

LOCAL DYE INDUSTRY

GLENDALE DYE WORKS SHOWS STEADY GAINS IN CUSTOM

During the past eight years the Glendale Dye Works, 116 Elrose St., has been advancing in efficiency and equipment, and in consequence has made a steady gain in customers. Indeed, work has been increasing so much of late that Mrs. H. M. Merrill, the proprietor, has been obliged to employ extra help. This progressive institution is situated on Elrose street, where Mrs. Merrill owns two acres of ground.

Here is ample room for the particular needs of this cleaning and dyeing business, which is a business that everywhere has grown in steady proportion to the increase of the population. There is never any difficulty in having enough to do. In fact, according to Mrs. Merrill, the trouble is to keep from being swamped at one time by a multiplicity of orders.

The Glendale Dye Works stands in the midst of a pleasant grove of fig and other trees. The dye works and cleaning establishment is at the back of the Merrill residence and is supervised by Mrs. Merrill herself. She is the life and soul of the business. Outside the building is a large boiler that furnishes the steam for the cleaning and the power for running the various machines that are used in connection with the establishment.

Inside the cleaning house is found a gasoline cleaner. This is a cylinder washing machine in which the clothes to be cleaned are placed in a perforated inner cylinder and the outside cylinder partly filled with gasoline. The power is then applied by means of a belt and toothed wheel and the revolutions of the cylinder send the gasoline through and through the different articles until every particle of dust and dirt is removed.

After this process has been finished the articles are placed in a centrifugal wringer which speedily throws out the gasoline which is drained off into a receptacle. The clothes are then placed in a huge revolving wheel which still further dries and removes any suspicion of dust from them. They are then hung up in the open air and pass through other processes, being finally taken back to the operating room, where they are mended and pressed. The gasoline after use is placed in a distilling apparatus, redistilled, and used over again and again, with a slight loss each time.

In the cleaning room are the dye vats and every means is at hand for this important work. In the pressing room also we find a small chemical outfit with material for removing refractory spots. In fact, everything is at hand for the proper conduct of a first-class cleaning establishment.

The pressing room also has an apparatus for steam cleaning and this part of the establishment is as effective as the dry cleaning end. Mrs. Merrill says that when she started this business eight years ago gasoline cost seven cents a gallon wholesale; now it costs 19 cents and is apparently to go higher. Dye material also, as is well known, is so high that certain dyes are not obtainable, or if obtainable are not used on account of the enormous price asked for them.

These conditions of course cannot last forever. Meantime the dye works is as busy as it can well be. Agencies are maintained in Glendale and Eagle Rock and the surrounding cities and townships. A great deal of fine fancy work is sent here to be cleaned and the establishment has every convenience for caring for any manner of work. This is an industry of the city that is certain to grow and deserves encouragement.

ECLECTIC ASSOCIATION MEETS

The twentieth annual meeting of the Southern California Eclectic Medical association, of which Dr. H. C. Smith of Glendale is secretary, is held today at Long Beach in conjunction with the regular monthly meeting of the Los Angeles Eclectic medical society. A feature of the meeting is a banquet at noon followed by addresses and discussions by well known physicians of Southern California.

CANTATA BIG SUCCESS

"JOSEPH'S BONDAGE" DRAWS LARGE AUDIENCE AT THE PALACE GRAND

The dramatic cantata, "Joseph's Bondage," given at the Palace Grand Monday evening, drew a good audience. The production is in ten scenes, beginning with the household of Jacob, the Patriarch, in Palestine, and closing with the triumph of Joseph in Egypt, when his father Jacob and his brethren are brought into the presence of the king, Pharaoh.

The various scenes were well worked out and the stage setting entirely in harmony with the program. The costuming and the rendition gave evidence of hard work and keen appreciation of their parts by the participants. The solo and chorus work was very creditably done. Some of the prominent and difficult characters were excellently portrayed. The cantata revealed what can be done, musically, with a large company of amateurs who are willing to give themselves earnestly to a worthy enterprise.

The prominent characters were well selected and their rendition of their parts showed fine appreciation and insight. H. W. Yarik, as Jacob the Patriarch, could hardly be improved upon. The trying situations of Jacob were acted with feeling and voice that were admirable. As Joseph, Ellene Grist was one of the stars of the evening. Voice, gesture, bearing, mood, everything blended to make the character tremendously real. The scene where Joseph was sold into bondage gave Miss Grist excellent opportunity for character interpretation.

King Pharaoh was excellently interpreted by W. H. P. Hayman. Joseph, Ruler of Egypt, was represented by Philip E. Laichinger. Pharaoh and Joseph, the ruler, as principal characters, were splendidly acted. Messrs. Hayman and Laichinger, both in voice and character portrayal gave dignity and power to their parts.

Miss Marian Addison, as Lena, Potiphar's wife, was another star. She has a soprano voice of excellent promise and last night carried her part with great effectiveness. As Potiphar, Will Marple had great opportunities for his fine tenor voice, and he made the most of them. Dr. P. O. Lucas, as Reuben; C. E. Russell, as Judah, Mabel F. Capell, as Zilpah; Winona H. Crawford, as Bilhah; George J. Lyons, as Simeon; Wade Gray, as Chief Baker, carried their parts very effectively. Much credit is due those having the cantata in charge. It was a big success.

A CHALLENGE

Do you believe in capital punishment? Do you believe in the old Mosaic code, an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth? Do you believe that a man-made law is higher than man that it may kill in cold blood and he may not?

These are some of the questions propounded in "The Voice of Conscience," the Alumni play which sees the light for the first time on next Thursday and Friday evenings at the Palace Grand. Speaking for himself and the characters in the play, the author answers in the negative.

"I believe that capital punishment is one of the greatest blots on the statute books, and I have tried to prove my contentions in this play," says the author of the Alumni drama. "Of course there are many who will disagree with me. I hope that they will see the play and get my point of view on the question. If they still believe that I have not proved my case, I am perfectly willing to meet anyone who might take issue with me in a public debate at any place or time he might name. My name is Owen Rhodes. You will find my address in the directory. I'm not hiding from anyone."

DEATH OF ARNOLD BABY

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Arnold of 106 W. Fifth street are mourning the loss of their baby boy, Trueman John, who was taken sick Sunday at noon and died on Monday. The baby had a slight cold which apparently suddenly developed into acute illness. He was six months old. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at noon at the Arnold residence and the interment will be private.

PROHIBITION PARTY

There will be a meeting of Prohibitionists at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock.

PRESIDENT CALLS OUT BORDER MILITIA

MEN OF ARIZONA, NEW MEXICO AND TEXAS ORDERED FOR SERVICE ON MEXICAN FRONTIER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9.—In accordance with President Wilson's authorization Secretary of War Baker requested the calling out of the militia of the States of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas for service on the Mexican border. The secretary made the statement that the recent raid on the Big Bend country had so strongly emphasized the danger of other raids that the border must now be amply patrolled.

BORDER CATTLEMEN CHASE MEXICAN BANDITS

SHERIFF'S POSSE OF CATTLEMEN CROSS BORDER AFTER THE RAIDERS OF GLENN SPRINGS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
MARATHON, Texas, May 9.—Sheriff Walton's posse of cattlemen who responded to the call for men to pursue the Mexican raiders of Glenn Springs, crossed the border Monday night and are now beating up the difficult country into which the bandits retreated. It is stated that some regular troops of cavalry are also in the hunt. Investigation has revealed that ten Americans are missing from the Glenn Springs neighborhood. The body of a Mexican raider was found this morning outside Glenn Springs.

MEXICAN MINISTER ARREDONDO ACCUSES AMERICAN INTERESTS OF INSTIGATING GLENN SPRINGS AFFAIR

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9.—Mexican Minister Designate Arredondo in the course of a conference today with Secretary Lansing made the statement that it was well known to the Mexican authorities that certain American financial interests had instigated the Glenn Springs raid in the hope of bringing on the annexation of Mexico by the United States.

AMERICANS ESCAPE FROM RAIDERS

SEVEN MEN TAKEN AT GLENN SPRINGS OVERPOWER MEXICAN GUARD AND RE-CROSS BORDER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
MARATHON, Texas, May 9.—Seven Americans who were captured by the Mexican raiders in the attack on Glenn Springs were taken by the captors across the border and hurried along into the brush where they were tied up in a hut, and left under guard. They managed to overpower the guard and escaped across the border, taking three of the guards prisoners along with them.

FRENCH DRIVE GERMANS OUT FROM HILL 304

TEUTON FORCES THROWN OUT OF TRENCHES CAPTURED IN SUNDAY'S OFFENSIVE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PARIS, May 9.—Violent German attacks on Hill 304 have been repulsed today. The Germans advancing in increased numbers and in massed formation were slaughtered by the effective machine gun fire. The official account of the operations state that the Teutons lost enormously and that the French completely took the Germans back by the destructiveness of their fire. The Germans were also thrown out of the trenches west of Triamont, which they had succeeded in occupying during Sunday's offensive.

SUBMARINED LINER SINKS OFF IRELAND

WHITE STAR STEAMER CYMRIC LOSES FIVE OFFICERS AND 107 OF CREW

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LONDON, May 9.—The White Star liner Cymric, which was torpedoed by a German submarine Monday, sank at 3 a. m. this morning while attempting to reach the Irish coast. Five officers and 107 of the crew perished. News of the final sinking of the vessel was telegraphed to Lloyds. Several steamers are on their way to rescue the rest of the passengers and crew, who are supposed to be in small boats.

JONES AND EVANS WIN

SUPERIOR COURT RENDERS VERDICT AGAINST LOS ANGELES SUPERVISORS

Big verdict against Supervisors of Los Angeles County, a verdict in favor of the widow and heirs of Geo. I. Ham in the sum of $18,330.00, was rendered in Department 15 of the Superior Court at 12:30 this morning against R. W. Pridham, W. E. Hinshaw, R. H. Norton and C. D. Manning, and their bondsmen, supervisors of Los Angeles County, for damages growing out of the death of Mr. Ham on April 12th, 1914, near Whittier. A bridge on the road from Puente to Whittier was washed out during the big floods in February, 1914, and on the night of April 12 thereafter, Mr. Ham in company with Mr. Harry Church-Hill Elder were driving from Puente to Whittier, not knowing the bridge was out they drove over the end and fell directly into the river below, a distance of about 20 feet, the machine turning upside down and pinning Mr. Ham and Mr. Elder to the bed of the river under some three feet of water. Their bodies were found the next morning.

The trial of the case against the supervisors has been in progress for nearly 3 weeks and has occasioned unusual interest, by reason of the prominence of the parties and the holding of the trial court that there was no duty or obligation on the part of the supervisors to cause barriers, lights, or warnings to be placed on the bridge for the protection of the traveling public.

The verdict is based entirely on the ground that the above named members of the Board of Supervisors had actual knowledge of the bridge being out for more than 40 days and that they had reasonable time to repair the same, which they failed to do.

Mr. Ham was a prominent banker of Mexico City until a short time before his untimely death. He went to Mexico about 20 years ago, a young man, with $100.00. At the breaking out of the rebellion there a few years ago he was worth more than one million dollars. He was thrown into prison by one of the warring factions, and his immense fortune forfeited to the republic. When Madero became president he was released from prison and came to Whittier with his family.

Mr. Elder belonged to a prominent family of the county, and was the youngest brother of young Church-Hill Harvey Elder, who lost his life in the blowing up of the Times building in 1910.

GUILD MEETING

The Altar Guild of St. Mark's church met on Monday at the home of Mrs. Phillips, for the year's report, appointing of new members, with other business of importance. Mrs. Morris still continues president emeritus, Mrs. Phillips was re-elected president. Following the business meeting an hour of social conversation was enjoyed while Miss Catherine Phillips served a delicious collation.

AUTO TURNED OVER

What might have been a very serious accident but fortunately turned out to be of a minor nature as far as those injured were concerned happened while Mr. and Mrs. Shepard of Redlands were motoring to Glendale to pay a visit to their son, Mr. A. R. Shepard, of 1557 Burchett street, Sunday afternoon. The accident happened when the auto was still some distance from Glendale. The steering wheel of the auto became loose and while negotiating a turn in the road was torn violently from the hands of Mr. Shepard. The auto then capsized and Mr. and Mrs. Shepard were thrown out, sustaining injuries more painful than dangerous.

Fortunately for the injured people another auto containing a friend of theirs from Redlands was following them. This friend picked them up and brought them to their son's house, where a bad scalp wound on Mr. Shepard's head was dressed and Mrs. Shepard's hurts attended to. Mr. Shepard was quite ill for a number of hours, but on Monday morning had recovered considerably. Mrs. Shepard was badly shaken but not so seriously injured.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Wednesday; westerly winds.

TRUSTEES' MEETING

DR. BRYANT AND OTHERS PRESENT NEEDS OF LIBRARY—PETERS ASKS PERMIT

The regular meeting of the board of trustees of the City of Glendale was held in the city hall, Monday evening, May 8, 1916, there being present J. S. Thompson, president of the board, and Trustees Chas. Grist, R. M. Jackson, F. L. Muhleman and Geo. Woodberry. Also present T. W. Watson, city manager; J. C. Sherer, city clerk; W. E. Evans, city attorney; H. B. Lynch, manager public service department; Wm. Althouse, assistant city engineer; J. M. Banker, building inspector; G. H. Herald, city marshal; A. H. Lankford, fire marshal.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

A communication was read from the building inspector making an application on behalf of George Peters, whose signature was also attached, for a permit to establish an oil supply station at the corner of Central avenue and Colorado street. In reference to this application, the city manager recommended that action be postponed for one week; the recommendation being informally agreed to.

Dr. A. L. Bryant as chairman of the Library board addressed the meeting in reference to library affairs, stating that the patronage of the library has increased so rapidly and to such an extent that the financial condition is not satisfactory. He presented figures showing expenses and receipts, the total monthly expense for the past nine months averaging $410.00, of which sum only $135.00 represents the salaries paid four employees.

Mrs. Danford, the Librarian, spoke on the subject, telling of the work and of the needs of the library.

Mr. White of the Grammar School addressed the meeting in reference to the same subject, stating that the work of the library is of great value in connection with the schools.

Mrs. Bartlett, president of the Tuesday Afternoon club, also spoke, giving testimony as to the value of the library, particularly to the young people of Glendale.

Mrs. Hutchinson of the Parent-Teacher association spoke briefly along the same lines.

Mr. Davis and Dr. Daugherty, both residents and property owners on Central avenue, spoke in reference to the application of Mr. Peters for permit to establish a gasoline supply station on that street at the corner of Colorado street, both considering such establishment detrimental to all the property in the immediate neighborhood, objecting to it accordingly.

The city manager reported in reference to the application of Mr. Andrews for a permit to establish gasoline supply station on Colorado St. east of Verdugo Road, that no objection had been heard as against the proposition on the part of the people in the neighborhood, and as it would not be a menace on account of fire there seemed to be no reason why the permit should not be granted. On motion of Trustee Jackson, the permit was granted.

The city manager brought up the matter of band concerts which are to begin in June and desired the board to decide as to where the concerts shall be given. On motion of Trustee Grist, it was ordered that the concerts be held alternately and weekly at the city hall and at the corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway during the season.

The city manager reported that in regard to Orange Grove avenue opening, there are still a few signatures to be secured, correcting those which had been improperly signed. He reported that the work of getting data for the lot cleaning campaign will begin at once.

The manager reported the necessity of putting new tires on the fire engine and recommended securing new cushion tires as being an improvement on the pneumatic tires now in use. On motion of Trustee Grist, the matter was referred to the Supply committee and the city manager to make a report at the next meeting.

The city manager also called attention of the board to defective hose bought from the United States Rubber company, which concern refuses to make good its guarantee on about 750 feet of hose. On motion of Trustee Grist, the matter was referred to the city attorney with power to act.

Marshal Herald recommended that Mr. L. K. Williams be appointed special police officer at a salary of $2.50 per day for the purpose of looking after the unlicensed dogs. Upon motion of Trustee Grist, the appointment was made in accordance with

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, MAY 9, 1916

SCHOLASTIC INTEREST IN SOCIAL WORK

Long past are the days when a college professor was represented to the mind of the average citizen by a half-blind, anemic and inept individual with a mind poring on entomological or historical data and unfit for the common duties of common life. If one wants a type of a thoroughly alive American he can find the very best development of the type in President Wilson, whom some sneer at as a "dominie;" but whose handling of the exceptionally difficult international problems that have racked the world during the past three years have gained him the respect of even those who differ from him in politics. The college professor and the college president are in these days men alert to all outside influences and alive to the serious problems of the hour.

It was noticeable that among those who attended the recent California State Conference of Social Agencies, held in Los Angeles, a large number of the 1500 delegates from all parts of the United States were from the universities and colleges. Dr. R. D. Hunt, head of the department of Economics in the University of Southern California, was chairman of the program committee and brought together the famous speakers who attended from all parts of the United States.

Dr. E. S. Bogardus, head of the Sociology department, was chairman of the important division of "Education for Social Work." Prof. Ralph La Porte, director of Physical Education at the same university, spoke on "Recreation in State Institutions," and Prof. Forbes Lindsay had as his topic "The Influence of Life and Accident Insurance Companies on the Public Health." The Rev. George Kenngott, a member of the faculty, spoke on "The Church as a Reservoir of Power for Social Salvation."

It will be seen at once that these are all live subjects and that the men who spoke on them in this nationally representative gathering must have been authorities on these topics. President Taft is now lecturing on law in one of the eastern universities. The positions of president of the United States and professor in a university are thus interchangeable with advantage. This is as it should be. Education must be practical or it avails little in these modern days. The world has no time for those who cannot apply in some way or the other the knowledge they have spent years to obtain.

LATEST MEXICAN OUTRAGE

There is nothing in the latest Mexican outrage that is different from the attack on Columbus, N. M., with the exception of the manifest intention of embroiling the United States and Mexico. If it was right in view of the first outrage to enter Mexican territory and to seek to capture Villa it is right to send more troops into that country to seek these latest violators of the United States border.

It must at the same time be manifest to everyone that these repeated outrages which go largely unpunished are likely to bring the name of the United States into contempt on the Mexican border, where Obregon has 40,000 troops massed along different points as a setoff to the 25,000 the United States has been able to send into that country. The Mexican, like any other unreasoning being, who is only impressed by force and by the "mailed fist," is being brought up to believe that the United States is afraid of Mexico and that it is perfectly safe to insult and murder Americans and destroy American property; to invade American territory, burn towns and shoot women and children.

That such is the idea that is dominant in the Mexican brigands' mind is easily seen in the fact that they conceived and executed this latest outrage in Texas. The contempt for American power shown in the raid is amazing. With American troops on Mexican soil the bandit must have had some higher inspiration than his own that urged him to make this attack on American territory. It is likely that in future something may come to light regarding the forces and powers at work in Mexico to urge on these bandits as a great many of their acts on American soil seem to savor more of the wanton deeds of irresponsible children than of out-and-out bandits determined to get spoil and to shed blood.

There are, unfortunately, a great many moneyed syndicates that own property in Mexico, having acquired large tracts of land without any adequate compensation to the Mexican government or people, who finding, since the ousting and death of Diaz, that their reign of profit is greatly endangered, are anxious to get the American government to intervene. Whether or not these syndicates would go the length of instigating raids on the United States for their own purposes, as is frequently alleged, can only be determined after careful inquiry and investigation.

Again it is alleged and certain proofs have recently been said to have been found of foreign influence in Mexico which has aided in stirring up troubles with the United States for selfish ends. How far some nations are involved in this affair is a matter for the United States itself to determine. There has doubtless been a great deal of German and Japanese activity in the southern republic, but it would be difficult to discover just how far either of these nations has gone or exactly what their intentions are.

With all these difficulties surrounding his dealings with the Mexican situation President Wilson acts wisely in not permitting himself to be stampeded into any rash action. If outside nations are anxious to embroil this country with Mexico for their own ends then the United States should avoid such embroilment.

Meanwhile it would surely be the work of wisdom to train and arm a citizen army such as that which keeps the republic of Switzerland secure and at the same time avoids even the suspicion of militarism. Another raid or two and it will possibly be impossible to keep the border States from arming and going to fight for their own protection.

FESTIVAL TO BE HELD

TROPICO TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY OPENING OF PLAYGROUND

Tropico looks back with pleasure to the successful inauguration of the Magnolia Street School playground, May 15, 1915. On that occasion the Tropico Playground association arranged a program of games, dinner and other features and a very interesting patriotic celebration served to introduce the public to the grounds.

Arrangements are now being made to have a similar celebration on the anniversary of the opening, May 15, 1916. The committee which has this affair in charge is composed of those interested in child life. They are drawn from each organization, school and church in Tropico. This committee has met often and its members are still busy getting everything ready for the celebration. This year the program is expected to be of even greater interest than that of last year.

Improvements have been made in the playground that are quite noticeable. A fine cement tennis court now affords a great attraction to the young people. The flowers and vines planted last year have grown wonderfully under the loving care and nurture of the pupils. The Tropico band is working with the committee and everyone is urged to come for the afternoon program of dinner, music and dancing.

In the evening a pleasing carnival will be held and with the experience of last year this should prove a most attractive feature. As on the former occasion Miss Frances Richardson will act as Flag lady and will give the ever-new story of "Old Glory." Baseball, a Maypole, readings, songs, croquet, and all the usual children's amusements will be in full swing this year. The grandstand will afford ample accommodation for those who desire to take advantage of it. Candy, popcorn and peanuts will be sold and there will be a Campfire supper free for the children.

Principal Kennedy, supervisor of play during the summer, was a great success in that office and his excellent and skilled services may be available again. Miss Regina Bacon was supervisor of play after school resumed in September. She has accomplished wonders in that service, being full of the spirit of joy and enthusiasm. She is one of those ideal play leaders who are born, not made. All this has brought the Tropico playground service to the opening of another year with a reputation for successful service that is profoundly realized by the community, which will doubtless express its sense of all that has been accomplished at the anniversary festival of May 15.—Ella W. RICHARDSON, One of the Committee.

CANADIAN SOCIETY

There are many of the former residents of the far away Canadian provinces here in this Southland and it is fitting and natural for them to meet in monthly social reunion and tell of the old home scenes and doings. Each month the Canadians are all invited to gather in the I. O. F. hall at 246 S. Hill street, Los Angeles.

The meeting this time will be held the 16th of May and all the Canadians and their friends will be welcome. There are many from Canada in our own city and they are sure to meet people from the home province. There is always a popular program, music, readings, recitations and addresses followed by dancing and refreshments.

Much is made of the social side of the meetings and the reunions with old friends is a main part of all the gatherings.

WIND POWER

Experiments are being carried on by inventive geniuses all over the world with a view to utilizing the wind to better advantage for producing electric power.

One machine recently perfected is in the shape of a horizontal windmill with the vanes so shaped that nine-tenths of them utilize the force of the air currents, no matter from what direction the wind is blowing.

Germany's renewed attack on the French lines at Verdun is a piece of strategy that is not difficult to understand in the light of the facts that are known. Bit by bit Great Britain and Russia have been constructing armies that are now almost ready to take the field. Russia has been sending part of her men to France to aid in the Verdun defense. Britain has 5,000,000 in arms and means by general conscription to keep that army up to that standard. By the time these additional troops come into the field Germany, already on the wane as far as her drafts of men are concerned, will feel the strain of having for the first time in the war to face a foe that is her equal in numbers. In order to offset the coming advantage which the allies hope to possess the Teutons are determined to make one last effort to break through at Verdun. It is impossible to refuse admiration to the undaunted courage that persists in sending masses of men to certain death and the stubborn resolve that persists in this objective. The Teutons are brave to a fault. That they will succeed in their endeavor, however, is not likely. It is interesting in this regard to read the letter sent from the scarred and pitted fields of Verdun, by a Glendale man, a French soldier, published in this issue. It is easy to see why the Germans have failed to take Verdun.

Born to Dr. and Mrs. C. Stuart Steelman, 1104 W. Seventh street, on Monday, May 8, a 7-lb daughter.

Mrs. Putnam of Topeka, Kansas, who has been touring the coast with the Washburn Glee club, was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lusby last week.

Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Lusby were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Lusby, 124 S. Jackson, Monday evening, the occasion being the birthday of Mr. C. D. Lusby. The table was centered by a low bowl of pink roses and the handsome birthday cake and the ice cream were in the same delicate shade.

REV. W. E. EDMONDS TELLS OF THOSE WHO REJECT CHRIST

Continuing the studies on "The Second Coming of Christ," the Rev. W. E. Edmonds brought the lesson of the judgment of the cross Monday evening at the Presbyterian church. The Bible plainly reveals the fact of seven judgments. Four of these judgments are past, the judgment of Eden, of the world in the flood, the temporary rejection of Israel and the question of sin on the cross.

There are yet to come the judgment of the works of the believer, the living nations at the return of Christ, and the wicked dead at the "Great White Throne." There is no condemnation for those who are in Jesus Christ. The sin question was settled for them on calvary. There must be a judgment for men who spurn God's love, refuse his mercy and reject his son Jesus Christ. The cross was God's judgment of sin, he could not be just and justify the ungodly, so he gave his son as the propitiation for all who will accept him.

Some may say God is love and in his love he could not condemn any one of his creatures. True, God is love; but he is also just, and there is no mercy indeed there cannot be. God's love made a way of escape for the man under condemnation. Man is free to choose or reject that way. Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap. Unbelief is the greatest sin in the world, and the unbelievers are already come unto judgment. "For he that believeth not is condemned already."

"So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation." and living in the judgment of the works of the believer.

Large plans are being made for the Bible Study Conference for the first four days of June. The public is invited.

MASONS TO LAY CORNERSTONE

For the first time in the history of the Masonic fraternity in California, the affiliated bodies of this organization will all be convened together, and will participate in the exercises of cornerstone laying for the Masonic Home for Children at Covina, on the afternoon of Saturday, May 20. The official announcement sent out by the Grand Lodge of California, states that the following organizations will take part on the program:

The Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of California, Elmer E. Stone, Right Eminent Grand Commander, escorted by Los Angeles Commandery, No. 9; Pasadena Commandery, No. 31; Pomona Commandery, No. 31; Pomona Commandery, No. 37; Long Beach Commandery, No. 40; Golden West Commandery, No. 43; Alhambra Commandery, No. 48; Covina Commandery, No. 48; Whittier Commandery, No. 51; Glendale Commandery, No. 53.

Perry Winslow Weidner, Sovereign Grand Inspector General, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite for Southern California and Arizona, escorted by Los Angeles Consistory No. 3.

The Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of California, Casimir Jackson Wood, Most Excellent Grand High Priest.

The Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of California, Robert Hewitt DeWitt, Most Illustrious Grand Master.

The Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of the Jurisdiction of California, Francis Valentine Keesling, Right Worshipful Deputy Grand Master.

The parade will form on Citrus avenue in Covina at 1:30 in the afternoon, and will proceed up Badillo avenue to the site where now there are temporary buildings housing the children of Masonic Brothers. Here the cornerstone for buildings to cost about $100,000 will be laid at 3 o'clock. Golden West Commandery band of San Francisco will lead the parade, with other bands, commanderies and organizations following. Special trains will be run on the Pacific Electric San Bernardino line. It is estimated by the committee that 2,500 Masons will be in line on that occasion.

FIFTH SINGLE TAX MEETING

To satisfy the demand for a larger place in which to hold these meetings, the next one will be held in the West Glendale school building, May 18, at 7:30, and as usual a general discussion will follow the chief speaker's address. Mr. Chas. James has consented to speak at this meeting. All cordially invited.

GOSSIP!

One of Glendale's oldest residents related an interesting story to some friends today. He said: "Several years ago while waiting at the P. E. depot a certain city official approached Judge Miller (who was then City Marshal) and stated that Tom Watson said that Ezra Parker and Jack Hunchberger heard Claud Pulliam tell Howard Walker in the presence of Tom Doyle and Frank Woodbeck that Dr. Rudy said that George Melford told Dick Clements and John Lawson that Prof. Polly phoned to Fred Deal that Harry Chase really stated to Charley Peckham that George Woodberry told Tom Ogg and Steve Packer that Chas. Grist heard Doty Anderson tell Arthur Chappel that before Ray Sherman was married he heard O. A. Lane tell either Dave Carney or Lou Morehouse that Warren Story told John Usilton to his face that Will Goss and Roy Kent heard Mrs. Gaylord say that certain members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club had accused J. N. McGillis of selling groceries at from 10 to 15 per cent lower than any store in Glendale, and that as he had saved the people of Glendale from $15.00 to $25.00 per day for all these years that the economical Housekeepers of Glendale owe it to themselves to continue to patronize the store that has saved them so many dollars." GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

The Mothers' reading circle that meets every Wednesday at the residence of Mrs. C. H. Toll, Kenneth road, has now thirty-five members and there is every prospect of further increase. During the summer months the circle will hold its readings under the trees on the spacious grounds at the Toll residence. The mothers who bring their children with them are finding this a pleasant and profitable gathering and their little ones are benefiting greatly by the outing. There is ample room for them to tumble about in the shade. The meetings will be continued all summer, even when Mrs. Toll and her family are gone on a vacation. Provision will be made for the continuance of the circle and the grounds will be open as usual. The auto now meets the car that leaves Broadway and Brand at 10:30, when it reaches the end of the line. The circle is now studying "Love and Law in Child Training" by Emilie Poulsson.

Mrs. Ann Etta Maier, instructor in piano with the Egan Dramatic school; Mrs. Clingen and Mr. Robinson, also of the same school, and Mr. Hassa of Los Angeles, were guests at tea, Sunday afternoon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell, Kenneth road.

Miss Edith Tyler, 205 N. Maryland avenue, is entertaining as her house guest Mrs. James of Los Angeles.

Fifty Native Sons of Los Angeles enjoyed a splendid banquet and entertainment at Casa Verdugo, Monday night.

A COMPROMISE

In every play there is the small part as well as the large part, and the new Alumni play, the "Voice of Conscience," which is to be given May 11 and 12 at the Palace Grand, proves no exception. (Altho' it is an exceptional play).

The young actors did not complain when Mr. Marks gave some big parts and others not so large—but still it seemed hardly fair when there was so much talent going unappreciated.

At last a brilliant idea! Those with little parts were to have the biggest pictures out in front of the show while those with lots of lines were to have very small ones. So it stands (the pictures) with the exception of Lawrence Lawson, and he has both. Perhaps that is because Mr. Lawson has been the only one that has come to every rehearsal called.

FREE WORK BUREAU

PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT SECTION OF STATE OF CALIFORNIA IN LOS ANGELES

Glendale cannot fail to be interested in the work done by the Public Employment Bureau of the State of California, which is being brought to the attention of the merchants and business men of this city at present by Mr. E. H. Hancock, who is in charge of the field work for the branch office in Los Angeles. The men's department of the Los Angeles bureau is to be found at 206 Franklin street, and the Women's department at 207 S. Broadway.

This bureau is working in co-operation with the Municipal Employment office. It furnishes help of all kinds and does so without making any charge to employers or employees. During the past year the Los Angeles office furnished more than 10,000 men and women help of all kinds without charging any fee on either side. The commercial agencies, on the other hand, managed to extract at least $100,000 from the pockets of applicants for positions and, it is estimated that throughout the State at least $500,000 was collected from those looking for positions.

Believing that this sum is entirely too much for those out of work to pay for a service that should be free the State of California instituted the bureaus that are superintending this work of bringing employer and employee into touch with each other. The help furnished by this bureau are all people who are anxious to work. Many of them are of the highest and do credit to themselves and to the bureau. There are three classes of unemployed with which the bureau comes in contact: Those who are able to work but cannot find employment; those who are able to work but will not; those who are partly or wholly unable to work. The bureau is primarily interested only in the first class.

This bureau is not a charitable institution. It is maintained by the State and is in co-operation with the bureau maintained by the city and is on the same economical basis as the public schools. The State Bureau in Los Angeles was opened in February.

This feature of State government was conceived and introduced by John P. Laughlin, labor commissioner of San Francisco. It is accomplishing a great deal of excellent work. The Los Angeles district is in charge of Harry Donahue, who was formerly superintendent of the Los Angeles city bureau.

It is the belief of those who are interested in this work that ultimately the State and municipal bureaus will supersede the private agencies. The private agencies manage to obtain about $2.04 per position while through this bureau positions cost nothing. Service equally good, and in many cases better can be obtained from the bureau. The bureau is no refuge for unemployables or near unemployables seeking not work but charity.

It is to bring the real nature of the work being done by this bureau before the employers of Glendale that Mr. E. H. Hancock is making a canvass of this city. His long experience in Los Angeles as a newspaperman has given him a thorough knowledge of conditions in the labor market and he will be able to present the work of the bureau to the business men of Glendale in an attractive and profitable manner.

QUOIT TOURNAMENT

At the meeting of the Glendale Horseshoe club, I. G. Gould, Glenn Porter, Mr. Blachley and Mr. Head were elected to represent the Glendale club in the tournament to be held in Compton Friday, May 12th. We have every reason to believe that our "boys" will "bring home the bacon" as the local club has defeated most of the Southern California clubs and are tied with Pomona and Long Beach for first place. Each of the eight clubs in Southern California will be represented by four of their best pitchers and the contest at Compton will no doubt be very interesting.

CITIES ADOPT CHEVROLET

Because the Chevrolet motor cars are safe, reliable, speedy and durable, many fire departments and other city departments throughout the United States are adopting them to replace heavy cars not so dependable and with a much heavier upkeep expense.

One of the first city departments to adopt the Chevrolet is the fire department of Buffalo, N. Y. This department has been using 12 cars and has found them reliable in every instance.

Writing to the Chevrolet Motor Co. of California the fire commissioners of Buffalo have sent the following letter to be used as a recommendation for the Chevrolet car: "Buffalo, N. Y.

To Whom It May Concern: There are in use in this department 12 Chevrolet runabout (H-2 1/2) type motor cars, and we have found them extremely satisfactory.

In addition to the excellent service of the cars, we desire to recommend the great and prompt attention with which the Chevrolet factories have seen that these cars have not been held up for parts or supplies when emergency required. (Signed) SIMON SEIBERT, E. C. BURGARD, WM. PERSON, Fire Commissioners."

The Chevrolet factory now being constructed at Oakland at a cost exceeding $1,000,000 will be in actual operation by midsummer, employing more than 500 men and turning out the best medium priced car ever placed on the automobile market of the entire world.

EQUAL RIGHT TO USE THE EARTH

The fourth meeting to discuss the practicability of this principle was held at the home of Miss Edith Tyler last evening and was well attended. Mr. Chas. James, Secretary of the Los Angeles Single Tax League, was the speaker of the evening, and presented the central idea of the single tax plan, which is carrying Moses' commands to the Israelites up to date.

Mr. Alex. Mitchell, Mr. J. W. Durham and others took part in the discussion and all signed the petition to get a single-tax measure on the ballot next fall and a number took petitions to get signers. All cordially invited.

HIS OWN VALET

King Alfonso is very fond of taking long motor trips incognito. Not long ago he motored through a wild region of Castile, putting up at a modest inn.

As he surmised, they did not know him and of course he was treated like the ordinary traveler—so much so, in fact, that when he went to shave the following morning and did not find a mirror in his room, the chambermaid brought him a broken piece of mirror which he took outside and set up against the wall, finding the light there more to his liking. The girl chatted with him while he shaved, finally saying: "You are not just an ordinary traveler, are you?"

"Why do you ask me that?" "I don't know. There's something about you—perhaps you belong to the royal court at Madrid?" "Yes, I do," he answered. "Perhaps you work for His Majesty himself?" "Yes, I do." "And what do you do for him?" she questioned. "Oh, lots of things," the king replied. "I'm shaving him just now." —The Country Gentleman.

BETTER HOMES FOR TEACHERS

The United States Bureau of Education has discovered that young men and women entering the teaching profession do not readily accept positions in country schools because of the conditions of home life for them that have prevailed. Thus the country schools have not always been able to secure the kind of teachers wanted.

To remedy the situation the bureau has prepared a bulletin describing a movement for teachers' homes in rural districts. It is proposed to have teachers' cottages erected by the community, near the school-houses, to be used not only as homes, but also as centers for the community.

There are more than 200,000 rural school districts in the United States and more than 16,000,000 children of school age who live in country towns of less than 2,500 population.

Under the prevailing system the teacher is often given a cold room in the farmhouse where she is stopping, with no place to do her work in the evening except in the family living room where, owing to the presence of so many others, it is impossible to study or make out reports accurately. It is decidedly discouraging to good teachers. In almost all the states the teachers' cottages have been tried with fine success, especially in the state of Washington, where the plan was first fostered by Mrs. Josephine Preston, state superintendent of public instruction.

CIVILIZATION BUILDER

Northern Minnesota furnishes an instance of what a young woman can do toward civilization building. A few years ago when Annie Shalanda migrated to Minnesota from an Eastern State to take up a claim, she was an invalid, who had been forced to adopt an outdoor life for her health. She found so much to do for people about her for miles, that she soon forgot her invalidism.

Three years after becoming a citizen of one of the northern counties she was elected school superintendent, in a district that had twenty schools. Seeing that better roads were necessary if the pupils were to reach the schools, she appealed to business men and voters, with the result that a bill was passed by the legislature, giving help to the county in road-building.

At present she has forty-eight schools in her district, several of them modeled after the best consolidated schools in the country. They are scattered over an area of more than 3,000 square miles. In visiting the schools, sometimes she rides a horse, but frequently she has to walk or paddle a canoe.

PLANTING WITH DYNAMITE

A recent novel experiment for planting trees with dynamite is reported by the Scientific American. There was an apple orchard of 4000 trees to be planted, and as winter was approaching no time could be lost, lest a sudden turn of temperature should freeze the ground.

The man who undertook the work first mounted a two and one-half horsepower gasoline engine on the running gear of a light farm wagon, and arranged it to operate a soil auger. With this outfit two men were able to put down as many holes in a day as thirty men could have made with a bar and sledge.

In these holes light charges of dynamite were exploded to form an excavation in which to plant the trees, a number of holes being fired at a time. The planting was done in less than fifteen days.

DATES GROWN IN AMERICA

The date tree is a fair representative of a new industry in this country, which is being introduced in the desert country of the southwest. For the last five years the acreage has been spreading rapidly.

The credit for the introduction of this profitable culture is due to the long-continued experiments of the United States government with stock brought from Egypt and Persia.

On the new date ranches seeds are first planted, one thousand to the acre. As the plants develop the poorest are weeded out. This process continues till the grown trees are about thirty feet apart. A date field makes a beautiful sight in the desert lands; the long fronds almost meet between the trees, yielding a delightful shade.

The products of the ranches find a ready market in this country; in fact the demand often exceeds the supply.

OKLAHOMA OSTRICH RANCH

Last fall the owner of the "101 ranch," near Ponca City, Oklahoma, brought a flock of ostriches from California and placed them on the ranch as an experiment in ostrich raising in Oklahoma. It proved successful. The ostriches commenced laying in March.

There are at present fifty ostriches on the ranch. The eggs will be placed in an incubator. Six weeks is the time for hatching. The experience has been that it requires little more care to raise ostriches than turkeys.

The birds are kept in a large barn during the winter. They are fed on grain and alfalfa hay. During the summer months they are turned out in a large pasture and require no extra care or feeding.

The plumes or feathers are a source of considerable revenue, and pay well for the trouble of raising. The ostriches on the "101 ranch" produce on the average from seventy-five to one hundred dollars worth of feathers a year. The eggs are said to be good eating, one being sufficient to make a meal for a family, but they are too valuable, of course, for frequent use in that way.

One ostrich egg weighs about as much as eighteen hens' eggs. Heretofore it was thought that a climate like that of Oklahoma would not agree with ostriches.

A GYMNASTIC FEAT

Take a long stick, such as one of the larger kinds of broomsticks and place one end of it in the angle caused by the wall and the floor. Then, holding the other end, pass your body under the stick between your hands and the floor. The problem is to do this without letting go of the stick, and without removing its end from the angle where it is fixed.

Those who do not know the trick will invariably stand facing the wall, but if an attempt is made to pass under the stick in this position, the performer will over balance himself. The correct attitude for those who wish to be successful is to have the back to the wall, the feet and the bottom of the stick forming an isosceles triangle. Then, grasping the stick firmly, and using the lower end as a pivot, it will be quite easy to go under and bring the head and shoulders up again on the opposite side without losing the balance.

This makes an excellent trick for an indoor gathering or a garden party, says My Magazine. The stick used must not be so thick that it cannot be grasped firmly, nor must it be so thin that it will easily break.

A PAPER MILK BOTTLE

People have tried for several years to perfect a single-service container for milk and cream that could profitably be used by the dairymen, says the New York Sun. The first container of this kind that promises to prove a commercial success is now on the market. It has been tried by one of the large metropolitan dairies, which, after putting out more than 30,000 of the containers, reports that the result is satisfactory.

This bottle is made of pure white sulphite paper of the best quality and is paraffined after it is shaped. It is conical, with the top pressed together and closed with a positive metal seal which makes it impossible to tamper with the container or open it, without destroying the package for further use. No glue or other adhesive material enters into its manufacture.

The bottle is made of two pieces of paper. One circular piece forms the bottom, the other one is a quadrilateral piece which forms the cone. This cone is sealed or fastened with a metal strip running the full length of the bottle. The objection advanced by many housewives that they are unable to see the cream line on the milk through the single-service bottles heretofore tried out is overcome in this package as it is translucent and the cream line is plainly visible.

TIMBALE CASES

Creamed chicken, sweetbreads, and similar luncheon dishes are more attractive when served in timbale cases, or small pastry cups. These may be purchased at some bakery shops, but are quite easily made at home. Beat two eggs slightly and add them to one cup of milk. Sift one cup of flour and a quarter teaspoon of salt together. Add enough of the egg and milk to make a batter that can be beaten smooth and velvety; then add the rest of the liquid. Fry with a timbale iron in deep fat. The best iron for this purpose is the hollow one which fills with the hot mixture and cooks from the inside as well as the outside. When frying turn the timbale batter into a cup, lower the hot iron into the cup so that the batter comes within a half inch of the top; then remove quickly and immerse in the hot fat. When crisp and brown, remove from the fat, turn the iron upside down to drain, then slip from the iron on to brown paper. Turn over and drain the inside. If the cases are soft, rather than crisp, the batter is too thick and should be diluted with milk.

THE SILVER RIVET

The old-time cornerstone laying is practically a thing of the past with great modern buildings, for with them such a stone has lost its significance, as the weight is carried by the steel structure, and stones and brick are merely the outer clothing.

Cornerstone laying is being displaced by the driving of the silver rivet, as was done recently in the twenty-six-story building erected at Forty-second street and Madison avenue in New York. The rivet was driven with the ceremony that usually goes with placing the corner stone. On the completion of the structure it will be exposed in a silver box in the wall of the lobby.

WIDENING THE NARROW WINDOW

The apparent width of a narrow window may be increased by lengthening the rod on which the over-curtains and valance are hung, and letting these side over-curtains cover the wall on each side of the wooden casing, as well as the casing itself. The inner curtains of white net may then be hung over the actual window, and the over-curtains do not shut out any light. This makes the whole opening appear larger and gives a better shape to a long narrow window.

CASABA SALAD

The casaba melons, once a decided novelty in our markets, are now obtainable at almost any fruit stand. Although the taste is rather neutral, the melon makes a delicious salad when properly dressed. Cut it in half, scoop out the pulp by teaspoonfuls, and chill. Make some cheese balls, adding a few chopped nuts and some chopped parsley and chill these also. When ready to serve the salad, fill the empty shells with the chilled melon mixture, the cheese balls and lettuce cut into ribbons, and pour over it a boiled dressing.

FIRST WOMAN CLERK

The New York Sun reports that it was Benjamin Franklin Hamilton of Saco, Me., who first gave a clerkship to an American woman. In the early '60s Mr. Hamilton engaged Miss Sarah Moulton to measure out ribbons in his store. When the town learned that a woman was so employed it was unspeakably shocked and for some months boycotted the shop. There are now nearly 600,000 women wage earners in New York city alone.

A factory in British Columbia, it is reported, has made a success of tanning and utilizing sealion hides for belting, gloves and other articles usually made of regular leather.

On motion of Trustee Jackson, it was ordered that in case Mr. Williams uses his automobile in connection with this work, which shall be under the direction of the city marshal, he be allowed the additional sum of One dollar per day. The motion prevailed by a unanimous vote.

On motion of Trustee Muhleman, the city engineer was instructed to prepare a map showing the assessment district and the property to be assessed for the opening of Seventh street, as provided by law.

On motion, "An ordinance fixing the time and place of holding meetings of the board of trustees of the city of Glendale, and repealing Ordinance Number 158 of said city, adopted on the 14th day of March, 1912, relating thereto," was taken up for first reading. On motion, this ordinance was declared read for the first time and was taken up for second reading. On motion, this ordinance was declared read for the second time and was laid over till the next regular meeting for the third and final reading.

The Public Works committee presented a written report, which upon being read was, on motion of Trustee Muhleman, ordered to be filed.

On motion of Trustee Muhleman, the city engineer was instructed to carry out the recommendation made in the above mentioned report, as to the catch basin.

On motion of Trustee Muhleman, the city clerk was instructed to advise Engineer Reagan as to the action of the board in this matter.

On motion of Trustee Muhleman, the city engineer was instructed to prepare the necessary proceedings for the improvement of Glendale avenue from First street northerly to Verdugo road, and to consult with the Board of Public Works as to the type of improvement to be made.

The manager of the public service department recommended that for the purpose of establishing a more equitable charge for irrigating water taken through a meter, it be assumed that for domestic purposes the cost of the water shall not exceed a maximum of $5.00 per month, the excess to be charged at rates for irrigating water. Without the board taking any formal action, the suggestion of the manager of the Public Service department was concurred in.

On motion of Trustee Jackson "An ordinance of the City of Glendale amending an ordinance Number 274 entitled 'An ordinance of the board of trustees of the City of Glendale licensing and regulating the carrying on of certain businesses and occupations therein mentioned; providing license fees for the same and providing a penalty for the violation thereof and repealing all ordinances in conflict therewith, and repealing ordinance Number 263, entitled 'An ordinance of the board of trustees of the City of Glendale licensing and regulating the carrying on of certain businesses and occupations therein mentioned; providing license fees for the same and providing a penalty for the violation thereof,' by repealing the whole of Section 32 of said ordinance and adding to said ordinance Number 274 a new section to be known and designated as Section 32a," was ordered to be taken up for third and final reading, and upon being read, on motion of Trustee Grist, it was ordered to be laid over for one week.

The city attorney explained that it is probable that the contractor for the improvement of the crossings on Brand boulevard at First street and Doran street would require the city to stand between him and the Pacific Electric Railway company in the event of any legal complications, and stated that if in the opinion of the board this would be the position of the city, that assurance might be given to bidders on the contract. The opinion of the city attorney in this matter was informally agreed to.

A RARE RELIC

One of the rarest relics in the world, known as the Talgai skull, a remnant of Pleistocene man in Australia, which was exhibited at the Australasian meeting of the British Association, has been presented to the University of Sydney.

The skull was found near Talgai, in Queensland, and is completely mineralized. According to Prof. Edgeworth Davis it may be that of a member of the first human family to cross into Australia.

PRACTICAL FARMING

It is a matter of interest to young men who are looking toward farming that in most cases where studies of the profits of farming have been made particularly in our oldest agricultural districts, it has been found that the most successful farms are those which have from two to four major sources of income; that is, they have a well-balanced and diversified business.

In certain instances it may pay better to have only one enterprise, but usually when one crop pays much better than all others, the production of it increases rapidly, and the price soon falls to a point where other crops or products are equally profitable.

Diversified farming is often confused with operations where there is a little of everything and not much of anything. Either extreme lessens the chances of success. It is worth while to study to secure a well balanced business to insure against losses and provide a good utilization of labor and equipment.

JAPAN'S BOATWAY

At Lake Biwa in Japan, shippers have adopted an ingenious mode of transit for farm products and other freight destined for Kioto, which is the central market for that region. At the lower end of the lake a tunnel large enough to admit of the passage of canal boats, was bored through a mountain; it is over three miles long.

On the farther side of the mountain, after the boats have gone through the passageway, they are received by an incline electric railway. This incline takes the boats down to the Kama river, where rivermen wait to propel them by poles to Kioto.

After being unloaded at their destination they are poled back to the incline railway and carried up to the tunnel through which they are passed back to the lake. The electricity used is furnished by the flow of the water through the tunnel. It is said to be one of the most economical forms of transportation ever devised, because the electric line saves the work of unloading the boats and transferring the freight to cars.

Passengers are also carried at a low fare, but it is by no means rapid transit.

"Well, sonny, did you take your dog to the doctor next to your house, as I suggested?"

"Yes, sir."

"And what did he say?"

"'E said Towser was suffering from nerves, so Sis had better give up playin' the planner.'"—Tit-Bits.

FARMERS BUILD A RAILWAY

The farmers in Beaver and Ellis counties in Oklahoma and in Lipscomb county, Texas, have grown tired of hauling grain and driving stock from ten to forty miles to the nearest railway station, and have decided to build a railway of their own. They have organized a company to construct the La Kemp & Northwestern railway.

They have most of the right of way chartered for 125 miles and operations will begin in a short time. Many of the farmers have purchased their shares by working with their teams on the construction at five dollars a day, while the merchants along the way have invested in stock.

GOOD ROADS PAY

Money spent in road improvement of the right kind is making a profit of one hundred per cent a year in Wayne county, Michigan. In eight years the county spent $2,000,000 in construction and maintenance, and the value of the property benefited far more than doubled. Over 125 miles of concrete road have been put down. It is said that, although these roads are expensive to begin with, the low cost of upkeep makes them really economical.

A CRATER PHOTOGRAPHED

A series of remarkable photographs of the crater of Kilauea, Hawaii, have been obtained by C. F. Haworth, by means of kites, during the last six months. Cameras, attached by wire cables to box kites, were allowed to soar over the crater, the shutters being operated by an ingenious electrical arrangement, and the exposure regulated.

The primary object of taking these pictures was to obtain data for use in the construction of a large naturalistic model of Kilauea that is being made for the geological department of Harvard university.

SUBSTITUTE FOR A NEEDLE

An ingenious substitute for a phonograph needle was discovered recently by some sailors at the United States naval station at Guantanamo bay, Cuba. A group of the men had ordered a talking machine from the United States. When it came they found that records had accompanied the machine, but the shippers had forgotten to send any needles.

One of the number happened to think of a supply of small electric light bulbs. He pressed the tip of one of the bulbs to the revolving record, only to find that it gave forth the tones almost as well as a needle could have done. So the sailors had music in the absence of the needles till the supply arrived.
