TOURIST TRAVEL IS JEOPARDIZED

Sight-seeing Concerns Alarmed Over Sunday "Blue Law"

All Publicity Literature Is Tied Up

"After spending five years in publicity work, and thousands of dollars in pamphlets trying to get Victoria on the map of the Canadian and United States Travel Bureau literature it looks as though we might just as well hang crepe on our plant and go out of business so far as keeping up tourist sight-seeing facilities are concerned," Cameron & Calwell informed The Times this morning.

Instructions were issued by the police yesterday that the operation of sight-seeing cars on Sunday came under the "Blue Sunday" ban. Persons arriving in the city yesterday were afraid to go aboard the cars on hearing the intimation that the operators were likely to be proceeded against.

Thousands of pamphlets are ready to go to press and in the case of Cameron & Calwell alone a 75,000 order is being held up pending the outcome of the case. Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle and Banff are the four resorts which are featured in the C. & C. circuit.

Cannot Discriminate.

"If this circuit is broken Victoria will be dropped from the map. Our literature cannot differentiate between Sunday and any other day so long as tourists keep traveling by rail and steamboat. We have a most comprehensive system of touring, and coupons are sold for the Victoria sight-seeing trip by travel bureaus all over the continent. On one Sunday alone we have sighted a party of one hundred whose coupons bring them to Victoria on that day.

It is impossible to compute the amount of inconvenience and the injurious consequences of all this non-sensical talk about stopping the sight-seeing cars from operating on Sunday, declared Mr. Calwell.

"There is only one medium whereby tourists can properly see any city and that is through the sight-seeing cars, whether they be four-seaters or twenty-four. If, therefore, the city is going to interfere with the circuit already established in which Victoria has been made to figure, it means that every travel bureau on the continent will drop this city in the literature spread broadcast.

"We might just as well put the flag at half-mast and advertise the fact that the city is dead and buried if this sort of thing is going to prevail. We are in the position now that all of our immense advertising campaign is held up pending a decision," concluded Mr. Calwell.

LAUNDRY INSPECTED BY CITY OFFICIALS

Spring Cleaning Device at Victoria Steam Laundry

Mayor Marchant, Alderman Perry, Alderman Woodward and Alderman Gillespie, were the guests of the Victoria Steam Laundry this morning when they were shown the new machine which has been installed there in order to enable them to conduct the cleaning and drying of curtains on a higher standard. They were all perfectly satisfied with the new machine, which is a decided advantage over the old system, doing away with the pins which generally tear the material.

The laundries of United States and Canada are conducting a curtain drive, and the local laundries are doing all in their power to promote the drive in this city. An invitation is extended to all who are interested in the Victoria Laundry plant to come any Wednesday afternoon in the month of April and inspect the equipment. Special machines have also been installed for the drying of pillows and quilts.

LET WATER FLOW FREELY, MERCHANT ORDERS OFFICIALS

But Mayor Is Firm Towards "Blue Sunday" Protests

A tourist of unknown identity arrived in Victoria the other day and found that the City not only was in for a period of "Blue Sundays," but also—and this worried him more—it was impossible to get a free drink of water anywhere. He left the City after that and has not returned, but to-day Mayor Marchant, on arriving at his office found an indignant letter from the gentleman lying on the Mayor's desk.

As a result of the gentleman's emphatic and somewhat profane pleas, the Mayor gave orders that the drinking fountains at various street intersections in the business district should be turned on immediately. But the Mayor was deaf as far as the anonymous correspondent's pleas for a more liberal attitude towards Sunday observance was concerned.

The Mayor said to-day that he would take no further action to enforce the Lord's Day Act until Attorney-General Manson returned to his office. As soon as Mr. Manson returns his Worship will forward him a list of the names of all establishments which remained open yesterday and ask permission to prosecute them.

The Mayor learned to-day that, while many establishments owned by white men remained open yesterday, Chinese stores, for the most part, were closed.

YOUNG MEN WILL CONCLUDE SEASON

Varied Programme of Entertainment for To-morrow

The Young Men's organizations at the local Y. M. C. A. plan to conclude the year's work with a big banquet on Tuesday evening commencing at 6.30 o'clock sharp. The dinner will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Building, with Harold B. McDonald, president of the Acmy Club, occupying the chair.

A fine programme of speeches and musical numbers has been arranged for the function, which promises to be the most successful yet held by the Acmy and Young Men's Clubs of the institution. The joint executives have been working hard to guarantee the success of the affair, and are leaving no stone unturned to secure a large representation of the membership at this gathering.

The speakers and members of the club will be asked to forget about the past and look into the future, the dinner being called "A Futurity Banquet." T. W. Cornett, instructor of history at the High School, will talk for 20 minutes on "You and the Future." Several members of the organization will deliver brief speeches, including Newton E. Pullen, Oswyn Boulton and William C. Hudson, who will give their views of the men, governments and sciences of the future. Harold C. Cross will discuss the future of the Young Men's Division.

During the supper period, the Y. M. C. A. orchestra under the leadership of J. T. Barratt, will give a number of popular orchestral selections. Community singing will be one of the features of the function, members of the audience being asked to join heartily in the rousing choruses.

Harold A. Beckwith and J. W. Francis, two well-known Victoria singers, will contribute several vocal numbers, while Harold Basset will render a violin selection.

Already tickets for the banquet are in demand, and members and their friends who intend being present at Tuesday night's function are requested to obtain their reservations at once in order to avoid possible disappointment. Tickets can now be secured at the Y. M. C. A. office.

The Acmy and Young Men's organizations have completed a very successful season. Throughout the past eight months, both clubs have made substantial progress and some very instructive and education-gatherings have been conducted. The series of "Citizenship" meetings at which outside speakers addressed the members proved thoroughly enjoyable and were attended by a large number of young men. It is therefore ap-

PRESENTATION OF FINANCE TO W. J. GOEPEL

W. A. McAdam Appointed Assistant Deputy Finance Minister

Deputy Ministers of the Provincial Government and officials of the Treasury Department under the Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, are gathered at the Parliament Buildings this afternoon to make two presentations to W. J. Goepel, who retired at the end of last week, after twenty-nine years of faithful work in the public service of the Province. He has been Deputy Minister of Finance for British Columbia since April 1, 1913.

Mr. Goepel's first office in the Civil Service was in the capacity of a clerk with the Government's agent in Nelson in 1893. Three months later he was appointed Mining Recorder and on May 3, 1894, he assumed the position of acting Gold Commissioner and Government Agent at Nelson. In 1896 Mr. Goepel was appointed Inspector of Offices, in which capacity he showed tact and ability. In 1907 in addition to the duties of Inspector of Offices he assumed the office of Deputy Minister of Lands for a period of a few months, and in July, 1910, while still holding the office of inspector he was appointed a member of the Civil Service Commission.

Mr. Goepel has been succeeded by E. D. Johnson as Deputy Minister of Finance. Mr. Johnson for the last three years has been Assistant Deputy Minister.

W. A. McAdam, who has been acting secretary to the Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, and who last year was secretary of the municipal investigating committee and who, at that time, prepared for the Legislature the report on the finances of the municipalities of the Province for the last ten years, has been appointed Assistant Deputy Minister in succession to Mr. Johnson.

BOXING BOUT AT COMMUNITY CENTRE

Varied Sport Programme Held at Armory

The "dust-weight" twins Jimbo and Albie Davies fought out an exciting draw in the feature attraction of the evening at the Community Centre Saturday night. Plenty of action was put into the four rounds, which held the attention of some two thousand spectators.

The final score in the basketball fixture was 22 to 17. The Advance and Falcons staged the battle, the latter winning.

Another interesting sports feature on the programme was that put on by the 12th Siege Battery in the swimming pool. The first event, the men's handicap, was won by Jimmy Muir, closely followed by George Lovett. Muir, however, captured the novelty event, and proved himself a popular winner.

The 5th Regiment Bugle Band made a initial appearance and played some entertaining selections during the evening, while the programme was concluded by dancing to music rendered by the 5th Regiment Band under the instructor of A. Rumsby.

MAYFLOWER LIST NOW ESTABLISHED FOR COAST COLONY

Sir Leicester Harmsworth Presents Archives to British Columbia

Premier Oliver Announces Acceptance For Library Here

Premier Oliver to-day announced the acceptance by the Province of the first official documents in connection with the founding of the colony of Vancouver Island, which have been presented to the Province by Sir Leicester Harmsworth through F. C. Wade, K. C. agent-general for B. C. in London.

The documents include the appointment under the Great Seal, dated July, 1849, of His Excellency Richard Blanshard, the first Governor and Commander-in-Chief over the Island of Vancouver and its dependencies, his instructions and warrant, and an autograph letter from Rear Admiral and Commander-in-Chief Moreby, W. A. B. Hamilton for the Commissioners of the Admiralty and Rear Admiral Phipps Hornby.

"The archives also include the original lists of British passengers to Vancouver Island by the barque Harpoon, 1849, the barque Tory, 1851," the Premier said. "These lists contain many names still well known in Victoria and on the Island, and will hereafter constitute a sort of Mayflower list of the first colony."

"Another book consists of many official documents on the colonization of Vancouver's Island. Kingdon's Bay Company rule and returns to addresses. The two books and the book receipt containing the Great Seal are all bound in superb electric blue morocco tooled in gold.

Always For Public.

"Sir Leicester Harmsworth, who has enriched the Government of B. C. with this magnificent gift stipulated that the archives should be always on exhibition and readily accessible in the Legislative Library at Victoria."

He stipulated that his identity should not be revealed. Mr. Wade says in a statement to the Premier. "I strongly urged that the publication of the name of the donor might lead to many other persons in Great Britain in possession of autograph letters and other archives of the first colonization of the Island to follow his example and add to the historic treasures of the library. On these representations being made he finally consented to the publication of his name."

In July, 1849, Richard Blanshard was duly appointed Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over the Island of Vancouver and its dependencies, by a commission under the Great Seal of the United Kingdom. The Governor reached Victoria in H.M.S. Driver on March 10, 1850. On the following day he landed and read the Proclamation in the presence of Commander Johnson and the officers and servants of the Hudson's Bay Company. By this simple act, Vancouver Island became the first British colony in the North Pacific."

Came About At Dinner.

The Premier explained how this important gift came to be made.

"At the Wolfe anniversary dinner at Westminster, Mr. Wade, K.C., Agent-General for B. C. in London, was seated next to Sir Leicester Harmsworth and was deploring the fact that Canada had failed to purchase the Mackdonald-Wolfe papers which were sold at Sotheby's last Summer and bought by him for £5,000," the Premier went on. "He remarked that Mr. Wade must not assume that Canada had not bought the archives and added, 'By the way, I have a present for you, the earliest archives of British Columbia.'"

"These are the same original papers and seal that were offered us last year for £290, with this difference, that they were magnificently bound in power loom morocco and tooled with gold," says Mr. Wade in a communication to the Premier on the subject.

"I am sure you will regard this as a very valuable gift to the Province, in accordance with Sir Leicester Harmsworth's stipulation, the library will, no doubt, make a special display of them when they arrive and will ever afterwards keep them where they are easily accessible to the public."

COMMENT ON DEATH OF C. HAPSBURG

Little Sympathy in Declarations of German Newspapers

Berlin, April 3.—In their obituaries of Charles Hapsburg, former Emperor of Austria-Hungary, the Berlin editors have liberally made reference to what they term the doubtful role he played as Germany's ally in the great war.

"This," says the Allgemeine Zeitung, "is the black shadow which rests upon the picture of the last wearer of the Hapsburg crown. His political activities put the patience of the defenders of the monarchical system to a severe test."

Most of the newspapers characterize Hapsburg as a youth who temperamentally was wholly unqualified for the role of monarch, and declare that his death will arouse little sympathy in Austria or Germany.

Postponed.
Budapest, April 3.—The marriage of Paul Horthy, eldest daughter of Admiral Horthy, Regent of Hungary, to Lieut. Fay, which was to have taken place in the royal palace tomorrow, has been indefinitely postponed on account of the death of Charles Hapsburg, former Emperor of Austria-Hungary.

Last Moments.
Funchal, Madeira, April 3.—"Oh God, Thy will be done. Into Thy hands I commit my soul and the care of my wife and children. I offer Thee my life as a sacrifice for my people."

Thus spoke Charles Hapsburg, former Emperor of Austria-Hungary, serene and calm, at the moment of his death.

His body, dressed in the campaign uniform of an Austrian field-marshal, lay to-day in the Chapel of the Archduke of the house that had been his residence since he came to Madeira an exile. After it had been embalmed, the body was placed in a leaden coffin with an outer shell of mahogany. The Bishop of Funchal said mass in the Mortuary Chapel to-day and the local authorities made calls of condolence.

On Tuesday the body will be removed to a private chapel in the cathedral, pending transfer to a mausoleum in the cemetery of Monte Campo.

It was learned to-day that Hapsburg had been ill for ten days before a physician was called to attend him.

William Irvine, M.P., States His Views in Montreal

Montreal, April 3.—William Irvine, Labor M. P. for East Calgary, speaking at the open forum of the Montreal Labor College here yesterday, said that while there was a foment in Canada leading toward a revolution which would eventually lead to a new social order, the time was not yet ripe for action, and would not be until there had been a considerable process of organization and development in education.

"The old people," said Mr. Irvine, "are no good. They are worse than useless. If we had 500,000 first-class funerals to-morrow of people of forty-five and upward, it would help."

GIVES DISPLAY OF EX-SERVICE MEN'S WORKSHOP PRODUCTS

Dr. Wace Speaks to North Cowichan Red Cross Society

(Times Correspondent)
Duncan, April 1.—At a silver tea under the auspices of the North Cowichan Red Cross Society which was well attended, Dr. Wace had a display of the work done by disabled ex-service men.

A very clear short address told of the work done in British Columbia, particularly in the Red Cross workshops of Victoria and Vancouver. The qualifications for employment in the shops were 27 men in Vancouver and 21 in Victoria have permanent work were told.

Workshops in towns and industrial farm colonies in the rural districts were the two schemes that gave most adequate results for disabled or partially disabled men. Those who could secure employment in the open market or with a very considerate employer were not eligible.

Dr. Wace outlined what had been done in other countries and strongly advocated this work being done by one organization so that there would not be overlapping and burdensome overhead expenses. Either the city workshop or the farm colony should be self-supporting with the aid of a government subsidy.

The excellent display of work was examined by the audience. Many of the articles which were of most finished workmanship would make excellent wedding presents and at the moment are very apropos in view of the number of weddings to take place after Easter.

A very pleasant bridge party was given by members of the Labor Committee in the library rooms and the Cowichan Women's Institute room, the folding doors between being thrown open.

Mr. and Mrs. Snow charmed those present with their delightful songs. Miss Clack played the accompaniments. The proceeds go to the library fund.

FARMERS AND MERCHANTS WILL EXCHANGE VIEWS

(Times Correspondent)
Metehosin—A joint meeting of farmers of the Metehosin district and merchants of Victoria is being arranged, the meeting being about increased co-operation and a better understanding between the producer and distributor.

The meeting will be an outgrowth of a gathering of the Metehosin Farmers' Institute last week when several members of the development group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and several residents of the Metehosin district spoke. Those from Victoria who addressed the meeting were: H. C. Hall, M. P. P., Mr. Kerr, W. A. Jameson and R. W. Mayhew, and the others who spoke were: C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, who was in the chair, and R. I. Van der Byl, F. C. Blake, of Metehosin; H. C. Helgesen, of Metehosin; F. F. Higgs, of Albert Head; A. Vernon, Albert Hoad, W. O. Sweetman, of Metehosin; Major M. W. Brook and Lady Emily Walker, of East Sooke, and Mr. McCloy, who is Victoria Director of the Royal Agricultural Society, in addition to holding other offices.

The motion endorsing the proposal to hold a joint meeting was moved by F. C. Blake and seconded by H. G. Pierce.

Musical items were presented by H. G. Pierce, conductor of the Metehosin Concert party, those taking part in the programme being the ever-popular Mrs. Ned Ashe, Miss Elsie Rising and Mrs. Brown, with recitations by Mr. Harry Vernon and the Rev. F. Comley.

NURSING QUESTION UNDER DISCUSSION

(Times Correspondent)
Metehosin, April 1.—An extraordinary committee meeting of the Victoria Rural Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada was held in the Luxton School House on Friday. The meeting was called to decide what to do regarding the car used by the nurse in charge which is in a very bad condition. Mr. Sloane, president of the Association was in the chair.

R. I. Van der Byl, vice-president, testified to having ridden in the car and found the condition to be every bit as bad as asserted to be. E. Shields, motor mechanic, who has been engaged on sundry repairs to the car, stated that it would cost more to fix than the car is worth.

Mr. Burgess opposed the idea of the transfer of the car, as proposed for a new one, and after a lengthy discussion the following resolution was moved by J. Stuart Yates and seconded by Mr. Van der Byl: "That a committee be appointed to examine the condition of the car and if in their opinion it can be put right and in good condition for a sum not exceeding $250, and they can obtain a tender for a sum within that limit the committee be authorized to let a contract for the said repairs." A rider was added at the suggestion of Mr. Burgess: "And in the event of the repairs costing over $250 the committee be empowered to purchase a good second-hand car, not exceeding the sum of $450."

The committee appointed being Messrs Burgess, Marshall and Higham; Mr. E. Ash and Mr. Van der Byl having declined to accept nomination.

Mr. Dinsmore, of the National Motor Club, testified to having made a thorough examination of the car and found it to be in an absolutely out and out condition, saying that he managed to get around to her work at all with it. Mr. Dinsmore was assured that, had it not been for the districts in helping to "push up" hills she could not have carried on.

Mr. Dinsmore conveyed a generous offer from the National Motor Co. in the event of transfer with that firm.

Anaemia

Thin, watery blood is no more nourishing than thin, watery milk—skim milk.

But you can soon enrich thin blood, overcome the anaemic condition and build up the whole system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. F. G. Simmons, 42 Curtis St., Brantford, Ont., writes: "For about eight years I suffered from anaemia. My circulation was poor, my gums and lips were pale and my hands and feet were always cold. I was nervous and unable to sleep well. I had frequent headaches, seemed restless and easily worried or irritated. There was a buzzing sound in my ears. Indigestion was also one of my complaints, and I often was attacked by weak spells. I went to a doctor, who told me I was anaemic, but as I did not get any better I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after the first box I felt brighter and my headaches completely disappeared. I continued using the Nerve Food for quite a while. I am quite well now, and cheerfully and gratefully recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to people suffering as I did before I used this splendid medicine."

JUDGE METCALFE DIED IN WINNIPEG

Member of Court of Appeal; Was Fifty-two

Winnipeg, April 3.—Mr. Justice Thomas Llewellyn Metcalfe, a judge of the Court of Appeal of Manitoba, died at his home here Sunday afternoon after a protracted illness, aged fifty-two. The strain to which he had been subjected in the many months in which he presided over the trial of the Winnipeg strike leaders held in the latter part of 1919 and the earlier months of 1920, had so completely broken his health that he had never since been able to recover. He had come to suffer from high blood pressure, with hardening of the arteries, and efforts to overcome the effects of the tension under which he had borne his judicial duties in presiding over these two lengthy trials

STREET RAILWAYS ASK PUBLIC FUNDS

Halifax, April 3.—If the Nova Scotia Legislature adopts the Bill to change the rule of the road from left to right, the Halifax Tram Company will claim compensation to the amount of $50,000 on account of the changes which it says will be necessary in the tracks and cars. Other companies in the Province will present similar claims. It is claimed that the British Columbia Government compensated the Pacific Coast Tram Company to the extent of $350,000 when the rule was changed in that Province.

A masquerade dance was held in the Luxton Hall, on Friday, March 31, under the auspices of the hall committee. Two ladies prizes were awarded, Mrs. Hall carrying off the first, dressed in Spanish costume and Miss Gladys Baxter the second, as Mother Goose. No gentlemen prize was awarded, it being the opinion of the judges that there were not sufficient male costumes to warrant competition. The judges were Mr. J. E. Shields, Mr. P. W. Pearson and Mr. Mugford. Refreshments were served by ladies of the district. Proceeds will be given to the Hall Committee.

MURDER DONE IN MONTREAL STREET

Montreal, April 3.—Following what the police believe to have been a hold-up, during which the contents of the cash box were stolen in a cobbler's shop at No. 4 Clark Street

Masak Gapirovitch, forty, was shot by one of the three men whom he was pursuing at 8 o'clock Saturday night near the corner of Clark and Craig Streets. The descriptions of the murderer and his accomplices are very vague.

Early Sunday morning the police arrested a man in connection with the shooting, while three other men were held as witnesses.

AMERICAN LAWS HAVE SAME EFFECT

Geneva, April 3.—The United States Government is unable to sign the anti-white slave convention drawn up by the last Assembly of the League of Nations as it conflicts with the police regulations of certain states in the Union. Secretary of State Hughes has notified the League Secretary here.

The American Government, however, is in full sympathy with the object of the convention and Congress has passed laws to the same end, Mr. Hughes points out.

BRITISH-AMERICAN RELATIONS.

By reason of an intimate knowledge of Western life and Western conditions, none the less by virtue of a thorough appreciation of the significance of an international boundary line without a single gun or fort, and even more especially because of a personal intimacy of the extent to which the world at large depends upon cordial amity between the two branches of the English-speaking Commonwealth, it was small wonder that Sir Auckland Geddes should have selected British-American friendship as one of the two principal themes of his entertainingly earnest discourse on Saturday night.

It is not necessary to point out that the speaker never has feared anything more serious than an interchange of diplomatic notes upon some division of opinion between the Governments of the two nations; but it is in the personal sense that Sir Auckland sees such excellent opportunities for both peoples to render the Anglo-American cause an even more lasting and valuable service than is possible to render through the studied phrasing of an official document of friendly tone. He believes, and every individual who recognizes the common bond of tongue and aspiration should believe, that the future peaceful interests of the world are wrapped up in the conduct of these two members of the human family.

Sir Auckland emphasized the fact that the unguarded word and the thoughtless criticism very often provide excellent material for the sinister individual whose chief mission in life is to try and drive a wedge between the British Empire and the United States. The speaker understands the sentiment of the great masses on both sides of the Atlantic well enough to discount the results of these troublesome meddlers; but he belongs to a school which does not believe in doing things by halves. On that account his message to the Canadian Club on Saturday touched a phase of British-American relations that concerns the individual. Everyone should mark it and act upon it.

TOWN PLANNING.

It is not a nice admission to have to make; there should be no grounds for it; but the fact remains that in some parts of this Canada of ours—a country almost in its infancy—we have slumps that would run some districts in the larger cities of the Motherland a fairly close second. Because of this fact we are glad to observe that the Convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia has gone on record in favor of town-planning legislation for this Province. Happily for us in Victoria we have nothing of the kind that need worry us to any very great extent; at the same time there should be legislation on the statute books of every Province in Canada that would guarantee every new township and the extension of every thickly-populated centre against the dangers of over-crowding. It has been established over and over again that one of the prime causes of tuberculosis can be traced to housing and ventilating conditions that are not fit for civilized beings. Surely Canada will profit by the costly lessons which have now been learned by older countries. Town-planning is no longer regarded as the whim of the fanciful architect; it is looked upon as a concomitant of healthy standards.

TESTING THE WELSHMAN.

Led by the Northcliffe press and The Morning Post, all the forces that could be marshalled against the British Prime Minister are ready to do their level best to defeat the motion that he intends to move in the House of Commons to-day. There is nothing complicated in its terms; it will invite the assembly to approve or disapprove of the plan which Mr. Lloyd George proposes to follow at the Genoa Conference. One of the foremost considerations in that programme is the political recognition of Soviet Russia and all that therein involved. If the majority in favor of the motion is judged by the Prime Minister himself as sufficient to warrant his personal attendance as the leader of the British delegation at the gathering in question, he will go there and still remain in office. If the motion should be defeated, or its passage only gained by a small margin, his public career and the future of the Coalition would become immediately involved. In that event the political pot in Great Britain would promptly boil over.

ALMOST THE LAST.

Nova Scotia's Legislature is engaged in the discussion of a bill that is designed to change the rule of the road from left to right. If it shall become law a number of street railway companies will immediately petition for compensation to such an amount as may be deemed necessary to give effect to the alteration of equipment. British Columbia's interest in this question is found in her own recent change and the cost involved. Incidentally, Nova Scotia may take some consolation out of the fact that the alteration has been brought about here without serious accident of any kind.

GO TO WORK.

It would be difficult for the Empire to discover any better advice than that which Sir Auckland Geddes gave to it on Saturday night when he said that it should go to work. He employed no economic formula as a sort of stepping stone to the few plain words which contained his own prescription for present ills. Could anything be simpler or more to the point than this:

"Quite apart from the international side of things, there is at the present moment work, more than enough of it, at every man's hand, to bring back at anything like a near date the prosperity that was ours and the world's before the War. I wish my voice were a hundred thousand times as strong as it is and whatever influence I have a million times as great so that I could repeat to my fellow citizens everywhere that now is the time that the Empire requires the whole-hearted work of every one of her sons and daughters regardless of where they may dwell."

Sir Auckland could have gone further afield with his advice. He could have gone on all sorts of excursions of an international or of a local kind at will. He could have told the whole world to go to work and drop its playing with fire. His message was as much for the individual as for a Nation or an Empire. Every community needs men and women who will work and work hard. The slacker by choice is as much out of place now as he was during the time when half the nations of the world were at one another's throats.

THE AERIAL WORLD TOUR.

Canadians will be interested in the announcement that the flight around the world that is about to be undertaken by Sir Ross Smith and Sir Keith Smith—the aerial experts who have already flown from Britain to Australia—will bring the brother pilots to Canada. While it looks as if Victoria will not be included in the itinerary, present arrangements indicate that the Northern part of the Province will be able to extend the first part of the Canadian welcome after the Behring Straits have been crossed. In any case this country's interest in aviation and her own excellent record as disclosed by recent statistics will add warmth to the wishes for success that will go from the nation as a whole.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is now reported that a new serum has been discovered that will reduce pneumonia to a minor disease. Weak-chested people will hope that it is true; and those who are thoroughly robust should remember that one phase of the last half century's medical research has been littered with marvellous "cures." While some speculation has taken place as to the identity of the person who would succeed Mr. Lloyd George in the event of his early retirement there does not seem to be any rush for the job.

France says she is in a position to force Germany to pay her bills. There is not the slightest doubt about it; but it would be better for the peace of the world and Europe in particular if public men would refrain from making war-like statements.

In spite of the uncertainty in the political world of Britain at this stage of the game it would come as a surprise to nobody if Mr. Lloyd George should get his motion through the House with a good sized majority.

IRISH "REPUBLICANS" STOPPED MEETING

(Continued from page 1.) newspaper a description of the Castlebar meeting, says all the roads to Castlebar were blocked with trees and all automobiles moving toward the town were stopped by armed men, who even tore up the railway tracks to prevent the arrival of the special trains from the surrounding towns. The crowd numbered 2,000, among whom were many hostile to Collins, who spoke from a lorry. His speech was frequently halted, and then an attempt was made to rush the lorry. A supporter of Collins drew a revolver. Others produced revolvers also, upon which the crowd was stampeded, women fainted and several persons were injured. A young man was pursued into a side street and a number of shots were fired. At this point, adds the correspondent, an officer jumped upon the lorry, which made up the platform, and declared the meeting adjourned in the interest of peace.

New Oath.

Dublin, April 3.—The campaign of election oratory continued yesterday. Eamonn de Valera addressing a demonstration at Dundalk. Referring to the new peace pact, he said that already in Northern Ireland it was regarded as a scrap of paper. The serious extent of the split in the ranks of the "Irish Republican Army" was revealed yesterday afternoon when of the five Dublin battalions which had been ordered out to take a "new oath of allegiance or an oath with similar implications" not fewer than 2,000 men obeyed the republican appeal and marched to Smithfield. There, in the presence of Liam Mellows, Rodrick O'Connell and other noted heads of the republican movement, they took an oath of allegiance to free themselves from any further responsibility to the Daily Bulletin.

Free Speech.

The sitting committee of the Sinn Fein, composed of both republicans and Free State adherents, passed a resolution Saturday expressing the earnest hope that the right of free speech and public assemblage would not be interfered with by either side in the election campaign. Notices appeared in the newspapers ordering, as a result of the action taken at the recent Irish Republican Army convention, a boycott of Dublin and Drogheda. A whimsical touch was imparted to the announcement by the sale of goods in stock might be obtained on application at Grand Orange Hall, which was seized on March 25.

IRISH FREE STATE MEN TURNED AWAY FROM BARRACKS

Mullingar, County West Meath, Ireland, April 3.—An incident not without sensational developments anticipated here occurred this morning when one hundred Free State troops marched to the gates of the barracks occupied by "Irish Republican Army" adherents of Eamonn de Valera and were refused admission.

LONDON, APRIL 3.—The Morning Post learns that "Republicans" on Saturday forcibly occupied the Killdarney Street Club, Dublin, which is the principal rendezvous of the land-owning class in Ireland.

CITIZEN OF BELFAST KILLED IN HIS HOME

Belfast, April 3.—John Mallon answering a knock at the door of his home in Skeggon Avenue last night, was confronted by a gang of men who asked if his son was in the house. Upon replying in the negative, Mallon was shot dead. A bomb thrown into a bedroom in the house of John Simpson in Arlington Street, wounded two children, aged 3 and 6.

CROW'S NEST COAL MINERS ARE IDLE

has been a considerable decrease in the number of men employed, probably amounting to one-third of the total. Reports indicate that everything south of the Edmonton field is tied up, railway, steam and domestic. In the Edmonton domestic field, all mines were operating on Saturday except the Pennia Evansburg which was shut down for lack of orders.

Deferred. Calgary, April 3.—Settlement of the miners' strike in District 15 will be deferred until April 10, following a preliminary meeting of the conciliation board for the Alberta and British Columbia district in Calgary Saturday. The adjournment of the meeting was at the request of the operators, who stated that it would greatly facilitate the business of the board if both parties were given a week in which to prepare their material.

MINERS ARE READY FOR COAL INQUIRY

(Continued from page 1.) Indianapolis, Ind., April 3.—The first test of strength in the nationwide suspension of work by union coal miners came to-day, the beginning of the suspension on Saturday, an annual holiday, among miners, having failed to determine the exact effectiveness of the strike. At the headquarters here of the United Mine Workers of America, confidence was expressed that the day's developments would confirm the union estimate that 600,000 men, among them 100,000 non-union workers, had laid down their tools. A tacit truce between miners and operators was counted on apparently to make the union estimate of idle men a certainty. Few if any operators in the big coal producing centers that are strongly organized were expected to attempt an early resumption of operations. The situation, however, was in doubt in the non-union and open shop districts.

No Attempt.

Operators of the Pennsylvania anthracite mines were not planning an immediate resumption of work and reports sent here indicated a similar attitude on the part of the operators in the central competitive field and the Southwest-Interstate district. These three districts have more than 400,000 employees, all union men excepting about half of the 150,000 anthracite workers. States included in this stronghold of the strike were Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

In addition, Central Pennsylvania and West Virginia, along with the smaller coal fields, were counted on to increase the ranks of the idle men. Bullets. Beckley, Va., April 3.—The first shooting in the West Virginia mine fields since the strike was called was reported from Royal, Raleigh County, to-day. A car filled with miners was fired upon from the Fayette side of New River, and while bullets fairly hailed around them and the clothing of one miner was pierced, none were hurt.

7,000 Idle. Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 2.—Seven thousand railroad employees, members of coal crews, found themselves out of employment to-day as a result of the coal mine suspension in the Wilkesbarre district alone. 2,000 railroad men were idle. Long trains of loaded cars have been moving out of the classification yards since the tieup began, and it is expected the region will be cleaned up by to-night. The coal is being stored on sidings nearer the large cities.

Indiana. Terre Haute, Ind., April 3.—Union miners in Indiana are about 100 per cent. strong, according to reports received to-day at headquarters of District No. 11 in this city.

REMEMBER FOUR CENTS ON LETTERS TO NEWFOUNDLAND

Post Office Issues Bulletin to Citizens. Postage Rate on Letters for Newfoundland.

The attention of the public is called in an official Post Office bulletin to the fact that the Imperial rate of postage applies as regards letters posted in Canada for Newfoundland, the charge being four cents for a one-cent letter, and three cents additional for each extra ounce. There appears to have been considerable irritation caused to Newfoundland addressees of letters posted in Canada owing to the being insufficiently prepaid, involving collection of double the deficiency on delivery at destination.

Use of Small Cards or Envelopes to Be Discouraged.

It is desired that at the coming Easter season the public should be urged to discontinue, as far as possible, the use of small cards or envelopes and with this in view, the attention of the public is to be brought to this matter in every possible way. The following objections to the use of small cards and envelopes are pointed out: 1. As a result of the small size of the cards or envelopes, the Post Office cancellation mark frequently falls on the address, partially obliterating it, with the possibility that the article may be misdelivered or at least delayed.

2. There is difficulty in the post office sorting and handling of small cards and envelopes, and this unavoidably causes delay.

3. There is also difficulty in putting small cards or envelopes through stamp cancelling machines at meter offices, and this too causes delay.

MONTREAL CUSTOMS.

Montreal, April 3.—Returns for March of customs and excise receipts for the port of Montreal were $6,623,235, as against $7,864,419, for March, 1921. Falling off in imported goods from the United States is given as the cause of the decrease. Returns in February last were $5,890,853.

LETTERS
IMMIGRATION
To the Editor—I will just write a few lines on your article, "Immigration," of March 21. It is a great pleasure to see that the papers of Victoria are alive to the fact that immigration and colonization are absolutely essential to the development of this vast province. We will deal with the immigration end in this letter. If we are unable to induce the people of Great Britain to emigrate in sufficient numbers to fill our requirements, we must then turn to other countries which have a surplus population. The United States is our nearest neighbor, and we have got a great many of her citizens and her capital in Western Canada to-day. More could be got if the resources of our country were fully known. Are the people of the United States being told what we have to offer? Our agricultural resources should be the first thing to be brought to their notice. After the United States the countries of Northern Europe, say Belgium, Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Iceland will be the most suitable. The people are not hard to move if they are offered some inducement. The countries are over-crowded and the young people are ready to emigrate where there is a chance of bettering themselves. I left Germany out of this purposely, not because I think they are undesirable immigrants, but it takes a little time to wear off the sores of the late war. If we look across the boundary line into the United States we find a number of her very foremost citizens Germans or of German origin, and the doors of Canada and British Columbia should not be locked against the industrious people of that country. For the most part, the people of Southern Europe and South-eastern Europe are not desirable immigrants in large numbers, for the reason that they mostly flock to the cities, and the people that we want primarily are for agricultural development. An immigration policy coupled with a really sane, sound colonization scheme would do more to bring back prosperity to this country than anything else. Hungry hordes of Europe are no menace to us, the immigration laws of Canada take care of that. The people that we want are the people who have a sufficient amount of capital to move from their own country out here and have a sufficient amount left to start farming.

THE LOVE PETAL

By NANCIBELLE HALE

"Well, where was I at? Oh, yes; well I tried an' tried to dress to suit my gen'man friend—his name is Oscar... it ain't much of a name, but it seems just right for him. Then I heard the head millinery designer in our place say that hats was being made smaller in the head size, 'cause the stylish women was all havin' their hair bobbed. That give me a wonderful idea. If I bobbed hair was 'the latest' I'd have mine cut off. So one Saturday when I was off from work I goes to a beauty parlor and orders it bobbed. It made me sort o' sick when I sees the scissors whack my 'crowning glory,' as I saw hair called in one o' them Ruby Ayres novels, but I was game an' I gritted my teeth hard an' let my eyes tight, thinkin' all the time 'bout how Oscar would like the change in my looks. Girls sure is fools, ain't they?"

"When the Frenchman what cut it off says 'Ver' hat's marvellous'—them Frenchies do know when a girl is married and when she's not—I opens my eyes an' takes a squint in the mirror an' then I does a baby stunt an' cries 'I was a fool, I was a fool, I looked like the wrath o' Gawd—non-est! Did y' ever see a chicken with half its feathers pulled out? That's what I was like. I cries and cries, an' the Frenchy gets scarce. He tells me it won't be so bad after I gets used to it. It ain't so bad to hang when y' gets used to it.' I tells him, 'Then he tells me I'll be beautiful if I gets a permanent wave. He'll stay in six months, says he, an' I'll make my hair fluffy and thick lookin'.' Well, he didn't lie, but it cost $20 more than a week's salary. I couldn't go home like I was, so I tells him to go ahead if he'll let me owe him $5 till the next week, which he does."

"I'll never forget that day if I live to have a dozen grand children. He takes what little hair was left and parts it off just like pictures I seen in the movies o' little nigger kids down South. Then pieces o' hair he screws up on rags and puts in some kind o' iron things... my head looked like one of them Scotch bagpipes they used to play in parades durin' the war. The girl who cut my hair waitin' an' hopin' that I'd look like some'thin' human after all this agony."

"A last he takes away all the trimmin's and combs it out. It was fluffy, that's what the milliner said for it. It was so kinky I couldn't figure whether it was better or worse than it was before. The main guy pats me on the shoulder and it'll be all right in a few days, he says, it'll be wavy and not so kinky. I couldn't argue with him—it just couldn't be helped."

"I goes on home and that night Oscar comes 'round. He gives me one look and then he tells me I look like the deuce. I wouldn't stand that insult from nobody and we agrees to disagree. I ain't seen him since and the Frenchy was right—my hair did come out all right and Oscar don't know it ain't such a fright after all. Since we parted it just don't seem like I can forget him, for I was right and I guess that's what made me faint. Love don't agree with some folks—it gets the best o' their digestion, seems like."

"She sighs and looks out of the window of the cab, now moving slowly along upper Fifth Avenue."

"Haven't you heard from him since that eventful night?" asked Neata.

"He wrote an' wrote to me, but he was sorry and that I was his only Sweetie an' that he'd crawl on his knees to me if only I'd let him, an' Susie Kelly, what saw him while she was goin' to business, says he told her he was mad about me, but I ain't never answered him. I don't know what to do—it's most drove me coo-coo."

"Now, dearie, I've told you all my troubles, what d' y' think?"

"With her shop girl's 'dearie,' Neata had bridged the gulf which separated her from Neata's. The barriers between New York saleswomen and their prospective customers had, Neata often noticed,

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TO-NIGHT

THE EARLY BIRD

"My dear," said Mr. Robin Redbreast to his wife one morning. "If you do not stop feeding those youngsters they will never be worth anything. Why, they open their mouths as soon as they open their eyes in the morning, and expect us to drop into them all the food they can hold."

"Sometimes wonder if young birds are hollow inside. I never saw such eaters as they are. I believe these children eat more than any we ever brought up."

"You always say that, Robin, about every brood we bring up," said Mrs. Robin, "but I assure you would not be proud of scrawny-looking children when they leave the nest. You know our children are always big and fat."

"They ought to be," said Mr. Robin, "such eaters as they are. But it is time to teach them something besides how to open their bills, and I hope you see to it at once."

Mrs. Robin knew she must do something, now that her husband had spoken, for he would bring no more worms to feed the youngsters, now he had expressed his mind. So she began

PREPARING FOR FISHING SEASON

J. E. Watson Leaves for Kyuquut; Oriental Licenses Reduced

Before leaving on the Maquinna for the West Coast on Saturday, J. E. Watson, of Vancouver, who with his brother is interested in the salmon and herring fisheries stated to The Times at the Dominion Hotel that a fairly good season may be expected. Spring Salmon will be running from now on to July, the Watson Brothers' salmon plant being located at Kyuquut, while the herring season will not come in until the Fall. Owing to the suggestion to restrict American boats buying fresh salmon, which is extensively carried on at present, thereby enforcing the purchase on the other side of the finished product rather than the raw material, Mr. Watson indicated that it would result in a considerable stimulus to Canadian fish operators. The plan was resisted by the fishermen who desired the competition in prices. He said it might be fairly considered that with the limited outlay for trolling necessary, and good prices prevailing, the West Coast fisherman was not doing badly. That was particularly the case now that the Japanese fishermen's licenses on the West Coast had been cut down from about 300 to 190, the situation last year being that about 60 per cent of the fishermen were Orientals while the situation is now about reversed in favor of the white fishermen.

Mr. Watson, speaking generally on conditions on the West Coast, expressed the opinion that the Victoria business interests did not give enough attention to the development of the Coast settlements, and the progress made was not commensurate with the development of the Island elsewhere. He believes a fertile field is being neglected.

W. R. Lord, of the Nootka Cannery, also arrived on Saturday from Vancouver, en route up the Coast to his plant.

ANTI-VIVISECTION SOCIETY ANXIOUS TO PROTECT DOGS

Considerable business was transacted by the committee of the Anti-vivisection Society at a recent business meeting, when a report of the last month's work was given by the secretary. Letters were read from Dr. Herbert Snow, J. W. Bengough, Prof. Levanzin, P. H. Borradaile, British Union for Abolition of Vivisection, London, and Provincial Anti-vivisection Society, and others. Extensive plans were made for the circulation of literature and the enlargement of the work, generally. The annual meeting was fixed for Thursday, April 20.

A petition to Parliament to exempt dogs from vivisection has been forwarded from the East, and is appended.

"That whereas it has been brought to the attention of your petitioners that dogs have been and are being used extensively in many places in the Dominion of Canada for the purpose of vivisection, which practice is the experimenting or operating, by any person, in any manner whatsoever, upon any living dog for any other purpose than the healing or curing of said dog of physical ailment."

"And whereas, your petitioners believe that vivisection entails cruel pain and suffering on dogs so used."

"Therefore your petitioners pray that it may be enacted to be a criminal offence to use, sell or purchase dogs for the purpose of vivisection."

Copies for signature may be found at the offices of Learning Bros., Broad Street; secretary's office, 323 Sayward Building; S. T. Hankey, Bank of Montreal Chambers, and with members of the committee.

to think of a way she could coax her children from the nest and teach them to hunt for their own food.

Mrs. Robin is such a good mother that she lets her children impose upon her, as everyone knows; for many a time after young robin is able to fly he will sit crying on a bush for his mother, like an overgrown baby, until something frightens him and he is obliged to use his wings.

"The little darlings," said Mrs. Robin, flying up to the nest and looking at the open mouths that greeted her. "It is a nice day, my dears," she said. "Don't you want to try to fly?"

"No, no; we are hungry. We want big fat worms," cried all the big babies together.

"You will have to find them yourself," replied Mrs. Robin, though it broke her heart to be so harsh with her children. "So you had better begin to fly to-day."

By night she had them all out of the nest, and though they did not fly far, she knew she had made a beginning, and she brought them each a worm as a reward.

"We want big worms, not little ones," said the young robins.

"Early birds are the ones that catch the big worms," said Mrs. Robin, "and I was so busy teaching you to fly that I was late getting after worms and the early bird got the fat ones."

"Who is Early Bird?" asked one young robin.

"He is the bird that gets up early in the morning before any other bird is out of its nest and gets the biggest worm," said his mother. "Now you all go to sleep and see who is the early bird in this nest."

All the months closed and so did the little black eyes and pretty soon Mrs. Robin too was fast asleep.

Mr. Sandman had not thought about getting up and Mr. and Mrs. Robin were both sound asleep when out of the nest flew one young robin and down to the ground he went. "Early Bird won't get the big worm this morning," he said.

Pretty soon he flew back with a very plump long worm and dangleing it over the nest he began to chirp until all the family were awake.

Open came the months of all his brothers for they thought their mother was there to feed them, but Young Robin proudly displaying his prize to his Mother cried, "I am the Early Bird that found the worm and I am going to eat it."

When his brothers saw the breakfast on the surface, but the ground they flew and Mrs. Robin, as she watched them hunting for worms chirped to herself, "I am glad I thought of that early bird. It is a much nicer way to start them looking after themselves than to push them out of the nest. I always dreaded doing that."

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE MINES

Prince John Claims.
Papers were signed on Tuesday whereby C. A. MacKenzie of Victoria has taken an option and working bond on the Prince John, a group of eleven mineral claims owned by James Nesbitt and Andy Archibald, says The Portland Canal News.

This property, one of the well-known old locations of the district, is situated five and one-half miles from town on the west side of the Bear River, and at the nearest point is within about two miles of the Premier mine. The claims run from the bank of the river to an elevation of about 2,500 feet, and take in a considerable bit of what might be termed the eastern slope of the Premier ridge.

There are on the property three large leads, running east and west, at an elevation of about 2,000 feet. All these are traceable for several hundred feet on the surface, but the excessively heavy overburden makes following them a difficult task. The character of ore in all these leads is very similar, gold and copper being the predominant minerals. It is a not been uncommon to find free gold in the ore taken from a number of the open cuts on this property.

A good camp is already built at about the 1,900 foot level, where a 200 foot crosscut tunnel has been driven, giving a depth of over 100 feet on the second lead.

LOCAL OFFICERS ATTEND FUNERAL

Funeral services of Lieut.-Col. A. B. Carey, C.M.G., D.S.O., late colonel of customs, took place Saturday from Christ Church, Vancouver. It is pleasant and nice to take, and relieves the cough or cold in a very short time and thus prevents bronchitis, pneumonia, or perhaps consumption getting a foothold on their system.

I have tried different remedies, but I seem to get the best results from Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I have no difficulty in giving it to them as they like it. I always have at least one bottle in the house." Price, 25c. and 60c. a bottle, at all dealers. Put up only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. (Adv.)

Cup-Finalists May Drop Back to Second Division

London, April 3.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Unlike cup tie games where the fate of teams is decided more or less immediately, the battle for league positions is invariably protracted and is now entering its keenest phase.

As regards the First Division, Liverpool's lead should make them safe winners, but the fear of relegation is producing an interesting situation at the other end of the table where Yorkshire, Lancashire, the Midlands and London are all concerned. Even the cup finalists, Huddersfield, are by no means safe, while Birmingham's crushing defeat has placed that team with the danger zone.

Notwithstanding the competition of the Oxford-Cambridge boat race, the match between Arsenal and Middlesbrough attracted 40,000. The Northern wings, Crosbie and Barrett were particularly conspicuous and frequently bombarded the cross bars. Arsenal's gallant struggle has become a centre of interest and yesterday's noisy game with the assistance given them by Everton's defeat, may well decide the relegation issue. Middlesbrough's high goal average is eloquent of many vivacious games, of which that of Saturday was no exception.

Pacific Coast League Will Open To-morrow

San Francisco, April 3.—On four western ball lots, the Pacific Coast Baseball League to-morrow will open its 1922 season, which officials have predicted, will be the greatest pennant race ever staged in the minor league.

In the opening games Seattle plays at San Francisco; Oakland at Sacramento; Portland at Los Angeles and Vernon at Salt Lake, and reports received here indicate that capacity crowds will jam every park.

In San Francisco the advance seat sale is the greatest in the local club's history.

In Sacramento a half-holiday has been declared.

In Los Angeles the Sunday exhibitions alone have been drawing 10,000 and in Salt Lake interest is so great that one organization has invited Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball's high commissioner, to pitch the first ball.

President W. H. McCarthy, of the league, says he confidently expects the season to be the greatest in the club's history. Competition will be keen among the ball players, he thinks, because this year the league, for the first time, has created a fund of $20,000 to be distributed to the seven leading clubs. The club finishing first will get $8,000; the second place club $4,000; third place $3,000; fourth $2,500; fifth $2,000; sixth $1,500 and seventh $1,000.

Weismuller Is Regarded As a Human Hydroplane

New York, April 3.—A human hydroplane, John Weismuller, of the Illinois Athletic Club, is being developed to represent the United States in the Olympic Games at Paris in 1924.

In the opening games Seattle plays at San Francisco; Oakland at Sacramento; Portland at Los Angeles and Vernon at Salt Lake, and reports received here indicate that capacity crowds will jam every park.

In San Francisco the advance seat sale is the greatest in the local club's history.

In Sacramento a half-holiday has been declared.

In Los Angeles the Sunday exhibitions alone have been drawing 10,000 and in Salt Lake interest is so great that one organization has invited Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball's high commissioner, to pitch the first ball.

President W. H. McCarthy, of the league, says he confidently expects the season to be the greatest in the club's history. Competition will be keen among the ball players, he thinks, because this year the league, for the first time, has created a fund of $20,000 to be distributed to the seven leading clubs. The club finishing first will get $8,000; the second place club $4,000; third place $3,000; fourth $2,500; fifth $2,000; sixth $1,500 and seventh $1,000.

Nanaimo Scored A Splendid Win

Miners Had Little Trouble Defeating Wests, Who Missed Their Regular Backs

Visitors Have a Sweet Football Aggregation Which Handles Ball Well

Nanaimo's sweet-moving football eleven added the scalps of the Wests to their string in a football game played at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon. The game was one of the regular Island League fixtures and the final score was 2-0 in favor of the coal-diggers from up the Island.

In all fairness to the Wests, who were outplayed over practically the whole distance, it must be stated that they were playing under a very severe handicap. Both their backs, Bob Whyte and Harry Copas, were absent. In this regard the greatest strength of the Wests' team, their players were taken by two Garrison players, Spiers and Edwards. They did their best, but were unable to do so in the class of the Wests' regular backs.

Confidence Destroyed.

The absence of Whyte and Copas shook the confidence of the whole team. The back-backs seemed afraid of their backs and stayed too far back, with the result that the Wests' forwards plenty of chance to get going in mid-field. It also meant that the Wests' forwards had to go back into their own lines and carry the ball the whole distance.

Nanaimo has a very flashy team. The miners play real football, passing the ball with great accuracy, making splendid runs with their wings. They showed a real half-back in O'Donnell, right half. He is a splendid footballer. Their backs were extremely capable and the kicking of Dougal was exceptionally good. Hughes, their goalie, had very little to do, saving but two shots in the second half.

During the first half hour of play Nanaimo seemed to have a monopoly of the ball. The miners were inside the penalty area quite often, but their shooting was not very brilliant. They also resort to a little too much fancy work when close in. Shandley, the Wests' goalie, saved his team with several very brilliant clearances. The Wests finally showed a little life and Clarkson figured in some fast runs down his wing, while Archie Muir got his toe to the ball right in front and the pigskin just skimmed the bar.

Miners Get Goals.

Soon after the second half started the miners secured their first goal. When Spiers was down in clearing, Foster, Nanaimo's centre forward, rushed and carried the ball right in and scored with a fast shot. The miners continued to press and when Husband sent a beautiful centre across the goal-mouth McMillan reached the ball in time and tipped it into the net.

The Wests had two good chances to score when George Allan and Tommy Heynd broke through but their shots were terribly weak.

Towards the close of the game Stobart twisted his ankle and had to leave the field. But the ten miners left were good enough to keep the Wests from scoring.

Percy Payne refereed.

The teams were as follows: Nanaimo—Hughes; Spiers and Edwards; Thomas, Sid Sherratt and Baker; J. Sherratt, Allan Muir, Heyland and Clarkson.

Wests—McMillan; Dickinson and Dougal; Stewart, Stobart and O'Donnell; Wylie, McMillan, Foster, Fowler and Husband.

Looks Like Notts Forest

Notts Forest's victory, after they had dominated the game with Clapton throughout, gives them a good chance of securing the championship of the second division, including promotion to first.

Big Crowd Attended.

Dundee, April 3.—The semi-final Scottish Association Cup tie game between Morton and Aberdeen was played before a 30,000 persons in good weather. In the first half Aberdeen had the better of the play, but Morton was better at getting goals, French scoring two, the first after five minutes and the second after 30 minutes of play. The game was sternly contested.

LOCAL HIGH GIRLS WIN B.C. LAURELS

Defeated Westminster Girls in Fast Game; Boys Lost to Royal City Team

It looks like a basketball year for Victoria.

The local High School girls defeated the New Westminster Duke of Connaught girls' basketball team at the High gym, on Saturday night, securing the Thompson Silver trophy from them by a score of 12-10. This signifies that they are the Provincial High School girls' champions for 1922. In the second fixture of the evening the Varsity boys defeated the High School team by a score of 22-14. Victoria evidently has a natural aptitude for producing basketballers, and once again has proved her reputation when the local High School squad fought it out with the Mainlanders in an exceptionally fast game. The checking was heavy and the combination work flawless, which speeded up the game considerably.

Both Teams Showed Well.

In the first period the local girls showed themselves the superior, running up a score which gave them a seven-point lead over their opponents but at the commencement of the second spasm the Mainlanders opened up and gave the local team a taste of their skill which closed up the gulf between the two sides. The exceptional spurt which the Mainlanders put up was evidently the result of their complaint at having a Victoria referee, so Emsey Yeo, of the King Edward High School, of Vancouver, took over the position and handled the whistle for the remaining portion.

All points secured by the New Westminster squad must be credited to Miss A. Moiso, who secured every tally the Fraser River city got. On the other hand the Victoria team played a good combination game, also checking the Westminster forward hard, thus giving the edge of the play in their favor.

The boys' game was also a fast fixture, the Varsity boys showing excitement. The Varsity lads were of a much heavier type than the High School quintette but the latter team put up a good fight, hanging on to their opponents persistently throughout the game.

The line-up for the two games was as follows:

Westminster—Misses A. Gifford, M. Gifford, Embree, Swensky, Moiso.

Victoria—Misses Gates, Daniels, Crawford, Melville, Worthington.

College (men's team)—Ryan, Lockwood, Hartley, Lewis, McCannell.

High School—Bothwell, Collison, Geiger, Humber, Clarke.

MILTON ESTABLISHES TWO MORE WORLD'S AUTO SPEED RECORDS

Los Angeles, April 3.—Tommy Milton won the championship sprint automobile race at the Speedway yesterday, taking the second preliminary 25-mile sprint in 13 minutes 1.49 seconds, an average speed of 116.02 miles an hour, and the final 50-mile sprint in 15.2 seconds, an average of 115.2 miles an hour.

Milton was said to have established new world's records in both events.

LEADING JOCKEY IN SERIOUS ACCIDENT

San Diego, April 3.—Jack Hunter, leading American jockey of the 1921 season in winning mounts, and Carl Studer, a crack apprentice rider, were badly hurt in a spill at the Tia Juana race track this afternoon. Studer's mount, Evening Stories, fell as she was entering the stretch in the 100-yard race. The 100-yard race following close behind, with Hunter riding, fell over Evening Stories and rolled over Hunter.

Surgeons at the track reported that Hunter probably had a fractured skull, and that his condition was critical. Studer's left shoulder bone was broken.

Hunter has ridden over 125 winners in the race meet at Tia Juana, and has accepted an offer to ride in England this Summer.

Giant Crews Rowed In Saturday's Race

Victorious Cambridge Oarsmen Averaged Six Feet One Inch, While Oxford's Crew Went Exactly Six Feet Per Man; Light Blues Insured Each Man For $2,000 Against Drowning; It Was a Real April Fool On Dark Blues

London, April 3.—(Canadian Press Cable)—Great crowds, cheered by bursts of sunshine, lined the Thames on Saturday to see the university boat race, which ended in an easy victory for Cambridge over Oxford.

Cambridge brought out a very impressive crew, which averaged in height six feet one inch per man, including Pearson, who is six feet five and one-quarter inches.

Oxford's crew averaged six feet, including Earl, who is six feet five and one-half inches. Final weights showed Cambridge 179½ pounds and Oxford 172 pounds. There were five veterans in each boat.

The Cambridge men showed themselves the better crew on all points. They were never pressed at any stage of the race and finished fairly fresh.

Sympathy For Oxford.

Universal sympathy was expressed for the mishap which robbed Oxford of the title. Barter, who strained his back two days before the race, Padder, a substitute, rendered a good account of himself. A moderately easterly wind was blowing across the river as the crews launched, but conditions were almost perfect from a rowing point of view.

Cambridge won the toss and chose the Middlesex side. There was an exceptionally fast tide running when the crews got away at 4.40 o'clock to an excellent start, Oxford rowing 29 strokes and Cambridge 35.

In the first minute Cambridge quickly settled down to a long, powerful stroke.

Although Oxford led during the first half, Cambridge gained a good half length before passing the Fulham football grounds and nearly a length at the end of the first mile. Time, 4 minutes 12 seconds.

The Cambridge coxswain brought his boat over to the middle of the river before reaching Harrods, where his crew led by one and one-half lengths. At Hammersmith Bridge Cambridge was still one and one-half lengths ahead. Time, 7 minutes 50 seconds.

Oxford made an attempt at Chiswick to reduce the lead but the light blues were rowing well and kept the lead, reaching Chiswick Step two lengths in front. Time, 12 minutes 4 seconds.

Just a Procession.

Thereafter the race was a mere procession, although the dark blues occasionally spurred without avail. Cambridge was three lengths ahead at Barnes Bridge. Time, 16 minutes 6 seconds.

They spurred hard and fast near the end when they had nothing to fear and won comfortably.

Oxford finished in rather ragged style. Several of their men appeared somewhat distressed.

As a precaution against drowning or damage to the boat, Cambridge insured the life of each member of the crew for $2,000 and the boat for $625. This is the first time in history that such a precaution was taken.

Was a Joke This Time.

Oxford backers before the race claimed that April Fool's Day was

Bob Whyte Hero of Local Team; Rithet Cup Will Remain Here for Season

The Rithet Cup, emblematic of the British Columbia Senior Sunday School Basketball Championship, remains in Victoria for another year, following a splendid victory by the local boys over the speedy Crescents of Vancouver at the Vancouver Y.M.C.A. gymnasium on Saturday night. The "Y" gym was filled to overflowing with great excitement prevailed throughout the game.

The Crescents had a splendid record and entered the game as the favorites. They fell short, being defeated by 29-21. Victoria lost no time in securing a lead, 14 to 10 in the first 10 minutes, being quite a remarkable performance of speedy combination by McKinnon, Whyte and Little, and a hot shooting by Art Webster.

McKinnon, taking the throw-in from the side lines, scored the first point. Bob Whyte engineered one of his famous dribbles, flip the ball over to Art Webster, and the second point got him ready to change the score board.

Crescents Outplayed.

Twenty-two to seven pretty well tells the tale of the game. The Crescents being clearly outplayed, the latter, Webster rained missed in this period, scoring only one point in his period, nearly all from passes by Bob Whyte.

The second half was somewhat ragged, many fouls being awarded on both sides, but the score was made, the Crescents being unable to fathom the rapid passing of the Victoria forwards. Hunter and McBride starred for Vancouver in this period, bringing the score up to 29 and 21, and the Crescents in the Crescent rosters. Victoria, however, climbed again, Little and McKinnon scoring rapidly, the final score being 29-21.

Good Old Bob.

Bob Whyte, one of the finest games of his career, his brilliant dribbling and unerring judgment in getting the ball to the forwards resulting in basket after basket by Little and Webster, was clearly the outstanding figure on the local team. Victoria's last two baskets resulted in a 29-21 victory, a combination play of the evening. Each time the ball changed hands fully six times before the score was made, the Crescents being unable to fathom the rapid passing of the Victoria forwards.

The First Presbyterian line-up was as follows: Art Webster, Norman Forbes, Cal Little, Gus McKinnon and Bob Whyte.

Nancouver Takes Other Titles.

St. Mark's immediately won the B.C. Sunday School League championship when they defeated the First Presbyterian boys in a close checking exhibition. The checking in this game was too hard to permit much open play or combination, and the final score was 34-23. Vancouver opened with two baskets, and soon had the score standing at 7-2. Gosse and Breckenridge lived up matters and had the score tied in 10 minutes. St. Mark's kept up their attack and gained a larger lead until McKinnon found the basket again for Victoria, making the half time score, Vancouver 15, Victoria 9.

The second half was a thrilling affair. Joe Gosse had to retire to play at New Westminster, his place being taken by Art Birney.

Bad on Free Throws.

McGregor, Bird and Breckenridge did some good shooting, the excitement reaching its height when the score stood 17-15 with five minutes to play. St. Mark's team roughed things up a bit, but less than twenty fouls being awarded against them. The failure of the Victoria boys to score on free throws lost the game. Only three points were registered from twenty tries at the basket and this spelled disaster to Victoria's hopes. Meanwhile St. Mark's registered several field baskets in succession, and although Breckenridge and Bird added a few nice shots they failed to catch up to their opponents.

The First Presbyterians lined up as follows: Joe Gosse, 4; Ed Breckenridge, 3; Gus McKinnon, 2; Norman Forbes, 3; Art Bird, 4; and Dave Poublier.

Vancouver Juniors Won.

The St. Mark's Junior boys, of Vancouver, won the B.C. Junior championship of the First Congregational Church, Victoria, at Vancouver on Saturday. The final score was 16-12.

Playing without their best player, Byron Shier, who was unable to go to Vancouver owing to sickness, the Victoria lads put up a fine exhibition of basketball and were never outed out by two baskets in a thrilling finish.

Once again Vancouver had the advantage in weight. Victoria's middles being considerably lighter than the Mainland huskies. With the score 16-5

Paddock is Still Bettering Marks

Charley Shows Speedy Pair of Heels to Runners at Honolulu on Saturday

Honolulu, April 3.—Charles Paddock, California sprint wonder, on Saturday lowered his previous record for 120 yards by one-fifth second, running the distance in 11.2-5 and continued to the 125 mark in 12 seconds flat. The marks were made by continuing after a 100-yard dash which he won in 9.3-5 seconds.

Paddock is contesting local athletic events in a series of exhibition races. In the 120 and 125-yard distances he was without competition after the 100 yard mark. Beamer, of Hilo, was second in the 100 and was timed at 9.4-5 seconds.

Paddock also won the 220-yard dash, his time being 22 seconds. The wind was against Paddock most of the time in the 100 yard dash, but sided him somewhat in the 120 and 125, the track being curved.

The two teams had battled on even terms over both halves without any appreciable difference being noticed. Then an opening came just before the referee was about to call time. The ball moved to McNaught, and he shot the ball over the bar for the only score of the game.

Hoppe Will Quit; Is Dissatisfied

Former World's Billiard Champion Charges Commercialism Ruined Game

St. Louis, April 3.—Willie Hoppe, many years 182 ball line billiard champion of the world, has retired from the billiard game, it was announced here Saturday night by his manager upon their return from Chicago, where Hoppe failed to regain the title from Jake Schaefer.

In a statement last night, Mr. Benjamin charged that commercialism in the billiard game made it impossible for the former champion to compete for his lost title within eighteen months or two years.

Is Dissatisfied.

"Primarily, Willie feels that he has reached the age where his first duty is to his family," Mr. Benjamin's statement said. "For nearly ten years he has been touring the world giving exhibitions. Furthermore, he has been very dissatisfied with the manner in which the championship contests have been conducted during recent years."

Mr. Benjamin then charges that a billiard firm of national repute had commercialized the game, adding that the former champion's recent defeat by Schaefer had not stimulated his decision to retire from the game.

Hoppe and Benjamin will depart for New York to-morrow, where they expect to make arrangements for the future. They will be accompanied by Charles Peterson of this city, who has been Hoppe's opponent in many exhibitions.

A. D. PATERSON FLOOD ARBITRATOR

Named to Settle Damage Claims Against City

A. D. Paterson, Liberal member for Delta in the Provincial Legislature, has been named as arbitrator to settle the damage claims of property owners about Humpback Waterworks Reservoir against the city of Victoria as a result of the flooding of their lands last winter.

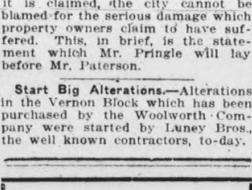

This announcement was made at the City Hall to-day after City Solicitor H. S. Pringle had completed the preparation of the city's case to be laid before Mr. Paterson. The property owners who are claiming damage from the city, it is understood, already have laid their case before Mr. Paterson.

The damage claims arose as a result of the fact that water from the city's waterworks system, it is alleged, overflowed and flooded the low-lying country about the Humpback reservoir. The city, in the formal statement which Mr. Pringle will forward to Mr. Paterson, asserts that the water which escaped from the waterworks system was a very small fraction of the total which overflowed the surrounding lands.

It is explained that the valves of the waterworks system were opened and certain water did escape but the accurate figures in the possession of City Engineer F. M. Preston, it is stated, show that the amount of water which thus escaped was relatively small. While the surrounding country was flooded during the winter to the depth of several feet, the water which escaped from the pipe line, it is explained, was sufficient to cover this area only to the depth of about two inches. Thus, it is claimed, the city cannot be blamed for the serious damage which property owners claim to have suffered. This, in brief, is the statement which Mr. Pringle will lay before Mr. Paterson.

Start Big Alterations.—Alterations in the View Block which has been purchased by the Woolworth Company were started by Luney Bros. the well known contractors, to-day.

FARNUM HERE IN DOMESTIC PHOTOPLAY

"His Greatest Sacrifice" Showing at Variety

Followers of William Farnum—and they are legion—will find fine entertainment in his latest picture "His Greatest Sacrifice," which will open at the Variety Theatre to-day.

In this story Mr. Farnum's superb acting ability, which has been a great asset to the screen, stands out more clearly than usual. He has a big dramatic part as the successful writer whose wife leaves him and he has time to her own advancement on the operatic stage.

"His Greatest Sacrifice" brings up a question quite common in modern times—should a wife have a career that interferes with the welfare of her husband, her home and her child? The question is answered in telling fashion in the photoplay. Still, those who see it may have a different opinion. It makes stirring drama and pulls hard at the heartstrings.

Reports from the William Fox studio in New York state that Mr. Farnum took more personal interest in the making of this picture than in any other, with the possible exceptions of "A Tale of Two Cities" and "Les Miserables."

Each day in his dressing room he went over the play scene by scene with his director, J. Gordon Edwards acting out every point on which there was any slight difference of opinion and finally getting all to a state where he and Mr. Edwards agreed they would be most effective.

UNIVERSAL FEATURE NOW AT COLUMBIA

Herbert Rawlinson Stars in "The Scrapper" for Three Days

"Tack up your troubles in your old kit bag and smile, smile!" That might have been the motto of the hero in "The Scrapper," but there isn't any record of the fact. "The Scrapper" is the Universal special attraction starring Herbert Rawlinson which comes to the Columbia Theatre.

It's the story of a dashing young Irishman right out of college and endowed with a hankering for two things—work and romance. And he has the sunniest sort of a nature. If he's winning, his only boast is, "I had ye there—yes, I did!"

When he is being beaten he doesn't pull a long face and set his chin like that of a bulldog trying to surround the neck of a collic with a two-inch jaw. He grins and waits till the clouds roll by with philosophical good nature.

But he isn't slow. Oh, boy, no! He tries to kiss a girl the first time he meets her, and because she won't do it he retaliates by marrying her before the finish. Gertrude Olmstead, the prize-winning beauty of pictures, is the leading woman opposite Rawlinson. Edward Jobson, William Welsh and Walter Perry are the chief character actors, and Fred Kohler and George McDaniels, the heavies. Al McQuarrie, Frankie Lee and Hal Craig complete the cast. Hobart Henley was the director in charge of the filming of R. G. Kirk's Saturday Evening Post story published as "Mallory Campeador."

ROYAL FEATURE IS POLLY OF THE FOLLIES

Constance Talmadge in Attractive Roll

"Polly of the Follies" is paying a week's visit at the Royal Victoria Theatre. According to our own opinion of Polly and from those around us whose conversation was sufficiently audible to reach us, she has left the impression of being a regular girl. She sparkles with mirth, knows how to play a prank as well as to take one, and just breathes ambition and animation. If you have a serious turn of mind you may find a moral beneath her story; but to the audience who welcomed her this afternoon she was simply pure entertainment.

Polly's right name, by the way, is Constance Talmadge. The star's latest picture opened at the Royal Victoria Theatre and made a distinct hit. The situations in which her peculiar ability has made the greatest strides were in evidence; backed up by a substantial story that had definite dramatic value.

Polly is a country girl who is yearning to escape the slavery of Uncle Silas, who, despite his wealth, has made her a household drudge. The stage offers a natural avenue of freedom, and Polly makes a pretentious start with an amateur movie show; but Uncle Silas comes along in time to crab the act. Bob James appears on the stage to lend a helping hand and Polly immediately idolizes him, only to discover that he is already engaged to be married to Alysia Potter, who is short on green cash but long on blue blood.

Bob retains a friendly interest in Polly and gives her such good advice on breaking in that she applies to Flo Ziegfeld. In the ensuing scenes she makes her debut in the Follies with such startling results that the conclusion of the picture is decidedly out of the ordinary run of famous-overnight aspirants.

Kenneth Harlan makes an admirable leading man and George Fawcett does some discriminating character acting. The rest of the cast is capable.

"Polly of the Follies" was written by John Emerson and Anita Loos especially for Miss Talmadge.

LAMPSON STREET SCHOOL CHOR IN RECITAL

On Friday evening that excellent organization, the Lampson Street School Choir, under its able supervisor and conductor, Frederick Waddington, is to give a recital in the Assembly Hall of the school. Some of the numbers to be rendered by this choir of seventy voices will include many of the selections given so successfully at the last G. W. V. and there will be no doubt that the support, not only of Esquimaux, but of this city, too, will be gladly given in the matter of attendance on the occasion.

Assisting in the programme will be Gertrude Hollinrate Brick, soprano; Mrs. Read, mezzo soprano; Monty Read, boy soprano of the choir; Ira Dilworth, in piano solo, and Rosemary Blackhead, in Irish dances. Miss Riddell will accompany the selections by the choir, and Ira Dilworth will act as accompanist to the soloists.

The choir will give nine items, in which such masters as Bach, Beethoven, Schubert and Henry Purcell will find a place.

GIRL WITH DUAL PERSONALITY Forms Subject of Remarkable Dominion Offering

The hazy memory of dreams or the reflex caused by some queer mental suggestion are the principal evidences of the average individual possessors of the existence of a subconscious self. The conscious mind is the ruling authority in all normal humans and it is only when this consciousness relaxes, as in sleep, delirium, or other similar phenomena, that the subconscious or under-mind rises and dominates the individual.

But there are cases—any doctor can cite them—when the two minds if they may be so called, are inverted and the subconsciousness obtains control. There are instances in the history of psychotherapeutics (the treatment of mental diseases) in which the conscious and the subconscious influences are in constant conflict for the possession of the mentality of the individual.

Such a case was used for the basis of the play, "The Case of Becky," which Realart has done in picture form. It is the story of a girl, Dorothy Stone, whose actions were controlled first by one influence and then the other. When Dorothy's conscious mind dominated her being she was a normal, lovable girl, but when her other self became the master, her whole character changed.

Physically, of course, there was no apparent change; the body was that of Dorothy Stone, but the mind was not. It was the mind of a mischievous, pagan, selfish creature, the exact antithesis of the demure Dorothy. At such times she called herself Becky, hating the other self, despising Dorothy Stone.

The changes were frequent and sudden. The kindly doctor who treated her, and the man who loved her, and whom, as Dorothy, she loved devotedly, never knew when she would become Becky.

The plot of the story, which also concerns the wicked designs of a brutal hypnotist, moves smoothly to a wonderfully dramatic climax in which the physician obtains the mastery and succeeds in driving the Becky personality into oblivion.

While "The Case of Becky" is founded on scientific facts and the Realart picture follows the lines of a well established line, yet it never appears technical in the least so swift and dramatic is the action throughout. Constance Binney gives a marvelous portrayal of the dual personality, a role which Frances Star made famous under David Belasco's direction.

"The Case of Becky" will be shown at the Dominion Theatre all this week.

TRIALS OF LOVE OCCUPY THEME

Dramatic Development in "Love's Boomerang" at Capitol

Dion Clayton Calthrop, author of "Perpetua," of which "Love's Boomerang" is a picturization, is a well known novelist who has written several novels of note in the past few years. The novel was published by John Lane, New York, in 1911, and attracted considerable attention. The story is an excellent one and lent itself admirably to picturization. It will be shown all week at the Capitol Theatre.

Perpetua, an orphan, is adopted by Brian McCree, an artist. They go to France on a holiday trip where they fall in with Monsieur Lamballe, proprietor of a circus who is in distress because he was compelled to pawn his elephant, "Marie Theresa," to satisfy a claimant. Brian redeems the elephant and for several years he and Perpetua lead the life of vagabonds with the circus.

Brian sends the girl to a convent and their parting is witnessed by Russel Fenton, an English rogue, and Saville Mender, his latest dupe. The latter is addicted to drink, a vice which Fenton encourages, inasmuch as Mender has left him a small fortune in his will. Fenton burns Perpetua's story and recognizes her as his own daughter, he having deserted her mother when Perpetua was a child. She is accused of her husband's murder and a verdict is brought against her on Fenton's testimony. He is the real murderer and finding Mender had changed his will, leaving every penny to Perpetua, Fenton writes a confession exonerating her and goes to Plymouth. An interesting and unexpected feature of tree planting in the Prairie Provinces is that in regard to birds. Since considerable planting has been done around Regina, the Provincial Game Guardian reports that several species of birds that have never been seen in that part of the country before have taken up their abode in Wascana Park and in the trees around the Parliament Buildings.

OCCUPY THEME

Dramatic Development in "Love's Boomerang" at Capitol

Dion Clayton Calthrop, author of "Perpetua," of which "Love's Boomerang" is a picturization, is a well known novelist who has written several novels of note in the past few years. The novel was published by John Lane, New York, in 1911, and attracted considerable attention. The story is an excellent one and lent itself admirably to picturization. It will be shown all week at the Capitol Theatre.

Perpetua, an orphan, is adopted by Brian McCree, an artist. They go to France on a holiday trip where they fall in with Monsieur Lamballe, proprietor of a circus who is in distress because he was compelled to pawn his elephant, "Marie Theresa," to satisfy a claimant. Brian redeems the elephant and for several years he and Perpetua lead the life of vagabonds with the circus.

Brian sends the girl to a convent and their parting is witnessed by Russel Fenton, an English rogue, and Saville Mender, his latest dupe. The latter is addicted to drink, a vice which Fenton encourages, inasmuch as Mender has left him a small fortune in his will. Fenton burns Perpetua's story and recognizes her as his own daughter, he having deserted her mother when Perpetua was a child. Her education completed Perpetua returns to London and meets Fenton and Mender at Brian's studio. Mender falls in love with the girl and begs her to save him from drunkenness by marrying him. EXCITING LIFE IN THE FOREST

Cherniavskys on Tour in South Africa

The following story is based on the experiences of Leo, Jan and Michel Cherniavsky and Howard Edie in the wilds of Africa, and was told by a member of the great trio that appears here.

"We arrived in Bulawayo on a broiling hot African day. This was our third visit and we were pleased to be back once more. From Bulawayo we took the train for Victoria Falls. An hour and a half before this wonderful cascade is reached, its falling can be heard distinctly, and you listen to a new and stirring melody accompanied by forest sounds. The music of many birds, the swish of the leaves created by the soft, warm breeze, the perfume of the wild flowers of the jungle soon lull one into forgetting the civilization that has been left behind. In the vicinity of the falls there is a wonderful suspension bridge—one of the most remarkable in the world—which is invariably full of lizards. Close by is the "rain" forest, where it perpetually rains. The downfall is caused by the spray by the falls. The beauty of this part of the forest cannot be adequately expressed—a unique aspect of it is its apotheosis by a genuine halo in the form of a permanent rainbow whose multi-colored radiations crown the spot day and night, in sunshine or rain, in moonshine or clouds. It is as though the Divine Artist had created this wonder scene expressing the spot day and night, in sunshine or rain, in moonshine or clouds. It is as though the Divine Artist had crowned its excellence—glorified it with a refulgence suggestive of the spiritual spheres.

"The morning after the arrival of our party at the scene described, six Kaffir "boys" were pressed into our service and we set out for the Zambesi by way of the falls. The hand of artificers has not yet eliminated the unsophisticated, strangely gripping wild beauty of the place. The water shooting over the falls comes from the Zambesi River. After gazing almost spellbound at this symphony of nature, which synchronizes wondrous form, inexpressible color and awesome sound we pushed deeper into the forest where monkeys gambolled. Chimpanzees were playing gleefully in the trees. They look like small gorillas. When the young ones are caught, they behave like naughty young children, happy only when they have their own way. The chimpanzee is strong and will defend himself if cornered; it is tractable and intelligent when disciplined.

"At last we reached the Zambesi. When we neared the banks of the river, there was a quick startled cry from one of our party. "Look! Look! A leopard!" As the rest of us turned our heads we saw approaching quickly an animal—the suspense was tense—closer and closer it came until it was near enough for use to discover that it was only one of the wild native dogs, a dog looking like a cheetah. No sooner had the strain from this incident relaxed, than our attention was attracted by a real, live hippopotamus chase. Horse racing is not in it—the black boys were exerting every muscle to get their canoe to the river bank, but the "water-horse" was too fast for them. They were up, and, amidst excited laughter tinged with fear, they noisily and hurriedly swam for the land, eventually reaching it without further mishap. Hardly had this event passed before there was an excited cry of "chee-chee! chee-chee!" from some negroes playing a boat in the river. We turned around just in time to see a woman sportman in the boat balance herself on her feet, raise a rifle to her shoulder and fire at a hippopotamus that was closing in on them. The shot rang out, but the huge creature was unconcerned. Nearer and nearer he approached. The black boys grew excited. They redoubled their efforts and sped ahead a few yards, then like a flash turned at right angles just in time to see the hippopotamus shoot directly ahead of where the boat had been a moment before. A joyful shout of triumph arose from their throats as they realized they had beaten their foe and landed their passenger safely.

After all these thrilling experiences it is hard to realize that a few weeks later the Cherniavskys were continuing their tour of South Africa and appearing everywhere with their usual striking success, just as if the routine of their tour had never been interrupted by such exciting events. They are to appear on Wednesday, April 5, at the Empress Hotel Ballroom. Seats are on sale at Heintzman Piano Co. This concert will begin at 8.15 and there will be no admission during rendering of numbers.

FILM VERSION OF FAMOUS BOOK

"A Connecticut Yankee at Court of King Arthur" Coming

Queen Alexandra, accompanied by Princess Victoria and Princess Maud, and attended by General Sir Henry Streetfield, paid a visit yesterday afternoon to the Alhambra Theatre to see the first public exhibition in this country of the great spectacular film "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court." The Royal visitors were received in the vestibule of the theatre by Sir Oswald Stoll and Mr. George F. Reynolds, general manager, and were at once conducted to the spacious Royal box, which had been converted into a bower of flowers. The film, a full account of which was given recently in The Daily Telegraph is an adaptation of the well-known book by Mark Twain, and has been for months past creating a furore on Broadway. In the ordinary course of events it would have been exhibited to the public of this country not earlier than the end of next year. As it is, thanks to the enterprise of Sir Oswald Stoll, its release has thus been anticipated by nearly eighteen months. At all three performances yesterday it went with an unmistakable swing that augurs well for its future popularity. Apart from the really astonishing spectacular scenes, in which realism has been carried as far as it can go, the humor of the many incongruous situations, in which a modern American suddenly thrust into the England of 1,500 years ago finds himself, created continuous rounds of uncontrollable laughter. The exceedingly funny and epigrammatic sub-titles, which are a great feature of this film, were thoroughly appreciated. Before leaving the theatre Queen Alexandra graciously assured Mr. Reynolds that she had thoroughly enjoyed herself.

Mark Twain's "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court" will be the attraction at the Royal Victoria Theatre all next week commencing Monday.—London Daily Telegraph.

"THE MASQUERADER"

In view of the many indictments of motion pictures submitted by the advocates of censorship, it is pertinent to note the moral aspect of "The Masquerader," in the film version of which America's distinguished actor, Guy Bates Post, is being starred by Richard Walton Tully. As in the play of the same name, the primary interest in the film will be in its emotional appeal as drama. Yet there is a secondary feature of the story that has been stressed in the film version by Mr. Tully, and that is the portrayal of the downfall of an illustrious statesman through dissipation. John Chilcote had become the leading figure in the House of Commons in 1914—so runs the story—but his secret, if indulgences wrecked the genius in him, so that when his opportunity came to lead the British Empire on to a glorious entry in the World War, he failed utterly and miserably. Another man, a distant cousin, John Loder, ambitious and high-minded, acquainted with the problems of state because of his work as a writer upon political topics, was substituted for the dissipated actor. In fact a deeper searching of the intent behind the story reveals the fact that John Loder is really the typification of Chilcote's good qualities. It is akin to a Jekyll and Hyde character, so to speak—these two cousins, so alike in appearance and yet so different in action, portraying the twin sides of the one nature.

California Operators Agree to Conference at Portland This Week

Seattle, April 3.—San Francisco trans-Pacific steamship operators have accepted an invitation from the Seattle and Vancouver operators to attend a conference in Portland this week at which it is hoped to lay the basis for an agreement that will end the westbound "war." The meeting probably will be held Thursday. Portland's trans-Pacific operators also were invited to the conference but so far have not announced. The conference will open the door to the return of peace. The "war" now has developed to a stage where there is no fighting, the various operators being down to bedrock in their rates. All are losing money, it is said, at a rate they can not stand indefinitely.

Completing her inward voyage from the Orient the Blue Funnel Line steamship Ixion, Capt. Ogden, made William Head at 11.30 o'clock this morning and shortly after the noon hour came on to her berth at the Outer Docks. The Ixion carried no Asiatic steamer passengers owing to the Hongkong strike trouble. She brought in a fair Oriental cargo and landed about 150 tons at this port.

Some heavy weather was experienced on the voyage from the Orient. Capt. Ogden will leave the Ixion this voyage and will be succeeded by Capt. Price, who will call on from Liverpool to take over the ship. Capt. Ogden has served a year on the Ixion and is now entitled to one of the company's ships operating out of a home port.

Henry Davidson, local agent for Dodwell & Co., announces that the Blue Funnel liner Talithybus sailed from Yokohama March 31 and is scheduled to arrive at this port April 13.

SAANICH FRIENDLY HELP

Three K's Concert Party Gives an Excellent Benefit.

The Saanich Friendly Help Society is indebted to the Three K's Concert Party for the assistance in raising funds through the excellent concert which was given by the troupe at Royal Oak on Friday evening.

The troupe had its own orchestra, which played for the dancing, which was indulged in after the concert. The programme opened with a splendid chorus by the entire company.

"Yorkie" put on two clever skits, which made a big hit with the audience. A. Smillie in a number of comic selections, and Bob Miller, Peter Harris and A. Hole in their respective offerings made a good impression and were heartily applauded. The programme concluded with a chorus by the entire company.

TWO SPEAKERS FOR GARDENERS' SOCIETY TO-MORROW

The regular monthly meeting of the Victoria and District Gardeners' Association will be held Tuesday at the City Hall at 8 o'clock.

It is hoped that all members will make a special effort to attend, as important business is expected to come before the meeting. This is to be a horticultural night, and the association is fortunate in having George Robinson, of Elk Lake, and A. McMeans as the speakers for the evening. Among the many hobbies of Mr. Robinson is sweet pea growing with these for quite a number of years. As he is a practical gardener favoring horticultural pursuits, and having considerable land at Elk Lake for these purposes, it is expected that Mr. Robinson will be able to give many valuable hints both to the amateur and to those who have been growing sweet peas on a larger scale.

Mr. McMeans is a seed expert under the Dominion Government, will deal more along the line of growing for seed, more than for blooms. As there are quite a number of growers for seed in this vicinity, it is hoped that they will avail themselves of the opportunity of attending this meeting. The Association extends a hearty invitation to the general public, and more so to those who are interested in sweet pea culture, and would like any one interested in horticulture or gardening in any form to become members of the Association.

Empire and States Must Work Together to Save World, Geddes Declares

Co-operation and Friendship Between English-Speaking Peoples Alone Will Solve Problems of Each and Bring Back Prosperity of Pre-War Years, British Ambassador to Washington Tells Canadian Club; Leave Unspoken the Unguarded Word Which Causes Friction Between Nations, He Urges.

Geddes's Message to Canadians

"It was during the great experience of the war that, for the first time, the British people came to understand what Canada and the Dominions were and are."

"If we are to avoid at some distant future date a repetition of the catastrophe of 1914 the time to make provision against such a repetition is now."

"Slowly but surely the Old Country is working through her troubles."

"The best and surest way we can approach a restoration of sound economic conditions is by cultivating and maintaining the best possible relations with the United States."

"To my mind the United States cannot get out of her difficulties unless the British Empire also gets out of her difficulties."

"You as individuals can do a great deal by kindness, by the avoidance of the thoughtless word, to help to improve the relations between the English-speaking peoples."

"An overwhelming majority of the American people are convinced that their best interests lie in cultivating Anglo-American friendship."

"The Empire as a whole and the world as a whole calls us to look for a place to work."

Friendship and co-operation between the British Empire and the United States and hard work by everyone everywhere—this and nothing else will bring back prosperity to a world shattered by the Great War. Such, in effect, is the message which Sir Auckland Geddes, Britain's Ambassador to Washington, and one of the most striking figures that emerged out of the chaos of the war years, brings to Canada after taking a leading part in the recent conference of nations at the American capital.

In a brilliant, clear-cut address at the Canadian Club's dinner in the Empress Hotel Saturday night, Sir Auckland pleaded for a stronger feeling of friendship with the American people—asked Canadians to leave unspoken the unguarded word which is always magnified a thousand times by the enemies of the Empire and thundered across the world to create the impression that the English-speaking peoples are not one. Because Britain needs overseas markets and because the United States needs Britain's purchasing power the two great peoples must get together, he emphasized repeatedly. Co-operation is an essential to one people as to the other, he declared. Neither power can emerge from its difficulties unless the other also solves its problems, he declared, and the great majority of the American people are convinced that their best interests lie in cultivating Anglo-American friendship.

With this gospel of co-operation and hard work Sir Auckland, who was a member of Britain's War Cabinet during the darkest days of the war, brings to Canada the thanks of Britain for the Dominion's war services, with the assurance also that the British people to-day have a new affection for Canada—an entirely new conception of this country's place among the nations of the earth.

Greeted With Cheers.

When Sir Auckland entered the Empress Hotel ballroom he was greeted with thundering applause and tumultuous cheering. When he stepped to the front of the stage and many times while he was speaking the gathering of five hundred men and women burst into spontaneous applause. Sir Auckland spoke eloquently and his message went home to everyone who heard him.

Has Been Fortunate.

Acknowledging President Rev. Dr. W. L. Clay's flattering reference to himself, Sir Auckland commenced: "I have been enormously favored—enormously fortunate in many ways—so much so that it is difficult for me to offer adequate thanks for the kindness and happiness that I have received during my life. And when I recall the thoughts and fears of those war years which have passed, I think our beloved Empire also has been extremely fortunate."

"You have little idea, unless you were at the conference in London during the darkest days of the War, of the real flood-tide of feeling and emotion that surged through the hearts of the men who were there responsible for one department or the other of the British Empire's activity. As I recall those days in 1916, 1917, 1918, when England, Scotland and Wales, the most heavily recruited countries in the world, suffered the most severe losses of any country at war, and when I think what Canada's war effort meant practically, psychologically, spiritually to the Empire, my heart goes forth in gratitude to everyone who has the honor of calling himself a Canadian!"

Strain Appalling.

"Great Britain, an old country, highly organized, could stand a higher percentage of recruiting than any other part of the Empire but the strain on the Motherland was simply appalling. I know how heavy was your loss and how heavy the loss of every Dominion but, on a percentage basis, it was not so heavy as that of the Motherland. Why there are to-day many villages in Great Britain where there are no men of what was military age alive and unaimed! No men at all."

"You must realize what this loss of manhood meant. And then you must add the fact that food was scarce—matches could scarcely be got in many places, soap often in many districts was unobtainable and in some districts, as well in many of the big cities, the women and children too suffered in all ways."

A New Understanding.

"I recall these facts that you may appreciate something of the gratitude that exists in the heart of the British people to the men and women of the Dominions for what they did at that time. It is when a man is in the stress and strain and enduring all that human being can endure that he recognizes his friends, his countrymen, and it was during the dreadful experience of the War that, for the first time, the British people came to understand what Canadians and the other Dominions were and are."

"It was then that Britain looked around—asked Canadians to leave unspoken the unguarded word which arriving from Canada in apparently endless streams, saw the ships arriving loaded with supplies and munitions and feeling from Canada; it was then, at the second battle of Ypres that the British people got their first realization of the fighting strength of the Canadian army forces; it was then that, again and again and again, the Canadian troops covered themselves with imperishable glory and the people of the Motherland were glad to give all the praise and their power to the men from overseas who might have considered themselves unappreciated in the War but who chose to realize that they were concerned—and came."

The Last Hundred Days.

"And those last glorious hundred days of the War! In those days though it is, perhaps, not generally known, every active division in the British armies and they were one and all gloried. And everyone knows the glorious part the Canadian Corps played in the final stages of the war. It was then that the British people realized that they were concerned—and came."

"Those were great days to have lived through! And what memories they bring back! Let me say to you that the British people are glad to have a wholly different feeling in them now than in 1914 when they heard the name of Canada. One of the best things that came out of the War was this: Before the War the British people failed, perhaps, to realize what the Dominions were. Now they know that the British Empire is a whole and the Dominions stir feelings of affection and love in their hearts. It is a great change and a grand change and one, I believe, which will have its effect and influence indefinitely in the future."

Equal Partners.

"And then when the fighting was over and it came to arranging the terms of peace, that great conference at Paris, which has been so much maligned—in my opinion, unjustly—the representatives of the Dominions met and took their full share of responsibility for the decisions reached. Then for the first time in history the Dominions of the British Empire met as equal partners with the same right to agree or disagree as that claimed by the representatives of the Motherland."

"This," Sir Auckland declared, "was a great step in the evolution of our Imperial relations: It was the first time but not the last that the Dominions met on this footing. Since the Paris Conference the temper, the exhausted mental condition of the War had passed further into the background, and international relations have moved forward. We have come to see more clearly than was possible for human beings to see in 1918 that if, as we hope, we are to avoid at some distant future date a repetition of the catastrophe of 1914, the time to make provision against such a repetition is now—now while conditions are still capable of being moulded, before the national temper is raised in any land and before national price in any land is engaged."

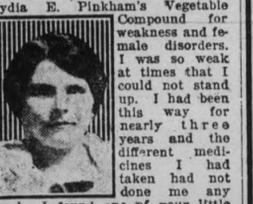

"An effort to that end has been made. At the invitation of the President of the United States there assembled in Washington a conference which, to the best of the ability of those present, made a beginning of which they hoped and still hope will have the effect of removing some of these conditions which, if not removed, might prove to be the cause of difficulties and even disagreements among the nations."

Tells of Conference.

"The treaties drawn up at that conference are now before the ratifying authorities of the various countries. It would be improper for me, holding the position I do, to express any opinion of these instruments in detail because they have still to be ratified in many lands but I can say this—that at the conference the British Empire delegation, composed as it was of representatives from the Old Country, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and India, and one representative not sent from but authorized to speak for South Africa, gave to all the delegations an example of

WOMENFUL THE WAY IT HELPED HER

So Writes Mrs. Lemery Regarding Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Brockville, Ontario.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and female disorders. I was so weak at times that I could not stand up. I had been this way for nearly three years and the different medicines I had taken had not done me any good. I found one of your little books in my door one day and thought I would try it. It is wonderful the way it has helped me. I am feeling much better, have no weak spells and can do all my work now. I am recommending your Vegetable Compound to all the friends and you can use my testimonial to help other women."

splendid, sympathetic intelligent co-operation. Praises Borden.

"No man in that delegation," Sir Arthur went on, "worked harder and more successfully or with greater wisdom than did the Canadian representative, Sir Robert Borden. His knowledge and his understanding of the political life of this great Dominion and of the whole of North America was an enormous assistance to us all and not only to his own delegation but to the whole conference."

"This was the second time on which a conference, composed of many nations, the British Empire was represented by men selected and authorized to express opinions by the governments of the various partner states of that Empire—a further stage in our constitutional evolution. And from the experience we have had, it appears to appear to work highly successfully."

Europe Shattered.

"Europe to-day is economically, financially shattered," Sir Auckland pointed out as he turned to a discussion of the world's needs. "Out of the wreckage of the war, the British Isles, strained by their losses in men, in treasure and as a result of the assistance they gave to the world, are in a state of economic depression. The Old Country is working through her troubles but she is sorely hampered by the destruction of what used to be the great markets of Europe—Germany, France, Italy and many other countries. These countries at present are unable to purchase from Britain on the old scale, if at all."

"As a result of this condition, there is inevitably an enormous amount of unemployment and there is a greatly reduced purchasing power in the possession of the British people. And this condition is making itself felt through the channels of trade, in the cities of the United States and of Canada. Before the war the United States was the greatest purchaser of American products and the Empire as a whole was the greatest purchaser of the output of the United States. The situation in American trade, caused by this condition, is having its effect on Canada as well, too."

Must Cultivate Friendship.

"I believe that all of us, regardless of what part of the Empire we live in are vitally interested in getting the wheels of American commerce turning again as rapidly as possible, when they do turn."

"I firmly believe that the best and surest way we can approach a restoration of sound economic conditions is by cultivating and maintaining the very best possible relations with the United States which, in spite of her present difficulties, as a result of the war, is by far the most wealthy country in the world at the present time. To my mind the United States cannot get out of her difficulties unless the British Empire also gets out of her difficulties. It is as much to the interests of the United States as it is to our interest that the two great English-speaking nations should co-operate frankly, wholeheartedly with one another."

Unguarded Words.

"There has been a certain lack of that co-operation between these two great divisions of the English-speaking world through a lack of caution, as a result of unguarded remarks made in many different parts of the English-speaking world—we won't particularize—but the Empire requires the wholehearted work of everyone of her sons and daughters regardless of where they may dwell."

"A deafening burst of sustained applause greeted the Ambassador's address."

Thanks Ambassador.

"Britain has never made mistakes in the choice of her ambassadors to the Dominion of Canada. The world situation require at Washington a man of the ability and talents of the present ambassador, W. J. Bowser, K.C. In expressing the club's thanks to Sir Auckland, Mr. Bowser recalled that Sir Auckland, after long studies in Europe, had rounded off his education in Canada at McGill University and had paid a further compliment to this continent by marrying an American lady."

"Acknowledging the thunderous welcome accorded him, Sir Auckland rose again. "Thank you very much—but I would like to correct one small mistake in the address," he said. "I am Irish!" She was born in New York which makes her a New Yorker but was educated in Nova Scotia, so perhaps she has a little more claim to you than I do."

"This sally was the signal for another big burst of applause."

"Introducing Sir Auckland, President Dr. Clay traced the marvelous rapid rise of the Ambassador to his present position—a rise which, he said, was undoubtedly due to the fact that in the new diplomacy which had grown up during the last decade, the personality of a diplomat was more important than ever before."

With Dr. Clay at the head table, besides Sir Auckland, were: Lieut.-Governor Walter C. Nichol, Premier John Oliver, Mayor William Marchant, Hon. Dr. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works; W. J. Bowser, Judge P. S. Lammiman, Hon. J. D. MacLean, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education; B. C. Nicholas, John Cochrane and R. W. Perry, past presidents of the Canadian Club; P. B. HOW TO TREAT A COLD IN THE HEAD

Prompt Treatment Should Not Be Neglected

Never neglect a cold in head. It is a trouble so common that we are apt to treat it as of little consequence. But it is only a step from a cold to Grippe and the possibility of acute trouble in the throat—pleurisy—pneumonia—is always there if it is neglected.

In its early stages a cold yields quickly to proper treatment. Grip Flx, a combination of the drugs which relieves the system in such cases, gives remarkable results. It relieves a cold in a night and even Grippe yields to it in four hours.

There is nothing in Grip Flx that would not be approved by your family physician, and the ingredients are stated on each box. It comes in capsule form and is a safe preparation for use in the home. Its action keeps the system open to throw off the systematic poisons created by the cold, reduces the feverish condition and allays the pains in the head and muscles.

Grip Flx is for sale by all druggists at 50c. per box. Be sure that you get the genuine Eild's Grip Flx, as there is no substitute which deals so promptly and effectively with colds, grippe and kindred troubles. Vancouver Drug Co., Limited, (Adv.)
