Tempest, of Stella, co. Durham, petitions that in 11 Charles, Wm. Bulmer and Dorothy his wife demised to Sir Thos. Tempest and the late Sir Wm. Lambton, Bart., lead mines in Marrick Manor, co. York, for 21 years, at 12d. rent, in payment of 4,938l. debts, and to free them from several great debts and engagements; but the premises being under sequestration and vested in her, she petitioned the Committee for Sequestrations, and in 1645 the sequestration was discharged by them and by the County Committee for the North Riding of Yorkshire, and she enjoyed them, accounting for the same, till of late she is disturbed by the County Committee. Begs an order for the premises during the remainder of the term. | 122        | 69                 |

|                          | 14 Jan. 1654. County Committee of York to the Treason Trustees. We have received your order of 9 December to discharge the tithes of Whorlton in Cleveland parsonage, co. York, but they were sequestered for delinquency of John Morley, not Cuthbert Morley, and we cannot discharge them without order of the Committee for Compounding.                                                                                                                                                                | 103      | 255         |
|                          | 19 July. Order in the Admiralty Committee, on petition of Laurence Maidwell against Jeremy Elwes,—complaining that he has obtained from the Committee for Removing Obstructions allowance of large sums as incumbrances on Cuthbert Morley's estate, which ought not to have been paid, there being no such debts as pretended by Elwes; and their payment being to the great prejudice of the Navy, and also of                                                                                           | 237      | 225в        |

Vol. No. G or p.

- Maidwell, to whom Parliament had granted the proceeds of Morley's estate:—that a report be made to the Protector and Council for the Committee for Compounding to examine the case, and take order for recovery of what is due to the State and to the petitioner.
- 27 July 1654. Order in Council, on report from the Admiralty 103 261 Committee on Maidwell's petition, referring the whole case to 175 454 the Committee for Compounding, to examine and take speedy course for recovery of moneys due to the State.
- July? Request on Maidwell's petition to the Protector and 103 256 Council, referred to the Committee for Compounding 27 July last, for examination as to the frauds of Elwayes, that a commission may be granted to 4 persons named in co. York, to examine witnesses in the case.
- 2 Aug. Petition of Laurence Maidwell to the Committee for Com- 103 263 pounding. Being engaged in large sums for James Morley, and Cuthbert his son, he discovered the son's delinquency and obtained an Act of Parliament granting \( \frac{1}{2} \) the estate to him, and the other \( \frac{1}{2} \) to the Navy Committee. By the said Act, Jeremy Elwayes, sen., had incumbrances allowed to the value of 2,200l. a year, on pretence of debts which he swore to have paid for James Morley. Has discovered lately by some writings that Elwayes has deceived petitioner and the State, and hopes to prove it; but being much in debt, and his creditors violent, begs a protection till his debts are paid. Will proceed with all diligence.
- 2 Aug. Case referred to Brereton, that a speedy course may be 27 102(2) taken for recovery of what is due. With protection for Maid- 103 257 well from arrest for debt meantime.
- 18 Ang. Petition of Laurence Maidwell. Whorlton parsonage, 103

  co. York, was sequestered for delinquency of John Morley, but really belonging to Cuthbert Morley, delinquent; the petitioner and the Navy Committee had the lands settled on them by Act of Parliament till the Treason Trustees should sell them. The said Treason Trustees an order to the County Committee to restore the rents to petitioner.
- 15 Sept. Order on request that the County Committee examine 27 118(2) what rents of Cuthbert Morley's remain in the tenants' hands 103 257 from 1642. With renewal of Maidwell's writ of protection.
- 4 Jan. 1655. All the bonds and indentures in the case not yet 27 236 delivered are to be brought in to Brereton.
- 23 Jan. Order repeated, especially relating to an indenture of 27 236 Dec. 1641, not yet brought in.
- 27 Jan. Charge by Maidwell against Jeremy Elwayes, son and 103 245 heir of the late Jeremy Elwayes, and his trustees and executors. That James Morley and Cuthbert his son, and other trustees for James Morley, in Aug. 1641 conveyed estates worth 2,500*l*. to Jeremy Elwayes, the father, and Hen. Elwayes, and on 18 Dcc. 1641, they transferred them back to James Morley, to hold till 19 June, paying therefor 3,120*l*.; with a covenant to reconvey the manors to the Morleys on payment of the 3,120*l*., and on their discharging certain unpaid debts.

and on their discharging certain unpaid debts.

That the debts were paid by the Morleys, and not the Elwayes, yet the latter have obtained allowance thereof, with interest at 8 per cent., have made further charges for 800% taxes and 480% interest, and have obtained a conveyance of most of the Morley lands, on pretence of having paid the debts.

That they might have received, without wilful neglect, 20,000l., which would have been more than the debts, and entitled the State to Morley's lands.

- That J. Elwayes, sen., received other sums from the Morley estate,
- for which he never accounted. Jan. 1655? List of bonds to be brought in by Elwayes • - 103 249
- 31 Jan. On information that money has been paid to Elwayes 27 272 by George Lilburn and Ralph Rymer, which should have been paid to the State, order that within two days of the delivery of the indenture of 18 Dec. 1641, Maidwell send in his whole charge, and particularly a schedule of such debts as are not real.
- Particulars by Maidwell of the malversations of 103 241 Jer. Elwayes, the father, pretended purchaser of the estate, amounting to 20,000l., which would have cleared the debts and the whole estate of C. Morley, so that the profits would have come to the State.
- 293 14 Feb. Maidwell is to prove his charge against Elwayes, and to 27 have a week, and no more, to bring in any further charge.
- 20 Feb. Further charge by Maidwell against Elwayes, that 103
  Jeremy Elwayes the father, had two rent-charges on the estate which were not allowed by the Committee for Removing Obstructions, as should have been done by Act of Parliament. 239 Also that the County Committee for York paid the father 1,500l., levied by them out of Morley's estates, and in their hands as due to the State, but ordered by the Committee for Compounding to be paid to Elwayes, who never accounted therefor.
- 20 Feb. The case to be argued this day week, and meantime 302 Elwayes to have a copy of the additional charge now brought in.
- 27 Feb. Maidwell is to prove his charge, and Elwayes to make 320 his defence, and the registrar to prepare a commission for examination of witnesses.
- 632 5 April. The County Committee are to examine all the witnesses on either side, each party giving the other timely notice that he may cross-examine.
- 12 April. Lawrence Maidwell petitions, on behalf of himself and 103 the Navy Commissioners. Whorlton Parsonage, co. York, was 235 settled by Act of Parliament on them, to receive the rents till the Treason Trustees should sell the same, but it was sequestered for delinquency of John Morley, whereas it was settled on Cuthbert Morley. The Treason Trustees thereon wrote to the County Committee to restore the rents, but they refuse without an order from the Committee for Compounding; this order he requests, a former order in the case having miscarried.
- 12 April. Maidwell's petition, on behalf of himself and the Navy 27 366 E.W. 27 387 Commissioners, referred to Brereton.
  - [29 May.] Petition of Lawrence Maidwell to the Admiralty Com- 237 225c mittee. The Treasury Commissioners,—on several references and reports from the Protector to Council, and from them to the said Commissioners, on the claims of Col. Coulson and Mr. Cholmley to manors and lands late belonging to Cuthbert Morley, and assigned by the Drury House Trustees to be sold for their benefit-decided that the lands ought to be sold, and two of the trustees submitted thereto, but they adjourned next day, so that the purchase is frustrated. Requests an order to the trustees to convey the lands to two persons to be nominated by him.
  - 53 4 Sept. Lady Whitmore to allow the books, late belonging to 29 Sir Wm. Acton, to be produced at the examinations.
    - 19 Feb. 1651. KATHERINE, wife of CUTHEERT MORLEY, begs 1 of 103 108 her husband's sequestered estate in co. York, for herself and

|                                               | 28 May 1651. Eliz. CLYBURNE, widow, of Thornton-in-the-Street, co. York, complains that her estate at Low Killerby is seized by the County Committee as the estate of Lewis Carr, a bastard, dead without issue, whereas he was not a bastard, but left it to Rob. Carr, who has sold it to petitioner. Begs that a bare information may not deprive her of her rights, the sole livelihood of herself and children, and that she may have the rents on security till she can prove her title. | 75                                       | 209                                              |

Mary Bowes petitions that being born in a very fine estate, and her husband's affairs being entangled, he sold most of what he had, and her friends fearing lest she and her 8 children should have little maintenance, advised that a new estate be bought in the name of friends, over which Sir George could have no power. Therefore in 1637, Bradley Mancr, worth 103l. a year, was bought in the names of Tobit Bowes, of Hardaton, and John Hilton, of Hilton, in trust for them, and they have enjoyed it ever since Sir George's death, 7 years ago, till a month since, when it was seized as his estate, he dying a delinquent, and to be sequestered unless cleared before 1 August. Begs its discharge, Sir George having never had any interest therein, and it being the sole maintenance of the family. | 82       | 546        |  |

* It is uncertain whether this is the same man as the John Aglionby of Carlisle, calendared on p. 1668, as that Aglionby had an estate in Drawdikes. If they are not identical, the last 6 entries of the case on p. 1668 should be removed to the present case, since they belong to John Aglionby of Drawdikes.

Browning held a farm there, [at a rent of 70l.] [sequestered from Edm. Church, see 74, p. 700], and died very poor, on account of the hardness of his bargain and losses during the siege, leaving five children, which will be a charge to the parish unless the money he owed for rent be forgiven. Beg that the County Committee may set apart for the children some part of the goods seized by them [14 signatures]. With order in the County Committee, 8 Jan. 1649, that on account of Browning's losses, amounting to 60l., he is to pay only 50l. a year for the last year. | 155              | 59 7599 |

|                                                       | arrears from the date of petition.  5 June 1652. James Knaggs, of Aislaby, co. York, petitions that he and his ancestors have been (beyond the memory of man) farmers of an estate in Aislaby, \(\frac{3}{2}\) of which are sequestered for recusancy [of Edm.] Church, to which \(\frac{3}{2}\) he has also been tenant to the State, but the \(\frac{3}{2}\) in which is his farm, being set forth to the recusant, is let to Wm. Salvin, of Newbiggin, who out of malice to petitioner for his affection to the present Government, exacts from him 121 more than ever he paid to the State, or threatens to turn him out. Begs that his farm may be in the \(\frac{3}{2}\) belonging to the State, not in the \(\frac{1}{3}\) belonging to the recusant. | 96       | 161                        |

| r. 115 521                              | 15 Sept. Complains that through being arrested for Nandyke's debts, he had to borrow large sums for payment, secured by rent-charges upon the lands, which were discharged by the Committee for Sequestrations, but are now re-sequestered on the Act of 25 Jan. 1650, and he is liable to arrest and ruin, though he and his sons have served Parliament faithfully. His case has long depended; begs a hearing, and the rents with arrears since 24 Dec. 1649 on security. |                | 594                 |

In 1643 the County Committee seized his rent-charge of 401. on the estate of Edw. Green, and kept it 4 years, though petitioner was no delinquent. In 1646 he appealed to the Committee for Sequestrations, and obtained a discharge, with order of restitution. The County Commissioners could not restore the rent, having returned it to Haberdsshers' Hall. The Committee for Compounding could do nothing, as they have no power in transactions before 24 Dec. 1649. Having no livelihood but this rent-charge for his wife and many children, hegs repayment of the 1601. |           | 95103   |

| D. 87 11631161E. 87 1141237 246 | 26 Sept. 1650. Order on his report that the assignment is good, but 11 196 witnesses must be examined about the Duke's being at Oxford, 90 1094 and if it appear that he was a delinquent at the making of the latter deeds, the petitioner may compound for the estate on the late Act.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| в. 237 247                                  | 22 Oct. Reading adds to his report that on 20 May 1646, the 87 1147, Duke, as Earl of Cambridge, wrote from Hampton Court a 1159, 1151 letter (given) to the Earl of Manchester, Speaker of the House of Peers, pro tempore, that after 2 years and 4 menths' imprisonment and unjust oppression, he arrived there, owing his liberty to the success of the Parliament armies, and desiring now to apply himself to the recovery of his health. The Speaker replied, congratulating his return, and bidding him choose where he would go to recover his health. Also that on 5 June 1646, he offered to the House of Peers to take the covenant, and was willing to take the Negative Oath, but not as a dolinquent, whereupon the Earls of Northumberland and Essex were to tender him the oaths, but he was not to be considered a delinquent. |
|                                             | 24 Oct. Order on report that Gould's claim be allowed and the 10 193 sequestration discharged, but that further enquiry be made whether Hamilton was at Oxford before his commitment to Pendennia.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|                                             | 14 Nov. The Commissioners will spend a quarter of an hour on 12 15 Tuesday in debate as to the Marquis of Hamilton's delinquency.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|                                             | 21 Nov. Depositions that he came to England a little before the Scotch army came to assist Parliament, was brought prisoner to Oxford, confined in a baker's house under strong guard, allowed no access of friends, nor pen, ink, and paper, and had only 2 servants, and that there he remained till he was sent close prisoner to Pendennis.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

Like order—on Lord Bolhaven's deposition, given, that he stands bound for sundry debts for the Duke, viz., 2,000% to James Gould, and sundry sums detailed to numerous others, and interest thereon; that these sums were bonå fide, borrowed for the Duke, and are not repaid, and that he has no other security in Scotland or elsewhere, except the lease of Chelsea House in the aforesaid deed, and a conveyance of the inheritance thereof, made 10 Nov. 1647; that he is sued for the debts, amounting to 18,000% in Edinburgh, and has no other means than this house of saving his own estate; and that he has not re-conveyed his interest, except a mortgage of the manor to Rich. Wallop, trustee for Lord Mounson, and an assignment of the lease to James Gould—that the deed be allowed, and that this order be transmitted to the trustees for sale of the said lands. | 90 1101             |

| L.C.C. 237 249169 343341      | 18 March. Elizabeth, Countess of Dirleton, and William Weston, a creditor of the late Earl, petition that the Earl of Dirleton mortgaged the premises and conveyed them away from his heirs, the estate in Surrey to his countess, and that in North-umberland to others. Yet Lord Cranborne has obtained an order for the sequestration of the estates to which he has no claim, and about which suits in Chancery are now depending. They beg a hearing, and stay of proceedings meantime.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |                  | 419        |

|                  | 20 Feb. Thomas Tempest, of Roundhay, petitions that Roundhay Manor was demised to him by his father, but with incumbrances. Sir Ralph Hansby, 14 years since, pretended a title to it in right of his wife, and sned petitioner's father, but without effect. The premises being sequestered for his father's delinquency, Lady Hansby, her husband being dead, petitioned the Committee for Sequestrations and Barons of Exechequer to allow her title, and they referred her to law; but though she has commenced no action against his father nor himself, she tries to get hold of the estate by bidding double the value for it. Has expended half its value in defending the State's right thereto. Begs a 7 years' lease. | 122                                      | 31            |

Vol. No. 12 July 1650. G or p. GEORGE TURVILE-cont. will make up 2931. 14s. the Committee for Compounding will direct the County Committee to pay him as much as seems justly due out of the 3 of the said estate. Meanwhile he is to take his remedy on the third part only, which is not sequesc. 70 130 10 Aug. 1653. Order that as 961. 5s. has been paid in at Gold-19 1111 smiths' Hall from Turvile's estate, and as 211. 6s., halance of the debt, is still due, 140l. 17s. 4d. being 3 of the 211l. 6s., be paid by the State, and the other \( \frac{1}{3} \) by the recusant, and that the Goldsmithe' Hall Treasurers allow petitioner \( \frac{1}{2} \) of the 96l. 5s. paid in towards the debt. 16 Aug. On his complaint that he is not paid, because by a late 19 1145 order of Parliament no moneye are to be paid out of Goldemiths' Hall except by order of Parliament or the Council of State, the County Committee for Leicester are ordered to pay him 96l. 5s. (sic) from sequestration moneys, and to allow him ½ the accruing profits of Turvile's estate till the debt is cleared. 24 Feb. 1654. No part being paid, and the restraint taken off 23 1582 L.C.C. 162 the Goldsmiths' Hall treasury by a late Ordinance of the Protector, he is allowed at his request payment therefrom. 25 July. A stay being again put on the Goldsmiths' Hall trea- 27 102 sury, the order for payment by the County Committee renewed. JOHN WHITNEY, Glascomb, Co. Radnor. 12 July 1650. Begs an order to the sequestrators of South Wales 129 597 c. 129 599 L.c.c. 168 185 to discharge his estate, he never having been liable to sequestration. Was fined, and paid 20s. for \( \frac{1}{2} \) his fine on the late General Act for raising 20,500l. from the inhabitants of South p. 168 183 Wales, for dissolving delinquency; by a malicious mis-information to the new Commissioners, was charged 51 for his second 1, but it was reduced to 40s.; was a great sufferer for Parliament, was imprisoned by the late King's party, and had to pay 100l. for his enlargement; yet by some practice his name is returned as not having paid the last 1 of his fine, and to save his goods, he had to give security for it. 12 July. The Radnor Committee to examine whether he is com- 11 18 prised in the Act for South Wales; if so, he is to be freed from further trouble; if not, they are to certify the grounds of their proceedings against him. 30 Oct. The said Committee are to search the records of the 10 195 Committees for setting fines on the Act for South Wales, and if they find that Whitney's fine has been paid, to discharge his estate; if not, to certify. Claimants on the Estate of DR. GERARD WOOD (late),

12 July 1650. Grace, widow of Roger Wood, clerk, petitions 137 103 that Gerard Wood, her husband's father, demised Berrow Rectory, appropriate to his Archdeaconry, value 801. a year, and other lands, co. Somerset, worth 501. a year to Clement Mayo, in trust for her husband, and his brothers, James and Gerard; but on her marriage and bringing 6001. portion, the trust was conveyed to Sir John Strangways, for her husband and self, during the life of Dr. Wood and Mary his wife. They enjoyed it till 2 years since, when it was sequestered on malicious information of delinquency against Roger Wood, Archdeacon of Wells, Somerset.

She petitions that she had orders from the Committee for Sequestrations for payment or possession till satisfied, on which the County Committee in May 1646 gave her the lands till paid her annuity, and 370l. arrears. of the benefit of which she was deprived Oct. 1646 by Wybergh assisted by Scotch troopers. Was reinstated by the Parliament party, but in 1648, on the Duke of Hamilton's invasion, he restored Wybergh, who preferred a cross bill in Chancery against her; she was again confirmed in possession, but the estate being sequestered, and Wybergh refusing to compound because of its liabilities, she is deprived of her arrears. Begs them and her annuity, the overplus coming to the State now, and the whole on her decesse. | 111       | 939949        |

| c. 110 652653110 64732 150     | 16 July 1650. Certificate by George Rithe that on 21 May 1650, Poulson said that he valued not such rogues as the Parliament and the Council of State, for taking away the King's life, and that President Bradshaw was a bloodsucker. With note by Gualter Frost, sen., secretary to the Council of State, that the case is to be referred to the Committee for Sequestrations sitting at Westminster.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |           | 651          |

Pembroke, for her infant son Thomas, petitions that her late husband and Charles Bowen his father, in 1633 acknowledged a debt to the late Sir John Ronse of Rouse Lench, co. Worcester, of 2,000L, and on non-payment, Sir Thos. Rouse, Bart., his executor, extended the lands of the Bowens for the debt.  In 1633, Charles Bowen settled lands value 60L a year on Mary Tooley, whom he married, for jointure; but she surviving him, and finding that she would be greatly benefited by claiming her \frac{1}{2}, waived the jointure, and holds the \frac{1}{2}, whereupon the County Committee sequestered \frac{2}{3} of it for her recusancy, so that full benefit cannot be taken of the extent, and petitioner, who brought a portion of 1,500L, has no livelihood. | 7 0 | 225       |

| o.c.c. 88 989L.c.c. 171 213        | 4 Feb. 1652. William Gawen begs to be admitted tenant to $\frac{3}{2}$ of his father's Wiltshire estate for 7 years, at 210$\mathbb{l}$, the full value, whereby the stock may be managed, debts paid, and he preserved from ruin. The County Committee have let Norrington and Baberstoke manors for a year to Wm. Penny at 166$\mathbb{l}$, reserving the old rents, for which they are offered 40$\mathbb{l}$. Elizabeth, wife of Thos. Gawen, his step-mother, tries by Penny's means to take the estate for longer, though she has a competent jointure, to its utter waste. The father is 80 years old and very feeble, and his wife alienates him from his children. Is engaged for many debts on the estate, and assigned a large stock to his father. | 88        | 988          |

His father being sequestered for recusancy only, the Committee for Sequestrations, granted him in 1646 \(\frac{1}{3}\) of his estate; they also ordered that for his arrears, he should receive his whole rents from Ladyday 1648 to Ladyday 1650; but 26 March 1649 he died, and his estate descended to petitioner, who is neither sequestered nor sequestrable, yet the County Committee refuse to pay him the rents or to take off the sequestration. Has addressed the Barons of Exchequer, but begs that, pending return of certificate from the County Committee, he may have his rents on security. | 100 | 766         |

|                | 19 July 1650. Henry Scarisbrick begs allowance of his claim to lands in Bickerstaffe, co. Lancaster, of which his father, Ferdinando Scarisbrick, held the lease, 6 Jac., of one Stanley, a Papist, for 21 years from 1638, 10 of which are unexpired; but his father died intestate, and Stanley took advantage thereof to seize the land when the Commission of Array was on foot. The premises were afterwards sequestered, and petitioner having been in Major-General Skippon's regiment, since commanded by Colonel Cox, has neglected to seek their restoration.                                                                     | 116 | 207       |

|                | 1 July 1652. Major Thos. White petitions Parliament that being a Papist in arms, he was disbanded in 1645 on Truro Articles, by the 4th of which he was to be commended to Parliament by Lord Fairfax for a moderate composition. Having a pass and protection, addressed the Committee for Compounding, but they could not admit him to compound, because they had no orders for setting fines on prisoners in arms. Begs such a composition, that he and his family may subsist in freedom under the happy protection of this Government, in defence of which he would adventure life and fortune, as in honour and religion he is bound. |     | 283       |

Hinton, of Ridley, in 1642, borrowed 50l. from Wm. Wilbraham, and was to pay 10l. for 7 years for it, for security of which he leased to Wilbraham lands in Rushton, worth 8l. a year, for 8 years, to be entered in default of payment; on the uncle's death, the 10l. not being paid, Wilbraham entered on the lands, and enjoyed them till the wars, when they were sequestered for his delinquency, but the lease is expired, and the lands being settled on petitioner by his grandfather, David Hinton, he begs their discharge.                     |          | 23,35, 33     |

| r.e. 84 702-704                                      | Information by Rich. Ford, that Sir Simon, being adjudged a delinquent by the County Committee in 1642, defrauded the State by pretending that he had compounded at Goldsmiths' Hall when he had not, and by producing a false deed, conveying most of his lands to his younger children for their education. He is lord of Newton Solney, and Egginton, co. Derby, and has estates in cos. Worcester and Gloucester. Also being receiver of the Duchy of Lancaster for the late King, he is supposed to have rents of great value.  His heir, Sir Henry, is disaffected, and said, during the late wars, that he hoped to live to see all the Parliament rogues hanged. One of Sir Simon's servants boasted that he was the first man in Derbyshire who drew sword for the King. Sir Simon was in the Commission of Array, was in arms at the taking of Leicester, lived long in Oxford, Lichfield, and Tutbury garrisons, and brought up the rear against the Derby regiment of horse. | 84              | 646                |

Lady Every is "like to have her own and her children's bread taken away," as the County Committee threaten her tenants and drive her cattle. She has obeyed your orders rather than go to the Barons of Exchequer, which, had she done, there would have been no sequestration. You ordered her relief, and promised to do what you could for her, but all will be useless nnless her case is this day reported by counsel.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 237             | 265                |

|                                      | 5 Aug. 1650. Rich. Forn, of Repton, co. Derby, petitions that he has long solicited the Committee for Plundered Ministers about the tithes of Newton Solney, sequestered from Sir Simon Every, delinquent, by which petitioner loses 160l., and no judgment can be given till the Committee for Compounding give judgment on the validity of a deed made by Every in 1641, giving the said tithes and other lands to his younger children for their education. Can show that this was done to delude the State, and can make other discoveries if he may be heard. With order that he be heard when the case is transmitted hither. | 85             | 331                                       |

|                                      | 9 March 1652. Gerard complains that Auditor Sherwin did not feel empowered to determine his claim, it being for pay as an officer in the army. His accounts have been since returned by the County Committee, and there appears to be yet due to him 1,722l. 18s. 2d. Since that return, Sir Arthur Aston's estate was, by Order of Parliament, appointed to be sold, and he                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 89             | 409                                       |

|                                        | 26 Feb. He complains that he was sequestered in 1648 for sending horses to Linton, to Capt. Reynolds, then lieutenant of co. Cambridge. Appealed thereon to the Barons of Exchequer, and was often put off, and nothing proved against him; at last Captain Pickering and John Wright, who had made havoo of his estate, and were interested parties, swore doubtful and contradictory oaths against him, he not being allowed to cross-examine, and therenpon the Barons of Exchequer refused to take off the sequestration. Begs justice, the sequestrators having received his rents, felled his woods, and suffered his houses to decay, contrary to the Act of Parliament; begs also admission to a reasonable composition speedily, as delays will ruin his estate. | 72             | 903        |

|                                        | 20 May. Order on hearing Major Mercer concerning Hare Park upon Newmarket, co. Cambridge, that the County Committee certify why they let the said park as belonging to Sir Anthony Cage, and when he was in possession, and who held it when first sequestered, &c., Sir Anthony to have notice that he may show cause why it should not be released to Colonel Okcy's regiment, who allege that they have purchased the same.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |                | 431        |
| L.c.c. 147 295                         | 8 July. Cage complains of the irregular dealings of the County Committee, and the injury done to his estate, though he was never proved a delinquent. His fine was set much too high, he having little more than a life interest in part of his estate.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | •              | 875895 |

They and others well-affected, who had lived in good fashion, were utterly despoiled by fire and plunder when the enemy garrisoned the town, to the value of 5,500k, and although Parliament on 7 May 1649 granted them the remainder of the sequestrations and compositions of delinquents and actors, yet just when other uses to which those moneys were first put were satisfied, the order of 25 Jan. 1650 required them to be paid in at Goldsmiths' Hall, where 3,500k has been received therefrom, and also 1,200k they are to receive out of Sir Aut. Cage's estate, for the same insurrection, since which the County Committee for Essex have ceased to set.  Beg an order to the Goldsmiths' Hall for them to have the henefit of the moneys ordered. With reference to the Committee for Compounding, to report the grounds of the demand and their opinion. | WILL 109 158237 275CASE 109 167237 276 | John Pope, of Maidstone, assignee of William Brewer, petitions the County Committee of Middlesex and Westminster to discharge from sequestration the reversion of a lease of 2 houses in St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, which he purchased from William, son of Thos. Brewer, recusant.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |           | 165277 |
|                                                    | 26 Sept. 1651. He petitions the Committee for Compounding for reference to counsel of his title to the said lease, which Gabriel Brewer willed in 1640 to Elizabeth his wife for life, and to Wm. Brewer, son of his nephew Thomas Brewer, who, during the infancy of his son, received the rents, Gabriel and Elizabeth Brewer being long since dead. Wm. Brewer, on coming of age, assigned the premises in 1649 to petitioner, but he cannot enjoy them by reason of their sequestration for the recusancy of Thos. Brewer, who had no interest therein but as his son's guardian. | 109       | 161        |

|                                  | 2 Aug. 1650. MICHAEL DRIVER informs that Greenhill was farmer of the parsonage, and that he was sequestered for delinquency in assisting in the rising in Essex, and a second time for concealing 40l. a year of his real estate. At his second composition, he refused to compound for the parsonage, alleging that his lease was expired, although by virtue thereof he received the tithes and profits, and reaped the corn of the glebe lands, to the value of 300l. or 400l., and still holds them. Begs that he may be sequestered and the tithes stayed in the hands of the County Committee. | 81   | 733 735 |

| P.E. 120 393               | 1652? Anthony Stratford petitions that being before the wars seized of a copyhold estate for life of lands in Temple Guiting, worth 33l. a year, and also possessed of a term to expire in 1650 of other lands there worth 27l. a year, both held of Corpus Christi College, Oxford, under great rents,—in 1638 he made them over for 255l. to George Townsend, from whom they are now come to Anne Townsend, widow.  Petitioner being engaged in the first war, the College rents grew in arrear, and the lease being near expiration, Mrs. Townsend paid the arrears, and renewed the lease, 7 Jan. 1651, at her great charge, but in his name, amongst others the ancient tenants. Is now in possession of some part of the land in right of Mrs. Townsend, who is willing to restore the estate to him on payment of her just debt, which is now 228l.; the County Committee threaten him with sequestration if he does not compound. Begs to be admitted to composition, with consideration of his poor estate and 8 small children. No order. | 120                                      | 391         |

| 33 295                                   | 31 Aug. 1653. Petition of Alathæa, Countess of Arundel and Surrey, to Parliament. Went abroad in Sept. 1641, by licence of Parliament, with her husband, Thomas, late Earl of Arundel, not a convicted recusant, and has since continued there, without doing anything prejudicial to Parliament, or withdrawing others from their obedience; but though not liable to sequestration, had $\frac{3}{2}$ of her estate seized for not being at church during a month, and though the Committee for Sequestrations ordered that indictment to be discharged (a mere indictment not being then, as it is now, a cause of sequestration), she is punished for not doing an Act which is not now enforced, the penal laws being abolished by Act of 27 Sept. 1650. Pleads that her great losses, if she were to be punished, are disproportionable to the offence. Any favour shown to her would not be injurious as to others, her condition differing so much.  Begs them to enable her, as they have done others, to live quietly abroad, heing so clogged with her husband's dehts, that if her age would permit, she cannot return to her native country. Begs discharge from sequestration, so long as she lives according to the engagement she has taken to be true to the Commonwealth. Signed for the Countess by Fabian Phillipps. | 62   | 662       |

|                                          | 13 Jan. 1654. The Countess renews to the Committee for Compounding her remonstrance against sequestration, being no convicted recusant. Pleads the Act of 27 Sept. 1650, taking away penalties from those who do not attend their parish churches; many of her lands were not sequestered when that Act passed, and those come to her by the death of her sister, the Countess Dowager of Kent, were not sequestered 1 Dec. 1651. This Committee on 19 Sept. 1651, promised to consider her case, but not doing so, she petitioned Parliament and obtained a reference to the Committee of Petitions, but before certificate, Parliament—having passed the Act of 21 Oct. 1653 for selling \(\frac{2}{3}\) of recusants' estates if they did not compound in 3 months—was dissolved. Was discharged by the House of Lords on 15 Dec. 1640, and has not been in England since 19 Aug. 1643, when non-attendance at church was made indictable. Begs stay of sale pending her appeal. | 62              | 663                |
|                                          | 13 Jan. Like petition, but begging to compound for part of her personal estate on the Recusants' Act of 21 October last, with proviso of repayment in case her appeal to Parliament prove successful.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 62              | 666                |

|                                          | 20 April. The Countess complains of defects in the returns of the County Committees, in representing the sequestration as earlier than it was; can prove that it was not before 9 Oct. 1650. Part of her estates came to her from her sister, the Countess of Kent, who died 7 Dec. 1651, and part from her sister, the Countess of Pembroke, who died March 1650. Begin particulars of receipts from sequestrations.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 150             | 65 7593 |

| c. 34 70                                | 24 Dec. 1656. Petitiou of George Smith, gentleman, to Council. Gave information to the Commissioners for Discoveries at Worcester House, of goods, pictures, and statues at Arundel House, Strand, sequestered by order of the Committee for Advance of Money for the recusancy of Alsthæa, Countess Dowager of Arundel and Surrey. They were inventoried 21 and 22 March 1651, and not removed, because Wm. Marsh, Mat. Pitcher, and Rob. Austen bound themselves in 2,0001. for their delivery when required.  After hearing counsel on both sides, it was decided that $\frac{3}{4}$ thereof belonged to his Highness, they were valued at $1,0001., and 6661. 13s. 4d. ordered to be paid. W. Kinnersley was then ordered to take charge of and inventory them, that they might not be embezzled or changed, when he found 28 of the most valuable pictures wanting. Till they are valued, there is an obstruction in bringing in the money, and he cannot have his $\frac{1}{3}$, though he has epent 601., and is threatened with suits by the adverse party; hegs their valuing by some skilful artist, allowance for his $\frac{1}{6}$, and his expenses. | 238      | 21            |  |

|                                         | 11 Feb. 1657. Wm. Marsh, Rob. Austen, and Mat. Pitcher, petition Council. Having given security to the Middlesex Commissioners for the forthcoming of the goods, statues, and pictures at Arundel House, George Smith, an informer, summoned them before the Commissioners for Discoveries at Worcester House, on pretence that the goods had belonged to Alathæs, late Countess of Arundel, and now belonged to his Highness by reason of her pretended recusancy.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |          | 2 , 23 |  |

Vol. No. G or p.

Can prove that they were claimed by Henry, Earl of Bath, and Edward, Earl of Dorset, executors of Thomas, Earl of Arundel, her husband, for payment of his debts; and that the Haberdashers' Hall Committee had ordered them to be inventoried and secured, but not being sequestered 1 Dec. 1651, they were discharged by the Act of Oblivion and the security also. Yet this notwithstanding, the Commissioners on the case would not hear the evidence that the goods were the Earl's, but certified that the goods belonged to his Highness, and that the Countess was a delinquent, though there was no proof. On this the informer, pretending fear of embezzlemeut, obtained an order to seize and inventory them till further order, and in epite of the exceptions (given) made to the certificate, and an order to the Commissioners for Discoveries for the proceedings to be in that court, an order was obtained to the Tressury Commissioners for the sale of the pictures and statues, which should remain to petitioners and other poor creditors of Thomas, Earl of Arundel, for whom no provision is made. Beg a hearing, and stay of sale meantime. With the exceptions alluded to, endorsed, "To be remembered when the report about the statues is offered to the Council."

18 June 1651. HENRY, EARL OF KINGSTON, SIR WM. PLAYTERS, Bart., and Sir Rich. Onslow, trustees of Thomas, 23rd Earl 238 of Arundel, beg leave to prove their title to 1 of Alton Manor, co. Stafford, settled on them by virtue of fines levied by Thomas, late Earl of Arundel, and Alathæa, his wife, and by deeds; but by an order of 14 May last, the County Committee have sequestered it as belonging to the Countess. Also leave to receive the rents meanwhile towards the late Earl's debts.

She petitions that her husband lost cattle, value 500l., as tenant of Greystock and Gowbrey, by the invasion of the Scota in 1648, and has left a great stock on the lands, which she cannot dispose of without loss; and the lands having been surveyed for disposal, she fears to be troubled, and begs to enjoy quietly the remainder of her lease.                                                                                                                                                                                              | 90         | 873           |

|                          | 3 Feb. 1652. Cowse complains that John Griffith [late servant to the Countess], disturbs his possession of Ecclesfield Manor, co. York, and rectory, causing it to be sequestered, and then renting it from the County Committee at 145l., whereas petitioner bade 155l., on which he offered 205l. 15s. Begs that Griffith may not have it, as the Countess has a bill in Chancery against his title, and he wastes the timber. Will give 1l. a year more than Griffith's offer. With note for the County Committee to make a lease to the highest bidder. |            | 818           |
|                          | 18 Feb. Cowse renews his petition for a lease, being the first bidder, and Griffith claiming the lands on pretence of a title from the Countess' son, the present Earl of Arundel, to whom he is now agent. |              | 10 Sept. 1651. The Corporation of the Poor of Lendon, and Hen. Colbron, executer of Thes. Withins, and trustee for his late widew, Anne Withins, petitions that Thomas, late Earl of Arundel, and the present Earl, owing 1,700l. to Thos. Withins and 1,300l. to Anne Withius, and other debts amounting to 90,000l., conveyed lands value 200,000l. to Sir Rich. Onslow, Sir Wm. Playters, and others, by deed allowed by the Committee for Sequestrations, 24 Feb. 1646, when the trustees were ordered to be answerable for the rents, and not pay out moneys without order. Withins by his will left 500l. of the money to the Corporation for the Poor, and they have often applied to the Earl in vain for payment. Beg that Onslow and Playters may be ordered to pay them. |            | 749       |
|              | 10 Sept. Onslow ordered to show cause in 14 days why the legacy is not paid.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 15         | 12        |
|              | 22 Oct. Hen. Celbren, executor of Thos. Withins, en behalf of the Corporation for the Peer in Lendon, pleads that Thos. Withins gave the Corporation 5001. for the peer, from a debt owing by Thomas, late Earl of Arundel, who conveyed lands in Norfelk to Sir Rich. Onslow and other trustees, for payment of his debts, which conveyance was allowed by the Committee for Sequestrations, and the trustees signed a warrant to petitioners to receive the money; but they are new obstructed by the sequestration of the Earl of Arundel's estate. Begs relief.                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |            | 388       |

| D. 66 830L.C.C. 169 509  | 18 Feb. 1652. Edm. Barr, of Steyning, Sussex, petitions that in Sept. 1650, he contracted with the County Committee for the castle lands, in Bramber Borough, estate of [Henry], Earl of Arundel, for 7 years at 4l., but was not told that it is let for 31s., which is a loss to him of his contract, and a prejudice to the State by undervalue. Begs confirmation of his lease.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 66         | 830       |
|                              | 18 Feb. Order that as the lands are let at 31s. when they had leased them to Barr at 4l., the County Committee allow him the benefit of his contract, or show cause in 14 days why they have so proceeded, and state whether this is part of the estate let to Wilson and Baldwin, whom they name in their letter of 3 December last.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 16         | 35        |
|                              | 11 March. On certificate of the County Committee of Sussex, dated 2 March 1652, the Committee for Compounding confirm their contract of the eastle lands at 3l. a year, it appearing that Barr's allegations are false and scandalous.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 16         | 121       |
|                              | 2 June. Barr's petition renewed. He complains that Hen. Stalman, one of the County Committee, got Mr. Bagshall to take the lands, and they use them together, though Bagshall before this, hearing that Stalman had taken them at 3l., offered him 10l. for his bargain. The Commissioners have certified many untruths, by which petitioner, having a wife and many children, has been injured to the value of 20l. Begs examination of how Stalman got the land and stocked it with coneys, and allowance of his cwn charges through Stalman. With note of an order approving what has been done by the County Committee, marked "Not drawn." | 66         | 829       |
|                              | 9 Dec. 1651. CHALLONER CHUTE, of the Middle Temple, claims the manor and castle of Rising, and farm of North Wootton, co. Norfolk, purchased of Sir Rich. | o Aug. 1000.                                              | 10 Dec. 1651. Thos. St. Nicholas petitions that he and his partners in the ironworks, co. York, contracted in 1639 with the late Earl of Arundel for 21 years for the ironworks, and wood to supply them, in which the Earl had an interest during the life of the Countess Dowager of Pembroke; that after her death the Countess Dowager of Kent spent many thousands on the works, but they were seized during the war by the Earl of Newcastle, and petitioners were great losers, yet they have since continued tenants to the Earl and Countess. Hearing that $\frac{2}{3}$ are to be sequestered for her recusancy, they beg to continue tenants. |            | _                  |

They find, on advice with counsel, that the works rest in the power of the Countess, as they cannot be maintained without her top and lop of wood. If onsted, they will lose 6,000l. spent on the works, and the State will lose \(\frac{2}{3}\) of the value of the works, no others being able to cut the wood.                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 115        | 1005               |

|                                                  | 6 Ang. 1650. Mary Millington and other creditors of John Jerningham, deceased, beg reference to counsel of a deed whereby, in 12 Charles, Jerningham settled Cossesly Manor and other lands, co. Lincoln, in trust for payment of his debts; but the County Committee sequestered them, because though on report to the Committee for Compounding, Lord Chief Baron Wilde signed their discharge, the other Barons thought they had not full power to make orders on reports. Are much distressed for want of their debts.                                                  | 106              | 239              |

The Committee for Compounding enquire why Major [Col.] Lister, tenant to the estate, has not paid in the rent, the County Committee reporting that he said he would pay it in town; they order its payment.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 15        | 212                             |
|                       | 28 Jan. On Lister's request for abatement of the rent of Thos. Leveson's estate, he is ordered to pay the first ½ year's rent, when he will be admitted to a review. Mrs. Leveson is to say in a fortnight whether she will take the estate at the rent agreed on; if not, it will be let according to instructions.                                                                                                                                                                                             | 15        | 225                             |
|                       | 31 March. Lister begging allowance for mis-returned rents, and declining to hold the estate longer, the County Committee are to let it to the best advantage, and certify as to over or undervaluations of rents.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 16        | 245                             |
|                       | 4 May. On motion of Col. Lister, \( \frac{1}{5} \) of Leveson's estate is to be paid to Frances his wife, if she has paid her rent due to the State.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |           | 350                             |
| г. 100 445     | 12 Sept. David Batailhé, of Bourdeaux, reports the death of Leveson 4 days ago, after 15 days' illness, brought on by tidings from England that there was no hope of his regaining his estate. He was honourably buried in St. Purgett's Church, and is much lamented in the house of the Prince of Conti, where he had 2,000 livres entertainment. He kept 2 horses,                                                                                                                                            |           | 445                             |

Vol. No. G or p.

- 25 Oct. 1653. RALPH STRETTELL petitions that he entered on his 140 479 cure at Shareshill on an order of the Committee for Plundered Ministers of 14 April 1652, but finding the then incumbent unpaid, joined the parishioners in satisfying him; has only received 101. last year, and 271. 6s. this year, ont of which he has had several payments to make and very little left to live upon. Begs an order for arrears.
- 25 Oct. Order for the arresrs if so much has been received from 22 1477 the rectory, and if not, he is to be paid out of such moneys as arise from the rectory, he allowing his proportion of taxes.
- 27 Jan. 1654. The County Committee erdered to pay any aug- 22 1480 mentations claimed, on production of the allowance by the 100 418 Committee for Compounding of the orders of the Committee for Plundered Ministers.

NOTE 100 430 100 418

- April? 1654. Charles Wynn, minister of Overpen, pleads that he 100 415 has only received 3l. for one year, and begs its continuance, having only 30l. a year maintenance.
- April? 1654. Ambrose Sparri and Rich. Clayton, ministers of 100 417 Wolverhampton, petition that they supply the collegiate church and chapels, that they have no other maintenance, that this committee speially ordered their payment 27 January last, and that out of the large revenues that belonged to the church, only 30% is reserved. That the town so swarms with Papists as to be called little Rome, and there are 20 gentry families of recusants, some of whom were so turbulent last summer that the justices had to call in a troop of horse. They hope to keep what they have got, and to be allowed the payment due 25 March last.
- April? 1654. Edw. Barton, minister of Wednesbury, pleads that 100 419 his salary is but 25l. a year; he has a wife and 7 children, and the parish has many poor; he has only received the augmentation of 50l. for ½ a year, and begs its continuance.
- CASE 100 411
- April? Ralph Strettell, minister of Shareshill, pleads that he 100 421 has only received 5*l*. out of the 30*l*. a year augmentation ordered, and begs its continuance and payment of arrears.
- 4 May. The order of 17 Nov. 1653 not having been received by 27 the County Committee till 20 March 1654, what has been paid to the ministers is not to be repaid, but the arrears due since the death of the delinquent, and still unpaid, are to be paid to Perenaut and the other claimants, and Strettell is to have 271. 10s. arrears due.
- 30 May 1655. Strettell complains of great loss, Leveson's tithes 140 477 being restored to him, part of the rest let or sold, and no arrears paid. Begs arrears of 59l. and 15l. 10s., and to be continued tenant to the tithes named.
- 30 May. Granted one year's lease, and the County Committee are 27 410 to report cause of non-payment of arrears.
- [27 Feb. 1656.] Strettell complains to the Protector that—in April 192 134 1652, 100l. a year augmentation being granted to Shareshill Chnrch, co. Stafford, out of the sequestered tithes of Sir Edw. Littleton and Thos. Levingston (or Leveson),—a year since, Mr. Levingston's tithes were restored; that the residue is but 60l., and that is denied by the Committee for Compounding, the Committee for Plundered Ministers having granted augmentations therefrom to others, and thus he is deprived of means.

John Finch, of Preston, Kent, and Wm. Beare, of London, trustees for James Bryan, son and heir of Frances Crisp, alias Bryan, renew the petition for the lands settled on them by Frances Crisp, in trust for uses specified, or in default for her right heirs. By her will, dated 1640, she directed that part of the premises should be sold to pay her former husband's debts; that Patrick Bryan, her then husband, should receive the profits of the other part for life, for payment of debts and legacies, and afterwards the said manor and premises were to come to her heirs male by Bryan. She is dead, but James Bryan, her eldest son, 13 years old, is not allowed the premises, which are sequestered for the recusancy either of Frances, whose estate is determined by her death, or of Bryan, who had no estate therein to his own use, and who, finding payment of the debts and numerous legacies burdensome, has renounced the trust, and left the estate in petitioners' hands.  26 Oct. The Committee for Compounding are satisfied as to the legacies, and direct the County Committee to discharge the sequestration of the 23 acres of marsh land named in the report, to be sold for payment of legacies and debts. If any creditors or legatees are unsatisfied, the Committee for Com- | 23         | 757805         |

|                                          | 14 April. Dr. Thos. Waldron, M.D., of Hereford, begs an order to some of the Commissioners in adjacent counties to examine, the order to the 4 Commissioners of co. Hereford, failing, because 3 of them were discharged before he could obtain a hearing. On Mrs. Price's petition, the rents were ordered to remain in the tenants' hands, and the sub-commissioner of co. Worcester to examine the case. Attended him, but found that he had gone to London 3 weeks before. Noted, "Nothing done because Wm. Collins [the Commissioner] goes down speedily."                                                                                                                                                                    | 127                                      | 544            |

|                                          | 3 May. Ann Price petitions the Protector. There still remains 2151, 15s. 10d. of the fine unpaid; she begged further respite than the 3 months granted, but the petition has long lain in Mr. Long's hands, and the Committee for Compounding will not wait beyond Friday. The estate was partly hers before marriage, and partly in expectation after her husband's father, who raised the first ½ of the fine, but has since died, leaving the estate absolutely to her son; he will not be of age till Christmas, and his trustees declare they have no power to raise the fine. Has 4 children and no other means; begs till 10 days after Christmas to pay the fine. With reference thereon to the Committee for Compounding. | 109                                      | 600            |

Mrs. Gates complains that, during the prosecution of her composition, the County Committee leased part of the estate to the delinquent's agents, and after the order of the Committee for Compounding for reinstating her, they would only give her an order to receive the rents reserved, which is no advantage to the State.  Part of the lands compounded for are old rents, in which the delinquent pretends he has only a life interest. The auditor is not satisfied with the documents, hecause Isaac Morgan, who intermeddled with the estate, and swore to the                                                                                                                                                           | 87               | 488         |

Lancaster—alleging that by virtue of an indenture made 24 March, 6 Car., by Edward Scarisbrick on his marriage with Frances Bradshaw, certain manors, &c., which were his cestate were charged with the payment of 1,200l. to such daughters as should be born to them, for raising whereof the rents, &c., so charged were to be paid to petitioner so soon as the eldest daughter was 13 years old; but notwithstanding there is a daughter of that age, petitioner cannot receive the rents, because the state is sequestered for Scarisbrick's delinquency,—the County Committee are to certify whether Anne Scarisbrick is in the Protestant religion. | 11        | 73                 |

|                                       | 11May 1654. Robert Minors and the other persons accused by Morse and Cowarne plead that the latter are not now, nor were at the time of the pretended rescue, legally tenants of the said estate, which was contracted for with the Trustees at Drury House by Robt. Stratford, and sequestration discharged; that Morse and Cowarne have not obtained allowance of their title before the Committee for Removing Obstructions, and that the rescue was but serving a legal replevin upon goods wrongfully taken, and they beg dismissal from attendance and costs. | 101       | 889        |

| р. 167 309-324L.c.c. 167 307 | 30 June. Bartholomew Smith, being entitled to the farm of Sherfield English, co. Hants, for 70 years, complains that Michael Titchbourne, the lessee thereof from Wm. Smith, petitioner's brother lately deceased, from whom petitioner claims it as his executor, having died, leaving a wife supposed to be a recusant, the County Committee have sequestered it for her recusancy. Begs that he may not suffer for the crime of his tenant, and that the sequestration may be discharged, or his title referred to counsel.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 117              | 1284                                     |

| L.C.C. 238 311                          | 1 Feb 1653. Sir Robert Whitney begs stay of the seizure of his 1 estate by the County Committee, to whom petitioner and Sir Gilbert Cornwall, his surety, were bound in 1,200l. for payment of 606l., for the money received by him as executor to Wm. Smith, a Papist. The County Committee hearing thereof, in 1647, seized divers eattle reputed to belong to petitioner, being on his lands, but in truth belonging to Sir Richard Lucy, Bart., and Dr. Lucy, his brother, for the said debt. For discharge of the oattle, Henry Williams, of Cabalra, co. Radnor, and Edward Ramsey, of Crickhowell, co. Brecknock, became bound to the then County Committee in 500l. to deliver the oattle to them, in case they should appear to be petitioner's goods.  Bartholomew Smith, brother and executor of Wm. Smith, after compounding for his own and his brother's estate 3 years since, took Sir Gilbert Cornwall, petitioner's surety, in execution for the said deht, whereupon Sir Gilbert was forced to pay him 800l., of which petitioner has paid part, and secured the rest to Sir Gilbert. Begs that Bartholomew Smith may be summoned to shew cause why he should not pay to the State or to petitioner this money. | 129 | 845                  |

| Lc.c. 167 265271c. 32 36                  | 17 Oct. Baker accuses Haberley of combining with Lardner and causing the Star to be returned by the surveyor of Dean and Chapter lands to be in hand, as being held by Haberley of the Dean and Chapter of Windsor, and so drowning petitioner's lease of nearly 20 years to come, which he renewed in 1640; Lardner for the purchase paid the State but 1111., and Haberley 1601., which will be so much lost to the Commonwealth when petitioner's debt is satisfied. Begs examination of witnesses, and that nothing be done prejudicial to the Commonwealth or himself. Noted as rejected. | 65       | 228        |

|                                                     | 10 April 1655. She petitione that in 1652 she took a lease from the County Committee of Kent of ½ a farm and 140 acres in Rodmeraham parish, rent 8l. for her ¾, which she holds for life only. Has spent 40l. in repairs, and her tenant is 1½ years in arrears, on account of the cheapness of corn and cattle. Begs an order to the County Committee to distrain his goods, pay themselves the ¾ due to the State, and her the ⅓ due to her. Noted as dismissed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 77                                        | 758       |

|                                                     | 16 Aug. 1650. Complains that he was violently thrust out of his living before being heard, and bega a hearing. By warrant of 31 July 1650, under the hands of only 3 of the County Committee, he was summoned to appear next day, which he did, at the sign of the Bell in Sandwich, where they examined divers who were by them thought fit and able persons to accuse him, but who could not be examined [by petitioner] till he had affirmed or denied his charge, which was that of not keeping days of public humiliation and thanksgiving.  When sent for, he was ready in the house, and with 8 of his friends went to them. As soon as he came in, their servant attendant at the door shut it, excluding petitioner's frienda. He being within the room, and knowing himself to be no prisoner, opened the door again, and desired the Commissioners that his friends might have leave to come in, which they denied, whereupon he, conceiving all law and reason on his side, thought fit not to expose himself to the hazard of a solitary hearing, but departed; yet notwithstanding he was not heard, 2 of the 3 aforesaid Commissioners sent him a paper sequestering his ecclesiastical living, now just at harvest time, and set up another of the papers in the market place. | 94                                        | 821       |

| NOTE 95 573  23 Jan. 1652. On suspicion that the infant is still brought up by his mother, and not by Col. Gilbert Ireland, the County Committee are ordered to stay payment of the rents till further order.  13 Feb. The rents ordered for 3 months to Col. Ireland, on his engaging to send for the boy from beyond seas, and maintain and bring him up a Protestant.  3 March. Order that the County Committee receive the rents of the whole estate, and pay 100% to Col. Ireland, to enable him to send for the boy home.  7 April. Marg. Ireland begs that the rents may remain in the tenants' hands or he paid to the guardian on security. The boy is not brought up in Popery; he was educated at Oxford, and then, by leave of the Council of State, sent to travel. The County Committee are very urgent to have his rents, and it is well known how difficult it is to regain what they have seized for the State. Noted for the young gentleman to come in person.  17 April. Col. Ireland certifies the arrival of his consin Ireland, his conformity, and his wish to study in the Inns of Court, and requests the profits and arrears of his estate.  L. 95 529  21 April. |                       | 16 Aug. 1650. Thomas Preston, in behalf of Abraham Webb, his father-in-law, begs allowance of a purchase of lands in Barking, Essex, from one Leigh, for whose recusancy they are sequestered. Webb applied to the Committee for Sequestrations to free them from sequestration, but being Apothecary General to the army of the Lord-General Cromwell, he was enforced to attend the General into Sootland, where he now is. The County Committee threaten to distrain the tenants for arrears of rent, although Leigh was dead before any rent was due. Begs an order to the County Committee to forbear levying the arrears till Webb returns. | 110       | 1049       |

|                       | 4 Oct. He pleads that both he and the State are prejudiced by his sequestration. Is conscious that he is not a delinquent, yet his condition is very sad that he cannot have the benefit of the late Act, though included in it, and the State loses by the great waste of his estate. |                       | 13 Nov. He pleads that he had lands worth 2001. a year, but being sequestered, his enemies have cast him into prison and seized his estate, sought his life, and defrauded his daughter of 1,8001. Has never acted against Parliament, but paid his $\frac{1}{6}$ and $\frac{1}{30}$ , yet though he offered good security, he could not procure one of his houses to put his head in; they are much ruined, and woods sold to the value of 2001. Is 60 years old, and having no residence nor maintenance, begs that on the Act of 25 Jan. 1650 for recusants, the County Committee may be ordered to examine witnesses and view his estate.     | 107       | 337        |

|                | 16 Aug. 1650. Matthew Billine, citizen of London, petitions that in 1639, Hen. Whitebread agreed, on payment of 400l., to pay him or Rich. Ward 28l. a year for the use of Eliz. Royley, though not so stated in the articles, and she released the premises to petitioner until repaid 200l. which he lent her. This amnuity was paid till 1643, when Mrs. Royley having to go to York, a King's garrison, on urgent business, though she had a Parliament pass, Whitebread repaired to the County Committee of Bedford, where he then lived, and caused the annuity to be sequestered, though it was not hers. Has addressed the Committee for Sequestrations, but they are dissolved, and the Barons of Exchequer say they have no power as to titles. Begs reference of the case to counsel, and discharge of the annuity till repaid his debt. | 68        | 909                |

He pleads that on his sequestration on false information, his personal estate was seized and sold for 30l.; that he applied to the County Committee, who certified his case to the Committee for Sequestrations; they told him that his proseoution there would equal the charge of his composition, and such small cases should be referred to the County Committee. These latter, in pity of his condition, connived at his sequestration, and he has only paid 4l. for \( \frac{1}{2} \) a year's rent of his lands, worth 10l. a year. He begs that having done good service all these times, he may not be punished as a wilful defaulter, according to the rigour of the late Act, but his case referred to Parliament. |             | 164                               |

|               | 29 Nov. He petitions the Committee of co. York, that at Mrs. Saville's request, he farmed \( \frac{2}{3} \) of her estate in Wakefield, sequestered for recnsancy, at 33l. in 1647, and continued it till Ladyday. That he returned the Martinmas rents to Mrs. Saville, expecting to be continued tenant, and to pay the Ladyday rents out of those received at Whitsuntide, but the estate was farmed by another. He sent to Mrs. Saville to pay or clear the Ladyday rents, but she sent down a petition and order, mistaking 1651 for 1650 in the year, and 16l. 10s. for 33l. in the rent, yet he was forced to pay the 16l. 10s. rent.                            | 115       | 575         |
|               | 29 Nov. The County Commissioners cannot relieve him, having I only received the rents due. |               | 14 Jan. 1652. Anne Saville renews her petition. Her estate was first demised at 134. 6s. 8d., then let to Mr. Waller for her use for 4 years at 201. and then at 331., and though she could scarcely raise the money from it, Capt. Dinely took the premises last March for the use of Wm. Saville, her son, at 411., which is over-value, but he intends to sell wood, and ont her of her \(\frac{1}{3}\), and this year she has only had 40s.; has suffered much by the late times, bad tenants, taxes, and expenses for her son. Begs that Rich. Pollard, of Wakefield, may be admitted tenant for 7 years, at such rate as shall enable him to repair the premises. | 115       | 581         |
|               | 14 Jan. | р. 116 521в. 116 517    | 23 Aug. 1650. Wm. Seddon begs payment of his annuity of 10l. with arrears out of the manors of Speak and Garston, co. Lancaster, sequestered for delinquency of Wm. Norris, of Speak, Papist delinquent, which the Committee for Sequestrations in 1645 on Bradshaw's report ordered to be paid. The County Committee then directed Peter Ambrose, agent for sequestration of the said estate, to pay it, but he only paid 10l., part of the arrears, pretending Norris to be a desperate malignant, who refractorily withstood payment of his sequestration money, notwithstanding he had compounded for the same with the said Ambrose by a yearly rent.  As by the Act of Parliament, 25 Jan. 1650, the County Committees are dissolved, and the Committee for Compounding empowered to call persons to account, begs reference to counsel, and allowance of his arrears. | 116      | 519          |

|                             | 23 Aug. 1650. John Eltonhead, sergeant-at-law, begs to be quieted in possession of, or to compound for on the Act of I Aug. last, Little Mitton Manor, and other lands, co. Lancaster, demised to him in 1641 by Robert and Thos. Sherborne, Papists in arms, for 21 years, he paying 9½ years' purchase. The first three years he could not enjoy them by reason of the King's forces; then they were sequestered for delinquency and recusancy of Rob. Sherborne, but discharged on appeal to the Committee for Sequestrations; but lately the County Committee have forbidden him the rents.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |          | 761          |

John Sharpe, of Brentwood, Essex, complains that the County Committee are about to lease to John Radley, of Shenfield, Essex, the farm in Brentwood which, for 2 years past, petitioner has held of John Wright, a recusant, who, contracting with the Prince Elector, to whom it was assigned by the State, leased it to petitioner for 32l. a year. Has disbursed 10l. in repairs, and laid 70 loads of dung on the land; but by the repeal of the assignment to the Prince by Parliament, petitioner's interest is avoided, and Radley has obtained a lease of this with other lands at 52l. a year; offers 10l. more than Radley for the whole estate, if he may remain tenant. If not, begs compensation for his repairs and improvements. |                   | 777          |

| L.C.C. 238 40                    | 18 June 1652. On reading the letter from the Committee for Compounding to the County Committee of 27 May 1652, and the charge against Ewbank, on hearing his counsel praying his discharge, and on reading a Parliament Order of 21 Nov. 1651,—whereby the persons named in a petition and schedule presented to Parliament (of whom Ewbank was one), who compounded with Sir Hen. Vane and the other Parliamentary Commissioners in 1644 and 1645 for delinquency, and have paid their compositions, are to be absolutely discharged for everything done before their compositions—the Committee for Compounding so discharge them.  But as the County Committee of Durham certify that on a charge in April 1651 that Ewbank was engaged in the second war, they sequestered his lands, order that he be discharged therefrom on the Act of Pardon, as the delinquencies were not committed after 30 Jan. 1649, and the sequestration on his estate was illegal, being laid before judgment in the case. Therefore his bonds and securities are to be delivered up, and the profits received from his estate since his appeal against the last charge restored. | 12 1     |             |

|                                  | 13 Nov. The five orphan daughters of Rob. Ford, sen., beg reference of their case to counsel. Their petition to the Committee for Sequestrations was referred to Bradshaw, but before a report the power of that Committee was expired. Noted, they are to state the case in a petition and bring in their papers.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 85       | 341         |
|                                  | 1 Jan. 1651. They state that in 1639 their father bequeathed them 1,000l. as their portions, to be paid by their brother, his eldest son and executor, Rob. Ford, for which he leased them land called Blakemore, co. Somerset, worth 40l. a year. That their brother being a delinquent, the lands were seized in 1646 as part of his estate, but on their addressing the sub-committee restoration was ordered. Being again questioned, they appealed to the Committee for Sequestrations, who ordered a certificate. Beg continued possession of the premises.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 85       | 327343  |

|                            | 23 June 1652. Robert Ford, jun., begs to compound for his small and much encumbered estate,—having procured friends to raise the fine,—or to have his case reported to Parliament. Adhered to the enemy at first, but soon deserted, yet his estate has long been under seequestration, and he unable from debts and engagements to raise money to pay a fine.                                                                                                                                                           | 85        | 336        |

|                            | 22 Jan. 1655. Ford petitions the Protector, complaining that one Hutchins cast him into prison to disable him from paying his fine, but he did pay it before 25 March 1654, according to the Ordinance; whilst he was in prison Hutchins had contracted for the estate before the Ordinance, but his doubled bills were not applied till after. Begs that they may be delivered back to the purchasers, and his order of discharge confirmed. Noted for the trustees at Drury House to state the fact and their opinion. | T 92      | 123        |

|                            | 27 June. On a letter from the Drury House Trustees—stating that on Ford elapsing his time for payment, the said trustees sold the estate, and the whole purchase money was paid 27 February and the sequestration taken off; but then Ford paid his fine, and obtained a discharge on an Ordinance of the Protector admitting those who had elapsed time to pay before 25 March;—order that the purchase be confirmed, and the discharge granted to the compounder made void.                                            | 27        | 84         |

Hampson, Bart., begs the benefit of the Act of 1 August last, in case Rich. Machon, of Benson, co. Oxon, or John, his son, who lived in the King's quarters near Wallingford and Oxford, should be declared delinquents. Richard Machen, 14 Car., acknowledged a recognizance in 4001., for payment of 2081., which by reason of the war and his death was never paid; for recovery thereof, petitioner, 22 Car., extended his lands in cos. Gloucester and Oxon, but those in co. Gloucester are pretended to be settled by entail precedent to his statute. | 91        | 295          |

Baker petitions that his late father, before the wars, lent moneys to Rob. Matthews, of Blodwall, on a bond of 800l., on which petitioner, as executor, got Matthews' lands extended by the then sheriff till the debt was paid; he was interrupted by the late County Committee, the premises being sequestered for Matthews' delinquency, but proving his claim, it was allowed by the late County Committee, yet the present County Committee have again disturbed him. Begs allowance of the extent, and a stay to the disturbance.                            | 65        | 206          |

|                                 | KATHERINE, widow of John Reynolds, of Ford, his mother, complains that the County Committee have disturbed her possession of Ford Rectory and other lands which John Garbett, late of Shrewsbury, for 440l., in 10 Jac., conveyed to her late husband and his heirs by her, with reversions to herself and Robert her younger son, and then to John Ambler her eldest son, for whose pretended delinquency the lands are sequestered. Her husband bequeathed to her all his goods, lands, tithes, &c., which the County Committee pretend belong to John Ambler. They have forced her to pay for her own goods, &c., and threaten to carry away her cattle, &c. |           | 533        |
