PREFACE.

THE sixth volume of the BLUE BOOK of Brookline we herewith present to our readers, having issued it some earlier in the season than heretofore.

We are pleased to note the generous reception accorded it, as indicated by the many subscriptions and advertisements received. We have changed and enlarged the book this year, as will be noticed by looking over its pages.

We have printed the names twice, added a map, and a list of Allston residents, and thought best to bind the books in cloth and gold, fixing the price so low that every one can afford to take it.

We believe our advertising pages will be read with interest, as they represent responsible houses in their several lines, and the success of the book is largely due to their patronage.

Thanking our many friends for their encouragement, we remain,

Yours truly,

EDWARD A. JONES.

SPRING, 1891.

IN our new store, No. 411 Washington Street (ground floor), we are fully prepared to show a larger stock and in greater variety than we have ever before carried, embracing many English Novelties in Suitings, Overcoatings and Trouserings.

Our aim is to please our patrons and the public in workmanship, style and quality—and, in regard to prices, can meet the requirements of all consistent with first-class work, viz.: Suits $28.00 upwards, Overcoats $28.00 upwards, Trousers $7.00 upwards.

We solicit the honor of your early inspection.

Respectfully yours,

I. H. FARRINGTON,

What an advertiser wants is the circulation, quality as well as quantity to be considered.

If you want to advertise direct to families and homes, you cannot make a mistake by taking space in these books the coming year.

The steadily increasing patronage which has been accorded to these books since the first volumes were issued, six years ago, is the best testimonial to the value as advertising mediums placed upon them by shrewd advertisers.

Give them a trial.

BROOKLINE.

There are people still living in Brookline, who have seen from a small town grow the most wealthy one in America—and one destined to become a great city.

One hundred years ago, the first census revealed a population of 518, and in 1840 it had only reached 1265. In 1740 there were 61 dwelling houses.

Brookline is the richest town in the United States for its size. The valuation, which in 1850 was $5,000,000, has increased to $46,500,000. This is exclusive of bank and corporation stocks held by individuals. Its wonderful increase and growth is due to its attractiveness as a place of residence. Forty years ago it was a farming town. The occupants of the land sold to residents and real estate dealers until it is now filled with attractive streets, terraces and parks, and palatial residences of the rich.

In the last ten years it has nearly doubled in value.

It is desirable as a city for residence, easy of access and no probability that commercial interests of Boston will interfere, or mar its beauty. It is an important attraction to live in so wealthy and refined a community with the best of Churches and educational advantages.

Taxation and growth of the city,—Male polls, 3,250; Female Polls, 118; Houses, 1,628; New Houses, 96; Unfinished Houses, 44; 301 transfers of real estate since last year. Persons paying a property tax, 1,192 men, 275 women; 228 estates, trusts and firms. 56 non-resident trusts, etc.; 177 non-resident real estate holders; 1,305 horses and 538 cows.

Increase of personal property over the year 1889 was $1,303,000. and in real estate of $2,701,000. a total gain of $4,004,000.
