

Child's Faith to Santo Nino by Michol Sanchez

Mongolian Man and his Eagle by NuclearApples

Lumad basakanon by Kliencyril08

Peacock dance performer by TAPAS KUMAR HALDER

FIVE YEARS WITH

Wiki Loves FOLKLORE

DOCUMENTING THE WORLD'S INTANGIBLE CULTURAL HERITAGE

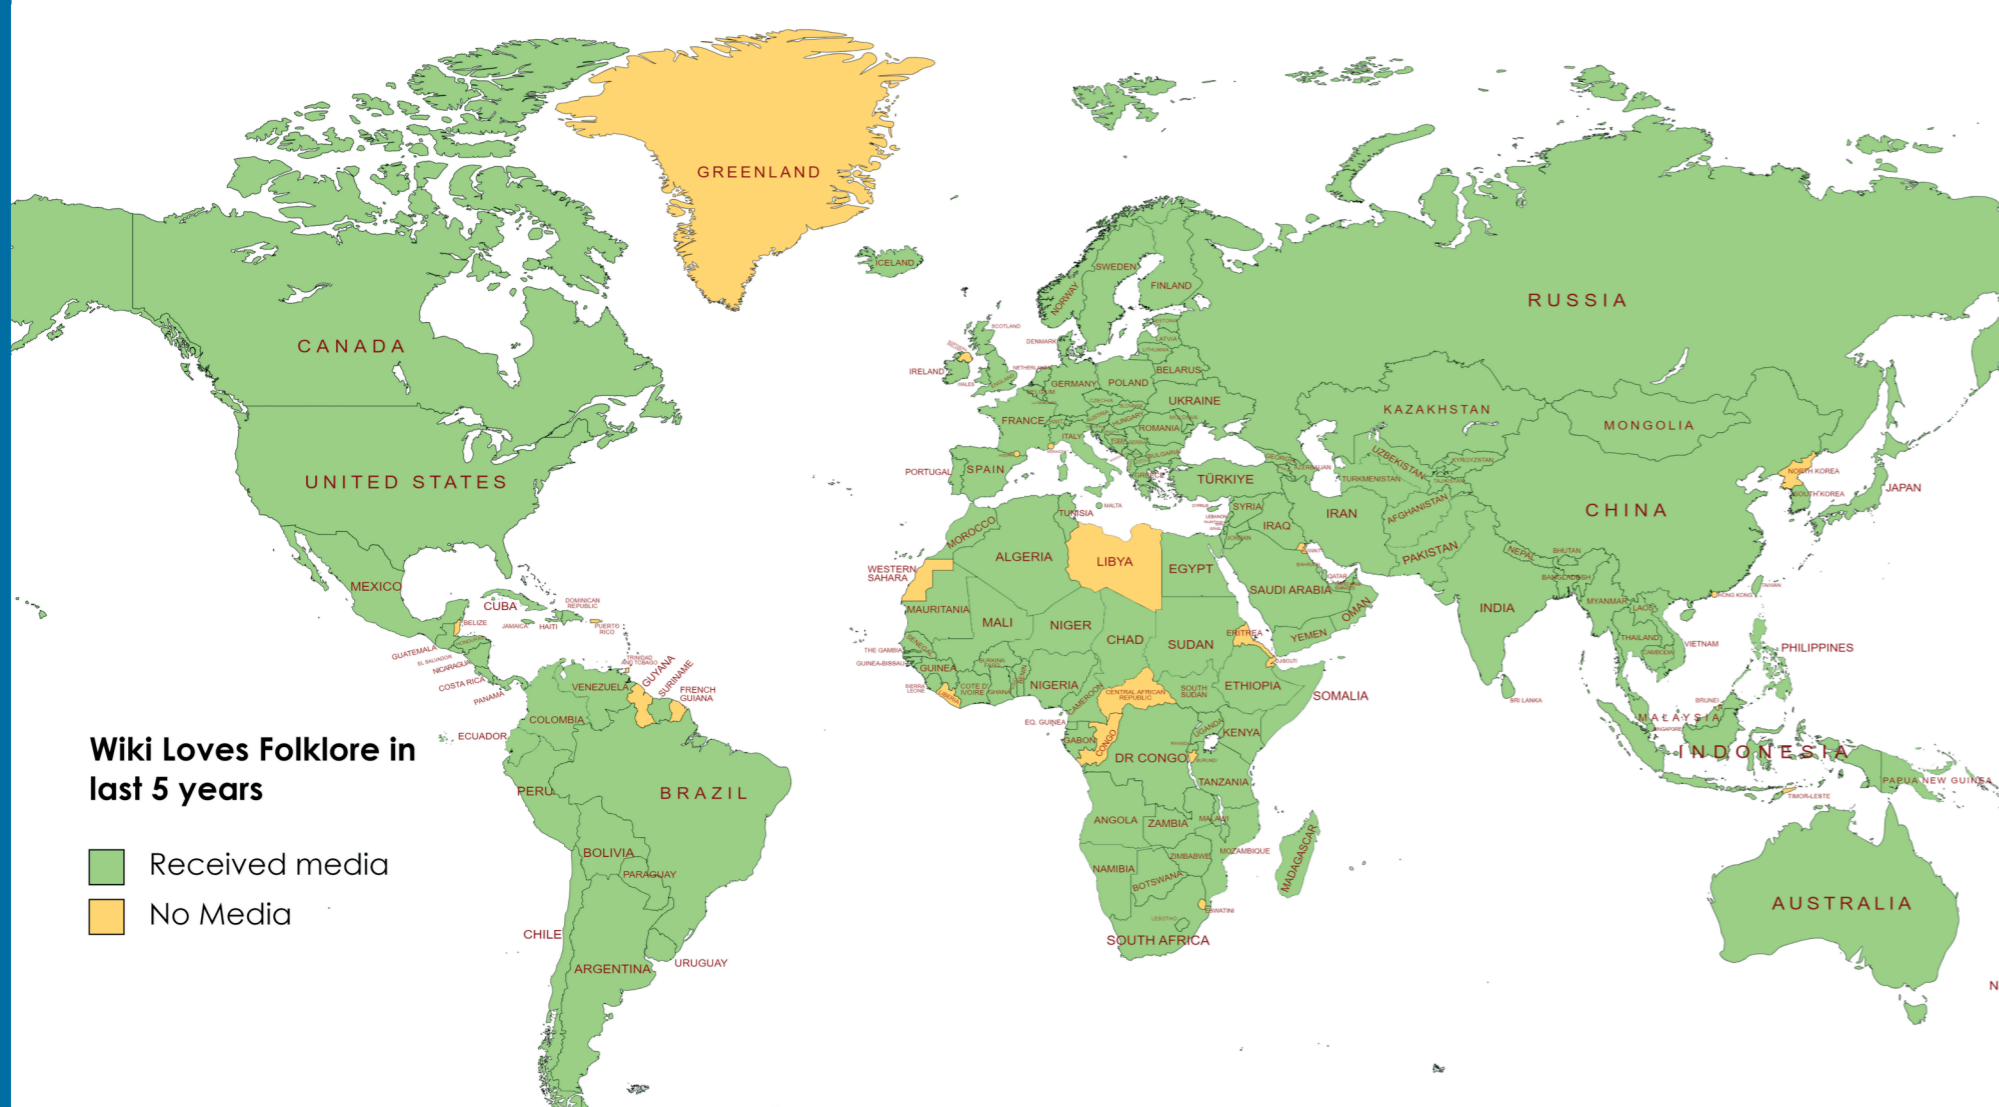

Children learning to play the local drum in northern Region of Ghana by Sir Amugi

Karen tribal woman in traditional clothes by Varvara Kless-Kaminskaia

Wiki Loves Folklore is an international photography contest that celebrates the rich tapestry of folk culture from diverse regions around the globe. Our focus is on preserving and promoting the essence of intangible cultural heritage through the art of photography.

In 2023, the photography competition witnessed widespread participation with 31 country editions. The event attracted 117 organizers from around the world. The international writing competition, Feminism and Folklore, proved to be a collaborative effort involving 41 Wikipedia communities, leading to the enhancement of 14,122 articles.

Starts: 1st February
Ends: 31st March

79,844+ Media Files
 6,414+ Volunteers
 168 Countries Participation
 You can be one too!

All images used in the poster are under CC-BY-SA-4.0 licence from Wikimedia Commons

Supported by

Funded by

Tiven Gonsalves (Tiven2240)

