7. The prefectural officials distributed posters, pamphlets and leaflets to each city, town and village concerned in this election. Many localities held Buraku meetings. 49,166 of the total 201,515 eligible voters abstained. In 35 of the towns and villages of Aomori-ken no voting was necessary because the total number of candidates was equal to or less than the number of positions to be filled. Total number of candidates throughout the prefecture was 2,210 for 1620 positions, of this number, 141 withdrew their candidacies prior to election time.

In six of the villages there were not enough candidates to fill all positions. An election is to be held in September to fill the existing vacancies.

No prominent campaign issues or significant political strategy was apparent in this election.

The highest percent of successful candidates with party affiliations belong to the Democrat-Liberal Party. Successful Communist Party candidates were concentrated mainly in Minami-gun of this prefecture.

SUBJECT: Summary of Election - Reports Control Symbol MG 22 R1

TO: Commanding General
Eighth US Army
APO 343

1. Type of election: Agricultural Land Commissions.
2. Date of election: 18 August 1949.
3. Number of persons to be elected: 3,870.
4. Location of election: Nagano Prefecture.
5. Inclosed is list of successful candidates supported by political parties.

6. Interest in this election was comparable with that shown in the general election held in January 1949. In this election, 80.5% of the eligible voters cast their ballots and 80.9% in the general election. Women, however, showed a little less interest in this election than they did in the general election, while the men showed slightly more. More tenant farmers voted than did either landlords or owner-farmers. Owner-farmers took the least interest in the election.

7. Publicity included the distribution of about 338,000 leaflets covering the importance of the election and methods of casting ballots; and 1,200 posters urging the people to vote. Newspaper articles, radio broadcasts, and open forums covered similar subjects.

8. The Communist party was the only party that put forth any issues. It was the usual line of propaganda against "reactionary bosses". They announced as their aims the release of all tenant farm land, forests, and fields, complete purchase of agricultural facilities, and large scale reclamation work and improvement of soil at the governments expense. The rightist faction of the Farmers' Union advocated the rejection of Communist influence and the unification of a democratic farmers' front. The leftist faction followed Communist lines.

9. The Communists, rather than risk defeat, withdrew some of their candidates when it appeared imminent that they would not be successful.

SUBJECT: Agricultural Land Commissions Election

TO : Commanding General, Hq Eighth Army, APO 343

In compliance with Par 3 letter your headquarters, subject: "Reports Required for Agricultural Land Commissions Election", dated 7 July 1949, report is hereby submitted as follows:

- a. (1) Kiyoo Sudo, Kuchinotsu-machi Committee, Socialist Party
- (2) Shiroo Goto, Bushozu-machi Committee, Socialist Party
- (3) Akiji Umezu, Saigo-mura Committee, Japan Communist Party
- (4) Chitose Yoshida, Arie-machi Committee, Japan Communist Party

b. Inasmuch as the purchase and sale of agricultural lands in Nishisonoki-gun, Tsushima Island and Minamimatsuura-gun have temporarily been completed, the dissemination of ideas of this election was not thoroughly carried out in these electorates despite every effort put in this work. On the contrary, in Isahaya City, Nagasaki City, Minamitakaki-gun and Higashisonoki-gun intense interest was shown. The reasons for this success is:

- (1) Farmers in these electorates used to show keen interest from the past over such an affair.
- (2) As a result of enforcing the land reform too severely in these electorates, it prompted a boycott against agricultural land commissions.

Big publicity was given this election through the medium of local newspapers, radio, organ papers "Nagasaki". Governor Sugiyama expounded his views on the importance of this election on all local newspapers, followed by radio broadcast by the Director of Agricultural Department in the Prefectural Govt. Entire force in the Pref Agricultural Section was mobilized in mobile dissemination teams equipped with loudspeakers and by scattering leaflets encouraged eligible voters to vote. Leaflets were also distributed to every farming household. As a result of these pro-found campaigning, keen interest was shown by the voters, but on the contrary candidates were reluctant to file their candidacies. In Nagaura-mura, even on the final date of filing of candidacy no one filed candidacy. Consequently, the election was postponed till 1 Sept 49.

Japan Communist Party mutually with the "Nichino" (Japan Farmers Party) put in very active propaganda work as early as July, but hardly any result worthy of mention was achieved by them.

Although many that were elected registered their candidacies as independents, yet police investigation indicates that among the successful candidates in the prefecture eight (8) were regular Japan Communist Party members and six (6) others were new fledglings of the party.

Administrative Election Committee, Yamaguchi-ken

August 25, 1949

SUBJECT: Reports on Agr. Land Commissions Election.

TO: Commanding Officer,
Yamaguchi Civil Affairs Team.
Att: Legal-Government Section.

In compliance with your instructions AMGL 091 to hand August 19 re above subject, we have to report as follows:-

- (1) Re Operational Directive No. 19
Par. 7a (2); 7c (3); and 7c (4):

We have nothing to report on these items.

- (2) Re MG 22 RI:

- (a) The name, location of committee to which elected, and name of supporting political party, if any, of each successful candidate. No report of independent candidates elected will be required:

We have to report in the attached lists.

- (b) General account of the election:

- (A) Voting interest of the electorate:

The voting interest was generally low until the election-day drew very near, due probably to the fact that the agr. land purchase program was practically over. However, as stimulated by various propogandas, they grew interested towards the voting day, and the voting rate showed 71%. After all, the voting interest was rather low as compared with that for M.P. and Members of Local Assemblies.

- (B) Publicity given the election:

In order to raise voting interest, demonstration was made twice each through newspapers and radio. Youngmen's oratorical meetings for the purpose were held at Tokuyama city and Okaeda-mura, Toyora-gun.

(C) Prominent campaign issues:

Nothing of the kind appeared.

(D) Significant political strategy:

Due to low voting interest, no significant activities of kind was discernible.

(c) Any serious violation of election laws:

The answer for this item, being coincidental with the Par. 7a (2) of the foregoing Directive shall be omitted.

--- --- --- --- --- --- ---
We may take the liberty to add a few remarks for your reference as under:

(A) Most of the successful candidates are more or less rightist's colour and leftists are conspicuous by their minority. The B class voters were remarkable in their voting interest.

(B) The official expenditures for the election are to be borne by the national budget. But its allocation for this prefecture on account of the Agr. Land Commissions Election both local and prefectural amounts only to ¥2,549,654.00 which is far from covering the necessary expenses. It goes without saying that the election at issue was effected largely at the expenses of local administrative organizations, which is quite unreasonable.

(C) It is for the first time in the history of election that the two independent offices took charge of the election management and publicity separately. But the division of these functions is easy to go incidentally against the smooth operation of each function. We are going to point out the drawback for the reconsideration of the Agr. and Forestry Ministry.

Yours faithfully,

1. In compliance with Eighth Army Ltr AGMGL 091, dtd 7 July 1949, subject as above, the following narrative report is submitted.
2. Because of three typhoons and four floods, farmers were too busy repairing damage to take particularly active interest in the Agricultural Land Commission election.
3. Newspaper and radio publicity was good and officials of the prefectural land department visited every village to explain the importance of the election. Officers of the Economic and Civil Information sections spoke in 11 villages where no opposition had developed in the face of strong left wing drives. (The local newspaper published 35 articles on the election and six radio talks were given in the 10 days preceding the election.)
4. Of 1210 incumbent commissioners, but 389 were re-elected in the first 1180 returns. Most commissioners chose not to run again, not only because of long hours and low pay, but also because of their reluctance to face the often bitter criticism of land contestants who had lost the decision after a commission hearing.

5. The preponderance of new men elected also indicated a certain amount of dissatisfaction that the old order had not produced more benefits for more people. There was a certain amount of justification for this attitude but the fact remains that the amount of land available simply was hopelessly inadequate to meet the intense hunger of the people, who for the most part expected more than they got.

6. For the 1210 commission posts there were 1717 candidates. Three villages failed to name a complete tenant slate and one village, where a heated controversy is now being arbitrated by the prefecture, put up no candidates in any class.

7. Although more than 73% of eligible men voted, a scant half of the women voters turned out and the combined vote stood at but 61.9% of the total registered.

8. Only Communists and fellow traveling candidates proclaimed their party affiliation and received organized party support.

9. Of 30 Communist and sympathizer candidates, 10 were elected. Of these four got in by default because there were just the right number of candidates to fill the openings.

10. There were no disturbances and Civil Affairs observation in a score of villages uncovered no violations of the election laws.

11. Successful Communist or party line candidates follow:

Name of Commission	Name of Candidate	Group	Remarks
Yoshida	Yamagata, Kiyoshi	3	Elected
Yoshida	Homan, Takeo	1	Elected
Bansei	Unoki, Utaki	1	No Contest
