"A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM"

CLASS OF SEVENTEEN VICTORS IN INTERCLASS TENNIS MATCH

College Classes Heartily Support Teams Playing.

The Gold and White Vs. the Pink and Green!

Excitement, suppressed more or less during school hours on Tuesday, burst forth unrestrainedly when the 3 o'clock bugle sounded. The Juniors and Seniors were to meet in the tennis court at 3:15 to "fight to the finish" for the glory of their colors.

By the appointed time a crowd of students and townspeople had gathered about the court to witness the contest.

On the west side of the court pink and green streamers, pink sweaters, green sweaters and other articles of apparel and a standard bearing the Rollins seal and "1917" proclaimed that the stronghold of the Seniors, who were ably supported by the Sophomores.

On the east side of the court, beneath a gold and white banner bearing the inscription, "Class of '18," a loyal crowd of Juniors and Freshmen cheered the players who were working for the honor of the Gold and White.

The contest was opened promptly by singles played by Prof. Palmer and Dean Enyart, faculty advisors of the Senior and Junior classes, respectively. Interest was keen from the start. The first set resulted in victory for the Seniors—6-1—in favor of Prof. Palmer.

The next set was eagerly watched because the games were more hotly contested. The set finally ended 6-8 in favor of Dean Enyart.

The last set was full of interesting plays as well as spectators. This set was a 6-0 victory for the Seniors.

Not in the least daunted by their defeat, the Juniors sent forth their team, Robert Hutchinson and James Noxon, to meet the Seniors—Freddie Hanna and Paul Thoren.

Yells for the teams as well as for individual players sounded back and forth across the court as excitement increased.

The Seniors having already tasted victory, longed for more, while the Juniors having experienced defeat longed for victory, that variety might add the "spice" so necessary to life.

The "spice," however, was denied, (Continued on Page Six)

PRESENTED BY THE DRAMA CLASS FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY THE NINTH ON THE COLLEGE CAMPUS

SPLENDID MUSICAL FEATURES

Repeated Wednesday Evening for the Benefit of the Hospital Fund.

Rollins College and many of her friends were delighted on the evening of February 9th with the performance of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," as presented by the Drama Class under the able direction of Dean Enyart. The play, from start to finish, exhibited a finish and perfection seldom attained by amateurs. Indeed, one critic was heard to say that a company of professionals might well have taken notes. It is a valuable part of a student's education to be permitted to play even a small part in so excellent a performance, and some sacrifice in the matter of time and regular work may well be made.

In spite of the cold, a very respectable audience remained throughout the three hours and shivered with delight as scene after scene was presented.

The stage was a fairy dream in itself, with woodsy effect, its lights dancing hither and yon, its rustic bridge and its mossy banks. The charm was much enhanced by the broad lake sparkling in the background and by the great moon sailing overhead.

Music, under the direction of Rollins Conservatory of Music, was no small part of the beauty and success of the whole entertainment. The duet by Oberon and a fairy (Mr James Noxon and Miss Gertrude Hall) was delightful beyond expression.

The acting of the entire cast was most praiseworthy and Rollins may well be proud of her ability. Not every college play will bear repetition within a week. And the enthusiasm of the large audience which witnessed the play on Wednesday evening, Feb. 14th, speaks volumes.

Long live the Drama Class of Rollins College!

"A Midsummer Night's Dream," which met with such marked success when given on February 9th by the drama class, was again presented on February 14th.

The proceeds of the second performance were given to the Orange County Hospital fund.

Last Monday a company of enthusiastic students canvassed Winter Park and Orlando in the interest of the play. A goodly number of tickets were sold in spite of the fact that the state of the weather at that time was not at all favorable to an out-of-door performance, a fact which kept many from buying tickets.

However, a good audience assembled at the appointed time and fully appreciated the entire play.

Dean Enyart and the entire cast as well as the students are to be commended for the enthusiasm and willingness with which they boosted the play for the benefit of a cause which all felt to be worthy of their support.

The play gave many students the opportunity to help, either directly or indirectly to increase the Hospital fund, who would otherwise have been unable to contribute.

ST. VALENTINE'S DINNER TABLE ENJOYED BY JUNIORS

Delightful Affair Takes Place In the Dining Hall.

The Class of 1918 celebrated St. Valentine's Day with a class table for supper in the college dining hall. Decorations of red and white adorned the table, which had as a center-piece a large toy garage. It was from this that the delicate missiles of St. Valentine were drawn. Dean Enyart, acting as postmaster, drew from the box red ribbons holding strings of candy kisses, which he proceeded to use for general delivery. The Dean also presided over the distribution of cleverly penned Valentine verses, the last of which raised the roof (of the garage). Most of these were patterned after the so-called new school of poetry and one or more bore genuine resemblance to the real "vers libre." These were executed by Miss Sara Yancey. To further carry out the red and white color motif the Juniors wore long white caps adorned with hearts and Cupids. These bore each a large red letter, which, when the members of the supper party were seated, spelled the appropriate word, "Valentines." Not even did the Seniors on this occasion need ask the Juniors to "have a heart," for, to be sure, some "wore them on their sleeves," while others had their hearts on their throats. The extra "eats," too, were "heartily enjoyed."

For this delightful affair the Juniors had as their guests: Dean Enyart, faculty officer of the class, and Marie Pellerin, a special college student. Those members of the Class of '18 who were present to enjoy the supper party were: James Noxon, Annie Stone, Sara Muriel, Elizabeth Russell, Sadie Pellerin, Robert Hutchinson, Sara Yancey and Katherine Waldron.

DR. CHILD, TRUSTEE OF ROLLINS, LAUDS TOMOKAN.

Rev. Frank S. Child, D. D., pastor of the First Church of Christ of Fairfield, Conn., and for many years a trustee of Rollins College, has subscribed to the Tomokan, the Rollins College year book, and writes with the highest praise of the effort to publish the book. He says: "I am glad to learn that the college spirit itself manifests itself in such a delightful way."

Lincoln's Birthday

Monday, February 12th, was the 108th anniversary of Lincoln's birth. As Monday is a school holiday, no celebration was held on the campus on that day, but patriotic hymns were sung in chapel the following morning.

Students and faculty, whether of northern or southern birth, could not but remember with reverence this great man, whose steadfastness, loyalty and firm convictions meant so much to the nation in the trying days of the war between the states.

He has come to hold a high place of esteem in the hearts of the people of the United States, because of his manliness, courage and broad human understanding and sympathy.

The Drama Repeated

The students of Rollins College have shown their interest in the proposed Orange County Hospital, by re-staging "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which was so great a success when first given on February 9th.

The drama class deserves especial thanks for the willingness with which every member consented to replay his or her part. The members of the student body, however, have greatly assisted the class by helping with the stage arrangements, by selling tickets for the second performance and by enthusiastically boosting the play so that the proceeds for the hospital fund might be as great as possible.

Their efforts have been well repaid, for the hospital fund has been increased by a very neat little sum.

Do It Again!

The Junior-Senior Tennis Match of last Tuesday was a great success from a every standpoint. Even the Juniors heartily agree that it was one of the best inter-class events which has ever occurred on the campus, in spite of the fact that they were defeated in every event.

Genuine school spirit and good natured rivalry characterized the entire event and no cheer leader was necessary to stir up enthusiasm, for the whole crowd was bubbling over with pep.

The spirit shown on this occasion and the real enjoyment afforded all those in attendance have but a glimpse of the possibilities which lie in such events.

Most students are inclined, in the bustle of every day affairs, to get into a routine more or less necessary and to devote their interests to certain activities to the exclusion of others. Of course it is not possible for everyone to take part in all school affairs, but it is good for every student to turn his or her attention now and then to interests other than those of the regular routine. The tennis match of last Tuesday seemed to "start the week off right." Enthusiasm seemed to remain and many students paused for a moment on their way to classes next day to remark about the event of the previous day.

We are glad the match was played. Wouldn't it be a good idea to have inter-class contests often? Who is in for a tug-of-war or a canoe race or some other event which shall keep alive the interest and enthusiasm which the Junior-Senior Tennis Match aroused?

Was the pep shown in the dining hall on St. Valentine's Day due in any measure to the influence of the previous day? We believe that it was.

Uncommon Common Sense

We find the following on the editorial page of the latest issue of The Southern: "The conduct of every individual in the college affects, more or less, the entire student body. An act on the part of one student will brand the rest. People on the outside of the school judge it according to the conduct of the students that they may come in contact with. Then again there is another reason why we should be careful to conduct ourselves in a proper manner. That is when a few students overstep the limitations that are rightly placed upon us, it becomes necessary for the faculty to act accordingly. The entire student body is then obliged to suffer for the misconduct of the few.

"Think a little before you act, then act right in every case for your own sake as and for others. Be a little more thoughtful about your conduct when in school and away from Sutherland. There are people over the State who are watching us and we must make good or there will be no Southern College. Do your best to be a real college man and a fine representative of your home and school."

Better read the above once more and instead of "Southern" and "Sutherland" read "Rollins" and "Winter Park." That makes it fit us exactly doesn't it?

There's nothing "goody good" about this editorial—its common sense.

DO SOMETHING! BE SOMETHING!

The above was the heading of the following crisp, rousing editorial in the issue of The Birmingham College Reporter:

"Dream to the stars—fling your cares a thousand miles. There are just as many things yet to be discovered as have ever been discovered. Rise! Go on and up; the road is clear. A splendid, glorious, titanic future calls to your confidence and summons you to the battle for betterment. Think! Think!! Think!!!

"A degree of commonsense is a far more vital possession than a diploma."

After all, our American people are downright optimists. Before the ice of the recent awful blizzard has fairly melted inquiries are coming in as to what point on our great gulf coast is the best to spend the summer season. Our Florida climate is ever occupying a place right up near the footlights.

Zapata, Tex., Feb. 6, 1917.

Dear Dr. Baker:—

I am sending you under separate cover a few specimens of the rock found in the bed of the Rio Grande river here and at Laredo. I think that they might be of some use as curiosities in the Rollins Museum. I have picked them out, not from any idea of the different kinds of rocks, but as to looks entirely, some showing the highly composite character of much of the rocks here and some showing the solid block colors and their variety.

We are out on patrol duty now, which is even less exciting than the work in garrison at Laredo. Of course, we are now in the throes of the German situation, with all of its possibilities for the army and the national guard; but I do not believe that outside of some more trouble with Mexico, the land forces of the United States will get into the war to any great extent. But if it is necessary I am ready to do my part, as are the other 20 old Rollins students in the regiment.

Give my best to all the people there that I know.

If these rocks are interesting enough I will try to secure some more of the other varieties.

Very sincerely,
WORTHINGTON BLACKMAN,
Sergeant Company "C," 2nd Fla. Inf.,

SENIOR-SOPHOMORE TABLE.

The St. Valentine's Day spirit was general among all classes during the evening meal at the dining hall last Wednesday, but this enthusiasm of the day was best expressed by the two upper classes, each having private class tables. The Seniors and Sophomores invited as their guests Prof. and Mrs. Palmer, Dr. Baker and Raymond W. Greene. The table was appropriately decorated with fern leaves and favors in keeping with the day. A special dessert took the form of delicious strawberry short cake, with whipped cream. Throughout the meal college spirit was in great evidence and expressions of mirth from the class table were responded to by cheers from the other tables.

FRESHMAN EMANCIPATION.

Following study hall yesterday evening, the annual ceremony, which marks the emancipation of the Freshmen took place. This is a yearly custom of much interest to the sister classes, and was, as usual, well attended. The usual amount of class spirit and pep was present, and the release of the Freshies with the usual symbolical traditions formed a mental picture which will not soon be erased.

SOMETHING NEW AT DINING HALL.

Professor Lenhart Makes Present of New Bell.

A strange gong was first sounded in the dining hall on Saturday night. The students were much surprised; but Miss Hills answered their questioning looks with the answer that Professor Lenhart had very kindly given the bell to the college. Its special advantage lies in the fact that it can be easily sounded by a handle that hangs near the door which can be easily pulled, and the sound can be heard distinctly in all parts of the dining hall

DR. HANCHETT GIVES FIRST OF A SERIES OF LECTURES

Last Thursday afternoon at 3:30 Dr. Henry G. Hanchett, of nation-wide reputation, gave his first Beethoven reading on "Rhythm." The reading was of an analytical character and was illustrated with compositions of various composers, which elucidated the points which Dr. Hanchett brought forth in his discussions. The second of this series of valuable lectures will take place on Friday afternoon, the 23rd, at 3:30, in Knowles Hall. Attendance of all musical students is required, while other students are invited to attend. Admission for all others is 50 cents.

Harriett Maltbie of Altamonte Springs has enrolled for the second semester in the sub-preparatory department.

Geraldine Muriel, who has been the guest of her sister Sara in Cloverleaf for a few days, left last Wednesday for her home in Jacksonville.

TENNIS.

A very hard tennis match was played last Monday, February the 12th, with a team from the Wyoming Hotel in Orlando. The players from Orlando were: Shaffer, Calder, Martin and Marshall. The first mentioned was a runner-up for the national indoor championship. All the visiting players, in fact, were well trained and in good practice, as at the hotel in Orlando there is an excellent court for the use of its patrons.

Rollins was represented by: H. Tilden, Wheldon, Froemke and Thoren. Although the resulting scores were very uneven and not at all favorable to the home boys, we may be assured that all four of our boys played hard and consistent games in spite of very worthy opponents.

The scores of the tournament in the order in which the games were played were as follows:

Froemke vs. Cader—Calder, 6-0; Calder, 6-4. This match was hotly contested, but Froemke was handicapped by lack of practice, being a regular baseball player as well as a tennis team man.

Thoren and Froemke vs. Martin and Marshall—Martin and Marshall, 6-0, 6-3. These Rollins men failed to show finished team work as their opponents did, hence an unevenly matched score.

Shaffer vs. Tilden—Shaffer, 6-1, 6-1. This match was easily the best of the day, regardless of the score. The champion of each team played, and though Tilden was greatly outclassed by his opponent, he played a hard game to the end. Shaffer has a large "assortment" of strokes and was able to use any one that the occasion might seem to require. Against this Tilly worked hard and several points were stubbornly contested. At any rate, there is no disgrace in being beaten by a player of Shaffer's rank.

Wheldon vs. Martin—Martin, 6-2, 6-1. In this match Martin had good rein of the situation, Wheldon not appearing in his usual good form. Martin made use of a "cut rainbow" return, which was exceedingly difficult to handle; his net work was also very good.

As the Rollins player scheduled for the next match was unable to be on hand at the hour scheduled, Professor Palmer volunteered to play an unofficial match with the Orlando opponent, Marshall. Palmer's deceptive curves were working well, and he took one set, the only set gained for Rollins during the tournament. The remaining sets both went to Marshall.

Tilden and Wheldon vs. Shaffer and Calder—Shaffer and Calder, 7-5, 6-0. This match, the last of the day, showed the best team work of any match in the tournament. Mannie and Tilly, for Rollins, had begun to work together only a short time before this, but during the first set held the opponents to a race of 7-5; in the second, however, not taking a game.

HISTORY OF THE ROLLINS SEAL

Probably few of our students know that the present Rollins seal, with its rising sun and the motto "Fiat lux," was adopted in 1905 to take the place of an earlier adopted one which was considered too conventional. The seal as it is now was designed by Miss Grace Lainhart, who at that time was the art teacher here and to whom we are indebted in large measure for the present studio. Dr. Baker says that the greater part of the work done on the studio was her personal manual labor. Miss Lainhart is at present teaching in Birmingham, Ala.

here they will spend much of their time with their daughters, Vanetta and Gertrude.

It was the privilege of some of the Rollins students and faculty members to hear Bishop Mann of Orlando preach in All Saints' Episcopal church last Sunday morning.

Ray Greene made a short trip to Longwood last week.

Marie and Sadie Pellerin, Sara Muriel, Alma Capen, Dorothy Bennett and Clarissa Organ attended the basketball game in Orlando last Saturday evening, in which the Orlando High School girls were defeated by the Duval High School girls by a matter of thirteen points, the score standing 19 to 6 at the end of the game. Miss Gonzalez was chaperon for the occasion.

for the first set gave a 6-4 victory to the Pink and Green, which caused loud exclamations of joy to come from the west side of the court; but those true to the Gold and White still confidently looked for victory.

Darkness was coming fast before the second set was ended; and since this, too, went to the Seniors, 6-2, the contest was closed. Rejoicing of no mean sort immediately followed, those owing allegiance to the Pink and Green sending forth loud cheers in praise of their team.

After cheering for their team, the Juniors bore their banner with pride to the class tree, where it was planted to proclaim that the Gold and White had received its defeat with no shame.

During the afternoon the Seniors and the Sophomores sold sandwiches to an ever-hungry crowd. From this
