PREMIERS DISCUSS PRESSURE ON GERMANY

Delegates of Coal Mine Strikers Hold Meeting in London

Marking Time Until After Their Leaders Confer Again on Monday With Premier Lloyd George on Issues of the Strike.

London, April 23.—Delegates of local unions of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain met here to-day but it was understood before the meeting that no definite decision relative to the controversy with coal mine owners, which caused the present miners' strike, in progress since April 1, would be reached until after leaders of the Federation conferred again with Premier Lloyd George on Monday.

Mr. Lloyd George conferred with miners' leaders yesterday and at the close of their conversations the situation was considered quite hopeful. It was said the Prime Minister had appealed to both sides in the mine controversy to renew negotiations regarding the wage question, and that the Government was disposed to agree to a sort of a national wage pool, one of the chief demands of the striking miners.

Frank Hodges, secretary of the Miners' Federation, who had been in a rather delicate position since the breakdown of the "Triple Alliance" strike, received a vote of confidence from the Miners' Federation yesterday.

London, April 23.—Eighty-seven years old to-day, former Senator Chauncey Depew said he did not think the occasion worthy of much comment, but that he looked forward "with enthusiasm" to entering his 100th year.

WANT CHANGE IN NEW HEBRIDES

Australian Churches Are Urging British Control

London, April 23.—A deputation from the Anglican, Presbyterian and other churches in Australia, says a dispatch to The London Times from Melbourne, asked Premier Hughes to endeavor, while he is in Europe, to induce France to hand over to Great Britain control of the New Hebrides islands, where they say the condominium is working unsatisfactorily. Mr. Hughes promised to give the matter his close attention.

Under the Anglo-French convention of 1906, the islands are being administered jointly by British and French officials.

INSPECTOR IN IRELAND MISSING

His Automobile Found on the Country Road

Dublin, April 23.—District Inspector Potter, of the Government forces, mysteriously disappeared to-day, but a clue to the circumstances was given when the automobile in which he had been riding was found on a country road, bullet-marked. Apparently Inspector Potter ran into the same ambush, near Clonkeen, County Tipperary, in which a military ration cart was caught last evening.

In this ambush, one soldier was wounded, four horses were killed and two soldiers of a relief party were wounded. The military captured a country cart, together with a machine gun and a few bombs.

In County Monaghan this morning a raiding party set fire to and destroyed a freight train. The crew was not injured.

SIR WILLIAM BIRD IS RE-ELECTED TO BRITISH HOUSE

Chichester, Eng., April 23.—Sir William Bird, Coalition Unionist, has been returned unopposed to the House of Commons for the Chichester division of Sussex. He fills the vacancy caused by the recent appointment of Lord Edmund Bernard Talbot as Lord Lieutenant and Governor-General of Ireland.

DYNASTIC WRANGLE AMONG THE GREEKS

Athens, April 23.—The newspaper Profanos, organ of Premier Gounaris, urges the Government to apply drastic measures to newspaper editors who deal with the dynastic question. It declares such articles create the impression abroad that King Constantine's regime is unstable, which is not the truth, it says.

YOUNG WOMEN COME TO CANADA AS HOUSE SERVANTS

London, April 23.—(Canadian Associated Press)—A message from Liverpool states that 150 young women sailed on the steamship Metagama to-day for Montreal. They are to enter domestic service in Canadian homes. Positions have already been found for all of them at 28 monthly.

Suggests Province Sell Wine From Saanich Vines

Loganberry wine, with a delightful flavor, brilliant color and a most potent and satisfying "kick," made in Saanich and sold through the Provincial Government liquor stores as British Columbia wine, is being seriously advanced as the most practical solution of the question, "What is to become of the great crop of logans which is forecasted for this season?"

J. H. Sutton, secretary of the Saanich Fruitgrowers' Association, is the sponsor of the novel scheme, and he advances his proposal with a challenge to anyone to produce a more practical plan of meeting an unexpected emergency, which has arisen through the apparent collapse of the expected market for the luxurious berries.

It appears that the jam factories are a unit in declaring that the prairie taste in preserves does not lean strongly towards the sharply acid flavor of loganberry preserves, and some of the large concerns in this business assert they still have on hand in cold storage quantities, as high as 100,000 bushels of crop, which was not made up into jam because of the high price of sugar. They are, therefore, definitely refusing to consider contracts for logans at any figure whatever.

Household Campaign Mooted. It has been suggested that an excellent plan for disposing of this surplus would be to create, by advertising and canvassing with samples, a wide domestic market, but this proposal meets with the barrier that nearly every backyard boasts of a few vines, and it is quite common to find that one well equipped garden will supply enough fruit for the grower and all his friends to put up. Nevertheless, this latter scheme which many of the Keating growers are seriously considering.

Mr. Sutton points out that marketing conditions present the serious barrier that must be put up as soon as picked berries are to be sold and re-shipment and if placed in the hands of members of the industry, a mass of pulp which, though excellent for jam, is far from the appealing appearance of the fruit displayed in small baskets by the fruit-merchants.

Wine for Government. "To make one of the finest wines obtainable out of our surplus of loganberries would be logical and a tremendous advertisement for Saanich," said Mr. Sutton, when explaining his proposal. "It is my idea that the Associated members should interview Premier Oliver and get him to use his influence with the Liquor Control Board to secure their handling of the product. The investment required for this purpose is nominal as the wine is placed in barrels and they cost but little.

Large Crop, No Buyers. "If the produce of the loganberries is put on the market by the Liquor Board it will result in a splendid and profitable business being built up, both for the Board and for the loganberry growers, and I can see nothing else that will so well save the day for the loganberry grower, for up to the present, in spite of most persistent efforts, they have not been able to find a market at any price for a single pound of loganberries this year, and there is a tremendous crop in sight."

Loganberry wine is of a brilliant red color, and while reflecting the flavor of the berry is strongly akin in palato to high grade port, carry, and a similar effect when matured properly. It is somewhat of a joke around Keating that "Sutton's loganberry wine is so good that a tumblerful of it at any automobile driver should drink at a time."

Earlier in the year it was hoped that justice being done, the wine would be sold to the district, but negotiations with a number of persons have fallen through, and it is feared that any plan now entering the field will be in operation too late to be of value this year.

Patronage Hunters Very Numerous. U. S. Attorney-General Works After Midnight.

Washington, April 23.—So besieged is Attorney-General Daugherty by patronage hunters and other politicians that he has to transact the legal business of the Department of Justice after midnight.

Asked yesterday when an opinion would be reached as to whether erroneous inclusion of a registrant's name in the list of draft evaders to be made public by the War Department would permit the recovery of damages from the Government, Mr. Daugherty said he would take the matter up at midnight.

"I have an appointment at that hour with my assistant, Col. Coffey, the Attorney-General added, and we hope, as in other instances, to complete some of the important matters now pending before the Department."

NEW PROPOSALS FROM THE GERMANS

Will Send Note to Washington To-night

Will State Their Ideas on Reparations

Berlin, April 23.—The German note in answer to the recent American communication on the reparations question will be forwarded to Washington to-night, it was announced this afternoon.

Paris, April 23.—The German Government's new reparations proposals will be dispatched to Washington this evening, according to a Berlin dispatch received here to-day.

The Cabinet met during the afternoon, says the message, to make a final draft of Germany's answer to the American note, and it is understood the proposals will be embodied in this communication.

Not Divulged. London, April 23.—The German Government has sent to Washington a reply to the United States Government's note rejecting the role of arbitrator of the reparations question between Germany and the Allies, says a Central News dispatch from Berlin. The terms of the note sent to President Harding were not divulged to party leaders up to the time it was dispatched at noon to-day and its contents will not be made known until later in the day.

Leading politicians are declared to have been angry because members of the Cabinet did not consult them before the original communication was sent to the United States capital.

Simons Talked. Paris, April 23.—Consideration of the German Government's note to the United States Government was completed at a meeting of the German Cabinet last night, says a message received here from Berlin.

Early leaders later met with Konstantin Fehrenbach, the Chancellor, to hear a report from Dr. Walter Simons, the Foreign Minister, and to express their opinion on the proposal sent to President Harding. The meeting was secret.

CABINET CRISIS IN GERMANY NOW SEEMS PROBABLE

Berlin, April 23.—A Cabinet crisis appears imminent here as a result of the discontent aroused by the Government's failure to consult the Reichstag before asking the President of the United States to mediate between Germany and the Allies relative to reparations. The position of Dr. Walter Simons, the Foreign Minister, is particularly imperilled.

It is reported that the Reichstag will be convened in the near future to discuss the reparations question, and that the Government's failure to consult it before asking the President of the United States to mediate between Germany and the Allies relative to reparations, has caused a serious crisis in the Government.

Lloyd George and Briand Confer on German Situation

Meet in England and Discuss French Proposals for Occupation of Territory Should Germany Continue to Balk on Reparations.

Lympne, Eng., April 23.—Premier Lloyd George and Premier Briand of France engaged in a discussion of the French proposals for occupation of the Ruhr Basin in event of Germany's failure to fulfill her reparations obligations, and the German note on reparations, says an official statement issued shortly after six o'clock this evening.

Premier Briand, who arrived here late this afternoon, declared that he had not seen the fresh German proposals regarding the rebuilding of devastated France.

Mr. Lloyd George could not be reached for an expression of his opinion of the new German proposals.

From a French source, however, it was learned that when a similar suggestion was previously considered he decided that its acceptance would mean throwing work into the hands of Germany's laborers and industries which should properly belong to the French. Besides, it was said, what France chiefly interested in at the moment was whether Germany intended to pay the £600,000,000 which the Reparations Commission had decided to be due May 1.

A Resumption. Lympne, Eng., April 23.—Exchanges here have been going on for some weeks between the British and French Foreign Offices relative to what can and ought to be done to collect reparations from Germany which will be resumed here late to-day by Premier Lloyd George and Premier Briand. The French plan is, broadly, a project for administration and taxing for the benefit of the Allies the Ruhr coal basin and some parts of the Westphalian district of Germany.

The two Premiers were understood to-day to be in agreement as to the general plan to be followed, but it was said they wish to reach a complete mutual understanding of what was to be done early in May if in the interval the German Government does not submit acceptable proposals. A French German proposal is expected to be submitted to the Allies immediately, but even its serious discussion would seem to be conditioned upon satisfactory guarantees of execution.

Weak. It appears that the present German Government is in a weak position and French authorities are understood to raise the question of whether undertakings entered into by the present German Cabinet would be likely to be carried out by one subsequently established.

Great Interest. London, April 23.—British governmental authorities awaited with keen interest to-day the announcement from Berlin of the German Government's policy regarding reparations. (Concluded on page 4.)

AGREE GOLD NOT TO BE EXPORTED

Germany's Scheme For Reserve of Reichsbank

Paris, April 23.—The German Government, instead of either agreeing or refusing to transfer the gold reserve of the Reichsbank to occupied territory in the Rhineland, as the Allied Reparations Commission had demanded, has offered to agree not to export or permit exportation of gold from Germany before October 1.

The German Government's note in reply to the Reparations Commission, delivered to the Commission yesterday, in which this offer was tendered, said Germany's proffered agreement would adequately protect the Allies, who had demanded the transfer, because the second paragraph of Article 248 of the Treaty of Versailles, prohibiting exportation of gold will become operative May 1.

Exchange. The note was signed by Dr. von Cernin, for the War-Burgess Commission. It pointed out that the removal of the Reichsbank gold would act further to depreciate German exchange, and furthermore that the gold reserve was not directly under the control of the Ministry of Finance, but was private property.

The transfer, the note contended, would not serve as a guarantee for reparations payments, as the Commission seemed to think, as the depreciation in exchange growing out of it would result in a general economic weakening of Germany.

The second paragraph of Article 248 of the Treaty of Versailles reads: "Up to May, 1921, the German Government shall not export or dispose of, and shall forbid exportation or disposal of gold without the previous approval of the Allied and Associated Powers acting through the Reparations Commission."

Germany must realize position. Paris Temps Comments on Reparations Situation.

Paris, April 23.—The Temps, commenting on the reply of the United States Government to the German Government's request for mediation with regard to reparations, says: "One truth overshadows all in the exchange of the German and American notes: If the German Government were ready to bring forth acceptable proposals it would not make a detour by way of Washington. The invitation of the United States to Germany to formulate acceptable proposals is impossible for the Simons Government, in view of the past two years of odious propaganda."

Must Change. "Before Germany can subscribe to acceptable undertakings, the German people themselves must realize their position and their duty. Words will not suffice. We must, in fact we demand, guarantee to Germany peace and is desirous of bringing the crisis to an end, is trying to encourage Germany to change its mentality. That is why it is not simply refusing to mediate, but offers to Germany to transmit acceptable proposals."

A Guarantee. "German proposals transmitted by the United States Government would be, no matter what is said or done, propositions guaranteed by the United States. Such guarantee, if unequivocally formulated, would be very advantageous to Germany's creditors. They might afterwards invoke the assistance of the United States to bring Germany to execute during thirty years, perhaps, undertakings which she assumed through and under the auspices of the United States. In this really the manner in which the situation is understood at Washington."

ANOTHER BUSINESS BLOCK Starts on Douglas Street

Erection of a block containing three stores on the southeast corner of Douglas and Fisgard Streets was announced to-day by C. Elwood Watkins, architect, who is completing plans preparatory to calling for tenders.

The new block is across the road from the Hudson's Bay Company's departmental store and on the same side of the street. Work on the structure will start in a couple of weeks. It will be rushed through so that tenants can be in and have their stocks ready by the time the Hudson's Bay Company store opens for business in August.

Along with the Hudson's Bay Company, property owners around the City Hall part of Douglas Street plan the development of an entirely new shopping district for Victoria.

The new block will probably be finished in white tile to harmonize with the finish of the Hudson's Bay block. Special window fronts, according to the needs of various retail businesses, will be put in in order to add to the attractiveness of the new district.

Two other store blocks have just recently been completed in the City Hall part of Douglas Street. They were all occupied as soon as completed. Now there is not one empty store on the whole of Douglas Street from the Hudson's Bay building south as far as Humboldt Street.

Work is being rushed on the Hudson's Bay building. Most of the plastering has been completed and most of the plate glass show windows have been installed. The interior is about ready for the final finishing work and the installation of the fittings. It is expected that the contractor will finish the work within another two months. This will leave nearly two months for placing stock on the store and getting the sales forces organized.

The new building which Mr. Watkins announces for the owners is the first down town structure of any size to be started this Spring. Property owners have been waiting for the costs of building material and labor to come down. Both these are now falling.

RAILWAYMEN GOT $600 A MONTH Two Employees; Exceptions, Says Labor Minister

Ottawa, April 23.—(Canadian Press) Senator McMeans called the attention of the Minister of Labor in the Senate yesterday afternoon to the statement of Hon. F. B. Carvell, chairman of the Railway Commission, in Saskatoon, that he had found a conductor and an engineer drawing $600 each for a month's work on the Canadian National Railways, and asked the Minister to reconcile this with his statement in the Senate some time ago that the wages of engineers did not exceed $300 a month. Senator Robertson, the Minister, said in reply that the average salary for conductors and engineers on the Canadian National was less than $300 a month, and that the chairman of the Railway Commission had quoted one case in particular for a month of particular service. This was no index of the average salary earned by railway employees. Amendments in the Commons to the Lake of the Woods Control Bill were approved, and the bill was given third reading.

NATIONALS. The bill to define Canadian nationals was reported from committee.

IRISH BISHOP URGES PEACE

Cork, April 23.—The Rt. Rev. M. Fogarty, Bishop of Killaloe, whose residence was set on fire Wednesday night, appealed yesterday through the newspapers of Ennis for a cessation of reprisals and counter-reprisals in Ennis. The Bishop said the circumstances were exasperating, but that he hoped the country would rise superior to exasperation and that no one should be moved to retaliate for the attempt to burn his house.

OIL COMPANIES ARE INCORPORATED

Ottawa, April 23.—(Canadian Press)—Two more oil companies have been granted letters patent, according to incorporations gazetted in this week's Canada Gazette. These are: Abrams West Columbia Oil Company, Ltd., capital $1,000,000, head office Toronto, and Thompson Oil Company of Canada, Ltd., Ottawa, $300,000. Another incorporation gazetted this week was the Gordan's, Ltd., Edmonton, $250,000.

MANITOBA M.P.P.'S WANT HIGHER PAY

Winnipeg, April 23.—For an increase in each member's indemnity of $500 annually and in each Minister's salary of $1,000, a "round robin" is being circulated among members of the Provincial Legislature. 1850—Ye olde firms—1921 A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

A magnificent Orchestral (made by the Hon. Chas. New York) in perfect condition. It could not be purchased to-day for double the price. It is an absolute bargain. It possesses the tonal qualities of an organ and that of an orchestra, yet not too loud for the home. It may be played by anybody and a number of very fine rolls go free with the purchase. We shall be pleased to give demonstration whether you know or not. To the lover of organ or orchestral music this instrument will irresistibly appeal.

WISH NO MORE G. T. R. DELAY

Commons Members Advance Bill Dealing With Railway

Ottawa, April 23.—The bill providing for an extension of the time when an award may be made in the Grand Trunk Railway arbitration is given second reading in the Commons and put through the committee stages last evening, but the Opposition refused to accede to a request for a third reading to be given immediately.

Premier Meighen once more stated the attitude of the Government on the matter. Apparently the Grand Trunk was delaying the arbitration. There was evidence that propaganda against acquisition of the system by the Government had been carried on among the shareholders of the company in the United Kingdom. The Government had no intention of relinquishing the road, and was unwilling to permit further delay.

WAR MISSIONS HAD RE-UNION

Balfour Spoke at Event in London

London, April 23.—Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, Lord President of the Council, presided last night at the second annual dinner and re-union of British war missions to the United States. Messages of greeting were read from King George V, President Woodrow Wilson, General Pershing, the Earl of Reading and Viscount Northcliffe. Mr. Balfour, lauded "Anglo-American Unity." Butler Wright, Counselor of the American Embassy, responded and said that during the early part of the present industrial crisis in the United Kingdom a body of American students attending the British universities had desired to enlist for service during the emergency.

A RECONSTRUCTION OFFER BY GERMANY

London, April 23.—The German Government is willing to undertake reconstruction of the devastated area of France. A note from the German Foreign Office delivered to the Foreign Office here last night said: "Germany is absolutely persuaded that it is unavoidably necessary, for the purpose of restoring economic peace throughout the world, that the territories devastated through the war should be reconstructed and restored. Until this is done there will be danger that feelings of hate will continue to exist among the nations concerned."

Germany, therefore, declares herself once more to be entirely willing to co-operate in this reconstruction with all the means and strength at her disposal, and to take into account in regard thereto, in every individual case, each wish of the Power concerned as far as is possible."

The note enumerated the possibilities of reconstruction: 1. That for Germany to take over specified localities, either as a state undertaking or by directing the work of a national colonizing and reconstruction association; second, to undertake the work of clearing, refecting, building and repairing brick works in Germany; third, to arrange that all such machinery and materials shall emanate from Germany and, fourth, to start immediate plans to build at least 25,000 wooden houses in the devastated districts before the cold season begins.

Other clauses specified the execution of deep and shallow excavations of all kinds, according to the plans and under the control of the French authorities, or otherwise, according to wishes of the Allied Governments.

The German Government expressed a willingness to help in any way possible, to take over the cost in paper marks, the amount to be reckoned against the reparations account, and generally to co-operate in every possible manner.

The note requested the Allied Governments to initiate at the earliest possible moment necessary discussions of details.

FRENCH FINANCE SCHEME SUCCEEDS

Paris, April 23.—Defending the administration for its purchase of American war stocks, M. Paisant, Under-Secretary of State for Liquidation of War Stocks, said the contract was not such a bad bargain after all. The deal involved 2,800,000,000 francs, he said, adding sales already had realized 2,447,000,000 francs.

CRAWFORD NOT TO HOLD MEETINGS Mayor of Vancouver Forbids Irish Turmoil

Vancouver, April 23.—Mayor R. H. Gale has issued a proclamation forbidding for the present the holding of further meetings by Lindsay Crawford, of Toronto, in this city. Referring to the meeting held in the Dominion Hall last night, the Mayor says in his proclamation "that the general peace and general welfare of the country are in serious danger of disruption, and can not be maintained if similar gatherings are permitted to be held in the present excited state of public feeling."

Last night a crowd of 8,000 people, including a sprinkling of women, waited for three hours outside Dominion Hall while Lindsay Crawford addressed a meeting under the auspices of the Irish Self-Determination League. Half an hour after the meeting had closed the Chief of Police, J. F. Scott, J. D. O'Connell, Percy Abel, and George I. Warren of Victoria; W. C. Shelly, of Vancouver, was also present. During the course of the evening short and interesting speeches were made by the Vancouver Rotarian Club, and Rotarians J. F. Scott, Percy Abel and George Warren, all members of the Victoria Rotary Club, an interesting talk on boys' work being given by Rotarian Frank Reid, of Toronto. In addition to entertaining the visitors it was also Ladies' Night for the Rotarians, and

The crowd, which departed reluctantly, used its determination to find Mr. Crawford, after having persistently, but good-humoredly, tried to drown the speaking in the hall with the playing of British patriotic songs.

The British Empire League had announced its determination to prevent the utterance of any British sentiments at the meeting, after its demand for suppression of the meeting had been met at the City Hall with an assurance that the Mayor could not prevent it.

Lifted Hats. As they emerged from the hall, participants in the meeting were compelled to lift their hats to the Union Jacks which dotted the streets everywhere. There were few fights. Compulsory kissing of the Union Jack and a grim escort to the next block awaited several men and one woman, who offended the crowd with the conduct.

The keynote of Mr. Crawford's speech was contained in his remark that there was no victory in the Great War until the Irish cause was won and industry in England was in the control of the workers.

W. J. Cavanagh was loudly applauded for his remark apropos of the National Anthem, which was being played repeatedly outside, that it was surprising to find at this day people who stood up when a tune was played "to a man who never did a day's work in his life."

A meeting at the rear of the hall, presided over by Capt. C. W. Whittaker, was held for the purpose to prevent Mr. Crawford speaking again in Vancouver and to send him back East by train at once. He succeeded in leaving the hall untouched, however.

SPOILED PICTURES OF HOHENZOLLERN

Someone Defeated Photographer; Dutch Blamed

The Hague, April 23.—Dutch newspapers are insisting upon punishment for the photographer who had taken negatives of Friedrich Wilhelm Hohenzollern, former German Crown Prince, and other members of the Hohenzollern family, taken during the ceremony incident to the removal of the body of the late former Kaiserin from Doorn.

When the pictures had been taken, Captain of Police Boellaard snatched the camera from the photographer's hands, returning it after the ceremony through the mediation of the personal protective of Wilhelm Hohenzollern.

Captain Boellaard gave his word of honor that the negatives had not been touched, but when the film was developed they appeared indistinct and scratched.

A conference later of members of the Dutch Press Club charged the photographer with the act. The former Kaiser through an order to prevent picture taking and adopted a resolution asking punishment of the person responsible for the act.

Many people of Doorn suspect Hohenzollern's detective as the guilty party.

WOMEN DESIRE SEVERAL NEW LAWS

Ottawa, April 23.—Recommendations for new laws and amendments to the present laws were made by Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, yesterday by a delegation from the National Council of Women included the following:

- 1. That women be included in the panels of jurors sitting on cases where women are concerned. 2. That adultery be made a crime. 3. That legislation be enacted to give women the right to home-ownership as are now enjoyed by men. 4. That an extension of the indeterminate system of sentences be applied to those men and women convicted under sections of the Criminal Code dealing with sexual offences. 5. That section 644 of the Criminal Code be amended by substituting the word "eighteen" for "sixteen." This section deals with the care of those who come under the jurisdiction of the juvenile courts. 6. That punishment by fines for crimes of an immoral nature be abolished. 7. That wife deserters be made extraditable offenders. 8. That a uniform divorce law be enacted for Canada. 9. That the English law respecting divorce in force in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba be so amended that "there shall be no distinction of sex in the grounds for granting a divorce, and that, for the purpose of granting an order of divorce, a wife's domicile shall be considered the place where she resides." The delegation further maintained the right of married women to take out naturalization papers, which right was granted by the Naturalization Act of 1914, but is not contained in the present act. The Minister of Justice promised consideration of the requests of the delegation. Some of the matters referred to, he thought, should be subjects of discussion at the Imperial Conference in London.

The Trying Days

It has been well said, a school teacher has more influence in shaping the lives of her scholars than their parents.

How necessary, then, is it that she should have a bright, clear brain, and be strong and vigorous in order that she may give them of her best.

The worry and the work, the strain and anxiety of a teacher's life are such as tell severely on the nervous system. Time and again teachers have had to give up good positions on account of a weak heart, run down health and shattered nerves.

To such Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills come as a boon and a blessing. Their purpose is to make the weak heart strong and the shaky nerves firm, and thus build up the entire system to full strength and vitality.

Mrs. L. E. Hopkins, Kirktown, Ont., writes:—"I have used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for weak heart. I was so nervous I had to leave school for two years. After I had taken five boxes of the pills I was able to go back to my school again, feeling in good health."

Sayward, V. I.—Seedling is general throughout the valley, and the season is all that could be desired. Sayward expects that 1921 will be a record year for agricultural production.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to all who had taken part in making the gathering so enjoyable and successful, the meeting closing with the singing of the well-known hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and the benediction.

AMERICAN COWS SICK AT BREMEN

Given to Germany by American Farmers

Bremen, April 23.—Seven hundred cows, the gift of American farmers, are sick here with Texas fever. They will not be distributed to the inland cities because of the danger of infection. Bremen has purchased 500 cows. Worth $200,000.

Berlin, April 23.—The cargo of milk cows recently donated by Americans to Germany represents an American market value of $200,000, including the cost of transportation, according to the newspaper Vorwaerts. Vorwaerts approves the plan under way for the United States to replace shipments of cows with good fodder.

ONTARIO LIQUOR LAW ENFORCEMENT

Toronto, April 23.—It would appear that Attorney-General Roney does not imagine that Monday's referendum will immediately solve the liquor problem, for he has asked for $350,000 to assist in the enforcement of the Ontario Temperance Act and a further $4,000 to enforce the Canada Temperance Act.

M'NIVEN LEAVES TO SETTLE MINE TROUBLE

Deputy Minister of Labor Takes Slocan Metal Mines Difficulties

J. D. McNiven, Deputy Minister of Labor, left last night for New Denver to assist in the adjustment of a difficulty with reference to the rate of wages of metal miners in the Slocan country.

For the past eleven months the group of silver-lead mines in that territory have been operated under an agreement between the mining companies jointly and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Men. This agreement provided for periodical conferences between the parties, and also that, in the event of such a conference being unable to settle amicably any question at issue the services of the Provincial Minister of Labor should be requisitioned before any strike or lockout occurred.

The operators of the mines are now of opinion that the wage scale set by the agreement of last May is too high for the present conditions of the industry, and a joint appeal has been made to the Hon. J. W. de B. Farris, Minister of Labor, to arrange for an inquiry into the matter. Hon. Mr. Farris has accordingly instructed Deputy Minister McNiven to undertake this duty, and the investigation will take place at New Denver during the coming week.

Various other items are of exceptional interest in which talented artists will take part.

ODD FELLOWS KEEP

COMMENCE WITH SERVICE, FOLLOWED BY SOCIAL EVENTS NEXT WEEK

Odd Fellows throughout the world will celebrate on April 26 the 102nd anniversary of the institution of the Order on the American continent. In this city it will take the form of divine service, to be held in the Odd Fellows' Hall, Douglas Street, tomorrow, when Brother the Rev. R. M. Thompson, pastor of Wesley Church, Victoria West, will conduct the service.

During the ensuing week Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1, will hold a social on Tuesday evening, and Victoria Lodge No. 1 will hold a social concert and dance on Friday evening in the hall, to which all Odd Fellows, their wives and sweethearts are cordially invited. The cup presented by Bro. Stacker for competition between the city lodges in the degree work of the Order during the past Winter and won by the team of Victoria Lodge No. 1, will be presented.

Growth of Order.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which was founded in Baltimore, Maryland, by five members on April 24, 1819, has had a most wonderful and successful career during the years of its existence. During the year 1919 there was a gain of 104,636 in the membership of the subordinate lodges; 25,549 in the Encampment membership and 67,311 in the membership of the Rebekah Lodges. On December 31, 1919, the Order consisted of 68 Grand Lodges, 58 Grand Encampments, 17,374 subordinate lodges, 3,377 subordinate encampments, and 3,725 Rebekah Lodges. There were 1,794,636 lodge members, 264,178 Encampment members and 830,133 Rebekah Lodge members. The total number of members belonging to the Order was 2,371,738. During 1919 the Order paid out for relief the sum of $2,187,823.74. Since 1890 it has paid out for relief the immense sum of $194,953,614.66.

Grand Lodge of B. C.

The Grand Lodge of British Columbia was instituted at Victoria on April 25, 1874. It now consists of 58 lodges with a membership of 6,747. During the year 1920 the receipts of the subordinate lodges amounted to $1,190,644, and report assets valued at $830,388.65, being an average of $139.49 per member, which is the highest average of any jurisdiction of the Order.

Since the institution of the Grand Lodge in 1874 there has been paid out for relief by its lodges the sum of $224,016.01.

Funds have been accumulated for several years for the purpose of establishing a Home in the Province for aged and indigent Odd Fellows, their widows and orphans, when such an institution shall be found to be necessary. This fund now amounts to about $47,000.

During the Great War 1,169 members in this Province joined the army and navy, being 18.77 per cent, and 143 of this number made the supreme sacrifice, being 12.34 per cent, of those who enlisted. All these members were kept in good standing whilst serving, $3,165.25 being paid for that purpose.

The Grand Encampment has thirteen subordinate Encampments with 945 members, and invested funds amounting to $3,699.48.

There are 48 Rebekah Lodges in the Province, under a Rebekah Assembly, having funds to the amount of $1,121.92. These lodges do not pay taxes, but they contribute in no small degree to the promotion of the social work and amenities of the Order.

In Victoria there are three subordinate lodges, one Encampment and one Rebekah Lodge. The subordinate lodges have 666 members with assets amounting to $290,271.17. Last year they paid out $7,943 for the relief of their members.

Victoria Lodge No. 1 was instituted on March 10, 1864, just 57 years ago. During the last 44 years it has paid out for relief in one shape and another $158,460.27. It now reports net assets equal to $310.87 for each of its members.

The World's Verdict on Harding's Message

Disappointment in Berlin and cordial approval in London and Paris are among the significant foreign reactions to the President's first message to Congress. At home a majority of the papers applaud his programme, yet a few sharply dissentient voices are heard.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for this week, April 23, quotes a large variety of opinions from the press of the country on this question. The New York World regards the peace plan outlined by Mr. Harding as "a miserable makeshift that no President would ever adopt of his own initiative," and The Louisville Courier-Journal characterizes his proposed "association of nations for world peace" as a "toothless whatnot, with no power to promote peace except to talk about it," while The Philadelphia Ledger considers it "woefully incomplete" and "a negative rather than a positive policy." On the other hand The Providence Journal praises the message for its "prevailing note of lofty Americanism," The Cleveland Plain Dealer avers that "granting the President's point of view, which appears also to be the point of view of the majority of Americans, his programme cannot well be challenged," and The St. Louis Globe Democrat feels that he "has opened a new way to the solution of the problem of our international relations."

COST ACCOUNTING SYSTEM EXPLAINED

Local Master Printers Hear Scheme of United Typothetae of America

Regret was expressed by Harold M. Dixon last night that only four of the thirteen local commercial printing establishments were represented at the complimentary dinner given by the United Typothetae of America to hear the instructive and enlightening addresses of E. J. Conrad, Field Secretary, and E. F. Parfitt, Accountant, regarding the value of forming a local branch of the Typothetae.

Some of the Vancouver master printers who have joined the international organization were present, and spoke of the advantages of belonging to such an organization. It was claimed by Mr. Conrad that the census of that thirteen local plants disclosed that they had lost an opportunity in profits of over $89,000. The percentage of profits shown ran from a little over five per cent. to 11 per cent. while it was claimed, a margin of 25 per cent. was the only proper basis on which to operate. Comparative tables showing a survey of the printing industry in Vancouver, Seattle and Victoria were shown to emphasize the point that plants operating on the cost accounting system were much more profitable than those without it.

In Vancouver the cost accounting plants showed a profit of fifteen per cent., and in Seattle fifteen and three-tenths per cent. profit. It was explained that the cost to the local printers for the installation of the service and membership in the Association would be about $4,000 for the first year, and a three-year contract is asked for the subsequent year's cost being reduced according to circumstances. Two local printers signed up last night.

Two widowed grandmothers, three housewives and a woman telephone operator were elected to administer the affairs of the United Typothetae, 400, for the next year. The Mayor is a widow with three children and eight grandchildren.

Richness and Purity in "Pacific"

Fraser Valley cattle are among the very finest on this entire continent. The dairy herds thrive luxuriously under ideal grazing conditions all the year round. Consequently the milk from the Fraser Valley is rich in quality, high in cream.

Pacific Milk is this fine, pure product of the Fraser Valley reduced to the consistency of cream and tinned under ideal conditions of cleanliness.

And it is the ONLY milk canned in British Columbia.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Facts About Your Name: Its History; Its Meaning; Whence It Was Derived; Its Significance; Your Lucky Day and Lucky Jewel.

By Mildred Marshall.

(Copyright, 1921, by The Wheeling Syndicate, Inc.)

ALMA

which etymology gives her is "fair," from the Latin alma employed in the term "alma mater."

Alma's second source of existence is in old Irish poetry, where the name meant "all good" and was bestowed by those fond parents who favored fanciful appellatives. But that was before September, 1854, when the Czar's River named the Russian babes. Thus Alma came to signify "given from heaven" and has since been attributed to Russia, though much used in England, and having even greater vogue in Germany. Indeed, it is generally regarded as a purely Teutonic name, as common to its usage in that country.

The topic, or "character" of certain, as Shelley called it, is Alma's tallness, stone. Because it shines in the night at night, lighting the waters, it is said to dispel gloom, forbidding and peevishness, and to drive away all evil influences. For Alma has three distinct meanings, and her origins are likewise threefold. The first significance

MR. CRAWFORD.

Mr. Lindsay Crawford is not an important gentleman at all. He publishes a weekly journal which is usually crammed with a well and cleverly written malicious kind of grouch against everything and everybody who looks upon the British Empire as a going concern of good reputation.

CHEER UP!

Those doleful preachers of Empire decay and financial disaster should find something to cheer them in yesterday's announcement from London that the new seven per cent. Indian loan of seven and a half million pounds brought applications for no less a sum than twenty millions during the five hours in which the bank was open for business.

THE P. G. E.

Every British Columbian who is seized with the importance of the financial condition with which this Province is faced will send his good wishes after Premier Oliver when he sets out for Ottawa to renew his request that the Dominion Government absorb the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and incorporate it in the national system.

ters; but the Premier possesses the happy knack of being able to make himself heard, and if he takes occasion to drive home his points with the same force as he invariably employs when he faces a delegation with a programme to "touch" the Provincial Treasury he will not be convicted of ambiguity when he returns.

A SIGNIFICANT VOTE.

One of the most hopeful signs of an early settlement of Great Britain's coal strike is the vote of confidence in Mr. Frank Hodges which the delegates of the Miners' Federation passed in such emphatic fashion at yesterday's conference.

LIQUOR OFFICES.

Liquor offices without a liquid stock of any kind and one warehouse in each community should prove a more workable and less dangerous plan than a chain of retail vending establishments. It is quite impossible to eliminate the counter sale completely, but where it is feasible to curtail the cash and carry business and remove the evidences of bulging pockets and bottle-like parcels from the public gaze the greater should be the respect for the law.

THINGS THAT COUNT.

While William Randolph Hearst and his Anglophobe press are endeavoring to set the two great English-speaking nations at one another's throats there are little incidents taking place which are doing more towards the development of a complete harmonious understanding than a battalion of diplomats could do in a century of negotiations.

UNIVERSITY LOAN.

British Columbia's Government has the statutory authority to borrow three million dollars for University purposes and it is also empowered by the same statute to dispose of its acreage at Point Grey to reimburse the Treasury for the amount involved in the general development plan. For the time being, however, the Ministry is loath to embark upon a proposal which would require it to go into the money markets for any funds which do not come under the heading of necessities.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Nobody will suggest that Mr. Lindsay Crawford is suffering from an attack of ennui.

If Germany really intended to make a decent proposal to the Allies would she travel by way of Washington to get to Paris or London?

According to Mr. Lindsay Crawford the average Englishman in Canada is an alien. What an unfortunate remark to make so near to St. George's Day!

What a lot of moral support would accrue to the Allied Supreme Council if the United States Government would consent to send its own representative with a pocketful of authority to act in concert with the rest!

OTHER PAPERS' VIEWS

CLOSING NAVAL DOCKYARDS.

It is curious that the Admiralty's policy should include the closing of the only naval dockyards in Wales and Ireland—those at Pembroke and Haulbowline, which is Queenstown—while the one Scottish dockyard, at Rosyth, remains in full use.

VERSATILE PADEREWSKI

For a musician Paderewski is a pretty good statesman, and for a statesman he is a pretty good musician. Great as he is as a pianist, his fame would be secure if he had never opened a piano.

SATURDAY, APRIL 23, 1921. (Copyright, 1921, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

All Regulations Embodied in One New Measure

Victoria's traffic bylaws and regulations have been revised and consolidated. The work of revision had been completed by City Solicitor H. S. Pringle and will be laid before the City Council for ratification at an early meeting.

Parking Regulations.

The new measure contains only a few important changes in street regulations. It provides that automobiles may be parked on business streets four feet instead of ten feet apart.

Keep to the Right.

When the rule of the road is changed at the end of this year it will be possible to make the new by-law comfortable under conditions by amending several of its sections.

N.Y.K. LINERS TO MAKE FASTER TIME

Japanese Passenger Boats to Negotiate Pacific Within Thirteen Days

Faster steaming time will be logged by the Nippon Yusen Kaisha passenger liners in the future.

An effort is to be made to clip a day off the schedules of the liners Fushimi Maru, Suwa Maru, Kashima Maru and Katori Maru in order that the passage between Yokohama and Victoria inside thirteen days.

The cut in the schedules of the four big passenger liners of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha will be made by quickening the time of the vessels crossing the Pacific in fair weather ships, in some cases, are said to have been in the habit of slowing down to keep within their schedules. The cut in the running time of the N. Y. K. fleet is being made in an effort to meet the competition of the United States Shipping Board passenger liners.

Katori Has Shown Speed. The liner Katori Maru has demonstrated in the past that she can make the run between Yokohama and Victoria in about 12 days and the other big liners of the fleet have never been extended in order to make port ahead of the schedules prepared by the operators.

The steamship Fushimi Maru, which left here last night for Japan, China and the Philippines will be the first vessel of the N. Y. K. fleet to make an effort to cut the time between Victoria and Yokohama.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT FOR RECOVERY OF LAURENTIC'S GOLD

Divers to Resume Salvage of Bullion in Sunken Liner's Hold

London, April 23.—Another attempt is to be made this Summer by the Admiralty to recover the remainder of the bullion lost when the armed liner Laurentic was mined and sunk off the north coast of Ireland in 1917. The salvage vessel Racer, together with the Canadian drifter No. 1, will undertake the salvage work for the fourth Summer.

The Laurentic went down in twenty fathoms of water four miles off the coast of Donegal, carrying gold bars to the value of between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000.

Four years of pounding by Atlantic gales have reduced the wreck to a shapeless mass and each year the work has been more difficult. Last Summer the divers found that about 250 tons of hull and deckplates had settled on the strong room, where the gold was stored, breaking it in. The result was that only about $25,000 was recovered, compared with $1,250,000 the previous year.

After the winter storms the divers expect to find the wreckage covered with gravel and silt, which has to be cleared away with pumps. Then the steel plates and girders must be cut away.

The Racer is now equipped, in addition to every possible contrivance for aiding divers, with a "recompression

CONSOLIDATION OF RITHEH INTERESTS

Amalgamation Becomes Effective on Fiftieth Anniversary of Well-known Firm

Amalgamation of the Ritheh interests became effective yesterday on the fiftieth anniversary of the foundation of the well-known firm of R. P. Ritheh & Co. The following circular has been issued by L. A. George, president of the organization, which under the fusion of interests will be known as Ritheh Consolidated, Ltd.

On the fiftieth anniversary of the foundation of the firm of Messrs. R. P. Ritheh & Company, Ltd., of Victoria, B.C., it has been decided for the sake of convenience and expediency to amalgamate what has been generally known in British Columbia Coast business circles as the Ritheh interests, which consist of the wholesale, importing, shipping and insurance firm of R. P. Ritheh & Company, Ltd., the Victoria Wharf & Warehouse Company, Ltd., and the Ritheh Proprietary Company, Ltd.

The Victoria Wharf & Warehouse Company was formed to operate the wharves and warehouses, which have been, and are now, such an important feature in connection with the shipping of Victoria, and which were inaugurated by the late R. P. Ritheh in 1852.

At a later date the Proprietary Company was organized as the holding company of the above, and various other interests owned by Mr. Ritheh.

On and after the 22nd of April the companies will be amalgamated, and the new company which has taken these over will be known as Ritheh Consolidated, Ltd., which will carry on the business formerly operated by the other companies, which will be voluntarily wound up with the formation of the Consolidated Company.

The personnel of the new concern will be the same as under the old companies, and no difference will be made in the general administration of the present business.

S.S. SILVER STATE WILL BE COMMANDED BY CAPT. BARTLETT

Three Vessels in Line for Delivery to Pacific Steamship Company

Captain E. P. Bartlett, who commanded the Governor on her ill-fated voyage, is leaving for the East to take over the command of the new liner Silver State, which has been allocated to the Pacific Steamship Company by the United States Shipping Board. The liner Keystone State, which will be the second ship of this fleet to come out to the North Pacific from New York will be commanded by Captain Gerard P. January.

The fourth ship to be delivered to the Pacific Steamship Company by the U. S. Shipping Board will be the Bay State. The liner Wenatchee is due at Yokohama to-day on her inaugural voyage.

The Keystone State Next. The Keystone State will sail from New York for Seattle June 4, arriving June 25, and sailing from Seattle and Victoria, July 9, for the Orient.

The Silver State is to be delivered almost simultaneously with the Keystone State, and she will be held in New York until June 15, when she will sail for Seattle. The Silver State will arrive at Seattle July 5, the same day on which the Keystone State leaves on her trans-Pacific voyage.

The Bay State is to be turned over to the Pacific Steamship Company at the end of June or the beginning of July. The delivery of the fifth liner has not been arranged.

The liner Wenatchee is due back at this port, en route from Yokohama to Seattle, June 4, and will sail on her second trans-Pacific trip June 19.

A SPLENDID MEDICINE FOR THE CHILDREN

Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine a mother can give her little ones. They are a mild laxative which quickly regulate the bowels and stomach and are guaranteed to be entirely free from any injurious drugs. Concerning them Mrs. A. D. West, Loreburn, Saak, writes: "Baby's Own Tablets have given me more satisfaction than anything else I have ever given my children. They are easily taken; always work well and though I have given quite a few to my baby they seem to work as well now as at first, which is something other laxatives seldom do." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Successful Concert Held—The Equivalant Parent-Teachers' Association were last night hosts at a most successful concert held at the Latimer Street School, over 400 attending. Club swinging and drill were introduced with effect into the display staged by the pupils themselves.

HAS BEEN FINE FOR HER AS FOR FRIEND

Mrs. Skitmore Seeing How Tanlac Helped Another, Takes It Herself With Wonderful Results

"When a friend of mine, who had suffered from indigestion for years, told me how Tanlac had given her complete relief, and I saw with my own eyes how it had built her up, I started taking the medicine myself, and it has proved just as wonderful for me as it did for her," said Mrs. Ethel Skitmore, of 1912 Pine Street, Winnipeg.

"My stomach was so disordered and I suffered so fearfully from indigestion that I had to be very careful of what I ate. My appetite failed me so that I could eat scarcely a thing, and I had terrible cramping pains in my stomach after every meal. I bloated with gas until I was in such distress I could hardly stand it, and I was simply miserable.

"Five bottles of Tanlac have freed me of the indigestion and stomach trouble entirely, and have made me feel like a different person. My appetite is splendid, and I can eat anything I want. Nothing bothers me now, my sleep is sound and refreshing and I feel fine in every way. I certainly am thankful for what Tanlac has done for me, and just want to praise the medicine all the time."

Tanlac is sold by Duncan E. Campbell and leading Druggists. (Advt.)

GENERAL MEETING CALLED

Victoria and Island Development Association to Meet Friday.

The general meeting of the Victoria and Island Development Association will be held in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce, Arcade Building, on Friday evening next at 8 o'clock.

J. G. Thomson, publicity commissioner, says that it is desirable to draw the attention of all who are benefited by the activities of the Association to the importance of the work that is being done in the interests of the city.

Most of the real estate sales made to prairie farmers are due to the advertising which the Association carried on. Last Fall 90 per cent of the sales were made to farmers in the Saanich district. This represents more building, more population, more business generally and more progress," says Mr. Thomson.

TRADE WITH AUSTRALIA

Victoria Manufacturers Advised to Connect With Trade Commissioner.

Victoria manufacturers should take advantage of the opportunity of making their goods known to Canadian Trade Commissioners abroad if they are desirous of building up an export market. J. G. Thomson, publicity commissioner of the Victoria and Island Development Association, states:

Mr. Thomson is to-day in receipt of a letter from D. H. Ross Canadian Trade Commissioner at Melbourne in which reference is made to the visit there of C. B. Jones, ex-reeve of Saanich, and refers in particular to the product of the Sidney Roofing & Paper Company, which exports considerably to the United States.

Some time ago Mr. Ross wrote Mr. Thomson that he would be only too glad to hear from any Victoria manufacturer who was anxious to find a market for his output in Australia and expressed a willingness to assist in every possible way to build up trade.

BAZAAR WAS SUCCESSFUL

Substantial Sum Raised by W. O. of St. Columba Church Yesterday.

The Saint Columba sale of work and tea was held yesterday with great success. Mrs. Oliver presided at the opening of the function, which was widely attended. The substantial sum of $190 was realized. Mrs. Kemp, of the W. A., tendered a cordial vote of thanks to Mrs. John Oliver for her patronage on this occasion. At the conclusion of the sale of work the Rev. T. MacConnell, pastor of the church, was successful in auctioning off the remnants from each stall, disposing of practically everything.

The stalls, which were numerous and very tastefully arranged, were presided over by a large number of ladies of the W. A., Mrs. Le Fevre, Mrs. MacConnell, Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Kinnead, Mrs. Milne, Mrs. Henry, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Eddy, Mrs. Meadows, and Mrs. McGinnis. Miss Faggie Gunning presented Mrs. John Oliver with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

Afternoon tea was daintily served, those in charge being Mrs. Eddy, Mrs. Meadows and Mrs. McInnis, who were ably assisted by the Misses Martha Burns, Estelle Clark, Rita Market and Ivy Ingram.

The musical arrangements were in the hands of Mrs. Andrews, the church organist, who in her usual finished manner presided at the piano. Assisting Mrs. Andrews were Mesdames Roberts, Marshall, Le Fevre and Clark.

The decorations of the hall, tables and stalls were very artistic and much credit is due to Mrs. Moore, who was responsible for the decoration scheme.

For Freckled, Rough Or Muddy Complexions

The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which delicate skins are subject after exposure to wind or sun, often appearing in early Spring, may readily be gotten rid of. Ordinary mercerized wax, spread lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfigured skin. Get an ounce of the wax at any druggist's. There's no more effective way of banishing freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and one soon acquires a brand new, spotless, girlishly beautiful face.

Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness are best treated by a simple solution of powdered salicylic acid, one ounce dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Rubbing the face in this produces a truly marvelous transformation. Advt.

Country Water Problem Solved

All the comforts of a city home with hot and cold running water can be had on a farm or ranch, or any remote country district residence. Just imagine for a moment on a cold Winter's day, carry the water from the well to the house in buckets in the old-fashioned way. With our system this is done away with.

Another Coast League Pitcher for Capitals

Bob Wallace, of Los Angeles Club, Now On His Way North; Blankenship Looking For Veteran Infielder For Second Base; Murphy Will Have to Speed Up at First; Vache Comes to Terms With Club.

Another Coast League pitcher has been secured by Manager Blankenship for service with the Victoria ball team this season. Yesterday Cliff received word from Red Killifer, who handles the Los Angeles Club, that Bob Wallace would be despatched at once for the Capital. Wallace has a wonderful amount of stuff and was just a trifle too untame to hold a berth on the pitching staff of the Los Angeles Club. The fact that Wallace was carried this long by the Coast Leaguers shows that he must have something.

With the signing of Wallace the Capitals now have four pitchers who are almost certain of holding jobs for the season. Ed Willets, the big right-hander, who had a splendid record with the Detroit Tigers; 'Lefty' Lawson, who was with the Capitals last year; Hanson, from the San Francisco Club, and Wallace are expected to prove the Big Four. Lawson has the ability to stick with the club, provided he does not allow his lazy streak to get the best of him.

Fight for Other Berth.

As the Capitals will only be allowed to carry five pitchers during the season there will be some scrapping between the other twirlers for the other berths. Standley stands a good chance of catching on. The other twirlers who are now contending for the place are: Washington, Talley, Aldred, O. E. Anderson, Anderson and Walters.

Blankenship is not altogether satisfied with two positions on the infield. He figures that Handley will do for third and Hildebrand for short, but he wants a veteran for second base and unless Murphy shows a little more speed it may be necessary to hook up a new first-sacker.

Murphy is a very nifty fielder and is a natural hitter but he is slow on his feet. It is possible that the lad may limber up as the weather gets warmer, but Blankenship does not intend to get caught napping and is signing on a first baseman, which is the Seattle Coast League team is carrying. The fact of competition may spur Murphy on to show better.

Second Base is Weak.

Second base is admitted to be the weak link in the chain. McAlpine, while trying hard, does not seem to be able to play the stick good enough to stick in this league. Besides, Blankenship knows that he cannot make a winning ball team out of youngsters just breaking into pro ball. He needs a veteran in the infield to steady it up during the pinches. Handley, Hildebrand, Murphy and McAlpine are all youngsters. It is possible that Blankenship will land a second baseman who has been in the game for years and knows baseball inside out.

The outfield looks pretty safe. With six reliable flycatchers on the job it is just a case of sound judgment in picking out the best trio.

Not Many Worries.

"I'm not worrying at all about the pitching staff and the outfield," said Blankenship this morning. "I figure that I can pick five pitchers from the crew I have signed to rank with any other twirling staff in the league. The outfield is particularly strong. The infield is all that I have to bolster up. I still think that Handley and Hildebrand will be stars in this league, but it looks as though we will have to be stronger at second base and there must be an improvement around first base."

Another lead was removed from Manager Blankenship's mind yesterday when he received a wire from Vache, the star outfielder, stating that the terms were satisfactory and that he would report at once. Vache will hold down the right field pasture. He is not a fast man but is a terrific hitter and a sure fielder. Just who will be picked for the other gardeners Manager Blankenship is not prepared to state at present. The candidates for the jobs are 'Toots' Bankhill, Light, Marshall, Lee Jones and Shoats.

Next week two exhibition games will be played. Edmonton will appear at the Stadium on Wednesday and on Saturday the Calgary squad will be on deck.

BETTING AVERAGES IN MAJORS WAY UP

Several Players Cracking the Ball for .500; John Rawlings Hitting Well

Chicago, April 23.—With the season little more than a week old, Tierney, of Pittsburgh, tops the National League in batting with an average of .520, according to averages released to-day. Dean of Chicago, is the runner-up with .500 and Bruggy, of Philadelphia, in third place with .462.

Southworth, of Boston, is leading the league in stolen bases with three. Leading batters: Hollocher, Chicago, .467; Plack, Chicago, .429; Brown, New York, .423; Nicholson, Boston, .423; Rawlings, Philadelphia, .417; Bancroft, New York, .412; Maranville, Pittsburgh, .406.

Stephenson Leads Americans.

In the American circuit Stephenson, of Cleveland, tops the regulars in batting with a mark of .583, with Tobin, of St. Louis, the runner-up with .560; O'Neill, the Cleveland backstop, is third with .524.

Bush, of Detroit, leads in stolen base honors with five. Leading batters: Rice, Washington, .483; Harris, Washington, .481; Sisler, St. Louis, .460; Scott, Boston, .409; Cleveland, .400; Ruth, New York, .400.

The figures include games of last Wednesday and players who have played in five or more games. Babe Ruth, the home-run king, with the New York Yankees, is far ahead of his circuit drive record of last year. He cracked out his fourth homer Friday, while last year he did not make his fourth until May 11. He is being closely pressed, however, by Elmer Smith, of Cleveland, who has bagged his third.

Swilling, of Kansas City, leads the batters of the American Association, with an average of .556. In the National League home run race, Meusel, of Philadelphia, was topped off Friday by Kelly, of the Giants, when the latter cracked out his fourth circuit drive. Kelly is thus tied with Babe Ruth for the season and what promises to be the most spectacular batting contest in baseball history between individuals of the two major leagues is believed by the baseball wisecracks to be under way.

The local, however, have an equally admirable record and feel confident that they will win. Practically all the provincial basketball championships this year have been won by Victoria teams, the High School winning both the senior and ladies' High School titles, while the Belmonts won the senior Sunday School honors, the James Bays the Intermediates, and the High School quintette the 110-pound laurels.

The match to-night between St. Mark's and the First Presbyterians will be played at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock.

Tottenham Captures English Cup in Rain

Wolverhampton Beaten By One Goal to Nothing; Hot-spurs Were on Offensive During First Half But Did Not Score Until After Second Half Had Started; One Hundred Thousand People Saw Game.

London, April 23.—(Canadian Associated Press)—Tottenham Hotspurs won the Football Association cup here this afternoon by defeating Wolverhampton at Stamford Bridge by 1 to 0. Dimmock scored for the Spurs eight minutes after the second half had been started.

The game was started in a deluge of rain, which had been in progress all morning. The grounds were, therefore, in a soapy condition, which made concerted play practically impossible. The players slipped badly in their runs. In the first half Tottenham did most of the offensive work. The Wolves' defence was very strong, though their goal was in danger on several occasions. The game was attended by 100,000 football enthusiasts. Throughout the night many of them waited for the opening of the gates, despite a cold rain.

King George, the Duke of York and Prince Henry witnessed the game.

LAUNCH LIPTON CUP CHALLENGER MAY 1

Craft Being Constructed by Vancouver Yacht Club Is Ready to Take Water

Vancouver, April 23.—The Royal Vancouver Yacht Club's new challenger for the Lipton Cup has now been practically completed. The "Marconi" will be launched about May 1. As far as the completed and speedy hull is concerned, she could go into the water any day now, but the cup challenge committee wish to choose a name for the craft that will carry Canada's colors in the international races to be sailed at Cowichan and Victoria, July 1 to 4. The choice of a suitable name and the date of the launching is to be made by the cup racer committee at a meeting to be held next week.

After the launching it is planned to get the yacht racing at the earliest possible moment and commence her tuning up by May 15 at least. In this connection the cup racer committee has given up hope of getting the special "Marconi" spar for the yacht which was ordered from the designer, C. H. Nicholson, of Gosport, England. This spar is of the hollow, built-up type, and was shipped about a month ago on a steamer that is coming around to Vancouver by way of the Panama Canal. But her routing was changed to include several ports on the Atlantic, and the spar will not be here until about June 1. So, after considerable cabling to Designer Nicholson it was announced last night by Capt. Alex. Marshall, chairman of the cup racer committee, that a contract had been awarded to Hoffer Bros. to make a spruce Marconi spar for the racer. A suit of sails made by Ratsey, the famous English sailmaker, is also on the way for the cup challenger, but they, too, will not arrive for some time. An order has been placed with C. H. Jones & Son for a suit to be made locally, and these will be ready by May 19 to send on.

Looks Very Speedy.

Built to the limit of the "R" class and designed by C. H. Nicholson, the English yachting wizard who created Lipton's famous Shamrock IV, the new racer certainly looks as speedy as local enthusiasts hope she will prove to be when she meets the hitherto undefeated Sir Tom. Much interest centres in this handsome craft, for aside from the fact that she is the first racer to be built on the Pacific Coast from designs by Nicholson, she will also be the first to carry what is known as the "Marconi rig." This latest and very latest development in sail-driven craft, although a modification of the rig has been in use by sailing craft in Bermuda for some years. In the cup racer committee's usually lofty spar is carried and the mainsail goes up to a peak without any gaff—something like a jib reversed. The chief advantage in this lies in the ability to point higher and sail considerably closer to the wind than with the regulation gaff mainsail rig. The new R. V. Y. C. racer, with an overall length of about 86 feet in length. This huge spar for that size of boat will present some problems in stowing and rigging that will make her performances on the inlet in turning up spinnakers watched with unusual interest.

Capt. Ronald M. Maitland, who sailed the unsuccessful challenger Turanga against the Sir Tom in the first international series, for the Lipton Cup in 1914, has already been selected by the committee as skipper of the new racer. He is picking a live wire crew of young local windjammer experts to help him handle the Nicholson creation and intends to take advantage of every day possible after the racer is rigged in tuning her up for July 1.

HUGHES GETS K.O. FROM DANNY EDWARDS

Vancouver, April 23.—Danny Edwards, colored bantamweight of Oakland, Cal., was given the referee's decision over Bert Hughes, of Vancouver, while Hughes was taking the count in the fifth round of their bout here last night. Hughes had gone down three times in the round and Referee Charlie Brown stopped the bout. Both men weighed 118 pounds. In the same programme Ernie Daly, of Seattle, lost to Johnny Colclough, of Vancouver, who had very much the best of a six-round bout. Both men weighed 122 pounds.

GOLF for EVERYBODY

W. J. Thompson

This is the second of a series of fourteen articles by a well-known Canadian golfer, William J. Thompson won the Toronto and District championship in 1919 and 1920. In the former year he won the fourth round of the American Amateur championship at Pittsburg. He is a Canadian amateur medalist, was the medalist at the Chevy Chase invitation tournament in Washington, and is one of the well-known Thompson brothers who, as a team, won several championships. He writes of golf, its faults and problems, in a manner that novice and good player alike will understand and enjoy.

GOLF TEMPERAMENT.

Some golf players can never make a good drive off the first tee, but once away from the club-house, they play reasonably well. Someone says they've stage fright, or an attack of nerves. But this does not explain the phenomena satisfactorily. One can understand a beginner who has not the knowledge and skill to execute the shots and is therefore not reinforced with the assurance that he can make them, becoming panicky. But why should an expert go to pieces? Yet there are hundreds of cases where this has happened. Near every golfer who ever wielded a club has at some time or another had a bad attack of nerves. When Harold Hilton and Francis Outmet met in the British Amateur contest at Sunningdale, a large gallery gathered at the first tee. Outmet teed up his ball and the crowd expected to see it hurtling down the course some 250 yards. But to their surprise it rolled feebly into the spectators on one side. He almost missed the ball altogether. And yet Outmet was an experienced player. He had just had to have remarked afterwards that he was so nervous that he could not hit the ball.

PRINCESS

In response to repeated requests for a play of the heavy variety, the management of the Princess has produced the wonderful drama entitled "The House of Glass." It is meeting with instant approval from all who witness it. Princess patrons know how excellent Miss Page is in a heavy emotional role and as Margaret Case she is giving an artistic and well-balanced performance never for a moment over-doing a part which might easily be ruined if not carefully handled, also her gowns are most becoming and attractive.

Genevieve Berkeley, as the elderly landlady in the first act is doing a splendid bit of character acting while Byron Aldern as a corporation lawyer is delighting every one with his buoyant spirits and very opportune assistance of the harassed heroine of the play, the assistance being proffered in a manner which calls forth much applause. James Coote and Lee Jason are both seen in parts well suited to them and from the time the curtain rises on the first act until falling at the close of the performance the play grips every one with its intense realism and human appeal.

This evening "The House of Glass" will again be produced.

DOMINION

"You're not going to shoot me; you're going to drop that gun!" And he did! The force of an overpowering impulse and prevent a tragedy. The situation of the crisis of "The Witching Hour," the powerful Augustus Thomas stage success which has been pictured by Paramount and which will be shown at the Dominion Theatre this week. No greater play concerning the power of a strong mind has ever been written. In producing it, William D. Taylor has preserved all of the original dramatic force which made it an overwhelming box office success.

The pictures of the recent tour of H. R. H. Prince of Wales, and an excellent comedy make an interesting and entertaining programme.

PANTAGES

The destruction of an Italian village street furnished the final scenes for "The Hope," great spectacular comedy, released by Metro, showing Monday and Tuesday at the Pantages Theatre.

"The Hope" is an all-star production with Jack Mulhall, Ruth Stonehouse, Marguerite de la Motte and Frank Elliott heading the cast. Herbert Blanche directed the story, which was adapted for the screen by A. S. Le Vain and photographed by Harold Wenstrom.

The earthquake staged at the sixty-five acre Metro Park, in the San Fernando Valley was only one of the big scenes staged for "The Hope," a battle in Khyber Pass is another event that makes this famous production a thriller. The play was written by Cecil Raleigh and Henry Hamilton and produced on the stage by Arthur Collins.

Many large and elaborate settings were constructed, especially for the picture, among them the ballroom of an East Indian palace, an oriental street (built at the Metro studios), British army barracks where scenes were taken showing the return of victorious troops after a battle with Afghanistan natives in Khyber Pass, and the Italian street, built at the Metro Park.

COLUMBIA

Dressed in boy's clothes and forced to hold up stage coaches and cheat at cards, Monte, in "That Girl Montana," at the Columbia, was presumably the son of Bee Holly, a card sharper. One night Holly was caught cheating. The ensuing fight attracted the attention of Jim Harris, prospect, who had once been robbed, tortured and left to die by Holly. Harris pulled his gun, but Holly escaped. The crowd then demanded "Holly's kid," but Tana had made a getaway on a horse loaned by an Indian, Akkomi, whom she had befriended. Holly's body was seen floating down the river's swift current, but Harris found footprints that indicated Holly had "played possum."

VARIETY

Why are some marriages compared to a furnace? The poor London factory girl, who from the curb curiously watched the wedding party come out of the church, cynically remarked: "Marriage makes me think of the furnace at the works—you stand a good chance of getting burned." Was her observation a prophecy of the trials that lay before the most envied bride and groom of all London? Was their outward show of happiness only a camouflage to cover the pain that was in their hearts? See this powerful new drama at the Variety Theatre to-day, for the last time. It is entitled "The Furnace," and is a picture-play by William D. Taylor, via Reelart, of a new English novel by "Pan," an anonymous writer who is just now quite the sensation abroad.

COMING TO ROYAL

James Morrison, who will be remembered as a great favorite in the earlier plays of Norma Talmadge, Clara Kimball Young, Edith Storey, Earl Williams, and Antonio Moreno recently made the observation that the sweeping popularity of the movies had caused the industry to move forward with such tremendous rapidity that few of the original favorites could keep up with it. The favorites of the old days are not, in many cases, the favorites of to-day—they have been succeeded by younger blood. He likes that it all goes to show how relentless time is in wearing down processes upon even the mighty. Mr. Morrison is still scoring hits, however, his most recent triumph being in support of Anita Stewart, in "Sowing the Wind," which will be the feature attraction at the Royal Victoria Theatre next week.

AT DOMINION MONDAY.

A brilliant new Paramount picture, "The Gilded Lily," starring Mae Murray, will be the feature at the Dominion Theatre next week. The picture was produced by Robert Z. Leonard, and is the first Mr. Leonard has made with Miss Murray, his wife, under a new contract with Paramount.

"The Gilded Lily" is reminiscent of the George Fitzmaurice production of "On With the Dance," in which Miss Murray achieved a notable success last year. The bewitching blond stardom of the picture is a typical Salomander—one of those women who can take from men and give nothing in return—but though she is all smiles and rosy and sits on the exterior, her one longing is to quit her butterfly life and become a wife.

HAROLD KIRBY WILL APPEAR MONDAY

To all music lovers of Victoria the announcement of the forthcoming appearance of Harold Kirby, the distinguished English baritone, will be a source of great pleasure. He will appear at the Metropolitan Church on Monday evening.

The Kirby is now making his Trans-Canada tour from coast to coast, and the success that he has already achieved has been remarkable. Although many of the world-famous artists have appeared in the cities ahead of him, he has drawn capacity audiences upon every appearance.

He has a voice of magnificent quality and tone of beauty, and combining with this his pleasing personality, he cannot help but win the admiration and genuine appreciation of those privileged to hear him. His name is familiar to all those acquainted with musical circles in the Old Country, and as he progresses on his tour through the West he is adding to his laurels and winning fame wherever he appears. His programme has been styled an "English Song," but the more appropriate term would be that of a "Feast of Song," as the reports so eloquently refer to his programme.

REHEARSAL SHOWS

PROGRESS OF PLAYERS

Greek Play "Danae" Will Have Striking Features

Great interest was displayed in the rehearsal of the first act of "Danae" on Thursday, when the preliminary arrangements were made for the very effective piece of pageantry which leads up to the opening of the play.

Two striking figures at the King's feast will be Andromeda (the beloved of Perseus) played by Mrs. George Bushby and Princess Meriam, who is on a visit to the Greek court from Egypt, played by Mrs. A. B. Sanders.

A very popular figure will be the somewhat diminutive Aphrodite, Miss Mary Smith, while two other outstanding goddesses will be the radiant Cynthia, Mrs. Arthur McCullum and the stately Amphitrite, Mrs. Cuthbert Holmes.

The authoress, who is financing this elaborate undertaking, wishes (should there be any profits) to give the first $1000 to the St. Joseph's Hospital. Mr. Charles Williams and Mr. George Bushby have very kindly undertaken to look after the receipt of all monies for sale of tickets.

There is a great pleasure in store for Victorians, for everything is being considered which can add to the beauty of this play. The words are beautiful, the story is beautiful and Mrs. Brownlee has treated it as it deserves, with dignity and passion. The young and graceful dancers will be a wonderful sight. The music is to afford a new pleasure. The Bul-Bul in a cage can never sing as does the nightingale in the trees. And so also, to hear Mrs. Harry Briggs, Mrs. Robt. Baird, Mr. R. B. MacKenzie, Mr. Kenneth Angus, Mr. J. W. Fitch and Mr. A. D. Ford among the roses in the "Summer sunshine," will be very different from the conventional singing of the concert chamber.

The public is assured of a good setting, for Mr. Gordon Cameron is in charge of all the "properties" and this important department could not have been placed in better hands.

WIND ON THE STOMACH; QUICKLY BELIEVED

It is a good thing to know just what to do when gas belching starts. One sufferer related the following experience:—"A few months ago I ate some green vegetables and some fruit that was not quite ripe. It brought on indigestion, hiccoughs, gas, and cramps. I belched continually. A neighbor urged me to use 'Nerviline.' I took it in hot sweetened water, and got quick relief. I will never again be without this valuable remedy. 'Nerviline' is a household necessity; large 35c bottles sold everywhere."

OAK BAY THEATRE BEING RENOVATED

Victoria Dramatic and Operatic Society Has Lease; To Produce "Erminie"

Oak Bay Theatre has recently been undergoing considerable changes since the Victoria Dramatic and Operatic Society took a lease of the premises, and when the alterations are all complete the theatre will be one of the cosiest little play-houses in the district.

The Society is spending money on the improvement of the stage which will be made the full width of the building, new electrical installation and the construction of dressing rooms form part of the programme of improvements which the Society is carrying out to fit the theatre out entirely for their requirements. The building will seat about 250 people.

It is the intention of the Society to operate the theatre on the same plan as the community theatres throughout the continent and on the self-supporting basis entirely.

"Erminie," Jacobowski's beautiful comic opera, now playing in London and New York, will be the first production staged by the Society in their new home. Under Reginald Hincks, director, and Herbert Kent, musical conductor, rehearsals have been under way for some time and, unless something unforeseen arises, "Erminie" will be staged on Monday, May 9.

The cast includes such popular artists as Eva Hart, Mrs. Aldous, Mrs. Fred Bell, Miss Kathleen Palmer, Miss Mary Morton, James Hunter, John Gillan, Sybil Armstrong, Chas. Scribner, Bob Webb and Frank Alivred. The chorus will consist of about thirty members.

Hands Bound To Keep from Scratching

A year with doctors couldn't help this baby.

"He got worse and worse," writes Mrs. W. H. Spence of McGregor, Manitoba. "His face was covered. We spent $50.00 on salve alone. In about three weeks of treatment with D. D. D. the sores were healed. His face and hands are now like velvet."

MR. SALSBURO TO LEAVE C.P.R. SOON

Has Spent 34 Years in Splendid Service at Vancouver

William F. Salsbury, treasurer of the Pacific Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who has recently spent much of his time at Hillcrest, Gordon Head, where he will reside on retirement, has determined to leave the company's service May 1.

He will be succeeded by Hugh G. Byrne, who for nineteen years has been associated with Mr. Salsbury in the treasury department. Mr. Byrne has for some years been acting in the capacity of assistant-treasurer. He came to Vancouver in 1902, and was formerly in the Yukon Territory, where he held a position with the British and Yukon Navigation Co. and was for a time purser on one of the boats operating between White Horse and Dawson, and was also for a time in the service of the Imperial Bank. He has a wide acquaintance among the business men of Vancouver, and is regarded by officials of the company to be highly qualified to hold such an important position.

Mr. Salsbury's retirement from a position which he has held with honor and distinction for so many years is not due directly to his recent tragic bereavement. He is now 74 years of age, and approaching that time of life when most men have long since retired from the active pursuit of duty. Mr. Salsbury has for some time been contemplating retirement from his office, and officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway are warm in their appreciation of his good and faithful service. He leaves behind him an unblemished record of unflinching devotion to the interests of his company, who placed in him an unlimited confidence and keenly regret his departure.

Mr. Salsbury was born in Surrey, England, in 1847, and became connected with railroad work at Brighton in 1861. He has ever since followed railroading as a career. Emigrating to Canada in 1870, he entered the service of the Grand Trunk Railway and became assistant to Joseph Hickson (afterwards Sir Joseph), who was then treasurer of the road. Mr. Salsbury joined the Canadian Pacific Railway in 1881, when their line was first commenced, and came out to this coast on the first overland train that reached the terminal at Port Moody on July 4, 1888. He took office as treasurer of the company at Vancouver, and has held

THE PROTECTING ANGEL

To make the lonely road less difficult for the widow—to provide food, clothing and an education for the fatherless children—that is the function of life insurance and was the aim of the founders of the Mutual Life when they organized the Company fifty-one years ago.

This Mutual principle has been followed for more than half a century. The Mutual Life of Canada has held steadfastly to the ideas and ideals of its founders. It has been an "Angel of Mercy" to thousands of desolated Canadian homes.

In order to achieve that purpose at the lowest possible cost to the policyholder the Company was organized on a purely mutual or co-operative basis—so that all profits are returned to the policyholders to reduce the cost of insurance.

The wonderful record of the Mutual Life of Canada, which has paid in death claims and other benefits no less than $33,320,716, and has assurances in force to-day of $206,000,000 is proof that it is practicable to carry on a business on the principle of "each for all and all for each."

MICKEY'S DREAM

(By Mrs. Harrison Eke)

(By Mrs. Harrison Eke)

Puffed curly hair, baby blue eyes, plump regular features, ruddy complexion, often got Mickey, the little newsie, the name of 'Girle', a sobriquet he very much disliked; but he never showed any displeasure which meant further teasing, so Mickey very wisely kept silent, and at the hour of three each afternoon would meet his tormentors with a good tempered smile showing a set of even white teeth which enhanced his girlish countenance.

"Girle," he greeted as he came up to the group of waiting newsies, quickly pushing the offensive curls under the patch of cap which he had just tried the barber college.

"There was a chuckle which meant the boys were in a teasing mood. Mickey, however, decided to pass on his blue eyes narrowing as he glanced sideways at the laughing group.

"No kids," he returned, inwardly raging, "you later."

Increasing his pace, he came to his usual haunt, a nearby tobacconist. Here he entered and went forward, leaving the proprietor, who knew him well, a friendly nod, and passed on to a seat in the corner; resting his tired curly head against the wall, he gazed at the pictures in the land of dreams.

On went Mickey, along the grassy trail of his dreams, waving, luxuriant, sparkling rivulets, tiny waterfalls, snug little valleys, small hillocks, sheltered by tall leafy trees, and underbrush. A beautiful scene and Mickey revelled in it. He felt he had indeed stolen a march on the fairies, for there was no sign of life anywhere; he was the monarch of all he surveyed. After a while he moved cautiously, peering here and there, touching the velvety petals of the bright-hued flowers with trembling fingers, smoothing the fresh green leaves, gazing heavenwards as he did so, never was the sun's rays so blue or the sun's rays so brilliant.

It was not until later when the evening shadows began to fall that he gave himself time to think of his next move. The fairy bower and its enchantment had been food and rest for a time, but with the close of day came the pang of hunger. Like Dick Whittington of old he had started out, but unlike Dick, he failed to possess the small pouch of provisions. Not even a creature like the village urchin loomed in sight that he might ask his way. Walking steadily on, for distance he came to a wide creek, which, to continue his journey he must cross over. His brain worked quickly as his busy fingers brushed the branches of trees close by, deftly lacing and securing them that they might hold together until he reached the other side. This was a feat by this time was almost upon him; already ready noises of the night could be heard. Hastily he bared the last branch for a hand hold, and viewed his work with a sigh of satisfaction.

"Great stunt that," he exclaimed, giving the last gentle push to the water as he held it steady while he sprang on, "guess I'll keep this old boat, she's a daisy."

On his way he eyed the quivering raft admiringly as she skimmed the smooth rippling water. Then as he neared the shore he jumped, landing on a soft mat of moss. Standing a moment he gazed around him, and "Gee, I'm glad I made that trip safely," he exclaimed. Hardly had the words escaped his lips when the sound of a gun fell upon his ears.

"Someone's shooting their next day's mail," he thought, stretching himself full length, trying to catch the owner of the gun. Suddenly the crackling of the underbrush from the bushes beside him caused him to turn sharply as a thick, green-eyed man came into view. Mickey, terror-stricken turned to flee.

"Stay right where you are," was the stern command, "or I'll fix you good and plenty. Who are you anyway?"

Mickey made a sudden halt, staring with wide open eyes at the gunman before him.

"Well, say," laughed the man, putting his gun under his arm and coming forward to where Mickey stood. He scrutinized Mickey's trembling form with amusement. "You had me plumb scared, son. What are you doing here without your mummy?" his eyes resting on Mickey's fair curly hair, "Got lost did you or fall out in an airplane?"

A volley of questions were hurled at Mickey who was too confused to answer. After a brief silence, however, Mickey said meekly, "I'm hungry."

"Hungry, are you? Then your luck's in. I live close by and you're welcome to a meal from my table. Let's hit the trail after it gets too dark."

The invitation was gladly accepted for Mickey was feeling the pangs of hunger very keenly. He did not take long to reach the log building this man had called home. Lifting the latch he had Mickey enter and as if in answer to Mickey's thoughts he said,

"I live alone here, the boys live under the hill, jerking his thumb over his shoulder.

"You're a rancher, then?" ventured Mickey interested.

"Yep, I'm a rancher," answered the man, hastily preparing the evening meal. For a brief space silence ensued.

"Take a seat," commanded the man, with kindly abruptness breaking the silence.

Mickey did so, losing no time in trying his friend's cooking.

"How comes it," began the man when they were both seated, "that you're this far?"

"I'm looking for work," was the answer.

The man gazed at the girlish features and was surprised at the eagerness displayed there.

"Did you ever do any?"

"A little."

"Not afraid of work, are you?"

"How'd you like to work for me?" Mickey's eyes shone with delight.

"I'd like it fine."

"Well," said the man thoughtfully,

"It's not exactly work and yet it is work. You'll have to go some to do what I ask."

"If it's not too hard, I'll be glad to do it," returned Mickey eagerly.

"You can do it alright; but it requires a little thinking out. It's this way," went on the man dryly, pushing his heavily booted foot forward. "I'm less 300 head of cattle, all branded, and there was no mistaking them for mavericks. That was one time when Jake went astray. The man's face stiffened perceptibly as his eyes wandered in the direction he had nodded a moment before. "He went off to town one day and when he came back they were gone. Sooner than old Wetherby shall I have my stock, I'll see them at the bottom of the creek."

"Where they stolen?"

"Just what they were, son. The man's eyes glared into space. "Yep," he continued, "and I know he's got them in spite of the altered brand and size. To like you've come to get those cattle back for me."

"How?" asked Mickey all excitement.

"Listen, son. My plan is this, which if you keeps your wits about you, you'll be bound to succeed."

Mickey listened intently. He was not going to be made Lord Mayor of London Town, but in his way of thinking, something equally as important. The plan outlined seemed easy to follow, it only needed courage. So Mickey next morning after breakfast started on his way.

And listen, son, the parting words, "those cattle are yours" when you gets them."

"So you may be, son; but the getting of them means a whole lot to me, more's the pity what they're worth, and the man whose got them is no friend of mine. This is your mount, son," pointing to a shaggy, coarse close by "it isn't exactly the year model you understand; but they don't know this old horse, that'll fool 'em some," he chuckled, "that's part of the plan, d'ya see?"

"Yes," replied Mickey with a broad grin.

"You know the rest," Mickey climbed on the cayuse beside him; clutching the reins, he gave the animal a quick jerk and soon the pair were going at a sharp pace. A way sped Mickey, his golden curls gleaming in the sunlight, the sweet-scented morning air filling his lungs.

"Listen, old bronc," he whispered, "confidingly in the cayuse's ear, "those cattle are mine! do you hear?" "As Mickey drove around them flicking his whip, slackening speed only when in sight of Wetherby's ranch.

Shading his eyes with his hand, he saw a white horse standing in the floozled, wonder what the owner is like?"

At this moment Mickey's solitary cry carried electrically to the summit of a small hillock. At the foot stood a group of cowboys. Mickey descended slowly until he reached the bend of the trail, and there grouped together, back to the storm, just under the hillside, stood the brand X cattle. Mickey drove around them flicking his switch dexterously, instinctively; the cattle swerved and tossed their heads, frisking their tails vigorously, then moved forward. For two miles Mickey drove them through the fury of the storm, looking nervously in every direction and battling bravely with the frightened animals as each crash of thunder rent the air. It was no far now; their destination was almost in sight. The animals seemed to know they were going back to their old home and kept ahead, slackening speed only when they reached their former home. Rain-soaked and happy he drove them in. His friend had seen him and came running to meet him; his eyes shone with pleasure.

"Didn't expect you so soon, son, you did fine."

Mickey slipped from the tired cayuse and came forward.

"Yep," he said happily, "that storm sure helped some."

At this moment someone tugged at Mickey's coat sleeve. He jumped quickly to his feet and, rubbing his eyes, gazed stupidly around him.

"Lo, Daney."

"Say, Mickey, what's got you? Paper's been out an hour ago. Paper's on your stand too! Here's your papers."

"I wish," grunted Mickey peevishly.

"Paper, sir, paper," shouted Mickey, rousing himself and throwing the well-filled sack over his shoulders.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Perhaps you wouldn't have been able to eat electrically-toasted toast this morning or to switch on your electric lights to-night if Benjamin Franklin hadn't flown his little kite one stormy day two hundred years ago. History records that Franklin discovered electricity when lightning struck an iron key which he had fastened to his kite string, and the current travelled down and gave him the shock of his life. This is supposed to have taken place when Franklin was a fully-grown man, but it is a tradition that he got tangled up with electricity when he first started flying kites, as our picture to-day shows.

Junior Riflemen Learning Useful Qualities on Range

Medals for twelve boys of the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps units of the Pimley and Ritchie Ranges came through this week from the headquarters of the Winchester Arms Company, while another eighteen medals have been won by other boys, and are now expected from the headquarters of the office for the winners.

G. Twyman, J. Sullivan, S. Spavin, C. Day, C. Hickman, W. Mooney, G. Dodd, W. Fraser, F. Barlow, B. Bier, W. B. White, and W. Spouse are the winners of many handsome medals in bronze, and silver that are now on hand, and in general all around training. The Winchester Junior Rifle Corps in its many organizations is doing a very useful work in the training of our coming manhood.

Practice, and it is in that practice that qualities are developed in a boy that have an influence for good in his whole life. To shoot well he must be attentive to his instructions; must be careful of his own personal movements; be clear of eye and steady of hand, and in general all around training. The Winchester Junior Rifle Corps in its many organizations is doing a very useful work in the training of our coming manhood.

Boys' Naval Brigade Made Splendid Showing On Parade

Our friends, the Boys' Naval Brigade had a busy week with many turnouts for various public functions, at which their efficient appearance won for them many encomiums. The most notable was the guard of honor of some fifty boys under Lieut. W. M. Hotham, at the unveiling of the statue of our late Queen Victoria, The Good, on Tuesday last. The division paraded at the ship's office and marched to take up their post as the guard of honor at the Parliament grounds.

On Tuesday afternoon and evening, Wednesday, and even- ing a picked guard of sixteen boys under their own leader, Petty Officer Robinson, took part in the Britannia Fair at the Y. W. C. A. Fair of the Nations. The band under Bandmaster Rumsby attended on the occasion of the visit of the Royal party to the Fair, and created a very favorable impression on the rendering of "O Canada" and "God Save the King." The boys of the local division have put in a very busy week and added a good deal of lustre to their already splendid record, for efficiency and smartness on parade.

Boat pulling and boat drill generally, will soon be in vogue again. The Boys' Naval Brigade has possession of two craft, one, a cutter and the other a gig, and last year got in some very useful practice on these boats while at the Provincial Camp of the Brigades of B. C. at the Gorge.

Boat drill and pulling is welcomed by the boys, who take a keen delight in the mastery of the art. With the coming of the warmer and finer weather of the late Spring a number of outings are under arrangement, and the tedious of the winter's confinement to indoors is to be rapidly dispelled with interesting and instructive outings along many different phases of the work of the Boys' Naval Brigade.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TO-NIGHT

THE FROG BROTHERS

Froggy Frog and his brother Billy Bull lived in a pond in the meadow until one day a big Ox came along and drank up all the water, leaving the brother Froggies without any home.

"We must look for another home, brother," said Froggy, who was the oldest and his father and mother had one day not returned to the bottom of the pond, had been the one who looked after things.

"But where shall we go?" asked Billy Bull. "This is the only pond we know about, and we must live in a pond, you know."

"Oh, there must be other ponds in the world," said Froggy. "There are other frogs you know, brother; come along, we must hop until we find one."

Off they started across the field, and down the road they went into a barnyard, where they found a well with the hole in the side, and through this "hopped" Billy Bull and looked down into the deep water and said, "Oh, come and look, brother," he said; "here is a nice deep place to live, and I am sure that all the Oxen in the world could not drink it dry."

But when Froggy Frog looked down he jumped back. "No, that is not a place for us to live," he said. "Suppose we did not like it, how in the

What Ypres and Our War History Should Mean to Us All

SIX years ago yesterday the fame won by the Canadians at the second battle of Ypres made all hearts ring with pride in Canada—six years—and each succeeding year sees a dimming of the glory to the glory that was there won for the fair Dominion by her sons. Every little girl and every boy should try to remember what happened at Ypres and the other engagements where their Canadian Daddies and elder brothers won imperishable fame.

While it would not be possible to describe even meagrely the second battle of Ypres in this page; a few incidents from that battle will, perhaps be of interest in recalling the glory won by our men in the first action where they shared the full honor of being front-line troops equal to any within the confines of the British Empire. These incidents, like the service of the French, are picked at random and for other reasons than that they each serve to illustrate some phase of the engagement.

It will be remembered how the front line of the Ypres salient was held on April 22, 1915, by French, Imperial and Canadian troops, the First Canadian Division forming the connecting link between the Imperials and the French on their left. Next to the Canadians the Turcos-Algerians in the service of the British will also be remembered that gas was used for the first time against the Turcos and Canadians in this action.

The Turcos, unused to the terrible action of the poisonous fumes retired almost bodily with here and there a man who remained still sticking to his post in the front line. The Canadians were ordered to spread out and cover the Turco front as well as the British. With a very few men, a front of two whole divisions in extent. This preliminary explanation is necessary to get into the situation which was the work of the Canadians, meant to the British army and the Allied cause.

One of the most glorious birthrights of the British is the ability to "stick-to-it;" and it was in this action that the Canadians showed they were a "chip off the old block."

One battalion, having been three times gassed, and without helmets to withstand the fumes, was about to be ordered to retreat. The Germans thinking that the remnant living could offer little resistance made an attack on this battalion. The battalion rallied to meet the attack, and drove the Germans off, and then made a counter attack convincing the Germans that large reinforcements were within call of the British Reserves.

Soon after the fighting became of a hand to hand nature, wounded thronged the main road back to the rear of the supports. Try and picture this sight: a long and winding cobble-stone road; little groups of khaki-clad figures wandering back arm in arm; men with legs dangling from their sides; some with arms bleeding and arms shattered, and the whole crowd singing—singing rollicking choruses of the vaudeville and the patriotic songs and old favorites.

One man who was so badly wounded that his clothes had been torn from his back—helped along with an arm around the neck of a companion on either side of him—was acting as song leader; it is perhaps a small thing, but it showed in just as many words the ability of the British to "stick to it"—remember and remember it well—the man was a Canadian born and bred in Western Canada.

Humor and Pathos

Humor cropped out in the most unexpected places—a wounded Turco dashed into a Canadian dressing station, had his four wounds dressed and started running towards the line, he was stopped by a party and told to go back, he dodged and kept on running. He dropped into a trench where he had been wounded and came back slowly after a few minutes—with him was a wee black puppy dog—and the puppy was wounded too.

Humor and pathos, the inextinguishable merriment of terrible situations, and the sadness of death and loss all around. German prisoners were being taken back along the same road—one a major was glancing to right and left as he was led under escort—at St. Jean on either side of the road for four or five hundred yards were double and triple lines of straggling wounded stretcher-beds that maimed or dying.

He sighed, and presently burst out "If we had only known, if we could have seen the Germans, we would have gone through, have walked through the handfull you had left," he said in perhaps a conscious tribute to the valor of the Canadians, many of whom were untrained—remember—in the annals of the stern god of war. He was right too—the average battalion marched from Ypres with about 300 men in the place of the 1000 strong, who faced the dawn of April 22, with the ending of the second battle of Ypres.

Keep it Memory Green

So when you are asked to remember Ypres, do not dismiss it with a faint recollection that some years ago a battle occurred. Stop for a moment and think what those men were doing for you. Before the war you might have gone around the world and your announcement that you were a Canadian would not have meant much to any listener; to-day that announcement that you were a Canadian would mean to you the whole civilization globe. They won for you, your daddies and your elder brothers won for you, and you are asked to hold the whole world around and hold your head high, when you are asked what nationality you are. Remember then in thinking of Ypres, and of the battles that your history will give you, that it was made by your fathers and your elder brothers and also by your mothers who waited patiently at home—often to listen for the voice that was loved, but that came back nevermore.

Honor in your birthright, take pride in your name and the country you live in—but do not forget, though ten times six years roll away, to whom you owe that name—it is to your daddies, your brothers, and your folks at home—be then worthy of them at all times.

That I was brought to the top in a bucket of water, I should still be at the bottom of that well, and a darning place it is to live all alone.

"But my poor leg was hurt when the bucket was overturned at the top of the well, for a duck happened to be near and caught me by one foot."

"I have had my luck, too," said Froggy. "The pond I have lived in since you went away dried up—and here I am without a home again."

"We must hunt for another, but this time I will stay with you," said Billy Bull. "I do not like living alone."

"We have learned two lessons, brother," said Froggy: "not to choose a deep well for a home or a shallow duck pond. This time we will go to the woods and look for a nice, deep pool, where the sun cannot get to it."

"Experience is the best teacher, I have heard," said Billy Bull.

"Yes," replied Froggy Frog, "if in learning the lesson you do not pay too great a price for it."

TROUBLE SAVING

TRANSFER NEEDED

"Twas in the cold days of winter and snow lay thick upon the main street of the village at the top of the hill. Needless to say boys had been using the road down the hill for a slide, so it could not be wondered at when the old man slipped and commenced careening down the hill on that section of his person usually used for sitting on. Unfortunately Daney, who was sitting on the slide, sighted, crossed the road while the squire was in the middle of his historic slide. The old lady was caught under the feet and sat with a lousy bump right on top of the squire's lap, and together the two continued on the slide gaining much speed. At the bottom the slide stopped and the pair came to a standstill. The old lady was somewhat dazed and could not just make out how she had travelled down the hill. Even courteous the squire remarked meekly, "Pardon me, Madam, but this is as far as we go, you will have to change here."

PREPARING TO HOLD A GENERAL MEETING

Victoria Automobile Club Will Hear Result of Membership Drive

The Victoria Automobile Club is preparing for its next general meeting at which reports will be received from the various team captains engaged in the membership drive which is now under way and for which prizes will be offered for the greatest number of new members enrolled.

A number of important matters have been under way, chief among which is the question of securing a better combination of traffic by-laws for the City of Victoria. Secretary Webb has been in conference with City Solicitor Pringle for some time past in regard to this matter and Mr. Pringle has at present in hand the work of consolidating the by-laws.

This work will also provide for a better system of parking arrangement and the inauguration of a system of street marking which will enable motorists to avoid the inconvenience and humiliation of being haled into court for an infringement of which they had no knowledge whatever.

Several motorists have recently been fined for parking their cars in places not permitted by the law, the result of there being no markings on the street to denote the proper parking locations. For this work alone, automobile owners will feel grateful to the Victoria Automobile Club.

Great interest is being taken in the local club and its work. It is the object of the club to make it an organization of the greatest service to the greatest number in the automobile world and all those who are interested in promoting the best interests of motoring are invited to join forces with the club, whose headquarters are in the Winch Block, Fort Street, adjoining The Times Building.

Mr. Squire and Mr. Kelley being at present in the west for the purpose of arousing interest in the convention, and reporting much enthusiasm at the prospect of visiting the maritime provinces. A whole day has been set apart for the trip through the Land of Evangeline, perhaps the most historic and famous part of the maritime provinces, and a magnet that attracts thousands of visitors every year. The delegates will leave by special train over the Dominion Atlantic Railway at 8.30 on the morning of May 13, and proceed to Wolfville or Kentville, the party being split in two, so that luncheons may be given them in these two towns and then be driven in automobiles through the wonderful Gasperaux valley, and returning by motor to Grand Pre Station, reaching Halifax in time for dinner. This is a trip that none should miss, and will undoubtedly be an added incentive to many to attend the convention.

Good Roads Exhibition

A feature of the convention will be the good roads exhibition which will be located next to the meeting hall, and in which will be shown road materials, models, etc., with heavier road machinery on view in the rear of the college. During the sessions

NEW MILEAGE RECORDS

Great Increase in Tire Mileage in the Last Five Years.

Probably one reason for the well-known fact that most tire manufacturing concerns are experiencing a period of slackness in business is because tires are so much better made than formerly that last year's tires are still going and the demand for new tires is proportionately less. The science of tire-making has advanced until the service of the best tires is limited only by the endurance of the materials themselves. Motorists now get from 10,000 to 12,000 miles from a genuinely good tire, whereas 500 to 3,000 miles was the average life of a tire a few years ago. The constant research and experimenting and the expenditure of huge sums of money to make tires that will give this greater mileage, deserves appreciation and the reward the makers of good tires feel their due is to have the spontaneous patronage of motorists who want full quality at a reasonable price. Be not deceived by any cheap production that can be easily made to look good, and sell at a price to flatter the bargain hunter. Cheap tires are the dearest investment a motorist can make.

As an example of the unusual service rendered by "Gutta Percha" tires, take the experience of the Canadian Express Co., who recently secured over 30,000 miles from two "Gutta Percha" fabric tires on one of their Toronto trucks. This mileage was checked to a fraction.

The Litho-Print Co. of Toronto, report over 18,000 miles already on "Gutta Percha" fabrics, and the tires are fit for many more miles yet.

A family named Stubbs, which became very rich during the war, purchased a stately home. It happened that someone who had known them in less prosperous days was in the neighborhood, and thought he would call. He did so, and asked for "Mr. Stubbs."

The butler regarded him with a perfectly straight face. "There must be some mistake, sir," he said. "This is the house of Mr. St. Ubbas."—Tit-Bits.

EXPECT DELEGATES FROM BRITAIN TO GOOD ROADS MEET

Splendid Programme Arranged by Canadian Association

Montreal, April 23.—It is more than probable that there will be a representative of the International Association of Road Congresses at the forthcoming convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association at Halifax on May 10, 11 and 12, for Secretary McNamee has been in correspondence with W. Rees Jeffreys, of London, England, the secretary of the International association, who is taking a keen interest in the growth of the good roads movement in the Dominion. If a representative does attend he will have a two-fold object, for he will not only be present at the convention, but will look over the possibilities of the Dominion with a view to the next gathering of the International Association of Road Congresses being held in Canada. Comprising as it does delegates from all parts of the world the International association's visit to the Dominion would mark an epoch in the movement for improved highways on this side of the Atlantic and would have far-reaching effect.

Rotarians Drive

On the opening day of the convention the visiting Rotarian delegates will be the guests of the Halifax Rotary Club at luncheon, while the delegates generally will be the guests of the Nova Scotia Motor League on a drive around the wonderful land-locked harbor of Halifax. At 5 o'clock the Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia will give an informal reception to the delegates at his residence.

The annual meeting and luncheon of the Canadian Automobile Association will be held on Wednesday, May 11, while in the evening the annual dinner and informal entertainment of the Canadian Good Roads Association will be held. The annual general meeting for the election of officers taking place on the following evening. The officers and directors of the association have been invited to luncheon on May 12 by the Commercial Club, and a special conference of local and provincial good roads' associations will take place that same afternoon under the chairmanship of President R. H. Murray, of the N. S. Good Roads' Association.

Special Pullmans

Special Pullman car parties are being organized from Toronto and Ottawa, as well as Montreal, for the convention, who will be joined by delegates from Regina, Winnipeg, Edmonton and other western points.

OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN AND THE HOME

FAMOUS WOMAN MISSIONARY COMING

Dr. Margaret McKellar, of Central India, to Speak Here Monday

Dr. Margaret McKellar, for thirty years the outstanding medical missionary of Central India, will visit Victoria next Monday.

Dr. McKellar's Canadian home is in Bruce County, Ontario. She is back on her fourth furlough, having first sailed for India in October, 1899. When she went out, there was one dispensary, now there are three, and a fine modern hospital with forty-five beds. Neemuch, a station, 160 miles North of Indore, has been the centre of her work. The times of special need, as in the great famine of 1899-1900, and plague epidemics, which have occurred from time to time, gave her further opportunity of relieving suffering.

In recognition of this special service, her name was in the honor's list at the time of the King Emperor's Coronation Durbar and the Kaiser-i-Hind medals for public service conferred upon her.

Dr. McKellar's relationships with the representatives of H. M. Government in Central India have always been most happy, and more than once her suggestions have been welcomed by them.

Shortly after war broke out, the Medical Missionary Association of India placed their services at her disposal of the government.

In June, 1917, Miss McKellar accepted employment in a government hospital, so that their medical officer might be released for military service.

She has been singularly successful in influencing the young Indian women to fit themselves for positions of usefulness. Some have taken special training in Ludhiana medical schools. One of her favorite sayings is: "It is better to set ten men to work, than to try and do the work of ten."

The missionary board in Toronto have sent Dr. McKellar on this trip across Canada, to be present at and address the annual missionary conventions of the four western provinces.

She will address a mass meeting in First Presbyterian Church, on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Those who have been privileged to hear this talented woman know the power of her message.

New Provincial President of I. O. D. E.

MRS. HERBERT DRUMMOND, OF VANCOUVER.

She was elected president of the Provincial Chapter, I. O. D. E., at the annual meeting here on Wednesday. Mrs. Drummond has long been associated with the Order as one of its most energetic members and her election will meet with the satisfaction of every member throughout the Province.

THE REGIMENTAL LYRE.

A number of stars on the cuff of a soldier aroused the fair visitor's curiosity.

"He's the battalion astronomer," explained her escort, gravely. "I suppose that thing on your arm means that you're the regimental lyre."—Tit-Bits.

"How interesting," said the maiden, then, noting his bandman's badge, the representation of an ancient stringed instrument, she exclaimed, "I suppose that thing on your arm means that you're the regimental lyre."—Tit-Bits.

"I'm glad to hear that," said the soldier, "but I'm afraid you're mistaken. I'm not a lyre, but a bandman."—Tit-Bits.

I. O. D. E. Chapters Have Raised Nearly Half Quota During Year

In view of the promise made by Premier Oliver on Tuesday to a delegation of officers from the Provincial Chapter, I. O. D. E. to the effect that the Government, on receipt of the necessary documents, would make a grant of $5,000 to the I. O. D. E. National War Memorial, it will be of timely interest to the public as well as to members of the Order to learn of the rapid strides made towards the attainment of the memorial scheme by the Chapters in British Columbia.

Annual Report.
Mrs. O. L. Boynton in her annual report before the Provincial Chapter, I. O. D. E. on Tuesday, said: "I beg to submit the following report of the National I. O. D. E. War Memorial for the year just ending. "While attending the National Annual meeting held in Calgary last May, I had the privilege of attending several meetings of the National War Memorial Committee, of which, as Convenor for this Province, I am a member.

"These meetings were a source of much benefit, making plain many things which had not been very clear to us in B. C., this, together with the development of the project during the year, has proved what a wonderful undertaking this Memorial of ours really is.

Little Changed.
"When one realizes the biggest of the plans laid out, it is surprising that more changes have not been found necessary,—for so much of the feasibility of any large undertaking must be determined as it is worked out, and apart from a few minor changes the Memorial stands at present in its original form.

"One thing is very certain, any change which will make it more workable should be presented, but it must always be remembered, that when a suggestion is brought forward, consideration of the National Committee,—majority rules.

Not for Enemy Aided.
"The resolution re 'Earmarking the contributions for Bursaries—Overseas Scholarships' did not carry, on the contrary, the B. C. representation made that Committee were the only ones in favor of this, all the others voting against.

"The other resolution, passed at the October quarterly meeting, regarding it impossible for enemy aliens in the Great War, to benefit from the Overseas Scholarship, will be brought before the members of that Committee at the annual meeting in Toronto next month.

Scholarships Awarded.
"During the year our Memorial has ceased to be merely a project in contemplation, for in September last, the first awards were made in each Province for the Bursaries, (clause A.) and the Memorial became something more real, with this tangible evidence.

"In B. C. this scholarship, (which is for a four year course in a Canadian university, to the value of $250 annually, a total value of $1,000), was awarded to Frederick James Brand, of Victoria, the son of George Brand, who died on active service overseas, and we are very proud of a student so splendidly deserving, as the first winner of the scholarship.

"In January, the first of the Overseas Post-graduate Scholarships were awarded; as before explained in my quarterly report in January, owing to the fund not being complete, every Province could not benefit by this scholarship this year, the whole of the Provinces will receive awards during two years, four this year, and five next year.

Early Applications.
"B. C. did not receive one of these scholarships for 1921, but will be one of the five Provinces to benefit in 1922; applications for which will be received this Fall, and announced next January. Even this early, it is very apparent several applications will be made; I have recently been interviewed by a returned man, who is most anxious to apply; and have been informed of another returned man, who would have probably benefited by the Rhodes Scholarship, but for the fact that he was a few months over age, through service overseas, which had delayed his university course; he also intends to make application, not being over age for our scholarship.

"Those of us who have perhaps wondered if this scholarship were not necessary, will, in view of these cases right here in our own Province, realize the very splendid need it fills after all.

Second B. C. Bursary.
"In a few days, the committee of selection for this Province will meet to consider, and determine, the winner of the second bursary for B. C.; which will mean two scholarships in existence in our own university; next year a third will be awarded, the following year a fourth; and for the next fourteen years we shall have four sons or daughters of men who died overseas, or who are totally disabled by the war, benefiting by this scholarship.

"One application received, for this year's bursary, makes one glad indeed, that our memorial is one to bring so much happiness to children of our heroes. The writer says, 'a university course was a cherished dream, which I thought never would be fulfilled, but, with the knowledge of your war memorial, there opened up a possibility for this dream to be fulfilled.

Practical Benefit.
"Our war memorial is something of which as daughters of the Empire we can indeed feel proud; it is far more real, and of infinitely more practical benefit to the children of the men who gave their all for King and Country, than a stone monument. "I find there is still ignorance as to what our memorial really is. Speaking at a concert, arranged to raise funds for this object, recently, found many of the men present had no idea of the nature of the memorial,—it had been supposed that it was for a monument of some kind. I would like to ask educational secretaries, therefore, to follow up the plan made some months ago to meet the men's clubs and other organizations, laying before them the different clauses of the memorial, not appealing for financial assistance, but explaining the details of the undertaking. The total amount raised by the Chapters in the past year, $9163.03; previously contributed $12,086.68, making a grand total to date of $21,249.71. Thus it will be seen we have not reached half our objective, which was $50,000.00 for this Province.

"I had hoped to be able to report on the meeting at least half of the amount we have set out to obtain, but this has not been possible. However, there seems every reason to believe this may yet be accomplished before the end of May, thus enabling Miss Laing to report a much larger amount for B. C. at the national meeting. Plans have been made by many chapters in the Province to commemorate the twenty-first birthday of the Order, and as the proceeds are to be devoted to the fund, we may yet reach the $25,000 mark by that time.

"Chapters not already making this special effort to announce the night of that date are urged to do so. I sincerely hope that in our new year this work will be taken up by all chapters with added vigor and interest, and that we shall have reached the full amount we set out to raise, ere another annual meeting opens."

COURT DEFIES ALL LEGAL PRECEDENTS; AMUSING MOCK TRIAL

The mock lawsuit given in the Metropolitan Church by the Young People's Forum, Monday night, was a wonderful success. When one listened to the eloquent pleadings and rigid cross-examinations executed by the attorneys, it was difficult to believe that such ability had not a more important ultimatum than that of a mock lawsuit.

There was an amusing silence as the chief justice, Dr. Sippel, entered the court, and the usher, E. Andrews, called order in the court room. Then the clerk of the court, J. Stewart, read out the charge, and the trial proceeded. As the witnesses were called they most solemnly promised to "adhere to the truth, but the truth unless they so desired."

The plaintiffs, members of the board of the Metropolitan Church, represented by A. Lee, claimed $11,125 in damages on account of a libelous report in The Daily, December 7, 1916, in connection with the oratorio "Elijah" rendered by the choir. The libelous report was such that it behooved the respective counsels to exert every effort in defence of their cause.

The counsel for the plaintiff, his dignity being greatly accentuated by a monocle, produced several witnesses to prove that the oratorio was a musical treat produced by real artists. Mrs. Downard, Mrs. Morfon and Mrs. Parsons, accompanied by Mr. Parsons sang before the Chief Justice, thus proving their ability. These living specimens were catalogued and retained by the court for future reference.

The counsel for the defendant was a Portia for behold a Dandel had come to judgment in the case of Arthur Wild. He produced several witnesses, all of whom, under strict cross-examination asserted that there was no logical ground for claiming such damages. One of the witnesses, Mr. Lee, appeared in the witness box, he showed to the court how one copy of a burlesque written by him on hand by mistake got out; Mr. Lee had got this one and only copy.

J. O. Dunford, witness for the defence, sang an impromptu song, testifying to the success of the counsel for the defence. This proved quite a novelty in court and produced applause from the spectators.

After both counsels had reviewed their respective appeals, the chief justice pronounced judgment awarding the sum of $115 to the plaintiffs on the ground that one copy of the libelous report was issued and made public, for one man represented the public. This seemed to be satisfactory. Both counsels, however, claimed the costs, but chief justice settled this by declaring that the costs should be collected from the spectators, each counsel taking what they could collect.

The Young People's Forum are to be congratulated on the success of their effort, as it was very much enjoyed by those gathered.

WOMEN RELUCTANT TO ENTER POLITICS

London, April 22.—Several of the women's societies here have difficulty in getting women to stand as parliamentary candidates.

"There is a shortage of suitable women," Miss Low, a secretary of the joint committee for securing the election of women to parliament, said yesterday.

"We are searching the country for women who are sound feminists and who have experience in political work. The number is not very large, but we have on our list several excellent women. We put them in touch with political parties likely to support them.

A woman official of the Labor party said that there were some very suitable women candidates, but she thinks there is still some prejudice against the idea of women in parliament.

"Many women who have done good public work, do not want to stand for parliament," she said. "In a matter such as this we are bound to develop slowly."

Is Honored by Provincial I. O. D. E.

MRS. E. S. HASSELL, OF VICTORIA.

Mrs. Hasell was signally honored on her retirement from active office in the Provincial Chapter, I. O. D. E., on Wednesday, by being unanimously elected honorary vice-president for B. C. in recognition of her devoted services to the Order. Mrs. Hasell has been one of the most loyal members of the Order, working indefatigably since its inception in this city and giving many years of patient effort in the capacity of provincial secretary, and more recently as provincial vice-president.

Five Soloists With Philharmonic Orchestra

Five eminent soloists are accompanying the Philharmonic Orchestra of Los Angeles on its annual Spring tour; they are Richard Buhlig, pianist, Sylvain Noack, violinist, Ilya Bronson, cellist, Alred Kastner, harpist, and last, but not foremost, Madame Elizabeth Rothwell, operatic star of international eminence, a concert artist whose lovely soprano, crowds houses on the Atlantic as on the Pacific side of the country.

When the Los Angeles Philharmonic gives its only concert here, at the Royal Victoria Theatre, Friday May 6, our music lovers will have the unique opportunity of hearing Mrs. Rothwell under the magnetic baton of her husband conductor, Walter Rothwell. It is a unique combination, as both artists have been acclaimed a leading member of the music vanguard in Europe and America.

Has Remarkable Career.

Madame Rothwell to-day is one of the most interesting artists. Even as a young girl she achieved distinction and success through lovely material of natural beauty and superb technique, when other singers are still in their artistic teens. Her operatic creations at European opera houses were classic as to the minute detail prescribed by the composer, yet had all the elan and virility of the modern singer. It was this wonderful double faculty, enhanced by a voice of sweetness and volume, which won her the place of prima donna soprano. In the Savage Opera Company, which toured with "Mme. Butterfly," Elizabeth Rothwell in the title-part, the States and Canada for two years. Mme. Rothwell was also slated to sing this and other roles with the famous Chicago Opera Company, but was prevented from fulfilling the engagement as Conductor Rothwell was called to Los Angeles two years ago to organize the Philharmonic Orchestra, an organization now equal to the leading orchestras of the East. Mme. Rothwell owes much of her remarkable tone production to her master-teacher Jean de Reszke, with whom she studied in Paris, and counted her among his favorite pupils. It was also through De Reszke that a debut at the Paris was arranged, but fate-willed otherwise, as she merged her life more completely into that of her artist-husband.

A Generous Benefactor.

Thanks to her operatic experience Mme. Rothwell eminently fitted for appearances with orchestras. This instrumental body in turn has achieved fame not only through its exceptional tonal blending, but on account of its finesse in accompaniments. This may be accounted for by the fact that unlike other orchestras many of the instrumentalists have been enticed to join the ranks of this orchestra through playing before its principal positions. This led to a subtleness of technical execution which is unsurpassed. An arrangement of this nature was made possible, however, only through the extraordinary munificence of W. A. Clark, Jr., the generous music lover and philanthropist who has authorized the orchestra. It is willingly acknowledged by New York conductors that in this way Los Angeles has stolen the musical thunder of the East.

Mrs. Robinson had cautioned her six-year-old daughter repeatedly not to handle any object that might contain germs. One day the little girl came in and said:

"Mother, I am never going to play with my puppy any more, because he has germs on him."

"Oh, no!" replied her mother. "There are no germs on your puppy."

"Yes, there are," insisted the child. "I saw one hop."

Mountain-Forest and Stream Beckons Mother Out

"Has she the Time?"

MOUNTAIN, forest, stream! Austere, snow-capped peaks, refulgent in the setting sun; rank upon rank of lofty giants, their tall heads pointing to the sky; cool, swiftly-flowing streams, clear as crystal—what pictures are called to mind by these three short words, "mountain, forest stream!" No wonder they beckon Mother to leave her hot kitchen. Who would care these bright days of Spring or in the warmer days of Summer to do needless tasks like baking? Let Shelly's 4-X BREAD help to give Mother time to get outdoors more. Shelly's 4-X BREAD can be delivered to her daily—sweet, fresh and light, close-textured, full-bodied, golden brown.

SALVATION ARMY'S APPEAL SHORTLY

How Generous Subscribers' Money Will Be Divided

Elections, administration, taxes, things which interest every member of the community, to which he gives his time, his support, his money, all have but one purpose—to make this a better place to live in.

While every responsible citizen makes it his constant duty to see that the men elected to do this are doing their duty faithfully and efficiently, there is another organization, intent upon all the neglected, forgotten, unknown phases of social life passed by the administration, whose efficiency and faithfulness in its aim to make this a better place to live in is never questioned.

That organization is the Salvation Army. Not a destitute man or woman, not a friendless person, not a weak or unfortunate member of the community in need is refused aid to the fullest by the Salvation Army.

The Army's ideals work every day, while people sleep, the tremendous work of the Salvation Army among the needy and the friendless goes on, unheralded, unnoticed by the majority until one of the multitudinous phases of it comes close to an individual observer. The Army is following the highest ideals of humanity as practiced by the best of the world's religions and the best of the world's people.

Its work never stops. There is never a moment of day or night when somewhere in this community one of the tireless band of Salvation Army workers is not engaged upon some labor of mercy.

Yet while its work never stops, it is only once each year that the Army asks the community to pause for a moment to share in its great endeavor. Then it asks it to pause for the time necessary to contribute a sum, great or small, according to its ability, so that it may carry on.

The Self-Denial Effort
The week of April 29 to May 7 has been chosen this year for the Salvation Army's plea to the community in behalf of those of the community which it seeks to aid. The Army's great work, which covers every corner of the globe, is supported entirely by voluntary contributions.

In past years, the Army's appeal to Western Canada never has been ignored. Canadians, realizing the positive value of this untiring agency which has done so much for the poor, have responded to it with a generosity which has made it possible for the Army to do its work in a more effective manner than in any other part of the world. It is this generous response which has made it possible for the Army to do its work in a more effective manner than in any other part of the world.

Work in Western Canada
A glimpse of the tremendous ramifications of the Army's work in Western Canada may be gained from a brief summary of some of its major activities.

The Army has four rescue homes in Western Canada, through which 471 girls passed last year. It has four children's homes, accommodating 225, in which 470 waifs were cared for last year.

In three maternity hospitals, 2,920 patients were cared for last year. The Army has a Girl's Industrial Home where delinquent girls are sent by the police magistrates instead of to the penitentiary, thus saving them from the stigma of a prison sentence and giving them a chance to make good.

The Army operates young women's boarding homes, where working girls may find good, home-like accommodation at small cost.

The Army's prison activities last year included 487 meetings with prisoners, 1,517 prisoners personally interviewed, 249 met on discharge and assisted to find employment.

Eighty-four police bureaus are operated in Western Canada, through which 1,550 positions were obtained for the jobless last year.

The Army operates a working-men's hostel, accommodating 512, where poor men find clean beds and wholesome surroundings at low prices.

Winter Relief
The winter relief branch of the Army is one of its most important activities, and covers a range as broad as any person's needs. Clothing, food, fuel, medicine are provided for anyone who is needy.

A missing friends' bureau locates scores of persons every year for anxious relatives or friends.

A training college is conducted in Winnipeg, where fifty young men and women are now being trained for Salvation Army service.

In Western Canada are 124 corps and outposts, where meetings in open-air and indoors are held regularly. These are the centres of many constructive activities, such as the League of Mercy, Life-Saving Scouts and Guards, Young People's League, Sunday Schools, Corps Cadets, Home Leagues, Bands, Songster Brigades and so forth.

WHAT HE PRAYED FOR.
The pastor was interrogating the pride of the family.

"And do you always say your prayers before you go to bed?"
"Yes, sir," replied Johnnie.

"And what are the things you pray for?" pursued the good man.

"Well," responded Johnnie, thoughtfully, "mostly that pa won't find out what I've been doin' during the day!"

WIDOW OF BISHOP ON PIONEER DAYS

Mrs. Sillitoe Describes Early Adventures En Tour

"The present generation know little of the early days of the Anglican church in British Columbia forty years ago," declared Mrs. Sillitoe, wife of a former Bishop of New Westminster, in her interesting lecture on that subject in St. Paul's schoolroom, Vancouver. Those who heard the lecture became more and more convinced as it progressed that the life of a pioneer bishop and his wife—who accompanied him on all his journeys, long and short, was one of the hardest and most uncomfortable imaginable.

In this case truth outdoes fiction, for imagination would hardly picture a bishop and his wife when asleep in their tent being stampeded by a band of wild horses. But for the fact that the moon suddenly shone out from among the clouds, giving light to the scene, the consequences would have been terrible, with horses dashing in the tent and becoming tangled in its supporting ropes.

Another time it was necessary to spend the night unprepared with warm wraps, in a small open boat on Okanagan Lake, as it was too stormy to land. Driving through burning forests, dashing over smoldering bridges with hot ashes underfoot, and travelling on a handcar along a track where any moment an express train might dash in sight—these were some of the experiences which British Columbia offered to Bishop Sillitoe and his devoted wife in their efforts to carry the gospel message throughout the length and breadth of a huge diocese.

Formed in 1859
It was the gold rush of fifty years ago that led to the Diocese of British Columbia being formed, which was endowed by Miss Burdett-Coutts, in November, 1859. Bishop Hills left England to take charge of it, but found it necessary to divide the territory into three, retaining for himself Vancouver Island, which kept the name of the Diocese of British Columbia. On All Saints' Day, 1833, Bishop of New Westminster Diocese, and with his wife he sailed in April, 1839 to his new charge by way of San Francisco.

At St. Saviour's Church, Barkerville, the miners crowded to hear the first service held in years, and thoroughly enjoyed the singing. "The two women who were in charge of the collection were indignant to find that someone had only contributed 25 cents, then the smallest coin used in the territory.

"I'm afraid I was the one who put it in," confessed Mrs. Sillitoe.

Three Coins
Bishop Sillitoe, who was extremely musical, and could play any instrument, got up a concert, and Mrs. Sillitoe was the prima donna, she said. After she had sung she heard a tap on the floor, and saw a fifty-cent piece there, then another and another, until the total, which was the miners' way of offering a bouquet, came to $15, and this was added to the fund, so that the result of that visit was that a clergyman could be sent out to take charge there.

The Kootenay country only began to develop about ten years after we came out, said the speaker, who amusingly recalled a stopping-place in Nelson with the imposing title of Kootenay Hotel, which being built almost overnight of green timber, had shrunk under the sun's rays, and there were cracks from one-half to two inches wide.

"The privacy of one's bedroom was nominal," Mrs. Sillitoe said, and continued, "one could see into the next room, and through that again into the one beyond, while a view of the dining room could be had through cracks in the floor." Nelson in those days was by far the roughest place they found in the province, the trail was tougher, and the horses were even more so.

Dean Quinlan Returns.—After conducting a series of special services this week in St. Paul's Church, Nanaimo, Very Rev. C. S. Quinlan, Dean of Columbia, returned to Victoria yesterday evening, and will preach at the morning and evening services in Christ Church Cathedral to-morrow at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.

CHURCHES MISSION ONE OF SOCIAL IMPORT

"The Church and Social Unrest" was the subject of a very interesting and instructive address given this week before a meeting of the Brotherhood of the Olivet Baptist Church, New Westminster, by Dr. Theodore Boggs, of the University of British Columbia. He referred to the large place the church held in the life of the people in past centuries as compared to the present day. This was due, Dr. Boggs stated, to changed conditions brought about partly by the church itself. In the past the church sought to minister to the individual rather than the individual in relation to society; to be satisfied with making good men rather than properly relating good men to each other. As the world of human life has changed from being a mere collection of practically independent personal units to a society where each unit is dependent upon all other units, and where each person finds his life in relation with his fellow-men, the church, more than it has ever done in the past, ought to bring about the best relations possible between the individuals and the various classes in society. This it can do, Dr. Boggs said, without becoming a technical expert in economics and politics.

RECITAL TO-MORROW.

Many are looking forward to the monthly recital to be given in Christ Church Cathedral to-morrow evening, when the programme to be presented will prove one of the best of this season's series. Miss Mary Izard, the ever popular violinist, has been engaged to play two numbers, which in itself will assure a full attendance, and the vocal items will include some beautiful settings, as well as a solo by Mr. Maurice Thomas.

BULB SHOW AT COLWOOD

Women's Institutes of District Staged Successful Exhibition on Wednesday.

A very successful bulb show was held in the Luxton Hall in conjunction with the regular monthly meeting of the Colwood and Luxton Women's Institute on Wednesday last. There was a large attendance of members and friends who greatly enjoyed the very excellent display of flowers which were tastefully arranged on tables in the centre of the hall, and which gave evidence of the great care and attention given to them by the exhibitors, also the adaptability of the soils of this section to bulb culture.

The prize winners in the various classes were as follows:
Tulips—1st, Miss Gawley; 2nd, Mrs. Parker.
Daffodils—1st, Mrs. Masters; 2nd, Miss Gawley.
Hyacinths—1st, Mrs. Baker; 2nd, Mrs. Parker. Best collection: 1st, Mrs. Parker; 2nd, Miss Gawley.
Narcissus—1st, Mrs. Parker; 2nd, Mrs. Pearson.

Professor Stevenson, the head of the Dominion Experimental Station at Sidney, gave a most interesting address on bulbs and small fruits, and was kept busy answering the many questions, which showed the interest taken in this address by those present. The professor also exhibited a complete collection of flowers arranged for shipment and carefully explained the best methods of packing flowers for distant markets.

CHURCH WHERE GREATEST ENGLISHMAN IS BURIED

William Shakespeare, one of the five men, to whose influence the literature of the world has been most largely devoted, and who himself has taken the first place in the literature of the Anglo-Saxon races, died 305 years ago to-day at Stratford-on-Avon, England, where he was buried in the Trinity Parish Church.

PASSOVER FESTIVAL BEGAN YESTERDAY

Great Jewish Festival of Liberty Marks Release From Egypt

Passover, the Jewish festival of liberty, known in Hebrew as "Pesach," began this year last evening. The concluding day of the celebration will be held on Saturday, April 30, among families adhering strictly to traditional regulations, while more liberal Jews conclude the Passover Week on Friday, April 29.

Passover in the light of its origin was an agricultural feast, but at a later period became disassociated in part from its primitive nature—worship ceremonialism—and was identified with an epochal historical circumstance, which invested the festival with a new and highly significant spiritual message.

The Exodus
Associated as the Passover is with the exodus of the Children of Israel from Egypt recalls the many miracles which were wrought in their behalf by the never-slumbering Guardian and Keeper of Israel. The delivery of the Hebrews from Egypt from bondage and darkness and gave them instead freedom and light. The memory of the enslavement of Israel is revived in the Passover festival, where the kindred of Joseph were degraded to slave-labor in the very country upon which their illustrious ancestor had showered rich blessings. Their enslavement of body likewise afflicted their souls. They sank into the grievous thralldom of despair.

The deliverance of the Children of Israel from Egypt and the assurance that their supplications had been heard on High and their chains of bondage broken by the God of their fathers. The memory of this redemption is revived in the Passover festival, where it is utilized as a symbol of a freedom more embracing than the escape of the Children of Israel from Egypt and oppression. It becomes at the same time a token of humanity's final triumph over all oppressors, tyrants and bigots.

The Unleavened Bread

During the Passover Week, Jewish families eat Matzo, the unleavened bread, which is one of the several symbols used in the observance of the festival to bring home the recollection of the haste with which the Israelites fled from Egypt and the triumph of humanity from the tyranny of injustice and iniquity.

The festival beginning on the evening of the Children of Israel from Egypt is known as the Seder, and inaugurates the Passover celebration. This service is a beautiful home ceremony, in which all members of the family participate.

The special ritual used for this Seder service is called the "Hagadah," and recites the events of the Exodus by means of songs and stories, that awaken within the soul of old and young a love of liberty and strengthens the faith of the present generation in the priestly mission of Israel in the world.

Springed in a spirit of gladness, this Seder festival of liberty has inspired the Jew to trust in the eventual reign of righteousness. For this reign of righteousness the Jew believes himself to have been appointed to prepare as the final goal of all mankind.

Bishop of St. Matthias.—The Bishop of Columbia, Right Rev. C. D. Schofield, will conduct the morning service in St. Matthias's Mission Church, Fort Bay, to-morrow at 11 o'clock. The preacher at the 7 o'clock service to-morrow evening will be Rev. F. E. Fatt.

Parish Guild Sale.—The Women's Parish Guild of Christ Church Cathedral have arranged a "white elephant" and rummage sale to take place next Wednesday in the Cathedral schoolroom, commencing at 10.30 a. m. The proceeds of the sale will be devoted to the purchase of chairs and other furniture needed to equip the former residence of the Bishop for Sunday school and other parish purposes.

THE CURATE BLUSHED.

The squire's pretty daughter was examining the village school children. "Now, children, can you tell me what a miracle is?"

"The children looked at one another, but remained silent."
"Can no one answer this question?" asked the new curate, who was standing behind the squire's daughter.

"A little girl was suddenly struck with a brilliant idea. She held up her hand excitedly."
"Well, Jessie," asked the squire's daughter, smiling approval.

"Please, miss," the child replied, breathlessly, "mother says 'twill be a miracle if you don't marry the new curate.'"—Tit-Bits.

DIRECTOR OF FLYING ARRIVES ON VISIT

Col. R. Leckie Here in Government Air Station Flying Boat

Col. Robert Leckie, director of flying operations for the Canadian Air Board, with Major C. MacLaurin, superintendent of the Jericho Boat Air Station, and Mr. Kelly, landed in a Government flying boat at Esquimalt shortly before noon today.

Col. Leckie, interviewed in Vancouver, stated he was on a tour of inspection of Government air stations throughout the Dominion, and has already inspected the B. C. Air Station at Jericho Beach.

"During my trip across Canada," stated Col. Leckie, "I observed that more than ever, aviation is being put on a sound basis. The business man is coming to recognize flying as an essential from a commercial standpoint. The joy-riding craze is ceasing to stare at airplanes, but are recognizing them as a means of transportation as natural, and almost as commonplace as wagons, street cars and taxis."

HOW RHEUMATISM CAN BE OVERCOME

Not by Rubbing, but by Enriching the Blood.

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with acid impurities, thus setting up inflammation in the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather may start the tortures of rheumatism, but it is not the cause. The cause is in the blood. Victims of this malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints, followed by sharp pains through the flesh, and muscles that are the only outlet of poison in the blood, which will shortly leave the victim pain-racked and helpless.

WHAT THE CLUBS ARE DOING

Rotary Club at Rupert. A Rotary Club has been formed in Rupert, officers elected, by-laws adopted and all arrangements made for carrying out the principles of Rotary somewhat similar to other cities. At the request of several local men a special representative of the district governor was sent from Vancouver to organize the club which is affiliated with other similar organizations. Oscar A. Olson was the representative. The organization took place at a dinner given in the clubroom of the St. Regis Cafe. There were fifteen members present, and all joined the new club, forming a nucleus on which to build.

Government Expert Tells of Ages of World and How Rocks Record Progress

How plant life went through stages of evolution on this earth as did animal life from the single cell to man and how all this story is told in the rocks of the earth, was dealt with last night by William M. Brewer, resident mining engineer for Vancouver Island, in his lecture at Belmont House.

Mr. Brewer has been lecturing under the scheme of the Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, to popularize the knowledge of geology and ores and in this way stimulate interest in prospecting and open up the mineral wealth of the Province.

"Sedimentary or stratified rocks differ in point of age," said Mr. Brewer. "They have been continuously deposited during millions of years. At many places they are several miles in actual thickness. By study of the fossil, remains or impressions of plants and animals contained in the sedimentary rocks a good idea of the age and history of the world has been obtained."

"The beginning of life is not well understood. The oldest rocks show no traces of life owing to such if there were any being obliterated by metamorphism. In the first good record found by geologists there were already mollusks (resembling the oyster, clam, snail and cuttle fish), crustaceans (having a body in two parts, the front consisting of a head and thorax, the hinder part the abdomen), crabs, lobsters and shrimps as well as plants and animals. The fishes came in and then reptiles, still later mammals, and finally the highest type of mammals—Man."

"In the plant world there was a like gradual development. The science of geology is comparatively new. The study of geology enables us to go back and explain the great changes that have taken place in the distribution of land in past ages and the cause of these changes; explains why some districts are rugged and mountainous and others are level and undulating; explains why some sections are rich in minerals while others are comparatively destitute; and throws light on the present distribution of vegetable and animal life."

Divided into Ages.
"Geologists by close study and comparison of the various fossils found in the sedimentary rocks have been able to establish a series of the various ages or periods in which the different strata were deposited. These geologic periods are named, often being called after the places where the first fossils of a particular species were found. Thus we have the Jurassic period, named from the Jura mountains (part of the Alps), Cambrian from Cambria, Wales. Later when similar fossils were found in other parts of the world, the names first applied were continued to the present day."

"The classification of the geologic periods represents a more or less arbitrary system. There are no sharp lines, but a gradual passage from one period to another. The oldest or most ancient is mentioned first."

Evergreen Trees and More Fish.
"The Devonian rocks contain seaweeds, ferns and conifers include most of the evergreen trees. Many species and corals. Fish are often found belonging to the shark and other classes. The Devonian has been called the Age of Fishes."

"The Carboniferous period marked by an abundance of vegetation remains we find as coal or as fossils in the rocks. Animals of great abundance of crinoids or sea lilies, besides fishes, remains of amphibians occur (produce their young in egg form). When young they breathe by gills, and afterwards by lungs alone. Examples are frogs and salamanders. On the land were insects (cockroaches), spiders, centipedes and true reptiles, snakes, saurians (varying in length from a few inches to fifty feet) and turtles."

"The Triassic, Jurassic and Cretaceous periods. The Age of Reptiles, the first mammals, the first of the common or osseous fishes (membranous scales), not known among fossils until middle mesozoic.

"Cretaceous rocks contain plants with bark, embracing oak, willow, maple. Smaller marine animals contributed shells in variety and profusion, most of which beds: Sponges and corals, oyster, fishes, reptiles and some birds."

Mammals in Late Ages.
"Cenozoic—Tertiary is the Age of Mammals, but most of species now extinct. Plants belonging to species of oak, maple, dogwood, magnolia fig, palm. Crocodiles, snakes, also a now extinct species of elephant, tapir, rhinoceros, Quaternary, the Age of Man. The Glacier Period, great mammals of species now extinct."

"Succession of geologic period seldom shown in the sedimentary rocks of a given district. Tertiary beds may rest upon those of Cambrian Age, or Quaternary upon Archaean."

"In a certain part of the earth's surface there may have been no sediments during a certain age or ages. If in the region of a land area during this period this would be the case."

SAVED FROM LIFELONG MISERY

And a Dangerous Operation, by Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MRS. M. J. GORSE

3222 Union St., Vancouver, B. C.
"I suffered with all the symptoms of Female Trouble, with chronic Constipation and constant Headaches. I had pains low down in the back and sides of the body. I tried various remedies without relief, and then put myself under a doctor's care and he advised me to have an operation. I refused."

Then, I started taking 'Fruit-a-tives', and from the outset, I felt better, and this medicine has completely relieved me of all my misery and suffering. My weight was only 143 pounds and now it is 168 pounds. I am free of pain and headaches and the terrible Constipation; and what saved me from misery is the splendid fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives'."

Chief Divisions
"The chief divisions, beginning with the oldest, are:

"Archaean.—No fossils. No known life.
"Paleozoic.—Cambrian, Silurian, Devonian, Carboniferous, Permian, Triassic, Jurassic, Cretaceous. Each marked by characteristic fossils.
"Cenozoic.—Tertiary, Quaternary.

"The Archaean rocks are usually metamorphic. They may be gneisses and schists or massive crystalline rocks like granites.
"Early Fish Appear
"The Cambrian rocks contain trilobites (jointed) bodies, with crust-like exterior, worm tracks, some remains of fossil sponges, crinoids (animals like an inverted star-fish, standing on a stem like a flower) also trace of sea weed."

"The Silurian rocks contain impressions of sea weeds; some terrestrial plants; and in the present day; many crustaceans (having body in two parts, the front consisting of a head and thorax, the hinder part of the abdomen), crabs, lobsters, shrimps, are examples; worms, many mollusks, also many crinoids and corals. The earliest fish also occur."

"The Devonian rocks contain seaweeds, ferns and conifers include most of the evergreen trees. Many species and corals. Fish are often found belonging to the shark and other classes. The Devonian has been called the Age of Fishes."

"The Carboniferous period marked by an abundance of vegetation remains we find as coal or as fossils in the rocks. It is stated that the removal of the medical facilities at Esquimalt Military Hospital is now causing the former patients considerable trouble and annoyance.
