

ADDED 52 TO THE NAVY LAST WEEK

Eight men were enlisted for service in the navy Saturday by Lieut. S. M. LaBounty, recruiting officer at 730 Common street.

During the past week there were enlisted at the New Orleans office fifty-two men. New Orleans was fifth in the list of cities in the Southern district. According to the recruiting officer, the week's enlistments are considered as good, when it is taken into account the high physical standards set for recruits for the navy.

Lieut. LaBounty was unable to give any definite information as to whether or not a man who registers on June 5 would still be eligible for enlistment in the navy. He expects to have a ruling on this point within the next day or two.

The recruiting officer called attention to the fact that enlistments for the navy over the entire country were heavy and that even before long the navy may decide to accept only exceptionally qualified men who possess skilled trades as recruits. It is understood that there are approximately 110,000 men in the navy today and the recruiting officer said that men who wish to get into this branch may put off joining and when they are ready to come in they may find that the game in which they can enlist is filled.

WILL AID IN COAST DEFENSE

Boy Scouts Recruiting Membership for War Service

New Orleans boy scouts will aid in coast defense work. This is the statement of Lewis Buddy, national field scout commissioner, who is here recruiting the boy scouts of New Orleans to a larger membership.

F. T. P. Allison, manager of the Boston club, who has been named as captain of Troop 11, will see that each scout is provided with a field glass. Should the lad see an enemy ship it will be his duty to signal to the naval officers the fact. Other arms of the scouts will be hoses and spades. They have adopted the slogan that each boy is to feed a soldier.

RA-NO PAINT IN HIGH FAVOR HERE

The Ra-No Paint company, one of New Orleans' newest and most energetic manufacturing concerns, has closed a deal for the property, 2741 and 2743 Perdido street, where their factory is located, in order to provide for the heavy increase in their business and the demand for their paint. Three brands are now on the market—Audubon, Pelican and Ra-No—and the large demand is accounted for by the excellence of the product.

The Ra-No Paint company is composed entirely of local men, and its paint is produced under the supervision of an expert of thirty years' experience. Its success demonstrates the fact that a first-class, home-made article, "Made in New Orleans," will obtain the patronage of New Orleans people. Ra-No paint is entirely a home-made product, and merits the large sale it is commanding.

Officers of the concern are: Ed B. Stafford, president, a brother of Senator E. M. Stafford and Dr. S. W. Stafford, superintendent of the Charity Hospital; L. E. Konrad, vice president, and Howard J. Smith, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Konrad is well known as a real estate dealer. Mr. Smith is a native of New Orleans and was well known as one of the most successful buyers and salesmen in the retail dry goods business here up to twelve years ago. He left New Orleans for New York, where he accepted the position of European buyer for a large importing firm. In 1907 he established his own business in Germany as representative for American and Canadian firms, which was in a flourishing condition when the world-war forced its suspension.

SUMMER SCHEDULES ARE RIPE

L. & N. Puts the "Mary Jane" Back at the Old Time

Summer schedules to the coast are being put on by the various railroads of the city. The Louisville and Nashville railroad yesterday started its first "Mary Jane" at 11:30 o'clock for the coast. This train goes through to Ocean Springs and returns to the city at 5:45 p. m.

The excursion this morning will be run in two sections the first at 7 a. m. and the second at 7:30 a. m. Returning the first section will arrive at Canal street at 9:25 and the second section at 10 o'clock.

Next Saturday the coast special known as the "Millionaires' Special" will start on its run for the summer.

MANAGER MITCHELL PUTTING NEW LIFE IN CHICAGO CUBS

By JACK VEIOCK, International News Sports Editor. New York, May 26.—The smart brand of baseball and the fighting spirit of the 1917 Cubs are tributes to the managerial ability of Fred Mitchell.

The iron jaw and forceful character of the new Chicago pilot are reflected in the playing of his team—reflected so strongly that for the first time in years the Cubs are feared and respected by every club in the National League.

That Mitchell will be able to steer the Cubs into a championship his first year out is doubtful in the face of some very strong opposition, but a pennant race is much the same as a game of ball—there is always a chance for an upset until the schedule is played out, just as there is always a chance for a ninth-inning rally.

When Mitchell took charge of the Cubs he knew it was up to him to rebuild them. The day he was named manager he said:

"I know most of the Cub players and I believe I know what they can do. I think I have the nucleus for a winning club, though it may take time to construct a winner. But if the players will give me their best I am confident that I will be able to get results."

Mitchell is getting results. He is teaching the Cubs new tricks and they are giving him their best in every game. The snap and ginger of the playing are good to see, and they are never beaten until the last man is out in the ninth. Such a ball club is bound to be a factor in any pennant race.

Always a hard plunger, Mitchell believes that the ball player or the ball club that keeps hammering away will eventually beat down all obstacles in its path. As a player he had a hard row to hoe, for he was sent back to the minor leagues no less than four times before he finally landed a regular berth. Yet he never quit trying, and his plugging has landed him at the top of the ladder.

Playing under such managers as Jimmy Collins, Hugh Duffy, John Gangel, Joe Kelley and George

Stallings, Mitchell has studied the inside of baseball from the field, the bench and the coaching lines for years. He got his start in a New Brunswick league as a pitcher, and Larry McLean was his catcher in those days. Hugh Duffy, who was scouting for Boston in 1901, landed both players, and both eventually made good, though they were separated soon after coming to the majors.

Mitchell stuck to pitching until his arm gave out, but he was too smart a player to be discarded on this account, and was played in the outfield. Finally he tried catching, and once again he filled the bill. He wound up his major league career as a catcher.

Having played almost every position on a ball club, Mitchell knows much about all of them. On the field he is forceful, and a strict disciplinarian. He knows what each of his players is capable of doing, and he expects the best in every game. That he gets results is not surprising.

It is good to see Mitchell at the helm in Chicago. It is good to see the Cubs come back to life. It means much to the National League.

John "Dots" Miller of the Cardinals is playing snapper ball around the initial sack this year than he has displayed for several seasons, and a word from Coach Paddy Livingstone is responsible for it.

Paddy's attention was called to the fact that "Dots" lobbed his throws around the infield and worked his position rather languidly. Then Paddy went to "Dots" with it.

"I hear some of the bugs in the grand stand saying you've lost the ole' pepper," said Paddy. "They think you're slowing up. Let's have a little of the ole-time pep; it'll do wonders." And "Dots" went to it like a youngster. He has been snapping the throws and fielding like a flash ever since. "Dots" now show a flash of pep has inspired the whole Cardinal infield as a result of those whispered words from Livingstone, all of which is going some.

RIDES A THOROUGHBRED

President Wilson, taking leaves from the books of the late Lord Kitchener, who made a saddle horse of Democrat, the greatest two-year-old in Great Britain in 1899, and Major General Leonard Wood, who for years rode the Canadian Derby winner, Fort Hunter, has possessed himself of a thoroughbred mount. He is riding a son of Octagon. The President's mount is a son of the sire of Beldame. Octagon was one of the two stallions—Henry of Navarre was the other—with which August Belmont set the government up in business as the breeder of its own army remounts. Mr. Belmont presented Octagon and Henry of Navarre to the heads of the army some six years ago.

TWO BIG DEALS IN 'ST. CHARLES AVE. REALTY

Two deals in St. Charles avenue realty were effected yesterday, with total consideration of $100,000. The handsome residence of W. T. Jay, at Audubon place, was purchased by Samuel Zennurray for a reported consideration of $70,000. The residence at 917 St. Charles avenue, at Lee Circle, owned by the Fairchild estate, was sold to the Republic Trust company for $35,000. The purchaser will erect a three-story salesroom on the site.
