For the Knight's Landing News. FRIENDS OF THE PAST.

BY H. C. S.

Come back, ye absent spirits, come,
My heart is cheerless now;
Dim shadows gather o'er my soul,
And gloom is on my brow.

Come back, ye friends of happier days,
With all your soothing power;
Come cheer me with one beaming smile—
Beguile one weary hour.

Come with the tender song I love;
O, breathe its plaintive strain;
'Twill lull each dark and troubled thought,
And make me blest again.

Come with the kind and gentle words
I listened to of yore;
Their music lingers near me still,
But, O, the dream is o'er.

Friends of the past, come back, come back,
For, ah, this heart is lone,
And morns the light of other days,
Now sadly dimm'd and gone.
Stony Creek, July 23, 1863.

Extracts from a Sermon.

We publish some extracts this week from a Funeral Sermon, preached in the town of Knight's Landing, by Rev. James E. Barnes, January 3d, 1864, on the death of Mr. George T. Reed, of Missouri. Theme—

THE BROTHERHOOD OF MAN.

Text—Be not thou afraid when one is made rich, when the glory of his house is increased; for when he dieth he shall carry nothing away; his glory shall not descend after him; he shall go to the generations of his fathers. Psalms, 49, 16-19. Man is like to vanity; his days are as a shadow that passeth away. Psalms, 144, 4.

1st. Human Equality.—There are two periods in human life at which all men are equal; first, at birth; second, at death. At birth all come into the world in a helpless condition, and at the mercy and under the care of parents. All have an existence by the permit of God. But he who is born to rule as a king is, at birth, on an equality with him who is born to be a peasant. I know that God gives different powers of intellect to his creatures, but those powers of mind are to be developed in after life, and no one can tell what they are until they are brought out by the advantages of education and discipline. There is this difference in the two periods of human equality—they all come into the world innocent of crime and with the full blessings of a Saviour resting upon them; but when they come to die, some die in the enjoyment of God's grace, while others die with the condemnation of God resting upon them; but physically, they are all equally at the mercy and under the care of those who may attend them in their last illness. We come now to notice—

2d. The Day of Advantage.—The true advantages of this life are apparently improved by but few. What I call the true advantages of this life, are those gracious offers that God has made, and the means of grace he has given, to restore us to that inheritance from which we, by personal disobedience, have fallen. As we have spoken of the blessed state in which all were born, so now I say again, that the gospel of peace passes over the infant part of the human family, and leaves them under the blessing of the Saviour, and comes to those who are in responsible life, and calls on them to repent and turn to those heavenly instructions delivered by the Lord to sinners. It is between the cradle and the grave that men gain the favor and grace of God to the salvation of their souls, in the use of these advantages I have mentioned, or lose their souls by neglecting to improve them. We are struck with the divers powers and bents of mind that are manifested in the world. Some devote their lives to the making of a reputation for themselves as a statesman or a warrior, so that their names may live in history; as if they expect to enjoy the reading of their great deeds in after ages. Others labor incessantly with mind and body to hoard up wealth, as if it would remain with them forever. Our text instructs us, "Not to be afraid when one is made rich, for when he dieth he shall carry nothing away." I do not miss the truth when I say that there are thousands on this coast now who left at home in the East their affectionate companions and dear children, and have encountered many hardships and sacrificed many manly virtues in order to gain gold, and return to make the glory of their house compare with that of their rich neighbor. And after staying their two or three years out, have become reckless because of their failure—have forsaken their wives and children, and given themselves up to debasing and low practices, that have taken many to an early grave.—There are others still that seem to be destitute of the ambition of a man all their lives. They are willing to live in ignorance, and to follow in the wake of the scum of society.

This day of advantage is a day of advantage to all men. He to whom much is given must render unto God the same much, with much increase; and he to whom little is given, may improve it, so as to be received with as loud applause as he who renders to God a vast load of gain. So, with such gracious and extensive advantages as we enjoy, of recovering from our fallen condition to the everlasting joys of heaven, how earnest should we be in the use of those advantages.

3d. The Brotherhood of Man.—This is a wholesome doctrine for the Christian minister to preach; although it is a favorite doctrine with a class of men who reject the religion taught in the New Testament. The Bible teaches that of one blood God made all nations; if so, the human family is one vast brotherhood, so far as their physical bodies are concerned. And if we could realize it more it would be better for us all. For we are ready to jump at conclusions in regard to each other, and act according to our judgments; and hence the great sufferings that are brought on us and our fellows, because we undertake to avenge ourselves, in place of leaving it to Him who said, "Vengeance is mine; I will repay." God has given law so suited to our needs that men may be brought to punishment for certain flagrant crimes that they may commit against the moral brotherhood, and carry out the law that protects society. But there is another law that requires spiritual rectitude, that may be flagrantly violated, even by those who present a smooth surface to society, and in the eye of the world and the church be very influential, while their hearts are corrupt in the sight of God.—Of this spiritual rectitude God is the judge, and not we.

4th. The Lord God is the Righteous Dispenser of Rewards and Punishments.—The young man who is the subject of our remarks this morning is gone into the presence of a God, whose decision in regard to him is just, as well as eternal.—We know that what we are saying this moment will not effect his condition, but funeral preaching is for the benefit of the living, that they may be influenced to seek salvation through the blessed Saviour. I am not in the habit of offering eulogies on the dead; and cannot in this case, as the young man was a stranger to me. I visited him a few times at the residence of the brothers J. N. and W. T. Hunt. I asked him some questions in regard to his family and in regard to his spiritual condition. He informed me that he was born in Maryland, November 8, 1834; that his father moved to the State of Missouri when he was young; that he had two brothers and two sisters in or near Middletown, Mo. His brothers were named William and John Reed, and his sisters, Mary and Mildred. I made these inquiries, as I usually do, to know where to direct the information of his death to his relatives. He told me that his sisters were professing Christians, but he did not know that his brothers were. When I asked him of his own preparation for death, he replied, "I have no hope for the next world;" and when he spoke these words his eyes filled with tears, and his bosom heaved violently, so that I asked him no more pointed questions, but offered prayer with him, in which he seemed to join most earnestly. I could see that he was not long for this world, as the flush on his cheek showed the last stage of consumption; and on the 28th day of December, 1863, the vital flame was extinguished, in the absence of those brothers and affectionate sisters, who would have craved the opportunity of attending him in his last illness, to minister words of comfort to their sinking brother. And I can imagine the tenderness with which those sisters would have impressed a farewell kiss on the lips of that poor brother, and have wiped the clammy sweat off that fast bleaching brow. But he died in the midst of friends, who, we have no doubt, cared for him as a brother; and may God reward those young men for their kindness to him. And I would say to those young men, strive to win the comforts of that grace that will sustain and cheer us in the solemn hour of death.

May God save us all from sin unto everlasting life. Amen.

JONATHAN MATCHED.—A Yankee and a Frenchman owned a pig in co-partnership, and when killing-time came they wished to divide the meat. The Yankee was very anxious to divide so that he could get both hindquarters, and persuaded the Frenchman that the way to divide was to cut it across the back. The Frenchman agreed to do it on condition that the Yankee should turn his back and take choice of pieces after it was cut in two.

Frenchman. "Vich piece vill you have, ze piece vid ze tail on, or ze piece vidont ze tail on?"

Yankee. "The piece with the tail on."
Frenchman. "Zen, by gar, you take him, and I take ze ozer von."

Upon turning round, the Yankee found that the Frenchman had cut off the tail and stuck it in the pig's mouth.

For the Knight's Landing News. Thoughts by the Way.

"O spare me, that I may recover strength before I go hence, and be no more."—Psalms, 29, 13.

How earnestly should we all seek a preparation for death. David did not enjoy the preached gospel as we do, but he felt the plague of sin. His life had been an eventful one, and he had seen the day when he could perform wonders in the name of his God. But he did not, at the time that he uttered this prayer, feel that his God was reconciled to him as he had been, for he had sinned, and thereby lost the image of his Divine Master. But was David any more accountable for his sins than we are for ours? The same God unto whom David prayed must we pray. "O spare me," is the earnest desire of most men; but is this earnest desire to live prompted from good motives? Do we desire to live to glorify God, and shed abroad his praise in our lives? It is common for men to pray for life when life is almost gone. And often it pleases God to raise them from what was supposed to be their death beds to perfect health; but do those who have made so many vows to God on a bed of sickness perform those vows when they are restored to health? There are many men who act as if they thought that David's God wouldn't do to govern in this enlightened age; that a God that would rule with success now must be more conservative, and adopt a more temporizing policy. Such men remind me of the soldier in the Mexican war. He happened to see the moon in its last quarter, and remarked that the Mexican moon was an insignificant concern in comparison with the large American moon. So, when we sin, we offend the same God that David offended, and if we would recover our strength we must seek to turn from wickedness, as he sought. He who gave us life did not give it to us to spend in sinning against Him. This life, brief as it is, is one during which we may accomplish much good, or inflict an injury, either of which will continue as a blessing or a curse after we are gone. How much cause have we to grieve that we have so long lived without the comforts of God's holy spirit, because sinful pleasures have occupied our thoughts, and we have given the strength of our manhood to unworthy objects and pursuits. Those who speak lightly of the Christian religion are very willing to bring David up for trial for the murder of Uriah in order to conceal his awful sin; but if there were ten thousand Nathans now, they might all be employed in pointing out men who are guilty of David's first offence, and yet they are looked upon as men of influence and respectability, even after they have been the secret cause of breaking up families; and but few of them seem to feel any otherwise about it than that it was with them a triumph. We would be glad to see men who have sinned David's sin perform David's repentance. But we do not have to commit that special sin in order to be sinners. The sins of our youth are almost innumerable; all or any of which would deprive us of the image of God in the soul; or, in other words, we are deprived of the soul-animating presence of the Holy Spirit. And because our sins have separated between us and our God, so that we do not enjoy the comforts of it, we join in with those that spend the breath that God gives them in blaspheming his holy name and contradicting his Word. It would be as sensible for that man to go to the frozen North and then swear that there was no South, simply because it was so cold where he stood. It may do for men to live in disobedience to their Creator, but they are all on the way to that place or state which David dreaded, unless he could gain the forgiveness of his sins; for this is what he meant when he prayed for the recovery of his strength. The bravery with which men may and do go on in sinning is no proof that there is no God taking notice of their deeds; nor will the charges that they propose to bring against David, or any one else, avail anything for them when they go hence. David lived but one lifetime in this world, and then went to the spirit world. We are living out our time, and will soon have gone, as responsible for what we have done as was David. Then may we not pray for the recovery of our heavenly home, which we have forfeited by transgression? Thou, O man, must die, and leave all that engages thee here; then wilt thou not seek thy Saviour's smiles, so that thy joy may be perfect joy? I admire that hymn:

"My days, my weeks, my months, my years,
Fly rapid as the whirling spheres,
And whisper as they fly,
'Unthinking man, remember this,
Though fond of sabinary bliss,
That you must shortly die.'"

"The grave is near, the cradle seen,
How swift the moments pass between."
Truly our days pass swiftly between the cradle and the grave, and all our days are not too many to spend to His praise, who washed us in his own most precious blood.

A WONDERFUL SCARF.—The young wife of a Turkish pacha used to pride herself on a scarf of extraordinary richness and beauty, said to have cost her husband £700 sterling. It had a border each 18 inches deep, displaying a pattern of the most splendid flowers—roses, anemones, narcissuses, tulips—as fresh and gorgeous of hue as those which drooped or nodded in his own gardens in the valley of the Sweet Waters. When she wore it round her waist, allowing the borders to depend down her left side, each fold was so disposed as to exhibit in succession a rose, a tulip, and a narcissus, enveloped in a galaxy of buds, especially of the moss rose, which seemed to project from the surface of the fabric, fresh and steeped in the dews of morning. The wild and froward beauty who owned it sometimes took it from her waist and twisted it round the head of a favorite, in order to behold the splendor of the flowers set off by contrast with his black beard. Along the sides of the scarf ran a border of about four or five inches in depth, resembling in richness of colors the most gorgeous painted windows in an old cathedral; and through what may be called the field, there ran long stems or wreaths of fanciful blossoms, fading away towards the centre into an opal tinge, which surrounded, like a halo, the circle of a damask rose. It may well be doubted whether the shawls manufactured for the Russian and Persian ambassadors, which cost twelve thousand rupees, exceeded in magnificence and loveliness that of the Turkish lady we have described. To suggest more completely the ideas of a garden, parts of the scarf had been steeped in one perfume, and parts in another, so that, as she moved along, the scent of jasmynes, roses, or violets fell upon the senses alternately.

MARRIAGE.—If there is a tie deemed sacred on earth, and holy in a brighter land, 'tis that which binds man to his kindred spirit to become as one in unity and love; and yet it rarely happens that he properly appreciates the kindness of the female heart, by setting the right value on a gem so productive of happiness to the possessor. There is nothing in life so pure and devoted as the unquenchable love of woman—more priceless than the gems of Golconda, and more devout than the idolatry of Mecca, is the unsealed and gushing tenderness which flows from the fount of the female heart.

It may here with propriety be asked, what so often enhances the sorrow of the female heart, causing many anxious days and sleepless nights? Is it not for the inconstancy of man? For whose sake does she bid adieu to the home of her childhood? For whom does she leave the loved father and the doting mother and the sweet sister who played with her in infancy? To whom does she cling with a fond embrace, when all but her have forsaken him?

FARMER B. was sitting in the country church. He had been working hard in the harvest field.—Hands were scarce, and farmer B. was dozing. The loud tones of the minister failed to arouse the farmer, until at length the good man closed the lids of the Bible, and concluded as follows: "Indeed, my hearers, the harvest is plenteous, but the laborers are few."

"Yes," exclaimed farmer B, "I've offered two dollars a day for cradlers, and can't get 'em at that."

A YOUNG girl at Brooklyn, New York, was seized with the idea that, like Joseph of Arc, she was born to lead her country's armies. She enlisted as a drummer boy in a Michigan regiment, hoping to rank up to the chief command. She was shot at Chickamauga, and telegraphed to her father, "I expected to deliver my country, but the fates would not have it so. I am contented to die. Pray, papa, forgive me."

THE Brazilian ladies think it fine to be fat; read nothing but French novels; dress splendidly out of doors, and live like pigs in the house. They all smoke and spit on the floor, or, if on the balcony, aim at passengers' heads, which, we suppose, they think such fun. As to picking the inhabited heads of their children in public reception rooms—there cannot be the least exception to that; don't the monkeys do it. The London Spectator gives these particulars in a more extended form.

THE Lewiston, (N. Y.) Journal says there was a foot race between a man and a woman in Auburn, Wednesday morning. The man beat. A race of tongues ensued. The woman beat, of course.

THE Brooklyn people advertise charity balls in their churches on the Sabbath, and are none the worse for it either.

ITALY don't allow her army officers to get married; twelve hundred of them have transgressed, and are to be court-martialed.

Declaration of Homestead.

Persons wishing to procure a correct legal form for making out a Declaration of Homestead, as required by the Act of the last Legislature, with the acknowledgment attached thereto, will find printed blanks, on application to the KNIGHT'S LANDING NEWS OFFICE. By filling out these blanks themselves, parties will be subject to no other expense than the fees for acknowledgment and record.

District Court.

The District Court, which convened last Monday at Woodland, disposed of the following business:

J. H. McKune, District Judge, produced his commission as Judge from Governor Stanford, and the same was ordered upon the minutes of the Court, which was done. Judge McKune was then sworn in by Judge Hutton, according to law.

C. P. Sprague was appointed Court Commissioner for Yolo County.

Figg vs. Rahm.—Judgment for plaintiff.

J. E. Allen vs. Carly.—Continued for the next term.

People vs. John W. Markly.—Indictment for murder. On motion of Mr. Burnett, and affidavit being filed, case continued until 22d day of March next.

People vs. Taylor and Wife.—Submitted on brief, and taken under advisement by the Court.

People vs. Bixler et al.—Same as above.

Morrissey vs. Ray.—Continued till next term.

N. Green Curtis vs. Reddem.—Judgment for plaintiff for $400 and costs of suit.

W. W. Pondegast makes application for admission to the bar of this Court, and after an examination by committee he was duly admitted and sworn according to law.

Fredericks vs. Butler (ejectment suit).—Judgment and decree ordered for plaintiff.

Reeves vs. Tebbs.—Continued for the term at defendant's cost.

Langenour vs. Dickerson.—Referred to Judge Hutton by consent of both parties.

People vs. Keithly.—Continued by consent.

Scott vs. Garoute.—Continued at plaintiff's cost, and plaintiff ordered to file new attachment bond in the sum of $1,000, in twenty days.

Shelhammer vs. Huntly.—Suit in ejectment. Decree for plaintiff.

Hartley vs. Patterson.—Decree of foreclosure ordered for plaintiff.

COUNTY JUDGE.—On Monday last the Hon. J. A. Hutton, County Judge elect, took his seat, and, from appearances, fills the chair to its utmost capacity; we hope he will continue so to do. Judge I. N. Hoag, his predecessor, having filled the office twice by appointment of the Governor, has shown his ability for the position. We understand he intends to practice in our Courts.

THE election of officers of Woodland Lodge, No. 111 took place on Saturday night, December 26th, 1863, and resulted in the election of the following officers: J. W. Tilly, N. G.; T. J. Dexter, V. G.; C. W. Lewis, R. S.; J. I. S. Wychoff, T.

The above officers will be installed this evening (Saturday), by Prescott Robinson, D. D. N. G.

DISTRICT JUDGE.—The Hon. J. H. McKune took his seat for a second term on Monday last. We shall always be pleased to see him hold the position, for we believe he has given more general satisfaction to the public than any other officer in the State.

WHOLESALE CLOTHING ESTABLISHMENT.—By reference to another column will be found an advertisement of the well-known firm of Heuston, Hastings & Co. having opened a Wholesale Establishment in San Francisco.

COMMISSIONED.—L. C. Brownell has received his commission from Governor Low, for the office of County Clerk. He will not enter upon the duties of his office until March 1st.

THE partnership which existed between Messrs. Glascock & Brownell, in the Livery Stable business, has been dissolved by mutual consent. The business hereafter will be carried on by Mr. Aber Brownell. (See advertisement.)

PROBATE COURT.—On Monday next the regular term of the Probate Court will meet at Woodland.

Sacramento Correspondence.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 6th, 1864.

EDITOR KNIGHT'S LANDING NEWS:—

The Holidays are being pretty well got over, and people are settling down to business in real good earnest. Weather has been delightful for the last three days. New Year's day was spent by a great many of our citizens in the good old custom of calling and exchanging the compliments of the season. The few of our legislative members who remained in the city must have spent a very pleasant time; for go where you would you would hear the brief but heart spoken words, "Happy New Year to you," and a great many of our ladies kept open house for those who liked to call and pass the compliments of the season, and partake of the good things set out for them. I think it has been one of the pleasantest holiday seasons Sacramento has seen since the cruel flood.

ANOTHER DEFAULTER.

Our late State Controller, Warren, has vanished most mysteriously with about $12,000; he sailed on the last steamer for Panama, a citizen having seen him off. I believe he had the feet fever; otherwise called mining stock complaint. Gass became a defaulter through the same thing; and then our City Treasurer, he gambled, but not in mining stocks, but with cards and dice. The amount that Warren has gone off with will not come so heavy on his bondsmen, who, I believe, are all wealthy men of San Joaquin county. If we look back at our list of defaulters, who have had to handle public funds, we find gambling has been the chief cause of all. The old saying is true: Gambling finds a man a dupe, and leaves him a knave. I think it may be applied in the case of Warren, who was much respected while he held office. Let us hope that our future office-holders, who have the handling of public money, will cease dabbling in mining stocks, and keep from card tables, and let our sister States East see that we have some honest men in this, the best and happiest State of the Union.

THE NEW SUPREME COURT.

At the drawing of lots for the terms of office, the result was as follows; O. L. Shafter, of San Francisco, drew the long term, 10 years; A. L. Rhodes, of Santa Clara, 8 years; Lorenzo Sawyer, of San Francisco, 6 years; John Curry, of Solano, 4 years; and S. W. Sanderson, of El Dorado, 2 years. The Justices elected John Byrnes as Bailiff, and John S. Barrett, Secretary. The other officers are, W. D. Harriman, Clerk; W. G. Wood, Deputy Clerk; C. A. Tuttle, Reporter and Attorney; Gen. McCullough is an officer of the Court.

ANNIVERSARY OF EMANCIPATION.

Our colored citizens held high jubilee on New Year's day; they held religious meetings in the morning, in their own church, and fired salutes innumerable.—Every colored gentleman you would meet would have his face in a broad grin, and his ivory teeth exposed, showing his white brethren he fully appreciated the day.

THEATRICAL.

Mrs. Leighton has been playing a round of characters at our Theatre, but I do not think with any great success, for they have had very poor houses, besides being fined in the sum of fifty dollars for playing on Sunday night. Some ten of them were fined in that amount, and old Buck, the manager, whistled to the tune of a hundred. But I think they [the Court] will whistle before they get it, for he has appealed the case to a higher Court. Mrs. Leighton takes her benefit and makes her last appearance on Thursday night. I hope she may have a good one, for she is a deserving lady.

I believe we are to have Miss Hardinge, the celebrated spiritual lecturer. From what I have heard of her eloquence we anticipate a treat in the lecture line. I hope she will fulfil our expectations, which, like Dickens', are great.

Yours, truly, B.

WHILE Mr. Sloan was engaged in painting the Insane Asylum, at Stockton, on Wednesday, a crazy woman pulled down the ladder upon which he was standing, causing him to fall, breaking his leg and sustaining severe internal injuries.

THE penalty for non-payment of the fine imposed upon the Buchanan Theatrical Company is imprisonment at the rate of two dollars a day.

REV. MR. BURTON will preach in Knight's Landing to-morrow (Sunday) morning, at 11 o'clock, and in the evening at 7 1/2 o'clock.

MRS. LINCOLN—A GAY SEASON.

Under this title the Washington correspondent of the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, an Administration paper, writes:

Mrs. Lincoln has just got back from her Northern trip, and will soon be domiciled in the White House. For a few days, till the Presidential Mansion can be thoroughly renovated, she will remain at the Soldier's Home, and then will come the "gay season" that is hastening on. We are going to have a gay season—no doubt of that—whether our armies triumph or fail. Mrs. Lincoln will give a great many select parties this winter, to say nothing of the common receptions and levees.—She seems to be growing popular with the people.

The correspondent of the New York Commercial, another Administration organ, states that the "Republican Court" at Washington is to be very gay, fashionable, and aristocratic the coming winter. It has been decided that none but the "rich and well born" shall be admitted within the sacred walls of the White House, and that "unwashed orderlies, with their boots drawn over their pants," and "servant girls, fresh from the fumes of the kitchen," shall not be allowed access to the "levees," as was the case last winter. Mrs. Lincoln has "put her foot down" against all such ill-mannered people being her guests!

Mirth, gaiety, and enjoyment—scenes of gorgeous splendor and glittering show—will henceforth be witnessed at the White House. "There is nothing the matter"—"nobody's hurt"—"this excitement in the country is all artificial."

"On with the dance—let joy be unconfined."—Ohio Eagle.

"GREENBACKS."—The first question asked on the arrival of the stage at Vallejo, with the evening paper, is, "What's the price of greenbacks?" Now this at the first thought might appear to be a question of curiosity, but, in fact, the price of "greenbacks" is a matter of dollars and cents to the working men of Vallejo. Their pay is said to be regulated by the price of legal tenders on the last day of each month, when, in fact, legal tenders are worth more on that, and the two or three succeeding days, than in the middle of the month. The consequence is that by the time that the men get their pay, which is generally about the middle of the month, legal tenders are lower, by from three to five cents on the dollar, than they were when the wages were regulated. But there are other parties who are still more concerned about the price of legal tenders. All persons who receive salaries are paid in "greenbacks" at par. This includes the naval and civil officers of the yard, and their clerks—also the marines on duty at the Yard—together making quite a large body of men. It is supposed that something will be done by the Members of Congress from this State in regard to this matter, for it is not fair that the persons in the service of the Government should be deprived of about one-third of their pay—leaving, in some instances, not enough for their support; while other parties, over whom the Government has no control, receive the equivalent of their pay in paper.—Solano Press.

GOULD AND CURRY IN 1863.—The President of this Company, in his report for 1863, says:

From eighteen to twenty-four tons of second class ore are now being reduced every twenty-four hours. The ores have averaged in value about $400 per ton, and the amount of metal extracted about $316 per ton. The cost of reducing the ores is about $88 per ton. By the 20th of March the works should be in operation, enabling the company to reduce about seventy-five tons of second and third class ores every twenty-four hours. During the year there has been delivered from the mine to the company's mill 4,812 tons of second class ores, from which has been extracted $316 per ton, amounting to 1,520,651 53. To the various other mills 43,907 tons of third class ores, yielding $2,400,204 87.—Twenty-four and one half tons of first class ore have been shipped to England, at an estimated value of $2,800 per ton. Cost of mining the ores is $8 per ton.—Forty per cent. of the gross receipts have been paid to the stockholders.

THE ADJOURNMENT.—The Bee says: The Legislature is catching it on all hands for their adjournment over the holidays, and they deserve it. We confess that we are surprised at their action in this matter, and we believe that the majority of their constituents will be satisfied with nothing short of a refusal to accept pay for the lost time. A concurrent resolution to transfer the holiday pay to the Sanitary Fund would, perhaps, pacify the indignant public. If members wish to retain their character and reputation they will vote that at least eight days' pay be refunded. Sixteen thousand dollars is the amount of loss to the State without an equivalent; yet the loss of time is a more serious loss, now that the session is limited, and there is no telling what extra expense this adjournment may entail on the State, should a large amount of business be on hand near the close of the session.

At Sacramento, on Sunday, a good deal of excitement was created by a mad dog running through the streets. Several persons followed him with pistols, but before any shot was fired he was knocked over with a brick and killed.

SHARP PRACTICE BY A FASHIONABLE LADY.

Several days ago we heard of a Lindell Ball incident, which shows to what lengths some ladies will go in order to shine in the ranks of fashion. A lady, whose husband is possessed of a comfortable share of the world's goods, but not so abundantly supplied as William B. Astor or Baron Rothschild, had two female relatives whom she desired to "bring out" at the Lindell Ball. After purchasing the necessary dresses, gloves, slippers, handkerchiefs, head dresses, etc., she had only $750 left to waste on diamonds, pearls, etc. This small sum was just sufficient to purchase a jeweled necklace from an Eastern house, and this necklace could be worn by only one of the three ladies. The question was, how were the other two to be supplied with the indispensable ornament? A council of war was held, and after an animated discussion it was agreed that an order should be sent to the Eastern jeweller to send by express three diamond necklaces as samples, from which a choice could be made. The lady's husband being known as a solid man, the three necklaces were despatched without hesitation, and arrived here a day or two previous to the ball.—The lady wore one of these to the ball, and her two friends dazzled the eyes of the shoddy with the others. These costly ornaments attracted great attention, and people who knew the economical habits of the husband wondered at his liberality in decorating his wife and relatives in so expensive a style. After the diamonds had done their work, two of the necklaces were returned to their owner, while one was retained and promptly paid for. This we consider a piece of female financiering worthy of the most strategic general of modern times.—St. Louis paper.

WORK OF THE CHARLESTON ARSENAL.

The Charleston Mercury, in an article on the defence of that city, says:

In this memorable defense our little arsenal has played an important part, though limited in its capacities. We learn that since March last it has melted up more than 900 tons of iron, and cast more than 16,000 projectiles, exclusive of grape and canister—upwards of 7,000 being 8, 9, 10, and 11-inch shot and shell. During the same time many of the heaviest guns have been banded there in a style not surpassed if equalled in the Confederacy, and some of the finest and largest gun-carriages made that were ever turned out of any shop. Nearly 10,000 small arms have been prepared for use, and 3,000,000 small-arm cartridges have been made, and the quantity of metallic friction primers now daily turned out is 2,000.

A NEW YORK letter says: "Parties in a position to know something about it say that Gunther spent about $50,000 to carry the election; Boole about $30,000, and Blunt not less than $25,000. Total, $105,000."

WOOLEN FACTORY.—Several prominent citizens of Napa county are forming a company for the purpose of erecting a woollen factory in the vicinity of Napa City.

SHIP BUILDING.—Several vessels have recently been constructed at Stockton.—Another sloop is about to be built at Lindsay's Point, in that city.

THE Laird ironclads have been valued for the British Government—the Tousin at $106,000, and El Mounassar at $80,000.

Reese River Correspondence.

MINERAL CITY, Dec. 25th, 1863.

MR. EDITOR:—Being an old subscriber to your paper, but not addicted to writing communications, I do not know as this will meet with your approval.—Yet, basing my success upon the first consideration, hope this may find a place in your columns. Thinking your numerous readers would like to hear from the "Reese River" country, together with the trip across the mountains, I will treat you to a rehearsal, for a New Year's dinner, which will go well with turkey, chicken, etc., and no doubt assist in digestion.

This takes me back to the 25th of October, upon which day I left the Valleys of the Sacramento, with "satchel" in hand, on an easterly journey; mounting the "iron horse" at Sacramento city, at 6 A. M., filled with bright expectations of the future, dreaming of mountains of silver, as they loomed up before me, and grew larger at every "snort" of the horse. While engaged in these bright and pleasant dreams a voice came from the forward car, "Folsom!" Folsom! was echoed by all, and but a few strides landed us safely there. Getting on board the Pioneer line, I found myself by 2 o'clock P. M. safe in Placerville. Here I was joined by one who was to be my companion over the mountains, who should share mutually the ills as well as the pleasures attending the trip. We soon found ourselves pleasantly seated in front of the "Orleans," discussing the proposed trip. We finally decided to remain in Placerville until morning, and bask in the comforts by which we were surrounded, furnished by the liberal hand of Mr. Vanderbelt, of the above hotel. On the 26th we left Placerville in a buggy, with two good studs attached thereto. After a pleasant journey of three days found ourselves in Virginia City. After a stay of one day in Virginia, we commenced our onward march. After a drive of twenty miles we stopped for the night at a Mormon station, consisting of one adobe house. After some discussion as to the propriety of remaining over night, it was finally arranged to stop, as mine host informed us it was some twelve miles to the next station, and accommodations were much poorer than he could offer us. After dispensing with our good studs, we betook ourselves to the bar-room, there to be treated by mine host to a rehearsal of his life. We found him quite communicative, and a "latter day saint," using excellent language, with good descriptive powers. My attention was directed from the pleasing narrative of mine host by some one pulling at my coat; turning around I found it to be my companion, who we will denominate A. C., who, in a subdued tone, pronounced the landlord an "educated cuss." Everything went on smoothly until about 9 o'clock P. M., when there broke in upon our conversation three persons, rather roughly attired, yet agreeable in manners, who ordered supper for three. The demand was reiterated by the "educated cuss": "Madam, supper for three." We heard a voice from afar off, "Madam's gone to bed." The aforesaid gentleman becoming somewhat enraged, repeated the order: "Madam, supper for three." Echo answered the same, for the Madam was wrapped in the arms of Morpheus, or some other man. So the order was not accepted, and the "educated cuss" had to doff his attire to a certain extent and pitch into the supper himself. He and the Madam had a few harsh words, but we found the next morning all was quiet. And the next morning was consumed in discussing the proceedings of the night previous. Nothing of note transpired the next day, save a strong and healthy wind arose about 12 M., which increased in magnitude as the hours progressed; so at 2 P. M. we found ourselves compelled to stop, as we could proceed no further on account of the vast clouds of sand, which blinded our eyes. This time we found comfortable quarters at Bisby's Station, with good stables, etc.; we were also treated by the gentlemanly landlord with a rehearsal of his perilous adventures at sea; the most interesting feature of which was off the banks of Newfoundland, which he pronounced "terrific." Here we had a good snow storm, which made the traveling good for the next day. Resuming our journey the next morning, and by dint of perseverance made the station known as Sand Springs. Arriving here about 8 P. M., found about seventy-five wagons, which surrounded the house so completely that for a long time we were left in doubt as to the existence of a house, often mistaking large "prairie schooners" for said house. Here we found no accommodations at all; everything was done on the hurly burly order; though by persevering at about 10 o'clock we managed to sit down to what was called "supper."—Heaven deliver us from another of the same kind! After supper, much discouraged at the prospects by which we were surrounded, and taking a good smoke from our mere shams, male preparations to retire for the night, not to rest, but to be tossed to and fro by the myriads of uncertainties by which we were surrounded. We were lulled to sleep by the musical voices which surrounded a gaming table, with an occasional outburst of applause from the by-standers, at some cute play, made by some one of the party.—This was kept up all night, which disturbed the peaceful slumbers of an occupant of the bar room, who had given evidence of said slumber by deep and unequivocal snoring; he awoke, and all nature felt the shock, swearing very much at being thus disturbed, with "How in hell do you suppose a man could sleep with such noise;" he was soon quieted by one on the inside of the room reiterating the same inquiry, and reminding the disturbed sleeper that if he would only put a stop to his deep snoring that he could sleep more soundly. Thus passed the night, and at the first appearance of light we hastened to pack up and vamoose the ranch, which we done, thanking heaven we were spared a repetition of the same. The next day's travel brought us to Cold Springs, where we fell in with an old California acquaintance, Mr. Chinn, who spoke in high terms of Reese, as he was returning from a visit to that country. We passed a quiet night, which repaid us for the inconveniences experienced on the night previous; next night brought us to Mount Airy, which is truly a delightful place and well named; here we found hay 16 cts. per lb.; barley 37 cts. per lb.; independent of these prices and aside therefrom we found everything cozy. At early dawn onward we went. After surmounting a height of several feet, we stopped to take a survey of the surrounding country. In front of us, as far as the imagination could reach, were broad plains, which "seemed joined to skies above." Situated in this plain, and some ten miles distant from the position we occupied, was Jacobsville—a beautiful place, containing some fifty houses, and one quartz mill, owned by G. D. Hall. The ascent to Austin, a distance of nine miles, was made without any material difficulty. Finding no accommodations in Austin, we descended the hill to Clifton, where we stopped, and after partaking of the hospitalities provided by Wm. Ross, the locator of Clifton, we took a tramp to look at town, and see the wonders of the new Eden, of which I will give my experience in my next.

Invigorate the System. Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal powers, which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and bring the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System. The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wanted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthful invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A Word to the Aged. In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. Dr. Guyssott's Improved

EXTRACT OF Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla Will Cure without Fail

Scrofula or King's Evil, Cancers, Tumors, Eruptions of the skin, Erysipelas, Chronic Sore Eyes, Ringworm or Tetter, Scald Head, Rheumatism, Pains in the Bones and Joints, Old Sores and Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Diseases of the Kidneys, Loss of Appetite, Discaas arising from the use of Mercury, Pain in the Side and Shoulder, General Debility, Dropsy, Jaundice, Lumbago, &c.

Dr. Guyssott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla put up in the largest sized bottles, contains more of the Honduras Sarsaparilla than any other preparation extant, which is combined with the extract of Yellow Dock, the extract of Wild Cherry and the Balsam of Fir, thus making the remedy more thoroughly efficient than any other Sarsaparilla before the public. At the same time it is perfectly free from ALL mineral poisons, which can not be said of any other of the Sarsaparilla compounds. The invalid should beware of poisons. Mercury, Iron, Quinine, Potash, Iodine, Sulphur, Arsenic, and many other mineral and metallic poisons enter into and form the active basis of most of the Sarsaparilla and panaceas of the day. Guyssott's Compound Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla does not contain a particle of the substances; as any one can ascertain by applying the necessary tests.

These poisons may occasionally remove disease, but they so vitiate the blood and impregnate the whole system with their baneful effects, that the first cold or the first attack of disease, prostrates the patient's strength and subjects him or her to the most excruciating torture, and renders another cure almost impossible and hopeless. Let all poisonous Sarsaparilla preparations alone, and use Guyssott's Improved Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla, which is thoroughly efficacious, perfectly harmless and purely vegetable. All kinds of diseases yield to its genial influence.

Caution.—Beware of counterfeits. All genuine Dr. Guyssott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla has the name of JOHN D. PARK, Present Proprietor, Cincinnati, O., on the label.

Remember this fact when buying, all without the name of "JOHN D. PARK, Cincinnati, Ohio," on the label are counterfeits. Sold by all Druggists. HOSTETTER, SMITH & DEAN, sole Agents for Pacific Coast, San Francisco.

THE Knight's Landing News.

COMING UP.—The reputation and interest in the Shasta county mines (Pittsburg and Cow Creek) are beginning to attract attention in the lower counties.—We understand that several parties from Cache Creek have invested quite largely this week, and that others are likely to follow suit. The original Williams & Killinger Company are now working fifteen hands night and day, and they have some of the most substantial business men in the State interested as stockholders who are bound to see the work pushed forward, and everything got ready for early spring operations.—Red Bluff Ind.

Mrs. Jane M. Pierce, wife of ex-President Pierce, died at Andover, Mass., December 2d. She had been in feeble health for several years.

PATENT COMBINED GANG PLOW,
SEED SOWER AND HARROW.
 We have purchased the right this great labor-saving implement for the State of California, and are having a number made in the Atlantic States for this market.
 With this combined Machine one man, with six horses, can do the work of three twelve inch plows, besides sowing the grain, and harrowing it in as he proceeds, thus finishing his work in the best manner possible, without being obliged to travel over the plowed ground. This Machine was very thoroughly tested by the farmers of Santa Clara county, where some eighty are now in use; also, by the Messrs. Hensel & Kethley, of this county, and Messrs. Hoppin Brothers, near Cacheville, Yolo county. It is made very substantial; is not liable to get out of order, and being on large truck wheels, the Gang Plow, Seed Sower and Harrow, runs lighter than three plows would, cutting the same amount of land.
 We are desirous of having these plows generally introduced throughout the State, and are therefore prepared to offer very favorable inducements to farmers and the trade. The following are some of the names of our customers who have used them for the past two seasons:
 Sacramento county—Hensel & Kethley.
 Yolo county—Hoppin Brothers, L M Curtis, Caleb Davis, C Travers, A J Scroggins.
 Sutter county—M Bouliware, A L Chandler.
