To
EDWIN DE BARR, M. S., Ph. D.
the 1921 Sooner is affectionately dedicated

Since leaving his native state of Michigan, nearly thirty years ago, he has been a determining factor in the growth and progress of the University of Oklahoma.

As head of the Chemistry department his accuracy in the laboratory and his persistence of a master in research have brought him much renown; as Vice President of the University his handling of the administrative affairs coming within his scope has been both timely and expedient.

Not only has he exerted his influence for the expansion of the University but he has been called upon by government officials to solve problems as state chemist since 1908 and is also a national authority on many phases of his work.

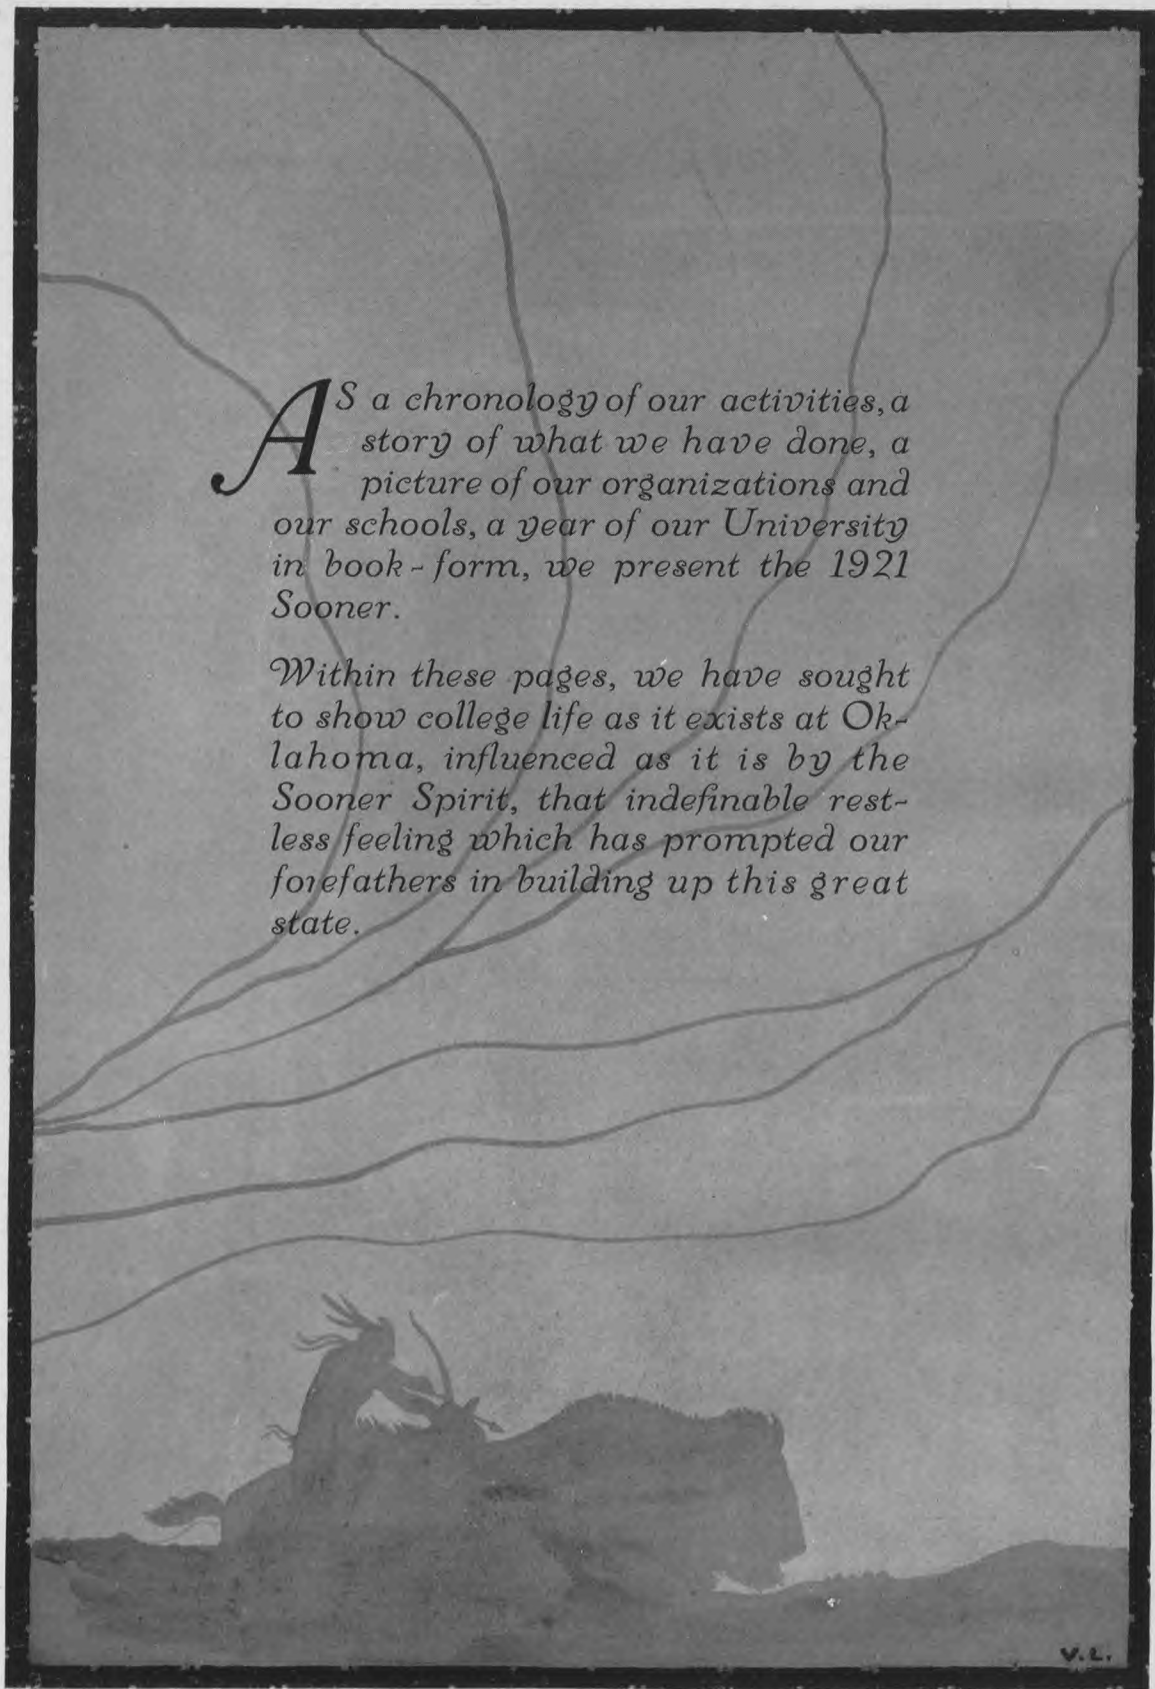

In the classroom, on the campus, or in his fraternal activities throughout the state, "Daddy DeBarr" is respected and esteemed.

AS a chronology of our activities, a story of what we have done, a picture of our organizations and our schools, a year of our University in book-form, we present the 1921 Sooner.

Within these pages, we have sought to show college life as it exists at Oklahoma, influenced as it is by the Sooner Spirit, that indefinable restless feeling which has prompted our forefathers in building up this great state.

PROGRESS OF THE UNIVERSITY

The time was when the maturity of a university was considered to be a matter not of a few years but of a century. The unprecedented success of the University of Oklahoma during the past few years proves that it is not absolutely essential that a great institution of learning should measure its existence by centuries or even by scores of years.

The University of Oklahoma has just completed the first quarter century of its existence. Like many of the older institutions it suffered many difficulties in the beginning, when both political and denominational forces held sway over the institution, making its future doubtful, to say nothing of progress. As a result of these unfortunate circumstances financial support was a thing not to be expected, confidence in the institution was rapidly vanishing, and its standing in the educational world was little more than a bit of sarcasm.

Such was the beginning of a great university.

Oklahoma, the melting pot of civilization, was destined to have a university of which its citizens might justly be proud. Factionalism was eliminated, we hope forever, and today, the University of Oklahoma has a standing among the educational institutions of the North, the South, the East, and the West, that is unquestioned, and its students and graduates are admitted without loss of credits to those institutions which have for years prided themselves in being "the best".

During the past eight years the average yearly increase in students has been four hundred and forty. This is an evidence of the confidence of the people of the state in their own state university. The professional schools now hold, without exception, the highest rating among the National Associations, and the University of Oklahoma, with less than ten years of real existence and progress, has laid a foundation upon which future development can be nothing but success.

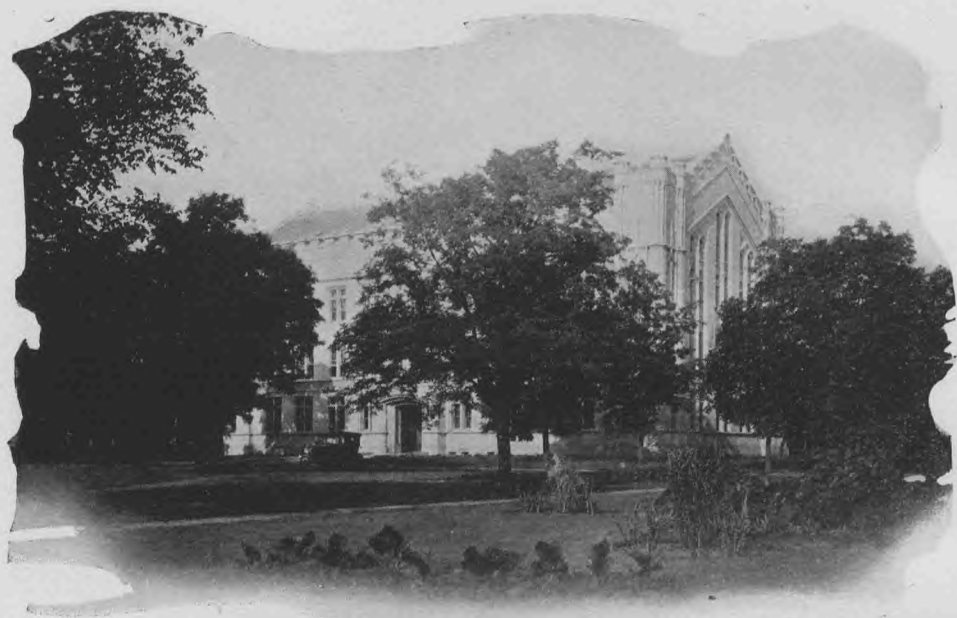

LAW

Through musty volumes, o'er old events and arguments, and on to understanding here we find the student barrister, seeking with uncompromising purpose the answer to his perplexing queries.

CHEMISTRY

A monument to science, to the meaning of things, and to those who say all things are explicable, this building faces the rising sun and secrets of the ages are here revealed by those who seek the Sphinx beyond the portal.

ADMINISTRATION

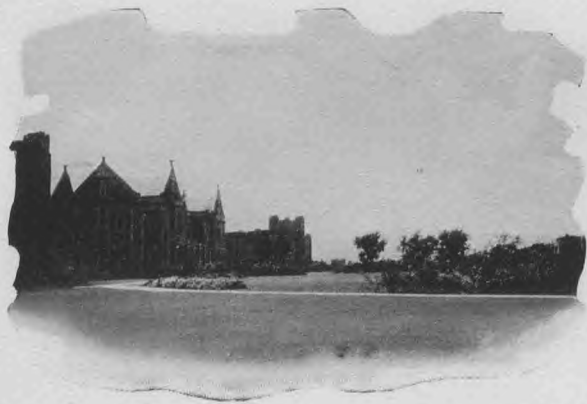

*A touch of majesty, of venerable wisdom, here invites the quest for understanding.
We know what tasks have found their place within these ivy mantled walls, what guiding aid of kind administration.*

LIBRARY

The first to greet us as we enter Soonerland, its wealth of well-thumbed volumes has caused us to return at hours when twinkling lights shone o'er the campus and the buildings towered mountain-like against a velvet sky.

THE ELMS

When our footsteps wander here beneath the leafy colonnade which sifts the heedless light of summer into tiny drops, our pace grows slower and we pause to drink the coolness of the semi-twilight, and enjoy the comfort of relaxation.

SPOONHOLDER

What sunny afternoon has found this venerable old mark unvisited? O'erhung by sturdy campus elms, the Spoonholder has a place in Sooner affections, a treasured memory of those who have gone before.

EDUCATION

Its grey walls once were filled with quiet, and students in its hush drowsed over volumes of accumulated knowledge. Now it is the busy scene of preparation for the art of serving man and revealing to him the interpretation of recorded wisdom.

ENGINEERING

Attune to nature's methods and well versed in all the ways her servants may well aid him, here we find the lord of whirring engines and his allies, his feudal tower high o'er the velvet green beneath him.

G R A D U A T E

A. H. VAN VLEET

The first graduate degree was conferred in 1900 upon Ross Hume. The next year, Paul White received his M. A. degree. At that time there was no Graduate School, and of course, no graduate faculty. These degrees were conferred by the general faculty. In 1909 the Graduate School was organized with a dean and a faculty. The faculty consists of the professors of the Schools and Colleges that offer graduate work. Previous to 1900 the work had been under the supervision of a committee from the general faculty. In 1911 five received the Master's degree.

There is a constantly increasing demand by the high schools of the State for teachers holding advanced degrees. This has made it necessary to provide special opportunities for teachers to secure such degrees without sacrificing their positions in doing so. This demand has been very successfully met through the summer sessions and through correspondence courses. It is possible for a student to secure the Master's degree by completing the work of three summer sessions in residence and in addition, eight semester hours through correspondence courses.

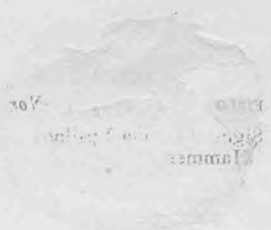

The enrollment at the present time exceeds that of any previous semester. As the University grows older and the facilities for advanced work become better there will be an accelerating demand for graduate work. The University will be in position to meet this demand as it occurs.

ARTS AND SCIENCES

J. S. BUCHANAN

The organization of the College of Arts and Sciences dates from the beginning of the University in 1892.

It is the center of the University of Oklahoma out of which the professional schools have grown and around which they are grouped. A large part of the instruction is foundational for the best work of the professional schools, which show a growing tendency to require one or more years of general college training for admission. The Medical School and the School of Education now require two years of college work, and the School of Law one year.

The College of Arts and Sciences affords many of its students an opportunity to test themselves in various fields of scholastic endeavor pending the time when they shall discover the dominant interests of their lives. It also presents subjects and groups of subjects directly related to the student's chosen life of professional endeavor. For this purpose there are within the College of Arts and Sciences organized the schools of Journalism, Public and Private Business, Social Service and until recently the Schools of Education and Home Economics.

For the past year 1919-20, of the thirty-nine hundred and fourteen students enrolled in the University, twenty-one hundred and fifty-six or fifty-five percent of the total enrollment was in the College of Arts and Sciences. This year 1920-21 the total enrollment will be much greater.

There are about one hundred members of the faculty on the staff of instructors.

The number graduated from the College for the past year was over two hundred.

JOURNALISM.

H. H. HERBERT

The School of Journalism, completing its eighth year of existence, is now more efficiently organized than at any other time in its history. Evidence of this is seen in its meeting the requirements for admission to the Association of American Schools and Departments of Journalism, for which only eleven journalistic institutions in the United States are able to qualify.

The growth of the school in 1920-21 has come about through the occupancy of larger quarters, the enlargement of its faculty, additions to its courses of instruction and an expansion of its statewide activities.

The School of Journalism was in practically a homeless state until last September when it began its year's work in the basement of Science Hall, where a large number of classrooms and offices are available.

The school still lacks one of the essentials to its growth and development, for the University print shop, with which the school is directly concerned in many of its activities, is still housed in the Engineering Building, halfway across the campus from Science Hall. Until it is possible to provide a building in which both the printing plant and the journalism quarters can be accommodated, much of the work of a mechanical and administrative nature can be carried on only under a serious handicap.

This year, the number of full time instructors in journalism has been increased to four. This change allowed a rearrangement of courses and administrative activities and the addition of several kinds of work that materially enlarge the scope and increase the efficiency of the school.

The expansion of work in advertising and the addition of courses in printing, publishing and newspaper administration constitute the principal advances made this year. Advertising instruction is now given on a scale as extensive as that of any school of journalism in the country, and the courses in newspaper management are conceded by journalistic educators to be a step in advance of what most schools of journalism offer.

During the year the school has put added emphasis upon its work in relation to the publishing interests of the state. Individually prepared news stories on every phase of university work and student activity have gone out even to the smallest and most remote newspaper in the state. A weekly publication of professional news and comment of interest to Oklahoma newspaper men, known as "Sooner State Press", has been regularly published. The school has kept in close touch with the Oklahoma Press Association and has assisted materially at times in making the program of that organization an effective one.

Thus in the opportunities it offers to students and in the aid it gives to the publishing interests of the State the School of Journalism has made definite progress during the year. Much still remains to be done, but a record of accomplishment is a stimulus to endeavor, and the prospects for a greater future are indeed bright.

PUBLIC & PRIVATE BUSINESS

A. B. ADAMS

The purpose of the School of Public and Private Business is to train students for the most important professions and vocations in business, both public and private. At present we have 171 students enrolled in the school who are candidates for a degree, and 18 who are special students not candidates for a degree. In addition to these students who are enrolled in the School there are at least 150 others who are taking courses offered by it. About 85 percent of the students of the School are preparing themselves to take up work in the private business field, such as mercantile business, banking, insurance, real estate, accountancy, and foreign trade. The others expect to become public officials or employees either of the state or national government in the capacity of legislators, administrators, investigators, statisticians, or government representatives.

This year has been a year of great growth for the School of Public and Private Business, as the number of its students has almost doubled over those of last year. The important immediate problem before the School is to get a sufficient number of instructors to handle the growing enrollment and to teach the additional specialized courses which it is intended that the School shall offer. It is planned for the School to secure three additional instructors for next year, and we shall endeavor to get the very best teachers available for this work, provided we are able to get the appropriation.

The School is sorely in need of classroom space and library facilities. It is now evident that the legislature of 1921 will not see fit to appropriate money for a building so badly needed by the School, but it is hoped that we shall be able to get sufficient minimum space on the third floor of the Administration Building to take care of our growth, at least until the next legislature convenes.

There is a fine spirit existing within the School of Business, both among the faculty and the students. This spirit and enthusiasm is a large factor in building up and widening the scope of the School. Business organizations, and individual business men of the state are also taking great interest in the work which the School is doing, and our students upon their graduation are having little difficulty in securing good positions in the business world.

SOCIAL SERVICE.

The Department of Sociology is designed to serve two purposes.

First, to teach every student, no matter what occupation he is preparing to take up, how to fulfill his duties as a member of society, and under what conditions and standards he may realize for himself a rational and rounded culture, and, at the same time, promote the well-being of society.

The most important part of education is knowing how to live; not how to earn money; and the primary aim of sociology is to teach every student this most important part of education.

Second, to give to students, who desire to take up social work as a career, the special knowledge and practical training necessary for such a career.

In order to qualify students for social work there has been organized in the Department of Sociology a School of Social Service which prepares students for such occupations as research and teaching, Red Cross workers, community workers, charity workers, medical social service, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. secretaries, etc.

Many graduates of the University of Oklahoma have gone into social service work, and are extending the influence of the university all around the world. They are found in the great cities of New York, Baltimore, Chicago, and Washington; in the over-seas countries of Germany, India, Persia, and in South America.

The Department of Sociology has five members on its teaching staff, to wit: Jerome Dowd, Director of the School of Social Service; Gilbert H. Smith, Assistant Professor of Sociology; Ivan G. Wright, Assistant Professor of Sociology and Vocational Director; Maurice Neuberg, Assistant Instructor in Sociology; Novella Gould, Supervisor of Field Work.

FREDRIK HOLMBERG

The School of Fine Arts in the University of Oklahoma holds a rather unique position as compared with schools of similar nature in other state universities.

In most universities the various professional schools were organized and put on a solid footing before much thought was given to the fine arts. In several state university towns, private fine arts schools were organized and affiliated with the university. In this arrangement, the tendency has been to overlook the theory and history of the fine arts and over-emphasize the applied side.

In the early days of the University of Oklahoma when it was decided to organize the various colleges and schools, the School of Fine Arts was also organized and had "an even start" with all the others. Credit for work done in Fine Arts was accepted by other schools in the University and the School of Fine Arts was quick to schedule literary courses given in the College of Arts and Sciences as part of the required work for graduation. This coöperation has been of exceptional benefit to the School of Fine Arts and we hope not detrimental to the College of Arts and Sciences.

The growth of the School of Fine Arts has been equal to that in other branches of educational endeavor in the University and the main part of the worry of its faculty is how to take care of the increasing number of students that are sure to come next year and the next and the next. We must have more space, more pianos, and more teachers.

Thirty-three teachers are now devoting all their time to teaching in the School of Fine Arts and fourteen teachers in the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Education are giving courses required for a degree.

One of the missions of the School of Fine Arts is to spread the "gospel" of music, art and expression throughout the state. Organizations such as the Orchestra, Glee Clubs, Band, concert companies and individual artists are making many successful trips and give several home concerts and entertainments annually.

ENGINEERING

J. H. FELGAR

The first work in the College of Engineering at the University of Oklahoma was begun in the year 1904 with Prof. Charles Majors in charge. Prof. C. M. Jansky came to the College in 1905 and was the first head of the School of Applied Sciences as it was then called. Beginnings of Electrical, Mechanical, and Civil Engineering were taught. In 1909 Prof. J. H. Felgar was elected as Dean of the School of Applied Science and it became the College of Engineering. Up to this time the University had only one faculty overseeing all the work in every department. Then the University was organized into separate schools and colleges with separate faculties each taking care of its own curricula and regulations.

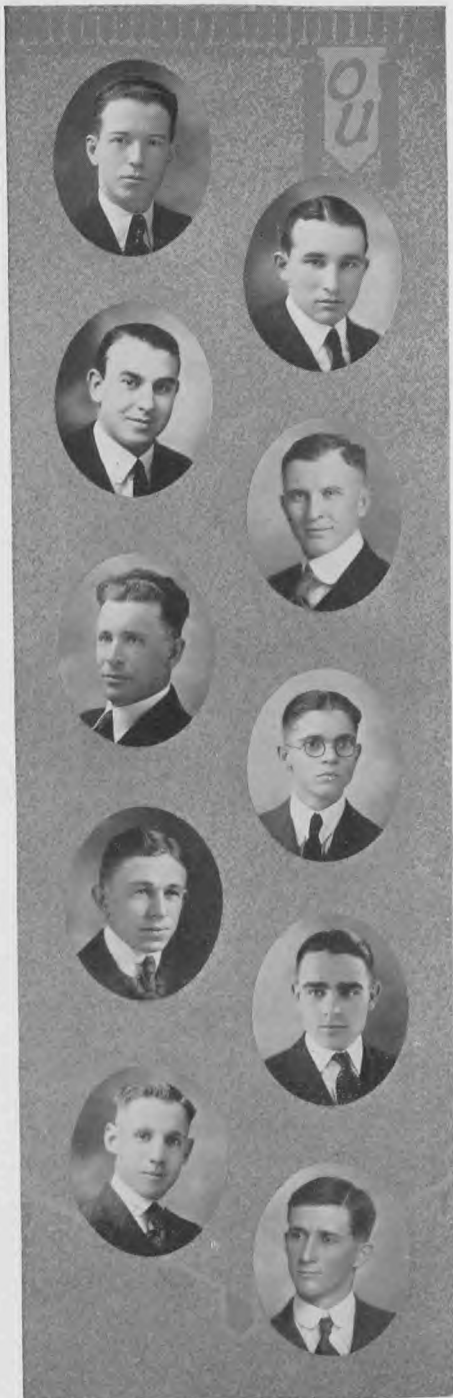

From having only three departments at the start, Mechanical, Electrical, and Civil, the College has grown until it includes schools giving degrees in Mechanical, Civil, Electrical, and Chemical Engineering, and Engineering Geology, and has additional departments to take care of its work which includes Drawing, Shop and Mechanics.

In the beginning the Engineering departments were housed in different rooms about the University, the Shops, Drawing and Electrical Engineering laboratories being housed in temporary buildings. A permanent Shop building was built in 1909 in which arrangement was made to house the offices and recitation rooms as well as the laboratories and shops of the College of Engineering. On account of the growth of the College from time to time additions have been built which have taken care of the different departments in a temporary way. There is no opportunity for further enlargement of the building and on account of its crowded condition every effort is being made to get an appropriation for a new Engineering building.

The faculty now numbers forty-six, fourteen of which devote all of their time to Engineering subjects.

The curricula supply our present need fairly satisfactorily. The departments of the university which are called upon to give courses are English, Mathematics, Chemistry, Physics, Economics, and Geology, which in addition to the technical subjects of drawing, shop mechanics, civil engineering, electrical engineering and mechanical engineering complete the curricula.

J. C. MONNET

The law school was organized in August, 1909. The then Board of Regents, together with a committee from the State Bar Association, selected a Dean and authorized him to effect the organization, employ faculty, and recommend the purchase of suitable books and equipment. The difficulty was to find a room. In view of the fact that only the foundation had been laid for the Administration Building, and that there were only two buildings for the use of the entire university, namely the old library building and the old science hall, the County Commissioners offered the use of the Court House for the law school, but it was deemed inadvisable to accept it. Finally, by crowding cases of specimens more closely together, a space was cleared in the room on the second floor of the old science building, known at that time as the geological museum. Around this space were erected wooden book shelves, and a few law books were immediately purchased. This space constituted the recitation room and the law library for a year and only first year work was offered. The next year both second and third year work was offered; the faculty was increased from two to three and the school moved into the basement of the old library, which had been vacated by the preparatory school which was discontinued just at that time. The faculty was increased to five and the same location was retained until the fall of 1913 when the school moved into the yet incomplete new law building. The new law building was formally dedicated March 4, 1914, Professor Wambaugh of Harvard delivering the dedicatory address. Attendance the first year numbered fifty-seven; during the current year it passed the two hundred and fifty mark. The library, the first year, was merely nominal; the library at the present time represents perhaps thirty-five to forty thousand dollars in value, more than half of which has been secured without expense to the state under an exchange plan adopted by the legislature some years ago, by which surplus state publications are traded for needed books. Admission requirements have been raised from a four year high school course to a requirement calling for one year of college work, and commencing next fall sophomore standing in the university will be necessary. Commencing in the fall of 1923 junior standing will be required. The school has therefore taken rank with the leading state university law schools of America.

The profession of Pharmacy as it is now recognized has within its scope more responsibilities and possibilities than most of the other professions. The pharmacist is responsible to the public for the purity of his drugs and the careful compounding of prescriptions. He stands between the chance errors of the physician and the harm that this error might do the patient.

A continual advance is being made in the educational requirements of the pharmacist and today the successful druggist must have a good education of a professional nature along with the business education that is necessary in any successful business. Pharmacy which was one of the leading professions during the Renaissance is again coming to its own and today the druggist is one of the leading business men in every community. The druggist has an opportunity to improve the sanitary conditions of a community by studying its needs and suggesting the proper remedies needed through some unique system of advertising that will appeal to the people. He has an opportunity to develop a taste for good literature and music, to lead the boys into good clean athletics by the class of goods that he sells, for the simple reason that he is made a confidant by the majority of his customers. Now because of the influential position held by the druggist in every community it behooves us to search for the best and brightest boys and girls in this state to supply our drug-stores with well trained and competent help. The training of the students to meet the above condition is our ideal.

By making this our ideal the school has developed rapidly and is now the largest school of Pharmacy in the southwest and one of the three largest in the United States.

The State Board of Pharmacy working with the Oklahoma Pharmaceutical Association are trying to convince the State Legislators that a building costing $250 000 is not only needed but is rightly due the profession of Pharmacy in Oklahoma. Should they be successful, we hope to be able to state to you in the near future that we are the largest and best equipped School of Pharmacy in the United States.

LEROY LONG

The past year has witnessed some remarkably satisfactory developments in connection with the work of the School of Medicine. The most significant happening—in fact, an epoch-making happening—was the advancement of the school to "A" Grade by the Council on Medical Education. This was the goal toward which we had been straining our efforts for a long time.

From an educational and ethical point of view, we have complied with all the requirements of a school of the first class. However, in order to keep pace with the progress of medical education, and in order to render the service that the school should give to the medical profession and the people of the State, it is necessary that our housing facilities be quickly improved so that we may have adequate quarters. At the moment that this is written an effort is being made to secure a sufficient appropriation for the construction of a medical building at Oklahoma City on the fifteen-acre campus set apart by the Legislature as a home for the medical department. If it materializes the result will be, in my judgment, highly satisfactory in every respect. It will make it possible to have all the medical students under one roof, and they will breathe an atmosphere of medicine from the very time they enter the medical school.

Through the hospital we are caring for a vast number of sick people too poor to pay a doctor bill, and who come to us from various parts of the state. Calculated upon a money basis only, $80,000 would be a very conservative estimate of the value of service which the members of the Faculty render every year without pay of any material kind.

It is the ambition of the School of Medicine to keep its work upon a high plane so that it will be at least on a par with the other departments of the University, and second to no medical school in the country; to send well-trained nurses and doctors out over the state—men and women who will carry with them not only technical knowledge, but wisdom as well; to make the School of Medicine and associated hospital the center of medical progress in this state—the center to which all the doctors of the state and all the people who are interested in health advancement are welcome.

The School of Education is located in the Education Building. It was first organized as a subordinate school in the College of Arts and Sciences in 1909. In September, 1920, it was established as a separate school. Its general purpose is to provide the professional training necessary for teachers. Its specific aims are: first, in cooperation with the College of Arts and Sciences to prepare teachers thoroughly in two or more academic subjects and give them the professional training necessary to make their teaching effective; second, to prepare teachers of education and psychology for normal schools and colleges; and third, to present such courses in theory, history, and administration of education as will be valuable to principals, superintendents, and other educational administrative officers.

The faculty of the School of Education consists of the President of the University, the Dean of the School of Education, one professor, one associate professor and six assistant professors; three supervisors for the practice school and the instructors in other departments of the College of Arts and Sciences in the University who give teachers' courses.

The School of Education includes work in the following departments offering general and professional training for teachers: Psychology, History of Education, School Administration, Principles and Practice of Teaching, Art, Industrial Education, Home Economics, Bacteriology, Botany, Chemistry, English, Geology, Government, Greek, History, Latin, Mathematics, Modern Languages, Philosophy, Physical Education, Physics, Physiology, Sociology, and Zoology.

The Junior and Senior High School occupies the first floor of the Education Building. On the second floor there are six class rooms and the administrative offices of the School of Education. The third floor contains a large assembly room, the psychological laboratory and recitation room.

The School of Education maintains a department of educational investigation and experimentation known as the Department of Measurement, Efficiency and Standardization. Assistance is given in conducting local surveys of the schools of the State.

A psychological clinic has also been established to provide diagnosis of educationally and mentally unusual children and for the training of expert examiners and teachers of such children. The School of Education also maintains a department of religious education whose object is to train leaders and workers in the church and church schools. A bureau of vocational guidance is also maintained.

THE STAGE

DRAMATICS AT OKLAHOMA

Dramatics in the university received a great impetus with the organization of the Drama League.

The object of the Norman center of the league, in the words of its constitution, is "to stimulate public interest in drama, to support such plays as may be deemed worthy, to disseminate information concerning the drama and its literature and to encourage the production of community plays."

A stage in Recital Hall was equipped and groups for the production of one act plays were organized. These plays, which are written by contestants for prizes offered by the league for the best play, are directed by Miss Veroqua Petty, instructor in expression.

The interest in dramatics, which has increased ten fold, is evidenced by the addition, to the department, of classes in pantomime and dramatic training.

The dramatic training class staged some very successful scenes such as, "The Florist Shop" by Winifred Hawkrige, "The Twelve Pound Lock", and "Rosalind" by Barrie, besides scenes from other plays.

Phi Alpha Tau, an honorary professional dramatic fraternity, has been active in furthering dramatic work. It presented, under the direction of Miss Ruth Southwick, Shakespeare's "The Tempest", with commendable success.

A dramatic club was organized with twenty-one members. It is petitioning Phi Mu Gamma, a national oratorical professional sorority, and expects to obtain its charter in a short time.

The department of Public Speaking staged "A Pair of Sixes", a farce comedy in three acts, under the direction of Miss Veroqua Petty, dramatic coach.

The dark side of life with all of its obstacles and disappointments was painted in the giddy yellow and red hues of frivolity in the Junior Burlesque which was presented by fifty students, under the auspices of the Junior class.

It held up to public view the powers that be and prominent campus figures, laughing at their pet hobbies and ridiculing their activities.

JOSHUA LEE

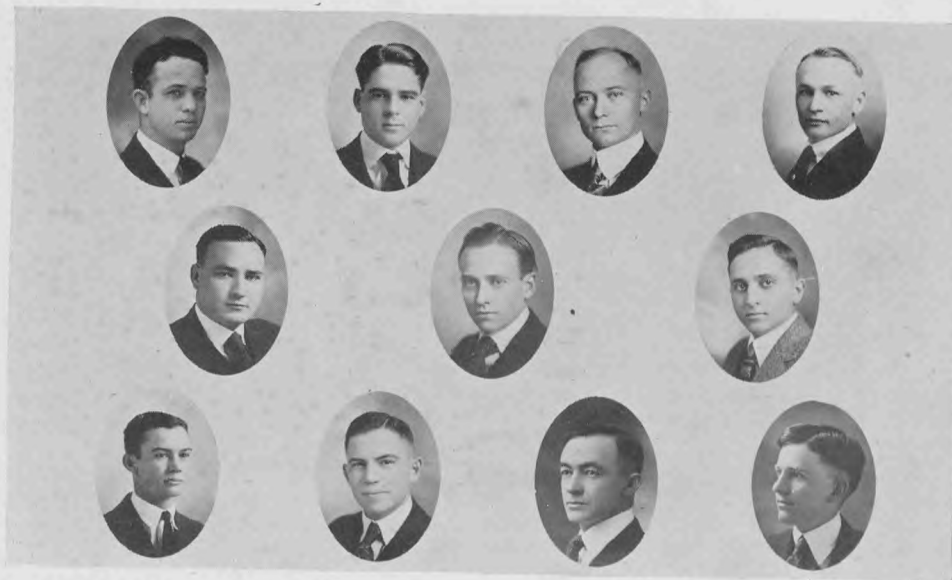

The growth of interest in the field of forensics is indeed apparent. The Student Council taking notice of this feeling increased the apportionment of funds for the Oratorical Council, enabling the University to revive debating for women as was the practice a few years back.

The university this year renewed its triangular debate with Kansas and Colorado, formed a new triangular with Arkansas and Texas, and entered three orators in the various contests, state, conference and national. The average number of men trying out in the oratorical contests has increased from four to nine.

The new League of Literary Societies has added vigor to forensic activities. Only one year of trial for this new system of correlated club-work has proved its merit. New life was infused into the societies when they held the preliminary varsity tryouts, this interest was heightened by the intersociety debates, and still greater enthusiasm awakened by the intersociety contests in oratory, reading, voice, piano, and violin.

The medals, shields, prizes and loving cups offered this year by the Oratorical Council have had no little part in stimulating interest in these activities. Many debaters and orators have been developed and much talent discovered, which increases Oklahoma's chances for a victorious debate year in 1922.

BEN G. OWEN

Ben G. Owen, director of athletics, came to the university in 1905 when the total enrollment was less than half the size of the present freshman class. In fifteen years Owen has produced three all-victorious football elevens, two all-victorious basketball quintettes, and succeeded in introducing the University of Oklahoma into the Missouri Valley conference in the winter of 1920. It was a fitting tribute to his genius to produce the champion football team in the first year of the university's participation in the Missouri Valley conference.

Grover C. Jacobsen, former University of Iowa athlete, is now Sooner football line coach, assistant basketball coach, and track coach. He is Bennie Owen's first line coach, and is largely responsible for the powerful squad of forwards that ran amuck in the Valley this year. He was an all-Western tackle in 1914, and on some selections an all-state in 1915 and 1916. He was athletic director of the 22d infantry during the world war.

SAM D. BURTON

"Sam" is a veteran lineman of Bennie Owen's who made letters on the Sooner team in 1910 and 1912. Returning to school to complete his geology work Owen was fortunate to secure him to help Assistant Freshman Coach Edgar D. Meacham with the many freshman teams.

Much of the success of the varsity this year is due to the fact that the freshmen were able to give them hard workouts each evening on the practice field. To Meacham and Burton must go the credit for developing the first year men to such a degree.

Edgar D. Meacham, freshman football coach, had the difficult task of getting freshmen football warriors in such shape as to give the varsity enough opposition to develop them. "Meach", as he is called in Soonerland, is a graduate of the university. He was a guard on Bennie Owen's first all-victorious football team in 1911 and tackle in 1912 and 1913. He was also a track man in 1913 and 1914. After receiving his A. B. in 1914, he was appointed assistant professor in mathematics and assistant football coach.

FOOTBALL SUMMARY

Championship of the Missouri Valley conference in its first year as a member is the record achieved by Director Ben G. Owen's Sooner football team in 1920. It was a fitting climax to fifteen years of faithful service of Director Owen. And it was especially fitting that the season was not marred by a single defeat.

The victory marks the conclusion of Oklahoma's period as a provincial football factor, and its entrance into the enlarged area of intersectional football. The cry that led the first teams out in 1892 for their haphazard coaching was different from the one sounded by Owen in 1905 when he assumed charge of Sooner athletics. Before Owen, the Sooner schedule included any high school or small college that had an open date; with the coming of Owen, came the entrance into the Southwestern conference, and the formation of powerful elevens. Then came the entrance into the Missouri Valley, and the entry was an auspicious one.

The opening of the season served to frighten many Sooners, for Central State Normal School of Edmond held the Sooners to a 16 to 7 score on Boyd Field, October 9. The game served the Sooners well, for it kept down over-confidence, the besetting sin of university teams. Hill was the star of the backfield, Swatek was excellent at interference, and Captain Dewey Luster at end played a stellar game. Gordon Bristow, a former Sooner, played the star game for the normal team.

The annual Boomer-Sooner game, October 16, furnished an intermission between practice and the opening of the Missouri Valley. The score, Sooners 35, Boomers 7, indicated the way in which the varsity line had been strengthened. The Hill-Swatek-Davis-Morrison combination showed up brilliantly in the backfield.

The Valley season opened October 23 at St. Louis against the Washington University Pikers, and the Sooners wrestled on a muddy field a 24 to 14 victory that made them a factor in the championship fight. Davis counted the first score in the game when, after see-sawing back and forth on the muddy field, Sooners worked the ball down near the Washington goal line. Davis dropped back, and place-kicked for three points. Washington followed with a touchdown. Quarter ended, Washington 7, Sooners 3. Pikers near the end of the half scored again, and the half ended, Washington 14, Sooners 3. In the second half, White was substituted for Swatek, Tyler for Luster, and these changes strengthened the line, worn from the tussle. White was the star of the afternoon. Morrison made a touchdown, followed soon by Smoot, and the third quarter ended, Sooners 17, Washington 14. Johnston intercepted a Piker pass, White made a long end run, and passed to Tyler, who made the final touchdown for the Sooners.

Accompanied by almost 100 Sooners, including Jazz Hounds and band, the team could not help but defeat the University of Missouri Tigers on Rollins Field, Columbia, October 30, by a score of 28 to 7. The reception accorded the Sooners by the Missourians was handsome, and served to cement the already cordial feeling between the two schools. Morrison in the first quarter carried the ball across the line, after Haskell had completed a pass from White, and ran to the one-yard line. The Tigers fought hard to overcome the lead, and Lewis and the giant Lincoln hit the Oklahoma line hard, but could not dent it. The half ended with the score unchanged. White punted sixty yards to Packwood who was downed by McKinley on the fifteen-yard line. Ruth kicked to fifty-yard line. White passed to Haskell, who advanced to the twenty-yard line and then ran around right end for a touchdown. Lewis, at the opening of the last quarter, ran eighty-five yards, which was instrumental in the Missouri score. Swatek scored the third touchdown, and in the last few minutes of play, Johnston intercepted a pass and made the last score of the game. The result of the Missouri game placed the Sooners as runner-up for the title of the Valley.

The largest crowd to ever assemble on Boyd Field greeted the University of Kansas Jayhawkers here on Homecoming Day, November 6, when the Kansas machine went down in a 21 to 9 defeat. Approximately ten thousand persons witnessed the game, including Governor J. B. A. Robertson. Jayhawkers, backed by rooting organizations, paraded the field with banners, "We Own the Valley". Sooner Ruf Neks, in the last quarter, carried the same banner in triumph. Kansas made the first score in the opening quarter. They again scored in the second quarter on a safety. The Sooners then opened their scoring machine, and scored as the result of judicious passing. In the third quarter a long pass to Marsh who made a superhuman effort to get it, placed the ball on the three-yard line, and Hill smashed through for the second Oklahoma touchdown. In the last period, White intercepted a Kansas pass on the Jayhawker twelve-yard line. White gained two yards on the next play, Swatek then took the ball to the Kansas one-yard line, and on the next play, White shot off tackle for the last touchdown. Davis kicked goal.

Sooners played true to form in their annual game with the Oklahoma Aggies at Stillwater, November 13, the score being Sooners 36, Aggies 0. The forward pass was used generously by both teams, Sooners completing six in twenty attempts for a total of eighty-nine yards. The Aggies were successful in six out of twenty-one tries, but these netted only forty-five yards.

Kansas State Agricultural College of Manhattan, Kansas, defeated the Sooner aspirations for an all-victorious season, for they held the Oklahomans to a 7-7 tie on Boyd Field, November 20. Sooners played good football at all times, but they lacked the "punch" necessary to put the ball across. Three times they were within the two-yard line. Several times when punting would have aided, a high wind served to prevent this plan of attack. The Aggies scored first, just before the end of the first quarter. It was the second touchdown the Aggies had made during the season against a Valley team. By a series of well planned line bucks, Sooners were able to score, and from then on, it was a struggle to break the tie.

Thanksgiving saw the Sooners away from Norman, facing the Drake Bulldogs at Des Moines, November 25. This game clinched the championship, for Drake was outplayed, 44 to 7.

DEWEY W. LUSTER, End

"Snorter", aggressive, a fighter at all times, led the team to the Missouri Valley championship in its first year of participation. Though light, he makes up for it by fight and speed. Injuries kept him out of several parts of games. He was chosen by Coaches Allen of Kansas, and Banks of Drake, for the first Missouri Valley team. C. E. McBride of the Kansas City Star, gave him honorable mention.

"Aggressive, possessing unusual defensive ability, fighting from the start of the game."—Daily Oklahoman.

LAWRENCE E. HASKELL

"Jap", veteran end, has proved his worth as a gridster, and his all around good qualities as well as his popularity by winning the choice of his teammates as 1921 football captain. He is uncanny in snatching impossible passes from the air. Coach Miller of Missouri, the Kansas City Journal, and several other sport writers placed him on the first all-valley team. He was on the third team of the Kansas City Star.

"Jap is a speedy end, he gets down on punts in a flash, and when he hurls his 165 pounds into a tackle, the safety advances no further."—St. Louis Globe.

CENTRAL HOLDS US, 16 TO 7

ERL E. DEACON, Guard

"Deke", dean of Sooner athletes, is one of a very few men to wear four football "O's". He was three times all-state guard, once all-southwestern, Missouri Valley honor roll, and selected by the Outing Magazine as one of the seven best guards in the United States for 1919. He was badly handicapped by an oil field injury to his knee, but still rallied at the cry of "Oklahoma fights".

"The stands (in the Kansas Aggie game) came to their feet in respect for the gameness of Deacon."—Kansas City Star.

WILLIAM MCKINLEY, Guard

"Big Bill" made the first All-Missouri team, and in addition was one of the three football athletes of the Missouri Valley conference to receive honorable mention from Walter Camp in his all-American selections. Tall and rangy, he can stop a backfield man from almost any position. His reach is both unusual and useful.

"Big Bill McKinley, Sooner guard, can walk on more enemy gridders and tear open a bigger hole in their line than is needed for a covered wagon."—Daily Oklahoman.

SOONERS 24; PIKERS 14

SOONER

PAUL X. JOHNSTON, Tackle

"Potts" Johnston was the only Sooner forward to make the second all-Missouri Valley team. He has a habit of intercepting the passes thrown by the opposition. Much of the success of the line was due to the big, powerful "Pott" county athlete.

"Johnston's specialty is grabbing shotgun passes over center and tearing up the interference of the opposition."
—Daily Oklahoman.

ARLO R. DAVIS, Quarterback

"Skivy" was the most versatile man on the 1920 Sooner football squad. Quarterback, halfback, fullback, reliable kicker, true passer, and good receiver are seldom found combined in one man. He was chosen by Coach Miller of Missouri for his first all-Missouri Valley team for the quarterback position.

"Davis is the most versatile man on the 1920 Sooner squad."

HARRY F. HILL, Halfback

"Dutch" was picked for the first all-Valley team because of his steady and dependable playing. Broad shouldered, deep chested, built like an underslung speedster, defensive forwards hesitated to tackle him.

"Hill, the Oklahoma back, makes the all-Valley team because of his steady and reliable play, bordering always on the brilliant. He was as steady as the old family eight-day clock."—Kansas City Star.

W. DOW HAMM, Center

Dow was given honorable mention for the all-Missouri Valley team for 1920. He has played in every Sooner football game since the all-victorious S. A. T. C. eleven of 1918. A sure tackler, breaks up many passes by playing the roving center. He is the fulcrum of the greatest line that Oklahoma ever had.

"He uses the spiral pass and has not made a wobbly pass this year—not even in the Washington University mud bath."—Daily Oklahoman.

Stopping White (Okla.)
Mo.-Okla.

J. HOWARD MARSH, End

"Tarzan" Marsh, strong and rangy, fast and quick to follow the ball, is one of the best ends in the country. His defensive work is throwing opposing runners for losses, blocking punts and in covering his end, as well as his spectacular work on offense won him his position as all-Missouri Valley end on the first team.

"His offensive and defensive work received recognition from Grover and McBride, who have quite a say in the Valley selections".—Daily Oklahoman.

PHIL WHITE, Halfback

"Phil" received country-wide recognition through the Newspaper Enterprise Association as an all-American and all-Western selection. He was also chosen for the second all-Missouri Valley team. He broke up every play attempted in his sector, which is the more noteworthy as he has no use of one arm, because it is so easily dislocated, carrying it strapped at his side during a game.

"The big half is one of the most difficult men on Owen's squad to tackle, a good ground gainer and a powerful defense man."—Daily Oklahoman.

JAYHAWKS HALT BEFORE OUR GOAL

SOONER

ROY E. SWATEK, Fullback

"Sol" is an interference runner of uncanny ability and a heady defense man, analyzing plays before they start. McBride of the Kansas City Star, picked him for all-Valley fullback. This year, his third in the Sooner backfield, he proved as valuable at half as at full.

"Swatek, the Oklahoma fullback, is an ideal player in that position."—Kansas City Star.

G. MYRON TYLER, End

"Little Tub" filled the difficult position of utility man. At times he was an end, otherwise he was a halfback. In either position he played hard, consistent football.

"Tyler is a sure pass grabber, a hard tackler, and equal to two men in tearing enemy interference."—Daily Oklahoman.

SWATEK HURDLES OVER

VAN EDMONDSON, Guard

"Gus" had his chance when Deacon's injured knee forced him out. The youngest regular lineman, in point of service, weighing 204 pounds, he puts it all into the game. He makes a stone wall, combined with Smoot and Hamm. Coach Rider of Washington University, selected him for the first all-Valley team.

"He puts every ounce of his 204 pounds into fight, and the opposition finds him a very tough proposition to run a play through."—Daily Oklahoman.

ROY SMOOT, Tackle

"Soupy" was placed on the second team by the Newspaper Enterprise Association's all-American and all-Western selections. He was placed on the first all-Missouri Valley team by the Kansas City Star. Smoot is as fast getting his 215 pounds down the field under punts as are his ends.

"In tackle-around interference, he spills opponents and aids in opening holes for the backfield men."—Daily Oklahoman.

WHITE PUNTING AT STILLWATER

SOONER

CLARENCE E. MORRISON, Fullback

"Ram" is the find of the 1920 team. His nickname, "Ram", is indeed fitting. He runs at full back and when a yard is needed he always produces. He played a large part in the Sooner victory over the Missouri Tigers at Columbia. He is always alert, fast and a sure tackler.

"His defensive work gives promise of much future usefulness to the Sooners."—St. Louis Globe.

FRANK A. OGILVIE, Quarterback

"Poncho" has played on Texas college team and army elevens to gain the experience that enabled him to take the helm on two occasions when the Sooners were behind, and bring them out ahead. A team general of the first water, he is uncanny at using the proper play. He has few equals at forward passing, and can run with the ball as well.

"Ogilvie—a veritable pep instiller and a whirlwind field marshal."—Daily Oklahoman.

BLOCKING HOUSTON'S PUNT

RONALD J. CULLEN, Guard

"Fat" had to substitute for McKinley, who made the all-Valley team, and Edmondson, who was almost the equal of McKinley. As these two played in every game, Cullen had very little chance to show his real worth. He is a sophomore so will be back for more in September.

"Cullen is a young heavy guard who has been unable to shine because of the wealth of guard material on the Sooner team."—Des Moines Register.

DWIGHT ROSS, Tackle

"Puny", a tackle of really unusual ability, had to be a substitute for the "super tackles" Johnston and Smoot. He is a natural football player, but had no high school experience. Ross had little chance to get in the game, but those in which he participated showed him to be worthy of a regular place on any other team in the Valley.

"Ross is large, aggressive, and fast."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

HILL AROUND — AND ACROSS

BASKET BALL

FIRST ROW: Bonebrake, Waite, McBride.
THIRD ROW: Quinn, Cocks, Rhoten.

WILLIAM V. COX, Forward

Captain of the second Missouri Valley team to represent the University of Oklahoma on the basket ball court, Cox played a splendid offensive game at forward. His steady, aggressive work was a large factor in the team's playing. His third cruise as a varsity man was marked by consistent and vigorous action at all times during the game.

CHARLES EDWIN WAITE,
Center

"Ed" was the mainstay of the team for he was always able to start the ball in the right direction from the jump off. He got the tip on every center he played against, including Williams, the University of Missouri's all-Valley center for 1920. Waite was the high point scorer for the Sooner team, and was the choice of seven coaches for center on the second all-Missouri Valley team

G. MYRON TYLER,
Guard and Forward

"Little Tub" started the season at guard, but later proved to be the find of the season at forward. He was on the ball all the time and no guard in the conference seemed able to hold him. His floorwork was wonderful and his guarding as good as has been seen here in a long time.

BASKETBALL SUMMARY

Although the varsity basketball quintet was unable to annex the Missouri Valley conference title, the showing under the circumstances was very creditable. Under the leadership of Captain William Cox, about twenty candidates turned out for fall practice. Captain Cox, Waite, and Tyler were the veterans back from last year. The loss of Leo Waite, Hugh McDermott, and Albert Briscoe hurt the team and filling their places was the problem that confronted Coach Owen when he took charge of the squad after the end of the football season. McBride and Bonebrake at guards, Rhoten, Cocke, and Quinn at forwards, were the final selection of Bennie for the vacant posi-

SOONER

HOWARD BONEBRAKE, Guard

Bonebrake seems to have been fitted by nature for the position of guard, for his height and long arms were always mixed in the opposition's plays. His defensive work was a feature of the season, and he was one of the fastest men on the team.

WILLIAM M. COCKE,
Guard and Forward

Cocke worked at both guard and forward. He played a clean, hard game, and always for the team, feeding many of his chances to his teammates. He shoots well, and with the confidence gained this year will certainly be heard from next season.

HAROLD MCBRIDE, Guard

"Micky" at guard was one of the steadiest men on the team. Not a flashy player, McBride nevertheless was a hard man for any forward to get past, and he carried the ball down the floor for Oklahoma time and again when his teammates were blocked from the ball.

tions and his judgment proved apt, for the team won four of the eight games on the home court and four of ten games on their trip. At the end of the season the 1921 basket ball squad was recognized as one of the fastest and smoothest working outfits that ever wore Oklahoma uniforms. Playing the strongest schedule a Red and White quintet ever undertook, taking on the best teams in the Missouri Valley, the Sooners hung up an excellent record.

The Oklahoma Aggies came to Norman for the first games of the season. The Aggies lost the first game January 7, 42 to 10; the next day they were humbled to the score of 54 to 15.

The first two-game invasion of Kansas resulted in a double loss to the Kansas Aggies, scores, 29 to 17; 23 to 9. A slump in the form displayed against the Oklahoma Aggies and a higher brand of basketball were mainly responsible for the two defeats.

FORREST RHOTEN, Forward

Rhoten is fast, a good floor worker, making a good running mate for Cox. He exhibited a wealth of natural ability in basket ball, and at times was one of the most brilliant shots on the team.

ROBERT D. QUINN, Forward

Quinn was an understudy in the forward game. The slight-built, speedy little forward played like a veteran whenever he broke into the lineup, and no one except perhaps Waite, equalled his ability to ring baskets when they were needed.

On January 21 and 22, the Oklahoma fans were given an opportunity of seeing one of the greatest basket ball teams in the history of basket ball in the United States against the Sooners. The University of Missouri team, by their record, had without a doubt one of the greatest teams of an age. The score of the first game was Missouri 47, Oklahoma 24; the second, Missouri 34, Oklahoma 19.

The annual trip found the Sooner five playing Creighton University at Omaha, January 29. Creighton always had a good basket ball team, and this year was no exception. Oklahoma lost to the score of 27 to 16.

Following their setback at the hands of Creighton, Coach Owen and his athletes went to Lincoln, where they hooked up the fast Nebraska team in a brace of contests on January 31 and February 1. Nebraska took both games, the first one 34 to 20; and the second 32 to 22.

By moving on to Des Moines and taking on the Drake Bulldogs, the Sooners seemed to break the jinx that was following them for they took the first game by the very close score of 35 to 32. Hard luck overtook them the second game and they lost by the score of 33 to 16.

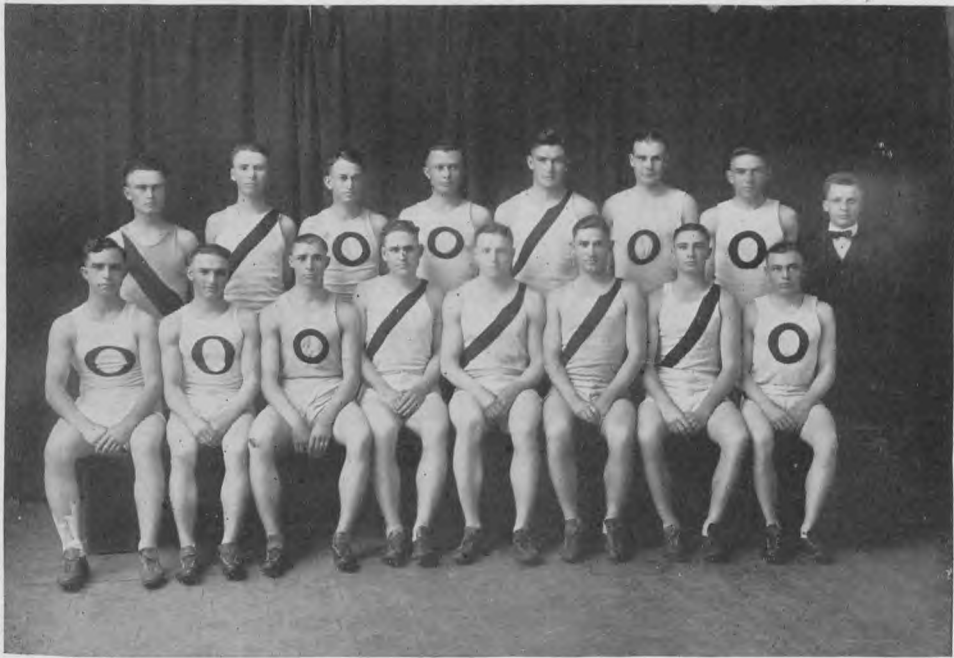

These defeats seemed to spur up the Red and White athletes for they took two games in a row from Grinnell. They were two gruelling games and the Sooners were forced to extend themselves to the limit each time to win by the narrow margins of 25 to 22, and 23 to 20.

Some of the largest crowds ever seen in the R. O. T. C. armory turned out February 11 and 12, to see Washington University of St. Louis lose two games. Scores, Oklahoma 44, Washington 23; Oklahoma 44, Washington 27.

The Oklahoma five made a flying trip up to Stillwater, February 18. The Aggies were again overwhelmed by the score of 46 to 15.

The basket ball season was brought to a close by the Kansas Jayhawkers coming down and taking two games just when Oklahoma needed them to get in the desired first division. The Sooners led at the end of the first half in the first game, but as Waite was sent to the showers soon after, the Jayhawkers were able to slowly cut down the lead and finally won 33 to 30. The second and last game of the season was one of the fastest ever seen on the local court. Kansas nosed out by a score of 37 to 32.

TRACK SUMMARY

The track team of the University of Oklahoma for the season of 1920 had to labor under a great disadvantage. The step forward that the university made in athletic circles by entering the Missouri Valley conference caused strict eligibility rules to be enforced and seriously hampered the work of Coach R. G. Soutar. Nevertheless Soutar went ahead with the few remaining men he had, and the phrase "Oklahoma fights" was justified by the spirit of the track men.

The first event of the season was the Kansas City Athletic Club indoor meet, held at Kansas City, March 13. This was the first K. C. A. C. meet that Oklahoma had entered since 1915.

Cobb took first in the 1000-yard run in 2 minutes, 29 seconds. Vahlberg won the half mile in 2 minutes, 6 seconds. Clift took third in the quarter. The relay team, composed of Griffin, Laskey, McClure, and Griffith, lost to Kansas.

The second meet in which the Sooners engaged was the Drake University relay games held at Des Moines, April 24. This was real big league track, and while Oklahoma failed to place, the showing was gratifying. The Sooner two-mile relay team ran the course in 8 minutes,  $2\frac{1}{5}$  seconds. This was better than the winning time of the year before. The relay team was made up of Fred Cobb, Christian Salwaechter, Ernest Vahlberg, and Frank Taylor.

The Oklahoma Aggies came over from Stillwater for a dual meet, May 5. The meet was so close that the final event, the relay, decided it, in favor of the Sooners. Score Sooners 63 1-3, Aggies 53 2-3. Dickerson of A. and M. took a gruelling two-mile race from Vahlberg and made a new record of 10 minutes,  $9\frac{3}{5}$  seconds. White of Oklahoma made a new record of 128 feet., 9 inches, in the discus throw. High point men of the meet were: Hufbauer, of Oklahoma, 11 2-3; Salwaechter, of Oklahoma,  $11\frac{1}{4}$ ; Bessire, of A. and M., 11.

The Missouri Valley Conference meet was held at Ames, May 30. Salwaechter, Laskey, Vahlberg, Griffin, McClure, White, Boyle, Hufbauer, and Cobb made the trip. Boyle tied for first in the pole vault, Salwaechter took third in the half mile run in the very good time of 1 minute, 56 seconds. White took third in the discus throw with a heave of 127 feet. Cobb ran the mile in 4 minutes, 31 seconds, but the time was so fast that he got only fourth place.

Track, gymnasium teams, and incidentally the university as a whole, received a setback as a result of the resignation of Richard G. Soutar, professor of physical education, during the spring of 1920. He had been connected with the university since 1914. Grover C. Jacobsen, who coached the all-victorious football team of 1919 for Oklahoma City high school, was engaged as track coach and assistant football coach.

BASEBALL SUMMARY

The baseball score book of the University of Oklahoma for the season of 1920 shows a total of eight games lost, five won, and one tied. While from a casual glance at this, one would think perhaps a mediocre brand of baseball was played, the facts are that the majority of games lost, were lost by very close scores. One or two runs decided most of them. A little more ability to hit in the pinches, and Oklahoma would have more than passed the half way mark in games won.

The season opened March 26, with the Chilocco Indians. As usual, the Indians appeared with a very strong team. The first game was lost 7-1, but coming back strong the next day, the Sooners, led by Briscoe who punched out a single and a double, took the second game, 3-0.

The next visitors were the Kansas Aggies, April 9, 10. Bosworth, the left hander from Oklahoma City, pitched the first. Aggie hits coupled with Oklahoma errors are the reasons for the Oklahoma 7-1 defeat. Davis held the Aggies to a thirteen inning tie, the second day. It was a gruelling pitchers' battle between he and the Aggie flinger, McGrath. Score K. S. A. C. 3, Oklahoma 3.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers were next entertained on Boyd Field, April 21, 22. The first game was won 7-2, with Davis pitching. Not only did Davis pitch a nice game but he hit for four bases and the first Sooner score. John Pickett, of Nebraska, who later went to the Major Leagues, pitched winning baseball but Husker misplays behind him lost the game. He fanned sixteen and allowed only seven hits to Davis' eleven. The visitors slumped in the second game and lost 10-1. Briscoe pitched this game and allowed only four hits. He had a wonderful change of pace and fast-breaking curve.

The string of losses started with the invasion of the Kansas Aggie, University of Kansas, and University of Missouri camps. May 3, facing the Kansas Aggie star pitcher, McGrath, the Sooners were defeated 6-2. Davis pitched this, and the next day Briscoe took up the task, but lost 3-2 in a hard fought game.

Leaving Manhattan, the University of Kansas was encountered at Lawrence, May 5. On a grass grown infield, the Sooners were credited with fourteen errors and a lost game, 11-3. Davis and Dolph were the pitchers in this game. The next day, the Sooners were rained out and journeyed to Columbia, Missouri. The Missouri Tigers took the first game, 1-0, on May 7. It was a pitchers' battle between Briscoe and McLane of Missouri. The second game was played in the morning of May 8, and was also lost 1-0. Davis pitched this game and had hard luck, as Oklahoma had three men on the bases in the eighth inning with no one out, but the winning hit could not be delivered. May 14, the team went to Stillwater and lost one game, 3-1, with the Oklahoma Aggies. It was a cold, chilly day, but Davis pitched shutout ball, and with proper support would have won. Rain prevented the second game.

The season closed with a double win from the Oklahoma Aggies, May 18, 19. The games were played at Norman, to large crowds. Briscoe pitching the opener, allowed only three hits, and won easily 3-1. On the next day, Davis, not to be outdone, also allowed only three hits, and won 13-2.

ALBERT H. BRISCOE
Shortstop, Pitcher and Captain
 Briscoe was elected captain of the team after it was seen that Captain-elect Hardy would not be back in school. "Brick" made an ideal captain. He led the team in batting and his speed on the bases accounted for runs when they were needed. He was good enough to get a place with Dallas in the Texas league after school was over.

GARLAND TALBOTT, Third Base
 "Olie", as a fielding third baseman, has few superiors. Third is aptly called the "hot" corner, but Talbott takes them easily and always gets his man at first. His ability as a baseball player and popularity with his teammates is attested to by the fact that they elected him captain for the season of 1921.

J. R. GENTRY, Catcher
 "Dick", a veteran of the large glove and mask, was one of the best catchers ever seen in an Oklahoma uniform. He did not make a single error in throwing the entire season. His ability to hit in pinches when hits counted, made him a very valuable man.

ARLO DAVIS, Pitcher, Outfielder
 "Skivy" is the most versatile of Bennie Owen's athletes. On the football field he is a quarterback or a fullback, on the baseball team he pitches or plays field. The most of the pitching burden was carried by Davis, and he bore it well. A little more hitting ability by the Oklahoma team and he would have been one of the leading pitchers of the Missouri Valley, as he lost several games by one run.

SOONER

WILLIAM V. COX, Utility

Utility man and pinch hitter is a difficult and thankless position to fill. "Bill" Cox filled it, though, and filled it to the satisfaction of Bennie Owen, for Cox made his baseball letter. Cox is a clever fielder and made few errors during the season. He is also basket ball captain for 1921.

CLIFFORD JOSEPH, Second Base

"Daddy" became a clean, fast fielder as the season progressed. His batting eye also began to improve. He finished the season third in the batting column, just a little behind the second man.

C. ADAM SEITZ

Shortstop, Right Field

"Goober", a sturdy, hard hitting little fielder and shortstop, made his first baseball letter with the 1920 team. He is a sure fielder, and his batting was improving as the season closed. Seitz is an earnest, hard worker, and of the kind that make winners

"Kirch" is the "Babe" Ruth of the Oklahoma team. His terrific smashes usually went for extra bases. He hit one at Manhattan, Kansas, that took an earthen embankment to stop. He played the sun field at Norman and played almost errorless ball.

SOONER

LESLIE SALTER, Center Field

Salter is a rare combination of student and athlete. He made his Phi Beta Kappa key alone from all the athletes of the University in his line. His instinct in judging fly balls made him a dangerous man to the opposition. He is a ball player who could be depended upon to do the right thing at the right time.

BYRON S. LITTLE, First Base

Little made the first base after lots of competition. He was far from little, but this was an advantage, as his reach enabled him to gather in bad throws from the infielders. The trip the team made seemed to help his batting eye, for he hit over .400 on the trip and finished the season one point behind the leader, Briscoe.

1920 TENNIS SUMMARY

Nineteen victories to only five defeats was the remarkable record made by Forrest Darrough and Claude Monnet, youthful Sooner tennis stars, in their ten-day tour of the middle west. Of seven colleges played, only Washington University, at St. Louis, defeated the Oklahomans, and Chicago University was the only team to get an even break. The Sooners played at Chicago two days, winning three and losing three matches.

Following is a record of their tour:

May 3—Oklahoma defeated Kansas 3-0; Darrough defeated Johnson 6-0, 7-5; Monnet defeated Reilly 6-2, 6-3; Monnet and Darrough defeated Johnson and Fleeson 10-12, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

May 4—Oklahoma defeated Drake 3-0; Monnet defeated Conklin 6-0, 6-2; Darrough defeated Mahaffie 6-1, 6-1; Monnet and Darrough defeated Conklin and Mahaffie 6-2, 6-2.

May 5—Oklahoma defeated Wisconsin 3-0; Darrough defeated Taylor 5-7, 6-4, 6-4; Monnet defeated Brody 6-0, 6-3; Darrough and Monnet defeated Fanning and Gotfredson 7-5, 6-3.

May 6—Oklahoma tied Chicago 3-3; Vorhies defeated Monnet 6-2, 5-7, 6-3; Pike defeated Darrough 6-2, 6-3; Monnet and Darrough defeated Pike and Vorhies 10-12, 6-4, 7-5; Monnet defeated Jameson 7-5, 6-3; Darrough defeated Seigle 5-7, 6-3, 7-5; Jameson and Seigle defeated Monnet and Darrough 6-1, 6-2.

May 8—Oklahoma defeated Northwestern 3-0; Darrough defeated Goldham 7-5, 6-4; Monnet defeated Groves 6-2, 6-2; Darrough and Monnet defeated Goldham and Groves 6-1, 6-4.

May 10—Washington University (St. Louis) defeated Oklahoma 2-1; Brown defeated Monnet 6-0, 6-1; Hasse defeated Darrough 6-1, 6-2; Monnet and Darrough defeated Meningis and Satterfield 7-5, 6-1.

May 11—Oklahoma defeated Arkansas 3-0; Darrough defeated Smith 6-4, 6-2; Monnet defeated Maibee 6-1, 6-3; Darrough and Monnet defeated Smith and Maibee 6-1, 6-2, 6-1.

Tennis, like all other sports at the University, has returned to a better than pre-war status.

The phenomenal record made by Forrest Darrough and Claude Monnet on their tour of the middle west did much to put Oklahoma on the tennis map.

The appointment of Ben Parks as tennis manager puts tennis in the hands of a competent manager as well as a star net man. Teamed with his brother, Kirtland, he won the doubles championship of the university. Ben Parks also won the singles championship.

George J. O'Connell, a freshman, looks very promising for future varsity material.

Parks, in promoting the sport, has arranged for this, a schedule such as has never been equalled at Oklahoma, either with respect to the nature of the competition or the number of matches to be played. The extensive plans for the year are merited through the interest in tennis shown by the student body. In no other year have there been so many out for the varsity or was the universal interest in the annual fall tournament ever so keen as it was last fall.

WRESTLING

Wrestling is still in its infancy at the University of Oklahoma for this was but the second year in the history of the university that a team has represented the Crimson and Cream in the ancient mat sport.

The wrestlers were under the charge of Assistant Coach Grover C. Jacobsen after the football season closed, but as track practice drew on "Jake" was unable to direct the men and Dewey "Snorter" Luster, last year's captain, took charge of the grapplers.

The team had to work under a big disadvantage in that they had no adequate place to work out. At the first of the year they were compelled to use a small side room in the gymnasium, but as the women had to have the room several days a week, the mat was moved over to a small room in the carpenter shop. This room was lined with steel lockers and was so small that the men were in constant danger of injury, either from the lockers or the brick wall. However, they persevered and the record of the Sooners this year is outstanding and noteworthy. When first call was issued for wrestling, a large number of men reported. Anderson, Wails, Dolph, Cooper, and Armor were from last year's team but there was not a letter man in the squad. But two matches had been held last year and no one had qualified for a letter. Luster really did work wonders with the team, as most of the men he had to work with were new at the game. Injuries kept Cooper, Dolph, and Wails off the mat a great part of the time. The student body appreciated the efforts of "Snorter" and the squad for the R. O. T. C. armory was full of rooters at both of the matches held in Norman.

Four matches were held this year. The Sooners met the Oklahoma Aggies in the first match at Norman, January 15. The score was Oklahoma Aggies 39, Oklahoma 7. The second meet was held at Stillwater with the same school, score Aggies 39, Oklahoma 11. On their way back from the Southwestern Conference meet at Stillwater, the Texas Aggies won from the Sooners 39 to 7. Oklahoma was compelled to forfeit in the 125 and 175-pound classes on account of injuries.

The last meet of the season was held at Des Moines with Ames for the benefit of the Hoover Relief Fund. The Ames team is considered one of the best in the United States, and while Oklahoma lost 45 to 5, our team received warm praise from the sport writers of the Des Moines papers because of the showing against the more experienced men.

The outlook for next season is bright as all of the members of this year's team will be back for another season. Time is necessary to build up a wrestling team, and the coaches are satisfied with the showing that Oklahoma has made in her two years of participation.

"Bustem", as he is known on the mat, is a sturdy, well developed and natural wrestler. His all around work on the bars in the gymnasium has developed for him an excellent physique and great strength. He won his letter in the second Oklahoma Aggie match.

J. E. ARNOLD

"Jimmie" made his first appearance at practice only two days before the first Oklahoma Aggie match. With so little experience he made an excellent showing. Under the training of Luster he improved so much that in the Texas Aggie match he disposed of his man easily, winning two falls.

E. J. SMITH

"Gene" was a newcomer to the mat game this year, but he showed all the signs of a real wrestler before the season ended. He wrestled in the Ames match with boils on his neck and arms. His season's record is excellent, considering the fact that he always wrestled in a weight above his natural class.

W. L. ARMOR

"Bill" is a whirlwind on the mat. He is always in good shape, and forces the pace. His opponent must be in fine shape to go the 21 minutes. He won his letter in the first match of the year, with the Oklahoman Aggies.

SOONER

C. H. DOLPH

"Pirate" seems to be the original victim of hard luck. Swollen ears, torn ribs, twisted knees, dislocated thumbs, have all taken their turn in keeping him off the mat. He was a member of last year's team and will be back for one more year.

E. D. WAILS

"Fat", the smiling fighter of the team, is always on the offensive. He is a veteran of last year and has steadily improved. He made Briscoe, the Oklahoma Aggie "Scissors King", stand on his feet the entire time. Injuries to his teeth kept him out part of the time.

F. M. COOPER

"Coop", the 175 pounder and heavy weight, is another one of the hard luck victims. Both his knees have been thrown out at different times during the year. In the second Oklahoma Aggie match his knee gave way in the first minute. Handicapped as he was and suffering pain, he went ahead with the match. He is developed to a degree seldom seen in a college wrestler.

PUN, SNORT, AND PERUSEMENT

Such a combination as the above is to be taken literally for, by the bones of Ben Franklin, it intruded itself into our notice much after the manner of the accumulation that we have prepared for your helpless objection or violent approval, in the following pages.

That is, we hope it will be helpless for we have tried to compile our jabs and jingles as impartially as our truthful mission would allow.

And so we pass it on, the most representative shots from the barrage of the student activities; in any case we welcome those that have made this section possible.

"BLUE LAWS"

He leered at me across his empty glass.
I scarce could hear his hiccoughed words for din
Of babbling womankind. The unshaved chin
Was stained with brown tobacco juice. His mass
Of hair was matted and uncombed. The grass
Upon his coat told where his bed had been
The night before. And as he talked of sin,
With bleary eyes he'd watch all those who'd pass.

"I think it is a shame," he loudly cried,
"That cops should take (hiccough) our beer away
And say you must stay home on Sunday night."
(He wiped a dripping nose.) "Alas," he sighed,
"If more of men were just like me I'd lay Ten dollars that we'd run this country right."

HOW TO COMMUNICATE WITH THE DEAD

By R. U. A. SPOOK, P. Q. D., C. O. D.

Upon the vital subject of the day, the art of communicating with the all-knowing dead, many profound dissertations have been written but they have been almost without exception treatises on the theories of spiritualism. There has long been a pressing need for a practical work on the matter for the use of those seeking to discover who is alienating the affections of their best girls, what the styles are going to be six months hence, and how to avoid flunking in the finals.

The author after carefully studying the experiences related in "The Spirit Powers of the Deceased and Their Relation to the Living", the latest and best work of Dr. Rutherford Brett, B. V. D., a noted authority on such matters, has compounded a set of definite and serviceable instructions for obtaining information from the spirits which roam the universe.

Many of the ancients, notably Saul, relied upon witches to supply them with this forbidden knowledge, but we in this day and age of wood alcohol, prefer home brew methods.

The modern experts seem to attain the most perfect results when using the following: Anoint the jaws with Sloan's liniment (a prescription made by Dr. Jackson Sloan for this purpose), rubbing it in well until they become soft and pliant. Then assume an angelic expression and pronounce the following words in a purring or wheedling voice, "Katzenjammerbjillwcki slavodskiatookk kerflopswerwaski." These are the generally recognized passwords into the spirit kingdom and if one enunciates them distinctly a spectre should immediately step from a clothes closet, saying, "Lowly mortal, what wouldst thou? I have compassion on thee in thy blindness."

The poor mortal, if he be not yet paralyzed with fright, should say in a resolute voice, "Are you Napoleon's grandfather?" After receiving the customary answer of "Yes", he should exclaim, "Aha! I knew it when first I heard your voice and that you were an old friend of the family as my father has so often said," and it will then be possible to obtain the desired information.

In case there should be no spectre in the clothes closet, the appearance of one may be greatly expedited, according to Dr. C. Armor Guy, Q. E. D., a well known disciple of psychic research, by administering internally a compound of corn whiskey, shinola, and the above mentioned liniment.

Among these authorities on psycho-analysis there is a great diversity of opinion on the efficacy of the ouija board but all agree that, if the parties operating it sit breathless and motionless, with mind riveted, nay, double riveted on the question at hand, for a period varying from one and one-half to fourteen hours, very fair results will ensue. Even then, before certainty can be obtained, a competent orthographist should be employed to untangle ouija's somewhat confused spelling.

Those who have not the patience to operate and carry out these systems successfully but who are still determined to gain their desired end, must not lose hope. There still remains one resource, in truth the very acid test of spiritualism, and we feel safe in positively guaranteeing that it will in every case satisfy any who, though the deadly enemies of the belief, are lively in its investigation. We maintain that a pint of carbolic acid, taken internally, will produce such results as to astonish the most unthinking and uninitiated skeptics. If any of the readers find that this simple recipe fails to admit them to the spirit kingdom we will gladly refund the price of this pamphlet.

BEATING BACK, or
A DESPERATE TRY FOR REINSTATEMENT

He had no chance, he knew that he had no chance. He marveled that she had even looked at him again after that fateful night when the handsome villain had stepped off the ten o'clock car and into his little world.

The villain was a good-looker, there could be no doubt about that. Even his room-mate admitted that and, when one's room-mate admits such a debatable point, there can no longer be any reasonable room for doubt. He looked just like the collar advertisements in the street cars, only the street car youths didn't have such lovely little mustaches adorning their superior maxillaries.

Now our hero wore the customary Wallace Reid haircut, Francis X. eyebrows and Tokio cuffs, but beside the villain he resembled the sculptor with a broken arm, he cut no figure. Have you ever established a gab fest on the terrace with the girl, opened the cutout on the old line of mush and felt sure that it was going strong, only to have some stiff with more nerve than tact, push his bulk so far into the game that he eclipsed the moon and cut you off in the midst of the most fetching part, just as you were about to make a touchdown? If you have, you know about how our hero felt.

It was the lip-patch that did the work but our hero was no quitter. So, having decided to close the flood gates on the ripple that the latest pebble had created along Fraternity Row, he proceeded to allow one to accumulate below his Hellenic nostrils like unto none that had been seen along the by-ways of Soonerville since Bennie first beat Texas. The unshaven lip had originated in the land of the longhorn and Sam Houston, our hero believed.

So, having such a satisfactory precedent as provider for his morale, he went over the top. The first step in the education of this chosen object of his heart was of the well known football variety, eleven on each side. With this as a nucleus, there followed in rapid succession the Charlie Chaplin sprout, the cowboy tooth shade, the 49er's ash sifter, and the Bernard Shaw special. Having obtained such splendid working material, our hero might well have rested on his laurels but, not so. He had, all this time, kept the uncultivated portions of his map under the strict supervision of the fuzz scraper, and even now, when the post-graduate course of his pride and joy was about to commence, he failed not to remain vigilant.

Besides being upholstered in brass, the villain was a fast worker and his rapid strides during our hero's retirement as a farmer had not gone unnoticed by the latter. "Familiarity is the mother of jilt," was our hero's motto. He had adopted it from experience and firmly believed that the hypnotic influence of the villain's mustache must certainly have begun to wane by now.

Nothing That Costs So Little Will Save So Much

It is an economic fact that a few cents extra a week for ice will save many dollars a month in foods. It saves the wasting of good foods which spoil from one meal to another if not kept cold—keeps them tasty and delicious.

It saves the Butter, the Eggs, the Milk; preserves the Meats, Vegetables, Melons and Fruits, and keeps them from spoiling

Nothing is so Essential to Health

Spoiled foods are a constant source of sickness—the cause of run down bodies—a constant menace to health. Iced drinks keep the body temperatures low and ward off ill effects of excessive heat.

Besides such a person as the villain usually carries but one set of orations and when the visible supply has been exhausted is as a printing press bereft of its ink. He makes no impression; so reasoned our hero and the future took on a rosier hue.

The night for the great test came. Our hero had chosen his time with Napoleonic cunning. The date had been generously, yea freely, given and the stage was set for the final act of the little drama. Our hero was a Knockout. His boyish figure radiated conscious power and mastership. Then to crown the romance of his personality with the final touch of manly patience and forgiveness was the product of his genius and art, created while the villain danced.

Soft and silky was that mustache, and small wonder it was too that the feminine factors of Fraternity Row had all run out and hailed him master even before its creation was quite complete. It is much the same, you know, with the work of a brush artist, and our hero might have been considered a knight of the brush also, though no creation of camel's hair could quite compare with our hero's masterpiece.

As has been said, he was a knockout and the villain faded into oblivion like a co-ed's complexion in a rainstorm. The girl felt flattered indeed to again receive the attentions, and candy, of her once scorned Lochinvar.

All the fellows came running to our hero, begging for the recipe or formula for the wonderful lip decoration that he had perfected. He finally had it patented and the royalty from a moving picture corporation that bought the copyright pays our hero's way through college now.

Verily the ways of the young man, in conflict with his kind, are sometimes strange.

FINNISH LOVE SONG

Pink pajamas
 Writhe and twist in the wind.
 Like pink cheese, they are, without frills
 Or (what is still more exciting)
 Like a rope dancer
 Without skirts
 And the benefit of a doubt.

I have loved you, pink pajamas.
 When first you came to me
 (In the Christmas box
 Sent by Aunt Adeline from South
 McKeesport)

I thought you too fine,
 Too indescribably feminine,
 To shield such as I from the wintry wind
 And the bites of pop-eyed mosquitoes.

But I wronged you, pajamas,
 And my heart is contorted with agony.
 It runs out weeping into the streets,

Like a black tom-cat on the trail of a hot tamale,
 Thinking on many things:

Of the prestige you brought me—
 And the fame;
 Of the night you lured me to the Teepee formal

Without a dress suit
 And how I danced out on the floor
 Clad only in your billowy folds, O palpitating pink things!

Tomorrow I go to the seven hells,
 There will be plenty of lamentation,
 I shall bite my wrist,
 I shall kick over the alarm clock
 And sleep through seventeen classes
 For you will be gone.

It will be better, perhaps:
 Love such as ours is a very trying thing.

OH-H DEATH, WHERE IS THY STING?

Oh, dear to me are windy days,
 The pranks the naughty zephyr plays,
 And pretty views that he reveals—
 Amid the blushes and the squeals
 That girlish voices can't repress
 While holding down that wayward dress.

And when we're walking on the street,
 We find our bliss is quite complete,
 No masterpiece by Raphael
 Could please our optic half so well.
 And then at last in sweet repose
 We dream of flimsy, brown silk hose.

What Stratford Styles Mean to College Fellows

IT'S as natural for College men to want stylish clothes as it is for them to strive for supremacy in athletics, studies or social affairs. The confidence created by wearing good clothes goes a long way toward making college men leaders, wherever they may be.

BECAUSE Stratford clothes are designed specially for College men, by makers who are in touch with their desires, they're the choice of young men from Harvard and Yale across the continent to Leland Stanford.

YOU'LL find them helpful in business or the professions too. They stamp you as unmistakably correct in dress, and overcome the handicap so many young fellows face in making their start in commercial life.

THIS store is headquarters for these favorite clothes, and we're ready now with the smartest styles for the new season. You ought to at least see them, before you invest any money in new clothes.

A TEA-HOUND

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Among Freshman Themes this bit of delightful literature came to our attention and we passed it on for the edification of students who may wish to become proficient in the art of tea-hounding. Personally, we didn't know what one was.)

A Tea-hound is a partially educated youngster that comes to college for the purpose of preventing the consummation of papa's wishes. His chemical formula is  $K_2O$  and he reacts strongly with either a strong mixture of  $I_2$  or F.

He is a strange animal. Some comedians call him a bear and some a little dear. When it comes to tracing the Welsh rabbit to its lair he is a whale. He compliments the ladies on their family trees, a limb at a time, and in a conflict with house-mothers he always has the strong backing of the curb.

He is usually found in company with another species of college zoology, the lounge-lizard, and these two form a strong combination—especially when all perfumed up for a night's hunt along the byways of the village.

The Tea-hound is an inventive genius. He is responsible for that heavenly creation, the "toddle", and uses such expressive adjectives as "zis" and "zat", without which it would be utterly impossible to describe it.

He is a lawyer when pleading with "deah ol' dad" for mazuma, a geologist when discussing the contour surfaces, a fine arts student with the mandolin, a journalist when penning a missive to the girl back home, and a prohibitionist from necessity.

He is an institution like the arches or a bill collector and the reciprocant of much admiration from many students, usually Freshmen who attack their studies as he does, from behind.

No eulogy would do him justice, not even his own parlor jests, and so we leave him, balanced gracefully on a sorority step, his cigarette at a jaunty angle, his coal black hair (from choice) slicked back behind his auditory appendages, spinning his "line" to the latest pledge.

Oh, tea! Where is thy kick?

SONNET

It had a fascination for the boys
 And sister's beau. To get the album down
 We always thought was 'mong the rarest joys
 We youngsters had; to see the funny frown
 That father wore, a different father there,
 The uniform and braid, the rigid pose
 We never saw save when with conscious care
 We looked it o'er, its wonders to disclose.
 The fashions change and now no more we see
 The plush backed books that seemed a fairy-land,
 For now, an album resting on my knee,
 I hold another picture in my hand.
 And, while I muse o'er absent faces dear,
 Perhaps she keeps a photo of me near.

KNOW the Success Family?

The father of Success is Work;
The mother of Success is Ambition;
The oldest son is Common Sense;

Some of the other boys are Perseverance, Honesty, Thoroughness, Foresight, Enthusiasm, and Coöperation.

The oldest daughter is Character;

Some of her sisters are Cheerfulness, Loyalty, Courtesy, Care, Economy, Sincerity, and Harmony.

The baby is Opportunity.

Get well acquainted with the "old man" and you will be able to get along pretty well with all the rest of the family.

Peace and plenty rest upon the great pillar of Common Sense and this pillar is set in the solid cement foundation of harmony and unified effort—not in the quicksand of dissension and distrust.

GO . . . . GOING . . . . GONE

When the show is extra good and clever,
 When they play your favorite, soft and low,
 It's then you'd like to hold her hand forever,
 And, golly, don't you hate to rise and go?

When with coke and dance and girl you're feeling
 Like John D. with a billion by the toe,
 And the Teepee is a-shakin' to the ceiling,
 At quitting time, say, don't you hate to go?

When the cards are running mean as Satan,
 When the guys have hauled in all your dough,
 When you think your luck has changed by waitin',
 Oh, daddy, don't you hate to quit and go?

When it's been just ten days since you met her,
 But you've gone kind of nutty, dontcherknow,
 And she says every time she likes you better,
 Say, listen, Buddy, what time do you go?
