

HI-O-HI
1922

ALLEN COUNTY PUBLIC LIBRARY

3 1833 07101 2451

GC
977.102
OB2H,
1922

THE
HI · O · HI
VOLUME 32

PUBLISHED BY
THE CLASS OF 1922, OBERLIN COLLEGE
OBERLIN, OHIO

Copyright 1921 by Theodore Soller, - - Editor
Harry M. Will, Business Manager

CONTENTS

Dedication - - - - -	6
Introductory - - - - -	7

OBERLIN COLLEGE

Campus - - - - -	9
Administration - - - - -	25
Class of 1921 - - - - -	37
Phi Beta Kappa - - - - -	61
Class of 1922 - - - - -	63
Class of 1923 - - - - -	69
Class of 1924 - - - - -	73
Conservatory of Music - - - - -	79
Graduate School of Theology - - - - -	89
O. K. T. S. - - - - -	93

ORGANIZATIONS

Student Government - - - - -	95
Religious - - - - -	103
Literary - - - - -	111
Clubs - - - - -	125
Dramatics - - - - -	133
Musical - - - - -	137

ATHLETICS

Men's Athletics - - - - -	147
Women's Athletics - - - - -	199

LOOKIN' 'EM OVER

Representative Women - - - - -	219
Boarding Houses - - - - -	223
Jokes, Snaps and Ads - - - - -	269

JESSE FLOYD MACK

In token of our gratitude and sincere appreciation of him who has given freely of his time and effort in the interests of the college, and whose kindness and personal interest have made him especially dear to us, we, the class of nineteen twenty-two, lovingly dedicate this thirty-second volume of the Hi-O-Hi.

Introductory

ONCE AGAIN another volume of the Hi-O-Hi makes its appearance, and its pages are eagerly scanned in hopes of finding out just what has gone on within these fair portals during the last year. And then what happens to the illustrious volume? Is it to be placed high up on the shelf, to seek repose beneath the dust of ages? We hope not, and trust that you, dear Oberlinite, will oft have occasion to call it forth to tell you over and over again just what a grand year this 1920-1921 college year has been. This is the purpose of the Hi-O-Hi—to be a friend to you, both now and in later days, when the long miles shall keep you far from Oberlin, though your spirit longs to be back there.

When, as of old, the muse awoke on a bright September morning last fall, after a summer's nap 'neath the purple shades of the Arboretum, 'twas a new Oberlin she gazed upon. Gone were the khaki-clad lads, although some of the brave warriors who fought the battles on the plains of Oberlin had resurrected parts of the "olive drab"; gone were the sounds of the bugle from the porch of the Men's Building; yes, even those days had passed when one by one the noble warriors from an exhausted land came back to more pleasant duties. In its place the muse saw a new Oberlin, with throngs coming from far and near, anxious to obtain a larger and more comprehensive view of life and to receive that training which will help in the reconstruction and development of this war-stricken planet of ours. There also dawned a new future for Oberlin—with plans for an enlarged and beautified college which will be more capable to meet the needs of the youth of the land. And the muse was pleased, and as she took up her golden harp, the sweet low sound of mystic music flowed over the campus, and those whose hearts and ears were atune to the voices of the Gods heard the faint strains of the "Alma Mater."

But, let's get back to earth, and leaf through the pages as we go. Here you will find the faces of those you know, and perhaps, love; you will find them not once, but many times over, in all their moods. And the campus, in all its majestic splendor—the many organizations—the defenders of the Golden "O,"—our Oberlin homes, all parade by in silence, anxious to show you just how much you mean to them and they to you. Certainly you will find them interesting companions!

The correct translation of the word Hi-O-Hi, which is truly Oberlinanic in its origin, is, "a memory book of the most pleasant year spent within the portals of Oberlin,"—sort of short-hand, as it were. And this is the wish we would leave with you, that as time rolls by, you may find this thirty-second volume of the Hi-O-Hi an ever enlarging source of joy and of beautiful memories of the days long past when you yourselves were the proud citizens of that mystic wonderland called Oberlin.

COLLEGE

The Campus

OBERLIN'S CAMPUS—a sight that is familiar to us all, yet all too often unappreciated! In our hurrying to and from classes in our mad rush for that something called an education, we scarcely have time to really see our campus. The visitor, coming into this fair village by way of "the depot", wonders just what sort of a place this is, but when the long walk up Professor Street reveals at last the home of "Learning and Labor", he stops to look, and to admire, for Oberlin ranks high among American colleges in beauty as well as scholarship. Yet how seldom do we stop to consider this?

But it is there, in all its glory, constantly changing its appearance as the seasons roll by, yet always the same. Though winter and summer clothe it in different garb, Oberlin would be recognized where'er we might find it,—for Oberlin, in spite of our seeming indifference, has found a niche in the heart of every one of us. Though we may not express in poetic terms our love for its beauty, nevertheless, throughout the later years, we will feel deep within us a thrill whenever we see or recall the beautiful trees, the shaded walks, the vine-clad buildings, the broad expanse of the chapel, the restful quiet of the Art Building,—or, at another season of the year, the black outlines of the trees, jetted against the dazzling, snow-covered ground.

To keep this memory ever in the minds of every one of us is the purpose of the next few pages. We have tried to gather together a section which will be pleasing to the eye, together with a few paragraphs which will remind us of our days on the Oberlin Campus. May they meet with your approval!

FINNEY CHAPEL

Chapel

The Mecca to which we turn our faces at noon. According to our betters this is the dwelling place of the Oberlin Spirit. It is the promenading place of Music, Wit and Wisdom—yes, and some foolishness. Down deep in our hearts we have a sneaking love for you, Finney Chapel.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

Ad Building

Next, the Ad Building, where we go to have our tuition deferred, or to talk with the Dean about those flunk notices. No, we can't seem to love you; but we respect you, prim little building — and in awe creep by.

LIBRARY

Lib

The dear old Lib. The camera man lost some of the atmosphere by taking this picture by daylight. The co-educational charm is lacking; and though we can hear the swish of reference books, it is remote, like the whispering of far-off waters.

WARNER GYMNASIUM

Gym

Castle of the Golden "O"! Let down the drawbridge, Clyde; we are friends to this ground. Here live embattled Sport and robust Health; and some have said that the Oberlin Spirit haunts the place, rising now and again with a cry of "Ee-ah!" to terrify the stranger, and a "Hi-O-Hi" to drive him in rout from these walls.

CHEMICAL LABORATORY

Chem Lab

At the corner, Severance Lab. They set it off the Campus, fearing that some genius might brew something hitherto unknown, and unwittingly transplant our splendid College. Here we keep the Oberlin Spirit in a test tube. (Note the Bicycle and the Mail Box, our most characteristic institutions.)

PETERS HALL

Peters

Many a happy family would never have begun to exist but for the seven-minute rendezvous in Peters Court between classes. Here also, especially on the day before a game, the Oberlin Spirit rises with a shriek. It has the voice of a hundred men, and seems to issue from the old fireplace.

MEMORIAL ARCH

The Arch

You remember the Arch on those hot spring afternoons when the Lib was too stuffy, and the Arb too far away? Many a sore throat can be traced directly to those cold stones—and yet we mortals persist. Few of us in the old days thought of the real meaning of the Arch; but as life goes on, we have come to think of it as the finest representation of the Spirit of Oberlin.

CAMPUS SCENE

North Walk

How often have we strolled beneath these old elm trees, enjoying the cool evening breeze, or else, at another time of day, hurried beneath them in a mad rush to get to chapel before the final peal of the bell!

STURGES HALL

Sturges

The ivy of forgotten classes is still green here. It is like the friendships of forgotten days. Oh, Time is its own best healer, and recurring Spring will bring rich blessing of ivy to the poorest.

ART BUILDING

Art Building

Considerably off the Campus
—like a Poet's ivory tower.
It's all well enough to retire to seclusion in the afternoon for the contemplation of Beauty; but as he who sprints for an eight-o'clock thinks, Beauty before lunch should be nearer home.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Con

The House of a Thousand Pianos. To hear them all going at once, each in his separate pitch, key and composer makes one marvel how musicians come from such discord. Yet we are sure that musicians are made here, for have we not heard them play under more favorable circumstances?

MEN'S BUILDING

M. B.

How many are the Statesmen, Financiers, Poets that harbor now within these gray walls—and perhaps stride up and down Anarchy Alley? See that group of three with faces intent over a scrap of note paper! Who knows but that is the plan which some day will free the world from a bondage of misery?

TALCOTT HALL

Talcott

Alas, the Talcott Tree is no more! And what used to be called Ladies' Hall is ladies' hall in real earnest now. But in the days when men were tolerated, we remember the happy Sundays about the blazing hearth; how one sang and another read, and we all seemed a big family at home again.

BALDWIN COTTAGE

Baldwin

"Oft in the stilly night—", remember how we used to shiver in, just too late for grace? Remember how bright the setting moon was, and how the hard snow creaked under foot? Here we danced in Spring around the May Pole, and battled at all seasons for Priscilla, and on an evening sat with heart palpitating in the cosy corner under the stairs!

40 SOUTH PROFESSOR STREET

40 S. Prof.

This little building behind the big bush is a sort of first cousin to the Ad Building. More people know good things about Oberlin through the offices of this building than through the Secretary's Office. For here lives the "Hi-O-Hi."

Administration

ADMINISTRATION includes the different authoritative bodies of the college. The Trustees, of whom the students know comparatively little, though an important part of our government, determine the policy of the college, and decide many varied matters of business. This year an extensive plan for the future Oberlin was voted on.

The faculty! They are not far away or distant, but rather close to the student life of every day. Hampered somewhat by large classes they are unable in many cases to get personally in touch with all their pupils, but through several channels an acquaintanceship is furthered. In addition to conducting the chapel services, in turn, during the year, they give invaluable aid to the student body in the capacity of general and major advisors.

This year we were brought to recognize in still greater measure the achievements of our President. In awarding him the medal of the Legion of Honor, the government of France showed its appreciation of his services.

The untiring services of our deans seem often not to be fully appreciated. They listen patiently to the tales of "why I missed the class", or "why I was tardy last Tuesday morning," and are indeed lenient in forgiving offenses. And with what a feeling of satisfaction and sense of fair treatment we leave the Administration Building after having had a schedule changed!

Henry Churchill King, LL.D.

President King

PRESIDENT KING is in a true sense a citizen of the world. Few of us in Oberlin, absorbed as we are in our round of tasks, can appreciate at how many and various points he touches the life of our time. We know something of the constructive religious and political work he did in Europe and Western Asia during his sabbatical year 1918-1919—work which led John R. Mott to call him a religious statesman of the first order, and the recognition accorded it by the French government in bestowing upon him last December the coveted order of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor; but we scarcely comprehend how largely world problems bulk in his interests and thinking during any ordinary day here at home. He is chairman or member of half a dozen councils and committees who are championing international and world movements, and his judgment and advice are sought by numerous other national and international organizations.

Through his numerous addresses, too, he is touching the leaders of thought and action throughout the country. During the past year he has given more than a hundred addresses and sermons, not to mention the chapel talks and lectures before his Sunday morning Bible Class here in Oberlin. He has attended during the same time over a score of meetings of national and international religious and educational committees and associations. As some one has suggested, he does the work of four men. First, he is president of a great and growing college and is serving that college with rare distinction. During his presidency the scholastic standards of the college have risen and the resources been greatly increased; in a word, the college has risen from a struggling institution to a place of rank among the first colleges of the country. Beyond this, he has still larger plans for the Oberlin of the future, as evidenced in his report to the trustees last fall and given in outline before the students and faculty in chapel. These plans call for an extensive building campaign, for added equipment and library facilities, for increased teaching force, for greater opportunities for research, and for a thoroughly equipped technical school. What college is being served more largely and wisely? Second, he teaches as many hours as many professors in large universities and who would say not effectively! Few lyceum lecturers give more addresses in a year than President King, and, not least, he writes as voluminously and effectively as most men who give their whole time to writing.

This scholar and world citizen, who, as a great educator recently said, would be an ornament to any university in the world, this protagonist of the sacredness of personality and of the supremacy of friendship, is our president and may become our spiritual adviser and friend. What greater boon could come to an aspiring youth!

Jesse F. Mack.

The Board of Trustees of Oberlin College

WHEN what is now called Oberlin College was founded in 1833, there was formed a board of nine men, called "The Board of Trustees of the Oberlin Collegiate Institute," who were to be the governing body of the institution. This Board of Trustees proved its usefulness and efficiency, and by constant effort helped bring the Institution out of its infancy to the Oberlin College to which it has grown. The name "Oberlin College" was adopted in 1850, and in 1889 the Board of Trustees was increased to consist of twenty-five members, the President of the College being ex-officio a member and President of the Board. Four members of the Board are elected every year to serve for six years. Of these, three are elected by the Board itself, and one is elected by a general ballot of the alumni of all departments.

In the Board of Trustees is vested the whole government of the college, and it is largely through its excellent judgment and constant efforts that Oberlin has come to be what it is. However, the policy of the Board has not been one of high-handed management of all college affairs. There has been a steady cooperation between the faculty and the Board, which has resulted in an institution whose standards of education and efficiency of management are among the best in the country.

The outstanding action of the Board of Trustees at their annual meeting on November 14, 1919, was the adoption of the recommendation of the President and of the General Faculty, that the salaries of the members of the Faculty be increased fifty per cent to date from September 1, 1919. Plans were also made at this time for a reorganization of the Alumni Association. At the next annual meeting of the Board, on November 12, 1920, a more definite form was given to the plans for the "Future Oberlin" than has ever before been attempted. At this meeting, President King, in his annual report, outlined in very definite terms the needs of the College, including endowment, buildings, lands, and plans for a technical school. He forecast the natural lines of growth of the college, and has given us a plan, which, if followed out, will make the Oberlin of the Future even a grander school than it is at present. President King says: "There is no attempt here to provide for a university, but to provide adequately for the finest quality of work in the departments already in existence; to allow for growth in the opportunities offered and in the numbers served; and to suggest one additional School." May we live to see this Greater Oberlin blossom forth in all its glory!

Board of Trustees

HENRY CHURCHILL KING, D.D., LL.D., L.H.D., President

Term expires January 1, 1922

Robert E. Brown	Waterbury, Conn.
Harriet L. Keeler, ¹ LL.D.	Oberlin, Ohio
William P. Palmer	Cleveland, Ohio
Henry M. Tenney, D.D.	Lakewood, Ohio

Term expires January 1, 1923

Theodore E. Burton, ¹ LL.D.	Washington, D. C.
E. Dana Durand, Ph.D.	Minneapolis, Minn.
Charles B. Shedd	Chicago, Ill.
Lucien T. Warner	Bridgeport, Conn.

Term expires January 1, 1924

Alexander Hadden, LL.D.	Cleveland, Ohio
Homer H. Johnson	Cleveland, Ohio
Charles H. Kirshner	Kansas City, Mo.
Robert A. Millikan, ¹ Sc.D.	Chicago, Ill.

Term expires January 1, 1925

Clayton K. Fauver	New York, N. Y.
Amos B. McNairy	Cleveland, Ohio
John L. Severance	Cleveland, Ohio
Lucien C. Warner, ¹ LL.D.	New York, N. Y.

Term expires January 1, 1926

William C. Cochran	Cincinnati, Ohio
Irving W. Metcalf ¹	Oberlin, Ohio
George B. Siddall	Cleveland, Ohio
Merritt Starr	Chicago, Ill.

Term expires January 1, 1927

Dan F. Bradley, ¹ D.D.	Cleveland, Ohio
Thomas Henderson	Oberlin, Ohio
Amos C. Miller	Chicago, Ill.
John H. Rogers	Brooklyn, N. Y.

¹Elected by the Alumni.

Harriet Louise Keeler

Hubert C. Herring, D.D.

HARRIET LOUISE KEELER, '70

Died February 12, 1921

"An independent student and thinker, alert and active-minded to the end; a persistent advocate of suffrage; a brilliant, stimulating teacher, who built her life into a great host of lives, was Harriet Keeler. In her writing she proved herself a most careful and helpful guide and interpreter, in the study of nature, enlarging many lives at this point. Cleveland showed its faith in her ability as an administrator, in electing her Superintendent of Public Schools in her sixty-sixth year. She was the only woman so honored. A generous friend and supporter of the College * * * * * it would certainly be unfitting that her death should go unnoticed by the College, of which she was so honored a graduate and Trustee."

—President King, Chapel Address, February 17, 1921.

HUBERT C. HERRING, D.D.

Died August 6, 1920

"In the sudden death of Dr. Hubert C. Herring the College has lost one of its most loyal and influential friends, and the Board of Trustees one of its wisest and most faithful members. Dr. Herring had not been a member with us long, but for many years his interest had turned in the direction of Oberlin, his sons received their training here, and as a conspicuous leader in all recent important religious movements he counted upon Oberlin's influence and power for good.

Dr. Herring's skillful hand had been felt for a generation not only in the development of Congregationalism east and west, but also in the steady rapprochement of the great Protestant bodies, and his charity, urbanity, wise counsel and personal distinction had carried through many a difficult and notable project of far-reaching value. And he will long be remembered by the churches he served so well, and by the strong men associated with him in the religious progress of the nation, as a true prophet and a modest follower of the Master."

The College Administration for the Year 1920-1921

President—Henry Churchill King.

Assistant to the President—W. Frederick Bohn.

Secretary to the President—Miss Mary L. Fowler.

Treasurer—Hiram B. Thurston.

Secretary, Clerk of the Faculty—George M. Jones.

Assistant Secretary—John E. Wirkler.

Librarian—Azariah S. Root.

Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds and General Engineer—Arthur Dufty.

Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences—Charles N. Cole.

Dean of College Men—Carl C. W. Nicol.

Dean of College Women—Miss Anna M. Klingenhagen.

Registrar of the College of Arts and Sciences—Miss F. Isabel Wolcott.

Secretary of the Bureau of Appointments—Edward S. Jones.

Senior Dean of the Graduate School of Theology—Edward I. Bosworth.

Junior Dean of the Graduate School of Theology—G. Walter Fiske.

Director of the Conservatory of Music—Charles W. Morrison.

Dean of Conservatory Women—Miss Frances G. Nash.

Director of the Men's Gymnasium and of the Teachers' Course in Physical Education for Men—Dr. Fred E. Leonard.

Director of the Women's Gymnasium and of the Teachers' Course in Physical Education for Women—Dr. Helen F. Cochran.

Director of Athletics—C. Winfred Savage.

Recreational Director—Mrs. Ellen B. Hatch.

Director of the Art Museum—Clarence Ward.

The College of Arts and Sciences

The Faculty

Astronomy

F. Easton Carr, A.M. Instructor

Bible and Christian Religion

President Henry Churchill King, D.D., LL.D., L.H.D. . . . Professor

*Edward Increase Bosworth, D.D. . . . Professor

Miss Florence Mary Fitch, Ph.D. . . . Professor

Thomas Wesley Graham, D.D. . . . Professor

Bibliography

Azariah Smith Root, A.M. . . . Professor

Botany

Frederick Orville Grover, A.M. . . . Professor

Robert Allyn Budington, A.M. . . . Professor

Miss Susan Percival Nichols, Ph.D. . . . Associate Professor

Miss Bertha Evangeline Bails, A.B. . . . Assistant

Chemistry

Harry Nichols Holmes, Ph.D. . . . Professor

William Henry Chapin, Ph.D. . . . Associate Professor

James Caldwell McCullough, S.M. . . . Associate Professor

Edwin Hill Cox, S.M. . . . Assistant Professor

Miss Gertrude Williams, S.M. . . . Assistant

Economics

Harley Leist Lutz, Ph.D. . . . Professor

Miss Hazel Kyrk, Ph.B. . . . Assistant Professor

Leonard Bayliss Krueger, Ph. D. . . . Assistant Professor

Education

Edward Alanson Miller, Ph.D. . . . Professor

English

Charles Henry Adams Wager, Litt.D. . . . Professor

Philip Darrell Sherman, A.M. . . . Associate Professor

Robert Archibald Jelliffe, A.M. . . . Associate Professor

Arthur Irving Taft, Ph.D. . . . Assistant Professor

Jesse Floyd Mack, A.M. . . . Assistant Professor

Davis Edwards, Ph.B. . . . Assistant Professor

Miss Edna Louise Brownback, A.M. . . . Instructor

Miss Florence Livingston Joy, A.M. . . . Instructor

Mrs. Ruth Murdock Lampson, A.M. . . . Instructor

Chester Forrester Dunham, Ph.B., D.B. . . . Instructor

Fine Arts

Clarence Ward, Ph.D.	Professor
Charles Beebe Martin, A.M.	Professor
Louis Eleazer Lord, Ph.D.	Professor
Miss Eva May Oakes	Associate Professor
Miss Edith Edna Kelsey	Instructor
Miss Dorothy Ellsworth Birkmayr, A.M.	Assistant

French

Russell Parsons Jameson, D. en L.	Professor
Kirke Lionel Cowdery, A.B.	Associate Professor
Edwin Lathrop Baker, A.M.	Assistant Professor
John Bellows DeForest, Ph.D.	Assistant Professor
Herman H. Thornton, A.B.	Assistant Professor
Mrs. Mary Taylor Cowdery, A.M.	Instructor
Miss Cora Letitia Swift, A.M.	Instructor
Mrs. Katherine Marcy Heacox, A.B.	Instructor

Geology

George David Hubbard, Ph.D.	Professor
Ernest Rice Smith, A.B.	Acting Assistant Professor

German

Miss Arletta Maria Abbott, A.M.	Professor
---------------------------------	-----------

Greek

Charles Beebe Martin, A.M.	Professor
Louis Eleazer Lord, Ph.D.	Professor
Leigh Alexander, Ph.D.	Assistant Professor

Hebrew

Kemper Fullerton, A.M.	Professor
------------------------	-----------

History

David Richard Moore, Ph.D.	Professor
Louis Eleazer Lord, Ph.D.	Professor
Miss Anna Marie Klingenhagen, Ph.M.	Professor
Leigh Alexander, Ph.D.	Assistant Professor
Harold Lee King, Ph.D.	Assistant Professor

Hygiene

Fred Eugene Leonard, A.M., M.D.	Professor
Thomas Nelson Metcalf, A.M.	Associate Professor

Italian

Edwin Lathrop Baker, A.M.	Assistant Professor
---------------------------	---------------------

Latin

Louis Eleazer Lord, Ph.D.	Professor
Charles Nelson Cole, Ph.D.	Professor
Charles Beebe Martin, A.M.	Professor
Leigh Alexander, Ph.D.	Assistant Professor
Wilbert Lester Carr, A.M.	Assistant Professor
Mrs. Antionette Harroun	Instructor

Mathematics

William DeWeese Cairns, Ph.D.	Professor
Miss Mary Emily Sinclair, Ph.D.	Associate Professor
F. Easton Carr, A.M.	Instructor
Bernard Francis Dostal, A.M.	Instructor

Music

George Whitfield Andrews, Mus. D.	Professor
Edward Dickinson, A.M., Litt. D.	Professor
Arthur Edward Heacox, Mus. B.	Professor
Friedrich Johann Lehmann	Professor
Karl Wilson Gehrken, A.M.	Professor
Miss Gladys Ferry Moore, Mus. B.	Instructor
Harold David Smith, A.B., Mus. B.	Instructor
Miss Lydia Belle Brown, Mus. B.	Instructor

Oratory

Davis Edwards, Ph.B.	Assistant Professor
-------------------------	---------------------

Philosophy

Simon Fraser MacLennan, Ph.D.	Professor
Carl Conrad Wernle Nicol, Ph.D.	Associate Professor
Miss Ethel May Kitch, Ph.D.	Associate Professor

Physical Education

Fred Eugene Leonard, A.M., M.D.	Professor
Charles Winfred Savage, A.M.	Professor
Miss Helen Finney Cochran, A.B., M.D.	Professor
Thomas Nelson Metcalf, A.M.	Associate Professor
Louis Finley Keller, A.B.	Assistant Professor
Mrs. Ellen Birdseye Hatch, A.M.	Instructor
Miss Mable Carolyn Eldred, A.B.	Instructor
Miss Grace Bruner Daviess, A.M.	Instructor
Warren Edward Steller, A.B.	Instructor
Miss Barbara Wellington, A.B.	Instructor
Miss Florence Agnes Somers	Instructor
Miss Mary Irene Dick, A.B.	Assistant

Physics

Samuel Robinson Williams, Ph.D.	Professor
Otto Koppius, Ph.D.	Assistant Professor

Political Science

Karl Frederick Geiser, Ph.D.	Professor
------------------------------	-----------

Psychology

Raymond Herbert Stetson, Ph.D.	Professor
Carl Conrad Wernle Nicol, Ph.D.	Associate Professor
Edward Safford Jones, Ph.D.	Assistant Professor

Sociology

Herbert Adolphus Miller, Ph.D.	Professor
--------------------------------	-----------

Spanish

Edwin Lathrop Baker, A.M. - - - - - Assistant Professor
John Bellows De Forest, Ph.D. - - - - - Assistant Professor

Zoology

Robert Allyn Budington, A.M. - - - - - Professor
Charles Gardner Rogers, Ph.D. - - - - - Professor Lynds Jones, Ph.D. - - - - - Associate Professor
Robert Stanley McEwen, Ph.D. - - - - - Assistant Professor

Emeritus Professors and Associate Professors

George Frederick Wright, D.D., LL.D., Professor of the Harmony of Science and Révelation.
Albert Henry Currier, D.D., Professor of Sacred Rhetoric and Practical Theology.
Frank Fanning Jewett, A.M., Professor of Chemistry and Mineralogy.
John Fisher Peck, A.M., Principal of Oberlin Academy, Associate Professor of Greek.
Albert Temple Swing, D.D., Professor of Church History.
John Roaf Wightman, Ph.D., Professor of the Romance Languages and Literatures.
Frederick Anderegg, A.M., Professor of Mathematics.
Miss Delphine Hanna, A.M., M.D., Professor of Physical Education.
John Taylor Shaw, A.M., Associate Professor of Latin.
Miss Frances Juliette Hosford, A.M., Associate Professor of Latin.

Memorial Arch

Class of 1921

IT IS with true reluctance that the members of the class of 1921 turn their backs on all that college days have meant in friendship, intellectual growth, and hearty recreation. But as the commencement time approaches, there comes a deep realization of the significance of that term: it is indeed just a beginning, a beginning fraught with many possibilities for largeness and richness of life. And it is from Oberlin's doors we go! Who of us does not hold up his head a little higher, face the world a little more squarely and courageously at the thought?

These four years have meant so much to each one of us. Perhaps no other student generation has been privileged to see her Alma Mater wearing so many different faces. She has been an army camp, during long, restless months when it was hard merely to stand by; she has been a gala scene of rejoicing and welcome, as some of her boys came back from sterner duties, with new vigor and resolve. Changes there have been in her student life, indicative of that fine breadth of view which has kept her ever abreast of the times.

Standing firmly together through it all, the class of 1921 has profited by each fresh experience, and strengthened the ties of staunch fellowship. Its history shows closely written pages, for its members have been active in every possible phase of college life, contributing in leadership, and gaining in whole-hearted enjoyment. It will be useless to attempt any enumeration of the most notable events, for as we turn the pages so many are underscored in red that it bewilders us. However, long after football games and Proms have faded from our memory, our hearts will glow with that intangible but living fire we like to call the "Oberlin Spirit."

We are proud of our Alma Mater. We are grateful for the years spent under the loving guidance of her hand. May we be true to her loftiest ideals, carrying her clear vision, her spirit of great-heartedness into whatever we may do!

Senior Class Officers

Carroll H. Browning	-----	President
Margaret Wilder	-----	Vice-President
Corinne Evans	-----	Secretary
G. Whitfield Andrews, Jr.	-----	Treasurer
Charles Howard Adams, II	-----	Social Chairman
Eleanor Dinwiddie	-----	Social Chairman

Charles Howard Adams, II,
Lakewood, Ohio.
Economics.

Robert Dana Walden Adams,
Warren, Pa.
Music.

Ruth Ann Aigler,
Bellevue, Ohio.
Physical Education.

Thomas McCauley Anderson,
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Economics.

Gertrude Elizabeth Andress,
Norfolk, Nebraska.
Economics.

G. Whitfield Andrews, Jr.
Oberlin, Ohio.
Economics.

Paul Joseph Appell,
Sandusky, Ohio.
Economics.

Grace Emily Arnold,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Physical Education.

Mary Elizabeth Arnold,
Takoma Park, D. C.
History.

Ruby Louise Atkinson,
Oberlin, Ohio.
English.

Mildred Suvell Avery,
Lakewood, Ohio.
French.

James Sterling Ayers,
Piqua, Ohio.
History.

R. Hortense Badger,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Latin.

Lydia Briggs Baldwin,
Princeton, Ill.
History.

Margery Evelyn Ballantine,
Warsaw, N. Y.
English Literature.

Margaret Barnard,
Lansdown, Pa.
Economics.

Robert Merrill Bartlett,
Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.
Philosophy.

Geraldine Beard,
Fochow, China.
Economics.

Harold Chatfield Beard,
Shelton, Conn.
Chemistry.

Glenn Harrison Benton,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Education.

Mary Louise Black,
Grand Forks, N. D.
English Literature.

Mildred Margaret Blair,
Mansfield, Ohio.
English Literature.

Ernest Wynne Boyden,
Medina, Ohio.
Chemistry.

Dan Theodore Bradley,
Cleveland, Ohio.
Chemistry.

Theodore Folger Braman,
Elyria, Ohio.
Economics.

Harriet Gertrude Bray,
Saginaw, Mich.
Geology.

Jessie Gertrude Bridgwater,
Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.
English Literature.

Carroll Hotchkiss Browning,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Pre-Medical.

Edith Louise Buehler,
Oak Park, Ill.
English Literature.

Kenneth Chandler Bunker,
Oberlin, Ohio.
History.

Lee Gregory Burneson,
Mansfield, Ohio.
Economics.

Samuel Thompson Burns,
New Castle, Pa.
Public School Music.

Alice Brandon Caldwell,
Smyrna, Turkey.
Music.

Alexander Sidney Carlson,
Western Springs, Ill.
Pre-Medical.

Eunice Irene Caulkins,
Kankakee, Ill.
Psychology.

Ping Hai Chai,
Peking, China.
Sociology.

Elmina Dickinson Chatfield,
Littleton, Colorado.
Psychology.

Ke Ming Chen,
Peking, China.
History.

Alice Child,
Oberlin, Ohio.
English Literature.

Wilson Jerome Clark,
Cleveland Heights, Ohio.
Economics.

Irene Clay,
Perrysburg, Ohio.
French.

Thomas Joseph Cornelius,
Bangalore, South India.
Economics.

Dorothy Gray Crane,
Washington, D. C.
Zoology.

Ruth Havergal Creighton,
Kankakee, Ill.
English Literature.

Robert James Crossen,
St. Louis, Mo.
Pre-Medical.

Gorden Ayres Curtis,
Upper Montclair, N. Y.
Economics.

Helen Evelyn Davies,
Detroit, Mich.
Philosophy.

Ruth Florence Dawson,
Akron, Ohio.
English Literature.

Flora Belle Day,
Orwell, Ohio.
History.

Florence Elizabeth Demo,
Blue Earth, Minn.
Music.

Mary Elizabeth Dewitt,
Port Clinton, Ohio.
Physical Education.

Helen Katherine Dexter,
Dubuque, Iowa.
Physical Education.

Melvin Adam Dietrich,
Kutztown, Pa.
Chemistry.

Eleanor Dinwiddie,
Crown Point, Indiana.
French.

Hazel Muriel Doolittle,
Watertown, Conn.
Physical Education.

Anna Elizabeth Earl,
Norwalk, Ohio.
Psychology.

Helen Kramer Eimert,
Philadelphia, Pa.
Zoology.

Corinne Phoebe Evans,
East Cleveland, Ohio.
Zoology.

Catherine Elizabeth Fauver,
Lorain, Ohio.
Music.

James William Fifield,
Kansas City, Mo.
Philosophy and Economics.

Elsie Harriett Fletcher,
Elgin, Ill.
English Literature.

Gladys Elizabeth Foltz,
Salem, Ohio.
Latin.

M. W. Fowell,
Elyria, Ohio.
Economics.

Mary Agnes Fraser,
Wellsville, Ohio.
History.

Ruth Paton Glass,
Riverside, Ill.
Physical Education.

Helen Muriel Goodell,
Louisville, Ky.
English Literature.

Willard John Graber,
Hutchinson, Kansas.
History.

Margaret Tompkins Grant,
Lorain, Ohio.
Philosophy.

Helen Gertrude Gray,
Washington, D. C.
Sociology.

Thelma Mildred Gray,
Fostoria, Ohio.
Ecology.

Ina Munson Green,
Kerhonkson, N. Y.
Physical Education.

Horace Charrett Greensmith,
Indianapolis, Ind.
Zoology.

L. Kennette Griffith,
Kittanning, Pa.
French.

Helen Pearle Groves,
Sliver Creek, N. Y.
Physical Education.

Mary Elizabeth Hamilton,
Omaha, Nebraska.
English Literature.

Luther Paul Harsh,
Allison Park, Pa.
Pre-Medical.

Ezra Thomas Hazeltine,
South Bend, Wash.
Geology.

Horace Van Norman Hilberry,
Steubenville, Ohio.
Physics.

Jessie Hill,
Oberlin, Ohio.
English Literature.

William Horace Hinman,
Lyndonville, Vt.
Economics.

Olive Lucile Hodges,
Prairie Depot, Ohio.
English Literature.

Catherine Virginia Hornung,
Gibsonburg, Ohio.
English Literature.

Burton Cornelius Houseman,
Findlay, Ohio.
Pre-Medical.

Florence Fay Housley,
Canton, Ohio.
English Literature.

George Earle Hubbard,
Miltonvale, Kansas.
Public School Music.

Maud Elizabeth Hunt,
Vermontville, Mich.
English Literature.

Ralph Theodore Huntley,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Political Science.

Leland Charles Hutchinson,
Columbia Station, Ohio.
Economics.

Mildred Ingersall,
South Dayton, N. Y.
History.

Carol Elizabeth Jenson,
Mt. Pleasant, Utah.
Ecology.

Raymond Wright Johnson,
Stillman Valley, Ill.
Chemistry.

Lydia Harriet Jones,
Beaver Dams, N. Y.
Philosophy.

Hampartsoom S. Kaloyan,
Divrig, Armenia.
Mathematics.

Robert Clifford Kaufman,
Massillon, Ohio.
History.

Laura Isabella Keck,
Kutztown, Pa.
Latin.

Andrew Mac Keep,
Albion, Pa.
Economics.

Mary Rena Kellogg,
Morenci, Mich.
English Literature.

Marian Nellie Kemble,
Titusville, Pa.
Physical Education.

Ella Mae Kennedy,
Xenia, Ohio.
Botany.

Genevieve Martha Kent,
Chagrin Falls, Ohio.
Sociology.

Gerald Rutherford Kinnear,
Foochow, China.
Sociology.

Raymond E. Knesal,
Petersburg, Ohio.
History.

Mary Kathryn Knowlton,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Chemistry.

John Koh-nie Kuh,
Honolulu, Hawaii.
Music.

Carroll Pollock Lahman,
Franklin Grove, Ill.
English Literature.

Althea D. Lamb,
Cadillac, Mich.
French.

Esther Lucille Lang,
Worthington, Ohio.
English Literature.

Robert Tucker Lansdale,
Rochester, N. Y.
English Literature.

Jean Clair Larson,
Ottawa, Ill.
Zoology.

Charles Wesley Lauthers,
Bucyrus, Ohio.
Economics.

Ruth Crosby Lazenby,
Dundee, N. Y.
French.

Shih-Fang Liu,
Shanghai, China.
Political Science.

Wellington Yu-Wau Liu,
Schang, China.
Political Science.

Alice Lorena Lockwood,
Chamberlain, So. Dak.
Fine Arts.

Arthur William Loy,
Grand View, Tenn.
Physical Education.

Naomi Ludwig,
Findlay, Ohio.
Chemistry.

Wilma Ludwig,
Findlay, Ohio
French.

Helen Mary Luethi,
Key West, Florida.
Economics.

Eleanor Ruth Lyons,
Lorain, Ohio.
Physical Education.

Amelia McAuslan,
Holyoke Mass.,
Sociology.

Gladys Myrtle McCarty,
Nashua, N. H.
Sociology.

Ruth McCollum,
Oak Park, Ill.
Pre-Medical.

James Stanton McLaughlin,
Sandpoint, Idaho.
English Literature.

Mary Etta McMenemy,
Manchester, Conn.
Physical Education.

Otto F. Mathiasen,
Berkeley, Cal.
Psychology.

Harlan Goldsbury Metcalf,
Madison, Ohio.
Physical Education.

Mavis Winona Mitchell,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Physical Education.

Dorothy Mayer,
Sharon, Vt.
English Literature.

Raymond Tyson Moyer,
Lansdale, Pa.
Pre-Medical.

King-Chau Mui,
Canton, China.
Sociology.

Julia Alameda Mull,
Copley, Ohio.
English Literature.

Louie Lloyd Myers,
Oberlin, Ohio.
English Literature.

Kathryn Eyre Nauman,
Circleville, Ohio.
History.

Glenway Warren Nethercut,
Wauwatosa, Wis.
Pre-Medical.

Edwin Earle Newsom,
Morning Sun, Iowa.
English Literature.

Francis Ward Newsom,
Morning Sun, Iowa.
English Literature.

Ella Dorothea Nielson,
Elyria, Ohio.
French.

Fred Williams Norfleet,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Chemistry.

George Everett Norton,
Niagara Falls, N. Y.
Chemistry.

Harriet May Norton,
Toulon, Ill.
Sociology.

Paul Thomas Nutting,
Cleveland, Ohio.
Economics.

Cordelia Catherine Oberly,
Scottsdale, Pa.
Chemistry.

Frances Mildred Olney,
Minneapolis, Minn.
Sociology.

Florence Elizabeth Pancoast,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Chemistry.

Ruth Gladys Parsons,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Physical Education.

Wallace Taylor Partch,
Greenacres, Wash.
Pre-Medical.

Eva Marie Pauly,
Lorain, Ohio.
History.

Mary Critchell Post,
Grand View, Tenn.
French.

Elizabeth Rose Poucher,
Pioneer, Ohio.
Sociology.

H. A. Holden Pray,
Dayton, Ohio.
Chemistry.

Ruth Willis Pray, Dayton, Ohio. Philosophy.	Cora Janette Randall, Russell, Pa. Pre-Medical.	Elma Krehbiel Ringelman, Geary, Oklahoma. Education.
Genevieve Price, Chicago, Ill. Zoology.	Mary Alice Reese, Oberlin, Ohio. Chemistry.	Josephine Elizabeth Roberts, Sharon, Pa. English Literature.
Marie Luella Radcliff, Pierceton, Ind. English Literature.	Frank Goodrich Rice, Amherst, Ohio. Economics.	Hazel Dorothy Robinson, Worcester, Mass. Sociology.
	Elda Krehbiel Ringelman, Geary, Oklahoma. Education.

Josepha Anna Rodenberg,
New Rockford, N. Dak.
Latin.

John Harold Rossiter,
Guilford, Conn.
Education.

Vilma Rottenstein,
Toledo, Ohio.
Mathematics.

Gladys Jeanette Rowley,
Victor, N. Y.
English Literature.

Max Rommel Ryan,
Coffeyville, Kans.
Physics.

John Thomas Salter,
Three Oaks, Mich.
Political Science.

Laura Margaretta Schleman,
Berea, Ohio.
English Literature.

Marvin Jacob Schmitt,
Moundridge, Kans.
Music.

Mary Elizabeth Schroeder,
Erie, Pa.
English Literature.

Helen Mildred Scroggins,
New Haven, Conn.
French.

Herman Eastman Seemann,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Physics.

George Dewey Shaaber,
Reading, Pa.
Chemistry.

Esther Harriett Shelton,
Wakeman, Ohio.
Zoology.

Margaret Alice Sill,
Ashtabula, Ohio.
French.

Donald Little Simpson,
Cleveland, Ohio.
Physics.

Mary Balliet Sitler,
Mauch Chunk, Pa.
History.

Marguerite DeVane Smith,
Binghamton, N. Y.
Sociology.

Ethyl Mildred Snyder,
Elyria, Ohio.
Latin.

Lily Amabelle Soo-Hoo,
Berkeley, Cal.
Pre-Medical.

Clara Belle Spade,
Warren, Pa.
English Literature.

Alton R. Stevens,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Physical Education.

Doris Stiles,
North Woodstock, N. H.
English Literature.

Sylvia Harris Sullivan,
Battle Creek, Mich.
Botany.

Helen Elna Swanson,
Toledo, Ohio.
English Literature.

Gertude Wallace Syme,
Long Island City, N. Y.
Physical Education.

Esther Virginia Taber,
Toledo, Ohio.
French.

Juliette Tassart,
Paris, France.
English Literature.

Charlotte A. Taylor,
New Castle, Pa.
English Literature.

Leon Wyclyfe Taylor,
Lexington, Ky.
European History.

Malcolm Dean Taylor,
Kinsman, Ohio.
English Literature.

Luella Belle Thompson,
 Coming, N. Y.
 Latin.

Sukekazu Torii,
 Kobe, Japan.
 English Literature.

Dortha Marie Tuck,
 Oberlin, Ohio.
 English Literature.

Alice Edna Tucker,
 Washington, D. C.
 Public School Music.

Jocelyn Tyler,
 Detroit, Mich.
 Zoology.

Lois Hall Van Raalte,
 Cleveland, Ohio.
 English Literature.

Marion Henry Veazey,
 Avilla, Ind.
 Chemistry.

Christine Louella Vickery,
 Bellevue, Ohio.
 French.

Grace Mary Vining,
 White Plains, N. Y.
 Theory of Music.

Marian Elizabeth Warren,
 Painesville, Ohio.
 Physics.

Arthur Albert Wedel,
Moundridge, Kan.
Education.

Ivan Robert Welty,
Fort Wayne, Ind.
English Literature.

Margaret Wilder,
Oberlin, Ohio.
English Literature.

Harold North Williams,
Chinook, Mont.
Political Science.

Helen Williams,
Galion, Ohio.
Mathematics.

Laurabell Katherine Williams,
Girard, Ohio.
English Literature.

Margaret Williams,
Wooster, Ohio.
French.

H. Van Rensselaer Wilson,
South Haven, Mich.
Philosophy.

Wallace Ousley Winslow,
Chicago, Ill.
Pre-Medical.

Florence Emma Wisterman,
Galion, Ohio.
History.

Priscilla Wolfe,
Neligh, Neb.
English Literature.

Augustus Diu Wong,
Canton, China.
Chemistry.

Herman Williamson Woods,
Centerville, Ohio.
Mathematics.

Frances Lydia Yocom,
Oberlin, Ohio.
English Literature.

Elizabeth Hugh Zachry,
New York, N. Y.
History of Art.

Stella Crane Zekind,
St. Joseph, Mich.
Physical Education.

Phi Beta Kappa

Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest Greek letter society, was founded at the College of William and Mary in the first year of the independence of the United States, December 5, 1776. The Oberlin Chapter, the sixth in Ohio, was organized in 1907.

The motto of the Society is "Philosophy, the Guide of Life", and from the outset its purpose has been to promote among college students an enthusiasm for knowledge, a passion for learning, a longing to make wisdom the mistress of action and the "guide of life."

It has thus become the custom in those colleges which are fortunate enough to have chapters of Phi Beta Kappa to elect to membership in this "Societas Philosophiae" only those who have attained high academic distinction. In most of the societies, as at Oberlin, this is the only criterion of choice. Those then who have achieved this honor may well feel that they have been successful in securing the best thing which the College has to offer; for, "Wisdom is the principal thing, therefore get wisdom; and with all thy getting, get understanding. Exalt her and she shall promote thee; she shall bring thee to honor when thou hast embraced her."

Officers, 1920-1921

Professor Louis E. Lord	- - - - -	President
Miss Mary E. Sinclair	- - - - -	Vice-President
Professor Kirke L. Cowdery	-	Secretary-Treasurer

Elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa from the Oberlin College
Class of 1920:

Lottie May Bose	Gretchen Marie Katherine Henninger
Mildred Josephine Brigham	Mildred Allie Morris
Helen Laura Carter	Frank Edward Morse
William Clark Child	Vivian Isabel Payne
Elizabeth Florence Collins	Leonard Clough Peabody
Esther Genevera Crockett	Ruth Elizabeth Reder
Elizabeth Emma Crofts	Corinne Burnette Schlegel
Marion Elizabeth Dasef	Bobbie Beatrix Scott
Joseph Wesley Ellis	Mary Grace Springer
Mary Ruth Fenderich	Martha Rose Terborgh
Florence Jenkins Gerhan	Mildred Marian Tollefson
Howard Lewis Tinker Hall	Marguerite Walters
Raymond Guthrie Hengst	Murray Edwards Wilcox

The Class of 1922

THIS year the class of 1922 has assumed part of the responsibility which always falls upon upperclassmen. Here in Oberlin, Junior and Senior privileges are practically alike, hence the responsibilities are divided fairly equally. In order to leave the Seniors free for their more personal duties, we have undertaken as our chief contribution of the year, the editing of the college annual. Also, in accordance with this idea, the Juniors take upon themselves more of the work on both the Men's and Women's Senate, and in the Women's League. The system of Junior Counsellors rather than Senior Counsellors for Freshmen girls, has grown out of the same belief that Senior duties should be lightened. Thus the Junior Class has come to fill a place of high importance in the life of the college.

In the fall of 1918 the class of 1922 entered Oberlin. The circumstances attending the first months of our college career were unprecedented. Our country had been at war for over a year, and the Government was establishing a Student Army Training Corps in the colleges throughout the nation. Our S.A.T.C. was established with Headquarters at the Men's Building. So the girls had to take entire charge of all college activities. In January regular college life was resumed since the signing of the Armistice made no further need for the S.A.T.C.

Our Sophomore year saw changes in rules and traditions. It was then that the new regulations regarding smoking and dancing passed the vote of Faculty, Men's and Women's Senates and the student body. We saw the trial of a new phase of activity in Oberlin, one that made college different in some ways but one that did not rob the school of that indefinable "Oberlin Spirit". It was for us to help decide whether the trial would prove a success or failure and that responsibility has increased in this our first year as upperclassmen. We hope that next year we may continue to prove worthy of our trust.

Class

Franklin K. Mayer
President

K. Eloise Thurston
Vice-President

Marian L. Warren
Secretary

f 1922

R. Jack Herberts
Treasurer

Nola M. Westerfield
Social Chairman

Almond J. Hyde
Social Chairman

Junior Class Functions

The class of 1922, along with its other activities, indulged in such sports as hikes, dances, and class parties. The first of these was on October 9th, when the Junior Class entertained the Freshmen with a picnic hike to Black River. The unusual athletic ability of the Class of '24 was brought out in a mock track meet. This was followed by games and lunch. Miss Eldred and Mrs. Hatch chaperoned the party. Then came the annual Thanksgiving party, which took the form of a dance in Warner Gymnasium. Thanksgiving motifs furnished the general scheme for the decorations, and little maidens in Indian and Puritan costumes served refreshments and distributed small turkeys and wish-bones during the favor dance. The features of the intermission were a vocal solo by Philip Frazier, and a solo dance by Kathleen Kinney. The patrons and patronesses were Dean Klingenhagen, Mrs. Hatch, and Professor and Mrs. Mack. And then came a hike on the 13th of December. The picture above shows the hikers about to begin on their jaunt down muddy roads, over fences, across fields, and finally to Sherill's, where a delightful supper was served, and gave renewed pep for the journey back to Oberlin.

And then of course, there was the "prom", but since our book went to print so early in the game, we just couldn't get any information about that!

Detail of Dudley Allen Memorial Art Building

The Class of 1923

THE Class of '23, having passed through its year of apprenticeship, has now taken its proper place in the life of the College. In athletics and in social activities the Sophomores have taken a vigorous part. They have neglected no opportunity to bring before the authorities in charge their belief that a student should put forth all possible effort to obtain an education in spite of the duties imposed by the curriculum.

To all varsity squads the Sophomores have contributed and done their best to make the year successful. In inter-class the Sophs have taken the lead by winning the football championship. Several good men were brought to light in the Soph-Frosh Track Meet, which the Sophs won by a little fast work.

An innovation introduced during the year by the class of '23 was the formation of the Sophomore Council, a group of girls representing the various boarding houses, and therefore analogous to the Freshman Council, which is already an established organization in the College. It is hoped that the institution of a Sophomore Council each year will also become permanent as a precedent at Oberlin. The result of the steps taken this year was to unite the women of the class by a body of a size suitable for efficient discussion of problems affecting both the Class and the College.

The class has enjoyed its share of society life, participating light-heartedly in all the social events and helping to make them successful. The Thanksgiving Party and the class hike to Casky's are marked in our calendars of happy times.

Class

Francis S. Hutchins
President

Marian L. Downing
Vice-President

Charlotta A. Crofts
Secretary

f 1923

Arthur T. Martin
Treasurer

Louise D. Harlow
Social Chairman

Richard W. Bosworth
Social Chairman

The Class of 1924

IT IS with a feeling of great pleasure that the Freshman class reviews the first year of its college career. The cordial welcome extended to us by the upperclassmen upon our arrival here, was the first evidence which we received of the real Oberlin Spirit.

Our first class meeting was held upon the twenty-seventh of September, 1920. At this time the Sophomores gave us our first taste of class rivalry. By a very cleverly-worked scheme, which involved an extensive advertising campaign, they were able to persuade us to elect one of their own members (M. R. Boughton) as our class president. Upon the discovery of this error, a spirit of antagonism was aroused in us which found its highest expression in the annual tie-up. This traditional contest between the two lower classes was held at Dill Field soon after the beginning of the college term. After a hard-fought battle in the pouring rain, we won with a score of 27-20.

From an athletic standpoint, our class has splendid material. A large number reported as candidates for the football team. The season was very successful and an unusual number of yearlings were picked for the inter-class all-star team. The Sophomore-Freshman track meet, an important annual event, was lost by us: however we feel this meet brought to light many good varsity prospects for next year. The basketball season was also a credit to our class. We defeated the Junior and Senior teams with ease, but it was only after a hard-fought battle that we won from the Sophomores, making us the inter-class champions.

Our social committees planned a splendid program to be carried out during the year. The first event was the Thanksgiving party held in the Men's Building. Between semesters we had a very enjoyable Sophomore-Freshman party. All of our other social affairs were carried out equally well, and added much to the pleasure of the year. The Freshman Tenth which appeared at the close of the first semester showed that our class was not lacking in intellectual ability.

We are glad that we have before us three more years of college life. All of us realize that this year has been a test of ourselves, both as individuals and as a class. We are proud that we have secured for ourselves a firm place in the life of our Alma Mater. May the class of 1924 ever be true to the finest which Oberlin has in store for us.

Class

Adelbert B. Coon
President

Margaret A. Fifield
Vice-President

Sarah E. Gibson
Secretary

f 1924

Robert F. Millikan
Treasurer

Margaret B. Allen
Social Chairman

Carl B. Addams
Social Chairman

The Freshman Tenth

The Freshman honor list for the first semester of the present year includes the names of ten per cent of the Freshman class with the highest scholarship grades. The names are arranged alphabetically. Students whose names are marked with a star (*) ranked in the highest ten in the class.

The Freshman honor list is prepared under the two following rules: (1) only those students are considered who were classed as Freshmen; (2) only those students are considered who have taken not less than fifteen hours of work, eleven of these hours being chosen from the regular Freshman work.

- *Thelma Virginia Allen, Salem, Ohio, high school.
- Karl Hill Aughenbaugh, Ravenna, Ohio, high school.
- *Robert William Babione, Toledo, Ohio, Morrison R. Waite high school.
- Clifford L. Blair, Cleveland, Ohio, Glenville high school.
- Ralph Root Boyden, Medina, Ohio, high school.
- Elizabeth Brown, Kingston, N. Y., high school.
- Horace James Child, Oberlin, Ohio, high school.
- Percy Lee DeLargy, Bradford, Ohio, high school.
- Lucile Hortense Fitch, Wayne Twp., Ohio, Central high school.
- Ray Gibbons, Cleveland, Ohio, Lincoln high school.
- Catherine Cuyler Green, Oberlin, Ohio, high school.
- Ruth Marilla Hubbard, Oberlin, Ohio, high school.
- Barbara Frances Johnson, Buffalo, N. Y., Hutchinson Central high school.
- Wilhelmine Kindlimann, Watertown, N. Y., high school.
- Bessie Irene Lyle, Kingsley, Ia., high school.
- *Frances Hamilton MacCallum, East Northfield, Mass., Northfield seminary.
- *Mary Elizabeth McKenzie, Washington, D. C., Eastern high school.
- Charlotte Edith Meagher, Toledo, Ohio, Morrison R. Waite high school.
- Rachel May Metzler, Olathe, Kan., high school.
- Frances Natalie Moore, Port Huron, Mich., high school.
- Theodore Mead Newcomb, Cleveland, Ohio, Lincoln high school.
- *Wendell Sherman Niederhauser, Canton, Ohio, high school.
- Edward Graffam Partridge, Oberlin, Ohio, high school.
- Dorothy Anna Shafer, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, Heights high school.
- Velma Jane Seale, Kent, Ohio, high school.
- William Harlow Seaman, Bellevue, Pa., high school.
- Marion Ruth Stoll, Lakewood, Ohio, high school.
- Russell Neil Sullivan, Bucyrus, Ohio, high school.
- Jean Elizabeth Timberman, Columbus, Ohio, Columbus School for Girls.
- Dorothy Todd, East Northfield, Mass., Northfield Seminary.
- Margaret Walker, Chicago, Ill., University high school.
- *Maxine Dorothy Whitney, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, high school.
- Frederick Dudley Whittlesey, Battle Creek, Mich., high school.
- Evalyn Marzelle Wolfe, Van Buren, O., Allen Twp., Centralized high school.
- *Dorothy Diana Woodward, Tulare, Calif., high school.
- *Arnold John Zurcher, Lorain, Ohio, high school.
- Joseph Thornton Ainley, Monrovia, Calif., high school. Honorable Mention.

() The highest average grade was secured by Miss Meagher.

() The second highest average grade was secured by Miss Lyle.

The Conservatory of Music

THE Oberlin Conservatory of Music is an institution which is known throughout the country as one of the best centers for the study of music and its appreciation. During the last sixty years there has been steady growth in all departments, and especially last year there was such a great number of students that the situation was a rather difficult one to meet. The Conservatory was better able to meet the demands of its students this fall, since the teaching force has been increased, and the situation of a year ago avoided. We are especially fortunate in having Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maitland on the faculty this year.

One of the most marked developments in the life of the Conservatory recently is the expansion of the theoretical and teachers' training courses. These courses used to exist primarily for the individual training of players and singers, although the requirements called for harmony and counterpoint also. The recent demand throughout the country for courses in the history and appreciation of music, the Normal Training department in Children's work, and the Supervisor's Training Course in Public School Music, has had its effect upon the Oberlin Conservatory also, and consequently the departments teaching these branches are constantly enlarging their scope and numbers.

The need of clearer and better enunciation in vocal work is growing daily, and to meet this need the department of Dramatic Expression was introduced. Courses in French and Italian are taken to broaden the range of the student's selection and appreciation of music.

Under Dr. Andrews' direction, the Conservatory Orchestra is coming more and more to the foreground. This year marks the highest point in its career thus far, and the excellent work done this year leads us to believe that greater results are in store for the next year.

The excellent work done in the Conservatory this year has shown that Oberlin is entitled to rank among the best schools of Music in the country. May it ever progress, and furnish inspiration and opportunity to those who come within its portals!

C. W. Morrison

F. G. Nash

Oberlin Conservatory of Music

Faculty

Administration

Henry Churchill King, D.D., LL.D., L.H.D.	President
Charles Walthall Morrison, A.M., Mus. D.	Director
Miss Frances Gertrude Nash	Dean of Women
Miss Edith Dickson, A.B.	Librarian
Mrs. Mabel Dennis Brown	Registrar and Secretary

Organ

George Whitfield Andrews, A. M., Mus. D.	Professor
Frederick Benjamin Stiven, Mus. B.	Professor
Harold David Smith, A.B., Mus. B.	Instructor
Paul Egbert Grosh, Mus. B.	Instructor

Pianoforte

Howard Handel Carter, A.M., Mus. B.	Professor
William Kilgore Breckenridge, Mus. B.	Professor
Charles King Barry, A.B., Mus. B.	Professor
William Treat Upton, A.B., Mus. B.	Professor
George Carl Hastings, Mus. B.	Professor

Orville Alvin Linquist, Mus. B.	Professor
Bruce Headley Davis, Mus. B.	Professor
Mrs. Ada Morris Hastings	Assistant Professor
Mrs. Mary Umstead Bennett	Assistant Professor
Mrs. Florence Hall Clague	Instructor
Violin
*Maurice Koessler	Professor
Donald Morrison, A.B.	Instructor
Violoncello
Friederich August Goerner	Professor
Voice
Arthur Smith Kimball, A.M.	Professor
Edgar George Sweet, Mus. B.	Professor
Herbert Harroun, A.B.	Professor
Charles Henry Adams, Mus. B.	Professor
*William Jasper Horner, A.B., Mus. B.	Professor
Robert Maitland	Professor
Mrs. Margaret Jones Adams, Mus. B.	Assistant Professor
Mrs. Louise Maitland	Assistant Professor
Composition, Harmony and Counterpoint
George Whitfield Andrews, A.M., Mus. B.	Professor
Arthur Edward Heacox, Mus. B.	Professor
Friedrich Johann Lehmann	Professor
Miss Gladys Ferry Moore, Mus. B.	Instructor
Harold David Smith, A.B., Mus. B.	Instructor
Miss Lydia Belle Brown, A.B., Mus. B.	Instructor
Wind Instruments
Walter Henry Frederick	Assistant Professor
History and Criticism
Edward Dickinson, A.M., Litt.D.	Professor
Public School Music
Karl Wilson Gehrkens, A.M.	Professor
Dramatic Expression
Miss Frances Gertrude Nash	Professor
Children's Department
Mrs. Bertha McCord Miller	Principal
Mrs. Ruth Schoeffel Morrison, Mus. B.	Instructor
Miss Margaret Holmes Whipple, Mus. B.	Instructor
*Absent on leave, 1920-1921.

Mervyn Demuth Agnew,
Creston, Iowa.
Organ.

Laurel Everett Anderson,
Racine, Wisconsin.
Organ.

Alice Brandon Caldwell,
Smyrna, Turkey.
Piano.

Eleanor Cobura De Groff,
Oberlin, Ohio.
Piano.

Edna Helen Ernsberger,
Lima, Ohio.
Piano.

Doris Maria Halvorson,
Thief River Falls, Minnesota.
Piano.

Esther Marie Holtkamp,
New Knoxville, Ohio.
Piano.

Carleton John Liddle,
Jennings, Louisiana.
Piano.

Patricia MacDonald,
Marinette, Wisconsin.
Voice.

Wanda Beatrice Moul,
Akron, Ohio.
Voice.

Rosa Peterson,
Oil City, Pennsylvania.
Voice.

Hazel Marie Silcox,
Bryan, Ohio.
Organ.

Dorothy Esther Wire,
Lorain, Ohio.
Organ.

Harold Austin Richey,
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.
Piano.

Winifred Waite,
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.
Piano.

Officers of the Conservatory Class of 1921

Harold A. Richey	-----	President
Dorothy Wire	-----	Vice-President
Patricia McDonald	-----	Secretary
Rosa Peterson	-----	Social Chairman

Third Year Conservatory

J. Earl McCormick	-----	President
Grace I. Pancoast	-----	Vice-President
Grace Graham	-----	Secretary-Treasurer
Bernice E. Hannan	-----	Social Chairman

Second Year Conservatory

Gladys E. Feidler	-----	President
Martha H. Bailey	-----	Vice-President
F. Louise Graff	-----	Secretary
Frank Bishop, Jr.	-----	Treasurer
Hulda M. Johnson	-----	Social Chairman

First Year Conservatory

Alice B. Lewis	-----	President
Barbara A. Bayless	-----	Vice-President
Kathryn M. Carey	-----	Secretary-Treasurer
Gladys C. Moser	-----	Social Chairman

Third Year Public School Music

Cleo Cowger	-----	President
Birdie Holloway	-----	Secretary-Treasurer
Louise Edson	-----	Social Chairman

Second Year Public School Music

Mildred Martin	-----	President
Marion Wood	-----	Vice-President
Madge Baldwin	-----	Secretary-Treasurer
Edna Wright	-----	Social Chairman

Artists' Recitals

Second Semester, 1920-1921

Recital of Music for Two Pianos.

Mr. Breckenridge
 • Mr. Upton
 February 21, 1921.

Mr. Harold Bauer, Piano Recital.

March 1, 1921.

Miss Florence Hinkle, Vocal Recital.

March 15, 1921.

The Cleveland Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Nicolai Sokoloff, Conductor.
 Mr. Heinrich Gebhard, Pianist.
 March 22, 1921.

The Cleveland String Quartet.

Mrs. William Mason Bennett, Pianist.
 April 12, 1921.

Recital of Music for Violoncello.

Mr. Friedrich A. Goerner
 Mr. William K. Breckenridge, Accompanist
 April 19, 1921

The Graduate School of Theology

THE average theological school in America has thirty students. Our enrollment at Oberlin is usually twice that number, but war and post-war conditions have reduced the attendance about half. As our school is on a strictly graduate basis we have been sharing the fate of all graduate schools in this period, except the medical schools which were kept up at full tide by pressure of the war department.

Abnormally high wages in business the past two years have drawn thousands of college graduates away from professional study, and few college graduates anywhere entered theological schools last fall for this reason. Present enrollment at Presbyterian, Episcopalian and Congregational theological schools shows an average decline of 30% since a year ago.

However, this decline is only temporary. With the recent business depression, abnormal wages can no longer be obtained for manual labor, and college men are again more normally choosing their life work in the various professions.

The appeal to a life of service is again winning its way with many of the finest men in our colleges and the increasing demand for trained men in the pastorate and the mission field is again finding response. Many letters of inquiry are coming daily to the School of Theology office indicating a sure increase in attendance next year. With a reduced supply of ministers there never was so good a time to enter the ministry as now. The product of Oberlin School of Theology is so much in demand, our graduates could be located ten times over and at living salaries. If space allowed we could tell of the splendid work now being done by many of our recent graduates some of whom have won notable success in the home churches and many others in the foreign missionary service. Our theological students the past decade have come from no less than 39 denominations and 159 colleges and universities. With a strong interdenominational faculty and such a broad constituency we have every reason to expect in the future the continued usefulness which has made this school notable among the liberal, high grade professional schools of America.

G. Walter Fiske, Junior Dean.

Edward I. Bosworth

G. Walter Fiske

The Faculty

Henry C. King, D.D., LL.D., L.H.D., President; Professor of Theology and Philosophy.

Edward I. Bosworth, D.D., Senior Dean; Professor of the New Testament Language and Literature.

G. Walter Fiske, Ph.D., Junior Dean; Professor of Practical Theology and Religious Education.

G. Frederick Wright, D.D., LL.D., Professor Emeritus.

Albert H. Currier, D.D., Professor Emeritus.

Albert T. Swing, D.D., Professor Emeritus.

Kemper Fullerton, A.M., Professor of the Old Testament Language and Literature; Registrar and Secretary.

Ian C. Hannah, A.M., D.C.L., Professor of Church History.

Herbert A. Youtz, Ph.D., Professor of Philosophy of Religion and Christian Ethics.

Thomas W. Graham, D.D., Professor of Homiletics.

Simon F. MacLennan, Ph.D., Professor of Philosophy and Comparative Religion.

Davis Edwards, Ph.B., Assistant Professor of Public Speaking.

Louis F. Miskovsky, A.M., Principal of the Slavic Department; Professor of the Bohemian Language.

Miss Ruth Ormsby, Office Secretary and Recorder.

John E. Merrill, Ph.D., President of Central Turkey College, Aintab, Turkey; Haskell Lecturer for 1920-21.

Chester Dunham

Horatio Hill

Roy Phillippi

Elizabeth Randolph

Otis Rockwood

Candidate for the degree of S. T. M.

Chester Forrester Dunham, University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.

Candidates for the degree of B. D.

Horatio Seymore Hill, Benedict College, Anderson, S. C.

H. Roy Phillippi, McPherson College, Topeka, Kan.

Elizabeth Fitz Randolph, Alfred University, Alfred, N. Y.

Otis Fay Rockwood, Wheaton College, Warwick, Mass.

Spear Laboratory

Oberlin Kindergarten Primary Training School

OBERLIN'S interest in the kindergarten movement culminated in 1894 in the founding of the Oberlin Kindergarten Training School. At this time five hundred of Oberlin's leading women, desirous of establishing a teachers' training school, organized a kindergarten association and appointed Miss Belle Goodman as the first principal. With the aid of several members of the College faculty whose courses were needed by student teachers, Miss Goodman not only directed the kindergarten children but also conducted a training class of eleven young women, nine of whom were graduated. This was the beginning of the present School whose aim is to train efficient kindergarten-primary teachers and philanthropic workers.

In addition to a number of special teachers, the faculty has grown to seven members who give their entire time to this work. The year 1912 found the School an incorporated institution under the management of a Board of Trustees. Five years later another step was taken when the former kindergarten course gave way to the kindergarten-primary curriculum. Under the present arrangement two courses are available; one of two years and another of three years which includes more extensive study of music and other subjects.

During the early years of the life of the School, classes were held in Sunday-School rooms and other places available; later, accommodations were found above Tobin's drug store. Finally in 1914 the School moved to its present quarters in Goodrich House. Emeline May Cottage on Elm street was opened during the present year as a dormitory, and the Centennial building was acquired by gift of the Mutual Benefit Association. The latter was rebuilt last summer to be used to house a free kindergarten and community center, funds being given by friends in Oberlin and in the Training School.

Miss May, the principal, is a kindergartner and graduate of the Dottressa Montessori Training School of Rome.

This School has graduated many missionary teachers, among them Mrs. Gertrude Chaney Pye, Oberlin College 1910. Mrs. Pye is stationed at Fenchow, Shansi, China, where she supervises the two kindergartens supported by students and alumnae of the Training School. Eleven French orphans also are the wards of the Training School.

First Row: Morris, Lieber, Broad, Windisch, Battenfield, McLaughry, Wager, Barnard, Geiger, Rodgers, Martin, Sitliff, Scheid.
Second Row: Wiese, Sumption, Pierson, Dukesherer, Porter, Wolf, Crane, Brown, KeQua, Dunn, Jackson, Turner.
Third Row: Wateker, Lindquist, Shoyont, Waltan, White, Scheid, Hardy, Tockey.
Fourth Row: McKee, Bosworth, Jenkins, Breckmacher, Bryan, Entreken, Wood, Hopkins, Patton, Rauscher.
Fifth Row: Alexander, Ryan, Young, Lennox, McKinley, Nuttall, Solither, Hart, Swift, Leinbach.

First Row: Eckert, Fithian, Holcomb, Lanode, Robinson, Wilson, Bernét, Dayton, Wise.
Second Row: Beckstein, Bly, Fisk, Kuenzel, Flemstrom, Hammond, Horn, McHenry.
Third Row: Breckmacher, Engels, Smith, Fitch, Koontz, Winckles, Addington, McKinley.
Fourth Row: Hazelbarger, (Pres.), Thomas, Boer, Myers, Pancoast, Stewart, Meredith.

ORGANIZATION'S

Student Government

A TRUER name than Student Government would be Co-operative Government, for our government is student government under faculty supervision. The Men's Senate is composed of twenty men. Its purpose is to help the students realize their common interests and reconcile their conflicting ones, whether in their relation as students, or in their relations to the college and faculty. This body and the Women's Senate serve as the medium of communication between the students and the faculty. Meetings are held every two weeks.

The Women's League is the women's share in this government. Through its committees it upholds the regulations enacted to develop wholesome social relationships, and to insure quiet and order in the boarding houses. All the women in the institution are members of the Women's League.

The deliberative body of the League is the Women's Senate. Boarding house problems and other problems of the life on the campus may be brought up before this body. Any proposed changes in the regulations are discussed here, and if so voted, recommendations are made to the proper authorities. Any change must be approved by the Joint Council and by the Faculty before it can go into effect. Meetings of the Senate are held once a month.

The Honor System is another phase of this Student Government. Any case of dishonesty in daily work, tests or examinations, or laboratory work is reported by students to a member of the Men's or Women's Honor Courts. The members of these courts are chosen by their respective Senates. If a woman is reported, the case comes up before and is judged by the Women's Honor Court; if a man, by the Men's Honor Court. The courts may either administer a reprimand to the person convicted of dishonesty, or make recommendation to the College Faculty for the taking away of credit in the course, suspension, or final dismissal.

Student Government in its various phases will be successful so long as it has the loyal support of all the students.

First Row: Phillips, Groves, Love, McMenemy, Larsen, Reynolds, Church, Whitney, Norton, Park.
Second Row: Hill, Vining, Feidler, McCord, Wire, Bucher, Easton, Ela, Bray, Warren, Rosecrans.
Third Row: Day, Jones, Lockwood, Wright, Burr, Hopkins, Schuyler, Phelps, Dann, Dale, Taylor, Fourth Row: Graham, Schroeder, Baker, Hayden, Pancoast, Baker, Thurston, Fifield.
Fifth Row: Hannan, Agnew, Griffith, Downing, Stratton, Keach, Demo.

The Women's Senate

The Women's League, of which all the women of Oberlin College are members, is the student part of the co-operative system of government. Its purpose is to promote all the interests of the College, and to bring about a greater feeling of individual responsibility on the part of the students. The work is divided into four sub-organizations; the Senate, the Legislative Body, the Joint Council, the Discipline Body, composed of faculty and students; the Honor Court, which deals with the Honor System; and the Executive Board.

The Senate offers unusual opportunity for the free discussion of all student problems. Its membership consists of the chairmen of the various committees of the League, the vice-presidents of the four classes, house presidents, and the heads of other important student organizations.

Officers

Alice L. Lockwood	-----	President
Sara L. Park	-----	First Vice-President
Mary Schroeder	-----	Second Vice-President
Marion Downing	-----	Secretary
Bernice Hannan	-----	Treasurer

Park Wire
Hopkins
Warren
Hannan
McMenemy
Schroeder
Lockwood
Downing
Griffith

Executive Board of Women's League

The Executive Board consists of the heads of all departments and the chairmen of the committees of the League. In addition to the general officers of the League, it consists of:

President of Senate	-----	Eleanor Hopkins
President of the Y. W. C. A.	-----	Marian E. Warren
President of the G. F. A.	-----	Mary McMenemy
President of Women's Board of the Conservatory	-----	Margaret Paige
Chairman of House Government	-----	Mary Schroeder
Chairman of Honor Court	-----	Eleanor Hopkins
Chairman of Vocational Committee	-----	Sara L. Park
Outside Activities	-----	L. Kennette Griffith
Chairman of Campus Etiquette and Customs	-----	Patricia MacDonald
Chairman of Social Committee	-----	Dorothy Wire

This body handles cases of discipline and proposes any changes in the legislation. It also acts as a nominating committee for elections. The house government committee, one of the most important committees of the League, has charge of all house regulations and their violations. The Women's League forms the foundation for all student activities, requiring therefore the co-operation of all the students.

McLaughlin Mattson Newsom Metcalf Browning Will Hutchins Adams Lansdale Mayer Fifield Sullivan
 Bunker Hahn Keep Winters Jameson

The Men's Senate

The original draft of the constitution of the Men's Senate states in the preamble that the senate is an organization to promote better relationships between the faculty and men of the college. The purpose of the body in its beginning was to serve as a representative organization for the men, particularly to centralize the feeling of the men and to work with the faculty for better conditions among the men. From a body founded with these ideals, the senate has broadened its scope until it now stands as the main legislative body for the men, an organization in which most student moves are inaugurated and in which the sentiment of the men is concentrated into action.

The organization of the senate is such that it is directly representative of the men of the four classes and of the leading organizations on the campus as well. There are ten elected senators and ten who are members of the body ex-officio. The term of office of the elected senators varies from one year to three years. In a single year the Freshman class has one representative, the Sophomore class two, the Junior class three, and the Senior class four. In addition the four class presidents serve as ex-officio members of the senate. The president of the Y. M. C. A., the president of the Associated students, the president of the Varsity "O" club, the cheer-leader, and the editor-in-chief and managing editor of the Oberlin Review, are other men who automatically hold seats in the senate.

During the period of change in legislation in the college the senate took the initiative for the men, in expressing their desire for reform. Now that the major changes have been put through the senate has settled down to a normal routine of business. The main functions of the men of the school are under the control of the body. The senate fosters the traditions among the men. Such affairs as the tie-up and the football banquet are matters of the regular business of the senate. Supervision over class elections and pay days is also exerted by the senate.

One of the branches of the Men's Senate is the Men's Honor Court, which is the tribunal for the honor system. The court is chosen by the senate each year. The president of the senate always acts in the capacity of chairman of the court. A new side issue of the senate was established in the Spring of 1920, known as the Court of Seven. This committee of six Seniors and one Junior was organized to secure a compliance with the men's traditions. The court has not been in existence for a sufficient length of time to permit a passing of judgment on its success or failure. A group of this kind is certainly needed, but whether the court as at present organized will be satisfactory is a question not yet settled.

How long the Men's Senate will continue in its present position of almost unlimited control on the campus is uncertain. As long as the men of the college are willing to allow the senate to go on unmolested in its activity, it will hold sway in the autocratic way in which it has during the last student generation. Probably it is best that the senate should operate as it has as long as the men are satisfied. But there are a great many questions which the senate is forced to settle which should be considered by all of the men of the college. Three years ago it was prophesied that a men's union would soon be organized in Oberlin. But the calls for united action by the men in the last two years have not received a hearty response from the men. Apparently they are content to have the senate in complete control of the men's activities and questions and so long as it has this power it will be a ruling body on the campus of ever increasing power and importance.

Men's Honor Court

Robert T. Lansdale, Chairman
 E. Earl Newsom
 Carroll H. Browning
 Raymond T. Moyer
 Udell Stallings
 Harry M. Will

Court of Seven

E. Earl Newsom, Chairman
 Carroll H. Browning
 Robert T. Lansdale
 Raymond T. Moyer
 Charles H. Adams
 Laurence D. McPhee
 Theodore Soller

Men's Senate for 1920-21

Class of 1921

Carroll H. Browning
 Raymond T. Moyer
 Charles H. Adams
 R. T. Lansdale
 E. Earl Newsom
 J. W. Fifield
 H. G. Metcalf
 A. M. Keep
 K. C. Bunker
 J. S. McLaughlin

Class of 1922

F. K. Mayer H. M. Will Udell Stallings Max Hahn
 Bernard Mattson

Class of 1923

Francis S. Hutchins
 R. G. Jameson
 A. R. Winters

Class of 1924

R. N. Sullivan A. B. Coon

Junior Counsellors

One of the women's organizations of some importance is that of the Junior Counsellors. There are sixty counsellors, chosen by the women of the Junior class, from a list approved by the Dean of Women. Each counsellor is assigned three or four new girls. Her duty is to introduce these girls to the best that college life has to offer. A tremendous task? Indeed it is. The upperclasswoman must take herself back to the first few home-sick, estranged days of her own Freshman year in order to appreciate fully Freshman psychology. The new girls must be made to feel at home, to feel that they are proud of the college life, and not unwelcome interlopers. They must be made to realize that counsellors are appointed for a purpose, and that purpose is to help them, insofar as they are able, in matters of little consequence as well as in questions of real import.

Aside from individual attentions, this institution tries to establish a sisterhood between the classes, Freshman and Junior, Sophomore and Senior. The Juniors have had the privilege of counsellorship for only three years. It was found wise to transfer this responsibility from the Seniors to the Juniors for various reasons. In the first place, it benefits the Juniors in giving them a taste of responsibility. In the second place, it enables the Senior and Sophomore class to be friends for two years. In the third place, it lightens the burdens of the Seniors.

The Freshman Council, organized by the chairman of the Junior Counsellors, is an efficient department of the counsellorship. One Freshman representative is elected from each of the boarding houses. At the meeting questions of rules, tradition, etiquette are discussed with a view to clarifying vague ideas the new girls may entertain upon certain problems of college life. The council aims, first, to engender a spirit of class feeling among the new students; second, to bring together members of remote houses; third, to make heard, through this organization, the voice of the Freshmen in the Women's Senate.

Junior Counsellors

Adams, Glee	Gulick, Ethel	Moody, Charlotte
Baker, Lucille	Gulick, Harriet	Morris, Elizabeth
Bell, Lucille	Hahn, Marguerite	Park, Sara
Bowen, Alice	Harvey, Alice	Persinger, Mary
Bruce, Gladys	Hay, Alice	Pratt, Frances
Bucher, Elizabeth	Hayden, Jessie	Quayle, Charlene
Bunker, Edith	Kilts, Frances	Rinehart, Lois
Caulkins, Irene	Kinney, Frances	Spreng, Christine
Coale, Lorena	Leslie, Martha	Spreng, Miriam
Coates, Kathryn	Lincoln, Miriam	Steer, Margaret
Converse, Louise	McKee, Frances	Thompson, Helen
Cook, Beatrice	Malcom, Eva	Thurston, Eloise
Cushman, Elizabeth	Matter, Katherine	Tussing, Marion
Dickson, Josephine	Mead, Helen	VanBrunt, Mary
Easton, Muriel	Mickey, Mildred	Van Gorden, Pauline
Ela, Jeanette	Miller, Hazel	Wallace, Althea
Goetz, Dorothy	Mitchell, Nina	Warren, Marion
Griswold, Katharine	Molitor, Elizabeth	Westerfield, Nola

Pancoast Wire MacDonald Kelley
 Lewis Hannan Peterson Feidler Agnew

The Women's Board of the Conservatory

The Women's Board of the Conservatory is not a legislative body, but its function is rather to act as a welfare committee, having general oversight of all the various interests of those people it represents.

The social and business activities of Conservatory Women are in its charge, besides free co-operation with Dean Nash, when planning or attending to any important matters. The board also has the power of appointing the Junior and Senior counsellors. Some of the social functions of the conservatory which it plans and manages are the annual Proms, held in the Art Building.

Including as it does all the chief officers, the Women's Board is the highest student organization of the Conservatory. There are nine members, including the presidents of the four classes, the chairman of the Conservatory Counsellors, of the Campus Etiquette, Vocational Committees, with the representatives of the Y. W. C. A. and the Senior class.

Thus the activities of the women, which otherwise would be scattered and less effective, are strengthened and unified.

Officers

Margaret Page	-----	President
Grace Pancoast	-----	Vice-President
Ruth Kelly	-----	Secretary and Treasurer
Dorothy Wire	-----	Social Chairman

Men's Counsellors

The Senior Counsellor Plan has been established among the men of Oberlin for nine years. Although it has at no time since its adoption fulfilled its mission to its fullest extent, it has been, without doubt, a means of better understanding between the upperclassmen and the Freshmen, and between the Freshmen and their Alma Mater.

The plan is really similar to any "Big Brother" plan. Some forty of the Senior men each receive the names of four Freshmen, their future little brothers, and get in touch with them as soon as possible after they arrive in Oberlin. There are many times in the first few weeks of college life when a little tip by a friendly Senior is appreciated almost as much as the suggestion of a bloodthirsty Sophomore. The aim of the Senior Counsellor is to make the "Frosh" get the right attitude and the right start. Having been through the mill himself he can give advice when needed as well as be a real friend while friends are yet scarce.

At the times when the plan has not been most successful the fault has not been that of the Freshmen but of the Seniors. While they have taken an interest in the Freshmen at first when the need was greatest, the chronic lack of time has finally, in some cases, made the advisor too lax in his attentions, and the Freshman has had to forego one of his privileges—for he looks at this friendship as a privilege, and so much so that we of '21 envy you Juniors and Sophs your chance in the days to come, to get behind and "watch 'em grow."

Religious Organizations

THE religious atmosphere of Oberlin is characterized by open-mindedness. True to this spirit of tolerance Oberlin makes no distinction in nationality, in class, nor in religious belief, but carries out in daily living its high ideal of democracy.

Added to this quality of open-mindedness there is the spirit of brotherliness, a genuine feeling of comradeship, recognizing the need of fellowship based neither on selfishness nor superficial values, but on deep and lasting respect for personality.

There is another element entering into the religious atmosphere of Oberlin and that is the spirit of service. The college seems not only a place to prepare for usefulness in later life, but also a place to serve day by day, to share with one's fellows one's best self and his very joy in living. It is a consciousness of the Divine in all and of a divine purpose, the attempt to make our lives harmonize and unite to carry out that purpose.

A spirit of simplicity and a spirit of sincerity also permeates Oberlin life as it goes forward ever true to its ideals.

A significant fact about Oberlin is that church attendance is non-compulsory. This gives a freedom of choice and creates a greater desire for church-going than if attendance were required. It gives one a chance to choose from among the various services those which will be of the most value to him.

The qualities that make the religious atmosphere of Oberlin what it is have been made possible, and have at the same time been enhanced by four student organizations. These are the Young Women's Christian Association, the Young Men's Christian Association, the Student Volunteer Band, and the Shansi Board. In co-operating and working together in these organizations and facing the problems which they must solve each student gains a broader viewpoint and a greater understanding of those with whom he comes in contact. It is in this way that these organizations help to influence and contribute to the whole religious atmosphere of the college.

Houseman Will Bent Bartter Hutchinson Bartlett
 Winters Winslow Keep Herberts McLaughlin Bailey
 Williams Wheeler Partch Mattson Crossen

Young Men's Christian Association

The Y. M. C. A. is the one all men's organization on the campus, and as such, has been taking an important part in the religious and social life of the men. The aims of the association are several: First—To promote Oberlin spirit and to bring about a feeling of greater solidarity and friendship among the men; Second—To keep the moral atmosphere of the campus up to the high plane, which we have inherited from past student generations; Third—To take a definite constructive Christian attitude on all campus questions.

The cabinet works quietly. They are not a showy bunch (see above picture); on the contrary, they believe in the hard work, silent tongue method of getting results. But here are some of the things they do: Teach English to Greeks, Hungarians, Bolsheviks, Ukrainians, Germans, French, Swedes, etc., etc., etc., in our neighboring 100 per cent city; send deputation teams to work with the boys in many Ohio villages; provide through discussion groups, an opportunity for independent thinking and expression to many students; run an efficient employment bureau (over $1500 worth of jobs given out to students during the past year); publish the "O" book; and many other things, not least of which is the putting on of stags, but most important of which is, perhaps, the conducting of the Sunday evening meetings.

Through this source, the Y. M. C. A. comes into closer contact with the average student than in any other way. And so the aim of this department has been to bring to Oberlin men who are competent to speak on questions which the cabinet believes ought to be presented to them. In accordance with that policy, the meetings have been varied, practical, and highly instructive. A business man, a railway president, a president of a railway labor organization, a minister, a professor, a college president, a doctor, a lawyer, and many other types have been included among those who have taken the platform this year.

And the men are reacting to the speakers; criticizing, talking, and thinking. Truly a progressive sign.

An organization must progress or it will die of stagnation. What other progress has the Y. M. C. A. made this year? Briefly, considerable. The financial policy has been put on a sound basis through the Student Chest. A defunct advisory board has been given the pink slip. Probably most important of all, arrangements have been made for a permanent secretary, whose job will be to be a real friend and religious advisor to all the men on the campus. We, of the present cabinet, cherish the hope that the organization may continue to be a real elevating force in the life of Oberlin men.

Officers

Raymond T. Moyer	-----	President
A. Mac Keep	-----	Vice-President
Wallace O. Winslow	-----	Treasurer
Arthur R. Winters	-----	Recording Secretary
Henry E. Bent	-----	Assistant Treasurer

Cabinet Members

Harry M. Will	-----	Membership
Wendell C. Williams	-----	Publicity
A. Mac Keep	-----	Religious Meetings
Harold N. Skidmore	-----	Discussion Groups
J. Stanton McLaughlin	-----	Music
Ralph Maxted	-----	Conferences
R. Jack Herberts	-----	Church Relations
Robert Bartlett	-----	World Forum Groups
Wallace T. Partch	-----	New Students
Richard Bosworth	-----	New Students
Leland C. Hutchinson	-----	Fellowship
Henry Bent	-----	Employment
Robert Crossen	-----	Social Activity
William Parkhill	-----	Social Activity
Burton Houseman	-----	Foreign Students
Bernard Mattson	-----	Foreign Students
Alfred R. Bartter	-----	Vocational Guidance
Carrol Lahman	-----	Good Citizenship
Philip Frazier	-----	Gospel Teams
Norman Bailey	-----	Americanization
Robert Wheeler	-----	Literature

First Row: Hemingway, Kallenberg, Robinson, Van Brunt, Warren, Syme, Smith, Thurston.
Second Row: Fletcher, Hopkins, Wire, Miss Colcord, Warren, Dinwiddie, Caulkins, Schroeder, Pratt.
Third Row: Mitchell, Davies, Peterson, Baldwin, Tuck, Hayden.

Young Women's Christian Association

This has been a most significant year in the life of our Young Women's Christian Association. It has seen the inauguration of the new membership basis whereby church membership is no longer required for active participation in our Y. W. C. A. Each of our eight hundred members in joining took a personal pledge of loyalty as a true Christian to our Y. W. C. A. purpose. We feel that this new basis of membership has brought increased interest and support from the students.

We have had a large attendance at our Sunday night meetings in Warner Hall through the entire year. They have been of varied type, both educational and inspirational, usually having an outside speaker or a member of the faculty bring us a message of work to be done at home and abroad. A series of industrial meetings in the Fall gave us insight into the needs of our sisters in the industry and the consequent challenge to us. Meetings led by the various college classes have proved highly successful. A greater opportunity for open discussion of our campus problems was afforded by the informal group meetings held in the boarding houses during the Winter.

The Christian Associations have co-operated in promoting the spirit of friendliness by various social affairs held under their auspices. Campus Night was instituted as an all-college picnic on the campus. On Society Night an illustrated history of Oberlin was presented. At that time, too, a loving cup for the best singing of an Oberlin song was won by Lord Cottage. At our Student Conference at Eaglesmere in June, the Oberlin delegation won the silver cup for the best original conference song.

Our association is attempting to extend hospitality to new students and to the foreign students on our campus. In work at the Children's Home, in the girls' clubs, in the schools and in many other lines we are trying to live and to encourage the true spirit of service.

The success of this year has been due to the fine enthusiasm of the girls who have served in all the departments. The "Y" Captains in the boarding houses have kept the cabinet in touch with the whole school and have given the organization their loyal support. Our general secretary by her untiring effort helps to keep us at our best and promotes the work as a whole as well as in detail. The Advisory ladies by their valuable suggestions and encouragement make it a great pleasure to be associated with them.

We feel that the Y. W. C. A. has been a very vital force for more Christian living both on the campus and in the community, and we confidently expect even greater success for it in the future.

Officers

Marian E. Warren '21	President
Rosa Peterson, Cons.	Vice-President
Agnes McKinley, O.K.T.S.	Secretary
Lydia Baldwin '21	Treasurer
Irene Caulkins '22	Assistant Treasurer
Miss Marian L. Colcord	General Secretary

Cabinet Members

Mary E. Schroeder '21	Campus Activities
Frances Pratt '22	Social
Eleanor Dinwiddie '21	Meetings
Gertrude Syme '21	Religious Education
Margaret Hemingway '23	Church Relationship
Elsie Fletcher '21	Practical Service
Mary Van Brunt '22	New Students
Nina Mitchell '22	Foreign Students
Eloise Thurston '22	Employment Bureau
Dorothy Wire, Cons.	Community Service
Eleanor Hopkins '21	Children's Home
Vandora McKee, Cons.	Visitation
Marian L. Warren '22	High School Clubs
Jessie Hayden '22	Elementary School Clubs
Hazel Robinson '21	Deputations
Marguerite Smith '21	Publicity
Helen Davies '21	Posters
Jean Kallenberg '23	Review
Dorothea Tuck '21	Current Literature

*First Row: Bowen, Oshima, Elder, Maxted, Tunajima, Kunitomo, Pickering.
 Second Row: Day, Curtis, Webster, Bishop, Cornelius, Miyagawa, Gulick.
 Third Row: Bowen, Bowen, Vining, LeRoy, Bunker, Robinson, Chatfield.
 Fourth Row: Hoyle, Koo, Stiles, Soo-Hoo, Yen.*

Student Volunteer Band

Campus interest in international life finds special expression in this group of students, which, as part of the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions, comprises those who purpose to enter Christian work abroad. The aim of the organization, therefore, is the enlisting of other students for this type of life-work and the educational and spiritual enrichment of the Volunteers themselves preparatory to their service.

With this double end in view, meetings are held every Sunday morning, a brief devotional session, particularly for the members, preceding the open meeting of a more educational nature. Returned missionaries have portrayed conditions and needs in their fields. Professors have discussed questions of interest, and the students themselves participated in a debate on Hinduism versus Christianity.

The membership of the organization doubled from twenty-five to fifty in the first semester, and by the end of the year further increase is probable. A significant factor in recruiting is the annual conference of the Northern Ohio Student Volunteer Union which was held this Spring at Heidelberg, and at which Oberlin was represented by a large delegation.

Oberlin's contribution to the foreign field has been so notable, as one among American colleges, that the present generation of Oberlin Student Volunteers has a rich heritage to be worthy of. Their responsibility, however, is not alone to Alma Mater, but to the entire world in so far as it needs unselfish Christian service.

Officers

Robert M. Bartlett	-----	President
Grace M. Vining	-----	Vice-President
Edith Bunker	-----	Corresponding Secretary
Mary Maud Thompson	-----	Recording Secretary
Kenneth C. Bunker	-----	Treasurer

Warren Bunker Hyde Hopkins
 Olney Keep Miss Colcord

Shansi Board

Shansi has well been called a "transplanted Oberlin." To the Freshmen, this word may mean little, but to the old students, faculty and alumni it has great significance. They realize that our work in Shansi, like that of Yale, Princeton and other educational institutions, is an endeavor to help the Orient through education to realize its own possibilities. Through our work in this province which is one of the oldest and richest in China, we are trying to share with these Chinese students our Oberlin spirit and ideals.

In order to make this contact as real as possible, each year we are sending an Oberlin student to Shansi. Full of the spirit of his Alma Mater, he helps give these students our true spirit as well as assisting with the teaching and college activities. He returns to us with enthusiasm and fresh messages of our work there. Louis Davis, ex. '19, was our student representative two years ago; John Davis '18, last year, and Leonard Peabody this year.

President King is president of the Oberlin Shansi Memorial Association, Mr. Bohn executive secretary, and Mr. Thurston executive treasurer. The board includes one men's representative and one women's representative, who are elected by the student body on the annual Shansi Day, and one member from each class. This board tries to keep Shansi before the eyes of the student body; it endeavors to make them realize that Shansi is a live, wide awake, modern institution.

The other duty of the board is to raise money each year to help carry on this work. Until last year, this money was raised from the student body on Shansi Day, which is the day following the Day of Prayer. The last two years, however, the board has co-operated with the Student Chest. This year our budget in the chest was $5,000. Letters are also sent to the alumni so that they, too, may still have a share in helping to support the work. We hope to raise an equal amount from them.

Although no pledges are asked on Shansi Day under the present system, it is still a red letter day in the college calendar. The reports of the association are given, the men's representative and the women's representative elected, and a talk given by some one who has been connected with Shansi or knows of our work there. All the efforts of the committee, aside from the financial aspect, are centered in making this day as memorable as possible.

The educational work in the Province of Shansi was begun in 1879, by a group of Oberlin people. Although it was destroyed by the Boxer Uprising in 1900, the seeds which these martyrs sowed sprang up and soon the work was taken up with more enthusiasm than ever. Since this time it has grown steadily and rapidly. Although no work beyond the first two years of college and no work for girls is offered now, we hope to have four years of college and a girls' school before many years. The standard maintained is very high. Our academy and college graduates are admitted without examinations to the North China Government University. Mr. Kung '06, the president, a man from the finest of Chinese families, is a very broad minded influential man in his country. He is constantly refusing promising positions because his heart and soul are in his work in Shansi. We are very fortunate to have a man of such caliber and ability.

Education is China's greatest need. Oberlin is trying to establish not an American college in China, but a Chinese college which will produce capable leaders in China. We are trying to help them to help themselves. With such a wonderful man as Mr. Kung to head the work, an enthusiastic student representative to represent us each year, a student committee which helps to make the work more tangible, and a responsive student body, what wonders we can accomplish. Our opportunity is unlimited. Let us hope that each year we shall seize it more fully and thus help these neighbors of ours, by sharing with them our wonderful Oberlin spirit, ideals, and enthusiasms, to have the advantages of a Christian education.

Literary Organizations

WITH the exception of the Men's Literary Society the literary activities of the College have continued as usual during the present year. The Women's Literary Societies, the U. L. A. Lecture Course, Review, Oberlin College Magazine and Hi-O-Hi; all have made their strong and valuable contributions. There have been some rather important changes made in the general functioning of the literary organizations, however.

In the first place, the old organization of the Union Library Association was completely reorganized into the present organization, The Associated Students of Oberlin College. This change had been felt necessary for some time and was the result of the discontinuation of the distinctly men's literary interests of the student body. More is said of the aims and causes of this organization in the paragraph devoted to it.

The U. L. A. Lecture Course continued the record of excellence formerly upheld by it. Under its auspices Oberlin has the opportunity to hear lecturers of note on many different subjects and from many different lands. An English writer and authority on international politics, Norman Angell; an American scientist and explorer, Roy Chapman Andrews; an Irish story teller and writer, Seumas McManus; and a dramatic reader, Elizabeth Pooler Rice, made up the year's program.

Debate, revived last year, has not continued to show the promise which it held then. Though victorious in the first home debate on an interesting question, debate has not attracted the support which it deserves. It is unfortunate that the time at which the debate was held came in competition with a number of other attractions which lowered the momentary interest. The question as to whether debate is to have a place in the literary life of the College has been raised by the financial failure of it during the present year, but has not been settled yet.

The various departments of the College have also contributed to the literary life of the campus. Through departmental plays, dramatic recitals, and the introduction of outside talent, opportunity has been given to all to share in the larger modern movements of the literary world.

Hahn Lansdale Bent McLaughlin
 Clark E. Bunker K. Bunker Wilder Graber
 Mayer Norton Pratt Herberts

The Associated Students of Oberlin College

The Associated Students of Oberlin College, incorporated, is the successor to the old organization known variously as the U. L. A., the Union Library Association, and the Union Literary Association. The cause of the change was the discontinuance of the Men's Literary Society, and the insufficiency of the old organization to meet the needs of new conditions. It had been increasingly borne in upon members of the Association that a change was necessary to adapt the old methods to the new aims and needs. As a result the present organization while continuing to carry on the functions of the old, has in it the provision for increasing the scope of its activities and doing them more effectively. Through all the reorganization, the various forms of Student Unions in the colleges and universities throughout the United States have been kept in mind and the constitution has been modeled to provide for growth. The hope of those interested is that Oberlin may eventually have a united student body, organized in such a way that the student activities, which can best be controlled by some such central organization, will unite to eliminate waste and to promote effectiveness in serving the various needs of students here. The past year has been one of consolidation—the future should see an extended control beyond the present organizations of the Review, the U. L. A. Lecture Course, the Oberlin College Magazine, and Debate.

Officers

Kenneth C. Bunker	-----	President
Margaret Wilder	-----	Vice-President
R. J. Herberts	-----	Financial Manager
Frances Pratt	-----	Secretary

First Row: Taylor, Blair, W. Ludwig, N. Ludwig, Wilder, Norton, Williams.
Second Row: Roberts, McClelland, Church, Fraser, Steer, Muhlbach, Milford, Habel.
Third Row: Pray, Chatfield, Fletcher, Griffith, Robinson, Van Brunt, Schroeder.
Fourth Row: McMenemy, Fauver, Van Raalte, McCarthy, Horn.

L. L. S.

L. L. S. never started with more enthusiasm than that which launched the year 1920-21. Applications for membership came in fast and the society this year has had to mourn the lack of places in the society rather than the lack of girls to fill them. This is due to the return to normal after the unfortunate conditions of the war period.

The work of the year centered about the Psychology to the Modern Drama. There has been an earnest inquiry into the causes for the productions of such plays as "The King of the Dark Chamber" and "Great Galeato." The extempore problem was met in a variety of interesting ways—discussions, debates, and an occasional meeting given over entirely to its cause. Parliamentary drill and bona fide debates were introduced at appropriate times.

The attractiveness of the society headquarters, redecorated and beautified by loyal alumni, has been conducive to an abundant and highly satisfactory social aspect. It has been the pleasure of the society to have its full quota of social functions. The entire year has been marked by a high degree of interest and enthusiasm.

Officers

Kennette Griffith	-----	President
Mary McMenemy	-----	Treasurer
Ruth Pray	-----	Corresponding Secretary
Margaret Williams	-----	Social Chairman

Gray · Knowlton · Thompson · Terborgh · Kennedy · Evans
 Early · Boyle · Child · Hamilton · Hodges · Wright · Warner
 Burgner · Schleeman · Youtz · Kim · Reese

Aelioian

The Aelioian Literary Society this year has studied modern dramatists. While there has been no opportunity for detailed study, in each case we have attempted to learn the main facts about the dramatist's life and work with a more intimate study of one of the more important of his plays. We have written no papers, but have given talks and reports. Our reason for this is two-fold. In the first place, we feel that throughout the college course, from the first class in Freshman composition to the last seminar of the Senior year, the student has plenty of practice in writing papers. In the second place, we see the increasing demand for the woman who can speak in public and the resulting need for practice in that work. As a further aid in this direction we have laid emphasis on the time-honored extemporaneous speech and extemporaneous debate. We have also had practice in parliamentary drill in which we have discussed and decided many momentous questions.

We are especially happy over the renovation of our society room. We earned our curtains, ourselves, by means of a benefit movie. The most of the work, however, was done by our alumnae and we are very grateful to them. In particular, we wish to express our appreciation to Miss Swift, our alumnae association president, for her great interest and help.

Officers

Alice Child	-----	President
Corinne Evans	-----	Vice-President
Mary E. Hamilton	-----	Treasurer
Ruth Terborgh	-----	Corresponding Secretary
Alice Caldwell	-----	Recording Secretary

First Row: McKee, Naumann, Mickey, Coole, Lang, Dinwiddie, Shelton.
Second Row: Pauley, Rinehart, Bucher, Hunt, Quayle, Warren, Smith, Park.
Third Row: Ballintine, Griswold, Larson, Kellogg, Hayden, Lockwood, Bruce, Williams.
Fourth Row: Goetz, Taber, Eakins, Halvorson, Westerfield, English.

Phi Alpha Phi

Phi Alpha Phi has had a red letter year. The membership limit was soon reached and every member of the society worked with enthusiasm and with the desire to make this year count more than any of the preceding years.

The opera was the vast and extensive subject of study during the year, and it proved intensely fascinating and instructive to each member. To Mr. Dickinson, who gave us several programs of those operas which were included in our course of study, we owe a debt of gratitude for his kindly interest in our work and his helpful suggestions in planning our programs for the year. Nor was this all that was included in the society's plans for the year. Phi Alpha Phi has always considered the social side of man's nature as a necessary part of his development, and hence this phase was given play in several meetings where parliamentary drill was forgotten.

We regret to see this year pass, but we hope we have carried on the ideal of "mental wakefulness" and good fellowship that was established by the founders of the society, and that those members following in our footsteps will be as inspired by the power of deep friendships and mutual interest as were the members of Phi Alpha Phi of the year 1921.

Officers

Rena Kellogg	President
Jean Larson	Vice-President
Jessie Hayden	Secretary
Nola Westerfield	Corresponding Secretary
Kathryn Naumann	Treasurer

Hyde Dunham Welty
 Jones Rossiter McKibben Brooks Newcome

Intercollegiate Debate

For the first time in her history Oberlin College was a participant during the past year in two intercollegiate triangular debating leagues. For twenty-five years Oberlin has been a member of the Ohio Intercollegiate Debating League which is composed of Ohio Wesleyan University, Western Reserve University and Oberlin College. The beginning of the debating season saw so much interest manifested in forensics that it was found advisable to enter into a second debating triangle composed of the College of Wooster, Heidelberg University and Oberlin College.

The Oberlin-Wesleyan-Reserve debates were held on January 21st. The question debated was: "Resolved, That the Federal Government should own and operate the coal mines of the United States. Constitutionality waived." Oberlin proposed the question and the choice of sides was made by Western Reserve. Owing to the recent coal shortages and the congressional inquiries and investigations during the past Winter, the question was not only a very timely one, but a good proposition for intercollegiate forensics.

The Oberlin affirmative team met the Wesleyan negative at Delaware while the negative team met Reserve's affirmative on the home floor. The Delaware debate was lost to Ohio Wesleyan while the home debate was won by a split decision. It was a unique and striking fact that in all three of the contests, the affirmative teams lost and the negatives won, resulting in each school having one winning and one losing team. Both Oberlin teams put up a good stiff fight on the question and are to be commended on the outcome of the clash. It is to be hoped that Oberlin debaters may have the opportunity to participate in future debates to such an extent that they too may have acquired the merited appellation "veteran" which so aptly applies to O. W. U. men.

Widener Dewey Wilson Wheeler
Benton Adams Lahman Fowell Prof. Edwards

Professor Davis Edwards coached the triangular debates for the first semester, and is to be congratulated on the splendid work he has done. The renewed activity and interest in debate is due in a large measure to his untiring efforts. At the end of the first semester Professor Edwards went to the University of Wisconsin to complete his post graduate work. He will come back to Oberlin next fall full of new energy and enthusiasm for debate work.

Professor Edwards' absence during the second semester left the varsity debaters without a coach for the Oberlin-Wooster-Heidelberg triangle, and Mr. Chester Dunham of the Graduate School of Theology was secured to fill the position. Mr. Dunham is a graduate of the University of Chicago and had considerable training and experience in debating while in school there.

The question to be debated in the Oberlin-Wooster-Heidelberg triangle was: "Resolved, That England should grant the absolute independence of Ireland." The Oberlin affirmative team meets the Wooster negative on the home floor and the negative meets Heidelberg's affirmative at Tiffin. Because of the acute political situation between England and Ireland the question was a very appropriate one and much interest was manifested in it.

At the time that this article goes to press these triangular debates have not come to an issue, but it may be predicted, after observing the good work done by Mr. Dunham and the teams when they meet for practice, that they stand an excellent chance to win both contests.

The splendid work done by both of the debate coaches and the teams insures a permanent place for intercollegiate forensics in the future.

Kaserman Hyde Baumhart Habel Dawson
 Pauley Hahn Clark Lansdale Zachry McPeck
 Hanawalt Ballintine Van Raalte Williams

The Oberlin Review

Founded in April, 1874, the Oberlin Review, the college newspaper published semi-weekly, has developed from the small magazine-size bi-weekly into the present five column newspaper, and, if present progress continues, the college classes not many years from now will find the Review enlarged into an eight column paper carrying the latest telegraph news from all over the world.

Why is there a Review? Chiefly, the answer comes, because college students are human. People are interested in themselves, and the newspaper offers the most practical means of centralized collecting and uniform dissemination of the chief facts concerning what is going on in the college, or what is happening elsewhere which affects the college and student body.

In addition to presenting news of the chief events in the college life accurately and concisely, the Review follows a well-defined editorial policy of stimulating interest in the worth-while movements and attractions which have been or should be placed before the students. An effort is made to interpret the deeper significance of current affairs.

One of the special features which the Review offered this year was a series of vocational articles written by representative members of the alumni in various occupations. This was an attempt on the part of the editors to put cross-section and birdseye views of remunerative vocations by experienced authorities before the undergraduate body.

In charge of the 1920-21 Review were:

Robert T. Lansdale, '21	-----	Editor
Max Hahn, '22	-----	Managing Editor
Wilson J. Clark, '21	-----	Business Manager

*First Row: McKee, Mickey, Rinehart, Thurston, Waite, Ludwig, Dale, Beckman, Vining, Stebbins.
Second Row: Coale, Fish, Peter, Quayle, Ela, Miller, Bruce, Jones, Wishart.
Third Row: Davis, Bray, Gulick, Cook, Walsh, Ballintine, Kilts.
Fourth Row: Tussing, McHenry, Lorenz, Bell, Robinson, Horn, Ford, Kinney.*

Boarding House Representatives

Are we proud of them? Well, I guess! A better company never lived. They battled the exams, the wintry storms, and the protests of their comrades, and steadily pushed on for the cause of the 1922 Hi-O-Hi. A real honest-to-goodness group of enthusiastic workers who have the best interests of the school at heart and who have sacrificed many a good time in order that their Alma Mater might have an annual worthy of representing Oberlin.

They began their good work by enticing Iona to come play with them. With her assistance and by means of her pranks they aroused the curiosity of the natives and sojourners of Oberlin in such a way that the 1922 Hi-O-Hi became known to all. Taking advantage of this curiosity and with untiring efforts, the diligent workers went after subscriptions. Needless to say that with such a bevy of girls, the subscriptions came fast and furious. But alas! Their work did not end with the enlisting of subscriptions. They were called upon for information regarding their boarding houses and other details too numerous to mention. Many a problem was met and solved through their assistance.

This group furnished what might be called the connecting link between the student body and the Board of Management. No one realizes the details involved, and what is demanded, unless it be the Board of Management, and it is only with the co-operation of this group that the annual is made possible.

Should you grant this annual a success, we want you to know who helped to make it so, and to whom the credit should go. We want to enlist your support and invite you to join us in reminding this group that it is indeed not a thankless job. We also want you to know that you have had the services of the most representative women in the school and we know that you will join us when we shout: "Hats off, ladies and gentlemen—to this loyal patriotic group of workers."

Graber
Ward

Newsom
Stiles

McLaughlin
Goodell

Warner
Davies

The Oberlin College Magazine

The change of name from the Oberlin Literary Magazine to the Oberlin College Magazine was made with the intention of emphasizing the widened scope of college interest upon which this year's staff had decided for the publication. The purpose of the magazine has always been to offer an opportunity for those who feel the urge of the creative instinct to see themselves in print and to allow the rest of the student body to read what is being done in the way of original writing. Short stories, poems, essays, and general articles make up the bulk of each issue. While the literary standard has been kept as high as in previous years, it was felt that some attention might well be paid to those interests that are in fields other than that of the fountain pen. With this in mind a department devoted to humor was added, and each issue now contains a section made up of the best wit that can be found at home and abroad. There is also a monthly article on some phase of the athletic situation at Oberlin.

One of the most important changes was in the cover design, which had formerly remained uniform throughout the entire year. Miss Helen Davies became a member of the staff as art editor, and she has provided each number with a special cover expressive of the spirit of the season. Her fine work has done much to increase interest in the magazine, as well as to add to its attractiveness.

The support of the Oberlin College Magazine has been most gratifying. After an extensive campaign in the fall, the subscription list passed all previous records with over five hundred fifty paid subscribers. It can only be hoped that the publication will continue to hold its place on the campus as a definite part of the college activities.

The Staff

J. Stanton McLaughlin	-----	Editor
Willard J. Graber	-----	Business Manager
Associate Editors:
Helen M. Goodell		F. Earl Ward
Doris Stiles		Lucien H. Warner
	J. Harold Wilson
Helen M. Davies	-----	Art Editor
E. Earle Newsom	-----	Wit and Humor

The Oberlin Alumni Magazine

The Oberlin Alumni Magazine is in its seventeenth year. It was established by a group of men and women at the college seat who formed for the purpose a stock corporation under the laws of Ohio. Though the project was started thus nominally as a private undertaking, its founders had no other intention than to make it a spokesman for the whole alumni body. The original purpose has been studiously maintained.

By the terms of the constitution of the new general alumni association, adopted at Oberlin last June, the Alumni Magazine is to become "the official bulletin and publication" of the association. General direction of the magazine will be one of the duties of the executive secretary, who is yet to be selected when this is written.

Though the alumni association came into nominal existence at the last Commencement, it was found that it could not begin to function properly before the fall of 1921. During the present year, therefore, it was deemed wise to continue the Alumni Magazine under its former management. The magazine should make its appearance as "the official bulletin and publication" at the opening of the collegiate year next fall.

Several manifest advantages are anticipated when the association becomes sponsor for the publication. The magazine will have a larger clientele. It should be able to speak with greater authority. At the same time we hope it may maintain its present spirit of independence and be willing to express unpleasant opinions, if necessary, as well as pleasant ones.

It has been our opinion from the first that the function of the Alumni Magazine was to serve as an avenue of helpful communication between alumni and college and between college and alumni, as an interpreter of each to the other, as an organ of alumni news and opinion, as something of a gossip but never a scold, as an Oberlin booster always but never an apologist, as a reflection of alumni activities and alumni aspirations for a gradually better and greater Oberlin.

We do not believe this creed of the Oberlin Alumni Magazine will be seriously altered when the publication comes under the control of the alumni association.

ALBERT H. SHAW,
Editor-in-Chief.

Clubs

OBERLIN CLUBS. They are not the Cyclopean kind, huge and jagged and uncouth. Rather they are small and numerous and fulfill many purposes. None of them are purely social functions as sororities and fraternities are, but all of them further friendships, and mutual interest, along with useful knowledge. Some of the clubs emphasize utility more than others. The French Club is one of these, since often the conversation is all in French. Other clubs are strikingly Oberlin-like, because they show our cosmopolitan nature. In this class would come the Cosmopolitan Club and the Chinese Club, both of which are to promote friendly relations with foreign students. And there is the Menorah Society, which is made up of Jewish people and Gentiles, who together study Jewish literature.

The most recent and vivacious clubs are the two Liberal Clubs, one of men only and the other made up of girls. These clubs have been organized in the last two years to create a new interest in questions that come up before the public eye, national questions and international questions. It is well to have such clubs, which stimulate interest in things of importance in an outside world, while we peruse the pages of ancient history and travel far into the realm of the ideal. So it is the aim of the Liberal Clubs to link us to the happenings of the world into which we soon are thrust.

Thus, the various clubs undertake their various aims. But how different a club is from a class. They offer so much greater chance for mutual friendships and lively arguments. Students become better acquainted with fellow students, form new and broader relationships with professors who may receive inspiration in the unfolding of young minds. Therefore clubs are a great benefit to all who participate.

First Row: Church, Green, Johnson, Williams, Boyden, Lions, Newcomb, Stewart, Hurd, Cleveland, Dinwiddie, McBurty, Bruce, Baker, Smith, Schmucker, Downing.
Second Row: Steer, Sill, Bates, Lazenby, Tassart, Simpson, Babione, Lamb, Coates, Griffith, Earle.
Third Row: Kelsay, Goodell, Prof. Jameson, Mrs. Cowdery, Prof. Cowdery, Griswold, Prof. Thornton, Avery, Warren.
Fourth Row: Horne, Stebbins, Taber, Horton, Temkin, Bell, Lafever, Green, Blackwell, Kennedy.
Fifth Row: Kalbfell, King, Ludwig, Codella, Badger, Post, Bruce, Warner.

The French Club

The members of the Cercle Francaise have found the weekly meetings of the club more interesting this year than ever before. Programs of singing and games have been varied with special music appropriate to the club and also several short plays. These plays were, in part, the "tryouts" for the cast of the big play presented in the Spring. Other special features were the annual Christmas program, proceeds of which went to French war orphans; lectures by Dr. E. B. de Sauze, of Cleveland, and plays given by M. Emile Villemin of New York and his company. The membership this year is greater than ever before. Some forty members attend regularly and many others show intermittent interest.

Officers

Prof. R. P. Jameson	Director
Lewis Horton	President
Katharine Griswold	Vice-President
Margaret Sill	Secretary
Marion Tussing	Corresponding Secretary
Prof. J. B. DeForest	Treasurer
Millicent Steer	Assistant Treasurer
Katherine Bruce	Librarian
Isabel Green	Pianist

First Row: Curtis, Bent, Johnson, Welty, Zavory, Vermilya, Liu.
Second Row: Kaloyan, Lahman, Cornelius, Woo, Salter, Cressey, Louis, Wilkinson.
Third Row: Ma, Choo, Lion, Gulick, Prof. Sherman, Bunker, Oshima, Stratton.
Fourth Row: Kunitomo, Higuchi, Jacobson, Temkin, Kim, Kim, Humbles.
Fifth Row: Stunegima, Sharigian, Codella, Dakessian.

The Oberlin Cosmopolitan Club

Starting out in the Fall with the slogan "One hundred per cent enrollment of all foreign students" the Cosmopolitan Club has had a very successful year. Its membership numbers about eighty, two-thirds of whom are foreign students,—representing some dozen different countries—China, Japan, Korea, India, Hawaii, Russia, Italy, Greece, Armenia, South Africa, Hungary, Austria, England, East India, Canada, Bulgaria and France.

By means of social meetings, hikes, parties, lectures and discussions the club has helped to develop that spirit of friendship and better understanding between individuals and between nations toward which the international Association of Corda Fratres looks with its motto: "Above all nations is humanity."

The one big annual public affair put on by the club is International Night. The Chapel is always packed for this event.

Next year the various chapters of Corda Fratres will be in closer connection than ever before, for they expect to have a permanent field secretary to direct the work as a whole. With a live bunch of members and with big plans for the future, it is hoped to make the Oberlin Cosmopolitan Club mean even more in the life of the College and the lives of foreign and American members next year than it has during the fourteen years that have passed since the local chapter was organized. The club offers to the students of Oberlin College an ideal opportunity to inspire the future leaders of the world who are in training at American Universities, and if we Americans have ideals worth promoting they are but idle dreams lest we promote them. The trail is blazed ahead by the experience of History and Oberlin will follow the trail.

*First Row: Young, Wong, Lung, Ma, Liew.
 Second Row: Leon, Cheng, Woo, Shen, Louis, Mui.
 Third Row: Tsao, Soo-Hoo, Wang, Chen, Wong, Liu, Wang.
 Fourth Row: Chai, Liew, Chau, Mui, Koo, Liew.
 Absentees: Chang, Fung, Kuh, Luw, Loui, Tsao.*

The Chinese Students' Club

The Oberlin Chinese Students' Club, organized in October, 1914, is of vital interest and importance to its members. It is one of the many connecting links of the Chinese Students' Alliance in North America, together with which we endeavor to work for the welfare of the Chinese Republic at home and abroad, to promote friendship, and to stimulate the common interests of the Chinese Students in this country.

The membership at present numbers thirty, eleven of whom are young women. Twelve different provinces are represented.

Our club holds regular monthly business meetings, which are usually followed by a social hour. Another feature of our organization is the weekly Sunday afternoon meetings in which we discuss the various vital problems concerning our beloved country and her citizens. The members take turns in leading the discussions, and occasionally we are fortunate in having outside speakers who give us much enlightenment on current questions. These Sunday meetings are held in the home of our dear "Mother Williams," who is an honorary member of our club, and is always a true friend in every sense of the word.

Officers

K. M. Chen	-----	President
Lily Soo-Hoo	-----	Vice-President
Minnie C. Chan	-----	English Secretary
M. S. Chang	-----	Chinese Secretary
Y. C. Wang	-----	Treasurer
A. S. Young	-----	Auditor

Rosen Isseks Goldstein Vining Rosofsky
 Prof. Fullerton Levine S. Zekind K. Zekind Baker
 B. Temkin Zimmerman L. Temkin Goldstein

The Menorah Society

Contrary to general belief, the Menorah Society is not a religious organization. It is fundamentally a literary society, with a definite field of study. It was organized at Harvard College, in 1907, by a band of students, both Gentile and Jewish, for the advancement and study of Jewish ideals and culture, found in politics, literature, and the arts. The movement spread to other colleges and universities, until now there are nearly one hundred such societies organized into the Intercollegiate Menorah Society, with headquarters in New York City.

The Oberlin branch was started in the Spring of 1918, with about six members. Not much work was accomplished that year, but Rabbi Wolsey, of Cleveland, was invited to speak, and enthusiasm ran high. From year to year new members have joined, and the work improved until now we feel that the society stands firmly on its feet.

This year the society has heard excellent papers by its members on Jewish reconstruction, as well as current events. Professor H. A. Miller gave an instructive and interesting talk on the Jewish situation in Europe, and plans are being made for talks relating to the Jewish situation and other current issues.

Officers

Stella C. Zekind	President
Bertha Temkin	Vice-President
Rose Zekind	Secretary
Z. S. Zimmerman	Treasurer
Dorothy Baker	Social Chairman

First Row: La Rocca, Burns, Vermilya, Anderson, Welty, Jones, Herberts.
Second Row: Wedel, Ely, Hinman, Williams, Matheson, Huntley, Cressy, Lyons.
Third Row: Prof. Miller, Newcome, Prof. Geiser, Lahman, Salter, Prof. Fullerton, Burd, Dr. Hannah.
Fourth Row: Steer, Wheeler, McKibben, Curtis, Daniels.

The Men's Liberal Club

The Liberal Club has come to stay. Though its existence dates only from the winter of 1919-20, it has established itself firmly as a campus activity that fills a long-felt need. With the dissolution of the Men's Literary Societies it was felt that there should be an organization for the study and discussion of national and world problems of current interest.

The Club opened the year by staging a big non-partisan political Forum in the Chapel a week preceding the Presidential election. This Forum took the nature of a three-cornered discussion between representatives of the Republican, Democratic, and Protest positions. The speakers for the evening representing these respective points of view, were: Paul C. Howland, former Congressman of Cleveland; Thomas B. Fletcher, editor of the Marion "Tribune"; Norman Thomas of New York, editor of the "World Tomorrow".

Other prominent speakers who addressed open meetings held under the auspices of the Club were: Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the "Nation"; Professor Felix Frankfurter and Dean Roscoe Pound, both of the Harvard University Law School. During the year, Richard C. Barnum, recent Vice-Presidential nominee on the Single Tax ticket, addressed the Club upon the Single Tax proposal. Others who spoke were: Wilmer J. Young, State Senator J. F. Burk, Ivan Yaroslantvieff, who told of conditions in Russia under Soviet rule. The four honorary members in the faculty, Professors Hannah, Geiser, H. A. Miller, and Fullerton, also spoke at times upon interesting and timely subjects throughout the year.

Officers

John T. Salter	-----	President
O. F. Mathiasen	-----	Vice-President
Carroll P. Lahman	-----	Secretary
Ralph T. Huntley	-----	Treasurer
Theodore E. Jones	-----	Librarian

First Row: Beard, Roberts, Kent, Miller, Van Alstine, Robinson, Hamilton, Syme, Hodges.
Second Row: Earle, Muhlbach, Goetz, Steer, Barnard, Eimert, Chatfield, Lacey, Steer.
Third Row: Cook, Young, Randall, Stratton, Ewing, Hoff, Temkin, Edgerton.

The Women's Liberal Club

The Women's Liberal Club was organized in the Fall of 1918. There was felt a need for an organization in which economic, social and political problems could be studied. This was the stimulus which resulted in the formation of the club. A constitution has been drawn up and approved by the college, and the club is actively working. A Faculty Advisory Committee of four has been selected which meets with the Executive Committee. This committee, while having no authority nor responsibility as to any actions of the club, stands ready to offer any advice that is needed.

Meetings are held regularly every two weeks, though special meetings are called when a speaker of merit can be secured. An open discussion follows the address. Some members of the Faculty, who are authorities in their lines, have been very generous in offering their information and experience to the club. Also many outside speakers have been secured and plans are made for several more, such as Oswald Garrison Villard, Lincoln Steffens, John Haynes Holmes, Dean Roscoe Pound and other well known lecturers.

Another side of the work of the club is directly among its members. Different committees were formed on certain questions, such as the Irish Question, the Haiti Question, the Russian problem, Industrial Democracies, and other social problems. The members of these committees will study these problems individually throughout the year and occasional reports are planned.

Officers

Margaret R. Steer	President
Margaret Barnard	Vice-President
Dorothy M. Goetz	Secretary
Helen K. Eimert	Treasurer
Lillian E. Muhlbach	Publicity Chairman

Campus Scene

The Oberlin Art Association

THE Oberlin Art Association is an organization founded in 1912 to promote interest in the Fine Arts in Oberlin and its vicinity. Its membership is open to all who care to join whether members of the college or not. It is the aim of the association to bring to Oberlin from four to five exhibitions and to give from six to eight lectures each year. During the present college year, an exhibition of water colors and oils was held during January. An exhibition of paintings loaned by the Metropolitan Museum is to be on display during February and the annual Rotary exhibit of the American Water Color Society is to be shown during March. Two illustrated lectures have already been held and others are to follow. It is planned, wherever possible, to hold gallery talks in connection with the exhibitions. The present membership includes nearly one hundred students, one of whom is each year elected to membership on the Board of Directors. The student director this year is Miss Elizabeth Zachry.

Dramatics

THE principal professional performances in English were the Ibsen plays presented by Mme. Brogny Hammer and her company in the Spring of 1920, and the dramatic interpretations given by Miss Dorothea Spinney last October.

Mme. Hammer, the brilliant Norwegian actress, gave a powerful presentation of Hedda Gabler, which made a deep impression on the audience. Her acting showed a native understanding of that complex character which made her peculiarly fitted to master and interpret the part. She handled excellently the transitions from pathos to ridicule and from laughter to momentary frenzy. Her rich and full toned voice and her distinguished bearing made her stage presence admirable.

In "The Master Builder," which is a drama of the human mind, Mme. Hammer and Rolf Hammer broke the barrier between audience and players. They brought to the public that intangible quality lying in the depths of the play, that abstract quality which is almost impossible to interpret for others, and they made it clear, vital, absorbing.

Miss Dorothea Spinney in her interpretation of the "Alcestis of Euripides" stirred the imagination of her audience not only by the fact that she was the sole interpreter of all the parts and that her setting was hardly more than a suggestion, but by the superbly artistic rendering which she gave. By her rare talent she made each of the widely different characters a distinct personage, showing a thoroughly intellectual grasp of portrayal. Especially pleasing was her rendering of the chorus. Her pose, gestures, and exquisite voice made a harmony that is best compared to the rhythm of music and the majesty of sculptured line.

Miss Spinney undertook a difficult task in rendering "Hamlet," but she gave an impressive interpretation, bringing out the beauty of the lines, though not all her characterizations were convincing. She interpreted "Hamlet" in accordance with the view that Goethe held of him: "A lovely, pure, noble and most moral nature without the strength of nerve, which forms a hero, sinks beneath a burden which it cannot bear and must cast away." Miss Spinney's finest acting was in the scene between Hamlet and the queen and in Ophelia's mad scene.

Prof. Sherman Andrews Prof. Baker Prof. Jameson Prof. Taft
 Prof. Jelliffe Jenson Prof. Dickinson Stiles Prof. Alexander Prof. Edwards

The Dramatic Association

The Oberlin Dramatic Association is aiming to become a more vital element in the college life, both in the quality of the work presented and in the interest aroused among the students and the alumni. A department to encourage students in writing one-act plays to be produced by the association was introduced this year.

A much needed stage has been constructed in Sturges Hall, which gives the students an ample opportunity for the production of smaller plays. The proscenium is twenty feet wide and the lighting which is that of the most modern theaters, comes from above. Two small sets have been recently completed: a general exterior and a combination of scenes suitable for any interior. This latter is a modification of Gordon Craig's multiple set, adapted by Sam Hume in the Detroit Arts and Crafts Theater. Dressing rooms will be equipped in the basement of Sturges Hall.

The officers for the year 1920-1921 are:

- | | | |
|----------------------|-----------|---------------------------|
| Prof. A. I. Taft | - - - - - | Chairman of Board |
| Prof. R. A. Jelliffe | - - - - - | Secretary of Board |
| Prof. L. Alexander | - - - - - | Treasurer of Board |
| Whitfield Andrews | - - - - - | President |
| Doris Stiles | - - - - - | Vice-President |
| Carol Jenson | - - - - - | Secretary |

In the Spring of last year the one-act plays: "Suppressed Desires," "Back of the Yards," and "The Twelve Pound Look", were performed with merit on the part of a number of the players and received well deserved praise.

The big production of the year was the commencement play, "The Admirable Crichton," in which the handling of the English accent, the misfortunes of the ship-wrecked vacationists, and the sarcasm of some of the nobility proved no drawbacks to the enthusiasm with which the coach, Professor Jelliffe, and the cast entered into the spirit of the play. The play was considered a marked success. The parts winning special praise were played by Alice Lockwood, as Lady Mary; Geraldine Crawford as Tweeny, the maid; and James Childers as Crichton. To Prof. Jelliffe is due gratitude for his untiring efforts.

"The Admirable Crichton"

Cast

Crichton	James S. Childers
Ernest	H. A. Holden Pray
Lady Catherine	Hope Townsley
Lady Agatha	Gladys Rowley
Lady Mary	Alice Lockwood
Treherne	Robert S. Fletcher
Lord Loam	Harold W. Baker
Lord Brocklehurst	Whitfield Andrews
Fisher	Leontine Wright
Naval Officer	Millard Fuller
Lady Brocklehurst	Elizabeth Zachry
Tweeny	Geraldine Crawford

"Suppressed Desires"

Cast

Stephen Brewster	G. Whitfield Andrews, Jr.
Henrietta Brewster	Alice L. Lockwood
Mabel	Mildred Williams

"Tickless Time"

Cast

Ian Joyce, who has made a sun-dial	G. Whitfield Andrews, Jr.
Eloise Joyce, wedded to the sun-dial	Alice L. Lockwood
Mrs. Stubbs, a native	Katharine L. Griswold
Eddy Knight, a standardized mind	Willard J. Graber
Alice Knight, standardized wife	Mary Schroeder
Annie, who cooks by the Joyce's clock	Gladys Rowley

"Queen Catherine Parr"

Cast

K. Parr	-----	M. M. Williams,	'21
King Henry VIII	-----	R. J. Crossen,	'21
Page	-----	K. L. Griswold,	'22

"The Golden Doom"

Cast

The King	-----	E. E. Newsom,	'21
Chamberlain	-----	R. J. Crossen,	'21
Chief Prophet	-----	W. J. Graber,	'21
Girl	-----	Miss B. L. Cook,	'22
Boy	-----	Miss M. M. Williams,	'21
First Prophet	-----	H. V. N. Hilberry,	'21
Second Prophet	-----	S. T. Burns,	'21
First Sentry	-----	C. P. Lahman,	'21
Second Sentry	-----	G. W. Nethercut,	'21
Spies	}	-----	G. W. Andrews,	'21
		-----	F. S. Hutchins,	'23
Stranger	-----	P. B. Richardson,	'23
Attendant	-----	Miss K. L. Griswold,	'22

Music

THE series of concerts for 1920-1921 have again fully maintained the high standard which has come to be taken for granted in this course. The series was opened by Mr. E. Robert Schmitz, French pianist. He presented to Oberlin for the first time modern French music, and gave a very interesting program. In connection with this, he very kindly gave a talk in the afternoon of the day of his recital, on Modern Music, dealing especially with Debussy and his style. This was well attended and highly appreciated by many members of the Conservatory faculty and student body. The second recital in the series, by Mr. Reinald Werrenrath, Baritone, was a delight to all. Especially do we still cherish the memory of his delightful French songs. Mr. Ossip Gabrilowitsch, as soloist, in the D minor concerto by Mozart, was the feature in the concert by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra for this year. Especially did he show his genius and mastery through his exquisite shading and poetic feeling in the very simplest parts of the Romanza. The Ensemble Music for Piano and Violin by Mrs. William Mason Bennett and Mrs. Charlotte Demuth Williams held interest not only for the beauty of the artistic performance, but also because both artists are members of the Conservatory Faculty. The program of the New York Orchestra contained Beethoven's Fifth Symphony, well-known and always enjoyed by all. This was no doubt played in commemoration of Beethoven's birth, 1920 being the hundred and fiftieth anniversary of that event. Mr. Jacques Thibaud, the famous French violinist, gave a most fitting finale to this very successful course. Bach's Air for G string still lingers in our memory, and no one disputes his place as one of the leading violinists in the country.

A list of the concerts of the second semester will be found on page 87.

The Oberlin Musical Union

The Musical Union has once more reached its pre-war strength so far as the size and quality of the chorus are concerned. The last concerts have given clear evidence of this. The rendition of the difficult "Aida" at the 1920 Spring Festival, and the brilliant performance of the "Elijah" at the recent holiday concert, have shown that on the artistic side the Union is at present in a very satisfactory condition. But alas! Art can scarcely ever be divorced from certain practical considerations. The recent staggering increase in the expense of giving a concert of the calibre demanded by the Oberlin audience, and the fact that the community falls short of granting that margin of support which would enable the Union to pay expenses, make the future of the enterprise somewhat uncertain. It is only because of the generous attitude of the management of the Cleveland Orchestra that the "Elijah" concert could be given under favorable conditions. If some of the interest which is now absorbed by entertainments which are admittedly inferior in artistic value to the great choral concerts which have helped to make Oberlin known all over the country, can be recovered for these concerts, all will be well. Otherwise the enforced termination of the work of the Oberlin Musical Union is near at hand.

Officers

C. W. Savage	-----	President
R. P. Jameson	-----	Vice-President
Harley L. Lutz	-----	Treasurer
A. S. Kimball	-----	Assistant Conductor
Bruce Davis	-----	Organist
Kenneth Bunker	-----	Secretary
G. Whitfield Andrews	-----	Librarian

Spring Festival, 1920

"THE SPECTRE'S BRIDE," A. DVORAK
 Dr. G. W. Andrews ----- Conductor
 April 26, 1920

Soloists

Miss Lucille Lawrence, Soprano.
 Mr. Judson House, Tenor.
 Mr. J. Campbell-McInness, Baritone.
 The Cleveland Symphony Orchestra

Symphony Concert

April 27, 3:15 P. M.
 THE CLEVELAND SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
 Nikolai Sokoloff, Conductor.

"AIDA" ----- G. Verdi
 Dr. Geo. W. Andrews, Conductor.
 April 27, 8:00 P. M.

Soloists

Miss Lucile Lawrence, Soprano.
 Miss Emma Roberts, Contralto.
 Mr. Paul Costello, Tenor.
 Mr. J. Campbell-McInness, Baritone.
 Mr. Edgar Schofield, Bass.
 The Cleveland Symphony Orchestra

Holiday Concert, December 16, 1920

"ELIJAH" ----- Mendelssohn
 The Cleveland Symphony Orchestra
 Dr. Geo. W. Andrews, Conductor.

Soloists

Mrs. Robert Maitland, Soprano.
 Miss Frances Sanderson, Contralto.
 Mr. Robert Maitland, Bass.
 Mrs. C. W. Savage, Soprano.
 Mrs. G. H. Hastings, Contralto.
 Miss Patricia McDonald, Contralto.
 Mr. Herbert Harroun, Tenor.
 Mr. Chas. H. Adams, Bass.

May Festival, 1921

Symphony Concert by the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra
 May 2nd

"LOHENGRIN" ----- R. Wagner
 May 3rd

The Conservatory Orchestra

Perhaps very few of us realize, when we hear the Conservatory Orchestra in its public performances, just how industrious and important an organization it really is. The orchestra meets regularly twice a week, and practices various standard orchestral works under the able and inspiring direction of the conductor, Dr. Andrews. In these rehearsals they study a number of the well known symphonies, as well as shorter pieces for orchestra, and a number of concertos for piano with orchestral accompaniment. In these latter numbers, the orchestra renders a particularly valuable service to the graduating piano students of the conservatory, in their senior recitals. Besides having the regular rehearsals each week, the orchestra makes at least one appearance in chapel each year, and several appearances at the conservatory student recitals on Wednesday evenings.

This year the orchestra was larger than it has been for several years, and also contained a better group of players than usual. The string section was especially good, not only in the fact that it was larger, but in general talent, as well. This gave a better balance to the ensemble than it has usually had, and the organization was further strengthened by the addition of one or two to the wood-wind section, and an extra horn or two to the brass.

During the fall the orchestra worked on the famous Mozart Symphony in C Major, better known as the "Jupiter Symphony." After that they took up the Beethoven Fourth Symphony, and later the "Indian Suite" of McDowell. Two of the shorter pieces which they studied were "Pomp and Circumstance," by Sir Edward Elgar, and "Valse Noble," by their own director, Dr. Andrews. Altogether the season was a very successful one, and it is hoped that next year will prove to be as good, if not better.

Nye Bowen Rowell Walters Cruikshank Kinnear Stem Prof. Frederick
 Sprout Robinson Anders Hopkins Pierce Aughenbach Gulick Catton
 Williams Jameson Randall Windecker Wieda Wilson Keep

Oberlin College Band

The Oberlin College Band is rapidly coming into its own, and taking its place among the important organizations of Oberlin College students. During the period of the late war, and especially during the S.A.T.C. regime, the band was almost extinct. In the last two years, however, much has been accomplished. The band is once again on its feet, and under the direction of Mr. Walter H. Frederick, Assistant Professor of Wind Instruments in the Conservatory of Music, steady progress is assured.

This year the membership was limited to twenty-five players. Examinations were held to fill these places. Several, who were not admitted to membership, come to practices regularly so as to be ready to fill vacancies as soon as they occur. Several much-needed instruments were bought, and are owned by the band.

The band plays at all home athletic contests and several other important functions during the year. During the football season it accompanied the team to both Wooster and Reserve. With the advent of Spring, the band plans to give several open-air concerts on the campus. A wide variety of selections have been practiced during the year for this purpose. This will be something new for Oberlin and it is expected that it will be met by much approval and appreciation.

Officers

Arthur Williams	President
Samuel E. Wilson	Secretary-Treasurer
James C. Stem	Librarian

United Church Choir

Like two streams which, pursuing each its own course through its own special landscape, finally unite in a deeper flow through broader valleys, and attain a grandeur and a usefulness which neither could have had by itself, so the choirs of First and Second Church have joined to form the United Church Choir, in the full expectation that a richer and more uplifting musical service might be thus attained. This hope is being realized. The number of those who wished to become members of the United Choir at the beginning of the year was very great, and the quality of the voices received was correspondingly excellent. Under the enthusiastic and painstaking leadership of Professor Kimball, supported by Dr. Andrews at the Chapel organ, and with the inspiration of the larger audience, the choir has set its ideal even higher, and is striving to make the musical part of the service more helpful and a more perfect expression of the praise, faith, and aspiration of the worshippers.

The difficulties have not all been overcome. The time which can be snatched for rehearsal is too brief to allow of more than an approximation of the ideal. But the spirit of the organization is fine, and with more experience in the new organization improvement in various directions may be expected.

Officers

Professor Arthur S. Kimball	- - - - -	Director
Professor George W. Andrews	- - - - -	Organist
Wilson J. Clark	- - - - -	President
Miss M. Grace Springer	- - - - -	Vice-President
Theodore Soller	- - - - -	Secretary-Treasurer
Hugh V. R. Wilson	- - - - -	Librarian

Prof. Frederick
Keep

Winslow
Emery

Gearhart
Galanie
Herberts

Brown
Slater

Ayers
Hageman

Burneson

The Mandolin Club

One of the most typical of all college organizations is the Mandolin Club. The musical side of college life can scarcely be called complete without an organization of this kind. The music of mandolin and guitar has always been associated with college days. After a lapse of two years, Oberlin College is once more represented by a live and growing Mandolin Club. It was organized early in the Fall under the direction of Professor Frederick of the Conservatory. Under his leadership the club has developed into a well-balanced organization, which can compare favorably with similar organizations in other colleges. There are at present thirteen members, and the instrumentation includes the following: Four first mandolins, four second mandolins, two guitars, one flute, one mandocello, and one violoncello. The club has but one rehearsal each week, and considering the short time of its existence, plays a very excellent grade of music. Besides the usual popular numbers, the club plays several standard overtures, and numerous classical selections. An outgrowth of the club, perhaps best appreciated by the feminine element in college, has been the formation of serenading groups. These can be heard during the warm nights of the Fall and Spring. The club has appeared on several occasions at informal concerts. The Home Concert, which marked the culmination of the year's work, was held early in the Spring.

Officers

A. M. Keep	-----	President
H. H. Gearhart	-----	Manager
L. G. Burneson	-----	Secretary
W. O. Winslow	-----	Librarian

The Glee Clubs of Oberlin College

No other student organization enjoys quite the unique opportunity and significant task which belongs to the glee clubs of the college. The members of these societies have the benefit of consistent training and co-operative drill through the larger part of each school year and are called upon frequently to represent the college in the concert world. The real test of the success of the glee clubs is found in the continued reception accorded them in their appearances at home and in communities and cities abroad. It is our judgment that the glee clubs for the current year have not only added to the fine records which are theirs but they have also brought distinct credit to the college because of the message of music; this feeling is admirably supported by favorable press comments and by personal letters.

The Men's Glee Club for the year 1920-21 has the distinction of being the first Oberlin club to spend the long vacation in the east. Usually the club has travelled in the middle and western states during the winter recess. For almost three weeks at the Christmas vacation the club gave concerts in New York, New Jersey, and New England States, and in Washington, D. C. Probably at no previous time has the work of an Oberlin club been put along side that of similar organizations from the eastern colleges and universities, and Oberlin has not suffered on account of these comparisons.

The concert work for the third season of the Women's Glee Club is similar to that of the organization for the two previous years. The program was as ambitious and attractive as presented by any other college singing society and the experience of the club at home and abroad gave ample proof that its work makes a general appeal. The short spring recess does not allow the club to travel far from home and yet the concert schedule is sufficiently long and attractive to give the members a worth-while experience and to make it possible for Oberlin to profit on account of such worthy representation.

These organizations, each with a membership of approximately thirty students, embark annually upon an undertaking which is not only remarkable in itself but as extensive as the plans of some of the best musical societies with a maturer personnel and with a guaranteed patronage. The glee clubs are to be congratulated upon the high praise and the fine recognition which they have received during the season of 1920-21.

First Row: Clark, Grant, McLaughlin, Schmitt, Knesal, Norfleet, Wright.
Second Row: Gurney, Stallings, Barden, Lauthers, Andrews, Soller, Metcalf, Newsom.
Third Row: Parkhill, Swan, Graber, Wirkler, Browning, Sanders.
Fourth Row: Richey, Hubbard, Pray, Jolliff, Skidmore, Ward.

Men's Glee Club

First Tenors
Wilson J. Clark	Cleveland, Ohio
George E. Hubbard	Miltonvale, Kansas
Harlan G. Metcalf	Madison, Ohio
Frederick W. Norfleet	Suffolk, Virginia
H. A. Holden Pray	Dayton, Ohio
Harold N. Skidmore	Kalkaska, Michigan
Harry J. Swan	Willard, Ohio
F. Earl Ward	Warren, Pennsylvania
Second Tenors
Benjamin M. Grant	Cleveland, Ohio
Raymond E. Knesal	Petersburg, Ohio
J. Stanton McLaughlin	Sandpoint, Idaho
E. Earle Newsom	Morning Sun, Iowa
Earl O. Sanders	Chagrin Falls, Ohio
Robert C. Wright	Dayton, Ohio
Baritones
G. Whitfield Andrews	Oberlin, Ohio
Frank O. Barden, Jr.	Boyne City, Michigan
Carroll H. Browning	Oberlin, Ohio
William E. Parkhill	Storm Lake, Iowa
Harold A. Richey	Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
Udell H. Stallings	Lansing, Michigan
Basses
Willard J. Graber	Hutchinson, Kansas
Daniel Gurney	Jamestown, New York
Charles W. Lauthers	Bucyrus, Ohio
Marvin J. Schmitt	Moundridge, Kansas
Theodore Soller	Youngstown, Ohio
John E. Wirkler	Oberlin, Ohio
Director and Manager
John E. Wirkler	Oberlin, Ohio
Pianist and Accompanist
Leslie H. Jolliff	Wooster, Ohio
Officers
Willard J. Graber	President
Charles W. Lauthers	Secretary
Harold N. Skidmore	Librarian

Concert Season 1920-1921

November 24th	Vermilion, Ohio
December 10th	Cleveland, Ohio
December 22nd	Jamestown, New York
December 23rd	Niagara Falls, New York
December 23rd	Lockport, New York
December 24th	Clifton Springs, New York
December 25th	Auburn, New York
December 27th	Syracuse, New York
December 30th	Bridgeport, Connecticut
December 31st	Stratford, Connecticut
January 1st	Worcester, Massachusetts
January 3rd	Boston (Hyde Park), Massachusetts
January 4th	Haverhill, Massachusetts
January 6th	Paterson, New Jersey
January 7th	New York City, New York
January 8th	Washington, D. C.
January 20th	Amherst, Ohio
February 19th	Home Concert, Oberlin
February 25th	Hudson, Ohio
February 26th	Akron, Ohio
April 8th	Joint Concert, Cleveland, Ohio
April 18th	Lakewood, Ohio
May 2nd	Cleveland, Ohio

First Row: Ford, Watts, Williams, Metcalf, McKee, Johnson.
Second Row: Cook, Reynolds, Knauff, MacDonald, Watkins, Demo, Masters.
Third Row: Parsons, Fenske, Otto, Peterson, Lang, Bailey.
Fourth Row: Caffall, Wright, Harris, Smith, Hudson, Blackwood, Lewis.

Women's Glee Club

First Sopranos

A. Esther Blackwood	Paterson, New Jersey
Hope T. Ford	Los Angeles, California
Ruth M. Harris	Red Oak, Iowa
Alice B. Lewis	Cleveland, Ohio
Isabel G. Smith	Oil City, Pennsylvania
Marjorie S. Vail	Erie, Pennsylvania
Edna A. Wright	Denison, Iowa

Second Sopranos

Martha A. Bailey	Canton, Ohio
Florence E. Demo	Blue Earth, Minnesota
Lillian A. Johnson	Niagara Falls, New York
Miram F. Knauff	Jamestown, North Dakota
VanDora McKee	Sidney, Ohio
Janet E. Parsons	Huntington, West Virginia

First Altos

Glada L. Caffall	Jennings, Louisiana
Esther L. Lang	Worthington, Ohio
Patricia MacDonald	Marinette, Wisconsin
Rosa Peterson	Oil City, Pennsylvania
Dorothy L. Reynolds	Rockford, Illinois
B. Lavina Watkins	Lorain, Ohio

Second Altos

Winifred A. Cook	Crestline, Ohio
Alma M. Fenske	Chicago, Illinois
Emma J. Hudson	Marysville, Ohio
A. Ruth Masters	Warren, Ohio
Ethel L. Metcalf	Madison, Ohio
Helen L. Watts	Scappoose, Oregon
Marion E. Williams	Flint, Michigan

Director

John E. Wirkler	Oberlin, Ohio
-----------------	---------------

Pianist and Accompanist

A. Vera Otto	Lockport, New York
--------------	--------------------

Officers

Patricia MacDonald	President
Rosa Peterson	Secretary
A. Vera Otto	Librarian

Concert Season

1920-1921

March 9th	Norwalk, Ohio
March 19th	Home Concert, Oberlin
March 30th	Wauseon, Ohio
March 31st	Elkhart, Indiana
April 2nd	Chicago, Illinois (matinee)
April 2nd	Oak Park, Illinois (evening)
April 4th	Morgan Park, Illinois
April 5th	Ligonier, Indiana
April 6th	Sandusky, Ohio
April 8th	Joint Concert Cleveland, Ohio
April 11th	Huron, Ohio
April 21st	Lakewood, Ohio
April 26th	Lorain, Ohio

ATHLETICS

Men's Athletics

The athletic season of 1920-21 ranks as one of the most successful in Oberlin's history. Starting with the Spring of 1920, good teams in baseball, track, football and basketball represented Oberlin in the athletic world, and established good records. Due to the lack of tennis courts, Oberlin was not represented in inter-collegiate tennis.

Intramural and interclass athletics also occupied a prominent place on the Oberlin sport calendar. Successful schedules were carried out in each department, and a large portion of the student body participated in some sport.

As a background to Oberlin's success in the athletic world stands the Department of Physical Education. This department ranks with the best in the country and proves a valuable asset to the health of the students. Under the efficient leadership of Director Savage, new and advancing changes are constantly being made in this phase of Oberlin education. Marked student interest and support was in evidence throughout the whole year,—the cheering was especially good.

In the warm weather sports, the track and baseball teams achieved success. The track team won three meets, and took third place in the Big Six. Our relay team established a new state record at the Big Six meet. The baseball team won five out of seven conference games, displaying strength in pitching and batting, but the fielding work was below par on several occasions. In football, we had but one defeat, at the hands of Wooster, in the conference games. Both line and back-field were especially strong, and easily overcame most opponents. The basketball team, too, was not without its victories. The team developed into a smooth-running organization, and carried off numerous victories, totaling a very successful year in Oberlin's athletic life.

The Department of Physical Education

OBERLIN COLLEGE has by its consistently progressive policy in the field of physical education established an enviable reputation. It is doubtful if any other college or university in the country with an enrollment of less than five hundred men can show a staff of five men devoting their entire time as members of the faculty to the work in physical education. Oberlin was one of the first colleges of the country to substitute all the year faculty coaching for the seasonal coaches of her varsity athletic teams. She is also one of the first institutions to make a determined effort to get every student into active participation in physical education activities of some form.

In educational circles Oberlin is well known as a training school for leaders in the profession of physical education. At the present time there are at least fifteen Oberlin graduates holding faculty positions in the department of physical education in colleges or universities. One of the most important steps taken in recent years in physical education at Oberlin is the recognition by the college of the values of intercollegiate sports in the general physical education scheme. While there is much yet to be accomplished in the successful development of this plan there is already enough evidence to show that the step is a wise one. The elimination of cross purposes and friction and the better co-ordination of all phases of the work in physical education are not the least of the satisfactory results attained. It may be confidently expected that the work of this department will increase the happiness, the health and the general effectiveness of the Oberlin student men to a very marked degree.

But it is perhaps for the recognition of the educational values of physical activities that Oberlin College is famous. What modern educational experts have been claiming in recent years and what the great war so clearly demonstrated as to the peculiar character-building values of games and physical activities, Oberlin College recognized twenty years ago. A recent study conducted by Dr. George L. Meylan of Columbia University shows that one hundred and twenty colleges and universities in the United States are now giving credit toward the degree for work done in the Department of Physical Education.

While the College sees fit to require only two years work in physical education it is the aim of the staff in that department so to strengthen the love of athletic sports and so to increase the popularity of activities in the open air that soon there may be 100% participation in physical activities on the part of the men of Oberlin College. It is to be hoped that within a few years staff, financial support, fields and equipment will all be such that every man in college will find some physical activity to his liking.

C. W. Savage.

First Row: Stallings, Rickards, McPhee, Loy, Will, Taylor.
Second Row: Marvin, Barden, Howard, Lauthers, Andrews, Metcalf, Salter.
Third Row: Steller, Lansdale, Wheeler, Newsom, Withrow, Mayer, Curtis.
Fourth Row: Clipson, Adams, Dietrich.

The "O" Club

Standing forth as the true emblem of Oberlin spirit are the wearers of the golden "O." Always fighting, but always playing clean, Oberlin's representatives on the gridiron, the diamond, the cinder paths, and the basketball court, have established a widespread reputation for true sportsmanship.

Oberlin's rank in the hall of intercollegiate athletic fame has been achieved through the efforts of the "O" men. With a patient perseverance and determination, they have clashed with our opponents and although sometimes defeated, they always go down with colors flying. To the men of the "O" club go the plaudits of their classmates for their gameness, their sportsmanship, and their loyalty to their school.

"O" Men

Football

Frank O. Barden
 Robert T. Lansdale
 Franklin K. Mayer
 Laurence D. McPhee
 Harlan G. Metcalf
 E. Earle Newsom
 Reese F. Rickards
 Udell H. Stallings
 Warren E. Steller
 Leon W. Taylor
 Alfred G. Wheeler
 Harry M. Will
 Lloyd L. Withrow

Basketball

Edward D. Howard
 Jerrold A. Marvin
 Warren E. Steller
 Alfred G. Wheeler

Baseball

G. Whitfield Andrews, Jr.
 Jerrold A. Marvin
 Udell H. Stallings
 Warren E. Steller

Track

Raymond C. Clipson
 Gordon A. Curtis
 Melvin A. Dietrich
 Charles W. Lauthers
 William A. Loy
 Franklin K. Mayer
 Laurence D. McPhee
 Harlan G. Metcalf
 E. Earle Newsom
 John T. Salter

PAUL O. FREY
Captain Varsity Baseball 1920

FREDERICK MARTIN
Captain Varsity Track 1920

LAURENCE D. McPHEE
Captain Varsity Football 1920

ALFRED G. WHEELER
Captain Varsity Basketball 1921

Cheering

To Charles Adams II, Oberlin's cheer-leader for 1920-1921, goes a great deal of credit for the efficient cheering that supported the Crimson and Gold teams. With perseverance and hard work "Chick" has led the cheers at intercollegiate games, and he has always instilled that pep which is so necessary to a cheering section. Moreover, he has presided at sings and rallies, and has been a large factor in promoting general student interest in athletics.

Under the new system of electing a cheer-leader, and the outline of his duties, as initiated last year, the cheer-leader occupies a very important place in student activities. The new system provides that at the end of each year the men will elect a cheer-leader, who must be a Senior and who cannot be on the football squad. At the same time an assistant cheer-leader will be elected from the Sophomore class. The duties, as outlined for the cheer-leader, are many and various: The cheer-leader, with the Director of Athletics and the assistant cheer-leader, determine the policy of cheer-leading; he is responsible for all stunts at any athletic event; he appoints a song-leader; he serves on the Men's Court and is an active member of the Senate. In reward for his services, arrangements have been made that if the work of the cheer-leader has proven satisfactory to the college athletic authorities, he may be voted an oval "O" with the letters "C L" in the center. This "O" entitles him to active membership in the "O" Club. This "O" was awarded to Charles Adams in the fall, for his efforts on the football field, thus showing the high quality of his work.

The assistants of the cheer-leader also deserve a slice of praise, for they served faithfully and contributed their bit in promoting better cheering. Williams, Emery, Gordon and Boughton served as yell-masters, and worked very satisfactorily. To their efforts, plus the efforts of the cheer-leader and the student interest, can be attributed the success of the Oberlin cheering system.

The cheering this year has been most effective, and at no time has the Oberlin spirit fallen down. Every athletic contest here at Oberlin has met with a wonderful response from the faculty and student body, and under "Chick's" expert guidance the cheers of all have rung out to help our defenders of the Golden "O" come victorious from the fray.

Varsity Football

1920

COACH METCALF

The honor for Oberlin's success on the gridiron for the past two years belongs to one man—T. Nelson Metcalf. We are glad to have him with us, and to know that "Nellie" has gained widespread popularity and esteem due to his efficient football coaching. Inspiring his men to play their hardest, not driving them, has achieved wonderful results for "Nellie." He taught his men to play hard, but to play the game clean, and in every game in which Oberlin participated, the officials noted this and commended Coach Metcalf on Oberlin sportsmanship. "Nellie" was greatly handicapped this year by numerous injuries to his men, but with only three men lost by graduation, we are sure that Coach Metcalf will produce another championship team in 1921.

LAURENCE McPHEE, ("Mickey") Captain

"Mickey" was the best all-round man on the team by all odds, and made an exceptional leader. He starred in all departments of the game, and in a large measure, Oberlin's success can be attributed to his playing. With another year ahead of him he should be even more of a terror throughout the Ohio conference.

ASSISTANT COACH STELLER

Last year marked the end of "Nig's" participation in intra-collegiate athletics, but he still contributes a great deal to the success of Oberlin teams. He served as Assistant Coach for the 1920 Eleven, and proved to be a valuable asset. He imparted a great deal of that valuable defensive play to his pupils and showed real value as a coach.

First Row: Winters, Landis, Teegarten, Emery, Farmin, Stevens, Steller.
Second Row: Johnson, Knesal, Marshall, Martin, Loy, Anderson.
Third Row: Parkhill, Taylor, Stallings, McPhee, Barden, Metcalf, Wheeler, Savage.
Fourth Row: Withrow, Rickards, Will, Lansdale, Harsh, Mayer.

The Season

Oberlin's 1920 football team won five out of their six conference games. A single defeat at the hands of Wooster spoiled an otherwise perfect record in the Ohio Conference standing. Nevertheless, the record of 1920 is regarded as most successful and one of which every Oberlinite can be justly proud. Victories were registered over Heidelberg, Mount Union, Hiram, Reserve, and Case. In addition Oberlin played a fast and furious game against Ohio State and held the "Big Ten" champs to a 37-0 score. Injuries played a prominent role in every game. In many contests, the Crimson and Gold suffered a weakened line-up due to the loss of some star. This greatly handicapped our team and contributed immeasurably to Wooster's victory.

To the football squad of 1920 and to Coach Metcalf goes the praise of the entire school for their remarkable showing under such adverse conditions.

Football—Season's Record

Oberlin	21	*	Heidelberg	0
Oberlin	0		Ohio State	37
Oberlin	7	*	Mount Union	0
Oberlin	0		Wooster	19
Oberlin	43	*	Hiram	0
Oberlin	20		Reserve	14
Oberlin	23	*	Case	0

* Games played at Oberlin.

UDELL STALLINGS, Captain Elect
"Del"

For the second time "Del" landed an "All-Ohio" berth. His sterling performance this year was against the big State line which he literally tore up. An injury in the Mount Union game greatly handicapped him, but he played the same old smashing game in the Wooster contest. His knowledge of the finer points of the game and his strong personality will make him a capable leader of the Crimson and Gold eleven next Fall.

HARLAN METCALF
"Goldie"

"Goldie" was switched over to a new position this year, but he still played the same old reliable game. This is his third year on the Crimson and Gold line, and each year he has been a star performer. His specialty is blocking punts and then recovering the pigskin.

ROBERT LANSDALE
"Bob"

Although this was his first season, "Bob" developed into an old reliable. Especially in the Wooster game did he display his staying powers. He held up his side of the line in great shape, and permitted few gains. "Bob" played in every game of the season, and was always there with the same old fight.

EARLE NEWSOM
"Newsie"

Thirteen was "Newsie's" long suit. He wore a No. 13 on his back, was thirteenth man when the squad was counted out, and ended his football career on the thirteenth of November. Although this was his first year as a regular, he played a bang-up game in spite of his numerical hoodoo.

ALFRED WHEELER
"Al"

Starting in a new capacity, as regular quarter-back, "Al" showed remarkable ability as a field-general. He was high scorer with six touchdowns to his credit. The Wheeler-McPhee combinations on forward passes were the best ground-gainers of the season. The year 1921 should be a grand success for "Al."

FRANK BARDEN
"Bard"

"Frank" was a bulwark on defense and offense throughout the season. Especially in the State game was he in evidence. He played a remarkably good game at the pivot position and was also willing to play with his voice as well. With another year ahead of him, Barden should make a strong bid for "All-State" honors next Fall.

WILLIAM PARKHILL
"Bill"

"Bill" was a regular bear for injuries, but that made no difference in his playing. He stepped into "Nig's" shoes, and always played a strong defensive game. He hit the line hard, and backed up the line in fine style. With ten months for recovery, "Bill" should be a whirlwind next season.

LEON TAYLOR
"Hawkshaw"

Taylor was a marked man in every contest, but he made many long gains in spite of it all. In the Reserve game he actually ran wild through the Adelbert eleven. Leon upheld the kicking honors, and in good shape, too. Next year we are expecting great things from Taylor.

FRANKLIN MAYER
"Zip"

"Zip" was the speediest man on the squad. His work was doubly hard, as he served as sub back. In the Case game in particular he showed a wonderful flash of speed. Next year as a regular he will be tearing around all the ends in the State.

REESE RICKARDS
"Whitey"

Size is immaterial to Rickards. Playing a new position, he starred throughout the season and played a strong defensive game. His specialty was sneaking around and nailing the runners behind the line. He is the only "Soph" to get his letter, and with two years ahead, great things are expected.

HARRY WILL "Harry"

"Harry" also played his first year at varsity football, in fact, his first year at football. He exhibited a wonderful amount of drive and fight, and could always be counted upon to outplay his heavier opponents. He is constantly trying to learn more about the game, and he should be a valuable man next year.

LLOYD WITHROW
"Withy"

Ankles were "Withy's" jinx. Yet he managed to get the troublesome joints into shape for several contests. Lloyd is probably the best guard of his weight in the state. This is his first year in a varsity suit, and he should be a shining light on the 1921 eleven.

HEIDELBERG

Oberlin opened the 1920 football season on October 2nd by conquering Heidelberg on Dill Field, by the score of 21-0. Good football was prominent in spots, but the contest as a whole was very slow and listless. The varsity showed a decided lack of offensive strength, perhaps due to the absence of Taylor, but the linemen played a very creditable game. Stallings, Metcalf, and Barden played a star game, while the linemen, Rickards, Newsom, Withrow, and Will put up a good brand of football. Oberlin's best man on the offensive was Mayer, who skirted the ends for several substantial gains. Things looked interesting at the start of the game, but Coach Metcalf's machine limbered up, scoring two touchdowns in the first half and one in the final period.

OHIO STATE

Ohio State swamped Oberlin 37-0 on October 9th at Columbus. The Crimson and Gold held the much vaunted State line until near the end of the first half, when the Ohioans broke loose and scored three touchdowns in five minutes. Forward passes netted two of these tallies, while Stinchcomb, State's "All-American" half-back, with eight seconds left, raced the entire length of the field for the third touchdown. Henderson recovered a fumble in the third quarter and scored another touchdown, while Cott skirted right end for thirty-five yards and the final touchdown in the last quarter. Udell Stallings was the shining light for Oberlin. Time after time he broke through the heavier opponent and tackled the Ohio runners for losses. He made the first three tackles of the game, and was the backbone of the Oberlin line, which played a great game. Barden, Metcalf and Parkhill were other Oberlin players who showed to best advantage, and caused serious trouble to the Columbus attack.

MOUNT UNION

Mount Union, coached by Eddie Casey, the Harvard star, fell before the attack of the Crimson and Gold warriors in the second home game of the season, to the score of 7-0. Oberlin outplayed the visitors, but lost several chances to score. A series of three nice passes, netting forty-five yards, carried the ball to the five-yard line in the first few minutes of play. Captain McPhee carried the ball over for the only score of the day. Withrow produced a big thrill in the third quarter by intercepting a forward pass and running forty-five yards before being downed. McPhee and Stallings were compelled to retire in the last half because of injuries. Mount Union nearly shattered the nerves of everyone during the last quarter by opening up a forward pass attack. Ten long passes were batted to the ground by Mayer, Parkhill and Taylor, and when McBride missed a pass behind the goal, a huge sigh of relief went up on the west bleachers. Captain McPhee starred on the offense, while Metcalf, Lansdale, Barden, Withrow and Stallings played a strong defensive game.

WOOSTER

Wooster proved to be our only jinx. Fully six hundred people invaded Wooster on October 23rd, with the hope of carrying the championship of Ohio back to Oberlin. Instead, Wooster squelches us, 19-0, and the Ohio Conference title went up in smoke. Outplayed in every department of the game, Oberlin put up a game fight, but was unable to stop the smashing attack of the Black and Gold line. The Wooster tackles, center, and backs were the stars of the game. Oberlin threatened to score on two occasions, but lacked the necessary punch. Wooster scored in the first half on a steady march down the field. The real heart-breaker came in the second half when Walker blocked Taylor's punt in the shadow of the goal posts. Three Wooster men fell on the ball for a touch-down. Injuries greatly handicapped our team, Taylor, Rickards and Wheeler being forced to leave the game, while Wooster was in prime condition. Captain McPhee, Parkhill and Lansdale were the stars of the Oberlin team.

HIRAM

With five regulars out, Newsom, Taylor, Stallings, Withrow and Parkhill, Oberlin defeated the Hiram team on Dill Field to the score of 43-0. Hiram played hard and clean football, but were unable to stop the Crimson and Gold. Oberlin played a brilliant and snappy game, in contrast with the catastrophe at Wooster. Wheeler and McPhee starred on the offense and executed several wonderful passes for long gains. Harsh played a brilliant game at full-back, and also developed a camel's thirst, while Lansdale was a bulwark on the line. Captain Peterman of Hiram put up that style of game, both on the defense and offense, that won him a place on the "All-Ohio" eleven. During the last quarter, Oberlin had an entire team of second string players on the field. These men played a very creditable game, but were unable to score on Hiram.

RESERVE

Oberlin fight won the annual migration day contest from Reserve, by a score of 20-14. On two occasions this fight was needed to come from the tail-end of the score and win the game. Rough playing by Reserve and poor work by the officials greatly marred the contest. Reserve scored on a fluke early in the game. On punt formation, Wheeler made thirty-five yards for Oberlin's first touch-down, eluding nearly the whole Reserve team in one of the most sensational dashes of the season. Taylor scored on an end run of fourteen yards, while a pass and solid plunging resulted in Wheeler's going across for the deciding touchdown. Taylor displayed the old-time form that won him a place on the "All-Ohio" eleven in 1919, and was always good for ten or thirty yards. Captain McPhee was on par with Taylor, while Rickards at end played his best game of the season.

CASE

Oberlin smeared Case 23-0 in the last and home-coming game of the year, on November 13th. Fully three thousand people saw the "Casars" completely outclassed. This victory gave us a tie for honors with Denison for the second place in the Ohio Conference. Coach Metcalf held his men to a kicking game, and this lowered the score by several touchdowns. McPhee, Taylor and Parkhill were the offensive stars of the game, while the linemen played great football and stopped Case's attack consistently. Parkhill kicked his only field goal of the season from placement on the twenty-five-yard line.

W
O
S
T
E
R

The Press FOOTBALL EDITORIAL

OBERLIN	0	7	6
RESERVE	0	7	0

OBERLIN BEATS RESERVE

PRINCETON . 14 HARVARD . 14

CLASH IN EAST
OHIO STATE 7
MICHIGAN 0 7

MANY AT GAME

RESERVE

||
CASE
||

Football Banquet

As a fitting climax to a successful football season, five hundred men honored the gridiron team at the annual football banquet in Warner Gymnasium on November 20th, 1920. This banquet surpassed all previous ones, and was one grand success.

The football banquet is an annual affair in Oberlin, and on this occasion all the men get together in honor of the football team. Announcement of the captain-elect, speeches by various men, and various forms of entertainment feature the evening's program.

Every number of the program of the 1920 football banquet brought forth thunders of sincere applause that literally shook Warner Gymnasium. The election of Udell Stallings to lead the 1921 eleven was announced by Captain McPhee of the 1920 team. Resumes of the season were made by Coach Metcalf and by Director Savage, showing especially the high regard in which Oberlin's clean brand of football is held by outside critics. "One of Oberlin's greatest seasons," was the way Professor Savage characterized the year's record of five victories out of six conference games in his remarks previous to giving out the letters. He expressed appreciation of the work of Coach "Nellie" Metcalf, and also of student spirit, as shown by the school's support of the team. In awarding the letters he commended the players upon their hard work and clean sportsmanship. Varsity "O"s were awarded to thirteen men: Captain McPhee, Barden, Wheeler, Taylor, Metcalf, Stallings, Rickards, Will, Withrow, Mayer, Parkhill, Newsom and Lansdale.

Dr. Thomas Graham of the Graduate School of Theology concluded the evening's entertainment with one of the best speeches ever made at an Oberlin football banquet. "Why are we here?" said Dr. Graham, in beginning the main address of the evening; "We are here because of a game—a game we love—because of the spirit of play." He emphasized the effect of play in the nations of the world, and the value of collegiate athletics as a welding force in college life.

The "Football Follies," which showed Father Oberlin being successfully "vamped" away from his strict rules by Miss Successful Football Season, and music by the Men's Glee Club, completed the program. Every one of these features blended into a celebration which none of the men present will soon forget.

"Lion"

The Celebrated Snake-Dance

On the Way

"Boob"

Off

"Nellie"

Wheeler - at Reserve

Going Over

Varsity Basketball

1921

COACH KELLER

Coaching basketball for the first time, "Lou" showed his versatility by welding a green, inexperienced squad into a championship basketball team. With a nucleus of two letter men, Coach Keller worked patiently and his efforts were rewarded with a most successful season. Instilling many of the finer points such as dodging, pivoting, and practising fouls, enabled Keller to develop a fast combination. Under his tutorship, the Crimson and Gold athletes brought forth the new system of plays which is in vogue in many of the leading universities—the four-man defense with one man under the basket. Coach Keller can be justly proud of the record his "proteges" have established, and we also are mighty proud of the splendid work which he has turned out. May the season of 1922 be just as successful!

Keller
McPhee
Wood
Stallings
Sheffield
Nye
Winters
Wheeler (Capt.)
Howard
Marvin
Landis

CAPTAIN WHEELER

Captain "Al" Wheeler was a shining star in the 1921 basketball team. He was the mainstay of the team in every game and could always be counted upon to annex from ten to twenty-five points. For the second successive year he ranked as high scorer for the season, and to his uncanny ability to cage field goals, and especially throws from the foul line can be attributed many of Oberlin's victories. Besides displaying marvelous accuracy in shooting, "Al" played a fast, clean floor game that continually wrought havoc with other teams. He was an ideal leader and should be even a greater star as captain of the 1922 quintet.

Season's Record

Oberlin	23	*	Hillsdale	16
Oberlin	31		Reserve	23
Oberlin	35	*	Hiram	20
Oberlin	23	*	Michigan A. C.	21
Oberlin	38		Case	24
Oberlin	18		Denison	53
Oberlin	18	*	Reserve	13
Oberlin	30		Detroit J. C.	18
Oberlin	37		Michigan A. C.	29
Oberlin	32		Hillsdale	21
Oberlin	40	*	Case	13
Oberlin	23	*	Denison	16

* Games played at Oberlin.

The Season

Eclipsing all previous records, Oberlin's 1921 Basketball team established a memorable season by winning eleven out of twelve games. Victories were scored in six out of seven Ohio Conference games, giving Oberlin the best percentage column in the race for state basketball honors. A lone defeat at the hands of Denison marred the otherwise perfect record. Hillsdale, Case, Reserve and the Michigan Aggies each fell twice before the attack of the Crimson and Gold, while Hiram, Detroit, and Denison succumbed once.

The prospects for a successful season were doubtful at the start of the year due to the fact that only two letter men, Wheeler and Howard, were back, and Coach Keller was serving his first year as basketball coach. All doubts were soon driven away and the Oberlin quintet developed a superior combination of passing and shooting that completely outclassed their opponents. Captain Wheeler, Nye and Howard were the regular forwards, and they caged the ball with persistent regularity throughout the season. Winters and Marvin at guard rank as two of the best defensive men in the state, while Wood, playing the last four games at center, put up a steady, reliable brand of defensive and offensive basketball.

The features of the season were the foul-shooting of Captain "Al" Wheeler, the sensational rally in the M. A. C. game, and the wonderful cheering support given in the crucial games. At the Denison and M. A. C. games, Warner Gym was one huge roar from the first whistle until the last crack of the pistol.

HILLSDALE

Oberlin's untested basketball team opened the season by administering a 23-16 defeat to Hillsdale in Warner Gymnasium. The Crimson and Gold athletes showed a decided strength for the initial game. Piling up a lead at the start, they were never headed although Hillsdale came close at several times. The Oberlin quintet passed well during the second half while Winters and Marvin at guard put up a strong defense. Nye and Wheeler at forward, and Howard at center played a good game.

RESERVE

Captain Wheeler enabled Oberlin to defeat Reserve in the first Conference game of the year at Cleveland, 31-23. Reserve "roughed it" considerably, thereby making numerous fouls. "Al" excelled from the foul line, and caged thirteen out of seventeen free throws. Oberlin got an early lead, but the half ended 16-15. Reserve came back with a rush at the start of the second half, but Winters and Marvin broke things up with regularity and the Oberlin aggregation forged ahead. Nye shot four baskets at forward, and Howard also contributed his share.

HIRAM

Playing a fast, superior brand of basketball, Oberlin trounced Hiram in the first home Conference game, 35-20. Hiram fought gamely, and brought the ball down the floor persistently, only to have Winters and Marvin recover the spheroid. Oberlin's forwards had little difficulty in eluding the Hiram guards, and so caged many a basket. During the second half Oberlin had nearly an entire team of second string men on the floor. Howard and Nye starred, contributing twelve and ten points respectively to our total score.

MICHIGAN AGGIES

Oberlin defeated the crack "Aggie" quintet by a score of 23-21, in the fastest and most exciting game of the season. The farmers led at the end of the half, 14-6, but the Crimson and Gold were a rejuvenated team in the final period. Fast and furious basketball marked this half, and the lead switched from team to team. Baskets by Wheeler and Nye at crucial times gave Oberlin the victory. Coach Frimodig started the game with second string men, but soon yanked them and inserted his regulars. Wheeler was the scoring star, making nineteen of Oberlin's twenty-three points.

CASE

Following exams, Oberlin journeyed to Cleveland and "smeared" Case by a score of 34-28. Excellent team work and shooting featured the playing of the Crimson and Gold quintet. Although handicapped by the small floor, Coach Keller's men took a commanding lead at the start and were never headed. Winters and Marvin put up their usual close guarding game, and the Case forwards just simply could not get close to the basket. On the offensive end, Wheeler and Howard caged the ball with clock-work precision. Wheeler tossed six field goals and eight fouls, while Howard put five through the circle.

DENISON

Denison was another Wooster, for the down-staters spoiled our perfectly good record by trimming us 51-18. Playing on Denison's small floor, Oberlin could do nothing against the bewildering shooting of the "Big Red" team. The Denison men were simply playing over their heads and made impossible shots from all angles. All a Denison player had to do was to shoot, and a basket would result. Stone, a guard, scored eleven field goals, while Retting at forward, contributed eight. Oberlin's scoring was distributed among Wheeler, Nye, Howard, Winters and Wood. The game started like a real battle, but soon Denison got their eye on the ball and our chances went glimmering.

DETROIT

In the keystone game of a three-day trip, Oberlin smothered the Detroit Junior College at Detroit by a score of 30-18. The game was played in the afternoon, and the sun shining through the windows afforded an excellent glare. However, Coach Keller's men became accustomed to this in the second half, and they opened up on an attack that surprised the spectators and easily gave us a victory.

MICHIGAN AGGIES

Presenting a new line-up, with Wood at center and Howard shifted to forward, Oberlin played championship basketball and defeated M. A. C. on their own floor by the score of 37-29. The Crimson and Gold had to fight to win this game, for the Aggies led early in the game, 12-3. Then Wheeler and Howard started, and Oberlin came through with one of the greatest spurts ever made, scoring twenty consecutive points, while the green team scored none. In the second half the Aggies braced up, but "Ed" and "Al" took the joy out of their life by adding two long shots. Wheeler and Howard starred offensively, while Wood, Marvin and Winters played a wonderful defensive game.

HILLSDALE

Completing the most successful trip ever, Oberlin made it three straight by winning from Hillsdale 32-21. Hillsdale fought hard on their small floor with low ceiling, and the game was fast and furious. Superior team-work and shooting enabled us to win. Marvin and Winters played a superb guarding game, while Howard was a demon on short shots, and counted seven baskets. Oberlin's team-work was excellent in this game, and it completely baffled the Michiganders.

RESERVE

In a slow, listless game, Reserve fell before Oberlin for the second time, 18-13. An easy victory was expected, but with several new men, Reserve put up a fair game. Wahl scored eleven of Reserve's thirteen points. Nine of these were from the foul line, showing the close guarding of the Oberlin men. Unlucky shots were in vogue all evening, and Reserve's five man defense kept the ball in the middle of the floor the most of the time. Oberlin led at the end of the half, 11-6. Reserve nearly tied the score in the last half, due to Wahl's foul shooting, but a basket at the right time increased our lead. Wheeler was the scoring luminary, with ten points to his credit.

CASE

Case furnished little opposition, and Coach Keller's men ran away with the Scientists, 40-13. Oberlin played rings around the Brown and White, and led all the way, outclassing Case in every department of the game. Oberlin shot poorly during the first half, but made up for this in the second half, when Wheeler and Howard dropped the ball through the circle with their customary skill. Wheeler was the big scoring star, with eight field baskets and seven fouls for a total of twenty-three points.

DENISON

Displaying an unbeatable fighting spirit, Oberlin conquered the Big Red Granville team in the final game of the season, by a score of 23-16. Denison battled the Crimson and Gold on even terms, and at the end of the first half the score was 13-9, in our favor. The down-staters tried hard in the final period, but stiff guarding spoiled their attack, and held Rettig, Ehrle and Stone. Toward the end of the half, Oberlin excelled in passing and shooting and "sewed up" the game. Captain Wheeler made a total of thirteen points on three field goals and seven fouls, while Howard made four field goals.

Varsity Baseball

1920

Keller

Frey

COACH KELLER

Proficiency in the national game seems to be easily instilled into his players by Coach Keller. With a nucleus of three letter men he shaped his green material into a well-coached baseball team that won five out of eight conference games. Patience and tact in handling his men are the keynotes of Keller's coaching. With persevering attention he teaches his men the fine points of the game in that indelible way that cannot be forgotten. The diamond at the athletic field on a Spring day, with its good fellowship and efficient coach, leaves a marked impression upon the onlooker. To Coach Keller's expert coaching can be attributed the success of the 1920 season, and to him goes the gratitude of the student body for the team's success. May he have an even greater success in 1921!

CAPTAIN FREY

A veteran of two seasons, Captain Frey held down third base for the third consecutive year. He filled his position well and gathered a number of nice hits. Especially in the Aggie game at Lansing, Paul played a star game. Popular with his team-mates, he made a capable leader of the Crimson and Gold nine.

Knesal Solier Andrews Woodruff Steller
 Smiley Wheeler Frey Stallings Millikan
 Marvin Landis Moses

The Season

The Crimson and Gold baseball nine of 1920 won six and lost six games. Considering the calibre of the opposing teams and the weather conditions, the season was a success. Oberlin registered double victories over Case and Reserve, lost two games to Wooster, broke even with Ohio Wesleyan and the Michigan Aggies, and lost Ohio State and Detroit University. Erratic work in the field, and weakness at bat in the pinches robbed Oberlin of several victories. Andrews was the mainstay of the hurling staff, and could always be depended upon to pitch a good game. Nye also twirled effectively in several games, while the outfield and infield played a particularly good brand of baseball. Oberlin won five out of eight Ohio Conference games, and ranked high in Ohio Intercollegiate circles.

Season's Record

Oberlin	1	*	Ohio State	4
Oberlin	1		Ohio Wesleyan	6
Oberlin	5	*	Wooster	10
Oberlin	3	*	Case	1
Oberlin	7		Michigan Aggies	2
Oberlin	2		Detroit Univ.	10
Oberlin	0	*	Michigan Aggies	1
Oberlin	5		Case	2
Oberlin	5	*	Reserve	3
Oberlin	6		Wooster	7
Oberlin	4	*	Ohio Wesleyan	1
Oberlin	9	*	Alumni	7

* Games played at Oberlin.

OHIO STATE—OHIO WESLEYAN

With but three days of outdoor practice, Oberlin opened the season at Columbus on April 23rd. Ohio State won by a score of 4-1, while Ohio Wesleyan registered a 6-1 victory the next day. Lack of practice was the main reason for the two defeats. Andrews pitched good ball against State and would have won with good support, Oberlin's single run being the only earned run of the game. Bill Nye twirled the ball in good shape against Ohio Wesleyan and he also collected two of Oberlin's four hits. Wesleyan won by bunching hits in the third and fifth innings, aided by a couple of errors.

WOOSTER

Wooster opened the home season by trouncing the Crimson and Gold on May 5th. The score happened to be 10-5. Ragged playing by both teams, and the excellent relief work of Nye marked the contest. Oberlin collapsed in the sixth inning and Wooster scored six runs. Nye relieved Andrews and completely baffled the Wooster sluggers. Wretched support by the infield allowed further scoring after he went in. Oberlin outbatted Wooster 7-4, but hits did not come at opportune times.

CASE

Oberlin came to life on May 8th, and scored her first victory of the year over Case, 3-1. Andrews pitched superb ball and the infield was air-tight. Smiley starred at bat with three clean hits which accounted for two of Oberlin's runs. Oberlin scored in the first inning. Case tied the count in the sixth. Oberlin scored again in the sixth on singles by Stallings and Smiley, and the same pair duplicated the feat in the eighth and clinched the game.

MICHIGAN AGGIES

On May 14th, Coach Keller's athletes swamped the highly touted Michigan Aggie team to the tune of 7-2 at East Lansing. Andrews again pitched consistent ball and Stallings kept the Aggie runners glued to the bases. Frey played a star fielding game, while Solier and Woodruff each landed three hits in five times at bat. Stallings also connected for a triple.

DETROIT

Detroit University, apparently semi-professional players, defeated us the next day, 10-2. Nye got a bad start when five runs were scored in the first inning. Oberlin faced invincible pitching by the Detroit twirlers and could not connect in the pinches.

MICHIGAN AGGIES

The best game of the year was played on May 26th, when the Michigan Aggies invaded Oberlin and emerged with a hard-fought 1-0 victory. The Aggies avenged their former defeat, but Oberlin should have won. Poor base running in the ninth inning lost the game for Oberlin. Andrews pitched a masterful game and deserved to win. Snyder starred for M. A. C. and robbed Oberlin of several hits. Prospects were rosy in the ninth with men on second and third bases with none out, but a snap throw to third enabled M. A. C. to escape unscathed.

BASEBALL

CASE

The second victory at Case's expense came on May 29th, when Captain Frey's men won 5-2. Good baseball by the Crimson and Gold in all its departments featured the contest. Andrews again pitched gilt-edged ball while Marvin starred at second. The game was closely contested in the eighth inning, when Oberlin scored two runs and clinched the game. Another marker was added in the ninth inning for good measure.

OHIO WESLEYAN

Revenge is sweet, and avenged we were with Ohio Wesleyan on June 12th, when we defeated the Methodists in a slow, listless game. Both teams played a careless, shifty game, but Wesleyan excelled slightly in this art and was consequently beaten. Andrews continued his record of pitching good ball, and kept the hits well scattered. Landis, Solier and Millikan were the batting stars for Oberlin. Coach Keller's men opened the scoring in the second inning by tallying twice, and they again scored in the fifth, thus putting Oberlin on the long end of the score.

ALUMNI

The varsity nine ended the season on June 14th by trimming the Alumni 9-7, in an exciting game. A landslide of three runs in the ninth inning gave the varsity the victory. Andrews, acting as relief pitcher, added to his laurels by holding the grads scoreless in the last two innings. Two home runs by "Shorty" Pay and P. E. Edwards were the features of the game.

Captain Frey at third; Stallings, catcher; Andrews and Nye, pitchers; Millikan, first base; Moses and Landis, second base; Marvin and Knesal, short-stop; and Solier, Woodruff, Smiley, Maxted and Wheeler, outfielders, were the regulars on the team.

Men to receive their Varsity "O" in baseball were:

Frey (Captain)	Andrews
Woodruff	Millikan
Smiley	Stallings
Landis	Marvin
Solier

Varsity Track
1920

Metcalf

Martin

COACH METCALF

"Success" is the "Nellie's" middle name. He produces a strong foot ball team and then, by the same coaching methods, he develops a strong, well-balanced track team. With patience and hard work he trained and conditioned the wearers of the Crimson and Gold track jerseys, and we are glad that his efforts were rewarded. For Oberlin won three meets and annexed third in the Big Six and such a record is rated as successful. Hampered by the bad weather of the early season and the lack of good hurdlers, Coach Metcalf kept smiling and worked the harder. Oberlin made a fine showing in the Big Six and only lost second place by a hair. With a lot of veterans back we are anticipating another banner season in 1921.

CAPTAIN MARTIN

After two years of war service, Captain Fritz Martin came back and resumed track duties. With patience and perseverance he managed to iron out the kinks and nearly reached his old form. He led the Crimson and Gold tracksters through a successful season and proved a popular leader. Fritz's specialty was the dashes, and he could always be counted upon to finish high up in the scoring.

VARSIITY TRACK, 1920

Oestrich	Newsom	Stallings	Lauthers	Metcalf	Loy	Metcalf
Thompson	Curtis	A. Martin	Parkhill	McPhee	Capt. F. Martin	Knesal
	Carrick	Dietrich	Mayer	Clipson	Moyer	Cole

The Season

Oberlin's 1920 track team engaged in five meets, winning three, losing to Ohio State in a dual meet and taking third place in the annual Big Six with $32\frac{1}{2}$ points.

Coach Metcalf's track team was a well-balanced aggregation, that showed strength both in the field events and on the cinder paths. Only the breaks of the game enabled Ohio Wesleyan to nose Oberlin out of second place in the Big Six by 15-6 points. Ohio State with its galaxy of stars outclassed the field and won first place, with a total of 86 1-3 points.

The feature of the season was the running of the relay team, composed of F. Martin, A. Martin, Mayer, Carrick and McPhee. This quintet broke the Oberlin track record and eclipsed all records in the Big Six by establishing a new state record of 3:25 2-5 seconds, breaking the old record of 3:27 1-5.

Season's Record

Oberlin 51; Reserve 29; Case 28.

Oberlin $71\frac{1}{2}$; Wooster $61\frac{1}{2}$; Case 29.

Oberlin 24; Ohio State 93.

Oberlin $106\frac{3}{4}$; Heidelberg $31\frac{1}{2}$; Reserve $23\frac{3}{4}$.

"Big Six"—Oberlin $32\frac{1}{2}$.

DUAL MEET, MAY 8th

Ohio State's strong track machine defeated Oberlin 93-24 at Columbus. A victory in the relay gave Oberlin her only first place obtained in the meet. Ohio's huge squad of men was entirely too good for Oberlin, and no sting is attached to the defeat. Moorehead starred for State while Knesal was high point scorer for Oberlin with 6 points. McPhee ran well in the quarter and on the relay team, securing $4\frac{1}{4}$ points. The hurdles and distance events proved disastrous for Oberlin.

TRIANGLE, MAY 15th

Oberlin overwhelmed Reserve and Heidelberg on Dill Field on May 15th by a tremendous margin. Oberlin $106\frac{3}{4}$; Heidelberg $31\frac{1}{2}$; Reserve $23\frac{3}{4}$. The Crimson and Gold tracksters won every event, taking first places. Oberlin so completely outclassed her rivals that interest was lacking after the first few events. Frank Mayer contributed 16 points by annexing three firsts and running on the relay team. Curtis established a new record in the javelin throw, hurling the spear 165 feet 7 inches, breaking the previous record of 149 feet 5 inches. Parkhill also broke the old record by several feet. The only exciting race of the day developed in the mile. Dietrich and Clipso ran evenly during the four laps, spurted together in the last lap and broke the tape together in the fast time of 4:42 2-5. The relay team (Martins, Carrick, Mayer) equalled the track record by running the mile in 3:31.

BIG SIX, MAY 22nd

Dopesters conceded Oberlin fifth place in the Big Six. Oberlin scored $32\frac{1}{2}$ points and grabbed third place. Ohio Wesleyan scored $35\frac{1}{2}$ points while State won the meet with $86\frac{1}{3}$ points. Oberlin established a record in the relay that will undoubtedly stand for some time to come. McPhee, F. Martin, Carrick and Mayer ran the distance in 3:35 2-5, breaking the old record of 3:27 1-5. Lauthers, Knesal and McPhee starred for Oberlin. Knesal tied for first in the pole vault with a jump of 11 feet 4 inches; took third in the broad jump and was high point scorer for Oberlin. Lauthers bettered his record by a couple of feet and took second in the shot-put, while McPhee tied for second in the quarter.

Sixteen men won letters: Capt. Martin, A. Martin, Carrick, Knesal, Lauthers, Loy, Metcalf, Curtis, Dietrich, Newsom, McPhee, Mayer, Clipson, Parkhill and Rice. This is an unusually large number of letter men, but shows the well-balanced strength of Coach Metcalf's machine. Practically every one of these men were consistent performers and could be counted upon to annex points in their particular event.

Tennis

Oberlin was not represented in intra-collegiate tennis in the Spring of 1920. A schedule of matches was arranged but was cancelled later. Lack of proper facilities for match play was given as the reason for calling off tennis activities by the members of the Athletic Committee.

Mattson
Metcalf (Coach)
Fisher
H. Dietrich
Salter
M. Dietrich
Oestreich

Varsity Cross-Country—1920

The Crimson and Gold 1920 cross country team participated in three meets. Two meets were lost to Wooster while fourth place was annexed in the annual Big Six, held at Ohio Wesleyan.

Under the direction of Captain Salter and Coach Metcalf, the squad trained faithfully, but lost two meets to Wooster by narrow margins. The first meet, held at Wooster on October 23rd, resulted in a 17-20 victory for Wooster. Campbell of Wooster led the way at the tape, closely followed by M. Dietrich. Salter came in fifth followed respectively by Oestreich and Clipson.

The annual Big Six, contrary to rule, was held at Ohio Wesleyan on November 6th. Ohio State easily outclassed the field and landed first place with 13 points. Wooster scored 44 points for second place; Cincinnati counted 53 points for third place, while Oberlin annexed fourth place with 55 points.

Wooster and Case came to Oberlin on November 13th for the only home meet of the year. Wooster again walked away with first honors, scoring 16 to Oberlin's 21 points. Case finished a poor third with 50 counters. A raw cold day greatly handicapped the runners and added to their discomfort. H. Dietrich, with third place, finished first for Oberlin. M. Dietrich, fifth; Salter, sixth; and Oestrich, seventh, completing Oberlin's quartet of runners.

Although the season of 1920 was not a marked success, the men worked hard and deserve a great deal of credit. Next Fall with a veteran team, Oberlin should rank high in Ohio Intra-collegiate cross-country circles.

Intraclass and Intramural Sports

Intramural athletics have reached a high plane of development in Oberlin. Under the efficient supervision of the athletic department intramural sports have been promulgated until now every man has an opportunity to participate in his chosen sport. In the words of the Director of Athletics: "The slogan of the Athletic Management this Spring is athletics for every college man every week. The aim of the department is to provide opportunity for interesting competition of some sort for every man." Following this slogan, attractive schedules of intramural track meets and baseball games were successfully carried out in the Spring. Likewise intramural football and basketball prospered in the Fall and Winter. Thus under the Oberlin system, intramural athletics occupy a prominent place and contribute immeasurably to the welfare of the student body. Although not fully developed, each year sees some valuable addition and undoubtedly in a few years Oberlin will hold premier place in the advancement of intramural athletics.

FOOTBALL

The intraclass grid season of 1920 was a brilliant success in every respect. Some good teams were brought forth, classy football was exhibited in every game and the student body showed marked interest in the pigskin sport. The Sophomore class developed an eleven of unusual strength and went through the season undefeated. Under the leadership of Captain Wood, who starred in every game with plunging end runs, the class of 1923 registered five victories and tied in one contest. The Freshmen, under the tutelage of Coach Keller, developed a good team and ranked second in the tabular standing. Early in the season they held the Sophs to a scoreless tie and later scored victories over the Juniors and Seniors. Several players showed up exceptionally well for the class of 1924 and should make capable varsity material. Lack of men handicapped the Seniors, while the Juniors with an entire squad of new inexperienced men worked hard under Coach Severn and improved as the season advanced.

INTRAMURAL TRACK

Intramural track activities occupied a prominent place in the Spring of 1920. Three important meets were held, besides a number of smaller meets. The season opened with the indoor intraclass meet in Warner Gymnasium. The class of 1922 captured this meet with a total of $57\frac{1}{2}$ points; 1920 scored $35\frac{1}{2}$ points; 1921, $24\frac{1}{2}$; 1923, $12\frac{1}{2}$. The Sophs grabbed six firsts in twelve events and placed in all but the pole vault. In the 220 Gorsuch and Mayer came within one-fifth of a second of equalling the track record while the Soph relay team made exceptionally good time. Knesal '20, was high individual scorer, with $14\frac{1}{2}$ points; F. Martin with 13 points, and Thomson with 11 points ranked next. Dietrich and Loy, of the Juniors, won the mile run and the high jump. Gorsuch, F. Martin, Mayer and McPhee starred in the dashes, while Clipson, Thomson, H. Dietrich and Oestreich amassed 22 points in the distance events for the Sophomores.

1921 FOOTBALL TEAM

Moyer	Keep	Stracka	Schmitt	Burneson	Steller	Marvin	Hazeltine	Kauffman
Stephens		Bunker	Withrow		Knesal	Winslow		Vaughan

1922 FOOTBALL TEAM

Maxted	Hanson	Williams	Reed	Severn	Sands	Wright	Plank
Larson		Gurney	Williams	Bartter	Heicher		Berinski

1923 FOOTBALL TEAM

Huntley Watson Telfer Hutchinson Steller Andrews Bigelow Moore
 Smith Hardin Wood Martin Teegarten Wilson Bonnist

1924 FOOTBALL TEAM

First Row: Hines, Keller, Harding, Fletcher, Amos, Loveland, Goldstein, Bowen, LaRocco, Bird.
Second Row: Forbes, Owen, Daniels, Huntley, Elterich, Hopkins, Wagstaff, Jones, Hayden.
Third Row: Millikan, Hahn, Powell, Lyon, Bowen, Wolcott, Gurney, Gibbons, Stocker.

For the second time, the Soph tracksters displayed their superiority by rolling up a total of 82 points in the outdoor intraclass meet on April 24th; 1921 scored 62 points; 1923, 36; 1920, 30. The second year men showed their versatility by placing in every event. They maintained a good lead throughout and interest centered around the other three places. The Juniors sprung a surprise by taking second place mainly through their strength in the field events. The Seniors and Frosh put up a fight for cellar position, with the upperclassmen grabbing the honors. The Dietrich brothers raced shoulder to shoulder in the two-mile for the last lap, but a strong sprint gave M. Dietrich first place. McPhee, Martin, Mayer and Gorsuch ran well in the dashes. F. Martin and Mayer were high individual scorers with 13 points apiece.

An intraclass mass-meet with ten places scoring completed the schedule. The Freshmen won this meet with 186 points; 1922 ranked second with 165½ points; 1921 third with 120 points; 1920 fourth with 67½ points. This meet gave an opportunity for everybody to compete and some good races resulted. Metcalf '21 was high scorer with 57 points, closely followed by Mayer '21 with 54 points.

Widespread student interest featured the intramural track activities. In addition to the meets, twenty-two O. A. E. monograms were awarded while Harold Wood received an O. A. E. silver medal for his work in the shot put.

BASEBALL

A successful revival of intraclass and intramural baseball marked the Spring of 1920. For several years previous, intramural baseball slumped, but under the efficient direction of Coach Steller, a fine schedule of games was arranged and played. Intraclass games were played on Tuesday and Thursday at four o'clock, while rooming and boarding house games were played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at four o'clock. Thus two leagues existed and a number of good games were played. Under this plan more men engaged in baseball at Oberlin. The Physical Education Department furnished bats, balls, masks, etc., thus giving everyone a chance to play.

Competition was keen in the interclass league, but the class of 1921 played the most consistent baseball and, aided by the excellent pitching of Taylor, walked away with first honors, having a record of five victories and no defeats. The Sophs and Frosh played a spasmodic brand of baseball and never were title contenders. Both teams went through the season with two victories and two defeats. Although the Juniors won the title easily, many good games were played and a strong enthusiasm marked the revival of the national pastime. When another Spring rolls around, the Athletic field should see some ball games that would do credit to any amateur league.

Eight teams were listed in the rooming and boarding house league. Woodshed, Guildes, Commons, M. B. No. 2, '22 House, M. B. No. 1, Diedlers, and East Lodge composed the octet. The Woodshed, with a galaxy of athletic stars and abetted by Bob Stephens pitching, went through the season without a defeat and copped first honors. Many good games were played and many men participated, making a very successful season in the intramural sport.

1921 BASKETBALL TEAM

	Graber	Metcalf	Nethercut
Lansdale	Knesal	Stevens	Burneson

1922 BASKETBALL TEAM

	Levine		Isseks
Reed		Maxted		Plank

1923 BASKETBALL TEAM

Rosoffsky Farmin Bosworth Martin
 Dyck Wood Emery

1924 BASKETBALL TEAM
 INTER-CLASS CHAMPIONS 1921

Jones Steller Bowen Sanders Young
 Wagstaff Seaman Sullivan

1920 BASEBALL TEAM

Albright Jones Conover Severance Vincent Raine Hindman Stephens Clark

1921 BASEBALL TEAM

Winslow Skinner Taylor Bradley Hazeltine
 Offenhauser Dilgren Adams Sheffield Partch

1922 BASEBALL TEAM

McPhee Hamilton Houseman Brown Will Penfound Plank Hyde Parkhill

1923 BASEBALL TEAM

Eller Rickards Landis Winters Jameson Moore Harding Allen Watson

TRACK

Full and Full

Off!

Great Sport

to Finish

Can't

Women's Athletics

WOMEN in Oberlin are, indeed, fortunate in having the privileges of a physical education department which ranks among the very foremost of all such college departments in the country. Those who had to do with framing the general policy of the college, even from the beginning, realized the importance of the health and bodily development of students. Accordingly, the course in physical training has been placed upon an academic level with all other college courses. Athletics have been recognized as having a place of real significance in the life of the student. Hence, financial support for such activity has not been left to interested alumni, but has been provided by the college treasury.

Dr. Delphine Hanna—one of the pioneers in the line of physical education for women—was for years the director of the Women's gymnasium. At present our "gym" faculty consists of five splendidly trained and very competent teachers. We have a so-called "P. E. major," which is one of the finest normal courses of this kind anywhere. Girls who make physical education their major study and are able to complete the required subjects successfully, are given a teacher's certificate upon graduation. They are then qualified to take positions as gymnasium instructors, play-ground directors, athletic coaches and any other work which has as its prerequisite a broad, thorough understanding of the underlying principles of physical education.

In the major sports—hockey, basketball and baseball—four class teams and a conservatory team are selected, and inter-class contests are held for the championship.

About ten miles north of Oberlin, land for a summer camp along the shores of Lake Erie has already been purchased and the first camp is to be held this coming summer. It is planned especially for those girls who are making physical education their major work. Here instruction will be given in all sorts of water sports as well as special training in camp management. This addition to our present equipment rounds out a practically complete course and makes our department of physical education for women a source of lasting pride to alumni and student body alike.

Larson Cushman Church Leonard Rowley McMenemy Macklin Thompson

Gymnasium and Field Association

The Gymnasium and Field Association is a great asset in the life of the girls at Oberlin College. The organization of the Association has been changed from a closed to an open and a closed membership. Every girl in the college and conservatory automatically becomes an associate member on registering in either the college or conservatory. Active membership is obtained by those girls who have earned at least one hundred points, according to the point system. To hold this active membership a girl must attend at least two-thirds of the regular meetings, the number to be at least four a year, two of which occur during each semester. The meetings last one hour and are intended to give the girls an opportunity to use up some of their surplus energy and also to bring the business matters of the Association before them.

The activities of the Association have been increased this year by the addition of soccer and instruction in golf. An all-star game in soccer was played, and the enthusiasm for the game was most encouraging. The former activities are being carried on with more zeal than ever. It is especially encouraging that the number of hikes increases every year. A new athletic field has been purchased and operations have been started and it is hoped that it will be ready for use in the Spring.

Dickinson House can be used by any group of girls, on application to the matron of the house. Dickinson House becomes more and more popular as its benefits are realized by the girls.

The "O. C." sweater is as much coveted as ever. Every girl who wears the "O. C." monogram has just cause to be proud and the "O. C." club speaks for itself.

The Gymnasium and Field Association is a very active organization, and has a wealth of active material. The value of the G. F. A. increases every year and it forms one of the distinctive organizations in the college.

DeWitt Griffith Kemble Aigler Davies
 McMenemy McCord Parsons Hay
 Davies Green Doolittle

“O. C.” Club

The “O. C.” Club is an important branch of the G. F. A. It is an organization composed of all those girls who have attained the highest athletic and gymnasium proficiency in the school. Its members are girls of jolly disposition, fine sportsmanship and high ideals. In order to belong to the Club, a girl must earn at least seven hundred points, gained in four different sports. The G. F. A. determines the number of points that may be won in the various sports. For example, members of the class teams in hockey, basketball, baseball, etc., obtain a hundred points at the close of the respective seasons.

Those who finally obtain the required number of points are put through an exceedingly strenuous initiation ceremony before they become full-fledged “O. C.” Girls. They are then awarded a beautiful white sweater, marked with a crimson “O” and a golden “C.” This sweater is a source of great pride to every owner and of great envy to all “would-be” owners. It is a distinction won through a process of the survival of the fittest since every freshman girl begins her career with the desire to win membership in the “O. C.” Club. Besides the “O. C.” sweater, an additional badge of honor in the form of an arm-band may be won by any girl who earns fourteen hundred points—just double the number required for a sweater. Ruth Aigler, '21, won her arm band this year. She is the second girl who has ever done this.

Thursday of each week is “O. C.” Day, and on this day every “O. C.” girl appears in her sweater. Each year an efficient social committee is appointed and a splendid program is planned to make possible stronger bonds of association and closer friendships among the girls.

During Commencement week a big reunion banquet is held, at which old and new members get together. Here old girls reminisce, and new girls tell of the year's progress and the increased interest shown in athletics in Oberlin.

Gym Faculty

1921 HOCKEY TEAM

Green, Glass, McMenemy, Aigler, McCord, Lyons, DeWitt, Syme, Porter, Zekind, Arnold, Davies.

Hockey

The hockey season of 1920-21 opened almost immediately after the beginning of the Fall term. The weather throughout the Fall was unusually favorable to any kind of athletic activity. Hardly an afternoon passed in which Dickinson field was not the scene of several hours of hockey practice. On account of the tremendous success of last year's season, hockey enthusiasm ran high in the four college classes and in the conservatory. With last year's veterans as a nucleus the class teams began to take shape. Before the end of October the match games had begun and the race for the school championship was on.

The teams were unusually well matched. Consequently most of the games were marked by very keen rivalry. As a result of the training received, much good team work was displayed. No team was able to win all the games on its schedule. The Seniors showed the best work—both in team play and stellar performance. However, they were compelled to put up a hard fight for the championship which they finally won by taking 3 games out of 4. A curious situation was created when the Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen all tied for second place—each winning and losing two games. The "Con" team had excellent material and at times showed fine work, but luck was not with them and they lost 3 of their 4 games. The inter-class race ended with the standings as follows:

Captain	Team	Won	Lost
Eleanor Lyons	Seniors ('21)	3	1
Vivian Altman	Juniors ('22)	2	2
Milicent Steer	Sophomores ('23)	2	2
Eleanor Foote	Freshmen ('24)	2	2
Eleanor Larsen	Conservatory	1	3

1922 HOCKEY TEAM

Dickson, Gulick, Powdermaker, Caulkins, Moody, Root, Warner, Brouse, Hay, Pratt, Altman.

1923 HOCKEY TEAM

Terborgh, Savage, Church, Stapleton, Day, Lacey, Knights, Aldrich, Wilder, Hazard, Edgerton, Garland, Crofts, Steer.

1924 HOCKEY TEAM

Leonard, Hummel, Williams, Grosvenor, Hellyer, Foote, Brown, Green, Weaver, Swartz, Smith.

CONSERVATORY HOCKEY TEAM

Maitland Derevier Martin McLaughlin Hamilton DeVol DeMartini
Brown Macklin Bassett Larsen Lahman Thompson Henderson

Hockey—

Soccer

Soccer is practically a new sport in Women's Athletics at Oberlin, but at the completion of the season was firmly established in the regular roster of the physical education department. Enthusiasm ranked high especially among the Sophs, and the game was required of all Sophomore gym classes.

General practice was held throughout the Fall season on Monday and Thursday at 4:30. Next year it is hoped that class teams may be chosen and inter-class games be played off for the class championship as in the other sports.

At the close of the season two all-star teams were picked from those who had regularly reported for practice. These were called the Crimson Team and the Gold Team. Crimson—Van de Pyl, Glass, Harris, Church, Horn, Root, Lacey, C. Crafts, H. M. Thompson, M. Mitchell, (Captain), H. Davies. Gold—Warner, Post, Garland, V. Smith, Rowley, Savage, Edgerton, Dickson, Kemble, Hellyer, Powdermaker, (Captain). The game was called for Monday, November 29th, but was postponed until Friday, December 3rd, because of snow. On Friday the thermometer was very low but it was thought best to go on with the game. Excitement ran high and in spite of the cold many were on the side-lines to watch the game. The teams were very well matched and a genuine spirit of rivalry existed. Splendid team work was shown by both teams and the enthusiasm displayed both by the players and by the stands spoke well for the success of the sport. The final score was 4-3 in favor of the Crimson Team.

Soccer was a sort of experiment in the school, and everyone feels it proved to be a successful experiment. Two of the Sophomore girls, Ruth Savage and Natalie Stapleton, coached soccer at the high school during the season, and sincere interest was also shown by the students there.

The athletic department desires that new sports may find a place in Oberlin, and the successful season of the soccer teams last Fall certainly shows that Oberlin women are ever on the alert to take up anything new in the line of athletics.

Some doubt was expressed by a few who feared that if soccer were a success it might displace hockey in the girls' athletic curriculum—since both are Fall sports. It has been demonstrated now that both sports can be carried on successfully by the department.

TRACK

1923 BASKETBALL TEAM

Edgerton Aldrich Washburn Savage Crofts
 Garland Church Hassaert Rowley

Basketball

The year's basketball season began about the first of December. The candidates were numerous and the competition for positions in the line-ups was keen. After Christmas vacation the captains were elected and the five teams were soon picked.

The first games of the inter-class contest were scheduled for January 11th. The Sophs defeated the Seniors by the uneven score of 27-7, and the Freshman Five also overcame the "Con" 18-7. On January 14th, the Juniors outplayed and won from the Seniors 19-11. The same day the Sophs continued their winning streak, winning from the Freshmen by the score of 31-8. On January 25th, the Juniors pulled the surprise of the season by defeating the illustrious Sophs in one of the hardest games of the year. The final score was 24-11.

Neither Juniors nor Sophs lost any games from then on until March 9th, when once again the Juniors faced the Sophs. The Juniors had a clean record, having won all of their seven games, while the Sophs had lost one game out of the seven. This was one of the best games of the season, and at the end of the first half the score was 13-9, with the Sophs in the lead. During the second half the score zig-zagged back and forth, but the Sophs won out, 25-23.

This game tied the Sophs and Juniors for the championship, and the final contest was played on March 11th, before a large throng of enthusiasts. Play was rough, and team-work less smooth than at the previous game, but there was much fighting spirit. Once again the Sophs conquered by a score of 22-20, and carried off the championship.

Team	Won	Lost
Sophs	8	1
Juniors	7	2
Freshmen	5	3
Seniors	3	5
Conservatory	0	8

1921 BASKETBALL TEAM

Syme	DeWitt	Lyons	Aigler
Green	Glass	McMenemy	Thompson

1922 BASKETBALL TEAM

Thompson	Kimball	McCord	Powdermaker
Hay	Morris	Moody	Warner

1924 BASKETBALL TEAM

Grosvenor	Leonard	Kindleman	Hummel	Reed
Swarts	Green	Smith	Footé

CONSERVATORY BASKETBALL TEAM

Matthews	Wilson	DeVol	Macklin	Martin
Burger	Moser	Henderson	Tuttle

Rowley Savage Kemble Washburn Aldrich
 McMenemy McCord Hay Kindleman Powdermaker

Yale-Princeton Game

At the close of the season of inter-class matches, two all-star teams were picked, comprising the best girls' basketball material in school. Alice Hay, '22, was elected to head the Yale team, while Mary McCord, '22, was made captain of the Princeton aggregation. Both teams were put through a week of the most strenuous training, and it looked as though Princeton was the better team, and was consequently picked to win in the fray. Warner Gym was packed on that memorable night, and the girls of the whole institution backed the two teams to the limit. Yale supporters, in blue and white, occupied the west bleachers, and the Orange and Black the south bleachers. In charge of the cheering were Dorothy Wire (Cons.), for the Yale team, and Grace Newsom, '22, for the Princeton squad. The spontaneous yelling was deafening throughout the evening.

The whistle blew at 7:30, and the game was on. Princeton seemed to be the easy winner at first, and completely outplayed Yale during the first period, altho the score at the end of the half would make it seem otherwise. Half: Princeton, 11; Yale, 10. Yale "came back" in such shape during the second half that it looked as if all predictions would have to be reversed. Both teams gave all they had, and the score was close until the very end, when Yale won 21-20.

The game as a whole featured good passing, open playing, good shooting, few fouls, little fumbling, and little time out. Princeton had the better team work and Yale the better shooting. The game was the best girls' game ever seen in Oberlin, and Coach Davies can well be proud of her championship teams.

Yale	Line-up	Princeton
Aldrich	forward	McCord
Kindleman	forward	Rowley	Subs:
Washburn	center	Kemble	Yale—Smith, Leonard, Hazard.
Hay	guard	Savage	Princeton—Moody, Aigler, DeWitt.
Powdermaker	guard	McMenemy

Baseball

The early Spring of 1919-1920 found basketball laid aside only to have its place taken by baseball. The excitement occasioned by the Yale-Princeton game had hardly been subdued when Coach Davies brought out the baseball equipment and the try-outs for the class teams began. The enthusiasm of the contestants was only exceeded by the unusual amount of rainfall. Because of the very unfavorable weather conditions practically nine-tenths of the practice work had to be carried on in the gym, rather than on the outdoor diamond at the athletic field.

However, the training was none the less thorough, and after about three weeks of warming up, the tentative teams were picked and the match games began on April 16th. Two games were played that afternoon, the first between Seniors and Juniors; the second between Sophomores and Freshmen. Both games showed that there was good baseball material pretty evenly distributed throughout the classes. It was very clear that the championship was not to be easily won by any of the five contesting teams.

In these first tilts the Seniors lost to the Juniors by a score of 24-19; and the Sophomores lost to the Freshmen by one base, the final count being 14-13 in favor of the yearlings—who thus won their first college baseball game. However, this was the only game lost by the Sophs during the whole season.

Each team had eight games on its schedule, thus playing each of the other four teams twice. About four matches were run off every week. The close of the scheduled games found the Juniors and Sophomores tied for the school championship. Each of these two teams had won 7 out of 8 games. About the middle of May the tie was played off in a game featured by brilliant team work and close decisions. No one dared predict at any one minute what the final tally would be. At the end of the fourth inning the Juniors led by 2 points, the score then being 13-11 in their favor. In the last inning, however, the Sophs came back in a desperate rally, making 4 bases in succession and holding the Juniors to their previous score. Thus the Sophs "pulled out," winning by a final score of 15-13.

On Hikes

Wives on the hill?

campy

wild

At the Lake

Smiles

Sweet Nymphs

Tennis 1919-1920

In Oberlin, the tennis season as a whole is divided into two parts, the Fall and the Spring seasons. Immediately after the opening of the college year the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, Senior and Conservatory tournament lists were posted. The Freshman tournament is the largest, having between thirty and forty entries. The other three classes and the Conservatory usually furnish between fifteen and twenty-five entrants.

During the early Fall of 1919, the prevailing weather conditions were conducive to the art of racket-swinging. The Spring of 1920, however, furnished conditions entirely adverse to any kind of out-door sport—especially tennis, where the courts were hardly dry for any two consecutive days. The end of May, however, brought some scorching days which dried off the courts and the remaining rounds were staged in rapid succession.

In the Conservatory tournament, Ruby Chevalier easily proved herself master of the situation, and emerged as champion of the Conservatory.

Mary "Mack" came through the finals of the matches scheduled in the Junior lists. She then faced Kennette Griffith as runner up. After two straight but bitterly contested sets (9-7, 6-4) Griffith was still champion of the class of 1921.

Thirty-six girls were entered in the preliminaries of the Sophomore tournament. Catherine Matter and Dorothy More staged the final match, which More took in straight sets.

The Freshman tournament was almost as large as that scheduled by the Sophs. DeVol, Wilder, Bartlett and More came through to the semi-finals—More winning from Bartlett and Wilder from DeVol. The result of the finals was an easy victory for Wilder (6-0, 6-1).

The struggle for the championship of the College and the Conservatory was then on. The results in summary are:

Wilder—Eddy	Wilder—Griffith	Wilder—More
Winner, Wilder	Winner, Wilder	Winner, Wilder
Score 6-4, 6-2.	Score 6-2, 6-1.	Score 8-6, 7-5.

On the last day of final examinations, the last match of the year was staged between Julia Bryant (champion of both College and Conservatory) and Ursula Wilder, Freshman class champion. Miss Wilder was the victor in two straight sets (7-5, 6-2), and won the title—Champion of the Institution.

Hep!
Hep!

"What's this I see?"

Only
Visit
Once

LOOKIN'
EM OVER

Representative Women

THIS year the Hi-O-Hi is following out the precedent started last year, of publishing in the Annual the pictures of the three most representative women, determined by popular vote. As a result of that vote we feel that we have found the three women who, by their personality, well rounded interests, and scholarship, best represent Oberlin.

Perhaps it seems a coincidence that one of these women is President of the Y. W. C. A., the second, President of the Women's League, and the third, Vice-President of the Junior Class. But what offices need such women more than these? We have three distinctly different activities of the College thus represented by three outstanding women.

Marian Warren, or "Betty," as we know her, has made the success of Oberlin's Y. W. C. A. her main interest this year. Along with her office as President of the Club, come duties requiring executive ability, tact, and understanding of girls, all of which Betty possesses to a high degree. Betty is a math and physics shark, too, and is majoring in both of these studies.

Alice Lockwood, besides holding the responsible position of President of the League, is interested in dramatics. We had a glimpse of her dramatic ability when she took the part of Lady Mary in the Commencement Play last June. Her major of Fine Arts and her position in United Church Choir, well round out her college activities.

The development of our physical powers should not be neglected. Eloise Thurston is making Physical Education her major and chief interest. She knows all about tennis, basketball, hockey and swimming. She is not solely interested in athletics, however. She busies herself in Y. W. work, and is Vice-President of the Junior Class.

All these women like good times and do not neglect the lighter side of college life. The secret of their popularity is their personality and ability to apportion their interests. The 1922 Hi-O-Hi takes pleasure in presenting these three women as really deserving the name "Representative Women."

Katherine Eloise Thurston

Alice Lorena Lockwood

Marian Elizabeth Warren

Boarding Houses

MUCH of the more intimate life of the college centers around our boarding houses. To men they may be merely a place to get their meals, but to most of the women they mean "home." In spite of a lot of good-natured grumbling about rules and "binding regulations," there is plenty of time and opportunity for good times.

House nights at the roller rink, sleigh rides and peppy hikes help break the monotony of the regular schedule. The annual banquet and house dance always create a pleasant excitement and are counted big events of the year. For more quiet but deeper enjoyment the custom of after-dinner programs of music and readings has been kept up in most of the houses. We thus get an opportunity to hear house talent, with the rare pleasure of having faculty members contribute their talent.

Basketball games between the various houses, call for the loyalty and support of every house member who can possibly attend them. Even clever house yells result, and no house can be "divided" when it is rejoicing over the victory or mourning the defeat of its team.

An immeasurably important factor in our happiness here in school is our matron, and how quietly but surely she helps us in our "trials and tribulations." So college houses in more ways than one mean home.

This year the Hi-O-Hi wished to give more prominence to the informal side of our boarding house life, so we have tried to show, in the snap page opposite the house picture, representative activities and people of the various houses. The plan followed out in obtaining the best snaps was to have someone collect the dozen best snaps she could get and have them in before a certain date. These pages were voted on and we announce the best page to be that handed in by Dascomb. Other pages deserving special mention are those of Keep, Lord, Pyle Inn, and the Men's Building.

TALCOTT HALL

Top Row: Welch, Parr, Crowell, Kent, Smith.
Second Row: Ruthenford, Van Alstine, Edwards, Boum, Vanderlip, Mrs. Lawrence, Springer, Jones, Williston, Powdermaker, Bailey, Taylor.
Third Row: Steer, Church, Horn, Billington, Worthington, Allen, Foote, Schwartz, Smith, Brocklesby.
Fourth Row: Kauter, Vickery, Keck, Hoff, W. Ludwig, Luethi, Ela, Kim, Spreng, Mrs. Urban, Edgerton, Van Brunt, Rottenstein, Graves, Smith, Arnold, Green, Stockberger, Cory, Fraser, Schmucker, Venter, Livingston, Chen, Glasgow, M. Chen, McCollum, Forsythe, Church, Luman, Aldermann, Hilton, Dillinger, Smith, Louneyoshi.
Fifth Row: Lyle, Phillips, Worley, Tyler, Munson, Porter, Harvey, Deering, Brooks, Beardsley, Dunham, List, Hamilton, Sitler, Griffith, Wolfe, Bruce, Olney, Andrews, Newton, Schaeffer, Hankhammer, Lou, Schleeaman, Chatfield, Agnew, Sill, Parker, Steer, Metcalf, Todd, Brandis.
Sixth Row: Hornung, Hodges, Syme, Aigler, Root, Coo, Ebersbach, Miles, Sorge, Simpson, Hill, N. Ludwig, Stiles, Blackwood, Johnston, Adams, Di-
Bottom Row: Viellier, Demartine, Skinner, Davies, Williams, Crane, Robinson, Muhlbach, Gillcrest, Blackwell, Child, Miller, McBurty, Spreng, Morgan, Black, Stratton, Newton, Meager, Smith, Gibson, Day, Anderson, Noxxell, Hill, Stratton.

TALCOTT

NUIDS UP!

NUIDS UP!

NUIDS UP!

NUIDS UP!

KEEP COTTAGE

First Row: Humbles, Moshier, Doolittle, Kellogg, Caulkins, Van Raalte, Stebbins, Leffler, Knowlton, Holtcamp.
Second Row: Morse, Snyder, Lewis, Gildersleeve, Marsh, Kochensparger, Robinson, McGear, Bliven, Stoll.
Third Row: Flynn, Day, Dexter, Kiblinger, Tucker, Smelling, Whitney.
Fourth Row: Williams, Mull, Zekind, Lane, Swanson, Porter, Mrs. Kell, Wallace, Stone, Warren, Edwards, Caulkins, Thompson, Cowger.
Fifth Row: Oberly, Reese, Ransom, Moyer, Bartholomew, Wisterman, Gray, MacAuslan, Norton, McCollum, Poucher, Pauley, Nauman, Fifield, Cook.
Back Row: Baker, Zekind, Eaton, Wilkinson, Bayle, Wardwell, Hayes, Leonard, Uncapher, Martin, Tassart.

KEEP

BALDWIN COTTAGE

First Row: Soller, Parteh, Lockwood, Demo, Case, Ingersoll, Holmes, Appell, Nethercut, Meck, Metcalf, Burneson, Graber, Richey, Anderson, Parker, Bosworth, Dostal, Walker.

Second Row: Kilts, Green, Fribley, Wood, Cocklin, Jensen, Brown, Anglin, Housley, Colcord, Peterson, Waite, Marshall, Price, Moul, Ernsberger, Wood, Jameson, Bossinger, Jones, Hoover, Kirkendall, Roberts, Lindscheid.

Third Row (Sitting): Ramsey, Taylor, Fauver, Blair, Searle, Bigham, Mrs. Davidson, Westerfield, Silcox, Ziegler, Williams, M. Cushman, Williams, Lyons, Bunker.

Standing: Moyer, Wood, Hyde, Parmalee, Bowen, Johnson, Fletcher, Hutchinson, Marshall, Kester, Kuenzal, Thatcher, Kennedy, Gault, Pierce, Smith, Warren, Merry, Foltz, Kallenberg, Greensmith, Kurtz, Bent, Rice, Knowlton, Liddle, Burd, Spade, Lindscheid, Warner, Smith, Fisher, Wedel, Winslow, Hutchins, Burr, Emery, Wright.

BALDWIN

Water
Unit

Wing Unit

Down

LORD COTTAGE

First Row: Savory, Robinson, Secrist, Nash, Walker, Bates, Piriczky, Forbes, Yura, Shields, Olson, Bauer, Andrews, Mack, Stratton, Wells, Williams, Schuyler, Holloway, Phelps, Brown.
Second Row: Pease, Burgett, Pomeroy, Brooks, E. Le Roy, Milliken, Rodenberg, L. Temkin, Farwell, Bell, Codella, E. Larsen, Harris, Robinson, Beebe, B. Temkin, Day, Kodenberg, Schwartz, Kochmit.
Third Row: Carzoo, Burton, Atwood, Linsey, Hoyle, McLaughlin, Beck, Dorland, Cook, A. Le Roy, Satchell, Johnson, McLelland, Head, King, Lewis, Cowling, Cable, Reese, Salisbury, Sweetland.
Back Row: D. Hart, Steer, Webster, Wilson, Hungerford, Boyce, V. Hart, H. Larsen, Price, Raine, Mrs. Hutchinson, Scroggins, De Mott, Osborne.

Halloween

L
O
R
D
H
A
L
L
O
W
E
E
N

Twins

Foley

SHURTLEFF COTTAGE

First Row: McMenemy, Croll, Parsons, Burr, Crofts, Lee, Vaniman, Cooke, Walker, Smith, Burrell, Slote.
Second Row: Newson, Hay, E. Earle, A. Earle, Hunt, Larson, Mrs. Hitchcock, Carson, Youtz, Bigham, Barnard, Eimert, Tripp, Rice.
Back Row: Halvorson, Coole, Martin, Hillman, Shelton, McKee, Thompson, Hummel, Bruce, Baker, West, Dinwiddie, Evans, S. Bowen, Avery, Grant, Brause, Zachary, O. Bowen, Nielson.

—Dinner is served

Stomping the Log

Forest Home

Leisure

Wild Wild Women

Smaller than a Hill

Smaller than a Hill

Who Wants a Flower Girl?

Estimate of the Year

ALLEN-CROFT

First Row: Miller, Trayser, Bent, Rosecrans, Terry.
Second Row: Bell, Watkins, McMahan, Henderson, Mathews, Lang, Tuttle, Thomson, Solberg.
Third Row: Spitzer, Hostetler, Shen, Bradbury, Atkins, McBurney, Hartman, Washburn, Mathews, Bayless, Clink, Esperon, Martin, Burger.
Fourth Row: Giles, Dils, Davis, Perrine, Morgan, Topling, Mrs. Seaman, Reeder, Wiet, Grinnell, Leyman, Wood, Cave.
Top Row: Shotts, Moser, Keach.

ALLENBROOK

DASCOMB

First Row (Sitting): Moore, Locke, Green, Lafever, Oberly, Dawson.
Second Row: Candee, M. Lamb, Forster, Harris, Affhauser, Post, Fitch, Cook, Fowler, Fox, Paschall, Bridgwater, A. Lamb, Warner, Welty.
Third Row: Williams, Slater, Locke, Straub, C. Dann, McMenemy, M. Dann, Winans, Pickering, Miller, Rowley, Vining, Fish, Johnson.
Fourth Row: Harrod, Robinson, Gregory, Lachenmeyer.
Fifth Row: Allen, Cleveland, Brooks, Mrs. Locke, Randall, Radcliffe.
Back Row: Bray, Ewing, Colby, Wishart, Glass, F. Dunscomb, M. Dunscomb, Burrham.

DASCOM

Kitchen
Police

Clothes
Make the Man

BARROWS

First Row: Harvey, Jellison, Antoine, Ginrich, Johnson, Hartshorn, McCombs, Kasten, Rinehart, Chase, Stevens, Latham, Anderson, Gilkeson, Whitt, Oecema, Hahn.
Second Row: Montgomery, Densmore, Carman, Carey, Dale, Mrs. Hoskins, Holliday, Scott, Bentley, Baker, Swigart, Fugman, McPeck, Wilson, Skidmore, Heicher, Bassett, Plank, Brigham.
Third Row: Wilkinson, Bristol, Browning, Ward, Exner, Reed, Abbott, Tucker, Whitmore, Carroll, Miller, Dixon, Day, Bunce, Stone.
Back Row: Johnstone, Hamilton, Heston, Shultz, Millner, Broughton, Knauf, Byrer, Dieringer, Correll, Turner, Bartlett, Phillips, Sutton, Grant, Burton, Robinson.

PARROTS

CRANFORD

First Row: Farmin, Hopkins, Shepherd, Fink, Jenkins, Semmence, Baird, Dickinson, Bond, Gurney, Augustine, Wheeler, Cossler, Hopkins.
Second Row: Washburn, Kilmer, Shimansky, Baldwin, McLaughry, Fiedler, Daggett, Bailey, Standish, Hanna, Schofield, Shappell, Moring, Meredith, Frank, Kelley, English, Bower, Shepherd.
Third Row: Lauthers, McCord, Kemble, Scheid, Fisher, Robinson, MacDonald, Persinger, Masters, Hoelzle, Whittaker, Hathaway, Jordan, Shutt, Breck, Schweser, Huffman, Beck, Jones, Ericson, Gurney, Whittaker, Kole.
Fourth Row: Twining, Campbell, Strickland, Roose, Buck, Smiley, Mrs. Pope, Groves, Reynolds, Cleland, Dow, Stuart, Clay, Winters, McPhee, Baumhart, Hazeltime.
Top Row: Marshall, Nichols, Daniels.

CRANFORD

HUCKINS'

First Row: Hochhalter, Nicholas, Wright, Wolfe, Smith, Luft.
Second Row: White, Maskell, Long, Wolfe, Moore, Sherman, Adams.
Third Row: Ballantine, Truesdale, Rowe, Greer, Hurdle, E. Stewart, Harding, Jordan, Cooper, Hammond.
Fourth Row: Elwell, Owen, Hopka, Lierbun, McKinley, Stewart, Pollock, Haertel, Ainley, Bunker.
Fifth Row: La Porte, Hagebarger, Shurtleff, Harlow.
Last Row: Kinney, Braman, Ford, Straka.

GRAY GABLES

First Row: Behrens, Miller, Keyes, Stem, Cody, Rockwood, G. Dawson.
Second Row: Ainsworth, Boyden, Crole, Corlett, Smith, Ruth Crossen, Matheny, Colburn, Recc, Ely, Sprout, O. Dawson.
Third Row: James, Peter, Haman, Graham, Randall, Edson, Monosmith.
Fourth Row: Hilberry, Bergens, Richardson, Vail, Beckett, Nicholas, Harris, Popp, Brown, Mrs. Haggerty, Ihle, Kishman, Carmichael, Leiper, V. Crossen, Kascerman, Hogan, Dick, Anderson, Phelps.
Top Row: Kirland, Kirchner, R. Crossen, Dobbins, McGill, Hutson, Sharigian, Cook, Van Gorder, Leslie.

GRAY
GABLES

GULDE'S

First Row: Thurston, Pratt, Johnson, Voss, Wolfe, Hawkey, Fletcher, Kimmel, Waite, Salter, Rickards, Baird, Powell.
Second Row: Tripp, Moody, Kinney, Cushman, Converse, Hayes, Radde, Mrs. Gulde, Hahn, Griffey, Hudson, Parsons, Ruby, Lamb, C. Day.
Third Row: Dickson, Perry, Watson, Mayer, Boesel, H. Day, Holbrook, Elliot, Cohen, Hayden, Easton, Jack, Farmer, Taynter, Butterfield, Gray Knowlton.
Back Row: Wagstaff, Johnson, Moore, Hess, Knesal, Jones, Rossiter, Stallings, D. Savage, Wolcott, Hope, Sanders, R. Savage, Beckstein.

GULDE
HOUSE

UNSERHEIM

First Row: Rogers, Haight, Pierson, Thompson, Thomas, A. Wood, Deuel, Ford, Bruce, Ayres.
Second Row: Amos, Burnett, Hammond, Roberson, Davis, Hyde, Sheets, Bechtel.
Third Row: Eichelberger, McGee, Graham, Hemingway, Wells.
Fourth Row: Heinrichs, Smith, Hageman, Winchester.
Fifth Row: H. Dietrich, H. Wood, Mrs. Klinefelter, Shempp, Turcher, Marvin, Harmon.
Top Row: Knowlton, Bunker, Smith, M. Dietrich, Andrews, Martin, Bartter, Brown.

UNSERHEIM

PYLE INN

First Row: M. Johnson, Augenbaugh, M. B. Smith, Hutchinson, Wood, Curtis, Bailey.
Second Row: Bucher, Ford, Lamb, Goez, Grosvenor, Lockwood, Clark.
Third Row: Day, Frellsen, Quayle, E. Smith, Pittrick, Myers, Hayden, Bopp, Knights, Walker, Griswold, Warren, Blair.
Fourth Row: Weide, Jones, Harlow, Park, Clark, Goodell, Miss Wolcott, Mrs. Pyle, Bullock, Howard, Taber, Wilson, Gordon, Seaman, Windecker.
Fifth Row: Tanner, Webb, Jameson, Boughton, Lansdale, Withrow, Veazey, Landis, Milliken, Kelsner.

VATICAN

First Row: Galanie, Day, Sumption, Gressner, Williams, Post, Nuneviller, Maag, Denison, Thomas, Houseman.

Second Row: Wiest, Reinochl, Bentley, Tussing, Stocker.

Third Row: Crofts, Aldrich, Robertson, Laughlin, Rowley, Boer, C. Gray, Hartle, Bateson, Malcolm, West, Hart, L. Gray, Smith, M. Wilson.

Fourth Row: Jay, Peabody, Rauscher, Matter, Woodward, Morris, Gardner, Mead, Barnes, Simpson, Brown, Watts, E. Wilson, Wasson.

Back Row: Clipson, Milford, Giffin, Zimmerman, Miss Pope, Hanson, Walker, Keep, Mitchell, Thompson, Dickson, Molitor, Canode.

VATICAN →

WEBSTER

First Row: Robinson, Daxon, Davis, Beck, Hosack, Rutenick, Walthour, Kalbfeld, Love, Williams, Atkinson, Robinson.

Second Row: Soo Choo, Coulter, Jenkins, Chapman, Shafer, Hill, Drake, Fisk.

Third Row: Fall, Ord, Pojlia, Bate, Caton, Smith.

Fourth Row: Chambers, Frye, Bartlett, Williams, Winckles, Fitch, Zurfluh, Cilkim, Welday, Addington, Wolp, Hill, Schwartz, Gould, Mrs. Hill, Weaver, Macartney, Rutenick, Alexander, Chammon, Lotze, Conry, Wright.

WEST

MEN'S BUILDING

First Row: Gordon, Knight, Harmon, Balliet, McKibben, Hawley, Mickey, Stem, Dyck, Braman, Atkinson, Caine, Reed, Dudley, Taylor, Hanson.
Second Row: Hook, Paton, Vermilya, Robinson, Jones, Burns, Champion, Bonnist, Bechtal, Williams, Clark.
Third Row: Seebach, Wood, Cruikshank, Hageman, Dudley, Lions, Daniels, Hogan, Gibbons, Newcomb, Gurney, Oestreich, Lawrence, Sands, Augenbach, Clipson, Wood, Beard, Rossiter, Williams, Salter.
Fourth Row: Warner, Clark, Morrell, Wedel, Will, Schmitt, Brown, Bischoff, Crossen, Randall, Williams, Hearn, Wright, Day, Forbes, Cressey, Cooper.
Last Row: Severn, Adams, Anderson, Plank, Stocker, Jolliff, Kaserman, Ayres, Singleton, Burneson, Lindscheid, Bartlett, Schemp, Addams, Taylor, Fletcher, Elterich, Anderson, Hutchinson, Williams, Sheffield, Evans, Hopkins, Richardson, Bartter, Hutchinson, Teller, Fifield.

MEN'S BUILDING

MEN'S COMMONS

- First Row:* Towne, Sung, Ma, Young, Seng, Sloan, Coomber, Levine, Balliet, Williams, Hubbard, Detweiler, Bowles, Ellis, Hinman, Cornelius, Norton, Woods.
Second Row: Champion, Koo, Henry, Babione, Hoover, Smith, Hook, Rogers, Horton, Taylor, Mickey, Stocker, Herberts, Wilson.
Third Row: Schwachow, Allen, Reiff, Goldstein, Dudderer, Minne, Mrs. Hamer, Mrs. Hall, Welker, Jolliff, Carlton, Kaloyan, Salter, Liggett.
Fourth Row: Wright, Teegarten, Elterich, Newcomb, Williams, Hearn, C. Y. Liu, Anderson, Gibbons, Kiff, Root, Loy.
Fifth Row: Hawley, Falkner, Sumner, Anders, Sands, Knight, Addams, Harsh, Nelson, Budwalter, Woo, Chang, Chen.
Sixth Row: Parkhill, McLaughlin, Will, Gregg, Randall, Seebach, Miller, Berinshi, Wilkinson, De Largi, Clark, Pray, Adams, Warner.
Last Row: Miyagawa, Curtis, Tamura, Liu, Finley, Johnson, Cooley, Wong, Tomnolier, Tsunajima, Bricker, Dostal, Pierce, Torii, Walters, Evans, Mathiason, Daniels, Lahman.

CYRIL
WILSON

ABRIEL P. L. - also Paul

Foot-Book

ARNOLD'S

First Row: Stranahan, McNeill, Johnson, Smith.
Second Row: Hill, McCollom, Bray, Ladd, Eakins.
Third Row: Eckert, Holcomb, Morris, Mrs. Arnold, McCollom, Long.
Fourth Row: Hanawalt, Kintner, White, Mears, Wilson.

HILLBRANDT'S

First Row: Turner, Houston, Brown, Kolpein.
Second Row: Maxted, Swigert, Schulenberg.
Back Row: Thompson, Karlton, Campbell, Vermilya, Lewandoski, McKibben, Lorenz, La Rocco.

JENNEY'S

JENNEY'S

First Row: Hammond, Kennedy, Bevin, Lackey, Swift, Stewart.
Second Row: Wilcox, Joslin, Kaufman.
Third Row: Amsler, Bambridge, Hart, McKensie.
Fourth Row: Beckman, Farmer, Gibson, White, Trautman, Patterson.
Back Row: Singleton, Lyons, Thiesson, Heard, Reed.

LAUDERLEIGH

First Row: Calkins, Bentley, Elder, Lauderdale, Eglin, Johnson.
Second Row: Wright, D. Whitney, De Witt, Mrs. Lauderdale, Turnbull, Hyde, Lupton, Altman.
Top Row: Minor, Sawhill, Crockett, Brown, Gould, F. Fairchild, I. Fairchild, A. Whitney.

LAUDERLEIGH

SMITH'S

First Row: M. Bigelow, Burt, Swan, Williams.

Second Row: Nye, Brown, Goldstein, Mrs. Smith, Spellman, Morris, Sair, Reed.

Third Row: Yokes, Mott, Bugby, Matthews, J. Bigelow, Stubbs, Oestrich, Entorff, Latimer.

Top Row: Lindlemann, Myers, Walsh, Jerome, Kloos.

Mock Convention

Deep political intrigue marked the Fourteenth Quadrennial Oberlin Mock Republican National Convention, held in Finney Memorial Chapel, on the nights of May 24th and 25th, 1920. With six major candidates running strong for the favor of the convention, the outcome of the session was very much in doubt until the forces behind four of the candidates united behind a dark horse candidate, Charles Evans Hughes, and landslided his nomination on the fourth ballot with a comfortable lead over his nearest competitor, Herbert Hoover. Calvin Coolidge was the nominee for Vice-President.

Although the activities of the convention were not formally opened until Monday evening, the 24th, long in advance of that date there was a lively campaign in evidence on the campus. The Hoover faction made the first bid for support from the students and early united a strong group of supporters behind the Californian. A flood of Lowden buttons, together with some substantial literature in favor of the Illinois governor, turned the interest in his direction. A Harding Club was next formed which proved later to be a mere off-spring of the Hoover movement. "I'm for Hiram" buttons and a Johnson dance rallied a good backing behind the senator from California. Coolidge supporters conducted an effective campaign of education and the Wood forces rallied support to their militaristic candidate by a "wild and woolly" shooting scene on the campus. Debs, Poindexter and Pritchard had following in their home states, Georgia claiming the Socialist leader as her adopted son.

The grand procession of delegates opened activities on Monday evening of the convention days. In the line of march were the 492 delegates to the convention arranged by states, G. A. R. veterans, and the convention police force.

Candidates were represented in the parade by appropriate floats.

The Monday evening session was devoted to the adoption of the platform for the convention. Professor William J. Hutchins gave the address of welcome to the delegates in a burst of "Say it with Flowers" oratory. Roger L. Hubbert then introduced the Honorable Paul G. Howland of Cleveland, who served as the genial chairman throughout the convention. As he announced in his opening address the main issue before the body was the old question from Hamlet slightly transposed, "To beer or not to beer." The convention went bone dry on its platform. The plank for universal training failed to receive the sanction of the delegates. In spite of strenuous opposition from the chairman, a plank for a bonus for college graduates, for which the professors were to be taxed, was incorporated in the platform.

One of the features of the convention was the daily newspaper, "The Elephant," which kept the public as well as the delegates informed on the doings of the convention. Its motto, "Massive in News, Mighty in Editorials, Bejeweled with Ivory," is sufficient to describe it.

The presence of women in the assemblage for the first time in the history of the Oberlin mock convention was an interesting event of the gathering. There were not only women present on delegations from states where the weaker sex had the ballot, but women took an active part in the meetings of the convention in presenting issues for the platform and in upholding candidates.

Our Private Car

Our Only Male

Fire-Drill

FAIRCHILD

'The Great Basin'

'For Divers Reasons'

Wood Shed

HOME GIRLS

Life's Darkest Moments

Passing the Campus View after the movies with only a nickel in your pocket.
 Rainy night—see a taxi pass when your girl lives at Barrows.
 When the Prof. appears at six minutes after.
 The day you get back from vacation.
 Eight o'clock classes after light cuts.

Don't You Wish You Knew ?

1. Where you'll be two years from now ?
2. As much as the Seniors seem to know ?
3. What your girl thinks about you ?
4. What inspires Prof. Baker ?
5. A great deal more than you do ?
6. Why Bob Millikan doesn't ignite ?
7. How Betty Warren does it all ?
8. Why week-ends go so fast ?
9. How to decorate the Men's Gym. without so much work ?
10. Why you never get any telephone calls ?
11. Why the business manager of this book is so business-like ?
12. Why you never get A's ?
13. Why Freshmen are supposed to be green ?
14. Why there are so many wheel chairs in Oberlin ?
15. If she has a "Man at Home ?"
16. How Prof. Leonard learned to pronounce the names he springs in Anatomy class ?
17. Why Jessie likes noodles ?

Positively

Frosh—"Only fools are positive."

Ditto—"Are you sure?"

Frosh—"I'm positive."

A famous belle is reported to have said: "The more I see of dogs, the less I like men." A man might well say, "The more I see how some dogs are treated, the oftener I wish I were a dog."

What Are the Odds?

Soph—"What'll we do?"

Senior—"I'll spin a coin. If it's heads we go to the movies; if it's tails we go to the dance, and if it stands on edge we'll study."

Fi—"Did you ever hear of chloroform?"

Chic—"Of course."

Fi—"Well, don't breathe it."

Mixed Relations

Two microbes sat on a pantry shelf,
And spoke in accents pained,
As they watched the milkman filter the milk,
"Our relations are getting strained."

—Exchange.

Freshman Bible Class

"Say, Margot, how far are you in your Bible paper?"

"Oh, we're in the middle of original sin."

"That isn't much; we're past redemption."

Compliments of

Cleveland
Hotel Association

American
Colonial
Cleveland
Doanbrooke
Euclid
Hermitage
Hollenden
Mecca
New Amsterdam
Olmsted
Regent
Statler
Winton

Deceitful Appearance

She—"I saw you driving yesterday with a gentleman. He appeared to have only one arm."

Her—"No; the other arm was around somewhere."

Gloom!

"Raining Pitchforks" is bad enough, but when it comes to "Hailing Street Cars" it's pretty rough weather.
—Virginia Reel.

First Stenog—"How do you get your pay?"

Second Ditto—"Oh, by the touch system."

It Is Ever Thus

"There's a story of a woman who used a telephone for the first time in eighty years."

"She must be on a boarding house line."

Patience—"Hasn't Peggy come out of the water yet?"

Beatrice—"Oh, yes, long ago. She's in her bath house."

Patience—"Yes, but what keeps her there so long?"

Beatrice—"She bought one of those new combination bathing suits and I guess she's forgotten the combination."
—Yonkers Statesman.

Not Bad

First Stude—"What would this nation be without women?"

Second Stude—"A stagnation."

—Burr.

She—"I hope you had a pleasant sea voyage."

He—"Yes, everything came out nicely."

"Sambo, how do dey get de water in the watermelon?"

"Dat's easy, niggah, dey plants it in de spring."

Prof. Holmes—"What kind of a change takes place when a bomb explodes?"

Wise Girl—"A change of scenery."

Try It, Men

Here's a sure way, fellows, to make enemies.

Rush up to a girl you know, grab her hand as though you're tickled to death to see her, and in honeyed tones say, "Well, how's my girl?"

Ten times out of nine she'll answer coyly, "All right."

Then say, "How do you know she is?"

Good taste, skill and severe training are as requisite and necessary in the proper production of books as in any other of the fine arts.

THE ARTCRAFT PRINTING COMPANY

BOOKS \ BOOKLETS \ CATALOGS \ FOLDERS

113 ST. CLAIR AVENUE

CLEVELAND

Contradictory Statements

The wisest people have agreed that a woman is the best influence in a man's life. And the wisest people have agreed that a man should not allow himself to be influenced.

Worldly Wisdom
Husbands
Y. W. C. A.

Women
Hobbs
Y. M. C. A.

Grinding Inspiration
Rec
Lake Erie House Parties
Sleep (?)

Blue Books
Oleo
Yelling at Hoss
Serenading

Libe Dates
Engagement Rings
Apollo
Vacations
Education

Green Caps
O Club

Tie-up
Opportunity for Fussing

Hatless Fashions
O. C. Sweaters
Meals at the T. R.'s.
Every night a date

Ohly's after the movies
Being Vamped
Excitement
Recitation Loving Intelligence
Nothing more

Dido—"Do you remember when you were first struck by my beauty?"
Aeneas—"Yes, dearest. It was at the masked ball." —Sun Dial.

No, Ichabod, if a man prof. married a lady prof., you would not call their children prophets.

"Mama, why has papa no hair?"
"Because he thinks so much, my dear."
"But why have you so much?"
"Because—go away and do your lessons, you naughty boy."

"I always sleep with gloves on, that is what makes my hands so soft."
"H'm. Do you sleep with your hat on also?"

Florence—"Mother, I think I will slip on my raincoat and run over to the post office for the mail."

Mother—"Why, it isn't fit for a dog to be out, my dear. Let your father go."

Nervous Fresh—"Meet Miss er-ah-um-ah-er ah—"

Young Lady—"Never mind giving your college yell, finish the introduction."
—Froth.

THE BERN STUDIO

Art Modern Photography

1254 Euclid Avenue

Cleveland, Ohio

*A Portrait true to life is an Everlasting Remembrance.
Do it today—then it will never be too late.*

Make Your Appointments with

BERN STUDIO

For Photos of Quality

If you have beauty let us take it
If you have none we can make it

Prospect 2197

Opposite Higbee Co.

Heard at the "Hip"

Senior Co-ed—"What a wonderful physiognomy that actress has!"
Freshman—Ditto. "Yes, and such a darling face."

Academic Bolshevism

(The Hope of the Future)

The Fusser's and Janitor's League of Oberlin College met last week and issued the following provisional rules and regulations:

1. A maximum number of two classes per day is declared for everyone.
2. Anyone carrying two subjects on any one day is entitled to cut one.
3. Professors shall be obliged to attend one lecture or one movie performance per day.
4. Conversations in an ordinary tone, as well as laughter, will be allowed in the library.
5. All final exams called off.
6. Professors holding classes before 9:30 A. M. will be tried for? ? ?
7. Cases of conspicuous cramming will be tried by joint council.
8. All outside reading will be done on the steps of the arch. In case of rain, it will be called off.

Al—"How would you teach a girl to swim?"

Bert—"Who's the girl?"

Al—"My sister."

Bert—"Throw her in."

—Voo Doo.

"The boarding house coffee has the Quality of Mercy."

"How's that?"

"It is not strained."

Estranged Relations

Frosh—"I want a leave of absence for the week-end to visit my sister in New York."

Dean (quickly)—"How long have you known her?"

Frosh (absent mindedly)—"About two weeks."

—Widow.

Oh, Heaven

Hay—"He surely was a far-sighted man."

Dees—"How far?"

Hay—"He had a fire extinguisher placed on his coffin."

How True?

'24—"Lend me two dollars and I'll be eternally indebted to you."

'21—"Yes—I am afraid so."

26 Years of Hi-O-Hi Photography

1895—1921

The Rice Studio with the assistance of Mr. Gatschene has helped to make this a better Annual. We will be glad to furnish you with duplicates of pictures in this book.

Have Your Photo Done at

RICE STUDIO

West College Street

OBERLIN, OHIO

"REK" HALL POSES

Portrait of a Co-ed Studying after a Dance

The lily flower has six parts;
 Oh, gee! but my feet burn.
Je porte, tu parles, il parle; I wish
 That I could do that turn.

And imity's essential
 I need a party dress;
 The retina is in the eye—
 I knew that he'd confess.

Oh, how I want some chocolate fudge
 And chlorophyl is green.
 She tried to keep him all herself—
 What does osmoses mean?

The mind is not in space at all;
 The brain is in the head;
 The potato has a tubrous root,
 And I am going to bed.

C. WHITE

if you want the best workmanship and service when in need of class or society jewelry. We are official jewelers to the Class of 1922, the Men's Glee Club, the Women's Glee Club, the French Club and other Oberlin organizations.

As Stationers we have supplied a number of Oberlin organizations with stationery and announcements; also banquet and dance programs and other printed matter. Our equipment enables us to give complete engraving and printing service. Write to us. Our representative is in Oberlin frequently.

CHARLES LYLE WHITE

Stationer—Engraver—Jeweler

Two-Eleven High Avenue

Cleveland, Ohio

We solicit your orders for engraved stationery, cards, announcements, etc., of any description. Programs of original and unique design, incorporating special color schemes, are a specialty with us.

ATTENTION ALUMNI:

We can give you good service in making pins, rings or other jewelry with the Oberlin class pin design, incorporating your class numeral. Write for prices. State year graduated and article you wish. Pins and other jewelry of any Oberlin organization, old or new, can be supplied by us. Special attention given to individual orders.

Women Have No Birthdays

Fresh—"Would you speak of Oberlin College as 'she'?"

Senior—"No, Oberlin admits it's fifty years old."

From Brunette to Blonde

"You wouldn't think that there was anything about peroxide to change a girl, and yet it has turned many a one's head."

He—"Are you going to the Libe tonight?"

She—"No, I have to study."

As she looked in the mirror
She had to confess,
That the end of her nose
Was a shining success.

Senior—"Why are the Freshmen like good real estate?"

Co-ed—"I don't know. Why?"

Senior—"Because they're a green empty lot."

Fi—"Why is it that they don't use telephones in Europe?"

Chic—"Because they can't see each other's hands."

Farmer—"See here, young feller, what are you doing up in that tree?"

Oberlin Stude—"One of your apples fell down and I'm trying to put it back."

"Where do jelly fish get their jelly?"

"From the ocean currents."

Matron of Men's Rooming House—"Of course you know I object to late study, so always turn off the electricity at midnight."

Frosh—"Oh, that's all right. I do my light reading early in the evening."

Prof. Moore—"What is the period between two reigns called?"

Soph (Sleepily)—"Drought."

Freshman (In Chem. Lab)—performing experiment on Oxygen:

Directions: Dip in sulfur and ignite.

Worried Freshman to Instructor—"I have the sulfur, but where is the ignite?"

The Snake—"Got your traveling clothes ready?"

Eve—"Indeed I have. Adam gave me the sweetest going-away gown you ever saw. It's made of leaves of absence."
—Froth.

A Warner's Rust-Proof Corset may be washed again and again to be just as good as new.

This doubles its value and makes it the most economical corset you can buy.

Warner's
Rust - Proof
Corsets -

Guaranteed not to Rust, Break or Tear

For Fit, for Comfort, and for Long Wear, there is no Corset to compare with a Warner's Rust-Proof. Its excellence of construction, its fashionable lines and the fact that it is absolutely GUARANTEED not to Rust, Break or Tear, makes it the most satisfactory of all corsets

YOCOM BROTHERS COMPANY

Our Pear-Tree

PARKER LUCKY CURVE (SAFETY-SEALED) FOUNTAIN PEN

Fountain Pens

One of the many good things about the Lucky Curve family of Fountain Pens is the large variety of styles, sizes and types offered.

There are four types—Safety, Safety Self-Filling, Transparent and Colored.

Embracing these four types, there are more than 300 different styles and sizes. And the beauty of it is, that ANY style of pen point can be fitted into ANY of the above styles.

This means that there is a Parker Pen built for your special personal requirements. You will be glad that you specified a Parker Pen.

TOBIN'S DRUG STORE
OBERLIN, OHIO

PARKER LUCKY CURVE (SAFETY-SEALED) FOUNTAIN PEN

The Parker Pen Company

JANESVILLE, WIS.

New York

Chicago

San Francisco

Spokane

Boston

To Next Year's Board

A year from now you will sit around a table and go over your Annual. Will the Faculty Advisor smile and say, "The best we have ever published!" --or will you and your class feel that you have failed? The answer largely depends on your choice of an engraving house.

For twenty-eight years the Stafford Engraving Company has been intimately connected with hundreds of the best college and school annuals. It has been our privilege to sit in many board meetings, to aid in solving many problems, to plan for bigger, better things. We are proud that Stafford Service has always given as much as it has received.

We have never been content with past achievements, any more than you will be content with this year's book. Call us into your councils the day you begin, and let Stafford Service work with you to the final triumph of an annual which will again be "The Best Ever"!

The book on the left will be tremendously helpful to you. Ask us how you can get it---FREE

Stafford Engraving Company
"THE HOUSE OF IDEAS"

Artists " Designers " Engravers

CENTURY BUILDING, INDIANAPOLIS

Press firmly on a Table

then try to slide your hand along the varnished surface. It won't slip! Then note the slight suction as you lift your hand.

That is the principle embodied in SqueeGee Heels—the "V" Crimps, hollow places and the resiliency combine to cause a firm grip on the pavement that makes walking easy and positively insures against slipping.

Made in all Styles and Sizes for Men, Women and Children

Get your pair today from any repairman or shoe dealer in Oberlin —or in your home city. Specify SQUEEGEE HEELS when buying new shoes or having old ones repaired.

The SqueeGee Heel Company

23 E. COLLEGE ST.

OBERLIN, OHIO.

SqueeGee

No Skid HEELS

Oberlin Business College

The Oberlin Business College is having another prosperous year. The attendance has grown so rapidly for several years past that it has been necessary to build a new addition to the main building, which is now nearing completion. It was the first business college in Ohio to be placed upon the Recognized List of Ohio Colleges by the State School Department.

This school is now considered one of the best of its kind in the entire country

Edison Records

Columbia Records

We can supply all your wants in musical merchandise, strings, supplies, all small instruments and sheet music.

MILLS MUSIC SHOP

543 Broad Street

Elyria, Ohio

The Cheapest Place to Buy in Town

P. O. Johnson

34 South Main St.

OBERLIN, O.

Men's Fine Wearing Apparel of all Kinds at Real Prices

TOM DOUGLAS

Elyria's Popular Priced

Tailor

Makes Better Clothes for Less Money

403 Broad Street

ELYRIA, OHIO

For Better Printing Service

College Program Printing

a Specialty

The Century Print Shop Co.

309 Broad Street

Elyria, Ohio

KODAK FINISHING AND FILMS

"DAILY SERVICE"

WATERMAN SHEAFFER CONKLIN

Fountain Pens

Our Stationery shows Good Taste

OHLY'S CORNER DRUG STORE

Brunswick Phonographs and Records
The Goodrich Book Store

J. R. HAYLOR, Prop.

The News Printing Company

48 South Main St., Oberlin, O.

W. H. PHILLIPS, Manager

"Anything in Printing from a Card to a Book"

ESTIMATES CHEERFULLY GIVEN

Catering to Banquets House Parties and Picnics

Punch for those Dances

At Your Service

GUNN & CO.

GLEE CLUB CONCERT

PROM

TRIANGULAR DEBATE

TRACK

REVIEW
OF THE YEAR

FOOT BALL

SENIOR-FRESHMAN RECEPTION

EXAMS

GRADUATION

The Oberlin Memory Book

GET ONE

AT

The Goodrich Book Store

J. R. HAYLOR, Prop.

Flowers for all Occasions

H. A. COOK

The Florist

63 South Main St. Phone 359

PERFECT DIAMONDS

Platinum and Diamond Jewelry

High Grade Watches

Chas. H. Savage

401 Broad Street ELYRIA, O.

It boiled!

Do You Believe In Sluts?

Earl
Horn
Horn

3rd Church?

Rough Party

This one drew great crowds

Two things of Berlin

Field

Clown

Why you like

John Lersch & Co.

Dry Goods and Ready-to-Wear

Largest Store between Cleveland and Toledo

Mail Orders Receive Prompt and Personal Attention

John Lersch & Co.

ELYRIA, OHIO

Unique Gifts, Hand Made Articles, Stamped Goods at

THE SWAIN Art Shop

31 North Main Street

We are not strangers to your father, mother, brother or sister, for we have repaired their shoes while at school.
Why not yours? and yours to come?

RIVERS

40 South Main Street

OBERLIN, OHIO

Rocky View

Rocky View

Rocky View

Stony Point

KELLER-KOAT

1922-1924 Classes wear Keller-Koat Sweaters

Sole Agents for Oberlin
PFAFF & MORRIS

Our Knitting Mill is devoted to the making of the finest Shaker Knit Sweaters in America.

Our method of sewing every garment by hand thruout—makes KellerKoat the Sweater par excellence.

The Keller Knitting Co.

CLEVELAND

KELLER-KOAT

Cloaks, Suits, Dresses and Millinery

Silk Hosiery and Underwear

Stocks Complete at all Times

Courteous Salespeople to Attend You

Elyria's Largest and Finest Department Store

Lewis Mercantile Co.

ELYRIA, OHIO

Oberlin Racket Store

The Store with the Big Line

Where Your Money Goes Farthest

DRY GOODS, NOTIONS,
NOVELTIES,
TOYS, ETC.

11 N. Main Street

OBERLIN, O.

Winter Sports

Some Poses

Students

We Supply All your shoe wants

COOLEY'S
Boot Shop

Photographer

Collins' Studio over State Bank.
Where the students get a square deal.
TELEPHONE 21

SERVICE

SATISFACTION

We Own and Operate our own Plant in Oberlin

Oberlin Dry Cleaning Co.

M. D. WYCKOFF

Telephone 181

Opp. Post Office

To Students and Prospective Students of Oberlin College

May we suggest that you establish a banking connection in Oberlin. The waste of time and effort necessary to the collection, by the banks of Oberlin, of checks on banks outside the village is an economic drain on the community and the nation.

THIS BANK GIVES STUDENT ACCOUNTS THE UTMOST CARE

The State Savings Bank Co.

THE ALUMNI PIN

For Graduates of
Oberlin College

Heavy Solid Gold with Safety Catch
$4.00

Large Size
$5.00

Fob Attachments Extra if Desired
75c

Headquarters for College Jewelry of all kinds

Mail Orders Filled Promptly

Herrick & Shreffler

7 West College St. OBERLIN, O.

Goodyear United States

Michelin Tires

Oberlin Tire Shop

22 East College Street

Phone 10-K

Expert Vulcanizing

Tires, Accessories and Vulcanizing

S U P R E M A C Y

For the past fifteen years the Educational Department of the Bureau of Engraving, Inc., has been collecting a vast fund of information from the experiences of hundreds of editors and managers of Annuals.

This data covering organization, financing, advertising, construction, selling and original features has been systematically tabulated and forms the subject matter for our series of reference books. These are furnished free to those securing "Bureau" co-operation in the making of engravings for their books.

Begin where others have left off. Profit by their experience and assure success for your Annual.

BUREAU OF ENGRAVING, INC.

500 SOUTH FOURTH STREET
MINNEAPOLIS

Good Teeth Mean Good Health

Who's Your Dentist?

Dr. Harry G. Roby

Dentist

Dentistry of the Reliable Sort

TELEPHONE 2924

551 W. Broad St.

ELYRIA, O.

The White House

Dry Goods and Notions

9 West College St. Oberlin, Ohio

Blouses, Underwear

Skirts, Dress Goods

Gloves, Art Goods

Corsets, Bedding

Hosiery, Kimonas

Draperies, Middy Blouses

PHONE No. 68

The White House

ESTABLISHED
1860
OBERLIN, OHIO

The Trade Mark of Quality in

Men's Clothing and Furnishings

Why Jack H. 1920?

Call sign

Good joke

Eve?

The Campus Hairdressing Parlor

"But the woman is the glory of man."

"But if a woman have long hair, it is a glory to her; for her hair is given her for a covering."—

1 Corinthians, 11 chapter, 7th and 15th verses.

Phone 515

15 College Place OBERLIN, OHIO

You are sure the right impression will be made when the offering is a box of

The Apollo
Chocolates
The Chocolates that are different

Get them at

Ohly's Drug Store
OBERLIN

Or at other high grade stores elsewhere

Food for Thought

There are today approximately six thousand central stations and municipal electric plants in the United States, representing a total investment of over two and one-half billion dollars.

No matter what may be said, truthfully or otherwise, about the methods of public utilities in the past, it may be safely asserted today that most utilities are anxious to put their houses in order, so that they may be able to withstand the closest scrutiny of friend or foe.

The Lorain County Electric Company

J. B. JOHNSON, Gen. Mgr.

Clothing and Furnishings for Men

We Specialize in

Cooper Athletic Underwear
B V D Athletic Underwear
Seal Pax Athletic Underwear
Imperial Athletic Underwear

Daniel Freese

547 Broad Street ELYRIA, OHIO

What is which

You will always find the Largest Stock of

Cut Flowers and Plants

—at—

Humm & Jones

GREENHOUSES

Corsages our Specialty

We are Members of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery

174 E. Lorain St. OBERLIN, O.

A COMPLETE LINE OF STU-DENT ELECTRICAL SUPPLIES

Irons

Toasters

Flash Lights

Warming Pads

Lamps, Etc.

W. E. POWERS

29 E. College St. OBERLIN, O.

Apollo Theatre

A Motion Picture Play House of Character

We aim to please you every day.

Apollo Theatre

PFAFF & MORRIS

Agents for Stetson's Shoes

Oberlinites In Camp

Lunch

Good Swimming

PORTRAITS of QUALITY

Leiter Studio

Kodak Developing and Printing

MAIL US YOUR FILM

The best barber service in town

Thompson's Barber Shop

14 South Main St.

ALL BRUSHES STERILIZED

The Peoples Banking Company

OBERLIN, OHIO

With our thoroughly modern Banking Equipment we are able to render every banking service promptly and efficiently. Our vaults are protected with an electrical Burglar System and automatic re-locking device, giving the users of our Safety Deposit Boxes a maximum of security.

I. L. PORTER

We solicit your Banking Business.

Wright & Parsons

We have the Exclusive

Sale of

Lipton's Coffee at 50c—45c—40c

TELEPHONES 49 AND 249

Oberlin Books

Fundamental Questions, King.....	$1.75
Laws of Friendship, King.....	1.60
Rational Living, King.....	1.75
Moral and Religious Challenge of Our Times, King.....	1.75
A New Mind for a New Age (New), King..	1.50
History of Music, Dickinson.....	3.00
Student's Book of Inspiration, Dickinson..	1.50
Music Notation and Terminology, Gehrken's	1.60
Essentials in Conducting, Gehrken's	2.00

Above sent Postpaid on receipt of Price.

Send for a complete list of Oberlin Books and Supplies—anything pertaining to Oberlin.

A. G. Comings & Son

Students—Look at This

Have your Summer Kodak Finishing a Success—

Mail your work from camps, etc., to

Frank A. Cooke

“The Goodrich Book Store”

The Amateur Finishing for this Book done by COOKE'S.

“Hi-O-Hi”

OBERLIN, OHIO

Reliable Qualities and Specially Low Prices make our goods exceptionally attractive.

C.H. Merthe & Co
Myria's Leading Department Store
On the corner

Campus View

NUF SED

Now, a status...

Population

Study in comfort

'Tis Jewelry we handle;
Our Shop is on Main Street.
For anything that's nifty,
Our Line is quite complete.

The College Man or Maiden,
Should never go from here,
Unless they've first invested
In a College Souvenir.

KIMPTON

The Jeweler

SOUTH MAIN STREET

BE WISE AND SEE

WEISS

*For Fine
Tailoring Work*

College Street, over House of Straus

A Dainty Slipper for the "Prom" or a Sturdy Oxford for the "Hike" you'll find one to your liking at

PHILPOTT'S

365 Broad Street

FLYRIA, OHIO

