Hoyt Stops Giants For Second Time, Yanks Winning, 3-1

National Leaguers Outth Yankee But Blows Were Lacking In Pinches; Neft Pitched Effective Ball But Was Not Favored With Breaks; Yanks Lead In Series By Three to Two.

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 10.—Young Waite Hoyt made "Muggsy" McGraw rub his wrinkled brow again today. He humbled the Giants for the second time during the series and showed the Yankees into the lead once again.

The score to-day was 3-1, which gives the American leaguers the edge. They have won three games to the Giants' pair. Hoyt, who was not considered a peer of the emotionless Carl Mays, has blossomed out as a second Mathewson. He stood the Giants on their heads last Thursday, letting them down with two hits and no runs. To-day he came back and while he was nicked for ten hits, he was only scored on once and that in the first inning.

Just His Pickings. Hoyt likes to pitch against the Giants and he likes to lick them a whole lot more. If McGraw hadn't made an error of judgment Hoyt might have been pitching for the Giants in this series, but old John thought the boy no good and let him go. Hoyt was grabbed later by the Yankees and now he's opened up the old score and pouring in runs.

It looked as though Hoyt was to have a bad day when the Giants opened up in the first inning and scored a run. Bancroft scoring on Kelly's Texas leaguer. After that Hoyt was as tight as a vault, and although the Giants got hits regularly, they were unable to clout in the pinches.

Effectiveness. Look at the ninth inning, when the Giants had a chance to stage a rally. Rawlings shot a two-base hit to right with no one out. Smith then fouled out. Smith was sent in to bat for Neft and struck out. Burns, the hectic slugger of the last two games, also whiffed.

No one can win against that kind of pitching, and so the Giants went down. Neft was in fine form, but his teammates could not put him in front. He was scored on once in the second and third times at bat. He let the Yankees down with six singles, but as usual the Huggins' tribe inserted their blows with men on base.

Both had a bad day. Neft struck out three times at bat. He was qualifying for the whiffing record. Kelly did better at the bat, getting two hits. He was called out a second, trying to stretch a single into a double.

The Game. The Yankees—Miller up. Miller popped out to Bancroft. Peckinpaugh up. Frisch threw out Peckinpaugh at first. Ruth up. Ruth struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

First inning, Giants—Burns up. Burns grounded to McNally, who fumbled it and the batter was safe. Bancroft up. Bancroft forced Burns, Peckinpaugh to Ward. Frisch batted a single off Hoyt's glove. Bancroft went to second. Young up. Young walked and the bases were filled. Kelly up. Bancroft scored on Kelly's Texas leaguer. Frisch batted a single off Hoyt's glove. Meusel struck out. Rawlings up. Rawlings forced Kelly, Peckinpaugh to Ward. One run, two hits, one error.

New Zealand Will Send Delegate to World Conference

Premier Massey Announces Representative Will Be Sent to Attend Sessions In Washington, But He Will Be Unable to Go.

Wellington, N. Z., Oct. 10.—New Zealand will be represented at the Washington conference on limitation of armaments and Far Eastern questions, Premier Massey stated today. Although he announced this definite decision, he said he would be unable to go.

London, Oct. 10.—A dispatch to The London Times from Wellington, N.Z., says the return home of Premier Massey has increased interest in the approaching Washington conference and the prevalent feeling appears to favor the Dominion being directly represented.

"Premier Massey," the dispatch adds, "is regarded as the best selection, but failing him the press and legislative opinion seems to support Sir Francis Bell, who acted as Prime Minister during Mr. Massey's absence in London, and whose ability and tactful handling of difficult situations was then demonstrated. Sir Francis is a close student of Empire politics and an authority on constitutional law."

"Representation by an Australian delegate would appeal to New Zealand only if she were consulted as to the states Government to meet the Japanese views. It can be said with authority that New Zealand will be adequately represented."

London, Oct. 10.—Regret that a preliminary conference on limitation of armaments could not be held here prior to the conference called by the United States Government to meet November 11 was expressed in the editorial columns of The Sunday Times. The paper declared much might have been accomplished by such a conference toward "shaping the issues to be taken up at Washington, and particularly toward removing difficulties caused by the tension between the United States and Japan."

A friendly conference was declared to be endangered by the spread of sensational Japanese propaganda in the United States and Germany, thought Great Britain, as Japan's ally, might be placed in an awkward position, which only good will could surmount.

"The deliberate opinion of the British Government," said the editorial, "if the conference is to be a success must not be antagonizing to Japan or to Germany, and a Germany preparing to bring on an international conflict, must deal with her as an equal as honorable as ourselves. The Japanese at present is not equal as a naval power, a fact which it is prudent to remember."

Commons Policy. The editorial expressed hope that there would be no question of Great Britain being forced to choose between the United States and Japan, saying it was hoped she might be the means of uniting the two nations in a common policy. Two outstanding facts were declared to be that under no circumstances could an alliance lead Great Britain to risk hostilities with the United States, and secondly, that it was probable the entire form of the British-Japanese Alliance would be altered to eliminate its military aspects with the result that perhaps the United States, and even China, might approve the pact.

Great Britain, said the newspaper, recognized that friendship with the United States was the greatest factor for world peace, and declared that this would not be forgotten when the conference began.

Montreal, Oct. 10.—After ten days of argument and conferences with the board of conciliation and investigation headed by Justice F. E. McLaughlin, the representatives of the railway unions and the railway management have come to a provisional agreement under which the men agree that the reduction in pay running from 10 to 12 per cent. put into force last June shall be continued tentatively.

Prevention, however, is made for further conferences as to this, with the understanding that if the final decision is that the wages should be reduced, that that actually in force. If more, no refund will be collected by the railways.

ASK SUPPORT OF JAPANESE

Oriental Washington Delegates Want World Peace

Tokyo, Oct. 8.—(Associated Press)—Speaking before the American-Japanese Society, which gave a farewell luncheon in his honor to-day, Prince Iyemoto Tokuzawa, who will head the Japanese delegation at the Washington conference, said he appreciated the courtesy because the world has never known a better understanding between Japan and the United States, to which end a solution of the question to be discussed at the conference had particular significance.

"The success of my weighty mission will greatly depend upon the cordial sympathy of those at home," he said. "With your moral support I shall be strengthened to take part in the deliberations of one of the most important international conferences the world has ever known."

Viscount Shibusawa, who will head the group of Japanese business men on a visit to the United States some time this month, also was a guest. He described the embassy as "shaping the issues to be taken up at Washington, and particularly toward removing difficulties caused by the tension between the United States and Japan."

CATTLE EMBARGO.
To the Editor.—There seems an awful and unnecessary fuss about this. Why not try reciprocity with the old hand? All the years I lived in England I never heard one complaint against Canada's tariff wall. Where does the golden rule come in? WALTER DANDRIDGE, 1612 Fell Street.

THAT PASTRY EXPERT.
To the Editor.—In reference to the article appearing in your issue of Friday, October 7, re L. C. Klitteng, the $250 a day Danish pastry cook, and more particularly to Mr. Klitteng's statement to the Mayor, "that conditions in Victoria bakeries are the worst he has seen on this continent, with large quantities of substitutes used in the preparation of food and production carried out on a cheap and low quality scale."

So far as the bakeries of Messrs. Shelly Bros. Ltd., D. W. Hanbury and Rennie & Taylor, of this city, are concerned, we wish to give the lie direct to the statement in question, and to add that if Mr. Klitteng will condescend to pay a visit to our bakeries we will prove to him that the cleanliness of our premises and the quality of ingredients used in the manufacture of our products are of the highest possible order; and will bear comparison with any other bakeries in the Dominion of Canada. Further, in order that this may not be taken as an empty boast, we will lodge with you a certified cheque for $1,000, to be forfeited to public charity if this wonderful Danish pastry cook can prove to the contrary; in which case doubtless Mr. Klitteng will also put up a cheque for $1,000, representing his salary for only four days, or perhaps he has an excellent photograph of such a cheque, which will in any case be as reliable as his foolish and groundless statements. By the way, perhaps Mr. Klitteng would like to add to his present vainglorious self-advertising by presenting the public of this city with his credentials, or perhaps he has another photograph for this purpose. RENNIE & TAYLOR, D. W. HANBURY.

THE PUBLIC PAYS.
To the Editor.—Although the Prime Minister is confining his eloquence to an endeavor to show the electorate what an economical Government he is at the head of and also how our tariff walls if only built a little higher, will fill our already full pockets to overflowing, I wonder if he could not spare a few moments to come to the assistance of Mr. Foran to show how the Civil Service Act, "the wisest law ever conceived upon a free people," operates to the lasting benefit of those free people; especially those in the returned soldier class and endeavoring to become permanently re-established by means of that wise law and their reliance upon the earnest endeavors of the Civil Service Commission to carry it out to the letter in order to avoid "sweeping charges of lack of good faith."

The general public—good old G. P.—do not care much, perhaps, about matters that intimately affect but a portion of their number, but should sit up and take notice of another angle to this question, and that is the "economical" methods of the Government in putting this law into effect.

Before the war was officially over, whilst the hospitals in France, England and Canada were full of our sick, maimed and dying, the Government was still climbing, ever upward, someone in Ottawa struck a brilliant idea. This idea was to re-organize the Civil Service in order to make it more efficient and to pave the way for the absorption of a large number of those who managed to get back from the war, alive, if not maimed. There were apparently no capable men left in Canada to do it (they were evidently all overseas) so the Government called upon Chicago to furnish men with such names as Griffenhagen, Hoehne, Reber, Wolff, etc., to "men over and help us out."

When the fiscal year ended on March 31, 1920, the bill of Griffenhagen & Co. amounted to a mere trifle of $95,270.40. Griffenhagen himself came over and started in at $40 a day but repented a little later and dropped to $35 a day.

There were a few additional minor items, however, such as $10 a day living allowance, $3 per hour overtime, travelling expenses, etc., and $181 days Mr. G. performed his allotted task for the mere pittance of $4,406.48 or about $44 per day. Then we have Messrs. Hoehne, Reber, Wolff, etc., about 25 or 30 others endeavoring to exist under such trying circumstances as these:
One man 143 days, $4,542.17, about $32 a day.
One man 238 days, $7,642.75, about $32 a day.
One man 208 days, $9,855.30, about $33 a day.
One man 281 days, $9,728.43, about $35 a day.
One man 242 days, $8,572.26, about $35.50 a day.
One man 272 days, $11,365.34, about $42 a day.
One man 282 days, $11,986.50, about $42.50 a day.

POPULAR DESIGN WHICH HAS BEEN COPYRIGHTED BY DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION

1921, as I understand these men have been at it until just recently when having got the Civil Service in an uproar and so much "system" pumped into Ottawa that everyone was working, eating and sleeping on a self-starting, automatic operating card index schedule, they were politely requested to close the door—to the outside—and get back to the outside. I should like (had I the space) to show the Government, at a terrific cost, has attempted to fit disabled men by means of vocational training, for civil service positions, but so many of these men after passing the examinations never get placed because the Civil Service Commission is suffering from too much "Griffenhagen" and is unable to steer or stop the steam roller they have set in motion.

The cost of operation of the Civil Service Commission for the year 1919-20 was $297,999.76. The figures for 1920-21 are not yet published but will doubtless exceed that amount, the Commission having got better into its stride.

And the Prime Minister is howling "Economy, Protection and more Protection." Ye gods! Protection for whom? Is it protection for the poor old tax-ridden G. P. got a little of it? SCHLALLA GASHLA, Victoria, October 8, 1921.

ONE MAN CARS.

To the Editor.—During the sitting of the Dr. Adam Short commission in Victoria, the question of the one-man car was introduced as a means of decreasing the operating expenses. Now we consider that such a system would not reduce the operating expenses when you take into consideration other relative conditions. In the first place this is not in line with modern development, and is a complete negation of the "safety" first principle, a principle which has been adopted by all modern institutions. Now, let us in the first instance consider the questions of the safety of the passengers. If the operator should leave the wire, the operator leaves his car absolutely unprotected while he proceeds to the rear of the car to replace it. It is easy to imagine what might happen when a car is left unprotected. Should anything happen to a crowded car, such as the brakes failing to hold on a decline on the car catching fire, and as it is possible for a car to catch fire in the centre or the front, with only one means of egress, fatal results might follow.

In connection with this, the present time age raised considerable objections and the action of the motoneers in closing the front door and leaving only one means of egress. Then, again, should it be necessary to reverse a car to avoid a head-on collision there is no possibility of warning the pedestrians in the rear. Another very important point is the position it places the public in during foggy weather. It would be positively dangerous to be taking on and letting passengers off by the front door. The motorman has to run with his window down and passengers desiring to leave the car must necessarily open the inner door oftentimes before the car stops. Therefore, there is a forced draught which forces the fog right through the car choking the passengers and making it very difficult for the operator to see. Then, again, consider the public service. It must of necessity slow up the service because of the fact that the operator will have to collect his fares, make change and issue transfers before starting his car if the law is to be complied with. Compare this with the present method, where the passenger boards the car and completes the transaction while the car is travelling. Further, the passenger can leave the car by the front or rear exit, which is a great convenience, and assists in making better time. Much could be said to show that the present mode of operation is superior in every way as far as service to the public is concerned and would not possibly be duplicated by the one-man car. Our contention is, that where it is necessary to operate an electric trolley car for the purpose of conveying passengers, it is also necessary to have two men in control of its operation. The one-man car imposes conditions upon the operator that should not be expected of a man in the twentieth century. Any one at all familiar with street car work knows that a motoneer has his hands full to drive his car, watch traffic, open and close the front door without having to attend to collecting fares, issuing transfers, giving change, selling tickets, assisting elderly people and children, besides giving advice and information to the patrons of his car. Now, in conclusion we would state that the one-man

It's Coming!
SNOW Damages—Paint and Varnish Protect. Snow holds moisture which absorbs atmospheric gases. These gases, together with the moisture, rapidly corrode metal and cause decay in wood.
Paint and Varnish prevent corrosion and decay. Surfaces properly protected with paint and varnish are impervious to snow.
Now is the time to protect your properties against winter's relentless attacks. Save the Surface and you save all.

Paint this Fall Because:
—if proper weather conditions, surfaces are now in their most receptive condition; practically every trace of moisture having been eliminated by the summer sun.
—the wood being dry it absorbs more readily and the paint holds better.
—a surface needing protection should never be allowed to go over to the winter without it.
—property needs more protection during winter than at any other time.

THE ONLY WAY.

Although their participation in the disarmament conference need not necessarily imply other views in addition to that of the British Government it is highly gratifying to observe that this country and the rest of the self-governing Dominions are to be represented at Washington by the most influential delegates it is possible to send.

It has been argued in some quarters that a consolidation of Empire opinion took place at the recent conference in London; but it must be remembered that the forthcoming gathering will produce angles of international relationships which will have to be dealt with on their merits and in accordance with the process of adjustment which the conference may see fit to apply.

No understanding reached between the Prime Ministers of the Empire in London may be regarded as anything like a stereotyped formula for use in discussions whose course no preliminary debate could possibly define.

HAPPILY SETTLED.

After quite a spirited interchange of Trades Union platitudes between the manager of a British theatrical company and the American Federation of Musicians an orchestral leader from London is to be permitted to fulfill his contract in this country under a temporary arrangement agreed to by the Federation.

WHY NOT?

While the general movement of peoples from one part of the Empire to the other is attracting more than usual interest and attention at this stage of the world's progress no proposal which is intended to educate the intending emigrant in the ways of the country to which his eyes are turned should be ignored.

OUT OF DATE.

According to an editorial expression of opinion which appeared in the Sunday edition of The London Times yesterday Great Britain recognizes that friendship with the United States is the greatest factor for world peace and that point will not be forgotten when the Washington conference begins.

POOR TACTICS.

If British Labor has not altogether declined to assist the Government in its endeavors to solve the difficulties arising from unemployment it has adopted an attitude which will seriously hamper such measures as may be inaugurated.

what might have happened to its cause if its own organization and the people as a whole had informed the Government on the fourth of August seven years ago that it might not depend upon their joint assistance because it had ignored the signs and their meanings to which reference had been made so many times beforehand.

NOTE AND COMMENT

If a third question is wanted at the disarmament conference the cancellation of war debts might be discussed if the first two items on the agenda are disposed of successfully.

Sir Edward Stockton, President of The Manchester Chamber of Commerce, says the present financial condition of the world has been made worse by the exaggerated feeling of depression among commercial men.

Toronto tells us that the annual income of Sir John Eaton is larger than that of any man in Canada. Even we shall agree that three hundred and twenty-nine thousand dollars a year ought to keep the wolf from the door.

SHOULD REGISTER ON MUNICIPAL VOTERS' LISTS

List to Close on October 31 for December Elections. Would-be voters in the civic elections to be held in December are reminded that in order to qualify for the municipal franchise registration must be made, together with the payment of $2 road tax, before October 31. This requirement refers only to non-property owners, men or women, who must be of the full age of 21 years, Canadian citizens and resident in this city. Property owners qualify for the municipal franchise by the payment of taxes and no further registration is necessary, although it is always advisable for property owners to ascertain that they have been placed on the municipal voters' lists.

The Chamber of Commerce in its bulletin just issued says in part: "As members of the Chamber of Commerce our first duty is to our city, and, as citizens, we owe it to Victoria to take a keen interest in the city's affairs. If these affairs are to be wisely and efficiently administered we should elect the best possible men to office, and, when elected, give them our whole-hearted support. The Chamber of Commerce is a non-partisan, and non-political organization, but it believes that all its members should exercise their rights and meet their obligation as citizens. Every member should make certain that his or her name is on the voters' list, and, if not, take the necessary steps to register and so be in a position to vote in the municipal election. Any non-property owner resident in Victoria, man or woman, who is a Canadian citizen, and of age, may have his or her name placed on the voters' list by paying the sum of $2. This must be done during the month of October, as the list is revised in November, if you have not registered, do so now."

Fame of Local Wool Grows.—Evidence of the widespread interest taken in the home woolen industry which Mrs. Dennis Harris has so indefatigably fostered is revealed in a letter which Mrs. Harris received this morning from the Honorable Studio, New York, asking for samples of the wool made by local spinners. Enquiries have also been received from the heart of the cotton district as to the best means of using an accumulation of fleece which has been collected during the past five years. Mrs. Harris is complying with both of these requests. Spinners of the city and district have been requested to meet at the home of Mrs. Harris, corner of Government and Superior Streets on Thursday at 2.30 o'clock, and non-partisan spinners which has been brought forward by Mr. Vernon of Albert Head, an experienced wool sorter who has had long experience in Australia in the washing and grading of wools.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TO-NIGHT

MR. RABBIT AND MR. FOX TALK MATTERS OVER Part I. One night Mr. Fox and Mr. Rabbit sat before the fire talking over the adventures of members of their families. The night was dark and rainy and Mr. Fox had said that it was no night for wise animals to be abroad, and Mr. Rabbit allowed that he was right. "I know that your family have always been very clever and wise," said Mr. Rabbit. "My grandmother used to tell me stories about an ancestor of yours that could fool a whole pack of dogs and be at home sleeping while they were still hunting under a false trail he had left for them to follow. "There is one thing, though, that I always wanted to know about an ancestor of yours, Mr. Fox. I wonder if you can tell me?" "Let me hear what it is," said Mr. Fox, puffing on his pipe very hard. He was quite filled with pride hearing how the clever tricks of his family had been talked of for generations by the wood folk.

"I would like to know just how Brer Fox got out of that well when he went down that time Brer Rabbit was in the other bucket. You remember that story, don't you? I always wondered if he wasn't really drowned or if the man with a great big gun shot Brer Fox. Mr. Rabbit really had played a very clever trick on Mr. Fox in that story. Mr. Fox stopped smoking and took his pipe from his mouth. He saw the twinkle in the eyes of Mr. Rabbit and he knew that right then and there he had to tell how his ancestor really did get out of that well or Mr. Rabbit would always have the laugh on him. "Shub," said he. "I guess you never asked a member of my family before or you would have found out all about it long ago. "You see, when Brer Fox jumped in that bucket, he really wanted a good cool drink of water and he also knew well enough that Brer Rabbit was scared nearly out of his wits, so he thought he would do Brer Rabbit a kindness and at the same time get a drink of cool, well water. "I'll say though that he did expect that Mr. Rabbit would haul up that bucket to help him, and he did, instead of running off as he did, making such a joke out of it and expecting Mr. Man to come with a gun and maybe shoot my kind-hearted ancestor. "But the way I have always heard the story is that when Mr. Man saw Mr. Rabbit running he went after him with his gun instead of going to the well as Mr. Rabbit had intended and expected he would, and Mr. Dog, he ran along too, just to see the fun. "Did they get him?" inquired Mr. Rabbit, his nose wiggling with excitement. "I thought Brer Rabbit ran back to work clearing up new ground to make a garden. "Well, he did after a while," said Mr. Fox, "but first he had an awful race with Mr. Man and Mr. Dog, and when Mr. Man's gun went bang, bang, behind him, Brer Rabbit lost something. "What?" asked Mr. Rabbit, standing first on one hind foot and then on the other. "The end of his tail," replied Mr. Fox, "and that is why your family now have a stubby tail instead of a nice bushy one like my family; because one of your ancestors tried to play a trick on one of mine. "But Brer Fox is still in the well," said Mr. Rabbit. "I know that and Mr. Dog is still chasing Brer Rabbit," said Mr. Fox. "For though Mr. Man shot off the end of his tail, Brer Rabbit could run and run he did. "But Brer Fox is still in the well," persisted Mr. Rabbit. "It is too late to tell you about that to-night," said Mr. Fox. "I can see the streak of light in the East and Mr. Dog might take a notion to be out early, so I reckon we better turn in." (Continued To-morrow.)

INCOME TAX ON REVENUE DERIVED FROM UNITED KINGDOM

While it is quite reasonable to assume that all those interested are now more or less familiar with the Provincial and Dominion Income Tax Acts it is quite probable that those in receipt of incomes from sources within the United Kingdom are not fully conversant with the Imperial Taxation Acts and to many—widows and others—in receipt of small annuities, it may be of interest to know that under certain conditions they may now apply for and obtain a refund of the whole or a part of the tax deducted from the said income at the source.

The following brief details will indicate the circumstances under which relief may be obtained:

An individual not resident in the United Kingdom ordinarily chargeable at the full standard rate in respect of any income arising from sources within the United Kingdom; relief may however be claimed by an individual who satisfies the Commissioners of Inland Revenue that he or she

1. is a British subject (no relief is due under this head for the period prior to 6th April 1920); or
2. is or has been employed in the service of the British Crown; or
3. is employed in the service of any missionary society; or
4. is employed in the service of any native State under the protection of His Majesty; or
5. is a resident in the Isle of Man or the Channel Islands; or
6. has previously resided within the United Kingdom and is resident abroad for the sake of his or her health or for the sake of his or her family resident with him or her (For the period prior to 6th April 1920, relief is due only when the individual was resident abroad for the sake of his health or that of his wife); or
7. is a widow whose late husband was employed in the service of the British Crown (For the period prior to 6th April 1919, relief is due only to a widow who received a pension chargeable with the United Kingdom Income Tax and granted to her in consideration of the employment of her late husband in the service of the British Crown).

In such a case, if a return of total income (including income not liable to United Kingdom Income Tax) is furnished in the prescribed form, the full tax otherwise payable will be reduced by a proportion of the relief set out below.

Reliefs of which a proportion may be claimed:

Exemption where the total assessable income does not exceed £135.

Personal Allowance of £135 (Single person, widower or widow), or of £225 in the case of a married man whose wife is living with him.

Reduced rate of tax of first £225 of taxable income.

Deductions in certain circumstances in respect of housekeepers, dependent children or other dependent relatives.

Allowance of tax in respect of certain life assurance premiums.

In addition to the above-mentioned cases relief may also be obtained in respect of United Kingdom Income Taxes where the taxpayer has paid income tax for the same period in any of the British Dominions. (Special forms are obtainable showing the measure of such relief.)

Certain British War Loan Bonds are also free from taxation as to the income derived from them if the beneficial owner of them is not ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom and the same applies to interest or dividends on securities of a foreign state or a British Possession; interest dividends or other annual payments payable out of or in respect of the stocks etc. of any foreign or colonial company or society; and annuities, pensions or other annual sums payable out of the funds of any institution in India.

Persons desirous of obtaining relief under any of the above headings should apply to:

Chief Inspector of Taxes (Claims)
Inland Revenue, (Foreign Division)

PEACE ARCH ON HISTORIC GROUND

Indian Reserve Adjoining Arch Was Once Military Reserve

Addressing the monthly luncheon of the Vancouver Automobile Club last week, on the Peace Memorial Park project in connection with the Peace Arch, Capt. Jas. H. McLennan, White Rock, brought to light an interesting fact with respect to the Indian Reserve adjoining the international boundary at Blaine.

He had found, he said, in conversation with old timers, that this triangular area of land, running to a point at the boundary, and being bounded by the Coast Meridian, seashore and Campbell River roads, had been set aside as a military reserve, the Dominion Government later utilizing it as an Indian reserve as the remnants of the Semishmoos tribe camped on the bluff and pastured their horses and cattle on the meadow spaces of the Campbell River valley.

The reserve was used on Peace Arch day, Sept. 6, to park the cars of those who in thousands flocked to declare for international friendship and good will, and its silent places resounded with the eloquent words of speakers, sent through amplifying instruments—the "Wonderphone"—expressive of sentiments of cordiality and amity.

Value of Parking Area.
Capt. McLennan, who was chairman of the parking committee of the Peace Memorial Association of British Columbia, made use of the invitation of the Auto Club to draw attention to the value of the parking area which had been cleared for the dedication as part of a National park scheme. It would be of use, if acquired under lease from the Indian department, for all seasons of the year, for the shore lands of Semishmoos Bay here are sheltered from the north winds, and the climate tempered by the warm sea breezes; the temperature of White Rock and adjacent shore areas being at least ten degrees warmer than the Vancouver section of the Lower Mainland. The Indian reservation comprises some 392 acres, a part being held under lease by the Vancouver River Lumber Co. for their sawmill operations. The section immediately suitable for park purposes in connection with the two and a half acres to be acquired opposite the Peace Arch on the Canadian side of the line would be only a small part of the total area. It afforded a fine view over the bay, and east of the mill company's leased section, there was a bathing beach area, the finest of the long sandy seashore. At the yearly celebrations to commemorate the dedication of the Peace monument, the area of the reserve adjoining the proposed memorial park would be used for parking of cars, apart from utilizing it as a camping ground for visitors to the arch and an addition to the park proper.

There are about 38 Indians now on the reserve, but their dwelling sites and farming areas would not be disturbed.

Capt. McLennan urged that the Automobile Associations of the lower mainland get behind this movement for a memorial park and the providing of fitting surroundings to the Peace monument, and ventured to assert that it would be a great asset in the future.

The Vancouver Automobile Club was announced at this meeting, had increased their donation to the Peace Arch fund by $300, making their total subscription $500.

Visiting brethren are also cordially invited. The members are desirous of cultivating that fraternal relationship that should always be especially conspicuous between members of the same lodge.

POLITICS

How Will Women Vote? Are Practical but Do Not Reason Coldly, Says One Paper.

About Cabinet "Unknowns" Old Guard Stars Pass On. Young Blood Gets Chance.

One million and a quarter women will be able to vote at the December election.

It has been estimated that 53 per cent. of the total number of voters in the country are women.

Montreal Gazette is concerned as to how all these women will vote.

They are too young in political science to have formed separate organizations and they will be found, insofar as the franchise is exercised, ranging themselves with the historic parties, The Gazette opines.

"But if women do not reason coldly like men they reach rapid conclusions intuitively," it says.

"Many of them were happy in their ignorance of what the franchise meant in the way of political duty. But, broadly, there has been a sense of enlargement, a feeling of fresh importance, a new identification with the vital issues in the national life."

Gazette wants to see all women vote for protection as interpreted by the Meighen party.

It says that they cannot at their present stage of political development "elucidate or understand all the details of the tariff to which the Government is committed."

But, anyhow, it thinks women will naturally gravitate towards protection on the grounds that it is claimed "that policy will conserve the home."

This, The Gazette says, is because women "before everything else are practical, though signing like a furnace, the lover— With a weeping ballad made to his would not think so."

After getting over its poetic mood in philosophizing editorially on women, The Gazette gets down to this conclusion:

Women are naturally conservative and shrink from cataclysm—moral or material.

It will be interesting to note in what degree they avail themselves of the privilege or right of voting.

But it can be assumed that insofar as the franchise is exercised consideration will be given primarily to those interests in which are wrapped up the security and prosperity of the home—the foundation of our young Commonwealth.

It is quite possible that under present conditions the Government may be beaten, but the Opposition forces will gain nothing by assuming that the newcomers in the Cabinet are nobodies, who will be bowled over with ease in their own district, says Toronto Saturday night.

Under ordinary conditions the Cabinet would be regarded as a strong one, but whether it has the power to conquer present intangible discontent is another question.

Those who attempt to forecast the result of the election must not forget that a very large percentage of the community have been educated to the belief that to be a Tory or an old-line Liberal is a reproach, and to be a man of substance, anathema.

The old guard of platform stars in both parties is dying out or drifting into the reposeful purliens of the Senate.

Anyway, this talk about "unknowns"—this prejudice against new blood—is merely reactionary—a hopeless protest against the younger generation that comes knocking at the door.

The new men are undoubtedly strong and highly respected in their own localities and some of them have more than sectional fame.

However, these new cabinet ministers do not have to be strong men, Toronto Star yawns. They are only carrying those portfolios as far as the polls.

The political pot is boiling so merrily that a lot of people in the country are already in a stew

Visiting the coast as representative of the Montreal Harbor Commission to the National convention of harbor authorities which meets at Seattle this week, Brigadier General A. E. Labelle, of the Montreal board of harbor commissioners, was in the city to-day from the mainland.

He leaves to-day for Seattle. General Labelle is well-known in connection with the Dominion Rifle Association, being chairman of that body.

VANCOUVER WANTS DRYDOCK BADLY

Vanouver, Oct. 10.—It is rumored in the city that if the Wallace Shipyards secure the twenty-five year lease they seek for the Government drydock now at Prince Rupert, that the equipment and plant may be towed here for use in this harbor.

CANADIAN IMPORTER NOW AT VANCOUVER

In tow of the steamer Anyox, of the Coastwise Steamship Company, assisted by another tug, the S. S. Canadian Importer, which a month ago returned to this port after being virtually given up for lost, left Esquimalt Harbor early yesterday morning for Vancouver.

The Canadian Importer will be repaired at the Vancouver plant of the B. C. Marine Engineers and Shipbuilders, Ltd., which firm submitted a bid of $12,000, the lowest of five tenders, to effect necessary repairs to the ship.

The Canadian Government patrol steamer Gavanchy, which was wrecked at Chaffield Island and salvaged by the Vancouver Dredging and Salvage Company, reached Vancouver on Saturday under her own steam. The vessel is being repaired before undergoing repairs at the B. C. Marine Engineers and Shipbuilders, Ltd. The injuries suffered by the Gavanchy during her immersion consisted largely of warped woodwork, and water-soaked furnishings.

TALARALITE WAS TOWED HERE WITH OIL FROM IOCO

With refined oil for the Macaulay Point tanks here the Standard Oil Company's tanker Talaralite left here yesterday from Ioco, Burrard Inlet, in tow of the steamer Celestial Empire. The Talaralite has been laid up at Ioco for some time past and the company decided to send the tanker here in tow, instead of signing a new crew for the purpose.

Flexible Arch—Like the Foot

Do you know that the arch of your foot is flexible? It is composed of small bones which flex every step you take. Muscles and ligaments hold the bones in place.

Do you realize that the ordinary shoe has a piece of steel concealed in the arch, making the shoe stiff right at the point where your foot must flex? Weak, or fallen arches come when the muscles and ligaments fail to hold the arch bones in their normal position.

You can have strong healthy feet by wearing Cantilever Shoes. They have a flexible arch like your foot. There is no metal in the shank to stiffen the shoe when it ought to flex.

This flexibility permits your muscles to exercise and the blood to circulate properly. Your feet strengthen. You enjoy walking—and you don't mind standing, for the Cantilever Shank supports the foot restfully.

The toes are not crowded. Your posture is good, for the heels are of proper height to be healthful—and stylish! The comfort of Cantilever Shoes is doubly enjoyable because they are good looking and fashionable for daytime or semi-dress occasions.

We are the exclusive agents for Cantilever Shoes in Victoria.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE IN "WEDDING BELLS"

Humorous Story Is Presented at Royal

How many men know just why they love their wives? Reginald Carter didn't. With him it was a case of love at first sight, a quick marriage—a case of measles, and then divorce—all because little wife had bobbed her hair.

These are among the interesting and very cleverly worked out situations in "Wedding Bells," Constance Talmadge's latest release through Associated First National

AMUSEMENTS TO-DAY

Royal—"Wedding Bells."
Dominion—"Footlights."
Columbia—"What's a Wife Worth?"
Variety—"The Greatest Love."
Capitol—"The Easy Road."

Pictures, Inc. which opened at the Royal Victoria Theatre to-day for a six-day engagement.

As Rosalie Wayne, Miss Talmadge does some of the finest acting in her career. Her part affords her excellent opportunities to register almost the entire gamut of human emotions, and especially those which can in any way be evoked in the name of comedy.

Harrison Ford, as Reginald

Carter, gives an admirable performance, and on the whole the general adaptation of Salisbury Field's successful stage farce has been capably handled by Chet Withey as director. The supporting cast includes such favorites as Emily Cluett, Ida Darling, James Harrison, William Roselle, Polly Vann, Dallas Weirford and Frank Honda.

There are many additional laughs to join those which were in the original stage play, and a number of incidents are worked out to the point of absolute comedy perfection. The story for the most part centres about a squabble of a couple married but two days, which leads to a year's separation, a divorce, additional fiancés, and finally a pair of pending marriages which both only managed to evade by desperate efforts. The picture is indeed one of Miss Talmadge's best.

The musical part of the programme will be a surprise this week as the management have engaged for one week only Margaret and Jenny Strain, who will provide a musical novelty that will be sure to please. They have just finished an engagement in Vancouver, which from all accounts was a great success.

ELSIE FERGUSON APPEARS THIS WEEK

Wears Thirty-nine Gowns in "Footlights" at Dominion

No fewer than thirty-nine gowns are worn by Miss Elsie Ferguson, who takes the part of an American girl impersonating a Russian actress in "Footlights," a Paramount picture which comes to the Dominion Theatre all week. Dainty morning dresses, luxuriant gowns for afternoon and evening, filmy negligees and daring sport costumes constitute her wardrobe in this splendid production.

Miss Ferguson, who has been termed the most beautifully dressed woman on the screen, considers this one of the most delightful roles of her career. "The gowns have helped me in my interpretation," Miss Ferguson said, "just as they helped Lizzie Parsons to lose her identity in Lisa Parslova. My only regret is that the audiences will not have an opportunity to see the exquisite coloring of the gowns."

As Lisa Parslova, Miss Ferguson wears the creations of the most prominent modistes of Paris and America. Beside being the last word in fashion, they have the added interest of having a Russian name. Miss Ferguson's thirty-nine changes from the silver cloth and pearl evening dress, to the velvet and ermine, are original in design and unique in treatment.

The vocal and musical presentations for this week consist of Miss Eva Hagen's soprano, in song selections, and a splendid musical programme, by Miss Mabel Irvine, pianist, and Handley Wells, organist.

DOMESTIC THEME IN COMEDY DRAMA

"What's a Wife Worth?" to Be Columbia Feature

William Christy Cabanne's new Robertson-Cole super-special production "What's a Wife Worth" will be the leading attraction at the Columbia Theatre beginning to-morrow for a run of three days. Mr. Cabanne, who was the author and director of "The Stealers," has given the screen one of the most wholesome comedy-dramas in his latest picture. Critics agree that the photoplay, judged from all angles, is as near perfection as possible.

The story tells of the marriage of a wealthy man's son and a village belle. Of the early disruption of the union by malicious acquaintances. How, following the divorce, a son is born and how the mother sees in him the image of his father and is devoted to him. The wealthy man's son marries again and a baby is born to his second wife, but dies. The substitution by the family physician, of the son by his first wife for the dead baby, finally bringing about a reconciliation between mother and father.

Mr. Cabanne selected an excellent cast to tell his story. Included are: Ruth Renick, Casson Ferguson, Alex. R. Francis, Cora Drew, Howard Gaye and Virginia Caldwell.

MADE FAME IN MATRON PARTS

Vera Gordon at Variety in "The Greatest Love"

Vera Gordon, whom Lewis J. Seiznick presents as the star of the Select Special, "The Greatest Love," at the Variety Theatre this week, starting to-day, has probably had the most sensational rise of any star in photoplays. From obscurity she has just become a star through her magnificent work as "Mamma Kap-tor," the Mother, in "Humoresque," and it is claimed that her role of Mrs. Lantini in "The Greatest Love" is an even more remarkable characterization.

For years Miss Gordon played in the various stock companies, those excellent training schools in which so many of our great stars acquired their first rudiments of stagecraft, and later she became known by playing "Mother" parts in the stage plays "The Land of the Living," "Why Worry," and "The Gentle Wife," all of these roles bringing her the highest commendations from both press and public.

However, it remained for the patrons of the photoplay to acclaim Miss Gordon as a star. This occurred during the initial showing of the screen version of Fannie Hurst's story, "Humoresque." Although Miss Gordon was not advertised as the principal player in this production the critics and patrons alike were unanimous in the opinion that her work completely overshadowed everything else in the picture. Next followed a similar type of the part in the Rex Beach story, "The North Wind's Melancholy."

Lewis J. Seiznick then secured a "beat" on all competition by getting Miss Gordon's signature to a contract calling for her stellar appearance on the screen, the result of which will be seen in "The Greatest Love" which will be seen at the Variety all this week, starting to-day. Also Mr. Impett and Mr. Marshall, two well-known local comedians, have been engaged by Manager Clark for the week.

"THE EASY ROAD" AT THE CAPITOL

Thomas Meighan Will Appear in Paramount Feature

Thomas Meighan, whose latest Paramount picture is "The Easy Road," has done so much coast-to-coast commuting during the past few months that he hardly knows which end of the line to call home.

"I am just another," says the star, "I hardly know whether to say I'm living in Hollywood or New York, or on the train that runs between. All the porters are getting to know me so well they call me by my first name."

Mr. Meighan worked in "Why Change Your Wife?" and "The Prince Chap," at Hollywood, and then "pulled his freight" for New York, where he starred in "Civilian Clothes." Immediately upon the completion of that picture he caught the first train out for Hollywood, and upon his arrival, put on the make-up for the title role in "Conrad in Quest of His Youth."

When the last scenes of that picture were filmed, Mr. Meighan packed up and caught the first train out for New York, where he starred in "The Frontier of the Stars." No sooner was that picture completed than he was again on his way to Hollywood, where he made his latest starring vehicle, "The Easy Road."

The scenario for the new picture was written by Beulah Marie Dix and Gladys George is leading woman. It will be shown at the Capitol Theatre this week.

Senor Dori will again this week delight Victoria audiences with his pleasing voice in the Grand Aria from Aida one of the best and most popular of tenor arias.

Mrs. Dolly Rockfort, one of the most popular of local artists, is delighting Capitol audiences with her numerous song hits.

MOVIE STARS PROFIT

Demand of Public for Photographs and Signatures Helps to Pay Off the Mortgage.

Some of the income of the big movie stars comes not only from their own talents, but from the enthusiasm of the film fans, who can't send them an autographed picture. The demand for photographs with a splash of ink signifying that Tessie Wonderful is their true friend forever is so great that Miss Thelma Barr, for instance has spent most of her Sunday's getting writer's cramp, while others have employed a secretary who could forge their signature harmlessly, and still a third group have become adherents of the rubber stamp method of spreading their moniker.

Sometimes it's almost enough to make a cinema star sick of his or her own name—almost, but not quite. A number of them, however, have decided to show that an artist can be shrewd and business like and to capitalize the fact that their chirography means more in the life of the nation than that of John Hancock on the Declaration of Independence. The applicants for a specimen of their best Spencerian style are informed that for twenty-five cents they can have the star's photo with an expression of undying regard done in beautiful copper plate, suitable for any library or bookback parlor. As thousands of such requests pour in on a star monthly and the pictures cost 4 cents apiece originally, anyone should be able to figure out in less than an hour just how much a player can accumulate toward paying off the mortgage on the limousine or providing alimony.

The worst thing about this dull season is that it turns people's minds towards government jobs.—St. Joseph's Gazette.

REHEARSALS FOR AMATEUR TROUPE

Krusader Komedy Kompany Will Present Brand New Programme

The 3 K's (Krusader Komedy Kompany) have again decided to appear on behalf of charitable organizations during the coming season and take this opportunity of announcing their intention to resume their series of concerts in the near future.

Last season this popular troupe of local boys quickly won a place in the hearts of Victorians because of their readiness to stage an entertainment in aid of any worthy cause and the attendance at all their concerts certainly showed that their efforts in this direction were appreciated.

A brand new programme has been arranged and all lovers of good clean comedy, etc. are assured of an evening well spent with the boys besides knowing they are helping to support worthy causes.

Rehearsals are being carried out diligently and the boys are sparing no effort in making this season's show a bigger success than their last season's entertainment "A Real Night of Fun."

Any artist desirous of joining this troupe for the pleasure of helping others may apply to the secretary, Mr. W. J. Smillie, 53 San Juan Ave., and applications will be duly considered.

The secretary will be glad to receive requests from organizations desiring concerts at any time and these will be dealt with along with several applications for the show already received.

Y. M. C. A. TO MARK CENTENARY

Hundred Years Since Sir George Williams Was Born

The 100th anniversary of the birth of Sir George Williams, the founder of the Young Men's Christian Association, will be celebrated by the Victoria branch at a branch rally of members and friends in the Association Building to-morrow from 6.30 to 8.30 p. m.

Mr. St. Maguire will lead a community sing. The address of the evening will be given by A. S. Allen, for over 20 years General Secretary of the Seattle Association, who is an attractive and forcible speaker.

Short talks will be given by Harold C. Cross and others. Workers for the Annual Membership and Financial Canvas during the ensuing week will receive an inspiring send-off.

Vocal solos will be rendered by Mrs. Joseph T. Barratt, a talented soprano, and Angus McKinnon.

On October 11, one hundred years ago, the founder of the Young Men's Christian Association—Sir George Williams—was born. Both by this great organization and by the Christian Church, the centennial is being observed in these October days in formal services and in closer study of the processes and results of a life which has spread its influence over the whole world.

Within the span of his own life George Williams saw the Young Men's Christian Association, both as an organization and as a spiritual force, encircle the earth. When its founder died in 1905, sixty-one years after its beginning, the Y. M. C. A. had 7,773 Associations, with 722,000 members, totals which have since grown to more than 9,000 Associations and more than 1,500,000 members.

George Williams was born near Dalverton, in Somersetshire, England, the youngest of eight sons of Amos and Elizabeth Williams. The family came of generations of yeoman farmers. During his boyhood days Williams lived the rather monotonous and unexciting life of the farm and school. Leaving school at thirteen and showing no aptitude thereafter for farm work, he was apprenticed two years later to a draper at Bridgewater. He was at that time, to use his own description, a "careless, thoughtless, godless, swearing fellow." But coming under the influence of the Rev. Evan James, minister of the local Congregational Chapel, who had established a great hold on the young people of the town, he made a determined decision to alter his life, and to make its keynote "to live not unto himself but to the glory of God and in the service of men."

He became a member of the Church at Bridgewater in 1838.

Went to London.

At nineteen, his apprenticeship having been completed, Williams entered the employment of Hitchcock & Rogers, a drapers' firm on Ludgate Hill, in St. Paul's Churchyard, London, at a salary of £40 a year. Of this firm, under its later name of Hitchcock, Williams & Co., he eventually became the chief partner. Under him it expanded as both a wholesale and retail business into a foremost position in the trade, as well known throughout the British Isles as some of the great merchandising establishments are known throughout Canada and the United States.

When Williams went to London his first concern was to single out one after another from among the young men in the drapery establishment and seek to win each to a life of Christian service. He established regular prayer-meeting services in his small bedroom on the third floor of the building. His religious efforts followed several other well-defined lines, but these prayer meetings were at the very centre of his programme of service, and they were the foundations upon which the Young Men's Christian Association was built. By 1843, Williams, and two or three other young men who had stood with him from the outset, found themselves the leaders of a movement which had affected the whole mercantile establishment with which they were connected, from the head of the firm down to the youngest apprentice on the staff of some 140.

Extended Plan.

One day, while crossing Blackfriars Bridge, which then more than today focused the life and struggle of the city, Williams expressed to a friend, Edward Beaumont, his desire that the Young Men's Society which had been organized among the clerks at Hitchcock & Rogers be expanded to every draper establishment in London. A meeting was called to meet June 6, 1844, to consider the importance and practicability of establishing such an association. Twelve young men attended. Three were Episcopalians, three Congregationalists, three Baptists and three Methodists. It was agreed to form an organization "to influence religious young men to spread the Redeemer's Kingdom amongst those by whom they are surrounded." This was the birth of the Young Men's Christian Association, although this name was not suggested until two months later.

The story of the life of George Williams is the story of the Y. M. C. A. during its sixty years to his death in 1905; but for the sake of brevity any detailed record of the remarkable service and progress of the organization during that period must be omitted. Despite the heavy demands of a large and expanding business, Williams worked incessantly for his beloved association. In Helen Hitchcock, daughter of his employer, whom he married when he was thirty-two years of age, he found one who sympathized with and for more than fifty years did all in her power to help forward his association work. He went to London without influence or capital, and amassed a fortune. But he was never so wealthy that his generosity cost him little or nothing. His donations to all sorts and conditions of religious works were on a lavish scale. "He spared himself," writes J. E. Hodder Williams in his biography of the Y. M. C. A. founder, "that he might spend on others, living always in the most quiet and simple fashion, utterly devoid of all ostentation or pride of success."

To Sir George and Lady Williams were born five sons and a daughter.

The Jubilee.

The Jubilee of the founding of the Young Men's Christian Association, held in London in 1894, was more than a striking public recognition of the position attained by that organization. The celebration assumed almost unconsciously the form of an overwhelming testimony to the place George Williams held in the esteem of the people and in the personal affection of every member of the Association the world over. Queen-Victoria-selected that occasion to confer upon him the honor of knighthood, and he was given the freedom of the City of London. Thanksgiving services were held in St. Paul's Cathedral. Deputations and messages from all parts of the world greeted him.

When the Y. M. C. A. in North America had completed in 1901 a half century of service, Sir George came to this continent. His journey through the United States was in the nature of a triumphal progress. When in 1905 he attended the jubilee of the World's Conference of the Y. M. C. A. in Paris, he received an ovation of which an American who was then present as a delegate writes: "As a demonstration of personal feeling and affection I have only once seen its equal." Sir George was buried November 14, 1905, in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, among others of the great of England and close by that little upper room where the Young Men's Christian Association came into being.

HEADSTONES FOR WESTERN GRAVES

Start Will Be Made in British Columbia

Ross Bay will be one of the cemeteries in British Columbia where the Government will place headstones to veterans who died at home, the headstones being made of material from Granite Island.

The headstones will be made in Vancouver by Patterson, Chandler & Stephens, Limited. H. V. Knowland, manager of this company, and of the Granite Island Quarries, Limited, has been in conference with the Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Militia and defence, and Colonel H. C. Osborne, secretary of the Imperial War Graves Commission, Ottawa, for several months. Representatives of the Government visited the granite quarries of this Province, and other parts, and last week announced their choice had fallen upon the Granite Island stone. Although it will take months to complete the work, many of the headstones will be laid out this year hundreds being placed for installation before the end of winter.

Simple Design. The grave memorials will be two feet six inches in height and one foot three inches in width. The design is of simple beauty. At the top is a circled maple leaf. Below will follow the name of the deceased, with other data, briefly telling of his services and death. Under this will appear a cross, followed with the inscription, "For His Country."

Each headstone will be uniform, save in instances where the dead man belonged to a religious creed that would necessitate omission of the cross. For dead Jewish veterans there will appear the star of David, with a Talmudic inscription.

These headstones will be allotted only to soldiers and sailors who died of wounds contracted in actual war services, or succumbed to illness from contributory war causes.

Colonel Osborne, of the Graves Commission, writes to the quarry officials that he has returned from England, and is now ready to co-operate actively with the work. Blue prints and contracts are in Vancouver with the signature of the Hon. Hugh Guthrie. Work has been started. The headstones will be transferred to the cemeteries in groups as rapidly as they pass through the hands of the masons and receive approval.

Compiling Lists. Names of dead veterans are reaching the company and the Commission daily. These are being checked up by the Ottawa officials, and verified by Colonel Osborne and Colonel Russell, of Vancouver.

All over the Provinces affected by the headstones, plans are being made of appropriate memorial services. It is the general plan to have private services with the installation of each completed headstone, with a general memorial service in each cemetery for the whole.

Mr. Knowland, who has the details in hand with Colonel Osborne, states there will be more than 1,000 graves memorials altogether, 500 or more being the first instalment.

METCHOSIN GIRL GUIDES ORGANIZE

Metchosin Oct. 10.—At the last general meeting of the Metchosin Women's Institute the important question arose as to what to do with the Institute funds. Mrs. Tyrrell Godman was present, accompanied by Miss Cotton, a captain of one of the Victoria companies of Girl Guides. Mrs. Godman addressed the meeting, and afterwards the girls residing in the district who had gathered together in the hall after school had dismissed. A Metchosin company of Girl Guides was formed with Miss Phyllis Rising as captain and the Institute voted $20 towards buying the belts and ties for the Guides. In addition to that it was decided to drain the school grounds, and to make some arrangements whereby the school children will be supplied with hot drinks at lunch time during the Winter months.

The first meeting of the local company of Girl Guides will be held at the school at the school house to-morrow afternoon.

Cowichan Red Cross. Duncan—Mrs. Fleming, of the Red Cross Branch, Victoria, attended the annual meeting of the North Cowichan Red Cross Branch on the invitation of the president, Miss Hadwen, and at the request of the provincial secretary, Mr. Forsyth.

The financial statement showed receipts during the year to be $984.62, and expenditure $695.71, of which $350 went to the Health Centre, and $237 to the British Empire Relief Fund, $238.81 is left on hand.

Mrs. Fleming outlined the scope of Red Cross work, and suggested a few improvements on the present plan of managing Health Centre work. As Mrs. Fleming pointed out, all Health Centre work in the Province, with the exception of Saanich, which is managed by the municipality is under the Red Cross auspices, and is backed by Red Cross effort. A Red Cross supervisor of Health Centre work has been appointed.

Mrs. Fleming suggested that in order to have a clearer understanding of the name might be the Cowichan Red Cross Health Centre instead of the Cowichan Electoral District Health Centre. Important patriotic work in addition to the Health Centre work will fall upon the Red Cross Society as bodies of a temporary nature cease to exist. It was the feeling of the meeting that all organizations contributing to the Health Centre should be represented on the Health Centre Committee. At present the priest contributors have no representation. Officers elected were: Mrs. Thomas Pitt, president; the Rev. F. L. Stephenson, vice-president; Mrs. Lowellyn Price, secretary-treasurer, and the former committee was re-elected with the addition of Messrs. F. Van Norman, J. L. Hird and Miss Hardie, public health nurse.

A very well attended meeting of the Girl Guide Committee took place on Friday afternoon at Queen Margaret School.

Arrangements for the dance on Thursday evening next were completed. Miss Geoghegan reported that Miss Joyce Henslowe, Brown Owl for the Cowichan Company, No. 1, had been placed as leader of a new patrol just formed at Somenos, and comprising fourteen Guides and Brownies.

Miss Henslowe is now made lieutenant, Mrs. W. Allington takes Miss Henslowe's place as leader of the Brownies.

Warrants for these officers are applied for, and also various other badges of merit. With the formation of the new patrol at Somenos, Commissioner Denny, R. R. C. reports 115 Guides and Brownies in No. 1 Company, Cowichan.

Miss Denny and Miss Geoghegan were asked by the committee to accept an invitation to attend the next meeting of the Cowichan Chapter of the I. O. O. F., and to ask their support in building a most necessary club room for the company. As the number of Guides increase the need for suitable quarters becomes most urgent. The proceeds of the dance on October 13 is for this object.

Nanaimo, Oct. 8.—The Olympic Dancing Club, after numerous requests from the dancing public, has decided to commence its Fall series of dances, which will be held every other Saturday night in the Odd-fellows' Hall. The management of the Olympic is using every effort to make its dances up to the minute in every respect with good dancing and first-class music.

Seek Accused. Port Alberni—L. Arnold Hanna, coroner, has returned from Kyugoot, where he was called to investigate the death of three Indians. Two men and one woman were shot by one of the Indians, who is still at large. Jack Bartlett, Dominion Indian Police, and H. Wood, Provincial Police, are still in Kyugoot looking for the fugitive.

PUPS and POEMS!!

1 Most every pup likes lots of fun. Though few as much as Number One. But if the fact he would disguise He'd shut or open both his eyes.

2 A laughing pup is Number Two. He's had his meal . . . just got through. And now he's grinning, for he knows Another pup who hungry goes.

3 New puppy Number Three is mad. He's walked for miles—it's really sad. His master never had before. For got to shop at Sam Scott's store.

4 Just look at puppy Number Four. He's squinting through the kitchen door. 'Tis Friday, and he has a hunch There'll be no bones for him to crunch.

5 A very foolish pup is Five. For many hours each day he'll strive To catch his tail, but always finds He's just that little bit behind!

SAM SCOTT wants to adopt a pup. Not the real, live, tail-chasing variety. What he wants is the picture of a pup to use as a trademark for his Boys' Store.

This pup, of course, must be popular with the boys. It must be a pup that 'most any boy would choose if his Dad took him to the pound to select his own birthday present!

Now, boys, here's the reason for this pageful of "PUPS and POEMS." It's a

COMPETITION FOR BOYS

Cut out the picture of the pup which you think will make the best trade-mark, then paste it or pin it to a sheet of paper along with this information:

The pup which most boys select will be the one adopted by Sam Scott as his trade-mark. One only of the NUMBERED dogs must be chosen by each boy. Boys over 18 years are not eligible to enter this competition.

To every boy who selects the prize-winning pup Sam Scott will give a gift of a leather belt.

You can mail or bring your choice to Sam Scott's Store. Mark the outside of your envelope "PUPS AND POEMS." Only one dog can be accepted from each boy.

This competition opens Monday, October 10th. Closes Monday, October 17th. Seven days only.

Names of all the boys who win free belts will be published in the Times and Colonist next week.

6 Poor little puppy Number Six. He's really in a awful fix. He stole some food, and so you see In future he must be quiet.

7 There are lots of pups like Number 7 Who gaze with wonder up to heaven. When they see an airship strange They bark—because it's out of REAR.

8 Pup Number Eight is thinking sad. The reason why—each little lad Will understand, when it's explained He's been mischievous—and cased.

9 A most ferocious pup is Nine. He loves to pull clothes off the line. But parents know, whose children wear 'em, If they're Sam Scott's, he cannot tear 'em.

10 Just look at me, I come from France. O-la-la! Just watch me dance. I may look funny—clawed here and there— But when I fight, look out! Beware!

CHINESE ENTERING THIS PROVINCE

Many Are Coming From Washington State

Cloverdale, B. C., Oct. 10.—That Chinese in droves are crossing the international border from Washington into British Columbia, and that with the limited forces at hand it is almost impossible to cope with the Asiatic invasion, is the declaration of Police Chief Mathieson. He believes, too, that with the advent of the winter months and the depression now existing in adjacent American cities the situation will become worse.

Two Chinese fell into the Cloverdale police chief's toils over the weekend and both were armed with ammunition. They had nothing but American money in their possession but appeared to be absolute novices at the game.

M. Rekounov, of the Foreign Trade Commission, explained that the Soviet agents had been forced to buy wherever possible in order to break the blockade. COMMUNIQUE DURING THE IRISH CONFERENCE

London, Oct. 10.—Desmond Fitzgerald, Sinn Fein "Minister of Propaganda," here with the Sinn Fein delegation for the conference to-morrow, said to-day he expected the conference would decide to issue an agreed-upon communique daily as was done when Eamonn de Valera, the Irish "Republican" leader, met Premier Lloyd George in London some time ago. If the Irish representatives have a stenographer present, he declared, the Sinn Fein delegates will claim a similar right, having brought a man from Dublin with them for that purpose.

No Statement. Whatever decisions were reached by the British conferees this morning were kept closely to themselves, an official of the delegation dismissing inquiries with the statement that the matters to come under review at the first meeting to-morrow were the negotiations to determine another meeting of the Cabinet Ministers will be held to-night.

Premier Lloyd George does not expect the initial conversations to be lengthy appears to be understood by his telling representatives of Labor organizations this morning that he would receive their delegation at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening to hear their proposals relative to the unemployment situation.

Chas. B. Graddon, president of Bridge River Timber and Manufacturing Company, Limited, whose company are offering an issue of half million dollars through the Montreal investment firm of J. Spencer Rogers & Co., Ltd. The proceeds from this issue, it is understood, will be used for development of the company's large pine-land holdings in the Lillooet district of British Columbia where they own an area consisting of nineteen thousand acres. The company is capitalized at $1,250,000. The company can utilize the Panama Canal for shipment for its lumber from coast to coast which will enable them to place their products in eastern markets at a much less expense than rail rates allow. Illustrating the importance of this, "Canadian Lumberman" says: "The Canadian Deep Waterways and Power Associations reports that a scheme is now under way by which British Columbia lumber may be brought to Toronto all the way by water at a cost of 10 per thousand feet less than the cost by rail. At the present time, one man is shipping two cargoes of lumber from B.-C. via the Pacific, Panama Canal and St. Lawrence. Montreal for $40 per thousand feet board measure, or several dollars less than the cost if it were brought by rail. This same man estimates that he can ship the lumber to Toronto, if he can secure the necessary barges, at from $10 to $15 per thousand feet less than it would cost by rail. If the St. Lawrence were deepened the large ships could come from British Columbia all the way to Toronto."

GRAINS UP AT CLOSE TO-DAY

(By Burdick Brothers, Ltd.) Chicago, Oct. 10.—Wheat.—For the first time since the decline set in, the market showed a definitely firmer undertone and prices closed one to two cents higher all around. The reason is to be found in the general decrease in hedging sales and a letting up of the intense pressure from the country. Elevator companies are buying in some cases fifty per cent. less grain at their country houses, and although the volume of grain moving to the terminals is still considerable there is less of it coming on to the market. The seaboard cables are more cheerful and owing to firmness of sterling the export demand for wheat was much improved. The trade is divided as to the outlook, some feeling that the bottom has been touched and others that the country will come back with a rush and swamp the market again. A fair volume of business went through the cash markets.

Winnipeg, Oct. 10.—The general tone of the local wheat market was stronger to-day and with a decided slackening up of sales in the country the market reflected a good improvement from the week-end close. There was a slight drop from the high of the day when all closed sales were reported, but prices held fairly steady and closed from 1/2 to 3/4 higher. There was considerable buying for New York accounts. Cash wheat showed a general advance of 1/4 c. At the close No. 1 Northern Premium was 1/2 over the option, while No. 2 and 3 were 1/4 and 1/2 under. Oats and barley prices deteriorated on the option. Flax and rye were unchanged.

CAVE MAN MOTIONS PROVED UNTRUE

Scientist Corrects Errors About People Who Lived in Stone Age

Have you a modern incarnation of cave man in your home? If you think so, do you consider him Homo Neanderthalensis, or your pet Cro-Magnon? If you haven't given a thought to classification, do so at once. More modern man, in science anyway, is making a distinction in cave man types, and it may be necessary for you to throw overboard a whole pack of cave man notions.

H. J. POLLARD WAS WELCOMED HOME

Victoria School Official Back in Ancient Bristol

"Quits" in The Bristol Observer writes the following of H. J. Pollard, Supervisor of Music in the school here, who has been visiting his home city in England:—"Quite a large number of Bristolians have, within my own circle of friends, left the city at various times, to take up positions in distant parts of the world. I met one quite recently. Mr. H. J. Pollard, who will be remembered as Knowle, particularly in musical and educational circles. Mr. Pollard, I may mention, left the city about thirteen years ago. He gravitated, in course of time, to British Columbia, where, in Victoria, he holds the important position of Supervisor of Singing in Public Schools. I was delighted to see him back in dear old Bristol, and he, on his part, was equally gratified to have a "run round," as he called it, and to meet his old friends. He spent a good time here, but he also paid hurried visits to other parts of the country, Scotland and Wales. And everywhere he had cordial welcome, which, he tells me, he greatly appreciated. Mr. Pollard paid special attention to the practice of music in the schools which he visited, and spoke in praise of the methods and efficiency of the teachers. He was also brought in touch, at a lecture in London, with Mr. Robert McLeod, M.B., the well-known musician.

Early Bristol.

Mr. Pollard spoke reminiscently of Tottenham Baptist Chapel, where he was choir-master for a long period, and expressed great pleasure at having again met the Rev. George Jarman, while he was recently staying at Bristol. By the way, he learned from him that Mr. Wallace Jarman, who lives at Edmonton, and represents that widely known Bristol cocoa city at various times, is well in health, and characteristically energetic as always. He went to Calgary to visit Mr. Pollard as he was passing through on his homeward journey, and expects to meet him there on his return. Local rugbyites will be pleased to have this news of him. Wallace did much, in his magnificent play, to help build up, many years ago now, the reputation of the Bristol Rugby Club. Mr. Pollard showed me a walking stick that had belonged to the late Mr. W. H. Phillips, a former Bristol journalist, who died in the Dominion, and which was afterwards presented to him. Mr. Phillips is buried in Ross Bay Cemetery, and Mr. Pollard, as a personal friend, attended the funeral.

Good Impressions.

Mr. Pollard, I was glad to learn, is carrying away with him for he sailed a few days ago—some good impressions of his native city. He had, in years, apparently had not made a great deal of difference. There had, as he said, been many changes, and alterations, but he was struck by the progressiveness of the people in the Dominion, they are enterprising and pushing, availing themselves of every new facility for industry and business. I am afraid, regarding our own city, he was not greatly impressed with our ordinary business methods, which lacked the spirit and push that he thought possible. His twelve weeks in the Homeland, however, were inspiring and enjoyable. His impressions, when he reaches his destination, will doubtless interest many other Bristolians in the Dominion.

GLOOMY DEAN URGES POPULATION CUT

Says Nation Should Get Closer to Nature

Dean Inge, known as the "Gloomy Dean," told members of the National Liberal Club recently that the population of the country would have to be reduced. He said he believed the people would be much happier if the population was more sparse and the people lived under conditions that were nearer to those of Nature.

The Dean added that he welcomed any means of reducing the population if it could be done without suffering.

VICTORIANS ARE ACTIVE AT U.B.C.

Local Students Prominent in 'Varsity Life

Vancouver, Oct. 10.—(Special to The Times).—University students are hard at work again after the holidays and, according to some of the professors, are showing more interest in their studies than in former years.

This improvement is to a great extent a result of the fine "college spirit" ensuing at 'varsity this year. A more noticeable result of this spirit is to be seen in the keen interest taken in the various student activities.

That Victorians are not backward in this respect is shown most clearly perhaps in the case of Reg. Hodson, who besides captaining the senior rugby team, holds the office of president in the Men's Literary Society and also in the Engineering Discussion Club.

D. Hincks, another Victorian, has distinguished himself by his fine play in the tennis tournament. He was eliminated in the third round by L. Baker in one of the finest matches played to date in the tournament.

Several Victorians are bidding for and are showing considerable promise. Among these are Heber Jones, Bickett, Davy, White, M. Dickson and Archie McVittie.

The rugby enthusiasts at the 'Varsity are looking forward to a very busy season, there are to be three University teams. The first team has been entered in the McKechnie Cup series and is expected to give a good account of itself.

The forward line will be practically the same as that which played against the famous St. George's team at Christmas. The back division has been greatly weakened by the loss of several stars, including "Lou" Hunter, of Christmas Day fame, but Captain Hodson and Coach McLachlan are very pleased with the new material and expect to have a strong three-quarter line in shape for the first game.

The second and third teams will play in the Vancouver City Senior and Intermediate Leagues, respectively.

COURT OF APPEAL SUSTAIN JUDGMENT

The Court of Appeal in Vancouver on Friday afternoon sustained the award of $3,900 by a Victoria jury to Mrs. Marie Simpson against the Grand Trunk Pacific Coast Steamship Company.

The damages were given Mrs. Simpson for a fractured ankle, caused by stepping through an unprotected hole in the Government wharf at Stewart. Mrs. Simpson had just left the gang-plank leading to the Prince Albert. The trial was before Mr. Justice MacDonald.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL IS ENTHUSIASTIC ON BOY SCOUT WORK

The first meeting of the Dominion Executive of the Boy Scouts Association in Canada, at which the new Chief Scout for Canada, His Excellency Baron Byng of Vimy, Governor-General of Canada, was present, was held recently in Ottawa. The first item of business was the adoption of a resolution, expressing gratification at His Excellency's acceptance of the highest office in the gift of the Scout Movement in Canada.

Replying to the resolution, His Excellency expressed the satisfaction and pleasure he felt at becoming head of so worthy and important an organization. He believed wholeheartedly in the great benefit the Scout Movement was doing to the entire country. His Excellency told how, before the war, he became so thoroughly interested in the movement that he had studied and gone right through every grade, finally winning the Silver Wolf, which is the highest decoration in the Scout Movement. He recalled the occasion when he had formed twenty-eight troops in the county in which he lived. He had also started one of the first, if not the first, scoutmasters training course. In conclusion he said he accounted it a pleasure while in Canada to do everything he could to help the Scout Movement.

Sir Robert Baden-Powell, speaking of Canada's new Chief Scout, says: "We may be assured of another particularly sympathetic chief, since he himself before the war was an ardent Scoutmaster and Commissioner. I am certain that I speak for the rest of our family when I congratulate our brother Scouts in Canada on the acquisition of such a true Scout as their chief."

Nervous Breakdown

The extreme depression and discouragement which comes over one at times is the most alarming symptom of nervous exhaustion.

This letter is a message of hope to all who find themselves in this unfortunate condition.

Mrs. Geo. T. Tingley, Albert, N.B., writes:—

"For years I was in a very nervous, run-down condition, was much depressed in spirits and suffered a great deal at times. The least noise would irritate me and at times I felt as though I certainly would go crazy. I consulted different doctors to no effect.

"A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and I can truly testify today to the great benefits received. There was a marked change before I had finished the second box and when I had used a dozen boxes my nerves were thoroughly restored and I was entirely relieved of those terrible feelings I used to have. I shall ever be ready to testify to the benefits of this wonderful medicine, feeling sure that it will give to others the quick and permanent relief it has given me."

COMPANY DEFENDS ONE-MAN CAR

Tells Council New System Would Be Satisfactory

The case for the one-man car of the type which will be put into operation here if present plans are carried out, is explained in a report which A. T. Goward, local manager of the B. C. Electric Railway Company, has forwarded to the City Council. This report will be considered by the Council to-night.

The report follows, in part:—"It is not too broad a statement to make that the electric street railway is a vital necessity, not only to the people living in the larger centres of population in Southern British Columbia, but to a very large centre of population on this continent. Furthermore, there is no new method of transportation in sight which has established itself as being capable of meeting all-round requirements of the travelling public, particularly in the rush hour requirements, as the electric railway. The history of the operation of the electric railway business during the past few years has been that, with the rising cost of materials and labor, the cost of giving transportation service has been greater than cost met by the fares previously in force. General increases of fares have taken place all over the continent, and realizing there was a limit to the increase that could be charged, great attention has been given to means of reducing the operating cost so that with a reasonable expenditure of service could be continued to the public.

Experiment a Success.

"Some five or six years ago a one-man car was tried out in certain districts and has proved such a success in fact, and in principle, that it has been copied in other towns, and to-day it is established that the one-man car is the one avenue through which it is possible to make a case for the development of street railway service at reasonable rates and without loss to the company operating.

"The electric street railway within the territory covered by the B. C. Electric Railway Company has not been profitably operating for some years past, and this particularly is the case in the less crowded sections of the territory such as Victoria, New Westminster, North Vancouver and certain of the outlying lines adjacent to Vancouver. These sections are without question eminently suitable for one-man car operation and are absolutely necessary to the districts they serve. These lines are now operated at a heavy loss, which loss could be considerably reduced with a percentage of the improved service by the use of the one-man car.

"Operating under the present two-man basis, the situation is so serious that it is a question of either being unable in future to extend and expand when the growing needs of the community require this extension, or to continue to operate at all in these unprofitable sections of the company's system.

"There is a very direct connection between the fare which must eventually be paid by the traveling public for transportation and the cost of giving that transportation service. It is to those at present and in the future needing transportation that the transportation system should be burdened with the cost of the one-man car, and it is unnecessary.

Rights of Public.

"The people in the territory we serve are entitled to the most economic form of transportation which has been proved effective and suitable to the district, and it is our claim that the one-man car operation for suitable districts, such as those to which we have referred, is not only as efficient as two-man car operation, but has the positive advantages which make it really preferable apart altogether from the question of saving in operating expenses.

"In the City of Victoria, operating with two-man cars on the six-cent fare, the cost of operation for the six months ended June 30, 1921, was $12,886.30. It is estimated that with the present cars altered for one-man operation the cost of operation would be reduced to $11,000.00, a saving of $1,886.30.

"The cars operating in the Cities of North Vancouver and New Westminster have never operated at a profit, and it is estimated that in Vancouver at least no loss would be incurred, and in New Westminster step accidents in the one-man car would be reduced by fifty per cent.

"On investigation into the operation of converted cars for one-man operation in the Cities of Vancouver, Calgary and Lethbridge much interesting information was secured.

Three Distinct Factors.

"In considering the question of one-man operation, there are three distinct factors that should be given close consideration, namely:—"What will be the result to the company?"—"What will be the attitude of the general public?"—"What will be the attitude of the men?"

"We have already indicated what the anticipated financial results to the company will be and in the present very serious transportation condition, we need hardly emphasize that this is a very important matter from the company's standpoint. We also anticipate that there will be a saving in step accidents in the one-man car control, for the doing away with the dual control and the necessity for signalling places the responsibility upon the one man only and he is in a better position to know just when it is safe to start the car than if he is dependent upon a signal from a conductor.

"With regard to the general public, it is probable that at first there may be a criticism from those who do not understand the economic necessity of the change; but in other cities it has been found that after the change is made the general public strongly approves. This we would like to be the case in every city we visited.

Hostility of Employees.

"The attitude of the men, there is no question but that at first the men's attitude will be hostile, but we firmly believe that ultimately the men will like the one-man operation. In every city we visited we made a point of discussing this question with the operators themselves, and in no case did we find any dissatisfaction. On the contrary, in every case the men spoken to said he would sooner have all the work to do himself, and further, that he found he made as good time by himself as when there were two in charge of the cars.

"It is fully realized that the operation of this type of car throws more work and added responsibility upon
