REMARKS.

This, the fourth part of the catalogue of the Collection of Engraved Portraits gathered by the Hon. James T. Mitchell, Chief Justice of Pennsylvania, embraces his extraordinary and unique series of the Presidents of the United States from Washington to the present incumbent of the Presidential Chair.

The Portraits of George Washington include that on the "Battle of Prague," the rare Peale Mezzotintos of the General and Lady Washington, the rare Norman portraits of the General and Mrs. Washington, the rare Hodson Mezzotinto, printed in colors, and a fine copy of the Freeman Mezzotinto, printed in colors.

The portraits of Thomas Jefferson are the most important and largest collection we have ever had the pleasure of presenting to the public, and contains all those engraved by Edwin and Tiebout, as well as the very rare, and, we may say, unique, portrait in Mezzotinto by Savage and a very fine copy of the portrait by Field. Those of John Adams include all the rareties, as well as the excessively rare portrait by Savage. The portraits of James Madison embrace all the rareties known, and the collection of portraits of Andrew Jackson has long been known to be the most complete in the country.

Of the portraits of Abraham Lincoln, the collection is the most complete and extensive known, containing many impressions from plates not published, special artists' proofs, as well as original unpublished drawings from life made by Morand a short time before the Great Emancipator's death.

Those of the other presidents embrace all the portraits that can be had, and the whole forms a galaxy such as has never before been placed before the American public.

We wish to draw particular attention to the numerous beautiful banknote Vignette portraits published by the Government in proof on large paper. These the Government no longer publishes for sale, and are most difficult to obtain. And we also wish to impress upon the public the importance of the great variety of lithographic portraits by Fenderich, Newsam, D'Avignon and Hoffy. These, the masters of the art, are represented in this collection by specimens of their very best work. Many are so finely executed that it is difficult to tell them from choice Mezzotintos, and they are, as a rule, in the finest possible state.

The Lithographic Art is further represented by many interesting scenes in the lives of the presidents, campaign banners and memorial designs, which really represented the art of the period, and are the old familiar prints that fifty years ago were seen hanging on the walls of our country inns and in the homesteads of the worthy country people, and special attention should be called to the many campaign poster lithographs, they being valuable as historic material, both as to politics and arts, which could not be duplicated.

The catalogue has been thoroughly compiled, so as to give a correct rendition of the character and condition of the portraits enumerated. The reproduction of a few of the rarest items will give a correct idea of the value of the collection as a whole.

Upon the plinth, "BORN Feb. 22, 1732, Ob. Dec. 14, 1799." In the right foreground a soldier, wearing a conical shaped hat, is expressing grief, his gun upon the ground. One of three known copies. Undoubtedly, the Print Engraved by, and referred to by, Chas. Willson Peale in his Ms. note-book of 1778, as begun Oct. 16, finished and printed Nov. 15th & 16th, and which was advertised in the Pennsylvania Packet Nov. 21, 1778, as on sale by John Dunlap. This is undoubtedly a companion print to the preceding Portrait. Engraved by Charles Willson Peale; and intended to be sold with it. Only three copies of it are known. Both prints are slightly trimmed on sides and top, which accounts for the difference in measurement. The portrait of Martha Washington is somewhat water-stained.

LADY WASHINGTON

This pair of prints are of the greatest rarity, and "are the first portraits of Genl. Washington and Mrs. Washington executed by a professional engraver in America. The mezzotinto by Peale, advertised for sale in 1780, although the first in point of time, must be considered in a different light, as Peale was not a professional engraver, the plates he produced being often his own designs." (Baker.)

THOMAS JEFFERSON,
President of the United States.

We hold these truths to be self-evident—that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as they shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness.

- 868 LITHOGRAPHIC PORTRAITS OF LINCOLN. 20 pieces.

PORTRAITS OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN—SMALL.

- 869 Full length, head to left, with high hat, seated in a chair to right of a table. Original Pencil drawing by Pierre Morand, taken from a sketch made by Albert Hunt, at City Point, Va., March 27, 1865. Size 6 5-16 x 3 13-16.

This sketch was made during Lincoln's Visit to City Point, Va., in 1863, and is accompanied with an autograph description. Signed by Morand. See facsimile.

- 870 LINCOLN AND GENERAL McCLELLAN. A caricature representing Lincoln with the traditional High Hat wheeling Gen. McClellan in coach; McClellan has a parasol in one hand and a spade in the other; on a signboard reads "To Richmond." Original Pencil Sketch by Col. David H. Strother, of Gen. Pope's staff; later known as Porte-crayon, Illustrator of Harper's Monthly Magazine. Size 8 6-16 x 5 9-16.

The caricature is very well drawn, and affords an instance of rivalry between Gen. McClellan's and Gen'l Pope's Staff. It was drawn shortly before the latter officer's dismal failure to get to Richmond. It is accompanied with Morand's autograph description. See facsimile.

- 871 A PRACTICAL REMINDER, 1862. Caricature, Representing Gen'l McClellan looking with a field glass over the rampart of a fort towards Richmond. Abraham Lincoln wearing a high hat is tickling him with a stick from the back. Original Pencil Sketch, probably by Col. David H. Strother. Size 8 x 5 8-16. See facsimile.

- 872 LINCOLN TELLING A STORY. Full length, head to right, with high hat, seated in an arm chair. Original Pencil Sketch from Life by Pierre Morand. Size 9 x 5 8-16.

The Sketch was taken in June, 1864, from life, at Willard's Hotel. Mr. Lincoln had adjourned to a small sitting-room with Representative J. B. Blair, of West Va., and another friend, and was reciting some of his humorous stories when the artist made this sketch, but made the surroundings resemble a lawn. Accompanied with autograph description and a Autograph Biography of the Artist. See facsimile.
