THE COURT OF LOVE.

WITH tymeros hert and tremlyng hand
of drede,
Of cunning naked, bare of eloquence,
Unto the flour of poort in womanhede
I write, as he that none intelligence
Of metres hath, ne floures of sentence ;
Sauf that me list my writing to convey,
In that I can to please her hygh nobley.

The blosmes fresshe of Tullius garden soote
Present hem not, my matere for to borne :
Poemys of Virgile taken here no rote, 10
Ne crafte of Galfride may not here sojorne :
Why nam I cunning ? O well may I morne,
For lak of science that I cannot write
Unto the princes of my life aright

No termys digne unto her excellence,
So is she sprong of noble stirpe and high :
A world of honoure and of reverence
There is in her, this wille I testifie.
Callyope, thowe sister wise and sly,

And thowe Mynerva, guyde me with thy grace, &
That langage rude my mater not deface.

Thy suger dropes swete of Elieon
Distill in me, thowe gentle Muse, I pray ;
And the, Melpomene, I calle anone,
Of ignoraunce the miste to chace away ;
And give me grace so for to write and sey,
That she, my lady, of her worthinesse,
Accepte in gree this litill short tresse,

That is entituled thus, The Courte of Love.
And ye that bene metriciens me excuse, 30
I you beseeche for Venus sake above ;
For whate I mene in this ye nede not muse :
And yf so be my lady it refuse
For lak of ornat speche, I wold be woo,
That I presume to her to writen soo.

But myne entent and all my besy cure
Is for to write this tresse, as I can,
Unto my lady, stable, true, and sure,
Feithfull and kynde, sith first that she began
Me to accept in service as her man : 40
To her be all the pleasure of this boke,
That, when her like, she may it rede and loke.

WHEN I was yong, at eighteen yere of age,
Lusty and light, desirous of plesaunce,
Approehyng on full sadde and ripe corage,
Love arted me to do myn observaunce
To his astate, and doon hym obeysaunce,
Commaundyng me the Courte of Love to see,
A lite beside the Mounte of Citharee,

There Citherea goddesse was and quene 50
 Honowred highly for her majestie ;
 And eke her sonne, the myghty god, I wene,
 Cupyde the blynde, that for his dignyté
 A thousand lovers worship on here kne ;
 There was I bidde, in payn of deth, to pere,
 By Mereury, the wynged messengere.

So than I wente be straunge and ferre contrees,
 Enquiryng ay whate costes that to it drewe
 The Courte of Love : and thiderward, as bees,
 At last I se the peple gan pursue : 60
 Anon me thoughte som wight was there that knewe
 Where that the courte was holden, ferre or nye,
 And aftir hem fulle faste I gan me hie.

Anone as I hem overtoke, I seide,
 ‘ Haile frendes ! whider purpose ye to wende ? ’
 ‘ Forsothe, ’ quod one that aunswerede lich a mayde,
 ‘ To Loves Courte nowe goo we, gentill frend. ’
 ‘ Where is that place, ’ quod I, ‘ my felowe hende ? ’
 ‘ At Citheron, sir, ’ seid he, ‘ withoute dowte,
 ‘ The Kyng of Love, and all his noble rowte, 70

‘ Dwellyng withynne a castell ryally. ’
 So than apace I jornede forth amonge,
 And as he seide, so fond I there truly.
 For I behelde the towres high and stronge,
 And highe pynacles, large of hight and longe,
 With plate of gold bespredde on every side,
 And presious stones, the stone werke for to hide.

No saphir Ind, no rubé riche of price,
 There lakkede thanne, nor emeraude so grene,

Bales Turkes, ne thing to my devise, 80
 That may the castell maken for to shene :
 All was as bright as sterres in wynter bene ;
 And Phebus shone, to make his pease agayn
 For trespace doon to high estates tweyne,

Venus and Mars, the god and goddesse clere,
 When he hem founde in armes cheyned faste :
 Venus was than full sad of harte and chere.
 But Phebus bemes, streight as is the maste,
 Upon the castell gynith he to caste, 90
 To please the lady, princesse of that place,
 In sign he loketh aftir Loves grace.

For there nys god in Heven or Helle, iwis,
 But he hath ben right soget unto Love :
 Jove, Pluto, or whatesoever he is,
 Ne creature in erth, or yet above ;
 Of thise the revers may no wight approve.
 But furthermore, the castell to discrive,
 Yet sawe I never none so large and high.

For unto Heven it streecheth, I suppose,
 Withynne and oute depeynted wonderly, 100
 With many a thousand daisy^{es}, rede as rose,
 And white also, this sawe I verely :
 But whate tho deyses myghte do signifie,
 Can I not telle, sauf that the quen^{es} floure
 Alceste yit was that kepte there her sojoure ;

Which under Venus lady was and quene,
 And Admete kyng and soverayn of that place,
 To whom obeide the ladyes gode ninetene,

With many a thowsand other, bright of face. 109
 And yonge men fele came forth with lusty pace,
 And aged eke, here homage to dispose ;
 But whate thay were, I cowde not well disclose.

Yet nere and nere furth in I gan me dresse
 Into an halle of noble apparayle,
 With arras spred, and cloth of gold I gesse,
 And other silke of esier availe :
 Under the cloth of here estate saunz faile,
 The kyng and quene ther sat, as I beheld :
 It passed joye of Helisé the feld.

There saintes have here comyng and resort, 120
 To seen the kyng so ryally beseen,
 In purple clad, and eke the quene in sort :
 And on here hedes sawe I crownes twayn,
 With stones frett, so that it was no payne,
 Withouten mete and drynke, to stand and see
 The kinges honour and the ryaltie.

And for to trete of states with the kyng,
 That bene of counsell cheef, and with the quene,
 The kyng had Daunger nere to hym standyng,
 The Quene of Love, Disdeyne, and that was sene :
 For by the feith I shall to God, I wene 131
 Was never straunger none in her degree,
 Than was the quene in eastyng of her ye.

And as I stode perecyvyng her apart,
 And eke the bemes shynyng of her yen,
 Me thoughte thay were shapyn liehe a darte,
 Sherpe and persyng, smale and streight as line :
 And all her here it shone as gold so fyne,

Disshivill, crispe, downe hyngyng at her bak
A yarde in length: and smoothly than I spake:—

‘O brighte Regina, who made the so faire? 141
Who made thy colour vermelet and white?
Where woneth that god? howe fer above the eyre?
Grete was his crafte, and grete was his delite
Now marvel I nothing that ye do hight
The Quene of Love, and occupie the place
Of Citharé: nowe, swete lady! thi grace.’

In mewet spake I so that nought asterte
By no condicion, worde that myghte be harde;
But in myne inward thought I gan advertē, 150
And oft I seide ‘My witte is dulle and harde:’
For with her bewtie, thus, God wot, I ferde
As doth the man i-ravissed with sighte,
Whenne I beheld her cristall yen so brighte,

No respect havyng whatte was best to doon,
Till right anon, beholding here and there,
I spied a frend of myne, and that full sone
A gentilwoman, was the chamberer
Unto the queen, that hote, as ye shall here,
Philobone, that loved wel alle her life: 160
Whan she me sey, she led me furth as blyfe;

And me demaunded howe and in whate wise
I thider come, and whate myne erand was?
‘To sene the courte,’ quod I, ‘and alle the guyse;
And eke to sue for pardon and for grace,
And mercy aske for all my grete trespace,
That I none erst come to the Courte of Love:
Foryeve me this, ye goddes all above.’

‘That is well seid,’ quod Philobone, ‘indede :
 But were ye not assomoned to apere 170
 By Mercurius, for that is all my drede :’
 ‘Yis, gentill feire,’ quod I, ‘nowe am I here,
 Ye, yit whate thowe, though that be true, my dere ?’
 ‘Of youre fre wille ye shuld have come unsent :
 For ye dide not, I deme ye wille be shent.

‘For ye that reigne in youth and lustynesse,
 Pampired with ease, and joyless in youre age,
 Youre dewtie is, as ferre as I canne guesse,
 To Loves Courte to dresen youre viage,
 As sone as Nature maketh you so sage, 180
 That ye may knowe a woman from a swan,
 Or whanne youre fote is growen half a spanne.

‘But sith that ye, be wilfulle negligence,
 This eightcene yere have kepte youreself at large,
 The gretter is youre trespace and offence,
 And in youre nek you motte bere all the charge :
 For better were ye ben withouten barge
 Amydde the se in tempest and in rayne,
 Than byden here, receyvyng woo and payne,

‘That ordeyned is for suche as hem absente 190
 Fro Loves Courte by yeres long and fele.
 I ley my lyf ye shalle full sone repente ;
 For Love wille reyve youre coloure, lust, and hele :
 Eke ye moste bayte on many an hevvy mele :
 No force, iwis, I stired you long agoone
 To drawe to courte,’ quod litell Philobon.

‘Ye shalle well se howe rowhe and angry face
 The Kyng of Love will shewe, when ye hym se :

By myne advyse knele downe and aske hym grace,
 Eschewing perell and adversitee; 200
 For welle I wot it wolle none other be,
 Comforte is none, ne counsell to youre ease;
 Why wille ye thanne the Kyng of Love displese?’

‘O merey God,’ quod Iche, ‘I me repent,
 Caytif and wreeche in hert, in wille and thought!
 And aftir this shall be myne hole entent
 To serve and please, howe dere that love be bought.
 Yit sith I have myne owen penaunce isought,
 With humble sprite shall I it receyve,
 Though that the Kyng of Love my life bereyve. 210

· And though the fervent loves qualite
 In me did never worche truly yit I
 With all obeysaunce and humilité,
 And benigne harte, shall serve hym till I dye:
 And he that Lorde of myghtes, grete and high,
 Right as hym lyste me chastice and correcte
 And punysshe me, with trespace thus enfecte.’

Thise wordes seid, she caught me by the lap,
 And ledde me furth intill a temple round,
Both large and wyde: and as my blessed hap 220
 And gode aventure was, right sone I founde
 A tabernacle reised from the grounde,
 Where Venus sat, and Cupide by her side,
 Yit half for drede I gan my visage hide.

And eft agayn I loked and beheld,
 Seyng full sundry peple in the place,
 And myster folke, and som that myght not welde
Here lymmes wele, me thought a wounder case;

The temple shone with wyndowes all of glasse,
 Bright as the day, with many a feire ymage ; 230
 And there I sey the freshe quene of Cartage,

Dydo, that brent her bewtie for the love
 Of fals Eneas ; and the weymyntyng
 Of hir Anclida, true as turtill dove,
 To Arcite fals : and there was in peynting
 Of many a prinee, and many a doughty kyng,
 Whose marterdom was shewed aboute the walles ;
 And howe that feale for love hadde suffred falles.

But sore I was abashed and stonyed
 Of all thoo folke that there were in that tide ; 240
 And than I askede where thay hade woned :
 ‘ In dyvers courtes,’ quod she, ‘ here beside.’
 In sondry elothing, mantil-wise full wide,
 They were arrayed, and did here sacrifice
 Unto the god and goddesse in here guyse.

‘ Lo ! yonder folk,’ quoth she, ‘ that knele in blewe,
 Thay were the coloure ay and ever shalle,
 In signe thay were and ever wille be true
 Withouten chaunge : and soothly yonder alle
 That ben in blak, and mornyng cry and calle 250
 Unto the goddes, for here loves bene
 Som ferre, som dede, som all to-sherpe and kene.’

‘ Ye than,’ quod I, ‘ whate done thise prestes here,
 Nonnes and hermytes, freres, and alle thoo
 That sit in white, in russet, and in grene ?
 Forsoth,’ quod she, ‘ thay waylen of here woo.’
 ‘ O mercy lord ! may thay so come and goo

Frely to court and have suche libertie?’

‘Ye men of eche condicion and degree,

‘And women eke : for truly there is none 260

Excepcion made, ne never was ne may :

This courte is ope and fre for everychone,

The Kyng of Love he wille nat say hem nay :

He takith all, in poore or riche arraye,

That mekely sewe unto his excellence

With all here harte and all here reverence.’

And, walkyng thus aboute with Philobone,

I se where come a messengere in hie

Streight from the kyng, which let commaunde anon,

Throughoute the courte to make an ho and crye :

“Alle newe come folke abide ! and wote ye whye ?

The kynges luste is for to seen youe sone ; 272

Come nere, let se ! his wille mote nede be done.’

Than gan I me presente tofore the kyng,

Tremelyng for fere, with visage pale of hewe,

And many a lover with me was knelyng,

Abasshed sore, till unto the tyme thay knewe

The sentence yove of his entent full trewe :

And at the laste the kyng hath me beholde

With sterne visage, and seid, ‘Whate doth this olde,

‘Thus ferre istope in yeres, come so late 281

Unto the courte?’ ‘Forsoth, my liege,’ quod I,

‘An hundred tyme I have ben at the gate

Afore this time, yet coude I never espye

Of myne acqueyntaunce eny with myne ye ;

And shamefastnes away me gane to chace ;

But nowe I me submytte unto your grace.’

‘ Well ! all is pardoned, with condicion
 That thowe be trewe from hensforth to thy myght,
 And serven Love in thyne entencion : 290
 Swere this, and thanne, as fer as it is right,
 Thowe shalte have grace here in my quenes sight.’
 ‘ Yis, by the feith I owe youre crowne, I swere,
 Though Deth therefore me thirlith with his spere.’

And whan the kyng had sene us everychone,
 He let commaunde an officer in hie
 To take oure feith, and shewe us, one by one
 The statutis of the courte full besyly :
 Anon the boke was leide before her ye,
 To rede and se whate thyng we most observe 300
 In Loves Courte, till that we dye and sterve.

AND for that I was lettred, there I redde
 The statutis hole of Loves Courte and halle :
 The firste statute that on the boke was spread,
 Was, To be true in thought and dedes alle
 Unto the Kyng of Love, the lord ryalle ;
 And to the Quene, as feithfull and as kynde,
 As I coude thynke with harte, and wille, and mynde.

The secunde statute, Secretely to kepe
 Councell of love, nat blowyng every where 310
 All that I knowe, and let it synk and flete ;
 It may not sowne in every wightes ere :
 Exilyng slaunder ay for dred and fere,
 And to my lady, which I love and serve,
 Be true and kynde, her grace for to deserve.

The thridde statute was clerely write also,
 Withouten chaunge to lyve and dye the same,

None other love to take, for wele ne woo,
 For blynde delite, for earnest nor for game :
 Withoute repent for laughyng or for grame, 320
 To biden still in full perseveraunce :
 Al this was hole the kynges ordynaunce.

The fourth statute, To purchaee ever to here,
 And stiren folke to love, and beten fire
 On Venus awter, here aboute and there,
 And preche to hem of love and hote desire,
 And telle howe love will quyten wel here hire :
 This muste be kepte ; and loth me to displease :
 If love be wroth, passe ; for thereby is an ease.

The fifth statute, Not to be daungerous, 337
 Yf that a thought wold reyye me of my slepe :
 Nor of a sight be over squymouse ;
 And so veryeuly this statute was to kepe,
 To turne and walowe in my bed and wepe,
 When that my lady, of her crueltié,
 Wold from her harte exilyn all pyté.

The sixte statute, it was for me to use,
 Alone to wander, voyde of company,
 And on my ladys bewtie for to muse,
 And to thinke no force to lyve or dye ; 340
 And eft agayn to thynke the remedy,
 Howe to her grace I myght anon attayne,
 And telle my woo unto my souverayne.

The seventh statute was, To be pacient,
 Whether my lady joyfull were or wroth ;
 For wordes glad or hevy, dilygent,

Wheder that she me helden lefe or loth :
 And hereupon I put was to myn othe,
 Hir for to serve, and lowly to obey,
 And shewing my chere, ye, twenty sith aday. 350

The eighth statute to my remembraunce,
 Was, To speke and praye my lady dere,
 With hourelly laboure and grete attendaunce,
 Me for to love with all her harte entiere,
 And me desire and make me joyfull chere,
 Right as she is, surmountyng every faire,
 Of bewtie well and gentill debonayre.

The ninth statute, with lettres writ of gold,
 This was the sentence, How that I and alle
 Shuld ever drede to be to overbolde 360
 Her to displease ; and truly so I shall ;
 But ben content for thyng that may befall,
 And mekely take her chastisement and yerde,
 And to offende her ever ben aferd.

The tenth statute was Egally discerne
 Bytwene thy lady and thyn abilitee,
 And thynke thyself arte never like to yerne,
 By right, her mercy nor of equité,
 But of her grace and womanly pitee ;
 For though thy self be noble in thy strene, 370
 A thowsand fold more nobill is thy quene.

Thy lives lady and thy souverayn,
 That hath thyne harte all hole in governaunce,
 Thow maist no wise hit taken to disdayne,
 To put the humbly at her ordynaunce,

And yife her free the reyne of her plesaunee ;
 For libertie ys thing that women loke,
 And truly ellis the mater is a eroke.

The eleventh statute, Thy signes for to knowe
 With ie and fynger, and with smyles softe, 380
 And lowe to kowigh, and alway for to shoue,
 For dred of spies, for to wynken ofte :
 But seeretly to bring up a sigh alofte,
 And eke beware of overmoche resorte ;
 For that paraventure spilleth all thy sporte.

The twelfth statute remember to observe :
 For all the payne thow haste for love and wo,
 All is to lite her merey to deserve,
 Thow muste thynke, where ever thow ride or goo,
 And mortall woundes suffer thow also, 390
 All for her sake, and thynke it wel beset,
 Upon thy love, for it may be no bette.

The thirteenth statute, Whilom is to thynke,
 Whate thyng may best thy lady lyke and please,
 And in thyne hartes botom let it synke :
 Som thing devise, and take for thyne ease,
 And send it her, that may her harte pease :
 Some hert, or ryng, or letre, or devise,
 Or precieus stone ; but spare not for no price.

The fourteenth statute eke thou shalte assaye 400
 Firmely to kepe the moste parte of thy life :
 Wisshe that thy lady in thyne armes laye,
 And nyghtly dreame, thow hast thy nyghtesharte wife
 Swetely in armes, straynyng her as blife :

And whanne thou seest it is but fantasye,
Se that thow syng not over merily.

For to moche joye hath oft a wofull end.
It longith eke this statute for to holde,
To deme thy lady evermore thy frende,
And thynke thyself in no wise a cocold. 410
In every thing she doth but as she shulde:
Construe the beste, beleve no tales newe,
For many a lie is told, that semyth full trewe.

But thinke that she, so bounteous and fayre,
Cowde not be fals: imagyne this algate;
And thinke that tonges wykked wold her appaier,
Sklaundryng her name and worshipfull estate,
And lovers true to setten at debate:
And though thow seest a fawte right at thyne ye,
Excuse it blive, and glose it pretily. 420

The fifteenth statute, Use to swere and stare,
And counterfete a lesyng hardely,
To save thy ladys honoure every whare,
And put thyself for her to fighte boldely:
Sey she is gode, vertuous, and gostely,
Clere of entent, and harte, and thought and wille;
And argue not for reson ne for skille

Agayne thy ladys plesire ne entent,
For love wille not be counterpleted indede:
Sey as she seith, than shalte thowe not be shent,
The crowe is white; ye truly, so I rede: 431
And ay whate thyng that she the wille forbidde,
Eschewe all that, and give her soverentie,
Hir appetite folowe in all degree.

The sixteenth statute, kepe it yf thow may :—
 Seven sith at nyght thy lady for to please,
 And seven at mydnyght, seven at morowe day,
 And drynke a cawdell erly for thyne ease.
 Do this and kepe thyne hede from all dyssease,
 And wyne the garland here of lovers alle, 440
 That ever come in courte, or ever shalle.

Full fewe, thynke I, this statute hold and kepe ;
 But truly this my reason giveth me fele,
 That som lovers shulde rather fall aslepe,
 Than take on hand to please so ofte and wele.
 There lay none othe to this statute adele,
 But kepe who myght as gave hym his corage :
 Nowe get this garlant lusty folke of age.

Nowe wyne whoo may, ye lusty folke of youth,
 This garland fressh, of floures rede and white, 450
 Purpill and blewe, and colours ful uncowth,
 And I shall crowne hym kyng of all delite !
 In all the courte there was not, to my sight,
 A lover trewe, that he ne was adrede,
 When he expresse hath hard the statute redde.

The seventeenth statute, When age approachith on,
 And lust is leide, and all the fire is queynt,
 As fresshly than thowe shalte begynne to fonne,
 And dote in love, and all her ymage paynte
 In the remembraunce, till thow begynne to faynte,
 As in the firste season thyne hart beganne : 461
 And her desire, though thowe ne may ne can

Perfourme thy lyvyng actuell, and lust ;
 Register this in thy remembraunce :

Eke whan thow maist net kepe thy thing from rust,
 Yet speke and talk of pleasaunt dalyaunce ;
 For that shall make thyne harte rejoyse and daunce,
 And when thou maist no more the gam assaye,
 The statute bidde the praye for hem that maye.

The eighteenth statute, holy to commende, 470
 To please thy lady, is, That thow eschewe
 With sluttisshnesse thyself for to offende ;
 Be jolif, fressh, and fete, with thinges newe,
 Courtly with maner, this is all thy due,
 Gentill of porte, and loving elenynesse ;
 This is the thing that liketh thi maistresse.

And not to wander liche a dulled asse,
 Ragged and torn, disguysed in array,
 Rybaude in speche, or oute of mesure passe,
 Thy bounde excedyng ; thynk on this alway : 480
 For women been of tender hartes aye,
 And lightly sette here plesure in a place ;
 When they misthinke, they lightly let it passe.

The nineteenth statute, Mete and drynke forgeto :
 Eche other day, se that thow faste for love,
 For in the courte thei live withouten mete,
 Sauf suehe as comyth from Venus all above ;
 Thei take none heed, in payne of grete reprove,
 Of mete and drynke, for that is all in vayn,
 Onely they live be sight of here soverayne. 490

The twentieth statute, last of everychone,
 Enrolle it in thyn hartes privité ;
 To wring and waile, to turne, and sigh and grone,
 When that thy lady absent is from the ;

And eke revowe the wordes alle that she
 Bitwene you twayn hath seid, and all the chere
 That the hath made thy lives lady dere.

And se thyne harte in quiete ne in rest
 Sojorne till tyme thowe sene thy lady eft ;
 But where she wonne be south, or est, or west, 500
 With all thy force, nowe se it be not left :
 Be diligent, till tyme thy life be reft,
 In that thowe maist, thy lady for to see ;
 This statute was of old antiquité.

An officer of high auctorité,
 Cleped Rigour, made us to swere anon :
 He nas corrupt with parcialyté,
 Favour, prayer, ne gold that clierely shone ;
 ‘Ye shalle,’ quod he, ‘nowe sweren here echone,
 Yong and olde, to kepe, in that ye maye, 510
 The statutes truly, all aftir this day.’

O God, thought I, hard is to make this oth !
 But to my pouer shall I hem observe ;
 In all this world nas mater half so loth
 To swere for all ; for though my body sterve,
 I have no myght hem hole for to reserve.
 But herkyn nowe the eace how it befell :
 After my othe was made, the trouth to telle,

I turned leves, lokyng on this boke,
 Where other statutes were of women shene ; 520
 And right furthwith Rigour on me gan loke
 Full angrily, and seid unto the quene
 I traitour was, and charged me let bene :
 ‘There may no man,’ quod he, ‘the statute knoue,
 That long to women, hie degree ne lowe.

‘ In secrete wise thay kepten ben full close,
 They sowne ecchone to libertie, my frend ;
 Pleasaunt thay be, and to here owen purpose ;
 There wote no wight of hem, but God and fend,
 Ne naught shall witte, unto the worldes ende. 530
 The quene hath yove me charge, in payne to dye,
 Never to rede ne sen hem with myne ye.

‘ For men shall not so nere of counsell ben
 With womanhede, ne knowen of her guyse,
 Ne whate they thinke, ne of here wit thengyne ;
 I me reporte to Salamon the wise,
 And mighty Sampson, which begyled thries
 With Dalida was ; he wot that, in a throwe,
 There may no man statute of women knowe.

‘ For it peraventure may right so befall, 540
 That they be bounde by nature to disceyve,
 And spynne, and wepe, and sugre strewe on galle,
 The hart of man to ravisssh and to reyve,
 And whet here tong as sharp as swerd or gleyve :
 It may betide, this is here ordynaunce,
 So muste thei lowly done the observaunce,

‘ And kepe the statute yoven hem of kynde,
 Of suche as love have yove hem in here life.
 Men may not wete why turneth every wynde,
 Nor waxen wise, nor ben inquisytyf 550
 To knowe secret of mayde, widue, or wife ;
 For thai here statutes have to hem reserved,
 And never man to knowe hem hath deserved.

‘ Now dresse you furth, the God of Love you guyde !’
 Quod Rigour than, ‘ and seke the temple brighte

Of Citherea goddesse, here beside ;
 Beseeche her, by enfluence and myghte
 Of all her vertue, you to teche arighte,
 Howe for to serve youre ladis, and to please,
 Ye that ben sped, and set your hart in ease. 560

‘ And ye that ben unpurveied, praye her eke
 Comforte you sone with grace and destiné,
 That ye may sette youre harte there ye maye like,
 In suche a place, that it to love may be
 Honoure and worship, and filieité
 To you for ay. Now goth by one assente.
 ‘ Graunt mcrey sir !’ quod we, and furth we wente

Devoutly, soft and esy pacc, to se
 Venus, the goddesse, ymage all of golde :
 And there we founde a thousand on here kne, 570
 Som fressh and feire, som dedely to beholde,
 In sondry mantils newe, and some were olde,
 Som paynted were with flames rede as fire,
 Outeward to shewe here inwarde hote desire :

With dolefull ehere, ful feele in here complaynt,
 Criede ‘ Lady Venus, rewe upon oure sore !
 Receyve our billes, with teres al bedreynt ;
 We maye not wepe, there is no more in store ;
 But woo and payne us frettith more and more :
 Thow blisseful planet, lovers sterre so shene, 580
 Have rowth on us, that sighe and carefull bene ;

‘ And ponysshe, Lady, grevously, we praye,
 The false untrew, with counterfete plesaunce,
 That made here othe, be trewe to live or dye,

With chere assured, and with countenaunce ;
 And falsly now thay foten loves daunce,
 Baren of rewth, untrue of that they seid,
 Now that here lust and plesire is alleide.'

Yit eft again, a thousand milion,
 Rejoysing, love, ledyng here life in blis: 590
 Thay seid :—' Venus, redresse of al divysion,
 Goddessse eternal, thy name ihired is !
 By loves bond is knyted all thing, iwis,
 Best unto best, the erth to water wanne,
 Birde unto bird, and woman unto manne ;

' This is the life of joye that we ben in,
 Resemblyng life of heavenly paradyse ;
 Love is exiler ay of vice and synne ;
 Love maketh hartes lusty to devise ;
 Honoure and grace, have thay in every wise, 600
 That ben to loves lawe obedyent ;
 Love makith folke benigne and diligent,

' Ay steryng hem to drede vice and shame :
 In here degree it maketh hem honorable ;
 And swete it is of love to bere the name,
 So that his love be feithfull, true and stable :
 Love prunyng hym, to semen amyable ;
 Love hath no faute, there it is excercised,
 But sole with hem that have all love dispised.

' Honoure to the, celestiall and clere 610
 Goddessse of love, and to thy celeitude,
 That yevest us light so ferre downe from thi spere,
 Persing ovr hartes with thi puleritude !

Compersion none of similitude
 May to thi grace be made in no degré;
 That hast us set with love in unité.

‘Grete cause have we to prayse thy name and the,
 For through the we live in joye and blisse.
 Blessed be thowe, most souverayn to se!
 Thi holy courte of gladnesse may not mysse: 620
 A thousand sith we may rejoise in this,
 That we ben thyne with harte, and all ifere
 Enflamed with thi grace, and hevynly fere.’

Musyng of tho that spakyn in this wise,
 I me bethought in my remembraunce
 Myne oryson right godely to devise,
 And pleasauntly with hartes obeysaunce,
 Besecche the goddesse voiden my grevaunce;
 For I loved eke, sauf that I wist nat where;
 Yet downe I set and seid as ye shall here. 630

‘Feirest of alle that ever were or be!
 Lucerne and light to pensif creature!
 Myne hole affiaunce, and my lady free,
 My goddesse brighte, my fortune and my ure,
 I yeve and yeld my harte to the full sure,
 Humbly besecching, lady, of thi grace
 Me to bestowe into som blissed place.

‘And here I vowe me feithfull, true, and kynde,
 Withoute offence of mutabilité,
 Humbly to serve, while I have witte and mynde,
 Myne hole affiaunce, and my lady free! 641
 In thilke place, there ye me signe to be:

And, sith this thing of newe is yove me, aye
To love and serve, and nedely most I obey.

‘ Be merciabie with thi fire of grace,
And fix myne harte there bewtie is and routh,
For hote I love, determyne in no place,
Sauf only this, be God and by my trouth,
Trowbled I was with slomber, sleep, and slouth
This other night, and in a visioun 650
I se a woman romen up and downe,

‘ Of mence stature, and semly to beholde,
Lusty and fressh, demure of countynaunce,
Yong and wel shape, with here that shone as gold,
With eyen as cristall, farceid with plesaunce ;
And she gan stirre myne harte a lite to daunce ;
But sodenly she varysshe gan right there :
Thus I may sey, I love and wot not where.

For whate she is, ne her dwellyng I note,
And yit I fele that love distreyneth me : 660
Might iche her knowe, her wold I fayn, God wot,
Serve and obeye with all benignité.
And if that other be my destiné,
So that no wise I shall hir never se,
Than graunte me her that best may liken me.

‘ With glad rejoyse to live in parfite hele,
Devoide of wrath, repent, or variaunce ;
And able me to do that may be wele
Unto my lady, with hartes hie plesaunce :
And, myghty Goddessse, through thy purviaunce 670
My witte, my thought, my lust and love so guyde,
That to thyne honure I may me provyde

‘ To set myne harte in place there I may like,
 And gladly serve with all affeccion.
 Grete is the payn which at myne hart doth styke,
 Till I be sped by thyne eleccion :
 Helpe, lady Goddessè ! that possession
 I myght of her have, that in all my life
 I clepen shal my quene and hartes wife.

‘ And in the Courte of Love to dwelle for aye 680
 My wille it is, and done the saeryfice :
 Dayly with Diane eke for to fight and fraye,
 And holden werre, as myght well me suffice :
 That goddessè chaste I kepen in no wise
 To serve ; a figge for all her chastité !
 Hir lawe is for religiosité.’

And thus gan fynysse preyer, lawde, and preice,
 Which that I yove to Venus on my kne,
 And in myne harte to ponder and to peice ;
 I gave anon hir ymage fressh bewtie : 690
 Heile to that figure swete ! and heile to the,
 Cupide,’ quod I, and rose and yede my way,
 And in the temple as I yede, I sey

A shryne sormowting all in stones riche,
 Of which the force was plesaunce to myne ye,
 With diamant or saphire, never liehe
 I have none seyen, ywrought so wounderly.
 So when I met with Philobone in hie,
 I gan demaunde, ‘ Who is this sepulture ?’
 ‘ Forsoth,’ quod she, ‘ a tender creature 700

‘ Ys shryned there, and Pité is her name.
 She saw an eglo wreke hym on a flye,

And pluk his wynges, and ete hym, in his game,
 And tender harte of that hath made her dye :
 Eke she wold wepe, and morne right piteously
 To sene a lover suffre grete destresse.
 In alle the courte nas none, that as I gesse,

‘ That coude a lover halfe so well availe,
 Ne of his woo the torment or the rage
 Asslaken, for he was sure, withouten faile, 710
 That of his gryefe she coude the hete asuage.
 In stede of Pité, spedeth hote corage
 The maters alle of courte, now she is dede ;
 I me report in this to womanhede.

‘ For weile and wepe, and crye, and speke, and praye,—
 Women wolde not have pité on thi playnt ;
 Ne by that meane to ease thyne hart conveye,
 But the receyven for here owen talent :
 And sey that Pité eausith the, in consent
 Of rewth, to take thy service and thy payne 720
 In that thow maist, to please thy soverayne.

‘ But this is counsell, kepe it secretly,’
 Quod she ‘ I nolde for all the world abowte.
 The Quene of Love it wist ; and witte ye why ?
 For yf by me this mater spryngen oute,
 In courte no lenger shuld I, owte of dowte,
 Dwellen, but shame in all my life endry :
 Nowe kepe it close,’ quod she, ‘ this hardely.

‘ Well, all is well ! Nowe shall ye sene,’ she seide,
 ‘ The feirest lady under sonne that is : 730
 Come on with me, demeane you liche a mayde,
 With shamefast drede, for ye shall speke, iwis,

With her that is the mirour joye and blisse ;
 But somwhate straunge and sad of her demeane
 She is, beware youre countenaunce be sene,

‘ Nor over light, ne rechelesse, ne to bolde,
 Ne malapert, ne rynnynge with your tonge ;
 For she will you abeisen and beholde,
 And you demande why ye were hens so longe
 Oute of this courte, withouten resorte amonge. 710
 And Rosiall her name is hote aright,
 Whose harte as yet is yoven to no wight.

‘ And ye also ben, as I understond,
 With love but light avaunced, by your worde ;
 Might ye be happe youre fredome maken bond,
 And fall in grace with her, and wel accorde,
 Well myght ye thank the God of Love and Lord ;
 For she that ye sawe in youre dreame appere,
 To love suche one, whate ar ye then the nere ?

‘ Yit wote ye whate ? as my remembraunce 750
 Me yevith nowe, ye fayne where that ye seye,
 That ye with love hadde never acqueyntaunce,
 Sauf in your dreame right late this other daye :
 Why, yis, pardé ! my life, that durst I laye,
 That ye were caught opon an heth, when I
 Saw you complayn, and sighe full piteously.

‘ Withynne an erber, and a garden faier
 With floures growe, and herbes vertuouse,
 Of which the savour swete was and the aire,
 There were youre self full hote and amerouse : 760
 Iwis ye ben to nyse and daungerouse ;

A! wolde ye nowe repent, and love some newe?
 ‘Nay by my trowth,’ I seid, ‘I never knewe

‘The godely wight, whoes I shall be for aye:
 Guyde me the Lord that love hath made and me.’
 But furth we went into a chambre gay,
 There was Rosiall, womanly to se,
 Whose stremes, sotell-percyng of her ye,
 Myne harte ganne thrille for bewtie in the stounde:
 ‘Alas,’ quod I, ‘whoo hath me yove this wounde?’

And than I dredde to speke till at the laste 771
 I grete the lady reverently and wele;
 Whan that my sigh was gon and overpast,
Than downe on knees ful humbly gan I knele,
 Beseching her my fervent woo to kele,
 For there I toke full purpose in my mynde,
 Unto her grace my paynfull harte to bynde.

For yf I shall all fully her diseryve,
 Her hede was rounde, by compaee of nature,
 Her here as gold,—she passed all on live,— 780
 And lylly forehede hade this creature,
 With loveliche browes, flawe, of coloure pure,
 Bytwene the whiche was mene disseveraunce
 From every browe, to shewe a due distaunce.

Her nose direeted streight, and even as lyne,
 With fourme and shap therto convenient,
 In which the goddes mylke white path doth shyne;
 And eke her yen ben bright and orient
 As is the smaragde, unto my juggement,
 Or yet thise sterres hevenly, smale and brighte;
 Hir visage is of lovely rede and white. 791

Her mouth is shorte, and shitte in litell space,
Flamyng somdele, not over rede, I mene,
With prengnante lippes, and thike to kisse,
 percas ;
(For lypes thynne, not fatte, but ever lene,
They serve of naught, thay be not worth a bene ;
For if the basse ben full, there is delite,
Maximyan truly thus doth he write.)

But to my purpose :—I sey, white as snowe
Ben all her teth, and in order thay stande 800
Of one stature ; and eke her breth, I trowe,
Surmounteth all oders that ever I found
In swetnesse ; and her body, faec, and honde
Ben sharply slender, so that from the hede
Unto the fote, all is but womanhede.

I hold my pease of other thinges hidde :—
Here shal my soule, and not my tong, bewraye :—
But how she was arrayed, yf ye me bidde,
That shall I well discovere you and saye :
A bend of gold and silke, ful fressh and gay, 810
With her in tresse, ibrowdered full welle,
Right smothly kempte, and shynyng every dele.

Aboute her nee a floure of fressh devise
With rubies set, that lusty were to sene ;
And she in gowne was, light and sommer-wise,
Shapen full wele, the coloure was of grene,
With awreat seint aboute her sides elene,
With dyvers stones, precious and riche :—
Thus was she raied, yit saugh I never her liche.

For yf that Jove hadde but this lady seyn, 820
 Tho Calixto ne yet Alemania,
 They never hadden in his armes leyne ;
 Ne he hadde loved the faire Europa ;
 Ye, ne yit Dané ne Antiopa !
 For all here bewtie stode in Rosiall,
 She semed lich a thyng celestiall.

In bownté, favor, porte, and semlynnesse
 Plesaunt of figure, myrroure of delite,
 Gracious to sene, and rote of gentilnesse,
 With angell visage, lusty rede and white : 830
 There was not lak, sauf daunger had a lite
 This godely fressh in rule and governaunce ;
 And somdele straunge she was for her plesaunce.

And truly sone I toke my leve and wente,
 Whanne she hadde me enquired whate I was ;
 For more and more impressen gan the dente
 Of Loves darte, while I beheld her face ;
 And efte agayn I com to seken grace,
 And up I put my bille, with sentence clere
 That folowith aftir ; rede and ye shall here. 840

‘ O ye fressh, of bewtie the rote,
 That nature hath fourmed so wele and made
 Prynesse and Quene ! and ye that may do bote
 Of all my langoure with youre wordes glade !
 Ye woundede me, ye made me wo bestad ;
 Of grace redresse my mortall grieve, as ye
 Of al myne harme the verrey causer be.

‘ Now am I caught, and unware sodenly,
 With persant stremes of your yen so clere,

Subjecte to ben, and serven you mekely, 850
 And all youre man, iwis, my lady dere,
 Abidyng grace, of which I you require,
 That merciles ye cause me not to sterve;
 But guerdon me, liche as I may deserve.

‘ For, by my trowth, the dayes of my breth
 I am and wille be youre in wille and harte,
 Pacient and meke, for you to suffre dethe
 If it require; nowe rewe upon my smerte;
 And this I swere, I never shall oute sterte
 From Loves Courte, for none adversité, 860
 So ye wold rewe on my distresse and me.

‘ My destiné, my fate, and ure, I blisse,
 That have me set to ben obedient
 Only to you, the floure of all iwis:
 I truste to Venus never to repente;
 For ever redy, glad and dyligent,
 Ye shalle me fynde in service to your grace,
 Tyll deth my life oute of my body rase.

‘ Humble unto your excellence so digne,
 Enforeyng ay my wittes and delite 870
 To serve and please with glad harte and benigne,
 And ben as Troylus, Troyes knyghte,
 Or Antony for Cleopatre bright,
 And never you me thynkes to reneye:
 This shall I kepe unto myne endyng daye.

‘ Enprint my speche in youre memoriall
 Sadly, my princesse, salve of all my sore!
 And think that, for I wolde becommen thrall,

And ben youre owyn, as I have seid before,
 Ye most of pité cherisshe more and more 880
 Youre man, and tender aftir his deserte, -
 And yif him corage for to ben expert.

‘ For where that one hath sette his harte on fire,
 And fyndeth nether refute ne plesaunce,
 Ne worde of comforte, deth will quite his hire.
 Allas ! that there is none allegeaunce
 Of all here woo ! allas, the grete grevaunce
 To love unloved ! But ye, my Lady dere,
 In other wise may governe this matere.’

‘ Truly gramercy, frende ; of your gode wille, 890
 And of youre profer in youre humble wise !
 But for youre service, take and kepe it stille.
 And where ye say, I ought you well cheryse,
 And of youre grefe the remedy devise,
 I knowe not why : I nam aqueeunte welle
 With you, ne wote not soothly where ye dwelle.’

‘ In arte of love I write, and songes make,
 That may be song in honour of the Kyng
 And Quene of Love ; and than I undertake,
 He that is sadde shall than full mery synge. 900
 And daungerus not ben in every thing
 Beseche I you, but sene my wille and rede,
 And let your answeere put me oute of drede.’

‘ Whate is your name ? reherse it here I pray,
 Of whens and where, of whate condicion
 That ye ben of ? Let se, com of and say !
 Fayne wold I knowe your disposicion :
 Ye have putte uppon your olde entencion ;

But whate ye meane to serve me I note,
Sauf that ye saye ye love me wounder hote.' 910

' My name? alas, my hart, why makest thou straunge?

Philogenet I cald am fer and nere,
Of Cambridge clerke, that never think to chaunge
Fro you that with youre hevenly stremes clere
Ravissh myne harte and goste and al in fere :
This is the firste, I write my bille for graco,
Me thinke I se som merey in youre face.

' And whate I mene, by goddes that all hath wrought,

My bille now maketh fynall mencion,
That ye bene lady in myne inward thought 920
Of all myne harte withouten offencion,
That I beste love, and have sith I beganne
Todrawe to courte. Lo thanne! whate myght I saye?
I yeld me here unto youre nobleye.

' And if that I offend, or wilfully
Be pompe of harte your precepte disobeye,
Or done agayn youre wille unskyllfully,
Or greven you for earnest or for playe,
Correcte ye me right sharply than I praye,
As it is sene unto youre womanhede, 930
And rewe on me, or ellis I nam but dede.'

' Nay, God forbede to fesse you so with grace,
And for a worde of sugred eloquence,
To have compassion in so litell space!
Than were it tyme that som of us were hens!

Ye shall not fynde in me suche insolence.
 Ay! whate is this? may we not suffer sight?
 How may ye loke upon the candill-light,

‘That clerer is and hotter than myn ye?
 And yet ye seid the bemes perse and frete:— 940
 Howe shall ye thanne the candel-light endrye?
 For well wotte ye, that hath the sharper hete.
 And there ye bidde me you correcte and bete,
 Yf ye offende,—nay, that may not be done:
 There come but fewe that speden here so soon.

‘Withdrawe your ye, withdrawe from presens eke:
 Hurte not youreself, through folly, with a loke;
 I wolde be sory so to make you syke!
 A woman shulde be ware eke whom she toke:
 Ye beth a clarke;—go serchynne well my boke,
 Yf any women ben so light to wynne: 951
 Nay, abide a while, thogh ye were alle my kynne.

‘So sone ye may not wynne myne harte, in trowth
 The guyse of courte wille sene youre stedfastnesse,
 And as ye done, to have upon you routh.
 Youre owen deserte, and lowly gentilnesse,
 That wille rewarde you joy for hevynesse;
 And thogh ye waxen pale, and grene and dede
 Ye most it use a while, withouten drede,

‘And it accept and grucchen in no wise; 960
 But where as ye me hastily desire
 Fo bene to love, me thynke ye be not wise.
 Cease of your language! cease I you require!
 For he that hath this twenty yere bene here

May not obtaine ; than marveile I that ye
Be nowe so bold, of love to trete with me.'

' A ! mercy, hart, my lady and my love,
My rightwise princessse and my lives guyde !
Nowe may I playne to Venus all above,
That rewthles ye me gife this wounde wide ! 970
Whate have I done ? why may it not betide,
That for my trowth I may receeyved be ?
Allas ! thanne youre daunger and your crueltie !

' In wofull howre I gote was, welaway !
In wofull oure fostered and ifedde,
In wofull oure iborne, that I ne may
My supplicacion swetely have ispedde !
The frosty grave and cold must be my bedde,
Withoute ye list youre grace and mercy shewe,
Deth with his axe so faste on me doth hewe. 980

' So grete disease and in so litell while,
So littel joy that felte I never yet ;
And at my wo Fortune gynnyth to smyle,
That never arst I felte so harde a fitte :
Confounded ben my spritis and my witte,
Tylle that my lady take me to her cure,
Which I love best of erthely creature.

' But that I like, that may I not come by ;
Of that I playn, that have I habondaunce ;
Sorowe and thought, thay sitte me wounder nye ;
Me is withholdde that myght be my plesaunce : 991
Yet turne agayn, my worldly suffisaunce !
O lady bright ! and sauf your feithfull true,
And ar I dye yit ones upon me rewe.'

With that I fell in swounde and dede as stone,
 With coloure slayn and wanne as asshen pale;
 And by the hande she caught me up anon,
 ‘Aryse anon,’ quod she, ‘whate? have ye dronken
 dwale?’

Why slepen ye? it is no nyghtirtale.
 ‘Now merey swete,’ quod I, iwis affraied: 1000
 ‘Whate thyng,’ quod she, ‘hath made you so dys-
 mayed?’

‘Now wote I well that ye a lover be,
 Youre hewe is witnesse in this thyng,’ she seide:
 ‘If ye were secrete, ye mighte knowe,’ quod she,
 ‘Curteise and kynde, al this shulde be aleyde:
 And now, myne harte! all that I have missaid,
 I shall amend and sette youre harte in ease.’
 ‘That worde it is,’ quod I, ‘that doth me please.’

‘But this I charge, that ye the statutes kepe,
 And breke hem not for slouth nor ignoraunce.’ 1010
 With that she gan to smyle and laughen depe,
 ‘Iwis,’ quod I, ‘I wille do youre plesaunce,
 The sixteenth statute doth me grete grevaunce.
 But ye most that relese or modifie.’
 ‘I graunte,’ quod she, ‘and so I wille truly.’

And softly thanne her coloure gan appeire,
 As rose so rede, throughoute her visage alle,
 Wherefore me thynke it is accordyng here,
 That she of right be cleped Rosyall.
 Thus have I wonne, with wordes grete and small,
 Some godely worde of hir that I love beste, 1021
 And trust she shall yit sette myne harte in rest.

‘GOTH on,’ she seid to Philobone, ‘and take
 This man with you, and lede hym all abowte
 Withynne the courte, and shewe hym, for my sake,
 Whate lovers dwelle withynne, and alle the rowte
 Of officers him shewe, for he is, oute of dowte,
 A straunger yit :’—‘Come on,’ quod Philobone,
 ‘Philogenet, with me now must ye gon.’

And stalyng soft with easy pase, I sawe, 1030
 Aboute the kyng stonden environ,
 Attendaunce, Diligence, and their felawe
 Fortherer, Esperaunce, and many one ;
 Dred-to-offende there stode, and not alone ;
 For there was eek the cruel adversaire,
 The lovers foe, that eleped is Dispaire ;

Which unto me spak angrely and felle,
 And seid, my lady me dysseyve ne shalle :
 ‘Trowest thowe,’ quod she, ‘that all that she did telle,

Ys true ? · Nay, nay, but under hony galle. 1040
 Thy birth and hirs they be nothing egalle :
 Caste of thyne harte, for alle her wordes white,
 For in gode faith she lovith the but a lite.

‘And eke remember thyne habilité
 May not compare with hir, this well thowe wote.’
 Ye, than came Hope and seid, ‘My frende let be !
 Beleve hym not : Despaire he gynneth dote.’
 ‘Alas !’ quod I, ‘here is both cold and hote :
 The tone me biddeth love, the toder naye,
 Thus wote I not whate me is best to saye. 1050

‘But well wote I, my lady grauntede me,
 Truly to be my woundes remedye ;

Her gentillesse may not infected be
 With doblenes, thus trust I till I dye.'
 So cast I voide Despaires companye,
 And taken Hope to counceel and to frende.
 'Ye, kepe that wele,' quod Philobone, 'in mynde.'

And there beside, withyn a bay wyndowe,
 Stode one in grene, ful large of brede and length,
 His berd as blak as fethers of the crowe ; 10:0
 His name was Lust, of wounder might and strength ;
 And with Delite to argue there he thynketh,
 For this was alle his opynyon,
 That love was synne : and so he hath begonne

To reasone faste, and legge auctorité :
 'Nay,' quod Delite, 'love is a vertue clere,
 And from the soule his progresse holdeth he :
 Blynd appytyte of lust doth often stirre,
 And that is synne : for reason lakketh there,
 For thowe dost thinke thi neighbours wife to wynne :
 Yit thinke it well that love may not be synne ; 1071

'For God, and saint, thay love right verely,
 Voide of al synne and vise : this knowe I wele,
 Affeccion of flessh is synne truly ;
 But verray love is vertue, as I fele,
 For verray love may thy freyle desire akkele :
 For verray love is love withouten synne.'
 'Nowe stynte,' quod Lust, 'thow spekest not worth a pynne.'

And there I left hem in here arguyng,
 Romyng ferther in the castell wide, 1080

And in a corner Lier stode talkyng
 Of lesinges faste, with Flatery there beside;
 He seid that women were attire of pride,
 And men were founde of nature variaunte,
 And coude be false and shewen beawe semblaunt.

Then Flatery bespake and seid, iwis:
 ‘Se, so she goth on patens faire and fete,
 Hit doth right wele: whate prety man is this
 That rometh her? nowe truly drynke ne mete
 Nede I not have, mine herte for joye doth bete
 Hym to beholde, so is he godely fressh: 1091
 It semeth for love his harte is tender nessh.’

This is the courte of lusty folke and gladde,
 And wel becometh here abite and arraye:
 O why be som so sory and so sadde,
 Complaynyng thus in blak and white and graye?
 Freres thay ben, and monkes, in gode faye:
 Alas, for rewth! grete dole it is to sene,
 To se hem thus bewaile and sory bene.

Se howe thei erylde and wryng here handes white,
 For thei so sone wente to religion! 1101
 And eke the nonnes with vaile and wymple plight,
Here thought is, thei ben in confusion:
 ‘Alas,’ thay sayn, ‘we fayne perfeecion,
 In clothes wide, and lake oure libertie;
 But all the synne mote on oure frendes be.

‘For, Venus wote, we wold as fayne as ye,
 That ben attired here and wel besene,
 Desiren man and love in oure degree,
 Ferme and feithfull right as wolde the quene: 1110

Oure frendes wikke, in tender youth and grene,
 Ayenst oure wille made us religious ;
 That is the cause we morne and waylen thus.'

Than seide the monkes and freres in the tide,
 ' Well may we course oure abbeyes and our place,
 Our statutes sharpe to syng in copes wide,
 Chastly to kepe us oute of loves grace,
 And nevere to fele comforte ne solace ;
 Yet suffere we the hete of loves fire,
 And aftir that som other happily we desire. 1120

' O Fortune cursed, why nowe and wherefore
 Hast thowe,' thay seide, ' bereft us libartie,
 Sith nature yave us instrument in store,
 And appetite to love and lovers be ?
 Why mote we suffere suche adversité,
 Dyane to serve, and Venus to refuse ?
 Full often sithe these matiers doth us muse.

' We serve and honoure, sore ayenst oure wille,
 Of chastité the goddes and the quene ;
 Us lefer were with Venus biden stille, 1130
 And have reward for love, and soget bene
 Unto these women courtely, fressh, and shene.
 Fortune, we curse thi whele of variaunce !
 There we were wele thou revist our plesaunce.'

Thus leve I hem, with voice of pleint and care,
 In ragyng woo crying full petiously ;
 And as I yede, full naked and full bare
 Some I beholde, lokyng dispiteously
 On poverté, that dedely castø here ye ;

And 'Welaway!' thei cried, and were not fayne,
For they ne myght here glad desire attayne. 1141

For lak of richesse worldely and of goode,
Thay banne and curse, and wepe, and seyn, 'Allas,
That poverté hath us hent that whilom stode
At hartis eas, and fre and in gode ease!
But now we dare not shew our-self in place,
Ne us embolde to dwelle in company,
There as oure harte wolde love right faithfully.'

And yet agaynewarde shryked every nonne,
The pange of love so strayneth hem to crye: 1150
'Nowe woo the tyme,' quod thay, 'that we be bounne!

This hatefull ordre nyse will done us dye!
We sigh and sobbe, and bleden inwardly,
Fretyng oure self with thought and hard complaynt,
Than ney for love we waxen wode and faynt.'

And as I stode beholdyng here and there,
I was ware of a sorte full languysshying,
Savage and wilde of loking and of chere,
Here mantaylles and here clothes aye teryng;
And ofte thay were of nature complaynyng, 1160
For they here membres lakked, fote and hande,
With visage wry, and blynde, I understande.

Thay lakkede shap, and beautie to preferre
Hem self in love: and seid that God and Kynde
Hath forged hem to worshipping the sterre,
Venus the bright, and leften all behynde
His other werkes elene and oute of mynde:

‘For other have here full shape and bewtie,
And we,’ quod thay, ‘ben in deformyté.’

And nye to hem there was a companye, 1170
That have the susters waried and mysseid,
I mene the thre of fatall destyne,
That be our wordes: and sone in a brayde,
Oute gan thay crye as thay hadde been afrayed,
‘We curse,’ quod thay, ‘that ever hath nature,
Iformed us this wofull life to endure.’

And there was Contrite, and gan him repente,
Confessyng hole the wounde that Citheré
Hath with the darte of hote desire hym sent,
And howe that he to love muste subyet be: 1180
Thanne held he all his skornes vanyté,
And seide that lovers lede a blisfull life,
Yonge men and old, and widue, maide and wife.

‘Bereve me, Goddesse,’ quod he, ‘of thy myght,
My skornes all and skoffes, that I have
No power for to mokken any wight,
That in thy service dwelle: for I dide rave:
This knowe I welle right nowe, so God me save,
And I shal be the chefe post of thy feith,
And love upholde, the rovers who-so seith.’ 1190

Dissemble stode not ferre from hym in trouthe,
With party mantill, party hode and hose;
And seid he had upon his lady rowth,
And thus he wounde hym in, and gan to glose
Of his entent ful doble, I suppose:
In all the world he seid he lovid her wele;
But ay me thoughte he loved hir nere a dele.

Eke Shamefastnesse was there, as I toke hede,
 That blusshed rede, and darst nat ben aknowe
 She lover was, for thereof hadde she drede ; 1206
 She stode and hyng her visage downe alowe ;
 But suche a sight it was to sene, I trowe,
 As for thise roses rody on here stalke :
 There cowde no wight her spy to speke or talke

In loves arte, so gan she to abasshe,
 Ne durste not utter al her privité :
 Many a stripe and many a grievouse lasshe
 She gaven to hem that wolden lovers be,
 And hindered sore the sympill comonaltie,
 That in no wise durste grace and merey crave,
 For were not she, thei nede but aske and have ; 1211

Where yf thay nowe approachyn for to speke,
 Thanne Shamefastnesse returnyth hem agayn :
 Thay thynke, if we oure secrete counsell breke,
 Our ladys wille have scorne on us eerten,
 And paraventure thynken grete disdayne :
 Thus Shamefastnesse may bryngyn in dispeire,
 When she is dede the toder will be heire.

Come forth Avaunter ! nowe I rynge thy belle !
 I spied hym sone ; to God I make avowe, 1 20
 He lokede blak as fendes doth in Helle :—
 ‘ The first,’ quod he, ‘ that ever I dide wowe,
 Withynne a worde she com, I wotte not howe
 So that in armes was my lady fre,
 And so hath ben a thousand mo than she.

‘ In Englund, Bretayn, Spain, and Pycardie,
 Artoys, and Fraunce, and up in hie Holande,

In Burgoyne, Naples, and Italy,
 Naverne, and Grece, and up in hethen londe,
 Was never woman yit that wolde withstonde, 1230
 To ben at myne commaundenment whan I wolde:
 I lakkede neither silver coyne ne golde.

‘And there I met with this estate and that;
 And here I broehed, her, and here, I trowe:
 Lo! there goith one of myne; and wotte ye whate?
 Yonne fressh attired have I leyde ful lowe;
 And suehe one yonder eke right well I knowe:
 I kepte the statute whan we lay ifere;
 And yet yon same hath made me right goode chere.’

Thus hath Avaunter blowen every where 1240
 Al that he knowith, and more a thousand folde;
 His ancestry of kynne was to Liere,
 For firste he makith promyse for to holde
 His ladys counsell, and it not unfolde;
 Wherefore, the secrete when he doth unshutte,
 That lieth he, that all the world may witte.

For falsing so his promyse and beheste,
 I wounder sore he hath suehe fantasie;
 He lakketh witte, I trowe, or is a beste,
 That canne no bette hymself with reason guye.
 Be myne advice, Love shall be contrarie 1251
 To his avayle, and hym eke dishonoure,
 So that in courte he shall no more sojoure.

‘Tak hede,’ quod she, this litell Philobone,
 ‘Where Envy rokketh in the corner yonde,
 And sitteth dirke; and ye shalle see anon
 His lene bodie, fading face and honde,

Hymself he fretteth, as I understonde,
 Witnes of Ovide methamorphosoe,
 The lovers foo he is, I will not gloose. 1260

‘For where a lover thinketh him promote,
 Envy will grueche, repynnyng at his wele;
 It swelleth sore aboute his hartes rote,
 That in no wise he canne-not live in hele;
 And yf the feithfull to his lady stele,
 Envy will noyse and ryng it rounde aboute,
 And seye much worse than done is, oute of dowte.’

And Prevy Thought, rejoycing of hym-self,
 Stode not ferre thens in abite mervelous;
 ‘Yonne is,’ thought I, ‘som sprite or som elf, 1270
 His sotill image is so curious:
 Howe is,’ quod I, ‘that he is shaded thus
 With yonder cloth, I note of whate coloure?’
 And nere I went and gan to lere and pore,

And frayned him a question full harde.
 ‘What is,’ quod I, ‘the thyng thou lovest beste?
 Or whate is bote unto thy paynes harde?
 Me think thou liveste here in grete unreste,
 Thowe wandrest ay from south to est and weste,
 And est to north; as ferre as I canne see, 1280
 There is no place in courte may holden the.

‘Whom folowest thowe? where is thy harte iset?’
 But my demaunde asoile I thee require.’
 ‘Me thoughte,’ quod he, ‘no creature may lette
Me to ben here, and where as I desire:
 For where as absence hath done oute the fire,

My mery thought it kyndelith yet agayn,
That bodely me thinke with my souverayne

‘ I stand and speke, and laugh, and kisse, and halse,
So that my thought comforteth me ful ofte: 1290
I think, God wot, though all the world be false,
I wille be trewe; I think also howe softe
My lady is in speche, and this on lofte
Bryngeth myne harte in joye and grete gladnesse;
This prevey thought alayeth myne hevynesse.

‘ And whate I thinke or where to be, no man
In all this erth can tell, iwis, but I:
And eke there nys no swalowe swifte, ne swan
So wight of wyng, ne half so yerne can flye;
For I canne ben, and that right sodenly, 1300
In Heven, in Helle, in Paradise, and here,
And with my laday, whan I wylle desire.

‘ I am of councell ferre and wide, I wote,
With lord and lady, and here privité
I wotte it all; and be it cold or hoote,
Thay shalle not speke withouten licence of me.
I mene, in suche as sesonable bee,
For first the thing is thought withynne the harte.
Er any worde oute from the mouth astarte.’

And with that worde Thought bad farewell and yeede: 1310

Eke furth went I to sene the cortis guyse,
And at the dore came in, so God me spede,
Twenty courteours of age and of assise
Liche high, and broad, and, as I me advise

The Golden Love, and Leden Love thay hight:
The tone was sad, the toder glad and light.

Yis! drawe youre harte, with all your force and myght,
To lustynesse and bene as ye have seid;
And thinke that I no drope of favour hight,
Ne never hade unto youre desire obeide, 1320
Tille sodenly me thoughte me was affrayed,
To sene you waxe so dede of countenaunce,
And Pité bade me done you som pleasaunce.

‘ Oute of her shryne she rose from dethe to live,
And in myne ere full prively she spake,
‘ Doth not youre servaunte hens away to drive,
Rosiall,’ quod she; ‘ and than myn harte brak,
For tenderreiche: and where I founde moche lake
In youre persoune, than I me self bethoughte,
And seide, this is the man myne harte hath sought.’

‘ Gramerey, Pité! might I but suffice 1331
To yeve due lawde unto thy shryne of gold,
God wotte I wolde: for sith that thou dide rise
From deth to live for me, I am beholde
To thanken you a thousand tymes told,
And eke my lady Rosyall the shene,
Which hath in comforte set myne harte, I wene.

‘ And here I make myne protestacion,
And depely swere, as myne power, to bene
Feithful, devoide of variaicion, 1340
And here forbere in anger or in tene,
And serviceable to my worldes quene,

With all my reason and intelligence,
To done her honoure high and reverence.'

I hadde not spoke so sone the word, but she,
My souverayne, dyde thanke me hartily,
And seid, ' Abide, ye shal dwelle stille with me
Tylle season come of May, for than truly,
The Kyng of Love and all his company
Shalle hold his feste full ryally and welle;' 1350
And there I bode till that the sesone felle.

ON May day, when the larke began to ryse,
To matens wente the lusty nightingale
Withyn a temple shapen hawthorne-wise;
He myghte not slepe in al the nyghtertale,
But 'Domine labia,' gan he erye and gale,
' My lippes open, Lord of Love, I erye,
And let my mouth thi preysing now bewrye.'

The egle sang 'Venite bodies alle,
And let us joye to love that is oure helth.' 1360
And to the deske anon thay gan to falle,
And who came late he preeed in by stelth:
Than seide the faweon, oure owen hartis welth,
' Domine Dominus noster I wot,
Ye be the God that done us brenne thus hote.'

' Cæli enarrant,' seide the popyngay,
' Youre myght is told in Heaven and firmament.'
And than came inne the goldfynch fresh and gay,
And seid this psalm with hartily glad intent,
' Domini est terra;' this laten intent, 1370

The God of Love hath erth in governaunce :
And then the wren gan skippen and to daunce .

‘ Jube Domne O Lorde of Love, I praye
Commande me wel this lesson for to rede ;
This legend is alle that wolden deye
Marters for love ; God yif here sowles spede !
And to the Venus singe we, oute of drede,
By influence of all thy vertue greate,
Beseehyng the to kepe us in oure hete.’

The seconde lesson robyn redebreste sang, 138c
‘ Haile to the God and Goddesse of oure lay !’
And to the lectorn amorysly he sprong :—
‘ Haile eke,’ quod he, ‘ O fresshe season of May,
Oure moneth glad that syngen on the spray !
Haile to the floures, red, and white, and blewe,
Which by here vertue maketh oure lustes newe !’

The thridde lesson the turtill-dove toke up,
And therat lough the mavis in a scorn :
He seid, ‘ O God, as mut I dyene or suppe,
This folissh dove wille gife us al an horne ! 1390
There ben right here a thousand better borne,
To rede this lesson, which as welle as he,
And eke as hote, can love in all degree.

The turtylle dove seide, ‘ Welcom, welcom May,
Gladsom and light to lovers that ben trewe !
I thanke the Lord of Love that doth purveye
For me to rede this lesson al of dewe ;
For in gode south of corage I pursue

To serve my make till deth us moste departe :
 And than ‘ Tu autem ’ sang he all aparte. 1400

‘ Te deum amoris ’ sang the thrustell-cok :
 Tuball hymself, the firste musician,
 With key of armony coude not unloke
 So swete tewne as that the thrustill can :
 ‘ The Lord of Love we praysen,’ quod he than,
 And so done alle the foules grete and lite,
 ‘ Honoure we May, in false lovers dispite.’

‘ Dominus regnavit,’ seide the pecock there,
 ‘ The Lord of Love that myghty prynee, iwis,
 He hath receyved here and every where : 1410
 Nowe Jubilate syng :’—‘ Whate meneth this ?’
 Seid than the lynnette, ‘ welecom, Lord of blisse !’
 Oute sterte the owl with ‘ Benedicite,’ ‘ Whate meneth all this mery fare ?’ quod he.

‘ Laudate,’ sang the larke with voice ful shrille ;
 And eke the kite ‘ O admirabile ;
 This quere wil throwe myne cris pers and thrille ;
 But whate ? welcom this May season,’ quod he ;
 ‘ And honoure to the Lord of Love mot be,
 That hath this feeste so solempne and so high :’
 ‘ Amen,’ seid alle, and so seid eke the pyc. 1421

And furth the cokkowe gan procede anon,
 With ‘ Benedictus ’ thankyng God in hast,
 That in this May wold visite hem echon,
 And gladden hem all while the feste shall leste :
 And therewithal a loughter oute he braste,
 ‘ I thanke it God that I shuld ende the song,
 And all the service which hath ben so long.’

Thus sange thay all the service of the feste,
 And that was done right erly, to my dome; 1430
 And furthgoith all the eourte bothe moste and leste,
 To feche the floures fressh, and braunche and blome;
 And namly hawthorn brought both page and grome,
 With fresshe garlantis partie blewe and white,
 And hem rejoyssen in here grete delite.

Eke eche at other threwe the floures brighte,
 The prymerose, the violet, and the golde;
 So than, as I beheld the riall sighte,
 My lady gan me sodenly beholde,
 And with a trewe love, plited many-folde, 1440
 She smote me through the very harte as blive,
 And Venus yet I thanke I am alive.

EXPLICIT.

THE PARLEMENT OF BRIDDES, OR THE ASSEMBLY OF FOULES.

HHE lyf so short, the crafte so longe to lerne,
Thassay so harde, so sharpe the con-
querynge,
The slyder joy, that alwey slyd so yerne ;
Al this meene I be love, that my felynge
Astonyeth soo with a dredeful worchyng
So soore ywys, that whan I on hym thynke,
Nat wote I wel wher that I wake or wynke.

For al be that I knowe not Love in dede,
Ne wote how that he quytesth folke her hire,
Yet hapeth me in bookes ofte to rede 10
Of hys miracles, and of hys ernelle yre ;
There rede I wel, he wol be lorde and sire :
Dar I not seyn hys strokes ben so sore ;
But God save suche a lorde ! I kan no more.

Of usage olde, what for luste, what for lore,
On bookes rede I ofte, as I yow tolde.
But why that I speke al this ? Not yore
Agon, hit happed me for to beholde
Upon a booke was write wyth lettres olde ;

And therupon, a certeyne thing to lerne, 20
The longe day ful fast I rad and yerne.

For out of olde feldys, as men seyth,
Cometh al this newe corne fro yere to yere ;
And oute of olde bokes, in good feythe,
Cometh al thys newe science that men lere.
But now to purpose, of my firste matere :—
To rede forth hit gan me so delyte,
That al the day me thought hit but a lyte.

This booke, of which I now make mension,
Entitled was al there, I shal yow telle :— 30
'Tullius, of the dreame of the Scipion :'
Chapitres hyt had seven, of Hevene and Helle,
And erthe, and of soules that therynne duelle,
Of which, as shortly, as I kan it trete
Of his sentence I wol yow telle the grete.

First telleth hyt, whan Scipion was come
Into Aufryke, how he mette Massynysse,
That hym for joy in armes hath ynome.
Than telleth he hir speche and al the blysse,
That was betwixt hem til the day gan mysse ; 40
And how his auncestre, Aufrikan so dere,
Gan on his slepe that nyght to hym appere.

Than tolde he hym, that, fro a sterry place,
How Aufrikan hath hym Cartage yshewed,
And warned hym before of al hys grace,
And seyde hym, what man, lered or lewede,
That loveth comune profyt, wel ythewede,
He shal unto a blysfyl place wende,
There the joy is that lasteth without ende.

Than asked he, yf the folke that here be dede 50
 Have lyfe, and dwellynge in another place?
 And Aufrikan seyde, Ye, withoute drede:
 And that oure present worldes lyves space,
 Meneth but a maner dethe, what wey we trace;
 And ryghtfull folke shul goo whan that they die
 To Hevene; and shewed hym the Galoxye.

Than shewede he hym the lytele erthe that here is,
 At regarde of Hevenes quantyté;
 And aftir shewed hym the nyne speris;
 And aftir that the melodye herd he, 60
 That cometh of thilke speres thries thre,
 That welleys of musyke ben and melodye
 In this worlde here, and cause of armonye.

Than bad he hym, secthe Erthe was here so lite,
 And fulle of turment, and of harde grace,
 That he ne shuld hym in the world delyte.
 Than tolde he hym, in certeyne yeres space,
 That every sterre shulde come into his place,
 There hit was first; and al shal out of mynde,
 That in this worlde was doon of al mankynde. 70

Than prayed he Scipion telle hym alle
 The wey to come unto that Hevene blysse:
 And he seyde: 'Knowe thy selfe firste immortalle,
 And loke ay besely thou werke and wysse
 To comune profyte, and thou shalt never mysse
 To come swiftly unto that place dere,
 That ful of blysse ys, and of soules clere.

'But brekers of the lawe, soth for to seyne,
 And lecherous folke, after that they be dede,

Shul alwey whirle aboute therthe in peyne, 80
 Til many a worlde be passed, out of drede ;
 And than foryeven hem al hir wikked dede,
 Than shul they come unto that blysfyl place,
 To which to come God sende ech lover grace.'

The day gan failen, and the derke nyght,
 That reveth bestes from her besynesse,
 Berefte me my boke for lake of lyght,
 And to my bed I gan me for to dresse,
 Fulfilled of thought and besy hevynesse ;
 For bothe I hadde thinge which that I nolde, 90
 And eke I ne hadde thyng that I wolde.

But fynally my spiryte at the laste
 For-wery of my labour al the day,
 Tooke rest, that made me to slepe faste ;
 And in my slepe I mette, as that I lay,
 How Aufrikan, ryght in that selfe aray
 That Scipion hym sawe before that tyde,
 Was comen, and stooode ryght at my beddys side.

The wery hunter slepyng in hys bed,
 To woode ayeine hys mynde gooth anoon ; 100
 The juge dremeth how hys plees ben sped ;
 The cartar dremeth how his cartes goone ;
 The ryche of golde, the knyght fyght with his fone ;
 The seke meteth he drynketh of the tonne ;
 The lover meteth he hath hys lady wonne.

Can not I seyne yf that the cause were,
 For I redde had of Aufrikan beforne,
 That made me to mete that he stood there ;

But thus seyde he : ‘ Thou hast the so wel borne
 In lokynge of myn olde booke al to-torne, 110
 Of which Macrobye roght noght a lyte,
 That somedel of thy labour wolde I the quyte.’

Cytherea, thou blysfyl lady swete !
 That with thy fry bronde dauntest whom the lest,
 And madest me thys swevene for to mete,
 Be thou my helpe in this, for thou maist best !
 As wisly as I sawe the northe northe west,
 When I beganne my swevene for to write,
 So yeve me myght to ryme and to endyte.

This forsejde Aufrikan me hent anoone, 120
 And forthwith hym unto a gate me broghte
 Ryght of a parke, walled with grene stoone ;
 And over the gate, with letres large ywroght,
 There were verses writen, as me thoghte,
 On eyther halfe, of ful grete difference,
 Of whiche I shal yow seye the pleyne sentence : —

‘ Thorgh me men goon into that blysfyl place,
 Of hertes hele and dedely woundes cure ;
 Thorgh me men goon unto the welle of grace,
 There grene and lusty May shal ever endure ; 130
 This is the way to al good aventure ;
 Be glad, thou reder, and thy sorwe of caste ;
 Al open am I, passe in and hye the faste.’

‘ Thorgh me men goon,’ thanne spake that other side,
 ‘ Unto the mortale strokes of the spere,
 Of which disdayne and daunger is the gyde,
 There tree shal never frute ne leves bere ;
 This streme yow ledeth unto the sorwful were,

There as the fyssh in prisoun is al drye ;
 Theschewing ys only the remedye.' 140

These verses of golde and blake ywryten were,
 Of which I gan astoundede to beholde ;
 For with that oon encreased ay my fere,
 And with that other gan myn hert to bolde ;
 That oon me hette, that other dide me colde ;
 No wytte had I, for errour, for to chese,
 To entre or flee, or me to save or lese.

Ryght as betwix adamauntes twoo
 Of evene wyght, a peece of iren ysette
 Ne hath no myght to meve to nor fro ; 150
 For what that one may hale that other lette :
 So ferde I, that I ne wiste wher that me was bette
 To entre or leve, til Aufrikan, my gyde,
 Me hente and shoofe in at the gates wyde.

And seyde, ' Hyt stondesth writen in thy face,
 Thyn errour, though thou telle hyt not me ;
 But drede the not to come into this place ;
 For this writyngge ys nothing ment be the,
 Ne be noon but he Loves servant be ;
 For thou of love hast lost thy taste, y gesse, 160
 As seke man hath of swete and bitternesse.

' But natheles, although that thou be dulle,
 That thou canst not do, yet thou maist hyt se ;
 For many a man that may not stonde a pulle,
 Yet lyketh hym at the wrastelyngge to be,
 And demeth yit, whethir he do bet, or he ;
 And, yf thou haddest kunnyngge for to endite.
 I sbal the shewen mater of to wryte.'

And with that my honde in hys he toke anoon,
 Of which I comfort kaught, and went in faste. 170
 But Lorde ! so I was glad and wel begoon !
 For over al, where I myn eyen easte,
 Weren trees claad with levys that ay shal laste,
 Eche in his kynde, with coloure fressh and grene
 As emerawde, that joy was for to sene.

The bylder oke, and eke the hardy asshe,
 The peler elme, the cofre unto careyne,
 The box pipe tree, holme to whippes lasshe,
 The saylynge firre, the eipresse deth to pleyne,
 The sheter ewe, the aspe for shaftes pleyne, 180
 The olyve of pes, and eke the drunken vyne,
 The victor palme, the laurere, to, devyne.

A gardyn sawh I ful of blossomed bowis,
 Upon a ryver, in a grene mede,
 There as swetnes evermor ynowh is,
 With floures white, blew, yelow, and rede,
 And colde welle stremes, nothings dede,
 And swymmynge ful of smale fisshes lyghte,
 With fynnes rede, and scales sylver bryghte.

On every bowgh the briddes herde I synge, 190
 With voys of aungel in her armony,
 That besyed hem her briddes forthe to brynge ;
 The lytel conyes to her pley gunnen hye ;
 And further abouten I gan espye,
 The dredful roo, the buk, the hert, and hynde,
 Squerels, and bestis smale, of gentil kynde.

On instrumentes of strynges in acorde
 Herde I so pley a ravysshinge swetnesse.

That God, that maker ys of al and Lorde,
 Ne herde never bettir, as I gesse: 200
 Therewith a wynde, unnethe hyt myghte lesse,
 Made in the leves grene a noyse softe,
 Accordant to the foulys songe on lofte.

The aire of that place so attempre was,
 That never was grevance therof hoot ne colde ·
 Ther growen eke every holsome spice and gras,
 Ne no man may there wexe seke ne olde:
 Yet was there more joy a thousande folde
 Than man kan telle, never wolde hyt nyght,
 But ay elere day, to any mannys syght. 210

Under a tree, besyde a welle, I say
 Cupide our lorde hys arwes forge and fyle;
 And at hys fete hys bowe alre dy lay;
 And welle hys doghtre tempred, al the while,
 The heddes in the welle; and with harde file
 She couched hem after, as they shulde serve
 Somme to slee, and somme to wounde and kerue.

Thoo was I war of Pleasaunce anon ryght,
 And of Array, and Lust, and Curtesye,
 And of the Crafte, that kan and hath the myght 220
 To doo be force a wyght to do folye:
 Dysfigured was she, I shal not lye:
 And by hym selfe, under an oke I gesse,
 Sawgh I Delyte, that stooede with Gentillesse.

Than sawgh I Beauté, with a nice atire,
 And Yowthe, ful of game and jolyté,
 Fool-hardynesse, Flatery, and Desire,
 Messagery, Mede, and other thre;

Her names shul nocht here be tolde for me :
 And upon pelers grete, of jasper longe, 230
 I sawgh a temple of glas ifounded stronge.

About the temple ther daunced alway
 Wommen ynow, of whiche somme there were
 Faire of hemself, and somme of hem were gay ;
 In kirtels al disshevele wente they there ;
 That was hir office alwey, fro yere to yere :
 And on the temple saugh I, white and faire,
 Of dowves white many a hundred paire.

Before the temple dore, ful soberly,
 Dame Pes sate, a curtyne in hir hande ; 240
 And hir beside, wonder discretly,
 Dame Pacience sittynge ther I fonde,
 With face pale, upon an hille of sonde ;
 And alder next, within and eke withoute,
 Behest and Arte, and of her folke a rowte.

Withynne the temple of syghes, hoothe as fire,
 I herde a swogh, that gan aboute renne ;
 Whiche syghes were engendred with desire,
 That maden every auter for to brenne
 Of newe flawme ; and wel aspyed I thenne, 250
 That al the cause of sorwes that they drye
 Come of the bitter goddysse Jalousye.

The god Priapus sawgh I as I wente
 Withynne the temple, in soverayne place, stonde
 In suche array, as whanne the asse hym shente
 With erie by nyght, and with his ceptre in honde .
 Ful besely men gunne assay and fonde,
 Upon his hede to sette, of sondry hewe,
 Garlondes fulle of fresshe floures newe.

And in a prevy corner, in disporte 260
 Fond I Venus and hir porter Rychesse,
 That was ful noble and hawteyn of hir porte ;
 Derke was that place, but, afterward, lyghtnesse
 I saugh a lyte, unnethe hyt myghte be lesse ;
 And on a bed of golde she lay to reste,
 Til that the hootte Sonne gan to weste.

Hir gilte heeres with a golde threde
 Ybounden were, untressed as she lay ;
 And naked fro the brest unto the hede
 Men myght hir see ; and, sothely for to saye, 270
 The remenant kovered wel, to my paye,
 Ryght with a subtil keverehefe of Valence ;
 There was no thikker clothe of defence.

The place yafe a thousande savours swoote,
 And Bacus, god of wyne, sate hir beside ;
 And Ceres next, that dooth of hunger boote ;
 And, as I seide, amyddes lay Cupide,
 To whom on knees the yonge folkes criede
 To ben hir helpe ; but thus I lete hir lye,
 And ferther in the temple I gan espye, 280

That, in dyspite of Diané the chaste,
 Ful many a bowe ybroke henge on the walle,
 Of maydens, suche as gonne hyr times waste
 In hir servise : and peynted over alle,
 Of many a storye, of which I touche shalle
 A fewe, as of Calixte, and Athalante,
 And many a mayde, of which the name I wante.

Semyramus, Candace, and Ercules,
 Biblys, Dido, Tesbe, and Pirus,

Tristram, Isoude, Paris, and Achilles, 290
 Eleyne, Cleopatre, and Troylus,
 Silla, and eke the moder of Romulus:—
 Alle these were peynted on that other syde,
 And al her lovo, and in what plite they dide.

Whan I was comen ayen into that place
 That I of spake, that was so swoote and grene,
 Forth welke I thoo my selven to solace:
 Tho was I war, where ther sate a quene,
 That, as of lyght the somer sonne shene
 Passeth the sterres, ryght so over mesure, 300
 She fairer was than any creature.

And in a launde, upon an hille of floures,
 Was sette this noble goddessse Nature;
 Of braunches were hir halles and hir boures
 Ywrought, aftir hir crafte and hir mesure;
 Ne ther nas foule that cometh of engendrure,
 That there ne were prest, in hir presence,
 To take hir dome, and yeve hir audience.

For this was on seynt Valentynes day,
 Whan every foule cometh there to chese his make, 310
 Of every kynde that menne thynke may;
 And that so huge a noyse ganne they make,
 That erthe, and see, and tree, and every lake,
 So ful was, that unnethe was ther space
 For me to stonde, so ful was al the place.

And ryght as Alayne, in the Pleynt of Kynde,
 Devyseth Nature of suche array and face;
 In suche array men myght hir there yfynde.

This noble emperesse, ful of alle grace,
 Bad every foule to take her oune place, 320
 As they were wont alwey, fro yere to yere,
 Seynt Valentynes day to stonden there.

That ys to seye, the fowles of ravyne
 Were hyst sette ; and than the foules smale,
 That eten, as that nature wolde enclyne,
 As worme or thyng, of whiche I telle no tale ;
 But watir foule sate lowest in the dale,
 And foule, that lyveth by seede, sate on the grone,
 And that so fele, that wonder was to sene.

There myghte men the royal egle fynde, 330
 That with his sharpe looke pereeth the Sonne ;
 And other egles of a lower kynde,
 Of which that clerkes wel devysen konne ;
 There was the tiraunt with his fethres donne
 And grey, I mene the goshauke that doth pyne
 To briddes, for his outrageous ravyne.

The gentil faoucune, that with his fete distreyneth
 The kynges honde ; the hardy sperhauke eke,
 The quayles foo ; the merlyon that peyneth
 Hymself ful ofte the larke for to seke ; 340
 There was the dowve, with hir eyen meke ;
 The jalouse swanne, ayens hys deth that syngeth ;
 The owle eke, that of dethe the bode bryngeth.

The crane, the geaunte, with his trompes soun :
 The thefe the choghe, and eke the janglynge pye ;
 The scornynge jay, the eles foo the heroune ;
 The false lapwyng, ful of trecherye ;

The stare, that the counseyle kan bewrye ;
 The tame ruddok, and the eowarde kyte ;
 The cok, that orlogge ys of thropes lyte. 350

The sparrow, Venus' sone, and the nyghtyngale
 That elepeth forth the fresshe leues newe ;
 The swallow, mordrer of the bees smale,
 That maken hony of floures fressh of hewe ;
 The wedded turtel, with hys herte trewe ;
 The pecok, with his aungels fethers bryghte ;
 The fesaunt, scorner of the eok be nyghte.

The waker goos, the eukkow ever unkynde,
 The papinjay, ful of delyeaeye ;
 The drake, stroyer of hys owne kynde ; 360
 The storke, wreker of avowtrie ;
 Tho hooete cormeraunte, ful of glotonye ;
 The ravenes and the crows, with her voys of care ;
 The throstel olde, and the frosty feldefare.

What shulde I seyn ? Of foules every kynde,
 That in this worlde han fetheres and stature,
 Men myghte in that place assembled fynde,
 Before that noble goddess of Nature ;
 And eche of hem did hys besy eure
 Benyngly for to chese, or for to take, 370
 By hir accorde, hys formel or hys make.

But to the poynte :—Nature helde on hir honde
 A formel egle, of shappe the gentileste
 That ever she amonge hir werkes fonde,
 The moste benigne, and cke the goodlyeste
 In hir was every vertu at his rest,

So ferforthe that Nature hir selfe hadde blysse,
To looke on hir and ofte hir beke to kysse.

Nature, the vyker of thalmyghty Lorde,
That hoot, colde, hevy, lyght, moiste, and drye, 380
Hath knyht, by evene noubre of accorde,
In esy vois, began to speke and seye,
' Foules take hede of my sentence I preye ;
And for youre ease, in furtheryng of youre nede,
As faste as I may speke I wol me spede.

' Ye knowe wel how on Seynt Valentynes day,
Be my statute, and thorgh my governaunce,
Ye come for to ehese and flee your way
With youre makes, as I prik yow with plesaunce ;
But natheles, my ryghtful governaunce, 390
May I not lette, for al this worlde to wynne,
That he that moste ys worthy shal begynne.

' The tercel egel, as that ye knowen wele
The foule royal, aboven yow in degree,
The wyse and worthy, secré, trewe as stele,
The whiche I have formed, as ye may se,
In every parte, as hit best lyketh mee,—
Hyt nedeth nocht his shappe yow to devyse,—
He shal first chese, and speken in his gyse.

' And after hym, by order shul ye chese, 400
Aftir youre kynde, everyche as yow lyketh ;
And as youre happe ys, shul ye wynne or lesse ;
But which of yow that love moste entriketh,
God sende hym hyr, that sorest for hym syketh :—
And therewythalle the tercel gan she calle,
And seyde, ' My sone, the choys is to the falle.

‘ But natheles, in thys condicioun
 Mote be the choys of everych that ys here,
 That she agree to hys eleccioun,
 Who-so he be, that shulde ben hir fere ; 410
 This is oure usage alwey, fro yere to yere ;
 And who-so may at this tyme have hys grace,
 In blisful tyme he come into this place.’

With hed enclyned and with ful humble chere,
 This real tercel spake, and taried nocht :—
 ‘ Unto my sovereyne lady, and nocht my fere,
 I cheseand chesse, with wille, and hert, and thought,
 The formel on youre honde, so wel ywrought,
 Whos I am alle, and ever wol hir serve,
 Doo what hir lyste, to doo me lyve or sterve. 420

‘ Besechyng hir of mercy and of grace,
 As she that ys my lady sovereyne,
 Or let me dye here present in thys place,
 For certes longe may I not lyve in peyne,
 For in myn herte ys korven every veyne ;
 Havyngre rewarde oonly to my trouthe,
 My dere herte, have on my woo somme routh.

‘ And yf I be founde to hir untrewre,
 Disobeysaunt, or wilful negligent,
 Avauntour, or in processe love a newe, 430
 I pray to yow thys be my jugement,
 That with these foules Y be al to-rent,
 That ylke day that ever she me fynde
 To hir untrewre, or in my gylte unkynde.

‘ And syn that noon loveth hir so wel as I,
Althogh she never of love me behette

Than oght she be myn thorough hir merey,
 For other bonde kan I noon on hir knette:
 For never for no woo, ne shal I lette
 To serven hir, how ferre so that she wende: 440
 Sey what yow lyst, my tale ys at an ende.'

Ryght as the fresshe rede rose newe
 Ayene the somer sonne coloured ys;
 Ryght so, for shame, al wexen gan the hewe
 Of thys formel, whan she herde al thys;
 Neyther she answerde wel, ne seyde amys,
 So sore abashed was she; til that Nature
 Seyde 'Doghter drede yow nocht, I yow assure.'

Another tercel egle spake anoon 449
 Of lower kynde, and seyde that shulde not be:—
 'I love hir bet than ye do, by seynt Johan!
 Or atte lest I love hyr as wel as ye,
 And lenger have served hir in my degré;
 And yf she shulde have loved for long lovyng,
 To me allone hadde ben the guerdonyng.

'I dar eke seye, yf she me fynde fals,
 Unkynde jangler, or rebel in any wyse,
 Or jalouse, do me hongen by the hals;
 And but I bere me in hir servise
 As wel as my wytte kan me suffise, 460
 Fro poynt to poynt hir honour for to save,
 Take she my lyfe and al the good I have.'

The thirdd egle answerde thoo,
 'Now sirs, ye seen the lytel leyser here;
 For every foule eryeth out to ben agoo
 Forth with hys make, or with hys lady dere:

And eke Nature hir selfe ne wol nocht here,
 For taryinge here, nocht half that I wolde seye,
 And but I speke, I mote for sorwe deye.

‘ Of longe servise avaunte I me nothinge, 470
 But as possible ys me to dye to day
 For woo, as he that hath ben langwysshyng
 These twenty wynter, and wel happen may,
 A man may serven bette, and more to paye
 In halfe a year, although hyt were no more
 Than somme man dooth that hath served ful yore.

‘ I ne say not thys by me, for I ne kan
 Do no servise that may my lady plesse ;
 But I dar say I am hir trewest man,
 As to my dome, and faynest wolde hir plesse 480
 At shorte wordes, til that deth me sese,
 I wol ben hirse, whethir I wake or wynke,
 And trew in al that herte may bethynke.’

Of al my lyfe, syn that day I was borne,
 So gentil plee in love or other thinge,
 Ne herde never no man me beforne ;
 Who-so that hadde leyser and kunnyng
 For to rehersen hir chere and her spekyng :
 And from the morwe gan this speeche laste,
 Til downward wente the sonne wonder faste. 490

The noyse of foules for to ben delyvered
 So lowde ronge, ‘ Have doon and let us wende,’
 That wel wende I the woode had al to-shyvered :
 ‘ Come of!’ they eride, ‘ allas, ye wolle us shende !
 Whan shal youre cursed pledyng have an ende ?’

How shulde a juge eyther party leve,
For yee or nay, withouten any prove?’

The goos, the duk, and the eukkowe also,
So criden, ‘Kek, kek, Kukkow, Quek quek hye,’
That thorgh myn eres the noyse wente tho. 500
The goos seyde tho ‘Al thys nys worthe a flye!
But I kan shape herof a remedye,
And wol seye my veyrdit, faire and swythe,
For watir foule, whoso be wrothe or blythe.’

‘And I for worme foule,’ seyde the foole eukkowe;
‘For I wol, of myn oun auctorité,
For comune spede, take on me the charge nowe;
For to delyveren us, is grete charité.’
‘Ye may abyde a while yet pardé,’
Quod the turtel; ‘yf hyt be youre wille 510
A wyght may speke, hym were as good be stille.

‘I am a sede foule, oon the unworthieste,
That wot I wel, and lytel of kunnyng;
But better ys that a wightys tonge reste,
Than entremete hym of suche doynge
Of which he neyther rede kan nor syng;
And who-so hyt dothe, ful foule hymself aeloyeth,
For office uncommytted ofte anoyeth.’

Nature, which that alway had an ere
To murmour of the lewdenesse behynde, 520
With facoundvoys seyde, ‘Holde your tonges there,
And I shal soone, I hope, a counseyll fynde,
Yow for to delyveren, and from this noyse unbynde;

I juggle of every flocke ye shal one calle,
To seyne the veirdit of yow foules alle.'

Assented were to thys conclusyoun
The briddes alle: and the foules of ravyne
Han chosen first, by pleyne eleccioun,
The tercelet of the faucoun to dyffyne
Al her sentence, and as hym lyst to termyne; 530
And to Nature hym gonnen to presente,
And she accepteth hym with glad entente.

The tercelet seyde thanne in this manere:—
' Ful harde were hyt to preven hyt by resoun,
Who loveth best this gentil formel here;
For everych hath suche replicacioun,
That by skylles may non be broght adoun;
I kannot seen that argumentys avaylle,
Than semeth hit ther moste be bataylle.'

' Al redy!' quod these egles tercels thoo. 540
' Nay, sirs,' quod he, ' yf that I dorst hyt seye,
Ye doon me wrong, my tale ys not ydoo:
For sirs, taketh nought a-grefe, I praye,
Hyt may nought be as ye wolde, in thys weye:
Oures ys the voys that han the charge in honde,
And to the juges doome ye moten stonde.

' And therefore Pes! I seye. As to my witte,
Me wolde think, how that the worthieste
Of knyghthode, and lengest had used hitte,
Moste of estaate, of blode the gentyleste, 550
Were syttyng for hir, yf that hir leste;

And of these three she woote hir-selfe, I trowe,
Which that he be, for hyt is lyght to knowe.'

The watir foules han her hedes leyde
Togedir, and of shorte avysement,
Whan everych had hys large goler seyde,
They seyden sothely al by on assent,
How that the goos, with hir faucond gent,
That soo desireth to pronounee oure nede, 559
Shal telle oure tale, and preyde to God hir spede.

And for these watir foules tho began
The goos to speke, and in hir cakelynge.
She seyde, ' Pes now, take kepe every man,
And herkeneth which a resoun I shal forth bringe !
My wytte ys sharpe, I love no taryinge !
I sey Y rede hym, though he were my brother,
But she wol love hym, lat hym love another.'

' Loo ! here a parfyte resoun of a goos !'
Quod the sperhauke. ' Never mote she thee !
Loo, suche a thing hyt ys to have a tonge loos ! 570
Now pardé, foole, yet were hit bet for the
Have holde thy pes, than shewede thy nyceté ;
Hyt lyth not in hys wytte, nor in hys wille ;
But sooth ys seyde, a foole kan nocht be stille.'

The laughtre aroose of gentil foules alle,
And ryght anoone the sede foules chosen hadde
The turtel trewe, and ganne hir to hem calle ;
And prayden hir to seye the sothe sadde
Of thys matere, and asked what she radde.

And she ansuerde, that pleyntyly hyr entente 580
She wolde shewe, and sothely what she mente.

‘Nay, God forbede a lover shulde chaunge!’
The turtel seyde, and waxe for shame al rede:
‘Thogh that hys lady evermore be straunge,
Yet let hym serve hir ever, tyl he be dede.
Forsoth, I preyse nocht the gooses rede;
For thogh she deyed, I wolde noon other make;
I wol ben hirs til that the deth me take.’

‘Wel bourded,’ quod the duk, ‘by my hatte!
That men shulden alwey loven causeles, 590
Who kan a resoun fynde, or wytte in that?
Daunceth he murye that ys murtheles?
Who shulde rechche of that ys rechcheles?
Ye! quek yet,’ quod the duk, ‘ful wel and faire!
There ben moo sterres, God woot, than a paire.’

‘Now fye cherle!’ quod the gentil terelet,—
‘Out of the dunghille come that word ful ryght;
Thou kanst nocht see which thing is wel beset;
Thou farest be love as owles doon by lyght,— 595
The day hem blent, ful wel they see by nyght;
Thy kynde ys of so lowe a wrechednesse,
That what love is thou kanst neyther see ne gesse.’

Thoo gan the cuckow put hym forth in pres
For foule that eteth worme, and seyde blyve:—
‘So I,’ quod he, ‘may have my make in pes,
I ne reche not how longe that ye strive.
Lat ech of hem be soleyne al her lyve,

This ys my rede, syne they may not acorde ;
 This shorte lessoun nedeth nocht recorde.'

' Yee, have the glotoun filde ynogh hys paunche 610
 Thanne are we wel !' seyde the emerlyoun :—
 ' Thou mordrere of the haysogge on the braunche
 That broghte the forth ! thou rewfyl glotoun !
 Lyve thou soleyn, wormes corrupcioun !
 For no fors ys of lake of thy nature ;
 Goo, lewde be thou while the worlde may dure !'

' Now pes,' quod Nature, ' I commaunde here,
 For I have herde al youre opynyoun,
 And in effecte yet be we never the nere ;
 But fynally, this ys my conclusyoun,— 620
 That she hir selfe shal have hir eleccioun
 Of whom hir lyste, who-so be wrooth or blythe ;
 Hym that she cheest, he shal han hir as swithe.

' For syth hyt may not here diseussed be
 Who loveth hir best, as seyde the tereelet,
 Than wol I doon thys favour to hir, that she
 Shal have ryght hym on whom hir hert is sette ;
 And he hir, that hys hert hath on her knette :
 This juge I, Nature, for I may not lye
 To noon estaat, I have noon other eye. 630

' But as for counseylle for to chese a make,
 Yf I were resoun, than wolde Y
 Counseylle yow the royal tereel take,
 As seyde the tereelet, ful skilfully,
 As for the gentilest, and moste worthy,

Whiche I have wroght so wel to my plesaunce,
That to yow hyt ought to ben a suffisaunce.

With dredeful vois the formel hir answerde :
‘ My ryghtful lady, goddesse of Nature,
Sooth ys, that I am ever under youre yerde, 640
As ys everych other creature,
And moste be youres while my lyf may dure ;
And therefore graunte me my firste boone,
And myn entent yow wol I seye ryght soone.’

‘ I graunte hyt yow,’ quod she, and ryght anoon
This formel egle spake in thys degré :—
‘ Almyghty quene, unto this yere be doon
I aske respite for to avysen me ;
And after that to have my choys al fre ; 649
Thys al and somme that I wolde spek and seye ;
Ye gete no more, although ye do me deye.

‘ I wolle nocht serven Venus ne Cupide,
Forsoth as yet, by no maner weye.’
‘ Now syn hyt may noon other weyes betide,’
Quod Nature, ‘ here ys no more to seye :
Than wolde I that these foules were awaye,
Ech with hys make, for tarynge lenger here.’
And seyde hem thus, as ye shal after here.

‘ To yow speke I, yec terceletys,’ quod Nature ;
‘ Beth of good hert, and serveth alle thre ; 650
A yere ys not so longe to endure,
And eche of yow peyne hym in hys degré
For to do wel ; for, God wote, quyte ys she
Fro yow thys yere, what after so befall ;
This entremesse ys dressed for yow alle.’

And whan thys werke al broght was to an ende,
 To every foule Nature yafe hys make
 By evene acorde, and on her wey they wende :
And, Lord ! the blysse and joy that they make !
 For eche of hem gan other in his wynges take, 670
 And with her nekkes eche gan other wynde,
 Thonkyng alwey the noble goddessse of kynde.

But first were ehosen foules for to synge,—
 As yere by yere was alwey her usaunce,
 To synge a roundel at her departynge,
 To do Nature honour and pleasaunce ;
 The note, I trowe, maked was in Fraunce ;
 The wordes were suche as ye may here fynde
 The nexte vers, as I now have in mynde.

Qui bien ayme a tarde oublie. 680

*' Now welcom somer, with thy sonne softe,
 That haste this wynter wethers overshake ;
 Saynt Valentyme, thou arte ful hye on lofte,
 Whiche drivest away the longe nightes blake ; —
 Thus syngen smale foules for thy sake—
 Wel have they cause for to gladen ofte,
 Sens eche of hem recovered hath his make,
 Ful blisful may they synge whan they awake.'*

And with the showtyng whan hir song was do,
 That the foules made at her flyght away, 690
 I wooke, and other bookes toke me to
 To rede upon ; and yet I rede alway.
 I hope ywyse to rede so somme day,
 That I shal mete sommethyng for to fare
 The bet, and thus to rede I wol not spare.

EXPLICIT.

THE BOKE OF CUPIDE, GOD OF LOVE, OR THE
CUCKOW AND THE NIGHTINGALE.

THE god of love, ah! benedicite,
How myghty and how grete a lorde is he!
For he can make of lowe hertys hie,
And highe hertes low, and like for to die,
And harde hertis he can make free.

And he can make, within a lytel stounde,
Of seke folke ful fresh, hool and sounde,
And of hoole folke he can make seke;
He can bynde, and wel unbynden eke,¹
What he wole have bounden or unbounde. 10

To telle his myght my wit may not suffice,
For he can make of wise folke ful nyse,
For he may do al that he can devyse,
And in lithere folke dystroye vise,
And proude hertys he can make agryse.

Shortely al that evere he wol he may,
Ayenst him ther dar no wight seye nay;

For he can glade and greve whom him lyke,
 And whom that he wol, don hym laughe or sike,
 And most his myght he sheweth ever in May. 20

For every trewe gentil herte and fre,
 That with him is, or thinketh for to be,
 Ayens May now shal have somme sterynge,
 Other to joy, or elles to some morenynge,
 In no sesoun so grette, as thynketh me.

For then they mowe here the briddes singe,
 And see the floures and the leves springe,
 That bringeth into hertes remembraunce
 A maner ease, ymedled with grevaunce,
 And lusty thoghtes ful of grete longynge. 30

And of that longynge cometh hevynesse,
 And thereof groweth oft tyme grete seknesse,
 And al for lak of that that they desyre:
 And thus in May ben hertys set on fire,
 And so they brenne forthe in grete distresse.

I speke al this of felyng truly;
 For althogh I be olde and unlusty,
 Yet have I felte of that sekenes in May
 Bothe hote and colde, an aeces every day,
 How sore, ywis, ther wot no wight but I. 40

I am so shaken with the feveres white,
 Of al this May yet slept I but a lyte;
 And also hit ne liketh noght to me
 That eny herte shulde slepy be,
 In whom that Love his firy dart wol smyte.

But as I lay this other nyght wakyng,
 I thocht how lovers had a tokenyng,
 And among hem hit was a comune tale,
 That hit wer good to here the nyghtyngale,
 Rather then the leude eukkow synge. 50

And then I thocht anoon, as hit was daye,
 I wolde goo somme whedir for to assaye
 Yf that I myght a nyghtyngale here;
 For yet I non had herd of al this yere
 And hit was tho the thirde nyght of May.

And right anoon as I the day espiede,
 No lenger wolde I in my bed abyde;
 But unto a wode that was fast by,
 I wente forthe allone ful prively,
 And helde my way doun by a broke syde. 60

Til I come into a launde of white and grene,
 So feire oon had I nevere in bene,
 The grounde was grene, ypoudered with daysé,
 The floures and the gras ilike al hie,
 Al grene and white, was nothing elles sene.

Ther sat I doune amonge the feire floures,
 And saw thee briddes crepe out of her boures,
 Ther as they had rested hem al the nyght;
 They were so joyful of the dayes lyght,
 That they beganne of Mayes ben ther houres. 70

They coude that servise alle bye rote;
 Ther was also mony a lovely note!
 Somme songe loude as they hadde pleynd,
 And somme in other maner voys yfeynd,
 And somme al oute with a lowde throte.

They pruned hem, and made hem ryght gay,
 And daunseden and lepten on the spray;
 And evermore two and two in fere,
 Ryght so as they hadde chosen hem to-yere
 In Feverere upon seynt Valentynes day.

80

And the ryver that then I sat upon,
 Hit made suche a noyse as hit ther ron,
 Acordaunt to the foules ermonyne,
 Me thoght hit was the beste melodye
 That myghte be herd of eny lyvyng man.

And for delyte, I ne wote never how,
 I fel in such a slombre and a swowe,—
 Nat al on slepe, ne fully al wakyng,—
 And in that swowe me thoght I herde singe
 That sory bridde the lewede cuckowe,

96

And that was on a tre right faste bye.
 But who was then evel apayed but I?
 ‘Now God,’ quod I, ‘that died upon the croise,
 Yive sorowe on the, and on thy foule voys!
 For lytel joy have I now of thy erie.’

And as I with the cuckow gan to chide,
 I herde, in the nexte bussches beside,
 A nyghtyngale so lustely singe,
 That with her clere voys she made ryng
 Thro out alle the grene wode wide.

109

‘A! goode nyghtyngale,’ quod I thenne,
 ‘A lytelle hast thou be to longe henne,
 For her hath be the lewede cuckow,
 And songen songes rather than hast thou:
 I prey to God that evel fire him brenne!’

But now I wil yow tel a wonder thyng :
 As longe as I lay in that swounyng,
 Me thoght I wist al that the briddes mente,
 And what they seyde, and what was her entente,
 And of her speche I hadde good knouyng. 110

And then herd I the nyghtyngale seye :—
 ‘ Now, goode cuckow, go sommewhere thy weye
 And let us that can synge dwellen here ;
 Fer every wight escheweth the to here,
 Thy songes be so elyng, in gode feye.’

‘ What,’ quoth she, ‘ what may the ayle now ?
 Hit thinketh me, I syng as wel as thow,
 For my songe is bothe trewe and pleyne,
 Al-thogh I cannot creke hit so in veyne,
 As thou dost in thy throte, I wote ner how. 120

‘ And every wight may understonde me,
 But, Nyghtyngale, so may they not don the,
 For thou hast mony a feyned queint cry ;
 I have herd the seye, ‘ ocy, ocy ;’
 But who myghte wete what that shulde be ?’

‘ O fole,’ quoth she, ‘ wost thou not what that is ?
 When that I sey, ocy, ocy, iwisse,
 Then mene I that I wolde wonder fayne,
 That al tho were shamefully islayne,
 That menen oght ayenes love amys. 130

‘ And also I wolde alle tho were dede,
 That thenke not her lyve in love to lede,
 For who that wol the god of love not serve,

I dar wel sey he is worthy for to sterve ;
And for that skille, oey, oey, I grede.'

'Ey!' quoth the eukkow, 'ywis this is a queynt lawe,
That eyther shal I love or elles be slawe
But I forsake alle suehe companye ;
For myn entent is neyther for to dye,
Ne while I lyve in loves yoke to drawe. 140

'For lovers be the folke that ben on lyve,
That moste disese han, and most unthrive,
And most enduren sorowe, wo, and care,
And at the lest failen of her welfaire :
What nedith hit ayenes treweth to strive?'

'What?' quoth she tho, 'thou art out of thy mynde!
How maist thou in thy cherles herte fynde
To speke of Loves servauntes in this wyse?
For in this worlde is noon so good servise
To every wyght that gentil ys of kynde ; 150

'For therof truly cometh al goodnesse,
Al honour and al gentilnesse,
Worshippe, and ese, and alle hertys lust,
Perfyt joy, and ful ensured trust,
Jolité, plesaunce, and eke freshenesse,

'Lowelyhed, and trewe companye,
Semelyhed, largenesse, and curtesie,
Drede of shame and for to don amys :
For he that truly Loves servaunt ys,
Were lother be shamed then to dye. 153

'And that ys sothe al that ever I sey,

In that beleve I wil bothe lyve and deye,
 And, Cukkow, so rede I the that thou do iwis.
 ‘Ye then,’ quoth she, ‘God let me never have blis,
 If evere I unto that counseyl obeye!

‘Nyghtyngale, thou spekest wonder feyre,
 But, for al that, the sothe is the contreyre;
 For loving in yonge folke is but rage,
 And in olde folk hit is a grete dotage,
 Who most hit useth, most he shal apeyre. 170

‘For therof cometh mony an hevinesse,
 Sorow and care, and mony a grete seknesse,
 Dispite, debate, angre, and envye,
 Repreve and shame, untrust, and jelosye,
 Pride, and mysehete, povert, and wodenesse.

‘What! Lovyng is an office of dispaire,
 And oon thing is therin that ys not faire;
 For who that geteth of love a lytil blysse,
 But-if he be alway therby ywysse,
 He may ful sone of age have his haire. 180

‘And therfor, Nyghtyngale, holde the nye;
 For, leve me wel, for al thy loude erie,
 If thou fer or longe be fro thi make,
 Thou shalt be as other that be forsake,
Then shalt thou haten love as wele as I.’

‘Fye,’ quoth she, ‘on thi name and on the!
 The god of love ne let the nevere ythe!
 For thou art wors a thousand folde then wode,
 For mony is ful worthie and ful good,
 That hadde be noght, ne hadde love ybe. 190

‘ For Love his servant evermore amendeth,
 And fro al evele tachehes him defendeth,
 And maketh him to brenne as eny fire,
 In trouthe and in worschippful desire,
 And, whom him liketh, joy ynogh him sendeth.’

‘ Ye Nyghtyngale,’ he seyde, ‘ holde the now
 stille !

For Love hath no resoun but his wille ;
 For ofte sithe untrew folke he esith,
 And trewe folke so bittirly displeseth,
That for defaute of grace he let hem spille. 200

‘ With suche a lorde wolde I never be,
 For he is blynde alwey and may not se,
 And when he lyeth he not ne when he fayleth.
 And in this court ful selde trouthe avayleth,
 So dyverse and so wilful eke ys he.’

Then toke I of the nyghtyngale kepe,
She kest a sighe out of her herte depe,
 And seyde, ‘ Alas, that I ever was bore !
 I can for tene seye not oon worde more ;’
 And ryght with that she brast on for to wepe.

‘ Alas !’ quoth she, ‘ my herte wol to-breke 211
 To here thus this false birdde speke
 Of Love, and of his worshipful servyse.
 Now, God of Love, thou helpe me in summe wise,
 That I may on this cuckow ben awreke.’

Methoughte then that I stert up anone,
 And to the broke I ran and gatte a stone,

And at the cuckow hertely I caste ;
 And he for drede gan flye away ful faste,
 And glad was I when that he was igon. 220

And evermore the cuckow, as he fleȝ,
 He seyde, ‘Farewel, farewel papyngay !
 As thogh he had iscorned, as thocht me ;
 But ay I hunted him fro tre to tre,
 Tille he was fer al out of syght away.

And then come the nyghtyngale to me,
 And seyde, ‘Frende, forsoth I thanke the,
 That thou hast lyked me thus to rescowe ;
 And oon avowe to love I wol allowe,
 That al this May I wol thy singer be.’ 230

‘I thanked her, and was ryght wel apayed :
 ‘Yee,’ quoth she, ‘and be thou not amayed,
 Thogh thou have herde the cuckow er then me ;
 For, if I lyve, hit shal amended be
 The nexte May, yf I be not affrayed.

‘And oon thing I wol rede the also,
 Ne leve thou not the cuckow, loves fo,
 For al that he hath seyde is strong lesinge.’
 ‘Nay, nay,’ quoth I, ‘ther shal nothing me bringe
 Fro love, and yet he doth me mekil wo. 240

‘Yee? Use thou,’ quoth she, ‘this medceyne,
 Every day this May er that thou dyne :—
 Goo loke upon the fresshe flour the daysye,
 And, thogh thou be for wo in poynt to dye,
 That shal ful gretly lyssen the of thy pyne.

‘ And loke alwey that thou be good and trewe,
 And I wol singe oon of my songes newe
 For love of the, as loude as I may crie :’
 And then she began this songe ful hye,
 ‘ I shrewe hem al that be to love untrewe.’ 250

And when she had de songen hit out to the ende,
 ‘ Now fairewel,’ quoth she, ‘ for I moste wende,
 And, God of Love, that can ryght wel and may,
 As mekil joy sende yow this day,
 As ever yet he eny lover sende !’

Thus toke the nyghtyngale hir leve of me.
 I pray to God he alway with her be,
 And joy of love he sende her evermore,
 And shilde us fro the cuckow and his lore,
 For ther is non so fals a bridde as he. 260

Forthe she fley, the gentil nyghtyngale,
 To alle the briddes that werene in the dale,
 And gat hem alle into a place yn fere,
 And hem besoughten that they wolden here
 Her dyscese, and thus began her tale.

‘ Ye knowe wel, hit is not fro yow hidde,
 How that the cuckow and Y fast have chidde,
 Ever sithe that hit was dayes lyght ;
 I prey yow alle that ye do me ryght
 Of that foule fals unkynde bridde.’ 270

Then spake oon brid for al, by oon assent :—
 ‘ This mater asketh good avysement ;
 For we be fewe briddes her in fere,
 And soth hit ys, the cuckow is not here,
 And therefore we wol have a parlement.

‘ And therat shal be the egle our lorde,
 And other perys that ben of recorde,
 And the eukkow shal be after ysent ;
 And ther shal be yeven the jugement,
 Or elles we shul make summe aeorde. 280

‘ And this shal be, withouten any nay,
 The morowe, seynte Valentynes day,
 Under the maple that is feire and grene,
 Before the chambre window of the Quene,
 At Wodestok upon the grene lay.’

She thanked hem, and then her leve she toke,
 And fleye into an hawthorne by the broke,
 And ther she sate and songe upon the tre,
 ‘ Terme of my lyve love hath withholde me,’
 So loude that I with that song awoke. 290

EXPLICIT.

O LEWDE boke, with thy foule rudenesse,
 Sith thou hast neyther beauté ne eloquence,
 Who hath the caused or yeve the hardynesse
 For to appere in my ladyes presence?
 I am ful siker thou knowest hyr benivolence,
 Ful agreable to alle hir obeyinge,
 For of al goode she is the beste lyvyng.

Alas! that thou ne haddest worthynesse,
 To shewe to hir somme plesaunt sentence,
 Sithen that she hath, thorgh hir gentillesse, 300
 Aceceptede the servant to hir digne reverenee!
 O! me repenteth that I ne hadde science,
 And leyser als, to make the more florysshynge,
 For of al goode she ys the beste lyvyng.

Beseche hir mekely with alle lowlynesse,
 Though I be fer from hir in myn absence,
 To thenke on my trouthe to hir and stidfastnesse,
 And to abregge of my sorwes the violence,
 Whiche caused ys, wherof knoweth your sapience,
 She lyke amonge to notefye me hir lykyng; 310
 For of alle goode she is the beste lyvyng.

LENVOYE.

AURORE of gladnesse, and day of lustynesse,
 Lucerne a nyght with hevenly influence
 Enlumyned, rote of beauté and goodenesse,
 Suspiries which I effunde in silence!
 Of grace, I beseche, alegge let your writyng
 Now of al goode, syth ye be beste lyvyng.

EXPLICIT.

THE FLOWER AND THE LEAF.

WHEN that Phebus his chaire of gold so hie
Hadde whirled up the sterrie sky alofte,
And in the Boole was entred certainly:

When shoures sweet of raine discended soft,
Causing the ground, fele times and ofte,
Up for to give many an wholesome aire,
And every plaine was eke yclothed faire

With newe green, and maketh smalle floures
To springen here and there in field and mede ;
So very good and wholesome be the shoures, 10
That it renueth that was old and dede
In winter time ; and out of every sede
Springeth the hearbe, so that every wight
Of this season wexeth ful glad and light.

And I, so glad of the season thus swete,
Was happed thus upon a certaine nighte:—
As I lay in my bed, sleepe ful unmete
Was unto me, but why that I ne mighte
Rest, I ne wiste ; for there nas earthly wight,
As I suppose, hadde more heartes ease 20
Than I, for I nadde sicknesse nor disease.

Wherefore I mervaile greatly of my selfe,
 That I withouten sleepe so longe lay ;
 And up I rose three houres after twelwe,
 Aboute the springing of the day ;
 And on I putte my geare and mine array,
 And to a pleasaunt grove I gan to passe,
 Long or the brighte Sonne up-risen was ;

In which were okes greate, streight as a line,
 Under the which the grasse, so fresh of hewe, 30
 Was newly sprong ; and an eight foot or nine
 Every tree well fro his fellow grew,
 With branches brode, lade with leves newe,
 That sprongen out ayen the sunne shene.
 Some very red, and some a glad light grene ;

Which, as me thoughte, was right a plesant sight ;
 And eke the briddes songes for to here
 Would have rejoyced any earthly wight ;
 And I that couthe not yet, in no manere,
 Heare the nightingale of all the yeare, 40
 Ful busily herkened with hart and eare,
 If I her voice perceive coud any where.

And, at the last, a path of little breede
 I found, that greatly hadde not used be ;
 For it forgrowen was with grasse and weede,
 That well unneth a wight ne might it se :
 Thoght I, ‘ This path some whider goth, pardé !’
 And so I followede, till it me broughte
 To right a pleasaunt herber, well ywrought,

That benched was, and eke with turfes newe 50
 Freshly turved, whereof the grene gras,

So small, so thicke, so short, so fresh of hewe,
 That most *y*like greene wool, I wot, it was :
 The hegge also that yede in this compas,
 And closed in all the greene herbere,
 With sicamour was set and eglatere,

Wrethen in fere so well and cunningly,
 That every branch and leafe grew by mesure,
 Plaine as a bord, of oon height by and by.
 I ne segh never thing, I you ensure, 60
 So well y-done ; for he that tooke the cure
 It for to make, Y trow did all his peine
 To make it passe alle tho that men have seine.

And shapen was this herber, roofe and all,
 As is a prety parlour ; and also
 The hegge as thicke as is a castle wall,
 That who that list withoute to stond or go,
 Though he would all day prien to and fro,
 He shoulde not see if there were any wighte
 Within or no ; but one within wel mighte 70

Perceive alle tho that yeden there withoute
 Into the field, that was on every side
 Covered with corne and grasse ; that out of doubt,
 Though one woulde seeke all the worlde wide,
 So rich a fielde ne coude not be espide
 On any coast, as of the quantitie ;
 For of alle good thing there was plentie.

And I that all this pleasaunt sight ay sie,
 Thought sodainly I felte so sweet an aire
Com of the eglentere, that certainly 80

There is no heart, I deme, in such dispaire,
 Ne with no thoughtes froward and contrair⁶
 So overlaid, but it shoulde soone have bote,
 If it had ones felt this savour sote.

And as I stood and cast aside mine eie,
 I was of ware the fairest medler tree,
 That ever yet in all my life I sie,
 As full of blossomes as it mighte be ;
 Therein a goldfinch leaping pretile
 Fro bough to bough ; and, as him list, gan eete 90
 Of budde^s here and there and floures sweete.

And to the herber side ther was joyninge
 This faire tree, of which I have you told ;
 And at the last the brid began to singe,
 When he had eaten what he eate wolde,
 So passing sweetly, that by manifolde
 It was more pleasaunt than I coude devise.
 And when his song was ended in this wise,

The nightingale with so mery a note
 Answered him, that all the woode rong 100
 So sodainly, that, as it were a sote,
 I stood astonied ; so was I with the song
 Thorow ravished, that till late and longe,
 Ne wist I in what place I was, ne where ;
 And ay, me thoughte, she song even by mine ere.

Wherefore about I waited busily,
 On every side, if that I her mighte see ;
 And, at the last, I gan full well asprie
 Where she sat in a fresh grene laurer tree,
 On the further side, even right by me, 110

That gave so passing a delicious smell,
According to the eglentere full well.

Whereof I hadde so inly great pleasure,
That, as me thought, I surely ravished was
Into Paradice, where as my desire
Was for to be, and no ferther to passe
As for that day ; and on the sote grasse
I sat me downe ; for, as for mine entent,
The birddes song was more convenient,

And more pleasaunt to me by many fold, 120
Than meat or drinke, or any other thing.
Thereto the herber was so fresh and cold,
The wholesome savours eke so comforting,
That, as I demede, sith the beginning
Of thilke world was never scene or than
So pleasaunt a ground of none earthly man.

And as I sat, the birddes harkening thus,
Me thoughte that I hearde voices sodainly,
The most sweetest and most delicious
That ever any wight, I trow truly, 130
Heard in here life ; for sothe the armony
And sweet accord was in so good musike,
That the voices to angels most was like.

And at the last, out of a grove faste by,
That was right goodly and pleasant to sight,
I sie where there came, singing lustily,
A world of ladies ; but, to tell aright
Here grete beautie, it lieth not in my might,
Ne here array ; neverthesse I shalle
Telle you a part, though I speake not of alle. 140

The surcotes white, of velvet wele sitting,
 They were in clad, and the semes echone,
 As it were a maner garnishing,
 Was set with emeraudes, one and one.
 But by and by ful many a riche stone
 Was set on the purfiles, out of doute,
 Of colors, sleeves, and traines round aboute.

As greate pearles, round and oriente,
 Diamondes fine, and rubies rede
 And many another stone, of which I wente 150
 The names now ; and everich on her heade
 A riche fret of gold, which, withoute dreade,
 Was full of stately riche stones set ;
 And every lady had a chapelet

Upon her head of floures fresh and greene,
 So wele ywrought and so mervellously,
 That soth it was a noble sight to seene ;
 Some of laurer, and some full pleasantly
 Hadde chapelets of woodbind, and sadly
 Some of agnus castus were also 160
 Chapelets freshe ; but there were many tho

That song and daunced, eke ful soberly,
 And all they yede in manner of compaco ;
 But one there yede in mid the company,
 Soole by her selfe ; but alle followede the pace
 Which that she kepte, whose heavenly faire face
 So pleasaunt was, and her wele shape þorson,
 That of beautie she past hem everichone.

And more richly besecne, by manifold,

She was also in every maner thing : 170
Upon her head, full pleasaunt to beholde,
 A crowne of gold riche for any king :
 A braunch of agnus castus eke bearing
 In her hand ; and to my sight truly,
 She lady was of al the company.

And she began a roundell lustely,
 That ‘ Suse le foyle, devers moy,’ men calle,
 ‘ Seen et mon joly cuer est endormy ;
 And than the company answered alle,
 With voices sweet entuned, and so smalle 180
 That it me thoughte the sweetest melody
 That ever I heard in my life soothly.

And thus they came, dauncing and singing
 Into the middest of the mede echone,
 Before the herber where I was sitting ;
 And, God wot, me thought I was wel bigone ;
 For then I might avise hem one by one,
 Who fairest was, who coude best dance or singe,
 Or who most womanly was in alle thinge.

They hadde not daunced but a little throwe, 190
 When that I hearde not ferre off sodainely,
 So great a noise of thundering trumpes blowe,
 As though it should have departed the skie ;
 And, after that, within a while I sie,
 From the same grove where the ladies come oute,
 Of men of armes coming such a route,

As alle the men on earth hadde ben assembled
 In that place, wele horsed for the nones,
 Stering so faste, that al the earth trembled :
 But for to speake of riches and of stones, 200

And men and horse, I trow the large wones
Of Prestir John, ne all his tresorie,
Mighte not unneth have boght the tenth partie

Of here array : who so list heare more,
I shall rehearse so as I can a lite.
Out of the grove, that I of spake before,
I sie come first, all in here elokes white,
A company, that ware, for here delite,
Chapelets fresh of okes serialle,
Newly yspronge, and trumpets they were alle. 210

On every trumpe hanging a broad banere
Of fine tartarium ful richely bete ;
Every trumpet his lordes armes bere ;
About here neckes, with greate pearles sete,
Colleres brode ; for cost they woulde not lete,
As it woulde seeme, for here seochones echone
Were set aboute with many a precious stone.

Here horse harneis was all white also.
And after hem next, in one company,
Came kinges of armes, and no mo, 220
In elokes of white cloth of gold richly ;
Chapelets of greene on here heades on hie ;
The crownes that they on here seochones bere,
Were set with pearle, ruby, and saphere,

And eke great diamondes many one :
But all here horse harneis and other geare
Was in a sute aeordinge, everyhone,
As ye have heard the foresaid trumpets were ;
And, by seeming, they were nothing to lere,

And here guiding they dide so manerly. 230
 And, after hem, came a great company

Of heraudes and pursevauntes eke,
 Arrayed in clothes of whit velvette,
 And, hardily, they were no thing to seke,
 How they on hem shoulde the harneis sette ;
 And every man had on a chapelet ;
 Scochones and eke horse harneis, indede,
 They had in sute of hem that before hem yede.

Next after hem camen, in armour bright
 All save here heades, seemely knightes nine ; 240
 And every claspe and naile, as to my sight,
 Of here harneis were of red golde fine ;
 With cloth of gold, and furred with ermine
 Were the trappores of here stedes stronge,
 Wide and large, that to the ground dide honge.

And every bosse of bridle and paitrell
 That hadde they, was worth, as I woulde wene,
 A thousand pound ; and on here heades, well
 Dressed, were crownes of laurer grene,
 The best ymade that ever I hadde sene ; 250
 And every knight had after him riding
 Three henshemmen on him ay awaiting.

Of which every first, on a short tronchoun,
 His lordes helme bare, so richly dight,
 That the worst was worth the ransom
 Of any king ; the second a shield bright
 Bare at his backe ; the thridde bare upright

A mightie spere, full sharpe yground and kene,
And every child cke ware of leaves grene

A fresh chapelet upon his haire brighte ; 260
And clokes white of fine velvet they were ;
Here steedes trapped and arraied righte,
Withoute difference, as here lordes were ;
And after hem, on many a fresh corsere,
There came of armede knightes such a route,
That they bespradde the large field aboute.

And all they ware, after here degrees,
Chapelets newe made of laurer grene ;
Some of the oke, and some of other trees,
Some in here hondes bare boughes shene, 270
Some of laurer, and some of okes kene,
Some of hauthorne, and some of the woodbind,
And many mo which I hadde not in mind.

And so they came, here horses freshly stering
With bloodie sownes of her trompes loude ;
There sie I many an uncouth disguising
In the array of these knightes proude ;
And at the last, as evenly as they coude,
They took here places in middes of the mede,
And every knight turned his horse hede 280

To his fellow, and lightly laid a spere
In the arest ; and so justes began
On every part abouten, here and there ;
Some brake his spere, some drew down hors and
manne ;
Aboute the field astray the steedes ranne ;

And, to behold here rule and governaunce,
I you ensure, it was a great pleasaunce.

And so the justes last an houre and more ;
But tho that crowned were in laurer grene
Wanne the prise ; here dintes were so sore, 290
That there was none ayenst hem mighte sustene :
And the justing all was yleft off elene,
And fro here horse the ninth alight anone,
And so did all the remnant everichone.

And forth they yede togider, twain and twain,
That to behold it was a worthy sight,
Toward the ladies on the greene plaine,
That song and daunced, as I saide now righte :
The ladies tho, soone as they goodly mighte,
They braken of bothe the song and dance, 300
And yede to meet hem with ful glad semblance.

And every lady tooke, full womanly,
By the right hond a knight, and forth they yede
Unto a faire laurer that stood fast by,
With leves lade, the boughes of great brede ;
And to my dome there never was, indede,
Man that hadde seene halfe so faire a tree ;
For underneath there might it well have be

An hundred persons, at here owne plesance,
Shadowed fro the heat of Phebus bright, 310
So that they shoulde have felt no grevaunce
Of raine ne haile that hem ne hurte mighte.
The savour eke rejoyce would any wighte
That hadde be sicke or melancolius,
It was so very good and vertuous.

And with great reverence encline they lowe
 To thilke tree so soot, and faire of hewe ;
 And after that, within a little throwe,
 They beganne to singe and daunce of newe
 Some song of love, some plaining of untrewē, 32
 Envirouninge the tree that stood upright ;
 And ever yede a lady and a knight.

And at the last mine eye I caste aside,
 And was ware of a lustie company
 That came roming out of the field wide,
 Hond in hond a knight and a lady ;
 The ladies all in surcotes, that richely
 Purfiled were with many a rich stone,
 And every knight of grene ware mantles on,

Embrouded well so as the surcotes were : 330
 And everich had a chapelet on her hede,
 Which dide right well upon the shining here,
I-made of goodly floures white and rede ;
 The knightes eke, that they in hond gan lede,
 In sute of hem ware chapelets everychone,
 And before hem wente minstrels many one.

As harpes, pipes, lutes, and sautry,
 All in greene ; and on here heades bare,
 Of divers floures, made full craftely,
 All in a sute, goodly chapelets they ware ; 340
 And, so dauncing, into the mede they fare.
 In mid the which they found a tuft that was
 Al oversprad with floures in compas.

Whereto they enclined everychone
 With great reverence, and that full humbly ;

And, at the laste, there began anone
 A lady for to singe right womanly
 A bargaret in praising the daisie ;
 For, as me thought, among her notes swete,
 She said 'Si douse est la Margarete.' 350

Than they all answered her in fere,
 So passingly well, and so pleasauntly,
 That soth it was a blisfull noise to here.
 But, I not how, it happede suddainly
 As aboute noone, the sonne so fervently
 Waxe hote, that the pretie tendre floures
 Hadde lost the beautie of her freshe colours,

Forshronke with heat ; the ladies eke to-brent,
 That they ne wiste where hem to bestowe ;
 The knightes swelte, for lack of shade nie shent ; 360
 And after that, within a little throwe,
 The wind began so sturdily to blowe,
 That down goeth alle the floures everichone,
 So that in all the mede there laft not one ;

Save such as succoured were among the leves
 Fro every storme that mighte hem assaile,
 Growing under hedges and thicke greves ;
 And after that there came a storme of haile
 And raine in fere, so that, withouten faile,
 The ladies ne the knightes nade o threed 370
 Drie upon hem, so dropping was her weed.

And whan the storm was cleane passed away,
 Tho clad in white that stode under the tree,
 They felte nothing of the great affray,
 That they in greene without had in ybe ;

To hem they yede for routhe and pité,
Hem to comfort after here greate disease,
 So faine they were the hellesse for to ease.

Than was I ware how one of hem in grene
 Had on a crowne, ful rich and wel sitting; 380
 Wherefore I demed wel she was a quene,
 And tho in greene on her were awaiting;
 The ladies then in white that were comming
 Towardes hem, and the knightes in fere,
 Beganne hem to comfort, and make hem ehere.

The queen in white, that was of great beauty,
 Tooke by the hond the queen that was in grene,
 And said, ‘Suster, I have right great pitie
 Of your annoy, and of the troublous tene,
 Wherein ye and your company have bene 390
 So long, alas! and if that it you please
 To go with me, I shall do you the ease,

‘In all the pleasure that I can or may;’
 Whereof the tother, humbly as she mighte,
 Thanked her; for in right ill array
 She was with storm and heat, I you behighte;
 And every lady, then anone right,
 That were in white, one of hem took in grene
 By the hond; which when the knightes hadde sene,

In like wise ech of hem tooke hir a knight 400
I-clad in greene, and forth with hem they fare,
Un-to an hegge, where they anon gan right
 To make here justes, woulde they not spare
 Boughes to hewe down, and eke trees square,

Wherwith they made hem stately fires greate,
To dry here clothes that were wringing weate.

And after that, of hearbes that there grewe,
They made, for blisters of the sunne brenning,
Very good and wholesome ointmentes newe,
Where that they yede the sieke fast anointing ; 410
And after that they yede aboute gadering
Pleasaunt salades, which they made hem eate,
For to refresh here greate unkindly heate.

The lady of the Leafe then gan to praye
Her of the Floure (for so to my seeming
They shoulde be, as by here arraye)
To soupe with her, and eek, for any thing,
That she shoulde with her all her people bringe ;
And she ayen, in right goodly manere,
Thanketh her of her most friendly cheare, 420

Saying plainely, that she would obaye
With all her hart all her commaundement ;
And then anon, withoute lenger delaye,
The lady of the Leafe hath one ysent
For a palfray, as after her intent,
Arrayed well and faire in harneis of golde,
For nothing lacked, that to him long sholde.

And after that, to all her company
She made to purvey horse and every thing
That they needed ; and then ful lustily, 430
Even by the herber where I was sitting,
They passed alle, so pleasantly singing,

That it would have comforted any wight,
But then I sie a passing wonder sight ;

For then the nightingale, that all the day
Had in the laurer sete, and did her might
The whole service to singe longing to May,
All sodainly began to take her flight ;
And to the lady of the Leafe, forthright,
She flew, and set her on her hond softly, 440
Which was a thing I marveled of greatly.

The goldfinch eke, that fro the medler tree
Was fled for heat into the bushes colde,
Unto the lady of the Flower gan flee,
And on her hond he set him as he wolde,
And pleasauntly his winges gan to folde ;
And for to singe they pained hem both, as sore
As they hadde do of all the day before.

And so these ladies rode forth a great pace,
And all the rout of knightes eke in fere ; 450
And I that hadde seene all this wonder case,
Thought I would assay in some manere,
To knowe fully the trowth of this matere ;
And what they were that rode so pleasantly.
And when they were the herber passed by,

I dreste me forth, and happede to mete anone
Right a faire lady, I you ensure ;
And she come riding by herselfe alone,
All in white ; with semblanee ful demure
I salued her, and bad her good aventure 460
Might her befall, as I coude most humbly ;
And she answerede, ‘My doughter, gramercy !’

‘Madame,’ quod I, ‘if that I durst enquire
 Of you, I woulde faine, of that company,
 Wite what they be that paste by this arbere?’
 And she ayen answerede right friendly :—
 ‘My faire daughter, all tho that passed here by
 In white clothing, be servaunts everichone
 Unto the Leafe, and I myselfe am one.

‘See ye not her that crowned is,’ quod she, 470
 ‘All in white?’—‘Madame,’ quod I, ‘yis :’
 That is Diané, goddesse of chastité;
 And for because that she a maiden is,
 In her own hond the braunch she beareth iwis,
 That agnus castus men calle properly;
 And alle the ladies in her company,

‘Which as ye se of that hearb chapelets weare,
 Be such as han kept alway hir maidenheed :
 And alle they that of laurer chaplets beare,
 Be such as hardy were, and manly indeed,— 480
 Victorious name which never may be dede !
 And alle they were so worthy of here honde,
 That in her time none might hem withstondæ.

‘And tho that weare chaplets on here hede
 Of fresh woodbind, be such as never were
 To love untrue in word, in thought, ne dede,
 But aye stedfast; ne for pleasaunce, ne fere,
 Thogh that they shuld here hertes al to-tere,
 Woulde ne flitte, but ever were stedfaste,
 Til that here lives there asunder braste.’ 490

‘Now faire madame,’ quod I, ‘yet would I pray
 Your ladiship, if that it mighte be,

That I mighte knowe, by some maner way,
 (Sith that it hath i-liked your beauté,
 The trouth of these ladies for to telle me);
 What that these knightes be in rich armour,
 And what tho be in grene and weare the flour?

‘And why that some dide reverence to the tre,
 And some unto the plot of floures faire?’
 ‘With right good will, my fair doghter,’ quod she,
 ‘Sith your desire is good and debonaire; 501
 Tho nine crowned be very exemplaire
 Of all honour longing to chivalry;
 And those certaine be called the Nine Worthy,

‘Which ye may see now riding all before,
 That in her time dide many a noble dede,
 And for here worthinesse full oft have bore
 The crowne of laurer leaves on here hede,
 As ye may in your olde bookes rede;
 And how that he that was a conquerour, 510
 Hadde by laurer alway his most honour.

‘And tho that beare bowes in here honde
 Of the precious laurer so notable,
 Be such as were, I woll ye understonde,
 Noble knightes of the rounde table,
 And eke the Douseperis honourable,
 Which they bearen in signe of victory;
 It is witesse of here deedes mightily.

‘Eke there be knightes old of the garter,
 That in her time dide right worthily; 520
 And the honour they dide to the laurer,

Is for by it they have here laud wholly,
Here triumph eke, and marshall glory ;
 Which unto hem is more parfit richesse,
 Than any wight imagine can or gesse.

‘ For one leafe given of that noble tree
 To any wight that hath done worthily,
 And it be done so as it oughte to be,
 Is more honour than anything earthly ;
 Witnessse of Rome that founder was truly 530
 Of all knighthood and deedes marvelous ;
 Record I take of Titus Livius.

‘ And as for her that crowned is in greene,
 It is Flora, of these floures goddessse ;
 And all that here on her awaiting beene,
 It are such folk that loved idlenesse,
 And not delite hadde of no businesse,
 But for to hunt and hauke, and pley in medes,
 And many other such idle dedes.

‘ And for the greate delite and pleasaunce 540
 They have to the floure, and so reverently
 They unto it do such grete obeisaunce
 As ye may se.’—‘ Now faire Madame,’ quod I,
 ‘ If I durst aske what is the cause and why,
 That knightes have the signe of honour,
Wel rather by the leafe than by the flour ?’

‘ Soothly, doughter,’ quod she, ‘ this is the trouth :—
 For knightes ever shoulde be persevering,
 To seeke honour without feintise or slouth,
 Fro wele to better in all manner thing ; 550

In signe of which, with leaves aye lasting
 They be rewarded after here degré,
 Whose lusty green may not appaired be,

‘ But aie keping here beautie fresh and greene ;
 For there nis storme that ne may hem deface,
Ne haile nor snow, ne winde nor frostes kene ;
 Wherefore they have this propertie and grace.
 And for the floure, within a little space
 Woll be i-lost, so simple of nature
 They be, that they no greevance may endure ; 566

‘ And every storme will blow hem soone awaye,
 Ne laste they not but for oon season ;
 That is the cause, the very trowth to saye,
 That they maye not, by no way of reason,
 Be put to no such occupation.’
 ‘ Madame,’ quod I, ‘ with all mine whole serviso
 I thanke you now, in my most humble wise ;

‘ For now I am acertained throughly,
 Of every thing I desired to knowe.’
 ‘ I am right glad that I have said, sothly, 570
 Ought to your pleasure, if ye wille me trowe,’
 Quod she ayen, ‘ but to whom do ye owe
 Your service? and which wolle ye honoure,
 Tel me I pray, this yere, the Leafe or the Floure?’

‘ Madame,’ quod I, ‘ though I be least worthy,
 Unto the Leafe I owe mine observaunce:’
 ‘ That is,’ quod she, ‘ right well done certainly ;
 And pray I God to honour you avaunce,
 And kepe you fro the wicked remembraunce

Of Malebouch, and all his erueltie, 580
 And all that good and well conditioned be.

‘ For here may I no lenger now abide,
 I muste followe the greate company,
 That ye maye see yonder before you ride.’
 And tho forth, as I couthe, most humbly,
 I tooke my leve of her, as she gan hie
 After hem as fast as ever she mighte ;
 And I drow homeward, for it was nigh nighte,

And put all that I hadde seene in writing,
 Under support of hem that lust it to rede. 590
 O little booke, thou art so unconning,
 How darst thou put thy-self in prees, for drede ?
 It is wonder that thou wexest not rede !
 Sith that thou wost full lite who shall beholde
 Thy rude language, ful boistously unfolde.

EXPLICIT.

TROYLUS AND CRYSEYDE.

INCIPIT LIBER PRIMUS.

I.

THE double sorowe of Troylus to tellen,
That was the kyng Priamus sone of Troye,
In lovyng how hise aventures fellen
From wo to welc, and after out of joye,
My purpos is, er that I parte fro the.
Thesiphone, thou help me for tendite
This woful vers, that wepen as I write.

II.

To the clepe I, thow goddessse of torment !
Thow cruel wighte, sorowynge ever in peyne,
Help me, that am the sorowful instrument 10
That helpeth lovers, as I kan, to pleyne :
For wel it sit, the sothe al for to seyne,
A woful wyght to han a drery feere,
And to a sorwful tale a sory chere.

III.

For I that God of Loves servaunt serve,
Ne dar to love for myn unliklynesse,

Preyen for speed, al sholde I therfore sterve,
 So fer I am from his helpe in derkenesse ;
 But natheles, if this may done gladnesse
 Unto any lovere, and his cause awaylle, 20
 Have he my thonk, and myn be this travaille.

IV.

But ye lovers that bathen in gladdenesse,
 If any drope of pité in yow be,
 Remembreth yow on passed hevynesse,
 That ye han felt and on the adversité
 Of other folk and thenketh how that ye
 Han felt that Love dorste yow displese,
 Or ye han wonne hym with to grete an ese.

V.

And preyeth for hem that ben in the cas
 Of Troilus, as ye may after heere, 30
 That Love hem brynge in Hevene to solas.
 And eke for me preyeth to God so deere,
 That I have myght to shew, in som manere,
 Swich peyne and wo, as Loves folk endure,
 In Troilus unsely aventure.

VI.

And byddeth ek for hem that ben despeyred
 In love, that nevere nyl recovered be :
 And ek for hem that falsly ben apeyred
 Thorwgh wikked tonges, be it he or sche :
 Thus byddeth God, for his benignité, 40
 To graunte hem sone out of this world to passe,
 That ben despeyred out of loves grace.

VII.

And byddeth ek for hem that ben at ese,
 That God hem graunte ay goode perseveraunce,
 And sende hem myght hire loves so to plese,
 That it to love be worschip and plesaunce :
 For so hope I best my soule to avaunce,
 To preye for hem that Loves servauntes be,
 And write hire wo, and lyve in cherité.

VIII.

And for to have of hem compassyoun, 50
 As though I were hire owne brother decre.
 Now herkeneth with a goode entencioun,
 For now wol I gone streght to my matere,
 In whiche ye may the double sorwes here
 Of Troilus, in lovyng of Criseyde,
 And how that she forsoke him or sche deyede.

IX.

It is wele wist, how that the Grekes stronge
 In armes with a thousand shippes wente
 To Troye wardes, and the cité longe
 Assegheden, nygh ten yer er they stente ; 60
 And in dyverise wise and oon entente,
 The ravyslyng to wreken of Eleyne,
 By Paris don, they wroughten al hire peyne.

X.

Now fel it so, that in the town ther was
 Dwellyng a lord of grete autorité,
 A grete devyn that cleped was Calkas,
 That in science so expert was, that he Knew wele that Troye sholde destroyed be,

 By answer of his god, that hyghte thus,
 Daun Phebus, or Apollo Delphicus. 70

XI.

So when this Calkas knew by calkulynge,
 And ek by answer of this Apollo,
 That Grekes sholden swiche a peple brynge,
 Thorwgh whiche that Troye moste ben fordo,
 He cast onon out of the town to go :
 For wel wist he by sort that Troye sholde
 Destroyed ben, ye, wold who-so or nolde.

XII.

For which for to departen softely,
 Took purpos ful this for knowynge wyse,
 And to the Grekes oost ful pryvely 80
 He stal anon, and thei in courta^ys wyse
 Hym deden bothen worschipp, and servyse,
 In truste that he hath knowynge hem to rede
 In every peril, which that is to drede.

XIII.

The noyse up rose when it was first aspied,
 Thorwgh al the town, and generally was spoken,
 That Calkas traitor fals fled was and allied
 With hem of Grece ; and casten to ben wroken
 On him that falsly hadde his faith so broken,
 And sayden that he and alle his kyn atones 90
 Ben worthy for to brennen alle fel and bones.

XIV.

Now hadde Calkas left, in this mischaunce,
 Alle unwiste of this fals and wikked dede.

His doughter, which that was in grete penaunce,
 For of hir lyf sche was ful sore in drede,
 As she that nyste what was best to rede ;
 For bothe a wydew was sche, and allone
 Of any frend to whom sche dorst hir mone.

XV.

Criseyde was this lady name al right ;
 As to my doom, in alle Troyes cité 100
 Was non so fayre, for passynge every wight
 So aungellyke was hir natif beauté,
 That lyke a thyng immortal semede sche,
 As doth an hevenyss parfit creature,
 That down war sent in scornynge of Nature.

XVI.

This lady, whiche al day that herd at ere
 Hire faderes schame, his falsenesse, and tresoun,
 Wel neygh out of hire witt for sorw and fere,
 In widewes habit large of samyt broune,
 On knees sche fel byforne Ector adoune, 110
 With pitous vois and tenderly wepynge,
 His merey bad, hire seluen excusyng.

XVII.

Nowe was this Ector pitous of nature,
 And saugh that sche was sorowfully bygone,
 And that she was so fayre a creature,
 Of his godenesse he gladded hire anone,
 And sayde, ‘ Lat youre faderes tresoun gone
 Forth with mischaunce, and ye your-self in joye
 Dwellyt^h with us whil yow goode list in Troye.

XVIII.

And alle the honour that men may don yow have,
 As ferforth as your fader dwelled here, 121
 Ye shal han, and your body shalle men save,
 As fer as I may ought enquere or here :
 And sche him thankked with ful humble chere,
 And ofter wald, and it hadde ben his wille.
Sche toke hyre leve, went hoom, and held hir stille.

XIX.

And in hire house sche abode with swich meyné
 As til hire honour neded was to holde,
 And whil sche was dwellynge in that cité,
 Kepte hire astate, and bothe of yonge and olde, 130
 Ful wel byloved, and wel men of hire tolde :
 But whether that sche children hadde or non,
 I rede it noght, therefore I latt it gone.

XX.

The thynges fellen, as thai don of werre,
 Bitwixen hem of Troye and Grekes ofte,
 For somday boughten thai of Troye it dere,
 And eft the Grekes founden nothingse softé
 The folk of Troye ; and thus fortune, on lofte
 And under, eft gan hem to wheielen bothe,
 Aftir hire cours, ay whil thai were wrothe. 140

XXI.

But how this town com to destruccioun,
 Ne falleth noght to purpos me to telle ;
 For-why, it were a longe digressioun

Fro my matere, and yow to longe to dwelle ;
 But the Troyanes gestes, as thei felle,
 In Omer, or in Dares, or in Dite,
 Who-so that kan may rede hem as thai write.

XXII.

But though that Grekes hem of Troye shetten,
 And hire cité beseged alle aboute,
 Hire old usage wolde thai nocht letten, 150
 As for to honour hire goddes ful devoute,
 But aldermost in honour, out of doute,
 They had a relyk heet in Palladioun,
 That was hire trist aboven everichoun.

XXIII.

And so byfel, whan comen was the tyme
 Of Aperil, whan clothed is the mede
 With newe grene, of lusty Veer the prime,
 And swote smellen floures, white and rede ;
 In sondry wises schewed, as I rede,
 The folke of Troye hire observaunees olde, 160
 Palladyones feste for to holde.

XXIV.

And to the temple, in alle hire beste wise,
 In general ther wente many a wyght
 To herken of Palladyoun the servise,
 And namely so mony a lusti knyght,
 So many a lady fresshe, and mayden bryght,
 Ful wele araied, bothe most meyne and leste,
 Ye bothe for the seson and the feeste.

XXV.

Among thise other folke was Criseyda,
 In wydewes habit blak ; but natheles, 170
 Right as oure furste lettre is nowe an A,
 In beauté firste so stooode sche makeles ;
 Hire goodely lokkyng gladded al the prees :
 Nas nevere seyn thyng to ben preysed derre,
 Nor under cloude blake so bright a sterre,

XXVI.

As was Criseyde, as folk seyde everyehon,
 That hire byhelden in hire blake wede ;
 And yet sche stood ful low and stille allone
 Byhynden other folk in litel brede,
 And neygh the dore, ay under sehames drede, 180
 Symple of atyre, and debonair of cheere,
 Wyth ful asseured lokyng and manere.

XXVII.

This Troyllus, as he was wont to gyde
 His yonge knyghtes, led hem up and down,
 In thilke large temple on every syde,
 Byholdyng ay the ladys of the town ;
 Now here now thare, for no devocioun
 Hadde he to non to reven him his reste,
 But gan to preyse and lakken whom him leste.

XXVIII.

And in his walk ful fast he gan to wayten, 190
 If knyght or sqwyer of his compaynye
 Gan for to sigh, or lete his eyen bayten
 On any woman that he koude aspye ;

He wolde smyle, and holden it folye,
 And seye him thus:—‘ God wote sche slepeth softe
 For love of the, whan thou turnest ful ofte.

XXIX.

‘ I have herd telle, pardieux, of your lyvyng,
 Ye lovers, and youre lewde observaunces,
 And which a labour folk han in wynnyng 199
 Of love, and in the kepyng whiche doutaunces;
 And when your preye is lost, wo and penaunces;
 O, verrey fooles! nice and blynde be ye;
 Ther is not oon kan war by other be.’

XXX.

And with that worde he gan east up his browe,
 Ascaunces, lo! is this nought wysely spoken?
 At whiche the God of Love gan loken rowe
 Right for despit, and shope for to ben wroken.
 He kydde onon his bow nas not broken;
 For, sodenly he hitte him atte fulle,
 And yet as proude a pakoe can he pulle. 210

XXXI.

O blynde world! O blynd intencioun!
 How often falleth alle the effecte contrarie
 Of surquidrye and foule presumpeioun,
 For kaught is pryde, and kaught is debonaire!
 This Troylus is clomben on the staire,
 And litel weneth that he schall descenden;
 But alday fayleth thinge that fooles wenden.

XXXII.

As proude Bayard gynneth for to skyppe
 Out of the wey, so priketh him his corne,
 Til he a lassch have of the longe whippe, 220
 Than thynketh he, 'Thogh I praunce al byforne
 First in the trayse, ful fat and newe shorne,
 Yet am I but an hors, and horses lawe
 I mote endure, and with my feeres drawe.'

XXXIII.

So ferd it by this fiers and proude knyght,
 Though he a worthi kynges sonne were,
 And wende no thinge had had swiche myght,
 Ayenis his wille, that schold his herte stiere;
 That with a look his herte wax a feere,
 That, he that now was moost in pride above, 230
 Wax sodeynly most subgit unto love.

XXXIV.

Forthi ensauple taketh of this man,
 Ye wise, proude, and worthi folkes alle,
 To scornen Love, whiche that so soone kan
 The fredom of youre hertes to him thralle;
 For evere was, and evere schal befallle,
 That Love is he that alle thinge may bynde;
 For may no man fordon the lawe of kynde.

XXXV.

That this be sothe hath proved and doth yett;
 For this trowe I ye knowen alle and some, 240
 Men reden not that folk han gretter witte

Than thei that hath ben most with love ynome ;
 And strengest folk ben therwith overcome,
 The worthiest and the grettest of degree ;
 This was and is, and yett men schal it see.

XXXVI.

And troweliche it sitt wele to be so,
 For alderwyssest han tharwith ben plesed,
 And thai that han ben aldermost in wo,
 With love han ben conforted most and esed ;
 And oft it hath the cruel herte apesed, 250
 And worthi folk made worthier of name,
 And causeth most to dreden vice and schame.

XXXVII.

And sith it may not godely ben withstonde,
 And is a thinge so vertuou in kynde,
 Refuseth not to Love for to ben bonde,
 Syn, as him selven liste, he may yow bynde,
 The yerde is bet that bowen wole and wynde
 Than that that brest ; and therfor I yow rede
 To folowen him that so wele kan yow lede.

XXXVIII.

But for to tellen forthe in speciale, 260
 As of this kynges sone of which I tolde,
 And leten other thinge collateral,
 Of hym thenke I my tale for to holde,
 Bothe of his joie, and of his cares colde,
 And alle his werk, as towehynge this matere,
 For I it gan, I wil therto refeere.

XXXIX.

Withinne the temple he wente him forth pleyinge,
 This Troylus, of every wyght aboute,
 On this lady, and now on that lokinge,
 Whereso sche were of towne, or of withoute : 270
 And upon cas bifel, that, thorugh a route,
 His eyghe percede, and so it depe wente,
 Til on Cryseyde it smoot, and ther it stente.

XL.

And sodeynly he wex ther with astoned,
 And gan hire bet biholde in thrifty wise :
 'O mereye God!' thoughte he, 'where hastow woned,
 That ert so fair and goodely to devyse ?'
 Ther-with his herte gan to sprede and ryse,
 And softē syghede, lest men myght hym here,
 And caughte ayeyn his firste playinge ehere. 280

XLI.

Sche nas not with the leste of hire stature,
 But alle hire lymes so wele answeyngē
 Weren to womanhode, that creature
 Nas never lesse mannyssh in semyngē.
 And ek the pure wyse of hire mevyngē
 Schewede wele, that men myght in hire gesse
 Honor, estate, and womanly noblesse.

XLII.

Tho Troylus, right wonder wele withalle,
 Gan for to like hire mevyngē and hire chere,
 Whiche somdele deignous was, for sche lete falle

Hire loke a lite aside, in swieche manere 291
 Ascaunces, 'What! may I nat stonden here?'
 And after that hire lokynge gan seche lyghte,
 That never thoughte hym seen so goode a sighte.

XLIII.

And of hire loke in him ther gan to quyken
 So grete desire, and swieche affeccioun,
 That in his hertes botme gan to stiken,
 Of hire his fixe and depe impressioun:
 And though he arst hadde poured up and doun,
 He was tho gladde his hornes in to shrynke, 300
 Urnethes wiste he how to loke or wynke.

XLIV.

Loo! he that lete hymselfen so konnyngo,
 And scorned hym that loves peynes dryen,
 Was ful unwar that Love hadde his dwellynge
 Withinne the subtile stremes of hir eyen;
 That sodeynly hym thoughte he felte deyen,
 Ryght with hire loke, the spirit in his herte;
 Blissed be Love, that thus kan folk converte!

XLV.

Sche, this in blake, likynge to Troylus,
 Over alle thinge he stode for to beholde; 310
 Ne his desire, ne wherfor he stode thus,
 He neyther chere made, ne worde tolde;
 But fram afer, his manere for to holde,
 On other thinge his loke somtyme he caste,
 And oft on hire, while that the servise laste:

XLVI.

And after this, nat fulliche alle awhaped,
 Out of the temple alle esiliche he wente,
 Repentyng he that he hadde ever i-japed
 Of Loves folke, lest fully the descente
 Of seorne fille on hymself; but what he mente,
 Lest it were wiste on any maner syde, 321
 His wo he gan dissimilen and hyde.

XLVII.

When he was fro the temple thus departed,
 He streight anon unto his paleys torneth,
 Right with hire loke thorwgh schoten and thorwgh
 darterd,
 Al feyneth he in lust that he sojorneth,
 And al his chere and speche also he borneth,
 And ay of Loves servantes every while,
 Him-self to wre, at hem he gan to smile,

XLVIII.

And seyde, 'A, Lorde! so ye lyve al in leste, 330
 Ye lovers, for the konnyngest of yow,
 That serveth most ententifliche and best,
 Hym tit als often harme therof as prow;e;
 Your hire is quyrt ayeyn, ye, God wote howe!
 Nought wel for wel, but seorn for gode servise;
 In feithe yowr ordre is ruled in gode wyse.

XLIX.

'In non certeyn ben alle youre observaunces,
 But it a sely fewe poyntes be,
 Ne no thinge asketh so grete attendaunces,

As doth your lay, and that know alle ye : 340
 But that is not the werste, as mote I the,
 But tolde I yow the werste poynt I leeve,
 Al seyde I soth, ye wolden at me greve.

L.

‘ But take this, that ye loveres oft eschewe,
 Or elles don of goode intencioun,
 Ful oft thi lady wol it misconstrewe,
 And deme it harme in hyr opinioun ;
 And yit if sche, for other encheson,
 Be wroth, than schalt thou have a groyn onon :
 Lord ! wele is hym that may be of yow one !’ 350

LI.

But for al this, when that he sey his tyme,
 He held his pees, non other boote him gaynede
 For Love bigan his fetheres so to lyme,
 That wel unnethe until his folk he faynede,
 That other besye nedes him destraynede ;
 For wo was him, that what to don he nyste,
 But bad his folk to gon wher that hem liste.

LII.

And when that he in chaumber was allon,
 He down upon his beddes feet him sette,
 And first he gan to syke, and eft to grone, 360
 And thoughte ay on hire so, withouten lette,
 That as he satt and woke, his spirit mette
 That he hire saugh, and temple, and al the wyse
 Right of hire loke, and gan it new avise.

LIII.

Thus gan he make a mirour of his mynde,
 In whiche he saugh alle holly hire figure,
 And that he wel kouth in his herte fynde,
 It was to him ryght a goode aventure
 To love swich oon, and if he dydde his cure
 To serven hire, yet myght he falle in grace, 370
 Or elles, for oon of hir servauntes pace.

LIV.

Ymaginyng that travaille nor grame
 Ne myghte for so goodely one be lorne
 As she; ne him for his desire ne shame,
 Al were it wiste, but in pris and upborne
 Of alle lovers, wele more than byforne;
 Thus argumentede he, in hiis gynnyng,
 Ful unavised of his wo comyng.

LV.

Thus toke he purpos Loves craft to suwe,
 And thought he wolde wyrkyn prively, 380
 First to hiden his desire al in muwe
 From every wyght yborne, alle outrely,
 But he myght aught recovered be therby;
 Rememberyng him, that love to wyde yblowe
 Yelt bitter fruyt, thoughe swete sede be sawe.

LVI.

And over al this yet muchel more he thoughte
 What for to speke, and what to holden inne,
 And what to arten; hire to love he soughte,

And on a songe anon ryght to bigynne,
 And gan loude on his sorwe for to wynne. 399
 For with goode hope he gan fully assente
 Cryseyde for to love, and nought repente.

LVII.

And of his songe nought only the sentence,
 As write myn autour called Lollius,
 But pleynty save oure tonges differenece,
 I dar wel seyn, in alle that Troylus
 Seyde in his songe, loo, every word right thus
 As I shal seyn; and who-so liste it here,
 Lo, next this vers, he may it fynde there.

CANTUS TROILI.

LVIII.

‘ If no love is, O God, what fele I so? 400
 And if love is, what thinge and whiche is he?
 If love be gode, from whennes comth my wo?
 If it be wykke, a wonder thynketh me,
 Whenne every tornment and adversité,
 That cometh of him, may to me savory thynke.
 For ay thirst I the more that iche it drynke.

LIX.

‘ And if that at myn owne lust I brenne,
 From whennes cometh my wailynge and my pieynte?
 If harme agree me, whereto pleyne I thenne?
 I noot ne why unweyry that I feynte. 410
 O quyke deth! O swete harme so queynte!
 How may I se in me swliche quantité!
 But if that I consente that it so be?

LX.

‘ And if that I consente, I wrongfully
 Compleyne iwis: thus passed to and fro,
 Al stierlees withinne a boot am I
 Amyd the see, betwexen windes two,
 That in contrarie standen ever mo.
 Allas, what is this wonder maladye?
 For hete of cold, for cold of hete I dye.’ 420

LXI.

And to the god of love thus seyde he
 With pitous vois, ‘ O Lord, now youres is
 Mi spirit, whiche ay aughte youres be;
 Yow thanke I, Lord, that have me brought to this;
 But whether goddesse or womman iwys
 Sche be I not, which that ye do me serve;
 But as hire man I wol ay lyve and sterve.

LXII.

‘ Ye stonden in hire eyen mightyly,
 As in a place unto your vertu digne:
 Wherfor, Lord, if my servise or I 430
 May liken yow, so beth to me benigne;
 For myn estate roial here I resigne
 Into hire hond, and with ful humble chere
 Bycome hire man, as to my lady dere.’

LXIII.

In hym ne deynede sparen blode roial
 The fir of love, ye, wherfro God me blisse,
 Ne him forbar in no degré, for al

His vertue, or his excellent prowesse ;
 But held hym as his thralle low in destresse,
 And brinde hym so in sondry wyse ay newe, 440
 That sixty tyme a day he lost his hewe.

LXIV.

So muchel day by day his owne thought,
 For lust to hire, began quiken and encesse,
 That every other charge he sett at nought,
 Forthi ful oft, his hote fir to eesse,
 To sene hire goodely loke he gan to preesse ;
 For tharby to ben esed wele he wende,
 And ay the ner he was, the more he brende.

LXV.

For ay the ner the fir the hatter is,
 This, trowe I, knoweth al this companye: 450
 But were he fer or nere, I dar seye this,
 By nyght or day, for wisdom or for folye,
 His herte, which that is his brestes eye,
 Was ay on hire, that fairer was to sene
 Than evere were Eleyne, or Polixene.

LXVI.

Ek of the day ther passede nought an houre,
 That to himself a thowsand tyme he seyde,
 ‘ Gode godely, to whom serve I and laboure
 As I best kan, now wolde God, Cryseyde,
 Ye wolden on me rew er that I dyede, 460
 My deere herte, alas, myn hele and hewe,
 And lif is lost, but ye wol on me rewe.’

LXVII.

Alle other dredes weryn from hym fledde,
 Bothe of thassege, and his savacioun ;
 Ne in his desire none other fantasye bredde,
 But argumentes to this conclusioun,
 That seche of him wolde han compassion,
 And he to ben hire man whil he may dure,
 Lo, here his lif, and from the deth his cure.

LXVIII.

The scharppe showres fille of armes preve, 470
 That Ector or his othere bretheren diden,
 Ne made hym oonly therefor ones meve,
 And yet was he, wher-so men went or riden,
 Founde oon the best, and lengest tyme abiden
 Ther peril was, and dide eke swiche travaile
 In armes, that to thynke it was mervaille.

LXIX.

But for none hate he to the Grekes hadde,
 Ne also for the rescous of the town,
 Ne made him thus in armes for to madde,
 But oonly, lo, for this conclusioun, 480
 To liken hire the bette for his renoun :
 Fro day to day in armes so he spedde,
 That the Grekes al as the deth him dredde.

LXX.

And fro this forth tho reft him love his slepe
 And made his mete his foo ; and ek his sorwe
 Gan multiplye, that who-so toke kepe,

It shewed in his hewe bothe eve and morwe ;
 Therefore a title he gan him for to borwe
 Of other sikenesse, lest men of him wende
 That the hote fire of love him brende ;

490

LXXI.

And seyde he hadde a fevyr, and ferde amys ;
 But howe it was certein kan I not seye,
 If that h's lady understode nat this,
 Or feyned hir she nyste, on of the tweye :
 But wele I rede, that by no maner weye
 Ne semed it as that she of him roughte,
 Or of his peyne, or what so evere he thoughte.

LXXII.

But than felte this Troylus swiche wo
 That he was wel nyghe wode, for ay his drede
 Was this, that sche som wyght hadde loved so, 500
 That never of him she wold have taken hede ;
 For whiche him thought he felt his herte blede,
 Ne of his wo ne dorst he nat bygynne
 To tellen hire, for al this world to wynne.

LXXIII.

But when he hadde a space from his care,
 Thus to himself ful oft he gan to pleyne :
 He sayde ' O fole, now artow in the snare,
 That whilom japedest at loves peyne
 Now artow hent, now gnawe thin owne cheyne,
 Thow were ay wont eche lovere reprehende 510
 Of thing fro which thow kanst the nat defende.

LXXIV.

‘What wol now everyche lover seyn of the,
 If this be wiste? But evere in thin absence
 Laughen in scorne, and seyn, Loo, ther gothe he
 That is the man of so grete sapience,
 And held us lovers leest in reverence;
 Now thanketh God, he may gone in the daunce
 Of him that Love liste fiebly for tavaunce.

LXXV.

‘But O! thow woful Troilus, God wolde,
 Seth thow most loven, thorwgh thi desteyné, 520
 That thow bysette were on swich on that sholde
 Know al thi wo, al lakked hire pité:
 But also colde in love towards the
 Thi lady is as froost in wynter mone,
 And thow fordoon as snowe in fire is soone.

LXXVI.

‘God wold I were aryved in the porte
 Of deth, to which my sorow wol me lede:
 A lord! to me it were a grete comferte,
 Than were I qwytte of langwysshynge in drede;
 For be myn hidde sorowe yblowe on brede, 530
 I shal byjaped ben a thowsand tyme
 More than that fool of whos folye men ryme.

LXXVII.

‘But now help God, and ye, swete, for whom
 I pleyne, icaught ye never wyght so faste;
 O merey, dere hert, and help me from

The deth, for I, whil that my lif may laste,
 More than my-self wol love yow to my laste,
 And with some freendly loke gladdeth me, swete,
 Thowgh nevere more thyng ye me byhete.'

LXXVIII.

This wordes and ful many another to 540
 He spak, and called evere in his compleynte
 Hire name for to tellen hire his wo,
 Tyl neigh that he in salte teris dreynte ;
 Al was for noght, she herde not his pleynte ;
 And when that he bithought on that folye,
 A thousand folde his wo gan to multiplye.

LXXIX.

Biwayllynge in his chaumber thus allone,
 A frende of his that called was Pandare,
 Come ones unwar, and herde hym grone,
 And saye his freende in swich destresse and care ;
 ' Allas,' quod he, ' who causeth al this fare ? 551
 O mercy God, what unhap may this mene ?
 Han now thus soone Grekes made yow leene ?

LXXX.

' Or hastow som remors of conscience ?
 And art now falle in some devocioun,
 And waylest for thi synne and thin offence,
 And hast for ferde caught attricioun ?
 God save hem that biseged han oure town,
 And so kan leye oure jolyté on presse,
 And brynge oure lusti folk to holynesse !' 560

LXXXI.

Thise wordes seyde he for the nones alle,
 That with swiche thinge he myght him angry maken,
 And with an angre don his wo to falle,
 As for the tyme, and his courage awaken;
 But wele he wyste, as fer as tonges spaken,
 Ther nas a man of gretter hardinesse
 Than he, ne more desired worthinesse.

LXXXII.

‘What cas,’ quod Troylus, ‘or what aventure
 Hath gided the to sen me languysshinge,
 That am refus of every creature? 570
 But for the love of God, at my prayinge
 Go henne away, for certys my deyinge
 Wol the disese, and I mote nedes deye;
 Therfor go wey, ther is no more to seye.

LXXXIII.

‘But if thow wene I be thus sik for drede,
 It is not so, and therefore scorne nought;
 Ther is an other thyng I take of hede,
 Wel more than aught the Grekes han ywrought,
 Whiche cause is of my dethe for sorw and thought;
 But though that I now telle it the ne leste 580
 Be thow nought wroth, I hidde it for the beste.’

LXXXIV.

This Pandare, that neyghe malte for wo and routhe,
 Ful often seyde, ‘Allas, what may this be?
 ‘Now frende,’ quod he, ‘if evere love or trouthe

Hath ben or is bytwixen the and me,
 Ne do thow nevere swiche a cruelté,
 To hyden fro thi frende so grete a care ;
 Wostow not wele that it am I, Pandare ?

LXXXV.

‘ I wil parten with the al thi peyne,
 If it be so I do the comfort,
 As it is frendes right, soth for to seyne,
 To entreparten wo, as gladde desport ;
 I have and schal, for trew or fals report,
 In wronge and right ilovede the al my lyve ;
 Hide nat thy woo fro me, but telle it bilyve.’

590

LXXXVI.

Than gan this sorwful Troilus to syke,
 And seyde him thus, ‘ God leve it be my best
 To telle it the, forsyth it may the like,
 Yet wil I telle it though myn herte breste,
 And wele wote I thow mayst do me no reste ; 600
 But leste thow deme I tryste not to the,
 Now herke frende, for thus it stont with me.

LXXXVII.

‘ Love, ayeins the which who-so defendeth
 Him-selven most him alderlest availleth,
 With dессespeir so sorwfully me offendeth
 That streght unto the deth myn herte sailleth ;
 Therto desire so brennyngly me assaileth,
 That to ben slayn, it were a gretter joye
 To me, than kyng of Greece be and Troye.

LXXXVIII.

‘ Suffiseth this, my fulle frend Pandare, 610
 That I have seyde, for now wostow my wo ;
 And, for the love of God, my colde care
 So hide it wele, I tolde it nevere to mo ;
 For harmes myghte folwen mo than two
 If it were wiste, but be thow in gladnesse,
 And lat me sterve, unknow, of my destresse.’

LXXXIX.

‘ How hast thow thus unkyndely and longe
 Hidde this fro me, thow fool ?’ quod Pandarus ;
 ‘ Paraunter thow myght after swiche oon longe,
 That myn avys anon may helpen us.’ 620
 ‘ This were a wonder thinge,’ quod Troilus,
 Thow coudest nevere in love thi-selven wysse,
 How devel maystow brynge me to blysse.’

xc.

‘ Ye, Troilus, herke now,’ quod Pandare,
 Though I be nyse ; it happeth often so,
 That oon that excesse doth ful yvele fare,
 By goode conseyl kan kepe his frende ther fro :
 I have my-self ek seyen a blynde man go
 Ther as he fel that coude loken wyde ;
 A fool may ek a wise man ofte gyde. 630

xci.

‘ A wheston is no kervynge instrument.
 But yet it maketh sharpe kervynge tolis,
 And ther thow wost I have aught myswent,

Eschewe thow that, for swich thinge to the scole is.
 Thus oughte wise men ben ware of folis ;
 If thow do so thi witte is wele bywarded ;
 By his contrarye is every thinge declared.

XCII.

‘ For how myght evere swetenesse han ben knowe
 To hym that nevere tastede bitternesse ?
 Ne no man may ben inly glad, I trowe ; 610
 That nevere was in sorwe or som destresse :
 Ek whit by blak, ek schame by worthynes,
 Ech sett by other, more for other semeth,
 As men may se ; and so the wise it demeth.

XCIII.

‘ Sith thus of two conraries is a loore,
 I, that have in love so oft asayed
 Grevaunees, ought konne and wele the more
 Conseyllen the of that thow ert amayed ;
 Ek the ne aughte not ben yvel apayed,
 Though I desire with the for to bere 650
 Thin hevy charge, it sehal the lesse dere.

XCIV.

‘ I wote wele that it fareth thus by me,
 As to thi brother Paris, an hierdesse,
 Whiche that yeleped was Oonené,
 Wroot in a compleynt of hire hevynesse :
 Ye seye the lettre that sche wroot I gesse ? ’
 ‘ Nay nevere yet iwis, quod Troilus.
 ‘ Now,’ quod Pandare, ‘ herken, it was thus :—

XCV.

‘Phoebus, that first fond art of medicine,
 Quod she, ‘and coude in every wyghtes care 660
 Remede and rede, by herbes he kneow fyne,
 Yet to hymself his konnyng was ful bare,
 For love had hym so bounden in a snare,
 Al for the doughter of the kynge Admete,
 That al his craft ne koude his sorwes beete.’

XCVI.

‘Right so fare I, unhappily for me !
 I love oone beste, and that me smerteth soore ;
 And yet paraunter kan I reden the
 And nat myselfe ; repreve me no more,
 I have no cause, I wote wele, for to sore, 670
 As doth an hawk that listeth for to pleye,
 But to thi help yet somewhat kan I seye,

XCVII.

‘And of o thyng ryght siker maystow be,
 That certain for to dyen in the peyne,
 That I shal never mo discoveren the ;
 Ne, by my trouthe, I kepe nat restreyne
 The fro thy love, theigh that it were Eleyne,
 That is thi brother wyf, if ich it wiste ;
 Be what she be, and love hyre as the liste.

XCVIII.

‘Therfor as frend fullieche in me assure, 680
 And tel me platte what is thenchoeson
 And final cause of wo that ye endure ;

For, douteth nothings, myn intencion
 Nys nat to yow of reprehencion
 To speke as now, for nothings may bireve
 A man to love, til that hym list to leve.

XCIX.

‘ And wyteth wele, that both two ben vices,
 Mystrusten alle, or ellis alle leve ;
 But wele I wote, the mene of it no vice is ;
 For for to trusten som wyght is a prove 690
 Of trouthe, and forthi wold I fayne remeve
 Thi wronge conceyte, and do the som wyght truste
 Thi wo to telle: and tel me if the liste,

c.

‘ The wise seith, Wo hym that is allone,
 For, and he falle, he hath non helpe him to ryse ;
 And sith thow hast a felow, tel thi moone,
 For this nis naught, certeyne, the nexte wise
 To wynnen love, as techen us the wyse,
 To walow and wepe, as Nyobe the quene,
 Whos teerys yet in marble ben yscene. 704

ci.

‘ Lat be thi wepyng and thy drerynesse,
 And lat us lissen wo with other speche,
 So may thi woful tyme seme lesse ;
 Delite not in wo, thi wo to seche,
 As doon this fooles that hire sorw eche
 With sorowe, when thei han mysaventure,
 And listen nought to seche hem oother cure.

CII.

‘ Men seyn, to wrecche is consolacion
 To have another felaw in his peyne :
 That oughte wele ben oure opynyon, 710
 For bothen thow and I of love we pleyne ;
 So ful of sorw am I, soth for to seyn,
 That certanly no more harde grace
 May sitte on me, for-why there is no space.

CIII.

‘ If God wil thow art nought agast of me,
 Lest I wol of thi lady the begile :
 Thow woste thi-self whom that I love, pardé.
 As I best kan, gon sithen longe while ;
 And sith thow wost I do it for no wile,
 And sith I am he that thow tristest moost, 720
 Tel me somewhat syn that my wo thow woste.’

CIV.

Yet Troilus for al this no worde sayde,
 But longe he lay as stille as he dede were ;
 And after this with sikyng he abreyde,
 And to Pandarus voice he lente his ere,
 And up his eighen cast he, that in feere
 Was Pandarus leste that in frenesyce,
 He sholde falle or ellis sone dye,

CV.

And eriede, ‘ Awake,’ ful wondurliche and sharpe ;
 ‘ What ? slombrestow as in a litargye ? 730
 Or artow like an asse to the harpe,

That hereth sown, whan men the strenges plye,
 But in hys mynde of that no melodye
 May synken hym to gladden, for that he
 So dul is of his bestialitee ?

CVI.

And with that Pandare of his wordes stente,
 But Troilus yet hym nothyng answerde,
 For-why to tellen nas not his entente
 To nevere no man, for whom that he so ferde ;
 For it is seyde men maketh oft a yerd 740
 With which the maker is hymself ybeten
 In sondry manere, as thise wyse treten.

CVII.

And, nameliche, in his counseylle tellynge
 That towcheth love that oughte ben secree ;
 For of hymself it wol ne nought out sprynge,
 But-if that it the bette governed be.
 Ek som tyme it is a craft to seme fle,
 Fro thyng which in effect men hunte faste :
 Al this gan Troilus in his herte caste.

CVIII.

But natheles, when he hadde herde him crye 750
 ‘Awak!’ he gan to syken wonder sore,
 And seyde, ‘Frende, thoughe that I stille lye,
 I am not deaf, now pees and crye namore,
 For I have herde thi wordes and thi loore ;
 But suffre me my myschief to bywaylle.
 For thi proverbes may me nought awaylle.

CIX.

‘ Nor other cure kanstow none for me,
 Eke I nyl not ben cured, I wol dye :
 What know I of the quene Nyobé ?
 Lat be thin olde ensaumples, I the preye.’ 760
 ‘ No,’ quod tho Pandarus, ‘ therfore I seye,
 Swiche is delit of fooles to bewepe
 Hyre wo, but seken boote thei ne kepe.

CX.

‘ Now knowe I that reson in the faileth :
 But tel me, if I wyste what she were
 For whom that the al this misaventure ailleth,
 Dorstestow that I tolde in hyre ere
 Thy wo, syth thow darst nought thi-self for feere,
 And hyre bysought on the to han som routhe ?
 ‘ Whi, nay,’ quod he, ‘ by God and by my trouthe ”

CXI.

‘ What ? nat as bisily,’ quod Pandarus, 771
 ‘ As though myn owen lyfe lay on this nede ?’
 ‘ No certes brother,’ quod this Troilus ;
 ‘ And whi ?’—For that thow sholdest nevere spede.’
 ‘ Wostow that wele ?’—‘ Ye, that is out of drede,’
 Quod Troilus, ‘ for al that evere ye konne,
 She nyl to noon swich wreche as I ben wonne.’

CXII.

Quod Pandarus, ‘ Allas what may this be,
 That thow despaired art thus causeles ?
 What ? lyveth nat thi lady, benedicite ! 780

How wostow so that thow art graceles?
 Swiche yvel is nat alwey bootelees:
 Why, put nat impossible thus thi cure,
 Syth thinge to come is oft in aventure.

CXIII.

‘ I graunte wele that thow endurest wo
 As sharpe as doth he Syciphus in Helle,
 Whos stomak fowles tyren everemo,
 That hyghten volturis as bokes telle;
 But I may not endure that thow dwelle
 In so unskilful an opynyon,
 That of thi wo is no curacion.

790

CXIV.

‘ But oones nyltow, for thi coward herte,
 And for thin ire, and foolysh wilfulnesse,
 For wantruste tellen of thi sorwes smerto,
 Ne to thin owne help don besynesse,
 As mucche as speke a reson more or lesse,
 But liste as he that list of nothyngge recche;
 What woman koude love swiche a wreche?

CXV.

‘ What may she demen oother of thi deeth,
 If thow thus deye and she noot whi it is,
 But that for feere is yolden up thy brethe,
 For Grekis han biseged us, iwys?
 Lord, which a thank than shaltow han for this!
 Thus wol she seyn and alle the town atonees.
 ‘ The wreche is deed, the devel have his bones.’

800

CXVI.

‘Thou mayst allone here wepe and crye, and knele;
 But love a woman that she wote it nought,
 And she wol qwyte that thow shalt not feele:
 Unknowe unkyst, and lost that is unsought.
 What! many a man hath love ful deere abought,
 Twenty wynter er that his lady wyste, 811
 That never yyt his lady mouth he kyste.

CXVII.

‘What? scholde he therfor fallen in dispayr?
 Or be recreaunte of his owne tene,
 Or sleen hymself, al be his lady faire?
 Nay, nay, but evere in oone be fresch and grene,
 To serve and love his deere hertes queene,
 And thynke it is a guerdon hire to serve
 A thowsand folde moore than he kan deserve.’

CXVIII.

And of that worde took hede Troylus, 820
 And thought onone, what folye he was inne,
 And how that sothe hym seyde Pandarus,
 That for to slen hymself myghte he nat wyne,
 But bothe doon unmanhode and a synne,
 And of his deth his lady nought to wyte;
 For of his wo, God wote she knewe ful lyte.

CXIX.

And with that thought he gan ful soore syke,
 And seyde, ‘Allas, what is me beste to do?’
 To whom Pandare answered, ‘If the lyke,

The beste is that thow telle me al thi wo ; 830
 And have my trouthe, but thow it fynde so
 I be thi boote, or that it be ful longe,
 To pieces do me draw, and sythen honge.'

CXX.

'Ye, so thow seyst,' quod Troylus tho, 'allas,
 But, God woote, it is nought the rather so :
 Ful harde it were to helpen in this eas,
 For wele fynde I that Fortune is my fo :
 Ne alle the men that ryden konne or go
 May of hyre cruel whiel the harme withstonde,
 For, as hire luste, she pleyeth with fre and bonde.'

CXXI.

Quod Pandarns, 'Than blamestow Fortune 841
 For thow art wrothe, ye, now at arst I se :
 Wostow nat wel that Fortune is comune
 To every maner wyght, in some degré ?
 And yet thow hast this comfort, lo pardé,
 That as hire joyes moten overgone,
 So mote hire sorwes passen everyehone.

CXXII.

'For if hire whiel stynte any thinge to torne,
 Thanne cessed she Fortune anon to be :
 Now sith hire whiel by no way may sojorne, 850
 What wostow if hire mutabilité,
 Ryght as thi-selven list, wol don by the ?
 Or that she be nought fer fro thin helpynge ?
 Paraunter thow hast cause for to synge.

CXXIII.

‘ And therfor wostow what I the besече ?
 Lat be thi wo and tornynge to the grounde ;
 For who-so liste have helynge of his leche,
 To hym behoveth first unwre his wounde :
 To Cerberus in Helle ay be I bounde,
 Were it for my sustir al thi sorwe, 860
 By my wille she sholde al be thin to morwe.

CXXIV.

‘ Loke up, I seye, and telle me what she is
 Anon, that I may gone aboute thi nede :
 Know iche hire ought ? for my love telle me this ;
 Thanne wolde I hopen the rather for to spede.’
 Tho gan the veyne of Troilus to blede,
 For he was hit, and wex alle rede for schame ;
 ‘ Aha!’ quod Pandare, ‘ here bygynneth game.’

CXXV.

And with that worde he gan hym for to schake,
 And seyde, ‘ Theef, thow shalt hir name telle!’ 870
 But tho gan sely Troylus for to quake,
 As though men sholde han led hym into Helle.
 And seyde, ‘ Allas, of al my wo the welle,
 Thanne is my swote foo called Cryseyde ;’
 And wel neygh with that worde for feere he deyede.

CXXVI.

And whan that Pandare herde hyre name nevene,
 Lord ! he was glad, and seyde, ‘ Frende so dere,
 Now fare aright, for Jouves name in Hevene,

Love hath byset the welle, be of goode chere !
 For of good name, and wisdom, and manere 880
 She hath ynough, and eke of gentillesse :
 If she be fayre, thow wost thi-self, I gesse.

CXXVII.

‘ Ne nevere saugh I a moore bountevous
 Of hyre estate, ne gladder nor of speche
 A frendlyer, ne a moore graciouse
 For to do wel, ne lasse hadde nede to seehe
 What for to don ; and al this bet to eche
 In honor to as fer as she may strecche,
 A kynges herte semeth by hires a wreche.

CXXVIII.

[‘ And forthi loke of good comfort thow be ; 890
 For certainly the ferste poynt is this,
 Of noble corage, and wele ordeyne
 A man to have pees with hymself, ywis :
 So oghtist thow, for nought but good it is
 To love wele, and in a worthy place ;
 To oght not to clepe hit hap, but grace.]

CXXIX.

‘ And also thynk, and therwith gladde the,
 That syth thi lady vertuouse is alle,
 So folweth it that ther is som pyté
 Amange alle this other in general ; 900
 And forthi se that thow in speciale
 Requere nought that is ayanyis hir name,
 For vertue streccheth naught hymself to shamo.

CXXX.

‘ But wele is me that ever I was borne,
 That thou bisett art in so goode a place ;
 For, by my trowth, in love I dorst have sworne,
 The sholde nevere han tyd so fayre a grace ;
 And wostow why? for thou were wonte to chace
 At Love in scorne, and for despite him calle
 Seint Ydiot, Lorde of thise fooles alle. 910

CXXXI.

‘ How often hastow made thi nyce japes,
 And seyde, that Loves servauntz everichon
 Of nycteté ben verrey goddes apes ;
 And some wolde munche hire mete allone,
 Lyggyng a bedde, and make hem for to grone ;
 And some thou seydest hadde a blaunche fevere,
 And preydest God he sholde never kevere.

CXXXII.

‘ And som of hem took on hem for the colde,
 More than inough, so seydestow ful ofte ;
 And some han feyned ofte tyme and tolde 920
 How that thei waken, whan they slepten softe,
 And thus thei wolde han brought hemself alofte,
 And nathelees were under atte laste ;
 Thus seydestow, and japedest ful faste.

CXXXIII.

‘ Yet seydestow, that for the moore part
 Thyse lovers wolden speke in general,
 And thoughten that it was a syker art,

For faylinge, for tassayen over alle;
 Now may I jape of the, if that I shalle;
 But natheles, though that I sholde deye, 930
 That thou art noon of tho, I dorst wel seye.

CXXXIV.

‘ Now beet thy breest, and sey to god of love,
 ‘ Thi grace, lord! for now I me repente
 If I misspake, for now my-self I love :’
 Thus seye with al thin herte, in goode entente.’
 Quod Troylus, ‘ A! lorde, I me consente,
 And preye to the my japes thou foryive,
 And I schal nevermore whil that I lyve.’

CXXXV.

‘ Thow seyst wele,’ quod Pandare, ‘ and now I hope
 That thou the goddes wratho hast al apesed; 940
 And sithen thou hast wepen many a drope,
 And seyde swiche thinge where with thi god is plesed,
 Now wolde nevere God but thou were esed:
 And thynke wele she of whom rist al thi wo,
 Hereafter may thi comfort ben also.

CXXXVI.

‘ For thilke grounde that bereth the wedes wykke,
 Bereth eke thise holsom herbes, as ful ofte,
 Nexte the foule netle, rough and thikke,
 The rose waxeth, swote, and smothe, and softe;
 And next the valay is the hille olofte, 950
 And nexte the derke nyght the glade morwe,
 And also joye is next tho fyn of sorwe.

CXXXVII.

‘ Now looke that atempree be thi brydel,
 And for the beste ay suffre to the tyde,
 Or elles alle oure labour is on ydel ;
 He hasteth wele, that wysly kan abyde ;
 Be diligent and trewe, and ay wele hyde,
 Be lusti, fre, persevere in thi servise,
 And al is wele if thow wyrke in this wise.

CXXXVIII.

‘ But he that departed is in every place 966
 Is no wher hool, as writen clerkes wyse ;
 What wonder is, though swieche an have no grace ?
 Ek wostow how it fareth of som servyse ?
 As plaunte a tree or erb, in sondry wise,
 And on the morwe pulle it up as bylyve,
 No wonder is, though it may nevere thryve.

CXXXIX.

‘ And sith that god of love hath the bystowede
 In place digne unto thi worthynesse,
 Stonde faste, for to goode port hastow rowede,
 And of thiself, for any hevynesse, 970
 Hope alwey wele ; for, but-if drerynesse
 Or over-haste our bothe laboure schende,
 I hope of this to maken a ful gode ende.

CXL.

‘ And wostow why I am the lesse afered,
 Of this mater with my nece to trete ?
 For this have I herde seyde of olde lered,

Was never man or woman yet bigete,
 That was unapt to soferen loves hete
 Celestial, or elles love of kynde ;
 Forthi, som grace I hope in hyre to fynde. 980

CXLI.

‘ And for to speke of hyre in special,
 Hyre beauté to bethynken, and hyre youthe,
 It sitt hyre nought to ben celestial
 As yet, though that hir lyste bothe and kouthe :
 But, trewly, it site hire wel ryght nouth
 A worthy knyght to loven and cherice,
 And but she do, I holde it for a vice.

CXLII.

‘ Wharfor I am, and wol ben, ay redy
 To peynen me to do yow this servyse ;
 For bothe yow to pleese, this hope I 990
 Herefterwarde ; for ye ben bothe wyse,
 And konne conseyle kepe in swiche a wyse,
 That no man schal the wyser of it be,
 And so we maye ben gladded alle thre.

CXLIII.

‘ And by my trouthe I have right now of the
 A good conceyte in my wit, as I gesse,
 And what it is I wol now that thow se ;
 I thenke that, sith Love of his godenesso
 Hath the converted oute of wikkydnesse,
 That thow shalt ben the beste post, I leere, 1000
 Of alle his lay, and moost his focs to greve.

CXLIV.

‘ Ensauple whi se now :—thise wyse clerkes,
 That erren aldermost ayayn al lawe,
 And ben converted from hire wikked werkes
 Thorwgh grace of God, that list hem to him drawe,
 Than are thei folk that han moost God in awe,
 And strenghest feythed ben, I understonde,
 And konne an erreure alderbeste withstonde.’

CXLV.

When Troylus had herd Pandare assented
 To ben his help in lovyng of Cresceyde, 1010
 Weex of his wo, as who seyth, untormented,
 But hotter wex his love ; and thus he seyde
 With sobre chere, al-though his herte pleyde :—
 ‘ Now, blisful Venus, helpe ar that I sterve,
 Of the, Pandare, I mowe som thanke deserve.

CXLVI.

‘ But, dere frend, how shal my wo be lesse,
 Til this be don ? and goode ek telle me this,
 How woltow seyn of me and my destresse ?
 Leste she be wroth, this drede I moost iwis,
 Or nyl not here or trowen howe it is ; 1020
 Al this drede I, and eke for the manere
 Of the, hyre em, she nyl no swich thinge here.’

CXLVII.

Quod Pandarus, ‘ Thow hast a ful grete care,
 Lest that the cherl may falle out of the moone :
 Why, lord ! I hate of the thi nice fare !

Why entremette of that thou hast to doone?
 For Goodes love, I bydde the a boone,
 So let malon, and it shal be thi best ;'
 ' Why frend,' quod he, ' now do right as the leste.

CXLVIII.

' But herke, Pandare, o worde, for I nolde 1030
 That thou in me wendest so grete foly,
 That to my lady I desyren scholde
 That towcheth harme, or any vilanye ;
 For, dredeles, me ware levere deye,
 Than she of me aught ellis understode,
 But that that myghte sownen into goode.'

CXLIX.

Tho lough this Pandare, and anon answerde,
 ' And I thi borugh! fy! no wyght dothe but so ;
 I roughte naught though that she stode and herde
 How that thou seyste ; but farewel, I wol go ; 1040
 Adieu, be glad, God spede us bothe two !
 Yif me this labour and this bysynesse,
 And of my speede be thin alle that swettenesse.'

CL.

Tho Troilus gan doun on knees to falle,
 And Pandare in his armes hente faste,
 And seyde, ' Now fy on the Grekes alle !
 Yet, pardee, God schal help us at the laste,
 And dredeles, if that my lif may laste,
 And God toforne, lo som of hem shal smerte ; 1049
 And yet mathynketh that this avaunt may sterte.

CLI.

‘ Now, Pandare, I ne kan no more seye,
 But thow wyse, thow wost, thow mayst, thow art alle:
 My lyf, my deth, hool in thin honde I leye,
 ‘ Helpe now,’ quod he. ‘ Yis, by my trouthe, I shal.’
 ‘ God yelde the frend, and this in special,’
 Quod Troilus, ‘ that thow me recomaunde
 To hire that to the deeth may me comaunde.’

CLII.

This Pandarus tho, desyrous to serve
 His fulle frend, than seyde in this manere,—
 ‘ Farwele, and thenk I wole thi thank deserve. 1080
 Have here my trouthe, and that thow shalt wele here;’
 And went his wey, thenkyng on this matere,
 And how he best myghte hire beseche grace,
 And fynde a tyme therto and a place.

CLIII.

For every wight that hath an house to founde,
 Ne renneth naught the werk for to bygynne
 With rakel hond, but he wol byde a stounde,
 And sende his hertes lyne out fro withinne,
 Alderfirst his purpos for to wynne:
 Al this Pandare in his herte thoughte, 1070
 And caste his werk ful wysly ar he wroughte.

CLIV.

But Troylus lay tho no lenger down,
 But up anone upon his steede bay,
 And in the feelde he pleyde the leoune,

Wo was that Grek, that with hym mette that day!
 And in the town, his maner tho forth ay
 So goodely was, and gat hym so in grace,
 That ech hym lovede that loked on his face.

CLV.

For he bycome the frendlyeste wyght,
 The gentylest, and ek the mooste fre, 1080
 The thriftiest, and one the beste knyght
 That in his tyme was, or myghte be :
 Dede ware his japes and his crueltee,
 His hieghe porte and his manere estraunge,
 And ech of hem gan for a vertu chaunge.

CLVI.

Now lat us stynte of Troylus a stounde,
 That fareth lyk a man that hurte is soore,
 And is somedeel of akyng of his wounde
 Ylissed wel, but heeled no deel more :
 And, as an esy pacient, the loore 1090
 Abit of hym that gothe aboute his cure,
 And thus he dryveth forth his aventure.

EXPLICIT LIBER PRIMUS.

PROHEMIUM SECUNDI LIBRI.

I.

UT of this blake wawes for to sayllo,
 O wynde, O wynde, the weder gynneth
 to clere ;
 For in this see the boot hath swiche
 travaylle

Of my connyng, that unnethe I it stere :
 This see clepe I the tempestous matere
 Of desespeyre, that Troylus was inne ;
 But now of hope the kalendes bigynne.

II.

O lady myn, that called art Cleo,
 Thow be my spede fro this forth and my muse
 To ryme wel, this book tyl I have do ; 10
 Me nedeth here noon oother art to use ;
 For-why to every lover I me excuse,
 That of no sentement I this endyte.
 But out of Latyn in my tonge it write.

III.

Wherfor I nyl have neyther thanke ne blame
 Of al this werk, but preye yow mekely,
 Desblameth me, if any worde be lame,
 For as myn auctor seyde, so seye I :
 Ek though I speke of love unfelyngly,
 No wonder is, for it no thing of new is,— 20
 A blynde man kan nat juggen wel in hewis.

IV.

Ye knowe ek that, in forme of speche is chaunge
 Withinne a thowsand yere, and wordes tho
 That hadden prys, now wonder nyce and straunge
 Us thynketh hem, and yet thai spake hem so,
 And spedde as wele in love, as men now do :
 Ek for to wynnen love, in sondry ages,
 In sondry londes sondry ben usages.

V.

And forthi, if it happe in any wyse,
 That heere be any lover in this place, 30
 That herkeneth as the story wol devise,
 How Troylus com to his lady grace,
 And thynketh, so nolde nat I love purchace,
 Or wondreth on his speche or his doynge,
 I not ; but it is to me no wondrynge ;

VI.

For every wyght whiche that to Rome wente,
 Halt nat o path, or alwey o manere ;
 Ek in some londe were al the gamen shente,
 If that thei ferde in love as men doon here,
 As thus, in opyn delynge or in chere, 40
 In visitynge, in forme, or seyinge hire sawes ;
 For-thi men seyn, eche contree hath his lawes.

VII.

Ek scarsly ben ther in this place thre,
 That han in love seyed lik and done in alle ;
 For to thi purpos this may liken the

And me right nought, yet al is seyd or schalle ;
 Ek some men grave in tree, some in ston walle
 As it bitit ; but syn I have bigonne,
 Myn auctour shal I folwen, if I konne.

VIII.

INCIPIT LIBER SECUNDUS.

IN May, that moder is of monthes gladde, 50
 That fressche floures blew, and white, and rede,
 Be quike agayne, that wynter dede made,
 And ful of bawme is fletyng every mede ;
 When Phebus dothe his bryghte bemes sprede,
 Ryght in the white Bool it so bytydde
 As I shal synge.—On Mayes day the thridde,

IX.

That Pandarus, for alle his wyse speche,
 Felt ek his part of Loves shotes keene,
 That, koude he never so wele of lovyng preche,
 It made his hewe a day ful ofte grene ; 60
 So shope it, that hym fil that day a tene
 In love, for whiche in wo to bedde he wente,
 And made ar it was day ful many a wente.

X.

The swalwe Proignee, with a sorwful lay,
 Whan morwe com, gan make hire waymentyng
 Whi she forshapen was ; and ever lay
 Pandare abedde, half in a slomberryng,
 Til she so neygh hym made hire chiteringe,
 How Tereus gan forth hire suster take,
 That with the noyse of hire he gan awake, 70

XI.

And gan to calle, and dresen hym to ryse,
 Remembrynge hym his erand was to done
 From Troilus, and eke his grete emprise ;
 And easte, and knew in goode plyte was the moone
 To doon viage, and take his way ful sone
 Unto his neeces paleys ther bysyde :
 Now Janus, god of entree, thow hym gyde !

XII.

When he was com unto his neeces place,
 ‘ Where is my lady,’ to hire folk quod he,
 And thei him tolde, and he forth in gan pace ; 80
 And fond two other ladys sete and she,
 Withinne a paved parlour, and thay thre
 Herden a maydyn reden hem the geeste
 Of the segee of Thebes, whil hem leste.

XIII.

Quod Pandarus, ‘ madame, God yow see,
 With al youre faire book, and alle the cumpaignye :’
 ‘ Ey, uncle myn, welcome ywys !’ quod she,
 And up she roos, and by the hond in hye
 She took hym fast, and seyde, ‘ This nyght thrye,
 To goode mote it torne, of yow I mette :’ 90
 And with that worde, she down on bench hym sette.

XIV.

‘ Ye, nece, ye shal faren wel the bette,
 If God wole, alle this yere,’ quod Pandarus ;
 ‘ But I am sory that I have yow lette

To herknen of youre book ye preysen thus :
 For Goddes love, what seyth it? tel it us,—
 Is it of love? of som goode ye me leere ;
 ‘ Uncle,’ quod she, ‘ your maistresse is nat heere.’

xv.

With that they gonnen laugh, and tho she seyde,
 ‘ Thys romaunce is of Thebes that we rede, 100
 And we han herd how that kynge Layus deyede
 Thorough Edippus his sone, and al that dede :
 And heere we stynten at thise letteres rede,
 How the bysshop, as the book can telle,
 Amphyorax, fil thorwh the grounde to Helle.’

xvi.

Quod Pandarus, ‘ Al this know I my-selve,
 And alle thassege of Thebes, and the care,
 For herof ben bokes ther maked twelve :
 But lat be this, and tel me how ye fare,
 Do wey youre barbe, and shew youre face bare ;
 Do wey your book, ryse up and let us daunce, 111
 And lat us do to May som observaunce.’

xvii.

Ey! God forbede!’ quod she, ‘ be ye mad?
 Is that a wydowes lyf, so God yow save?
 By Jove ye maken me right soore adrad,
 Ye ben so wylde it semeth as ye rave!
 It sate me wel bet ay in a cave
 To bydde, and rede on holy seyntes lyves :
 Lat maydens gon to daunce, and yonge wyves.’

XVIII.

‘As evere thryve I,’ quod this Pandarus, 120
 ‘Yet koude I telle a thyng to don yow pleye:’
 ‘Now uncle deere,’ quod she, ‘telle it us
 For goddes love; is thanne thassege aweye?
 I am of Grekes so ferde, that I deye.’
 ‘Nay nay,’ quod he, ‘as evere mote I thryve,
 It is a thyng wel bet than swiche fyve.’

XIX.

‘Ye, holy God!’ quod sche, ‘what thinge is that?
 What? bet than swiche fyve? Ey nay iwis!
 For al this worlde ne kan I reden what
 It sholde ben, som jape I trow is this, 130
 And but youre selven telle us what it is,
 My wit is for tarede it al to leene;
 As helpe me God, I not nought what ye mene.’

XX.

‘And I youre borugh, ne nevere shal, for mo,
 This thyng be told to yow, as mote I thryve!’
 ‘And why so, uncle myn? whi so?’ quod sche;
 ‘By God,’ quod he, ‘that wil I telle as blyve;
 For pruder womman is thare noon on lyve,
 And ye it wist, in al the town of Troye;
 I jape nought, as ever have I joye.’ 140

XXI.

Tho gan sche wondren moore than byforn
 A thousand folde, and down hire eighen caste;
 For nevere, sith tyme that sche was born,

To knowe thyng desired she so faste :
 And with a sygh sche sayde hym atte laste,
 ‘ Now unele myn, I nyl yow nought displese,
 Nor axen moore that may do yow disese.’

XXII.

So after this, with manye wordes gladde,
 And frendely tales, and with mery cheere,
 Of this and that thay playde, and gonnen wade 156
 In many an unkouth glad and deepe matere,
 As frendes doon, when they ben met ifeere ;
 Tyl she gan axen hym how Ector ferde,
 That was the townes wal, and Grekes yerde.

XXIII.

‘ Ful wele, I thonke it God,’ quod Pandarus,
 ‘ Save in his arme he hath a litil wounde ;
 And eke his freshe brother Troylus,
 The wyse worthy Ector the secounde,
 In whom that al vertu liste habounde,
 As alle trouthe and alle gentillesse, 160
 Wysdom, honour, fredom, and worthynesse.’

XXIV.

‘ In goode fayth, eem,’ quod she, ‘ that liketh me,
 Thay faren wel, God save hem bathe two !
 For troweliche I halde it grete deyntee,
 A kynges sone in armes wel to do,
 And ben of goode condicions therto ;
 For greete power and moral vertue heere
 Is selde yseyn in o person ifeere ’

XXV.

‘ In goode faith, that is sooth,’ quod Pandarus ;
 ‘ But by my trouthe, the kyng hath sones tweye,
 That is to mene Ector and Troylus, 171
 That certeynly, though that I scholde deye,
 They ben as voyde of vyces, dar I seye,
 As any men that lyven under the sonne,
 Hyre myght is wyde iknowe, and what thei konne.

XXVI.

‘ Of Ector needeth it no more to telle ;
 In al this world ther nys a bettre knyght
 Than he, that is of worthinesse the welle,
 And wel moore vertue hath than myght ;
 This knoweth many a wys and worthi knyght ; 180
 The same prys of Troilus I seye,
 God help me so, I knowe nat swiche tweye.’

XXVII.

‘ By God,’ quod she, ‘ of Ector that is soth,
 Of Troilus the same thing trowe I ;
 For, dredelees, men tellen that he dooth
 In armys day by day so worthily,
 And bereth him here at hoom so gentilly
 To every wyght, that alle prys hath he
 Of hem that me were levest pryсед be.’

XXVIII.

‘ Ye seye right sooth ywys,’ quod Pandarus ; 190
 ‘ For yesterday, who-so hadde with hym ben,
 He myghte han wondred upon Troilus,

For nevere yet so thikke a swarm of been
 Ne fleigh, as Grekes fro hym gonne fleen ;
 And thorough the felde in every wyghtes ere,
 Ther nas no cry but, Troilus is thare !

XXIX.

‘ Now here, now thar, he hunted hem so faste,
 Ther nas but Grekes bloode ; and Troylus,
 Now he hem hurte, and hem alle down he caste,
 Ay wher he wente it was arayed thus : 200
 He was hire deth, and sheeld of lif for us,
 That as that day ther dorste noon withstonde,
 Whil that he held his bloody swerd in honde.

XXX.

‘ Therto he is the freendlyeste man
 Of gret estate, that evere I saugh my lyve :
 And wher hym liste, best felaweschipe kan
 To swiche as hym thynketh able for to thrive.’
 And with that worde tho Pandarus as blyve
 He tooke his leve, and seyde, ‘ I wol gon henne :’
 ‘ Nay, blame have I, *my*n uncle,’ quod she thenne.

XXXI.

‘ What eyleth yowe to be thus wery soone, 211
 And nameliche of wommen ? wol ye so ?
 Nay siteth down ; by God, I have to done
 With yow, to speke of wisdom er ye go.’
 And every wyght that was aboute hem tho,
 That herde that, gan fer away to stonde,
 Whil thai two hadde alle that hem liste in honde.

XXXII.

When that hir tale alle brought was to an ende,
 Of hyre estate, and of hire governaunce,
 ‘Quod Pandarus, ‘now is tyme I wende, 226
 But yet I seye, ariseth, lat us daunce,
 And caste youre wydowes habit to myschaunce :
 What luste yow thus youre-self to disfigure,
 Syn yow is tyd thus fayre an aventure?’

XXXIII.

‘A! wel bythought! for luf of God,’ quod she,
 ‘Shal I nat wyten what ye mene of this?’
 ‘No, this thyng asketh leyser,’ tho quod he,
 ‘And eke me wolde much greve iwys,
 If I it tolde and ye it toke amys :
 Yet were it bet my tonge for to stille, 230
 Than seye a sooth that were ayeins youre wille.

XXXIV.

‘For, nece myn, by the goddesse Mynerve,
 And Juppiter, that maketh the thonder ryng,
 And by the blysfyl Venus that I serve,
 Ye ben the womman in this world lyvyng,
 Withowten paramours, to my wittynge,
 That I best love and lothest am to greve,
 And that ye weten wele youre-selven I leve.’

XXXV.

‘Ywys, myn uncle,’ quod she, ‘graunt merey,
 Youre frendship have I founden evere yit; 240
 I am to no man holden trewely

So muche as yowe, and have so litil quyt :
 And with the grace of God, enforth my wyt,
 As in my gylt, I shal you nevere offende,
 And if I have or this, I wol amende.

XXXVI.

‘ But for the love of God I yowe beseche,
 As ye ben he that I love moste and triste,
 Lat be to me youre fremde maner speche,
 And say to me, youre nece, what yowe liste :’
 And with that word hire uncle anoon hire kiste, 250
 And sayde, ‘ Gladly, leve nece dere !
 Tak it for goode that I shal saye yow here.’

XXXVII.

With that she gan hire eyghen down to caste,
 And Pandarus to koghe gan a lyte,
 And sayde, ‘ Nece, alway lo ! to the laste,
 How-so it be, that som men hem delite
 With subtile art hire tales for to endyte,
 Yet for alle that in hire entencioun,
 Hire tale is al for som conclusioun.

XXXVIII.

‘ And sithen thende is every tales strengthe, 260
 And this matere is so byhovely,
 What shold I peynte or drawen it on lengthe
 ‘ To yow, that ben my frende so faythfully ?’
 And with that word he gan right inwardly
 Byholden hire, and loken on hire face,
 And sayde, ‘ On swiheche a myroure goode grace !’

XXXIX.

Than thought he thus, 'If I my tale endyte
 Aught hard, or make a processe any while,
 She shal no savour han tharin but lyte,
 And trowe I wolde hire in my wil bygile; 270
 For tendere wittes wenen al be wyle,
 Ther as they kan nat pleyntyly understonde;
 Forthi hire witte to serven wol I fonde.'

XL.

And loked on hire in a bysy wise,
 And she was ware that he byhelde hire so,
 And sayde, 'Lord! so faste ye mavyse!
 Sey ye me nevere or now, what sey ye no?'
 'Yis, yis,' quod he, 'and bett wol er I go:
 But by my trowthe I thoughte now if ye
 Be fortunate, for now men shal it se. 280

XLI.

'For to every wight som goodly aventure
 Somtyme is shape, if he it kan receyven:
 And if that he wol take of it no cure
 When that it cometh, but wilfully it weyven,
 Loo, noyther cas nor fortune hym deceyven,
 But right his verray slouthe and wrechednesse:
 And swich a wight is for to blame I gesse.

XLII.

'Goode aventure O bele nece, have ye
 Ful lightly founden, and ye kanne it take;
 And, for the love of God, and ek of me, 290

Catche it anon, leste aventure it slake :
 What shold I longer processe of it make ?
 Yif me youre hond, for in this world is noon,
 If that yow liste, a wyght so wel bigone.

XLIII.

‘ And sith I speke of goode entencion,
 As I to yow have tolde wele her biforne,
 And love as wel youre honour and renown,
 As creature in al this world yborne :
 By alle the othes that I have yow sworne,
 If ye be wroth therfor or wene I lye, 300
 Ne shal I nevere sen yow eft with eithe.

XLIV.

‘ Beth nought agast, ne qwaketh not ; wherto ?
 Ne chaungeth nought for fere so youre hewe,
 For hardely the werste of this is do ;
 And though my tale as now be to yow newe,
 Yet trist alwey ye shall me fynde trewe ;
 And were it thyng that me thoughte unsittyng,
 To yow I wolde no swich tales bryng.’

XLV.

‘ Now, my goode em, for Goddes love I preye,’
 Quod she, ‘ com of, and tel me what it is ; 310
 For both I am agast what ye wile seye,
 And ek me longeth to wite it iwis ;
 For whether it be wel or be amys,
 Sey on, lat me not in this fere dwelle.’
 So wol I don, now herkeneth I shal telle :

XLVI.

‘ Now, nece myn, the kynges dere sone,
 The goode, wyse, worthy, fresshe, and fre,
 Which alwey for to don wel is his wone,
 The noble Troilus so loveth the,
 That, but ye helpe, it wol his bane be. 320
 Lo, here is alle ! what shold I more seye ?
 Doth what yow list, to mak hym lyve or deye.

XLVII.

‘ But if ye lat hym deyen I wol sterve,
 Have here my trowth, and nece, I nyl nought lyen,
 Al schold I with this knyf my throte kerve.’
 With that the teres briste oute of his eighen,
 And seyde, ‘ If that ye don us bothe deyen
 Thus gilteles, than have ye fished fayre ;
 What mende ye though that we bothe apayre ?

XLVIII.

‘ Allas ! he whiche that is my lord so deere, 330
 That trewe man, that noble gentyl knyght,
 That naught desyreth but youre freendely cheere,
 I se him deyen ther he gothe upright ;
 And hasteth hym with alle his fulle myght
 For to ben slayn, if his fortune assente ;
 Allas, that God yow swich a beauté sente !

XLIX.

‘ If it so be that ye so cruwel be,
 That of his deth yow liste nat to reche,
 That is so trewe and worthy as ye se,

Namore than of a japare or a wreeche, 340
 If ye be swiche, youre beauté may not streche,
 To make amend of so cruwel a dede:
 Avysemente is good bifore the nede.

L.

‘Wo worth the faire gemme vertueeles!
 Wo worth that herb also that doth no boote!
 Wo worth that beauté that is routheles!
 Wo worth that wyght that tret ech under foote!
 And ye, that be of beauté crop and roote,
 If therwithal in yow ther be no routhe,
 Thanne is it harm ye lyven, by my trouthe! 350

LI.

‘And also thynke wel that it is no gaude,
 For me were levere, that thow, and I, and he,
 Were hanged, than I sholde ben his baude,
 As heigh as men mighte on us alle ysee:
 I am thin em, the shame were to me,
 As wel as the, if that I sholde assente,
 Thorwgh myn abet, that he thin honour shente.

LII.

‘Now understonde, for I nought requere
 To bynde yow to hym thorwgh no beheste,
 But oonly that ye mak hym bettere chere 360
 Than ye han don or this, and moore feste,
 So that his lyve be saved at the leste:
 This al and som, and pleyedly oure entente;
 God help me so, I nevere other mente.

LIII.

' Loo, this requeste is nought but skyi iwis,
 No doute of reson pardee is ther noon :
 I set the werste, lest that ye dreden thys,
 Men wolde wondren sen hym come or gono :
 Ther ayeynis answeere I thus anone,
 That every wyght, but he be fool of kynde, 370
 Wol demo it love of frendshippe in his mynde.

LIV.

' What? who wol demen, though he se a man
 To temple go, that he the ymages etteth?
 Thynke ek, how wel and wysely that he kan
 Gouverne hymself, that he nothyng foryeteth,
 That where he comth, he prys and thanke hym
 geteth ;
 And ek therto he shal come here so selde,
 What fors were it though al the town bihelde?

LV.

' Swich love of frendes regneth al this town :
 And wre yow in that mantel everemoo ; 380
 And God so wys be my savacioun,
 As I have seyde, youre best is to do soo :
 But, goode nece, alway to stynte his wo,
 So lat youre daunger suered ben alyte,
 That of his deth ye be nought for to wyte.'

LVI.

Creseyde, which that herd hym in this wyse,
 Thoughte, ' I shal feelen what he mene iwys :'
 ' Now em,' quod she, ' what wolden ye devyse?

What is youre rede I sholde don of this?'
 'That is wel seyde,' quod he, 'eerteyn best is, 390
 That ye hym love ayeyn for his lovyng,
 As love for love is skylful guerdonyng.

LVII.

'Thynk ek how elde wasteth every houre
 In eeche of yow a partye of beauté,
 And therfor, er that age the devoure,
 Go love, for olde thar wol no wyght of the:
 Lat this proverb a lore unto yow be,
 'To lat I war,' quod beauté, 'when it paste,
 And elde daunteth daunger at the laste.'

LVIII.

The kynges foole is wonte to eryen lowde, 400
 When that hym thynkth a womman berth hire heighe,
 'So longe mote ye lyve, and alle proude,
 Tyl crowes feete be growe under youre eigh!
 And sende yow thanne a myroure in to pry
 In whiche ye maye se youre face a morwe!
 Neece I bydde wysse yow no more sorwe.'

LIX.

With this he stynte, and caste adown the hede,
 And she began to breste awepe anone,
 And seyde, 'Allas, for wo! why nere I dede?
 For of this world the feith is al agone: 41
 Allas! what sholden straunge folke me don.
 When he that for my beste freend I wende,
 Ret me to love, and shold it me defende?'

LX.

‘ Allas, I wold han tristed douteles,
 That if that I, thorough my disaventure,
 Hadde loved outhur hym or Achilles,
 Ector, or any manner creature,
 Ye nold han had no mercy ne mesure
 On me, but alwey had me in repreve :
 This false world, allas ! who may it leve ! 420

LXI.

‘ What ! is this al the joye and alle the feeste ?
 Is this youre rede ? is this my blysful eas ?
 Is this the verray mede of youre becheste ?
 Is alle this peynted proces seyde, allas,
 Ryght for this fyn ? O lady myn Pallas,
 Thow in this dredeful eas for me purveye,
 For so astoned am I, that I deye.’

LXII.

With that she gan ful sorufully to syke.
 ‘ A ! may it be no bet ?’ quod Pandarus ;
 ‘ By God I shal namore com here this wyke, 430
 And God toforne, that am mystristed thus :
 I se ful wele that ye sette lyte of us,
 Or of oure deth : allas, I woful wreche !
 Myght he yit lyve, of me is nought to reche.

LXIII.

‘ O thou cruel god, O dispitouse Marte,
 O Furies thre of Helle, on yow I crye,
 So lat me nevere out of this house departe,

If that I ment harm or any vilanye :
 But sith I se my lord moote nedes deye,
 And I with hym, here I me shryve and seye, 440
 That wikkedly ye don us bothe to deye.

LXIV.

‘ But sith it liketh yow that I be dede,
 By Neptunus, that god is of the see,
 Fro this forth shal I nevere eten brede,
 Unto I myn own hertes blode may see ;
 For certein I wol deye as sone as he.’
 And up he sterte, and on his way he raughte,
 Til she agayn hym by the lappe ykaughte.

LXV.

Criseyde, wyehe that wel neigh starf for pure fere,
 So ek as she was the ferfullest wight 450
 That myghte be, and herd eke with hire ere,
 And saugh the soriful earnest of the knyght,
 And in his preyers saughe eke noon unright,
 And for the harme that myght ek fallen more,
 She gan to rew and dredde her wonder sore.

LXVI.

And thoughte thus, ‘ Unhappes fallen thykke
 Alday for love, and in swiche manere eas,
 As men ben cruel in hem-self and wykke,
 And if this man here sla him-self, allas !
 In my presauce it wol be no solas. 460
 What men wolde of it deme I kan nat seye ;
 It nedeth me ful sleighely for to pleye.’

LXVII.

And with a sorwful syk, she seyde threye,
 ‘A, Lord! what me is tyd a sory chaunce,
 For myn estate lith now in a jupartye,
 And ek myn emes lyf is in balaunce:
 But natheles, with goddes governaunce
 I shal so done, myn honour shal I kepe,
 And ek his lyf:’ and stynte for to wepe.

LXVIII.

‘Of harmes two, the lesse is for to cheese, 470
 Yet have I levere maken hym goode chere
 In honour, than myn emes lyf to lese,
 Ye seyn, ye nothyngel elles me requere.’
 ‘No, wys,’ quod he, ‘myn owne nece dere.’
 ‘Now wel,’ quod she, ‘and I wol do my peyne,
 I shal myn herte ayeynist my liste constreyne.

LXIX.

‘But that I nyl nat holden hym in honde,
 Ne love a man, ne kan I nought, ne may,
 Ayeyns my wyl, but elles wol I fonde,
 Myn honour saufe, plesen hym fro day to day; 480
 Therto nold I nat ones han seyde nay,
 But that I drede as in my fantasye:
 But cesse cause, ay cesseth maladye.

LXX.

‘But here I make a protestacioun,
 That in this processe, if ye depper go,
 That certanly, for no savacion

Of yow, though that ye sterve bothe two,
 Though al the world on a day be my fo,
 Ne shal I nevere on hym han other rowthe :'
 ' I graunt wele,' quod Pandarus, ' by my trouthe.' 490

LXXI.

' But may I truste wele therto,' quod he,
 ' That of this thyng that ye han hight me here
 Ye wol it holden trewly unto me ?'
 Ye, douteles' quod she, ' myn uncle deere.'
 ' Ne that I shal han cause in this matere.'
 Quod he, ' to pleyne, or efter yow to preche ?'
 ' Why no, pardee ! what nedeth more speche ?'

LXXII.

The fillen they in oother tales gladde
 Tyl at the laste, ' O gooode em,' quod she tho,
 ' For his love whiche that us bothe made, 500
 Tel me how firste ye westen of his woo :
 Woote noon of it but ye ?' he seyde, ' No :'
 ' Kan he wel speke of love,' quod she, ' I prey ?
 Tel me, for I the bet shal me porveye.'

LXXIII.

The Pandarus a litil gan to smyle,
 And seyde : ' By my trowthe I wol yow telle,—
 This oother day, naught gon ful longe while,
 In-with the paleys gardyn by a welle,
 Gan he and I, wel half a day to dwelle,
 Ryght for to speken of an ordynaunce, 510
 How we the Grekes myghten disavaunce.

LXXIV.

' Soone after that bigonne we to lepe,
 And casten with oure dartes to and fro,

Til at the laste, he seyde, he wolde slepe,
 And on the gres adown he layde him tho ;
 And I ther after gan roman to and fro,
 Til that I herde, as that I welke allone,
 How he bygan ful wofully to grone.

LXXV.

‘ Tho gan I stalke hym softely byhynde,
 And sykerly, the sothe for to seyne, 520
 As I kan clepe ayeyn now to my mynde,
 Right thus to love he gan hym for to pleyne ;
 He seyde, ‘ Lord, have routhe upon my peyne,
 Al have I ben rebel in myn entente,
 Now, meâ culpa, lord, I me repente.

LXXVI.

‘ ‘ O God, that at thy disposieion
 Ledest the fyn, by juste purveiaunce,
 Of every wight, my lowe confession
 Acepte in gree, and send me swich penaunce
 As liketh the ; but from desesperaunce, 530
 That may my goost departe away fro the,
 Thow be my shelde, for thi benignité.

LXXVII.

‘ For certes, lord, so sore hath she me wounded
 That stode in blake, with lokynge of hire eighen,
 That to myn hertis botme it is isownded,
 Thorugh wiehe I woote I moote nedes dyen ;
 This is the werste, I dar me nat wryen,
 And wel the hootter ben the gledis rede
 That men hem wren with asshen pale and dede.’

LXXVIII.

‘ With that he smote his hed adown anon 540
 And gan to motre, I note what trewely,
 And I with that gan away stille gone
 And lete therof, as nothyng wyste hadde I,
 And come ayein anon and stode hym by,
 And seyde, ‘ Awake, ye slepen alle to longe !
 It semeth nat that love doth yow to longe,

LXXIX.

‘ ‘ That slepen swo that no man may yow wake ;
 Who sey evere or this so dul a man ?’
 ‘ Ye, frend,’ quod he, ‘ do ye youre heddes ake
 For love, and lat me lyven as I kan.’ 550
 But though that he for wo was pale and wan,
 Yet made he tho as fresshe a contaunce,
 As though he scholde have led the newe daunce.

LXXX.

‘ This passede forth, tyl now this other day
 It felle that I come romynge al allone
 Into his chaumber, and fonde how that he lay
 Upon his bedde ; but man so sore grone
 Ne herde I nevere, and what that was his mone
 Ne wyste I nought, for as I was comynge
 Al sodeynly he lefte his compleynynge. 560

LXXXI.

‘ Of which I toke somewhat suspencion
 And ner I come, and fond he wepte soore ;
 And God so wys be my savacioun,

As nevere of thyng had I no rowthe more ;
 For neyther with engyn, ne with lore,
 Unnethes myght I hym fro the deth kepe,
 That yet fele I myn herte for him wepe.

LXXXII.

‘ And, God woot, nevere sith that I was borne
 Was I so bysi no man for to preche,
 Ne nevere was to wyght so depe sworne, 570
 Or he me told who myghte ben his leche ;
 But now to yow rehersen al his speche,
 Or al his woful wordes for to sowne,
 Ne byd me naught, but ye wol se me sworne.

LXXXIII.

‘ But for to save his lyf, and elles nought,
 And to no harme of yow, thus am I dryven ;
 And for the love of God that us hath wrought
 Swuche chere hym doth, that he and I may lyven ;
 Now have I plat to yow myn herte schryven,
 And sith ye woote that myn entent is elene, 580
 Take hede therof, for I non evel mene.

LXXXIV.

‘ And right good thryft, I pray to God, have ye,
 That han swich oon icaught withouten net,
 And be ye wys, as ye ben fayr to se,
 Wel in the ringe than is the ruby set ;
 Ther were nevere two so wele ymet
 When ye ben his al hole, as he is youre :
 Ther myghty God graunt us to se that houre !’

LXXXV.

‘Nay, therof speke I nought:’ ‘Ha, a!’ quod she,
 ‘As helpe me God, ye shenden every dele;’ 590
 ‘O! mercy, dere nece,’ anon, quod he,
 ‘What so I spake I mente nought but wele,
 By Mars the god, that helmed is of stele:
 Now beth nought wroth, my blode, my nece dere.’
 ‘Now wel,’ quod she, ‘foryeven be it here.’

LXXXVI.

With this he toke his leve, and home he wente;
 A, Lord! so he was glad, and wel bygon!
 Criseyde aros, no longer she ne stente,
 But streght into hire closet wente anon,
 And set hire down, as stille as any stone, 600
 And every word gon up and down to wynde,
 That he hadde seyde, as it come hire to mynde,

LXXXVII.

And wax somdele astoned in hire thought,
 Right for the newe cas; but when that she
 Was ful avysed, tho fonde she right nought
 Of peril, why she aught aferde be:
 For man may love of possibilité
 A womman so, his herte may to-breste,
 And she nought love ayeyn, but if hire liste.

LXXXVIII.

But as she sat allon and thoughte thus, 610
 Ascry aroos at searmich alle withoute,
 And men cried in the strete, ‘Se Troilus

Hath right now put to flyght the Grekes route.
 With that gan al hire meyné for to shoute :
 ‘ A ! go we se, easte up the yates wide,
 For thorwgh this strete he moote to paleys ryde ;’

LXXXIX.

For oother way is to the gates noon,
 Of Dardanus, there open is the cheyne :
 With that come he, and alle his folke anon,
 An esy pace rydyng, in routes tweyne, 620
 Right as his happy day was, sothe to seyne :
 For wiche men seyne may nought distourbed be
 That shal bytyden of necessité.

xc.

This Troilus sat eon his bay stede
 Alle armed save his hed ful richely,
 And woned was his hors, and gan to blede,
 On wiche he roode a pase ful softly :
 But swiche a knyghtely sighte trewely
 As was on hym, was nought withouten faile,
 To loke on Mars, that god is of batayle. 630

xci.

So like a man of armes and a knyght,
 He was to sen, fulfild of heigh prowessse ;
 For bothe he hadde a body, and a myght
 To don that thyng, as wele as hardynesse ;
 And ek to sen hym in his gere hym dresse.
 So fressh, so yong, so weldy semed he,
 It was an heven upon hym for to se.

XCII.

His helme to-hewen was in twenty places,
 That by a tyssew henge his bak byhynde,
 His shelde to-dasshed was with swerdes and maces,
 In which men myghte many an arwe fynde, 641
 That thyrlled hadde horn, and nerf, and rynde ;
 And ay the peple criede, ‘ Here comyth oure joye,
 And, nexte his brother, holdere up of Troye.’

XCIII.

For which he wex a litel rede for schame
 Whan he the peple upon him herde crien,
 That to byholde it was a noble game,
 How sobrelieche he caste down his eighen :
 Criseyd anon gan al his chere aspyen,
 And leet so softe it in hire herte synken, 650
 That to hire self she seyde, ‘ Who yaf me drynken ?’

XCIV.

For of hire owene thought she wex al rede,
 Remembrynge hire right thus, ‘ Lo ! this is he,
 Wich that myn uncle swerth he moot be dede,
 But I on hym have merey and pité :’
 And with that thought, for pure ashamed she
 Gan in hire hed to pulle, and that as faste,
 While he and alle the peple forby paste.

XCV.

And gan to caste, and rollen up and down
 Within hire thought his excellent prowesse, 660
 And his estat, and also his renoun,

His wit, his shappe, and ek his gentilnesse ;
 But moost hire favour was for his destresse
 Was al for hire, and thought it as a rowthe
 To slane swich oon, if that he mente trouthe.

XCVI.

Now myghte som envyous jangle thus,
 ‘ This was a sodeyn love, how myghte it be
 That she so lightly lovede Troylus,
 Right for the firste sight ?’ Ye, pardé ?
 Now who seith so, mote he nevere ythe !
 For every thyng a gynnyng hath it nede
 Er alle be wrought, withouten any drede.

XCVII.

For I sey nought that she so sodeynly
 Yaf hym hire love, but that she gan enclyne
 To like hym firste, and I have tald yow why
 And efter that, his manhod and his pyne,
 Made love withinne hire herte for to myne ;
 For which by proces, and by goode servyse
 He gat hire love, and in no sodeyn wyse.

XCVIII.

And also blisful Venus, wel arayed,
 Sat in hire seventhe hous of Hevene tho,
 Disposed wel, and with aspectes payed
 To helpen sely Troilus of his wo :
 And soth to seyn, she nas nat al a fo
 To Troilus, in his nativitee ;
 God woot that wele the sonner spedde he.

XCIX.

Now lat us stynte of Troilus a throwe,
 That rideth forth, and lat us torne faste
 Unto Criseyde, that henge hire hed ful lawe,
 Ther as she sat allone, and gan to easte 690
 Wheron she wold apoynte hire at the laste,
 If it so were hire em ne wolde cesse,
 For Troilus upon hire for to presse.

c.

And, lord ! so sche gan in hire thought arguwe
 In this matere, of which I have yow tolde,
 And what to done best were, and what eschuwe,
 That plytede she ful ofte in many folde :
 Now was hire herte warm, now was it colde.
 And what she thoughte, somewhat shal I wryte,
 As to myn auctour listeth for tendite. 700

cī.

She thoughte wel, that Troilus persone
 She knewe by sight and ek his gentilnesse :
 And thus she seyde, ‘ Al were it not to done
 To graunt hym love yet, for his worthinesse,
 It were honor, with pleye and with gladnesse,
 In honesté, with swich a lord to dele,
 For myn estat, and also for his hele.

cīī.

‘ Eke wel wot I my kynges sonne is he,
 And sith he hath to se me swich delite,

If I wold outreliche his sighte flee, 710
 Paraunter he myght have me in dispite,
 Thorwgh which I myghte stond in worse plite :
 Not were I wis, me hate to purchase
 Withouten nede, ther I may stonde in grace.

CIII.

‘ In every thyng, I wot ther lith mesure ;
 For though a man forbede dronkennesse,
 He naught forbet that every creature
 Be drenkynlees for alway, as I gesse :
 Ek, sith I wote for me is his destresse,
 I ne aught nat for that thyng hym dispice, 720
 Sith it is so he meneth in goode wyse.

CIV.

‘ And ek I knowe, of longe tyme agon,
 His thewes goode, and that he is nat nyce,
 Navauntour, seith men, certein is he noon,
 To wys is he to don so grete a vyce :
 Ne als I nyl hym nevere so cherice,
 That he may mak avaunte by juste cause ;
 He shal me nevere bynde in swich a clause.

CV.

‘ Now set a caas, the hardeste is iwys,
 Men myghten demen that he loveth me : 730
 What dishonour were it unto me this ?
 May Ich hym lett of that ? why nay, pardee !
 I knowe also, and alway here and see,
 Men loven wommen al bysyde hire leue,
 And when hem liste namore lat hym bileue !

CVI.

‘ I think ek how able he is for to have
 Of al this ilke noble town the thriftyeste,
 To ben his love, so she hire honour save :
 For oute and oute he is the worthyeste,
 Save oonly Eetor, which that is the beste ; 740
 And yit his lyf alle lith now in my cure,
 But swich is love, and ek myn aventure.

CVII.

‘ Ne me to love a wonder is it nought ;
 For wele wote I my-self, so God me spede
 Al wold I that noon man wyste of this thoughte,
 I am oon the fayreste, out of drede,
 And goodelyeste, who-so taketh hede,
 And so men seyn in al the town of Troye ;
 What wonder is it though he of me have joye?

CVIII.

‘ I am myn owene womman, wele at ese, 750
 I thanke it God, as efter myn estate,
 Right yong, and stonde unteyd in lusty leese,
 Withouten jalousie, or swich debat :
 Shal noon housebonde seyn to me ‘ chek mat ;’
 For eyther thei ben ful of jalousie,
 Or maysterful, or loven novelrye.

CIX.

‘ What shal I don ? to what fyn lyve I thus ?
 Shal I nat love in cas if that me liste ?
 What ? pardieux ! I am nought religieuse ;

And though that I myn herte sette at reste 760
 Upon this knyght that is the worthyeste,
 And kepe alway my honour, and my name,
 By al right it may do me no schame.'

CX.

But right as when the sonne shyneth brighte
 In March that chaungeth ofte tyme his face,
 And that a cloude is put with wynde to flyght,
 Which oversprat the sonne, as for a space,
 A cloudy thought gan thorough hire soule pace,
 That overspradde hire brighte thoughtes alle,
 So that for feere almost she gan to falle. 770

CXI.

That thought was this:—'Allas! syn I am free,
 Shold I now love, and putte in jupartye
 My sikernesse, and thrallen libertye?
 Allas! how dorste I thenken that folye?
 May I nought wel in other folk aspye
 Hire dredful joye, hire constreynte, and hire peyne?
 Ther loveth noon, that seche nath why to pleyne.

CXII.

' For love is yet the mooste stormy lyf,
 Right of hymself, that evere was bygonne;
 For evere som mystruste, or nyce stryfe, 780
 Ther is in love, som cloude is over that sonne:
 Therto we wreched wommen nothyng konne.
 When us is wo, but sitte, and wepe, and thynke;
 Oure wreche is this oure owen wo to drynke.

CXIII.

·Also thise wikkede tonges ben so preste
 To speke us harme ; ek men ben so untrewe,
 That right anon, as cessed is hire leste,
 So ceseth love, and forth to love a newe :
 But harme idon is don, who-so it rewe ;
 For though this men for love hem firste to-rende,
 Ful scharpe bygynnyng breketh oft at ende. 791

CXIV.

‘ How ofte tyme hath it yknowen be
 The treson, that to wommen hath ben do ?
 To what fyn is swich love I kan nat se,
 Or wher bicometh it when that it is ago ;
 There is no wyght that woot, I trowe so,
 Wher it bicometh ; lo, no wight on it sporneth ;
 That arst was nothyng, into nought it torneth.

CXV.

‘ How bisy, if I love, ek most I be 799
 To plesen hem that jangle of love, and demen,
 And coye hem, that they seye noon harme of me ;
 For though ther be no cause, yet hem semen
 Alle be for harme that folk hire frendes quemen ;
 And who may stoppen every wykked tonge,
 Or sown of belles while that thei ben ronge ?’

CXVI.

And efter that hire thought gan for to elere
 And seyde, ‘ He which that nothyng undertaketh
 Nothyng nacheveth, be hym leve or deere ;’

And with another thought hire herte qwaketh ;
 Than slepeth hope, and after drede awaketh, 810
 Now hoot, now cold ; but thus bytwixen tweye
 Tho rist hire up, and went hire for to pleye.

CXVII.

Adown the steyre anon right tho she wente
 Into the gardyn with hire neeces thre,
 And up and down ther made many a wente,
 Flexippe and she, Tharbe, and Antigone,
 To pleyen, that it joye was for to se ;
 And other of hire wommen, a grete route,
 Hire folweden in the gardyn alle aboute.

CXVIII.

This yerde was large, and rayled alle thaleyces, 820
 And shadwed wel with blosmy bowes grene,
 And benched newe, and sonded alle the wayes,
 In whiche she walketh arm in arme betwene ;
 Til at the laste Antigone the shene
 Gan on a Trojan songe to syngen clere,
 That it an hevene was hire vois to here.

CXIX.

She seyde, ‘ O Love, to whom I have, and shal
 Ben humble subgit, trewe in myn entente,
 As I best kan to you, lord, yeve Ich al
 For everemo myn hertes lust to rente : 830
 For nevere yet thi grace no wight sente
 So blisful cause as me, my lyf to lede
 In alle joye and scurté, oute of drede.

CXX.

‘ The blisful god hath me so wele besette
 In love iwis, that alle that bereth lyf
 Ymagynen ne koude how to ben bett ;
 For, lord, withowten jalousye or stryf
 I love oon which that moost is ententif
 To serven wel, unwery or unfeyned, 839
 That evere was, and leest with harme destreynd.

CXXI.

‘ As he that is the wel of worthynesse,
 Of trowthe ground, myroure of goodelyhede,
 Of wit Apollo, stoon of sikernes,
 Of vertue roote, of lust fynder and hede,
 Thorough which is alle sorwe fro me dede :
 Iwis I love hym best, so doth he me ;
 Now goode thryft have he, wher-so that he be !

CXXII.

‘ Whom shold I thanken but yow, God of Love,
 Of alle this blisse in which to bathe I gynne ?
 And thanked be ye, Lord, for that I love ! 850
 This is the righte lyf that I am inne,
 To flemen alle manere vyce and synne :
 This doth me so to vertue for tentende
 That day by day I in my wyl amende.

CXXIII.

‘ And who-so seith that for to love is vice,
 Or thraldom, though he fele in it destresse,

He outhur is envyous, or right nyce,
 Or is unmyghty for his shrewednesse,
 To loven, for swich maner folk I gesse
 Defamen Love, as nothyng of it knowe, 860
 They speken mych but they benten nevere his bowe.

CXXIV.

‘ What is the sonne wors of kynde righte,
 Though that a man, for fieblenesse of his eighen,
 May not endure on it to se for bryghte ?
 Or love the wors, theigh wrechis on it crien ?
 No wele is worth that may no sorwe dryen ;
 And forthy, who that hath an hede of verre
 Fro caste of stones war hym in the werre.

CXXV.

‘ But I with al myn herte and alle my myght,
 As I have seyde, wol love unto my laste 870
 My dere herte and alle myn owen knyght,
 In whiche myn herte growen is so faste
 And his in me, that it schal evere laste :
 Alle dredde I firste to love hym to bigynne,
 Now wote I wel ther is no peril inne.’

CXXVI.

And of hire song right with that worde she stente,
 And therwithalle, ‘ Now, nece,’ quod Criseyde,
 ‘ Who made this songe now with so goode entente ?
 Antigone answerde anon and seyde,
 ‘ Madam, iwis, the goodelycste mayde 880
 Of grete estate in al the town of Troye,
 And let hire lyf in moost honour and joye.’

CXXVII.

‘ Forsothe so it semeth by hire songe,
 Quod tho Criseyde, and gan therwith to syke,
 And seyde, ‘ Lord, is ther swiche blisse amonge
 These lovers, as they konnen faire endite?’
 ‘ Ye, ywis,’ quod fresshe Antigone the white;
 ‘ For al the folk that han or ben on lyve
 Ne konne wel the blisse of love deseryve.

CXXVIII.

‘ But wene ye that every wrecche woot 890
 The parfit blisse of love? why nay, iwys!
 They wenen al be love if oon be hote;
 Do way, do way! they wote nothyng of this!
 Men moste axe at seintes if it is
 Aught fayre in heven; why? for they kan telle;
 And axen fendes, is it foule in Helle.’

CXXIX.

Criseyde unto that purpos nought answerde,
 But seyde, ‘ Iwis it wol be nyght as faste,’
 But every word, which that she of hire herde,
 She gan to prenten in hire herte faste, 900
 And ay gan love hire lesse for tagaste
 Than it dyde erst, and synken in hire herte,
 That she wax somewhat able to converte.

CXXX.

The dayes honour, and the hevenes eye,
 The nyghtes foo, al this clepe I the sonne,

Gan westren faste, and downward for to wrye,
 As he that hadde his dayes cours yronne;
 And white thynges wexen dymme and donne
 For lakke of lyght, and sterres for tapere
 That she and al hire folk in wente yfere. 910

CXXXI.

So when it liked hire to go to reste,
 And voyded weren they that voyden aughte,
 She seyde, that to slepen wel hire leste:
 Hire wommen soon untyl hire bed hire broughte:
 When al was hust, than lay she stil and thoughte
 Of al this thyng the manere and the wyse;
 Reherce it nedeth nought, for ye ben wyse.

CXXXII.

A nyghtyngale, upon a eedre grene
 Under the chaumber wal ther as she lay,
 Ful lowde songe ayein the moone shene, 920
 Paraunter, in his briddes wyse, a lay
 Of love, that made hire herte fresshe and gay;
 That herkned she so longe in goode entente,
 Tyl at the laste the dede slepe hire hente.

CXXXIII.

And as she slepe, anon right tho hire mette,
 How that an egle, fethered white as bone,
 Under hire breste his longe elewes sette,
 And out hire herte he rent, and that anon,
 And dide his hert into hire breste to gon;
 Of whiche she naught agroos ne no thyng smerte,
 And forth he fleigh, with herte left for herte. 930

CXXXIV.

Now lat hire slepe, and we oure tales holde
 Of Troilus, that is to palays ryden,
 Fro the searmich of the whiche I yow tolde,
 And in his chaumber sit, and hath abyden,
 Til two or thre of his messagers yeden
 For Pandarus, and soughten hym ful faste,
 Til they hym fonde, and broughte hym at the laste.

CXXXV.

This Pandarus come lepyng in atones,
 And seyde thus, ‘Who hath ben wel *y*bette 940
 To day with swerdes. and with sleyng stones,
 But Troilus, that hath kaughte hym an hete?’
 And gan to jape, and seyde, ‘Lorde, ye swete!
 But ris and lat us soupe, and go to reste;’
 And he answerde hym, ‘Do we as the leste.’

CXXXVI.

With alle the haste goodely that they myghte,
 They spedde hem fro the soper unto bedde,
 And every wyght oute at the dore hym dyghte,
 And wher hym leste, upon his way he spedde,
 But Troilus, that thought his herte bledde 950
 For wo, til that he herde som tydyng,
 He seyde, ‘Frende, shal I now wepe or syng?’

CXXXVII.

Quod Pandarus, ‘Li stil! and lat me slepe,
 And don thin hode, thy nedes spedde be,
 And chese if thow wylte syng or daunce or lepe;

At shorte wordes thow shalt trowe me :—
 Sir, my nece wol doen wel by the,
 And love the beste, by God and by my trouthe,
 But lakke of pursuyte mak it in thi slouthe.

CXXXVIII.

‘ For thus ferforth I have thy worke bigonne, 960
 Fro day to day, til this day by the morwe,
 Hire love of frendship have I to the wonne,
 And also hath she layd hire faith to borwe ;
 Algate a foot is hameled of thi sorwe ;
 What shold I lenger sermon of it holde ?
 As ye han herd bifore, al he hym tolde.

CXXXIX.

But right as floures, thorough the cold of nyghte
 Yclosed, stowpen on her stalkes lowe,
 Redressen hem ayen the sonne brighte,
 And spreden on hire kynde cours by rowe ; 970
 Right so gan tho his eghen up to throwe
 This Troilus, and seyde, ‘ O Venus dere,
 Thi might, thi grace, yheried be it here !’

CXL.

And to Pandarus he held up both his hondes,
 And seyde, ‘ Lord ! al thin be that I have ;
 For I am hole, al brosten ben my bondes ;
 A thousand Trojans who so that me yave,
 Eeh efter other, God so wys me save,
 Ne myghte me so gladen ; lo, myn herte,
 It spredeth so for joie, it wol to-sterete. 980

CXXI.

‘ But, lord ! how shal I don ? how shal I laven ?
 Whan shal I next my deere herte see
 How shal this longe tyme away be dryven,
 Til that thow be ayein at hire fro me ?
 Thow mayst answer, ‘ abid, abid ! ’ but he
 That hangeth by the nekke, soth to seyne,
 In grete disese abideth for the peyne.’

CXXII.

‘ Al esily now, for the love of Marte,’
 Quod Pandarus, ‘ for every thyng hath tyme ;
 So longe abid til that the nyght departe, 990
 For also siker as thow list here bi me,
 And God toforne I wol be thare at pryme,
 And for thi werk somewhat as I shal seyne,
 Or on som other wight this charge leye.

CXXIII.

‘ For, pardé, God wote, I have evere yit
 Ben redy the to serve, and to this nyght
 Have naught feyned, but emforth my wit
 Don al thi luste, and shal with alle my myght ;
 Do now as I shal seyne, and fare arighte ;
 And if thow nylt, wyte al thi-self thi care, 1000
 On me is nought alonge thin yvel fare.

CXXIV.

‘ I woote wel, that thow wyser art than I
 A thowsand fold ; but if I were as thow,
 God helpe me so, as I wolde outrelly

Of myn owen honde write hire right now
 A lettre, in which I wolde hire tellen how
 I ferd amys, and hire biseche of routhe :
 Now helpe thiself, and leve it nought for slouthe.

CXLV.

‘ And I my-self wol therwith to hire gone,
 And when thou woste that I am with hire there,
 Worth thou upon a cursur right anon, 1011
 Ye hardily ! right in thi beste gere,
 And ride forth by the place, as nought it were,
 And thou shalt fynde us, if I may, sittynge
 At som wyndow into the strete lokyng.

CXLVI.

‘ And if the leste, than maistow us salue,
 And upon me make thou thy contenaunce,
 But, by thi lif, bewar and faste eschue
 To tarien ought ; God schilde us fro mischaunce !
 Ride forth thy way, and hold thy governaunce,
 And we shal speke of the somewhat I trowe, 1021
 When thou art gon, to don thyn eris glowe.

CXLVII.

‘ Touchynge thi lettre, thou ert wyse ynough,
 I wot thou nyht it digneliche endite,
 As make it with thyse argumentez tough,
 Ne scryvenyssh or craftily thou it write ;
 Byblotte it with thi teris ek a lite,
 And if thou write a goodely worde al softe,
 Though it be goode, reherce it nought to oste.

CXLVIII.

‘ For though the beste harppour upon lyve 1030
 Wold upon the beste sowned joly harpe
 That evere was, with alle his fyngeres fyve
 Touche ay o strenge or ay o warbul harpe,
 Were his nayles poyntes nevere so scharpe,
 It sholde maken every wyght to dulle,
 To here his glee, and of his strokes fulle.

CXLIX.

‘ Ne jompre ek no discordant thyng yfere,
 As thus, to usen termes of fisyk ;
 In loves termes hold of thy matere
 The forme alway, and do that it be like ; 1040
 For if a peyntour wolde peynte a pike
 With asses feet, and hedde it as an ape,
 It cordeth naught, so nere it but a jape.’

CL.

This conseil lyked wele unto Troilus,
 But as a dredful love he seyde this :—
 ‘ Allas, my dere brother Pandarus,
 I am aschamed for to wryte, iwis,
 Leste of myn innocence I seyde amys,
 Or that she nolde it for despit receyve ;
 Than were I ded, ther myght it nothyng weyve.’

CLI.

To that Pandare answerde, ‘ If the leste, 1051
 Do that I seyde, and lat me therwith gon ;
 For by that Lord that formed est and weste,

I hope of hit to brynge answerē anoon
Right of hire honde, and if that thow nyht noon
 Lat be, and sory mote he ben his lyve,
 Ayeyn thi lust that helpeth the to thrive.'

CLII.

Quod Troilus, 'Depardieux, ich assente ;
 Sith that the lest, I wil arise and wryte ;
 And blisful God pray ich, with goode entente, 1060
 The vyage and the letre I shal endite,
 So spede it, and thow, Minerva the whyte,
 Yif thow me wit my letre to devyse ;'
 And sette hym down, and wrot right in this wyse.

CLIII.

First he gan hire his righte lady calle,
 His hertes lif, his lust, his sorwes leche,
 His blisse, and ek thise other termes alle,
 That in swich eas this lovers alle seeche ;
 And in ful humble wyse, as in his speche,
 He gan hym reemaunde unto hire graee ; 1070
 To telle alle how, it axeth muchel spae.

CLIV.

And efter this ful lowely he hire preyde
 To be nought wroth, theigh he of his folye
 So hardy was to hire to write, and seyde
 That love it made, or elles moost he dye,
 And pytously gan mercy for to crye.
 And efter that he seyde, and leigh ful lowde,
 Hym-self was litel worth, and lesse he koude.

CLV.

And that she shold han his konnyng excused,
 That litel was, and ek he dradde hire so, 1080
 And his unworthynesse he ay acused :
 And after that than gan he telle his wo,
 But that was endeles withouten hoo ;
 And seyde, he wolde in trouth alway hym holde,
 And radde it over, and gan the letre folde.

CLVI.

And with hise salte teris gan he bathe
 The ruby in his signet, and it sette
 Upon the wex deliverliche and rathe ;
 Therwith a thousand tymes, er he lette,
 He kiste tho the letre that he shette, 1090
 And seyde, ‘ Letre, a blisful destyné
 The shapen is, my lady shal the se.’

CLVII.

This Pandare tooke the letre, and that by tyme
 A-morwe, and to his nees paleys sterte,
 And faste he swore that it was passed prime,
 And gan to joye, and seyde, ‘ Ywis myn herte,
 So fresshe it is, alle-though it soore smerte,
 I may naught slepe nevere a Mayes morwe,
 I have a joly wo, a lusty sorwe.’

CLVIII.

Creseyde, when that she hire uncle herde, 1100
 With dredeful herte, and desirous to here
 The cause of his comyng, thus answerde :—

‘Now by youre fey, myn uncle,’ quod she, ‘dere,
 What maner wyndes gideth yow now here?
 Tel us youre joly wo, and youre penaunce,
 How ferforth be ye put in loves daunce.’

CLIX.

‘By God,’ quod he, ‘I hope alway byhynde!’
 And she to laugh it thoughte hire herte breste:
 Quod Pandarus, ‘Looke alwey that ye fynde
 Game in myn hood; but herkeneth if yow leste, 1110
 Ther is right now come into towne a gest,
 A Greke aspie, and telleth newe thynges,
 For which I come to telle yow tydynges.’

CLX.

‘Into the gardyn go we, and ye shal here
 Al pryvely of this a longe sermon:’
 With that thei wenten, arm in arm yfere,
 Into the gardyn from the chaumbre doun.
 And when that he so fer was, that the soun
 Of that he spake no man heren myghte,
 He seyde hire thus, and out the letre plyghte. 1120

CLXI.

‘Lo, he that is al holly youre free,
 Hym recomaundeth lowly to youre grace,
 And sent yow this letre here by me;
 Avyseth yow on it, when ye han space,
 And of som goodely answeere yow purchace;
 Or, helpe me God, so pleynly for to seyue,
 He may not lange lyven for his peyne.’

CLXII.

Ful dredfully tho gan she stonde styll,
 And toke it nought, but al hire humble chere
 Gan for to chaunge, and seyde, 'Scrit ne bille,
 For love of God, that toucheth swicche matere, 1131
 Ne brynge me noon! and also, unele dere,
 To myn estat have more rewarde I preye
 Than to hise lust, what shold I more seye.

CLXIII.

And looketh now if this be resonable,
 And letteth nought, for favour ne for slouthe,
 To seyne a sothe; now were it covenable
 To myn estat, by God, and by youre trouthe,
 To taken it, or to han of hym routhe,
 In harmynge of my-self or in repreve? 1140
 Ber it ayeyn, for hym that ye on leve.'

CLXIV.

This Pandarus gan on hire for to stare,
 And seyde, 'Now is this the grettest wonder
 That evere I seygh! lat be this nyce fare!
 To deth mote I be smyten with thunder,
 If for the cité which that stondest yonder,
 Walde I a letre unto yow brynge or take,
 To harm of yow; what list yow thus it make?

CLXV.

'But thus ye faren wel neigh al and some,
 That he that moste desireth yow to serve, 1150
 Of hym ye reche leest wher he bycome,

And whether that he lyve, or elles sterve :
 But for al that that evere I may deserve,
 Refuse it naughte, quod he, and hynte hire faste,
 And in hire bosom the letre doun he thraste.

CLXVI.

And seyde hire, ' Now caste it away anoon
 That folke may seyne, and gauren on us tweye.'
 Quod she, ' I kan abide til they be gone ;'
 And gan to smyle, and seyde hym, ' Em, I preye
 Swiche answer as yow list youre-self purveye :
 For trewely I nyl no letre wryte :'
 ' No? than wol I,' quod he, ' so ye endite.'
1161

CLXVII.

Therwith she lough, and seyde, ' Go we dyne ;'
 And he gan at hym-self to jopen faste,
 And seyde, ' Neece, I have so grete a pyne
 For love, that evereich other day I faste,'
 And gan his beste japes forth to caste ;
 And made hire so to laughe at his folye,
 That she for laughtere wende for to deye.

CLXVIII.

And whan that she was comen into the halle, 1170
 ' Now em,' quod she, ' we wol go dyne anon ;'
 And gan some of hire wommen to hire calle,
 And streght into hire chaumber gan she gon ;
 But of hire besynesse this was oon,
 Amonges other thynges, out of drede,
 Ful pryvely this letre for to rede.

CLXIX.

Avysed word by word in every lyne,
 And fonde no lakke, she thoughte he koude goode;
 And up it putte, and wente hire in to dyne;
 And Pandarus, that in a stodye stode, 1180
 Er he was war, she toke hym by the hoode,
 And seyde, ‘Ye were caughte er that ye wiste!’
 ‘I vouchesauf,’ quod he, ‘do what yow liste.’

CLXX.

Tho wessen they, and sette hem down and ete;
 And after noon ful sleightly Pandarus
 Gan drawe hym to the wyndow next the strete,
 And seyde, ‘Neece, who hath arrayed thus
 The yonder house, that stant aforzeynes us?’
 ‘Which house?’ quod she, and gan for to byholde,
 And knewe it wele, and whas it was hym tolde. 1190

CLXXI.

And fillen forthe in speche of thynges smale,
 And seten in the wyndowe bothe tweye:
 When Pandarus saugh tyme unto his tale,
 And saugh wel that hire folk weren al aweye:
 ‘Now nece myne,’ quod he, ‘tel on I seye;
 How liketh yow the letre that ye woote?
 Kan he thereon? for by my trouthe I noot.’

CLXXII.

Therwith al rosy hewed tho wex she,
 And gan to homme, and seide, ‘So, I trowe;
 ‘Aqynte hym wel, for Goddes love!’ quod he, 1200

‘ My-self to medes wol the letre sowe,
 And helde his hondes up, and fil on knowe;
 ‘ Now gode nece, be it never so lite,
 Yif me the labour it to sow and plyte.’

CLXXIII.

‘ Ye, for I kan so wryten,’ quod she tho,
 ‘ And ek I noot what I sholde to hym seye:’
 ‘ Nay, nece,’ quod Pandare, ‘ sey not so;
 Yett at the leest, thonketh hym, I preye,
 Of his goode wil, and doth hym not to deye;
 Now for the love of me, my nece dere, 1210
 Refuseth nat at this tyme my preyere.’

CXXLIV.

‘ Depardieux,’ quod she, ‘ God lene al be wele!
 God helpe me so, this is the firste lettre
 That evere I wrote, ye, al or any dele;’
 And into a closett, for tavyse hire bettre,
 She wente allone, and gan her herte unfettre
 Out of desdaynous prison but a lite;
 And sette hire doun, and gan a letre write.

CLXXV.

Of which to telle in shorte is myn entent
 Theffect, as fer as I kan understonde:— 1220
 She thanked hym of al that he wel mente
 Towardes hire, but holden hym in honde
 She nolde nought, ne make hire-selfen bonde
 In love; but as his sister, hym to plese,
 She wolde fayne to don his herte an ese.

CLXXVI.

Sche schette it, and into Pandare gan gone
 Ther as he satte, and loked into the strete,
 And doun she sette hire by hym on a stone
 Of jasper, on a quysshon gold ybette,
 And seyde, ‘As wysly help me God the grete, 1230
 I nevere dide a thyng with more peyne,
 Than writyn this, to whiche ye me constreyne.’

CLXXVII.

And toke it hym: he thanked hire and seyde,
 ‘God woot of thyng ful often loth bygonne
 Cometh ende goode, and, nece myn Creseyde,
 That ye to hym of harde now ben ywonne,
 Ought he be gladde, by God and yonder sonne:
 For why? men seith impressyons lighte
 Ful lightely ben ay redy to the flyghte.

CLXXVIII.

‘But ye han pleyed the tiraunt neigh to longe, 1240
 And harde was youre herte for to grave;
 Now stynte, that ye no lenger on it hongre,
 Al walde ye the fourme of daunger save,
 But hasteth yow to don hym joye have;
 For trusteth wel, to longe ydon hardnesse
 Causeth despite ful often for destresse.

CLXXIX.

And right as they declamede this matere,
 Lo! Troylus, right at the stretes ende,
 Com ridynge, with his tenthe some yfeere,

Al softely, and thiderward gan bende 1250
 Ther as thei sete, as was his wey to wende
 To payleyssse-ward, and Pandarus hym aspiede,
 And seyde, 'Neecc, ise who comth here ryde.

CLXXX.

'O fle nought in,' he seth us I suppose,
 'Lest he may thynken that ye hym eschewe.'
 'Nay, nay,' quod she, and wex as rede as rose;
 With that he gan hire humbly to salwe
 With dredeful chere, and oft his hewes muwe;
 And up his look debonairly he caste,
 And bekked on Pandare, and forth he paste. 1260

CLXXXI.

God woot if he satt on his hors aright,
 Or goodely was byseyn that ilke day!
 God woot wher he was like a manly knyghte!
 What shold I dretche, or telle of his array?
 Criseyde, which that al this thynges sey,
 To telle in short, hire liked alle yfeere,
 His persone, his array, his look, his chere,

CLXXXII.

His goodely manere, and his gentillesse,
 So wel that nevere sith that she was borne,
 Ne hadde she swiche routhe of his distresse; 1270
 And how so sche harde hath ben here biforne,
 To God hope I she hath nowe caught a thorne;
 She shal nought pul it out this nexte weke;
 God sende mo swich thornes on to pyke!

CLXXXIII.

Pandare, which that stood hire faste by,
 Felt iren hoot, and he bigan to smyte,
 And seyde, 'Neece, I preye yow hertely,
 Telle me that I shal axen yow a lyte:—
 A womman that were of his deth to wyte
 Withouten his gylte, but for hire lakked routhe, 1280
 Were it wele don?' quod she, 'Nay, by my trouthe!'

CLXXXIV.

'God help me so,' quod he, 'ye say me soth,
 Ye felen wele youre-self that I naught lye;
 Loo, yonde he rideth!' Quod she, 'Ye, so he doth:'
 'Wele,' quod Pandare, 'as I have tolde yow thrye,
 Lat be youre nyce shame and youre folye,
 And spek with hym in esynge of his herte,
 Lat nyceeté nat do yow bathe smerte.'

CLXXXV.

But theron was to heven and to doone;
 Considered al thyng, it may nat be, 1290
 And why? for shame; and it were eke to soone
 To graunten hym so grete a liberté:
 For pleynty hire entente, as seyde she,
 Was for to love hym unwyste, if she myghte,
 And guerdon hym with nothyng but with sighte.

CLXXXVI.

But Pandarus thought it shal nought be so;
 Yf that I may, this nyce opinyon
 Schal nought be holden fully yeres two,

What shold I mak of this a longe sermone?
 He most assente on that conclusioun, 1300
 As for the tyme; and when that it was even,
 And alle was wele, he roos and toke his leve.

CLXXXVII.

And on his wey ful fast homwarde he spedde,
 And right for joye he felt his herte daunce,
 And Troilus he fond allone abedde,
 That lay, as dose this lovers in a traunce,
 Bytwyxen hope and derke desesperaunce;
 But Pandarus, right at hys incomyng,
 He song, as who seith, 'Lo, somewhat I brynge!'

CLXXXVIII.

And seyde, 'Who is in his bed so soone 1310
 Ybured thus?' 'It am I, frende,' quod he;
 'Who? Troilus? nay, help me so the moone,'
 Quod Pandarus, 'thow shalt arise and se
 A charme that was sent right now to the,
 The whiche kan helen the of thyn accesse,
 If thow do forthwith al thi besynesse.'

CLXXXIX.

'Ye, thourgh the myght of God!' quod Troilus;
 And Pandarus gan hym the letre take,
 And seyde, 'Pardee! God hath holpen us;
 Have here a light, and loke on alle the blake.' 1320
 But! ofte gan the herte glade and qwake
 Of Troilus, whil that he gan it rede,
 So as the wordes yave hym hope or drede.

CXC.

But finally he toke al for the beste
 That she hym wroot, for somewhat he bihelde,
 On which hym thought he myght his herte reste,
 Al covered she the wordes under shelde ;
 Thus to the more worthy part he helde,
 That, what for hope, and Pandarus biheste,
 His grete wo for-yede he at the leeste. 1330

CXCI.

But as we may al day oure-selven se,
 Throw more wode or cole the more fire ;
 Right so encrees of hope, of what it be,
 Therwith ful ofte encreesseth ek desire ;
 Or as an ook comth of a litel spire,
 So thorwgh this letre, which that she hym sente,
 Encressen gan desir of which he brente.

CXCII.

Wherfor I seye alwey, that day and nyghte
 This Troilus gan to desire moore
 Than he dide arst thorough hope, and dide his myghte
 To pressen on, as by Pandarus lore, 1341
 And wryten to hire of his sorwes soore
 Fro day to day ; he leet it nought refreyde,
 That by Pandare he wroot somewhat or seyde.

CXCIII.

And dide also his other observaunce,
 That tille a lover longeth in this eas ;
 And efter that thise dees torned on chaunce,

So was he outhur glad, or seyde allas,
 And helde after his gastes ay his pas;
 And eftir swich answeere as he hadde,
 So were his dayes sory outhur gladde.

1359

CXCIV.

But to Pandare alwey was his recours,
 And pytously gan ay til hym to pleyne,
 And hym bisoughte of rede, and som socours;
 And Pandarus, that sey his woode peyne,
 Wex wel neigh dede for routhe, soth to seyne,
 And bisily with al his herte caste,
 Som of his wo to slen, and that as faste.

CXCV.

And seyde, 'Lorde, and frende, and brother dere,
 God woot thi disese doth me wo;
 But wiltow stynten al this woful chere,
 And, by my trouthe, er it be dayes two,
 And God toforn, yet shal I shape it so,
 That thow schalt come unto a certeyn place,
 Ther as thow maist thiself hire preye of grace.

CXCVI.

'And certeynly, I noot if thow it woste,
 But tho that ben expert in love it seye,
 It is oon of the thynges forthreth moste,
 A man to have a leysur for to preye,
 And syker place his wo for to bywreye;
 For in good hert it moot som routhe impresse
 To here and se the giltelees in destresse.

1370

CXCVII.

‘ Paraunter thynkestow :—Though it be so,
 Thy kynde wolde don hire to begynne
 To han a maner routhe upon my wo ;
 Seith Daunger :—Nay, thow shalt me nevere wynne ;
 So reuleth hire hire hertes goost withinne,
 That though she bende, yet she stant on roote ;
 What in effect is this unto my boote ?

CXCVIII.

‘ Think here ayeins, that when the stordy ooke
 On which men hakketh ofte, for the nones, 1381
 Receyved hath the happy fallynge stroke,
 The grete swough doth it come al at ones,
 As don thise rokkes or thise mylne stones ;
 For swifter course cometh thyng that is of wyghte
 When it descendeth, than don thynges lighte.

CXCIX.

‘ But reed that boweth downe with every blaste,
 Ful lightly, cesse the wynde, it wil arise,
 But so nyl nought an ook when it is caste ;
 It nedeth me nought the longe to forbise, 1390
 Men shal rejoysen of a grete empyse
 Acheved wel, and stant withouten doute,
 Al han men ben the longer therabout.

CC.

‘ But, Troilus, that tel me, if the lest,
 A thyng now which that I shal axen the ;
 Whiche is thi brother that thow lovest best,

As in thi verray hertes pryvyté?’

‘Iwis, my brother Deiphebus,’ quod he.

‘Now,’ quod Pandare, ‘er houres twies twelve,

He shal the ese, unwyst of it hymselfe. 1400

CCI.

‘Now lat malone, and werken as I may,’

Quod he; and to Deiphebus wente he tho,

Which hadde his lord and grete frend ben ay,

Save Troilus no man he lovede so:

To tel in shorte, withouten wordes mo,

Quod Pandarus, ‘I preye yow that ye be

Frende to a cause which that toucheth me.’

CCII.

‘Yis, pardé!’ quod Deiphebus, ‘wel thow woost

In al that ever Y may, and God tofore,

Al nere it but for man I love moost, 1410

My brother Troilus; but sey wherfore

It is; for sith that day that I was bore,

I nas ne nevere mo to ben, I thynke,

Ayeins a thyng that myghte the forthynke.’

CCIII.

Pandare gan hym thanke, and to hym seyde,

‘Lo! Sire I have a lady in this town

That is my nece, and called is Cryseyde,

Which som men wolden don oppression,

And wrongfully han hire possession;

Wherfor I of your lordschip yow beseche 1420

Te ben oure frend, withouten more speche.’

CCIV.

Deiphebus hym answerde :—‘O, is nat this
 That thow of spekest to me thus straungely,
 Criseyde my frende?’ He seyde ‘Yis.’
 ‘Than nedeth,’ quod Deiphebus, ‘hardely,
 Namore to speke; for trusteth wel that I
 Wol be hire champyon with spore and yerde,
 I roughte naught though alle hire foos it herde.

CCV.

‘But telle me thow, that woost alle this matere,
 How myght I beste avaylen now; lat se?’ 1430
 Quod Pandarus, ‘If ye, my lord so dere,
 Wolden as now do this honour to me,
 To preyen hire to morwe, lo, that she
 Com unto yow, hire pleyntes to devyse,
 Hire adversaries wold of it agryse.

CCVI.

And yif I more dorst preye yow as now,
 And chargen yow to han so grete travaile,
 To han some of youre brethern here with yow,
 That myghte to hire cause bet avayle,
 Than woot I wele she myghte nevere fayle 1440
 For to ben holpen, what at youre instaunce,
 What with hire other frendes generaunce.’

CCVII.

Deiphebus, which that comen was of kynde
 To alle honour and bounté to consente,
 Answerde, ‘It shal be don; and I kan fynde

Yet grettere helpe to this in myn entente :
 What wiltow seyn, if I for Eleyne sente
 To speke of this? I trow it be the beste,
 For she may leden Paris as hire lyste.

1449

CCVIII.

‘Of Ector, wiehe that is my lorde, my brother,
 It nedeth nought to preye hym frende to be ;
 For I have herde hym, o tyme and ek other,
 Speke of Criseyde swich honour, that he
 May seye no bet, swich hap to hym hath she ;
 It nedeth nought hise helps for to crave,
 He shal be swiche, right as we wol hym have.

CCIX.

‘Spek thow thi-self also to Troylus
 On my bihalve, and preye hym with us dyne.’
 ‘Sir, al this shal be don,’ quod Pandarus :
 And took his leve, and nevere gan to fyne, 1460
 But to his neeces house, as streght as lyne,
 He eom, and fond hire fro the mete arise,
 And sette hym down, and spak right in this wyse :

CCX.

He seyde, ‘O verray God ! so have I ronne !
 Lo, nece myn ! se ye nought how I swete ?
 I not whether ye the more thank me konne :
 Be ye nought ware how false Polyphete
 Is now aboute eftsones for to plete,
 And brynge on yow advocacies newe ?’
 ‘I ! no !’ quod she, and chaunged al hire hewe.

CCXI.

‘ What? is he more aboute me to dreche 1471
 And don me wronge? what shal I don, allas?
 Yet of hymself nothyng ne wolde I reche,
 Nere it for Antenor and Eneas,
 That ben his frendes in swich manere cas;
 But for the love of God, myn uncle dere,
 No fors of that, lat hym han alle ifere.

CCXII.

‘ Withouten that I have anough for us.’
 ‘ Nay,’ quod Pandare, ‘ it shal no thyng be so;
 For I have ben right now at Deiphebus, 1480
 And Ector, and myne other lordes mo,
 And shortly maked eche of hem his foo,
 That, by my thryft, he shal it nevere wynne,
 For aught he kan, when so that he bygynne.’

CCXIII.

And as thei casten what was best to done,
 Deiphebus of his owen curtasye
 Com hire to preye, in his propre persone,
 To holde hym on the morwe compaignie
 At dyner, which she wolde nought denye,
 But goodely gan to his preyer obeye, 1490
 He thanked hire, and wente upon his weye.

CCXIV.

When this was don, this Pandare up anon,
 To telle in shorte, and forth he gan to wende,
 To Troilus, as stille as any stoone,

And al this thyng he told hym, word and ende ;
 And how that he Deiphebus gan to blende,
 And seyde hym, ‘ Now, is tyme, if that thou konne,
 To bere the wele to morwe, and alle is wonne.

CCXV.

‘ Now speke, now preye, now pitously compleyne,
 Lat nought for nyce shame, or drede or slouthe ;
 Sometyme a man mot telle his owene peyne ; 1501
 Bileve it, and she shal han on the routhe ;
 Thow shalt be saved by thi feithe, in trouthe ;
 But wel woot I, thow art now in a drede,
 And what it is, I leye I kanne arede.

CCXVI.

‘ Thow thynkest now, “ How sholde I don al this,
 For by my cheres mosten folk aspye,
 That for hire love is that I fare amys,
 Yet hadde I levere unwyste for sorwe die :”
 Now thynke nought so, for thow dost grete folye,
 For I righte now have founden a manere 1511
 Of sleight, for to coveren al thi chere.

CCXVII.

‘ Thow shalt gon over nyght, and that as-blyve,
 To Deiphebus house, as the to pleye,
 Thy malady away the bet to dryve,
 For-why thou semest sike, soth for to seye ;
 So after that, don in thi bedde the leye,
 And seye thou maiste no longer up endure,
 And lye right thare, and byd thin aventure.

CCXVIII.

‘ Sey that thy fevere is wonte the for to take 1520
 The same tyme, and lasten tyl on morwe ;
 And lat se now how wel thow kanst it make ;
 For, pardé, sik is he that is in sorwe.
 Go now, farewel ! and Venus here to borwe !
 I hope, and thow this purpos holde ferme,
 Thi grace she shal fully ther conferme.’

CCXIX.

Quod Troilus, ‘ Iwis now nedeles
 Conseylest me, that sikliche I me feyne,
 For I am sik in earnest, douteles,
 So that wel neigh I sterve for the peyne.’ 1530
 Quod Pandarus, ‘ Thow shalt the bettere pleyne,
 And hast the lasse nede to conterfete,
 For hym men demen hoote that men seen swete.

CCXX.

‘ Lo, holde the at thi triste cloos, and I
 Shal wel the deere unto thi bowe dryve.’
 Therwith he took hise leve al softly,
 And Troilus to paleys wente blyve,
 So glad ne was he nevere in alle his lyve ;
 And to Pandarus reede gan al assente,
 And to Deiphebus hous at nyght he wente. 1540

CCXXI.

What nedeth yow to tellen alle the chere
 That Deiphebus unto his brother made ?
 Or his accesse, or his siklych manere,

How men gan hym with clothes for to lade,
 Than he was leyde, and how men wolde hym glade;
 But al for noughte, he helde forth ay the wyse
 That ye han herde Pandare er this devyse.

CCXXII.

But certeyn is, er Troilus hym leyde,
 Deiphebus had hym preyed over nyght
 To ben a frend and helpynge to Criseyde; 1550
 God woot, that he it graunted anon right
 To ben hire fulle frende with al his myght:
 But swich a nede was to prey hym thenne,
 As for to bidde a woode man for to renne.

CCXXIII.

The morwen com, and neighen gan the tyme
 Of mee-le-tide that the faire queene Eleyne
 Shapte hire to ben, an houre after the prime,
 With Deiphebus, to whom she nolde feyne;
 But as his suster, homly, soth to seyne,
 She come to dynere in hire pleyne eptente; 1560
 But God and Pandare, wiste what al this mente.

CCXXIV.

Com ek Criseyde, al innocent of this,
 Antigone hire suster, Tharbe also;
 But flee we now, prolixité beste is,
 For love of God, and lat us faste go
 Right to theeffect, withouten tales mo,
 Why al this folk assemlede in this place,
 And lat us of hire saluynges pace.

CCXXV.

Grete honour dide hem Deiphebus certain,
 And fedde hem wel, with al that myghte like ;
 But everemo, allas, was his refreyne : 1571
 ‘ My goode brother Troilus that sike
 Lyth yet,’ and therwithalle he gan to sike,
 And efter that he peyned hym to glade
 Hem as he myght, and chere goode he made.

CCXXVI.

Compleyned eke Eleyne of his sikenesse
 So feithfully, that pité was to here,
 And every wight gan wexen for *th*accesse
 A leche anon, and seyde, ‘ in this manere 1579
 Men curen folk,—This charme I wol yow leere ;’
 But ther sat oon, al liste hire naught to teche,
 That thoughte, beste koude I yet ben his leche.

CCXXVII.

After compleynt hym gonnen they to preyse,
 As folk don yet when som wight hath bygonne
 To preyse a man, and up with prys him rayse
 A thousande fold yet heighere than the sonne ;
 He is, he kan, that fewe lordes konne,
 And Pandarus, of that thei wold afferme,
 He naught forgat hire preysynge to conferme.

CCXXVIII.

Herde al this thyng Criseyde wel inough, 1590
 And every word gan for to notifie,
 For wiche with sobre chere hire herte lough,

For who is that ne wold hire glorifie
 To mowen swich a knyght don lyve or dye?
 But al passe I, lest ye to longe dwelle,
 For o fyn is alle that ever Y telle.

CCXXIX.

The tyme com fro dyner for to rise,
 And, as hem aughte, arisen everychon,
 And gonne a while of this and that devyse;
 But Pandarus brak al this speche anon, 1600
 And seyde to Deiphebus, 'Wol ye gone,
 If youre wille be, as I yow preyde,
 To speke here of the nedes of Criseyde?'

CCXXX.

Eleyne, whiche that by the honde hire helde,
 Took first the tale, and sayde, 'Go we blyve,'
 And goodely on Criseyde she byhelde,
 And seyde, 'Joves late hym nevere thryve
 That doth yow harm, and brynge hym sone of lyve,
 And yeve me sorwe but he schal it rewe,
 If that I may, and alle folk be trewe.' 1610

CCXXXI.

'Tel thow thi nees eas,' quod Deiphebus
 To Pandarus, 'for thow kanst best it telle.'
 'My lordes and my ladys, it stant thus;
 What shold I longer,' quod he, 'do yow dwelle?'
 He rong hem oute a proces like a belle
 Upon hire fo, that highte Poliphete,
 So heynous, that men myghte on it spete.

CCXXXII.

Answerde of this ech werse of hem than other,
 And Poliphete they gonnen thus to waryen, 1619
 Anhonged be swich oon, were he my brother,—
 And so he shal, for it ne may naughte varyen.—
 What sholde I longer in this tale taryen?
 Pleylich al atones they hire highten
 To ben hire help in al that evere thei myghten.

CCXXXIII.

Spake thanne Eleyne, and seyde, ‘Pandarus,
 Woot oughte my lorde, my brother, this matere?
 I mene Ector; or woot it Troilus?’
 He seyde, ‘Ye!’ but, ‘Wole ye now me here?
 Me thynketh this, sith Troilus is here,
 It were good, if that ye wolde assente, 1630
 She told hire-self hym al this er she wente.

CCXXXIV.

‘For he wol have the more hire grief at herte,
 Bycause, lo, that she a lady is;
 And by youre leve, I wol but in right sterte,
 And do yow wyte, and that anon iwis,
 If that he slepe, or wol ought here of this:’
 And yn he lepte, and seyde hym in his ere,
 ‘God have thi soule, ibrought have I thi beere.’

CCXXXV.

To smylen of this tho gon Troilus,
 And Pandarus, withouten rekenynge, 1640
 Out wente anon to Eleyne and Deiphebus,

And seyde hem, 'So ther be no tarynge
 Ne more prees, he wol wele that ye brynge
 Criseyda, my lady, that is here,
 And as he may enduren, he wol here.

CCXXXVI.

'But wel ye wote, the chaumber is but lyte,
 And fewe folk may lightly mak it warm;
 Now loketh ye; for I wol have no wyte
 To brynge in prees that myghten don hym harm,
 Or hym disesen, for my bettre arm: 165f
 Wher it be bet she bide til eftsones,
 Now loketh ye that knowen what to doon is.

CCXXXVII.

'I sey for me, best is as I kan knowe,
 That no wyght in ne wente, but ye tweie,
 But it were I; for I kan in a throwe
 Reheree hire cas, unlike that she kan seye:
 And after this she may hym ones preye
 To ben good lord in short, and take hire leve;
 This may nought muchel of his ese hym reve.

CCXXXVIII.

And eke for she is straunge, he wol forbere 1660
 His ese, which that hym thar nought for yow;
 Ek other thyng, that toucheth nought to here,
 He wol me telle, I woot it wele right now,
 That secrete is, and for the townes prow:
 And they that nothyng knewe of this entente,
 Withoute more, to Troilus in they wente.

CCXXXIX.

Eleyne, in al hire goodly softe wyse,
 Gan hym salue, and wommanly to pleye,
 And seyde, ' Iwis, ye most alwayes arise !
 Now fayre brother, beth al hool I preye ! 1670
 And gan hire arm right over his shulder leye,
 And hym with al hire wit to reconforte,
 As sehe best koude, she gan hym to disporte.

CCXL.

So after this quod she, ' We yow biseke,
 My deere brother Deiphebus and I,
 For love of God, and so doth Pandare eke,
 To ben goode lord and frende, right hertely,
 Unto Criseyde, which that certainly
 Reeeyveth wrong, as woot wel here Pandare,
 That kan hire eas wel bet than I declare.' 1680

CCXLI.

This Pandare gan new his tonge affile,
 And al hire eas reherce, and that anon ;
 When it was seyde, soone after in a while,
 Quod Troilus, ' As soon as I may gon,
 I wol right fayn with al my myght ben on,
 Have God my trouth, hire cause to sustene.'
 ' Goode thrift have ye !' quod Eleyne the quene.

CCXLII.

Quod Pandarus, ' And it youre wille be,
 That she may take hire leve or that she go ?
 Or elles God forbede it,' tho quod he, 1690

‘ If that she voucheth sauf for to do so :’
 And with that worde, quod Troilus, ‘ Ye two,
 Deiphebus, and my suster leef and dere,
 To yow have I to speke of a matere,

CCXLIII.

‘ To ben avysed by youre rede the bettere.’
 And fond, as hap was, at his beddes hed
 The copie of a tretis, and a lettre
 That Ector hadde hym sent to axen red
 If swiche a man was worthy to ben dede
Noot I naught who ; but in a gryselly wyse 1700
 He preyed hem anon on it avyse.

CCXLIV.

Deiphebus gan this letre for tonfolde
 In ernest gret, so dide Eleyne the quene,
 And romynge outward, fast it gonne biholde,
 Downward a steyre, into an erber grene :
 This ilke thyng thei redder hem bitwene,
 And largely the mountaunce of an houre
 Thei gonne on it to reden and to poure.

CCXLV.

Now lat hem rede, and torne we anon
 To Pandarus, that gan ful faste pryce 1710
 That al was wel ; and out he gan to gon
 Into the grete chaumber, and that in hye,
 And seyde, ‘ God save al this cumpaignye !
 Com nece myn, my lady quene Eleyne,
 Abideth yow, and ek my lordes tweyne.

CCXLVI.

‘Ris, take with yowe yowre nece Antigone,
 Or whom yow lest, or no fors hardily;
 The lesse prees the bet, com forth with me,
 And loke that ye thonken humblely
 Hem alle thre; and when ye may goodely 1720
 Youre tyme se, taketh of hem youre leve,
 Lest we to longe his restes hym byreve.’

CCXLVII.

Al innocent of Pandarus entente,
 Quod tho Criseyde, ‘Go we, uncle dere;’
 And arm in arm, inward with hym she wente,
 Avysed wel hire wordes and hire chere;
 And Pandarus, in earnestful manere,
 Seyde, ‘Alle folk, for Goddes love I preye,
 Stynteth right here, and softly yow pleje.

CCXLVIII.

‘Avyseth yow what folk ben her withinne, 1730
 And in what plite oon is, God hym amende!’
 And inwarde thus ful softly bygynne:—
 ‘Nece, I conjure, and heighly yow defende,
 On his half which that soule us al sende,
 And in the vertu of corones tweyne,
 Sle nought this man that hath for yow this peyne.

CCXLIX.

‘Fye on the deuel! thynke which oone he is,
 And in what plit he lith; com of anon,
 Think alle swich taried tyd but lost it nys;

That wol ye bothe seyne, when ye ben oon : 1740
 Secoundly, ther yet devyneth noon
 Upon yow two ; com of now, if ye konne,
 Whil folk is blent, lo, al the tyme is wonne !

CCL.

‘ In titerynge, and pursuyte, and delayes,
 The folk devyne at waggyng of a stre,
 And though ye wol have aftyr merye dayes,
 Than dar ye naught, and why ? For she, and she,
 Spak swich a word ; thus loked he, and he ;
 Lest tyme I lost, I dar naught with yow dele ;
 Com of therfor, and bryngeth hym to hele.’ 1750

CCLI.

But now to yow, ye lovers that ben here,
 Was Troilus naught in a kankerdort,
 That lay, and myghte the whisprynge of hem here,
 And thought ‘ O Lord, right now renneth my sort
 Fully to deye, or han onon conforte ;’
 And was the firste tyme he shold hire preye
 Of love ; O myghty God ! what shal he seye ?

EXPLICIT LIBER SECUNDUS.

I.

O BLISFUL light, of which the bemes elere
 Adorneth al the thridde hevене fayre !
 O Sonnes lief, O Joves doughter dere !

Plesaunce of love, O godely debonaire,
 In gentil hertes ay redy to repayre!
 O verray cause of hele and of gladdenesse,
 Theried be thi myght and thy goodenesse.

II.

In Hevene and Helle, and erthe and salt se,
 Is felt thi myght, if that I wol discerne;
 As man, bryd, best, fissh, herbe, and grene tre, 10
 Thei fele in tymes, with vapour eterne,
 God loveth, and to love wol nought werne;
 And in this world no lyves creature,
 Withouten love is worth, or may endure.

III.

Ye, Joves, first, to thiſke effectes glade,
 Thorough which that thynges lyven al and be.
 Comeneden, and amoureux hem made
 On mortal thyng, and, as yow lyst, ay ye
 Yeve hem in love, ese, or adversité;
 And in a thousand formes down hym sente 20
 For love in erthe, and whom yow list he hente.

IV.

Ye fierse Mars apasen of his ire,
 And as yow list ye maken hertes digne;
 Algates hem that ye wol sette a fyre,
 Thei dreden shame, and vices thei resigne;
 Ye don hem curteis be fresshe and benigne,
 And heigh or lawe, eftir a wight entendeth,
 The joies that he hath youre myght it sendeth.

V.

Ye holden regne and hous in unité ;
 Ye sothfast cause of frendschipe ben also ; 30
 Ye know al thilke covered qualité
 Of thynges, which that folk on wondren so ;
 When thei kanne naught construe how it may go,
 She loveth hym, or why he loveth here,
 As why this fish, and naught that, cometh to were.

VI.

Ye folk a lawe han sette in universe,
 And this know I by hem that loveres be,
 That who-so stryveth with yow hath the worse :
 Now, lady bryghte ! for thi benignité,
 At reverence of hem that serven the, 40
 Whos clere I am, so techeth me devyse
 Som joie of that is felt in thi servyse.

VII.

Ye, in my nakyd herte sentement
 Inhiede, and do me shew of thy swetnesse !
 Caliope, thi vois be now presente,
 For is now nede ; sestow nought my distresse ?
 How I mot telle anon right the gladnesse
 Of Troilus, to Venus herynge,
 To which who nede hath, God hym brynge.

INCIPIT LIBER TERTIUS.

I.

LAY al this mene-while Troilus
 Recordynge his lesson in this manere;
 ‘ May fey!’ thought he, ‘ thus wol I
 seye, and thus;
 Thus wol I pleyne unto my lady deere;
 That worde is goode, and this shal be my chere;
 This nyl I nought foryeten in no wyse;’
 God leve hym werken as he gan devyse.

II.

And, lord! so that his herte gan to quappe,
 Heryng hire com, and shorte for to sike;
 And Pandarus, that ledde hire by the lappe, 10
 Com ner, and gan in at the curtyn pike,
 And seyde, ‘ God do bote on alle sike!
 Se who is here yow comen to vysite,
 Lo, here is she that is yowre deth to wyte!’

III.

Therwith it semed as he wepte almost,
 ‘ Ha! a!’ quod Troilus so reufully,
 ‘ Wher me be wo, O myghty God, thow wost!
 Who is al ther? I se nought trewely.’
 ‘ Sire,’ quod Criseyde, ‘ it is Pandare and I;’
 ‘ Ye, swete herte? allas, I may nought rise 20
 To knele, and do yow honour in som wyse.’

IV.

And dressed hym upwarde, and she right tho
 Gan both hire hondes soft upon hym leye,
 ‘ O, for the love of God, do ye nought so
 To me,’ quod she, ‘ I ! what is this to seye ?
 Syr comen am I to you for causes tweye,
 First yow to thanke, and of yowre lordschipe eke
 Continuaunce I wolde yow byseke.’

V.

This Troilus, that herde his lady preye
 Of hym lordship, wex neyther quyk ne dede ; 30
 Ne myght o worde for shame to it seye,
 Although men sholde smyten of his hede ;
 But, lord ! so he wex sodeynlyche rede !
 And, sire, his lesson, that he wende konne
 To preyen hire, is thorough his wit yronne.

VI.

Criseyde al this aspied wel ynough,
 For she was wis, and loved hym nevere the lasse,
 Al ner he malapert, or made it tough,
 Or was to bold to synge a fole amasse ;
 But, when his shame gan somewhat to passe, 40
 His resons, as I may my rymes holde,
 I yow wol telle, as techen bokes olde.

VII.

In echaunged vois, right for his verray drede,
 Which voys ek quook, and therto his manere
 Goodly abayst, and now his hewes rede,

Now pale, unto Criseyde, his lady deere,
 With loke down cast, and humble iyolden chere,
 Lo ! the alderfirst worde that hym asterte,
 Was tweyes, ‘ Mercy, mercy, swete-herte.’

VIII.

And stynte a while, and when he myght oute brynge,
 The nexte worde was, ‘ God woot for I have, 51
 As faithfully as I have hadde konnyng,
 Ben youre alle, so God my soule save,
 And shal, tyl that I, woful wight, be grave ;
 And though I dar, ne kan, unto yow pleyne,
 Iwis I suffer naught the lasse peyne.

IX.

‘ Thus muche as now, O wommanliche wif,
 I may oute brynge, and if this yowe displese,
 That shal I wreke upon myn owen lif
 Right soon I trow, and do your herte an esc, 60
 If with my deth youre herte I may apese :
 But syn that ye han herd me somewhat seye,
 Now reche I nevere how soon that I deye.’

X.

Therwith his manly sorwe to beholde,
 It myght han maad an herte of stone to rewe ;
 And Pandare wep as he to water wolde,
 And puked ever his nece new and newe.
 And seyde, ‘ Wo bigon ben hertes trewe !
 ‘ For love of God, make of this thyng an ende,
 Or sle us both atones, er that ye wende.’ 70

XI.

‘ I! what!’ quod she, ‘ by God and by my trowthe
 I not nat what ye wilne that I seye :’
 ‘ I! what!’ quod he, ‘ that ye han on hym rewthe,
 For Goddes love, and doth hym nought to deye :’
 ‘ Now than thys,’ quod she, ‘ I wolde hym preye,
 To telle me the fyn of his entente,
 Ye wiste I nevere wel what that he mente.’

XII.

‘ What that I mene, O swete herte deere ?’
 Quod Troilus, ‘ O goodely fressh and fre !
 That, with the streme of youre cighen clere, 80
 Ye wolde somtyme freshely on me se,
 And thanne agreeen that I may ben he,
 Withouten braunche of vyce, on any wyse,
 In trowth alway to don yow my servyse,

XIII.

‘ As to my lady right, and chief resorte,
 With al my wit and al my diligence ;
 And I to han right as yow list conforte,
 Under youre yerde egal to myn offence,
 As deth, if that I breke youre defence ;
 And that ye deigne me so muchel honoure, 90
 Me to comaunden aught in any houre.

XIV.

‘ And I to ben youre veray humble, trewe,
 Secret, and in my peynes pacient,
 And everemo desiren, freshly newe,

To serven, and ben ay ylike diligent,
 And, with goode herte, al holly youre talent
 Reecyven wel, how soore that me smerte ;
 Lo this mene I, myn owen swete herte.'

XV.

Quod Pandarus, 'Lo, here an hard requeste,
 And resonable, a lady for to warne ! 100
 Now nece myn, by Natal Joves feste,
 Were I a God, ye sholden sterve as-yerne,
 That heren wel this man wol nothyng yerne
 But your honoure, and sen hym almost sterve,
 And ben so loth to suffre hym yow serve.'

XVI.

With that she gan hire eyen on hym casto
 Ful esyly, and ful debonayrly
 Avysynge hire, and hyede nought to faste,
 With nevere a word, but seyde hym softly,
 Myn honour sauf, I wol wel trewely, 110
 And in swiehe forme as he ean now devyse,
 Reecyven hym fully to my servyse ;

XVII.

'Besechyngge hym, for Goddes love, that he
 Wolden in honour of treuthe and gentilnesse,
 As I wel mene, ek menen wele to me :
 And myn honour, with wit and bysinesse,
 Ay kepe ; and, if I may don hym gladdenesse,
 From hennesforth iwis I nyl nought feyne :
 Now beth al hoole, no longer ye ne pleyne.

XVIII.

‘ But, natheles, this werne I yow,’ quod she, 123
 ‘ A kynges sone al-though ye be iwis,
 Ye shul namore han sovereynté
 Of me in love, than right in that eas is ;
 Ny nyl forbere, if that ye do amys,
 To wrethe yow, and whil that ye me serve,
 Chericen yow, right efter ye disserve.

XIX.

‘ And shortly, deere herte and al my knyghto, ‘
 Beth glad, and draweth yow to lustinesse,
 And I shal trewely, with al my myght,
 Your bittre tornen al into swettenesse ; 130
 If I be she that may do yow gladnesse,
 For every wo ye shalle recovere a blisse ;’
 And hym in armes took, and gan hym kysse.

XX.

Fil Pandarus on knees, and up his yen
 To hevене threwe, and helde hise hondes highe :
 ‘ Immortal God !’ quod he, ‘ that maist nought dyen,
 Cupide I mene, of this maist thow glorifye !
 And Venus ! thow maist maken melodye
 Withouten honde, me semeth that in the town,
 For this merveille Ich here ich belle sowne. 140

XXI.

‘ But ho ! namore as now of this matere,
 For-whi this folk wol comen up anon,
 That han the lettre red ; lo, I hem here,

But I conjure the, Crisseyde, and oon
 And two, thow, Troilus, whan thow maist gon
 That at myn hous ye ben at my warnynge,
 For I ful wele shal shape youre comynge.

XXII.

‘And eseth there youre hertes right ynough,
 And, lat se, which of yow shal bere the belle
 To speke of love aright?’ and therwith he lough,
 ‘For ther have ye a layser for to telle:’ 151
 Quod Troilus, ‘How longe shal I dwelle
 Er this be don?’ Quod he, ‘Whan thou maist rise
 This thyng shal be right as I yow devyse.’

XXIII.

With that Eleyne and also Deiphebus
 Tho comen upward right at the steyses ende;
 And, lord! for schame gan gronen Troilus,
 His brother and his suster for to blende:
 Quod Pandarus, ‘It tyme is that we wende;
 Tak, nee myn, youre leve at alle thre, 160
 And lat hem spek, and cometh forth with me.’

XXIV.

She toke hire leve at hem ful thriftily,
 As she wel koude, and they hire reverence
 Unto the fulle diden hardily,
 And wonder wel speken in hire absens
 Of hire, in preysynge of hire excellenee;
 Hire governaunee, hire wit, and hire manere
 Comendiden they, it joie was to here.

XXV.

Now lat hire wende unto hire owen place,
 And torne we to Troilus ayeyn, 170
 That gan ful lightly of the letre pace,
 That Diephebus hadde in the gardyn seyn ;
 And of Eleyne and hym Deiphebus he wolde feyne
 Delivered ben, and seyde that hym leste
 To slepe, and efter tales han a reste.

XXVI.

Eleyne hym kyste, and toke hire leve blyve,
 Deiphebus ek, and hom wente every wyght ;
 And Pandarus, as fast as he may dryve,
 To Troilus tho com, as lyne right ;
 And on a paillet, al that glade nyght, 180
 By Troilus he lay, with mery chere
 To tale, and wel was hym thei were ifere.

XXVII.

When every wight was voided but thei two,
 And alle the dores were faste yschette,
 To telle in shorte, withouten wordes mo,
 This Pandarus, withouten any lette,
 Up roos, and on his beddes syde hym sette,
 And gan to speken in a sobre wyse
 To Troilus, as I shal yow devyse.

XXVIII.

‘ Myn alderlevest lord, and brother deere, 190
 God woot, and thow, that it satte me so soore
 When I the saugh so langwisshynge to-yeer

For love, of which thi wo wax alway more ;
 That I with al my myght and al my loore,
 Have evere sithen don my bysinesse
 To brynge the to joie oute of distresse.

XXIX.

‘ And have it brought to swiche plit as thow woost,
 So that thourgh me thow stondest now in weye
 To faren wel, I seye it for no boste ;
 And wostow why? for, shame it is to seye, 200
 For the have I bigonne a gamen pleye,
 Whiche that I nevere do shal eft for othere,
 Al-though he were a thousand fold my brother.

XXX.

That is to seye, for the I am bicomen,
 Bytwyxen game and ernest, swich a meene,
 As maken wommen unto men to comen ;
 Al seye I nought, thow wost wel what I mene ;
 For the have I my nece, of vices elene,
 So fully maad thy gentilesee to triste,
 That al be shal right as thyselven liste. 210

XXXI.

‘ But God, that al woote, tak I to wittenesse,
 That nevere I this for coveytise iwroughte,
 But onely for tabregge that distresse,
 For which welneigh thow dydest, as me thoughte:
 But, goode brother, do now as the aughte,
 For Goddes love, and kepe hyre oute of blame,
 Syn thow art wis, and save alwey hire name.

XXXII.

‘ For wele thow woost, the name as yet of hire
 Among the peple, as who seith, halowed is ;
 For that man is unbore, I dar wel swere, 220
 That evere wiste yet that she dide amys ;
 But wo is me, that I, that cause al this,
 May thenken that she is my nece deere,
 And I hire em, and traitor ek ifcere !

XXXIII.

‘ And were it wist that I, thorwh myn engyn,
 Hadde in my nece yput this fantasye
 To don thi luste, and holly to ben thyn,
 Why, al the worlde upon it wolde crye,
 And seyn, that I the werste trecherye
 Dide in this eas, that evere was bygonne, 230
 And she forloste, and thow right nought ywonne.

XXXIV.

‘ Wherefore, er I wol forther gon a pas,
 Yet eft Y the biseche and fully seye,
 That pryveté go with us in this caas ;
 That is to seyn, that thow nevere us wreye ;
 And be not wroth, though I the ofte preye
 To holden seceré swich an heigh matere ;
 For skylful is, thow woost wel, my preyere.

XXXV.

‘ And thynk what wo ther hath bityd or this
 For makynge of avauntes, as men rede ; 240
 And what meschaunce in this worlde yet ther is,

Fro day to day, right for that wikked dede ;
 For which this wise clerkes that ben dede
 Han evere this proverbed to us yonge,
 That firste vertu is to kepe tonge.

XXXVI.

‘ And, ner it that I wilne as now tabregge
 Diffusion of speche, I koude almoost
 A thousand olde stories the alegge
 Of wommen lost thorough fals and fooles bost ;
 Proverbes kanst thi-self inow, and woost, 250
 Ayeyns that vice, as for to ben a labbe,
 Al seyde men soth as often as they gabbe.

XXXVII.

‘ O tong, alas ! so often here biforne
 Hastow made many a lady bright of hewe,
 Seyd ‘ Waylawey, the day that I was born !’
 And many a maydes sorwes for to newe ;
 And, for the more part, al is untrew
 That men of yelpe, and it were brought to prove ;
 Of kynde non avauntour is to leve.

XXXVIII.

‘ Avauntour and a lyer, al is oone ; 260
 As thus :—I pose a womman graunte me
 Hire love, and seith that other wol she noon,
 And I am sworn to holden it seeree,
 And efter I go telle it two or thre ;
 Iwis I am avauntour, at the leeste,
 And a lyer, for I breke my byheste.

XXXIX.

‘ Now loke than if they be nought to blame,—
 Swich manere folk, what shal I elepe hem? what?—
 That hem avaunte of wommen, and by name,
 That yet biheighte hem never this ne that, 270
 Ne knew hem more than myn olde hatte?
 No wonder is, so God me sende hele,
 Though wommen dreden with us men to deele.

XL.

‘ I seye nought this for no mystruste of yowe,
 Ne for no wyse men, but for foles nyce;
 And for the harme that in the world is now,
 For wel for folye oft as for malice;
 For wel woot I, in wyse folk, that vice
 No womman drat, if she be wel avised,
 For wise ben by foles harm chastised. 280

XLI.

‘ But now to purpos :—leeve brother deere,
 Have al this thyng that I have seyde in mynde,
 And kepe the clos, and be now of goode chere,
 For at thi day thou shalt me trewe fynde;
 I shal thi processe sette in swiche a kynde,
 And God toforn, that it shal the suffise,
 For it shal ben right as thou wolt devyse.

XLII.

‘ For wel I woot, thou menest wel, pardé!
 Therfor I dar this fully undertake;
 Thou woost ek what thy lady graunted the, 290

And day is set the chartres up to make ;
 Have now goode nyght, I may no longer wake,
 And bid for me, syn thow ert now in blisse,
 That God me sende dethe or soone lysse.'

XLIII.

Who myghte tellen half the joye or the feest
 Whiche that the soule of Troilus tho felte,
 Herynge theffecte of Pandarus biheste ?
 His olde wo, that made his herte swelte,
 Gan tho for joye to wasten, and to melte,
 And al the richesse of his sikes soore,— 300
 Atones fledde, he felte of hem namore.

XLIV.

But right so as this holtes and this hayis
 That han in wynter dede ben and drye,
 Revesten hem in greene, when that May is,
 When every lusty lyketh best to pleye ;
 Ryghte in that selve wyse, soth for to seye.
 Wax sodeynliche his herte ful of joie,
 That gladdere was ther never man in Troye.

XLV.

And gan his looke on Pandarus up caste
 Ful sobrelly, and frendly for to se, 310
 And seyde, 'Frend, in April the laste,
 As wel thow woost, if it remembre the,
 How neigh the deth for wo thow founde me,
 And how thow didest al thi besynesse
 To know of me the cause of my distresse.

XLVI.

‘ Thow woost how longe Ich it forbare to seye
 To the, that ert the man that I best triste,
 And peril non was it to the biwreye,
 That wiste I wele; but telle me, if the liste,
 Sith I so loth was that thi-self it wiste, 320
 How dorst I mo tellen of this matere,
 That quake now, and no wight may us here?

XLVII.

‘ But natheles, by that God I the sweere,
 That, as hym list, may al this world governe;
 And if I lye, Achilles with his speere
 Myn herte eleve, al were my lyfe eterne,
 As I am mortal, if I, late or yerne,
 Wold it biwreye, or dorst, or sholde, or konne,
 For alle the goode that God made under sonne.

XLVIII.

‘ That rather deye I wolde, and determyne, 330
 As thynketh me, now stokked in prisone,
 In wreehednesse, in filthe, and in vermyne,
 Caytif to cruel kynge Agamemnoun;
 And this in alle the temples of this town,
 Upon the Goddes alle, I wil the swere
 To morwe day, if that it lyketh the here.

XLIX.

‘ And that thow hast so much ido for me,
 That I ne may it nevere more disserve,
 This knowe I wel, al myghte I now for the

A thousand tymes on a morwen sterve. 340
 I kan namore, but that I wol the serve
 Right as thi sclave, whider so thow wende,
 For evere more, unto my lyves ende.

L.

‘ But here, with al myn herte, I the biseche
 That nevere in me thow deme swiche folye
 As I shal seyn ; me thoughte, by thy speche,
 That this whiche thow me doste for companye,
 I sholde wene it were a bauderye ;
 I am nought wode, alle-if I lewed be ;
 It is nought so, that woot I wel, pardé ! 350

LI.

‘ But he that goth for gold, or for richesse,
 On swich message, cal him what the liste ;
 And this that thow dost, calle it gentilnesse,
 Compassyon, and felawschyp, and truste ;
 Departe it so, for wide-where is wiste
 How that ther is dyversité requered,
 Bytwexen thynges lyke, as I have lered.

LII.

‘ And that thow knowe I thynke nought ne wene,
 That this servyse a shame be or a jape,
 I have my faire suster Polixene, 360
 Cassandre, Eleyne, or any of the frape ;
 Be she nevere so faire, or wel ishape,
 Tel which thow wilt of everychon
 To han for thyn, and lat me thanne allone.

LIII.

But sith thou thow hast don me this servyse,
 My lif to save, and for non hope of mede ;
 So, for the love of God, this grete emprise
 Parforme it out, for now is moste nede ;
 For heigh and lough, withouten any drede,
 I wol alway thine hestis alle kepe. 370
 Have now gode nyght, and lat us bothe slepe.'

LIV.

Thus held hem ich of other wel apayed,
 That al the world ne myghte it bet amende ;
 And on the mowen, when they were arayed,
 Ech to his owen nedes gan entende :
 But Troilus, though as the fire he brende
 For sharpe desire of hope and of plesaunce,
 He nought forgat his goode governaunce.

LV.

But in hymself with manhode gan restreyne
 Ech rackle dede, and ech unbrideled chere, 380
 That alle tho that lyven, soth to seyne,
 Ne sholde han wiste, by word or by manere,
 What that he mente, as touchynge this mater ;
 From every wyght as fer as is the cloude
 He was, so wele dissimulen he koude.

LVI.

And al the while which that I yow devyse,
 This was his lyf ; with al his fulle myghte,
 By day he was in Martes heighe servyse,

This is to seyn, in armes as a knyghte,
 And for the more part, the longe nyght, 390
 He lay, and thought how that he myghte serve
 His lady best, hire thonke for to deserve.

LVII.

Nyl I nought swere, although he lay softe,
 That in his thought he nas somewhat disesed,
 Ne that he torned on his pilous ofte,
 And wald of that he myssed han ben sesed ;
 But in swich eas men is nought alwey plesed,
 For ought I woot, namore than was he ;
 That kan I deme of possibilité.

LVIII.

But certeyn is, to purpos for to go, 400
 That in this while, as writen is in geste,
 He say his lady somtyme ; and also
 She with hym spake when that she dorst and liste ;
 And, by hire bothe avys, as was the beste,
 Apoynteden ful warly in this nede,
 So as they dorst, how they wolden procede.

LIX.

But it was spoken in so short a wyse,
 In swich awayt alwey, and in swich fere,
 Lest any wight devynen, or devyse
 Wold of hem two, or to it ley an ere, 410
 That al this world so leve to hem ne were,
 As that Cupide wold hem grace sende
 To maken of hire speche aright an ende.

LX.

But thilke litel that they spake or wroughte,
 His wise goost took ay of al swich hede,
 It semed hire he weste what she thoughte,
 Withouten word, so that it was no nede
 To bid hym ought to don, or ought forbede ;
 For which she thoughte that love, al come it late,
 Of alle joie hadde opened hire the yate. 420

LXI.

And shortly of this proces for to pace,—
 So wel his werk, and wordes he bisette,
 That he so ful stood in his lady grace,
 That twenti thousand tymes, or she lette,
 She thanked God that evere she with hym mette,
 So koude he hym governe in swich servyse,
 That al the world ne myght it bet avyse.

LXII.

For-why she fonde hym so discrete in al,
 So secrete, and of swich obeysaunce,
 That wel she felte he was to hire a wal 430
 Of stiel, and shield from every displesaunce ;
 That to be in his goode governaunce,
 So wis he was, she was namore afered,
 I mene as fer as oughte ben requered.

LXIII.

And Pandarus, to quyke alwey the fire,
 Was evere yholde prest and diligent ;
 To ese his frende was sette al his desire.

He shof ay on, he to and fro was sent,
 He lettres bar whan Troilus was aosente ;
 That nevere man, as in his frendes nede, 440
 Ne ber hym bet thanne he, withouten drede.

LXIV.

But now, paraunter, som man wayten wolde
 That every worde, or sond, or looke, or chere
 Of Troilus, that I rehereen sholde,
 In al this while, unto his lady deere ;
 I trowe it were a longe thyng for to here ;
 Or of what wight that stant in swich disjoynte
 His wordes alle, or every look, to poynte.

XLV.

Forsoth I have naught herd it don er this
 In storie non, ne no man here I weene ; 450
 And though I wolde, I koude nought, iwis ;
 For ther was som epistel hem bytwene,
 That walde, as seith myn auctour, wele contene
 Neigh half this boke, of which hym liste nought
 wryte ;
 How shold I thanne a lyne of it endite ?

LXVI.

But to the grete effect :—thanne sey I thus,
 That stondyng in concord and in quiete
 This ilke twey, Cryseyde and Troilus,
 As I have tolde, and in this tyme swete,
 Save only often myghte they not mete, 460
 Ne layser have, hire speches to fulfille,
 That it befel right as I shal yow telle ;

LXVII.

That Pandarus, that evere dide his myght,
 Right for the fyn that I shal spek of here,
 As for to bryngen to his hous som nyghte
 His faire nece, and Troilus yfere,
 Wher as at layser al this heigh matere,
 Touchynge hire love wer at the fulle up-bounde,
 Hadde oute of doute a tyme to it founde.

LXVIII.

For he, with grete deliberacioun, 470
 Hadde every thyng that hereto myght availle
 Forneast, and put in execucioun,
 And noither left for cost ne for travaile ;
 Come if hem lest, hym sholde no thyng faille,
 And for to ben in oughte aspied thare,
 That wiste he wel an impossible were.

LXIX.

Dredeles it clere was in the wynde
 Of every pie, and every lette game ;
 Now alle is wel, for al the world is blynde
 In this matere, bothe fremed and tame ; 480
 This tymbyr is al redy up to frame ;
 Us lakketh nought, but that we witen wolde
 A certain oure, in whiche she comen sholde.

LXX.

And Troilus, that al this purveiaunce
Knew at the fulle, and waited on it ay,
 Hadde hereupon ek made grete ordinaunce,

And fonde his cause, and therto his aray,
 That if that he were myssed nyght or day,
 The while he was abouten this servyse,
 That he was gon to don his sacrifise, 490

LXXI.

And moste at swhich a temple allone wake,
 Answerde of Apollo for to be,
 And first to sen the holy laurer quake,
 Er that Apollo spake oute of the tre,
 To telle hym next when that the Greekes sholde fle;
 And forthi lette hym no man, God forbede !
 But preye Apollo helpen in this nede.

LXXII.

Now is ther litel more for to doone,
 But Pandare up, and shortly for to seyne,
 Right soone upon the chaungynge of the moone,
 Whan lightlees is the world, a nyght or tweyne, 501
 And that the walken shope hym for to reyne,
 He streight o morwe unto his nece wente ;
 Ye han wel herde, the fyn of his entente.

LXXIII.

Whan he was come, he gan anon to pleye,
 As he was wont, and of hymself to jape ;
 And finally he swore, and gan hire seye,
 Bi this and that, she shold hym nought escape,
 Ne lenger don hym efter hire to gape ;
 But certainly, she moste, by hire leve, 510
 Come soupen in his hous with hym at eve.

LXXIV.

At which she lough, and gan hire faste excuse,
 And seyde: 'It reyneth, lo! how shold I gon?'
 'Lat be,' quod he, 'ne stand nought thus to muse,
 This mot be done, ye shal be ther onon.'
 So, at the last, hereof they fel attone,
 Or elles soft he swor hire in hire ere,
 He nolde nevere comen ther she were.

LXXV.

Soone after this, she to hym gan to rowne,
 And axed hym if Troilus wer there; 520
 He swor hire nay, for he was oute of town,
 And seyde, 'Neece I pose that he were,
 Thow thruste nevere han the more fere;
 For rather than men myght hym ther asprie,
 Me were lever a thousand folde to deye.'

LXXVI.

Nought list myn auctour fully to declare,
 What that she thoughte when he scide so,
 That Troilus was oute of town ifare,
 As if he seyde therof soth or no;
 But that, without awayt, with hym to go, 530
 She graunted hym, sith he hire that bisoughte,
 And, as his nece, obeyed as hire oughte.

LXXVII.

But natheles, yett gan she hym biseche.
 Al though with hym to gon it was no fere,
 For to be war of goofish peples speche,

That dremen thynges which as never were :
 And wel avyse hym whom he broughte there,
 And seyde hym, ' Em, syn I most on yow triste,
 Look al be wel ; I do now as yow liste.'

LXXVIII.

He swor hire yis ! by stokkes and by stones, 540
 And by the Goddes that in Hevene dwelle,
 Or elles were hym levere, soule and bones,
 With Pluto kyngē as depe ben in Helle
 As Tantalus : what shold I more telle ?
 When alle was wel he roos and tooke his leve,
 And she to soper come when it was eve,

LXXIX.

With a certeyn of hire owne men,
 And with hire faire nece Antigone,
 And other of hire wommen nyne or ten.
 But who was glade ? now who, as trowe ye, 550
 But Troilus, that stood and myght it se
 Thorough out a litel wyndowe in a stewe,
 Ther he bishet, sen mydnyght, was in muwe,

LXXX.

Unwist of every wyght, but of Pandare.
 But to the pointe :—now when she was icome,
 With alle joie, and alle frendes fare,
 Hire em anon in armes hath hire nome,
 And efter to the soper alle and some,
 When tyme was, ful softē they hem sette ;
 God woot ther was no deynté for to fette. 560

LXXXI.

And after soper gonnen they to ryse,
 At ese wele, with herte fresshe and glade,
 And wel was hym that koude beste devyso
 To liken hire, or that hire laughen made ;
 He song, she pleyde, he tolde tale of Wade :
 But at the last, as every thyng hath ende,
 She tooke hire leve, and nedes walde wende.

LXXXII.

But O Fortune, exceutrice of wierdes !
 O influences of this hevenes hye !
 Soth is, that, under God, ye ben oure hierdes, 570
 Though to us bestes ben the causes wrye :
 This mene I now for she gan homward hye ;
 But execut was, al byside hire leve,
 At the goddes wil, for which she moste bleve.

LXXXIII.

The bente moone with hire hornes pale,
 Saturne and Jove in Cancro joyned were,
 That swich a reyne from Hevene gan avale,
 That every manere woman that was there,
 Hadde of that smoky reyn a verray fere ;
 At which Pandare tho lough, and seyde thenne, 580
 ‘ Now were it tyme a lady to gette henne !

LXXXIV.

‘ But, goode nece, if I myght evere plesse
 Yow any thyng, than preye Ich yow,’ quod he,
 ‘ To don myn herte as now so grete an ese,

As for to dwelle here al this nyght with me ;
 For-whi this is youre owene hous, pardé !
 Now, by my trowth, I sey it nought a game,
 To wonde as now, it were to me a shame.'

LXXXV.

Criseyde, which that coude as mueche good
 As half a world, took hede of his preyere ; 590
 And syn it ron, and alle was on a flode,
 She thought, ' As good chep may I dwelle here,
 And graunte it gladly with a frendes chere,
 And have a thank, as gruehe and thanne abide,
 For hom to gon it may nought wele bitide.

LXXXVI.

' I wol,' quod she, ' myn unele lief and dere,
 Syn that yow list, it skyl is to be so ;
 I am right glad with yow to dwellen here,
 I seyde but a game I wolde go.'
 ' Iwis, graunte merey, nece !' quod he tho ; 600
 ' Were it a game or no, soth for to telle,
 Now I am glad, syn that yow list to dwelle.'

LXXXVII.

Thus al is wele ; but tho bigan aright
 The newe joie, and al the fest agayne ;
 But Pandarus, if goodly hadde he myght,
 He wold han hyed hire to bedde fayne,
 And seyde, ' Lord ! this is an huge reyne !
 This were a weder for to slepen inne
 And that I rede us soon bigynne.

LXXXVIII.

‘ And nece, woote ye where I wol yow leye, 610
 For that we shullen not ligen fer a sonder,
 And for ye neither shullen, dar I seye,
 Heren noise of reynes, nor of thonder ;
 By God, right in my lite closet yonder ;
 And I wol in that outter hous allone,
 Be warden of youre wommen everychon.

LXXXIX.

‘ And in this myddel chaumber that ye se,
 Shal youre wommen slepen wel and softe ;
 And ther I seyde shal youre-selven be ;
 And if ye ligen wel to nyght, come ofte, 620
 And careth nought what weder is alofte.
 The wyn anon, and whan so that yow leste,
 Go we to slepe, I trow it be the beste.’

XC.

Ther nys no more, but here efter soone
 Thei voide, dronke, and traveres drawe anon ;
 Gan every wyghte that hadde nought to done
 More in the place, oute of the chaumber gone ;
 And everemore so sternelich it ron,
 And blew therwith so wonderliche loude,
 That wel neighe no man heren other koude.’ 630

XCI.

Tho Pandarus, hire em, right as hym oughte,
 With wommen, swiche as were hire most aboute,
 Ful glad unto hire beddes syde hire broughte ;

And took his leve, and gan ful lowe loute,
 And seyde, 'Here at this closet dore withoute,
 Right overthwart, youre women liggen alle,
 That whom yow list of hem, ye may here calle.

XCII.

Lo when that she was in the closet layde,
 And alle hire women forth by ordinaunce
 Abedde weren, ther as I have seyde, 640
 There was namore to skipen ne to traunee,
 But boden go to bedde, with mischaunce !
 If any wight was sterynge any where,
 And lat hem slepen, that abedde ware.

XCIII.

But Pandarus, that wel koude ech a deele
 The olde daunce, and every poynt therinne,
 When that he seye that alle thyng was wele,
 He thought he wolde upon his werk bygynne ;
 And gan the stewe dore al soft unpynne,
 As stille as stone ; withouten langer lette, 650
 By Troilus adown right he hym sette.

XCIV.

And shortly to the pointe right for to gon :—
 Of alle this werk he told hym worde and ende,
 And seyde, 'Make the redy right anon,
 For thow shalt into Hevene blisse wende.'
 'Now, blisful Venus ! thow me grace sende,'
 Quod Troilus, 'for nevere yet no nede,
 Hadde Ieh er now, ne halvendeel the drede.'

XCV.

Quod Pandarus, 'Ne drede the nevere a dele,
 For it shal be right as thow wolt desire ; 660
 So thryve I, this nyght shal I make it wele,
 Or casten al the gruwel in the fyre.'
 'Now blisful Venus ! this nyght thow me enspire,'
 Quod Troilus, 'as wys as I the serve,
 And evere bet and bet shal til I sterve.

XCVI.

'An if Ich hadde, O Venus ful of myrthe !
 Aspectes badde of Mars, or of Saturne,
 Or thow combust, or let were in my byrth,
 Thi fader prey al thylke harme desturne
 Of grace, and that I glad ayein may turne, 670
 For love of hym thow lovedest in the shawe,
 I mene Adon, that with the bore was slawe.

XCVII.

'O Jove ! ek for the love of fayre Europe,
 The which in forme of bool away thow fette :
 Now help, O Mars, thow with thi blody cope,
 For the love of Cyphe, thow me nought ne lette !
 O Phebus ! thynke when Dane hire-selven shette
 Under the bark and laurer wax for-drede,
 Yet for hire love, O help now at this nede !

XCVIII.

'Mereure ! for the love of Hierse eke, 680
 For whiche Pallas was with Aglowros wroth,
 Now help ! and ek Diane ! I the biseke,

That this viage be nought to the loth :
 O fatal sustren ! which, er any cloth
 Me shapen was, my desteyné me sponne,
 So helpeth to this werk that is bygonne !'

XCXIX.

Quod Pandarus, 'Thow wriched mowses herte !
 Artow agast so that she wil the byte ?
 Why, don this furred cloke upon thi sherte,
 And folowe me, for I wol han the wyte ; 690
 But bid, and lat me gon byforne a lyte ;'
 And with that word he gan undon a trappe,
 And Troilus he brought in by the lappe.

C.

The sterne wynde so loude kan to route
 That no wight oþer noise myght here ;
 And they that layen at the dore withoute,
 Ful sikirly they slepten al ifeere :
 And Pandarus, with a ful sobre chere,
 Goth to the dore anon, withouten lette,
 Ther as they laye, and softly it shette. 700

CI.

And, as he come ayeynward pryvely,
 His nece awoke, and axed, ' Who goth there ?'
 ' My dere nece,' quod he, ' it am I,
 Ne wondereth nought, ne have of it no fere ;'
 And nere he com, and seyde hire in hire ere :—
 ' No word, for love of God I yow biseche,
 Lat no wight rise and heren of oure speche.'

CII.

‘What? whiche way be ye comen? benedicite!’
 Quod she, ‘and how unwiste of hem alle?’
 ‘Here at this seeré trappe dore,’ quod he; 710
 Quod tho Criseyde, ‘Lat me som wight calle!’
 ‘I! God forbede that it sholde falle,’
 Quod Pandarus, ‘that ye swich foly wroughte!
 They myghte demen thyng they nevere er thoughte.’

CIII.

‘It is nought goode a slepyng hounde to wake,
 Ne yeve a wyght a cause to devyne;
 Youre wommen slepen alle, I undertake,
 So that for hem the hous men myghte myne,
 And slepen wollen til the sonne shyne;
 And when my tale brought is to an ende, 720
 Unwyst, right as I com, so wol I wende.’

CIV.

‘Now, nece myn, ye shal wel understonde,’
 Quod he, ‘so as ye wommen demen alle,
 That for to holde in love a man in honde,
 And hym hire ‘lief’ and ‘dere herte’ calle,
 And maken hym a howve above a calle,—
 I mene, as love another in this mene while,—
 She doth hire-self a shame, and hym a gyle.’

CV.

‘Now wherby that I telle yow al this?
 Ye wot youre-self as wel as any wyghte, 730
 How that youre love alle fully graunted is

To Troilus, the worthiest knyghte,
 Oon of this world, and therto trouthe iplighte,
 That, but it were on hym alonge, ye nolde
 Hym nevere falsen while ye lyven sholde.

CVI.

‘ Now stant it thus, that, sith I fro yow wente,
 This Troilus, right platly for to seyn,
 Is thorwgh a goter, by a pryvé wente,
 Into my chaumber com in al this reyn ;
 Unwist of every manere wight, certeyn, 740
 Save of myself, as wisly have I joye,
 And by the feith I shal Priam of Troye !

CVII.

‘ And he is come in swieh wo and distresse,
 That, but he be alle fully woode by this,
 He sodeynly mot falle into wodenesse,
 But-if God help : and cause whi is this ?
 He seith hym tolde is of a frende of his,
 How that ye sholden loven oon, hatte Horaste,
 For sorwe of whiche this nyght shal ben his laste.’

CVIII.

Criseyde, which that al this wonder herde, 750
 Gan sodeynly aboute hire herte colde,
 And with a sik ful sorwfully answerde :—
 ‘ Allas ! I wende, who-so tales tolde,
 My deere herte wolde me nought holde
 So lightly fals : allas ! conseytes wronge,
 What harme they don, for now lyve I to longe !

CIX.

Horaste? alas! and falsen Troilus?
 I knowe hym nought, God helpe me so! quod she.
 ‘Allas! what wikked spirit tolde hym thus?
 Now certes, em, to morw, and I hym se, 760
 I shal therof as full excusen me,
 As evere dide womman, if hym lyke;’
 And with that worde she gan ful sore sike.

CX.

‘O God!’ quod she, ‘so worldly selynesse,
 Which clerkes callen fals felicité,
 Imedled is with many a bitternesse!
 Ful angwyshous than is, God woote,’ quod she,
 ‘Condicion of veyn prosperité!
 For oither joies comen nought yfeere,
 Or elles no wight hath hem alwey here. 770

CXI.

‘O, brotel wele of mannes joie unstable!
 With what wight so thow be, or how thow pleye,
 Oither he woot that thow joie art muable,
 Or woot it nought, it mot ben on of tweyen:
 Now if he woot it not, how may he seyen
 That he hath veray joie and selynesse,
 That is of ignoraunce ay in distresse?

CXII.

‘Now if he woote that joie is transitorie,
 As every joie of worldly thyng mot fle,
 Thanne every tyme he that hath in memorie, 780

The drede of lesyng maketh hym that he
 May in no parfyte selynesse be :
 And if to lese his joie, he sette not a myte,
 Than semeth it, that joie is worth ful lite.

CXIII.

‘Wherfor I wol devyne in this matere,
 That trewely, for aught I kan espie,
 There is no veray wele in this world here.
 But, O thow wikked serpent Jalousie !
 Thow mysbileved, and envyous folye,
 Why hastow made Troilus to me untruste, 799
 That nevere yet agylte hym, that I wyste?’

CXIV.

Quod Pandarus, ‘Thus fallen is this cas.’
 ‘Why ! uncle myn,’ quod she, ‘who tolde hym this ?
 Why doth my deere herte thus, allas ?’
 ‘Ye woote, ye nece myn,’ quod he, ‘what is ;
 I hope alle shal be wel, that is amys,
 For ye may quenche alle this, if that yow liste,
 And doth right so, for I hold it for the beste.’

CXV.

‘So shal I do to morw, iwis,’ quod she,
 ‘And, God toforn, so that it shal suffise ;’ 800
 ‘To morwe ? allas, that were a fair !’ quod he.
 ‘Nay, nay ! it may nought stonden in this wyse :
 For nece myn, thus writen clerkes wyse,
 That peril is with drecchyng in ydrawe ;
 Nay swich abodes ben nought worth an hawe.

CXVI.

‘ Neece, alle thyng hath tyme, I dar avowe ;
 For when a chaumbere afire is, or an halle,
 Wel more nede is it sodenly rescowe,
 Than to disputen and axe amonges alle,
 How is this candele in the strow ifalle? 810
 A ! benedicite ! for al amonge that fare,
 The harme is don, and farewell feldefare.

CXVII.

‘ And, neece, myne, ne take it nought a grief ;
 If that ye suffre hym alle nyght in this wo,
 God help me so, ye hadde hym nevere lief,
 That dar I seyn, now ther is but we two ;
 But wel I woot that ye wol nat do so ;
 Ye ben to wis to don so grete folye,
 To put his lif alle nyght in jupartye.’

CXVIII.

‘ Hadde I hym nevere lief ? By God ! I wene, 820
 Yet hadde I nevere thyng so lief !’ quod she.
 ‘ Now, bi my thrifte !’ quod he, ‘ that shal be seene ;
 For, syn ye make this ensauple of me,
 If Ich alle nyght wold hym in sorw se,
 For alle the tresour in the town of Troye,
 I bidde God, I nevere mote have joye !

CXIX.

‘ Now loke thanne if ye, that ben his love,
 Shul putte his lif alle nyght in jupartye,
 For thyng of nought ? Now, by that God above !

Nought onoly this delay comth of folye, 830
 But of malice, if that I shal not lye :
 What ! platly, and ye suffre hym in distresse,
 Ye noither bounté don ne gentilnesse.'

CXX.

Quod she Cryseyde, 'Wile ye don o thyng,
 And ye therwith shal stynte alle his disese ?
 Have here and bereth hym this blewe ryng,
 For ther is nothyng myght hym better plese,
 Save I my-self, ne more his herte apese ;
 And sey my dere herte that his sorwe
 Is causeles, that shal be sene to morwe.' 840

CXXI.

'A ryng?' quod he, 'ye hasel wodes shaken !
 Ye, nece myne, that ryng most han a stoone,
 That myghte dede men alyve maken ;
 And swich a ryng, trow I, that ye have noon :
 Discrecion oute of youre hede is gon,
 That fele I now,' quod he, 'and that is routhe ;
 O, tyme ilost ! wel maystow corsen slouthe !

CXXII.

'Woot ye not wele that noble and heigh corage
 Ne sorweth nought, ne stynteth ek for lite ?
 But-if a foole were in a jalous rage, 850
 I nolde setten at his sorw a myte,
 But feffe hym with a fewe wordes whyte,
 Another day, when that I myght hym fynde ;
 But this thyng stant al in another kynde.

CXXIII.

‘ This is so gentil and so tendre of herte,
 That with his deth he wol his sorwes wreke ;
 For, trusteth wel, how sore that hym smert,
 He wol to yowe no jalous wordes speke ;
 And forthy nece, er that his herte breke,
 So speke youre-self to hym of this matere ;
 For with a worde ye may his herte steere. 860

CXXIV.

‘ Now have I told what peril he is inne,
 And his comyng unwiste is tevery wight,
 Ne, pardé, harme may ther be non, ne synne ;
 I wol my-self be with yow al this nyghte ;
 Ye know ek how it is youre owene knyght,
 And that, by right, ye most upon hym triste,
 And I am prist to fette hym when yow liste.’

CXXV.

This accident so pitous was to here,
 And ek so like a soth; at pryme face, 870
 And Troilus hire knyght, to hire so dere,
 His privé comyng, and the seker place,
 That though that she dide hym as thanne a grace,
 Considered alle thynges as they stode,
 No wonder is, syn she dide alle for goode.

CXXVI.

Criseyde answerede, ‘ As wysly God at reste
 My soule brynge, as me is for hym wo !
 And, em, iwis, fayne wold I don the beste,
 If that Ieh grace hadde for to do so ;

But, whether that ye dwel, or for hym go, 880
 I am, til God me bettere mynde sende,
 At dulcarnon, right at my wittes ende.'

CXXVII.

Quod Pandarus, 'Ye, nece, wil ye here?
 Dulcarnon called is 'flemynge of wriches;'
 It semeth hard, for wreches wol nought lere,
 For veray slouth, or other wilful tecches;
 This seyde is bi hem that ben nought worth two fecches;
 But ye ben wis, and that we han in honde
 Is neither harde ne skylful to withstonde.'

CXXVIII.

'Thanne, em,' quod she, 'doth hereof as yow liste,
 But, or he come, I wol up firste arise; 891
 And, for the love of God, syn al my triste
 Is on yow two, and ye ben bothe wise,
 So werketh now, in so discrete a wyse,
 That I honour may have and he plesaunce,
 For I am here alle in youre governaunce.'

CXXIX.

'This is wel seyde,' quod he, 'my nece deere!
 Ther good thrift on that wise gentil herte!
 But liggeth stille, and taketh hym right here,
 It nedeth nought no ferther for him sterte; 900
 And ech of yow eseth otheres sorwes smerte,
 For love of God! and, Venus! I the herye,
 For soon hope I we shul ben al merye.'

CXXX.

This Troylus ful soone on knowes hym sette,
 Ful sobrelly, right by hire beddes hede,
 And in his beste wyse his lady grette:
 But, lord! what she wex sodeynlye he rede!
 Ne, though men sholde smyten of hire hede,
 She koude nought o word a-right out brynge,
 So sodeynly for his sodeyn comynge. 910

CXXXI.

But Pandarus, that so wel koude feele
 In every thyng, to pleye anon byganne,
 And seyde, 'Nee, se how this lord can knele!
 Now, for youre trouthe, se this gentil man!
 And with that worde, he for a quysshenn ran,
 And seyde, 'Kneleth now whil that yow liste,
 Ther God youre hertes brynge soone at reste!'

CXXXII.

Kan I nought seyn, for she bad hym nought rise,
 If sorw it putte oute of hire remembraunce;
 Or elles that she toke it in the wyse 920
 Of dweté, as for his observaunce;
 But wel fynde I, she did hym this plesaunce,
 That she hym kyste, although she sikede soore,
 And bad him sitte adown withouten more.

CXXXIII.

Quod Pandarus, 'Now wol ye wel bygynne,
 Now doth hym sitte, goode nece deere,
 Upon youre beddes syde, al ther withinne,

That ech of yow the bette may other here ;
 And with that word he drew hym to the fere,
 And took a light, and fonde his contenaunce, 930
 As for to looke upon an old romaunce.

CXXXIV.

Criseyde, that was Troilus lady righte,
 And clere stode on a grounde of siknesse,
 Al though that he, hire servaunt and hire knyghte,
 Ne shold of right non untrouth in hire gesse ;
 Yet natheles, considered his distresse,
 And that love is in cause of swich foly,
 Thus to hym spake she of his jalousye.

CXXXV.

‘ Lo, herte myne ! as wolde the excellence
 Of love, ayenis the whiche that no man may, 940
 Ne aught ek, goodly maken resistence ;
 And ek bycause I felte wel and say,
 Youre grete trouthe, and servyse every day ;
 And that youre herte al myn was, soth to seyne,
 This drofe me for to rew upon youre peyne.

CXXXVI.

‘ And youre goodenesse have I founden alway yet,
 Of which, my dere herte, and al my knyght !
 I thonke it yow, as fer as I have witte,
 Al kan I nought as much as it were right ;
 And I, emforth my konnyng and my myght, 950
 Have, and ay shal, how soore that me smerte,
 Ben to yow trew and hool with al my herte.

CXXXVII.

‘ And, dredeles, that shal ben founde at preve ;
 But, herte myne, what al this is to seyne
 Shal wel be tolde, so that ye nought yow greve,
 Though I to yow right on your-self compleyne,
 For there-with mene I fynaly the peyne,
 That halt youre herte and myn in hevynesse,
 Fully to slen, and every wronge redresse.

CXXXVIII.

‘ My goode myn ! not I for why ne how 960
 That jalousye, allas ! that wikked wyvere,
 Thus causeles is copen into yow,
 The harm of which I wolde fayn delivere :
 Allas ! that he al hool, or of hym slyvere,
 Shold han his refut in so digne a place !
 Ther Jove hym soone oute of youre herte arace !

CXXXIX.

‘ But, O thow Jove ! O auctour of nature !
 Is this an honour unto thy deyté,
 That folk ungiltif suffren hire injuré,
 And who that giltif is, al quyte goth he ? 970
 O, were it leful for to pleyne on the,
 That undeserved suffrest jalousye,
 Of that I wolde upon the pleyne and crye.

CXL.

‘ Ek al my wo is this, that folk now usen
 To seyne right thus, ye jalousye is love ;
 And wold a busshel venym al excusen,

For that o greyn of love is on it shove ;
 But that woot heigh God that is above,
 If it be liker love, or hate, or grame,
 And efter that it oughte bere his name. 980

CCLI.

‘ But certeyn is, som manere jalousye
 Is excusable, more thanne som, iwis ;
 As when cause is, and som swich fantasie
 With pieté so wele repressed is,
 That it unnethe doth or seyth amys,
 But goodly drynketh up al his distresse ;
 And that excuse I for the gentillesse.

CXLII.

‘ And som so ful of furie is, and despite,
 That it surmounteth his repression.
 But, herte myn, ye be not in that plite, 990
 That thonke I God ! for which your passioun,
 I wol nought calle it but illusioun
 Of abundaunce of love, and bisy cure,
 That doth youre herte this disese endure.

CXLIII.

‘ Of which I am right sory, but nought wroth ;
 But for my devoure and youre hertes reste,
 Where so yow list, by ordal or by ooth,
 By sort, or in what wyse so yow leste,
 For love of God, lat preve it for the beste ;
 And if that I be gilty, do me deye ; 1000
 Allas ! what myght I more don or seyne.’

CXLIV.

With that a fewe brighte teres newe
 Oute of her eighen fille, and thus she seyde:—
 ‘ Now, God thow woost, in thought ne dede untrewē
 To Troilus was nevere yet Criseyde !’
 With that hire hed down in the bed she layde,
 And with the shete it wreigh, and sighte soore,
 And held hire pees, nought a word spak she more.

CXLV.

But now helpe, God, to quenchen al this sorwe !
 So hope I that he shal, for he best may ; 1010
 For I have seyn of a ful mysty morwe,
 Follwen ful oft a merye someres day ;
 And efter wynter folweth grene May ;
 Men sen al day, and reden ek in storyes,
 ‘ That efter sharpe stoures ben oft victories.’

CXLVI.

This Troilus, when he hire wordes herde,
 Have ye no care, hym listē nought to slepe !
 For it thought hym no strokes of a yerde
 To here or sen Criseyde his lady wepe ;
 But wel he felte aboute his herte crepe, 1020
 For every tere which that Criseyde asterte,
 The craumpe of deth, to streyne hym by the herte,

CXLVII.

And in his mynde he gan the tyme aorse
 That he com ther, and that he was iborn ;
 For now is wikked torned into worse,

And al that labour he hath don biforne,
 He wende it lost, he thought it nas but lorne,
 ‘O Pandarus,’ thought he, ‘allas! thi wile,
 Serveth of nought, so walawey the while!’

CXLVIII.

And therwithal he henge adown the hede, 1030
 And felle on knesse, and sorwfully he sighte;
 What myght he seyn? he felt he was but dede,
 For wroth was she that shold his sorwes lighte:
 But, natheles, when that he speken myghte,
 Than seyde he thus, ‘God woot, that of this game,
 When al is wiste, than am I nought to blame.’

CXLIX.

Therwith the sorwe so his herte shette,
 That from hise eyen fel thar nought a tere;
 And every spirit his vigour inknette,
 So they astoned and oppressed were: 1040
 The felynge of his sorwe, or of his feere,
 Or of aught elles, fled were out of towne,
 And down he fel al sodeynly in swoune.

CL.

This was no litel sorwe for to se,
 For al was hust; and Pandare up as faste,
 ‘O nece! pees, or we be lost!’ quod he;
 ‘Beth nought agast!’ but eerteyn at the laste,
 For this or that, he into bed hym caste,
 And seyde, ‘O thef! is this a mannes herte?’
 And ef he rente alto his bare shirte. 1050

CLI.

And seyde ‘Neece, but ye help us now,
 Allas ! youre owene Troylus is lorne !’
 ‘Iwis so wold I, and I wiste how,
 Ful fayn ;’ quod she, ‘allas ! that I was borne !’
 ‘Ye, nece ? wille ye pulle oute the thorne
 That stikketh in his herte ?’ quod Pandare ;
 ‘Sey, ‘al foryeven, and stynte is al this fare.’

CLII.

‘Ye ! that to me,’ quod she, ‘ful levere were
 Thanne al the good the sonne aboute goth !’
 And therwithal she swor hym in his ere, 1060
 ‘Iwis, my deere herte, I am nought wroth,
 Have here my trouthe, and many another ath !
 Now spek to me, for it am I Criseyde !’
 But al for nought, yet myght he nought abrayde.

CLIII.

Therwith his pous and pawmes of his hondes
 Thei gan to froote, and wete his temples tweyne,
 And to delyver him from bittre bondes,
 She oft hym kyste ; and, shortly for to seyne,
 Hym to revoken she did al hire peyne :
 And, at the laste, he gan his breth to drawe, 1070
 And of his swough sone eftir that adawe ;

CLIV.

And gan bet mynde and reson to hym take ;
 But wonder soore he was abaiste, iwis !
 And with a syke, when he gan bet awake,

He seyde, ' O mercy God ! what thyng is this ?'
 ' Whi do ye with youre-selven thus amys ?'
 Quod she Criseyde, ' is this a mannes game ?
 What Troilus, wol ye do thus, for schame !'

CLV.

And therwithal hire arm overe hym she layde,
 And al foryaf, and ofte tyme hym kyssede. 1090
 He thonked hire, and to hire spak, and seyde
 As fil to purpos, for his herte reste ;
 And she to that answerde hym as hire leste,
 And with hire goodly wordes hym disporte
 She gan, and oft his sorwes to conforte.

CLVI.

Quod Pandarus, ' For aught I kan asprien,
 This light nor I ne serven here of nought ;
 Light is nought goode for sike folkes yen ;
 But, for the love of God, seyn ye ben brought
 In this goode plite, lat now no hevye thought 1090
 Ben hangynge in the hertes of yow tweye ;'
 And bar the candele to the chymeneye.

CLVII.

Sone efter this, though it no nede were,
 When she swiche othes swor as hire list devyse
 Hadde of hym take, hire thoughte tho no fere,
 Ne cause ek non, to bidde hym thennes ryse :
 Yet lesse thyng than othes may suffise,
 In many a cas, for every wight, I gesse,
 That loveth wel meneth but gentilnesse.

CLVIII.

But, in efect, she wolde wyte anon, 1100
 Of what man, and ek where, and also whi,
 He jalous was, sen ther was cause non :
 And ek the signe that he toke it by,
 Sho bad hym for to telle hire that bisily ;
 Or elles, certeyn, she bar hym on honde,
 That this was don of malice hire to fonde.

CLIX.

Withouten more, shortly for to seyne,
 He most obeye unto his lady heste ;
 And for the lesse harm he moste feyn ;
 He seyde hire, when she was at swiche a feste, 1110
 She myght on hym han loked at the leste ;—
 Not I nought what, al deere ynough a ryshe,
 As he that nedes most a cause fyshe.

CLX.

And she answerde, ‘ Swete, al were it so
 What harm was that, seyn I non evele mene ?
 For, by that God that bought us bothe two,
 In al thyng is myn entente elene :
 Swiche argumentz ne ben nought worth a beene !
 Wol ye the childishe jalousye contrefete ?
 Now were it worthy that ye were ybette.’ 1120

CLXI.

Tho Troilus gan sorwfully to syke ;
 Leste she be wroth, hym thought his herte deyede ;
 And seyde, ‘ Allas ! upon my sorwes syke,

Have mercy, swete herte, myn Criseyde !
 And if that in the wordes that I seyde
 Be any wronge, I wol no more trespase ;
 Do what yow liste, I am al in youre grace.'

CLXII.

And she answerde, ' Of gylte misericord !
 That is to seyn that I foryeve al this ;
 And everemore on this nyght yow recorde, 1130
 And beth wel war ye do namore amis :'
 ' Nay, deere herte myn,' quod he, ' iwis !'
 ' And now,' quod she, ' that I have don yow smerte,
 Foryeve it me, myn owene swete herte !'

CLXIII.

This Troilus with blisse of that supprised,
 Putte alle in Goddes honde, as he that mente
 Nothyng but wel, and sodeynly avysed,
 He hire in armes faste to hym hente :
 And Pandarus, with a ful goode entente,
 Layde hym to slepe, and seyde, ' If ye be wyse, 1140
 Swouneth nought now, lest more folk arise.'

CLXIV.

What myght or may the sely larke seye,
 When that the sparhawk hath hym in hire foot ?
 I kan namore, but of thise ilke tweye,
 (To whom this tale suere be or soot)
 Though that I tarie a yer, somtyme I mote,
 After myn auctor, tellen hire gladnesse,
 As wel as I have told hire hevynesse.

CLXV.

Criseyde, which that felt hire thus ytake,
 As writen clerkes in hire bokes olde, 1150
 Right as an aspen leef she gan to quake,
 When she hym felte hire in his armes folde;
 And Troilus, al hool of cares colde,
 Gan thonken tho the blisful goddes sevene;
 Thus sondry peynes bryngen folk to hevене.

CLXVI.

This Troilus in armes gan hire streyne,
 And seyde, 'Swete, as evere mot I gon!
 Now be ye caught, now is ther but we tweyne,
 Now yeldeth yow, for other boot is non!' 1160
 To that Criseyde answerde thus anon,
 'Ne hadde I er now, my swete herte deere,
 Ben yolde iwis, I were now nought here!'

CLXVII.

O soth is seyde, that heled for to be,
 As of a fevere, or other grete syknesse,
 Men moste drynke, as men may ofte se,
 Ful bittre drynke: and for to han gladnesse
 Men drynken of peynes, and grete distresse:
 I mene it here, as for this aventure,
 That thorwgh a peyne hath fonden al his cure.

CLXVIII.

And now swetnesse semeth more swete, 1170
 That bitternesse assayed was byforne;
 For oute of wo in blisse now they flete,

Non swich they felten syn they were borne ;
 Now is this bet thanne bothe two be lorne !
 For love of God ! take every womman hede,
 To werken thus, if it eomyth to the nede.

CLXIX.

Criseyde, al quyrt from every drede and teene,
 As she that juste cause hadde hym to triste,
 Made hym swich feste it joie was to seene,
 When she his trouthe and elene entente wiste :
 And as aboute a tre, with many a twiste, 1181
 Bytrent and writhe is the soote wood bynde,
 Gan ich of hem in armes other wynde.

CLXX.

And as the new abaysed nyghtyngale,
 That stynteth first, when she bygynneth synge,
 When that she hereth any herdes tale,
 Or in the hegges any wight sterynge ;
 And, after, syker doth hire vois oute rynges ;
 Right so Criseyde, when hire drede stente,
 Opned hire herte, and told hym hire entente. 1190

CLXXI.

And right as he that seth his deth yshapen,
 And deyen mot, in aught that he may gesse,
 And sodeynly rescous doth hym escapen,
 And from his deth is brought in sykernesse ;
 For alle this world, in swich present gladnesse
 Was Troilus, and hath his lady swete :
 With worse hap God lat us nevere mete !

CLXXII.

Hire armes smale, hire streghte bak and softe,
 Her sydes longe, fless/hly, smothe, and white, 1199
 He gan to stroke; and good thurte bad ful ofte
 Hire snowissh throte, hire brestes rounde and lite:
 Thus in this hevenc he gan hym to delite,
 And therwithal a thousand tymes hire kyste,
 That what to don for joie unnethe he wyste.

CLXXIII.

Than seyde he thus:—‘ O Love! O Charité!
 Thi moder ek, Cythara the swete,
 After thi-self, next heried be sche,
 Venus mene I, the welwilly planete!
 And next that, Imeneus, I the grete!
 For nevere man was to yow, goddes, holde 1210
 As I, which ye han brought from cares colde.

CLXXIV.

‘ Benigne Love! thou holy bond of thynges!
 Who-so wol grace, and liste the nought honouren,
 Lo, his desir wol fle withouten wynges;
 For noldestow of bounté hem socouron
 That serven best, and most alway labouron,
 Yet were al lost, that dar I wel seyn, certes,
 But-if thi grace passed our desertes.

CLXXV.

‘ And for thow me, that leest koude disserve
 Of hem that noumbred ben unto thi grace, 1220
 Hast holpen, there I likly was to sterve,

And me bistowed in so heigh a place,
 That thilke boundes may no blisse pace,
 I kan namore, but laude and reverence
 Be to thy bounté and thyn excellence !

CLXXVI.

And therwithalle Criseyde anon he kyste,
 Of which, certeyn, she felte no disese,
 And thus seyde he :—‘ Now wolde God I wiste,
 Myn herte swete, how I you myghte plesse !
 What man,’ quod he, ‘ was ever thus at ese 1230
 As I, in wiche the fairest and the beste,
 That evere I sey, deyneth hire herte reste ?

CLXXVII.

‘ Her may men sen that mercy passeth right,
 The experience of that is felt in me,
 That am unworthy to so swete a wight ;
 But, herte myn, of youre benignité,
 So thynketh, though that I unworthy be,
 Yet mote I nede amenden in som wise,
 Right thorough vertu of youre heighe servyse.

CLXXVIII.

‘ And, for the love of God, my lady dere, 1240
 Syn God hath wrought me for yow I shal serve,
 As thus I mene ye wol yet be my sterve,
 To do me lyve, if that yow list, or sterve,
 So techeth me, how that I may disserve
 Youre thonke, so that I thorough mine ignoraunce,
 Ne do nothyng that yow be displesaunce.

CLXXIX.

‘ For certes, fresshe wommanliche wyf,
 This dar I seye, that trouthe and diligence,
 That shal ye fynden in me al my lyve,
 Ny wol not certein breken youre diffence ; 1250
 And if I do, presente or in absence,
 For love of Gode, lat sla me with the dede,
 If that it like unto youre wommanhede.

CLXXX.

‘ Iwis,’ quod she, ‘ myn owen hertes liste,
 My grounde of ese, and al myn herte deere,
 Gramercy ! for on you is al my triste.
 But lat us fal away fro this matere,
 For it suffiseth, this that seyde is here ;
 And at o worde, withouten repentaunce, 1259
 Welcome my knyghte, my pees, my suffisaunce !’

CLXXXI.

Of hire delite or joies oon the leeste
 Were impossibile to my wit to seye ;
 But juggeth ye that han ben at the feste
 In swich gladnesse, if that hem liste pleye :
 I kan namore but thus, this ilke tweye,
 That nyght, bitweyene drede and sykernesse,
 Felten in love the grete worthynesse.

CLXXXII.

O blisful nyght, of hem so longe isoughte,
 How blithe unto hem bothe two thow were ! 1269
 Why nade I swich oon with my soule ibought ?

Ye, or the leste joie that was there ?
 Away ! thow foule daunger, and thow feere !
 And lat hem in this hevene blisse dwelle,
 That is so heigh, that al ne kan I telle.

CLXXXIII.

But sothe is that though I kan nat talen alle,
 As kan myn auctour of his excellence ;
 And that have I seyde and God to-forne and shal
 In every thyng al holly his sentence ;
 And if that Ich at loves reverence
 Have any word in eched for the beste, 1280
 Doth therwith al ryght as youre-selven leste.

CLXXXIV.

For myne wordes here and every parte,
 I speke hem alle under correccion.
 Of you, that felynge han in loves arte,
 And putte it alle in youre discreccion
 Tenresce or maken dymnucion
 Of my langage and that I yow beseeche
 But now to purpos of my rather speche.

CLXXXV.

This ilke two that ben in armes laft,
 So loth to hem asonder gon it were, 1290
 That ech hem other wenden ben biraft ;
 Or elles, lo ! this was hire moste feere,
 That alle this thyng but nyce dremes were ;
 For whiche ful oft ech of hem seyde, ' O swete !
 Clippe Ich yow thus, or elles I it meete.'

CLXXXVI.

And, lord ! so he gan goodely on hire se,
 That nevere his loke ne bleynte from hire face ;
 And seyde, ‘ O deere herte ! may it be
 That it be soth, that ye ben in this place ?’
 ‘ Ye, herte myne, God thanke I of his grace !’ ¹³⁰
 Quod tho Criseyde, and therwithal hym kyste,
 That where his spirit was, for joie he nyste.

CLXXXVII.

This Troilus ful oft hire eyen two
 Gan for to kisse, and seyde, ‘ O eyen clere !
 It weren ye that wroughte me swich wo,
 Ye humble nettes of my lady deere !
 Though ther be mercy written in youre cheere,
 God woote the texte ful hard is, soth, to fynde
 How koude ye wythouten bonde me bynde ?’

CLXXXVIII.

Therwith he gan hire faste in armes take, ^{.310}
 And wel an hondreth tymes gan he sike ;
 Nought swiche sorwful sikes as men make
 For wo, or elles when that folk ben sike ;
 But esy sikes, swiche as ben to like,
 That shewed his affeccion withinne ;
 Of swiche sykes koude he nought bilynne.

CLXXXIX.

Soon after this, thei spak of sondry thynges
 As fel to purpos of this aventure ;
 And pleyynge entrochangeden hire rynges,

Of whiche I kan nought tellen no scripture ; 1320
 But wele I woot, a broche golde and asure,
 In whiche a ruby set was like an herte,
 Criseyde hym yaf, and stak it on his sherte.

CXC.

Lord ! trow ye a coveytous or a wriche,
 That blameth love, and halt of it despite,
 That of tho pans that he gan mokre and theche,
 Was ever yet iyeve hym swich delite,
 As is in love, in o pointe in som plyte ?
 Nay, douteles ! for, al-so God me save,
 So parfite joie may no nygard ne have. 1330

CXCI.

They wole seyn yis ! but, lord ! so they lye,
 Tho besy wreches ful of wo and drede,
 They callen love a woodenes or folye !
 But it shal falle hem, as I shal yow rede ;
 They shalle forgon the whyte, and ek the rede ;
 And lyve in wo, ther God yeve hem myschaunce !
 And every lovere in his trouthe avaunce.

CXCII.

As wolde God ! tho wreches that dispise
 Servyse of love hadde erys also longe
 As hadde Myda, ful of eoveityse ; 1340
 And therto dronken hadde as hot and stronge
 As Crasus dide, for his affectes wronge ;
 To teehen hem, that they ben in the vyce,
 And lovers nought, although they hold hem nyce.

CXCIII.

Thise ilke two, of whom that I yowe seye,
 When that hire hertes wel assured were,
 Tho gonne they to speken and to pleye,
 And ek rehersen how, and whan, and whare
 They knewe hem first, and every wo or fere
 That was passed ; but al swich hevynesse, 1350
 I thonke it God, was torned into gladnesse.

CXCIV.

And evermo, when that hem fel to speke
 Of any woo of swich a tyme agon,
 Wyth kyssynge al that tale sholde breke,
 And fallen in a new joie anon ;
 And diden al hire myght, syn they were oon,
 For to recoveren blisse, and ben at ese,
 And passed wo with joies countrepese.

CXCV.

Reson wol nought that I speke of slep,
 For it accordeth nought to my matere ; 1360
 God woot ! thei toke of that ful litel kep !
 But lest this nyght, that was to hem so deere,
 Ne shold in veyn escape in no manere,
 It was byset in joie and besynesse,
 Of al that souneth into gentilnesse.

CXCVI.

But when the cok, comune astrologer,
 Gan on his breste to bete, and after, crowe ;
 And Lucifer, the dayes messenger,

Gan for to ryse, and out hire bemys throwe; 1369
 And estward roos, to hym that koude it knowe,
 Fortuna major, than anon Criseyde,
 With herte soor, to Troilus thus seyde:—

CXCVII.

‘ Myn hertes lyf, my triste, al my plesaunce !
 That I was born, allas ! what me is woo,
 That day of us moot make disseveraunce !
 For tyme it is to rise, and hennes go,
 Or elles I am lost for evermo.
 O nyght, allas ! why nyltou over us hove,
 As longe as whan Alcmena lay by Jove ?

CXCVIII.

‘ O blake Nyght ! as folk in bokes rede, 1380
 That schapen art by God, this world to hyde
 At certein tymes with thy derke wede,
 That under that men myghte in rest abyde,
 Wel aughten bestes pleyne, and folk the chide
 That ther as day with labour wolde us breste,
 That thow thus fleest, and deynest us naught reste.

CXCIX.

‘ Thou dost, allas to schortly thyn office,
 Thow racle Nyght ; ther God, maker of kynde,
 The for thyn haste and thin unkynde vice,
 So fast ay to oure hemysperie bynde, 1390
 That nevere more under the grounde thow wende ;
 For now for thow so hiest out of Troye,
 Have I forgon thus hastily my joie.’

cc.

This Troilus, that with tho wordes felte,
 As thoughte hym tho, for piteous distresse,
 The bloody teres from his herte melte,
 As he that nevere yet swiche hevynesse
 Assaied hadde out of so grete gladnesse,
 Gan therwithal Criseyde, his lady deere, 1399
 In armes streyne, and seyde in this manere :—

ccI.

‘ O cruwel Day ! accusour of the joie
 That nyght and love han stole, and faste ywrien !
 Acorsed be thi comynge into Troie,
 For every boure hath oon of thi bryght eyen :
 Envyous Day ! what liste the so to spyen ?
 What hastow loste ? why sekestow this place ?
 Ther God thy light so quenche, for his grace !

ccII.

‘ Allas ! what hath this lovers the agylte ?
 Dispitous Day, thyn be the pyne of Helle !
 For many a lover hastow slayn, and wilt ; 1410
 Thi pourynge in wol nowher lat hem dwelle :
 What ? profrestow thi light here for to selle ?
 Go selle it hem that smale seles grave,
 We wol the nought, as nedeth no day have.’

ccIII.

And ek the sonne Titan gan he chyde,
 And seyde, ‘ O fool, wel may men the dispise !
 Thou hast the Dawnyng al nyght by thi side,

And sooffriste hire so soone up fro the ryse,
 For to disese lovers in this wyse :
 What! hold youre bed ther thow, and ek thi Morwe!
 I bidde God so yeve yow bothe sorwe!' 1421

CCIV.

Therwith ful soor he sighte, and thus he seyde :—
 ‘ My lady right, and of my wel or wo
 The welle and roote, o goodely myn, Criseyde,
 And shal I rise? allas! and shal I so?
 Now fele I that myne herte mote atwo ;
 For how shold I my lyf an oure save,
 Syn that with yow is al the lyfe Ieh have?

CCV.

‘ What shal I don? For certes I not how,
 Ne when allas! I shal the tyme se, 1430
 That in this plit I may ben eft with yow ;
 And of my lyf, God woot how that shal be,
 Syn that desir right now so biteth me,
 That I am ded anon but I retourne :
 How shal I longe, allas, fro you sojourne!

CCVI.

‘ But natheles, myn owene lady bright!
 Were it yet so that I wiste outerly,
 That I your humble servant and youre knyght,
 Were in youre herte iset so fermely,
 As ye in myn, the which thyng trewely 1440
 Me lever were than this worldes tweyne,
 Yet shold I bet enduren al my payne.’

CCVII.

To that Criseyde answerde right anon,
 And with a sik she seyde, ‘ O herte deere !
 The gam, iwis, so ferfoorth now is gon,
 That first shal Phebus fallen fro his spere,
 And everich egle ben the dowves fere,
 And every roche out of his place sterte,
 Er Troilus out of Cryseydes herte.

CCVIII.

‘ Ye ben so depe in-with myn herte grave, 1450
 That though I wolde it torne out of my thought,
 As wysely verray God my soule save,
 To dyen in the peyne, I koude nought :
 And, for the love of God that us hath wrought,
 Lat in youre breyne non other fantasye
 So crepe, that it eause me to dye.

CCIX.

‘ And that ye me wold han as fast in mynde,
 As I have yow, that wold I yow beseche ;
 And if I wiste sothely that to fynde, 1490
 God myghte nought a poynte my joies eche.
 But, herte myn, withouten more speche,
 Beth to me trewe, or elles were it routhe,
 For I am thin, by God and by my trouthe !

CCX.

‘ Beth glad forthi, and lyve in sykernesse,—
 Thus seyde I nevere er this, ne shal to mo,—
 And if to yowe it were a grete gladnesse,

To torne ayein soon after that ye go,
 As fayn wolde I as ye that it were so,
 As wisly God myn herte brynge to reste !'
 And hym in armes took, and ofte kyste. 1470

CCXI.

Ayens his wille, sith it moot nedes be,
 This Troilus up roos and faste hym cledde,
 And in his armes took his lady fre
 An hondred tyme, and on his way hym spedde ;
 And with swich wordes, as his herte bledde,
 He seyde : ' Farwel, my deere herte swete !
 Ther God us graunte sownde and soone to mete !'

CCXII.

To which no worde for sorw she answerde,
 So soore gan his partynge hire distreyne,
 And Troilus unto his paleys ferde, 1480
 As wo bygon as she was, soth to seyne ;
 So hard hym wronge of sharp desire the peyne
 For to ben eft ther he was in plesaunce,
 That it may nevere out of his remembraunce.

CCXIII.

Retorned to his real paleys soone,
 He soft into his bed gan for to slynke
 To slepe longe, as he was wonte to doon,
 But al for nought ; he may wel ligge and wynke,
 But slepe ne may ther in his herte synke, 1489
 Thynkyng how she, for whom desire hym brende,
 A thousande fold was worth more than he wende.

CCXIV.

And in his thought, gan up and down to wynde
 Hire wordes alle, and every countenaunce,
 And fermely impressen in his mynde
 The leste poynte that to hym was plesaunce ;
 And verrayliche of thilke remembraunce,
 Desire al newe hym brende, and lust to breede
 Gan more than erst, and yet took he non hede.

CCXV.

Criseyde also, right in the same wise,
 Of Troilus gan in hire herte shette 1500
 His worthinesse, his lust, his dedes wyse,
 His gentillesse, and how she with hym mette,
 Thonkyng love he so wel hire bisette ;
 Desiryng efte to han hire herte decre
 In swiche a plit, that she dorst make hym chere.

CCXVI.

Pandare, omorw, which that comyn was
 Unto his nece and gan hire fayre grete,
 Seyde, ‘ Al this nyght so reyned it, allas !
 That al my drede is, that ye, nece swete,
 Han litel layser had to slepe and mete : 1510
 Al nyght,’ quod he, ‘ hath reyn so do me wake,
 That som of us, I trowe, hire heddes ake.’

CCXVII.

And ner he com and seyde, ‘ How stant it nowe ?
 This murye morwe, nece, how kan ye fare ?’
 Criseyde answerde, ‘ Nevere the bet for yowe !

Fox that ye ben, God yeve youre herte care!
 God helpe me so, ye caused al this fare,
 Trow I,' quod she, 'for al youre wordes white;
 O, who-so seth yow, knoweth yow ful lite!'

CCXVIII.

With that sche gan hire face for to wrye 1520
 With the shette, and wex for shame rede;
 And Pandarus gan under for to pryde,
 And seyde, 'Nece, if that I shal be dede,
 Have here a swerde, and smyteth of myn hede:'
 With that his armes al sodeynly he thyrste
 Under hire nekke, and at the last hire kyste.

CCXIX.

I passe al that whiche chargeth nought to seye:
 What! God foryafe his deth, and she also
 Foryaf; and with hire uncle gan to pleye,
 For other cause was ther non than so. 1530
 But of this thyng right to theeffect for to go,
 When tyme was, home til hire hous she wente,
 And Pandarus hath fully his entente.

CCXX.

Now torne we ayeyn to Troilus,
 That resteles ful longe a bedde lay,
 And prively sente after Pandarus,
 To hym to com in alle the hast he may;
 He com anon, nought ones seyde he nay,
 And Troilus ful sobrelly he grette,
 And down upon his bedde syde hym sette. 1540

CCXXI.

This Troilus, with al thaffeccion
 Of friendes love that herte may devyse,
 To Pandarus on knowes fil adown ;
 And er that he wold of the place aryse,
 He gan hym thonken in his beste wyse ;
 An hondred sithe he gan the tyme blisse
 That he was borne, to brynge hym fro distresse.

CCXXII.

And seyde, ‘O frend, of frendes the alder beste
 That evere was ! the soth for to telle, 1549
 Thow haste in hevene ybrought my soule at reste
 Fro Flagitoun, the fiery floode of helle ;
 That, though I myght a thousand tyme selle
 Upon a day my lyf in thi servyse,
 It mighte nought a moote in that suffice.

CCXXIII.

‘The Sonne, which that al the world may se,
 Saugh nevere yet, my lyf that dar I laye,
 So inly fayre, so goodly, as is she
 Whos I am alle, and shal til that I dye ;
 And that I thus am hires dar I saye,
 That thonked be the heighe worthynesse 1560
 Of love, and ek thi kynde bysinesse !

CCXXIV.

‘Thou hast now me no litel thyng iyeve,
 For-why to the obliged be for ay
 My lyf ; and whi ? for thorwh thyn help I lyve,

Or elles ded had I ben many a day :'
 And with that worde down in his bed he lay,
 And Pandarus ful sobrely hym herde,
 Til alle was seyde, and than he hym answerde.

CCXXV.

' My dere frende ! if I have don for the,
 In any cas, God woot it is me lief, 1570
 And am as glade as man may of it be ;
 God help me so ! but take now not agrefe,
 That I shal seyne,—bewar of this meschefe,
 That thar as thow now brought art in thi blisse,
 That thow thi-self ne cause it nat to mysse.

CCXXVI.

' For, of fortunes scharp adversité,
 The worste kynde of infortune is this,
 A man to han ben in prosperité,
 And it remembren, when it passed is.
 Thart wyse ynowgh ; forthi, do not amys, 1580
 Be nought to rakel, theigh thow sitte warme ;
 For if thow be, certein it wol the harme.

CCXXVII.

' Thow art at ese, and hold the wel therinne ;
 For, also seur as rede is ever fire,
 As grete a craft is kepe wele as wyne ;
 Bridle alway wel thi speche and thi desire,
 For worldly joie halt nought but by a wyre ;
 That preveth wel, it brest al day so ofte ;
 Forthy nede is to werken with it softe.'

CCXXVIII.

Quod Troilus, ' I hope, and God to forne, 1590
 My deere freend, that I shal so me bere,
 That in my gilt ther shal nothyng be lorne,
 Ny nyl naught rakel ben as for to greven hire ;
 It nedeth nought this matere oft to tere ;
 For wistow myn herte wele Pandare,
 God woot of this thow woldest litel care.'

CCXXIX.

Tho gan he telle hym of his glade nyght,
 And wherof first his herte dred, and how ;
 And seyde, ' Frend, as I am trewe knyght,
 And by that feith I shal to God and yow, 1600
 I hadde it nevere half so hote as now ;
 And ay the more that desire me biteth,
 To love hire beste the more it me deliteth.

CCXXX.

' I not my-self nought wysely what it is,
 But now I feele a newe qualité,
 Ye! al another than I dide er this :'
 Pandare answerde and seyde thus, ' that he
 That ones may in hevenes blisse be,
 He feleth othere wayes, dar I leye,
 Than thylke tyme he first herde of it seye.' 1610

CCXXXI.

This is a worde for al :—this Troilus
 Was nevere ful to speke of this matere,
 And for to preysen unto Pandarus

The bounté of his righte lady deere,
 And Pandarus to thank, and maken chere ;
 This tale ay was span-newe to begynne,
 Til that the nyght departed hem a-twynne.

CCXXXII.

Soone after this, for that fortune it wolde,
 Icomen was the blisful tyme swete,
 That Troilus was warned, that he sholde, 1620
 Ther he was arst, Criseyde his lady mete :
 For whiche he felt his herte in joie flete,
 And faithfully gan alle the goddes herye ;
 And lat se nowe, if that he kan be merye.

CCXXXIII.

And holden was the forme, and al the wyse
 Of hire comynge, and ek of his also,
 As it was erst, which nedeth nought devyse ;
 But pleynly, to theeffect right for to go,
 In joie and seurté, Pandarus hem two
 Abedde broughte, when that hem bothe leste ; 1630
 And thus they ben in quyete and in reste.

CCXXXIV.

Nought nedeth it to yow, syn they ben met,
 To ax at me, if that they blythe were,
 For if it erst was wel, tho was it bet
 A thousand folde ; this nedeth nought enquire ;
 Ago was every sorwe and every feere,
 And both iwis they hadde, and so they wende,
 As muche joie as herte may comprehende.

CCXXXV.

This nys no litel thyng of for to seye ;
 This passith every wit for to devyse, 1640
 For ich of hem gan otheres luste obeye ;
 Felicité, which that thise clerkes wyse
 Comenden so, ne may nought here suffice ;
 This joie may nought wryten be with inke ;
 This passeth al that herte may bithynke.

CCXXXVI.

But cruel Day, so walaway the stounde !
 Gan for taproche, as they by signes knewe ;
 For which hem thoughte felten dethes wounde ;
 So wo was hem, that changen gan hire hewe,
 And Day they gonnen to dispise al-newe, 1650
 Callynge it traytour, envyous and worse ;
 And bitterly the Dayes light they corse.

CCXXXVII.

Quod Troilus, 'Allas! now I am ware
 That Piros, and the swyfte stedes thre,
 Which that drawen forth the sonnes chare,
 Han gon som by-path in dispite of me ;
 That maketh it so sone day to be ;
 And for the sonne hym hasteth thus to ryse,
 Ne shal I nevere don hire sacrifice.'

CCXXXVIII.

But nedes day depart hem moste soone ; 1660
 And when hire speche don was and hire chere,
 They twynne anon, as they were wonte to doone,

And setten tyme of metyng eft yfere ;
 And many nyght they wrought in this manere.
 And thus Fortune a tyme ledde in joie
 Criseyde, and ek this kynges sone of Troie.

CCXXXIX.

In suffisaunce, in blisse, and in syngynges,
 This Troilus gan alle his lyf to lede ;
 He spendeth, jousteth, maketh festeynynges,
 He yeveth frely ofte, and chaungeth wede ; 1670
 He hold-aboute hym alway, out of drede,
 A world of folk, as com hym wel of kynde,
 The fresshiste and the beste he koude fynde.

CCXL.

That swich a vois was of hym and a nevene,
 Thoroughout the world, of honour and largesse,
 That it up rong unto the yate of hevene ;
 And as in love he was in swich gladnesse,
 That in his herte he demed, as I gesse,
 That ther nys lovere in this world at ese,
 So wel as he, and thus gan love hym to plese. 1680

CCXLI.

The goodlyhed or beauté, which that kynde
 In any other lady hadde iset,
 Kan nought the mountaunee of a knotte unbynde
 Aboute his herte, of alle Criseydes net :
 He was so narwe ymasked, and yknet,
 That it undon on any maner syde,
 That nyl nought ben, for aught that may betide.

CCXLII.

And by the hond ful oft he wolde take
 This Pandarus, and into gardyn lede,
 And swich a feste, and swiche a proces make 1690
 Hym of Criseyde, and of hire wommanhede,
 And of hire beauté, that, withouten drede,
 It was an hevene his wordes for to here,
 And thanne he wolde synge in this manere:—

CCXLIII.

‘ Love, that of erth and se hath governaunce !
 Love, that his hestes hath in hevene hye !
 Love, that with an holsom alliaunce
 Halt peples joyned, as hym liste hem gye !
 Love, that knetteth law and compaignye,
 And couples doth in vertu for to dwelle ! 1700
 Bynd this acorde, that I have told and telle !

CCXLIV.

‘ That, that the world, with faith which that is stable,
 Dyverseth so, his stoundes concordynge ;—
 That elementz, that ben so discordable,
 Holden a bond, perpetually durynge ;—
 That Phebus mot his rosy carte forth brynge,
 And that the mone hath lordschip overe the nyghte ;—
 Al this doth Love, ay heryed be his myght !

CCXLV.

‘ That, that the se, that gredy is to flowen,
 Constreyneth to a certeyn ende so 1710
 His flodes, that so fiersly they ne growen

To drenchen erth and alle for everemo ;
 And if that Love aught lete his brydel go,
 Al that now loveth asonder sholde lepe,
 And lost were al that Love halt now to kepe.

CCXLVI.

‘ Soo, wolde Gode, that auctour is of kynde,
 That with his bond, Love of his vertu liste
 To cerclen hertes alle, and faste bynde,
 That from his bonde no wighte the wey out wyste !
 And hertes colde, hem wold I that he twiste, 1720
 To make hem love, and that hem liste ay rewe
 On hertes soore, and kepe hem that ben trewe.’

CCXLVII.

In alle the nedes for the townes werre
 He was, and ay the firste in armes dighte ;
 And certeynly, but-if that bokes erre,
 Save Ector, most idrede of any wight ;
 And this eneres of hardynesse and myght
 Com hym of love, his ladyes thank to wynne,
 That altered his spirit so withinne.

CCXLVIII.

In tyme of trewes on haukyng wold he ryde, 1730
 Or elles hunte boore, beere, or lyon ;
 The smale bestes leete he gon bysyde ;
 And when that he com rydyng into town,
 Ful oft his lady, from hire wyndow down,
 As fresh as faucon comen out of muwe,
 Ful redy was hym goodly to saluwe.

CCXLIX.

And most of love and vertu was his speche,
 And in dispit hadde alle wretchednesse ;
 And, douteles, no nede was hym biseche
 To honouren hem that hadde worthynesse, 1740
 And esen hem that weren in distresse,
 And glad was he if any wight wel feerde
 That lover was, when he it wiste or herde.

CCL.

For, soth to seyn, he lost held every wight,
 But-if he were in Loves heigh servyse,
 I mene folk that ought it ben of right ;
 And overe alle this, so wele koude he devyse
 Of sentement, and in so unkouth wyse
 Al his array, that every lover thoughte, 1749
 That al was wel, what-so he seyde or wroughte.

CCLI.

And, though that he be com of blode royal,
 Hym liste of pride at no wight for to chace ;
 Beninge he was to eche in general,
 For which he gat hym thanke in every place :
 Thus wolde Love, iheried be his grace !
 That pride and ire, envye, and avarice,
 He gan to fle, and everyeh other vice.

CCLII.

Thow lady bryghte, the doughter to Dyon !
 Thy blynde and wynged sone, ek daun Cupide !
 Ye sustren nyne ek, that by Elyeone 1760

In hil Parnaso, listen for tabide !
 That ye thus fer han deynd me to gyde,
 I kan namore, but syn that ye wol wende,
 Ye heried be for ay withouten ende !

CCLIII.

Thorwgh yow have I seyde fully in my songe,
 Theeffect and joie of Troilus servyse,
 Al be that ther was som disese among,
 As to myn autour listeth to devyse.
 My thridde book now ende Ich in this wyse,
 And Troilus, in luste and in quiete, 1770
 Is with Criseyde, his owen herte swete.

CCLIV.

But al to litel, walawey the while !
 Lasteth swich joy, ithonked be Fortune !
 That semeth trewest when she wol bigyle,
 And kan to fooles so hire song entune,
 That she hem hente, and blente, traitour comune !
 And, when a wight is from hire whiel ithrowe,
 Than laugheth she, and maketh hym the mowe.

CCLV.

From Troilus she gan hire brighte face
 Away to wrythe, and took of hym non hede, 1780
 But east hym elene oute of his lady grace,
 And on hire whiel she sette up Diomede ;
 For whiche myn herte now right gynneth to blede ;
 And now my penne alas, with which I wryte,
 Quaketh for drede of that I most endite.

CCLVI.

For how Criseyde Troilus forsoke,
 Or at the leeste, how that she was unkynde,
 Moot hennesforth ben matere of my book,
 As wryten folk thorough which it is in mynde.
 Allas, that they sholde evere cause fynde 1790
 To speke hire harme! and if they on hire lye,
 Iwis hemself shold han the vylenye.

CCLVII.

O ye Herynes! nyghttes doughtren thre,
 That endeles compleynen evere in pyne,
 Megera, Alecte, and ek Thesiphone!
 Thow cruel Mars ek, fader of Quyryne!
 This ilke ferthe book me helpeth fyne,
 So that the los of lyf, and love, yfere.
 Of Troilus be fully shewed here.

EXPLICIT TERTIUS LIBER

INCIPIT QUARTUS LIBER.

I.

LYGGYNGE in oost, as I have seyde or this,
 The Grekes stronge aboute Troye town,
 Byfel, that when that Phebus shynynge is

Upon the breste of Hereulis Leoun,
 That Ector, with ful many a bolde baroun,
 Cast on a day with Grekes for to fighte,
 As he was wonte, to greve hem what he myghte.

II.

Not I how longe or short it was bitwene
 This purpos, and that day they fighten mente;
 But, on a day, wele armed bryghte and shene, 10
 Ector and many a worthi wight out wente
 With spere in honde, and bigge bowes bente,
 And in the berde, withouten lenger lette,
 Hire fomen in the felde anon hem mette,

III.

The longe day, with speres sharpe igrounde,
 With arwes, dartes, swerdes, maces felle,
 They fighten, and bryngen hors and man togrownde,

And with hire axes out the braynes quelle ;
 But in the laste stoure soth for to telle,
 The folk of Troie hem selven so mysleden, 26
 That, with the wors, at nyght homward they fledden.

IV.

At which day was taken Antenor,
 Maugre Polidamas, or Monesteo,
 Xantippe, Sarpedon, Polynestor,
 Polite, or ek the Trojan daun Riupheo,
 And other lesse folk, as Phebuseo ;
 So that for harme that day the folk of Troie
 Dreden to lese a grete part of hire joye.

V.

Of Priamus was yeve, at Grek requeste,
 A tyme of trewes ; and tho they gonnen trete 30
 Hire prisoners to chaungen, most and leste,
 And, for the surplus, yevene sommes grete.
 This thyng anon was kouth in every strete,
 Both in thessage and town and every where,
 And with the firste it come to Calkas ere.

VI.

Whan Calkas knew this tretis sholde holde,
 In consistorie omange the Grekes soone
 He gan in thyrng forth with lordes olde,
 And set hym there as he was wonte to done ;
 And with a chaunged face hem bad a boone, 40
 For love of God, and don that reverence,
 To stynte noyse, and yeve hym audienece.

VII.

Than seyde he thus, ‘ Lo ! lordes myn, Ieh was
 A Trojan, as it is knowen out of drede ;
 And, if that yow remembre, I am Calkas,
 That alderfirste yaf confort to youre nede,
 And tolde wel how that ye shoulde spede ;
 For, dredeles, thorwgh yow shal, in a stownde,
 Ben Troie brente, and betten down to grownde.

VIII.

‘ And in what forme, or in what maner wyse 50
 This town to shende, and al youre luste tacheve,
 Ye han, or this, wel herde it me devyse :
 This knowe ye, my lordes, as I leve ;
 And, for the Grekes weren me so leve,
 I com my-self, in my proper persone,
 To teche in this how yow was best to done,

IX.

‘ Havyng unto my tresour, ne my rente,
 Right no resport in respecte of your ese ;
 Thus al my goode I leste, and to yow wente,
 Wenynge in this yow lordes for to plesse ; 60
 But al that los ne doth me no disese,—
 I vouchesauf, as wysly have I joye,
 For yow to leese al that I have in Troye,—

X.

Save of a doughter that I lefte, allas !
 Slepynge at home, when out of Troie I sterte.
 O sterne, O cruel fader, that I was !

How myght I have in that so harde an herte ?
 Allas ! I ne hadde brought here in hire sherte !
 For sorwe of which I wol nought lyve to morwe,
 But-if ye lordes rew upon my sorwe. 70

XI.

‘ For by that cause I say no tyme or nowe
 Hire to delivere, Ich holden have my pees ;
 But now or névere, if it like yowe,
 I may hire have, right soone douteles :
 O helpe and grace ! amonge al this prees,
 Rew upon this olde caytif in distresse,
 Syn I thorwgh yow have al this hevynesse !

XII.

‘ Ye have now caught, and fetered in prisoun,
 Trojans inowe, and if youre willes be,
 My childe with oon may han redempeion ; 80
 Now, for the love of God, and of bounté !
 Oon of so fele, allas, so yif hym me !
 What nede were it this preyere for to werne,
 Syn ye shul both han folk and town as yerne ?

XIII.

‘ On peril of my lif I shal nat lye,
 Apollo hath me told it feithfully,
 I have ek founde by astronomye,
 By sort, and by augurye ek trewly,
 And dar wel seye, the tyme is faste by,
 That fir and flaumbe on al the town shal sprede,
 And thus shal Troie torne to asshen dede. 91

XIV.

‘ For certeyn, Phebus and Neptunus bothe,
 That makeden the walles of the town,
 Ben with the folk of Troie alwey so wrothe,
 That they wol brynge it to confusioun ;
 Right in despit of kyng Lameadon,
 Bycause he nolde payen hem here hire,
 The town of Troie shal ben set on fyre.’

XV.

Tellynge his tale alway, this olde greye,
 Humble in his speche and in his lokynge eke, 100
 The salte teres from his eyen tweye,
 Ful faste ronnen down by eyther cheeke ;
 So longe he gan of socoure hem byseke,
 That, for to hele hym of his sorwues soore,
 They gave hym Antenor withouten more.

XVI.

But who was glad ynough but Calkas tho ?
 And of this thyng ful soone his nedes layde
 On hem that sholden for the tretis go,
 And hem for Antenor ful ofte preyde,
 To brynge hom kyng Thooas and Cryseyde ; 110
 And, whan Priamus his save garde sente,
 Thembassadours to Troie streighte wente.

XVII.

The cause itolde of hire comynge, the olde
 Priam the kyng, ful soone in general,
 Let here-upon his parlement to holde,

Of which theeffect rehereen yow I shal :
 Thembassatours ben answerde for fynal,
 Theschaunge of prisoners, and alle this nede
 Hem lyketh wele, and forth in they proeede.

XVIII.

This Troilus was present in the place, 120
 Whan axed was for Antenor Criseyde ;
 For which ful soone ehaungen gan his face,
 As he that with the wordes wel neigh deyde ;
 But, natheles, he no worde to hit seyde ;
 List men sholde his affeccion espyc,
 With mannes herte he gan hys sorwes drye,

XIX.

And, ful of angwish and of grisley drede,
 Abod what lordes wolde unto it seye ;
 And if they wolde graunte, as God forbede ! 129
 Theschaunge of hir, than thought he thynges tweye :
 First, how to save hire honour ; and what weye
 He myghte best theschaunge of hire withstonde,
 Ful faste he caste how al thys myghte stonde.

XX.

Love hym made al prest to don hyre bide,
 Or rather dyen than she sholde go ;
 But reson seyde hym, on that other syde,
 ‘ Withouten assente of hire ne do not so,
 Leste for thi werke she wolde be thi fo ;
 And seyde, that thorwgh thy medlynge is iblowe
 Youre eyther lve, ther it was crst unknowe.’ 140

XXI.

For wich he gan deliberen for the beste,
 That though the lordes wolde that she wente,
 He wolde lat hem graunte what hem liste,
 And telle his lady firste what that they mente ;
 And whan that she hadde seyde hym hire entente,
 Therefter wolde he werken also blyve,
 Theigh al the world ayeyn it wolde stryve.

XXII.

Ector, which that wel the Grekes herde,
 For Antenor how they wolde han Cryseyde,
 Gan it withstonde, and sobrelly answerde :— 150
 ‘ Sires, she nys no prisoner,’ he seyde,
 ‘ I not on yow who that this charge layde ;
 But, on my part, ye may eft-sones hem telle,
 We usen here no wommen for to selle.’

XXIII.

The noyse of peple up stirte thanne at ones,
 As breme as blase of straw iset on fyre,
 For Infortune it wolde for the nones,
 They sholden hire confusion desire :
 ‘ Ector,’ quod they, ‘ what gost may yow enspire
 This womman thus to shilde, and don us lese 160
 Daun Antenor ?—a wrong wey now ye chese,—

XXIV.

‘ That is so wis, and eke so bolde baroun ;
 And we han nede of folk, as men may se,
 He is ek on the grettest of this town ;

O Ector, lat the fantasyes be !
 O kynge Priam,' quod they, ' thus siggen we,
 That al oure vois is to forgon Criseyde.'
 And to delyveren Antenor they preyde.

XXV.

O Juvnal, lorde, trewe is thy sentence,
 That litel witen folk what is to yerne ; 170
 That they ne fynde in hire desire offence,
 For cloude of errour ne lat hem discernen
 What best is ; and lo ! here ensauple as yerne —
 This folk desiren now delyveraunce
 Of Antenor, that brought hem to mysehaunce.

XXVI.

For he was after traitour to the town
 Of Troie ; alas ! they quite hym oute to rathe !
 O nyce world, lo ! thy discrecioun !
 Criseyde, whiche that nevere dide hem scathe,
 Shal now no longer in hire blisse bathe, 180
 But Antenor, he shal com hom to towne,
 And she shal out, thus seyde here and howne.

XXVII.

For whiche delibered was by parlemete,
 For Antenor to yelden out Criseyde,
 And pronounced by the president,
 Al-theigh that Ector ' nay' ful ofte preyde ;
 And, finally, what wight that it withseyde,
 It was for nought, it moste ben, and sholdo,
 For substaunce of the parlement it wolde.

XXVIII.

Departed out of parlement echone, 190
 This Troilus, withouten wordes mo,
 Unto his chaumbre spedde hym faste allone,
 But-if it were a man of his or two,
 The whiche he bad out faste for to go,
 Bycause he wolde slepen, as he seyde ;
 And hastely upon his bed hym layde.

XXIX.

And as in wynter leves ben byraft,
 Eche efter other, til the tre be bare,
 So that ther nys but bark and braunche ylaft,
 Lith Troilus, byraft of eche welfare, 200
 Ybounden in the blake barke of care,
 Disposed wode out of his wit to brayde,
 So soore hym sat the chaungynge of Cryseyde.

XXX.

He ryste hym up, and every dore he shette,
 And wyndow eke, and tho this sorwful man
 Upon his beddes syde adown hym sette,
 Ful like a dede ymage, pale and wan ;
 And in his breste the heped wo bygan
 Out brast, and he to werken in this wyse,
 In his wodenesse, as I shal yow devyse. 210

XXXI.

Right as the wilde bole bigynneth sprynge
 Now here, now ther, ydarted to the herte,
 And of his deth roreth in compleynnyng ;

Right so gan he aboute the chaumbre sterte,
 Smytynge his brest ay with his fistes smerte ;
 His hed to the walle, his body to the grounde,
 Ful ofte he swapte, hymselfen to confounde.

XXXII.

Hys eyen two, for pité of his herte,
 Out stremeden as swyfte welles tweye ;
 The heighe sobbes of his sorwes smerte 220
 His spech hym refte, unnethes myghte he seye,
 ‘ O deth, allas ! why nyltow do me deye ?
 Acorsed be that day whiche that Nature
 Shope me to ben a lyves creature !’

XXXIII.

But efter, when the furie and al the rage,
 Which that his herte twiste, and faste threste
 By lengthe of tyme, somewhat gan aswage,
 Upon his bedde he layde hym down to reste ;
 But tho bigan his teres more oute breste,
 That wonder is the body may suffise 230
 To half this wo, which that I yow devyse.

XXXIV.

Than seyde he thus :—‘ Fortune, allas the while !
 What have I don ? what have I thus agilt ?
 How myghtestow for routhe me bygyle ?
 Is ther no grace ? and shal I thus be spilte ?
 Shal thus Criseyde away, for that thow wilt ?
 Allas ! how maistow in thyn herte fynde
 To ben to me thus eruel and unkynde ?’

XXXV.

‘ Have I the nought honoured al my lyve,
 As thow wel woost, above the Goddes alle? 240
 Why wiltow me fro joie thus depryve?
 O Troilus! what may men the now calle,
 But wrech of wrechis, out of honour falle
 Into miserie? in whiche I wol biwaille
 Criseyde allas! til that the breth me faille.

XXXVI.

‘ Allas, Fortune! if that my life in joie
 Displeasid hadde unto thy foule envye,
 Whi ne haddestow my fader, kyng of Troye,
 Byraft the life, or don my bretheren dye, 249
 Or slayn my-self, that thus compleyne and crye?
 I combre world, that may of nothyng serve,
 But evere dye, and nevere fully sterve.

XXXVII.

‘ If that Criseyde allone were me laft,
 Nought rought I whidere thow woldest me stere,
 And hire, allas! than hastow me biraft:
 But everemore, lo! this is thy manere,
 To reve a wyght that moost is to hym dere,
 To preve in that thi gerful violence:
 Thus am I lost, ther helpeth no defence.

XXXVIII.

‘ O verrey Lord, O Love, O God, allas! 260
 That knowest best myn herte and alle my thought,
 What shal my sorwful lyf don in this cas,

If I forgo that I so deere have bought?
 Syn ye Criseyde and me han fully brought
 Into your grace, and both oure hertes seled,
 How may ye suffre, allas ! it be repeled ?

XXXIX.

‘ What I may don, I shal, whil I may dure
 On lyve, in torment and in cruel peyne,
 This infortune, or this disaventure,
 Allone as I was borne, iwys compleyne ; 270
 Ne nevere wol I sen it shyne or reyne,
 But ende I wol, as Edippe, in derkenesse
 My sorwful lyf, and dyen in distresse.

XL.

‘ O verrey goost, that errest to and fro !
 Whi nyltow flen out of the wofulleste
 Body that evere myght on grounde go ?
 O soule ! lurkyng in this wo unneste !
 Fle forth out myn herte, and lat it breste,
 And folow alwey Criseyde, thi lady deere !
 Thi righte place is now no longer here. 280

XLI.

‘ O woful eyen two ! syn youre disporte
 Was al to sen Criseydes eyen brighte,
 What shal ye don, but, for my disconforte,
 Stonden for naught, and wepen out your sighte,
 Syn she is queynte, that wont was yow to lighte ?
 In veyne, fro this forth, have ich eyen tweye
 Iformed, syn youre vertu is aweye.

XLII.

' O my Criseyde ! O lady soverayne
 Of this woful soule that thus cryeth !
 Who shal now yeven confort to thi peyne? 290
 Allas ! no wight ; but, when myn herte dyeth,
 My spirit, which that so unto yow hyeth,
 Receyve in gre, for that shal ay yow serve ;
 Forthi no fors is, though the body sterve.

XLIII.

' O ye lovers ! that heighe upon the whiel
 Ben set of Fortune in goode aventure,
 God lene that ye fynde ay love of stiel,
 And longe mote youre lyf in joie endure !
 But, whan ye comen by my sepulture,
 Remembreth that youre felowe resteth there ; 300
 For I loved ek, though Ich unworthy were.

XLIV.

' O olde, unholsom, and myslyved man !
 Calkas I mene, allas ! what aylede the
 To ben a Greke, syn thow ert born Trojan ?
 O Calkas ! which that wolt my bane be,
 In cursed tyme wast thow borne for me !
 As wolde blisful Jove, for his joie,
 That I the hadde wher I wold in Troie !

XLV.

A thousand sikes hottere than the glede,
 Out of his breste, ech efter othere, wente, 310
 Medled with pleyntes new, his wo to fede,

For which his woful teris nevere stente ;
 And, shortly so hise peynes hym to-rente,
 And wax so maat, that joie or penaunce
 He feleth non, but lith forth in a traunce.

XLVI.

Pandare, which that in the parlement
 Hadde herde what every lord and burges seyde,
 And how ful graunted was, by oon assente,
 For Antenor to yelden so Criseyde,
 Gan wel neigh woode out of his wit to breyde ; 320
 So that for wo he nyste what he mente,
 But, in a rees, to Troilus he wente.

XLVII.

A certeyn knyght, that for the tyme kepte
 The chaumbre dore, undid it hym anon ;
 And Pandare, that ful tendrelych wepte,
 Into the derke chaumbre, as stille as stone,
 Towarde the bedde gan softly to gone,
 So confus, that he nyste what to seye ;
 For verray wo, his wit was neigh awaye.

XLVIII.

And with his chere and lokyng al to-torn, 330
 For sorwe of this, and with his armes folden,
 He stode this woful Troilus biforn,
 And on his pitous face he gan biholden ;
 But, Lord ! so ofte gan his herte colden !
 Seynge his frend in wo, whos hevynesse
 His herte slough, as thoughte hym, for distresse.

XLIX.

This woful wight, this Troylus, that felte
 His frend Pandare ycomen him to se,
 Gan as the snow ayein the sonne melte ;
 For which this sorwful Pandare, of pité, 340
 Gan for to wepe as tendrelich as he ;
 And specheles thus ben thise ilke tweye,
 That neither myght a worde for sorwe seye.

L.

But, at the laste, this woful Troilus,
 Neigh ded for smerte, gan bresten out to rore,
 And with a sorwful noise he seyde thus,
 Amang hise sobbes and his sikes sore;—
 ‘ Lo ! Pandare, I am ded withouten more !
 Hastow nat herd at parlement,’ he seyde,
 ‘ For Antenor how loste is my Criseyde ?’ 350

LI.

This Pandarus ful ded and pale of hewe,
 Ful pitously answerde, and seyde, ‘ Yis !
 As wisly were it fals as it is trewe,
 That I have herde, and woot al how it is !
 O mercy God ! who wold have trowed this ?
 Who wold have wende, that in so litel a throwe,
 Fortune oure joye wold have overthrowe ?

LII.

‘ For in this worlde there is no creature,
 Als to my dome, that evere saugh ruyne
 Straunger than this, thorwgh cas or aventure ;

But who may al eschue or al devyne? 361
 Swich is this world! forthi I thus defyne:—
 Ne truste no wight to fynden in Fortune
 Ay properté; hir yiftes ben comune!

LIII.

‘But tel me this, why thow ert now so mad
 To sorwen thus? why listow in this wyse,
 Syn thi desire al holye hastow had,
 So that by right it ought ynough suffise?
 But I that nevere felt in my servyse,
 A frendly chere or lokynge of an eye, 370
 Lat me thus wepe and waylen til I dye.

LIV.

‘And over al this, as thow wel woost thi-selve,
 This town is ful of ladis al aboute,
 And to my doom, fayrer than swich twelve
 As evere she was, shal I fynden in som route,
 Ye! oon or two, withouten any doute:
 Forthi be glade, myn owen deere brother!
 If she be lost, we shal recovere another.

LV.

‘What! God forbede alwey that eeh plesaunce
 In o thyngge were, and in noon other wight! 386
 If on kan synge, another kan wel daunce;
 If this be goodly, she is glad and light;
 And this is fair, and that kan goode aright;
 Eeh for his vertu holden is for deere,
 Both heroner, and faueoun for ryvere.

LVI.

‘ And ek as writ Zauzis, that was ful wis,
 The newe love oute chaceth oft the olde :
 And upon newe eas lith a newe avys ;
 Thyinke ek thi lif to saven ertow holden,
 Swich fire by processe shal of kynde colden ; 390
 For, syn it is but casuel plesaunce,
 Som eas shal putte it oute of remembraunce.

LVII.

‘ For also seur as day cometh after nyght,
 The newe love, labour or other wo,
 Or elles selde seyng of a wight,
 Don olde affeccions alle over go ;
 And for thi part, thow shal have oon of two,
 Tabrigge with thi bittre peyns smerte ;
 Absens of hire shal dryve hire out of herte.’

LVIII.

These wordes seyde he for the noones alle 400
 To helpe his frend, lest he for sorwe dyede,
 For douteles to don his wo to falle,
 He roughte nought what unthrift that he seyde :
 But Troilus, that neigh for sorw dyede,
 Took litel hede of alle that evere he mente ;
 Oon ere it herde, at tother out it wente.

LIX.

But, atte last, answerde, and seyde, ‘ Frende,
 ‘ This lechecraft, or heled thus to be,
 Were wel sittynge if that I were a fend,

To traysen a wight that trewe is unto me ; 410
 I preye God let this counseyle never ithe,
 But do me rather sterve anon right here,
 Er I thus do, as thow me woldest leere !

LX.

‘ She that I serve, iwis, what so thow seye,
 To whom myn herte enhabit is by right,
 Shal han me holly hires, til that I deye ;
 For, Pandarus, syn I have trowthe hire hight,
 I wol nat ben untrewe for no wight,
 But, as hire man, I wole ay lyve and sterve.
 And nevere noon other creature serve. 420

LXI.

‘ And ther thow seist thow shalt as faire fynde
 As she,—lat be ! make no comparisoun
 To creature yformed here by kynde !
 O leve Pandare ! in conclusyoun,
 I wol not ben of thyn opinyoun,
 Touchyng al this ; for whiche I the beseche,
 So holde thi pees ; thow slest me with thi speche !

LXII.

‘ Thow biddest me I sholde love another
 Alle freshly newe, and lat Criseyde go ;
 It lith nat in my power, leeve brother ! 430
 And though I myghte, I wolde not do so ;
 But kanstow pleyen raket, to and fro,
 Nettle in dokke out, now this, now that, Pandare ?
 Now foule falle hire for thi wo and care !

LXIII.

'Thow farest ek by me, thow Pandarus!
 As he that whan a wight is wo bygon,
 He cometh to hym apaas, and seith right thus:—
 'Thynke nat on smerte, and thow shalt fele none!
 Thow moost me first transmuwen in a stoon,
 And reve me my passiounes alle, 440
 Er thow so lightly do my wo to falle.

LXIV.

'The deth may wel out of my brest departe
 The lyf, so longe may this sorw myne;
 But fro my soule shal Criseydes darte
 Out nevermo, but down with Proserpyne,
 Whan I am dede, I wol go wone in pyne;
 And ther I wol eternaly compleyne
 My wo, and how that twynned be we tweyne.

LXV.

'Thow hast here made an argument for fyne,
 How that it sholde lasse peyne be 450
 Criseyde to forgon, for she was myne,
 And lyved in ese and in felicite;
 Why gabbestow, that seydest unto me,
 That hym is wors that is fro wel ithrowe,
 Than he hadde erst non of that wele yknowe?

LXVI.

'But tel me now, syn that the thynketh so lyght
 To chaungen so in love ay to and fro,
 Why hastow nat doon bysily thy myghte

To chaungen hire, that doth the al thi wo ?
 Why nyltow lete hire fro thin herte go ? 460
 Why nyltow love another lady swete,
 That may thin herte setten in quiete ?

LXVII.

‘ If thow hast hadde in love ay yet meschaunce,
 And kanst it nought oute of thyne herte dryve.
 I that lyvede in luste and in plesaunce
 With hire, as mucche as creature on lyve,
 How shold I that foryete, and that so blyve ?
 O wher hastow ben so longe hyde in muwe,
 That kanst so wel and formeliche arguwe ?

LXVIII.

‘ Nay ! God woot, nought worthi is al thi rede ! 470
 For which, for what that evere may befallē,
 Withouten wordes mo, I wol be dede :
 O Deth ! that endere ert of sorwes alle,
 Com now, syn I so oft efter the calle !
 For sely is that deth, soft for to seyne,
 That oft icleped, cometh and endeth peyne.

LXIX.

‘ Wel wote I, whil my lif was in quiete,
 Er thow me slewe I wolde have yeven hire ;
 But now thi comynge is to me so swete,
 That in this world I no thinge so desire : 480
 O Deth, syn with this sorw I am a-fire,
 Thow outhur do me anon in teres drenche,
 Or with thy colde strooke myn heerte quenche !

LXX.

‘Syn that thow slest so fele in sondry wyse
 Ayens hire wil, unpreyed day and nyghte,
 Do me at my requeste this servyse!
 Delivere now the world, so dostow right,
 Of me, that am the wofulleste wight
 That evere was; for tyme is that I sterve,
 Syn in this world of right nought may I serve.’ 490

LXXI.

This Troilus in teres gan distille,
 As licour out of alambic, ful faste;
 And Pandarus gan hold his tonge stille,
 And to the grounde his eyen down he caste;
 But natheles, thus thought he at the laste,
 ‘What? pardé! rather than my felawe deye,
 Yet shal I somewhat more unto hym seye.’

LXXII.

And seyde, ‘Frende, syn thow haste swich distresse,
 And syn the list myn argumentz to blame,
 Why nylt thy selven helpen don redresse, 500
 And with thi manhod letten al this game?
 Go ravyshe hire, ne kanstow nought for shame?
 And outhur lat hire out of towne fare,
 Or hold hire stille, and leve thi nyce fare.

LXXIII.

‘Artow in Troye, and hast non hardimente
 To tak a womman which that loveth the,
 And wold hireselven ben of thyn assente?’

Now is nat this a nyce vanyté?
 Rise up anon, and lat this wepyng be!
 And right thow ert a man, for in this houre 516
 I wol ben dede, or she shal bleven oure.'

LXXIV.

To this answerde hym Troylus ful softe,
 And seyde, 'Pardé, leve brother deere,
 Al this have I myself yet thought ful ofte,
 And more thyng than thow devysest here;
 But why this thyng is laft, thow shalt wel here,
 And when thow me hast yeven an audience,
 Therefter maistow telle alle thi sentence.

LXXV.

First, syn thow woost this town hath alle this werre
 For ravysshyng of wommen so by myght, 520
 It sholde nought be suffred me to erre,
 As it stant now, ne don so grete unright;
 I sholde han also blame of every wyght,
 My fadres graunte if that I so withstode,
 Syn she is chaunged for the townes goode.

LXXVI.

'I have ek thought, so it were hire assente,
 To axe hire at my fader of his grace;
 Than thynke I, thys were hire acusemente,
 Syn wel I woot I may hire nought purchae;
 For syn my fader, in so heigh a place 530
 As parlement, hath hire eschaunge enseled,
 He nyl for me his lettre be repeled.

LXXVII.

‘ Yet drede I most hire herte to pertorbe
 With violence, if I do swich a game ;
 For if I wolde it openly distorbe,
 It moost be disclaundre to hire name,
 And me were levere ded than hire defame ;
 As nolde God, but if I sholde have
 Hire honour levere than my lif to save.

XXVIII.

‘ Thus am I lost, for ought that I kan se ; 540
 For certein is, syn that I am hire knyght,
 I most hire honour levere han than me
 In every eas, as lovers aught of righte ;
 Thus am I in desire and reson twyght :—
 Desire, for to distourben hire, me redeth,
 And reson nyl not, so myn herte dredeth.

LXXIX.

Thus wepyng, that he koude nevere cesse,
 He seyde, ‘ Allas how shal I, wreche, fare ?
 For wel fele I alway my love encresce,
 And hope is lasse and lasse alway, Pandare ! 550
 Encresen ek the causes of my care,
 So waylawey ! why nyl myn herte breste ?
 For as in love ther is but litel rest.’

LXXX.

Pandare answerde, ‘ Frend ! thou mayst for me
 Don as the lest ; but hadde Ich it so hoote,
 And thyn estate, she sholde go with me !

Though al this town cryed on this thyng by note,
 I nolde sette at al that noyse a grote ;
 For when men han wel cryed, than wol they rowne,
 Ek wonder last but nine nyght nevere in towne. 560

LXXXI.

Devyne nat in reson ay so depe,
 Ne curtaisyly, but helpe thi-self anon ;
 Bet is that othere than thi-selven wepe ;
 And namely, syn ye two ben al oone,
 Rise up, for by myn hed she shal not gon !
 And rather be in blame a lite ifounde,
 Than sterve here as a gnat withouten wounde.

LXXXII.

‘ It is no shame unto yow, ne no vyce,
 Hire to withholden, that ye loveth most ;
 Paraunter she myght holden the for nyce, 570
 To laten hire go thus unto the Grekes oost ;
 Thyng ek, Fortune, as wel thi-selven wooste,
 Helpeth hardy man unto his emprise,
 And weyveth wrechis for hire cowardyse.

LXXXIII.

‘ And, though thi lady wolde alite hire greve,
 Thow shalt thi-self thi pees here-efter make ;
 But, as for me, certeine, I kan not leve,
 That she wolde it as now for evel take.
 Why sholde thanne of-fered thyn herte quake ?
 Thyng ek how Paris hath, that is thi brother, 580
 A love ; and why shaltowe not have another ?

LXXXIV.

‘ And, Troylus, o thyng I dar the swere,
 That if Criseyde, which that is thi lief,
 Now loveth the, as wel as thow dost hire,
 God help me so! she nyl not take a-gryefe,
 Theigh thow do boote anon in this meschief;
 And if she wilneth fro the for to passe,
 Thanne is she fals, so love hire wel the lasse.

LXXXV.

· Forthi, take herte, and thynk right as a knyght,
 Thorwe love is broken alday every lawe; 590
Kythe now somewhat thi eurage and thi myght;
 Have merey on thiself for any awe;
 Lat not this wreeched wo thyne herte gnawe;
 But, manly, set the world on six and sevene,
 And if thow deye a martyr, go to hevене.

LXXXVI.

‘ I wol myself ben with the at this dede,
 Theigh Ich and alle my kyn, upon a stownde,
 Shul in a strete, as dogges, ligger dede,
 Thorwgh gyrt with many wyde and blody wounde;
 In every eas I wol a frend ben founde; 600
 And if the list here sterven as a wreche,
 Adieu, the devel spede hym that it reche!’

LXXXVII.

This Troilus gan with tho wordes quykken,
 And seyde, ‘ Frende, graunte merey, Ich assente;
 But certeynly, thow maist not so me priken,

Ne peyne non ne may me so tormente,
 That, for no eas, it is not myn entente,
 At shorte wordes, though I dyen sholde,
 To ravysshen hire, but if hire-self it wolde.'

LXXXVIII.

'Why, so mene I,' quod Pandarus, 'alle this day; 610
 But tel me thanne, hastow hire wil asayde,
 That sorwest thus?' and he answerde hym, 'Nay.'
 'Wherof ertow,' quod Pandare, 'thanne amayed,
 That nost not that she wol ben yvel apeyed
 To ravysshen hire, syn thow hast nought ben there,
 But if that Jove told it in thyn ere?'

LXXXIX.

'Forthy ris up, as nought ne were, anon,
 And wessh thi face, and to the kyng thow wende,
 Or he may wondren wheder thow ert gon;
 Thow most with wisdom hym and other blende,
 Or upon eas he may efter the sende, 621
 Er thow be war; and shortly, brother decre,
 Be glad, and lat me werke in this matere.'

XC.

'For I shal shape it so that sikerly
 Thow shalt this nyght somtyme, in som manere,
 Com speken with thi lady prively,
 And by hire wordes ek, as by hire eheere,
 Thow shalt ful soone aperceyve and wel here
 Al hire entent, and, in this eas, the beste;
 And fare now wele, for in this poynte I reste.' 630

XCI.

The swifte Fame, which that false thynges
 Egal reporteth, like the thynges trewe,
 Was thorough Troye yfled, with preste wynges,
 Fro man to man, and made this tale al newe,
 How Calkas doughter, with hire bryghte hewe,
 At parlement, withouten wordes more,
 Igraunted was in chaunge of Antenore.

XCII.

The whiche tale anon right as Cryseyde
 Hadde herde, she, which that of hir fader roughte,
 As in this cas, right nought, ne when he deyøde,
 Ful bisily to Juppiter besoughte 641
 Yeve hym meschaunce that this tretis broughte ;
 But shortly, lest this tales sothe were,
 She dorst at no wight axen it for feere.

XCIII.

As she that hadde hire herte and al hire mynde
 On Troilus ysette so wonder faste,
 That al this world ne myghte hire love unbynde,
 Ne Troilus out of hire herte caste ;
 She wol ben his whil that hire lif may laste ;
 And she thus brenneth bothe in love and drede,
 So that she nyste what was best to rede. 651

XCIV.

But as men seen in town, and alle aboute,
 That women usen frendes to visite,
 So to Criseyde of women com a route,

For pitous joie, and wenden hire delite,
 And with hire tales, dere ynough a myte!
 This wommen, which that in the cité dwelle,
 They set hem down, and seyde as I shal telle.

XCV.

Quod firste that oon, 'I am glad trewely,
 By-cause of yow that shal youre fader se.' 660
 Another seyde, 'Iwys, so nam not I,
 For al to litel hath she with us be.'
 Quod tho the thridde, 'I hope, iwys, that she
 Shal brynge us the pees on every syde,
 Thanne, when she goth, almyghty God hire gyde!'

XCVI.

Tho wordes, and tho wommannisshe thynges,
 She herde hem right as though she thennes were,
 For, God it woot, hire herte on other thynges is;
 Although the body sate amange hem there,
 Hire advertens is alwey elles-where; 670
 For Troilus ful fast her soule soughte,
 Withouten worde, on hym alwey she thoughte.

XCVII.

Thise wommen that thus wenden hire to pleese,
 Aboute nought gonne al hire tales spende;
 Swich vanité ne kan don hire non ese,
 As she that al this mene while brende
 Of other passioun than that they wende;
 So that she felt almost her herte dye
 For wo, and wery of that compaignye.

XCVIII.

[For wych she no lenger myght restreyne 680
 Hir teres, they gonne soo up to welle ;
 That yafe signes of the bitter peyne,
 In wych hyr spirit was, and muste dwelle,
 Remembryng hyr from heven unto wych helle
 She fallen was, sith she forgoth the sighte
 Of Troilus, and sorowfully she syghte.]

XCIX.

And thilke fooles, sittyng hire aboute,
 Wenden that she wepte and sykedø soore,
 Bycause that she shold out of that route
 Departen, and nevere pleye with hem more ; 690
 And they that hadde yknowen hire of yoores,
 Seigh hire so wepe, and thought it kyndenesse,
 And ech of hem wepte for hire distresse

C.

And bisily they gonnen hire conforten
 Of thyng, God woot, on which she litel thoughte ;
 And with hire tales wenden hire disporten,
 And to be glad they oft hire bysoughte ;
 But which an ese therwith they hire wroughte,
 Right as a man is esed for to feele,
 For ach of hed to clawen hym on his heele. 700

CI.

But efter al this nyce vanité,
 They took hire leve, and hom they wente alle ,
 Criseyde, ful of sorwful pitee,

Into hire chaumbre up wente out of the halle,
 And on hire bed she gan for ded to falle,
 In purpos nevere thennes for to rise,
 And thus she wroughte, as I shal yowe devyse.

CII.

Hire ownded here, that sonnyssh was of hewe,
 She rente, and ek hire fyngeres longe and smale
 She wronge ful oft, and bad God on hire rewe, 710
 And with the deth to don boote on hire bale ;
 Hire hew, whilom bright, that tho was pale,
 Bar wisse of hire wo, and hire constreynte ;
 And thus she spake, sobbynge in hire compleynte.

CIII.

‘ Allas ! ’ quod she, ‘ out of this region,
 I, woful wrech and infortuned wight,
 And born in corsed constellacioun,
 Moot goon, and thus departen fro my knyght !
 Wo worth, allas ! that ilke dayes lyght,
 On which I seigh hym first with eyen tweyne, 720
 That causeth me, and Ich hym, al this peyne ! ’

CIV.

Therwith the teres from hire eyen two
 Down fille, as shoures in Aprile swithe ;
 Hire white brest she bet, and for the wo,
 Efter the deth she cryed a thousand sythe,
 Syn he that wont hire wo was for to lithe,
 She moot forgon ; for which disaventure
 She held hire-self a forlost creature.

CV.

She seyde, ‘How shal he doon and Ieh also?
 How shold I lyve if that I fro hym twynne? 730
 O deere herte, ek, that I love so,
 Who shal that sorw slen, that ye ben inne?
 O Calkas, fader, thyn be al this synne!
 O moder myn, that cleped were Argyve,
 Wo worth that day that thow me bere on lyve!

CVI.

‘To what fyn shold I lyve and sorwen thus?
 How shold a fissh withouten water dure?
 What is Criseyde worth from Troilus?
 How shold a plaunte, or lyves creature,
 Lyve withouten his kynde noriture? 740
 For which ful oft a by worde here I seye,
 That rooteles mot grene soone deye.

CVII.

‘I shal doon thus, syn neither swerde ne darte
 Dar I non handlen for the cruelté,
 That ilke day that I from yow departe,
 If sorwe of that nyl nat my bane be,
 Thanne shal no mete or drynke com in me,
 Til I my soule out of my breste unshethe;
 And thus my-selven wold I don to dethe.

CVIII.

‘And, Troilus, my clothes everychon 750
 Shal blake ben, in tokennyng, herte swete!
 That I am out as of this worlde ygon,

That wonte was yow to setten in quiete ;
 And of myn ordre, ay til deth me mete,
 The observaunce evere in youre absens,
 Shal sorw ben, compleynte, and abstinence.

CIX.

‘ Myn herte, and ek the woful goost ther inne,
 Byquethe I with youre spirit to compleyne
 Eternaly, for they shal nevere twynne ;
 For though in erith ytwynned be we tweyne, 760
 Yet in the feld of pité, out of peyne,
 That height Elysos, shal we ben ifeere,
 As Orpheus and Erudice his feere.

CX.

‘ Thus, herte myne, for Antenor, allas !
 I soone shal ben chaunged, as I weene ;
 But how shul ye don in this sorwful eas ?
 How shal youre tendre herte this sustene ?
 But, herte myne, foryet this sorw and teene,
 And me also ; for, sothly for to seye,
 So ye wel fare, I reche noughte to deye.’ 770

CXI.

How myght it evere yred ben or ysonge,
 The pleynte that she made in hire distresse,
 I not ; but, as for me, my litel tonge
 If I discryven wold hire hevynesse,
 It sholde make hire sorwe seme lesse
 Thanne that it was, and childishly deface
 Hire heighe compleynte ; and therfor Ieh it pace.

CXII.

Pandare, which that sente from Troilus
 Was unto Criseyde, as ye han herde devyse,
 That for the beste it was accorded thus, 780
 And he ful glad to don hym that servyse,
 Unto Criseyde, in a ful faire wyse,
 Ther as she lay in torment and in rage,
 Com hire to telle alle holly his message ;

CXIII.

And fonde that she hire-selven gan to grete
 Ful pitously ; for, with hire salte teres,
 Her breste, hire face ybathed was ful wete,
 Hire myghty tresses of hire sonnysshe heres
 Unbroiden, hangen al aboute hire eeres ;
 Which yaf hym verray signal of matere 790
 Of deth, which that hire herte gan desire.

CXIV.

Whan she hym saugh, she gan for sorwe anon
 Hire tery face atwixe hire armes hyde ;
 For which this Pandare is so wo bigon,
 That in the hous he myght unneth abyde,
 As he that pité hadde on every syde ;
 For if Cryseyde hadde erst compleyned soore,
 Tho gan she pleyne a thousand tyme moore.

CXV.

And in hire aspre pleynte, thus she seyde :—
 ‘ Pandare first, of joies moo than two 800
 Was cause causynge unto me, Criseyde

That now transmued ben in cruel wo ;
 Wher shal I seye to yow welcom or no,
 That aldirfirste me brought unto servyse
 Of love, allas ! that endeth in swich wyse ?

CXVI.

‘ Endeth thanne love in wo ? Ye ! or men lieth,
 And alle worldly blisse, as thynketh me ;
 The ende of blisse ay sorw it ocupieth ;
 And who-so troweth not that it so be,
 Lat hym upon me, woful wreche, ysee, 810
 That my-self hate, and ay my burthe aorse,
 Felynge alwey, fro wikke I go to worse.

CXVII.

‘ Who-so me seeth, he seeth sorwe al atones,
 Peyne, torment, pleynte, wo and distresse ;
 Out of my woful body harm ther non is,
 As angwissh, langour, cruel bitternesse,
 Anoy, smert, drede, furye, and ek sekenesse ;
 I trowe iwis from heven teres reyne,
 For pité of myn aspre and cruel peyne.’

CXVIII.

‘ And thow, my suster, ful of discomfort,’ 820
 Quod Pandarus, ‘ what thynkestow to doo ?
 Why ne hastow to thi-selven som reporte ?
 Why wiltow thus thiself allas fordo !
 Leef al this werk, and take now hede to
 That I shal seyne, and herkene, of goode entente,
 This message, whiche by me Troilus the sent.’

CXIX.

Tourned hire tho Criseyde a wo makynge
 So grete, that it a deth was for to se ;
 ‘ Allas !’ quod she ‘ what wordes may ye brynge ?
 What wol my deere herte seyne to me, 830
 Which that I drede neveremo to se ?
 Wol he han pleynte or teres or I wende ?
 I have inoughe, if he thereafter sende.’

CXX.

She was right swich to seen in hire visage,
 As is that wight that men on beere bynde ;
 Hire face, like of Paradis the ymage,
 Was al ichaunged in another kynde ;
 The pleye, the laughtre men was wonte to fynde
 On hire, and ek hire joies everychone
 Ben fled, and thus lith now Criseyde allone. 840

CXXI.

Aboute hire eyen two a purple ryng
 Bytrent, in sothfast toknyng of hyre peyne,
 That to beholde it was a dedely thyng ;
 For which Pandare myghte nat restreyne
 The teres from his eyen for to reyne ;
 But natheles, as he best myght, he seyde
 From Troylus thise wordes to Cryseyde.

CXXII.

· Loo ! nee, I trowe wel ye han herde al howe
 The kyng, with other lordes, for the beste,
 Hath made eschaunge of Antenor and yowe, 850

That cause is of this sorw and this unreste ;
 But how this eas doth Troylus moleste,
 That may non erthly mannes tonge seye ;
 For verray wo his wit is alle aweye.

CXXIII.

‘ For which we han so sorwed, he and I,
 That into litel both it hadde us slawe ;
 But, thorough my conseil this day fynaly,
 He somwhat is fro wepyng now withdrawe ;
 And semeth me that he desireth fawe
 With yow to ben al nyght for to devyse 860
 Remede in this, if ther were any wyse.

CXXIV.

‘ This, shorte and pleyne, theeffect of my message,
 As ferforth as my wit kan comprehende ;
 For ye that ben of tormente in swich rage,
 May to no longe prologe as now entende.
 And hereupon ye may answer to hym sende ;
 And, for the love of God, my nece deere,
 So lef this wo or Troilus be heere.’

CXXV.

‘ Gret is my wo,’ quod she, and sighte soore,
 As she that feleth dedely sharp distresse ; 870
 ‘ But yet to me his sorwe is muchel more,
 That love hym bet than he hymself, I gesse ;
 Allas, for me hath he swich hevynesse !
 Kan he for me so pitously compleyne ?
 Iwis, this sorw dowbleth al my peyne.

CXXVI.

‘Grevous to me, God woote, is for to twynne,’
 Quod she, ‘but yet it hardere is to me,
 To sen that sorwe which that he is inne,
 For wel wot I it wol my bane be,
 And dye I wol in certeyn,’ tho quod she : 880
 ‘But bid hym come, er doth that thus me threteth,
 Dryve out that gost, which in myne herte beteth.

CXXVII.

Thise wordes seyde, she on hire armes two
 Fil gruf, and gan to wepen pitously:
 Quod Pandarus, ‘Allas, why do ye so ?
 Syn wel ye woote the tyme is faste by
 That he shal com ; aris up hastely,
 That he yow nat biwepen thus ne fynde,
 But ye wol have hym woode out of hys mynde.

CXXVIII.

‘For wiste he that ye ferde in this manere, 885
 He wold hymselfen sle : and if I wende
 To han this fare, he sholde nat com heere
 For al the good that Priam may despende :
 For to what fyn he wold anon pretende,
 That knowe Ich wel ; and forthi yet I seye,
 So les this sorwe, or, platly, he wol dye.

CXXIX.

‘And shapeth yow his sorw for tabrigge,
 And nought enereise, leve nece swete !
 Beth rather to hym cause of flat than egge,

And with som wysdom ye his sorwe beete: 900
 What helpeth it to wepen ful a strete,
 Or though ye bothe in salte terys dreynte?
 Bet is a tyme of cure ay than of pleynte.

CXXX.

‘ I mene thus :—whan Iche hym hyder brynge,
 Syn ye be wyse, and bothe of oon assente,
 So shapeth how distourbe your goynge,
 Or come ayeyn soone efter ye be wente,
 Wommen ben wyse in short avysemente ;
 And lat sen how youre wit shal now availe,
 And what that I may help, it shal not faile.’ 910

CXXXI.

‘ Go,’ quod Criseyde, ‘ and, uncle, trewely
 I shal don al my myght me to restreyne
 From wepyng in his sight, and bysily
 Hym for to glade I shal don al my peyne,
 And in myn herte seken every veyne ;
 If to his soor there may be founden salve,
 It shal not lakke, certeyn, on myn halve.’

CXXXII.

Goth Pandarus, and Troilus he soughte,
 Til in a temple he fonde hym al alone,
 As he that of his lif no lenger roughte, 920
 But to the pitouse goddes everychon
 Ful tenderly he preyde, and made his mone,
 To doon hym soon out of this worlde to pace,
 For wel he thoughte ther was non other grace.

CXXXIII.

And shortely al the sothe for to seyne,
 He was so fallen in dispaire that day,
 That outrely he shope hym for to deye ;
 For righte thus was his argument alwey,
 He seyde he nas but lorne, waylawey !
 ‘ For al that cometh, comth by necessité ; 930
 Thus to ben lorne, it is my desteyné.

CXXXIV.

‘ For certeynly, this woote I wel,’ he sayde,
 ‘ That forsyght of devyne purvyaunce
 Hathe seyn alwey me to forgon Criseyde,
 Syn God seth every thyng, out of doutaunce,
 And hem disponeth thorough his ordinaunce,
 In hire merites sothely for to be,
 As they shul comen by predesteyné.

CXXXV.

‘ But natheles, allas ! whom shal I leve ?
 For ther ben grete clerkes many oone, 940
 That destyné thorwgh argumentez preve ;
 And som men seyn that nedely ther is noon,
 But that fre choys is yeven us everichon :
 O waylaway ! so sleighe ern clerkes olde,
 That I nat whos opinion I may holde.

CXXXVI.

‘ For som men seyn if God seth al byforne,
 Ne God may not deseyved ben pardé !
 Than moot it fallen, theigh men hadde it sworne,

That purveyaunce hath seyn befor to be ;
 Wherfor I seye, that from eterne if he 950
 Hath wiste byforn our thought ek as oure dede,
 We have no fre choys, as thise clerkes rede.

CXXXVII.

· For other thoughte, nor other dede also,
 Myghte nevere ben, but swich as purveyaunce,
 Which may nat ben deceyved nevere moo,
 Hath feled byforne, withouten ignoraunce ;
 For if ther myghte ben a variaunce
 To wrythen out fro Goddes purveyinge,
 Ther nere no prescience of thyng comyng ;

CXXXVIII.

‘ But it were rather an opinyon 960
 Uncertein, and no stedfast forseynge ;
 And, certes, that were an abusyon,
 That God shold han no parfit clere wetyng,
 More than we men, that han douteous wenyng,
 But swich an erreure upon God to gesse,
 Were fals, and foule, and wikked cersednesse.

CXXXIX.

‘ Ek this is an opinyon of some,
 That han hire top ful heigh and smothe yshore,
 They seyn right thus, that thyng is nat to come,
 For that the prescience hath seyne byfore 970
 That it shal come ; but they seyn that therfore
 That it shal come, therfor the purveyaunce
 Woot it bifore withouten ignorance.

CXL.

‘ And in this manere this necessité
 Retourneth in his part contrarye agayn ;
 For nedfully byhoveth it not to be,
 That thilke thynges fallen in certeyn
 That ben purveyed ; but nedly, as they seyne,
 Bihoveth it that thynges which that falle,
 That thei in certein ben purveied alle. 980

CXLI.

‘ I mene as though I labourede me in this,
 To enqueren which thyng cause of whiche thyng
 be ;
 As whether that the prescience of God is
 The certein cause of the necessité
 Of thynges that to comen ben, pardé !
 Or if necessité of thyng comynge
 Be cause certein of the purveyinge.

CXLII.

‘ But now nenforce I me nat in shewynge,
 How the ordre of causes stant ; but wel woot I
 That it bihoveth that the bifallynge 990
 Of thynges wiste bifor certeinly,
 Be necessarie, al seme it nat therby,
 That prescience put fallynge necessaire
 To thyng to come, al falle it foule or faire.

CXLIII.

‘ For if ther sit a man yonde on a see,
 Than by necessité bihoveth it
 That certes thyn opinioun soth be,

That wenest or coniectest that he sit;
 And, further over, now ayeinwarde yit,
 Lo right so is it on the part contrarie, 1000
 As thus, nowe herkene, for I wol nat tarie :

CXLIV.

‘ I sey, that if the opinion of the
 Be soth for that he sit, than seye I this,
 That he moot sitten by necessité;
 And thus necessité in either is,
 For in hym nede of sittynge is, ywis,
 And in the nede of soth; and thus forsoth
 Ther mot necessité ben in yow bothe.

CXLV.

‘ But thow maist seyne the man sit nat therfore,
 That thyn opinioun of his sittynge sothe is; 1010
 But rather, for the man sat there byfore,
 Therfor is thyn opinioun soth, ywys;
 And I seye, though the cause of soth of this
 Cometh of his sittynge, yet necessité
 Is interchaunged both in hym and the.

CXLVI.

‘ Thus in the same wyse, out of doutaunce,
 I may wel maken, as it semeth me,
 My resonyng of Goddes purveiaunce,
 And of the thynges that to comen be;
 By which reson men may wel ysee, 1020
 That thylke thynges that in erthe falle,
 That by necessité they comen alle.

CXLVII.

‘ For although that for thynges shal come, ywys,
 Therfor it is purveyed certeynly,
 Nat that it cometh for it purveied is ;
 Yet natheles bihoveth it nedfully,
 That thynges to come be purveied trewly,
 Or elles thynges that purveied be,
 That they bitiden by necessité.

CXLVIII.

‘ And this sufficeth right ynough certeyn, 1030
 For to distruye oure fre choys everydele.
 But now is this abusioun to seyne,
 That fallynge of the thynges temporel,
 Is cause of goddes prescience eternel ;
 Now trewely that is a fals sentence,
 That thynges to come sholde cause his prescience.

CXLIX.

‘ What myght I wene, and I hadde swich a thought,
 But that God purveieth thynges that is to come,
 For that it is to come, and elles nought ?
 So myght I wene that thynges alle and some, 1040
 That whilom ben bifalle and overe-come,
 Ben cause of thilke soveyren purvuyaunce,
 That forwoot alle, withouten ignoraunce.

CL.

‘ And over al this, yet seye I moore herto,—
 That right as whan I woot there is o thynges,
 Ywis, that thynges mot nedfully be so ;

Ek right as whan I woote a thyngge comynge,
 So mot it come; and thus the bifallynge
 Of thynges that ben wiste bifore the tyde,
 They mowe not ben eschued on no syde.' 1050

CLI.

Than seyde he thus; 'Almyghty Jove in trone,
 That woost of al this thyngge the sothfastnesse,
 Rewe on my sorwe, or do me dyen sone,
 Or bryngge Criseyde and me fro this distresse.'
 And while he was in al this hevynesse,
 Disputynge with hymself in this matere,
 Com Pandare in, and seyde as ye may here.

CLII.

'O myghty God,' quod Pandarus, 'in trone!
 I! who say evere a wys man faren so?
 Whi Troylus, what thynkestow to doon? 1060
 Hastow swich luste to ben thyn owne fo?
 What! pardé, yet is nat Criseyde ago!
 Why lust the so thiself fordoon for drede,
 That in thyne hed thyn eyne semen dede?

CLIII.

'Hastow nought lyved many a yere byforne
 Withouten hire, and ferde ful wel at ese?
 Ertow for hire and for non other borne?
 Hath Kynde the wroughte al oonly hire to plese?
 Lat be! and thynk right thus in thy disese,
 That, in the dees right as ther fallen chaunces, 1070
 Right so in love there com and gon plesaunces.

CLIV.

‘ And yet this is a wonder moost of alle,
 Why thow thus sorwest, syn thou nost not yit,
 Touchynge hire goynge, how that it shall falle ;
 Ne yif she kan hire-self distourben it,
 Thow hast nat yit assayed al hire wit ;
 A man may al by-tyme his nekke beede
 Whan it shal of, and sorwen at the nede.

CLV.

‘ Forthi, take hede of al that I shal seye,
 I have with hire ispoke, and longe ibe, 1080
 So as acorded was bytwyxe us tweye ;
 And evermoo me thynketh thus, that she
 Hath somewhat in hire hertes previté,
 Wherwith she can, if I shal right arede,
 Distourbe al this, of which thow ert in drede.

CLVI.

‘ For which my conseil is, whan it is nyght,
 Thow to hire go, and mak of this an ende ;
 And blisful Juno, thorwgh hire grete myghte,
 Shal, as I hope, hire grace unto us sende.
 Myn herte seith, certein she shal nat wende ; 1090
 And forthi, put thyne herte a qwhile in reste,
 And hold this purpos, for it is the beste.’

CLVII.

This Troilus answerde, and sighte soore,
 ‘ Thow saist right wel, and I wol doon right so ;’
 And what hym liste, he seyde unto hym moore.

And whan that it was tyme for to go,
 Ful prevely hymself, withouten mo,
 Unto hire come, as he was wonte to doon,
 And how they wroughte I shal yow tellen soone.

CLVIII.

Soth is, than when they gonnen first to meete, 1100
 So gan the peyne hire hertes for to twyste,
 That noither of hem myghte other grete,
 But hem in armes tooke, and efter kyste ;
 The lasse woful of hem bothe nyste
 Wher that he was, ne myght o word out brynge,
 As I seyde arst, for wo and for sobbynge.

CLIX.

The woful teres that they leten falle
 As bittre weren out of teres kynde
 For peyne, as is ligne aloes, or galle,—
 So bittre teres wepe noughte, as I fynde, 1110
 The woful Myrra, thorwgh the barke and rynde,—
 That in this world there nys so hard an herte,
 That nolde han rewed on hire peynes smerte.

CLX.

But when hire woful, wery, gostes tweyne
 Retourned ben, ther as hem owen to dwelle,
 And that somewhat to woken gan the peyne
 By lengthe of pleynte, and ebben gan the welle
 Of hire teres, and the herte unswelle,
 With brokyn vois, al hois for shrigh, Criseyde
 To Troilus thise ilke wordes seyde. 1120

CLXI.

‘ O Jove, I deye, and mercy I biseche !
 Helpe Troilus !’ and therwithal hire face
 Upon his breste she leyde, and lefte speche,
 Hire woful spirit from his propre place,
 Right with the worde, alwey in poynte to pace ;
 And thus she lith, with hewes pale and grene,
 That whilom fressh and fairest was to sene.

CLXII.

This Troilus that on hire gan biholde,
 Clepynge hire name, and she lay as for dede,
 Withouten answeere, and felt her lymes colde, 1130
 Hire eyen thrownen upwarde to hire hed ;
 This sorwful man kan now noon other rede,
 But ofte tyme hire colde mouthe he kyste ;
 Wher hym was wo, God and hymself it wiste !

CLXIII.

He rist hym up, and longe streight he hire layde ;
 For signe of lyf, for ought he kan or may,
 Kan he non fynde in nothyng of Cryseyde,
 For which his songe ful oft is, ‘ Walaway !’
 But when he saugh that specheles she lay,
 With sorwful vois, and herte of blisse al bare, 1140
 He seyde how she was fro this worlde yfare.

CLXIV.

So efter that he longe hadde hyre compleyned,
 His hondes wronge, and seyde that was to seye,
 And with his teris salt hire breest byreyned,

He gan tho teris wipen of ful dreye,
 And pitously gan for the soule preye,
 And seyde, 'O Lord, that set ert in thi trone,
 Rew ek on me, for I shal folwe hir sone.'

CLXV.

She colde was, and withouten sentemente,
 For aught he woot, for breth ne felt he non; 1150
 And this was hym a preignant argument,
 That she was forth out of this world agone:
 And when he sey ther was non other wone,
 He gan hire lymes dresse, in swich manere,
 As men don hem that shal be layd on beere.

CLXVI.

And efter this, with sterne and cruel herte,
 His swerde anon out of his shethe he twyghte,
 Hymself to slane, how sore that hym smerte,
 So that his soule, hire soule folwen myghte,
 Ther as the dome of Mynos wold it dighte; 1160
 Syn Love and cruel Fortune it ne wolde,
 That in this world he langer lyven sholde.

CLXVII.

Than seyde he thus, fulfilld of heigh desdayn,
 'O cruel Jove, and thow Fortune adverse,
 This al and som, that falsly have ye slayn
 Criseyde! and syn ye may do me no werse,
 Fy on youre myght and werkes so dyverse!
 Thus cowardly ye shul me nevere wyne,
 Ther shal no deth me fro my lady twynne.

CLXVIII.

‘ For I this world, syn he have slayn hire thus,
 Wol lete, and folw hire spirit low or heye ; 1171
 Shal nevere lover seyn that Troilus
 Dar not for fere with his lady dye ;
 For, certein, I wol bere hire companye ;
 But, syn ye wol not suffure us lyven here,
 Yet suffreth that our soules ben ifeere.

CLXIX.

‘ And thow eit , in which I lyve in wo !
 And thow Priam, and bretheren alle ifere !
 And thow my moder, farwel, for I go !
 And, Attropes, mak redy thow my beere ! 1180
 And thow Criseyde, O swete herte deere,
 Receyve now my spirit !’ wolde he seye,
 With swerd at herte, al redy for to dye.

CLXX.

But, as God wold, of swough she therwith brayde,
 And gan to sike, and ‘ Troilus,’ she cryede ;
 And he answerde, ‘ Lady myn Criseyde,
 Lyve ye yit ?’ and lete his swerde down glide :
 ‘ Ye, herte myn, that thanked be Cupide !’
 Quod she, and therwithal she sore sighte,
 And he bigan to glad hire as he myghte. 1190

CLXXI.

Took hire in armes two, and kyste hire ofte,
 And hire to glade, he dide al his entente,
 For which hire gooste, that flied ay o lofte,

Into hire woful herte ayein it wente :
 But, at the laste, as that hire eye glente
 Asyde, anon she gan his swerde aspye,
 As it lay bare, and gan for feere erie,

CLXXII.

And asked hym whi he it hadde out drawe ;
 And Troilus anon the cause hire tolde,
 And how hymself therwith he wolde han slawe ;
 For which Criseyde upon hym gan byholde, 1201
 And gan hym in hire armes faste folde,
 And seyde, ‘ O mercy God, lo, which a dede !
 Allas ! how neigh we weren bothe dede !

CLXXIII.

‘ Thanne if I nadde isproken, as grace was,
 Ye wold han slayn yowre-self anon ?’ quod she.
 ‘ Ye, douteles :’ and she answard, ‘ Allas !
 For, by that ilke lorde that made me !
 I nold a forlonge wey o lyve have be
 After your deth, to han ben crowned quene 1210
 Of al that lond the sonne on shyneth sheene.

CLXXIV.

‘ But with this selve swerde, which that here is,
 Myself I wolde han slayn,’ quod she tho.
 But hoo ! for we han right ynowgh of this ;
 And lat us rise and streighte to bedde go ;
 And ther lat us speken of oure wo,
 For by this mortar, which that I se brenne,
 Know I ful wel that day is not ferre henne.’

CLXXV.

When they were in hire bedde in armes folde,
 Naught was it like tho nyghtes here biforn, 1220
 For pitously ich other gan byholde,
 As they that hadden al hire blisse ylorn,
 Bywaylynge ay the day that they were borne ;
 Til, at the laste, this sorwful wight Criseyde,
 To Troilus this ilke wordis seyde.

CLXXVI.

‘ Loo ! herte myne, wel woot ye this,’ quod she,
 ‘ That if a wight alwey his wo compleyne,
 And seketh naught how holpen for to be,
 It nis but folye, and eneresse of peyne :
 And sin that here assembled be we tweyne, 1230
 To fynde boote of wo that we ben inne,
 It were al tyme soone to begynne.

CLXXVII.

‘ I am a womman, as ful wel ye woote,
 And as I am avysed sodeynly,
 So wol I telle yow, whil it is hoot ;
 Me thynketh thus, that noither ye nor I,
 Ought half this wo to maken skilfully ;
 For ther is art ynough for to redresse
 That yet is mys, and slen this hevynesse.

CLXXVIII.

‘ Soth is, the wo the whiche that we ben inne,
 For aught I wot, for nothyngelless is, 1241
 But for the cause that we sholden twynne ;

Considered al, there nys no more amys :
 But what is thanne a remede unto this,
 But that we shape us soone for to mete ?
 This al and som, my dere herte swete !

CLXXIX.

‘ Now, that I shal wele bryngen it aboute
 To com ayein, soon efter that I go,
 Therof am I no maner thyng in doute ;
 For, dredeles, within a wowke or two, 1250
 I shal ben here ; and that it may be so,
 By alle righte, and in a wordes fewe,
 I shal yow wel an heepe of weyes shewe.

CLXXX.

‘ For which I wol nat maken longe sermon,
 For tyme iloste may nought recovered be,
 But I wol gon to my conclusion,
 And in the best, in aught that I kan see :
 And, for the love of God, foryeve it me,
 If I speke aught ayenis youre hertes reste ;
 For trewely I speke it for the beste ; 1260

CLXXXI.

‘ Makynge alwey a protestacioun,
 That now this wordes, which that I shal seye,
 Nys but to shewen yowe my mocion,
 To fynde unto oure help the beste weye,
 And taketh it non otherwyse I yow preye ;
 For, in effect, what so ye me comaunde,
 That wol I don ; for that ys no demaunde.

CLXXXII.

‘ Now herkeneth this :—ye han wel understonde,
 My goynge graunted is by parlement
 So ferforth, that it may not be withstonde 1270
 For al this world, as by my jugement ;
 And syn ther helpeth non avysement
 To letten it, lat it passe out of mynde,
 And lat us shape a better wey to fynde.

CLXXXIII.

‘ The sothe is, the twynnyng of us tweyne
 Wol us disese, and crueliche anoye :
 But hym bihoveth somtyme han a peyne
 That serveth love, if that he wol have joye :
 And syn I shal no forther out of Troie
 Than I may ride ayein on halfe a morwe, 1280
 It aughte lasse causen us to sorwe.

CLXXXIV.

‘ So as I shal not so ben hidde in muwe,
 That day by day, myn owen herte deere,
 Syn wel ye wot that it is now a truwe,
 Ye shal ful wel al myn estate yheere :
 And er that truwe is don I shal ben here,
 And thanne have ye bothe Antenor ywonne,
 And me also ; beth glad now if ye konne.

CLXXXV.

‘ And thynk right thus :—Criseyde is now agon ;
 But what! she shal com hastily ayein ! 1290
 And when, allas ? bi God, lo ! right anon

Er dayes ten, this dar I sauflly seyne ;
 And than at erste, shal we be so feyne,
 So as we shal togideres evere dwelle,
 That al this worlde ne myght oure blisse telle.

CLXXXVI.

‘ I see that ofte tyme, ther as we bene now,
 That for the beste, oure conseil for to hide,
 Ye speke not with me, nor I with yowe
 In fourtenyght, ne se yow go ne ride :
 May ye nought ten dayes thanne abide, 1300
 For myn honour, in swich an aventure ?
 Iwys, ye mowe elles lite endure.

CLXXXVII.

‘ Ye knewe eke how that al my kyn is here,
 But if that onlich it my fader be ;
 And ek myne other thynges, al ifeere,
 And nameliche, my deere herte ! ye,
 Whom that I nolde leven for to se,
 For al this world, as wyde as it hath space,
 Or elles se Iehe nevere Joves face !

CLXXXVIII.

‘ Why trowe ye my fader in this wyse 1310
 Coveiteth so to se me, but for drede,
 Lest in this town that folkes me despice,
 Because of hym, for his unhappi dede ?
 What woot my fader what lyf that I lede ?
 For if he wiste in Troie how wel I fare,
 Us nedede for my wendynge nought care.

CLXXXIX.

‘ Ye seen, that every day ek mor and more,
 Men trete of pees, and it supposed is
 That men the queene Eleyne shal restore,
 And Grekes us restoren that is mys : 1320
 So, though ther nere comfort non but this,
 That men purposen pees on every syde,
 Ye may the bettre at ese of herte abyde.

CXC.

‘ For if that it be pees, myn herte deere,
 The nature of the pees moot nedes dryve,
 That men most entrecommunen yfere,
 And to and fro ek ride and gon as blyve,
 Al day as thykke as been fleen from an hyve ;
 And every wight han libert e to bleve
 Whar as hym liste bet withouten leve. 1330

CXCI.

‘ And though so be that pees ther may be non,
 Yet hider, though ther never pees ne weere,
 I moste come ; for whider shold I gone ?
 Or how meschaunee ! sholde I dwelle there
 Amange the men of armes evere in feere ?
 For which, as wysely God my soule rede !
 I kan not sen whereof ye sholden drede.

CXCII.

‘ Have here another wey, if it so be
 That al this thyng ne may yow not suffise ;
 My fader, as ye knowen wele pard e, 1340

Is old, and elde is ful of coveityse ;
 And I right now have founden al the gyse,
 Withouten net, wherwith I shal hym hente ;
 And herkeneth how, if that ye wol assente.

CXCIII.

‘ Loo ! Troilus, men seyne, that ful harde it is
 The wolf ful, and the wether hoole to have ;
 This is to seyn, that men ful oft ywis,
 Moot spenden part, the remenaunte for to save :
 For ay with gold, men may the herte grave
 Of hym that set is upon coveitise ; 1350
 And how I mene, I shal it yowe devyse.

CXCIV.

‘ The moeble which that I have in this town,
 Unto my fader shal I take and seye,
 That right for truste, and for savacioun,
 It sent is from a frend of his or tweye ;
 The whiche frendes ferventliche hym preye,
 To senden efter more and that in heye,
 Whil that this town stante thus in jupartye.

CXC.V.

‘ And that shal ben of gold an huge quantité,
 Thus shal I seyn, but lest it folk aspiede, 1360
 This may be sente bi no wight but by me.
 I shal ek shewen hym, if pees betyde,
 What frendes that Ich have on every syde,
 Towarde the courte, to don the wrethe pace
 Of Priamus, and don hym stonde in grace.

CXCVI.

‘ So what for o thyng and for other, swete,
 I shal hym so enchaunten with my sawes,
 That right in hevене his soul is, shal he mete ;
 For alle Appollo, or his elerkes lawes,
 Or kalkulynge, awayleth nought thre hawes : 1370
 Desire of gold shal so his soule blende,
 That, as me liste, I shal wel make an ende.

CXCVII.

‘ And if he wol aught by his sorte it preve
 If that I lye, in certein I shal fonde
 Destourben hym, and plukke hym by the sleve,
 Makynge his sort, and beren hym on honde,
 He hath not wele the goddes understonde ;
 For goddes speken in amphibologies,
 And for o soth they tellen twenty lyes.

CXCVIII.

‘ Ek drede fond firste goddes, I suppose, 1380
 Thus shal I seyn, and that his eoward herte,
 Made hym amys the goddes text to glose,
 When he for ferde out of Delphos sterte :
 And but I make hym soone to converte,
 And don my rede, withinne a day or tweye,
 I wol to yow oblige me to deye.’

CXCIX.

And troweliche, as writen wel I fynde,
 That al this thyng was seyde in goode entent ;
 And that hire herte trewe was and kynde

Towardis hym, and spak right as she mente ; 1390
 And that she starf for wo neigh whan she wente,
 And was in purpos evere to be trewe ;
 Thus writen they that of hire werkes knewe.

cc.

Tho Troilus, with herte and eres spradde,
 Herde al this thyng devysen to and fro,
 And veriliche it semede that he hadde
 The selfe wit ; but yit to late hire go
 His herte mysforyafe hym everemo,
 And finaly he gan his herte wreste
 To trusten hire, and toke it for the beste. 1400

ccI.

For which the grete furye of his penaunce
 Wasqueyntewith hope ; and therewith hem bytwene
 Bygan for joye thamorouse daunce ;
 And as the bryddes, whan the sonne is shene,
 Deliten in hire songe, in leves grene,
 Right so the wordes that they spak ifeere
 Deliten hem, and make hire hertes ehere.

ccII.

But natheles the wendynge of Criseyde,
 For al this world may not out of his mynde ;
 For whiche ful oft he pitously hire preyde, 1410
 That of hire heste he may hire trewe fynde ;
 And seyde hire, ‘ Certes if ye be unkynde,
 And but ye come, at day set, into Troye,
 Ne shal I nevere have hele, honor, ne joye.

CCIII.

‘ For also sothe as sonne uprist o morwe,
 And, God, so wysely thow me, woful wreche,
 To reste brynge out of this cruel sorwe,
 I wol my-selven sle, if that ye drecche :
 But of my deth though litel be to recche,
 Yet or that ye me causen so to smerte, 1420
 Dwelle rather here, myn owen swete herte.

CCIV.

‘ For trewely myn owene lady deere,
 The sleightes yit that I have herde yowe steere,
 Ful shapely ben to faylen alle ifeere ;
 For thus men seith, that oon thynketh the bere,
 But al another thynketh the ledere ;
 Your sire is wis, and seyde is out of drede,
 Men may the wise at-renne, and nought atrede.

CCV.

‘ It is ful hard to halten unespied
 Bifor a crepul, for he kan the craft ; 1430
 Youre fader is in sleighte as Argus eyed ;
 For al be it that his moeble is hym byraft,
 His olde sleighte is yit so with hym laft,
 Ye shal nat blynde hym for yowre womanhede,
 Ne feyne arighte ; and that is alle my drede.

CCVI.

‘ I not if pees shal everemo bitide ;
 But pees or no, for earnest ne for game,
 I woot syn Calkas on the Grekes syde

Hath oones ben, and lost so foule his name,
 He dar no mor com here ayein for shame ; .440
 For whiche that wey, for aught I kan espye,
 To trusten on, nys but a fantasye.

CCVII.

‘ Ye shal ek sen your fader shal yow glose
 To ben a wife, and as he kan wel preehe,
 He shal som Greke so preyse and wele alose,
 That ravysshyn he shal yow with his speche ;
 Or do yow don be foree as he shal teche ;
 And Troilus, on whom ye nyl han routhe,
 Shal causeles so sterven in his trouthe.

CCVIII.

‘ And over al this, youre fader shal despise .1450
 Us alle, and seyn this cité nys but lorne,
 And that thassege nevere shal arise,
 For-why the Grekes han it alle sworne,
 Tyl we be sleyne, and down our walles torn ;
 And thus he shal yow with his wordes feere ;
 That ay drede I that ye wol bleven there.

CCIX.

Ye shal ek seen so many a lusti knyght,
 Amange the Grekes, ful of worthynesse ;
 And eeh of hem, with herte, wit, and myght,
 To plesen yow don alle his bisynesse, .1460
 That ye shul dullen of the rudenesse
 Of us cely Trojans, but if routhe
 Remorde yow, or vertu of youre trouthe.

CCX.

‘ And this to me so grevous is to thynke,
 That fro my breeste it wol my soule sende ;
 Ne, dredeles, in me ther may not synke
 A goode opynyoun, if that ye wende,
 For-why youre faderes sleighte wol us shende ;
 And if ye gon as I have told you yore,
 So thynke I nam but deede, withoute more. 1470

CCXI.

‘ For which with humble, trewe, and pitouse herte
 A thousand tyme mercy I yow preye,
 So reweth on myn aspre peynes smerte,
 And doth somewhat, as that I shal yow seye :
 And lat us stele away bytwyxe us tweye,
 And thynke that foly is, when man may cheese .
 For accident his substaunce ay to lese.

CCXII.

‘ I mene thus, that syn we mow or day
 Wele stele away, and ben togidere so,
 What wit were it to putten in assay, 1480
 (In eas ye sholden to youre fader go)
 If that ye myghten eom ayein or no ?
 Thus mene I, that were a grete folye
 To putten that sykernesse in jupartye.

CCXIII.

‘ And vulgarly to speken of substaunce,
 Of tresour may we bothe with us lede,
 Inoughe to lyve in honour and plesaunce,

Til unto tyme that we shal be dede ;
 And thus we may esshuen al this drede ;
 For every other wey ye kan recorde, 1490
 Myn herte iwis may therwith nought acorde.

CCXIV.

‘ And hardily ne dredeth no poverté ;
 For I have kyn and frendes elles where,
 That, though we comen in oure bare sherte,
 Us sholde neyther lakken golde ne gere,
 But ben honoured whil we dwellen there ;
 And go we anon, for as in myn entente,
 This is the best, if that ye wol assente.’

CCXV.

Cryseyde with a syk, ryght in this wyse
 Answerde, ‘ Iwis, my deere herte trewe, 1500
 We may wel stele away, as ye devyse,
 And fynden swich unthrifty wayes newe ;
 But efterward ful sore it wol us rewe,
 And helpe me God so at my moste nede !
 As causeles ye suffren alle this drede.

CCXVI.

‘ For thylke day that I for cherisyng,
 Or drede of fader, or of any other wight,
 Or for estat, delit, or for weddyng,
 Be fals to yow, my Troilus, my knyghte,
 Saturnes doughter Juno, thorough hyre myghte,
 As wood as Achamante do me dwelle 1511
 Eternaliche in Stixe, the put of Helle !

CCXVII.

‘ And this on every god celestial
 I swere it yow, and ek on ech goddesse,
 On every nympe, and deyté infernal,
 On satury and fawny more and lesse,
 That halve goddes ben of wildernesse ;
 And Attropos my thred of lif to-breste,
 If I be fals, now trowe me if yow leste.

CCXVIII.

‘ And thow Symoys, that, as an arwe, clere 1520
 Thorough Troye rennest ay downwarde to the se,
 Ber witnesse of this word that seyde is here !
 That thilke day that Ieh untrewed be
 To Troilus, myn owen herte fre,
 That thow retourne backwarde to thy welle,
 And I with body and soule synk in Helle.

CCXIX.

‘ But that ye spek away thus for to go,
 And letten alle youre frendes,—God forbede,
 For any womman that ye sholde so !
 And namely, syn Troye hath now swiche nede 1530
 Of help ; and ek of o thyng taketh hede,—
 If this were wist, my lif lay in balaunce,
 And youre honour ; God shilde us fro mysehaunce !

CCXX.

‘ And if so be that pees hereafter be take,
 As al day happeth after anger game,
 Why lord ! the wo and sorwe ye wolden make,

That ye ne dorste come ayeyne for shame ;
 And er that ye jupartē so youre name,
 Beth nought to hastif in this hote fare,
 For hastif man ne wanteth nevere care.

1540

CCXXI.

‘ What trowe ye ek the peple alle aboute
 Wold of it seye ? it is ful right tarede,
 They wolden seye, and swere it oute of doute,
 That love ne drof yow nought to don this dede,
 But lust voluptuous, and cowarde drede ;
 Thus were al loste, iwis, myn herte deere,
 Youre honour, which that now shyneth so cleere.

CCXXII.

‘ And also thynketh on myn honesté,
 That floureth yet, how foul I shold it shende,
 And with what filthe it spotted sholde be, 1550
 If in this fourme I sholde with yow wende,
 And though I lyved unto the worldes ende,
 My name shold I never ayeynwarde wyne ;
 Thus were I lost, and that were routhe and synne.

CCXXIII.

‘ And forthi, sle with reson al this hete ;
 Men seyn, the suffraunt overcomth, pardé !
 Ek whoso wol han lief, he lyfe moot leete ;
 Thus maketh vertu of necessité
 By paciens ; and thynke that lorde is he
 Of fortune ay, that naught wol of hire reche, 1560
 And she ne daunteth no wight but a wreche.

CCXXIV.

‘ And trusteth this, that certes, herte swete,
 Er Phebus suster, Lucyna the shene,
 The Leon passe oute of this Ariete,
 I wol ben here, withouten any wene ;
 I mene, as help me Juno, Hevynesse quene !
 The tenthe day, but if that deth messaile,
 I wol you sene, withouten any fayle.’

CCXXV.

‘ And now, so this be soth,’ quod Troilus,
 ‘ I shal wel suffre unto the tenthe day, 1570
 Syn that I se that nede it mot be thus ;
 But for the love of God if it be may,
 So lat us stele pryvely away :
 For evere in oone, as for to lyve in reste,
 Myn herte seith that it wol be the beste.’

CCXXVI.

‘ O mercy God ! what lyfe is this ?’ quod she,
 ‘ Allas ! ye sle me thus for verray tene !
 I se wel now that ye mystrusten me,
 For by youre wordes it is wel iscene :
 Now for the love of Cynthia the sheene, 1580
 Mystruste me naught thus causeles for routhe,
 Syn to be trew I have yow plyght my trouth.

CCXXVII.

And thynketh wel, that somtyme it is wit
 To spende a tyme, a tyme for to wyne :
 Ne, pardé, lorne am I naught fro yow yit,

Though that we ben a day or tweye atwynne :
 Dryfe oute the fantasies yow fro withinne,
 And trusteth me, and leveth ek youre sorwe,
 Or here my trouthe, I wol nought lyve tyl morwe.

CCXXVIII.

For if ye wist how soore it doth me smerte, 1596
 Ye wolde ceese of this ; for God thow woste !
 The pure spirit wepeth in myn herte
 To se yow wepen which that I love moost,
 And that I moot gon to the Grekes ost ;
 Ye ! nere it that I wiste a remedye
 To com ayeyn, right here I wolde dye.

CCXXIX.

‘ But certes I am nought so nyce a wight,
 That I ne kan ymagynen a way
 To come ayeyn, that day that I have hight ;
 For who may holde a thyng that wol away ? 1600
 My fader naught, for al his queynte pleye ;
 And by my thрифte, my wendynge out of Troye,
 Another day, shal tourne us al to joye.

CCXXX.

‘ Forthi with al myn herte I yow beseke,
 If that yow liste don ought for my preyere,
 And for that love whiche that I love yow eke,
 That er that I departe fro yow here,
 That of so goodo a confort and a chere
 I may yow sen, that ye may brynge at reste 1609
 Myn herte, whiche that is at poynte to breste.

To quyte hym wel, that so wele kan deserve :
 And whil that God my wit wol me conserve
 I shal so don ; so trewe I have yow founde,
 That ay honour to mewarde shal rebounde.

CCXXXV.

‘ For trusteth wel that youre estat real,
 Ne veyn delite, nor oonely worthinesse 1640
 Of yow in werre or tournay marcial,
 Ne pomp, array, noblely, or ek richesse,
 Ne made me to rew on youre distresse,
 But moral vertu, grounded upon trowthe,
 That was the cause I firste hadde on yow routhe.

CCXXXVI.

‘ Eke gentil herte, and manhode that ye hadde,
 And that ye hadde (as me thought) in despite
 Every thyng that souned in-to badde,
 As rudenesse, and poeplissh appetite,
 And that youre reson brideded youre delite, 1650
 This made, aboven every creature,
 That I was youre, and shal whil I may dure.

CCXXXVII.

‘ And this may length of yeres nought fordo,
 Ne remuable fortune deface ;
 But Juppiter, that of his myght may do
 The sorwful to be glad, so yeve us grace,
 Er nyghtes ten to meten in this place,
 So that it may youre herte and myn suffise !
 And fareth now wel, for tyme is that ye rise.’

CCXXXVIII.

And after that they longe ypleyned hadde, 1660
 And ofte kyste, and streyte in armes folde,
 The day gan ryse, and Troilus hym eladde,
 And rewoffulliehe his lady gan byholde,
 As he that felte dethes cares colde,
 And to hire grace he gan hym recomaunde,
 Wher he was wo, this holde I no demaunde ;

CCXXXIX.

For mannes hed ymagynen ne kan,
 Ne entendement considere, ne tonge telle,
 The eruel peynes of this sorwful man,
 That passen every tourment down in helle ; 1670
 For when he saugh that she ne myghte dwelle,
 Which that his soule out of his herte rente,
 Withouten more, out of the chaumber he wente.
