The FEDERAL REGISTER is published daily, Monday through Friday, except official holidays, by the Office of the Federal Register, National Archives and Records Administration, Washington, DC 20408, under the Federal Register Act (44 U.S.C. Ch. 15) and the regulations of the Administrative Committee of the Federal Register (1 CFR Ch. I). The Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, DC 20402 is the exclusive distributor of the official edition.

These include Presidential proclamations and Executive Orders, Federal agency documents having general applicability and legal effect, documents required to be published by act of Congress, and other Federal agency documents of public interest.

Documents are on file for public inspection in the Office of the Federal Register the day before they are published, unless the issuing agency requests earlier filing. For a list of documents currently on file for public inspection, see <http://www.nara.gov/fedreg>.

The seal of the National Archives and Records Administration authenticates the Federal Register as the official serial publication established under the Federal Register Act. Under 44 U.S.C. 1507, the contents of the Federal Register shall be judicially noticed.

The Federal Register is published in paper and on 24x microfiche. It is also available online at no charge as one of the databases on GPO Access, a service of the U.S. Government Printing Office.

The online edition of the Federal Register is issued under the authority of the Administrative Committee of the Federal Register as the official legal equivalent of the paper and microfiche editions (44 U.S.C. 4101 and 1 CFR 5.10). It is updated by 6 a.m. each day the Federal Register is published and it includes both text and graphics from Volume 59, Number 1 (January 2, 1994) forward.

GPO Access users can choose to retrieve online Federal Register documents as TEXT (ASCII text, graphics omitted), PDF (Adobe Portable Document Format, including full text and all graphics), or SUMMARY (abbreviated text) files. Users should carefully check retrieved material to ensure that documents were properly downloaded.

Airworthiness Directives; Rolls-Royce plc RB211-524 Series Turbofan Engines

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration, DOT.

ACTION: Final rule; request for comments.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD) that is applicable to certain Rolls-Royce plc RB211-524 series turbofan engines. This action requires initial and repetitive ultrasonic inspections for cracks in fan blade dovetail roots, and, if necessary, replacement with serviceable parts. This action also provides the options of installing improved design fan blades or reworking current fan blades to the improved configuration as terminating action for the inspections. This amendment is prompted by reports of fan blade failures due to dovetail root cracks. The actions specified in this AD are intended to prevent possible multiple fan blade failures, which could result in an uncontained engine failure and damage to the aircraft.

DATES: Effective March 31, 2000.

The incorporation by reference of certain publications listed in the regulations is approved by the Director of the Federal Register as of March 31, 2000.

Comments for inclusion in the Rules Docket must be received on or before May 15, 2000.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Civil Aviation Authority (CAA), which is the airworthiness authority for the United Kingdom (UK), recently notified the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) that an unsafe condition may exist on certain Rolls-Royce plc (R-R) RB211-524 series turbofan engines. The CAA received reports of three fan blade failures to date. Subsequent inspections of the dovetail root area on other fan blades revealed the existence of dovetail root cracks in the same region as the failed blades. This condition, if not corrected, could result in possible multiple fan blade failures, which could result in an uncontained engine failure and damage to the aircraft.

Service Information

R-R has issued Mandatory Service Bulletin (SB) No. RB.211-72-C818, Revision 2, dated October 8, 1999, that specifies procedures for ultrasonic inspections for cracks in fan blade dovetail roots and provides rejection criteria. The CAA classified this SB as mandatory and issued airworthiness directive (AD) 007-10-99 in order to assure the airworthiness of these engines in the UK.

In addition, R-R has issued SB RB.211-72-C891, dated February 2, 2000, that describes procedures for installing improved design fan blades or reworking current fan blades to the improved configuration.

Bilateral Airworthiness Agreement

This engine model is manufactured in the UK and is type certificated for operation in the United States under the provisions of section 21.29 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 21.29) and the applicable bilateral airworthiness agreement. Pursuant to this bilateral airworthiness agreement, the CAA has kept the FAA informed of the situation described above. The FAA has examined the findings of the CAA, reviewed all available information, and determined that AD action is necessary for products of this type design that are certificated for operation in the United States.

Required Actions

Since an unsafe condition has been identified that is likely to exist or develop on other engines of the same type design, this AD requires initial and repetitive ultrasonic inspections for cracks in fan blade dovetail roots, and, if necessary, replacement of cracked fan blades with serviceable parts. This AD also provides the options of installing improved design fan blades or reworking current fan blades to the improved configuration as terminating action for the inspections. The improved design fan blades are undercut along the entire length of the blade root block and the blade root flanks are now grit blasted. In addition, the dry film lubricant is applied in an improved adhesive manner and the thickness of both the front and rear chocking pads and stop lug pin assembly has been reduced.

Immediate Adoption

There are currently no domestic operators of this engine model. Accordingly, a situation exists that allows the immediate adoption of this regulation. Notice and opportunity for prior public comment hereon are impracticable, and good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

Comments Invited

Although this action is in the form of a final rule that involves requirements affecting flight safety and, thus, was not preceded by notice and an opportunity for public comment, comments are invited on this rule. Interested persons are invited to comment on this rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the Rules Docket number and be submitted to the address specified under the caption ADDRESSES. All communications received on or before the closing date for comments will be considered, and this rule may be amended in light of the comments received. Factual information that supports the commenter's ideas and suggestions is extremely helpful in evaluating the effectiveness of the AD action and determining whether additional rulemaking action would be needed.

Comments are specifically invited on the overall regulatory, economic, environmental, and energy aspects of the rule that might suggest a need to modify the rule. All comments submitted will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons. A report that summarizes each FAA-public contact concerned with the substance of this AD will be filed in the Rules Docket.

Commenters wishing the FAA to acknowledge receipt of their comments submitted in response to this notice must submit a self-addressed, stamped postcard on which the following statement is made: "Comments to Docket Number 2000-NE-02-AD." The postcard will be date stamped and returned to the commenter.

Regulatory Impact

The regulations adopted herein will not have a substantial direct effect on the States, on the relationship between the national Government and the States, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government. Therefore, it is determined that this final rule does not have federalism implications under Executive Order 13132.

The FAA has determined that this regulation is an emergency regulation that must be issued immediately to correct an unsafe condition in aircraft, and is not a "significant regulatory action" under Executive Order 12866. It has been determined further that this action involves an emergency regulation under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034, February 26, 1979). If it is determined that this emergency regulation otherwise would be significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures, a final regulatory evaluation will be prepared and placed in the Rules Docket. A copy of it, if filed, may be obtained from the Rules Docket at the location provided under the caption ADDRESSES.

Adoption of the Amendment

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

1. The authority citation for part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 106(g), 40113, 44701.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

2. Section 39.13 is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

2000-05-12 Rolls-Royce plc: Amendment 39-11622. Docket 2000-NE-02-AD.

Applicability: Rolls-Royce plc (R-R) Models RB211-524G2-19, RB211-524G3-19, RB211-524H2-19, RB211-524G2-T-19, RB211-524G3-T-19, RB211-524H2-T-19, and RB211-524H-36 turbofan engines, with fan blades, part numbers (P/Ns) UL36245, UL38009, UL38052, or UL38628, installed. These engines are installed on but not limited to Boeing 747-400 series and 767 series airplanes.

Note 1: This airworthiness directive (AD) applies to each engine identified in the preceding applicability provision, regardless of whether it has been modified, altered, or repaired in the area subject to the requirements of this AD. For engines that have been modified, altered, or repaired so that the performance of the requirements of this AD is affected, the owner/operator must request approval for an alternative method of compliance in accordance with paragraph (c) of this AD. The request should include an assessment of the effect of the modification, alteration, or repair on the unsafe condition addressed by this AD; and, if the unsafe condition has not been eliminated, the request should include specific proposed actions to address it.

Compliance: Required as indicated, unless accomplished previously.

To prevent possible multiple fan blade failures, which could result in an uncontained engine failure and damage to the aircraft, accomplish the following:

Ultrasonic Inspections

(a) Ultrasonically inspect the dovetail roots of fan blades, P/Ns UL36245, UL38009, UL38052, and UL38628, for cracks as follows:

Initial Inspection

- (1) Initially inspect at the latest of:
 - (i) before accumulating 2,050 total fan blade part cycles-since-new.
 - (ii) 50 fan blade cycles-in-service (CIS) after the effective date of this AD.
 - (iii) 200 fan blade CIS since last inspection.

Service Bulletin

- (2) Inspect and determine rejection status in accordance with the following paragraphs of R-R Mandatory Service Bulletin (SB) RB.211-72-C818, Revision 2, dated October 8, 1999:

- (i) Compliance section C, page 2.
- (ii) Accomplishment Instructions section, items A through and including B(6), pages 5 and 6.
- (iii) Acceptance criteria section, Appendix 1 (4), items A and B, page 9.

Earlier Versions of Service Bulletin

(3) Initial inspections accomplished using the original issue of R-R SB RB.211-72-C818, dated August 6, 1999, or Revision 1, dated August 20, 1999, are acceptable.

Repetitive Inspections

(4) Thereafter, inspect at intervals not to exceed 200 CIS since last inspection in accordance with R-R Mandatory RB.211-72-C818, Revision 2, dated October 8, 1999.

Cracked Parts

(5) Prior to further flight, remove from service cracked fan blades and replace with serviceable parts in accordance with R-R Mandatory RB.211-72-C818, Revision 2, dated October 8, 1999.

Optional Terminating Action

(b) Accomplishment of either of the following actions constitutes terminating action to the inspections required by paragraph (a) of this AD:

- (1) Remove from service fan blades, P/Ns UL36245, UL38009, UL38052, and UL38628, and replace with serviceable fan blades with P/Ns other than P/Ns UL36245, UL38009, UL38052, and UL38628, or
- (2) Rework fan blades to the improved configuration and mark the reworked fan blades with P/Ns FW12018, FW12019, FW12020, or FW12021, in accordance with the Accomplishment Instructions of R-R SB RB.211-72-C891, dated February 2, 2000.

Alternative Methods of Compliance

(c) An alternative method of compliance or adjustment of the compliance time that provides an acceptable level of safety may be used if approved by the Manager, Engine Certification Office. Operators shall submit their requests through an appropriate FAA Principal Maintenance Inspector, who may add comments and then send it to the Manager, Engine Certification Office.

Note 2: Information concerning the existence of approved alternative methods of compliance with this AD, if any, may be obtained from the Engine Certification Office.

Ferry Flights

(d) Special flight permits may be issued in accordance with §§ 21.197 and 21.199 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 21.197 and 21.199) to operate the aircraft to a location where the requirements of this AD can be accomplished.

Incorporation by Reference

(e) The actions required by this AD shall be performed in accordance with the R-R Mandatory SB RB.211-72-C818, Revision 2, dated October 8, 1999, and SB RB.211-72-C891, dated February 2, 2000. This incorporation by reference was approved by the Director of the Federal Register, in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552(a) and 1 CFR part 51. Copies may be obtained from Rolls-Royce plc, PO Box 31, Derby, England; telephone: International Access Code 011, Country Code 44, 1332-249428, fax International Access Code 011, Country Code 44, 1332-249223. Copies may be inspected at the FAA, New England Region, Office of the Regional Counsel, 12 New England Executive Park, Burlington, MA; or at the Office of the Federal Register, 800 North Capitol Street, NW, suite 700, Washington, DC.

(f) This amendment becomes effective on March 31, 2000.

Airworthiness Directives; Eurocopter France Model AS355N Helicopters

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration, DOT.

ACTION: Final rule; request for comments.

SUMMARY: This amendment adopts a new airworthiness directive (AD) that is applicable to Eurocopter France Model AS355N helicopters. This action requires inspecting the: 4 engine exhaust pipe ejector attachment lugs (lugs) for cracks; starter-generator (S-G) shaft for radial play; S-G attachment flange for cracks; and S-G attachment half-clamps for cracks.

This amendment is prompted by 9 reports of S-G damage; 3 reports of the discovery of cracks in the lugs; and 1 report of an in-flight loss of the exhaust pipe ejector. The actions specified in this AD are intended to prevent separation of an engine exhaust pipe ejector from the helicopter, which could result in a tail rotor strike and subsequent loss of control of the helicopter.

DATES: Effective March 31, 2000.

The incorporation by reference of certain publications listed in the regulations is approved by the Director of the Federal Register as of March 31, 2000.

Comments for inclusion in the Rules Docket must be received on or before May 15, 2000.

ADDRESSES: Submit comments in triplicate to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), Office of the Regional Counsel, Southwest Region, Attention: Rules Docket No. 99-SW-87-AD, 2601 Meacham Blvd., Room 663, Fort Worth, Texas 76137.

The service information referenced in this AD may be obtained from American Eurocopter Corporation, 2701 Forum Drive, Grand Prairie, Texas 75053-4005, telephone (972) 641-3460, fax (972) 641-3527. This information may be examined at the FAA, Office of the Regional Counsel, Southwest Region, 2601 Meacham Blvd., Room 663, Fort Worth, Texas 76137; or at the Office of the Federal Register, 800 North Capitol Street, NW., suite 700, Washington, DC.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Shep Blackman, Aerospace Engineer, FAA, Rotorcraft Directorate, Rotorcraft Standards Staff, 2601 Meacham Blvd., Fort Worth, Texas 76137, telephone (817) 222-5296, fax (817) 222-5961.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Direction Generale De L'Aviation Civile (DGAC), which is the airworthiness authority for France, notified the FAA that an unsafe condition may exist on Eurocopter France Model AS355N helicopters. The DGAC advises that starter-generator deterioration may lead to failure of the engine exhaust pipe ejector attachment lugs and subsequent loss of the ejector.

Eurocopter France has issued Eurocopter France Service Telex No. 01.00.45, dated October 27, 1999, which requests that the following items must be inspected within 10 hours time-in-service (TIS) and then at intervals of 100 hours TIS: 4 lugs for cracks; S-G shaft for significant radial play; S-G attachment flange for cracks; and S-G attachment half-clamps for cracks.

The DGAC classified this telex as mandatory and issued AD 1999-469-058(A), dated December 1, 1999, in order to assure the continued airworthiness of these helicopters in France.

This helicopter model is manufactured in France and is type certificated for operation in the United States under the provisions of section 21.29 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 21.29) and the applicable bilateral airworthiness agreement. Pursuant to this bilateral airworthiness agreement, the DGAC has kept the FAA informed of the situation described above. The FAA has examined the findings of the DGAC, reviewed all available information, and determined that AD action is necessary for products of this type design that are certificated for operation in the United States.

Since an unsafe condition has been identified that is likely to exist or develop on other Eurocopter France Model AS355N helicopters of the same type design registered in the United States, this AD is being issued to prevent separation of an engine exhaust pipe ejector from the helicopter, which could result in a tail rotor strike and subsequent loss of control of the helicopter. This AD requires, within 10 hours TIS and then at intervals not to exceed 100 hours TIS, inspecting the: 4 lugs for any crack; S-G shaft for radial play; S-G attachment flange for any crack; and S-G attachment half-clamps for any crack.

The actions are required to be accomplished in accordance with the telex described previously. The short compliance time involved is required because the previously described critical unsafe condition can adversely affect the structural integrity of the helicopter. Therefore, this AD must be issued immediately.

Since a situation exists that requires the immediate adoption of this regulation, it is found that notice and opportunity for prior public comment hereon are impracticable, and that good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

The FAA estimates that 13 helicopters will be affected by this AD and that it will take approximately 3 work hours to accomplish the inspections. The work hours required to replace the parts will be: 2 work hours to replace the S-G; 1 work hour to replace the clamp and flange; and 2 work hours to replace the exhaust pipe.

The average labor rate is estimated to be $60 per work hour. Required parts, per helicopter, will cost approximately: $6,346 for each S-G; $12,148 for each exhaust pipe; $500 for each flange; and $175 for each clamp.

Based on these figures, the total cost impact of the AD on U.S. operators is estimated to be $180 per helicopter to accomplish each inspection and $19,469 per helicopter to replace the S-G, the exhaust pipe, the flange, and the clamp.

Comments Invited

Although this action is in the form of a final rule that involves requirements affecting flight safety and, thus, was not preceded by notice and an opportunity for public comment, comments are invited on this rule. Interested persons are invited to comment on this rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire.

Communications should identify the Rules Docket number and be submitted in triplicate to the address specified under the caption ADDRESSES. All communications received on or before the closing date for comments will be considered, and this rule may be amended in light of the comments received. Factual information that supports the commenter's ideas and suggestions is extremely helpful in evaluating the effectiveness of the AD action and determining whether additional rulemaking action would be needed.

Comments are specifically invited on the overall regulatory, economic, environmental, and energy aspects of the rule that might suggest a need to modify the rule. All comments submitted will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons. A report that summarizes each FAA-public contact concerned with the substance of this AD will be filed in the Rules Docket.

Commenters wishing the FAA to acknowledge receipt of their comments submitted in response to this rule must submit a self-addressed, stamped postcard on which the following statement is made: "Comments to Docket No. 99-SW-87-AD." The postcard will be date stamped and returned to the commenter.

The regulations adopted herein will not have a substantial direct effect on the States, on the relationship between the national Government and the States, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government. Therefore, it is determined that this final rule does not have federalism implications under Executive Order 13132.

The FAA has determined that this regulation is an emergency regulation that must be issued immediately to correct an unsafe condition in aircraft, and that it is not a "significant regulatory action" under Executive Order 12866. It has been determined further that this action involves an emergency regulation under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034, February 26, 1979). If it is determined that this emergency regulation otherwise would be significant under DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures, a final regulatory evaluation will be prepared and placed in the Rules Docket. A copy of it, if filed, may be obtained from the Rules Docket at the location provided under the caption ADDRESSES.

1. The authority citation for part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 106(g), 40113, 44701.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

2. Section 39.13 is amended by adding a new airworthiness directive to read as follows:

AD 2000-05-15 Eurocopter France:

Amendment 39-11625. Docket No. 99-SW-87-AD.

Applicability: Model AS355N helicopters, certificated in any category.

Note 1: This AD applies to each helicopter identified in the preceding applicability provision, regardless of whether it has been otherwise modified, altered, or repaired in the area subject to the requirements of this AD. For helicopters that have been modified, altered, or repaired so that the performance of the requirements of this AD is affected, the owner/operator must request approval for an alternative method of compliance in accordance with paragraph (d) of this AD. The request should include an assessment of the effect of the modification, alteration, or repair on the unsafe condition addressed by this AD; and, if the unsafe condition has not been eliminated, the request should include specific proposed actions to address it.

Compliance: Required within 10 hours time-in-service (TIS) and thereafter at intervals not to exceed 100 hours TIS, unless accomplished previously.

To prevent separation of an engine exhaust pipe ejector from the helicopter, which could result in a tail rotor strike and subsequent loss of control of the helicopter, accomplish the following:

(a) In accordance with paragraph BB of Eurocopter France Service Telex No. 00095, dated October 27, 1999 (Telex) that references Service Telex No. 01.00.45, visually inspect the:

- (1) 4 engine exhaust pipe ejector attachment lugs (lugs) for any crack;
- (2) starter-generator (S-G) shaft for radial play;
- (3) S-G attachment flange for any crack; and
- (4) S-G attachment half-clamps for any crack.

(b) If a crack is found in either the lugs, the S-G attachment flange, or the S-G attachment half-clamps, repair or replace the cracked part with an airworthy part prior to further flight.

(c) If radial play is discovered in the S-G, replace it with an airworthy S-G prior to further flight.

(d) An alternative method of compliance or adjustment of the compliance time that provides an acceptable level of safety may be used if approved by the Manager, Regulations Group, Rotorcraft Directorate, FAA. Operators shall submit their requests through an FAA Principal Maintenance Inspector, who may concur or comment and then send it to the Manager, Rotorcraft Directorate.

Note 2: Information concerning the existence of approved alternative methods of compliance with this AD, if any, may be obtained from the Regulations Group.

(e) Special flight permits may be issued in accordance with §§ 21.197 and 21.199 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 21.197 and 21.199) to operate the helicopter to a location where the requirements of this AD can be accomplished.

(f) The inspections and replacements, if necessary, shall be done in accordance with Eurocopter France Service Telex No. 00095, dated October 27, 1999. This incorporation by reference was approved by the Director of the Federal Register in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552(a) and 1 CFR part 51. Schedule of Fees for Consular Services; Finance and Accounting; and Passports and Visas AGENCY: Bureau of Consular Affairs, State Department.

ACTION: Direct final rule.

SUMMARY: This direct final rule replaces the existing fee charged for each passport issued, that is refunded when a passport is not issued, with a non-refundable fee charged for each application filed for a passport. Accordingly, the Department of State will refund the passport application fee only when the fee has been collected in error. The Department will not refund the fee paid for a passport application when, after processing, it is determined that the applicant will not be issued a passport. Nor will the Department refund a passport application fee to the executor or administrator of the estate of the deceased bearer of an unused passport, or refund a passport application fee to any person issued a passport who has been refused a visa by a foreign government. The rule provides, however, that a person, whose passport application is denied, may have the application reconsidered without being required to pay an additional application fee by submitting adequate documentation that overcomes the reason for denial within 90 days from the date of the denial notice.

DATES: This rule is effective May 15, 2000 without further action, unless adverse comment is received by April 17, 2000. If adverse comment is received and is well-taken, the Department of State will publish a timely withdrawal of the rule in the Federal Register, and it will not take effect.

ADDRESSES: Written comments should be addressed to: Chief, Legal Division, Office of Passport Policy, Planning and Advisory Services, 1111 19th Street, N.W., Suite 260, Washington, D.C. 20524.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Section 1 of the Passport Act of June 4, 1920 (22 U.S.C. 214) previously provided for payment into the Treasury of a fee, prescribed by the Secretary of State by regulation, for "each passport issued", and a fee for executing "each application for a passport". Congress enacted Section 233 of Pub.L. 106-113, November 29, 1999, which amended Section 1 of the Passport Act by striking those provisions and inserting in their place the requirement for payment of a fee for "the filing of each application for a passport (including the cost of passport issuance and use)" and a fee for executing "each such application" for a passport. Section 233 further provides that "such fees shall not be refundable, except as the Secretary may by regulation prescribe". Section 233 also repealed Section 4 of the Passport Act of 1920 (22 U.S.C. 216), which authorized the refund of the fees paid by the person to whom a passport was issued, whenever the appropriate officer within the United States of any foreign country refuses to issue a visa in a passport issued by the United States, upon request in writing and return of an unused passport within six months from the date of issue.

This direct final rule implements Section 233 of Pub.L. 106-113 by amending the existing Schedule of Fees for Consular Services in the list of Passport and Citizenship Services under 22 CFR 22.1, to change "issuance" to "application", and amends 22 CFR 22.6 by deleting the provision for the refund of the passport fee pursuant to 22 U.S.C. 216. This rule also amends the regulations governing passport fees in 22 CFR 51.61(a), by changing the "fee for each passport issued" to a "fee for each passport application filed", and amends 22 CFR 51.63 by changing "passport fee" to "passport application fee" and by deleting paragraphs (b), (c) and (d).

The effect of this rule is that the Department of State will not refund the fee paid for a passport application when the Department determines, after processing, that a passport may not be issued pursuant to the regulations governing passports. Nor will the Department refund a passport application fee to any person who, after a passport has been issued to them, has been refused a visa by a foreign government. Further, the Department will not refund a passport application fee to the executor or administrator of the estate of the deceased bearer of an unused passport. A refund will not be made in those cases, because the application for a passport will have been processed in accordance with the fee paid for the application.

However, the Department recognizes that there are cases where an application for issuance of a passport will be denied on the sole ground of inadequate documentation or for a reason that can be cured by the provision of further documentation. In those cases, a new application fee should not be required when the applicant provides acceptable documentation in a timely manner so that a passport is issued. A person whose application for a passport has been denied, moreover, is informed in writing of the specific reason(s) for the denial, as provided by regulation. Therefore, this rule also provides that a person, whose passport application has been denied, may have the denied application reconsidered without payment of an additional passport application fee by submitting adequate documentation within 90 days from the date of the notice of denial. The term "adequate documentation" includes evidence that the applicant is in the process of obtaining the necessary documents, which may have been missing or lost and may require considerable time to obtain or replace. The denial becomes final, however, if adequate documentation is not submitted before the elapse of 90 days after the date of the denial notice. The Department's passport regulations do not preclude a person, whose passport application has been denied, from subsequently submitting a new passport application with payment of a new application fee.

This rule does not affect the fee for executing an application for a passport, which cannot be refunded pursuant to the existing regulation in 22 CFR 51.65. Therefore, the Department will refund the passport application fee and the fee for executing an application for a passport only in cases when the fee was collected in error from persons exempted from payment by law, or the fee collected was in excess of the prescribed fee, as is currently provided by regulation.

This rule is effective May 15, 2000. If adverse comment is received and is well-taken, the Department of State will publish a timely withdrawal of the rule in the Federal Register. If an adverse comment applies to an amendment, paragraph, or section of this rule and that provision may be addressed separately from the remainder of the rule, the Department may adopt as final those provisions of the rule that are not the subject of an adverse comment.

The Department does not consider this rule to be a major rule for purposes of E.O. 12291. These changes to the regulations are hereby certified as not expected to have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 605(b). This rule does not impose information collection requirements under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act, 44 U.S.C., Chapter 35. Nor does the rule have federalism implications warranting the application of Executive Order No. 12372 and No. 13132. This rule is exempt from E.O. 12866, but the Department has reviewed the rule to ensure consistency with the objectives of the Executive Order, as well as with E.O. 12988, and the Office of Management and Budget has determined this rule would not constitute a significant regulatory action under E.O. 12866.

Prevention of Significant Deterioration Delegation of Authority to Mendocino County Air Pollution Control District to Administer Permits Issued by EPA

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notice of delegation of authority.

SUMMARY: The Regional Administrator for EPA Region 9 has delegated full authority to the Mendocino County Air Pollution Control District (District) to administer three Prevention of Significant Deterioration (PSD) permits issued by EPA.

EFFECTIVE DATE: The effective date of the delegation is February 23, 2000.

ADDRESSES: Mendocino County Air Pollution Control District, 306 E. Gobbi Street, Ukiah, CA 95482.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Nahid Zoueshtiagh, Permits Office (AIR-3), Air Division, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Region IX, 75 Hawthorne Street, San Francisco, CA 94105-3901, Telephone: (415) 744-1261, E-mail: Zoueshtiagh.nahid@epa.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Pursuant to 40 CFR 52.21(u), "Delegation of authority," the EPA has delegated authority to the District to administer the following three PSD permits issued by EPA to:

- Masonite Corporation (EPA, PSD No. NC-77-06, issued in 1977)
- Georgia Pacific West Inc. (EPA, PSD No. NC-79-07, issued in 1979)

In 1985, EPA approved the District's PSD program into the California State Implementation Plan (SIP) (50 FR 30943, July 31, 1985). However, the above three permits which were issued by EPA, continued to be administered by EPA. To date, administering these permits has consisted of actions on modification requests by the Permittees. While the District has now been delegated the authority to administer these permits, nothing in the delegation agreement prohibits EPA from enforcing the PSD provisions of the Clean Air Act, the PSD regulations, or future permit conditions issued by the District.

A copy of the delegation agreement between EPA and the District is available from Nahid Zoueshtiagh, Permits Office (AIR-3), Air Division, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Region IX, 75 Hawthorne Street, San Francisco, CA 94105-3901.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

47 CFR Part 24

[WT Docket No. 97-82; FCC 00-54]

AGENCY: Federal Communications Commission.

ACTION: Final rule; petition for reconsideration.

SUMMARY: In this document, the Commission dismisses or denies petitions for reconsideration of its Fourth Report and Order in which it modified the rules governing auctions of licenses for C block broadband Personal Communications Services ("PCS") spectrum. Some of the issues raised by petitioners are specific to Auction No. 22 and have been rendered moot by the occurrence of that auction. Other issues will be decided in separate proceedings. By this document the Commission declines to extend the two year "grandfather" exception to the entrepreneur eligibility requirement for C block auctions and also declines to "grandfather" in future C and F block auctions the bidding credit eligibility of participants in earlier C block auctions.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Audrey Bashkin, Auctions & Industry Analysis Division, Wireless Telecommunications Bureau, at 418-0660.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This is a summary of an Order on Reconsideration of the Fourth Report & Order (Order on Reconsideration) adopted February 15, 2000 and released February 29, 2000. The complete text of the Order on Reconsideration, including the attachment, is available for inspection and copying during normal business hours in the FCC Reference Center (Room CY-A257), 445 12th Street, SW, Washington, DC. It may also be purchased from the Commission's copy contractor, International Transcription Services, Inc. (ITS, Inc.), 1231 20th Street, NW, Washington, DC 20035, (202) 857-3800. It is also available on the Commission's web site at <http://www.fcc.gov/wtb/auctions>.

I. Introduction and Background

1. In this Order on Reconsideration, we address petitions for reconsideration of our Fourth Report and Order, released August 19, 1998 ("C Block Fourth Report and Order"), 63 FR 50791 (September 23, 1998), in which we modified the rules governing auctions of C block broadband Personal Communications Services ("PCS") spectrum. To date, there have been three auctions of licenses for C block spectrum. Auctions No. 5 and 10, which ended on May 6, 1996, and July 16, 1996, respectively, preceded the C Block Fourth Report and Order. Auction No. 22, which followed the C Block Fourth Report and Order, concluded on April 15, 1999, and also included licenses for E and F block spectrum. An earlier auction of licenses for D, E, and F block spectrum, Auction No. 11, concluded on January 14, 1997. One or more additional auctions of C and F block spectrum are expected.

2. In response to the C Block Fourth Report and Order, we received five petitions for reconsideration, one opposition, and one set of comments. Within the time frame for filing oppositions, we also received related correspondence. Some of the issues raised by petitioners are specific to Auction No. 22 and have been rendered moot by the occurrence of that auction. Other issues will be decided in separate proceedings. The remaining issues concern entrepreneur and bidding credit eligibility. In this order, we decline to extend the two year "grandfather" exception to the entrepreneur eligibility requirement for C block auctions and also decline to "grandfather" in future C and F block auctions the bidding credit eligibility of participants in earlier C block auctions.

II. Auction Inventory

3. Background. In the C Block Fourth Report and Order, we decided not to delay the next C block auction pending resolution of bankruptcy proceedings affecting the availability for auction of certain C block spectrum.

4. Discussion. Both Conestoga and DiGiPH ask that we reconsider this decision. Because Auction No. 22 has already been held, these requests have become moot. As we stated in the C Block Fourth Report and Order, spectrum made available for licensing as a result of any bankruptcy proceeding will be included in the next appropriate auction of C block spectrum.

III. Entrepreneur Eligibility

5. Background. Consistent with Congress' mandate to promote the participation of small businesses and other "designated entities" in the provision of spectrum-based services, the Commission limited eligibility for C and F block broadband PCS licenses in Auctions No. 5, 10, and 11 to "entrepreneurs." The Commission considers entrepreneurs, with regard to the C and F blocks, to be those entities that can meet the auction and licensing eligibility requirements of § 24.709 of the Commission's rules. The principal requirement is as follows:

No application is acceptable for filing and no license shall be granted for frequency block C or frequency block F, unless the applicant, together with its affiliates and persons or entities that hold interests in the applicant and their affiliates, have gross revenues of less than $125 million in each of the last two years and total assets of less than $500 million at the time the applicant's short-form application (Form 175) is filed. 47 CFR 24.709(a)(1); see id. 24.720; Competitive Bidding Fifth Report and Order, 65 FR 37566 (July 22, 1994), Fifth Memorandum Opinion and Order, 59 FR 63210 (December 7, 1994) and Sixth Report and Order, 60 FR 37786 (July 21, 1995).

6. In the C Block Fourth Report and Order, we decided that entities that had been eligible for and had participated in Auction No. 5 or 10 would also be eligible to bid on C block spectrum in Auction No. 22 and in any C block auction beginning within two years of the start date of Auction No. 22, even if such entities had become too large to qualify as entrepreneurs.

7. Discussion. In its petition, Omnipoint argues that, because a "number of C [b]lock licenses [are] currently tied up in bankruptcy and not slated for the upcoming C [b]lock reauction [Auction No. 22], entrepreneurs will again see a shift in the market result of all prior C block auctions during all upcoming reauctions." Omnipoint maintains that, pursuant to "notions of fairness and auction integrity," the Commission should allow all "original C block applicants" to compete in any subsequent auction of C block licenses, regardless of when such auction occurs.

8. We disagree. The two-year "grandfather" exception to the entrepreneur eligibility requirement was part of a package of financial restructuring options offered by the Commission to C block licensees experiencing financial difficulties in the wake of the first two C block auctions. See C Block Reconsideration Order, 63 FR 17111 (April 8, 1998), C Block Second Report and Order, 62 FR 55375 (October 24, 1997) and Second C Block Reconsideration Order, 64 FR 26887 (May 18, 1999). When making these options available, the Commission explained that they were intended to provide "limited relief," limited in both scope and time. We recognized that not all licenses involved in bankruptcy proceedings would likely be available for inclusion in the Auction No. 22 license inventory; nevertheless, we decided to permit the grandfather exception for only two years. We believe, as we explained in the C Block Fourth Report and Order, that fairness to other future bidders prevents our providing the eligibility exception indefinitely. Therefore, as to the issue of entrepreneur eligibility, we will deny Omnipoint's petition.

IV. Bidding Credit Eligibility

9. Background. Bidding credits are available to C block auction winners that qualify as small or very small businesses or consortia thereof. Under current C (and F) blocks rules, which were in effect for Auction No. 22, small businesses and small business consortia receive a 15 percent bidding credit and very small businesses and very small business consortia receive a 25 percent bidding credit. In the C Block Fourth Report and Order, we expressly declined to "grandfather" eligibility for bidding credits, deciding that bidding credit eligibility in upcoming C block auctions would be determined according to an applicant's size at the deadline for filing short-form applications and not the applicant's size when it applied to participate in Auction No. 5 or 10. We concluded that it would not be in the best interests of the public and, in particular, of competing small business bidders and licensees to provide a discount to applicants that no longer meets the small business size standards.

10. Discussion. Omnipoint urges us to reconsider this decision, contending that our refusal to "grandfather" bidding credit eligibility is unfair to those existing entrepreneur licensees that have generated PCS revenues since the initial C block auction. We disagree. Bidding credits function as a discount on a winning bidder's high bid, thereby substantially reducing the licensee's payment obligation to the Federal government. The purpose of such credits is to allow small entities with limited access to capital to compete effectively against larger businesses in auctions. Were we to allow large businesses to qualify for bidding credits, by virtue of their past participation as small businesses in earlier C block auctions, we would undermine the effectiveness of such credits in aiding entities that currently qualify as small businesses. We cannot justify such a result, nor can we envision a convincing public policy rationale for providing larger businesses with a 15 or 25 percent discount off their Federal obligation. Accordingly, we deny Omnipoint's petition as to the issue of bidding credits.

V. Controlling Interest Rule

11. Background. In the C Block Reconsideration Order, we deferred to other phases of WT Docket No. 97-82 the decision whether to use a "controlling interest" approach to determine financial attribution for future C block auctions rather than to continue using "control group" structures.

12. Discussion. In its petition, Leap asks that we apply the controlling interest concept to the C and F blocks. Cook opposes this request. Leap's petition and Cook's opposition are moot insofar as they concern Auction No. 22, for which control group structures applied.

VI. Minimum Opening Bids

13. Background. In the C Block Fourth Report and Order, we established that the minimum opening bid for each market in Auction No. 22 would be ten percent of the corresponding net high bid for the market in the first C block auction; however, we stated that the Wireless Telecommunications Bureau ("Bureau") could exercise its discretion to set smaller minimum opening bids if the Bureau believed they were warranted.

14. Discussion. While disagreeing on specifics, Conestoga and Omnipoint both suggest that we reduce the minimum opening bids. Because Auction No. 22, has already taken place, these requests are moot. We note that the Bureau, after considering comments, including one filed by Omnipoint, reduced the Auction No. 22 minimum opening bids for C block licenses to five percent (for 30 MHz C block licenses) and 2.5 percent (for 15 MHz C block licenses) of the most recent net high bid for C block licenses in the same market. For each future C block auction, the Bureau will continue its current practice under the Balanced Budget Act of 1997 to establish minimum opening bids and/or reserve prices after notice and comment. See Part 1 Third Report and Order 63 FR 770 (January 7, 1998).

VII. Bid Increment Methodology

15. In a December 10, 1998 meeting with Bureau and Division staff, Omnipoint outlined a proposal for a bid increment methodology to be employed in Auction No. 22. The fact that Auction No. 22 has already occurred renders Omnipoint's suggestion moot; however, we note that, in advance of Auction No. 22, the Bureau considered and rejected essentially the same proposal by Omnipoint. For each future C block auction, the Bureau will, after notice and comment, establish an appropriate bid increment methodology.

VIII. Default Payment Rules

16. Mountain Solutions argues that our decision to eliminate installment payment financing in Auction No. 22 and to exclude from the auction spectrum involved in bankruptcy proceedings, along with other factors, will decrease auction prices and thereby increase the payment owed by Mountain Solutions for defaults on second down payments for C block licenses Mountain Solutions had previously won. Mountain Solutions argues further that it would be inequitable for the Commission strictly to apply its default payment rule against Mountain Solutions. Because Auction No. 22 has already occurred, Mountain Solutions' petition, insofar as it seeks modification of our rules for that auction, is moot. The remaining issue—the extent to which Mountain Solutions will be held liable for its default payment obligations—is before us in a separate proceeding and will be considered there.

IX. Other Filing

17. In a letter related to this proceeding, McBride asks that we assist Representative W. J. "Billy" Tauzin, Chairman of the U.S. House of Representatives Subcommittee on Telecommunications, Trade, and Consumer Protection, in Chairman Tauzin's efforts with regard to the C block auction. Specifically, McBride requests that we help promote competition and encourage the participation of designated entities in the wireless telecommunications industry and that we make sure that all C block licensees are treated in a fair and equitable manner. We believe that, with the C Block Fourth Report and Order and Auction No. 22, we have furthered the goals articulated in McBride's letter; however, because the letter does not request specific reconsideration of the C Block Fourth Report and Order, we neither grant nor deny it.

X. Ordering Clauses

18. Accordingly, it is ordered that, pursuant to sections 4(i), 5(b), 5(c)(1), 303(r), and 309(j) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 47 U.S.C. sections 154(i), 155(b), 156(c)(1), 303(r), and 309(j), the petition for reconsideration filed in response to the C Block Fourth Report and Order by Omnipoint Corporation is denied. The petition for reconsideration filed in response to the C Block Fourth Report and Order by Mountain Solutions, Ltd., Inc., is dismissed in part as moot and denied in all other respects. The remaining petitions for reconsideration filed in response to the C Block Fourth Report and Order are dismissed as moot. This Order on Reconsideration is hereby adopted.

Airworthiness Directives; Boeing Model 747 and 767 Series Airplanes Equipped with General Electric CF6-80C2 Series Engines

AGENCY: Federal Aviation Administration, DOT.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking (NPRM).

SUMMARY: This document proposes the adoption of a new airworthiness directive (AD) that is applicable to certain Boeing Model 747 and 767 series airplanes. This proposal would require repetitive functional tests of the directional pilot valve (DPV) of the thrust reversers to detect pneumatic leakage, and corrective action, if necessary. This proposal is prompted by a report of a latent failure mode of the fail-safe features of the thrust reverser system identified as possible leakage of the DPV that is due to a poppet being jammed slightly open or a leaking o-ring. The actions specified by the proposed AD are intended to ensure the integrity of the fail-safe features of the thrust reverser system by preventing possible failure modes, which could result in inadvertent deployment of a thrust reverser during flight, and consequent reduced controllability of the airplane.

DATES: Comments must be received by May 1, 2000.

ADDRESSES: Submit comments in triplicate to the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), Transport Airplane Directorate, ANM-114, Attention: Rules Docket No. 2000-NM-24-AD, 1601 Lind Avenue, SW., Renton, Washington 98055-4056.

Comments may be inspected at this location between 9:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, except Federal holidays.

The service information referenced in the proposed rule may be obtained from Boeing Commercial Airplane Group, P.O. Box 3707, Seattle, Washington 98124-2207. This information may be examined at the FAA, Transport Airplane Directorate, 1601 Lind Avenue, SW., Renton, Washington.

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications shall identify the Rules Docket number and be submitted in triplicate to the address specified above. All communications received on or before the closing date for comments, specified above, will be considered before taking action on the proposed rule. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed in light of the comments received.

Comments are specifically invited on the overall regulatory, economic, environmental, and energy aspects of the proposed rule. All comments submitted will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons. A report summarizing each FAA-public contact concerned with the substance of this proposal will be filed in the Rules Docket.

Commenters wishing the FAA to acknowledge receipt of their comments submitted in response to this notice must submit a self-addressed, stamped postcard on which the following statement is made: "Comments to Docket Number 2000-NM-24-AD." The postcard will be date stamped and returned to the commenter.

Availability of NPRMs

Any person may obtain a copy of this NPRM by submitting a request to the FAA, Transport Airplane Directorate, ANM-114, Attention: Rules Docket No.

2000-NM-24-AD, 1601 Lind Avenue, SW., Renton, Washington 98055-4056.

Discussion

The FAA received a report from the manufacturer indicating a new latent failure mode of the fail-safe features of the thrust reverser system. This failure mode was identified as possible leakage of the directional pilot valve (DPV) of the thrust reversers due to a poppet being jammed slightly open or a leaking o-ring. Such undetected leakage past the DPV could result in sufficient pneumatic pressure developing downstream of the DPV at takeoff thrust to actuate the directional control valve to the deploy position. This failure mode, in combination with another thrust reverser failure condition or component failure, could result in the following:

- Significant degradation of the features intended to ensure that the thrust reverser remains stowed during all anticipated operating conditions for airplanes that have incorporated the thrust reverser actuation system brake. Or
- A potential in-flight thrust reverser deployment for airplanes that have not incorporated the thrust reverser actuation system brake.

Such conditions, if not corrected, could result in inadvertent deployment of a thrust reverser during flight, and consequent reduced controllability of the airplane.

Explanation of Relevant Service Information

The FAA has reviewed and approved Boeing Alert Service Bulletin 747-78A2170, and Boeing Service Bulletin 767-78-0084, both dated October 21, 1999, which describe procedures for repetitive functional tests of the DPV of the thrust reversers to detect pneumatic leakage, and correction of any discrepancies. Accomplishment of the actions specified in the service bulletins is intended to adequately address the identified unsafe condition.

Explanation of Requirements of Proposed Rule

Since an unsafe condition has been identified that is likely to exist or develop on other products of this same type design, the proposed AD would require repetitive functional tests of the DPV of the thrust reversers to detect pneumatic leakage, and corrective action, if necessary. The actions are required to be accomplished in accordance with the service bulletins described previously, except as discussed below.

Correction of any discrepancy detected is required to be accomplished in accordance with the procedures described in the applicable Boeing 747 or 767 Airplane Maintenance Manual.

Cost Impact

There are approximately 331 Model 767 series airplanes of the affected design in the worldwide fleet. The FAA estimates that 108 airplanes of U.S. registry would be affected by this proposed AD, that it would take approximately 10 work hours (5 work hours per engine) per airplane to accomplish the proposed functional test, and that the average labor rate is $60 per work hour. Based on these figures, the cost impact of the functional test proposed by this AD on U.S. operators is estimated to be $64,800, or $600 per airplane, per test cycle.

None of the Model 747 series airplanes affected by this action are on the U.S. Register. All Model 747 series airplanes included in the applicability of this rule currently are operated by non-U.S. operators under foreign registry; therefore, they are not directly affected by this AD action. However, the FAA considers that this rule is necessary to ensure that the unsafe condition is addressed in the event that any of these subject airplanes are imported and placed on the U.S. Register in the future.

Should an affected Model 747 series airplane be imported and placed on the U.S. Register in the future, it would require approximately 20 work hours (5 work hours per engine) to accomplish the proposed functional test, at an average labor rate of $60 per work hour. Based on these figures, the cost impact of the functional test proposed by this AD would be approximately $1,200 per airplane, per test cycle.

The cost impact figures discussed above are based on assumptions that no operator has yet accomplished any of the proposed requirements of this AD action, and that no operator would accomplish those actions in the future if this AD were not adopted.

Regulatory Impact

The regulations proposed herein would not have a substantial direct effect on the States, on the relationship between the national Government and the States, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government. Therefore, it is determined that this proposal would not have federalism implications under Executive Order 13132.

For the reasons discussed above, I certify that this proposed regulation (1) is not a "significant regulatory action" under Executive Order 12866; (2) is not a "significant rule" under the DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034, February 26, 1979); and (3) if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact, positive or negative, on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act. A copy of the draft regulatory evaluation prepared for this action is contained in the Rules Docket. A copy of it may be obtained by contacting the Rules Docket at the location provided under the caption ADDRESSES.

The Proposed Amendment

Accordingly, pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR part 39) as follows:

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

1. The authority citation for part 39 continues to read as follows:

Authority: 49 U.S.C. 106(g), 40113, 44701.

§ 39.13 [Amended]

2. Section 39.13 is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

Boeing: Docket 2000-NM-24-AD.

Applicability: Model 747 and 767 series airplanes equipped with General Electric CF6-80C2 series engines, certificated in any category.

Note 1: This AD applies to each airplane identified in the preceding applicability provision, regardless of whether it has been modified, altered, or repaired in the area subject to the requirements of this AD. For airplanes that have been modified, altered, or repaired so that the performance of the requirements of this AD is affected, the owner/operator must request approval for an alternative method of compliance in accordance with paragraph (d) of this AD. The request should include an assessment of the effect of the modification, alteration, or repair on the unsafe condition addressed by this AD; and, if the unsafe condition has not been eliminated, the request should include specific proposed actions to address it.

Compliance: Required as indicated, unless accomplished previously.

To ensure the integrity of the fail-safe features of the thrust reverser system by preventing possible failure modes, which could result in inadvertent deployment of a thrust reverser during flight, and consequent reduced controllability of the airplane, accomplish the following:

(a) For Model 747 and 767 series airplanes equipped with thrust reversers that HAVE NOT been modified in accordance with Boeing Service Bulletin 747-78-2151 or 767-78-0063, as applicable, or a production equivalent: Within 60 days after the effective date of this AD, perform a functional test of the directional pilot valve (DPV) of the thrust reversers to detect pneumatic leakage in accordance with Boeing Alert Service Bulletin 747-78A2170, or Boeing Service Bulletin 767-78-0084, as applicable, both dated October 21, 1999. Repeat the functional test thereafter at intervals not to exceed 1,000 flight hours.

(b) For Model 747 and 767 series airplanes equipped with thrust reversers that have been modified in accordance with Boeing Service Bulletin 747-78-2151 or 767-78-0063, as applicable, or a production equivalent: Within 180 days after the effective date of this AD, perform a functional test of the DPV of the thrust reversers to detect pneumatic leakage in accordance with Boeing Alert Service Bulletin 747-78A2170, or Boeing Service Bulletin 767-78-0084, as applicable, both dated October 21, 1999. Repeat the functional test thereafter at intervals not to exceed 5,000 flight hours.

(c) If any functional test required by paragraph (a) or (b) of this AD cannot be successfully performed as specified in Boeing Alert Service Bulletin 747-78A2170, or Boeing Service Bulletin 767-78-0084, as applicable, both dated October 21, 1999; or if any discrepancy is detected during any functional test required by paragraph (a) or (b) of this AD: Prior to further flight, correct the discrepancy in accordance with the procedures specified in the applicable Boeing Model 747 or 767 Airplane Maintenance Manual. Additionally, prior to further flight, any failed functional test required by paragraph (a) or (b) of this AD must be repeated and successfully accomplished. Repeat the functional test thereafter at the intervals required by paragraph (a) or (b) of this AD, as applicable.

Alternative Methods of Compliance

(d) An alternative method of compliance or adjustment of the compliance time that provides an acceptable level of safety may be used if approved by the Manager, Seattle Aircraft Certification Office (ACO), FAA, Transport Airplane Directorate. Operators shall submit their requests through an appropriate FAA Principal Maintenance Inspector, who may add comments and then send it to the Manager, Seattle ACO.

Note 2: Information concerning the existence of approved alternative methods of compliance with this AD, if any, may be obtained from the Seattle ACO.

Special Flight Permit

(e) Special flight permits may be issued in accordance with §§ 21.197 and 21.199 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 21.197 and 21.199) to operate the airplane to a location where the requirements of this AD can be accomplished.

Issued in Renton, Washington, on March 10, 2000.

Discussion

The Direction Générale de l'Aviation Civile (DGAC), which is the airworthiness authority for France, notified the FAA that an unsafe condition may exist on certain Airbus Model A319, A320, and A321 series airplanes. During a scheduled inspection of an Airbus Model A300 series airplane's fuel tanks, an electrical discharge mark was found on the left-hand inner fuel tank. The design of the fuel tanks on all four models is similar. The DGAC advises that improvement of the tanks' grounding efficiency between specific pipe couplings can prevent electrical arcing within the fuel tanks on these airplanes. Such electrical arcing within the fuel tank, if not corrected, could result in fuel ignition and consequent fire/explosion in the fuel tank.

Explanation of Relevant Service Information

Airbus has issued Service Bulletin A320-28-1077, dated July 9, 1999. This service bulletin describes procedures for modification (including removal, cleaning, and reinstallation of affected nuts, bolts, and washers) of the fuel pipe couplings; installation of certain bonding leads in specified locations; and cleaning surface areas at specified locations, including oversealing the coupling locknuts.

Accomplishment of the actions specified in the service bulletin is intended to adequately address the identified unsafe condition. The DGAC classified this service bulletin as mandatory and issued French airworthiness directive 2000-006-144(B), dated January 12, 2000, in order to assure the continued airworthiness of these airplanes in France.

FAA's Conclusions

These airplane models are manufactured in France and are type certificated for operation in the United States under the provisions of section 21.29 of the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 21.29) and the applicable bilateral airworthiness agreement. Pursuant to this bilateral airworthiness agreement, the DGAC has kept the FAA informed of the situation described above. The FAA has examined the findings of the DGAC, reviewed all available information, and determined that AD action is necessary for products of this type design that are certificated for operation in the United States.

Explanation of Requirements of Proposed Rule

Since an unsafe condition has been identified that is likely to exist or develop on other airplanes of the same type design registered in the United States, the proposed AD would require accomplishment of the actions specified in the service bulletin described previously, except as discussed below.

Difference Between Proposed Rule and Relevant Service Information

Operators should note that, although the service bulletin and French airworthiness directive recommend that the modification be accomplished within 5 years (after the release of the service bulletin), the FAA has determined that an interval of 5 years would not address the identified unsafe condition in a timely manner.

An electrical discharge in a fuel tank can create a spark that could ignite the fuel vapors inside the tank. The spark energy required to ignite fuel depends on the type of fuel, the fuel temperature, and the air pressure (altitude) inside a fuel tank. Under certain conditions, fuel can be ignited with spark energy levels much lower than the energy required to create a visible mark. Therefore, a spark that has enough energy to cause a mark can ignite fuel vapor under a wider range of fuel tank conditions.

In developing an appropriate compliance time for this AD, the FAA considered not only the manufacturer's recommendation, but the degree of urgency associated with addressing the subject unsafe condition, the average utilization of the affected fleet, and the time necessary to perform the modification. In light of all of these factors, the FAA finds a 36-month compliance time for accomplishing the modification to be warranted, in that 36 months represents an appropriate interval of time allowable for affected airplanes to continue to operate without compromising safety.

Cost Impact

The FAA estimates that 227 airplanes of U.S. registry would be affected by this proposed AD.

It would take between 20 and 100 work hours per airplane to accomplish the proposed actions, at an average labor rate of $60 per work hour. The cost of required parts would be negligible. Based on these figures, the cost impact of the proposed modification on U.S. operators is estimated to be between $272,400 and $1,362,000; or between $1,200 and $6,000 per airplane.

The cost impact figure discussed above is based on assumptions that no operator has yet accomplished any of the proposed requirements of this AD action, and that no operator would accomplish those actions in the future if this AD were not adopted.

Regulatory Impact

The regulations proposed herein would not have a substantial direct effect on the States, on the relationship between the national Government and the States, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities among the various levels of government. Therefore, it is determined that this proposal would not have federalism implications under Executive Order 13132.

For the reasons discussed above, I certify that this proposed regulation (1) is not a "significant regulatory action" under Executive Order 12866; (2) is not a "significant rule" under the DOT Regulatory Policies and Procedures (44 FR 11034, February 26, 1979); and (3) if promulgated, will not have a significant economic impact, positive or negative, on a substantial number of small entities under the criteria of the Regulatory Flexibility Act. A copy of the draft regulatory evaluation prepared for this action is contained in the Rules Docket. A copy of it may be obtained by contacting the Rules Docket at the location provided under the caption ADDRESSES.

Compliance: Required as indicated, unless accomplished previously.

To prevent ignition sources and consequent fire/explosion in the fuel tank, accomplish the following:

Modification and Installation

(a) Within 36 months after the effective date of this AD, modify the fuel pipe couplings and install bonding leads in the specified locations of the fuel tank, in accordance with the Accomplishment Instructions of Airbus Service Bulletin A320-28-1077, dated July 9, 1999.

Alternative Methods of Compliance

(b) An alternative method of compliance or adjustment of the compliance time that provides an acceptable level of safety may be used if approved by the Manager, International Branch, ANM-116, FAA, Transport Airplane Directorate. Operators shall submit their requests through an appropriate FAA Principal Maintenance Inspector, who may add comments and then send it to the Manager, International Branch, ANM-116.

Food Labeling; Dietary Supplement Health Claims; Public Meeting Concerning Implementation of Pearson Court Decision and Whether Claims of Effects on Existing Diseases May Be Made as Health Claims AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Announcement of public meeting.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is announcing a public meeting to solicit comments on two topics pertaining to health claims in dietary supplement labeling. The first topic concerns implementation of the recent court of appeals decision in Pearson v. Shalala (Pearson). In Pearson, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit held that FDA's decision not to authorize four health claims for dietary supplements violated the First Amendment because the agency did not consider whether the claims, which failed to meet the "significant scientific agreement" standard of evidence by which the health claims regulations require FDA to evaluate the scientific validity of claims, could be rendered nonmisleading by adding qualifying language. The second topic on which we are requesting comments is whether claims about an effect on an existing disease may be made as health claims, or whether such claims should subject the product to regulation as a drug. We are holding this meeting to give the public an opportunity to provide information and views on these topics.

DATES: The meeting will be held on April 4, 2000, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Please register by close of business, March 28, 2000. Late registrations will be accepted contingent on space availability. Submit written comments by April 19, 2000.

ADDRESSES: The meeting will be held at Department of Education, Barnard Auditorium (Federal Building 6), 400 Maryland Ave., SW., Washington, DC. Building entrances are located on the Maryland Ave., SW. and C Street, SW. between 4th and 6th Streets, SW. Federal Building 6 is one block east of the L'Enfant METRO Subway Station's Maryland Ave. exit.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA published a number of regulations to implement the Nutrition Labeling and Education Act of 1990 (the 1990 amendments), which amended the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act

(the act). We set forth general requirements for health claims in the labeling of conventional foods (58 FR 2478, January 6, 1993); authorized the use of seven health claims (58 FR 2665, 58 FR 2787, 58 FR 2820, 58 FR 2739, 58 FR 2537, 58 FR 2552, and 58 FR 2622); and denied the use of five other claims (58 FR 2537 [dietary fiber and cancer], 58 FR 2552 [dietary fiber and coronary heart disease], 58 FR 2622 [antioxidant vitamins and cancer], 58 FR 2661 [zinc and immune function in the elderly], and 58 FR 2682 [omega-3 fatty acids and coronary heart disease]). We also initially denied one claim (58 FR 2606 [folic acid and neural tube defects]) that was later authorized (59 FR 433, January 4, 1994) and then modified (61 FR 8750, March 5, 1996). In response to the 1990 amendments and the Dietary Supplement Act of 1992, we issued regulations applying the general requirements for health claims for conventional foods to dietary supplements (59 FR 395, January 4, 1994). The general health claims regulations for both conventional foods and dietary supplements are in 21 CFR 101.14 and 101.70. The regulations on individual health claims are in 21 CFR 101.71 through 101.82.

Our general health claim regulations for dietary supplements and our decision not to authorize health claims for four specific substance/disease relationships were challenged in Pearson v. Shalala (Pearson). These four substance/disease relationships include: Dietary fiber and cancer, antioxidant vitamins and cancer, omega-3 fatty acids and coronary heart disease, and the claim that 0.8 milligram of folic acid in dietary supplement form is more effective in reducing the risk of neural tube defect than a lower amount in conventional food form.

In 1998, the district court ruled for FDA in all respects (14 F. Supp. 2d 10 (D.D.C. 1998)). In January 1999, however, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit reversed the lower court's decision (164 F.3d 650 (D.C. Cir. 1999)). The appeals court held that, based on the administrative record compiled in the challenged rulemakings, the First Amendment does not permit FDA to reject health claims that we determine to be potentially misleading unless we also reasonably determine that no disclaimer would eliminate the potential deception. As a result of the decision, we must reconsider our approach to authorizing health claims for dietary supplements. The court further held that the Administrative Procedure Act (the APA) requires FDA to clarify the "significant scientific agreement" standard for authorizing health claims, either by issuing a regulatory definition of significant scientific agreement or by defining it on a case-by-case basis.

On March 1, 1999, the Government filed a petition for rehearing en banc (reconsideration by the full court of appeals). The U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit denied the petition for rehearing on April 2, 1999 (172 F.3d 72 (D.C. Cir. 1999)). We announced in the Federal Register of December 22, 1999 (64 FR 71794), the availability of a guidance clarifying the significant scientific agreement standard. The guidance is available on the Internet at <http://vm.cfsan.fda.gov/dms/ssaguide.html>.

In the Federal Register of December 1, 1999 (64 FR 67289), we published a notice informing the public of the steps we plan to follow to carry out the Pearson decision. This notice announced plans to hold a public meeting before initiating rulemaking to consider what changes to the general health claims regulations for dietary supplements may be warranted in light of Pearson (64 FR 67289 at 67290). We believe that our reevaluation of these regulations will benefit from a public meeting and an open discussion of all possible approaches to implementing the court's decision.

Also in December 1999, we declined to issue a proposed rule for a health claim relating dietary supplements containing saw palmetto extracts and symptoms associated with benign prostatic hyperplasia (BPH). The petition requesting authorization for the claim was denied by operation of law on December 1, 1999, and we issued a letter explaining our decision on the same day. Our basis for not proposing a rule was that we were unable to resolve, within the timeframe required, the novel policy issue, which the petition entailed. This issue is whether a health claim may include claims about mitigation or treatment of disease. To date, the health claims that we have authorized have been for reducing the risk of a disease. While this issue was not considered in Pearson, as a topic that also relates to the regulation of health claims, it is being included for discussion in this public meeting.

On December 7, 1999, the agency was sued by the petitioners who had requested FDA to authorize a health claim for saw palmetto extract and BPH (Whitaker v. Shalala, No. 1:99CV0247 (D.D.C. December 7, 1999)). The plaintiffs alleged that our denial of the petition violated the First Amendment to the Constitution, the 1990 amendments, and the APA. The plaintiffs asked the court to order the agency to evaluate their petition under the health claims regulations. The case is stayed through May 26, 2000, while we consider whether claims of effects on an existing disease may be made as health claims rather than drug claims.

II. Scope of Discussion

We are holding the public meeting on April 4, 2000, in part to identify and discuss possible changes, in light of the Pearson decision, to our general health claim regulations as they apply to dietary supplements. Unlike the statutory provision for the use of health claims on dietary supplements (section 403(r)(5)(D) of the act (21 U.S.C. 343(r)(s)(D))), section 403(r)(3)(B)(i) of the act provides that FDA may authorize health claims on conventional foods only when there is significant scientific agreement among qualified experts that the totality of publicly available scientific evidence supports the claim. As a result of this statutory requirement for conventional foods and because the Pearson case involved only dietary supplements, this portion of the public meeting will be restricted to health claims on dietary supplements.

A second topic open for discussion is whether claims about mitigation or treatment of diseases and their symptoms may be appropriately made as health claims.

We anticipate that both discussions will include presentations from people whom we invite to participate as well as from members of the public.

A. Implementation of the Pearson Court Decision

We are requesting comment on how to implement the element of the Pearson decision addressing the use of qualified health claims on dietary supplements when the evidence supporting the claim does not meet the "significant scientific agreement" standard. In general, we request public comment on whether qualified health claim statements for dietary supplements can be made that would not mislead consumers, and, if so, what types of disclaimers or other qualifying language would be appropriate. We would specifically request that persons commenting in person and in writing consider and provide input on the questions listed below. Comments recommending a particular regulatory approach should explain how that approach is consistent with the constitutional and statutory requirements to which FDA is subject.

1. What is the best regulatory approach for protecting and promoting the public health? Specifically, what approach to regulating health claims will: (a) Protect consumers from fraudulent and misleading claims; and (b) provide reliable, understandable information that will allow consumers to evaluate claims intelligently and identify products that will in fact reduce the incidence of diseases? By what criteria should implementation options be judged?

2. Can qualifying language (including disclaimers) be effective in preventing consumers from being misled by health claims based on preliminary or conflicting evidence? If so, what are the characteristics of effective qualifying language? How should the agency determine what constitutes an appropriately qualified claim? If the available information is not sufficient to answer these questions, what research needs to be done, and who should be responsible for doing it? The agency encourages those commenting to submit empirical data on the effectiveness of qualifying language.

3. Is there a way to preserve the existing regulatory framework for health claims consistent with the First Amendment?

4. If health claims are permitted based on a standard less rigorous than significant scientific agreement, what is the best way to distinguish among claims supported by different levels of evidence so that consumers are not misled? Does the word "may" in existing health claims accurately communicate the strength of the evidence supporting claims that meet the significant scientific agreement standard, or should other language be used?

5. If health claims are permitted based on a less rigorous standard, what actions can be taken to provide incentives to manufacturers to conduct further research on emerging substance-disease relationships?

6. The Pearson opinion mentions circumstances in which FDA might be justified in banning certain health claims outright (e.g., where the evidence in support of the claim is outweighed by evidence against the claim, or where the evidence supporting it is qualitatively weaker than the evidence against it) (Pearson, 164 F.3d at 659 and n.10).

a. How should FDA determine when evidence supporting a health claim is outweighed by evidence against the claim?

b. How should FDA determine when evidence supporting a health claim is qualitatively weaker than the evidence against the claim?

c. Are there other circumstances in which health claims are inevitably misleading and cannot be made nondeceptive by qualifying language?

7. What safety information is necessary to prevent a health claim from being misleading? For example, such information might include side effects, drug and food interactions, and segments of the population who should not use the product or should consult a physician before doing so. When a product may have adverse effects unrelated to the subject of a scientifically valid health claim, is the claim misleading? Under what circumstances, if any, should the product be allowed to bear the claim?

8. What actions should the agency take to ensure that consumers receive all relevant information about the safety of products that bear health claims and about research on product safety?

B. Whether Claims of Effects on Existing Diseases May Be Made as Health Claims

All health claims that we have authorized since passage of the 1990 amendments have been claims about reducing the risk of a disease. However, the saw palmetto extract health claim petition (Docket Number 99P-3030) requests authorization to make a claim about effects on an existing disease. Thus, the petition proposes a significant expansion of the scope of health claims beyond those that are currently authorized.

The issue of whether health claims may be about effects on an existing disease arose in the context of a petition for a dietary supplement health claim. For this reason and because the other issue to be discussed at the public meeting concerns health claims for dietary supplements, the focus of discussion will be the use of claims on labels or labeling of dietary supplements about effects on an existing disease. However, we recognize that this issue is likely to arise in the context of health claims for conventional foods as well. Any decision we make on this issue with respect to dietary supplements, therefore, will also affect the use of such claims for conventional foods.

The health claims provisions of the act were enacted as part of a statutory scheme that already included extensive regulatory requirements for drugs. Before the 1990 amendments, the drug provisions had been applied to foods, including dietary supplements, that made claims about effects on disease. Arguably, if Congress had intended to permit any kind of disease claim for foods, it could have exempted all foods bearing authorized health claims from the drug definition in section 201(g)(1)(B) of the act (21 U.S.C. 321(g)(1)(B)), which provides that an article "intended for use in the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease" is a drug. Instead, Congress provided that a product that bears an authorized health claim shall not be classified as a drug solely because of the presence of the claim (21 U.S.C. 321(g)(1)(B)). Congress' decision to proceed in this manner, rather than by creating an unconditional exemption, suggests that it may have wanted the drug provisions to continue to apply to foods in certain circumstances. Similarly when the Dietary Supplement Health and Education Act (DSHEA) was enacted in 1994, Congress did not provide that dietary supplements are deemed to be foods in all circumstances; rather, it provided that dietary supplements are deemed to be foods "except for purposes of section 201(g)" of the act, the drug definition.

In interpreting the health claim provisions of the act and their relationship to the drug provisions of the act, FDA has tried to strike a balance between recognizing that foods, including dietary supplements, can influence disease outcomes without ceasing to be foods, and honoring the statutory distinction between drugs and foods. To that end, we included in our health claims regulations the requirement that a product that bears a health claim must establish that it is a food by demonstrating nutritive value (21 CFR 101.14(b)(3)). Moreover, in the preambles to the regulations, we distinguished between nutritional effects of food substances, which we said would be an appropriate subject for a health claim, and effects that are therapeutic, medicinal, or pharmacological, which would not. (See, e.g., 56 FR 60537 at 60545 to 60546, November 27, 1991; 58 FR 2478 at 2501, January 6, 1993; and 59 FR 395 at 408, January 4, 1994.) FDA also emphasized that the relationship of a food or a food component to a disease is different from that of a drug because of genetic, environmental, and behavioral factors that affect the development of chronic diseases in addition to diet, and because of the complexity of foods themselves (58 FR 2478 at 2501). Therefore, we explained, some claims that would be appropriate as drug claims under section 201(g)(1)(B) would not be appropriate as health claims for foods because they "imply a degree of association between the substance and the disease that is not supportable for any food" (56 FR 60537 at 60552).

Further, we commented that it would be necessary for a health claim petitioner to "show that the claimed effect on disease is associated with the normal functioning of the human body" and that claims to "correct an abnormal physiological function caused by a disease or health-related condition" would be drug claims rather than health claims (59 FR 395 at 407 to 408). With respect to claims about effects on symptoms of a disease, we said:

[T]here is no provision in the act for the agency to exempt statements about symptoms of disease from causing products to be regulated as drugs. Although such statements may not be claims that the product will treat the disease that causes the symptoms, the statements clearly pertain to the mitigation of disease by addressing the symptoms caused by the disease. Section 201(g)(1)(B) of the act provides, in part, that articles intended for use in the mitigation of disease are drugs.

(59 FR 395 at 413)

Another relevant part of the statutory scheme is the medical foods definition, enacted as part of the Orphan Drug Amendments of 1988. The statutory definition of a medical food is "a food which is formulated to be consumed or administered enterally under the supervision of a physician and which is intended for the specific dietary management of a disease or condition for which distinctive nutritional requirements, based on recognized scientific principles, are established by medical evaluation" (21 U.S.C. 360ee(b)(3)). Thus, medical foods are a category of foods intended for dietary management of disease through a nutritional mechanism.

By their very nature, claims about effects on an existing disease are aimed at people who are ill. To date, authorized health claims have been aimed either at the general population or at a population subgroup whose members are at risk for a particular disease but are not yet sick. Since there are already two categories of ingested products that bear claims targeted to people suffering from a disease, drugs and medical foods, the agency believes there is reason to question whether Congress also intended health claims to encompass such claims.

FDA is open to reexamining its past statements on this issue in light of subsequent developments, such as advances in science and technology, changes in the marketplace, and the passage of DSHEA. In considering the scope of the health claims provisions of the act, we will seek an interpretation that is consistent with the statutory provisions governing drugs and medical foods and that gives effect to each part of the statute.

We are inviting public comment on this issue, and in particular we are seeking input on the following questions. Comments recommending a particular regulatory approach should explain how that approach is consistent with the legal requirements to which FDA is subject.

1. Does the language and structure of the act restrict the permissible types of substance-disease relationships that can be described in a health claim? How should FDA interpret the health claim and drug provisions of the act and the medical food provision of the Orphan Drug Amendments in relationship to each other?

2. If FDA were to permit at least some claims about effects on an existing disease as health claims, what criteria should be used to determine when a claim is a permissible health claim and when it is a drug claim under section 201(g)(1)(B) of the act?

3. If FDA were to permit at least some disease treatment or mitigation claims as health claims, what about claims that are covered by an existing over-the-counter (OTC) drug monograph? For example, if there is an existing drug monograph on the use of a dietary ingredient in an OTC drug product to treat or mitigate disease, and the monograph concludes that the substance is not safe and effective for the intended use, should FDA still consider authorizing a health claim for the substance-disease relationship?

Revision to Federal Blood Alcohol Concentration (BAC) Standard for Recreational Vessel Operators

AGENCY: Coast Guard, DOT.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The Coast Guard proposes to revise the Federal Blood Alcohol Concentration (BAC) standard under which a recreational vessel operator would be considered operating while "intoxicated." For recreational vessel operators, the proposed rule would lower the current Federal BAC threshold from .10 BAC to .08 BAC. This change is appropriate because boating accident statistics show that alcohol use remains a significant cause of recreational boating deaths and because we support a trend in State recreational boating laws toward the .08 BAC standard. Further, the proposed Federal BAC standard will not supercede or preempt any enacted State BAC standard. Additionally, the proposed rule would replace the term "intoxicated" with the phrase "under the influence of alcohol or a dangerous drug." This change would bring the regulations into conformance with current statutory language. The proposed rule is expected to reduce the number of recreational boating deaths and injuries resulting from accidents caused by operators under the influence of alcohol or a dangerous drug.

DATES: Comments and related material must reach the Docket Management Facility on or before July 14, 2000.

ADDRESSES: To make sure your comments and related material are not entered more than once in the docket, please submit them by only one of the following means:

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Request for Comments

We encourage you to participate in this rulemaking by submitting comments and related material. If you do so, please include your name and address, identify the docket number for this rulemaking (USCG-1998-4593), indicate the specific section of this document to which each comment applies, and give the reason for each comment. You may submit your comments and material by mail, hand-delivery, fax, or electronically to the Docket Management Facility at the address under ADDRESSES; but please submit your comments and material by only one means. If you submit them by mail or hand-delivery, submit them in an unbound format, no larger than 8½ by 11 inches, suitable for copying and electronic filing. If you submit them by mail and want to know they reached the Facility, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed postcard or envelope. We will consider all comments and material received during the comment period. We may change this proposed rule in view of them.

Public Meeting

We do not plan to hold a public meeting. You may ask for one by submitting a request to the Docket Management Facility at the address under ADDRESSES explaining why one would be beneficial. If we determine that a public meeting would aid this rulemaking, we will hold one at a time and place announced by a later notice in the Federal Register.

Background and Purpose

(a) Regulatory History. On December 14, 1987, we published a final rule in the Federal Register (52 FR 47526), in which we set a Federal standard for intoxication applicable to recreational vessel operators using a .10 blood alcohol concentration (BAC). The rule adopted any enacted State BAC standard of intoxication as the Federal BAC standard, and applied the State BAC standard to recreational vessel operators within that State. If a State did not have an enacted BAC standard for "intoxication," a provision allowed us to adopt a State BAC standard for "under the influence" or "while impaired," instead of "intoxicated." In that final rule, we noted that we would consider revising the Federal BAC standard if the States developed a trend toward adopting the .08 BAC standard for operating a vessel on the water.

(b) Reasons for this rulemaking. We drafted the changes proposed in this rulemaking in response to recommendations from the National Boating Safety Advisory Council (NBSAC), as a way to update the existing regulations, and to ensure that terminology in our regulations conforms with current statutory authorities.

Although the number of boating deaths dropped from 1100 in 1986 to 821 in 1997, the number of incidents where alcohol was positively identified as a factor remained stable at about 110. A review of statistics on recreational boating accidents during 1997 showed that there was evidence, or a reasonable likelihood, that alcohol was consumed by the vessel's occupants in 27 percent of all boating accidents involving a fatality.

The Oil Pollution Act of 1990 revised 46 U.S.C. 2302(c) by substituting the term "under the influence of alcohol, or a dangerous drug in violation of a law of the United States" for the term "intoxicated." The terms "intoxication" and "intoxicated" as used in 33 CFR parts 95 and 177, no longer conform to the current statutory authority and should be revised accordingly.

After studying recreational boating safety regulations in October 1997, NBSAC recommended that the Coast Guard track State BAC levels. They suggested that if we found a trend toward revising State standards to .08 BAC, then we should support that effort by revising the Federal standard, found in 33 CFR 95.020, to .08 BAC as well.

In 1987 only 21 States had enacted statutes using a BAC to define "intoxication" or "under the influence" for recreational vessel operation. Nineteen States used a .10 BAC and two States used a .08 BAC. Today 54 State jurisdictions, as defined in 46 U.S.C. 2101(36), have a BAC standard. Thirty-four use .10 BAC, nineteen use .08 BAC, and one uses .08 only when there has been an injury. Also, nine of the original twenty-one States revised their standard from .10 BAC to .08 BAC. We acknowledge that the trend among States is toward using a .08 BAC standard and we are proposing to revise the Federal BAC standard accordingly.

In a memorandum dated March 3, 1998, the President directed the Secretary of Transportation to develop an Action Plan to promote adoption of the .08 BAC standard for operating a vehicle on "Federal property, including areas in national parks, and on Department of Defense installations, and ensuring strong enforcement and publicity of this standard." The Secretary's Action Plan includes the proposed revision of the Federal BAC standard for operator's of recreational vessels, providing support for the DOT effort on water as well as on land. The Federal BAC standard for operators of vessels that are inspected, or subject to inspection under Chapter 33 of Title 46, United States Code, will remain at .04 BAC.

Discussion of Proposed Rule

1. The headings for 33 CFR part 95 and § 95.020, as well as the text for §§ 95.001, 95.030, 95.040, and 177.07 would be revised by substituting the phrase "under the influence of alcohol or a dangerous drug" for "intoxication" or "intoxicated." This would bring the text into conformance with current statutory authority.

2. Section 95.010 would be revised by adding definitions required to bring this part in line with the new terminology and standards.

3. Section 95.020 would be revised to adopt the .08 BAC standard as the Federal standard.

4. Section 95.025 would be revised to address adoption of State BAC standards that are considered comparable to the Federal BAC standard of "under the influence" of alcohol.

The current regulations adopt State enacted BAC standards for "intoxication." If a State does not have a BAC standard for "intoxication," the regulations adopt State BAC standards for "under the influence," "impairment," or any comparable BAC standard.

The proposed rule would similarly adopt enacted State BAC standards for "under the influence." (typically .10 BAC or .08 BAC). However, if a State has not enacted a BAC standard for "under the influence," the proposed rule would adopt an enacted State BAC standard for "intoxication," "impairment," or a comparable BAC standard.

In States that have enacted multiple BAC standards for "under the influence," which are applicable to specific segments of the boating community—e.g. .02 BAC for operators under 21 years of age, the proposed rule would adopt only the State BAC standard that applies to the general boating population.

Under the proposed rule, the revised Federal .08 BAC standard would only apply directly to recreational vessels operated in Iowa and New Mexico, which have not enacted a BAC standard; in South Carolina when its limited statute involving injury is not applicable; and, as defined in 33 CFR 2.05, on the navigable waters of the U.S. beyond State boundaries and on the high seas, for recreational vessels owned in the United States.

Regulatory Evaluation

This proposed rule is not a "significant regulatory action" under section 3(f) of Executive Order 12866 and does not require an assessment of potential costs and benefits under section 6(a)(3) of that Order. The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has not reviewed this rule under that Order. It is not "significant" under the regulatory policies and procedures of the Department of Transportation (DOT) (44 FR 11040, February 26, 1979).

A draft Regulatory Evaluation under paragraph 10e of the regulatory policies and procedures of DOT follows:

1. Cost of Proposed Rule

This rulemaking would impose no costs for the boating public. Costs to the government would be non-existent as well because the Coast Guard already trains its Boarding Officer personnel on use of the .08 BAC level to properly prepare them for working in those States with such a BAC level.

2. Benefit of Proposed Rule

This proposed rule is appropriate because boating accident statistics show that alcohol use remains a significant cause of recreational boating deaths and because we support a trend in State boating law toward the .08 BAC standard. The proposed rule is expected to reduce the number of recreational boating deaths and injuries resulting from accidents caused by operators under the influence of alcohol or a dangerous drug.

Small Entities

Under the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601-612), we considered whether this proposed rule would have a significant economic effect on a substantial number of small entities. The term "small entities" comprises small businesses, not-for-profit organizations that are independently owned and operated and are not dominant in their fields, and governmental jurisdictions with populations of less than 50,000.

This proposed revision of the Federal BAC standard applies to operators of recreational vessels on waters subject to the jurisdiction of the United States. These waters include navigable waters of the United States (as defined in 33 CFR 2.05), waters on lands owned by the United States (under 33 U.S.C. 733 by an authorized Federal Officer or over which the United States retains concurrent or exclusive jurisdiction), and waters within the territories and possessions of the United States and the Trust Territories of the Pacific Islands. This proposed revision of the Federal BAC standard will continue to apply to recreational vessels owned in the United States, while operating on the high seas (as defined in 33 CFR 2.05). Further, since this proposed rule would continue to adopt State enacted BAC standards, recreational vessel operators in States with enacted BAC standards would not be subject to a new BAC standard unless a State revises its own enacted BAC standard. Only those recreational vessel operators in States without enacted BAC standards and on navigable waters of the U.S. beyond State boundaries would be subject to a new BAC standard.

Because the provisions of the Regulatory Flexibility Act do not apply to individuals, the Coast Guard certifies under 5 U.S.C. 605(b) that this proposed rule would not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. If you think that your business, organization, or governmental jurisdiction qualifies as a small entity and that this rule would have a significant economic effect on it, please submit a comment to the Docket Management Facility at the address under ADDRESSES. In your comment, explain why you think it qualifies and how and to what degree this rule would affect it.

Assistance for Small Entities

Under section 213(a) of the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996 (Pub. L. 104-121), we want to assist small entities in understanding this proposed rule so that they can better evaluate its effect on them and participate in the rulemaking. If the rule would affect your small business, organization, or governmental jurisdiction and you have questions concerning its provisions or options for compliance, please contact Carlton Perry, Project Manager, Office of Boating Safety, by telephone at 202-267-0979, or by e-mail at cperry@comdt.uscg.mil.

Collection of Information

This proposed rule would call for no new collection of information under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. 3501-3520).

Federalism

We have analyzed this proposed rule under E.O. 13132 and have determined that, because the Federal BAC standard will not supercede or preempt any enacted State BAC standard, this rule does not have implications for federalism under that Order.

Unfunded Mandates Reform Act

The Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 (2 U.S.C. 1531-1538) governs the issuance of Federal regulations that require unfunded mandates. An unfunded mandate is a regulation that requires a State, local or tribal government, or the private sector to incur direct costs without the Federal Government's having first provided the funds to pay those costs. This proposed rule would not impose an unfunded mandate.

Taking of Private Property

This proposed rule would not effect a taking of private property or otherwise have taking implications under E.O. 12630, Governmental Actions and Interference with Constitutionally Protected Property Rights.

Civil Justice Reform

This proposed rule meets applicable standards in sections 3(a) and 3(b)(2) of E.O. 12988, Civil Justice Reform, to minimize litigation, eliminate ambiguity, and reduce burden.

Protection of Children

We have analyzed this proposed rule under E.O. 13045, Protection of Children from Environmental Health Risks and Safety Risks. This rule is not an economically significant rule and does not concern an environmental risk to health or risk to safety that may disproportionately affect children.

Environment

We considered the environmental impact of this proposed rule and concluded that, under figure 2-1, paragraph (34)(a), of Commandant Instruction M16475.1C, this proposed rule is categorically excluded from further environmental documentation. The proposed rule makes a minor revision to the Federal BAC standard for the level at which an operator of a recreational vessel is deemed to be impaired. A "Categorical Exclusion Determination" is available in the docket where indicated under ADDRESSES.

AGENCY: Copyright Office, Library of Congress.

ACTION: Notice of proposed rulemaking.

SUMMARY: The Copyright Office is seeking comment on whether to amend its regulation that defines a "Service" for purposes of the statutory license governing the public performance of sound recordings by means of digital audio transmissions, in order to clarify that transmissions of a broadcast signal over a digital communications network, such as the Internet, are not exempt from copyright liability under section 114(d)(1)(A) of the Copyright Act.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

In 1995, Congress enacted the Digital Performance Right in Sound Recordings Act of 1995 ("DPRA"), Public Law 104-39, which created an exclusive right for copyright owners of sound recordings, subject to certain limitations, to perform publicly sound recordings by means of certain digital audio transmissions. Among the limitations on the performance was the creation of a new compulsory license for nonexempt, noninteractive, digital subscription transmissions, 17 U.S.C. 114(f), and an exemption for certain nonsubscription transmissions, 17 U.S.C. 114(d)(1)(A)(i)-(iii) (1995).

The scope of the exemption, however, has been debated since the passage of the DPRA. Broadcasters have taken the position that any broadcast, whether made over the air or over the Internet, falls within the scope of the section 114(d)(1)(A) exemptions. See Reply Comments of National Association of Broadcasters at 9-12 (dated June 20, 1997), submitted in Docket No. RM 97-1. On the other hand, copyright owners of the sound recordings have interpreted the scope of the exemption more narrowly. The Recording Industry Association of America ("RIAA"), on behalf of these copyright owners, has argued that transmissions over the Internet, generally known as webcasts, do not fall within the scope of the statutory exemptions and, instead, are subject to the copyright owners' exclusive rights under section 106(6). See, e.g., RIAA Petition and Comments of RIAA at 9-12 (dated April 28, 1997), submitted in Docket No. RM 97-1.

Congress, however, did not consider this question when it first addressed the problems associated with the emergence of digital audio technology and its effects on the music industry because, at the time, it had insufficient information on which to act. It did not understand how nonsubscription services were utilizing the Internet to bring music to the public or how to license such enterprises. Therefore, it focused the initial legislation on the digital subscription services and the interactive services that were in operation at the time.

The result was the DPRA, a law which created a licensing scheme for the subscription services and the interactive digital audio services. 17 U.S.C. 114(d)(3) and (f) (1995). It soon became apparent, however, that with the rapid proliferation of the use of the Internet as a transmission medium and the confusion surrounding the question of how the DPRA applied to some nonsubscription digital audio services, further legislation was needed to achieve the dual purposes of the DPRA.¹ Staff of the House of Representatives Comm. on the Judiciary, 105th Cong., 2d Sess., Section-by-Section Analysis of H.R. 2281 as Passed by the United States House of Representatives on August 4, 1998 at 50-51 (Comm. Print, Serial No. 6, 1998).

These changes were part of the Digital Millennium Copyright Act of 1998 ("DMCA"), Public Law 105-304, which, among other things, amended sections 112 and 114 of the Copyright Act to clarify that "the digital sound recording performance right applies to nonsubscription digital audio services such as webcasting" and to address the licensing issues raised by the webcasters. Id. at 50. Specifically, Congress amended section 114 by creating a new statutory license for nonexempt eligible nonsubscription transmissions (e.g., webcasting) and nonexempt transmissions by preexisting satellite digital audio radio services to perform publicly sound recordings in accordance with the terms and rates of the statutory license. 17 U.S.C. 114(f). The DMCA also amended section 114(d)(1)(A) to "delete two exemptions that were either the cause of confusion as to the application of the DPRA to certain nonsubscription services (especially webcasters) or which overlapped with other exemptions." H.R. Rep. No. 105-796, at 80 (1998).

¹ Congress had a two-fold purpose for enacting the DPRA: "first, * * * to ensure that recording artists and record companies will be protected as new technologies affect the ways in which their creative works are used; and second, to create fair and efficient licensing mechanisms that address the complex issues facing copyright owners and copyright users as a result of the rapid growth of digital audio services." Staff of the House of Representatives Comm. on the Judiciary, 105th Cong., 2d Sess., Section-by-Section Analysis of H.R. 2281 as passed by the United States House of Representatives on August 4, 1998 at 49 (Comm. Print, Serial No. 6, 1998).

On March 1, 2000, RIAA filed a petition for a rulemaking with the Copyright Office asking that the Office determine the scope of the section 114(d)(1)(A) exemptions. Specifically, RIAA has requested that the Office adopt a rule "clarifying that a broadcaster's transmissions of its AM or FM radio station over the Internet * * * is not exempt from copyright liability under section 114(d)(1)(A) of the Copyright Act." RIAA petition at 1 (filed March 1, 2000). RIAA states in its petition that it has attempted to negotiate voluntary agreements with broadcasters who stream their over-the-air AM or FM radio broadcast via the Internet or who have authorized a third party "aggregator" to retransmit an over-the-air radio broadcast via the Internet. It asserts that these discussions have not progressed beyond the initial stages because the parties cannot agree whether transmission of a broadcast over the Internet is subject to the digital performance right. Consequently, it has asked the Office to interpret section 114(d)(1)(A) and determine whether a broadcast transmission made via the Internet is exempt from copyright liability.

The Office agrees with RIAA that the resolution of this question has implications for both the section 112² and the section 114 statutory licenses. For example, if it is ultimately decided that a broadcast transmission over the Internet falls outside the safe harbor carved out by the section 114(d)(1) exemptions, the webcaster must decide whether to make use of the statutory license under section 114(f) or whether to negotiate a private license with the copyright owners of the sound recordings. Alternatively, if the Office decides that a broadcast transmission which is streamed over the Internet is exempt under section 114(d)(1)(A), parties can avoid further negotiations over rates and terms for use of the sound recordings in those situations.

RIAA's Initial Arguments in Support of Its Petition

RIAA argues that the amendments to sections 112 and 114 support its view that broadcasters who engage in transmissions over the Internet are not exempt from copyright liability for these transmissions. First, RIAA notes that Congress had no intention of creating any new exemptions when it amended section 114(d)(1)(A), but merely sought to remove those exemptions that were the source of the confusion, either because it was unclear how the exemption applied to nonsubscription services or because the exemption was redundant. These changes were in no way intended to affect the provision that exempts nonsubscription broadcast transmissions. H.R. Rep. No. 105-796, at 80 (1998).

While RIAA does not dispute that there is a recognized exemption for over-the-air broadcast transmissions, it continues its analysis by noting that the definition of an "eligible nonsubscription service,"—the entity which, by statute, may make use of the statutory license—specifically includes retransmissions of broadcast transmissions. Consequently, it argues that Congress never intended that broadcasts over the Internet be exempt under the provisions of section 114(d)(1)(B). Instead, Congress carved out specific exemptions for retransmissions of a nonsubscription broadcast transmission, and none of these directly address a retransmission over the Internet. 17 U.S.C. 114(d)(1)(B)(i)–(iv). Therefore, a retransmission of a nonsubscription broadcast transmission over the Internet would have to meet the requirements set forth in subsection (B) of section 114(d)(1) or be subject to the section 106(6) right of public performance.

In further support of its interpretation of the statutory license, RIAA observes that a webcaster who utilizes the section 114(d)(2) license is also eligible for a statutory license pursuant to section 112(e)(1)—a license which allows transmitting organizations to make one or more ephemeral recordings, depending upon the terms of the license. The section 112 license, however, allows only two different types of transmitting organizations to make use of the license: (1) A transmitting organization entitled to make a transmission of a sound recording under the section 114(f) license; or (2) A transmitting organization that makes use of the exemption specified in section 114(d)(1)(C)(iv). These limitations on the section 112 license thus appear to present a dilemma for the broadcasters. Namely, how do they make the necessary ephemeral recordings incident to streaming nonsubscription broadcast transmissions over the Internet if they cannot take advantage of the statutory license in section 112? For this reason, RIAA suggests that Congress did not intend to exempt nonsubscription broadcast transmissions that are retransmitted over the Internet under the general exemption for broadcast transmissions set forth in section 114(d)(1)(A). Otherwise, Congress would have made provisions for the making of the necessary ephemeral recordings used in these transmissions.

Proposed Rule and Comments

The foregoing discussion has been presented solely for the purpose of stating the arguments that have been made to the Office in support of the request to conduct this rulemaking. While the Office has made no determination on the merits of the arguments put forth by RIAA in its petition, the Office acknowledges that there appears to be a need to resolve the questions surrounding the applicability of the section 114(d)(1)(A) exemption to the activities of a broadcaster when it makes a public performance of a sound recording by means of a digital audio transmission.

The Copyright Office does not foresee any need to amend its current rule defining the term "Service," 37 CFR 201.35(b)(2), in the event that a broadcast transmission is found to fall within the scope of the section 114(d)(1) exemptions. On the other hand, if the Office decides that transmissions of broadcast signals over a digital communications network, such as the Internet, are not exempt from copyright liability under section 114(d)(1)(A) of the Copyright Act, then it proposes amending the rule as set forth in this notice.

All interested parties are requested to file comments and replies with the Copyright Office in accordance with the information set forth in this document. Comments are invited, first, on whether the Office should address this issue in a rulemaking and, second, on whether the Office should adopt the regulatory language set forth in the notice or some other regulatory language in its place. The Copyright Office has posted the RIAA petition to its website (<http://www.loc.gov/copyright/CARP/RIAApetition.pdf>) in order to facilitate the dissemination of the information presented by RIAA in its petition.

² A transmitting organization that makes transmissions under the section 114(f) license may also make an ephemeral recording, under a separate statutory license, for the purpose of making the digital audio transmissions. 17 U.S.C. 112(e).

Statutory Authority

The Copyright Office initiates this proceeding under its authority to establish regulations for the administration of its functions and duties under title 17, U.S.C. 702. The Office exercises its authority under section 702 when it is necessary "to interpret the statute in accordance with Congress' intentions and framework and, where Congress is silent, to provide reasonable and permissible interpretations of the statute." 57 FR 3284, 3292 (January 29, 1992); see also 63 FR 3685, 3686 (January 26, 1998) (invoking section 702 authority to determine whether a local over-the-air broadcast signal may be retransmitted into the local market area under the provisions of the section 119 statutory license).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Deceptive Mail Prevention and Enforcement Act, Pub. L. No. 106-168, 113 Stat. 1806, enacted on December 12, 1999, generally provides for the amendment of chapter 30 of title 39, United States Code, to provide for the nonmailability of certain deceptive matter relating to sweepstakes, skill contests, and facsimile checks as well as amending provisions relating to administrative procedures and orders and adding civil penalties relating to such matters.

The Deceptive Mail Prevention and Enforcement Act enacted new 39 U.S.C. 3016 to grant the Postmaster General authority to issue administrative subpoenas requiring the production of any records (including books, papers, documents, and other tangible things which constitute or contain evidence) which the Postmaster General considers relevant or material in any investigation conducted under 39 U.S.C. 3005(a), dealing with false representations and lotteries. The Act also authorizes new administrative civil penalties.

The Postal Service is proposing to add a new Part 913 to title 39 of the Code of Federal Regulations to establish the procedures to be used for the issuance of the administrative subpoenas authorized under 39 U.S.C. 3016. The proposed rules set forth the conditions under which subpoenas may be issued, the methods of service of subpoenas, the means by which subpoenas may be enforced, and the restrictions on the disclosure of subpoenaed information.

Although exempt from the notice and comment requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (39 U.S.C. 410(a)), the Postal Service invites comments on the proposed new Part 913 of title 39, Code of Federal Regulations.

Synopsis of the NPRM

1. In this NPRM, the Commission proposes to allocate and establish licensing and service rules for the 4940–4990 MHz (4.9GHz) band that has recently been transferred from Federal Government to private sector use as a substitute spectrum for the 4635–4685 MHz band reclaimed for Federal Government use. The Commission proposes to allocate the 4.9 GHz band for fixed and mobile services, except aeronautical mobile service, on a primary basis and seeks comment on the geographic area and spectrum blocks that should be used to license this spectrum. In addition, the Commission also proposes to license the 4.9 GHz band under part 27 of the Commission's Rules, except to the extent the Commission, in this NPRM, proposes to modify those rules to reflect the particular characteristics of this spectrum and the services that will be permitted to operate in this band. The Commission proposes to delete part 26 of the Rules (regarding General Wireless Communications Service) because it applies only to the 4660–4685 MHz band. The Commission also proposes that initial licenses for the 4.9 GHz band be acquired through competitive bidding under part 1 of the Commission's Rules. Furthermore, in a few instances, the Commission proposes to codify and conform certain rules for the 2.3 GHz band to provide for consistent regulation of part 27 services. Finally, the Commission grants in part a Petition for Rulemaking filed by Global Frontiers, Inc. (Global) to revise, among other requests, the Commission's rules relating to this band.

2. Briefly, the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993 (OBRA, Public Law 103–66 107 Stat. 312) required that the Secretary of Commerce identify at least 200 megahertz of spectrum then allocated for use by Federal Government agencies to be transferred to private sector use. The Commission, in the GWCS First Report and Order (60 FR 13071, March 10, 1995) among other things allocated the 4660–4685 MHz band on a primary basis to fixed and mobile services and proposed to designate this band for the new GWCS service. The subsequent Second GWCS Report and Order (60 FR 40712, August 9, 1995) established GWCS and adopted Part 26 of the Commission's Rules setting out licensing and operating rules for the service in the 4660–4685 MHz band. However, due to an evident lack of interest in this spectrum and certain concerns expressed by the United States Navy regarding the effect that transferring this spectrum to commercial use could have on its Cooperative Engagement Capability (CEC) system, the Department of Commerce, on March 30, 1999, notified the Commission that the Federal Government was reclaiming the 4635–4685 MHz band and identifying, as substitute spectrum, the 4.9 GHz band.

3. Global, in its Petition for Rulemaking (filed on November 24, 1999) requested that the Commission: (1) Designate the 4.9 GHz band for GWCS in lieu of the reclaimed 4660–4685 MHz band; (2) make the service more attractive to applicants that require broadband capability in order to serve the public; (3) speed the process of licensing applicants that are not mutually exclusive; and (4) allow mutually exclusive applicants to consult and negotiate solutions to their mutual exclusivity. Global asked that the Commission make available for GWCS the entire 4.9 GHz band, that the band be broken down into five 10 megahertz wide bands, and apparently that the band be licensed using Economic Areas (EAs). Global also requested that the 15 MHz aggregation limit contained in § 26.101(a) be increased, and that GWCS licensees be able to partition their service territories to entities other than just rural telephone companies. In addition, Global asked that the Commission clarify how applications are to be filed and that the Commission promptly process GWCS applications. Finally, Global requested that the Commission encourage the avoidance of mutual exclusivity through negotiated engineering solutions.

4. The NPRM proposes that licensees in the 4.9 GHz band be authorized to provide any fixed, mobile, or maritime mobile service, but not aeronautical mobile service. The NPRM seeks comment on this proposal. Further, the NPRM tentatively concludes that allocating the 4940–4990 MHz band to fixed and mobile services, except aeronautical mobile service, is consistent with section 303(y)(2) of the Communications Act (Act), 47 U.S.C. 303(y)(2), as amended by the Balanced Budget Act 1997, Public Law 105–33, 111 Stat. 251. The NPRM also invites comment on whether allocating the 4940–4990 MHz band to fixed and mobile services is in the public interest, and on whether a flexible spectrum allocation in this band would deter investment in communications and systems, or technology development. Further, the NPRM seeks comment regarding the extent to which significant flexibility in service rules may encourage such investments. Finally, the NPRM solicits comment on its tentative finding that the technical rules proposed in the NPRM satisfy the requirements of section 303(y)(2)(C).

5. The NPRM seeks comment on its tentative conclusion that the action taken in the Public Safety Reallocation Order, 63 FR 06669, February 10, 2000, allocating the 764 MHz band on a primary basis to fixed and mobile services, and designating this spectrum solely for public safety use, and in the First Report and Order WT Docket No. 96–86, 63 FR 58645, November 2, 1998, which adopted rules for licensing and operation for public safety in those bands, there is no need to set aside spectrum in the 4.9 GHz band for public safety use.

6. The NPRM next seeks comment on the Commission's proposals that the 4.9 GHz band be governed, in general, by part 27 of the Commission's Rules and that part 26 no longer serves a function and should be deleted from the Commission's Rules.

7. The NPRM does not propose to restrict the types of fixed and mobile services that can be provided in the 4.9 GHz band (other than aeronautical mobile). Consistent with this approach, the Commission notes that licensees may be required to comply with rules contained in other parts of the Commission's Rules. The Commission seeks comment generally on any provisions in existing, service-specific rules that may require specific recognition or adjustment to comport with the supervening application of part 27, as well as any provisions that may be necessary in part 27 to fully describe the scope of covered services and technologies.

8. The NPRM notes that the 4.9 GHz service will be subject to the Universal Licensing System (ULS). All 4.9 GHz licensees filing applications and other filings using FCC forms 601 through 605 or associated schedules must make these filings electronically in accordance with the electronic filing instructions provided by ULS, 47 CFR 1.913(b).

9. The NPRM next proposes that, similar to licensees in other Commission services, applicants in the 4.9 GHz band be allowed to request common carrier and non-common carrier status for authorization in a single license rather than require the applicant to choose between common carrier and non-carrier services. This would enable 4.9 GHz licensees to provide all allowable services anywhere within its licensed area at any time, consistent with its regulatory status. In this regard, the NPRM proposes that applicants and licensees in the 4.9 GHz band be required to indicate a regulatory status based on any service they choose to provide, but not be required to describe their proposed services. The NPRM also proposes that if licensees change the service or services they offer, such that it would change their regulatory status, they must notify the Commission, within 30 days of the change although such change would not require prior Commission authorization. In addition to making these procedures applicable to the 4.9 GHz band, the NPRM also proposes to codify these procedures for the 2.3 GHz band, and seeks comment on these proposals.

10. The NPRM proposes that there be no additional restrictions on eligibility, other than the foreign ownership restrictions set forth in section 310 of the Commission's Act, and as indicated in this decision. In addition, consistent with Global's request, the NPRM tentatively concludes that licensees in the 4.9 GHz band should be permitted to obtain all of the 4.9 GHz licenses in a given geographic area, and that a spectrum cap is not necessary to prevent a 4.9 GHz licensee from exercising market power. The NPRM seeks comment on these issues.

11. Applicants in the 4.9 GHz band would be subject to section 27.12 of the Act, which implements the foreign ownership and citizenship requirements that restrict the issuance of licenses to certain applicants. An applicant requesting authorization only for non-common carrier services would be subject to section 310(a) but not to the additional prohibitions of section 310(b). An applicant requesting authorization for common carrier services (or for both common carrier and non-common carrier services) would be subject to both sections 310(a) and 310(b). Like common carriers, non-common carriers would be required to file the information whenever there are changes to their foreign ownership information. However, under the Commission's proposed rules, applicants requesting authorization exclusively to provide non-common carrier services would not be disqualified if its citizenship information reflects that it would be disqualified from a common carrier license or required to file a waiver. The NPRM solicits comment on these proposals.

12. The NPRM seeks comment on the appropriate geographic area to use for licensing the 4.9 GHz band. (See paras 41-43 of the full text of the NPRM.) Additionally, the NPRM invites comment on the appropriate size spectrum block or blocks that should be used to license the 4.9 GHz band. Global requests that the spectrum be divided into five 10 megahertz wide spectrum block. Alternatively, the NPRM seeks comment on whether this spectrum should be auctioned in two 25 MHz licenses. The NPRM requests comment on whether larger or smaller blocks would provide more options for services provided by licensees in the band, on whether the spectrum should be auctioned in paired spectrum blocks, on whether the Commission should license unpaired spectrum in the 4.9 GHz band, and on whether the Commission should make changes to its bidding rules to promote bidder flexibility.

13. The NPRM seeks comment on whether to provide for license terms not to exceed 10 years from the date of original issuance and whether to provide a right to a renewal expectancy. (See paras. 48 through 50 of the full NPRM.) Further, the NPRM invites comments on the Commission's tentative conclusion that, in order to claim a renewal expectancy, a 4.9 GHz licensee involved in a comparative renewal proceeding must include at a minimum a showing including: (1) A description of current service in terms of geographic coverage and population served or links installed; (2) an explanation of the licensee's record of expansion, including a timetable for the construction of new base sites or links to meet changes in demand for service; (3) a description of the licensee's investments in its system; and (4) copies of any Commission Orders finding the licensee to have violated the Communications Act or any Commission rule or policy, and a list of any pending proceedings that relate to any matter described by the requirements for the renewal expectancy.

14. On December 20, 1996, the Commission released a Further Notice of Proposed Rulemaking in WT Docket No. 96-148, 62 FR 696, January 6, 1997, proposing, among other actions, to revise the partitioning rules for the band 4660-4685 MHz and to establish disaggregation rules for this band. The proposals contained in that document are superseded by the proposals discussed in the NPRM, and that proceeding is terminated to the extent that it addressed partitioning and disaggregation rules for the band 4660-4685 MHz.

15. The NPRM tentatively concludes, consistent with Global's request, to allow all 4.9 GHz licensees the flexibility to partition their service areas without any restriction, and to disaggregate their spectrum. Section 27.15 of the Commission's Rules permits licensees seeking approval for partitioning and disaggregation arrangements to request authorization from the Commission for partial assignment of a license, and provides that licensees may apply to partition their licensed geographic service areas or disaggregate their licensed spectrum at any time following the grant of their licenses. In the Report and Order adopting the rule, 62 FR 653, January 6, 1997, the Commission decided to permit geographic partitioning of any service area defined by the partitioner and partitionee, to permit spectrum disaggregation without restriction on the amount of spectrum to be disaggregated, and to permit combined partitioning and disaggregation. The NPRM requests comment on the Commission's proposal that licensees in the 4.9 GHz band be eligible to the same extent to partition service areas and disaggregate spectrum, and also on what limits, if any, should be placed on the ability of licensees to partition service areas and disaggregate spectrum.

16. The NPRM also requests comment on its proposal that 4.9 GHz applicants and licensees be required to, in the case of partitioning, file FCC form 603 and list the partitioned service area on a schedule to the application. Further, the NPRM proposes that licensees in the 4.9 GHz band follow § 27.15(c) provisions against unjust enrichment and the remaining provisions governing partitioning and disaggregation in § 27.15 of the Commission's Rules.

17. The NPRM also seeks comment on the Commission's proposal regarding construction requirements for parties to partitioning, disaggregation, or combined partitioning and disaggregation agreements. The NPRM proposes to allow parties to partitioning agreements to choose between two options for satisfying the construction requirements. The first option provides that the partitioner and partitionee would each certify that it would independently satisfy the substantial service requirement for its respective partitioned area. If a licensee fails to meet this requirement during the relevant license term, that licensee's authorization would be subject to cancellation at the end of the license term. Under the second option, the partitioner would certify that it has met or will meet the substantial service requirement for the entire market. If the partitioner fails to meet this standard during the relevant license term, however, only its license would be subject to cancellation at the end of the license term. The partitionee's license would not be affected by that failure.

18. The NPRM additionally proposes to allow parties to disaggregation agreements to choose between two options for satisfying the construction requirements. Under the first option, the disaggregator and disaggreatee would certify that they each would share responsibility for meeting the substantial service requirement for the geographic service area. If parties choose this option, both parties' performance will be evaluated at the end of the relevant license term and both licenses could be subject to cancellation. The second option would allow the parties to agree that either the disaggregator or the disaggreatee would be responsible for meeting the substantial service requirement for the geographic service area. If parties choose this option, and the party responsible for meeting the construction requirement fails to do so, only the license of the non-performing party would be subject to cancellation.

19. The NPRM proposes construction standards and safe harbor provisions for 4.9 GHz licensees. As mandated by § 27.14(a) of the Commission's Rules, licensees would be required to provide "substantial service" in their service areas within 10 years of being licensed. A failure to meet this requirement would result in forfeiture of the license and the licensee's ineligibility to regain it. As proposed, licensees would be required to submit an acceptable showing to the Commission at the end of the license period demonstrating that they have provided substantial service during the license term or are providing substantial service at the end of the term. In addition, the NPRM proposes the safe harbors that would be applicable to 2.3 GHz licensee, as well as to 4.9 GHz licensees. The first safe harbor proposal states that for a licensee who chooses to offer fixed, point-to-point service, the construction of four permanent links per one million people in its licensed service area during its license term or the license-renewal mark would constitute substantial service. The second safe harbor proposal provides that, for a licensee who chooses to offer mobile services or point-to-point multipoint services, a demonstration of coverage to 20 percent of the population of its licensed service area during its license term or at the license-renewal mark would constitute substantial service.

20. Under the proposed approach, the Commission intends to reserve the right to review these construction requirements in the future if complaints are received related to section 309(j)(4)(B) of the Act, or if a reassessment is warranted because spectrum is being warehoused or is otherwise not being used despite demand. The Commission will also reserve the right to impose additional, more stringent construction requirements on licenses in the future in the event that actual anticompetitive or universal service problems develop. The NPRM seeks comment on these proposals.

21. The NPRM seeks comment on its tentative proposal that, for applicants in the 4.9 GHz band, providing common carrier or non-common carrier service, the Commission provide for a five-day period for filing petitions to deny applications, and a seven-day notice period for all auctionable services, as mandated for auctionable services in §§ 1.2108(b) and 1.2108(c) of the Commission's Rules.

22. The NPRM considers general common carrier obligations. The NPRM first invites comment on its proposal that the Commission exercise its authority to forbear from enforcing the same Title II of the Act requirements that the Commission has determined not to apply to CMRS licensees, for 4.9 GHz and 2.3 GHz licensees that provide common carrier fixed services. Title II of the Act imposes a variety of obligations on the operations of common carriers that are not otherwise imposed on wireless communications services. These operational requirements include the filing of tariffs, maintaining of records, liabilities, and discontinuance of service. The 1996 Act provides the Commission with the authority to forbear from Title II requirements. (See 47 U.S.C. 160, as added by the 1996 Act.) The statute requires that, before forbearing from applying any section of Title II, the Commission must find that each of the following applies:

(a) Enforcement of such regulation or provision is not necessary to ensure that the charges, practices, classifications, or regulations by, for, or in connection with that telecommunications carrier or telecommunications service are just and reasonable and are not unjustly or unreasonably discriminatory.

(b) Enforcement of such regulation or provision is not necessary for the protection of consumer; and

(c) Forbearance from applying such provision or regulation is consistent with the public interest.

The NPRM seek comment on the application of these criteria to the 4.9 and 2.3 GHz band.

23. The NPRM seeks comment regarding whether to include an Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) provision in the Commission's rules applicable to services in the 4.9 GHz band, and if so, which of the Commission's EEO rules should be adopted. The NPRM also seek comment on whether the Commission's EEO rules should be applied to licensees at 2.3 GHz.

24. The NPRM next proposes to apply the technical standards of part 27, including power limits, equipment authorization, radiofrequency safety standards, emission limits, frequency stability, antenna structures and air navigation safety, international coordination and disturbance of AM station antenna patterns, as well as technical standards contained in other sections of the Commission's Rules, to 4.9 GHz licensees.

25. The NPRM offers two approaches to in-band interference control. Parties are asked to provide their analysis of both a general coordination requirement, in which the Commission would rely principally upon the use of coordination procedures to avoid harmful interference between the operation of licensees in adjacent service areas, and establishment of a field strength limit. Comments are particularly sought on issues such as coordination procedures and criteria, and on what the boundary limit should be. Comment is also sought on whether to modify § 27.64 of the Commission's Rules, which states that part 27 stations operating in full accordance with applicable Commission rules and the terms and conditions of their authorizations are normally considered to be non-interfering, and provides for Commission action to require modification to eliminate significant interference. The NPRM further invites comment on whether power limits and coordination procedures should be imposed to adequately protect radio astronomy operation.

26. The NPRM notes that the U.S. Navy's CEC system operates on multiple frequencies in the bands below the 4.9 GHz, and invites comment on what measures should be taken to protect the 4.9 GHz licensees from interference from Federal Government use of the adjacent band. For example, should certain technical standards be imposed on 4.9 GHz licensees?

27. The NPRM proposes to use the part 1 auction rules to initially license the 4.9 GHz band, and to move the remaining part 26 auction rules for the band 4660–4685 MHz to the 4.9 GHz band. The NPRM also tentatively concludes that mutually exclusive initial applications for the 4.9 GHz band must be resolved through competitive bidding and that the Commission's previous determinations of auctionability is dispositive with regard to the substituted 4.9 GHz spectrum. (See para. 94 of the NPRM). The NPRM solicits comment on these tentative conclusions.

28. The NPRM proposes to conduct the auction for initial licenses in the 4.9 GHz band in conformity with the general competitive bidding rules set forth in part 1, subpart Q of the Commission's Rules, and consistent with the bidding procedures that have been employed in previous Commission auctions. The NPRM invites comment on this proposal and on whether any of the Commission's part 1 rules would be inappropriate in an auction for this service.

29. The NPRM considers the definition of small business in the context of the 4.9 GHz band. Specifically, the NPRM proposes to define a small business as any firm with annual average gross revenues for the three preceding years not in excess of $40 million. For entities that qualify as small businesses, the NPRM proposes to provide a bidding credit of 15 percent. The NPRM also proposes to define a very small business as one with average annual gross revenues for the three preceding years not in excess of $15 million. For entities that qualify as very small businesses, the NPRM proposes a bidding credit of 25 percent. The NPRM invites comment on the appropriateness of these standards and on related issues. (See paragraphs 101 through 103.) In calculating gross revenues for purposes of small business eligibility in a 4.9 GHz auction, the NPRM proposes to attribute the gross revenues of the applicant, its controlling interests, and its affiliates.

Initial Regulatory Flexibility Analysis

30. As required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980 (RFA), 5 U.S.C. 603, the Commission has prepared an Initial Regulatory Flexibility Analysis (IRFA) of the possible significant economic impact on small entities of the policies and rules proposed in the NPRM. The Commission requests written public comment on the analysis. In order to fulfill the mandate of the Contract with America Advancement Act of 1996 regarding the Final Regulatory Flexibility Analysis, the Commission asks a number of questions in the IRFA regarding the prevalence of small businesses in the affected industries.

31. Comments must be filed in accordance with the same filing deadlines as comments filed in this rulemaking proceeding, but they must have a separate and distinct heading designating them as responses to the IRFA. The Commission's Consumer Information Bureau, Reference Information Center, will send a copy of this NPRM, including the IRFA, to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy of the Small Business Administration.

Ex Parte Presentations

32. For purposes of this permit-but-disclose notice and comment rulemaking proceeding, members of the public are advised that ex parte presentations are permitted, except during the Sunshine Agenda period, provided they are disclosed under the Commission's Rules. (See generally 47 CFR 1.1202, 1.1203, 1.1206(a).)

Pleading Dates

33. Pursuant to applicable procedures set forth in §§ 1.415 and 1.419 of the Commission's Rules, interested parties may file comments on or before April 26, 2000, and reply comments on or before May 17, 2000. Comments and reply comments should be filed in WT Docket No. 00–32. All relevant and timely comments will be considered by the Commission before final action is taken in this proceeding. To file formally in this proceeding, interested parties must file an original and four copies of all comments, reply comments, and supporting comments. If interested parties want each Commissioner to receive a personal copy of their comments, they must file an original plus nine copies. Interested parties should send comments and reply comments to the Office of the Secretary, Federal Communications Commission, Room TW–A325, 445 Twelfth Street, SW, Washington, DC 20554, with a copy to Eli Johnson, Policy Division, Wireless Telecommunications Bureau, 445 Twelfth Street, SW, Washington, DC 20554.

34. Comments may also be filed using the Commission's Electronic Comment Filing System (ECFS). Comments filed through the ECFS can be sent as an electronic file via the Internet to <<http://www.fcc.gov/e-file/ecfs.html>>. Generally, only one copy of an electronic submission must be filed. In completing the transmittal screen, commenters should include their full name, Postal Service mailing address, and the applicable docket or rulemaking number. Parties may also submit an electronic comment by Internet E-Mail. To obtain filing instructions for E-Mail comments, commenters should send an e-mail to ecfs@fcc.gov, and should include the following words in the body of the message, "get form <your E-Mail address>." A sample form and directions will be sent in reply.

35. Comments and reply comments will be available for public inspection during regular business hours at the FCC Reference Center, Room CY–A257, at the Federal Communications Commission, 445 Twelfth Street, SW, Washington, DC 20554. Copies of comments and reply comments are available through the Commission's duplicating contractor: International Transcription Service, Inc. (ITS, Inc.), CY–B400, 445 12th Street, SW, Washington, DC 20054, (202) 857–3800.

40. The Commission's Consumer Information Bureau, Reference Information Center, shall send a copy of the Notice of Proposed Rulemaking, including the Initial Regulatory Flexibility Analysis, to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy of the Small Business Administration

41. This is a synopsis of the Initial Regulatory Flexibility Act Statement in this Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM). The full text of Initial Regulatory Flexibility Act Statement may be found in Appendix A of the full NPRM.

42. As required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA) the Commission has prepared this Initial Regulatory Flexibility Analysis (IRFA)¹ of the possible significant economic impact on small entities by the policies and rules proposed in this Notice of Proposed Rulemaking (NPRM), WT Docket No. 00-32. Written public comments are requested on this IRFA. Comments must be identified as responses to the IRFA and must be filed by the deadlines for comments on the NPRM. The Commission will send a copy of the NPRM, including the IRFA, to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy of the Small Business Administration.

Need for, and Objectives of, the Proposed Rules

43. The Commission's objectives in the NPRM are to: (1) Accommodate the introduction of new uses of spectrum and the enhancement of existing uses; (2) encourage commercial development of equipment that can operate in the 4.9 GHz band; (3) facilitate the awarding of licenses to entities who value them the most; and (4) create new jobs, foster economic growth and improve access to communications by industry and the American public. The Commission also seeks to ensure a regulatory plan for the 4.9 GHz band that will allow for the efficient licensing and use of the band, eliminate unnecessary regulatory burdens, enhance the competitive potential of the band, and provide a wide variety of radio services to the public.

Legal Basis for Proposed Rules

44. The proposed action is authorized under sections 1, 4(i), 7, 10, 201, 202, 208, 214, 301, 303, 308, 309(j), and 310 of the Communications Act of 1934, 47 U.S.C. 151, 154(i), 157, 160, 201, 202, 208, 214, 301, 303, 308, 309(j), 310.

Description and Estimate of the Number of Small Entities to Which the Proposed Rules Will Apply

45. The RFA directs agencies to provide a description of and, where feasible, an estimate of the number of small entities that may be affected by the proposed rules, if adopted. The RFA generally defines the term "small entity" as having the same meaning as the terms "small business," "small organization," and "small governmental jurisdiction." In addition, the term "small business" has the same meaning as the term "small business concern" under Section 3 of the Small Business Act, unless the Commission has developed one or more definitions that are appropriate for its activities. Under the Small business Act, a "small business concern" is one that: (1) Is independently owned and operated; (2) is not dominant in its field of operation; and (3) satisfies any additional criteria established by the Small Business Administration (SBA). A small organization is generally "any not-for-profit enterprise which is independently owned and operated and is not dominant in its field." Nationwide, as of 1992, there were approximately 275,801 small organizations.

46. The definition of "small governmental entity" is one with populations of fewer than 50,000. There are 85,006 governmental entities in the nation. This number includes such entities as states, counties, cities, utility districts and school districts. There are no figures available on what portion of this number has populations of fewer than 50,000. However, this number includes 38,978 counties, cities and towns, and of those, 37,556, or ninety-six percent, have populations of fewer than 50,000. The Census Bureau estimates that this ratio is approximately accurate for all government entities. Thus, of the 85,006 governmental entities, the Commission estimates that ninety-six percent, or about 81,600, are small entities that may be affected by our rules.

47. The proposals in the NPRM affect applicants who wish to provide services in the 4.9 GHz band. The Commission notes that we have previously defined "small entity" for Blocks C and F broadband PCS licensees as firms that had average gross revenues of less than $40 million in the three previous calendar years. This regulation defining "small entity" in the context of broadband PCS auctions has been approved by the SBA. We also note that the Commission has adopted this same definition for 2.3 GHz and 39 GHz applicants, as well as for the band 4660-4685 MHz. With respect to prospective 4.9 GHz license applicants, the Commission proposes to use the small entity definition adopted in the Broadband PCS proceeding.

48. In addition, the Commission notes that if the proposed special small business definition were not to be used, the applicable definition of small entity is the definition under the SBA rules applicable to radiotelephone (wireless) companies. This provides that a small entity is a radiotelephone company employing no more than 1,500 persons. According to the Bureau of the Census, only twelve radiotelephone firms from a total of 1,178 such firms which operated during 1992 had 1,000 or more employees.

49. The NPRM observes that the capital costs of operational facilities in the 4.9 GHz band are likely to vary widely. Accordingly, the NPRM seeks to adopt small business size standards that afford licensees substantial flexibility. Thus, in addition to its proposal to adopt the general small business standard the Commission used in the case of broadband PCS, 2.3 GHz, 39 GHz, and 4660-4685 MHz licenses, the NPRM also proposes to adopt the definition for very small businesses, businesses with average annual gross revenues for the three preceding years not in excess of $15 million.

50. While the NPRM proposes to use these definitions, the Commission has not yet determined or proposed how many licenses will be awarded, nor will it know how many licensees will be small businesses until the auction, if required, is held. In addition, at this point in the proceeding, the Commission does not know how many licensees will partition their license areas or disaggregate their spectrum blocks, if partitioning and disaggregation are allowed. The Commission assumes that, for purposes of our evaluations and conclusions in the IRFA, all of the prospective licensees are small entities, as that term is defined by the SBA or our proposed definitions for the 4.9 GHz band. We invite comment on this analysis.

Description of Projected Reporting, Recordkeeping, and Other Compliance Requirements

51. Entities interested in acquiring spectrum in the 4.9 GHz band will be required to submit license applications and high bidders will be required to apply for their individual licenses. The proposals under consideration in this item also include requiring commercial licensees to make showings that they are in compliance with construction requirements, file applications for license renewals and make certain other filings as required by the Communications Act. The Commission requests comment on how these requirements can be modified to reduce the burden on small entities and still meet the objectives of the proceeding.

Steps Taken To Minimize Significant Economic Impact on Small Entities, and Significant Alternatives Considered

52. The NPRM seeks data demonstrating build-out and other capital requirements for services in the 4.9 GHz band, as well as the anticipated start-up costs for providing service, and how these costs compare with costs for other services. Commenters are invited to use comparisons with other services for which the Commission has already established auction procedures as a basis for their comments regarding the appropriate definitions for small and very small businesses. Commenters are asked to address to what extent the proposed size standards will impact the ability of small businesses to acquire financing. In addition, the Commission seeks comment on whether the proposed designated entity provisions would be sufficient to promote participation by businesses owned by minorities and by women, and participation by rural telephone companies.

53. The Commission has reduced burdens wherever possible. To minimize any negative impact, however, the NPRM proposes certain incentives for small entities which will redound to their benefit. The Commission will continue to examine alternatives in the future with the objectives of eliminating unnecessary regulations and minimizing any significant economic impact on small entities. The Commission seeks comment on significant alternatives commenters believe should be adopted.

Summary of Collection: The Laboratory Animal Welfare Act (AWA) (Public Law 890544) enacted August 24, 1966, required the U.S. Department of Agriculture, (USDA), to regulate the humane care and handling of dog, cats, guinea pigs, hamster, rabbits, and nonhuman primates. The legislation was the result of extensive demand by organized animal welfare groups and private citizens requesting a Federal law covering the transportation, care, and handling of laboratory animals. The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), Regulatory Enforcement and Animal Care (AC) has the responsibility to enforce the Animal Welfare Act (7 U.S.C. 2131-2156) and the provisions of 9 CFR, Subchapter A, which implements the Animal Welfare Act. The purpose of the AWA is to insure that animal use in research facilities or exhibition purposes are provided humane care and treatment. To assure humane treatment of the animal during transportation in commerce and to protect the owners of animals from the theft of their animals by preventing the sale or use of animals which have been stolen. APHIS will collect information using several forms.

Need and Use of the Information: APHIS will collect health certificates, program of veterinary care, application for license and record of acquisition, disposition and transportation of animals. The information is used to ensure those dealers, exhibitors, research facilities, carriers, etc., are in compliance with the Animal Welfare Act and regulations and standards promulgated under this authority of the Act.

Description of Respondents: Business or other for-profit.

Frequency of Responses:

Total Burden Hours: 95,720.

Food and Nutrition Service

Title: Supplemental Form for Collecting Taxpayer Identifying Numbers.

OMB Control Number: 0584-NEW.

Summary of Collection: Section 3100(y) of the Debt Collection Improvement Act of 1996 (Public Law 104-134) requires all Federal agencies to obtain taxpayer identifying numbers (TINs) from all individuals and entities they do business with, and to furnish the TIN whenever a request for payment is submitted to Federal payment officials. A taxpayer identifying number can be either a Social Security Number or an Employer Identification Number. The Food and Nutrition Service will collect information using form FNS-711.

Need and Use of the Information: FNS will collect taxpayer identifying numbers from individuals and entities receiving payments directly from the agency under any of the various nutrition and nutrition education programs. The information will be collected at the time of program application, and will only be collected once unless an entity renews its application or reapplies for program participation. If the information is not collected, FNS would be unable to include taxpayer identifying numbers with each certified request for payment.

Description of Respondents: Business or other for-profit; individuals or households; not-for-profit institutions.

Number of Respondents: 800.

Total Burden Hours: 66.

Food and Nutrition Service

Title: WIC Financial Management and Participation Report with Addendum.

OMB Control Number: 0584-0045.

Summary of Collection: The Women, Infants and Children Program (WIC) is authorized by Section 17 of the Child Nutrition Act (CNA) of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1786), as amended. The Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) of USDA administers the WIC Program by awarding cash grants to State agencies. The State agencies award subgrants to local agencies to deliver program benefits and services to eligible participants. To streamline and reduce the reporting burden, the FNS-498 is revised and named FNS-798 with Addendum (FNS-798A) to allow a State agency's final monthly report for the report year (expanded to include closeout data) to serve as its closeout report in place of the FNS-227 with addendum (the FNS-227A). The addendum (FNS-798A) is needed by FNS in order to determine if each state agency has met its statutory nutrition education and breastfeeding promotion and support minimum expenditure requirements found in 42 U.S.C. 1786(h)(3).

Need and Use of the Information: FNS will use the information reported each month for program monitoring, funds allocation and management, budget projections, monitoring caseload, policy development, and responding to requests from Congress and the interested public. FNS also uses the data to determine if the State has met the 97 percent performance standard for food and 10 percent performance standard for NSA.

Description of Respondents: State, Local, or Tribal Government.

Number of Respondents: 88.

Frequency of Responses: Reporting: Monthly.

Total Burden Hours: 4,638.

Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service

Title: Importation of Animal & Poultry, Animal/Poultry Products, Certain Animal Embryos, Semen, and Zoological Animals.

OMB Control Number: 0579-0040.

Summary of Collection: Title 21 U.S.C. authorizes sections 111, 114, 114a, 114-1, 115, 120, 121, 125, 126, 134a, 134f, and 134g of 21 U.S.C. These authorities permit the Secretary to prevent, control and eliminate domestic diseases such as brucellosis and tuberculosis, as well as to take actions to prevent and to manage exotic diseases such as foot-and-mouth disease and rinderpest. Disease prevention is the most effective method for maintaining a healthy animal population and enhancing the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) ability to compete in exporting animals and animal products. To fulfill this mission APHIS must collect pertinent information from those individuals who import animals and poultry, animal and poultry products, zoological animals, or animal germplasm into the United States. APHIS will collect information using several forms.

Need and Use of the Information: APHIS will collect information on the origin of the animal or product to be imported, the health status of the animal or product was temporarily offloaded in another country during its journey to the United States. This vital information helps APHIS to ensure that these imports pose a negligible risk of introducing exotic animal diseases into the United States. If the information was not collected it would cripple or destroy APHIS ability to protect the United States from exotic animal disease incursions.

Description of Respondents: Farms.

Number of Respondents: 107,849.

Frequency of Responses:

Recordkeeping; reporting: On occasion.

Natural Resource Conservation Service

OMB Control Number: 0578-0007.

Summary of Collection: The Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act (P.L. 83-566) authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to provide technical and financial help to local organizations in planning and carrying out watershed improvements. Section 3 of the law directs the Secretary to determine whether benefits anticipated from the improvements will exceed cost. The Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) has been delegated the responsibility to carry out the intent of the law. NRCS primary objective is to work in partnership with the American people to conserve and sustain our natural resources. NRCS provides technical and financial assistance to flood damaged communities to control flooding. NRCS personnel collect specific data about flood damages in order to assess the cost of floods to individuals, farms, communities, governments, and others who own or control property affected by floods. NRCS will collect information using surveys forms.

Needs and Use of the Information: NRCS will collect information on the types of damage, ownership patterns, tenure, number of properties affected, and the shape and slope of the flood plain. The information collected is used to determine damages incurred as a result of the flooding. Information is collected directly from the landowners on a voluntary basis. If the landowner is unavailable or unwilling to provide the information, NRCS will make visual estimates and use secondary data.

Description of Respondents: Individuals or households; business or other for-profit; not-for-profit institutions; farms; Federal Government; State, Local or Tribal Government.

Number of Respondents: 768.

Frequency of Responses: Reporting: On occasion.

Total Burden Hours: 936.

Food and Nutrition Service

OMB Control Number: 0584-0332.

Summary of Collection: Section 17 of the Child Nutrition Act (CNA) of 1966, as amended, Form FNS-399 is the agreement between USDA and the State agency. The agreement empowers USDA to release funds to the State agency to operate the Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Program or the Farmers' Market Nutrition Program (FMNP). The Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) will collect information using form FNS-339.

Needs and Use of the Information: FNS will collect information to authorize payment of cash grants to State agencies, which operate the program locally through nonprofit organizations and must ensure coordination of the Program among the appropriate agencies and organizations. Each FMNP or WIC State agency desiring to administer the program shall annually enter into a written agreement with USDA for administration of the program in the jurisdiction of the State agency. If the information is not collected Federal funds cannot be provided to the State agency without a signed agreement.

Description of Respondents: State, Local, or Tribal Government.

Number of Respondents: 100.

This action is necessary to provide guidance for the analysis of groundwater development proposals under 36 CFR 251.5. The intended effect of this directive is to provide specific guidance for the protection of ground and surface water resources when water development is proposed for National Forest System lands.

DATES: The public is invited to comment for 30 days beginning March 16, 2000.

ADDRESSES: Southwestern Region, ATTN: Water Rights and Uses

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

FSM 2500—WATERSHED AND AIR MANAGEMENT

R3 SUPPLEMENT 2500-2000-1

EFFECTIVE—DRAFT ONLY

CHAPTER 2540—WATER USES AND DEVELOPMENT

2541.03—Policy. Include high priority instream flows and standing waters when determining National Forest Water needs. Quantify and pursue State water rights for flows and standing waters not covered by the reservation doctrine after considering all strategic options. Strategy options include, but are not limited to;

1. Rely on senior and stable downstream appropriators to protect needed instream flows on the National Forest System.

2. Rely on constraints contained in special use permits as a means of maintaining instream flows or standing waters.

3. Protect instream flows or standing water through land acquisition.

4. Negotiate agreements or adjudication settlement stipulations that protect instream flows or standing waters.

2541.04c—Forest Supervisors.

Maintain and update annually the Forest's water uses, requirements, and rights inventory.

2541.35—Special Use Authorization for Water Developments. The following is guidance that specifically addresses the management of ground water resources. (See also Forest Service Manual (FSM) 2729).

Ground water beneath National Forest System (NFS) lands in the Region is a valuable resource that requires thoughtful and prudent management. Ground waters and surface waters are interconnected. Ground water discharge sustains base flows in NFS streams and is the source of water for springs and seeps. This ground water discharge is critical for sustaining aquatic and riparian ecosystems along with the numerous resources and activities dependent upon them.

Special use authorizations for removal of ground water from NFS lands shall be approved only when the long-term protection and enhancement of NFS streams, springs, seeps, and associated riparian and aquatic ecosystems can be assured unless such removal is documented in an Environmental Impact Statement.

Ground water removal on non-NFS lands adjacent to NFS lands may impact streams, springs, seeps and associated riparian and aquatic ecosystems on NFS lands. When a project proponent proposes to transport ground water across NFS lands, it is appropriate to analyze the potential impacts of the water removal as well as the impacts of the facilities to transport it. The extent to which each proposal to remove or transport ground water is analyzed depends on the scope and potential impact of the proposed action.

1. Initial Screening for Development and Use of Ground Water. As provided for in Title 36 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) Part 251.54(b), initial proposals for ground water development may be presented to the Forest Service either verbally or in writing. When such presentation is made to the Forest Service, it should be explained to the project proponent that the permitting process for ground water use or transport is a discretionary activity, and that a permit for water use or transport may be denied if analysis indicates that NFS resources or adjacent water supplies will not be adequately protected. It should also be explained that the CFR provides for two levels of screening prior to initiating environmental analysis documentation. To pass the initial screening requirements, proposals to develop and use ground water derived from NFS lands, or derived from non-NFS lands and transported across NFS lands, must meet the following conditions:

a. The proposal to use or transport water must be consistent with applicable laws, regulations, policies, rules, and NFS land and resource management plans (FSM 2702 & 2703). Proposals shall be evaluated as specified in 36 CFR 251.54(e) and as follows:

b. The proposal to use or transport water must adequately protect NFS resources (FSM 2702.1 & 2541.34).

c. The proposal must be consistent with national policy not to encumber NFS lands just because it affords a proponent a lower cost when compared with alternatives located on non-NFS lands (FSM 2703.2)

d. Proposal to use ground water derived from NFS lands must include the use of appropriate water conservation measures (FSM 2541.21h).

e. When considering proposals to use water on non-NFS lands, preference should be given to those requests made by communities or other entities that best serve the public interest.

Proposals that do not meet the minimal requirements of the initial screening process shall be returned to the proponent as insufficient. The authorizing officer shall reply in writing if the proposal was presented in writing, or reply verbally if the proposal was presented verbally (36 CFR 251.54(e)(2)).

2. Second-level Screening. Additional information is required for proposals that pass initial screening. In second-level screening, the proposal is evaluated as described in 36 CFR 251.54(e)(5) and as follows.

a. If the intent of the proposal is to use ground water derived from NFS lands for a non-NFS purpose, the proponent must demonstrate that alternative water sources do not exist (FSM 2703.2). This would include documentation of the actions taken to secure water from other than NFS sources or the rationale explaining why is not feasible to do so. This may include a record of wells drilled, attempts to purchase water, hydrologic and geologic studies, or other similar information.

b. The quantity of water the proponent is currently seeking from NFS lands and the purpose of use of such water must be identified. If the proponent anticipates increased water needs in the future, such needs shall also be quantified.

c. Drilling activities themselves can negatively impact NFS resources. In instances where considerable disturbance may result from the drilling process itself, the proponent must demonstrate that there is reasonable likelihood of successfully completing any water wells and adequately mitigating any resource damage. Information that might support a proponent's rationale could include an inventory of all existing wells in the vicinity along with any available information such as driller's logs, well depths, well yields, water quality information, geophysical logs, and well construction details. In addition, information regarding favorable geologic conditions such as known water bearing formations (including location, aerial extent, lithology, and hydrologic characteristics) or favorable structural features. The proponent may be required to provide information describing current resource conditions to facilitate estimates of potential damage and/or potentially effective mitigation.

d. All anticipated facilities such as roads, power lines, pipelines, water storage tanks, and pumps that could ultimately be needed to produce and convey water across NFS lands must be identified. Proposals that involve construction and/or use of roads shall conform to the requirements of the Federal Land Policy and Management

e. To assist in evaluating the potential for the proposal to affect NFS resources and adjacent water supplies, key resources and existing water supplies should be identified. The quantity, location, and/or thing of the proposed use of water will determine to what extent the following information needs are addressed. Typically, the greatest amount of information will be required of each proposal that contemplates the withdrawal of large quantities of water, building in or transiting environmentally sensitive locations, and/or withdrawal of water during peak periods of usage by others, sensitive periods of needs for fish and wildlife, or sensitive periods of needs for riparian and wetlands flora and fauna.

Information that may be required to assess potential impacts to neighboring water users and/or to resources both on and adjacent to NFS lands includes:

(1) The location and characteristics of all potentially affected surface and ground water resources including wells, streams, springs, seeps, and aquifers.

(2) Pertinent social information, including the identification of any potentially impacted individuals or groups and their water uses. Social impacts and environmental justice will be evaluated through the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 process (NEPA) and through any applicable State process designed to protect the holders of water rights.

(3) The location and description of riparian vegetation.

(4) Any known Threatened, Endangered, or Sensitive species.

(5) Pertinent geologic information. This should include a map of the area identifying surface geology and any known subsurface formations and structural features. Hydrologic characteristics of the target aquifers such as transmissivity and storativity should also be included, if known.

(6) Pertinent hydrologic information. Provide any available information regarding water table or piezometric surface elevations including known seasonal fluctuations, direction and rate of ground water flow, recharge and discharge areas, surface water flow characteristics including volumes and peaks throughout the year, location of gaining and losing reaches of streams, and water quality.

(f) If the proposal does not pass second-level screening, it should be returned to the proponent with a written reason for rejection (36 CFR 251.54(g)(1)). NEPA analysis is not required to make this determination (36 CFR 251.54(e)(6)). If the proposal passes second-level screening, the proponent shall be notified that the Forest Service is prepared to accept a written formal application for a special use authorization. The Forest Service should begin the appropriate environmental analysis upon receipt of the formal application (36 CFR 251.54(g)(2)(ii)). The proponent should be advised that any information provided is likely to become public information once the formal application is received and a NEPA process initiated.

When for formal application is received, the proponent is referred to as the applicant.

3. Environmental Analysis. When screening indicates that the proposal includes high ground water production rates and/or potentially high impact well(s) or transmission facilities, substantial additional analysis may be necessary. An application may be approved in two phases, the first for exploration and the second for construction and/or production. Each phase requires NEPA documentation. When the application is to use existing wells, the evaluation procedures describe in paragraphs (a)–(c) may still apply.

Project applicants should be advised that obtaining approval for exploratory drilling and/or evaluation does not guarantee that construction of production phase facilities will be authorized. They should also be advised that there may be substantial mitigation measures required by the terms of a production authorization and that the scope of those measures may not be identified until the conclusion of the appropriate environmental analysis.

a. Exploratory Drilling Procedures. When screening indicates a reasonable likelihood of producing ground water without negative impacts to NFS resources or adjacent water supplies, NEPA documentation appropriate to the scale of exploration shall be completed. At this phase, a Categorical Exclusion (FSH 1909.15 Sec. 31.1(b)(8) or 31.2(8)) may be sufficient. If the responsible official decides to allow exploration on NFS lands, a temporary permit may be issued for the exploration and impact evaluation phase of the proposal. This temporary permit shall contain any conditions necessary to minimize impacts to Forest resources.

b. Impact Evaluation Procedures. If water supplies in sufficient quantities to meet the applicant's needs are located in existing wells or found through exploration, a detailed plan to determine impacts should be required. This plan will be site specific and designed to identify potential impacts to Forest resources and adjacent water supplies, and must be approved by the Forest Service prior to testing for impacts.

In considering requests to use water from a known aquifer underlying NFS lands, modeling drawdown and resultant impacts may be sufficient. Any modeling will be conducted using a ground water flow model approved by the Forest Service.

In the absence of sufficient information to model impacts, an aquifer test such as long-term pumping of existing and/or exploratory well(s) may be required. The purpose of the test is to evaluate the potential impacts of removing water at production levels from the well(s) under consideration. As testing occurs, there should be simultaneous measurements of water levels and/or pressures in other wells within the vicinity and of flows in adjacent surface waters. Any aquifer test(s) should be conducted during periods of appropriate flows in adjacent surface waters so that impacts can be identified and used to support modeling of drawdown characteristics and/or impacts to surface water resources over time. Chemical characterization may be necessary to further evaluate the potential connection between ground and surface water resources.

If the proposal involves the transport of ground water pumped from nearby non-NFS lands across NFS lands, the above testing may still be required to evaluate impacts of the ground water withdrawal on NFS resources and adjacent water supplies. (40 CFR, 1508.25 Scope).

c. The results of testing, monitoring, and/or modeling shall be analyzed to determine potential impacts to National Forest resources and adjacent water supplies. A decision to allow ground water production and/or conveyance shall be considered through the appropriate NEPA analysis and documentation. Refer to FSH 1909.15, chapters 30 and 40.

4. Construction and Production Permitting. The construction phase includes the construction of all infrastructures needed to pump, store, and convey water from its source to the place of use. Once a NEPA decision is in place, a special use authorization is needed to occupy and use NFS lands for the purposes of constructing and operating facilities designed to produce and convey ground water (36 CFR 251.54 (g)(5)). Refer to FSM 2711 for guidance on the type of permit and/or easement to issue. Refer to 36 CFR 251.56 for Terms and Conditions for permit issuance. Construction may be permitted separately from production.

Once a permit is issued, the applicant is referred to as the holder. Regardless of the length of time for which a permit is issued, it is important to note that the Forest Service may amend the permit at any time when it is in the public interest to do so (FSM 2711.2). Continued monitoring of water developments is necessary to verify that their operation remains in the public interest.

5. Monitoring and Mitigation. All monitoring or mitigation measures necessary to ensure protection of Forest resources during the construction of water pumping, storage, or transport facilities, and during the long-term removal of ground water, should be included in annual plans of operation attached to and made a part of the permit(s). Mitigation measures such as the cessation of pumping during critical times of the year or replacing water to streams and springs will be considered only if Forest resources can be protected over a long-term period.

a. The holder should be required to bear the costs of monitoring and mitigation either directly through permit language or indirectly through the use of a collection agreement that funds the Forest Service to accomplish the work.

b. If long term monitoring detects additional or unforeseen adverse impacts to Forest resources, or if mitigation measures do not adequately protect Forest resources, the permit shall be suspended or revoked as appropriate (36 CFR 251.60 (a)(2)(D)). To reverse or prevent a suspension, the holder shall undertake such efforts as are necessary to eliminate adverse impacts not previously documented in an Environmental Impact Statement.

6. Other Considerations. Applicable laws and regulations governing wells and water rights shall be adhered to for all proposals. This includes State requirements for notifications, drilling permits, well abandonment procedures, and water rights, and federal (for example, Environmental Protection Agency) requirements and recommendations for monitoring wells, construction, sampling, and abandonment.

In the event that testing, modeling, or monitoring indicates a possibility that appropriable waters are or may be impacted, the Forest Service shall follow the procedures appropriate for the State(s) in which the development is located. If an appropriate State remedy is not available, the Forest Service may seek remedy in any court of jurisdiction. The Forest Service shall not issue a permit for construction or issue/reissue a permit for production unless the applicable State authorization has been granted for the proposed development.

In the event that a State unreasonably withholds authorization, the Forest Service shall consult with the Office of General Counsel regarding remedy.

Permits issued for exploration, evaluation, construction, and/or production do not convey a water right to the holder.

2541.4—Managing Water Rights.

Decide if water rights appurtenant to acquired lands can and should continue to be used on the acquired lands. Make a decision within 1 year of acquisition on how and where acquired water rights will be used.

If it is determined that all or part of an acquired water right is not needed by the acquiring Forest, then such water rights will be made available to other Forests. Distribution of surplus water rights will be made by the Regional Forester in accordance with State laws and river basin compacts.

In accordance with section 351.213 of the regulations, an interested party as defined by section 771(9) of the Act may request in writing that the Secretary conduct an administrative review. The Department changed its requirements for requesting reviews for countervailing duty orders. Pursuant to 771(9) of the Act, an interested party must specify the individual producers or exporters covered by the order or suspension agreement for which they are requesting a review (Department of Commerce Regulations, 62 FR 27295, 27424 (May 19, 1997)). Therefore, for both antidumping and countervailing duty reviews, the interested party must specify for which individual producers or exporters covered by an antidumping finding or an antidumping or countervailing duty order it is requesting a review, and the requesting party must state why it desires the Secretary to review those particular producers or exporters. If the interested party intends for the Secretary to review sales of merchandise by an exporter (or a producer if that producer also exports merchandise from other suppliers) which were produced in more than one country of origin and each country of origin is subject to a separate order, then the interested party must state specifically, on an order-by-order basis, which exporter(s) the request is intended to cover.

Seven copies of the request should be submitted to the Assistant Secretary for Import Administration, International Trade Administration, Room 1870, U.S. Department of Commerce, 14th Street & Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20230. The Department also asks parties to serve a copy of their requests to the Office of Antidumping/Countervailing Enforcement, Attention: Sheila Forbes, in room 3065 of the main Commerce Building. Further, in accordance with section 351.303(f)(1)(i) of the regulations, a copy of each request must be served on every party on the Department's service list.

The Department will publish in the Federal Register a notice of "Initiation of Administrative Review of Antidumping or Countervailing Duty Order, Finding, or Suspended Investigation" for requests received by the last day of March 2000. If the Department does not receive, by the last day of March 2000, a request for review of entries covered by an order, finding, or suspended investigation listed in this notice and for the period identified above, the Department will instruct the Customs Service to assess antidumping or countervailing duties on those entries at a rate equal to the cash deposit of (or bond for) estimated antidumping or countervailing duties required on those entries at the time of entry, or withdrawal from warehouse, for consumption and to continue to collect the cash deposit previously ordered.

This notice is not required by statute but is published as a service to the international trading community.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSEOffice of the Secretary*Submission for OMB Review; Comment Request

ACTION: Notice.

The Department of Defense has submitted to OMB for clearance, the following proposal for collection of information under the provisions of the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. Chapter 35).

Title and OMB Number: Joint Recruiting Advertising Program (JRAP); OMB Number 0704-0351.

Type of Request: Reinstatement.
Responses Per Respondent: 1.
Annual Responses: 141,497.
Average Burden Per Response: 6 minutes.

Annual Burden Hours: 13,239.
Needs and Uses: Title 10, U.S. Code, Section 503, directs the Secretary of Defense to conduct intensive recruiting campaigns for the Armed Forces. In addition, the Secretary of Defense commissioned an independent review of military advertising. The results stress that the U.S. Armed Forces must find innovative ways to quickly capture and respond to the changing opinions and attitudes of military-eligible youth. The U.S. Armed Forces must continually refocus its advertising in this turbulent environment in order to ensure its message in timely and effective.

The Joint Market Research Program (JMRP) supports recruitment efforts by providing quick response, short duration, polling and surveying of youth in the United States. The primary goal of the JMRP is to obtain and disseminate timely information on the attitudes, opinions, trends, expectations, and aspirations held by today's youth. This information will become the foundation from which advertising messages will be crafted.

The Joint Recruiting Advertising Program (JRAP) supports Armed Forces recruitment efforts with cost-effective advertising. The JRAP ROTC Scholarship Folder, recruiting print advertisements, www.myfuture.com, Selective Service System Direct Mail brochures, and other direct mail brochures provide individuals with information about opportunities available in the Armed Forces. Individuals are provided with Business Reply Cards (BRCs) that they may voluntarily fill out to request additional information about the Armed Forces. When one branch of the Armed Forces receives a BRC, the information is promptly sent to the BRC respondent. The name of the BRC respondent is then added to mailing lists used by the Services for future mailings of Service-related enlistment, officer, and scholarship information brochures.

Additionally, Bates World Wide, JRAP's contracted advertising agency conducts short duration focus groups to obtain feedback from targeted populations (e.g. pre-teens, parents, teenagers, and young adults) concerning the marketability of television commercials and print advertisements. Questions are specifically targeted at the advertisement and no intrusive questions are asked.

Affected Public: Individuals or Households.

Frequency: On Occasion.

Respondent's Obligations: Voluntary.

Title and OMB Number: Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement (DFARS) Part 232, Contract Financing, and the Clause at DFARS 252.232-7002, Progress Payments for Foreign Military Sales Acquisition; OMB Number 0704-0321.

Needs and Uses: Section 22 of the Arms Export Control Act (22 U.S.C. 2762) requires the U.S. Government to use foreign funds, rather than U.S. appropriated funds, to purchase military equipment for foreign governments. To comply with this requirement, the government needs to know how much to charge each country. The clause at 252.232-7002, Progress Payments for Foreign Military Sales Acquisitions, requires each contractor whose contract includes foreign military sales (FMS) requirements to submit a separate progress payment request for each progress payment rate, and to submit a supporting schedule that clearly distinguishes the contract's FMS requirements from U.S. requirements. POLICY JUSTIFICATIONTaipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office in the United States - Conversion of TPS-43F Air Surveillance Radar

The Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office (TECRO) in the United States has requested a possible sale for the conversion of TPS-43F air surveillance radar to TPS-75V configuration, support equipment, spare and repair parts, modification kits, publications, U.S. Government and contractor engineering and logistics support services, personnel training and equipment and other related elements of logistic support. The estimated cost is $96 million.

This proposed sale is consistent with United States law and policy, as expressed in Public Law 96-8.

The proposed sale of radar will provide more responsive and timely information for air defense operations. The conversion of the AN/TPS-43 radar would significantly contribute to the modernization of its forces as well as allow modernization of obsolete radar. This radar is becoming unsupportable due to obsolescence.

The proposed sale of this equipment and support will not affect the basic military balance in the region.

The prime contractor will be Northrop Grumman Corporation, Bethpage, New York. There are no offset agreements proposed in connection with this potential sale.

Implementation of this proposed sale will not require the assignment of any U.S. Government representatives; however, it is estimated that approximately three months of contractor technical support will be required following delivery of the radar.

There will be no adverse impact on U.S. defense readiness as a result of this proposed sale.

POLICY JUSTIFICATION

Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office - HAWK Intercept Aerial Missiles

The Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office in the United States has requested a possible sale of 162 HAWK Intercept Aerial guided missiles, containers, modification kits, support equipment, testing, spare and repair parts, publications and technical data, personnel training and equipment, U.S. Government and contractor engineering and logistics personnel services, and other related elements of logistics support. The estimated cost is $106 million.

This proposed sale is consistent with United States law and policy, as expressed to Public Law 96-8.

This proposed sale will support the recipient's continued effort to modernize and enhance its air defense capabilities. Under the Missile Reliability Restoration program, the recipient operational inventory of HAWK missiles will be modified to the HAWK Intercept Aerial guided missiles. The recipient will have no difficulty absorbing these additional missiles into its armed forces.

The proposed sale of this equipment and support will not affect the basic military balance in the region.

The prime contractor is Raytheon Company of Andover, Massachusetts. There are no offset agreements proposed in connection with this potential sale.

Implementation of this proposed sale will require the assignment of up to four U.S. Government representatives for one-week intervals over a six-year timeframe for logistic technical assistance. One contractor representative will be required for six years to perform technical assistance to the recipient.

There will be no adverse impact on U.S. defense readiness as a result of this proposed sale.

Transmittal No. 00-28Notice of Proposed Issuance of Letter of Offer
Pursuant to Section 36(b)(1) of the Arms Export Control Act*Annex
Item No. vi*(vi) Sensitivity of Technology:

1. The MIM-23E and MIM-23L HAWK missile system contains more than 500 components which are Classified as well as components that are sensitive but not Classified. These items are so identified to protect the system from being defeated by exploiting specific system characteristics. Technology which must be protected is in the missile, radars, and control elements of the system. Continuous wave low noise Radio Frequency technology has been unique to HAWK for many years. The techniques for isolation of transmitter and receiver elements are difficult and sensitive.

2. If a technologically capable adversary were to obtain knowledge of these sensitive technologies, the possibility exists that countermeasures might be developed which could reduce weapon system effectiveness.

3. A determination has been made that the recipient can provide substantially the same degree of protection for the sensitive technology being released as the U.S. Government. This sale is necessary in furtherance of the U.S. foreign policy and national security objectives outlined in the Policy Justification.

AGENCY: Office of The Judge Advocate General, USAF; DoD.

ACTION: Notification of appointment of Air Force officials to selected non-Federal entity boards.

SUMMARY: The Office of The Judge Advocate General, in accordance with 10 U.S.C. 1033 and 10 U.S.C. 1589, announces the appointment of certain Air Force officials to provide limited management support to certain non-Federal entities authorized by statute and by DoD regulation (DoD 5500.7-R, Standards of Conduct, section 3-202). Federal statutes (10 U.S.C. 1033 and 10 U.S.C. 1589) authorize the Service Secretaries to authorize a member of the armed forces or an employee under the Secretary's jurisdiction to serve without compensation as a director, officer, or trustee, or to otherwise participate in the management of certain military welfare societies. In the Air Force, the designated military welfare society is the Air Force Aid Society, Inc. Additionally, 10 U.S.C. 1033 and 10 U.S.C. 1589 permit the Service Secretaries to make appointments to other non-profit non-Federal entities that fall within certain categories. Those categories include entities that regulate and support the athletic programs of the service academies (including athletic conferences) and entities that accredit service academies and other schools of the armed forces (including regional accrediting agencies.) Non-Federal entities in these categories must be pre-designated by the Secretary of Defense. The Secretary of Defense's authority for such designations was delegated to the Department of Defense General Counsel, who has designated all of the organizations, and concurred in all of the appointments, listed below. Appointments made under this authority extend to the named officials, as well as to their successors. The authority granted pursuant to these appointments is limited to providing oversight, advice to, and coordination with, the designated entity. Authorization does not extend to participation in day-to-day operations of the entity, nor to the expenditure of appropriated funds (except in direct support of the employee). Expenditures will not include travel and transportation allowances incurred by the employee in a travel status. Finally, participation in the management of the non-Federal entity may not constitute the employee's primary duty.

The Secretary of the Air Force has made the following appointments with the concurrence of the Department of Defense General Counsel:

(1) To the Board of Trustees of the Air Force Aid Society, Inc.: Secretary of the Air Force, F. Whitten Peters; Chief of Staff of the Air Force, General Michael E. Ryan; Deputy Chief of Staff, Personnel, Lieutenant General Donald L. Peterson, The Surgeon General of the Air Force, Lieutenant General Paul K. Carlton, Jr.; The Judge Advocate General of the Air Force, Major General William A. Moorman; Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Air Force (Budget), Major General Larry Northington; and Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force, Chief Master Sergeant Frederick J. Finch.

(2) To the Mountain West Conference Board of Directors: The United States Air Force Academy Superintendent, Tad J. Oelstrom.

(3) To the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools: Division Chief for Academic Affairs, Air University, Dr. Dorothy Reed; Commandant, School of Advanced Airpower Studies, Colonel Steve Chiabotti; Commander, Community College of the Air Force, Colonel James McBride.

(4) To the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools: Commander, Air Force Institute of Technology, Colonel George Haritos.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSEDepartment of the Army, Corps of Engineers*Final Notice of Issuance and Modification of Nationwide Permits

ACTION: Correction.

SUMMARY: This document contains corrections to the final notice of issuance and modification of Nationwide Permits (NWP) which was published in the Federal Register on Thursday, March 9, 2000 (65 FR 12818-12899). On pages 12818, 12819, 12822, 12841, and 12861 the date "June 5, 2000" is to be replaced with "June 7, 2000." June 7, 2000, is the correct effective date for the new and modified NWPs, as well as the correct expiration date for NWP 26.

In summary, NWP 26 will expire on June 7, 2000. The new and modified NWPs, including the new and modified NWP general conditions, will become effective on June 7, 2000. States and Tribes must make their Section 401 Water Quality Certification and Coastal Zone Management Act consistency determinations by June 7, 2000.

In addition, there were some inconsistencies concerning the economic and workload cost estimates in the March 9, 2000, Federal Register notice. The 1/2 acre alternate replacement NWP package in the Institute for Water Resources (IWR) report is similar to the new NWPs published in the March 9, 2000, Federal Register notice. We have concluded that the economic impacts and costs are approximately the same for both. On page 12820, we correctly stated that the IWR report indicated that the 1/2 acre alternative replacement NWP package would result in direct compliance costs that are approximately 30% less than the $46 million in direct compliance costs that would be incurred by permit applicants due to the July 21, 1999, proposal. Based on these assumptions, the alternate replacement NWP package would result in approximately $32 million in direct compliance costs incurred by permit applicants. However, on page 12819 we incorrectly indicated an increase in direct costs to permit applicants of approximately $20 million; the correct amount is approximately $32 million.

Dated: March 10, 2000.

The Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board (Board) continues a strong interest in safety systems and their effectiveness at defense nuclear facilities. These systems are at the heart of safety at the facilities. Department of Energy (DOE) Standards 3009 and 3016 provide guidance for the identification of safety systems and associated Technical Specifications as important elements of maintaining safety of facilities and operations. In addition, the implementation guide to DOE Order 420.1, Facility Safety, provides guidance on design and procurement of safety systems to attain and sustain reliability in performance.

Most of the facilities of interest to the Board were constructed many years ago, and are undergoing the deterioration attached to aging. It is important that their protective features be maintained serviceable and effective. In the following, the Board recommends measures necessary to ensure reliable performance of the safety systems of both the older facilities and the ones that are relatively new, and in particular stresses the actions required to ensure viability of confinement ventilation systems. Confinement ventilation systems are relied on almost everywhere by DOE as the principal system to protect the public and collocated workers at its more hazardous facilities.

Previous Issuances by the Board on Safety Systems

In May 1995, the Board issued DNFSB/TECH-5, Fundamentals for Understanding Standards-Based Safety Management of Department of Energy Defense Nuclear Facilities, which stressed the importance, among other things, of functions that preserve those structures, systems, and components that are relied upon to protect the public, workers, and the environment (e.g., configuration management, training, and maintenance). In October 1995, the Board issued DNFSB/TECH-6, Safety Management and Conduct of Operations at the Department of Energy's Defense Nuclear Facilities. The report underscored the importance of conduct of operations as the body of practice, or operational formality, that implements the Safety Management System for a defense nuclear facility. Operational formality includes "Supervision by highly competent personnel who are knowledgeable as to the results of the safety analysis and operating limits for the facility or activity." Key aspects of facility Safety Management Systems discussed in these two reports are central to the issues addressed herein.

In 1996, in response to Recommendation 95-2, Safety Management, DOE provided the Board a plan for upgrading safety management of its defense nuclear facilities. DOE Orders 5480.22, Technical Safety Requirements, and 5480.23, Nuclear Safety Analysis Reports, established requirements for identifying design features important to safety and the conditions/controls to ensure safe operation. DOE authorized its contractors to grade facilities by hazard category and to tailor the comprehensive safety assessments according to hazard potential and operational future. This upgrade effort has reaffirmed the important safety role played by confinement ventilation systems. (See enclosed Appendix B of DNFSB/TECH-26). In general, these systems have been designated as important to safety, making them subject to more stringent quality assurance, maintenance, surveillance, and configuration management programs in recognition of their safety functions. Commitments to such programs are typically made in the Authorization Agreements that capture the contractor-DOE agreed upon conditions for performing the work.

Issuances Concerning Confinement Ventilation Systems

Some of the Board's analyses concerning safety systems focused on confinement ventilation systems in particular. In March 1995, the Board issued DNFSB/TECH-3, Overview of Ventilation Systems at Selected DOE Plutonium Processing and Handling Facilities, which addressed the design of confinement ventilation systems. In its June 15, 1995, letter forwarding that report, and in subsequent correspondence in July 1995, the Board requested that DOE evaluate the design, construction, operation, and maintenance of ventilation safety systems in terms of applicable DOE and industry standards.

In a letter dated October 30, 1997, the Board pointed out the problem of wetting high efficiency particulate air (HEPA) filters during tests of fire sprinkler systems, and the need for complex-wide guidance from DOE concerning the relationship between maintaining filter integrity and fire fighting strategies. HEPA filters are key components of confinement ventilation systems. In its June 8, 1999, letter concerning HEPA filters installed in confinement ventilation systems, the Board requested a report outlining the steps DOE plans to take to resolve those issues. In recent weeks, individual Board members and the Board's staff have met informally with DOE representatives to resolve differences concerning DOE's proposed response to the Board's request.

Current Status of Ventilation Systems

As a part of its continuing oversight of these vital safety systems, the Board's staff has recently completed a review of the operational data on confinement ventilation systems as reported in DOE's Operational Reporting and Processing System (ORPS). The data reviewed covered the period July 1998 to December 1999. An analysis of these data is documented in report DNFSB/TECH-26. This review indicates that the reliability of these systems, for reasons not readily evident, may not be adequate, given the vital safety function they serve.

The operational data reveal deficiencies in areas of test and surveillance, quality assurance (replacement components), maintenance, configuration management, training and qualification, and conduct of operations. One can reasonably deduce from such observations that there exists no single entity assigned responsibility for the configuration and operational state of these systems as a whole.

The Board recognizes that many confinement ventilation systems now require less air flow and permit more particulate loading than in original designs. This allows for more extended useful life than might otherwise be tolerable, particularly with adequate preventive care. However, the operational data suggest that less than optimum care is being given to these systems, considering their age.

Status of Safety Systems in General

Many of DOE's nuclear facilities were constructed years ago and are approaching end-of-life status. Under these circumstances, some degradation of reliability and operability of systems designed to ensure safety can reasonably be expected. To some extent, the effects of aging can be offset by increased surveillance and maintenance. A point occurs, however, where costs for upkeep justify major upgrades or replacement, particularly where mission needs are projected well into the future. While a considerable number of high-hazard defense nuclear facilities have such long-term missions (greater than 10 years, for example), others undergoing phase-outs and decommissioning do not. Some facilities must continue to rely on operational safety systems, such as ventilation systems, to serve a safety function even after their operational mission has ended and well into the decommissioning process. Long-term or short-term, however, the performance required for safety must be ensured.

It has been a long-standing practice in the nuclear business to designate a "system engineer" for each major system vital to successful operation of hazardous processes. Some DOE contractors have done so on occasions (e.g., the Defense Waste Processing Facility at the Savannah River Site), but this practice is not as prevalent as it should be. The Board believes that having specific individuals outside the operational forum, tasked with the configuration management (design and operational constraints) of systems designated as important to safety, would go a long way to ensuring the dependable service such systems must provide.

Recommendation

Considerable upgrading of programs for ensuring reliable and effective performance of confinement ventilation systems has occurred during the years 1995-1999. However, the frequency and variety of off-normal occurrences that continue to be reported clearly indicate that more attention to these vital systems is needed. Likewise, other systems serving equally vital safety functions might well benefit from similar attention. Towards such an end, the Board recommends that the Department of Energy:

1. Establish a team, expert in confinement ventilation systems, to survey the operational records during the past 3 years and the current operational condition of all confinement ventilation systems now designated or that should be designated as important to safety in defense nuclear facilities (i.e., safety class, safety significant, defense-in-depth). In so doing:

- a. Assess the root cause or causes for less than satisfactory operational history of these systems and recommend an action plan to address the causes. In so doing evaluate such programs as may exist to ensure reliable system performance. These should include surveillance, maintenance (including quality assured inventory of replacement parts), configuration management (system descriptions, drawings and specifications), and requisite training and qualification of operators.

- b. Estimate the remaining system lifetime with and without refurbishing as a function of reliability; (e.g., 1 year—95%, 10 years—50%) and recommend such upgrades or compensating measures as may be appropriate to ensure reliability, current or future, commensurate with the safety functions being served.

2. Include key elements of the plan for addressing the HEPA filters issues identified in the Board's June 8, 1999, letter in any plan developed in response to this recommendation.

3. Amend appropriate directives and associated contract requirements documents (e.g., DOE Order 430.1A, Life Cycle Asset Management, DOE Order 420.1, Facility Safety), to require for the confinement ventilation system and every other major system designated as important to safety:

- a. The development and maintenance of documentation that captures key design features, specifications, and operational constraints to facilitate configuration management throughout the life cycle.

- b. The designation of a "system engineer" during each facility life cycle—design, construction, operation and decommissioning with:

- (1) The requisite knowledge of the system safety design basis and operating limits from the safety analysis; and

- (2) The lead responsibility for the configuration management of the design.

- c. The education and training of successor "system engineers" as may be required because of contractor organizational changes, facility life cycle change, or other causes for reassignments.

4. Task the Federal Technical Capability Panel established in response to Board Recommendation 93-3 to:

- a. Survey the availability and sufficiency of personnel in DOE with expertise in these vital safety systems.

- b. Recommend to DOE senior management such actions as may be appropriate to augment, redeploy or otherwise bring such expertise more effectively to bear in the life-cycle-management of vital safety systems.

- c. Add to DOE's technical staff qualification program the requisites for qualifying as subject matter experts for these vital systems.

- d. Develop descriptions of functions and responsibilities for inclusion in the Function and Responsibilities Authorities Manual for individuals serving as subject matter experts on vital safety systems.

5. Make the scrutiny of the status of all systems serving to protect the public, workers and the environment a regularized part of the assessments performed as required by DOE P 450.5, Line Environment, Safety and Health Oversight. Include in such review the programs, such as quality assurance, maintenance, configuration management and conduct of operations, that contribute much to ensuring these systems will operate as intended.

Chairman.

Appendix—Transmittal Letter to the Secretary of Energy, Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board

March 8, 2000

The Honorable Bill Richardson
Secretary of Energy
1000 Independence Avenue, SW
Washington, DC 20585-1000

Dear Secretary Richardson: Designs of the Department of Energy's (DOE's) high hazard defense nuclear facilities typically include systems whose reliable operation is vital to the protection of the public, workers and the environment. Operations are constrained by technical safety requirements and operational limits established by analyzing the hazards of the operations and the capability of design features to prevent or mitigate consequences of potential mishaps or operational disruptions caused by either man or natural phenomena. The availability and operability of such systems and the conditions specifying operational limits are included in the written agreements established by DOE with its contractors as conditions for authorizing performance of work.

Ventilation systems installed in many defense nuclear facilities are among those that provide vital safety functions. Such systems contribute much to the safe environment for workers and serve a vital confinement function should work process upsets and mishaps result in airborne releases of hazardous materials.

The Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board (Board) has advised DOE in various ways during the past several years of the need to increase attention to ventilation systems and of the steps we believe would lead to more certain performance of their important safety functions. Although DOE has responded to some extent, the upgrade efforts to date have been less comprehensive and effective than the matter merits.

The Board further believes that DOE's upgrades of ventilation systems could well serve as a model for implementing similar programs for other vital safety systems that may be needed in defense nuclear facilities.

The Board believes this matter requires additional DOE attention. More explicitly, the Board recommends for your consideration an action plan structured to address the elements set forth in the enclosed Recommendation 2000-2, Configuration Management, Vital Safety Systems.

The Board's recommendation is directed explicitly at systems for ensuring nuclear safety. This is in keeping with the Board's enabling legislation. However, the concepts advocated could be applied to good advantage to systems designed for safety management of hazardous material and processes of non-nuclear nature as well. In the spirit of Integrated Safety Management (ISM) to which DOE is committed, DOE is encouraged to do so.

Recommendation 2000-2, Configuration Management, Vital Safety Systems, was unanimously approved by the Board, and is submitted to you pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 2286a(a)(5), which requires the Board, after receipt by you, to promptly make this recommendation available to the public. The Board believes the recommendation contains no information which is classified or otherwise restricted. To the extent this recommendation does not include information restricted by the Department of Energy under the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, 42 U.S.C. §§ 2161-68, as amended, please arrange to have this recommendation promptly placed on file in your regional public reading rooms.

The Board will publish this recommendation in the Federal Register.

Sincerely,

John T. Conway,
Chairman.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On December 21, 1998, BPA published its Power Subscription Strategy and accompanying Record of Decision for selling Federal power under new contracts with its publicly and cooperatively owned utility, investor-owned utility and direct service industrial customers. The Power Subscription Strategy stated overall policies for determining the amount of Federal power to be offered to Pacific Northwest public utility and investor-owned utility customers under section 5(b)(1) of the Northwest Power Act.

On May 6, 1999, BPA published a Federal Register Notice (64 FR 24376) with a draft proposed policy for determining the net requirements of publicly and cooperatively owned utility and investor-owned utility customers. BPA sought public comment on its proposed policies for determining utility customer net requirements under section 5(b)(1) of the Northwest Power Act. Adoption of a final policy is important to a successful implementation of BPA's post-2001 power sales contracts under BPA's Power Subscription Strategy.

On October 28, 1999, BPA published a Federal Register Notice (64 FR 58099) with a revised draft policy proposal based upon comments received on the earlier proposal and requested additional comment on this revised draft policy. After having reviewed and considered the additional comment, the Administrator has decided to adopt this final policy. Review and analysis of public comment will be published in the Administrator's Record of Decision (ROD) that is related to this final policy. This ROD is expected to be available in March.

This final policy provides guidance on implementation of the Power Subscription Strategy under applicable statutes and describes how certain factual determinations will be made regarding the amount of Federal power publicly and cooperatively owned utilities, or investor-owned utilities may purchase from BPA under section 5(b)(1) of the Northwest Power Act. BPA's determination of this amount, as described in this policy, is affected by a customer's export of hydroelectric resources and non-hydroelectric resources out of the Pacific Northwest in accordance with section 9(c) of the Northwest Power and section 3(d) of the Northwest Preference Act. BPA will review a customer's export of power or output from resources under BPA's

Section 9(c) Policy as set forth in Section IV.B.

Environmental Compliance: This final policy is consistent with BPA's Business Plan Final Environmental Impact Statement (DOE/EIS-0183, June 1995), the Business Plan Record of Decision (ROD), signed August 15, 1995, and the subsequent tiered Power Subscription Strategy ROD, signed December 21, 1998.

I. Relevant Statutory Provisions

The Northwest Power Act provisions are:

5(b)(1) Whenever requested, the Administrator shall offer to sell to each requesting public body and cooperative entitled to preference and priority under the Bonneville Project Act of 1937 [16 U.S.C. 832 et seq.] and to each requesting investor-owned utility electric power to meet the firm power load of such public body, cooperative or investor-owned utility in the region to the extent that such firm power load exceeds—

(A) The capability of such entity's firm peaking and energy resources used in the year prior to December 5, 1980, to serve its firm load in the region, and

(B) Such other resources as such entity determines, pursuant to contracts under this chapter, will be used to serve its firm load in the region.

5(b)(1) In determining the resources which are used to serve a firm load, for purposes of subparagraphs (A) and (B), any resources used to serve a firm load under such subparagraphs shall be treated as continuing to be so used, unless such use is discontinued with the consent of the Administrator, or unless such use is discontinued because of obsolescence, retirement, loss of resource, or loss of contract rights. 16 U.S.C. 839c(b)(1)

9(c) Any contract of the Administrator for the sale or exchange of electric power for use outside the Pacific Northwest shall be subject to limitations and conditions corresponding to those provided in sections 2 and 3 of the Act of August 23, 1964 [16 U.S.C. 837a and 837b] for any contract for the sale, delivery, or exchange of hydroelectric energy or peaking capacity generated within the Pacific Northwest for use outside the Pacific Northwest. In applying such sections for the purposes of this subsection, the term "surplus energy" shall mean electric energy for which there is no market in the Pacific Northwest at any rate established for the disposition of such energy, and the term "surplus peaking capacity" shall mean electric peaking capacity for which there is no demand in the Pacific Northwest at the rate established for the disposition of such capacity. The authority granted, and duties imposed upon, the Secretary by sections 5 and 7 of such Act [16 U.S.C. 837d and 837f] [16 U.S.C. 837d and 837f] shall also apply to the Administrator in connection with resources acquired by the Administrator pursuant to this chapter. The Administrator shall, in making any determination, under any contract executed pursuant to section 839c of this title, of the electric power requirements of any Pacific Northwest customer, which is a non-Federal entity having its own generation, exclude, in addition to hydroelectric generated energy excluded from such requirements pursuant to section 3(d) of such Act (16 U.S.C. 837b(d)), any amount of energy included in the resources of such customer for service to firm loads in the region if (1) such amount was disposed of by such customer outside the region, and (2) as a result of such disposition, the firm energy requirements of such customer other customers of the Administrator are increased. Such amount of energy shall not be excluded, if the Administrator determines that through reasonable measures such amount of energy could not be conserved or otherwise retained for service to regional loads. The Administrator may sell as replacement for any amount of energy so excluded only energy that would otherwise be surplus. 16 U.S.C. 839f(c) (emphasis supplied).

The Northwest Preference Act provision is:

3(d) The Secretary, in making any determination of the energy requirements of any Pacific Northwest customer which is a non-Federal utility having hydroelectric generating facilities, shall exclude any amounts of hydroelectric energy generated in the Pacific Northwest and disposed of outside the Pacific Northwest by the utility which, through reasonable measures, could have been conserved or otherwise kept available for the utility's own needs in the Pacific Northwest. The Secretary may sell the utility as a replacement therefor only what would otherwise be surplus energy. 16 U.S.C. 837b(d).

II. Scope of the Policy

The Policy on Determining Net Requirements as described in section III addresses the amount of Federal power that BPA is obligated to offer to customers requesting contracts to serve firm power loads under section 5(b)(1) of the Northwest Power Act. Purchasers eligible to request a contract under section 5(b)(1) include public body, cooperative, or investor-owned utilities in the region.¹ BPA has a corresponding statutory duty when determining the net requirements of a requesting purchaser to apply the provisions of section 9(c) of the Northwest Power Act and section 3(d) of the Regional Preference Act. BPA's modification to its 1994 Non-Federal Participation Section 9(c) Policy (1994 NFP Policy) is contained in section IV. Such provisions direct the Administrator to determine whether an export or proposed export of a requesting purchaser's non-hydroelectric or hydroelectric resource(s) would result in an increase in the firm energy requirements of any of BPA's customers. Findings by BPA that the export of such resources are likely to increase BPA's firm obligations, and that the resource could have been conserved, or otherwise retained to serve regional loads, will result in a reduction (decrement)² of the amount of Federal power and energy available for purchase under section 5(b)(1) equal to the amount of power and energy, and for the duration, of the export. Determinations under the policy will be made by BPA based on demonstrations made by the customer and other available information.

III. Policy on Determining Net Requirements

A. Determination of the Amount of Federal Power for Sale Under Section 5(b)(1)

1. BPA will determine the amount of Federal power for sale under section 5(b)(1) in the manner described below. In making this determination BPA will reduce the amount of Federal power a customer may purchase in accordance with section 9(c) of the Northwest Power Act and section 3(d) of the Northwest Preference Act.

(a) BPA will offer an amount of Federal power for sale to a customer under section 5(b)(1) based upon such customer's actual retail firm power loads in the region. To establish the customer's actual retail firm power loads in the region, BPA shall use either the actual measured load of the customer, or the customer's own actual load forecast. However, if BPA finds the customer's forecast unreasonable, or the customer has not produced such a forecast, BPA will substitute its own forecast. (Any actual or forecast loads of the customer shall exclude any wholesale loads served by the customer. Wholesale loads means power sales made by the customer using its own resources to serve its own wholesale customers who are purchasing to resell the power at wholesale or retail.)

(b) For purposes of determining the amount of Federal power BPA will offer to existing customers in the post-2001 period, BPA will require an existing customer to continue to use all generating and contractual resources included in the Firm Resource Exhibit

(FRE) of such customer's current 1981 or 1996 power sales contracts for the 1998-1999 operating year.³ BPA will not, however, require customers to continue the use of resources identified in their 1998-99 FREs under any one of the following conditions: (1) The customer's contractual resource(s) expires prior to October 1, 2001; (2) the customer's generating resource(s) is determined by BPA to be lost due to obsolescence, retirement, or loss of resource in accordance with section III.B.1 (loss of generating resources); or (3) the customer's contractual resource(s) is determined to be lost in accordance with section III.B.2 (loss of contractual resources). In addition, customers who were given express written consent by the Administrator to permanently remove a resource from use in serving regional firm power loads are not required to return such resources to use.

(c) BPA will require that all Federal surplus firm power contracts or excess Federal power contracts with terms which specify that such power be used to serve the customer's retail firm power load in the region be so applied.

(d) Under a section 5(b)(1) contract customers may elect to dedicate other generating resources or contractual resources, in addition to generating resources or contractual resources customers must use to serve load under section III.A.1.(b), to serve their consumer load. Customers can also agree to contractually commit power purchases from the market (market purchases) to serve any remaining amounts of their retail firm power load in the region which is not served by (1) generating resources or contractual resources that a customer must use to serve load under section III.A.1.(b); and (2) additional generating resources or contractual resources that a customer elects to use under this section. Application of additional generating resources, contractual resources, or market purchases by a customer under a section 5(b)(1) contract shall be as follows:

(i) All additional generating resources or contractual resources shall be used for their remaining useful life except for (1) the customer's generating or contractual resources added pursuant to section III.C (renewable resources), (2) the customer's generating resources determined by BPA to be lost during the term of the contract due to obsolescence, retirement, or loss of resource in accordance with section III.B.1 (loss of generating resources), (3) the customer's contractual resources determined by BPA to be lost during the term of the contract in accordance with section III.B.2 (loss of contractual resources), or (4) the customer's generating or contractual resources where BPA has provided express written consent to permanently remove the resource. The remaining useful life of new contractual resources shall not be less than the term of the customer's section 5(b)(1) contract.

(ii) Market purchases used to serve retail firm power load in the region shall be used for the entire 5 year rate period for which BPA establishes rates of general application, except as provided in section III.D.2.

(iii) Consistent with the customer's section 5(b)(1) contract and the customer's product selection, a customer who elects to use market purchases to serve load that does not match the customer's existing resources and delivery of Federal power from time to time shall make such market purchases to serve that portion of load that does not match such customer's existing resources and delivery of Federal power under all such circumstances.

(e) BPA will apply the Declaration Parameters included in the Power Products Catalog to establish the amount of power available from the customer's generating and contractual resources under the Subscription contract. Because the Declaration Parameters are subject to revision, BPA will use the Declaration Parameters in effect at the time of BPA's contract offer to determine the amount of Federal power offered. The customer may declare a reduction in the amount of power that would otherwise be available from its own generating and contractual resources by the amount of power the customer uses from such resources to serve its wholesale loads, defined above, which were served prior to December 5, 1980, and which continue to be served by such resources.

2. In addition to subsections III.A.1.(a) through (e), BPA shall reduce the amount of Federal power offered to a customer under section 5(b)(1) when such reductions are consistent with the application of BPA's Section 9(c) Policy as modified, and resultant findings made under section 9(c) of the Northwest Power Act and section 3(d) of the Northwest Preference Act.

² The 1994 Section 9(c) Policy BPA published uses the term "decrement" to mean a decrease or reduction in BPA's obligations to sell power to a customer under its section 5 power sales contract with BPA. When used in this Policy and modification of that Policy the terms "decrement," "reduce" or "reduction" have the same meaning.

³ BPA's requirement that the customer continue using the customer's resources listed in its FRE for the 1998-1999 operating year is based upon a decision made in BPA's Power Subscription Strategy. The decision was to establish a baseline for determining the customer's resources expected to continue serving regional firm power loads in the post-2000 period.

B. Statutory Discontinuance for a Customer's Generating and Contractual Resource

1. A customer's non-Federal generating resource is considered no longer used to serve regional retail firm power load under a section 5(b)(1) contract if the resource's use is permanently discontinued due to obsolescence, retirement, or loss.

(a) Obsolescence is a permanent discontinuance of a generating resource resulting from the inability to continue to operate such resource at the end of its useful life due to lack of available replacement parts, deterioration of the physical facility, or lack of sources of fuel supply.

(b) Retirement is a permanent discontinuance of a generating resource for which the customer can demonstrate that the cost of replacements, improvements, or additions necessary to continue to operate the resource, combined with the resource's variable operating costs, exceed the reasonable economic return over the remaining life of the resource. The customer will demonstrate the reasonable economic return of the resource by comparing the costs to the customer of replacing the resource with market purchases plus the cost to permanently shut down the resource to the cost of continuing to operate the resource.

(c) Loss of a resource is a permanent discontinuance caused by factors beyond the reasonable control of the customer and which the best efforts of the customer are unable to remedy. Such factors include, but are not limited to, complete destruction of the resource, complete loss of the Federal or State license to own or operate the resource, or complete and/or partial reduction of the capability of a resource to the extent of the loss resulting from requested operations or orders of a cognizant State or Federal agency directly or indirectly affecting the operation of the resource and changing its planned capability.

2. A customer's contractual resource is considered no longer used to serve regional firm power load if the customer experiences a permanent loss of contract rights. Loss of contract rights must result from expiration of the term of the contract, after any extensions of the contract unilaterally available to the customer, or from factors beyond the reasonable control of the customer and which the best effort of the customer are unable to remedy. The Administrator may grant consent to a customer's permanent discontinuance of a contract resource upon expiration of such contract notwithstanding a customer's right to renew or extend such contract if the customer demonstrates that substantial and material changes in the terms of a successor contract, such as price, will deny the basic benefit of the bargain to the customer which effectively results in the loss of existing contract rights.

C. Use of New Renewable Resources To Serve Retail Firm Power Loads

1. A customer may elect to use a new renewable resource to serve its regional retail firm power load for a specified period which is less than the term of its section 5(b)(1) contract; provided, however, that such new renewable resource is part of the first 200 aMW of all new renewable resources requested by all BPA customers under this section to serve regional retail firm power load each year or, once that 200 aMW limit has been reached, a new renewable resource that BPA has agreed in writing can be so used without regard to the 200 aMW limit. A customer may choose to elect to use a new renewable resource at the time of contract execution and during an annual review of such customer's net load requirements under its section 5(b)(1) contract.

2. Only new renewable resources that meet the standards established to qualify for BPA's conservation and renewable resource discount may be used under this section.

3. Application of a new renewable resource under section III.C.1 shall reduce the customer's net requirements load.

D. Changes in the Amount of Federal Power Purchased During the Term of a Contract

1. Under a section 5(b)(1) contract BPA will require a customer to submit annual reports that track and forecast the customer's retail firm power loads in the region, except for customers who purchase the full service product and for whom BPA meters their total retail load. The purpose for the annual report is to provide information that shows any increase or reduction in the amount of the customer's retail firm power loads in the region from the amount served when the contract was executed. Based on such load information, or BPA's forecast of the customer's load if BPA finds the customer's load forecast is unreasonable, BPA shall make an annual determination of the net firm requirement load of the customer under a section 5(b)(1) contract as follows.⁴ First, BPA will account for:

⁴ Such reports may be in addition to other load or resource information the customer is required to provide BPA on its loads or resources for contract administration and planning purposes. Such determinations may be in addition to other

(a) The generating and contractual resources a customer is required to use to serve firm power load in the region under section III.A.1.(b) (1998-99 FRE firm resources);

(b) Additional resources a customer has elected to use under section III.A.1.(d) (additional generating and contractual dedicated resources); and

(c) Power purchases from the market that a customer has contractually committed to purchase in their 5(b)(1) contract, consistent with section III.A.1.(d) (market purchases).

Second, BPA will make adjustments for:

(d) Changes in a customer's new renewable resources used to serve retail firm power load in the region, as provided for in section III.C.1 (renewable resources);

(e) Changes in the customer resources serving its load pursuant to III.A.1.(b) and III.A.1.(d) based on BPA's determination of a statutory discontinuance under section III.B.

(f) Any reductions in the amount of power a customer may purchase under a section 5(b)(1) contract due to the annual export review under section III.D.3; and,

(g) Changes in the customer's hydroelectric resource capability declarations due to changes in coordinated planning allowed under section III.A.1(e).

2. If BPA's annual determination of a customer's net firm requirement load results in a finding that the amount of Federal power a customer can purchase is less than the contracted amount of power to be purchased for the next contract year, then the customer shall first remove from use for its regional firm load, for a period of one year, any market purchases the customer has agreed to use under its BPA contract. Such removal shall be in an amount and shape equal to the difference between the amount of Federal power a customer can purchase for the next year and the amount and shape of Federal power a customer has contracted to purchase for the next contract year.

If the amount of Federal power a customer can purchase after the removal of the market purchases is still less than the amount of power the customer has contracted to purchase for the next contract year, then BPA will implement the mitigation measure for load loss specified in the customer's section 5(b)(1) contract and reduce the amount of Federal power a customer is obligated to purchase. Alternatively, BPA will consent to the customer's removal of a generating resource or contractual resource from use for its regional firm load, for a period of one year. The portion of a customer's generating resource or contractual resource removed shall be equal to the difference between the amount and shape of Federal power a customer can purchase and the amount and shape of Federal power the customer has contracted to purchase for the next contract year. Any customer resources, other than market purchases, which are removed from use in serving the customer's regional firm load service under this section, are subject to BPA's determinations made under sections 9(c) of the Northwest Power Act and 3(d) of the Northwest Preference Act. If the customer's use of that resource results in a reduction or decrease in BPA's obligation to provide power under section III.D.3, then BPA will recalculate the amount of power a customer may purchase for the upcoming year as provided under this section (III.D.2).

3. On an annual basis as provided under a section 5(b)(1) contract BPA will review the export of power from a customer's regional non-Federal generating and contractual resources and, if required, will reduce the amount of Federal power a customer may purchase in accordance with section IV of this policy. BPA shall reduce the amount of power a customer may purchase for the longer of the remainder of the year or the duration of the export during the period between annual reviews based on a determination by BPA in accordance with section IV.

4. BPA shall make available additional amounts of power to a customer under a section 5(b)(1) contract to serve the customer's regional loads which were formerly available by a customer's generating resources or contractual resources but are no longer required to be used to serve the customer's retail firm power loads in the region, in accordance with section III.B (statutory discontinuance). Such service shall be on 6 months notice that such an event has occurred or as mutually agreed.

IV. Scope of the Section 9(c) Policy

A. Modification to BPA's Non-Federal Participation Section 9(c) Policy

BPA's modification to its 1994 Non-Federal Participation Section 9(c) Policy (1994 NFP Policy) is set forth in section B. BPA's 1994 NFP, as modified, is retitled: BPA's Section 9(c) Policy.

BPA reaffirms the application of its 1994 section 9(c) policy and legal interpretation published in July of 1994.

The context for some of the determinations made in the 1994 NFP policy was, in part, prior exports and new exports of firm power from customer resources out of the region by participation in the new, Third AC Intertie. The interpretation has been of general application since 1994 to customer exports. BPA is now modifying the policy to address certain issues which were not previously addressed. Prior determinations made under the 1994 NFP Policy remain in effect for the duration of the export sale.

In the 1994 NFP Policy, BPA did not address the export of firm power from Investor-Owned Utility (IOU) resources because the IOUs were not placing any firm power loads on BPA under their section 5(b)(1) power sales contracts with BPA. See footnote 3, page B-10, BPA's 1994 NFP Policy. Since the IOUs were not taking any power service from BPA, reductions pursuant to a section 9(c) determination in their service under those section 5(b)(1) contracts would not have affected their BPA service. Presently, BPA is preparing new section 5(b)(1) power sales contracts for the post-2001 period to be offered to customers eligible to purchase Federal power. BPA anticipates that IOUs will take firm power service from BPA under new 5(b)(1) contracts. BPA will require that the export of firm power from resources of IOUs be accounted for, in setting BPA's net firm load obligations under those contracts. Additionally, the 1994 NFP Policy is modified to update the technical provisions as discussed in section B.

B. Section 9(c) Policy

Section 1. Northwest Power Act Section 9(c) Determinations

As required by the Northwest Power Act, BPA shall make its Section 9(c) determinations for the exports of its customers. Export for purposes of this policy means the sale of the firm power output of a generating or contractual resource in a manner that such output is not planned to be used solely to serve firm consumer load in the Region as the term "Region" is defined in section 3(14) of the Northwest Power Act.

Section 2. Finding Required

In examining the export of Pacific Northwest resources, BPA shall make its finding based on the following requirements of Section 9(c):

(a) BPA shall analyze whether the customer's exports would result in an increase in the electric power requirements of any of its customers in the region. BPA shall do this by examining its load/resource forecasting and planning documents to determine the impact the exports will have on BPA's and its customers' ability to meet Pacific Northwest load presently and in the future. BPA shall also analyze the information available from other sources including least-cost plans and load/resource information of Pacific Northwest utilities which do not currently place any load on BPA.

(b) BPA shall review the specific resources being exported on an annual basis unless the customer requests review for a longer period to determine if the resources being exported are hydroelectric resources and if not, whether they are conservable. BPA shall review categories of resources eligible for export for a period selected by BPA. If the resources are not hydroelectric resources and BPA determines the resource is not conservable (see section 6.(b) for a description of those resources BPA has determined are conservable), BPA shall determine if such exports will result in an increase in the firm energy requirements of its customers and if so, determine whether the resource could be otherwise retained for service to regional loads by using reasonable means. If BPA finds in its analysis that the fully allocated nominal cost of the resource a customer is proposing to export exceeds the fully allocated nominal cost of the region's marginal resource, BPA will conclude that such resource can be exported without having to decrement the customer's section 5(b) utility power sales contract.

Section 3. Scope of Section 9(c) Policy

This Section 9(c) Policy addresses a customer's exports of power from Pacific Northwest resources out of the region. BPA shall make its Section 9(c) determinations based on a factual determination using information about the specific resource the customer intends to export.

Section 4. Data on Specific Resources

BPA shall base its Section 9(c) determination on specific information BPA has obtained from the customer on the resources it intends to export. The customer shall provide this information when it notifies BPA that it intends to export a resource or when BPA requests information regarding a possible export. This includes, but is not limited to, the following information:

- (a) Name of the resource to be exported;
- (b) Location of the resource;
- (c) Type of resource;
- (d) Whether the resource is currently in any Pacific Northwest utility's firm resource exhibit;

(e) Whether the resource is planned or existing;

(f) Type of transaction or sale, and if it is a seasonal exchange, the terms of the exchange, and

(g) The cost of the resource (including reasonable rate of return) included in the customer's retail rates and a forecast of such costs for each year of the proposed export.

BPA will also consider any prior history of the resource including prior efforts to market it to BPA or other Pacific Northwest utilities.

Section 5. Prior Case-by-Case Section 9(c) Interpretations

BPA will not modify its existing determinations on Pacific Northwest utility exports including its 1994 NFP Policy determinations and will apply its prior case-by-case interpretations of Section 9(c), and Section 3(d) of the Regional Preference Act to such decisions without modification. Therefore, BPA incorporates by reference in this Policy these prior interpretations of Sections 9(c) and 3(d) and the determinations made thereunder for the duration of the export sale.

Section 6. Categories of Resources

(a) Exports That Will Not be Decrement by BPA: Under this Section 9(c) Policy determination, BPA will determine based on the finding in section 2 of this policy whether the export of certain resources will not result in an increase in the electric power requirements of any of its customers. If the export of a resource does not increase the firm energy requirements of BPA's customers or could not otherwise be retained for service to regional loads, the resource may be exported without a reduction in BPA's firm load obligation under the customer's Section 5(b) utility power sales contract.

(b) Exports That Will be Decrement by BPA: BPA has determined based on its prior policy interpretations of Northwest Power Act Section 9(c) that the following categories of resources are conservable and if they are exported BPA shall decrement the customer's Section 5(b) power sales contract:

(1) All Pacific Northwest hydroelectric resources owned or purchased by a Pacific Northwest utility, whether or not dedicated in any Pacific Northwest utility's firm resource exhibit; and

(2) All Section 5(b)(1)(A) and 5(b)(1)(B) thermal resources that are currently dedicated by a utility in any customer's firm resource exhibit.

Section 7. System Sales

BPA shall utilize a case-by-case approach to system sales. BPA shall require the exporting utility to submit an operating plan for the duration of the export, identifying these specific resources or categories of resources supporting the system sale. If the export is a system sale made up solely of a customer's resources that individually would not result in a decrement if each resource were exported standing alone, then BPA would not decrement a customer's firm power purchase under section 5(b) for such a system sale. BPA shall decrement the customer's section 5(b) utility power sales contract in the amount and to the extent the system sale involves the export of the planned capability of hydroelectric resources to support a power sale (whether or not in a firm resource exhibit); the planned capability of a non-hydroelectric resource that is in a firm resource exhibit, or if not, that could otherwise be retained to serve regional load; or any portion of the sale that is a prohibited resale of Federal power.

Any customer that was previously a Contracted Requirements customer of BPA, and which is currently purchasing power and energy from BPA under its power sales contract, shall have BPA's firm power obligation under its section 5(b)(1) contract reduced in the amount and to the extent a system sale involves the resources described above for the duration of the export sale. If the customer was not placing load on BPA under its section 5(b) utility power sales contract at the time of the export sale, then at such time as the customer requests to place a firm load obligation on BPA, BPA shall make an appropriate determination and may reduce its energy sales to such customer in the amount and to the extent the export sale involves the resources described above and for any remaining duration of the export sale.

If the exporting utility does not provide an operating plan identifying the resources supporting the system sale, BPA will treat the system sale as made up of resources that would result in a decrement of the customer's section 5(b) utility power sales contract.

Section 8. Seasonal Exchange

Any seasonal exchange between a customer and an out of region entity which results in no net regional energy deficit during any Operating Year shall not result in a decrement by BPA of the customer's Section 5(b) utility power sales contract.

Section 9. Resource Offer

A customer may offer a resource to BPA or to all other Pacific Northwest customers. If neither BPA, nor any Pacific Northwest customer, purchases the offered resource (offered at the customer's cost including a reasonable rate of return), the resource may then be exported without a decrement of the customer's Northwest Power Act section 5(b) power sales contract. If offered for sale to BPA, the resource shall be treated as an unsolicited proposal. If BPA proposes to acquire the resource, and if it is greater than 50 aMW or offered for longer than 5 years, it will be subject to the Northwest Power Act Section 6(c) process, which can take more than 12 months.

Section 10. Consumer-Owned and Independent Power Producer-Owned Resources

If a customer contracts to purchase and then export any consumer-owned resource or any resource developed by an independent power producer, such resource shall be subject to this Policy as a generating or contract resource of the purchasing customer as appropriate.

Section 11. BPA Notification

BPA shall notify in writing any customer which has exported a resource or proposes to export a resource of the outcome of BPA's Section 9(c) determination. The BPA notification shall be made within 30 working days from the date BPA receives the information specified in Section 4 about a specific resource.

C. Scope of the Section 9(c) Policy

BPA's Section 9(c) Policy addresses the effect of exports of resources by any public body, cooperative, or investor-owned utility purchasing power under a section 5(b) contract for service after October 1, 2001. The findings and interpretations of this Section 9(c) Policy shall be applied to all exports occurring after publication of this Section 9(c) Policy. Customers that have exported resources prior to publication of the Section 9(c) Policy may face a reduction in the amount of Federal power that BPA will offer at the time they request a contract under section 5(b)(1) for service after September 30, 2001. A reduction in BPA's obligation to provide firm power requirements to a customer under its section 5(b)(1) contract will be based on a case-by-case factual determination regarding the export of a resource by a BPA customer, and may be based on the regional load resource balance at the time of the export and other factors. BPA shall address the effect of exports of resources by a customer purchasing power under a contract pursuant to section 5(c), section 5(d)(1), or section 5(f) of the Northwest Power Act on a case-by-case basis.

D. Subscription 9(c) Study

BPA will perform a Subscription 9(c) Study. The study will provide part of the factual basis for determining whether an export of a resource during the period from October 1, 2001, through September 30, 2006, is likely to result in an increase in the firm energy requirements of BPA customers, and if so, whether the resource could be otherwise retained to serve regional loads.

Responsible Official: Mr. Sydney Berwager, Subscription Policy Manager, is the official responsible for the development of the final policy for addressing issues under section 5(b) of the Northwest Power Act regarding the amount of Federal power a customer may purchase under BPA subscription power sales contracts, and the Section 9(c) Policy which modifies the 1994 NFP Section 9(c) Policy.

Issued in Portland, Oregon, on February 22, 2000.

Administrator and Chief Executive Officer.

Colorado Interstate Gas Company, Colorado Springs Utilities, Public Service Company of Colorado, and Cheyenne Light, Fuel and Power Company v. Amoco Production Company, Antares Oil Corporation/Oxford Consolidated, Inc., Atlantic Richfield Company, Banks Oil Company, Beymer and Beymer, Inc., Calvin Exploration, Inc., Colony Energy Corporation, Edwin L. & Berry R. Cox, Ensource Inc., W.L. Hartman, W.L. Hartman Trust, Inter-American Energy Corp., K&E Drilling Company, Inc., Kimbark Oil & Gas Co., Jay Kornfeld, La Jolla Properties, Inc., R.W. Thornbrough, Union Pacific Resources Company (formerly Champlin Petroleum Company), Walter Kuhn Drilling Company, White & Johnson, L.L.P., Edgar J. White, and Woods Petroleum Corporation; Notice of Complaint

March 10, 2000.

Take notice that on March 8, 2000, Colorado Interstate Gas Company, Colorado Springs Utilities, Public Service Company of Colorado, and Cheyenne Light, Fuel, and Power Company (collectively Complainants) filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (Commission) a complaint against Amoco Production Company, et al. (Amoco et al.) pursuant to 18 CFR 385.206. According to Complainants, Amoco et al. were operators of natural gas wells to whom CIG paid reimbursements of the Kansas ad valorem tax after October 4, 1983, a tax that the Commission and the United States Court of Appeals have held not to be an eligible add-on under Section 110 of the Natural Gas Policy Act. Complainants allege that Amoco et al. have not complied with Commission orders requiring Amoco et al. to furnish CIG with working interest owner data necessary to allow CIG to prepare invoices for refunds of the Kansas ad valorem tax. Some of the operators that comprise Amoco et al. have provided no working interest owner data at all; others have provided only partial data. According to Complainants, efforts by the Commission and efforts by CIG have failed to prompt Amoco et al. to provide the necessary data. According to Complainants, the lack of the needed data has severely hindered CIG's ability to recover and flow back to its former sales customers the illegal collections.

Complainants ask the Commission to use whatever enforcement tools are available to the Commission to ensure that Amoco et al. provide CIG with the necessary data. These tools include holding non-complying operators responsible for the full amount of the refund as reflected in CIG's November 1997 Statement of Refunds Due in Docket No. RP98-54.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest this filing should file a motion to intervene or protest with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 888 First Street, NE, Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with Rules 211 and 214 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 385.211 and 385.214). All such motions or protests must be filed on or before March 28, 2000. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a motion to intervene. Copies of this filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection in the Public Reference Room. This filing may also be viewed on the Internet at <http://www.ferc.fed.us/online/rims.htm> (call 202-208-2222) for assistance. Answers to the complaint shall also be due on or before March 28, 2000.

James River II, Inc.; Notice Terminating Proceedings

March 10, 2000.

The above-captioned dockets involve licensing proceedings for the Glines Canyon Project No. 588 and the Elwha Project No. 2683, located on or near the Olympic National Park in Washington State. The Elwha River Ecosystem and Fisheries Restoration Act, Pub. L. No. 102-495, 106 Stat. 3173 (1992), removed the Commission's jurisdiction to process the applications in these dockets, but left a residual jurisdiction to preserve the status quo. Pursuant to appropriations legislation enacted by Congress in 1999, and a statutory warranty deed dated February 29, 2000, title to the two projects has been transferred to the U.S. Department of the Interior, which now owns and manages the projects. Accordingly, the Commission's jurisdiction over these projects having been fully extinguished, the above-captioned dockets are closed and the proceedings therein are terminated.

Regional Commission, Federal Housing Finance Board, General Services Administration, and Small Business Administration.

DATES: Submit Statements of Interest on or before April 17, 2000. All proposals must be postmarked or sent to EPA via registered or tracked mail by the deadline cited above.

Universal Resource Location address of "http://www.epa.gov/brownfields." Persons lacking Internet access can communicate with the contact persons listed above.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Brownfields are abandoned, idled or underused industrial and commercial properties where expansion or redevelopment is complicated by real or perceived contamination. The Brownfields Initiative was launched to empower States, communities, Tribes, and other stakeholders in economic redevelopment to work together to prevent, assess, clean up, and sustainably reuse brownfields. Communities have asked for more interaction among all levels of government, the private sector, and non-governmental organizations. In response, Federal agencies have joined together to strengthen and improve their collaborative efforts to clean up and reuse contaminated property.

A partnership of Federal agencies with interests in brownfields redevelopment has been formed to offer special technical, financial and other assistance to selected communities. These communities are called Brownfields Showcases Communities and are models demonstrating the benefits of focused attention on brownfields. To date, the Federal partners have designated 16 Brownfields Showcase Communities. The Federal partners plan to designate ten additional Brownfields Showcase Communities, distributed across the country, varying by size, resources and community background.

Goals

The goals of the Brownfields Showcase Communities project are to:

- Promote environmental protection, restoration to the land, air and water, economic redevelopment, job creation, community revitalization, greenspace development, energy efficiency and public health protection, through the assessment, cleanup, and sustainable reuse of brownfields;
- Link Federal, State, tribal, and local public, private and non-governmental action supporting community efforts to restore and reuse brownfields; and
- Develop national models demonstrating the positive results of public, private and non-governmental collaboration in addressing brownfields challenges.

The Federal partners intend to select a broad array of Showcase Communities that will serve as models for other communities across the nation. The Federal partners seek proposals that link brownfields activities with other community empowerment, sustainable development and community livability efforts. Special consideration will be given to Federal Empowerment Zones and Enterprise Communities (EZ/ECs), communities with populations of under 100,000, Federally recognized Indian tribes and Base Realignment and Closure communities seeking early transfer of property. The Federal partners will also look for opportunities to link brownfields cleanup with related air and water quality efforts.

Benefits

A community will receive the following benefits from being designated as a Brownfields Showcase Community:

- National visibility for a community's brownfields efforts;
- Coordinated delivery of technical and financial support from participating Federal agencies. Participating agencies and programs will vary for each Showcase Community depending upon the particular Showcase's needs and plans. For example, an urban Showcase Community might be served by different programs and resources than a rural community;
- Financial assistance, grants and cooperative agreements from participating agency programs subject to the requirements of those programs and the availability of funds; and
- Staff support in the form of a Federal employee assigned to each Showcase Community to assist with coordination and implementation activities.

Structure of the Statement of Interest

To be considered for selection as a Brownfields Showcase Community, interested communities should submit a Statement of Interest that includes the following information:

- Project title;
- Location: city, county, and state or reservation, tribally-owned lands, etc., of the Showcase area;
- Project contact, organization, phone, fax and e-mail address;
- Name and contact information of the representative of the appropriate governmental subdivision (Mayor, County Executive, Tribal President) if different from the project director;
- Date submitted: the date when the proposal is postmarked or sent to EPA via registered or tracked mail;
- Project Summary: explain how designation as a Brownfields Showcase Community will help the community meet its objectives and the goals of the

Brownfields Showcase Community project; and

- Related Designations: identify whether the applicant or the area for the proposed Showcase Community project is designated as a Federal or State Brownfields pilot, Federal or State Empowerment Zone, Enterprise Community, Economic Development Administration designated Economic Development District or other special economic area.

Statements of Interest are limited to two pages. Supplemental materials such as appendices, maps, records, etc., will not be considered during the initial screening phase of the selection process. All communities, or regional groupings of communities, are eligible for consideration as a Brownfields Showcase Community. Previous designation as an EPA brownfields pilot is not a requirement for consideration, nor are such communities precluded from applying. Statements of Interest will be accepted from any party, but must be submitted in partnership with a governmental entity to be eligible for consideration.

Selection Process

Selection of the Brownfields Showcase Communities will be done in two phases. During Phase I, interested communities are invited to submit two-page Statements of Interest which describe how the community's designation as a Showcase Community will advance the goals of the Showcase Communities project as described above. For example:

- A community with well-defined brownfields problems that can be addressed effectively through environmental cleanup and sustainable reuse is more likely to be considered as a candidate community than a community that suspects that there are brownfields problems in their jurisdiction that may require attention.
- A community with an established network of working relationships among Federal, State, and local governments, and other public and private stakeholders is more likely to be considered as a candidate community than a community which is just beginning to create these types of relationships;
- A community that has begun preliminary work such as cleanup and redevelopment planning, securing private investors, and exploring public financial opportunities is more likely to be considered as a candidate community than a community that has just started to address its brownfields issues. Within two years after designation, a Brownfields Showcase

Community should be able to demonstrate success in dealing with cleanup and reuse issues.

The Showcase Communities Selection Board, which represents the participating Federal agencies, will evaluate the Statements of Interest. It will screen the applications to create a list of about 25 candidate communities which will then be invited to move into Phase II of the selection process.

During Phase II, the candidate communities will be invited to submit more detailed proposals which more fully describe their brownfields efforts. At that stage, communities will be encouraged to submit supporting materials which demonstrate the breadth of support for their application within the community. The Showcase Communities Selection Board will then evaluate and select the ten Brownfields Showcase Communities, using the detailed criteria listed below.

1. BROWNFIELDS POTENTIAL:

Describe the brownfields that exist, or are perceived to exist, in the community. Discuss the potential for environmental restoration and the type of reuse anticipated in the near-term.

2. COMMUNITY NEED: Describe how this is an area with social and economic conditions that would benefit from Federal assistance for brownfields cleanup and redevelopment.

3. LOCAL COMMITMENT: Describe the degree of local commitment to brownfields cleanup and redevelopment including existing community efforts and investment of community resources.

4. FEDERAL, STATE, AND LOCAL PARTNERSHIPS: Describe the Federal, State, and local agencies and organizations participating in the community's brownfields activities, including other programs and funds available for brownfields activities.

5. STRATEGIC PLANNING: Describe the community's brownfields plan and how the brownfields plan is linked to broader strategies of economic redevelopment, job creation, increased environmental protection including improved air and water quality, green development, livability and sustainability.

6. MANAGEMENT CAPABILITY: Describe prior experience or knowledge in managing similar redevelopment, cleanup, and community participation activities. Also describe what specific planning and programmatic requirements have been met for Federal financing programs anticipated for use.

7. ENVIRONMENTAL JUSTICE: Describe the extent to which low-income, minority, and other disadvantaged communities will participate in the development of community brownfields redevelopment activities, including this application and the proposed Showcase Community project.

8. NATIONAL REPLICABILITY: Describe how the community will serve as a model for other similarly situated communities in addressing brownfields redevelopment.

Communities that are invited to submit Phase II proposals should respond directly to these criteria in their proposals. Further application requirements and guidelines will be provided to the candidate communities to assist them in preparing their application. Note that in Phase I (the initial Statement of Interest) of the selection process, interested communities should consider the detailed criteria, but do not have to respond to each criterion.

II. Background

A. Purpose of the Meeting?

This 3-day meeting concerns several scientific issues undergoing consideration within the EPA/Office of Pesticide Programs (OPP). The 2 session topics to be addressed during the 3-day meeting are indicated as follows:

The first session will focus on an evaluation of the insect repellent product performance testing guideline. Inconsistencies have developed in product performance testing and labeling of insect repellents. In order to minimize this variance, EPA has developed draft product performance testing guidelines and appropriate label language. This guideline recommends specific methods for conducting product performance testing of insect repellents. As a guideline, it does not impose mandatory requirements. It does, however, reflect the Agency's considered recommendations for minimum steps necessary to develop reliable data on repellent product performance. In addition, the product performance testing guidelines are intended to supercede EPA, Pesticide Assessment Guidelines, Subdivision G: 95-9, "Treatments to control pests of humans and pests" and 95-10, "Mosquito, black fly, nonbiting midge, and biting midge."

A performance standard represents the minimum level of product performance which would normally be acceptable for protecting the public health, when required, or for economic control of a pest or pest combination at a specific site. These guidelines are concerned with product performance testing for evaluation of pesticides used to repel mosquitos, biting flies, fleas, chiggers and ticks from human skin and outdoor premises. EPA intends to use the data form guidelines studies to help determine the adequacy of the labeling of insect repellent products. The label language proposed by the Agency is intended to standardize and improve the information provided by the consumer. The Agency will be asking the Panel's advice on the adequacy of the proposed testing guidelines and protocols for human insect repellants.

The second session will entail a consultation on implementing probabilistic ecological assessments. The purpose of this consultation is to provide the FIFRA SAP with a progress report regarding the EPA/OPP/Environmental Fate and Effect Division's (EFED) initiative to revise the ecological assessment process. Following the recommendations of the May, 1996 FIFRA SAP and building on previous efforts within the Division, EFED began a new initiative in 1997 to revise the ecological assessment process. The main focus on this initiative is to identify, develop, and validate tools and methodologies to conduct probabilistic ecological assessments and improve risk characterization.

A key component of this initiative has been the Ecological Committee on FIFRA Risk Assessment Methods (ECOFRAM), which refers to the workgroups who have been developing recommendations for revising the assessment process. ECOFRAM completed their draft reports in May, which were reviewed by a peer input panel in June, 1999.

Another key component is EFED's Probabilistic Risk Assessment Implementation Team (Implementation Team), which is charged with developing an implementation plan to incorporate probabilistic tools and methods to evaluate the ecological risk from pesticides. They are responsible for the technical evaluation and review of the ECOFRAM reports and workshop comments, which were used as a starting point for developing an approach for implementing changes to the current deterministic assessment process.

Thus, EFED will provide the Panel with an update regarding the progress of this initiative and seeks the Panel's comments and recommendations. EFED's presentation will include a summary of the ECOFRAM draft reports, the peer input panel comments, and an overview of the conceptual risk assessment model being proposed by the Implementation Team. This model is based on a tiered approach for implementing aquatic and terrestrial probabilistic assessments in OPP.

B. Panel Report

Copies of the Panel's report of their recommendations will be available approximately 45 working days after the meeting, and will be posted on the FIFRA SAP web site or may be obtained by contacting the Public Information and Records Integrity Branch at the address or telephone number listed in Unit III. of this document.

EPA has received a pesticide petition as follows proposing the establishment and/or amendment of regulations for residues of certain pesticide chemical in or on various food commodities under section 408 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FFDCA), 21 U.S.C. 346a. EPA has determined that this petition contains data or information regarding the elements set forth in section 408(d)(2); however, EPA has not fully evaluated the sufficiency of the submitted data at this time or whether the data supports granting of the petition. Additional data may be needed before EPA rules on the petition.

List of Subjects

Environmental protection, Agricultural commodities, Feed additives, Food additives, Pesticides and pests, Reporting and recordkeeping requirements.

James Jones,

Director, Registration Division, Office of Pesticide Programs.

Summary of Petition

The petitioner summary of the pesticide petition is printed below as required by section 408(d)(3) of the FFDCA. The summary of the petition was prepared by the petitioner and represents the view of the petitioner. EPA is publishing the petition summary verbatim without editing it in any way. The petition summary announces the availability of a description of the analytical methods available to EPA for the detection and measurement of the pesticide chemical residues or an explanation of why no such method is needed.

EPA has received a pesticide petition (8E4957) from Rohm and Haas Company, 100 Independence Mall West, Philadelphia, PA 19106-2399 proposing, pursuant to section 408(d) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FFDCA), 21 U.S.C. 346a(d), to amend 40 CFR part 180.1001(c) and (e) to establish an exemption from the requirement of a tolerance for butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer when used in accordance with good agricultural practices as an inert ingredient in pesticide formulations applied to growing crops in or on the raw agricultural commodity (RAC) after harvest or to animals. EPA has determined that the petition contains data or information regarding the elements set forth in section 408(d)(2) of the FFDCA; however, EPA has not fully evaluated the sufficiency of the submitted data at this time or whether the data supports granting of the petition. Additional data may be needed before EPA rules on the petition.

A. Residue Chemistry

Analytical method. Rohm and Haas is petitioning that butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer be exempt from the requirement of a tolerance based upon the low risk polymer as per 40 CFR 723.250. Therefore, an analytical method to determine residues of butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer in RACs has not been proposed.

B. Toxicological Profile

Acute toxicity. In the case of certain chemical substances that are defined as "polymers," the Agency has established a set of criteria which identifies categories of polymers that present low risk. These criteria (described in 40 CFR 723.250) identify polymers that are relatively unreactive and stable compounds compared to other chemical substances as well as polymers that typically are not readily absorbed. These properties generally limit a polymer's ability to cause adverse effects. In addition, these criteria exclude polymers about which little is known. The Agency believes that polymers meeting the criteria noted above will present minimal or no risk. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer conforms to the definition of a polymer given in 40 CFR 723.250(b) and meets the following criteria that are used to identify low risk polymers.

1. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer is not a cationic polymer, nor is it capable of becoming a cationic polymer in the natural aquatic environment.

2. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer contains as an integral part of its composition the atomic elements carbon, hydrogen, oxygen and less than 0.10% sulfur.

3. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer does not contain as an integral part of its composition, except as impurities, any element other than those listed in 40 CFR 723.250 (d)(2)(iii).

4. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer is not designed, nor is it reasonably anticipated to substantially degrade, decompose or depolymerize.

5. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer is not manufactured or imported from monomers and/or other reactants that are not already included on the TSCA Chemical Substance Inventory or manufactured under an applicable TSCA section 5 exemption.

6. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer is not a water absorbing polymer with a number average molecular weight greater than or equal to 10,000 daltons.

7. The minimum number average molecular weight of butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer is 18,500 daltons. Substances with molecular weights greater than 400 generally are not absorbed through the intact skin, and substances with molecular weights greater than 1,000 generally are not absorbed through the intact gastrointestinal (GI) tract. Chemicals not absorbed through the skin or GI tract generally are incapable of eliciting a toxic response.

8. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer has a minimum number average molecular weight of 18,500 and contains less than 2% oligomeric material below molecular weight 500 and less than 5% oligomeric material below 1,000 molecular weight.

9. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer does contain aliphatic ester groups as reactive functional groups. However, these reactive groups are not intended or reasonably anticipated to undergo further reactions under usual environmental conditions.

10. In addition, butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer is compliant with the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) regulations under 21 CFR for contact with food as a component in adhesives (21 CFR 175.105), as a component of paper and paperboard in contact with dry foods (21 CFR 176.180) and aqueous and fatty foods (21 CFR 176.170) with limitations as set forth in 21 CFR 176.170(c).

C. Metabolite Toxicology

Endocrine disruption. There is no evidence that butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer is an endocrine disrupter, where as substances with molecular weights greater than 400 generally are not absorbed through the intact skin, and substances with molecular weights greater than 1,000 generally are not absorbed through the intact GI tract. Chemicals not absorbed through the skin or GI tract generally are incapable of eliciting a toxic response.

D. Aggregate Exposure

1. Dietary exposure. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer is not absorbed through the intact GI tract and is considered incapable of eliciting a toxic response.

Drinking water. Based upon the aqueous insolubility of butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer, there is no reason to expect human exposure to residues in drinking water.

2. Non-dietary exposure. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer is widely used in multilayer paper packaging production, as a component in box and packaging sealant, and to a lesser extent in the "casing" found on books for protection. Although there may be exposures to the compound through dietary, non-occupational and most likely not through drinking water, the chemical characteristics of this compound are such that there is reasonable certainty of no harm from aggregate exposure.

E. Cumulative Effects

There are data to support cumulative risk from butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer, since polymers with molecular weights greater than 400 generally are not absorbed through the intact skin, and substances with molecular weights greater than 1,000 generally are not absorbed through the intact GI tract. Chemicals not absorbed through the skin or GI tract generally are incapable of eliciting a toxic response. Therefore, there is no reasonable expectations of increased risk due to cumulative exposure.

F. Safety Determination

1. U.S. population. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer causes no safety concerns because it conforms to the definition of a low risk polymer given in 40 CFR 723.250(b) and as such is considered incapable of eliciting a toxic response. Also, there are no additional pathways of exposure (non-occupational, drinking water, etc.) where there would be additional risk.

2. Infants and children. Butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer causes no additional concern to infants and children because it conforms to the definition of a low risk polymer given in 40 CFR 723.250(b) and as such is considered incapable of eliciting a toxic response. Also there are no additional pathways of exposure (non-occupational, drinking water, etc.) where infants and children would be at additional risk.

G. International Tolerances

We are not aware of any country requiring a tolerance for butyl acrylate/vinyl acetate/acrylic acid copolymer. Nor have there been any CODEX Maximum Residue Levels established for any food crops at this time.

Proposed Project

1. Workplace Exacerbation of Asthma—NEW—The National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health (NIOSH)—Work-related asthma is the most common lung disease seen in occupational health clinics in the United States based on data from the Association of Occupational and Environmental Clinics for 1991-1996. Work-related asthma includes both new onset asthma initiated by workplace exposures and preexisting asthma exacerbated by workplace environments, because in both types of cases repeated exposure to asthmatic agents can lead to chronic pulmonary impairment. Also, the 1985 American Thoracic Society statement "What Constitutes an Adverse Health Effect of Air Pollution" identified exacerbation of asthma as one of the serious effects of environmental air pollution. While anecdotal evidence suggests that as many as one-half of work-related asthma patients treated in occupational medicine clinics had pre-existing asthma that was exacerbated by workplace conditions, there is little data from studies in the United States to support this claim.

This study will investigate the frequency, causes, and consequences of workplace exacerbation of asthma (WEA). Given the diversity of workplace agents and processes associated with asthma, a population-based, rather than industry-based, study is needed to ascertain the full extent of the problem. This will be achieved by surveying adults with asthma. The Specific Aims are: (1) To determine the frequency of workplace exacerbation of asthma. (2) To determine the circumstances at work associated with exacerbation of asthma. (3) To determine the social and economic costs associated with workplace exacerbation of asthma. (4) To determine the sensitivity and specificity of self-reported workplace exacerbation of asthma. (5) To determine whether workplace exacerbation of asthma contributes to progression of disease. The design is a prospective cohort study with a nested validation study. A questionnaire will be completed in the baseline study to address Specific Aims 1-3. Also, patient care records will be used to ascertain cost of asthma care for each participant (Specific Aim 3). A subset of employed subjects with and without workplace exacerbation will be requested to conduct serial spirometry, and the findings will serve as the "gold standard" to determine the sensitivity and specificity of a self-report of workplace exacerbation of asthma (Specific Aim 4). All subjects from the baseline study will be asked to complete a follow-up questionnaire approximately two years later to investigate whether workplace exacerbation at baseline predicts an increase in asthma severity (Specific Aim 5).

The data collected in this study will be used to further current understanding of the frequency of workplace-exacerbated asthma, the social and economic impacts of this problem, and the implication of a report of WEA for subsequent asthma severity. This information can be used to prioritize resources for addressing this problem. The data collected in this study will also identify which jobs and exposures are likely to exacerbate existing asthma, thus providing guidance on where to focus preventive efforts. The data collected in this study on the validity of a self-report of WEA will be useful to both clinicians and researchers who attempt to treat or study individuals with this problem.

Based on an average hourly wage of $15 among all occupational groups combined, the total cost to respondents is $37,500.

Respondents (adults with asthma)	Number of respondents	Number of responses/respondent	Avg. burden per response (in hrs.)	Total burden (in hrs.)
Baseline Study	800	1	0.5	400
Validation Study	240	1	7.5	1800
Follow-up Study	600	1	0.5	300
Total				2500

2. Jail STD Prevalence Monitoring System—New—National Center for HIV, STD, and TB Prevention (NCHSTP)—Proposes a 3-year clearance for data collection of the standardized record layout for the Jail STD Prevalence Monitoring System. This system consists of test data compiled for persons entering corrections facilities. The standard data elements were created in response to the need to systematically assess morbidity in persons entering corrections facilities who are at high risk for STDs and who often do not seek medical care in mainstream medical settings. Use of these standard data elements will improve surveillance of STDs by allowing for systematic assessment of a high risk population, taking advantage of already computerized data. States that compile data from corrections facilities are encouraged to participate in the system.

In most places, STD test results for persons in corrections facilities are computerized by the laboratory or by the health department. The burden of compiling data in the standardized format involves running a computer program to convert the data to the specified format. This involves an initial investment of time by a programmer but afterwards involves only running the program once a quarter (average of 3 hours/quarter). Therefore, the respondent burden is approximately 12 hours/year.

If a respondent does not already have computerized test results for persons in corrections facilities and must enter the data, the burden of data entry is approximately 1.5 minute per record, and on average respondent enter approximately 1250 records per quarter for a total burden of 1500 minutes/quarter (31 hours/quarter). During the next 3 years, we expect approximately 20 project areas per year to participate. Approximately 15 will have already computerized data for a burden of 180 hours (15×12hrs) per year and five will enter data for a burden of 620 hours (5×124 hrs) per year. The total burden to respondents is approximately 800 hours per year.

Total estimated cost to respondents is $13,800 per year. This is calculated by the above burden of 180 hours of computer programming time at $25/hr (180×0A$25=$4,500) plus 620 hours of data entry time at $15/hr (620×0A$15=$9,300) for a total of $13,800. The estimated cost to the Federal Government is $55,000 per year which includes the cost of staff time in providing technical assistance, managing and analyzing data, and preparing reports.

Respondents	Number of respondents	Number of responses/respondent	Average burden per response (in hrs.)	Total burden
State/local health departments.	Up to 65 STD project areas.	4 datasets/yr (approx 5000 total records).	3 hrs/dataset (if data entry needed, 31 hrs per dataset).	12 hrs/yr (if data entry needed, 124 hours/yr).

3. AIDS Prevention and Surveillance Project Reports, 0920–0208. The National Center for HIV, STD, and TB Prevention (NCHSTP)—proposes to continue data collection for the AIDS Prevention and Surveillance Project Reports, previously approved under OMB No. 0920–0208. This request is for a 3-year extension of clearance.

CDC funds cooperative agreements for 65 HIV Prevention Projects (50 states, 6 cities, 7 territories, Washington, D.C., and Puerto Rico). The cooperative agreements support counseling, testing, referral, and partner notification programs conducted by official public health agencies of states, territories, and localities (project areas). HIV counseling and testing in STD clinics, Women's Health Centers, Drug Treatment Centers, and other health agencies has been described as a primary prevention strategy of the national HIV Prevention Program. These project areas have increased HIV counseling and testing activities to specifically reach more minorities and women of child bearing age.

CDC is responsible for monitoring and evaluating HIV prevention activities conducted under the cooperative agreement. Counseling and testing programs are a major component of the HIV Prevention Program. Without data to measure the impact of counseling and testing programs, priorities cannot be assessed and redirected to prevent further spread of the virus in the general population. CDC needs information from all project areas on the number of at-risk persons tested and the number positive for HIV. The HIV Counseling and Testing Report Form provides a simple yet complete means to collect this information.

Respondents will be able to use either a manual or an electronic scan form. Seventeen respondents (project areas) will use the manual data collection tool. It takes approximately 2 hours to complete the form. The respondents will complete the form 4 times each year for a total burden of 8 hours per year per project area. Forty-eight (48) respondents (project areas) will use the scan form or client record format. It will take approximately 15 minutes for each project area to transfer data electronically on a quarterly basis for a total burden per project area of 1 hour per year. Therefore, the total burden hours for collecting this data will be 184 hours.

CDC will support costs to respondents for data collection and analysis in areas using the manual and scan form out of funds budgeted for these purposes. CDC will spend an estimated 650 hours entering, uploading, and analyzing the data. Using an estimated cost of $40 per hour, this cost would be $26,000 annually (650 hours ×$40). Using an estimated cost of $30.00 per hour, the total burden to the manual form respondent will be $240 annually (8 hours ×$30). ($4,080 total) Using an estimated cost of $30.00 per hour, the total burden to the scan form respondent will be $120 annually (4 hours ×$30) ($5,760 total).

The total cost to the Federal government will be approximately $26,000/year. The total cost to respondents will be approximately $9,840/year. The total burden hours are expected to be 184 burden hours per year.

Food and Drug Administration

[Docket No. 98N-0222]

Decision in Washington Legal Foundation v. Henney

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: In the Federal Register of August 12, 1999 (64 FR 44025), the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) published in its entirety an order entitled "Final Amended Order Granting Summary Judgment and Permanent Injunction." The order was entered by the United States District Court for the District of Columbia in Washington Legal Foundation v. Henney, 56 F. Supp. 2d 81 (1999). The Court of Appeals subsequently vacated the district court decision and injunction (and earlier decisions and injunctions) insofar as they declared unconstitutional (1) Statutory provisions concerning the dissemination by manufacturers of certain written materials concerning new uses of approved products (21 U.S.C. 360aaa et seq.), and (2) an FDA guidance document concerning certain industry-supported scientific and educational activities known generally as industry-supported continuing medical education or "CME." Washington Legal Foundation v. Henney, No. 99-5304, 2000 WL 122099, slip op. (D.C. Cir. Feb. 11, 2000). Consequently, these statutory provisions now constitute a "safe harbor" for manufacturers that comply with them; the CME guidance document details how the agency intends to exercise its enforcement discretion. FDA, consistent with its longstanding interpretation of the laws it administers, may proceed, in the context of case-by-case enforcement, to determine from a manufacturer's written materials and activities how it intends that its products be used. The Court of Appeals also recognized that the agency brings an enforcement action, a manufacturer may raise a First Amendment defense.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act of 1938 (FDCA), as amended, generally prohibits the manufacturer of a new drug or medical device¹ from distributing a product in interstate commerce for any intended use that FDA has not approved as safe and effective. The intended use or uses of a drug or device may be set forth in, among other things, its label or "labeling," which includes written, printed, or graphic matter affixed to or "accompanying" the product. See 21 U.S.C. 321(m); 21 CFR 202.1(l)(2); see also 21 CFR 201.128, 801.4. The intended use or uses of a drug or device may also be determined from advertisements, promotional material, oral statements by the product's manufacturer or its representatives, and any other relevant source. Action on Smoking and Health v. Harris, 655 F.2d 236, 239 (D.C. Cir. 1980); see also 21 CFR 201.128 and 801.4.

When FDA approves a drug or medical device, the agency approves the product for each use set out in the product's approved labeling. A use that FDA approves is thus sometimes referred to as an "approved" or "labeled" use. A use that does not appear in the labeling is not approved as safe and effective by FDA and is known as an "unapproved" or "off-label" use. In this notice, such a use is referred to as a "new use."

A central feature of the FDCA is that it generally prohibits interstate commerce in new drugs and devices for "new uses." In particular, the statute provides that "[n]o person shall introduce or deliver for introduction into interstate commerce any new drug, unless an approval of an application filed pursuant to [21 U.S.C. § 355(b) or (j)] is effective with respect to such drug." 21 U.S.C. 355(a); see 21 U.S.C. 331(d). Such an application must identify the particular use or uses to which the new drug will be put, and an approval of such an application for interstate distribution can become effective only with respect to such use(s). See 21 U.S.C. 355(b), (d), (j). Thus, an approved new drug that is marketed for a "new use" becomes an unapproved new drug with respect to that use.

An approved new drug that is marketed for a "new use" is also "misbranded" under the FDCA, because the labeling of such a drug would not include "adequate directions for use." 21 U.S.C. 352(f); see *United States v. Articles of Drug * * * Rucker Pharmacal Co.*, 625 F.2d 665, 673 (5th Cir. 1980). Similarly, a medical device that is distributed for a "new use" is "adulterated," see 21 U.S.C. 351(f), and "misbranded," see 21 U.S.C. 352(f). An adulterated or misbranded product is prohibited from distribution in interstate commerce (21 U.S.C. 331(a), (k)), as is a drug that is marketed for a "new use" (21 U.S.C. 331(d)).

An approved new drug that is marketed for a "new use" may be seized (because it is an unapproved new drug with respect to that use), as may an adulterated or misbranded new drug or device (21 U.S.C. 334), and the government may seek an injunction against, or criminal prosecution of, those responsible for introducing such a product into commerce (21 U.S.C. 332, 333).

Section 401 of the Food and Drug Administration Modernization Act of 1997 (FDAMA or section 401), 21 U.S.C. 360aaa et seq., amended the FDCA. It describes certain conditions under which a drug or device manufacturer may choose to disseminate to physicians and other health care practitioners certain written materials discussing a "new use" of its product. If those conditions are met, the government may not use that dissemination as evidence of the manufacturer's intent that its product be used for a new use. See 21 U.S.C. 360aaa-6(b). If section 401 did not exist, the government could use such dissemination as evidence in establishing a manufacturer's illegal distribution of a new drug or device for a "new use," and in establishing that the product is misbranded or, in the case of a device, adulterated as well as misbranded.

Prior to FDAMA, FDA articulated its policy concerning the promotion of "new uses" in three guidance documents. FDAMA and its implementing regulations superseded the two guidance documents that addressed the dissemination of written "new use" information (reprints and reference texts) by drug and medical device manufacturers. See 61 FR 52800-52801 (October 8, 1996). FDAMA does not affect the third guidance document (the CME guidance document), which identifies 12 factors that the agency will consider in determining whether a manufacturer, through its support of scientific and educational activities, evidenced a "new use" of its drugs or devices. See 62 FR 64093-64100 (December 3, 1997).

Washington Legal Foundation presented a First Amendment challenge to section 401 and the three guidance documents. The district court issued orders declaring FDAMA, its implementing regulations, and the guidance documents unconstitutional. Among other things, the district court, with a number of qualifications, enjoined FDA from "in any way * * * limit[ing] any pharmaceutical or medical device manufacturer" from "disseminating" specified journal articles or medical texts and from "suggesting content or speakers" to an "independent program provider" in connection with a seminar or symposium funded by the manufacturer. See Washington Legal Foundation v. Henney, 56 F. Supp. 2d 81, 88-89 (D.D.C. 1999); Washington Legal Foundation v. Friedman, 36 F.

Supp. 2d 16, 18-19 (D.D.C. 1999); Washington Legal Foundation v. Friedman, 13 F. Supp. 2d 51, 74-75 (D.D.C. 1998).

On February 11, 2000, the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit vacated the district court's decisions and injunctions insofar as they declared section 401 and the CME guidance document unconstitutional. See slip op. at 10. (The other two guidance documents, pertaining to the dissemination of certain written materials about "new uses," had been superseded by FDAMA and its implementing regulations and were not at issue in the Court of Appeals.)

The D.C. Circuit's decision was based on its conclusion that there is no case or controversy to provide a basis for WLF's facial First Amendment challenge. In reaching that conclusion, the court relied on the government's interpretation that (1) Section 401 provides a "'safe harbor' ensuring that certain forms of conduct [will] not be used against manufacturers in misbranding and 'intended use' enforcement actions" based on pre-FDAMA enforcement authority (slip op. at 8), discussed above, and (2) neither FDAMA nor the CME Guidance Document "independently authorizes the FDA to prohibit or sanction speech" (id.). Put another way, if a manufacturer follows the provisions of FDAMA and its implementing regulations (21 CFR part 99), including, but not limited to, its provision concerning the submission of a supplemental application for FDA approval of a "new use," FDA may not use the information disseminated by the manufacturer as evidence that the product is intended to be used for a "new use." If a manufacturer proceeds under section 401 and its implementing regulations but does not comply, FDA may seek to enforce compliance through an injunction action under the FDCA to halt a violation of section 301(z). If a manufacturer does not proceed under section 401, that failure does not constitute an independent violation of law.

FDA traditionally has recognized the important public policy reasons to permit industry support for the full exchange of views in scientific and educational discussions, including discussions of "new uses." FDA has distinguished between those activities supported by manufacturers that are nonpromotional and otherwise independent from the substantive influence of the supporting manufacturer and those that are not. Those activities that have been deemed by the agency to be independent from influence by the supporting manufacturer and nonpromotional have not been treated as labeling or advertising, and have not been subjected to the agency's regulatory scrutiny. Under the CME guidance document, FDA does not expect to treat industry-supported CME any differently than it traditionally has done. If a manufacturer does not follow the CME guidance document, that, by itself, is not an independent violation of law. Slip op. at 8.

Plaintiff Washington Legal Foundation (WLF) expressly agreed that FDA may proceed on a case-by-case basis under pre-FDAMA enforcement authority. See e.g., Washington Legal Foundation v. Henney, No. 99-5304, Transcript of Oral Argument, January 10, 2000 (TR.) at 43, 58, 75; see Washington Legal Foundation v. Henney, slip op. at 7, 8, and 9. Nonetheless, WLF urged the D.C. Circuit to reach the merits of the district court's decisions and injunctions on the ground that FDA "will prosecute manufacturers for violating a normative standard" set forth in FDAMA or the CME Guidance Document. Slip op. at 9. The appellate court declined, finding that there was no constitutional controversy between the parties that remained to be resolved and that ruling on the constitutionality of a hypothetical interpretation of the statute would be inappropriate. Id. at 10. In vacating the district court's decisions and injunctions insofar as they declared FDAMA and the CME Guidance Document unconstitutional, the D.C. Circuit noted that a manufacturer may, of course, argue that FDA's use of the manufacturer's promotion of a "new use" as evidence in a particular enforcement action violates the First Amendment. Slip op. at 9, n. 6.

In sum, then, FDAMA and its implementing regulations constitute a "safe harbor" for a manufacturer that complies with them before and while disseminating journal articles and reference texts about "new uses" of approved products. If a manufacturer does not comply, FDA may bring an enforcement action under the FDCA, and seek to use journal articles and reference texts disseminated by the manufacturer as evidence that an approved product is intended for a "new use." Manufacturers that support CME may wish to become familiar with the CME guidance document, which details the factors FDA intends to take into account in exercising its enforcement discretion in relation to industry-supported scientific and educational activities. The CME guidance document, however, does not itself have the force and effect of law.

Study Regarding Shortages of Licensed Pharmacists

AGENCY: Health Resources and Services Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The "Healthcare Research and Quality Act of 1999", enacted on December 6, 1999, requires the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to "conduct a study to determine whether and to what extent there is a shortage of licensed pharmacists." The Department will include in this study a summary of comments from interested public and private entities. The Department invites all interested public and private entities to submit comments on specific issues, including data and studies supporting their comments.

DATES: Comments must be submitted by May 1, 2000.

ADDRESSES: Address all comments concerning this notice to Vincent C. Rogers, D.D.S., M.P.H., Associate Administrator, Bureau of Health Professions, Health Resources and Services Administration, Room 8-05, Parklawn Building, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Maryland 20857.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On December 6, 1999, Congress enacted the Healthcare Research and Quality Act of 1999, Pub. L. 106-129, to amend title IX of the Public Health Service Act by revising and extending the Agency for Healthcare Policy and Research (now referred to as the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality). Section 5 of Pub. L. 106-129 requires the Secretary of Health and Human Services (HHS), through the appropriate agencies of the Public Health Service, to conduct a study "to determine whether and to what extent there is a shortage of licensed pharmacists" and to report back to Congress in one year after the date of enactment of the Act on its findings.

A number of associations, such as the National Association of Chain Drug Stores, have been voicing concerns that a shortage of pharmacists in some areas of the country might create a major health crisis. HHS invites comments from public and private sources on the following topics related to pharmacy shortages. Please address your comments by number as indicated below. You need not address all topics.

1. Shortage of pharmacists; for example, vacancy rates for pharmacists' jobs over time, existing documentation of delayed store openings or reduction in store hours, existing documentation of signing bonuses and other hiring incentives, and increases in wages;

2. Difficulties that communities may be experiencing in accessing pharmacy services. HHS is particularly interested in difficulties confronting those in rural or underserved areas, services for the elderly, and other evidence of unmet needs due to a shortage of pharmacists;

3. How pharmacies and employers are addressing a shortage of pharmacists;

4. The use of technicians, and State laws governing ratios of pharmacists to technicians, and limitations on the functions technicians are permitted to perform, and any requirements for technician certification;

5. The impact of the growth of managed care and third-party coverage of prescriptions on pharmacy practice;

6. Problems or adverse events connected with a shortage of pharmacists, e.g., medication errors;

7. The impact a drug benefit for the Medicare population might have on prescription volume and the demand for pharmacists;

8. Uses of automation or technology to assist pharmacists, such as the use of electronic transmission of prescriptions, methods of streamlining dispensing processes, and technologies that may be under development to improve efficiency of pharmacists in their duties;

9. The impact of Internet and mail order pharmacies on the demand for pharmacists; and

10. Existing information on the current pharmacist education process; in particular, applications to pharmacy programs, the impact that the shift to the doctor of pharmacy as the first professional degree may have on pharmacy supply, trends in graduates taking residencies, and students' job preferences.

Publication of the OIG Compliance Program Guidance for Nursing Facilities

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: This Federal Register notice sets forth the recently issued Compliance Program Guidance for Nursing Facilities developed by the Office of Inspector General (OIG). The OIG has previously developed and published compliance program guidance focused on several other areas and aspects of the health care industry. We believe that the development and issuance of this compliance program guidance for nursing facilities will continue to serve as a positive step toward promoting a higher level of ethical and lawful conduct throughout the entire health care industry.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Nicole C. Hall, Office of Counsel to the Inspector General, (202) 619-2078.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

The creation of compliance program guidances is a major initiative of the OIG in its effort to engage the private health care community in combating fraud and abuse. In the last several years, the OIG has developed and issued compliance program guidances directed at the following segments of the health care industry: the hospital industry; home health agencies; clinical laboratories; third-party medical billing companies; the durable medical equipment, prosthetics, orthotics and supply industry; hospices; and Medicare+Choice organizations offering coordinated care plans. The development of these types of compliance program guidances is based on our belief that a health care provider can use internal controls to more efficiently monitor adherence to applicable statutes, regulations and program requirements.

Copies of these compliance program guidances can be found on the OIG web site at <http://www.hhs.gov/oig>.

Developing Compliance Program Guidance for Nursing Facilities

On December 18, 1998, the OIG published a solicitation notice seeking information and recommendations for developing formal guidance for nursing facilities (63 FR 70137). In response to that solicitation notice, the OIG received 16 comments from various outside sources. We carefully considered those comments, as well as previous OIG publications, such as other compliance program guidances and Special Fraud Alerts, in developing a compliance program guidance for nursing facilities. In addition, we have taken into account past and recent fraud investigations conducted by the OIG's Office of Investigations and the Department of Justice, and have consulted with the Health Care Financing Administration. In an effort to ensure that all parties had a reasonable opportunity to provide input into a final product, the draft guidance for nursing facilities was published in the Federal Register on October 29, 1999 (64 FR 58419) for further comments and recommendations.

Elements for an Effective Compliance Program

This compliance guidance for nursing facilities contains seven elements that the OIG has determined to be fundamental to an effective compliance program:

- implementing written policies, procedures and standards of conduct;
- designating a compliance officer and compliance committee;

- conducting effective training and education;
- developing effective lines of communication;
- enforcing standards through well-publicized disciplinary guidelines;
- conducting internal monitoring and auditing; and
- responding promptly to detected offenses and developing corrective action.

These elements are contained in previous guidances issued by the OIG. As with previously-issued guidances, this compliance program guidance represents the OIG's suggestions on how nursing facilities can best establish internal controls and prevent fraudulent activities. The contents of this guidance should not be viewed as mandatory or as an exclusive discussion of the advisable elements of a compliance program; the document is intended to present voluntary guidance to the industry and not represent binding standards for nursing facilities.

Office of Inspector General's Compliance Program Guidance for Nursing Facilities

I. Introduction

The Office of Inspector General (OIG) of the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) continues in its efforts to promote voluntarily implemented compliance programs for the health care industry.¹ This compliance guidance is intended to assist nursing facilities² develop and implement internal controls and procedures that promote adherence to applicable statutes and regulations of the Federal health care programs³ and private insurance

³ The term "Federal health care programs" includes any plan or program that provides health benefits, whether directly, through insurance, or otherwise, which is funded directly, in whole or in part, by the United States Government (i.e., via programs such as Medicare, Federal Employees Health Benefits Act, Federal Employees' Compensation Act, Black Lung, or the Longshore and Harbor Worker's Compensation Act) or any State health plan (e.g., Medicaid, or a program receiving funds from block grants for social services program requirements. Compliance programs strengthen Government efforts to prevent and reduce fraud and abuse, as well as further the mission of all nursing facilities to provide quality care to their residents.

Through this document, the OIG provides its views on the fundamental elements of nursing facility compliance programs, as well as the principles that each nursing facility should consider when developing and implementing an effective compliance program. While this document presents basic procedural and structural guidance for designing a compliance program, it is not in and of itself a compliance program. Rather, it is a set of guidelines that nursing facilities should consider when developing and implementing a compliance program. For those nursing facilities that have an existing program or are already in the process of implementing a compliance program, these guidelines may serve as a benchmark against which to measure their ongoing efforts.

Implementing an effective compliance program in a nursing facility may require a significant commitment of time and resources by all parts of the organization. However, superficial efforts or programs that are hastily constructed and implemented without a long term commitment to a culture of compliance likely will be ineffective and may expose the nursing facility to greater liability than if it had no program at all.⁴ Although an effective compliance program may require a reallocation of existing resources, the long term benefits of establishing a compliance program significantly outweigh the initial costs. In short, compliance measures are an investment that advance the goals of the nursing facility, the solvency of the Federal health care programs, and the quality of care provided to the nursing home resident.

In a continuing effort to collaborate closely with health care providers and the private sector, the OIG placed a notice in the Federal Register soliciting comments and recommendations on what should be included in this compliance program guidance.⁵ In or child health services). See 42 U.S.C. 1320a-7b(f). In this document, the term "Federal health care program requirements" refers to the statutes, regulations and other written directives governing Medicare, Medicaid, and all other Federal health care programs.

in addition to considering these comments in drafting this guidance, we reviewed previous OIG publications, including OIG Special Fraud Alerts and OIG Medicare Advisory Bulletins, as well as reports issued by OIG's Office of Audit Services (OAS) and Office of Evaluation and Inspections (OEI) affecting the nursing home industry.⁶ In addition, we relied on the experience gained from fraud investigations of nursing home operators conducted by OIG's Office of Investigations, the Department of Justice, and the Medicaid Fraud Control Units.

A. Benefits of a Compliance Program

The OIG believes a comprehensive compliance program provides a mechanism that brings the public and private sectors together to reach mutual goals of reducing fraud and abuse, enhancing operational functions, improving the quality of health care services, and decreasing the cost of health care. Attaining these goals provides positive results to the nursing facility, the Government, and individual citizens alike. In addition to fulfilling its legal duty to ensure that it is not submitting false or inaccurate claims to Government and private payors, a nursing facility may gain numerous other benefits by voluntarily implementing a compliance program. The benefits may include:

- the formulation of effective internal controls to ensure compliance with statutes, regulations and rules;
- a concrete demonstration to employees and the community at large of the nursing facility's commitment to responsible corporate conduct;
- the ability to obtain an accurate assessment of employee and contractor behavior;
- an increased likelihood of identifying and preventing unlawful and unethical behavior;
- the ability to quickly react to employees' operational compliance concerns and effectively target resources to address those concerns;
- an improvement in the quality, efficiency, and consistency of providing services; for Developing OIG Compliance Program Guidance for the Nursing Home Industry.

⁶ The OIG periodically issues advisory opinions responding to specific inquiries concerning the application of the OIG's authorities and Special Fraud Alerts, setting forth activities that raise legal and enforcement issues. These documents, as well as reports from OAS and OEI can be obtained on the Internet at: <http://www.hhs.gov/oig>. We also recommend that nursing home providers regularly review the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) website on the Internet at: <http://www.hcfa.gov>, for up-to-date regulations, manuals, and program memoranda related to the Medicare and Medicaid programs.

- a mechanism to encourage employees to report potential problems and allow for appropriate internal inquiry and corrective action;
- a centralized source for distributing information on health care statutes, regulations and other program directives;⁷
- a mechanism to improve internal communications;
- procedures that allow prompt and thorough investigation of alleged misconduct; and
- through early detection and reporting, minimizing loss to the Government from false claims, and thereby reducing the nursing facility's exposure to civil damages and penalties, criminal sanctions, and administrative remedies.⁸

The OIG recognizes that the implementation of a compliance program may not entirely eliminate fraud and abuse from the operations of a nursing facility. However, a sincere effort by the nursing facility to comply with applicable statutes and regulations as well as Government and private payer health care program requirements, through the establishment of a compliance program, significantly reduces the risk of unlawful or improper conduct.

B. Application of Compliance Program Guidance

Given the diversity within the long term care industry, there is no single "best" nursing facility compliance program. The OIG recognizes the complexities of this industry and is sensitive to the differences among large national chains, regional multi-facility operators, and small independent homes. However, the elements of this guidance can be used by all nursing facilities to establish a compliance program, regardless of size (in terms of employees and gross revenues), number of locations, or corporate structure.

⁷ Counsel to the nursing facility should be consulted as appropriate regarding interpretation and legal analysis of laws related to the Federal health care programs and laws related to fraud, abuse and other legal requirements.

Similarly, a corporation that provides long term care as part of an integrated health care delivery system may incorporate these elements into its structure.⁹

We recognize that some nursing facilities may not be able to adopt certain elements to the same degree as others with more extensive resources. At the end of several sections of this document, the OIG has offered suggestions to assist these smaller nursing facility providers in implementing the principles expressed in this guidance. Regardless of size, structure or available resources, the OIG recommends that every nursing facility should strive to accomplish the objectives and principles underlying all of the compliance policies and procedures in this guidance.

By no means should the contents of this guidance be viewed as an exclusive or complete discussion of the advisable elements of a compliance program. On the contrary, the OIG strongly encourages nursing facilities to develop and implement compliance elements that uniquely address the areas of potential problems, common concerns, or high risk areas that apply to their own facilities. Furthermore, this guidance may be modified and expanded as more information and knowledge is obtained by the OIG, and as changes occur in the statutes, regulations and rules of the Federal health care programs and private health plans. New compliance practices also may be incorporated into this guidance if the OIG discovers enhancements that promote effective compliance.

II. Compliance Program Elements

A. The Seven Basic Compliance Elements

The OIG believes that every effective compliance program must begin with a formal commitment¹⁰ by the nursing facility's governing body to address all of the applicable elements listed below, which are based on the seven steps of the Federal Sentencing Guidelines.¹¹

⁹For example, this would include providers that own hospitals, skilled nursing facilities, long term care facilities and hospices.

¹⁰A formal commitment may include a resolution by the board of directors, owner(s), or president, where applicable. Evidence of that commitment should include the allocation of adequate resources, a timetable, and the identification of an individual to serve as a compliance officer or coordinator to ensure that each of the recommended and adopted elements is addressed. Once a commitment has been established, a compliance officer should immediately be chosen to oversee the implementation and ongoing operation of the compliance program.

¹¹See United States Sentencing Commission Guidelines, Guidelines Manual, 8A1.2, Application

The OIG recognizes that full implementation of all elements may not be immediately feasible for all nursing facilities. However, as a first step, a good faith and meaningful commitment on the part of nursing facility management will substantially contribute to the program's successful implementation. As the compliance program is effectuated, that commitment should cascade down through management to every employee and contractor of the nursing facility.

At a minimum, a comprehensive compliance program should include the following seven elements:

(1) The development and distribution of written standards of conduct, as well as written policies, procedures and protocols that promote the nursing facility's commitment to compliance (e.g., including adherence to the compliance program as an element in evaluating managers and employees) and address specific areas of potential fraud and abuse, such as claims development and submission processes, quality of care issues, and financial arrangements with physicians and outside contractors;

(2) The designation of a compliance officer and other appropriate bodies (e.g., a corporate compliance committee) charged with the responsibility for developing, operating and monitoring the compliance program, and who reports directly to the owner(s), governing body and/or CEO;¹²

(3) The development and implementation of regular, effective education and training programs for all affected employees;¹³

(4) The creation and maintenance of an effective line of communication between the compliance officer and all employees, including a process, such as a hotline or other reporting system, to receive complaints, and the adoption of procedures to protect the anonymity of complainants and to protect whistle blowers from retaliation;

Note 3(k). The Federal Sentencing Guidelines are detailed policies and practices for the Federal criminal justice system that prescribe the appropriate sanctions for offenders convicted of Federal crimes.

¹²The roles of the compliance officer and the corporate compliance committee in implementing an effective compliance program are discussed throughout this guidance. However, the OIG recognizes that differences in the sizes and structures of nursing facilities may result in differences in the ways in which compliance programs function.

¹³Training and educational programs for nursing facilities should be detailed, comprehensive and at the same time targeted to address the needs of specific employees based on their responsibilities within the facility. Existing in-service training programs can be expanded to address general compliance issues, as well as the risk areas identified in that part of nursing home operations.

(5) The use of audits and/or other risk evaluation techniques to monitor compliance, identify problem areas, and assist in the reduction of identified problems;¹⁴

(6) The development of policies and procedures addressing the non-employment or retention of excluded individuals or entities and the enforcement of appropriate disciplinary action against employees or contractors who have violated corporate or compliance policies and procedures, applicable statutes, regulations, or Federal, State, or private payor health care program requirements; and

(7) The development of policies and procedures with respect to the investigation of identified systemic problems, which include direction regarding the prompt and proper response to detected offenses, such as the initiation of appropriate corrective action, repayments, and preventive measures.

B. Written Policies and Procedures

Every compliance program should develop and distribute written compliance standards, procedures, and practices that guide the nursing facility and the conduct of its employees throughout day-to-day operations. These policies and procedures should be developed under the direction and supervision of the compliance officer, the compliance committee, and operational managers. At a minimum, they should be provided to all employees who are affected by these policies, as well as physicians, suppliers, nursing facility agents, and contractors, as applicable to those entities.¹⁵ In addition to general corporate policies and procedures, an effective compliance program should include specific policies and procedures for the different clinical, financial, and administrative functions of a nursing facility.

¹⁴For example, periodically spot-checking the work of coding and billing personnel should be part of a compliance program. In addition, procedures to regularly monitor the care provided to nursing facility residents and to ensure that deficiencies identified by surveyors are corrected should be incorporated into the compliance program's evaluation and monitoring functions.

¹⁵According to the Federal Sentencing Guidelines, an organization must have established compliance standards and procedures to be followed by its employees and other agents in order to receive sentencing credit for an "effective" compliance program. The Federal Sentencing Guidelines define "agent" as "any individual, including a director, an officer, an employee, or an independent contractor, authorized to act on behalf of the organization." See United States Sentencing Commission Guidelines, Guidelines Manual, 8A1.2, Application Note 3(d).

1. Code of Conduct

While a clear statement of policies and procedures is at the core of a compliance program, the OIG recommends that nursing facilities start the process with the development of a corporate statement of principles that will guide the operations of the provider. One common expression of this statement of principles is the code of conduct.¹⁶ The code should function in the same fashion as a constitution, i.e., as a foundational document that details the fundamental principles, values, and framework for action within an organization. The code of conduct for a nursing facility should articulate the organization's expectations of employees, as well as summarize the basic legal principles under which the organization must operate. Unlike the more detailed policies and procedures, the code of conduct should be brief, easily readable and cover general principles applicable to all employees.

The code of conduct should be distributed to, and comprehensible by, all affected employees.¹⁷ Depending on the facility's work force, this may mean that the code should be translated into other languages when necessary and written at appropriate reading levels. Further, any employee handbook delineating the standards of conduct should be regularly updated to reflect developments in applicable Government and private health care program requirements. Finally, the OIG recommends that current employees, as well as those newly hired, should certify that they have received, read, and will abide by the organization's code of conduct. These certifications, updated any time the code is revised or amended by the organization, should be retained in the employee's personnel file and made available for review.¹⁸ facilities may not have the resources to establish a comprehensive compliance program, we believe that every nursing facility can design a program that addresses the seven elements set out in this guidance, albeit at different levels of sophistication and complexity. In its most fundamental form, a facility's code of conduct is a basic set of standards that articulate the organization's philosophy, summarize basic legal principles, and teach employees how to respond to practices that may violate the code of conduct. These standards should be posted and distributed to every employee. Further, even a small nursing facility should obtain written attestation from its employees to confirm their understanding and commitment to the nursing facility's code of conduct.

2. Specific Risk Areas

As part of their commitment to a compliance program, nursing facilities should prepare a comprehensive set of written policies and procedures that are in place to prevent fraud and abuse in facility operations and to ensure the appropriate care of their residents. These policies and procedures should educate and alert all affected managers and employees of the Federal health care program and private payor requirements, the consequences of noncompliance, and the specific procedures that nursing facility employees should follow to report problems, to ensure compliance, and to rectify any prior noncompliance.

The OIG recognizes that many States require nursing facilities to have a policies and procedures manual and that most facilities have in place procedures to prevent fraud and abuse in their institutions. These providers may not need to develop a new, comprehensive set of policies as part of their compliance program if existing policies effectively encompass the provider's operations and relevant rules. However, the nursing home industry is subject to numerous Federal and State statutes, rules, regulations and manual instructions.¹⁹ Because these program requirements are frequently modified, the OIG recommends that all nursing facilities evaluate their current compliance policies and procedures by conducting a baseline assessment of risk areas, as well as subsequent reevaluations.²⁰ The OIG also recommends that these internal compliance reviews be undertaken on a regular basis to ensure compliance with current program requirements.

To assist nursing facilities in performing this internal assessment, the OIG has developed a list of potential risk areas affecting nursing facility providers. These risk areas include quality of care and residents' rights, employee screening, vendor relationships, billing and cost reporting, and record keeping and documentation. This list of risk areas is not exhaustive, nor all encompassing. Rather, it should be viewed as a starting point for an internal review of potential vulnerabilities within the nursing facility.²¹ The objective of this assessment should be to ensure that the employees, managers and directors are aware of these risk areas and that steps are taken to minimize, to the extent possible, the types of problems identified. While there are many ways to accomplish this objective, comprehensive written policies and procedures that are communicated to all appropriate employees and contractors are the first step in an effective compliance program.

The OIG believes that sound operating compliance policies are essential to all nursing facilities, regardless of size and capability. If a lack of resources to develop such policies is genuinely an issue, the OIG recommends that those nursing facilities focus first on those risk areas most likely to arise in their business operations. At a minimum, resources should be directed to analyze the results of annual surveys,²² and to verify that the facility has effectively addressed any deficiencies cited by the surveyors. An effective and low-cost means to accomplish this is through the use of the facility's Quality Assessment and Assurance Committee. The committee should consist of facility staff members, including the Director of Advisory Bulletins that identify activities believed to raise enforcement concerns. These documents and other materials that provide insight into the nursing home enforcement priorities of the OIG are referenced throughout this guidance.

²¹ The OIG recommends that, in addition to the list set forth below, the provider review the OIG's Work Plan to identify vulnerabilities and risk areas on which the OIG will focus during the following year. In addition, it is recommended that the nursing facility routinely review the OIG's semiannual reports, which identify program vulnerabilities and risk areas that the OIG has targeted during the preceding six months. All of these documents are available on the OIG's webpage at <http://www.hhs.gov/oig>.

²² State and local agencies enter into agreements with DHHS under which they survey and make recommendations regarding whether providers meet the Medicare participation requirements or other requirements for SNFs and NFs. See 42 CFR 488.10, 488.12.

¹⁶ The OIG strongly encourages the participation and involvement of the nursing facility's owner(s), governing board, CEO, as well as other personnel from various levels of the organizational structure in the development of all aspects of the compliance program, especially the standards of conduct. Management and employee involvement in this process communicates a strong and explicit commitment to all employees of the need to comply with the organization's standards of conduct.

¹⁷ The code also should be distributed, or at least available, to the residents and their families, as well as the physicians and contractors associated with the facility.

¹⁹ See <http://www.hcfa.gov> for information on obtaining a set of all Medicare and Medicaid manuals.

Nursing and the medical director. Inclusion and participation of direct care staff (e.g., nurses and nurses' aides who provide direct resident care) should be encouraged. This committee is best suited to establish measurable, outcome-based criteria that focus on vulnerabilities that adversely affect the care of residents. On a periodic basis, the committee should meet to identify issues affecting the quality of care provided to the residents and to develop and implement appropriate corrective actions. The time commitment required for this collaborative effort will vary according to the magnitude of the facility's quality assessment and assurance issues.

Creating a resource manual from publicly available information may be a cost-effective approach for developing policies and procedures to improve the quality of each resident's life. For example, a simple binder that contains a facility's written policies and procedures, the most recent survey findings and plan of correction, relevant HCFA instructions and bulletins, and summaries of key OIG documents (e.g., Special Fraud Alerts, Advisory Bulletins, inspection and audit reports) can be regularly updated and made accessible to all employees. Particularly in the case of more technical materials, it may be advisable to provide summaries in the handbook and make the source documents available upon request. If individualized copies of this handbook are not made available to all employees, then a reference copy should be available in a readily accessible location, as well as from the designated compliance officer.

a. Quality of Care

The OIG believes that a nursing facility's compliance policies should start with a statement that affirms the facility's commitment to providing the care and services necessary to attain or maintain the resident's "highest practicable physical, mental and psychosocial well-being."²³ To achieve the goal of providing quality care, nursing facilities should continually measure their performance against comprehensive standards that, at a minimum, must include Medicare requirements.²⁴ In addition to these regulations, a facility should develop its own quality of care protocols and implement mechanisms for evaluating compliance with those protocols. As part of its ongoing commitment to quality care, the facility should implement a system that reviews each resident's outcomes and improves on those outcomes through analysis and modification of the delivery of care. After the care delivery protocols have been modified, the facility should re-analyze the residents' outcomes to assure that the modification had the desired result and has actually improved care. Although resident care protocols are a useful tool for maintaining or improving the quality of care, facilities should ensure that measurable resident outcomes are used to determine the adequacy of the care actually rendered.

As noted above, current and past surveys are a good place to begin to identify specific risk areas and regulatory vulnerabilities at the individual facility. Any deficiencies discovered by an annual State agency survey, Federal validation survey or complaint survey reflect noncompliance with the program requirements for nursing homes and can be the basis for enforcement actions.²⁵ Those deficiencies identified by the State agency survey instrument must be addressed and, where appropriate, the corrective action should be incorporated into the facility's policies and procedures as well as reflected in its training and educational programs. In addition to responding promptly to deficiencies identified through the survey and certification process, nursing facilities should take proactive measures to identify, anticipate, and respond to quality of care risk areas identified by the nursing home ombudsman or other sources.

As noted throughout this guidance, each provider must assess its vulnerability to particular abusive practices in light of its unique circumstances. However, the OIG, HCFA, the Department of Justice, and State enforcement agencies have substantial experience in identifying quality of care risk areas. Some of the special areas of concern include:

Medicare and Medicaid programs. State licensure laws may impose additional requirements for the establishment and certification of a nursing facility.

²³ See 42 CFR part 488, subparts A, B, C, E, and F. The survey instrument is used to identify deficiencies, such as: failure to notify residents of their rights; improper use of restraints for discipline purposes; lack of a clean and safe environment; failure to provide care for basic living activities, including failing to prevent ant/ur treat pressure ulcers, urinary incontinence and hydration; and failing to properly feed residents.

- absence of a comprehensive, accurate assessment of each resident's functional capacity and a comprehensive care plan that includes measurable objectives and timetables to meet the resident's medical, nursing, and mental and psychosocial needs;²⁶

- inappropriate or insufficient treatment and services to address residents' clinical conditions, including pressure ulcers, dehydration, malnutrition, incontinence of the bladder, and mental or psychosocial problems;²⁷
- failure to accommodate individual resident needs and preferences;²⁸
- failure to properly prescribe, administer and monitor prescription drug usage;²⁹
- inadequate staffing levels or insufficiently trained or supervised staff to provide medical, nursing, and related services;³⁰

²⁶ As stated above, each resident must receive the necessary care and services to attain or maintain the highest practicable physical, mental, and psychosocial well-being, in accordance with the resident's assessment and plan of care. See 42 CFR 483.25. The OIG recognizes that this standard does not always lend itself to easy, objective evaluation. The matter is further complicated by the right of the resident, or his or her legal representative, to decide on a course of treatment that may be contraindicated. The Patient Self-Determination Act (Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990, Pub. L. 101-508, sec. 4206 and 4751) requires health care institutions to educate patients about advance directives and to document their decision on life-sustaining treatments.

²⁹ The OIG has conducted a series of reviews that focused on prescription drug use in nursing homes. See OIG reports OEI-06-96-00080, OEI-06-96-00081, OEI-06-96-00082—"Prescription Drug Use in Nursing Homes—Reports 1, 2 and 3." The OIG found that patients experienced adverse reactions to various drugs as a result of inappropriate prescribing and inadequate monitoring of medication usage. The reviews revealed serious concerns, including residents receiving drugs for which their medical records lacked evidence of a prescription and the prescription of drugs judged inappropriate for use by elderly persons. The studies also found that medication records were often incomplete and not readily accessible, making it difficult for a pharmacist to identify or confirm drug regimens or problems.

³⁰ For example, Federal regulations require that the medical care of each resident be supervised by a physician, who must see the resident at least once every 30 days for the first 90 days after admission and at least once every 60 days thereafter. See 42 CFR 483.40(c). The facility also must retain the services of a registered nurse for at least 8 consecutive hours a day, 7 days a week (42 CFR 483.30), as well as a qualified dietitian (42 CFR 483.35). In addition to these basic Federal requirements, the OIG strongly believes that the facility should conform to State-mandated staffing levels where they exist and, in addition, adopt its own minimum "hours per patient" (or acuity) staffing standards. A facility should ensure that it

²³ 42 CFR 483.25. See OIG report OEI-02-98-00060 "Quality of Care in Nursing Homes: An Overview," in which the OIG found that, although the overall number of deficiencies identified through the survey and certification process was decreasing, the number of "quality of care" and other serious deficiencies was increasing.

²⁴ See 42 CFR part 483, which establishes requirements for long term care facilities. HCFA's regulations establish requirements that must be met for a nursing facility to qualify to participate in the

- failure to provide appropriate therapy services;³¹
- failure to provide appropriate services to assist residents with activities of daily living (e.g., feeding, dressing, bathing, etc.);
- failure to provide an ongoing activities program to meet the individual needs of all residents; and
- failure to report incidents of mistreatment, neglect, or abuse to the administrator of the facility and other officials as required by law.³²

As noted previously, a nursing facility that has a history of serious deficiencies should use those survey results as a starting point for implementing a comprehensive plan to improve its quality of care. The quality of life for nursing home residents can be improved most directly by effectively addressing these risk areas with written policies and procedures, which are then implemented through effective training programs and supervision.

has a sufficient number of staff, including registered nurses (RNs), Licensed Practical Nurses (LPNs,) Certified Nurses Assistants (CNAs) and Nursing Assistants (collectively "Nursing Staff") and other health care professionals to fully meet the needs of all of its residents. Sufficient staff should be provided to ensure that residents receive nursing and other health care services on a 24-hour basis that allows each resident to attain or maintain the highest practicable physical, mental and psychosocial well-being as determined by individual resident assessments and plans of care. A facility should establish staffing standards on a facility-specific (or, often more appropriately, a unit-specific) basis that reflect the acuity level and needs of the residents. The use of an acuity level/staffing ratio model gives the facility the ability to adjust staffing levels as resident needs fluctuate, as well as a basis for conducting compliance audits. On an ongoing basis, the compliance officer should monitor the facility's compliance with the staffing ratios established by the quality assurance committee, to ensure that the facility maintains staffing levels sufficient to serve resident needs. At the heart of many quality of care deficiencies is a lack of adequate staff needed to provide basic nursing services.

³² In addition to providing the facility's management important information about the state of care in the facility, the self-reporting of resident abuse, including injuries of unknown sources, is a condition of participation. See 42 CFR 483.13(c)(2). Although State surveyors conduct complaint surveys when they receive a complaint, these surveys can only occur if the surveyors are aware of the problem.

b. Residents' Rights

The Budget Reconciliation Act (OBRA) of 1987, Public Law 100-203, established a number of requirements to protect and promote the rights of each resident.³³ In addition, many States have adopted specific lists of residents' rights.³⁴ The nursing facility's policies should address the residents' right to a dignified existence that promotes freedom of choice, self-determination, and reasonable accommodation of individual needs. To protect the rights of each resident, the OIG recommends that a provider address the following risk areas as part of its compliance policies:

- discriminatory admission or improper denial of access to care;³⁵
- verbal, mental or physical abuse, corporal punishment and involuntary seclusion;³⁶
- inappropriate use of physical or chemical restraints;³⁷
- failure to ensure that residents have personal privacy and access to their personal records upon request and that the privacy and confidentiality of those records are protected;³⁸

³³ See generally, 42 U.S.C. 1395i-3 and 42 CFR part 483.

³⁴ In OIG report OEI-02-98-00350 "Long Term Ombudsman Program: Complaint Trends," the OIG points out that complaints about resident care and resident rights have been increasing. Resident care concerns included complaints about personal care, such as pressure ulcers and hygiene, lack of rehabilitation, the inappropriate use of restraints, abuse and neglect, problems with admissions and eviction, and the exercise of personal rights. Some ombudsmen observed that the increasing number of complaints could be due to a greater presence of ombudsmen staff in nursing homes. However, a comparison of each State's staffing ratio and visitation rate to their complaint ratio found that States with more staff and more frequent visits did not necessarily have more complaints.

³⁵ Nursing facilities must offer care to all residents who are eligible in accordance with Federal and State laws governing admissions. See 42 CFR 483.12(d). The provider also must maintain identical policies regarding "transfer, discharge, and provision of services under the State plan" for all residents, regardless of payment source. See 42 CFR 483.12(c). See also OIG report OEI-02-99-00401 "Early Effects of the Prospective Payment System on Access to Skilled Nursing Facilities." It also is inappropriate to condition admission on a prospective resident's agreement to hold the facility harmless for injuries or poor care provided to the individual.

³⁶ See California Nursing Homes: Care Problems Persist Despite Federal and State Oversight, GAO/HEHS-98-202 (July 1998). As noted previously, the facility must establish a process by which the facility administrator and other officials in accordance with State law (including the State survey and certification agency) are informed of incidents of abuse and an investigation is conducted within 5 days of the incident. See 42 CFR 483.13(c)(4).

³⁷ See OIG report OEI-01-91-00840 "Minimizing Restraints in Nursing Homes: A Guide to Action."

³⁸ It is a violation of the Medicare participation requirements to make unauthorized disclosures from the resident's medical records. See 42 CFR

- denial of a resident's right to participate in care and treatment decisions;³⁹ and
- failure to safeguard residents' financial affairs.⁴⁰

c. Billing and Cost Reporting

Abusive and fraudulent billing practices in the Federal health care programs drain the public fisc of the funds needed to provide program beneficiaries medically necessary items and services. These types of abusive practices also have had an adverse financial impact on private health insurance plans and their subscribers. Over the last twenty years, the OIG has identified patterns of improper and fraudulent activities that cover the spectrum of health care services and have cost taxpayers billions of dollars.⁴¹ These fraudulent billing practices, as well as abuses in other risk areas that are described in this compliance program guidance, have resulted in criminal, civil and administrative enforcement actions. Because the consequences of these enforcement actions can have a profound adverse impact on a provider, the identification of risk areas associated with billing and cost reporting should be a major component of a nursing facility's compliance program.

483.10(e). The facility also must establish policies that respect each resident's right to privacy in personal communications, including the right to receive mail that is unopened and to the use of a telephone where calls can be made in privacy. See 42 CFR 483.10(i) and (k).

⁴¹ See OIG report A-17-99-00099 "Improper Fiscal Year 1998 Fee-for-Service Payments," in which the OIG estimated that improper Medicare benefit payments made during fiscal year 1998 totaled $12.6 billion in processed fee-for-service payments. SNF payment errors were a result of claims for services lacking medical necessity and represented 7 percent of the total estimated improper payments. The OIG could not and did not quantify what percentage of the improper payments was the result of fraud. Significantly, it was only through a review of medical records that the majority of these billing errors were detected, since when the claims were submitted to the Medicare contractor, they contained no visible errors.

The introduction of a prospective payments system (PPS) for Medicare SNFs, consolidated billing of all services furnished to a resident in a covered Part A stay and the forthcoming implementation of consolidated billing for SNF residents in a Part B stay create additional issues to be addressed when designing billing and cost reporting compliance policies and procedures.⁴² In the following discussion of billing risk areas, the OIG has attempted to identify issues that pose concerns under the current systems of reimbursement and the transition period to consolidated billing, as well as anticipate potential compliance issues stemming from these program changes. As is the case with all aspects of compliance, the nursing facility must continually reassess its billing procedures and policies to ensure that unanticipated problems are promptly identified and corrected. Listed below are some of the reimbursement risk areas a nursing facility should consider addressing as part of its written compliance policies and procedures:

- billing for items or services not rendered or provided as claimed;⁴³
- submitting claims for equipment, medical supplies and services that are medically unnecessary;⁴⁴

⁴³ For example, the OIG has investigated suppliers of ancillary services that improperly bill for an hour of therapy when only a few minutes were provided. Similarly, vendors that knowingly submit a claim for an expensive prosthetic device when the resident only received non-covered adult diapers have been the subject of enforcement actions. When consolidated billing is implemented, vendors will not submit bills directly to Medicare for such services. As the entity submitting the claim, the nursing facility will need to have any certifications or orders necessary to provide the service, as well as any required supporting documentation, to receive payment.

⁴⁴ Billing for medically unnecessary services, supplies and equipment involves seeking

- submitting claims to Medicare Part A for residents who are not eligible for Part A coverage;⁴⁵
- duplicate billing;⁴⁶
- failing to identify and refund credit balances;⁴⁷

reimbursement for a service that is not warranted by a resident's documented medical condition. See 42 U.S.C. 1395y(a)(1)(A) ("no payment may be made under part A or part B [of Medicare] for any expenses incurred for items or services which * * * are not reasonable and necessary for the diagnosis or treatment of illness or injury or to improve the functioning of the malformed body member"). At the same time, nursing facilities are required to provide the services necessary to attain or maintain the highest practicable physical, mental and psychosocial well-being of each resident. See 42 U.S.C. 1395i-3(b)(2) and 1396(b)(2). In order to meet these obligations, nursing homes should formulate policies and procedures that include periodic clinical reviews, both prior and subsequent to billing for services, as a means of verifying that patients receive appropriate services.

In the Special Fraud Alert "Fraud and Abuse in the Provision of Services in Nursing Facilities" (June 1996), the OIG identified several types of fraudulent arrangements through which health care providers inappropriately billed Medicare and Medicaid for unnecessary or non-rendered items and services. Under PPS, the provision of unnecessary services may take a different form. As discussed below, manipulation of the Minimum Data Set (MDS) to fit a resident into a higher RUG can result in the provision of medically unnecessary services. In addition, a nursing facility may not enter into arrangements with providers of ancillary services through which the facility overutilizes services reimbursed under Part B in return for an offset in the cost of items or services covered under Part A.

⁴⁵ In order for a SNF stay to be covered by Medicare, the beneficiary must have a preceding three-day inpatient hospital stay. Observational stays and emergency room care do not qualify towards the 3-day hospital stay requirement. In addition, Medicare Part A benefits in skilled nursing facilities are limited to beneficiaries who require skilled services rendered by technical or professional personnel in a skilled nursing setting. See 42 CFR 409.31. Knowingly misrepresenting the nature or level of services provided to a Medicare beneficiary to circumvent the program's limitation is fraudulent.

⁴⁶ Duplicate billing occurs when the nursing facility bills for the same item or service more than once or when a vendor bills the Federal health care program for an item or service also billed by the facility. Although duplicate billing can occur due to simple error, the knowing submission of duplicate claims—which is sometimes evidenced by systematic or repeated double billing—can create liability under criminal, civil, or administrative law. A recent OIG survey of SNF PPS claims found a significant number of erroneous payments made by the Medicare carrier for services for which payments were already included in the SNF's PPS payment. As Medicare continues the implementation of consolidated billing, facilities should modify all agreements with vendors to require that the vendor bill the facility for those services covered under consolidated billing requirements and not submit bills directly to Medicare for such services. Communication mechanisms also should be established to ensure duplicative billings do not occur. For example, a facility may wish to flag a referral to an outpatient provider as a "PPS resident" and inform the provider that the nursing home will be responsible for billing Medicare for the ancillary services.

⁴⁷ A credit balance is an excess payment made to a health care provider as a result of patient billing

- submitting claims for items or services not ordered;⁴⁸
- knowingly billing for inadequate or substandard care;⁴⁹
- providing misleading information about a resident's medical condition on the MDS or otherwise providing inaccurate information used to determine the RUG assigned to the resident;
- upcoding the level of service provided;⁵⁰
- billing for individual items or services when they either are included in the facility's per diem rate or are of the type of item or service that must be billed as a unit and may not be unbundled;⁵¹
- billing residents for items or services that are included in the per diem rate or otherwise covered by the third-party payor;
- altering documentation or forging a physician signature on documents used to verify that services were ordered and/or provided;⁵² or claims processing error. Nursing facilities should institute procedures to provide for the timely identification, accurate reporting and repayment of credit balances. In addition, the provider should promptly repay if a resident is also entitled to a credit. See OIG reports OEL-07-09-00910 "Medicare Credit Balances in Skilled Nursing Facility Patient Accounts" and OEL-07-09-00911 "Medicaid Credit Balances in Skilled Nursing Facility Patient Accounts." In which the OIG found that skilled nursing facilities were not accurately or completely adjusting and reporting credit balance amounts due to the Medicare and Medicaid programs. Significantly, the intentional concealment of a known overpayment may expose a provider to criminal sanctions (see 42 U.S.C. 1320a-7b(a)(3)), and civil liability under the False Claims Act.

⁴⁹ See discussion on quality of care standards in nursing facilities in section II.B.2.a above and the accompanying notes. Although the OIG is not suggesting that each and every survey citation or failure to meet the applicable standard of care is a per se violation of the False Claims Act (or a criminal, other civil, or administrative violation), knowingly billing for nonexistent or substandard care, items, or services may give rise to criminal, civil, and/or administrative liability.

⁵⁰ Upcoding involves the selection of a billing code that is not the most appropriate descriptor of the service or condition, in order to maximize reimbursement. Under PPS, upcoding may take the form of "RUG creep." RUG creep occurs when a provider falsely or fraudulently completes the MDS, which results in assigning a resident to a higher RUG category.

⁵² The OIG has investigated a number of cases where signatures were forged, either to fabricate evidence that a physician ordered equipment or services or to create a paper trail in support of items or services that were never provided.

- failing to maintain sufficient documentation to support the diagnosis, justify treatment, document the course of treatment and results, and promote continuity of care; and

- false cost reports.⁵³

The OIG recommends that a nursing facility, through its policies and procedures, take all reasonable steps to ensure compliance with the Federal health care programs when submitting information that affects reimbursement decisions. A key component of ensuring accurate information is the proper and ongoing training and evaluation of the staff responsible for coding diagnoses and regular internal audits of coding policies and procedures. With the arrival of consolidated billing and the next edition of the coding manuals, it will be even more critical that knowledgeable individuals are performing these coding tasks.

The risk areas associated with billing and cost reporting have been among the most frequent subjects of investigations and audits by the OIG. In addition to facing criminal sanctions and significant monetary penalties, providers that have failed to adequately ensure the accuracy of their claims and cost report submissions can have their Medicare payments suspended (42 CFR 405.371), be excluded from program participation (42 U.S.C. 1320a-7(b)), or, in lieu of exclusion, be required by the OIG to execute a corporate integrity agreement (CIA).⁵⁴

⁵³ Nursing homes are required to submit various reports to Federal and State agencies in connection with facility operations and to receive reimbursement for the care provided to program beneficiaries. Because program payments are in part based on self-reported operating costs, providers must implement procedures to ensure that these reports are prepared as accurately as possible. This should include measures to ensure that adequate documentation exists to support information provided in the report, non-allowable costs are appropriately identified and removed, and related party transactions are treated consistent with program requirements. See 42 CFR part 413. If the provider intends to claim costs in non-conformity with program rules, those items should be flagged in a letter accompanying the cost report.

Prior enforcement actions involving nursing home cost reports have focused on nursing facilities that claimed salary expenses for employees who did not exist, inflated the number of residents served, included non-reimbursable costs with nursing home-related expenses, inappropriately shifted costs to cost centers that were below the reimbursement cap, and shifted non-Medicare related costs to Medicare cost centers.

⁵⁴ The CIA imposes reporting requirements, independent audits, and other procedures on providers who have demonstrated an inability or unwillingness to independently adopt these measures. It is clearly in a provider's best interest to avoid the implementation of a CIA by instituting its own prevention, detection, and disclosure mechanisms.

d. Employee Screening

Nursing facilities are required by Federal, and in some cases State, law to investigate the background of certain employees.⁵⁵ Nursing facilities should conduct a reasonable and prudent background investigation and reference check before hiring those employees who have access to patients or their possessions, or who have discretionary authority to make decisions that may involve compliance with the law. The employment application should specifically require the applicant to disclose any criminal conviction, as defined by 42 U.S.C. 1320a-7(i); or exclusion from participation in the Federal health care programs. Because many of the services provided in nursing facilities are furnished under arrangement with non-employee personnel, including registry and personnel agency staff, the nursing facility also should require these individuals to be subject to the same scrutiny by their agency prior to placement in the facility.

This pre-employment screening is critical to ensuring the integrity of the facility's work force and safeguarding the welfare of its residents. Because providers of nursing care have frequent, relatively unsupervised access to vulnerable people and their property, a nursing facility also should seriously consider whether to employ individuals who have been convicted of crimes of neglect, violence, theft or dishonesty, financial misconduct, or other offenses related to the particular job.⁵⁶

Nursing facility policies should prohibit the continued employment of individuals who have been convicted of a criminal offense related to health care or who are debarred, excluded, or otherwise become ineligible for participation in Federal health care programs.⁵⁷ In addition, if the facility

⁵⁶ In OIG report A-12-97-0003 "Safeguarding Long Term Care Residents," it was noted that, although no Federal requirement exists for criminal background checks on nursing home staff, 33 States currently require that such checks occur. However, there appears to be great diversity in the way States identify, investigate, and report suspected abuse of nursing home residents.

⁵⁷ The effect of an OIG exclusion from Federal health care programs is that no Federal health care program payment may be made for any items or services: (1) furnished by an excluded individual or entity; or (2) directed or prescribed by an excluded physician. See 42 CFR 1001.1901. An excluded individual or entity that submits a claim for reimbursement to a Federal health care program, or causes such a claim to be submitted, may be subject to a civil money penalty of $10,000 for each item or service furnished during the period that the person or entity was excluded. See 42 U.S.C. 1320a-7a(a)(1)(D). The individual or entity also may be subject to treble damages for the amount claimed for each item or service. See 42 U.S.C.

has notice that an employee or contractor is currently charged with a criminal offense related to the delivery of health care services or is proposed for exclusion during his or her employment or contract, the facility should take all appropriate actions to ensure that the responsibilities of that employee or contractor do not adversely affect the quality of care rendered to any patient or resident, or the accuracy of any claims submitted to any Federal health care program.⁵⁸ If resolution of the matter results in conviction, debarment, or exclusion, the nursing facility should terminate its employment or contract arrangement with the individual.

In order to ensure that nursing facilities undertake background checks of all employees to the extent required by law, the OIG recommends that the following measures be incorporated into the compliance program's policies and procedures:

- investigate the background of employees by checking with all applicable licensing and certification authorities to verify that requisite licenses and certifications are in order;⁵⁹
- require all potential employees to certify (e.g., on the employment application) that they have not been convicted of an offense that would preclude employment in a nursing facility and that they are not excluded from participation in the Federal health care programs;
- require temporary employment agencies to ensure that temporary staff assigned to the facility have undergone background checks that verify that they have not been convicted of an offense

⁵⁸ Likewise, the facility should establish standards prohibiting the execution of contracts with companies that recently have been convicted of a criminal offense related to health care or that are listed by a Federal agency as debarred, excluded, or otherwise ineligible for participation in Federal health care programs. Prospective employees or contractors that have been officially reinstated into the Medicare and Medicaid programs by the OIG may be considered for employment upon proof of such reinstatement.

⁵⁹ Among the sources of information on prospective employees are the State registry of nurses' aides, which provides a list of nurse aides that have successfully completed training and competency evaluations and the National Practitioner Data Bank (NPDB). The NPDB is a database that contains information about physicians subject to medical malpractice payments, sanctions by boards of medical examiners or State licensing boards, adverse clinical privilege actions, and adverse professional society membership actions. Health care entities can have access to this database to seek information about their own medical or clinical staff, as well as prospective employees or physician contractors.

that would preclude employment in the facility;

- check the OIG's List of Excluded Individuals/Entities and the GSA's list of debarred contractors to verify that employees are not excluded from participating in the Federal health care programs;⁶⁰

- require current employees to report to the nursing facility if, subsequent to their employment, they are convicted of an offense that would preclude employment in a nursing facility or are excluded from participation in any Federal health care program; and

- periodically check the OIG and GSA web sites to verify the participation/exclusion status of independent contractors and retain on file the results of that query.⁶¹

Regardless of the size or resources of the nursing facility, employee screening is critical. Nursing facilities, like all corporations, must act through their employees and are held accountable for their actions. One of the best ways to ensure that the organization will act in conformance with the law is to hire employees and contractors who can be trusted to embrace a culture of compliance. While the resources required to check the OIG List of Excluded Individuals/Entities are minimal, the absence of an accessible centralized site for criminal background checks may result in inefficiencies and expense. While large providers may elect to outsource the screening process, this may not be a realistic option for ⁶⁰The OIG "List of Excluded Individuals/Entities" provides information to health care providers, patients, and others regarding individuals and entities that are excluded from participation in Medicare, Medicaid, and other Federal health care programs. This report, in both an on-line searchable and downloadable database, can be located on the Internet at <http://www.hhs.gov/oig>. In addition, the General Services Administration maintains a monthly listing of debarred contractors, "List of Parties Excluded From Federal Procurement and Nonprocurement Programs," at <http://epls.arnet.gov>.

The OIG sanction information is readily available to users in two formats on over 15,000 individuals and entities currently excluded from program participation through action taken by the OIG. The on-line searchable database allows users to obtain information regarding excluded individuals and entities sorted by: (1) the legal bases for exclusions; (2) the types of individuals and entities excluded by the OIG; and (3) the States where excluded individuals reside or entities do business.

⁶¹The introduction of PPS and consolidated billing for Medicare Part B services means that vendors and their subcontractors no longer submit bills directly to Medicare for their services. Instead, the nursing facility will be submitting consolidated bills for certain services provided to residents. Because of the new responsibilities that are imposed on nursing facilities under these reimbursement schemes, the facility may be held responsible if it claims reimbursement for items or services provided by a contractor that has been excluded.

smaller nursing facilities. Nevertheless, the OIG recommends that all nursing facilities implement a policy to undertake background checks of all employees.

e. Kickbacks, Inducements and Self-Referrals

A nursing facility should have policies and procedures to ensure compliance with the anti-kickback statute,⁶² the Stark physician self-referral law⁶³ and other relevant Federal and State laws by providing guidance in situations that could lead to a violation of these laws.⁶⁴ In particular, arrangements with hospitals, hospices, physicians and vendors are vulnerable to abuse. For example, in the case of hospitals, physicians and hospital staff exert influence over the patient and can influence the choice of a nursing facility. In addition, in his or her roles as medical director and/or attending physician, a physician frequently can influence the utilization of ancillary services.⁶⁵ Moreover, by contrast, a nursing facility operator can influence the selection of which hospices will provide hospice services and which vendors will deliver equipment and services to the facility's residents. In addition to developing policies to address arrangements with other health care providers and suppliers, nursing facilities also should implement measures to avoid offering inappropriate inducements to residents. Possible risk areas that should be addressed in the policies and procedures include:

- routinely waiving coinsurance or deductible amounts without a good faith determination that the resident is in financial need, or absent reasonable efforts to collect the cost-sharing amount;⁶⁶

⁶²The anti-kickback statute provides criminal penalties for individuals and entities that knowingly offer, pay, solicit or receive bribes, kickbacks, or other remuneration in order to induce business reimbursable by Federal health care programs. See 42 U.S.C. 1320a-7b(b). Civil penalties and exclusion from participation in the Federal health care programs may also result from a violation of the prohibition. See 42 U.S.C. 1320a-7a(a)(5) and 1320a-7(b)(7).

⁶³The Stark physician self-referral law prohibits a physician from making a referral to an entity with which the physician or any member of the physician's immediate family has a financial relationship, if the referral is for the furnishing of designated health services. See 42 U.S.C. 1395nn.

⁶⁵Contracts between the facility and any entity in which the facility's medical director has a financial interest may be subject to the Stark law and should be reviewed and approved by legal counsel.

⁶⁶In the OIG Special Fraud Alert "Routine Waiver of Part B Co-payments/Deductibles" (May

- agreements between the facility and a hospital, home health agency, or hospice that involve the referral or transfer of any resident to or by the nursing home;⁶⁷

- soliciting, accepting or offering any gift or gratuity of more than nominal value to or from residents, potential referral sources, and other individuals and entities with which the nursing facility has a business relationship;⁶⁸

- conditioning admission or continued stay at a facility on a third-party guarantee of payment, or soliciting payment for services covered by Medicaid, in addition to any amount required to be paid under the State Medicaid plan;⁶⁹

- arrangements between a nursing facility and a hospital under which the facility will only accept a Medicare beneficiary on the condition that the hospital pays the facility an amount over and above what the facility would receive through PPS;⁷⁰

1991), the OIG describes several reasons why routine waivers of these cost-sharing amounts pose abuse concerns. The Alert sets forth the circumstances under which it may be appropriate to waive these amounts.

⁶⁷In the Special Fraud Alert "Fraud and Abuse in Nursing Home Arrangements with Hospices" (March 1998), the OIG sets out the vulnerabilities in nursing home arrangements with hospices. The Alert provides several examples of questionable arrangements between hospices and nursing homes that could inappropriately influence the referral of patients. Examples include the offering of free goods or goods at below fair market value to induce a nursing home to refer patients to the hospice. Other examples demonstrating vulnerability to fraud and abuse include: (1) a hospice paying for room and board in excess of the amounts the nursing home would normally charge or receive from Medicaid; (2) a hospice paying for additional services that should be already included in the room and board payment; and (3) a hospice referring patients to the nursing home in return for the nursing home's referral to the hospice. While the Special Fraud Alert focused on arrangements with hospices, nursing facilities should adopt policies that prohibit similar questionable arrangements with all health care providers.

⁶⁸Providers should establish clear policies governing gift-giving, because such exchanges may be viewed as inducements to influence business decisions. Offering or providing any gift of more than nominal value to any beneficiary may be done with the intent to inappropriately influence health care decisions of the beneficiary or his or her family. Similarly, accepting gifts, hospitality, or entertainment from a source that is in a position to benefit from the referral of business, raises concerns that the gift may influence the employee's independent judgment. If the provider decides to allow employees to accept gifts or other gratuities below a certain nominal value or in an aggregate amount below an established amount per year, the provider should consider requiring employees to report these gifts.

⁶⁹See 42 U.S.C. 1320a-7b(d)(2), which prescribes criminal penalties for knowingly and willfully charging for services provided to a Medicaid patient in excess of the rates established by the State. See also 42 CFR 483.12(d).

⁷⁰Under PPS, the payment rates represent payment in full, subject to applicable coinsurance.

- financial arrangements with physicians, including the facility's medical director;⁷¹
- arrangements with vendors that result in the nursing facility receiving non-covered items (such as disposable adult diapers) at below market prices or no charge, provided the facility orders Medicare-reimbursed products;⁷²
- soliciting or receiving items of value in exchange for providing the supplier access to residents' medical records and other information needed to bill Medicare;⁷³
- joint ventures with entities supplying goods or services;⁷⁴ and
- swapping.⁷⁵

In order to keep current with this area of the law, a nursing facility should obtain copies of all relevant OIG and HCFA regulations, Special Fraud Alerts, and Advisory Opinions that address the application of the anti-kickback and Stark self-referral laws to ensure that the

This includes payment for all costs associated with furnishing covered SNF services to Medicare beneficiaries. It is impermissible for a hospital to pay for SNF services if it were to do so only for those residents who are Medicare beneficiaries discharged from that hospital. However, it would be permissible for a hospital to provide or pay for items or services that are furnished to SNF residents generally, if such payments are made without regard to the payment source for the individual resident. In addition, a hospital and a SNF can enter into a permissible bed reservation agreement. See Provider Reimbursement Manual, Part I, section 2105.3.

⁷¹ All physician contracts and agreements should be reviewed to avoid violation of the anti-kickback, self-referral, and other relevant Federal and State laws. The OIG has published safe harbors that define practices not subject to the anti-kickback statute, because such arrangements would be unlikely to result in fraud or abuse. Failure to comply with a safe harbor provision does not make an arrangement per se illegal. Rather, the safe harbors set forth specific conditions that, if fully met, would assure the entities involved of not being prosecuted or sanctioned for the arrangement qualifying for the safe harbor. One such safe harbor applies to personal services contracts. See 42 CFR 1001.952(d).

⁷² See OIG Special Fraud Alert "Fraud and Abuse in the Provision of Medical Supplies to Nursing Facilities" (August 1995). As well as violating the anti-kickback statute, both the supplier and the nursing facility may be liable for false claims if the medically unnecessary items are billed to Federal health care programs. See also OIG Advisory Opinion 99-2 (February 1999).

⁷⁴ See OIG Special Fraud Alert "Joint Venture Arrangements" (August 1989); OIG Special Fraud Alert "Fraud and Abuse in the Provision of Services in Nursing Facilities" (May 1996).

policies reflect current positions and opinions. Most of these documents are readily available on the Internet. Further, nursing facility policies should provide that all nursing facility contracts and arrangements with actual or potential sources of referrals are reviewed by counsel and comply with applicable statutes and requirements.

3. Creation and Retention of Records

When implementing a compliance program, nursing facilities should provide for the development and implementation of a records system that ensures complete and accurate medical record documentation. This system should establish policies and procedures regarding the creation, distribution, retention, and destruction of documents. Policies should provide for the complete, accurate, and timely documentation of all nursing and therapy services, including subcontracted services, as well as MDS information. In designing a records system, privacy concerns and regulatory requirements also should be taken into consideration.

In addition to maintaining appropriate and thorough medical records on each resident, the OIG recommends that the system should include the following types of documents:

- all records and documentation (e.g., billing and claims documentation) required for participation in Federal, State, and private health care programs, including the resident assessment instrument, the comprehensive plan of care and all corrective actions taken in response to surveys;⁷⁶
- all records, documentation, and audit data that support and explain cost reports and other financial activity, including any internal or external compliance monitoring activities; and
- all records necessary to demonstrate the integrity of the nursing facility compliance process and to confirm the effectiveness of the program.⁷⁷

While conducting its compliance activities, as well as its daily operations, a nursing facility should document its efforts to comply with applicable statutes, regulations, and Federal health care program requirements. For example, where a nursing facility requests advice from a Government agency (including a Medicare fiscal intermediary or carrier) charged with administering a Federal health care program, the nursing facility should document and retain a record of the request and any written or oral response. This step is extremely important if the nursing facility intends to rely on that response to guide it in future decisions, actions, or claim reimbursement requests or appeals. A log of oral inquiries between the nursing facility and third parties will help the organization document its attempts at compliance. In addition, these records may become relevant in a subsequent investigation to the issue of whether the facility's reliance was "reasonable" and whether it exercised due diligence in developing procedures and practices to implement the advice.

⁷⁷ Among the materials useful in documenting the compliance program are employee certifications relating to training and other compliance initiatives, copies of compliance training materials, and hotline logs and any corresponding reports of investigation, outcomes, and employee disciplinary actions. In addition, the facility should keep all relevant correspondence with carriers, fiscal intermediaries, private health insurers, HCFA, and State survey and certification agencies.

In short, all nursing facilities, regardless of size, must retain appropriate documentation. Further, the OIG recommends that the nursing facility:

- secure this information in a safe place;
 - maintain hard copies of all electronic or database documentation;
 - limit access to such documentation to avoid accidental or intentional fabrication or destruction of records;⁷⁸ and
 - conform document retention and destruction policies to applicable laws.
- As the Government increases its reliance on electronic data interchange to conduct business and gather information more quickly and efficiently, it is important that the nursing facility work toward the goal of developing the capacity to ensure that all informational systems maintained by the facility are in working order, secured, and capable of accessing Federal and State databases.

4. Compliance as an Element of Employee Performance

Compliance programs should require the promotion of, and adherence to, the elements of the compliance program to be a factor in evaluating the performance of all employees. Employees should be periodically trained in new compliance policies and procedures. In addition, policies should require that managers, especially those involved in the direct care of residents and in claims development and submission:

⁷⁸ In addition to prohibiting the falsification and backdating of records, the provider should have clear guidelines, consistent with applicable professional and legal standards, that set out those individuals with authority to make entries in the medical record and the circumstances when late entries may be made in a record.

- discuss with all supervised employees and relevant contractors the compliance policies and legal requirements applicable to their function;
- inform all supervised personnel that strict compliance with these policies and procedures is a condition of employment; and
- disclose to all supervised personnel that the nursing facility will take disciplinary action, up to and including termination, for violation of these policies or requirements.

Managers and supervisors should be disciplined for failing to adequately instruct their subordinates or for failing to detect noncompliance with applicable policies and legal requirements, where reasonable diligence would have led to the discovery of any problems or violations and given the nursing facility the opportunity to correct them earlier. Conversely, those supervisors who have demonstrated leadership in the advancement of the company's code of conduct and compliance objectives should be singled out for recognition.

The OIG believes that all nursing facilities, regardless of resources or size, should ensure that its employees understand the importance of compliance with program requirements and the value the company places on its compliance program. If the small nursing facility does not have a formal employee evaluation system, it should informally convey to employees their compliance responsibilities whenever the opportunity arises. Positive reinforcement is generally more effective than sanctions in conditioning behavior and managers should be given mechanisms to reward employees who promote compliance.

C. Designation of a Compliance Officer and a Compliance Committee

1. Compliance Officer

Every nursing home provider should designate a compliance officer to serve as the focal point for compliance activities.⁷⁹ This responsibility may be the individual's sole duty or added to other management responsibilities, depending upon the size and resources of the nursing facility and the complexity of the task. Designating a compliance officer with the appropriate authority is critical to the success of the program, necessitating the appointment of a high-level official with direct access to the nursing facility's president or CEO, governing body, all other senior management, and legal counsel.⁸⁰ The officer should have sufficient funding and staff to perform his or her responsibilities fully.

Coordination and communication are the key functions of the compliance officer with regard to planning, implementing, and monitoring the compliance program. Particularly in a small facility, the compliance officer may need to rely on the expertise of several professionals within the facility to carry out all of his or her responsibilities. For example, the compliance officer may need the payment specialist to help with billing issues, the director of nursing to address quality of care issues, etc. At the same time, the compliance officer must retain the integrity and objectivity not to compromise the program in deference to one or more disciplines or departments.

The compliance officer's primary responsibilities should include:

- overseeing and monitoring implementation of the compliance program;
- reporting on a regular basis to the nursing facility's governing body, CEO, and compliance committee (if applicable) on the progress of implementation, and assisting these components in establishing methods to improve the nursing facility's efficiency and quality of services, and to reduce the facility's vulnerability to fraud, abuse, and waste;
- periodically revising the program in light of changes in the organization's needs, and in the law and policies of Government and private payor health plans;
- developing, coordinating, and participating in a multifaceted educational and training program that focuses on the elements of the compliance program, and seeking to ensure that all relevant employees and management understand and comply with pertinent Federal and State standards;

⁸⁰ The OIG believes it is not advisable for the compliance function to be subordinate to the nursing facility's general counsel, or comptroller or similar financial officer. Free-standing compliance functions help to ensure independent and objective legal reviews and financial analysis of the institution's compliance efforts and activities. By separating the compliance function from the key management positions of general counsel or chief financial officer (where the size and structure of the nursing facility make this a feasible option), a system of checks and balances is established to more effectively achieve the goals of the compliance program.

• ensuring that independent contractors and agents who furnish physician, nursing, or other health care services to the residents of the nursing facility are aware of the residents' rights as well as requirements of the nursing facility's compliance program applicable to the services they provide;

- coordinating personnel issues with the nursing facility's Human Resources/Personnel office (or its equivalent) to ensure that (i) the National Practitioner Data Bank⁸¹ has been checked with respect to all medical staff and independent contractors (as appropriate) and (ii) the OIG's List of Excluded Individuals/Entities⁸² has been checked with respect to all employees, medical staff, and independent contractors;⁸³
- assisting the nursing facility's financial management in coordinating internal compliance review and monitoring activities, including annual or periodic reviews of departments;
- independently investigating and acting on matters related to compliance, including the flexibility to design and coordinate internal investigations (e.g., responding to reports of problems or suspected violations) and any resulting corrective action (e.g., making necessary improvements to nursing facility policies and practices, taking appropriate disciplinary action, etc.) with all nursing facility departments, subcontracted providers, and health care professionals under the nursing facility's control;
- participating with facility's counsel in the appropriate reporting of self-discovered violations of program requirements; and
- continuing the momentum of the compliance program after the initial years of implementation.⁸⁴

The compliance officer must have the authority to review all documents and other information that are relevant to compliance activities, including, but not limited to, medical and billing records, and documents concerning the marketing efforts of the nursing facility and its arrangements with other health

⁸² See note 60.

⁸³ The compliance officer may also have to ensure that the criminal backgrounds of employees have been checked depending upon State requirements or nursing facility policy.

⁸⁴ There are many approaches the compliance officer may enlist to maintain the vitality of the compliance program. Periodic on-site visits of nursing facility operations, bulletins with compliance updates and reminders, distribution of audiotapes or videotapes on different risk areas, lectures at management and employee meetings, and circulation of recent health care articles covering fraud and abuse are some examples of approaches the compliance officer can employ.

care providers, including physicians and independent contractors. This review authority enables the compliance officer to examine contracts and obligations (seeking the advice of legal counsel, where appropriate) that may contain referral and payment provisions that could violate the anti-kickback statute or regulatory requirements.

A small nursing facility may not have the resources to hire or appoint a full time compliance officer. Multi-facility providers also may consider appointing one compliance officer at the corporate level and designating compliance liaisons at each facility. In any event, each facility should have a person in its organization (this person may have other functional responsibilities) who can oversee the nursing facility's compliance with applicable statutes, rules, regulations, and policies. The structure and comprehensiveness of the facility's compliance program will help determine the responsibilities of each individual compliance officer.

2. Compliance Committee

The OIG recommends that a compliance committee be established to advise the compliance officer and assist in the implementation of the compliance program.⁸⁵ When developing an appropriate team of people to serve as the nursing facility's compliance committee, a facility should consider a variety of skills and personality traits that are expected from those in such positions.⁸⁶ Once a nursing facility chooses the people that will accept the responsibilities vested in members of the compliance committee, the nursing facility needs to train these individuals on the policies and procedures of the compliance program, as well as how to discharge their duties.

The committee's functions may include:

- analyzing the legal requirements with which the nursing facility must comply, and specific risk areas;
- assessing existing policies and procedures that address these risk areas for possible incorporation into the compliance program;
- working with appropriate departments to develop standards of conduct and policies and procedures to promote compliance with legal and ethical requirements;
- recommending and monitoring, in conjunction with the relevant departments, the development of internal systems and controls to carry out the organization's policies;
- determining the appropriate strategies and approaches to promote compliance with program requirements and detection of any potential violations, such as through hotlines and other fraud reporting mechanisms;
- developing a system to solicit, evaluate, and respond to complaints and problems; and
- monitoring internal and external audits and investigations for the purpose of identifying deficiencies, and implementing corrective action.

The committee also may undertake other functions as the compliance concept becomes part of the overall nursing facility operating structure and daily routine. The compliance committee is an extension of the compliance officer and provides the organization with increased oversight. The OIG recognizes that some nursing facilities may not have the resources or the need to establish a compliance committee. However, when potential problems are identified, the OIG recommends these nursing facilities create a "task force" to address the particular problem. The members of the task force may vary depending upon the issue.

D. Conducting Effective Training and Education

The proper education and training of corporate officers, managers, and health care professionals, and the continual retraining of current personnel at all levels, are critical elements of an effective compliance program. These training programs should include sessions summarizing the organization's compliance program, fraud and abuse laws, and Federal health care program and private payor requirements. More specific training on issues such as claims development and submission processes, residents' rights, and marketing practices should be targeted at those employees and contractors whose job requirements make the information relevant.⁸⁷

The organization must take steps to communicate effectively its standards and procedures to all affected employees, physicians, independent contractors, and other significant agents by requiring participation in such training programs or by other means, such as disseminating publications that explain specific requirements in a practical manner.⁸⁸

Managers of specific departments or groups can assist in identifying areas that require training and in carrying out such training.⁸⁹ Training instructors may come from outside or inside the organization, but must be qualified to present the subject matter involved and sufficiently experienced in the issues presented to adequately field questions and coordinate discussions among those being trained.

The nursing facility should train new employees soon after they have started working.⁹⁰ Appropriate training for temporary employees should be provided by the facility before they are assigned responsibility for resident care. Training programs and materials should be designed to take into account the skills, experience, and knowledge of the individual trainees. The compliance officer should document any formal training undertaken by the nursing facility as part of the compliance program.

A variety of teaching methods, such as interactive training and, where a nursing facility has a culturally diverse staff, training in different languages, should be implemented so that all affected employees (including temporary employees) understand the institution's standards of conduct and procedures for alerting senior management to problems and concerns.⁹¹

⁸⁷ Specific compliance training should complement any "in-service" training sessions that a nursing facility may regularly schedule to provide an ongoing program for the training of employees as required by the Medicare program.

In addition to specific training in the risk areas identified in section II.B.2, primary training for appropriate corporate officers, managers, and facility staff should include such topics as:

- compliance with Medicare participation requirements relevant to their respective duties and responsibilities;
- appropriate and sufficient documentation;
- prohibitions on paying or receiving remuneration to induce referrals;
- proper documentation in clinical or financial records;
- residents' rights; and
- the duty to report misconduct.

The OIG suggests that all relevant personnel participate in the various educational and training programs of the nursing facility.⁹² Employees should be required to have a minimum number of educational hours per year, as appropriate, as part of their employment responsibilities.⁹³ For example, for certain employees involved in the nursing facility admission functions, periodic training in applicable reimbursement coverage and eligibility requirements should be required. In nursing facilities with high employee turnover, periodic training updates are critical.

The OIG recognizes that the format of the training program will vary depending upon the resources of the nursing facility. For example, a nursing facility with limited resources may want to create a videotape for each type of training session so new employees can receive training in a timely manner. If videos are used for compliance training, the OIG suggests that a nursing facility make a knowledgeable individual available to field questions from video trainees.

The OIG recommends that participation in training programs be made a condition of continued employment and that failure to comply with training requirements should result in disciplinary action, when such comprehension of the nursing facility's policies and procedures.

⁹² In addition, where feasible, the OIG recommends that a nursing facility give vendors and outside contractors the opportunity to participate in the nursing facility's compliance training and educational programs. Such training is particularly important for facilities that rely on agencies to provide temporary direct care staff. The introduction of consolidated billing gives added importance to educating vendors about the facility's compliance policies and procedures.

failure is serious. Adherence to the training requirements as well as other provisions of the compliance program should be a factor in the annual evaluation of each employee. The nursing facility should retain adequate records of its training of employees, including attendance logs and material distributed at training sessions.

E. Developing Effective Lines of Communication

1. Access to the Compliance Officer

In order for a compliance program to work, employees must be able to ask questions and report problems. The first line supervisors play a key role in responding to employee concerns and it is appropriate that they serve as a first line of communications. In order to encourage communications, confidentiality and non-retaliation policies should be developed and distributed to all employees.⁹⁴

Open lines of communication between the compliance officer and nursing facility employees is equally important to the successful implementation of a compliance program and the reduction of any potential for fraud and abuse. In addition to serving as a contact point for reporting problems, the compliance officer should be viewed as someone to whom personnel can go to get clarification on the facility's policies. Questions and responses should be documented and dated and, if appropriate, shared with other staff so that standards can be updated and improved to reflect any necessary changes or clarifications.⁹⁵

2. Hotlines and Other Forms of Communication

lines of communication.⁹⁷ If the nursing facility establishes a hotline, the telephone number should be made readily available to all employees, independent contractors, residents, and family members by circulating the number on wallet cards or conspicuously posting the telephone number in common work areas. Nursing facilities also are required to post the names, addresses and telephone numbers of all pertinent State client advocacy groups such as the State survey and certification agency, State licensure office, State ombudsman program, the protection and advocacy network, and the State Medicaid Fraud Control Unit.⁹⁸

Employees should be permitted to report matters on an anonymous basis. Matters reported through the hotline or other communication sources that suggest substantial violations of compliance policies or Federal health care program statutes and regulations should be documented and investigated promptly to determine their veracity. The compliance officer should maintain a log that records such calls, including the nature of any investigation and its results.⁹⁹ Such information, redacted of individual identifiers, should be included in reports to the governing body, the CEO, and compliance committee.¹⁰⁰ While the nursing facility should always strive to maintain the confidentiality of an employee's identity, it also should make clear that there may be a point where the individual's identity may become known or may have to be revealed in certain instances. The OIG recognizes that protecting anonymity may be infeasible for small nursing facilities. However, the OIG believes all facility employees, when seeking answers to questions or reporting potential instances of fraud and abuse, should know to whom to turn for attention and

⁹⁵ Nursing facilities also may wish to consider rewarding employees for appropriate use of established reporting systems. After all, the employee who identifies and helps stop an abusive practice can benefit the corporation as much as one who identifies cost-savings measures or increases corporate revenues.

⁹⁶ The OIG recognizes that it may not be financially feasible for a smaller nursing facility to maintain a telephone hotline dedicated to receiving calls about compliance issues. These companies may want to explore alternative methods, e.g., outsourcing the hotline or establishing a written method of confidential disclosure.

⁹⁹ To efficiently and accurately fulfill such an obligation, the nursing facility should create an intake form for all compliance issues identified through reporting mechanisms. The form could include information concerning the date that the potential problem was reported, the results of the internal investigation, and, as appropriate, the corrective action implemented, the disciplinary measures imposed, and any identified overpayments returned.

should be able to do so without fear of retribution.

F. Auditing and Monitoring

The OIG believes that an effective program should incorporate thorough monitoring of its implementation and an ongoing evaluation process. The compliance officer should document this ongoing monitoring, including reports of suspected noncompliance, and share these assessments with the nursing facility's senior management and the compliance committee. The extent and frequency of the compliance audits may vary depending on variables such as the nursing facility's available resources, prior history of noncompliance, and the risk factors particular to the facility.¹⁰¹

Although many assessment techniques are available, one effective tool is the performance of regular, periodic compliance audits by internal or external evaluators who have expertise in Federal and State health care statutes, regulations, and program requirements, as well as private payor rules. These assessments should focus both on the nursing facility's day-to-day operations, as well as its adherence to the rules governing claims development, billing and cost reports, and relationships with third parties. The reviews also should address the nursing facility's compliance with Medicare requirements and the specific rules and policies that have been the focus of particular attention by the Medicare fiscal intermediaries or carriers, survey agencies, and law enforcement.¹⁰²

Monitoring techniques may include sampling protocols that permit the compliance officer to identify and review variations from an established performance baseline.¹⁰³ This performance baseline should include measurable patient outcomes, such as resident weight maintenance and pressure ulcers, established by the facility's Quality Assessment and

Assurance Committee. Significant variations from the baseline should trigger an inquiry to determine the cause of the deviation. If the inquiry determines that the deviation occurred for legitimate reasons, the compliance officer and nursing facility management may want to take no action. If it is determined that the deviation was caused by a departure from or misunderstanding of the facility's policies, the nursing facility should take prompt steps to correct the problem. Any overpayments discovered as a result of such deviations should be returned promptly to the affected payor,¹⁰⁴ with appropriate documentation and a sufficiently detailed explanation of the reason for the refund.¹⁰⁵

In addition to evaluating the facility's conformance with program rules, an effective compliance program also should incorporate periodic (at least annual) reviews of whether the program's compliance elements have been satisfied, e.g., whether there has been appropriate dissemination of the program's standards, ongoing educational programs, and internal investigations of alleged non-compliance. This process will assess actual conformance by all departments with the compliance program and may identify areas for improvements in the program, as well as the nursing facility's general operations.

The OIG requires a provider operating under a CIA to conduct an annual assessment of its compliance with the elements of the CIA. A compliance officer may want to review several CIAs in designing the facility's self-audit protocol.¹⁰⁶

As part of the review process, the compliance officer or reviewers should consider techniques such as:

- on-site visits to all facilities owned and/or operated by the nursing home owner;

- testing the billing and claims reimbursement staff on its knowledge of applicable program requirements and claims and billing criteria;

- unannounced mock surveys and audits;

- examination of the organization's complaint logs and investigative files;

- legal assessment of all contractual relationships with contractors, consultants and potential referral sources;

- reevaluation of deficiencies cited in past surveys for State requirements and Medicare participation requirements;

- checking personnel records to determine whether individuals who previously have been reprimanded for compliance issues are now conforming to facility policies;

- questionnaires developed to solicit impressions of a broad cross-section of the nursing facility's employees and staff concerning adherence to the code of conduct and policies and procedures, as well as their work loads and ability to address the residents' activities of daily living;

- validation of qualifications of nursing facility physicians and other staff, including verification of applicable State license renewals;

- trend analysis, or longitudinal studies, that uncover deviations in specific areas over a given period; and
- analyzing past survey reports for patterns of deficiencies to determine if the proposed corrective plan of action identified and corrected the underlying problem.

The reviewers should:

- have the qualifications and experience necessary to adequately identify potential issues with the subject matter that is reviewed;

- be objective and independent of line management to the extent reasonably possible;¹⁰⁷

- have access to existing audit and health care resources, relevant personnel, and all relevant areas of operation;

- present written evaluative reports on compliance activities to the CEO, governing body, and members of the compliance committee on a regular basis, but no less often than annually; and

- specifically identify areas where corrective actions are needed.

The extent and scope of a nursing facility's compliance self-audits will depend on the facility's identified risk areas, past history of deficiencies and ¹⁰¹ Even when a nursing facility or group of facilities is owned by a larger corporate entity, the regular auditing and monitoring of the compliance activities of an individual facility must be a key feature in any annual review. Appropriate reports on audit findings should be periodically provided and explained to a parent organization's senior staff and officers.

¹⁰² See also section II.B.2.

¹⁰³ The OIG recommends that when a compliance program is established in a nursing facility, the compliance officer, with the assistance of department managers, should take a "snapshot" of their operations from a compliance perspective. This assessment can be undertaken by outside consultants or internal staff, provided they have knowledge of health care program requirements. This "snapshot" can serve as a baseline for the compliance officer and other managers to judge the nursing facility's progress in reducing potential areas of vulnerability.

¹⁰⁴ See Provider Reimbursement Manual Part I, section 2836(D)(3), which sets out the MDS correction policy.

¹⁰⁶ Examples of CIA audit protocols can be obtained from the OIG by submitting a request pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act. The OIG recently has entered into CIAs with a number of nursing home providers that may be of particular relevance. In addition, the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA) has issued a detailed guide for conducting an independent assessment of a health care provider's conformance to a CIA. See AICPA Statement of Position 99-1, "Guidance to Practitioners in Conducting and Reporting on an Agreed-Upon Procedures Engagement to Assist in Evaluating Compliance with a Corporate Integrity Agreement" (May 1999).

enforcement actions, and resources. If the facility comes under Government scrutiny in the future, the Government will assess whether the facility developed a reasonable audit plan based upon identified risk areas and resources. If the Government determines that the nursing facility failed to develop an adequate audit program, the Government will be less likely to afford the nursing facility favorable treatment under the Federal Sentencing Guidelines.

G. Enforcing Standards Through Well-Publicized Disciplinary Guidelines

1. Disciplinary Policy and Enforcement

An effective compliance program should include disciplinary policies that set out the consequences of violating the nursing facility's standards of conduct, policies, and procedures. Intentional noncompliance should subject transgressors to significant sanctions. Such sanctions could range from oral warnings to suspension, termination, or financial penalties, as appropriate. Disciplinary action may be appropriate where a responsible employee's failure to detect a violation is attributable to his or her negligence or reckless conduct. Each situation must be considered on a case-by-case basis to determine the appropriate response.

The written standards of conduct should elaborate on the procedures for handling disciplinary problems and those who will be responsible for taking appropriate action. Some disciplinary actions can be handled by department or agency managers, while others may have to be resolved by a senior administrator. The nursing facility should advise personnel that disciplinary action will be taken on a fair and equitable basis. Managers and supervisors should be made aware that they have a responsibility to discipline employees in an appropriate and consistent manner.

It is vital to publish and disseminate the range of disciplinary standards for improper conduct and to educate employees regarding these standards. The consequences of noncompliance should be consistently applied and enforced, in order for the disciplinary policy to have the required deterrent effect. All levels of employees should be potentially subject to the same types of disciplinary action for the commission of similar offenses, because the commitment to compliance applies to all personnel within a nursing facility. This means that corporate officers, managers, and supervisors should be held accountable for failing to comply with, or for the foreseeable failure of their subordinates to adhere to, the applicable standards, laws, and procedures.

H. Responding to Detected Offenses and Developing Corrective Action Initiatives

Violations of a nursing facility's compliance program, failures to comply with applicable Federal or State law, and other types of misconduct threaten a facility's status as a reliable, honest and trustworthy provider of health care. Detected but uncorrected deficiencies can seriously endanger the reputation and legal status of the nursing facility. Consequently, upon receipt of reports or reasonable indications of suspected noncompliance, it is important that the compliance officer or other management officials immediately investigate the allegations to determine whether a material violation of applicable law or the requirements of the compliance program has occurred and, if so, take decisive steps to correct the problem.¹⁰⁸ As appropriate, such steps may include a corrective action plan,¹⁰⁹ the return of any overpayments, a report to the Government,¹¹⁰ and/or a referral to criminal and/or civil law enforcement authorities.

Where potential fraud is not involved, the OIG recommends that the nursing facility use normal repayment channels to return overpayments as they are discovered. However, even if the nursing facility's billing department is effectively using the overpayment detection and return process, the OIG ¹⁰⁸ Instances of noncompliance must be determined on a case-by-case basis. The existence or amount of a monetary loss to a health care program is not solely determinative of whether the conduct should be investigated and reported to governmental authorities. In fact, there may be instances where there is no readily identifiable monetary loss, but corrective actions are still necessary to protect the integrity of the applicable program and its beneficiaries, e.g., where failure to comply with the facility's policies and procedures results in inadequate or inappropriate care being furnished to a facility resident.

¹⁰⁹ The nursing facility may seek advice from its in-house counsel or an outside law firm to determine the extent of the facility's liability and to plan the appropriate course of action.

¹¹⁰ Nursing facilities are required to immediately report all alleged incidents of mistreatment, neglect, abuse (including injuries of unknown source), and misappropriation of resident property to both the facility administrator and other officials in accordance with State law. See 42 CFR 483.13(c)(2). This is the appropriate channel for reporting quality of care issues. The OIG also has established a provider self-disclosure protocol that encourages providers voluntarily to report suspected fraud. The concept of voluntary self-disclosure is premised on a recognition that the Government alone cannot protect the integrity of Medicare and other Federal health care programs. Health care providers must be willing to police themselves, correct underlying problems, and work with the Government to resolve these matters. The self-disclosure protocol can be located on the OIG's web site at: <http://www.hhs.gov/oig>.

believes that the facility needs to alert the compliance officer to those overpayments that may reveal trends or patterns indicative of a systemic problem.

Where there are indications of potential fraud, an internal investigation may be warranted and will probably include interviews and a review of relevant documents. Under some circumstances, the facility may need to consider engaging outside counsel, auditors, or health care experts to assist in an investigation. The investigative file should contain documentation of the alleged violation, a description of the investigative process (including the objectivity of the investigators and methodologies utilized), copies of interview notes and key documents, a log of the witnesses interviewed and the documents reviewed, the results of the investigation, e.g., any disciplinary action taken, and the corrective action implemented. While any action taken as the result of an investigation will necessarily vary depending upon the situation, nursing facilities should strive for some consistency by using sound practices and disciplinary protocols.¹¹¹ Further, the compliance officer should review the circumstances that formed the basis for the investigation to determine whether similar problems have been uncovered or modifications of the compliance program are necessary to prevent and detect other inappropriate conduct or violations.

If the nursing facility undertakes an investigation of an alleged violation and the compliance officer believes the integrity of the investigation may be at stake because of the presence of employees under investigation, the facility should remove those individuals from their current responsibilities until the investigation is completed (unless there is an ongoing internal or Government-led undercover operation known to the nursing facility). In addition, the compliance officer should take appropriate steps to secure or prevent the destruction of documents or other evidence relevant to the investigation. If the nursing facility determines that disciplinary action is warranted, it should be promptly imposed in accordance with the facility's written standards of disciplinary action.

¹¹¹ The parameters of a claims review subject to an internal investigation will depend on the circumstances surrounding the issues identified. By limiting the scope of an internal audit to current billing, a nursing facility may fail to discover major problems and deficiencies in operations, and may subject itself to liability.

1. Reporting

Where the compliance officer, compliance committee, or a management official discovers credible evidence of misconduct from any source and, after a reasonable inquiry, has reason to believe that the misconduct may violate criminal, civil or administrative law, the facility should promptly report the existence of misconduct to the appropriate Federal and State authorities¹¹² within a reasonable period, but not more than 60 days¹¹³ after determining that there is credible evidence of a violation.¹¹⁴ Prompt voluntary reporting will demonstrate the nursing facility's good faith and willingness to work with governmental authorities to correct and remedy the problem. In addition, reporting such conduct will be considered a mitigating factor by the OIG in determining administrative sanctions (e.g., penalties, assessments, and exclusion), if the reporting provider becomes the target of an OIG investigation.¹¹⁵

When reporting to the Government, a nursing facility should provide all evidence relevant to the alleged violation of applicable Federal or State law(s) and potential cost impact. The compliance officer, under advice of counsel and with guidance from the governmental authorities, could be requested to continue to investigate the reported violation. Once the investigation is completed, the compliance officer should notify the appropriate governmental authority of the outcome of the investigation, including a description of the impact of the alleged violation on the operation of the applicable health care programs or their beneficiaries. If the investigation ultimately reveals that criminal, civil or administrative violations have occurred, the nursing facility should immediately notify appropriate Federal and State authorities.

As previously stated, the nursing facility should take appropriate corrective action, including prompt identification and return of any overpayment to the affected payor. If potential fraud is involved, the nursing facility should return any overpayment during the course of its disclosure to the Government. Otherwise, the nursing facility should use normal repayment channels for reimbursing identified overpayments.¹¹⁶ A knowing and willful failure to disclose overpayments within a reasonable period of time could be interpreted as an attempt to conceal the overpayment from the Government, thereby establishing an independent basis for a criminal violation with respect to the nursing facility, as well as any individual who may have been involved.¹¹⁷ For this reason, nursing facility compliance programs should emphasize that overpayments should be promptly disclosed and returned to the entity that made the erroneous payment.

III. Assessing the Effectiveness of a Compliance Program

Considering the financial and human resources needed to establish an effective compliance program, sound business principles dictate that the nursing home's management evaluate the return on that investment. In addition, a compliance program must be "effective" for the Government to view its existence as a mitigating factor when assessing culpability. How a nursing facility assesses its compliance program performance is therefore integral to its success. The attributes of each individual element of a compliance program must be evaluated in order to assess the program's "effectiveness" as a whole. Examining the comprehensiveness of policies and procedures implemented to satisfy these elements is merely the first step. Evaluating how a compliance program performs during the provider's day-to-day operations becomes the critical indicator.¹¹⁸

As previously stated, a compliance program should require the development and distribution of written compliance policies, standards, and practices that identify specific areas of risk and vulnerability. One way to judge whether these policies, standards, and practices measure up is to observe how an organization's employees react to them. Do employees experience recurring pitfalls because the guidance on certain issues is not adequately covered in company policies? Do employees flagrantly disobey an organization's standards of conduct because they observe no sincere buy-in from senior management? Do employees have trouble understanding policies and procedures because they are written in legalese or at difficult reading levels? Does an organization routinely experience systematic billing failures because of poor instructions to employees on how to implement written policies and practices? Written compliance policies, standards, and practices are only as good as an organization's commitment to apply them in practice.

Every nursing facility needs to seriously consider whoever fills the integral roles of compliance officer and compliance committee members, and periodically monitor how the individuals chosen satisfy their responsibilities. Does a compliance officer have sufficient professional experience working with billing, clinical records, documentation, and auditing principles to perform assigned responsibilities fully? Has a compliance officer or compliance committee been unsuccessful in fulfilling their duties because of inadequate funding, staff, and authority necessary to carry out their jobs? Did the addition of the compliance officer function to a key management position with other significant duties compromise the goals of the compliance program (e.g., chief financial officer who discounts certain overpayments identified to improve the company's bottom line profits)? Since a ¹¹² Appropriate Federal and State authorities include the OIG, the Criminal and Civil Divisions of the Department of Justice, the U.S. Attorney in relevant districts, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the other investigative arms for the agencies administering the affected Federal or State health care programs, such as the State Survey Agency, the State Medicaid Fraud Control Unit, the Defense Criminal Investigative Service, the Department of Veterans Affairs, and the Office of Personnel Management (which administers the Federal Employee Health Benefits Program). State law may further specify types of misconduct and to whom a facility must report its findings. See note 110.

¹¹⁴ Some violations may be so serious that they warrant immediate notification to governmental authorities prior to, or simultaneous with, commencing an internal investigation. By way of example, the OIG believes a provider should report misconduct that: (1) is a clear violation of OIG administrative authorities, or civil or criminal fraud laws; (2) has a significant adverse effect on the quality of care provided to residents (in addition to any other legal obligations regarding quality of care); or (3) indicates evidence of a systemic failure to comply with applicable laws or an existing corporate integrity agreement, regardless of the financial impact on Federal health care programs.

¹¹⁵ The OIG has published criteria setting forth those factors that the OIG takes into consideration in determining whether it is appropriate to exclude a health care provider from program participation pursuant to 42 U.S.C. 1320a-7(b)(7) for violations of various fraud and abuse laws. See 62 FR 67392 (December 24, 1997).

compliance officer and a compliance committee can have a significant impact on how effectively a compliance program is implemented, those functions should not be taken for granted.

As evidenced throughout this guidance, the proper education and training of corporate officers, managers, health care professionals, and other applicable employees of a provider, and the continual retraining of current personnel at all levels, are significant elements of an effective compliance program. Accordingly, such efforts should be routinely evaluated. How frequently are employees trained? Are employees tested after training? Do the training sessions and materials adequately summarize the important aspects of the organization's compliance program? Are training instructors qualified to present the subject matter and field questions? When thorough compliance training is periodically conducted, employees receive the reinforcement they need to ensure an effective compliance program.

An open line of communication between the compliance officer and a provider's employees is equally important to the success of a compliance program. In today's intensive regulatory environment, the OIG believes that a provider cannot possibly have an effective compliance program if it does not receive feedback from its employees regarding compliance matters. For instance, if a compliance officer does not receive appropriate inquiries from employees: Do policies and procedures adequately guide employees to whom and when they should be communicating compliance matters? Are employees confident that they can report compliance matters to management without fear of retaliation? Are employees reporting issues through the proper channels? Do employees have the proper motives for reporting compliance matters? Regardless of the means that a provider uses, whether it is telephone hotline, email, or suggestion boxes, employees should seek clarification from compliance staff in the event of any confusion or question dealing with compliance policies, practices, or procedures.

An effective compliance program should include guidance regarding disciplinary action for corporate officers, managers, health care professionals, and other employees who have failed to adhere to an organization's standards of conduct, Federal health care program requirements, or Federal or State laws. The number and caliber of disciplinary actions taken by an organization can be insightful. Have appropriate sanctions been applied to compliance misconduct? Are sanctions applied to all employees consistently, regardless of an employee's level in the corporate hierarchy? Have double-standards in discipline bred cynicism among employees? When disciplinary action is not taken seriously or applied haphazardly, such practices reflect poorly on senior management's commitment to foster compliance as well as the effectiveness of an organization's compliance program in general.

Another critical component of a successful compliance program is an ongoing monitoring and auditing process. The extent and frequency of the audit function may vary depending on factors such as the size and available resources, prior history of noncompliance, and risk factors of a particular nursing facility. The hallmark of effective monitoring and auditing efforts is how an organization determines the parameters of its reviews. Do audits focus on all pertinent departments of an organization? Does an audit cover compliance with all applicable laws, as well as Federal and private payor requirements? Are results of past audits, pre-established baselines, or prior deficiencies reevaluated? Are the elements of the compliance program monitored? Are auditing techniques valid and conducted by objective reviewers? The extent and sincerity of an organization's efforts to confirm its compliance often proves to be a revealing determinant of a compliance program's effectiveness.

It is essential that the compliance officer or other management officials immediately investigate reports or reasonable indications of suspected noncompliance. If a material violation of applicable law or compliance program requirements has occurred, a provider must take decisive steps to correct the problem. Nursing facilities that do not thoroughly investigate misconduct leave themselves open to undiscovered problems. When a provider learns of certain issues, it should evaluate how it assesses its legal exposure. What is the correlation between the deficiency identified and the corrective action necessary to remedy? Are isolated overpayment matters properly resolved through normal repayment channels? Is credible evidence of misconduct that may violate criminal, civil or administrative law promptly reported to the appropriate Federal and State authorities? If the process of responding to detected offenses is circumvented, such conduct would indicate an ineffective compliance program.

Documentation is the key to demonstrating the effectiveness of a nursing facility's compliance program. For example, documentation of the following should be maintained: audit results; logs of hotline calls and their resolution; corrective action plans; due diligence efforts regarding business transactions; records of employee training, including the number of training hours; disciplinary action; and modification and distribution of policies and procedures. Because the OIG encourages self-disclosure of overpayments and billing irregularities, maintaining a record of disclosures and refunds to the Federal health care programs and private insurers is strongly endorsed. A documented practice of refunding of overpayments and self-disclosing incidents of non-compliance with Federal and private payor health care program requirements is powerful evidence of a meaningful compliance effort.

IV. Conclusion

Through this document, the OIG has attempted to provide a foundation for the process necessary to develop an effective and cost-efficient nursing facility compliance program. However, each program must be tailored to fit the needs and resources of a particular facility, depending upon its unique corporate structure, mission, and employee composition. The statutes, regulations, and guidelines of the Federal health care programs, as well as the policies and procedures of private health plans, should be integrated into every nursing facility's compliance program.

The OIG recognizes that the health care industry in this country, which reaches millions of beneficiaries and expends about a trillion dollars annually, is constantly evolving. The time is right for nursing facilities to implement a strong voluntary health care compliance program. Compliance is a dynamic process that helps to ensure that nursing facilities and other health care providers are better able to fulfill their commitment to ethical behavior, as well as meet the changes and challenges being placed upon them by Congress and private insurers. Ultimately, it is the OIG's hope that a voluntarily created compliance program will enable nursing facilities to meet their goals, improve the quality of resident care, and substantially reduce fraud, waste, and abuse, as well as the cost of health care to Federal, State, and private health insurers.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Fish and Wildlife Service

Availability of a Habitat Conservation Plan and Receipt of an Application for an Incidental Take Permit for the Prairie City Crossing Project, Folsom, Sacramento County, CA

AGENCY: Fish and Wildlife Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice of availability.

SUMMARY: Regency Realty has applied to the Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) for an incidental take permit pursuant to section 10(a)(1)(B) of the Endangered Species Act of 1973, as amended (Act). The Service proposes to issue a 2-year permit to Regency Realty that would authorize take of the threatened valley elderberry longhorn beetle (Desmocerus californicus dimorphus; beetle) incidental to otherwise lawful activities. Such take would occur as a result of development of a supermarket, parking lot, and service station on the Prairie City Crossing Project site in Folsom, Sacramento County, California.

The application includes a Habitat Conservation Plan (Plan). The Plan describes the proposed project and the measures that Regency Realty would undertake to minimize and mitigate take of the beetle, as required in section 10(a)(2)(B) of the Act. Development would result in the loss of 1 elderberry plant with 4 stems that provide habitat for the beetle. We request comments on the Plan.

We also request comments on our preliminary determination that the Plan qualifies as a "low-effect" Habitat Conservation Plan, eligible for a categorical exclusion under the National Environmental Policy Act. The basis for this determination is discussed in an Environmental Action Statement, which is also available for public review.

This notice is provided pursuant to section 10(a) of the Act and National Environmental Policy Act regulations (40 CFR 1506.6). The Plan and the Environmental Action Statement are available for review and comment by other agencies and the public. All comments received, including names and addresses, will become part of the public record and will be available for review pursuant to section 10(c) of the Act.

DATES: Written comments must be received no later than April 17, 2000.

ADDRESSES: Send written comments to Mr. Wayne White, Field Supervisor, Fish and Wildlife Service, 2800 Cottage Way, Suite W-2605, Sacramento, California 95825-1846. Comments may be sent by facsimile to 916-414-6610.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ms. Vicki Campbell, Chief of Conservation Planning Division, at the above address or call (916) 414-6600.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Document Availability

Please contact the above office if you would like copies of the application, Plan, and Environmental Action Statement. Documents also will be available for review by appointment, during normal business hours at the above address.

Background

Section 9 of the Act and Federal regulation prohibit the "take" of fish or wildlife species listed as endangered or threatened, respectively. Take of listed fish or wildlife is defined under the Act to mean harass, harm, pursue, hunt, shoot, wound, kill, trap, capture, collect, or to attempt to engage in any such conduct. However, the Service may, under limited circumstances, issue permits to authorize incidental take; i.e., take that is incidental to, and not the purpose of, the carrying out of an otherwise lawful activity. Regulations governing incidental take permits for threatened and endangered species are found in 50 CFR 17.32 and 17.22, respectively.

The proposed Prairie City Crossing Project is located at the northwest corner of Prairie City and Iron Point roads in the City of Folsom, Sacramento County, California, which corresponds to Township 9 North, Range 7 East of the "Folsom, California" topographic quadrangle (United States Geological Survey, Photorevised 1980). Regency Realty is requesting a 2-year incidental take permit to authorize take of the beetle on the project site.

The Prairie City Crossing Project consists of the proposed construction of a Safeway supermarket, parking lot, and service station on an 11-acre parcel. The entire project area has been disturbed by prior mining activities that occurred during the early 1900s. The existing habitat on the site consists of dredger tailings, annual grassland, and pockets of foothill pine/oak woodland within the tailings.

One elderberry shrub, containing three stems that are between 1 and 3 inches in diameter and one stem that is greater than 5 inches in diameter at ground level, occurs on the project site within the impact area as potential habitat for the federally-threatened beetle. A single adult beetle exit hole was found in this shrub. Construction of the proposed project would result in the removal of the elderberry shrub. The project site does not contain any riparian habitat. The project site does not contain any other rare, threatened, or endangered species or habitat. No critical habitat for any listed species occurs on the project site.

Under the HCP, mitigation for impacts to the beetle would conform to the Fish and Wildlife Service's 1999 Mitigation Guidelines. The single elderberry shrub affected by the proposed project would not be transplanted because it is located at the bottom of a cobble ravine, surrounded by dredger tailings, and access by heavy equipment is extremely difficult. Prior to undertaking transplantation, considerable grading would have to be completed in order to construct an access road that could be used by heavy equipment. A vermeer spade could not be used because of the rocky nature of the site. In addition, if this elderberry shrub were to be transplanted, its survival would be questionable because much of the rootball probably would be destroyed during the transplanting process. Therefore, Regency Realty proposes to purchase 5 beetle mitigation credits at the Wildlands Mitigation Bank, a Service-approved mitigation site. Purchase of these credits would result in the planting of 24 elderberry plants and 16 associated native tree species to mitigate for impacts to 4 stems.

The Proposed Action consists of the issuance of an incidental take permit and implementation of the Plan, which includes measures to minimize and mitigate impacts of the project on the beetle. One alternative to the taking of listed species under the Proposed Action is considered in the Plan. Under the No Action Alternative, no permit would be issued. However, the No Action Alternative is inconsistent with local development goals and would result in the undisturbed elderberry shrub being left on the site in an isolated patch of open space with little habitat value.

The Service has made a preliminary determination that the Plan qualifies as a "low-effect" plan as defined by its Habitat Conservation Planning Handbook (November 1996). Determination of low-effect Habitat Conservation Plans is based on the following three criteria: (1) Implementation of the Plan would result in minor or negligible effects on federally listed, proposed, and candidate species and their habitats; (2) implementation of the Plan would result in minor or negligible effects on other environmental values or resources; and (3) impacts of the Plan, considered together with the impacts of other past, present, and reasonably foreseeable similarly situated projects would not result, over time, in cumulative effects to environmental values or resources which would be considered significant. As more fully explained in the Service's Environmental Action Statement, the Prairie City Crossing Project Plan qualifies as a "low-effect" plan for the following reasons:

1. Approval of the Plan would result in minor or negligible effects on the beetle and its habitat. The Service does not anticipate significant direct or cumulative effects to the beetle resulting from development of the Prairie City Crossing Project area.

2. Approval of the Plan would not have adverse effects on unique geographic, historic or cultural sites, or involve unique or unknown environmental risks.

3. Approval of the Plan would not result in any cumulative or growth inducing impacts and, therefore, would not result in significant adverse effects on public health or safety.

4. The project does not require compliance with Executive Order 11988 (Floodplain Management), Executive Order 11990 (Protection of Wetlands), or the Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, nor does it threaten to violate a Federal, State, local or tribal law or requirement imposed for the protection of the environment.

5. Approval of the Plan would not establish a precedent for future action or represent a decision in principle about future actions with potentially significant environmental effects.

The Service therefore has preliminarily determined that approval of the Plan qualifies as a categorical exclusion under the National Environmental Policy Act, as provided by the Department of the Interior Manual (516 DM 2, Appendix 1 and 516 DM 6, Appendix 1). Based upon this preliminary determination, we do not intend to prepare further National Environmental Policy Act documentation. The Service will consider public comments in making its final determination on whether to prepare such additional documentation.

The Service provides this notice pursuant to section 10(c) of the Act. We will evaluate the permit application, the Plan, and comments submitted thereon to determine whether the application meets the requirements of section 10(a) of the Act. If the requirements are met, the Service will issue a permit to Regency Realty for the incidental take of the beetle from development of the Prairie City Crossing Project site. The final permit decision will be made no sooner than 30 days from the date of this notice.

This program, which complements the COPS Office's efforts to fund 100,000 additional community policing officers and to support innovative community policing, will enhance law enforcement infrastructures and community policing efforts in tribal communities which have limited resources and are affected by high rates of crime and violence. Applications should reflect the department's most serious law enforcement needs and must link these needs to the implementation or enhancement of community policing. In addition, a written plan to retain COPS-funded officer positions after federal funding has ended must be submitted with the grant application.

All Federally Recognized Tribes with established police departments or existing police efforts are eligible to apply. Tribes that wish to establish police departments and meet specific criteria are eligible to apply. Tribes or villages may also apply as a consortium with a written partnership agreement that names a lead agency and describes how requested resources will serve the consortium's population. In addition, tribes that are currently served by Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) law enforcement may request funding under this grant program to supplement their existing police services. Tribes whose law enforcement services are provided by local policing agencies through a contract agreement are not eligible under the COPS program, but may apply to the COPS Universal Hiring Program for police officer positions only.

DATES: Applications will be sent to all Federally Recognized Tribes with existing law enforcement efforts by early March 2000. Tribes or villages that wish to apply as a start-up or consortium may request an application kit from the COPS Office. The deadline for the submission of applications is May 5, 2000. SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Overview

The Violent Crime Control and Law Enforcement Act of 1994 (Pub. L. 103-322) authorizes the Department of Justice to make grants to increase deployment of law enforcement officers devoted to community policing on the streets and rural routes in this nation. As part of the Clinton Administration's commitment to combat and prevent crime in America's Tribal communities, the Justice Department's Office of Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS) has made funding available through the Tribal Resource Grant Program, a program developed to meet the most serious needs of law enforcement in Indian communities through a broadened, comprehensive hiring program that will offer a "menu of options" from salary and benefits for new police personnel to funding for law enforcement training and equipment for new and existing officers. This program, which complements the COPS Office's efforts to fund 100,000 additional community policing officers and support innovative community policing, will enhance law enforcement infrastructures and community policing efforts in these Tribal communities, many of which have limited resources and are affected by high rates of crime and violence.

The Tribal Resources Grant Program is part of a larger federal initiative which over the last three years, has resulted in the Department of Interior and Justice working in collaboration to improve law enforcement in tribal communities. A total of $91.5 million has been appropriated to several DOJ agencies including the FBI, the Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA), the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP), the Corrections Program Office (CPO), and the COPS Office. COPS is coordinating with these agencies as well as with the Office of Law Enforcement Services of the Bureau of Indian Affairs to ensure that limited resources are not spent on duplicative efforts.

The Tribal Resources Grant will provide tribal communities with the resources to: hire new police officers; train new and existing officers in community policing, grants management and computer training as well as basic police training at a state academy or the Indian Police Academy in Artesia, NM; and provide basic standard issue equipment, ranging from bullet-proof vests and uniforms, to firearms and portable radios.

The Tribal Resources Grant Program emphasizes deployment of officers and resources into communities that are affected by high rates of crime and violence. Applicants must submit a written plan to retain their COPS-funded officer positions after federal funding has ended. This plan must be submitted to the COPS Office with the Tribal Resource Grant Program application.

A total of $40,000,000 in funding will be available under the Tribal Resources Grant Program. The grant will cover a maximum federal Share of 75% of total project costs, including approved salary and benefits of entry-level police officers (up to a maximum of $75,000 per officer over three years), basic law enforcement training and equipment, vehicles, and technology. A local match requirement of 25% of the total project costs is included in this program. A waiver of the local match requirement may be requested but will be granted only on the basis of documented demonstrated fiscal hardship. Requests for waivers must be submitted with the application.

Tribes whose law enforcement services are provided by local policing agencies through contract arrangements are not eligible under this COPS program. However, tribes that do not meet the eligibility requirements for this program may apply to the COPS Office Universal Hiring Program for police officer positions only.

Receiving an award under the Tribal Resources Grant Program will not preclude grantees from future consideration under other COPS grant programs for which they are eligible.

The Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance (CFDA) reference for this program is 16,710.

BILLING CODE 7555-01-M

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

Florida Power Corporation et al. (Crystal River Unit 3); Exemption

I

Florida Power Corporation et al. (FPC or the licensee) is the holder of Facility Operating License No. DPR-72, which authorizes the operation of Crystal River Unit 3 (CR-3). The license states that the licensee is subject to all the rules, regulations, and orders of the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission or NRC) now or hereafter in effect.

The facility consists of a pressurized-water reactor at the licensee's site located in Citrus County, Florida.

II

Title 10 of the Code of Federal Regulations (10 CFR), Part 70, Section 70.51, "Material balance, inventory, and records requirements," in sub-section (c) states that "Each licensee who is authorized to possess at any one time special nuclear material in a quantity exceeding one effective kilogram of special nuclear material shall establish, maintain, and follow written material control and accounting procedures that are sufficient to enable the licensee to account for the special nuclear material in the licensee's possession under license." Sub-section (d) states that "Except as required by paragraph (e) of this section, each licensee who is authorized to possess at any one time and location special nuclear material in a quantity totaling more than 350 grams of contained uranium-235, uranium-233, or plutonium, or any combination thereof, shall conduct a physical inventory of all special nuclear material in his possession under license at intervals not to exceed twelve months."

By letter dated July 14, 1999, the licensee requested an exemption from the requirement of 10 CFR 70.51(d) that requires a 12-month physical inventory of the fuel in the spent fuel pool (SFP) due to the positioning of missile shields over the pool. The proposed exemption would allow the physical inventory of the special nuclear material (SNM) located in the CR-3 SFP to be performed each refueling outage, when the missile shields are removed for fuel movement, without having to perform physical inventories between outages if the missile shields have not been removed for other reasons. In order to perform the physical inventory, the licensee must remove four of the missile shields, which weigh approximately 6200 pounds each. Approximately two-man weeks of labor are required to perform the physical inventory if shield removal and re-installation are necessary. An exemption from this requirement would reduce the burden associated with the physical inventories as well as the personal safety risks associated with movement of the missile shields.

III

Pursuant to 10 CFR 70.14, "Specific exemptions," the Commission may, upon application of any interested person or upon its own initiative, grant such exemptions from the requirements of the regulations in this part as it determines are authorized by law and will not endanger life or property or the common defense and security and are otherwise in the public interest.

The underlying purpose of the physical inventory required by 10 CFR 70.51(d) is to verify that the material control and accounting procedures are sufficient to enable the licensee to account for the SNM in the licensee's possession under license. The CR-3 SFP has missile shields installed directly over the SFP to provide protection from tornado generated missiles. These shields are required to be installed at all times except when performing activities associated with handling fuel or pool maintenance. The missile shields weigh approximately 6200 pounds each and each is secured in place by four bolts. Movement of the missile shields requires the use of shield-handling devices and auxiliary building cranes.

The missile shields provide a physical barrier over the entire SFP, preventing access to the fuel in the SFP without first removing the shields. In addition, when the missile shields are in place, the Fuel Handling Bridge is immobilized. Thus, the missile shields serve to restrict access to the fuel in the SFP and protect the SNM from inadvertent and unauthorized movements or damage. Therefore, while the missile shields are installed, the inventory of SNM in the SFP cannot change.

Removal and installation of the SFP missile shields are administratively controlled by Refueling Procedure FP-434, "Spent Fuel Pool Missile Shields." Prior to movement of any missile shield, the Nuclear Shift Manager must be notified. Thus, required adherence to the refueling procedures will control access to the SFP by controlling movement of the missile shields.

Instead of performing the physical inventory of SNM in the SFP every 12 months, FPC will perform a physical inventory of the SFP within 90 days of removing the missile shields over the fuel in the SFP, if a physical inventory has not been performed within the preceding 12 months. This will allow the physical inventory to be performed each refueling outage without having to remove the SFP missile shields solely to perform physical inventories between outages.

Based on the above, the staff finds that an exemption from the requirement to perform a physical inventory of the SNM in the SFP every 12 months is acceptable, in that the missile shields, in conjunction with the administrative controls governing their movement, ensure proper accountability of the SNM in the SFP between periods when the shields are removed.

IV

For the foregoing reasons, the NRC staff has determined that the proposed alternative measures for physical inventories of SNM in the CR-3 spent fuel pool continue to meet the requirements of 10 CFR 70.51 when the missile shields, which represent a physical barrier, are in place. A specific exemption is granted to the requirements in 10 CFR 70.51(d) for conducting a twelve-month physical inventory of SNM located in the CR-3 spent fuel pool.

Accordingly, the Commission has determined that the proposed change: (1) is authorized by law; (2) will not endanger life or property; (3) will not endanger the common defense and security; and (4) is otherwise in the public interest. Therefore, the Commission hereby grants Florida Power Corporation the following exemption:

The Florida Power Corporation, et al., is exempt from the requirements of 10 CFR 70.51(d) with respect to performing a physical inventory of the special nuclear material in the Crystal River Unit 3 spent fuel pool every 12 months. A physical inventory of the special nuclear material in the spent fuel pool will be conducted within 90 days of removal of the missile shields over the fuel in the spent fuel pool, if a physical inventory has not been performed within the preceding 12 months. This exemption only applies to the special nuclear material located in the Crystal River Unit 3 spent fuel pool.

Pursuant to 10 CFR 51.32, the Commission has determined that this exemption will not have a significant effect on the quality of the human environment (65 FR 12592).

This exemption is effective upon issuance.

For the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Director, Division of Licensing Project Management, Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation.

BILLING CODE 7590-01-P

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

Carolina Power & Light Company; Shearon Harris Nuclear Power Plant, Unit 1, Environmental Assessment and Finding of No Significant Impact

The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) is considering issuance of an amendment to Facility Operating License No. NPF-

63, issued to Carolina Power & Light Company (CP&L, the licensee), for operation of the Shearon Harris Nuclear Power Plant, Unit 1, (HNP) located in Wake and Chatham Counties, North Carolina.

Environmental Assessment

Identification of the Proposed Action

The proposed action is a one time exemption from the requirements of Title 10 of the Code of Federal Regulations (10 CFR) Part 50, Appendix E, Items IV.F.2.b and c regarding conduct of a full participation exercise of the onsite and offsite emergency plans every 2 years. Under the proposed exemption, the licensee would reschedule the exercise originally scheduled for September 21, 1999, and complete the onsite and offsite exercise requirements in two parts. The licensee would use the onsite exercise conducted on January 11, 2000, without the participation of the State of North Carolina and local government response agencies, to meet the onsite requirement. The offsite portion of the exercise would be conducted on June 27, 2000, with the participation of the State of North Carolina and local government response agencies.

The proposed action is in accordance with the licensee's application for an exemption dated December 7, 1999.

The Need for the Proposed Action

10 CFR Part 50, Appendix E, Items IV.F.2.b and c requires each licensee at each site to conduct an exercise of its onsite and offsite emergency plan every 2 years. Federal agencies (the Nuclear Regulatory Commission for the onsite exercise portion and the Federal Emergency Management Agency for the offsite exercise portion) observe these exercises and evaluate the performance of the licensee, State and local authorities having a role under the emergency plan.

The licensee had initially planned to conduct an exercise of its onsite and offsite emergency plan on September 21, 1999, within the required 2-year required interval. However, due to the significant impact and damage from hurricane "Floyd," the State of North Carolina and the local emergency response agencies were occupied with responding to the natural disaster and were unable to participate in and could not support the exercise.

Environmental Impacts of the Proposed Action

The Commission has completed its evaluation of the proposed action and concludes that the proposed action involves an administrative activity (a schedular change in conducting an exercise) unrelated to plant operations.

The proposed action will not increase the probability or consequences of accidents, no changes are being made in the types of any effluents that may be released offsite, and there is no significant increase in occupational or public radiation exposure. Therefore, there are no significant radiological environmental impacts associated with the proposed action.

With regard to potential non-radiological impacts, the proposed action does not involve any historic sites. It does not affect non-radiological plant effluents and has no other environmental impact. Therefore, there are no significant non-radiological environmental impacts associated with the proposed action.

Accordingly, the Commission concludes that there are no significant environmental impacts associated with the proposed action.

Alternatives to the Proposed Action

As an alternative to the proposed action, the staff considered denial of the proposed action (i.e., the "no-action" alternative). Denial of the application would result in no change in current environmental impacts. The environmental impacts of the proposed action and the alternative action are similar.

Alternative Use of Resources

This action does not involve the use of any resources not previously considered in the Final Environmental Statement for the Shearon Harris Nuclear Power Plant.

Agencies and Persons Consulted

In accordance with its stated policy, on February 22, 2000, the staff consulted with the North Carolina State official, Mr. Johnny James of the North Carolina Department of Environment and Natural Resources, regarding the environmental impact of the proposed action. The State official had no comments. In addition, by letter dated January 19, 2000, from Ms. Vanessa Quinn, the Federal Emergency Management Agency indicated support for rescheduling the exercise.

Finding of No Significant Impact

On the basis of the environmental assessment, the Commission concludes that the proposed action will not have a significant effect on the quality of the human environment. Accordingly, the Commission has determined not to prepare an environmental impact statement for the proposed action.

For further details with respect to the proposed action, see the licensee's letter dated December 7, 2000, which is available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, The Gelman Building, 2120 L Street, NW., Washington, DC. Publicly available records will be accessible electronically from the ADAMS Public Library component on the NRC Web site, <http://www.nrc.gov> (the Electronic Reading Room).

Dated at Rockville, Maryland, this 9th day of March 2000.

Notice of Public Workshop on Prioritizing Nuclear Materials Regulatory Applications for New Risk-Informed Approaches

AGENCY: U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

ACTION: Notice of meeting.

SUMMARY: The U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) staff is in the initial stage of developing an approach for using risk information in the nuclear materials regulatory process. As a first step, the NRC staff has developed draft screening criteria for new regulatory applications to meet to be candidates for expanded use of risk information. The NRC staff has scheduled a workshop to (1) solicit public input in the development of these screening criteria and their applications, and (2) solicit public input in the process for developing appropriate nuclear materials safety goals. The meeting is open to the public and all interested parties may attend and provide comments.

DATES: The workshop will be held on April 25, 2000 from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and April 26, 2000 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon. Submit comments by May 19, 2000.

ADDRESSES: Exact location of the workshop has yet to be determined, but will be in the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area. When available, the location will be posted on the NRC website (www.nrc.gov) under meeting notices. Mail written comments to David L. Meyer, Chief, Rules and Directives Branch, T6-D59, Washington, D.C., 20555-0001.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION, CONTACT:

Stacey Rosenberg, Mail Stop T-8-K10, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, DC 20555-0001. Telephone: (301) 415-8117; Internet: SLR1@NRC.GOV. An agenda will be available to the public and will be distributed to participants prior to the workshop. Contact the workshop facilitator, Chip Cameron, regarding the agenda and workshop location. Telephone: 301-415-1642; Internet: FXC@NRC.GOV.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In SECY-99-100, "Framework for Risk-Informed Regulation in the Office of Nuclear Material Safety and Safeguards", dated March 31, 1999, the NRC staff proposed a framework for risk-informed regulation in the Office of Nuclear Material Safety and Safeguards (NMSS). On June 28, 1999, the Commission approved the staff's proposal. In the associated staff requirements memorandum (SRM), the Commission approved the staff's recommendation to implement a five-step process consisting of:

- (1) Identifying candidate regulatory applications that are amenable to expanded use of risk assessment information;
- (2) Making a decision on how to modify a regulation or regulated activity;
- (3) Changing current regulatory approaches;
- (4) Implementing risk-informed approaches; and
- (5) Developing or adapting existing tools and techniques of risk analysis to the regulation of nuclear materials safety and safeguards.

The focus of this workshop will be on (1) The process for identifying the specific regulatory applications that are amenable to expanded use of risk assessment information—step 1 of the five-step process—and (2) the process for developing appropriate nuclear materials safety goals. Step one of the five-step process will be accomplished by first defining screening criteria and then identifying regulatory application areas (e.g., licensing, inspection, rulemaking) that would be amenable to risk-informed approaches. These could, for example, include rulemaking activities, licensee performance assessment, or enforcement of regulatory requirements. Because of limited resources, the NRC staff is proposing a step-by-step approach, rather than a comprehensive reevaluation in all areas. The NRC staff's work to implement subsequent steps, namely steps 2 through 5 of the five-step process, will be prioritized based on safety, efficiency and effectiveness, and burden reduction.

The NRC staff proposes the following approach for step 1. A new regulatory application should meet the following draft screening criteria to be a candidate for expanded use of risk information:

1. A proposed risk-informed regulatory approach to a new licensing or inspection activity will resolve a question with respect to maintaining or improving the activity's safety basis, will improve the efficiency or the effectiveness of NRC processes, or will reduce unnecessary regulatory burden for the applicant or licensee;
2. Sufficient information (data), and analytical methods exist or can be developed to support risk-informing a regulation or regulatory activity;
3. Startup and implementation can be realized at a reasonable cost to the NRC and the applicant or licensee, and provide a net benefit. The net benefit will be considered to apply to the public, the applicant or licensee, and the NRC staff.

The NRC staff requests public comments on these draft criteria.

Related to the criteria, the NRC staff is also soliciting comments on the following items and questions. The intent of publishing these questions is to foster discussion about the issues at the workshop.

1. What specific applications or general areas of nuclear materials regulation do you believe NRC should focus its efforts in applying risk information to its regulatory framework, and why?
2. Will the various segments of the regulated community accept more risk-informed approaches in regulatory applications?
3. What factors should be considered in prioritizing NRC's efforts to systematically review regulatory activities for application of risk information?
4. How can data collection and processing information be enhanced without significant additional burden to licensees and applicants?
5. Could measures be made available under a more risk-informed approach which would allow the agency and the licensees to judge performance, recognize weaknesses, and provide opportunities for correction before significant safety issues or events occur?
6. What are the costs and benefits of risk-informing NMSS licensing and inspection activities?

In addition, in its SRM on SECY-99-100, the Commission directed the NRC staff to develop appropriate material safety goals analogous to the reactor safety goals and include, as a goal, the avoidance of property damage. The NRC staff will open a discussion on a process for developing material safety goals during this workshop with the following questions and considerations:

1. What are your perceptions of a safety goal for nuclear materials?
2. What would be an effective process for developing nuclear materials safety goals?
3. How can the safety goal development process contribute to improving the regulatory process by helping to identify and articulate the underlying safety philosophy and safety principles currently driving the spectrum of NMSS programs?
4. What factors should be considered in the development of nuclear materials safety goals?
5. What aspects of future nuclear material safety goals can or should be analogous to the reactor safety goals?
6. Should separate safety goals for each activity regulated under each program area be contemplated?
7. What areas will have the greatest impact as a result of having a safety goal or goals?
8. How resource intensive will it be to develop a safety goal or goals?
9. What would change as a result of having safety goals (lives saved, costs savings, increased public confidence)?

The workshop will be conducted in a "roundtable" format. In order to have a manageable discussion, the number of participants around the table will, of necessity, be limited. NRC, through the facilitator for the meeting, will attempt to ensure broad participation by the broad spectrum of interests at the meeting, including citizen and environmental groups, nuclear industry interests, state, tribal, and local governments, experts from academia, or other agencies. Other members of the public are welcome to attend, and the public will have the opportunity to comment on each agenda item to be discussed by the roundtable participants.

RAILROAD RETIREMENT BOARD

Proposed Collection; Comment Request

SUMMARY: In accordance with the requirement of Section 3506 (c)(2)(A) of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, which provides opportunity for public comment on new or revised data collections, the Railroad Retirement Board (RRB) publishes periodic summaries of proposed data collections.

Comments are invited on: (a) Whether the proposed information collection is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether the information has practical utility; (b) the accuracy of the RRB's estimate of the burden of the collection of the information; (c) ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and (d) ways to minimize the burden related to the collection of information on respondents, including the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology.

Title and purpose of information collection: Application for Hospital Insurance Benefits; OMB 3220-0082. Under Section 7(d) of the Railroad Retirement Act (RRA), the Railroad Retirement Board (RRB) administers the Medicare program for persons covered by the railroad retirement system. The RRB currently uses Form AA-6, Employee Application for Medicare; Form AA-7, Spouse/Divorced Spouse Application For Medicare; and Form AA-8, Widow/Widower Application for Medicare; to obtain the information needed to determine whether individuals who have not yet filed for benefits under the RRA are qualified for Medicare payments provided under Title XVIII of the Social Security Act. Completion is required to obtain a benefit. One response is requested of each respondent. The RRB proposes minor editorial changes to Forms AA-6, AA-7 and AA-8. The RRB estimates that 180 Form AA-6's, 50 Form AA-7's, and 10 Form AA-8's are completed annually. The completion time for each form is estimated at 8 minutes.

The renewal of this information collection will begin the RRB's initiative to consolidate information collections by major functional areas. The purpose of the initiative is to bring related collection instruments together in one collection, better manage the instruments, and prepare for the electronic collection of this information. (A collection instrument can be an individual form, electronic collection, interview, or any other method that collects specific information from the public.)

As part of the OMB renewal process, the RRB also proposes that this collection (OMB 3220-0082), Application for Hospital Insurance Benefits, be renamed Medicare. Upon approval by OMB, the RRB intends to merge the following OMB approved Medicare-related collections into this collection by the expected expiration date(s).

OMB Collection No.	Title	RRB forms	Expected expiration date
3220-0189	Evidence of Coverage Under an Employer Group Health Plan	RL-311-F	9/30/2001
3220-0185	Report of Medicaid State Office on Beneficiary's Buy-In Status	RL-380F	7/31/2002
3220-0086	Application for Reimbursement for Hospital Insurance Services in Canada	AA-104	7/31/2002
3220-0131	Request for Medicare Payment	G-740S HCFA-1500	8/31/2002
3220-0100	Request for Review of Part B Medicare Claim	G-790 G-791	11/30/2002.

Revisions to existing collection instruments and, occasionally, a new instrument related to this program function may be required during the three-year cycle of this information collection.

The RRB currently estimates the completion time for Form RL-311-F,

Evidence of Coverage Under an Employer Group Health Plan at 10 minutes, Form RL-380F, Report of Problem to State Welfare Agency on Enrollees Medicare Status at 10 minutes, Form AA-104, Application for Reimbursement for Hospital Insurance Services in Canada at 10 minutes, Form

G-740S, Patient's Request for Medicare Payment at 15 minutes, Form G-790, Request for Review of Part B Medicare Claim at 15 minutes, and Form G-791, Request for Hearing, Part B Medicare Claim at 15 minutes. After the last information collection is merged and other necessary adjustments are made, the resultant information collection is expected to total approximately 1,500 annual burden hours.

A justification for each action described above (merge collection, revised collection instrument, new collection instrument) will be provided to OMB with a correction Change Worksheet (OMB Form 83-C) at the time the action occurs. With the next renewal of this collection, the RRB will update the information collection package to account for the consolidation and other interim adjustments.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION OR COMMENTS: To request more information or to obtain a copy of the information collection justification, forms, and/or supporting material, please call the RRB Clearance Officer at (312) 751-3363. Comments regarding the information collection should be addressed to Ronald J. Hodapp, Railroad Retirement Board, 844 North Rush Street, Chicago, Illinois 60611-2092. Written comments should be received within 60 days of this notice.

Chuck Mierzwa,
Clearance Officer.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Discussion

The federal government and the states have jointly regulated securities offerings and the securities industry since the adoption of the federal regulatory structure in the Securities Act of 1933 (the "Securities Act").¹ Issuers trying to raise capital through securities offerings, as well as participants in the secondary trading markets, must comply with the federal securities laws as well as all applicable state laws and regulations. Parties involved in this process have long recognized the need to increase uniformity and cooperation between the federal and state regulatory systems so that capital formation can be made easier while investor protections are retained.

Congress endorsed greater uniformity in securities regulation with the enactment of Section 19(c) of the Securities Act in the Small Business Investment Incentive Act of 1980.² Section 19(c) authorizes the Commission to cooperate with any association of state securities regulators which can assist in carrying out that Section's policy and purpose. Section 19(c) mandates greater federal and state cooperation in securities matters in order to:

- Maximize effectiveness of regulation;
- Maximize uniformity in federal and state standards;
- Minimize interference with the business of capital formation; and
- Reduce the costs, paperwork and burdens of raising investment capital, particularly by small business, and also reduce the costs of the government programs involved.

The Commission is required to conduct an annual conference to establish ways to achieve these goals. The 2000 meeting will be the seventeenth conference.

During 1996, Congress again examined the system of dual federal and state securities regulation. It considered the need for regulatory changes to promote capital formation, eliminate duplicative regulation, decrease the cost of capital and encourage competition, while at the same time promoting investor protection. Congress passed The National Securities Markets Improvement Act of 1996³ (the "1996 Act") as a result. The 1996 Act contains significant provisions that realign the partnership between federal and state regulators. The legislation reallocates responsibility for regulation of the nation's securities markets between the federal government and the states in order to eliminate duplicative costs and burdens and improve efficiency, while preserving investor protections.

II. 2000 Conference

The Commission and the North American Securities Administrators Association, Inc. ("NASAA")⁴ are planning the 2000 Conference on Federal-State Securities Regulation to be held April 3, 2000 in Washington, D.C. At the conference, Commission and NASAA representatives will divide into working groups in the areas of corporation finance, market regulation and oversight, investment management, investor education, and enforcement. Each group will discuss methods to enhance cooperation in securities matters and improve the efficiency and effectiveness of federal and state securities regulation. Generally, only Commission and NASAA representatives may attend the conference to encourage open and frank discussion. However, each working group in its discretion may invite specific self-regulatory organizations to attend and participate in certain sessions.

The Commission and NASAA are preparing the conference agenda. We invite the public, securities associations, self-regulatory organizations, agencies, and private organizations to participate by submitting written comments on the issues set forth below. In addition, we request comment on other appropriate subjects. Conference attendees will consider all comments.

III. Tentative Agenda and Request for Comments

The tentative agenda for the conference consists of the following topics in the areas of corporation finance, market regulation, investment management, investor education, and enforcement.

(1) Corporation Finance Issues

The 1996 Act amended section 18 of the Securities Act⁵ to preempt state blue-sky registration and review of offerings of covered securities.⁶ Covered securities, as defined by Section 18, include several types of securities. One class of covered securities are securities traded on the national markets like the New York Stock Exchange, Inc. ("NYSE"), American Stock Exchange LLC ("Amex") and the Nasdaq National Market System ("Nasdaq/NMS"). Covered securities also include registered investment company securities and some exempt securities and offerings.

The states retain some authority over offerings of covered securities despite this preemption. Except for nationally-traded securities, the states have the right to require fee payments and notice filings. The states also retain anti-fraud authority over all securities offerings, including offerings of covered securities.

Securities that are not covered securities remain subject to state registration requirements. These securities generally include the securities of smaller companies, like those quoted on the Nasdaq SmallCap market or the over-the-counter Bulletin Board, or in the "pink sheets." Securities issued under some federal exemptions from registration are not covered securities; the states retain authority to register or exempt those securities. These include securities issued in unregistered offerings under the following exemptions:

- Section 4(2) of the Securities Act where the offering does not meet the safe harbor requirements of Rule 506 of Regulation D;⁷
- Regulation A;⁸ and
- Rules 504 and 505 of Regulation D.⁹

The states' authority over securities offerings, particularly their ability to register and review offerings of non-covered securities, continues the need for uniformity between the federal and state registration systems, where consistent with investor protection. Staff from the Commission's Division of Corporation Finance and state representatives will discuss ways to increase uniformity between the systems. The group will focus primarily on the following topics:

A. State Small Business Initiatives

The group will discuss several state initiatives designed to facilitate offerings by smaller issuers. These include:

- The Small Company Offering Registration ("SCOR") form and state Regional Review Programs;
- The NASAA model state accredited investor exemption; and
- The Coordinated Equity Review ("CER") program.

1. Small corporate offering registration; Regional review

NASAA adopted the SCOR form in 1989 to help small businesses raise seed capital to expand their operations through small securities offerings. The SCOR form is a simplified question and answer format used for the registration of securities offerings. Virtually all the states permit offerings on this form. It is used to register securities offerings exempt from federal registration under Rule 504 of Regulation D or Regulation A. More than 1,100 companies across the country have issued securities under the SCOR form. In September, 1999,

⁶ 15 U.S.C. 77r(a) and (b).

NASAA approved changes to simplify and improve the SCOR form.

The SCOR form disclosure requirements are the basis for one disclosure format for securities offerings exempt from federal registration under Regulation A. The Regulation A exemption allows companies that do not file reports with the Commission to offer and sell up to $5 million of securities within any twelve-month period without federal registration. An issuer seeking to rely on Regulation A must file an offering statement with the Commission, including, among other things, a disclosure document called an offering circular. Issuers may provide non-financial disclosure in their offering circulars based on one of three formats. One format includes the disclosure requirements of the state SCOR form. The group will discuss steps to address the revised SCOR form at the federal level, such as plans to amend Regulation A to incorporate the revised form.

Many states use a coordinated program to review state registrations using the SCOR form, the "Regional Review Program." Under this program, states in certain regions of the country elect one state to lead the review and issue comments on the filing. Four regional programs have been started to date and include about 33 of the states requiring registration of these offerings.

NASAA's representatives will discuss their experiences with the SCOR form and the state coordinated review programs, including issues which have arisen in their use. Participants will consider how these programs may be improved to increase uniformity between the federal and state levels.

2. NASAA model state accredited investor exemption

The group also will discuss NASAA's Model Accredited Investor Exemption which was adopted in 1997. Generally, the model rule exempts offers and sales of securities from state registration requirements if, among other things, the securities are sold only to persons who are, or are reasonably believed to be, accredited investors.¹⁰ Although the model exemption permits public offers to accredited investors, it limits the manner of the solicitation. State representatives will share their experiences with the exemption, and the group will discuss issues and concerns.

3. Coordinated Equity Review

The CER program provides for a coordinated state review process for some offerings of equity securities registered at the federal level. Under CER, the participating states coordinate with each other to produce one comment letter to an issuer which addresses both substantive and disclosure matters. To date, 43 states have agreed to participate in the program. The states have reviewed a number of registration statements under this program.

B. Federal small business initiatives

1. Rule 504 exemption

Rule 504 of Regulation D provides an exemption from the Securities Act registration requirements for offerings up to $1 million in any 12-month period, if certain conditions are met. Rule 504 is available only to the companies that do not report under the Exchange Act. The Commission amended Rule 504 in April 1999 to limit the circumstances where general solicitation is permitted and freely tradeable securities are issued under the rule.¹¹ Specifically, issuers may generally solicit and advertise and issue freely tradeable securities only in transactions that are either:

- Registered under state law requiring public filing and delivery of a substantive disclosure document to investors before sale; or
- Exempted under state law as long as sales are made to "accredited investors" only.

The group will discuss various matters that have arisen under the revised rule. One issue relates to some state accredited investor exemptions that do not impose a holding period requirement on purchasers. Although NASAA's model exemption generally restricts resales within 12 months of sale, some states have adopted unique exemptions that do not impose those transfer restrictions. The group will consider matters of common interest under revised Rule 504 and state accredited investor exemptions.

2. Securities of blank check companies

A blank check issuer or company is one in the development stage with no specific business plan or purpose, or one that indicates its plan is to engage in a merger or acquisition with an unidentified company or companies.¹² In 1990, the U.S. Congress found that offerings by these kinds of issuers were common vehicles for fraud and manipulation in the market for penny stocks. The Commission has adopted several rules, as Congress directed, to deter fraud in connection with these offerings.

Although blank check issuers are prohibited from relying on certain exemptions from federal registration, they may issue securities without federal registration under some exemptions including, for instance, the section 4(2) private offering exemption and the Rule 506 safe harbor. In many cases, the securities are issued for little or no consideration. Often, the promoters of the blank check company "gift" part of their securities to various donees.

The group will discuss matters of mutual concern relating to these offerings, including, for instance, issues raised by resales of restricted blank check securities.

3. Federal coordinating exemption for offerings exempt under state law

The Commission in 1996 adopted an exemption from federal registration for offerings up to $5 million made in compliance with one of California's exemptions from state securities qualification requirements. The California exemption—Section 25102(n) of the California Corporation Code—permits some forms of general solicitation and limits sales to persons called qualified purchasers.¹³ The federal exemption applies only to offers and sales that satisfy the conditions of the California exemption. The Division understands that some issuers are misusing the exemption by making offers and sales to qualified purchasers in states other than California and claiming the federal coordinating exemption for those transactions. The staff believes those offers and sales are not exempt federally and may violate state securities laws as well.

The Division and state representatives will discuss ways to prevent misuse of this exemption and consider other issues of mutual interest.

4. Small business town hall meetings

During 1999, the Commission continued to meet with small businesses in town hall meetings conducted throughout the United States. These meetings—started in 1996—are intended to provide basic information

¹⁰ 17 CFR 230.501(a). The term "accredited investor," as defined by the Securities Act and the Commission's rules under the Act, is intended to encompass those persons whose financial sophistication render the protections of the Securities Act registration process unnecessary. Offers and sales to these investors are afforded special treatment under the federal securities laws.

¹³ 17 CFR 230.1001.

about the securities offering process to small business issuers and educate the Commission about the concerns and problems facing small businesses in raising capital. Fifteen town hall meetings have been held to date. The group will discuss the results and prospects of this program.

C. Electronic distribution procedures in offerings of securities

Many underwriters have begun using the Internet to offer and sell securities in public offerings. These "e-brokers" are posting preliminary prospectuses and sometimes other materials on their websites. They also have set procedures that relate to prospectus access, account funding and the timing of offers and sales of the securities. Different firms have established diverse procedures.

The Division addressed the procedures of one e-broker in July, 1999.¹⁴ The staff, without concurring in counsel's analysis, agreed not to recommend enforcement action to the Commission against the e-broker for its conduct of initial public offerings using the procedures described in the no-action letter request. The request described many procedures; one of which involved the solicitation of conditional electronic offers to buy the securities before effectiveness of the registration statement. The staff also has considered the transmission of "road shows" over the Internet.¹⁵ Road shows generally are meetings between an issuer's senior management, brokers involved in the offering and a limited audience of select prospective investors that occur after the registration statement is filed with the Commission.

The group will discuss the various issues raised by offerings that are made electronically.

D. Plain English

Beginning October 1, 1998, issuers filing Securities Act registration statements must use plain English writing principles when drafting the front part of prospectuses, i.e., the cover page and the summary and risk factors sections.¹⁶ These plain English principles include: active voice; short sentences; everyday language; tabular presentation or "bullet lists" for complex material, if possible; no legal jargon or highly technical business terms; and, no multiple negatives.

The Division's staff, in its full review of a registration statement, examines the prospectus for compliance with the plain English requirements. If appropriate, the Division staff will issue comments to obtain improved plain English disclosures. Some states also review and issue comments on prospectus disclosures. The concurrent comment process from different regulators raises the prospect of inconsistent comments. For instance, the Division may ask for changes to conform to plain English requirements which seem contrary to state disclosure standards. The group will consider issues that have arisen in this area and ways to facilitate federal and state coordination in the comment process.

E. Uniform Securities Act

A committee of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws is in the process of drafting a new version of the Uniform Securities Act. The Uniform Securities Act is a uniform state securities law statute. Two versions are currently in force—The Uniform Securities Act of 1956 and the Revised Uniform Securities Act of 1985. The new version will modernize and update the law for many changes including, for example, NSMIA, technology advances, and internationalization of securities trading. The group will discuss the status of this redrafting effort and related matters.

(2) Market Regulation Issues

A. Books and Records

Section 103 of the 1996 Act prohibits any state from imposing broker-dealer books and records requirements that differ from, or are in addition to, the Commission's requirements. In addition, the same section directs the Commission to consult periodically with the state securities authorities concerning the adequacy of the Commission's books and records requirements.

On October 2, 1998, the Commission repropoed amendments to the books and records rules to clarify and expand recordkeeping requirements with respect to purchase and sale documents, customer records, associated person records, customer complaints, and certain other matters. The repropoed amendments also specified the books and records that broker-dealers would make available at their local offices. The Commission modified the repropoed amendments to reduce the burden on broker-dealers without substantially detracting from the original objective of establishing rules that would facilitate examinations and enforcement activities of the Commission, self regulatory organizations (SROs), and state securities regulators.¹⁷ Among other changes in the repropoed amendments, the Commission redefined the term local office to include a place where two or more associated persons regularly conduct a securities business. The original proposal¹⁸ defined the term local office to include a place where one associated person conducted a securities business. As repropoed, a broker-dealer would be required to update its customer account records at least once every three years. The original proposal required broker-dealers to update the customer account records annually.

The comment period closed December 9, 1998. The Commission received approximately 120 comment letters in response to the release re-propoing the amendments. The Commission staff has been reviewing the comments that have been submitted. The participants will discuss these efforts to amend Rules 17a-3 and 17a-4.

B. Capacity

The participants will discuss broker-dealer systems capacity issues in light of the increasing number of online brokerage accounts being opened by investors (9.7 million online accounts opened by the end of the second quarter of 1999, as compared to 7.3 million in 1998 and 3.7 million in 1997), and the instances of systems problems at broker-dealers.

C. Significant SEC and SRO Rule Proposals

On January 28, 2000, the Commission issued an order directing SROs to develop a plan to implement decimal pricing in the equities and options markets beginning no later than July 3, 2000.¹⁹ The SROs are required to submit their decimalization implementation plan by March 13, 2000, and rule changes necessary to implement the plan by March 28, 2000. The participants intend to discuss the issues associated with the decimalization implementation plan submitted, as well as any comment letters submitted in response to proposed rule changes necessary to implement the plan.

Day trading practices continue to be the focus of media attention. Presently, the Commission is carefully considering the various issues relating to day trading activities. In particular, the Commission has been considering proposed rule changes by the NYSE and the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. (NASD) to amend margin requirements for day trading customers of member firms.

On January 14, 2000, the Commission published the NYSE's proposal raising margin requirements for day traders. The NASD filed a similar proposal on January 13, 2000, which was published on February 11, 2000. The Commission has received numerous comment letters, which are under review. Both the NYSE and NASD proposals are available on the Commission's web site.

D. Financial Modernization Legislation

After over twenty years of debate, on November 22, 1999, the President signed S. 900—the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act of 1999—into law. S. 900 permits securities, insurance, and banking firms to enter each other's lines of business. In the coming years, the Commission staff will continue to work with other financial regulators and the financial services industry to implement the various provisions of S. 900. One early project will be to implement regulations regarding the privacy of customer financial information. The participants will discuss this legislation.

E. Central Registration Depository

The Central Registration Depository (CRD) system is operated and maintained by the NASD and is used by the Commission, the SROs, and state securities regulators in connection with registering and licensing broker-dealers and their registered personnel. On August 16, 1999, the old "Legacy" CRD system was replaced by Web CRD, a new Internet-based system. The ability to file electronically through Web CRD is expected to further streamline and lower the costs associated with the one-stop registration process for broker-dealers and their associated persons. In connection with this transition, the Commission adopted technical amendments to Forms BD and BDW, the uniform forms for broker-dealer registration and withdrawal from registration, and related rules under the Exchange Act.²⁰ The Commission also issued an order approving changes proposed by NASD Regulation, Inc. to Form U-4 (the Uniform Application for Securities Industry Registration or Transfer) and Form U-5 (the Uniform Termination Notice for Securities Industry Registration). These changes were also needed to conform to the Web

CRD environment.²¹ The participants may discuss issues related to Web CRD.

F. Examination Issues

State and federal regulators also will discuss various examination-related issues of mutual interest, including: summits and examination coordination; branch office examinations; micro-cap issues; and day trading.

(3) Investment Management Issues

A. Division of Regulatory Authority

In the 1996 Act, Congress amended the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 ("Advisers Act")²² to divide regulatory responsibility for investment advisers between the Commission and state securities regulators. Advisers that have assets under management of $25 million or more, or that advise registered investment companies, generally register with the Commission while advisers that have assets under management of less than $25 million must register with the appropriate state securities authorities.²³ Approximately 8,500 investment advisers are currently registered with the Commission.

The conferees will discuss cooperation between Commission and state adviser programs, including sharing information about examinations of advisers, advisers switching between federal and state registration, advisers that may no longer qualify for SEC registration, advisers whose registration has been canceled by the SEC, and advisers located in the state of Wyoming—the only state that does not have an investment adviser statute. The conferees also will discuss advisers that provide advice over the Internet and best execution reviews.

B. Electronic Filing System

Congress also amended the Advisers Act to require the Commission to establish and maintain a "readily accessible telephonic or other electronic process" to receive public inquiries about the disciplinary histories of investment advisers and persons associated with investment advisers.²⁴

²³ Advisers Act Section 203A(a), 15 U.S.C. 80b-3a. The Advisers Act also provides for registration with the Commission of advisers that have their principal office and place of business in a state that has not enacted an investment adviser statute (currently, Wyoming), or that have their principal office and place of business outside the United States. In addition, the Commission has adopted rules exempting five categories of investment advisers from the prohibition on registration with the Commission. See Rule 203A-2, 17 CFR 275.203A-2.

²⁴ 1996 Act section 306

To satisfy this mandate, the Commission, in cooperation with NASAA and the state securities authorities, has been working with NASD Regulation, Inc. to design, build, and operate the Investment Adviser Registration Depository (IARD) system. The IARD will be a one-stop electronic filing system that investment advisers will use to apply for registration with the Commission or the appropriate state securities authorities, to update their registration, and to make notice filings with the states. The Commission and state authorities will have access to the resulting database to review adviser registration materials and the database will be available to the public on an Internet web site. Clients and prospective clients of investment advisers will be able to quickly obtain disciplinary and other information about investment advisers and persons associated with investment advisers.

The conferees will discuss the transition to electronic filing by investment advisers on the IARD, which is expected to begin receiving investment adviser submissions later this year.

C. Revised Registration and Disclosure Forms

The Commission and NASAA are revising the investment adviser registration and disclosure forms. The revised registration form would provide more useful information to the Commission and the state securities regulators. The new disclosure form would require advisers to provide clear and complete disclosures in plain English to clients and prospective clients.

The conferees will discuss the revised forms, which the Commission staff expects soon to recommend that the Commission propose for comment.

(4) Investor Education and Assistance Issues

The Commission currently pursues a number of programs to educate investors on how to invest wisely and to protect themselves from fraud and abuse. The states and NASAA have a long-standing commitment to investor education, and the SEC intends to complement those efforts to the greatest extent possible. The investor education working group will discuss the following investor education initiatives and potential joint projects:

A. Online Investor Protection

The SEC's staff will brief NASAA on the steps it has taken to fight Internet fraud and to educate investors on how to use the Internet to invest wisely.

²⁰ Release No. 34-41594 (July 2, 1999) [64 FR 37586]; Release No. 34-41356 (April 30, 1999) [64 FR 25143].

B. Financial Literacy 2001

In the spring of 1998, NASAA, the NASD, and the Investor Protection Trust (IPT) joined forces to launch "Financial Literacy 2001" (FL2001), an unprecedented $1 million campaign targeting 25,000 high school teachers across America. The goal of FL2001 is to encourage—and make it easier for—teachers in every state to teach the basics on saving and investing. Working together, NASAA, the NASD, and the IPT have developed a state-by-state customized classroom guide and have begun to provide aggressive distribution and teacher training. During the working group session, the states will brief the SEC on the progress of FL2001 and plans for dissemination of the FL2001 program in the coming year.

C. Facts on Saving and Investing Campaign

In the spring of 1998, NASAA and the SEC, in conjunction with the Council of Securities Regulators of the Americas (COSRA), launched the Facts on Saving and Investing Campaign. The campaign is an ongoing, grassroots effort to educate individuals about saving, investing, and avoiding financial fraud. Twenty-one countries throughout the Western Hemisphere participated in the campaign's enormously successful kick-off week. In the U.S., campaign partners—including more than thirty government agencies, consumer organizations, and financial industry associations—held educational events and distributed information on saving and investing throughout the country. During the working group session, participants will discuss the campaign and future campaign initiatives. They'll also discuss other initiatives for international investor education.

D. New Investor Education Programs

Participants will brainstorm ideas for new investor education programs, including joint NASAA and SEC initiatives.

E. Investor Education Resources

The group will assess existing resources for investor education—including brochures, videotapes, online materials, and other media—and identify gaps. They will further discuss the most efficient and effective ways to provide educational resources to individuals at the grassroots level.

(5) Enforcement Issues

In addition to the above topics, state and federal regulators will discuss various enforcement-related issues of mutual interest.

(6) General

There are a number of matters which are applicable to all, or a number, of the areas noted above. These include EDGAR—the Commission's electronic disclosure system, rulemaking procedures, training and education of staff examiners and analysts, and information sharing.

The Commission and NASAA request specific public comments and recommendations on the above-mentioned topics. Commenters should focus on the agenda but may also discuss or comment on other proposals which would enhance uniformity in the existing scheme of state and federal regulation, while helping to maintain high standards of investor protection.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. 34-42514; File No. SR-CBOE-00-08]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Notice of Filing and Immediate Effectiveness of Proposed Rule Change by the Chicago Board Options Exchange, Inc., Relating to the Trading of Options on Biotech HOLDRS

March 9, 2000.

Pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act"),¹ and Rule 19b-4 thereunder,² notice is hereby given that on March 9, 2000, the Chicago Board Options Exchange, Inc. ("CBOE" or "Exchange") filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC" or "Commission") the proposed rule change as described in Items I, II, and III below, which Items have been prepared by the Exchange. The proposed rule change has been filed by the CBOE as a "non-controversial" rule change under Rule 19b-4(f)(6)³ under the Act. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule change from interested persons.

³ 17 CFR 240.19b-4(f)(6).

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule Change

The CBOE proposes to trade standardized and FLEX equity options on Biotechnology Holding Company Depository Receipts ("Biotech HOLDRS" or "HOLDRS"). The text of the proposed rule change is available at the Office of the Secretary, CBOE and at the Commission.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

In its filing with the commission, the Exchange included statements concerning the purpose of and basis for the proposed rule change and discussed any comments it received on the proposed rule change. The text of these statements may be examined at the places specified in Item IV below. The Exchange has prepared summaries, set forth in Sections A, B, and C below, of the most significant aspects of such statements.

A. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule Change

1. Purpose

The purpose of the proposed rule change is to provide for the trading of standardized equity options and FLEX⁴ equity options on Biotech HOLDRS. Biotech HOLDRS are exchange-listed securities representing beneficial ownership of the specific deposited securities represented by the HOLDRS. They are negotiable receipts issued by a trust representing securities of issuers that have been deposited and are held on behalf of investors in HOLDRS. Biotech HOLDRS, which trade in round lots of 100, and multiples thereof, may be issued after their initial offering through a deposit of the required number of shares of common stock of the underlying issuers with the trustee. The trust will only issue HOLDRS upon the deposit of the shares of underlying securities that are represented by a round-lot of 100 HOLDRS. Likewise, the trust will cancel, and an investor may obtain, hold, trade or surrender HOLDRS in a round-lot and round lot multiples of 100 HOLDRS. Biotech HOLDRS are currently traded on the Exchange like other equity securities, subject to the Exchange's equity trading rules.

⁴ Flex equity options provide investors with the ability to customize basic option features including size, expiration date, exercise style, and certain exercise prices.

The Exchange believes trading options on Biotech HOLDERS is appropriate because Biotech HOLDERS currently exceed the minimum eligibility criteria for equities set forth in CBOE Rule 5.3 Interpretation .01, as do each of the underlying securities. Specifically, there are a minimum of 7,000,000 shares of each of the underlying securities owned by persons other than those required to report their security holdings under Section 16(a) of the Act; there are a minimum of 2000 shareholders of each of the underlying securities; trading volume (in all markets in which the underlying securities are traded) has been at least 2,400,000 shares in the preceding twelve months; the market price share of each of the underlying securities has been at least $7.50 for the majority of business days during the three calendar months preceding the date of selection as measured by the lowest closing price reported in any market in which the underlying securities traded on each of the subject days and the issuers are in compliance with any applicable requirements of the Act. The Biotech HOLDERS themselves also satisfy these same eligibility criteria.

Options on Biotech HOLDERS will be traded on the Exchange pursuant to the same rules and procedures that apply to trading in options on equity securities. However, the Exchange is also proposing to list FLEX Equity options on Biotech HOLDERS. The Exchange will list option contracts covering 100 HOLDERS, the minimum required round lot trading size for HOLDERS. Strike prices for the contracts will be set to bracket the trust issued receipts at the same intervals that apply to standardized equity options (i.e., 2½ point intervals for underlying equity values up to $25, 5 point intervals for underlying equity values greater than $25 up to $200, and 10 point intervals for underlying equity values greater than $200). The proposed position and exercise limits for options on Biotech HOLDERS will be the same as those established for stock options as set forth in CBOE Rule 4.11. The Exchange anticipates that options on Biotech HOLDERS will initially qualify for a position limit of 13,500 contracts. However, as with standardized equity options, applicable position limits will be increased for options on Biotech HOLDERS if the volume of trading in HOLDERS increases to meet the requirements of a higher limit. As is currently the case for all FLEX Equity options, no position and exercise limits will be applicable to FLEX Equity options overlying the HOLDERS. Options on Biotech HOLDERS will be subject to the listing and maintenance standards set forth in CBOE Rule 5.3.⁵ FLEX options will be subject to the standards set forth in the CBOE Chapter 24A.

Should Biotech HOLDERS cease to trade on an exchange or as national market securities in the over-the counter market, there will be no opening transactions in the options on the HOLDERS, and all such options will trade on a liquidation-only basis (i.e., only transactions to permit the closing of outstanding open options positions will be permitted). In addition, the CBOE will consider the suspension of opening transactions in any series of options of the class covering Biotech HOLDERS if: (1) The options fail to meet the uniform equity option maintenance standards in Interpretation .01 to CBOE Rule 5.4;⁶ (2) the trust has more than 60 days remaining until termination and there are fewer than 50 record and/or beneficial holders of Biotech HOLDERS for 30 or more consecutive trading days; (3) there are fewer than 50,000 HOLDERS issued and outstanding; (4) the market value of all Biotech HOLDERS issued and outstanding is less than $1,000,000; or (5) such other event shall occur or condition exist that in the opinion of the Exchange makes further dealing in such options on the Exchange inadvisable.

Options on Biotech HOLDERS will be physically-settled and will have the American-style exercise feature used on all standardized equity options, and not the European-style feature. The Exchange, however, also proposes to trade FLEX Equity options which will be available with both the American-style and European-style exercise feature, as well as other FLEX Equity features.⁷ Lastly, the proposed margin requirements for options on Biotech HOLDERS will be at the same levels that apply to options generally under CBOE Rule 12.3.

2. Statutory Basis

The proposed rule change is consistent with Section 6(b)⁸ of the Act

⁵ The CBOE intends to file in the near future listing standards that will specifically govern trust issued receipts.

⁶ Specifically, Interpretation .01 to CBOE Rule 5.4 provides that an underlying security will not meet the Exchange's requirements for continued listing when, among other things: (i) There are fewer than 6,300,000 publicly-held shares; (ii) there are fewer than 1,600 holders; (iii) trading volume was less than 1,800,000 shares in the preceding twelve months; and (iv) the share price of the underlying security closed below $5 on a majority of the business days during the preceding 6 months.

in general and furthers the objectives of Section 6(b)(5)⁹ in particular in that it is designed to prevent fraudulent and manipulative acts and practices, to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to foster cooperation and coordination with persons engaged in facilitating transactions in securities, and to remove impediments to and perfect the mechanism of a free and open market and a national market system.

B. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Burden on Competition

The Exchange represents that the proposed rule change will impose no burden on competition.

C. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement on Comments on the Proposed Rule Change Received From Members, Participants or Others

No written comments were solicited or received with respect to the proposed rule change.

III. Date of Effectiveness of the Proposed Rule Change and Timing for Commission Action

The foregoing proposed rule change has become effective pursuant to Section 19(b)(3)(A) of the Act¹⁰ and Rule 19b-4(f)(6) thereunder¹¹ because the proposed rule change (1) does not significantly affect the protection of investors or the public interest; (2) does not impose any significant burden on competition; and (3) does not become operative for 30 days from the date of filing, or such shorter time that the Commission may designate if consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest.¹² At any time within 60 days of the filing of the proposed rule change, the Commission may summarily abrogate such rule change if it appears to the Commission that such action is necessary or appropriate in the public interest, for the protection of investors, or otherwise in the furtherance of the purposes of the Act.¹³

The Exchange has requested that the rule change be accelerated to become operative immediately upon filing of the proposal, because such proposal

¹² Because CBOE and Commission staff have had a number of discussions concerning the proposed trading of Biotech HOLDERS, the Commission has determined to waive the requirement that CBOE provide the Commission with written notice of its intent to file the proposed rule change at least five business days prior to the filing date.

contemplates trading options on a product in which both the product and each of the underlying component securities exceed the minimum eligibility requirements for trading options on equities as set forth in CBOE Rule 5.3. Because both the securities underlying Biotech HOLDRs and Biotech HOLDRs themselves meet the eligibility requirements for trading options on equity securities, the Commission finds that accelerating the operative date of the rule change is consistent with the protection of investors and the public interest, and thus designates March 9, 2000 as the operative date of this filing.

IV. Solicitation of Comments

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views, and arguments concerning the foregoing, including whether the proposed rule change is consistent with the Act. Persons making written submissions should file six copies thereof with the Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 450 Fifth Street, NW., Washington, DC 20549-0609. Copies of the submission, all subsequent amendments, all written statements with respect to the proposed rule change that are filed with the Commission, and all written communications relating to the proposed rule change between the Commission and any person, other than those that may be withheld from the public in accordance with the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552, will be available for inspection and copying at the Commission's Public Reference Room. Copies of such filing will also be available for inspection and copying at the principal office of the Exchange. All submissions should refer to File No. SR-CBOE-00-08 and should be submitted by April 6, 2000.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.¹⁴

Background

In response to the alarming number of deaths in the fishing industry, the Coast Guard chartered a Task Force to identify ways to improve safety. The Task Force examined fishing vessel casualties in the context of historical data, reviewed the Coast Guard's existing Commercial Fishing Vessel Safety Program, reviewed past safety recommendations, and provided quick feedback to the fishing industry by recommending measures believed to have the greatest potential for reducing loss of life and property. The Task Force completed a report containing safety recommendations in March 1999 and presented the report to the Commercial Fishing Industry Vessel Advisory Committee (CFIVAC) and Coast Guard District Fishing Vessel Safety Coordinators. The Task Force report is available at <http://www.get.to/thefishingreport> or from Commandant (G-MOA), U.S. Coast Guard Headquarters, 2100 Second Street SW., Washington, DC 20593-0001, 202-267-1430. The Coast Guard consolidated the Task Force recommendations commonly supported by both the CFIVAC and the District Fishing Vessel Safety Coordinators and subsequently developed the CFVSAP. The CFVSAP was presented at the October 4-5, 1999, meeting of the CFIVAC. The CFIVAC agreed with the concepts presented in the CFVSAP. Also, the CFIVAC agreed with the Coast Guard that holding regional listening sessions would result in valuable input from a larger segment of the fishing industry. By publication of this notice, the Coast Guard is seeking further feedback from fisherman on the CFVSAP. The CFVSAP is available at <http://www.uscg.mil/hq/g-m/advisory/cfivac/fishexpo99.pdf> or from Commandant (G-MOC), U.S. Coast Guard Headquarters, 2100 Second Street SW., Washington, DC 20593-0001, 202-267-2008.

Objective and Issues

The objective of the regional listening sessions and the request for comments is to receive information from the general public and the fishing industry pertaining to the CFVSAP and other possible safety issues affecting the fishing industry. The Coast Guard wishes to identify ways to improve safety in the fishing industry.

The Coast Guard is specifically interested in information pertaining to the following:

The most critical safety issues in your region.

Ways the Coast Guard might better communicate with the fishing industry.

Ways the Coast Guard might assist in improving safety in the fishing industry.

Ways the fishing industry might improve its safety record without Coast Guard or other government involvement.

The minimum level of training that should be considered in a training-based certificate program.

The most safety-beneficial composition of a vessel examination program.

Format of Regional Listening Sessions

Each listening session will follow a presentation by the Coast Guard on the CFVSAP. After the presentation the audience will have an opportunity to comment on the specifics of the CFVSAP. The Coast Guard will then present a list of standardized issues similar to those contained in Objectives and Issues and then open the listening session to general comments from the audience.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Federal Highway Administration

Environmental Impact Statement: York & Lancaster Counties, South Carolina

AGENCY: Federal Highway Administration (FHWA), DOT.

ACTION: Notice of Intent.

SUMMARY: The FHWA is issuing this notice to advise the public that an environmental impact statement (EIS) will be prepared for a proposed highway facility from the intersection of S.C. 122 (Dave Lyle Boulevard) and S.C. Route 161 Extension east of Rock Hill in York County to near U.S. Route 521 in Lancaster County, South Carolina. An earlier notice had been published in 1992 but the EIS was not completed due to insufficient project funding.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Kenneth R. Myers, Planning & Environmental Engineer, Federal Highway Administration, 1835 Assembly Street, Suite 1270, Strom Thurmond Federal Building, Columbia, South Carolina 29201, Telephone: (803) 253-3881.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The FHWA, in cooperation with the South Carolina Department of Transportation (SCDOT), will prepare an environmental impact statement on the proposed extension of Dave Lyle Boulevard (S.C. route 122) from the S.C. route 161 Extension east of Rock Hill in York County to U.S. route 521 in Lancaster County, South Carolina. The proposed route would be approximately 10 miles in length and would consist of two travel lanes for each direction of traffic with an earth median. Alternatives under consideration include: (1) taking no action (no-build); (2) Transportation System Management (improvement of existing routes); and (3) several alternative corridor alignment build alternatives.

The FHWA and SCDOT are seeking input as a part of the scoping process to assist in determining and clarifying issues relative to this project. Letters describing the proposed action and soliciting comments have been sent by the SCDOT to appropriate Federal, State, and local agencies, and to private organizations and citizens who have previously expressed or are known to have interest in this proposal. No formal scoping meeting is planned at this time. Early coordination with State and Federal permit and resource agencies will be completed in the development of the draft EIS. The U.S. Corps of Engineers is being requested to be a cooperating agency due to the likely involvement of the proposal with wetlands in the Catawba River flood plain area. Two public informational meetings have been held to inform the public and solicit their input. At least one location public hearing will be held for which public notice will be given of the time and place of the hearings. The draft EIS will be available for public and agency review and comment prior to the public hearing.

To ensure that the full range of issues related to this proposed action are addressed and all significant issues identified, comments, and suggestions are invited from all interested parties. Comments or questions concerning this proposed action and the EIS should be directed to the FHWA at the address provided above.

In accordance with 49 CFR 238.203(f), notice is hereby given that the Maryland Mass Transit Administration (MTA) has petitioned the Federal Railroad Administration (FRA) for grandfathering of non-compliant equipment for use on MTA's Central Light Rail Line.

Paragraph (a)(1) provides that all passenger equipment (subject to limited exceptions) shall resist a minimum static end load of 800,000 pounds applied on the line of draft without permanent deformation of the body structure. Paragraph (d)(2) provides that "[a]ny passenger equipment placed in service on a rail line or lines before November 8, 1999 that does not comply with the requirements of paragraph (a)(1) may continue to be operated on that particular line or (those particular lines) if the operator of the equipment files a petition seeking grandfathering approval under paragraph (d)(3) before November 8, 1999. Such usage may continue while the petition is being processed, but in no event later than May 8, 2000, unless the petition is approved."

MTA requests that all conventional light rail vehicles operating on the Central Light Rail Line (extending from Baltimore, Maryland, north to Timonium, south to Cromwell, southwest to BWI Airport, east to Penn Station and north to Hunt Valley) be grandfathered to permit usage pursuant to 49 CFR 238.203(d).

Interested parties are invited to participate in this proceeding by submitting written views, data or comments. FRA does not anticipate scheduling a public hearing in connection with this proceeding, however, if any interested party desires an opportunity for oral comment, they should notify FRA, in writing, before the end of the comment period and specify the basis for their request.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Office of Thrift Supervision

[Order No.: 2000-26]

Appointment of a Receiver; Mutual Federal Savings Bank of Atlanta, Atlanta, GA

March 10, 2000.

Issued Under Delegated Authority

The Director of the Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS) has determined to appoint the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) as receiver for Mutual Federal Savings Bank of Atlanta, Atlanta, Georgia (the Association).

I. Grounds for Actions Taken in This Order

Receivership: Grounds for Appointment of FDIC as Receiver

The Director, upon consideration of the administrative record, and for the reasons set forth in the supporting legal and supervisory memoranda contained in the administrative record from offices within the OTS, finds and determines that:

(a) The Association's assets are less than its obligations to its creditors and others, including members of the Association;

(b) The Association has substantially depleted its assets or earnings due to unsafe or unsound practices;

(c) The Association is in an unsafe or unsound condition to transact business;

(d) The Association has incurred losses that have depleted all of its capital, and there is no reasonable prospect for the Association to become adequately capitalized without Federal assistance;

(e) The Association's unsafe and unsound practices and condition are likely to seriously prejudice the interests of its depositors and the deposit insurance fund;

(f) The Association is undercapitalized as defined in 12 U.S.C.

1831o(b), and has no reasonable prospect of becoming adequately capitalized, has failed to become adequately capitalized when required to do so under 12 U.S.C. 1831o(f)(2)(A), and failed to submit an acceptable capital restoration plan within the time prescribed under 12 U.S.C.

1831o(e)(2)(D); and

(g) The Association is critically undercapitalized, as defined in 12 U.S.C. 1831o(b) and otherwise has substantially insufficient capital.

The Director, therefore, has determined that each of the above grounds for the appointment of a receiver for the Association exist under section 5(d)(2) of the Home Owners' Loan Act ("HOLA") (12 U.S.C. 1464(d)(2)) and section 11(c)(5) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act ("FDIA") (12 U.S.C. 1821(c)(5)).

II. Actions Ordered or Approved: Appointment of a Receiver

The Director hereby appoints the FDIC as Receiver for the Association for the purpose of liquidation, pursuant to section 5(d)(2) of the HOLA and section 11(c)(6)(B) of the FDIA (12 U.S.C. 1821(c)(6)(B)).

Delegation of Authority To Act for the OTS

The Director hereby authorizes the Regional Director, or his designee, and the Deputy Chief Counsel for Business Transactions, or his successors or designees, to: (1) certify Orders; (2) sign, execute, attest or certify other documents of the OTS issued or authorized by this Order; (3) deliver or accept delivery of any notice from or to the OTS regarding the Association; and (4) perform other functions of the OTS necessary or appropriate for the implementation of such Orders. All documents to be issued under the authority of this Order must be first approved, in form and content, by the Chief Counsel's Office. In addition, the Director hereby authorizes the Deputy Chief Counsel for Business Transactions, or his successors or designees, to make any subsequent technical corrections, that might be necessary, to this Order, or any documents issued under the authority of this Order.

By Order of the Director of the OTS effective March 10, 2000.

Deputy Director, Office of Supervision.

Centers; Notice

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research

AGENCY: Department of Education.

ACTION: Notice of Final Funding Priorities for Fiscal Years 2000–2001 for Certain Centers.

SUMMARY: The Assistant Secretary for the Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services announces final funding priorities for fifteen Model Spinal Cord Injury Centers and two Rehabilitation Engineering Research Centers (RERCs) under the National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research (NIDRR) for fiscal years 2000–2001. The Assistant Secretary takes this action to focus research attention on areas of national need. These priorities are intended to improve rehabilitation services and outcomes for individuals with disabilities.

DATES: These priorities take effect on April 17, 2000.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Donna Nangle. Telephone: (202) 205–5880. Individuals who use a telecommunications device for the deaf (TDD) may call the TDD number at (202) 205–4475. Internet: Donna—Nangle@ed.gov

Individuals with disabilities may obtain this document in an alternate format (e.g., Braille, large print, audiocassette, or computer diskette) on request to the contact person listed in the preceding paragraph.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This notice contains final priorities under the Special Projects and Demonstrations for Spinal Cord Injuries (SCI) Program and two RERCs related to Low Vision and Blindness and Children with Orthopedic Disabilities. The final priorities refer to NIDRR's Long-Range Plan (the Plan). The Plan can be accessed on the World Wide Web at: <http://www.ed.gov/legislation/FedRegister/other/1999–12/68576.html>.

These final priorities support the National Education Goal that calls for every adult American to possess the skills necessary to compete in a global economy.

The authority for the Secretary to establish research priorities by reserving funds to support particular research activities is contained in sections 202(g) and 204 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended (29 U.S.C. 762(g) and 764).

Note: This notice of final priorities does not solicit applications. A notice inviting applications is published elsewhere in this issue of the Federal Register.

Analysis of Comments and Changes

On December 9, 1999 the Assistant Secretary published a notice of proposed priorities for the Model Spinal Cord Injury Centers in the Federal Register (64 FR 69154). The Department of Education received 25 letters commenting on the notice of proposed priorities by the deadline date. On December 17, 1999 the Assistant Secretary published a notice of proposed priorities for two Rehabilitation Engineering Research Centers in the Federal Register (64 FR 70956). The Department of Education received 8 letters commenting on the notice of proposed priorities by the deadline date. Technical and other minor changes—and suggested changes the Assistant Secretary is not legally authorized to make under statutory authority—are not addressed.

Model Spinal Cord Injury Centers

Priority 1: Model Spinal Cord Injury Centers

Comment: Several commenters discussed the issue of the national database, with a range of questions and recommendations. Some asked whether it was a given that the national database would be continued as is, or whether the requirement might be to contribute to a national database not yet configured. Many commenters asked whether the number or type of variables in the current database (MSCIS) would be maintained or altered for the next five-year period. One commenter suggested that only large Centers should be required to contribute to the database. Several commenters asked whether there would be changes in the selection criteria or funding levels related to database participation.

Discussion: All Centers will be required to contribute to the national database as designated by the Secretary. The database has evolved over its entire existence, and will continue to evolve to meet current needs. NIDRR intends to evaluate the existing database within the next twelve months, and prescribe modifications as necessary. These modifications may include changes in the number and type of variables or limits on follow-up samples. However, for the purpose of responding to this notice, prospective applicants should base their proposals on the database as currently configured. If those modifications require changes to the proposed scope of work or budget of any funded Center, these changes can be negotiated with the funding agency.

Changes: None.

Comment: A number of commenters stated that the proposed research priority areas were either unclear or too limiting. Several questioned whether the Centers were to be limited to one area or topic. Some questioned why the Associated Research Areas section of the Plan, as well as other specific priorities in the Plan, were not referenced, and others proposed that each Center be encouraged to undertake one research project addressing Health and Function and one project addressing a second chapter of the Plan.

Discussion: This priority encourages focused, cohesive, and integrated research programs that will make a substantial contribution to the knowledge base in SCI rehabilitation, while simultaneously discouraging fragmented programs with numerous discrete and disparate projects. The Plan presents an integrated approach to research. NIDRR recognizes that disability and rehabilitation are both holistic phenomena. Investigations of major issues in one area, for example Health and Function, may involve issues of technology or independent living. Applicants have the freedom to investigate any issues prioritized in the Plan, including those in the associated areas chapter and issues that cut across areas of the Plan. The priority encourages studies that will capitalize on each Center's population and programmatic characteristics to make significant contributions to SCI rehabilitation. Applicants should carefully justify the likelihood of achieving the proposed research objectives.

Changes: The list of priorities for the research projects has been modified to include the associated areas chapter of the Plan, and to incorporate investigation of any long-range plan priority areas, including cross-cutting issues.

Comment: Several commenters discussed the mechanism of running a separate competition for collaborative research projects. Most commenters supported this idea, although one contended that large Centers should be funded to do site-specific research, while Centers with smaller patient loads could collaborate on research projects.

Discussion: A major advantage of supporting a Model Systems program is the ability to conduct studies with large samples on populations that are geographically, ethnically, culturally, and otherwise diverse. This is an important justification for the common data collection system. In the past, Centers have been required to propose both collaborative and site-specific research. This was an administrative problem, because applicants would have to propose collaborations with other applicants who might not be chosen for funding. After the Centers were funded, many had to drop or alter proposed collaborative studies because some of the partners did not receive funding. Also, the peer review process in the past did not give adequate attention to the research proposals, as they were focused on evaluating the comprehensiveness and quality of the systems of care. A separate competition for collaborative research projects in Fiscal Year 1998 for the NIDRR Traumatic Brain Injury program led to awards of substantial and meaningful research projects. It should be noted that collaboration is not precluded in the current competition. Applicants can form collaborative relationships with any appropriate entity as required to address their particular research.

NIDRR acknowledges the concerns of Centers that are tracking large patient populations. Projects will be funded at varying amounts up to the maximum allowed based on individual factors in proposals. Proposed budgets should reflect costs associated with data collection, proposed research, and administration. Funding will be determined individually for each successful applicant up to the maximum allowed based upon documented workload, the peer review process, and the overall budgetary limits of the program.

Changes: None.

Comment: Many practitioners and researchers in SCI rehabilitation point out that the individuals with SCI of non-traumatic origins now comprise a large portion of the individuals treated in rehabilitation units. There have been strong arguments for expanding the scope of the SCI Model Systems beyond traumatic SCI.

Discussion: This is an important change to consider. However, there has not been sufficient examination of the ramifications of changing the inclusion criteria of the database. NIDRR requires more data concerning the populations to be considered, proposed inclusion criteria such as time of onset and extent of lesion, and comparison of characteristics of traumatic vs. the non-traumatic SCI populations, including natural course, coexisting conditions, and socio-demographic variables. Applicants remain free to treat non-traumatic SCI in clinical settings and to include these patients in research projects. However, the parameters of the MSCIS will not be expanded at this time to include these non-traumatic patients. The peer review process will evaluate the merits of each proposal.

Changes: None.

Comment: Some respondents were concerned that there were too few points being awarded to adequacy of facilities, as the new selection criteria award a large number of points for project design. Respondents were unclear as to whether project design refers only to the design of the research portion. Other commenters objected to the inclusion of additional points for employment of individuals with disabilities on the project, arguing that applicants would tend to give pro forma responses, that the requirement is antithetical to the direction of current affirmative action practices, or that institutions may be forced into a bidding war for the relatively few qualified disabled researchers.

Discussion: The new thrust of the model systems program is to emphasize research. NIDRR believes there are sufficient points allowed for a comprehensive, integrated system of care to supplement the importance of high quality facilities. The Project Design criteria refer to the research project, and the Service Comprehensiveness criteria refer to the model demonstration.

NIDRR encourages employment of persons with disabilities on research projects not only as a measure of equal opportunity, but because individuals with disabilities bring important perspectives and concerns to research. The disability research field is also encouraged to find innovative ways to build research capacity among persons with disabilities.

Changes: The Project Design criteria section has been renamed Research Project Design.

Comment: Several commenters discussed the need for a specified minimum number of new injuries to be considered for inclusion in this program.

Discussion: NIDRR agrees that a "critical mass" of new injuries is important for an SCI Center of Excellence. This is important for maintaining a high level of clinical skill and for having enough subjects to perform meaningful research. However, NIDRR views this requirement as contextual. It is expected that applicants will document their history of new patients, and the likelihood of obtaining sufficient numbers to maintain a center of excellence for SCI care and to conduct research. It is the responsibility of the applicants to demonstrate that they have sufficient admissions to maintain a clinical Center of excellence and to conduct significant research.

Changes: None.

Comments: Two commenters were concerned that the priority did not discuss the geographic distribution of the Centers.

Discussion: When making funding determination, both the legislation (Section 204(b)(4) of Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended (29 USC 764(b)(4)) and the regulations (34 CFR Part 359) specify that the Director must take into account the location of any proposed SCI Center and the appropriate geographical and regional allocation of such Centers. This geographic distribution is considered in making the final determination of the awards.

Changes: None.

Rehabilitation Engineering Research Centers—General

Comment: What criteria does NIDRR use for selection of RERCs?

Discussion: NIDRR publishes selection criteria in the Notice Inviting Applications. The selection criteria are used by peer reviewers to evaluate the proposals submitted to NIDRR under this competition.

Changes: None.

Comment: Do RERCs have the authority to establish linkages with other agencies in order to achieve the necessary outcomes?

Discussion: RERCs are required to collaborate with specific RERCs and RRTCs as identified in each priority. In addition to these requirements, an applicant could propose to coordinate with other agencies or organizations. The peer review process will evaluate the merits of each applicant's proposed activities.

Changes: None.

Comment: Are the proposed RERCs required to establish partnerships between product manufacturers and practitioners to design and implement innovative technologies?

Discussion: NIDRR encourages applicants to include manufacturers, practitioners and consumers, as appropriate, in the design process. Each RERC is required to develop and implement, in consultation with the NIDRR-funded RERC on Technology Transfer, a utilization plan to ensure that all new and improved technologies developed by the RERC are successfully transferred to the marketplace. The peer review process will evaluate the merits of each application.

Changes: None.

Priority 2: Low Vision and Blindness

Comment: Four commenters suggested that a new activity should be added that requires the RERC to research and develop technologies that address jobsite adaptation, employment and daily living problems among the target population.

Discussion: NIDRR agrees that unemployment for persons who are blind or visually impaired is a very serious problem, as referenced in the first paragraph of the background statement.

Changes: A new activity has been added requiring the RERC to investigate, develop, and evaluate new vocational and daily living technologies and approaches.

Comment: Two commenters expressed concern that the word "screening" in the first required activity may be interpreted to imply merely the detection of a problem, whereas the real need is for more detailed assessment and analysis of the complex problems. Substituting "assessment", "analysis" or "evaluation" for "screening" would clarify and focus this priority.

Discussion: NIDRR agrees that "assessment" is a more appropriate term.

Changes: The first required activity has been revised by substituting the word "assessment" for "screening."

Comment: One individual commented that the main mandate of RERCs, as stated in the Rehabilitation Act, as amended, is to focus on research and development "to produce new scientific knowledge, and new or improved methods, equipment, and devices." This theme is very well represented in the third required activity, which refers to "technologies and approaches," but the other activities may be somewhat limiting in their focus. This would easily be remedied by inserting "technologies and approaches" or "technologies and methods" in each activity where the word "technologies" appears.

Discussion: NIDRR agrees that the priority would be strengthened by replacing "technologies" with "technologies and approaches" where applicable.

Changes: Required activities 1, 2, and 4 have been revised by replacing "technologies" with "technologies and approaches."

Comment: The third required activity does not accurately reflect the background statement and the broad language used might suggest that any and all studies of vision and aging apply.

Discussion: NIDRR believes that the background statement adequately supports each activity. However, while NIDRR agrees with the commenter that the third required activity would be strengthened by limiting the number of potential vision screening and assessment technologies investigated, NIDRR does not agree that the commenter's specific language recommendations accomplish this purpose.

Changes: The third required activity 3 has been revised by adding the words "and practical" after the word "simple."

Priority 3: Technologies for Children with Orthopedic Disabilities

Comment: Two goals for this RERC are to enable children to negotiate their environment and to enhance interactive play and social skill development. To accomplish these goals, the RERC must include typically developing peers.

Discussion: An applicant could propose research methodologies that include the use typically developing peers. NIDRR elects to leave the choice of research methodologies to be proposed to the applicants. The peer review process will evaluate the merits of each proposal.

Changes: None.

Comment: Parental involvement should be a requirement in the design and use of technologies developed by this RERC.

Discussion: NIDRR agrees that parental involvement is necessary for an RERC such as this one. There is mention of parental expectations in the first paragraph of the background statement. Furthermore, there is a general requirement that all RERCs involve persons with disabilities and their family representatives in planning and implementing their research and development activities. The peer review process will evaluate the merits of each applicant's proposed activities.

Changes: None.

Model Spinal Cord Injury Centers

The authority for Model Spinal Cord Injury Centers is contained in section 204(b)(4) of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended (29 U.S.C. 764(b)(4)). The Secretary may make awards for up to 60 months through grants or cooperative agreements. This program provides assistance to establish innovative projects for the delivery, demonstration, and evaluation of comprehensive medical, vocational, and other rehabilitation services to meet the wide range of needs of individuals with spinal cord injuries.

Description of Special Projects and Demonstrations for Spinal Cord Injuries

This program provides assistance for projects that provide comprehensive rehabilitation services to individuals with Spinal Cord Injury (SCI) and conduct spinal cord research, including clinical research and the analysis of standardized data in collaboration with other related projects.

Each SCI Center funded under this program establishes a multidisciplinary system of providing rehabilitation services, specifically designed to meet the special needs of individuals with spinal cord injuries. This includes acute care as well as periodic inpatient or outpatient follow up and vocational services. Centers demonstrate and evaluate the benefits and cost effectiveness of such a system for the care of individuals with SCI and demonstrate and evaluate existing, new, and improved methods and equipment essential to the care, management, and rehabilitation of individuals with SCI. Grantees demonstrate and evaluate methods of community outreach and education for individuals with SCI in connection with the problems of such individuals in areas such as housing, transportation, recreation, employment, and community activities.

Projects funded under this program ensure widespread dissemination of research findings to all SCI Centers, and to rehabilitation practitioners, individuals with SCI, and the parents, family members, guardians, advocates, or authorized representatives of such individuals. They engage in initiatives and new approaches and maintain close working relationships with other governmental and voluntary institutions and organizations to unify and coordinate scientific efforts, encourage joint planning, and promote the interchange of data and reports among SCI researchers.

The Department is particularly interested in ensuring that the expenditure of public funds is justified by the execution of intended activities and the advancement of knowledge and, thus, has built this accountability into the selection criteria. Not later than three years after the establishment of any Center, NIDRR will conduct one or more reviews of the activities and achievements of the Center. In accordance with the provisions of 34 CFR 75.253(a), continued funding depends at all times on satisfactory performance and accomplishment.

Priority

Under 34 CFR 75.105(c)(3) the Assistant Secretary gives an absolute preference to applications that meet the following priority. The Assistant Secretary will fund under this competition only applications that meet this absolute priority.

Priority 1: Model Spinal Cord Injury Centers

Background

Estimates of the number of people living with traumatic spinal cord injury (SCI) range from 183,000 to 230,000, with an incidence of approximately 10,000 new cases each year ("Spinal Cord Injury Facts and Figures at a Glance," National Spinal Cord Injury Statistical Center (NSCISC), University of Alabama at Birmingham). Although SCI predominately affects young adults (56% of SCIs occur among people aged 16-30 years), there is an increasing proportion of new SCI cases in the population over 60 years of age (NSCISC, ibid.). The true significance of traumatic SCI lies not primarily in the numbers affected, but in the substantial impact on individuals' lives and the associated substantial health care costs and living expenses. A traumatic SCI has far-reaching repercussions on the lives of the injured persons and their families that can be devastating if not addressed effectively. According to a report from the Agency for Health Care Policy and Research (Hospital Inpatient Statistics, 1996, AHCPR Publication No. 99-0034), SCI is the most expensive condition or diagnosis treated in U.S. hospitals. The estimated lifetime costs for an individual injured at the age of 25 range from $365,000 for an incomplete injury to more than $1.7 million for an individual with a high cervical injury (NSCISC, op cit.).

The Model SCI program was developed in 1970 to demonstrate the value of a comprehensive integrated continuum of care for SCI. Twenty-six sites have been designated, at various times, as Model SCI Centers through funding initially from the Rehabilitation Services Administration, and subsequently from the National Institute on Handicapped Research, and its successor, the National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research (NIDRR). For the period 1995-2000 there are 18 funded Model SCI Centers. (Additional information is available on the World Wide Web at <http://www.ncddr.org/mscis/>). The clinical components of the Model Centers are specified in the program regulations, and include " * * * emergency medical services, acute care, vocational and other rehabilitation services, community and job placement, and long-term community follow up and health maintenance" (34 CFR 359.11). In addition to demonstrating and evaluating the benefits of such a system the centers are required to contribute data on their patients to the National Spinal Cord Injury Database (NSCID), and engage in research both within the center, and in collaboration with other centers.

During the past 30 years, there have been substantial improvements in outcomes following SCI (Stover, S.L., et al., Spinal Cord Injury: Clinical Outcomes From the Model Systems, and Special Issue, Spinal Cord Injury: Current Research Outcomes from the Model Spinal Cord Injury Care Systems, Archives of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, Vol. 80, No. 11, November, 1999). Enhanced emergency medical services have led to increased preservation of neurologic function. Mortality during the first year following injury has continuously declined. Life expectancy, while still below that for those without SCI, has significantly increased for all levels of injury. The ideal of a comprehensive multi-disciplinary system of care for SCI has gained widespread acceptance.

However, significant challenges and opportunities remain for SCI rehabilitation. Recent statistics from the National Spinal Cord Injury Statistical Center (NSCISC) suggest that as the length of stay in rehabilitation settings has progressively decreased (1993-1998), there has been an increase in re-hospitalization during the first year after injury. In addition, mortality after the first anniversary of injury declined continuously from 1973-1992, but now has increased for the period 1993-1998. Secondary medical complications, including, but not limited to, respiratory complications, pressure ulcers and autonomic dysreflexia, continue to be significant problems. Injuries due to interpersonal violence have increased as a proportion of the total SCI incidence and are more likely to be neurologically complete injuries.

There is a need to identify, evaluate, and eliminate barriers in the natural, built, cultural, and social environments to enable people with SCI to achieve the goal of fully reintegrating into their community. Particular focus is required to address the needs of minority and underserved populations. Although employment for the U.S. population is at historically high levels, employment for the SCI population remains low. Individuals with SCI due to interpersonal violence have an employment rate approximately half of the average for all individuals with SCI (NSCISC, op cit.).

NIDRR shares the concerns of the rehabilitation community about the impact of changes in health care delivery and financing upon the continuum of care for SCI. People with SCI often have more difficulty in obtaining adequate primary health care than non-disabled individuals. The unique needs of women with SCI in cardiac rehabilitation, reproductive health, and early cancer screening are special issues that need to be addressed.

There are also new and developing opportunities for improving SCI care. Medical and pharmacological therapies show promise for preserving and enhancing function. There is a need to identify and evaluate therapeutic interventions, including prevention and wellness programs, and complementary and alternative therapies using evidence-based evaluation protocols.

Advancing technology has the potential to enhance access and function for individuals with SCI. There is a need to develop and evaluate service delivery models incorporating telerehabilitation strategies and technologies to provide services for people with SCI. Assistive technologies may reduce the likelihood of secondary complications in SCI. For example, improved wheelchair and seating systems may reduce musculoskeletal trauma associated with long term wheelchair use. Technological advancement has the promise of providing greater accessibility to information, telecommunications, and employment. The adoption of universal design methodologies will enhance access to the built environment as well as rapidly developing electronic and information technologies.

The development of strong collaborations by SCI centers with community and social support organizations has the potential to impact positively the independence and community integration for individuals with SCI. Peer support beginning early in the rehabilitation process may enhance return to participation in the community. The causes of unemployment in SCI include lack of education and skills, lack of prior work experience, and policy disincentives. Pending changes in legislation and policy to permit retention of some medical insurance during employment, together with the high demand for skilled individuals in the workforce, represents an opportunity to foster education and employment of individuals with SCI.

NIDRR has published the Plan that is based upon a new paradigm for rehabilitation that identifies disability in terms of the relationship between the individual and the natural, built, cultural, and social environments (63 FR 57189-57219). The Plan focuses on both individual and systemic factors that have an impact on the ability of people to function. The elements of the Plan include employment outcomes, health and function, technology for access and function, and independent living and community integration. As part of the Plan to attain the goals in these areas, NIDRR is committed to capacity building for research and training, and to ensure knowledge dissemination and utilization. Each area of the Plan includes objectives at both the individual and system levels. For example, the health and function objectives include research to improve medical rehabilitation interventions, as well as research to ensure access to an integrated continuum of quality health care services that address the unique needs of persons with disabilities. It is clear that the challenges and opportunities for SCI care reflect all of the priority areas of the Plan.

NIDRR has recently completed Program Reviews of all current Model SCI Centers. Based upon presentations by the Centers, and discussion with the external reviewers, NIDRR has concluded that the value of a comprehensive integrated system of care for SCI has been demonstrated. Because this conclusion is widely accepted, NIDRR is shifting the focus of the program from demonstration, to place a greater emphasis upon research. Participants in the Program Reviews observed that the comprehensive continuum of quality care should continue to be a requirement for participation in the Model SCI Centers Program. There is significant diversity among the Centers, however, in research interests and capacities. This diversity extends across the priority areas of the Plan, and represents a strength of the program.

Reviewers noted that uniformly comprehensive, high quality care, together with a common data collection system and administrative infrastructure makes the Model SCI Centers Program a valuable platform for various collaborative studies, including multi-center trials of therapies and technologies. To further the enhancement of the research mission, participants recommended a separate competition for the collaborative research portion of the program. A separate competition will facilitate focused, considered proposals, a higher level of scientific review, and the development of significant research projects in the Model SCI Centers. The competition for collaborative research projects will be conducted subsequent to the identification of the Model SCI Centers, and funds will be reserved for that purpose.

During the Program Reviews, there was considerable discussion of the NSCID. It is clear that the database is a valuable resource and that participation in the NSCID is an essential element for the Model SCI Centers. For the purpose of the present competition, the data collection activities will be maintained without change. NIDRR expects that applicants will include historical documentation of numbers of patients as well as expected new patients and expected annual follow-up submissions based on current eligibility criteria for the NSCID. However, it is anticipated that, through discussion among the newly identified Model SCI Centers, NIDRR staff, and external reviewers, details of data collection may be modified following the award. This process should not result in increased data collection workloads above current levels.

Priority 1

The Assistant Secretary will establish Model Spinal Cord Injury Centers for the purpose of generating new knowledge through research, development, or demonstration to improve outcomes for SCI through improved interventions and service delivery models. A Model SCI Center must:

(1) Establish a multidisciplinary system of providing rehabilitation services specifically designed to meet the special needs of individuals with SCI, including emergency medical services, acute care, vocational and other rehabilitation services, community and job placement, and long-term community follow up and health maintenance;

(2) Participate as directed by the Assistant Secretary in national studies of SCI by contributing to a national database and by other means as required by the Assistant Secretary; and

(3) Conduct a significant and substantial research program in SCI that will contribute to the advancement of knowledge in accordance with the Plan. Applicants may select from the following examples of research objectives related to specific areas of the Plan or other research objectives, including those that cut across areas of the Plan:

- (Chapter 3, Employment Outcomes): Either (1) Assess the impact of legislative and policy changes on employment outcomes; or (2) test direct intervention strategies for improving employment outcomes.

- (Chapter 4, Maintaining Health and Function): Either (1) Study interventions to improve outcomes in the preservation or restoration of function or the prevention and treatment of secondary conditions; or (2) Design and test service delivery models that provide quality care under constraints imposed by recent changes in the health care financing system.

- (Chapter 5, Technology for Access and Function): Either (1) Evaluate the impact of selected innovations in technology and rehabilitation engineering on service delivery; or (2) Evaluate the impact of selected innovations in technology and rehabilitation engineering on outcomes such as function, independence, and employment.

- (Chapter 6, Independent Living and Community Integration): Assess the value of peer support and early onset of services from community and social support organizations to improve outcomes such as independence and community integration, employment function, and health maintenance.

- (Chapter 7, Associated): Either (1) Refine measures of medical rehabilitation effectiveness in SCI to incorporate environmental factors in the assessment function; or (2) Investigation of the impact of national telecommunications and information policy on the access of persons with SCI to related education, work, and other opportunities.

(4) Provide for the widespread dissemination of research and demonstration findings to other SCI centers, rehabilitation practitioners, researchers, individuals with SCI and their families and representatives, and other public and private organizations involved in SCI care and rehabilitation. In carrying out these purposes, the SCI center must:

- Incorporate culturally appropriate methods of community outreach and education in areas such as health and wellness, housing, transportation, recreation, employment, and other community activities for individuals with diverse backgrounds with SCI;
- Demonstrate the research and clinical capacity to participate in collaborative projects, clinical trials, or technology transfer with other model SCI centers, other NIDRR grantees, and similar programs of other public and private agencies and institutions; and
- Demonstrate the likelihood of having a sufficient number of individuals with SCI, including newly injured persons, to conduct statistically significant research.

Final Selection Criteria

The Assistant Secretary will use these selection criteria to evaluate applications under this program. The maximum score for all the criteria is 100 points. The new emphasis on research and NIDRR's Plan, plus the importance of the NSCID, require some modifications to the selection criteria for this program. The Secretary will redistribute points to reflect the increased emphasis on research, and to add references to the Plan and NSCID.

Final Additional Selection Criterion

The Assistant Secretary also will use the following criterion so that up to an additional ten points may be earned by an applicant for a total possible score of 110 points:

Within this absolute priority, we will give the following competitive preference to applications that are otherwise eligible for funding under this priority:

Up to ten (10) points based on the extent to which an application includes effective strategies for employing and advancing in employment qualified individuals with disabilities in projects awarded under these absolute priorities. In determining the effectiveness of those strategies, we will consider the applicant's success, as described in the application, in employing and advancing in employment qualified individuals with disabilities in the project.

For purposes of this competitive preference, applicants can be awarded up to a total of 10 points in addition to those awarded under the published selection criteria for this priority. That is, an applicant meeting this competitive preference could earn a maximum total of 110 points.

Rehabilitation Engineering Research Centers

The authority for RERCs is contained in section 204(b)(3) of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended (29 U.S.C. 762(b)(3)). The Secretary may make awards for up to 60 months through grants or cooperative agreements to public and private agencies and organizations, including institutions of higher education, Indian tribes, and tribal organizations, to conduct research, demonstration, and training activities regarding rehabilitation technology in order to enhance opportunities for meeting the needs of, and addressing the barriers confronted by, individuals with disabilities in all aspects of their lives. An RERC must be operated by or in collaboration with an institution of higher education or a nonprofit organization.

Description of Rehabilitation Engineering Research Centers

RERCs carry out research or demonstration activities by:

(a) Developing and disseminating innovative methods of applying advanced technology, scientific achievement, and psychological and social knowledge to (1) solve rehabilitation problems and remove environmental barriers, and (2) study new or emerging technologies, products, or environments;

(b) Demonstrating and disseminating (1) innovative models for the delivery of cost-effective rehabilitation technology services to rural and urban areas, and (2) other scientific research to assist in meeting the employment and independent living needs of individuals with severe disabilities; or

(c) Facilitating service delivery systems change through (1) the development, evaluation, and dissemination of consumer-responsive and individual and family-centered innovative models for the delivery to both rural and urban areas of innovative cost-effective rehabilitation technology services, and (2) other scientific research to assist in meeting the employment and independent needs of individuals with severe disabilities.

Each RERC must provide training opportunities to individuals, including individuals with disabilities, to become researchers of rehabilitation technology and practitioners of rehabilitation technology in conjunction with institutions of higher education and nonprofit organizations.

The Department is particularly interested in ensuring that the expenditure of public funds is justified by the execution of intended activities and the advancement of knowledge and, thus, has built this accountability into the selection criteria. Not later than three years after the establishment of any RERC, NIDRR will conduct one or more reviews of the activities and achievements of the Center. In accordance with the provisions of 34 CFR 75.253(a), continued funding depends at all times on satisfactory performance and accomplishment.

General RERC Requirements

The following requirements apply to these RERCs pursuant to these absolute priorities unless noted otherwise. An applicant's proposal to fulfill these requirements will be assessed using applicable selection criteria in the peer review process.

The RERC must have the capability to design, build, and test prototype devices and assist in the transfer of successful solutions to relevant production and service delivery settings.

The RERC must evaluate the efficacy and safety of its new products, instrumentation, or assistive devices.

The RERC must involve individuals with disabilities and, if appropriate, their representatives, in planning and implementing its research, development, training, and dissemination activities, and in evaluating the Center.

Priorities

Under an absolute priority we consider only applications that meet one of these absolute priorities (34 CFR 75.105(c)(3)).

Priority 2: Low Vision and Blindness

Background

According to recent estimates there are more than 3 million Americans with low vision, and almost one million who are legally blind (National Eye Institute, "Vision research: A national plan 1999-2003," A report of the National Advisory Eye Council, National Institutes of Health, 1999). Approximately 7.8% of persons over 65 cannot see well enough to read newspaper print (Nelson, K.A., "Statistical brief #35: Visual impairment among elderly Americans: statistics in transition," Journal of Visual Impairment and Blindness, vol. 81, pgs. 331-334, 1987), and the number of persons in this age group is projected to increase twice as fast as the population as a whole (Schmeidler, E. and Halfman, D., "Statistics on visual impairment on older persons, disability in children, life expectancy," Journal of Visual Impairment and Blindness, vol. 91, pgs. 602-606, 1997). Blind and visually impaired individuals face major barriers in information access and handling, orientation and mobility, and access to jobsites and public facilities, resulting in very high rates of unemployment (Kirchner, C. and Schmeidler, E., "Prevalence and employment of people in the United States who are blind or visually impaired," Journal of Visual Impairment and Blindness, vol. 91, pgs. 508-511, 1997; Hagemoser, S.D., "The relationship of personality traits to the employment status of persons who are blind," Journal of Visual Impairment and Blindness, vol. 90, pgs. 134-144, 1996). There is also a growing and underserved group of individuals with a combination of multiple sensory, physical, and cognitive impairments (Malakpa, S., "Job placement of blind and visually impaired people with additional disabilities" RE:View, vol. 26, pgs. 69-77, 1994).

The leading causes of vision impairment in children in the U.S. are cortical visual impairment (35%), retinopathy of prematurity (ROP), optic nerve hypoplasia, and other retinal conditions (Murphy, D. and Good, W.V., "The epidemiology of blindness in children in California," American Academy of Ophthalmology, pg. 157, 1997; Oxford Register of Early Childhood Impairments Annual Report, The National Perinatal Epidemiology Unit, Ratcliffe Infirmary, pgs. 32-36, 1998). As a result of improvements in medical diagnosis, treatment and technologies, more premature infants are surviving birth. However, a significant number of newborn infants experience traumatic conditions that include blindness and cognitive and motor deficits. New approaches and technologies are needed to identify and separate the sensory and cognitive deficits so that habilitation can be planned and monitored more effectively (Good, W.V., Jan, J.E., deSa, L., Barkovich, A.J., Groenvelde, M. and Hoyt, C.S., "Cortical visual impairment in children: A major review," Survey of Ophthalmology, vol. 38, pgs. 351-364, 1994). Intervention in the very young age groups offers maximum promise of cost effectiveness and independent functioning throughout life.

Wayfinding refers to the techniques used by persons who are blind or visually impaired as they move from place to place independently. Wayfinding is commonly divided into orientation and mobility skills. Orientation refers to the ability to monitor one's position in relation to the environment. Mobility refers to one's ability to move safely, from one location to the next with a limited amount of veering. Orientation and mobility are prerequisites to success at school, on the job, and in daily living. Various electronic devices and environmental modifications have been used in attempts to improve wayfinding and to reduce veering. Current technologies, including clear-path and drop-off detectors, do little to prevent veering.

Low vision or blindness frequently coexists with other disabilities including hearing loss, cognitive impairments and mobility limitations. Individuals with multiple disabilities present technological challenges and require complex adjustments to achieve functionality in and across environments (Greenbaum, M.G., Fernandes, S. and Wainapel, S.F., "Use of a motorized wheelchair in conjunction with a guide dog for the legally blind and physically disabled," Archives of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, vol. 79(2), pgs. 216-217, 1998).

The most common cause of visual impairment among the aging population is Age Related Maculopathy (ARM) (Fletcher, D.C. and Schucard, R.A.,

"Preferred retinal loci relationship to macular scotomas in a low-vision population," Ophthalmology, vol. 104, pgs. 632-638, 1997). Visual impairments among this population impact a wide variety of activities of daily living. Further, visual impairment is often accompanied by hearing loss, cognitive deficits, and motor dysfunction. Many older individuals reside in congregate care settings (i.e., nursing homes) where the prevalence of eye disorders can be as high as 90% (Marx, M.S., Werner, P., Feldman, R. and Cohen-Mansfield, J., "The eye disorders of residents of a nursing home," Journal of Visual Impairment and Blindness, vol. 88(5), pgs. 462-468, 1994; Whitmore, W.G., "Eye disease in a geriatric nursing home population," Ophthalmology, vol. 96, pgs. 393-398, 1989; Horowitz, A., "Vision impairment and functional disability among nursing home residents," The Gerontologist, vol. 34, pgs. 316-323, 1994). These facilities could be a platform for reaching many consumers with simple vision screening technologies that would permit non-clinical personnel to rapidly screen residents for visual impairments and make appropriate referrals. Currently, methods for assessing ARM include, but are not limited to, residual visual function and identifying optimal locations on the retina for reading and other tasks (Fletcher, D.C. and Schucard, R.A., op. cit., 1997). These methods address one eye at a time, and the advantages of binocular vision are often lost (Paul, W., "The role of computer assistive technology in rehabilitation of the visually impaired: A personal perspective," American Journal of Ophthalmology, vol. 127(1), pgs. 75-76, 1999; Schuchard, R.A. and Kuo, K., "Retinal correspondence and binocular perception characteristics in low vision people with binocular eccentric PRLs," Investigative Ophthalmology and Vision Science, vol. 91, pgs. 602-606, 1999).

Chapter 5 of the Plan (64 FR 68575) discusses the importance of directing research and development activities toward the problems faced by individuals who have significant visual, hearing, and communication impairments. The number of individuals with both severe hearing and visual impairments (deaf-blind) is small but increasing. The greatest challenges persons with multiple sensory impairments face are communication and access to information technology (Engelman, M.D., Griffin, H.C. and Wheeler, L., "Deaf-blindness and communication: Practical knowledge and strategies," Journal of Visual Impairments and Blindness, vol. 92(11), pgs. 783-798, 1999). Individuals who are deaf-blind rarely use Braille for communication purposes. To date, technologies for individuals who are deaf-blind have focused primarily on tactile interpreting for face-to-face communication.

In today's complex and multifaceted electronic world, access to graphical and spatial information is critical for persons who are blind or visually impaired to be successful in school and work (Kent, D., "Book review: Let's learn shapes with Shapely-Cal," Journal of Visual Impairment and Blindness, vol. 92(4), pgs. 245-247, 1998). Tactile graphical information and spatial and geometric concepts are difficult to represent for persons who are blind. Converting pictures or signs into raised tactile form has proven to be costly and time-consuming (Horsfall, B., "Photopolymers, computer-aided design, and tactile signs," Journal of Visual Impairment and Blindness, vol. 92(11), pgs. 823-826, 1998). Audio and audio-tactile methods of graphics presentation and spatial and geometric concepts may promote parity between individuals who are blind or visually impaired and others in a variety of environments including school, work, and recreation.

Priority 2

The Assistant Secretary will establish an RERC that will identify and develop technologies that will improve assessment of vision impairments and promote independence for individuals with low vision and blindness. The RERC must:

- (1) Investigate, develop, and evaluate new assessment technologies and approaches that will identify and differentiate between vision and cognitive impairments in infants;
- (2) Develop and evaluate new wayfinding technologies and approaches that can be used by persons with coexisting disabilities;
- (3) Investigate, develop, and evaluate simple and practical vision screening and assessment technologies and approaches for identifying visual impairments associated with aging;
- (4) Investigate, develop, and evaluate new technologies and approaches to facilitate face-to-face communication for individuals who are deaf-blind and methods that will enable individuals who are blind or deaf-blind to navigate and interpret graphical, spatial and geometric information;
- (5) Investigate, develop, and evaluate new technologies and approaches that will assist individuals who are blind or visually impaired in vocational and daily living environments; and

(6) Develop and implement, in consultation with the NIDRR-funded RERC on Technology Transfer, a utilization plan for ensuring that all new and improved technologies developed by this RERC are successfully transferred to the marketplace.

In carrying out the above required activities, the RERC must:

- Develop and implement, during the first year of the grant and in consultation with the NIDRR-funded National Center for the Dissemination of Disability Research (NCDDR), a plan to effectively disseminate the RERC's research outcomes to all appropriate target audiences including: clinicians, engineers, manufacturers, individuals with disabilities, families, disability organizations, technology service providers, businesses, journals, organizations representing minorities and other underrepresented groups;
- In the third year of the grant, conduct a state-of-the-science conference on technologies for individuals with low vision and blindness and publish a comprehensive report in the fourth year of the grant;
- Collaborate on research projects of mutual interest with NIDRR-funded RERCs on Information Technology Access and Telecommunications Access, RRTC's on visual disabilities and appropriate professional organizations; and
- Address the needs of children with vision disabilities from minority backgrounds and cultures.

Background

It is estimated that 6 million children, age 18 and younger, in the United States have some type of disability. The prevalence of children with orthopedic impairments in the U.S., including paralysis and congenital anomalies, is roughly 420,000 (8.4 percent) (LaPlante, M. and Carlson, D., "Disability in the United States: Prevalence and Causes," 1992 Report of the Disability Statistics Rehabilitation Research and Training Center, NIDRR, U.S. Department of Education, 1995). The majority of these children are unable to perform a major activity or are limited in the amount or types of major activities, including education and play, they can perform (Wenger, B.L., Kaye, H.S. and LaPlante, M.P., "Disabilities among children," Disability Statistics Abstract (No. 15), NIDRR, U.S. Department of Education, 1996). Children with disabilities present unique challenges for health care professionals when compared to adults with similar disabilities. For example: children experience periods of accelerated growth affecting shape, strength and body alignment; their body sizes are disproportionate to adults, they are not scaled-down adults; they experience developmental stages that affect their fine and gross motor skills; their capabilities change as they mature and as they learn to control their bodies and their environment; and parental expectations about their child's disability can influence medical treatment and therapeutic interventions.

Chapter 5 of the Plan (64 FR 45766) discusses the importance of research and development activities that will enhance mobility and improve manipulation for individuals with orthopedic impairments. Children with orthopedic impairments present unique challenges for rehabilitation specialists. The technology to 'replace' a child's missing limb does not exist today. It is possible, however, to restore considerable function with a prosthesis. The usefulness of such a device depends largely upon its weight, how well it fits, how easy it is to control and its durability, reliability and aesthetics. Continual developmental changes, including physical, emotional, and social growth, make it difficult to fit a child with a prosthesis and to determine the most appropriate time for introducing a prosthesis to a child. For example, the importance of fitting a child early with a prosthesis is well cited. However, there continues to be discussion about which developmental milestones to consider when determining the most suitable prosthesis for a child (Patton, J.G., "Development approach to pediatric upper-limb prosthetic training," Atlas of Limb Prosthetics: Surgical, Prosthetic, and Rehabilitation Principles, Mosby, St. Louis, pgs. 778-793, 1992).

In addition to congenital and acquired amputations there are other conditions that can cause orthopedic impairments in children. Cerebral palsy (CP) is a motor disorder originating from a central nervous system injury that occurs before, during or shortly after birth. Children under the age of five who sustain brain injuries are also classified as having CP. The disability ranks third among childhood disabilities (LaPlante, M.P., Disability risks of chronic illness and impairments, Disability Statistics Program, San Francisco, CA., 1989) and is the most common cause of paralysis in children (Wenger, B.L., Kaye, H.S. and LaPlante, M.P., op. cit., 1996). The reported prevalence of CP in the U.S. is two per thousand and the incidence is approximately one per thousand live births (Turk, M.A., "Early development-related conditions," Assessing Medical Rehabilitation Practices: The Promise of Outcomes Research, Marcus J. Fuhrer, ed., pgs. 371-372, 1997). Individuals with CP typically have abnormal muscle tone, muscle weakness, primitive reflexes, or uncoordinated movements requiring seating and orthotic interventions for postural control and alignment (Cook, A.M. and Hussy, S.M., Assistive Technologies: Principles and Practice, Mosby, St. Louis, pg. 237, 1995). Spina bifida is a congenital anomaly in which the neural tube that forms the spinal cord does not fully develop, leading to a number of lower extremity problems, including muscle paralysis, hip dislocations, knee hypertension, and club feet. The reported incidence of spina bifida is between 0.5 and 1 per thousand (Turk, M.A., op. cit., pgs. 378-379, 1997).

The most common management strategy for motor impairments caused by cerebral palsy and spina bifida is developmental therapy (i.e., physical, occupational, speech and language therapies). However, orthotics, specific spasticity-reducing regimens (Baclofen pumps, botulinum toxin injections), orthopedic surgery, and adaptive equipment also are used in intervention. Orthotics are used on both upper and lower extremities to improve function, to prevent or compensate for anomalies, and to control muscle weakness, spasticity and structural instability. Most orthotic devices (e.g., ankle-foot orthoses) are designed to be rigid. Dynamic orthoses and splints for gait, spasticity and contracture management may have significant application.

Adaptive equipment is used to improve functional independence in mobility, self-care, communication, environmental control, and school activities. There is no definitive study on how to make the best choice among all the options or which improves function the most (Turk, M.A., op. cit., pg. 376, 1997).

Composite materials have much to offer in prosthetic and orthotic design. They are strong, lightweight, and durable. However, these materials require different and more costly manufacturing techniques than those used with traditional materials such as metal and thermoplastics. A problem associated with composite materials is that they are difficult to postform, a process whereby prosthetic or orthotic devices are adjusted slightly during final fittings (White, M., "Development of an advanced lightweight composite orthosis," Presented at ASM International—Aeromat 1992, New Trends in Advanced Composites, Anaheim, CA., May 20, 1992).

Leisure time is critical to a child's well-being and development. Play is one means for children to master developmental tasks and learn important behavioral and social skills. The ability to interact effectively with the environment through play can affect a child's self-esteem, behavior, self-awareness, confidence, and competency (Masten, A.S., "The development of competence in favorable and unfavorable environments: Lessons from research on successful children," American Psychologist, vol. 53, pgs. 205-220, 1998). Children with disabilities, including those with amputations, cerebral palsy and spina bifida, encounter many challenges in their attempts to engage in learning and play activities. Often sensory and motor impairments severely limit the degree to which they are able to negotiate their environment and interact with others. Facilitating play for these children involves adapting the environment and providing appropriate technologies that will enhance interactive play and social skill development. The product market is challenged to meet the demands of millions of children with disabilities and their families who need alternative strategies in order to engage in recreation and social activities.

Priority 3

The Assistant Secretary will establish a RERC on technologies for children with orthopedic disabilities to identify and develop technologies that will help children with orthopedic disabilities to overcome functional deficits and to support their ability to learn, play and interact socially. The RERC must:

- (1) Develop and evaluate new, lightweight upper and lower limb prosthetic and orthotic devices for children;
- (2) Investigate the use of dynamic orthoses for controlling spasticity and contractures for children with orthopedic impairments including those with cerebral palsy and spina bifida;
- (3) Identify, develop, and evaluate models for determining when during children's development to introduce assistive technologies and prosthetic and orthotic devices;
- (4) Investigate, develop, and evaluate technologies, and strategies for their use, that will enable young children, including children with cerebral palsy and spina bifida, to participate in interactive play and socialization activities; and
- (5) Develop and implement, in consultation with the NIDRR-funded RERC on Technology Transfer, a utilization plan for ensuring that all new and improved technologies developed by this RERC are successfully transferred to the marketplace.

In carrying out the above required activities, the RERC must:

- Develop and implement, during the first year of the grant and in consultation with the NIDRR-funded National Center for the Dissemination of Disability Research (NCDDR), a plan to effectively disseminate the RERC's research outcomes to all appropriate target audiences including: clinicians, engineers, manufacturers, individuals with disabilities, families, disability organizations, technology service providers, businesses, and journals;
- In the third year of the grant, conduct a state-of-the-science conference on technologies for children with orthopedic disabilities and publish a comprehensive report in the fourth year of the grant;
- Collaborate on research projects of mutual interest with the RERC on Prosthetics and Orthotics, the RERC on Wheeled Mobility, and the RRTC on Children with Special Health Care Needs; and
- Address the needs of children with orthopedic disabilities from minority backgrounds and cultures.

Final Additional Selection Criterion

The Assistant Secretary will use the selection criteria in 34 CFR 350.54 to evaluate applications under this program. The maximum score for all the criteria is 100 points; however, the Assistant Secretary also will use the following criterion so that up to an additional ten points may be earned by an applicant for a total possible score of 110 points:

Within these absolute priorities, we will give the following competitive preference to applications that are otherwise eligible for funding under these priorities:

Up to ten (10) points based on the extent to which an application includes effective strategies for employing and advancing in employment qualified individuals with disabilities in projects awarded under these absolute priorities. In determining the effectiveness of those strategies, we will consider the applicant's success, as described in the application, in employing and advancing in employment qualified individuals with disabilities in the project.

For purposes of this competitive preference, applicants can be awarded up to a total of 10 points in addition to those awarded under the published selection criteria for these priorities. That is, an applicant meeting this competitive preference could earn a maximum total of 110 points.

Within the absolute priority (see the notice of final priority published elsewhere in this issue of the Federal Register), we will give the following competitive preference to applications that are otherwise eligible for funding under this priority:

Up to ten (10) points based on the extent to which an application includes effective strategies for employing and advancing in employment qualified individuals with disabilities in projects awarded under this absolute priority. In determining the effectiveness of those strategies, we will consider the applicant's success, as described in the application, in employing and advancing in employment qualified individuals with disabilities in the project.

For purposes of this competitive preference, applicants can be awarded up to a total of 10 points in addition to those awarded under the published selection criteria for this priority. That is, an applicant meeting this competitive preference could earn a maximum total of 110 points.

Appendix—Application Forms and Instructions

Applicants are advised to reproduce and complete the application forms in this Section. Applicants are required to submit an original and two copies of each application as provided in this Section. However, applicants are encouraged to submit an original and seven copies of each application in order to facilitate the peer review process and minimize copying errors.

Frequency Questions

1. Can I Get an Extension of the Due Date?

No. On rare occasions the Department of Education may extend a closing date for all applicants. If that occurs, a notice of the revised due date is published in the Federal Register. However, there are no extensions or exceptions to the due date made for individual applicants.

2. What Should Be Included in the Application?

The application should include a project narrative, vitae of key personnel, and a budget, as well as the Assurances forms included in this package. Vitae of staff or consultants should include the individual's title and role in the proposed project, and other information that is specifically pertinent to this proposed project. The budgets for both the first year and all subsequent project years should be included.

If collaboration with another organization is involved in the proposed activity, the application should include assurances of participation by the other parties, including written agreements or assurances of cooperation. It is not useful to include general letters of support or endorsement in the application.

If the applicant proposes to use unique tests or other measurement instruments that are not widely known in the field, it would be helpful to include the instrument in the application.

Many applications contain voluminous appendices that are not helpful and in many cases cannot even be mailed to the reviewers. It is generally not helpful to include such things as brochures, general capability statements of collaborating organizations, maps, copies of publications, or descriptions of other projects completed by the applicant.

3. What Format Should Be Used for the Application?

NIDRR generally advises applicants that they may organize the application to follow the selection criteria that will be used. The specific review criteria vary according to the specific program, and are contained in this Consolidated Application Package.

4. May I Submit Applications to More Than One NIDRR Program Competition or More Than One Application to a Program?

Yes. You may submit applications to any program for which they are responsive to the program requirements. You may submit the same application to as many competitions as you believe appropriate. You may also submit more than one application in any given competition.

5. What Is the Allowable Indirect Cost Rate?

The limits on indirect costs vary according to the program and the type of application. An applicant for a Rehabilitation Research Project should limit indirect charges to the organizations approved indirect cost rate. If the organization does not have an approved indirect cost rate, the application should include an estimated actual rate.

6. Can Profitmaking Businesses Apply for Grants?

Yes. However, for-profit organizations will not be able to collect a fee or profit on the grant, and in some programs will be required to share in the costs of the project.

7. Can Individuals Apply for Grants?

No. Only organizations are eligible to apply for grants under NIDRR programs. However, individuals are the only entities eligible to apply for fellowships.

8. Can NIDRR Staff Advise Me Whether My Project Is of Interest to NIDRR or Likely To Be Funded?

No. NIDRR staff can advise you of the requirements of the program in which you propose to submit your application. However, staff cannot advise you of whether your subject area or proposed approach is likely to receive approval.

9. How Do I Assure That My Application Will Be Referred to the Most Appropriate Panel for Review?

*Applicants should be sure that their applications are referred to the correct competition by clearly including the competition title and CFDA number, including alphabetical code, on the Standard Form 424, and including a project title that describes the project.

10. How Soon After Submitting My Application Can I Find Out if It Will Be Funded?

The time from closing date to grant award date varies from program to program. Generally speaking, NIDRR endeavors to have awards made within five to six months of the closing date. Unsuccessful applicants generally will be notified within that time frame as well. For the purpose of estimating a project start date, the applicant should estimate approximately six months from the closing date, but no later than the following September 30.

11. Can I Call NIDRR To Find Out if My Application Is Being Funded?

No. When NIDRR is able to release information on the status of grant applications, it will notify applicants by letter. The results of the peer review cannot be released except through this formal notification.

12. If My Application is Successful, Can I Assume I Will Get the Requested Budget Amount in Subsequent Years?

No. Funding in subsequent years is subject to availability of funds and project performance.

13. Will All Approved Applications Be Funded?

No. It often happens that the peer review panels approve for funding more applications than NIDRR can fund within available resources. Applicants who are approved but not funded are encouraged to consider submitting similar applications in future competitions.

If you marked item 12 on the application "Yes" and designated exemptions in 12a, (all research activities are exempt), provide sufficient information in the application to allow a determination that the designated exemptions are appropriate. Research involving human subjects that is exempt from the regulations is discussed under II.B. "Exemptions," below. The Narrative must be succinct. Provide this information in an "Item 12/Protection of Human Subjects Attachment" and insert this attachment immediately following the ED 424 face page.

If you marked "Yes" to item 12 on the face page, and designated no exemptions from the regulations (some or all of the research activities are nonexempt), address the following six points for each nonexempt activity. In addition, if research involving human subjects will take place at collaborating site(s) or other performance site(s), provide this information before discussing the six points. Although no specific page limitation applies to this section of the application, be succinct. Provide the six-point narrative and discussion of other performance sites in an "Item 12/Protection of Human Subjects Attachment" and insert this attachment immediately following the ED 424 face page.

(1) Provide a detailed description of the proposed involvement of human subjects. Describe the characteristics of the subject population, including their anticipated number, age range, and health status. Identify the criteria for inclusion or exclusion of any subpopulation. Explain the rationale for the involvement of special classes of subjects, such as children, children with disabilities, adults with disabilities, persons with mental disabilities, pregnant women, prisoners, institutionalized individuals, or others who are likely to be vulnerable.

(2) Identify the sources of research material obtained from individually identifiable living human subjects in the form of specimens, records, or data. Indicate whether the material or data will be obtained specifically for research purposes or whether use will be made of existing specimens, records, or data.

(3) Describe plans for the recruitment of subjects and the consent procedures to be followed. Include the circumstances under which consent will be sought and obtained, who will seek it, the nature of the information to be provided to prospective subjects, and the method of documenting consent. State if the Institutional Review Board (IRB) has authorized a modification or waiver of the elements of consent or the requirement for documentation of consent.

(4) Describe potential risks (physical, psychological, social, legal, or other) and assess their likelihood and seriousness. Where appropriate, describe alternative treatments and procedures that might be advantageous to the subjects.

(5) Describe the procedures for protecting against or minimizing potential risks, including risks to confidentiality, and assess their likely effectiveness. Where appropriate, discuss provisions for ensuring necessary medical or professional intervention in the event of adverse effects to the subjects. Also, where appropriate, describe the provisions for monitoring the data collected to ensure the safety of the subjects.

(6) Discuss why the risks to subjects are reasonable in relation to the anticipated benefits to subjects and in relation to the importance of the knowledge that may reasonably be expected to result.

II. Information on Research Activities Involving Human Subjects

A. Definitions.

A research activity involves human subjects if the activity is research, as defined in the Department's regulations, and the research activity will involve use of human subjects, as defined in the regulations.

—Is it a research activity?

The ED Regulations for the Protection of Human Subjects, Title 34, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 97, define research as "a systematic investigation, including research development, testing and evaluation, designed to develop or contribute to generalizable knowledge." If an activity follows a deliberate plan whose purpose is to develop or contribute to generalizable knowledge, such as an exploratory study or the collection of data to test a hypothesis, it is research. Activities which meet this definition constitute research whether or not they are conducted or supported under a program which is considered research for other purposes. For example, some demonstration and service programs may include research activities.

—Is it a human subject?

The regulations define human subject as "a living individual about whom an investigator (whether professional or student) conducting research obtains (1) data through intervention or interaction with the individual, or (2) identifiable private information." (1) If an activity involves obtaining information about a living person by manipulating that person or that person's environment, as might occur when a new instructional technique is tested, or by communicating or interacting with the individual, as occurs with surveys and interviews, the definition of human subject is met. (2) If an activity involves obtaining private information about a living person in such a way that the information can be linked to that individual (the identity of the subject is or may be readily determined by the investigator or associated with the information), the definition of human subject is met. [Private information includes information about behavior that occurs in a context in which an individual can reasonably expect that no observation or recording is taking place, and information which has been provided for specific purposes by an individual and which the individual can reasonably expect will not be made public (for example, a school health record).]

B. Exemptions.

Research activities in which the only involvement of human subjects will be in one or more of the following six categories of exemptions are not covered by the regulations:

- (1) Research conducted in established or commonly accepted educational settings, involving normal educational practices, such as (a) research on regular and special education instructional strategies, or (b) research on the effectiveness of or the comparison among instructional techniques, curricula, or classroom management methods.
- (2) Research involving the use of educational tests (cognitive, diagnostic, aptitude, achievement), survey procedures, interview procedures or observation of public behavior, unless: (a) information obtained is recorded in such a manner that human subjects can be identified, directly or through identifiers linked to the subjects; and (b) any disclosure of the human subjects' responses outside the research could reasonably place the subjects at risk of criminal or civil liability or be damaging to the subjects' financial standing, employability, or reputation. If the subjects are children, this exemption applies only to research involving educational tests or observations of pub- lic behavior when the investigator(s) do not participate in the activities being observed. [Children are defined as persons who have not attained the legal age for consent to treatments or procedures involved in the research, under the applicable law or jurisdiction in which the research will be conducted.]

- (3) Research involving the use of educational tests (cognitive, diagnostic, aptitude, achievement), survey procedures, interview procedures or observation of public behavior that is not exempt under section (2) above, if the human subjects are elected or appointed public officials or candidates for public office; or federal statute(s) require(s) without exception that the confidentiality of the personally identifiable information will be maintained throughout the research and thereafter.
- (4) Research involving the collection or study of existing data, documents, records, pathological specimens, or diagnostic specimens, if these sources are publicly available or if the information is recorded by the investigator in a manner that subjects cannot be identified, directly or through identifiers linked to the subjects.
- (5) Research and demonstration projects which are conducted by or subject to the approval of department or agency heads, and which are designed to study, evaluate, or otherwise examine: (a) public benefit or service programs; (b) procedures for obtaining benefits or services under those programs; (c) possible changes in or alternatives to those programs or procedures; or (d) possible changes in methods or levels of payment for benefits or services under those programs.
- (6) Taste and food quality evaluation and consumer acceptance studies, (a) if wholesome foods without additives are consumed or (b) if a food is consumed that contains a food ingredient at or below the level and for a use found to be safe, or agricultural chemical or environmental contaminant at or below the level found to be safe, by the Food and Drug Administration or approved by the Environmental Protection Agency or the Food Safety and Inspection Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

NOTICE TO ALL APPLICANTS

The purpose of this enclosure is to inform you about a new provision in the Department of Education's General Education Provisions Act (GEPA) that applies to applicants for new grant awards under Department programs. This provision is Section 427 of GEPA, enacted as part of the Improving America's Schools Act of 1994 (Pub. L. 103-382).

To Whom Does This Provision Apply?

Section 427 of GEPA affects applicants for new grant awards under this program. ALL APPLICANTS FOR NEW AWARDS MUST INCLUDE INFORMATION IN THEIR APPLICATIONS TO ADDRESS THIS NEW PROVISION IN ORDER TO RECEIVE FUNDING UNDER THIS PROGRAM.

(If this program is a State-formula grant program, a State needs to provide this description only for projects or activities that it carries out with funds reserved for State-level uses. In addition, local school districts or other eligible applicants that apply to the State for funding need to provide this description in their applications to the State for funding. The State would be responsible for ensuring that the school district or other local entity has submitted a sufficient section 427 statement as described below.)

What Does This Provision Require?

Section 427 requires each applicant for funds (other than an individual person) to include in its application a description of the steps the applicant proposes to take to ensure equitable access to, and participation in, its Federally-assisted program for students, teachers, and other program beneficiaries with special needs. This provision allows applicants discretion in developing the required description. The statute highlights six types of barriers that can impede equitable access or participation: gender, race, national origin, color, disability, or age. Based on local circumstances, you should determine whether these or other barriers may prevent your students, teachers, etc. from such access or participation in, the Federally-funded project or activity. The description in your application of steps to be taken to overcome these barriers need not be lengthy; you may provide a clear and succinct description of how you plan to address those barriers that are applicable to your circumstances. In addition, the information may be provided in a single narrative, or, if appropriate, may be discussed in connection with related topics in the application.

Section 427 is not intended to duplicate the requirements of civil rights statutes, but rather to ensure that, in designing their projects, applicants for Federal funds address equity concerns that may affect the ability of certain potential beneficiaries to fully participate in the project and to achieve to high standards. Consistent with program requirements and its approved application, an applicant may use the Federal funds awarded to it to eliminate barriers it identifies.

What are Examples of How an Applicant Might Satisfy the Requirement of This Provision?

The following examples may help illustrate how an applicant may comply with Section 427.

- (1) An applicant that proposes to carry out an adult literacy project serving, among others, adults with limited English proficiency, might describe in its application how it intends to distribute a brochure about the proposed project to such potential participants in their native language.
- (2) An applicant that proposes to develop instructional materials for classroom use might describe how it will make the materials available on audio tape or in braille for students who are blind.
- (3) An applicant that proposes to carry out a model science program for secondary students and is concerned that girls may be less likely than boys to enroll in the course, might indicate how it intends to conduct "outreach" efforts to girls, to encourage their enrollment.

We recognize that many applicants may already be implementing effective steps to ensure equity of access and participation in their grant programs, and we appreciate your cooperation in responding to the requirements of this provision.

Estimated Burden Statement for GEPA Requirements

The time required to complete this information collection is estimated to vary from 1 to 3 hours per response, with an average of 1.5 hours, including the time to review instructions, search existing data resources, gather and maintain the data needed, and complete and review the information collection. [DFARS Case 2000-D005]

Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement; Federal Prison Industries Waiver Threshold

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Acting Director of Defense Procurement has issued a final rule amending the Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement (DFARS) to increase, from $25 to $250, the threshold at which DoD must request clearance from Federal Prison Industries (FPI) before purchasing FPI Schedule items from sources other than FPI, when delivery is required within 10 days.

EFFECTIVE DATE: March 16, 2000.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ms. Melissa Rider, Defense Acquisition Regulations Council, PDUSD (AT&L) DP (DAR), IMD 3D139, 3062 Defense Pentagon, Washington, DC 20301-3062. Telephone (703) 602-4245; telefax (703) 602-0350. Please cite DFARS Case 2000-D005.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

A. Background

Subpart 8.6 of the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) requires Federal agencies to obtain clearance from FPI before purchasing FPI Schedule items from sources other than FPI. FAR 8.606(e) provides an exception to the clearance requirement for orders of Schedule items totaling $25 or less that require delivery within 10 days. On January 24, 2000, FPI granted DoD further exception to the clearance requirement for orders totaling $250 or less that require delivery within 10 days. This final rule amends the DFARS to reflect the $250 threshold for DoD.

This rule was not subject to Office of Management and Budget review under Executive Order 12866, dated September 30, 1993.

B. Regulatory Flexibility Act

This final rule does not constitute a significant revision within the meaning of FAR 1.501 and Public Law 98-577 and publication for public comment is not required. However, DoD will consider comments from small entities concerning the affected DFARS subpart in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 610. Such comments should cite DFARS Case 2000-D005.

C. Paperwork Reduction Act

The Paperwork Reduction Act does not apply because the rule does not impose any information collection requirements that require the approval of the Office of Management and Budget under 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq.

Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement; Cargo Preference—Subcontracts for Commercial Items

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Acting Director of Defense Procurement has issued a final rule amending Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement (DFARS) policy regarding the applicability of statutory requirements for use of U.S. vessels in the transportation of supplies by sea. The rule clarifies requirements for use of U.S. vessels under subcontractors for the acquisition of commercial items.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

A. Background

10 U.S.C. 2631 provides a preference for the use of U.S. vessels for ocean transportation of supplies purchased under DoD contracts. DFARS Parts 212 and 247 waive the requirements of 10 U.S.C. 2631 for subcontracts for the acquisition of commercial items. This rule amends DFARS Parts 212 and 247 and corresponding clauses to limit the types of subcontracts to which the waiver of 10 U.S.C. 2631 is applicable. The rule is intended to ensure compliance with 10 U.S.C. 2631 for ocean cargoes clearly destined for DoD use, while avoiding disruption of commercial delivery systems.

DoD published a proposed rule at 64 FR 33238 on June 22, 1999. Nine sources submitted comments in response to the proposed rule. DoD considered all comments in the development of the final rule.

This rule was not subject to Office of Management and Budget review under Executive Order 12866, dated September 30, 1993.

B. Regulatory Flexibility Act

DoD certifies that this final rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities within the meaning of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601, et seq., because most entities that provide ocean transportation of freight are not small business concerns.

C. Paperwork Reduction Act

The Paperwork Reduction Act does not apply because the rule does not impose any information collection requirements that require the approval of the Office of Management and Budget under 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq.

[DFARS Case 99-D308]

Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement; Construction and Service Contracts in Noncontiguous States

AGENCY: Department of Defense (DoD).

ACTION: Interim rule with request for comments.

SUMMARY: The Acting Director of Defense Procurement has issued an interim rule amending the Defense Federal Acquisition Regulation Supplement (DFARS) to implement Section 8071 of the Fiscal Year 2000 Defense Appropriations Act. Section 8071 provides that DoD contracts for construction or services performed in a noncontiguous State, that has an unemployment rate in excess or the national average, must include a clause requiring the contractor to employ individuals who are residents of that State and who, in the case of any craft or trade, possess or would be able to acquire promptly the necessary skills.

DATES: Effective date: March 16, 2000.

Comment date: Comments on the interim rule should be submitted in writing to the address shown on or before May 15, 2000, to be considered in the formation of the final rule.

ADDRESSES: Interested parties should submit written comments to: Defense Acquisition Regulations Council, Attn: Ms. Amy Williams, PDUSD (AT&L) DP (DAR), IMD 3D139, 3062 Defense Pentagon, Washington, DC 20301-3062. Telefax (703) 602-0350.

E-mail comments submitted via the Internet should be addressed to: dfars@acq.osd.mil

Please cite DFARS Case 99-D308 in all correspondence related to this rule. E-mail comments should cite DFARS Case 99-D308 in the subject line.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Ms. Amy Williams, (703) 602-0288.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

A. Background

This interim rule revises DFARS Subpart 222.70 and the clause at 252.222-7000 to implement Section 8071 of the Fiscal Year 2000 Defense Appropriations Act (Public Law 106-79). Section 8071 provides that DoD contracts for construction or services performed in a State (as defined in 10 U.S.C. 381(d)), that is not contiguous with another State and has an unemployment rate in excess of the national average, must include a clause requiring the contractor to employ, for the purpose of performing that portion of the contract in the noncontiguous State, individuals who are residents of that State and who, in the case of any craft or trade, possess or would be able to acquire promptly the necessary skills.

This rule was not subject to Office of Management and Budget review under Executive Order 12866, dated September 30, 1993.

B. Regulatory Flexibility Act

DoD does not expect this rule to have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities within the meaning of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601, et seq. A similar DFARS requirement already exists for the noncontiguous States of Alaska and Hawaii. DoD knows of no economic impact on small entities that has resulted from the implementation of this requirement in those States. Therefore, DoD has not performed an initial regulatory flexibility analysis. DoD invites comments from small businesses and other interested parties. DoD also will consider comments from small entities concerning the affected DFARS subparts in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 610. Such comments should be submitted separately and should cite DFARS Case 99-D308.

C. Paperwork Reduction Act

The Paperwork Reduction Act does not apply because the rule does not impose any information collection requirements that require the approval of the Office of Management and Budget under 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq.

D. Determination To Issue an Interim Rule

A determination has been made under the authority of the Secretary of Defense that urgent and compelling reasons exist to publish this interim rule prior to affording the public an opportunity to comment. This interim rule implements Section 8071 of the Fiscal Year 2000 Defense Appropriations Act (Public Law 106-79). Section 8071 provides that each DoD contract awarded during the current fiscal year, for construction or services performed in a noncontiguous State that has an unemployment rate in excess of the national average, must include a clause requiring the contractor to employ individuals who are residents of that State and who, in the case of any craft or trade, possess or would be able to acquire promptly the necessary skills. Section 8071 became effective on October 25, 1999. DoD will consider comments received in response to this interim rule in the formation of the final rule.

222.7003 Waivers.

The Secretary of Defense may waive the requirements of 222.7002 on a case-by-case basis in the interest of national security.

(b) The Contractor shall insert the substance of this clause, including this paragraph (b), in each subcontract awarded under this contract. (End of clause)

ACTION: Interim final rule with request for comments.

SUMMARY: This document presents an interim final revision to the agencies' codification of Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-110, "Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants and Agreements with Institutions of Higher Education, Hospitals, and Other Non-Profit Organizations." OMB issued a final revision to Circular A-110 on September 30, 1999, as required by Public Law 105-277. It was published in the Federal Register on October 8, 1999. The agencies' interim final rules will provide uniform administrative requirements for all grants and cooperative agreements to institutions of higher education, hospitals, and other non-profit organizations.

DATES: This interim final rule is effective April 17, 2000. Comments must be received on or before May 15, 2000.

ADDRESSES: Comments on the interim final rule should be addressed to: Charles Gale, Director, Office of Grants Management, Department of Health and Human Services, Room 517-D, Hubert H. Humphrey Building, 200 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, DC 20201. A copy of each communication submitted will be available for public inspection and copying during regular business hours (9:00 a.m.-5:30 p.m. eastern standard time) at the above address. The full text of Circular A-110, the text of the September 30th notice of final revision, and a chart showing where each agency has codified the Circular into regulation may be obtained by accessing OMB's home page (<http://www.whitehouse.gov/omb>), under the heading "Grants Management."

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For general issues regarding this interim final rule, please contact Charles Gale, Director, Office of Grants Management, Department of Health and Human Services at (202) 690-6377. For agency-specific issues, please contact the individual noted in that agency's adoption below.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:Background

Congress included a two-sentence provision in OMB's appropriation for fiscal year 1999, contained in Public Law 105-277, directing OMB to amend Section .36 of Circular A-110 "to require Federal awarding agencies to ensure that all data produced under an award will be made available to the public through the procedures established under the Freedom of Information Act." The provision also provides for a reasonable fee to cover the costs incurred in responding to a request. Circular A-110 applies to grants and cooperative agreements to institutions of higher education, hospitals, and non-profit institutions, from all Federal agencies.

In directing OMB to revise Circular A-110, Congress entrusted OMB with the authority to resolve statutory ambiguities, the obligation to address implementation issues the statute did not address, and the discretion to balance the need for public access to research data with protections of the research process. In developing the revision, OMB sought to implement the statutory language fairly, in the context of its legislative history. This required a balanced approach that (1) furthered the interest of the public in obtaining the information needed to validate Federally-funded research findings, (2) ensured that research can continue to be conducted in accordance with the traditional scientific process, and (3) implemented a public access process that will be workable in practice.

OMB finalized the revision on September 30, 1999 (64 FR 54926, October 8, 1999). Before this, OMB published a Notice of Proposed Revision on February 4, 1999 (64 FR 5684), and a request for comments on clarifying changes to the proposed revision on August 11, 1999 (64 FR 43786). OMB received over 9,000 comments on the proposed revision and over 3,000 comments on the clarifying changes.

This interim final rule amends the agencies' codifications of Circular A-110 so they reflect OMB's recent action.

Under the provisions of section 7(o) of the Department of Housing and Urban Development Act (42 U.S.C. 3535(o)), any Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) proposed or interim final rule that is issued for public comment is subject to prepublication Congressional review for a period of 15 days. Therefore, HUD is not joining in today's publication but is adopting the common amendments in a separate rulemaking.

Impact Analysis

Executive Order 12866

This is a significant regulatory action under Section 3(f)(4) of Executive Order 12866, "Regulatory Planning and Review."

Regulatory Flexibility Act of 1980

The Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 605(b)) requires that, for each rule with a "significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities," an analysis must be prepared describing the rule's impact on small entities and identifying any significant alternatives to the rule that would minimize the economic impact on small entities.

The participating agencies certify that this interim final rule will not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities. This rule concerns the information that Federally-funded researchers must provide in response to Freedom of Information Act requests.

Unfunded Mandates Act of 1995

The Unfunded Mandates Act of 1995 (Public Law 104-4) requires agencies to prepare several analytic statements before proposing any rule that may result in annual expenditures of $100 million by State, local, Indian Tribal governments or the private sector. Since this interim final rule will not result in expenditures of this magnitude, the participating agencies certify that such statements are not necessary.

Paperwork Reduction Act

The participating agencies certify that this interim final rule will not impose additional reporting or recordkeeping requirements under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (44 U.S.C. Chapter 35).

Waiver of Proposed Rulemaking

Under the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553) agencies generally offer interested parties the opportunity to comment on proposed regulations before they become effective. However, in this case OMB previously provided the public an opportunity to comment on the revision of Circular A-110, and this regulatory action codifies that revision. Accordingly, while the participating agencies are requesting public comment on this regulatory action, they find that soliciting further public comment with respect to adopting the revised circular, prior to the adoption becoming effective, is unnecessary and contrary to public interest under 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(B). The regulatory action is therefore being issued as an interim final rule.

Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996

This rule is not a major rule as defined by section 251 of the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996, 5 U.S.C. 804. This rule will not result in an annual effect on the economy of $100 million or more; a major increase in costs or prices; or significant adverse effects on competition, employment, investment, productivity, innovation, or on the ability of United States-based companies to compete with foreign-based companies in domestic and export markets.

Executive Order 13132: Federalism

PART/SUBPART—[AMENDED]

1. Section .36 is amended by revising paragraph (c), redesignating paragraph (d) as paragraph (e), and adding a new paragraph (d) to read as follows:

§ .36 Intangible property.

* * * * *

(c) The Federal Government has the right to:

(1) Obtain, reproduce, publish or otherwise use the data first produced under an award; and

(2) Authorize others to receive, reproduce, publish, or otherwise use such data for Federal purposes.

(d) (1) In addition, in response to a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request for research data relating to published research findings produced under an award that were used by the Federal Government in developing an agency action that has the force and effect of law, the Federal awarding agency shall request, and the recipient shall provide, within a reasonable time, the research data so that they can be made available to the public through the procedures established under the FOIA. If the Federal awarding agency obtains the research data solely in response to a FOIA request, the agency may charge the requester a reasonable fee equaling the full incremental cost of obtaining the research data. This fee should reflect costs incurred by the agency, the recipient, and applicable subrecipients. This fee is in addition to any fees the agency may assess under the FOIA (5 U.S.C. 552(a)(4)(A)).

(2) The following definitions apply for purposes of this paragraph (d):

(i) Research data is defined as the recorded factual material commonly accepted in the scientific community as necessary to validate research findings, but not any of the following: preliminary analyses, drafts of scientific papers, plans for future research, peer reviews, or communications with colleagues. This "recorded" material excludes physical objects (e.g., laboratory samples). Research data also do not include:

(A) Trade secrets, commercial information, materials necessary to be held confidential by a researcher until they are published, or similar information which is protected under law; and

(B) Personnel and medical information and similar information the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, such as information that could be used to identify a particular person in a research study.

(ii) Published is defined as either when:

(A) Research findings are published in a peer-reviewed scientific or technical journal; or

(B) A Federal agency publicly and officially cites the research findings in support of an agency action that has the force and effect of law.

(iii) Used by the Federal Government in developing an agency action that has the force and effect of law is defined as when an agency publicly and officially cites the research findings in support of an agency action that has the force and effect of law.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE

32 CFR Parts 22 and 32

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mark Herbst, Office of the Deputy Under Secretary of Defense (Science and Technology), 3080 Defense Pentagon, Washington, D.C. 20301-3080.

ADDITIONAL SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The Department of Defense (DoD) adopts two interim final amendments to the DoD Grant and Agreement Regulations (DoDGARs). These amendments apply to awards made on or after the effective date of this regulatory change.

The principal amendment is to section 32.36 of Part 32 of the DoDGARs, which is the DoD's implementation of OMB Circular A-110. In adopting this amendment, the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the Military Departments and the Defense Agencies will maintain uniform policies on access to data produced under awards to universities and nonprofit organizations that are consistent with the policies of other Executive Departments and Agencies.

The other amendment is to Appendix C of Part 22 of the DoDGARs, to conform that appendix to the revised section 32.36 of Part 32. The change is to delete language advising DoD grants officers that an issue to be addressed in award terms and conditions is whether to waive the Government's access rights to data produced under awards. With the revision to section 32.36 of part 32, that no longer is an option. Two other technical corrections are made to the appendix, to correct citations to sections of the DoDGARs.

43 CFR Part 12

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT:

Debra E. Sonderman, (Director, Office of Acquisition and Property Management), (202) 208-6431.

ADDITIONAL SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

The Department of the Interior (DOI) has implemented OMB Circular A-110 at 43 CFR Part 12, Subpart F. There is also a provision at 43 CFR Part 12, Subpart A, Section 12.2(a) which confirms that grants and cooperative agreements which are awarded by DOI to institutions of higher education, hospitals and other non-profit organizations, are governed by Subpart F and OMB Circular A-110. The regulation at Subpart A documents that OMB Circular A-110 is a part of the regulation as well as any changes made to the Circular and subsequently published in the Federal Register. Therefore, awards made by DOI were considered covered on the effective date of the changes published in the revised Circular, November 8, 1999.

In order to amend DOI's codification of the Circular at 43 CFR Part 12, Subpart F, DOI is participating in this joint publication so that the recent revisions made by OMB can be reflected. With the publication of this interim final rule, we are incorporating the provisions of OMB Circular A-110, Section __.36 regarding the availability of data produced under an award through the Freedom of Information Act into the implementing regulation at 43 CFR Part 12, Subpart F.

Compliance With Laws, Executive Orders, and Department Policy: In addition to the certifications stated in the general preamble, DOI is including the following statements:

In accordance with Executive Order 12630, the rule does not have significant takings implications. A takings implication assessment is not required. No takings of personal property will occur as a result of this rule.

In accordance with Executive Order 12988, the Office of the Solicitor has determined that this rule does not unduly burden the judicial system and meets the requirements of sections 3(a) and 3(b)(2) of the Order.

This rule does not constitute a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment. A detailed statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 is not required.

In accordance with the President's memorandum of April 29, 1994, "Government-to-Government Relations with Native American Tribal Governments" (59 FR 22951 and 512 DM 2), we have evaluated possible effects on Federally recognized Indian tribes and have determined that there are no effects on trust resources. This regulation concerns the information that federally-funded researchers must provide in response to Freedom of Information Act requests related to grants and cooperative agreements awarded to institutions of higher education, hospitals, and other non-profit organizations.

It also applies to such entities if they are recipients of subawards from States, and local and Indian Tribal governments administering programs under HHS awards. RIN 2577-AB87

Allocation of Funds Under the Capital
Fund; Capital Fund Formula; Final Rule

AGENCY: Office of the Assistant Secretary for Public and Indian Housing, HUD.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This final rule implements, as required by statute, a new formula system for allocation of funds to public housing agencies for their capital needs. This final rule follows publication of a proposed rule on September 14, 1999, which was developed through negotiated rulemaking, and takes into consideration, public comment received on the proposed rule.

DATES: Effective Date: April 17, 2000.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

Section 519 of the Quality Housing and Work Responsibility Act of 1998 (Pub.L. 105-276, approved October 21, 1998) (referred to as the "Public Housing Reform Act") amends section 9 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (the 1937 Act) to provide a "Capital Fund," to be established by HUD for the purpose of making assistance available to public housing agencies (PHAs) to carry out capital and management activities. Amended section 9 requires HUD to develop a formula for determining the amount of assistance provided to PHAs from the Capital Fund for a Federal fiscal year, and the formula is to include a mechanism to reward performance. The statute also requires that the Capital Fund formula is to be developed through negotiated rulemaking procedures.

On September 14, 1999 (64 FR 49924), HUD published the proposed rule developed through negotiated rulemaking. The preamble to the proposed rule provided background information on the negotiated rulemaking process, the number and dates of meetings, the members of the negotiated rulemaking committee, and the issues considered by the committee during its negotiations. This preamble does not repeat that information.

The September 14, 1999 proposed rule provided a 30-day public comment period. HUD received 10 public comments on this rule. Section III of this preamble presents the issues raised by the public commenters and HUD's responses to these comments. Section II, which follows, highlights the significant changes that are being made by HUD at this final rule stage.

II. Significant Differences Between This Final Rule and the September 14, 1999 Proposed Rule

HUD has made the following changes to the proposed rule at this final rule stage.

In § 905.10(d) (Allocation for existing modernization needs under the CFF), HUD removed paragraphs (d)(1)(i) and (d)(1)(ii) which addressed the availability of statistically reliable data, and HUD's determination of existing modernization need based on that data. The estimates of existing modernization need will be determined as provided in the methods established by paragraph (d). With the removal of paragraph (d)(1) of the proposed rule, paragraph (d)(2) of the proposed rule (determination of existing modernization need for PHAs greater than or equal to 250 or more units in FFY 1999) is redesignated paragraph (d)(1) at the final rule stage.

In § 905.10(d)(1)(i)(C) of the rule (§ 905.10(d)(2)(i)(C) at the proposed rule stage) which addresses the proportion of units in a development in building completed in 1978 or earlier, HUD revised this paragraph at the final rule stage to provide that the proportion of units in such a development are those as of Federal Fiscal Year 1998.

In § 905.10(d)(1)(i)(D) of the rule (§ 905.10(d)(2)(i)(D) at the proposed rule stage), which addresses the cost of rehabilitating property in the PHA's area, HUD removed the reference to "rolling three year average" of the cost. The cost index is simply referred to as the cost index. This change is consistent with the formula agreed upon in negotiated rulemaking, which did not rely upon a rolling three-year average of costs as a basic formula factor. HUD also revised this paragraph to provide that the applicable period is as of Federal Fiscal Year 1999.

In § 905.10(d)(1)(ii)(A) (§ 905.10(d)(2)(ii)(A) at the proposed rule stage), HUD changed the Date of Full Availability (DOFA) for newly constructed units from 1999 (the DOFA at the proposed rule stage) to 1991 (the DOFA at this final rule stage). The change in dates continues the Comprehensive Grant formula provision (that sets the date at 1991) and was part of the formula considered by the negotiated rulemaking committee.

In § 905.10(d)(1)(ii)(B) (§ 905.10(d)(2)(ii)(A) at the proposed rule stage), HUD made the same change in DOFA for acquired developments. The applicable date is now 1991, not 1999. The change in dates continues the Comprehensive Grant formula provision (that sets the date at 1991) and was part of the formula considered by the negotiated rulemaking committee.

In § 905.10(d), HUD added a new paragraph (d)(2) to address the determination of existing modernization need for the New York City and Chicago Housing Authorities.

In § 905.10(d), paragraph (3) continues to address determination of existing modernization need for PHAs with fewer than 250 units in FFY 1999. In § 905.10(d)(3)(i)(C) and (d) and in § 905.10(d)(3)(ii)(A) and (B), HUD made the same changes to these paragraphs as it did to the similar paragraphs in paragraph (d)(1).

In § 905.10(e) (Allocation for accrual needs under the CFF), HUD removed paragraphs (1)(i) and (ii) which addressed determination of accrual need on the basis of availability of statistically reliable data, for the same reasons that it removed this language from paragraph (d)(1). Paragraph (e)(2) of the proposed rule, which addressed PHAs allocation of accrual needs for PHAs greater than or equal to 250 or more units, is redesignated as paragraph (1) at this final rule stage.

In § 905.10(e)(1)(i)(E) and § 905.10(e)(3)(i)(E) which address the cost index of rehabilitating property, HUD made the same revisions to these subsections that were made to this language in paragraph (d).

In § 905.10(e), HUD added a new paragraph (2) to address the allocation of accrual needs for the New York City and Chicago Housing Authorities.

In § 905.10(f) (Calculation of number of units), HUD added a new paragraph (2) that addresses replacement units. Paragraph (2) of the proposed rule that addressed conversion of units is redesignated paragraph (3) and revised by removing paragraphs (i) and (ii). Paragraph (i) provided that increases in the number of units resulting from conversion of existing units will be added to the overall unit count so long as the units are under ACC amendments by the reporting date. Paragraph (ii) provided that for purposes of calculating the number of converted units, HUD shall regard the converted size unit as the appropriate unit count.

HUD retained paragraph (iii) but made revisions. The revised paragraph (iii) provides that for purposes of calculating the estimated need of converted units, HUD shall treat conversion in a development so that the total estimated need (total units times need per unit) of the development is unchanged by the conversion.

In § 905.10(f)(4) (§ 905.10(f)(3) at the proposed rule stage) which addresses reduction of units, HUD removed reference to conversion. Reduction of units is now based only on demolition or disposition.

In § 905.10(h)(2), regarding retention of current formula shares for some Moving to Work communities whose agreements in that program provide for this, HUD has added the modifier "approximately" to "the formula share". This is done in recognition that the replacement housing factor would not duplicate the prior calculation, but instead would be calculated annually in the same manner as the replacement factor provided under this rule. (In addition, the prior formula's replacement housing factor was for five years.) This change must occur for purposes of efficient formula administration and should not make a significant financial difference. Under the overall formula system, the share of a PHA with an MTW grant agreement under the new formula system (including the replacement housing component) may be the PHA's share under the old formula system (including the replacement housing component) for comparable units, if the PHA's MTW agreement provided for that share.

In § 905.10(i) (Replacement housing factor), HUD revised paragraph (i) at this final rule stage to remove all reference to conversion. The replacement housing factor is only applicable to demolition and disposition.

In § 905.10(j) (Performance reward factor), HUD revised this paragraph to reflect the status of implementation of the Public Housing Assessment System (PHAS).

A new paragraph (k) was added to clarify the PHAS' authority to undertake collateralization, as provided under section 14(a) of the 1937 Act, and to address the statutorily eligible expenses in section 9(d)(1) of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937. This new paragraph is discussed in more detail in Section IV of this preamble.

In addition to these changes, HUD also made several editorial and organizational changes throughout the rule for purposes of clarity.

III. Discussion of Public Comments

This section presents HUD's responses to the significant issues raised by the individuals and entities who submitted comments on the September 14, 1999 proposed rule. The heading "Comment" states the comment made by a commenter or commenters and the heading "HUD Response" presents HUD's response to the issue or issues raised by the commenter or commenters.

General Comments

Comment. The data collected by the consultant study was flawed. The preamble to the September 14, 1999 proposed rule notes that "[a]s part of its deliberation of formula models and formula components, the committee considered at length a study conducted on capital needs in public housing by a consulting firm" (64 FR 49924). Two commenters were highly critical of the study. The concerns of the commenters included that the study did not look at true capital needs, but only at the cost of restoring items to their original condition, the study did not adequately take into account different housing types, the study only looked at observable conditions, and there were flaws in the methods by which site costs were estimated. Another commenter stated that the preamble did not properly reflect that the negotiated rulemaking committee spent considerable time debating the merits of the study and the committee, overall, was critical of the study.

HUD Response. HUD recognizes the limitations of the study used by the committee and the preamble to the proposed rule described these limitations. The study, however, was the best study available at the time, and HUD believes that the committee, cognizant of the limitations that the study presented, was able to address formula issues knowledgeably and appropriately. For example, as the preamble stated, given the limitations of the study, the committee decided to limit any reduction in funding in going from the old to the new formula to six percent of a PHA's Federal Fiscal Year 1999 formula share for comparable units.

Comment. The rule should reflect the concern of the committee to base a performance bonus solely on the PHA's PHAS score. One commenter stated that the proposed rule did not adequately convey the opposition of many committee members to a performance bonus based exclusively on a PHA's PHAS score.

HUD Response. The preamble to a negotiated rule need not (and in the majority of cases does not) relay every disagreement that committee members had during the deliberations of the rule. The minutes of the committee meetings accurately reflect all discussions, and are available for review by the public. The preamble should reflect any nonconsensus items, however. The committee reached consensus on all rule provisions, including the performance bonus.

Comment. HUD should use FY 2000 appropriation numbers to conduct a "test run" of the formula and make the results available to each PHA. Two commenters suggested that the final rule should provide a sample application of the formula using dollar figures. One of the commenters stated that PHAs cannot submit informed comments on the proposed rule without "having at least estimates of what the formula would mean to them." The commenter further recommended that HUD extend the due date for the submission of public comments until such numbers are made available to the public.

HUD Response. Provision of a sample application of the formula and an extension of the public comment period are not necessary, in view of the prior work of the negotiated rulemaking committee. The sample formula amounts that HUD provided to the committee for PHA size and geographic categories and for some representative PHAs were sufficient to guide the committee's decisions have been available through committee members (including national public housing organizations). Additionally, to safeguard against any possible dramatic changes in going from the old formula to the new, the rule limits funding reductions to six percent of a PHA's Federal Fiscal Year 1999 formula share for comparable units.

Comment. The final rule should contain a definition section. One commenter suggested that the final rule contain a definitions section in order to clarify the meaning of several terms used throughout § 905.10. The commenter recommended that the final rule provide definitions for the following terms: existing modernization needs; relative needs; accrual needs; calibration of existing modernization need; rolling three-year average; cost index; calibration of accrual need; total estimated existing modernization need; total accrual need; and "Moving to Work."

HUD Response. Many of the terms are described within the formula itself or are terms carried over from the previous formula and, as a result, are terms that are familiar to PHAs.

Comments on the Proposed Rule Provisions

Comment. What constitutes statistically reliable data? Two commenters expressed concern about the proposed rule language that provided for a determination of existing modernization need or accrual need based on the availability or unavailability of statistically reliable data. One commenter asked how PHAs would be assured that HUD is using statistically reliable data. The other commenter stated that HUD should accept that statistically reliable data generally are not available.

HUD Response. The data used for this formula are from the consultant study referenced above. Thus, as noted earlier in this preamble, language that implied that the data relied upon for the formula might change in the future has been removed at the final rule stage.

Comment. How will HUD determine the rolling three year average cost index for each area? One commenter questioned how this index would be determined.

HUD Response. HUD has removed any reference to a three-year rolling average of the cost index. The current practice is to make annual adjustments in the formula based on annual changes in the cost index, and HUD's expectation is to continue current practice.

Comment. Determination of non-metropolitan area. One commenter asked whether, in determining the extent to which units of a development were in a non-metropolitan area, HUD will make this determination based on each development and each scattered site home.

HUD Response. The determination will be based on the location of each development. If a scattered site development has units in both metro and non-metro areas (as determined in FFY 1996), then the majority of units will decide the metro or non-metro designation of the development.

Comment. The formula must provide for capital funding after the date of full availability (DOFA). Proposed § 905.10(d)(2)(ii)(A) provided that "[d]evelopments acquired by a PHA with a DOFA date of October 1, 1999 or thereafter will be considered by HUD to have a zero existing modernization need." One commenter asked whether this date would be revised each year. The commenter stated that while it is understandable that a development with a DOFA in the current fiscal year would not need much, if any, modernization that year, the commenter thought it is unrealistic to say that this development will not require modernization in the future.

HUD Response. As noted earlier in this preamble, HUD has revised the rule to continue the current application of this provision, for which the date is October 1, 1991. The formula agreed upon in negotiated rulemaking has this basis. The agreed-upon formula is static except for changes in units and annual calibration of costs based on inflation in local areas. Thus, this provision will not change from year to year.

Comment. HUD should provide examples regarding the application of the accrual formula. One commenter stated that the accrual need formula is too complex. The commenter stated that it would be difficult, if not impossible, to determine from the formula description how this will effect an actual housing authority.

HUD Response. The accrual need formula should not be unfamiliar to PHAs. This formula is similar to the accrual need formula of the Comprehensive Grant Program.

Comment. Replacement housing factor is unclear. The proposed rule provides that the replacement housing factor "will be added for an additional 5 years if the planning, leveraging, obligation and expenditure requirements are met." The proposed rule also provides that, as "a prior condition of a PHA's receipt of additional funds for replacement housing * * * for the second 5-year period or any portion thereof, a PHA must obtain a firm commitment of substantial additional funds other than public housing funds for replacement housing, as determined by HUD." A few commenters stated that this language was vague, and that HUD should clarify this provision at the final rule stage. The commenters stated that HUD needs to explain what it means by "firm commitment," "planning," and "leveraging", among other terms used in this section.

HUD Response. This language was negotiated specifically in negotiated rulemaking, and HUD will not add to it in the regulation. HUD will provide the necessary guidance before the beginning of the second five-year term.

Comment. PHAs that receive HOPE VI or MROP funds should not be prevented from receiving funds under the replacement housing factor. One commenter requested that the Capital Fund formula not penalize PHAs that "have taken the initiative to access additional HUD funding" under programs such as the HOPE VI program or the Major Reconstruction of Obsolete Public Housing (MROP) program. The commenter recommended the removal of § 905.10(i)(5)(iv) from the final rule.

HUD Response. HUD and the committee determined it equitable to exclude under the replacement housing factor those units funded under HOPE VI, MROP, or other PIH development programs, because funding under these programs is sufficiently generous to outweigh formula funding under the Capital Fund. Thus, replacement factor funds will not be provided for public housing units fully funded from such sources. If the PHA obtains funding from HOPE VI, MROP, or other PIH development programs during the 10-year period for the replacement housing factor, future funding for the replacement housing factor covering the number of units funded under these other programs would cease. HUD also notes that, since replacement housing factor funds can be used only for replacement housing, such funding would cease if the PHA already had received funding from any source to replace all housing previously demolished or disposed of.

Comment. HUD should aggressively invoke its authority to recapture and reallocate funds; Replacement housing factor should only be made available to PHAs committing to provide replacement units. Two commenters urged HUD to strengthen the recapture and reallocation provisions of the proposed rule. The commenters stated that PHAs that do not use the money for its designated purpose should not benefit from the funds. The commenters suggested that the language in the rule that HUD "may" recapture and reallocate replacement housing funds should be changed to HUD "shall" recapture and reallocate replacement housing funds. The commenters also suggested that a PHA's failure to obligate replacement housing funds on a timely basis should not result merely in a reduction of funding to the PHA for the second 5-year period of application of the replacement housing factor, but in elimination of those funds.

Another commenter was concerned about perceived deficiencies in the proposed rule that would excuse PHAs receiving replacement factor funds from actually providing replacement housing. The commenter objected to the provision permitting a PHA to defer the obligation of replacement factor funds until the accumulation of adequate funds. The commenter stated that, since replacement factor funds will never cover all development costs, PHAs that do not diligently seek out additional resources will qualify for the 24-month extensions provided in the rule. The commenter also expressed concern about proposed § 905.10(i)(2), which (according to the commenter) only requires "PHAs seeking the second five years of funding * * * to demonstrate * * * that they have the funds to develop the replacement housing." The commenter stated that this provision would undermine the entire concept that a PHA that qualifies for the first five years of funding is one that seriously intends to replace demolished units.

HUD Response. The requirements imposed in this regulation for obligating and expending replacement housing funds are an addition to the requirements generally applicable to obligation and expenditure of capital funds, and are designed to provide additional assurance that replacement housing factor funds are obligated and expended in a timely fashion. HUD will enforce the requirements accordingly.

Comment. PHAs designated as standard and substandard performers under PHAS should not have funding reduced as a result of a performance bonus to high performing PHAs. One commenter objected to reducing formula funding for standard and substandard PHAs as a result of the performance bonus for high performing PHAs. The commenter stated that these PHAs desperately need Capital Funds for repairs and modernization in order to meet the "stringent requirements" of the PHAS.

HUD Response. HUD does not agree that the PHAS imposes overly stringent requirements on PHAs. The requirements imposed on PHAs are those imposed by statute and public housing program regulations, and are requirements directed to ensuring that PHAs use federal funds to provide decent, safe and sanitary housing to public housing residents. The PHAS assesses, among other things, whether PHAs are meeting this requirement.

The negotiated rulemaking committee recognized that providing a bonus to high performing PHAs from the Capital Fund would necessarily mean a reduction in funding to PHAs that are not designated high performing. Nevertheless, the committee agreed that it was important and consistent with the requirements of the Public Housing Reform Act to reward high performing PHAs with a monetary incentive. Although there was criticism of the PHAS and objections were voiced and the issue debated, the committee reached consensus that the performance bonus would be based on the PHA's designation of high performer under the PHAS. That final rule was published, after an extensive additional consultation process with affected entities and their representatives, on January 11, 2000. In any event, PHAS is the performance evaluation system for PHAs, and thus it is proper to base the performance bonus on PHAS.

Comment. Performance bonus should not be based on PHAS scores. Four commenters strongly objected to the use of high performing designation under PHAS for purposes of determining the performance bonus. The commenters stated that the "current state of the PHAS shows it to be inaccurate and inconsistent, and it is still questionable whether it really measures what it is intended to measure." The commenters stated that it is premature to implement PHAS at this time and, therefore, it is premature to implement a Capital Fund formula bonus based on PHAS.

HUD Response. HUD believes that much of the concern of the commenters about the PHAS was based on the PHAS advisory scores. The purpose of issuance of PHAS advisory scores during the transition period following publication of the PHAS final rule published on September 1, 1998 (63 FR 46596) was to test the PHAS, commence training on the PHAS, and solicit additional input from PHAs before the PHAS was scheduled to take effect on October 1, 1999. On October 21, 1999 HUD published a notice (64 FR 56676) that recognized the PHAS transition period needed to be extended for PHAs with fiscal years ending on September 30, 1999, or before December 31, 1999. In that notice, HUD advised that PHAs with fiscal years ending after December 31, 1999, would be the first PHAs to be issued PHAS scores. PHAs with fiscal years ending September 30, 1999 or December 31, 1999, will be issued PHAS advisory scores and be assessed (as HUD is required to do by statute) on the PHA's management operations under the criteria in 24 CFR part 902, subpart D of the PHAS regulation. The notice recognized that these PHAs needed additional time to prepare for the transition to PHAS.

In that notice, HUD also advised that it was continuing to work on the PHAS final rule and that HUD would issue a consensus-based final rule that would address the public comments and describe all changes to the PHAS regulation made as a result of the public comment and review process.

Comment. Timeframes for performance bonus should be extended due to deficiencies with the PHAS. Two commenters suggested that due to the perceived deficiencies with PHAS, the time frame for implementation of the performance bonus is unrealistic. The commenters suggested that the time frame be extended in order to permit the PHAS to be finalized.

HUD Response. As noted in Section II of the preamble and in the response to the preceding comment, HUD has revised the rule to provide that the performance bonus does not take effect until an entire year of the first PHAS scores have been issued.

Comment. Final rule should clarify relationship between performance bonus and Capital Fund cap. Section 905.10(h) of the proposed rule provides that "no PHA's [Capital Fund formula] share for units funded under the [Capital Fund formula] can be less than 94% of its formula share had the [Fiscal Year] 1999 formula system been applied to these eligible units." Section 905.10(j) provides that "no PHA will lose more than 5% of its base formula amount as a result of the redistribution of funding from non-high performers to high performers." One commenter asked whether this 5% "hold harmless" provision is inclusive or exclusive of the 94% cap provided in § 905.10(h). The commenter recommended that no PHA "should receive a cut of more than 6 percent of its formula share for any reason, including bonuses to others."

HUD Response. The final agreement of the negotiated rulemaking committee is that the performance bonus computation is separate from (or exclusive of) the funding formula computations. A PHA could lose up to six percent of its original formula amount for comparable units under the funding formula computations (again, exclusive of the performance bonus computation) and then lose up to an additional five percent under the performance bonus computations. Some PHAs that lose the full six percent under the formula computation might benefit from the performance bonus computation.

IV. Eligible Expenses

As HUD's Notice on Status of Implementation of the Public Housing Reform Act, published on December 22, 1999 (64 FR 71799), noted, upon the effective date of this final rule, PHAS may begin to undertake the eligible activities listed in section 9(d)(1) of the Act. Section 522(c)(2) of the Public Housing Reform Act states that despite the Act's repeal of section 14 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (1937 Act), PHAs may continue to use the authority provided under section 14(q) of that Act before implementation of the formula. In addition to the eligible expenses under section 9(d)(1), section 14(q) includes authorization for drawdown of funds on a schedule commensurate with construction draws for deposit into an interest-bearing account to serve as collateral or credit enhancement for bonds issued by a public agency, for the construction or rehabilitation of a development. New section 35 of the 1937 Act, added by the Public Housing Reform Act, provides somewhat broader authority of the same nature, to be used in accordance with regulations issued by HUD.

HUD soon will issue proposed rules on the nonformula aspects of the Capital Fund and on mixed finance, which will address these provisions. For example, in the preamble to the proposed rule published on September 14, 1999 (64 FR 49925, first column), HUD stated that measures to promote more effective resident participation will be categorized as eligible Capital Fund management improvement expenses under appropriate regulations and provided examples of such eligible expenses. These rules also will cover such topics as the timing of expenditure of funding.

To provide clarity and assure that there is no temporary lapse in PHAs' authority to undertake collateralization as they could do under section 14(q), however, HUD is adding a new paragraph (k) to this final rule that repeats the statutorily eligible expenses in section 9(d)(1) and adds a sentence identical to the collateralization authority in section 14(q)(1). This paragraph may be repealed, amended or moved once the referenced regulatory processes are completed.

V. Findings and Certifications

Environmental Impact

A Finding of No Significant Impact with respect to the environment was made in accordance with HUD regulations at 24 CFR part 50, which implement section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4223), at the proposed rule stage. That Finding of No Significant Impact remains applicable and is available for public inspection between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. weekdays in the Office of the Rules Docket Clerk, Office of General Counsel, Room 10276, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW, Washington, DC.

Regulatory Planning and Review

The Office of Management and Budget has reviewed this rule under Executive Order 12866 (captioned "Regulatory Planning and Review") and determined that this rule is a "significant regulatory action" as defined in section 3(f) of the Order (although not an economically significant regulatory action under the Order). Any changes made to this rule as a result of that review are identified in the docket file, which is available for public inspection during regular business hours (7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.) at the Office of the General Counsel, Rules Docket Clerk, Room 10276, U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street, SW, Washington, DC 20410-0500.

Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Secretary has reviewed this rule before publication and by approving it certifies, in accordance with the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 605(b)), that this rule would not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The rule would implement a new system for formula allocation of funds to PHAs for their capital needs. The new system is established to provide minimum impact on all PHAs, small and large. The new formula provides that no PHA can lose more than 6% of its formula share for comparable units in going from the old to the new formula. Accordingly, the formula will not have a significant economic impact on any PHA.

Federalism Impact

Executive Order 13132 (entitled "Federalism") prohibits, to the extent practicable and permitted by law, an agency from promulgating a regulation that has federalism implications and either imposes substantial direct compliance costs on State and local governments and is not required by statute, or preempts State law, unless the relevant requirements of section 6 of the Executive Order are met. This final rule does not have federalism implications and does not impose substantial direct compliance costs on State and local governments or preempt State law within the meaning of the Executive Order.

Unfunded Mandates Reform Act

Title II of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995 (2 U.S.C. 1531-1538) (UMRA) requires Federal agencies to assess the effects of their regulatory actions on State, local, and tribal governments and on the private sector. This rule does not impose, within the meaning of the UMRA, any Federal mandates on any State, local, or tribal governments or on the private sector.

Catalog

The Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance number for the program affected by this rule is 14.850.

For the reasons discussed in the preamble, part 905 is added to title 24 of the Code of Federal Regulations as follows:

PART 905—THE PUBLIC HOUSING CAPITAL FUND PROGRAM

Authority: 42 U.S.C. 1437g and 3535(d).

§ 905.10 Capital Fund formula (CFF).

(a) General. This section describes the formula for allocation of capital funds to PHAs. The formula is referred to as the Capital Fund formula (CFF).

(b) Emergency reserve and use of amounts. (1) In each Federal fiscal year after Federal Fiscal Year (FFY) 1999, from amounts approved in the appropriation act for funding under this part, HUD:

(i) Shall reserve an amount not to exceed that authorized by 42 U.S.C. 1437g(k) for—

(A) Use for assistance in connection with emergencies and other disasters, and

(B) Housing needs resulting from any settlement of litigation; and

(ii) May reserve such other amounts for other purposes authorized by 42 U.S.C. 1437g(k).

(2) Amounts set aside under paragraph (b) of this section may be used for assistance for any eligible use under the Capital Fund, Operating Fund, or tenant-based assistance in accordance with section 8 of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937 (42 U.S.C. 1437f).

(3) The use of any amounts as provided under paragraph (b) of this section relating to emergencies (other than disasters and housing needs resulting from settlement of litigation) shall be announced subsequently through Federal Register notice.

(c) Formula allocation based on relative needs. After determining the amounts to be reserved under paragraph (b) of this section, HUD shall allocate the amount remaining in accordance with the CFF. The CFF measures the existing modernization needs and accrual needs of PHAs.

(d) Allocation for existing modernization needs under the CFF. HUD shall allocate one-half of the available Capital Fund amount based on the relative existing modernization needs of PHAs, determined in accordance with this paragraph (d) of this section.

(1) For PHAs greater than or equal to 250 or more units in FFY 1999, except the New York City and Chicago Housing Authorities, estimates of the existing modernization need will be based on the following:

(A) The average number of bedrooms in the units in a development. (Equation co-efficient: 4604.7);

(B) The total number of units in a development as of FFY 1999. (Equation co-efficient: 10.17);

(C) The proportion of units, as of FFY 1998, in a development in buildings completed in 1978 or earlier. In the case of acquired developments, HUD will use the Date of Full Availability (DOFA) date unless the PHA provides HUD with the actual date of construction. When provided with the actual date of construction, HUD will use this date (or, for scattered sites, the average dates of construction of all the buildings), subject to a 50-year cap. (Equation co-efficient: 4965.4);

(D) The cost index of rehabilitating property in the area as of FFY 1999. (Equation co-efficient: -10608);

(E) The extent to which the units of a development were in a non-metropolitan area as defined by the Census Bureau during FFY 1996. (Equation co-efficient: 2703.9);

(F) The PHA is located in the southern census region, as defined by the Census Bureau. (Equation co-efficient: -269.4);

(G) The PHA is located in the western census region, as defined by the Census Bureau. (Equation co-efficient: -1709.5);

(H) The PHA is located in the midwest census region as defined by the Census Bureau. (Equation co-efficient: 246.2)

(ii) An equation constant of 13851.

(A) Newly constructed units. Units with a DOFA date of October 1, 1991, or thereafter, will be considered to have a zero existing modernization need.

(B) Acquired developments. Developments acquired by a PHA with a DOFA date of October 1, 1991, or thereafter, will be considered by HUD to have a zero existing modernization need.

(2) For New York City and Chicago Housing Authorities, based on a large sample of direct inspections. For purposes of this formula, prior to the cost calibration in paragraph (d)(4) of this section, the number used for the existing modernization need of family developments is $16,680 in New York, and $24,286 in Chicago, and the number for elderly developments is $14,622 in New York, and $16,912 in Chicago.

(i) Newly constructed units. Units with a DOFA date of October 1, 1991, or thereafter, will be considered to have a zero existing modernization need.

(ii) Acquired developments. Developments acquired by a PHA with a DOFA date of October 1, 1991, or thereafter, will be considered by HUD to have a zero existing modernization need.

(3) For PHAs with fewer than 250 units in FFY 1999, estimates of the existing modernization need will be based on the following:

(i) Objective measurable data concerning the following PHA, community and development characteristics applied to each development:

(A) The average number of bedrooms in the units in a development. (Equation co-efficient: 1427.1);

(B) The total number of units in a development as of FFY 1999. (Equation co-efficient: 24.3);

(C) The proportion of units, as of FFY 1998, in a development in buildings completed in 1978 or earlier. In the case of acquired developments, HUD will use the DOFA date unless the PHA provides HUD with the actual date of construction, in which case HUD will use the actual date of construction (or, for scattered sites, the average dates of construction of all the buildings), subject to a 50-year cap. (Equation co-efficient: -1389.7);

(D) The cost index of rehabilitating property in the area, as of FFY 1999. (Equation co-efficient: -20163);

(E) The extent to which the units of a development were in a non-metropolitan area as defined by the Census Bureau during FFY 1996. (Equation co-efficient: 6157.7);

(F) The PHA is located in the southern census region, as defined by the Census Bureau. (Equation co-efficient: 4379.2);

(G) The PHA is located in the western census region, as defined by the Census Bureau. (Equation co-efficient: 3747.7);

(H) The PHA is located in the midwest census region as defined by the Census Bureau. (Equation co-efficient: -2073.5)

(ii) An equation constant of 24762.

(A) Newly constructed units. Units with a DOFA date of October 1, 1991, or thereafter, will be considered to have a zero existing modernization need.

(B) Acquired developments. Developments acquired by a PHA with a DOFA date of October 1, 1991, or thereafter, will be considered by HUD to have a zero existing modernization need.

(4) Calibration of existing modernization need for cost index of rehabilitating property in the area. The estimated existing modernization need, as determined under paragraphs (d)(1), (d)(2) or (d)(3) of this section, shall be adjusted by the values of the cost index of rehabilitating property in the area.

(e) Allocation for accrual needs under the CFF. HUD shall allocate the other half of the remaining Capital Fund amount based on the relative accrual needs of PHAs, determined in accordance with paragraph (e) of this section.

(1) For PHAs greater than or equal to 250 or more units, except the New York City and Chicago Housing Authorities, estimates of the accrual need will be based on the following:

(i) Objective measurable data concerning the following PHA, community and development characteristics applied to each development:

(A) The average number of bedrooms in the units in a development. (Equation co-efficient: 324.0);

(B) The extent to which the buildings in a development average fewer than 5 units. (Equation co-efficient: 93.3);

(C) The age of a development as of FFY 1998, as determined by the DOFA date. In the case of acquired developments, HUD will use the DOFA date unless the PHA provides HUD with the actual date of construction, in which case HUD will use the actual date of construction (or, for scattered sites, the average dates of construction of all the buildings), subject to a 50-year cap. (Equation co-efficient: -7.8);

(D) Whether the development is a family development. (Equation co-efficient: 184.5);

(E) The cost index of rehabilitating property in the area, as of FFY 1999. (Equation co-efficient: -252.8);

(F) The extent to which the units of a development were in a non-metropolitan area as defined by the Census Bureau during FFY 1996. (Equation co-efficient: -121.3);

(G) PHA size of 6600 or more units in FFY 1999. (Equation co-efficient: -150.7);

(H) The PHA is located in the southern census region, as defined by the Census Bureau. (Equation co-efficient: 28.4);

(I) The PHA is located in the western census region, as defined by the Census Bureau. (Equation co-efficient: -116.9);

(J) The PHA is located in the midwest census region as defined by the Census Bureau. (Equation co-efficient: 60.7)

(ii) An equation constant of 1371.9,
(2) For New York City and Chicago Housing Authorities, based on a large sample of direct inspections. For purposes of this formula, prior to the cost calibration in paragraph (e)(4) of this section the number used for the accrual need of family developments is $1,395 in New York, and $1,251 in Chicago, and the number for elderly developments is $734 in New York, and $864 in Chicago.

(3) For PHAs with fewer than 250 units, estimates of the accrual need will be based on the following:

(i) Objective measurable data concerning the following PHA, community and development characteristics applied to each development:

(A) The average number of bedrooms in the units in a development. (Equation co-efficient: 325.5);

(B) The extent to which the buildings in a development average fewer than 5 units. (Equation co-efficient: 179.8);

(C) The age of a development as of FFY 1998, as determined by the DOFA date. In the case of acquired developments, HUD will use the DOFA date unless the PHA provides HUD with the actual date of construction. When provided with the actual date of construction, HUD will use this date (or, for scattered sites, the average dates of construction of all the buildings), subject to a 50-year cap. (Equation co-efficient: -9.0);

(D) Whether the development is a family development. (Equation co-efficient: 59.3);

(E) The cost index of rehabilitating property in the area, as of FFY 1999. (Equation co-efficient: -1570.5);

(F) The extent to which the units of a development were in a non-metropolitan area as defined by the Census Bureau during FFY 1996. (Equation co-efficient: -122.9);

(G) The PHA is located in the southern census region, as defined by the Census Bureau. (Equation co-efficient: -564.0);

(H) The PHA is located in the western census region, as defined by the Census Bureau. (Equation co-efficient: -29.6);

(I) The PHA is located in the midwest census region as defined by the Census Bureau. (Equation co-efficient: -418.3)

(ii) An equation constant of 3193.6.

(4) Calibration of accrual need for the cost index of rehabilitating property in the area. The estimated accrual need, as determined under either paragraph (e)(2) or (e)(3) of this section, shall be adjusted by the values of the cost index of rehabilitation.

(f) Calculation of number of units. (1) General. For purposes of determining the number of a PHA's public housing units, and the relative modernization needs of PHAs:

(i) HUD shall count as one unit:

(A) Each public housing and section 23 bond-financed unit under the ACC, except that it shall count as one-fourth of a unit each existing unit under Turnkey III program. Units receiving operating subsidy only shall not be counted.

(B) Each existing unit under the Mutual Help program.

(ii) HUD shall add to the overall unit count units that are added to a PHA's inventory so long as the units are under ACC amendment and have reached DOFA by the date that HUD establishes for the Federal Fiscal Year in which the CFF is being run (hereafter called the "reporting date"). Any such increase in units shall result in an adjustment upwards in the number of units under the CFF. New units reaching DOFA after the reporting date will be counted for CFF purposes as of the following Federal Fiscal Year.

(2) Replacement units. Replacement units newly constructed as of and after October 1, 1998 that replace units in a development funded in FFY 1999 by the Comprehensive Grant formula system or the Comprehensive Improvement Assistance Program (CIAP) formula system will be given a new ACC number as a separate development and will be treated as a newly constructed development.

(3) Conversion of units. The total estimated need (total units times need per unit) of the development is unchanged by conversion of unit sizes within buildings.

(4) Reduction of units. For developments losing units as a result of demolition and disposition, the number of units on which capital funding is based will be the number of units reported as eligible for capital funding as of the reporting date. Units are eligible for funding until they are removed due to demolition and disposition in accordance with a schedule approved by HUD.

(g) Computation of formula shares under the CFF. (1) Total estimated existing modernization need. The total estimated existing modernization need of a PHA under the CFF is the result of multiplying for each development the PHA's total number of formula units by its estimated existing modernization need per unit, as determined by paragraph (d) of this section, and calculating the sum of these estimated development needs.

(2) Total accrual need. The total accrual need of a PHA under the CFF is the result of multiplying for each development the PHA's total number of formula units by its estimated accrual need per unit, as determined by paragraph (e) of this section, and calculating the sum of these estimated accrual needs.

(3) PHA's formula share of existing modernization need. A PHA's formula share of existing modernization need under the CFF is the PHA's total estimated existing modernization need divided by the total existing modernization need of all PHAs.

(4) PHA's formula share of accrual need. A PHA's formula share of accrual need under the CFF is the PHA's total estimated accrual need divided by the total existing accrual need of all PHAs.

(5) PHA's formula share of capital need. A PHA's formula share of capital need under the CFF is the average of the PHA's share of existing modernization need and its share of accrual need (by which method each share is weighted 50%).

(h) CFF capping. (1) For units that are eligible for funding under the CFF (including replacement housing units discussed below) a PHA's CFF share will be its share of capital need, as determined under the CFF, subject to the condition that no PHA's CFF share for units funded under CFF can be less than 94% of its formula share had the FFY 1999 formula system been applied to these CFF eligible units. The FFY 1999 formula system is based upon the FFY 1999 Comprehensive Grant formula system for PHAs with 250 or more units in FFY 1999 and upon the FFY 1999 Comprehensive Improvement Assistance Program (CIAP) formula system for PHAs with fewer than 250 units in FFY 1999.

(2) For a Moving to Work PHA whose agreement provides that its capital formula share is to be calculated in accordance with the previously existing formula, the PHA's CFF share, during the term of the agreement, may be approximately the formula share that the PHA would have received had the FFY 1999 formula funding system been applied to the CFF eligible units.

(i) Replacement housing factor to reflect formula need for developments with demolition and disposition occurring on or after October 1, 1998— (1) Replacement housing factor generally. PHAs that have a reduction in units attributable to demolition and disposition of units during the period (reflected in data maintained by HUD) that lowers the formula unit count for the CFF calculations qualify for application of a replacement housing factor, subject to satisfaction of criteria stated in paragraph (i)(5) of this section.

(2) When applied. The replacement housing factor will be added, where applicable:

(i) For the first 5 years after the reduction in units described in paragraph (i)(1) of this section, and

(ii) For an additional 5 years if the planning, leveraging, obligation and expenditure requirements are met. As a prior condition of a PHA's receipt of additional funds for replacement housing provided for the second 5-year period or any portion thereof, a PHA must obtain a firm commitment of substantial additional funds other than public housing funds for replacement housing, as determined by HUD.

(3) Computation of replacement housing factor. The replacement housing factor consists of the difference between the CFF share without the CFF share reduction of units attributable to demolition and disposition, and the CFF share that resulted after the reduction of units attributable to demolition and disposition.

(4) Replacement housing funding in FFY 1998 and 1999. Units that received replacement housing funding in FFY 1998 will be treated as if they had received two years of replacement housing funding by FFY 2000. Units that received replacement housing funding in FFY 1999 will be treated as if they had received one year of replacement housing funding as of FFY 2000.

(5) PHA eligibility for replacement housing factor. A PHA is eligible for application of this factor only if the PHA satisfies the following criteria:

- (i) The PHA requests the application of the replacement factor;
- (ii) The PHA will use the funding in question only for replacement housing;
- (iii) The PHA will use the restored funding that results from the use of the replacement factor to provide replacement housing in accordance with the PHA's five-year PHA plan, as approved by HUD under part 903 of this chapter;
- (iv) The PHA has not received funding for public housing units that will replace the lost units under the public housing development, Major Reconstruction of Obsolete Public Housing, HOPE VI programs, or programs that otherwise provide for replacement with public housing units;
- (v) The PHA, if designated troubled by HUD and not already under the direction of HUD or a court-appointed receiver, in accordance with part 902 of this chapter, uses an Alternative Management Entity as defined in part 902 of this chapter for development of replacement housing and complies with any applicable provisions of its Memorandum of Agreement executed with HUD under that part; and

(vi) The PHA undertakes any development of replacement housing in accordance with applicable HUD requirements and regulations.

(6) Failure to provide replacement housing in a timely fashion. (i) A PHA will be subject to the actions described in paragraph (i)(7)(ii) of this section if the PHA does not:

(A) Use the restored funding that results from the use of the replacement housing factor to provide replacement housing in a timely fashion, as provided in paragraph (i)(7)(i) of this section and in accordance with applicable HUD requirements and regulations; and

(B) Make reasonable progress on such use of the funding, in accordance with HUD requirements and regulations

(ii) If a PHA fails to act as described in paragraph (i)(6)(i), HUD will require appropriate corrective action under these regulations; may recapture and reallocate the funds; or may take other appropriate action.

(7) Requirement to obligate and expend replacement housing factor funds within specified period. (i) In addition to the requirements otherwise applicable to obligation and expenditure of funds, PHAs are required to obligate assistance received as a result of the replacement housing factor within:

(A) 24 months from the date that funds become available to the PHA; or

(B) With specific HUD approval, 24 months from the date that the PHA accumulates adequate funds to undertake replacement housing.

(ii) To the extent the PHA has not obligated any funds provided as a result of the replacement housing factor within the times required by this paragraph, or expended such funds within a reasonable time, HUD shall reduce the amount of funds to be provided to the PHA as a result of the application of the second 5 years of the replacement housing factor.

(j) Performance reward factor. (1) PHAs that are designated high performers under the Public Housing Assessment System (PHAS) for their most recent fiscal year can receive a performance bonus that is:

(i) 3% above their base formula amount in the first five years these awards are given (for any year in this 5-year period in which the performance reward is earned); and

(ii) 5% above their base formula amount in future years (for any year in which the performance reward is earned).

(2) The performance bonus is subject only to the condition that no PHA will lose more than 5% of its base formula amount as a result of the redistribution of funding from non-high performers to high performers.

(3) The first performance awards will be given based upon PHAS scores for PHA fiscal years ending December 31, 2000, March 31, 2001, June 30, 2001, and September 30, 2001, with PHAs typically having received those PHAS scores within approximately 3 months after the end of those fiscal years.

(k) Eligible expenses. (1) Eligible expenses include the following:

- (i) Development, financing, and modernization of public housing projects, including the redesign, reconstruction, and reconfiguration of public housing sites and buildings (including accessibility improvements) and the development of mixed-finance projects;
- (ii) Vacancy reduction;
- (iii) Addressing deferred maintenance needs and the replacement of obsolete utility systems and dwelling equipment;
- (iv) Planned code compliance;
- (v) Management improvements;
- (vi) Demolition and replacement;
- (vii) Resident relocation;
- (viii) Capital expenditures to facilitate programs to improve the empowerment and economic self-sufficiency of public housing residents and to improve resident participation;
- (ix) Capital expenditures to improve the security and safety of residents; and
- (x) Homeownership activities, including programs under section 32 of the 1937 Act (42 U.S.C. 1437z-4).

(2) Such assistance may involve the drawdown of funds on a schedule commensurate with construction draws for deposit into an interest earning escrow account to serve as collateral or credit enhancement for bonds issued by a public agency for the construction or rehabilitation of the development.

Dated: March 7, 2000.

Harold Lucas,
Assistant Secretary for Public and Indian Housing.
