

Local Financiers Launch Mortgage Firm To Handle Glendale Property Loans

An all-Glendale mortgage company, one of the strongest financial institutions of this kind in the San Fernando valley and a big addition to the money power of the city, whose policy will be to make loans exclusively on Glendale property, has been organized by an able group of local bankers, capitalists and business men, and incorporated for $250,000, practically all paid up, in the name of the New England Mortgage corporation.

Temporary offices of the company are at 212 Lawson building, North Brand boulevard and Wilson avenue, but a suite has been leased in the new Security Trust & Savings bank building, at the corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway, and will be available on completion of the building.

The New England Mortgage corporation has for its president W. E. Hewitt, president of the Chamber of Commerce and former owner of the Glendale laundry, a large property owner in this city and interested in many local enterprises. The other officers and directors comprise B. R. Brundage, vice-president and manager; Roy L. Kent, vice-president; A. R. Eastman, treasurer; Burton McGinnis, secretary, and Peter L. Ferry, director.

Banking Experience
Mr. Brundage, organizer of the company, has been engaged in the banking business continuously for the past twenty-three years. Starting in Iowa, he came later to Oklahoma, where he met Mr. Eastman, both being active in the Bankers' association, though operating in different parts of the state.

In 1914 Mr. Brundage removed to California, where he became president of the Security Commercial & Savings bank of El Centro, in the Imperial valley. In 1917 he came to Los Angeles and engaged in the bank brokerage business, and it was through his efforts as a broker that the Bank of Glendale was sold to the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings bank.

Mr. Brundage then organized the Western State bank, at Wilshire boulevard and Western avenue, Los Angeles, later selling it to the Bank of America. It was then that he turned his attention to the organization of the New England Mortgage corporation, selecting Glendale after a thorough survey, because he feels it is the best location for a high-class mortgage business in California, due to the city's rapid growth and the marked uniformity of values here.

W. B. Hewitt, president, and B. R. Brundage, vice-president and manager of the New England Mortgage corporation, have for their associate officers a group of local business men, all of whom are prominent.

Roy L. Kent, vice-president, best known as manager of the Roy L. Kent company, general contractor, is allied with other financial institutions, active in Boy Scout work and past president of the local Rotary club.

A. R. Eastman, treasurer, is president and founder of the Glendale State bank, president of the People's Finance & Thrift company, treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce and a member of many clubs and organizations.

Burton McGinnis, secretary, has become well acquainted with local realty values as manager of the building and loan department of Hayward & McCartney, realtors.

Peter L. Ferry, director, has played a prominent part in the rebuilding of Glendale for many years, as a road contractor. He is the first past exalted ruler of the local Elks' lodge, having led that body in 1912, the year it was founded.

Tell Firm's Policy
"The policy of the New England Mortgage corporation will be to handle local business of a conservative basis," says B. R. Brundage. "All matters will be dealt with in a co-operative way through the board of directors. It will be the purpose of the company to furnish Glendale the services of a first-class mortgage company, whose aim will be to bring money into the city. Glendale is without doubt one of the most substantial cities in California, for the safe loaning of money on real estate. The New England Mortgage corporation is organized for that purpose."

SWISS BISHOP TO SPEAK THURSDAY

Noted Churchman to Appear Here, Deliver Talk on War Conditions

According to the reports coming from those who have heard Bishop John L. Nuelson, who is to appear at the First Presbyterian church Thursday night, his presentation of world outlook is of a situation not generally understood.

Bishop Nuelson has been the resident Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, stationed at Zurich, Switzerland, and, as such, has had Episcopal supervision of Methodist Episcopal churches in central Europe, both during and since the World war. His educational campaign in this country is at the instance of the Central Bureau of Evangelical churches in Europe, and at the request of the Federation Council of Churches in Christ in America.

Tells Conditions Now
In an address given in Los Angeles last Monday, he held the large concourse of people in hushed awe as he cited the war atmosphere still prevalent in Europe, notwithstanding five years of cessation from open hostilities. His treatment of situations growing out of commercial, industrial, social and religious conditions is so different to what has been presented that it possibly has everybody that can possibly hear the bishop to avail themselves of this educational opportunity, the committee states.

The meeting Thursday night is under the auspices of the Ministerial Union.

Alameda Naval Base Said to Be Quake Safe

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The proposed Alameda naval base on San Francisco bay lies between the earthquake and fog areas in the bay and is not likely to be shaken by quakes, Admiral L. F. Gregory, chief of the navy yards and docks bureau, told the house naval affairs committee.

"The faults which cause earthquakes are numerous in San Francisco bay," said Admiral Gregory, "but Alameda lies between these faults and is in no great danger from earthquakes."

Fogs are sometimes caused by warm air blowing over cold water of land.

Broadway School Fathers' Auxiliary Stages Vaudeville Show Of Unusual Merit

Uncle Remus of KHJ was there in person and Aunt Dolly had several proxies present at the benefit vaudeville program given last night in the auditorium of the new Broadway High school by the Fathers' Auxiliary of the Broadway Parent-Teachers' Association. Nor did the late-afternoon storm and flood deter a large audience from being present.

Indeed, the program suffered more in this respect than did the house, John Steven McGroarty, Tom Mix and Edna May La Pointe failing to appear.

Lots of Real Talent
It was an excellent array of talent, young and old, amateur and professional, that Howard E. Cavanaugh of the Cavanaugh studios, offered the public as supervisor of the program, and the audience repaid him with its wholehearted appreciation.

Outstanding were Jimmie Osborne, "Southern California's boy soprano," Lorraine Platts, dainty little screen star under contract with Charles Chaplin; and "Young Houdini," whose work in extricating himself from chains and straight-jackets was of high calibre.

A. M. Kelly's Shrine Club orchestra, which Glendadians know is always good, kept things lively from time to time during the progress of the evening, and Julius Kranz, composer of many popular and classical numbers, appeared at the piano while Mildred Dixon Puffer sang a group of his "Heart Songs," and later played the violin in the Glendale String trio, with Gertrude Champlain Erb at the piano and J. Arthur Myers at the cello, rendering "Contrasts" by Gade and "Extase" by Dvorak.

Oxy Debating Teams In Finals Thursday

The Occidental debating teams will end the season with a series of two debates tomorrow night. Occidental will support the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, that Congress should be given the power to re-enact laws declared unconstitutional by the supreme court," in a debate at Pomona college.

The Oxy negative team will meet Caltech on the Tiger platform. The decisions of these two final contests will determine whether Occidental is second in the Southern California League of Public Speaking or drops to third position. Redlands university, by her victories in four debates, leads the list as the champions. Redlands has won the affirmative and negative twice.

All other conference affirmative teams have lost the affirmative at least once.

Edward Jones and Francis Henshaw represent the Oxy af-

J. W. Henderson was appointed sergeant on the local police yesterday by Chief Frank J. Kenyon, the vacancy caused by the resignation of Sergeant Charles Kenyon.

It is extremely thrifty with gas and oil. There are two large compartments for suitcases or parcels. The doors are very wide and broad windows give extra clear vision.

The seat upholstery is leather and the interior trim is of the most durable grade of wool cloth.

This short course in boy leadership is proving popular. The men will be organized into a Boy Scout troop and forget they are men for the time and just be boys again. Capt. D. Ripley Jackson and "France" Henry will lead the songs and yells. Thursday night Tallman H. Trask, Scout executive of Pasadena, will explain the Boy Scout program to the men. Scout Executive Cheesman will then proceed to organize the "boys" into a Boy Scout troop. Troop officers will be elected, patrols organized and named and the Tenderfoot scout requirements practiced. Mr. Baird, Boy Scout camp director for the Pasadena council, will get every one busy playing scout games. The evening will close with refreshments and a general social get-acquainted period.

"Why Boys Need Men"
 Friday night, Charles N. Miller, regional boy scout executive having jurisdiction over scout affairs in California, Arizona, Utah and Nevada, will give a fifteen-minute inspirational address on "Why Boys Need Men." Roland Dye, scout executive of Orange county, will then proceed to put the men through a model Boy Scout troop meeting program with all the yells, songs, games, stories and interesting scout requirements. The meeting will close with a model Troop Council meeting and refreshments.

Saturday afternoon the men will assemble at the Harvard High school building at 2:30 o'clock and go by machine to Griffith park. Here the afternoon and evening will be spent in Boy Scout out-door activities under the leadership of Tom Sloan, head divisional United States forest ranger of the western division of the Angeles National forest; Fred Meyer, scout executive of Ventura county, and the Glendale scout executive who for five years was in charge of the out-door camping activities of the Los Angeles Boy Scouts. The men will cook their own supper. No civilized cooking utensils will be allowed. The local Boy Scout Council will furnish the raw food. The men will track through the woods by Indian signs, learn about the trees, rocks and bird life, make six or seven kinds of cooking fires and end the day up by gathering about a jolly warm camp fire. Here an interesting program of Boy Scout yells, songs, funny stories and adventure stories will be enjoyed. Scout Executive Fred Meyer, who has had training in the art of story telling at the Cumnock School of Expression, will not only tell some wonderful stories but will also explain the "how" to tell a story properly to scouts. Rev. E. E. Ford, of the First Baptist church of Glendale, will give the men an inspirational talk on

Commerce Body To Demand Action By Officials On Control Of Flood Menace

By RALPH A. LYND
 Of The Evening News Staff.

Immediate action on the part of the County Supervisors to prevent a repetition of the disastrous flood that swept down Sycamore Canyon and Verdugo Canyon yesterday evening is to be asked today by the board of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, who will communicate with the county officials to insure the installation of a series of checks to handle the flood waters that pour down from the areas that were denuded of their vegetation in the fires that swept the San Rafael Hills last October.

This decision was reached at last night's meeting of the directors, after the members had heard details of the damage done by the waters to the regions to the north and east of Glendale and also to certain sections in the northeastern part of the city itself.

A report from a committee headed by Jesse E. Smith, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, dealing with fire insurance rates here, stated that the rate in Glendale is 80 cents, as compared with 70 cents in Los Angeles, and Mr. Smith reported that the coming conference of the Board of Underwriters will, in all probability, recommend that the Glendale rates for fire insurance be advanced, rather than lowered.

Three Essentials
 The report pointed out that three essentials are considered by the fire underwriters in fixing the rates for any given community, these being a fire department adequately staffed, an efficient alarm system, and an adequate water supply. The underwriters recommend that any city up to the 50,000 class have a fire department that contains one man for every thousand of its population, and it was pointed out that the action of the City Council yesterday in adding fourteen more men to the local force would go a long way toward meeting this condition. The water supply in Glendale is said to be adequate, but the absence of an alarm system is a matter that will have to be seriously considered.

Plans for the widening and straightening of West Broadway will be held in abeyance pending the appointment of a city planning commission by the City Council, a report from T. W. Watson, chairman of the planning committee, stated.

The board has been advised by Supervisor Henry W. Wright that there is no money available at this time for the construction of a foot bridge to parallel the drive-way at the crossing of North Brand boulevard and Verdugo wash.

The erection of standards in the neighborhood of all city schools is planned by the city authorities, according to a letter from City Manager V. B. Stone, who stated that he and Chief of Police J. D. Fraser have worked out a system for the protection of school children that is not, he claims, surpassed by any other system in Los Angeles county.

Five-Mile Limit
 These standards are to carry a warning to motorists to slow down to five miles an hour while passing through school zones, which will be marked with white lines on the roadways, and police officers will be on duty at all schools to guard the children and to arrest any motorists who disregard the warning to slow down. The children will also be taught to exercise care in crossing the streets, and to follow defined passages that will be fixed by the authorities.

CLUBWOMEN PLAN SPIRITUAL NOTE TO BUY PICTURE

J. Cotton's Desert Painting Selected by Members Of Art Section

Expressing the desire of every California club woman, that the work of California artists should be owned by California clubs, Tuesday Afternoon club women yesterday, at the suggestion of the fine arts department of the club, voted to buy one of John W. Cotton's oil paintings, "San Jacinto from the Desert," in the banquet room at the clubhouse.

Mr. Cotton, who is nationally known as an artist and etcher, resides at 1202 East Colorado street, and Glendale is proud to claim him as a resident.

The collection of his work now hanging in the club was secured by the fine arts department, of which Mrs. Roy Ballagh is curator. It was at the department meeting yesterday morning that the motion was passed to purchase one of the pictures and the idea met with such enthusiastic support by the club women that many contributions toward the picture have already been received.

There are in the collection to be shown during March at the clubhouse, "Palm Springs," "Morning on the Yonca," "Our Watershed," "The Temple," "Andreas Canyon," "Afternoon Glow," "Desert Stream," "Shad-owed Canyon," "Market Place, Bruges, Belgium," "The Chateau," "Portified Bridge of Orthez," "Laguna Headland," "Natives," "In the Basque Country," "Threatening Weather," "In My Garden," "South Lake, High Sierras," "The Windswept Pine," "The Lifting Fog," "San Jacinto From the Desert," "The Sabot Shop," "Granite and Sage," "Painted Canyon," "California," "Toward the Desert," "The Cloud," "Canadian Trout Stream," "Desert Verbenas." There are twenty-seven pictures, twenty-one water colors and six oils.

Poet Of Green Verdugos Reads Selections Before Tuesday Afternoon Club

Glendale's neighbor, John Steven McGroarty, journeyed down from "The Green Verdugo Hills" yesterday afternoon to read Tuesday Afternoon club members and guests some of his poetry and tell them about his legacy to California, the Mission Play at San Gabriel.

Over 300 club women and their guests were waiting for the "Conductor of the Congregation of the Faithful" and when he smiled a greeting to them from the stage of the clubhouse auditorium continued applause was the return greeting.

There is only one big fault to find with Mr. McGroarty, and every one who hears him read his California verses and hears him tell of the days of the padres and the dons, the setting of his Mission play, is unanimous in finding this great fault, and that is that Mr. McGroarty is not a native Californian.

He has caught the wonderful spirit of the golden west and woven it beautifully into his prose and poetry. Yesterday he read for the club "The Call of California," "The Hills of Santa Cruz," "A Prayer for Rain," "Back Yonder" and "El Camino Real."

It was most fitting that following this he should tell of his great project, The Mission Play, which has run for thirteen years in San Gabriel and is now playing to larger houses than ever before.

Club Votes $25
 "The Golden Scroll" is now being presented to Californians by Mr. McGroarty and the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale voted $25 toward this worthy cause.

The club meeting yesterday was one of the finest ones the club has had in recent weeks. At noon 150 club women and guests sat down to luncheon. During the luncheon hour Mrs. Daniel Campbell, club president, presented Madame Josephine Kudlicka, Polish born American, who, after living in America from the age of two years, returned to her native country in 1919 to take up Red Cross and Y. W. C. A. work. She spoke recently before the Glendale Jewish Sisterhood and at that time a brief account of her interesting experience was given in The Glendale Evening News.

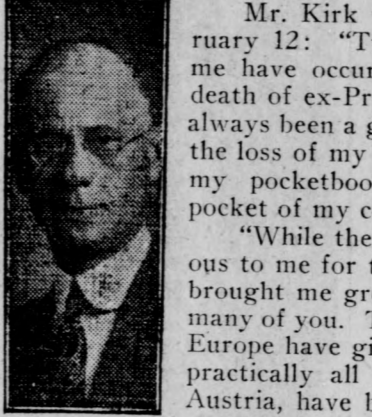

Miss Margaret Wysor, representative of the Travelers' Aid society, was another luncheon speaker, and the club women were most interested in hearing her, in connection with the representatives, is the organization she represents. She told in a delightful way of the aims and work of the Travelers' Aid and stated that last year the Los Angeles branch of this national organization, met over 20,000 travelers and assisted over 20,000 travelers of all ages.

During the luncheon hour Mrs. E. B. Sutton and Mrs. B. O. Holbrook, two new members of the executive board of the club, successors to Mrs. J. T. Crampton and Mrs. J. E. Sargent, resigned, were introduced.

Rob Bank at Rivera
 WHITTIER, March 5.—While citizens of the town of Rivera, near here, went peaceably about their business yesterday afternoon, two young unmasked bandits held up two girl employees in the Rivera State bank, took $5000 in currency and escaped in an automobile after forcing their victims into a vault.

Homeward Leg of Journey Leads Kirk Party Again Amid Delights of Venice

That the papers of practically all the countries of Europe gave large space to the news of the recent death of Woodrow Wilson, is word brought to Glendadians in a travel letter from W. B. Kirk.

W. B. KIRK

Mr. Kirk writes from Nice, France, February 12: "Two events of great moment to me have occurred the past week, one in the death of ex-President Wilson, of whom I have always been a great admirer; and the second in the loss of my entire stock of funds by having my pocketbook extracted from the inside pocket of my coat by a gang of thieves.

"While the latter was much the more serious to me for the moment, Mr. Wilson's death brought me great sadness, as I know it did to many of you. The papers of all the countries of Europe have given the matter large space, and practically all of them, except Germany and Austria, have been very eulogistic.

"The 'London Observer' expresses my view of him admirably when it says 'the passing of the figure that under any light is certain to stand out in history. No man in his position of power ever applied his strength to a more finely conceived purpose. History will honor him as the man who gave the world a new conception of its changed self and men a conscience in international affairs.'

"In the short period of eight months since we have been away from home two presidents have died and two men of high standing in the company with which I have my business connection, and with both of whom I have been intimately associated, have passed to the other side.

Land at Brindisi
 "But to resume my travel story Crossing from Albania to Italy during Wednesday night, January 30, we docked next morning at Brindisi. Here we had another chance to go ashore. This old Italian city, which is in the section called Magna Gracia 600 years before Christ, is an important port, but has no particular attractions.

"Leaving there at noon on Thursday, we found the sea very rough. All afternoon and evening 'The Canaro' rolled heavily as she plowed her way through the Adriatic just as we were finishing dinner a huge wave caused consternation to the waiters, especially, crashing the dishes and breaking in the furniture. Through all this turmoil the rest of the way untraveled correspondent held his own and afterward slept as usual.

"During the night the captain wisely steered us to the east side along the Jugo-Slavia coast, where we had smooth sea and bright, warm weather the rest of the way into Venice, which we reached Saturday morning. The latter half of this five-day trip was monotonous, the larger part of the first-class passengers having left the boat at Brindisi, and the fare, though in plenty, not to our especial liking.

Back In Venice Again
 "We sought our original stopping place in Venice by the gondola route, the Hotel d' Italie, and were so pleased to have clear days there instead of the cloudy, rainy ones we experienced there in November. The weather was quite chilly, but we had plenty of good heat, and the splendid fare was welcomed.

"We were told that the winter has been quite a cold one in Venice, the coldest in twenty years, and we read of extreme cold in Algiers and Morocco. Something unknown there before.

"We had doubled on our tracks in going back to Venice, but it is a very unique town, more interesting to be in and enjoy than easy to describe. We figured that we would rather return through it than through Naples and Rome.

"It has a charm not alone because of its unique location and construction, but because of the air of picturesqueness in the character of its shops and people.

"Sunday morning we went to service at the home of an old Scotch minister, Dr. Robertson, who has lived in Italy for forty years, nearly all of that time in Venice. He is a fine old man and greeted us cordially. He loves Italy and the Italians and has been knighted by the king.

"That day was a holiday of some sort, just what it was I was unable to gather, but the boys and girls were out in masquerade and clown costumes, and in no country could a livelier, jollier bunch of young folks be found.

Narrow, Winding Streets
 "The six or eight foot streets are too narrow, even for pedestrians, and were frequently choked as the entire population seems to wander forth on Sunday afternoons. I walked quite a long distance and found conditions the same everywhere. The very narrow streets would angle or wind into another wider one, which would lead over a canal bridge into an open space, in the center of which would be a statue or fountain, and facing which, frequently, is a cathedral.

There are no conveyances of any kind in Venice, except by water. All the freight goes up the canals. The 'autos' of Venice are motor boats, and the standard type seems to be one which sits well down in the water, the glass-enclosed cabin looking very comfortable when one is inside of it.

"It appears that it would be very inconvenient and impractical in most waters where there is a hobbing of the boat. These launches move through the water at good speed and with only a little noise, compared with that made by many launches.

"On Monday afternoon, the 4th, we bade a last farewell to Venice and came to Milan."

Mr. Kirk will tell more of Milan

Musicians of Other Cities Watch Local Club's Undertaking

That the presentation March 25 by the oratorio section of the Glendale Music club of Mendelssohn's oratorio "Elijah" is being considered as a big and praiseworthy undertaking by other cities of the southland, is told by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the club, who met Mrs. J. J. Carter, president of the Hollywood club, en route south from San Francisco.

Mrs. Carter complimented Mrs. Jones most highly on the success of the Glendale Music club, and stated that Glendale should be proud to sponsor such an organization and the production of such a masterpiece as "Elijah."

"Every one in Glendale should attend this wonderful production," says Mrs. Jones. "The tickets range from 50 cents to $2 and when we have sold the 400 patron tickets necessary to meet expenses, we are going to sell all the others for a full house."

The entertainment feature last night during the intermission was vocal numbers by Miss Gladys White, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Yarrick, pupils of Virginia Freeman.

By CARL L. TURNER For International News Service

KANSAS CITY, March 5.—Three benevolent states are Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, but they do object strenuously when all praise and recognition for their own good deeds go to an individual in another state.

Hence, when a big oil company bestowed upon these middle-western commonwealths advances in the price of gasoline with uncomforable regularity, the brawny motorists yelled loud and long.

"If our money is to be given for libraries and to educational charitable institutions, we want the credit," they protested. (There is a present opposition in the heart of every middle-westerner that an advance in the price of oil is the result of a donation by a multimillionaire petrol magnate.)

So, it was not with surprise that the attorney-generals in two of the states—Missouri and Kansas—received orders to begin immediately a thorough and complete investigation of the advances in the price of gasoline.

Governor Charles Bryan of Nebraska demonstrated last summer what he would do if the oil companies persisted in raising their rates, when he threatened to sell gasoline at rates very much lower than those of the oil firms.

Following the ultimatum, petrol prices were suddenly cut to a point even below that at which Governor Bryan said he would dispense gasoline, indicating that it was possible for the big firms to operate at the smaller profit.

Attorney-General Griffith of Kansas was instructed by Governor Jonathan M. Davis to investigate the Standard Oil Company's operations and those of its subsidiaries to find if the Sherman anti-trust law was being violated. Governor Davis expressed the belief that an oil trust actually existed in Kansas and that the findings of the probes would bear out his statement.

In Missouri flame was put under the pot of oil by Roy F. Britton, president of the Automobile Club of Missouri, who charged that there existed a combination to regulate prices in the oil industry. "There was plainly an agreement and concert of action in the recent price advances," Britton told Attorney-General Barrett in support of his allegations.

The retail price in Kansas City is 21.9 cents, which includes a 1-cent city tax. December 1 the same quality gasoline was selling here at 13.9 cents per gallon. The increase of the Standard Oil Company (of Indiana), which was promptly met by independent concerns, was the fifth since November.

"It may be that these increases are justifiable by the advances in the cost of production," Britton said, "but, as a rule, increases due to such causes are not reflected by such sudden and uniform advances. It also would appear that the cost in producing other commodities would rise proportionately, which in this instance was not true.

"The increases generally are made on one day notice. Such action would seem to indicate plainly an agreement and concert of action, rather than advances due to increased cost of production or competitive conditions."

Motorists in Missouri alone, Britton said, will be affected to the extent of $15,000,000 a year by the price advances.

A national advertising campaign, telling of the resources and attractions of the Middle West, is to be undertaken by the seventh district of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

The outstanding features of each city and vicinity will be gathered for use in the mammoth advertising campaign, R. W. Etter, president of the district and author of the plan, said. The district is composed of twenty-eight advertising clubs in cities in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

"I believe it is the broadest plan to boost the Middle West that ever has been attempted," Etter said. "It is intended that the advertising shall bring to this section what it has brought California, Washington and Oregon."

POLITICAL STRENGTH IS WEIGHED

James M. Cox To Make Fight For Nomination

Both parties are wondering just how important a part James M. Cox of Ohio, the defeated Democratic nominee in 1920, will play in the battle for the nomination of his party this year. He is an avowed candidate. There is a belief in Washington that the Democrats, chastened by their experience with Mr. Bryan, whom they persisted in renominating despite several defeats, will be shy about naming Cox.

Timely Views on World Topics

"CURB INFLUX OF ALIENS TO SAVE U. S." DRGES IMMIGRATION COMMISSIONER

"This country today is 'dangerously near being discordant, disunited and divided against itself,'" Henry H. Curran, commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island, declared recently. Curran said that he favored the "any change that will give us less immigration," and asked for support of the proposed quota law which, by substituting 2 per cent, based on the 1890 census for the present 3 per cent of the foreign born population, according to the census of 1910, and would reduce the annual influx of aliens from 357,802 to 160,857. The commissioner urged to do away with needless hardships to immigrants.

"Our gates have stood open to the immigrants of the world for many years," the commissioner said. "Now I think it is time we close them a bit. We have too much in our country of foreign colonies, foreign papers, foreign points of view, foreign loves and foreign hates inherited from the history of other continents. No nation can bear its part effectively in the future of the world if it be discordant, disunited, divided against itself within its own borders. We are dangerously near that today."

"I had a telegram from a congressman the other day demanding the admission of a certain Greek immigrant because, he said, the Greek vote in his city depended upon the admission of that immigrant, and there were 8000 Greek votes in that city. Just what is a 'Greek vote' in America? What business has it to be here?"

Jobs Won't Last Forever The migrant follows the job, said Commissioner Curran, expressing doubt that America could hand out jobs indefinitely. Both from the point of view of the immigrant and that of the citizen, he thought, the "best thing to keep this country homogeneous and American is to decrease this immigration invasion and take account of stock for a while." Commissioner Curran recommended a period of fifteen or twenty years, instead of five, before an alien might be naturalized. "I think it is time to put the quality of American citizenship ahead of the quantity of American dollars that we pile up out of foreign labor," he said. "The best way to enjoy an adequate supply of labor in this country is for more of our young men to tear off their white collars and put on blue shirts and go to work."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories BY HOWARD R. GARIS

"Dear me, Johnnie, I wish you would go out of the house with that noisy drum!" chattered Mrs. Bushytail, the lady squirrel, one day. "I have such a tail ache!" "All right, mother, I'll go out," answered the squirrel boy, cheerfully. "But it's not a drum that is making the noise."

"What is it, then?" "It's a tambourine. I call it my jingler, 'cause it jingles." As she spoke Johnnie Bushytail rattled the tambourine which, truly, was a very loud jingler, because it had jingles on it. Also he banged it with his paw, making it sound like a drum, though, really, it wasn't.

"Oh, Johnnie, will you please stop that noise?" begged his mother, who had a very hard ache in her tail that morning.

"Yes'm, I'm just going to stop," chattered Johnnie. "I wanted to make you hear the jingles of my jingler."

"I heard them all right," said poor Mrs. Bushytail. "It certainly is a loud tambourine. Now, don't slam the door when you go out."

"No'm," answered Johnnie. And really he didn't intend to, but the door slipped from his paw and did slam—a little.

Then, when the squirrel house was a bit more quiet, Mrs. Bushytail went to sleep, and Johnnie, with his tambourine jingler, scampered over the fields and through the woods.

It was too early to go to school and Johnnie thought he would have some fun before reaching the hollow stump where the lady mouse teacher heard the lessons of the animal children.

"Perhaps I may find even a nut or two," he thought. But, of course, it was too early for nuts to be growing on the trees in the land where Johnnie lived. It was hardly spring yet and nuts are not ripe until autumn, except in warm countries.

So Johnnie scampered along, rattling his tambourine. I suppose you know what a tambourine it. Like a very little drum, it looks, cut in half, and with only one head to it. Fastened to the tambourine were round, yellow disks of tin, like fifty-cent pieces, and how they jingled!

"Hurray! Hurray!" chattered Johnnie, rattling his jingler which he had made out of part of an old hoop and a tin of thin bark from the birch tree.

"Who is making all that noise?" called a voice from the woods. "I—I am, if you please," answered Johnnie, and he spoke timidly, for this might be the Woolly Wolf or the Fuzzy Fox.

But a laughing voice went on: "Who are you making so much noise?" And then out from behind a bush hopped Uncle Wiggily Longears.

Johnnie was no longer afraid when he saw the rabbit gentleman, who was twinkling his pink nose.

"Why are you out here making so much noise with your jingler, Johnnie?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Why aren't you at school?"

"I came out here with my tambourine because my mother has a tail ache and didn't like the noise in the house," explained the squirrel boy. "And it's too early to go to school."

"Very well, then," invited Uncle Wiggily. "You may hop along with me and perhaps we may have an adventure."

"May I jingle my tambourine?" asked Johnnie, who liked very much the noise his jingler made.

"Oh, yes, rattle away!" laughed the bunny. "I haven't much of a tail to ache, and can twinkle my pink nose faster when I hear a noise."

So the two friends hopped along toward the hollow stump school, Johnnie jingling his jingler until, all of a sudden, as they neared a large rock, a savage voice cried: "Stop that noise! I have a tooth ache!" And out popped a Black Bear. Johnnie stopped rattling his jingler. "Oh, ho! Oh, ho!" growled the Bear, his eyes flashing. "I have a tooth ache, but that will not stop me from nibbling your ears! No, indeed! Noise nor tooth ache will not stop me from nibbling!"

"No, but perhaps this will!" bravely chattered Johnnie, as the Bear reached over to catch Uncle Wiggily. And with that the squirrel boy threw his jingler very hard. Through the air it sailed and it banged the Black Bear on his soft and tender nose.

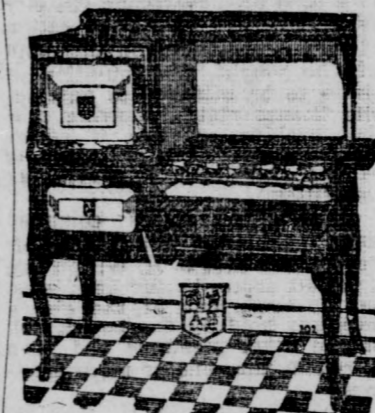

"Oh, what a blow!" howled the Bear. And well might he say that, for the jingler gave him such a bang! And such a whang! And

May I jingle my tambourine? asked Johnnie.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health with Keys to the Cabinet"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENCE

I am away behind with my answers to your questions, so today I am going to start a new stunt. I won't put any initials down for the questions, but just string off a lot of answers. If you have the courage to read through the solid mass, I hope you will find your answer, or something that will come near answering your question.

Among the causes of general itching of the skin are digestive disorders, including constipation; diseases of the kidneys and the liver; diabetes, disorders of the nervous system, too much tobacco, tea or alcohol, opium; parasites such as pediculid (lice) or the itch mite. The cause of the itching must be determined before treatment can be given. The so-called winter itch may sometimes be helped by bicarbonate of soda, one teaspoonful to a cup of water; other times by an acid solution such as vinegar and water; and other cases by a solution made with one-half ounce of carbolic acid to a pint of water, with two ounces of glycerine added. Rubbing the skin with oil or cold cream or cocoa butter afterwards and powdering with cornstarch or talcum is recommended for this also.

It is not wise to drink water or any other liquid very hot. This also applies to food, inflammations and ulcerations of the intestinal tract may come from this habit. Your stomach trouble is undoubtedly due to the same thing that has caused your overweight condition—that is over-eating for your needs. Did you join our reducing class? Simple goiters are due to a deficiency of iodine in the system. (Yes, iodine is iodine—in the newer spelling of the final "e" is dropped from the word.) If you live in the goiter region the vegetables and the water are probably lacking in iodine and you had better have your physician prescribe some iodine medication. The form of iodine used in Switzerland and Ohio has proved very effective. I will give the name of this preparation to your physician if he will write to me on his office stationery. I cannot give it to you.

If you have had syphilis you must be absolutely sure you are cured before you have children, because syphilis is one of the congenital diseases. See a reliable physician and have tests taken to determine whether you are free from it or not. It is a terribly difficult disease to cure.

After childhood bowlegs cannot be remedied except by an operation on the bones. This is done in orthopedic hospitals very effectively.

See your physician about that lump caused from sitting on a needle six years ago. It is undoubtedly in a position to be irritated. He will probably advise its removal.

You don't have to go on three-day liquid diet in order to reduce. You can begin right away simply to live under your maintenance diet. I advise the three-day liquid diet, 600 to 800 calories of milk or fruit juice or other liquids or the combination of these, because it shrinks your stomach so that when you go on a reducing diet you can do it more easily, and you will reduce from five to ten pounds. This gives you a good start.

If you have diabetes you should be under the care of a physician, and not trying to regulate your own diet. In general, the diet in diabetes has to be very low in carbohydrates (sugar and starches). Acid fruits, green leaf vegetables, soy beans and nuts (except peanuts and chestnuts) are the foods that have the smallest amounts of carbohydrates. Foods highest in carbohydrates are breads, cereals, vegetables such as peas, beans and lentils and the sweet fruit. The insulin treatment is proving very wonderful, when given by a competent physician. It is not known yet whether it will cure or not. Write to your county or state medical society if necessary, and they will furnish a list of physicians who give the treatment. A very large proportion of the cases of diabetes are due to over-eating, and so overweight is very often a forerunner of diabetes.

My dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this station, not over 200 words, and type or write legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is not possible to give you individual attention. The questions you ask will be answered in the columns as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget to send me if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

HUNTRESS SEEKING NEW THRILLS

Will Stalk Royal Bengal Tigers In India

Mrs. Ernest Thompson Seton

LONDON, March 5.—Five thrilling adventures, each of which came within a hair's breadth of causing her death, have failed to dampen the enthusiasm of Mrs. Ernest Thompson Seton, wife of the noted American naturalist and writer, for sport.

"Madcap Grace," they used to call her when she was Grace Gallatin, "deb" daughter, of one of New York's oldest and most prominent families, and "Madcap Grace" she still is. She has left London for the interior of what survives of wildest India to hunt tigers.

Although it is a dangerous exploit, Mrs. Seton's friends here feel confident that she will return safely after capturing at least one Royal Bengal tiger alive, and killing another one single-handed.

The adventures of Mrs. Seton and her husband made their "De Winton," near Greenwich, Conn., a mecca for those of society interested in the unusual in

BEAUTY CHATS

PROPERLY USED CREAM

Cold cream is most useful in its proper place. It will cleanse the skin more thoroughly than soap and water, though it should never be used as a substitute. It will keep the skin from chapping if a fairly heavy variety of cream is used in cold weather, and in the summer time will do a great deal toward preventing sunburn.

But cold cream can be abused. If too much is used on the skin or if too heavy a variety is used a coarse-pored, oily complexion is apt to result. If cheap cream full of soda is used the best complexion will be ruined in no time. If a cream made of impure or very cheap ingredients is used the skin is apt to break out in blotches.

Buy a well-known brand of cream or make your own. An excellent formula for a good general cold cream which can't possibly grow hair, and which is very cleansing and very light in quality is made as follows:

White Wax 1 ounce
Spermaceti 1 ounce
Almond Oil 1/2 ounce
White Mineral Oil 4 1/2 ounces
Rose Water 1 1/2 ounces
Borax 30 grains
Oil of Bitter Almond 15 drops

The wax and spermaceti are melted in the oils and as soon as they are blended the rose water and borax, which have previously been made lukewarm, are added slowly, and the whole stirred and beaten as it cools. As soon as it begins to congeal pour off into jars.

If you wish to use this for wrinkles, or as a skin food, substitute either first grade olive oil or almond oil for the mineral oil. This gives a somewhat heavier cream but one that is very easy to massage with. Either of these creams can be used every day with only benefit to the skin because the ingredients are light and pure.

R. G. I.—Acids in the skin sections will sometimes cause a green stain from some metals; however, neither gold, silver nor platinum will do this.

Your weight at 15 years of age, height five feet, four inches, should be about 112 pounds.

Don't Use Too Heavy a Cream

A sluggish liver condition, which would have to be cured before there would be any improvement in its shade. This may account for your failure with the other bleaches.

Tomorrow—Curiosities of Perfumes

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

WHERE HER DUTY LIES

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a woman of 32 and have been married eight years. Two years after our marriage my husband was sick for nine weeks and during that time lost his position. We hadn't much money and simply could not have gotten along if it had not been that mother told us we could come to her home to live. We have been there ever since. Now we have two children, a boy of four years and a baby girl of ten weeks.

Of course my husband got work as soon as he had his strength back, and for several years he has been doing very well. He has always been grateful to me for the help she gave us at the time when we needed it so terribly. But mother does not like my husband and slights him in little ways every day. Although my husband pays rent and all the expenses of the table and running expenses of the house, mother seems to think we have no rights. At times it is hard to bear the things she says to us.

As it happens, mother is dependent on us now, because she lost her money during the war. Her health is also poor and she could not keep up the home alone. Nevertheless she keeps saying that it would be a relief to live alone again, or that she wishes she could furnish the house to suit herself again, or if there weren't children around things would be much easier to keep up.

My husband would like to build a house, but it seems to me I can't leave mother in spite of the things she says. I know in reality she does not mean them. My husband and I would like to add the pears. Simmer for a few minutes, chill, and serve with whipped cream.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Miss Florence Sterling of Houston, Texas, is treasurer of the Humble Oil and Refining company, one of the largest oil corporations in the south. She has a suite of offices in the recently erected million-dollar Humble building, which are said to be the most luxurious of any woman's offices below the Mason and Dixon line.

Although her duties with the oil company are arduous, Miss Sterling finds time to show her interest in civic and educational matters. She is president of the Houston League of Women Voters and is editor of "The Woman's Viewpoint," a magazine devoted to the interests of women. She has held to arouse sentiment for votes for women. So well and favorably known has she become in the politics of Houston that her friends are urging her to accept the nomination for mayor in the 1924 spring election.

An interesting cook book was recently published by the pupils of the Empire school of Cleveland, Ohio, one of the junior high schools of that city. All the work except the zinc etchings was done by the pupils of the school. The recipes were all tried out in the school cafeteria. Popular opinion decided what recipes should go in the book. The book has twelve chapters, each one prefaced by a cartoon done by the art pupils and a jingle made in the English class. The binding was done by the pupils of Empire school have made. During the campaign for the suffrage amendment she maintained at her own expense an office where daily meetings were band sees this, too, but he says mother does not need to live alone because she can come and live with us. When we have talked of it to her she has flatly refused to listen to our plan.

I really don't know where my duty lies. The children need more freedom than they are getting and I also feel that my husband's life would be much happier if he could have a home of his own. But on the other hand I do not think mother will live many years longer and I know she is not able to keep house alone. I don't believe she would be so unreasonable if she had better health.

Where do you think my duty lies? MRS. T. D. S.

It seems to me your duty lies in finding a way for your children to have more freedom. The change will mean much to your husband and the children, and it need not be made at the sacrifice of your mother. Since she will be given the opportunity to make her home with you, you have no occasion to feel that you are doing anything but your duty toward her.

Even if she refuses to make her home with you at first, she will soon get tired of living alone and will miss you and the children. By that time she will only too gladly join you and will be in a better frame of mind to co-operate with you to keep harmony and a spirit of contentment in your new home. If she went along right away she might nurse an injury which would be unpleasant for you.

GETTING ACQUAINTED

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a widow and have been married a number of years as my husband died after I had been married one year. As time goes on I am lonely for a companion and now I have met the party I would like. His wife died a year ago. He lives in another town. Would it be wrong to have a few in and ask him? Or could you think of another way that we might become better acquainted?

NIGHT OPERATOR.

It would be less pointed to invite the man with other guests than to try in any other way to attract him. Such a plan seems to me a very good one.

TUJUNGA SUPERVISORS TO DECIDE ON VOTE

Special Election Question On Incorporation Will Be Thrashed Out

The matter of calling an election to settle the incorporation question in Tujunga and Sunland will be taken up by the county supervisors at a meeting to be held March 10 at 11 a. m. The petition, bearing the signatures of ninety-nine qualified voters of the district, was presented to the supervisors and they decided to postpone the hearing until that date, requesting that the petitioners prepare a map of the area it is proposed to incorporate and present it for guidance. Opponents of the incorporation of the two communities into a city of the sixth class will also be expected to present maps showing the areas which they desire left out.

A protest was offered against including any orchard or farm lands in the incorporated district. A protest was also offered against including any of the territory west of Walnut drive, which is located about half way between Tujunga and Sunland, or any of the Monte Vista school district east of Walnut drive. Other protests and counter petitions were also in evidence and this election promises to be even more hotly contested by the opposing factions than the one held over a year ago on the same question. Some objection has been heard to the name proposed for the incorporated city—"City of Verdugo Hills"—as being not distinctive enough, there being several other communities bearing the name in some form.

Need School Building
 A petition is being circulated among the parents of school children asking the board of school trustees to provide a building on Palm avenue, where property is owned by the district, to accommodate the smaller children of the west end of Tujunga. The rate of increased attendance at the one school is so rapid and steady that it is only a matter of time until this property will have to be built upon.

The hearing of Leroy C. Maxwell, alleged to have held up and robbed Carey R. Morgan of Tujunga in Blanchard canyon on Washington's birthday, and Mrs. Pearl Redmond, his alleged accomplice in making a getaway, has been set for March 8 in Los Angeles.

Work on a new clubhouse for the Tujunga Woman's club is expected to begin soon, as the organization already owns a lot on San Ysidro street and has available $1000 in cash in the treasury. The plan is to build the new home in units, the first probably being an assembly room and a kitchen. A substantial part of the cash fund has been raised by the members in cooked food sales, these being particularly successful since the formation of two teams a few weeks ago which are competing for honors in raising the largest sum. An average of $50 per month has been raised in this manner.

Study of the Mission period of California history has thus far occupied the time club. Later meetings will be taken up at future periods, special speakers preparing papers on chosen topics.

expected to be realized from the sale of a tract of land in the west end of town which is being sold by the members of the church on a commission basis, the commission to be turned in to the building fund. Voluntary contributions aggregating $5000 have also been made.

Fix Scout Budget
 Tujunga's portion of the yearly budget for the Boy Scout fund was placed at $800 at a meeting recently held in Glendale by the Boy Scout Council of the Verdugo Hills district. This will be raised among those interested in the work.

District Scout Commissioner M. P. Gilmer of Tujunga has been receiving applications for permission to attend the scoutmasters' training school to be held in Glendale March 6, 7 and 8. The instruction is given without charge and is designed to equip men for the positions of leadership and responsibility in the organization.

Two hundred chairs have been purchased for use in the Tujunga school auditorium. Permanent chairs of the opera type are to be installed as soon as funds are available. Entertainments will be given at intervals to provide the necessary funds.

Institution Will Train Boy Scout Leaders

 "Ideals of Scouting." After a ghost story by Scout Executive Cheesman, the evening's program will close and the men will return to their homes.

The Scout Leaders' Training institute as outlined above has been organized by and will also be supervised by Prof. George U. Moyse, head of the department of training of the Glendale Boy Scout District committee.

There are hundreds of boys in Glendale waiting and anxious to become Boy Scouts if adult Scoutmasters can be secured to lead them, it is declared. While the Scoutmaster receives no salary and is purely a volunteer worker, yet there is a great deal of satisfaction in the task.

Large Coal Land Deal in North End of State

REDDING, Cal., March 5.—Excitement in the Oak Run district incident to recent developments that coal exists along that creek, twenty-five miles east of Redding, was heightened yesterday when fifteen land owners of that district came to Redding and signed options on 7000 acres in favor of San Francisco and eastern capitalists whose experts had made the preliminary deal. If the options are exercised, $2,000,000 will ultimately go to the Oak Run land owners.

EAGLE ROCK

EARLY START OF CHURCH RECALLED

Site of Methodist Edifice to Be Sold and New Building Erected

The fact that the present site of the Methodist church, on Colorado boulevard, is to be sold and a new building erected elsewhere recalls to the minds of many pioneers the humble beginnings of an institution that at the present time numbers 230 members on its roll.

Attention has been directed to the following notation from the Methodist Church Record: "In the year 1909 the Rev. J. M. Spangler returned from Argentina, where he had labored as a missionary for many years. He was ill and had returned as a superannuated clergyman. But, not satisfied with a life of inactivity, he, with one or two others, rented a hall in Eagle Rock valley and commenced divine services under the name of the Eagle Rock Mission of the M. E. church."

The hall referred to is now known as the Annex and is used for Sunday school purposes.

The hall which Dr. Spangler rented in 1909 is now the "Annex" and is used for Sunday school and Epworth League purposes. The Record continues: "The Rev. Spangler preached exactly five weeks, when he was stricken with fever and rheumatism," the article continues, "and was not able to continue the work. He was ill for a year and a half, but the work was kept alive. The Rev. Mr. Todd became the pastor for a few months, but was compelled to retire in order to sustain himself and family in matters of living."

Rev. Scott Comes

"During the year 1910 the Rev. Homer Scott, a student of theology in the University of Southern California, carried on the work as a student preacher, and kept it alive for several months, when he was removed by the district superintendent at the end of the conference year in September. In September, 1910, the Rev. J. Spangler once more was put in charge. He bought for the church a lot and house near the corner of Colorado street and Castle avenue for $1,300."

Poet's Wife Here

Mrs. Anne Murphy Markham, wife of Edwin Markham, famed author of "The Man With the Hoe" and many other celebrated poems, was recently entertained by her sister, Miss Mary Murphy of West Fifteenth street. It had been twenty-five years since Mrs. Markham had visited California. They live on Staten Island, New York. The poet is now in Florida.

summer home, according to members of the Lauder clan, of whom sixteen remain in Eagle Rock.

His clansmen are planning to have a big rodeo (or whatever you call it in Scotch) before long, when the great comedian and singer will be among those who will gather here for a pow-wow.

In the near future it may be nothing uncommon to see folk from the land of heather and kilts come strolling down Colorado boulevard in full regalia. Among the newest additions to the ever-increasing Eagle Rock chapter of the Lauder fraternity are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Vallance, recently from London. Mr. Vallance, a brother-in-law of Sir Harry, is said to have been his campaign manager for the past twenty-six years, and plans to make his permanent home in Los Angeles. There are three sons and a daughter in this family. Then there is Sir Harry's brother, Matt Lauder, his wife and three sons, James V., Harry Lauder, Jr., and Matt Lauder, Jr. The Matt Lauder family comes from Australia, and the sons, who are understood to be musically talented, believe that America is the land of opportunity to continue the fame of the Lauder name.

Others of the clan who are in Eagle Rock are: Mrs. L. C. Lamb, niece to Sir Harry; Mr. and Mrs. George T. Vallance and family and Mr. and Mrs. Matt Vallance, related to Harry Lauder through marriage; Matt Vallance, whose popular name is "Pink," came to Eagle Rock more than a year ago from Canada, following an interesting career with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

"Tiger Scud" Coming
 Tuesday night, March 11, at the Women's Twentieth Century club-house, will be presented the first Tiger Scud of the year, under the auspices of the "Tiger Family," or Occidental college student body, than whom none others may attend. It is the plan to have these strictly college affairs about once a month. A five-piece colored jazz orchestra will furnish the music.

The Eagle Rock high mark in the campaign for Near East relief will be one carload of condensed milk, declares Secretary Donnell G. Montgomery of the Chamber of Commerce, with whom contributions may be left. "A one-pint can of condensed milk will sustain the life of a starving child one week," says Mr. Montgomery.

"Keep your mouth closed," was the terse order given to Sidney Balfour, aged 12, by the bandit who robbed the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. Balfour, at 2303 Metton avenue. Sidney complied and the robber methodically emptied the contents of drawers and clothes closets, in an effort to locate some money, finally taking his departure unsatisfied.

The visitor, according to Sidney, wore a dark serge suit, dark green hat and had a mask over his face. He carried a gun and brand the boy to the bedpost with an electric cord, before commencing his search for valuables.

This property adjoins the "Annex" which was purchased a few years ago for $2,750. So the original total cost of the 339 feet of Colorado boulevard was $4,050. The present value of the property is in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Mrs. Clara Spalding Ellis of Eagle Rock is one of the "old guard," most of them grey haired now, who knew Mrs. Markham when she was a teacher in the Los Angeles schools. She was at the reception given by Miss Murphy to her sister. Many acquaintances were renewed that day, she says.
