines, what it has been since the armistice, which was signed four years ago.

In diplomatic circles it is claimed that Premier Lloyd George's statement of a week ago, in which he spoke of guarding against the risk of suffering again such losses as were incurred through hostile possession of the Dardanelles during the European War, still holds good. It is asserted that under pressure he weakened during Lord Curzon's visit to Paris, but that since the revolution in Greece there has been evident a renewed stiffening of the attitude of the British Cabinet towards the Turks.

RESPONSIBILITY ON ARMY CHIEFS

Burden of British Decisions in Near East

London, Sept. 30.—The grave despondent view held in official quarters here regarding the prospect of avoiding war with the Turks is shared in Allied military circles in Constantinople, according to dispatches from the Eastern capital to the Associated Press.

Mustapha Kemal Pasha's requirements that the British withdraw their troops from Asia Minor as a condition precedent to a limited retreat of the Ottoman forces from the neutral zone of the straits is looked upon by local military opinion as closing the door to peace.

SITUATION DAILY LESS HOPEFUL

Constantinople, Sept. 30.—British officials admit that the Chanak situation is growing more critical and that the hopes for an amicable settlement are waning.

General Harington seems to have exhausted his peaceful overtures and many fear that military action will follow.

A rupture between the opposing forces, it is thought in military quarters, is likely to be precipitated at any hour unless the Turks withdraw from the neutral zone.

The Turkish troops continue in close contact with the British. They have formed a screen around the British forces behind which they are making concentrations and reconnoitering.

The British have established a war-time censorship. Hereafter the mention of names of officers, their strength and destinations is prohibited.

BRITISH LABORITES SCORE MINISTRY

Say Near Eastern Problem Badly Mishandled

State They Wish to Avoid National Calamity

London, Sept. 30.—The National Council of the British Labor Party issued a manifesto yesterday protesting against the "obstinate and persistent mishandling of the Near Eastern problem by the British Government."

The manifesto declared that, if necessary, the Council would summon a conference of all its affiliated organizations to do all in their power to avert a national calamity induced by another war.

VENIZELOS TALKS WITH CURZON

Acting As Spokesman for New Greece

Paris, Sept. 30.—M. Venizelos last night telegraphed to Athens his acceptance of the invitation extended by the Revolutionary Committee to take up the task of defending Greece's interests in the Allied capitals.

Shortly after sending the message he left for London, where he hopes to see Viscount Curzon, British Foreign Secretary, some time to-day.

FRANCE DECLARES FOR NEUTRAL ZONES

Believe British-French Crisis Can Be Settled Without Fighting

Greeks Deporting Mussulmans From Thrace

Paris, Sept. 30.—France stands firmly by her decision, taken with Great Britain and Italy last Saturday, to insist upon Turkish recognition of the neutrality of the zones of the Straits, and while there is no question at the moment of military force to back up this attitude, the French Government will use its fullest influence to induce the Turks to withdraw.

This was the view in official circles to-day, following the British demand for the retirement of the Turks from the Chanak area. France does not take as serious a view of the situation as does Great Britain, the belief being expressed that the strained relations between the Turks and the British in the Chanak zone can be settled without fighting. There is no question of the maintenance of the status quo of the present situation and the Government has telegraphed its representatives in the Near East to the effect that the French influence upon Kemal Pasha in order to effect immediate evacuation of the invaded zone.

On the other hand, officials here say the Turks have reason for alarm in the events which are now occurring in Eastern Thrace. Deportations of Mussulmans have already begun in Thrace and the wholesale killing of Turks there is considered not improbable here. This, together with the determination of the Athens Government to defend Thrace, is reacting unfavorably on the Turkish attitude.

It is explained that favorable indications have been received from Franklin Bouillon, following his talks with Kemal Pasha, but that the Turkish leader has reserved his final decision on the Allied terms until the vote of the Ankara Assembly on the question, expected to-day or to-morrow.

The view is expressed that Great Britain should have seriously considered Kemal's proposal to withdraw from the zone if the British retired to the other side of the Straits.

Under Pressure
The French feel that Kemal's position should be taken into account, as he is under constant pressure from the radical element in his Government, which desires further war.

It is emphasized again that public opinion in France is solidly opposed to war with Turkey, although all the same time the Government is determined to support Great Britain in her insistence on the neutrality of the zones. France, however, hopes that military measures will not be considered.

Deportations of Mussulmans have already begun in Thrace and the wholesale killing of Turks there is considered not improbable here. GREAT THROGGS OF REFUGEES

400,000 Reported Homeless in Near East

Constantinople, Sept. 29.—Wireless dispatches to the American Embassy, and reports received by the Associated Press from Smyrna, Sidon, Rodosto and the islands of Mitylene and Chios show that thousands of refugees are in danger of perishing if assistance does not arrive promptly.

Conservative estimates place the number of sufferers at 400,000. The Greek revolution has resulted in utter administrative chaos and a complete breakdown of all the normal processes of life.

A message from the American relief workers on the islands of Mitylene says: "The situation is desperate. Refugees, crazed by hunger, are throwing themselves into the sea. There is no bread on the island. Rush 300 tons of flour immediately. Three Americans are struggling to look after 150,000 refugees, and 20,000 more are expected to-day."

At Smyrna. A wireless message from Commander Halcy Powell, of the American destroyer Edsall at Smyrna, Sept. 29, says: "Americans evacuated 21,000 refugees to-day. Total for two days, 54,000. Between 20,000 and 25,000 are in the immediate vicinity. Expect more ships to-morrow."

Messages from Rodosto say the Greek troops there number 40,000, but they are undisciplined and the population is in consternation at the prospect of a Turkish invasion. The Greek troops have been removed to the interior villages, but 25,000 remain. They are a lawless force, and are guilty of an outbreak of typhoid fever owing to the polluted water supply.

The city has been in ruins since the great fire of 1919 and the local Greek administration confesses its inability to cope with the tremendous problem presented by the presence of more than 100,000 refugees.

A wireless message from Commander Halcy Powell, of the American destroyer Edsall at Smyrna, Sept. 29, says: "Americans evacuated 21,000 refugees to-day. Total for two days, 54,000. Between 20,000 and 25,000 are in the immediate vicinity. Expect more ships to-morrow."

Resources and facilities for supplying coke and coal to the proposed $15,000,000 steel plant of the Coast Range Steel Co., which is now arranging for the backing of the Imperial, Dominion and Provincial Governments were made public at the Parliament Buildings to-day by the Rev. Thomas Menzies, M.P.P., as a result of investigations carried out by Thomas Graham, general superintendent of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Ltd., to discover whether the Union Bay site was satisfactory and the extent of fuel and power possibilities.

The report shows that the present production of the collieries at Union Bay is 2,000 tons of coal a day, but in the event of the steel plant being put into operation an adequate supply can be guaranteed as the proposed plant can be brought up to 4,000 tons inside of three years.

"Comox is the only coking coal on Vancouver Island and there is available for immediate use 200 coke ovens with a capacity of 150 tons a day," the report goes on. "Ninety of these ovens are now in operation and are turning out 75 tons of coke a day."

"The Puntledge River hydro-electric power plant has a capacity of 10,000 horse power, with sufficient water power developed to increase this to 20,000 horse power. The installation of only two more units will be necessary to accomplish this. This in conjunction with the possibilities of the Campbell River Falls—only a few miles away—amply provides for the future power requirements."

"There can be no doubt but that recent examinations of the coal areas in the Comox field, together with extensive drilling that has taken place in the past few years and is still in progress, that this district will play a most prominent part in the future coal production of Vancouver Island."

ISLAND DELEGATION OFF TO MUNICIPAL UNION SESSIONS

Good Roads Session Will First Be Held as Customary

Mayor Marchant, Alderman Dewar, Alderman Perry, Comptroller Raymond and City Solicitor Pringle will leave Victoria Monday night en route to Kamloops to attend the convention of the Union of B. C. Municipalities. Major Cuthbert Holmes has left for Kamloops to attend the convention of the Good Roads League of British Columbia, which will open Monday morning.

He goes as the representative of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. The Spanish delegates composed of Rector Watson, Comptroller McWilliam and Clerk Cowper will leave to-night for both meetings.

The only representative of Esquimalt at the meetings will be Reeve Lockley who plans to leave also this evening to attend the gatherings. Councilor H. F. Hewlett and Clerk R. E. Handy will be the representatives of Oak Bay at the meeting of the Union of B. C. Municipalities.

The up-Island municipalities will be well represented and it looks as if the practice of the Union of Municipalities to alternate the convention between the interior and the Coast, and since 1916, when the Good Roads League of B. C. was instituted, the latter body, which includes a number of municipal representatives, has always held a session at the same place prior to the Union of B. C. Municipalities so that its resolutions may secure the endorsement of the senior and official body.

The Union of Municipalities was in convention in Kamloops in 1914. In 1915 it came to Chilliwack; in 1916 to Vernon; 1917 to Duncan; 1918 to Penticton; 1919 to North Vancouver; 1920 to Nelson, and 1921 to Fort Albert. The last convention of the Union held on Vancouver Island prior to the 1917 and 1921 meetings was at Victoria in 1911, and Nanaimo in 1912; in the intervening year, 1912, Revelstoke was the scene of the deliberations.

There can be no doubt but that recent examinations of the coal areas in the Comox field, together with extensive drilling that has taken place in the past few years and is still in progress, that this district will play a most prominent part in the future coal production of Vancouver Island."

Nineteen stations in Southern Ireland now are policed by unarmed civic guards.

The resolution was adopted. A Labor member, Johnson, expressed the hope that the country would appreciate the policy of the Government in sending out an unarmed police force.

SHOE PRICES INCREASE; HIDES NOW COST MORE

Montreal, Sept. 30.—The increase in the price of shoes which some of the manufacturers already have put into effect and which others probably will have to make, is being forced upon the producers by the hide and leather situation, according to Joseph Daoust, president of the Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Canada.

Mr. Daoust said that calfskins and cowhides were costing the tanners from 50 to 100 per cent. more than the prices which prevailed a few months ago. The abundant hay crop and the tariff on exports to the United States were certain to reduce the number of cattle slaughtered.

New Method Of Reducing Fat

A news item from abroad informs us that the American method of producing a slim, trim figure is meeting with astonishing success. This system, which has made such a wonderful impression over there, must be the Marmola Prescription tablet method of reducing fat. It is safe to say that we have nothing better for this purpose in this country. Anything that will reduce the excess flesh steadily and easily without injury to the stomach, the causing of wrinkles, or interference with one's meals is a mighty important and useful addition to civilization's necessities. Just such a catalogue of good results follow the use of these pleasant, harmless and economical little fat reducers. We say economical because Marmola Prescription Tablets (made in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription) can be obtained at one drugist the world over for one dollar a case, which is a decidedly economical price, considering the number of tablets each case contains. They are harmless.

Law Suit Reveals German Financier's Activities

Bank Balances Attached by James A. Stillman

New York, Sept. 30.—Attachment of the funds carried in four New York banks to the credit of Hugo Stinnes, German industrial magnate, in connection with a $2,055,155 breach of contract suit filed by James A. Stillman, promoter, has revealed that Stinnes, through various financial schemes, had made attempts to float loans for hundreds of millions of dollars in this country. The attachment order, signed by Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel, was placed in effect by deputies of Sheriff Nagle of New York County. The funds, the exact amount of which was not disclosed, are held by the National City Bank, the Guaranty Trust Company, the Equitable Trust Company and Hellesen & Company.

DETROIT RIVER RUM RUNNERS HARD PRESSED

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 30.—Local breweries have been the manufacture and export of nine per cent. beer after a shutdown of eight days following the issuance of a stringent regulation by the Department of Customs.

Modification of the Ottawa order was received yesterday, and employees of the breweries were called back to work.

The new order says that nine per cent. beer may be exported with legal clearance papers between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., provided the breweries do not ask for a refund of the excise tax.

The modified regulation plainly makes impossible the exportation of beer to the United States under cover of darkness. Rum runners must now carry their cargoes across the river in daylight, when they will be at the disadvantage of being seen by United States dry law enforcement officers. In this way the Canadian Government assists the United States Government in the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

AMMUNITION IS ADDED TO STORES

Quantity Landed in Quebec Was Owed Canada by Britain

Ottawa, Sept. 30.—Artillery ammunition landed at Levis yesterday from one of the ships of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine was owed to Canada by Great Britain, Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Defence, informed the Canadian Press to-day.

"It was some remnants owing to us and not the result of a purchase. No money was involved," he stated. The big gun which was reported as having been landed and dragged through the streets of Quebec, was, he said, never out of Canada, but was from one of the dismounted forts outside the city of Quebec. It was being moved into the city for storage.

Turkish Hordes Menace Christendom

The smoking ruins of Smyrna, the shallow graves of a thousand slaughtered non-combatants, the call for help from scores of thousands of starving, homeless, war-crazed refugees, the presence of a victorious Turkish host across the Straits from Constantinople, are facts which in themselves compel a searching of hearts by American and Canadian editors to see whether any of the responsibility for what has happened may lie with us. And while these facts are terrible enough in themselves, there appears behind them, to many an editorial vision, the spectres of Islamic "holy wars" against Christendom and a militant alliance of the outcast nations and the yellow races against what we call Western civilization.

Russian support of the Turkish Nationalist cause has been affirmed again and again in official pronouncements from Moscow. Once upon a time, after a defeat at the hands of allied Christian armies, a Turkish Sultan ordered this prayer to be recited at sunset in every mosque in the Ottoman Empire: "May the Angel of Discord, who has always been our ally, come again to our aid and confound our enemies." Whether or not the Sultan resides in Constantinople, no Turkish army should be permitted in Europe or within striking distance of the Straits, thinks The New York World.

Members Preparing for Sale of Work November 30

(Times Correspondence) Metchosin—The monthly meetings of the Metchosin branch of the W. A. recommenced on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. R. Brown. The president, Mrs. W. NEW OFFICERS OF SUNDAY SCHOOL

(Times Correspondence) Langford—A meeting was held on Thursday at the Langford Assembly Hall, by kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Goucher, proprietors, regarding the Sunday School which, owing to the departure of Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Sloan from the district would be without someone to carry on the good work. A very hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Sloan, proposed by Mrs. Hincks, for his services in the past. Mrs. Hincks remarked that Mr. Sloan and family would be greatly missed and that their places would not be easily filled. Mr. Sloan in reply expressed his pleasure for the privilege of having helped in the work and also expressed his regret at leaving the neighborhood. H. Pearce, who has had considerable experience elsewhere in this work, has kindly undertaken the position of superintendent of the Sunday School, with Charles Harding as assistant. The secretary having resigned, her place will be filled by Miss Isabel Thom, and Mrs. J. E. Brown will officiate at the piano. NEARING THE POWDER.

Opposing armies armed to the teeth cannot rub shoulders indefinitely without using their implements of destruction upon one another.

It is not to be said that the situation is hopeless. Little or nothing, outside of an intimation that the special representative of the French Government has had a long and intimate conference with Mustapha Kemal Pasha, has been heard of what France is doing to-day or what further plans she may have to prevent what looks almost like the inevitable.

While sentiment in Great Britain, press and people combined, is clearly opposed to war it goes without saying that if reason is not allowed to prevail at the Kemalist headquarters, and it should become necessary to fight, public support for the Government would be forthcoming.

MR. MACDONALD AND THE NELSON CONVENTION.

Although for the moment not in official political harness the energy and initiative which Mr. M. A. Macdonald, K. C., has infused into British Columbia Liberalism justly entitled him to the mark of confidence which the Nelson Convention paid to him yesterday by re-electing him to the important position of President of the provincial body.

Mr. Macdonald's definite views upon the possibilities of British Columbia's development and his considered proposals for bringing about an active and desirable movement towards this end were points in two excellent speeches which occur to us at this time.

While the appointment of a President for the Provincial Association naturally formed an important part of the Convention's agenda the reports of the business which has been transacted during the short space of two days would indicate a busy and thoroughly successful gathering.

and dealt with in the ordinary way by the Legislature. What is more important in the interests of good government and progress is the ample evidence of unanimity and harmony in the ranks of the Party in power.

HEARST GETS HIS.

Such hopes as William Randolph Hearst may have entertained of getting the Democratic nomination for Governor of New York State were blasted at the convention which took place at Syracuse last night.

This is the second time that Hearst has failed in the main ambition of his life. On the previous occasion he succeeded in getting the nomination but met with an adverse decision at the polls. But his defeat at the nominating convention at this stage is the more significant because in a number of districts which had been considered his own particular strongholds things went dead against him.

Hearst would have given almost all he possessed to become Governor of the richest and most influential State in the Union. Long has he planned to place his foot upon the gubernatorial stepping stone from which he hoped to continue his way towards a bid for the Presidency of the United States.

The truth of the matter is, the American people know Hearst and see through his schemes. He has overplayed his hand in almost everything he has undertaken. His popular pastime of insulting Great Britain and the British Empire is distasteful to his compatriots whose understanding of the responsibility which rests upon Anglo-Saxons at the present time is not circumscribed by the malignant growth which seems to have distorted the mind of Hearst.

WHAT OF INDIA?

As a result of the present crisis in the Near East and the general attitude of the Moslem world to Great Britain and the Empire as a whole the future of India will become a subject of intensive discussion. Since the conclusion of the Great War, and more particularly since the Treaty of Sevres formally provided for the future status of Turkey, two distinct schools of thought have advanced arguments for the retention and the abandonment respectively of the Indian Empire.

In the April issue of The Hibbert Journal Mr. W. S. Hamilton, I. C. S., deals with the subject under the title of "India's Revolt against Christian Civilization" and opens his dissertation with a resume of what Britain has done for India and proceeds:

The question which calls for a candid answer is whether India shows any spiritual progress during the years of British rule, and if this is lacking, or none, why this is. Necessarily we must look for this progress, if there is any, in the bending of Indian ideals to the ideals of the West, and we ought to find signs that it is no longer true that "East is east and West is west, and never the twain shall meet." For the religion of the State is Christian; the ethics studied are Christian or utilitarian; the education is through English literature; the political theory taught in the colleges of a country which has always been peculiarly aristocratic finds the salvation of the world in western democracy; the virtues inculcated are those of meat eaters, which seem, to peoples who are mostly mild vegetarians, to be akin to barbarities.

As a matter of fact Mr. Hamilton has reached the conclusion that little or no spiritual progress has resulted from British efforts to lead India along the path of Western civilization. And he goes on to explain his deduction:

The reason is that the spiritual food provided has consisted of strange foreign ideas, and the spirit has become sickly from the unnatural diet and longs for the simpler home fare. The unrest is not chiefly political, nor to be cured by a change in the form of government; it was social before it was political, and "it is the policeman's eye, and not any change of heart, which has modified conduct. The few who have really come under the influence of western culture have read, marked, and learned, but have seldom inwardly digested; they have been like actors—unhappy in their faces, dresses, and playing parts into the spirit of which they could not enter;—history hereafter will quote them as the finest instances of nature, wrenched away by the incompatible ideals of East and West.

But the author will not be enthusiastically supported in his suggestion that the abandonment of India is a solution to the difficulties of governing the country. Briefly put Mr. Hamilton's supreme argument for leaving India to her own devices is that there exists no justification for attempting to tell her our ideas of progress must hers too. He declares that even British pride should forbid us to stay on as policemen and tax-gatherers where once we were social evangelists.

On the other hand British prestige and the material benefit of India can be advanced as sufficient reason for pursuing a course that should result in a measure of freedom that will enable the people of the country to enjoy their natural diet and "the simpler home fare" and cure the national biliousness of which Mr. Hamilton complains. The operation of the Montague bill and the gradual expansion of home rule through the education of those elements which are capable of governing, and desire to govern, the best interests of the native will be preserved and a splendid adventure in nation building need not be relinquished.

The present crisis and India are not so intimately associated as one might suppose at first sight. For years to come India, with her teeming millions, uneducated masses saved from squalor and famine by British rule, will require careful handling. But the native mind at bottom knows what it owes to its guardian and will not throw him over.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is a surprising thing that the people of the Balkans cannot exist without killing one another off at frequent intervals.

If war breaks out in the Near East there will be no point in the campaign that is being waged by the insurgents in Southern Ireland.

How long will it be before the nations of the Empire agree on something like this: "We will deal among ourselves and with such other nations as will do business without wanting to fight every twenty-four hours?"

There are two ways in which France may preserve the Entente for a little longer. She may persuade Mustapha Kemal Pasha against fighting Great Britain or she may tell the British Government that French troops will help to defend the Dardanelles against the Kemalists.

THE SALVAGING OF HISTORY.

To the Editor.—In last Friday's issue of The Times there was a reply to my letter on the above subject which appeared in this paper early in the week. The reply was very unjust in that it misrepresented my letter from beginning to end and attacked with uncalculated asperity ideas which were not to be found in my letter at all. A mere cursory examination of the "two" letters, I think, will show that this is so.

It is stated that I accused the Mayor of disloyalty.

OUR ANNUAL CELEBRATION.

To the Editor.—Just a word thanking the I. O. D. E. Empire for the interest taken in what the 24th May celebration committee are doing but for the moment, why now complain because the name has been changed from Victoria Day, representing a one-day celebration to Victoria's Broom and Water Carnival which represents one or more. The committees have worked hard for past three months arranging details, advertised in the papers for one month offering $10 for a suitable name, but our fair daughters during this time have taken no interest whatsoever in helping us make the 24th May celebration one long to be remembered. Now that more interest is being taken I wish to say that on October 12 the public will be invited to a general meeting in the City Hall, at 8.15 p. m., either to back up what we are arranging to do next year or offer better suggestions, and I would like to see the combined I. O. D. E. societies fully represented there. I am sure all consideration will be given to the name and if a better one can be given I am satisfied that the committee will be only too pleased to change same, for what we want is co-operation.

THE NIGHT SCHOOL.

To the Editor.—The School Board will meet at an early date to make arrangements for the evening technical classes. Being very much interested in this movement, and having had several years' experience as a teacher in night schools, I beg the liberty to make a few suggestions:

1. The School Trustees should visit the school regularly. (I believe a committee was appointed, but they took very little or no interest in the work.)

2. The above lack of interest gives the "supervisor" too much scope, with the result that the automatic spirit is too often displayed. A better spirit should be created.

3. The classes fall away to nothing before the night-school term finishes. No effort is made to get in touch with the absentee student. A few cards, or a "phone message from the teacher or supervisor" would remedy this.

4. There should be a greater amount of social element in the school, a lecture, dance, or concert would go a long way to lift the spirits of the students, as one of them explained. It was (the school) "nothing more or less than an educational graveyard."

5. There ought to be more harmony between the supervisor and the education authorities over the "log-headers," and some one has to pull down the flag of high mindedness. The sooner this is done the better, the only alternative being for the School Trustees to show the smaller minded official the way to the "open door."

There are great possibilities in the night school—even in Victoria—because as it is presentment it would be good economy to scrap much of its present elements—human and otherwise. A STUDENT.

If the hold-up men were on the boat, the police officers must have rubbed elbows with them, as the ship was crowded. TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY. Victoria Times, September 30, 1897. The shooting season will open to-morrow. THE PLAYHOUSE

To-night for the last time Mr. Reginald N. Hincks will present his all-star cast in Playhouse Show No. 4. Opening with a bright concerted number and followed by a particularly charming Russian dance by Miss Roberta Balcom, and then the feature of the bill, "The Boy," a pottish comic opera in three acts, makes up an evening brimful of bright music, funny comedy dances and color. The comedy is of an exceedingly funny order, keeping the audience in fits of laughter throughout the whole evening. The story of the adventures of the Meekies family is carried right through the play by means of the clever dialogue and the delightful musical numbers, and it is safe to say that Victorians have never before had the opportunity of seeing these popular artists in a better show. As a well balanced performance this ranks very high and those who have not seen it are really missing a treat. The last performance is to-night. Curtain at 8.30 sharp. As there is always a big rush on Saturday night patrons are advised that seats cannot be held after 8 o'clock. Those reserving seats in advance are requested to arrange to have them taken up before that time.

CAPITOL

A spacious dance and gambling hall setting, large enough to house an anti-prohibition mass meeting, and outclassing anything of its kind ever built for a motion picture, is one of the principal scenes of action in Irvin Willat's new production for Paramount, "The Siren Call," which features Dorothy Dalton and is now being shown at the Capitol Theatre. "Gore's Casino," as the place is known in the story, reflected the life of pleasure and revelry indulged in by the hardy pioneers of the far Northwest in the days of the gold boom, who found such places their only source of diversion.

The set was a combination of hotel lobby and dance hall. In the dance hall, or casino, were the bar, a mammoth fireplace, a stage in the rear centre for entertainers, and tables lined the space kept open for the dancers. On either side of the large halls were boxes, in two tiers, where the dancing girls and the fur-

"A wise monkey." Have you ever seen one? It seems that a "wise monkey" is to Spanish bull-fighting what the ground-keeper and the "peanut bunker" are to baseball.
A "wise monkey" is the recipient of clever remarks from the gallery and, it is to be imagined, occasionally the Spanish equivalent of the American pop-bottle. He's the butt of many a joke—is the "wise monkey."

A flock of "wise monkeys" were used as atmosphere in the colorful Madrid bull-ring scenes of "Blood and Sand," a Fred Niblo production by Vicente Blasco Ibañez wherein Rodolph Valentino appears as "Gallardo," a dashing bull-fighter.

The career of "Gallardo" as outlined in the story, is said to be intensely dramatic. Lilia Lee and Nita Naldi have the principal feminine roles and others in the cast include George Field, Rose Rosanova, Marie Martini, Fred Becker, Charles Belcher and Walter Long. With Harry Carey, greatest of all Western character actors, as the star, and Henry Walthall and Ethel Grey Terry in his supporting cast, "The Kick-Back" Carey's latest and greatest drama of the Far West, is entertaining capacity audiences at the Columbia Theatre. Others in the cast are Charles Le Moyne, Vester Pegg, Jim O'Neill and Mignonette, a young girl of high skill who plays a vital role in the development of the plot.

RADIOS TROUPE HERE THREE DAYS

The Radios Troupe of ex-active service entertainers have been persuaded by the management of the Columbia Theatre to pay a return visit to the city and present a farewell showing for three days next week.

These clever and versatile boys created such a great success during their stay in the city and were so well pleased by their reception and the kindness shown them that they were gratified to return and appear at this popular centre of amusement before continuing on their way. The management would advise all who have not had the pleasure of seeing the Radios to not miss this last chance, for it will be a long time before they come this way again. Their intention is to keep going until they have circled the globe. They have an entirely fresh programme also for this special show. Quite a number of songs and ditties will be used that they actually sang to the boys in France. A clean, snappy refined show is the Radios' motto always.

COMING TO ROYAL

House Peters has given the screen new standards of acting. "The Storm," a play by Langdon McCormick, made New York theatrical history.

The three elements, Peters, the play, and Barker, are combined in their strength in the making of "The Storm," the Universal-Jewel picture which comes to the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday next, as a starring vehicle for Peters.

COMPLETE SERIES WITH "PINAFORE"

Famous Gilbert and Sullivan Opera Twice Presented To-day

The American Light Opera Company will close a very successful and most enjoyable week at the Royal Victoria Theatre to-night with another performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's "H.M.S. Pinafore."

Once again the soul satisfying strains of a Gilbert and Sullivan opera will be heard. "H.M.S. Pinafore" is replete with music that is as much wound up in the home life of the Anglo-Saxon race as are the sayings of Shakespeare. As one after another the old familiar melodies come sweetly to your ears—a sympathetic tear may come to your eyes as you think of the days when you first heard them.

Then what it must mean to the younger generations—to hear for perhaps the first time these classics of standard music. For a young girl or boy not to hear and know "H.M.S. Pinafore" would be as sorry as to miss the story of Cinderella.

In to-night's cast Ed. Andrews will be the "First Deadey"; George Ober will be the "Sir Joseph"; Harry Pfeil, Ralph Rackstraw; Carl Bundschu—"Captain Goodwin"—Paula Arrand—sings "Little Buttercups." Their production by June Mathis with Alvin Wyckoff as cinematographer.

The career of "Gallardo" as outlined in the story, is said to be intensely dramatic. Lilia Lee and Nita Naldi have the principal feminine roles and others in the cast include George Field, Rose Rosanova, Marie Martini, Fred Becker, Charles Belcher and Walter Long. "Blood and Sand" is at the Dominion Theatre all this week.

COMING TO DOMINION

A picture which combines magnificent scenic beauty with a thrilling story is "The Valley of Silent Men," adapted from James Oliver Curwood's famous novel of the same name as a Cosmopolitan production, and released by Paramount.

Those familiar with the novel, which ran serially in Good House-keeping Magazine in 1920, will recall that it is a story of the Royal North-west Mounted Police, with the Rocky Mountains for a background. It is a picture of tremendous power, barling as it does the souls of five men and a woman who are isolated in a little narrow valley.

For the purpose of imparting this realism to the screen, the entire company went to Banff, in the Canadian Rockies, and there practically every foot of the action was enacted and photographed. The result, apart from the dramatic value of the production, is a picture of unsurpassed scenic beauty.

The picture, which was directed by Frank Borzage, and which features Reginald Barker, is coming to the Dominion Theatre next Monday for six days. It is well worth seeing.

held from now on, so that close contact between the Government and the workers, and between the various portions of the province, could be maintained.

It was decided that the convention should meet a year hence in Vancouver and that the delegates' expenses should be pooled.

Poultry Industry.
On motion of H. E. Collis, of Victoria, it was resolved to ask the Government to take steps towards assisting the growing poultry industry of the province in marketing its product and in obtaining free trade.

"By bringing the grain growers into closer touch with the poultry raisers, we can obviate the necessity of a protective tariff for the poultry industry, thus furthering our Liberal principles of free and unobstructed trade," said Mr. Collis.

Commenting on a resolution approving the Government's mothers' pensions law and its administration, Attorney-General Manson stated that

British Columbia was paying out $940 per thousand of its population in this way, whereas the province paying the next highest amount was disbursing only $445 per thousand.

Peace River Extensions.
"Settlers can no longer remain in the Peace River District unless rail transportation is afforded them immediately," said Howard Atkinson, in supporting the resolution which urges the Government to strike for C. N. R. or E. D. & B. C. extensions into the district.

"During the war we could afford to pay the high freight to the railroad for our produce, but with the decline in prices we can not do it. But having tried to establish our homes there, we do not wish to quit."

The Premier announced that he had yesterday wired Premier Greenfield of Alberta, asking for information about the situation, and that he heartily favored the resolution.

A demand emanating from Nanaimo for a committee of the Legislature to investigate the grievances of labor in reference to the Workmen's Compensation Act was strongly opposed by Attorney-General Manson, and was defeated by a substantial majority.

Workman's Compensation.
Kenneth Campbell, M. P. P. for Nelson, moved an amendment asking the Government to increase the allowances to disabled workmen as far as could be done without crippling industry.

The Board already had this under consideration, and stated that the British Columbia scale was, all things considered, the highest in existence.

Blaine, Manxara.
Resolutions were passed endorsing the policy and record of the Government in colonization of the interior, on motion of John Yorstan, M. P. P.

Alma Roberts at the head of a small team of nurses, passed on legislation, on motion of H. P. McCroney, of Richmond; in establishing a school for deaf, dumb and blind children at Point Grey, on motion of Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, M. P. P.; in humanizing the methods and establishing new buildings for the Boys' Industrial School, also on motion of Mrs. Smith; in giving preferential employment to returned soldiers in the civil service, on motion of Captain Whiteheolo, of Abbotsford, and in extending the facilities for treating tuberculosis patients, on motion of Fred W. Anderson, M. P. P.

All of these resolutions urged continuance of the same policies.

Civil Service Policy.
Premier Oliver spoke on patronage. He referred to the non-partisan civil service demanded by the rank and file of Liberals in B. C. in 1916 when they returned to power the late Premier Brewster.

"In our platform we promised a non-partisan civil service," he said. "But there are some things beautiful in theory, that don't work out in practice. We kept our pledge by drafting a civil service act on the advice of Dr. Adam Shortt. By this act we in the innocence of our hearts passed over to a commissioner patronage rights which should have been exercised by the members of the Government and the responsible members of the Legislature elected by the people."

"But the results have not been satisfactory. The results have apparently not been satisfactory to you and they have certainly not been satisfactory to us. I say to you representatives of the Liberal party that are here in Nelson that we will either have a change in regard to the management of the civil service, and the making of appointments or know the reason why."

The conclusion of the premier's speech evoked applause. No mention was made of the name of the present civil service commissioner, W. H. MacInnes, but the Vancouver delegates in particular were aware that the announcement was probably the result of a recent heart to heart conference between the Vancouver Liberal executive and the Premier in which the dismissal of Mr. MacInnes was demanded without delay, in fulfillment of what was alleged to have been a year old promise.

W.B.A. GIRLS HONOR CAMP PRESIDENT

Banquet for Miss Muriel Ringland Who Is Leaving for Portland

A most delightful banquet was given at the home of Mrs. Ball, 1033 Queen's Avenue, on Thursday evening, when the girls of the W. B. A. Summer Camp Club met to honor their president, Miss Muriel Ringland, who is making her future home in Portland. The table was beautifully arranged, the color scheme being pink and white. Several large baskets, hand made, in rose design were filled with a profusion of pink and white chrysanthemums; the favors were small baskets in the same design and the place cards were decorated with embossed roses.

Those present were Mrs. Ball, camp supervisor; Mrs. Wall, commander of Review No. 1; Mrs. Ricketts, past commander No. 41; Mrs. Stephens, commander No. 18; Mrs. Garrett, collector No. 1; Mrs. Feicher, collector Nos. 11 and 18, and the members of the club.

Beautifully specially designed W. B. A. pins were presented by the girls to Mrs. Ball and Miss Ringland and a lovely spray of pins and white carnations to Mrs. Ball as a token of appreciation of her untiring efforts to make the girls' camp the unequalled success which it proved to be this past season.

As Mrs. Hodgson, provincial deputy, is lying critically ill at her home, a lovely bouquet was sent her, accompanied by a pin of the same design as those presented to the club officers.

The thanks of all present was extended to the hostesses and her able assistants, Miss Scott and Miss Alva Ball, for a most delightful evening.

H.G. WELLS FAMOUS OUTLINE OF HISTORY The Romance of Mother Earth

TO-DAY'S INSTALMENT—18

The Coming of Men Like Ourselves

The Neanderthal type of man prevailed in Europe for a long period. For ages that make all history seem a thing of yesterday, these nearly human creatures prevailed. If the Heidelberg jaw was that of a Neanderthal, and if there is no error in the estimate of the age of that jaw, then the Neanderthal race lasted out for more than 200,000 years! Finally, between 40,000 and 15,000 years ago, as the Fourth Glacial Age softened toward more temperate conditions, a different human type came upon the scene and, it would seem, exterminated Homo Neanderthalensis. This new type was probably developed in South Asia or North Africa, or in lands now submerged in the Mediterranean basin, and, as more remains are collected and evidence accumulated, men will learn more of their early stages.

An Unknown Origin. At present we can only guess where and how, through the slow ages, parallel with the Neanderthal, these first true men arose out of some more ape-like progenitor. For hundreds of centuries they were acquiring skill of hand and limb, and power and bulk of brain, in that still unknown environment. They were already far above the Neanderthal level of achievement and intelligence when first they came into our ken, and they had already split into two or more very distinctive races. These newcomers did not migrate into Europe in the strict sense of the word, but rather, as century by century the climate ameliorated, they followed the food and plants to which they were accustomed, as those spread into the new realms that opened to them.

The ice was receding, vegetation was increasing, big game of all sorts was becoming more abundant, Steppe-like conditions, conditions of pasture and shrub, were bringing with them vast herds of wild horses. Ethnologists (students of race) class these new human races in one same species as ourselves, and with all human races subsequent to them, under one common specific name of "Homo sapiens." They had quite human brain-cases and hands. Their teeth and their necks were anatomically as ours are.

Two Distinct Types. We know of two distinct sorts of skeletal remains in this period, the first of these known as the Cro-Magnon race, and the second the Grimaldi race; but the great bulk of the human traces and appliances we find are either without human bones or with insufficient bones for us to define their associated physical type. There may have been many more distinct races than these two. There may have been intermediate types. In the grotto of Cro-Magnon it was that complete skeleton of one main type of these Newer Palaeolithic men, these true men, were first found, and so it is that they are spoken of as Cro-Magnards.

These Cro-Magnards were a tall people with very broad faces, prominent noses, and all things considered, astonishingly big brains. The brain capacity of the woman in the Cro-Magnon cave exceeded that of the average male to-day. Her head had been smashed by a heavy blow. There were also in the same cave with her the complete skeleton of an older man, nearly six feet high, the fragments of a child's skeleton and the skeletons of two young men. There were also flint implements and perforated sea shells, used no doubt, as ornaments. Such is one sample of the earliest true men.

But as the Grimaldi cave, near Mentone, was discovered two skeletons also of the later Palaeolithic period, with negroid characteristics that point rather to the negroid type. There can be no doubt that we have to deal in this period with at least two and probably more highly divergent races of true men. They may have overlapped in time or Cro-Magnards may have followed the Grimaldi race and either or both may have been contemporary with the late Neanderthal men. Various authorities have very strong opinion upon these points, but they are at most opinions.

The appearance of these truly human post-glacial Palaeolithic peoples was certainly an enormous leap forward in the history of mankind. Both of these main races had a human forehead, a human hand, an intelligence very like our own. They possessed Homo Neanderthalensis and his cave-dwelling stone quarries. And they agreed with modern ethnologists, it would seem, in regarding him as a different species.

A Race of Mighty Hunters. Unlike most savage conquerors, who take the women of the defeated into their own and interbreed with them, it would seem that the true men would have nothing to do with the Neanderthal race, women or men. There is no trace of any intermixture between the races, in spite of the fact that the newcomers, being also flint users, were establishing themselves in the very same spots that their predecessors had occupied. We know nothing of the appearance of the Neanderthal man, but his absence of intermixture seems to suggest an extreme hairiness, an ugliness, or a repulsive strangeness in his appearance over and above his low forehead, his beetle brows, his ape neck and his inferior stature. Or he—and she—may have been too fierce to tame. Says Sir Harry Johnston, in a survey of the rise of modern man in his "Views and Reviews": "It is a dim racial remembrance of such gorilla-like monsters, with cunning brains, shambling gait, hairy bodies, strong teeth and possibly cannibalistic tendencies, may be the germ of the ogre in folklore."

These true men of the Palaeolithic Age, who replaced the Neanderthals, were coming into a milder climate, and although they used the caves and shelters of their predecessors, they lived largely in the open. They were hunting peoples, and some of all of them appear to have hunted the mammoth and the wild horse as well as the reindeer, bison and aurochs. They ate much horse.

At a great open-air camp at Soltau, where they seem to have had annual gatherings for many centuries, it is estimated that there are the bones of 100,000 horses, besides reindeers, mammoth and bison bones. They probably followed herds of horses, the little bearded ponies of that age, as these moved after pasture. They hung about on the flanks of the herd and became very wise about its habits and dispositions. A large part of these men's lives must have been spent in watching animals.

Whether they tamed and domesticated the horse is still an open question. Perhaps they learned to do so by degrees as the centuries passed. At any rate we find late Palaeolithic drawings of horses with marks about the heads that are strongly suggestive of bridles and there exists a carving of a horse's head showing what is perhaps a rope of twisted skin or tendon. But even if they tamed the horse, it is still more doubtful whether they rode it or had much use for it when it was tamed. The horse they knew was a wild pony with a beard under its chin, not up to carrying a man for any distance. It is improbable that these men had yet learned the rather unnatural use of animal's milk for food, if they tamed the horse at last, it was the only animal they seemed to have tamed. They had no dogs, and they had little to do with any sort of domesticated sheep or cattle.

IF WINTER COMES

INSTALLMENT NUMBER 65 BY A. S. M. HUTCHINSON

On the following day Tidborough, opening his newspapers, shook hands with itself in all its houses, shops and offices on its own special and most glorious V. C.—Lord Tybar.

Tybar's V. C. was the first thing Sabre spoke of to Nona when, a fortnight later, she came down and he went up to her at Northrepps in the afternoon. Its brilliant gallantry rendered so vivid to him by the intimacy with which he could see that thrice attractive figure engaged in its performance, stirred him most deeply. He had by heart every line of its official record in the restrained language of the Gazette.

The left flank of the position was insecure, and the post, when taken over, was ill-prepared for defence. When the battalion was suffering very heavy casualties from a 7mm. field gun at very close range, Captain Lord Tybar rushed forward under intense machine gun fire and succeeded in capturing the gun single-handed after killing the crew.

Later, when reinforcements developed, he controlled the defense at the point threatened, giving personal assistance with revolver and bombs.

Single-handed he repulsed one bombing assault. It was entirely owing to the gallant conduct of this officer that the situation was relieved. Oh, rare and splendid spirit! Fortune's darling thrice worthy of her dowry!

Nona had written of it in ringing words. She flashed into his mind the outburst of the enthusiasm she joined with Sabre's at his opening words of their meeting; but she ended with a sad little laugh. "What do you mean, Nona, 'and then'?"

She took a letter from her bag. "I only got this this morning, just as I was coming away. It's in reply to the one I wrote him about his V. C. Oh, Marko, so splendid, so utterly splendid as he is, and then to be like this. Look, he says he's just got leave and he's going to spend it in Paris! One of his women is there. That Mrs. W. has written up with her again. He says 'Poor thing'

She's all alone in Paris. I know how sorry you will feel for her, and I feel I ought to go and look after her. I know you will agree with me. I'll tell her you sent me. That will amuse and please her so."

She touched her eyes with her handkerchief. "It rather hurts, Marko. It's not that I mind his going. It's just what he would do. But it's the way he tells me. He just says it like that deliberately. 'Utterly splendid! Look, this is all he says about his V. C. Isn't this fine and isn't it like him? He says, 'P.S. Yes, that V. C. business. You know why I got it, don't you? It stands for Very Cautious, you know.'"

They laughed together. "Yes, like that, Tybar, exactly." Sabre could see him writing the letter. Delighting in saying words that would hurt, delighting in his own whimsicality that would amuse. Splendid! Airy, untouched by thought; fearless, faithless, heedless, graceless. Fortune's darling; invested in her robe of mockery.

Nona's laughter ended in a little catch at her breath. He touched her arm. "Let's walk, Nona."

He thought she was looking thin and done up. Her face had rather a drawn look, its soft roundness gone. He thought about it, everything so beautiful to him. She spoke to him of what she had tried to say in her letters of his disappointments in offering himself for service. Never had her sweet voice sounded so exquisitely tender to him. They spoke of the war. Never, but in their letters, had he been able thus to give his feelings and receive them, touched with the same perceptions, kindled and enlarged, back into his sympathies again. With others the war was all a discussion of chances and circumstances, of this that had happened and that that might happen, of this that should be done and that that ought not to have been done. Laboratory examination of means and results, not the things that were, and the patient upstairs nothing. The wood not seen for the trees. With Nona he talked of how he felt of England.

"Dear earth, I do salute thee with my hand." He told her that. "I know, I know. Say it all through, Marko."

The annual gathering of the directors, officers and other workers of the Y. M. C. A. was held last night at a re-union supper given in the building on Bannard Street. Dr. T. W. Thomas, president of the Association, was in the chair. A feature of the evening was an inspirational address given by C. F. Nevius, general secretary of the Everett branch. The organization was grown in the laboratory of the world's needs, held the speaker, who urged that the genius of the Association lay in its development of leadership. Mr. Nevius concluded by stating he had no hesitation in saying that the Y. M. C. A. was raised by God to meet the circumstances of the times.

Virginia Valli Indulged in Real Orgy of Shopping

Virginia Valli, who plays opposite House Peters in "The Storm," the Universal-Jewel attraction which is playing at the Regent, recently went on a shopping rampage. She flushed in her purchases, a capes, knitted Jersey sport frocks and a collection of hats that gave the impression the young star was going in the business. Friends who are in a urban model with a slight roll all around, on one side dipping coquettishly with a bunch of cherries dangling invitingly from the end. Miss Valli does some remarkable work in "The Storm," in fact, so excellent was her portrayal of the character of the little French-Canadian orphan that Universal signed her up on a five-year contract. Miss MacKellar, star of the original stage production, paid Miss Valli the tribute of saying she knew no other actress she would rather have follow her in her pet role.

WOMEN'S WORK IS OF GREAT VALUE

Great War Veterans' Association Appreciates Efforts

That the Women's Auxiliary of their organization is entitled to a great deal of credit for the excellent work they are doing in Victoria for the disabled returned men and the dependents of men who lost their lives overseas, is the statement made by A. H. C. Jones, president of the Great War Veterans Association here.

Mr. Jones points out that the ladies have always taken a keen interest in the work in connection with returned men and their dependents.

These services rendered by the women are too often and too soon forgotten," he remarked on recalling the loyal support and the untiring work of the women during the war and after it. From the very beginning of the organization the women have played a big part in the praiseworthy efforts put forward in the interests of the returned men and we deeply appreciate their valuable assistance," continued Mr. Jones.

The Women's Auxiliary assists the G. W. V. A. in its hospital work, calling upon the patients and remembering them in various little ways so deeply appreciated by those who are unable to enjoy the pleasures enjoyed by those who are blessed with health and strength. The ladies, for instance, arrange to take the T. B. patients for motor drives and they will shortly provide a concert for them. At the recent tag day, the ladies collected the sum of $532.75 and of this amount $500 was turned over to the G. W. V. A. executive for the carrying on of its relief work. Mrs. Cave was the convener of the committee which had the matter in hand and the association is deeply appreciative of this great assistance.

The ladies are planning for a series of card parties and dances during the winter months for the purpose of raising funds to help the needy among the veterans and their dependents.

The G. W. V. A. quarters on Bastion Street, through the presence and influence of the ladies, are very comfortable and in splendid condition and the men find it very encouraging to work in such pleasant surroundings provided by the fair sex.

SHIPPING LINES REFUSE FREIGHT

All Ships in Inter-coastal Trade Out of San Francisco Booked Well Ahead

San Francisco, Sept. 30.—Outbound freight bookings on inter-coastal steamers are so heavy for several months to come that none of the lines is able to book any additional tonnage. This fact was brought out when several tons of California wine grapes were offered to practically every line at a high rate, but the inter-coastal companies were unable to take the shipment because of contracts made some time before which booked them to the limit.

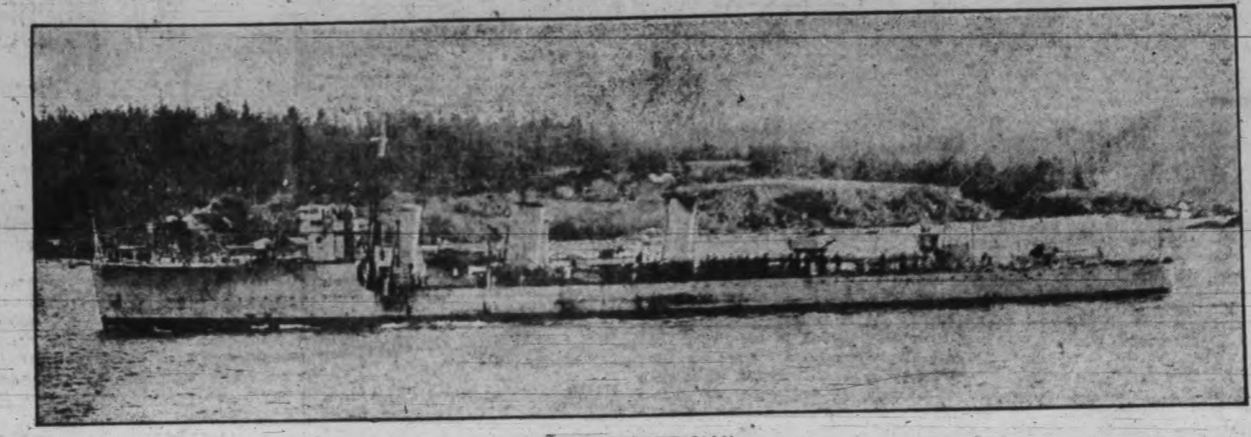

Scores of contracts for a period of a year were entered into by several of the inter-coastal lines when the rate war started some time ago. These contracts resulted in all of the steamers being assured full cargoes on practically every trip.

The total salmon pack to arrive at this port has reached 909,988 cases and 7,480 barrels. There are still three vessels of the Alaska Packers' Association fleet to arrive.

Changes and reductions are effective October 1.

TOWBOAT OWNERS REACH AGREEMENT

All Tows Will Be Turned Over by Canadian and American Tugs at Nearest Port

At a joint meeting of the British Columbia Towboat Owners' Association and the Puget Sound Towboat Owners' Association held here on Wednesday an agreement was reached whereby tugs with tows from either side of the international boundary will tow only to the nearest port of entry and then release the tow to a tug of some concern at that point, which concern will agree to continue the haul to its destination.

In effect, it means larger business for the Victoria towboat operators, as this port is the nearest point of entry from ports of the United States. It was also agreed at the meeting that drift logs picked up on either side of the boundary line and belonging to parties on either side will be collected, towed to the line and then turned over to vessels of the country wherein the owners agree and adopted unanimously.

It is expected that the numerous disputes that have arisen over drift logs will now be eliminated.

VICE-PRESIDENT OF CHICAGO-MILWAUKEE FISHING ON ISLAND

E. D. Sewall, vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, with headquarters at Chicago, arrived in the city yesterday from Seattle. He paid a call on Fred O. Finn, agent for the Chicago-Milwaukee here, and later in the day left by automobile for Cowichan Lake, where he plans to spend a few days fishing.

Mr. Sewall displayed an interest in the lumber industry of Vancouver Island, and while up country will investigate further into the timber operations.

COHOES RUNNING OFF BREAKWATER

Fishing Party Made Exceptional Catch This Morning in Record Time

Coho are again running in the Straits and Gulf. Amateur fishermen with an inclination for early rising were feverishly pulling them out to-day off the Dalles front, with the spread of the news, a regular fleet of small boats was soon requisitioned in the trolling patrol. About two weeks ago there was quite a run of cohoes and fishermen were making good catches, but it petered out and the revival is creating renewed interest in the ranks of the spoon manipulators.

As an instance of the luck of Wall-tonians a party of three went out early this morning and after fishing for two and a half hours, returned with a catch of seven large cohoes, each weighing from fifteen to twenty pounds.

The fishing party was composed of Eric Marshall, of the Chicago-Milwaukee office here; Frank Sommers and J. H. Dunford, a visitor from Calgary.

Mr. Marshall landed three, Mr. Sommers two and Mr. Dunford hooked four, all beauties. The catch of Messrs. Marshall and Dunford was to-day on view in the window of the Chicago-Milwaukee office, and the display attracted considerable attention.

The boys were hardly outside the breakwater when the fish began to bite and three large ones were being hauled in at the same time by the three occupants of the launch.

Mr. Dunford has been fishing for some days without any luck, and he returned hugely delighted this morning with the big catch.

He is returning to Calgary this week-end and proposes to take at least part of his catch back to the prairies packed in ice.

JEFFERSON TO SAIL

BE READY
 FIRE PREVENTION WEEK
 OCTOBER 2 TO 9

Victoria and District Fire Insurance Agents Issue Warnings.

Have you not said of your neighbor's place that it was littered with filth, and forgotten to look around and clean up your own place? Go at once, look over your home, and clean out all rubbish. Go to your outbuildings, clean up and see that hereafter they are kept clean. Haul away and burn all the old litter and watch the fire while you are doing it and see that it is out before you leave. If your neighbor asks you what you are doing, tell him "cleaning up," and to go and do the same. Tell him you are going to reduce insurance rates by reducing the fire hazard. Tell him you are tired of helping to pay other people's loss, and that the insurance companies are not paying the losses, but that it comes out of the pockets of the insured. Tell him you are going to help reduce the per capita fire loss, which is $5.25 in Canada as against 33 cents in Europe. Tell him if the Old Country can get cheap insurance by keeping things clean, you are going to do the same. Get the men and women together in your community and have them organize for fire prevention. Advise them to look after the chimneys and see that they are clean before putting up stoves. See that ashes are not put in wooden boxes or barrels. See that the merchants keep gasoline and coal oil in proper underground tanks. See that straw or hay or other inflammable material is not piled against buildings. The Victoria and District Fire Insurance Agents are putting up a strong fight against fire waste.

POTATO WEIGHS 4.3 LBS.

Remarkable Growth of Gold Coin Variety.

What citizen of Victoria has raised the largest potato this season? Many folks are laying claim to the title, but anyone who wishes to prevail, let him try the Gold Coin variety. It is the largest tipped the scales at 4.3 lbs. Street, from annexing it, will have to bring forth a tuber that will require a wheelbarrow to bear it around.

Mr. Hickford went forth the other evening to dig up his crop. He was surprised at the size of the "spuds" and he called out all the neighbors when he struck one hill that nearly broke his back to lift. In the root were 17 1/2 pounds of good potatoes. The biggest one weighed 4.3 pounds and the five largest tipped the scales at 2 1/2 pounds. The seed was from Gold Coin.

The big tubers are now on exhibition in Savory's windows, Johnson Street.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 1st, AT 3 O'CLOCK, P. M.

You are cordially invited to be present.

POTATO WEIGHS 4.3 LBS.

Remarkable Growth of Gold Coin Variety.

What citizen of Victoria has raised the largest potato this season? Many folks are laying claim to the title, but anyone who wishes to prevail, let him try the Gold Coin variety. It is the largest tipped the scales at 4.3 lbs. Street, from annexing it, will have to bring forth a tuber that will require a wheelbarrow to bear it around.

Mr. Hickford went forth the other evening to dig up his crop. He was surprised at the size of the "spuds" and he called out all the neighbors when he struck one hill that nearly broke his back to lift. In the root were 17 1/2 pounds of good potatoes. The biggest one weighed 4.3 pounds and the five largest tipped the scales at 2 1/2 pounds. The seed was from Gold Coin.

The big tubers are now on exhibition in Savory's windows, Johnson Street.

Esquimalt's History and Romance

Home of Former Pacific Squadron of British Fleet. Discovery and Development of Naval Base From Early Period.

No one obtains a true historical perspective of any place nor does anyone feel the romance of its history until his imagination enables him to share the sensations of those who discovered or founded the place. The discovery, naming, utilization and development of Esquimalt was but part of a much larger drama in the exploration of the Pacific Coast. British Columbia itself is said to have been discovered by a Spaniard named Perez who visited Vancouver Island in 1774. The Straits of Juan de Fuca were known long before this date, and this being the case the claim to discovery of British Columbia must mean more than the discovery of Vancouver Island.

Regarding the Straits themselves, they were named after a Greek mariner who had adopted, or was nicknamed, a Spanish name and who claimed that he had sailed some twenty miles between an island and a southern mainland coast as early as 1492, or exactly one hundred years after Columbus discovered America. Though this claim has been denied, the name undoubtedly was known in Europe, for Cook, the great explorer, their excessive cost. This had been £332, apart from the seven acres of land set apart for naval and military purposes. The anxiety of Governor Douglas to have Esquimalt made a definite and established naval headquarters and a general naval depot, was manifested by his writing to the Colonial Secretary of State offering, on behalf of the colony, to erect a storehouse from the colony's funds. This was accompanied by a recommendation from Admiral Bruce that the Admiralty retain these buildings for permanent naval purposes and that a store and provision depot be founded at Esquimalt.

These recommendations were followed up three years later by Admiral Sir L. Baynes, who pointed out that a reserve of seventeen acres adjacent to the lands upon which these buildings were situated was suited admirably for "any purpose for which their Lordships may deem advisable to appropriate it." Evidently there was an understanding between Governor Douglas and the representatives of the Admiralty on this Coast that every influence should be brought to bear upon the Home authorities to have Esquimalt made permanent headquarters.

It is interesting to note in this connection that Admiral Baynes, a year later, recommending most favorably the consideration of such a permanent establishment, should state that "the only drawback to such a proposal is the possible defection to the United States of Washington."

The changes which have taken place in the structure and size of commercial vessels, or commercial carriers, since 1905. Hardly a ship at sea, or coming in from sea in a more or less crippled condition, previous to 1905 required a "dock" of one kind or another for the purpose of effecting repairs, either temporary or permanent, greater in capacity than that afforded at Esquimalt. The growth in the size of shipping, as that term is understood to-day, showed the presence in the case of the old and now obsolete Esquimalt Drydock.

The new National Dock which will be completed as rapidly and as soon as circumstances dictate the necessity of its completion and will be, in depth, length and other particulars to take care of National shipping—always supposing that the requirements of Imperial naval exigencies shall have precedence in the case of the old and now obsolete Esquimalt Drydock.

While there does not appear to be any lettered agreement between the requirements of the Imperial navy should have preference in these new docks it is inconceivable by any means that the Admiralty should be otherwise. The same circumstances might apply in case of accident to any warship of New Zealand, or of any other nation, in Western Pacific waters. Tacit understanding sometimes is the most powerful agreement.

The necessity for such drydock accommodation has been forced upon the attention of both citizens and the Federal Government during the last few years. During this time many thousands of dollars worth of repairs to foreign shipping has been compelled to seek alien ports, and the fact that tenders for such repairs made by Canadian (Victoria) firms have undercut foreign competition and all this simply because there has not been adequate drydocking facilities at this port.

Naval Cemetery. From 1855 to 1860 officers and men of the navy who died while at Esquimalt were buried, either in the old Quadra Street burying ground in Victoria or on Deadman's Island in the entrance to Esquimalt Harbor. Nineteen bodies were interred in the latter field and fifty in the former. To shorten the distance from the entrance to Esquimalt Harbor, a cemetery, the site of which is located in Skinner's Cove was consecrated. The bodies interred on Brother's Island were removed to this last resting place, and ever since it has continued to receive all those who have served king and country in the naval service. The body of Governor Seymour rests in this hallowed spot and a suitable monument marks the resting place.

It may be interesting to state that from 1845 to 1905 when the Imperial control of and interest in Esquimalt as a naval station ceased—the total number of warships stationed in Esquimalt or visiting there was 118 though it should be understood that in this computation were not included the number of flagships billeted at Esquimalt was 19, though several of these repeatedly were in commission here and only a few names are counted. A list of admirals in command, scarcely would interest the present generation and interest themselves with the facts.

Civilian Town. Naturally where there was so much naval activity there would grow up contiguous to naval headquarters more or less of a civilian town. The old town of Esquimalt consisted almost entirely of buildings which housed the naval reserve between that part of the property bounded by Canine Alley and the property immediately adjoining the Graving Dock. A few stores and a number of "hostelries" as they once were called, factiously of course, constituted the civilian habitations.

There was little need for stores or commercial conveniences because the naval authorities brought in all their supplies from the Mother Country. The hotels, or saloons, however, appeared to be more of a necessity for Jony Jack Tar must have some place to sit and eat and Victoria often proved too far away to provide the necessary lure.

In a way it is sad to look upon the ruins of these buildings now. What tales of adventure, of amusement, of revenge, retaliation, companionship and the like could be told of those who frequented such a place as merry within according to the light of the "middy" or Jack Tar. It would require the genius of an R. W. Service to do justice to such a tale. Besides, it is not a part of the object of this article to more than refer to the facts. Lechabod is written on all the walls, both within and outside these old buildings, some of which were pretentious enough in their lines.

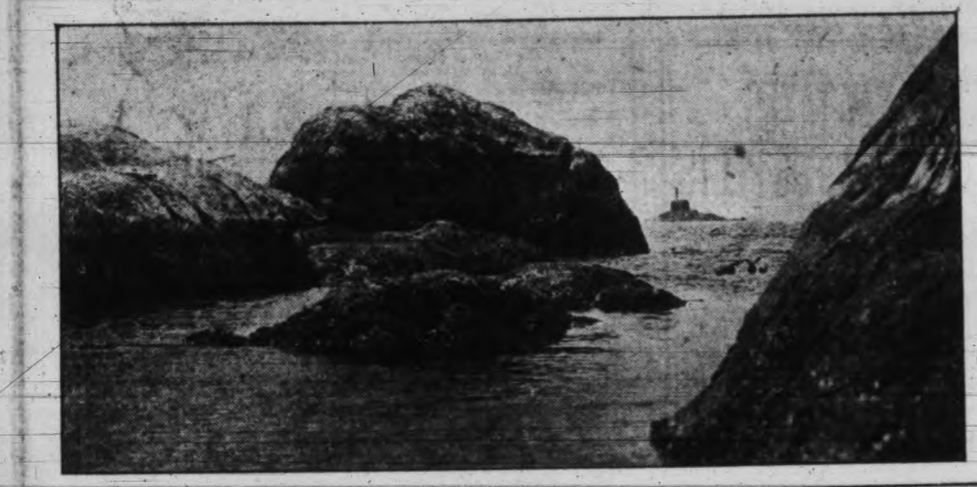

Gradually there grew up about the place a residential section and there remain still many neatly kept cottages and dwellings which show that Esquimalt was not only a naval station or devoted to military purposes. The later incorporation of the town and the extension of its borders to form a municipality do not fall within the purview of this article.

Scenically Attractive. It is impossible to look over the placid or stormy waters of Esquimalt Harbor without a realization of the distinctive attractiveness of its scenic features. Viewed from any elevation or from any quarter and the whole picture is one which must dwell for a long time in the memory of the beholder.

Brother's Island at the entrance to the harbor is a picture well worth studying in light or shade. In the very heart of the Esquimalt Harbor basin a few islands of bare rock exhibit such configuration that they lend themselves to artistic reproduction of the most fantastic kind. Covered with lichens and moss above the waterline, and with mussel and other shells below, one might almost take them for imitation coral reefs, so strangely do they comport with the seeming plan of the whole. Cole Island and Dunn's Nook are historic names and it is safe to say that these names linger in the memory of even the children of many who served Their Royal Majesties in the waters of the Pacific Coast nearly a century ago.

No more entrancing a day can be spent than one by motor boat around the curves and indentations of what appears superficially to be but a small basin known as Esquimalt Harbor. Every fresh angle brings into view a new panorama and each appears more wonderful than the last.

heard of these straits in the Baltic regions when the news reached St. Petersburg of Bering's death. It was believed at that time these straits furnished a clear waterway from the Pacific to the Atlantic oceans, and Bering had been commissioned by the Emperor of Russia to discover and explore this passage.

Bering missed the entrance to the Straits, as did Drake in 1578, and Cook was commissioned by the British Government to "forever set at rest the myth of such a passage" as one between the Atlantic and Pacific. When Cook neared the towering peaks of the Olympics, as seen from the oceanward side, he kept a sharp lookout for the entrance to the Straits alleged to be in that latitude. A storm drove him off the Coast, and although he did locate and name Cape Flattery, he reported that no such straits existed. Thus, three great explorers had failed to find the narrow entrance to Puget Sound. Subsequently the Straits were re-located by Captain Charles William Barclay, in command of a fur trading ship named Imperial Eagle. He re-named the straits Juan de Fuca, despite the doubt cast on the authenticity of the traditional discovery by the Greek pilot.

Thorough survey and charting of the Coast was undertaken and effected by Captain Vancouver from 1792 to 1794. Previously, however, on June 30th, 1790, a British sloop, the "Prince Royal" in command of Sub-Lieutenant Quilby, had anchored in what now is called Esquimalt harbor. This is the first ship known to anchor within that comfortably guarded bayou. He called the harbor Puerto de Cordova, but surveyors and hydrographers a few years later adopted the present name, following the practice of conforming to Indian or aboriginal nomenclature.

Early History of Bay. The Indian name for the bayou now called Esquimalt was Is-whoy-malth. The meaning of this word was "a place gradually sloping." Anyone familiar with the topography of the locality north and west of the bay or harbor itself will accept the designation and meaning as eminently suitable, though the same could not be said of approach from the East. On the south, of course, are the waters of the Straits.

From 1855 until 1905 Esquimalt toria and the Emperor of France jointly and in combination declared war on the emperor of all the Russias in March, 1854, and issued commands to all admirals and others capable of effective co-operation, to commence and execute all hostile measures against Russia as might be considered practicable. The Russian forces in the North Pacific were to become the focal point of offensive operations. The chief object of these operations, as the records show, was to sweep the Russian flag from off the seas bounded by America and Asia. The combined fleets met off Petropoulski during August, 1854, and without going into the particulars of their action it may be stated that their attack was futile, as the strength of the Russian forces in opposition had been underestimated greatly. The two squadrons separated, the British fleet proceeding to Vancouver Island, reaching here some time in the Autumn of 1854. As no accommodation for the wounded could be provided on shore the ships proceeded to San Francisco, where they arrived in November of that year.

Early in 1855 the new commander, Rear-Admiral Bruce, wrote from Valparaiso to Sir James Douglas, Governor of the Colony, intimating that probably a visit would be paid to Vancouver Island during June or July and suggesting that some sort of provision be made for the landing, housing and care of sick and wounded, such as was not available on the first visit of the squadron.

The records show that Governor Douglas lost no time in making provision for the temporary housing of injured or sick men as might require such accommodation. He had three buildings erected on Perry Point, later known as Duntze Head, at the immediate entrance to Esquimalt Harbor. The buildings were of wood, and the contract for their erection was carried out by the Hudson's Bay Company. Though this accommodation was for many years regarded as "temporary" only, it really marked the establishment of naval headquarters for the British Pacific Squadron. Governor Douglas thought highly of these buildings and wrote the admiralty that with ordinary care they would last half a century. Unfortunately the naval authorities hesitated to take over the buildings on account of what was considered headquarters on the Pacific Coast. Wooden buildings were supplanted gradually by brick structures. The whole congeries of departmental quarters, offices, stores, hospital, prison and other facilities which remain in occupation until 1905, when the station was closed, as far as the Imperial authorities were concerned, in March of that year.

Dominion Graving Dock. In 1885 an arrangement was entered into between the Imperial and the Dominion authorities for the construction of a naval dock, and though the work was undertaken by and the property remained later to be completed by January 1st, 1887, and also that for fifteen years after its completion right of entrance should be preferred to British warships over all other classes of vessels.

Prior to the carrying out of the work by Dominion action, twelve years of trouble and difficulty had preceded the negotiations to the stage in which they had reached when the Federal authorities decided to redeem one of the terms of confederation. The Provincial Government had great difficulty with the contractors, and at one time the work was stopped, though successive Chief Commissioners of Lands and Works struggled manfully with the undertaking, notably the late Hon. Robert Beaven under whom the work was originally started.

The total first cost of the dock was $1,175,000, of which the Imperial Government contributed £50,000 sterling. The first vessel to enter for docking purposes was H.M.S. Cormorant. This was on July 20th, 1887. The total length of the dock was 480 feet. Though these proportions are superseded vastly by modern conditions and requirements, at the time this dock was projected it was regarded as one of the most promising in respect of the future requirements of even the naval exigencies on the Pacific Coast.

New National Dock. Since The Times is showing to-day a picture of the site of the new National Dock at Skinner's Cove it is fair to make some reference to the changes which have taken place in the structure and size of commercial vessels, or commercial carriers, since 1905. Hardly a ship at sea, or coming in from sea in a more or less crippled condition, previous to 1905 required a "dock" of one kind or another for the purpose of effecting repairs, either temporary or permanent, greater in capacity than that afforded at Esquimalt. Sisler Wins Out In Great Batting Race

Ty Cobb Nosed Out of Premier Honors By St. Louis First Baseman; Both Will Finish Season With Average Better Than 400; Hornsby Sets Two New Records In National League By Hitting 42 Home Runs and Boosting His Average Above .400 Mark

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Down comes the curtain on the major league season to-morrow with George Sisler of the St. Louis Browns batting champion of the American League, Roger Hornsby of the St. Louis Cardinals, champion of the National League, and Hornsby also conqueror of the mighty Babe Ruth for the 1922 honors in home run hitting.

Sisler, acclaimed the most valuable player in the American League, and the slugging Hornsby both will finish the season with an average above the coveted .400 mark, as the latest figures show Sisler hitting .417 and Hornsby whaling away to the tune of .400.

This is the third time Hornsby has been made king of batters and the second for Sisler.

The honor of batting above the .400 mark has been held by only three players in the American League and two in the National League. They are Ty Cobb, Sisler's rival, and Sisler himself. The only other player to attain this honor was Napoleon Lajoie.

Cobb's Second Best Mark. Cobb's average this year undoubtedly is the best he has made since he hit .410 ten years ago. He is batting .398 to-day. Although he led the league six times after this, his average never was above .390.

Harry Heilmann, of the Tigers, who last season nosed out Cobb for the batting honors, is in fourth place to-day with an average of .387. Tris Speaker, manager of the Indians, is in third place with .378.

In addition to being the champion batter, Sisler also is the king of stealers. He has stolen 49 and his closest rival is Ken Williams, a team mate, who has stolen 34.

Williams, who started off as if he would capture the batting honors, has hit thirty-nine four-baggers, with Tillie Walker, of the Athletics, hitting thirty-six. Ruth who last season hit fifty-nine, is in third place with thirty-five.

Other leading batters for 1922 or more games include Williams, St. Louis, .372; Ed Miller, Philadelphia, .371; Tobin, St. Louis, .358; Schang, New York, .327; Veach, Detroit, .325; Pipp, New York, .324, and Bassler, Detroit, .323.

Two Records for Hornsby. Hornsby, the St. Louis star, with forty-two homers, is the leading home-run hitter of the majors, after one of the most exciting races in the history of the game. Hornsby, in addition to his new laurels, is in line to accomplish something among the National League batters which has not been done in the past. He has won the batting title three times, three years, finish the season with a mark of .400 or better. The last National League player to hit in the .400 class was Ed Delahanty of Philadelphia, who made the grade in 1899, when he finished with .408. Prior to that only five others had become members of the .400 club.

Max Carey, of Pittsburgh, has the stolen base crown safely tucked away with his forty-six in the New York, New York, being his only rival with thirty.

Other leading batters for 1922 or more games include Miller, Chicago, .351; Tierney, Pittsburgh, .351; Hollocher, Chicago, .342; Daubert, Cincinnati, .340; Walker, Philadelphia, .340; Harper, Cincinnati, .340; Carey, Pittsburgh, .331; Trisack, New York, .331; Meusel, New York, .330; Kelly, New York, .330.

Johnson Made Will Work Hard to Put Him Away Last Night

New York, Sept. 30.—Another wooden soldier was sent to the rear ranks last night by Harry Willis, the black panther, from New Orleans. The victim last night was Clem Johnson, 204-pounder of jet black avoidpals, who claimed the continent of South America as his domicile. The battle ended one minute and 53 seconds after the thirteenth round opened when the invader was unable to continue, and the referee stopped the fight.

The South American appeared completely cowed when he stripped for action. He rubbed in and landed the first blow, but in a moment he was backing away. His forehead was wrinkled in an apparent frenzy of fear. Johnson's assimilation of punishment was almost unbelievable. When he found he could stay on his feet he tried to take the lead, but Willis prevented him. At that, Johnson sent some half dozen stinging blows in, virtually all with his right, but he could not follow them up. Willis appeared greatly weakened toward the close, but Johnson was weaker and staler as he was. He finally had to turn his back, grasp ropes and allow the referee to stop the assault.

Abe Mitchell Now Leads Big Field

England's Long-driver Completed Second Round for Southern Title in 69

Memphis, Sept. 30.—Abe Mitchell, the famous long driver of England, took the lead in the southern open golf championship tournament yesterday when he followed his score of 68 in Thursday's round with 69, a total of 137 for 35 holes of qualifying play.

Mitchell picked up on the home-set he carried after going out in 39, negotiating the last half of the course in three under par.

Bob Cruickshank, of Shackamoon, N.J., required 76 strokes for the round yesterday after shooting a 46 on Thursday, which gave him a tie for second place with Emmett French, of Youngstown. One stroke back of French and Cruickshank came Jim Barnes, of Pelham, N.Y., with 142.

GETS SOME OF CREDIT FOR WINNING PENNANT

HUGHEY JENNINGS

New York, Sept. 30.—New York fans always have admired the generalship of John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants, and they give to him without stint full laudation for bringing together, in his devious ways, an aggregation of the present two-time champions, but none is re-joicing in praising Hughey Jennings, "Napoleon's Chief of Staff."

Hughey is now considered a genuine New Yorker by the throngs that have filled the Polo Grounds nearly all season. Two years ago the rabid followers of the Giants were a little frigid to Jennings when he moved his baggage from Detroit and transferred his grass picking habits and his stirring "E-yahs" from Navin Field to Harlem.

There was much talk then that McGraw was preparing to retire for the active management, having acquired a part ownership in the club, and some of the fans were skeptical, notwithstanding the record Jennings made with Detroit, winning pennants there in 1907, 1908 and 1909. McGraw kept on, but Hughey disproved that old adage about "too many cooks." Jennings was not a total stranger to the older organization. In his active days he played with Baltimore, Brooklyn and Boston, and in 1891 he was the best third baseman in captivity. Like McGraw, Jennings was an infielder, playing second base and shortstop.

Hughey is a native of Pittston, Pa., where he first saw the dark of a coal mine. He trotted out as a professional twenty years later, beginning with the Louisville, Ky. Club as first base and short, going to Baltimore in a trade four years later. In 1898 he was shifted to Brooklyn, and in 1899 he became generalissimo of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Two years later Jennings returned to Baltimore, then in the Eastern League, remaining there until 1907, when Detroit drafted him. He became manager his first year and celebrated by winning the pennant. This season was his sixteenth as a team leader.

At the conclusion of the meeting the judges announced that Henry Thomas had been fined $100 for improper driving of Pony Wood; Walter Cox, $100 for improper driving of McGraw's car; Fred Eagan, $100 for failing to win the first two heats with Julianne; O. H. Erskine, $500 for failure to win the second heat of his race with Russell Ongale, and John Thomas suspended ten days for improper driving of Main Lick.

W. H. Luhman, of Yakima, forced Stein into the best golf of the week in the fifth round on Thursday morning. Stein duplicated the 31 made by William Black, of Victoria, in the open meet on his first journey around the course, going out in three under par. Speirs turned back G. Martin, in the morning play, four to three.

In his match with Smith in the semi-finals, Stein won in the first nine holes, being four up at the turn. Smith showed a flash on the tenth hole, winning three holes in three, but he topped his tee-shot on the fifth and Stein took him with a four.

"Racing, my friends, is a curse!" cried the orator on an English platform. "It has ruined thousands. It will ruin you. It is a curse that gets in its grip, and drains your strength of character as well as your pocket-money. Think! Think!"

His listeners thought. Luckily for him, they did not tell him what they thought.

"Surely you will all join me in my crusade against this senseless sport," he cried. "Surely you will not hesitate? Racing must be stamped out! It must be stamped! But the question is, how can we stop it? What is our best course?"

Promptly came the answer: "Ascot."

Yakima, Sept. 30.—Bon Stein and Clark Speirs, both of Seattle, ran the final day's card of the semi-finals of the Washington state senior championship, at the Yakima Country Club yesterday afternoon. Both men played par-birding golf. Stein eliminated Russell Smith, of Portland, three and two, while Speirs forced Johnny Wall, of Spokane, into defeat at the sixteenth hole in the semi-finals.

St. Pats Play Here Early in December

World's Champion Hockey Players to Play Eight Games During Western Tour; Lester Patrick Back In Vancouver From Tour of East, and States That New Blood Is Being Secured For Coast Teams; Four and Possibly Six New Players to Be Introduced

Vancouver, Sept. 30.—All preliminary arrangements have been made, and the Toronto St. Patricks, holders of the Stanley Cup and champions of the hockey world, will be seen on the coast early in December. It was announced by Lester Patrick yesterday on his return from a business trip to the East. The St. Pats' trip will be by far the most extensive pre-season trip ever taken by a world's champion team in the history of hockey. In all, the Toronto speed-merchants will visit eight cities, from Winnipeg west, before they play their opening game in their own league.

The team as it takes the road late in November will be unchanged from that which beat out the Vancouver Millionaires in Toronto last Spring for the premier honors of hockey.

"And it is a wonderful team," stated Mr. Patrick. "As you know, I was East in charge of the Vancouver team in February, and I have seen Reg. Noble's boys play. They are real champions."

Two Great Players. "Coast fans have never seen the St. Pats," he continued, "but when they do, they will see the greatest goalkeeper and the greatest shot that ever stepped on ice. Roach to my mind is the greatest goal-keeper and guardian that ever wore a pad, and Babe Dye has absolutely the most wicked drive at goal that I ever saw. Eastern authorities bear me out in both of these statements."

According to the tentative schedule that has been mapped out, the champions will reach Winnipeg, their first halting place, on November 25, and will play an exhibition game there. They will then jump clear to the coast, playing here, in Victoria and in Seattle on December 1, 4 and 5.

The chances are that the St. Pats will be on the 9th, Edmonton on the 11th, Saskatoon on the 11th and Regina on the 14th.

Regarding new blood for the P. C. H. A. Mr. Patrick stated he was not yet in a position to name the men who would take the place of the East he had had in negotiation with various managers and players and he could say definitely that there would be enough players to have every one of the Coast teams at full strength. At least four, and possibly six, new faces will be seen on the circuit during the coming season.

Questioned as to the prospects for every city where professional hockey is played and he found, particularly in the western centres, that the fans were unanimously of the opinion that the coming winter season will be the most attractive and promising ever put up for the approval of the public.

Qualified as to the prospects for a new professional league to take in Moose Jaw, Brandon and Winnipeg, he did not think it likely that the project would prove feasible. As a matter of fact he had already been rejected by the Winnipeg and Brandon interests who had been approached.

Jack Adams To Retire? Calgary, Sept. 30.—Bill Adams, former Coast hockey player, who was with Saskatoon and Regina last Winter, was in the city yesterday. He states that he has too good a job to give up for hockey and will be among the spectators this Winter. He also says that his brother Jack, leaving out scores of Coast players as a member of the Vancouver Millionaires last Winter, has no intention of returning West, and he hopes he will also retire from the game.

Molla Wins Again. Ardaly, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Sweeping through to victory in three matches yesterday, Mrs. Molla B. Malloy, of New York, national women's tennis champion, won places in both to-day's singles and doubles finals of the Ardaly club's invitation tournament.

Mrs. Malloy defeated Miss Leslie Bancroft, of West Newton, Mass., in a singles semi-final, 6-0, 6-4, and earned the right to meet Miss Mary K. Brown, of Los Angeles, No. 2 on the ranking list, in the final round. Paired with Mrs. Gouverneur Morris, of New York, Mrs. Malloy won in the first two matches in straight sets. In the first she defeated Miss Rosemond Newton, of Boston, and Mrs. Barger Wallach, New York, 6-0, 6-2. In the semi-finals eliminated Mrs. Harshel McLean, and Mrs. George H. Chapman, of New York, 6-2, 6-2.

The Malloy-Morris team will open the final round against Miss Bancroft and Mrs. Benjamin F. Briggs, of New York, who were victorious in the other semi-finals on Thursday.

Rosenberg Suspended. New York, Sept. 30.—Dave Rosenberg, of Brooklyn, recognized by the New York State Athletic Commission as a world's middleweight champion, was suspended by the commission yesterday for failure to fulfill his contract to box Mike O'Dowd, of St. Paul, former middleweight champion, next Thursday. Rosenberg failed to report for physical examination, the commission charged.

Tait, Canadian Champ, Hands Hammer Defeat. Milwaukee, Sept. 30.—Clonie Tait, Canadian light-weight boxer, fought Ever Hammer, Chicago, in every round of a 10-round no decision bout here last night, newspaper critics agreed in Tait emerged without a mark, while Hammer bled freely from the mouth and appeared to have been cut above the left eye.

Yakima, Sept. 30.—Bon Stein and Clark Speirs, both of Seattle, ran the final day's card of the semi-finals of the Washington state senior championship, at the Yakima Country Club yesterday afternoon. Both men played par-birding golf. Stein eliminated Russell Smith, of Portland, three and two, while Speirs forced Johnny Wall, of Spokane, into defeat at the sixteenth hole in the semi-finals.

GEORGES'S CONQUEROR IS NO BEAR ON LOOKS

"BATTLING" SIKI.

Last week-end the fight fans got the surprise of their life when an unknown fighter from Africa stepped into a ring in Paris and knocked Georges Carpentier, light heavyweight champion of the world, for a row of ciphers in the sixth round.

Siki has a beautiful physique, but his facial features are typical Senegalese. He has one of those flat, wide noses, heavy-lips and a big mouth. His jaw is massive and thick, and capable of withstanding terrific punishment as was demonstrated when Carpentier popped him four times on the jaw, using sufficient power to fell an ox. Siki just turned on him and gave him a Senegalese war-whoop.

The whole fight world is watching with interest the intentions of Siki. He will probably appear in the United States before the end of the year, as he will get bigger purses on this side of the Atlantic than anywhere else.

Yankees Have Not Yet Won Pennant

Boston Again Trimmed New York Yesterday, While St. Louis Browns Won

Unless Yankees Win One More Game or Browns Drop One a Tie Will Be Created

New York, Sept. 30.—The mathematical uncertainty in the American League pennant race existed to-day with but two games left on the schedules of each of the contenders, New York and St. Louis.

Inability of the Yankees for the second straight day to hit the offerings of a former team mate, this time Jack Quinn, cost them another reverse yesterday at the hands of the Red Sox, one to nothing, and a chance to clinch the championship.

The Browns, meanwhile clung to the possibility that they may tie by a series by defeating the Chicago White Sox 3 to 2. One victory for the Yankees or a defeat for the Browns will settle the race.

The National League champions are scheduled for a double-header to-day with Boston.

New York, Sept. 30.—As close as race has been this year between the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Browns, and as equally exciting as it was last year between the Yankees and the Cleveland Indians, neither contest to that of the National League in the season of 1922.

The New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs finished in a tie, which the Cubs won, after those two clubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates had entered the last week of the campaign racing neck and neck. That season by far the most remarkable in the history of baseball.

Pittsburgh was at the top of the heap on October 3. New York played Philadelphia that day and the Quakers defeated Matwos-Covage, leastly twirled for Philadelphia—3 to 2; Pittsburgh and the Cubs both won their games and the Giants fell with a thud into third place.

Chicago and Pittsburgh met in what was thought would be the deciding game of the season: If either Chicago or Pittsburgh captured that game it won the pennant, but if the contest ended in a tie New York would win, providing that it vanquished Philadelphia the same day. The Cubs defeated the Pirates, 5 to 2, chiefly on Pittsburgh's own mis-plays.

That placed Chicago first, Pittsburgh second and New York third. The Giants, however, had three games remaining to play with Boston and, if they won all of them, their percentage would equal that of the Cubs and the campaign would result in a tie. New York did win and an extra game was decided upon to settle the issue, Chicago winning.

The whole situation, however, had been created by an incident in a game between the Giants and Cubs on September 23 in which Fred Merkle pulled what has since been regarded as the "biggest bone" play in history.

In the particular game, which Merkle erred the ninth inning had been reached and two Giants were out. McCormick was on third base and Merkle was on first when Bridwell, the Giant baser, hit a position liner over second base. McCormick served and Bridwell touched first base.

In the midst of the pandemonium Ever played second base for the Cubs, jumped astride that bag and called for the ball to be thrown for him. When Evers received the ball, Manager Frank Chance of Chicago, asserted that Merkle was out for failure to touch second base. While bedlam broke loose Umpire O'Day suspended play and left the field to think out the problem.

O'Day returned when most of the crowd had gone and declared that Merkle was out, but noting that the Giants would not have scored, and ruled the game therefore was a tie, one to one. Then, when the season ended in a tie, the play-off was necessary.

KID NORFOLK TO GET FIRST SMACK AT SIKI SAYS COMMISSION

New York, Sept. 30.—"Kid" Norfolk, of Norfolk, negro light-heavyweight, who has been offered a forfeit of $2,500 binding a challenge to "Batting" Siki, conqueror of Georges Carpentier, and who has attracted first consideration as an opponent of the Senegalese in New York, according to an announcement by the New York State Athletic Commission. The challenge is for the world's light-heavyweight championship now held by Siki.

ONE MAN IN TWENTY CAN PLAY AUTO POLO

Costs $400 a Week for Repairs; 120 Spare Wheels Needed

Only one man in twenty is fast enough to play auto-polo. This is a fact established in the eight years' existence of the game, and anyone who witnesses a contest realizes it. There is an extensive training course for anyone who believes himself to be the makings of an auto-poloist, but in a few days it is found out if he can jump clear of overturning cars, dodge the uppercuts of mallets, bear the crushing weight of auto wheels, and escape from every danger that is presented.

The injuries received by players are either very serious or of a minor character. The very serious ones occur in the training course, and if a man lasts for a few weeks he can feel sure that the worst is past. Captain Irvine Bradley of the Canadian team has played the game for six years and has never had a scratch. The worst that has ever happened to his team mate, Edward Daley, was two dislocated knees.

Many who have watched a game of auto-polo, believe that the circular steel arrangement on the back of the cars is to protect the riders, but this is a wrong impression. It is to guard the steering wheel. When the cars turn turtle, as they do many times in a game, the players usually manage to scramble clear. The weight would bend the steering rod out of place and the car would be out of commission. The steel structure was invented to prevent this.

On the average the upkeep of the cars used in auto-polo is $400 a week. The greatest part of this expense is due to broken wheels, for they cannot stand the great strain on the sudden turns, and usually snap off. The teams carry with them 120 spares, and these are usually used up before the end of a series. Minor expenses are the repairs to the various parts of the car, such as struts and other reinforcements that are broken off. In one game recently the whole back axle was pulled out of a car when it swerved suddenly and toppled over.

One would hardly believe from the success of this game at present that within two months of its origin in 1912 it had failed as an attraction. It was two years later that it began to grow as an entertainment for the public. In 1914 it was taken on the road, and in 1915 two teams played the western fairs in the United States. But in these years the game was still in its infancy, and the machines were unimproved and of very crude structure. The game as it is played now is very scientific, and the construction of the cars is almost perfect. Every part where any strain is possible is reinforced.

Uprosets are frequent in the car, but they are usually in one direction. Nearly always the car turns over on its right side, and the driver is thrown over the mallet man. In a game recently a turn on the opposite side happened, something which had not occurred for some time. The Canadian car made a fast swerve, it upset on its left side, and the mallet man was thrown over the driver. The weight of the machine fell on the left front wheel and it was snapped off.

AUTO LIVERY MOVES

The Tourist Drive Yourself Auto Livery, Yates Street, of which George Keen is the manager, moved yesterday into their new premises at the corner of Fort Street and Blanshard Avenue.

A new location is an excellent one. A neat brick building has been erected and a splendid parking space laid out, making a very considerable improvement in the appearance of the property.

Mr. Keen has a full line of modern cars on hand at all times and his staff sees to it that they are kept in excellent running condition.

Bachelor—No, I'm not going to the shore unnecessarily with you married folk around.

GOOD ROADS MEN MEET MONDAY

League to Hold Convention in Kamloops

The sixth annual convention of the Good Roads League of British Columbia will be held in Kamloops on Monday and Tuesday. Advanced agenda, which has been prepared by Secretary H. Frank Bird, includes many questions of province-wide importance and it is stated at the office of the league here that a concerted effort will be made at the convention to bring pressure to bear for the completion of the Pacific Highway and links in the Trans-Canada Highway so as to allow tourists to come into this province from both the United States and the prairies.

Ex-Mayor R. H. Gale, President of the Good Roads League for the past five years, will preside at the convention, and W. A. Mackenzie of Penticton will officiate as vice-president.

To Use P. G. E. Bed.

Another question which will be given considerable attention at the provincial gathering will be the proposal made on several occasions in Victoria that the rails be removed from the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and that the grade be used as a motor road. In view of the recent report to the Provincial Government that the P. G. E. be abandoned this subject will be given no little attention. It is stated here, and arguments for and against this proposal will be invited. It is thought that resolutions may arise contingent upon any decision the government may make in regard to this road. Members of the league executive here state that such a highway would fill the requirement of a motor road from the interior to the Coast, which has for years been sought.

T. Take Action.

Action will also be taken in regard to the policy of Dr. J. H. Klug who, as Minister of Public Works for this province, befriended the proposals of the league that links in the Trans-Canada Highway should be completed as soon as possible. Dr. King, having become Minister of Public Works in the Federal Cabinet, the league will seek to put before this successor in B. C. their arguments for the necessity of pursuing the programme supported by Dr. King.

Road needs of the scattered settlements along the West Coast of Vancouver Island will also be presented. Residents of the Northwestern portion of the Island have steadily pressed their demands for a road connecting their country with Victoria.

Many prominent business men from all parts of the province will be in Kamloops during the week. The Good Roads League draws its membership from autoists, business men, farmers, fruit growers, municipal executives and settlers.

MOTOR LICENSE SYSTEM CHANGES

Proposed Next Year to Issue Numbers in Rotation

A new system of issuing automobile licenses will be instituted next year, says The New Westminster Columbian. In future, instead of getting the same number plate he formerly used, each autoist on applying for his license will be handed the number next in rotation. A block of numbers will be issued from Victoria to each registration office, and in turn will be issued from there to the applicants as they arrive, regardless of the number formerly assigned. Thus, if a city gets a block of numbers from 15,000 to 20,000, the first applicant will be handed license plate No. 15,000, and so on.

The new system will eliminate much trouble and confusion attendant on the present system, and will make it easier to trace the names of registered owners when occasion arises.

BANFF-WINDERMERE HIGHWAY IS BUILT

First Car Makes Trip in Seven Hours; Fine Scenic Route

The completion of the Banff-Windermere Highway last week has caused a great deal of satisfaction among motorists and it will serve to open up some of the most magnificent scenic country as well as a district which abounds in natural resources.

The road is passable now but a great deal of finishing work will have to be done before it can actually be said to be open for traffic. It will not be officially opened for general traffic until July 1 next year.

J. M. Wardele, engineer in charge of the construction, was the first to make the trip over the road last week, when he motored all the way from Banff to Windermere accompanied by Mrs. Wardele. The actual running time was seven hours and the distance covered was 104 miles. The distance from Banff to the Sinclair Hot Springs was computed to be 51 miles.

When the road is in good condition it is believed the trip can be made in five hours comfortably which would mean that one could breakfast in Windermere, take lunch at Banff and dine at Calgary, or the other way on. The importance of this is realized particularly by many who have waited for many years to see the work completed and they may now enjoy the wonderful scenery which the trip over this scenic route affords.

TO SPEAK AT TWO GATHERINGS

Dr. Hadwen Will Address Luncheon As Well As Public Meeting

An intellectual attraction will be provided for those who attend the public lecture to be given at the Empress Hotel on Friday next, when Dr. Walter Hadwen, of Gloucester, England, will speak under the auspices of the local branch of the Canadian Anti-vivisection Society.

Dr. Hadwen is a lecturer of international repute and will speak on human and animal experimentation from the practical and moral viewpoint. He will also discuss the question of inoculation and the use of serums, vaccines and other medical methods in vogue at the present time. He has a thorough grip of his subject and his work on behalf of the soldiers during the late war is well known.

In May Dr. Hadwen was one of the principal speakers at the mass meeting held in Queen's Hall, London, to celebrate the centenary of "Martin's Bill," introduced into the House of Commons by "Humanity Martin" in 1822. On this occasion the great hall was crowded from floor to ceiling with an enthusiastic and appreciative audience.

A cordial invitation is extended to the clergy, members of the Legislature, medical men, judges and

TRUSTEES TO MEET IN PENTICTON

Convention Will Be Held Early Next Month

What is expected to be the most important convention of the British Columbia Trustees' Association yet held will open at Penticton on October 10, continuing for three days and closing with a banquet tendered by the Penticton School Board. Nearly thirty resolutions will be considered by the delegates dealing with taxation, teachers' salaries, working conditions and other problems connected with school administration.

The most important discussion will undoubtedly occur over school taxation. All the trustees of the Province are being faced with increasing difficulties in school financing and several resolutions proposing an improvement in the method of raising money will be introduced. Many of these recommended a stated rate for school purposes throughout the Province, so that the burden of education will be equally distributed.

Some of the proposals are of a drastic nature and if acted upon would revolutionize the present method of financing schools, so that many interesting debates may be expected.

Among the speakers scheduled to be heard are President Kinloch, of the University of British Columbia on "Some Gleanings from the Congress of the Universities of the Empire," J. W. Gibson, "Education and Environment" (illustrated with lantern slides), and R. P. S. Twissell on "Modern School Buildings," J. E. Wilton, of Point Grey School Board, secretary of the Provincial Association, states that according to the present outlook the meeting will be largely attended.

Special services will be held on Sunday, October 22 when the Rev. Thomas H. Mitchell, of New Westminster, will be the preacher for the day.

TO UNVEIL TABLET

Hadsome Memorial to Boys Who Fell Presented to Church of Our Lord.
A very handsome bronze tablet in memory of the boys of the congregation who gave their lives in the Great War has been presented to the Church of Our Lord, Reformed Episcopal, and will be formally unveiled at the morning service on Sunday, October 8. Major the Rev. C. C. Owen, of Vancouver, will come over to perform the ceremony. The tablet, which bears the names of the boys, is the handiwork of a Victoria man, father of one of the boys who fell overseas, and he is presenting the tablet to the church in memory of his son.

Harvest Thanksgiving.—The annual harvest festival services of St. John's Church will be held on Sunday, when appropriate music and decorations will be in keeping with the spirit of the day. Vance, Principal of the Anglican Theological College of British Columbia, who is to preach at both the 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. services. There will be Holy Communion at 8 a. m., and also after the 11 a. m. service, and evensong at 7 p. m. The special music will include a harvest festival Te Deum composed by Mr. G. J. Burnett, the organist of St. John's, and the morning anthem will be "All Thy Works Praise Thee," by Adams. In the evening the Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis will also be sung to music composed by the organist of St. John's, and the anthem will be "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land," by Sir John Stainer. Beautiful decorations of flowers, grain and fruit have been placed in the church.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN S.S. HOLDS CONCERT FOR RALLY DAY

Last Wednesday evening a very successful concert was held in the hall of the First Presbyterian Church under the auspices of the Sunday School. S. Anderson, Sunday School Superintendent, presided over a large audience of parents and friends. After the singing of the hymnology Miss Jessie Smith and Mr. Jack Smith rendered a piano duet. This was followed by a unique and original camp-fire scene presented by the Paa-a-Pas Young Ladies' Bible Class under the leadership of Mrs. D. McKillop. The platform was decorated with suitable foliage and illuminations for the scene and great credit is due the teacher for the excellent production of this scene. Vocal solos were rendered in a most creditable manner by the following: Miss Houldsworth, N. Jones, C. Hamilton and J. Petrie, all of them being very much enjoyed. Great amusement was afforded at the splendid rendering of the popular humorous quartette "Pro Phundo Basso" by Misses Jones and Hamilton, Messrs. Thomas and Saunders. This is a very beautiful quartette and was sung with fine feeling throughout. The second part of the programme consisted of a songing exhibition by Arthur Smith who is very skilful at this art. Needless to say the audience were delighted with this treat and were enthusiastic in their applause. It was felt that this has been the most successful concert ever given by the Sunday School. W. Warnock operated the stereopticon in a most capable manner. During the course of the programme Dr. Wilson, the minister of the church made a few appropriate remarks regarding Rally Day and urged all members of the church to assist in the most important work of the church, namely the Sunday School. The concert closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

FORMER VICTORIA MINISTER AT VERNON

Rev. M. T. Habershon Is Now at Okanagan City

Rev. M. Theodore Habershon, formerly of this city, in charge of the work at the Baptist Church at Vernon. For six years he was pastor of the Douglas Street Baptist Church, Victoria, and much regret was expressed in Baptist circles, which he felt it was necessary, owing to a breakdown in health of Mrs. Habershon, to resign his charge there. Before going to Victoria Mr. Habershon held pastorates at Calgary and other places in Alberta. In England he had charge of a mission at Ebbw, Kent, where he carried on a very successful work. Before entering the ministry Mr. Habershon was engaged in law practice, having studied for that profession. At the beginning of this year Mr. Habershon was elected president of the Ministerial Association of Victoria and vice-president of the Baptist's Fraternal Union of Vancouver Island. During his stay in Vernon Mr. Habershon intends tackling some of the big questions to-day.

HARVEST HOME SERVICES PLANNED

Fairfield Methodist Church Also to Observe Anniversary

The Fairfield Methodist Church will observe tomorrow the anniversary of the opening of their new church edifice, which was dedicated just one year ago free of debt. The young people of the church built and opened free of debt to the trustees a very serviceable wooden tennis court. During the anniversary will no doubt attract people to the services. The friends of the church, under the supervision of Mrs. Siddall, have made arrangements to have the church appropriately decorated. Many friends of the community are contributing flowers, fruits and vegetables, the latter will be sold at the close of Monday evening's proceedings.

The pastor will have charge of both services, when he will receive new members. Harvest hymns will be used with special anthems by the choir. Miss Ida Taylor and Mr. Locke will be the soloists in the morning. The evening service will be chiefly choral, when the following friends have kindly promised to take part: Mrs. Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, Mr. R. Morrison and Mr. Wright. At the public meeting on Monday night the Rev. J. L. Batty will give a special address appropriate for the occasion, to be interspersed with solos from Mr. Tuppman, Miss Ida Taylor, Mr. and Miss Holt and others. Refreshments will be served at the close.

Sir Ronald of the Golden Age

RONALD closed the book. For many days now he had been, in his imagination, riding with the Crusaders in the conquest of the Saracens. He had galloped at night with his mailed companions and fought desperate battles when his good sword had shorn off many a Saracen head. All campaigns come to an end and now Ronald had finished the book, "The Talisman" by Sir Walter Scott. How grand it would have been to have lived in those days; were his thoughts. To wear chain steel armor and gallop on a willing charger plying mace and lance. The days of chivalry, he mused on, when a boy was not a man until he had won his spurs.

Ronald was a Boy Scout, and a romantic little soul withal. He longed to be the hero of some desperate venture. To rescue a fair lady from the clutches of a fiery dragon, and to receive the thanks of her father, the ducal owner of the moated grange. Instead this was the age of automobiles, and when the fair lady could not afford a car she rode in a street car. Chances of displaying chivalry were few and far between, and the age was not at all like the days of the Crusaders, he thought.

It was in this frame of mind, though, perhaps that he set off for school on that particular day. It was a wild and rainy day with the wind driving an icy rain before it dimly. In gum boots, oilskin cape and sou'wester, Ronald did not fear the rain. He liked it. It "was great" to see the way the drops bounced and flashed on the pavement, and the water gurgling along rustling gutters at the edge of the street.

The fact that he was a scout never strayed far from Ronald's mind. A scout was observant, courteous to animals, and many other adjectival sides of a gentleman; in fact a scout was a bit of a crusader in his own way. Ronald was just about to cross a busy downtown intersection at this point when the fire alarm rang, and crowds lined the streets to see the engines go past. Ronald, like all boys liked the excitement of a fire, without thinking too deeply as to the loss and suffering it occasioned. To be sure, at a fire he would have been the first to try and help; but usually small boys were kept back by the police; and he was a very small boy.

In breathless excitement he witnessed the first engine go by; a big truck with sparks flying from its boilers as the steam was being raised. At this point an elderly lady stepped from the curb; advanced a few feet into the street, and then started to come back. The crowd shuddered as a fire engine thundered up. The lady raised her hands to cover her eyes and then one small, self-possessed young scout darted from the curb and pushed the old lady from under the bonnet of the approaching fire engine. The two gained the curb on the far side of the street when the lady fell in a faint.

Eager hands were now outstretched to take her, and Ronald found himself being passed on her back and carried. In the excitement that followed nobody saw a small boy slip quietly away. When the old lady recovered and asked to see the boy, Ronald was nowhere to be found. When the newspapers that night made a public appeal for the name of the boy who had saved the street, Ronald's father, a mother certain did not suspect that their son was the hero of the hour. Ronald, confused but delighted with the impulse that led him to risk his life for another, as a true scout, said nothing.

The bravery of the little crusader might never have come to light but for the strange workings of chance. Some time after the accident had forgotten all about the rescue, Ronald was downtown again. He stood on the curb on an intersection for a moment waiting for a chance to get across. At his side was an elderly lady who seemed very much afraid to venture on to the street. Obviously she wished to cross, but did not like to attempt it alone.

A scout first, last, and all the time, Ronald advanced, saluted with the three fingered palm of the scout orders and offered to see her across in safety. "Now that is very kind of you, little man; you know I don't see very well, and am afraid of the street," replied the elderly lady. Ronald saw her to the opposite curb in safety, frowning ferociously at a jitney driver who dared to come within a yard of his charge, and helped her gallantly on to the sidewalk at the end of the journey.

Thankful for the timely aid, and touched beyond words by the courteous manner of the little man, the elderly lady turned to ask the boy his name. All at once recognition came. "Why you are the boy who saved me from the fire engine," she said. Ronald was caught between two scout laws. "A scout is courteous"; therefore he could not run away or refuse to answer; and "a scout is truthful," so he was forced to admit the truth. "Yes, ma'am," said Ronald simply. His questioner was wise in her day and did not insult Ronald by offering him money; knowing that a scout does not accept favors for services gladly offered. Instead she gave Ronald her card and made him promise to call on her that very day.

That night at home Ronald met a proud reception. He was praised and patted until he blushed with modest confusion. At school next day the same scene was repeated and he was the hero of the class; even the principal shook hands with him and thanked him in front of the assembled classes. Ronald, to tell the truth, hated all this part of the business; but what he did not hate and what meant more to him than all was something the elderly lady said to him when he called on her.

"Laddie," she said, "you are small in size and tender in years; but you have got the heart of a man. You remind me of the Crusaders of old. I am going to call you Sir Ronald, Knight of the Golden Age."

That night at home in the quiet of his own room Ronald picked up "The Talisman" again. After all, he thought, the Crusaders need not all belong to the olden days. He would strive to be a Crusader ever. That was many years ago. Ronald to-day is the head of a large engineering firm in Eastern Canada; and though he does not go by the title "Sir Ronald, Knight of the Golden Age," he is beloved by all as a man.

A LONG WAIT

"Is Mr. Smith in?" queried the lady of the office boy.

"No, ma'am, he is not," said the office boy.

"May I wait for him?" asked the lady.

"As you like, ma'am, but Mr. Smith's been dead a month."

tumbling him into the hole. I thought Mr. Fox would be killed, but I guess he jumped when he saw them tumbling."

Naval Brigade Is Inspected

TO be reviewed by the President of the Navy League of Canada was the honor conferred upon the local divisions of the Boys' Naval Brigade this week. The units of the Brigade in this city and district marched in review before President Sam Harris at a brief ceremony held in the Old Drill Hall on Menzies Street on Thursday evening. The parade made an exceptionally smart showing, headed by its brass band, and under the command of Lieut. W. N. Hotham, and Sub-Lieut. P. W. Tribe.

The President of the Navy League remarked upon the efficiency and spoke briefly, but encouragingly on the work done by the local units. The training of Canadians for a Canadian Merchant Marine, he intimated, was a work that was near to the heart of the organization, and one that had found much promise from the great success made by the boys. The local brigade can point with pride to 78 boys now at sea on ships flying the British flag; while well over 60 more are now in training for their careers at sea.

The ceremony was attended by Major W. H. Langley, president of the local branch of the Navy League of Canada and many officers of the executive. The function was attended by many parents of the boys and a fair gathering of the general public. President Harris congratulated the boys on their success, and the officers on the value of the instruction here imparted.

Y. M. C. A. Programme Is Well Under Way

NOW that the Summer is over and the year will soon be sliding into the cold and rain of the Fall, indoor entertainment becomes a matter of some importance. Quick to realize this the Boys' Work Department of the Y. M. C. A. has already launched out on its Fall programme. Upwards of 500 boys are now enrolled for the current period and the membership is to be divided up into clubs of boys of the same age, shortly.

The gymnasium was repaired and re-painted, the work being completed this week; and is now the centre of many attractions. Gymnasium classes are in full swing and a keen interest is being displayed in this portion of the work. Under Harold C. Cross, Boys' Work Secretary, and his assistants, the Boys' Work Department is looking forward to a season full of promise. At present the department is being organized for the Fall programme but soon will be enrolled and the various classes will be fully at work. Basketball and seasonal games will commence shortly.

The month of September will be concluded in the re-organization; but great innovations are promised for October. Club work will play an integral part of the programme this year, as last; it being found that no movement was more popular with the boys than to group them in small units with their own leaders. Competitive training in this manner has yielded high results it has been noted.

Swimming, boxing, first aid and life-saving, basketball, and general athletics are combined with devotional study and other matters to make the programme an all-round one which is attractive to its participants. Last year the Boys' Work Department met with distinctive success, and the prospects for this season are quite as favorable, it is said.

THE RABBIT BROTHERS' REVENGE Part III.

JIMMY CROW was not at all afraid of Mr. Dog nor of Mr. Man when he did not carry a gun, but he was not at all certain that what Mr. Man had over his shoulder was not a gun, and he decided not to take any chance even to see what Mr. Fox did to get out of the hole.

Mr. Fox did not get out of the hole, for he knew no way of doing so or you may be very sure he would have been some distance away by the time Mr. Man and Mr. Dog arrived. Not that they knew that Reddy was in the old well, but Mr. Man had decided it was time the place was filled with brush and earth so that his cattle would not be injured when it came time to go home at night.

Mr. Dog spied Mr. Fox first, and he danced about and barked nearly losing his temper in his excitement and eagerness to tell his master what he saw.

Mr. Man looked down at Reddy, who was meekly resting on the stones. "You are caught, my fine fellow, sure enough this time," he said.

"I wonder if your bones are broken. Anyway, I hope you have not injured your fine coat, for I can get a bit of money for that as well as be rid of you, for I am pretty sure you are the fellow who carried off my prize rooster."

And all the time Mr. Dog was barking and jumping about close to the edge of the hole, acting as if he were crazy.

Reddy Fox never was certain just what happened, but when he looked up for a second time he saw tumbling in upon him feet and legs; he remembered, too, that he saw the open mouth of Mr. Dog coming toward him.

Reddy Fox was the first one to recover from the shock, and he lost no time. He was up in the twinkling of an eye, and before Mr. Man or Mr. Dog could get to their feet he was at the top of the heap and out of the hole he leaped with one wild bound.

He did not stop, but like the wind he sped over the ground and made for the woods beyond, expecting every second to hear Mr. Dog's bark of a shot from Mr. Man's gun.

Mr. Man did not have a gun—what he carried over his shoulder about which Jimmy Crow had been uncertain was a shovel—or perhaps Reddy Fox would not have been so fortunate.

This, of course, Reddy did not know and so he bounded away over stones and bushes. But Woody Chuck was watching, and so were the Rabbit brothers and Jimmy Crow as well.

"Thought you liked fried rabbit, Mr. Fox," called Bobby Rabbit as Reddy flew past where they were hiding.

"What is your hurry, Mr. Fox?" called Woody. "Why don't you wait and dig me out of my hole?"

"Ha, ha, ha!" cawed Jimmy Crow, flying over Reddy's head as he ran. "I suppose you were just waiting for Mr. Man and Mr. Dog to come along so you could use them for a leaping stone—great ideas you have stored in your head, Mr. Fox."

Reddy had come to the woods, but he did not stop, and, as he ran through the caws of Jimmy Crow followed him crying the warning, "A fox in sight, a fox in sight," until Reddy was so far away that even his keen ears could hear it no more.

"And all on account of those Rabbit brothers," mused Reddy, when at last he felt safe enough to stop and rest. "I would not stop to fry them if I had them here, and that makes me think I am very, very hungry."

"The sun is pretty hot and well up in the sky, but my stomach does not know that and it is calling for food, so I must be off to the nearest farm and pick out a plump bird."

And the Rabbit brothers over in the pasture watched Mr. Man fill the old well and laughed as they thought how well Reddy Fox had been punished for having made life so miserable for them all Summer.

"We are rid of him for good," said Pete Rabbit as he hopped along beside his brother toward their home. "Mr. Fox will not risk meeting Mr. Man again. 'I'll bet Mr. Dog got a good scolding for tripping his master and

Many B. C. Boys Train for Sea

APPROXIMATELY 400 boys are in training throughout the B. C. division, says The Sailor the organ of the Navy League in Canada. The league has been successful in placing 115 Pacific Coast boys in ships, particularly vessels belonging to the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, the C. P. R. coast services, the C. P. S. S. and the Canadian Robert Dollar Company. Of these boys, thirty-seven have been placed as cadets, fifty-nine as deck boys and nineteen in the naval service. Great satisfaction has been expressed by the companies employing the boys and by the masters that they have served under. There is still a large waiting list of boys from British Columbia and also from the prairie provinces, wishing to go to sea.

The Navy League has been very busy the last few days placing boys on government ships arriving in Vancouver. Jack Borradaile of Salt Spring Island has been appointed to the C.G.M. M. barquentine S. F. Tolmie; H. A. Shellbeare to the S.S. Canadian Freighter, and A. Silva White (Maple Ridge Brigade) and Douglas Reynolds (Victoria), to the S.S. Canadian Importer. A Navy League boy named Harrop has been promoted to the rank of able seaman on the S.S. Canadian Freighter.

British Columbia has the second largest Boys' Naval Brigade in Canada, Ontario leading, although in proportions to its population the latter does not make the same showing. It is generally realized what the Navy League of Canada is doing towards training Canadians for the sea. In the past year 115 boys were placed in positions on ships frequenting British Columbia ports. The Canadian Government Merchant Marine, the C.P.R., the Canadian Robert Dollar Company, and other lines have expressed themselves as pleased with the amount of training and sea knowledge of the boys from the Navy League's Naval Brigade.

These boys who have gone to sea do not come only from the seaport cities of British Columbia, for the League has branches in such places as Trail, Port Haney, Kaslo, Vernon, Penikese and Nelson.

This year it had been expected that a joint camp of the Naval Brigade and the Cadets would be held in the vicinity of Vancouver, but the decision of the Federal Government to make no grant this year for the Cadets has made it impossible for the latter to hold their annual camp. However, the Navy League has by no means abandoned hope of a camp for the Boys' Brigade and intend to make a supreme effort to enlist the support of the public.

The work of the Navy League boys who have joined merchant marine ships out of Vancouver is producing favorable comment among officers. The pioneer cadets, T. W. Ansell of 3733 Parker Street, and C. F. Altro, also of Vancouver, who went out two years ago on the Canadian Inventor are now here with their ship. Chief Officer Mayne of the Inventor is proud of the progress the lads have made and declares they will develop into very fine merchant service officers.

Two boys of the league, J. McWeiss and W. Babcock, are reported as having signed up last month for a voyage to Bering Sea on a small vessel. There are at least a score of the Navy League boys now placed on ships of various lines sailing out of this port, and the general satisfaction they have given the officers over them is a high tribute to the teaching and training of the league officials.

Many Fish "Angle" for Their Prey

THE artifices used by man to catch fish is as nothing compared with the trick employed by some types of fish to catch their fellow creatures in the marine struggle for existence. The torpedo ray of the Mediterranean; the electric eel of the Orinoco; and the Silurus or Sly of the Nile all use electricity generated by their own bodies to kill prey and to defend themselves.

These galvanic shocks in many cases will stun a horse, and natives at one point are accustomed to drive horses into the waters of the Orinoco until the electric eel they wish to catch has expended all its galvanic energy and is then captured readily.

More simple, but equally effective, is the work of the Stargazer, another marine creature, which hides in the mud while waiting for breakfast. The Stargazer will expose the tip of its tail, which looks not unlike a worm, until some small fish comes along, when the head of the hunter will curl up swiftly and engulf the unsuspecting prey.

More ingenious are the wiles of the Angler, or Sea Devil, as the fish is sometimes called. This fish will lie on a muddy bottom and stir up the mud deliberately with its tail. Above the fog thus created it will wave two gaily wrought feelers, one of which looks like the flattened shape of a sardine. Even the great European Sly, which attains a weight of 300 pounds, has been known to make use of this artifice to catch its prey.

A native of the fresh waters of India, the Beaked Catfish, uses a yet more remarkable faculty to gain its food. Swimming in water over the surface of which flies abound, this fish lives largely on the small winged creatures of the air. It will swim with great caution to the surface of the water, and without exposing itself will shoot a drop of water from its mouth at a fly resting on a bit of mud as far as six feet away. Seldom does the water bullet fail to find its mark, and the fly drops, wet and unable to escape, into the waiting mouth of the strange marksmen. Another small mouth of the fish, the Toxotes jaculator, catches its prey by the same peculiar archery.

A fish that is used to catch yet other denizens of the deep is the Indian Romora or Sucking Fish. The Sucking Fish is small and has a flat series of discs on the top of its head with which it can hold on to almost anything; even fish many times its size and weight are captured. Once held the problem of killing the prey is well nigh solved.

Natives in Indian waters use the Romora to catch turtles. A strip of palm fibre cord is tied around the tail of the Romora which then is thrown back into the water. In time it meets and holds on to a turtle when it is unceremoniously hauled ashore, and the prey taken from it. The operation is repeated until the natives have secured enough turtles for their purposes. As the sucking fish is fairly plentiful in these waters, it is then released and allowed to hunt for its own food.

By far the greater number of fish in these waters catch their prey, where they live on their finny fellows, by pursuit and more voracious powers of attack. Against this "direct action" nature has given the smaller and weaker fish many forms of armor. Well known to these waters is the sea herring, which has a set of spiny projections along the back that would well make a pursuer hesitate.

The common Weever and the Dragon Weaver, small silvery fish known in Old Country shores, has the same type of armor, but to a greater extent. Their spines, while not so sonorous will inflict a festering sore on any human flesh they pierce.

The Clioagra, a sly known on Brazilian rivers, will inflict a wound with its spines that render a man unconscious and produce an inflammation that lasts for several weeks.

The Lance Tail or Surgeon Fish, as the name implies has a flattened sharp edge to the rear part of its body by means of which it can cut into flesh like a keen knife. A common example of protection among fishes is that afforded to the stickback, whose sharp needles have often averted dire catastrophe for the little fellow.

Tetrodons and Diodons have the power of swelling their bodies to many times their normal size, until they resemble a football. They are covered with small spines, which they can make to stand out stiffly from their sides to raze all invaders. These latter fish are usually found in tropical waters, but some have been discovered in high latitudes.

"He who fights and runs," says the proverb, one that the Flying Fish would surely subscribe to; for when pressed too hard by the dangers of the seas these fish will use abnormally long fins to carry them clear of the water entirely. The flying fish must first jump from the waves into the air, but once clear of the water may fly for several hundred feet before returning to its native element.

So it goes throughout the vast marine life. The denizens of the oceans have been equipped by a kind nature with either the power to fight, to fortify, or to flee. All types of under-water life have their own enemies, and mankind is but the less important enemy to the marine kingdom. Where mankind takes one fish, be it even a whale, other creatures of the under-sea world will kill hundreds.

Aerial Wanderer Is Shooting Star

AT various times in the history of this earth the fall of meteors has been chronicled. These have been objects composed of material which is to be found on the earth to-day, which weigh anywhere from a few ounces to many hundred weight, in some cases reported. The arrival of a strange body from the heavens puzzled the Ancients mightily until in the light of elementary knowledge known to-day the occurrence is simple to understand.

As you look out upon the sky on a fine evening, Little Reader, it is not unlikely that you will behold what we call as "shooting star." The shooting star is seen only by mortals when it is about to pass into oblivion, or to change its form from solid material to the gas.

One of many simple explanations of the fall of meteors and meteoroids on this globe is explained in this manner; many millions of years ago when the earth was just beginning to cool off from its outwardly fiery state, volcanoes to which venturous clouds of a poisonous nature were in operation. Now if a body be hurled away from the earth at a rate of over seven miles a second, and that rate be maintained for a short time, it will win clear of the attraction of this globe, which we call gravity, the basis of all weight.

It is thought that many pieces of molten rock were hurled into the air by these ancient volcanoes in this manner; and also that our planet was not the only one contributing to this condition. Once clear of the pull of gravity a body so hurled would come under the attraction of the sun and at once commence an orderly course around the larger body, much as our earth now obeys. It is known that many trains of meteors are going along a regular track around the sun in this manner.

It so happens that our planet crosses the track of the meteors twice a year. If the meteor be at that point at the same time a wonderful display of shooting stars is to be seen. These displays have been seen with great prominence on November 13, 1865, and at other times in later years.

It is likely, however, that the earth will not happen to meet the meteor train when it crosses this track; and so shooting stars at such times is only a few, relatively scattered stragglers, like vagrant box cars left behind by a switch engine to follow along the same track long after they have been dropped.

Though shooting stars are seen best on such occasions, they may be seen almost every clear night, for it is the impact of the meteor with the atmosphere of the earth that gives us the wonderful sight.

We know that a body moved through space, or a vacuum, will not meet the same resistance that the air opposes. A bullet fired through the air will get almost red hot; but fired in a vacuum would not be so heated, as the friction would be done away with in the last case. So it is when a meteor falls foul of the layer of atmosphere around this planet that it is heated until it is incandescent, and in most cases burns up too from gases which are invisible when cool.

Sometimes it happens that the meteor is too large to be quite consumed before it has shot through the layer around the earth; and in that case a meteor fired from this planet millions of years ago may return again to the earth. It will be worn and dwindled in size from twice passing through the heavy resistance of the air, but it will be recognizable as a part of the material of which this planet is made.

Other meteors, of course, may be from other heavenly bodies and may fall foul of the earth in the same manner. So when you see a shooting star you witness the last moments of a meteor or meteoroid as it is in the act of passing off into a series of gases, depending on the substance of which it is made. Carbon, iron and other material found on this planet have been identified in the meteors that return after their airy sojourn.

How to Make a Flower-Pot Stand

Copyright, 1922, American Edition

MAKE HOLE IN TOP TO SUIT FLOWER POT TO BE USED, TAKING THE MEASUREMENT JUST BELOW FLANGE AT TOP. THIS FLANGE SUPPORTS THE FLOWER POT IN POSITION IN THE STAND.

DESIGN IN END IS ONLY SUGGESTIVE. CHANGE TO SUIT OWN IDEAS, BUT DO NOT MAKE TOO FANCY.

MATERIALS: Wood, brads or screws, paint or stain. It stain is to be used, select an attractively grained piece of wood; otherwise any soft wood that does not split too easily.

This is the time of the year when plants must be brought indoors. Since bare flower-pots are not attractive, and jardiniere are often too expensive, the stand shown above is suggested.

It is a small stand, only 7 in. x 8 in. and 6 in. tall. It will accommodate a pot 4 in. or 5 in. in diameter, measured under the flange. For a larger pot, increased dimensions to suit. As it is easier to plane pieces of average length, rather than very short pieces, it will be best to get out the two side pieces as one longer strip, sawing them in two when they are planed up. Allow 3-16 in. extra length for sawing apart.

Similarly, the end and top pieces may be laid out and planed up as one. Lay out the ends, bottom to bottom, so that the arcs of 1/2 in. radius can be made by boring with a 1 in. bit. Bore all holes before sawing the pieces apart. Lay out the flower pot hole with a compass and cut it later with wax or thin shellac. If the flower pot stand is to rest on some piece of painted furniture, now so popular, it can be painted to match.

The pieces may be joined either by brads, which should be set and covered with putty, or by roundhead screws carefully turned into place without marring their heads. If stain is used, wipe it off before it sets, to "bring out the grain," covering it later with wax or thin shellac.

"The camel can go eight days without water," was the intelligence imparted to a small boy by his governess.

"So would I, if mother would let me," rejoined the lad.

105 YEARS OLD AND STILL GARDENS AND CUTS WOOD

Lawrence Johnston of Avon, Ont., Was a Real Pioneer.

LAWRENCE JOHNSTON, who was 105 years old on August 11th last, is without doubt the oldest person in Middlesex county and one of the oldest in Canada. He lives in the village of Avon in a tidy little home to which is attached half an acre of garden which he works himself. He takes special pride in his garden and raises more fruit and vegetables than he can use.

Mr. Johnston was born on August 11, 1817, in the village of Charlotteville, near Port Rowan, but spent his youth in Bayham township, Elgin county. At the age of 21, a year after the Mackenzie rebellion which he remembers well, his parents bought him a farm in North Dorchester township near what is now the village of Avon. It was just bush. To get there he walked 22 miles carrying all his belongings on his back, 40 pounds of flour, a 10-pound pack, 5 pounds of butter, an axe, a rifle and a heavy quilt. As it was spring he tapped trees to obtain sap to mix with the flour to make bread.

At the end of two days' trip he started to build his own shanty. He was alone in the bush. There were no roads, no people near. He cleared his own farm, cut his own roads, built his own stables and barn. He was a good shot and kept himself supplied with fresh meat from the wild fowl and deer that abounded.

He lived several years alone before marrying Miss Mary Eliza Barr of North Dorchester. They were married thirty years when she died. Some years later he married again, his second wife being Miss Margaret Baccus, who is still living, aged 78.

Mr. Johnston attributes his long life to clean living. He has no bad habits unless his pipe may be so called. His senses are unimpaired. Only his eyes are somewhat dim. He cuts his own wood and makes trips daily to the corner where the rural delivery mail boxes are assembled. He has still a vivid recollection of the Mackenzie rebellion of 1837.

Mr. Johnston is a Conservative and never misses a chance to vote.

Wrong Party Might Have Heard Liberal Secrets

When Murray Strolled Into the Enemy's Office.

A NEW story about Hon. G. H. Murray is being told in the rotunda of the Halifax Hotel where nightly the premier of Nova Scotia is wont to be found, surrounded by friends under a canopy of tobacco smoke.

Hon. G. H. Murray.

Recently in Ottawa Mr. Murray stalked into the office in the new parliament buildings which the architect had designated for the prime minister.

"Good morning," said Mr. Murray to the secretary there.

"Glad to see you on the job. Glad to see somebody's on the job."

This latter was a reference to the quietude of Ottawa on a holiday. Mr. Murray then spoke of the weather and made some unimportant observations on politics. After which he said:

"Get me D. D. McKenzie on the phone, will you?"

When the secretary had to look up D. D.'s phone number Mr. Murray began to wonder.

"You haven't been with the premier long, have you?" he asked.

"No, not for some past," answered the secretary.

"What? Isn't this the premier's office?"

"No, sir, this is Mr. Meighen's office. It was intended for the premier, but Mr. King preferred to remain in his old room upstairs."

"No wonder."

"What's your husband growling about?"

"He's cross because I'm taking him out to enjoy himself."—London Mail.

Mainly About People

Sarah, Grown Old, Goes Back to Her Own People

Bernhardt, Born Jewish, Regrets Neglect of the Race.

IT is not generally known that Sarah Bernhardt, though she has adhered to the Roman Catholic Church practically all her life, was born a Jewess. The "Divine Sarah" of France has recently given an interview to Miss Roov of the New York Herald, in which the aged veteran of the dramatic stage declares deeply that she repents of her neglect of her own people for so many years. Born in Paris in 1844 of Dutch Jewish parents, Sarah Bernhardt, while still a child, was arranged into the Roman Catholic Church at the request of her father. In turning, after a long absence, towards the Jewish fold she made the following statement:

"On the threshold of my eightieth year, I am impelled to review my feelings. I now believe, that I have given the French people more than I was entitled to give, and to the Jewish people much less than it had the right to demand of me. I gave my soul to French art.

"What I did, others could also do for the French people. But there is a people for which I alone could have done something and I have failed to do it. I refer to the Jewish people, who are my people. To them the product of my mind has always belonged and I have given it to the French. Thus I must review my position. I cannot die confessing I have loved the whole world, but my own people I have not loved! I know now how long I have got to live, but I have still time to waken an old love to new life. I should again like to love the Jewish people as I did as a child, and to work for its welfare as I worked for myself and for French art. I go to America and shall devote the results of my tournee to the Jewish Home."

Sarah Bernhardt.

A "JUBILEE" MEANT LITTLE TO "MOUNTIES"

One of Whom Was Colonel Cecil E. Morgan.

COL. CECIL E. MORGAN, of St. Catharines, well known throughout the province of Ontario for his excellent work in connection with the Garden City chamber of commerce, and the Royal Canadian Henley, has during his lengthy and varied career spent in the four corners of the world accumulated a rich and extensive hoard of anecdotes and stories of the first water.

Col. Morgan was at one time a member of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police; in fact he was one of the pioneers of that famous force.

During the year 1887, shortly after Queen Victoria's Jubilee, two lone mounties, of whom he was one, cantered up to a small settlement in southern Alberta. It was particularly noticeable that the men were conspicuous by their absence, and upon investigation it was found that they had become possessed of a keg of whiskey, whereupon they had assembled in the bunkhouse, and there they were found much the worse for their absorbency. Upon being interrogated regarding the why-for of the festive occasion, one cowpuncher not so drunk as the rest, retorted, "Oh, this is a jubilee."

"Jubilee," said the mounties incredulously, for that term was by no means common in those days.

"Sure," returned the cowpuncher, "somebody has been doin' something for fifty darned years. Have a drink, boys."

Senator's Wife Sweeps

HAVING aided her husband in his campaign for renomination to the U. S. senate, the wife of Senator R. M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, the notorious filibustering senator who opposed the peace treaty, takes up household tasks again, starting with the verandah, which had probably been neglected during her absence campaigning. "Mother" La Follette is great for tidying up.

The King in Kilts is a Good Highlander

HIS MAJESTY dons the tartan when he is up at Balmoral Castle, Scotland, for the shooting. The head game-keeper, Arthur Grant, here seen with his wife, was bitten by a retriever on one expedition and the King, anxious for his safety, himself demagogically telephoned for the doctor. He is here seen enquiring about the progress of the wound.

The Cat May Not Have Enjoyed the Idea, But It Certainly Secured the Dutchman's Apples

No Need to Be Bitten by a Dog When Robbing an Orchard, John Adams Proves.

WHEN ex-Ald. John Adams of Toronto was a schoolboy in his home village of Norwich, Oxford county, he had a penchant for leading a foray into the orchard owned by a local Dutchman. In order to head off these foraging expeditions, the latter procured a vicious-looking bulldog. For some days the dog well served his purpose; he was on duty every time the youthful foraging expedition approached the orchard fence. But necessity is the mother of invention to boys as well as to men. And it was very necessary that John Adams and his companions should get the Dutchman's apples. Their stomachs just craved for them.

"There," explained young Adams, as he took a black cat from under the folds of his coat. "This is going to get us the Dutchman's apples. Everybody smickered in derision. 'How was a cat going to get apples?' But when John, with the cat under his arm, scaled the fence, his companions followed, although it was with fear and trepidation. When well into the orchard the fearsome bulldog was espied bounding toward them at full speed.

"Keep together and don't move," commanded John. And then, as the growling dog came within a few yards of the frightened group, John Adams revealed his plan. He threw the cat as

"Sic him, Caesar," he yelled. "Sic him."

John accordingly set his brain to work out a plan that would circumvent the activities of the orchard-guarding bulldog. And so in the days of his manhood he showed an aptitude, while a resident of both Brandon and Toronto, for working out successfully political undertakings, so he finally hit upon a workable plan in this particular instance.

"Say, fellows," he exclaimed one evening to a group of his followers, "I've got a scheme for getting into the Dutchman's orchard."

"What is it?" they all in unison demanded.

"Meet me at the orchard at five o'clock and I'll show you."

At the appointed hour the foragers were on duty.

far as he could, and, addressing the dog, yelled, "Sic um, Caesar, sic um." The plan worked like a charm. And while the dog gave its attention to the cat, which had taken refuge in a nearby tree, John Adams and his companions took to other trees, filled their pockets and shirt bosoms with luscious apples, and before Caesar had tired in his efforts to get the cat had scampered back over the fence to neutral territory. As the same plan worked on subsequent occasions, the youthful foragers were never at a loss for a supply of the Dutchman's fruit.

Of all ex-Ald. Adams' successful achievements in life, this is the only one about which he is disposed to boast.—W. L. E.

BRISCO'S IRISH BULL CHINESE AND FEMININE

These Things Happen When a Mayor is Eloquent.

FRED. H. BRISCO, of Chatham, Ontario, came into province-wide prominence as leader of the municipal movement against higher natural gas rates. An evidence of his popularity in his home town is the fact that he was the first man in something like twenty years to hold the Chatham mayoralty for two successive terms.

On one occasion his position as chief magistrate of Chatham required Mayor Brisco to address a gathering of the Kuo Min Tang—signifying the Chatham branch of the Chinese Nationalist Party.

It was a gala occasion. The lodge-rooms were crowded with slant-eyed Orientals and a sprinkling of whites, Senator Proudfoot was present to elucidate the objects of the Kuo Min Tang, and prominent speakers, both Chinese and Occidental, vied with one another in eloquence. As befitted the occasion, Mayor Brisco was felicitously congratulatory—and no one can be more congratulatory when the occasion demands. His peroration worked up to a fervid climax something like this:

"I congratulate the officers of this fine organization of the Chinamen of the Maple City. I go further, I congratulate all the Chinamen. And most of all—he paused, impressively—"I congratulate the lady Chinamen."

"Something of a she-bull," whispered an irreverent Occidental in one of the back seats. But the Chinese—ladies included—never even smiled.

HAD LOST HIS ACCENT

LORD LEVERHULME tells the story of a Scotsman who was introduced to an American in London.

"From what land do ye coom?" asked the Scotsman.

"The greatest in the world, bo," said the American.

"Fair bairn, ye've lost yer accent."

Young Falconer Failed to Clear Away His Doubt

When Students Wakened the Echoes of Edinburgh.

SIR ROBERT FALCONER, president of Toronto University, was a student at Edinburgh along with his brother, Professor J. W. Falconer, of the Presbyterian College, Halifax; Rev. A. S. Morton, of Saskatchewan University; Rev. J. C. Robertson, D.D., of Toronto, and others, all well-known Canadians. One day a number of these college chums thought they would like to test for themselves the famed echoes of Arthur's Seat, one of the high hills near that city. It was soon arranged and at midnight the party was at the spot testing the wonderful echoes with curious and increasingly loud calls.

Sir Robt. Falconer.

Suddenly, as if arising out of the ground, a burly Highlander in police uniform appeared and demanded explanation of the disturbance. Robert Falconer acted as spokesman for the party and in a sincere straightforward manner stated the case.

"Who are you?" demanded the officer.

"We are students from the university."

Possibly he imagined that they were science students that they should be engaged in such research. "Students of what?" said he.

"Of theology," was the answer.

"What, going into the ministry?"

"We hope to."

With a friendly wave of the hand he left them with this parting word, "Yes, and I hope I'll live till you all get charges."

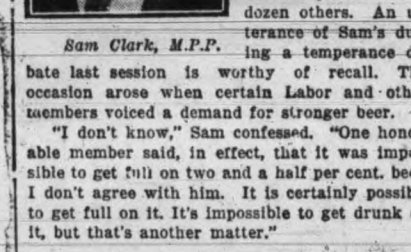

CLARK'S VIEW OF PROHIBITION BEER

Sam Did Not Agree With the Previous Member.

THERE are few members of the Ontario legislature who command a more attentive audience when they take the floor than does Sam Clark, who has represented West Northumberland in the House for more than a quarter of a century. Mr. Clark ranks second only to Hon. Thomas Crawford, in length of continuous service; and, if Mr. Crawford is the father of the House, Sam can surely lay claim to being its uncle.

Sam neither orates nor makes a speech, when he rises to his feet; he simply talks; but the House listens to his talking, where it ignores the perivid eloquence of a dozen others. An utterance of Sam's during a temperance debate last session is worthy of recall. The occasion arose when certain Labor and other members voiced a demand for stronger beer.

"I don't know," Sam confessed. "One honorable member said, in effect, that it was impossible to get full on two and a half per cent. beer. I don't agree with him. It is certainly possible to get full on it. It's impossible to get drunk on it, but that's another matter."

LAURIER WATCHEL VER SLEEPING CONSERVATIVE

Just After Donald Sutherland Had Attacked Him, Too.

NEVER was there a better campaigner than that South Oxford Conservative veteran, Donald Sutherland, M.P. Yet I have proof that his powers of observation were sometimes at fault. On at least one occasion it was thus. As a newspaper representative I was with him all through the memorable campaign of 1917. It was in the town of Tillsonburg one night that he waxed warmer than usual in his tirade against the policy of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. There were no personalities—just politicalities, but they were the hottest he had uttered to date.

He knew me to be a follower of the Laurier hordes, and after the meetings we laughed it over in good part. At the hotel we could only secure a double room on the third floor.

Mr. Sutherland took first choice of the beds, and after a few words slipped under the sheets while I remained up to look over my notes. Before turning in, I chanced to look above the head of Donald's bed, and there, with all its white plumage, was a very large likeness of the late Liberal chief. Naturally, I guffawed aloud and told the campaigner of the joke he played on himself. He sat up, a funny sight there in the feeble light, and looked at the likeness for some seconds. Then followed a loud outburst of laughter in solo and in chorus, singly and in unison.

He enjoyed the coincidence as much as I. He slept well after it, and I sometimes think that Donald felt he was in good company at that.—J.T.F.

American Now Irish Lord

THIS well-dressed young man is Baron Fermoyle, formerly Edmund Maurice Burke Roche of New York. He renounced his American citizenship when he succeeded to the title and entered now to a seat in the British House of Commons. A twin brother, Francis Burke Roche, stays American. He is in the banking business in New York.

FOCH'S RETORT COURTEOUS

WHILE on his recent American trip, Marshal Foch, the famous French soldier, made a witty reply to a man who, when one of the guests at a dinner-party in Denver, given by a party of Americans, took exception to French politeness. "There is nothing in it but wind," he said with questionable taste.

"Neither is there anything but wind in a pneumatic tire," retorted the gallant marshal, "yet it eases the jolts along life's highway wonderfully."

And for the rest of the dinner the other man had little to say.

His Proof

TWO actors came out on the stage and one of them made this speech.

"Ladies and gentlemen, we have with us tonight a man who is known the world over and one every one of us has heard of. Will Mr. Henry Ford kindly stand up and let us all see him?"

After waiting a minute or so and seeing that no one had risen, he turned to his partner, saying: "Are you sure that Mr. Henry Ford is in this audience?"
