PREFACE

NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE has been justly called the foremost spirit of American prose literature. His birth occurred at Salem, Mass., July 4, 1804, where he is known to have resided for several years, following which period he took up his residence with his uncle in Raymond, Maine. Later, at the age of fifteen, we find him again returned to Salem, where he remained for two years, and while at this place we are led to believe that his first literary efforts were published. As to the nature of these early productions, little is known, as few facts have thus far been established, though it has been positively affirmed that some poetry and possibly some prose had been issued in the Salem papers and in several periodicals, previous to the appearance of "Fanshawe" in 1828. Proof of this is to be found in his correspondence with his sister, wherein he writes of his verses, and intimates as early as 1819 that articles by him had already appeared in print.

Of these early writings, the manuscript of the little magazine entitled The Spectator is still extant, and in the possession of the Manning family in Salem. This remarkable specimen of early juvenile journalism consists of six numbers, the first being a prospectus and the remaining five issued weekly from August 21 to September 18, 1820. The work was all done by pen upon small note-size paper.

Of the early anonymous literary attempts of Hawthorne some will, from time to time, in all probability be made known.

In the preparation of this Bibliography, I have examined every title mentioned (and, in the majority of instances, several different copies have passed through my hands), with the single exception of "A Rill from the Town Pump" (1857), of which, to my knowledge, there is no copy in this country, and the information relating to it, which is given herein, was obtained through the courtesy of the British Museum.

No attempt has been made to enumerate reprinted editions of the various works, except when new material was incorporated or changes made in the text, as they could be of no use to the collector of first editions. In every instance an effort has been made to trace the several works back to their first appearance in print.

The Table of Contents and the Index will give, it is hoped, an adequate key to the arrangement of the various divisions and sufficient aid to turn quickly to any item.

No effort has been made to make the list of magazine reviews of Hawthorne's works and of sketches of his life absolutely complete, nor has it seemed to me necessary to include all the various literary text-books which treat of Hawthorne. A sufficient number of these have been mentioned, however, to enable the collector and lover of Hawthorne's writings fully to acquaint himself therewith.

An examination of the auction prices in Part III, which it has seemed advisable to add, shows that the early editions of Hawthorne are becoming rarer each year, and that there is a steady advance in their values.

And now it is a pleasure to extend thanks to all who have so generously offered their aid and encouragement. Among the first, Mr. J. Chester Chamberlain of New York has generously offered to me the results of his extended study of Hawthorne's works, and the use of his magnificent collection of first editions; this gentleman has in every way done all he could to make this list complete and accurate. Mr. G. M. Williamson, Grand View-on-Hudson, early placed at my disposal his collection and many items of information gathered by him. Mr. Stephen H. Wakeman of New York has supplied much of the information concerning the early manuscripts, the greater part of which are now in his own collection. Mr. P. K. Foley, perhaps in opposition to his own plans and interests, has generously allowed the use of two items discovered by him, namely, "Autumn Leaves" (1837) and "The Child's Friend" (1844). Mr. Victor Hugo Paltsits of the Lenox Library, Mr. Henry E. Lower of the Congressional Library, the Essex Institute of Salem, and the Boston Public Library have all extended valuable aid. And to all these I extend my thanks, and trust that, in view of the recent centenary of Hawthorne which has aroused so much interest in his works, a compilation of this kind may seem fitting, and it is hoped that its publication will prove of value to the collector and that the time devoted to it, most enjoyably to myself, will in the end be considered to have been justifiably expended.

WRITINGS OF HAWTHORNE

ISSUED DURING HIS LIFE

1828

1. FANSHAWE, /A Tale. / "Wilt thou go on with me?" — Southey. / Boston: / Marsh & Capen, 362 Washington Street. / Press of Putnam and Hunt. / 1828. / (c 22nd July, A. D. 1828.)

12mo, buff boards, purple cloth back, paper label (Fan- / Shawe, / A Tale. /), pp. 141, with seven lines of errata at the bottom of last page (141). Issued entirely uncut, two end-leaves in front and three at the back of volume.

This was anonymously issued at the cost of $100 to the author. As Hawthorne afterwards seemed dissatisfied with the production, he called in all the copies accessible and destroyed them, thus making "Fانشawe" one of the scarcest of his works. Some twenty-nine copies are known thus far (September 25, 1904) to be in existence.

Copies are in Lenox Library, N. Y. (imperfect), Boston Public Library, and Essex Institute at Salem.

2. THE TOKEN ; / A / Christmas and New Year's Present. / Edited by S. G. Goodrich. / Verse / Boston : / Published by Carter and Hendee. / MDCCCXXX. / (c 1829.)

16mo, watered silk and leather, pp. viii, 340, 13 illustrations including engraved title-page. Preface dated September 1, 1829.

Contains —

“THE YOUNG PROVINCIAL” (anonymous), pp. 127-145, which has been attributed to Hawthorne by F. B. Sanborn on internal evidence, and accepted by M. D. Conway (see his article in the New York Times Saturday Review, June 8, 1901, on the Tokens).

1831

3. THE TOKEN ; / A / Christmas and New Year's Present. / Edited by S. G. Goodrich. / Verse / Boston : / Published by Gray and Bowen. / MDCCCXXXI. / (c 1830.)

16mo, silk cover ; also leather, gilt edges, pp. viii, 320, 11 engravings, including engraved title-page and presentation page.

Contains —

“SIGHTS FROM A STEEPLE” (anonymous), pp. 41-51 ;
 “THE FATED FAMILY” (anonymous), pp. 57-82 (attributed to Hawthorne by M. D. Conway, but not included in any of the collected editions of Hawthorne's works);

"THE HAUNTED QUACK," a Tale of a Canal Boat, by Joseph Nicholson, pp. 117-137;

"THE ADVENTURER," signed J. D. H., April 1, 1830, pp. 189-212 (attributed to Hawthorne by M. D. Conway, but not recognized by any other writer, nor is it included in any collected edition).

1832

4. THE TOKEN; / A / Christmas and New Year's Present. / Edited by S. G. Goodrich. / Verse / Boston: / Published by Gray and Bowen. / MDCCCXXXII. / (c 1831.)

16mo, stamped leather, gilt edges, pp. iv, 392, 20 illustrations and vignettes, including title-page and engraved presentation page.

Contains —

"THE WIVES OF THE DEAD" (signed F.), pp. 74-82;

"MY KINSMAN, MAJOR MOLINEUX," by the author of "Sights from a Steeple," pp. 89-116;

"ROGER MALVIN'S BURIAL" (anonymous), pp. 161-188;

"THE GENTLE BOY" (anonymous), pp. 193-240.

"The Wives of the Dead" was reprinted in the Democratic Review for 1843 under the title "The Two Widows" (with Hawthorne's name as author).

"My Wife's Novel," contained in the Token of this year, has been incorrectly attributed by F. B. Sanborn to Hawthorne, but it was written by Edward Everett. It is also erroneously included in the Autograph Edition.

5. THE TOKEN / and / Atlantic Souvenir. / A / Christmas and New Year's Present. / Edited by S. G. Goodrich. / Boston. / Published by Gray and Bowen. / MDCCCXXXIII. / (c 1832.)

16mo, stamped leather, gilt edges, pp. 354, 20 illustrations, including engraved title-page and presentation page and two vignettes.

Contains —

“THE SEVEN VAGABONDS,” by the author of “The Gentle Boy,” pp. 49-71 ;

“SIR WILLIAM PEPPERELL,” by the author of “Sights from a Steeple,” pp. 124-134 ;

“THE CANTERBURY PILGRIMS” (anonymous), pp. 153-166.

“The Bald Eagle” (contained in the Token of this date), which has been attributed to Hawthorne by F. B. Sanborn, M. D. Conway, and quoted by G. E. Woodberry, and which also is included in the Autograph Edition, is found, from a letter of H. W. Longfellow which has recently come to light, to have been contributed by Longfellow, not by Hawthorne.

6. THE TOKEN / and / Atlantic Souvenir. / A / Christmas and New Year's Present. / Edited by S. G. Goodrich. / Boston. / Published by Charles Bowen. / MDCCCXXXV. / (c 1834.)

16mo, leather, gilt edges, pp. 376, 13 engravings, including title-page and presentation page.

Contains —

“THE HAUNTED MIND,” by the author of “Sights from a Steeple,” pp. 76-82;

“ALICE DOANE'S APPEAL,” by the author of “The Gentle Boy,” pp. 84-101;

“THE MERMAID, A REVERIE” (anonymous), pp. 106-121.

“The Mermaid” was republished under the title of “The Village Uncle” in “Twice-Told Tales,” 1842.

1835

7. YOUTH'S KEEPSAKE. / A / Christmas and New Year's Gift / for / Young People. / Verse / Boston : / Published by E. R. Broaders. / 1835. / (c 1834.)

18mo, yellow boards with leather backs, pp. viii, 206, 7 illustrations.

Contains —

“LITTLE ANNIE’S RAMBLE,” by the author of “The Gentle Boy,” pp. 146–159.

Frontispiece is called “Little Annie.”

1836

“THE MAY-POLE OF MERRY MOUNT,” by the author of “The Gentle Boy,” pp. 283–297 ;

“THE MINISTER’S BLACK VEIL,” by the author of “Sights from a Steeple,” pp. 302–320.

All have been republished in later works.

9. THE / AMERICAN MAGAZINE / of / Useful and Entertaining Knowledge. / Vol. II. / Printer’s Device / Embellished with numerous Engravings. / Boston : / Printed and Published By the Boston Bewick Company. /

1836. / (Bound volumes appeared sometimes with a different imprint on title-page.)

Royal 8vo, pp. viii, 520. Illustrations.

The six concluding numbers of this volume, March-August, 1836, inclusive, were edited anonymously by Hawthorne and his sister, who wrote or revised almost the entire contents. His contributions to this magazine which have been reprinted are as follows:—

- “AN ONTARIO STEAM-BOAT” (anonymous), pp. 270–272 ;
- “THE DUSTON FAMILY” (anonymous), pp. 395–397 ;
- “NATURE OF SLEEP” (anonymous), p. 385 ;
- “BELLS” (anonymous), p. 387.

The above have appeared only in the Autograph and Old Manse Editions of his works. Those that have not been reissued in his collected works are:—

- “PRESERVATION OF THE DEAD” (anonymous), pp. 314, 315 ;
- “THE BOSTON TEA PARTY” (anonymous), pp. 317–319 ;
- “APRIL FOOLS” (anonymous), pp. 339, 340.

13. PETER PARLEY’S / UNIVERSAL HISTORY, / on the Basis of / Geography. / Vignette / For the Use of Families. / Illustrated by Maps and Engravings. / Vol. I. / Boston: / American Stationers’ Company. / John B. Russell. / 1837. / (c 1837.)

2 vols., square 16mo, stamped cloth, pp. viii, vii, 380, xii, 374. Title-page of volume II has a different vignette. On verso of title-page: Cambridge: Folsom, Wells and Thurston, Printers to the University.

The MS. was sent to S. G. Goodrich (pseudonym, Peter Parley), in September, 1836, but the work was not published until 1837.

This was written with the assistance of his sister Elizabeth, to whom he gave the one hundred dollars said to have been the amount received for the work. See Bridge's Life of Hawthorne, p. 77.

The second edition appeared in Boston in 1838, and a later edition in New York in 1839, with some changes in the vignettes. Successive editions appeared for many years, so that the total issued reached nearly a million copies, as stated by George P. Lathrop. In the 1838 and following editions, there was added to vol. II a list entitled. "Important Dates," pp. 375-380.

JOURNAL / OF AN / AFRICAN CRUISER ; / comprising sketches of the Canaries, The Cape De / Verds, Liberia, Madeira, Sierra Leone, and / other places of interest on the West / Coast of Africa. / By an Officer of the U. S. Navy. / Edited by / Nathaniel Hawthorne. / New York & London : / Wiley and Putnam. / 1845. / (c 1845.)

12mo, buff paper covers, half-title, title-page, pp. viii, 2 of preface, 179, 4 of advertisements, 12, [16]. Preface dated April 5, 1845. Published early in May, 1845.

The notes of the voyage were made by Horatio Bridge, and they were entirely rewritten by Hawthorne for publication (see Bridge's Life of Hawthorne, pp. 87, etc.).

This forms No. 1 in Wiley and Putnam's Library of American Books. The first issue should have the name of both printer and stereotyper on verso of title-page, below the copyright.

The copyright is set in four lines. In later issues of same date (1845) the copyright is reset in three lines, and the names of printer and stereotyper omitted. The English edition bore the imprint, London: / Wiley and Putnam, 6, Waterloo Place, 1845. Bound in green cloth by Remnant & Edmonds. The sheets are from the American edition. The preface and part of the work were issued in advance of the book form, in the United States Magazine and Democratic Review, May and June, 1845, "by the courtesy of the publishers, Wiley and Putnam."

The first edition consisted of 2000 copies, 500 of which were for London (see Bridge's Life of Hawthorne, p. 101). Part of the American edition was bound in cloth, always with another number of the series.

The above was reissued in New York: George P. Putnam & Co., 110 Park Street, 1853 (c 1853). No apparent change, except that in this edition the author's name, Horatio Bridge, U. S. Navy, appears on the title-page.

35. MOSSES / FROM / AN OLD MANSE. /
By Nathaniel Hawthorne. / In two parts /
Part I. / New York ; / Wiley and Putnam. /
1846. / (c 1846.)

12mo, straw-colored paper covers. Vol. I, half-title (verso blank), title-page, copyright, contents (verso blank), pp. 207, 8 of advertisements. Vol. II, half-title (verso blank), title-page, copyright, contents (verso blank), pp. 211.

The original copies in paper covers of the first issue are very scarce. It forms Nos. xvii and xviii of Wiley and Putnam's "Library of American Books." Published between June 1 and 10, 1846.

The copies of the first issue have on the back cover a list of Wiley & Putnam's "Library of American Books," which should end with Nos. xvii and xviii, being these two volumes. Reprints of the same date appeared, with covers having the list of books extended, and the title set in larger type; the extreme type length of the original issue being 4 7-16 inches and of the later issues 5 1/8.

The first issue appeared with the names of both the printer and stereotyper (Craighead and Smith) on the verso of the title-page, below the copyright notice. In later issues the name of the printer (R. Craighead) was replaced by the name of William Osborn, the name of the stereotyper being the same. In other cases the names of both printer and stereotyper were omitted.

Vol. I contains —

12mo, brown cloth, pp. iv, 322, with 4 pages of advertisements, dated March 1, 1850. On verso of title-page: Cambridge: Metcalf and Company, Printers to the University. Published about March 16, 1850. (See Longfellow's Journal, March 16, 1850.)

The MS., with the exception of the title-page, which is now owned by Mr. Stephen H. Wakeman, of New York, was destroyed by Hawthorne.

The first edition has the word “reduplicate,” p. 21, line 20. The second edition, issued in the same year, contains a (new) preface, dated Salem, March 30, 1850, and changes the word “reduplicate” to

A BIBLIOGRAPHY

“repudiate;” while still later editions have the word “resuscitate.” There is a third or stereotyped edition issued this same year, with pp. 307 only.

The author in his preface to the second edition states that it is issued without the changing of a single word. In addition to the above change in the word “reduplicate,” the following have been laboriously discovered, and pointed out to the compiler, by Mr. G. M. Williamson: in the first edition, p. 41, line 6, the word “characters” is spelled “characterss;” it is correctly spelled in the second and stereotyped editions. In the first and second editions, p. 100, line 2, the word “mortal” is used, and in the stereotyped edition the word “moral.” In the first edition, p. 102, line 22, the words “to believe” are printed as one word; in the later editions as two words. In the first edition, p. 142, line 25, is the word “heaven-ordained;” this is changed in the stereotyped edition to “heavenly ordained.” In the first edition, p. 189, line 23, are the words “Said the Physician;” these are changed in the later editions to “Answered the Physician.”

Other changes are as follows: —

The printer’s imprint is reset in the second edition. P. 31, line 7, the words “for a” are printed as one word in the second edition. P. 46, “convulsives” (first edition) changed to “convulsive;” “is: that” (first edition) changed to “is, that.” P. 48, “or the shade” (first edition) changed to “or in the shade.” P. 50, “and altogether” (first edition) changed to “and although.” P. 68, “concentred” (first edition) changed to “concentrated.”

48. TIME'S PORTRAITURE. / Being / The Carrier's Address to the Patrons / of the / Salem Gazette, / and Essex County Mercury. / For the First of January, 1853. / 8vo, pamphlet, pp. 8.

Originally issued as a broadside, being the Carrier's Address to the patrons of the Salem Gazette, 1838. There appear to have been two imprints of this reissue. On the one from which we have copied, the year is on same line with "For the first of January;" on the others, below. There is also a change on the type face in the line, "Essex County Mercury." Only one copy of the first is known to the writer, and that is in the Essex Institute at Salem. The most interesting feature is the "Printer's Devil" note.

Up to the date of this reissue this production had not been recognized as by Hawthorne.

The address was also reprinted in the Christmas Locket, 1870, under the title, "Father Time."

49. TANGLEWOOD TALES, / for / Girls and Boys; / Being / a Second Wonder-Book. / By / Nathaniel Hawthorne. / With fine illustrations. / Boston: / Ticknor, Reed, and Fields. / MDCCCLIII. / (c 1853.)

16mo, stamped cloth, 7 full page illustrations, including engraved title-page, pp. 336, with 8 pages of advertisements, dated August, 1853. Stereotyped at the Boston Stereotype Foundry. In later issues of the same date, the printer's imprint — Press of Geo. C. Rand, Wood Cut and Book Printer, Cornhill, Boston — appears between the copyright lines and stereotyper's imprint; the paper used is lighter in weight, the advertisements are dated September, 1853, and the price, which in the advertisement in the first edition is omitted, is here stated as 88 cents.

Issued in London, on the same date, by Chapman & Hall.

1854

50. MOSSES FROM AN OLD MANSE. / By / Nathaniel Hawthorne. / In two Volumes. / Vol. I / New Edition, / carefully revised by the Author. / Boston : / Ticknor and Fields. / MDCCCLIV. / (c 1854.)

2 vols., 12mo, stamped cloth, pp. 286, 297; 8 pages of advertisements in vol. II.

Stereotyped at the Boston Stereotype Foundry.

Contains three sketches not found in the edition of 1846. The last story in vol. I is "FEATHERTOP," which appeared first in the International Monthly Magazine, February, 1852, pp. 182-186, and March, 1852, pp. 333-337. The MS. of "Feather-top" is in the library of Mr. Stephen H. Wakeman, New York.

In vol. II appears "PASSAGES FROM A RELINQUISHED WORK," which first appeared in the New England Magazine, November, 1835, pp. 352-358, and December, 1835, pp. 449-459, under the title, "The Story Teller" (anonymous); the first of the Passages was called "At Home;" the second, "The Village Theatre;" also, "Sketches from Memory," which first appeared in the New England Magazine, vol. ix, November, 1835, pp. 321-326, and December, 1835, pp. 447-456, as "By a Pedestrian."

Frontispiece portrait of Hawthorne, after a photograph by Brady, here first published.

A facsimile letter of Longfellow to Mrs. Hawthorne is inserted after the title-page, the contents of which give the reasons for reprinting this portion of Hawthorne's Diary, of which only extracts were published in "Nathaniel Hawthorne and his Wife."

The letter is as follows:

NAHANT, Sept. 8, 1866.

MY DEAR MRS. HAWTHORNE,

I have received from Mr Fields the Journal of Twenty Days, and have read it with deep interest. It is very simple and sweet; and brings out the tenderness of Hawthorne's character, that some day or other it must be published, to round and complete any description of him. The only question is as to when and how it had best appear.

In the Life of Hawthorne which must and will be written, it would make an admirable chapter by itself. If it is not thought advisable to use it in this way, then it should come in to the last volume of his works. It would close the whole like a strain of tender music. Or if the works as now printed are in chronological order, this might find its place in the appropriate volume.

I am very fond of following in order of time, in publishing a complete collection of an author's works. This consideration may be of some weight with Mr Fields also.

With many thanks, I remain

Yours truly

HENRY W. LONGFELLOW

The book was issued in a limited edition of only thirty copies by Mr. S. H. Wakeman of New York, who owns the MS. of the Diary, of which this is a part. It was printed from type by the De Vinne Press.

COLLECTED WORKS OF HAWTHORNE

A NUMBER of editions of Hawthorne's collected works, previous to 1883, have been issued, more or less complete. There is no need of mentioning more than two here: the Riverside Edition of 1883, which contains George Parsons Lathrop's Introductions, and the Autograph Edition, the latter supposed to be a definitive edition of Hawthorne. The Old Manse Edition, issued later, is simply a reprint of the Autograph Edition, on smaller paper, and less elegant in other respects.

THE RIVERSIDE EDITION

HAWTHORNE. — COMPLETE WORKS.

With Introductory Notes by George Parsons Lathrop. Portraits and etchings. First issue. 12 volumes, small 8vo, cloth, uncut, Boston, 1883. This was also issued in a large-paper edition limited to 250 sets.

The first complete edition of Hawthorne's writings. Besides the introductory and bibliographical notes, Mr. Lathrop introduced certain revisions and alterations of the original text. The word "reduplicate," in "The Scarlet Letter," on page 21, line 20, which was changed to "repudiate" in the second and later editions during the author's life, appears as "resuscitate" in the final reading, the latter word having been adopted by Mr. Lathrop.

THE AUTOGRAPH EDITION

COMPLETE WRITINGS OF NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE.

With an Introduction by his Daughter, Mrs. Rose Hawthorne Lathrop. Autograph edition, limited to 500 copies. Houghton, Mifflin & Company, Boston, New York, and Chicago. The Riverside Press, Cambridge.

8vo, 22 volumes, buckram binding, with paper label, also issued in three-quarter levant binding, with and without water-color frontispieces; some sets in full levant, with water-colors.

Printed on antique laid, deckle-edge, hand-made paper, with full-page drawings by the following artists :

MDCCCXXVIII. / (c 1827.)

16mo, boards, pp. viii, 368, 12 illustrations, including engraved title-page.

Contains —

“THE ADVENTURES OF A RAINDROP,” pp. 78-83
(anonymous), which Mr. F. B. Sanborn attributes to Hawthorne ; but it is considered by others very doubtful whether Hawthorne wrote it.

82. SCENES / IN THE / LIFE OF THE SAVIOUR ; / By the / Poets and Painters. /
Edited by / Rufus W. Griswold. / Verse /

Philadelphia: / Lindsay and Blakiston. /
1846. /

8vo, cloth, gilt edges, pp. 240, 8 full-page steel engravings.

Contains —

Two poems signed Hawthorne: "WALKING ON THE SEA," pp. 95-96, "THE STAR OF CALVARY," pp.
164-167.

See Mr. Lathrop's article, in the New York Times, March, 1898, on the Poetry of Hawthorne. He states that these poems are by Nathaniel Hawthorne, and in this he is supported by E. C. Stedman; but others claim that they were written by another Hawthorne.
