COMMONS CANDIDATES NOW NUMBER 463

To Unite Empire By Trade And Open New Markets For Canada Products, King's Plan

Premier of Canada Outlines Policies Before Great Meeting in Vancouver Arena; One Platform for All of Canada, He Says, Emphasizing Need of Canadian Unity as Opposed to Meighen Proposals, Which Would Divide Country; Not High Protection Nor Free Trade, But Moderate, Reasonable Tariff, Is Liberal Plan.

(By Staff Representative)

"We are trying to make a strong and united Empire through the instrumentality of trade, to open up and develop our basic industries and to reduce the cost of production so as to enable us to compete abroad in the markets of the world and also to develop trade within the Empire. Whatever will make for greater production will also help our railways."

"In these sentences Premier King made clear the policies of the Liberal Government at the Vancouver Arena meeting Saturday night.

He delivered his speech before several thousand persons who jammed the floor and sides of the vast auditorium and packed the galleries to the rafters.

On the platform, before the Premier as he spoke, were two microphones which carried his message over the radio to every part of British Columbia.

"Our policy is not a policy of free trade, nor is it a policy of high protection," the Premier said. "We are aiming to take the moderate, reasonable course between the two in the interests of the country as a whole and a united Canada, instead of setting one part of Canada against the other, as Mr. Meighen is seeking to do."

"Our trade balance is eight times what it was when we took office. We have reduced the duties on the implements of production because the country that has high production costs loses in the markets of the world and the country with the low production costs wins."

WORLD MARKETS

CANADA'S NEED
"It isn't home markets we need to-day in Canada. What we want and need to-day and must have is world markets."

"What would become of the industrial life of this Province if you had to depend on home markets? Think of that for a minute. Are you here satisfied with the home market for your fishing industry, for your lumbering, for your agriculture, for your manufacturing? Do you continue to pay high wages and employ an increasing number of men?"

"What would become of the agricultural industry of the Prairies if it had to depend on the home market?"

"Your prosperity depends on world markets."

"That is our vision. That is the view we have taken. That is the line on which we are seeking to build up this country."

"My message here is the same as I have delivered in the other Provinces."

EQUALIZATION OF FREIGHT RATES
"If our policies are Western policies, it is because they are the policies best suited to the whole of Canada. Western interests are looking large and larger in our national life. Our thought has been to bring the light of the West over the tops of our Parliament Buildings."

SAVED FRIEND FROM BLEEDING TO DEATH

Camp Foreman's Coolness Saved Companion After Courtenay Auto Smash

Special to The Times
Courtenay, Oct. 5.—Sitting for one hour with his finger on the jugular vein of Gordon McIntee, who was bleeding to death, Len Harding, foreman at camp two of the Comox Logging Company, waited for help on the Campbell River Road yesterday. The two men were returning at about 3 o'clock Sunday morning from a party at Comox when they ran into a thick bank of fog and smoke, and the automobile struck a stump. McIntee went clean through the windshield, almost severing the jugular vein. Harding sat with his finger on the man's throat by the side of the road until the first car came and a doctor could be sent for. McIntee is now in St. Joseph's Hospital, Comox, and will probably recover. He is twenty-two years of age and his home is in New Westminster.

War Widows Pledge Support For Pension's Aid

By Staff Representative
"I appreciate it more than anything I have experienced on the whole of my tour across Canada. That is what Premier Mackenzie King said at the Arena meeting at Vancouver Saturday night about the organization of war widows and their dependents placed in his room in the Hotel Vancouver on his arrival. The Premier had the basket placed on the speakers' table at the Arena and he read to the audience the card which accompanied it. This card expressed appreciation of the Premier and pledged the support of the war widows for what he had done in having the Government live up to the promise he had made on his last trip to the Coast with regard to not cutting pensions no matter what was done. "Our promise was that the Government would economize, but would not economize on pensions," the Premier said. "The Government has lived up to that pledge it gave the returned men."

WAGNER POLICE INVESTIGATE DEATH

Sidney Bell, Teamster, Succumbed Suddenly; in Home of Man and Wife

Vancouver, Oct. 5.—While police are investigating the sudden death of Sidney Bell, thirty-two, a teamster, at his home early Sunday morning, John M. Hansen, thirty-three, and Elsie Hansen, thirty-seven, his wife, are held at headquarters.

Police were called in to the case at 1:45 Sunday morning, when Constable R. Gibb was summoned by Hansen. The latter pointed out the body of Bell lying on a bed in one of the rooms. The man had been dead but a little while, Dr. R. E. Page was called and pronounced Bell dead, but would not venture an opinion as to the cause of death.

Mrs. Hansen told Detectives she had met Bell in a downtown beer parlor Saturday evening. After they had drunk one or two glasses of beer, she said, Bell accompanied her home and lay down.

About 10 o'clock Mrs. Hansen said she entered the room, found Bell apparently asleep and threw a robe over him.

Hansen came home a little after 11 o'clock and discovered the man was dead and immediately called the police.

B.C. IS SWINGING BEHIND LIBERAL POLICY, DR. KING ASSERTS ON ARRIVAL HERE

The strength of the Mackenzie King Government is rolling up in all parts of British Columbia now as a result of Premier Mackenzie King's declarations in favor of equal treatment for all parts of Canada, Hon. J. H. King, Federal Minister of Public Works, declared on his arrival here to-day to confer with Vancouver Island Liberal leaders.

"Unquestionably British Columbia will send to the next Parliament a Liberal delegation substantially larger than that which sat in the last House," Dr. King affirmed. "The people of British Columbia have shown themselves in the last few weeks in keen sympathy with the policies of the Government as outlined by the Prime Minister. Those policies are broad and national in character and, if made effective, will do much to overcome the sectionalist views which are being voiced by some people for political advantage in various parts of Canada."

"Not only is the strength of the Government increasing greatly in British Columbia, but it is growing also in other parts of the country. Reports from all over the Dominion indicate that the Government will have a substantial majority over all other groups in the next House of Commons. The re-election of the Government now is certain."

Dr. King, who has been spending the last few days in the Interior, is not worrying about his re-election in East Kootenay, and declares that L. W. Humphrey will be elected without trouble in West Kootenay. Mr. Humphrey is running as a Labor candidate, but in the last Parliament he gave the Government independent support. The Liberals of West Kootenay are expected to do the same.

"Our promise was that the Government would economize, but would not economize on pensions," the Premier said. "The Government has lived up to that pledge it gave the returned men."

Women Liberals of Vancouver also sent the Premier a bouquet which was taken to the Arena.

At the close of the meeting the band led in the singing of "God Save the King" and then the Premier stepped to the front of the platform and called for "Three cheers for His Majesty the King." The Premier led three mighty roars of cheers.

SEVEN BOYS LOST LIVES IN FIRE ON INDIAN RESERVE

Others in Nez Perce Dormitory East of Lewiston Were Saved by Nuns

Five Lads Only Five Years Old Perished in Vain Rescue Attempt

Lewiston, Idaho, Oct. 5.—Seven children lost their lives in a fire that swept the boys' dormitory at the Catholic mission on the Nez Perce Indian Reservation, twenty-five miles East of here, late Saturday night. The fire is believed to have been caused from the explosion of a lamp.

There were thirty-one boys in the dormitory at the time of the fire, and the heroic efforts of the Sisters of St. Joseph and others at the institution were responsible for saving many of the boys' lives.

Nuns of the mission heroically worked to awaken the sleeping youths, half dragging them from their beds. They saved a chapel and the bodies of the boys from the building when five of the boys, one only five years old, dashed back into the blazing structure to rescue a companion they thought was facing death.

The bodies of six were found closely huddled together by the rescue workers, who rushed through the ruins. The victims ranged in age from five to fourteen years.

Efforts of the volunteers, who organized a bucket brigade and played a stream of water on the flames, were fruitless. They saved a chapel standing thirty feet away, though it was scorched black by the flames.

The dormitory was an old Slickpoo Mission founded many years ago by Jesuit priests, and was conducted by the Order of Sisters of St. Joseph.

The mission to-day presented a pathetic scene as the boys prepared for the funeral services of their comrades dead. Six will be buried in the mission churchyard Tuesday.

The survivors were moved into other quarters at the mission.

"Mr. King came out flatly for the equal treatment of all parts of Canada in freight rates," Mr. Oliver declared. "His declaration was absolutely in line with the policy which British Columbia and other western provinces have been advocating all along. It was a clear-cut announcement of policy, with no reservations. The Premier explained that his policy was not for the West alone but for the whole of Canada. All parts of the country, he said, must be given fair treatment. This, of course, is precisely the claim which the West has been making."

"On the tariff the Premier made it quite clear that the policy of his Government is to reduce the cost of production so that Canadian producers may compete in world markets. On this, too, he was emphatic. "On the whole, it is difficult to believe now that any large part of the electors of the West will vote against policies like those which mean so much to the West and in favor of a Conservative policy, which would grant everything to the East."

King Behind West's Claim Oliver Finds

Premier's Declaration of Fair Play For All is What West Asks

Government Leader's Announcements Leave no Doubt Where He Stands

Premier Mackenzie King's declarations on freight rates and the tariff in Vancouver Saturday were emphatic enough to please the strongest advocate of Western development, Premier Oliver asserted to-day after listening to the head of the Canadian Government at his huge week-end meeting.

"Mr. King came out flatly for the equal treatment of all parts of Canada in freight rates," Mr. Oliver declared. "His declaration was absolutely in line with the policy which British Columbia and other western provinces have been advocating all along. It was a clear-cut announcement of policy, with no reservations. The Premier explained that his policy was not for the West alone but for the whole of Canada. All parts of the country, he said, must be given fair treatment. This, of course, is precisely the claim which the West has been making."

"On the tariff the Premier made it quite clear that the policy of his Government is to reduce the cost of production so that Canadian producers may compete in world markets. On this, too, he was emphatic. "On the whole, it is difficult to believe now that any large part of the electors of the West will vote against policies like those which mean so much to the West and in favor of a Conservative policy, which would grant everything to the East."

It is considered possible the Nash Mutual fruit brokerage people and companies charged with a series of offences under the Combines Investigation Act and the Criminal Code will be tried before the Wong case, as many of the accused and the witnesses have to be brought from the East. They will appear to be arraigned before Mr. Justice, D. A. MacDonald to-morrow and arrangement for an early trial date may be made on that occasion.

Fire Prevention Week Is Observed Across Canada

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—In a message inaugurating Fire Prevention Week, which commenced throughout Canada yesterday, Dominion Fire Commissioner J. G. Smith said:

"Fire waste is one of the most serious economic problems confronting Canada at the present time. The public is generally vitally affected by the tremendous losses annually incurred by fire and the enormous expenditures made necessary adequately to protect life and property from its ravages. Seeing that at least seventy-five per cent of all fires are caused by carelessness and can therefore be prevented, it is the obvious duty of the public to do all in its power to co-operate with the fire officials in reducing fire hazards to a minimum by studying the subject of fire prevention and by applying the lessons learned."

Vancouver, Oct. 5.—In British Columbia last year 485 homes were destroyed by fire, with a loss of several lives, most of the fatalities being among children," stated J. A. Thomas, fire marshal, in explaining why the fire prevention campaign of the present week will be carried out principally among school children.

Mr. Thomas will address the Rotary Club of Victoria this week.

Mr. Massey's statement was as follows: "During the very short time I have been in public life I have come to believe that, even at some personal sacrifice, I should resign from all directorships in corporations, so as to leave myself perfectly free to discuss and deal with public issues without having my actions or my motives subject to question."

Annual Convention of American Federation of Labor is Held in Atlantic City

Atlantic City, N.J., Oct. 5.—Representatives of nearly 3,000,000 organized workers assembled here today for the formal opening of the forty-fifth annual convention of the American Federation of Labor.
A new band was the helm for the first time in more than a quarter of a century, William Green, who was chosen president last winter after the death of the veteran Samuel Gompers.

Outstanding accomplishments in a year of growth and activity were reported today to the Federation by Mr. Green, and the members of the executive council.
Mindful of the death of the late Samuel Gompers, head of the Federation for many years, the report began by declaring that "a crucial event in the history of the American Federation of Labor during the past year was his death," and it referred back repeatedly to the subject in reporting on the plans for a unique memorial in his remembrance.

INJUNCTIONS OPOSED
There was no weakening in the re-statement of hostility to the use of court injunctions in labor disputes, which was so much a portion of the literary output of Mr. Gompers when he operated the federation's mechanism.
The attempted regulation and control of group activities of wage earners by the equity courts has continued unabated," the report said.

which is free from the regulative and prohibitive orders of our courts."
DISGUISES REPORTED
"By deceit a number of trades unionists and labor organizations have been misled into supporting efforts seeking to overthrow our unions and our purposes," the report said.
"It is the familiar attempt of the wolf to disguise himself as a sheep. Among such undertakings against which we hereby give specific warning are:
"International Labor Defence Council, the American Negro Congress, the Irish Workers' and Peasants' Farm Relief Committee, the International Workers' Aid and the Workers' Party.

PROGRESS REPORTED
The statements got down to business at the first session and made considerable progress in examining the articles of the Rhine pact guarantee as drawn up at the London meeting of the jurists experts.
The obscure clauses were referred back to the jurists, who are meeting this afternoon and are expected to have their reports ready tomorrow.
Articles on which differences of opinion arose were reserved for consideration at the next session of the delegates to-morrow.

INFORMAL CONVERSATIONS
Mr. Chamberlain, who presided over the meeting, urged the delegates to keep their conversations as free and informal as possible and to contribute what they could to the success of the common object of European peace and prosperity of Europe.
It is understood the delicate clauses held over for future action concern France's right to traverse the Rhine, the event of Poland being attacked, and the relation of the pact to the League of Nations.

PROPAGANDA WORK
"Communists carry on their propaganda through the following agencies: Trade Unions, Educational League, which promotes communism under the deceptive title and makes virulent attacks on its leaders; the Workers' Monthly, which is somewhat more refined in method but identical in purpose; the Amalgamated movement for the printing trades; the Progressive Building Trades, intended to promote trouble among the workers before proceeding to the opening sessions of the security conference here.
The Daily Workers, a daily newspaper, they also promote a list of books including fairy stories for children which put communism in a form to lodge in children's minds.
They also promote a list of books against the above activities and publications.
In order to prevent similar communist trickery from capturing any trade union support, we urge all unions before committing themselves to undertakings with which they are not thoroughly familiar to make inquiry first into the aims of the American Federation of Labor."

CONTRACT FOR LOWER OCEAN RATES PLANNED

W. T. R. Preston Reports Statement Made to Him by Premier King People Can Show Desire For Atlantic Service by Their Votes

Winnipeg, Oct. 5.—"I have received a positive assurance from Premier King that the only thing that would prevent him from entering into a contract which would ensure a very material reduction in ocean freight rates between Canada and Great Britain would be the lack of a working majority." W. T. R. Preston, author of the Preston report on ocean freight rates, declared here last night. Mr. Preston arrived here Sunday and expects to remain in the West for the next week or two in the interests of the Liberal election campaign.

To attain lower rates, Mr. Preston said, "The Premier would have to break the combine, and I know he is determined to do that at the first opportunity. Directly he has entered into a satisfactory contract along the lines of lower freight rates on all products, it would be in the interest of the British Government to see nothing would be put over by the shipping interests on their side to hinder the scheme."

DEATH OF PETERSEN

Mr. Peterson, who made the statements in an interview with newspapermen, deplored the death of Sir William Peterson. "Only five minutes before his death," he said, "Sir William said to me that it only required one more short interview with the Premier to bring about a satisfactory settlement of every detail."

Mr. Peterson said Premier King in a recent interview had informed him (Mr. Preston) that he was "absolutely determined, directly he got a working majority, to see to it Atlantic freight rates were lowered."

MEN BELIEVED HIDING NEAR EVERETT

Seattle, Oct. 5.—Concealed in an automobile trunk, Alva Kilbourn, confessed Bothell bank robber, one of the six outlaws who escaped from the King County jail here September 15, eluded sheriff's posses and made a clean getaway to Canada.

This is one of the many new "tips" on the movements of Kilbourn that are being checked and followed by Sheriff James McColloch of Everett since Kilbourn's trail was lost near that city two weeks ago.

Another tip that Kilbourn and Joe Ward, one of his jail break companions, are aboard a ship on the high seas. Still another is that they boarded a speed boat at Mukilteo and left Everett for better times.

Sheriff McColloch, however, entertains the belief that both Ward and Kilbourn are still hiding somewhere in or near Snohomish County, though he admits Kilbourn quite likely would go to sea if the opportunity was offered, as he is a sailor, has been in practically every part of the world and knows many crews on the Pacific coast. His arms, both disabled by gunshot wounds received in the Bothell bank holdup, are unfit for any sort of hard labor, says the sheriff.

Cardin Addressed Sorel Audience

Montreal, Oct. 5.—Addressing elections of Richelieu County at a meeting in Sorel Sunday, Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, denied the King Administration had sacrificed the interests of Quebecers. "Nonsense," he said, "could only be achieved through the prosperity of the country as a whole, and the policy of the Government of which he was a part was designed to bring this about. The Government's hands were clean and it was not afraid to open the books of its administration to public inspection, he said.

The speaker said those who held the Liberals had sacrificed the interests of Quebec to the Progressives were sowing seeds of national disunion and he challenged the Government's opponents to say how this had been done. French-Canadians had never been better treated, he said.

Touching on the financial and commercial condition of the country, Mr. Cardin declared it was no time for anyone to cry blue ruin, especially

THE CORNERSTONE OF PEACE

IT MAY BE THAT IN THE SMALL ITALIAN town of Locarno—which still depends upon a single telegraph line for prompt communication with the outside world—really substantial foundations for lasting peace in Europe will be laid.

Of former Premier Briand's mission to the international gathering at Locarno, M. Painleve had this to say: "Despite a century-old rancor and in spite of wrongs that still cry out, such reconciliation is possible."

If the words of M. Painleve represent substantial public opinion in France, it is a favorable reaction throughout Germany, M. Briand should be able to lead his colleagues along paths of peace which are more clearly marked out than any yet drawn outside of the scriptures.

VANCOUVER WILL CERTAINLY LOOK AFTER ITSELF

VANCOUVER'S THOROUGHLY hearty reception of the Prime Minister of Canada on Saturday suggests fairly clearly that the electors of the various constituencies in that community will send representatives to Ottawa after October 29 who will support the Liberal Government in its determination to assure the West that measure of justice to which it is entitled.

Mr. King's speeches at New Westminster and in Vancouver were listened to with rapt attention by great audiences composed of men and women who are taking much more interest in the fortunes of this part of the Dominion than they have ever taken before.

In view of these things, therefore, it is altogether unlikely that the electors of Vancouver and contiguous districts will return Conservative candidates, particularly as the candidates who are appealing for their support are actually pledged, under Mr. Meighen's leadership, to support Eastern interests that are definitely inimical to the future development of Vancouver and the West in general.

"GEORGE LANE, ALBERTA"

WITH MANY COLUMNS OF CANADIAN newspapers quite naturally turned over to political news and comment it is perhaps not to be wondered at that no very extended reference has been made to the passing of George Lane—rightfully called a horse and cattle king loved by everybody who knew him or had any dealings with him.

Canada as a whole mourns the loss of George Lane. He was a fine citizen who, during the past forty-five years, perhaps did more than any other man to establish the reputation of Western Canadian horse and cattle breeding.

CANADA'S DEBT

WHEN MR. MACKENZIE KING called his first parliament together in March of 1922, the net debt of Canada was $2,422,135,802. It had increased $81,000,000 during the previous year, $173,000,000 during the previous two years.

$31,000,000. The second fiscal year of the King regime (1924), saw not only the entire disappearance of the increase in the national debt, but a reduction of $36,000,000.

Canada's net debt, which had increased steadily since 1913, was thus, for the first time, on the down grade. During the fiscal year which ended with last March, a still further reduction of over a third of a million dollars was achieved.

Since 1921, the amount which the country must pay in interest on account of its national debt has been reduced by approximately $5,000,000.

In his speech at Vancouver on Saturday night the Prime Minister pointed out that more than $1,600,000,000 was added to the national debt by the Borden and Meighen Governments. He did not emphasize this by way of criticism, because expenditures for war purposes were included in the figure.

Mr. King might have made some interesting citations from Sir Andrew MacPhail's book. In any case the mere fact that he inherited from Mr. Meighen such a legacy, not to speak of a transcontinental railroad system which was being operated at a heavy loss, should indicate the nature of the task with which he was confronted when he took over the reins of government.

WHAT WAS BEHIND IT?

THAT DISPATCH FROM WASHINGTON on Saturday which said that only 2217 Canadians had returned from the United States during the last twelve months was palpably a writing or unwitting misrepresentation. Before it had been made public many hours its obvious inaccuracy, if not its political flavor, had been effectively exposed by the Department of Immigration at Ottawa.

Conservative politicians will ignore these figures and freely use the figures compiled by the authorities at Washington. They will not explain that our friends across the way are not in a position, with their existing machinery, to check emigration across the boundary. Nor will they inform their audiences that our own authorities take notice only of those returning who have resided in the United States for six months or more.

A FAITHFUL STEWARD

OPponents of the present administration at Ottawa are making a good deal of the political name by which Mr. Neill, the member for Comox-Alberni who is seeking endorsement at the forthcoming election, allows himself to be known throughout his riding and in the House of Commons.

Whether Mr. Neill has imperilled his independence by leaning too far towards the Liberal Government is a question that will be very thoroughly thrashed out before this election is over. But there are not two opinions that he has been a faithful steward for the constituency which he serves.

Apparently our up-Island contemporary is less concerned with party labels than it is with the quality of service rendered. Its editorial comment, following as it does a much lengthier discussion of what it considers to have been the shortcomings of the party in office, at least suggests that. At any rate it places no importance on the rather cheap jibes which Mr. Stevens shot at Mr. Neill when he spoke in behalf of the Conservative candidate in that constituency the other day.

THE BAD TREATMENT OF LAND-OWNERS IN B.C.

To the Editor—Numbers of landowners here in B.C. for non-payment of taxes. Surely this is surprising in a new country that needs population. What is the cause of this?

Suppose, Mr. Editor, that you are a B.C. landowner, owning land that costs you $2,000 and that your land is assessed by the Government taxation authorities as being worth $2,000, and your land tax, for one year, is fifty dollars.

Suppose now, that owing to bad business and hard times, you fail to pay that tax for some years, so that there are arrears of taxes against your land amounting to $100. The Government adds on about $12 for penalty and other charges and if you fail to pay the whole amount of $112, the Government causes your land to be offered for sale by auction for spot cash at a tax sale of lands for the upset price of about $170.

These tax sales of land have destroyed lands to such a degree, by their auction-hammer, spot-cash, quick-time method of sale that, in many cases, it is a loss to the landowner. If that happens in your case, Mr. Editor, the auctioneer, the Government, the tax collector, the Government for the upset price of $170 and if you do not redeem your land during the next year, you lose your land entirely, though it cost you $2,000.

Hundreds and probably thousands of parcels and estates of land have thus been lost by owners through confiscation of those lands by the Provincial and Municipal Governments of B.C. on account of non-payment of taxes. The Government's own assessment, was declared to be worth several times the amount of the tax, in order to encourage land-settlement in a new country like B.C. Is there any justice in such treatment of landowners?

1. Is there any justice in such treatment of landowners? 2. Is the non-payment of taxes by the landowner due to bad business and hard times, or is it due to unfair and unjust taxation? 3. As the tax sale system is very different from that of the ordinary sale of land at a public sale, and proper way of selling land? 4. Has the Government any right to confiscate land for any arrears of taxes which are in amount more than the Government's own assessment of the land value? 5. Similarly, has the Government any right to confiscate land for any arrears of taxes which are in amount more than the Government's own assessment of the land value?

Two Cruising Launches Under Construction

Two cruising launches for service in B.C. coast waters are now under construction at the Rood Brothers yards at the Gorge. One is the Oliver Clark, a fast cabin cruiser for the forest rangers, and the other is a patrol boat to bear his name.

Forestry Boat to Bear Name of Heroic Ranger

An interesting history attaches to the name of the forestry boat, being named the Oliver Clark in memory of a ranger who gave his life under exceptionally courageous circumstances in fighting forest fire.

COURT OF APPEAL SESSION TO BEGIN IN TERMINAL CITY

Appeals of Owen B. Baker and Harry Sowash First on List in Vancouver

Vancouver, Oct. 5.—Application will be made at the opening of the Fall session of the Court of Appeal in Vancouver to-morrow to have the Baker and Sowash cases given priority over the rest of the list. Owen B. Baker and Harry Sowash are in Saskatoon prison under sentence of death for the murder of Capt. W. J. Gillis in the Regal G. hijacking. The date their execution was postponed for two months until November 4 to allow their appeal to be heard.

The cases to be heard are as follows: List No. 1—Rex versus Baker and Sowash; Rex versus Giesman; Rex versus Zimmerman; Walker versus B. C. Electric Railway; Rex versus Smithers; Bokk versus Woods. List No. 2—Taxation Act, versus Louis W. Cottingham; Continental Investors versus Rhoads; Miller versus Knight; McNeill versus Mabee et al; Harper versus Wilcox. List No. 3—Hosford versus Abbottsford Lumber Company Limited; Solomon Chan versus G. C. Motor Sales; Matheson versus Thymie; Lumber Company versus Ash-Temple Company versus Wessel; St. Eloi versus St. Eloi; Ice Delivery Company versus Peers et al; North-south investment Company versus Stephen et al; Thomas versus Gale; Makina Produce Company versus Canada-Australasian Royal Mail Line; Robert Dollar Company versus Dollar et al; Planders versus B. C. Thompson; Associated Growers versus Edmonds; McCaughy versus National Life Assurance Company; Attorney-General of British Columbia versus Stanley H. O'Halloran. The speaker dealt with the action of the Mackenzie King Government with regard to the Canadian National Railway, saying that in order that Government ownership might be afforded a fair trial under the most favorable conditions the Government had carefully refrained from anything in the nature of political interference. The control, management and operation of the national system, now the largest railway system under single control in the world, has been entrusted to the president and his board of directors. Under this system there have been substantial reductions in the annual deficits of the National Railway the deficit of $11,215,156 in 1921 had been reduced to $4,848,419 in 1924. An operating deficit of $2,700,000 had been converted into a surplus of $17,000,000 in the same period of time.

DISCUSSES FINANCES

The speaker drew attention to the fact that when the Liberals took office in 1921 there were over $1,000,000,000 in debt which had to be repaid. From this $90,000,000 interest which this country had to pay. Not one cent of this had been paid by the Meighen administration. It was all left upon the shoulders of the Liberal Government.

Mr. Booth stated that he had word from Nanaimo that there was every possibility of the third candidate withdrawing even now, leaving the main fight between C. H. Dickie and himself. Reviewing Mr. Dickie's lack of interest in the riding, Mr. Booth entertained no fears regarding the result of the poll on October 29.

Canada is one of the great countries of the world, and its population is the sixth or seventh in importance in the world, said C. H. Dickie. The speaker dealt with the action of the Mackenzie King Government with regard to the Canadian National Railway, saying that in order that Government ownership might be afforded a fair trial under the most favorable conditions the Government had carefully refrained from anything in the nature of political interference. The control, management and operation of the national system, now the largest railway system under single control in the world, has been entrusted to the president and his board of directors. Under this system there have been substantial reductions in the annual deficits of the National Railway the deficit of $11,215,156 in 1921 had been reduced to $4,848,419 in 1924. An operating deficit of $2,700,000 had been converted into a surplus of $17,000,000 in the same period of time.

PRaises EQUALIZATION

The policy of equalization of railway rates, which the Government introduced in the session of 1925, and which is being worked out by the railway commission marked an advance along lines which have been the solution of many difficulties and in the larger problem of national unity, he said.

EX-MAYOR OPTIMISTIC

Mr. Mayor William Marchant of Victoria recalled that four years ago he had the pleasure of supporting T. B. Booth when he was conducting his campaign in 1921. Mr. Marchant stated that he found conditions very changed to-day. There was evidently a rallying to the Liberal cause in this part of the country as well as in other parts. Mr. Marchant discussed the policies of the three main parties engaged in this campaign, two of which favored a low tariff. The Progressive Party, which was largely composed of the farmers of the prairie and Maritime Provinces, desired a low tariff to enable them to dispose of their wheat in the open markets of the world, and the Liberal Party, which desired a low tariff for the general development of the country. The Liberal policy was not to impose upon the people an increase in the cost of living and production, but to bring in just sufficient money to meet the needs of the country.

OPPOSES TARIFF RISE

"Every individual worker would feel the burden of an increased tariff," said Mr. Marchant. "Is there any reason why our workers should be asked to support the tariff, which is to fatten upon their labors, or why they should be asked to enrich the men who are already rich?" asked Mr. Marchant.

He spoke strongly of the conditions brought about by the aftermath of the war, saying that it was to be expected that the countries concerned would have to pay the cost, in money as well as in blood, and taken place with the rest. He asked if this was a fitting a suitable time to add to the already heavy burden of taxation, which the Liberal Party are doing their best to reduce.

"There is no farmer or industrial worker who can show that they have benefited by the tariff," said Mr. Marchant. "The cost of the farm implements, the clothes you wear, and anything in your house, is made higher by the tariff, and they only ones who benefit are the manufacturers in the East."

Norman Whitaker, who spoke at the Luxton meeting, said that one of the main election issues, as far as British Columbia was concerned, was the fact that Mr. Meighen was not in favor of Western Canada. He had shown himself as favoring the manufacturers and big corporations in the East. To illustrate this he pointed to the change that had taken place in Mr. Meighen since 1908, when he was elected by a high majority. He was more or less of a radical at that time, said Mr. Whitaker, and moved a resolution for the reduction of taxes. Then reciprocity came up, and he went to Ottawa. It was he who sponsored the bill by which the Government took over the C.N.R.

Government's own commission had reported that the shares were valueless, and that Mackenzie and Mann had really no equity. From this time he became ultra Tory, and the champion of the money concerns—the big manufacturing corporations of the East. "The man who talks about Paul Bernbach in New York."

about the "utterly indefensible" reduction in freight rates for the West.

"This is the man to whom Dr. Tommie is tied as the paid organizer of the 'Conservative Party,'" said Mr. Whitaker. "Mr. Dickie is in no better a position, as he repeats everything that Mr. Meighen says, and does exactly as the party directs."

Mr. Whitaker concluded his remarks by reminding the meeting that a vote for Mr. Dickie was a vote for the Meighen policy, and said that he did not believe that the people of Western Canada will be so short sighted as to vote for a policy that would restrict trade and retard development.

Carpentier Will Try Another Comeback

Paris, Oct. 5.—Georges Carpentier, the French light heavyweight pugilist, has agreed to terms for a fight with the winner of the bout between Jimmy Delaney and Eddie Hoffman of the United States, the end of December or the beginning of January. Carpentier wins he may be will of the East. "The man who talks about Paul Bernbach in New York."

Endorsed by Federal Liberal Leaders as Candidate in Cariboo

Nominations Made by Parties in Number of Constituencies

Kamloops, Oct. 5.—Raymond Leighton, Liberal nominee in the constituency of Cariboo for the House of Commons, officially withdrew from the contest Saturday.

This leaves the field to T. G. McBride, who sat in the last House as a Progressive and who now has the endorsement of the Government and J. A. Fraser, nominated by the Conservatives.

Mr. Leighton's withdrawal greatly enhances Mr. McBride's chances of a second term and an overwhelming majority at the polls is predicted for him.

RADIO REVEALS SON TO FATHER, ENDING HEARTACHES

Now Parent Hopes to Make Great Musician of One He Deserted as a Baby

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 5.—On the mysterious waves of the air comes the deep bass voice of the radio announcer:

"This is station KFKX, Hastings, Nebraska. The next selection will be a violin duet by William and Edward Zimmer, father and son."

And then comes a plaintive melody from two violins.

But even radio, marvelous as it is in enabling people to hear beautiful music hundreds of miles away, fails completely to tell the story behind the harmony of these two violins.

STORY RIVALS FICTION For it is a story of love, heartaches, anger and happiness, such as is usually found only in fiction. It's a story of real life written in bitter and happy experiences of twenty years.

At the age of nineteen, William Zimmer, a violinist educated in Berlin, fell in love with a sixteen-year-old girl in New York City. After a hasty courtship they were married, and both were very happy.

A baby was born. Like his father, the boy soon displayed real musical talent. The mother did everything possible to develop the son's musical education. The family moved to St. Louis and Edward made his debut over radio while his father was playing over the radio at Hastings.

But due to adverse business conditions, the Mack fortune was swept away. This sudden change meant an end to Edward's musical education, the mother realized, unless in some way the boy's father would help.

The radio had revealed that the father was living at Hastings, and the mother decided on an arduous plan in her efforts to make the boy a real musician.

TO FATHER INCOGNITO Under the name of Mack she sent him to Hastings to take violin lessons under his father.

At first, Edward protested against the idea, saying he didn't care to know a father who had deserted him as a baby and had never shown any interest in him.

The rest of the story is told by the father.

"He had been taking music lessons off me for several weeks, and I hadn't recognized him," said Zimmer.

"You see, I hadn't even seen him since he was nine months old. I had worried about him, and wondered about him, because I wasn't proud of the things that had happened when I was younger. And so I hadn't tried to find him."

"I had told my wife all about my first marriage and that made it possible to take him right into our home."

"I was a perfect father to him, he was perfectly frank about his past life. We have a little girl six years old. We are all very happy together."

He is a wonderful violinist. He plays in the orchestra I direct, and give him solo parts, for he is a better musician than I am.

"AT the close of the season I shall take him to New York to study. I am in a position to help him, and it is my turn to do something now."

"In this life we throw away the most precious things, and I am glad I had made up my mind that if I wasn't a worthwhile father he would never tell me who he was."

"I am glad to make a missing all this happiness."

At the close of the season I shall take him to New York to study. I am in a position to help him, and it is my turn to do something now.

Splendid Scores Made by Golfers In Oak Bay Match

W. H. MacInnes Won Qualifying Round of C. & M. Competition; Draw is Made

Some surprising scores were turned in at the Victoria Golf Club in the qualifying round of the Challenger and Mitchell Cup competition. W. H. MacInnes, the medalist, made the eighteen holes in 75, and Stan Haynes, who was second, had a 75. J. E. Wilson came in with a 78, which won fourth place for him.

The handicaps were allowed in the competition and as a result some of the best players in the club failed to qualify. It has given many of the players who are forced to sit out the outside and look in a chance to get to the front.

Four players tied for the final place in the cup flight and in the draw F. A. Wylie dropped to the first flight.

The gross and net scores, together with the handicaps were as follows:

ASTORIA-NEW YORK TRIP MADE BY MEN IN MOTORBOAT

New York, Oct. 5.—Two men, who left Astoria, Ore., four months ago in a specially built motorboat, completed their trip today when they came to the first trans-continental voyage, covering 5,680 miles, during which they crossed the Rocky Mountains, five states and two Canadian provinces. Their actual "water time" was eighty-six days.

The modern voyagers were John E. Hoag and Frank S. Wilson, both of Alhambra, Cal.

On May 20 they left Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia River, and traveled up the river until they came to Chellico Falls, Wash. Their boat was then carried overland to Dallas, Ore. They dropped down the Missouri River to the Illinois river, up the latter and through the Chicago drainage canal into Lake Michigan and North through Lake Michigan and through Lake Huron, by way of the Trent waterway around Lake Erie, down the St. Lawrence River through the Richelieu River, through Lake Champlain and through the Champlain Canal to the Hudson River, and down the Hudson to New York. All but 400 miles of the trip was by water.

Canadian Inventory Bourassa's Desire

Mont. Laurier, Que., Oct. 5.—Henri Bourassa, who has offered himself as an independent candidate for the House of Commons in the County of La Belle, Quebec, according to a manifesto which he issued here, will, if elected, demand that the Government's agreement among other things, of the following:

A thorough inventory of Canada's financial situation.

Impartial and competent inquiry into the economic situation of the British Empire.

Reduction of the whole fiscal system with a view, among other things, of lowering the prices of staple articles of consumption and machinery used in basic industries.

Re-organization of the whole system of transportation, taking into account that the Prairie Provinces are deprived of water routes, favoring the exchange of natural and manufactured products between all provinces, lowering the cost of transportation from the central regions to both sea borders and reciprocally, and providing for better use

Short Prices Paid At Final Day Of Colwood Race Meet

Favorites and Second Choices Carried Off Money; Peg O Paid Best Price of $7.20

Short prices featured at the final day of the three-day race held at the Colwood track on Saturday afternoon. The largest crowd of the meet attended but there wasn't a single long shot to send the fans home talking. In the seven events the favorite or second choice carried off the money.

Jockey Leonard had a great day bringing home four winners. Lafferty rode two of the other winning mounts while Marshall rode the outside and took in a chance to get to the other winner.

Peg O proved to be a consistent winner when she came home in the first event and paid $7.20 which was the best price of the day. The Minutes, a strong favorite, was shut off in the early running but came on with a rush on the stretch to take second money.

Hot Muffin repeated her performance of Friday by carrying off the money in the fifth race. She opened a gap at the start winning easily. Green Mint kept up with the leader until the last quarter and fell back to win place coin.

The best race of the day was seen in the sixth event when Lafferty brought Key Schee through on the rail to beat out Rainbow by a nose.

Chancellor, Oct. 5.—Lately United States historians have been bountifully telling the story of the flight of Benjamin Franklin's electricity detecting kite.

They have attempted to relegate the legend to the realm of historical fallacies. Their claim has been that had Franklin tried the experiment, he would have been electrocuted and burned to a crisp brown crust.

But a book has been discovered, piled with 12,000 other volumes in a garage store room owned by the Cincinnati Public Library, containing a letter written by Franklin himself on the experiment and its results.

The volume is a compendium of many letters written by Franklin and members of the Royal Scientific Society of London.

NEW FOUND LETTER SHOWS FRANKLIN'S KITE CLAIMS TRUE

While the story handed down placed the scene of the trial in the tower of the four corners of the wet and windy Philadelphia, Franklin fails to mention the weather. It is also evident he had no intention of attracting lightning to his kite, but that he was really wanted to prove the presence of electricity during a thunderstorm.

The letter was written probably in 1752. His observations and instructions follow:

"Make a cross of two light strips of cedar, the arms so long as to reach the four corners of the wet and windy kerchief when extended. Tie the corners of the handkerchief to the extremities of the cross, so you have the body of a kite, rising, being properly accommodated with a tail, loops, and string, will rise in the air, like those made of paper, but this, being silk, in the case of the wet and windy of a thunder gust without tearing. To the top of the upright stick of the cross is to be fixed a very sharp pointed kite, rising a foot or more above the wood. To the end of the twine next to the hand, is to be tied a silk ribbon, and where the silk is pointed, a key may be fastened. This kite is to be raised when a thunder gust appears to be coming on, and the person who holds the string must stand within a door or window, under some other covering, so the silk ribbon may not be wet, and care must be taken that the twine does not touch the frame of the door or window."

ATTRACTED BY FINGER

"As soon as any of the thunderclouds cover the kite, the pointed wire will draw the electric fire from them, and the kite, with all the twine, will be electrified in the same manner. The twine will stand out every way and be attracted by an approaching finger. And when the rain has begun, or the twine is wet, so it can conduct the electric fire freely, you will find it stream out plentifully from the key on the approach of your knuckle. At this key, a phial may be attached, and from electric fire thus obtained, spirits may be ignited and all the other electric experiments be performed, which are usually done by a rubbed glass globe or tube, and thereby the sameness of the electric matter with that of lightning completely demonstrated."

PREMIER KING IS TO SPEAK IN EDMONTON

To-night He is Expected to Discuss Peace River as Field For Immigrants

Edmonton, Oct. 5.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—The Peace River area as a field for immigrants is expected to be discussed by Premier King at his meeting here to-night. After crossing the Rocky Mountains twice in three days, the Prime Minister arrived in Edmonton this morning, where he was met by Hon. G. H. Holvin.

A change is being made in the programme for the Prime Minister's return across Canada. He was originally scheduled to return direct to Ottawa from Winnipeg, but the plans now are for him to return by way of Montreal, where he will hold meetings at a number of Western Ontario points en route.

RAYMOND GRIFFITH APPEARS IN BIG COMEDY PICTURE AT THE DOMINION THIS WEEK

Mary Brain Appears Opposite the Star in Wonderful Story Written for the Screen by Keene Thompson; Griffith Has Scope for His Talent in "A Regular Fellow."

That the comedy path is not a beaten track after all and that nimble brains can evolve brand new ideas, is proven in "A Regular Fellow," Paramount's first starring production for Raymond Griffith, whose ever-increasing popularity with the public is the outstanding sensation of the past year.

"A Regular Fellow," opening at the Dominion to-day, takes audiences into the home of royalty and proves that a son of royalty does not lead an altogether happy or dull existence with the constant demands upon him for what is known in screenland as "personal appearances" at all times and at all manner of events.

RAY AS A PRINCE

For example, the opening scenes disclose Griffith as a European Prince, leading a hectic existence. He is seen reviewing his army and that, and officiating here and there.

Griffith, tired of it all, complains to his father, the king, who laughs the matter off when the boy suggests a vacation. He tells him he cannot even get out of the Palace grounds.

Griffith makes the attempt and finds himself in the midst of a group of tourists just as he is safely outside. They carry him along into the palace, not knowing who he is, and he evolves an idea to get them quieted, which works all right and out he goes with them, hidden in the crowd.

He has been attracted to Mary Brain, one of the tourists and has fallen in love with her, but she refuses his advances because she blames him for her not seeing the prince—she does not know who he is and he does not disclose his identity.

Later Griffith is driving his roadster along a country road and sees Mary driving in a taxi. He drives alongside and makes a flying leap for her car and just makes it. They wander off to talk things over but they have no peace, for no matter where they go, the villagers follow, acclaiming The Prince.

His Best Yet
In the midst of his love making the prime minister arrives with attaches to notify him his father is dead and he is the king. Right there the real excitement starts. The story is said to be the most absorbing, as well as the funniest, in which Griffith has appeared.

Mary Brain is featured opposite the star in the production, which was written for the screen by Keene Thompson from the story by Reginald RAYMOND GRIFFITH AND MARY BRIAN in "A Regular Fellow," at the Dominion Theatre this week.

Brydone Will Dance The Charleston at Coliseum This Week

Eva Hart is Back With Company to Star in "The Pink Lady."

Dance lovers eager to learn the Charleston of which so much has been said and written will have the opportunity at the Coliseum next week. George Brydone, the dancing star of the company, will lead in a demonstration of the Charleston during the performance of "The Pink Lady," the bright musical show with its beautiful melodies into which the dancing numbers fit so appropriately. Although Mr. Brydone is an athletic stage dancer of repute he will not demonstrate to the dance lovers some difficult feats which are impossible for the hall-room. He will demonstrate the Charleston fox trot as it should be danced at the Press Club ball or any other brilliant social function. The whole company will join with Mr. Brydone in the dance. This is the first of a series of dances which Mr. Brydone will give during the winter, some of which have not yet made their way to the Pacific Coast to be generally known yet. The Charleston shuffle and other dances will be shown later. The stage offering this week should prove among the best of the Coliseum's many successes. Every member has a good part and there is an excellent plot with several love stories skilfully entwined. It deals with a leading lady of the screen, her ardent wooer, an aristocratic lady and her gay flapper daughter. An unscrupulous politician of great power, wielding a strange influence over all those who come into contact with him, is the theme of "Am The Man" at the Coliseum Theatre next week. But we are disclosing the best part of the secret when we tell you that Lionel Barrymore is the star of the picture—news that should easily crowd the Coliseum Theatre all during the run of this picture.

Radio Quartette Sings at Dominion

This week the management of the Dominion Theatre are presenting the Velvet Radio Male-Voice Quartette as a special added attraction to the regular feature presentation "A Regular Fellow" starring Raymond Griffith. This quartette have made an enviable reputation for themselves singing over the radio, but now music-lovers will have the opportunity to see and hear this superb aggregation of soloists. They will be heard singing every evening at the deluxe shows.

RABBIT BREEDERS' MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Victoria Rabbit Breeders' Association will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday, October 6, in the Y.M.C.A. building, Blanshard Street, where business of importance will be discussed. The Department of Agriculture have recently issued a new bulletin entitled "Fur-bearing and Market Rabbits," revised by J. H. Terry, chief poultry instructor of Victoria, and J. Allen, district instructor of New Westminster. ### "Everyman's Wife" Opens To-night at Columbia Theatre

Elaine Hammerstein and Herbert Rawlinson in Leading Roles

Maurice Elvey, William Fox director, who made "Everyman's Wife," which opens at the Columbia Theatre to-day, doesn't believe in villains. That is, he doesn't want them in the stories he films. So he requires the actors who play "heavy" roles in his pictures to steer clear of the conventional screen and fiction villainy.

—There are no deep-eyed villains, no 100 per cent. scoundrels in actual life," he explained. "Every crook, every gunman, every thug and murderer has his redeeming characteristics; if he behaved as some screen and fiction villains do, he wouldn't last two days."

"I prefer to make the 'villain' of my pictures behave naturally. In 'Everyman's Wife,' for example, Robert Cain plays the heavy role, yet he does it deftly, with a suavety that is charming; he is far from the old stereotyped style of sneaky, beetle-browed marplot."

Elaine Hammerstein and Herbert Rawlinson are cast in the leading roles in "Everyman's Wife." Dorothy Phillips and Robert Cain and Danny Miller have important supporting roles.

Corinne Vaughn to Make Her Bow to Playhouse Patrons

"Playhouse Carnival" on Stage and "Miss Captain Kidd" on Screen

This week on the stage will be seen "The Playhouse Carnival," which will introduce to Victoria audiences Miss Corinne Vaughn. It is entirely different from previous attractions at this popular house.

Mr. Hincks, who is always on the lookout for hidden talent has indeed found a voice worthy of his attention. According to Mr. Hincks Miss Corinne Vaughn, the possessor of the voice in question, can readily be classed as one of Canada's finest sopranos, and he feels that with the addition of this beautiful voice he has indeed the super cast to present a super show. Such players as Ernie Fitch, Peggy Lewis, Harold Reebick, Hugh Williamson, Eileen Bennett, Audrey Bennett, Reg. Hincks and Miss Corinne Vaughn make up the cast.

Two weeks on the open sea! That with the programme for the Gothic Company under the directorship of Tom Buckingham, while filming "Forbidden Cargo," showing at the Playhouse. With Evelyn Brent enacting the role of a sork of little, "Miss Captain Kidd," a modern rum-running pirate on the blue waters of the Spanish Main, where once the jolly rover of the buccaner struck terror to the gold-bearing galleons of Old Spain, the sojourn was made necessary. A great part of the action of the story takes place on the deck of a boot-legging vessel, on the speed boats of hi-jackers, and on the revenue-cutter.

LIQUORS AGAIN SOLD FREELY IN RUSSIA

Eleven Years of Partial Prohibition in That Country Came to End Yesterday

Individuals Now Permitted to Make and Sell Alcoholic Beverages

Moscow, Oct. 5.—After eleven years of partial prohibition, Russia yesterday became completely wet. Whiskey, brandy and liquors containing sixty per cent. of alcohol and vodka of forty per cent. strength again appeared in the cafes, restaurants and stores.

The new order was to have gone into effect October 1, but as that was within the recruiting period of the Red army, it was postponed until yesterday. Several hundred thousand bottles of pre-war liquors of various kinds, which could not be sold previously on account of their high alcoholic content, were automatically released for sale at $1 to $4 a quart. Many of the foreign missions took advantage of the opportunity to replenish their depleted cellars.

Hitherto the Government maintained a monopoly of the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors, but under the new order private individuals will be permitted to make and sell liquor. Many influential Communists, including the widow of Nicolai Lenin, were opposed to the abandonment of prohibition, but the Government's need of revenue, the imprudent use of wheat and rye by the peasantry in making vodka and the wholesale traffic in illicit spirits prompted the Government to return to a wet regime.

FAITH HEALING IS SUBJECT OF DEBATE

Denver, Col., Oct. 5.—Voicing his conviction that "any clergyman who is a sincere follower of Jesus Christ must preach healing through faith," Rev. Robert B. H. Bell, rector of St. Thomas's Episcopal Church of Denver, yesterday buried a challenge at the Protestant Episcopal denomination to try on record on the question of faith healing at its triennial convention at New Orleans.

"If any clergyman denies healing through faith may be achieved, he is a liar and impostor, and should be drummed out of the church as one denying the teachings of his Lord and Saviour," declared Dr. Bell.

His statement was backed up by the view he attributed to Dr. Edgar S. Cowles of New York against miraculous healing.

New Dramatic Season Opens In Earnest; "Green Hat" Has New York Buzzing

New York, Oct. 5.—With a dozen new productions opening this week, some of them as important as the season may be expected to turn out, the current dramatic season can be announced as launched with a great splash.

Many of the shows must wait for detailed description, and some of them will be returned to with respectful fullness of detail. In the midst of the rush-attention will have to centre on these more spectacular premieres about which Broadway is making the most talk.

Trailing an initial glamor such as has attended scarcely any first appearance since "The Miracle," the exotic Michael Arlen's "Green Hat" has made its related appearance here. That glamor was dispelled in only the slightest possible degree when the play was brought down to actuality in the persons of Katharine Cornell, Margalo Gilmore, Leslie Howard and their company. "The Green Hat" may be a romance of sentiment-sugared vice and illogical virtue, but these people wheedle one into accepting it.

The play is better than the novel. It tells the same story of the shameful, shameless lady, but the author develops it by an altered set of incidents and has written new sparkles of conversation.

"The Green Hat" is stage entertainment in the highest degree. It is removed from everyday life and May-fair seems the place that never was. Being ultra "well bred," it still is as suffused with sex as any drama. Its people are dream figures, and even Miss Cornell seems to have limited opportunity to extend her acting powers. Yet few plays during the season will touch it for intrinsic interest.

Population of Australia is Now About 6,000,000

Melbourne, Oct. 5.—Statistics just completed show that on March 31 last Australia had a population of 5,900,000, an increase of 11,000 in three months. Savings bank deposits on the same day aggregated $199,525,000. The total industrial production of Australia for the year ended June 1 last is shown to have been $1,311,000,000.

"First Flight," by Maxwell Anderson and Lawrence Stallings, is that phenomenon observable in many good families, a younger brother resembling but possessing little of the robustness of the first born. The authors of the splendid and noisy "What Price Glory" have tamed their profanity, diffused their plot, gone in for poetry and moonlight and brought forth a play which must be set down as dull.

The play deals in the modern realistic method with young red headed Andrew Jackson when he went to carry the law to the Free State of Franklin. He admits he was "born for trouble" and proves that he can out-drink, out-shoot, out-dance and out-woo any buckskin along the Nolichucky Fringe. It is a gorgeous material, yet the authors seem more anxious at times to impart historical instruction than to tell their story.

This regretful disparagement still leaves room to say the piece has its moments of beauty and excitement. Rudolph Cameron is Andy Jackson, and young Helen Chandler does excellently in the principal woman's part. Caroline Newcomb is about perfect as the southern backwoods mother.

Unless these time-wary ears have lost their cunning, the Main Street brass bands will be marching to the strains of "To Hell With Burgundy" on many an occasion to come. This is but one of Rudolph Friml's rousing melodies in "The Vagabond King," a gorgeous musical version of "If I Were King." It is a piece to be talked of in superlatives—the Reynolds costumes, the quality of music, the singing, the story, and the work of Dennis King as Francois. King is what they call on Broadway "the star." The show is putting blasé audiences on their toes.

Three other musical shows have opened, and each in its way is worth any amusement seeker's patronage. "No, No, Nanette" reached New York after winning fame for more than a year in Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and beyond. It is as good as it was cracked up to be, and now that it is here it should stay quite a while. Marilyn Miller returns to musical comedy in "Sunny," which is one of those big, beautiful and expensive displays which make praise inevitable. "Dearest Enemy" proves to be a sweet, pretty and intelligent version, with tunes, of how beguiling Colonial dames prevented British officers from winning the Revolution.

CHIROTONSORS TO MEET IN SEATTLE Seattle, Oct. 5.—Now that the general public has become accustomed to calling real estate agents "realtors" and undertakers "morticians," why shouldn't barbers be known as "chirotonsors"? That is the question the members of the Northern Master Barbers' Association, convening here October 5, will be called upon to decide. A chirotonsor, Phil McCook, secretary of the Seattle Master Barbers' Association, explained to-day, is "one who shears with his hand." The name change will be brought up, Cook said, when affiliation with the National Association of Chirotonsors is considered. Besides the change in cognomen, the barbers will discuss higher standards of service, a code of ethics to elevate the profession and the latest modes of chirotonorsing. More than 100 barbers from Oregon, California, British Columbia and Washington are expected to attend.

THOMAS MEIGHEN STARS IN "MAN WHO FOUND HIMSELF" AT CAPITOL THIS WEEK

Is Fine Prison Tale Specially Written for the Paramount Star by Booth Tarkington of Son Sentenced Unjustly for Supposed Theft From Father's Bank.

If a vote was taken as to the most popular picture Thomas Meighen ever made, "The City of Silent Men" would stand high in the rating. "The Confidence Man" would be right up among the leaders, too.

Both were tales with a prison flavor. Now Tom comes along with a bigger and better picture in which he spends considerable of his time "making little ones out of big ones" after he is sentenced, unjustly accused of making away with considerable money from his father's bank in which he is vice-president.

"The Man Who Found Himself," which Booth Tarkington wrote especially for the Paramount, starts brings it all to the screen at the Capitol Theatre this week.

A GLIMPSE OF THE STORY
The Merchants and Seaman's National Bank is the pride of Tom's father, who deplores his elder son's tendency to mix with the socially elite rather than pay strict attention to business.

It is taken for granted by everyone in the town that Tom is to marry Nora Brooks (Virginia Valli), Tom's rival for the hand of Nora is Lou Morris, also a rival banker. When Tom is away for three days on a yachting trip with a millionaire, it is Morris who inflames Nora's suspicions, in some way responsible for his absence.

Tom's younger married brother Edwin gambles with the bank's money and loses $40,000. He confesses to Morris and asks him to advance this sum to him. Morris consents and Edwin asks Tom to get the money for him. But Morris has played false and warned the bank examiners that something crooked was going on. The bank examiners appear and Tom is caught putting the shortage into the bank. He is accused, Edwin refusing to clear him, he goes to Sing Sing. There is a run on the bank and it fails, Morris taking it over and becoming president—while Macaulay, crushed by his son's defection and the loss of his bank, dies, still believing Tom guilty.

BREAKS JAIL
Tom becomes a trusty and makes friends with the Optimist and the Pessimist who, when they leave, give tells Nora that Morris sent him to prison knowing him innocent. The warden keeps his escape a secret when he returns and serves his term. Upon his release, Tom gets a cold shoulder everywhere. He looks up his two prison friends, and urges them to help him get revenge on Morris by stealing a sum from the bank and then accusing Morris of a burglary. Tom goes to Morris and tells him of the shortage after the Optimist has gotten the money from the bank. Morris is really guilty and hurries to the bank to gather securities so that he may escape. He is shot and killed by a bank guard. Everything is straightened out for Tom and Nora in the scenes that follow.

"The Man Who Found Himself" was directed by Alfred E. Green, who made "Back Home and Broke" and several other big Meighen hits. Tom Geraghty wrote the screen play.

Eclipse of Sun is To be Photographed

Washington, Oct. 5.—An eight months' trip half way around the world for two minutes of actual work will be the experience of a party from the Naval Observatory here that has left to observe the total eclipse of the sun in January, 1925, at Sumatra, in the Dutch East Indies.

ties also will be at Sumatra, as well as a party from Swarthmore College. The Italians will have an observational party in Eastern Africa. The United States naval group will endeavor to observe phenomenon in connection with the upward curve of the sunspot cycle, and will study the sun's corona as well. Motion pictures and color plates of the eclipse will be made. Special attention will be given to the sun's gases, which scientists say extend as far as 2,000,000 miles from the sun's rim when the moon blots out its face. The party will travel on the naval minesweeper Bittern from Manila to Sumatra. The three months' interim before the eclipse occurs on January 14—visible only from Africa to the Indian Ocean—will be spent in creating housing and a microscope tower. Lieutenant Henry C. Kellers, a naval doctor, has been detailed to the expedition at the request of the Smithsonian Institution, to collect specimens of birds, mammals and insects. The others in the party are Capt. Frank B. Littell, professor of mathematics; George H. Peters, associate astronomer; G. M. Raynford, junior astronomer, and Dr. John A. Anderson of the Mount Wilson Observatory, Pasadena, California, physicist.

CURTAIN FALLS ON BIG LEAGUE BALL

Heilman Takes Batting Honors From Speaker

Detroit Slugger Snatches Title From Tris in Final Day's Games; Hornsby Finishes Season With Average of .403 and Equals Record for Hitting; Coveleskie Leading Pitching in American League; Sherdel Best Hurler in National; Chicago Cubs Drop to Last Place

New York, Oct. 5.—The regular major league season has ended with the Senators and Pirates now preparing for the world's series, each winning their respective leagues by 8½ games.

Three games in each league were played as the curtain fell yesterday. So far as the standing was concerned, the only result was the Cubs fell to the cellar of the National League through a defeat by St. Louis.

On the heels of the Washington Senators and Philadelphia Athletics, the St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers finished in order in the American League and will share in the world series money as will the Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals, who trailed the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Giants in the first division of the National League.

The "H's" Have It

At top is Rogers Hornsby, who won the batting honors in the National League while at the bottom is Harry Heilman of the Detroit Tigers, who rattled out enough hits yesterday to win the batting crown in the American League.

Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals won the National League batting honors for six successive years. His mark, .403, also made him of the only three men to hit over .400 for three seasons. The others were James Hurlock and Ty Cobb.

HEILMAN WINS AGAIN
Harry Heilman, Detroit's outfielder, won the batting crown in the American League for the third time with an average of .392.

Johnny Mostil of the White Sox captured the base-stealing honors in the American with 42 and Max Carey of the Pirates led in the National League with 43.

Hornsby was crown king of the home-run hitters in the majors with 23, three less than his own National League record of last year. Bob Meusel of the Yankees led in the American League with 39, while Babe Ruth finished in a deadlock for second honors in his league with Ken Williams of the Browns with 25.

COVELESKIE BEST PITCHER
Stanley Coveleskie of Washington led the American League pitchers with 20 victories and a defeat. Dazzy Vance of Brooklyn was beaten by Sherdel of the Cardinals for honors in the National League. Sherdel won 17 and lost 6, while Vance won 12 and lost 5.

Bottomley of the Cardinals collected the most hits in the National League, 257, while Simmons of the Athletics rolled up 225 in the American. Cuyler of the Pirates led the run-scoring with 144, while Simmons accounted for 121.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
St. Louis, Oct. 5.—St. Louis wound up its 1925 American League season yesterday by losing a doubleheader to Detroit by 10 to 4 and 11 to 0. A terrific barrage of 21 base hits, including two homers, gave the Tigers their first victory, while Browns errors paved the way for the second sweep of the three-game series.

SOX FINISH WITH LOSS
Chicago, Oct. 5.—The White Sox closed the American League season in Chicago yesterday by defeating Cleveland, 10 to 4, and making a clean sweep of the three-game series.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Chicago, Oct. 5.—St. Louis defeated Chicago in the final game of the season yesterday, sending the Cubs to last place in the league standing by a score of 7 to 5.

PIRATES WIN AND LOSE

Lee Meadows And Walt Johnson To Pitch In Opener

Great Excitement in Pittsburgh as World's Series Nears; Park Sold Out

Pirates Busily Engaged in Secret Practices; Washington Arrive To-morrow

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 5.—With the ringing down of the curtain on the major league baseball season the stage was being set today for the opening game of the world series at Forbes Field, the home lot of the National League champions, the Pittsburgh Pirates, who, on Wednesday, will enter the final battle of the annual fall baseball classic as the opponents of the Washington Senators, 1925 champions of the American League and defenders of the world championship.

Manager McKechnie and his speedy young Pirate team are home from Cincinnati, where the last game on the regular schedule was played over the week-end. Final practice sessions preparatory for the first clash with the veteran Senators are on the schedule for this afternoon and tomorrow morning. "Bucky" Harris was due to lead his club into Pittsburgh to-night and Forbes Field will be turned over to the American Leaguers to-morrow afternoon for a workout.

The double-header with the Reds on Sunday afforded Manager McKechnie an opportunity to put several of his second-string men into action, Pitcher Cullinan, Catcher Spencer, Infielder Thompson and Outfielder Haas working in a portion of the second game. Since clinching the senior circuit pennant about ten days ago, all of Skipper Haas' strategy has been pointed toward priming the entire team, both regulars and reserve, for the title fray and no stone in that direction has been left unturned.

MEADOWS TO OPEN
No definite announcement on the pitching assignments for Pittsburgh has been made by Manager McKechnie. In the opinion of fans and sport writers, however, Lee Meadows, respected mound artist, who came to the Buccaneers from the Phillies in 1923, will be the selection to oppose Walter Johnson, veteran stand-by of the youthful Bucky Harris and the pitching hero of last year's series. "The big train" it has been announced by Harris, will be the one likely to climb the hill in the first act.

It is considered likely that Vic Aldridge, who was obtained from the Chicago Cubs last winter by trade and a holdout during the Spring training season, will be the Pirate chief pitcher for this afternoon, and with Ray Kremer slated for duty on the third day of the big-tussle.

FANS ARE GATHERING
Fans from the four corners of the county are assembling in the Skopy City and eagerly await the call "Play Ball." All reserved seats were sold long ago, but carpenters are still at work on the temporary stands in left field which will accommodate an additional 6,000 enthusiasts bringing the capacity of Forbes Field to more than 45,000.

Already the hotels and boarding houses are booked to the limit and are making arrangements to care for additional guests with emergency accommodations.

Peckinpaugh to Play With Steel Brace in Shoe; Coveleskie Out
Washington, Oct. 4.—Roger Peckinpaugh, Washington shortstop, will participate in the world's series, despite the slight ankle sprain he suffered Wednesday in fielding practice in Boston.

An X-ray of the veteran's ankle disclosed no broken bones and "Peck" will go into the opening game wearing a specially made steel braced shoe as a support.

A general improvement has been noted in the condition of Pitcher Stanley Coveleskie, also on the sick list. He has a sore back and both eyes of a target at each hole, and Harkins was required to cast into a thirty-six-inch hoop.

Baltimore Hit Hard And Little Series is Now Standing Even
Baltimore, Md., Oct. 5.—Baltimore won the fourth game of the Junior World series with Louisville yesterday, 7 to 5, and tied the American Association club with two games won and two lost.

Ogden failed in his second attempt to subdue the Colonels but Thomas stepped to the box at the start of the fourth inning and stopped the Louisville sluggers in their track. He gave up three hits, two in the ninth and one in the first, and fanned seven men, five of them in a row in the fourth and fifth innings.

Three Louisville pitchers toiled against the international leaguers but Tincup was the victim in one big inning which gave the Birds five runs.

FOOTBALL CORRECTION
The score in the game between Cardiff and Bury in the Old Country games on Saturday should have read: Cardiff 3, Bury 2.

DEAN OF HURLERS TO PITCH FIRST GAME

Walter Johnson needs no introduction. He's been in the main tent since 1907, ranking as the oldest pitcher in point of service in the majors today. He's had a splendid season and stands out as one of Washington's best bets in the blue ribbon classic. He is to pitch in the opening game in Pittsburgh on Wednesday.

Veterans Are Badly Beaten By Ladysmith

Score of 7-0 Recorded in Pacific Coast League Match Played Up-Island Yesterday; Miners Used New Off-side Rule to Good Advantage; North Shore Plays Here Next Saturday; Esquimalt Defeated Wests and Sons of England Won From James Island; Coulter Scored Eight Goals to Help Services Beat Victoria United Ladysmith, Oct. 5.—Playing their opponents off their feet the Ladysmith soccer eleven defeated the Victoria Veterans here yesterday in a Pacific Coast League match by the overwhelming score of 7-0. The home club displayed a far better brand of football than the visitors, and had the edge on the play during both halves. The Ladysmith club used the new off-side rule to good advantage. The visiting players seemed unfamiliar with the rule.

Ladysmith proved a great team and will be hard to beat on their home grounds. Bell, their new inside left, who performed with Hamilton until just recently, played a wonderful game and was the best player on the field. At half-time the score stood 3-0.

Next Saturday the Vets will clash with North Shore of Vancouver, at the Royal Athletic Park, while on the following Saturday they will meet Nanaimo here. Both clubs have strong teams and should give the Veterans tough games.

One-sided soccer featured the First Division football matches on Saturday afternoon. In the three games the winning teams scored decisive victories over their opponents. At the Royal Athletic Park, Esquimalt sent the Wests down to defeat by the score of 4-1 while at Central Park the Sons of England triumphed over James Island by the same count. Those who attended the match at Beacon Hill witnessed a real burlesque game as a worse defeat accounted for the Victoria United by the terrible score of 11-0.

As a result of their victory Esquimalt are now sitting in first place in the First Division. The Dockers deserved their win over the green-shirts as they displayed a far better brand of football.

For the first part of the opening half Esquimalt had the edge on the play but they were unable to break through, the strong defence put up by Harry "Tommy" Thomas and Bob Whyte in goal. These three put up a fine exhibition and it was only through them that the green-shirts didn't suffer a worse defeat.

ESQUIMALT OPENS SCORING
Esquimalt advanced into the lead when after a general attack on the green-shirts goal Warren, the Dockers' inside right back, Whyte with a low shot. This seemed to put more life into the Wests and they carried the play into their opponents' goal area. Nicol was tested with a number of hot shots but he blocked them all in fine style.

Five minutes after the start of the final half Tommy Watt scored Esquimalt's second goal with a fast shot from close quarters. The Wests then took a hand in the play but their young forward line appeared to be too anxious and on several occasions they tossed away fine chances to score.

Esquimalt's third goal came when Harry placed the leather between the goal after one of their attacks on

Argos Defeated By Hamilton Tigers In First Rugby Game

Tigers Pile up Big Lead and Hold Off Oarsmen's Final Rush; Ottawa Win Easily

Toronto Varsity Beaten in Great Struggle With Hamilton Rowing Club

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 5.—Hamilton Tigers defeated Toronto Argos in the opening game of the inter-provincial football series here on Saturday by 14 to 11.

Losses playing by both teams was noticeable and they were frequently loose balls. The Hamilton team made most of its points in the first quarter, largely aided by Argos' defence.

The Argo team showed strong line work, making frequent breaks through for yards. Hughes and Green played brilliant games for the Toronto team, and Gibb, Quinn and Raynor starred for Tigers. Each side scored a try and Quinn and Hughes both put over drop kicks.

Both teams temporarily lost prominent players when, Brose, Toronto, and Gibb, Tigers, were out of the game for a full quarter. After losses work in the first quarter Argos settled down to a steady gait and managed to send the score to near that of the Hamilton team.

OTTAWA RAN WILD
Ottawa, Oct. 5.—Ottawa Senators opened their big four schedule here on Saturday with a 17 to 1 victory over M.A.A. The game was an even battle for three periods but in the final quarter the home team ran riot, piling up 11 points to salt the victory. Led by the brilliant Tubman, who outkicked his opposition all the way the Ottawas played sound football and richly earned the decision. Cornell, Miller, Young and Emerson were all great. Jeff Russell and Charlie Booth shone for the losers, the former playing a wonderful game. The game was lively throughout and several near-scrapes were nipped in the bud. A crowd of about 6,000 attended the fourth match of the season.

VARISITY LOSES IN OVERTIME
Toronto, Oct. 5.—Two of the most evenly matched teams that ever stepped onto the gridiron, fought a hard game here on Saturday when Hamilton Rowing Club won from University of Toronto by 9 to 8, in twenty minutes of overtime play in the opening game of the O.R.F.U. Sixty minutes of the hardest kind of football failed to find advantage, both teams fighting throughout on even terms. In the overtime Varsity weakened, the Hamilton attack producing the one point to win.

NEWCOMERS BEATEN
Toronto, Oct. 4.—Balmy Beach seniors, champions of the O.R.F.U., opened the season on Saturday afternoon with a 7 to 1 win over Camp Borden, new entrants to the series. It was a closely-contested game.

American Fishermen Challenge Canadian Boats For Trophy
Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 5.—The United States fishermen's race committee has voted unanimously to send a challenge to Halifax for an international race this fall. This action follows the receipt of a letter early last week from the owners of the schooner Columbia, saying they were ready to meet a Canadian vessel either here or off Halifax.

Berlenback Meets Solomon To-night
New York, Oct. 5.—If the weather is favorable, Paul Berlenback, world's light-heavyweight champion, battles King Solomon, Panama heavyweight, to-night at 10 o'clock at the Polo Grounds in the feature ten-round bout in the closing outdoor boxing show of the season. Rain this morning, however, made it doubtful whether the fight could be held to-night.

Ruggers to Meet
A meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union will be held to-morrow afternoon at 5 o'clock in the office of Gordon Cameron, Union building. All delegates are asked to attend.

COULTER GETS EIGHT
Coulter, the United Services' star centre-forward, hung up a great record at Beacon Hill when he scored eight of his ten goals to help his team beat the Victoria United 11-0. This is a record in local soccer circles and it will no doubt be a long time before it is beaten.

The Victoria United were at no time dangerous and their forwards were unable to develop any kind of combination play. In the first half the Services scored two goals, Drake and Coulter being responsible.

In the second half the Services continued to bombard the United goal with shots from all angles. When the final whistle blew Drake had scored his second century. Smith had secured one, while Coulter was responsible for no less than eight consecutive goals.

Saunders followed and the teams were as follows:
Victoria United—Dowds, Newlands, J. Taylor, Wate, Moulton, Martin, Auchinclove, Saville, Eastler, Dunn and Alap.
United Services—Zenell, Grimes, Allen, Hawkes, Robinson, Peters, Smith, Drake, Coulter, Spiers and Cosier.

Alexa Off Form and Glennia Takes Title

Mrs. Fraser, Canada's Hope for U.S. Ladies' Golf Championship, Cracked in Finals Yesterday and Lost Decision by Nine Up and Eight to Play; Glennia Played Wonderful Golf and Deserved Her Laurels

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 5.—Glennia Collett, of Providence, yesterday won the women's national golf championship for the second time by defeating Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser, of Ottawa, also a former champion, by the wide margin of nine up and eight to play in the thirty-six hole final over the links of the St. Louis Country Club.

Miss Collett scored remarkably well during the twenty-eight holes played, scoring 76 actual strokes for the morning round and taking only 36 strokes for the first nine in the afternoon, while Mrs. Fraser played the poorest she had exhibited during the tournament.

It is doubtful if any one could have beaten the game exhibited by Miss Collett, for she was not only within five strokes of men's par but her medal score in the morning, but scoring a penalty, was even with men's figures for the same event. She made only a couple of errors during the twenty-eight holes, just enough to let the surge gallery see that she was human and not a golfing machine. She more than made up for these lapses by making some marvelous shots to the pin from all distances, including a 225-yard brassie to within a few feet of the flag on the long thirteenth.

Miss Collett played out the bye holes, scoring sensitively for the second round.

CANADIAN BADLY OFF
Mrs. Fraser, who has scored par or better nearly all week, after winning the gold medal in the qualifying round with a seventy-seven, one stroke ahead of Miss Collett, was sadly off her game all the way, except for flashes of her splendid golf which kept her score for the morning to play 40-41-81, although she missed enough shots to run the total into the nineties if she recovered some of the shots in the hands of a less finished player.

The international match was to have been played on Saturday but a deluge flooded the greens and made the links unplayable. Over the weekend the Canadian reaction to a defeat that affected her play greatly, while the American player showed probably the greatest golf she has ever displayed on any course.

The course of the St. Louis Country Club is of championship calibre and was the scene four years ago of the men's national championship event. It is 6,498 yards long, and all but two back tees were used yesterday.

Miss Collett was outdriven a few times but she had a remarkable long-tee shot, even against a stiff breeze that swept the rather heavy links where rain had made the turf sodden. Her iron play was a rifle shot most of the time and her short chip shots were deadly in most instances. The most remarkable part of her splendid play was that none of it was due to sinking of unreasonably long putts.

While Miss Collett had eight birdies and one eagle shot, she was no ahead in net par golf as Miss Fraser got six birdies. She owed her advantage more to the fact that she was one over par on only two holes.

Uplands Scores
The "A" team played the "B" team in the feature match between the "A" teams played at Uplands the home team proved extremely strong and more than doubled the score of their opponents. In the singles in the morning Uplands won by 39 points to 21, while in the afternoon the Uplands scored 29 to 11. This made the score for the day 68 to 32 in favor of Uplands.

The "B" teams met at the Colwood Golf Club and again the home team won, but by a small margin. The singles resulted in 25½ points for Uplands and 4½ points for Colwood. In the fourball matches Colwood was a little better than Uplands, the count being 23½ points to 21½ in favor of the former. Colwood won the "B" series by 78 points to 49.

Uplands, however, were the winners on the whole as they played the grand total being 117 to 110 in their favor.

A FINE ROUND
The outstanding individual performance was given by A. V. Price, the south-west star of the Uplands club, in his match with Frank Thomas of Colwood, in the singles, he took all three points. Price had an even 70 in his match with the Uplands club, the grand total being 117 to 110 in their favor.

The scores in the "A" match with the Colwood players named first in each case were as follows:

MADMEN'S LUCK

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM
Copyright 1925, Metropolitan Newspaper Service, New York

A young man, newly arrived in Monte Carlo, came along the arcade toward Ciro's Restaurant about half-past twelve on a brilliant February morning, with the intention of ordering a table for lunch.

He had scarcely exchanged greetings with the maître d'hotel when he stopped short and gazed eagerly at the occupants of a distant and retired table.

Something in the woman's expression at that moment appealed to the young man's sense of memory. He crossed the room.

"Doctor Londe, isn't it—I beg your pardon, Sir Joseph Londe, and Nurse Judith?"

The man who had been accosted by the name of Londe looked steadily at the newcomer. The woman was smiling at him.

"You are mistaken, sir," the former declared. "My name is not Londe, I am not a doctor, and I do not know you."

The young man seemed dumfounded.

"I'm sure I beg your pardon, sir," he stammered.

"I may have been mistaken about the lady, though I didn't think that possible, but you, sir—your name, my leg off, back in Ypres, in '18; a marvelous piece of surgery. Brookes, my name is."

"All I can say, Mr. Brookes, is that you are mistaken," was the curt reply.

The young man made a somewhat clumsy and apologetic retreat, and took a table some distance away. The lady was laughing at him in a childish but very engaging fashion.

She was suddenly sober, however, when she caught the glint in her husband's eyes a few minutes later.

"How should you like," the latter asked cruelly, "to go back to Chigwell again for the rest of your life?"

"You are too clever ever to let that happen."

"If I am left to myself, yes," she smiled. "It was you who insisted upon coming here."

"What about the gambling?" she asked, with a slow smile. "Who was it discovered that you must win?"

"Fools have luck. The mad make a certainty of it," he muttered.

"You certainly stumbled upon the truth. You should play yourself, Judith. You are worse than I am. The patch in your brain is bigger."

For a single moment, the sweet childishness of her expression vanished. There were evil things in her face—hatred, which flared to meet his.

A revealing moment, carrying with it a long trail of reminiscence. It passed. She laughed lightly.

"You were wrong to have sent the young man away," she remarked. "You might have dealt with him more safely."

They wandered to the Sporting Club later, to all appearance a normal couple, a harmless, stalwart, middle-aged husband, with a beautiful young wife.

Women envied her clothes, and her manner of wearing them. Men asked for her smiles. She was subtly aware of both and indolently responsive to the latter.

"I am going to play high," Londe told her. "It may be our last chance."

She sighed.

"It will break my heart to go," she declared.

"We should never have come," he rejoined.

"A totally sane person of normal intelligence, like Daniel, Rocks, is usually easy enough to outwit, but once in ten times he may blunder his way to success. I am uneasy since Brookes recognized me."

He played for half-an-hour on the even chances in maximums. Gradually his pile grew.

When he became conspicuous he changed his table. He had no fancy for the limelight in which the large winner sits.

The wheel spun on to its destiny, the hand that guided it beyond the comprehension of man. The warning cry of "Hien ne va plus" preceded the little click of the falling ball by only a few seconds.

"Quatorze, rouge et pair," the croupier's monotonous voice announced.

Londe collected his winnings, dropped a mille-note in the boîte and strolled away. In a corner of the bar he found Judith. For a single moment his lips closed tight and there was a glint in his eyes. She was seated side by side with the young man who had accosted them at Ciro's.

"I have been telling Mr. Brookes that you would like to speak to him," she remarked. "How opulent you seem. Can I have the ermine wrap?"

He gazed after her until she had passed out of sight.

"Nurse Judith!" he muttered. "Impossible! Nevertheless, true." Londe observed calmly. "I desire to offer you my apologies. I am, Sir Joseph Londe, and it was I who operated on you in the Field Hospital behind Ypres."

"I was sure of it," the young man declared. "But why?"

"Stop!" Londe interrupted. "I desire to ask you a question. Have you mentioned meeting me to a soul in Monte Carlo?"

"I haven't spoken to a soul here," was the sagacious reply. "except you and your wife."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and Buddy's Basket

Copyright, 1925, McClure Newspaper Syndicate
(By Howard R. Garis)

Buddy was a little guinea pig boy who lived near Uncle Wiggily's little stump bungalow in the woods. Buddy had a sister named Bright Eyes, but this story is mostly about Buddy—and Uncle Wiggily, too, of course.

One day Buddy's mother, whose name was Mrs. Pigg (spelled with two G letters, if you please), one day Mrs. Pigg said:

"Come, Bright Eyes, I will show you how to make some apple turnover with chocolate icing on them, and when they are baked you may take one to Uncle Wiggily. I'm sure, with so many little rabbit children as he has to look after now, he will like an apple turnover."

"Ho! Ho!" laughed Buddy, who came into the house just then. "I can make an apple turnover in some minutes for Uncle Wiggily as good as Bright Eyes can. And I can turn over myself in somersaults and peppercuts, too. Want to see me?"

"We were talking about baked apple turnovers, my dear," explained Buddy's mother. "And apple turnover is like a little apple pie, baked in the oven. That is what Bright Eyes is going to make."

"Oh, let me help—please!" begged the little guinea pig boy. "I love Uncle Wiggily. I'll help bake the turnovers and help Bright Eyes carry it to the hollow stump bungalow."

"Very well," whistled Mrs. Pigg (for she could whistle, too). "Now we shall start making the little pie."

Dear me! I wish you could have seen Buddy doing his "helping," as he called it. He stood around in the kitchen, whistling and getting in the way and whenever his mother or Bright Eyes would finish using a dish that had had sweet dough or chocolate sugar icing in it Buddy would say:

"Oh, may I please clean that dish out?" And he would use his little red tongue to take off all the sweet stuff. "Now you don't need to wash the dish, mother," he said. "I cleaned it for you."

But, at last, even with Buddy's help, the apple turnover was made, and, really, it was delicious!

"Oh, I know Uncle Wiggily will like it!" whistled Bright Eyes. "But how can I take it to him? It's hot and I will burn my paws."

"I will make a little basket for you," said Buddy kindly, "and help you carry the turnover." The guinea pig boy made a basket out of green rushes that grew on the edge of the frog pond. Lifting the turnover in a basket so the wouldn't burn herself, Mrs. Pigg put the little pie in the basket, and away ran Buddy—and over is like a little apple pie, baked in the oven. That is what Bright Eyes is going to make.

Bright Eyes to carry it to Uncle Wiggily.

On the top of the hill, near the hollow stump bungalow, out of the bushes jumped a mischievous little dog boy with red hair.

"What's in the basket?" barked the dog boy, not any too politely.

"It's an apple turnover," answered Buddy.

"Ho! Ho! Well, I never seen an apple turnover, but I'll make you turn-over!" growled the dog. With that he gave Buddy a push down the hill and away rolled the little guinea pig, turning over and over in some results down the hill with the apple turnover in a basket.

Bright Eyes screamed and away ran that had little red-haired dog boy, frightened at what he had done. But Buddy bravely kept tight hold of his basket as he rolled and the turnover didn't fall out.

And at the bottom of the hill Buddy bumped into the fuzzy fox, who was hiding there to catch Uncle Wiggily. But instead of catching the bunny gentleman, the bad chap caught a hard bump on his nose from Buddy's basket.

"Wowzie wow!" howled the fox as he ran away, holding his nose. Then Bright Eyes ran down the hill to where her brother stood with the turnover safe, and they took it to the hungry gentleman.

"Oh, what a fine turnover!" he said. "Thank you!" Then Buddy and Bright Eyes felt very happy. And how Mr. Longears laughed when he heard about the fox getting bumped on his nose. So that's all of this story. But if the pin doesn't try to stand on its point instead of its head, while the needle winks its eye, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the smoked glasses.

CANADIANS RETURN FROM AUSTRALIA

Vancouver, Oct. 5.—Canadian newspapermen who attended the sessions of the Imperial Press Conference in Melbourne are now hurrying home from Australia for the Federal election campaign, according to Gratton O'Leary, Ottawa journalist, who passed through Vancouver Sunday en route home from the Antipodes by way of San Francisco.

Mr. O'Leary stated John W. Dafeo of the Manitoba Free Press was to leave Sydney October 8 for Winnipeg by way of San Francisco, and John Hasset of Ottawa was now en his way to Canada on the steamship Niagara, which arrived at Suva on Sunday.

Canadian members of the British press conference party "did Canada proud" both in New Zealand and Australia. Mr. O'Leary declared. J. H. Woods of Calgary, president of the Canadian Press, and John Hasset of Ottawa, particularly distinguished themselves in speeches at various places and created a notable impression.

Mr. O'Leary may be a candidate in Quebec, Quebec, in the Conservative interest.

Sofia, Oct. 5.—The Bulgarian Board of Education has decided to send a delegation to Germany to study the most recent development in the arts and with the object of establishing closer cultural relations between the two countries.

THE WOLF AND THE LAMB. PART I

by W.J. ENRIGHT.

A WOLF CAME ON A LAMB THAT HAD STRAYED FROM THE FLOCK AND FEELING THAT HE SHOULD HAVE SOME EXCUSE FOR TAKING THE LIFE OF SO HELPLESS A CREATURE CAST ABOUT FOR A GROUNCE AND FINALLY SAID, "LAST YEAR YOU GROSSLY INSULTED ME."

WHAT IS IMPOSSIBLE, SIR, BLEATED THE LAMB, FOR I WAS NOT BORN THEN.

WELL, GROWLED THE WOLF, YOU FEED IN MY PASTURES, THAT CANNOT BE, REPLIED THE LAMB, FOR I HAVE NEVER YET TASTED GRASS.

WELL, THEN, SAID THE WOLF, YOU DRINK FROM MY SPRING.

SIR, SAID THE LITTLE LAMB, I HAVE NEVER DRUNK ANYTHING BUT MY MOTHER'S MILK.

ANYHOW, SAID THE WOLF, I'M NOT GOING WITHOUT MY DINNER, SO HE SPRANG ON THE LAMB AND DEVoured IT.

SOME PEOPLE CAN FIND AN EXCUSE FOR ANYTHING THEY DO.
