An Extract of a Letter Written from Rome, dated the 16th. of November last, to Signior Sarotti, concerning a Discovery made upon the Inundation of the Tevere. Translated out of the Italian.

Believe you have already heard how the Inundation of our River has done feveral confiderable Mischiefs all about this City, spoiling several fine Houses, and very large Aqueducts, by breaking down their conducts, &c. in several Places, (especially without this City) by breaking the Ground, discovered Vaults unknown before, great part of them full of earthen Urnes, and Sepulchers, but of no great confideration, by the Inferiptions they had upon them: Only in a Place within two Miles of this City, where there was some great antient Ruines, the Water having pierced a strong thick Wall which joyned to a great Country Palace, and passing under the same, broke out at a corner of an Aqueduct by the faid House, where there was found a small Vaulte of an Oval Figure, in which there was a Stone Sepulcher pretty large, with the following Inscription P. M. R. C. cum Unore, and more, which could not be differend; By this same there was a great earthen Urne shut up very close, which being opened, there came out such a strong Smoake, that it made the Man that was by it almost giddy, the Smell was like Bitumen, but being quickly dispersed they found in the bottom of the faid Urne an earthen Pos made up as a Lamp, full of a Materia Oleofa, which by degrees, as the cold Air got into it, grew hard.

Several persons suppose this to be one of those perpetual Lamps that the Antients mention: For my part, I cannot give yet my ludgment; but after that the business shall be better examined, I shall give you a further Account of it; intending to go my felf to fee it, because the Gentleman in whose Palace it was found is my good Friend.
