About the writer: Poonkothai migrated from Sri Lanka to the UK in 1989. After completing her graduation and post-graduation in science and education, she entered the educational field. She has been teaching as a qualified full-time English teacher at Government Schools in the UK for several years. Poonkothai published a Health Promotion book in 2004 and a collection of short stories in 2022, dedicating her Tamil skills to her late mother, a Tamil teacher, Puvaneswary.
