Introduction.

THIS book is respectfully submitted to the public as a convenient reference to the battles and engagements of the Civil War, Enlistments from the different States, divisions and subdivisions of the Union Army, Officers in the order of their rank and the principles, objects, etc., of the Grand Army of the Republic and Kindred Societies.

It is also intended to serve as a companion or key to the picture entitled "The Easel Monument Souvenir."

Its place is on the center table, a ready answer to all questions suggested by a study of said picture and affording, at the same time, an appropriate means for preserving the Record of Service, also a copy of the Honorable Discharge of the soldier with whose name the said picture is engrossed, and in this way hand the same down to posterity.

J. WORTH CARNAHAN.

DEDICATION.

To the brave "boys in blue," who, on land or sea participated in that memorable struggle for the preservation of our Union, and to the mothers, wives, daughters, and friends, who, at home and in the hospital, so nobly did their part, this little volume is respectfully dedicated by the author.

CHAPTER I.

CAUSES WHICH LED TO THE ORGANIZATION OF THE G. A. R. AND ITS CO-WORKERS.

OVER a quarter of a century ago the people of the North were startled as never before by the report that Fort Sumter had been fired upon, and that the war between the North and the South had indeed commenced in earnest. A call for volunteers to defend the "Stars and Stripes" was made. That call was answered. Brave men left the farm, the workshop, the office, the store, home, and loved ones—everything, and rushed forward to protect the nation's honor. Battles were lost—battles were won. Long and weary were the marches, and fierce and bloody were the battles that marked the years from 1861 to 1865. The comrade who, at morning, answered "here," at eventide could nevermore respond. Never before in the annals of history was any similar struggle waged on so grand a scale or with so great a destruction of men and material as in this "the great American conflict."

At last the final day came. The South, no longer able to withstand the prowess and overwhelming forces of the North, was compelled to surrender, and then "The Brave Boys in Blue" marched home again; but not until nearly half a million of their number were killed outright on the field, died of disease and wounds, or were crippled or maimed for life.

Many returned home to find themselves penniless and helpless, but strong in their determination to grapple with the world. The promises made to the men who left their families to go forth to fight for the integrity of the nation were but poorly kept, and though some were provided with employment by the Government, and many patriotic citizens, who remembered and appreciated their services, came nobly forward and gave them the preference in their enterprises, still a great number remained unemployed and unprovided for. This state of affairs caused deep anxiety in the hearts of their more fortunate comrades, who had stood shoulder to shoulder with these men during the death storm of battle, but who had come out of the war with happier fortune, and who were now better able to cope with the world.

It was this condition of affairs that caused the pioneers in the Grand Army of the Republic to conceive the idea of forming an organization that would, to a certain extent, look after the disabled and unemployed veterans, and to the welfare of the widows and orphans of those who had fallen in the conflict. Such were the circumstances which led to the organization of the G. A. R., made brothers under the cloud of war, brothers in a thousand common dangers, brothers in a thousand common sufferings, brothers they must remain in the sunshine of peace.

The history of "The Great American Conflict" would be incomplete without a record of the heroism and self-denying deeds of the mothers, wives, and daughters of those who sprang to arms to support the integrity of the Republic and the honor of the "Stars and Stripes."

Thousands of Northern women of all classes and every rank of society, willingly sacrificing much of what is dear to woman, urged their friends and loved ones to rally around the flag; and they eagerly sought the privilege, as they deemed it, of doing what they could for the cause. At home they managed the business, the factory, or the farm, at the same time caring for the little ones; and when tidings of defeat or disaster reached them, their hearts trembled with anxiety for the welfare of their loved ones and the success of the cause.

Every moment of the day and night of that trying time, hearts were lifted up in silent prayer to the "God of Battles," that the right might prevail and the absent ones be returned safe in peace and honor. In the stillness of the night, as the little ones were put to rest, their young voices were taught to lisp a prayer, that "God might spare papa and preserve the Union." Nor was this all. What a woman does, she does with her whole heart. Almost every home in the North was turned into a manufactory of lint; the closets and chests were ransacked and valued articles of linen were cheerfully brought forth and sacrificed to be shredded into lint for "the poor wounded soldiers."

Societies were organized throughout the country, and the women vied with each other in offering delicacies and dainties, to be sent to the hospitals for the weak and suffering who had been wounded on Southern battlefields. How devotedly they worked in the interest of the "Christian Commission" and the "Sanitary Commission." Their busy fingers even found time, in numerous cases, to pen words of cheer and encouragement to the brave men, strangers to them, except that they were bound together by the strong bonds of loyalty and patriotism.

Nor can we forget those dauntless ones, who, not tied by the cares of a family, so gladly volunteered for active service as nurses on the battlefield and in the hospital; who left the ease and refinement of home to suffer toil and privations to administer to the wants of the wounded. As ministering angels, they passed from cot to cot, stopping here to breathe a word of encouragement to a young sufferer racked with pain and far away from friends and home, and pausing there to raise the pillow of another that he might rest a little more comfortably. At times she was to be found writing a last message to loved ones from one about passing away, and whispering words of hope and consolation—in short, in a thousand different ways doing what only a woman, with her tact, gentleness, and sympathy, can do.

After the struggle was over and the sword was turned into the pruning-hook—when the gallant defenders returned to the vocations of peace; alas, many of them, incapacitated by wounds or disease, were unable to resume their former calling, and helplessly saw their families without proper provision for their maintenance, the women, faithful to their interests and true in their devotion, sprang to the rescue and organized the various auxiliaries known as the “Woman’s Relief Corps,” “Loyal Ladies’

League,” or the “Ladies of the G. A. R.,” etc., etc.

The lessons of patriotism learned at the knee of their mothers were not lost on the children of the soldiers. On the return of their fathers and brothers from the conflict, the stories of battles and victory were told and retold by the fireside, and such was their charm that they were ever new. Their words burned into the hearts of the young listeners, and they made such an impression that with advancing years the children came to feel that they, too, could claim a common interest and heritage in the deeds of their fathers. This feeling seemed to unite them and form a common tie, leading eventually to the organization of the "Sons of Veterans," "Ladies' Aid Societies," and the "Daughters of Veterans," respectively.

wish to form some sort of association, that they might meet again to preserve the friendships and memories of the past. This topic became the subject of frequent conversation

THE cradle of the “Grand Army of the Republic” was a soldier’s tent. On the march to Meridian was born the idea that was to crystallize and develop, and finally produce that brotherhood of soldiers known as the G. A. R.

During Sherman’s expedition to Meridian, in February, 1864, Maj. B. F. Stephenson and Chaplain W. J. Rutledge became tentmates and close friends. As they spoke in glad anticipation of the time when they might exchange the hardships and trials of the field for the shelter and comfort of their homes, Chaplain Rutledge suggested that when the troops were finally mustered out of the service, it would be but natural to suppose that men who had shared so much suffering, privation, and danger would and they agreed to assist one another in the development of such a project, if they were spared.

This mutual agreement was not forgotten, especially by Dr. Stephenson, when he returned home after the close of his army service. The more he thought of an organization of perpetual comradeship, the more he was enthused with the idea. He could not forget the many deeds of valor daily performed by his comrades, or the many bloody battlefields won by their prowess. When his thoughts returned to the scenes of that trying time, he could again hear the roar of his comrades' deadly artillery, the terrible crash and racket of their muskets, and the ringing and clanging of their sabres, when they crossed with those of the enemy. He could again see the many battlefields covered with the dead and wounded, and the ground made red with their hearts' blood. He could again hear the vain cry for "water" to sustain the fast ebbing life stream, and the sacred messages whispered in his ear by sufferers racked with pain and far away from home and loved ones, as he bent over them in performance of the duties required by his profession. His duty, as a physician, often called him to the bedside of comrades, who had returned home from the service crippled and maimed for life, and these interviews constantly reminded him of "the groan of the gray-haired sire on learning the sad news; the indescribable look of despair of the widow, on learning that her last prop was taken from her; the shriek of the newly-made bride; the suppressed anguish of the betrothed maiden; and the piteous wail of the bereaved mother, as, with quivering lips, she imparted the sad news to the little ones, who henceforth would be fatherless, and, perhaps, homeless."

Considerable correspondence on the subject of the organization of the Order, which is now known as the "Grand Army of the Republic," passed between Dr. Stephenson and Mr. Rutledge, until they met, by appointment, in Springfield, Ill., in March, 1866, to arrange for the compilation of a ritual for the proposed Order. The first Post was organized at Decatur, Ill., April 6, 1866, by Maj. B. F. Stephenson, and a ritual was printed under his supervision. The first State Convention was held in Springfield, Ill., July 12, 1866.

As Commander-in-Chief, Dr. Stephenson issued a general order, dated October 31, 1866, calling the first National Convention of the "Grand Army of the Republic." The convention met in Indianapolis, Ind., November 20, 1866, and representatives were present from Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Wisconsin, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa, Kentucky, Indiana, and the District of Columbia.

OBJECTS OF THE ORDER.

The objects of the G. A. R., as originally set forth in their Constitution, are: First, the preservation of those kind and fraternal feelings, which have bound together, with the strong cords of love and affection, the comrades in arms of many battles, sieges, and marches; second, to make these ties available in works and results of kindness, of favor and material aid to those in need of assistance; third, to make provision, where it is not already done, for the support, care, and education of soldiers' orphans, and for the maintenance of the widows of deceased soldiers; fourth, for the protection and assistance of disabled soldiers, whether disabled by wounds, sickness, old age, or misfortune; fifth, for the establishment and defense of the late soldiery of the United States, morally, socially, and politically, with a view to inculcate a proper appreciation of their services to the country, and to a recognition of such services and claims by the American people."

The Indianapolis Convention, held November 20, 1866, added the word "sailors" to the Springfield Constitution, and also a new section, taken from the Constitution of the "Loyal Legion," which reads as follows: "The maintenance of true allegiance to the United States of America, based upon paramount respect for and fidelity to the National Constitution and Laws, manifested by the discountenancing of whatever may tend to weaken loyalty, incite to insurrection, treason, or rebellion, or in any manner impairs the efficiency and permanency of our free institutions, together with a defense of universal liberty, equal rights, and justice to all men.”

ELIGIBILITY TO MEMBERSHIP.

According to the Rules and Regulations of the Grand Army of the Republic, A. D. 1893, all “Soldiers and Sailors of the United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, who served between April 12, 1861, and April 9, 1865, in the war for the suppression of the Rebellion, and those having been honorably discharged therefrom after such service, and of such State regiments as were called into active service and subject to the orders of the U. S. General officers, between the dates mentioned, shall be eligible to membership in the Grand Army of the Republic. No person shall be eligible to membership who has at any time borne arms against the United States.”

POLITICAL TENDENCIES.

Many prominent citizens, not bound by kindred ties to the Grand Army of the Republic, are of the opinion that it is little more than a political organization, and, therefore, take no interest in it. There are, also, a great many soldiers throughout the country who would be enrolled as members were it not that they, too, are of the same opinion. This is a great injustice to the Order, as the following bit of history will show that the Post-room is a place “where the partisan and sectarian are not heard.”

During the political campaign of 1866, the disputes between President Johnson and the majority in Congress were the means of greatly hindering the growth of the G. A. R.; for, notwithstanding the fact that a great many soldiers who entered the war as Democrats returned with different political opinions, and that the great mass of the soldier vote in 1866 was Republican, it was by no means a unit, for many thousands of gallant soldiers, who were Democrats when they enlisted in the service, returned as such; and during this political campaign hundreds of political clubs were organized among the Veterans, some advocating the principles of the Republican, and others, the Democratic party. Naturally, when a question of a political nature found its way into a Post-room, any argument in its favor was sure to be hotly rebutted by some representative of the opposite party.

This condition of affairs soon caused a discord in the Post-room, and comrades by the hundred withdrew from the Order, especially those with Democratic views; as a result, the public soon began to look upon the G. A. R. as a political organization, and the tendency of the whole Democratic party was to work against any move that would tend to strengthen the ranks of the Order.

The leaders of the G. A. R. soon saw that even the discussion of political questions in the Order was greatly detrimental to its best interests. They realized that as the Rebellion was put down by "individual efforts united," on this principle alone could they secure legislation in behalf of the soldiers' orphans, widows, and dependent parents; or, for the maintenance of homes for disabled Veterans, and for the more successful carrying out of the principles and objects for which they were organized. They were not long, therefore, in taking steps to repair the breach which the political tendencies of the Order had made in its ranks, and in January, 1868, at the National Encampment, held in Philadelphia, Pa., while declaring that it was the purpose of the Grand Army "to secure the rights of the defenders of their country by all moral, social, and political means in their control," the following clause was added to the fifth section of their Declaration of Principles, "yet this Association does not design to make nominations for office, or to use its influence as a secret organization for partisan purposes."

In the next year, 1869, the following article was added to the Rules and Regulations of the Order: “No officer or comrade of the ‘Grand Army of the Republic’ shall, in any manner, use this organization for partisan purposes, and no discussion of partisan questions shall be permitted at any of its meetings; nor shall any nominations for political office be made.” Under this law, which has never been changed, the “Grand Army of the Republic” grew very rapidly.

THE GRADE SYSTEM OF MEMBERSHIP.

Another great drawback to its growth was the adoption of “The Grade System,” which, according to Past Commander Robert B. Beath’s “History of the Grand Army of the Republic,” provided for three distinct grades of membership: 1. The grade of “Recruit;” 2. The grade of “Soldier;” 3. The grade of “Veteran.” The “Recruits” could only be advanced to the grade of “Soldier” after two months’ service, and were not eligible to office, or privileged to act, speak, or vote. All business was transacted by the second grade, or “Soldiers,” except that pertaining to advancement to the third grade. The “Soldier” could not be advanced to the third grade until he had been a member of the second grade at least six months. “The third grade, or ‘Veterans,’ only were eligible to National or Department offices, or to membership in National or Department Encampments, or to offices filled by appointment of Commander-in-Chief or Department Commanders; and to the offices of Post-Commander, Vice-Commanders, Adjutant, Quartermaster, Surgeon, Chaplain, Officer of the Day, or Officer of the Guard.”

Many members strongly objected to such complicated manoeuvres as was required in passing from one grade to another in the “Grand Army,” and “Recruits,” full of enthusiasm when they joined, were disgusted at having to wait two months before having a vote. “After a two years’ trial, this ‘Grade System’ of membership was entirely abolished.” Since that time the Order has flourished and grown until, to-day, it is a powerful influence for good, and no one can deny that it has done much to remove from the nation "the shame of permitting men, who saved its life, to live, die, and be buried as paupers in the land they helped to save."

I cannot better express my opinion of the G. A. R. than to quote the words of Past Commander-in-Chief William Warner, in his report of the administration of his office, to the twenty-third annual session of the National Encampment of the G. A. R., held in Milwaukee, Wis., August 28, 1889 :

"The Grand Army of the Republic is the grandest civic organization the world has ever seen—its list of membership is the Nation's roll of honor, containing the most illustrious names in history, the names of the brave men who, in the darkest days of the rebellion, followed the Stars and Stripes as the emblem, not of a confederacy of States bound together by ropes of sand, but as the emblem of an indissoluble Union of indestructible States.

"They followed that flag, whether in sunshine or in storm, victory or defeat, with more confidence and greater reverence than did the children of Israel the pillar of cloud by day and of fire by night. The men who compose this organization are they who, when others faltered, laid 'their lives, their fortunes, and their sacred honors' upon the altar of liberty and Union, that 'a government of the people, by the people and for the people' should not perish from the earth.

"As the war recedes the men who shared together the privations of the frozen camp, the hardships of the forced march, the dangers of the battlefield, the sufferings of the field hospital and the untold agonies of the prison pen, long for the touch of a comrade's elbow as of old, and seek the Post-room, where the partisan and sectarian are not heard. The teachings of the Grand Army of the Republic are so conservative, its practices so patriotic, its comradeship so universal, that all honorably discharged Union soldiers and sailors of '61 and '65, who have done nothing in civil life to cast a stain upon their honorable record in liberty's cause, feel that they are at home when in the Post-room, in the house of their friends.

“It is there that the general and the private, the merchant prince and the clerk, the millionaire and the laborer, sit side by side as comrades, bound each to the other by ties the tenderest yet the most enduring of any in this world, outside of the family circle.

“There are bonds of all sorts in this world of ours,
 Fetters of friendship and ties of flowers,
 And true lovers' knots, I ween;
 The boy and the girl are bound by a kiss,
 But there is never a bond, old friend, like this—
 We have drank from the same canteen.”

“The membership of the Grand Army of the Republic constitutes the great conservative element of the Nation, the champion of civil and religious liberty, recognizing the dignity of labor, but having no sympathy with anarchy or communism, recognizing no flag but the Stars and Stripes, believing that loyalty is a virtue and that treason is a crime.”

When we come to consider the true American principles which form the foundation of the Order, is it any wonder that its membership, in about twenty-seven years, has reached the gigantic proportions of 7,626 Posts, and a membership, in good standing, of more than 400,000 men? What true American citizen can consider for a moment the vast amount of labor, time, and money expended yearly by the Grand Army of the Republic, in order that the soldier's widow might be comforted and supported; that his orphans might be fed, clothed, and educated, and that society might be compelled to give them a home, alike comfortable and respectable, without acknowledging what a blessing to the welfare of our country this Grand Soldier Organization has been, and how faithfully they have adhered to their motto of “Friendship, Charity and Loyalty”?

GROWTH OF THE ORDER.

A recapitulation of the Adjutant-General's report, at the National Encampment held in Indianapolis, Ind., Sept., A. D. 1893, shows the following figures :

In 1873 the number of comrades in the Grand Army of the Republic, in good standing, was 27,100; in 1878 it was 31,016; in 1883, 215,446; in 1888, the number was 372,960; in 1889, the number was 397,974; in 1890, 409,484; this appears to have been the high-water mark in its history. In 1891 it was 407,781. The total membership, in good standing, June 30, 1892, was 399,880; gained by muster, 24,954; gained by transfer, 7,034; gained by reinstatement, 10,283; total gains, 56,368; aggregate, 456,248. The losses were as follows: By death, 7,002; by honorable discharge, 1,707; by transfer, 8,168; by suspension, 35,298; by dishonorable discharge, 233; delinquent reports, 6,617; total losses, 59,025; net loss, during the year, 2,657. Total membership, in good standing, June 30, 1893, 397,223.

Adj.-Gen. E. B. Gray states that 4,070 of those reported June 30, 1893, as delinquent are really in good standing, but were not so reported by inefficient Post officers. Therefore, the total membership of the G. A. R., in good standing, Sept. 10, 1893, was 401,293. This number added to the 35,298 suspended members makes a total membership for the Grand Army of the Republic of 436,591.

NUMERICAL STRENGTH OF EACH DEPARTMENT.

The following is a list of the forty-five State Departments of the Grand Army of the Republic, with date and place of organization; also, the number of active Posts, with total membership in good standing of each State or Department, A. D. 1893. Compiled from official sources.

Where two dates of organization are mentioned, the last is always that of permanent organization and national recognition.

ALABAMA.—Department organized March 12, 1889. Number of Posts, 13; total membership, 263.

ARIZONA.—Department organized at Phoenix, January 17, 1888. Number of Posts, 9; total membership, 288.

ARKANSAS.—Department permanently organized at Hot Springs, April 18, 1884. Number of Posts, 89; total membership, 2,872.

CALIFORNIA AND NEVADA.—Department organized at San Francisco, February 21, 1868. Number of Posts, 116; total membership, 6,678.

COLORADO AND WYOMING.—Formerly “The Mountain Department,” was first organized at Laramie, Wyoming Territory, December 11, 1879; reorganized at Denver, Col., July 31, 1882. Number of Posts, 82; total membership, 3,394.

CONNECTICUT.—Department organized at Hartford, April 11, 1867. Number of Posts, 67; total membership, 7,852.

DELAWARE.—Department organized at Wilmington, January 14, 1881. Number of Posts, 22; total membership, 1,138.

FLORIDA.—Department permanently organized July 9, 1884. Number of Posts, 18; total membership, 565.

GEORGIA.—Department organized at Atlanta, January 25, 1889. Number of Posts, 10; total membership, 560.

IDAHO.—Department organized at Boise City, January 11, 1888. Number of Posts, 20; total membership, 738.

ILLINOIS.—Department organized at Springfield, July 12, 1866. Number of Posts, 582; total membership, 30,211.

INDIANA.—Department organized at Indianapolis, August 20, 1866; reorganized at Terre Haute, October 3, 1879. Number of Posts, 530; total membership, 24,078.

INDIAN TERRITORY.—Department was organized 1889. Number of Posts, 14; total membership, 318.

IOWA.—Department first organized at Davenport, September 26, 1866; re-organized at Des Moines, January 23, 1879. Number of Posts, 449; total membership, 18,870.

KANSAS.—Department organized at Topeka, January 9, 1868; recognized as a permanent Department March 16, 1880. Number of Posts, 468; total membership, 17,562.

KENTUCKY.—Department organized at Covington, January 16, 1883. Number of Posts, 172; total membership, 6,721.

NATIONAL OFFICERS.

The supreme power of the Grand Army of the Republic is lodged in the National Encampment, which is "held annually between April and November, as may be fixed by the Commander-in-Chief, by consent of the Council of Administration, and at such place as shall have been determined at the previous stated meeting."

"Special meetings may be convened by order of the Commander-in-Chief, by and with the advice and consent of the National Council of Administration."

The National officers of the Grand Army of the Republic are as follows: Commander-in-Chief, Senior Vice-Commander-in-Chief, Junior Vice-Commander-in-Chief, Adjutant-General, Quartermaster-General, Inspector-General, Judge Advocate-General, Surgeon-General, Chaplain-in-Chief, and a Council of Administration, consisting of the above-named officers, and one comrade from each Department.

These officers, with the exception of the Adjutant-General, Quartermaster-General, Inspector-General, and Judge Advocate-General, who are appointed by the Commander-in-Chief as his staff, are elected by ballot at each National Encampment, and enter upon the duties of their respective offices immediately after the adjournment of the meeting at which they were elected.

Vacancies occurring during the year are filled by the Council of Administration.

DUTIES OF NATIONAL OFFICERS.

Article VI, of Chapter IV, of the Rules and Regulations of the Grand Army of the Republic, for 1893, reads as follows :

"SECTION 1. The Commander-in-Chief shall enforce the Rules and Regulations of the Grand Army of the Republic, and the orders of the National Encampment and Council of Administration, and for this purpose he may issue such orders as may be necessary.

“He shall preside in the National Encampment and Council of Administration, decide all questions of law or usage, subject to an appeal to the National Encampment; approve all requisitions properly drawn on the Quartermaster General, and shall hold all securities given by National officers, as trustee for the Grand Army of the Republic. He shall appoint immediately after entering his office, the Adjutant-General, the Quartermaster General, the Inspector-General, the Judge Advocate-General, an Assistant Adjutant-General, as many Assistant Inspectors-General on the nomination of the Inspector-General and as many Aides-de-Camp as he may deem necessary. He shall appoint all other national officers and committees not otherwise provided for, and may remove these officers at his pleasure. He shall promulgate through the proper officers the national countersign, and may change the same at his discretion, and shall issue to all Departments, regularly organized, suitable charters, and appoint Provisional Commanders in States and Territories where there is no Department organization.

“SEC. 2. The Vice Commanders-in-Chief shall assist the Commander-in-Chief by counsel and otherwise, and in his absence or disability they shall fill his office according to seniority.

“SEC. 3. The Adjutant-General shall keep correct records of the proceedings of the National Encampment and Council of Administration; he shall conduct its correspondence and issue the necessary orders, under the direction of the Commander-in-Chief. All returns received by him from Departments shall be turned over to the proper officers.

“He shall prepare all books and blanks required for use of the Grand Army of the Republic, under the direction of the Commander-in-Chief. He shall draw requisitions on the Quartermaster-General, to be approved by the Commander-in-Chief, and shall perform such other duties and keep such other books and records as the Commander-in-Chief or the National Encampment may require him. He shall give security for the faithful discharge of his duties, to be approved by the Commander-in-Chief, and shall receive as compensation for his services such sum as the National Encampment may from time to time determine.

“SEC. 4. The Quartermaster-General shall hold the funds, securities, and vouchers of the National Encampment, and fill all requisitions drawn upon him by the Adjutant-General and approved by the Commander-in-Chief. He shall distribute all books and blanks required for the use of the Grand Army of the Republic, and, under the direction of the Commander-in-Chief, charge a reasonable and uniform price for the same. He shall give good and sufficient security, in a sum to be approved by the Council of Administration, for the faithful discharge of his duties, and shall receive such compensation for his services as the National Encampment may from time to time determine.

“SEC. 5. The Inspector-General shall perform such duties as are required of him by Chap. V, Art. V, and shall receive such compensation for his services as the National Encampment may from time to time determine.

“SEC. 6. The Surgeon-General shall perform the duties properly appertaining to that office.

“SEC. 7. The Chaplain-in-Chief shall perform such duties in connection with his office as the Commander-in-chief or the National Encampment may require.

“SEC. 8. The Judge Advocate-General shall perform the duties belonging to that office.

“SEC. 9. The National Council of Administration shall meet at such place as may be determined by the National Encampment at their stated meeting, and at such other times and places as the Commander-in-Chief may order; and ten members shall constitute a quorum. It shall audit the accounts of the various National officers, may propose plans of action, and shall represent in all matters the National Encampment in the interval between its sessions. It shall keep full and detailed records of its proceedings, and present the same as its report at the stated meeting of the National Encampment, for the consideration of that body.

"SEC. 10. The several staff officers shall present to the National Encampment, at each annual session, full and detailed reports, in print, of the operations of their respective departments; and when retiring from their office shall deliver to their successors all moneys, books, and other property of the Grand Army of the Republic in their possession or under their control."

DEPARTMENT OFFICERS.

The Department Officers are: First, Department Commander; second, Senior Vice Department Commander; third, Junior Vice Department Commander; fourth, Assistant Adjutant-General; fifth, Assistant Quartermaster-General; sixth, Department Inspector; seventh, Judge Advocate; eighth, Chief Mustering Officer; ninth, Medical Director; tenth, Department Chaplain, and the Council of Administration, consisting of the above-named officers and five members by election.

These officers, except the Assistant Adjutant-General, the Assistant Quartermaster-General, the Inspector, the Judge-Advocate, and the Chief Mustering Officer, who are appointed by the Department Commander immediately after entering upon his office, are elected by ballot at the Annual Encampment of the Department, which is held between January 1 and July 1 of each year.

The officers thus elected enter upon their respective duties immediately after the adjournment of the meeting at which they were chosen, and hold office until their successors are duly installed.

The Council of Administration fills all vacancies in elective offices.

DUTIES OF DEPARTMENT OFFICERS.

According to Article VI of Chapter III of the Rules and Regulations of the Grand Army of the Republic for 1893, the duties of the Department Officers are as follows:

"SECTION 1. The Department Commander shall, immediately after entering upon his office, appoint an Assistant Adjutant-General, an Assistant Quartermaster General, an Inspector, a Judge Advocate, and a Chief Mustering Officer, and may remove these officers at his pleasure. He may appoint as many Assistant Inspectors, on the nomination of the Inspector of the Department, and as many Aides-de-Camp as he may deem necessary. He shall preside at all meetings of the Department Headquarters, and Council of Administration, shall forward the reports and dues to National Headquarters, and see that all orders received from thence are properly published and obeyed, shall issue suitable charters to all Posts organized in his Department, and perform such other duties as are incumbent on officers of like position.

"SEC. 2. The Vice Commanders shall assist the Commander by counsel or otherwise, and in his absence or disability they shall fill his office according to seniority.

"SEC. 3. The Assistant Adjutant-General shall keep correct records of the proceedings of the Department Encampment and of the Council of Administration ; he shall conduct the correspondence and issue all orders under direction of the Commander, draw all requisitions upon the Assistant Quartermaster-General, make out all returns to the National Headquarters, and transmit the same, through the Department Commander, to the Adjutant-General, countersign all charters issued by the Commander, keep an Order Book, a Letter Book, an Indorsement and Memorandum Book, and files of all orders, reports, and correspondence received and remaining in his office, and perform such other duties and keep such other records in connection with his office as may be required of him by the Commander or the Department Encampment. He shall receive, as compensation for his services, such sum as the Department Encampment may from time to time determine.

"SEC. 4. The Assistant Quartermaster-General, shall hold the funds, securities, vouchers, and property of the Department, and fill all requisitions drawn by the Assistant Adjutant-General and approved by the Commander and shall give good and sufficient security, to be approved by the Council of Administration, for the faithful discharge of his duties.

"SEC. 5. The Inspector shall perform such duties as are prescribed in Chap. V, Art. V, and shall receive such compensation for his services as the Department Encampment shall from time to time determine.

"SEC. 6. The Judge Advocate and the Chief Mustering Officer shall perform the duties properly belonging to their offices.

"SEC. 7. The Medical Director shall require such returns from Post Surgeons as may be needed and called for by the Surgeon-General, and shall make returns to that officer.

"SEC. 8. The Chaplain shall perform such duties in connection with his office as the Commander of the Department may require of him.

"SEC. 9. The Council of Administration shall have charge of the working interests of the Department, shall audit the accounts of the various officers, shall keep a full and detailed record of its proceedings, and shall present the same for the consideration of the Department Encampment at each stated meeting thereof.

"SEC. 10. The various staff officers shall make to the Department Encampment, at each stated meeting, full and complete reports, in writing, of the operations of their Departments, and when retiring from office shall deliver to their successors all moneys, books, and other property of the Department in their possession or under their control."

POST OFFICERS.

The officers of each Post of the Grand Army of the Republic are as follows: Post-Commander, Senior Vice-Post-Commander, Junior Vice-Post-Commander, Adjutant, Quartermaster, Surgeon, Chaplain, Officer of the Day, Officer of the Guard, Sergeant-Major, and Quartermaster-Sergeant. In addition to the above, the Commander details an Inside Sentinel, Outside Sentinel, and Color Sergeant.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

These officers (the Adjutant, Sergeant-Major, and Quartermaster Sergeant excepted) are elected at the first stated meeting in December, by ballot, unless a ballot be dispensed with by unanimous consent, and are installed into their respective offices at the first stated meeting in January following.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.

At the installation of officers, which is generally held publicly at a special meeting called for that purpose, the Commander appoints the Adjutant, Sergeant-Major, and Quartermaster-Sergeant.

These officers the Commander can remove, if he so desires. All officers, whether elected or appointed, hold office until their successors are duly installed.

No part of the opening or closing services, or signs of recognition, of the Grand Army of the Republic, are made use of at a public installation of officers, but an evening spent in witnessing an occasion of this kind, especially by one who never attended an installation of Grand Army officers, will certainly never be regretted, as it is a very entertaining ceremony.

DUTIES OF POST OFFICERS.

Article VIII, of Chapter II, of the Grand Army of the Republic Rules and Regulations for 1893, give the duties of the Post officers as follows :

"SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of the Post Commander to preside at all meetings of the Post, to enforce a strict observance of the Rules and Regulations and By-Laws, and all orders from proper authority, to detail all officers and committees not otherwise provided for, to approve all orders drawn upon the Quartermaster for appropriations of money made and passed at a stated meeting of the Post, to forward the returns required by Chap. V, Art. II, and to perform such other duties as his charge may require of him.

"SEC. 2. The Vice-Post Commanders shall perform such duties as are required of them by the Ritual, and, in the absence of the Commander, shall take his place in the order of their rank. If neither of them are present the Post shall elect a Commander pro tempore.

"SEC. 3. The Adjutant shall keep in books properly prepared :—

"1. The Rules and Regulations of the Grand Army of the Republic and the By-Laws of the Post, to be signed by every comrade on his becoming a member.

“2. A Descriptive Book, ruled to embrace every fact contained in the application as well as the date of acceptance and muster, and a column for general remarks.

“3. A Journal of the Proceedings of the Post, after the same shall have been corrected and approved.

“4. An Order Book, in which shall be recorded all orders and circulars issued by the Post Commander.

“5. A Letter Book.

“6. An Indorsement and Memorandum Book.

“7. A Black Book, in which shall be recorded the names of all rejected candidates, also of all members of the Grand Army who have been dishonorably discharged.

“He shall attest by his signature all actions of the Post, and draw all orders on the Quartermaster, to be approved by the Post Commander; shall notify in writing newly-elected members, and shall, under the direction of the Post Commander, prepare all reports and returns required of him. He shall perform such other duties as appertain to his office, and shall transfer to his successor, without delay, all books, papers, and other property.

“SEC. 4. The Quartermaster shall hold the funds, securities, vouchers, and other property of the Post, and fill all requisitions drawn by the Adjutant and approved by the Post Commander; he shall collect all moneys due the Post, giving his receipt therefor; he shall keep an account with each member, and notify all comrades in arrears; he shall render a monthly account in writing to the Post of its finances, which shall be referred to an auditing committee appointed by the Post. He shall make and deliver to the Post Commander all reports and returns required of Post Quartermasters by Chap. V, Art. II, and shall deliver to his successor in office, or to any one designated by the Post, all moneys, books, and other property of the Post in his possession or under his control. He shall give security for the faithful discharge of his duties as provided in Chap. V, Art. VII.

“SEC. 5. The Surgeon shall discharge such duties in connection with his office as may be required of him.

“SEC. 6. The Chaplain shall officiate at the opening of the Post and at the funeral of the comrades when attended by the Post, and perform such other duties in connection with his office as the Post may require.

“SEC. 7. The Officer of the Day and the Officer of the Guard shall perform such duties as may be required by the Ritual or by the Post Commander.

“SEC. 8. The Sergeant-Major and Quartermaster-Sergeant shall assist the Adjutant and Quartermaster respectively in their duties.

“SEC. 9. The Trustees of the Post shall have the care, custody, and management of such property of the Post as the Post by vote shall place in their possession, or under their control, subject to the direction of the Post as to its management and investment; and all leases or conveyances of lands or buildings, by or to the Posts, shall be in the names of such Trustees and their successors in office.

“SEC. 10. Trustees of the Relief Fund shall have the care, custody, and management of the Relief Fund of the Post, subject to the direction of the Post, and all investments of the Relief Fund shall be in the names of such Trustees and their successors in office.

“SEC. 11. Posts may make By-Laws regulating the manner in which Trustees of the Post or Relief Fund shall perform their duties, and respecting the reports of such Trustees.

“SEC. 12. No change shall be made by the Trustees in any investment of Post or Relief Funds, or in the title to Post or Relief Fund Property, or any money paid therefrom, without the concurrence in writing of all the Trustees.

"SEC. 13. The Quartermaster of the Post shall turn over to the Trustees such property and funds of the Post as the Post by vote may direct."

DESCRIPTION OF THE G. A. R. BADGE.

MEMBERSHIP BADGE.

The membership badge of the Grand Army of the Republic consists of the figure of an Eagle, with Cross-Cannon and Ammunition, representing Defense; the Eagle hovering over with a sword, and always ready to protect from insult or dishonor the National Flag, which is also the emblem and ribbon of the Order.

One end of this flag-ribbon is attached to the figure of the above-described eagle, cross-cannon, etc., and the other end is fastened to a five-pointed star, in the centre of which is "the figure of the Goddess of Liberty, representing Loyalty; on either side a soldier and a sailor clasping hands, representing Fraternity, and two children receiving benediction and assurance of protection from the comrades, representing Charity. On each side of the group is the National Flag and the Eagle, representing Freedom; and the Axe, or Bundle of Rods, or Fasces, representing Union.

"In each point of the star is the insignia of the various arms of the service, viz.: the Bugle for Infantry, Cross-cannon for Artillery, Cross-muskets for the Marine, Cross-swords for Cavalry, and the Anchor for Sailors.

"Over the Central Group are the words, 'Grand Army of the Republic,' and under the word and figures, '1861—Veteran—1866,' commemorating the commencement and close of the Rebellion, and also the date of organization of the Order."

OFFICIAL BADGES OF THE G. A. R.

ACTING OFFICER'S BADGE.

PAST OFFICER'S BADGE.

As the above cuts will show, the difference between the membership and the official badge of the G. A. R. is that the ribbon of the latter is wider and ornamented by a buff, cherry red, or a lighter blue border—(Buff for National officers, Red for Department officers, and Blue for Post officers)—and that on the active officer's badge the eagle is supplanted by a miniature strap one and one-half inches long and one-half inch wide, enameled with a gold or gilt border one-sixteenth of an inch in width. The color of this strap for National or Department officers is black, for Post officers dark blue.

On the badge worn by Past officers this strap is clasped upon their proper ribbon, between the star and the eagle of the membership badge.

A miniature shield in gold or gilt, with the coat of arms of the State, may be worn pendant to the official strap, to distinguish the different State Departments.

The bronze used in the manufacture of the Grand Army badge and button is that of cannon captured in different decisive battles of the late Civil War.

CHAPTER III.

“WOMAN’S RELIEF CORPS.”

TO the State of Maine belongs the honor of having within its boundaries the first organization of ladies who have always so nobly seconded the efforts of the G. A. R. in the discharge of the principles and duties of that body, to co-operate with them as a G. A. R. Post.

As early as 1869, the “Bosworth Relief Corps” was formed in Portland, Maine, for the purpose of aiding the “Bosworth Post,” of that city, to relieve the unfortunate and needy comrades and their families. So well did they acquit themselves in their destined work, and so successfully did they administer to the wants of the needy and suffering that in a short time it became evident that their co-operation was a necessity, and corps after corps was organized in every direction; but it was not until ten years later that a State organization was formed. In April, 1879, the first State organization was perfected at Fitchburg, Mass., under the title of “Woman’s Relief Corps,” as advocated by the ladies of Massachusetts.

ELIGIBILITY TO MEMBERSHIP.

The membership did not rest upon kinship to Veterans, but the assistance and sympathy of all loyal women were asked, and the only requirements for admission as a member were loyalty and the observance of the principles of the Order.

OBJECTS OF THE ORDER.

The objects of the "Woman's Relief Corps are: "First, to especially aid and assist the Grand Army of the Republic and to perpetuate the memory of their heroic dead; second, to assist such Union Veterans as need our help and protection, and to extend needful aid to their widows and orphans, to find them homes and employment, and assure them of sympathy and friends; third, to cherish and emulate the deeds of our army nurses, and of all loyal women who rendered loving service to their country in her hour of peril; fourth, to inculcate lessons of patriotism and love of country among our children and in the communities in which we live; fifth, to maintain true allegiance to the United States of America; sixth, to discountenance whatever tends to weaken loyalty, and to encourage the spread of universal liberty and equal rights to all men."

Notwithstanding their valuable services, nothing substantial was done by the G. A. R. to encourage the growth of these Societies, nor were they accorded the official recognition they merited until 1881, when Chaplain-in-Chief Rev. Joseph F. Lovering urged upon the National Encampment the necessity of their being given their due recognition and support. A resolution was then adopted approving the work of the "Woman's Relief Corps," and they were also authorized to add to their title "Auxiliary to the G. A. R."

It soon became evident that a National organization and the uniformity of rules governing them would strengthen the "Woman's Relief Corps" and increase their usefulness. Accordingly, in 1883, Commander-in-Chief Paul Van Der Voort invited representatives from all existing Ladies' Auxiliaries to meet at Denver, Colorado, at the time the National Encampment of the G. A. R. met there, to arrange for a union of all the Societies. This invitation was accepted, and a large delegation met at Denver, July 25, 1883, and Mrs. E. F. Barker, President of the "Woman's Relief Corps" of Massachusetts, was appointed President, and Mrs. Kate B. Sherwood, of “Forsyth Post Relief Corps” of Toledo, Ohio, was appointed Secretary. Owing to some difference of opinion regarding eligibility to membership, the delegation from New Jersey declined to unite with the “Woman’s Relief Corps,” and maintained their organization under the title “Loyal Ladies’ League,” later known as “Ladies of the G. A. R.”

The plan of organization of the “Woman’s Relief Corps” was very similar to that of the G. A. R. The National organization was called the “National Convention, Woman’s Relief Corps, Auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic;” the State organizations were called departments, and the local associations were termed corps.

The record of the successful organization of the “Woman’s Relief Corps” was received with great satisfaction by the National Encampment of the G. A. R., and the following resolution was adopted in order to be transmitted: “Resolved, That we cordially hail the organization of the ‘Woman’s Relief Corps,’ and extend our greeting to them. We return our warmest thanks to the loyal women of the land for their earnest work, support, and encouragement, and bid them Godspeed in their patriotic work.”

How rapidly this organization has spread may be judged from the fact that, at the present time, there are upward of two thousand Posts in the United States, with a membership of about one hundred thousand, who contribute annually more than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000). This is a representation of their strength in figures, but who can measure the value of their kindly sympathy, their visits at the bedsides of suffering Veterans, their tender care for the widows and orphans, their loving work in the many channels of usefulness which their tact has found them. It is, indeed, as priceless as the patriotic devotion which actuated them to devote their time and money to the cause they love so well, and the “Woman’s Relief Corps” will ever stand as a living monument of the love of American women for the cause of truth and justice: American women, true daughters of their brave ancestors, who fought and suffered for liberty in the days of "76."

"LADIES OF THE G. A. R."

(FORMERLY KNOWN AS "LOYAL LADIES' LEAGUE.")

The movement of patriotic women, "Auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic," which was first inaugurated at Portland, Me., in 1869, spread rapidly throughout the country. The ladies of New Jersey were second to none in their enthusiastic support of it. A number of societies or leagues were soon formed throughout the State, which were, however, not perfectly uniform in their rules and management. To secure a more thorough co-operation in the work for which they were destined, a request was issued in general orders by Commander Charles Houten, Department of New Jersey, asking all the ladies to send representatives to Trenton, with a view of forming a State organization. The delegates met at Trenton, N. J., December 15, 1881, and after some debate an organization was perfected under the title, "Loyal Ladies' League, Auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, Department of New Jersey." The new Order adopted a charter, badge, and rules, and began its work with eight subordinate leagues, Mrs. Carrie N. Burgee, of Vineland, N. J., being elected its president.

ELIGIBILITY TO MEMBERSHIP.

Only such were admitted to membership as were of good moral character, and who were related as mother, wife, sister, or daughter to an honorably discharged soldier, sailor, or marine, who served in the late Rebellion.

OBJECTS OF THE ORDER.

The objects of the “Loyal Ladies’ League,” as set forth in these rules, were as follows: “To unite with loyalty—love for each other; to practice the precepts of true fraternity of feeling toward all sisters of our Order, thus emulating the spirit which unites our fathers, husbands, and brothers; to honor the memory of those fallen; to perpetuate and keep forever sacred ‘Memorial Day’; to assist the ‘Grand Army of the Republic’ in its high and holy mission; aid, encourage, and sympathize with them in their noble work of charity; to extend needful aid to members in sickness and distress; to aid sick soldiers, sailors, and marines; to do all in our power to alleviate suffering.”

In July, 1883, Mrs. S. D. Hugg and Mrs. Laura McNeir were sent as delegates from New Jersey to Denver, Colorado, to meet with the delegates from the Ladies’ Auxiliary Societies in the different States, who were called together by a request issued by Paul Van Der Voort, Commander-in-Chief of the National Encampment of the G. A. R., with a view of forming a National organization to better carry out the objects for which they were organized. At this convention the delegates from New Jersey were opposed to making all loyal women eligible to membership, and on the adoption of that rule by a majority of the delegates present, they declined to become a part of the “Woman’s Relief Corps,” as they thought that the membership should be restricted to the immediate relatives of Veterans. In this view they were supported by their State Convention, and New Jersey remained an independent department.

On November 18, 1886, delegates from the various Leagues in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Kansas, California, Ohio, Delaware, and West Virginia met in convention at Chicago, Ill., for the purpose of effecting a National organization. After some discussion and a few slight changes in the rules, a union was effected with an organization in Illinois, known as “Ladies of the G. A. R.” This name was adopted by the Convention for the National Order, and Mrs. Laura McNeir, of Camden, N. J., was elected as its National President. The membership at the present time is about thirty-five thousand, who have, by their activity and fidelity to the purpose of their Order, done much to aid and support the Grand Army of the Republic.

The organization formed, as it is, by the immediate relatives of the Veterans, is united by the strongest kind of bonds. Those ties of comradeship which were formed and strengthened by mutual privation and suffering on the field and in the camp, amidst hunger, thirst, and disease in Southern swamps, Confederate prisons, and which are such a marked feature, many of the comrades of the G. A. R. bore to be communicated to their mothers, wives, sisters, and daughters, who, by the fireside, and in the hospital, did their part so bravely in the great struggle, sharing their mutual joys and woe: these ties binding them together have made them, as it were, one great family having a common cause and a common interest.

CHAPTER IV.

“SONS OF VETERANS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.”

BADGE.

SHORTLY after the organization of the G. A. R., the plan of forming a Cadet Corps of the Sons of the Veterans was discussed from time to time, but it was not until 1878 that any decisive action was taken in the matter. At a meeting of the "Anna M. Ross Post, No. 94," of Philadelphia, Pa., August 27, 1878, the subject was taken up, and, on motion of Comrade James P. Holt, a committee of five was appointed to devise means of forming a G. A. R. Cadet Corps, to be attached to that Post. On the 17th of September following, the committee reported and submitted a plan of organization, which was at once adopted by the Post, and on the 29th of September, 1878, the first Camp of the "Sons of Veterans" was formally organized, under the title, "Anna M. Ross Camp No. 1, of Philadelphia, Order of Sons of Veterans." Other Camps were soon organized in Philadelphia and throughout the State, and in July, A. D. 1880, a division organization was completed, with Comrade Linder as Colonel.

The Order spread rapidly in the States of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware, in 1881, and during the same year a National organization was formed, and Alfred Cope was elected Commander.

About the same time Maj. A. P. Davis, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was organizing the "Sons of the Veterans," of that city, and on the 12th of November, 1881, he instituted an organization under the title, "Sons of Veterans of the United States of America," and prepared for it a Constitution, rules and regulations, and ritual, which provided for a National organization and State and Local associations.

In 1883, owing to misunderstanding and dissensions in the Order first above mentioned, thirty-three of its Camps withdrew and united with the Order founded by Maj. Davis, leaving but three Camps of the original Order, but the National division remained intact, and Commander Cope created a provisional division in Pennsylvania, appointing L. M. Wagner as Provisional Colonel. A permanent organization, however, was formed for Pennsylvania, February 22, 1882, and the original Order continued to exist until August, 1886, when it was consolidated with the "Sons of Veterans, U. S. A."

In his address at the National Encampment of the G. A. R., held at Columbus, Ohio, in 1888, Commander-in-Chief John P. Rea alluded to the order of "Sons of Veterans" as follows: "It will be but a short period until our ranks are so meagre and the surviving comrades so weighed down with the burden of years that our organization will have ceased to be an active force in the works of loyal love and charity which it has ordained. The tender ceremonies of 'Memorial Day' will then be performed by others, or not at all. It seems to me that it would be the part of wisdom for us, while yet in our vigor, to establish such relationship between our Order and the 'Sons of Veterans' as to properly recognize that organization."

Afterward, at the same Encampment, the following resolution was passed: "Resolved, That this Encampment indorse the objects and purposes of the Order of 'Sons of Veterans, U. S. A.,' and hereby gives to the Order the official recognition of the Grand Army of the Republic, and recommend that comrades aid and encourage the institution of Camps of the ‘Sons of Veterans, U. S. A.’”

ELIGIBILITY TO MEMBERSHIP

The requirements for admission to membership are that the applicant must not be less than eighteen years of age, and that he must be the son of a deceased or honorably discharged Union soldier or sailor, or a son of a member of the Order of “Sons of Veterans.”

PRINCIPLES.

The principles of the “Sons of Veterans, U. S. A.,” are “a firm belief and trust in Almighty God, and a realization that under His beneficent guidance the free institutions of our land, consecrated by the services and blood of our fathers, have been preserved, and the integrity and life of the nation maintained. True allegiance to the Government of the United States of America, based upon a respect for and devotion and fidelity to its Constitution and laws, manifested by the discountenancing of anything that may tend to weaken loyalty, incite to insurrection, treason, or rebellion, or in any manner impair the efficiency and permanency of our National Union.”

OBJECTS.

The objects of the Order are: “First, To keep green the memory of our fathers and their sacrifices for the maintenance of the Union; second, To aid the members of the Grand Army of the Republic in caring for their helpless and disabled veterans; to extend aid and protection to the widows and orphans; to perpetuate the memory and history of their heroic dead; and the proper observance of Memorial Day; third, To aid and assist worthy and needy members of the Order; fourth, To inculcate patriotism and love of country, not alone among our membership, but among all the people of our land, and to spread and sustain the doctrine of equal rights, universal liberty, and justice to all.”

The Order is organized on strictly military principles, and is officered and governed according to army regulations. The National organization, which has its one Commandery-in-Chief, corresponds to an army; the State organizations, or Divisions, are officered and governed as regiments, while the local organizations, or Camps, correspond to companies, and are regulated as such. The officers of the Camp are Captain, First Lieutenant, and Second Lieutenant, who are elected by ballot. In addition to these, the Captain appoints a staff, consisting of the following officers: First Sergeant, Quartermaster Sergeant, Chaplain, Color Sergeant, Sergeant of the Guard, Corporal of the Guard, Musician, Camp Guard, and Picket Guard. Each Camp is organized as a company, and every officer is required to discharge his duties in precisely the same manner as though he were regularly enlisted. The Captain presides at the meetings of the Camp, and in his absence his place is filled by the First or Second Lieutenant, in the order of his rank. The Chaplain's duties are indicated by his title. The First Sergeant keeps the records of the Camp, and makes a quarterly report to Division Headquarters through the Captain. The Quartermaster Sergeant has charge of the funds of the Camp, and likewise, through the Captain, makes a quarterly report to Division Headquarters.

The Order has spread rapidly throughout the entire Union, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It has now on its roll more than ninety thousand active members. As Commander-in-Chief Rea intimated in his address, that time will gradually decimate the ranks of the G. A. R., and old age will enfeeble the survivors, there should be a union of younger men upon whom they could lean for support, who would be worthy of their charge and who would foster and perpetuate the purpose for which they suffered and bled. When the necessity for such an organization became apparent, the Order of the “Sons of Veterans, U. S. A.,” sprang into existence to meet that necessity; and well have they met it, its membership being made up of the best blood of the land, young men well drilled in military tactics, who are devoted to their country, and who cherish the memory of the brave deeds of their fathers. At a call of their country they would be among the first to spring to arms, and, incited by the deeds of their fathers, they would soon rival them in their devotion to preserve the honor and integrity of the “Stars and Stripes.”

“LADIES’ AID SOCIETY.”

AUXILIARY TO THE “SONS OF VETERANS, U. S. A.”

BADGE.

The “Ladies’ Aid Society” was organized in Philadelphia, Pa., A. D. 1883, but it was not until the 29th day of August, 1884, at a meeting of the “Sons of Veterans” held in Philadelphia that it was duly recognized and practically acknowledged as an “Auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans, U. S. A.”

Prior to June 13, 1885, this Order consisted of but seven Societies, and was not known outside of Eastern Pennsylvania. In September, 1885, at an annual meeting held at Grand Rapids, Mich., the “Sons of Veterans” passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That all brothers of our Order be requested to encourage the movement to extend the Association of ‘Ladies’ Aid Societies,’ in order that they might become a National body, and to give the movement such support as their situation and circumstances will admit of, and that the Commander-in-Chief, Grand Division, Division, and Camp Commanders, and all others interested aid in the establishment of Societies, and that in accordance with the request of the President, Miss Laura F. Martin, of Lancaster, Pa., they advance to her Order in the shape of a temporary loan such moderate amounts as her appeal indicates will be sufficient to meet the requirements of the case."

The passing of this resolution is credited to Maj. A. P. Davis, of Pittsburgh, Pa., the founder of the "Sons of Veterans, U. S. A.," and to him the more perfect and thorough organization of the Order as it now stands is largely due.

The rapid growth of the Order is clearly demonstrated by the fact that its first National Encampment was held at Akron, Ohio, September 7 to 9, 1887, just two years after the passing of the above resolution, and since that time the Order has been repeatedly indorsed by the National Encampments of the "Sons of Veterans" as their only authorized auxiliary. It now embraces about three hundred and fifty Societies, with thirteen States organized into permanent Divisions, and has a total membership of over eight thousand.

ELIGIBILITY TO MEMBERSHIP.

This Order admits to membership: First, "mothers, wives, and sisters of deceased or honorably discharged soldiers, sailors, or marines who served in the Union Army or Navy during the Civil War of 1861-1865; second, female lineal descendants not less than sixteen years of age of soldiers, sailors, or marines; third, wives of Sons of Veterans."

PRINCIPLES OF THE ORDER.

Its principles are: First, "a firm belief and trust in Almighty God, and a realization that under His beneficent care and guidance the free institutions of our land—by the assistance and sacri-ffices of our soldiers—have been preserved, and the integrity and life of the nation maintained; second, true allegiance to the Government of the United States of America, and a respect for and a devotion and fidelity to its Constitution and laws, with a firm opposition to anything that may tend to weaken loyalty or in any manner impair the efficiency and permanency of our National Union.”

OBJECTS.

The objects of the Order are: First, “to assist the ‘Sons of Veterans’ in keeping green the memories of our soldiers, and their sacrifices for the maintenance of the Union; second, to aid the members of the ‘Grand Army of the Republic’ in caring for their helpless and disabled veterans, to extend aid and protection to their widows and orphans, to perpetuate the memory and history of their heroic dead, and the proper observance of Memorial Day; third, to aid and assist the ‘Sons of Veterans’ in all their objects, both financially and otherwise; fourth, to aid and assist worthy and needy members of our Society; fifth, to inculcate true patriotism and love of country, not only among our membership, but all the people of our land, and to spread and sustain the doctrine of equal rights, universal liberty, and justice to all.”

The Order takes its name from a society organized in Philadelphia, Pa., the week following the fall of Fort Sumter in 1861, under the title of “Ladies’ Aid Society.” This Society was composed of about two hundred loyal ladies of that city, and was organized for the purpose of providing nurses for the sick and wounded soldiers, and to care for suffering and bereaved soldiers’ families. In short, as an organization to aid and encourage the Union soldiers in their struggle for the maintenance of the Union.

As the Order of the “Sons of Veterans, U. S. A.,” will likely continue as an organization for many years to come, owing to the fact that it was organized for the purpose of aiding and continuing the work begun, and thus far so faithfully carried out by the "Grand Army of the Republic," and, inasmuch as it has been demonstrated in the past that the "Woman's Relief Corps" and the "Ladies of the G. A. R.," both auxiliaries to the G. A. R., have been a source of great aid to that organization, it is reasonable to suppose that the "Ladies' Aid Society, Auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans," will continue to grow in favor until it becomes a mighty factor in carrying out the principles and objects of the "Sons of Veterans," upon which its structure is based and reared.

"DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS."

This Society is located principally in the West, but is rapidly spreading in all directions. It is, in many respects, similar to the "Sons of Veterans," and is entirely independent and auxiliary to no other organization.

It was organized at Massilon, Ohio, May 30, 1885, and has a National organization and local Societies, known as "Tents."

The Order admits to membership "all daughters and granddaughters of honorably discharged soldiers, sailors, and marines who served in the Union army or navy during the Rebellion of 1861-65, who have attained the age of fifteen years," and has for its objects, as follows: "To perpetuate the memories of our fathers, grandfathers, and brothers, their loyalty to the Union, and their unselfish sacrifices for the perpetuity of the same; to keep green the memory and history of those who participated in that heroic struggle for the maintenance of our free government; to aid them and their widows and orphans when helpless and in distress; to assist the Grand Army to commemorate the deeds of their fallen comrades on the 30th of May, until such time as it shall devolve upon their descendants."

There is a Floral Committee attached to each Tent, whose duty it is to provide floral offerings for the funeral of any deceased soldier or sailor in the vicinity.

CHAPTER V.

“THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF NAVAL VETERANS OF THE UNITED STATES.”

BADGE.

THE objects for which the Grand Army of the Republic was organized appeal as strongly to the loyal sailor as to his soldier brother. Naturally, therefore, the G. A. R. early absorbed into its ranks large numbers of Naval Veterans, and it was not because of any change in principles that many old sailors in the course of time decided to withdraw from the G. A. R., and form Naval Associations, but rather that the Naval Veterans might be united in closer bonds of fraternity.

Prior to the year 1887 a number of Independent Societies, composed exclusively of Naval Veterans, had been formed at various times in different sections throughout the country, and on the 13th day of January, 1887, eight of these Veteran societies met in convention at New York city, where the “National Association of Naval Veterans of the United States” was formed, with Charles W. Adams, of Illinois, as first Commodore. At this convention, a constitution, together with a uniform, national badge, and a recognition lapel button, was adopted and other important matters for the welfare of the local associations decided upon.

OBJECTS OF THE ORDER.

The objects of this National Organization are "to cherish the memory and association of the War of the Rebellion; to perpetuate the glorious name and deeds of our Navy; to strengthen the ties of fraternal fellowship and sympathy; to extend relief to worthy members; to bury their dead; and to maintain the honor of the American flag;" in short, "mutual benefit, better recognition by Federal, State, and municipal authorities, a higher elevation of our old messmates, and a cementing of the bonds of friendship, which were begun more than a quarter of a century ago, and an independent, but concerted, action of Naval Veterans throughout the country."

ELIGIBILITY TO MEMBERSHIP.

"To become a member of this Order, the applicant must have been an officer, seaman, landsman, fireman, or marine; or one who served in the United States Navy from 1861 to 1865, or who was in the revenue cutter service during that period, and who resigned or was honorably discharged from the service." "Shipmates" who are isolated and not within easy reach of a local association may become "Associate Members" by the payment of a small fee, and thus become entitled to wear the uniform, badge, and button, and parade with the Order annually.

Ten "Shipmates" can form an association, and upon the payment of five dollars ($5) receive from the Rear Admiral commanding a charter, set of rituals, and service books.

The association has a uniform and rank insignia, not unlike that worn by the officers of the "Old Navy," in which they served, and flies the "Union Jack" as its service colors.

The work of this organization is carried on much after the manner of the Grand Army of the Republic, yet purely distinctive of naval routine and customs. A National Convention is held yearly in connection with the G. A. R. encampments, and the national officers for the following year are then elected. At the Twenty-sixth Annual Encampment of the G. A. R., held at Washington, September 20, 1892, over one thousand "Shipmates" were added to the National Roster of the Order, which now contains the names and addresses of about nine thousand living Naval Veterans.

The Association is noted for the interest and enthusiasm of its members and the strong ties of friendship and comradeship existing among the "Shipmates." There are a large number of Naval Veterans in the G. A. R. Posts of all State Departments: in fact, most of the members of this Association have also a membership in the G. A. R.

Most of the Naval Veteran Associations meet regularly once or twice a month, and all of them hold yearly reunions, where the old "Blue-jackets" spin over their yarns, fight over their battles, and, perhaps, "splice the main brace."

The old Veterans are rapidly "losing the number of their mess," and, in a few short years, there will be left but a "quarter watch" of useless human hulks. "May they find happiness and contentment as they lie moored in the still waters of the stream of life, calmly awaiting the inevitable hour when the frail cable shall part and they drift away into the great ocean of eternity."

The following is a list of the active Naval Veteran Societies of the United States:

- Farragut Association Naval Veterans, Philadelphia, Pa.
- Farragut Association Naval Veterans, New York.
- Naval Veterans' Association of Connecticut, Hartford, Conn.
- Farragut Association, Chicago, Ill.
- Essex Naval Veterans' Association, Salem, Mass.
- Cushing Naval Veterans' Association, Milwaukee, Wis.
- Naval Veterans' Association of the Gulf, New Orleans, La.
- D. D. Porter Naval Veterans' Association, Columbus, Ohio.
- Admiral Dahlgren Naval Veterans' Association, Dayton, Ohio.
- Farragut Naval Veterans' Association, Providence, R. I.

D. D. Porter Naval Veterans' Association, Louisville, Ky.
 Maryland Naval Veterans' Association, Baltimore, Md.
 Illinois Naval Veterans' Association, Chicago, Ill.
 Thos. A. Budd Naval Veterans' Association, Buffalo, N. Y.
 Naval Veterans' Legion, Philadelphia, Pa.
 Potomac Naval Veterans' Association, Washington, D. C.
 Cumberland Naval Veterans' Association, New Bedford, Mass.
 Central New York Naval Veterans' Association, Amsterdam, N. Y.
 Michigan Naval Veterans' Association, Detroit, Mich.
 Herrick Blue Naval Veterans' Association, Zanesville, Ohio.
 Monitor Naval Veterans' Association, Brooklyn, N. Y.
 Cincinnati Naval Veterans' Association, Cincinnati, Ohio.
 Minnesota Naval Veterans' Association, St. Paul, Minn.
 Admiral Du Pont Naval Veterans' Association, Fort Worth, Tex.
 Commodore Perry Naval Veterans' Association, Cleveland, Ohio.
 Shirk Naval Veterans' Association, Erie, Pa.
 Kearsarge Naval Veterans' Association, Portsmouth, N. H.
 Black Hawk Naval Veterans' Association, Indianapolis, Ind.
 Dahlgren Naval Veterans' Association, Lowell, Mass.
 Kennebec Naval Veterans' Association, Bath, Me.

At this writing, October 20, 1893, there are Associations almost ready for charter in Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and Annapolis.

At the last National Convention, held in Indianapolis, Ind., September 7, 1893, the "Union Jack" was substituted for the red, white, and blue ribbon formerly attached to the badge of the Association, and the following officers were elected:

Rear Admiral Commanding—B. S. Osbon, 429 Broadway, New York.

Commodore—Cyrus Sears, 423 Lafayette Avenue, Baltimore, Md.

Captain—R. N. Hopkins, 128 South Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

Commander—C. H. Leaman, Market and Jefferson Streets, Dayton, Ohio

- Lieutenant Commander*—Samuel B. Dixon, 63 Brady, corner John R. Street, Detroit, Mich.
- Senior Lieutenant*—Benj. D. Blanchard, 372 West Forty-sixth Street, New York.
- Lieutenant*—Joseph Chace, Jr., 33 Belmont Avenue, Providence, R. I.

- National Boatswain*—W. E. Goodnough, 503 East Street, New Haven Conn.
- Senior Aide, Chief of Staff*—Commander Will E. Atkins, Cherry Street, North Chase Avenue (Cumminsville) Cincinnati, Ohio.
- National Historian*—Past Commander Wm. Simmons, 1432 Whar-ton Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

“THE MILITARY ORDER OF THE LOYAL LEGION OF THE UNITED STATES.”

The “Loyal Legion” owes its origin to a meeting of Col. S. B. Wylie Mitchell, Lt.-Col. T. Ellwood Zell, and Capt. Peter D. Keyser, M. D., which was held on the day following the assassination of President Lincoln, when they met in Lt.-Col. Zell’s office in Philadelphia to arrange for a meeting of the ex-officers of the Army and Navy to adopt a set of resolutions relative to the death of the President.

The advisability of forming a permanent organization was discussed, and they agreed to consider the matter, and take more definite action at a future meeting.

On the 20th of April, 1865, another meeting was held, at which it was decided to form a permanent organization, and they adjourned to meet in the hall of the Hibernia Fire Company, of Philadelphia, May 3, 1865.

BADGE.

During the month of May a Constitution and By-Laws were adopted, which provided for the following officers: Commander, Senior and Junior Vice-Commanders, Recorder, Correspondent, Treasurer, Chancellor, Chaplain, and Council. The plan of organization provides for a National organization or Commandery-in-Chief, State Organizations or Grand Commanderies, Local or District Commanderies.

The first Commander-in-Chief was Lt.-Col. T. Ellwood Zell, who was succeeded by Maj.-Gen. George Cadwalader, Maj.-Gen. Winfield S. Hancock, Maj.-Gen. Rutherford B. Hayes, Gen. Philip H. Sheridan, and Rear-Admiral John J. Almy respectively.

The memberships are divided into three classes: First, Commissioned Officers of the Army or Navy who were actively engaged in suppressing the Rebellion, or, the eldest male lineal descendants of such deceased officers, provided such descendants be twenty-one years of age or over; second, the eldest sons of living companions or members of the first class, provided they be twenty-one years of age or over; third, gentlemen in civil life, who were conspicuous for loyalty to the National Government during the Rebellion.

The objects of the Association are: "To cherish the memories and associations of the war waged in defense of the unity and indivisibility of the Republic; to strengthen the ties of fraternal fellowship and sympathy, formed from the companionship in arms; to advance the best interests of the soldiers and sailors of the United States; to extend all possible relief to their widows and children; to foster the cultivation of military and naval science, and, in general, to maintain national honor, unity, and independence."

The "Loyal Legion" has grown and prospered, and has now more than eleven thousand members on its rolls, with active Commanderies in nineteen States and the District of Columbia.

The interests of the "Loyal Legion" and the Grand Army are nearly identical, and many Veterans have a membership in both organizations.

"UNION VETERAN LEGION."

BADGE.

As originally organized in Pittsburgh, Pa., in March, 1884, membership in the "Union Veteran Legion" was restricted to "officers, soldiers, and marines of the Union Army, Navy, or Marine Corps during the War of the Rebellion, who volunteered, prior to July 1, 1863, for a term of three years, and were honorably discharged for any cause, after a continuous service of two years, or were at any time discharged by reason of wounds received in the line of duty; but no drafted person, nor substitute, nor any one who has at any time borne arms against the United States is eligible."

The clause relative to eligibility to membership was changed at the annual meeting held at Youngstown, Ohio, February 22, 1888, and those, also, were made eligible to membership who volunteered for a term of two years, prior to July 22, 1861, and served their full term of enrollment, unless discharged for wounds received in the line of duty.

The Order has a National Encampment, also Local Organizations, or Encampments, with the following officers: Colonel-Commander, Lieutenant-Colonel, Major, Officer of the Day, Adjutant, Quartermaster, Chaplain, Officer of the U. V. L. BUTTON.

Guard, Surgeon, Sergeant-Major, Quartermaster-Sergeant, Color-Bearer, Sentinel, and Drummer, or Bugler.

The executive authority is conferred upon the National officers, there being no Department organizations, as in the Grand Army.

The first National Encampment was held at Pittsburgh, Pa., February 18, 1887, when George B. Chalmers, of Pittsburgh, was chosen its first National Commander.

The objects of the "Union Veteran Legion" are: "First, the cultivation of true devotion to the American Government and institutions; second, the moral, social, and intellectual improvement of its members and their relief, and the relief of their widows and orphans, in sickness and distress; third, the preservation of friendly relations among those who fought for the safety of the American Union; fourth, by the personal example and influence of its members to perpetuate the three great principles of 'Fraternity, Charity, and Patriotism,' and to promote the interests of humanity; fifth, all things being equal, to give preference to its members in all business relations, and to assist them, as far as possible, in all honorable ways."

"UNION VETERANS' UNION."

This organization was formed at Washington, D. C., June 18, 1886, through the efforts of M. A. Dillon, who was also elected its first Commander-in-Chief.

It has a National organization and subordinate commands, with the following officers: Colonel, Lieutenant-Colonel, Major, Surgeon, Chaplain, Officer of the Day, Officer of the Guard, Adjutant, Quartermaster, Sergeant-Major, Quartermaster-Sergeant, Drum-Major, Color-Bearer, and Sentinel.

Eligibility to membership consists in having had at least six months' continuous service, unless discharged on account of wounds (part of which must have been at the front), in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of the United States, between April 12, 1861, and April 30, 1865, and an honorable discharge from the same.

The society also admits to honorary membership gentlemen of good moral character, not entitled to join as comrades, who are willing to co-operate with the Command in promoting the objects of the "Union Veterans' Union."

BADGE.

The objects of the "Union Veterans' Union" are: "First, to preserve and perpetuate the principles for which we contended on many battle-fields; second, to recognize the rights of the soldier to positions of public trust, and the preferment of our members over others for employment by the Government, or by individuals, other things being equal; third, to demand of this Government a proper appreciation of their services and a just recognition of their claims; fourth, to support, aid, and assist in the election to positions of public trust any and all true friends of the Union Soldier, irrespective of politics, creed, or party; fifth, to extend to our comrades, their widows and orphans, in time of need, that charity that knows no end."

"THE VETERANS' RIGHTS UNION."

The tendency of heads of departments and government officials to discriminate against the old soldier in filling positions of trust and profit in their respective departments, and to ignore the rights of Veterans of the late War, who, in every respect, were worthy and competent to fill such positions, aroused the righteous indignation of all their old comrades in arms. To remedy this and secure for them, at least, an equal chance to fill positions in the Civil Government, when there were vacancies which they were competent to fill, a convention was called, at the solicitation of

Post No. 135, Department of New York, to meet in New York city, October 13, 1882, "to consider the best means of advancing the interests of Veterans employed, or seeking to be employed, in the Local, State, and National Governments."

In response to this call, about one hundred and fifty Posts of the G. A. R. sent representatives, and the "Veterans' Rights Union" was formed, the members pledging themselves, in the resolutions adopted, "by all legitimate methods, to maintain the rights and assert the privileges of the Veteran Soldiers and Sailors of this land, whenever, wherever, and by whomsoever those rights and privileges shall be menaced."

An Executive Committee of five was chosen, with full power to act for the Society, and they pledged themselves not to accept any position of trust or profit under the Government, during the time for which they were chosen.

The object, as explained in their communications, was to secure to those who served under the Government of the United States, during the late War, the privileges and rights guaranteed to them by the statutes of the United States, or any State law that has been or may be enacted for their benefit.

After much perseverance and hard work, the Committee succeeded in securing, directly and indirectly, the passage of a number of laws in the interest of their cause, and, also, the ruling of the Civil Service Commission of the United States, as follows: "Any applicant honorably discharged for such cause (by reason of disability, resulting from such wounds and sickness incurred in the line of duty), who, as the result of an examination, had been placed upon a register as eligible for an appointment, should be certified in preference to any other person thereon, not entitled to such preference, examined for the same part of the service, even though such persons are graded higher."

The Association, through its various committees, has done a great deal for the best interests of the Veterans, and deserves much credit for the tireless energy of its members in their behalf.

"UNION EX-PRISONERS OF WAR ASSOCIATION."

Soon after the close of the war a number of attempts were made to form societies, composed exclusively of soldiers who had been confined in Confederate prisons, but these attempts were not successful until April 9, 1874, when the "National Union of Andersonville Survivors" was organized at Worcester, Massachusetts; Warren Lee Goss, of Norwich, Connecticut, being chosen President.

At the end of the meeting held at Hartford, Connecticut, April 19, 1877, the title was changed to "National Union of Survivors of Andersonville, and other Southern Military Prisons." This title was again changed to "National Association of Ex-Union Prisoners of War" at a meeting held in Cleveland, Ohio, September 19, 1883.

The meeting for 1887 was held in Chicago, Illinois, September 22 and 23, when the title was finally changed to "Union Ex-Prisoners of War Association," by which title it is known now, and all State Associations were abolished.

The membership of the Order is over two thousand, and its objects are "to strengthen the ties of fraternal fellowship and sympathy, formed by companionship in arms during the Civil War among the survivors of Rebel military prisons; to perpetuate the name and fame of those who have fallen in the prison pens of the South, and in the line of duty; to bind together in the most friendly ties the survivors of the above prisons by joint action of its members in any direction which will secure justice to the living and honor to the dead, and to assist such of our fellow-prisoners as need help and protection, and to extend needful aid to the widows and orphans of those who have fallen."

VETERAN SOCIETIES.

We recognize no flag but the Stars and Stripes.

WHEN peace again prevailed throughout our land, and the brave boys in blue gladly laid aside the grim implements of war to return to their firesides, a tinge of sadness marred the change, welcome as it was; the ties between congenial spirits that were formed amidst the dangers and privations of a great campaign were not easily broken. Strong men, who were never known to quail in the face of danger, wept like children when the day of parting finally came.

The memories of the camp and battle-field were not easily to be forgotten, and but few regiments disbanded that did not provide for future reunions, when they could meet again under more peaceful auspices, and recall what was pleasant of their former associations. This same spirit led to the organization of that greatest brotherhood of men, known in modern times, "The Grand Army of the Republic," as well as the other organizations of those engaged in special arms of the service.

The first of these Societies was the

which was formed March 16, 1862, and at first had for its object the raising of funds for embalming and sending home for burial

Key-Board to the Colors used in the following badges :

the bodies of officers killed in battle or dying in hospitals at the front.

Gen. Sickles was elected its first President, and held that position until prevented from acting by disability.

The Society developed into a permanent institution to which all officers or enlisted men who enlisted in the 3d Corps or participated in the battles of the 3d Corps are eligible.

Meetings are held annually on May 5, the anniversary of the battle of Williamsburg.

SOCIETY OF THE ARMY OF THE TENNESSEE.

This Society owes its origin to a meeting held in the Senate Chamber of the State Capitol at Raleigh, N. C., April 14, 1865. Brig.-Gen. W. B. Woods presided, and a committee of five was appointed to prepare a plan of organization.

At an adjourned meeting held in the same place on the 25th of April a plan of organization was reported, in which the membership was restricted to officers who had served in the "Old Army of the Tennessee." This was afterward amended to admit into membership the relative of any deceased member to whom such membership should descend by bequest, and in default of such declaration the eldest son should inherit his father's title to enrollment in the Society. Maj.-Gen. John A. Rawlins was elected its first President.

The objects, as set forth in the Constitution, are: "To keep alive and preserve that kindly and cordial feeling, which has been one of the characteristics of this Army during its career in the service, and which has given it such harmony of action, and contributed, in no small degree, to its glorious achievements in our country's cause; the fame and glory of all officers belonging to this army who have fallen, either on the field of battle or in the line of their daily duty, shall be a sacred trust to this Society, which shall cause proper memorials of their services to be collected and preserved, and thus to transmit their names with honor to posterity; the families of all such officers who shall be in indigent circumstances will have a claim upon the generosity of the Society, and will be relieved by the voluntary contributions of its members whenever brought to their attention; in like manner, the suffering families of those officers who may hereafter be stricken by death in the hands of the survivors."

THE SOCIETY OF THE ARMY OF THE OHIO.

This Society was organized at a reunion of the Western Societies held in Chicago, Illinois, December 15, 1868, and Maj.-Gen. John M. Schofield was elected its first President.

On the same occasion the "Society of the Army of Georgia" was formed, of which Maj.-Gen. Henry W. Slocum was chosen President.

THE SOCIETY OF THE ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND.

On the 16th of February, 1868, the organization of this Society was completed at Cincinnati, Ohio, Maj.-Gen. George H. Thomas being elected President.

The Society admits to membership all officers and enlisted men who served in the Army of the Cumberland; its badge, as formally adopted, is very unique, being in part made up of a combination of the corps badges of the 4th, 14th, and 20th Army Corps.

SIGNAL CORPS.

There being no separate and distinct organization of the "Signal Corps," a meeting was called for that purpose in Boston, Mass., in 1867, and on the 14th of November of that year an organization was perfected, with Lieut. J. W. Willard Brown as President. Since 1879 meetings of the Society have been held annually.

SOCIETY OF THE ARMY OF THE JAMES.

This Society was organized in Boston, Mass., September 2, 1865, and Gen. Charles E. Devens was elected its first President. Meetings were held in 1871, 1874, and 1876, when the Society was incorporated with the Army of the Potomac.

SOCIETY OF THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

All who served in the Army of the Potomac, or in the 10th and 18th Corps, Army of the James, are eligible to membership in this Society. It was first organized in New York city on the 5th of July, 1869, with Lieut. Philip H. Sheridan as its first President. Meetings have been held each year since that time, with the exception of 1875. The officers are elected annually, and consist of the following: President; one Vice-President from each of the Army Corps belonging to it, including the 10th and 18th Corps, Army of the James, and one each from the Artillery Corps, Cavalry Corps, Signal Corps, and General Staff, respectively; Treasurer; Recording Secretary, and Corresponding Secretary.

SOCIETY OF THE BURNSIDE EXPEDITION AND THE 9TH CORPS.

This Society was organized in New York city February 8, 1869, and Gen. A. E. Burnside was elected as its first President, which office he filled until his death in 1871, when Vice-President Gen. A. B. R. Sprague filled his position until the next re-union, at which Gen. John F. Parke was made President.

THE SOCIETY OF THE ARMY AND NAVY OF THE GULF.

This Society was made up of officers who had served in the Department of the Gulf, and was instituted at Long Branch, N. J., July 8, 1869. Admiral G. D. Farragut was its first President, holding that position until his death, when Gen. P. H. Sheridan succeeded him.

SOCIETY OF THE ARMY OF WEST VIRGINIA.

The survivors of the Army of West Virginia, organized at Moundsville, W. Va., September 22, 1870, with Gen. R. B. Hayes as President, and have held large and interesting re-unions annually since then.

“THE CINCINNATI SOCIETY OF EX-ARMY AND NAVY OFFICERS.”

This Society was organized in Cincinnati, O., October 2, 1874, and Col. Stanley Matthews was elected its first President.

The object of the Society is: “To preserve the feeling of friendship and cordiality among those who served in our National forces during the struggle for the preservation of the Republic, and also to keep a record of its members.”

Meetings are held quarterly, also annually on the third Thursday in January.

“PENNSYLVANIA RESERVE ASSOCIATION.”

In 1861 Governor Curtin, of Pennsylvania, organized 15 Regiments which were known as “The Pennsylvania Reserve Corps,” anticipating a call for troops to serve three years. These Regiments were engaged in active service from the time of their muster-in until the close of the war. A number of the surviving members met in Philadelphia July 3, 1866, and resolved to form a permanent organization, calling a meeting for that purpose at Lancaster, Pa., September 14, 1866, when they formally organized and elected Gov. A. G. Curtin President.

The object of the Society is: “To cherish the memories, perpetuate the friendships, and continue the associations formed in the field.”

SOCIETY OF THE ARMY OF ARKANSAS.

This Society was organized in the United States Senate Chamber, Washington, D. C., in February, 1888. It has a total membership of about one thousand, derived from service with the troops constituting the Seventh Army Corps, west of the Mississippi, and the Army of the Frontier. Its object is much the same as Army Societies generally.

THE UNION ARMY.

(SUBDIVIDED.)

IN addition to the Signal and Engineer Corps, which were distinct branches of the service, Hancock's Corps, composed of volunteer veterans, Sheridan's Cavalry Corps, Kilpatrick's Division of Cavalry, and Wilson's Cavalry, the Union Army during the war was subdivided into twenty-five Army Corps. These Corps were designated by the badges represented on the opposite page with the exception of the 21st Corps, which never adopted a badge, and the badge of the 13th Corps, which was adopted after the close of the war. These badges were originally stamped out of flannel cloth, and were worn conspicuously on the front of the soldiers' caps. The color of the badge indicated the Corps Division, namely, Red, the 1st Division; White, the 2d Division; Blue, the 3d Division; Orange, the 4th Division; and Green, the 5th Division. The idea of the Corps Badge appears to have originated in Philip Kearny's Division. In 1862, Kearny ordered his officers and men to wear a red patch on their caps, so that he might distinguish them from those of other commands. The Corps Badges were first officially ordered in the spring of 1863, and were immediately adopted by the Army of the Potomac, but in the Western armies they did not appear on the men's caps until 1864. These badges were also painted on the wagons of the Corps, and stenciled on all its articles of public property.

CORPS SUBDIVISIONS.

The various Army Corps were organized, for the most part, with three Divisions, each Division containing three Brigades, and each Brigade consisting of five Regiments, making forty-five Regiments of Infantry in a Corps, to which were added about nine Batteries of Light Artillery. The Infantry Regiments consisted of ten Companies, of one hundred and one men each; the Artillery and Cavalry Regiments consisted of twelve companies, of one hundred and three and one hundred and five men each.

This form of division was adhered to only as a general rule, and was varied at times to meet temporary exigencies. The greatest variation occurred in the Brigades, the depletion, at times, of some Regiments making additional ones necessary to keep up a proper effective strength. Occasionally a Corps would consist of from four to five Divisions, and during the Atlanta Campaign some Brigades of the Fourth and Fourteenth Corps contained as high as nine Regiments. Fifteen hundred men to a regiment was not an uncommon occurrence, but such irregularities were exceptional, and generally proved to be but temporary arrangements.

HOW DESIGNATED.

The Regiments enlisting from each State were numbered from one upward. The Companies of the Infantry Regiments were designated by the letters of the alphabet from A to K; the Companies or Troops of the Cavalry Regiments and the Companies or Batteries of the Artillery Regiments from A to M, the J being omitted in all cases.

OFFICIAL RANK.

The members of an Infantry Company, in the order of their rank, were as follows: Captain, First Lieutenant, Second Lieutenant, Sergeant, Corporal, Musician, Wagoner, and Private. The members of an Artillery Company, in the order of their rank, were the same as the Infantry, with the exception of the Bugler and Artificer. The members of a Cavalry Company were the same as the Infantry, with the exception of the Bugler, Blacksmith, Farrier, and Saddler.

The officers were either commissioned or non-commissioned. The commissioned officers of a Company were Captain, First Lieutenant, and Second Lieutenant.

The officers of an Infantry and Artillery Regiment, in the order of their rank, were Colonel, Lieutenant-Colonel, Major, Adjutant, Quartermaster, Surgeon, Assistant Surgeon, Chaplain, Sergeant-Major, Quartermaster-Sergeant, Commissary Sergeant, Hospital Steward, and Principal Musician. In addition to the above the Cavalry Regiments had a Chief Bugler or Trumpeter, Saddler-Sergeant, and Veterinary Surgeon.

The commissioned Field and Staff Officers of a Regiment were Colonel, Lieutenant-Colonel, Major, Surgeon, Assistant Surgeon, Adjutant, Quartermaster, and Chaplain.

The Corps, Divisions, Brigades, and different armies were commanded by Brigadier and Major-Generals, in the order of their rank and line of promotion.

The entire Union forces were subject to the orders of a Commander-in-Chief, who, in turn, was subservient to the orders of the War Department. Winfield S. Scott was Commander-in-Chief at the time the war broke out. He was succeeded by Gen. Geo. B. McClellan, November 1, 1861; McClellan was succeeded by Gen. H. W. Halleck, July 11, 1862, and Halleck was succeeded by Gen. U. S. Grant, March 9, 1864.

Prior to the restoration of the rank of Lieutenant-General, which was restored on the 26th day of February, 1864, by an act of Congress, Secretary of War Edwin M. Stanton persisted in exercising the power of the War Department to dictate to the Commander-in-Chief the movements of the Union forces. General Grant, when offered the Lieutenant-Generalship, said that he would accept it only on the condition that he should have "absolute control." Mr. Stanton was opposed to giving Grant so much power, but President Lincoln declared that Grant's request should be complied with, thus exercising the President's constitutional power of command over the entire army and navy. General Grant received his commission as Lieutenant-General on the 9th day of March, 1864, and three days later assumed command, relieving Major-General H. W. Halleck.

NAVAL OFFICERS.

The Naval officers, in the order of their rank, were as follows :

Rear-Admiral,	with the rank of Major-General.
Commodore,	“ “ “ Brigadier-General.
Captain,	“ “ “ Colonel.
Commander,	“ “ “ Lieutenant-Colonel.
Lieutenant-Commander,	“ “ “ Major.

PART III.

THE list of the battles and engagements of the late Civil War, beginning on the opposite page, is the only complete compilation of the kind ever published. It not only gives the names and dates of all the battles and engagements recorded at Washington, together with casualties, but the list has been alphabetically arranged, so that it is not necessary to remember the date of the battle or engagement in order to ascertain any particulars concerning it.

Almost any soldier can remember the names of the battles in which he participated, but very few can remember the exact dates, without a knowledge of which it is a very difficult matter to obtain any information from any of the brief battle lists heretofore published, as they have been arranged according to the dates on which the battles occurred, regardless of any alphabetical arrangement.

PART IV.

DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE.

HONORABLE DISCHARGE.

THE majority of the certificates of Honorable Discharge issued by the Government to the Union soldiers have been so defaced by time and wear that to-day they are scarcely legible.

This documentary evidence of the services rendered by the "brave boys in blue" during the dark days of rebellion, suffering, and bloodshed which marked the years from '61 to '65 will increase in value to the soldier's descendants as the years go by. It is but natural, therefore, that sons and daughters of veterans should wish to preserve a copy of this written testimony of their father's loyalty to his country, and that the original should be filed away under lock and key, with other valuable papers, to prevent its being lost or destroyed.

The blank forms immediately following will enable each soldier's family to preserve in book form, for ready reference, an exact copy of the father's honorable discharge.

RECORD OF SERVICE.

The ruled pages beginning with 229 are intended to be filled in with the soldier's personal Record of Service, together with that of his regiment, and such other reminiscences of the civil war as he may desire to hand down to posterity. This feature of the book will be especially valuable to married sons and daughters of veterans.

PART V.

THE EASEL MONUMENT PROJECT.

The picture on the opposite page represents one view of a design for a National Monument, dedicated to the Grand Army of the Republic and Kindred Societies in acknowledgment of the good work accomplished by these organizations toward keeping alive the flame of patriotism which brought victory to the Union Army during that memorable struggle for the preservation of our Union. This monument will be erected to the Brave Boys in Blue, regardless of rank, as the central figure of a group of State monuments. to be styled the Union Soldiers' and Sailors' National Park. It will be temporarily constructed in October, 1898, at Bridgeport, Conn., where it will remain until the location of said Park shall have been determined by the sale of the "Easel Monument Souvenir," as hereinafter explained.

THE DESIGN.

This monument, which is to be built of "White Bronze," will consist of three sides, each of the three sides to represent substantially the appearance of an easel, and the three sides to be practically the same, so that the general view of the monument will be the same when approached from any direction. Hence its name, "The Triangular Easel Monument."

HOW THE FUND IS RAISED.

The funds with which to pay for this monument and the State monuments to surround the same are being raised by the sale of a picture or engraving, entitled "The Triangular Easel Monument" (size 22x30 inches), representing one view of the monument as it will appear when erected, with the exception of the large panel in the center of the shield on which is engrossed, by means of expert penmanship in India Ink, the name and personal Army Record, Regimental Record or a copy of the Honorable Discharge of any soldier desired by the person ordering the picture, instead of the epitaph which will occupy this space on the monument proper; also by the sale of a small colored engraving entitled "The Easel Monument Souvenir" (size 15x20 inches), on which there is merely room sufficient to engross the soldier's name, company, regiment and State, date of enlistment and discharge referring to "Carnahan's Manual of the Civil War," a companion to this style of picture, where ample space is provided for a full and complete Record of Service, a copy of the soldier's Honorable Discharge and such other facts concerning his regiment, reminiscences of the War, etc., etc., as he may desire to hand down to future generations; also by the sale of a third and very popular style of Souvenir or colored engraving, intended for distribution among patriotic citizens of all classes, representing the Easel Monument as it will appear when erected, and engrossed, by expert penmen, in such a way as to make it a unique form of certificate of membership to The Easel Monument Project, recording the name of the subscriber and number of votes to which the holder is entitled in the contest for the location of the Union Soldiers' and Sailors' National Park.

In this way each contributor to The Easel Monument Project gets value received for his money in the way of a beautiful work of art and history combined with a double meaning, namely: a picture of the most unique monument ever designed, and at the same time a certificate showing that the purchaser is a contributor toward the erection of the monument which the picture represents, and mentioning the name of the individual who is to assume the responsibility of handing the Souvenir down to posterity—a Souvenir which will be retained in the family as an heirloom, and one which will have a tendency to awaken an interest, along the line of patriotism, in the minds of the rising and future generations and help them never to forget the debt of gratitude which we, as a Nation, owe to the "Brave Boys in Blue" who on land and sea volunteered their services during that memorable struggle for the preservation of our Union, and early learn to appreciate the sacred meaning of their birth-right of freedom.

LOCATION.

"The Union Soldiers' and Sailors' National Park" will be located in which ever State in the Union the greatest percentage of Easel Monument Souvenir sales is made as compared with its Grand Army membership, in good standing, according to the statistics of 1893 (see "Carnahan's Manual of the Civil War," page 18). Every copy of the Easel Monument picture sold, delivered and paid for, no matter who orders it, counts one vote in favor of the State in which the subscriber lives or lived at the time the order was given. In other words, each contributor will be entitled to as many votes as he orders souvenirs; and inasmuch as the location will depend upon the largest percentage of sales in comparison with the Grand Army strength of the State, a small State will have just as good a chance to secure this park as a large one. For example, we will take the State of Ohio as compared with the State of Rhode Island. For the sake of argument we will say that Ohio has a G. A. R. membership, in good standing, of 50,000, while the membership of Rhode Island is but 3,000. Now according to the plan adopted for deciding the location, if there are 40,000 Souvenirs of the Easel Monument sold in the State of Ohio and 4,000 sold in the State of Rhode Island, Rhode Island would be successful in the contest, because 40,000 sales as compared with a membership of 50,000 is only four-fifths of 100 % or 80 % of the Grand Army strength of the State, while 4,000 sales for the State of Rhode Island as compared with a G. A. R. membership of 3,000 would mean four-thirds of 100 % or 133 $\frac{1}{3}$ %.

A separate record of the names and addresses of the contributors from each State is being kept by the Association, and after each State has been thoroughly and systematically canvassed by counties the vote will be counted by a committee made up of a representative from each State participating in the contest. After it shall have been decided which State is entitled to the Park, all the contributors from that State will be given an opportunity to cast their vote or votes in favor of any city or location of their choice within the State. The greatest number of votes in favor of any place within the limits of the successful State shall decide the exact location.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR THE TRIANGULAR EASEL MONUMENT.

The monument is to consist of three hexagonal columns inclined towards a common center and supporting three shields and twelve statues, each of the three faces of the monument to present, substantially, the appearance of an easel, and the three to be practically the same, so that the general view of the monument will be the same when approached from any of the three sides. The photograph, a reproduction of which appears opposite page 4, shows a general view of one face of the monument, and each face is to be the same, except that one face will show statues of Columbia and History, one face History and Peace, and one face Peace and Columbia; the emblems on the columns are to be selected by J. Worth Carnahan, the author of the design. In round terms, the diameter of the base of each column will be five feet four inches, the length of the shield twenty feet, the width of the shield sixteen feet, and the total height of the monument, including statues, about fifty-three feet.

Material:—The whole monument, including statuary, is to be composed of "White Bronze," excepting the inside frame work to support and strengthen the structure, which will be of iron or steel or both.

Workmanship:—The whole structure is to be substantially and thoroughly built in a workmanlike manner, and all seams and joints to be nicely fitted, and wherever practicable, to be fused together; the inside frame work to be of a heavy and substantial character, so as to give ample strength and support to the structure; the models of the statues of Columbia, History, and Peace, all badges and relief work to be subject, while in clay or plaster, to the approval, in writing, of J. Worth Carnahan or his representative.

Details:—Each of the six faces of the lower part of each column is to have a sunken panel, to receive a badge or emblem of some military organization, designs of which are to be furnished by said Carnahan. Each shield is to have two tablets, the large for inscription, the wording and style of type to be selected by said Carnahan, and the small for a relief scene representing an "Infantry Charge," "Cavalry Charge," and "Naval Engagement." In each corner of the shield is to be a relief scene, entitled respectively, "Good-Bye," "On the Field," "Woman's Work," and "Lessons in Patriotism." In the left panel, on each shield, will appear the badge of the Grand Army of the Republic, and in the right panel the emblem of the National Association of Naval Veterans. At the left of each shield under the arch will stand the statue of the American Soldier, life size, and at the right that of a Sailor. At the top of each shield is a scroll surmounted by the statue of the American Eagle; the inscription on the scroll to be selected by said Carnahan. The three columns, above the shields, representing the three standards of the easel, are to be surmounted by statues of Columbia, History, and Peace respectively, each statue to be four feet six inches in height. Each of the three central columns, above the eagles, is to be surmounted with an ideal statue, representing "The Defense of the American Flag;" the height of this statue, to top of flag-staff, is to be eight feet seven inches. There is to be a covering or roof at the top of the shields, closing the open space between the columns with suitable provision for carrying off water, also a ceiling at the bottom of the shields which will take the nature, as far as practicable, of a groined arch, and will be suitably ornamented on the under side. In this ceiling there will be a removable panel, or man-hole, but this panel will be part of the ornamentation itself, which will be practically the same in each arch.

The above specifications have been somewhat abbreviated, all reference to the drawings and photographs which are attached to the original being omitted. The models of the American Soldier, Sailor, and ideal statue representing the "Defense of the American Flag" have already been approved and accepted.

SURROUNDINGS.

"The Triangular Easel Monument" will be permanently erected in the center of a group of subordinate monuments, representing the different States participating in this patriotic project. We cannot, of course, at this writing, say anything definite as to the designs to be made use of to represent each of these States, as this will in all probability be decided by State committees made up of contributors to the Easel Monument project. The importance of the design representing any one State, however, will depend entirely upon the sale of "The Easel Monument Souvenir" within its limits, as each State, in this way, virtually pays for its own monument. Each State monument will be surmounted by the State's coat-of-arms, so that a visitor to the park need have no difficulty in distinguishing, at a distance, the representative monument of each State.

We think our readers will agree with us when we say that a National Park of this kind where each State is represented by a monument of moderate height, so that the inscription on each can be read from the ground, is preferable in many ways to the expenditure of a vast sum of money toward the erection of a great, high structure which would necessitate the use of a balloon in order to enable one to approach near enough to read with the naked eye some of the inscriptions, or to appreciate the sculptor's art.

GUARANTEE.

The Easel Monument Association was incorporated in February, 1895, under the laws of the State of Illinois, with an authorized capital of $50,000.00, for the express purpose of carrying out the "Easel Monument Project." Said Association has agreed to deposit in the Illinois Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, Ill., to the credit of an account known as "The Easel Monument Fund," all the money accruing from the sale of any style of a pictured representation of a monument to be known as "The Triangular Easel Monument" over and above its actual cost to them, including the expense of the agents selling and delivering the same, until such time as the contract price of the said monument shall have been deposited in said bank to the credit of the said account; after which time the said Association agrees to deposit to the credit of said account 20% of its gross receipts from all subsequent sales of the Record of Service style of said picture, in addition to the entire profit accruing to it on the sale of any of the "Souvenir" styles, said funds to be made use of in the building of a permanent foundation and an appropriate pedestal for the said Triangular Easel Monument, the construction of State Monuments to surround the same, and the beautifying of the grounds.

This means that, until the contract price of "The Triangular Easel Monument" shall have been raised, the running expenses of The Easel Monument Association, such as rent, officers' salaries, advertising, etc., will be paid from money received from its stockholders and not from the funds accruing from the sale of said picture. It further means that, until the said Monument has been paid for, the stockholders of The Easel Monument Association will get no returns whatever for money invested; the inducement held out by the managers of the Association to its stockholders, in order to get them to invest money in the Easel Monument Project, being the prospective profit to the Association from the sale of "The Easel Monument Record of Service" picture, over and above the sale necessary to realize the contract price of the said Monument and the 20% of the gross receipts above mentioned in addition to any profit, which might be realized from the sale of "Carnahan's Manual of the Civil War" as a companion to the "Souvenir" style of the Easel Monument picture.

The capital stock of The Easel Monument Association has all been subscribed for by reliable parties. These stockholders are subject to assessment, from time to time, for the money necessary to pay the running expenses of the Association until "The Triangular Easel Monument" has been paid for. They are also held under private bond to The Monumental Bronze Co. of Bridgeport, Conn., who have the contract for building the Triangular Easel Monument, to insure a deposit to the credit of "The Easel Monument Fund" of not less than fifty cents per copy on the first sixty thousand copies of "The Triangular Easel Monument" picture sold, delivered and paid for, in addition to 20% of the cash receipts on all subsequent sales. And to make assurance doubly sure, the Treasurer of the Association is bonded for the faithful performance of his entire duties by the American Surety Co., the strongest institution of the kind in the world.

The money deposited from time to time, to the credit of "The Easel Monument Fund" account, can be withdrawn only by check or order signed by the president of The Easel Monument Association, the president of The Monumental Bronze Co. and a majority of the following described trustees: T. S. Rogers, late Captain Co. B, 105th Ill., Commander Post No. 468, Aide to Nat. Commander, 1895-96, Downer's Grove, Ill.; P. C. Hayes, late Brig.-General of the Union Army, ex-Congressman Seventh Illinois District, President Joliet Republican, Joliet, Ill.; C. L. Davidson, R. R. Commissioner, Past Dept. Commander G. A. R., and President of State Bank of Hull, Iowa; William Simmons, National Historian and Past Commander of the National Association Naval Veterans, Philadelphia, Pa.; A. P. Davis, founder of "S. of V. U. S. A.," late Captain 11th Me. Inf., breveted Major March 13, 1865, East End, Pittsburg, Pa.; Mrs. Emma R. Wallace, Past National and Department President of the "Woman's Relief Corps," Chicago, Ill.; W. H. Carnahan, Superintendent of the manufacture of the "Triangular Easel Monument" picture, Apollo, Pa.

None of the trustees above described, excepting W. H. Carnahan, are in any way financially interested in this enterprise. They are all well known in Grand Army circles, and as disinterested parties have been chosen by the Association to look into the nature of the security furnished by the Easel Monument Association, to insure the banking of the money above provided for, and to satisfy themselves, in behalf of the people who patronize the Easel Monument enterprise, that the bond to be given by the Monumental Bronze Company, upon payment from "The Easel Monument Fund," is ample security for the proper application of the same.

We cannot, of course, guarantee that sufficient funds will be raised from the sale of the Easel Monument Souvenir to enable us to build a monument to each state, as herein outlined; but as "great oaks from little acorns grow," we can at least plant the acorn, which, in this case, is "The Triangular Easel Monument," relying upon a patriotic people to aid us in carrying the entire project through to completion, if not from the sale of the Easel Monument Souvenir, then by legislation or any other feasible plan which future developments may suggest.
