WEYMOUTH, MASS., August 8, 1914
 C. A. Peabody Co., 5 Main St., Brockton, Mass.
 Dear Sirs:—In reply to your favor I want to say that the "Peabody" piano that was offered by Mr. George R. Kempl two years ago and won by me is more than satisfactory in every way. The tone is beautiful and seems to grow better as I use it. I would certainly recommend this piano to anybody who wants a first-class instrument.

Yours very truly,

ALICE G. CORRIDAN.

THE EUROPEAN WAR.

Sketched by a Son of Weymouth from Personal Study.

Eastbourne, Eng., August 12, 1714.
 War—a European war, that dreaded spectre, so long delayed and yet so long foreseen, is upon us.

The Kaiser, with Napoleonic ambitions to put Europe under his heel and establish himself supreme from the North Sea to the Aegean, has thrown down the gauntlet, but unfortunately for him, yet not for the world, God has caused others than anticipated, to accept the challenge of the mailed fist.

Belgium, the friend of France, to be asked by Germany to permit her fair land to be made a highway for the transportation of troops, with which to crush her friend, and threatened that unless she accedes to the request, they will come to an enemy—for sheer arrogance and infamy is unparalleled in history. No wonder that Italy, Germany's ally in the Triple Alliance, stands aloof; it may be for self-interest; but she has not forgotten the dark days when the French fought side by side with her liberator and emancipator Garibaldi. However we will credit her for her grounds of neutrality for a still nobler reason, in that she refuses to be made a participant in the Kaiser's wanton war of aggression and orgy of blood.

Even by night of the sword were Germany to win in this colossal conflict, her credit and moral standing in the sight of the world is doomed, for by her wanton and brutal lust, violation of neutral states, and disregarding of treaties, she has placed herself beneath the pale of civilized nations.

It is well known here that this war was premeditated months ago. England has been reeking with spies as never before. Holland was almost denuded of horses by German agents and it has also come to light that the mobilization papers issued to Austrian reservists in Cape Colony the day war was declared against Serbia were printed in Vienna one month previously. Simply awaiting an excuse, which came with the assassination of the Archduke Ferdinand of Austria and his wife, and Austria, the cat-paw of Germany, who considered the time propitious, the Kell canal being completed and summer at hand, (a great factor to be considered, as a campaign on land or sea in winter, especially in Russia, being a terrible handicap to a country which calculates to accomplish her ends by overwhelming her enemies so swiftly that they will have scarcely completed mobilization) kindled the spark that has set Europe aflame. Even now, however, that brave little kingdom Belgium is holding their hordes in check.

As I gaze this beautiful day from the bold promontory of Beachy Head, apart from an occasional cruiser and destroyer in the offing, which exchange signals with the coast guard station to my left and the sound of the bugle in the distance, one can hardly realize that the "Angel of Death and Destruction" is abroad. The ships of commerce pass to and fro up and down the channel, not as many, alas, as of yore; mostly British and Norwegian with an occasional Hollander. Sir Edward Shackleton's ship "Endurance," bound for the Antarctic, rides peacefully at anchor in the lee of Eastbourne, where can be seen the people swimming and rowing as though all were peace, and yet there is a silence, a profound silence, as pending a coming storm; but not of fear, for these English are cool, quiet, confident, and feel that although there is a death struggle ahead and there may be many reverses—the final outcome can be but "victory" for the forces of "right" against the "machinations of hell." There have been times in England's history when she was in the wrong—the American War of the Revolution, to wit—but every Englishman today from John O'Groats to Land's End will say, that time she acted unjustly and it was the work of autocracy, such as is being exemplified at the present time on the continent of Europe, that the voice of her people and ministers.

One has often been prone to condemn the slow, methodical and conservative ways of the English, but today it is a marvel to all, the rapidity with which her financial, naval and military affairs are handled. There is but little flag waving; an occasional "God Save the King," "Rule Britannia" and the "Marsellaise. No mad demonstrations against Germans such as is being witnessed against the English, French and Russians in Germany; simply a quiet determination that "England expects every man to do his duty," if not at the front, to act as men at home. It is true in the first furor of the war amongst a few affrighted ones, there was a rush for gold and a laying in of extra supplies but now they are taking back their gold willingly, receiving notes in exchange and buying normally. Food in certain instances has risen one-fourth in price; on

REPUBLICAN FIELD DAY.

Rain Spoils Meeting Scheduled for Fair Grounds Last Saturday, Small Gathering Hears Fine Speaking.

On account of the severe storm last Saturday afternoon the field day of the Republican Town committee failed to draw but a small crowd, only about forty braving the elements to listen to the speaking held in the exhibition hall at the Fair grounds in South Weymouth. Those who ventured out however heard some fine speaking by able speakers.

At 2 o'clock Robert S. Hoffman, chairman of the Republican Town committee called the meeting to order and stated the object of the meeting. He said it was hoped that more enthusiasm could be aroused in the Republican party this fall than ever before and in arranging the field day it was hoped to get out at least 150 republican adherents. He then introduced Frank Fessenden Crane of Quincy who spoke on "Deeds of the Republican Party." He spoke of conditions brought about by the party and was in favor of more interest in ship building in this section and of developing a large trade with South America. He spoke of the attitude of the average man concerning the railroads and said it was time to stop the onslaughts on railroads, as they had gone far enough. He further said he was decidedly in favor of American vessels, American crews and American cargoes in our merchant marine.

After the applause for Mr. Crane had subsided, for what the gathering lacked in number it made up in enthusiasm, Mr. Hoffman introduced Robert L. Raymond of Milton, like Mr. Crane a candidate for Congress of the 14th district. Mr. Raymond gave a very clear and interesting talk touching on the European war and its effects on this country, the lack of a good merchant marine and said he believed that the Republican party would come back to power this fall. The applause for Mr. Raymond was decidedly whole hearted and then Mayor Harry C. Howard of Brockton was given the floor. A fine speaker in every way, Mr. Howard held the strictest attention of his audience, while he clearly spoke on the results of the democratic principles in regard to the shoe operators in his home city of Brockton. He also said he believed business was much better and firmer with the Republican party at the head. He favored an income tax and when he stated that he believed the Hon. Samuel A. McCall would be elected this fall, the hall was filled with applause.

The next speaker of the afternoon was Hon. Guy A. Ham of Boston, candidate for Councilor from this section. Mr. Ham is a speaker of much force and ability and his address on the party's work and future was indeed of interest to the audience present. He spoke on working conditions while the Republican party was in power and stated that the division of the party was responsible for loss of the lead of the Republicans. Mr. Ham was loudly applauded and then Mr. Hoffman said a few words in behalf of Kenneth Leland Nash and asked for firm support in behalf of our representative. The meeting closed with three rousing cheers led by Mr. Crane, for Samuel A. McCall, candidate for Governor this fall.

Refreshments were served during the afternoon by George Benson and Francis Carroll.

Munroe-Pray.

Miss Florence Pray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Pray, and Vance Munroe of South Weymouth, were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 97 Broad street, in the presence of immediate relatives of the couple. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Chester J. Underhill, pastor of the First Baptist church. Miss Edith Hollis was bridesmaid and the groom's mother, Alan Munroe, was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Munroe will reside in Plymouth where the groom has a position.

Visiting Nurse Association.

The town of Weymouth is to be congratulated upon its most recent acquisition, a visiting nurse. The Weymouth Visiting Nurse association has installed a nurse whose engagement began September first. Miss Walterina Allen is a graduate of Cushing Hospital and through her work as a private nurse has already gained the respect and confidence of a number of our physicians. Miss Allen has taken a room with Mrs. Owen Chandler, Weymouth Center. Her telephone number is Weymouth 85-3. Now that our nurse is ready for work it is hoped that friends of the association will contribute generously to the supply closet. Any information regarding the needs of the supply closet will be given by Mrs. John C. Fraser, whose telephone number is Weymouth 78-M.

BICKNELL—BAKER.

Weymouth Popular Young Man Takes North Weymouth Young Lady As Bride On Wednesday Evening Last.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the year took place on Wednesday evening of this week when Miss Mabel Frances Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Baker of 36 Pearl street, North Weymouth, became the bride of Harry Irving Bicknell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace H. Bicknell of 258 Front street, Weymouth. The ceremony was performed at 7.30 o'clock at the home of the bride by Rev. William Wallace Rose of the Universalist church in South Weymouth, a classmate of Mr. Bicknell's in Tufts college in 1912.

Relatives and a few intimate friends attended the ceremony. The double ring service was used.

The maid-of-honor was Miss Esther W. Bicknell, Mt. Holyoke 1914, a sister of the groom. Little Miss Helen Bicknell, another sister of the groom was flower girl.

The best man was Charles Bicknell of South Weymouth, a brother of the bridegroom. The ushers were Herbert Hudson of Somerville, Ernest Larabee of Marlboro, classmates of Mr. Bicknell at Tufts, and J. Carleton Trainor of Weymouth.

The bride's gown was of white charmeuse with Duchess lace trimmings. Her veil was held in place with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The maid-of-honor was beautifully attired in pink crepe-de-chine and she carried pink roses.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with cut flowers of various kinds. The wedding march was played by Miss Doris L. Torrey of North Weymouth.

Following the ceremony a reception was held from 8 until 10 o'clock. The newly wedded couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Baker, the bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace H. Bicknell, the parents of the groom. A wedding luncheon was served by young lady friends of the bride. Guests were present at the reception from Wilmington, Delaware; Andover, Lynn, Marlboro, Brookline, Medford, Woburn, North Billerica, Hudson, Dorchester, Quincy, Boston, Hingham, Somerville, Pembroke, and the Weymouths. An orchestra, composed of Miss Ethel F. Raymond, piano; Miss Hazel Clark, violin and Harold Raymond, flute, rendered selections during the evening.

The groom's gift to the bride was a magnificent bracelet. The ushers and best man received scarf pins, while the maid-of-honor was the recipient of a beautiful pin.

After a wedding trip to Maine and New Hampshire. Mr. and Mrs. Bicknell will reside at 33 Congress street, Weymouth, where they will be at home to their friends after December 1. The couple were the recipients of many and costly wedding gifts.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses of from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for Constipation.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

Sultan Ahmed Mirza, the Boy Ruler of Persia.

HOW THE SHAH WAS CROWNED

Rode in Glass Coach Drawn by Eight Horses and Then Sat on the Peacock Throne—Wore Famous Mogul Diamond—A Sixteen-year-old King.

Sultan Ahmed Mirza, the sixteen-year-old shah of Persia, on attaining his official majority on July 21 took the constitutional oath of office in the palace of the national council at Teheran, Persia, in the presence of princes, high state officials and foreign diplomats.

The little shah, accompanied by the regent, Abdul Kassim Khan Nasser el Mulk, drove to the palace of the national council in a glass coach drawn by eight white horses. Immediately after the ceremony was over he proceeded to the mosque for prayer.

The crowning of the young shah occurred later in the day. The monarch seated himself on the peacock throne in the museum room of the palace in the presence of a great gathering. He first removed his head covering and then himself placed the imperial crown on his head. It was so large that he had to hold it in position while the chief mullah was making a brief oration.

Immediately afterward the monarch took off the crown and reassumed his simpler head covering, embellished with the famous Daria-i-Noor diamond, otherwise known as the Great Mogul, in the center of the aigret. The diamond is said to weigh over 200 carats.

Dinah, a "Handmade" Lady.
 Dinah is a handy person to have around the house. She affords lots of amusement to your family and friends when they are seated on the porch. Any one can have a Dinah. She is made by doubling your fist and with a burnt cork marking the eyes, nose and mouth on the back of the hand. The lower jaw is formed by the thumb. One eye is marked at the junction of the first and second fingers; the other is marked opposite on the smooth back. For the cap use any handkerchief and wrap it around the outer edge of the fist.

To make Dinah really look as though she were talking move the thumb. If you change your voice it will seem as though Dinah were speaking, and you can make her say funny things. Rest your fist on a table. Dinah will look real. Practice this before you give an exhibition in public.

Hidden Countries.
 Every operation causes pain. She snatched the cape rudely from his shoulder.

I found Rita lying on the grass. I met a German yesterday. He spoke English fluently.

We all agree, Celestine, that you must leave town.

The boat on the river Po landed six strangers.

At church I napped today.

I saw a Jap and a Chinaman dwell together.

Come in, Diana; the sun will burn you.

Answers.—Spain, Peru, Italy, Germany, Greece, Poland, China, Japan, India.

A Famous Dog.

One of the most famous of pet dogs was a French poodle, Moustache, which belonged to one of Napoleon's officers.

He was not trained to military service, as dogs are now, but he took a gallant part in the engagements at Marengo and at Jena, saved several lives, detected a spy and performed other feats.

His most famous performance was at Austerlitz, where he sprang forward, seized the colors "from the very grasp of the enemy and bore them in triumph to his fellow soldiers." For this deed of valor Marshal Lannes publicly thanked Moustache on the field of battle and fastened on his neck the cross of the Legion of Honor.

ATTRACTIVE COTTAGE DESIGN.

Design 607, by Glenn L. Saxton, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PHOTOGRAPH.

For the actual area of floor space involved this is one of the roomiest houses I ever planned—that is, it contains the most room with a minimum of waste in floor space. The wide projecting eaves give a very graceful and refined appearance to the exterior. First story has four rooms; four chambers in the second story and also good closet space. In fact, this house contains every detail required to make a home complete. Size, 20 feet wide and 28 feet deep over the main part. First story, 9 feet; second story, 8 feet. Full basement. Finish is red oak or red gum throughout first story, pine to paint in second story. Birch or maple floors throughout both stories. Cost to build, $2,775, exclusive of heating and plumbing.

Upon receipt of $1 the publisher of this paper will furnish a copy of Saxton's new 1914 book of plans, "American Dwellings." It contains 310 designs costing from $1,000 to $6,000; also a book of interiors, $1.50 per copy.

The Bottle Tree.

The Stenocaulis is a genus largely represented in Queensland and widely distributed. To it belongs the bottle tree of the west of Queensland. Blacks eat the seeds of one of the species of the coast, and in the Philippines those of apparently a closely allied species are considered wholesome when roasted or boiled, though eaten in large quantities. The tree belongs to a good family, being related to the Theobroma (food of the gods), which supplies the world with cocoa and chocolate. When the fruit splits open it is a brilliant scarlet with an orange tinted interior. Along the parted edges are the seeds, oval and black, covered with a rich purple bloom. The fruit, being tough and leathery, remains on the tree a long time, forming a most effective display in the gloom of the jungle.—T. P.'s London Weekly.

A Fish Story.

"The tuna of dear old England are picturesque," said Richard LeGallienne, "but the food they serve is something terrible."

"After a visit to Blenheim palace I entered an inn in the quaint village of Woodstock. As I lunched—or tried to lunch—my landlord said to me:

"The great dook of Marlborough once set in that chair you're a settin' in, sir."

"Is that so?" said I.

"And the dook once drunk 'a beer out o' that same mug you're a-drinkin' out o'."

"And I bet," said I, "I bet he refused to eat this fish too. Well, take it away, my man. I don't want it either."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Arkansas Leads in Oil Stones.

Arkansas produces the greater part of the natural oil stones of this country.

A Thundering Yarn.

A year or two ago, in a North of England city, writes Mr. J. H. Elgin, F. R. A. S., in the Yorkshire Weekly Post, a man told me that during a very violent thunderstorm all the windows of his club were thrown wide open. "To let the lightning in!" I remarked. "Not exactly," he replied, "but to let it out again if it did get in." As a fact, it accepted the invitation to enter the club with alacrity, and though it magnanimously spared the foolhardy people responsible for the invitation, it wrecked a large safe in an adjoining room. The person who related this to me said he would ever after look upon lightning as the "cutest thing in creation." It is the flash that murders; the poor thunder never harm'd head.

England's Oldest Theater.

The village theater at Little Easton may be the oldest theater in use in England, but it is not the oldest in existence. Visitors in Dorchester can find there a wonderfully preserved Roman theater, designed, it has been estimated, to seat about 13,000 people and artfully arranged to have the sun behind the majority of them for the greater part of the day. And this theater has been used in comparatively modern times, for in 1705 10,000 people (alleged to be civilized) gathered there to witness the burning of a woman who had poisoned her husband.—London Spectator.

Easy Way Out of It.

"We know a stenographer," says the Peoria Journal, "who refuses to write letters on pale blue stationery because it doesn't agree with her complexion." In that case, if she is a valuable stenographer, it would be a simple matter for the firm to go to the drug store and buy her a complexion to match the paper.—Toledo Blade.

Asking Time

A Case of Perseverance

Valor McGehee, the boss of the light-erage business, a tenth owner in the Crown mine and owner of the little sawmill up the creek, was a stalwart person of easy manners and the scars of fair fights. Every day at the same hour he came sauntering in and straddled the bench not far from the sandwich board where Mrs. Taylor was always busy slicing bread and butter. Her long, oddly slanting, light gray, wise eyes gave him a look of impersonal friendliness as she nodded good morning and briskly lifted two thick sandwiches to a crockery plate and without losing a motion poured a cup of coffee. These she placed before him. He breakfasted leisurely. As he ate he talked with the cook. "D'you know what day this is?" he asked one morning. She flicked an inquiring glance at him, drove her knife through the loaf and repeated: "Do I know what day it is? Sure. It's Friday." And she smiled. She had a baffling, secretive smile. The man smiled, too, watching her face. "D'you know why I call you Mona Lisa?" he drawled banteringly. "Friend of yours I remind you of?" she offered, another smile lurking in the corners of her mouth. "You've guessed it. She had a smile like yours. It was a ticklish proposition, that smile of Mona's. You could never tell whether it was with you or on you. But what particular Friday is this?" "The day of the month? The 10th." "Correct," said the man. "Which 10th?" She caught up a big wooden bowl and began filling up the sandwiches into it with the automatic speed of machinery. She shook her head at his question. "Which 10th would you say?" "Two months ago today you arrived to open up this haven for the hungry. That's what happened to turn the 10th into a special red letter day," he explained. "So I did." "And I was your first customer," he reminded. "So you were." "And I've never learned what your name is," he pursued. "No!" She favored him with a tall eye glance, her hands flying with the motion of closing two slices of bread and butter over one slice of meat. "After my saying it to you so often—Mrs. Harry Lane Taylor—just like that!" She threw out her hands in a jaunty, spread eagle gesture and whisked around to the stove to replenish the fire and readjust the jars of baking beans. The man smiled after her. He had said the same thing sixty times—once every day for sixty days. In a minute she was back at the sandwich board, her naturally pale face flushed. "And I am going to ask you something else." "Something new?" she queried and laughed. She had a frank, clear laugh at variance with her veiled expression and secretive smile. "Are you a widow?" "Seems to me I remember you asked me that once." "Thirty times," he corrected. "I've a reason for wanting to know." Her long, slanting gray eyes rested upon him for a moment while she answered with mock seriousness: "Hire you? Well, I'll tell you how to get out of telling if anybody asks you if I'm a widow. You just say you don't know." He grinned. "All right for you! I'm going to keep on asking till you answer. I'm coming once an hour and ask till you answer." "Now, I call that downright persecution," she protested, turning to hang up the sandwich board. McGehee slipped a coin, the price of his breakfast, under his cup, swung his feet over the bench and stood up. "I'll be back in an hour," he promised. More than half an hour after he was gone a stranger entered, letting the door blow backward and charging the room with an icy wind. He was ragged and dirty and gave evidence not only of poverty, but of dissipation. His hair was matted with gray, and he wore a sandy mustache and a stubble beard. If ever there was a disreputable character it was he. And yet there was about him something that gave evidence of a better past. He seemed rigid with cold and stopped a minute as if he needed to relax to breathe, then slipped over the bench, hugging his hands together. Turning with her customary alertness, Mrs. Taylor mechanically picked up a cup. As her eyes fell upon the newcomer her face whitened, and she went taut from head to foot. She automatically put down the cup. A mirthless smile twisted the man's mouth. "I've got the money to pay for it," he said. His voice was a mixture of growling, pleading and sullen defiance.

"Did you come here on purpose?" she asked savagely, stepping toward him. "Don't be hard on me, Joyce," he begged conciliatingly. "I own I hadn't ought to have left you when I did, but what else could I do? Under the circumstances I thought folks would do more for you if I was gone than—"

A TESTIMONIAL

WEYMOUTH, MASS., August 8, 1914

C. A. Peabody Co., 5 Main St., Brockton, Mass.
 Dear Sirs:—In reply to your favor I want to say that the "Peabody" piano that was offered by Mr. George R. Kempl two years ago and won by me is more than satisfactory in every way. The tone is beautiful and seems to grow better as I use it. I would certainly recommend this piano to anybody who wants a first-class instrument.

Yours very truly,

ALICE G. CORRIGAN.

HOME OF DR. J. C. FRASER, EAST WEYMOUTH.

Thirty-eight years ago Dr. J. C. Fraser, whose home we present this week, cast his lot with the people of East Weymouth, life's battle before him. It is not the object of these articles to write history or biography and we simply say that in this particular case diligence, perseverance and other requisite qualifications won the battle which figures up: Thirty-eight years of successful practice, 21 years as Medical Examiner of the Fourth Norfolk District, and the confidence and esteem of the community.

LABOR DAY IN TOWN

Yacht Clubs and Individuals at North Weymouth Wind up 1914 Summer Season. Other Events Also.

The fine weather conditions on Monday made the last holiday of the summer an ideal one on which to heartily enjoy all kinds of amusements. The program of events was very interesting, successful and greatly enjoyed by thousands of people. Among the celebrations listed were:

WESSAGUSETT YACHT CLUB GALA DAY.
 Labor Day at the Wessagusset Yacht club headquarters and vicinity was indeed a gala day in every respect. Open house and hearty welcome was the order all along the line and the program of events was highly enjoyed by a large number.

A motor boat race of the "bang and go" style was the feature of the day's events. It was won on an eight mile course by the Pastime, owned by Dr. L. R. Boland. E. E. Devlin Jr. finished second with the Nettle N., while third place was captured by Edward A. Binney in the Sarah B. Silver cups were awarded as prizes. Thirteen boats were in the race.

A children's indoor athletic meet, together with a literary program and dancing were events much enjoyed. The athletic meet resulted as follows:

Peanut race won by Walter Eppler; 100 yd. dash won by Edith Ham; 20 yd. dash won by Andrew Eppler Jr.; obstacle race won by Sid Ham; road to Jerusalem contest won by Dorothy Emery.

Readings were given by Miss Julia Beach and dancing was enjoyed in the club house with B. W. Maxim's orchestra furnishing music.

The day was one of the most successful in the history of the organization.

The committee in charge consisted of Commodore, Andrew Eppler; vice commodore, Alexander Lane, E. E. Devlin, W. H. Weston and E. A. Binney.

FORE RIVER A. A. 7; C. M. A. 4.

In a game full of good and bad baseball the Clapp Memorial association nine lost to the Fore River A. A. of Quincy on the C. M. A. field, East Weymouth, on the holiday morning by the score of 7 to 4. Mack of Braintree was on the mound for Clapp and pitched good ball, but poor support proved his undoing. The work of C. Duggan, Gillis and Galvin was the feature for the winners, while Wall and Humphrey, the former high school stars, excelled for Clapp. The game was called at the end of the eighth inning to allow the C. M. A. aggregation to catch a train for Plymouth, where they played Plymouth Cordage in the afternoon. The summary:

PORT POINT A. A. CELEBRATES.

With the weather conditions, a large crowd and a most attractive program, the thirteenth annual outing and field day of the Fort Point A. A. was held at Fort Point on Labor Day. One of the largest gatherings in the history of the association witnessed the events on the card, and the list of contestants compared very favorably with those of former years.

The first event of the day took place at 8 a. m. when the quoit contest was held, the event being won by George Carey.

At 10 o'clock the Cape Cat boat race was held over a triangular course of six miles, resulting as follows:

1. Grayling, C. V. Nickerson, owner, time 37 minutes, 19 seconds; 2. Dartwell, I. V. Whittemere, 37 minutes, 49 seconds; 3. H. W. Robbins, 38 minutes, 53 seconds; 4. Dolly, Wallace Arnold, 39 minutes, 21 seconds; Iris, F. F. Crane, 39 minutes, 37 seconds.

The next event was the race for the Hingham One Design boats, with Marwinds, owned by Charles Scudder coming in first in the time of 47 minutes, 56 seconds; Mischief, C. A. Randall, owner, second in 48 minutes, 11 seconds, followed by Pollywog, H. C. Giffon; Usona 2d, A. L. Lincoln, owner; Hanky Pank, C. A. Hicks, owner; Puzzle, C. A. Bates, owner and Inez, W. A. Wheaton, owner, in the order named. The Pirate, owned by A. L. Barr, withdrew.

The power boat race was a decided feature of this year's program. The race was won by A. L. Gladwin's Gypsy in 50 min. 15 sec; the Mary, owned by Luke Mullen came second in 50 min. 20 sec. and A. L. Barr finished third with the Myrtle in 51 min. 49 sec.

The racing on the water was under the direction of a committee consisting of A. E. Gladwin, W. H. Thayer, R. S. Carven, W. Miner, Charles Scudder, David Cobb and B. A. Lockhart.

The water sports for young and old began at 11.05 with the following results: Girls' swimming race, Helen Baker 1st, Harriet Long 2d; Boys' plank race, Herbert Donovan 1st, Arnold Carey 2d; youth's and men's swimming race, David Tirrell 1st, Wm. Sewell 2d; boy's swimming race, Carl Caldwell 1st; Arnold Carey 2d; men's diving contest, David Tirrell 1st, Herbert Boomhower 2d. It is an interesting fact in this contest that the winner secured 42 out of a possible 45 points, which is indeed a fine record.

Relay swimming race, David Tirrell 1st, Helen Baker 2d, Rupert Carver Jr. 3d, Fred Rimback 4th; double scull race, won by David Tirrell and Horace Tirrell.

The above sports were looked after by W. Miner, Mr. Boomhower, R. H. Baker, N. B. Gladwin, W. H. Thayer and J. Ross.

At noon intermission in the day's events was declared and luncheon was enjoyed, many of the shore residents keeping open house to their friends and out of town visitors.

WEYMOUTH FAIR ON.

50th Annual Event Opened Yesterday With Large First Day Crowd.

The fiftieth annual Weymouth Fair is on! The half century celebration opened yesterday with a good sized opening day crowd in attendance and continues today and tomorrow with a fine program of events carded for each day.

The hall this year contains about the usual amount of various exhibits and the poultry show is a feature of this year's fair.

Fakers' row is larger than for some time, African dogers being out in force this season.

The program today includes horse trotting, baseball between the C. M. A. and Weymouth A. C., motor cycle races and airship flights by Ruth Law, while tomorrow's program is practically the same as today's except that the Quincy A. A. plays the Reed streets of Rockland at baseball. A feature of tomorrow's events will be the wrestling bout staged by J. E. Fabyan of East Weymouth. Martland's Military band will give concerts today and tomorrow. Get next week's issue of the Gazette and Transcript for a full detailed account of the fair.

As in former years, yesterday was children's day, with several large attractions to draw the older people also.

An exhibition of family colts, horses, etc., was held in the morning and the winners in the several classes as well as those in the children's lists of reports will appear in next week's issue of this paper.

In the baseball game in the afternoon the White Sox of South Weymouth defeated the Tigers of Weymouth 3 to 2. The batteries were Barron and Hirt for the White Sox and Langford and Condrick for the Tigers.

AT THE FAIR GROUNDS

At the Fair Grounds last Monday afternoon the Old Colony Driving club outpointed the Dorchester Driving club 58 to 35, at the interclub meet. Forty five horses participated in 17 events. All the races were closely contested. The only mishap of the afternoon's fun occurred when a wheel came off of Quo Vadis driven by Mr. Spinney. Mr. Spinney pluckily held onto the reins and succeeded in pulling down the horse before any damage was done.

On the ball grounds the Weymouth A. C. easily defeated the Porter A. A. of Lovell's Corner 10 to 5. The score:

Double Track Re-hearing.

In response to a petition signed by several citizens of Ward 3, the Selectmen appointed last Tuesday evening and the selectmen's office as the time and place for a rehearing on the petition of the Bay State Street Railway Co. for permit to double track Washington street from Washington to Lincoln square.

The full board of selectmen were in attendance, Mr. Conway and other officials of the road and about thirty people from different parts of the town.

The chairman of the Board, E. W. Hunt, opened the meeting with a brief statement of its object and asked Mr. Conway if he had anything further to say in regard to petition. He said he had nothing to add or take from, but as there were some there who were not at the other meeting, he briefly stated the object of the company in making their request.

The remonstrants were then called upon and Dr. F. P. Virgin opened for the remonstrants with a plea for the abutters on the ground that it would be an injury to their property and also that there was at present sufficient track provided the road was put in proper condition and so maintained.

Wallace Bicknell objected to the change on account of the large expense it would be to the town in reconstructing its part of the road.

Geo. E. Bicknell objected as no evidence had been shown that better time could be made between given points than can be made over the present system.

P. Casey said the matter of delay had been exaggerated and was not as serious as had been stated; while Geo. F. Curtis objected on the ground of a lack of faith in anything being done which would improve the situation.

M. Sheehy and Charles D. Sheehy argued in favor of the petitioners and at a late hour Mr. Hunt closed the hearing but first called for a vote of those present on the question and the vote stood 17 in favor and 7 opposed to the franchisees.

POULTRY FACTS

SAVE POULTRY BY-PRODUCTS High Nitrogen Content of Droppings Make Them One of Most Valuable of Farm Manures.

(By R. PEARL) One of the most valuable by-products of any live stock industry is the manure. Its proper care and use is one of the distinguishing features of a successful stock farm.

Poultry manure contains more nitrogen than any other farm manure, because in birds the excretion of the kidneys is voided in solid form (uric acid) with the undigested portions of the food.

The mechanical condition of poultry manure is poor. It is apt to be sticky when fresh and lumpy when dry. Used alone it is a one-sided nitrogenous fertilizer. As usually managed, one-half or more of its nitrogen is lost, so that as ordinarily used it does not carry so great an excess of nitrogen. Because of its excess of nitrogen it will be much more economically used in connection with manures carrying phosphoric acid and potash.

The droppings should be well sheltered until time to apply them to the land, that is, shortly before plowing. Any form of shelter may be used. For a temporary plant, or for a small farm, a small wooden building or a bin in a larger building will suffice; but for a large, permanent poultry plant a cement manure shed or tank is advisable.

The inside measurements of this shed are 12 by 7 feet. It is 5 feet high at the eaves and 8 feet 2 inches to the peak of the roof. The droppings are thrown in through trap doors in the roof, and taken out from one end, which is removable. The other three walls, the floor and the foundation are cement. The gables are board, and the gable at the plank (removable) end of the shed is also removable to give more room when shoveling the manure into carts.

The plates and rafters are of 9 by 4 inch timbers. Inch boards are used for roof boards, gables, etc. The roof is covered with roofing paper. The two trap doors are also covered with this roofing. These doors are 2 feet 4 inches by 2 feet 10 inches, and fit over a frame in the roof, to which they are hinged at the top. A wide raised walk, gradually inclined so the end of it is only 1 foot 8 inches from the eaves, is very convenient from which to reach the doors with the baskets of droppings.

Market for the Cockerels. The young cockerels should be nearly grown, and it is nearing early marketing time. It is for the interest of all poultry raisers to get the best prices, and poultry never brings as good a price in late fall as in September.

A Polite Stranger

By JOHN G. LARNED

The two Record girls were more pleased with the social life of Rome than the archaeological curiosities, though the younger, Edith, not only enjoyed the curiosities, but seemed bent on seeking them herself. Italy is not a safe country to go about in by oneself, but Edith Record did a great deal of rambling. She was repeatedly warned to cease hunting for relics of ancient Rome in the environs, but would not listen to the warnings.

One day, taking her brother Dick, fourteen years old, with her, she got on top of one of the double decker trolley cars that run to and from different environs of Rome and went to a place in the Alban hills.

He spoke in a soft voice, which was almost musical, keeping his eyes fixed on Edith admiringly.

"Thank you," replied Dick, while Edith nodded to the same effect. "Perhaps," added the stranger, "I had better show you the way."

Despite their protests, he dismounted and, leading his horse, walked with them to a point near the excavations. There he stopped, took off his hat politely and said:

"Following this path for a few minutes and you will reach the spot you seek."

"You have been very kind," said Dick. "When you are in Rome come and see us. You will find us at No. — on the Corso."

"Does the young lady join in the invitation?" Edith inclined her head in a mute assent.

Having found the place they were looking for and examined the interior of a house of ancient Rome, they retraced their steps to the trolley and thence back to the city.

One evening during the following winter, when social functions were in order, the Records gave a ball. It was not a large affair, but very select. Among the guests who were entering Edith saw, clad in evening dress like the other men, the stranger who had conducted her and her brother to the excavations. She was surprised to see him avail himself of the invitation he had received to be present at a formal reception, but there seemed nothing to do under the circumstances except to welcome him. Moving forward to where he was, she expressed herself as pleased to see him and to present him to others of her family.

He assented, and the introduction was given, though Edith, not knowing his name, was obliged to present him as "the gentleman who showed Dick and me to the excavations."

The stranger remained but a very short time, leaving before scarcely any of the guests had noticed him. He told Edith that he had made some archaeological investigations near the place where she had met him and had just opened some graves and exhumed articles placed in them 600 years before the Christian era. If she and her brother would meet him there he would be happy to have her take some of these archaeological treasures from the graves where they were found. Indeed he had called for the purpose, not knowing of the function given that evening.

To take things with her own hands that had been in one spot for 2,500 years was a delightful anticipation to Edith Record. On the day that she had appointed with the stranger she and her brother went to the place designated. The stranger met them with a carriage and drove them to a retired spot where were some graves recently opened. He opened some more near by and exposed a skeleton in each, surrounded by various trinkets, which he invited Edith to take out with her own hands. She did so and thanked him for them.

"And now," he said to Dick, putting them into the carriage, "can you find your way back?"

"Are you not going to return with us?" asked Edith, surprised.

"It would cost me my life to do so," "Your life?"

"Yes, signorina. I risked it the other night when I went to your house that I might arrange to do you this little favor. I am Nicholi Sebastiano, a bandit. A couple of carabinieri, who followed you to protect you, caught sight of me when I started to drive you here. They are doubtless much distressed about you, expecting you to be held for ransom. They are probably now deliberating what to do to save you. Go back and tell them that Nicholi Sebastiano, having been a gentleman, cannot drink so low as to rob a woman. But permit me to warn you, signorina, not to go about in this part of Italy unprotected."

True enough, the girl and her brother found the policemen deliberating in their behalf and thunderstruck to see them return in safety.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 11, 1914

Another school year of the town is now on and what we may say of past school opening may be said of this with slight variation. Superintendent and teachers are having the usual difficulties in fitting some 2300 scholars, ranging in age from 5 to 18 years, into their proper places, but by the middle of another week things will get down to normal condition. The freshman class at the High school takes in 74 girls and 54 boys, a total of 128, while the senior class has 16 boys and 13 girls, the total enrollment being 309 with a possible addition next week and it is now up to the 2300 scholars to earn $74,000 worth of education between this time and the last of June of 1915.

Now is a good time to subscribe for the Gazette. We install this week a new feature which many people will want to preserve. We begin a series of first class pictures of the homes in Weymouth and shall continue the same through the fall and winter and possibly longer. Subscribe for the Gazette, get a scrap book and preserve these pictures, and you will have a better illustrated album of Weymouth than can be found of any town in the state. You will also be a partner in our point scoring contest and help some friend to win a desirable prize. You will also get from week to week the best possible report of town events. If you are already a subscriber, remember some absent friend and put them in touch with Weymouth by a year's subscription to this publication which is one of the oldest in the state.

Birthday anniversaries and holidays come thick and fast and at times are hard to follow. We are just now on the eve of an important event. One hundred years ago the last war between our country and England was on and Baltimore was one of the objective points of the enemy. Francis Starbuck was a prisoner on a British ship engaged in bombarding the fort which guarded the approach to that city, and all night he listened to the roar of cannon and when day dawned his eyes gazed on our flag which still floated over the fort and he wrote, "Oh, say can you see by the dawn's early light" and the "Star Spangled Banner" became one of the most popular and inspiring of our "National" songs. Tomorrow wherever the flag floats over of United States fort, camp or ship, the 100th anniversary of the writing of that song will be celebrated by a salute of 21 guns and every American citizen should take off his hat and pray, "Long May It Wave."

Weymouth Board of Trade.

After nearly three months' of vacation the Board of Trade resumed activities on Wednesday evening. The meeting as last season was held at the Clapp Memorial building with a good attendance from different parts of the town.
At 8 o'clock the president, E. W. Hunt called the meeting to order and records of the last meeting were read and approved. The secretary, W. H. Pratt read a number of letters from different parts seeking places in which to locate their business and the same were referred to the committee of new business.
The entertainment of the evening was announced as a report from Hon. Louis A. Cook on his trip abroad in connection with the celebration at Weymouth, England, of the sailing from that part of the ship which brought Wm. Edcott, the first governor of the Bay Colony.
Mr. Cook was given a most cordial greeting and for a full hour he was listened to with much interest as he gave in detail, day by day, the trip, the most cordial reception and royal entertainment he received every where he went, the various towns and cities, and customs and habits of the people as in contrast with American habits and customs was well detailed and a fund of valuable information given to the audience.
Mr. Cook was remarkably fortunate both on land and sea as he met with no unpleasant experience either by rail or water, nor by lack of the most courteous treatment at all times.
In short as the story was told it must have been two months of rare enjoyment as well as a time to gather up valuable historic information from libraries and old traditions.
A light lunch was served and the meeting adjourned at 10 o'clock after giving the speaker a rising vote of thanks.

ANNUAL K. of P. FIELD DAY.

1200 At Gala Event At New Downer's Landing Last Saturday.

The annual outing and field day of the Knights of Pythias of Greater Boston held at New Downer's Landing last Saturday attracted over 1200 people, representing 30 lodges and 6 companies of the uniformed rank, including many women.
The committee in charge consisted of Ralph B. Ellingwood, A. H. Bayer, S. M. Marks, J. B. Basch, Robert A. LaCentra, C. H. Wilkins, Aaron Yafce and Louis Goldstein.
An exhibition drill by two companies of the 2nd Regiment U. R. K. P. of Massachusetts, under the direction of Maj. S. A. Gishaver, was the military feature of the day.

The sporting events resulted as follows:
100 yard dash.—K. B. Wade of Winthrop 1st; Herbert Rockwood of South Weymouth 2nd.
Girl's race.—Miss Ellen Uhor of Hingham 1st; Miss Marion Doherty of Malden 2nd.

Boy's race.—George Short of Jamaica Plain 1st; Harry Kaplan of Boston 2nd.
Sack race.—Kenneth Wade 1st; John Levy 2nd.
Mile run.—Michael Norris of Winthrop 1st; Herbert Rockwood 2nd.

Tug-of-war.—University Lodge of Cambridge 1st; Valhall Lodge of Everett 2nd.
In the ball game between the Clapp M. A. of East Weymouth and the Quincy A. A. the latter won 4 to 2. Leonard a former Lewiston New England league team pitcher twirled for the Quincy nine, fanning 16 and allowing but 3 hits.
The score:
Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Quincy 0 0 2 0 0 0 2 0 4
C. M. A. 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2

Batteries.—Leonard and Duggan; Condrick and Fraher.

Magic for Rust Spots.
To remove rust spots on bathtubs and basins and discolorations in toilet basins and sinks apply muriatic acid with a mop. As soon as the discoloration is removed the acid should be thoroughly rinsed off with clear water. The acid works like magic; it is almost instantaneous in its effect and the labor of scrubbing is saved.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses of from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

EFFICIENCY IN EDUCATION.
The Bryant & Stratton Commercial School, 334 Boylston Street, Boston, one of the best known institutions in the United States for the training of business men and women, re-opened September 8th. The location of the school is advantageous. It is in one of the most important centers, bounded by Arlington, Boylston and Providence Streets, easily accessible from the distant parts of the city and the suburban districts.
Particular attention has been given to the conditions under which the students have to work. The building was constructed especially for the school. There is excellent light from high and wide windows and plenty of fresh air in constant circulation throughout all the rooms. The school occupies the entire building with the exception of the street floor.
The Bryant & Stratton teaching plan has become famous. It is an individual system, based upon the personal requirements of the pupil, and tends to develop his or her ability to the highest point of efficiency. A combination of study and practice enables the graduate to accomplish difficult, practical work immediately upon entrance into the business world. The School not only fits for general business but offers other courses equally strong, fitting for private secretarial and stenographic positions, the civil service, and the teaching of commercial branches in high schools.
There is an unending demand from high grade business houses for Bryant & Stratton graduates. Today they are demonstrating their ability in every part of the world.
The Bryant & Stratton School should not be confused with so-called business colleges. The sessions are similar to those of a strictly academic institution—from 9 until 2 daily, with no attendance on Saturdays, evenings, or during the summer season.
The strongest evidence of the high character of this institution is the fact that all its patronage comes un solicited. No canvassing or other methods in common practice are used to obtain students.

AUTO HITS MILK WAGON.

Horse Driven by Joseph Fottler of Hingham so Badly Injured in North Weymouth That He is Shot.
An automobile owned and driven by Wallace A. Phinney of Lynn collided with a milk wagon on Bridge street last Saturday night, injuring the horse so badly that he was shot by Patrolman George W. Nash of Ward One. The milk wagon contained over a hundred quarts of milk and was driven by Joseph Fottler of Hingham. Mr. Fottler was thrown out but was only a little bruised. Mr. Phinney paid for the damage done and as nobody was seriously hurt, he was not detained by the police. The milk was spilled all over Bridge street.

GAS SERVICE TALKS, NO. 2 SERVICES

A gas service is the underground pipe extending from the main to the house cellar. Our distribution system being high pressure, a three-quarter inch coated pipe is sufficient.

Some companies run a service to the curb free and charge for the remainder, some charge for every foot, and some charge for all over twenty-five feet. We will run free to the nearest point of the cellar provided it is not over fifty feet from the curb. If it is necessary to run over the fifty foot allowance, or longer than to the nearest straight line to the cellar, we make a charge of twenty-five cents a foot for the excess.

We have carefully estimated the investment we can allow for an average consumer and have set our limit accordingly. The charge for excess was set at a figure just large enough to care for average conditions of soil.

Our services are laid in accordance with the best high pressure practice, using only the best of materials on the market. We endeavor to replace the soil in as good condition as we find it, and as far as possible, show within a few days no signs of installation. We try to protect the consumer from any inconvenience.

Mrs. Hannah Abbott of Chard street East Weymouth was presented with an elegant traveling bag the gift coming as a complete surprise to the pleased Mrs. Abbott. In connection with the day's events a most successful food sale was held in Charles Pratt's cottage, near the boat club rooms. A tidy sum was netted by the auxiliary for use in its work.
 The Boat Club Ladies Auxiliary held a whist party at the club rooms last Saturday evening. The prizes were taken by Mr. and Mrs. Hatton first and Lester Cudley and Helen O'Dowd consolation. The party was highly enjoyed by all.
 To-night (Friday) the semi-monthly meeting of the auxiliary will be held in the club rooms.

Cheap Paint.
 There 1000 "cheap" paints and a dozen really cheap ones.
 That double word "cheap" is the cause of wasting more money than good paint costs, two or three times over.
 Cheap paint is good paint; there is no other; no other is cheap.
 The two words sound alike but their meanings are opposite. "Cheap" costs double. Cheap is Devoe.
 DEVOE.

Labor Day.
 At 2:30 p. m. a parade was held, in which a large number of the summer residents on foot and eighteen automobiles, led by the Quincy Italian band, marched through the streets and along the shore of Fort Point.
 Following the parade land sports were conducted on Mullen's field resulting as follows:
 50 yd. dash for boys, John Carven 1st, Walter Litchfield 2d; 30 yd. dash for girls, Catherine Keegan 1st; Muriel Gladwin 2d; egg race for girls, won by Harriet Long; one half mile run, Henry Hersey 1st; Ralph Ginney 2d; 50 yd. dash for Parnell street girls, won by Mary Tye; 50 yd. dash for Parnell street boys, Tony Pusket won; sack race for boys, Harold Mowry won; 50 yd. dash boys under 18, won by L. Ryan; 50 yd. dash boys under 15, won by Thomas Mullen; potato race for girls, Muriel Gladwin won; pipe race, won by Frank Staples; obstacle race, won by A. L. Barr.
 During the afternoon the band gave a good concert and were generous with their encores.
 The closing feature of the sporting events was a burlesque ball game between the married men and the single men. The two sides lined up as follows: married men—Ross C. Barr p, Carey 1b, Thayer 2b, Attwood 3b, Staples ss, Gladwin lf, Randall cf, Parkes rf; single men—D. Tirrell c, Deane p, Donovan 1b, Ginney 2b, H. Boomhower 3b, J. Tirrell ss, P. Boomhower lf, H. Hall cf, Young rf. The umpire was Mr. Baker. In the contest a large size indoor baseball and bat were used and the game was extremely amusing from the start to finish.
 The field sports in the afternoon were conducted by Nelson B. Gladwin, R. H. Baker, Luke Mullen, R. A. Gladwin, Charles Randall, A. L. Barr, Charles Caldwell, W. H. Thayer, W. Miner, E. H. Tirrell, W. Gillison and Mr. Parks.
 In the evening fireworks were in order and a dancing party was held with a large number present.
 At a late hour the gathering broke up and the thirteenth annual outing and field day was at an end, as was the summer of 1914. The general committee in charge of the day's program, consisting of W. W. Arnold, Charles A. Randall, W. Cherrington, W. Miner, A. L. Barr, George Carey, C. Caldwell, W. H. Thayer, R. Gladwin and R. H. Baker are to be congratulated on the huge success of the entire outing and it is safe to say that all who attended are looking forward to the 14th annual in 1915.

BASEBALL AT WEBB PARK
 One of the most interesting and most amusing games of baseball ever witnessed in Ward 3, was held at Webb Park Weymouth last Monday morning between the single men and the married men of the ward. The contest resulted in a win for single fellows 11 to 5. The teams lined up as follows: Single men—E. Condrick c, Langford p, T. Slattery and H. Condrick 1b, C. O'Brien and B. Slattery 2b, Crehan 3b, Gunville ss, Reilly lf, J. Condrick cf, L. Condrick and B. Slattery rf. Married men—M. O'Brien c, Baker p, Rev. Mr. Underhill 1b, Walsh 2b, Kelley 3b, Swasey ss, Drown lf, Tonner cf, J. Kelley rf. T. Lyons umpired the match.

KING COVE B. C.
 At the King Cove Boat club no special program was arranged for the holiday, although a most enjoyable and complete day was experienced by members of the club and their friends. The club headquarters were artistically decorated and the members spent the day on motor boat trips of their own choosing.

CAR HITS CARRIAGE AT NORTH WEYMOUTH
 While coming up Bridge street from Hingham in North Weymouth last Monday afternoon, a carryall driven by E. L. Chapman of Randolph collided with a Neponset bound car, No. 1600, completely upsetting the carryall and throwing the driver and the occupant, Mrs. Ruth Bates, of Abington, heavily to the ground. Officer William Gaughn, who was on duty at the corner near the Wessagusset club, was soon on the scene and straightened out affairs. Mrs. Bates was badly hurt, sustaining injuries to her arms and a broken rib. It is said that, in trying to avoid several autos on their way to Nantasket, Mr. Chapman drove too near the track and the car struck the carryall from the rear.

John F. Bates
 John F. Bates, a Civil war veteran, died at his home on Washington street last Friday morning. He was born in South Weymouth 61 years ago and was the son of Warren and Mary Bates. He served in the Civil war in Co. F, 32d Mass. Infantry. Mr. and Mrs. Bates celebrated their golden wedding Sept. 19, 1906. Besides his widow he is survived by a son, J. Franklin Bates, and two daughters Mrs. Gertrude Newcomb and Mrs. Melvina Bates. The funeral was held from his late residence Sunday afternoon and was attended by many friends of the deceased. Rev. Frank B. Cressey of Cambridge conducted the service. Reynolds Post, 55, G. A. R., of which deceased was for years a member, attended in a body and escorted the remains to Old North cemetery, where "taps" were sounded and the interment took place.

Hearing Heart Beats.
 If you hear your heart beat in one ear, as many persons do, it is no proof of anything wrong with the heart. It is much more likely to be a local defect such as a chronic catarrh of the middle ear or stiffness and retraction of the drum. This is on the authority of a leading physician of Chicago.

HER DOWRY
It Was Discovered After the Wedding
By MARK TRAVERS

It was 11 o'clock at night. Hackstaff entered his living room and throwing himself into his chair, sat gloomily thinking. He had just come from Mildred Thorne's. He had proposed to her and had been refused.

His refusal was a more bitter disappointment to him because he had expected an acceptance. There had been a good deal of backing and filling on Mildred's part, but that is not unusual in courtships. Hackstaff had noticed that if he met one of her balking boys a balking on his own part she had come round very quickly.

But Hackstaff knew nothing of all this. He was a young farmer much interested in putting his farm on a paying basis. His was not the haphazard way of the uneducated farmer. He had taken a course at an agricultural college and when he put seed into the ground, barring effects of weather, knew exactly what it would produce.

At 1 o'clock in the morning Hackstaff still sat brooding. He did not go to bed because he had no desire for sleep. Suddenly there was a ring on the telephone bell that sounded at that time of night when all else was still like an alarm.

"Great heavens! That was Hector's bark!" It had been the last sound he had heard from the Thorne place after his departure, and there was no mistaking it for Hector's. The shrieks, the barking, the sounds of a scuffle reached as though to another room. Hackstaff called, but received no answer.

"Let me go," she said hysterically. He released her, and she staggered to her mother's room. Hackstaff following with the candle. Opening the door, Mildred found her mother in bed bleeding from several wounds. Hector, who had been shut up with her, was lying there.

A few words were all the explanation needed Hackstaff at the time. A man had effected an entrance into the house. Crossing the yard, he had evidently been too quick for Hector, but the dog had followed him into the house. Mildred, hearing her mother scream, had gone to her aid, taking in the situation, had grasped the telephone receiver and had only time to call Hackstaff's number when the man pulled her away.

Hector was of the bound breed and keen of scent. Hackstaff was anxious to follow the burglar, and after neighbors had been called he left in pursuit led by Hector and armed with a revolver Mildred gave him. The dog quickly took the scent, and the two pushed out into the night on an errand of vengeance.

Hector kept his nose to the ground without barking. There was no water in which the robber could lose the scent, and if there had been it is doubtful if he would have used it, for he had not much reason to suspect that he would be so quickly followed, and he had shut the dog in the room with his victim.

Hackstaff felt so deeply the outrage that he thought little of a meeting with a man who was doubtless armed and would shoot to kill. On went Hector with his nose to the ground, and on went Hackstaff some twenty yards behind him. This pursuit had continued for some time and day was breaking when Hackstaff heard in a thicket ahead a simultaneous growl of the dog and the cry of a man.

Cocking his revolver, Hackstaff pushed forward and saw that the man had evidently been taken unawares by the dog. He had lain down to rest or to sleep perhaps, and Hector had him at a disadvantage. So fierce was Hector's attack that his enemy had all he could do to resist his grip and no time to draw a weapon.

VENOMOUS WEAPONS.

Blowguns of the Mangeromas and Their Poisoned Arrows. The mysterious poison with which some of the South American tribes smear the points of their arrows is a thick strip made by boiling together parts of the Strychnos toxifera vine and other plants and a number of the deadly venomous black ants of the Amazon region.

Instead of a bow the Mangeromas use a blowgun, a very ingenious weapon. It is made from a tall, hollow reed that grows near the river banks, and at one end it has a mouthpiece made from the hollowed half of the fruit of the Anacardium palm.

The flesh of the game is not injured by the poison. Like the venom of snakes, it is dangerous when introduced into the vascular system, but harmless when taken into the stomach. The action of the drug on birds culminates in from three to four minutes; a monkey died in five minutes and a three-toed sloth expired in seven minutes.

A human being cannot survive more than fifteen minutes. The slightest scratch means inevitable death. Even the Indians know no antidote.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

DIAGNOSING DISEASE.

A Plea For Annual Medical Examinations For Every One. We have heard too much about the rights of the individual; let us know more about his duties. Too much stress has been laid on the sacredness of private property and too little on the duty of all to contribute to the welfare of the whole.

Preventive medicine has demonstrated in a practical way the force of the Biblical statements that no man liveth to himself alone and that every man is his brother's keeper. If preventive medicine is to bestow on man its richest service the time must come when every citizen will submit himself to a thorough medical examination once a year or oftener.

The early recognition of tuberculosis, cancer and heart disease, with the elimination of the more acute infectious diseases, would add something like fifteen years to the average life, besides saving much in invalidism and suffering. The ultimate goal of science is the domination of the forces of nature and their utilization in promoting the welfare of mankind.

Science must discover the facts and medicine must make the application for either cure or prevention.—Victor C. Vaughan, M. D., in Journal of American Medical Association.

An Odd Problem.

Can you place ten lumps of sugar in three teacups so that there is an odd number of lumps in each cup? A statistician to whom this problem was once propounded declared it was impossible to accomplish such a feat, but the following explanation shows that it is not only possible, but very easy to accomplish: Put one lump in one cup, two lumps in another cup and seven lumps in the third cup, and then put the cup with one lump in the cup with the two lumps. By placing the cup that holds one lump inside the one that holds two lumps it can be correctly stated that every cup contains an odd number of lumps, for if a cup contains another cup it also contains the contents of that second cup.

Consoling.

Noticing that his lady cushion was weeping copiously and sucking her finger, the proprietor asked her what was the matter. Sobbily she told him she had p-p-patched her f-f-finger in the cash register. "Never mind, little girl," he said. "A great many more cushions got pinched before there were any cash registers."—Indianapolis Star.

The Worm Turned.

"Is any one waiting on you?" finally asked the haughty saleslady, condescending at last to notice the shopping person. "I'm afraid not," replied the latter. "My husband was—I left him outside—but I'm afraid he's become disgusted and gone home."—Toledo Blade.

Woman, Lovely Woman.

Every time a new young man calls the girl who wouldn't know a waffle griddle from a nutmeg grater gets terribly domestic in the trend of her conversation.—Florida Times-Union.

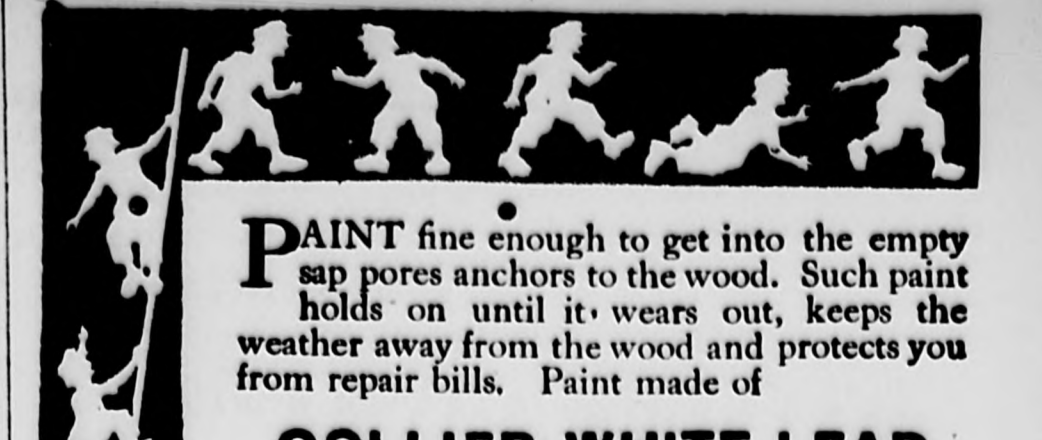

To Make Them Smart.

"Mr. Pedagog is an old time teacher. He believes in the rod to brighten up dull boys." "Well, isn't that the natural way to make them smart?"

Elephants.

In India elephants over twelve and up to forty-five years of age are deemed the best to purchase and will generally work until eighty years old.

I would rather sit on a pumpkin and have it all to myself than be crowded on a velvet cushion.—Thoreau.

PAINT fine enough to get into the empty sap pores anchors to the wood. Such paint holds on until it wears out, keeps the weather away from the wood and protects you from repair bills. Paint made of COLLIER WHITE LEAD (Dutch Boy Painter Trade Mark) and pure linseed oil does all that. Its beauty—lasting and preserving—will add to the money value of your place. Tint it any color.

JAMES LAUREDAS

A feature of the Weymouth fair tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon will be the star wrestling bout between Archie Jeannette of East Weymouth and James Lauredas of Boston. Dr. Provan of Boston, who has refereed several wrestling meets about town, will officiate as the third man on the mat.

In spite of Lauredas' reputation of being extremely fast in the wrestling game, having wrestled such men as Cracker-Jack Butler and others, Archie Jeannette's friends are confident that the East Weymouth boy will return the winner in tomorrow's contest. J. E. Fabian is arranging the bout.

The bout last year on the closing day of the fair attracted a large crowd and the fair should be out in force for tomorrow's argument.—Adv.

—Stuart C. Vinal of Middle street has returned to his studies at Massachusetts Agricultural College, after spending the summer in Charlottesville, Va.

—Becoming frightened last Tuesday morning, the horse attached to the butter and egg team driven by Arthur Corthell of Hawthorne street, started to run. The wagon turned turtle, badly damaging the vehicle and throwing the horse to the ground. Mr. Corthell who saw the horse start from his home, rushed out and prevented further damage. Twenty five dozen eggs were smashed when the wagon tipped over.

—Mr. and Mrs. Lester Haywood of North Reading were guests over Labor day of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cunningham of Middle street.

—Miss Anna Ryan has resumed her duties as teacher in the Natick grammar schools.

—Miss Angeline Heartz, who has spent the past summer in Paris, visited friends in town the first of the week.

—Miss Elizabeth Chase, a former teacher at Weymouth high, is to teach in Boston this year.

—Henry Pratt and family are home from a week's visit in Holyoke.

—John Ralston and family of North Adams spent a week with Edward Ralston of Middle street.

—Traffic on the East Weymouth and Quincy line was delayed a short while on Wednesday morning when the trolley wire broke and dropped into the street at the Weymouth Heights station. Foreman J. Walter Howley was on the scene in short order and soon had the line in working order again.

—Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ames have returned from a pleasant automobile trip through New Hampshire the past week. While at the Tip Top house in the White Mountains they witnessed the beautiful scenery of the mountains in a snow storm.

Methodist Episcopal Church Notes

Regular services for the fall and winter began at this church last Sunday. Rev. William M. Newton preached a short sermon, which was followed by the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

In the evening Rev. Mr. Newton again preached and on Tuesday evening the prayer meetings were resumed.

The Women's Missionary society conducted with this church held its first meeting of the season in the church vestry last Friday afternoon, with Mrs. Cemira Raymond presiding. Mrs. Charles Parkhurst of Boston delivered an address on "China". Rev. William Newton offered prayer. Mrs. Lester Blackwell presided at the piano and also sang two solos. Mrs. Newton was elected delegate to the annual meeting of the Woman's Board to be held in Pittsfield early in October. Dainty refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Leonard Cain.

The people who attend the Methodist Episcopal church next Sunday morning will be glad to learn that Miss Clementine Butler is to address the people on her work in Mexico. Miss Butler's father was the founder of the Methodist mission in Mexico and her brother, Rev. John

WEYMOUTH FAIR

Extra Large Crowd Out Saturday. Miss Ruth Law Gives Successful Airship Flights. Fast Motor-Cycle Racing a Feature.

With a good program of events and perfect weather conditions, the fiftieth annual Weymouth Fair was held on the Fair grounds in South Weymouth on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week.

Thursday, the first day, was Children's day and a large crowd of youngsters were guests of the management on that day.

Thursday morning the exhibition and judging of horses, colts and ponies for prizes of blue, red and white ribbons was held in front of the grandstand. The results follow:

Gentlemen's driving horses, won by Katherine R., Harry C. Thayer; Higgins, C. I. Swan, second; Thistle, John F. Hollis, third.

Brood mares, won by Dot, Joseph Burns.

Family horses with carriage, won by Commander, Mrs. Theodore Kitson; Sallie S., Mrs. C. I. Swan, second; Thistle, Mrs. John F. Hollis, third.

Ponies, driving class, won by Leonora, Miss Dorothy Kitson; Pony Dimple, Miss Catherine Eldredge, second; Dolly Gray, Mrs. I. R. Anderson, third.

One-year-old colts, won by Francis H., Mrs. M. F. Hayes; Diamond Dick Jr., Harry C. Thayer, second.

Two-year-old colts won by Athene Hall, Walter Chappelle; Helen Patch, E. H. Waite second.

Three-year-old horses, won by Jane Patch, E. H. Waite; Patriot, Sandy Roulston, second.

The judges in these events were Frank Fay, J. F. Young and Dr. Francis Abele.

Directly after noon a list of amateur sports was run off under the direction of Thomas V. Nash, E. J. Goulart and Russell B. Worster. The results were as follows:

Relay race, half mile, won by the Hunt school team of Weymouth Landing.

75-yd dash for girls over 12, won by Miss Marion White; Miss Margaret Ilife, second.

Sack race won by Wyman Tirrell, Clifton Harlow, second; William Blackney, third.

50-yd. dash for girls under 12, won by Miss Lizzette White; Miss Bertha Beals, second; Miss Margaret Dacey, third.

Half mile run for boys, won by John Talbot; Robert McIntosh, second; John Hale, third.

50-yd. for girls, won by Miss Stella Maloney; Miss Lizzette White, second; Miss Bertha Beals, third.

At three o'clock a very interesting baseball game for the junior championship of the town was held between the White Sox of South Weymouth and the Tigers of Weymouth Landing, the former winning 3 to 2. The score:

Inning 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9

Tigers 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0—2

Batteries, Barron and Hirtz; Langford and Condrick.

On the track all during the afternoon the Old Colony Driving Club held sway with one of their popular matinee cards, with prizes of horse furnishings going to each horse that started and finished. The summary:

FRIDAY.

Again on Friday the weatherman evidently was present at the fair, as he handed out a fine, but cool day.

The first important event scheduled was the horse racing with two classes to be run off. In the 2.21 class Miss Winifred took three straight heats, Halle Ross the winner of last year's event in the same class, finishing third in the first heat and second in the next two heats.

In the 2.35 class, mixed, with seven starters, Dividend won three out of four heats, losing the second heat to Oriole, who pressed Dividend hard in every heat.

tion for fast racing and a large crowd of horse lovers thronged the rallying all along the home stretch, while the grandstand was filled the entire afternoon.

Five heats were necessary to decide the winner in the 2.18 class. Miss Winifred, who won her race on Friday, took the first two heats in 2.17 $\frac{1}{2}$  and 2.17 $\frac{1}{4}$ , the fastest time of the afternoon, but was unable to repeat and Col. Patch won the next three heats and the race.

In the 2.25 class Chato, after finishing third in the opening heat, took the next three.

In the 2.40 class Frank Wilkes won in straight heats. The summary:

Time, 2:22 $\frac{1}{2}$ , 2:23 $\frac{1}{2}$ , 2:24 $\frac{1}{2}$ .

At three o'clock a large crowd gathered on the ball field to witness the deciding struggle in a three game series between the Clapp Memorial nine of East Weymouth and the Weymouth A. C. of South Weymouth. Each team had won a game, and both nines were determined to win, not only the prize offered, but the town championship as well.

The C. M. A. boys got going right off the reel, when Wall singled to center.

Fraser sacrificed, Wall taking second.

Drinkwater singled, Wall holding up at third.

Kay Condrick fanned, making two out.

Morales hit to Smith at short and with plenty of time to get his man, Smith threw the ball about ten feet over Baker's head, Wall and Drinkwater scoring.

Gorman singled, scoring Morales. Deane singled, scoring Gorman, the latter having taken second on the throw to the plate to catch Morales. With a four run lead, Kay Condrick was never in danger of losing.

Callahan also pitched an excellent game. Wall's work and the playing of "Bunk" Loud were features of the contest. The score was 5 to 2. The summary:

The motor cycle races were as fast and exciting as those of last year and the fences all along the home stretch were lined with people, watching the dare devil riders tear around the track on the motors.

The ten-mile open race, was won by E. T. Duckworth of New Bedford in 13 min. 15 $\frac{1}{2}$  sec. Donald Pope of Los Angeles was second, Charles Herlander of Brockton third, Arthur Frank of New Bedford fifth, E. A. Marble of Boston sixth and Earl Gove of Brockton, winner in several races last year at the fair, seventh.

A side line, not listed on the program, was the challenge by Jack Adams of the New York A. C. for a 150 yd. dash to all comers. Felix Fay of South Weymouth responded and defeated the New York boy.

Miss Ruth Bancroft Law, with her biplane was the mecca of all eyes, and when she made a fifteen minute flight in the big bird, doing the ocean wave and several other stunts, including the circling of the grounds several times, the crowd gave her a much merited ovation. Miss Law made a very pretty landing in the middle of the oval, having attained an altitude of 2000 feet.

SATURDAY.

The largest crowd of the entire fair was in attendance on Saturday, the final day of the fair.

The track was in especially fine condition

ILLUSTRATED SERIES OF WEYMOUTH HOMES

HOME OF ARTHUR C. HEALD, SOUTH WEYMOUTH.

Arthur C. Heald whose home, 580 Main street, South Weymouth, we present this week, is a native of this town with a Weymouth ancestry on his material side extending back seven generations as follows: Margaret A. Vining, born October 22, 1836; Adoniram, April 11, 1814; Noah, July 30, 1781; David, Sept. 25, 1740; Richard, Sept. 12, 1715; John, Jan. 17, 1687; John, April 15, 1662. Mr. Heald early in life applied himself to Weymouth's leading industry, the shoe business, not shoe making alone or manufacturing, but the shoe business in the broadest sense which included all the ramifications and this application made him a 32d degree man in the shoe business as is evidenced by the Stetson Shoe Co. in which Mr. Heald is a partner, and today sees his product with a world wide reputation among men's fine shoes.

Coupon Contest Gaining.

Miss Palmer is still in the lead with Miss Bearce coming along fast and Harold MacRea, a promising young musician, adding his name to the list.

Those holding coupons in reserve will carefully note the conditions and get their coupons in during the month of issue.

The score to Thursday night is:

|                 |      |
|-----------------|------|
| Phyllis Palmer  | 1565 |
| Jennie Bearce   | 1810 |
| Russell Riley   | 510  |
| Harold MacRea   | 505  |
| Ellis Williams  | 505  |
| Mildred Gibson  | 505  |
| Helen Gorman    | 505  |
| Margaret Schell | 15   |

Town Business.

At the Monday meeting of the Selectmen Pasquale Santacrose was appointed Deputy Inspector for Precinct 6 in place of Robert McIntosh who has moved from the precinct.

Word was received from the State Board of Education that Miss Mildred A. Harrow of North Weymouth had been admitted to the Boston Trade school.

State aid and Town poor called for a good part of the time of the Board during the afternoon.

Permit was granted to W. D. Fowler to give a series of entertainments in Odd-fellows Opera house East Weymouth.

The much discussed petition of the Bay State Street Railway Co. to double track Washington street came in for a share of the time of the Board and it was decided to study the situation on the spot in connection with Town Engineer Whiting and for that purpose a somewhat thorough examination was made on Tuesday. To do the contemplated work there must be a rebuilding of the street but even if not double tracked the road has got to be re-built and the general opinion is that financially it will make but little difference to the town whether the Rail Road Co. build double or single, which will bring us to the disputed question, which would be the greatest good to the greatest number of people.

Fire Department—Some development may be looked for in the near future as the result of the special town meeting which voted to make material additions to our fire fighting machinery. At a meeting held on the 8th instant the committee at the special meeting opened bids which had been received from several manufacturers of the different machines which had been exhibited and failing to decide on which to accept appointed committees for further investigation, said committee to visit several manufacturers.

Messrs. Worster, O'Dowd, Hunt and Wolf left on Monday on the tour of inspection and on Tuesday studied the New York city system and were joined by D. M. Kidder and F. H. Loud Wednesday and proceeded to Philadelphia to visit the Boyd factory. They then go to Elmera N. Y. to study the LaFrance plant and machines. Worster Hunt and Wolf then go to Columbus Ohio to have a conference with the Seagrave Co. while O'Dowd Kidder and Loud go to Springfield for an investigation of the Knox plant.

We are told that this trip will be of no expense to the town as the expense is to be borne by the successful bidder for the machines.

Mrs. Eleanor F. Clapp, Dead.

Mrs. Eleanor F. Clapp, widow of Augustus W. Clapp, died at her home on Front street, Sunday, after a long illness. She was in her 79th year and was born in this town being a daughter of the late Elias and Elizabeth Hunt Richards. She is survived by a daughter, Miss Emma L. Clapp, a son Charles A. Clapp and a sister, Miss Louise Richards. She was for years a member of the First Universalist church and of the Daughters of the Revolution and Monday club.

The funeral took place from her late residence Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Melvin S. Nash, a former pastor of the First Universalist church, conducting the service. There were many handsome floral tributes. Miss Bessie Bates sang interment was in the family lot at Village cemetery.

Dividend Declared.

The Old Colony Gas Co. has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1.14 percent on its preferred stock, payable October 1, 1914 to stockholders of record September 24, 1914.

NORFOLK COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

Forty Second Quarterly and Annual Meeting of G. A. R. and W. R. C. Held Wednesday in East Weymouth with Large Attendance.

A gathering of much importance in town each fall is the annual all day meeting of the Norfolk County association, G. A. R., and the Norfolk Country Association W. R. C., which was held on Wednesday in G. A. R. hall and Odd Fellows opera house in East Weymouth.

The forty-second quarterly and annual meeting of the G. A. R. was called to order at 10 o'clock in Reynolds Post, G. A. R. hall, with Commander Edward O. Pierson of Braintree presiding. Eighty-nine members of the association were present. After routine business, the election of officers for the ensuing year was held, resulting as following:

C. O. Norcross of Post 143, Brookline, commander; George W. Mead, Post 169, Norwood, S. V. C.; Richard F. Boynton, Post 121, Hyde Park, J. V. C.; William W. O'Connell, Post 143, Brookline, adjt.; James S. Mitchell, Post 121, Hyde Park, Q. M.; W. B. Denton, Post 58, East Weymouth, surgeon; Thurston F. Willington, Post 169, Norwood, chaplain; William B. Gould, Post 144, Dedham, O. D.; Oliver Houghton, Post 58, East Weymouth, O. G.; Herbert D. Holmes, Post 72, Stoughton, S. M.; Charles E. Palmer, Post 121, Hyde Park, Q. M. S.

The above officers were installed by department officers. A delegation of W. R. C. ladies attended the meeting. The Norfolk County Association W. R. C. opened its meeting at 10 o'clock in Odd Fellows' hall with Mrs. Jessie M. Young of Dedham in the chair. A business session was held at which the following officers for the ensuing year were elected: Mrs. Jennie Loring of Braintree, president; Mrs. Margaret Webb, Stoughton, S. V. P.; Mrs. Fannie Clifford, Avon, J. V. P.; Mrs. Marlon Baker, Quincy, chaplain; Mrs. Minnie Scott, Hyde Park, treasurer; Mrs. Cora Carmen, Quincy, conductor; Mrs. Mary E. Mahoney, East Weymouth, secretary; Mrs. Linda M. Miles, Randolph, ass't com.; Mrs. Kate A. Bialdale, Quincy, ass't guard.

At noon, luncheon was served in the banquet hall of Odd Fellows' building by the committee of Reynolds W. R. C. 102 ladies, with Mrs. David M. Kidder, chairman. Three hundred twenty-five guests sat down to a delicious repast.

At two-thirty the entire company gathered in the hall of the Odd Fellows' building for the afternoon exercises. An orchestra consisting of Miss Marjorie Keith, piano; Miss Catherine Pratt, violin; Harry Keith, cornet, and Howard Richards, traps, furnished music. Addresses were given by Mrs. Laura I. Smith, department president, W. R. C.; Charles H. Poole, president of Plymouth County Association G. A. R.; Miss C. Maud Holmes, president of Plymouth County W. R. C., now an honorary member of Norfolk County Association; William M. Wood, department commander, G. A. R.; W. A. Wetherbee, ass't, adj. general of the G. A. R.; Mrs. Lou Stuart Wadsworth, P. N. P. I., W. R. C.; Mrs. Hattie M. Tuttle, department chaplain, W. R. C.; and Mrs. Carrie Loring, department inspector of W. R. C.

A feature of the day was the presentation to Rev. Rufus H. Dix who has resigned as pastor of the Universalist church of North Weymouth, of a magnificent American flag from friends in Reynolds Corps, W. R. C. The presentation speech was made by Mrs. Agnes Baldwin, president of the Corps. A most enjoyable and successful day was reported by all.

Mrs. Katherine McGrory, Dead.

Mrs. Katherine McGrory, widow of Patrick McGrory, died last Sunday morning at her home in South Weymouth after a lingering illness.

She was born in Dover, N. H., but has spent a large part of her life in this town. She is survived by several sons and daughters.

Funeral services were held last Tuesday morning at St. Francis Xavier church, where a Solemn High Mass was celebrated by Rev. D. J. Crimmins, pastor of the church. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Burial was in St. Francis Xavier.

Weymouth Teachers' Association.

The Weymouth Teachers' association held its first meeting of the 1914-1915 year Wednesday afternoon at the Jefferson school. The principal business of the afternoon was the election of officers for the ensuing year. Charles Y. Berry was re-elected president; Miss Martha J. Hayes, vice-president. Miss Lizzie G. Hyland was chosen secretary-treasurer in place of Miss Stella Tirrell. The executive committee consists of Miss Elizabeth Hall, Miss Inez Allen, Joseph Crowell and E. J. Goulart.

A class in history in school at Kirwin was studying Lincoln's Gettysburg address. The teacher asked the class what was meant by the word
"dedicate." One of the small boys volunteered to answer. "Dedicate," he explained, "means raising the money to pay off a church debt."—

If farmers would use the same judgment in feeding poultry that they use in feeding their dairy cows they would soon find the results quite satisfactory.

Do not hurry the cows or encourage them to rush pell-mell in and out of the stable. Great danger can result. Careless hired men and the boys should be cautioned against this.

Allow the cool air to enter the houses at night by taking out the windows, but do not forget to have inch-mesh wire netting fastened to the opening to keep out the enemies.

A young man who has some means should, before investing his money in land, go to work for a successful farmer or take a short course at one of the agricultural colleges.

It is of great importance that strict regularity should be observed, both in feeding and in milking, in order to secure the greatest degree of contentment in the herd.

Just as soon as you see some wild carrots in your fields, dig them out by the roots or you will be sorry later.

All the remedies for a kicking cow
come down to two: Either tie her feet by anklets to something stationary behind her, or drive her to the market—unless you can sell her to your enemy.

As long as corn is green, and growing, cultivation helps it, if applied without hurting it. But there is the rub—not to rub the ears, blades and roots off and not to rub some stalks down.

The barred variety of the Plymouth Rock is the original Plymouth Rock, and is, perhaps, all things considered, the most popular breed in this country at the present time. Its origin is commonly given as a cross between the black Java and the American Dominique. Besides the Java other Asiatic blood has probably been used in making the breed.

After foaling, give the mare complete rest for at least two weeks; three weeks would be better. When she is again put into harness let the first few days be light work, and the day of short duration.
Remember that she will be weak for a month or more, and not be at her full strength again till in the fall after the foal has been weaned and she has had time to regain normal flesh and vitality.

Poultry houses must be built with a view of providing plenty of fresh air and sunshine for the birds, and the houses must be kept absolutely clean. While houses have been mentioned first, the ground around the buildings is perhaps more often to blame for troubles, both with the chicks and with adult fowls. In fact, it is being recognized more and more that the condition of the soil can very largely make or mar success in poultry raising.

Dairy cows, like chickens and other good animals, owe their high producing power to selection and breeding as well as to good feeding and good care. The calf from the good cow will make a poor animal. Only the calves from real good producing dairy cows should be kept for breeding purposes and milk production.
If the best are always kept and bred, and calves from poor cows used for some other purpose, a better milk-producing herd will result.

In packing apples for market first assort them, so that they will run uniform in size and quality. Pack in sound, clean barrels—barrels with flat hoops preferred. Turn the upper head down, take out the lower head and place a large sheet of white paper next the head, then pack the first layer of apples with the stem ends upon the head. Pack the second tier, but reverse the apples; then fill the barrels without bruising the fruit.
Shake down thoroughly, and fill so full that the head must be pressed in with a lever or barrel press.

The object of fences is not to keep other people's stock out, but to keep your own in. This implies that you have animals to keep in. More than half the farmers of this country do not keep half the number of animals their farms can carry economically, because they do not have pastures fenced good enough to hold the animals within the bounds of the home farm. They would keep more animals if they had more and better fences, and they say they would have more fences if they could afford to buy them. But they could buy a lot of good fencing if they would raise more animals to use at home and to sell.

BUNGALOW WITH BROAD FRONT.

Design 656, by Glenn L. Sexton, Architect, Minneapolis, Minn.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW—FROM A PEBUNGRAPE.

This design is adapted to at least a fifty or sixty foot lot in width. The chambers and bathroom are placed in rear of the building. The stairway leads up from the hall which opens to the chamber and bathroom, thus making the chambers in the second story convenient to the bathroom in the first story.
Built-in cupboards and buffet sideboard across the end of the dining room, which, together with the large living room, covers the entire front. The sun room or piazza in front is designed to be used in all seasons. Two chambers in the second story and ample closet space. Size, 30 feet wide by 26 feet deep over the main part. Full basement. First story, 9 feet; second story, 8 feet.
These heights in the clear. Finish, red oak or birch in first story and pine to paint in second. Birch floors throughout. Cost to build, exclusive of heating and plumbing, $3,400.

Upon receipt of $1 the publisher of this paper will furnish a copy of Sax-ton's new 1914 book of plans, "American Dwellings." It contains 810 designs, costing from $1,000 to $6,000; also a book of interiors, $1.50 per copy.

MUSIC AT HOME.

Making the Piano a Pleasant Feature of Family Life.

AN EXPERIMENT THAT PAYS.

How One Girl Musician Tried It and Was Abundantly Rewarded in the Pleasure and Surprises It Afforded the Household.

In the Women's Home Companion recently appeared a short article entitled "Music as a Pleasure," in which are reported the experiences of a girl named Clara, who had taken piano lessons for years, yet never used her music to give pleasure to her family.

She could play Beethoven sonatas and Chopin etudes and was considered by her parents and friends as making great progress. Yet she returned from a visit at the home of a girl friend thoroughly discontented with her music.

This girl friend, May Allen by name, played all the time, and when her family had company she always seemed to suit everybody. In the following extract from the article appears an account of the transformation that took place in Clara's music:

"The first intimation the family had of an actual upheaval in Clara's musical education was on a certain rainy Sunday, when she sat down at twilight and began a soft, rather low keyed 'Annie Laurie.' Her mother began to hum, under her breath at first, then more boldly, and Clara's brother called out 'Second verse' when the first was ended and himself began it with a somewhat uncertain bass. From the old Scotch ballad Clara glided easily into the lately revived 'Silver Threads Among the Gold,' which the family all sang, and then the well loved 'Abide With Me,' which brought the little program to an end.

"Thank you, dear," said Clara's mother, and "That's what I call music," from Clara's father.

Some months later, when Clara's piano had become the center of the home and Clara had definitely decided to make music her life work, she was heard discussing the situation with May Allen, who was returning the visit of the summer before.

"When I came home from your house I was just disgusted with myself," said Clara. "I made up my mind that I'd make my piano as much a part of my home as yours was."

WARDROBE BOX.

Dainty Convenience For Keeping the Baby's Garments Neat.

A woman who wanted a covered receptacle for her baby's wardrobe and wished to combine it with a baby basket took an old shirt waist box with a hinged lid and had it recovered with a rose-pink denim inside and out. The lid was filled with cotton batting on top to make it comfortable when needed for a seat.

Inside she had a little tray about three inches deep. This was a plain four sided frame covered with cretonne. The frame had a cretonne bottom with two wooden slats across to make it firm. The slats were also cretonne covered.

On one side of this tray were placed the powder box, brushes, scissors and the usual contents of the baby basket; on the other the little shirts and bands safely kept from dust by the lid. The whole was easily lifted out with two loops of cretonne when the interior of the box was to be reached, as the tray was extremely light in weight. Underneath the tray were kept the little dresses and petticoats safe from dust and handling.

When not in use the little box was pushed under a dressing table in the mother's room and was accessible at any time.

How to Sweep.

Few people handle a broom properly, although accustomed to its use every day of their lives. Always draw the broom by leaning it forward, because this allows the dirt to be moved along more gently and will not raise much dust. Most sweepers thrust the broom ahead of them in a sort of digging way, with the handle toward the sweater. This breaks the broom, wears out the carpet, flecks up dust and makes the sweeping much more laborious.

Fall and Winter Fabrics.

Fabrics will be of greater weight, says the Dry Goods Economist, in worsteds, gabardine, serge, poplin and prunella; in woolens, broadcloth, wool velour, zibeline, peau de souirs and novelty weaves; checks and a few stripes as flannels; satins, crepe de chine, novelty moure, faille, messaline, charmeuse and soft finish tafeta; velvets, plushes and fur fabrics.

CHIC LINGERIE.

Stockinet silk can now be bought by the yard by women who like to have their undergarments made at home.

Eggsbell crape nightgowns are trimmed with flat bands of blue and white stripes.

Waistcoats of white pique, fastened with pearl buttons, are fashionable.

Mother-of-pearl buttons are fashionable in the ball and olive shapes.

The more extreme new bathing suits have panners.

State Treasurer Mansfield declares that it is the business of a Democratic government to appoint no Republicans to office, and he said this in the presence of Governor Walsh, who appreciates that he is a Democratic Governor in a Republican state, and as such he is inclined to recognize the principle of bi-partisan selections in making appointments to important State Boards and Commissions.

It was the lamented Wm. E. Russell who said "I am not a Democratic Government I am the Governor of Massachusetts".
What Massachusetts needs to-day is more
Wm. E. Russells and Roger Wolcotts whether Democrat or Republican. Men who when elected can get above parties and party spoils.

When in our last issue we said 2,300 boys and girls in our public schools the first week we had not reached the maximum. The first week was only a sort of preliminary or try out affair as it was a well-known fact that it would be only a two days' event and not much would be doing. The cradle roll had not been called, many of the scholars were not home from their outing or summer jobs and many of the seniors had not as yet told their fathers and mothers they would go to school any more or not. This week however the situation is different. At the Athens every room is full; in East Weymouth, while 42 seats are supposed to be the limit, several of the rooms are holding from 50 to 60 scholars. In ward 3 some scholars are being sent to the James Humphrey school at East Weymouth or to the schools at South Weymouth, which ever is nearest their homes, and the total amount is now over 2,500 with more to come.

Watch out for the next annual meeting and a discussion of the problem.

The primary election or rather nomination, is now but four days away and since its inauguration we have never got so near it with so little public demonstration by candidates, party leaders and campaign committees as at the present time.
Possibly some are waiting for the result of the primary in order to make up their minds whether to continue the contest or withdraw. Others who know the limit to which they can go in the way of expenditures, are hedging in order to have something left for the dual contest. By recent legislation, following is the limit amount a candidate can spend:—A gubernatorial candidate may legally spend $2-500 to get the nomination and $5,000 for an election; candidates for Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Treasurer, Auditor and Attorney General may each put $1500 into the primaries and $3,000 into the election; Congressional candidates may do precisely the same; State Senatorial candidates $500 in each campaign and candidates for Representative $100 for each.

Visiting Nurse Association.

The Visiting Nurse Association, held its regular monthly meeting, on Monday in Grand Army hall, twenty five members of the board being present. The secretary Mrs. Fred Doucett, presented her report showing a membership of 546.
Mrs. C. Will Bailey chairman of the membership committee, has appointed solicitors, for each ward of the town. These solicitors will take the names of new members and receive money for such names. Miss Lillian Curtis, Mrs. Geo.
Beane, Mrs. Joshua Holbrook, Ward One;
Miss Harriett Ripley, Weymouth Heights;
Miss Katherine Eraser, Ward Two, Mrs.
Harry Newman, Mrs. William Wall,
Ward Three, Mrs. Ellen Drew, Nash's
Corner; Mrs. Percy Bicknell, Mrs. Matthew Loud, Ward Four; Mrs. William Fowler, Pond Plain; Mrs. Stephan French
Love's Corner. It is hoped that the men, as well as more of the women of the town will become members of the association. The nurse Miss Allen, has had calls in three wards and has already done some very good work.

21st Annual Reunion

Old Folk's Association of South Weymouth Entertains over One Hundred Guests on Wednesday at Annual Gathering.

An event of much interest to the residents of the town and one that gives great pleasure to a large number of elderly people is the annual reunion held each year by the Old Folks association in South Weymouth.

The twenty first annual gathering held on Wednesday in the Old South church, South Weymouth, turned out to be one of the most successful in the history of the much appreciated association.

The weather was everything to be desired and over a hundred people ranging in ages from 65 to 90 odd sat down to dinner and enjoyed the exercises in the afternoon.

On their arrival at the Old South church the guests were cordially received by the reception committee consisting of Rev.
and Mrs. A. V. House, Rev. and Mrs. H.
C. Alvord, Rev. and Mrs. William Wallace Rose, Rev. and Mrs. L. W. Attwood,
Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Joy, Mrs. A. C.
Heald, Mrs. R. W. Hunt, Mrs. Francis
Torrey, Miss Anna Cady, Miss Lina Loud,
Mrs. Louis A. Cook, Mrs. Gordon Willis
and Mrs. Sarah Tirrell.

Many guests came on foot, the street cars brought some, while a large majority came by automobile and carriage, the last two conveyances being furnished under the direction of the able transportation committee, which included the following South Weymouth men: F. W. Loud, A. B.
Raymond, H. H. Joy, Rev. H. C. Alvord, Wilton Hawes, A. S. Marsh, H. W. Dyer
and A. C. Heald.

From ten until twelve o'clock an informal reception was held, during which old friends got together, and looked once again into the faces of many they have not seen since the 20th reunion in 1913.
Old times were reviewed and many were the laughs that went up over the recollection of former exploits and good times.

At twelve thirty a delicious dinner consisting of cold ham, scalloped oysters-bread, coffee, relishes, pies, fruit and ices was served in the vestry by the following corps of ladies, who acted as chairmen of the tables and their assistants: Mrs. J.
Forrest Torrey, Mrs. William Wagner,
Mrs. Susie L. Locke, Mrs. Nathan Bates, Mrs. Charles R. Greeley, Mrs. Henry Orcutt, Mrs. Arthur B. Tirrell, Mrs. Ellis Gardner, Mrs. Fred Blanchard, Mrs. Nathan Nash, Mrs. Lewis K. Jones and Mrs.
Emily Loud.

As in past years, a special feature of the dinner was the presentation of a box of peppermints to each guest, the peppermints being the gift of Rev. Dr. Daniel W. Waldron of Boston, who was present to enjoy the festivities.

During the dinner an orchestra composed of Mrs. Fannie Merchant, piano;
Miss Theodora Keltch, cornet; Sanford Orcutt, cello and Mrs. Lena B. Thomas, violin, rendered selections. The dinner was complete in every detail and the service of the best.

At the conclusion of the banquet, the guests adjourned to the auditorium which was profusely decorated with hydrangeas, salvia, wildasters, ferns, palms and phlox.
The decorating was in charge of Mrs.
David N. Crawford and Mrs. Walter R.
Field and a corps of assistants.

The afternoon's program consisted of a short business session, with reports of secretary, treasurer, committees, etc and the annual election of officers, followed by soprano solos by Mrs. Marion Forche; bass solos by James Whyte, and addresses
by Rev. Dr. Daniel W. Waldron, President
Rev. A. V. House and Dr. Willard
L. Scott, a very interesting speaker, who spoke some time ago before the Men's club of the Union Congregational church in South Weymouth. The musical program was in charge of Miss Annie Deane.

The election of officers resulted as follows:
President, Howard H. Joy; vice president, George C. Torrey; secretary and treasurer, Miss Florence K. Howe; musical director, Mrs. L. W. Attwood; executive committee, Almon B. Raymond, Mrs.
Forrest Torrey, Miss Frances Paine, Mrs.
George Hlatt, Mrs. Frank Thomas, Mrs.
Elmer Thayer, Mrs. Christopher Sennett and Henry S. Stowers.

At the conclusion of the afternoon's program, at which a large number of friends of the association also attended, wraps were secured from Mrs. George R.
Bowker and Mrs. Sumner Bowker, who had charge of the checking, and the many old folks departed on their homeward way, all eagerly hoping to be present at the 22d annual gathering in 1915.

The affair was directly in charge of the officers of the association the past year, these officers being: Rev. A. V. House, president; Howard H. Joy, vice president; Miss Florence K. Howe, secretary and treasurer; A. B. Raymond, J. Burton Reed, Mrs. J. Forrest Torrey, Mrs. Nelson Gay, Miss Frances Paine and Mrs.
Arthur B. Tirrell and the above board of officers are to be congratulated on the success of the reunion this year.

National Prohibition

The great state wide movement for National Prohibition will take on broad activities next week and every city and town will be scenes of activity in the movement.
Extensive arrangements have been made by enthusiastic workers in Weymouth.
Local meetings have been arranged by the league as follows: Tuesday evening at the Pilgrim church, North Weymouth; Old South church South Weymouth Wednesday evening; Methodist church, East Weymouth, Thursday evening and East Brain-tree, Friday evening.
Dr. T. Alex Cairns, the author and lecturer of Newark, N. J., who has a great reputation as a brilliant temperance orator, is assigned for these Weymouth meetings. Remember the week, September 21—27.

Good Paint

is cheap; and Devoe is not the only good paint; it is one of a dozen; and, very likely, the only one in your town—there are hundreds of middling and bad.

You can see what chance there is of another good one there: perhaps one in ten at the most.

Bad paint is dearest; middling is dear;
costs 2 or 3 times as much as the best.
No matter about the cost a gallon; that isn't it; the cost a square foot; the cost a job; better yet, the cost a year.

There's a whole education in paint in this advertisement.

DEVOE.

Everett Loud, East Weymouth; M. R.
Loud & Co., South Weymouth, and A. J.
Siddinger, North Weymouth sell it.

High School Notes.

Leo Fraher '14 has returned to school for the post graduate course.

Former students under Miss Duffy and Mr. Newhall will be interested to know that the former has a fine position in the Chelsea high school, while the latter is surveying in New Hampshire.

Pupils who have elected to study German are throwing down their books in disgust. Pupils who are studying French are throwing down their books in disgust. Both classes are sure that one language or the other will be obliterated.
But, which one?

Each succeeding year sees some new work begun and it is with pleasure we note that the gas has been installed in the Chemical Laboratory. For years the students of the Science course have struggled along with inadequate material and apparatus, and it is hoped that this is but the first step in the onward march of progress
as regards modern equipment.

When Weymouth high lost Carter '09
the faculty coach of the athletic teams, it seemed as if the best athletic director that could possibly be gotten, had slipped away. Now, we have Mr. Whittemore, a graduate of the same college and a man of the same calibre. For two years he played football at Everett under Charlie Brickley, and a year later he succeeded in making the Tufts freshman team and consequently the 'varsity second team. May success attend his efforts!

Weymouth high school is now the largest, in a figurative sense, than it ever has been. The return of 309 students, most of them tired out, and prepared to enjoy a little rest after a strenuous vacation, swelled the enrollment record and started a probably notable year. Of the students recorded, 83 claimed the proud distinction of being seniors, 65 hopefully professed to being juniors, 83 owned up to being sophomores, and the rest, 128, since they said nothing, but looked green and homesick, were ticketed as being freshmen.

GAS SERVICE TALKS, NO. 3

Meters

The gas meter is probably one of the most slandered objects in the world, yet there are few instruments as generally accurate and any tendency to inaccuracy is toward slowness (or for the benefit of the consumer).

The meter is built with an arrangement of bellows and valves so that the gas passing through is measured just as accurately as one would measure wheat in a bushel measure.

After the meter is constructed and adjusted its accuracy is tested by the manufacturers on a "meter prover" which passes a known volume of air thru the meter. When several tests by the manufacturer have shown it to be correct, it is turned over to the State inspectors who again test it and set their seal on it to show that they have found it accurate. The brass seal on the top and the red sealing wax seals are the State seals. Then when the meter is delivered to us we again test it to again insure its accuracy. So you can feel assured that the meter is accurate for it has passed the three tests before being installed on your premises—
the manufacturers' the State's and ours.

Out of hundreds of meters tested on complaint by the New York State Commission, their reports show very few
"fast" meters; and all of the meters tested were meters thought by the consumer to be incorrect so that the proportion of fast meters in use was almost insignificant.

Rooms on the second floor will be occupied by the Co-operative bank and J. F. Bean.

—Rev. Albert V. House, for nearly four years pastor of the Union Congregational church in South Weymouth, has resigned to accept a pastorate in Danvers. The resignation is to take effect on October 1, and Mr. House will then assume his duties with the Danvers church. Mr. House came to this town from the Lake View Congregational church in Worcester in January 1911. The Union church has accepted Mr. House's resignation.

Old South Church Notes.

In connection with the regular services next Sunday, there will be the two meetings in the evening in the vestry, the C. E. meeting at 6 o'clock and the evening service at 7 o'clock. All are cordially welcome.

Universalist Church Notes.

Morning worship at 10.30. Sabbath school at 11.45. Preaching by the Rev. Dr. Frederick A. Bisbee, editor of the "Universalist Leader." Music by the vested chorus choir under the direction of Miss Deane. A cordial welcome awaits all.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all the other diseases put together and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses of from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Price 50 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Howe had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Do You Enjoy Convenience?

Do You Appreciate Safety from Fire?

You must acknowledge that to have light, heat and power at the turn of a switch is the height of convenience. It surely is a constant comfort to know that every room is free from matches. Why not make a decision that will give you both convenience and safety. Why not decide this before October 1st.

dance of sunflowers. Speakers addressed the gatherings each afternoon on the principles of the movement. Among the speakers were Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. Glendower Evans, Mrs. A. S. Hartwell and Mrs. Theresa Crowley.

Garden, orchard and field.—This department demonstrated what we have always claimed and often written, that Weymouth has great possibilities along these lines and with proper development can feed its multitude of people. While the number of entries at the fair was not as large as in many previous years, rarely if ever, has been shown better specimens of garden and orchard products than were shown for the year 1914.

Poaches were not much in evidence and the fair was a little early for the best display of grapes but yet there was a fair exhibit of those. Apples and pears showed that we have good orchards and good fruit growers.

Our wet August was more than kind to gardens and with the warm days which came with it vegetables were wonderfully developed and those on exhibition can hardly be excelled by any fair in the state.

POULTRY EXHIBIT.

There were more than 450 entries in the poultry show making one of the largest exhibits ever seen at the Weymouth Fair.

CATTLE DEPARTMENT.

The showing in the cattle department was the best and most complete seen in years. Nearly all the space was taken and there were many first class specimens of cattle exhibited.

FAIR SIDELIGHTS.

Chief of Police Patrick Butler had a large force of Weymouth regular and special officers on duty and the large crowds were especially well handled by the officers in charge.

A feature of this year's fair as for several years, were the very fine band concerts given by the Stetson Shoe Co. on the first day and the Martland Military band on the second and third days.

NO DIFFERENCE.

The Proof is Here the Same as Everywhere.

For those who seek relief from kidney ney backache, weak kidneys, bladder ills, Doan's Kidney Pills offer hope of relief and the proof is here in Weymouth, the same as everywhere. Weymouth people have used Doan's and Weymouth people recommend Doan's the kidney remedy used in America for fifty years. Why suffer? Why run the risk of dangerous kidney ills—fatal Bright's disease. Here's Weymouth's proof. Investigate it.

Alfred Howe, 177 Commercial street, Weymouth, says: "I had severe pains across my back. The passages of the kidney secretions were scanty and painful. A neighbor recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and I began taking them. One box made a great improvement. The passages of the kidney secretions became regular and the pains in my back disappeared. Four boxes rid me of the trouble. I am never without Doan's Kidney Pills in the house and don't believe I would be alive today if it hadn't been for them. You may continue to use my former endorsement of this remedy."

Price 50 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Howe had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

WET AND DRY MAP OF UNITED STATES JANUARY 1, 1914.

The White Spots Are Dry, the Black Spots Wet---See How Rapidly the Map Is Becoming White.

ONE ORGANIZATION

Massachusetts No-License League and Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League Unite.

All temperance workers and friends of organized activity against the saloon will be delighted to learn that two of the strongest saloon fighting agencies in Massachusetts have come together in one organization.

Up to this time the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League and the Massachusetts No-License League have worked separately under a clearly defined organization.

While, for some years, there has been the utmost harmony between the two groups of workers, and overlapping was largely eliminated.

Especially during the past year, since national constitutional prohibition of the liquor traffic has loomed up as the big issue now before the country, it has become more and more apparent that even a nominal division of our fighting forces would be a mistake.

The Anti-Saloon League, as its name implies, is in reality a league of individuals, churches, temperance and good government associations, through which, as a central agency and clearing house, all temperance people and organizations can work to do specific things.

For these reasons it has seemed wise to retain the name of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League, while the work of the No-License League will be continued by the no-license department of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League.

The allied organization is now prepared to assist local communities in all kinds of anti-saloon endeavor, and temperance workers are cordially invited to call at the office of the league in the Tremont building, Boston, on the third floor.

At the meeting of the board of trustees of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League, the following officers and members of the headquarters committee were elected:

President, Hon. Frederick Fosdick, Pittsburg. Vice president, Delcevere King, Quincy. Secretary, William H. Foster, Boston. Treasurer, Theodore H. Raymond, Cambridge. Attorney, Wester A. Chandler, Boston.

Headquarters Committee. The above named officers and: George W. Alden, Brockton. William Harman Van Allen, D. D., Boston.

Hon. Charles N. Atwood, Middleboro. Rev. Howard Key Bartow, Cohasset.

Roy N. Berry, Athol. Charles A. Bliss, Newburyport. C. O. Blood, Lynn. Joseph S. Crehore, Peabody. Rev. Charles O. Eames, Athol. Philip Emerson, Lynn. Geo. B. Gallup, Boston. Rev. O. P. Gifford, D. D., Brookline.

Arthur W. Robinson, Natick. Francis A. Rugg, Greenfield. Edward G. Watkiss, Gardner. Hon. Willard O. Wyke, Beverly. Massachusetts members of the board of directors of the Anti-Saloon League of America were elected as follows: Frederick Fosdick, Delaware King, Robert H. Magwood, Arthur J. Davis.

It is under the auspices of this organization that the big campaign, beginning Sept. 21, will be held.

THE NEXT STEP

Logically, it is Submission of Prohibition Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

The logical next step in the progress of the temperance movement is the submission by congress to the several states of an amendment to the federal constitution, which, when ratified by three-fourths of the states, will prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors throughout the nation.

LIQUOR AND CRIME

More Crime in Proportion to Population in Massachusetts Than in Prohibition States.

The official reports for the several state penitentiaries and jails make an interesting showing as to the number of prisoners in state penal institutions as between the states under prohibition and those under license.

DRINKING AND INSANITY

Massachusetts Insane as Compared With Maine and Other Prohibition States.

The latest statistics showing the number of insane persons in hospitals in the several states indicate that the liquor population of the state has something to do with the question of insanity.

The wettest dry town is drier than the driest wet town.

'FARM' POULTRY

PROTECT THE LATE HATCHES

Chicks Are Special Prey of Rats, Weasels and Hawks Unless Proper Precautions Are Taken.

Late-hatched chicks often become the special prey of rats, weasels and hawks unless proper precautions are taken to avoid losses from this source. These enemies seem worse in late summer than early in the season. In the case of rats, this is accounted for by the fact that as soon as hot weather drives many of them desert their hot quarters around the barns and sheds and take to the old boards and rail piles, as well as to the patches of thick weeds and grass. Here they lurk, ready to pounce upon unsuspecting chicks.

As to preventive measures: first, all harbors near the chicks' runs should be banished and the rodents destroyed before they have had time to do any harm. Until this is done the best preventive measure is the free use of wire netting about the coops, such as screening ventilation holes, providing screen doors. Nor must it be forgotten that rodents can burrow, hence when these enemies are present floors in the coops are necessary if losses would be avoided.

It is when chicks run in an open field that hawks and crows do the most mischief. When there are trees or shrubbery in the yards, with a few convenient shelters of boards or boxes under which the chicks can speedily seek protection when a bird of prey swoops down, the losses will not be great. When a hawk or crow gets the habit of visiting the poultry yard regularly, however, as some of these birds often do, the only remedy is to take the necessary time to exterminate it by the gun route.

REGARDING DUCKS AND GEES

Letter WHI Practically Take Care of Themselves if Given Free Range of the Farm.

Never feed ducks without first providing plenty of fresh, clean water, as the birds always take a sip of water after each mouthful of food.

Ducks will often choke themselves on dry food unless water is right at hand.

A chicken will pick up the grit it needs, but a duck will not, therefore it must be provided for them in their food.

Young geese are ready for market when the tips of their wings reach the tail, or in about ten or twelve weeks.

Fine for Thanksgiving Day Dinner.

If allowed free range of the farm geese will practically take care of themselves and only require a handful of grain once a day.

A swamp where other animals seldom go furnishes excellent pasturage for geese in the late summer and early fall as they find in such places tender grass and roots and many fat, juicy bugs and worms.

THREE BREEDS OF CHICKENS

Heavy Layers Are Not Confined to Any One Class Is Shown by Australian Competitions.

(By PROF. DRYDEN, Oregon Agricultural College.)

That the heavy layers are not confined to any one breed has been shown by laying competitions in Australia, which have extended over a period of six years.

In three of the six years, the white leghorns laid the most; in two other years the silver wyandottes won, and in one year the black langshans stood first.

These breeds represent the three different classes of fowls, namely egg breeds, general purpose breeds and meat breeds. In 1906-1907 contest, the pen of black langshans laid an average of 247 eggs per fowl, the white leghorns 239, and the silver wyandottes 199 eggs per fowl.

Big Ones Are Profitable. Don't forget that although smaller birds will sometimes lay more eggs with less care, the larger ones bring the most money when marketed, and at least half of each year's chicks must be marketed because they will be roosters.

GHICHESTER SPILLS

DR. THERON A. WALES.

A Noted Son of South Weymouth Passes Away.

Dr. Theron A. Wales died this morning at 5.15 o'clock at the family home, 403 William street, Elmira, N. Y., after an extended illness of chronic Bright's disease. Dr. Wales was able to be out in his carriage Friday afternoon for the last time and transacted some minor business matters. He was able to be around his home Saturday but suffered a seizure Monday night and failed gradually. He had been in a state of uraemic coma from Monday night about 10 o'clock and died very peacefully at 5.15 o'clock this morning.

Professional advancement comes as a resultant force of energy, close application, thorough study and deep appreciation of the subject. All these requisite qualities were found in Dr. Theron Augustus Wales, who was one of the eminent physicians of Elmira.

Dr. Wales was born in South Weymouth, July 15, 1842, and was a son of Theron and Charlotte Burrell (Derby) Wales, who were also natives of the Bay State. His paternal ancestry can be traced back to Nathaniel Wales, who settled in Dorchester, in 1635, and on the maternal side the line of ancestry comes down from Edward Derby, who was known to reside in Braintree, in 1651, but it is not positively known in what year he arrived in the new world. Among the ancestors of Dr. Wales were those who fought in the Revolutionary War for the independence of the colonies. One of these was William Wales, the great-grandfather, who entered the American army when 16 years old, taking the place of his father, William Wales, Sr., who was an invalid. Lieutenant Jonathan Derby, the maternal great-grandfather, was an officer in the Third Suffolk Regiment and also participated in the battle of Lake George in the French and Indian war. Another great-grandfather of the doctor, Caleb Lowell, was among the heroes of the Revolution, serving as quartermaster, and was stationed at Castle William, Boston harbor. The fourth representative of this heroic ancestry was David Burrell, one of the maternal great-grandfathers.

Dr. Wales spent his boyhood days in South Weymouth, where he acquired his preliminary education and was graduated from the high school at the age of 18 years. He afterward pursued a college preparatory course in the Kimball Union Academy at Meriden, N. H., and was valedictorian of the class of 1859. Later he matriculated in Dartmouth College, but was obliged to abandon his college course, at which time he began teaching, a profession which he followed for about three years. Desiring to prepare for the practice of medicine, he then entered the medical department of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, and subsequently became a student in the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, where he won the degree of M. D., being graduated on March 13, 1873.

Immediately after Dr. Wales came to Elmira and was connected with the Gleason Health Resort for many years, during the lifetime of its founder, Dr. Gleason. He had been successfully engaged in general practice in Elmira since 1897, and has kept in constant touch with the progress made by the fraternity through his membership in the Chemung County Medical society, the New York State association. His prestige in the profession is indicated by the fact that he was chosen president of the third district of the New York State Medical association.

Dr. Wales' only surviving relatives are a sister and two brothers in California. He was a well-rounded character, physical mental and moral development all tending to make him a man worthy of leadership in the higher walks of life." From Elmira Star Gazette of Sept. 9.

ON THE FARM

Weymouth is showing more potatoes from her own soil this year than ever before. The yield is good and the potatoes compare favorably with those produced in the best known potato districts. Why not raise more, they will always net well at a good price right at home.

Almost any one can make a beehive, but the best ones are factory made, and may be had from any reliable supply house.

If any plants that have been set out in the border are to be repotted, do it early. It may be necessary to cut back both top and roots.

When the cow is comfortable and contented, she responds with a flow of milk far in excess of that which she gives when she has been uncomfortable and irritated.

Grapevines that do not bear should be cut back to the ground this fall after frost so that a cane can take its place next spring. It should be cut back to the roots, so as to begin with an entire new vine.

All hardy, strong-growing grasses, like orchard grass and timothy, may be sown in early spring or autumn. It is important that it be sown on a fine mellow seed bed, in the fall, and the seed must be covered with a light harrow or pressed into the soil by a roller. If sown thus in the fall early there will be a good crop of hay the next year.

If the average theorizer on his pet variety of chickens knew how futile his efforts are at convincing the world, he might save printers' ink, anyway, or his "Why I Like" or "Why I Breed." His usual argument is that I do it because I do it.

There is scarcely any limit to the possible productive capacity of the soil when it is fertilized heavily and cultivated perfectly. It does not injure the soil to grow two or three crops each year on it if it is full of decomposing organic matter and mineral plant foods. If it will grow weeds, then why not more useful crops?

A close fence around a berry patch should be avoided where much snow prevails. A heavy bank of snow smothers strawberries and breaks down the canes of raspberries and blackberries. The latter will usually hold enough snow over the surface to keep the ground from freezing very deeply, and with this protection they may prove hardy, while an equal cold without the snow would show the canes dead in the spring.

There needs to be a better balancing up of the yearly milk supply, so that less milk should be produced in summer and more in winter. This would equalize the prices for the whole year, greatly increase the consumption in the winter, and in the end bring great profit to the dairymen. It is well to remember that it costs only about ten per cent. more to keep a cow in good milking condition than it does to keep her dry, as she ought to be kept, while the returns from winter milk are fully thirty per cent. more than from summer milk.

A well-kept manure heap may be safely taken as one of the surest indications of thrift and success in farming. Neglect of this resource causes losses, which, though little appreciated, are vast in extent. Waste of manure is both so common as to breed indifference and so silent as to escape notice.

Those who have hilly or very sloping land must take more care of their fields than those who have more level land. The hills and steep slopes will become thin and unproductive if the soil is not constantly held in place. A good way to treat hilly and other steep land is to sow it to grass and keep it in meadow or pasture almost all of the time. Grass roots bind the soil together better than those of any other kinds of plants, hence the meadow field is damaged by water action less than when the field is in cultivation.

Some wise one in days gone by made the statement that he who could make two blades of grass grow where only one grew before was a blessing to his race, and so he is. Too many, coming into the possession of land, so murder the soil that soon only one stalk of grass will grow where two grew before. They reverse the process of evolution, going backward, and hence they must be a curse to the soil and to the race of human beings. The future general prosperity of the country depends to a very large degree upon the way the land is handled and the quantity and quality of crops harvested from it.

Rise of the Plebeians.
Plebeians were the commons of Rome, who were originally forbidden all political rights. They were for the most part poor and were not allowed to intermarry with the patricians. They served in the army without pay and were sold into slavery for debt and could even be cut into pieces for distribution among their creditors. Finding their condition intolerable, the plebeians in 497 B. C. seceded to Mons Sacer, near Rome, where they resolved to build a new city. But this step so alarmed the privileged classes that they granted to the commons the right of annually choosing from their own numbers two magistrates, called tribunes, with power to protect them against the aggressions of the patricians. After the lapse of about 200 years the disabilities of the plebeians were almost entirely removed, and between the years 350-300 B. C. they secured the dictatorship, the censorship and the praetorship as well as the right to be pontiff and augur. Thus the Roman republic, after two centuries of existence, finally secured a democratic form of government.

Core of the Earth.
"The inner earth is the inalienable playground of the imagination," says G. K. Gilbert of the United States geological survey. "Once it contained the forges of blacksmith gods, or it was the birthplace of our race, or the home or prison of disembodied spirits. Later Symmes hollowed from it a vast habitable empire, concave like the world of Korsh. Science now claims exclusive title, but holds it chiefly for speculative purposes, and the freedom of speculation practically recognizes but two limitations: The inner earth is dense, and it is rigid. As to all other properties opinion is untrammelled. It is my own view that the inner part of the nucleus is not merely hot, but very hot. If the law of compression by pressure and the law of expansion by heat as we know them at the surface apply equally to the nucleus then the mean temperature of the earth must be enormous in order to afford a mean density so low as 5.6. An enormous temperature implies an enormous store of heat."

Thought She Knew Him.
A short time ago a surgeon had three leg amputations in a week. The unusual number caused talk in the surgeon's household, and his little daughter Dorothy was greatly interested. A few days after the last operation the surgeon's wife and little Dorothy were rummaging the attic. In a trunk was found a daguerreotype depicting a girl about eight years of age. The portrait, through a peculiarity of pose, showed only one leg of the subject, the other being doubled under her. "Whose picture is that, mamma?" asked Dorothy. "Mine. It was taken when I was a child not much older than you are now." "Did you know papa then?" "No, dear. Why do you ask?" "I thought maybe you did, 'cause you've only got one leg."
