Genoa Conference Is Reported Now at Most Critical Stage

Italian Spokesman Says Present Crisis More Grave Than That Caused By Signing of Russo-German Treaty Easter Sunday.

Genoa, May 6.—The most critical stage of the International Economic Conference was reached to-day, arising through the differences in the ranks of the Allied delegates over the memorandum to Russia and through the attitude of the Russians themselves, it was declared this afternoon by an Italian spokesman. "This crisis," he said, "is more grave than the one the conference sustained after the signing of the Russo-German treaty at Rapallo on Easter Sunday. The conference between Foreign Ministers Schanzer of Italy and Jaspard of Belgium, however, created a good impression. There are difficulties, but they are not insurmountable."

The Russians, on the other hand, credited at the conference at the Villa de Albertini with Sir Laming Worthington-Evans and Premier Lloyd George last evening. "They" (the Russians) said the spokesman, "asked whether the Russian demands amounted to as much as 3,000,000,000 gold francs, the Italian spokesman replied: 'I wish it were only a matter of 3,000,000,000. It is far more, far more.'"

The difficulties now confronting the conference were twofold. On the one hand there was the difficulty of convincing the Belgians that they should accept the memorandum, and on the other there was the difficulty of getting the Russians to accept them. "But the task of convincing the Russians," he said, "is far more difficult."

LIQUOR LAW AIM MORAL, NOT PROFIT, MANSON RULES
Attorney-General Announces Purposes in Administration
Inspectors Put on to Check Up Beer Sales

Hon. A. M. Manson, Attorney-General, issued a statement this afternoon in which he said there may as well be a "show down" at the very beginning of his career in office as to the basis on which the sale of liquor is to be controlled by the Government is to be conducted.

Mr. Manson took up a statement credited to William Savage, prohibition leader in Vancouver, in which he said that Premier Oliver had admitted that the Government is in the liquor business for revenue.

Mr. Manson immediately sent a message to Mr. Savage saying that if he would advise him as to the time and place of this statement by the Premier.

"I cannot believe that the Premier intended to state that the Government held revenue as the first consideration," Mr. Manson said.

"In any event as far as I am concerned, I intend to administer the liquor act from the standpoint of the moral morals of the people. As long as I am Attorney-General the moral consideration will rule. I won't be party for one minute to the administration of the act for revenue."

"With me this is a very important point. I want the public to have no misunderstanding on the matter. We might as well understand right now."

Vigorous steps to stop the selling of beer by Government stores have been ordered as the result of the stand taken by Mr. Manson since his return to Victoria and personal assumption of office. Six inspectors have been appointed and sent out to watch the shipments of beer out of the various breweries in the Province.

Harvey Urges Council Give Work, Not Doles, to Jobless

"There must be no return to the dole system," Alderman Harvey declared to-day. "Even now men are waiting around the city hoping that we will start giving doles again in case of a further recession. If they know that we are prepared to give them only work such as wood cutting, they will seek work, I believe."

PATTULLO ON WAY TO VICTORIA

Minister of Lands Returning From Ottawa

Talked With Authorities About Railway Belt

Winnipeg, May 6.—Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands of British Columbia, is here to-day on his way home from Ottawa, where he consulted with the Federal Government on various questions relating to the Province of British Columbia. One of the most important subjects dealt with at Ottawa was that, in the event of the natural resources of the prairie provinces being returned to provincial control, British Columbia would press for a return to its own control of the railway belt, a strip of land twenty miles on each side of the C. P. R. and the Peace River block of about 3,500,000 acres.

Dock Situation Is Satisfactory To Delegation

Telegram Received This Afternoon From Victoria Representatives At Ottawa Points to Continuance of Work on Federal Project at Esquimalt.

"Had final conference with Government to-day. Leaving home to-night well satisfied with drydock situation. Further statement on or before our arrival."

The important information contained in the above telegram to the Times from the drydock committee, composed of Hon. John Hart, Wm. McK. Ivel, Henry C. Hall and Thomas B. Booth, indicates that the Federal Government has finally decided to go ahead with the drydock undertaking at Skinner's Cove.

Other information has been received in the city to-day indicating the decision of the Government to continue the work.

The work on the Skinner's Cove drydock project was stopped along with other large public works to determine the necessity of further expenditures, and as a million and a half dollars has already been expended on the graving basin at Esquimalt and contracts placed for material running into many thousands of dollars, the Federal authorities would not haphazardly abandon a project virtually half completed and so necessary to the development of shipping on this seaboard.

Anti-Blue Sunday League Offers to Pay Expenses; Mayor Suggests Private, Unofficial Plebiscite; Dr. Rochester, Gaining Objective, Leaves.

The Sunday closing plebiscite, upon which voting was set for May 12, was cancelled by Mayor William Marchant this morning after he had been advised by City Solicitor H. S. Pringle and two other well-known Victoria solicitors that the City Council had no power to ask the electors to vote on the closed Sabbath issue. The Mayor announced at noon that he had instructed Returning Officer William Scowcroft to call off all arrangements for the plebiscite, had withdrawn the Police Commission's request for the plebiscite, had suggested that interested people might arrange a private plebiscite of their own, and now regarded the whole question as a "closed chapter."

CHINESE PREMIER TO BE ARRESTED

Gen. Wu Has Him Dismissed From Post

Other Changes Made Following Wu's Victory

Peking, May 6.—Sweeping governmental changes followed to-day the success of General Wu Pei Fu in winning the military mastery of Peking. President Hsu Shih Chang issued a mandate dismissing Premier Liang Shid Yi and ordering his arrest. Finance Minister Chang Hu and Minister of Communications Yeh Kung Cho also were dismissed and their arrest ordered.

General Chang Tao Lin defeated by Wu in the campaign just ended, is dismissed from his office of Inspector-General of Manchuria.

Premier Liang Shid Yi, who is now in Tientsin, where he has been on leave for several months, is charged with conniving with General Chang to promote civil war.

Tientsin, May 6.—General Wu Pei Fu, victor in the civil war which now appears to be at an end, is reported to be at Huangtun, on the Peking-Tientsin railway about ten miles north of the capital, where he went yesterday afternoon from Fengtai.

The retreat of General Chang Tao Lin's forces appears to be nearly at an end, except on the Tientsin-Pukow line, where it is estimated from 30,000 to 40,000 men still remain in the vicinity of Machang. Orders for these men to evacuate have been received, according to reports.

GUARDED

The foreign concessions in Tientsin were patrolled last night and everything was reported quiet. Strong forces of Chinese guarded the city.

Admiral Strauss, commander of the American Asiatic fleet, arrived from Peking by motor yesterday afternoon. He was stopped once by Chang's troops, who allowed him to proceed after identification.

An Allied military train will leave for Peking to-day.

CURED HIS RHEUMATISM! "I am eighty-three years old and I doctored for rheumatism ever since I came out of the army, over 50 years ago. Like many others, I spent money freely for so-called 'cures' and I have read about 'Uric Acid' until I could almost taste it. I could not sleep at night, or walk without pain; my hands were so sore and stiff I could not hold a pen. But I am again in active business and can walk with ease or write all day with comfort. Friends are surprised at the change. You might just as well attempt to put out a fire with oil as try to get rid of your rheumatism, neuritis and like complaints by taking treatment supposed to drive Uric Acid out of your blood and body. I took Mr. Ashelman's fifty years to find out the truth. He is now being distributed by an authority who devoted over twenty years to the scientific study of this trouble. If any reader of 'The Times' wishes 'The Inner Mysteries of Rheumatism' overlooked by doctors and scientists for centuries past, simply send a post card or letter to Dr. P. Clearwater, No. 329 N. Street, Hallowell, Maine. Send now, lest you forget! If not a sufferer, cut out this notice and had this good news and opportunity to some afflicted friend. All who send will receive it by return mail without any charge whatever. (Adv.)

POST OFFICE CHIEF OF BRITAIN GIVEN PRAISE London, May 6.—(Canadian Press Cable)—The postal reductions announced by Postmaster-General F. G. It is notable that the present improved position is almost entirely due to the cuts in expenditure without the sacrifice of efficiency.

EARTH WAVES IN SOUTHERN ITALY Citizens of Corato Living in Dread; Buildings Wrecked Rome, May 6.—Corato, a city in Southern Italy, was visited again yesterday by "earth waves," like those which in the past have caused much damage there. Buildings extending for almost a mile were demolished and 50,000 inhabitants are living in dread lest the undulations continue. Three thousand of them, carrying their belongings, are seeking refuge in nearby towns. The earth waves came at a time when the Government was considering plans to appropriate 9,000,000 lire for the complete building of Corato so it could withstand these periodic cave-ins.

CHINESE PREMIER TO BE ARRESTED (Continued from page 1) campaign, was foreshadowed in Associated Press dispatches in September, 1921, when it was outlined as a battle between militarism in China under the leadership of Chang, the most powerful military governor of the republic, and liberalism, with Wu as its standard bearer. In personality the men are exact opposites, while their present relative positions form an outstanding paradox in Chinese political history. Chang, regarded as the war lord and advocate of a military hegemony sprang from the people, is uneducated and gained his dominating position through force of character and personal bravery. Wu came from the upper classes, distinguished himself in his younger days as a student and when only twenty-one years of age won the Chinese degree equivalent to bachelor of arts in a competitive literary examination. He received his military education in the Kai Ping military academy near Tien Tsin, where he graduated with honors.

CHINESE PREMIER TO BE ARRESTED (Continued from page 1) Chang fought under the Mikado's banner in the Russo-Japanese war as leader of a Chinese "Hung Hutsu" or guerrilla force. At the close of the campaign he passed into the Chinese Government service and became so strong as a military leader that his machine guns at one time overawed Government investigators sent to inquire into a number of charges against him as Military Governor of Fengtien. The investigation was dropped. Wu was prominent in the drive against the Anfu Club, or coalition of militarists, two years ago, when that organization was broken up and its leaders imprisoned. First Shadows.

CHINESE PREMIER TO BE ARRESTED (Continued from page 1) In September, 1921, his operations cost the first shadows of the struggle which now has developed between himself and Chang. At that time he led his troops against the Honan rebels, drove them out of Hupeh into their own territory and then turned on the Szechuan, or Southern forces, acting independently of Sun Yat Sen, President of the Republic of South China. At Ichang General Wu outflanked the Szechuanese on both wings and completely crushed them in what American observers described as "the finest piece of strategy ever employed by a modern Chinese general." Followers of political events in China tacitly admitted that Wu's victory at Ichang prevented the further disintegration of the republic—and placed an obstacle in Chang Tso Lin's path towards a military hegemony in Northern China.

Eddy's is the safe match - the head is on tight - can't fly off!

EDDY FACTS

Eddy's are the creative pioneers of the match industry in Canada. Over 70 years of constructive efforts have built a complete organization.

May you never know the paralyzing fear of an unexpected blaze—from a match head flying off like a rocket!

To increase the margin of safety, the head of every Eddy match is glued to stay on tight—it can't fly off a flame!

A man strikes an Eddy match. There is a big hot flame that burns bright and steadily. If he shakes out the flame and drops the match on the wooden floor, among sawdust, paper or shavings, it falls dead—black—out—cold—entirely freed from fire risk, with the head still on it.

Every Eddy match now leaving the factory will do just that. It is treated with chemicals to prevent the dangerous "after-glow"—is made self-extinguishing.

First in Safety, first in Convenience, first in Economy, the Eddy ideal still prevails—"The most of the best for the money"—since 1851.

East or West, Eddy's Best.

SAYWARD BRIEFS.

Sayward, May 3.—The Women's Institute held its regular meeting on April 27. There was a good attendance. The secretary, Mrs. A. Brown, gave her report on the delegation's visit to Vancouver and Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hern returned to Sayward on Monday. Mr. Hern has been away for a considerable time receiving medical treatment in Vancouver.

The weather during the past 10 days has been ideal growing weather. Seeding is general through the district.

Sayward received an addition to its population this week, by the ar-ival of Mr. E. Hinder and family. Mr. Hinder is an experienced agriculturalist, who, until recently, was farming near Winnipeg. Since his arrival in B. C., Mr. Hinder has been looking over the Province for a suitable place to locate and he has decided that Sayward offers good prospects in agricultural production and future developments.

J. Cadwell, of Vancouver, is visiting the district, looking into various timber propositions. Mr. Cadwell expressed himself very strongly on the needs of road connection for the district with the Southern end of the island, also stating that he was surprised at the development which had been done here.

It is reported that the Booth Logging Company have purchased another block of timber adjoining the block they are just finishing logging. Mrs. Booth and family arrived on Monday's boat.

Master Phil G. Browning returned to his home in North Vancouver after spending a few days as guest of his uncle, Mr. F. Browning. Master Phil is a son of Mr. G. Browning, who until recently, was mechanical superintendent of the Wallace Shipyards. Mr. G. Browning owns 160 acres here and has his brother here doing considerable improvements on his holdings.

LARKIN DENIED STATEMENT ON CATTLE EMBARGO

Ottawa, May 6.—In the Commons yesterday afternoon, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen reminded the Government that some time ago the Government had been requested to ascertain the correctness of certain remarks attributed by press dispatches to Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London, to the effect that continuation of the British embargo on Canadian cattle was placing a "dangerous weapon in the hands of the annexationists on the Prairies."

HEALTHY CHILDREN ALWAYS SLEEP WELL.

The healthy child sleeps well and during its waking hours is never cross but always happy and laughing. It is only the sickly child that is cross and peevish. Mothers, if your children do not sleep well; if they are cross and cry a great deal, give them Baby's Own Tablets, and they will soon be well and happy again.

TRADE AGREEMENT TO BE SIGNED

Australian-New Zealand Reciprocity Plan Moves Slowly

Bishop Faces Trial in New Zealand Court

(Times Correspondence) Wellington, N.Z., May 5.—Trade reciprocity with Australia has been achieved, though in a smaller degree than had been hoped. The details of the customs list have not yet been settled.

Downie Stewart, Minister of Customs, has been in Australia for some weeks conferring with Mr. Rodgers, the Commonwealth Minister, and the announcement is made that an agreement is on the eve of being signed.

The main difficulty has been that both countries produce much the same products and do not want each other's competition.

Referring to the agreement, The Sydney Evening News says: "The only perhaps the restrictions on Fijian trade will be removed. Later Canada may be admitted into the charmed circle. And finally it may be found some day that the whole of the trade of the world is interlocked."

Trial of Bishop. One of the most remarkable sedition trials for a century or more is pending in New Zealand. Bishop Linton, of the Roman Catholic Church, is to stand his trial on the charge of delivering a seditious speech in the Town Hall, Auckland, on St. Patrick's Day.

He has not denied the reports in the press of his speech but it is understood he has sent a letter of explanation to the Prime Minister in his remarks he said his parents had been driven from Ireland by Ireland's "foreign masters." The omnipotent hand of God had now, he said, "made Ireland a nation, and while the grass grew and water flowed there would be many to fight and die that God's desires might be realized."

He referred to the Easter rebellion of 1916 and said that the men who died "for their country" then had been "murdered by foreign troops."

The speech caused a storm of protest throughout the country and the Government on the advice of its law officers ordered that proceedings should be taken against the bishop.

A Maori Protest. One of the chief protests came from a leading Maori, one of the high-born Maori, speaking to his fellow-Maoris, took strong exception to the Irish habit of refusing to forget ancient wrongs.

"The story of the Irish," he said, "I know to be sad, but then so also, as we all know, is the story of the English and the Welsh and the Scots. War, conquest, blood and sorrow make up that long story since Roman days, and before that again, no doubt."

Even so it is with us Maoris. Of our short time under British rule will I speak. War also and loss of our tribal lands came upon us, and Irish soldiers and an Irish Governor, Sir George Grey, helped to conquer New Zealand. An Irishman, who took our lands as the price of war.

But we have in these few years forgotten all those things our fathers thought wrong. We have settled down. Our tribal wars have ended forever and we are happy and prosper. We are increasing in number and enjoy all the good things that the Union Jack has brought us.

That flag the bishop condemns in error, for there cannot be much wrong with that Government if our state is as I have described it. "Now if we have to shoot a time forgotten our old wrongs, and obey the law and honor the king, why not you, O Irishmen? What we forgot so quickly, why not you, O Irishmen, the example of your Maori younger brothers in the Empire?"

with the crime, but they were unable to convince the jury, which acquitted him. The country at the scene of the murder is so wild and lonely that the murderer or murderers had no difficulty in concealing their whereabouts.

War Artist Died. Sapper Moore Jones, a well-known New Zealand artist, gained during the war a little fame by his pictures of Gallipoli. He was staying at a hotel in Hamilton when a fire broke out and consumed the building.

Finally, when his clothes were burned off his back, he collapsed and died in hospital a few days later. One of his pictures hangs in the Sydney Royal Art Society's salon. He leaves a widow and three children.

Treaty Celebration. "This is an example of how fair, how just and how Christian the British race can be," said A. T. Ngata, a member of the New Zealand House of Representatives, speaking at the opening of a memorial hall at Waitangi, North Island, on the occasion of the observance of the 32nd anniversary of the signing of the treaty of Waitangi, by which the natives ceded New Zealand to British sovereignty.

Two thousand pakehas and natives were present and in a huge kianga of many tents and marquees fifty hullocks and twenty pigs were eaten. A modern note was the use of electric light.

The Prime Minister, W. F. Massey, paid a high tribute to the abilities of the Maori race, pointing out how marvellously they had advanced in civilization and how gifted they were. Their intense loyalty was memorialized in the Memorial Hall as a remembrance of their part in the Great War.

One of the Maori chiefs, He Toi, described as the last of the chiefs of a great fighting tribe, the Ngapuhis, poetically referred to the disappearance of the tattooed faces amongst the gathering and in accordance with custom preferred certain requests to the Government, which he asked should be considered "before he passed into the night."

He Toi is 82 but a fine old warrior still.

EX-PASTOR CHARGED. Lawton, Okla., May 6.—The Rev. He was released on bond of $500.

Mr. Irwin refused to make a statement.

IMPROVEMENT IN TRADE REPORTED

Canadian Conditions Improve Slowly, But Without Interruption

Winnipeg, May 6.—(Canadian Press)—Little change in Canadian business conditions is indicated in the weekly trade report of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association, issued here.

Montreal, Ontario and Quebec general report orders gradually improving in wholesale circles, with manufacturers finding business more brisk. Retailers also report better business with improved weather conditions. Collections still are slow.

Winnipeg and the West, right through to the Pacific Coast, supply reports indicating the improvement has continued, although slowly. Wholesalers in drygoods, men's and women's wear, millinery and such lines are busy, with an improvement also in boots and shoes.

Hardware finds a slight improvement apparent with the commencement of building and feeding. Retailers say trade has improved, but not equally in volume with the same period of 1921.

With weather conditions ideal and seeding throughout the prairies away to a good start, retailers are optimistic as to Summer and Fall business.

CUSTOMS WORKERS ASK CALDER ACT BE EXTENDED

Ottawa, May 6.—Resolutions asking the extension of the Calder Act until Parliament passes a superannuation measure and continuation of the Board of Hearing of the Civil Service Commission, were unanimously passed at to-day's session of the Federal Customs and Excise Officers' Association.

Elections resulted in the re-appointment for a fourth time of H. Colvin, of Hamilton, as president. The British Columbia vice-president is A. P. I. Calderwood, of Victoria.

GUNMAN KILLED BY POLICE CHIEF IN TEXAS TOWN

Wichita Falls, Tex., May 6.—Bud Ballew, man-killer of the Southwest, "cashed in" here yesterday when Police Chief J. W. McCormick beat him to his holster and sent five .38 calibre steel-jacketed bullets crashing into his body as he stood in an Ohio Street cafe.

The body of Ballew, a former deputy sheriff at Ardmore, Okla., was sent to Ardmore last evening by aeroplane.

Ottawa, May 6.—The bonus to Civil Servants will be continued in some form during the present year. At their caucus yesterday the whole matter, it is understood, was fully discussed by the Liberals, and the matter of working out details of the bonus for the present year was left in the hands of the Government.

The expectation is that the bonus will be continued almost in its present form in the case of the lower-paid employees, but that there will be reductions in the amount of bonus paid to the higher-paid Civil Servants.

TWO AIRMEN WERE DROWNED

Washington, May 6.—Lieut. Harold F. Holden, of this city, and Ensign Miller, of the Bureau of Aeronautics, were drowned in the Potomac River yesterday when their naval seaplane collided with one piloted by Lieut.-Commander C. W. Johnson and his mechanic, C. W. Jacobs. The latter two escaped uninjured.

Lieut. Holden was said to have been trying out a new propeller, and was about 500 feet up when the collision occurred. His seaplane fell to the river just below the naval air station, while that of Commander Johnson flew off but made a forced landing in the river and was wrecked. Both Johnson and Jacobs were picked up by rescue boats.

CO-OPERATION DOES IT.

The pageant at Bellingham, the third annual "Tulip Festival," presented to the large number of Victorians who visited that place yesterday a striking example of community spirit and co-operation.

The school display was conspicuously fine, not only for its extensive nature, but even more especially for the beauty of its various floats, the remarkable attention to historical accuracy that was shown in the costumes of the children and the keen spirit of competition which animated those who were responsible for it.

All this expressed a spirit on the part of the people which insures for Bellingham and the district of which it is the chief community a prosperous future. It could not have been the product of a community whose people were disinclined, discordant, back-biting and lacking in the optimism and courage which should characterize the public of every part of this young region of the new world.

The spirit of co-operation, of community service, of making minor sacrifices and suffering little inconveniences for the good of the whole, of looking on the bright side of things, of seeing the merits in others and overlooking the defects, is the secret of all real progress and development.

It is in this spirit that has built up prosperous cities on this continent and elsewhere in localities where it did not seem possible for a community to exist. It has made great metropolitan centres out of places which possessed not one quarter the natural advantages with which Nature has blessed Victoria. Indeed, in this respect, we are suffering from an embarrassment of riches. Nature has been so bountiful in these gifts to this favored spot that a considerable proportion of us expect her to do everything.

We wonder what kind of a demonstration Victoria, which is much larger and wealthier than Bellingham, will give on May 24, the occasion of our annual pageant.

INTEREST GROWING.

While Federal and Provincial Governments in this country recognize the fact that the British embargo against Canadian cattle is a domestic concern with which neither the general public nor officialdom on this side of the water may interfere, the increasing attention which the whole question is exciting in Britain very naturally is beginning to arouse more than usual interest in Canada.

Outside of a formal reference to the desirability of an alteration in the present arrangements there has been no official movement from Ottawa and there is no likelihood of such taking place. It is right and proper that such action as may be finally decided upon should come as the result of popular agitation and parliamentary treatment on the other side of the Atlantic. Our interest is stimulated from time to time by the somewhat serious interpretations which a number of the leading journals in Great Britain place upon the lack of a clear lead from the Government at Westminster. Even The Daily Telegraph and The London Times are becoming somewhat alarmed, the former even suggesting the likelihood of Empire complications in the event of a further retention of the existing restrictions. It also revives the legal point of view in which the new political status which Ireland enjoys—or is endeavoring to enjoy—in her own peculiar way—is declared materially to qualify the term used in the embargo legislation to indicate just what area constitutes the United Kingdom from which our cattle are barred.

Some legal minds picture Ireland a Dominion and as such not in a position to export her cattle to English ports. These are very naturally some of the side issues of the question which may become clearer when the full dress debate takes place in the House of Commons. Canadians will not find it difficult to agree with The Telegraph when it urges that the thing be thrashed out without further delay.

A CIVIC "AT HOME."

If there be a crop of misconceptions about the cost and general administration of work in connection with the Johnson Street Bridge it is just as well that the City Engineer should devote an hour or so to receive "callers." We very much doubt whether many of those who take advantage of Mr. Preston's "at home" days will be any the wiser after partaking of this form of "tea and tiffin." But if such explanations as he will be able to give are successful in removing the wrinkles from even two or three foreheads his trouble will not have been altogether in vain. Meanwhile there need be no great surprise that a modern City Council is not up to all the "tricks of the trade" when it comes to important engineering undertakings.

GIBBS AND SMUTS REFER TO GENOA.

In an intensely interesting survey of the Genoa Conference Sir Philip Gibbs takes occasion to refer to the part that Mr. Lloyd George is playing and the studied determination of his enemies to thwart his plans at every turn. These are the words of the distinguished writer who lectured in Victoria recently:

The most important revelation is the determination of Lloyd George's enemies to arouse popular suspicion and prejudice against any effort he may make to reshape the affairs of Europe in such a way that his industrial recovery may be quickened and his peace secured. They would rather have Europe remain in chaos than have Lloyd George regain his power.

Passing on to an analysis of the mental attitude of those who are assembled at Genoa—"victors and vanquished sitting down together, not with love in their hearts, but under the necessity of devising some plan... to start again the machinery of civilization."—Sir Philip observes:

Above all they are afraid of the chorus jeering at them in the world's press, threatening death to them if they depart from their old falsettos, reciting, reiterating the old spell words, demanding not more truth but more lies, not new sanity but worse stupidity, not plans for peace but more deeply dug entrenchments of hatred for further and inevitable conflict. Men of goodwill there are in this assembly of nations, men who stare at the realities of life with steady eyes and hopeful vision, but they have enemies around about, raising a chorus of menace lest they should dare establish a reign of common sense inaugurating an era of peace.

To these extracts may be added observations of Premier Smuts in which he prays for victory for Mr. Lloyd George, "for if all that results from the Conference is the Russo-German Treaty and the division of Europe into two armed camps, Europe will irrevocably split and Genoa will become a new and fatal milestone in European policy."

STILL THEY COME.

Those Conservatives in British Columbia who have been clamoring for the political head of their industrious and energetic chieftain must be feeling somewhat sorry for themselves in view of the fact that the Leader of the Opposition is beginning to experience a daily thrill from the veritable avalanche of commendatory letters and resolutions reviving the confidence which he has possessed through years of service to the Party. Maple Ridge has followed the example of Victoria and other Associations in deprecating an obscure movement to dethrone Mr. Bowser. Members of that organization do not feel inclined to take the now famous Kamloops resolution with any degree of seriousness. They cannot fail "to appreciate your loyal services to this Province for many years as Attorney-General and your term as Premier." They declare that throughout that period "not an iota or scintilla of evidence was ever produced as to cast doubt on your honesty or integrity." Could the forthcoming convention want more than this to induce a re-affirmation of confidence in the Leader of the Opposition? Surely not.

LOOKING TO E. C.

In order to discover what prospects British Columbia might have in store for the disappointed Mennonites who are anything but pleased with their lot in Mexico Mr. Josef Swinster has made a tour of inspection of the Columbia Valley and will return to the Chihnuha district and render a report to his colleagues. When he was interviewed in Vancouver yesterday he expressed his satisfaction with what he had seen and regretted that time had not permitted him to continue his investigations in the Northern-Central sections of the Province.

It would be ridiculous to suggest that every member of this particular sect possesses an over-developed faculty of taking all the advantages which the country has to offer in return for nothing more than his inclination dictates. There are undoubtedly many good farmers and good citizens among the Mennonites who are still in the country and among those who thought they could do better for themselves in Mexico. But before they are allowed to enter British Columbia there should be a definite understanding that they are prepared to become good Canadians. Citizenship imposes obligations that must be accepted by all.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Oil seems to be a dominant topic at Genoa. It certainly does not seem to mix particularly well with the native Chianti.

Sir Robert Horne has described the state of Europe as still vexatious. We congratulate the Chancellor of the Exchequer upon the moderation of his language.

It is now reported that Mr. Lloyd George has a surprise in store for the Genoa Conference if France gets too much in his way. But there can be no thought of another "crisis"—the word has lost all its ancient "pep."

It is now in order for the Conservatives of Kamloops to repeat their action in demanding the resignation of the Leader of the Opposition. That enterprising community never did like to be predominant in any unpopular movement; but that seems to be its condition in this one.

Mr. Michael Collins has called upon the friends of Ireland abroad to take no part in assisting or encouraging "that element in our midst whose object is to destroy the inherent rights of the sovereign Irish people." Mr. Collins may rest assured that the Irish "question" has now reached a stage in which interest outside of Ireland is at a low ebb.

FUNDS OF LADIES' AUXILIARY, FIFTH REGIMENT, C.G.A.

To the Editor—A news item in the press last week reported that the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fifth Regiment had met and passed a resolution to turn over all their funds, amounting to approximately $1,500, to the Jubilee Hospital for the purpose of furnishing a sunroom for the woman's ward; further that after passing such resolution the organization was declared to be disbanded. This action on the part of only a few members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, was a great surprise not only to members of the Fifth Regiment, but also to a large number of actual members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, who were present at the meeting. The following facts, which can be verified, leave one to wonder what were the reasons for such precipitate action. The president invited a few of the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to attend a tea at her house last Friday afternoon. After tea was served the ladies present declared themselves a general meeting and passed the above resolution. No notice appeared in the newspapers announcing the meeting, and only those who were specially invited were free to attend, a considerable number of ladies who took an active part in raising the funds were not given any opportunity of expressing their views. Not only was the manner of convening this so-called general meeting irregular, but the action they took exceeded their authority. The president had in her possession a copy of an Order-in-Council which had been approved by the Governor-General of Canada expressly stating that these funds could only be disposed of with the concurrence of the military authorities; but no mention of this Order-in-Council was made at the meeting. No complaint is made of the worthlessness of the cause for which this money was voted, although there are many who think it would have been more in keeping to devote it to the ex-service tubercular ward, rather than to the Woman's Ward. It is generally felt among some of the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary that since these funds were raised for the benefit of members of the Fifth Regiment who were serving overseas it would be more fitting for their benefit at home. A good precedent for such a course is found in the case of the K. of C. Huts. As is well known, a large sum of money was expended in Canada by the Knights of Columbus for the purpose of building huts for the men overseas, and when it was found that a large portion of these funds could not be so expended owing to the cessation of hostilities, the balance was spent in providing huts at home in Canada for these men who were overseas. There are no doubt many worthy causes for which funds could well be devoted, but it seems to me that before adopting any final recommendation for submission to the military authorities those men for whose benefit the funds were raised should be given an opportunity of expressing their views on the subject. INDUSTRIES WANTED.

To the Editor—I should like to know if it is true that Victoria is the clearing house for Canadians going to reside in the United States after coming from Eastern and Western Canada. As I and other have noticed for some years now and particularly the last two years, the movement of residents of Great Victoria to the U. S. A. has been most pronounced, many of the migrants being also sons and daughters born and educated in Victoria. What is the condition because there are no industries of sufficient size and quantity to hold the people here? Or, because of the unsettlement of mind caused by the various vicissitudes in municipal affairs that arise every year on one or other public question, which I, among others have observed since becoming resident here?

I have compared notes with others, and casual visitors here, and all agree that the fit shock new re-actant received after "settling in" is the unreciprocity and inhospitality shown by the residents, and those of some years' duration. After spending the taxpayers money to advertise the City for the purpose of bringing prospective citizens to the city, and the City, in return, advertised broadcast through the land; and, therefore, creates a discontented mind, which is transmitted to others until eventually the conditions become, instead of a happy and contented community, nothing less than a city of disgruntled knockers, under which, no city, however beautiful its attractions, can prosper.

And the knockers' disease is very contagious and spreads out of the city to other parts, which offsets the expense of advertising; a situation no good advertising agent looks for, his aim being to advertise and deter the goods that will give shelter, fact and create a steady demand for his goods. I know nothing better than work which makes people happy and contented, providing the surrounding conditions are congenial. The editors on industries strike the right note, and it is who has heard support of the press on the same lines, the industries so much talked of, and advertised, as being possible if located in Esquimalt and Saanich districts, such developments would keep the sons and daughters of Victoria district here, and sooner lead to the actual creation of Greater Victoria.

Otherwise, I know of a point on Vancouver Island which will receive the industries that Victoria can have if she will go after them with determination. How would it be to take a plebiscite on the industrial versus tourist question at the same time as the other more or less important questions are voted on by the citizens of Victoria? Surely this question is as important as the two matters now before the public mind, and would settle once and for all whether the citizens wish to have industries in or contiguous to Victoria. Then a very contentious matter would be decided.

I have yet to see the tourist or holiday resort where industries have followed the tourists. It is a matter of fact, known to those from the British Isles and most Eastern resorts that industries keep away from such places. According to a book published as part of an advertising campaign from Los Angeles a few years ago, it was claimed that industry built up that city and all the surrounding territory. This city owns its own docks at San Pedro miles away. There were certainly many industries in Seattle before they went after the tourist business, likewise Vancouver. Both cities are receiving more tourists now, after their industries have got going and more coming, which certainly has not kept the tourist away, but otherwise, because when they see lots of people on the streets at all times, this appears to the visitors as showing life and energy, a condition I failed to see in Victoria, excepting during 1912 and 1913. Then the question will up, where have these people gone since these years? Why did they not stay, and continue to build up the city? Answer, because there were no industries to keep them here. Further, had this population remained they would have borne their part of the city's taxation, instead of the comparatively few having to carry the load.

There is no doubt there are great possibilities for Victoria if we start right, and there are residents here who can put it over. Genuine efforts must be put forth to develop industry for the piers at the breakwater and drydock; else why build such?

But such influence is blocking the good work of many who want to see the city come into her own. What is it? Is the question often heard by those interested in seeing progress made here. The same people situated in any other city I guarantee would show more energy and determination than are exhibited in Victoria.

The citizens should see to it that industries are encouraged to locate here. Then the business blocks built by men of faith and enterprise shall come into their own. The last few years these gentlemen have certainly had no rosy time bearing their share of heavy taxes in and around Victoria.

Why did these properties not yield the return they should? principally because so few industries have located here, to keep the population from drifting out and away never to return, and to give their services where they will be appreciated. Unfortunately, the exodus of population is being confined to Victoria, but read Miss Agnes Laut's article in McLean's Magazine for March 1, where she says that two million and a half Canadians have gone to the U. S. A. since 1907. One million and a half Canadians gone since 1911, besides eight hundred thousand knockers, under which have returned also. Something wrong with Canada, somewhere.

By the way, some one said the other day that you saw a cannon off on Government Street any Sunday and would not hit a person. The question came into my mind where were the tourists, and I am sure if there

CHEAPER TO BUILD HERE TO-DAY THAN BEFORE WAR PERIOD Local Architect Gives Statistics Showing How Building Material Has Dropped

Advancing convincing arguments that the present is a good time to build, Architect Ralph Berrill, in discussing the building situation to-day, supplied concrete statistics indicating the decline in the cost of materials which go into all classes of construction. The peak of the high prices, stated Mr. Berrill, was in 1919-1920, when the cost of materials was so high that no one would think about building. To-day the situation was vastly different with the prices of so many various materials practically down to the pre-war period. Rough lumber to-day, said Mr. Berrill, is not more than 10 per cent. higher than it was in 1914, and it is 75 per cent. less today than it was in 1919. Lumber was about as low as it would go, and there is a tendency for the price to go up.

Plumbing which had been the great stumbling block in building progress, had dropped nearly 100 per cent below the prices of 1919, and it was now not more than 15 per cent. higher than in 1914. Recent tenders obtained by architects indicated that electrical wiring, sheet-metal work and glass were virtually at pre-war prices. Hardware in residential work has witnessed a drop of 33 per cent. since 1919. Brick and concrete is about 12 per cent. higher than in pre-war times. "Taking into consideration that lots are from 100 to 400 per cent. less in cost," said Mr. Berrill, "it is clear that a home can be built to-day at less cost than in the pre-war period."

COMMONS SPEEDS UP ITS WORK Ottawa, May 6.—The Government will take over Private Members' Day after Monday, May 15. In the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, Premier King moved that Government business should take precedent on those days, beginning Wednesday next, May 10, but there were objections from both the Progressive Leader and the Leader of the Opposition and eventually the latter date was decided upon.

PRINCESS

The stock company will bring the present successful week to a close with the last performance of "Charley's Aunt" to-night. This great comedy has made a veritable sensation at the popular Yates Street house this week and crowds have attended and laughed long and loud at the antics of Jack Phillips in the title role. Other members of this clever company also deserve credit for fine work in their respective parts. Pleasing musical numbers are introduced during the action of the play. Commencing next Wednesday the company will appear in a fine production of "At Cosy Corners," a play new to Victoria but one of the management's claims will prove as popular as "Way Down East."

COLUMBIA

William Farnum, in his Fox play, "The Rainbow Trail" to be shown for the last time to-night at the Columbia Theatre, does some of the greatest work of his career. He has a double role, portraying that of Lassiter, who was the hero also of "Riders of the Purple Sage" and Sheriff, who continues Lassiter's work. Both these stories by Zane Grey have had tremendous vogue.

CAPITOL

A brilliant cast supports Marion Davies in her newest Cosmopolitan-Paramount picture, "Beauty's Worth," which is now at the Capitol Theatre.

ROYAL VICTORIA

To thousands of men who are still young enough to remember the capers and secret societies of their boyhood there is a delicious treat coming in Marshall Neilan's presentation of "Penrod." Marshall Neilan's latest First National attraction which will be shown for the last time to-day at the Royal Victoria Theatre.

"Penrod" is the film-adaptation of Booth Tarkington's mirthful boyhood creations and the presentation at the Royal Victoria Theatre marks the first screen appearance of Penrod in any complete film. The picture furnishes a vivid reminder of boyhood days with its opening scenes taken in the headquarters of the American Boys' Protective Association.

This is a secret society of which Penrod is the charter member and president. It has its headquarters in a cave dug into the ground and enlarged to provide kneeling room for the thirty disciples of the freedom of American boys. The organization has "mishmashons," "symbols," "grips" and the typical black crossed bones of all secret societies and pirates.

Crowned upon by the more sedate elders of the rural city the American Boys' Protective Association undergoes one of the queer twists of plot that makes the elders thankful for its existence. Freckles Barry has the title role, having been selected for it as the ideal Penrod after numerous consultations between Booth Tarkington and Mr. Neilan.

COMING TO CAPITOL

Story of England and Orient Coming Monday.

If May McAvoy were to travel in all the countries which have been the scenes of her various pictures she would be a very well-traveled young woman.

In "Sentimental Tommy" she was "Grizel," a native of "Thruma," the Scottish town made internationally renowned by Sir James Barrie. "A Private Scandal" found her a little French refugee, driven to America by the destruction of her home through German shell-fire. And now she has been placed in a real Turkish harem. For that is where she is found in early scenes of "Morals," which opens at the Capitol Theatre on Monday.

As "Carlotta," English inmate of the harem of Hamdi Effendi, she embarks upon a series of remarkable adventures which land her in the home of Sir Marcus Ordeyne, a staid English peer. The absolute frankness of her harem training, coupled with the innocence and appeal of a perfectly unsophisticated girl, create complications which render this a very unusual entertainment.

"Morals" is a William D. Taylor production. Julia Crawford Ivers wrote the scenario while William P. Carlton, hero of "Inside the Cup," has the role of "Sir Marcus."

COMING TO DOMINION

When John S. Robertson was in France filming the circus scenes for his Paramount production of "Love's Boomerang," he expressed the hope that the day was not far off when the mutual interests of the French and American moving picture industry would be furthered by the exchange of the film artists of these two great countries, and he saw in such an arrangement a step forward towards the internationalization of the art of the screen.

In furthering this idea, Mr. Robertson engaged Charles de Rochefort, a well-known French director and popular film star, for the important role of Estelan, the heavy lead in his latest, the British production, "The Spanish Jade," which will be on view at the Dominion Theatre next week. M. de Rochefort is one of the handsomest men on the French screen, and has an immense following of fans. He made his debut on the screen with Rene le Prince, in 1916. Before the outbreak of the World War, he had been associated in a number of films with Max Linder and Capellani. He joined up with the French forces in 1914, and only resumed his screen career in 1918 when he was absolved from further military service.

Among his most successful screen creations are Verdier in Kistemaker's "Marthe," the Duc de Couranne in Arthur Bernède's "Impéria," and the deputy of Malmont in Pierre Pecourcelle's "Gigollette." He has appeared in the leading roles of Leonce Peret's "Empire du Diamant," Rene de Prince's "Empire des Fauves," and Antoine's "Arlesienne." Before signing Paramount, M. de Rochefort had concluded an engagement with Flugon Films in "Le Roi de Camargue," from the celebrated work of Jean Aicard. His work in this picture is said to show to the best advantage his fine qualities as an actor and an athlete, for he was called upon to take the star part of the "Saltador" in a realistic bull-fight, such as are still presented in the little towns of the South of France.

In commenting on M. de Rochefort's debut as an "American star," Le Comcedia of Paris expressed the hope that, in the present standstill of the French industry for lack of sufficient capital to further its undoubted possibilities, this type of Franco-American collaboration shall flourish and increase to the mutual advancement of the screen in both great countries.

AMERICAN GIRL AND CHINESE WERE MARRIED AT SEA

San Francisco, May 6.—Mrs. Ruth Ames Lee, an American girl, and her husband, Sam Lee, a full-blooded Chinaman, departed to-day for the Lee domicile in Auburn, California, after they had been wed yesterday on a wind and wave tossed launch which had gone beyond the three-mile limit to escape the jurisdiction of the act prohibiting the marriage of white persons and Asiatics. The wedding took place only after one tugboat company had refused the couple a launch and after the skipper which was finally obtained had refused to take them out to sea. Another skipper was enlisted in the person of Captain Edward John-

The Problem!

LOOK at the elephant. All you see are figures—no marks or lines of any kind. Each figure stands alone—ranging from 1 to 9. The problem is now to find the total sum of these figures. Remember, that each figure is one unit—there are no groups like "23's" or "42's"—the highest is 9. Count only one number even if two or several happen to stand together. The tops of the SIXES are curved and the bottoms of the NINES are all perfectly straight. Don't feel doubtful—there is absolutely no trick or illusion, but don't fool yourself into thinking it is as easy as it looks. Get busy and see.

How to Enter

Any bona fide resident anywhere in Canada may participate in the contest by making a payment of not less than two dollars nor more than five dollars for subscription to Farm and Home. IN WOMAN'S DOMAIN

HEARTY WELCOME IN HOME CITY

Madame Lugrin-Fahey Shows Genius in Programme Construction

One of the most interesting of this winter's concerts was the recital given last evening by Mme Winnifred Lugrin-Fahey at the Royal Victoria Theatre. Since leaving the city of her adoption about two years ago Mme. Lugrin-Fahey has experienced and achieved much success in the bigger field of concert work. She has a host of admirers in the West. Particularly she is endeared to the hearts of the music-lovers of Victoria, the Capital City, and proud are they of the fact that one of their favorite artists is accomplishing so much during the recent years of her life. Here she is giving a fitting tribute that, in spite of several counter attractions, so many gathered to greet her last evening, and she herself must have felt to once more sing to familiar faces and to her many supporters. Well Chosen Programme. On former occasions it has been enunciated in 'The Times' music column that Mme. Lugrin-Fahey has the art of programme construction, for not only does she select those numbers that seem to suit her so exactly, but every song chosen finds perfect delight with her hearers on each and every occasion. This was again the case in the programme presented and those present were carried to high spirits of enjoyment in such contrasting numbers as Grieg's dainty 'With a Water Lily' and the strikingly beautiful example, 'The Loreley,' one of the Rhine's legendary songs by the great Hungarian Liszt, and again, in such examples as the tripping and inviting 'Come Out, Come Out, My Dear,' (Bessier), the exceedingly pretty 'Apple Blossom Time' (Lester), the taking 'The Cowboy's Lullaby' written in clever lullaby style by Gertrude Ross, and in 'Spring,' a charming song by a local composer, J. Douglas Macey, albeit with such an exquisite, plaintive melody one would scarcely associate itself or expect to find such from the title. 'Spring.' This number was with instant favor and its repetition was undeniable. Characteristics of Vocalist. These were all alike delightful utterances, but the singer seemed to find herself more in the delivery of the 'Apple Blossom Time' (Lester), possibly the best known air from Verdi's 'La Forza del Destino,' and in the famous waltz refrain 'So Seren Rose' (Arndt), in both of which she evoked much enthusiasm and applause by her brilliant vocalization, and by her impassioned and dramatic intensity, reaching to a high height of operatic delivery and climaxes. Of all the good things written of the vocal art of Mme. Lugrin-Fahey, the one thing that stands prominently forth is the absolute and direct appeal she makes to the hearts of her listeners. She, too, sings with plenty of abandon, and her interpretative powers are of a very high order. Added to these gifts not often vouchsafed to many—her voice is of wonderful carrying power, of unusual range, and she sings with perfect taste, and seems to take the keenest delight in everything she sets forth. Her reception last evening was a most flattering one, and again can be said that the citizens of Victoria are not lacking in loyalty and support to their fellows in their talents and artistic accomplishments, and Mme. Fahey can go forth once more, knowing that here are those who will never fail to give welcome.

THE ACCOMPANIST.

A notable feature of the evening was the skilful and adroit playing of Mrs. A. J. Gibson at the piano. Her accompaniments were admirably adequate in support and in the demands of the soloist on every occasion—throughout, and particularly delightful was she in the two arias, Grieg's 'From Monte Pincio,' Liszt's 'The Loreley,' 'The Bag-Pipe Man' (McKinney), and in the encore group, 'At the Well' (Hageman), 'Callie Herring' and 'Cuckoo.' Both ladies were the recipients of many handsome bouquets.

WOMEN'S EDUCATIONAL CLUB.

The Women's Educational Club of Columbia College, will meet on Wednesday, at 3 p.m., at the home of Mrs. F. Stacey, corner of Dallas Road and Howe Street. It was decided to have games and to serve refreshments. Mrs. Laing, Mrs. Ball, Mrs. Ritchie and Mrs. Ebor, Junior, were appointed a committee to supervise refreshments, with Mrs. Ebor, senior, as convener.

MRS. CHARLES WILSON AND HER CONCERT PARTY MADE A BIG HIT LAST NIGHT.

When they went out to Saanich Agricultural Hall under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to the Saanich War Memorial Health Centre, Reeve Watson presided. Miss Laddie Watkins with her piano work was one of the features of the evening.

Famous Contralto to Appear Here En Route to Australia Shortly

MADAME D'ALVAREZ D'Alvarez, famous contralto, will sing here on May 19. Since then, she has been heard with the foremost operatic organizations in London, Paris, Milan, Brussels, Madrid and Petrograd, and on this side in Boston, Chicago and New York.

The Military 500 drive held by the West Saanich Women's Institute last evening was most enjoyable. The prize winners were: First, Miss Dixon, Mr. H. Lacoursiere, Mr. Guy and Mr. H. Elford. Consolation: Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. W. O. Wallace, Mrs. A. Lacoursiere and Mr. Bourgois. The winners of the special prizes for the highest number of points during the season were Mrs. Asborne and Mr. C. Mrs. J. D. Gordon has consented to give demonstration of making salads. Three hundred attended the Gyro Club dance at the Cadboro Bay Beach Hotel last night, including representatives of the Vancouver, New Westminster and Seattle organizations. The dancing lessons on the main floor of the club were most enjoyable. The dance committee consisted of George Pauline, Art Kerr, Bob Yates, Bill Williams, Ross Crang, Gordon Cameron, Bill Ellis, Ernie Greenwood, Bob Harvey, P. Philbrook and Len Butcher. The large hall was decorated with yellow, while the dining-room and parlor were draped in rose colors. The supper room was adorned with the Victoria Gyro Club's colors, blue and gold. The hotel presented a gala appearance. A large number of guests attended the charmingly arranged dance held last night at the Alexandra House under the auspices of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, being their sixth annual ball, and reflected great credit on the committee in charge, which included: Mrs. McNeill, assisted by Mrs. McAllister, Miss R. McKensie, Mr. Dunn, and Mr. Ringshaw was at the receipt of customers. One of the main attractions of the evening was the picturesque decorations employed in the ballroom of immense bouquets and sprays of dog-wood with several shields emblazoned with V. A. S. C. in club colors of green and white, and two banners flanking the north end of the ball room. Bouis of wild lilies and greenery adorned the supper tables. The catering was under the management of the Yorkshire Bakery, Ozard's orchestra supplied the latest dance music, and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

In view of the fact that the next meeting of the Craigflower Parent-Teacher Association is the annual election, the membership committee, of whom Mr. Lorimer is the chairman, decided to close the year with a past and present pupils' night, Mr. Seare, the president, being in the chair. J. Barrett, of the Y. M. C. A., gave a short talk on the work of 'one's' life to the community in which one lives. Trustee Hobbs on his first visit to this P. T. A. said he was very favorably inclined to P. T. A.'s as a whole, and promised to visit again in the near future. P. C. Coates, first vice-president of the British Columbia Federation of Parent-Teachers, told how he was impressed with the enthusiasm of the Vancouver people for this work, and showed what prominence the press gave to them. He also showed that politicians were beginning to recognize the power of this Federation. The president gave a short resume of the work, and Mr. Lorimer made a strong plea to those who had not joined to do so. The pupils then gave their most excellent programme as follows: Pianoforte solo, Miss Marjory Higgins; song, Senior Girls; pianoforte duo, Messrs. Jack Pope and Cyril Chaston; recitation, Miss Jean Lorimer; dialogue, Senior Pupils; violin and pianoforte solo, Misses Vernie Shemmit and Marjory Higgins; recitation, Miss Clarice Shemmit; pianoforte duo, Misses Isabel Chaston and Ruth Simson. The large audience very heartily accorded a vote of thanks to the artists and also to Miss Sjolando, the principal.

RESEMBLANCE NOTICED

Mrs. Beane was admiring Mrs. Deane's baby.

"Oh, what a darling!" "Da-da! Goo-goo! Hoo-o! Da!" replied the baby.

"The dear," exclaimed Mrs. Beane, "He's trying so hard to talk!"

"Yes, he talks that way all day, but he doesn't say anything," ventured Bobbie, the five-year-old brother of the baby.

"The baby is so much like his father," Mrs. Deane commented apropos of nothing, of course.

HIS NERVES NOW STRONG AS EVER

How An Ontario Teacher Regained Good Health.

"I am a school teacher by profession," says Mr. James H. Thomson, R.R. No. 1, Centralia, Ont., "yet when I started school teaching I was in very poor health. I suffered a nervous breakdown, brought on by overwork and no relaxation. I was unable to think, to act, or even to eat properly. Queer little prickly sensations were continually running up and down my back, my arms and my legs; like so many needles, seeming at times to fairly paralyze me, and often my heart was thumping like a trip-hammer. I determined to consult our family doctor, and he immediately put me under orders. I had to give up my school and return home in order to recuperate my lost health. My wife was chief remedy and I drank quinine of it, yet, though it helped me, it did not build me up to my normal condition—something was missing; something my system was calling for, better blood. One day, when picking up a newspaper, came across an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills suggesting just what was needed in my case—new, rich, red blood. I immediately sent for a box, and when the doctor visited me, I told him I had decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and he seemed satisfied. By the time my box was nearly done, and I determined to get another, by the time I had finished this I was gradually coming back to normal. My strength was returning, I could sit and walk without strain. For the next few weeks I continued to take the pills, and they were working wonders with me. My head was becoming clearer, my memory better, and my nerves were becoming sturdier. I began to go out frequently, enjoying myself. My appetite improved and was even better than before I had my breakdown. I was myself again. I got back my school, and to this day I have had no return of the trouble, and now when anyone comes to me with nervous trouble, I instantly suggest Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a remedy, as I believe that what they did in my case they will do for others."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicines or by mail at $50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. (Adv't.)

ALICE ADAMS

BY BOOTH TARKINGTON
INSTALLMENT NO. 7

Alice chose the topmost letter. "My dear, beautiful girl," it began. She stared at these singular words. My Dear, Beautiful Girl!

This time yesterday I had a mighty bad case of blues because I had not had a word from you in two whole long days. Now it is all so different because your letter has arrived and besides I have got a piece of news I believe you will think as fine as I do. It is this way. I had sort of a suspicion the head of the firm kind of took a fancy to me from the first when I went in there, and liked the way I attended to my work and so when he took me on this business trip with him I felt pretty sure of it—and now it turns out I was about right. In return I guess I have got about the best boss in this world and believe you will think so, too.

Yes, sweetheart, after the talk I have just had with him if J. A. Lamb asked me to cut my hand off for him I guess I would come pretty near doing it because what he says means the end of our waiting to be together. From New Years on he is going to put me in entire charge of the sundries dept. and what do you think is going to be my salary? Eleven hundred cool dollars a year ($11,000.00). That's all! Just only a cool eleven hundred per annum! Well, I guess that will show your mother whether I can take care of you or not. And oh how I would like to see you dear, beautiful, loving face when you get this news.

Oh my darling, now that your folks have no excuse for putting it off any longer we might be in our own little home before Xmas. Would you be glad?

Well, darling, this settles everything and makes our future just about as smooth for us as anybody could ask. I can hardly realize after all this waiting life's troubles are over for you and me and we have nothing to do but to enjoy the happiness granted us by this wonderful beautiful thing we call life. I am not

"The only matter is I had a silly fit," Alice protested. "Walter was pretty terrible."

"Oh, me, my!" Adams lamented. "What you going to do with a boy nineteen or twenty years old that makes his own living? Just got to hope he'll learn better, I suppose."

"Of course he didn't want to go to the Palmers," Alice explained, tolerantly—and as mama and made him take me, why, he felt he had a right to amuse himself any way he found. What I've been thinking in my papa; it seems to me I ought to do something."

"What like?" She looked dreamy, but was obviously serious as she told him. "Well, I mean I ought to be something besides just a kind of nobody. I ought to—"

"What, dearie?" "Well—there's one thing I'd like to do. I'm sure I could do it, too."

"I want to go on the stage; I know I could act."

Virgil.

The sound of her mother's diligent scrubbing in the hall came back slowly to Alice's hearing, as she restored the letter to the pocket, wrapped the packet in its muslin covering, and returned it to the drawer.

Until this moment, Alice had no conviction that there was a universal before she came into it. She had always thought of it at the background of herself; the moon was something to make her prettier on a Summer night.

But her father and mother had been young, after all—they really had—and their youth was now utterly passed from them. And so she, herself, must pass to such changes, too, and all that now seemed vital to her would be nothing.

That afternoon, she went into her father's room. His recovery had progressed well enough to permit the departure of Miss Perry; and Adams sat in a high-backed chair, his eyes closed.

"Don't go, dearie," he said. "Come sit with the old man a little while. She brought a chair near his. He thought you were napping."

"No, I just drift a little sometimes, planning what to do, you know, when I get out and able to go to work again."

"No, I just drift a little sometimes, planning what to do, you know, when I get out and able to go to work again."

His head turned slowly toward her, revealing the eyes, open in a haggard stare. "I heard you the other night when you came from the party," he said. "You needn't try to fool me; I know what was the matter."

"The only matter is I had a silly fit," Alice protested. "Walter was pretty terrible."

"Oh, me, my!" Adams lamented. "What you going to do with a boy nineteen or twenty years old that makes his own living? Just got to hope he'll learn better, I suppose."

placed in the groove made with the marking gauge. Do this while the shellac is still wet; when it dries it will help hold the wire in place. Shellac the core as you wind the wire.

When you have reached the other end of the core drive another braid into it and fasten the wire as you did before, allowing about six inches to extend at this end, also. Wind this end of the wire around a pencil to make a "pig tail." It is not to be used as a connection.

Lay the coil aside and make the ends of the coil base. The size for these is given in the diagram. Fasten them to the coil with screws forced in about 1/4 inches from the top of the end pieces.

She was certainly she'd make a great actress, and all so on; and one day your mother broke out and said she ought 'a' gone on the stage, herself; and, well, they got into kind of a spat about which one'd make the best actress. I had to go out in the hall to laugh!"

Alice was plucked. Her father knew nothing whatever of the stage, yet for some reason his innocently skeptical amusement reduced her bright project almost to nothing. Something like this always happened, it seemed.

The mood was still upon her the next afternoon when an errand for her father took her down-town. Adams had decided to begin smoking again, and Alice felt rather embarrassed, when she went into the large shop her father had named, and asked for the cheap tobacco he used in his pipe.

Next to the door of the tobacco-shop, there was the open entrance to a stairway, and above this aperture, a sign-board, displayed in gilt letters the information that Frincke's Business College occupied the upper floors of the building. Furthermore, Frincke here publicly offered "personal instruction and training in practical mathematics, bookkeeping, and all branches of the business life, including stenography, typewriting, etc."

Alice halted for a moment, frowning at this sign-board. It had an unpleasant fascination for her, and a mysterious reproach, which she did not seek to fathom. She walked on thoughtfully to-day; and when, at the next corner she turned into the street that led toward home, she was given a surprise. Arthur Russell came rapidly from behind her, lifting his hat as she saw him.

"Are you walking north, Miss Adams?" he asked. "Do you mind if I walk with you?"

"She was not delighted, but seemed so. "How charming!" she cried, giving him a little flourish of the shapely hands; and then, because she wondered if he had seen her coming out of the tobacco-shop, she laughed and added, "I've just been on the most ridiculous errand!"

"What was that?" "To order some cigars for my father. He's been quite ill, poor man, and he's—"

"What in the world do I know about cigars?" Russell laughed. "Well, what do you know about them? Did you select by the price?"

"Mercy, no!" she exclaimed, and added, with an afterthought, "Of course he wrote so—particulars about the kind he wanted and I gave it to the shopman. I could never have pronounced it."

SAYS ENGLISH ARE BUSINESS MACHINES

Show Little Sympathy in Trade, B. C. Agent Declares

Quality and Price Count for Everything With Them

English brokers and wholesalers "are solely business machines," and have no sympathies in business," and this is the opinion presented to Premier Oliver by the B. C. Salmon Canners' Association after a study of English market conditions by Col. F. H. Cunningham, who was sent to Europe to stimulate the market for British Columbia salmon.

This summary from the canners was sent to the Premier as a guide to the Government in its attempts to push the sale of products of this Province in England.

Other features of British market conditions which the canners think should be realized here are:

1. There is no business sentiment in England—quality and price is everything.

2. Country of origin is no factor in selling goods, although subject to equal quality and price, the preference would probably be given Empire products. Other countries realize this and Australia and Africa are taking notice, while the United States by persistent efforts, has secured a great hold on the markets.

3. As far for the market for pink salmon, the opinion is prevalent that spawned fish are used or some other fish packed and designated "pink salmon." There is a prejudice against medium reds, either red or pink—people in England cannot understand it is another species of fish.

4. Siberian salmon will continue to be the most powerful competitor of B. C. salmon in England, as it is red in color and is sold under the best known labels, which agrees with English prejudices. The Siberian packs are financed in England, and all goods are inspected in the canneries.

5. Spot goods are a great factor in England, France and Belgium and must be considered in any efforts to obtain a sure hold on English trade.

6. There is no market for "chums" salmon in England, France, Belgium and possibly other European countries are markets for these goods and should be cultivated.

Cariboo Echoes From Old Barkerville

By Rover.

During a visit to historic Barkerville a few years ago, the author came across a very interesting old book in the shape of a day book, evidently kept by one of the blacksmiths in Barkerville. The heading of each page is dated 1868, and strange as it may seem the lead pencil entries are just as legible, and as plain as if they were made the other day. The book certainly shows that it had pretty good care during the past 54 years. Reading between the lines of the entries, it was possible to reconstruct a picture, as were the everyday life of the bustling mining camp.

The first entry is for Sunday, August 23, 1868: John Usher, to two drifting picks, $14.00; to sharpening four picks, $1.00. John Usher afterwards went to Kamloops to act as Government Agent and was shot by one of the McLean boys while attempting to arrest three of them. Old timers speak of him as a fine fellow.

Evidently the blacksmith did not worry about the rain, because in those days for it is noted throughout the book that he worked on every Sunday from August until the end of November. This was no doubt due to the fact that the weather was bitter cold weather and heavy snow fall very little work was done in the winter.

The following day there is an entry to Mr. Croser of the Just Struck It Company, one new drifting pick—$8. Evidently the blacksmith had two prices, one for the ordinary miner and one for the company's miner.

The Old Country sportsman was present in those days in the Cariboo. On August 25 the following entry occurs: Captain Travels, repairing gun stock, $5. As showing prices of steel after being packed all the way possibly from the Old Country or California, and over 200 miles of rough road, there is an entry to Henry Chater, Keithley Creek, to 5 1/2 pounds steel, $3.50.

The next entry will show that the miners were not minus their amusements: Tom Lafont's troupe, to six banjo bolts, $3.

The next entry closes up the month.

HEADS THAT ACHE AND PAIN

It is hard to drag along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

In nine cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, which organ is to blame the organs of elimination acting freely and when the impurities are carried off from the system, purified blood circulates in the brain cells, and the aches and pains vanish.

Miss Clara Murphy, Centre Dumfries, Ont., writes: "My system was greatly run down and I stood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health. I took another enormous amount of good medicine, but it was not until I had recommended it to some of my friends who were in a similar condition and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

VICTORIANS CHEER TULIP PARADE

Princess Louise Carried Gay Party to Bellingham Demonstration Proved Value of Community Co-operation

To the steady tramp of thousands of feet and the playing of martial and patriotic music, the great Tulip Festival Parade passed in review at Bellingham yesterday before hosts of people from all parts of Canada and the United States.

Nearly 700 excursionists from Victoria went to Bellingham on the C. P. R. steamer, Empress Louise, and thoroughly enjoyed the splendid trip through the sheltered and scenic water route.

When the Princess Louise docked at Bellingham at noon a crowd met the excursionists and a band played the National Airs of Canada and the United States.

support to insure that the whole would be a success.

Victoria's Delegation. Mayor Tisdill, of Vancouver, was one of the many municipal heads attending yesterday's functions.

The Vancouver Police Pipe Band headed the parade and made a big hit with the Bellingham people.

During the stay of the C. P. R. steamer in Bellingham, Captain M. Rippon and Chief Engineer J. Pettigrove conducted residents of the Tulip City over the splendid new vessel.

The floats were really magnificent. There were seventy-five of them, in addition to which were fifty decorated cars, other special features and thousands of representatives of public organizations, schools and other institutions.

rode Queen Aletta and in the others were her maids, one of whom held the reins on two gorgeous butterflies at the head of the float.

Five little girls, representing the five small towns which consolidated into what is now Bellingham, holding bank sash streamers leading to Miss Ella Davidson, representing the Bellingham of to-day, who was seated upon a throne at the rear of the beautifully decorated float, was the contribution of the employees of the City of Bellingham to the parade.

Blaine. The Peace Arch float, entered by Blaine, was a miniature model copied from the original structure at the border-line between the United States and Canada.

A miniature ferry boat, twenty-eight feet long and twelve feet wide, perfect replica of a big sea-going ferry, complete even to lifeboats and whistle, was the float entered by the Anacortes Chamber of Commerce.

Decidedly Dutch was the display made by the Larrabee building. Its float included a representation of cheese-making and all the participants were dressed as Hollanders.

Another Dutch scene was the float of the Kiwanis Club. This float had a windmill on the banks of a river upon which a small boat was sailing.

Rotary Club. "Service Above Self" was the title of the Rotary Club float upon which stood a woman's figure in the garb of ancient Helles holding the sword of justice above her head.

Two C. P. S. S. Liners To Be Withdrawn From Transpacific Service

S.S. Monteagle to Be Laid Up Following Completion of Present Voyage; Empress of Japan Is Also to Be Taken Off Route; Both Vessels May Be Sold.

With the advent to the Pacific route of the crack new liner Empress of Canada, which sailed from Falmouth yesterday for Hongkong on the first lap of her maiden voyage to this port, and the splendidly appointed liner Empress of Australia, due out here in July, the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Ltd., is considering the withdrawal of the old liners Monteagle and the Empress of Japan from the trans-Pacific service.

Left Yokohama Yesterday. The liner Monteagle, which sailed from Yokohama yesterday, and is due to reach this port May 19, will be laid up following her arrival at Vancouver.

The Empress of Japan has done yeoman service on the Pacific for the past thirty years. She came out from England with the sister liners Empress of China and Empress of India three decades ago and has been in commission continuously in Pacific and Far Eastern waters.

Japan Held Record. For years the trim clipper steamships of the C. P. R. were the speed ships of this ocean and it was not until the S. S. Empress of Russia arrived on the scene that the record of 19 days 10 hours held by the Empress of Japan was broken.

Now on Market. It has been known for some time that the liner Empress of Japan was in the market. The Pacific Steamship Company planned to operate the Japan in the California service and with that object in view had the vessel inspected at Vancouver.

The Monteagle is an old timer, but has been considerably less service on the Pacific than the Empress of Japan.

The Empress of Japan was built by the Naval Construction & Armament Co. Ltd., Bath, in 1891.

REQUIRED SEAFARER AT LAST ANCHORAGE

Capt. Harry Trim, Well-known Coastwise Navigator, Died Yesterday

Capt. Harry Trim, one of the pioneer coastwise navigators, and later a farmer on Westham Island, died yesterday morning at Vancouver.

Pilot on the Great Lakes in his youth, Capt. Trim came westward in quest of gold in the Cariboo back in 1853. With 1,000 others he came via Cap Horn to San Francisco and then to Victoria and the interior.

Returning to the Coast. Captain Trim engaged in the whaling trade and established a whaling station on the island of Howe Sound. The following year he established a second camp at Jericho, where the present gold links are situated.

Later Captain Trim became pilot to the Indian Commission and commanded the Leonora, and Douglas Warren's schooner, Thornton, from Victoria. The work of this commission was to establish various Indian reserves on Vancouver Island and the mainland.

Settles on Westham. Captain Trim's trading ventures were chiefly among the Indians, and were confined to the district between Texada Island and the Queen Charlottes.

Complete radio telephone equipment for both sending and receiving are being installed aboard the Admiral Lino steamship H. F. Alexander, formerly the S.S. Great Northern, which is now being fitted out at Philadelphia for the Pacific coastwise service of the company.

Lecture Was Popular.—Nearly two hundred people attended the lecture on the geology of the Fraser Valley in relation to oil, which was given at Harmony Hall last night by John M. Lacey. Mr. Lacey showed that anticipations of granitic rocks at shallow depths had been without foundation, describing as ideal the formations penetrated by many bore holes for depths of more than four thousand feet. The speaker was accorded an ovation at the conclusion of his lucid address on a most difficult subject.

The Theosophical Society.—On Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the rooms, 101 Union Bank Building, the Theosophical Society will observe "White Lotus Day." A number of Welsh songs will be rendered at different periods in the lecture by well-known artists. The following artists have offered their services: Miss Lewis, Miss Beth Simpson, Mrs. Jesse Longfield, and D. C. Hughes. The lecture is under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian choir and the proceeds will go to the organ renovation fund.

On-We-Go Event.—Last evening the On-We-Go Bible class of the First Presbyterian Church held its regular session of officers and social at the home of Gordon Sword, one of its members. There was a large turnout of members, and a thoroughly enjoyable time was had. Jack McCreadie, the social chairman, took charge of the social side of the evening, and it was through his efforts that the event was so highly successful. After the elections the re-elected president, Neil Grant, gave a short speech thanking the members for the confidence which they had placed in him, and asking them for their continued co-operation. E. G. Howell, the class leader, also spoke, and expressed the belief that with the new officers the On-We-Gos had one of their most successful terms before them.

Successful Concert.—A very enjoyable concert was held last evening under the auspices of the Lake Hill Community Centre committee in the Mission Hall at Lake Hill. W. E. Peirce presided, and explained the efforts being put forward to build a community centre building in the district. During the evening, donations for the building fund were received, the gifts totalling over $100. R. R. Webb led the community singing, which was heartily joined in by

WHAT ALBERTA MAN SAYS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

States he found sure relief for Neuralgia, Backache and Rheumatism in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Red Water, Alta., May 5.—(Special)—"I cannot be without Dodd's Kidney Pills at home. I have found them a sure relief for neuralgia, backache and rheumatism."

That is the statement of Mr. M. Tkachuk, a well-known resident here. No stronger recommendation of a standard remedy was ever penned or spoken.

Recommendations of Dodd's Kidney Pills come from the heart. They are the voluntary statements of men and women who have suffered and found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

That Mr. Tkachuk found relief for his neuralgia, backache and rheumatism in Dodd's Kidney Pills only natural. All of them are caused by poison in the blood that defective kidneys have failed to strain out.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make strong healthy kidneys.—(Adv.)

Concert at Mental Home.—An exceptionally fine entertainment of music and song was given last night at the Mental Home, Wilkinson Road, by Percy Critchard's concert party. All the artists distinguished themselves admirably, judging by the enormous gifts given every item on the programme. The patients were more than delighted to hear such beautiful music and well rendered songs. The following artists took part: Miss Elsie Hastings, Misses Edith and Vera Critchard, Chas. Askey, Wm. Crothall, W. J. Cobbett, Jas. Burke (centriologist) and Percy Critchard. The superintendent of the Home thanked the artists for their splendid entertainment and expressed the hope that the concert party would again visit them. At the close, refreshments were served, after which the National Anthem was sung. Miss Edith Critchard acted as accompanist very creditably.

Concert at Oak Bay.—A concert will be given at St. Mary's Hall, Yale Street, on Tuesday at 8.15 o'clock, in aid of St. Mary's Troop and Pack. Miss Eva Hart, Mrs. Robert Laird, Miss Dorothy Stuart Robertson and others will assist.

Gun Club Shoot.—The regular trap shoot of the Esquimaux Gun Club is now in progress on the grounds on Admiral's Road. Ammunition may be secured on the ground. All are welcome, says the secretary.

Amputation Club.—At the regular meeting of the Amputation Club held on Thursday evening at the club rooms, Belmont Building, it was reported that no reply had yet been received from the Mayor to the communication forwarded from this Association at its last meeting, calling attention to the failure on the part of the City to employ Amputees who are in need of work. The secretary was therefore instructed to communicate, requesting a reply to this previous communication; and the Mayor being some eight or nine of the sixty members of the Amputation Club who are in need of employment. In a statement to the effect that the City had no vacancies for clerks, the Amputation Club emphasized that clerical work was the only kind of employment for which their members fitted. There must be other suitable work which could be offered, it was felt.

WILL GO AS BODY

That the members of the Victoria and District Photographic Association would attend as a body the Seattle conference of Pacific Northwest Photographers, on June 13, was decided at a meeting of the local organization last evening with Wilfred Gibson in the chair. The Victoria party is to go by car, via the Sidney-Anacortes ferry, joining later with the Vancouver photographers, and the whole going as a B. C. delegation. Mr. Waterworth, formerly a photographer for the R. C. M. P., gave an interesting talk last night on a photograph, and the use of finger prints.

WATER SUPPLY FOR MOUNT DOUGLAS PARK

After inspecting all beaches and parks under its jurisdiction, the Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee decided yesterday to install a water supply to serve Mount Douglas Park and to consider the advisability of establishing a new motor parking area for tourists near the entrance to the Willows on property partially occupied by the Aged Men's Home. The committee visited Cadboro Bay, Mount Douglas Park, Cordova Bay, Verdier Park, Telegraph Beach and Elk Lake in the course of an all-day inspection trip.

POLICE WILL PROSECUTE

Chief of Police John Fry stated to The Times to-day that the names of any merchant or tradesman, or other person barred under the Lord's Day Act, doing business to-morrow will be taken, similarly to the practice in vogue for the past two weeks, and that prosecutions will follow.

WANT LOWER RATES FOR FIRE INSURANCE

Saanich Central Ratepayers Urge Action by Council.

With President J. C. Richards again in chair, Saanich Central Ratepayers' Association last night at Royal Oak completed drafting the proposed Ward Association constitution but deferred final adoption of the document until the next session.

Being informed that there is a possibility of lower fire insurance rates being secured for Saanich residents, on lines according with the reduction in charges recently effected in Victoria, the Central Ratepayers decided to urge the Saanich Council to take up the matter with the Underwriters' Association.

Fourteen delegates, representing five wards, were present at the session, Wards Three and Six being unrepresented.

APPOINTMENT OF JUDGE OPPOSED

dears to us that such appointment, if made, will be solely as a reward for party faithfulness or service. We desire to register our most emphatic protest against the government, believing, as we do, that it can not but tend to destroy the confidence of the public in the judiciary of the province. We trust that we may have your assurance that the newspaper reports are unfounded and that no such commission will issue."

Minister Replied.

Sir Lomer Gouin's reply, dated May 3, as quoted, was as follows, addressed to W. Bedford, of the Victoria branch of the Association:

"Your wire dated May 2 duly received. I am unaware of the name mentioned in the newspaper reports you refer to. After full and mature consideration, the government has decided to appoint Mr. J. E. Adamson as a judge of the Court of King's Bench, and I desire to assure you that none of the reasons mentioned in your protest inspired the selection made."

Reconsideration Asked.

The final message was signed by Mr. Mulock and addressed to the Minister of Justice and is quoted as follows:

"Joint meeting of Benchers and bar executive held to-day to consider your wire, unanimously directs me to wire as follows:

"Our telegram referred to J. E. Adamson and we assumed that newspaper announcement would be within your knowledge. Adamson is in no way fit for the position and it is perfectly obvious that his appointment can only be based on party considerations. Trust your decision may be reconsidered and that commission will not issue to Adamson."

reparations committee" to interfere with Russia's internal affairs.

Russia's Reply.

Genoa, May 6.—Russia's reply to the Allies' memorandum, expected to be ready Sunday or Monday, will be a distinctly conciliatory document, not intended to break off negotiations. Foreign Minister Tchitcherine said to-day. It will, however, he declared, firmly state Russia's inability to comply with the terms offered.

Reuter's correspondent here says to-day:

"The final Russian decision is not expected before Monday or Tuesday. Meanwhile it is rumored that Premier Lloyd George's train is ready, and that falling a favorable change in the situation as the result of M. Barthou's return, Mr. Lloyd George will return to London forthwith."

DON'T FAIL TO SPRAY TREES AND PLANTS

Spraying is absolutely essential if the reader wants perfect fruit or flowers. With the first warmth of Spring the eggs of insects (dormant during the winter) begin to hatch and come to life. The larvae eat voraciously, develop amazingly and, before you know it, the bloom is stung, imperfect fruit and unsatisfactory blooms are the certain result.

Spray just as soon as the new leaf starts to unfold, before the bloom appears. Larvae which hatch on the young tender leaf. Be sure to get on the under side, both of leaf and bud. Thorough treatment of this kind in the Spring saves a lot of trouble later.

For spraying use Kero-Spray. This contains Black Leaf Forty, Arsenate of Lead, Kerene, White Oil Soap and emulsifying ingredients. It is sure death to all forms of insect life. In the garden, insects will constantly appear as the season develops. As soon as the first sign of green fly spider or thrip, etc., appear, apply Kero-Spray. Don't be afraid to use it as it will not harm the plant but really makes it able to resist rust blight, mildew and other plant diseases.

Kero-Spray can be obtained at any Vancouver Drug Co. store, Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster. It sells at 40 cents per bottle (making 5 gallons), $1.25 per 4 gallon (making 25 gallons), $2 per gallon and special price on large quantities. (Adv.)

LACROSSE CLUBS READY FOR ACTION

"Cotton" Brynolfson Will Get Team Together to Defend Big Trophies

"Billie" Moresby Once Again Heads Club; Practices to Start at Once

Victoria organized its lacrosse forces at a meeting last night and will make a determined effort to see that the Mann and Kilmarnock Cups do not make a move this season.

The Victoria Lacrosse Club, which will field a team to meet Vancouver in a twelve-game series, convened last night and many players and enthusiasts were in attendance.

W. C. Moresby, who headed the club last year, was again elected to the presidency. "Billie" sees a big year ahead of the national game and announced his intention of doing all in his power to help in the revival of the gutted stick in this city.

The other officers of the club will be as follows:

Honorary president, J. A. Virtue; honorary vice-president, A. W. Curtis; first vice-president, Ed. Christopher; second vice-president, Jim Dakers; secretary, Bob McInnes; treasurer, E. Taylor; executive committee, Henry Hurst, Alec Stevens, W. Mitchell, A. McGregor, Ed. Brynolfson and Ed. Kroeger; delegates to the B. C. A. L. A., Jim Dakers and Ed. Christopher. Bob McInnes will represent the club on the B. C. A. A. U.

Turn Out At Once.

The team which is to wear the colors of the Capital will turn out for practices immediately. It will be up to "Cotton" Brynolfson, one of the best stick-handlers in the business, to get the team into shape. He was appointed manager pro tem last night. When the team has been fielded it will get together and appoint its own manager. "Cotton" no doubt will be the logical man at that time, for what he doesn't know about the game isn't worth time trying to find.

The club has many of its former stars ready to don the harness once more and quite a number of fleet, aggressive and sturdy lads from the High School are preparing to try out for places on the team, and with coaching from the old-timers they will no doubt be fashioned into very trim players.

The new British Columbia Amateur Lacrosse League will allow twelve men a-side, with three substitutes, fifteen in uniform at one time.

GREENLEAF WINS EASILY.

New York, May 6.—Ralph Greenleaf, national pocket-billiard champion, last night easily defeated Walter Franklin, of Kansas City, 152 to 24, in the second round of the title match. The point score for these blocks was: Greenleaf, 308; Franklin, 88.

YES, HE'S QUITE A LAD.

Chicago, May 6.—J. M. Hunter, new professional in the Milwaukee Country Club, is the biggest golfer in the United States. He is said to have been a champion in Canada and before coming to the United States recently. Hunter is 6 feet, 3 inches tall and weighs 225 pounds.

DAN CUPID SPORTS ONE WICKED PUNCH

Babe Herman Went Out to Count of Magistrate in New York Last Night

New York, May 6.—Dan (Kid) Cupid, who has been successful in all classes, yesterday added Babe Herman, Los Angeles featherweight, to his list of victims.

It was the second time this week that Herman had tasted defeat. On Tuesday night he went out in the first round from the sling shot punches of Vincent "Pepper" Martin, of Brooklyn.

Babe's defence was poor last night. The "Kid" penetrated his guard soon after the going-rang and landed a terrific punch to the heart. Babe went down and the magistrate in city hall counted ten seconds this way: "Do-you-take-this-woman-for-your-lawful-wedded-wife."

"Kid" Cupid carried Babe to his cornea to Mrs. Babe, formerly Miss Edna Reedy.

No Excuses.

Babe entered the ring under his real name, Herman J. Sousa. He had no excuse for his defeat.

EMPRESS BILLIARDS

The final game in the tournament which has been conducted at the Empress billiard parlors will be played on Monday night. The ivory will be set up at 8 o'clock. Spencer (75) will meet Taylor (70).

Ralston (65) will meet Grinnard (75) in a play-off for third and fourth places.

HIS NEW POSITION.

An athletic young fellow in Australia found himself landed in the police court.

The magistrate inquired what the prisoner's occupation was.

"He's a professional football player," said his counsel. "He plays outside right for his team."

"Oh, he does, does he?" replied the magistrate. "Well, then, we must change his position. He'll be left inside for the next month."

Turn the Pages Back Twenty-Two Years and Here Are the Men Who Won Honors For City

THE VICTORIA RUGBY TEAM OF 1900

Many folks in Victoria will remember the old Caledonia grounds, which were situated in James Bay, with Government, Niagara and Simcoe Streets as their boundaries. Within the confines of this historic fence many grim battles were fought and some of the old-timers will tell you that the sport in those days was far more thrilling and exciting than anything put on by this generation.

The team reproduced above is said to be one of the best that ever wore the colors of Victoria and it was invincible on the Coast. In those days the Nanaimo Hornets were in the league and they were hard customers. A. T. Goward, who now guides the destinies of the B. C. Electric Railway in this city, was captain of the fifteen and the players say he was a crackerjack.

The players in the picture above are as follows: Back row, left to right—George Johnson, manager of several canneries on the coast; Ford Thompson, Harry Austin, who was killed in the Great War; Frank Smith, roads superintendent in Saanich; Walter Lorimer, manager of the Elks baseball team and member of the Customs staff; and Charlie McNeill, of the Acme Press.

Middle row—The late Bob Foster, who trained most of the athletes here two decades ago; A. T. Goward, Hab Gillespie, now alderman of Victoria; Jack Miller, of the Bank of Commerce; Ken Schoefield; the late Mr. Pemberton, brother of F. B. Pemberton, and Ken McRae, barrister in Dawson.

The little "shavers" in the front row are none other than the general member for Esquimalt in the local Legislature, Harry Pooley; H. A. "Giddy" Goward, who still keeps in training on the cricket oval, and G. Clark, whose whereabouts are not known now.

BIG TENNIS TUSSLE IS OPENING TO-DAY

Tilden Meets Strachan and Richards Runs Up Against Willie Johnston

Berkeley, Cal., May 6.—The first of the East vs. West tennis matches will be played on the courts of the Berkeley Tennis Club to-day when William T. Tilden II, representing the East, meets John R. Strachan, of San Francisco. The second of the matches of the day will be between Vincent Richards for the East and William M. Johnston, of San Francisco.

Tilden, the ranking player in the world, will be opposed by Strachan, who was not ranked in the national players last year for the lack of sufficient data. He has not played in the East since 1913 when he won the clay court championship.

Johnston, who ranks next to Tilden, will meet Richards, the third ranking player in the country.

Doubles on Monday.

Two single matches will be played to-morrow and the doubles, in which Johnston and Strachan will meet Tilden and Richards, is scheduled for Monday. Tentative arrangements have been made for Roland Roberts to meet Richards in the singles Sunday.

Tilden and Richards will play here next week in the Pacific coast championships. In the mixed doubles Tilden will have as a partner Mrs. May Sinton Burdy and Richards will pair with Miss Helen Willis, national girls' champion.

UP-TOMBIES WIN GAME

Last night the Tigers and Um-Tombie baseball teams met in a friendly game at the High School ground. The game was fast and clean, effective work being done by the pitchers. At the first of the ninth the score was 11-9 in favor of the Tigers, but a batting rally staged by the Um-Tombies won the game, the final score being 12-11. Charlie Ozard, the Um-Tombies' box wizard, was the star of the game. The batter-ies were: Tigers: Laird, Robinson and Fox. Um-Tombies: Ozard and Johnstone.

FAILS TO LAND IN THE HALL OF FAME

Bayne, of St. Louis, Held Detroit Runless and Hitless for Eight Innings

Browns Remain in Tie With Yankees for First Place; Bad Day for Recruit

New York, May 6.—Bayne, St. Louis Browns' pitcher, is absent from the no-hit no-run hall of fame to-day, but only because luck refused to answer his knock at the door.

For eight innings Bayne held Ty Cobb's Detroit Tigers both hitless and runless. In the final inning with the laurel almost in his grasp, however, fate—in the shape of bats wielded by Veach, Woodall and Hellman—dealt him an unkind blow.

Two singles plus a sacrifice fly, not only broke the hitless stretch, but tallied a run. Cobb benched himself in this inning for a pinch hitter, Fothergill, who filed out.

How Things Change.

St. Louis won easily 6 to 1, and remained tied with the Yankees, who were lucky to squeeze out a five to four victory over the Athletics. Charley Robertson, who twirled a perfect game last Sunday was knocked from the box in six innings by Cleveland, who defeated the White Sox 6 to 2.

The St. Louis Cardinals took their third straight game from Cincinnati in the one-run margin. Pfeiffer hurling great ball after wobbling in the first two innings.

Tight pitching by Cooper, who fanned seven, helped give Pittsburgh a three-to-one decision over Chicago.

Jack Britton Still Able to Win Bouts

DEMPSEY SEES NICE PLUMBS IN EUROPE

Huge Purses Are Offered for Bouts With Carpentier and Beckett

London, May 6.—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight champion, said yesterday that a second match between Dempsey and Georges Carpentier had not been definitely arranged but that a bout with Carpentier was one of the propositions which had been made to the champion. He also declared that Dempsey had not been matched with Jess Willard.

"We are bound to no promoters for matches in Europe," said Kearns, "but we have received several offers for bouts with Carpentier and Beckett in London and Paris with purses as large as any offered in the United States. Which bout will be ultimately arranged depends somewhat on the outcome of the Carpentier-Lewis bout.

"We are returning to the United States on May 13 as Jack has vaudeville bookings. Carpentier's inducements are offered by a responsible promoter, Jack will agree to meet either Greb, Brennan, Willard or Willis before returning to this side."

COAST LEAGUE BALL

Sacramento, Calif., May 6.—The slugging Bees from Utah went on another batting rampage at Moreing Field yesterday, hammering out a total of 19 hits and driving Dick Niehaus to the showers for 11 of them. Fifth Day Lewis poked out five safe swats in just that many trips to the pentagon and was helped along over the circuit on four of them in the ninth. Colonel Farley, still slipping Senatorial hospital corps kept going back to the bench scores from the shoots of Kallio. Finley-Less Sheehan, hitting for Carl field in the ninth, got a life on Wilhoit's boot, moved up on an infield out and scored on Kopp's infield hit. But by Southpaw pitching Henry the Bees making it four straight by figures of 9 to 1.

McCredie Laughs Again.

Portland, Ore., May 6.—Walter McCredie enjoyed another laugh to-day when he substituted for his Seattle club winning its second straight victory over Portland 4 to 2. McCredie let the Beavers see nothing but Southpaw pitching. Henry started but when he wobbled in the fifth, two runs scoring on Hale's punch to left, he was yanked and though substituted for by Sam Ross, the rally and held the Beavers runless the remaining innings. Sam Ross for Portland not only was wild but was hit hard in almost every inning.

Fight at Los Angeles Game.

Los Angeles, May 6.—San Francisco made it two in a row against Vernon here yesterday when the Seals won easily by a score of 7 to 1. Only one did the Seals win easily, but they put the game away in the first inning when a double by See was followed by a sacrifice fly and three singles which netted two runs. The Tigers used three pitchers.

Oliver Mitchell, pitcher for San Francisco, and Rollie Zeider, utility man for Vernon, came to blows in centre field just before the third inning. They exchanged blows for several minutes before umpires and players separated them.

CLIFFORD SIFTON KNEW HIS CONSTITUENCY WELL

It Stretched Up Manitoba Towards the North Pole But He Had Studied It.

SIR CLIFFORD SIFTON, when in political life, was a great campaigner. He had great physical strength and endurance, which served him in good stead.

In those days his constituency was North Brandon, a truly rural constituency, which began at the northern border of the city of Brandon and ran a long way across Manitoba toward the North Pole.

"The trouble with you fellows," said Mr. Sifton, "is that you don't know your fields—don't study your constituencies closely enough."

WOMAN OF MANY SORROWS IS THIS RUSSIAN COUNTESS

A Tragedy Comes to Light of Cruel Losses.

THIS pretty woman is the Countess Wanda Lubrenska, a prominent member of the Russian refugee colony in Paris, who is known among her friends as "The Woman of Many Sorrows."

Her story is probably without a parallel in the war that brought so much tragedy in its train. Before war came she was rich, influential, a happy wife and mother.

Although when the revolution came in Russia, she managed to transfer the bulk of her large fortune from Moscow to Warsaw and thence to Paris, she has in the last few years lost practically every member of her family.

Her husband, her father, her five brothers, all officers in the Russian army, were killed in the war.

One of her children was scalded to death; a second was burned alive; a third killed in a riot; a fourth by the collapse of a building; and a fifth by a runaway horse.

The countess recently fell downstairs and broke both her legs. It was in connection with this accident that her tragic story became public.

TURK CROWN PRINCE DEMOCRAT

ABDUL MEDJID, the heir to the Ottoman throne, according to L'Europe Nouvelle, leads in Constantinople the most democratic life. The future commander of the faithful, who can be approached without difficulty, divides his activity between journalism, music and painting.

He has suppressed the harem in his palace and enjoys intensely the liberty of which he was deprived by Abdul Hamid for thirty years. He is now fifty years old.

His library is stored with French books. His favorite composer is Beethoven and his favorite writer is Anatole France.

COULD STILL STEER WELL

AN enthusiastic motorist himself, Sir Philip Sassoon, M.P., the wealthy young Englishman who was Lloyd George's private secretary, has a host of good motoring stories to his credit.

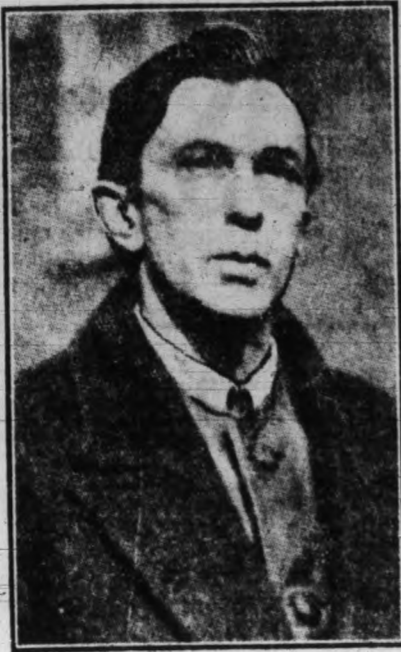

One of the best concerns a motor-cyclist and his friend who had spent the evening well, if not too wisely.

Making for home on a solo mount at speed, the headlights of an approaching car appeared in the distance.

"Steady, old man! See those lights?" exclaimed the occupant of the pillion seat.

Came the confident reply: "That's all right, old man—I can steer between them!"

JAMES A. MACPHERSON was in a reminiscent mood the other day, and he was retelling incidents of early days in Kincardine. No. 1 company was a volunteer unit of fifty-five men—thirty of them over six feet tall—Collinses, Hunters, Fannings. They were under command of Major Daniel. It was in the middle sixties with rumors of Fenian invasion in the air.

The telegram was from Major Baretto, Stratford, and it ordered the major to mobilize his command, march them to Kincardine, billet them upon the people of the village and await further instructions. The major lost no time. He marched his stalwarts into the village and reported to Reeve Rastall, who made the necessary billeting arrangements. That was Saturday. There was parade next morning in the Church of the Messiah, where they heard a militant sermon and listened to the congregation singing "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Next day, no instructions having been received, the major wired Baretto that he had carried out the orders contained in the telegram and was awaiting the further instructions. Baretto replied at once that he had sent no telegram and to arrest the miscreant who had fabricated the message. The poor hostler was arraigned before Magistrates Rastall and Withers. Mr. Macpherson appeared for the defense, but when the telegram was to be produced as exhibit A it was nowhere to be found. Baretto came up by stage from Goderich—there was no railway here in those days—but too late for the trial, which had ended in acquittal.

Mr. Macpherson, Joe Lang and Bob Spiers met him, however, and soon had him in good humor, so that no further action was taken. The company disbanded, the village paid $75 to recoup for the quartering, and it ended there.

"Who was responsible for the practical joke?" he was asked.

"Well," said Mr. Macpherson, "I don't know, of course, but I always thought it was Joe Lang and Bob Spiers. I know they were at Becton's the night before, and I know it was Joe who paid the costs of the defense."

His deduction seems reasonable, too, doesn't it?—Kincardine Review.

SMITH WONDERED WHY THERE WAS NO REPORT

SOME three dozen years ago, when Senator E. D. Smith of Wentworth, Ont., was just Ernest D. Smith, fruit grower and farmer, he lived on the old Smith homestead. The house, even at that time, had been built for many years, and being on the "mountain," the high winds had blown a brick from off the top down the chimney flue. The brick had lodged part way down, the draft was poor and the smoke troublesome. "E.D.", from wifely admonition, ascended to the roof to dislodge the brick, and a small nephew of one of Mr. Smith's farm help was up on the ladder at the pipe hole to relay information when the brick came down.

The brick came down all right and the boy reached in for it. At the same time the crowbar that was being used to dislodge it came down, too, and caught the boy's finger, taking off the end of it.

For some moments the senator-to-be wondered why the boy went so far down with no report from below, but the lad was making all his noise in the kitchen, where the finger was being fixed up.

Lady Astor Soon Stopped Women from Pushing Cigaret Stubs Into Carpets With Their Heels

Ouspoken Lady M.P. Didn't Mind Smoking, But Objected To Ruined Home.

LADY ASTOR, M.P., who is now in the United States attending the National League of Women Voters, is noted for the directness of her speech. The story goes that when she was making her maiden speech in the House of Commons, a cantankerous, crusty old M.P., who resented her woman's invasion of the House, showed his displeasure by keeping up a constant mumbling. She liked neither him nor his interference.

She stopped once or twice to make sure that it was he who was responsible for the unpleasant noise. Suddenly she stopped completely, looked straight across at him and shouted across the chamber, so it is said: "Now, see here, you stop that. How do you expect me to go on with my speech if you keep mumbling all the time? I don't do that when you speak." The man stopped as if he were shot. And he never mumbled again when she rose to take the floor.

The same sharp wit that characterizes her work in politics characterizes her evenings at home. She has no time to waste over foolish gossip. A story is told of a number of smartly dressed Englishwomen coming to one of her evenings to talk with her about some fashionable charity work in which they were interested. Lady Astor was interested in the charity, not in the fashion. When her guests came, however, they concentrated on the conversation that to them constituted after-dinner talk. She listened to them for about five minutes, and then, with her straight-from-the-shoulder tactics, she stopped them as she had stopped the mumbling of the ancient M.P.

"See here," it is asserted she said to them, "you've come here to talk about business. You're not talking business now, and I've no time for this nonsense. Come to the point and stick to it." They did even as did the more dignified personage who had aroused her battle ire.

Strangely enough, she does not alienate her friends by her methods. They like her for her frankness and honesty. Neither she nor Viscount Astor drink or smoke. That does not mean, however, that she objects to other people drinking or smoking in her home. Yet when it outrages her sense of proportion she is not slow to say so. A number of women delegates once came to see her about working conditions in factories. They were not a fashionable group. They were all leaders of groups of organizations that were doing valuable service in England. When talking to the most important of them, the cigarette ashes of the woman dropped on to the carpet. Lady Astor looked from the cigarette stub to the carpet and said nothing. The woman did not notice the glance but went on talking and smoking. Lady Astor stopped her.

"Wait a minute," she said. "Last Tuesday night after you people went home I found ashes and cigarette stubs heeled into the pile of my carpet. I don't mind your smoking if it makes you any happier, but I do want to tell you it makes me mighty unhappy to have my carpet spoiled that way. What's more, I won't have it. If you've got to smoke, smoke like a decent human being with some regard for the comfort of others. Now what were you saying?"

It was said half in jest, but the shot went home. Women still smoke in her home, but they are very careful to attach themselves to ash trays before they light their cigarettes.

IN THE CENTRE OF THE LIMELIGHT AT GENOA.

The Russian Representatives

GEORGE TCHITCHERIN, the Russian foreign minister, who was the storm centre of the Genoa conference because of his treaty with Germany, is shown in the circle above. He is described by an onlooker as having an unprepossessing figure, a theologic appearance and a plain face fringed with a thin red beard. The other three men are prominent Bolsheviks in the Soviet delegation. Their names from left to right are Joffe, Litvinoff and Rondzutak. Readers may judge for themselves how their faces fit with the pre-conceived ideas of what these Bolsheviks really looked like.

HARBOTTLE'S HUMOR INSTEAD OF A HOLLER

When He Met the 75th "Marching Easy."

IT was a very hot afternoon in France when "Don" Company of the 75th Battalion changed billets a few miles back of the line. It necessitated a march of a few miles through woods and across fields, and Lieut.-Col. Colin C. Harbottle, officer commanding the 75th, accompanied by Captain Gray, adjutant, had ridden their horses ahead to see if everything was in readiness for the coming troops.

As the company marched along, the officer in charge gave the command to "March Easy" as the heat was terrific. The men at once "slung" their rifles, started to smoke and sing, and some went so far as to hang their caps over the muzzles of their rifles and unbutton their tunics, in an effort to get cool.

When near the town in which the company was to be billeted, Col. Harbottle, accompanied by the adjutant, suddenly appeared on his horse, and told the company commander to halt his men. Of course, everyone expected to be reprimanded.

Colonel Harbottle examined the men nearest him and then said: "Where do you men come from? You have 75th badges on, but you don't look like the men that left V— and whom I have been expecting to meet here. No, you don't belong to me; possibly I will recognize you as the same company if you button up your tunics, put those smokes out and get into step before you come into the village."

MEIGHEN NAMES HIS JOB TO JOIN THE ROTARY CLUB

THERE is a story going the rounds in Ottawa these days which shows the humor of Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, ex-premier of the Dominion.

The Rotary Club, as is well-known, is composed of only one man from each trade or calling in order to bring together the varied ideas and thoughts of the various classes. Mr. Meighen, at any rate, wished to join the Rotary Club, but found, on application, that the club already had its quota of politicians, etc., under which titles Mr. Meighen might class himself. Not to be outwitted, he re-applied, naming his profession as cabinet-maker, as he then was.

Needless to say, his application was accepted.

A Peculiar Standard

AREN'T a good many of his transactions a trifle irregular?"

"Not for him."—Kansas City Star.

AN ERROR IN SPELLING MAKES MAGISTRATE JOKE

JOHN R. BLAKE, the popular police magistrate of Galt, is also acting pro. tem. in the same capacity in Brantford. Recently in the latter city a case was brought before the court in which a "spotter" named Chopin appeared, a Pole, who claimed distant relationship to the celebrated composer. Unfortunately, in the indictment his name was incorrectly spelled Choplin, much to his annoyance and the disgust of the prosecuting attorney in the case, who dwelt at some length on this inexcusable error.

Magistrate Blake, with a glint of humor in his keen eyes, listened attentively to the objection raised, expressed sympathy, and finally remarked in his most judicial manner that the whole thing was very regrettable, for he could quite understand the man's objection—"It certainly made an 'L' of a difference!"

Resurrection Astounds A Chatham Schoolboy

But Principal W. J. Twohey Smiles a Grim Smile on This Occasion.

By VICTOR LAURISTON. J. TWOHEY, for the past 35 years or more classical master—and for 18 years principal—of the Chatham Collegiate Institute, is, as he himself would doubtless phrase it, sui generis (unique). Some thousands of former C. C. I. students scattered throughout Canada and the United States can testify to his rigid devotion to duty, his efficiency as a disciplinarian, and to the facility for grim repartee at the expense of erring students that made his classes as once alluring and dreaded.

It is said of Mr. Twohey that in his 35 years he has missed only a couple of days through unavoidable absence. Naturally, a teacher so strict with himself is just as strict with pupils in matters of non-attendance. The student who fails to appear must present a perfectly valid excuse.

Smith—we'll call him Smith—realized that fact, too late. He was a new student from the back concessions and the attractions of Chatham's social life had resulted in an absence of some two or three days. When he faced the grinning principal with the necessity of giving an accounting, his mind worked more rapidly than efficiently.

"I had to attend my father's funeral, Mr. Twohey," he said.

Of course there was nothing to say, after that. At least, not for a week or ten days. Then one day the principal was summoned from his class room for a few moments. On his return he regarded Smith with a faint smile.

"Smith," he announced, "your father has been resurrected. He wants to see you in the office."

Larkin's Fellow Clerk Worked a Raise in Pay

He Made the Boss Think He Was Cutting Him Down for His Impudence.

HON. P. C. LARKIN, now Canada's high commissioner in London, was, for a few years, a clerk in a grocery store, when a young man—and relates how a friend of his raised his own salary. It was in a distant city and the boss was a crank. He had a big establishment, although very careless in business affairs, and not an employee liked him.

Mr. Larkin tells how a fellow-clerk getting $800 a year approached the boss on the subject of an increase of salary. The old man got hot in a minute.

"How much are you getting now?" he asked.

The clerk was about to tell him when a happy thought struck him. "Twelve hundred a year," he replied firmly.

"Um, um," the other said, "you are a good clerk, and I'll see what can be done for you."

He then dismissed the clerk and called in the manager. "Make Richards' salary ten hundred a year," he said.

The manager was about to offer an explanation. "Do as I tell you," said the old man. "I'll teach the young upstart to come in here dictating to me how much I'm to pay my help."

By this time the manager had comprehended the situation, and he forthwith put Richards on the ten hundred a year list. Six months later, when the old man found out how he had been fooled, he called Richards in and told him he would restore him to the twelve hundred list, and Richards was shrewd enough to take the twinkle in the old man's eye in good faith and say nothing.

WORLD'S OLDEST JOURNALIST

THE election, for the first time, of a practical newspaper man to be president of the United States, justifies the epigram of Francis Searcy that journalism leads to everything, provided one gets out of it; though, indeed, the president did not have altogether to get out of it. In some cases men remain in it a long time and attain exceptional longevity. There is in particular cited the case of the French Journalist M. Amable Maillet-Saint-Prix, who was born in Paris February 25, 1821, and is still vigorous. Not only does he continue to write a weekly article in the Abelle de Seine-et-Oise, published in Corbeil, but he personally makes up the paper. M. Maillet-Saint-Prix is certainly the oldest living and active journalist in France and probably in the whole world.

QUEEN, WITH ONE "COP," TOURS LONDON'S EAST END

She Visits Some of the Homes of Very Poor—An Incident on Ware Street.

THE Queen in a limousine, with only a mounted policeman as escort, spent two hours recently traversing mean streets and squalid byways in part of the East End of London. She evidently wanted to learn conditions of life among the very poor at first hand, for she passed amid depressing tenements of terra cotta colored brick, weathered and grim, showing up bleakly under the lowering grey sky of a dull London day.

As her car was passing along Ware street it suddenly stopped before No. 13. The Queen, it was announced, wished to visit a house where no preparations had been made to receive her. The occupants of No. 13—five families—fled in disorder. One may easily imagine their excitement. But one woman only held her ground, and it was under her guidance that the Queen inspected the "home," where Mrs. Gosling, her husband and seven children live in four rooms, two in the basement, and without windows. Mrs. Gosling's account of the affair is worth quoting:

"My little girl shouted, 'Oh, mother, the Queen's coming here!' and ran away downstairs."

"Her Majesty came up the steps and shook hands with me and asked if she might see my rooms. 'What wretched little rooms!' she exclaimed as she came in. Then she asked me how many children I had and how I managed to live at all under such conditions."

"I told her I couldn't get anywhere else to live, and that I often had to pawn my furniture to buy food. She said she quite understood. She shook hands with all my children, she did!"

And though the Queen's visit will not mean that one extra bit of plaster will go on the Ware street walls, or that one leaky roof will be repaired, the people down in that part of London for a long time will tell of the day when a "right-down, regular royal Queen" came among them and talked with them.

Belgian War Girl Weds

MISS SUZANNE SILVERCRUYTS, who during the war visited Canada and lectured for Belgian relief funds, is to marry in Brussels, shortly, Captain Henry W. Farnham, jr., son of Professor Farnham, of Yale University. Miss Silvercruyts, whom King Albert made a knight of the Order of Leopold, easily the youngest woman to receive such an honor, is a daughter of a judge of the supreme court of Belgium.

A MUSEUM OF GERMS

THERE are enough germs in this room to kill every person in London!

With these words, the T.B. man was ushered into the laboratory where the national collection of germs is stored. It is a bright, sunny room at the top of the Lister Institute, on the Thames Embankment. All round the walls are cases of test-tubes, each of which contains millions of germs.

"We started two years ago," the curator, Dr. R. St. John-Brooks, told the writer, "and now we have got one thousand two hundred different kinds of germs. We possess the microbes of almost every human disease, and a great many of those belonging to plant and animal illness. Cases of germs are sent all over the world to doctors and scientists."

"But how do you get the germs?" "We breed them," was the reply. "Every germ has its own particular food—the tubercle germ, for instance, likes eggs; others like sugar or beer or potatoes. We get specimens, usually from animals, of the germ we wish to breed, and put them into a tube half-filled with a paste made from the food the microbe likes. Then we seal up the tube, and before long the top of the paste is covered with germs."

"Some of them will grow in ordinary room heat, but some have to be frozen and others hatched out in incubators. Many of the germs live for three months; others for two or three weeks."—The Bits.

MOTORCYCLISTS CAUGHT BY TIDE

Exciting Experience of Victoria Party on Saanichton Spit

MINISTER DEPOSED FOR BAPTIZING DOG, BUT HOLDS PULPIT

After an exciting afternoon, on Sunday, when members of the Victoria Motorcyclist Club essayed their skill at a timed-hill climb at Island View Beach, three of the members in search of new fields to conquer, following in the wake of the club's captain, Jack Lake, found themselves following a winding trail which led to the Saanichton Reserve near Saanichton.

None of those who were present had ever before viewed from this angle before the glorious vista of the intervening straits between the reserve and James Island, and upon looking around discovered the long white stretch of sandy beach which marks the sand spit which stretches towards James Island.

They looked at the beach and then at each other and without more ado each of the motorcyclists was in turn pushed down from the road and to the beach. As none had previously tried their skill at manoeuvring a machine on the shifting sands it was with some intrepidity that the three riders, not forgetting the camera man, moved slowly forward to their destination, the end of the sand spit. The first few turns of the wheels decided in the minds of the riders that the feat could be performed with safety to man and machine and soon each party was roaring down the beach. Keeping well towards the water's edge and incidentally the hardest portion of the beach all went well, and a few minutes saw the three machines parked at the farthest point of the sandy dominion they had discovered.

From this point could be viewed a "close-up" of James Island, all of the buildings on the island being clearly seen.

Rising Tide.
A photograph having been taken of the riders and their machines, the return trip commenced to occupy their minds, and looking back towards the reserve they noticed that the tide had perceptibly crept up and preparations for the homeward journey were quickened. All went well with the machines until they reached a point where the tide had covered their previous tracks to a depth of a foot or more, and there was nothing left but to go through. This they did, both being drenched with flying spray, but the machines seemed none the worse for their impromptu bath.

In Clay and Glim Shells.
After these two machines were firmly propped up on dry land tracks were made back to "salvage" the luckless sidecar outfit, slower time having been made with this machine owing to its greater weight. The tide having covered the hard packed portion of the beach, the going was more difficult on the return journey and not until the other riders appeared on foot was any speed made, a tow rope being produced and with two on the rope and two pushing, the engine meanwhile turning over in low gear, slowly but surely the beach was traversed in this fashion. But to the dismay of the hard-worked motorcyclists they now discovered that the last intervening fifty yards of the homeward route was now completely under water. A halt was called and a long look round was taken to discover a means of connecting with the roadway.

Indians Aid.
At this juncture one of the Indians on the reserve appeared from a somewhat deserted looking shack, and yelled instructions to the party which at first were not heard. However, after repeated yelling on both sides, and much hand signalling another route, evidently known to the inhabitants of the reserve, was discovered and although it lay over a large tract of Saanichton ooze, it was much preferable to the water route which by this time had reached a depth of between two and three feet. It was not all easy going, however, on the clam beds, and at times the machine sank to the hubs in the clinging clay. Once on the road again, however, the party, all of which were by this time decidedly hungry and thirsty, were soon heading towards the city.

DODGE MOTOR CARS SELLING RAPIDLY

Local Distributors Report Optimistic Outlook

Fourteen new Dodge motor cars were sold in April by A. E. Humphries Motors Limited, local Dodge distributors, corner View and Vancouver Streets, manager A. E. Humphries announces.

"The trouble is that we cannot get the cars quickly enough. We put this success down to the high reputation for comfort, endurance and all-round merit which the Dodge has always maintained," continued Mr. Humphries, who reported that the sale of new cars did not include the total of April's sales, as a number of used cars were also disposed of. Mr. Humphries is optimistic as to the development of the automotive trade this season. As a Canadian who has resided in the West for many years his experience has given him a keen insight into business conditions in their various fluctuations and he is quite satisfied that business from now on will improve.

As in the case of all other cars, Dodge motor cars in touring, coupe, sedan and roadster models, are now considerably lower in price and will be a big factor in the new car sales movement.

HUPMOBILE MOTOR MAKES NEW RECORD

Demand Indicates Value is Appreciated

"It is significant that in times when people really seek out sound value for their money they turn instinctively to that which is known to be good, and which has merited that reputation over a period of years," says a member of Consolidated Motors Limited, Hupmobile distributors. "The present demand for the Hupmobile is proving that its fourteen years' reputation for quality is fully recognized by the public. This demand is establishing new sales and production records at the Hupmobile factory; in fact, one record can scarcely be announced before it is surpassed, and new marks set. "March production of Hupmobiles was over 3,000 cars—by far the biggest month in the company's history. And according to reports from all over the country, these cars have not remained in the dealers' hands, but have been delivered to the public, which is still asking for more cars. Production for April was about 4,000 cars."

LIEUT. GOVERNOR AND PREMIER WILL OPEN GOOD ROADS MEETING

Prominent Members of Governments Coming For Session

The Lieutenant-Governor will formally open the ninth annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association, which is to be held at the Empress Hotel, here, on June 12, 13, 14 and 15. Hon. John Oliver, who traveled to Halifax for the convention last year, will cordially welcome the delegates on behalf of the B. C. Government as well as for the whole province.

Visiting Ministers.
Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works in the Federal Government, and A. W. Campbell, Commissioner of Highways for the Federal Government, Ottawa, will both attend the convention, and will participate in the discussion on the question of federal aid for main highways. From New Brunswick, the Hon. P. J. Veniot, Minister of Public Works and Highways will make the journey, for he is one of the most enthusiastic apostles of uniformity in road and traffic regulations and believes that it is through the Good Roads Association and similar organizations that uniformity can best be brought about. The president of the Nova Scotia Good Roads Association, G. Fred Pearson, who is also a director of the Canadian Good Roads Association, has undertaken to attend the convention, and will assist in the labors and promote the success of the interprovincial conferences of highway officials which are a feature of the convention, and which will be held on the second and following days of the Victoria gathering.

The Province of Quebec claims the honor of being the pioneer in the good roads movement. Recent changes in the laws looking towards the further improvement of its means of intercommunication, and the proper maintenance of its much traveled highways, will be explained to the convention by the Hon. J. L. Perron, the new Minister of Highways, and an eminent lawyer. The restrictions that are placed on kinds of vehicles during certain periods of the year, in order to prevent their rapid deterioration will be explained, as well as the new system of patrol service which has just been inaugurated. He will be accompanied by several of his engineering staff, many of whom have been welcome speakers at previous conventions.

From Island Province.
Either Premier Bell or the Hon. C. W. Crosby, Minister of Public Works, or perhaps both of them will make the long journey from Prince Edward Island in order to demonstrate their belief in the usefulness of the national association, and gain further information from the eminent speakers from the United States and Canada who will address the delegates.

The President of the Canadian Good Roads Association, the Hon. Sam Latta, Minister of Education in Saskatchewan, will head a large delegation from that province, comprising members of the newly formed Provincial Good Roads Association, while Manitoba, Alberta, Ontario and other provinces will all be officially represented.

Municipal Unions' Convention.
Many of the delegates who will attend the first convention of the Council of Western Canadian Municipal Unions, comprising the municipal councils of Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and which will be held, according to present arrangements, on June 8 and 9, will stay over for the Good Roads Convention opening on the following Monday, while the engineers who are holding a provincial convention on June 16 and 17 of the Engineering Institute of Canada will also be there in force, so that even at this early date the success of the convention is practically assured.

Invitations are being prepared to be sent out by Geo. A. McNamee, the secretary-treasurer to every one of the 3,500 municipalities in the Dominion, as well as to governments and their officials, road contractors, road engineers, automotive manufacturers, road material manufacturers and all associations interested in highways and their use—about 20,000 invitations being issued for the conven-

IN MOTOR CAR BEST WAY TO SEE CITY

Manager of Drive Yourself Livery Gives Opinion

"The best way for a man or woman to see the city or surrounding country and get to really know and understand something about it is to take a trip over our highways, our beautiful scenic and attractive section in a motor car."

"That visitors may do this in comfort and with the independence and convenience that comes from driving one's own car, we make it our business to cater to the tourist or prospective settler who comes to Victoria without a car in the 'Drive Yourself Auto Livery' business in such a way that he will go away with the best possible impression of the country. "In order to gain this end we carry in our service a line of livery cars that will insure the patron that there will be no trouble or inconvenience from car troubles during his travels that might detract from the pleasant and agreeable impressions he might gain of the country."

The above is the way G. E. Keen, manager of the Tourist Drive Yourself Auto Livery Limited, 759 Yates Street, explains the secret of his success in the livery business. The livery gives special daily or weekly rates on application. It also has a large livery in Vancouver.

While it pays to advertise in newspapers and periodicals, the Star Garage, View Street, believes that such advertising must be augmented by the kind of advertising that the rendering of good and reliable workmanship means to the patron and the advertiser alike.

E. Hill, J. Witty and G. Jarvis, the members of the firm operating the Star Garage, are all experienced automobile men and they specialize in Cadillac, Chevrolet, Dodge, Chalmers, Ford and truck repairs, together with welding and brazing, radiator, fender and body repairs.

BIG BUSINESS
A Westerner went to spend his vacation at Loblolly Cove, near Rockport. He had never seen the ocean before. The first morning of his arrival he appeared at the little fish-house and general store kept by a native named Haskins and announced that he wanted two pails full of sea water, which the storekeeper obligingly dipped up for him from his wharf, it being high tide.

"How much?" the Westerner asked. Haskins, who never overlooked a bargain, replied: "Ten cents."

The new arrival paid it cheerfully, and that afternoon he turned up again with his pails.

"My doctor out home told me to bathe in sea water twice a day," he explained, then observing the distant beach line at low tide, he added: "Gosh! You've had a big business to-day, haven't you, mister?"

Fifty-Eight Boys Now At Sea From Naval Brigade

With the return of Cadets Johnson and Francois on furlough to their homes in this city, the local division of the Boys' Naval Brigade welcomed back two boys who have now been at sea for over a year. Both cadets shipped on the Canadian Government freighter, Canadian Winner, and have been to Australia and back on several voyages. Needless to say the boys have enjoyed the experience, and have proved great credit to their training at the hands of the local instructors of the Boys' Naval Brigade.

The Brigade now has 58 boys at sea, some cadets and others in the capacity of "boys." Added to this number is a waiting list of sixteen others all fully trained and waiting their turn at the first vacancy to occur. To back this up, the Brigade has well over a hundred other lads who are passing through their various instructional tests rapidly.

Local boys, trained here by Lieut. W. N. Hotham, and Sub-Lieut. P. W. Tribe are now serving on ships of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, the Canadian Robert Dollar Company, and the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services. Reports from the masters of the vessels on which these lads are serving are all highly creditable to the boys and their organization.

Organized under their own elected officers, the petty officers of the brigade do not have a special mess room of their own, fitted out and furnished by themselves, in the old Drill Hall on Menzies Street. P. O. Charles Halliday is the president, assisted by P. O. W. Gibson, as secretary. On May 13 the petty officers are to be hosts to the visiting officers of the Navy League, and the officers of the brigade, at a supper and informal "housewarming."

Through the kindness of Mr. Curtis Sampson the boys are to occupy a special block of seats for the Guards' concert, to be staged in the evening of May 23, where they will be afforded the opportunity of hearing one of the most famous military bands in the Empire.

Already now for their annual use, the boats of the local division are to be lowered into the water next week, having been cleaned and painted. The boys did all the work on the boats themselves, and are very keen on their record in boat pulling. Last year the crews of the brigade did well in the local regattas and are out after fresh laurels this season.

By reason of the recent affiliation of the groups of Naval Brigades under the cadet system of the country, the local division will this year take part in the annual cadet camp, where the boys will attend under their own officers. Four Ross rifles, with Morris tubes, to be used for miniature rifle practice are to be allotted to the division shortly, and target work is to be taken up in earnest. Swimming and basketball have been the recreations of the boys for the past few weeks, their basketball five defeating the Fairfield Scout troop team in a brisk game last week.

A complete set of band instruments, recently donated to the brigade, is now being overhauled. The members of the band, under instructor Albert Rumsby, are taking a keen interest in the new acquisition. From a very small start the band has progressed to considerable proportions, and will soon be on the street again fully equipped for even greater labors. With all things turning so well to hand the season promises to be a banner one for the local division, with its subsidiary subdivisions at Sooke and Gordon Head.

MITZI AND THE FAIRY—Part I.
By the side of the forest lived a widow with her two daughters, Mitzi and Zella. Both were very pretty girls, but they had no fine clothes to make them beautiful, nor did lovers pass that way to claim them for brides. Mitzi had long golden curls and her eyes were blue as the flowering bluebells, her cheeks as pink as a delicate rose. Zella was as dark as her sister was fair, and the poor widow sighed when she looked at her pretty daughters to think that so much beauty was hidden away in a humble cottage when it should have graced the court of a king. One day as the widow was in the forest gathering wood a fairy appeared to her on a branch of a large white birch tree. "If you would have your daughters better themselves," she said, "send them one at a time to pick up sticks under this tree." The widow hurried home, and sent Zella for a bundle of sticks, telling her to be sure that she gathered them under the large white birch tree. When Zella reached the tree and began to pick up the wood she heard a voice say: "If you would have a bag of gold, Promise to do as you are told." "Of course I promise," replied Zella. "What is it you wish me to do?" "Wash me and scrub me from root to top. Until I am clean you must not stop." "I promise," said Zella again, "but I must run home first and get a pail of water and a scrubbing brush. Where is the gold?" "Here it is," said the fairy, who had not shown herself before, but now came out on a branch and she dropped at the feet of Zella a bag of gold.

Zella picked it up and ran off home. "Look I have gold to buy me gowns and shoes and much more besides," she said to her mother and sister. "I must go to town at once and buy them."

Without another thought of her promise to the fairy, Zella started for town to buy her finery and the widow sent Mitzi to gather the wood that her sister had quite forgotten.

Mitzi had picked up only a few sticks of wood when the voice that had spoken to her sister said:

"If you would have a bag of gold, Promise to do as you are told." Mitzi looked at the tree but she saw no one. "I cannot promise to do your bidding," she replied, "until I know what you want."

"You are wise not to bind yourself until you hear," said the fairy, appearing on a branch of the white birch tree. "What I wish is this: Wash this tree from root to top. Until it is clean you must not stop."

"Oh, I can promise to do that, but I must run home and get a pail of water and a brush." Then, without asking for the gold, Mitzi ran home and in a few minutes returned and began to scrub the tree.

The fairy was nowhere to be seen, but Mitzi felt certain that she would be there to give her the gold when she had finished her work.

But Mitzi had not scrubbed long on the tree when to her surprise a piece of loose bark dropped from the trunk and inside the tree she saw a flight of golden stars. "Come in," said a voice. And Mitzi stepped inside.

Children's Needs Cared For at Library

SPRING affects the library as well as every-thing else. At present the most noted effect is that the dropping off in the demand of books is taking place. This always occurs at the commencement of the season as people are attracted by the out-door life. This fact is backed up by the increased demand for books dealing with the out-door. It is especially noticed in the children's department of the Victoria Public Library. Being attracted by this occurrence at the library inquiries were made and it was found that the reading in the juvenile department had turned from the fiction, and was becoming more interested in the non-fiction books.

Miss Clay who is superintendent of this department referred to her files and it was found that 45 per cent. of the books in circulation was of the fiction, while the other 55 per cent. was non-fiction. This is looked upon in a favorable manner by officials at the library as it indicates that the children are wishing to read books of literature. Mythology is the most popular of the non-fiction standard of book, and the favorite authors writing in this category are Kipling and Hawthorne. In this same division the folk stories might be listed. The Anderson stories and Lang books are far the most popular of the folk narratives. The Arabian Nights are among the other, but the first named are the most popular and better literature.

If there was a larger and more widely covered field in the section allotted to books on invention, there is no doubt that this class of book would be the most popular by far than any other kind of book in the junior department. As it is the demand on the few books the library possesses on this phase is prodigious, and orders are to be sent to secure a few extra books of this particular nature. Many inquiries are brought into Miss Clay for the books on invention, and it is very difficult to meet the requirements of the young readers who hanker after the invention lore. Indexed in the same corner of the library is the animal and nature books and children's interest is turning to this section of the library perhaps due to the fact that it is animal week, and again to the fact that Spring is here which attracts the younger set to out door life. Seton Thomas and G. D. Roberts contribute a great share of the books on nature to this section. Classics play an important part in the child's selection of books. Lamb's "Tales From Shakespeare" being a favorite copy on the shelf, while poetry is read a great deal. This is a rather surprising fact for a junior department. Traveling may be taken up by the children through the pages of books supplied by the library. Lucy Fitch Perkins is the best known writer of books among the local library collection. She has a very entertaining way of describing countries in her series of books entitled the "Twin Books." She describes the life and customs of various countries by the experiences of twins, supposed to dwell in each country she selects. It is surprising to note the number of readers who are turning to the biographical sketches of prominent people in history. And it is regretful to say that the library is unable to secure a suitable supply of the simpler form of biographical works. The Canadian people are the most read in this class of book. History is also another of the unusual trends to which juvenile readers are diverting their interest. Miss Clay has been able to obtain a book of which she has five volumes relating to the early history of the world. The book is new in the library, being written by H. W. Van Loon. He is a professor at one of America's leading colleges, and is better known by his writings of Dutch history. A delightful book which is appealing to the adventurous spirit is the "Golden Book of Dutch Navigators" and "Ancient Man" are now obtainable at the library. Already the demand is of considerable size. The Spring orders for books are being sent out and some new and interesting works can be looked for when they arrive.

SCHOOL DAYS By DWIG

"My Kitty" What Seven-Year-Old Peter Thinks of His Pet

THE following story was submitted by Peter Frankham, our youngest essayist, who is just seven years of age; Peter tells us about his pet, a black and white pussy cat, in a manner that is wholly entertaining:

"MY KITTY"
Dear Editor: My pet is a cat. It is growing old now, but I still like her. My cat can run fast, and catches many nice and rats. She catches little birds, too, because she does not know it is wrong to kill birds.

PETER FRANKHAM, Cadboro Bay P. O., Saanich.

and her four paws are white, too. The rest of her is black; just as if she had put on a black coat and had white shoes. It was given to me by a lady when I was a tiny kitten, and when I brought it home it tried to jump out of my arms.

"I told Mother how she tried to run away, and Mother said to put some butter on its paws. I did, but she only licked it all off, still she hasn't run away yet. I wondered what name I would give her.

"When I called her 'Kitty, Kitty' she would come running, so I called her Kitty. We all call her Kitty, except Daddy, and he calls her 'Pussy, or Geraldine. One day she caught her head in a can, and I had a hard time to get it off, and it hurt her, too.

"My kitty is playful; she will come and tap me on the leg with her paws, trying to tell me to go and play with her, so I do. After we play with string for a while I take her for a walk.

"Kitty purrs a lot, and Mother says she is happy when she purrs, and that she is singing. My little brother and sister pull the cat's fur, but they don't know that for they are only babies. Kitty doesn't scratch them, either, she seems to know that they are only small.

"One day my cat brought home three little kittens. Two looked just like her, and the other was grey and white. They were all very pretty. I gave the grey and white kitty to my sister, and she won't play with it, but the poor little kitty was killed one day by a big bad dog. I was cross, for we all liked that kitten.

"I still have my big cat, but she is not always good, for sometimes she steals. When the kittens were very small the cat would carry them up to the house in her mouth, and try to get them inside. If she couldn't get them in through the door she would jump through the window with the kitten in her mouth."

"SORRY I'm late, Ben," he said a few moments later, as he drove up to the school-house door. "Ben waiting long?" "You bet, what's kept you?" "A lady friend of yours, Ben," Tom glanced at Ben slyly.

"Of mine?" "Yes, of yours," repeated Tom.

"Who was she anyway?" queried Ben.

"Marie."

"Aw, she's nobody," said Ben reddening as he got into the demerol.

"Lo, mister," shouted one of his school-mates, playfully, as Ben took his seat. Ben looked down at his school-fellow with an angry look in his eyes.

"Wait a minute, Tom," as Tom once more flicked the horses' backs. Ben jumped down.

"Say, Pete," he cried angrily, "who you calling 'piface'?"

"Tom," returned Pete with bravado. Ben's fists clenched tightly and went straight at Pete. The two boys closed with each other. Tom from his high perch laughed heartily.

"Go it, Ben, give him beans," he cried. Ben, encouraged by Tom's shouts, fought harder. They pommelled each other around until both were pretty well exhausted.

"Go on, Ben," shouted Tom once more. "he's still game. Ah, ah, ah," laughed Tom, "that's — Tom did not finish his sentence.

"You great boob!" roared Ben's father as he came upon the scene. "Sit there laughing at two fool kids killing themselves. Look at them!" Mr. Smith took hold of his son and thrust him aside, then turned the other boy to his feet.

"Beat it," he cried angrily. "You should have been home an hour ago. Get in the rig, Ben," his father commanded, "you can fight all you want with the plough. It's work for you, my son, from now on."

No chance," was Ben's courageous answer. "We should," said Tom anxiously, "make the Depot in time to board the coast freight."

"Sure," replied Ben, "if we get a move on."

An hour later the boys arrived at the Depot. Stealthily they kept from the agent's eagle eye by dodging between the cars until they came to the freight car hitched to the out-going train. "We'll jump in, Tom; not much freight going from here."

Both boys nimbly sprang into the car and crouched behind the boxes. Presently they heard the bell clang, somebody fastened the freight car. Then, after much shouting and ringing of the train bell, they moved slowly out of the station. A sickening sensation assailed Ben as the slow rumbling message of the train fell upon his ears, but that was overcome by Tom's elation.

"Lummie," he whispered, "isn't this great!" "Where do they make their first stop?" asked Tom.

"Glenville," answered Ben, his teeth chattering.

A Case For The Under-Privileged Boy

ONE of the most eminent authorities on boys' work in Canada, Taylor Statten, who was in this city recently and addressed many public meetings. Stripped of its interesting side-lights, the fundamental message of his address lay in a simple statement: that it is the under-privileged boy who matters to the nation more than all else.

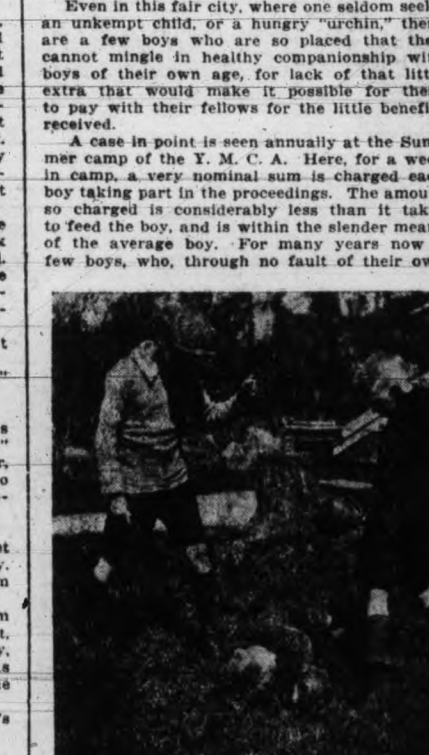

There are three kinds of boys, from this interesting angle: the privileged boy, who is born to comparative wealth, and has everything he wishes, and perhaps more than is good for him; the normal or average boy, who has all the necessities of ordinary life, and a fair amount of its comforts, too; and lastly, the under-privileged boy who lives in surroundings, and under circumstances that would seem to many to be almost untenable.

Even in this fair city, where one seldom seeks an unkempt child, or a hungry "urchin," there are a few boys who are so placed that they cannot mingle in healthy companionship with boys of their own age, for lack of that little extra that would make it possible for these to pay with their fellows for the little benefits received.

A case in point is seen annually at the Summer camp of the Y. M. C. A. Here, for a week in camp, a very nominal sum is charged each boy taking part in the proceedings. The amount so charged is considerably less than it takes to feed the boy, and is within the slender means of the average boy. For many years now a few boys, who, through no fault of their own

A case in point is seen annually at the Summer camp of the Y. M. C. A. Here, for a week in camp, a very nominal sum is charged each boy taking part in the proceedings. The amount so charged is considerably less than it takes to feed the boy, and is within the slender means of the average boy. For many years now a few boys, who, through no fault of their own cannot meet this charge, have been sponsored by good-hearted men of the community, obtaining in this manner a week under the stars, in good companionship, and healthy endeavor.

While many parents are fully occupied in sending their own boys to such camps, some there are who are able to make camp possible for one under-privileged boy. Last year many employers saw that the boys had this, and deeming it a wise investment to make, and being repaid in the enhanced health and spirit of their youthful workers.

While a week in camp is but a matter of course to the average boy, to the under-privileged boy it is a touch of paradise that has a far reaching effect. Seven days in camp, with boys of his own age, and healthy exercise, means to such a boy a break in his life that makes it easier for him to carry on without sinking to the level that is dangerously close to wrong-doing.

This gives him a fresh view of life, a healthier, clearer vision of what his life is worth to himself, and teaches him, in a manner that cannot be acquired by him in any other way, that there is a Providence whose voice is to be heard in the simple things of nature, in the singing of the birds, and the rays of the warm June sun.

A week in camp to the under privileged is as if one opened a window in his mind, and let fresh air sweep away the cobwebs of ignorance and doubt; a cleansing draught that will have effects far more permanent than many suspect. It may be the turning point in his fortunes, and at the least, it is a brief respite from the labors of an ill-conditioned, and unbalanced life.

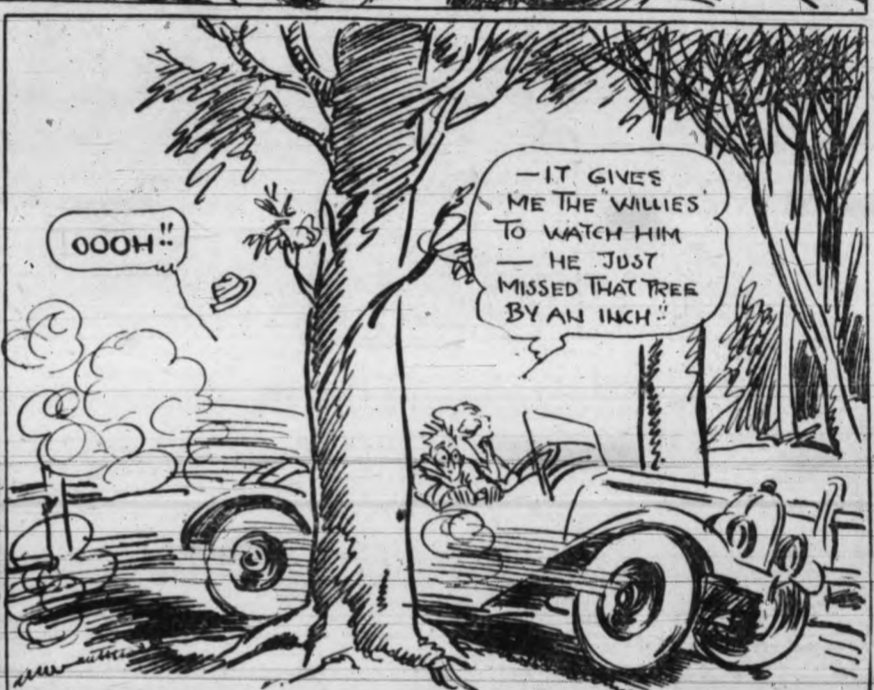

Harold C. Cross, the genial boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in this city, reports that last year several boys were given this chance. Being in a position to keep in touch with the boys in person, his opinion that the fostering of under-privileged boys in this manner is productive of lasting good in their lives, is one to be regarded seriously. Through relatively few boys in this city are born to this unhappy category, there are some, and it is on behalf of these, that the case for the under-privileged is set out.

The wooden parts of the toy should be of some soft material. A plane, a hand saw and coping saw, are the tools needed for the woodworking, and a pair of tin snips will be needed to cut out the back stop, for it is of thin narrow wooden guards that are fastened to the base should be made of some soft material. TROWELS BELONGED TO DR. W. M. PUNSHON

Famous Figure in Methodism of Past Recalled

Fourteen silver trowels, originally presented to the late Rev. William Morley Punshon, M.A., D.D., and Mrs. Punshon, have been donated to Victoria College, Toronto, by Percy Punshon, son of the famous pulpit orator and church builder.
As each of the trowels is commemorative of the laying of the foundation stone of some church or school building in England or Canada, the collection is notable historically. From the artistic point of view the trowels are examples of a craftsmanship which is not common in this generation. That the devotion of our fathers was matched by their taste, is evident in these bits of silverware, as well as in the fabrics of the great churches, inherited by "Church of to-day in town and country," says the Christian Guardian.
The late Dr. Punshon was a figure of outstanding importance in Methodism in the Dominion and in the Mother Country for a generation. He was honored on many great occasions and in nothing more than in a founding and dedication of great churches. His great period from 1863 to 1889 is covered by the present collection, which includes gifts from Stanstead Wesleyan College, three Toronto churches, Dundas Street Church, London, Ontario, and other great edifices of Canadian Wesleyan Methodism.

All the trowels are in excellent condition, having been refurbished by Bailey, the Toronto jeweler, before being entrusted to the loving care of Prof. A. E. Lang, librarian of Victoria College.
Mr. Percy Punshon, the donor, is resident at Oshawa, Ontario, where he has long been prominent as a musician and public servant. In thus disposing of these cherished heirlooms, he has had in mind the interests of the Church and the memory of his revered father. The life and records of Methodism are enriched by such gifts, unique and beautiful, and potent to recall a great past.

MINISTER DEPOSED RESUMES SERVICES

Brookline, Mass., May 6.—The Rev. Edwin Curtis, deposed by the Boston Presbytery on April 1, from the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church but re-elected by the corporation last week, preached at both services last Sunday. A minister assigned by the Presbytery to preach in the afternoon, when informed that Mr. Curtis was to preach, took his seat in the congregation. Another minister sent by the Presbytery in the evening took similar action.
The Rev. Mr. Curtis had been accused of frivolity in baptizing a dog and in connection with blessings asked at his boarding house table. When the Presbytery informed him he could no longer act as pastor his friends rallied to his defence and re-elected him.
The church was well filled. The pastor made no reference to the controversy.
The churches of the United States last year gave $44,000,000 for relief work outside of their own country. Of this amount the Roman Catholics contributed $2,000,000, and the Protestants $40,000,000, it is stated.

GARDEN CITY INSTITUTE MEETING

Mrs. J. D. Gordon Gives Demonstration on Salad Dressing

The monthly meeting of the Garden City Women's Institute was held in the Marigold Hall on Thursday, Mrs. Stanfield, the vice-president, occupying the chair.
Mrs. Adams reported on the activities of the social committee during April. A social was held, when 65 cups and saucers were donated and an interesting lantern lecture given. An enjoyable dance and a 500 drive were also held. It was announced that another dance is to be held on Friday, May 12, when the Harmony Orchestra will be in attendance.
The secretary stated that the flower show and agricultural exhibition will be held on Wednesday, August 30, and F. A. Pauline, M.P.P., had promised to perform the opening ceremony. This year prizes will be in cash. It is hoped that all amateurs in Ward IV. will make an effort to exhibit their produce and work. Programmes may be obtained from the secretary on application.
Mrs. J. D. Gordon was introduced by Mrs. Stanfield and gave a most instructive and interesting address on "Balanced Meals," with a demonstration on salads and the making of salad dressings.
The lecturer stated that properly to nourish the body balanced meals must be prepared by the women who would have well nourished people in her home.
Mrs. Gordon then proceeded to demonstrate the making of salads and dressings. A very tempting salmon and lettuce salad was made and served with a simply made uncooked dressing.
A delicious fruit salad covered with a cooked cream dressing was also served with the afternoon tea.
The lecture and demonstration were thoroughly enjoyed by all present, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mrs. Gordon.
An enjoyable 500 drive was held on Thursday evening.

Sunday Services.—The Sunday evening service in Christ Church Cathedral, and also in St. Matthias and St. James' Churches, will begin at 7.30 p.m. to-morrow, and on Sunday evenings throughout the daylight-saving period.

First Congregational Church, Where Rev. A. K. McMinn Will Begin His Ministry To-morrow in Victoria

Rev. A. K. McMinn, B.A., who enters upon his duties as pastor of the First Congregational Church to-morrow, was ordained by the Congregational Association of Ministers and Churches in Emmanuel Church, Montreal, on April 19. Mr. McMinn came from Ireland in 1913 to enter the Congregational College in Montreal highly recommended by his pastor, and others who had known of his work. His college course was interrupted by the war when he served in the Royal Air Force. When peace came, he renewed his studies and prosecuted them with such success as to graduate from McGill University with good stand-

CHURCH STRONGER THOUGH MEMBERSHIP HAS DECREASED

Statistics of British Columbia Presbyterian Published

Membership in the Presbyterian Church in British Columbia decreased by 422 during the past year, according to the report tabbed by Rev. C. H. Daly for the statistics and finance committee at the Presbyterian Synod of B. C. this week in Vancouver. The total membership of the church is now 16,109, as compared with 16,731 or the year 1920. Notwithstanding this fact, the church is in excellent condition, said the report, "the loss in membership being due in large measure to the purging of the rolls which took place during the year.
There are 129 ministers actively engaged in the work of the church in British Columbia, as compared with 115 last year, and there are ninety-three pastoral charges, an increase of five. The number of student mission fields remains at 46. There are 592 elders in the church and the number of families has reached 13,947, an increase of 230 over 1920. The number of single persons who are members of the church, however, has decreased by 1,290.
Other figures presented by the statistics committee were as follows: Infant baptisms, 1,100; adults baptisms, 49; number of Sunday schools, 242, an increase of 20; number received of profession of faith, 780; number received by certificate into the church,

1,435; number received into the church from the Sunday school on profession of faith, 575.
Dealing with the question of union and co-operative churches in the province, the committee reported that in the Kootenay district there were two, one having a Methodist and the other a Presbyterian minister; in the Kamloops presbytery there is a similar number; in the Westminster presbytery there are two, and in Vancouver one. The Cariboo presbytery is wholly Presbyterian, having been set aside by arrangement with the other churches. All mission work is on a co-operative basis, so that there is no overlapping in student or ordained mission fields.
"The idea of union is not very popular in the province," declared Rev. Mr. Daly in this connection, "and it is making little progress. These figures show the extent of union and co-operative work within the Synod. The total amount raised within the Synod during the year for all purposes was $477,000, an increase of $17,000 over the totals of last year, according to the report. This makes an increase in three years of $175,000. The debt on churches and manses property had decreased $153,000 in three years, the total now being only $240,000.
"The amount raised for the budget during the year was $38,000, a decrease of $1,000 while that for the support of ministers and church work was $141,000, an increase of $2,000. The total paid to the Forward Movement to date is $128,000. The central committee of the Forward Movement, declared the report, had decided to allocate $150,000 of the movement funds for church, manse, social service, and other work in British Columbia.
A recommendation added to the report states that the decrease in membership should be made the subject of careful consideration in the meetings of presbytery.

British West Country Cathedral Requires Repairs; Exeter

The above view shows one of the unique towers over the transepts at Exeter Cathedral, dating from Norman times.
E. H. Harbottle, architect to the Dean and Chapter of Exeter, England reports: "Yearly, there are fragments of mouldings and architectural features falling from various parts of the cathedral to the ground and on the roofs of the cathedral, all of which is an indication that decay is continually going on and becoming serious. The Norman towers, the West front, and the parapet of the Northern wall of the nave, with other portions, require serious and immediate attention, and the stonework of many of the windows needs urgent repair. Perhaps the most serious part of the report is that concerning the Norman transept towers, which are unique in England, and were erected by Bishop William Wareham (1107-1137). The Northern tower shows serious signs of decay in its arching as well as the cornices and plinths and two of its turrets. The Southern tower, underpinned and strengthened in 1902-3, now requires repairs to save from obliteration the beautiful Norman wall arcading, weatherings, and mouldings, and also the chamber windows." About £4,000 of the £25,000 appealed for has been subscribed, and contributions can be sent to the Dean of Exeter or any of the Canons.

Mr. Foster was elected to the church committee.
Lake Hill Mission.—In view of the increasing number in the Lake Hill district without church conveniences, it has been decided to hold services in the Mission Hall, North Quadra St., every Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. The services will be conducted under denominational lines and a hearty welcome will be extended to all. Several laymen have kindly consented to conduct such services alternately, the speaker for Sunday being Fred L. Macpherson.
In Land of Waverley.—On Monday evening at 8 o'clock Rev. Thomas McConnell will show the views of his lecture, "The Haunts of Scott: The Wizard of the North," under the auspices of the St. Columba Y. TO-DAY'S TRADING IN WINNIPEG MARKETS

Winnipeg, May 6.—With the market closed, Arbor Day, a holiday spirit dominated the local market to-day, and trade was within very narrow limits at earlier prices throughout the session. Following the week-end, May worked downwards to 137 1/2, where it was steady during the week, but on Monday, May 7, it advanced to 143, but was again sold off to 137 1/2 on Tuesday, May 8, and closed at 137 1/2.

The cash wheat market was not particularly active, although a fair demand existed for top grades, but the offerings were very light. Many farmers continue to hold their wheat, and the market was not so active as it has been in the past. SEASON IS ONE MONTH BEHIND

Some Fruits in Lower Fraser Valley Expect to Yield Well
New Westminster, May 5.—Raspberries, loganberries and strawberries have suffered severely by the length and severity of the past winter months and it is estimated that this year's crop of these small fruits in the Lower Fraser Valley will be only about half that of last season.
On the other hand, experts state that gooseberries, black and white currants, plums, apples and cherries should be exceptionally heavy in yield.
At the present time the small fruit season is at least one month behind normal growth and maturity, but should warm weather and bright sunshine now continue, Nature will move fast in the next two weeks and even the raspberries and strawberries may give greater results than anticipated.
The berry business in the Lower Fraser Valley is now on a proper business basis as regards growers, canners, quality of fruit packed and shipped and for market arrangements.
It is stated that the usual arrangements for pickers are to be made and that the picking of all small fruits will be in the hands of white women and girls as formerly.

HIGH SCHOOL CADETS BEGIN SEASON'S DRILLS

The Victoria High School 112th Cadet Corps yesterday afternoon had their first drill of the year in preparation for the annual cadet inspection, which will take place in the near future. Major Edgar Wade commands the corps this year, with a capable staff of officers under him. Sergeant-Bugler L. Purfitt and Sergeant Drummer Gosse have been working hard to get the band into good condition, and this body promises to be especially capable. Besides the stretcher bearers' section and signallers, the machine gunners will play a prominent part in the formation of the corps, and the boys are in the hands of capable instructors. Major Harvey, drill instructor, is anxious that the corps should make the best showing possible.

The spirit in which the cadets are beginning the drills and the grind prior to the final parade before the inspecting officers seems to augur a successful termination of efforts, and it would be somewhat of a surprise to the officers and cadet privates like if the corps were not capable enough to secure the topmost rank in competition with other provincial schools.

The machine gun corps, which is composed entirely of matriculation students, is likely to be the crack squad of the force, and members of this body are enthusiastic in their work. Last year their efforts were entirely commendable and the knowledge displayed by their actions during the field manoeuvres and their ability to handle the intricacies of the guns, earned for them an enviable reputation. This year they are determined to make an equally good demonstration, and if possible outdo the records of the past.

DUNLOP BICYCLE TIRES

"BEST" FOR TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS

THIS year's "Dunlop" is undoubtedly our best effort. We ought to know what "Best" means in Bicycle Tires because riders have styled our tires "Best" for twenty-eight years.

Originally we said: "These Are The Only Tools (Hands) You Need."

To-Day dealers are saying: "These Are The Only Tires (Dunlop) We Need."

"Fitted with Dunlop Tires" is a certificate or character for a bicycle.

And "Traction" and "Ribbed" in Cord construction, "Studded" in Fabric construction, represent all the features that can be thought out—all the quality that can be put in bicycle tires.

ANTI-BLUE SUNDAY MEETING IN ACCORD
WHAT CAUSES SO MUCH SICKNESS

Mayor Marchant Criticized for Metropolitan Church Address

Councillor Dooley Says Supporters Have Seventeenth Century Minds

Severe criticism of the actions of Mayor Marchant in his stand as chairman of the Police Commission on the question of Sunday Observance, and spontaneous applause of the announcement that the Anti-Blue-Sunday League would continue its fight against the present enforcement of the Lord's Day Act, were the main features at the meeting in the Empress Hotel ballroom last night. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Anti-Blue-Sunday League.

Cross occupied the chair, in the absence of Herbert Kent, the president, some 400 attending.

Although repeated invitations were made by the chairman for advocates of the Lord's Day Act to express their views, no acceptances were forthcoming, nor was any demonstration in evidence on that side of the question. The meeting dispensed with resolutions, and confined its attention to the explanation of the Lord's Day Act, and of some criticism of the action of the majority of the police board to date.

C. T. Cross.

In opening the meeting Mr. Cross referred to the meeting at the Metropolitan Church last Sunday. He would not take issue with Dr. Leslie Clay, stated Mr. Cross, believing him to be sincere in his advocacy of a stricter Sabbath.

"A Religious Problem."

Dr. Clay came out like a man, and said it was a religious problem," stated Mr. Cross, "but Dr. Clay is a Doctor of Divinity and not a doctor of law, and when he talked about the Attorney-General compelling the prosecutions under the Lord's Day Act, then I cannot follow him" (laughter).

A Religious Mayor.

Mayor Marchant gave an exceedingly religious address, in fact you do not know what a good man your Mayor is (laughter). He said that he was told that his actions would make it impossible for him to be re-elected again, and he said, "There have been martyrs before. The Lord was crucified. I am willing to be a martyr to this cause."

"Settled His Hash."

"Now we of this day and age have never heard of but one man who thought of comparing himself to the Almighty, and our boys went overseas and settled his hash (cheers). The meeting struck me as being splendidly pre-arranged. No questions were permitted, and they concluded with National Anthem."

"This is Sudden."

"The Mayor said he was fighting on the side of labor, and that it was not a religious question at all. He stated the labor people of Victoria could say, like the girl, 'This is very sudden.' (Laughter)."

"Then we came to the resolution and he had to get up out of respect to the King, but really it was not necessary to try and make it appear unanimous. I would like to say that the Mayor has said that the meeting was open for discussion, not one of the members of the Anti-const. of the important victories were fought on Sunday" (Cheers).

"Let's Have a Plebiscite."

"Be very careful next time you have an election to get some good calibre at the City Hall. Everything that comes up now is met by them with 'Let's have a plebiscite.' (Laughter.) What would have happened if General Currie, when he was asked to take the Canadians over the top had said: 'Let's have a plebiscite.' (Chestnut tossed cheers.)

Explaining that he was a property owner, Mr. Thirkell declaimed at the interference with the freedom of the subject.

"On 'Going to Church.'"

"A man should not take his troubles to church to be aired if they are of his own creation. Christ showed His disciples by example, and not by force. The Ministerial Association has come to the conclusion that it has failed, and they are going to get you to church somehow. If they would leave us alone and make their churches a little more what they ought to be, there would be no difficulty about going to church. It is the thin end of the wedge," concluded Mr. Thirkell.

"In True Piety."

That the Lord's Day Act was a religious measure, was the contention of Councillor Dooley of Saanich, who pointed out that the Legislature of 1815-16 had made it compulsory for all to exercise themselves in true piety and religion.

"Sectarian Bigots."

"It is the work of a bunch of sectarian-bigots, who are trying to enforce the laws of the Nineteenth Century in the Twentieth Century. They have a Seventeenth Century intelligence (laughter)."

"Not many years ago in England little tots of four used to work in coal mines, hold open doors, for other little tots to haul trucks through. I did not notice that the nobility and clergy, generally, paid any attention to the lot of the laborer then, with the exception of Lord Shaftesbury."

"Suffer, Little Children."

"The clergy have not over-exercised themselves in the cause of labor. They have been preaching 'Suffer Little Children To Come Unto Me,' for a good many years, but they do not seem to get any further than 'Suffer, Little Children (laughter)."

Toronto, the Good.

"Take the moral aspect of the case, I have statistics here for Toronto, the Good. Out of every 1,000 births, 36.2 are illegitimate. Vancouver, the only place in the West where I could find a record at all, only 25 in the 1,000 are illegitimate. Yet Ontario has Blue Sunday. You know I still believe that 'Satan finds work for idle hands to do.'"

"Now we come to the Mayor. He says 'Aliens are not imbued with the same ideals we are' (laughter). Mr. Dooley argued that his experience with the Mayor on the cemetery board showed him to be an autocrat.

"Hoating the Hoots."

"I promise the Ministers that I will go to church if they will preach an intelligent sermon (applause). It is all very much like 'Sitting on the dead limbs of a dead tree, and hooting the hoots of the Middle Ages,'" concluded Councillor Dooley.

No Resolutions.

After calling once again for any exponent of the other side, C. T. Cross closed the meeting, the company rising to sing the National Anthem.

Constipation Responsible for 90% of Disease

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Corrects It

It is generally recognized among the medical profession that Constipation or Insufficient Action of the Bowels, produces more disease than any other one cause. Constipation is responsible for at least 90 per cent. of the disease in the world to-day—because Constipation is responsible for the Indigestion and Dyspepsia—the nervousness, Insomnia and Rheumatism—the Eczema and other skin troubles—the Headaches and Back-aches.

Why is this?

As you know, it is the duty of the bowels to carry off the waste matter in the system. If the bowel muscles are weak or the liver inactive, then this waste matter remains in the body and poisons the blood. As a result, every organ in the body is poisoned by this waste.

"Fruit-a-tives" has been wonderfully successful in relieving Stomach Troubles, Nervous Troubles, Liver Troubles, Kidney Troubles, Skin Troubles and Blood Troubles, because "Fruit-a-tives" positively and emphatically relieves Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will always relieve Constipation, even though the trouble has been chronic for ten, fifteen and twenty years. Thousands of grateful users proclaim "Fruit-a-tives" the greatest remedy for Constipation that the world has ever known.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c.

At dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Blue Sunday League would have raised his voice, because it was Sunday evening, and the place of worship (prolonged cheers)."

For Local Option.

Alfred Carmichael at this stage outlined the terms of the Lord's Day Act, explaining what the question before the electorate would be, if the Mayor was to allow a local option. He stated that the intention of the framers of the Act, was to allow a local option to be taken in any two Provinces. The Shops Regulation Act, upon which the By-law was framed, was left untouched by the business mentioned in the Lord's Day Act, expressly so, there being no option about the business cited in the Shops Regulation Act.

As "Public Utilities."

"We believe that these businesses, not mentioned in the Shops Regulation Act were intended by the Government to be taken much in the light of public utilities," he stated. The city was not allowed to deal with these. Fresh milk, cream, newspapers, postcards, tobacco and smokers' supplies, butter, eggs, and the products of the bake shops, hotels and hotels, are all excluded from the Shops Regulation Act.

At Will of People.

Through all this legislation it is quite evident that the intention of the framers of it was to treat these matters as public utilities, to be dealt with only at the will of the people in each Province. That is the position of the Anti-Blue League.

Mr. Carmichael here dealt with the terms of the Lord's Day Act, which provided among other points that no one should be allowed to do business of their ordinary calling on Sunday, or compel others to work at such calling.

To Protect Labor?

If the Act was to protect Labor, asked the speaker, how was it that the Act did not protect domestic servants, and those employed as day laborers in home or processes who worked an eight hour day? Was this to protect the big interests in the East? queried the speaker. The Act was not framed in the interests of Labor, held Mr. Carmichael.

To "Bitter End."

"There is no authority in the Act for a partial enforcement, and if you decide at the polls on Friday that the Act is to be enforced, it must be enforced to the bitter end (cheers). The Act would put a stop to the hiring of autos for pleasure, boating for the same purpose, and for other than church conveyance uses, continued Mr. Carmichael, who dealt at length with the various sections of the Act.

A "Rich Man's Act."

"It is a rich man's law from beginning to end," he continued, "and is full of discrimination. Before casting your vote on Friday advise all, including your business, the twelfth chapter of Matthew, and see what the Bible has to say about the Sabbath. It is the most un-Christian Act that has ever been perpetrated on the people of Canada," he concluded, to be met with cries of "Down With The Baptists."

Taken Issue With Mayor.

James Dakers, in answer to an invitation from the chair, declared in favor of six days work in the week and one day of rest, but not a compulsory Sunday rest. Mr. Dakers took exception to references to himself by the Mayor, and charged that the latter had endeavored to discredit him in the eyes of labor, trying to make it appear as if he (Dakers) was in favor of working on Sunday.

"Intoxicated With Power."

"The Mayor is a well-known follower of Henry George, and I am inclined to think that this is a case, in one who is intoxicated with power, and who is trying to bring about idealism in a materialistic age. What we want as labor people is a reasonable enforcement of the law, but I believe the Police Commission would enforce the act to a degree that would take away many of our privileges," (Cheers).

The Sunday Battle.

Bill to Promote Emigration Reaches Premier Oliver

Britain Would Assist in Paying Passages

Premier Oliver has received from F. W. Wade, Agent-General in London, a Bill for the purpose of promoting the emigration of the surplus population to the overseas Dominions, and "prevent wasting the Empire by a drift of their flags." It provides that the British Government shall assist in paying the passage of British people to the extent of half the cost of such colonization plan. For this purpose not more than £1,500,000 may be spent in the year current at the passing of the Act or not more than £3,000,000 in any subsequent year.

The text of the bill follows:

1. It shall be lawful for the Secretary of State, in association with His Majesty's Overseas Dominions, or with approved private organizations either in the United Kingdom or in any part of His Majesty's Overseas Dominions, to formulate and to operate a plan for carrying out schemes for affording joint assistance to suitable persons in the United Kingdom who intend to settle in any part of His Majesty's Overseas Dominions.

2. An agreed scheme under the Act may be either:

- (a) a scheme for the development or land settlement scheme; or
- (b) a scheme for facilitating settlement or migration to any part of His Majesty's Overseas Dominions by assistance with passage, initial allowances, special training or otherwise; and shall make provision in respect to the contributions to be made, either by way of grant or by way of

HALIFAX EXPLOSION WRECKED HER NERVES

The reader will, no doubt, remember when a few years ago there was a collision in the Halifax, N.S., Harbor and one of the munition ships was blown up, causing great loss of life and laying a large portion of the city in ruins, and causing a great deal of suffering and distress among the inhabitants.

Mrs. Winfield Dill, now of Windsor, N. S., was living in Halifax at that time and went through this trying experience and the shock wrecked her nerves. She writes as follows: "I was living in Halifax at the time of the explosion, and it wrecked my nerves so that I could not do my housework. I would take such nervous spells I would be under the doctor's care."

"I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised, so I took two boxes, and they helped me so much I took six more, and now I am completely relieved. I can recommend them to anyone suffering from heart and nerve trouble."

To all those who suffer from nervous shock we would recommend our

ROYAL DAIRY HEATHENED Ice Cream

Milk is childhood's finest food. Yet children often turn against milk, although you mothers know they should have more of it if they are to grow up strong and easy with health. But even children who dislike milk love ice cream, and pure ice cream is a perfect food. It contains the nutritive qualities of rich milk and cream and other food elements. YOU OWE IT TO YOUR KIDNIES. ROYAL DAIRY HEATHENED ICE CREAM is the kind you should specify. Heathenization is science's newest discovery in food sanitation. It is a method of making ice cream which drives out the air and replaces it with a pure, clean, sterile atmosphere, infinitely purer than air. Air, you know is never pure. It is often laden with all kinds of impurities. So mixing air with pure cream, sugar, fruits and flavoring used in making ice cream makes the finished product impure.

HIGHEST IN FOOD VALUES
Royal Dairy Heathened Ice Cream is highest in food values, for science has shown that airless cream contains twice as much Vitamin as ordinary, while Heathenizing preserves them.

So give your children all the ice cream they want—but be sure that it's Royal Dairy Heathened Ice Cream. If it isn't Royal Dairy it isn't Heathened.
