Voting Right and Eligibility

Article V. - Any Japanese subject who is over twenty years of age shall have the right to vote.

Any Japanese subject who is over twenty-five years of age shall be eligible for election.

Article VI. - The following persons shall not enjoy the franchise or be eligible for election:

1. Those who have been declared incompetent or quasi-incompetent.
2. Those who have been declared bankrupt and have not yet liquidated their obligations.
3. Those who are poor and receive public or private aid or relief for their living.
4. Those who have no definite domiciles.
5. Those who have been condemned to confinement or penal servitude for more than six years.
6. Those who have been condemned to confinement or penal servitude for less than six years for offenses against the provisions of Chapter I, III, IX, XVI-XXI, SSV, or XXXVI-XXXIX of Part II of the criminal code until a period twice the length of the penal term has passed subsequent to completion of or release from the prescribed penal sentence. This period shall be five years for all when the penal term is less than five years.
7. Those who have been condemned to confinement or penal servitude for less than six years for offenses against provisions not mentioned in the preceding item and have not completed or been released from the execution of the penalty.

Article VII. - The heads of the noble families shall not possess the franchise or be eligible for election.

Article VIII. - The officers and officials engaged in the management of an election shall not be eligible for election within the limits of the jurisdiction of their respective offices.

Article IX. - Officials in the Imperial household Ministry, judicial officials, judicial officials in the Governments of Chosen, Taiwan, Wantung Province, and the South Sea Islands, the president and councilors of the Court of Administrative Litigation, auditors, revenue officials and police officials shall not be eligible for election.

Electoral Lists

Article XII. - The head of a city, town or village shall investigate annually, as of the fifteenth of September, all qualified persons who have been domiciled for more than six months without interruption in their respective localities and prepare a list thereof by the thirty first of October.

The age of an elector shall be counted as of the date when the electoral list is made final.

The persons disqualified under the residence requirement provided in the first and the preceding clauses of this article may not be registered in the electoral list.

In the electoral list shall be entered the name, residence, and date of birth of each elector.

The terms of residence provided in the first and third clauses of this article shall not be affected by alterations of the administrative boundaries.

Article XIII. - City, town, and village heads shall, at their respective offices or at places they designate, exhibit the electoral lists for public inspection for a period of fifteen days commencing on the fifth of November.

They shall announce the place of exhibition at least three days before inspection takes place.

Article XIV. - When an elector discovers an omission or wrong registration in the electoral list, he may demand that a correction be made by giving to the city, town or village head written corroborative evidence and the reason therefor.

Such a demand may not be made after expiration of the period of exhibition.

Election, Votes and Polling Places

Article XIX. - Election shall be by ballot.
Each elector shall cast one ballot only.

Article XX. - The mayor of a city or the head of town or village shall take charge of the voting in the capacity of voting overseer.

Article XXI. - The polling-place shall be the city, town or village office or places designated by the voting overseer.

Polling places designated in _____ are:

Name	Location
_____	_____
_____	_____

Article XXII. - The voting overseer shall announce the polling-place at least five days previous to the date of election.

Article XXIII. - The polls shall be opened at 7 o'clock a.m. and be closed at 6 o'clock p.m.

Article XXIV. - Each candidate may appoint a person with his consent to act as a voting witness from among those registered in the electoral list of each voting district and report his choice to the voting overseer at least two days before the date of election.

Article XXV. - On the day of election electors shall come in person to the polling-place and vote, after identifying themselves as the persons whose names are on the electoral list.

In case the voting overseer cannot identify a person who is about to vote, he shall require him to declare on oath his proper identity. Unless this declaration is made, such a person shall not be permitted to vote.

Article XXVI. - The ballot shall be given to each elector at the polling-place on the day of voting.

Article XXVII. - Every elector shall at the polling-place himself inscribe upon the ballot the name or names of one candidate or candidates, subject to the under-mentioned classifications and shall put the ballot into the ballot-box.

Election, Votes and Polling Places (con't)

1. One candidate in an election district where the Members of the House of Representatives to be elected number three or under.
2. Two candidates or less in an election district where the members to be elected number between four and ten, both inclusive.
3. Three candidates or less in an electoral district where the members to be elected number eleven or over.

An elector shall not write his own name on the ballot.

Article XXVIII. - Writing upon the ballots with braille as specified by imperial ordinance is permitted.

Article XXIX. - No person other than those entered on the electoral list shall be capable of voting. Should, however, any one come to the voting-place on the day of election bringing with him a writ of decision entitling him to have his name entered on the electoral list, the voting overseer shall allow him to vote.

Article XXX. - Whenever a person registered on the electoral list does not possess the qualifications for registration or the right to vote on the day of the election, such person may not vote.

The foregoing provision shall apply to these persons who cannot themselves write the names of the candidates they wish to vote for.

Article XXXI. - The voting overseer after consulting the voting witnesses decides whether or not to allow a vote to be cast.

In case an elector is dissatisfied with the decision mentioned in the preceding clause, the voting overseer shall allow him to vote provisionally.

An elector shall place his ballot in an envelope and seal it and deposit it in the ballot-box after writing his name on the envelope.

The provisions of the foregoing two clauses shall apply to an elector objected to by any of the election witnesses.

Article XXXII. - When the time for closing the polls arrives, the voting overseer shall declare the fact and close the entrance of the polling-places; he shall close the ballot-box as soon as electors present in the polling-place have finished voting.

After the closing of the ballot-box no voting shall be allowed.

Article XXXIV. - The voting overseer shall keep minutes in which all matters relating to the voting shall be entered and which he and the witnesses shall sign.

Article XXXV. - The voting overseer, except when he is also a ballotcounting overseer, shall, in company with one or more witnesses, send on the day of election the ballot-box, the minutes of the voting, and the electoral lists to the counting overseer.

Election, Votes, and Polling Places (cont'd)

Article XXXIX. - No elector is under obligation to state to any person the name of the candidate for whom he voted.

Article XL. - The voting overseer shall maintain order at the polling-place and may, in case of necessity, ask the assistance of the police.

Article XLI. - With the exception of electors, persons attending to the business of the polling-place, officials who are authorized to oversee the polling-place, and police officials, no person is allowed to enter the polling-place.

Article XLII. - When, at the polling-place, any person makes a speech, engages in discussion, causes an uproar, holds a conference or uses persuasion as to voting, or otherwise disturbs the order of the polling-place, the voting overseer shall caution him and if the caution is disregarded, shall cause him to leave the polling-place.

Article XLIII. - A person who has been compelled to leave a polling-place in accordance with the foregoing article, may be allowed to vote either at the end of the voting or earlier if it is deemed by the voting overseer that there is no danger of the polling-place being disturbed thereby.

Counting of ballots and Counting-Office

Article XLIV. - The mayor, or the town or village head shall take charge of the counting of ballots as counting overseer.

Article XLV. - The counting-office shall be established in the city, town or village office or at the place appointed by the counting overseer.

Article XLVI. - The counting overseer shall announce the date of the counting beforehand.

Article XLVIII. - The counting of ballots shall be effected on the day of voting or on the day immediately following (in case more than one voting districts exist within one vote-counting district. on the day when all the ballot-boxes have been received or on the day immediately following).

Article XLIX. - The counting overseer shall, in the presence of the counting witnesses, examine the votes coming under sections 2 and 4 Article XXXI and shall decide as to their acceptability after consulting the counting witnesses.

The counting overseer, with the counting witnesses, shall examine the ballots for each polling district.

As soon as the examination of the ballots has been finished, the counting overseer shall report the result immediately to the chairman of election.

Article L. - The electors are entitled to request permission to inspect the counting at the respective offices.

Article LI. - The validity of ballots shall be decided by the counting overseer after consulting the counting witnesses.

Article LII. - Such of the votes as mentioned hereunder, cast in an election district to which the provisions of Item I in the first clause of Articles 27 apply, shall be invalid:

1. Those for which a regular ballot has not been used.
2. Those on which the name of a person other than a candidate is inscribed.
3. Those on which the names of two or more candidates are inscribed.
4. Those on which the name of a person disqualified for election is inscribed.
5. Those on which other matters in addition to the name of a candidate are inscribed. But this rule does not apply to those on which the official rank, profession, status, residence, or honorifics are entered.
6. Those on which the name of the candidate is not written by the voter himself.
7. Those by which it is impossible to ascertain which candidate is meant.
8. Those on which the name of a person who is a member of the House of Representatives is inscribed.

The preceding 5th item is applicable only to an election held in accordance with the provisions of Article LXV or

Counting of Ballots and Counting-Office (Con't)

LXXIX of the present law.

Article LII-3. - When two or more names of one and the candidate are give on the ballot, such entries shall be regarded as one entry.

Article LIII. - Ballots shall be sorted into lots that are valid and those that are void and shall be preserved by the counting overseers during the tenure of office of the members elected.

Article LIV. - The counting overseer shall keep minutes of the counting in which shall be recorded all maters relating thereto and he shall, after his signature and those of the counting witnesses are affixed, preserve them together with the voting minutes during the tenure of office of the members elected.

Election Meeting

Article LVIII. - In case there is but one election district for the prefecture, or the city the governor of the prefecture or mayor of the city respectively and in the case of other election districts the officials designated by the prefectural governor, shall be the chairmen of election and take charge of matters pertaining to the election meeting.

Article LIX. - The election meeting shall be held at the metropolitan or prefectural office to which the chairman of the election belongs, or at a city office or a place designated by the chairman of election.

Article LX. - The chairman of election shall announce the place and date of the election meeting beforehand.

Article LXI. - The provisions of Article XXIV shall be applied correspondingly to the election witnesses.

Article LXII. - The chairman of election shall hold the election meeting in the presence of the election witnesses on the day when or the next day after the reports provided for in the third section of Article XLIX are received from all counting overseers and shall examine the reports.

In case a part of an election was invalid and a new election has been held, the chairman of election, on receipt of the report under the third section of Article XLIX, shall hold an election meeting and examine it together with other reports.

Article LXIII. - The electors are entitled to request admission to the election meeting of their respective districts.

Article LXIV. - The chairman of election shall keep minutes of the election in which shall be recorded all matters relating to the election meeting and shall, after his signature and those of the election witnesses have been affixed, preserve them together with the documents relating to the reports made under the third section of Article XLIX during the tenure of office of the members elected, however, in case the chairman of election has been appointed by the governor from among the officials the governor shall preserve the minutes of the election and the reports made under the third section of Article XLIX.

Article LXV. - The provisions of Article XXXVII shall, with the exception of the proviso, be applied correspondingly to the election meeting.

Article LXVI. - For the control of the election meeting the provisions of Articles XL to XLII shall be applied correspondingly.

Candidates and Persons Elected

Article LXVII. - A person who desires to be a candidate shall so notify the chairman of election between the date when the date of election is published and the seventh day before the date of election.

When a person whose name is registered in the electoral list desires to name a candidate other than himself, he may make the recommendation during the period set forth in the preceding clause.

In case the number of candidates named during the period stated in the two preceding clauses exceeds the number of members to be elected, when candidates die after the period stated or withdraw candidacy, notice or recommendation of candidates may be made according to the two preceding clauses by the second day previous to the date of election.

A candidate may not withdraw his candidacy without notification to the chairman of election.

On receipt of notice under the fourth section of this article or on the death of a candidate the chairman of election must immediately publish the facts.

Article LXVIII. - The person who desires to enter for candidacy or who desires to recommend a candidate shall deposit 2,000 yen in cash or national bonds of the same face value for each candidate.

The deposit made in accordance with the preceding clause shall belong to the government in case the total votes for the candidate are less than one-tenth of the number of the total votes obtained by respective candidates divided by the number of members to be elected in that election district.

The provisions of the preceding clause shall be applied to candidates who within ten days of the date of election, unless such withdrawal is due to loss of eligibility.

Article LXIX. - The candidate who has obtained a relative majority of the total number of votes shall be declared elected. However, the number of votes obtained shall not be less than one-fourth of the total number of the votes, obtained by respective candidates, divided by the number of members to be elected from the district.

In determining the person elected, the elder shall be preferred in case the number of ballots obtained by the candidates is the same; and when their ages are also the same, the choice is determined by lot, the chairman of election holding a drawing at the election meeting.

Article LXXIII. - Upon receipt of notice of election every person elected shall notify the chairman of election whether or not he accepts.

One and the same person may not accept election in several election districts.

On receipt of notification under the first section of this article the chairman of election shall immediately report it to the governor.

Candidates and Persons Elected (Con't)

Article LXXIV. - These persons elected who have failed to give notice of acceptance within ten days from the day on which they received notice of election shall be considered to have declined election.

Article LXXV. - In any of the following circumstances the governor shall fix a date and hold a new election, announcing the date thereof at least fourteen days before the date of election except when the persons elected can be determined without carrying out a new election. This provision is not applicable when the date of election is announced owing to circumstances other than the following or in accordance with the provisions of the eighth section of Article LXXIX concerning one and the same person:

1. In case there is no person elected or the number of persons elected is less than the number to be elected.
2. When the person elected declines the election or is dead.
3. When the person elected loses the election according to the provisions of Article LXX.
4. When there is no person elected or the number of persons elected does not come up to the required number in consequence of a suit instituted according to the provisions of Articles LXXXI or LXXXIII.
5. When an election is invalidated as the result of a suit instituted according to Article LXXXIV.
6. When an election is invalidated according to the provisions of Article CXXXVI.

An election mentioned in the preceding clause may not be held during the period allowed for filing a suit under the provisions of Article LXXXI or LXXXIII, or until the settlement of judgment in a case in which a suit has been filed.

The date of election to be held in accordance with the first section of this article shall be within twenty days after the final day of the period allowed for filing a suit under the provisions of Article LXXXI or LXXXIII; in case a suit has been brought, it shall be within twenty days after the day on which the governor received the communication from the president of the supreme court to the effect that the suit is terminated or the communication made in conformity with the second clause of Article LXXXVI or Article CXLII.

When any one of the circumstances mentioned in the first section of this article has arisen within six months prior to the end of the term of a representative, no election is held under the first section of this article.

Article LXXVI. - When a person elected has accepted election the governor shall at once give him a certificate of election and publish his name, at the same time reporting thereon to the Minister of Home Affairs.

Article LXXVII. - When an election has been invalidated owing to a suit instituted under Chapter IX or to the application of Article CXXXVI, the governor shall publish the fact immediately.

The Election Campaign

Article LXXXIX. - No election office may be established by persons other than a candidate or the person who recommends a candidate (in case several persons recommend a person, their representative).

When the person mentioned in the preceding clause has established an election office, there shall immediately notify the fact to the police office of the locality of the election office (or of the main election office in case the number of the election offices is more than two) as well as when there is any change in the election office.

Article XC.- Only one election office may be established for each candidate, but five or less election offices may be established in accordance with Imperial ordinance.

Article XCI. - The election offices shall not be established within three cho (about 360 yards) from voting-places.

Article XCII. - Resting-places or places of like character shall not be established for the purpose of an election campaign.

Article XCV. - No election campaign shall be conducted until the notice of recommendation of candidates under Sections one to three of Article LXVII has been made.

Article XCVIII. - No person shall carry on house-to-house visiting for the purpose of obtaining votes or of aiding or preventing the obtaining of votes.

Article XCVIII-2. - No person shall, in districts where the pamphlets are published under the fourth clause of Article CXL, distribute any letters or pictures for election campaign purposes except such letters as notifying of meetings for speeches and those of recommendation. However this rule does not apply to ordinary mail matters sent in accordance with the provisions of the first section of Article CXL.

Article XCIX. - No public officer or official engaged in the conduct of an election shall carry on an election campaign in the district in which his office is located.

Election Expenses

Article CI. - A candidate shall appoint a person responsible for the disbursement of election campaign expenses (hereinafter referred to as "responsible disbursing"), provided however, that this does not prevent a candidate from himself becoming a responsible disbursing, nor a person who has recommended a candidate (in case there are several such persons, their representative) from appointing with approval of the said candidate a responsible disbursing or from himself becoming a responsible disbursing.

A person who has recommended a candidate without the latter's approval need not obtain the approval mentioned in the provision of the preceding clause.

A candidate may relieve a responsible disbursing of his office by notice in writing. This rule shall apply in case a person who has recommended a candidate and who has appointed a responsible disbursing, obtain the candidate's approval.

A responsible disbursing may resign by notice in writing to the candidate and the person who appointed him.

One who has appointed a responsible disbursing (including one who has himself become a responsible disbursing) shall immediately report the fact of appointment to the police station to which the report under the second section of Article LXXXIX was made. The same rule shall apply when a responsible disbursing has changed.

One who acts for a responsible disbursing in accordance with the provisions of Article CI-2 shall make a report in pursuance of the instance mentioned in the preceding clause. The same rule shall apply when one has resigned.

Article CI-3. - The expenses of the election campaign shall not be paid out by any person other than the responsible disbursing except the expenses involved in the preparation for candidacy and those paid out without any understanding of the candidates or the responsible disbursing; however this rule shall not apply to those who have obtained the written approval of the responsible disbursing.

CII. - The expenses of the election campaign for each candidate shall not exceed the amounts specified in the following items;

1. The amount obtained when the total number of electors registered on the final electoral list, divided by the number of members to be elected in the election district, is multiplied by thirty sen.

The governor (Superintendent-General of the Metropolitan Police in Tokyo Metropolis) shall publish the amount determined upon under the preceding section as soon as the date of election is published or notified.

Election Expenses (Con't)

Article CIII. - In case material obligations for an election campaign have been recognized or material benefits from the use of buildings, ships, horses and vehicles, printed matter, food and drink, etc., other than cash, have been received, the obligations or benefits shall be considered expenses of election at their market values.

Article CV. - The responsible disburser, according to imperial ordinance, shall provide an account-book and shall keep a record of the expenses of the election campaign.

Article CVI. - The responsible disburser, according to imperial ordinance, shall prepare an account of the expenses of the election campaign and shall report it within fourteen days from the date of election to the governor (Superintendent-General of the Metropolitan police in Tokyo Metropolis) through the police station to which the notice was given under section five of Article CI.

The governor (Superintendent-General of the Metropolitan Police in Tokyo Metropolis) shall publish the expenses of the election reported to him under the preceding section.

Punitive Rules

Article CXI. - Any person who has effected by fraudulent process the insertion of his name in the electoral list or who has made a false declaration under the second clause of Article XXV shall be liable to a fine of not more than 100 yen.

Article CXII. - Any person who has committed an act falling under any of the following heads shall be liable to confinement or penal servitude for not more than three years or to pay a fine of not more than 2,000 yen.

1. When, with the object of being elected, causing a candidate to be elected, or preventing him from being elected, money, goods, or other presents or public or private employment has been given to an elector or to a canvasser or when such gifts have been proposed or promised or when entertainment has been provided.
2. When, with the object of being elected, causing a candidate to be elected, or preventing him from being elected, irrigation, tenancy, credit, contributions, or other matters of direct interest to an elector or canvasser or to a shrine, temple, school, company, guild, or civic corporation in which an elector or canvasser is interested have been taken advantage of in persuading an elector or canvasser.
3. When, in connection with an election, anything mentioned in the first head of this article has been carried to an elector or a canvasser for the purpose of compensation for voting or carrying on an election campaign or for declining to do either or for canvassing or persuading others.
4. When, in connection with an election, a voter has received or demanded offers, or accepted proposals of presents or entertainments mentioned in the first or the preceding clause of this article or yielded to persuasion or asked for such forms of assistance as are mentioned in the second item.

5. When, with the object of inducing the acts mentioned in Items one to three, a person has made, proposed or promised offers of money or goods to election canvassers; or when an election canvasser has received, demanded or accepted such offers.
6. When in connection with an election, a person has acted to persuade or mediate between others concerning the acts mentioned in the preceding items.

Such public officer or official engaged in matters pertaining to an election who has committed a crime falling in one of the items of the preceding clause in connection with the election in question shall be liable to confinement or penal servitude for not more than four years or to pay a fine of not more than 3,000 yen. This rule shall apply to the police officers who has committed similar crimes in connection with the election in the Metropolis or prefecture concerned.

Article CXII-2 - A person who has committed one of the following acts shall be liable to confinement or penal servitude for not more than five years.

1. When, with the object of obtaining material benefits, a person has, on behalf of a candidate, committed against a large number of voters or election canvassers, or caused them to commit one of the acts mentioned in Items one to three, five or six of the first clause of the preceding article.
2. When, with the object of gaining material benefits, a person has, on behalf of a candidate, undertaken to commit against a large number of electors or election canvassers, caused them to undertake to commit, or made proposals therefor, one of the acts mentioned in Items one to three, five or six of the first clause of the preceding article.

This rule shall apply in case a person, who has committed one of the offenses mentioned in Items one to three, five or six, is a habitual offender.

Article CXVI. - When in connection with an election a government official or employee has wilfully neglected to discharge his duty or has obstructed the exercise of the right of election by the abuse of his authority, tracing candidates or election canvassers, or intruding into their houses or election offices without any justifiable reason, he shall be liable to confinement for not more than four years.

Punitive Rules (Con't)

A government official or employee who requests an elector to reveal the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote or has voted shall be sentenced to minor confinement for not more than six months or to pay a fine of not more than 300 yen.

Article CXVII. - When a government official, employee, witness, or overseer connected with the election has revealed the names of candidates voted for by electors, he shall be liable to minor confinement for not more than two years or to pay a fine of not more than 1,000 yen. The same penalties shall apply in cases of false representation of votes cast.

Article CXVIII. - When, without any justifiable cause, any person has either at a polling-place or a counting-place, interfered with the voting of an elector or has put into practice any device to discover the name of a person voted for, he shall be liable to minor confinement for not more than one year, or to pay a fine of not more than 500 yen.

Any person who, contrary to law and regulations, has opened a ballot-box or has removed ballots therefrom shall be liable to minor confinement or penal servitude for not more than three years or to pay a fine of not more than 2,000 yen.

Article CXIX. - Whoever has committed violence against or threatened a voting overseer, counting overseer, chairman of election, witness, or election overseer, or has disturbed an election meeting, counting-place or voting-place, or has detained, damaged, or plundered ballots or ballot-boxes or election documents shall be liable to minor confinement or penal servitude for not more than four years.

Article CXXI. - When, in connection with an election, whoever uses a firearm, sword, dagger, bludgeon, or other weapon capable of causing death or injury, he shall be liable to minor confinement for not more than two years or to pay a fine of not more than 1,000 yen.

A police official may, whenever it is judged necessary, seize any of the weapons mentioned in the preceding clause.

Article CXXIII. - In case any person has offended against the provisions mentioned in the two preceding articles, the weapons carried by him shall be confiscated.

Article CXXIV. - Whoever, in connection with an election, makes a display, such as assembling a crowd, conducting a procession or parade, making use of fireworks, bonfires or torch-lights, beating bells or drums or sounding conches or bugles or raising flags, etc., and disregards the warning of police officials to stop, shall be liable to minor confinement for not more than six months or to a fine of not more than 300 yen.

Punitive Rules (Con't)

Article CXXVII. - Any person, not an elector, who has voted shall be liable to minor confinement for not more than one year or to a fine of not more than 500 yen.

Any person who has voted by fraudulently assuming the name of another person or by other unfair means shall be liable to minor confinement for not more than two years or to a fine of not more than 1,000 yen.

Any person who has forged votes or manipulated votes to affect their number shall be liable to minor confinement or penal servitude for not more than three years or to a fine of not more than 2,000 yen.

In case an officer, official, witness, or scrutineer has offended against the preceding section, he shall be liable to minor confinement or penal servitude for not more than five years or to a fine of not more than 2,000 yen.

Article CXXX. - Any person who established election offices in excess of the number authorized in Article XC, or who has offended against the provisions of Article XCI or has established resting-places or places of like character, as described in Article XCII, shall be liable to a fine of not more than 300 yen.
