

APPOINT TREASURER

MR. STAUFFACHER WILL FILL OFFICE VACANT BY DEATH OF MR. HOFFMAN

The people of Glendale generally will commend the city trustees for the action taken at a special meeting of the board Monday morning when they appointed John W. Stauffacher city treasurer, assessor and collector to fill the unexpired term of Mr. G. B. Hoffman, deceased. Mr. Stauffacher has been connected with the treasurer's office since April, 1916, and proved himself invaluable in that position. For a long time he has been performing the duties of the office which he now assumes, as Mr. Hoffman was able on account of failing health to spend very little time in the office.

Mr. Stauffacher is well fitted for the office of treasurer, being an expert in clerical work, having a knowledge of the necessity for accuracy. He is a native of the state of Wisconsin, but before coming to California he lived in Georgia for a number of years, where he was extensively engaged in the lumber business. He came to Glendale in the spring of 1910 and was connected with the Independent Lumber company for six years. He is in every way fitted to fill the office of city treasurer acceptably to the people. The term for which he has appointed expires next April.

KNITTERS WANTED

An appeal has come to the American Red Cross from Major Grayson M. P. Murphy, Red Cross Commissioner for Europe, for 1,500,000 knitted sets, comprising sweater, muffler, wristlets, and socks, and we in turn are about to call on the Chapters throughout the United States for the production of these articles.

To simplify the knitting as much as possible, we now have in the printer's hands a new and complete manual of instructions for making the several articles required.

The Red Cross Supply Bureau is arranging for a large supply of yarn and knitting needles to meet the requirements of the Chapters.

Within the next two weeks we expect to have the knitting circular ready for distribution to the Chapters and large shipments of yarn will be coming into the various branch supply houses.

Desperate need will exist for these articles among the soldier and civil population of France and our other Allies before we can get these articles made.

To expedite the completion of the work, we should like to have you start at once and without waiting for the new knitting manual to prepare for the work, and we suggest the following:

1. Form in your Chapter a Committee on Knitting.
2. Mobilize all available knitters in your Chapter, Branches and Auxiliaries, so that when the knitting manual is received, every one who can knit will be prepared to start work immediately.
3. Make it clear that we seek the aid in this big undertaking of all knitters, whether they are members of the Red Cross or not.
4. A group of persons qualified to instruct in knitting would be a great help to the Committee.

As soon as we learn what proportion of the total of this large order is to be cared for in each section of the country, we shall advise with you as to the share of the total which your Chapter should undertake.

Please have all your members understand that we do not want the least cessation of workers in the production of surgical dressings and hospital garments. It will be your problem to organize so as to get more workers interested and the more constant effort of those who are now giving so much of their time to the work of the Red Cross.

Please also impress upon everyone who is now knitting that we do not want them to discontinue any work which they have in hand. Have them work industriously on all knitting they can turn out pending the receipt of the new knitting manual.

Please report to this office within one week the approximate number of knitters who will be available to give steady or part time to this rush order.

In order to prevent exhausting the first supply of yarn by our sending more of a supply than is necessary, we would appreciate it if you would advise this office what quantity you could use in a month.

Remember: This will be a rush order—quick action—quick results.

Very truly yours,
JOHN L. CLYMER,
Director Pacific Division.

29 MEN ACCEPTED

MEN CALLED INTO SERVICE FROM 7TH EXEMPTION DISTRICT OF L. A. COUNTY

Below we publish the names of men who have been selected from the 7th Exemption District of Los Angeles county to serve their country. These twenty-nine men are the ones of the 250 men called in the first draft in this district who passed the physical examination and did not ask for exemption. The draft quota for the 7th district is 125 men, so that means that 96 men must be selected yet to make up the required quota. Of course there may be a few whose exemptions the board will overrule and thus the number selected from the first draft may be increased somewhat.

The board has issued another call for 270 men. The list is published elsewhere in this issue of the Evening News.

FUNERAL OF G. B. HOFFMAN

The funeral of Gottfried B. Hoffman, late city treasurer of Glendale, was held at the Pulliam Undertaking Parlors on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The city officials and a number of friends of the family gathered at that hour to show the respect in which Mr. Hoffman was held by all. Rev. R. W. Mottern, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, of which Mr. Hoffman was a member, paid an exceedingly high tribute to Mr. Hoffman as a man, both in his public and private capacity. Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the First Presbyterian Church also spoke in a very acceptable manner.

The choir of the Lutheran Church, Miss Elizabeth Mottern, Miss Emma Esterly, John Esterly and Rev. Mottern, sang "Abide With Me" and "Nearer My God to Thee." The pall bearers were all former associates of the deceased in city work. They were J. W. Stauffacher, Chas. Grist, Geo. B. Woodberry, J. M. Banker, T. W. Watson, H. B. Lynch.

The floral tributes were many and beautiful. A large piece was sent by the city officials and a number of beautiful pieces by the individual members of the city treasurer's office. Mrs. Walter Wright, formerly Miss Florence Hoffman, came from Oakland to attend the funeral of her father and be with her mother in this sad hour. Interment was at Forest Lawn.

A. P. MEEKER HERE

A. P. Meeker arrived Saturday evening by boat from his summer home at Camp Meeker, above San Francisco, and is the guest of his son, R. W. Meeker, 300 East Colorado. Mr. Meeker is on his way to San Diego, where he will join Mrs. Meeker, who has been visiting in the East.

ting, and last week sent 89 pairs of socks to headquarters, as well as other knitted articles. We earnestly solicit more knitters, and especially those who can knit sweaters. We will meet at the Third Street School Thursday afternoon from 2 to 4, when we will have directions and materials, and will go on with the work as requested in the above letter; in the meantime we would like to have the names of as many new knitters as possible, to be able to send in an estimate of the number as requested. Interest your friends and neighbors, and call at 1224 Milford street, or phone Glendale 161.

HOOVER OPENS CAMPAIGN

FOOD ADMINISTRATOR OUTLINES PLANS FOR GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF FOOD PRODUCTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, August 13.—Herbert Hoover, food administrator of the United States, began his drive against high prices this morning when he inaugurated a campaign to lower the price of the American loaf. He served notice on the wheat barons that he will vigorously enforce the food law and declared that the government is prepared to buy the 1917 wheat harvest if it should be necessary in order to protect the producer and the consumer. Hoover has ordered all elevators, mills, distributors and bakers to restrict their profits. He has worked out a specific plan for government food control along the following lines:

- 1—For the vigorous prosecution of all persons who hold more wheat and flour than is required in their normal business.
- 2—For the maintenance of a fair price throughout the country, by seizing, if necessary, the entire 1917 harvest and determining the cost to the consumer.
- 3—For food administration agencies at the principal wheat terminals throughout the country.
- 4—For the restriction of storage to thirty days, unless special permit is given.
- 5—For the elimination of speculation by compelling all mills and elevators with more than one hundred barrels daily capacity to take out a government license.

HEWITT'S RETURN

SPEND FOUR WEEKS TOURING EASTERN CITIES AND VISITING RELATIVES

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hewitt, 728 North Louise street, returned Friday from a month's absence, touring the East and visiting relatives in various cities.

Mr. Hewitt says the war spirit is noticeable throughout the East. Everywhere it is a common sight to see troops being moved to camps, and loyalty to government and country is paramount. He heard no criticism of the draft or of the policy of the administration.

In Canada, where Mr. Hewitt visited relatives, he said the large manufacturing concerns are turning off their men for a period of two weeks that they may go out and help harvest the crops. Throughout that section the women are assisting in the fields and are doing other work formerly performed by men.

Ten delightful days were spent at Chautauqua, N. Y., and some time at Jamestown, N. Y., a city that is rapidly approaching Grand Rapids, Mich., as a furniture manufacturing center. In Chicago Mr. Hewitt witnessed an inspiring sight when enlisted men led by the naval reserve band with John Philip Sousa as leader paraded the streets. He says men walking abreast the width of Michigan avenue were four hours in passing a given point.

Mr. Hewitt visited a number of laundries in the large cities of the East with the view of gleaning ideas to make the Glendale Laundry a bigger and a better concern than it already is.

The return trip was made via the Denver & Rio Grande and the Western Pacific, which brings the traveler through beautiful Feather river canyon.

FOR COLLEGE GIRLS

Miss Waunita Emery was the hostess, Saturday afternoon, at a very delightful box party given at the Orpheum. The affair was the finale of a number of social affairs among the younger set in honor of Miss Katherine Renshaw and Miss Marjorie Imler, who will leave this week for Berkeley, where they will enter the University. After enjoying the performance at the Orpheum, Miss Emery and her guests repaired to the Chocolate Shop, where delicious refreshments were served. The members of the party, all of whom were schoolmates in Glendale Union High School, were Miss Katherine Renshaw, Miss Marjorie Imler, Miss Catherine Phillips, Miss Evangeline Hunchberger, Miss Ernestine Lyon, Miss Margaret Boucher and the hostess, Miss Waunita Emery.

PRaise FOR GLENDALE BAND

Editor Evening News:
It was my pleasure for the first time this season to attend the band concert given by the Glendale Band on Saturday evening, and to say that I was surprised and delighted is no exaggeration. During my stay at Coronado Tent City this summer I heard La Monaca and his justly celebrated band with its special features twice a day, and it is only due to the Glendale Band to say that the Glendale Band does not suffer in comparison and that the people of Glendale are not only to be congratulated on having such an excellent organization, but should show their appreciation in attendance and support.
MRS. R. W. MEEKER.

LAYING CORNER STONE

ELKS OF GLENDALE CELEBRATE SATURDAY BY LAYING CORNER STONE OF NEW HOME

Saturday was a gala day for the 700 Elks of Glendale, and especially was it a big day for the building committee, J. W. Usilton, R. M. Jackson, L. L. Forrest, A. L. Weaver, Peter L. Ferry and J. W. Pearson, who had worked so hard to bring about the pleasant occurrence of the day.

Chas. W. Kent & Son, the contractors, had everything in readiness for the laying of the cornerstone and they had very thoughtfully arranged numerous seats for the visitors.

At about 4 o'clock in the afternoon the Elks' band, the Elks' patrol and members of the Elks' Lodge, under the leadership of Exalted Ruler Albert D. Pearce, marched from the present Elks' quarters in the Central building, West Broadway, to the location of the new building on Colorado street near Broad boulevard.

A beautifully decorated canopy had been arranged over the speakers' platform and on this platform were seated the speakers of the day and many distinguished guests.

The moving picture camera men immediately got busy and took pictures of the building committee, the Exalted Ruler, the architect and contractors, and the audience, and most important of all they took views of the corner stone slab at the time it was being placed in position by the master mechanics.

Exalted Ruler Albert D. Pearce had charge of the ceremonies and in his usual easy but forceful manner announced the events of the program. Chaplain Dr. C. Irving Mills offered prayer, after which William M. Kimball, secretary, read the list of articles placed in the corner stone box, as follows:

- Copy of Glendale City Directory
- History of Elks' Lodge
- Roster of members of Glendale Lodge
- Candidate's Flag
- Directory of Subordinate Lodges
- Grand Lodge Constitution and By-Laws
- Photos of Glendale in 1906 and 1916
- Copy of Pacific Coast Elk
- Copy of Los Angeles Daily Times
- Copy of Los Angeles Daily Examiner
- Copy of Los Angeles Daily Tribune
- Copy of Los Angeles Express
- Copy of Glendale Press
- Copy of Glendale Evening News
- Copy of Building Note Certificate
- Glendale Elk Coins
- Additional Copy Glendale Evening News containing Saturday afternoon's program.

Inscribed in the beautiful granite which is to protect all of these articles from the interference of the outside world were the words:
B. P. O. E.

Glendale
1917

H. W. Brown of Santa Monica, the principal speaker, is an Elk of distinction and on his countenance was a continuous smile, significant of the brotherly love existing among members of this benevolent order. The address was well delivered and it was well received.

At intervals the Elks' band furnished music suiting the occasion. At the close of the program the Exalted Ruler invited all Elks to assemble at their rooms on Broadway, where a cold luncheon would be served.

CATHERINE STINE

After a lingering illness, Mrs. Catherine Stine died early Sunday morning at the home of her husband, Geo. F. Stine, 333 East Acacia street, Tropic.

Mrs. Stine was born in Baltimore, Md., in 1851 and has lived in this locality for the past 12 years. She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, Geo. F. Stine, and daughters, Mrs. B. A. Smith and Rose E. Stine of Tropic; Geo. J. Stine of Chickamauga Park, Ga.; Orrin P. Stine and Mrs. Manette Coates of St. Louis, Mo.

Funeral services will be held at the chapel of Seavern-Letton-Frey Co. on Tuesday, August 14, at 2:30 p. m., Elder Snyder officiating. Interment at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

ANOTHER AMERICAN INVENTION

An ingenious American must again be given credit for another revolutionary invention, this time one which is calculated to upset the whole theory of artillery battles.

The new invention, the name of which must be kept secret for military reasons, is based upon an invention perfected by the United States bureau of standards, the decimeter, an instrument which is used to tell the location of any noise-producing body by the decrement of the air waves produced.

By means of the new invention, which is now in actual use on the French front, it is possible to tell the exact location of a German cannon, even when it cannot be seen or heard. It is possible to judge, even at a distance of eight miles, so accurately the position of an enemy gun that a shell can be placed within 50 feet of the cannon aimed at.

The instrument now in use is set up at a certain point on the French line, and the actual distance to the enemy cannon is judged by the decreasing air waves. From another instrument at another point in the French line a similar reading is given so that with the two instruments and the German cannon a triangle is formed. By determining the exact distance from the two instruments to the German cannon, its position can be found. A shell is fired from a French cannon and the position at which it strikes can again be determined by use of the new American instrument. If the aim is inaccurate, it can be corrected until the German cannon is destroyed.

This instrument is so revolutionary in its practical application that when it is placed in use along the entire western front, officials say, the use of aeroplanes as locators of enemy artillery will be done away with.—Whittier News.

AROUSING CALIFORNIA

In an effort to arouse Californians from their general condition of apathy regarding the war and for the purpose of bringing home clearly to them the seriousness of the situation and the need for concerted action, there is being organized under the direction of the state council of defense a corps of what will be known as "California's Four Minute Men."

Instead of shouldering a musket as did their namesakes of Revolutionary days, California's Four Minute Men will fire verbal broadsides. Every motion picture theatre in the state is to be pressed into service as a part of the program being mapped out for the four minute speakers, and every phase of war conditions and the need of preparedness will be taken up by them in the campaign which is to be conducted.

Although the four minute speaking campaign is to be carried out here under the auspices of the state council of defense, it will in nowise be a local proposition, as similar campaigns are to be conducted in every state in the union under the auspices of the national council of defense.

In the campaign to be conducted in California, county organizations of speakers will be formed and they will formulate speaking programs which will cover every theater, school house and other public meeting place in every city and village in each county. The county organizations will co-operate with the state council of defense and will be under the direction of William V. Cowan, secretary of the state defense body, who has been delegated by the national council of defense to act as chairman of the California Four Minute Men.

Among the subjects to be discussed in the state-wide speaking campaign will be the pressing need of food conservation, the elimination of surplus delivery service in mercantile establishments, the utilization of every available bit of "man power" in the country, and similar topics. In their speeches on war subjects, the speakers will not speak longer than four minutes.—Monrovia News.

THE STATE COUNCIL OF DEFENSE SAYS

Every small boy in California ought to be encouraged to raise some rabbits. Such is the suggestion of one way of helping to meet the nation's meat problem which has come to the State Council of Defense from the Committee on Resources and Food Supply.

Rabbit-raising requires very little space, reports the University of California College of Agriculture. There is room enough in the back yard of the ordinary city home in California. People who want to help prevent a national meat shortage by raising their own rabbits would do well to write to the Editor-in-Chief of the Division of Publications, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., and ask for a copy of Farmers' Bulletin No. 496.

Moreover, the fertility of the back-yard vegetable garden will be much improved by returning the cleanings from the rabbit pens to the soil.

KEEP ONLY LAYING HENS

This is no time for the hen who is a slacker. If a hen will not lay at least 140 eggs a year, she ought not to be permitted to have any progeny. Care should be taken that future flocks are all hatched from the eggs of hens that are heavy layers.

Poultrymen whose hens average only about 120 eggs are likely to be put out of business, so the University of California College of Agriculture has reported to the Committee on Resources and Food Supply of the California State Council of Defense—if food goes much above $4 a hundred unless egg prices go up proportionately, which they have shown no reliable tendency to do. The man who is careful to breed up his flock until they produce 160 eggs per hen per annum has built on a firm foundation of assured prosperity.

To keep all pullets, merely because they are females, and then expect a profitable return from such a flock is declared by the College of Agriculture to be absurd in the extreme. Hens which produce only a few eggs, and those during the natural mating season, which is also the season of lowest prices, will have descendants with the same lazy habit of laying few eggs.

The "boarder" hen who does not earn her own keep should no more be allowed to have her children as her successors in the flock

SAVE YOUR POSTAGE AND WIN THE WAR

Those who are unacquainted with the workings of a newspaper office would be astounded could they but know of the great quantities of free dope that is thrown into the waste basket daily by every newspaper in the country. Tons and tons of so-called reading matter are received from automobile agencies, colleges, corporations, and in fact from every factory where an enterprising press agent is hired for the purpose of grinding out the so-called news.

Is it used by the newspapers? Well, hardly. This press agent dope has become a joke with the editors and bushels of it is never opened. In the case of the colleges and like institutions, the money which is being expended on the postage—and it is usually two-cent postage—could be used in educating a number of poor but worthy young people who are craving for learning. If newspapers would attempt to use one fraction of the amount of free publicity which is sent out they would go into bankruptcy without delay. It is deplorable to think of the wasted energy, time and postage which is expended in keeping alive a bunch of these press agents who are deluding their employers, into thinking that their stuff is getting by. Well, it isn't, and it won't.—Rialto Record.

PLANTATION TUNES TAUGHT TO CHORUS

Not only has a revival of community singing in the south served to give opportunities to thousands of people in cities which have established the custom to develop the music in their natures, but another scarcely less striking result has been noticed, especially in Birmingham, where the movement is at its height. This is the fact that a systematic search is being made for the music and words of old plantation melodies, many of which have never been in print. Old families are being visited, lumber camps are being searched and boatmen on rivers and levees questioned about the old stories and songs that their mothers used to tell and sing before the war.

The popularity of community singing in Birmingham was proved by a crowd of 8000 people that participated in the last Sunday concert at Capitol Park. Seats for only 4000 people are provided and the others, standing or sitting on the grass, join in the hour and a half meeting.

Nearly all of the people are found to know the tunes of The Star Spangled Banner, Maryland, My Maryland, America, and Dixie. But further than this they cannot go. The community singing instructors have undertaken to teach the whole city other songs, among them some of the old plantation melodies. At first it was noticed that only the people in the trained choruses who were on the platform sang; but as the band played the airs with feeling and rhythm and the leader good-naturedly urged the audience to join in the singing, the impulse to sing was too strong to resist. To encourage every one to sing, the leader has the band first play the air, then all are asked to sing; and if the response is not as full and hearty as it should be, he then asks that everybody hum the tune. This usually has the desired effect—for almost everybody can hum—and after the humming it is an easy matter for the audience to slip into singing the words, which are printed on the programs and generously distributed. Timidity is soon forgotten for every one seems too busy singing and enjoying it to think of the fellow next to him, unless it be to encourage him to sing a little louder.

One or two vocal, violin and other instrumental solos, besides the orchestral numbers, are introduced on each program.

That interest in community singing is genuine is evidenced in the fact that large numbers of persons occupy the same places in the audience on each Sunday afternoon. Besides those within the park, others sit in automobiles in the four streets flanking it. Those who come arrive

PUTTING LOCAL FOOD TO FRONT

If each hotel in every section of the United States would make special efforts to promote the use of food plentiful in that section by bringing it in an agreeable way to the attention of travelers and making specific reference to the national food campaign, the hotel would not only help its own section but would aid the nation greatly. This is the statement made by James Woods, hotel manager, of this city.

Knowledge of how to prepare these products in the most savory ways, Mr. Woods says, would naturally increase their consumption and tend to avert privations that may come in some instances solely thru ignorance of the bounty of nature in the United States. For instance, New England, he says, might feature sea food of every description—Christian Science Monitor.

ANSWERS INSULT
Holy Family Rectory
311 West Lomita Avenue
Glendale Cal.

My Dear Mr. Cowan:
The article in your paper, to which I called your attention as insulting to your Catholic readers, has been thus editorially commented on by "The Tidings," official organ of the Catholic church in Los Angeles:

Out in Glendale the Lutherans, aided and abetted by the Congregationalists, held a celebration last Sunday evening in honor of the 400th anniversary of the Protestant Reformation. The newspaper notices were equal to the importance of the event. We clip an excerpt:
"Our Catholic friends are also welcome. Let the parents bring their children for the good it will do them. Take the matter up," etc., etc.

When "our Catholic friends" want information about Luther they can find it in the painstaking and erudite works of Janssen, Grisar, and Denifle. Fortunately, too, Luther's own writings are not difficult to obtain, albeit a decent man does not like to touch some of them. We presume that the Glendale brethren did not read extracts from the foul-mouthed, heresiarch's books, else they could not have consistently invited children "for the good it will do them."

AMBULANCE PILLOW COMMITTEE

This week we sent away 50 pillows and have six left.

The price of newspapers and magazines has gone down steadily, so that last week although we had 1161 lbs. of newspapers and 247 lbs. of magazines, we only realized $8.61 from their sale. However, we have now made arrangements that will increase our profits. Mr. John Todd has very generously offered to take our papers into the city free of charge, thus saving us not only the cartage but the profit that the junk dealers have to charge us as well. I have been told that this saving will be as high as $8 per ton, but that seems too good to be true and we cannot know until we take in our first load of paper, which will be as soon as we get a ton. We now have between 700 and 800 lbs., which we collected last Friday.

Last Thursday Mrs. Davidson came out from the Los Angeles Chapter of the Red Cross to show us how to make Red Cross Rosies, which Los Angeles has given us the right to make and sell in Glendale. These little figures are the clever invention of a Los Angeles actress and their sale netted that chapter somewhat over $28,000. They are quickly made and the material in them amounts to almost nothing, so they are of no intrinsic value. They are really nothing in the world but clever little receipts showing that you have donated a little to the Red Cross.

Enthusiastic women of Glendale met Thursday and Friday afternoons and made 82 Red Cross Rosies, and Saturday afternoon 7 young girls sold enough of them to amount to $8.50. Two people donated to them 20 cents. Hereafter we will charge only 25 cents, though if any one is willing to give more we shall be glad to receive it.

Next Saturday girls will sell them at the moving picture buy, America, so come prepared to buy. Remember that this money all goes to provide comfort and help to our brave boys in our army and navy, and that the task of doing so is one to tax our powers and loyalty to the utmost.

COMPLIMENT R. T. PHILP

Robert T. Philp, who has enlisted in the United States Signal Corps of the Aviation service, was the complimented guest at a delightful dinner given just before his departure for San Francisco by Mrs. Harriet M. Dow of 141 Orange street.

The patriotic motif was used almost exclusively in decoration. The beautifully appointed table had as its central decoration a mirrored lake with flag-decorated boat, with its soldier passenger, symbolizing Mr. Philp's departure by boat for San Francisco.

The guests invited by Mrs. Dow to honor Mr. Philp were Mr. and Mrs. Volney E. Philp, Mrs. A. W. Dow, Miss Dorothy Dow, Walter Dow and Miss Jennie Cornwall.

SERMON BY REV. C. A. COLE AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Christ's desire was to have a cleansed church, a church emphasizing righteousness. At the very beginning of His ministry, unaided and alone, He cleanses the temple by driving out the money changers. And as a closing act of His ministry He repeats the cleansing.

Christ stands for a clean church, a righteous church. On the Master's lips the word "righteousness" had a tremendous significance. Matthew gives it as his first recorded word. "Suffer it to be so now, for thus it behooves us to fulfill all righteousness."

It is the word he is always emphasizing. This age is just only beginning to realize its meaning. If in our church life we had been using the word as Jesus did, many of our present-day problems would never have been born. There would have been no world war.

If the church for the last 100 years had been talking righteousness as strenuously as did Jesus in His three years' ministry, some of the wretched conditions in the church and the standards of morals of the nation would not be such as they are to-day.

The Jesus ideal for the church is a cleansed church, a righteous church.

Our ideals decide our destiny, for toward them we are bound to strive.

1. The church is not a resting place for the self righteous and eminently respectable, but a hospital. Some churches are altogether too nice. The idea of respectability is carried too far. There is no place for the poor and the sick, the outcast and the needy.

The ideal should not be comfort and dress and fineness of things, but how to raise the fallen and care for the distressed. We can talk for unity and for return to the Book, but the world will never be won to it unless we have the compassion of Christ incarnate once more in individuals and churches, showing itself in institutions of helpfulness and mercy.

2. The church is not a social club. Its meetings should not cater to the sense of pleasure nor should its sermons and addresses be dissertations on the social and political problems of the day. It is the place where Christ is known, not only as He touches the social life of nations but as He touches the heart of human beings, hearts that are crying for the bread of life and lives thirsting to know more of the fountain of cleansing.

This is a day of practical things. Preachers are studying social problems and propaganda. There is a danger in extreme views. The tendency develops too soon in the solving of social problems to forget the Divine Son of God. "I am the way, the truth and the life."

3. Many there are who think the ideal for the true church will be one which shall receive all manner of persons on whatever platform they choose to stand. To accomplish the desired end many there are who would throw overboard the old-time religion. "The religion of your mother" is good enough for you, my brother, whoever you are. Perhaps her theology may have to be changed, but not her Christ.

Take Christ out of the church and she goes to ruin. Destroy trust in Him as the Son of God and you destroy the fabric of Christianity.

4. The ideal is abroad and many Christians have it that with the weapons of the world we may conquer the strongholds of sin. One of the supreme needs of the hour is, for reformers, and those who represent Christ in the strife of this world, to realize that prayer is mighty before God. Many of the problems that we are trying to meet with worldly weapons and worldly wise ways, we must needs meet on our knees or we are doomed to defeat.

The house of God is the place of prayer for all nations and peoples. Supremely, according to the Jesus ideal, is prayer the work of the church. Other things in coping with the mighty warfare of the world are secondary.

5. Of late the popular magazine has much to say about the church. All phases of its activities have been written up again and again. In each of the write-ups the church has been represented as decaying and dying and in a large sense a failure. Spite of all the failure, the U. S. census reports show the church growing faster than at any time in her history. On an average we are building 3 churches a day for every day in the year; the Bible Societies are selling millions of Bibles every year, and the laymen's conventions recently held in 70 of our largest cities drew together such crowds of men as could not have been gathered in the name of any political party in America, any fraternal lodge or any known organization on earth other than the church of the Lord Jesus Christ.

We live in an age which is demanding social justice and political righteousness. In an age facing social and industrial wrongs. In an age of marvelous problems. In an age that demands men of character, noble and many and true. We want men to-day who will face the mighty men of the commercial world and demand from them just standards and righteous dealings in the name of Jesus of Nazareth.

And I can praise God that the church of to-day is as far from the standards, as a whole, of some of its critics as the east is from the west. In the place of the ideal of the magazine and novel writer of the hour, give me the Jesus ideal; the ideal of a cleansed church, a church standing for righteousness and justice, a church emphasizing the prayer life, a church caring for the sick and the poor and the suffering and the weak.

And, God helping me, that is the kind of a church I expect to hold up to the world. Away with the fashion ridden and pleasure besotted ideal. Down with that ideal which leaves out a suffering and a risen Christ.

We can take the world for the principles of truth and righteousness taught by the Son of Man if we hold up His ideals.

WRONG TIME TO TALK HEATING IN IMPERIAL VALLEY

Wise salesmen are always alert for the psychological moment to push their goods but they sometimes forget that a distance of several hundred miles may open up wide ranges in climatic conditions which may make suggestions to prospective customers not only inopportune but also irritating. The representative of a heating firm in the east, where the people have been constantly reminded of the necessity for providing heat by a succession of chills during the last few months, must have smiled if not too much exasperated at his own lack of consideration, when he received this reply from J. G. Scott, of Calexico, in the Imperial valley, to whom he had written regarding a heating plant for a business block which he contemplates building at El Centro:

"The temperature here as I write is 118 in the shade; humidity this morning, 83. What kind of a heating plant would you suggest? I haven't given the matter much thought, myself."

AN OLD FOOT

Jones—that is not his name, but it will do—had the misfortune to get in the way of an automobile driven by a lady on Van Ness Avenue, and was taken to a hospital, but his injuries were not serious, so he was immediately removed to the police station, where his assailant was being held. And as soon as Jones got there the lady started in to impress him with the fact that blame for the accident was all his.

"You know, Mr. Jones," she said, "you must have been walking very carelessly. I am a very careful driver. I have been driving a car for seven years."

"You've got nothing on me, ma'am," said Jones, politely; "I've been walking for thirty-four years." —Argonaut.

THREE AGENCIES USED

The foreign trade work of Uncle Sam's department of commerce is centered in the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, which is organized to collect commercial information in foreign countries and to distribute it to American manufacturers and exporters. Its work partakes of the nature of a commercial reconnaissance. For collecting information, it now relies mainly upon three agencies—commercial attaché, special agent and the consul.

The ten commercial attaches were sent to their posts about two and a half years ago, when the war started, these posts being at London, Paris, Berlin, Petrograd, Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro, Santiago, (Chile), Lima, (Peru), Peking and Melbourne. These men are highly qualified business diplomats, who are expected to be capable not only of reporting the minor incidents of commercial importance, but of following up the bigger developments, and of detecting and understanding the undercurrents of the business and commercial life of the districts to which they are assigned.

The special agent is a specialist in some one line, and if he proves to be the right man he may be sent to every corner of the earth to study the markets for his line of goods.

The consular service of the state department has long been one of the chief reliances of the bureau, and in this branch of the information-gathering service there are some 230 consuls. These consuls give part of their time to reporting on commercial conditions for the bureau, and in years past the publications of the bureau were based entirely upon the work of the consuls.

MEDICAL SPECIALISTS

WASHINGTON, August 13.—The draft Sammies will take their own brain specialists right along with them when they go to France.

That was one of the things Surgeon General Gargas made clear today when he told how Sammie's aches, pains, wounds, germs and brainstorms will be taken care of.

As for germs, the general is going around to every one of the cantonment camps in this country and tuck up one of his well known and effective "No Admittance" signs.

It was Gorgas who drove the yellow jacket out of the south, made the canal zone safe for ditch diggers and put the finishing touch on the bubonic plague rats of New Orleans.

He is now in supreme command of America's surgical and medical war plans for the Sammies at home and abroad.

"We intend to make our military cantonments as safe as medical science knows how," he said today.

"We have put the best brains of the country on the job. We have organized a staff that you couldn't equal in any ten hospitals in the United States."

There will be specialists on everything. Major J. E. Goldthwait, for instance, the wizard of bones and joints. The Mayo brothers of Rochester, Minn., are majors under Gorgas, too.

Regarding mental disorders among the men, which he characterized as "very common in this war," General Gorgas said: "We will take special care of these. Dr. Pearce Hailey is working on that in our department with the rank of major."

"Mental troubles are among the most common to be dealt with in modern armies. So much so that European hospitals have had to specialize in them."

"Shell shock, of course, requires scientific treatment. The best results are obtained when the patient is kept under observation within sound of the guns."

"It used to be that a coward or a quitter was rewarded with a kick or given heroic treatment in the guard house. Our prevailing practice, as is the case in all modern armies, will be in the majority of cases to give the needed mental and medical treatment to these men who can't live up to their duties as soldiers."

General Gorgas' plans call for the enlisting of the services of 25,000 American physicians and surgeons within the next 12 months.

EMERGENCY RATIONS

It has been repeatedly demonstrated that the average man or woman can live on a simple ration costing 20 to 25 cents a day; work hard and be adequately nourished. It is not an emergency ration, yet this war is distinctly an emergency. This raises the war-time question as to how much more than 25 cents a day the average man and woman can spend for food and get "value received." Economy in food expenditure is a public as well as a private duty, not alone for the poor man but for the well-to-do. The following menus were recently served to the New York police diet squad at a food cost of 25 cents per day:

Breakfasts—1—Hominy, bananas, milk, rolls and coffee. 2—Fried hominy and syrup, rolls and nut butter, coffee. 3—Oatmeal and milk, buttered toast, coffee.

Luncheons—1—Baked beans, salt pork, brown bread and tea. 2—Spaghetti and cheese, pickled beets, cinnamon rolls and nut butter, tea. 3—Macaroni croquettes with tomato sauce, graham bread and nut butter, cornstarch pudding with raisin sauce, tea.

Dinners—1—Goulash, vegetables, steamed rice, hot biscuit, apple pie and tea. 2—Corned beef and cabbage, carrots, graham bread and nut butter, mock cherry pie, tea. 3—Beef pot roast, carrots and onions, whole wheat bread and nut butter, caramel tapioca, tea.

The policemen average about 170 pounds in weight, and worked several hours a day at boxing, wrestling, jiu-jitsu, setting-up and other strenuous training exercises, which further increased their fuel requirements. The 12 policemen gained 29 pounds on this diet in the three weeks' test. The average business man weighing 155 pounds can be adequately nourished on a well balanced diet of fuel, body-building and body-regulating material containing three-fourths of these food values.

"AMERICA"

Unfortunately, too, this familiar and well loved song must admit its partial organization, at least, in foreign sources—a fact which naturally precludes the possibility of its ever being a typically national American air. The tune is frankly of Teutonic origin—being used as a German national air as well as for the setting of the English national anthem "God Save the King"—although it is claimed that the composer Handel, copied it from an old French melody. The words as we sing them are distinctly American, however, Samuel F. Smith, wrote the stirring patriotic verses "My Country, 'tis of Thee" in 1832 and they were first sung in Boston at that time, to the borrowed tune, under the title of "America." Besides the United States, Great Britain and Germany, its musical theme figures among the patriotic airs of nine other countries—a tune of twelve nations.

STANZAS

(Written near Naples)

The Sun is warm, the sky is clear,
 The waves are dancing fast and bright,
 Blue isles and snowy mountains wear
 The purple moon's transparent light:
 The breath of the moist air is light
 Around its unexpanded buds;
 Like many a voice of one delight,
 The winds, the birds, the ocean floods,
 The City's voice itself is soft, like Solitude's.

I see the Deep's untrampled floor
 With green and purple seaweeds
 strown;
 I see the waves upon the shore,
 Like light dissolved in star-showers,
 thrown;
 I sit upon the sands alone,
 The lightning of the noontide ocean
 Is flashing round me, and a tone
 Arises from its measured motion,
 How sweet! did any heart now share in my emotion. . . .—Shelley.

CONTRASTS

The new and the old are often seen in delightful contrast in the streets of London today. "Outside a Government office, a short time ago," says a recent writer, "I saw two big cars waiting. The chauffeur of one was leaning over his wheel with that intensely bored expression on his face which is the prerogative of taxi drivers. At the driver's seat of the other car was the latest production of war-time conditions, a smart young chauffeur, in spotless white overall, with a crochet hook and a ball of cotton, working at high speed on a square of lace." It is not ever and always so with the chauffeur, however. Did not the famous Straker, of Shaw's creating, read the highest products of British journalism "between waits?"

AMERICAN COAL MINERS ARE NEEDED IN FRANCE

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, July 25.—(By Mail.)—Sooner or later Lens, capital of France's "Black Country" or coal belt, will fall before the ever-tightening pressure put upon it by Sir Douglas Haig. When this day comes America can render France and her allies no greater service than to send immediately to this region the experts necessary to put the coal mines in order in the shortest possible time.

For three years France has been deprived of the richest coal deposits she possesses. In the Loire, Burgundy, Nivernais, Gard, Blanz, d'Aubin, Deczeville and Carmaux, it is true there are coal mines but these are not to be compared with those in the northern part of the country, around Lens. This deposit runs from east to west, from Belgium to Flechinelle, in France and since the German occupation it is only the extreme western end of it which the French have been able to work. And this is the hardest to work, being deep below the surface. Whereas in Belgium the coal is practically on top of the ground, at Anzin it is 120 feet down and deeper the further west it runs. At Douai it is 480 feet deep, at Flechinelle about 1800 feet.

The vein of coal from the Belgian frontier to Flechinelle is about 65 miles long by 10 miles wide. Prior to the war of the 39 millions of tons extracted from French soil, three-fifths came from here or about 25,000,000 tons. Even with this, France has always been compelled to buy from the outside almost as much coal as she produced, half of which came from Belgium—from the country around Mons, Charleroi and Liege, seized by Germany as her very first act of war.

It is this country, around Lens and behind Lens to the east, which the Prussian warlords are defending regardless of the cost in German lives. And here it is that British pressure is growing ever stronger. Every blow struck this summer has yielded a net gain in the direction of these coal fields and a retirement anywhere from Arras to the sea would be more injurious to Germany from an economical point of view than at any other part of the western front.

Fighting in this country is extremely difficult. On the sea where British Tommies have recently made their appearance, there are sand dunes which make trenches almost impossible. Fighting there is like fighting in the heart of the Sahara Desert. Further south along the line is water, water everywhere, spread out over the flat country. Everybody knows what the country about Ypres is like, and around Messines Ridge while below that comes La Basse and Lens, with their mountains of slag and cinders, called "Crassiers," rising nearly 200 feet over the level country around about; and the "fosses" or mines, with mining buildings clustered about them, all affording the best possible obstacles from the defender's viewpoint, hiding fieldguns, howitzers and especially machine guns.

Such is the country over which the British are now fighting. If the Germans are beaten back out of the coal country they will do as they have done already at Lens: Destroy the mines by blowing them up or flooding them, or both. But American miners are said to be the best to be had and certainly the United States can do no better than to send hundreds of them over here to reclaim the ruins for even if the Prussians do their work so completely as to render the mines useless for the remainder of the war, reconstruction of France and Belgium will depend largely on fuel supply.

"It must have been terrible for you to have your son in jail for joy-riding," consoled the kind friend.
 "Yes, indeed," sighed the mother, "but, then, it was such a comfort to know where he was nights."—Life.

DISLODGING FRUIT STAINS

An old-fashioned, but still effective way to remove fruit stains is to spread the stained cloth over the top of a mixing bowl, stretching it rather tightly and fastening it down; then, holding a kettle of boiling water about two feet above it, to pour the contents slowly down directly upon the stains. If the stain is not an old one—and fruit stains should not be allowed to harden but should be removed immediately—this treatment usually causes the discoloration to disappear.

GETTING IN ON IT

A Scotchman came upon an automobile overturned at a railway crossing. Beside it lay a man badly smashed up.

"Get a doctor," he moaned.
 "Did the train hit you?" asked the Scotchman.
 "Yes, yes. Get a doctor."
 "Has the claim agent been here yet?"
 "No, no. Please get a doctor."
 "Move over, you," said the Scot, "till I lie down beside you."

CONSERVATION

The latest story of the "Bang went Saxpence" series:

There were two Hielan' men, an' they were at the front. An' yin o' them coteh a hen an' the ither yin was just going to throw its neck.
 "No the noo," says the first yin, "let her be till the morn's mornin'." She might lay an egg."

A fond mother, hearing that an earthquake was expected, sent her boys to a friend in the country to be out of the way of it. In a few days she got a note from the friend: "Please take your boys home and send along the earthquake!"—The Woman's Journal.
