THE DAILY DELTA,
PUBLISHED BY
WESTERN & CO.
NEW ORLEANS:
MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 1, 1860.
SUBSCRIPTION RATES, &c.
The carriers of the Delta are authorized to receive subscriptions to our paper, at the rate of 25 cents a week, payable in all cases to the company's collectors.
Notice to Advertisers To-Day.
By C. R. Pinckard, at 10½ o'clock, at Algiers, the stock of a grocery store.
By A. Lanfear, Shields & Co., at 10 o'clock, at No. 45 Chartres street, boots, shoes, trunkers, whaler cloth, &c.

SUMMARY.

The singular combination of political elements brought about by the recent nominations, and the forcible obliteration of the former strongly marked party lines, have rendered comparatively easy and practicable various schemes of fusion between those conservative citizens who, while nominally attached to different parties, fully agree in determined opposition to sectional organizations. Hence, we hear so much now-a-days of "fusion." The word becomes quite a familiar one in the political conversations of the moment when the four candidates for the Presidency were nominated, among the partisans of three of them there has been abundant talk of fusion. Nor, indeed, is this to be wondered at. Every intelligent man is aware, of the existence at the North of an avowedly sectional and consequently dangerous organization; and at the South of a faction professedly disorganized and controlled by the advocates of a similar policy. The latter are, however, far less formidable, because more numerous than the former. They can be met with considerable efficiency by the thoroughly sound and independent Union sentiment of the very districts where they exist. It is quite otherwise with the Northern sectional party. In itself it is redoubtable, because it comprehends a decided numerical majority of the citizens of each of the Northern States, and in the others, though it may not be in a majority, it may, nevertheless, prevail unless combatted by an absolute and effective union of all the adverse elements. There is no doubt whatever that Black Republicanism can be defeated by the concentration against it of the opposition votes; and just as little doubt that it will be victorious, if the latter is frittered away by unbridled virulence amongst two or more candidates.

The thorough appreciation of this fact, and therefore of the calamitous consequences upon the peace, tranquillity and material prosperity of the country, which may follow a Black Republican triumph, have induced the honest and patriotic citizens of the North to spare no efforts to bring about a coalition by means, for a common purpose, of all partial profounding national in counstitutionism to sectional principles. Heretofore the task has been arduous, and the result not commensurate with the exalted motives of the actors, or the intense labor performed. The jealousies and meanness of partisan obstinacy; a selfish indifference to the fate of the Republic, provided individual interests were saved for; in some instances, a secret anxiety and desire to promote the success of the adversary, with a view of feeding fat certain implacable political grudges, added to the perverse resistance to compromise of the Federal office-holders, have until very recently rendered all efforts to unite in a single effort to effect the proposed object. But the notable pressure has been immense all the time, and has at length proved irresistible. It was emphatically a struggle between the masses and the political leaders. The former wanted fusion; the latter were hostile to it. But as the popular will cannot be thwarted long, except at unnecessary sacrifice of party rights, it generally sure to undergone, this politicians have been compelled to give way, and digest their mounting jealousies and petty schemes of advancement in the interests of carrying out the manifestations of a mighty public opinion.

That fusion is now triumphant seems to be clear in Pennsylvania, where every opposition vote will be subsidized on New York, Massachusetts and New Jersey we still wonder impossible on grant a political division as the election of ABRAHAM LINCOLN. In New York, after numerous and fruitless trials, rendered abortive through the mutual distrust of the unprincipled leaders of faction, the great Union meeting excited an explosive influence which seems to have swept away every obstacle to concert. The Constitutional Unionists which the formation of a joint ticket was referred, have framed one in which it is thought each wing of the anti-Black Republican organization has received ample justice. This ticket only wants the ratification of the Douglas and Breckinridge State Committees. It is certain to command the election of the former; while the latter will in this event have the unquestionable ability of rejecting it. Shouldthey do so, we still think the Union ticket will receive the support of every Breckinridge man in New York who wishes to see LINCOLN defeated. If there are any who do not, they are virtually entitled to be classed with the Black Republicans. We may, therefore, claim, as at least probable, the disgorgement of the self-sufficient in the Empire State.

In Pennsylvania a movement equally auspicious and gratifying is announced. Our readers are aware that in the Keystone State a highly important election will be held on the 9th instant. Mr. HOPKINS is the Democratic candidate for Governor, and is believed to be a Douglas man. Mr. H. CRAUSE is the Black Republican candidate. The Breckinridge men, or most of them, will, it is thought, sustain FOSTER; but the course of the Bell and Everett men, who number a very large fraction of the voters, and are particularly powerful in Philadelphia, was uncertain. It has now ceased to be so. The State Committee of the Constitutional Union party assembled at Harrisburg on the 27th ultimo, and after a full consultation resolved that it was inexpedient to nominate an independent ticket for State officers. The adherents of BELL and EVERETT will unquestionably extend their suffrages to Mr. FOSTER, the anti-Black Republican candidate for Governor, and that will be the result, we trust, spares his election. Should this result follow, LINCOLN may discuss his prospects for a contest with a divided electoral ticket in the Keystone State with a view of consolidating the triumph in October by a greater one in November. Finally, in New Jersey a combination already exists which affords the most reasonable expectations of a signal victory.

With such evidences of concerted action in the debatable Northern States, the Union men of the South may be encouraged and Disunionists be renewed exertions. Let them co-operate in the good work now going on, and not only will LINCOLN be beaten, but the Presidential election may yet be determined by the people: will.

THE DAILY DELTA,
PUBLISHED BY
WESTERN & CO.
NEW ORLEANS:
MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 1, 1860.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES, &c.

The carriers of the Delta are authorized to receive subscriptions to our paper, at the rate of 25 cents a week, payable in all cases to the company's collectors.

Notice to Advertisers To-Day.

By C. R. Pinckard, at 10½ o'clock, at Algiers, the stock of a grocery store.

By A. Lanfear, Shields & Co., at 10 o'clock, at No. 45 Chartres street, boots, shoes, trunkers, whaler cloth, &c.

SUMMARY.

The singular combination of political elements brought about by the recent nominations, and the forcible obliteration of the former strongly marked party lines, have rendered comparatively easy and practicable various schemes of fusion between those conservative citizens who, while nominally attached to different parties, fully agree in determined opposition to sectional organizations. Hence, we hear so much now-a-days of "fusion." The word becomes quite a familiar one in the political conversations of the moment when the four candidates for the Presidency were nominated, among the partisans of three of them there has been abundant talk of fusion. Nor, indeed, is this to be wondered at. Every intelligent man is aware, of the existence at the North of an avowedly sectional and consequently dangerous organization; and at the South of a faction professedly disorganized and controlled by the advocates of a similar policy. The latter are, however, far less formidable, because more numerous than the former. They can be met with considerable efficiency by the thoroughly sound and independent Union sentiment of the very districts where they exist. It is quite otherwise with the Northern sectional party. In itself it is redoubtable, because it comprehends a decided numerical majority of the citizens of each of the Northern States, and in the others, though it may not be in a majority, it may, nevertheless, prevail unless combatted by an absolute and effective union of all the adverse elements. There is no doubt whatever that Black Republicanism can be defeated by the concentration against it of the opposition votes; and just as little doubt that it will be victorious, if the latter is frittered away by unbridled virulence amongst two or more candidates.

The thorough appreciation of this fact, and therefore of the calamitous consequences upon the peace, tranquillity and material prosperity of the country, which may follow a Black Republican triumph, have induced the honest and patriotic citizens of the North to spare no efforts to bring about a coalition by means, for a common purpose, of all partial profounding national in counstitutionism to sectional principles. Heretofore the task has been arduous, and the result not commensurate with the exalted motives of the actors, or the intense labor performed. The jealousies and meanness of partisan obstinacy; a selfish indifference to the fate of the Republic, provided individual interests were saved for; in some instances, a secret anxiety and desire to promote the success of the adversary, with a view of feeding fat certain implacable political grudges, added to the perverse resistance to compromise of the Federal office-holders, have until very recently rendered all efforts to unite in a single effort to effect the proposed object. But the notable pressure has been immense all the time, and has at length proved irresistible. It was emphatically a struggle between the masses and the political leaders. The former wanted fusion; the latter were hostile to it. But as the popular will cannot be thwarted long, except at unnecessary sacrifice of party rights, it generally sure to undergone, this politicians have been compelled to give way, and digest their mounting jealousies and petty schemes of advancement in the interests of carrying out the manifestations of a mighty public opinion.

That fusion is now triumphant seems to be clear in Pennsylvania, where every opposition vote will be subsidized on New York, Massachusetts and New Jersey we still wonder impossible on grant a political division as the election of ABRAHAM LINCOLN. In New York, after numerous and fruitless trials, rendered abortive through the mutual distrust of the unprincipled leaders of faction, the great Union meeting excited an explosive influence which seems to have swept away every obstacle to concert. The Constitutional Unionists which the formation of a joint ticket was referred, have framed one in which it is thought each wing of the anti-Black Republican organization has received ample justice. This ticket only wants the ratification of the Douglas and Breckinridge State Committees. It is certain to command the election of the former; while the latter will in this event have the unquestionable ability of rejecting it. Shouldthey do so, we still think the Union ticket will receive the support of every Breckinridge man in New York who wishes to see LINCOLN defeated. If there are any who do not, they are virtually entitled to be classed with the Black Republicans. We may, therefore, claim, as at least probable, the disgorgement of the self-sufficient in the Empire State.

In Pennsylvania a movement equally auspicious and gratifying is announced. Our readers are aware that in the Keystone State a highly important election will be held on the 9th instant. Mr. HOPKINS is the Democratic candidate for Governor, and is believed to be a Douglas man. Mr. H. CRAUSE is the Black Republican candidate. The Breckinridge men, or most of them, will, it is thought, sustain FOSTER; but the course of the Bell and Everett men, who number a very large fraction of the voters, and are particularly powerful in Philadelphia, was uncertain. It has now ceased to be so. The State Committee of the Constitutional Union party assembled at Harrisburg on the 27th ultimo, and after a full consultation resolved that it was inexpedient to nominate an independent ticket for State officers. The adherents of BELL and EVERETT will unquestionably extend their suffrages to Mr. FOSTER, the anti-Black Republican candidate for Governor, and that will be the result, we trust, spares his election. Should this result follow, LINCOLN may discuss his prospects for a contest with a divided electoral ticket in the Keystone State with a view of consolidating the triumph in October by a greater one in November. Finally, in New Jersey a combination already exists which affords the most reasonable expectations of a signal victory.

With such evidences of concerted action in the debatable Northern States, the Union men of the South may be encouraged and Disunionists be renewed exertions. Let them co-operate in the good work now going on, and not only will LINCOLN be beaten, but the Presidential election may yet be determined by the people: will.

The Correspondents.—The communication signed "An Old Democrat" is respectfully declined, as it does not properly fall within the province of our journal.

J. A. Watkins, Secretary of the Board of Assessors of Assessments, requests the members of the Board that they grun mate on Monday, the 1st, 8th, 15th, 22d and 29th October, and 3d November, for the purpose of reviewing the action of the Board of Assessors, and of receiving applications for relief.

Public Schools, Second District.—Sealed proposals for erecting a schoolhouse in the Second District will be received by the Board of Directors until the 6th instant. See advertisement.

Messrs. Goods.—Messrs. T. Kavanagh & Co., No. 137 Canal street, will open this day a great assortment of silk bonnets, double and single silks of the latest styles, together with children and ladies' capes.

Paper.—Mr. Gill advertises that he will be found hereafter at the Republican office of the several Districts, advising the tax payers that the assessment rolls of 1860 are now completed, and may be contested at the offices of the assessors. That of the First District is at No. 15 City Hall; of the Second Division, at No. 46 St. Ann street, and of the Third, at the Recorder's office, on Elysian Fields street.

Messrs. Bulliet & Boggs.—This long-established and popular house, at No. 139 Bourbon street, advertises a magnificent assortment of silk and other goods just received from Paris and New York. The reputation of Messrs. Bulliet & Boggs, as well for the enterprise of their merchandise as for the reasonableness of their prices, is too known to need particular notice. We take pleasure in recommending their establishment to our friends and the public.

Messrs. the Registrars are Requested.—Whether attention to the notification published in another column, regarding the delivery of the remedy recommended under the treatment of diseases and diseases, it may be communicated. 197 St. Ann street.

Daily Times and Picayune.—The True Issue is the name of a new Douglas paper just started at Holy Providence, Carroll parish.

A Gallant Acknowledgment.—At a Steady meeting held last night at the Gallatin Hook and Ladder Co., a few nights since, Col. John G. Gentry had the gentlemen to acknowledge the independence and worth of our candidate. The Union Vindex, a co-ordinal paper, says:

"Col. Gentry addressed Mr. Hall on a recent occasion, in a manner which drew forth a warm burst of applause from the audience, which favored the principles of Constitutional Union and proposed the name of Mr. Hall as the Union candidate for Assessor. The Augusta Chronicle, in very complimentary manner, says Mr. Hall has been a citizen of Richmond county over since he was born, and has always been identified with the interests of the people. He is a native of Georgia, and a gentleman of the highest character for honor and integrity. He is a native of Georgia, and a gentleman of the highest character for honor and integrity. He is a native of Georgia, and a gentleman of the highest character for honor and integrity."

"I may be asked, as I have been asked, when I would consent to a dissolution of the Union, I answer, NEVER, NEVER!

If the agitation in regard to the fugitive slave law should continue and increase, and become alarming, it will lead to the formation of two new parties—one for the Union, and the other for disunion; and the platform of that Union party will be,

The Union, the Constitution, and the Enforcement of the Laws.

And it will be necessary to form such a party, and it should be accordingly formed, I announce myself in this place a member of that party, whatever may be its component elements."—HENRY CLAY.

The Mob Candidate.—Major Breckinridge has never had the courage to answer the Norfolk questions put to Douglas by a Breckinridge editor, and which he promised that Major Breckinridge would answer.

It seems Major B's reticence in attending Mr. Yancey's mob to questions put to him into what he has said in speech in Washington. Here is the question:

Hon. Wm. L. Yancey—Sir: In any remarks you may make in Washington, your opinion on the following is desired:

"Will the election of Abraham Lincoln as President, in your judgment, be a justifiable cause for a dissolution of the Union of these States, or for the secession of any of them; or will they justifiably rely upon the judicial department to arrest unconstitutional action?"

Very respectfully, O. B. H. Peer.

September 24, 1860.

I handed a letter addressed in pencil to Mr. Yancey, on the Senate, on his hotel, requesting, the above letter, and Mr. Yancey replied to me that he would be happy to do so. Mr. Yancey has not answered the letter, and I cannot doubt he did not deliver it. Mr. Yancey refrained from giving the "information" in the Senate, because, I believe, they he objected to the opinion of Senators, but he was willing to give it to a mob.—O. B. H. P.

Fusion.—The Louisville Courier says that he suggested the high candidate in the vicinity of Augusta, Georgia, for the post of Government of the Southern Confederacy, should the South make one. This is coming down to details. Won't he give us the programme of the civil list—who is to be the first President, who the Cabinet, &c.? Let us know all about it.

New Orat Sugar and Molasses.—Mr. James Wood, corner of Dauphine and Toulouse streets, has on hand some superior molasses and sugar, which he now offers. We are heartily glad to him for specimens of both.

Muschamedeen.—A New Orleans correspondent of the Baton Rouge Advocate says that in the late Breckinridge procession there were 3400 persons! and that on Washington Square more than 15,000 had assembled! Shade of Ferdinand Mendez De Pinto, rest tranquilly in thy grave. Thou hast a worthy successor.

The Washington Union heaps at its head two standing queries, addressed to the Washington Constitution, to wit: "1. Does it consider Lincoln's election just cause for breaking up the Union? 2. Does it believe in the right of peaceable secession without cause?" So far, we believe, the States and Union has failed to extract an answer.

A vote was taken on a train going on to the great Yancey-Breckinridge meeting at Knoxville, on the 7th inst., and resulted as follows: Bell 53, Breckinridge 7, Douglas 5. The Whig says: Gov. Johnson refused to vote; but stated openly, and with emphasis, that the calling of a man of the ultra sentiments of Yancey to Knoxville to speak, and to represent Tennessee Democracy, was a bad day's work, and about the worst thing that could be done! But a committee waited on the Governor at the house, with an invitation to accompany them to the train, with which he complied, and went on to the West."

Louisiana Items.

Says the Baton Rouge Sugar Planter:

Our time has been so much taken up with the canvass that we have paid but little attention to the crops. So far we cannot, under the present circumstances, complain. A full crop of sugar we cannot make. From our own observation, and information derived from others somewhat competent to inform ourself to judge, we may reach half a crop, or very little more. The drouth has used the cane terribly. In the parish of Pointe Coupée we were told in the early part of last month that the crop would not reach "turn a wheel," and from what we saw while there, are of opinion that there is much truth in the statement. The drouth has been equally severe in this parish, which will, of course, in addition to the loss by the failure of the cane, bear hard upon the planters. In the early part of the year, we anticipated rejecting it. Shouldthey do so, we still think the Union ticket will receive the support of every Breckinridge man in New York who wishes to see LINCOLN defeated. If there are any who do not, they are virtually entitled to be classed with the Black Republicans. We may, therefore, claim, as at least probable, the disgorgement of the self-sufficient in the Empire State.

In Pennsylvania a movement equally auspicious and gratifying is announced. Our readers are aware that in the Keystone State a highly important election will be held on the 9th instant. Mr. HOPKINS is the Democratic candidate for Governor, and is believed to be a Douglas man. Mr. H. CRAUSE is the Black Republican candidate. The Breckinridge men, or most of them, will, it is thought, sustain FOSTER; but the course of the Bell and Everett men, who number a very large fraction of the voters, and are particularly powerful in Philadelphia, was uncertain. It has now ceased to be so. The State Committee of the Constitutional Union party assembled at Harrisburg on the 27th ultimo, and after a full consultation resolved that it was inexpedient to nominate an independent ticket for State officers. The adherents of BELL and EVERETT will unquestionably extend their suffrages to Mr. FOSTER, the anti-Black Republican candidate for Governor, and that will be the result, we trust, spares his election. Should this result follow, LINCOLN may discuss his prospects for a contest with a divided electoral ticket in the Keystone State with a view of consolidating the triumph in October by a greater one in November. Finally, in New Jersey a combination already exists which affords the most reasonable expectations of a signal victory.

With such evidences of concerted action in the debatable Northern States, the Union men of the South may be encouraged and Disunionists be renewed exertions. Let them co-operate in the good work now going on, and not only will LINCOLN be beaten, but the Presidential election may yet be determined by the people: will.

The Correspondents.—The communication signed "An Old Democrat" is respectfully declined, as it does not properly fall within the province of our journal.

J. A. Watkins, Secretary of the Board of Assessors of Assessments, requests the members of the Board that they grun mate on Monday, the 1st, 8th, 15th, 22d and 29th October, and 3d November, for the purpose of reviewing the action of the Board of Assessors, and of receiving applications for relief.

Public Schools, Second District.—Sealed proposals for erecting a schoolhouse in the Second District will be received by the Board of Directors until the 6th instant. See advertisement.

Messrs. Goods.—Messrs. T. Kavanagh & Co., No. 137 Canal street, will open this day a great assortment of silk bonnets, double and single silks of the latest styles, together with children and ladies' capes.

Paper.—Mr. Gill advertises that he will be found hereafter at the Republican office of the several Districts, advising the tax payers that the assessment rolls of 1860 are now completed, and may be contested at the offices of the assessors. That of the First District is at No. 15 City Hall; of the Second Division, at No. 46 St. Ann street, and of the Third, at the Recorder's office, on Elysian Fields street.

Messrs. Bulliet & Boggs.—This long-established and popular house, at No. 139 Bourbon street, advertises a magnificent assortment of silk and other goods just received from Paris and New York. The reputation of Messrs. Bulliet & Boggs, as well for the enterprise of their merchandise as for the reasonableness of their prices, is too known to need particular notice. We take pleasure in recommending their establishment to our friends and the public.

Messrs. the Registrars are Requested.—Whether attention to the notification published in another column, regarding the delivery of the remedy recommended under the treatment of diseases and diseases, it may be communicated. 197 St. Ann street.

Daily Times and Picayune.—The True Issue is the name of a new Douglas paper just started at Holy Providence, Carroll parish.

A Gallant Acknowledgment.—At a Steady meeting held last night at the Gallatin Hook and Ladder Co., a few nights since, Col. John G. Gentry had the gentlemen to acknowledge the independence and worth of our candidate. The Union Vindex, a co-ordinal paper, says:

"Col. Gentry addressed Mr. Hall on a recent occasion, in a manner which drew forth a warm burst of applause from the audience, which favored the principles of Constitutional Union and proposed the name of Mr. Hall as the Union candidate for Assessor. The Augusta Chronicle, in very complimentary manner, says Mr. Hall has been a citizen of Richmond county over since he was born, and has always been identified with the interests of the people. He is a native of Georgia, and a gentleman of the highest character for honor and integrity. He is a native of Georgia, and a gentleman of the highest character for honor and integrity. He is a native of Georgia, and a gentleman of the highest character for honor and integrity."

"I may be asked, as I have been asked, when I would consent to a dissolution of the Union, I answer, NEVER, NEVER!

If the agitation in regard to the fugitive slave law should continue and increase, and become alarming, it will lead to the formation of two new parties—one for the Union, and the other for disunion; and the platform of that Union party will be,

The Union, the Constitution, and the Enforcement of the Laws.

And it will be necessary to form such a party, and it should be accordingly formed, I announce myself in this place a member of that party, whatever may be its component elements."—HENRY CLAY.

The Mob Candidate.—Major Breckinridge has never had the courage to answer the Norfolk questions put to Douglas by a Breckinridge editor, and which he promised that Major Breckinridge would answer.

It seems Major B's reticence in attending Mr. Yancey's mob to questions put to him into what he has said in speech in Washington. Here is the question:

Hon. Wm. L. Yancey—Sir: In any remarks you may make in Washington, your opinion on the following is desired:

"Will the election of Abraham Lincoln as President, in your judgment, be a justifiable cause for a dissolution of the Union of these States, or for the secession of any of them; or will they justifiably rely upon the judicial department to arrest unconstitutional action?"

Very respectfully, O. B. H. Peer.

September 24, 1860.

I handed a letter addressed in pencil to Mr. Yancey, on the Senate, on his hotel, requesting, the above letter, and Mr. Yancey replied to me that he would be happy to do so. Mr. Yancey has not answered the letter, and I cannot doubt he did not deliver it. Mr. Yancey refrained from giving the "information" in the Senate, because, I believe, they he objected to the opinion of Senators, but he was willing to give it to a mob.—O. B. H. P.

Fusion.—The Louisville Courier says that he suggested the high candidate in the vicinity of Augusta, Georgia, for the post of Government of the Southern Confederacy, should the South make one. This is coming down to details. Won't he give us the programme of the civil list—who is to be the first President, who the Cabinet, &c.? Let us know all about it.

New Orat Sugar and Molasses.—Mr. James Wood, corner of Dauphine and Toulouse streets, has on hand some superior molasses and sugar, which he now offers. We are heartily glad to him for specimens of both.

Muschamedeen.—A New Orleans correspondent of the Baton Rouge Advocate says that in the late Breckinridge procession there were 3400 persons! and that on Washington Square more than 15,000 had assembled! Shade of Ferdinand Mendez De Pinto, rest tranquilly in thy grave. Thou hast a worthy successor.

The Washington Union heaps at its head two standing queries, addressed to the Washington Constitution, to wit: "1. Does it consider Lincoln's election just cause for breaking up the Union? 2. Does it believe in the right of peaceable secession without cause?" So far, we believe, the States and Union has failed to extract an answer.

A vote was taken on a train going on to the great Yancey-Breckinridge meeting at Knoxville, on the 7th inst., and resulted as follows: Bell 53, Breckinridge 7, Douglas 5. The Whig says: Gov. Johnson refused to vote; but stated openly, and with emphasis, that the calling of a man of the ultra sentiments of Yancey to Knoxville to speak, and to represent Tennessee Democracy, was a bad day's work, and about the worst thing that could be done! But a committee waited on the Governor at the house, with an invitation to accompany them to the train, with which he complied, and went on to the West."

Louisiana Items.

Says the Baton Rouge Sugar Planter:

Our time has been so much taken up with the canvass that we have paid but little attention to the crops. So far we cannot, under the present circumstances, complain. A full crop of sugar we cannot make. From our own observation, and information derived from others somewhat competent to inform ourself to judge, we may reach half a crop, or very little more. The drouth has used the cane terribly. In the parish of Pointe Coupée we were told in the early part of last month that the crop would not reach "turn a wheel," and from what we saw while there, are of opinion that there is much truth in the statement. The drouth has been equally severe in this parish, which will, of course, in addition to the loss by the failure of the cane, bear hard upon the planters. In the early part of the year, we anticipated

Office 73 Chartres street. NEW ORLEANS, MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 1, 1860. Vol. XVII—New Series. Vol. XXXIII.—Whole No. 11,793.

Patriotic Appeal.

The following letter to the editor of the New Orleans Bee is from one of the most patriotic men of the South, and from a citizen in whose veins courses some of the best blood of the Revolution. He is a Union man all over, and an enemy to disunion. His language to the North is, "in the name of Heaven and the God of our fathers, defend your sacred constitution, defend your sacred rights, and let no man dare to question them that his writer demands and has stood to-day. Firmness, too, should be the safe guard that they do not degenerate into the spirit of fear for an alarm of fire for a single district.

Painful Accident.—At an early hour yesterday morning, Mrs. Carnahan, who lives on Girod street, near Magazine, was dreadfully burned in her bed by the explosion of a lamp which she was filling with kerosene oil, and injuring her before she could get out. She was sent at once to the Charity Hospital for medical treatment.

Accidental Drowning.—As the Vicksburg packet Natchez was backing out from the wharf, about 4 o'clock Saturday night and 1 o'clock yesterday morning, the packman of Mr. J. F. Blanchard, the Tombigbee road, was robbed of $60 in gold, $3 in silver, a gold watch and hair chain, several articles of jewelry, and two daguerreotypes. The Third District police have arrested A. H. Tuzzo and his slave Maurice on suspicion of being concerned in the robbery, as well as several other parties whom they cannot at present name.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The thousands who use this great medicine for the cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and the diseases specified with or arising from them, are requested to take notice that vile counterfeits of this Celebrated Invigorant have been issued in the South and West, and may occasionally find their way into many parts of the Union. We hope, therefore, that all purchasers of the preparation will examine the label on the bottle, where a few slants of the proprietor's signature should appear, and the bottle itself, which should have the words H. H. STOMACH BITTERS blown in the glass, and stamped on the cap covering the cork. We also add, that January 1, 1861, put an additional safeguard in the hands of the public, which it is hoped will be counterfeit is a felony.

oct1 6t HOSTETTER & SMITH.

No. 137 Canal Street.

U. LAROUSSINI & CO.

To be opened Monday, October 1st,

1500 SILK MOURNING CLOAKS AND MANTILLAS,

For Ladies and Children, of the very Latest Patterns,

from $1 50 to $75.

Ladies will find the above goods to be the greatest bargain ever offered in this market before.

CHILDREN'S CAPES at.....$1 50
LADIES' CAPES.....from $4 50 to $15
BOURNOUS..... " $12 to $75.

U. LAROUSSINI & CO.,
No. 137 Canal street,
oct1 Tonro Building.

OPENING OF NEW GOODS.

BILLEBUX & REGGIO,
BOURBON STREET.....139

WE have received from Paris and New York an extensive assortment of AUTUMN and SPRING GOODS, consisting in part of

Colored English merinos, Spanish poplins and Scotch plaids, Paris and printed de laines, latest styles,
Paris and printed de laines, latest styles,
Colored French merinos, Paris and English flannels,
Mourning cashmeres, printed cashmeres and cashmeres,
Colored and black crapes,
Unbleached and bleached velvet,
Colored and black Velveteens, high 3-4 widths,
Black and colored Velveteens, high 3-4 widths,
Worsted cassimeres, assorted patterns,
Worsted cassimeres, assorted patterns,
Black and colored Cassimeres, Paris and English,
Black and colored Cassimeres, Paris and English,
Black and colored Satinets,
Black and colored Satinets,
Colored and black Cassimeres,
Colored and black Cassimeres,
Colored and black Orleans de laines,
Colored and black Orleans de laines,
Bombazines, Paris and English,
Bombazines, Paris and English,
Colored and black merino shawls,
Colored and black merino shawls,
Embroidered flannels and muslin de laines,
Embroidered flannels and muslin de laines,
Black and colored printed cashmeres,
Black and colored printed cashmeres,
Colored and black Orleans de laines,
Colored and black Orleans de laines,
Black and colored Jaconets,
Black and colored Jaconets,
Plain and striped Swiss muslins,
Plain and striped Swiss muslins,
Colored and black Jaconet muslins,
Colored and black Jaconet muslins,
Plain and striped Nainsook muslins,
Plain and striped Nainsook muslins,
Colored and black Jaconet muslins,
Colored and black Jaconet muslins