Excerpts from "Peace and War", United States
Foreign Policy, 1931-1941

B(8)

On October 9, 1941 the President asked Congress to modify the Neutrality Act.

B(9)

The Congress passed, and the President approved on November 17, 1941, a joint resolution repealing sections 2, 3, and 6 of the Neutrality Act of 1939, thereby permitting United States vessels to be armed and to carry cargoes to belligerent ports anywhere.
