The Year-Book of the Students of St.
Mary's School, Raleigh, North Carolina

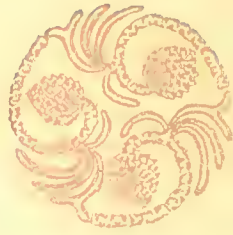

Foreword

*Come spend an hour or so with us,
Dear friends and comrades true;
This book, a chronicle sincere,
We here present to you.
It shows our faces, work and play—
A happy, vivid scene—
And tries to paint St. Mary's life
In Nineteen Twelve-Thirteen.*

A Brief Glimpse at The History of St. Mary's

St. Mary's School was founded in 1842, by the Rev. Aldert Smedes, D.D. The opening day was May 12th, now celebrated as Alumnae Day.

The present location was first set apart as the site of an Episcopal school in 1832, when influential churchmen, carrying out a plan proposed by Bishop Ives, purchased the present "Grove" as a part of a tract of one hundred and sixty acres, to be used in establishing a Church School for boys. First East Rock House, then West Rock House and Main Building were built for use in this boys' school. But the school, though it started out with great promise, proved unsuccessful and was closed; and the property passed back into private hands.

Bishop Ives was instrumental in 1842 in getting Dr. Aldert Smedes, at that time conducting a successful girls' school in New York City, to come to Raleigh to establish St. Mary's, which he did in May, 1842, as stated.

From the first the school was a success, and for the remainder of his life Dr. Smedes allowed nothing to interrupt the work he had undertaken. During the years of the War between the States St. Mary's was at the same time school and refuge for those driven from their homes. It is a tradition of which her daughters are proud, that during those years of struggle her doors were ever open, and that at one time the family of the beloved President of the Confederacy were sheltered within her walls.

On April 25, 1877, Dr. Smedes died, leaving St. Mary's to the care of his son, Rev. Dr. Bennett Smedes, who had been during his father's lifetime a teacher in the school. This trust was regarded as sacred, and for twenty-two years, in which he spared neither expense nor pains, Dr. Bennett Smedes carried on his father's work for education.

During this eventful half-century, St. Mary's was in the truest sense a Church school, but it was a private enterprise.

In 1897, at the suggestion of Dr. Bennett Smedes, the Diocese of North Carolina purchased the real property from Mr. Cameron, the private owner, and the school equipment from Dr. Smedes; and the School was chartered by the General Assembly. The corporate title is "The Trustees of St. Mary's School, Raleigh, N. C."

Dr. Smedes continued as Rector until his death in 1899. He was succeeded by Dr. Bratton, who resigned to become Bishop of Mississippi in 1903. Rev. McNeely DuBose succeeded Dr. Bratton in September, 1903, and was in turn succeeded by the present Rector, Rev. Geo. W. Lay, in July, 1907.

During the life of the founder St. Mary's was a high class school for the general education of girls, the training being regulated by the needs and exigencies of the years. Pupils finished their training without "graduating." In 1879, under the second Rector, set courses were established, covering college preparatory work without sacrificing the special features which the school stands for, and in June, 1879, the first class was regularly graduated.

In May, 1900, the Trustees determined to establish the College, and the standard was accordingly raised.

For the first fifteen years of St. Mary's there were but the three buildings that now form the central group. The Chapel was on the first floor of East Rock; the Rector and his family lived in the east half of the second floor of the Main Building; dormitories of the style of those still surviving were on both floors of West Rock and on the second floor of East Rock as well as on the third floor of the Main Building.

In 1867 the Chapel was built by the owner of the property according to Dr. Smedes' wishes. It was designed by Upjohn, a famous architect of the time, and the first floor of East Rock became available for other purposes. During the war as many individuals found a home in the school as have ever been accommodated since, but there was much "doubling up." In ordinary times, however, the full number of boarding pupils was usually less than a hundred.

In 1884 the Art Building, intended for recitation purposes only, was added to the equipment. The building was scarcely finished when it caught fire and was entirely burned, but without delay the present building was erected on the same foundations. No need for further new buildings was felt from this time until after the coming of Dr. Bratton, when his magnetic influence and the inauguration of an active campaign for students for what was now the Diocesan School led to a complete overflowing of the buildings. As speedily as possible funds were secured and Dr. Bratton had the North Dormitory and Rectory erected, meantime using the old Blount mansion across the street as an overflow dormitory.

The loss of the wooden Infirmary by fire in 1904 led to the building of the new brick Infirmary in that year; the next year the Chapel was rebuilt and enlarged through the efforts of the Alumnæ; in 1907 the Auditorium was erected as the Eliza Battle Pittman Memorial, and in 1909, partly through the Clement Legacy, Clement Hall and East and West Wing were added.

The present session the enrollment at St. Mary's for the first time passed the three hundred mark, and more resident St. Mary's girls have been in attendance than ever before. The boarding accommodations are at present limited to one hundred and seventy-five, which however still makes St. Mary's the largest Episcopal resident school for girls and young women in this country.

Alma Mater

TUNE—"Believe me, if all those endearing young charms."

St. Mary's, wherever thy daughters may be,
They love thy high praises to sing,
And tell of thy beauties of campus and tree
Around which sweet memories cling.
They may wander afar, out of reach of thy name,
Afar, out of sight of thy grove;
But the thought of St. Mary's aye kindles a flame
Of sweet recollections and love.

Beloved St. Mary's! How great is our debt!
Thou hast cared for thy daughters full well;
They can never thy happy instructions forget,
Nor fail of thy virtues to tell.
The love that they feel is a heritage pure;
An experience wholesome and sweet.
Through fast-rolling years it will grow and endure;
Be a lamp and a guide to their feet.

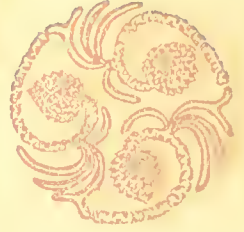

May the future unite all the good of thy past
With the best that new knowledge can bring.
Ever onward and upward thy course! To the last
Be thou steadfast in every good thing.
Generations to come may thy fair daughters still Fondly think on thy halls and thy grove
And carry thy teachings o'er woodland and hill,
Of earnestness, wisdom and love.

A Later "Daughter"

St. Mary's has always been proud to claim "Mildred Lee" as one of her daughters of the earlier days, and she is proud to claim "Nell Wilson" as one of her daughters in the present generation.

The spirit of the old South was, we believe, the spirit of St. Mary's, as it was typified in General Lee; the spirit of the new South, the national spirit, we hope is characteristic of the St. Mary's of today, as it is typified in President Wilson.

But not alone as Woodrow Wilson's daughter is St. Mary's glad to claim "Nell Wilson." Her St. Mary's record was a worthy one. She took a prominent part in the school life, both in her studies and in her student activities and she has continued a loyal daughter of St. Mary's since she passed from the School walls.

Miss Wilson came to St. Mary's in the fall of 1906, after finishing at Miss Fine's school at Princeton. She was at St. Mary's two years and was awarded an English Certificate in May, 1908. Mr. DuBose was the Rector when she entered St. Mary's, and Mrs. DuBose and Mrs. Wilson had been girlhood friends, Mrs. DuBose having been one of Mrs. Wilson's bridesmaids.

St. Mary's girls do not often elect Greek, so that when Miss Wilson took up Greek at her father's wish she at once conveyed an impression of intellectuality, and in 1908 she was the "Statistics" choice as "The Most Intellectual." She was a member of Miss Thomas' Sorority, Alpha Kappa Psi, and debated for Sigma Lambda in the Debate of 1908. She was a member of the Muse Club and of the Annual Muse Board, and contributed a part of the drawings for the 1908 MUSE. She also played tennis, started the Riding Club, and belonged to such beautiful (?) organizations of that day as "W. I." and "H. D. S." So present-day girls can see how completely a St. Mary's girl she was.

The Alumnae Association of St. Mary's was established in 1880 and meets annually at Commencement. It has done effective work in aiding the progress of the School and grows yearly stronger and more vigorous.

The Alumnae Chapters meet in their several towns and cities on November 1st, All Saints, which is celebrated as Founders' Day, and on May 12th, the date of the first opening of St. Mary's, which is observed as Alumnae Day. There are active Alumnae Chapters in New York City, Baltimore, and many points in the South.

The most important special work accomplished by the Alumnae Association has been the establishment of the Smedes Memorial Scholarship, to the memory of the Founder and his son, the second Rector of St. Mary's; and the rebuilding of the Chapel. Its present special work is the fund for establishing the Mary Iredell and the Kate McKimmon Scholarships.

The Paintings in The Parlor

BISHOP RAVENSCROFT

This portrait of Bishop Ravenscroft was obtained by Dr. Smedes, some years before the War, from Mr. Chas. P. Mallett, of Fayetteville, for whom it was painted in 1829-'30 by Jacob Eicholtz, a celebrated Philadelphia painter.

These facts are given by Mr. Marshall DeLancey Haywood in his "Bishops of North Carolina," and to Mr. Haywood the Muse is also indebted for the use of the plates from which the paintings are reproduced here.

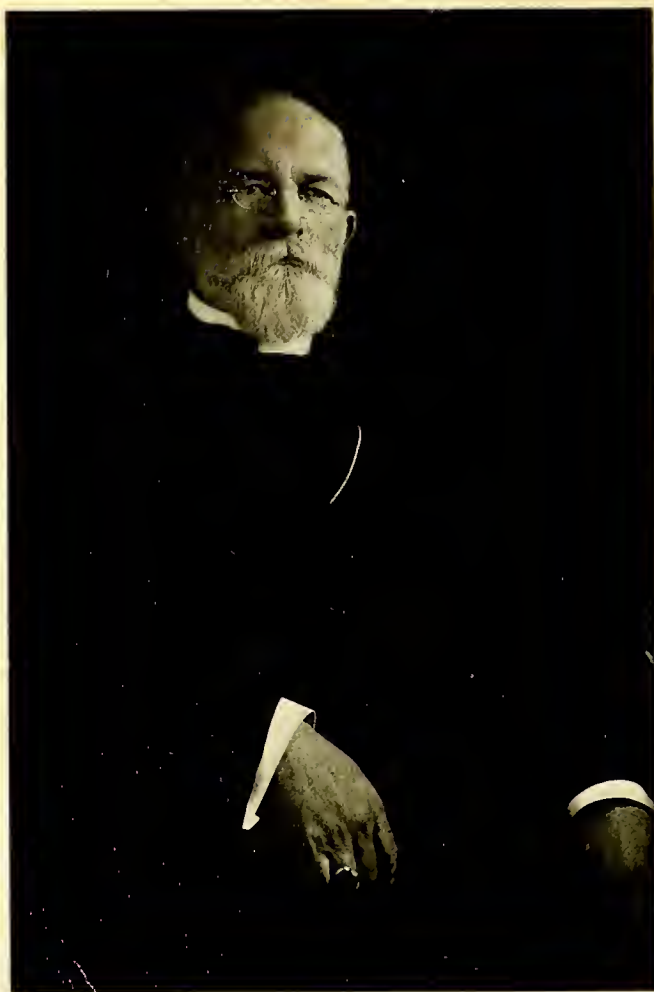

The Paintings in The Parlor

THE CONFIRMATION GROUP

This portrait, representing Bishop Ives in the act of confirming a class of four girls, has hung in the parlor at St. Mary's for more than half a century. It was painted for Dr. Aldert Smedes by William Hart about the year 1844.

St. Mary's girls of the time sat for Mr. Hart while he was at work on the painting, but it has never been fully established whether the girls' figures are portraits or merely "fancy pictures."

Hail St. Mary's

In a grove of stately oak trees,
Where the sunlight lies,
Stands St. Mary's true and noble,
'Neath the Southern skies.

Far and wide, oh sound her praises,
Chorus full and free,
Hail, St. Mary's, Alma Mater,
Hail, all hail to thee!

Well we love the little chapel,
Ever hold it dear;
Hear the echoes of the music
Rising soft and clear.

Far and wide, etc.

There the ivy and the roses
Climb the old stone wall,
There the sweet, enticing bird notes
Sound their magic call.

Far and wide, etc.

And the bonds of friendship strengthen
As her beauties charm;
We draw close to Alma Mater,
Trust her guiding arm.

Far and wide, etc.

*The Nineteen Thirteen Senior Class
Comes now to bid you all farewell;
Dear hours that we together passed
Are gone, our thoughts upon them dwell.
With saddened hearts we leave these walls,
To them our girlhood memories cling,
You campus green and well-loved halls—
To you our parting praise we sing.*

*Hail, hail, constant, true,
Gleams thy light serene!
We thy latest daughters
Hail St. Mary's queen!*

*Dear Alma Mater, praise we bring
For friendships nurtured at your side;
No dearer, sweeter ties will cling
To any hearts than here abide.
Inspired by you our thoughts unfold
A larger aim. In all you've seemed
To guide our steps, our lives to mold
To nobler things we had not dreamed.*

*Hail, hail, constant, true,
Gleams thy light serene!
We thy latest daughters
Hail St. Mary's queen!*

*Though there're only thirteen of them,
We really, truly love them,
Their wit, their airs, their beauty we adore;
O dear class of Nineteen Thirteen,
We admire you all for certain,
And we wish you all good future evermore.*

(Refrain of the Junior Song to the Seniors)

The Prophecy

Sing a song of Thirteen,
Hear me prophesy
Happy maidens' futures
Buried in a pie.

When the pie is opened
See what we shall see—
Thirteen maids of Thirteen
As they look in Twenty Three.

Gaze upon them closely
Every "individell,"
Maybe we can thusly
Come to guess the riddle.

* * *

This lady hoeing cotton
In blue jean overalls
Is Farmer Ellen Johnson,
On whom the city palls.

You need not go to London
To see a suffragette,
Our Cherry is a fighting one
You will not soon forget.

"Miss Maxwell" is a French modiste,
Her shop's a grand affair;
She'll trick you out in Paris garb,
Her gowns have "such an air."

The secret is that Bessie White
As model serves her well—
Our own "hest looking girl"
Makes Madame's gowns look swell.

Mary Butler's cap and gown
Proclaim her college "prof."—
But that we always knew she'd be
When just a little Soph.

A sister soul is Margaret Leard,
A mathematics teacher;
In her profession she's so high
It's very hard to reach her.

And Alice Lacy's classic brow
Awaits a laurel crowning;
As poet she is known to fame—
A second Mrs. Browning.

You've seen her in the circus
This gay equestrienne queen;
The match of our friend Caroline
Perhaps is never seen.

But here's a famous lawyer
In practice wondrous kind;
The calm, unbiased legal soul
Shows Jennie Woodruff's mind.

This famous cook's beyond the reach
If you should think of hiring;
But recognize Rebecca Kyle,
The modest and retiring.

In course of time we may admire
This quite entrancing creature;
What? Amy Winston, can it be?
A lusty female preacher.

In years ago the practice halls
Proclaimed the coming bride;
Peep 'neath the veil—it's Lizzie Lee;
How very dignified!

In spite of youthful charm and grace,
In spite of beaux galore—
This rare old maid—Susannah sure;
I must not tell you more.

* * *

Thus sings the song of Seniors'
Direful prophecy;
Thirteen girls of Thirteen,
In Nineteen Twenty-Three.

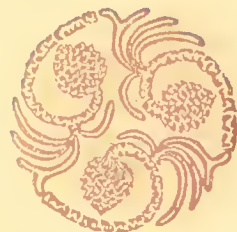

The Senior Chant

*O gee, O gee,
Look at me, look at me,
I'm a full-fledged grad-u-ate;
My brain's so full of knowledge
Gained at old St. Mary's College,
That it almost cracks my pate.
As a suffragette,
Or a household pet,
I'm armed to meet the foe;
And the merely man,
Doing the best he can,
Will stand a very, very poor show.*

*O fuss, O fuss,
Look at us, look at us,
The Class of the Great Thirteen;
We're going to use the knowledge,
Gained at old St. Mary's College,
To conquer half the world, we ween.
So as suffragettes,
Or as household pets,
We're surely well prepared
To make a great big dent
In the starry firmament
Or—have our troubles shared.*

Chaw Sir.

The Inter-Society Debates

The Annual Inter-Society Debates were inaugurated in 1902 and have been held each year since. Including the debate of 1913, the Sigma Lambdas have been victorious eight years, and the Epsilon Alpha Pi debaters four years.

The 1913 Debate

Resolved: That it is undesirable that women should have the right of suffrage.

In the Auditorium

Saturday, May 3, 1913, at eight o'clock

Judges: HON. W. A. HOKE of the North Carolina Supreme Court
DR. GEORGE SUMMEY, JR., of A & M College
MR. PERRY E. SEAGLE, of Raleigh

Sigma Lambda: MARY BROWN BUTLER, '13, and LANIE STANTON HALES, '16 defeated

Epsilon Alpha Pi: JULIA HORNER COOPER, '14, and JULIA WASHINGTON ALLEN '14

First and Last

When you hear of the school—just as most of us do—
Of its feasts and its fun—and, of course, lessons, too—
When you've studied the catalogue through and through—
That's when you dream of St. Mary's.

When you've told all your friends and relations "Goodbye,"
And have been on the train till 'most ready to die,
And are tired and dusty and wanting to cry—
That's when you dread St. Mary's.

When 'mid rattle and clatter and dust in whirls
You find yourself in an ocean of girls,
With long hair and short hair, with plaits and curls—
That's when you reach St. Mary's.

When the girls take to hiding in quiet nooks,
When all around you see nothing but books—
And "exam week" is plainly announced by the looks—
That's when you fear St. Mary's.

When the day comes that's dearest to every heart,
When you don't know why, but your eyes will smart,
When the best of friends are forced to part—
That's when you leave St. Mary's.

But from early youth till snowy years,
'Mid a daily round of laughter and tears,
Through a whole lifetime of joys and cares—
That's when you love St. Mary's.

—M. R. DUB., 1905.

A rah from us,
A rah to you,
We are the girls
Who wear the blue!

St. Mary's Down in Dixie

(Tune: "Dixie")

Down in the South in the land of cotton,
Dear old school not a bit forgotten,
Hooray, hooray, hooray, hooray!
For St. Mary's dear we'll never fear,
The thoughts of her bring only cheer,
Hooray, hooray! hooray for dear
St. Mary's!

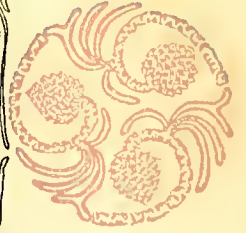

St. Mary's, yes, great place for schoolin',
Where you work and play and do some foolin',
Hooray, hooray, hooray, hooray!
Chorus.

E. A. P.'s or Sigma Lambda's,
Alpha Rho's or Namby-Pamby's,
Hooray, hooray, hooray, hooray!
Chorus.

We're sometimes Sigma's sometimes Mu'ses,
Whatever we are you'll please excuse us,
Hooray, hooray, hooray, hooray!
Chorus.

"Hark, hark, hark, the bell is ringing Bidding us once more to Clement Hall"

"There was going to be a fine ball game and we all were just crazy to go"

"St. Mary's! Ah, how dear to us
That sweet, beloved name sounds!"

MR. H. E. HODGSON
"Chaw Sir"

For almost thirty years St. Mary's girls and St. Mary's teachers have known Mr. Hodgson and found him their friend. The Class of 1910 paid tribute to him in a special section of their Year Book.

The "Orrible Tale" which he told so effectively at the School Party, May 10th, is one of the compositions of his boyhood days. Illustrated by Miss Bot-tum, we reproduce it in this MUSE.

Mr. Hodgson, who writes as "Chaw Sir," had written the Class Songs for many St. Mary's classes before he wrote "O gee, O gee," and to him we also owe our first School Song, "Alma Mater."

Selections From "Chaw Sir"

Philosophy

Wherever you are, do your best,
Leave the Lord to take care of the rest,
He has given you life not for anger and strife,
But to help, cheer, and love—and be blessed.

Punctuality

If you see a man walking at a leisurely pace,
Just loafing along, with a smile on his face,
He started in time you will find.
Another comes scurrying, hurrying, worrying,
His face all awry, and an outstanding eye—
He started a little behind.

* * *

All the leisure in life,
All the pleasure in life,
Belongs to the man that's on time.

Plaint on a Hat

She's out of sight, she's out of sight,
She's young and pretty, sweet and bright;
The hat is probably all right,
But now the girl is out of sight!

The After-Holiday Feeling

I've just come back from Christmas;
Oh, what a time I've had!
I cannot eat, the sight of food
Just fairly makes me mad;
I've fallen off just fourteen pounds,
My head aches fit to split,
My feet are full of blisters and
I cannot sleep a bit.
And just imagine, if you can,
The glorious time I've spent;
But oh, but oh, you can't conceive
How much I long for Lent.

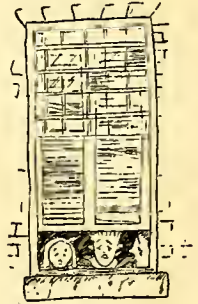

An orrible tale I ave to tell
 About disasters that hefell
 A family that once resided
 Upon the very same street as I did.

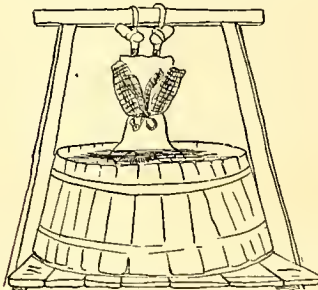

And oh it is an orrihle tale;
 'Twill make your very cheeks turn pale,
 And your eyes with tears will be overcome,—
 Terwiddle, terwiddle, terwiddledeedum.

The father, he was a regular gruffun,
 And never had no fun nor nuffun;
 And never made the least endeavor
 To make no jokes not whatsomelever;
 (For oh it is an orrihle tale;
 'Twill make your very cheeks turn pale, etc.)

He pulled down the hinds to keep out the light,
 And made the place as dark as night,
 So that every hoy and every gal
 Grew up hy-po-chon-dri-a-i-cal!
 (For oh, it is an orrihle tale;
 'Twill make your very cheeks turn pale, etc.)

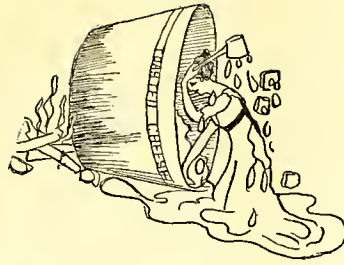

They all agreed to quit this life,
 Which is compoged of sorrow and strife,
 And on the very self-same day,
 Each dispoed of himself in the following way:
 (For oh it is an orrihle tale, etc.)

The father down to the garden did walk
 And cut his throat with a piece of chalk;
 And the mother an end to her life
 did put,
 By hanging herself in the water-hutt.
 (For oh it is an orrible tale, etc.)

The daughter fell on her bended knees,
And smothered herself in—
toasted cheese;

And the son, he was a determined young fellow,
Pizened himself by swallowing
his big umbrella.
(For oh it is an horrible tale, etc.)

The servant, seeing what they did,
Strangled herself with a saucepan lid;

And the very baby that lay in the cradle;
Shot its poor head off with its own little ladle.
(For oh it is an horrible tale, etc.)

Poor Binks, the big pussy,
that sat by the fire,
Died of swallowing abruptly
a big auto tire;

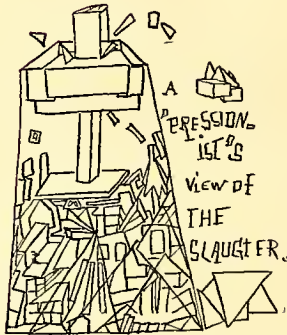

And a fly on the ceiling—
 (This case is the wust un—)
 Just blew itself up with spontaneous combustion.
 (For oh it is an orrible tale, etc.)

The walls, they opened into slits,
 And the furniture cracked itself
 to bits;

And so universal was the slaughter,
 There was not a thing left

But a pail of water!

For oh it is an orrible tale;
 'Twill make your very cheeks turn pale;
 And your eyes with tears should now o'erflow,
 After listening to my tale of gee-whoa!

Chaw Sir.

A Rhyme of The Year

Listen, dear reader, and you shall hear
A chronicle brief of our School Year,
A tale not wild or overthrilling—
Still—

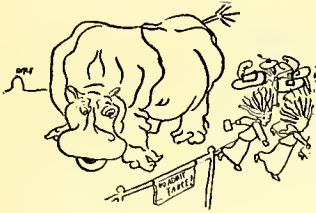

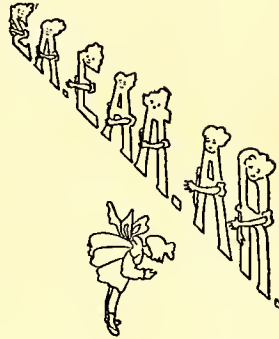

Listen to it, if you are willing.

* * *

We devoted September perforce to our classes—
Or to changing our roommates,—
And so time passes:
A little humdrum, as you may see:

Then we make our bow to the
E. A. P.,
And then at the Sigma Lamhda
Reception,
You haven't the very faintest conception
How nice they were; and the Alpha Rho's

Most charmingly brought the set to a close.

And then, lest we grow too wise
or too soher,

The Circus and Fair the last of Octoher.
But the nicest, jolliest, happiest scene,

Was the night we gave to all
Hallowe'en:
We danced as witches, as ghosts,
and as elves,
In fact we were everything hut
our own selves.

Then the Chorus Class gave the Operetta!
I'm sure you never will see a better;

The girls were so good it was hard to tell
The star, but we think she was Jennie Belle.

December 14th was "Mice and Men"—
Dear Reader, 'twould take a talented pen
To half do justice to all those girls,
I'll not even try, my brain quite whirls,
But entre-nous, between you and me,
Perhaps the most charming was Elizabeth T.

Now Christmas is here, but no,
not quite,
For before we go there's a wonderful sight—
The Christmas Tree, with its color and light—
The gifts and the carols, the hits are entrancing;
Next day we go home with hearts madly dancing.

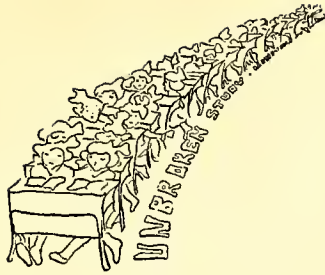

II

I know very well my verse is the neater
By keeping a little bit true to the meter,
But a slow, halting measure now
grips me perforce,
For the time is upon us—Examinations—of course.
They always were bugbears, however well meant,
Tho' perhaps they do make us more ready for Lent.

A long stretch of study, unbroken monotony,
The talk is of Algebra, German,
and Botany.

Till bright Easter appears,
with sunshine of spring,
Our hearts are a-tiptoe, our mind on the wing.

There's an egg-hunt, some parties,
and dancing once more,
The studies go on just the same as before.

There are Music Recitals, the Dramatic Club play,
And grand preparations for Senior Class Day:
Then Commencement approaches—it really is here Almost the greatest event of the year.

There's only one greater, now say what you choose,
It's the time you are handed

the ANNUAL MUSE.

Statistics

Jennie stands for influence;
Bessie White for looks;
For courtesy Maie London;
Mary B. for books.

Winnie is the dancer;
E. Candler's very neat;
Musical Elizabeth
For talent's hard to beat.

Helen for ubiquity;
Tallulah dear for muscle;
Carrie for the pretty girl;
Elise Stiles for hustle.

Lina L. is popular;
Louise likes to chatter;
Fascinating Gertrude
Dearly loves to flatter.

Sing a song of maidens—
Fourteen out of many;
Should you ask the reason,
There really isn't any.

*"A little nonsense now and then
Is relished by the best of men."*

A Little Song

I will sing a little song,
Which shall not be very long,
All about the sweet St. Maryites;
Some sober, and some gay,
Some with nothing much to say,
And some prepared to set the world to rights!

CHORUS:

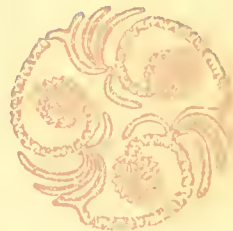

O those dear St. Mary's girls,
With their graces and their curls,
How delectable, detestable they are!
Their dresses and their hats,
And their funny little spats!
You will hardly find their equal near or far!

Ah, they study very hard,
And they work and toil and plod,
Each ready for the teacher's heck and call;
But some there are who state—
('Tis a wonder to relate)—
There's a girl or two who studies not at all!
Chorus.

There's a college, I would say,
Not a half a mile away,
That educates entrancing little boys;
And when life seems rather dry,
And the time goes crawling by—
On Saturdays they serve as charming toys!
Chorus.

Now of course it's understood
That these girls are very good,
But the teachers just occasionally find
To restrict a little bit,
In detention hall to sit,
Are attentions they consider very kind.
Chorus.

If you take them all and all,
From the Dorms to Senior Hall,
And weigh them in the balance carefully,
You really might do worse—
To be very short and terse—
They absolutely suit me to a tee!
Chorus.

Des

I've gossiped in the Muse Room,
I've done twelve units trudge;
Shared ten Thanksgiving boxes,
And eaten Miss Ricks' fudge.

I've seen Maude Reynolds usher,
Heard the A & M'ers sing;
Posed for six films of kodaks,
And seen Miss X——'s ring.

I've voted for statistics,
I've dined in Clement Hall;
I've jumped at rope Ash Wednesday,
And watched Parker-Benson squall.

I've gone to walk with the Cruikshanks
I've drunk Miss Graves' tea;
I've pondered the joys of Europe
With Miss Fenner and Miss Lee.

I've dined at the Rector's table,
I've raced for the evening mail;
I've listened to Ellen Johnson
Tell a most exciting tale.

I've felt Elise hit the mail line
I've heard the phonograph;
I've lived through examinations,
I've seen Mary Bryan laugh.

I've paid my Muse assessments
To the very last fifty cents;
And still you say—
 You're a little bit gay—
I've had no experience.

A Few Words About The Muse

This is the fifteenth volume of THE MUSE, the Year Book of St. Mary's. The monthly MUSE, which dates from 1879, and was last revived in 1904, is just completing its seventeenth volume. These publications try to preserve for St. Mary's girls the best general reminder of their St. Mary's days and of the student life. They have been published since 1906 by the Muse Club, under the guidance of Mr. Cruikshank as Faculty Director.

It has been customary each year to dedicate the Year Book to one of those in the Faculty of St. Mary's, working for St. Mary's, to whom the students wished to express their appreciation, and not to dedicate the book twice to the same person. It may therefore be interesting to recall the names of the friends to whom previous MUSES have been dedicated:

1899, DR. SMEDES
1900, DR. BRATTON
1901, MISS STONE
1902, MISS MCKIMMON
1904, BISHOP BRATTON
1905, MRS. BRATTON
1906, MR. DUBOSE
1907, MISS LEE
1908, MR. LAY
1909, MR. CRUIKSHANK
1910, MISS SUTTON
1911, MISS DOWD
1912, MISS THOMAS
1913, MR. STONE
