SECOND SCHOOL TERM

PRINCIPAL WHITE OUTLINES THE DISTRICTS PERTAINING TO EACH SCHOOL

The second term of school opens on Monday, Jan. 31. At that time children ready to begin first grade work will be admitted. The legal age for entering school is six years. However, an allowance of three school months (12 weeks) is made. This means that in order to enter the first grade a child would have to be six on or before April 21. No beginners will be admitted after the close of the first month of the term. Parents are urged to study the district lines as given below and to send their children to the school in whose district they reside, on the first day of the term. Please note carefully also the grades that each school will enroll.

It is necessary that each child be perfectly regular in attendance. Any absence may be a serious menace to a child's standing in his classes. Also, since the state and county apportionments of funds are based on the average daily attendance, absence on the part of the child means a direct financial loss to the district.

Kindergartens

Kindergartens will be opened at the Columbus avenue, Colorado street and Broadway schools. Each of these kindergartens will take care of two school districts as follows: Columbus avenue, its own and the Central avenue district; Colorado street, its own and the Pacific avenue district; Broadway, its own and the Doran street district. The law states the Kindergarten age to be from four and a half to six years. This law is interpreted to mean that the child will have to be four and a half before the end of the third school month of the term, i. e., in this case on or before April 21. No allowance is made for over age. Any child who is six years old or older on the day the term begins will not be admitted to the kindergarten. Such child may, of course, enter school if the parents so desire. In order that the parent may have a choice between the kindergarten and the school, the child must be between five years and nine months and six years on the day the term begins.

Parents are advised not to send their children to kindergarten until they are at least four years and nine months old for the following reasons: First, we have a kindergarten course of only one year and if a child finishes that before he has attained to school age he will either have to drop out for a half year or take the same work over again in the kindergarten; second, because a child of five will get much more out of the kindergarten work than a child of four and a half.

Principal's Office Hours

PLAN TO OPEN ROAD

CITY CLERK EXPLAINS THE OBJECT OF OPENING SYCAMORE CANYON ROAD

Editor Glendale Evening News: The postal cards sent out to property owners in the proposed assessment district for the opening of Sycamore Canyon road, seem to have been misunderstood by a number of people receiving them, as frequently happens in matters of this kind. These proceedings are for the opening of said street only. No cost for the improvement of this street will be included in this proposed assessment. The assessment district embraces all the territory lying between a line drawn 150 feet East of Glendale avenue and the easterly city limits, and comprises a list of over 1400 owners. The assessment is graduated as required by law, in accordance with benefits received, being heaviest upon owners adjacent to the proposed road and decreasing as it spreads outwardly, so that those whose property is on the outskirts of the district will be assessed for a very small sum, in some cases stated in cents, not dollars.

The opening of this road has three objects. It is expected that the people of Tropic will take up and continue the work through that city, which if done will result in a boulevard along the base of the foothills through Tropic and Glendale, making an attractive and shorter route connecting that section with Pasadena. The benefit of such a boulevard is self evident. The improved street is expected to solve the problem of the disposal of the flood water from Sycamore canyon, as the roadways and curbs will be constructed with this particular object in view.

The width of the street will be one hundred feet south of Broadway and eighty feet north of that thoroughfare. From Broadway south there will be a reservation of forty feet in the center for the tracks of the Pacific Electric Railway, which has just been granted a franchise to construct its line over Broadway from Glendale avenue easterly to the Childs' Tract line (at the schoolhouse) and will continue from thence southerly and westerly to a junction with its main line at Tropic.

As some people within the district think that they "are not to be benefited" by the proposed work, it should only be necessary to state that the work of clearing off the streets and repairs of damage by storm water, caused by the run-off from Sycamore canyon after every heavy rainfall, must be taken care of out of the General Fund of the city, to which every taxpayer within the corporation must contribute regardless of locality. Aside from this expense there remains the possibility that the city at any time may be compelled to pay a large amount for damages to private property, something which has thus far not taken place, but which remains always within the realm of possibility.

J. C. SHERER, City Clerk.

DR. PRATT INSTRUCTING

Wednesday evening a large number were in attendance at the pre-communion service, held in the Presbyterian church. Rev. Edmonds was in Pasadena, taking the place of Dr. Pratt, who is preaching here from night to night. The theme for the evening was the familiar text, "For God So Loved the World." An earnest appeal was made that Christians live and act as constrained by His love. The love of an innocent child is God-like.

Dr. Pratt related the incident of Murderous Jim, a man, who for his many crimes had been committed to the penitentiary. One day visitors were being shown about the grounds, among them a child of 4 years. A guard requested Jim to carry the child up a flight of stairs, and in a sullen way Jim complied. The baby pulled his face toward her and kissed his cheek. When Jim put the child down she said: "Now, you kiss me!" The man's heart was won by the love of God in a little child.

It is also stated that the royal family have sailed for Italy, whither they will be followed by the king, who hopes to induce Italy to come to the aid of the hard-pressed Montenegrins.

HINTS ON HERBARIUM

FRED E. BURLEW TELLS HOW TO DRY, ARRANGE, PRESS AND MOUNT WILD FLOWERS

ARTICLE II

The specimens gathered, it is next in order to dry them and here again the professional will, perhaps, be more particular in selecting his absorbent material or driers than the amateur. Newspapers or blotters are quite good enough when proper care is used. Arrange the plant as it is to lie on the herbarium sheet being careful that it does not extend more than fifteen inches lengthwise at most, or more than ten inches in the other direction, as it is to be finally mounted on a sheet eleven-and-a-half by sixteen-and-a-half inches. This is standard and should be carefully followed.

If the plant is too long it may be folded like a V or even like an N or M without harm. If it has several flowers some should show with their faces up and some with their faces down and the leaves should be arranged so that the upper side of some will show and the lower side of others. If there is only one flower its face should be up.

Having first placed a couple of blotters or several papers on the floor place the plant properly arranged between two papers and lay it on the blotters or newspapers, then lay a couple more blotters or a number of newspapers on the plant, then another plant and more paper and so on until the specimens in hand are all disposed of when a board of suitable size may be laid on top and a weight put on the board sufficient to hold them all firmly together without crushing. A couple of rocks will do very well. The botanist for the Academy of Sciences in San Francisco uses small bags of sand for weights.

If the plants are put in the press in the evening change the papers next morning and if put in in the morning change them in the evening; change the papers about once in twelve hours for the first two or three days, depending on the plants and how fast they dry.

In changing the papers it is better not to handle the specimens, just pick up the two papers the specimen is between without disturbing it and place the plant and its two papers between fresh blotters or newspapers. The blotters or newspapers may be spread out to dry and used again of course when the next change comes. A plant well dried should keep its color and not turn black. If any specimens show signs of turning black it is a very good sign that the blotters or papers have not been changed often enough. Remedy, get a new specimen and change the blotters or newspapers oftener. After the first few days it is not necessary to change them so often.

The plants properly dried, mounting is next in order and this should always be on paper of standard herbarium size, eleven-and-a-half by sixteen-and-a-half inches, otherwise should you desire to exchange specimens with another herbarium your specimens will not fit in the other herbarium and their specimens can not well be incorporated into yours. The paper on which the specimens are mounted should be of fair quality. A sheet of mounting paper such as is being used by the Southern California Academy can be seen at the headquarters of the garden society.

Sometimes before the specimens are mounted they are dipped in a solution of corrosive sublimate to prevent them from being later disturbed by insects, but the better way seems to be to protect them in some place with doors sufficiently close fitting to keep the insects out. The herbarium of the Southern California Academy of Sciences, now in Exposition Park Museum is in what may, perhaps, be called steel cupboards with very close fitting doors.

In mounting some use gummed paper cut in strips of convenient size such as the bankers use to mend paper money when it is torn. This may be purchased at most of the stationery stores in small rolls for a few cents each. Another and very good way is to smear a paper about the size of a mounting paper with liquid glue, drop the specimen onto it and then pick it up and lay it on the mounting sheet. This is an exceptionally good way of fastening seeds of the specimen, gathered at the time the specimen was or perhaps later, to the mounting paper unless they are very small. When the seeds are very small put a little glue on the mounting paper where you wish the seeds to be and sprinkle them in the glue.

The whole point of mounting is

BASKETBALL GAMES—PRE-COMMUNION SERVICES—NEW CHURCH SOCIETY

GLENDALE ATHLETIC CLUB

Glendale Athletic club has been keeping in practice in view of the series of League games it has to play. It is also anxious to recover the laurels it lost recently in its games against the Los Angeles Athletic club. The gymnasium at First and Glendale is in good shape and is being taken advantage of by the boys to keep themselves in first-class form.

The High School has arranged to play a basketball game in the Glendale Athletic club's gymnasium, Friday, Jan. 21. On that date the Glendale unlimited team will meet the Orange Athletic club's unlimited team. The evening will be opened by the Glendale Union High School's 115-lb. team and the similar team of the Whittier High School. Both of these are League games.

TO FORM BROTHERHOOD

At a meeting held Wednesday night, in the crypt of St. Mark's Episcopal church, the St. Mark's Men's club entertained and passed a resolution to disband that organization. It has been felt for some time that it is necessary to have a men's society organized on more modern church lines in order to get all the power possible to bear on the church work. Former members of the Men's club and all who are interested in the work of an organization of the nature indicated here are cordially invited to attend a meeting at the home of Mr. H. H. Faries, 104 N. Louise street, Wednesday, Feb. 2, at 8:30 p. m. Plans will then be formulated for the "Brotherhood of St. Mark."

STARTS IN NEW FIELD

Mr. Frank Littell, who is well known in Glendale and popular with all who know him, has started in a new field. A week ago he made arrangements to work with the Glendale Ford agency and is showing great activity in his new sphere. Mr. Littell is likely to make good in his salesmanship if a good address, a pleasing personality and a winning affability can assist him in that work. Two years ago Mr. Littell graduated from Glendale Union High school. Since then he has been engaged chiefly in doing moving picture work, having fulfilled engagements with several of the leading companies in the Los Angeles district. Recently he made an excellent appearance in a part in the play "A Bachelor's Romance," given in behalf of Masonic charities at the Palace-Grand theater in Glendale. Messrs. Smith, Walker and Middleworth are pleased with their new salesman and expect him to make good.

to have the specimen held quite firmly to the mounting sheet and present a neat appearance. The plant having been mounted, it is usual to have a label two inches wide by four inches long with printed lines, the name of the collector, and some other words as "location", "date", "altitude", "number", etc., making a sort of blank to be filled out which, when filled out, is pasted in the lower right hand corner of the sheet. Where the paper is used such as that indicated above, the label may be written in the lower right hand corner; and for any one herbarium, when the arrangement of this information is determined, it should always be uniform, as for instance number, name, date, locality, soil, always in uniform order, and finally such miscellaneous information in addition as was noted at the time the specimen were gathered. There is never any danger of having too much information, but to be of any value it must be unquestionably correct and accurate.

PLANS TO PREVENT WAR

There is no doubt that war is a steadily disappearing phenomenon in the world. One of the results of the present war will be that the powers will band themselves together to prevent war, by force if necessary. The civilized states of the world, that is those states which do not believe that war is essential to the good of humanity, will band themselves together by the ties of law and justice, friendship, morality and right to make an end of war. A combination strong enough to enforce its peace plans would bring the world round to its way of thinking.

When Mr. Bryan took office as secretary of state, one of his first public utterances was to the effect that there would never be another war of any consequence in his time. In this case the wish was father to the thought. Now it is all very well to wish for peace and to believe that peace will come; but it will never come unless an effort is made to bring it about.

It is by no means likely that war will cease right away after the great contest in Europe is over. The lack of perspective shown by the ex-secretary of State for the United States, need not blind others to the danger that exists on every hand with a large number of nations armed to the teeth and a thousand causes for war ready to be seized on at any moment.

It is worth while noting that in the midst of Europe's turmoil and fighting the Scandinavian countries—Norway, Sweden and Denmark, which have an understanding that they will stand together in case of war, are being let alone at the present juncture though some of their possessions would mean victory to the power that could get them into its hands.

Holland, with a population armed to the teeth, and with sluices that she can open and drown out any invader, is also at peace though in the very heart of the storm. Switzerland in like manner, with a citizen soldiery well trained and well armed and supplied with all the ammunition necessary for the defense of her land, which is itself a natural fortress, is able to look down from her Alpine eyrie unhurt amid the wreck of kingdoms and the clash of nations.

In like manner the world will not be able to have peace until it is in a position to compel it. The citizen of New York, Chicago or any other city who would in cold blood come out and advocate the abolition of the police force and the substitution of moral suasion instead thereof would raise a storm about his head that would speedily drive him into silence; but a large section of the people of the nation have been led to believe that a similar policy on the larger arena of international life would bring about peace.

With the shouts of European battlefields ringing in our ears and with the blackened and ruined cities of Europe before our eyes we must reach other conclusions. The only power that can prevent war is a supernational authority which shall stand in relation to the states of the world just as a state governs itself as to individual nationals. There is no chance of stopping war except by building up a supernational authority that would restrain states from doing wrong. This would mean an international high court and an international council. Should the war give the world these two bodies it will not have been fought in vain.

LESSONS OF THE RAINSTORM

Conservationists have been expounding for a number of years the necessity for doing something to hold back the rain in the hills before it reaches the lower lands where it works so much havoc. Had they been listened to all of the damage wrought by the recent storm in the vicinity of Glendale, Los Angeles and elsewhere, would have been avoided. Whatever may be done to patch up the Wash will never prevent the waters from coming down from the hills, though it may prevent damage in the city by confining the waters to the course of that channel.

The mischief was wrought long ago when the hills were denuded in many ways of their natural wood covering. The lumberman and the careless traveler between them all over the western country have contributed to the destruction of the forests and with the destruction of the forests has come the destruction of much property in low lands during every severe rain storm.

Many authorities on conservation have been working on this problem for years past and a little has been done to alleviate conditions. The serious nature of such a rainstorm as that which has visited California and Arizona just now may be seen not only in the havoc wrought here but also in the rise of rivers in Arizona and in the overflowing of the mighty Roosevelt dam. Think of the volume of water that is involved in that fact.

Everywhere property has been destroyed in California and Arizona within the past few days. People have lost their lives; cattle have been swept away and other livestock destroyed. This toll of life and property might easily have been avoided by a wise policy of reforestation and of retardation in the upper canyons.

In Haines canyon, for instance, a large number of artificial dams were built in the canyons. These were small structures that sufficed to stop a certain amount of water and better than that by dropping down the surplus over a miniature fall and forcing it to flow on a level for a short distance until another artificial fall had been reached gradually slowed up the flood until ultimately the greater part of it was retained in the mountains.

That lesson should not be lost on the public. More of this work ought to be done every year. It is in the upper canyons that the floods must be stayed. The cost of doing this work is very insignificant compared to the damage to property by floods. It is necessary to grow trees in the upper hills and meanwhile to retard the floods by the means indicated above. The trees when grown form beneath themselves a natural carpet of boughs, twigs, pine needles and moss that grows up among the debris. This spongy carpet catches the water and allows it to soak into the ground. In excessive rains it permits the water to run down gradually to the other natural retarding places and by thus slowing up the rush of the flood ultimately retains every drop of water in the canyons. In this way the natural springs are fed and all summer long canyons now dry will be found to have an unfailing stream of water flowing through them. This is real conservation and is the real solution of the flood troubles.

CAREFUL CONSOLATION

Mrs. Wilcox had a weakness for saying the wrong thing.

Mr. Blake, a neighbor, had committed suicide by hanging one night and the following morning Mrs. Wilcox said to her family:

"I'm going over to comfort Mrs. Blake. You know Mr. Blake hanged himself in their attic last night."

"Oh, I wouldn't go, mother," protested the husband. "You know you always say the wrong thing."

"Well, Jerry, I feel it is my duty to go," insisted Mrs. Wilcox, "but I'll be very careful what I say. I'll just talk about the weather. That's always a perfectly safe subject."

A daughter accompanied her, and when they returned home told how her mother committed the usual mistake. Seated in Mrs. Blake's kitchen Mrs. Wilcox ventured:

"What rainy weather we have had lately!"

"Yes, indeed," replied the widow. "I haven't been able to get the week's wash dried."

"Why, I shouldn't think you would have any trouble," exclaimed Mrs. Wilcox. "You have such a nice attic to hang things in!"

LITTLELANDS AND SUNLANDS

Mr. David R. Shiras has been a guest at the Shiras home on El Centro avenue for the past few days. His home is in Pittsburg, Penn. He expects to spend the winter in California and will probably be back and forth at the Shiras home quite often during his sojourn.

A quiet wedding took place in East Littlelands on January 12. The contracting parties were Mr. Chas. Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Dean, and Miss Mabel Free, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Free. There were no guests except the parents of the couple. The wedding took place in Miss Free's artistic home, Rev. W. H. Wieman performing the ceremony.

School children of the Monte Vista district had a holiday Monday, on account of the storm and the illness of Miss Jackson, one of the teachers.

Mrs. Woodruff and Mrs. Rowley attended an all-day meeting of officers of the county P. T. A. association held in Los Angeles on Saturday.

A leap year party was given at the home of Miss Gladys Huse on Friday evening. A candy pull was a feature of the entertainment, which was much enjoyed.

A. Adams, Jr., has a large force of employes at work in his olive factory, handling the season's crop. Mr. Adams has made extensive additions and improvements in his factory and is prepared to do the work in an up-to-date manner. He recently made a trip to New York and other eastern cities and Canada, to introduce ripe olives in those places.

At a daintily appointed luncheon given by Miss Bertha Lopez at her home in San Fernando, the engagement of Miss Mildred Corey to Edward Thomas was made known. Miss Corey recently graduated from the normal school and Mr. Thomas was one of the original owners of the Pioneer Garage.

Owing to the effect of retarding dams in Haines Canyon, no damage was done by flood water from that canyon.

State highway surveyors have been trying out the grades along the proposed Summit Avenue line.

The folly of trying to control floods on the floor of the valley and the success of retaining dams in the mountains were fully demonstrated in the present flood.

The weather permitting, Ellen Beach Yaw with a number of her pupils will give a recital at Bolton hall on Sunday, January 23, at 2 p. m.

A Los Angeles broker handling Sunland olives says the demand so far has exceeded the supply available.

The program of the Home Croft meeting for last Friday night was omitted because of the meager attendance. Only seven men ventured out in the storm that prevailed all day.

We learn that Mrs. Shiras who is the teacher of the infant department of the Sunday school is improving though still unable to be out. She has been on the sick list for several weeks. Mr. Green proprietor of the Feed Store has about recovered from a severe attack of erysipelas. He is able to resume his duties again at the store this week.

ALFRED'S REFORMATION

A mother trying to break her little boy of swearing, threatened that the next time he used a bad word she would banish him from home. It was not long, however, before little Alfred swore again. The habit was too strong.

"I am very sorry, Alfred," said the mother, with genuine concern, "but I have never broken my word to you, so now you must leave home."

The nurse was instructed to pack Alfred's little toy suitcase, and he, without a whimper, kissed his mother goodbye and departed.

His mother watched him sorrowfully as he walked down the street, but he never once turned around. A few steps further and he deposited his burden on the ground, perched solemnly on the curb, chin in hands, and fell into deep meditation. This was too much for the mother; she started down the street and tiptoed up behind Master Alfred. An old gentleman was crossing the street in the direction of her boy, so she drew back and heard him pompously ask: "Sonny, where do the Scotts live around here?"

Alfred raised his large, solemn brown eyes, regarded the old gentleman coldly, and replied:

"Aw, go to the devil. I've got troubles of my own!"

High School Happenings

Final examinations of the first semester are slated for next week.

High School at Burbank was open every day during the flood. Although the storm decreased the attendance slightly, and the buildings were cold when the electrically operated heating plant discontinued business for lack of power, Principal M. M. Livingston had promised the students Monday morning that school would keep all week—and he kept his promise.

The sewing class under the direction of Miss Eby has started the drafting of patterns. Nine young ladies make up the class.
Burbank High's basketball team was badly defeated last Friday night by the Huntington Park five.

"Cerberus"—that is the name of the 1916 year book of Burbank High School. At the present time, a great deal of material is being edited and made ready for the printer by the English instructor, Miss Meade. Much excellent matter was brought in through a contest for stories. Another contest is being held for cover design. The book this year has promises of being the best and most representative the local school has ever turned out. Mr. Julius Davenport is business manager of the issue, while Mr. Hugh Pomeroy is editor-in-chief.

Burbank High and Dry

While other towns were "in the swim" during the recent rains and flood, Burbank on the hillside of Mt. Verdugo stood high and dry. According to Mr. F. Curt Miller, city engineer and manager of the light and water departments, only a negligible damage was done.

Of course it rained—but the water ran off of Burbank as fast as it fell with the result there were no serious washes. M. C. Paxton, who made an inspection of several streets, says that other than occasional mudholes, the streets are in good shape.

Car service is interrupted on account of the condition of the Verdugo wash in North Glendale, where the Pacific Electric tracks were out. Burbank also witnessed the brilliant display of fireworks when the Edison high line over the Los Angeles river bed went out, Tuesday night. The cause of the multi-colored light, according to Mr. F. Curt Miller, of the light department, was the burning of the copper wire.

YES, YES, TOMMY!

Tommy's mother had married again, and though Tommy didn't in the least object to his new father, he was somewhat puzzled as to their relationship.

"Mamma," he said, "is this man my step-papa?"
"Yes, dear, he is your step-papa."
"Well, mamma," pursued thoughtful Thomas, "you call me your little lad, don't you?"

"Yes, dearie, you are mamma's little lad."
"Then, mamma," concluded Thomas, "I suppose I must be my step-papa's little step ladder."

GETTING EVEN

Pat was digging post holes around his home. He didn't want to, but his wife made him. A lady friend to his wife was passing.

"Ah, Mr. Rafferty, you're digging out holes, are ye?" she remarked, pleasantly.

"No, mum," said Pat, without looking up. "I'm diggin' out the dirt and lavin' the holes."
