Thirty Mile Scenic Electric Car Ride

San Jose, the California Garden scene,
 In the Santa Clara Valley serene,
 That tourists have passed and few have seen

From the Southern Pacific depot, where one of the big arteries of the nation pulsates, with its eighteen thousand miles of owned and controlled railroad; moving gently up Market street, on your left is the Hall of Justice, Hall of Records, and Court House, where lawyers juggle with justice and injustice, and deeds of reality and deeds of Saturn are recorded. Passing under the electric tower that throws a gleam of light far away over the valley at night, that guides the lost pleasure-seekers homeward. The stately building on your left is St. Joseph's Cathedral, where the Fathers gather their flocks and banish their sins. The artistic stone building across the street is the Post Office, where letters of love and letters of business are received and distributed over the broad realms of all lands. The large brick structure in the park is the City Hall, where the Mayor and Council honestly deal with vice and finance. Gently rounding the corner toward the sunset, gliding by blocks of happy homes, crossing the bridge, moving out to the city limits, and here on your left is one of the big fruit canneries of the world. Swiftly moving past the O'Connor Sanitarium, where the wisdom of the millionaire philanthropist is so grandly displayed, now rapidly going West, getting glimpses of beautiful residences, blooming orchard farms, villa lots, town sites, all surrounded by sweet flowering trees. Traveling rapidly on through solid banks of fruit blossoms, outstretched far away to the hills in the distance; now turning on the wide Saratoga avenue at Meridian Corners, to the left, and on through fragrant scenery, wherever you look, swiftly gliding past the car window in all its loveliness from valley to mountain top, showing real scenes and live blooming views of the wonderful panorama in the Santa Clara Valley. On your left is the Sorosis Fruit Drier, and back of this is the celebrated Quito Olive Oil Works and Orchard.

Now up the grade at lightning speed, our eyes are strained to see and not miss any of the passing panoramic views for "a thing of beauty is a joy forever." Up at your right is low, green, dimpling hills, above is higher, dark timbered bluffs and peaks; beyond with a few ancient redwoods, like sentinels standing there through ages of storm and sunshine, before the Babe and Savior was found in the manger. Rapidly being vaulted up the grade, by the power house on your right, where the supple, spirit-like power so little understood by those who ride at lightning speed, is dealt out at the will and touch of the electrician's wand. Now viewing Saratoga, the "Queen City" by the mountains, with her crown of violets blue and acacia blossoms of gold, and dress trailed in roses and lilies and ferns and palms, with wild flowers far and away to the crest by the ocean, where stands the giant redwood. Now gliding up the canyon to the Springs, crossing and re-crossing the roaring, silvery stream, winding and crooked, shaded by the big, tall powder alders and mountain laurel, and dark, bluffly timbered hills, up to the hotel and paradise resort above. On foot through the lattice bower, up the trail in the canyon to the famed Congress Springs; and here was once the home of the vicious wild cat, the savage grizzly bear, the lion, panther and cunning fox, who roamed at will, watching their prey—the fleeing deer, the startled rabbit, and mother quail—and above on the crest by the sea the eagle resting on the ancient trees, after its piercing flight.

Returning down the canyon and on to Los Gatos, up the mountain to your right on the dome-shaped hill and lone tree on the mount where Mrs. John Brown once lived, widow of old Osawatomie John Brown of Kansas fame, and both their souls are now marching on. And here along on these hillside homes the sweet breathy fumes from the blossoming landscape below rises like silvery mists, to charm these embowered lovely spots that seem a paradise on earth. On your left is the "Three Oaks" way where Rev. E. S. Williams lives, enjoying his great wealth of Spiritual treasures. After traveling in Foreign countries as a missionary and minister, spying out the love spots on earth, he is a multi-millionaire in climate, in scenery, in pure air and pure water, peace and happiness. Here at this point on your electric car ride the scenery is grander and more charming than any other spot in America. Your soul will fairly commune with blossoming nature, greeting you with all its springtime loveliness. The wonderful Colorado Canyon with all its grandeur is a dead waste of destruction, tinted with the fumes of toft, in comparison with this beautiful landscape, with its ensouled blossoming life and the charm of God's lovely sweetness of nature, scattered everywhere, the fragrance and beauty of 5,879,407 fruit bearing trees mostly in view, with varying shades of bloom as the sun's gleams mingle with the mists rising in splendor from the sunlit smiling hills and hill tops, and the scenery growing grander as you look far away over the valleys and hills and streams, to the Lick Observatory and the mountains by the sea and bay, leading fifty miles away to the Golden Gate. As we swiftly ride over hill and dale and silvery rills to Los Gatos, looking to our right with delight at the yellow tinted sunlit hills, to mountain farms, vineyards and orchards and embowered homes; and to our left over the long reach of blossoming life and new-born leaves, brilliant with the sun's rays far and away in all directions, surely lovers of nature will be charmed with the wonderful views of tree life, that this valley is alive in blossom time with God's beautifying handiwork, that puts in the shade all structural work of man.

Now we come to Los Gatos, the "Gem City" (surely it is a sparkling gem, set in the bosom of mother Santa Clara), on the border of the flowering valley below, with its green verdure, terraced homes and hills above a thousand changing shades of green, with its modern buildings and rich surroundings beaming in the sunlight. Now crossing the branch of the Southern Pacific Railroad that leads over the mountains to the big trees near the sea at Santa Cruz, on we move through the city, over the finest stone bridge in the State, spanning the river of sparkling water that flows from mountains way above. Gently climbing the grade, seeing new beauties at every turn, as we roll on in splendor from the beauty of the hills behind us toward Campbell, we receive new inspiration and more charming panoramic views. Rapidly passing the car window, like a fleeting fairy land, swiftly on as we ride in ecstasies of delight, passing the reservoir of cooling water and many beautiful homes of white blossoming orchards; now crossing the river on the long bridge above the dam and water falls near Campbell, the "Orchard City"—rising star of destiny—that charms us by the loveliness of its surrounding scenes. And here on this crown the fragrance from the dew-dipped petals is wafted by the warmth of the morning sun over this flower-bedecked town. Passing by the big Ainsley fruit cannery on your left, crossing the bridge and on through the rich orchard district, fine residences rich in location, where all the comforts of life abound. Passing returning cars, swiftly we move on through the "Willows," a place where they roll in wealth and roses and lilies and sweet scented flowers. Nearing San Jose, the "Garden City," in the lap of mother Santa Clara, now being nursed into fame, and her sons and daughters made wise at the Stanford University, and see the beauties of heaven and earth through the great Lick Observatory—both institutions within the border of Santa Clara County.

Looking back in our mind's eye over the scenic ride we are delighted and ecstasies of pleasure tingle our soul at the thought of the scenes, and all this lovely ride made more enjoyable by the courtesy of conductors and the skill of motormen handling the supple, cunning power—electricity. Now, returning to the place from whence we came, having enjoyed the most beautiful scenic ride to be had on the continent, here where beauty, power and fame are entwined, fame of its observatory, power of its university, and beauty of the flowering landscape of Santa Clara County, California.

STILLMAN AUGUSTUS MOULTON.

VOTE for the bonds on August 3rd.

REMEMBER that on next Friday—August 3rd—will occur the $300,000.00 bond election for the securing of funds for the repair of the county buildings. As a direct tax would be very burdensome it is the utmost importance that the bonds carry. Vote yes.

As the character of the county conventions is determined by the class of men elected at the primaries, it behooves the citizens of this and every other community of the county to see that none but the best men are elected. The caucus is the place where the nominations are made—or should be, instead of by a few interested parties—and therefore the caucuses held by the respective political parties should be well attended, otherwise don't complain if the county and State conventions prove to be not to your liking.

Very Wealthy Men Consider Themselves as Being Apart From the People

By Rev. Dr. S. P. CADMAN, Brooklyn, N. Y.

THESE is a natural tendency among men of great wealth to ossify. They regard themselves as apart from the people, as great and afar off, and hold themselves as immune not only from the opinions of their fellows, but FROM THE OPERATIONS OF THE LAWS that have been formulated for the protection of all. That is the result with all men who toady to money or who belong to the aristocracy that depends not upon birth, culture or attainment, but upon the possession of vast sums of MONEY.

One of the greatest curses with which we have to contend arises from the adulation of any particular class that leads us to forget equality. I was riding down the street the other day when my companion leaned out of the cab window and pointed to a man.

"There is the great financier So-and-so," he said.

I replied, "I don't care to look at him; in fact, I'd much rather see an honest workingman."

The TRUE AMERICAN would as soon read the history of a goodly washerwoman as that of the greatest society leader that ever lived. Franklin never asserted equality. He took it as HIS OWN NATURAL LIFE and said nothing about it.

IT WAS THE AVERAGE MAN FROM WHOM FRANKLIN CAME. HE COULDN'T RISE, FOR HE NEVER HAD FALLEN, AND HE COULDN'T SINK BECAUSE THAT QUALITY WASN'T IN HIM.

Miss Adella Cook entertained her Sunday school class of girls at her home on the San Tomas road last Thursday afternoon, and a most enjoyable time was had.

George Whitney, John Evans, and Harlow Plimpton left on Thursday by train for a hunting and fishing trip in Shasta county. They are anticipating a royal time and many people in this territory have been promised generous pieces of venison. It is a delightful hunting spot that they are going to and here's hoping they strike it rich.

Dr. and Mrs. Hartman and Mr. and Mrs. Miracle arrived home safely from their trip to the Yosemite and though they didn't have as long a stay at the big park as they wished, yet a pleasant time was had. On account of the high waters in the San Joaquin valley they had to go about 100 miles out of their way—making 700 miles in all of travel. Four days is all the time allowed for stay at the Yosemite. They claim to have miraculously escaped a hold-up, a party whom they camped with the night before meeting that fate.

Orchard City Grange Meeting.

Orchard City Grange had an interesting meeting on Tuesday evening, when six candidates received the third and fourth degrees—Dr. and Mrs. Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Johnson, which was followed by a Harvest Feast, being greatly enjoyed by the very large number present.

The petition presented by the committee appointed for the purpose of seeing what could be done relative to the removal of the Hamilton Ave. Interurban switch showed a large number of signers and the petition to the Supervisors was endorsed and a committee consisting of Messrs. Allen, Snyder, Hall, Parso and Curry appointed to interview Lester brothers to see if land on the south of the track cannot be had for a switch. Also to see Dr. Sparks about proposition of having the avenue widened.

Dr. Cooper gave an interesting talk on the value of high schools, placing them above the universities and normals, if a course of study were introduced fitting the students for the duties of life, instead of a stepping stone to the university.

A vote of thanks was tendered Worthy Master H. A. Leigh of San Jose Grange for the agate given to this grange.

J. J. Cornell read the following letter from the District Attorney's office and moved that the grange endorse the bond proposition. It carried unanimously:

Address, INTERURBAN PRESS,
Campbell, Cal.

HALL OF JUSTICE, July 24, 1906.

J. J. CORNELL, Esq.,
Campbell, Cal.

MY DEAR SIR:—I have been requested to furnish you with a few facts in connection with the proposed issue of $300,000 of the county's bonds, the election for which takes place on the 3rd of the coming August.

First it must be conceded that immediate repairs and reconstruction of the county's buildings is a necessity that is imperative. The County Hospital is an utter ruin and must be rebuilt. The Court House, Hall of Records and Hall of Justice are all badly damaged and repairs are needed at the Almshouse.

All these buildings are in constant use and must be put in shape without delay. The Supervisors have been guided by the estimates of three experts who have examined the three buildings in San Jose and have reported as to the cost of their reconstruction. They have also had expert advice as to the cost of building and equipping the Hospital, and without going into detail, it is sufficient to say that all of the amount called for will be needed, and even then it will be necessary to be watchful and economical in the use of it.

If, however, it develops that the aggregate amount to be paid under the several contracts does not reach this amount, only so much of the bonds will be sold as will be needed to carry on the work.

This method of raising the money is beyond doubt the best and cheapest.

To levy a direct tax, which is the only alternative, would cause much hardship on the already overburdened taxpayers, whereas by this method the tax will be so low that it will not be felt even by the large taxpayer.

The assessed valuation of the county is some fifty-five million of dollars, and this valuation is increasing year by year. The bonds are to bear only four per cent interest and are to be paid at the rate of ten thousand dollars a year commencing in 1917. So for ten years all that will have to be paid will be twelve thousand dollars per year interest.

This will result in the ridiculously low rate of about two cents on the one hundred dollars of assessed valuation, and this rate will of course grow less and less as the valuation of the county increases, as it is bound to do. Even the large taxpayer who is assessed for ten thousand dollars worth of property will have to pay but two dollars per year.

After eleven years when the bonds commence to be paid off in yearly installments, the rate will be slightly increased, but with the natural growth of the county in the meantime the total tax to be paid at any time will never exceed three cents on the hundred dollars and may be much less.

This method also distributes the liability in such a way that the present generation will not be unreasonably burdened for improvements which are permanent and enduring and which will be of as much benefit to those that come hereafter as they will be to us.

As the work must be done and as a direct tax is out of the question it follows that the necessary money must be raised in the way suggested.

A full and fair discussion of the matter will convince any reasonable mind that this is the only way out of the difficulty.

Trusting that these suggestions will be of some help to you, I am,

Yours respectfully,
C. C. COOLIDGE.

PRESS NOTES

Miss Mary Fablinger was appointed by the school trustees as teacher of the primary grade.

Martin Baumgartner and family are attending a Seventh Day Adventist camp meeting at Oakland.

The editor acknowledges a nice box of peaches from our good Missouri Republican friend, C. J. Ringe. They were all right and next winter when green fruit is scarce, we'll take down a jar of the "show me" peaches. Thanks.

Democratic Caucus.

A meeting of the democrats of Campbell is hereby called to meet on Monday evening, August 30, at the INTERURBAN PRESS office, for the purpose of nominating delegates to the county convention, to be voted for at the coming primary election. Other matters of importance will come before the meeting, to which all democrats in this precinct are invited. ELGIN C. HURLBERT,
State Committeeman.

Campbell Left Off Time Table.

We have been wondering what the matter was with Campbell recently. Now we know; we're off the time table. 'Onest Injun. Picked up a S. P. time table this week and found that Campbell was not on the table. We didn't think, however, that the town had deteriorated so much in the eyes of the S. P. since we failed to incorporate that the railroad company had concluded to drop our town from the time table, as it did Alma. The station agent at Alma was also dispensed with for a time, we understand. Is it possible that the next move will be the dropping of Campbell from the railroad map and dispensing with Station Agent Berry? It may be only a mistake (we trust it is), but we suggest that there is something for the Commercial League to look into. It may be that it will be necessary to inject a little morphine into the arteries of our town in order to save it.

Bowel Complaint in Children.

During the summer months children are subject to disorders of the bowels which should receive careful attention as soon as the first unnatural looseness of the bowels appears. ## PEACHES BEING SHIPPED.

Quantities of This Luscious Fruit is Being Shipped.

A stream of wagons loaded with peaches are now seen lined up at the Campbell Fruit Growers' Union scales for shipment to the Oakland canneries. There will be a vast amount shipped away from here, which is an injury to the town in one way, in that the large amount of labor necessary to can this fruit is lost to the town.

At the present high prices of dried peaches as quoted in the East it appears to us that this would have been a good year to dry. Some, we notice, are doing so. But the canners seem to have the peaches about all contracted for and large quantities are being shipped.

As the J. C. Ainsley Packing Co. can handle but a part of the apricots and peaches being raised around here, why cannot our Commercial League take up the matter of inducing another cannery to locate here? If these outside canners can come here, buy the fruit and ship fifty miles in bulk, and then can same, why is it not a good proposition to do the work here, where fruit can be secured in better condition, and without the damage caused by so much handling necessary to get it to the distant canneries? The fruit cannot be left on the trees as long, either, therefore the grower loses in weight to some extent on account of the sugar put in the fruit by remaining on the trees a little longer.

It seems a pity that so much fruit has to be shipped away when by having it cured and canned here thousands of dollars additional would be paid to our own fruit workers, which in turn would find its way into the tills of our merchants and tradesmen. Our merchants are complaining of a dull summer—no money coming from the usual large number of fruit workers. True the growers are getting a good price and they will be benefitted to that extent, but if this town is to grow our people must learn the lesson that it cannot be done by sending their money away to help build up other places. This applies to all branches of business (including printing, if you please) and the one thing that is holding Campbell back more than any other thing is the lack of town spirit and town loyalty. So we say the Commercial League could do no better work than to secure additional fruit canning and preserving concerns to locate here. We have the fruit therefore let us get the necessary concerns to handle it and Campbell will forge ahead.

SCHOOL GARDENS.

PRACTICAL WORK IN HORTICULTURE
 IN WASHINGTON SCHOOLS.

One Hundred and Twenty of the 124 Graded Schools Have Practical Instruction in the Improvement of School Grounds and in School Gardens.

[Special Correspondence.]

The necessity of educating children in the cultivation of the soil has been apparent to the secretary of agriculture for a long time. He is untiring in his efforts to further it. Trained teachers are necessary to accomplish it, so with the hearty consent of the secretary Dr. B. T. Galloway, chief of the bureau of plant industry, has placed at the command of both the white and colored normal schools of the District of Columbia such facilities as are necessary to give an elementary training in horticulture and agriculture. By thus inspiring the young teachers its future in the education of the young is assured. During the last three years the work has grown from a greenhouse 9 by 16 feet and a strip of land for garden purposes 10 by 300 feet to a greenhouse 25 by 100 feet and a garden of an acre and a quarter. The department of agriculture furnishes the opportunity for the work and the schools the teachers. Two hundred and ten students are in the classes this year. Each one of these students is thus prepared to teach the subject in the city schools. During the fall the students propagate plants from cuttings for the winter schoolroom and the spring garden, plant bulbs outdoors and for winter forcing, collect garden and tree seeds.

During the winter by simple experiments that may be performed in any schoolroom the students learn of the kinds of soil, the water holding power of soils and means of altering such power, conservation of water and plant physiology.

As spring approaches experiments in germination seed testing and seed planting follow, as well as planning home gardens, gardens around school buildings and vacation gardens. At this season of the year, too, the work broadens. It leaves the confines of the normal schools and takes in all of the public schools in the city. Arrangements are made with one of the local seedsmen to sell penny packages of seed to the children for home planting. Many of the older teachers are not trained, so to aid them the board of education, through one of the normal schools, issues sheets of simple instructions to aid the children to correctly plan, plant and care for the home garden. They are encouraged to care for the garden during the summer and to bring something they have raised wholly by themselves to the flower show in the fall. It may be a growing plant, a bunch of flowers or a bottle of seed.

Flower day is an established feature of Washington schools. On the 29th of last September every school in the District of Columbia invited the public to its exhibit. All buildings were open until dark, and where the buildings were lighted they were open throughout the evening. The throngs of people who visited the schools gave sufficient proof of the appreciation of the public for the movement.

Civic improvement is thus encouraged and also by school ground improvement. Three years ago there was but one garden connected with schools in the District. Last year 120 of the 124 graded schools made an effort to improve their surroundings. The teachers are urged to relate whatever is done outdoors to the subjects taught in the schoolrooms. Skillful teachers relate geography, arithmetic, spelling, composition, literature, drawing and design to the garden.

The latest encouragement given by the department has been the offer to the board of education of more than an acre of lawn to be used for children's gardens. The board has accepted the offer and will put the first six grades of a school in the vicinity to work upon it. Each school will spend an afternoon a week in the garden under the regular grade teacher, who will be instructed from the normal school. She will be expected to relate the work closely to the regular schoolroom work.

The time spent in the garden will be a part of school time and not after hours, as has been so frequently done before, thus making an added burden on the teacher. Each child will have a plot entirely his own, varying in size according to his ability. Beside these individual plots there will be plots ten feet square of grains, forage crops and important local products for observation purposes.

The garden will be under the immediate care of the normal school during vacation and will be considered as a vacation school for the southwest section of the city thus fortunately allowing the board of education to grant a petition from the parents of that section requesting such an opportunity for their children during the summer.

A PLAGUE OF MOTHS.

Massachusetts Tree Pest Invades a Fourth State.

The newly found colony of gypsy moths at Stonington, Conn., marks the invasion of a fourth state, and as it is believed that the caterpillars of these gypsy and brown tail moths may be carried by automobiles and cars it appears not improbable that they may take this quick route to other states.

American Cultivator says that no person who has not seen the infested district or at the least traveled through it by train can positively realize the condition of affairs. He will pass through miles of country with its solid ranks of infested trees extending in every direction. No trees escapes—not the straggling birches in the pastures, the row of valuable shade trees, the mixed growth of the forests or the orchards and fruit trees of every kind. Here and there are clumps of dead trees, and wood cutters are removing these as well as many of the live trees to avoid further trouble and expense.

Old Chronic Sores.

A writer in the Cultivator states that last summer in a certain town of the infested district a house was covered with caterpillars from the ground to the ridge pole. The owner was obliged to put tanglefoot around the house and wash off the caterpillars with a hose.

Modest Claims Often Carry the Most Conviction.

When Maxim, the famous gun inventor, placed his gun before a committee of judges, he stated its carrying power to be much below what he felt sure the gun would accomplish. The result of the trial was therefore a great surprise, instead of disappointment. It is the same with the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. They do not publicly boast of all this remedy will accomplish, but prefer to let the users make the statements. What they do claim, is that it will positively cure diarrhoea, dysentery, pains in the stomach and bowels and has never been known to fail. For sale by the Farmers Union, Agent.

Saved His Comrade's Life.

"While returning from the Grand Army Encampment at Washington City, a comrade from Elgin, Ill., was taken with cholera morbus and was in a critical condition," says Mr. J. E. Houghland, of Eldon, Iowa. "I gave him Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and believe saved his life. I have been engaged for ten years in immigration work and conducted many parties to the south and west. I always carry this remedy and have used it successfully on many occasions."
