Foreword

Gentle reader, ever kind,
We would ask you hear in mind
As you read these pages through
Not to scan with critic's view.
Think of efforts freely given,
Of the zeal with which we've striven:
Lend a generous, friendly ear
To the tales unfolded here.
We've not told of deeds of glory,
Ours is but a simple story
That's been written for your pleasure.
Reader, take it at your leisure.

CLASS COLOR: PINK

BEULAH C. HATCH

"Inexhaustible good-nature is the most precious gift of Heaven; it spreads itself like oil over the troubled sea of thought, and keeps the mind smooth and equable in the roughest weather."

FRANK E. FARLEY

"Self-culture in its broadest sense carries with it many blessings; it tempers the body, elevates the mind, and lifts the soul into realms of refined thought, it creates a world of happiness of which the ignorant have no conception."

REGINALD R. GOODELL

"The crown and glory of life is character; it is the noblest possession of a man, constituting a rank in itself and an estate in the general good-will, dignifying every station, and exalting every position in Society."

BARBARA M. ABBOTT

"Barb" "Babbitts"

Barbara is a cheerful, business-like little person, equally qualified to become a teacher or a secretary, for she can think of most complicated exam questions and is so attached to her typewriter that she comes over immediately after breakfast every day to see that it is still in its place. Surely such thoughtfulness will not go unrewarded.

Barbara M. Abbott

MARION PEARL AYER

"She takes things as they come and go,
And of complaint is chary."

If you don't think Marion is fleet of finger, as well as of foot, look at her typewriting medal. And her accomplishments do not end here, as her marks testify. As auditor of Treasurer's accounts she has much trouble in getting us straightened out, especially such of us as are Household Ecs. Marion is one good all-round girl whom we have all liked to be with during our four years.

Marion Pearl Ayer

HANNAH BALDWIN

"Hannie B"

"Oh, it's nice to get up in the morning,
But it's nicer to lie in your bed."

Poor Hannie is aroused from that sweet dream of peace each morning by the loud crow of a rooster. Our Hannah has very decided likes. Expressed geometrically they are summed up as follows:

Given: No tea, no sauce tartare, no French fries, no theatres.

Problem: To make Hannah happy.

Schenevus High School, Emma Willard School.
Schenevus, N. Y.
Household Economics.
Mandolin Club (1).

IONE BALDWIN

"Here's to the girl with the eyes of gray
Whose sunny smile drives care away."

Ione, wherefore your fondness for strolls to the Arboretum? Are they prompted by love of Nature and Man?

Ione's wit is keen and entertaining at all times, but its flow is best when she is playing solitaire on the eve of a mid-year exam.

University of California.
135 Locust Street, Santa Cruz, Cal.
Household Economics.

EDITH ALICE BARTON

"Ede"

Edith is one of those enviable creatures who possess a beautiful disposition. She never grumbles or complains when things go wrong, but is as serene and sunshiny as if she had not a care in the world. Sometimes we wish she would assert herself a little more boldly, but ne'er is the peaceful current of Edith's course through Simmons ruffled.

New Milford High School.
New Milford, Conn.
Household Economics.

MARIAN BATHGATE

Marian is without doubt the most enthusiastic girl in the class. This admirable quality coupled with her extreme politeness will surely carry her successfully through life over all obstacles. Her originality and loyal class spirit have ever been in evidence, and 1917 has had a valuable member in Marian. Here's to the finest luck in the world!

ADA BAUER

"Gus" "Polly"

Ada comes to college once in a while to see how the classes are progressing. Then when she is satisfied that her presence is not absolutely essential to the progress of college, she vacates, so to speak, and takes a rest. She left us for a year to sojourn at the University of Maine, but she just had to come back for the happiness of all parties concerned, for her gay humor makes her a favorite with all.

CONSTANCE BEAL

"Connie"

"Blest with a taste exact, yet unconfined,
A knowledge both of books and humankind."

We have realized your knowledge of books, Constance, ever since the beginning of Freshman year. Now that your skillful management of the lunch room has shown itself, we find that you have an equal knowledge of humankind, and how to manage them in large quantities.

Hyde Park High School.

Chairman of the Lunchroom Committee (4).

ESTHER BECKFORD

"Becky"

Have you ever seen a person who could take tiresome everyday trips in hot trains and crowded street cars and still have an ever-ready smile for all?

Have you ever seen a person who could go from day to day, from class to class, calmly, quietly, saying little, doing much, helping her classmates, loving her classmates? No? Then you've never seen our Esther. She fills the bill.

Y.W.C.A. Missionary Committee (4).

NATALIE BETTS

Some people's special work in life seems to be in keeping happy, and we all admit their value in this sober old world. Perhaps this is why we all like to have Natalie drop in to see us.

Scranton Central High School,
1419 Gibson Street, Scranton, Pa.
Household Economics.

Endowment Fund Committee (1), Glee Club, Choir
(1, 4), Honor Committee (2), Secretary-Treasurer
Pennsylvania Club (3).

DOROTHY MAY BLACK

"Dot"

Dorothy is an odd mixture of the old and the new. She is an ardent suffragette, yet she is domestic and makes the most delicious fudge ever; she can converse intelligently on all kinds of up-to-date topics, yet she loves to read Jane Austen. A mind with such a broad scope, having its subject matter so well classified, and probably arranged according to subject headings, will surely lead Dorothy into the high places of the library world.

Stamford High School,
16 Clark's Hill Avenue, Stamford, Conn.

House Chairman (2), Executive Board (3).

MILDRED BLISS

To Mildred we say greetings and farewell in one breath. She came to us in this our last year, and in her we have one more friend. What can express our feelings more exactly than the proverb, time-worn but with a wealth of meaning, "Better late than never." 'Tis very apropos.

Classical High School, Providence, R. I.

MARGUERITE BOND

"Peg"

A very pleasant person, whose jollity is often evidenced by tiny lurking dimples! Our Peg is a dignified young lady who is highly respected, deeply trusted, and generally beloved.

Adams High School.
9 Crandall Street, Adams, Mass.
Household Economics.
Choir (1), Accompanist for Glee Club (2), Executive Board (3), Class Treasurer (4), Chairman Second Hand Book Committee (4), Peterborough House Chairman (4).

MARION CLARISSA BOORN

"Mary Anne"

Marion has shown of late a most passionate liking for the poetry of English 7. But pray do not think her a grind! On the contrary, "Mary Anne" loves fun and a good time, and seldom lets study interfere with any pleasures.

Brattleboro High School.
24 Brook Street, Brattleboro, Vt.
Household Economics.

MARION BOWMAN

"Her words are simple and her soul sincere."

A tall slender girl is our Marion, who is a constant source of surprises to her friends even after four years. She admits that she plays tennis—a little. But just you go play with her and let her serve you a "swift one." Then you'll have to hurry and be the swift one. She admits that she plays the mandolin—a little. But just try to find a tune she can't play ever so sweetly to you!

Sharon High School.
Sharon, Mass.
Library.
Basketball (1, 2), Track (2), Mandolin Club (3, 4).

HELEN ROSSON BOYCE

It is still a mystery how the "Boys" enrolled at Simmons for we always thought this was a strictly female college. At any rate we are glad the "Boys" did come, for they made friends with George at once, and have chummed together for four years.

Northfield Seminary,
Stoneham, Mass.
Household Economics.

Helen R. Boyce

FRANCES MARY BRADLEY

"Fran" "Frannie"

Fran is an authority on all affairs of the heart. In fact, at present she is writing a book which she expects to publish at Senior Luncheon, entitled, "A Man's Heart, and How to Capture it." We recommend it as a book that should be included in every girl's education.

Branford High School,
75 Church Street, Branford, Conn.
Household Economics.
President Connecticut Club (4).

BEATRICE O. BROWN

"B"

We have great hopes of "B." She is the budding designer—costume designer—of our class. Her ambition, so we are told, is to design the costumes for the Ziegfeld Follies. May we be there to see the results, Bea, when you realize this ambition! We know it will be worth it.

Holten High School,

Household Economics.
Usher Senior Prom (3), Varsity Hockey (4), Social and Civics Executive Board (4), Usher Junior Prom (2).

LELA BROWN

"Such joy ambition finds."

Lela's ambition is to be a Social Worker and she'll be a good one if she is as good at that as she was in everything she took with us at the college building. The good wishes of 1917 go with her in her philanthropic work.

Rochester High School,
21 Cordis Street, Charlestown, Mass.
Social Service.

MARION BURNES

"Something attempted, something done,
Has earned a night's repose."

We should not deem you the most talkative member of our class, were we to hold a contest for such an enviable position, Marion, for we know that you are too busy plucking fruit from the tree of knowledge to indulge in words, mere idle words.

Hyde Park High School,
Hyde Park, Mass.
Household Economics.

MARIE CHAPLIN

"Hail to thee, blithe spirit."

May your laughter be as contagious as it has been since 1917 has known you, Marie, and may your life be as happy as your laughter!

Ms. Edward Gillespie

Blanche Childs.

BLANCHE ELINOR CHILDS

"Cerrie"

Here's to the girl who is sweet and petite,
 Here's to the girl who is true;
 Here's to the girl who is always a sport,
 In other words, here's to you!

Waltham High School.
 68 Dale Street, Waltham, Mass.
 Secretarial.

HELEN IRENE CLANCEY

"H-tick"

If ever you desire a good clever comedian, with a large repertoire, adaptable to any scene, although showing a slight preference for spiritualistic settings, "Hic" is to be highly recommended.

Her education has been singularly broad for she is an excellent performer on the kazoo and shows a rare appreciation of art, especially of Mic photographs.

Milford High School.
 145 West Street, Milford, Mass.
 Secretarial.

HELEN M. CLARK

"Hel"

Our definition of "Hel" is "a sweet, dignified member of 1917." How inapplicable nicknames can be! She's some librarian, too—so if you are looking for someone to catalogue your library, don't forget "Hel." It's very convenient to have her around as we can give vent to our feelings without alarming our neighbors.

Hebron Academy.
 Madison, Maine.
 Library.

ELSE A. CLAUSSEN

"Eis"

Our advice to the world in general is, that if you want anything done that requires system, get Else to do it. She can make a consecutive plan and have it carried out to the last detail, and in the meantime you can run away and play. She is a very dignified person, and yet, responds to the name of "Old Lady." Perhaps it's her humorous sense that responds. However, lead on more Minnesotans like her.

Central High School.
525 Laurel Avenue, St. Paul, Minn.
Household Economics.
Chairman Junior-Senior picnic (3), House Chairman (4), Chairman Class Day Committee (4).

RUTH B. CORWIN

"Rufus"

$\frac{\text{Genius} + \text{a sympathetic nature}}{\text{"Oh dear"} + \text{a giggle}} \times \frac{\text{Simmons}}{\text{New York}} = \text{Ruth.}$

She wanders lowly here and there
To help us in our work;
Inspiring us with all her might,
Doing what others shirk.

She always is our friend in need;
She does what we have planned;
And touched by all our pleas for aid,
She lends a helping hand.

ALMA COTTRELL

"Pans" "Pansy" "Almee"

NATHALIE COX

"Nath" "Nat"

Nathalie's doctrine is, "We are all born for love and it is the only principle of existence and its only end." She carried out her belief very consistently by announcing her engagement last summer. We all send Nat out into the world with the heartiest good wishes.

Wakefield High School.

MARION TENNY CRAIG

"M. T." "Empty"

M.T.'s initials are the exact antithesis of M.T. herself for her auburn tresses cover a decided amount of gray matter, otherwise how could she have filled those responsible positions? Seventeen has not had a truer friend, a more loyal member, or a harder worker than Marion—not to mention her fame as an untiring story-teller. Simmons will indeed be M.T. without her.

PHEBE CURRIER

"Phebe"

"A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance."

Ready for work and ready for play,
Always happy, good-natured, and gay.
"Who is this maiden?" I hear you say,
"Couldn't you guess?—Why, Phoebe."

Colebrook Academy.
Colebrook, N. H.
Household Economics.

CAROLYN ROSAMOND DAVIS

"Carol"

"Our deeds determine us, as much as we determine our deeds."

She has a happy faculty of being ready to give sustenance to living beings. When you are hungry Carol can always supply something in the line of "eats." We wonder if this practice on humans is what enables her to get along so well with biological specimens. We look to Carol for some startling discovery in the biological world for she is happiest when delving into the mysteries of Room 218.

RUTH ALMIRA DAVIS

"But the kind hosts their entertainment grace
With hearty welcome and an open face;
In all they did you might discern with ease
A willing mind and a desire to please."

If you have ever seen Ruth's model note book, compact and neat, if you have ever gone up to her room, tired, discouraged and hungry, and been wonderfully refreshed by reassuring words quietly spoken, and a cup of tea, you don't wonder that the Brookline Public Library can't part with her.

Northfield Seminary.

HELEN M. DECELLE

"Billy"

Helen is one of our most competent members. She carries herself with such a dignity that only her intimate acquaintances know of her merry giggle and all her love of frivolity which said giggle implies.

NELLIE GERTRUDE DUNMORE

Gertrude is the lady's name,
 Well-known ever.
 Great and far-reaching her fame.
 Wherefore?—Discover!

Gertrude is a suffragette! Rumor has it that she wore out five pairs of shoes last year in the suffrage campaign. She delights in holding "Votes for Women" banners on the street corners. A great career is prophesied for her, and whether it be making stump speeches for the presidential candidate, or teaching the young idea how to cook, we know that she will enjoy herself. She always does.

MILDRED MORTON

"Mil" "Millie"

"She doesn't lose her head, even for a minute;
 She plays well the game and knows the limit,
 And still gets all the fun there's in it."

This describes Mil perfectly. She's the dependable kind of girl who doesn't say half as much as she does—hence her admirable capability in all she undertakes. Other equally important features are her neatness and her curly hair.

HARRIET MOWER

"Hat"

Although Harriet didn't join us till our Junior year, we're more than glad she chose '17, for a more loyal, sincere friend is not found among our ranks. Harriet drinks deep of the Pierian spring and shows marvelous conscientiousness in everything she attempts.

CATHERINE FERGUSON MUNT

"Kitty" "Kay"

"Tell me, pretty maiden, are there
Any more at home like you?"

How will the Secretarial Department ever keep house without Kitty? Is there anything she can't do, and find plenty of time to do it in? And the funny part of it she thinks there's fun in it!!! From eight to five she works all day. Then humming she puts her work away, and trips home to "Pete."

LOUISE WILTON MURPHY

"Easa"

"Otherwise known as the rejuvenating influence."

Louise has the delightful characteristic of excusing all the faults of her friends except "peevisness." She practices what she preaches, too, for she is always cheerful herself. She has the sort of humor which has stood four years of constant usage here and yet has never grown tiresome. We regret that more of her classmates haven't had the pleasure of, at least, her acquaintance. But Louise is too absorbed by the burdens of a "bud" to devote any extra time to college.

LUCY H. NASH

"Lu"

And now we come to the Eurydice of 1917! She leads in all our musical activities and is responsible for the success of our Glee Club concerts. And what persistence Lu has! Ask her how many times she has tried out for soloist—she won't mind, she can take a joke.

LOUISE O'MALLEY

Oh here comes Louise in a hurry and rush,
 She's so very ambitious, she makes us all blush.
 With her settlement class of nine sturdy boys
 Her life is bereft of all peace and joys.
 With biology, sewing, and histories galore
 She is not contented, but cries out for more.
 If we miss any meetings she sternly upbraids,
 And she's always right there for the suffrage parades.

MARGARET ORMOND

"Peg"

"Of their own merits modest men are dumb."

One has to know Margaret real well to gain the privilege of her confidences. And then what interesting tales she tells of other climes, and how graphically she portrays them! Peg is one of the most broad-minded girls of 1917.

ERNESTINE PACKARD

"Some sweet employ for leisure minutes choose,
And let your very pleasures have their use."

Behold another Library senior pursuing knowledge ruthlessly, and delving into the dusty volumes of antiquity! Such is Ernestine. But—added to this praiseworthy interest in school work is a positive weakness for movies and talking. How Ernestine does love to talk! My, how that girl's dulcet tones float over the transom!

MARY FRANCES PARKER

Few people are as skillful as Mary not only in physical but in mental gymnastics. Mary broke the broad jump record at track our Freshman year, and she has been busy breaking records ever since. It's just as easy for her to jump thirteen feet, four and one-half inches, as it is to feed the French war orphans and inoculate all her friends against typhoid.

ARABELLE PARNELL

"Belle"

If Belle doesn't get a position in which she can assume entire responsibility and preside over the stove we fear all happiness will flee. You know she's a very capable sort, who doesn't lend a gracious ear to excessive frivolity and yet has managed to have a lot of fun out of her four years in college.

ABBY ELIZABETH PARTRIDGE

"Patt" "Patty"

But never mind, Mary, remember that "filled time is shorter in living through it, and longer in memory." Think of the good time we are going to have looking back on our Senior year, Mary, and rejoice.

MARGARET PEIRCE

"How irksome is this music to my heart;
When such strings jar, what hope of Harmony?"

MARY V. POLLARD

"Polly"

"We judge ourselves by what we feel capable of doing, but others judge us by what we have already done."

Until Mary was elected Junior president, we hadn't fully realized her manifold capabilities. Then we all decided that anyone who could safely lead the class through the pitfalls of Junior Prom was the only one to guide Dormitory government in the way it should go. It's superfluous to say that we all love and admire her, so we'll just wish her the very best success possible.

Quiet, too, and very demure,
Unselfish, staunch, and straight.

Polly always has a smile. Even if she has twelve hundred pages of the "History of Modern Egypt" to read, she smiles. Even after she has read those twelve hundred pages and then learns there is an abridged copy, she smiles. We have guessed that the following must be Polly's motto:

"Smile a while and while you smile another smiles and soon there are smiles and miles of smiles and life's worth while because you smile."

ETTA SARA SADOW

"Ettie" "Jess"

She sews;
And still the wonder grows
That Sewing 3 has taught her all she knows.

Etta vowed that when she finished sewing she would never do any more, but she went to settlement and gave instructions about making boys' coats. Such is the frailty of woman! But this shows Etta's unselfish disposition. She is never too busy to help friends in need. Etta has some very decided opinions on class etiquette, and engages in heated debates at any time upon request.

"To know her is to love her."

Gretta is one of the best evers. She is a sure cure for the blues—always jolly and always giving others a good time, whether it be in Psych lecture or at Durgin Parks (very plebeian taste, Gretta!) Margaretta comes from Harrisburg. Yes, we all know it. And, of course, Harrisburg is a mighty fine place to come from. It's on the Susquehanna River, and there are canoes on the river, aren't there, Gretta? And the moon rises over the river. Have you ever seen it, Gretta?

The Student Government Association

This year completes the second year of the Student Government Association as reorganized in 1915 to include every girl in college. The association aims to organize and unite the interests of all the eleven hundred students in college, and to further all matters of college life that are in the hands of the students.

The association has this year established a Voucher Board to supervise the academic standing as well as the number of points accredited to all girls holding office; it has also incorporated a Press Board to organize and control all material reported to the Boston newspapers. A new Treasurer's system has been established centralizing the financial affairs of all the student organizations under the supervision of the Student Government Treasurer.

The association has done Red Cross surgical dressings work at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, and in addition to this, the State Clubs have done knitting and sewing. During the Red Cross movement throughout the country a campaign was conducted at Simmons for membership in the National Red Cross Association. It was most successful, according to the report of the Boston Branch of the National Society. The students in charge of the campaign were afterward organized into a Public Health Committee and have done very good work in that field. A Forum meeting was held early in March in which the Faculty and the students came together and were given an opportunity for free discussion on topics of interest in the college world.

The association at every turn has worked as well as hoped for a Students' Building, for which every student in college finds such an enormous need.

One of the most important problems which the Dormitory Government Association has had to meet is the coördination of the main dormitories and the affiliated houses. This year quite an advance has been made with the inauguration of the Senior house chairmen. A Senior was placed in charge of a Freshman house, representing that house on the Dormitory Council at its meetings which have been made as regular as possible for this year. During the first days of college the Seniors actually lived at the houses with the new girls, and since that time they have made regular visits to keep in touch with their needs.

A new system of slips for light-cuts has been tried out this year; every girl who wants to keep her light on after 10.30 procures the slip in advance from the floor proctor, and so a complete register of all lights is made possible. In order to assist the proctors in their work and to make the proctor rules as unified as possible, every six weeks a conference has been held and the new proctors have had a chance to ask questions and to discuss the general problems. The thing which the association has been striving to reach is the individual realization for each girl of the measure in which her conduct affects every other girl. That is the only sure basis for the development of the best student government in the dormitories.

With what maternal love do we guide and guard the growth of a beautiful plant! It is with just such love and interest that we watch the gradual and graceful development of our Dramatic Association here at Simmons. With what pleasure do we see the sturdy sprouts strengthen and grow, and the ever increasing buds show themselves! So we feel of the present talent we have and of the constantly appearing new artists. What beauty there is in this healthy and gradual growth! Beauty in the sense of lasting value! How many of us appreciate the value we derive from facing an audience in governing self-consciousness and in controlling our self expression.

We do not expect much from an infant. How pleased we are, then, when our youthful club celebrates its first anniversary with an ever increasing interest and membership, and with bright hopes for the realization of great things in the future.

Persimmons is intended as a means by which any literary ability in the student body may find its way to the light, and also as a record of the various activities of the undergraduates and the Alumnae during the year. There have been a few changes from last year in the conduct of the magazine. In the fall the board of editors decided to depart from the custom of issuing monthly numbers which had been followed during the two previous years of Persimmons' existence, and to concentrate their efforts on five numbers for the entire year. An attempt has been made to vary the type of material by printing some of the best of the theses written for the department of History. The editors have also tried to make the Alumnae Department a more significant feature of the magazine than in previous years.

Our exchange list now includes Mt. Holyoke, Wellesley, Vassar, Radcliffe, Barnard, and some of the western colleges.

What Persimmons, like any college publication, most needs and hopes to deserve is the interest of the whole college. The editors are trying to make the magazine represent what is most worth while in the life of the college, and they ask the help of every student in carrying out their aim.

The fifth year of the Young Women's Christian Association is proving to be most successful. Our activities this year have expanded in several directions. The most important feature of the Y.W.C.A. is the regular Tuesday afternoon meeting held in Students' Room. Here we forget for a few moments the speed which we have just acquired in typewriting, or the luncheon we have with much trepidation served to a few favored members of the faculty, and think of the meaning of life as a whole, what place we are going to take in it, and how we can consecrate our lives so that people may say of us, "For their sakes she sanctified herself."

In the Fall a most enjoyable and profitable day was spent at Milton at a conference of all the student Y.W.C.A. bodies in Greater Boston. The Cabinet went directly from the conference to Scituate for a house-party, the memories of which will endure until superseded by those of the house-party given the old and new Cabinet members in the Spring. Our Christmas meeting took the form of a presentation of "The Nativity Play" and was enjoyed by a large audience.

Bible classes have been held the first term and Mission Study classes the second. A great deal of missionary interest has sprung up this past year which has resulted in the formation of the first Student Volunteer Band of Simmons. A rally is to be held and we are hoping to raise money enough to support Miss Mary Baker, who will be the Simmons representative in China.

A new idea has been carried out this year most successfully. We issued in a very attractive and convenient form Freshman booklets containing information about the various extra-curriculum activities of the college. Our aim to increase the Christ-spirit among the student body is foremost, and, while we have many activities, they are all subjugated to that one purpose.

These clubs were organized originally for distinctly social purposes, and with a view of bringing together into closer relationship the members of different States. Through the informal social affairs which are held, teas, picnics, and other jollifications, the girls from distant places are united. Especially valuable to the Freshmen are these gatherings where they become acquainted with upper classmen with whom they have something in common; thus they get the "homey" feeling which is very apt to be lacking during the early part of one's college days. The members of the clubs combine pleasure and duty very happily, for as they sit and chat merrily, they ply needles industriously for the Red Cross organization. All in all, the organizations form a very important element in our college life.

The Social and Civic Club is endeavoring this year to carry out its initial purpose of presenting to the students social and political questions of importance, especially questions concerning this country. Even if all of us cannot take an active part in the work of the community, we have an interest in this work and must be informed in preparation for the time when we can and ought to take active part.

At the first meeting in the Fall, just before the presidential election, Dr. Varrell of the History Department outlined the political situation and told how the candidates stood on various measures of public interest.

This talk was followed by a political rally of the students in which the party followers and candidates formed a procession and marched around the athletic field. Mary Pollard represented Hughes; Cordella Potter, Wilson; Adele Shohan, Benson; and Sally Page, Roosevelt. The candidates and their intimate friends rode in the cars of several of the faculty who were interested, and each candidate made a speech declaring his policy. Party bands led the procession, and large crowds of onlookers cheered and added to the excitement.

At our next meeting Dr. Frankwood E. Williams, Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Society for Mental Hygiene, gave a very interesting talk on the treatment of the feeble-minded. Later in the term Mr. Laidler, the editor of the Intercollegiate Socialist, spoke to us convincingly on the coöperative system in industry and distribution as a remedy for the high cost of living, and illustrated with cases where the system has been successfully used.

The main drawback of the meetings has been lack of time for questions and discussion after the speeches. It is forums of that sort that prove of most value, and such a provision for discussion is something to be looked forward to and worked for in the future.

Four years ago the college graduates then at Simmons gave a play, the proceeds of which were set aside as the beginning of a Student Endowment Fund. This sum has been increased at various times by contributions from the students. The Endowment Fund Committee, consisting of three members from each of the four classes, receives all contributions, plans new ways of increasing the fund, and takes the initiative in carrying out these plans, being aided by the loyal support of the student body. This year money has been received through the payment of summer pledges, the sale of Christmas cards and Japanese prints, the sale of second-hand books, and a Christmas Fair. Gifts were very generously bestowed by the members of the faculty, of the college council, and of Alumnae associations throughout the country. From a financial point of view the Fair was a tremendous success.

Menorah Society

The Menorah Society

This year a branch of the Menorah Society has been organized in Simmons College. The first Menorah Society was started at Harvard College sixteen years ago by a number of students who felt the necessity and desire for such a society. It proved very helpful to all connected with it, and soon, in colleges all over the country, similar societies sprang up. This year, to the great satisfaction of many, a Menorah Society has been organized at Simmons.

The aim and purpose of this Society is the study of Jewish history and ideals. Its object is to help all interested to understand clearly and to discuss intelligently the Jew's great problem—his position and standing in his modern environment.

The Society is absolutely academic. It is not a religious association. It is fundamentally non-sectarian. By means of lectures by well-known speakers, study circles, and individual reading, it tends to broaden and educate one in a new field of thought. Everyone is invited and urged to join whether she has Jewish affiliations or not. The Menorah meets the second Tuesday of every month at four-twenty. There are speakers at every meeting. The membership is now twenty-four but will, we expect, increase rapidly. Are you interested?

Silver Bay Club

Each year there is held at Silver Bay on Lake George the Eastern Student Conference of the Y.W.C.A. The conference comes in June and lasts for ten days. Delegates come from the various eastern girls' colleges, the number allowed each college being in proportion to the number of students in that college. There are between six hundred and seven hundred girls at the conference each June, and this fact alone will give some idea of the wonderful time to be had there amid the beautiful scenery. The natural question as to how the six hundred girls occupy their time brings the answer that these ten days are fundamentally different from the rest of the year. During the mornings you attend classes although attendance is not required. The leaders of these classes are men foremost in religious thought in the country. In the afternoons there are all kinds of sports, water and land; and in the evening comes the college singing, vespers and delegation meeting. In brief, life at Silver Bay is a joyous and sane combination of work, play and thought. You learn through mixing with girls of other colleges how high is the ranking of your own college, you learn how others have solved their problems of student government, and you gain in a hundred ways in college clear-sightedness.

Last year Simmons had twenty-five delegates to Silver Bay. Many of these were sent by the classes and various student organizations. So deep was the impression which the conference made upon the delegates that they considered how best they could take back to college the ideals and inspirations they had received. Of all the plans proposed the one of forming a Silver Bay Club seemed the most practical. This club was to help keep up the close friendship formed during the conference, and to arouse interest in Silver Bay among the students, and to send a delegate to the next conference. In what measure the club has accomplished its first purpose the members themselves know; the second will be shown perhaps in the next delegation. The third purpose is well on the way to success now. To each girl in Simmons the experience of Silver Bay means the deepening and enriching of her whole college life.

The Musical Association is composed of the Choir, the Glee Club, the Mandolin Club, the Orchestra, and, last but not least, the Ukalele Club.

The Choir consists of eighty members and these girls rehearse every Wednesday afternoon after Chapel, so that they may help with special music for the regular Chapel service. They also sing at Christmas vespers and at Commencement.

Under its new and enthusiastic leader, Louise Beckwith, the Glee Club has progressed wonderfully. There are now fifty members who rehearse on Wednesday afternoons, and on Friday mornings. In March the Glee Club gave a banquet to Miss Daniels, their director, to try to show her a little of their appreciation for her great help.

The number of applicants to the mandolin club was so large this year as to be almost unmanageable; so Miss Katherine Kimball has started an orchestra. There are thirteen pieces playing in it, and they have done so well that they will play at all the concerts. A Ukalele Club has also been started under the auspices of the Mandolin Club. All the new enterprises show how thriving and enthusiastic our Mandolin Club is.

The Musical Association gives two concerts in February, and one in June as part of the Commencement exercises. These concerts are always splendidly supported by the college. This year the Association is hoping to start a fund for a Students' Building with the proceeds from these concerts.

From September until the 12th of December, hockey was the game that engrossed our whole attention. Every one who knew how to play participated, and those who had never played before came out and learned.

Tennis singles which are usually played off in October were postponed until Spring, as quarantine had interfered badly with athletics as well as everything else.

This year more than ever the association has tried to make each girl in college feel her responsibility, either in coming out for games herself, or as a loyal supporter of the others.

GEORGE WASHINGTON PARTY

On February 18th our annual George Washington Party was given by the Student Government Association in the Refectory. Coquettish Marthas and gallant Georges danced the somewhat incongruous fox trot. We were all entertained by a presentation of the life of George Washington in "movies." Truly some professionals might have profited by witnessing this performance. A minuet was charmingly danced by Opal Fisher and Katherine Shelley.

SOPHOMORE LUNCHEON

The annual Sophomore Luncheon was given by the Class of 1918 on April the 15th, and a gayer crowd ne'er assembled in our Refectory. Bright, sparkling toasts, enthusiastic songs, and a very successful entertainment were among the leading attractions. Second only to Keith's Circuit were some of the vaudeville performances given by members of the class. Dorothy Blood acted as toastmistress, and the four different schools were represented by Anna Silver, General Science; Gladys Bishop, Household Economics; Helen Babcock, Library; and Katherine McMannon, Secretarial. Jean McCulloch was chairman of the committee in charge.

SENIOR HOUSE PARTY

HOUSE PARTY—Straitsmouth Inn, Rockport, Mass., April 15-16, 1916.
CHAPERONE—Miss Diall.

JUNIOR HOUSE PARTY

HOUSE PARTY—Rockaway Inn, East Gloucester, April 15-16, 1916.
CHAPERONES—Miss Brown, Mrs. Morton.

SERENADE

Softly came we singing o'er the campus,
The Junior Class to serenade,
We woke you gently from your dreaming
Of your Prom and all the happy plans you've made.

Farewell to you, farewell to you,
The finest class of Juniors ever,
May the dreams come true
We wish for you,
And now we must depart.

Seniors, we sing to thee,
Sing we right heartily,
We love thee tenderly,
Seniors, our Seniors.
Here's to your faces sweet!
Here's to each day we meet,
Here's to the Seniors,
Sixteen, dear Sixteen.

ROBIN

JUNIOR PROMENADE

1917 has always been original, and she lived up to her reputation by having a snowstorm on April twenty-eighth, the day of Prom. However, the rose-trimmed Refectory made the thought of the snow outside seem like a mere fantasy, and the sounds of gaiety that floated outward told their own story.

In the receiving line were Mary Pollard, president of the class, Dr. Sedgwick, Miss Williams, Dr. and Mrs. Farley, Mr. Goodell, Miss Hatch, Miss Gloster and Miss Adams.

The members of the Class of 1918 who served as ushers were: Verta Mills, Norma Dill, Millicent Bliss, Sarah Page, Alice Klein, Anna Silver, Laura Foster, Beatrice Church, Helen McCulloch, Cora Davidson, Harriet Leonard, Priscilla Bancroft, Eleanor Strong, Ruth Lawrence, Helen Babcock, Katherine Shelley, Marian Scott, Dorothy Blood, Eleanor Perry, Sylvia Wallace, Mary Tandy, Elinor Reilly.

The next morning was as beautiful as the preceding one had been stormy, and many of the Juniors went to the neighboring shore resorts. In the afternoon 1916 gave a Thé Dansant for the Juniors and their guests.

Saturday evening, North and South Halls were open for dancing, and refreshments were served in the small houses during the evening. There were also several theatre parties on Saturday evening.

MAY DAY

We owe the "Weather Man" a vote of thanks for having provided a warm, sunny morning for our May Day revels. The fresh, green lawn of the campus, decorated with brilliant crocuses and daffodils, furnished a fitting background for the crowning of the "Fairest Queen of the May." This queen, Katherine Leonard, president of 1916, attended by her ten small ladies-in-waiting, was entertained by a dainty May-pole dance. The newly-crowned Queen sent greetings to her loyal subjects in the form of red roses and strawberry short-cake.

ELECTION DAY

This year on May 19th, for the second time in its history, Simmons celebrated election day. The results of all elections were kept secret until five o'clock, when all the students assembled around the Refectory steps, in class groups. The Seniors in their caps and gowns sat on the steps and behind them on the colonnade were masses of flowers which the different organizations gave to their newly-elected officers. When the officers were announced the girls cheered and sang with great enthusiasm, as each officer mounted the steps to receive her flowers and congratulations.

We had supper on the lawn followed by one of the best step singings of the year.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PICNIC

May 27, 1916

Preparedness being the fashion, Simmons was not to be outdone, when three hundred Seniors and Juniors started out for Nantasket expecting the best time of the whole year.

A track meet was the first event on the programme. Dartmouth, Harvard, Yale, and Amherst held a hotly contested meet which was finally won by Dartmouth. The track meet closed with a big preparedness parade, led by Miss Goodrich in her famous goose step.

Then came the welcome order to form in circles on the sand and, Oh, those eats! They made us feel like Eugenc Field's little boy, "who wished that his stomach was as hungry as his eyes."

"Paragon" next offered its attractions, and, until boat time, the sand bumps, roller coaster, and other attractions were kept in full swing. Else Claussen arranged the picnic delightfully.

FRESHMAN FROLIC

"Freshman Frolic
Comes tomorrow.
Find a kid's dress
You can borrow."

They were all there—big ones, little ones, fat ones, thin ones, some with curls and some without. It was the last chance to play, and how they did frolic! There were races—three-legged and potato, too, and dancing to hurdy-gurdy music. Since it was a real party for children, there were ice cream cones, peanuts, lollipops, and all good things to make them happy. On this day 1919 said good-bye to baby days.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT RECEPTION

The annual reception given by the Student Government Association to all entering students was held on Saturday afternoon, September 23. Those in the receiving line were: Marion Doten, President of the Association, President Lefavour, Dean Arnold, Miss Gloster, Miss Adams, Mrs. Prime, Eleanore Keith, Frances Dittmer, Christine Ricker, and Mary Pollard.

Members of the Junior Welcoming Committee acted as ushers and aided in getting people acquainted. Cards were given the new students on which they tried to get the autographs of all the upper classmen whom they met during the afternoon. Refreshments were served and dancing enjoyed by everyone.

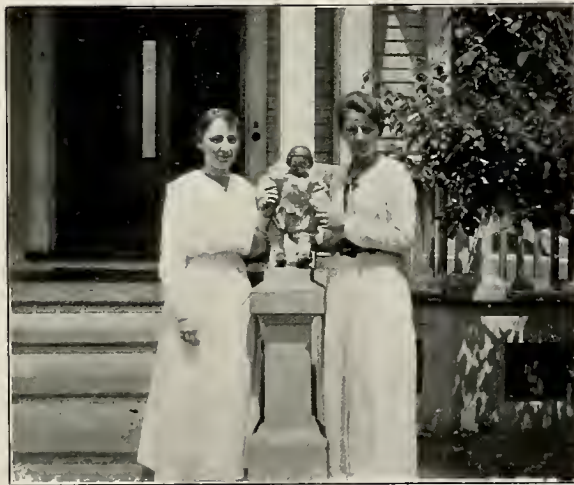

DORMITORY GOVERNMENT DANCE

On September 29 the Dormitory Government Association gave a welcoming dance to the Freshmen. Such gay girls and pretty gowns were scarcely ever seen in the Refectory. Each new girl was escorted by an upper class girl, who proved to the new students that a "girl dance" at Simmons was a most enjoyable affair.

JUNIOR-FRESHMAN PARTY

Since 1920 had won the love of 1918, the two classes were united by the marriage of Miss 1918 to Mr. 1920. After the ceremony refreshments were served by the caterer, a portly colored gentleman who bore a strange resemblance to a member of the Junior Class. The bride and groom departed amid a shower of gay-colored streamers and confetti.

HALLOWE'EN

Hallowe'en was celebrated by us on October 28 this year. Because of our recent quarantine there were no guests from outside the dormitories. It was a gay, though grotesque, masquerade party, which sat down to the delicious Hallowe'en dinner, enlivened by songs, Hallowe'en games, and stunts. Then the lights were turned out, and, clustered around a blazing caldron, the masqueraders heard weird ghost stories.

Near the hour of midnight the Sophomore ghosts came forth and clanked through the halls, chanting a blood-curdling dirge. They were disturbed in their plum pudding feast by the Juniors, who descended upon them, bent on rescuing some of their classmates kidnapped during the parade. A lively battle ensued until all were sent to their beds as the clock struck twelve.

This year the annual Sophomore Luncheon given by the Class of 1919 took place on the eighteenth of November. The Sophomore Luncheon has previously been given in the Spring, but this year it was interchanged with the Sophomore-Senior Luncheon owing to quarantine. The event quite surpassed all anticipations, and such dramatic skill was exhibited by the performers in the vaudeville show which followed under the direction of Hildegard Drummond that the guests could not be forced to leave until encores were refused.

The speakers were:

FOUNDER'S DAY CONVOCATION

A new custom was instituted this year when the faculty and student body celebrated the anniversary of the founding of the College by John Simmons. Classes were suspended for the afternoon of November 1, and the students assembled at Harvard Church, in Brookline. There was a very impressive procession of the faculty in their caps and gowns. President Lefavour and Professor Moore gave interesting addresses on the significance of the day, after which several degrees were conferred.

"THE LAST STAND OF THE SIOUX"

On the evening of November 24 the Refectory was filled to welcome Dr. Charles Eastman, a real Sioux Indian, who had come at the invitation of the Seniors to tell of the life and character of his people.

He appeared in native costume—not of course forgetting his feathers and paint. His lecture was a worthy and fitting tribute to the fortitude, courage, and integrity of his tribe, and especially to the women from whom the boys had received their Spartan training. He showed why the Sioux became hostile to the whites, and concluded his talk by a very vivid and detailed description of "Custer's Last Charge."

Gladys Sheldon was chairman of the committee who arranged for this very interesting evening.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

On December 15 our annual Christmas Party was held in the Refectory. As usual, it took the form of the old English Christmas of the country squire in the sixteenth century. Marion Doten and Eleanore Keith were the host and hostess for the evening. With their retinue, which included the Monk, Red Cardinal, gorgeously gowned Lords and Ladies, the Herald, Pages, and Jester, they sat at the table upon the dais. Scarcely had the guests been welcomed by the Lady of the Manor, when voices were heard outside the window singing Christmas carols. They were wandering choir boys who soon entered the hall and were invited to dine with the other guests.

And such a feast! Eaten by candle-light, without forks, and with no tablecloths, it was suggestive of the 16th century.

Following the dinner was an entertainment consisting of ballads and folk-songs sung by Miss Emily Hale, tableaux from the "Birds' Christmas Carol," and dancing.

Sally Thompson acted as chairman of the party.

MIRACLE PLAY

Because of the enthusiasm shown last year, the Coventry Nativity Play was again given by the Y.W.C.A. this Christmas. The acting was very well done and much credit is due the girls who took part as well as the Glee Club which sang carols.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Isaiah	Frances Dittmer
Mary	Julia Jochum
Joseph	Marion Robertson
First Shepherd	Jessie McMullin
Second Shepherd	Eleanor Jones
Third Shepherd	Catherine Tyler
First King	Louise Beckwith
Second King	Sally Page
Third King	Esther Gregory
King Herod	Helena Tibbetts
I Herald	Claire MacDonald
An Angel	Hildegard Drummond

OFFICIAL DISPATCHES FROM THE SCENES OF ACTION.

PSYCOLONIKA, GREECE.

An attack en masse was made upon the nervous system. General Burtano reports the result as unsatisfactory, the household economics division proceeding too quickly in advance of the secretarial and library divisions who showed themselves untrained and inexperienced in this branch of educational warfare.

ENGLAND, FEBRUARY 16.

The 2a division of the English aviation corps, under the leadership of Doctor Farley, have returned from a successful trip to the clouds. Much valuable information was gained, and the secret messages of Shelley, Carlyle, and Arnold discovered. Although it is a hazardous trip and at times somewhat discouraging, the entire corps is in a safe and sane condition.

FRANCE, NOV., 1916.

Great joy is being manifested throughout the Physical Republic and the cross of the Legion of Honour has been pinned on General Tschaler for his noble work. The crew on the submarine P₁ were caught in the net laid in Archimedes Channel. Five are reported as lost and the remainder of the crew, twenty in number, are floundering about hopelessly. All are Fre(n)shmen.

NOVEMBER 15, 1916.

The firing in the secretarial region was unusually heavy during the past twenty-four hours. The echo of typewriters was heard at a distance of three miles, as a result of which blue cards have been flying in all directions leaving great havoc in their wake. The affiliated houses in the surrounding country seem to bear the greatest signs of disaster and many homes where happiness once reigned are rendered wretched and forlorn by the unexpected hostility of their enemies.

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR

(With all due apologies to H. W. L.)

As the hour of ten approaches,
And books are beginning to bore,
Comes a pause in the night's occupation,
That is know as the children's hour.

I hear in the hallway above me
The patter of slippared feet;
The strum of a ukalele,
And voices soft and sweet.

I put by my Psych with a flourish,
With never a thought or a care,
I care not for optic illusions;
My one thought is but to be there.

There's wonderful fudge in the making,
And coffee and sandwiches, too,
And a dish of peculiar concoction;
It's something entirely new.

We take our ambrosia and nectar,
And again we play and we sing,
But then in the midst of our revel
We hear an unpleasant ring.

Lo! the Proctor appears in the doorway,
And straightway a spirit of gloom
Reigns now where before all was revel,
And each maid retires to her room.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF

We didn't have a Miss Rush?
Mr. Crothers was in a hurry all the time?
Dr. Bacon got a grouch?
Miss Wilkinson had no crushees?
Dr. Burt's bicycle was broken?
Mr. Rabe forgot his boutonniere?
Madame Mottet remembered our names?
Dr. Lefavour lost his glasses?
Miss Diall became round-shouldered?
Dr. Varrell fell "Out of the saddle"?
Miss Holbrook lost her chain?

SYNOPSIS

The beautiful flower girl stood on the street corner when Richard paused to buy one flower for his companion, Alicia. He looked into Pauline's big blue eyes, his manly heart swelled with a strange emotion, and as he passed on he turned his head to watch her. Hist! what does he see! The nefarious villain is stealing a kiss!

"It shall not be!" quoth Richard,--and soon that double-dyed scoundrel felt the strength of our Hero's good right arm. As the brave rescuer listened to the flower girl's pretty words of gratitude, and gazed into her upturned face, his heart beat fast, his brain reeled, and suddenly he knew that he loved her!!!!

Each time that Richard saw Pauline his adoration grew. All Mrs. Penbroke's most skillful attempts to ensnare him into proposing to Alicia were futile.

At last the fateful day came when Mrs. Penbroke discovered the letter which Richard had lost in the heat of a bitter quarrel with the haughty Alicia. These are the words which met her puzzled eyes:

"Darling,

The minister and I will be at your home at three o'clock tomorrow. Be brave, sweetheart, and soon you will be mine. I can hardly wait. It's too wonderful to be true.

Yours 'til eternity ends,
Dick."

Before the mother could grasp the import of this astounding letter, the butler entered with a still stranger missive.

"Madam,

It woud Be to your advantage to see Me. i can tell you sumthin that mite intrest you about your son. i am at your dore

A friend"

It was Pedro who had sent this and a foul plot was soon concocted against the beautiful object of Richard's love.

On the day that was to have seen her union with the man she loved, Pauline was snatched from her quiet home by Pedro. Bound to a chair with an infernal machine steadily ticking off the seconds, the doomed girl was given her choice: To die, or marry without love. Her distress and terror might well have moved a heart of stone, but never that of Pedro. Death must be her portion, for never would her pure soul consent to a union with such a fiend. But, hark! a sound was heard. It was Richard, her hero, her prince of men sent by his mother who had confessed all.

A frightful struggle followed, but at last, Pedro was left unconscious on the floor while Richard rushed off carrying the girl of his heart. The forgotten machine ticked on. We will draw a merciful veil over what followed but let us remember that "The wages of sin is death."

Our hero carried his fair burden home to his repentant mother. There in the arms of her gallant lover Pauline opened her dewy eyes, and once more there were

"Two minds with but a single thought,
Two hearts that beat as one."

Good Night!

N.B. The playwright acknowledges her indebtedness to the Sargent girls.

LA SIMMONS SANS MERCI

O what can ail thy maiden calm!
Thou standst there palely loitering!
Thy brow is wrinkled in despair,
And no laugh rings.

Oh what can ail thy maiden calm!
Why mirthless and so teary-eyed?
Exams you know are not yet come,
Dull cares aside!

I chanced to stroll down by the Board,
Full merrily with chatter gay;
My spirits light with joyous song,
Ne'er fairer day!

I glanced thereon with careless look,
Unsuspecting mortal I,
When suddenly I was transfixed;
Then might I die!

My name I saw emblazoned there
In letters fiery red, it seemed,
On card as blue as heaven's sky.
O how it gleamed!

And my heart fell with awful thud,
"See Dr. Eldridge," next I read.
Dark clouds passed o'er my calm serene.
All joy then fled.

So this is why I linger here,
And stand here palely loitering,
My brow is wrinkled in despair,
And no laugh rings.

A FRESHMAN'S DAY

In the gray dawn of the morning when my trusty, true, alarm clock
 Awakens me from sweet repose—with ceaseless, silvery ring,
Then my downy bed's so comfy—oh, for just another minute!
 And the dream I saw through Physics spoiled by that infernal thing!

But oh, it's

Jane be nimble, Jane be quick!
Classes begin at nine on the tick.
A last pat and prink, some last hasty looks,
Then skip off, Miss Jane, to your lessons and books.

Up the stairs, ten minutes late, I climb with hasty tread,
Trembling to think of the scathing words to fall on my young head.
For though I've done just ergs of work, my brain's all in a whirl
With contrary kings doing all sorts of things!—I'm a poor, unhappy girl.

Next to our daily gathering place we weary Freshmen wander,
O'er dreadful Physics problems to sigh, and groan, and ponder;
All bound together by a bond of common misery,
We chatter, chatter as we go, in tones of agony.
We're the trial of the J. C. Committee,
 And they glower at us and "shush!"
But next hour we'll be failing,
So we surely can't help wailing,
 And it's useless to ask us to hush.

Yet though we're sure we're worked to death and plunged in misery,
We're all in love with college life, its fun and jollity.
And we're dreaming now of flowing robe and college cap on head,
Our importance and our value when we're ladies, college bred.

If you're waking, call me early, call me early, roommate dear;
For tomorrow'll be the busiest day of all the senior year;
Tomorrow awful mid-years start, they last the whole week through;
And I must surely pass Accounts and Business Methods, too.
There's also Type and Shorthand that I must thoroughly ken;
But when the week is over I'll be happy,—not till then.
My Big Ben has deserted me, he is no longer here,
So if you're waking, call me early, call me early, won't you, dear?

THE FIRST HOCKEY GAME

It was a free hour cheery, but I pondered tired and weary
O'er a super-lengthy lesson that would fill one's heart with woe,
When a glad and gay commotion put into my head the notion
That I, too, should have a playtime, and for exercise should go
To be introduced to hockey. To play hockey I should go.
But then—I did not know.

The wind was sharp and chilly, and I certainly felt silly
Hopping up and down on tiptoe, to keep from getting cold.
When to play fullback they bade me, I should do it, ay, and gladly,
If I but knew what the thing meant, I should do as I was told.
My knees began to shiver, when to play it I was told.
But I must be brave and bold.

Advice and regulations and a vast amount of patience,
From all directions on my ignorance these friends-in-need did pour,
And yet it was small wonder that I made the wildest blunder
When they came with dash and clatter and then—Ow, my shins were sore!
And I murmured, peevied and humbled, "This rough game I'll play no more!"
Sighed my banged limbs, "Never more."

Ogres and Wisemen

Place—House of Wonders.

Time—Not long ago.

A BRIEF SYNOPSIS OF THE PLAY

ACT I.

Elsie Smith, Mary Cooke, June Dewey, and Ethyl Alcohol enter the House of Wonders to begin exploring its mysterious depths and to learn its dark secrets.

They visit certain Wisemen who send them to the Ogre's Den.

The Ogre's Den. Here they are robbed of their money but obtain the “Books of Knowledge.”

A summons comes to visit again the Wisemen. Upon doing so they are warned of their unsatisfactory progress.

The Happy Meeting with Mr. James Nasium, who gives them many good times.

The Hours of Despair—Mary Cooke and Ethyl Alcohol almost fail to pass certain prescribed tests which were to determine whether they could continue their explorations.

The long looked-for rest. The oracles assure them that their work has been satisfactory, they sadly bid Jim farewell, and leave the House of Wonders.

ACT II.

After three months of absence the four maidens return to the House of Wonders, but pursue their adventures separately.

Elsie Smith begins to decipher the weird hooks and curves of the magic writing.

Mary Cooke learns how to make fairy tidbits.

June Dewey is taught how to preserve and care for the Books of Knowledge.

Ethyl Alcohol stews and brews mystic herbs in a witch's caldron.

After they have pursued their courses in this manner for nearly a year they receive a seal which acts as a passport to allow them to continue their searching for another year.

ACT III.

The four maidens welcome the new explorers and promise to be their guardian angels should troubles o'ertake them.

To ingratiate herself into the favor of the powers that be Mary Cooke serves daily delectable delicacies.

Elsie Smith gets acquainted with the law as regards bona fide purchasers of solitaires and race horses.

Urged on by the necessity of replenishing certain books of knowledge which careless mortals have handled without due reverence June Dewey spends many weary hours gluing and pasting.

With more zeal than ever Ethyl Alcohol studies the elements in the hopes that some day she may become at least an assistant to Zeus and help him to control the lightning and thunder.

In April the House of Wonders is invaded by the masculine friends of the four damsels. At this belated Winter Carnival much mirth and revelry prevail.

Before leaving the House of Wonders for the third time the maidens are invited to linger around a few days to bid the older explorers farewell.

ACT IV.

The virgins enter the House of Wonders for the last year of their explorations. They adorn themselves with robes of funereal black to indicate their sadness at the prospects of having to leave the scene of so many pleasant adventures.

June Dewey becomes so well acquainted with the prescribed books of knowledge that she is soon able to select new volumes for her own further enlightenment.

About this time Elsie Smith is introduced to Mr. Oliver whom she finds a great bore. She also becomes conversant with the mechanism of various infernal machines, but receives no serious injury from any of them.

Ethyl Alcohol spends many long nights writing books of magic and mystery, but unfortunately she never wins any fame in the way because none of them ever reach the eyes of mortals outside the walls of the House of Wonders.

It seems as though Mary Cooke has turned her attention to physical culture because she devotes her valuable time to the study of how to subsist on two thousand units of heat a day.

Throughout the year the four damsels pass their leisure moments in contemplation of such weighty subjects as the odor of burnt pie crust, the blackness and whiteness in guinea pigs, the feeble-mindedness of college men and women, and "what not."

But even in the world of mystery everything has its end. Ere long the wise and dignified virgins take reluctant leave of the Wisemen who have assisted them in their quest, and who now present each one with a scroll which will prove her ability to all the world. Armed with these parchments, with slow and faltering steps the maidens leave the House of Wonders, bid farewell to each other, and depart in different directions to seek new adventures. Many were the mysterious but pleasant adventures which they shared with each other, and many were the tears shed as they went away a sad but wiser group than when they came to the House of Wonders four long years ago.

O Campbell kid, all praise is due
To you, our mascot ever true.
You've helped us all our victories gain,
You've been our sunshine after rain,
And when sorrows pressed the while
We found our comfort in your smile.
You are so very wondrous wise
You've told us volumes with those eyes.
And now before we say farewell,
To everything we love so well,
Where'er we go, where'er we be,
Our song of praise will be for thee—
O Campbell kiddie—Here's to you!

A world calls longingly; its plea
Sounds high above the noise of toil,—
Above the voices mingling loud;—
O, dost thou hear? A world calls thee!

Four years in college walls. And now
Thou goest forth to find thy work;
With youth and joyous hope and faith,
And dreams of great deeds, goest thou.

A world needs strength. It bids thee lift
Unflinching thy share—and more—
In fullest measure must thou give,
Thou must not fail, nor stint the gift.

Four years in college walls. Hast found
That which gives understanding love
To minister in quietness
Where grief and pain and wrong abound?

Give of thy womanhood, thy best,
And giving, thou shalt find fulfilled
Thine own heart's needs. And sweet content
Shall be thine oft-abiding guest.

A world calls longingly; its plea
Sounds high above all calls beside.
And thou wilt in thy woman's strength
Go to the world that needeth thee.

“Simmons College, Here’s to You!”

■ We want to add to the pleasures of your college days by making you feel that this is your “home” store while you are here at Simmons.

■ It is more than likely that Mother shopped here when she was your age, and it is even quite possible that it was at Jordan Marsh Company that Grandmother bought that quaint old-fashioned silk you have so long admired. And each generation finds us better equipped to live up to this long established reputation.

■ Our Main Store is prepared to meet your wardrobe demands for every occasion from “sporting to dress-up,” including the all-important accessories.

■ The New Building will provide you with your favorite books, the latest Jewelry and high grade Toilet Articles, as well as the newest Furnishings for the dormitory beautiful.

We have a Mission

A very distinct Mission

It is to waist and dress you properly (and of course all Simmons girls are proper), in good taste, and economically

We practice in store economics that which you are learning in home economics, that is, to produce and give the most and the best in value and quality for the money.

We would like to show you our waists and dresses and have you tell us how far we seem to be succeeding in our dress economics.

We are never undersold on goods of equal value.

“Shivering Jimmy”

“The Mills College girls like Jell-O. With fruit inside and whipped cream outside, it is one of their favorite dishes and is affectionately known as ‘Shivering Jimmy.’”

Mills College, near San Francisco, is the only woman’s college on the Pacific coast, and the student body is drawn from a field of great extent. It was a Mills College girl who told us about “Shivering Jimmy.”

As a change from fudge and other common things, nobody can be more appreciative of than the girls who must provide their own dainties and do it without devoting much time and effort to it.

There are seven pure fruit flavors of Jell-O: Strawberry, Raspberry, Lemon, Orange, Cherry, Peach, Chocolate. Each 10 cents at any grocer’s.

Little folders in Jell-O packages contain all the instructions anyone needs in making the “made-in-a-minute” Jell-O dainties.
