TALKING AND THINKING

THERE are those who are talking of the decadence of the theater. There are those who are talking much of the woeful lack of good and clean plays. There are those, too, who are talking of the slump in the show business.

But—there are those who are doing less talking and more thinking. These are they who are able not only to see but who are experiencing the real progress which is apparent in the business world.

And those who are talking less and thinking more are those who are informed, those who read and who thus keep just ahead, but always ahead, of the procession.

The Billboard is the logical medium thru which you may keep informed. From which you may get facts concerning your business, the show business.

Discovered!

The Secret of Caruso's Amazing Vocal Power

"The Songbird of the ages," Enrico Caruso. The richness, the fullness, the beauty and the astounding power of his voice was due to the exceptional development of his Hyo-Glossus muscle.

Eugene Feuchtinger, musician-scientist, who discovered the function of Hyo-Glossus in voice production, and whose famous "Perfect Voice" system has developed thousands of voices.

Diagram of the Normal Throat showing the Complete Vocal Mechanism. Your throat looks like this. So did the throat of the great Caruso. Professor Feuchtinger's system of silent, scientific exercises will develop your vocal organ to its full strength.

THIS IS AN AGE OF MARVELS. Wonderful scientific discoveries have changed our mode of living and our mode of thinking.

One discovery of tremendous benefit to all humanity is the discovery of the principle of voice control by Eugene Feuchtinger, A. M. His resulting system of voice development revolutionized old methods, and changes voice development from a little understood art to an exact science.

More than that, it brings a Perfect Voice within the reach of every man and every woman who desires a stronger, richer voice for either singing or speaking.

Prof. Feuchtinger's method is founded on the discovery that the Hyo-Glossus muscle controls the voice; that a strong, beautiful voice, with great range, is due to a well developed Hyo-Glossus—while a weak or a rasping voice is due to underdevelopment of this vital vocal muscle. A post-mortem examination of Caruso's throat showed a superb development of his Hyo-Glossus muscles. But it required years of training under the old method to produce this development.

You can develop your Hyo-Glossus in a much shorter time by Prof. Feuchtinger's wonderful scientific method. You can take this training under the direction of the Professor himself, wherever you may live. And the cost is so low that it is within the reach of every ambitious man or woman.

100% Improvement in Your Voice—Guaranteed

Professor Feuchtinger's method is far simpler, far more rapid, far more certain in results than the tedious, hap-hazard methods of ordinary vocal instructors. His unequalled success with thousands of pupils proves the infallibility of his method.

Under his direction, your voice will be made rich, full and vibrant. Its overtones will be greatly multiplied. You will add many notes to its range and have them clear, limpid and alluring. You will have a voice that is rolling and compelling and so strong and magnetic that it will be the marvel of your associates.

Professor Feuchtinger ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEES an improvement of 100 percent—a REDOUBLEMENT of your voice! If you are not absolutely satisfied that your voice is doubled in volume and quality, your money will be refunded. You are the only judge.

You Do Not Know Your Real Voice

Until you have tried the Feuchtinger system, you cannot know the possibilities of your vocal gifts. Physical Voice Culture PRODUCES as well as DEVELOPS the true voice. It corrects all strain and falsetto and makes clear the wonderful fact that any normal person can develop a fine voice if correctly trained. Thousands of delighted graduates testify to this—many of them great vocal successes who, before coming to Professor Feuchtinger, sang very poorly or not at all. Among Professor Feuchtinger's pupils are grand opera stars, concert singers, speakers, preachers, actors and educators.

May 4, No, No, Nanette, will come in for what is hoped to be a four months' run.

Attention!!—Black Face Comedians "POT OF GOLD"

TALKING NUMBER WITH MUSIC

Since the recent release of this number on the Okeh Records (sung by Shelton Brooks) we have received calls from a number of performers for copies.

The "POT OF GOLD" is absolutely new, and the best since the days of Bert Williams. Henry Troy, the writer of the lyric, worked with Bert Williams in the "Williams and Walker" Show for eight years, and knows just how to write this type of song.

"POT OF GOLD" is a restricted number, and we are obliged to charge $5.00. This brings a performer our permission to use the number, a complete orchestration, and the full lyric (part only of lyric having been used on the record).

THIS WILL GIVE YOU AN IDEA OF THIS NEW "BERT WILLIAMS" TYPE OF NUMBER.

VERSE

I've watched the birds as they winged their way to dizzy heights untold, And I've heard it said at the rainbow's end there is a pot of gold; So I've made up my mind that the first bird I find after he comes down to earth, if I can reach him, I'll catch him and teach him to fly for all the world. He's the one I'll send to that rainbow's end, to bring me that pot of gold.

Then follows a Chorus, Recitation and Second Chorus, with a punch in every line.

HOLDUP CONSUMES THIRTY MINUTES

Barnes "Nicked" for $7,600---Perlson, Berezniak, Callahan, Latto, Driver, Neumann, Hoeckner Other Heavy Losers

Chicago, April 4.—Just as the members of the Showmen's League of America had begun to discuss raising money for Showmen's League Day last night four athletic gunmen with sawed-off shotguns and drawn revolvers charged into the room and in 30 minutes had raised about $18,000 for themselves in cash and diamonds belonging to the league membership.

It was the one big, major thrill of the league's life. It was also the premier surprise of the collective membership's life. It was "one of those things", but it was a stirring and expensive thing. President Fred M. Barnes had called the meeting to order and the proceedings had

PRODUCER SUED FOR SALARY

Lydia Willmore, Who Was Member of "Why Men Leave Home" Cast, Seeks To Recover Salary From Sanford E. Stanton

New York, April 4.—Sanford E. Stanton, producer, has been named defendant in an action brought by Lydia Willmore, who was in the cast of Why Men Leave Home, which flopped without paying the players their last week's salary. The trial is scheduled for April 10 in the West Side Court. The show ran from December 25, 1924, until January 17.

The Actors' Equity Association is handling the suit for Miss Willmore and if successful will attempt judgments for the other 10 players in the cast, it is said. The total salary list comes to just under $1,300.

The usual week's salary required by Equity was not posted with that association because the name of Mary Kirkpatrick appeared on the actor's contracts. Miss Kirkpatrick being a member of the Managers' Protective Association was

RECORD NEW YORK BUSINESS IS IN PROSPECT FOR R.-B. CIRCUS

Dropping of Brooklyn and Jersey City From Big Show's Spring Route Swells Attendance at Madison Square Garden

New York, April 6.—The final engagement of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Shows at Madison Square Garden will probably prove the most profitable in point of receipts, and record breaking as well in point of number of capacity audiences played to, judging from the remarkable business done during the past week, which was the first of the present five-week run. Next year the show will be seen at the new arena farther uptown.

Several causes are contributing toward making this season a tremendous one in this city for the big show, one the fact that Brooklyn and Jersey City will not be played this spring, which accounts for the extra week added to the local run.

Particularly gratifying is the way the matinee patronage fared in all week. On Friday afternoon more than 2,000 women and children were turned away, while both Saturday shows had been sold out some time ago. The advance sale is unusually heavy for the current and other weeks. The school holiday that started

Thursday is one of the reasons for the heavy afternoon trade, and between the Jewish holidays, which start Wednesday of this week, and the school holidays yet to come solid capacity business is expected indefinitely.

Ideal weather that prevailed last week continues.

Clock-like precision marked each of the performances enthusiastically received by the circus patrons, who seem wholly in accord with everything that the Messrs. Ringling are presenting in the three rings and on two platforms which take up all the available space at the garden. After the Garden engagement the program will be presented in five rings and on three platforms under canvas.

THREE CHICAGO THEATERS DARK

Runs at Cohan's Grand, Apollo and Selwyn Concluded Saturday Night and Shows Laying Off Holy Week

Chicago, April 6.—Cohan's Grand, the Apollo and the Selwyn theaters are dark this (Holy) week, which is an unusual occurrence. Showmen give as a reason that Holy week is quiet anyway and that the Actors' Equity Association allows a show to lay off this week without pay to the actors the same as Christmas week. Formerly Holy Week and Christmas week meant half pay to the actors, so nearly all the shows played the week out.

A fourth house, the Illinois, also was dark last night, but that was because Fred Stone's show is not giving Sunday-right performances for the rest of the engagement.

The shows at Cohan's Grand, Apollo and Selwyn had all concluded their engagements Saturday night and new shows will appear in each house April 12.

OUTDOOR SHOWMEN PLEASED WITH NEW ATTITUDE OF PENNSYLVANIA

Railroad's Re-Establishment of "Show-Scrip" Policy on Lines West of Pittsburgh, Oil City and Erie Hailed by Managers as Big Aid--Movements Thru Pittsburgh Now on Basis of One Minimum

CHICAGO, April 4.—Showmen here are discussing with much satisfaction what they term a new and more liberal policy toward outdoor shows by the management of the Pennsylvania Railroad. They see in the attitude of the railroad of late what they claim is a tendency to range by the road instead of a negative attitude.

Two years ago there was some complaint in the East about the indifferent manner in which the operating department of this railroad handled special show trains, often causing a serious loss, it is claimed, to the shows. Last season, showmen, say, this fault was remedied and the shows using the Pennsylvania lines were given extra good service.

Some five years ago the Pennsylvania discontinued the issuing of "show-scrip" form of transportation for the use of people on the advance of shows. It has been the custom, and is understood to have been sanctioned by the Interstate Commerce Commission, of many railroads to provide the advance departments with this transportation, the cost of the same being a part of the regular contract to move the show. The Pennsylvania has reconsidered its action of recent years and this year is issuing this "show scrip" to the advance department. This applies only to the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, Oil City and Erie and is in accordance with the new tariff on "circus and show outfits", which became effective April 1.

The Pennsylvania system has also declared off the policy of a double minimum charge for improvements thru Pittsburgh and now runs can be made thru Pittsburgh on a basis of one minimum. On the business west the show business is handled in the office of C. T. Mackensen, Jr., general freight agent at Pittsburgh, the circus business being in direct charge of W. D. Arthur, who has many staunch friends in the circus world, all of whom will appreciate the efforts of Mr. Mackensen and Mr. Arthur in finally adjusting the circus tariff on the Pennsylvania lines west.

R. M. Harvey, general agent of the Sells-Floto Circus, who is just in from the East, brought in the new schedules with him. They are of a technical nature, but Mr. Harvey said the action of the Pennsylvania is a real relief to general agents in settling their transportation problems.

Members of Road "Follies" Substitute in N. Y. Show

New York, April 6.—Owing to the absence of W. C. Fields and Ray Dooley from the cast of the Ziegfeld Follies at the New Amsterdam for the first three days of last week, it was necessary to use several members of the road Follies, which closed in Washington on the preceding Saturday night, with scenes from that show, in the new one. Both Fields and Miss Dooley were ill, causing six scenes to be omitted. Johnny Dooley, Bert and Betty Wheeler, James Kelso, Charles King, Hazel Dawn, Lon Haseell and William Roselle, who had been with the road Follies, appeared at the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday performances to make up for them in scenes from their show.

COMPREHENSIVE YALE COURSE

Prof. Baker, Head of Dramatic Department, Also Proposes To Revive Annual Prize Play

New Haven, April 4.—One of the most comprehensive courses in the drama ever offered in any school will be available to students at Yale next fall. Professor George Pierce Baker, formerly of Harvard, who will head the dramatic department at Yale, also proposes to revive the annual prize play and have some prominent patron of the drama be "angel" for its New York production.

Fourteen courses will be offered in the dramatic department and students will have an opportunity to study the drama from the actual details of writing and staging. The elementary courses will include forms of the drama and the history of stage design, while the advanced courses will be made up of playwrighting, practice and theory of stage design, dramatic criticism and production.

Professor Baker will personally conduct five of the courses, including dramatic form, playwrighting, producing, advanced producing and technique, while instructors will have charge of the courses in directing, lighting, scenic and costume design.

The rule governing the course in playwrighting indicates that many Yale plays will be put on the market soon after the work gets under way. Each student will be required to write three plays. One will be an adaptation in one act, another an original one-act play and the third a play of at least three acts.

It is expected that the school building and theater which was provided for in the establishment of the Department of Drama by Edward S. Harkness, Yale 1897, of New York City, will be ready for use at the beginning of the second term, in February, 1926. The plans provide for a theater having a stage and complete equipment and a seating capacity of approximately 750. The workshop will contain a model studio, lighting, property and carpenter shops, scene dock, scene-painting loft, costume studio and dye room. There will be two rehearsal rooms, one with a stage and small auditorium, besides offices, class rooms, dressing rooms, etc. Courses in the drama will be open to students of both sexes over the age of 16.

"BETTER DAYS"

Makes Poor London Showing

London, April 4 (Special Cable to The Billboard).—The Hippodrome show, Better Days, seems to baffle its name, as Stanley Lupino is at loggerheads with the producers and it looks as if he might throw up his part. Jack Edge was brought in from the Brighter London touring show, owing to Lupino being out of the east.

Better Days sadly lacks comedy, but it is an open secret that the show is in the balance as to whether or not it will close, and as No, No, Nanette and Rose-Marie are doing capacity business it is a matter of a survival of the fittest—and the Hippodrome show is not the latter.

S.-F.-R.-B. Opposition

Youngstown, O., April 3.—One of the hottest opposition circus advance brigade fights witnessed here in recent years occurred this week. ## HAMMERSTEIN CASE UNDECIDED

Magistrate Wishes To Consult District Attorney as to Amount of Money in Bank When Checks Were Issued

New York, April 4.—"After viewing the briefs submitted by both sides in this case I am unable to come to a decision on the case without first consulting the district attorney. Before holding the defendants for the Grand Jury it is advisable for me to confer with Mr. Pecora as to the question of whether or not these checks were issued with the knowledge there was not sufficient funds in the bank to meet them."

The foregoing statement was decried by Magistrate Max Levine in the Jefferson Market Court Thursday in the case of Catherine Reed, costumer, plaintiff, against Theodore Hammerstein and Mrs. Alma Sanders, of the producing firm Hammerstein & Quinn, Inc., defendants, who are charged with giving two checks to the plaintiff amounting to $325 for dresses and hats that came back marked "insufficient funds."

The magistrate explained that he is not sitting next week and that the following week he would be in the family court, so therefore postponed his decision until April 27, when he will be in the East Side Court. This made the eighth time the plaintiff and defendants have convened before the civil authorities concerning the issuance of checks for services rendered and merchandise delivered for the musical comedy When Summer Comes, which flopped in Washington after a week's run. The case was originally instituted by the Actors' Equity Association due to claims of the cast for $7,000. Many of the actors and actresses were the recipients of checks that were returned to them with the words "insufficient funds," as were the orchestra, Arlington & Mahieu, costumers, and numerous others.

"Sea Urchin" Given Fairly Good Reception

London, April 5 (Special Cable to The Billboard).—John Hastings Turner's new comedy, The Sea Urchin, presented at the Garrick Theater, proved a solid but not particularly inviting fare. The piece was accorded a fairly good reception.

Ned Alford, ahead of Flashes of the Great White Way, had booked his show into the Majestic Theater, Waukegan, Ill. The manager of the house quit suddenly in the meantime. Harry got the facts from Jim Wingfield, who books the house, and went up to Waukegan and leased the house on percentage for one night—the night of the show. The answer is that the show got a $900 gross. Allen is now ahead of Gaskill & Patton's Shepherd of the Hills Company, which will open at the Majestic Theater, Dubuque, Ia., April 12.

MANY ARTISTES TO MAKE RADIO DEBUT AT PERSHING TESTIMONIAL

Most of Them Opposed to Broadcasting, But Will Waive Prejudices for One Night When Show Is Given at Hippodrome

NEW YORK, April 6.—With arrangements completed to broadcast the midnight show, which will be staged at the Hippodrome in conjunction with the National Tribute to General John J. Pershing by the American Legion, many stars who have heretofore never appeared before the microphone, and whose set policy is against free broadcasting, will be heard on the air. With the exception of John Philip Sousa, the others are waiving their prejudices against radio for the evening.

Among those who have never before been heard on the radio who will be heard that night are Weber and Fields, Elsie Janis, Al Jolson, John Drew and Mme. Emma Trentini. The show for the evening is being made up of the greatest stars in the country who will be in the vicinity of New York and who are donating their services on request in honor of the occasion, regarding it as an honor to appear. Four full-stage acts will be on the bill, the other numbers to be specialties.

These four will include one scene with the massed Army and Navy Bands of the country, numbering more than 200 men, directed by Prof. Sousa. Another will be the combined Bivoli, Rialto and Criterion theaters' orchestras under the direction of Hugo Riesenfeld. The latter, with Silvio Helm, has arranged a special number, including all the song hits of the war period, in which all the writers of the numbers used will appear personally and sing a chorus of the hit. They will include George M. Cohan, Irving Berlin, Percy Weirich and Lt. Gitz-Rice among others. A third full-stage offering will be a dance pageant of the different styles of dancing during the various war periods in the history of the United States, beginning with the Revolution and leading up to the World War. Princess White-Deer and the Hippodrome chorus girls will have a singing chorus of 250 women and children on the stage in The Spirit of the American Legion. Blanche Bates will head this scene.

Among the specialties, in addition to those already mentioned, will be a special act written for the one performance in which Jas. J. Corbett and Benny Leonard will appear. Geraldine Farrar will sing, and John McCormack, who has to do a concert the following day in Boston, has also signified his intention of coming, provided he can make a train to get him to this engagement on time.

Senator James J. Walker is to officiate as master of ceremonies. Many other specialties are being arranged, which are to be announced shortly.

Novelty Scenic Studios Increase Their Space

New York, April 4.—The Novelty Scenic Studios this week added a third location to their activities when they took over a large studio building on the West Side, which they intend to use as their paint studio and factory. Earle Van Buren Ackerman has been engaged to take charge of this department.

In announcing the expansion, the Novelty Scenic Studios state that their sales office will be maintained at 225 West 47th street as in the past. This is for the convenience of theater exhibitors, and scenes may be set up on a miniature stage that is fully equipped with lights so that the appearance of the completed sets can be judged. The stockrooms will be at 220 West 46th street.

"TARNISH" LOOKS LIKE A SUCCESS

London, April 5 (Special Cable to The Billboard).—Gilbert Emery's well-composed, sharply drawn study of American apartment house life entitled Tarnish deserves highly because of the admirable stagecraft of this author's interesting, true-seeming characterization. A highly efficient production was given by Reginald Bach and there was amazingly good ensemble acting.

Francis Lister gave an absolutely flawless portrayal of the hero, touching notes of youthful ardor, sentiment and anger with amazing directness and sincerity, thus adding new laurels to his fast-growing reputation. Olga Lindo, as a girl of the half-world, likewise served the author splendidly with a performance of great brilliance and resource. Ethel Coleridge wittily executed a comic portrait of the hooligan's wife, revealing again unusual versatility. Nora Swinburne as the heroine, Grace Elwin as the neurotic mother, Aubrey Mather as the father and Christine Silver added notable individual quotas to a distinguished performance. It is to be hoped that the author's frankness, honesty and refusal to sentimentalize facts of contemporary social conditions will not prevent the play enjoying the success it deserves.

Dancer Added to Revue

New York, April 4.—Patricia Brook, dancer, who has appeared in many Broadway offerings, was added to Alexis Pulo's Revue, now playing the Keith-Albee Time.

ABRAHAM LEVY SAILS

New York, April 4.—Abraham Levy, general manager for Sam H. Harris, accompanied by his wife, sailed today on the Leviathan for London, where he will arrange for the presentation of Ralph Cullinan's Loggerheads, which Harris is now presenting at the Gaiety Theater here. Back Waters, another play by Cullinan, will also be produced this year by Harris, both here and in London.

The premiere of the English production of Rain is scheduled to take place at the Garrick Theater, London, April 30, and the return of Tallulah Bankhead to London about two weeks ago with the script of this piece would indicate that there is a likelihood of her playing the role of Sadie Thompson in the Somerset Maugham drama. It is also reported that Ripley Holmes and Shep Camp will go over to appear in this production.

Thomas J. Richards Signs With Sells-Floto Circus

Chicago, April 4.—Thomas J. Richards was a Billboard caller today and said he just signed with R. M. Harvey as check-up and advance inspector with the Sells-Floto Circus. Mr. Richards has been here with The Show Off during its engagement at Cohan's Grand, where it closes a run this week. Mr. Richards is a seasoned veteran in show business. He began with the Bob Hunting Circus out of Norfolk, Va., 25 years ago; then went with Leinen Bros., Sells & Downs, Forepaugh & Sells Bros. on Car No. 1, 151 Coko, manager; then to the Cook & Whitney Circus on Car No. 2, with C. A. Potter, manager, and for six seasons was with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, where he worked under W. E. Franklin, general agent. ### Terre Haute Grand Changes

The present policy of pictures is to be continued for the time being. The road show attractions will not be discontinued, as the house still holds the Shubert franchise. A manager for the house has not been definitely decided on, but it is thought that Carl Huffa, one of the Rembusch managers, will be in charge.

HILL-STRAUSS SUE MANN FOR $100,000

New York, April 4.—Louis Mann, who played the part of David Milgrim in Milgrim's Progress, was sued yesterday in Supreme Court for $100,000 by Alfred Hill and Benjamin Strauss, producers, who allege the comedian broke his contract made October 28 last for the season of 1924-'25, which was to be extended for another season if the play was successful. The contract called for $1,250 a week salary and 15 per cent of the gross receipts in excess of $10,000 for Mann.

The complaint alleges that January 15 Mann consented to a reduction of salary to $850 a week until the receipts exceeded $14,000 a week. The producers allege that the play began November 23 and that Mann quit without cause February 9 and without giving notice as required by his contract. They alleged that they paid more than $55,000 to produce and exploit the play and that it was built around the personality of Mann. They were compelled to withdraw the piece when he left, they claimed.

Organization Formed By Theatrical Writers

First Meeting Results in Appointment of Committee To Draw Up Plans for Permanent Club

New York, April 4.—The first meeting of the theatrical reporters and dramatic critics of this city, for the purpose of forming an individual organization of their own, was held at Keene's Chop House yesterday afternoon. Plans were discussed for the furthering of an organization to consist only of theatrical reporters on daily and trade newspapers, and a committee to outline the formation of such a club appointed by Ed E. Pigeon, who was elected temporary chairman.

Several suggestions were offered by reporters from different publications. One was to have a meeting room within the Times Square district, where dramatic critics could go after attending a first night and write their copy instead of waiting in line in a telegraph office to secure a typewriter. This was adopted and Paul Henkle, of Keene's Chop House, volunteered one of the meeting rooms of his place to the association for this purpose. Another function of the theatrical writers' organization will be the mutual protection from actors' and producers' attacks. Heretofore when slurs have been cast upon the theatrical newspaper writers as a whole they have been unable to make any defense. When an individual writer has been attacked his only possible means of defense was thru his own column. In the future it is intended that the theatrical writers shall band together in cases of unwarranted and unreasonable attacks upon any of them as individuals or collectively.

It also is planned to develop social affairs by members of the organization. The next meeting will be held at Keene's Chop House April 10.

"Circus Night" Is Pleasing Event at National Arts' Club

New York, April 4.—Stellar attractions of "Circus Night" at the National Arts Club Monday were Lew D. Graham, general announcer of the Ringling-Barnum Circus, and John Francis O'Connell, boss canvasman of the Sells-Floto Circus.

The clubhouse opened at 7 p.m. and real chuck was served in seven courses. Around the large grill could be seen one-shed depicting the numerous scenes to be enjoyed by a visit to Madison Square Garden and upon the tables were circus lemonade, peanuts and popcorn. Merle Crowell, sans tights and tinsel, presided as equestrienne director, ably assisted by Earl Chapin May, well known as a writer of circus stories, and did his best to outshine Fred Bradna.

The menagerie doors opened at eight and for the first time in history, according to the equestrienne director, four of the largest aggregations in circusdom were presented and most ably.

Mr. Graham, in the uniform of general announcer, opened the program with a most interesting talk on things circuses from his point of view, the topic chosen being Ballyhooing to Circus Fans. That he held the attention of his listeners to a man was proven by the continued outburst of applause.

In presenting Mr. O'Connell Director Crowell dwelt for 10 minutes on the ability of this well-known orator and showman, paying him tributes worthy not only to a young man who rose from the cookhouse to a trusted position, that of arranging the show lot for the reception of the big show. The subject chosen for Mr. O'Connell was Getting Her Up and Tearing Her Down. He told of the numerous duties and responsibilities of the man who handles the canvas and of other interesting features with the white tops. As a spellbinder Mr. O'Connell is second only to the inimitable Lew Graham.

Clint W. Finney, general agent of Miller Bros.' 101 Ranch Shows, who was slated for an address on Getting the Show Over the Road, was called to Oklahoma on business and wired his regrets, as did also Ernest Anderson, international mimic, a member of the clown fraternity, and Burns O'Sullivan, whose duties at the Jefferson Theater, this city, kept him away. Mr. O'Sullivan is formerly of the Barnum & Bailey Circus and was to explain the intricacies of Putting on a Spec. More than 100 members of the club attended and all left the spacious clubrooms, once the home of the Hon. Samuel J. Tilden, more enthused and better educated along circus lines than ever.

Summary papers have been served and the case is scheduled for the Westchester County Supreme Court located at White Plains April 11. But according to the law firm, House, Grossman & Vorhaus, representing the defendant, a motion will be made to transfer the case to the New York County Supreme Court.

Ben Blumenthal is also named in the action as a defendant because of his affiliation on this particular venture.

"The Verge" Unpleasant And Inconclusive Play

London, April 5 (Special Cable to The Billboard).—Last Sunday Sybil Thorndike appeared at the Regent Theater in the first English presentation of Susan Glaspell's study in morbid psychology, entitled The Verge. Only Miss Thorndike's remarkable and powerful acting and almost heroic grasp of her audience kept the latter from expressing open disapproval or ridicule of the extraordinarily strained and annoying work.

Susan Glaspell's dramatic skill is unquestioned, and other of her works are admired, but this one lacks all claim to attention of producers, being not merely unpleasant, but inconclusive, futile and dotty.

Besides Miss Thorndike's fine performance Charles Carson's rendering of the husband was highly appreciated, and O. B. Clarence was wonderfully good as the old gardener. Edith Craig produced cleverly. The piece will probably be revived for a few special shows.

Moderate Reception For "Yetta Polowski"

London, April 5 (Special Cable to The Billboard).—Yetta Polowski, by Mrs. F. C. Montagu, was accorded only a moderate reception at the Fortune Theater. Apparently he is satisfied that it has for he is to start revamping it immediately.

George Tyler Abroad

Before Sailing Announces Plays Which He and Hugh Ford Will Produce

New York, April 4.—George C. Tyler and Hugh Ford have laid out an ambitious and highly interesting program for the coming theatrical season, according to a statement made by Tyler just before he sailed for Europe on the Mauretania this week.

The success of The Rivals has prompted Tyler to plan a production of Sheridan's classic comedy, The School for Scandal, with a similarly notable cast. The Rivals Company is now playing in the South and Tyler stated it will continue to play all thru the summer and as far into the autumn as suitable bookings can be obtained for it. The route laid out for it takes it to the Pacific Coast. A feature of the tour has been the advance talks on Sheridan and his comedies given by Clayton Hamilton in the various places visited. These talks, delivered before schools and theater clubs, have aroused great interest in the coming play and in many towns the theaters have been sold out long before the play date. A similar method will be employed for The School for Scandal, in advance of which Walter Prichard Eaton has consented to deliver the talks.

Tyler & Ford also have a new play called The Dark Chapter, in which they intend to present Glenn Hunter as a star early in the autumn. The play is a dramatization by Wilson Collison of a novel of the same title by E. J. Rath. Ma Pottengill, too, is on the Tyler-Ford list for production here next season. It has been tried out this spring in Cincinnati and Chicago.

Mr. Tyler states that his trip to Europe is merely a vacation.

The various committees in charge of the testimonial to be tendered to General John J. Pershing at the Hippodrome on that night have forwarded a request to the Mayor to that effect. The testimonial will be tendered the general by the American Legion (the suggestion being that of the N. V. A. Post, No. 690) at a big midnight show, which will be preceded by a dinner at the N. V. A. Club.

Adele Von Ohl Visits New York

New York, April 4.—Adele von Ohl, one of the best known equestriennes of earlier days, arrived here for a brief visit last week. To a Billboard reporter Miss Adele recalled her performance on the famous plunging horse at the Hippodrome in 1905 and 1906 when the act was considered a feature of the day. Besides being a member of Buffalo Bill's Wild West for three seasons Miss von Ohl had out Cheyenne Days, a Western act, and also trained Delmar, the wonder horse, which walked for three minutes and ten seconds on its hind feet with Adele up. Miss von Ohl claims that this novelty was perfected without the use of a whip. Aristocrat, another horse famed for its landing on hind feet after an up-in-the-air jump, featured on the Buffalo Bill Show and in vaudeville, was another exemplification of her skill in training horses.

The riding of the sensational Haleb, an Arabian steed, without bridle or saddle, doing her act on a 9x12 rug, also was a feature in 1919. Miss von Ohl declares that her riding experience has amounted to nothing compared with what she has learned in the last five years handling wild horses in Montana, a group of which she is perfecting for polo use and special stunts to be used in European bookings now under way. In the saddle the greater part of the past 20 years, she announces herself as fit as ever. After a few days in New York Miss von Ohl left for her ranch on the desert, Palmdale, Calif., near Los Angeles. She expressed herself as being more than pleased with the performance of the Ringling-Barnum Circus, which she attended while here.

There are two ways of looking at the Provincetown Players' revival of Love for Love. One is to set it down as the next assignment for the citizens' play jury, while the other and more sensible way is to consider the means justified by the end, so to speak. For after all, this lusty offspring of Congreve's younger and less cautious years is just as brilliantly and bawdily hilarious today as it was in the period of decay when it first saw the light.

Every era brings out various forms of stage expression that are peculiar to that time, and in its day this outspoken satire on the fashionable foibles and infidelities must have stung as well as amused. Times, manners and attitudes have changed since then, but Love for Love still provides an evening of robust merriment.

The Provincetown group has made several changes in the script for its production. Some of the more obscene lines are out and a good portion of dull matter has been deleted, thereby making room for a few additional song numbers. On the whole, very well has been done. Congreve's second best contribution to the theater. Of course, The Way of the World ranks first, since that piece does not depend upon such daring material for its main effects. As for a comparison of the recent Cherry Lane Theater production of The Way of the World with the current Congreve play at the Greenwich Village, it can only be said that there are notable spots in both, and that both suffer from the limitations naturally imposed upon any present-day American production of a Restoration comedy.

Still the Provincetown Players have done an admirable job, considering their limited resources. It takes a versatile bunch of players to jump from Gilbert and Sullivan to Vildrac and from Vildrac to Congreve, as most of the present cast have done in the last few weeks, and what little they lack in individual roles is more than made up by their versatility. Besides, the work of establishing a permanent repertory company must have its more or less rough beginnings.

Among the most closely studied performances in this production is that of Stanley Howlett, as Valentine. Howlett does not get quite all there is to get out of the part, but has the idea. In a way, Frank Morgan's portrayal of the Duke of Florence in The Firebrand could be observed with profit for the deliberated casualness demanded in these elegant roles. On several occasions Howlett's diction is not sufficiently clear and decisive to send his remarks across for all they are worth, and this fault is common with the majority of the cast.

Another carefully and delightfully acted role is that of Angela, played by Helen Freeman, one of the most talented members of the Provincetown tribe. Rosalind Fuller is seen to much better advantage in the present piece than in her recent role of Patience, although there are times during the present performance when her excitement gets a little the better of her. Outside of that Miss Fuller is quite a treat as the silly country girl.

Adrienne Morrison does very well with the part of Mistress Frail, and Eve Balfour is a satisfactory Mistress Foresight. Cecil Clovelly's portrayal of Jeremy is an excellent character bit, marred somewhat by what appears to be a careless makeup—at least it is too obviously an odd makeup. Walter Abel, yielding slightly—but very slightly—from the stiffness that has characterized his other roles the past season, makes his best impression of the year as Sir Sampson. If Abel's body work were on a par with his reading of the lines this portrayal would be perfect. Edgar Stehli plays Tattle in the proper spirit. E. J. Ballantine is exceptionally good as Foresight. Noel Tearle handles the role of Scandal lightly and Perry Ivins makes a rough and ready sailor. The others fill their smaller parts satisfactorily.

The scenery is constructed almost entirely of mirrored panels that flash and glitter in a lighting manner with the sparkle of the play itself, and the costumes are elegant.

Scene 3—In the Woods Near the Lumber Yard. An Hour Later. ACT II—Same as Scene 1. Afternoon of the Following Monday. ACT III—Same as Scene 1. An Hour Later.

If the play-going public of this country is prepared to recognize the nearest thing to Ibsen that the American theater has yet produced let it go up to the dilapidated music hall on 63d street and do honor to the new Lula Vollmer drama that is now being presented there. For Miss Vollmer's play is that very thing. It is just as well to say right here that The Dunce Boy is not likely to meet with much encouragement at this particular time. To begin with it is far from a pleasant piece of entertainment. But neither is Ibsen pleasant. Then it is an unusual and difficult play to understand. So were Ibsen's until Shaw began press agenting him. And finally the tragic ending, which is bound to appear arbitrary to some, is not calculated to send anybody home in gay spirits.

However, The Dunce Boy, like the dramas of Ibsen, contains a lot of controversial subject matter that should stick in the minds of the few and make them talk, and eventually—perhaps a score of years from now or maybe a century—Miss Vollmer's play will come into its own. That is often the way with works of art. The character around which the play revolves is a 19-year-old boy with the strength of a man and the mentality of a child. Because of this affliction the boy's father hates him to the extent of violence. But the mother has a different feeling for her son. She seems to be struggling and praying in the hope of finding a way to give the boy the element of life that is lacking in him. Right here is as powerful a theme as that employed by Ibsen in Ghosts, and one that could have been developed much more effectively. But Miss Vollmer also has other lines of action to expound.

In the same household there is a young school teacher for whom the boy feels a love that he cannot define—again the similarity to Ghosts. As the author presents this phase of the plot it appears that the boy's physical senses are alive to the fact that the school teacher is pretty and kind and nice to embrace, while his intellect gropes for the meaning of it all. The mother, fearing dreadful consequences, forbids the boy to touch the girl, warning him that she is like a flower and will die if touched. This only puzzles him more, since he sees others touch her and she does not die.

Every once in a while the boy seems inspired with ecstasy, although the only expression he can give to it is contained in the words "Music," "Light," "God" and "Love." Another utterance is "Me got no sense," and the odd part of this is that the boy should have the sense to know that he has no sense.

Another comparison with Ibsen must be drawn here. In Rosmersholm the white horses form the symbol of the tragedy that is destined to come about. Ghosts has its imaginary specters. The Dunce Boy likewise has an uncanny symbol, the buzzing of a nearby sawmill, and it is here that the boy, after having made a hero of himself by rescuing the school teacher from a betraying suitor and delivering her over to the man who really loves her, finally meets his sudden and unexpected death. The concluding details, although highly theatrical, seem rather makeshift because the author does not prepare the audience sufficiently for them. On the other hand it is clear from the early part of the play that the boy is going to perform his act of heroism.

With the possible exception of Eric Jewett, who, as the father, is too aggressive and hostile toward his own household, the acting is above reproach. In fact, it is largely due to the excellent characterizations that the values of the play can be recognized. Gareth Hughes, with the advantage of the pantomimic training that he acquired while appearing in the silent drama, portrays the dunce boy with remarkable intelligence. He invests his role with a poetic glamour and reads his difficult lines—or words—as well as they can be read by a normal human being. Miss Vollmer has given the dunce boy a very peculiar line of talk. Louis Mason is the only one whose lines and dialect sound as tho they really belong to the Carolina lumber camps. Mason does a splendid bit as an ex-convict lumberman and farmer. Along about the end of the play he turns up as a peddler and adds to his credit by putting over a little comedy scene that is as enjoyable as it is typical of the small-town itinerant notion venders. Mason is a good natural actor.

Another thoroughly life-like performance is given by Mary Carroll, who plays the part of the school teacher. With no apparent effort and no exaggeration Miss Carroll makes her character real and appealing. It isn't much of a part for a gifted little actress like her, but she more than does justice to everything she has.

Antoinette Perry portrays the mother with genuine feeling and spirit, bringing out the struggles and tribulations of her role for their full value, and the two suitors are creditably played by Jean Clarendon and Donald Cameron.

The scenic effects and direction are satisfactory.

Those who enjoy clever satire as well as those who delight in modernistic music will find the third production this season at the Neighborhood Playhouse decidedly worth while. True, there was far too much repetition in the first and second part of Sooner and Later, which detracted much from this travesty of everyday life and tended to make it tiresome, but this fault doubtless will be remedied promptly by judicious pruning.

In the Legend of the Dance a medieval party is in progress with the guests entertained by a troupe of Strolling Players, who enact for them a playlet in which Musa, a devotee of the dance, is the principal character. Her every action is timed to dancing but she renounces this when King David promises she shall dance in celestial realms if she refrains from worldly dancing. She becomes a saint and assists St. Cecelia when King David is host to the Nine Muses, whose music is found so mournful that St. Cecelia is instructed, with the aid of Musa, to teach them to sing joyful music and to dance gayly. Anne Schmidt as Musa was excellent indeed both in her acting and carefree, lighthearted dancing. Marc Loebell, too, was as usual exceedingly satisfactory in his role, that of the leader of the Strolling Players. Lack of space prohibits individual mention of all the players. Lily Hyland's music had the delicate, delightful melody one associates with the music of the medieval period.

In direct contrast was the modernistic music and theme of Sooner and Later, in which life in three stages—primitive, present age and future civilization—was depicted. The first part, dealing with the primitive tribal mode of living, was illustrated with ceremonial dances and tribal cries, for which Emerson Whithorne's music was most effective. The players interpreted this with much skillfulness in the dancing as well as the peculiar tribal cries, which ranged from monotonous mutterings to frenzied shouts at the height of the dance and which must have been extremely difficult to render. The ensemble work was particularly good. The second part, in which the present age with its ever-increasing desire for speed, its development of machine labor, its craze for jazzy entertainment, is very cleverly satirized, affords many laughs. This was particularly well given and each of the puppets would be given deserved separate mention if space permitted. They effectively demonstrated how we are ruled by machine labor, how we rush madly, whether at work or at play, and then there was the discordant singing off-stage, where also the radio melodrama was given to the audience solely thru hysterical laughter and crying, by shouts and moans, and this particularly delighted the audience. The jazz revue by six personable young ladies in gorgeous costume also pleased greatly. The music for this second part was of the ultra-modern type and most ably descriptive of the noise and never-ending rush of the age in which we live, also exceedingly expressive of its artificiality, its nervous energy and nerve-racking noise.

The third part or crystalline age was the least interesting of the production, chiefly because of its seemingly endless repetition, although for this the music, almost expressionless and of exceeding clarity, was excellent.

In many ways this was one of the most interesting productions we have seen at the Neighborhood Playhouse and especially is this true of the first two parts of Sooner and Later. I. M. McH.

TIMES: "All in all, a production that reflects much credit upon the creator and interpreters of the piece and emphasizes the truly remarkable achievements of the Neighborhood Playhouse in the cultivation of the dance and the art of the modern ballet."

William B. Friedlander and Con Conrad have done a masterful job on the music and lyrics. Every song number, with the possible exception of one or two, goes over for a hit.

EDG' N. Y. DRAMATIC CRITICS

New York, April 4.—Edgar Selwyn's remarks in an interview with The London Morning Post Thursday, just before the producer sailed for New York, in which he declared that the dramatic critics over here are suppressed, harmful and unread and should be abolished, has roused considerable feeling among the men of that calling in New York.

The World today printed statements from George Jean Nathan, Heywood Brown and others, nearly all containing rebukes and contradictions of Selwyn's statement.

"When Selwyn puts on a play that will get good notices from the critics he will change his mind," says Nathan.

"If the critics have been suppressed, what is Selwyn worrying about?" says Brown.

"If the critics are not read, how can they harm?" queries Gilbert W. Gabriel, who adds: "If they were harmful the theatrical managers would not quote them."

"Selwyn has certainly surprised us. In journalistic phrases he had a scopy," is E. W. Osborn's comment.

"The day of the dramatic critic has passed. Now we have reporters of the theater who can be trusted as guides," says Burns Mantle.

"Selwyn didn't say a word about assistant critics," pines Quinn Martin.

Jeffersonville Reduces License for Reiss Shows

Jeffersonville, Ind., April 2.—At a special meeting of the city council Monday night the old city ordinance in regard to carnivals, which read that a license of $50 a day for each paid attraction should be paid, was revised to read $25 a day for the entire show. The changing of the law was a special courtesy to the Nat Reiss Shows, which open here next Monday.

Sara Sothern Returns

New York, April 4.—Sara Sothern, who attracted considerable attention for her splendid portrayal of the little crippled girl in The Fool during its Broadway run, has returned from her London engagement in this play, having made an impression over there that can rightfully be termed a triumph.

"Dark Angel" Movie Rights Bought by Metro-Goldwyn

New York, April 4.—The motion picture rights of The Dark Angel have been bought by Metro-Goldwyn for $32,000. This should partly console Robert Milton, producer of the play, for the fact that his offering, despite excellent notices and apparent enthusiasm on the part of such patrons as it attracted, is compelled to close tonight at the Longacre Theater after a run of less than two months.

"Music Box" for Australia

New York, April 4.—Hugh Ward has bought the Australian rights to last year's Music Box Revue and will pass thru this city within the next two weeks, on his way back from London, to make arrangements for taking the show and the entire production to the antipodes with him.

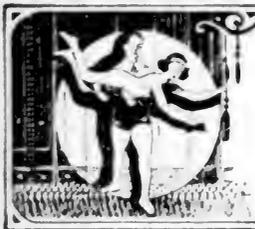

Producer Sued for Salary

(Continued from page 5) considered by Equity as sufficient guarantee for the cast's salary. When the show flopped she was notified, but informed the association that she had not guaranteed any financial status of the Stanton company, but had allowed her name to appear for publicity purposes only.

It was explained that the reason why all of the suits were not tried simultaneously was because several members who participated in the piece are out of town and Miss Willmore was the only one available at this time.

Exhibitors Meet at Little Rock

TABLOID SHOWS FOR K.-A. PA. HOUSES AS SUMMER EXPERIMENT

Ten Theaters Booked by Circuit That Usually Close in Hot Weather To Try All-Summer Runs With Different Type Entertainment

NEW YORK, April 6.—In an effort to keep open this summer, tabloid attractions are being booked by the Keith-Albee Circuit for several of its Pennsylvania houses which heretofore have shut down during the hot weather. The plan is in the nature of an experiment to determine whether this change of policy will pull the theaters thru the slack months.

Thus far 10 houses have been chosen. All of them have closed in former years due to lack of patronage during June, July and August, when the vaudeville business suffers considerably thruout the country, compelling numerous houses to go dark until fall.

The first of the vaudeville stands to open with a tab. is the Hippodrome, Pottsville, Pa., which started today with this type of attraction. Next week the Edgemont, Chester, and the Garlick, Norristown, will inaugurate similar policies. The Towers Theater, Camden, N. J., and the Orpheum, Germantown, Pa., are slated to open later, and the possibilities are that other theaters thruout Pennsylvania not yet announced will be included in the list, depending on the success of the experiment.

In Philadelphia, where the Keith-Albee Circuit is well represented, five houses are scheduled for tabs, this summer. They are the Keystone, Broadway, Grand Opera House, Cross Keys and Globe. The last named will play tabs, only while the others will alternate in the type of programs offered, playing a tab one week and vaudeville the next, according to present plans.

The 10 houses mentioned here are booked by Harold Kemp. Altho Kemp expressed the opinion that the Earle Theater, Philadelphia, would not be included in the theaters to come under the tab, policy, the rumor reached The Billboard last week that a tabloid attraction had been booked into this house for the week of April 27.

It was also learned from an apparently authentic source that Lancaster, Pa., would go to tabs, for the summer, and that the Seranton and Wilkes-Barre stands are due for a similar policy.

Johnny Dooley To Do "Keep Kool" in Vaude.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Johnny Dooley will return to vaudeville this spring in a condensed version of Keep Kool, the Paul Gerard Smith-E. K. Nadel show, which after having a run here was blended with Ziegfeld's touring Follies.

HYDE PRODUCING SUMMER REVUE FOR LOEW TIME

NEW YORK, April 6.—Victor Hyde is producing a new revue which will be featured over the Loew Circuit as a special summer attraction. It will be billed as "Victor Hyde's Summer Revue", and will play all the New York theaters on the Loew Time, following which Hyde plans to send it to Europe to play the music halls there.

Frank Bannister, who is writing the book, lyrics and music for the show, will also be the featured member of the cast. The company will have 24 people in it. The revue will run 30 minutes and will open at Loew's, White Plains, May 4. It is possible that the act will play full weeks in all the New York split-week Loew houses.

NORA BAYES BACK

NEW YORK, April 6.—Nora Bayes returned to New York Saturday after spending a short honeymoon in Europe with her husband. She will open in vaudeville next week at a local theater and will be rejoined by Lou Alter, who will accompany her at the piano.

K.-A. Books Nashua House

Boston, April 6.—The local office of the B. F. Keith-Albee Vaudeville Exchange is now booking four acts at the Capitol Theater, Nashua, N. H. The house offers pictures and vaudeville, with change of bill twice a week.

POOR BUSINESS

During Good Friday Week in England

London, April 4 (Special Cable to The Billboard).—Good Friday week is certainly Black Friday week for British vaudeville, with Moss Empires playing but one vaudeville program, Broadhead one, Gulliver two on the L. T. V. and none on Controlling, none on Mac-Naghten; in fact, there are not 12 straight vaudeville programs thruout Great Britain. But Sir Oswald Stoll still plays vaudeville in at least 50 per cent of his halls.

Producer Gets Judgment Against Vaudeville Writer

NEW YORK, April 4.—Dorothy E. Sherman, vaudeville producer, received judgment for $116.10 against George E. Stoddard, writer, concerning a vaudeville sketch he wrote, but was delivered two months after the scheduled date contracted for. It was explained that Miss Sherman deposited $100 with the author, asking him to write a playlet for her. The producer declared in her legal statement that the script was delivered, but she had purchased another piece because she could not wait for Stoddard.

Wilfred Lytell Considering Engagement in Vaudeville

NEW YORK, April 6.—Wilfred Lytell, brother of Bert, now appearing in Proctor stock at the 23d Street Theater, is in negotiation with several vaudeville producers with a view to entering the two-day in a one-act playlet. Lewis & Gordon are among those dickering with the stock star.

Russell Robinson and Al Bernard, well-known songwriters, traveling thru Arkansas. The boys are following up their recent song releases by making a tour of radio stations of the country, thereby expecting to add to their list of hits.

NEW ACT FOR RUTH ROYE De Walde, Keith Manager Now in Salem, Mass.

They start today by playing Loew's, New Rochelle, which ordinarily plays pictures only.

The twins are to play a full week in all the Loew theaters. These include the split-week houses as well as the film houses. The only exceptions will be houses playing motion pictures which are in direct conjunction to Loew vaudeville houses, such as the Spooner and the Boulevard, both of which are on the same block, the former playing pictures and the latter a combination polley.

This will also make them the first act in the history to play full-week stands in every one of the split-week houses. It is estimated that by playing a full week in all the Loew vaudeville and picture houses the Siamese Twins will be good for almost two years for Loew without playing any repeat engagements.

BIG-TIME AGENT EXPELLED AND ANOTHER IS GIVEN FRANCHISE

William Shilling Loses Privilege on Booking Floor of Palace Theater Building for Alleged Violation of Rules---Charles Furey Now Learning Ropes

NEW YORK, April 4.—William Shilling, Keith-Albee agent, has been expelled from the privileges of the booking floor of that organization, it was revealed this week, and Charles Furey was admitted on the franchise under which Shilling booked acts with the circuit, according to reliable information.

In an effort to substantiate the report of these changes and others that are rumored Senator J. Henry Walters, of the K. A. circuit's legal counsel, when communicated with, would not deny nor affirm them, altho he is said to have sent notification to the booking executives of the circuit of the changes made, but was "too busy" to talk on the matter. Gathering of information from various apparently authentic sources indicates that Shilling is prohibited from the booking floors of the Keith-Albee Circuit for an indefinite period. He is said to have violated repeatedly some of the booking rules of the circuit, but no confirmation concerning the reasons for Shilling's expulsion could be secured.

Charles Furey, an up-and-coming young vaudeville producer, was granted entrance to the booking floors shortly after Shilling was ostracized. He appeared on the floors this week, getting acquainted with the booking executives and booking men. Furey will produce acts in addition to booking them, and already has Lillian Walker, former picture star, in rehearsal in a one-act playlet, in addition to various other attractions for vaudeville.

Sophie in Bankruptcy Suit

Cleveland, O., April 4.—"I don't remember; I don't remember!" These words, almost hysterically uttered, formed the answer to the majority of questions put to Sophie Tucker, vaudeville actress, by Attorney H. H. Felsman, who prosecuted this week an involuntary bankruptcy suit involving the former Carleton Terrace, purchased by Miss Tucker a year ago.

Heated words between Felsman and Attorney Nathan E. Cook, local representative for Miss Tucker, were halted time and again by Carl D. Friebohn, referee in bankruptcy for federal court. Miss Tucker testified her gross income in 1924 was $62,000. She said she had lost most of her good jewelry, but owned for stage purposes "just loads of fake jewelry."

"I'm not a business woman. I'm a performer," the actress repeated in answer to queries about stock she had bought. The hearing here resulted in no definite action.

Try To Amend Performing Animals Bill in London

London, April 4 (Special Cable to The Billboard).—The second reading of the Performing Animals Bill came up in the House of Lords April 2 and an unexpected snag has been struck in the clause giving the court of summary jurisdiction the power to prohibit an act on the plea that the intended performance is likely to be accompanied by cruelty.

Members of the organization are to be given the right to use the billing of "Dame" as a prefix to their names. Among the charter members of the "Vaudeville Order of Merit" are Sophie Tucker, who is discarding the "Madame" for the "Dame"; Dame Bell Baker, Dame Nora Bayes, Dame Valeska Suratt, Dame Nance O'Neil, Dame Johanna Gadsdl and Dame Dorothy Jardon, as they are to be known.

The membership will be added to with the entrance of single women to vaudeville who are considered of sufficient importance to prefix the "Dame" to their billing. # This Week's Reviews of Vaudeville Theaters

Loew's State, New York

(Reviewed Monday Matinee, April 6)

For the first time this season the S. R. O. sign was not visible for the Monday matinee. This is explained by the management, however, as due to the fact that this is Holy Week. The feature attraction, Key-Hole Kamcos, a miniature revue, did splendidly, with the other five acts getting a similar reception.

To open the vaudeville part of the bill Reek and Rector, booked as "Society entertainers", an acrobatic novelty with a wonderful showing of iron-jaw holds, performed admirably. The fellow who is hoisted up and suspended by one foot and then sustains the other chap while he stunts for the audience impressed the crowd mightily. He is in the inverted position for six or seven minutes with a final trick, where his partner spins around on the base of a lamp. This is held up by an iron-jaw grip, all the while the mouth of the man above is being tugged at and pulled by the gyrations of the other.

Grant and Feeley, the composer and his Irish colleen, pleased immensely with the songs written by Bert Grant. Miss Feeley interprets his melodies in true Irish style, which had a marked effect on the house. The melody of old songs he wrote, which she sang while he played the piano, got the customers. Grant has composed a number of real hits, and as the audience was brought back to the time when the airs were popular it responded freely.

Allman and May, in a skit called The Lure of the Yukon, which has its appealing spot. The scene is laid outside of a snow hut way up around the North Pole and is all about a traveler who has gone north on an exploring expedition and taken his good man, Douglas, with him. Allman plays the part of Douglas, the colored servant, while May portrays the one stuck with wanderlust. A lot of funny gags are worked up between the two, May wearing a heavy fur coat that comes down to his knees, while Allman, rigged out in a silk Palm Beach suit, provoked humor right off. The act was well received.

Keyhole Kamcos, with Jack Mundy and Leda Erroll, composed of 10 episodes, is a pleasant novelty. There are seven girls and three men in the cast, all of whom sing and step around in a lively fashion. Mundy plays the comedy, and, practically by himself, while Miss Erroll displays a handsome pair of calves. The 10 scenes run the gamut of musical comedies and present day revues, showing plenty of deviation, each episode a complete bit.

McGrath and Deeds, who call themselves "Artistic Designers of Song and Comedy", were last seen by this reviewer on the big time. They have an original style of stuff. Deeds has an exceptional bass voice and comes into his own while singing the song that made the bass voice famous, O'er the Billowy Sea. McGrath is a high tenor and gets a great deal of fun out of his wife and husband scene with his partner, got a lot of laughs.

Demaria Five, billed as musical de luxe, featuring Anita Jaeger, won heavily on their classical interpretations, O Sole Mio and Il Bacio, standing out strongly for this house. The girl playing the flute and the other with violin show up well, while the chap strumming the guitar was also well received. This is a pleasing turn and shapes, well for putting an audience in the right mood for the vaudeville closing. G. V. WALES.

Majestic, Chicago

(Reviewed Sunday Matinee, April 5)

Keyo and Ogawa, Japanese foot jugglers and balancers. A good offering of its class. Eight minutes, in full; one bow. Moore and Shy, one nearly a 400-pounder and the other a midget, have a back-and-forth argument along comedy lines, dance a bit and entertain generally. They keep it going very well. Nine minutes, in one; one bow.

Jack Hughes Duo, man and woman, offer cornet duo, banjo duo, sax duo and other musical diversions. This is an excellent act delivered by thro-goin' showmen. They are artists and pleased much. Thirteen minutes, in full; three bows.

Guy Wendick and Flores La Due, with a comedy talking act, cowboy atmosphere and without local gags or chewing-gun accompaniment. Has fast dialog and good material—gets the laughs all the time. Some superior rope spinning was exhibited by both. Style, delivery and speed put this act over big. Twelve minutes, in full, with special drop, depicting a ranch scene; four bows.

C. R. Four (?) is a male quartet. They have a very fair repertoire, dance still better and made good. Nine minutes, in one; encore and three bows.

Kingston and Ebner have a presentation of comedy and songs. The comedy is lively. The girl has a good voice and the act would profit by using it more in ballads or maybe something heavier. Fifteen minutes, in one; three bows.

Harry Holman and Company, man and two girls, known here for years and ever welcome, have a comedy sketch, Hard-boiled Hampton, that is excellent. First

THE PALACE NEW YORK

(Reviewed Monday Matinee, April 6)

Fine, large afternoon, with "name" acts, fresh material, laughs and patrons aplenty. Clifton Webb and Mary Hay are held over for a second week, while Marjorie Gateson, of musical comedy, makes her vaudeville debut; likewise Frances Starr, also of legit, fame. Many lay and professional folk were present, especially to see Miss Starr, including Adolph S. Ochs, newspaper owner, and lesser lights among the dramatic critics. At the conclusion of Miss Starr's performance David Belasco took a bow and made a short speech in which he reminded the audience that he was only lending his star for a short time. House-rocking applause greeted the veteran producer.

William Brack and his company in Risley and trampoline work gave the show a fast start. The offering is full of action, not one of the five men and boys stalling for a half second. Not only that, but they gathered a goodly number of laughs as well. There are many fine features in their routine, especially the top men doing somersaults from feet to feet of the under men.

Pert Kelton has been steadily coming to the front for some time, and this afternoon she held down the second spot in a manner that surely did not set her back any. Her versatile comedy, plus youthful appearance, put her over easily. Her fine sense of burlesque was always funny. This afternoon she did a single all the way instead of having her mother do a bit of hot cornet playing toward the close. It won't be long before Miss Kelton earns a spot further down the bill, and she'll probably do even better than in the deuce position.

Bob and Gale Sherwood and their entertainers, 10 people, in a mixed company, proved an offering with a powerful kick. A one-word definition of the outfit would put them down as an orchestra. Yet they dance, sing and play orchestra selections in various combinations, as well as solos, with novelty an outstanding feature all thru their show. It gets under way quickly, due to the opening number, when members of the orchestra play from the orchestra aisles. Had they hesitated about the encore the show would have been stopped. Will be further reviewed under "New Turns".

Gracie Deagon and Jack Mack clicked as per schedule, with Mack making an excellent straight man for his partner's inimitable kid comedy characterization. Miss Deagon is consistently good in this role and gets a laugh with the first word she speaks. The tempo in which the act works is an unusually smooth one and productive of the best results.

Marjorie Gateson, musical comedy star, assisted at the piano by Robert Faricy, found an audience more receptive than she probably expected, for she displayed a bit of stage fright at times. Outside of that her long training in legitimate attractions made it possible for her to sell her published numbers and other material in satisfactory style. She was handsomely gowned, looked very lovely, and always made sure her diction was clear to all parts of the house. Will be further reviewed under "New Turns".

Frances Starr, in "Colette", a comedy playlet, in which she was supported by Lavinia Shannon, Christine Affeld and Gilbert Douglas, closed the first half stronger than it has been closed in many, many months. For her vaudeville debut Miss Starr has the role of a member of a team of crooks, who impersonates a Russian Princess ostensibly disguised as a French maid. She is in the home of newly rich social climbers, and, with the aid of her accomplice, trims them pretty. Jean Archibald wrote the act, which, of course, is not very original as to plot, but David Belasco directed it, and that, we suppose, is different. The producer has provided a worth-while vehicle for his star and given it an attractive set by way of pink cyclorama drop for an interior flash. As Miss Starr was receiving hearty approval and gathering enough flowers to start an enterprising Greek in business part of the house saw Mr. Belasco in the wings and a deafening crescendo of applause followed. If the act and whole show had been poor this incident alone would have redeemed it. This technique always works wonders, whether it is a notable taking a bow on the stage, or, for instance, Eddie Cantor or Sophie Tucker out front and induced to tell a joke or sing a song. The offering will be further reviewed under "New Turns".

Ed Flanagan and Neely Edwards, "The Original 'Hallroom Boys' of Motion Pictures", worked their way into the good graces of the vaudeville patrons as well as they did with the movie fans. Their comedy is funny and of the in-offensive kind. Early in the act they do their stuff in the hallroom, after which they sing and do a musical number in one.

Clifton Webb and Mary Hay and Their Club Giro Orchestra, with Dave Bernie, repeated their fine success of last week with about the same routine of comedy interpretative dances, sold intelligently to say the least. The more we see of Clifton Webb the more we are inclined to believe he out-classes any male dancer of his type that ever played around these parts. There is showmanship and extraordinary dance ability in his every movement and step. Miss Hay, as usual, is an adorable accomplice, whose personality gets over as soon as she steps out. In this offering she displays a rare sense of travesty, and, like her partner, combines it with graceful comedy dancing. The muted tones and rhythm of the orchestra are in keeping with the style of the act.

Joe Browning, in "A Timely Sermon", took the reins in the next-to-closing spot with his humorous monolog, delivered while in the guise of a reformer. All of Browning's material is funny.

The Paul Brothers, sensational high-perch act, closed the show with an expert exhibition of equilibrium. M. H. SHAPIRO.

and funny. Fifteen minutes, in full; three bows.

Warren and O'Brien, two men, have a routine of dancing and comedy talk. The dancing is unusually good and the act fast and lively. Ten minutes, in one; two bows.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville, Stamm and Company, have something like a fantasy, with interpretative dancing and posing. One girl sings in a pleasing mezzo. Man and five girls. Act makes strong flash. Special drop and accessories. Ten minutes, in full; two bows. FRED HOLLMAN.

Keith's, Cincinnati

(Reviewed Sunday Matinee, April 5)

Houdini, the feature of a varied bill, repeated his usual success here. The master showman held the audience enthralled for 40 minutes and could have remained much longer.

The bill opened with Archie and Gertie Falls in the skit, A Few Hard Knocks, in which the male member takes plenty of them. The shapely maid does a pretty Spanish web opening, followed by excellent tumbling by Archie that is concealed by the falls. Their best feat is a toe-to-toe catch. Ten minutes, in full; three bows.

Bob McDonald and Helen Oakes, "The Aristocratic Steppers", are all that the name implies. Miss Oakes, a vivacious sprite, who dances with her eyes and curls as well as with her feet, does exceedingly graceful kicks and splits. Her partner admits he can't sing, but he certainly makes up for it by nifty stepping. Ten minutes, in one; three bows.

A. Robins, "The Walking Music Store", should also be crowned as a protean artist, for not only does he give realistic imitations of many instruments, but he has apparatus that effects instantaneous (Continued on page 16)

Palace, Chicago

(Reviewed Sunday Matinee, April 5)

The performance was delayed 30 minutes in opening this afternoon.

Stanton and Dolores, "The Different Duo". I believe the act would be better without the musical opening. Fifteen minutes, full stage; one bow.

Dick Keene and Virginia Barrett are not without talent. Miss Barrett is the better comedian of the two, and Keene gave a bit of broad allusion in regard to an operation which, as comedy, was not well received. He can dance, however, and dance well. A little pruning might make a much better act. Fifteen minutes, in full; one bow.

Mabel McCane. Her conception of The Girl I Used To Be has great dramatic value. Miss McCane is clever and one of those conscientious workers and always gives her very best. Twenty minutes, in full; three curtains.

Walter and Emily Walters are old friends to Chicago. Their act is ventriloquism at its very best and with a novelty setting that makes it of almost a new art. There is nothing better of its kind in vaudeville. Twenty minutes, in one; encore and seven bows.

Frawley and Louise are versatile and effective in their sketch, Taxi, Please. Settings are fine, comedy good, singing not bad—altogether a good act. Three people. Twenty minutes, in full; encore and talk.

Joseph E. Howard and his "Toy Shop" are the feature of the bill. Splendid settings, wonderful dances and good music. Sixteen people. Twenty-seven minutes, in full; two curtains, 10 bows.

Venita Goid, a favorite here, gave 20 minutes, "in one" and "two", of her "inimitable imitations". Clever and charming. Her takeoff of Blossom Seeley, whose act followed, was especially clever. Two people. Two encores and six bows.

Blossom Seeley, with Benny Fields and Bourne and Ellis, pianists, are hard to excel in their type of work, a "glorification of synecopation". Miss Seeley is charming and Fields is an ideal stage partner. Thirty minutes, in full; encore, four curtains and five bows.

Berk and Saun, in closing the long bill, did wonderfully well. Good setting, unique dances and plenty of color. Ten minutes, in full; one bow. AL FLUDE.

B. S. Moss' Broadway, New York

(Reviewed Sunday Matinee, April 5)

In comparison with the attendance on other weeks this afternoon's business could be called slightly less than usual, but for the first day of Holy Week it was exceptionally good. About the only cut Holy Week made was in the staudes, this being the first time the ropes were not put up to take care of them, and but a few seats were vacant in the orchestra. The first performance dragged a great deal. The individual acts on the whole were good but somehow missed out on the number of laughs and amount of applause they usually get.

Margot and Francois had a few slow spots in their offering with which they opened the show. The woman does some very good work on stilts, doing nippups, handspins and similar stunts. The man, in clown makeup, takes some good falls. The stalling between some of the stunts was responsible for the slowness. Cervo and Moro, scheduled for the second spot, were out owing to the failure of their trunks to arrive. This left the first show shy one act.

Lange and Guilfoyle went on second and tho they were entertaining, they didn't get half the laughs Emmett Guilfoyle's spontaneous comedy generally does, particularly from an audience of this type. They seemed to be on for almost half an hour, much too long for any spot. The woman is beautiful and the costumes gorgeous.

Cartmell and Harris scored with the dance end of the offering, but with the comedy bits might just as well have been talking to themselves. The old man is still with the act and lends a big punch with his dance bit.

The Hickey Brothers were really the first to get genuine laughs or applause. It had taken all the preceding acts to warm up the patrons sufficiently. The hokum comedy found fertile soil and the hoofing drew favorable attention.

Harry Stoddard and His Orchestra are supposed to be the one act that is always surefire here. Two years ago Stoddard played eight consecutive weeks in the house. Last year he came back for another engagement and went fairly well. This time he won't even do as well, for the simple reason that the act isn't as good. The patrons here have learned to expect novelty from Stoddard, and a novelty seen more than once is no longer a novelty to them. True, he has changed the published numbers, but even these seem to miss out and lack punch, either because of their arrangements or because of their routing. G. J. HOFFMAN.

Grand O. H., St. Louis (Reviewed Monday Matinee, April 6)

The bill this week is somewhat below the average that has been the vogue here for the last couple months. Lee Mattison and his versatile orchestra headline and easily walked off with applause honors. Mary Philbin in The Gayly Girl, feature photoplay.

Luck and Jessie Gibson opened the evening with their unicycle riding. Many chuckles were gathered thru their wiggling about while astride their high single wheels. Six minutes, full stage; two bows.

Amedeo, an Italian, in white-pannel suit, is a mean accordionist, and played a varied repertoire of numbers. He came mightily nigh stopping the show, an unusual feat for an act of his kind. Twelve minutes, in one; encore and bows.

Nep Scoville and Company in a one-act comedy playlet, Punchd. The sketch deals with the hearing of several cases in a justice of the peace court, finishing with a girl who almost had dropped by the wayside being taken under the wing of a small-town justice. Scoville makes a cracker-jack hit, and his funny talk and actions are good for many laughs. The act is comprised of an unbillied lady and two men. Seventeen minutes, Municipal Court interior, in four; three curtains.

Holly, a billing we could not savor. A man in farmer make-up opens with a song sung in the wings in falsetto voice, then comes forth and dispenses comedy talk. Following this he sings in a clear, smooth voice a comedy song on Uncle Tom's Cabin, Little Rover and The Green Grass Grew All Around. Twelve minutes, in one; four bows and a "Thank you."

Ivans and Pearl, man and woman, have a 15-minute clever talking skit woven around a janitor and a lady chauffeur that is good for laughs aplenty. Special, in one; three bows.

Lee Mattison and his orchestra were the unqualified hit of the bill. A group of eight jazz musicians play fast and furiously and do some good ensemble playing as well. In addition to leading his jazz bounds Mattison does some spin stepping both alone and with the two girl dancers. One of the girls does a good contortion and acrobatic dance specialty. A pretty setting. Seventeen minutes, in four; five curtains.

Sylvester and Vance, man and woman, have a line of comedy talk and songs which was liked. The lady has a sweet voice and makes a neat appearance in her two tasteful gowns. For a finish they do a double song and dance. Fourteen minutes, in one; two bows.

The Taketas, two males and a female tap, before a beautiful setting. The men open before a special, in one, with some good perch balancing. Following this the girl does some nifty walking and balancing on the silver thread. For a fast and strong finish the men do some cracker-jack barrel tossing and spinning. They appeared at the Orpheum here several weeks ago. Eleven minutes, in one and four; held 'em all in.

Palace, Cincinnati

(Reviewed Sunday Evening, April 5)

This week's bill embraces a wide variety of entertainment and was received with a warm hand. The running time of several of the acts was cut in order to speed up the program.

Tom In, a radio novelty, gave the program a pleasing start. The man and two girls are versatile musical entertainers and work with a great deal of pep. One of the girls "tunes in" a "station" on "the huge set" and a saxophone duet is heard thru the loud speaker, which is lighted from behind, showing the entertainers. This idea is the best of the offering. Six minutes; special setting, in three.

Donnelly and Smith sang their way thru the dance spot to resounding returns. These boys have a pleasing way of selling their stuff, combined with real ability. Two ballads, Spanish Reminds Me of You and In Those Dear Old Streetheart Days, were especially well received. Sixteen minutes, in one and two; two bows; could have taken more.

Companions of the Season, in four scenes, billed as a "vaudeville", with three men and a girl, is as good as the average sketch. The plot, which ends happily, concerns a would-be-reformed pickpocket, the stereotyped detective, always ten steps behind a disillusioned and just country girl and her lover. The offering is very effective, although some of the comedy lines fall flat. A deck setting is good. Twenty-two minutes, in three and full; special set and two bows; three bows.

May Howard and Sophie Bennett offered vocal solos and duets. Their routine lacks novelty. Eleven minutes, in one; special curtain; one bow.

Jarvis, trick finisher, made a hit with his specialty, Sawing a Lion on Half. His regular time was shortened, yet he went over big. Sixteen minutes, in one and one-half; one bow.

(Reviewed Monday Matinee, April 6)

Vincent Lopez heads the enjoyable program on tap here this week, which, incidentally, marks the twentieth anniversary of the internationally known Sixth Avenue amusement temple. It was saved from the razing threatening it two years ago when converted into the world's largest vaudeville house, to be devoted to novelties of every description. The acts that come within the category of novelties are in the majority this week, among them being a return engagement of that exotic and strangely interesting presentation, the Royal Siamese Entertainers. The others are acrobatic novelties, four in number, and an animal offering. Then there is the Yong Wong Company, a unique troupe that does its act in conjunction with the Siamese presentation. Deszo Retter, the man who wrestles with himself, is the single holdover of the week. Applause at this afternoon's show was more spontaneous than usual. Lopez, it is needless to say, walked away with plaudit honors.

The show got under way with a hit of big-top atmosphere in a presentation embodying the acts of Corradini's Animals and the Four Jansleys. Miss Corradini handles her mammals in a superior fashion, and the Jansleys topping her offering provided not a few thrilling moments in their clever Risley act, in which the youngest of the quartet, a whisp of a youngster, is featured.

The Donal Sisters gave the deuce spot a decided punch in their unique acrobatic offering. The heavier of the two does the topmounting, an extraordinary and unusual feature in itself, which the audience seemed to realize. A goodly hand was accorded the athletic young women.

Meyer Golden's presentation, The Antique Shop, with Val Eichen featured followed. The act ran a little slow at this afternoon's show, but the quality of the entertainment fully recompensed one for this small item. It is superlative in every sense of the word, something different from what one sees in everyday vaudeville, and the Hippodrome's dancing girls enriched it quite creditably.

William and Joe Mandel won the hearts of the audience next in their clowning acrobatic classic. They were recently in the "Greenwich Village Follies", and are said to be booked for a long stretch on the Keith Time. In a class by themselves are these versatile lads.

Rae Samuels, who insists on calling herself "The Blue Streak of Vaudeville", tho she doesn't swear by it in any fashion in her act, was a good-sized hit, taking a couple encores to persistent applause. Miss Samuels' material has much more punch than the ordinary singing comedienne is equipped with, and it gets the laughs in bulk lots. But why the chewing gum, Miss Samuels? It's a trifle disconcerting, and, besides, might make the singing a little mucilaginous. That extra gag, slipped this afternoon to the men in the pit, that there are no Jew rubes, ought to have the "blue streak" a crayon of that chromatic makes. Mildred Land, a good-to-look-at young lady, offelated at the ivories in an efficient manner.

The Royal Siamese Entertainers, consisting of the leading dancers, musicians and Takraw players of Siam, appearing in this country according to the program by permission of the Siamese Government, closed intermission in their peculiar but nevertheless interesting offering. The music and dancing of the Siamese maidens is entertaining chiefly because it is different and new, but the Takraw playing, in which the participants pass the ball to one another without the use of the hands, is a decided feat from many angles. The agility and dexterity of the Takraw players in their national game is something to be conjured with. Years of practice undoubtedly is required to master the game. The Yong Wong company of contortionists and plate spinners worked in conjunction with the Siamese offering, and the Mandel Freres afterpiece in a burlesque in Dame Terpsichore, garnering a million laughs. In this three-in-one presentation the Hippodrome Corps de Ballet formed an attractive background in the roles of spectators. One of the girls, in the attire of a male, was a good-looking fellow. Another Kitty Doner perhaps.

Opening the second half, Deszo Retter, who features a wrestling match in which he is the only opponent, repented his success of the previous week, getting, perhaps, a little better hand today than he did last Monday.

Vincent Lopez went on next with his pretentious orchestra of 13 pieces and knocked 'em dead, so to speak, stopping the show to a resounding hand. He did about 25 minutes, offering many a jazz tune, sticking closely to the concert type of music. Among the numbers were a Russian fantasy, "Oh, Katherina"; "The Melody That Made You Mine"; "A Trip to Naples" and "The Stars and Stripes Forever". They are not distinctly of the concert calendar, but the manner in which Lopez bandmen play them gives each one a classical symphonic touch. P. A. Rolfe, trumpeter extraordinary, featured in the Lopez presentation, stirred the auditors to spirited applause. He gets music out of his trumpet that we would fain go miles to hear again. Because of the late hour of the show and two acts were yet to appear, Lopez bowed away without giving the additional encores the insistent palmwhacking warranted.

Bobby Randall did a single of big-time caliber in next to closing, altho billed in a revue, "The High Lights of 1925", with "Mammy" Richard Allen and the Four Dancing Flashes. The black-face comedian's company was not to be seen, and he made no excuses for their absence. Perhaps he's better off alone. His material is as surefire as vaudevilliansmiths prepare these days and he sells it for the maximum of laughs. The gags ament the war and the subway struck a plethoric gusher of guffaws, and Randall's singing met with as favorable a return.

Dora and Ed Ford brought the show to a close, assisted by Lottie Ford and Bob Adams, in a speedy dance offering that held the folks till the final curtain. Nimble-pedaled steppers this quartet. Tho at the end of the bill, they made a capital showing, getting away with a more than average hand.

ROY CHARTIER.

former. Twelve minutes, in one and one-half; three curtains.

The Kikitas Japs display the best showmanship by far of any act on the bill. The six men and two women equilibrists and jugglers have a turn that could play any big-time house to advantage. Their manner of working is admirable; plenty of snap and cheerfulness. Their foot-to-foot somersaults and other Risley work and juggling is the best the reviewer has seen. There also is a dignity and effort to please noticeable that is sadly lacking among most American artists. Gorgeous are the special drops and scenery. The costumes, too, were well chosen and added greatly to the general effect. Twelve minutes, in three and full stage; one bow.

Photoplay: Norma Shearer and Conrad Nagel in Excuse Me.

Orpheum, St. Louis (Reviewed Sunday Matinee, April 5)

For the third successive week the bill here is sans a jazz orchestra. This is unusual, as previously hardly a week passed but what there was not some jazz music thrown in. There was some last-minute switching this afternoon. Charles (Chic) Sale, scheduled to appear next to closing, was moved forward to the No. 5 spot in place of Dooley and Carles, who worked in Sale's originally carded position. Sale and Edmund Breesse split headline honors this week.

Topics of the Day, Aesop Fable.

Foster and "Peggy", a man with a marvelously trained terrier. Following some balancing and rigidity feats by the canine, "Peggy" answers questions by the tapping of a bell and then plays a tune on a specially constructed instrument. Fourteen minutes, in one; two bows.

Stanell and Douglas, two men, live up to their billing of "Fiddle Fanatics". Both are corking good violinists and harmonize splendidly on their instruments, which they play in every conceivable position. Sixteen minutes, in four and one; encore and bows.

Karavaeff and his company, consisting of Muriel Kaye, Joyce Coles, Edith Mal and Charlotte Carmen, have a high-class dance repertoire of six numbers. Karavaeff is a wonderful dancer—different from the ordinary two-a-day stepper—while Miss Kaye is subtle and graceful and can hold her own with any of the artistes in her particular style of the Urpsheorean art. Twenty minutes, appropriate costumes with elaborate and beautiful hangings and settings, and special lighting effects in four and full stage; three curtains and two bows.

Edwin George entertained for 14 minutes with a wealth of nutty talk while he juggled, misjuggled, bounced and misbounced rubber balls. A pretty girl serves as a prop and foil. Special in one, three bows.

Charles (Chic) Sale. The only thing we can say for him is that he is immitable in his portrayal of rural types and repeated his phenomenal hit of last year with his familiar small-town school-house entertainment. Twenty minutes, special in one; three bows.

Edmund Breesse in Happy New Year, a one-act playlet by Irving S. Cobb. The sketch is a forceful one, dealing with the sweet revenge of a cast-off husband on his wife and former pal. The former legitimate star does some real acting in the 17-minute skit and is ably assisted by Peter Lang, Elsie Rizer and Calvin Thomas. Private dining-room scene, in three; six curtains.

J. Francis Dooley and Corinne Sales dispense a lot of tomfoolery in good fashion and had the house with them right from the start. They radiate pleasantness and put their talk and songs over well. As an aftermath to their turn and with the assistance of "Chic" Sale and Edmund Breesse they burlesqued the latter's playlet for continuous laughter. Twenty-eight minutes, in one; bows galore.

Claire and Atwood, man and woman, have a nine-minute mixed routine consisting mostly of knockabout stuff. The man, as the comedian, flops around the stage considerably. During the smattering of hand-to-hand balancing the woman acts as the underlander. Special, in four.

Pantages, San Francisco

(Reviewed Sunday Matinee, April 5)

An average bill of six acts, with a little too much dancing and a song plugging number, and the scene feature were viewed by a rather cold audience this afternoon.

On the silver sheet, Ten Days, featuring Richard Holt.

Yvonne, billed as "A bit of this and that" is a lone entertainer who does her bits very well. She is a trapeze and Spanish web artist who slugs and plays the violin while executing graceful poses in midair. Ten minutes, special, in full; two bows.

Songolog, I'll See You in My Dreams. Follis and Leroy, in songs and dances, in which the latter got the most applause recognition. The Bowery number, in which Miss Follis is roughly handled, garnered the laughs and hands. Ten minutes, in one; three bows.

Carey, Dunovan and Marr sang three numbers in good voice, executed some unusual dances and got off a line of comedy chatter which registered in good shape. These three are good entertainers and their act should go better with a few of the "rough" edges filed off. Seven minutes, in one; two bows.

Stanley Hughes and Verna Burke, top-notch artistes in acrobatic and artistic dance creations. Miss Burke is a good looker and her physical development got the eyes of those in the front rows. Her partner is a rapid-fire dancer hilt for the part. Creations of colorful costumes, superb mounting and artistic presentation are finishing touches that put the act across.

An unbillied pianist, while the principals were changing costumes, played Humoresque with his left hand only.

Loew's American Roof, New York

(Reviewed Thursday Evening, April 2)

The American Roof is one theater where warm weather is generally welcomed, for it means better business. Hence, with the advent of spring and as days and nights grow milder, the audiences on the Roof are increasing.

The show for this half played well, and for the most part didn't drag. It was opened by the Ardo Brothers, comedy acrobats, who tumbled about and did other gymnastics to good results.

Pell and Lorri did nicely with a special vehicle of songs and dances. The latter part of the work is the feature, for both do some very difficult steps and do them well.

It seems to us that Johnny Neff formerly used a different makeup than he is using now. At any rate, he looks much younger than he did when last we saw him, which was several years ago. Neff was a big hit here, using a lot of old and new gags some of which he credits to the artists with whom the particular jokes are associated, and others which are released and don't require a credit line. He drew plenty of laughs and scored heavily on the applause end when he finished.

Another new act billed as Brevities followed, closing the first half. Two boys and three girls are seen in this offering, which consisted of song and dance bits fairly well done. All five work hard, and after the rough spots due to newness wear off the act will find it easy to please.

Gordon and Young started the second half going at a fast pace. The comedian takes some sensational falls, this particular style of work apparently being his forte. The straight man stands out in the act as few straight men ever do in a two-man combination. He's a very clever performer and builds up every point for the comic in a manner that makes them surefire.

De Vine and Gould would have given a better account of themselves had they been spotted elsewhere; the audience was somewhat laughed out by the time the preceding act was thru with them. The result was that De Vine and Gould had to work hard to get their laughs. These two have been doing this same vehicle for several years and could stand some new material, particularly in the medley. The street outfit worn by the woman in the closing bit, in one, is one of the most attractive we've seen and adds much to her personality.

Nat Nazarro and Buck and Bubbles, the two colored boys, had things pretty much their own way. They are doing practically the same routine that has been reviewed often before in these columns. They stopped the show.

The Three Longfields closed the show with a well-staged acrobatic and gymnastic routine, with some good novelty stunts presented.

B. S. Moss' Coliseum, New York

(Reviewed Thursday Evening, April 2)

The slump theatricals suffer during Lent has seriously affected the business of this up-town stand, which had a scant audience on hand, and a cold one besides. Not until the fifth act—Walsh and Ellis—had gone on did the auditors warm up. Aunt Jemima having a hard time of it in fourth. The show is not a crack one, lacking in comedy, which it makes up in spectacle and novelty. Walsh and Ellis were the applause hit. Others standing out in the hand honors were Aunt Jemima and Jack Joyce's Horses.

Irma, Halmus and Milo opened in a posing-acrobatic novelty not along conventional lines. The girl breaks up the routine with a couple dance specialties, one a ballet, the other an Egyptian number, while the men feature in hand-to-hand bits of a passing order. The act fared quite well despite the frigid audience.

Foley and Jerome followed in a hodge-podge of song, patter and steps. Their efforts do not rise above the average, and Foley was not so sure of his steps in the hoofing bits. He made considerable of an impression on a solo of My Kid, however, which to the ordinary audience is like peanuts to an elephant. As a whole the act creates no unusual stir.

Nevis and Gordon, doing a skit by Billy K. Wells entitled House Sense, the material of which is below the Wells standard, fared fairly well until the finish—then with a knockabout clowning bit climaxed a good hand. Their closing is their only redemption. The team appears to be worthy of better material than the present vehicle provides.

Aunt Jemima warbled her ditties while the two chef-clad ladies in her support tickled the ivories, but the audience was sparing in its enthusiasm for the buxom entertainer, and she bowed away after two encores (not deserved) to discouraging returns. When all is said and done, Aunt Jemima isn't a front-rank entertainer, tho she is a good deal above the average on the big time.

Walsh and Ellis won the audience in the next-to-closing spot with their titillating ditty, Ours Is a Nice House, minutes in full; and nearly stopped the show. This was really the first sign of any great applause.

Jack Joyce and His Horses closed. The

Review

In their Nifties of 1925 Hurtig & Seamon have given to the Columbia Circuit a scenic production, gowning and costuming that fulfills all the requirements of the Columbia Amusement Company for a classy, colorful presentation that evidences costliness and attractiveness and yet without it can be justly termed a typical old-fashioned slap-stick burlesque show of the bit-and-number type.

Danny Murphy is being featured and fully entitled to be, for Danny, like old wine, improves with age, and never have we seen this clever and inimitable comeique to as good advantage as we did this afternoon. While he continues to use the same somewhat grotesque facial makeup and Dutch mannerism he makes more frequent changes of classy comedy clothes than in seasons gone by, and there wasn't a minute from the first uprising of the curtain until its final fall that he wasn't in it, making clean and clever comedy that evoked continuous laughter and repeated applause.

Harry Leff, a short-statured cocomique of the typical Hebrew characterization, has a likable, ever-smiling personality, set off to good advantage by crepe face and frequent changes of comedy clothes. While he makes an excellent foil for Murphy in their scenes together, he at the same time distinguishes himself along with Murphy and with others in his each and every scene, and if he doesn't make the grade as a featured comeique in the near future it will prove lack of discernment on the part of some producing manager.

Jack Coyle and Will Rogers are sharing honors as character straight men, as straight men in classy attire and as character men in attire apropos to their different scenes, in which they prove themselves able actors, aiding materially the comeiques in garnering laughter and applause.

Violet McKee, an intellectual, refined-appearing, bobbed, brown-haired ingenue, is a thoroughly seasoned actress in scenes, and in several specialties proves title to a vocalist who can put sufficient pathos in her lyrics to give a sentimental thrill to the stoniest heart among her auditors. As a dancing specialist she can cartwheel, split, high kick and put over a one-foot dance with all the gracefulness of a young fawn.

Mabel White, a pretty-faced, modelesque-formed, bobbed brunet, works well in scenes and sings well in leading numbers, and this is specially applicable to her strut number, in which her modelesque form in silk tights exhibited a flash of form admirable.

Lillian Frier, a pretty, somewhat petite, bobbed brunet soubret with an ever-smiling face, was full of pep and personality thruout the entire presentation, working in scenes like an able actress, with a vivaciousness seldom equaled by soubrets on the circuit.

Eisle Gregory, a dazzling-dressed doll type of ingenue, was admirable while working in scenes, and more so in a specialty that included the playing of a violin while dancing without missing a note on the bow, followed by piano playing and singing in a sweetly modulated voice, and dancing in which she was the personification of gracefulness and versatility seldom equaled by one of her very apparent youth.

Honor and Smiles, two apparently very young juveniles, appeared in several scenes, likewise in a dancing specialty with intricate steps new to burlesque, and in the second part of the show appeared with Ingenue McKee in a scene and dancing specialty, one of the boys putting over a remarkable imitation of Jim Toney's knock-kneed dance which fully merited the round of applause given him on his exit. The same is applicable to the boys as a team and Miss McKee as an individual dancer.

The second part opened with a cabaret set of scenic splendor with an act that was not programmed, but on making inquiries we learned that it would be billed as Tessie Sherman and Her Boy Friends, with the six boy friends as accompanists on stringed instruments, piano and xylophone, for the featured specialty of Miss Sherman, a dazzling blond, ever-smiling, dimple-cheeked, modelesque-formed singer of blues, and in a grotesque makeup with a black mask and black gloves, doing a Tony Brown dance accompanied by her boy friends in teams. Miss Sherman's personality, talent and ability were only equaled by her notable versatility, and the same is applicable to her boy friends as masters of the various instruments with which they blended in harmony.

The choristers in the classy, colorful costumes and silk tights, dancing ensembles and musical numbers, sang in harmony, danced in unison and proved themselves a credit to their instructor, programed as Dan Dody, and their pleasing personalities were really captivating.

The presentation opened with a prolog, followed by a burlesque hold-up bit on the Bowery; a scene at the Waldorf, with special numbers; a comedy scene at the Manhattan Club by Straight Coyle, Comiques Murphy and Leff with the feminine principals; the automobile of Comiques Murphy and Leff with Ingenue McKee and Soubrette Frier, with a closing scene entitled The Land of Poppy, with Characterman Bramsky in Chinese attire singing in harmony with Ingenue Gregory a la light opera, and seldom have we seen a scene in light opera more picturesque in its scenic effects or more appealing in its vocalism than in the finale of this presentation.

In the second part, in the cabaret scene, Comiques Murphy and Leff with Soubrette White and "Chink" Bramsky put over the royal china-smashing bit for far more laughter and applause that we have ever seen in other shows presenting the same bit.

Comiques Murphy and Leff and Straights Coyle and Rogers as a vocalistic quartet sang in harmony for encores.

Taking it in its entirety the production combines class, cleanliness and comedy of the real burlesque type, with big-time specialties, new and picturesque numbers so admirable in a burlesque show.

ALFRED NELSON (NELSE).

offering scored an emphatic hit and it is the first time the writer has seen it working as it should. At the Hippodrome, where it was reviewed on two occasions, the horses displayed reluctance in going thru their routine. Here they worked nicely, the six equines closing the act to a fine hand.

which went over in good style. Nineteen minutes in full; two bows.

Ben Nee One, native son of San Francisco's Chinatown, is the headline feature. He has the rare talent of a Chinese comedian who can do Irish roles. Three song numbers, including Sally and Kelly in good voice and clever entertainment were well repaid in applause. The climax of his vocal repertoire is the rendition of the chorus of a popular song in "pidgin Chinese". Ten minutes, in one; three bows.

Dave Castello and Company have a pretentious one-ring equestrian act with three big horses, a clowning rider, a clever equestrienne and a ring master. The riding takes well, and there is much snappy action. A mechanic and four "vounteers" gave the necessary comedy to the riding school. A pleasing close to a surf-bit of dancing. Ten minutes in full; one curtain.

Proctor's 58th St., N. Y.

(Reviewed Thursday Evening, April 2)

Seven-act bill, well varied, with comedy predominating as it should be. The Gypsy Idyll, an abbreviated musical show, proved to be a sure-fire hit with its excellent dancers, musicians and singers.

Three Armstrongs open the show with their bicycle turn. The Miss with them does fairly well in the two songs she did at the start, while the straight and comedian chaps have all kinds of bikes to show the customers.

Beatrice Doane, soprano, has worked herself up a novelty in this turn. Her change of costume displaying an attractive pair of limbs helps her immensely.

Sport, by North and Company, a one-act play dealing with a mean old grouch who doesn't want his son to marry his competitor's daughter and the young chap who has lost all his cash playing Wall Street, snapped this audience right into applause. There are four persons in the turn, two men and two girls.

Dobbs, Clark and Ray were here again in their rube act. Two lads and a girl that have some good falls in the end even if a lot of their stuff was nuffed by the crowd. They exercise that time-worn bit, While Strutting Thru the Park One Day, to open the turn. This proved unsuccessful, the audience not registering a thing on it. The lads have a lot of byplay themselves thereafter for quite a spell, but the stuff did not seem to take. Gag after gag was used, but most of them dropped right back in their laps. The girl has a nonsensical bit which might be changed also. The business of laborer's rubber shoes that are bespurred does not show any fun possibilities.

The Gypsy Idyll, a scene laid along a roadside with four girls and three chaps, is a most attractive offering. They all harmonize exquisitely and their playing and dances are exceptional. Every effort was applauded and justly so.

Van and O'Donnell, a comedian and straight fellow, the former in an impossible greenish-gray trick suit and oversized cap and the latter wearing a policeman's uniform, stir up some real humor for their time on the boards. The cop has a clear tenor voice, while the comedian injects fun for all.

Jutta Valey and Company, two fellows and a girl, have worked up something original in their acrobatic novelty. Their iron-jaw holds—there are four in all—never failed them as applause getters. Every trick performed as was on the original idea and the peculiar arrangement for a horizontal bar is commendable. The trick where one chap supports the weight of the others by ropes suspended from his shoulders made them sit up in their seats. The finale finds them all swinging around due to the base of their bar contrivance having a rope wound around it and which is extricated from off-stage. The two men are swinging by an iron-jaw hold and the girl is suspended by a rope that holds her under the neck.

costume changes for every bit. His imitations, excepting that of the violin, are good. Seven minutes, special in two; four bows.

A Hilarious Hodge-Podge is the billing for the amusing skit of Joe Keno and Rosie Green, and is all of that. They do everything from a travesty on East Linn, a la Ben Turpin, to intricate Russian dances, and do all well. Keno is an ideal vaude artiste, and Miss Green is clever as a dancer and comedienne. Their style of humor was well liked. Twelve minutes, special in three; three bows.

Houdini received a hearty reception on his appearance and opened with a brief screening from one of his pictures, in which a collision of planes in midair took place. He performed the Indian Needle trick, the exchange of himself and a lady assistant in a locked, sealed and corded trunk and finished with an escape from a strait-jacket provided by local police. The audience asked for more, and he had to return, closing with the history of his expose of "Margery", the Boston medium.

Harry Jans and Harold Whalen created a small riot, their pleasing personalities doing a lot to put them over. Whalen is a nifty hooper, but will do well to eliminate suggestive movements. Jans in his flapper hit made the house roar. The team leans heavily on comedy material of others, especially Joe Cook's "How are you feeling?" piece of business. Twenty minutes, in one; three bows.

The Five Spinettas, upside-down dancers, have a novel routine of simultaneous dances on specially built apparatus. The tango up and down the long steps was neat. The two men and three girls finish with inverted dancing that is perfect for rhythm and co-ordination. Eight minutes, special set in full.

Pathe News, Acrop Full and Topics of the Day comprised the cinema offering.

GEORGE PIDDINGTON.

Vaudevillians Vaccinated

Vancouver, B. C., April 4.—In compliance with an order of the Board of Health all vaudeville artists visiting here this week had to be vaccinated. This will undoubtedly work a hardship on acrobatic and gymnastic acts playing here while the order is in force.

PRIVILEGES OF K.-A. BOOKING RESTORED TO GEORGE CHOOS

Producer Reinstated After Suspension of Six Weeks Caused by Playing "Fables of 1924" With Loew Circuit Under Title of "Century Revue"

NEW YORK, April 6.—George Choos has been officially reinstated on the Keith-Albee Circuit, which recently rebuked him for having played one of his attractions in an opposition house under another name. Edwin G. Lauder, Jr., vice-president of the circuit, notified the producer, who incidentally books his own attractions, that he may enjoy the privileges extended to him prior to the opposition booking so long as none of the booking rules of the organization are violated.

Choos was reprimanded for his failure to ask permission of the Keith-Albee office to book his act, Fables of 1924, with the Loew Circuit, in which he admitted he was wrong, and the rumor persistent along Broadway during the past six weeks that the English producer had lost his franchise with the Keith-Albee Circuit is therefore dispelled.

Summary action on the part of the Keith-Albee organization, more in the form of a warning to Choos and others as well rather than a suspension, resulted from the booking of the Fables act into Loew's State Theater, Cleveland, under the title of The Century Revue, and the playing of the offering under the same name the following week at Loew's State Theater here. The Loew Theater in Cleveland is next door to the Palace Theater of the Keith-Albee chain.

When word spread around Times Square that Choos had lost his franchise, it was accepted as true. (Checking up, however, it was found that Choos' act, Bedova and Company, had been held over for a second week at the Hippodrome, and his new production, Enchantment, was being given time up in New England where it was breaking in. Had his franchise been taken from him these additional bookings would not have been given.)

Vaudeville observers finally came to the opinion that the report was more in the nature of a "scare" for other Keith-Albee producers and agents who this season have been booking their attractions on other circuits with impunity so far as their relations with the Keith-Albee office are concerned.

The booking of the Fables act with Loew is not the first instance of so-called breach of booking rules. Choos' other act, The Lord of Fantasy, played Loew's State here about a year ago under the title of The Parisian Revue.

Pantages Secures Proctor Attraction

Amateur-Talent Show Is Annual Event in Newark—Considered Big Draw

NEW YORK, April 6.—For the first time in many years Proctor's Palace Theater, Newark, N. J., will not play the annual production of the Greenwood School children, the Pantages Circuit having outbid the Proctor house for the attraction. The Greenwood School's annual show will be given at the Pantages Theater in Newark for the entire week, beginning today.

The talented kiddies of the Greenwood School in New Jersey have been the big annual attraction at the Proctor house every year. It is known to be one of the biggest drawing cards in Newark and generally runs for almost an hour. The kiddies are presented in a big revue, special scenery and costumes being built each year for the show. They usually were booked in conjunction with the vaudeville show at the Proctor theater. The Pantages house is following the same method, having them close a six-act bill, five being the regular vaudeville attractions.

New Slapstick Act

NEW YORK, April 6.—Another slapstick offering, called The House Painters, is being prepared for the two-a-day by Arthur Anderson, who this season presented the novelty act in China. Charles Mack, late feature of the musical, Innocent Eve; Joe Laurie (not the Joe Laurie recently in Plain Jane) and Japie Murdoch are the three members of the cast. The act is in rehearsal now and will open in a week or 10 days under the direction of Charles Furey.

Deszo Retter To Sail

Registration Bill Thru House of Commons

LONDON, April 4 (Special Cable to The Billboard).—The committee state of the Registration of Theatrical Performers Bill got thru the House of Commons April 1, thanks to the magnificent piloting of Sir Walter de Frece. The Home Office has put in some drastic alterations, which were accepted by Monte Bayly on behalf of the Variety Artists' Federation, whose registration bill it is, as Bayly aims at getting some sort of registration even though the result of the bill will not be as watertight as was originally intended. It is certain, however, that a great deal of discussion will occur on the report state after Easter, as some members complain the bill is making new crimes with new penalties. Nevertheless, its passing into law seems very hopeful, as the general feeling of Parliament is that this legislation is absolutely necessary.

Baker Pupils Have Act

NEW YORK, April 6.—Herman Seigal and George Barker, pupils of Walter Baker's dancing school, will open shortly in a new act which will consist of novelty dances put on for them by Baker. They will open at Poli's Theater, Bridgeport, Conn., April 10.

Leona Thompson, another of Baker's pupils, also will start in her own act on the Orpheum Circuit shortly. Baker's activities have increased to such an extent that it has been made necessary for him to enlarge his studios at 300 Seventh avenue. He has installed a musical instruction department under the direction of Daniel D. White.

ROONEY AND BENT WILL DO NEW BIG REVUE

NEW YORK, April 6.—Pat Rooney and Marion Bent will discard Shamrock as their vaudeville vehicle at the end of this season and open in an entirely new one next season. Rooney states that he intends to have it elaborated on for a musical comedy in three acts during the course of the winter. He also states that he is certain that this one will meet a better fate than Love Birds, which was an elaboration of Blags of Smoke, his first big vaudeville revue.

Bee Jung Back in Vaude.

Bee Jung, sensational aerialist, who a couple of years ago suffered an injury to her left ankle in a fall from a trapeze while with the James Dutton Society Circus acts, and who returned to vaudeville March 9, opening at Keith's Theater, Philadelphia, is playing a series of engagements in the Southwest that will probably lead into a long run of big time in the West.

Eighteen boys will be seen in the act, which opens shortly.

Harry Marlow To Visit United States

LONDON, April 4 (Special Cable to The Billboard).—Harry Marlow, secretary of the Variety Artists' Benevolent Fund has accepted the invitation of E. F. Albee to be his guest during N. V. A. drive-week and sails on the Olympic April 8. He hopes to return on the Mauretania April 22.

The N. V. A. B. F. committee thought the occasion for Marlow's visit fit and proper in consideration of Mr. Albee's generosity to the N. V. A. B. F. Marlow will be located at the N. V. A. Club during his stay in New York.

W. H. McCarthy, accountant of the Variety Artists' Federation and the N. V. A. B. F. and formerly Scribe Rat of the Grand Order of Water Rats, is accompanying Marlow on pleasure bent and also to renew acquaintance with many American artistic friends. He also hopes to locate at the N. V. A.

George Dagley's Mother Dead

KANSAS CITY, April 4.—The local office of The Billboard has just been notified of the death of Mrs. Mary Cornell, mother of George E. Dagley, well-known vaudeville actor, formerly of the team of Curtis and Dagley, black-face comedians. Mrs. Cornell died April 2 and burial took place the next day, interment being in Mount Washington Cemetery, here. Mr. Dagley is requested to get into immediate communication with his sister, Mrs. Irene Richardson, 8019 Independence road, this city, in whose home his mother died, or with his former partner, Floyd D. Curtis, at the local office of The Billboard.

Boston Dancers Featured At New York Keith House

NEW YORK, April 6.—The Braggiotti Sisters, prominent Boston society girls and former pupils of Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, were the feature attraction at Keith's Theater last week in a dance offering with a group of dancers from the Boushawn school, which they maintain in Boston. The production was specially lighted with electric headdress and other novelty effects created by Gordon M. Leland.

Reddie "Reckless" Leonard To Open Soon on Loew Time

At present Leonard is playing a few dates for the Gus Sun Office.

Mrs. William J. Lutton, formerly Ethel Farrand, of the dancing team of Meredith and Farrand, recently opened the Rosamond Studios of Dancing at Allentown, Pa. Rosamond Grace Frey, popular local dancer, is associate teacher. Miss Frey has been under the direction of Mrs. Lutton for several years and has appeared as an added attraction at many of the leading picture houses in that section of the State.

Changes in New Act

NEW YORK, April 6.—The novelty act, Who's Who and Why, is to be known in the future as Jack and Harry Tower in their 1925 Edition of a Comedy of Errors. The Tower Twins were featured in the act when it opened as Who's Who and Why. Ethel Tale and Malcolm Barrett have been added to the cast, and the act opens under its new title at Keith's, Jersey City, Thursday.

Afterpiece for Orpheum

NEW YORK, April 6.—Chain and Archer and Jack Redmond and Company have been routed over the Orpheum Circuit to play the same bills, beginning April 9 in Sioux City, Ia. Chain and Archer will put on an afterpiece in the Redmond act.

Independent Houses Are Seeking Novelties

"Making Movies" and Musical Tabloids Are Popular "Different" Acts

NEW YORK, April 5.—Independent vaudeville theaters are now seeking novelties aside from the usual run of vaudeville acts with which to break up the straight run of acts generally offered. Among the different types of attractions booked, to replace the customary vaudeville bills, are such as Making Movies, which is now being done by Edwin August, former motion picture actor and director. August is appearing in various independent houses booked by Jack Linder, and is taking motion pictures of local patrons, who are used in a special plot presented in all the houses. The week following August's appearance at the theater the motion pictures of the local aspirants to the screen are shown at the house, which thus gets a double play on the one act for business.

Another different type of attraction which independents are vying their vaudeville shows with are musical tabloids. Brooklyn Follies, produced by Jack Howard, has been booked into many theaters usually playing independent vaudeville and is being booked thru Linder. After playing the tab, the houses return to their usual vaudeville policy, but are asking for other novelties with which to vary their type of entertainment.

Kettering To Europe?

CHICAGO, April 4.—When Aaron J. Jones recently offered all of the executives of the Jones, Linnick & Schaefer staff a month's vacation on full pay this summer the resultant "rise" got to Ralph Kettering, who began to see things across the water. Now he is undecided whether to put on a play in the Loop this summer as he had planned or go to Europe for a month. Showmen predict he will go to London and Paris.

"Find" Makes First Record

NEW YORK, April 4.—Billy (Yuke) Carpenter, "Gid" from Providence and featured in Alex Gerber's latest production act, Tenor Topics, made his first record this week for the Victor Company. He did a novel arrangement of the St. Louis Blues, imitating a band. Negotiations are under way for further records by Carpenter.

Publisher Sues Over Donaldson Song Rights

Louis Bernstein Declares That Staff Writer Wrote Songs While in His Employ and Placed Them With Remick

NEW YORK, April 4.—An enjoining and restraining order is sought in the Supreme Court by the music publishing firm, Shapiro, Bernstein & Co., Inc., concerning the songs, My Best Girl, Just-foxyan Davis and My Own Backyard, now in the catalog of Jerome H. Remick & Co.

Louis Bernstein, head of Shapiro, Bernstein & Co., Inc., declares that Walter Donaldson wrote the first number and collaborated on the latter two while he (Donaldson) was in the employ of Shapiro, Bernstein & Co., and therefore the songs belonged to that corporation. Bernstein asserted further that he had taken the matter up with the Remick Company before starting a legal action and explained the entire situation to the defendant company.

Jacob Goodstein, attorney for the Remick Company, sets forth another version to the effect that Donaldson refuted the Shapiro, Bernstein & Co. claim by saying that he never was in the employ of that company and that he was a free lance selling his numbers to anyone who would buy them.

Briefs have been submitted to the court by both sides. The Remick lawyer asked that certain clauses be omitted in the Shapiro, Bernstein claim and he was successful in part.

The case is now in the hands of Supreme Court Justice Lydon and both sides are awaiting his decision. Judge Mullan denied the motion as to preclusion and as to one of the items and granted it otherwise. He issued an order to serve bills within 10 days after service of entry of the order.

BALLROOM ACTS TAKING FIRST PLACE AS POPULAR OFFERING

Classy Dancers With or Without Own Music From Night Clubs in Greatest Demand Since Vogue of Castles--Replacing Straight Orchestra Craze

NEW YORK, April 6.—Vaudeville bookers and patrons seem to have decided on one definite type of entertainment to succeed the rapidly dying craze for orchestra and jazz bands, with the result that ballroom dancers, particularly from night clubs and productions, are in demand. Not since the Castles were last seen together in vaudeville have as many ballroom dancers been playing the local theaters, or as many negotiating for bookings. Last week, at the Hippodrome alone, were two ballroom dance acts on the same bill, being Adelaide and Hughes and Addison Fowler and Florence Tamara.

The popularity of these dancers at their various night clubs is largely responsible for the increasing vogue of that type of entertainment in vaudeville. Clifton Webb and Mary Hay, from Ciro's, scored such a hit at the Palace last week that they have been held over for the current week. The De Marcos, who were formerly in vaudeville in unimportant spots, offtimes opening productions and this week are one of the big features at the Hippodrome. Sicile and Mills returned to the big time with a new dance, this time assisted by the Knickerbocker Grill Orchestra. Moss and Fontana, from the Club Mirador, are going into vaudeville shortly. Cortez and Peggy, from the Trocadero Club, are also candidates for the two-day. Edythe Baker, who has won a big reputation as a pianist, is now one of the recognized ballroom dancers of the city, and is the partner of William Reardon at the Club Lido. She will be seen with him in a vaudeville act, it is reported. Reardon was formerly dancing partner to Irene Castle.

Most of these dancers carry orchestras with them, but merely as a background. The orchestras are generally the same ones that play for them at the various clubs in which they appear. Incidentally, those playing at clubs who are going into vaudeville are permitted to double during their vaudeville engagements to the club from which they come, altho the rule regarding artists who originally play vaudeville and wish to double in a club at the same time, is strictly adhered to.

Maitland & Bowman's Show

Mr. Maitland will again direct the show, and Julius T. Bowman will be general manager. James A. Curry will be advance man and H. C. Ritchie will assume the position of secretary and treasurer.

Miller and Fears Together

New York, April 5.—Harry Miller and Peggy Fears deny the rumor to the effect that they have split their vaudeville partnership. Miller explains the report, saying that there is a dancer in Louie the 14th by the name of Peggy Fears, and a Harry Miller in vaudeville with the team of Miller and Wilson. This coincidence in names gave rise to a rumor that the original Miller and Fears had dissolved partnership.

Eddie Conrad Has Act

New York, April 6.—Eddie Conrad, featured comedian with Hassard Short's Ritz Revue, is returning to vaudeville in a new act with Marotta Nally as his partner. Conrad was last seen with Eddie and Birdie Conrad in vaudeville, and Miss Nally was featured with Dave Schooler in his offering.

Like all of the other Tuesday night talent, Peterson is employed in the company shops. Other theatrical people now on the Beloit broadcasting staff are Dave MacCulloch, former tab, and vaudeville actor, and Fred Lhotak, who is directing the Fairbanks-Morse Concert Band. Many old-time circus and travelling band men are in the personnel of the band.

Independent Houses To Again Use Normal Number of Acts

New York, April 6.—A large number of houses which eliminated vaudeville from their policies for the Lenten season have notified their bookers that they will resume for the week of April 17, following Easter Week. J.; and Auditorium, Haverstraw, N. Y.

Vaude. Dates Help Cabaret Business

Night Club Artistes Who Play in the Two-a-Day Draw New Patrons to Their Resorts

New York, April 6.—The increasing popularity of a number of high-class night clubs, where business has been better during the past month, is ascribed to the fact that many of the featured artistes from these clubs are doubling in vaudeville at the same time. While it is known that vaudeville bookers of the big time will not permit artistes who have gained popularity thru vaudeville to double at night clubs while under contract, the bookers will play night club artistes who secured their popularity in these cabarets and arrange with the management of the night club to have them double.

Most of these artistes are secured at smaller salaries than would have to be paid should the particular night-club star decide to play vaudeville only. Since a great many night-club attractions work on a percentage basis, they are glad to secure vaudeville contracts because of the advertisement for their cabarets and because of the increased prestige they secure. Harry Richman has brought practically the entire force of his Club Richman, even including waiters and bus boys, into his vaudeville act and is said to be getting a salary for the entire offering which he ordinarily would laugh at. His act is billed as A Night in the Club Richman, and during the course of the act he manages to get a few remarks in regarding his club.

Clifton Webb and Mary Hay are also doubling from their vaudeville with Dave Bernie's Band, which is billed as Dave Bernie and his Club Ciro's Orchestra, getting in a mention of the club there. Moss and Fontana, Cortez and Peggy and other night-club stars are coming in.

Many of the better-class night clubs are anxious to secure vaudeville engagements for their stars, owing to a reluctance on their part to pay for radio advertising as some of the other cabarets are doing. This is because the managements are uncertain as to whether radio will reach the type of patrons they are anxious to secure, or whether it may just turn out to be a waste of money.

Lieut. Ferdinando's Orchestra Opens New Picture House

New York, April 6.—Lieut. Felix Ferdinando's Havana Orchestra, which recently closed a tour of Middle West motion picture houses, returned here from Morgantown, W. Va., where it opened the New Metropolitan Theater, said to be one of the most elaborate independent movie houses in that part of the country.

Vaudeville and picture dates will be played by the orchestra until Decoration Day, when Lieut. Ferdinando will start his summer season at his dance hall, Pine Island Park, Manchester, N. H.

Sues Leader for Commissions

New York, April 4.—A bill of particulars and general denial has been filed by Attorneys Kandler & Goldstein in behalf of their client, Irving Aaronson, in answer to Laurence Craner, former New York American cabaret columnist, who is suing Aaronson for five per cent of his weekly salary of $2,000 as alleged booking commission. Aaronson, who is directing the Commanders in Elsie Janis' Pieces of 1925, and at Janssens' new Hofbrau, says he did business with George Buck, brother of Gene, the composer, and that Craner has no legitimate grounds for his demands.

Musicians' Curb Raided

New York, April 4.—The "Musicians' Curb Market", at 46th street and Broadway, was visited yesterday by the local landlords, who made a wholesale pinch, nabbing about 30 of the corner delegates for "blocking traffic". Magistrate Bernard J. Bouras suspended sentence in Night Court with a warning.

ORCHESTRAS AND CABARETS

Big Hotel Jobs Require Too Much of False Front Say Musicians

There is a deep-rooted aversion among many New York musicians against playing hotel jobs, particularly at the new and high-class hostilities. This is ascribed to the "high-hatty" attitude necessary to hold such a job, and the false dignity of everybody concerned.

Leaders particularly are susceptible to the condition, except "ritzy", often assuming the mannerisms of the nouveau riche immediately upon starting a hotel engagement. At one of the largest and most upstage of the Park Avenue hotels a few days ago simply because the leader's attitude had become, as one expressed it, "nauseating".

According to report, his kow-tow tactics, fear of losing the job and eagerness to climb socially had made him a laughing stock to his employers and unbearable to his men.

Chicago Notes

Chicago, April 2.—The seventh edition of Frisolov Frolics opened at the Frolics Cafe Monday night. Twenty-five people have parts in this production staged by Roy Mack. Olive O'Neill and Babe Kane have been held over for this revue. In the east with them are Margo Ruffaro, Fred Hildebrand, Burdy and Noway, La Pierre Sisters, Phil Furman and the Century Serenaders. Ralph Gallet, manager of the Frolics, has had the dance floor raised eight inches above the regular seating floor so diners will get a better view of the dancers.

New Terrace Bill

The Sheikhs of Araby, a big acrobatic act; solos by Little Caruso, tenor, and eccentric dances by Harvey and Colon were features of the new bill shown in Terrace Garden Monday evening.

New Rendezvous Talent

Johnny Coster and Amelia Rich, dancers, featuring an apache number, are a new addition to the Rendezvous Cafe program. Charley Straight's Orchestra plays the dance music.

Buck Again at Trianon

Berne Buck and his music makers played a return engagement at the Trianon Monday night. They alternated with Del Lampe and His Trianon Orchestra in furnishing dance music. The management announces that the Sunday matinees are greatly increasing in popularity among the younger element.

Linder Out of Hospital

Chicago, April 3.—After being laid up a week in Michael Reese Hospital with a bad attack of "flu", A. H. (Hank) Linder is back on the job at the Music Corporation of America. He is all set now to take the Coon Sanders world-famous Kansas City Night Hawks on a coast-to-coast tour starting April 12 at Davenport, Ia.

New York Notes

Joseph L. Paul, manager of Woodmanston Inn, has arranged for an extra broadcasting night for Ben Selvin and His Orchestra, playing at that popular motor resort. The boys will broadcast, hereafter, on Wednesdays, Thursday and Sundays, the mid-week date just added being a midnight performance.

Jack Wheaton, whose band has been featured for some time at Jimmy Kellie's and Tommy Lyman's Greenwich Village place, will open next week at the Club de Fayo, Baltimore. No successor has as yet been named.

Billy Burton, who last week won a radio popularity contest conducted by a metropolitan daily, has closed at Peter's Blue Hour, on West 49th street, and will hereafter be featured at the Club Fontenac, formerly Healy's, at 66th street and Columbus avenue. According to report, the Burton aggregation will be the musical attraction at Luna Park, Coney Island, this summer.

Much favorable comment has been created in local music circles by Jerry Antoline's Orchestra, playing at the Tango Palace, 48th street and Broadway. The band is one of the "hottest" in these parts, its unique style of delivery being reminiscent of the old Livery Stable Blues era. The boys are versatile and good-looking, and expect a recording contract shortly.

Irving Aaronson and His Commanders, featured at Janssens' new Hofbrau Haus, and in Elsie Janis' Pieces of 1925, played three benefits Sunday night, April 5, in addition to their regular appearance at the Hofbrau. The Commanders obliged the Cheese Club, Treasurers' Club and Ethical Culture Society at their various benefits in New York and Brooklyn theaters.

The Bernie Foyer Players, an orchestra assembled by Bernie Foyer, former Berlin orchestra man and now booking on his own, will open at the Everglades next Monday.

Chas. A. Matson, colored artists' representative, has returned to his offices in the Gayety Theater Building after an illness of several weeks which confined him in a local hospital.

John B. Hudgins, colored eccentric dancer, appearing in the Club Alabam' Revue, was fined $100 and $10 costs for failing to appear in court when ordered to by Justice Meyer of the City Court. The firm of Kandler & Goldstein, attorneys, was awarded a judgment of $1,034.59 against Hudgins for services rendered during an action brought by B. C. Whitney, of the Shubert company, and it was concerning this the dancer was ordered to appear. The court ordered that the fine must be paid to Kandler & Goldstein or stand committed. Also it was stipulated that Hudgins must appear April 7 for examination. At this time the law firm will go into the assets of the stepper to try and collect the judgment which the court decided on last February.

School Supervisors Praise Jazz

Kansas City, Mo., April 4.—"Put a violin, a cello or even a saxophone in the hands of modern youth and the bandit's revolver will be scrapped. Give flappers an acquaintance with Beethoven or Wagner and they won't be so chummy with Rudolph, the cake-eater." The foregoing, in short, is the opinion of 3,000 public school music supervisors convening here,

NEW TURNS AND RETURNS

Louise Glauum

Reviewed Tuesday matinee, March 31, at Keith's 81st Street Theater, New York. Style—Monolog. Setting—Special interior, in full stage. Time—Nine minutes.

If Louise Glauum stays in vaudeville very long it won't be because she has a good act. The banal vehicle in which she makes her debut in the two-a-day, The Web, is a veritable labyrinth of mediocre lines, and since no author's name appears in connection with it the thought comes that it was either written by Miss Glauum herself or slapped together by others at the 11th hour—probably over a cup of tea.

Miss Glauum does as well as she can with the poor material she has at her disposal, but at best doesn't strike one as being a good vaudeville performer. With better material she may prove highly pleasing, however. One point in her favor is the clearness of her diction.

In The Web her good stage voice goes for naught. She is required to change the dialect according to the telephone conversations which are the sum and substance of the offering. In fact, she plays the skit through almost with the recollection of the telephone in her hand.

The ringing of the instrument ushers her on the stage. Then the ennuil begins. She gabs in typical flapper fashion with "Mazie", telling the "goin'" friend she has married a man—fat, bald and 50, but rich—and that her erstwhile swain, referred to as Charlie, is no more. Receiver is hung up and phone rings again. This time it's the city editor of The Evening Journal. He wants an interview (which is unusual when city news reporters are employed for that purpose), and the petitioner affects a high-brow voice in her conversation. The next caller is the husband. What a stream of baby-talk gush follows! Last, but not least, Charlie, the ditched one, is on the other end of the wire. This time the girl does the calling. It seems Charlie is about to separate his brains from their moorings as the call from the heart-breaking sweetie arrives. As she realizes he has the gun in his hand and is about to pull the damaging trigger she waxes emotional, as they do in the movies, and then finally her ear catches the tell-tale report of the gun. Slumping into a chair with the murmur of "He's killed himself," we have the act. R. C.

"Brevities"

Reviewed Thursday evening, April 2, at Loew's American Roof Theater, New York. Style—Song and dance revue. Setting—In one and full stage, specials. Time—Eighteen minutes.

Aside from the roughness in this act which is due to its being very new, the big fault with the offering is the very apparent cheapness of the costumes. With the exception of those used in toe dances and a Spanish number at the finish, all of them seem to have been secured with an eye to spending as little money as possible. While economy is a good thing in presenting acts, at the same time it's poor policy to practice it to such an extent that it becomes noticeable to the layman and hurts the offering as a result.

The worst costumes were those worn by the two girls who opened the act, in one, with a boy in a sailor costume. The "costumes" looked like practice bloomers with a bit of trimming tied around them—not sewed, but tied. One girl in particular seemed to be hard to fit. This was the solo dancer, who is clever in her work, but only in one toe number did her costume fit. And this was because it consisted merely of tights and something around her chest. In all her others, the bodies were misfits.

Two boys and three girls are seen in the offering. One boy has an ordinary tenor, which will pass on the small time. The other does dancing. The singer also supports the solo dancer in some of her numbers and does it very well. The two girls will do better after they get to dancing more in unison than they did when reviewed. When it gets to playing better it will make a nice flash for the small-time theaters, provided better costumes are added. G. J. H.

Herman Timberg and His Girlie-Gig Revue

Reviewed Tuesday matinee, March 31, at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theater, New York. Style—Revue. Setting—In one and full stage. Time—Twenty-two minutes.

That craving for something new has caused Herman Timberg and the management of Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theater to try out a musical revue this week, which co-ordinates the acts presented and the chorus of 10 girls working with Tim-berg, plus Mabel Burke, who has been a drawing card for this theater ever so long.

Timberg opens the show and after some business of bringing on the band in his brother's art to participate in the overture, Herman brings the chorus, which is Earl Lindsay's aggregation from the Strand Roof, in a comical number and they all razz him. In fact he is severely bawled out and off the stage, the girls continuing to inflict epithets on his head after he has gone.

They go into a routine of dances, each one impersonating a well-known hooper. The girls are all adept at dancing and their comely forms help accentuate their art. Nothing is overlooked in terpsichory for even a number of toe steps is exhibited not to overlook Pat Rooney's diversion.

At this juncture the other four turns do their stuff, the Lindsay chorus doing something in each act. Harry Coleman, introduced by Timberg as "that low-voiced roughneck", comes in for a lot of the play.

When the bill reaches Herman Timberg's spot quite a colorful impression is gathered with all of the fair maidens on the stage. Timberg has two sweet little things with him who do specialties, one shaking a mean shimmy and the other showing off all the latest jazz steps.

The chorus girls come in on the last refrain of each one of the specialty dancers with Timberg on and off snapping nifty chatter so that plenty of humor is injected.

On the whole the purpose of the innovation is achieved. Something new has been added to vaudeville and Timberg, who never fails to get his audience, is ably suitable for the part he plays.

The Gypsy Idyll

Reviewed Thursday evening, April 4, at Proctor's 58th Street Theater, New York. Style—Musical Gypsy fantasy. Setting—Full stage. Time—Fifteen minutes.

There are four girls and three men in this act that play, dance and sing in a most pleasing manner. They are all accomplished musicians and the Gypsy setting is both colorful and artistic not to mention a novel manner to bring out a turn of this kind. The scene is laid along a country road where they have decamped for the night and tents have been erected, food is being prepared and members of the cast are partaking of beverages.

They are all on in the opening number, which is My Gypsy Sweetheart. Two of the men are picking a banjo while the rest are exuding sweet harmony. The stage is cleared and two girls wearing black velvet, short pantalets, red stockings and a white silk handkerchief tucked around their heads do a fanciful dance number while one of the girls plays an accordion.

The two chaps with banjos come on at the completion of the dance and the accordion player remains to play with them. The other fellow with a guitar sings under his arm joins them after a bit, the music continuing. Another girl with a rich contralto voice joins them and they all do a yodeling song, playing and singing at the same time.

The stage is cleared again and the two girl dancers perform another artistic step, this time along the lines of a Spanish fandango. The next piece finds them all on. Two are playing banjos, two saxophones, two clarinets and a girl does a specialty toe dance.

The three men come on next to sing O Solo Mia, two of them strumming their banjos. The girls cut in on the chorus and a volume of pleasing voices is the result. Two of the girls flit back on their toes playing saxophones when the men have finished. This is followed by one of the chaps coming back for a dance. He has some Russian steps to offer and the entire company is on for the finale. The curtain goes down on an abundance of applause and justly so.

An attractive piece through. Every member of the turn an accomplished artist. G. V. W.

"Sport"

Played by North and Company
Reviewed Thursday evening, April 2, at Proctor's 58th Street Theater, New York. Style—Comedy sketch. Setting—Full stage. Time—Fourteen minutes.

There are two men and two girls in this one-act comedy dealing in feminine wiles and a rich, grouchy old codger who does not want his son to marry his former competitor's daughter.

The chap playing the father is sitting at a desk in his office which is situated in the middle of the room when the piece opens. The phone rings and the audience knows what to expect from this player by the way he answers. In a rasping, rough voice he says: "What do you want?"

He throws down the instrument and calls his stenographer to attend to it. The call turns out to be of little importance and the fellow exits off stage. The son of this chap comes on with the daughter of the man the old fellow crushed in business.

The boy's father comes in shortly and wants to know who the girl is. The lad says that she is Miss Kenyon and that he is going to marry her. "You don't mean the daughter of old Kenyon that tried to put your father out of business not so many years ago," exclaimed the elderly player.

"Yes, I do," snapped back the boy, "and we are going to be wedded this afternoon." The old man becomes furious at this and puts them both out of his office.

A few hours are supposed to elapse when the son comes back to the office. He is sitting in his father's chair as big as life when the stenographer comes in with a telegram for him. He seizes it and opens it, exclaiming while doing so, what a lucky fellow he is! His face registers a shock when he gets the missive open, for instead of the news being beneficial the lad announces that he has lost everything on Wall street. He explains that he has been trying to get rich quick on the side and that he has lost $75,000 in the effort.

The father comes back to learn of his son's disgrace and then adds that it isn't all but he also knows about the $10,000 he has borrowed at the bank. The young fellow breaks down and exclaims woe and lament. He pleads with his father for help. The father wants to know if he is persistent in going thru with the marriage which he has arranged. The young chap sticks to his sweetheart and the father agrees to pay off all his debts and put him in the clear if the young wastling will sell him the interest which he holds in the company.

The price agreed on is $115,000 or the lad's debt and negotiations are completed. The boy steps off and his sweetheart comes on. She tells the old man that she has heard of her lover's sacrifice and that she won't let him go thru with it. The old fellow bullies her around for awhile and then sees her sterling qualities. He relents for being so hard-boiled and then tells her she has to marry his son.

The lad comes back to find his sweetheart in the arms of his father, the latter pinning kisses on her in the meanwhile. The son is angry for the moment but learns what has happened and everything is put to rights.

The acting of all concerned is good. They all fit their parts and the audience was delighted with the skit. G. V. W.

Beatrice Doane

Reviewed Thursday evening, April 2, at Proctor's 58th Street Theater, New York. Style—Singing novelties. Setting—In one. Time—Eleven minutes.

Four numbers are used by this girl in her straight turn. She is the possessor of a high, clear-cut soprano voice and she reaped fair appreciation.

Clad in a cerise-colored straight-up-and-down dress that is low-cut about the neck, she steps on singing Alabama Bowol. Carmencita is the next number attempted. Miss Doane wrapping a fringed shawl about herself for color. After that Of Thee I Am Thinking is rendered with a sudden dash for the special drop of green and black she has when finished.

Whirling on the audience and pulling the curtain to cover herself below the shoulders, Miss Doane sings a short ditty about trying to crash into the movies. She informs the customers that a director has asked her to send a picture of herself and then steps out front and center to show the crowd how she looked in the photo.

She is dressed all in white this time from the hat she wears to the shoes. A wrap is thrown over her shoulders and around her shapely form while singing the next number. The dress worn is an abbreviated type and she displays a pair of pretty lower extremities that seemed to please.

A medley of songs is the next thing on the menu where she sings numbers about the cities passed thru on the way to the Coast and the movies. The remainder of this bit concerns her first experiences when arriving. G. V. W.

"HORSE SENSE"
By Billy K. Wells

Reviewed Thursday evening, April 2, at B. S. Moss' Coliseum Theater, New York. Style—Skit. Setting—Special drop, in two, and props. Time—Twelve minutes.

Act, singing and talking, of the caliber that makes it unsuitable for the best big-time houses but passable for the neighborhood stands. The comedy, intended to be its strong forte, is not of a very highly laugh-provoking order, and certainly not up to the standard of its author, Billy K. Wells, who has furnished vaudeville with some really worth-while material.

As for Nevins and Gordon, they impress one as capable artists who are wasting their efforts on the present vehicle. They assuredly are worthy of better material than the Wells opus, Horse Sense, provides.

The act opens before a drop, in two, representing the entrance to the Crescent Country Club. The girl of the train is in riding habit, her partner in street clothes. Flirtation bit, weak repulse, then intimacy and finally talk about horses. To teach the girl how to ride a wooden horse is constructed on the stage from props lying close at hand, and one gets mild amusement from a bit that might have been worked up to a great

MELODY MART

(Communications to 1423 Broadway, New York, N. Y.)

UNSATISFACTORY reports of equally distasteful business dealings by one of the smaller recording laboratories continued as the main theme for conversation along Melody Row.

The latest gossip has the director of the aforementioned laboratory in a new role, that of "savior to the radio-harassed songsmith." Writers whose statements have been ban, in their desperate efforts to eke out the wherewithal for bed and board have been, at the record man's suggestion, furnishing the laboratory with songs, complete with words and music, for which they receive the magnificent remuneration of approximately $50. It would surprise the publishers to learn the names of those concerned; suffice it to say that the practice, if long continued, will play havoc with the industry.

The idea is to buy the material outright, and back it up with songs of "hit" caliber, thus enabling the record people to cash in without any exploiting on their part. Already, however, friction has appeared, some of the wholesale songwriters alleging double-dealing on the part of the phonograph executive, declaring that their sales to him are outright, and that under no circumstances are masters or copyrights to be transferred to other companies.

As far as the quality of the songs figuring in this state of affairs is concerned, those in the know aver that the material is of a very low grade, and that, with the writers, it is simply a question of quantity. How the whole scheme will eventually work out is problematical, but, whatever the result, music publishers have every reason to feel worried.

One of the deplorable features of the practice is that the nominal sum mentioned above is sometimes split four ways, some of the go-betweens averaging $10 and $15 a song.

Abe Holzmann, head of the Shapiro, Bernstein & Company band and orchestra department, has just organized a radio division, which will engage itself with the task of assuring the S-B catalog a strong plug via the ether. He will be aided in his attempt to get better air exploitation by the other members of his department, Al Compante, Jack Sheehan and Chris Trainor. The firm's novelty, Ab, Ha!, is reported as showing up nicely around town.

An attempt to resurrect an old type of song, exceedingly popular in days gone by, is being made by Tune-House, Inc., of New York, which firm announces that it plans to specialize on the Bert Williams style of ditty exclusively. Shelton Brooks, Edgar Dowell and Henry Troy have been retained as special writers by the new publishing enterprise, their first contribution being a humorous effusion titled Pot of Gold.

Willie Raskin, who sees the silver lining in every cloud, says he has heard himself referred to so often of late as a wit that when he met Will Rogers on Broadway the other day he remarked, "Will, I understand you're also a clever fellow." Incidentally, Willie has just written a couple of special choruses to the Cliff Edwards hit, Who Takes Care of the Caretaker's Daughter, while the Caretaker's Busy Taking Care, by Chas. Endos, one of Willie's choruses is, Who Gets the Gate From the Gate-Tender's Daughter While the Gate-Tender's Busy Tending Gate?

Werner Janssen, son of August Janssen, who operates New York's two Hofbrau restaurants, has written a synopated intermezzo. Young Janssen wrote the successful Toddle Along song in the new edition of the Ziegfeld Follies, and is a composer of note and ability with several musical comedy scores to his credit. His intermezzo represents the first attempt of modern composers to synopate music of this character, and was suggested by George Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue.

The Dromedary, an E. B. Marks publication named after the Theo-Creo dance of that name, has just been recorded by the Columbia laboratories.

Give Me the Corner, Give Me the Girl, is a new Leo Feist, Inc., comedy publication by Howard Jolson, Ira Schuster and Irving Bibb. Incidentally, music publishers are casting envious glances at the Feist catalog, the strongest in years. Some of the numbers now being successfully exploited by the Feist forces are I'll See You in My Dreams, Oh, Katharina; Doo Waacka Doo, Honest and Truly and Midnight Waltz.

James A. Brennan, writer of many past hits, is back in the professional department of E. B. Marks Music Company, after an absence of many months. Brennan has some new material which will shortly be put in print by the Marks concern.

Fred Fisher, who recently cried "quits" in the music-publishing business, is placing songs with some of the bigger music houses. Fisher has a Russian number that looks like a sensation altho it is, at the same time, the type of tune that flops in a hurry, unless it catches on quickly. The erstwhile publisher is around with a report that he may cross the pond soon to do a revue for a London producer.

"People like my new song Florida," says Jack Robbins, of Robbins-Engel, "because music is often the outward expression of suppressed desires. People like to sing about what they'd like to do, or where they'd like to go, so they're all singing Florida." Be that as it may, Abel Green's and Jesse Greer's song is a sure hit, and has been recorded 100 per cent.

Denton & Haskin's new song, Hot Eskimo (colored), Fay Maeisel, a young lady of the Jewish faith, and Bob Schafer, who is of Dutch origin. To make matters more intricate, the publishers are sons of Erin, who are wondering whether the song will be a hit in Atlanta, Ga.

During his recent New York visit, Neil Moret, head of the Villa Moret, Frisco music publishing firm, accepted from Lou Wesley a song called Just a Little Sugar Plum. The firm is now working on Moonlight and Roses, On the Way to Monterey and Nancy. The catalog looks promising.

Publishers of saxophone solos will be interested to know that since an American jazz operetta played in Glasgow prior to a London opening there has been an unprecedented run on saxophones in the music stores, while bagpipe sales are at a standstill.

The Robinson Crusoe Music Publishing Company, of Philadelphia, announces that it has a hit in They All Love Me, by J. J. Schneider, manager of the firm, and Len Fleming. The number is being extensively broadcast.

Dr. Alexander Russell, professor of music at Princeton, told the members of the National Arts Club last week that the present popularity of jazz is an evidence of the nation's restless, unsettled state of mind. Dr. Russell spoke on the relation of jazz to modern music and described that relation as being similar to that existing between comic cartoons and painting. "Some day, the great jazz symphony will be written," he concluded, "when some composer combines his sound knowledge of music with his feeling for jazz."

Silvio Hein, assistant secretary of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, is back at his desk after an absence of several months, during which time he was recuperating at Saranac Lake. He attended the annual dinner held by the Society March 25, and his surprise appearance was the first time more than 200 members and friends had seen him since he was taken ill last July.

Jack Yellen, member of the firm of Ager, Yellen & Bornstein, returned to New York last week from a two months' trip thru the West, with a glowing report of his catalog's success in that territory.

Vaughn De Leath pioneer woman radio entertainer and former Okeh record artist, will henceforth record under the Columbia label.

Denton & Haskins announce the publication of Drifting Away From You, a waltz ballad by Jack Mahoney and Harold Dellor.

Billy McDermitt, former head of the Shapiro-Bernstein Chicago office, will in the future operate from the New York office of that firm. Herman Schenck, formerly with Milton Weil and more recently with Shapiro-Bernstein's Broadway headquarters, has left for the Windy City to direct his firm's branch there.

George Russo, blind pianist of the Greenwich Village section of New York, who has entertained thousands with his own compositions, has finally won some measure of recognition at the hands of publishers thru his song Sister Sands of Waikiki, a waltz ballad which is being recorded 100 per cent. For some time Russo has been trying to connect with a music house but was always forced to sell his stuff to someone else because he never got a proper hearing. Last fall Joe Davis of the Triangle Music Company saw possibilities in the composition mentioned above and accepted it on a royalty basis, thus assuring the blind composer of a fair sum of money for his song.

Another Village entertainer has the leading song hit on the market to his credit, and it's going powerfully in every direction. Unfortunately he needed money at the time and, not thinking it would prove so good a song, he sold it outright to the publishers. Now he is trying to get some real money by turning out follow-up songs on his hit.

The latest addition to the "food melodies" is Pie, by Will Meredith, New York. Add this to Eat More Meat, Eat More Fruit and Eat More Fish and we won't need very much more to complete a full-course dinner.

Alleging that he crowned Paul Specht for a time "King of Jazz" by means of various publicity stunts, Milt Hagen, well-known publicity manager and songwriter, of New York, has instituted suit against the musician for $550, alleged to be due him for back salary, thru his attorney, Philip Hart.

laugh. Not even the name of our President was mentioned in connection with the timbered equine. A couple of songs is offered. In drawing up the finish, the team does a knockout bit that is a howl. It's one of those specialties in which the girl is tossed around rather roughly. She is supposed to have fainted and the man is attempting to restore her to her feet.

The act closed to a good hand. With the material preceding the last bit pepped up, the chances are the act would be a big "go". R. C.

Pell and Lorri

Reviewed Thursday evening, April 2, at Locu's American Roof Theater. Style—Songs, dances and piano. Setting—in one. Time—Ten minutes.

These two have routined a neat little offering, the punch of which is their dance work. They use several song numbers, all of them special, and most of them sound as tho they were written by themselves. They work in one, the man appearing in an Eton outfit and the girl in kiddie frock. The man works at the piano thru most of the act, coming away from it for some song and dance bits. The piano was placed too near to the exit; it should be to the center of the stage.

The singing is just fair. It is in the dance work and acrobatic stunts that are sure-fire. The man is evidently a product of a ballet school, his costume for most of the dancing being that of the average male ballet dancer's, and his work bearing the same stamp. The girl makes several changes in costume. They have staged their offering effectively and should find plenty of work in the better small-time theaters. G. J. H.

Clifton Webb and Mary Hay

And Their
With Dave Bernie

Reviewed Monday matinee, March 30, at the Palace Theater, New York. Style—Dancing. Setting—Full stage. Time—Twenty-five minutes.

This ideal combination outclasses anything we have seen in years. Their own peculiar style of comedy interpretative dances, as sold by them, is meat for any kind of a big-time audience insofar as the two-a-day is concerned and equally welcome for the best of high-brow patrons at any resort or theater. While the team is new, individually they have long been regarded as excellent artists, the duo therefore being doubly strong. At night they held forth at the exclusive Club Ciro, which makes it doubtful whether the act will be able to get out of town. Undoubtedly the offering could play "from now on", if there was no hitch about money.

Opening with a selection from a musical comedy, the orchestra, led by Dave Bernie, brother of Ben, at once set itself down as being a well-trained outfit, specializing in fine dance rhythm in sun-dried style, yet with sufficient color at all times. Later it filled in with several selections as well as played for the dances. A marimba solo is done by Dillon Ober, who almost wrecks the act with his comedy style. Outside of that he played the drums and was seen in the same role when the Ben Bernie Orchestra played here a few weeks ago. Dave Bernie is youthful and capable as a leader. He also fills in at one of the pianos and sings a chorus or two.

The moment that the team stepped out it was apparent that they were different and were not out to inflict a series of ball-room dances, but delightful pantomimic comedy and eccentric steps of the first water. Mary Hay, as usual, was cute and adorable, and her frocks, bobbed hair and smile are almost an act in themselves. Webb, of course, works as smooth as glass, with the result that the routine is restful to the eye and surely a delight. A travesty on acrobatic and similar-style dances proved a series of wows when reviewed. M. H. S.

Irma, Balmus and Milo

Reviewed Thursday evening, April 2, at B. S. Moss' Coliseum Theater, New York. Style—Posing-acrobatic novelty. Setting—Specials, in one and two. Time—Nine minutes.

Three-people novelty offering that opens with posing bits and closes with acrobatic hand-to-hand work of the slow-motion order. The girl intercalates the routine with a couple dance specialties, one a toe ballet of ordinary caliber, the other an Egyptian number of much better quality with the high kicks standing out as her best accomplishment.

All three take part in the posing bits offered on the opening. The male duo then does a brief hand-to-hand routine that passes muster, and on the finish the girl employs herself in an endurance specialty, being clutched around the body of the understander as he noists the topman. An opening act that will please favorably in the family houses of the big time. R. C.

Mattylee Lippard

Reviewed at B. S. Moss' Franklin Theater, New York. Style—Singing and instrumental. Setting—Two, special. Time—Fourteen minutes.

Mattylee Lippard is by no means new as a single, and it was surprising to find an act of her caliber among the ones "showing" for one day at this house. Most of her material is new, and the routine also, but having played several of the big-time houses in New York a few years ago, one would imagine that it wouldn't be quite necessary for her to be among the type of acts which show here. At any rate, it didn't do her any harm, for she stood out as a blue-white diamond in an onyx setting. She is accompanied by Art Sorenson at the piano, a neat-appearing young chap who is more than just capable, and displays fine ability with a solo during the course of the act. Miss Lippard is as cute a little golden-haired beauty as any one could wish to see. And when she discards the black frock for short costumes, she reveals an attractive figure and a devilish personality which immediately warms any audience to her. Her repertoire consists mainly of published numbers. She possesses a good

Eddy Brown

JOSEF DONIME, Accompanist
Reviewed Monday matinee, March 30, at the Hippodrome, New York. Style—Vocal recital, setting—in one. Time—Twenty minutes.

Eddy Brown, concert violinist, was engaged for this theater for one week only, according to announcement, and will not be seen elsewhere in vaudeville. He offers a recital of three numbers, including, in their order, Araby, Gypsy dance of the 18th century, by Kreisler; Spanish Serenade, by Chaminade, and The Dance of the Goblins, by Bazzini. The program is a highly diverting and choicely selected one, consisting as it does of that type of music which finds favor with vaudeville audiences quicker than if it were of the heavy opera kind. Brown scored a tremendous hit, taking several bows on the finish.

He is a violinist of rare ability, deft in his touch and lacking in the least insouciance in the technique that makes him the artist he is. His Spanish Serenade was a positive delight, and The Dance of the Goblins, bringing his recital to a close, was no less a treat. It is seldom that the bill of a vaudeville house includes an entertaining and as artistic a performer as Brown.

In the concert world he enjoys considerable distinction, altho of American birth. He is said to have been sent abroad at the age of 10 to study in the Budapest Conservatory, and that at the age of 13 he played a Beethoven concerto to full orchestra in passing his examinations. He has given concerts in Carnegie Hall and other places here. R. C.

Frank Silver

Reviewed Monday matinee, March 30, at the Hippodrome, New York. Style—Band, setting—Specials, in full stage. Time—Twenty minutes.

The author of that tropical fruit song, Yes, We Have No Bananas, is back in vaudeville with another band of 11 men who, we understand, were formerly with the Al Mitchell Orchestra. Frank Silver also has with him a twain of specialty performers who sing. They are Walter Schuster and a girl, un billed, both of whom are a grade above fair in their vocal efforts.

On the opening of Silver's offering—a presentation here, a short film is thrown on the screen which is much ado about Bananas and its perpetrator. Our comment on this feature is summed up in the 10-letter word, "appliance."

The band opens, directed by Silver, with Al Johnson's Susie, then offers La Tosca. Both numbers are played forte, featuring the brass. Specialties by an un billed woman and Schuster follow, the former singing My Hero, from The Chocolate Soldier and the latter Song of Songs. Schuster's voice is a baritone of average caliber. The band returns to the scene of its former stentorous doings, offering To a Wild Rose and a Sun. Then the not unexpected happened. Silver's new song, What Do We Get From Boston?, which is nothing to rave over, had its chance. The bandmen doubled for vocal bits, doing characters that were supposed to be funny but aren't. The Hipp. dancing girls closed with an ensemble number.

With certain changes made Silver's new offering would shape up as good entertainment. First, the film ought to be cut, then Silver's new song written around the vegetable Boston is noted for. These are the low ebbs of the act's tide. R. C.

Johnny Berkes and Sheila Terry
In "Maybe—Who Can Tell"

Reviewed at Keith's Hamilton Theater, New York. Style—Comedy dancing. Setting—Specials, in full stage. Time—Fifteen minutes.

This is the same act Rose Doner did with Johnny Berkes. When Rose went back in the old Doner trio act Berkes teamed with Sheila Terry, who formerly worked in an act called Three's a Crowd. The routine of the offering, the title of which means nothing, is virtually the same except that Berkes features in his bit comedy, whereas when he was with Miss Doner she was more or less the feature of the turn in songs and dances.

Miss Terry is a good-to-look-at young performer who plays up to Berkes in convincing fashion. The apache specialty, winding up the act, is one of its best treats, while Berkes, in the misfit trousers, spreads considerable amusement in his stolid-faced way. He is quite a clever dancer to boot. Jue Quon Tai and Company

Reviewed at Keith's Hamilton Theater, New York. Style—Singing recital. Setting—Spectral drop, in one. Time—Fifteen minutes.

This is an act that had the writer guessing. Not as to whether it was good, bad or average, but as to whether Jue Quon Tai and her un billed sister actually hail from the Orient. Neither impress one as being Chinese girls, their attempts to assimilate the traits of this ever-interesting race being so ostensibly affected. Concerning Jue Quon Tai, she impresses one as an American girl doing a Chinese character badly instead of a Chinese girl doing an American character well. The voice, as well as the actions, which is true also of her sister, coming on at the end of the act is too distinctly of American genre. In an effort to emulate the vocal work typical of a Chinese all sense of meter and continuity is lost. Incidentally, the un billed sister of the twain is the best songstress. When reviewed she scored a big hit on a solo of All Alone, the only number she does.

Jue Quon Tai, accompanied by a male pianist, opened with a special tune entitled I Was a Fairy Queen When I Came From China. Her diction is questionable from the point of being articulate. She follows with three other numbers. Somebody To Love, a solo and a special comedy number, rendered in cabaret style. On the finish of the last-named number the sister is introduced as a "surprise". After the sister's solo they do a double. When the writer caught the act it was a good-sized hit. R. C.

Stanisloff and Gracie

Reviewed Tuesday matinee, March 31, at Keith's 81st Street Theater, New York. Style—Dance revue. Setting—Specials, in full stage. Time—Eighteen minutes.

Stanisloff and Gracie were appearing to disadvantage in their comparatively new offering, Gypsy Wanderers, when reviewed, due to a serious injury suffered from the point of being articulated. Despite this, however, the act went over to a good hand, the Six English Tivoli Girls, a truly remarkable group of ensemble dancers, holding the interest quite capably. They were really the big hit of the act, and deservedly so, altho Stanisloff's specialties were missing, for they do some excellent work.

They open in a conventional cye. setting in full stage, bowing away to a toe ballet dance for Gracie, assisted by Stanisloff. A jazz toe ballet by Gracie—strikingly good—and another Tivoli-type dance that stood out as the best the act had to offer in its present shape gave way to the woodland scene necessary for the "Gypsy wanderers". Here, where a campfire was aglow and the girls hammered their tambourines, the company proceeded to the finale, with Stanisloff and Gracie alternating in brief specialties, the former doing only a bit of prouetting and that well done.

With Stanisloff in condition to do his best work we imagine the act will be a particularly fine one, judging from a view of it before he is fully recovered from his injury. The Tivoli girls will go good anywhere, that's certain. R. C.

Loew's Mighty Vaudeville Circus did a phenomenal business at the Crescent Theater, New Orleans, Marcelline headed the galaxy of spangled performers with trained animals, aerialists, a pony ballet and other acts new to local audiences. The theater resembled a huge circus tent, while the outside of the house was flanked with 24-sheet posters.

Albee Theater, Brooklyn, have signed for a tour of the Orpheum and Interstate circuits, opening August 16 and winding up in June, 1926, with their A Sundae in London skit, which has been sought for productions since introduced in vaudeville.

ROSENTHAL AND BURKAN TESTIFY

A. S. C. A. P. Officials Appear Before Canadian Copyright Act Committee—Hearing Adjourned Till Apr. 16

Ottawa, Can., April 4.—American and Canadian authors and composers are as one in the effort to protect their works against radio and publishers' infringements. This, in short, was the tenor of the evidence given before the Canadian Copyright Act Committee this week by Nathan Burkan and Julius C. Rosenthal, general counsel and manager, respectively, of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers of New York. Hon. E. F. Survever, Supreme Court Justice, Montreal, was another interesting witness before the committee.

After reciting numerous cases in the United States where the rights of Canadians had been protected by the Society, Mr. Burkan explained the American law on broadcasting, showing how the works of all authors were protected by the activities of the Society in the courts and otherwise. Of the 137 commercial broadcasting stations in the United States 85 were operating under license from the Society. The remainder are respecting the rights of copyright proprietors by using only classical works. Synopsised, the American law protects copyrighted works and there is no free broadcasting. Mr. Burkan challenged the evidence of another witness who had stated that "we (the radio broadcasting stations) could use American copyrighted stuff if forced to pay royalty to Canadian composers." Mr. Burkan could not believe this as, under the proclamations of 1910 and 1911, American citizens have been guaranteed protection in Canada for their works.

After expressing the gratitude of the Society for the opportunity of appearing before the committee Mr. Rosenthal explained just how the Society was made up and its objects. He then explained the system of licensing by the Society. These licenses, the bringing in a substantial sum in cash, were primarily designed to retain control over copyrighted works when used by broadcasting stations. He instanced the disadvantages suffered by composers of a number of popular songs thru broadcasting and specially mentioned the loss suffered by the producers of Rose-Marie and the action taken by the Society to assist this musical comedy.

Justice Survever, in his evidence, claimed that the present Act did not give the author a "square deal" and that the licensing clauses of the Canadian Act were fundamentally and morally wrong in that they affected the most sacred of rights, that of ownership. He also pointed out that the American Congress had a bill before it at present proposing to wipe out the "manufacturing" clauses from the United States Act and pleaded with the committee to do the same in Canada. In the opinion of Justice Survever an author should receive greater protection than an inventor, because the author deals with intellectual work and the intangible. He would apply the same principle of ownership to radio as to everything else and could not see why a radio operator should have the privilege of taking another man's property without compensation. An author's property is his own, whether it is printed or broadcast, he said.

Immediately after the American witnesses had completed their evidence the committee adjourned over Easter, to meet again April 16.

New York, April 4.—J. C. Rosenthal and Nathan Burkan returned today from Ottawa.

BROADWAY'S EASTER BASKET CONTAINS DOZEN NEW SHOWS

Avalanche of Attractions To Usher in Post-Lenten Season--
"Ostriches" Flops--More Houses Thrown Temporarily
Dark by Seven Closings. Altho Easter List
Should Fill All Available Theaters--
Many New Shows Under Way

NEW YORK, April 4.—There will be about a dozen new shows in the Easter basket that Broadway will present to the theatergoing public. The theaters in which this avalanche of attractions will usher in the post-Lenten season have been definitely contracted for in practically every instance and the possible out-of-town failure of any of the prospective offerings will almost surely be offset by the fact that there are at this writing more shows seeking an Easter week opening on Broadway than the available theaters can accommodate.

To avoid a congestion of openings Easter Monday some of the new arrivals will make their bow next Saturday night, while a few are delaying their Broadway premiere until a few days later.

The new attractions this week included Ostriches, at the Comedy Theater, which is a decided flop and closed tonight; Love for Love, the spicy Congreve revival at the Greenwich Village Theater, where it opened to standing business and should draw well for a considerable period; the new bill at the Neighborhood Playhouse, and The Dancer Boy, postponed until last night, at Daly's 63d Street Theater.

In addition to Ostriches, the closings tonight include The Little Minister at the Globe, The Dark Angel at the Longacre, Eve's Leaves at Wallack's, Ariadne at the Garrick, The Devil Within at the Hudson, and The Beggar on Horaceback, which has been playing a two weeks' return engagement at the Shubert. Processional will move back to the Garrick Monday night, and this will leave the 49th Street Theater, as well as six other houses where shows are closing tonight, dark until the Easter crop of attractions comes along.

Another piece that is likely to close any day is The Complex, originally tried out for special matinees and later established in the Princess Theater as a regular attraction. This drama on the subject of psychology has been drawing practically no trade at all for the past week. The Handy Man, which was supposed to close last Saturday but changed its mind and moved to the Punch and Judy Theater instead, is doing little better there than it did at the 39th Street playhouse.

On the program for next week are The Servant in the House, the additional matinee bill at the Actors' Theater, which will be shown Tuesdays and Fridays; Raint, the new Provincetown Playhouse bill, opening Tuesday evening; Wild Birds, at the Cherry Lane Theater, beginning Thursday evening, and The Backslapper, the first of the Easter crowd, opening at the Hudson Saturday evening.

The other incoming attractions, and their status at last reports, are as follows:

"Mismates"

Myron C. Fagan's latest drama, which was well received on its opening in Stamford last week, will go from the Montank to the Shubert Teller in Brooklyn on Monday and come into the Times Square Theater April 13. The Grace George show, She Had to Know, now at the Times Square, will take to the road at the end of next week.

"Caesar and Cleopatra"

The Theater Guild has been forced to postpone the opening of its new theater with Shaw's comedy until the night of April 13, so the new production may have the benefit of a week's rehearsal on the new stage.

"The Four-Flusher"

Russell Mack's new vehicle, now holding forth in Boston, is booked to retrieve the Apollo Theater from motion pictures on April 13.

"Taps"

The new vehicle for Lionel Barrymore and Irene Fenwick, now in rehearsal under the direction of Lawrence Marston, will have its tryout in New Haven April 9, going from there to Stamford, and coming into the Broadhurst Theater the following Tuesday. Starlight, now at the

Truex Likes To Play Insignificant Chaps Because They're Human

A gifted and versatile light comedian, who is now wearing one of his greatest triumphs in the title role of "The Fall Guy" at the Eltinge Theater, New York.

"You know, I like to play these insignificant little chaps." Ernest Truex, who plays the part of Johnnie Quinlan in The Fall Guy at the Eltinge Theater, New York, grinned as he said it. Then he added more soberly: "They're so everlastingly human. Just plain, ordinary little fellows, trying to make a living honestly if they can and any other way if they think they can get away with it, and all the time just wondering what it's all about."

"Playing straight drama is different from playing musical drama, and, although you might not think it at first, it's really easier. Not so much competition. In a musical show you've got the girls, the music, the dancing, everything uniting in an apparent effort to drown you out. But in a little piece like this you just go right ahead and everything fits in so naturally that you are doing your part almost in spite of yourself."

"You know, an actor spends half his career learning how to act and the other half learning to forget he is acting. I've been thirty years on the stage, and I've only recently started on the second half of my theatrical education. I remember I used to work like the devil over any part I had, and then, all of a sudden one night, someone asked me why I took it all so seriously. 'Be yourself, Eddie,' someone advised, and I decided to give it a try. Well, the part went over better than ever, and it was then that I discovered I'd reached the point where I could begin forgetting to act."

"I honestly think I prefer straight comedy to musical. I've said it was easier, but it's also more interesting. A thing like this is just a slice out of life. I'm not working toward a Shakespearean finale for my career. I've got this on most actors that I started out playing Shakespeare. Yes, I played Hamlet in Hamlet when I was seven years old. I'm glad I've got that Shakespearean complex out of my system. Now I can settle down to homely little pieces like this, the kind I really enjoy playing."

And Truex plays his part of Johnnie Quinlan in The Fall Guy as tho he did enjoy every moment of it. True to his comment on an actor's education, he makes no work of it. He is not acting, he is just Johnnie Quinlan come to life and trying to find out what it's all about. Just a glance, a gesture, and the whole story is told. Ernest Truex has assuredly reached that second half of which he spoke and at the same time found a vehicle peculiarly suited to him. He should have a long run as Johnnie Quinlan, "the fall guy," at the Eltinge Theater.

"Aren't We All" Back in N. Y.

New York, April 4.—The failure of Ruth Chatterton in The Little Minister and the sudden closing of this Barrie revival at the Globe Theater tonight has caused Charles Dillingham to bring back Cyril Maude in Aren't We All for a return engagement, beginning April 13. Maude was at the height of his success here in the Frederick Lonsdale play when he was called abroad by the illness of his wife. The show has been on the road since last fall and business has been so good that the tour, which was to have ended in Chicago recently, was extended indefinitely. The cast remains practically the same as when the show was here before, and includes Alma Toll, Geoffrey Millar, Hugh Huntley, Marquerite St. John, Harry Ashford, Cynthia Brooks, Isabel Lamont, Timothy Huntley, F. Gatenby Bell and Olive Reeves-Smith.

"Seduction" Back in Baltimore

Baltimore, April 4.—Seduction, after playing four weeks at the Belasco Theater in Washington and three weeks on the road thru Pennsylvania, has returned to the Lyceum Theater, where it originally opened and ran for nine weeks. Frank Wilcox, Alvin King and Henry Herbert still head the large cast.

Easter Changes in Loop

Chicago, April 4.—A post-Lenten shift of attractions is scheduled to start here Easter Sunday. The Green Hat is expected at the Selwyn and Be Yourself will come to the Harris.

Changes in Cast

New York, April 4.—Edward Pawley, who has been playing in The Guardsman, will replace George Abbott in Processional when it moves back to the Garrick Theater next Monday evening.

Victor Killian, who has been appearing in vaudeville since he was last seen on Broadway with Raymond Hitchcock in The Red Widow, about eight years ago, has joined the cast of Desire Under the Elms, replacing Perry Ivins, who is now stationed in Love for Love.

Benedict MacQuarrie has been engaged thru Helen Robinson for the role of the Portuguese lover in My Son, portrayed until now by E. L. Fernandez, who is resigning from the cast next Wednesday after scoring a hit with his excellent portrayal.

Eva Condon, last seen in The Best People and Icebound, will take Helen Westley's role in The Guardsman when Miss Westley leaves next week to play the part of Plautina in Caesar and Cleopatra.

Branes Goodrich this week stepped into the role created by Juliette Crosby in The Show-Off, and Winifred Wellington will replace Regina Wallace in the same play next Monday evening.

Marjorie Dalton has been appointed general understudy for the feminine characters in Hell's Bells.

"Sun Up" for London

New York, April 4.—Lulu Vollmer's Sun Up will be presented at the Vaudeville Theater, London, beginning May 4. Arthur Collins, who is sponsoring the British production, has called that arrangements have been completed and Miss Vollmer is planning to sail April 18 with the American players, who are to perform the piece on the other side. Lucille La Verne will have her former role, and others who will go over in the troupe are Queenie Hadden, Kevette Allan, Murray Bennett, Glenn Burdette and Owen Meech.

Bel-Geddes and Herndon Sail

New York, April 4.—Norman Bel-Geddes sailed Wednesday on the S. S. Mauretania for Paris, where he is to produce two plays by Mercedes de Acosta at the invitation of Firmin Gémier. Eva LeGallienne, who will be featured in the productions, and Miss de Acosta also sailed on the same steamer. A fifth member of the party was Agnes Moyer, a Richmond (Va.) society girl, who is going over at her own expense to appear as a super in Jehanne d'Arc, which will be the first presentation. Bel-Geddes' sets for the two plays were taken in the same liner.

Richard Herndon will sail April 11 to join Mr. Bel-Geddes in Paris.

Frank Craven Going Abroad

New York, April 4.—At the end of the Philadelphia engagement of New Broods, about two weeks hence, Frank Craven will terminate the tour of that production and sail for Europe on a little visit. The show has been doing good business, according to reports.

Boothe in Chicago

Chicago, April 4.—Earl Boothe, producer of the comedy success Is Zat So?, playing at the Adelphi, and also in New York, was a Chicago visitor this week, inspecting the play at the Adelphi.

"Green Hat" Premiere Is a Complete Success

Detroit, April 4.—The premiere of The Green Hat, a dramatization of Michael Arlen's book under the same name, took place Monday night at the Garrick Theater and was a complete success. A distinguished audience filled the house and showed more enthusiasm over the play than has greeted any other attraction here this season.

While some essential changes in construction and treatment have been made in the stage version, the play captures the spirit of the book very nicely. The story is held more closely to the tragic note, since there is no time or place for the discursive method that constitutes Arlen's chief charm as a writer of prose, yet the play has its literary moments when the play of words sometimes sparkles with high humor and again it fairly grips with an honest pathos.

Katherine Cornell gives an inspired performance of the role of Iris and there is splendid acting by the entire cast, which was ably assisted by A. H. Woods, and includes Ann Harding, A. P. Kaye, Paul Guilfoyle, Alx Borane, John Buckler, Worthington Miner, Gustave Roland, Leslie Howard, Eugene Powers, Gordon Ash, Wallace Wildecumbe, Barbara Allen, Pierre La Ferte, Adl Orane, Gwyneth Gordon, Florence Foster and Harry Barfoot.

The local engagement has been extended to two weeks, after which the show goes into Chicago.

Gordon Sells to Storrs Control of "Cape Smoke"

New York, April 4.—Charles K. Gordon has sold the controlling interest in Cape Smoke, the current attraction at the Martin Beck Theater, to his partner, Frank Storrs, who will hereafter guide the destinies of this African melodrama. In explaining his action Gordon states he stepped out of the management of this play so that he can devote his entire time and attention to producing the new musical show with Bert and Betty Wheeler.

On European Trip

New York, April 4.—Carlotta Monterey, who appeared the past season with Henry Miller in After Love and The Man in Breaking Clothes, sailed Saturday on the Minnetonka for a two month' trip thru Switzerland and Germany. Miss Monterey was accompanied by her husband, Ralph Barton.

Another who will shortly embark for a visit abroad is Regina Wallace, who is retiring tonight from the cast of The Show-Off.

A glance at the Hotel Directory in this issue may save considerable time and inconvenience.

INTERMISSIONS

The keynote of the universal popularity of Abie's Irish Rose lies in the democratic manner in which religion is handled in this famous farce.

For years there has been much religious unrest. People have been developing broader views on the subject of creeds and nationalities. But the churches in most instances have adhered to their orthodox teachings and offered no sympathy for the expanding ideas of their congregations.

Then along came Anne Nichols' play with its friendly intermixing of two of the world's greatest religions, the Catholic and the Jewish. The very spirit that was spreading among millions of people, but could not find an outlet, Abie's Irish Rose offered this an outlet. It treated religion in such a way that people, consciously or unconsciously—more often the latter—found sympathy and understanding as well as laughter and merriment in the play.

For all its atrociousness as a dramatic work, Abie's Irish Rose gives expression to a vital condition that strikes a responsive chord among the masses. That is the secret of its sensational success.

Mannerisms have proved fatal to the career of many talented actors. Very often certain mannerisms are affected with the belief that they please the public, whereas the truth is they eventually become monotonous and boring to theatergoers. Peculiarities of walk, gesture or vocal intonation are undesirable because they distract the attention of the audience from the effect the actor is producing by his method of producing that effect.

Sarah Bernhardt preferred to play male parts because they are more intellectual than feminine roles.

The pantomime test should be applied to every part played on the stage, and no characterization should be considered complete until it can survive this test.

Remarkable Remarks

"Starring is pleasant to the vanity, but sometimes there are more important considerations."—Bertram Peacock.

"The mustache I sport in the Follies is not a real one; I am better looking without it, and I wear it merely for the sake of art."—W. C. Fields.

"I like to play to woman audiences, as they are more sympathetic and follow the thread of the story more keenly than men."—Grace George.

"No actor ever misses a performance unless it is a physical impossibility for him to stand up, yes whenever a player is ill he is blamed for indulging in a fit of temperament."—Joseph Schildkraut.

"The Cheese Club is the group that's producing The Rat."—Sydney Riggs.

"The playwrights have arrived, the producers have arrived and the American actors and actresses have arrived. Now all that is necessary is the encouragement of the American public."—Professor Arthur Robson Quinn, University of Pennsylvania.

"Acting is not an intellectual accomplishment; it is instinctive. The only intellectual part of it is the technical, which must be forgotten in performance."—From The Letters of an Unsuccessful Actor.

"Personality is something without which a show hasn't a chance, but there is no single element in a big revue that you can elect as the thing upon which the show's success depends. A revue is as strong as its weakest link."—Sam H. Harris.

Charles Dow Clark has been engaged for a character role and Edgar Nelson will do principal comedy work in the new play Zelda Sears has written for George Macfarlane. A brief spring try-out is planned, after which the piece is to be put aside until fall.

"Re: Ward"

John Golden expects eventually to get Willie Collier's vehicle in satisfactory shape. The script was originally by Aaron Hoffman. Collier rewrote it and now Winchell Smith is revising it once more. The play is now rehearsing and will probably open in Chicago April 12. In the cast supporting Collier are Florence Mason, Shirley Gray, Frank

Actors' Theater To Be Two-a-Day Legit. House

New York April 4.—Beginning next Monday the 48th Street Theater will become the first legitimate two-a-day house in New York as a result of The Actors' Theater using their playhouse for three different productions at the same time. The Wild Duck is the regular attraction, with matinee Wednesdays and Saturdays; Laurette Taylor in Pierrot the Prodigal holds the stage for Monday and Thursday matinees, while The Servant in the House will hold forth Tuesday and Friday afternoons.

Laurette Taylor and her pantomime were to have closed this week, but the demand for seats has warranted holding it on longer. An extra matinee was given yesterday. Blair Neale will hereafter interpret the piano score of this piece, taking the place of George Copeland.

The Servant in the House, formerly announced to open yesterday, has been delayed and will have its first showing next Tuesday. George Hassell has been added to the cast.

The result of the two-a-day experiment by The Actors' Theater will be watched with considerable interest, since it may serve as a solution for one of the greatest problems in the maintenance of the legitimate theater—that of turning the waste of space and loss of time into a profitable channel. A legitimate theater in New York is in use approximately 20 hours each week. Under the new plan the Actors' Theater will obtain an additional 10 hours' use from their playhouse. The house also is used each morning and Sundays for rehearsing plays in preparation.

"Flesh"

A new cast has been engaged thru Dorothy Dahl for Arthur Lamb's production and rehearsals are again in progress. The players include Madeline Davidson, Grayce Connell, Edwin Grehl, William Balfour, Eva Victor and Cosette Faustine. Charles Hanna is directing the piece.

"Oh, Nightingale"

Sophie Treadwell's new play, said to be sponsored by the Shuberts and Rachel Crothers, is scheduled to open out of town in a week. Martha Bryan-Alien and Ernest Lawford head the cast.

"Harvest"

Augustin Duneau, Louise Crosser Hale, Viola Frayne and Alexander Clark, Jr., are in the cast of John Cromwell's next production, now in rehearsal.

Miscellaneous

Kilbourn Gordon will not produce The Mud Turtle till next fall.

Rufus Le Maire has postponed Missionary and all other productions until August.

William A. Brady expects to give Devils an out-of-town tryout in May.

The Aaron Hoffman offices will soon start rehearsals of Glamour, a new drama by Sanislav Stange.

Harry Von Tilzer is sponsoring Three Doors, a mystery melodrama by Edward Rose. John Hewitt will stage manage it.

James Gleason, Earle Boothe and Ernest Truex are organizing a producing firm. Operations will begin at once, and as soon as a suitable play has been selected the out-of-town presentation will take place.

Rehearsals for the new Alice Brady play have been temporarily postponed while Miss Brady recovers from a minor throat operation. Casting for the piece will probably be complete in about three weeks.

Arch Selwyn is to sail for America April 1 after completing all arrangements for next season's Charlotte's Romance. It is reported that Beatrice Lillie and Gertrude Lawrence will have an almost entirely new supporting company.

David Belasco has left New York in order to work on a new play. The exact location of his retreat is being kept carefully secret, but it is learned thru the producer's offices that he has conceived a great idea for his next production and wants to be alone to work it out.

Lightnin', which is now playing in London, is the soundest financial success of any American dramatic production in the British capital, according to the John Golden offices. The play is selling out regularly and seems set for a record-breaking run.

Henry W. Savage is still very much in the market for a new play for Flora Le Breton, who was last seen in Lass o' Lougher. Mr. Savage announces that manuscripts submitted to him and marked "For Flora Le Breton" will get quick consideration and, if found suitable, immediate production.

Robert Milton will do a picture for Famous Players at the Long Island City studios. He also is waiting for the London production of The Letter, Somerset Maugham's new melodrama, which he will present here next season. Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, now appearing in The Guardsman at the Booth Theater, New York, will continue with the Theater Guild next season, when it is possible they may be seen in Shaw's Arms and the Man. Mr. Lunt's mother is at present in New York from Minneapolis just to see her son and daughter-in-law in their present piece.

Arthur Hopkins and members of the What Price Glory cast were guests of honor at a tea dance given last week by the Dug-Out Club at the clubrooms, 18 East 58th street, New York, in celebration of the recent What Price Glory poster contest in which Herbert F. Rose, of the advertising firm of Coe, Rose, won first prize. Many prominent social and theatrical people were present.

Albert Bruning will be the voice of the Egyptian god, Ra, to whom Shaw has entrusted the prolog to Cleopatra and Cleopatra, the Theater Guild's next production at the new Guild Theater, New York. This prolog was originally written for the Drury Lane farwell to the London performances of Sir Johnstone Forbes Robertson in the play in 1913. Its object was to dispense with the first scene, thus saving time. In the Guild production, however, both prolog and first scene will be given.

"Out of the Night"

New Mystery Drama Tried Out
By Mack Players of Lynn,
Mass.—Good Bill for Stock

Lynn, Mass., April 4.—The John R. Mack Players tried out at the Auditorium Theater this week a new mystery drama called Out of the Night, written by Harold Hutchinson, leading man of the company, and his wife, Margery Williams, leading woman with the All New Colonial Players of Lawrence, Mass. The play has a strong strain of good hokum comedy all the way thru and went over big the night it was reviewed. While its success on Broadway would be quite doubtful it would make an excellent vehicle for stock, once the authors go over the script and make some obvious changes. It shows great promise and certainly supplies an evening of suspense. Hutchinson directed the play and did a fine job of it. Out of the Night tells the story of a wealthy old man who is mysteriously murdered in his summer cabin in Maine, where he went in the middle of winter after announcing to his friends and family that he was sailing for Europe. His body is found in a huge arm chair during the first act and the remaining two acts proceed to solve the mystery of his murder. Very many complications are brought in, enough to leave the audience guessing till the end of the last act.

This reviewer would venture the suggestion that the love theme be made a little more pronounced all the way thru and that the final curtain, instead of going down on the heroine who is really responsible for solving the mystery, shaking hands with the minions of the law, be brought down on the lovers in fond embrace, declaring their love. Some of the scenes could also be dressed down a little, and a bit of the explaining blue-pencilled, as at present several people cover the same ground several times. Harold Hutchinson as Tom Holland, the nephew, gave a fine performance without overdoing it. His was a life-like portrayal of his role. No doubt he lived it while creating it. He certainly put it over in great style. Hazle Burgess carried the part of Kathryn Smith, the old man's ward, and was her usual self—which is saying much, for this reviewer enjoyed Miss Burgess' work when she was with companies in New Jersey. She is a talented and finished actress and can always be banked upon for a corking performance. She was living the character of a nervous girl who is worried about her lover and is constantly on edge. Miss Burgess was equal to every strain of the role. In the supporting cast we found Edwin H. Kasper, who played the constable and supplied all the comedy, but played it a little too well; nevertheless he made it a silly yet likable, even lovable, old man. Kasper is the juvenile man of the company, so carrying a character part was an accomplishment. Ben Hadfield as Zeln, man servant of the wealthy victim, did a fine job as the slow-moving, slow-speaking Hindoo. John Maek, who owns the company, had one of those "heavy-thinking" parts—he was the dead man and was forced to sit in the chair all thru the first act with his back to the audience; he had one scene of about three minutes in the final act during which he proved himself an actor of no mean ability. Margaret McArthur, Louise Jolly, Garth Rogers, Louis Wolford and David Baker all did fine work. Miss Jolly's role being the fattest of the five, as she was the woman doctor. Wolford gave a good account of himself as stage manager and the set John A. Thompson built was a good one indeed. A very snappy five-piece ladies' orchestra supplies the music at this house, under the direction of Hazel R. Moulton. Its work went from the classical to the modern and back to the classical.

Douglas Hope in Cast

New York, April 4.—Helen Robinson arranged a special engagement for Douglas Hope with Loew's Seventh Avenue Players for the presentation of Three Weeks, the current week's attraction. She also engaged E. M. Johnson for general business with C. A. Brainstead, manager of the Elia Kramer Players at Connelisville, Pa.

Bruce in Columbus

Columbus, O., April 4.—Robert Bruce has been engaged by the Floy Murray-Ralph Harold Players as director of productions for a season of stock at the Hartman Theater, opening April 20 with Just Married.

POLICING PATRONS

LOEW'S 7TH AVE. THEATER

When visiting Loew's Seventh Avenue Theater, New York, for the purpose of reviewing Kiki, we overheard a portly, prosperous-looking man remark: "Ye gods, look! What will women be doing next? Looking in the direction to which he pointed we observed an unusually orderly lineup of patrons in the lobby being policed by a woman in gray uniform, and like the aforementioned speaker, we felt like saying the same. Lack of time then prevented any closer investigation of the innovation, but later we again visited Loew's for the sole purpose of ascertaining why the male special officer had been replaced by a woman. Seeking out Elmer J. Walters, supervising manager of the house, we inquired of him why the change and he replied, "Before discussing the subject I wish you would keep tabs on our policewoman this evening and see where she fits into the scheme for the better policing of our patrons, for she is here for that purpose only and not for the protection of the house along the lines usually pursued by a private policeman."

We retired to the background to observe the policewoman, a majestic appearing blonde, with a beautiful, yet typically characteristic face and military carriage.

She kept the line moving in an orderly manner until every seat in the house was filled and many were standing. A group of men evidently professionals, conversed in audible tones as the curtain ascended. The policewoman stopped at the edge of the group and without a look or act from her they quietly dispersed. Following her to the balcony, where a child had just started to cry, we saw her walk to the seat, pat the child on the head, whisper something in its ear, and the child with an upturned face ceased crying immediately, concentrating its attention on the stage. During intermission we saw one of those classily attired, yet hard-boiled appearing young fellows, who by their look and act, give one the impression of antagonism to rules and regulations, and this was further evidenced by his act of lighting a cigaret as he walked slowly toward the smoking room. He had no sooner lit the match than the policewoman touched him on the arm, at the same time whispering in his ear, and strange to say he blushed like a school girl while crumpling the lighted cigaret in his hand, with an audible "Excuse me, Loidy." In the lobby after the performance, we saw the same fellow accompanied by a young flapper leaving the theater. The policewoman recognizing him, smiled at him and nodded a pleasant "Good Night" to him and his girl. Stepping closer we overheard him say to his companion, "That skirt is all right. She caught me wid de goods and I sloughed de smoke, but if it had been one of dem clucks, I'd a beaned 'im. Gee, de skirts are getting into everything."

Lyric Players Celebrated Third Anniversary

Atlanta, Ga., April 4.—Gavin Harris, character man and assistant director of productions for the Lyric Players, closed his engagement owing to a call from his home in Topeka, Kan., for his personal management of property owned by him in that city. Mr. Harris was popular with his associate players and patrons, who evidenced their regret at his departure. He was succeeded by Stephen Clark, who is already a favorite with the patrons. Last week's repetition of the presentation of The Fool was a record breaker for patronage, and the current week's presentation of Kiki celebrates the Lyric's third anniversary of stock.

National Art Players Used Pinch Hitters

Paterson, N. J., April 3.—Tom McKnight, second man of the National Art Players at the Lyceum Theater, was stricken suddenly ill, and it was necessary for James Durkin, director of productions, to step into McKnight's role in Ladies' Night Saturday night, and for Seth Arnold to get up in a 70 side part for McKnight's role in Monday's presentation of Little Lord Fauntleroy, in which Arnold won fresh laurels for versatility.

Beebe for Atlanta

Houston, Tex., April 4.—Stuart Beebe, formerly with the Palace Players, and prior to that with the Lyric and Forsythe Players in Atlanta two seasons, is considering a proposition from the University in Atlanta, which is planning a chair of dramatic art for the next term.

LOEW THE LEADER

Elmer J. Walters, supervising manager of Loew's Seventh Avenue Theater, New York, is a strong advocate of woman suffrage, and has appointed a local woman as special officer. Her advent at Loew's sets a new standard of deportment in the box-office lineup of patrons and gods of the gallery.

Stuart Walker's Expansion To Four-City Circuit

A four-city circuit of repertory companies is the ambitious program outlined by Stuart Walker for the delight of Middle-Western drama lovers the coming summer. One company already established in Cincinnati is now in its third year, another company will open at the Victory Theater, Dayton, O., April 13, and other organizations will be established in Indianapolis and Columbus during the course of the next few months. With the establishment of the four-city circuit it is Mr. Walker's intention to shift entire companies from one city to another each week. The plays to be presented will be recent Broadway successes and other plays of exceptional merit. Players who have appeared in Cincinnati with the Stuart Walker Company in past seasons, and some of whom again will appear with the company the coming summer include such well-known Broadway lights as Blanche Yurka, Elliott Nugent, McKay Morris, Julia Hoyt, Elizabeth Patterson, Ann Davis, Margalo Gilmore, Franee Bendtsen, Donald MacDonald, Margaret Mower and numerous others, equally well known in production and stock circles.

The current season the Stuart Walker Company has presented such elaborate and beautiful productions as Spanish Love, Liliom, If I Were King, My Lady's Dress and Old Heidelberg. George Sonnes will be general stage director of all Stuart Walker productions and William Fields, formerly of the Ziegfeld press department, will be general press representative for Mr. Walker.

Edna Earl Andrews a Hit at New Haven

New York, April 4.—A writer on a New Haven (Conn.) newspaper, in his review of the Poli Players' presentation of Sony Boy at the New Hyperion Theater recently, commended Edna Earl Andrews, viz.: "But the member of the cast whose work appealed most to me last night and whom everyone was 'with' from the moment she appeared on the boards was Edna Earl Andrews, playing the part of Charley Crosby's blind mother. She is immense, and, incidentally, has the first really big hit that I have seen her in this season."

Wilson for Vaudeville

Houston, Tex., April 4.—Stewart Wilson, former juvenile man of the Palace Players, has entreated for New Orleans to play a role in Embarrassing Moments, a vaudeville skit, with Florence Enright. The act is scheduled for a tour of the Orpheum Time following a presentation at the Orpheum Theater in the Crescent City.

"A Naughty Night"

Presented by the Blaney Players.
Featuring Millicent Hanley,
Cecil Spooner, Florence Mc-Grath, Percy Kilbride and Victor Sutherland

New York, April 4.—Sam Hurtig, progressive manager of Hurtig & Seamon's Yorkville Theater in the heart of Harlem, extended his advertising activities during the past week in heralding the presentation of A Naughty Night, by John Floyd, with an all-star stock cast of Metropolitan favorites, with the result that standing-room audiences attended every performance.

Prolog

With Millicent Hanley and Cecil Spooner, former leading women of the company, and Percy Kilbride, former comedian, added to the regular cast in the presentation of a play new to patrons, the latter expected something out of the ordinary, and it is our personal opinion that play and players met with their expectations and then some, for seldom have we sat thru a presentation of any kind that evoked more real laughter and applause than this wild farce comedy of complexes, a term used frequently by one of the female participants.

Play

The scene is laid in a modern apartment hotel reception room, with doors leading to different apartments. One apartment is occupied by a newly married couple, mild-mannered juveniles. Another is occupied by a movie vamp and her husband, the latter an inoffensive chap. Into the scene comes a lawyer staging a collusion with two female correspondents, aiding the movie vamp to procure a divorce; likewise two juvenile correspondents for local newspapers, one the pretty fiancée of the lawyer, seeking shelter in what she assumes to be the untenanted apartment of the newlyweds, supposed by her to be on their honeymoon, and the other a namefictitious correspondent seeking scandal for his paper. A mother-in-law of the newlyweds, an adept at hypnotism and other isms, a booze-drinking butler and a vivacious maid make up the balance of the participants. As this is a new play, being given a preliminary presentation and in all probability not intended for stock release, further description in detail may work an injustice to the author. Suffice it to say that we have seldom reviewed a presentation of any kind that afforded us more enjoyment than A Naughty Night.

Players

Percy Kilbride carried the burden of comedy and as a legitimate light comedian he evoked continuous laughter and applause at his affectations of mild mannerism that concealed a wild complex.

Millicent Hanley, as the movie vamp, with her brunet beauty, slender symmetrical form, in frequent changes of costly and attractive gowns and athletic suit in a gym scene, together with a modified French accent and mannerism, was alluring in her personality and acting achievements in a role that called for finesse. Madeline Hunt, as the correspondent, mistaken by her lawyer fiancée as a correspondent, was the personification of pleasing personality and vivaciousness thruout the entire presentation in a role in which she was justly entitled to be featured. Cecil Spooner, as the maid, evidenced her comedienneship in several scenes, in which she shared comedy-making laurels with Comedian-Kilb Ide. Victor Sutherland, leading man, as the conspiring lawyer, was perfectly at home in the role and aided materially in making the presentation as a whole commendable. Leonard Lord, the fanciful reporter, also aided materially in the comedy making by his timidity in a characterization that in less able hands could have been made objectionable. Robert E. Lawrence, the loving, yet self-effacing husband, willing to be compromised and divorced, gave a finished performance of a difficult role. Frances McGrath, as the newly wed bride, was the personification of the able actress in scenes, but working at a great disadvantage in the delivery of lines, due to evident voice, Gertrude Ritchie, as the mother-in-law, handled an unusual role admirably. Agnes Sanford and Rae Bennett, mercenary correspondents of the gold-digging type, enacted their roles with a realism that was really admirable, and Ziegfeld, in seeking pretty faces and modelsque forms, should see these two females in dishabille.

COMMENT

If this play doesn't receive sufficient recognition to warrant its production on Broadway we stand convicted of misjudgment. If the author, who is unknown to us, would his fortune make he should spend his summer writing bits for burlesque and supply a long-felt demand for double entendre that is actor proof, for whoever he may be he has proved himself a master of double entendre that is not only relished by men but by women of intellect and refinement not biased by an affectation of prudeness.

Brockton Players' Fashion Show

Brockton, Mass., April 4. — Manager James J. Hayden supplemented this week's production of In the Next Room at the City Theater with a Style Show, using living models to display the latest modes in feminine apparel furnished by local shops. The fashion parade included Helen Mayson, leading woman, and Myrtle Clark, ingenue of the company. To complete the quota of models Madeline McCarthy, of Mollie F. Hurley's Four Hurley Dancers, and Mildred Farrar, professional beauty and star of leading style shows, were added.

Manager Hayden appeared in the current attraction as Parks, doing some clever character work. His portrayal of the unemotional huttler brought enthusiastic press notices in recognition. Last week members of the Dexter Club attended a performance of Molly Darling, in which the guest star, Busby Berkeley, and Myrtle Clark had the leading roles, to pay honor and tribute to a brother Dexter, Bernard Burke, juvenile. Between acts they presented him with a handsome gold watch of 17 jewels, Alderman Arthur A. Hendrick making a speech. Mr. Burke is the first and only honorary member of the club. Kenneth Macomber, leader of the City Theater orchestra, and his wife, Mildred Mitchell, extra ingenue, have resigned their positions with Messrs. Casey and Hayden and joined hands with Karl Mayne and his wife, Hazel Tuxbury, in organizing the MacMayne Players. This new repertoire company is now touring New England.

Shipwrecked will be the next attraction. Electrician Charles Thomas motored to New Bedford to inspect the effects used in the burning steamer scene by the New Bedford Players in order to duplicate them here for the coming week's presentation.

"Nap Incorporated" To Sponsor Additional Stocks

New York, April 4.—The recent announcement that the National Art Players were about to expand their operations by taking over the Brandels Theater, Omaha, Neb., caused sufficient discussion on Broadway to warrant a further investigation, which disclosed the fact that Sam Genese, manager, with Thomas Coill Cook, director of productions at Paterson Billy Watson's Lyceum Theater, and Dan Guggenheim, manager of the house, have been sufficiently successful with the National Art Players as a stock company to warrant an expansion of their activities under the title of "Nap Incorporated," under the laws of New Jersey. The new corporation, the name of which is a cant word made up of the first initials of the National Art Players, already has leased for an indefinite period the beautifully appointed Brandels Theater in Omaha, and has under consideration the leasing of other theaters throughout the country and possibly in Canada. Additional stock companies of National Art Players are to be formed to present the best plays in Nap's other theaters.

According to the certificate of incorporation, Nap, Inc., is to have a capitalization of 500 shares of preferred stock, of a par value of $100 each, and 500 shares of common stock of no nominal value. Its incorporators are Daniel Guggenheim, manager of the Lyceum Theater, who is named as statutory agent in charge of the corporation's principal office, at 123 Van Houten street, Paterson, N. J., which is the address of the Lyceum Theater, and who holds four shares of preferred and five shares of common; Nelson H. Jaap, of Altho the corporation has not as yet held its organization meeting, it is understood that Mr. Genese will be elected president; Mr. Guggenheim, secretary-treasurer, and Mr. Jaap, who will have charge of the National Art Players at the Brandels, vice-president. Nap, Inc., expects to open in Omaha May 11. Mr. Genese was identified with Broadway producing firms and notable stage successes for several years prior to his advent in Paterson. Mr. Guggenheim practiced law in Paterson for many years prior to becoming legal counselor and business manager for Billy Watson who controls the Lyceum Theater, housing the National Art Players and the Orpheum Theater, presenting Columbia Burlesque Circuit attractions. Mr. Guggenheim is also interested with Mr. Watson in the franchise holding and operating rights of several bus lines having their terminal in Paterson, and for several years toured the country as manager of the Billy (Beef Trust) Watson Burlesquers.

Mr. Jaap is well known in stock circles as a heavy lead, having appeared with the Malcolm Fassett Players at Louisville, Ky.; Howard Rumsey Players at Rochester, N. Y.; Leonard Woods (Jr.) Players at Washington, and numerous other stock companies, and more recently in productions, having played the heavy lead in The Shame Woman and juvenile lead in Busby Body, with Ada Lewis. Mr. Jaap will have full charge of the National Art Players at Omaha. James Durkin has succeeded Thomas Coffin Cook as director of the productions at Paterson until the close of the current season, and then will accompany the party to Omaha.

John Litel Stricken

New York, April 4.—John Litel, leading man of the Seventh Avenue Players at Loew's Seventh Avenue Theater, who has been forced to exit from the east on several occasions during the past three weeks due to illness, was again stricken Thursday while enacting his role in Charley's Aunt, and on the imperative order of the attending physician retired from the cast. His role last night and today was taken by Arthur Cosgrove. The return of Litel to the company Monday night was forecast. Cosgrove goes to the Metropolis Theater April 11 to become a member of the Frank Bond Players.

Edna Park Players Sued

San Antonio, Tex., April 4.—Suit for a receiver for the Edna Park Players was filed here in district court by a member of the company, who alleges that she advanced the concern money for a part interest, with the understanding that she take part in the plays. Allegations are that she has taken part in but three plays and has never seen an accounting of the receipts. Jack Edwards directs the company, which now is playing at Beethoven Hall.

Blanche Wilcox Is Leading Woman

New York, April 4.—Thru an error in the report from Paul Scott's office, it appeared that Bessie Gross had been engaged as leading woman for the Myrkle-Harder Stock Company, whereas it should have appeared ingenue, for the reason that Blanche Wilcox has been leading woman of the company for two years, and continues as such indefinitely.

Frank Bond Players

New York, April 4.—The Frank Bond Players will open an indefinite season at the New Metropolis Theater April 11 in The Bat. Included in the cast are Frank Bond, leading man; Maxine Flood, leading woman; Arthur Cosgrove, Jane Marbury and Blanche Grainger.

Bonstelle Players

Presented "The Goose Hangs High" With Mrs. Richard Mansfield in Cast

Detroit, April 4.—The Goose Hangs High was presented at the Garrick Theater by a company on tour about four weeks ago to capacity audiences, and the demand of disappointed patrons for an opportunity to see this laugh-evoking comedy induced Jessie Bonstelle to arrange for its production and presentation by the Bonstelle Players at the new Bonstelle Playhouse, where it has had a run for the past four weeks to a full house at every performance. Miss Bonstelle, a life-long friend of the late Richard Mansfield and his charming wife, induced the latter to take a prominent part in the presentation of The Goose Hangs High, and Mrs. Mansfield's return to the stage after a 20-year retirement was greeted with an ovation at her first performance. She was the recipient of many floral tributes and commendation from her associate players, press and patrons.

Recent Releases

New York, April 4.—The Co-National Play Company recently released for dramatic stock presentation Little Miss Bluebeard, in which Irene Bordoni starred successfully; Grounds for Divorce, the former starring vehicle of Ina Claire under the Frohman management; Hell Bent for Heaven (in restricted territory), Expressing Willie, that was a success at the Actors' Theater, and Mitnick, the Winthrop Ames comedy. With these releases on the market there will be a great stimulation in stock where the management had presented all the popular plays formerly released for stock.

Temple Players' Changes

Hamilton, Can., April 4.—Cliff Schaufele, directing manager of the Temple Players, has made several changes in the company, of which Jack Soanes is director of productions. William J. Naughton and Alice Baker have succeeded Frank Bond and Zora Garver. Due to the sale of the Majestic Theater in London and the prospective close of Schaufele's Majestic Players, Lyle Clement, a great favorite in this city, will succeed Douglas Cosgrove, Louis Ablon, who was out of the cast due to illness, recovered sufficiently to return in Peg o' My Heart for Monday's opening.

Eveta Nudsen Players

San Antonio, Tex., April 3.—Playing The Heart of Wetona, the Eveta Nudsen Stock Company closed a brief engagement at the Plaza Theater Saturday. The house in all probability will revert to a motion picture policy. Prior to the Nudsen Company's opening the Edna Park Players held the boards.

Lafayette Players

Philadelphia, April 4.—George MacEntee has closed an eight-week engagement as director of productions for the Lafayette Players, a colored stock company at the Dunbar Theater, and entrained for New York.

Gene Lewis-Olga Worth

Memphis, Tenn., April 4.—The Gene Lewis-Olga Worth Players at the Lyceum Theater did not close their season March 30, as erroneously reported, but will continue their presentations until May 2.

Cloninger Players

Salt Lake City, April 4.—Ralph Cloninger and his players at the Wilkes Theater presented a revival of Corlanton, famous Mormon play, as the attraction for the current week.

Clive Company of High Order
Specializing in Works of Noted English Authors, Strong Following Developed in Boston

Boston, April 4.—In accordance with his announced plan to turn the Copley Theater into a producing center, E. E. Clive, managing director of the Boston Repertory Company, which holds forth at that theater, presented Mary's John, a new comedy, by Harold Brighouse, author of Hobson's Choice and other plays. The play is in three acts, the second one being in three scenes, and the action takes place between Lancashire and London, England. If Clive hopes to make any real progress with his producing-center idea, he will have to find much better plays than Mary's John, which, while it is amusing and entertaining, and is, no doubt, true to the life it concerns, is not of Broadway caliber. Some of the dialog is very amusing, but it smacks of vaudeville, reminding of the age-old comic and straight-man combination.

Clive did a good job with the direction of the play and the company did a good job of the acting, but the vehicle itself is weak. It may prove popular with companies such as this one, but there are not enough of them to promise much for the piece. Were the same idea utilized to make an American comedy, the action being set between a small town somewhere in the Middle West, we'll say, and New York, the result might be much more effective. At any rate it would give an opportunity for some of that rapid cross-fire comedy so common to our stage but less common with our English brothers, and for much poking of fun at modern business methods and the Babbitts of this broad land.

Alan Mowbray was John Bowyer and May Ediss Mary, his wife. Both gave splendid performances, Miss Ediss' work being a little bit the best. E. E. Clive, as Aaron Sharrocks, Mary's father; Elspeth Dudgeon as her mother and Phillip Tonge as her brother Tom all did fine work in character parts. In the supporting cast were Jessamine Newcombe, Francis Compton, C. Wordley Hulse, Victor Tandy and Katherine Standing.

This company as a whole is one of the best in the East today, if not the entire United States. Every member is an actor of long standing, many past successes and much experience, which is reflected in the work. Close attention is paid to every detail of line, business or action, and the result is a very finished performance of the highest order. They have a very strong following locally among those who appreciate the better form of drama, for they specialize in the work of Shaw, Barrie, Pinero and other English authors. There are among their patrons people who come week after week without knowing till they reach the theater what is on the program for the evening, so sure are they of spending a pleasant evening. JACK F. MURRAY.

Policing Patrons at Loew's 7th Ave. Theater

That fellow was typical of many others of his kind. A soft word from a tactful woman accomplished more than a burly policeman could have done under similar conditions.

This should not give anyone the impression that the balcony patrons of Loew's are tough or roughs, but in every theater there are to be found occasionally young fellows of his kind, ever resentful of restrictions. Reporting our findings to Manager Walters, and commending him on his innovation, and his policewoman on her discernment and tact in handling patrons, Mr. Walters discussed the change in his own way as follows: "The moral effect of this woman circulating about the theater, wearing a special's badge of authority, is working in harmony for 'cause and effect' as previously planned. The appearance in the theater of a sensible, painstaking policewoman carries conviction. Mothers feel they can send their daughters here in perfect safety. In the installation of the policewoman great care was taken in the selection. The woman now serving in this capacity is able to administer first aid in cases of sudden illness, and to serve as a sort of hostess to patrons desiring her services. She is not only agreeable in manner but radiates sunshine with her pleasing personality, showing more courtesy to both sexes than has been the custom among men who have served theaters in this line of work. Loew's, Inc., we believe to be the first theatrical firm to introduce this splendid idea to its patrons. Perchance it will serve to open a new field of employment to capable women. A police captain was consulted before the move was put into effect. While this particular official doesn't happen to be wholly in accord with the extension of suffrage, at least where police duty is concerned, he frankly agreed the introduction of women as special 'cops' in theaters would lend a certain morale. At any rate, this unusually novel feature for the lobby more than likely will be widely copied."

L. D. Brunk's Comedians on 104th
 Week of Tour Without a Layoff

Show Back on Oklahoma Stands
 After Several Months' Traveling Thru Texas

Temple, Ok., April 3.—The L. D. Brunk Comedians, after 25 weeks in Texas, are back in Oklahoma. The show is piloted by Col. M. A. Moseley, who knows most every town from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Extreme cold weather was experienced only for three days at Christmas, and the only misfortune befalling the company during the winter was the death January 15 of "Toh" McIntosh, a fine comedian and one of the most lovable characters in the profession. The company now lines up as follows: Roy S. Fisher, manager; Ethel Snow and Otis Eaton, leads; Mary Hoover, ingenue; Ray Newell, comedian; Guy Long, heavies; Chas. Drew Mack, general business; Mrs. Ray Fisher, character woman; Jack Latham, character man; Claude Payne, stage manager; Roy Kinkle, leader of orchestra; Mrs. Kinkle, pianist; LaMont, clarinet; Ralph Littleton and Charley Mack, slide trombones; Claude Payne, cornet; Chas. Myers, baritone; Joe Chenelworth, traps, and a band of 10 under the leadership of Big Jack Latham. The show uses most of Chas. Harrison's plays, as well as E. C. Paul's Mystic Island and George Crawley's latest play, Stepping on the Gas. The front is in charge of L. D. Brunk, assisted by Mrs. Joe Chenelworth and Billy Nolan. Bill Hall, "Sims" Carlton and "Blackie" Davis compose the working crew. This week is the 104th without a layoff.

HAZEL McQUEEN STOCK

King Felton Engaged as Feature Attraction—Tent Tour To Open May 28

Falls City, Neb., April 4.—While the Hazel McQueen Stock Company was playing here King Felton, magician, billed as "the man of mystery", was the guest of Manager Ralph R. Moody and signed a contract for the summer season to be the special feature attraction. The season will open at Loup City, Neb., May 28. Felton "caught" the company's bill, Oh, Doctor, in which Mr. Moody plays the doctor, giving a very clever character. Afterward Felton met members of the company and had dinner with them, later performing a few of his tricks. Besides Felton there will be added a full orchestra. The show will travel by rail with a special baggage car. Felton will close his mystery show the last of April to get ready for the canvas season.

ANGELL'S 31ST SEASON OVER THE SAME ROUTE

Kansas City, Mo., April 4.—Angell's Comedians, under the management of J. S. Angell and Nell E. Schaffner, will open under canvas in Iowa early in May. This will be the 31st consecutive season for this show over the same route. Mr. Angell will have a company of 18 people, including a five-piece orchestra. Ruth Angell will be seen in the leads, with Ted Angell in the comedy parts. An unusually strong line of plays will be presented, among them being E. L. Paul's Mystic Island, Nell E. Schaffner's The Old Grouch and What Every Daughter Learns. The Vulture will be repeated in many towns this season as an alternate feature. Mr. Angell's own play, Taming a Plapper, probably will be the opening play.

Gertrude Walsh on Road In Rural Comedy-Drama

Devils Lake, N. D., April 4.—Gertrude Walsh, formerly with the Rowe & Walsh Comedy Company, is now on tour to the Pacific Coast. In the L. B. Christ production of Uncle Josh Spruceby the show playing here to excellent business. W. S. Grigg is cast as Uncle Josh, ably supported by Miss Walsh as Susie and Olivette Daniels as Aunt Martha; Fred Forbes, as Happy Bill, a tramp; Frank C. Daniels, as Zeke, assisted in the comedy element by the versatile comedian, Dan F. Rowe, as Silas, with Blanche McIntyre as Rosie, a country girl. Prof. Frank H. Daniels and his band and orchestra constitute the musical end. Dan Wright is first agent in advance, with Bert Snow second.

Kell's Comedians Meeting With Favor in Southwest

Illness of Tommy Bolt, Little Mascot of Show, Is Lone Unpleasantness of Tour

Clarksville, Tex., April 3.—Little Tommy Bolt, mascot of Kell's Comedians, is under doctors' care suffering from congestion of the lungs. The boy's sickness has been the only thing marring the pleasure of the company's visit to this section. The matinee last Saturday was a record breaker for this show, the attendance being augmented by 500 members of the Corn-Fed 14g Club, who came in a body from their annual convention. To celebrate the occasion Manager Kell presented a six-cylinder automobile of a special coach type, the latest model. Phillips and Seymour kept the pace by purchasing a new enclosed car. While the show was at Hugo, Ok., it received a visit from Dr. and Mrs. Hightower, well-known medicine show people. Another visitor was Ethan Allen, of the Roberts Sisters' Stock Company. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Masten, who closed with the Brunk Show and were motoring to Illinois to join Choate's Comedians, stopped over at Maiver, Ark., to visit Kell's Comedians. Following is the personnel of the band, which gives daily concerts: Cornets, Harry Valpo, leader; Roland Wachtel and W. J. Eppinger, Clarinet, Arlie Bolt; alto, Addie Allen; trombone, F. Flint; baritone, Lenore L. Connelly; bass, Leon Phillips; snare drum, Walter Denny; bass drum, Eddie McKinney, and Tommy Bolt.

Jolly Players Find Business Good in S. W.

S. Everett Evans writes The Billboard from Claude, Tex., under date of April 2 that Evans & Oldfield's Jolly Players, organized some four months ago, have so far found business quite satisfactory in Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas. "We will play a few weeks in New Mexico from here," writes Mr. Evans, "and expect to open under canvas about the middle of May without losing any time—that is, going from one week in a house to the following week under canvas. The company has made friends and has left a good impression and we have been offered many return dates."

The company roster is as follows: Homer and Della Oldfield, S. Everett Evans, Bernice Hughes, Mildred Evans, Ferdinand Cox, Sherman Cox and Ira F. Lewis. The company travels overland in cars, using a large truck to transport trunks and scenery. While playing Waynoka, Ok., Bernice Hughes, who spent about two years of her childhood in Waynoka, was surprised by visits from old friends who remembered her, and was further surprised when her mother and sister came on there and visited with her during the entire engagement.

Reports Shortage of Actors

Kansas City, Mo., April 4.—Karl F. Simpson reports a serious shortage of good repertoire actors. There is a large number of shows organizing in this territory, as Kansas City is rapidly becoming known as the world's largest repertoire center and one of the greatest seasons in several years is anticipated by tented dramatic companies.

Effie Johnson Players

Kansas City, Mo., April 4.—Mr. and Mrs. George Pugh have arrived from Portland, Ore., and, after putting in several busy days securing people for the Effie Johnson Players from the Felst Exchange, inform that they have a complete A-1 cast lined up. The company will open under canvas about May 1.

Bennett Leasing Gamble Plays

A. Milo Bennett, Chicago play broker, is leasing three new plays by E. L. Gamble. They are Ginger & Son, Country Folks and The Red Idol.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Burton have signed with the Bud Hawkins Players for the season.

NONA NUTT

Of the Ed. C. Nutt Players, for years one of the most popular leading women in the Midwest, has had a successful season in her husband's stock company at Pensacola, Fla. She has created many leads in her time and is immensely popular wherever she appears, both professionally and personally. She plays all kinds of leads from ingenues to heavy emotional parts with real skill.

REP. RIPPLES FROM K. C.

Kansas City, Mo., April 4.—Fred Hillman, having secured people for Hillman's Ideal Stock Company, left here for Solomon, Kan., to arrange rehearsals.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rhoades, who spent the winter in California, are expected to arrive here the middle of the month and probably will accept a summer engagement with a dramatic tent show.

Abe Rosewald, manager of the Dubinsky Bros' No. 1 Show, was a Kansas City visitor Sunday.

Mrs. Edgar Jones went to Plano, Tex., to join her husband, who is opening Edgar Jones' Popular Players for the tent season.

Joe Sims, manager of the Helen B. Ross Company, was a visitor in the city. Mona Lee is visiting home folk in Omaha, Neb., but will be out on the road again this summer with the Mona Lee Players.

The Musical Gillmores, who lived in St. Joseph, Mo., the past winter, were here last week making arrangements for the road this season.

Arnold Gould, agent for the Schnitz Seymour Show, was a visitor here last week. He will manage one of the Dubinsky shows this summer under canvas. Jerry Dean joined Schnitz Seymour's Musical Comedy Company as juvenile man. He left here last week.

Baldy Wetzel is expected here about April 20 to frame his tent show for the season.

Agnes Bruce, formerly with the Minneapolis Stock Company, is a recent arrival and expects to work out of this territory during the summer. Jack Hoskins last week bought from Monte Stuckey his air callope and truck for his Eastern Mutt and Jeff Show.

There are two of the Dubinsky shows rehearsing here.

G. C. Loomis is busy getting his show ready to take the road. The Musical Ishams arrived yesterday by auto from New Orleans, La., where they spent part of the winter. They will remain here until booked for the summer season with a tent company.

Bud Hawkins Starts Off With Additional Equipment

Bud Hawkins notifies The Billboard from Taylorville, Ill., that the Bud Hawkins Players will open the season April 28 in Kentucky. His letter says: "A new 60x100-ft. tent is being built by the Baker-Lockwood Company for this season. New scenery and electrical effects will be added and a jazz orchestra and an acting cast of eight will be carried. Our long list of friends grows each year and a welcome back is always awaiting us in the towns we play."

REP. TATTLES

The Smith Willis Stock Company played Belleville, Ill., last week.

Tantish was the opening bill presented by Margaret Fuller and her stock company at Rockford, Ill., April 2.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Andrews motored the last of March from Chicago to Grand Falls, Newfoundland, to join the Arlie Marks Company.

Manager Menke, of the Goldenrod Showboat, has arranged to present the Sherman play, Spooks. Charles Bates, of New York, is director.

The Darr Gray Stock Company, which played thru Texas during the winter, is about ready to start north for the summer territory.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick R. Miller have joined one of Jack Hoskins' Mutt and Jeff shows at Oklahoma City, Ok., to do parts and specialties and play drums in the orchestra.

L. F. Flint, one of the youngest showmen in the business, making headquarters at Battle Creek, Mich., announces he will have a tent outfit this summer for his vaudeville and picture combination.

The Porter Stock Company will open its fourth summer season in May, using a new tent theater, with a larger and stronger company. The Porters were at the Park Theater, Moundsville, W. Va., the past week.

Emerson's Floating Playhouse started its season to good business in spite of snow and rain, March 31, at Morgantown, W. Va., where a week's engagement was played. The playhouse will exhibit at the principal cities on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and tributaries.

"Dad" Zeing communicates that he is in advance of a well-known show in Mississippi, attaching a postscript to the effect: "It does not matter whom I am with. It will be found out later." The letter mentions passing the J. C. O'Brien Show near Meridian, with the comment that the outfit was good looking and the show favorably commented upon.

Harry M. Heller has resumed his duties as agent for the Maude Henderson Company after several weeks at the U. S. Veterans' Hospital, Fort Harrison, Mont. "One only has to come to one of these hospitals," he writes, "to see the uselessness of the whole thing. Men are held week after week in these places in receiving wards, some of them even for months, with chance of getting not much done."

The Hughes Forbes Players opened the new Temple Auditorium at Perry, Ok., last week after a week's engagement at the Tivoli, Oxford, Kan. The foregoing was submitted by Ruth Stevens and purely as an afterthought she wrote: "Might add that five new oil wells have come in at the Graham field and the Heskett well came in one-half mile west of the Rainbow field, throwing oil over the derrick. Everything looks good for Oxford."

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Copeland, who have enjoyed a winter vacation at San Antonio, will open their tent show about May 1 at Temple, Tex., where their outfit is stored. "The weather has been fine all winter, in fact too good," according to a letter from Mr. Copeland, and as all of West Texas is very dry he feels the show business as well as other lines will suffer there this summer unless rain comes.

Liked "Tom" Show Article

Ellie Deane Palmer, Former Trouper, Found Story by Fletcher Smith Interesting

The article Uncle Tom Takes a Vacation, by Fletcher Smith, which appeared in The Billboard February 7, appears to have set the style for this form of literature, and it is interesting to note that Scribner's for April has an article, entitled Tom Shows, by J. Frank Davis. Few articles appearing in The Billboard have brought forth more letters from old-timers than this one delving into the trials and tribulations of Thespians presenting the grand old drama. It happens that the latest letter received emphasizes that trouping with Uncle Tom was real fun, never to be forgotten. The letter is from Ellie Deane Palmer, retired since a year ago, but "one of the old school and proud of it." She writes in part: "I read the account of the oldtimers who played Uncle Tom so many years ago and found it very interesting. But how about Daisie Markoe, a fine Towsy; also Kate Partington and Jay Huntington (now dead); Mrs. Gonzales, a great Opella; also Rusco and Holland? Come on, folks of 25 years ago! The writer has been with all the larger and better ones, including Dr. Morgan Stetson and Martin. With Stetson we played a show twice daily, as we played the cities with the No. 1 show. The old days were happy ones for me. We got a salary and room and board—good, homelike hotels, but bad theaters often."

Various Organizations Co-Operating To Provide Good Music for Hollywood

Preparedness is evidently the slogan of the several music organizations in Hollywood, Calif., as it seems no matter what event is to be celebrated or what the season may be for which music is to be arranged, plans are commenced in ample time to have all arrangements completed and everything going smoothly. This is true with the plans for the Easter Sunrise service in the Hollywood Bowl, also with the plans for the summer concerts in the new famous bowl. Marion Bowen, publicity chairman, reports that Mrs. J. J. Carter, president of the Hollywood Bowl Association, has completed every detail for what promises to be a tremendous gathering at the Easter Sunrise service in Hollywood Bowl, when Alice Gentle, American soprano, will sing Inflammatus from Rossini's Stabat Mater, with full orchestral accompaniment by the Hollywood Community Orchestra of 50 players augmented by 30 from the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra, conducted by Jay Plowe, of the Philharmonic. On the wide stage of the bowl the Los Angeles Bullock Chorus will sing the Hallelujah Chorus from the Messiah, directed by William Tyroler, formerly director at the Metropolitan Opera House, and in this chorus there will be about 500 voices. In addition there will be the Hollywood Children's Chorus of 400 voices, which is trained by one of the city's most popular song leaders and one of the best known directors in Southern California, Hugo Kirchhofer. This children's chorus will sing Christ the Lord Is Risen Today, Hallelujah, and the Davis Sisters (Sammy Sisters), standing at the highest rim of the bowl, will sound their silver trumpets. Conrad Nagel, famous screen star, will read a selection by Henry Van Dyck; four Hollywood pastors will participate in the program and the vast audience will sing old familiar English songs led by Mr. Kirchhofer and accompanied by the orchestra. In this Easter service Hollywood is definitely demonstrating that thru real community co-operation much can be accomplished that is free from commercialism inasmuch as citizens, movie stars, preachers, opera singers, industrial workers, choruses and musicians are all uniting to make the Sunrise service a beautiful event. Last Easter every one of the 25,000 seats in the bowl, as well as its wide aisles, were filled, and again this year thousands are expected to come to the immense natural amphitheater which has come to mean so much to all Southern California.

To further community interest in music there has been formed by the music department of the Hollywood Women's Club, of which Mrs. Carter is chairman, an organization to be known as Friends of Music, the purpose of which will be to improve conditions for musical artists and to bring music back to its rightful place in the daily lives of the people in the community. Mrs. Carter, in explaining the purpose of the organization, said: "All people should be free to enter the doors of concert halls to enjoy the pleasure and healing which music can give and by paying the artists always but opening the doors of the concert halls to the public. This can be done by every one sharing in the expense and has been tried successfully at Hollywood. At the first spring concert of the Hollywood Community Orchestra, in an auditorium seating 1,000, the doors were open to the entire community and the soloists presenting the program were paid." Mrs. Carter stated it was an interesting experiment which succeeded, and those in the audience who were benefited by the music gave such sums of money as they chose and thus made possible certain future concerts. Another feature of the work of the Friends of Music is the establishment of a Bureau of Unused Tickets, thru which tickets for concerts which many poor music lovers cannot afford, but which are bought and then discarded by wealthier patrons, are gathered into the bureau by its committee and then distributed among worthy music students.

Still another community activity is the Hollywood Community Chorus, which is now presided over by Mrs. Burdette Norton, head of the organized Business Women of Hollywood. The chorus, which has a membership of 1,500, has sung each week during the winter under the leadership of Hugo Kirchhofer and on many of its programs has had the assistance of noted artists. At the program presented during the last week of March Dorothea Bowen, head of the Denishawn School in Hollywood, presented a number of dances for the chorus, and for the concert of the first week in April Geoffrey O'Hara, well-known composer, was the guest artist.

The community enterprise which holds paramount interest in Hollywood, however, is the series of summer symphony concerts in the Hollywood Bowl. This year will be known as Festival Year and Mrs. Carter has announced the engagement of two of the most eminent conductors of the present time, and these are Fritz Reiner, director of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, and Rudolph Ganz, conductor of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, and probably Walter Damrosch, Ethel Lesjanska and possibly Leopold Stokowski. The Hollywood Bowl concerts have come to be recognized as one of the most important of the summer series of symphony concerts in this country. Again this year the prices will be kept at 25 cents a concert for season-ticket holders, thus assuring the continuance of public interest and making the concerts as nearly "free to all" as is possible. Truly the several musical organizations which thru their combined efforts make available the excellent music offered at these community events deserve unstinted praise and set an example which similar organizations in other cities thruout the country should emulate.

April Concerts in New York

Not many weeks remain in the present concert season and April engagements will bring to New York several artists well known in the music world. Among the events scheduled for performance in Carnegie Hall are a recital by DePachmann April 13, a song recital by Sophie Braslau on the 16th and April 18 Kitty Cheatham will give a concert with the assistance of a small orchestra. This event is scheduled for the afternoon and in the evening the Harvard Glee Club will be heard in one of its interesting programs. Of especial interest in the events to be presented in Aeolian Hall is a piano recital announced by William Bachaus for Saturday afternoon, April 11, and a concert by the Beethoven Association the following Monday evening. On April 22 the David Mannes Music School will give a program. In the Town Hall the distinguished Brazilian pianist, Guilomar Novaces, will be heard in one of her characteristic recitals, and the Society of the Friends of Music has announced a concert for April 12 in the afternoon. Following these Town Hall events will be a Mischa Elman Chamber Music Concert April 15, a program by the Vestoff-Serova School of Dancing April 18 and an organ recital by Dr. M. Mauro-Cottone, organist of the Capitol Theater, assisted by the Palestrina Choir of Philadelphia, April 19.

Boston Selected for First New England Band Meet

Boston has been selected as the city in which the first New England Band conclave will be held. The conclave will take place May 9 and will be sponsored by the New England Music Festival Association as one of the independent features of Boston's Civic Music Festival to be held May 4 to 10. The plans at present include a demonstration on Boston Common, then each band and orchestra will play in the arena and the finale will be a concert by the massed bands. Invitations are being sent thruout New England to boys' and girls' bands and orchestras, also school, college, scouts, civic and non-professional bands will be eligible.

Second Annual Concert Is Announced for Dextra Chorus

The Dextra Male Chorus has announced April 12 as the date of the second annual spring concert. The program will be presented with the assistance of M. Hamilton Hodges, baritone, from Australia, and Sonoma C. Talley, pianist, of the Institute of Musical Art of New York City. The chorus will be heard in spirituals, also selections from oratorios and songs arranged by William C. Elkins, director of the chorus.

Prices Lowered for Concerts By N. Y. Symphony Orchestra

Lovers of symphony music in New York City will have opportunity next season to obtain subscription tickets for the concerts of the New York Symphony at exceptionally low cost, according to the announcement just made by Harry Harkness Flagler, president of the Symphony Society. Mr. Flagler has issued a statement of prices showing that subscribers can obtain tickets for the 20 Sunday afternoon concerts next season at rates ranging from 35 cents upward and at a reduction of 10 per cent from the prices prevailing heretofore. A concertgoer will be able to buy a subscription ticket in the balcony for $5.60 for the 20 concerts to be given in the Mecca Auditorium on alternate Sunday afternoons. This reduction in price is made possible because the seating capacity of the new concert hall is three times as large as Aeolian Hall, where the New York Symphony has given its concerts for many seasons and the low price will bring these concerts practically within the reach of everyone at all desirous of enjoying symphonic music. A change in price will also be made for the Thursday and Friday concerts in Carnegie Hall, whereby the same rates will prevail for the afternoon and evening concerts, whereas heretofore the scale was higher for the programs presented in the evening.

Jascha Heifetz Will Tour The World for Two Years

At the conclusion of the present concert season Jascha Heifetz will in all probability not be heard in concerts in this country for about two years. The noted violinist is planning a world tour, which he expects to begin next fall in Great Britain, where he is booked for an extensive list of engagements. Next he will visit Germany, then France, Spain, Italy and Egypt, and if present plans are followed he will then return to Australia and New Zealand, where he played a few years ago. These engagements, it is expected, will keep him busy until 1927.

Damrosch To Conduct At White Plains Festival

A feature of the music festival to be held under canvas at White Plains, N. Y., will be a concert by the New York Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Walter Damrosch. The festival takes place May 14 to 16 under the direction of the Westchester County Recreation Commission, and Mr. Damrosch will direct 75 players of the New York Symphony each evening. There will also be programs by the festival chorus of 2,000 and among the soloists announced are Florence Easton, Arthur Middleton, Paul Althouse and Katherine Meisle.

New Aeolian Building Will Have Concert Hall

The Aeolian Company, of New York, has announced its new home will be built at Fifth avenue and 54th street and will be almost exclusively for its own use. The first floor will be occupied for its radio, piano and other musical instruments, also there will be a grand salon for the exhibition of Steinway Duo-Art pianos. Of interest to concertgoers of New York is the fact that the building will include a recital hall for intimate performances, as the hall will be built to accommodate but little more than 200 persons.

Henry G. Weber Promoted To Full Conductorship

The Chicago Civic Opera Company has engaged Henry G. Weber as a full-fledged conductor for next season's repertoire. The young American conductor served in the capacity of associate conductor with the Chicago organization this past season and fully demonstrated his ability; hence, the promotion. Mr. Weber will spend the summer in Europe visiting a number of the music festivals and will also stop some time in Milan with Toscanini at LaScala.

Spartanburg Announces Artists For Annual Music Festival

Spartanburg, S. C., will again this year have the annual music festival in Converse College Auditorium and the dates selected are May 6 to 8, inclusive. Frederick W. Wodell, director, whose untiring effort has made these festivals a feature in the South for several years, has arranged a brilliant program for the 1925 festival. There will be 11 soloists, an orchestra of 50 from the Philadelphia Festival Orchestra players, Dr. Thaddeus Rich, conductor; a children's chorus and a production of Martha with noted grand opera artists appearing in the principal roles. The festival will open with a presentation of the Messiah with a chorus of several hundred voices and the soloists will be Augusta Lenska, contralto of the Chicago Civic Opera Company; Lillian Gustafson, soprano; Fraser Gange, noted Scotch baritone, and Rhys Morgan, Welsh tenor. Thursday afternoon the program will be given by the orchestra with Ossip Gabrilowitsch, pianist, as soloist, and Thursday evening Martha will be presented, in which the principal roles will be sung by Frances Paperte, soprano of the Chicago Civic Opera Company; Fraser Gange, baritone; Marina Campanari, soprano, of the LaScala Opera Company of Milan; Rhys Morgan, tenor; Douglas Stanbury, baritone of the Chicago Opera Company and the Capitol Theater, New York. Friday afternoon the big children's chorus will sing a cantata and part songs under the leadership of Mrs. B. L. Blackwell, director, and in the same program Frances Paperte will sing a group of songs and several arias. Friday night will be known as Artists' Night and Mario Chamlee, dramatic tenor, and Rosa Ponselle, dramatic soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will be heard in operatic arias.

Philharmonic Appoints Conductors for Next Year

Clarence H. Mackay, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Philharmonic Society of New York, has announced Willem Mengelberg and Wilhelm Furtwaengler will be conductors of the Philharmonic Orchestra for the season of 1925-'26. Mr. Mengelberg will conduct the first part of the season, beginning October 15 and continuing until January 10. The concerts from the latter date until the close of the season will be led by William Furtwaengler, who made a sensational success when he conducted the Philharmonic Orchestra as guest conductor in the season which is just closing. Mr. Mackay also stated that Arturo Toscanini has consented to direct certain of the concerts in January, and as soon as these negotiations are concluded the definite dates of his appearance will be announced. This official announcement sets at rest the many queries as to whether Willem Van Hoogstraten would again conduct next season and also indicates that Mr. Hadley will no longer be associate conductor, which position he has held for several years.

Washington To Hear Chaliapin Easter Monday

An event which is being anticipated with much interest in Washington, D. C., is the forthcoming appearance of Feodor Chaliapin in the production of The Barber of Seville by the Washington Opera Company. The opera will be presented in the new Auditorium Easter Monday, April 13, with the noted Russian star at the head of the cast, and other artists will be Jose Malica, tenor; Ivan Ivantsoff, baritone, and Paolo Ananias, basso.

Hadley To Conduct For Apollo Musical Club

Henry Hadley will act as guest conductor at the next concert of the Apollo Musical Club in Chicago Monday evening, April 13. On this occasion his oratorio, Resurgam, will be presented under his leadership. The Chicago Symphony Orchestra will assist the chorus and the soloists include Helen Newitt, soprano; Lea Pratt, contralto; Theo Karle, tenor; Bernard Ferguson, baritone, and Calvin Lampert, organist.

New York Recitals

Katherine Bacon gave her last piano recital of the season in Aeolian Hall Monday evening, March 30, before a large audience. In Mozart's Sonata D-major she played with skill, excellent technique and expression but her reading of the Brahms Waltzes and compositions by Schubert was greatly marred by a seeming desire for volume in tone, and the Chopin number was not given with the understanding Miss Bacon has evidenced in previous recitals.

A packed auditorium greeted Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn at their last recital this season in Carnegie Hall, Tuesday evening, March 31. Their program was a repetition of that presented earlier in the month and again each number evidenced the artists' skill and showmanship of these distinguished dancers. Ruth St. Denis presented many numbers which have become favorites with her audiences, namely Schubert's Waltzes, Liebestraum and the Dance of the Black and Gold Sari, and several had to be repeated before the insistent applause ceased. Ted Shawn gave a most artistic interpretation of Godard's Adagio Pathetique, which brought many curtain calls. Doris Humphrey was delightful in a number which was given with a large hoop, and tremendous applause was won by Anne Douglas and Georgia Graham in a Chopin Valse (a la Lole) which was greatly added to by most effective lighting. In the Spanish number one missed the colorful setting used in its previous presentations, but again the excellent dancing of the principal roles by Ted Shawn and Ruth St. Denis, as well as the good work of the Denishawn Dancers, made this one of the most enjoyable of the program. Charles Weidman once more evidenced his ability as a character dancer in the number entitled Crap Shooter and he too had to repeat this dance. The Boston Fancy as danced by the Denishawn Dancers caused much laughter and the audience was loath to let them stop. The closing number of the program, The Vision of the Aïssoua, the newest of their productions, was in point of artistry, dancing lighting and costuming one long to be remembered. Space does not permit a detailed description of this Algerian Dance drama, but Ruth St. Denis, as the dancing girl, sold to make money for the tribe to which she belonged, and Ted Shawn, first as a youth of the same tribe and later as a religious fanatic, demonstrated again their exceptional creative ability in the expression of emotion thru the medium of the dance. The assisting dancers were also very satisfactory in their several roles. The artists assisting in addition to those already mentioned were Pauline Lawrence, Ruth Austin, Lenore Hellekson, Ernestine Day, Pearl Wheeler, George Steares, Howie Fisher and Ralph Parker.

The New York Symphony Orchestra and Walter Damrosch, conductor, gave a distinctly modern program Thursday afternoon, April 2, to a clamorous audience drawn to Carnegie Hall, more especially to hear that universal favorite, Rachmaninoff. A London Symphony, by Vaughan Williams depicts, according to program notes, Old Father Thames, Big Ben, London street life, the costermonger, busses, taxis and the like, slumland and even fog and silence. Several years ago Albert Coates as guest conductor with the same orchestra rendered this enjoyable descriptive and interesting number for the first time in America. It was well received but as much cannot be said of Louis Albert's musical picture, The Dryad. Composed last year and having its first hearing by a New York audience, favorable judgment must be deferred. Of a decided French ultra-modern style it seemed to be a disconnected, shimmering, chromatic lot of discords and widely varying harmonies. A wild stretch of imagination is necessary to conform with the idea contained in the annotated program. Rachmaninoff, as always, thoroughly pleased and delighted all his hearers with his marvelously executed Concerto No. 3. It is every whit as beautifully melodious as his more familiar Concerto No. 2. Dr. Damrosch and the orchestra assisted ably with the accompaniment. Rachmaninoff is truly a giant, as composer and performer.

Artists Appearing in Various April Events

Four American soloists will be heard during the Musical Festival at Fitchfield, Mass., when Rossini's Sabat Mater is to be given April 20. These are Jeanette Vreeland, Nevada Van der Veer, Paul Althouse and Fred Patton. For the performance of Cesar Franck's Beatitudes, at Granville, O., April 27, by the local chorus and the Cleveland Orchestra, the soloists will be Mary Ann Kaufmann Brown, Marjorie Squires, Frederic Baer and Judson House. Miss Squires also will be heard as soloist with the Buffalo Orpheus Club April 30.

The State Federation of Music Clubs will hold a meeting in Wilkes-Barre for two days, starting April 21. This is said to be the largest music convention ever held in Pennsylvania. There will be contests held for voice, piano and violin on consecutive days and announcement is made by Mrs. Samuel L. Borton, State chairman of the contests, that competent accompanists will be furnished the contestants.

New Orleans Organizes New Symphony Orchestra

Largely due to the effort of the members of the American Federation of Musicians of New Orleans there has been organized in that city what is to be known as the New Orleans Symphony Orchestra Association, Inc. The new organization plans to establish a permanent symphony orchestra and E. E. Schuyten was unanimously elected as conductor because of his efficient leadership of the former New Orleans Orchestra. The present plans are to give a series of five concerts and perhaps present at least one famous artist as soloist. One of the objects of the new organization is to promote and encourage talent, also to recruit from the ranks of New Orleans and vicinity musicians of talent as members of the orchestra.

Ten-Piano Recital Planned For Denver Music Week

Among other events planned for the observance of National Music Week in the city of Denver is a 10-piano recital. This recital will be given by 10 local pianists under the direction of one conductor and is to take place in the city auditorium. The number of concerts planned for Denver's music week assures musical programs for every hour of each day and in numerous places, thus making it possible for music to be enjoyed by residents in every part of the city.

Concert and Opera Notes

Seventy of the most talented musicians of Hartford, Conn., are included in the roster of the new symphony orchestra of that city and the debut of the organization will be made soon.

Lala Thomason, pianist and artist pupil of Edwin Hughes, appeared recently with much success before the Texas Club, at the Plaza Hotel, at the Studio Club and before the Women's Philharmonic Society of New York City.

The dramatic oratorio, Pilgrim's Progress, by Edgar Sullivan Kelley, was performed by the Wolverhampton and Birmingham choirs at Covent Garden, London, recently. Dr. Kelley, who is head of the department of composition at the Conservatory of Music, Cincinnati, was most royally received on his arrival in England, where he went to be present at the first performance in Europe of his work. Its premiere performance here was given at the May Festival in Cincinnati in 1916, and also was performed at the 50th anniversary festival of the New York Oratorio Society, twice at the Worcester festival in Massachusetts and by the Toledo Choral Society.

Under the able direction of Leon A. Dashoff, a 60-piece symphony orchestra, the first civic one in Des Moines, made its debut recently broadcasting thru a local station. From various accounts this first concert by the new organization was an excellent one and marked the beginning of a new epoch in musical events of Des Moines.

Under the management of Ernest Briggs, Ronny Johansson, a petite Swedish dancer, will make her New York debut shortly after Easter and during the balance of April and in May will tour to Minneapolis and return. It is planned to have an American pianist, a Swedish violinist, a Bohemian soprano and others in her concert company.

Fortune Gallo's San Carlo Grand Opera Company will play a week's engagement, commencing April 20, at the Shubert-Teck Theater, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Civic Symphony Orchestra of Philadelphia, with Meyer Godofredo conducting, has announced its annual concert May 3 at the Academy of Music.

The last concert in the series by the Buffalo Musical Foundation Orchestra will be given April 14 with Olga Samaroff, Ossip Gabrilowitsch and Ernest Hutcheson, all noted pianists, in one of the most brilliant programs ever presented in Buffalo.

Two concerts, with entirely different programs, will be given in Boston by John McCormack. These are announced for Sunday afternoon, April 26, and Thursday evening, April 30, and both are scheduled for Symphony Hall.

A gala concert is announced for Sunday, April 19, by Chappin in the Auditorium, Chicago, and the proceeds will be devoted to the maintenance of the Chicago Nurses' Club.

During the coming season a new American baritone will make his appearance with the Chicago Civic Opera Company. He is Robert Steel, son of a Philadelphia cotton broker, who as soloist when a member of the Cornell Glee Club received his first encouragement to take up vocal study seriously. In addition to having been instructed by a number of prominent teachers in New York, Mr. Steel has been studying for the past three years in Italy, and his present engagement is the result of being heard by Herbert M. Johnson, business manager of the Chicago organization, when singing in Milan.

The students of the New England Conservatory of Music, Boston, will give a performance of Hansel and Gretel at the Opera House Saturday afternoon, April 25, under the direction of Wallace Goodrich. The roles of Hansel, Gretel and the Witch will be taken by Mrs. Jeska Swartz Morse, Mrs. Bernice Fisher Butler and Mme. Maria Claessens (as guest).

For the concert April 16 by the Mendelssohn Club of Chicago at Orchestra Hall the assisting artist will be Alice Gentle.

The American pianist, Arthur Shattuck, will give a recital in Jordan Hall, Chicago, Saturday afternoon, April 11.

Another festival engagement is to be filled by Carl Craven, tenor, of Chicago, when he sings May 3 in Handel's Messiah in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Motion Picture Music Notes

The Easter season is being introduced at the New York Capitol this week by The Palms, sung by Charles Schenck and the Capitol Ensemble. Mr. Schenck is a young baritone, recently discovered by Mr. Rothafel. In the list of diversissements are a number of novelties being presented for the first time, the first a Chinese Legend Pea Weet, with Marjorie Harcum and Louise Scheerer as the soloists. Following this is Victor Herbert's Chinese Willow Plate, a ballet number danced by Doris Niles and Frank Moulah, and the third is a solo by Gladys Rice, Hunter, from the Creole Love Song cycle by Layton-Johnstone. The diversissements close with the Waltz of the Jewels, interpreted by Mile, Gamharel. The Capitol Orchestra, directed by Mr. Mendoza, will open with the Caucasian Sketches by Ippolitow-Iwanow.

The Waltz of the Flowers, from Tschai-kovsky's Nutcracker Suite, opened last week's musical program at the Eastman Theater, Rochester, N. Y. With the exception of Sunday, the Theater Ballet presented a Bacchanal and substituting for that number the first day of the week, Geraldine Rhoads, contralto, sang Amy Woodforde-Flinden's Kashmiri Song and Sing, Sing, Birds on the Wing.

Opening the Joseph Plunkett program at the Mark Strand Theater, New York, this week is the prelude and The Lost Chord by the Symphony Orchestra, Carl Edouarde conducting, and Kitty McLaughlin, soprano, and the male quartet. The chief ballet diversissement is called Spring and there is also a number sung by Pauline Miller, soprano, and Everett Clark, tenor.

With an unusually attractive setting by John Wenger, Easter week is being observed at the New York Rivoli by the principal feature of the musical program The Pops with the Rivoli Ensemble, and the Ritz Quartet. As the overture Mr. Riesenfeld is using one of the Famous Music Master Series—George Friedrich Handel, with the orchestra playing an accompaniment to the film consisting of selections from the works of the great composer.

Excellent musical programs are being presented at the Rialto Theater, Omaha, Neb., by the symphony orchestra under the direction of Harry Brader, conductor, and Rudolph Seidl and Joseph B. Ryan, associates. The organists who aid in no small way in making these programs enjoyable are George Haupt and Phyllis Griswold.

Helen Sherman, coloratura soprano, who has delighted the patrons at the New York Rialto recently, is soloist during the current week singing Strauss' Voices of Spring. There is also a dance number by Felecla Sorel, Alma Hookey and Marguerite Low.

At Loew's Aldine Theater, Pittsburg, Pa., The Parisian Frolic was a recent feature in which were Tillis and Larue, assisted by the Original Eight English Rockets. This is one of the smartest of revues and contains three elaborate scenes and should prove an added attraction to any program.

Boscha Malinoff, Russian soprano, was the featured soloist at the Chicago Theater, Chicago, last week.

O. Leighton Bailey, organist, who has been playing in Spokane, Wash., for the past year, has accepted the position with the New Margaret Theater at Anaconda, Mont.

The ninth concert of the Sunday Symphonic Society, directed by Josiah Zuro, will be given at the Criterion Theater, New York, April 12. For this program Michael Rosenker, violinist, will be soloist.

The Portia Mansfield Dancers, presenting The Color of Rhythm were featured on last week's musical program at the Missouri Theater, St. Louis. In the cast are Virginia Mansfield, Alice Mickey, Betty Morgan, Margot Shelley, Eleanor Roland, Jeanne Fuller, Bernice Rice, Frances Hilliard and Charlotte Perry.

Joseph M. Evans, head organist at the Capitol Theater, Dallas, Tex., has resigned to accept the position as feature organist at the Strand Theater, Waco, Mr. Evans is well known thru his connection with a number of theaters in Dallas and also thru his radio programs at Station WFAA.

MUSICAL COMEDY

REVUE - TRAVESTY CHORUS AND BALLET DANCING

(Communications to 1493 Broadway, New York, N. Y.)

GILBERT AND SULLIVAN REVIVALS WILL BE FEATURES OF EASTER WEEK

"The Mikado" and "Princess Ida" To Hold Forth on Same Street--
"Bringing Up Father" Gets Unkind Reception on Broadway
--Only Three New Musical Comedies in Sight for Easter Week--Production Falling Off

NEW YORK, April 4.—The features in the musical line for Easter Week will be the Shuberts' two revivals of Gilbert & Sullivan operettas, The Mikado and Princess Ida. These attractions will hold forth directly across from each other on the same street, The Mikado occupying the 44th Street Theater and Princess Ida tenancing the Shubert.

Owing to the large number of Broadway premieres listed for Easter week, most of which are in the dramatic line, the Shuberts will open The Mikado next Saturday evening, while Princess Ida will be revealed the following Monday.

Virginia O'Brien and Sudworth Frazier are recent additions to the Princess Ida cast and Claudy Ivanova has just been engaged for a role in The Mikado.

Gus Hill's anxiously expected Broadway company of the cartoon musical comedy, Bringing Up Father, was presented at the Lyric Theater last Monday and met with a rather unkind reception. The daily paper critics panned it and many patrons showed resentment over what they were given for their money. The production is generally regarded as a flop, although there is a class of trade for it if admission prices are lowered.

Eddie Dowling and his Sally, Irene and Mary will close a two weeks' return engagement at the 44th Street Theater tonight and take to the road again. The next arrivals, in addition to Gilbert and Sullivan revivals, will be L. Lawrence Weber's Mercenary Mary, due at the Longacre Theater April 13; the new Alfred Aarons show, Tell Me More, which opens in Atlantic City tomorrow and is booked into the Gaiety Theater beginning Easter Monday, and a musical version of The Charm School, which will have a tryout at the Majestic Theater, Brooklyn, the last half of next week and then probably come direct to Broadway.

These are the only new musical comedies in sight at present for Easter week. Very few others are in rehearsal and production has fallen off decidedly. The Brown Derby, in which Bert and Betty Wheeler will be presented by Charles K. Gordon, is in process of production. Elsa Ersi, Hungarian prima donna, has been engaged for the feminine lead and John Sheehan is a new addition to the cast. Jack Haskell is conducting rehearsals and the opening will take place out of town in about six weeks.

What D'Y Say, which Lester Bryant and Con Conrad were sponsoring, is being transferred to other hands and instead of opening at the Garrick, Chicago, as previously planned, it will be presented in New York next summer.

The Mulligan & Trebitsch production, Baby Blue, is scheduled to open at Folt's Theater, Washington, Easter Sunday, but no New York showing has been arranged for it as yet.

James Dealy and Fred Leonard are preparing to produce a revue called French Frolics, with book by James P. Judge and music and lyrics by Vincent Valentini.

Will Morrissey's Chatterbox Revue and Sam Shannon's Shineys appear to have abandoned operations for the time being and the new Eddie Dowling musical comedy, East Side, West Side, by Dowling and Cyrus Wood, with D. J. Sullivan in the chief male role, will not start until next season.

The Philadelphia company of The Student Prince, headed by De Wolf Hopper, is all set for its opening in that city next week.

Business among Broadway musical shows this week was generally poor. Out of 15 shows 8 were in cut rates. Those included Artists and Models, Bringing Up Father, China Rose, The Love Song, My Gal, Sky High, Sally, Irene and Mary and Topsy and Eva.

New York, April 4.—Florence Mills in Dixie to Broadway will play a return engagement in Chicago, opening at the Auditorium April 12. This time, however, it will be a popular-price engagement, with the scale at $1.50 top. The colored revue played in the Windy City for nine weeks earlier in the season, opening at the Garrick and later moving to the Great Northern. At that time the scale ran to $2.50 and business fell down when the show opened in the latter house.

George Hassell and Charles Williams Discuss Jokes and Teamwork

The long and the short of it, the Mutt and Jeff, have always amused, and this fact is well taken advantage of by big George Hassell and small Charles Williams in the Student Prince. George and Charles are both veteran comedians, George being the more so, and they make the most of every possible opening for comedy. Unfortunately in this they are not materially assisted by the book, but undaunted by this fact, they have injected fun and mirth of their own manufacture, and have thereby contributed not a little to the success of this Shubert production.

George Hassell is undoubtedly a big man and he does his work in a big way. He has appeared in the Passing Show of 1918, '19, '21, '22 and '23. He was also starred in Good Morning, Judge, and in Love of Mike. In addition he has appeared in The League of Nations, in London, and Babes in the Woods. Besides all this Mr. Hassell is probably the greatest living Shakespearean clown, as those who saw his "ghost" in Hamlet will testify. On this point we might remark that Mr. Hassell admitted that he had never played Falstaff, but that he had had a very narrow escape.

Charles Williams, on the other hand, is the small, nervous type. His style of comedy makes an ideal foil for Hassell. Where the one is inclined to be rough and masterful, the other is correspondingly shy and retiring. The combination is delightful.

Williams comes of a theatrical family and is very proud of the fact that he is a first cousin to Wallace Eddinger. He has recently been very busy quite aside from his duties in The Student Prince, with acting in the capacity of first assistant to George M. Cohan in staging the Friars' Frolics a couple of weeks ago. Williams has appeared in Barnum Was Right, Helen of Troy, Trial Honeymoon, Mary, and with May Tully in Mary's Auk. In all of these he has played the part of the comedian.

"Playing the heavy comedian on the stage, whether in musical comedy or in straight comedy," George Hassell remarked when pressed for an opinion, "is like taking a cold bath in the morning; sometimes you feel like it and then again sometimes you don't. But in either case it's your job and you've got to do it. The whole thing is to get your audience pulling with you. If they warm up to your style of humor, you naturally feel it, and it urges you on to do better. In a production of this kind it is very difficult to work in the comedy. It's always hard in a period show, because so many perfectly good gags have to be left out. A Ford joke, for example, would be as out of place in a play of the early 19th century as a telephone in Cleopatra's boudoir. But at this the principle is the same. The gags we pull today are the same ones they were pulling a thousand years ago, only we keep them up to date. However, it's easier to do that than it is to go the other way, and reduce a perfectly good modern joke to its lowest level, as it were, and at the same time keep the point."

We were inclined to agree with Mr. Hassell in this, and found upon inquiry that Mr. Williams was also.

"We had a pretty rough time adjusting our jokes to the show's environment and atmosphere," he admitted, "and I guess it's thanks to George that we succeeded. He is one of the cleverest character comedians I have ever seen and a perfectly splendid chap to work with. Of course he knocks me around a bit and occasionally tucks my head under his arm in his playful little way, but it gets the laughs, and that's what we're there for. I like playing opposite him, because he is not only an artist in his line, but he is also always so good-humored about everything. In fact, offstage, I'm inclined to think he's apt to be funnier than he is on. Probably because he has more freedom of expression."

One thing Mr. Hassell emphasized that we almost forgot was the fact that he prefers a part without set lines, as in that way his own humor is allowed full scope. Your true comedian is ever thus. The laughs the author hands him only cramp his own style, and he prefers to be left to his own devices.

Before leaving these two comedians of The Student Prince, we must take space just to say that their triumvirate is completed by the delightful little comedienne, Violet Carlson, who takes the part of Gretchen and draws her laughs as the grotesquely funny innkeeper's daughter, in love with Hubert (Williams), the secretary to Lutz (Hassell).

RAY POWELL.

Musical Version of "Firebrand"

New York, April 4.—The Firebrand, one of the best comedy hits of the season, is being put to music by Frank Mandel, coproducer of the play with Laurence Schwab, and who is the author of No, No, Nanette, and a score of other musical plays. Nana Bryant, now playing the part of the Duchess in The Firebrand, has been promised the same role in the musical adaptation. Miss Bryant can sing as well as act. Before joining the cast of the Cellini comedy she appeared with the Duncan Sisters in Topsy and Eva.

Russian Musical Plays May Come to New York

Representative of Moscow Art Theater Musical Studio Arrives to Negotiate With Morris Gest for American Presentation

New York, April 4.—Since theatergoers over here have taken more or less kindly to the several contingents of Russian entertainers that have come to these shores in the last few years, another group of Muscovites is thinking of taking a chance at this country. This time it's a musical comedy company. Dr. Leonid D. Leonidoff, who was business manager for the Moscow Art Theater during its two seasons here, arrived last week as representative of Vladimir Nemirovitch-Danchenko, cofounder with Stanislavsky, of the Moscow Art Theater and sole director of the Moscow Art Theater Musical Studio, to start negotiations with Morris Gest with a view to bringing this Russian musical organization to America next season under Mr. Gest's direction.

The Moscow Art Theater Musical Studio of Vladimir Nemirovitch-Danchenko was founded and gave its first performance in the spring of 1920. In the five years that have elapsed it has grown and developed into one of the most important and most discussed of all the theatrical organizations of Russia. Its most rapid growth took place during the two years when Constantin Stanislavsky and the dramatic company of the Moscow Art Theater were playing in this country under Morris Gest's direction.

Altho the Moscow Art Theater Musical Studio, thru its director, naturally falls heir to the exacting acting traditions of the parent company, which astonished American theatergoers thruout the two seasons on our stage, it is a separate and independent organization, answerable only to Nemirovitch-Danchenko, its creator. During the two seasons of the dramatic company in America it held the home stage with its own repertory. Now that Stanislavsky and the dramatic company have returned to Moscow the two companies share that stage, altho they are financially and artistically independent of each other.

The creation of this theater is the climax of a lifelong dream on the part of Nemirovitch-Danchenko. The dramatic company of the Moscow Art Theater, the fruit of a quarter-century collaboration between him and Stanislavsky, never ventured into the realm of music. Danchenko's dramatic ideal, however, always looked toward what he calls "the synthetic theater," in which music as well as the spoken word and the plastic beauty plays a leading role. The Moscow Art Theater Musical Studio therefore does not aim to compete with the great, grand opera companies of the world, instead it is a superbly trained acting company which can sing as well as act. Just as in Tsar Fyodor Ivanovich and other Moscow Art Theater productions where the crowd is the hero, the emphasis in the new company rests upon not only the acting ensemble but also on the choral ensemble. Rotation of roles is likewise the rule and its productions are likewise given on the repertory system. Rehearsals, too, are as lengthy and exacting as those of the company to which Americans played host for two years.

In Moscow the organization of the company is in the hands of its founder and director, Nemirovitch-Danchenko, and his personal aid, Dr. Sergei Berthensson, who was in this country with the parent company. The company, including its permanent supernumeraries, numbers more than 80, with an executive staff of 15 and an orchestra of 45. Altho there are no stars, perhaps the most important member of the company is Olga Baklanova, who enjoys the distinction of belonging also to the Moscow Art Theater Acting Company.

The repertory of the Moscow Art Theater Musical Studio now includes four productions, with two more in rehearsal. The productions already made are, in chronological order, The Daughter of Yve Angot, by Charles Lecocq; Perikola (La Perichole), by Jacques Offenbach; Lysistrata, by Aristophanes, and Carmen, a radically new version of the Bise opera which goes back to the original story of Merimee for its libretto. In rehearsal are a bill including Rachmaninoff's Alko, Pushkin's The Fountain of Bekhchi-Sagal and his Egyptian Fantasy, which will have its premiere next month, and Boris Godunoff, with Musorgsky's original score, which will have its world premiere in New York if the company comes to America.

This new theater has never yet played outside of Russia. If negotiations result in Morris Gest's decision to bring it to New York, the company will arrive in this country for a limited engagement beginning probably next February, after appearing in Berlin, Paris and London en route to the United States.

Want Dorothy Appleby For Jack Dempsey Film

New York, April 4.—Dorothy Appleby, the glowing little dynamo in Elsie Janis' Puzzles of 1925, at the Fulton Theater, is being sought to play opposite Jack Dempsey, the fistie champion, in a motion picture that is to be made on the West Coast this summer. George (Lefty) Miller, who handles Dorothy's affairs, is considering the offer.

Sells English Rights Before American Showing

New York, April 4.—Altho the American premiere of Tell Me More will not take place until tomorrow in Atlantic City, Alfred E. Aarons, producer of the musical comedy, has already disposed of the English rights to the Winter Garden Theater, London, where Grossmith & Malone will produce it in the near future. Dorothy Dickson, the American musical comedy actress, who is now appearing in Patricia at His Majesty's Theater, London, is reported to have been engaged for the prima-donna role, and Leslie Hanson, one of England's leading comedians, also will be in the cast.

Dillingham To Bring Over "The Co-Optimists" in Fall

New York, April 4.—Charles B. Dillingham, according to report, will bring over here next fall the English revue company known as The Co-Optimists, an organization consisting of 10 people which has been presenting intimate musical entertainment in England for the last several years with great success. One member of the troupe, Laddie Cliff, is well known in America, and among the other important principals are Melville Gideon, Davy Burnaby and Phyllis Monkman. Archie De Bear is manager of the company.

Other fall productions which Dillingham now has in preparation include Katja, the Dancer, a musical comedy by Leopold Jacobson and Rudolf Oesterreicher, with music by Jean Gilbert, which has been making a hit in London and on the continent, and the musical version of The Fortune Hunter, with book by James Montgomery, lyrics by Anne Caldwell and music by Jerome Kern.

Stepping Stones is hooked for a long tour of two-week stands next season, while the other current Dillingham production, Puzzles, with Elsie Janis, will probably start out on a tour in September, returning to the Fulton Theater here in about four months with a new edition of the revue.

Armenian Musical Comedy Presented in New York

New York, April 4.—Arshin Mal Alan (The Dry Goods Peddler), a musical comedy of Persian life and customs, was given in Armenian at Daly's 63d Street Theater last Sunday afternoon, with Mme. Sourapian, a dramatic soprano, and the most popular actress of the Armenian-Armenian stage, in the leading feminine role.

"NO. NO. NANETTE'S." MILLION-DOLLAR GROSS

Breaking Records for Box-Office Intake at Harris Theater, Chicago

Chicago, April 4.—No. No. Nanette, which will end its engagement at the Harris Theater April 11, has only to keep up its 47 weeks' average of about $22,500 a week to gross better than $1,000,000 when it quits Chicago. Nanette will have played here 49 weeks when it packs and goes to the Davidson Theater, Milwaukee. It is claimed that Nanette has already passed the make record of Topsy and Eva, which ran at the adjoining theater, the Selwyn, for the better part of a year and which ran close to the million mark on receipts. Nanette, after playing Milwaukee, will fill engagements at Cleveland and Detroit before going to Boston and New York.

Detroit saw this play briefly just before it came to Chicago. The Philadelphia company of Nanette is scheduled to open its road tour in Detroit next January.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 4.—Advance mail-order reservations for No. No. Nanette, are breaking all records in the history of the Davidson Theater, according to Frank Miller, publicity director for the house.

JACK HASKELL REVUE A HIT IN BUDAPEST

New York, April 4.—Jack Haskell, the American revue producer, who is now at work on the Bert and Betty Wheeler show, The Brown Derby, returned recently from Budapest, where he staged a revue called Hallo Amerika for Ben Blumenthal, the American owner of the Fovarosi Operette Szinhaz, and reports that this revue is making a sensational hit over there. The venture was undertaken with doubts, Haskell admits, especially in view of his lack of knowledge of the Hungarian language, but everything turned out fine.

The house is selling out at every one of the seven weekly performances and the weekly receipts run up to $8,000 or more in American money. Incidentally the only other show in Budapest giving as many as seven performances a week is Mavrisa, Irene Biller, the Hungarian star of Hallo Amerika, sings a song sitting on the rail of either proscenium box, and this has resulted in both of the boxes being rented for the entire run of the show, one having been taken by a party of four aristocrats and the other by an exclusive club of Budapest. The four aristocrats present the star with roses equalling the number of the performance, increasing the bouquet by one rose nightly.

Blumenthal owns several theaters on the continent and his current revue is the greatest success that has ever played in any of them.

SISTERLY LOVE

Northampton, Mass., April 3.—Florence Webber, who plays a leading comedy role in Lollipop, the Henry W. Savage production, starring Ada-May, did a very gracious act of sisterly love here last night, when she withdrew from the cast in order to permit Ruth Tester, her understudy, and formerly a member of the class of '25 at Smith College in this city, to play the part before a large audience of her old classmates.

When Miss Webber learned that the Smith College girls were turning out to see their former classmate, she wired to Savage for permission to let Miss Tester appear as a principal at that performance, and the producer gave his consent.

Ada-May, Miss Webber and Miss Tester were guests of the Smith College Dramatic Society, of which Miss Tester was a leading light during their stay in Northampton.

Miss Ivanova was forced to flee her native Russia during the Bolshevik insurrection and since then has literally sung her way around the world, appearing in Japan, China and various countries of Europe. She recently arrived in this country with a company of Russian players.

Raymond and Bertram joined the show in Logan, W. Va. This is a wonderful dancing act, and has been stopping the show every night. Oh, boy! how they can dance. The Bertrams are Australians, and they like America fine, having been over here nine months."

GENE COBB'S method of working was a surprise to the natives at Zanesville, O., according to The Daily Signal, which in its review of the Honeygal show, said: "Cobb, a black-face comedian, puts his fun over in an unusually clean manner. In fact, his entire performance is devoid of suggestiveness and smut, greatly to the surprise of local showgoers. Cobb sings, dances and tells jokes as cleverly as a comedian in a $2.50 production, and his supporting company is all to the good."

BILLINGS BOOTH has leased the Gadsden Theater at Gadsden, Ala., which he opened March 13, booking tabs. from the Spiegelberg office. This is a handsome opera house seating 1,000. Business has steadily increased from the opening and is now near capacity daily, according to advices. Mr. Booth's own organization, The American Beauties, continues on the Spiegelberg Circuit under the management of his wife, Thelma Booth. This company, it is announced, will go to Gadsden for an indefinite stock engagement, starting April 13.

JACK BAST is playing the Lyric Theater, Braddock, Pa., with his La Salle Musical Comedy Company this week. Jack threw out his chest a bit during the engagement at the Imperial, New Kensington, Pa., last week, when the editor of The Daily Dispatch said in his paper: "At last someone has put a tabloid musical comedy together that has about everything that the big productions have. It is the La Salle Musical Company and everything in it is good and good to the last drop—the curtain."

FRED HURLEY will open his fourth season at Luna Park, Cleveland, O., with a revue of 20 people, 16 girls being in line. Doug Fleming will conduct the rehearsals and Bud Brownie will do principal comedy and produce. Hurley's Jolly Follies and The Big Town Revue will remain on the road until about the first of June, when they will go into stock for the summer, one in Indiana and the other in Kentucky, both park dates. The Jolly Follies, managed by Frank Maley, and the Big Town Revue, managed by Ralph Smith, have practically the same personnel as when they opened in September on the Gus Sun Circuit, all the Hurley attractions being booked exclusively by the Sun Exchange.

VIC TRAVERS' Figures and Facts Company opened at the Regent Theater, Muskegon, Mich., March 29, according to advices from Joe Matel, and played to crowded houses at all three performances. Kenneth Christy, featured comic, with the help of Yvonna Marchard and Pearl Olsen, put the show over in good shape. Roy Kohler, late with LaCombe & Fletcher's Listen to Me Company, is musical director and there is a good quartet. The complete roster is: O. J. Post, manager; Kenneth Christy, comic; Gates Austin, leading man; Walter Brown, general business; W. J. Nelson, characters; Fred Zint, general business; Pearl Olsen, lead; Jean Marchard, characters; Yvonna Marchard, ingenues; Margaret Post, Jane Christy, Bobby Kullrud, Bobby Kramer, Helen Morrison, Louise Brown, Betty Gordon, Flo Milner, Rayh Todd and Dotty Small, chorus.

BOB CLOEPLIT continues to make good with his 10-people tab. show "way out in the sticks" in Texas. The High Speed show, as it is called, is the envy of many others, for it has the reputation of drawing down more money than many of the bigger shows, and Cloeplit likely will remain in the territory for some time, altho a representative journeyed all the way from Chicago not long ago with a proposition to put it on the Keith-Albee Time, it is said, and there have been overtures for contracts on other circuits. All in the company double specialties, two teams having joined from the Pantages Time, and they can do parts. Bob also has a seven-piece jazz band, playing 16 instruments, not to mention a singing trio out of the same versatile bunch. Bob will stay out all summer, as he did last year, and if it gets too hot for theaters he will play under canvas.

BUSINESS HAS BEEN so good with Vic Vernon's Flappers of 1925 at La Plaza Theater, Toronto, that the owners, Messrs. Fine and Blumm, have decided to keep the show until the first week in June. The house will be closed for the summer months, but it is desired to have the Vernon show intact reopen the theater in September. The Vernon company is doing one show a day, and as there is no Sunday performance plenty of time is permitted for rehearsals. The cast includes Vic V. Vernon, producer and manager; Leo F. Mullarkey, featured comedian; Johnnie O'Neill, singing and dancing straight man; George Fluhrer, character; Buddy Vernon, chorus producer and ingenue; Bobbie Mullarkey, character prima donna; Ethel Jones, soubret; Gladys Stevenson, Jean McDonald, Dorothy Watson, Edna Gillet, Mary Williams and Violet Gillet, chorus. Messrs. Fine and Blumm have four other houses in Toronto.

THE HANDSOMEST leading man on the stage is the compliment paid Howard Paden by The Daily News Standard, Uniontown, Pa., where the Burns & Paden Cute Little Devils Company is now playing. Curley Burns, the newspaper declares, "ranks with the top-notch burlesque comedians of the present day and carries the audience right with him every second he is out front. The chorus is composed of 12 pretty girls, every one slender and graceful, all good dancers. There isn't a peroxide blonde in the bunch and there isn't a redhead. Some good character acting is revealed and a snappy dancing turn in which Burns and Miss Walker, a high-brown vamp, vie to the delight of the crowds. The quartet stops the show by dint of clever showmanship rather than voices. Burns and his 'suspender' bass' saving the harmony on many of the barber-shop swipes. The costumes and scenery are way above the ordinary, and at that could only be partly shown on the limited Dixie stage."

VOGEL AND MILLER with their 18-people show played the Hippodrome, Covington, Ky., last week. A good, clean, neat and frolicsome show would be a just estimate of it, according to Russell McClure, of The Billboard staff, who further observes: That is saying a lot, but hardly enough. Carl Armstrong, comedian, is the best I have seen in tab. He works without makeup and keeps the patrons in a hilarious state. Charlotte Earl, prima donna, is a singer absolutely—impressive due to her proportions and dark type of beauty. Her clear voice works wonderfully in the quartet, the other three being male voices. Wm. Jeffries is a straight worthy of any tab. show. Helen De Boee, character, plays a difficult part to almost perfection. Other principals all doing their stuff as well as could be expected, are Fred Vogel, juvenile; Tim Newman, character; Thomas Miller, comedian; Carrie Handy, ingenue, and Fred Newman, who tickles a flashy set of ivories. The quartet, composed of Charlotte Earle, Carl Armstrong, William Jeffries and Tim Newman, sang to three encores and had to beg off. They finished with a pot-pourri of four numbers, all keeping in harmony. The chorus, a little better than the average on singing, but a little short on stepping, includes Billy Scott, Bobby Norman, Edna Smith, Audrey Horner, Jean Conrad, Jerry Harris, Flo Cronau, Jean Ulrich and Betty Marlowe.

THE FOLLOWING is an extract from a letter from Arthur Stone, dated at Los Angeles, March 25: "At the Follies Theater Bobby Fitzsimmons is producing and doing very nicely with the material at his command, as this house is much smaller than the other tabs. in town, and only uses a small cast. When reviewed Brother Bill was the title. Bobbie Fitzsimmons doing the main comedy; Harry Cheshire, straight; Bob Wolfe and Eddie Young doing bits, while Eddie put on the musical numbers in addition. Billie Moody has just returned to the cast after a four-week vacation, and has lost nothing of her old talent, being a character comedienne of no mean ability, and gets the gladhand for all her efforts. Babs Arnold, a titian-haired little soubret, has appearance and a sweet voice, and goes over nicely. Musical numbers are contributed by the following: Eddie Young, Girl From Iowa; Malwa Quartet, Hawaiian singers and dancers; Harry Cheshire, Lamp Posts on Broadway; Babs Arnold, Little Devil; Billie Moody, Get a Friend for Me; finale, Brother Bill. The show is fairly good, the performers working harmoniously together. A chorus of 12 neat lookers forms the rest of the cast. At the Broadway Theater Producer George Clark is to be congratulated on a really remarkable performance, as the offering Guess Who is dramatic thruout, and to attempt to put on a performance of this caliber with a musical comedy cast, interspersed with musical numbers, is a feat well worthy of the highest praise. The roster includes Ruby Darby, a blues singer, who without doubt is personality personified. She is there and there some. Lew Johnson, a clean-cut straight man, who speaks lines neatly and is the possessor of a good voice. Jean Darby stands out alone as a neat-appearing juvenile who knows how to act and sells his stuff to the best advantage. The Lamb Sisters, a clever team of singers and dancers, Bobby Burch, an old-time burlesquer, shows thruout that he got his training in the right school, as he is a character man par excellence. Fern Emmett Roquemore handles a black-face mammy part in her own masterly way, and Madeline King is a talented ingenue. Specially worthy of mention is the work of Laura Martin, a clever little chorister, who is doing dance specialties. She is a comer and should be heard of in the near future. The work of the chorus is a masterpiece in itself and Producer Grover Frankle, later of the Winter Garden, where he was in charge of production for three years, is putting on Creatious, each one having an individual drop, and not using any of the sets used in the show, a thing it has not before been my pleasure to witness in this class of entertainment, being usually confined to revues and productions of the first class, the Chinese scenes in which Laura Martin and Lew Johnson do a Chinese apache dance being really a work of art. Musical numbers include Hoodoo Man, opening ensemble, led by Lamb Sisters, and quartet; Monte Carlo Moon, Lew Johnson; Good-by, Heaven, Broadway Quartet; Chinese Fantasy, Lamehouse Blues, Laura Martin, Lamb Sisters, and chorus; Day by Day, Ruby Darby; Cheatin' on Me, Jean Darby. The chorus consists of 18 nicely formed girls, mediums and ponies, who work hard and well thruout. They know how to wear wardrobe and are a great factor in adding to the show's success. Manager T. F. McConville is still manager at this house and it is a real pleasure to visit him, as he is always in his usual glad vein and greets everyone with a smile. He is extremely popular with patrons and performers alike."

Have just seen two of my chorus girls married to men of their choice in two weeks, so I guess with running such a matrimonial bureau it's time to close, at that. Shall take a much needed rest. Hope to get to New York in time to see some of the real shows before summer comes, and some ball games, also I intend to spend a week or so at Atlantic City, later, if they will allow me to lay off that long. HARDING AND KIMBLING after a four weeks' engagement at the Elks' Theater, Port Arthur, Tex., have returned to the People's Theater, Beaumont, Tex., for an indefinite engagement. The welcome surpassed all expectations, and to justify the large patronage received the show has been strengthened in every way. With the wholesale addition of Leo Mosley's jazz orchestra, the show approaches the larger musical productions in appearance. ## BURLESQUE BILLERS PREPARING FOR BATTLE

Producers Will Have To Pay Billposters a Minimum Wage Scale of $60 Per Week or Stand Accused of Being Unfair to Organized Labor---International Alliance Sponsoring Investigation

NEW YORK, April 4.—There is no denying the rumor that there has been general dissatisfaction in the ranks of Columbia Circuit burlesquers, including franchise-holding producing managers, producing managers operating on franchises held by officials of the Columbia Amusement Company, performers, choristers, company managers and agents in advance of shows.

The dissatisfaction on the part of the producing manager in a great measure is due to the demands of the Columbia Amusement Company for a better grade of burlesque and calling for more costly equipment and more competent performers. This caused an unprecedented demand for money from producers, who were nonplused prior to the opening of the current season by a change in sharing terms with houses on the circuit that made it less profitable for their individual productions and presentations.

Another cause for dissatisfaction on the part of the so-called independent franchise-holding producing manager was a weekly tax for the maintenance of the Columbia Producers, Inc., an organization of producers dominated by Columbia Amusement Company officials, operating shows on their own franchise or permitting other producers to operate shows on a franchise rental or sharing basis.

News Bureau Cause of Complaint

The chief cause of general dissatisfaction on the part of the majority of producers, other than officials of the Columbia Amusement Company, is the weekly tax of $10 on each company on the circuit for maintenance of a news bureau, sponsored by the Columbia Amusement Company, established in offices in the Columbia Theater Building and conducted by Walter K. Kill, an employee of the Columbia Amusement Company.

The maintenance of the news bureau at $10 a week for each company brings in a revenue of $660 weekly and an aggregate of $12,360 on the season.

It requires a mathematician to figure out from the aggregate cost to producers the profit that eventually reaches the Columbia Amusement Company as the original sponsors, who in hardening the producer with an expensive news bureau have forced him into a position whereby he feels that he should pay less money to the agent in advance of his show, thereby causing not only dissatisfaction among the agents, but supplemental protests to their local unions that have finally led up to an investigation by officials of the International Alliance of Bill Posters and Billers of the United States and Canada.

International Alliance Impartial

The I. A. B. P. & B. has been noted for its impartiality in handling complaints relative to an infraction of the rules and regulations, issued for the guidance of members throughout the country, and complaints that agents are working in advance of burlesque shows on the Columbia Circuit at less than the minimum wage scale of $60 a week have been investigated and action is now being taken to forestall a repetition of the infraction, ere the opening of next season, by notice thru local unions to all members in any way allied with the billing of burlesque shows, that every advertising agent of a burlesque theater must demand of the agent in advance of burlesque shows that he show a fully paid-up alliance card and contract showing that he is receiving a minimum of $60 a week.

Advertising Agents Reporting on Advance Agents

In furtherance of its plan to secure the minimum wage scale for advance agents the I. A. B. P. & B. has called on advertising agents of all houses on the Columbia Circuit to make a weekly report on agents in advance of shows as to whether they carry an alliance card and, if possible, ascertain what salaries they are receiving from producers.

At the close of the current season these reports will be placed before the executive committee for action.

Advertising agents of houses throughout the country will be canvassed and if they are not in good standing with the I. A. B. P. & B. the house management will be notified, likewise the allied unions.

Advance agents also will be canvassed and those seeking burlesque engagements will be notified that unless they carry an alliance card they will be looked upon as being unfair to unionized labor, and that local members of the I. A. B. P. & B. cannot co-operate with them in the billing of shows.

Producing managers of burlesque also will be canvassed and advised that unless they meet the requirements of the I. A. B. P. & B. in the employment of billers they will be considered unfair to organized labor.

Producing managers willing to meet the requirements of the I. A. B. P. & B. will be furnished with the regulation contract, a copy of which follows:

Regulation I. A. B. P. & B. Contract

International Alliance
BILL POSTERS AND BILLERS of the United States and Canada
EMPLOYMENT CONTRACT

WITNESSETH: This agreement made and entered into this day of . . . . . by and between . . . . . party of the first part, and . . . . . party of the second part. This agreement made and entered thru the International Alliance of Bill Posters and Billers of the United States and Canada.

Said party of the first part does hereby engage said party of the second part to faithfully render his exclusive services as advance agent for an indefinite period in advance of the attraction known as . . . . .

In consideration that said party of the second party does faithfully and properly render his services as advance agent, party of the first part does hereby agree to pay the said second party the minimum sum of $60 per week and all transportation expenses including berths on sleepers when required.

All contracts must be signed in triplicate, one to be retained by the employer, one by the employee, and one to be sent to the Secretary of the International Alliance.

Either party may cancel this contract by giving the other party two weeks' notice in writing.

Two Weeks' Notice Featured in Contract

Heretofore it has been habitual with producers to close an agent without notice and advance agents to quit a show without notice, but this infraction of co-operation will receive its death knell, as the last paragraph of the I. A. B. P. & B. contract makes it imperative on both employer and employee to give and take two weeks' notice or lay themselves open to chastisement by the I. A. B. P. & B.

Mutual Burlesque Circuit

New York, April 4.—There have been no complaints so far this season against producers on the Mutual Circuit for the reason that they did not employ agents in advance of their shows, which played Mutual Circuit houses on a guarantee that included the billing of shows.

In order to provide proper advance notices for Mutual shows the Mutual Burlesque Association engaged Charles Salisbury for that especial purpose.

To insure the proper billing of shows by the house agents the Mutual Burlesque Association employed four special supervising billing agents at a minimum salary of $100 weekly.

These agents were all I. A. B. P. & B. members of various local unions, and included Max Michaels, Charles "Kid" Koster, Charles Brigg and William Brown.

President Herk of the Mutual Indorses I. A. B. P. & B. Contract

When seen relative to the activities of the I. A. B. P. & B. investigations, I. H. Herk, president of the Mutual Burlesque Association, said that inasmuch as Mutual had employed four special agents during the past season to supervise the proper billing of Mutual Circuit shows, there had been no cause for complaint relative to billing agents on the Mutual Circuit, as all advertising agents of houses on that circuit are I. A. B. P. & B. members, and the same is applicable to the four special agents employed by the Mutual Burlesque Association, at its own expense, and that inasmuch as Mutual Burlesque has already received the endorsement of various labor organizations it would not be in keeping with the policy of the Mutual Burlesque Association to employ agents other than those holding membership in the I. A. B. P. & B. and paying them the minimum wage scale.

Mutual Directors To Meet April 14

Changes in House and Show Franchises Expected---President Herk Planning Increase in Terms for Producers

New York, April 4.—On April 11 a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mutual Burlesque Association will be held in the general offices in this city. Business of great importance will be transacted, and some interesting developments have been forecast. The annual reports of President I. H. Herk and other officials will be presented, and are expected to reflect the prosperous condition of the association.

It is understood that one of the first matters to be considered will be the arrangement of house and show franchises and it is expected that several theaters that have been playing Mutual shows this season will be eliminated and others substituted. No hint as to just how far-reaching these changes may be or what houses may be affected has been forthcoming.

That several franchises to certain present producing managers will not be renewed has been predicted for some time, but exactly what shows will be dropped from the circuit will not be definitely known until after the meeting. It is confidently predicted that several producing managers never before connected with Mutual will be granted franchises next season, and that some of these may be new to burlesque is generally believed.

President Herk recently expressed his attitude regarding a readjustment of the scales of percentages in no uncertain terms. It is expected that he will insist upon what he deems a fairer proportion of the receipts to the shows over and above stated "top" amounts. And it is understood that his opinion as to what constitutes an equitable "top" in gross receipts after reaching which sharing terms shall become effective varies in many instances with the belief of certain house managers. According to reports it is understood that President Herk desires to give better advantage to holders of show franchises in order to encourage them in providing better companies and performances. He realizes that this can only be done by so arranging the scale of sharing terms as to enable the shows to enjoy larger percentages in several houses than have obtained during the current season.

THE CAST: Harry Seyon, Heme Manning, Bee Bell, Nellie Nice, Date Curtis, Ed Douglas and Ray Read.

REVIEW

The Venus Company, credited on the program as the producer and presenter, has no reason to hide its identity under an adopted title, for whoever the members may be they are fully entitled to the highest commendation for their production of scenic and special lighting equipment, likewise gowning and costuming of principals and choristers. The scenic effects included several full-stage sets, silk drapes and pictorial drops. The featured leading lady, singing and dancing prima donna, appeared in frequent changes of modiste creations in evening gowns that were classy and colorful, and the same is applicable to the choristers.

Ray Read, comique-in-chief, noted for his likable "Tad" makeup and mannerism, appears in the early part of the presentation in an eccentric, grotesque makeup, but in the latter part reverts to his own inimitable Tad characterization. Never have we seen Read appear to better advantage, for he never lagged a minute in his performance. This goes especially for his double entendre act which he is master in camouflage that enables him to make the desired point without in any way becoming objectionable to the audience.

Ed Douglas, a slender chap with a likable, ever-smiling face, is comique to Read in an eccentric characterization altogether different from the usual run of burlesque comiques. While Douglas lacks Read's aggressiveness in going after the laughs, he makes an able foil for Read in their co-operative efforts and distinguishes himself in several scenes with other principals, likewise in numbers, during which he plays a saxophone like a master musician and sings like an able vocalist, while as a knock-about comique he takes numerous funny falls. This boy will bear watching, as he has the making of a corking good comique.

Date Curtis, a juvenile straightman, makes frequent changes of classy clothes that includes high, silk-hatted afternoon attire and many changes of street attire. He is not only a good straightman but a singing and dancing juvenile who leads numbers, works in scenes and does several characters.

Harry Seyon, in the early part of the presentation, appears as a typical straightman, and later in characters, during which he puts over a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde portrayed dramatically.

Nellie Nice is the featured feminine player and fully entitled to be thus honored, for burlesque has few women who can discount Miss Nice when it comes to personality. She is really captivating with her ever-smiling face, blond loveliness and modelesque form, more slender and symmetrical than in previous performances.

Miss Nice, in scenes, is the typical, thoroughly seasoned leading lady; in numbers, a prima donna with a sweetly modulated, yet resonant singing voice, who supplements her vocalism with graceful dancing in shadow gowns that give an alluring view of her modelesque form.

Bee Bell, a bob-brunet, singing and dancing soubret, has an enticing mannerism that calls for repeated encores on her every number, and in leading a bathing-suit ensemble number her flash of modelesque form in red union suit had to be repeated several times ere the flash of house lights called for her final exit.

Helen Manning, a pretty, petite, bob-brunet, singing and dancing soubret, has a cute personality that is fascinating, likewise the talent and ability so admirable in soubrets, and her contortional acrobatic running splits on the stage and runway could have held up the show indefinitely, and if there is any one in burlesque who can carry a high silk hat and classy clothes a la masculine as picturesquely as Helen we have not as yet seen them. Verily, this little girl has a great future, and as an actress her work as the precocious child in the Irish Justice scene was a classic of comedy.

There are two saxophone-playing choristers in this company that in one number played in harmony with Comique Douglas sufficiently well to warrant being featured in a specialty. Altho they are not programed, we recognized them as Dot Read and Laura Masner, and Miss Masner in a Chinese scene gave ample evidence by her makeup, mannerism and work in the scene to warrant her as a comedienne sharing honors with the comiques.

Ray Read has given to the Mutual Circuit a classy production and comedy presentation that will please burlesque patrons everywhere.

White Slave Traffic Again

More press stunting about this kind of business, with Alfred Lang telling prosecution tales of stolen bedroom keys, doped food and all sorts of "goosey" stories of a like nature. We wonder where Lugg, of the A. A., gets his information (C) from. He used to get some good press stuff in when he was handing out the dope that some traveling novices were traveling barens and, of course, all this gets good news space, but the regrettable part is that the enemies of show business, and they are numerous, are too prone to believe everything they read as to this and other matters, the more so when it is given out by responsible officials. The V. A. E. assert that they have no knowledge of these things and as they allege that 80 per cent of the passport visas go thru their officials they should be in a way to knowing these things.

The latest stunter in this white-slave business is Harry Day, the Socialist M. P. and multiple revenue operator. He recently asked a question of the Foreign Minister as to it being a fact that many theatrical girls had been the victims of the white-slave traffic in foreign parts and what steps would he take in regard thereto. The reply was that all passports and contracts are referred by the Foreign Office to the A. A. or V. A. E. Day is not satisfied with this reply and now states that to his own knowledge some girls have been lured to South America and only by luck got home. Of course nobody doubts what Day has stated, and quite possibly this information has come to his knowledge quite recently, hence his eagerness to get this matter handled efficiently, as it would be impossible to imagine that Day knew of these things long ago and has only now taken the opportunity to ventilate them. It must be remembered that it is almost impossible to do that smuggling of girls business from England today. The best efforts of the V. A. E. has been concentrated upon defeating the attempts of girls to try and get to engagements, the undesirability of which has been pointed out to them.

Here and There

Where are our vaude, artistes? In revue, Billy Danvers is still with Fred Karno's Love Match, with Evelyn Saunders playing opposite him, supported by Fred Holt, who is still writing successful songs, and Effie Bertlett. The show carries a performing horse by the name of "Papyrus", and this animal also lends local color to the hunting scene in the play. Key & Keyworth "The Million-Dollar Girl with the Nut and a Piano," fresh from their success in South Africa, are playing a return visit on the Stoll tour and did themselves proud in the applause line at the London Coliseum. Jack McKay is recently back from South Africa and Australia and even he is thinking about putting on a revue, so bad is his date book. They are all in the same boat. George Formby, Jr., announces that vaudeville has seemed to quit him, so he signed a fast contract for the next five years with a revue man named Tom F. Convery and there you are. To those in the know the heralding and booming of "Terpsichore", who in private life is Mrs. Robb Lyons, is, incidentally, the sister of La Petite Nina, who has for so many years been associated with Captain Woodward's Sea Lions. "Terpsichore" is the featured dancer in Alfredo's Band and is hailed here as a Rumanian! Still she does a good show and the public likes her and that pre-war idea of anything non-British is getting a distinct feature again. Eddie Morris, "the Kid from Kentonick", put up a good show at the Alhambra with Oh, How She Lied; Down On the Ohio and a recitation about his dog "Shadow". The early he got them all seated and applauding. Harry Day is putting still another revue on the road and according to his usual custom he is producing it at his theater in Bristol, the Empire, to wit, it is called Kington and has a cast with Ivor Winter, the fellow who made a hit at the Palladium in that alleged plagiarism of W. C. (Continued on page 16)

FROM LONDON TOWN

The Vaudeville Field
Billboard Office, 18 Charing Cross Road, W. C. 6
By "WESTCENT"

Cambridge "Undergrads" at Coliseum

LONDON, March 20.—No doubt we shall have the usual kick from the "grouser" and also from the unemployables about the latest attraction for the London Coliseum, but as it is not in the "notoriety" class there can be no possible objection to the appearance there of the announcement has caused some newspaper preceptor of Trinity College, says that the 12 Cambridge undergraduates, members of the Trinity College Madrigal Society, who are to sing sea chancies and glees at the world's most celebrated vaude theater, will give their show as "amateurs" and to emphasize this, they will not use "makeup" but appear in "plus fours". Mr. Jones is the conductor of the choir and the nearness of the famous Oxford and Cambridge boat race is no doubt the inspiring motive of Sir Oswald playing this date. Being vacation the engagement has been taken on by the men in quite a sporting kind of idea and the reverend conductor expresses the hope that it would have considerable educational value. The contract value is such that "expenses" will be met and that's about all. They also are slated for some of the provincial towns. The very novelty of the idea has gotten a good press and there is bound to be a good following from all the mothers, sisters, uncles and aunts, to say nothing about their classmates.

Revue, Revue, Revue
Every vaude, artiste you meet is talking about going into, or running a revue. They profess to think that vaudeville as it was known will never return. Therefore they are either seeking engagements therein or clubbing together and putting a revue on the road. There is a lot of truth in their attitude, and those theaters which generally accept "sharing-terms" propositions absolutely refuse to book any vaude, "combinations". It matters not what program is offered, if it is vaudeville they will not entertain it. It is true that Talbot O'Farrel has gotten away with some of his vaudeville combinations and has played well over the $5,000 gross, thus cleaning up the town and at the same time, after paying all expenses, taking more for his "share" than the same management offered him at a cash valuation, and then when they see this, instead of being pleased the same management thinks it has been hard done by, because the artiste speculated his personality plus a good all-around vaude program against the incapable booking capacity of the tour chiefs. This summer it looks as if there will be more revues on the road by five to one than there are towns capable of playing by a sufficient takings to get them "out" on the week.

"Clean Shows" Versus "Smut"
It's curious but we are having some such controversy here as you have on your side with respect to "blue" shows. We certainly have seen all sorts of nakedness on the stage but that seems to be dying out, at least as regards the audacious, and the super revues have done quite a lot of that. The bare-legged show still survives, but maybe this is more for economy's sake than any supposed artistry. Birmingham and Sunderland, however, make them wear stockings or tights and that sure does eliminate the varicose-veined type of chorus wench. But it's curious that in the majority of towns we hear it said "clean" shows do not draw the cheaper parts of the house, whereas the rougher shows do well. We recently were hearing this view angle from a well-known revue man, who is very wrath that his show has to compete with "smut" or "roughneck stuff" and he thinks that the Lord Chamberlain should take a hand and censor these things good and hard. He alleges that the "scripts" as presented to the censor for his license differ most widely from the versions now being actually presented and that this is unfair to the man who is running a clean show. In one town recently he said that his gallery hardly grossed $50 for the 12 night shows, whereas at his opposition with a very, very rough show they were never empty. His stalls and circle were good, but the pit and gallery wanted stronger meat, and such that the censor would never pass. Why then let the other shows get away with it.

New Hippodrome Show

With the sensational success of No, No, Nanette, with George Grossmith, Joseph Coyne and Binnie Hale at the Palace Theater, just a few yards up the road, and the strong cast for the new show at the Palladium, including George Robey, Marie Blanche, and Nellie Wallace and Lorna Pounds, speculation has centered round the new show due at the London Hippodrome, wherein the cast is remarkable only for two names and those not equal to the above "oppositions", namely, Stanley Lupino and Maisie Gay. Nanette has gotten away to a flying start with the "libraries" (scalpers) buying up $150,000 of best seats. The accounts of the opening of Better Days at the Liverpool Empire last week have not been of such a sensational nature, as they have hardly reached London even yet, but what has been heard has been of the "it will leave to be worked up" type. As for the Palace show, which has registered such a big success, there will not be over much of a fort to be made out of it, as

The idea of offering a cartoon musical comedy to Broadway customers is not as radical as it may seem.

Patrons of this sort of amusement begin laughing when they buy their tickets.

But Gus Hill gives his audiences only half a chance with this half-Broadway-ized version of George McManus' good old road standby.

Besides the shortcomings in the way of scenery the book is a very poor one.

Gertrude Lavella is pretty and winsome as the daughter, but she has an indistinct enunciation and a habit of striking little poses that ought to be corrected.

James Collins plays the part of Dinty Moore in good style but shouldn't attempt to sing, and Mary Marlowe, who really has an excellent slinging voice, is not given enough chances to use it.

William Cameron does a full-blooded Scotch characterization, while Olive Mack, William Tomkins and James Sullivan are all that their roles require.

The chorus contains a lot of individual talent.

An unusually fine number is the "Plan Me a Banjo Tune," led by William Cameron, who has a pleasant singing voice, and backed up by the chorus dressed in attractive Scotch plaid costumes.

Edward Crandall, as the girl's sweetheart, does his little bit splendidly.

There are several familiar makeshifts in the play, such as the entrance of Mrs. Charlton just as her daughter and Lorrimer are kissing.

ACT I—Home of the Allens. A Few Weeks Later.
ACT II—Same as Act I. The Next Morning.
The Four-Flusher, which opened at the Selwyn Theater Monday night, March 30, for a two weeks' stay, is a rewritten version of A King for a Day, which was tried out in Chicago several seasons back.

The billed as a comedy, it also touches on the farcical, the melodramatic, and even has a very slight vaudeville flavor given to it by some of the lines and the introduction of a song by the leading man, Russell Mack.

Russell Mack, Spencer Charters and Louis Allen carry the whole play, Mack bearing most of the load.

for he managed to squeeze many laughs out of his party merely by his pantomime and his amusing way of shuffling about the store.

Ira Whittaker is a great piece of characterization. The author did a good job on this character. Uncle Ira was a very brusque, irascible person, given to the use of rough language on the slightest provocation.

A word of praise must be said for that veteran, John Daly Murphy, for his flawless portrayal of Horace Riggs, proprietor of the shoe store.

Certain shoes and cars come in few much free advertising.

TRANSCRIPT: "An ingenious and inoffensive play... Harmless farce joins hands with amiable banality."
TRAVELER: "An amusing comedy, light and airy as a June breeze, not lacking in weak spots.

GLOBE: "A genuinely naive little piece and nobody will be hurt by seeing it."
POST: "A comfortable little play, quite true to life, and with some more than clever comedy lines.

A card received by the Muse from the New Screamers reports that they have had a busy season at Buena Vista, Miami, Fla.

Maurie B. Streeter wrote the musical score for the Al G. Burnes Circus, including the original music and lyrics for each act, as well as the pageant. This is unusual for big-top musical arrangements.

Charles E. Karl, drummer with the touring Music Box Revue, was a recent visitor at The Billboard offices in Cincinnati. He has been with the Irving Berlin production since 1923, and before that was with Tanageric for 42 weeks.

A popular four-man unit around Toledo, O., is the Davis Entertainers, who broadcast regularly from station WTAL. The lineup is Tommy Thomas, saxophonist and entertainer; Herm Nelson, guitarist; Aubrey Trotter, drummer, and Eddie Davis, pianist. They use quartet singing numbers as a specialty.

"Whitely" Kaufman and his Original Pennsylvania Screamers have completed a successful season in Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex. They spent the last week of March in making records for Victor, and, following a brief vacation, they open at the East Market Gardens, Akron, O., this week.

The Carolina Beauties, a Herschel Crawford orchestra, have been busy of late playing theater and dance dates thru Georgia and Florida. The personnel: Helen Brandon, director; Myrtle Dolan, Nell Hughes, Agnes Smith, Doris Moore, Grace Connors, Vivian Bennett, Irene McLaughlin, and William Hogan, business manager.

Arthur W. Hyde's Bluebird Society Orchestra broadcast from WVBL, Onondaga Hotel, Syracuse, N. Y., April 4 to good results, and April 12 it will formally open the Orville Ballroom there and remain for an indefinite run. The members are: Jimmy Miller, Henry Lahn, Michael LeBail, Nick Louise, Sherman Drolan, Charlie Busch, Leon Stebbins and Arthur Hyde.

Bert Keller and His Nighthawks are now in their fourth year at the Country Club, Birmingham, Ala., and Bert is so popular with the members that he has been appointed assistant secretary. Accompanying Bert and his violin are: Ed Greenwald, pianist; F. H. Sims and L. H. Keller, saxes; Lou Denzler, banjo; Neil Perry, drums, and Joe Taylor, trumpet.

The Florida Crackers have closed a successful winter engagement in Tampa, Fla., and are now on the East Coast, playing Cocoa Beach and vicinity. The Crackers are: Walter Babel, piano; John Floyd, trumpet-manager; Frank Buckles, saxes, and clarinet; Eddie Teske, violin; Harold Cota, drums and entertainer; Dick Coleman, banjo, and Joe Buzulis, trombone.

Chas. Fulcher and his Columbia Recording Orchestra opened the new Forrest Hill Dance Club, Augusta, Ga., recently, and has been playing to a heavy business each night. They recently recorded two numbers for Columbia, both of which were written and arranged by Mr. Fulcher. The orchestra also is playing the exclusive dinner dances at the Highland Park Tourist Hotel, Alken, S. C.

The Liberty Theater, Covington, Ky., has had the Liberty Ragamuffins as an added attraction for more than a year, and the superb musical settings provided by this aggregation have added much to the popularity of the house. The members under the leadership of William Drain are: Sky Hoover, saxes; Eddie Bayer, sax, and clarinet; Bill Ferrara, trumpet; Al Muenzenmaier, violin; Charlie Kehler, banjo; Walter Featherston, piano, and William Drain, percussionist.

Coy Berkley and His Orchestra, playing the new Palace Ballroom, Los Angeles, is creating a sensation, according to reports from that section. They broadcast regularly from radio station KHY. Mr. Berkley has added Jimmie De Michelis as pianist and accordionist and Joe Baquet as sax and feature clarinetist. Baquet formerly was of the Dixieland Jazz Band. The balance of the personnel: Coy Berkley, director-saxes; Ray Floyd, drums; Euz Gift, violin; Merle Carlson, saxes; Pat Nells, trumpet and choir; Lester Lageson, trumpet; Harold Tucker, trombone; Chief Hermitin, Sousaphone, and Frank Remley, left-hand banjoist and violinist.

BERNHARDT'S BOOK FOR ACTORS

THE ART OF THE THEATER. By Sarah Bernhardt, with a preface by James Agate. Published by Lincoln Mac Veagh, The Dial Press, New York. $3.

To give friendly advice and guidance to young people on the stage was Sarah Bernhardt's purpose in writing her last book, The Art of the Theater. There are several remarkable features about the volume. The first is that she ever found the time to compile it. Another is the great fund of helpful information that it contains. Still another is its easily read style and its intensely human attitude.

It is evident from her book that Bernhardt was systematic and painstaking as well as gifted and inspired in her stage work. Few can hope for her gift and inspiration, if it is true, but her method she has revealed so that all who desire may profit by it.

Bernhardt begins by outlining the physical qualities necessary to the actor. She discourses advisedly on the memory, physical proportions, the voice, pronunciation, gesture and other requirements. Then she takes up the moral qualities necessary, touching upon the actor's role, instruction, the choice of a part, the will, naturalism and sensibility. The numerous pointers and bits of practical advice that these chapters contain constitute an education in themselves.

In the third part of her book Bernhardt records some impressions, criticisms and memories, all interesting chapters that incidentally contain many additional hints of value. Especially valuable to the actor are final chapters on Making Up and on the Voice.

There are deviations here and there, an occasional reminiscence, frequent raps at the Conservatoire, and not a little about Bernhardt herself, but on the whole the book sticks to its subject and is worth many times its price to every actor or student of theatrical art.

HOW TO MAKE UP

THE ART OF MAKEUP. By Helena Chalmers. Published by D. Appleton & Company, New York. $2.

Helena Chalmers, who is the instructor in makeup at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts and at Columbia University in New York, has written a complete and practical exposition of how to make up for the stage, the screen and for social purposes. She carefully explains the materials necessary and the methods of applying them to secure any desired effect. Every phase of the subject is covered and exact instructions are given as to how to make up to represent any nationality from Irish to Egyptian. Makeup for the concert stage, the platform, the drawing room and the street is treated separately in interesting chapters. Not only will the book prove a boon to amateurs and amateur organizations which have had to engage professional assistance for this work but even experienced stage folk will find a lot of valuable hints and much practical information in the volume that will assist them in improving the quality of their makeup and render that work easier.

MUSIC FOR PLAYS AND PAGEANTS

A LIST OF MUSIC FOR PLAYS AND PAGEANTS, With Practical Suggestions. By Roland Holt. Published by D. Appleton & Company, New York. $1.

The question of proper musical accompaniment for productions made by communities, schools, colleges, camps, settlements and churches figures very largely in the success of these events. No one knows this more than Roland Holt, who as a former director of the New York Drama League, the Oratorio Society of New York and the Century Opera Company has been in close touch with the field for many years.

Mr. Holt's book contains practical suggestions on organizing the musical part of the various types of plays and pageants produced by amateur groups, and designates the music suitable to accompany every kind of dramatic situation. First he gives a chapter of preliminary advice based on his wide experience of the limitations and requirements of community organizations. Then comes advice about the proper orchestra or band, the pageant chorus, the kind of music to choose for indoor and outdoor plays, etc.

Particularly interesting is the list showing what music should be used for various effects, such as marching, funeral processions, dances of evil fairies, pastoral music with rhythm to bring on groups, dreamy, haunting music for visions, waves, wind, tempest, despairing or ominous situations, pantomimes, and many other effects.

National music for all countries also is given, as well as suggestions for Christmas music, special children's music and music for American pageants and plays. The leading music stores of the country also are listed.

In short, the volume is compact and invaluable to organizers of community entertainments generally.

A NOVEL OF THEATRICAL LIFE

THE MOMENT OF BEAUTY. By Samuel Merwin. Published by Houghton, Mifflin & Company, Boston. $2.

An earnest plea for a more intelligent sympathy, a better understanding of the theater and its people, their difficulties and discouragements, the cost of success—and of failure—the frequent heroism which is involved in keeping faith with the public—all this and more is contained in Samuel Merwin's interesting novel of the theater, The Moment of Beauty. A summer stock company in a small Mid-Western town forms the setting for most of the story. Mr. Merwin, having lived close to stock companies, and having worked with and written for theatrical organizations in his own community, is able to write of the stage world with great sympathy.

THEATRICAL MUTUAL ASSN.

Office of the Grand Secretary-Treasurer

The time has come when the Grand Lodge will meet in its annual session in the city of San Francisco and we should at that time try to promote the welfare of our organization. We have been at a standstill for some years past, merely keeping our heads above water while others have been swimming past us thru the turbulent waters into the shores of safety. We have floated about helplessly making no effort to save ourselves.

We are sending this appeal to our Grand Lodge members and officers and to the subordinate lodge officers so that they may present it to the members. Let all the Grand Lodge members who can attend this session do so as your presence there will act as a stimulus to the organization. Look back to the time when you went home from some convention, the happy possessor of a Grand Lodge office. You did your duty during your term of office. Do you not believe you still have

A resolution was unanimously adopted by all of the 110 members present at the New England District Convention held last week whereby they went on record as absolutely against the Sunday closing of theaters which is being advocated by legislators in their section of the country. The resolution embodied a stipulation to the effect that all brothers would get in touch with State representatives from Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut asking them to defeat any proposals which would close theaters on the Sabbath.

Vice-President Dempsey presided at the convention, which was held in the Odd Fellows' Hall at Springfield, Mass. William A. Dillon was unanimously re-elected secretary of the district which is listed as the third section; the country being cut up into 10 divisions, each under the supervision of a secretary.

The yearly meeting, composed of representatives from all of the locals within the area, started at 10 in the morning and continued thruout the day. The Springfield local sprung a surprise on the delegates by arranging a banquet in their honor which started after the routine business had been accomplished.

President William Conavan, Vice-President George Brown of Chicago, manager of the claim and adjustment department Lang, and general secretary and treasurer Richard J. Green all journeyed to the meeting place to help set forth the objects to be accomplished during the year 1925.

Road calls were issued for seven theaters during the past week. At Charleroi, Pa., the Bello and Verdi houses were listed as unfair on account of the management refusing to sign contracts which stipulated the regular union stagehands' wage scale. These calls go into effect April 11.

The Cozy, City and Columbia Theaters, Junction City, Kan., became road calls April 13, because Manager Dickinson, who controls the Marshall Theater in Manhattan, Kan., and the Bowersock Theater, at Lawrence, Kan., would not sign union contracts for the latter two houses, which he controls. Dickinson expressed willingness to operate the first three theaters mentioned under the customary wage scale but as the union rules state that any manager who is unfair in one part of the country must be listed as unfair wherever he controls theaters, the Cozy, City and Columbia cannot show road attractions employing union help.

The Strand and State theaters, Flint, Mich., will be barred from road shows after April 18, if their managers refuse to sign the customary documents. After a fervent discussion with the traveling representative of the union last week officials of these two theaters would not agree to the terms set forth.

Representative Brown was successful in bringing about an understanding with the local union and the directors of the Biqua (O.) Amusement Company. The question involved the classification of work done by electricians and a compromise was finally reached.

Brown was also able to smooth out the differences between the managements of the Victor and Liberty theaters at McKeesport, Pa., over one clause in the stagehands' contract which set forth that 52 weeks' pay was to be given the men this year. The owners of the theaters explained that they did not anticipate keeping the houses open all year so therefore would not sign the form as laid down. Brown brought about a reconciliation and a new agreement was drawn whereby each side conceded something to the other.

Representative Crickmore established a new local at Salem, Ore., during the past week which will be known as No. 615. Ten men got together there and notified the traveling agent of their desire and a charter was granted after Crickmore's outline of what was expected of all members of the union.

Crickmore also unified the two local theaters at Mount Vernon, Wash., which are under the supervision of the Amortees Local. These houses tried to buck the local for some time but after finding that they were the losers, due to road attractions passing them up, they finally consented to the union stipulations.

Representative Hough brought about an understanding with the proprietors of the Bijou Theater Savannah, Ga., and Local No. 324 of that city. A change of policy was instituted by the house that included the arrangement of union workers after Hough graciously showed what it would mean unless his men were used.

Mr. Swain's Contract
EQUITY tries to be fair even to its bitterest opponents, but it is hard to remain calm after reading the new contract issued by the W. I. Swain Show Co., Inc.

W. I. Swain labels his document "Employee's Contract". It should have been entitled "Employer's Contract" since it takes away every right from the employee.

The grimness of it will be better appreciated when the following analysis is read. For the sake of clearness the phrase "party of the first part" is translated into the one word "manager" and "party of the second part" into "actor". Now let us begin.

"The actor agrees to deposit with the manager the sum of — as a guarantee to fulfill each and every condition of this contract and to guarantee services for entire season, said deposit to be returned to actor if he does faithfully discharge duties and comply with this contract. Otherwise actor agrees to forfeit said bond."

We must hand it to Mr. Swain for thinking of that; it's wonderful and in this day and age too—but to continue. After binding himself to Swain exclusively for the ENTIRE SEASON the actor agrees TO BE PAID ONLY WHEN HE ACTUALLY WORKS. In other words he might work two weeks and be laid off two or perhaps these two working weeks might be broken by a night or two of enforced rest, but so long as the season is not declared closed the actor, according to the contract, must remain or forfeit that cash deposit.

What a chance for easy money that opens up. For example, a manager who issues that kind of a contract can play a week and then lay off indefinitely. The actors ultimately will be compelled to run away to look for food and then all their bonds will be forfeited.

Not only does the Swain contract bind the actor to render service to the manager AS AN ACTOR, but also as "the manager may at any time hereafter direct." According to this the manager might direct him to dig trenches, black boots, pick cotton or wash clothes, to say nothing of putting up and taking down the tent. That these are not fantastic possibilities is evidenced by the action of two brothers who combined the operation of a stock company with a flour mill in a New York town not so many years ago. The actors who worked for those brothers were required to haul sacks of flour for the mill in the time they were not rehearsing or playing. If the actor wouldn't or couldn't do any or all of these things—bang goes his cash deposit.

Now please note the class of the W. I. Swain Co., Inc. Nothing cheap will be tolerated by it. For instance, the contract specifies that ALL clothing or wardrobe worn by the actors "must be first class and suitable for the purposes intended and to the entire satisfaction of the manager." We wonder what kind of an authority on this subject is the W. I. Swain Show Co. Perhaps it travels with an expert, a Beau Brummel, who calls a dress parade every morning before the actors are allowed to go for a walk and show off the latest styles to the critical gaze of the population.

Now comes a really classic clause which must stand as a model for all future independent contracts. "Intemperance, incompetence, dishonesty, incivility, insubordination, THE BREAKING OF ANY RULE OR INSTRUCTION OF THE MANAGER or any neglect of duty by the actor will immediately be subject to discharge, and said actor hereby agrees to forfeit all of the deposit bond made by the actor to the manager." That is a veritable wow.

Does anyone want to know who is to be the judge of this "incompetence," etc., which brings such dire results in its train? Why the manager, of course. Equally, of course, he has an eye single to good acting and would never think of that money penalty which would fall into his lap in case he should decide against the actor. "Incivility and insubordination" are indeed intolerable crimes, and hanging is too light a penalty to pay for those who practice them, but how about the breaking of any rule or instruction of the manager? It is possible to misunderstand the "instruction of the manager"—such a thing has been done—or one may be too busy studying parts to find time to learn all his rules, but discipline must be maintained, even if the unfortunate actor has to lose his job as well as his cash penalty.

Such a trivial detail as paying one's own fare to join the W. I. Swain Show Co. need not be stressed, as it is not part of the printed matter but is only written in, and therefore it is barely possible it may not be inserted in every contract. Yet this provides food for much thought. Might not these blank spaces provided be filled in with any number of things which the "party of the first part" has happened to overlook in the printed matter? This reminds us of a story about a manager of the long ago who had the following clause in his contract: "If by any chance the party of the first part shall think of any rule not contained herein same shall be considered as binding as if made a part hereof."

And as to the ending of the W. I. Swain Show Co., Inc., contract listen to this: "The actor having read and understood all the conditions of this contract agrees to comply with every detail and stipulation." The actor may have read it, but that he UNDERSTOOD it and then signed it is beyond belief.

We were anxious to see it—wondering to examine this document—and now that we have seen and examined it the W. I. Swain Show Co., Inc., fills us with wonder—wonder that it could put it over—wonder that it had the perseverance to search so long and so wide until it found American actors possessed of so little spirit as to sign it. It is really tragic—tragic that the sacrifices of the many should be forgotten and placed in jeopardy by the selfishness of the few.

But retribution always follows—it may seem slow to the ardent, but it is sure. The mills of the gods grind slow, but they grind exceedingly fine. A time will come when this group of deserters will want to return to proper conditions. It is hardly possible that they should remain with the W. I. Swain Co. all their lives. But where are these unfortunates to go? Having broken faith with their own people they cannot expect to be received in other companies unless they remedy their delinquency immediately.

Like most unions we have our gold-star members, those who have willingly risked all for a principle and for the good of the whole. We have also a few members of another stripe. They are known as scabs.

It is more in sorrow than in anger that the council has suspended the two following, and per the rules of the association no member of Equity can henceforth play with them until their suspensions are lifted. The names of the others in the same category will be published from week to week:

No Probationary Period in Stock

Replying to a letter suggesting that a four-day probationary period be inserted in the stock contract Equity's executive secretary replied as follows:

"I don't believe the probationary period is popular with the majority of our people, but it has found its way into production contracts and has become a custom in that field. While there are many good arguments to sustain it I feel that the general result is that many directors, authors and managers are willing to engage a cast on the off chance of all of them proving satisfactory. The result of this preliminary carelessness is that rehearsals are unduly prolonged and made more tiresome for those who survive the seven-day probationary period.

"The elimination of a probationary period in the stock contract has worked no hardship on the manager, it has simply made him more careful, but if he does slip up he can always give the actor he doesn't like a two weeks' notice. After all it is not the actor who has made the mistake and he should not be expected to break up his home or his lodgings and travel to perhaps a distant point only to be informed after the second or third rehearsal that he doesn't suit.

"As I suggested in my telegram, a probationary clause in the stock contract would sometimes work great hardship on everyone concerned, including the manager. Take, for example, the case of a stock company opening in Kansas City the members of which have been recruited in New York. The plays have all been arranged before hand. The press man has done his work, he has distributed photographs and put squibs into the local papers. Now supposing the leading man, after rehearsing four days, happens to get an offer for a production in New York. He would be perfectly justified if his contract contained a probationary period in accepting it and leaving the stock company immediately, but the result of this action would be disastrous to the enterprise as a whole, for it would be next to impossible to get another man to take his place within three or four days, and this might necessitate postponing, with possibly a loss of guarantee to the theater, which could hardly be expected to remain dark for nothing. Such a black eye delivered to any company at the beginning of a season might be fatal in its consequences."

Bills Fought by Equity Killed at Albany

The Actors' Equity Association has been notified as follows: "The Assembly Codes Committee has killed all the bills you are opposed to and Chairman Esmond of the committee assures me that if any of these bills should happen to pass the Senate they will be promptly killed in the Assembly."

British Association Aids American

The Actors' Equity Association has just been informed by Alfred Lugg, General Secretary of the Actors' Association of Great Britain, with which organization Equity is affiliated, that he has been able to recover for Ida May Chadwick, an Equity member, the sum of 380 pounds, at a cost to her of only 10 pounds.

Miss Olive May Adds to Our Library

We have again to report the great generosity on the part of one of our members. This time it is Miss Olive May, whose affection for the association is well known. Her gift takes the shape of two magnificent volumes 24 inches by 19 inches, entitled "The New Gallery of British Art, Edition de Luxe", and published by D. Appleton & Company in 1883. They contain 100 engravings on steel from the works of distinguished British painters, each one of which should be framed, as they are remarkably beautiful. In acknowledging this gift the council passed a hearty vote of thanks and expressed its very deep appreciation of Miss May's great kindness.

CHORUS EQUITY ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA

We are holding checks in settlement of claims for Jack Oakie, Elizabeth Huyler, Walter Fwaroshk, Frank Shea, Carol Raffin, Stella White, William Perloff and Percy Richards.

In a few isolated cases there are persons holding Actors' Equity cards who have always been principals, but for just one season have accepted a position in the chorus. Expecting to be principals again in a short time they have not transferred to the Chorus Equity—albeit they have been protected by that association. In a great many more cases persons who have never been principals, or who have played a part only once, hold the Actors' Equity card, altho working in the chorus and under the protection of the organization which is supported by chorus people. In many cases these people are delinquent in dues, the Chorus Equity representative not having seen them because they were not Chorus Equity members and the Actors' Equity representative overlooking them because they were in the chorus. In justice to the chorus people who belong to the organization that represents them the council has passed the following resolution: "All members of the chorus who are paid up in the Actors' Equity Association have the right to the council's previous ruling, which was to the effect that they will have one year in which to decide whether or not they will transfer from their association to the Chorus Equity, but that delinquents of the Actors' Equity working in the chorus must join the Chorus Equity Association immediately and, of course, pay up their back dues."

This ruling means that, in the first place, no member of the Actors' Equity may work in the chorus for more than a year without transferring to the Chorus Equity, and any member who is in bad standing in the Actors' Equity will not have a year in which to make the transfer, but must do so immediately.

We are holding mail for the following members: Shirley Carlton, Annette Carmichael, Mae Calrns, Helen Cook, Helen Callahan, Beatrice Conliff, Jean Chambers, Leslie Cutler, D. Culver, Murray Canon, Henry Cash, Patricia Cross, Jean Callahan, May Chesterly, Florence Collins, Edith Chambers, Harriette Chetwynd, Betty Campbell, Betty Corner, Greta Drew, Christina Dutton, Fay Duhart, Jane Daniel, Dolly Donnelly, Cecille Driscoll, Sherry Demerest, Allee Dawson, Beatrice Darcy, Billie Dufano, Edna Du Val, Daisy Dean, Emily De Vaux and Polly Day.

On Saturday, April 4, the offices of the Chorus Equity will be closed as far as the transaction of business is concerned. On that day headquarters will be moved from 229 West 51st street to 110 West 47th street. On Monday, April 6, we will be ready to do business in our new home.

Circus Costumes

In describing the costumes worn at the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows at Madison Square Garden this year we should like to touch on the multi-colored collection worn in the opening procession, but lack of space forbids. In passing, however, we are impelled to say that instead of resorting to the old-time carnival themes the costumer has blended the high shades of the present mode into costumes which do not thereby lose their traditional carnival spirit.

LILLIAN LEITZEL, star of the circus, covers her beautiful golden hair with a silver wig. The privileged members of the press who attended the dress rehearsal protested audibly against the silver disguise, although it effected to round out perfectly an artistic effect. She entered the arena wearing a short cape composed of strands of metallic silver ribbon or fabric. Her abbreviated frock was of white tulle, with many under-skirts of same, bordered with several rows of silver ribbon. She wore silver slippers.

MAY WIRTH, queen of equestriennes, wore an abbreviated frock of Copenhagen satin and the ingenuous-looking hair-bow by which we have learned to identify her, a pink one this time. Rhinestones and crystal bead fringe trimmed the frock. Miss Wirth's wrap was a Spanish shawl of peacock blue, embroidered with large red roses.

JENNY ROONEY, aerial artiste, while obliged to wear the conventional tights, gave them original touches. A "half-and-half" arrangement of rhinestones, set down the right side in front and down the left side in back, was very effective. A bouquet of ostrich feathers in high shades posed audaciously on the left hip.

MME. PALLENBERG, who persuades slow-moving bruisers to speed up to wonderful feats of agility, was romantic in her costume selection, reminding one in her choice of colors of a princess of the Romany tribe. The bodice of the costume was of deep pink velvet, trimmed with gold sequins, a strip of green arranged diagonally from the shoulder, by way of bright contrast. Gold spangled net seemed to be arranged over a crystal lace skirt, bands of green velvet being slurred in three circular tiers about the skirt and drawn up to the left hip. Pink satin slippers with green ribbon laces were worn with pink hose. A huge silver turban of Russian inspiration was set off with green streamers.

MME. COLLEANO was a veritable snow sprite in an abbreviated creation of white satin, myriad skirts bordered with wide bands of fluffy white marabou. The bodice was flecked generously with rhinestones.

MME. BRADNA, with her "aviary" of femininity, noble white horses, intelligent white canines and trained white doves, was an angelic vision in all white, glittering rhinestones and bands of fluffy marabou. Her "bird" girls wore feathered imitations of bird costumes, much like those of last year, except that the color scheme is different, employing golden yellow, orange, crimson, blue, purple and green.

NYDIA MILLER, wire artiste, made a dashing entrance in a flared green satin coat, brocaded in pink flowers. The flared skirt was bordered with a band of taupe-colored fox, which was matched by an immense full animal scarf of game. Just as we decided that the fair Nydia would perish with heat she removed the coat and revealed an entrancing two-tone chiffon costume, which appeared to be shades of American Beauty and shell pink. The bodice was a blaze of rhinestones. A parasol of Dresden silk, white with deep pink flowers, completed the ensemble.

BERTA BEESON, the Julian Eltinge of the wire, pursued "her" speedy way in an orchid-colored costume, the bodice of satin and the skirt of chiffon, with many circular tiers of marabou, a decorative theme which was repeated in wide bell-shaped sleeves and on the bodice in vertical formation. Berta carried an orchid silk parasol. Asked what had become of the famous rhinestone costume of last season, said to be trimmed with 95,000 rhinestones, an additional 25,000 trimming the cape, the reply was that it had been consigned to oblivion because there were too many other rhinestone costumes in the circus this year.

THE NELSON FAMILY, of acrobatic fame, wore all-white, two-tiered skirts, the bodice trimmed with rhinestones and belts of the same stones. Classic hair-bands of brilliants and a feather pose of poppy red posed at the waistline were other accessories.

THE SEGRIST SYLVAN troupe of aerial artists wore canary yellow, the ladies wearing a corsage bouquet of blue and the men wearing sashes of blue. This color scheme made the troupe stand out prominently. In contrast with the less colorful apparel of other troupes appearing in the arena at the same time.

MARCEL STARK, who is presenting trained horses this year instead of wild animals, looked very charming in an all-white equestrienne costume of the English type (long, divided skirts) and a tricorn hat of white.

FLORENCE MARDO wore the same kind of equestrienne costume as Miss Stark, carried out in black velvet, bound with white silk braid.

Negligees, especially those for stage wear, to be fashionable, must depart from the tailored lines of yesterday and be gracefully draped or of long flowing lines. Diaphanous materials, in softly melting pastel shades, are used with filmy laces and satin rosettes, bows and flowers.

After viewing many of the finest displays of negligees, which are subtle combinations of the boudoir and tea gowns, rather prohibitive in price, we were agreeably surprised to find in a small shop, owned and managed by lovely twins with a penchant for dainty apparel, a negligee which they had designed purposely for the actress who in replenishing her wardrobe cannot afford to pay a high price for the negligee, which may not be used often during the season and which is so essential a part of the wardrobe, at the modest cost of $10.

While the sketch will give you an idea of the graceful lines and the ingenious-looking apron effect, your imagination must supply the colors, which are orchid, cream and dainty blue. Orchid chiffon makes the accordion-pleated underslip, which is outlined at neck and shoulders with a band of blue satin ribbon, touched with tiny wild roses. The overslip is of cream-colored lace, which is repeated at the hem of the slip. Blue and pink flowers are posed on an orchid-colored bow with streamers at the waistline.

If you are thinking of having your dressmaker supply you with a dainty new frock for stage wear, you will be interested in a new material on display in a theatrical costumer's show window, which is being used for the new musical comedies. It is a printedorgette, with floral designs on a white background. We liked particularly a large pink rose effect, although there are practically all colors in the floral design. The lovely fabric sells for $2 a yard and is 40 inches wide. The effect is that of hand-painted material. A sample on request.

Speaking of hand-painted materials, we recently saw an exhibition of hand-painting achieved with sealing wax dissolved in alcohol. Some of the articles painted were chiffon scarfs and gowns, hats, vases, pottery, necklaces, leather novelties, rope baskets, ivories and china, as well as velvet, silk, linen, cotton and wool. We took the time to make under the instructor's guidance a paper flower, to which we applied the wax in a thickened consistency, and the result was a lacquered flower of the indestructible variety. It was difficult to imagine that the finished flower was fashioned from paper. A bouquet of these makes an artistic decoration. We were also shown transfer patterns in floral and cubist designs, which are ironed on the frock or material. For one's guidance in painting flowers, is $1.50, and a book on the sealing-wax art, with transfer designs, is 10 cents extra. The sealing-wax art is acquired immediately, by following instructions. Order thru The Shopper.

A Chicago luggage shop writes us that it is offering to the profession a leather overnight case, 16 inches, silk lined, at $6.50. We are sending for one of these, which will be illustrated later on this page, but it sounds like such a good opportunity that we are telling you about it in advance.

Just before going to press we viewed the advance display of a bathing suit concern, to procure news for our fashion column. We were so pleased, however, with the new California-type bathing suit, designed by Ethelda Bleibry, champion swimmer, that we are going to describe it now, so that you may avail yourself of an opportunity to procure a suit of athletic cut at a very special price.

Miss Bleibry believes that a suit should be short to permit perfect freedom of movement. Otherwise it appears to be the conventional California bathing suit. But unseen, in the seat of the trunks is a round, double gusset. All seams are reinforced and covered. It is made of wool, in elastic stich, which insures perfect fit. In all the new high colors, including the staple shades of black, blue and brown. In case you wish to buy now and avail yourself of a discount, the price is $6.50.

As it comes in so many smart colors, several musical comedy producers have selected the Bleibry suits for the chorus, influenced too by the gusset and reinforced seam features, which will withstand the wear and tear of constant dancing.

Interested Reader: The bell anklets and bracelets worn by Oriental dancers may be either the imported ones which are expensive and hard to find or those made by the costumers, consisting of large bells sewn on elastic. For your information, the bells are 25 cents a dozen. You will need several dozen.

Indestructible hosiery at $1.49 a pair! Of course the word indestructible cannot be taken literally, but you may be assured that the hosiery, which we have tested, wears unusually long. The stockings are silk, medium weight, full fashioned. A guarantee accompanies each pair, agreeing to repair the hose equal to new, free, if a run or hole results from two weeks' wear. These may be had in

The Beauty Box

The very newest conceit is a double lipstick. One side contains a fine quality cold cream to protect the lips from chapping and roughness, forming also a smooth base for rouge. The other side of the lipstick contains fragrant rouge, in medium or dark shades, which stays on unusually long. This lipstick is introduced by a woman beauty specialist, noted for her unique beauty preparations. She claims that rouge cannot be blended smoothly without a cream base, which has a certain quality that relieves the hardening effect of bright rouge. You will not only find this lipstick an amusing novelty, but a useful one as well, especially at this time of the year. It sells for 75 cents a stick.

Perhaps the most popular cream at the Helena Rubinstein establishment is the Pasturized Cream. Madame always recommends it to her clientele when a home treatment is desired. The very busy woman prefers it because it contains cleansing and feeding ingredients, so that she may combine the cleansing with beautification. The cream is patted in until absorbed, and many about to spend a long vacation from the city buy a large supply, knowing that its pester nature insures it against becoming rancid. To tempt Madame to keep a supply on hand always, it is offered for the reasonable price of $1 a jar.

Puffiness under the eyes, accompanied by discoloration robs any beautiful face of youth. The method of treating this condition at the establishment of Kathleen Mary Quinlan, an expert in eye beautification, is to close the eyes for brief periods of rest during the day and to apply to the lids beneath the eyes and to the lids the lovely Vah-Dah Cream, which has certain astringent qualities, which reduce puffiness and bleach discolorations. It also smoothes out the little fine lines of worry that form beneath the eyes.

Are you in need of a shampoo to bring new life and luster to your hair? A shampoo which accomplishes these two beauty essentials is a pure coconut-oil shampoo, combining oils which stimulate growth and dissolve dandruff. It is the ideal shampoo for the woman who washes her own hair, as it is quickly worked into a rich suds which is very easily rinsed from the hair, which is more than one can say for soap shampoos. It sells for the modest price of 50 cents a bottle.

Youth-Aml is a harmless skin peel which does not inflame the skin and which is gradual and painless in effect. Particulars will be sent on request.

Have you seen Stein's new Moist Rouge, in jars, for theatrical makeup? It comes in three shades, at 50 cents.

Benzoil is particularly beneficial to the skin when used in the proper proportion. A chemist, who has never advertised because he has a large clientele of society women, tells us that he has discovered the secret of making a pure benzoil cream, without adulterating the benzoil with other ingredients to detract from its value just for the sake of giving the cream consistency. Although it is expensive to make, the chemist is offering it at a reasonable price, $1.50 a jar.

Coarse pores are a sign of neglect; neglect to cleanse the pores thoroughly. The superficial cleansing resorted to by many, who do not follow the use of oils by the application of an astringent to close the pores, is a half-way measure which is bound to have unpleasing results. A specialist in the treatment of enlarged pores, which certainly can be overcome with patience in following treatment, prescribes Porefiner. The Porefiner is spread over the gaping pores and permitted to remain on for half-hour periods or all night. It seeps into the pores, dissolves their accumulations and shrinks them to normalcy. In cases of acne, however, another treatment is recommended, about which The Shopper will be glad to correspond.

Priscilla Dean Relates An Experience

Priscilla Dean, the diminutive film star with the big expressive eyes and the perfect oval profile, was having breakfast with her mother at the Hotel Vanderbilt, New York, when the interviewer was announced.

Greeting the "intruder" in her characteristically breezy way Priscilla Dean sprang from her seat, drew a great armchair up to the table and said:

"You shall be queen. Sit here on your throne and order the minions to bring whatever thou wouldst have."

"Very well," we agreed, "we command you to tell us about the psychological moment in your career that spelled stardom for you."

"That you shall have," replied the dainty Priscilla, who is one moment audacious, the next sad, the next gay and so on thru the whole gamut of human emotions, an ardent temperament abetted by two of the liveliest feet we have ever seen.

"My success followed a failure. It was this way: I traveled to the Coast with a company called The National (not the First National), which was making comedies. I arrived on the Coast at the same time as Norma Talmadge, who was playing in dramatic films. Those films and the Talmadge dramatic films both took a flop. In addition to being a flop I was broke, with just a nickel to my name.

"I tried to get work, but no one wanted me, and when it looked as tho the wolf was about to spring into the door and hope fly out of the window Harold Tuttle, a friend of mother's who operates an automobile agency in Los Angeles, asked my mother if she would permit me to drive a car in a beauty show which was to be part of an automobile show there.

"Mother, about to remark that she was willing but that my wardrobe was weak, decided that discretion was the better part of valor and agreed to my appearance at the automobile show.

"When mother told me that my presence was desired at the beauty show I protested that I had nothing presentable to wear. Mother replied that she had been hanging on grimly to the tail end of a small bank account, something like $50, and would buy flowered marquisette to make a frock for little Priscilla. When the flowered marquisette was made there was a large home-made hat of pink mauline with a dashing pink bow made by myself.

"Feeling painfully humble I took my place in a little machine which had eighth place in the procession and looked around. The beauty and affluence that greeted my eyes threw me into a breathless panic. There sat beautiful Dorothy Dalton in luxurious furs, a Russian wolfhound and a chauffeur to lend zest to the picture. Edna Goodrich and Myrtle Stedman were among other gorgeously attired beauties present, each in a car of high degree. Poor little Priscilla Dean in the modest little car felt her heart sink to her heels. She had but one wish and that was to drive the car past the judges' stand without a mishap (only having had one lesson in driving) and then to effect a rapid and complete retreat from the scene.

"Well, my turn came to drive before the judges' stand. Then a terrible thing happened. I managed to start all right, but just as I got in front of the judges the motor stalled, a breeze came along and lifted my feather-weight pink mauline hat from my head. Several men chased the hat and one of them stepped on it. The spilling of the hat, coupled with the futility of my efforts to move the stalled car, was too much for me. I began to cry.

"Then suddenly I heard a burst of applause and shouts of 'Give the prize to her!' And they did! Next day the papers came out with a headline reading: 'Priscilla Dean, Universal Film Star, Wins Beauty Prize.'

"Of course, I wasn't a Universal film star, hadn't been able to get even a small part there. But on the strength of the publicity the Universal Company sent for me and offered to star me in a comedy. They liked me in the comedy and gave me a contract, calling for the fabulous salary of $40 a week."

All that happened six years ago and today Priscilla Dean is one of the best paid motion picture stars. Thoroughly unspooled by her success she likes to indulge in reminiscence about the days when she was a kiddie in melodrama (she played her first part at the age of three). Mother was too busy in those days to travel with Priscilla, so she hired a chaperon who was supposed to be a chaperon who should be, but on getting out in the sticks little Priscilla was left to her own devices while said chaperon paid devotion to the convivial cup. The wee actress then tried to take care of herself, packing her own trunks until omissions discovered just before important scenes at the next town proved the showing up of the chaperon's unfitnes and the finding of a real protector in the character woman.

During the course of the interview Miss Dean remarked that she is the recipient of letters from young people all over the country asking her assistance in getting into the movies. Many of them, she remarked, cannot be discouraged until they make a disillusioning trip to Hollywood.

"There was a time," added she, "when they were looking for new types and lack of experience didn't make much difference. But today it is a case of what have you done and what can you do. Those who get work in the films today are accomplished players who are well versed in all the arts that constitute the training of the motion picture star."

Miss Dean is now resting after a strenuous season, one of the relics of her activities being a bruised foot which she sustained in a fight with another woman player during the filming of The Barber of Seville. By the time this comes from the press her newest starring vehicle, The Crimson Runner, will be released and she will start on tour with it, making personal appearances at the motion picture houses where it is shown.

Milton Sills Defines Personality

Milton Sills was resting between scenes of the new film, The Making of O'Malley, which is being filmed at the Cosmopolitan Studios. He was wearing the uniform of O'Malley of the police force. As he drew himself up to his full height of six feet plus and made one of his imitably graceful bows we couldn't help imagining how Police Commissioner Enright might chuckle over this "pride of the force."

But when Milton Sills spoke the vision of O'Malley faded. There never was an O'Malley of the force with a voice like Milton Sills'. The Sills voice is deep, resonant and sonorous. You may hear it on Broadway next season, for Milton Sills has several offers to return to the legitimate stage.

Because Milton Sills is conceded to be one of the most dominant personalities of the motion pictures he was asked to define personality. He replied without a second's hesitation: "Personality is indefinable unless one might say that it represents the sum total of vast experience. Or we might say that a powerful personality has behind it the pressure of great life experiences with people, books and the arts. The charm that is inseparable from a great personality is savoir faire, culture, social breeding.

"The great personalities of the screen have behind them the propulsion of energy; that with which one must be born.

"The sum total therefore of personality is that with which we have been endowed by nature and experience. To that sum total add good will, kindness.

"Speaking of the great male personalities of the screen they seem to combine the endowment of energy or strength with kindness or tenderness. The very oppositeness of these qualities constitutes that elusive thing called charm."

Asked what he thought about men's fashions, Mr. Sills replied:

"I never think much about clothes, except that I think that to look well in motion pictures they must fit rather tight. If they are loose they show creases which take as shadows which have a baggy appearance. The coat should fit snugly at the shoulders. To my mind a coat that stands open, unless it be a double-breasted coat, showing the vest, is effective. Personally, I prefer the double-breasted coat."

On being asked why he preferred the double-breasted coat a humorous twinkle appeared in his eyes and he replied: "Well, it gives one an opulent air; chesty like, as the old-fashioned two-button man used to feel!"

Mr. Sills' philosophy of life is to get as much happiness out of it as possible, so long as the getting does not interfere with the happiness of others. He doesn't like bobbed hair for women. "You see," he explained playfully, "I have been reading Grimes' fairy tales about the fairy princesses with long hair. But seriously I think there is more poetry in long tresses."

Before Mr. Sills could say more the director blew his whistle and the staid actor in the policeman's uniform strode forward to join Dorothy Mackail, the graceful lady of the manor, and the supers in the ballroom began to dance to the strains of a hidden orchestra.

Rambeau in The Valley of Content, has returned to the West Coast and will appear in the production of Outward Bound, which Wilkes plans to present in Los Angeles and San Francisco this summer.

Maxwell Anderson, coauthor of What Price Glory, has given up his newspaper work and is devoting all his time to writing plays. In addition to The Buccaneer and another piece written in collaboration with Stallings, Anderson has a couple of other plays that will be ready for next season.

Laurette Taylor will revive Peg of My Heart in Cleveland this summer as one of the plays in which she will appear during a short season of stock in that city. Miss Taylor plans to try out three or four new plays in the hope of finding one that will serve her as a suitable vehicle for next season.

Charles Ellis, now appearing in Destre Under the Ems at the Earl Carroll Theater, New York, is a portrait painter in his leisure moments. He studied painting under John Sloan, George Bellows and Robert Henri, and spent last summer in Italy studying the art of that country. Ellis will paint a portrait of Eugene O'Neill as soon as the playwright returns from Bermuda.

Allyn Joslyn, who plays the part of Polyverio in The Firebrand at the Morosco Theater, New York, has appeared in eight consecutive part dramas in the last three years. The other plays were St. John, Sancho Panza, Saramonche, The Show Booth, St. John's Botolph, Morn and the Masses and Johanna Kröiser. Considering the small number of costume plays produced here, this is something of a record. The Firebrand, incidentally, has just reached Broadway without a single change in the cast.

COSTUMERS
By Ray Powell

(Communications to 1493 Broadway, N. Y.)

The Brooks Costume Company is doing the costumes for the men of the No. 3 Student Prince Company, which is to go to Philadelphia. This firm also is making the costumes for the Lawrence J. Anhalt production of Gilbert and Sullivan's Princess Ida.

Emil Friedlander, of Dazien's, New York, has just returned from Europe, bringing back with him an unusually large assortment of beautiful materials and costume accessories. The work of unloading and assorting these for display is going forward as rapidly as possible, but it will be still some time before they can be placed on public exhibition.

The Jack Lipshutz Costume Company, of Philadelphia and New York, is to costume 10 Mutual Circuit (burlesque) shows for next season, which will mean making an average of 110 costumes a week from the present time to the first of September. The company also is engaged just now in remaking the costumes for the show at the Club Madrid, Philadelphia, which was padlocked for a month for Volstead violations and is taking advantage of the enforced rest to prepare for a reopening.

Otto Pommer, of the Brooks Costume Company, has finally perfected a system of lights and colors upon which he has been working for some time. The purpose of his experiments was to discover how to change black people to white and white people to black by the use of different colored lights and at the same time keep the cost of such a system down to a point where it would be within the reach of amateur theatrical organizations. This, he announces, is now possible as a result of his experiments. Not only can he change the faces and hands of the actors from white to black but he can also change the color and design of their costumes.

About a month ago we made the suggestion that costuming and dress houses using catalogs might do well to send a copy to Eliza Miller Lenz, who conducts The Billboard's Feminine Frits department. That we were not mistaken has been amply proved. One or two such catalogs have been received so far and Mrs. Lenz has made very good use of them. A constant stream of letters is coming in to that department every day filled with inquiries of every sort and these inquiries Mrs. Lenz undertakes to answer. In this connection she uses such catalogs as may be sent her in advising correspondents as to where and what to buy. We take this opportunity of again urging the various costume and dress houses to send their catalogs to Mrs. Lenz so that she may refer to them in replying to the many queries on this subject that come to her every day.

REFLECTIONS OF DOROTHEA

When Easter comes and lilies bloom and nature seems to wake, I do not like to think of Christ as One men tried to break; I like to see him, in my heart, run o'er the silver shore To where his mother waited him beside a cottage door.

—Margaret E. Sangster.

THE glad season is here again and now that Mother Nature already has begun to deck herself in the fullament her creatures are following the example. So many of my friends have told me about the pretty things they expect to wear when Easter comes that I wish I, too, could go out and choose some of the lovely hats and dresses I see pictured in the newspapers. Styles in nightgowns and boudoir caps don't change much and when one is obliged to wear nothing else for years as I have done they do grow a bit monotonous. But I am sure I'll enjoy seeing my friends and callers wearing their new hats and dresses even if I can't have them yet. And there is a lot in the psychology of clothes, for they do have a very noticeable effect on one's spirits. And I know I am going to enjoy the happiness of several of the neighborhood kiddies who don't need new clothes to kindle the spirit of happiness in their little hearts. They are dreaming of soft, lacy bonnets just I used to do and they will be bubbling over with joy when they tell me how the elusive little creature called at their homes and escaped without even being seen. Their laughter and chatter will be music to my ears and while they are dreaming of bunnies to come I am dreaming of their dreams and their joy. What greater happiness does emphatically that there is no levity in his request. The prospective bridegroom writes that he is Scotch-English, and with good prospects. The ideal of his dreams must be loving and affectionate and look resplendent in a black satin dress with white pearl buttons. To the one whose heart is "tuned to the right pitch" a honeymoon cruise to the West Indies awaits. Line forms to the right, ladies, and please don't crowd. Here I have been wondering what will be the first part I'll have to play when I get back to the stage and now I find myself cast in the role of Cupid. "Well," as dear old Denman Thompson might say, "Cupid won't s'ch a bad feller."

Linwood Flint, who raises the cunningest little bear cubs imaginable up in Maine, wants to know why I haven't mentioned Caruso, my canary, for some time. Incidentally he recalls that it was just 29 years ago that he placed his first ad in The Billboard.

As to Caruso, he is very sad just now, for he has lost his mate, Connie. Caruso seemed to know for some time that all was not well with Connie and the other morning I found her cold and dead at the bottom of her cage. Of course I cried; wouldn't you? But Caruso never learned how to cry so he just sits on his perch in silence.

Of Interest To
SCENIC ARTISTS
By Ray Powell

(Communications to 1493 Broadway, N. Y.)

John Wenger, well-known scenic artist, has designed the sets for Lawrence J. Anhalt's forthcoming production of Gilbert and Sullivan's Princess Ida.

Woodman Thompson is now at work on the sets for Martin Beck's new production, The Wisdom Tooth, by Marc Connelly.

Sheldon K. Vele did the settings for the special matinee of Charles Rann Kennedy's The Sergeant in the House April 3 at the 48th Street Theater, New York.

A new use for scenery has been devised, according to The New York Times for March 31. Enterprising burglars employed a carefully prepared and painted "set" of a steel safe front as a screen behind which to open the real safe. Passersby saw the "scenery" and never even suspected what was going on behind it.

The settings for The Legend of the Dance, the first part of the third bill of the subscription season offered March 31 at the Neighborhood Playhouse, New York, were done by Aline Bernstein. In the last scene of Sooner and Later, the second half of the Neighborhood program, Thomas Wilfred's Clavilux, or color organ, was used for the first time in any theatrical production.

The Novelty Scenic Studios announce they have recently made several notable additions to their designing staff. The painting studio is now under the direction of Earl Van Buren Ackerman and is housed in a large, airy studio building where special attention can be given to the fabrication and painting of production drops and cycloramas of all descriptions. Only high-class work will be handled by this enterprising New York organization.

Prizes in the poster contest conducted by the management of What Price Glory have been awarded to Goesle Roese, Thomas Benton and Thomas Harrison. On the committee judging the posters were Neysa McMein, J. C. Leyendecker, Norman Rockwell and Ray Greenleaf, with Maxwell Anderson and Lawrence Stallings, authors of the play. The posters were placed on exhibition on the stage of the Plymouth Theater, New York, March 30 at a series of tea dances given there for the benefit of the Dugout, the club for disabled men who were in the service.

We are in receipt of an announcement from the Charles Bernard Company, Savannah, Ga., that should be of general interest to scenic artists. It is relative to the establishment in that city of scenic studios at the bulletin and poster plant of Price & Maps. These studios are an innovation supplied to meet the growing demand for scenic artists to supply productions in the southeastern part of the United States. Builders and painters of theatrical scenery from the leading Eastern studios have been obtained and a new building has been constructed, fully equipped for making and painting all sizes of theater and auditorium scenery, floats for pageants and special scenic displays. This announcement bears a special significance when we recall that Atlanta, Ga., is the center of musical dramatics in the South and that in that city they are planning to hold six weeks of light opera under the direction of Lew Morton this summer. The establishment of a complete and elaborate scenic studio in Savannah will serve as a stimulus to dramatic activity throughout that entire locality and marks another step forward theatrically in this country.

Jumps From Coast to Columbus, O., To Paint Set

Chicago, April 4.—B. F. (Tip) Tipton, widely known West Coast scenic artist, is in Chicago on his way to Columbus, O., to do a special set for the Thompson Studio. "Tip", for the past year and a half, has been with John Wilkes in San Francisco, where he painted all production sets for Mr. Wilkes, including Topsy and Eva; also sets for Nance O'Neil, Marjorie Rameau and others. He expects to return to California in May to take over the scenic department for Jack Russell, who opens at the White Theater, Fresno, for the West Coast Theaters' Company. "Tip" will visit New York before going to the Coast.

The Mounds Theater, St. Paul, Minn., has been taken over by the Finkelstein & Ruben enterprises. Announcement of the change was made by Herman Fields, director of maintenance.

Well, one of my readers firmly believes I should be able to supply them, or one at least. He has read with interest of the many charming ladies who call to see me and it has awakened in his heart a feeling of great and irreplaceable loneliness. STEPPING STONES IN GROUP ORGANIZATION

The question of a constitution and by-laws for the proper government of a little theater is so broad a subject that we have decided to simplify this phase of little theater organization for our readers by suggesting that they confer with established groups on the subject or write us for printed matter dealing with by-laws. A printed or typewritten copy of the constitution and by-laws of your group should be placed in the hands of every member and prospective member. By-laws are as vital to little theater government as law and order are to civil government.

Of course, the more members you have before electing your officers or Board of Directors and beginning the actual work of production the better. The more yearly dues poured into the treasury the larger will be your budget. Having decided to keep a budget you will need as a treasurer a conscientious person who will watch carefully the minute details of budget maintenance. The budget will take care of the expense of circularizing prospective members, announcements, programs, the rental of a rehearsal hall, scenery, costumes, royalties on plays, makeup and eventually a theater and musicians. Unless you happen to have among your members an experienced professional player who will undertake direction you may have to draw on your budget to pay for the services of a professional coach. As the entire membership is enlisted to sell a certain number of tickets for a performance the budget should be reimbursed.

To return to the subject of getting members for your project, this should not be a difficult undertaking, as the desire for self-expression is innate in every normal man or woman of every age. The desire may be dormant, but it is there nevertheless. Those who have campaigned for members have been pleasantly surprised to find that the community theater is a subject near to everyone's heart. It has saved many a stage-struck girl or youth from seeking the art of expression in strange cities, has saved many a middle-aged couple from living an otherwise hum-drum existence and has rejuvenated the ancients. Publicity is another phase to be considered. It is a wise plan to invite to organization meetings a newspaper man or woman interested in the destiny of your plan who will write announcements for publication in a manner acceptable to the newspapers. These announcements should declare the objects of the group, the personnel behind it and wind up with a direct and sincere appeal for members. Publicity is a big factor in little theater success, and every group needs a director of publicity whose duties shall be to keep the activities of his little theater before the eyes of the community.

There is an ethical side of the little theater, too, that few take into consideration until they come face to face with it at rehearsals. It has to do with too much personality, the enemy of progress. One of the first things that should be distinctly understood among an organization of amateur players is that there shall be no exalted egos on its roster. People with "ingrown egos" breed mischief and sometimes disruption in the ranks.

Every member of a little theater group should profess to the spirit of humility and abide sincerely by that profession. Humility means a willingness to play any kind of a part and to perform any mental task on the working force of the little theater for the general good of the whole.

The director is often hampered in his or her work by individuals with exalted ego, who take advantage of their friendship with members of the board of directors to stir up a dissension that results in the resignation of the director.

Little theater management should be conducted in a businesslike manner, relegating personalities and friendships to the background. This does not include good fellowship. Good fellowship in the little theater is consideration for the rights of others. Too much stress cannot be placed on keeping personal leadership other than that of a highly qualified director in the background. Of course the board of directors is composed of personalities, but all act in concert, according to general vote. A little theater is a community organization in which the status of the individual is comparable to that of a soldier in the regiment. This, in short, is the ethical side. The artistic side will be discussed later.

As an afterthought, do not be dismayed by poverty. Every little theater group is poor in the beginning. In this connection it is wise not to start out with extravagant ideas about scenery, costumes, etc. Give one-act plays of every-day interest, leaving much of the setting to the imagination of your audience—in the beginning. The future, and every little theater which starts out right has a prosperous future, is another story.

THE GROWTH OF THE KANSAS CITY THEATER

The Kansas City Theater, in the middle of its third season, and just when its future looked very dark indeed, scored a success which probably was one of the greatest ever won by a little theater, and it is now up and "going strong."

Outward Bound, by Sutton Vane, was the vehicle of triumph after a struggle which seemed to spell immediate subsidy or death. And what makes it interesting is that the commercial managers hardly would have considered the drama of the flight of souls as a safe offering in Kansas City.

And the Kansas City Theater, or "Theater Guild", as it was called until the Guild in New York objected, had not done well with serious plays. In the first season John Ferguson scared the directing committee into comedies.

In the second season Ambush, tho brilliantly staged by the new director, Robert Peel Noble, met thumbs down;

ROBERT PEEL NOBLE

Director of the Kansas City Theater, Kansas City, Mo.

Icebound, tho accurately and strongly presented, made no stir, and The Deluge was indifferently received.

Such offerings as The Romantic Age and The Torch-Bearers drew better business. But Mr. Noble opened the third season with Lilium, and the thoroly professional finish of his work made a vivid impression. It was good advertising because the bane of the theater had been the amateur implication.

It now has its own home in the historic Auditorium opened by Booth and Barrett 40 years ago, and could give its productions a week's run or longer, but the fine impression made by the really extraordinary production of Lilium with popular try-out talent was followed by very poor business with Shipman's The Fountain of Youth.

Mr. Noble then took advantage of the presence in Kansas City of Evelyn Vaughan, originator of the Cherry Lane Theater, to assemble a cast for her to do Paula Tangueray in December. The Kansas City Pineroy revival was staged at heavy cost for scenery and advertising, and presto! The Second Mrs. Tangueray came into collision with hillzard weather which raged two weeks. Those who braved the bitter weather were loud in their praise, but—

There was an accumulated deficit, no money in the till and the rent was past due. Everything came due at a swoop, and the civic president of the enterprise, whose business prestige had kept the ship financially afloat, could no longer serve. In January the Kansas City Theater was a derelict.

About the only live asset it had was the rights of Outward Bound, the drama of the dead, and a director whose pay was not forthcoming but whose mind functioned. Regardless of no pay, no heat, no money, he cast the play and went on with rehearsals to maintain the morale; so that when Arthur Leslie Williams, a business man whose hobby is acting, accepted the presidency and raised some funds the drama of the dead was put on in February.

It should be said that one thing never fails the Kansas City Theater. It is wholehearted newspaper support. The serious public was drummed into the Auditorium for the first night as a civic duty, and left the theater proclaiming Outward Bound as the most fascinating show it had seen for an age.

Persons who had witnessed the original production at the Adelphi in London, others who had attended the Harris production at the Ritz, New York, were emphatic in their statement that the Noble production lost nothing in the comparison. Outward Bound ran two weeks and drew $6,000 at 50 cents, 75 cents and $1 prices. It could have gone on, but President Williams thought it would be asking too much of a cast working purely for the sport. Technically amateurs, these players really are actors and actresses either by nature or former avocation, who give their time simply to satisfy the craving to act. Their performance under professional direction has the advantage over regular players of the zest they throw into the work, including the small parts and bits.

The Kansas City Theater really is not a community theater, or a social art theater, but virtually a guild which strives non-commercially to uphold the spoken drama in a city where it was threatened with extinction. It does not regard itself in the little theater class in the ordinary sense of the term.

Tryouts to discover fresh talent are held monthly. The casts consist of a mingling of three general classes: former professionals now otherwise engaged, players often of lively talent and considerable experience in amateur productions and ambitious youngsters who burn to act. The theater has available not fewer than 250 persons good in some parts. The rule is that the play is the thing.

NEW YORK HAS NEW LITTLE THEATER

Another little theater group now being organized is the Columbia Neighborhood Players, which will comprise persons residing in the vicinity of Columbia University in New York. Sunday evening, March 22, a meeting of all interested was held at the Morningside Residence Club, 416 Morningside drive, and plans discussed for an organization which will devote itself to the production of one-act plays. Mrs. Katherine Williams Sinclair is directing the movement and the sessions are being held thru the co-operation of Florence Rohr.

According to tentative arrangements, at least one evening a month three one-act plays will be presented in Faculty Hall, corner of Morningside drive and 117th street. It is intended to select plays dealing with life in New York and it is hoped that such stories as O. Henry wrote may be used in dramatic form. Also it is planned to conduct a play-writing contest with view of obtaining suitable scripts. While the company is in its infancy settings of a simple nature will be used, altho more pretentious sets are anticipated later.

THE BEECHWOOD PLAYERS IN A REVIVAL

The Beechwood Players of Scarborough-on-the-Hudson revived March 26, 27 and 28 a melodrama of the 1850s, The Streets of New York, a piece signed by "The Five-Star Club", a group of which Dion Boucicault was evidently a member and leader, as the copyright was taken under his name. The piece held the stage for many, many years and the Beechwood Players produced it carefully costumed and elaborately set. Knowles Eutrikin, director of the players, rehearsed the piece, and Reginald Marsh, who did some of the New York designs for Fashion and is known as the creator of decorative drop curtains for The Greenwich Village Follies and Sancho Panza, was called in to design the decorations. He turned loose on the broadly painted canvas the humor of his burlesques and the whole performance was keyed in a sincere but heightened mood to correspond.

It proved one of the most popular pieces the Beechwood Players have ever produced and offered an almost violent contrast to the new manuscripts which they usually present. Two of the players who had journeyed to Broadway and made a considerable impression in Mr. Eutrikin's The Small Timers, when it was produced professionally, returned to the Beechwood Players to appear in leading parts. These young people were Dorothy Grey and Leslie John Conley. They had congenial roles and many of the other favorites appeared in this old piece.

The piece is in 10 scenes and requires an elaborate investiture. The high point of the performance is the burning of a tenement in which "the papers" were concealed. With the finely equipped stage at their disposal the Beechwood Players managed the changes and the effects without difficulty. The play reeks of "pure theater" and is rampant with strong situations and crude dramatic values. The company seized on them and played the play as it was written to be played for the maximum of effect.

A DEPARTURE IN VOCAL TEACHING

What is believed to be a novel and unique practice in dramatic rehearsals has been adopted by Randolph Somerville, director of Dramatic Art at Washington Square College of New York University, in connection with his work in building up the repertory company known as the Washington Square Players of the University. The combined use of the microphone, the homophone and the phonograph, as perfected by Richard Borden and Alvin C. Busse, of the Public Speaking Department, is the mechanical side of the experiment, and the recording of all voice work during rehearsals and the giving over of several rehearsals to an analysis of the players' voices with the members of the company sitting as an audience constitutes the practical application of the theory.

Essentially the practice provides for the installation of a set of microphones which will record every word spoken from start to finish on the stage when the play is rehearsed. The coach will no longer interrupt any player in the course of his role as it is being read for interpretation. The vocal work of each member of the company will be impressed first on wax records by way of the microphone and later placed on regular phonograph records. Self-correction thru the objective study of one's work will relieve the coach of much work when the player has a chance to hear these records in his own home.

Readings which may be stamped as "standard" will be recorded finally for filing in the library of the Washington Square Players. A library of parts will be invaluable in the workings of a repertory company like this built up by Professor Somerville. New players will have the advantage of hearing the "standard" readings of their predecessors.

Another use to which this combination of instruments is to be put by Professor Somerville is the recording of several "artists' readings", the work of stage stars like Walter Hampden, Margaret Wycherly, Dudley Diges and Mrs. Elske. Actors need to hear their own voices after their interpretations are finished in order to make a calm, objective analysis of the total effect of their vocal work," according to Professor Somerville. "Often the actor thinks he has obtained an effective reading but his audience does not concur. By having the actor sit back like a member of the audience and listen to his vocal quality, his diction and his interpretation we can furnish him with corroboration of the director's opinion."

"Then, too, it is of particular value to have good readings recorded for the inspiration of beginners. Several recordings which I made of the late Louis Calvert's Shakespearean readings are invaluable as indicative of what may be done with vocal interpretation. Bringing these records before students as models in vocal technique is like bringing an analysis of the style of Macaulay or Stevenson to the student of literary composition."

THE LIGHTHOUSE PLAYERS IN A FINE PROGRAM

The blind girls of the New York Association for the Blind, 3 East Fifty-eighth street, gave the final performance of their spring subscription plays at a matinee Saturday afternoon, March 28, and Sunday evening, March 29. Both performances took place in the auditorium of the Lighthouse.

Three one-act plays were given, the casts being drawn from the Lighthouse Players. This group of sightless girls, each is a wage earner and serious study must be given in leisure moments to overcome the mannerisms of the blind, they succeeded in making their audience feel no handicap in blindness.

In the three plays the blind girls were given wide scope in which to express their dramatic ability. In Manakin and Manikin, by Alfred Kresyborg, Ruth Askenas and Rose Resnick had an opportunity to display their fine movements in a quaint doll dance with music-hall accompaniment in the prologue. Sir—There was a serious mistake in my open letter on the subject of scales published in your issue of March 28. I said that the thirds had to be tuned a sixth of a semitone "flat" in order to equalize the tempered scale and I should have said that the thirds have to be tuned a sixth of a semitone "sharp". The minor thirds have to be tuned flat and the augmented fifths are tuned sharp. The fifths also are tuned a trifle flat.

Manager Complains

New Kensington, Pa., March 30, 1925.

Editor The Billboard:
Sir—I am enclosing herewith a letter from V. W. Tate, a partner of Mr. Kimball's, of the Kimball Theatrical Agency, 919 Huron road, Cleveland, O., with a few words of explanation.

In a recent issue of The Billboard I had an advertisement for people and received the enclosed letter from Tate in response. I immediately called him by long distance from Pittsburgh and he made an appointment to have four chorus girls and a singing and dancing straightman meet me in his office at Cleveland at 10 o'clock the following morning. When I arrived I was informed by Messrs. Kimball and Tate that they had the five people for me, but that it would cost me $110 each to get them, in addition to the regular agent's commission.

The result of it all was that I lost my temper, the price of the long-distance telephone call, transportation from Pittsburgh to Cleveland and return and two days that I could have been putting in on the show—and no people.

Manager Waited But in Vain

Eldorado, Ark., March 27, 1925.

Editor The Billboard:
Sir—I wish to make a complaint thru your columns if you will do me the favor to place same in the next issue of Billy-boy.

On the 18th of this month I sent $70.50 to one Florence Cole to pay for two tickets to join my company in this city. She was to use $50.34 for tickets for herself and a girl friend by the name of Katherine Engle and the extra $20 was to have been used to pay their bill at the Plaza Hotel, Indianapolis, Ind.

When they failed to arrive at Eldorado in due time I had Earl Swaggerty call Bert Frost, an attaché of the Plaza Hotel, on account of their non-attendance, and Mr. Frost told Mr. Swaggerty that he had talked to the girls and told them that they should either return the money or keep their agreement, but they said they were going to Grand Rapids, Mich., and would use the money I sent them to go on.

Manager Kirkland's California Keuples.
(The practice of ticket cadging could be avoided if theatrical managers would send money for tickets direct to railroad offices and have the ticket agents fix the tickets so that they would not be redeemable after delivery to the ones notified by them—the managers—by wire or letter to call at the railroad offices for the tickets.—The Editors of The Billboard.)

Prisoner Makes Plea for Assistance

P. O. Box 1733, Atlanta, Ga., March 26, 1925.

Editor The Billboard:
Sir—I wish you would inform the large moving picture interests that I need considerable money for attorney fees to fight my case for immediate release from Atlanta Federal Prison.

I am in receipt of a letter from an out-of-town lawyer and he has advised me that he will handle my case at once for a certain sum, and from his ability, as well as certain political influence, I feel quite sure that he can secure my immediate release. I believe that the large moving picture interests would come to my financial support at once if they knew that I was one of the pioneer motion picture men of the United States, who spent thousands of dollars of his own money in 1908-'09-'10-'11 and '15, owning a controlling interest in a company capitalized at $300,000 and having connection with another $1,000,000 organization. Very few financial men of the motion picture business have the misfortune, like myself, of being sent to prison. My charge is a technical one; namely, using the mails to defraud, by an alleged failure to fill two orders, one for a moving picture machine and the other for a musical instrument. I did not receive these orders and know absolutely nothing about them. The two parties who claimed they ordered the goods mentioned were not even amusement people.

My case is one of mistaken identity; in fact, another party has confessed to the alleged crime. I now have tuberculosis and should obtain my liberty at once. Money will accomplish this. I will refund every dollar received as soon as I "get on my feet" again after my release, which would be less than three months. I wish to thank you for your kindness.

plans as regards the new edition of All in Favor. Freddy has gone with his wife to the South of France for a prolonged rest and will, of course, take in Monte Carlo and Italy. Harry Norris, who really got ill thru overwork, has just returned from Monte Carlo, but he says he had the most miserable time as it poured in torrents throughout the whole of the 10 days, with the consequence that he had nothing else to do but knock about the Casino or other places in a most vitiated air. Carl Hooper is still at Monte Carlo trying to get his chest easier and reports to hand are rather favorable, but here again Hooper has the same grouch against the weather as Harry Norris.

Scott and Whaley, colored, are second to none as regards laugh merchants, and the fooling of Scott with blackface, assisted by Whaley in their burlesque drama, Hackshaw, the Detective, got the Victoria Palace audience in hysterics.

Moreover he can never appear unless accompanied by a "Junior" counsel, who gets a fee equal to two thirds that received by the K. C. There is no man at the bar today who has Doughty's knowledge of the V. A. F. business or of the intricacies of the V. A. F. Arbitrators' awards, etc.

AUSTRALIA

114 Castlereagh Street, Sydney
By MARTIN C. BRENNAN

SYDNEY, Feb. 25.—At a meeting of the theatrical profession last Sunday at the rooms of the Actors' Federation the following resolution was carried: "That the Actors' Federation of Australia take immediate steps to apply the policy of 'closed shops' thruout the whole profession in this country." Nobody appears to know just why this resolution came into being, for, taking all in all, the local actor is treated pretty well, when one considers the limited field for his exploitation. Executive heads refused to discuss the subject, except W. J. Douglas, of the Fuller-Ward interests. He said: "We interpret the resolution to mean that preference is to be given to unionists, but the idea of giving preference, at this juncture, is absurd. The managements to have any chance at all to make a success of their show must import artists, and how are they going to discriminate as to who are unionists or otherwise? At present managements are doing all they can to encourage local material. Why the federation should pass a resolution in the face of general activity is difficult to understand."

Long Tack Sam arrived here from the North last Saturday. His new company of Celestials are the direct antithesis to his former troupe, which savored of advance Western methods.

Dion Boucheault will, by arrangement with J. C. Williamson, Ltd., produce a majority of J. M. Barrie's plays in this country.

Randolph, "the American cowboy", appeared at the Empire Theater, Adelaide, last week.

Sir Benjamin Fuller arrived in New Zealand yesterday accompanied by a couple of acts, including Harry Taft, famous raconteur, for the circuits. Others are due to follow in quick order. Several return visits are noted in the lengthy list.

The Actors' Federation is insistent that one man shall do only one man's work. There is to be no doubling of parts.

Maurice Moscovitch, who essayed Shakespeare in Melbourne and flopped with it, subsequently staging melodrama, is now at the Royal Theater in Sydney presenting The Masquerader to big approval.

The Two Rascals (Flelds and O'Donoghue) are to appear at the Tivoli Saturday after an absence of two years.

Moran and Wiser, Americans, in a hat-spinning act, provide one of the best laugh hits seen at the Tivoli for some time. The Six Brown Brothers, on the same bill, prove a wonderful drawing card.

Australian acts of caliber are all working. The Williamson people, having reached that stage where overlapping of big acts has been overcome, will sandwich in an Australian turn or two. This will absorb several acts weekly. The Fullers, who depend mainly on the local act, are advancing the actor's interests even further, so long as he has the ability.

Henry Cash, South African comedian, returned here last Monday after an absence of five years, most of it spent in commercial life. He proposes returning to vaudeville.

The Rise of Rosie O'Reilly terminates a three months' run at the Grand Opera House next Friday. It will be followed by Mr. Batling Butler. Chas. Heslop and Dorothy Brunton will be the comedians.

Nell Fleming, American comedienne, is appearing with a costume comedy show in Melbourne.

Herbert Beaver, talking juggler, will take another small show to the country towns of N. S. W.

Maxim Erodi and Madame Hessleva, Russian vocalists, are playing a return season at the Haymarket Theater.

Guy Bates Post had a fitting farewell at the Criterion Theater Monday evening, the last night of The Green Goddess. The play was withdrawn in the height of its popularity to make room for further attractions.

Fred Bluett, popular comedian, is in Brisbane this week playing a Haymarket theater at a fine figure.

Etty is in season at His Majesty's, Melbourne, and Thurston Hall is presenting So This Is London in the same city. Don Carlos Esporodean, Spanish dancer, arrived here recently and may connect with the Fullers. He works with a lady partner.

The Versatile Three, American colored entertainers, are at the Tivoli, Melbourne. On the same bill are Hayden and Nevard, Duncan and Godfrey, Novello Brothers, Felovs and the Hell's Bells Jazz Band.

The Dewars, in an athletic act, are at the Tivoli. Their work is highly meritorious and distinctive.

Anna and Louis, continental musicians, are at the Auditorium, Melbourne. They finish their Australian time shortly.

Williams and Taylor, American colored dancers, leave for America tomorrow after successfully playing Williamson Vaudeville.

Hugh Huxham terminated his Manly season Saturday. Big opposition at this suburban resort, coupled with adverse weather, interfered considerably with receipts. He got out of it all right and has taken advantage of Tasmanian dates and leaves for Hobart tomorrow.

Niblo and Doris are still playing New Zealand for the Fullers.

Remona, mental marvel, has been far from well since her return from Honolulu. She will prepare for dates shortly. "Hats" McKay, who worked the Islands in conjunction with Remona, returns to Honolulu next month and may settle there.

J. C. Bain, veteran vaudeville manager, whose health has been impaired for some months, is to be tendered a benefit from the vaudeville profession. The event takes place in two weeks.

Tom Brown, of the Six Brown Brothers, was offered a substantial increase to play New Zealand, but his wife is homesick and the brothers will return to schedule. They have had a wonderful time here. The Four Ortons will headline—with the Versatile Three costarring — on the Dominion tour.

Henry De Bray, dancer, who was here three years ago, will reappear next month with a new partner. His former dancing girl was fatally shot last year on the continent.

The Cracknells, whose act is suitable for circus and vaudeville, are playing the Associated Theaters' Circuit, Melbourne.

All recognized road shows are doing well and most of them will be back in the city for the Easter season.

Seymour Hicks, now playing New Zealand, is mentioned in cables as a probable director of Drury Lane.

The Good Luck Girl has made no impression with managers here at the demanded salary of $1,500, and Phil Coleman and Lydia Alexandra and their manager, David Heenan, have been doing nothing for two months or more. In England and France the offering was a wonderful money spinner during the hectic war period.

The entertainment tax has a far-reaching effect. Last week at Cootamundra, a country town, G. H. Pollars, secretary of the local trotting club, was proceeded against for failing to furnish information when requested to do so. Fines amounting to £10 were imposed.

The Philharmonic Society will erect a new hall in Melbourne shortly if its scheme does not miscarry. The society proposes building a place capable of seating from 3,000 to 4,000 people. It will be the aim to sell a limited number of seats for 99 years, at £100 a seat, payable by easy instalments.

The Paramount Film organization held its annual outing yesterday. The affair was the usual social success.

Several country showmen are in town at present, some to dodge the heat, but it has been a case of "out of the frying pan," etc.

Joe Malone, with Universal Films for some time, has left that organization of his own accord.

N. Bernard Freleman, representative here for Metro-Goldwyn, has established offices at the M. U. O. O. F. Building, but says he will not become really active for some months.

Arrangements are almost finalized for the Sydney premiere of The Sea Hawk.

Fox Films had a special trade screening last week when, despite the heat, a large number of country and suburban exhibitors were present.

At the Grand Theater, Queenscliff (Vic.), a film caught fire, but the flames were extinguished after several hundred feet of celluloid went up in smoke. The house manager and proprietor of the theater allayed the peace of a panicky public.

Monday a deputation from the Australian Motion Picture Showmen's Association met with a view to a better understanding between the local producer and the showman. After much discussion the meeting was adjourned for a week, by which time it is hoped that W. J. Howe, president of the showmen, who has been in a hospital, may be present.

W. A. Gibson, director of Australasian Films, Ltd., returned from a tour of England, America and the Continent. He was particularly impressed with the American motion picture field, to which he is no stranger, but was plainly disappointed at English activity. He is hopeful that the Continent will shortly provide a continuity of film subjects sufficient to preserve a diversity of programs.

The J. D. Williams Amusement Company shows a substantial increase over the corresponding period last year.

L. A. Dempsey, house manager for Dan Clifford, of the Star Circuit of Theaters in Adelaide, is here on a week's visit. Clifford started his life as a newsboy and now controls the finest individual chain of modern picture houses in this country.

The Mutual Film Exchange Proprietary, Ltd., will commence business in Melbourne shortly. The new company is securing a suite of offices in Bourke House.

Floods in Queensland have been affecting show business to a considerable extent, and intense heat is making things more unpleasant.

John W. Hicks, chief of Paramount, leaves for New York next month accompanied by members of the Australian executive.

Pauline Frederick is due to arrive next month under engagement to E. J. Carroll, who has conducted the Lander tours here for some years. Reg. L. (Snowy) Baker also may make the trip. He is an Australian who has appeared in Antipodean and American film productions.

MAGIC AND MAGICIANS

Bookers Claim Scarcity Of Strong Magic Acts

The scarcity of magic and illusion offerings in vaudeville in New York and the East generally during the past season seems to indicate that this type of entertainment, as far as the big-time theaters are concerned, is now on the wane. The cause for this, according to bookers, is not so much a lack of interest on the part of the public, but the lack of acts strong enough with which to maintain an active interest in the magic art. The proof that vaudeville patrons are interested in magic if presented properly is pointed out in the fact that Houdini played for six consecutive weeks at the Hippodrome with no sign of business falling off.

It is estimated that during the past season less than 10 different magical or illusion acts have played the two-day houses in New York, excluding mind-reading offerings. Attention also is drawn to the fact that among the many foreign novelties which have been imported to this country by Harry J. Mendof, the Keith-Albee foreign scout, there have been but two mystery turns and this despite the fact that Europe is known to be overrun with magicians at present. The list of illusion artists and magicians who have played more than one week in big-time New York theaters is confined to Houdini, Nate Leipsig, Leah, Mallo-o-Mist; P. T. Selbit's Illusion, the Great Leon and the two Keith-Albee importations, namely the Royal Pekin Troupe and Mme. Tenkatsu and her Gelsba Girls Troupe.

Mind-reading acts also have been very few in New York. Princess Wah-Letka, Mercedes, Fresscott and Hope Eden and Harry and Emma Sharrock constitute almost a complete list of acts of that type which have played the big-time theaters.

Magic Frolic Given in Dramatic Play Form

A unique method of presenting an evening's entertainment of magic was used at the recent frolic given by the Society of Osiris, Magicians, Inc., of Baltimore, Md. Instead of announcing the various artists in their specialties, as is customary, the organization spotted all the bits in a play which was especially written for the frolic. The play had several sets of scenery, a plot and dialog between the members of the cast, which worked up each bit in production style.

The frolic was presented for the benefit of the local Order of the Royal Arcanum. The play was the suggestion of Member Swindel. Among those who took part were Members Polley, Worthington, L. L. Lane, Shilling, Clear, Langrall, Greer, Chapman, Heese, Marx and Lane. Thomas C. Worthing III, founder and first president of the society, was presented with the organization's emblem in gold, with the inscription of his offices on it. This was an appreciation of his efforts on behalf of the association and magic in general.

ARNOLD BELLINI

Escape artiste and magician, who recently arrived in the United States from Prague, Bohemia. He has played all the larger theaters in Europe, and is planning an extensive tour of this country.

G. M. Kelly Has Entry for "World's Greatest" Title

The subject of "who is the greatest living magician" continues to arouse a great deal of discussion among the various members of the profession. Among the letters received is one from George Xarquis Kelly, who draws a distinction between "world's greatest" "commercial magician" and the artistic magi.

Kelly agrees with Harry Opel and Wilson, the magician, that Thurston is the greatest "commercially". But he calls attention to one, who he says, "is known wherever men gather and discuss magic, who is married to magic and whose show has completely baffled many of our 'world's greatest'." Kelly speaks of W. W. Durbin, who has his own little theater in Kenton, O., dedicated to the magic art alone. Kelly's entry for the title of "world's greatest living magician" is Durbin, whom he claims is exploited by all who have seen his performances, including the late Harry Keilar, Blackstone, Richards and many others.

Incidentally, May 1 Durbin will give a show under the auspices of the V. C. T. of Springfield, O. The show will be transported from Kenton to Springfield by trucks.

Australian Notes

Sydney, Feb. 25.—Arthur Buckley and his wife are playing Fuller's Empire Theater, Brisbane. Arthur is presenting sleights and does a mental telepathy act with his wife.

Zara, New Zealand prestidigitator, has joined the Australian Magical Society.

Chung Wah Lee, an Australian who adopts a Chinese nom de stage, is presenting a good variety of mysteries at the Lyric Theater, St. Kilda. He has an excellent Eastern setting.

Mastyn, the merry magician, is playing the country towns of this State. Charles Sloggett, Australian necromancer, is touring by motor car many towns far removed from the train line. His Mystic Frolics is presented by five people. Cardini, a Welsh expert with the broods, is Richard Pichford in real life. He is playing Williamson Vaudeville and will go to America shortly.

Oswald Williams, English magician, presented the local magicians' society with his portrait and much pictorial matter before returning to London some weeks ago. As a magician he was disappointing to Australian audiences.

Cecil Barrie, English magician of 22 years standing, has an article in a professional paper here, drawing attention to the despicable action of a man styling himself as one P. T. Selbit and exposing the Sawing Thru a Woman illusion. Barrie says the fellow is no magician and is trying to grab the work of those who are showmen.

Lazern the Mystic, one of the best known of Australian showmen, has apparently discarded the stage for professional photography. He has had a studio at Kensington for years, but usually made a few theater appearances until lately.

Many Attend "Thurston Night"

A tremendous gathering of magicians and friends of magic were present at the midnight party given in honor of Howard Thurston by St. Louis Assembly No. 3 of the S. A. M., March 19. E. B. Heiler presided at the show, which followed the dinner. The program included illusions such as the Elastic Lady, by Miguel Hernandez; the Mystic Polities, by Joseph Peskulte; the Vanishing Horse, by William Mayer, and the Rooster's Head, by Will Lindhorst.

De Mont for H.-W. Circus

Charles De Mont, magician, will open shortly with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus side show. He is now playing over the Small-Strausberg Circuit of theaters with his Punch and Judy show.

Franz Gilmore and his company of magicians, featuring Ted Waltz, arrived in Chicago last week from Dixie. Gilmore said he found business good thru most southern States and that he played school auditoriums mainly.

Magic Notes

Bornstone, who bills himself as Kingsley, "the magic king", will appear with the Ketchum Shows this season under the direction of Prof. Maharajah.

The Zancigs, who recently returned to this country from Europe, have established a palmistry reading room in Asbury Park, N. J.

Madeline Seymour, escape artiste, has completed a tour of Texas and Colorado and is heading for the Coast, where she has some business to attend to. She will resume her tour in California.

Prof. Batchelder, an oldtimer who laid down his wand some years ago and has been living in Decatur, Ill., is planning to return to the magic field shortly. He is framing an illusion show which will travel by truck and will play three-night stands under canvas all summer. He will be assisted by his wife and Gilbert Vandever, a Decatur student of magic.

Ben Wiley writes from Decatur, Ill., telling of being pleasantly surprised on a visit to the local Orpheum Junior house to find a magic act on the bill which was not billed and nothing to indicate that the mysterious art was present in the entertainment. The act was programmed as Van Camp's Pigs and Barnyard Pets. The stunts included the egg in the bag, manipulation of a billiard ball, a collection of sleight-of-hand tricks, among which was the production of a live pig from a hat. The animals showed particularly good training for the magic, writes Wiley.

Nate Leipsig, international card expert, played the Palace Theater, New York, last week and did about three tricks which he works up in a style characterized by unusual showmanship. After opening with red thumbs, there followed changing the spots on the cards, locating two cards by plunging a dagger in between while they are wrapped in paper and reducing the number of cards in one pack while the number in the pack held by the other assistant is added to. He went over strong, as usual, and held interest every second. Not a few laughs are in the routine and add to the effectiveness.

a duty to perform? We believe you have in trying to keep the Grand Lodge functioning and you can only do this by keeping your interest at the boiling point. Again we say, consider what your presence means at this season.

To the present Grand Lodge officers: At the last session those present had confidence enough in you to elect you to your present office for a term of two years. You have fulfilled your pledge to the best of your ability. Now make it a complete success by attending the next session and have the roll call read 100 per cent. It is a duty you owe to the Grand Lodge and those who elected you. Think this over and be on the job ready to turn over to your successor the office you have filled for the past two years.

To the officers of the subordinate lodges: It is the duty of every lodge to have a representative at this session of the Grand Lodge as that body cannot function if there is no representation. Have you ever given this a thought? Other orders that came into existence long after ours have grown so that their members number among the tens and hundreds of thousands, while we have simply stood still allowing others in the amusement line to build up benefit orders all around us and forge to the front while we have been satisfied with a place in the rear rank. Call this to the attention of your officers and members and put them on their honor, asking them if it is right. What is the solution? Send a delegate to the next session. Help to inculcate and promote the welfare of our noble order and place us far in advance of the front rank and at the same time create ways and means to keep us there. Let us make a record this year in attendance such as we have never had at any session in the past 60 years of our existence.

Philadelphia Lodge No. 3

At our meeting held March 22, H. Jarrett, electrician, and Joseph Roback, property man with Marilyn Moyer's Peter Pan Company, were initiated. Walter Schlieter, prominent newspaper reporter, was elected to honorary membership. The members who are going to attend the Grand Lodge convention have had their heads together but have not disclosed their plans as yet.

The annual benefit of the Theatrical Mutual Association, Lodge No. 37, for its sick and death fund will be staged in the Alvin Theater the week of April 6. In addition to circus acts there will be a fashion show and beauty contest with a trip to Atlantic City for the winner.

Acts billed for the performances are: The Alexander Troupe, LeRoy Sisters, Pachecos, Louis Cress' acrobatic clown, Nellie Rose, Andrews' performing bears, Boyces, "Silvers" Johnson's clown band, Mme. Edwina and the Olivers.

On the committee are Harry Dunkel, George Hausman, Geo. Phillipot, J. J. Clair, E. Luther and Charles J. Sweeney.

Kansas City, April 3.—On account of the tremendous success with which Booth Tarkington's Sevenoaks was received last week in the Kansas City Theater's presentation at the Auditorium, Director Noble decided to hold this production over for the second week, and so this week it is again pleasing crowded houses. When Outward Bound was presented by the Kansas City Theater in February it also was such a success that it stayed over for the second week. Two more plays will be given yet this season by the Kansas City Theater.

The Gayety, Columbia Burlesque house, closed for the season March 28 and will reopen early in August. A great deal of painting and redecorating will be done.

Billy Allen, of Billy Allen's Circus Side Show, and formerly head of his own show, the Louisiana Carnival Company, was a pleasant caller March 27 on his arrival in the city from Texas and Oklahoma on his way to his home in St. Louis.

Col. Dan MacGugin, assistant manager of the Isler Greater Shows, returned to the city the first of the week from a (Continued on page 48)

Blumdon Adds Hotel

The success that attended the efforts of E. Blumdon, proprietor of the Hotel Carr, Pittsburgh, Pa., in catering to the requirements of theatrical professionals has induced him to take over the York Hotel at East Diamond and Ohio streets, where he welcomes those who cannot be taken care of at the Carr Hotel and those who find the York Hotel more convenient to theaters in which they are booked to play.

Both hotels are fully equipped with modern conveniences. The rates are $9 single and $12 double.

Another Richmond Hostelry

The Hotel Richmond at Richmond, Va., which is under the able management of W. E. Hockett, and has 300 rooms and 150 baths, is popular with professionals. Increasing patronage has induced the management to erect another hotel to be known as the William Byrd, which will be ready for its formal opening October 1.

Hotel Clarendon

Few hotels in Boston are better known to oldtimers than the Clarendon, at 523 Tremont street, a few blocks from the Castle Square Theater. It is now under the management of C. O. Nelson, who is fully qualified by knowledge and experience to fulfill the requirements of show-folk in general.

With the change in management the Clarendon has been renovated, redecorated and refurnished.

Actors at Alcon

The Hotel Alcon, 4561 Magnolia avenue, on the north side of Chicago and only 20 minutes from the Loop, is one of the better hotels in that city catering to the profession at reasonable rates. There are many guests there at present from such representative productions as No, No, Nanette; The Student Prince and the William Hodge show.

The Dramatic Society of the College of the City of New York presented its 1925 Varsity Show at the Heckscher Foundation Theater, Fifth Avenue and 105th Street, Saturday evening, April 4. The bill consisted of three one-act plays, the stage settings for which were provided by David Belasco.

The playlets given were 'Sham', by Frank Tompkins; 'Hearts To Mend', by Professor Harry Allen Overstreet, head of the Department of Philosophy at the college, and 'Behold the Man', by Brandon Tynan.

The students were directed by Professor Tynan, of the English Department, and Professor Brophy, of the Public Speaking Department.

MINSTRELSY

By EDWARD J. GALLAGHER

Neil O'Brien's Minstrels close April 11 at Pensacola, Fla.

Eddie Horan, manager of the Five Jolly Corks, sends a card that the act fared wonderfully well at the Orpheum Theater, Brooklyn, N. Y., last week.

Cal Cohen of Culver City, Calif., and E. R. Whitehead of the Mercer Minstrels, Hopewell, N. J., have sent in poems which we regret cannot be printed on account of space limitations.

"Pop" Sank, leading comedian and part owner of John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels for two seasons, had a nice visit at Newark, O., with the Lassies White show.

Reports are in circulation that Jimmy Conroy, well-known minstrel of a few years back, is now assistant manager of the Poli Theater, Bridgeport, Conn. How about it, Jim?

McCarthy and Moore, ex-minstrel boys, are doing principal comedy roles in the New York production, China Rose. Their last minstrel appearance was with the Doug Fleming "supreme" troupe. Not so bad for cork hoofers, eh?

Arkansas newspapers are giving generous space to the New Orleans Minstrels, appearing under canvas. This attention is due not only to the quality of the show but to the fact that Manager Harry Hunt is an old-time circus press agent and showman of 38 years' experience.

Arthur Samson reports that he has organized a new act, the Minstrel Five, which opened last week at Ascher's Blitmore Theater in Chicago. In the act are Frank Foulz, Larry Lorrivee, C. A. Perkins, Johnny O'Day and Mr. Samson. Special costumes and a new drop set the act off. Mr. Samson said W. V. M. A. bookings have been promised.

Lew Denney, straight man with Lena Daley's show on the Columbia Burlesque Circuit, is booked for the same capacity with the company next season. While playing Cleveland, O., two weeks ago, he and Doug Fleming talked over their experiences with the Vogel Minstrels in the seasons of 1913 and '14, and Doug prepared a real feast at the Flemings' apartment at which, it is understood, a good time was had by all.

Charlie Gano looked in on friends at The Billboard's Cincinnati offices April 1 while journeying home to Marion, O., from a successful winter in the South, where he put on 17 home productions since September, and was obliged to can-

BILLY DOSS

The flood of admiration this young man is creating among followers of corkdom thru his distinctively jolly delivery of popular songs and monologues promises to sweep him on the shores of musical comedy as another graduate of minstrelsy. He is under contract for two more seasons with Lassies White's Minstrels. The summer months find him in vaudeville.

cel seven additional contracts, thru lack of time. Gano reported seeing his old employer, J. A. Coburn, four weeks ago at Daytona, Fla., apparently well toward complete recovery from a recent illness.

One of the last dates of the Al G. Field Minstrels before closing March 25 was at Macon, Ga., where a return engagement was played to fair matinee and night crowds. The beautiful voices of Jack Richard and Billy Church pleased all as usual. Nick Hufford was better than ever, and his many friends gave him an ovation. Another ovation was for Harry Sunk, black-face comedian, who improves with age.

H. C. Berry, 1029 South Hope street, Los Angeles, is trying to locate some of the one-sheet posters or lithographs used by the old Harvery Minstrels. They are needed in a photoplay dealing with the history of American minstrelsy, and the promoters have been successful in securing all other minstrel paper. "We do not want to fake the lithos," Mr. Berry writes, "and we would appreciate information as to where we might secure them. They will be returned in perfect condition, as we merely want to reproduce them, which will injure the originals in no way."

Dan Fitch announces he will have three minstrel organizations on the road next season. A Kansas City Journal reporter interviewed Dan while he was removing his burnt cork, and showed him a Saturday Evening Post article which mourned "the passing" of minstrelsy. "Old-time minstrel shows no doubt are passing," said Dan, "for minstrelsy has entered a new era. Today variety is essential and no dialog or feature should run more than three minutes, with the entire performance running about an hour and a quarter. Then it can cope with other forms of amusement." Fitch himself is a "young old-timer," having embarked in the show business 15 years ago.

Peggy Cordova writes from New York: "While playing thru the South my partner and I had the pleasure of meeting Drane Walters, blackface comedian, whom we consider unique and extraordinary. We are very enthusiastic over his work and told him so. The 'unique and extraordinary' does not altogether apply to his work, but is due to the fact that while we were praising his ability he did not mention himself a single time.

On the contrary he countered by telling us how clever he considered 'Slim' Vernon and Roddy Jordan. It is such a novelty to meet a comedian who refuses to talk about himself, but spends his time lauding fellow performers that we think he deserves mention."

The Top Notch Minstrels, playing under the wing of Jack Middleton around Cincinnati, consist of seven people, and put over a classy little show, when "caught" recently by Russell McClure of The Billboard staff. "Slipfoot" Clifton was in the lineup and showed signs of being a real comer. He displays a pair of wicked feet and pulls gags like an oldtimer. George Shafer worked nicely, as his teammate. A jazz band that does some clever jazzing consists of Billy Dinkel, piano; White Grusman, violin; John Murringer, sax.; Fred Kuhn, banjo, and "White" Niemeyer, drums. The last named also serves as interlocutor. Betty Ross, as an added attraction, did a strut dance that was extraordinary.

Dick Ubert relates the familiar anecdote of the street cleaner disputing the stigma of a one-horse town to emphasize his declaration that people wouldn't think minstrelsy is dead if they had Dick's job as he corresponds with amateurs all over the country, and in several of the foreign possessions. "True," writes Dick, "there are dead ones in every line of business, even minstrel and magazine writers, but the trouble is you can't make them see that they are dead and you can't make 'em lie down. The professional minstrel can and will, if they are not too busy getting their share of this form of entertainment, tell you that it is very much alive in every corner of the United States except Broadway. On Broadway the tired business man must have legs even if he has to hire crutches. But a good minstrel can get an engagement when some of the Broadway habitués must sell their straw hats to buy breakfast."

At Dallas, Tex., Neil O'Brien gave a special matinee for several of the orphanages for crippled children and Dr. Wortsman, who has several camps for the children in the summer months, arranged all the details. O'Brien received a basket of flowers from the Salesmanship Club. During the Dallas engagement Billy Beard received a visit from John Cartmell, formerly interlocutor on the Field show, and now in business in Dallas. Jim Swor, of the famous Swor family, who had just closed with the Chesterfield Minstrels, was another visitor. Earl Moss entertained Larry Ganard, Johnnie Jackson of the Indiana Serenaders, and Joe Rumsey, well-known baritone player. At Shreveport Billy Beard had calls from S. J. Vaughn, formerly of the Kalem & Solig Biograph Company, also Harold Johnson, Larry Nolitz and Jimmy Cruesenberry, sports writers of Chicago newspapers, engaged in covering the baseball training camp. At El Dorado Charles Horace Dooley had as his guest his old school chum, Von W. Bayles. Stage Carpenter Pete Flournoy also met an old school friend in El Dorado in the person of Dr. Charles W. Graves.

Francisco, has formed a partnership with Charles Newman, treasurer of the Curran Theater, and launched a new poster panel plant. The difference between the new advertising firm and others now in business is that the Newman-Howe Service is the most artistic and attractive that advertisers so far have ever viewed in the Golden Gate. The new firm handles one-sheets and three-sheets exclusively. Each panel is constructed of steel, with regulation molding and painted orange mineral. In addition each panel has a half-round beaded strip in white. The effect is soothing as well as attractive to the eye, at the same time standing out like a sore thumb. But one board is placed on a location, which removes the proposition from the "snipe plant" stigma. Two thousand panels already have been placed in San Francisco, and plans are under way to install the system in all of the larger coast cities. The offices of the new firm are at 126 Turk street on the ground floor. The large workshop and lay-out tables are in the rear. Newman and Howe invite agents and managers to make their office the headquarters for things theatrical while in California territory. To that end they have fixed up a large desk, new typewriter and plenty of stationery, which belongs to the "show boys" exclusively. The location adjoins Gus Temp's theatrical transfer office and the Dalt Hotel and John Tait's coffee shop is but a step away, so it's plain the Newman-Howe Service had an idea of the requirements of the road men when selecting such a convenient location. ## Press Agents Advance

Conducted by ALFRED NELSON

Burlesque Billers
Some time ago in this column we called the attention of the Theatrical Press Representatives of America, likewise the International Alliance of Bill Posters and Billers of the United States and Canada, to conditions in burlesque, to the effect that agents in advance of burlesque shows were not living up to the rules and regulations of the aforementioned organizations.

What the T. P. R. O. A. has done in the matter is problematical, but William McCarthy, secretary of the I. A. B. P. & B., advises that the alliance has been at work during the current season investigating the workings of agents in advance of burlesque shows on the Columbia and Mutual circuits, likewise the working of agents at the various houses on those circuits with the view of enforcing the rules and regulations laid down for their guidance by the I. A. B. P. & B., as any infractions of these rules are considered unfair to organized labor.

The attention of agents in general is called to a special article on the burlesque title page, setting forth the aims, purpose and intent of the I. A. B. P. & B. as regards agents ahead of burlesque shows and advertising agents at houses throughout the country presenting burlesque.

William (Bill) Roddy, in advance of one of The Ten Commandments companies since last July, closed his season and, after a short rest in San Francisco visiting Fort Mason and the Presidio, where he has many army friends, made while overseas, left for New York March 21. He sailed out of the Golden Gate on the S. S. Mongolia, which was due in Balboa April 1. There he disembarked to visit his friend, Walter Craig, formerly of the Grand and Bijou theaters, Atlanta, Ga., who is manager of the palatial Tivoli Hotel in Balboa Heights. While in Panama Roddy expects to break out in a Panama hat and linen trousers. April 15 he will leave Colon on the S. S. Finland for Havana, where he will recreate for three weeks, leaving there May 9 on the Manchuria, which will land him in New York May 13. This easy and joyous way of returning to New York was suggested by J. J. McCarthy, big boss of all The Commandments, who is ever anxious to go out of his way to make it pleasant for one of his staff.

Picked Up by the Page

With Some Thoughts Laid Down

The New York Sunday Herald-Tribune of March 29 contained a very interesting story, entitled Calling the Carriages of Old Broadway, by ARTHUR CHAPMAN. It was a bit of pleasantly set forth reminiscences of an old gentleman who was a carriage caller before several theaters on the famous street in the early 80s.

The historical interest prompts reprinting of this paragraph from the story:

"A word should be spoken about the colored actors of that time. Haverly's Minstrels were located in 14th street. Among the celebrated colored players were Billie Klissans, Bob McIntosh, Sam Lucas, Sisseretta Jones, Dora Mayo, the Hoyer Sisters and Horace Weston, to whom Queen Victoria gave a gold banjo. Wallace King had the reputation of being the finest tenor of the day, and he made Sally in Our Alley a song hit. I knew many of these colored actors, who were frequently seen on Broadway."

The HARROD Jubilee Singers appeared at the Hebrew Orphanage, New York, during the past week under direction of the Closs Entertainment Bureau. Of course, the engagement was a success. The especially interesting thing about the matter, according to MR. HARROD, is the remarkable knowledge that MR. SIMMONS, the director of the orphanage, had of the history of the Negro and his music. Members of the quartet declare that they were greatly benefited by the discourses with which he introduced their every number.

The Lafayette Theater, New York, has been donated to the churches for daily noon-day services during Holy Week. The arrangement was effected thru the efforts of REV. ALEXANDER GARNER, chaplain general of the Deacons' Club. Many Harlem ministers have participated in the services, and a number of performers from the clubs adjacent rendered vocal assistance.

Met RICHARD B. HARRISON while he was en route to his home from a tour of Southern colleges that, he declares, was highly successful from every angle. This fact is amply confirmed by his having brought with him a number of those expensive Smithfield hams for distribution among his friends in the big town, where such luxuries are a scarcity.

WILLIAM HALE, erstwhile manager of the Deam-Virgin Company and who, after a number of his people quit, did the unusual when he made money with others and sought out the departed ones and paid them in full before the show was disbanded, is reported to be seriously ill in the Georgetown Hospital at Washington, D. C.

JOHNNIE HUDGINS is still doing the big thing. He worked a Sunday concert at the Winter Garden, New York, March 29, closing the bill; an admittedly hard spot for any comedian.

EDDIE LANGFORD, the circuit-riding Deacon whose other claim to distinction is that he is the husband and manager of GONZELLE WHITE, brought his band into New York last week after a tour of six months, during which he and his wife had periods of illness. Both are now in good health. Their arrival was celebrated with a party tendered to them by MRS. WILLIAM MILLS at her Harlem home.

THE COTTON CLUB BAND and BETWAY and RETTOR are the big features of the Lincoln Theater, New York, this week.

MRS. EDNA HARLEY MADDOX presented JOHN H. and BLANCHE SMITH ECKLES in a concert program of 16 numbers at the Congressional Auditorium in Harlem April 5.

"DUSTY" MURRAY and his company have been at liberty for a week since the closing of their engagement at the Supreme Theater, Brooklyn, but Dusty made it one busy week. He tried to visit all the music publishers, costumers and booking agents in New York. Some hustler, that boy.

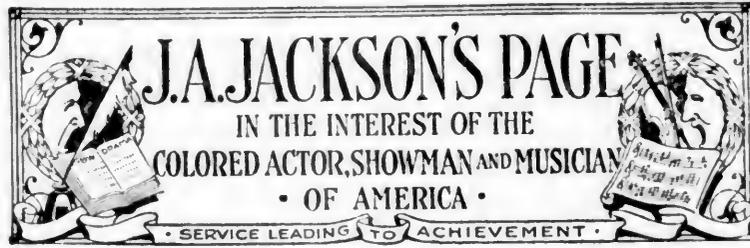

DIRAKE AND WALKER with their show and its magnetic band pulled a big business into the Supreme Theater, New York, the weeks of March 22 and 30. It is one show that can be depended upon to pack that house which, by the way, Drake had the honor of opening to colored patronage some years ago.

GARLAND ANDERSON, the bellboy author from San Francisco, gave a reading of his play April 5 to a very select group in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. He announces that he will produce the play himself.

SID EASTON has done the thing right. For adequate reasons he retired from the Talk of the Town Company on the Columbia Burlesque Circuit. Since he left, the manager, members of the company and his successor, "HAPPY" HOLMES, have all spoken highly of him. Sid has provided a fine example of leaving an attraction with a good name. That's a thing not seldom done.

THE DRUMMERS' CLUB gave another of those ladies' nights, for which it has become famous, March 30. Other duties kept the Page from attending, but we learn that the occasion was in keeping with others of like character that have taken place in the Drummers' nice clubhouse in Harlem.

C. R. Robinson, after 12 years of directing in vaudeville theaters and conducting his own orchestra, Robinson's Columbias, has taken to trouping. He signed with Prof. Herbert Marshall to join the Walter L. Main Circus side-show band, opening April 15.

Another Danger Signal

Just as we are about to take pride in the fact that some adjustment of a difficulty that threatens the Race in the one phase of the show business along comes more of the same sort of news, or of signs that indicate that the group is endangered by the evils of some of its members in some other phase of the business.

Unbecoming deportment on the part of one person or act reflects unfavorably upon all of the colored performers. Disregard for contracts, besides injuring the persons involved, jeopardizes the chances of every act that may have business with the offices or management involved. For that reason these matters are of prime interest to every reader of the Page. It is because of the far-reaching effect of these things that we feel obligated to promptly warn the profession of the danger that is signaled in any new quarter.

We learn from a confidential source that three acts, whose names are known in this office and are mentioned in a communication that originated in the offices of the Bert Levey Circuit, have made the road for Negro acts, desiring work over that route to the Pacific Coast a hard one.

The Levey Circuit has kept a number of our acts employed when congested conditions in New York, Chicago and other centers threatened them with lean days. It would be a misfortune to have this time closed to the group. Despite the difficulties of finding satisfactory accommodations in some towns on the tour, and some of the prejudiced conditions that obtain in occasional spots, the circuit means a long period of steady employment. Contracts, once accepted, should be respected and carried out with fidelity. Bad behavior and contract jumping is no way to improve conditions. Those things hurt, and they hurt more than one.

Deacons Meet in Cincy

Cincinnati was filled with colored performers during the latter part of March. Sissie and Blake's big company, the Jimmie Cooper Black and White Revue, Lonnie Fisher's Company, the Allen & Stokes show and a number of vaudeville acts were in the town at one time.

Vice-President at Large, Albert Wells took advantage of the opportunity to call together the Deacons among them for a meeting of instruction. With the assistance of local Senior Deacon Ike Paul and Circuit Rider Rastus Airship, with National Director Noble Sissie, a session was held in the drug store owned by Doctor Young after the hour of theater performances. The traveling flocks and the members of the Corner turned out to a man and one of the most effective meetings between showfolks and their town friends that has been held since the national club has been organized resulted.

Besides the officials named, Frank Hall, a member of the detective bureau of the city, and Rev. Wilson were speakers. A song that promises to become an official anthem was introduced in the meeting. In a report upon the session Wells closes a letter with "I must admit that this young man, Rastus Airship, is a marvel. The spirit he has aroused in his company is a revelation."

Starr Buys Theater

Milton B. Starr, president of the T. O. B. A. and owner of the Bijou and Lincoln theaters in Nashville, Tenn., and a film house in Charleston, S. C., has added to his theater holdings by the purchase of a theater in Columbia, S. C. The house, once in a chain of white film houses, was purchased thru T. L. Lester. It seats 1,000 people and will be completely renovated in time for opening as a house for colored patronage by May 15. E. Sprout, heretofore assistant manager of the Bijou, will go to Columbia as manager. Earl Evans, who has been projectionist at the Lincoln in Nashville, will fill a similar capacity in the new place. Earl is an exceedingly clever young man, and Mr. Sprout is very familiar with the practices in connection with T. O. B. A. vaudeville and pictures that will prevail after the reopening.

Play Independent Dates

The Allen & Stokes Darktown Bazaar has taken on an agent, a Mr. Catta, and after the date at the Roosevelt Theater, Cincinnati, the show has been booked to play a number of independent dates in white theaters in Indiana and Ohio. April 19 the show is reported to be booked into the Lyceum Theater, Columbus.

Extend Levy Engagement

Art Smith, publicity director of the Robert Levy Company of Lafayette Players, advises that the show featuring Evelyn Ellis has been contracted for another eight weeks at the Dunbar Theater, Philadelphia, where the exceptional exploitation work by the Levy staff has lifted the business at the house very considerably. In all, the season will run for 16 weeks, ending Decoration Day.

Last week Why Men Were Deceived was presented. The publicity stunt for the week was a nightly Charleston contest for a prize and the right of entry in the final, held Saturday night for a better prize.

For Easter week a souvenir program, in green and gold and bearing a picture of Miss Ellis on the title page and a synopsis of the week's play on the back, will be presented patrons.

The Hidden Shame was presented during the middle of March to good business. The public has been slowly regaining confidence in the house thru the consistently good shows that the Players have been presenting.

Band Entertains Show

During the engagement of Allen & Stokes' Darktown Bazaar Company in Detroit the members were tendered a dinner-dance by Earl Walton and His Orchestra, a local organization, at the Palais De Dance in Riverview Park. A large crowd attended, as the band is quite popular in the Auto City, where it has become well known thru broadcasting from the WCCX station for The Detroit Free Press. The band has 11 musicians, whose instruments are valued at more than $3,000. The boys sing, dance and play. Earl has made a great personal reputation for the unique novelties and arrangements with surprise effects that he has submitted to his auditors from time to time. The band seems to be a worthy successor to the famous Finney orchestra of other years and the more recent LeRoy Smith Band, two organizations that have given Detroit distinction in the musical history of the land.

Lafayette No. 2 Disbands

The No. 2 company of Lafayette Players that has been so successful thru the southern territory for the past two seasons, with Evelyn Preer and Edward Thompson as the leading people, has been disbanded and the two stars are now appearing in T. O. B. A. houses in a vaudeville bit of their own. They opened April 6 for a week at the Bijou Theater, Nashville, Tenn. We have not as yet been advised of the disposition of the other people who made up the company, of which Charles Moore was manager. The troupe was controlled by Andrew Bishop, who, with Cleo Desmond, heads the No. 1 show of the same name. Milton B. Starr is credited with having held an interest in the attraction. The Bishop company is playing an indefinite engagement at the Avenue Theater, Chicago.

"Seven-Eleven"

The Page has not had much to say about the Seven-Eleven Company, our big representative in the burlesque field, for the reason that the phenomenal success of the Hurtle & Seamon attraction, traveling under the direct management of the Goldberg Brothers, has enabled it to command a place in the burlesque department of this journal in almost every issue since the show went on the Columbia Circuit.

For the benefit of those who have failed to note these items we may say that the show has simply conquered every house it has played from Chicago to Portland, Me. It will be one of the last of the season to play the kingly house of the circuit, the Columbia in New York.

Aces and Queens

Aces and Queens, the Foster & Marino production of a musical comedy by Freddie Johnson, with music composed by Porter Grainger, opened in the Lafayette Theater, New York, after about six weeks at the Academy in Baltimore and in Philadelphia. The New York engagement is for the week of April 6, and it is reported that the show goes to Boston after that for a six weeks' stay. It is a two-act piece with 12 scenes, requiring 52 people and an orchestra of 11 pieces. The cast includes Freddie Johnson, DoDo Green, Rudolph Grey, Mildred Brown, Henrietta Loveless, E. E. Pugh, Troy Brown, Billy Andrews, James Fuller, Lena Wilson and Greenlee and Drayton.

Comedy Club Tightens Up

Morris McKinney, executive secretary of the Vaudeville Comedy Club, in a public letter makes known the fact that the March meeting of the board of directors of the organization has revised the club regulations so that beginning April 3 the club would place into effect a beneficial policy that obligates it to raise the joining fee to $5 and to establish a monthly dues requirement of 25 cents to be applied to the benefit fund.

This will enable a more careful scrutiny of the membership roll that has been so carelessly handled during the first five months of the club's existence that there are a number of names on the roll of persons not strictly professional performers or musicians, nor are they people with legitimate indirect connections with the amusement folks. A number of resignations will be asked for in order that the club may conform more truly to its charter stipulations.

The adoption of the new regulations was signaled by a reception tendered to the profession at midnight April 3 that was attended by so many that the facilities of the big club quarters was taxed to accommodate the guests. A large percentage of the guests were women of the profession whose interest has been fostered by Madeline Evans, assistant secretary. Sam Tolson is the manager, with a staff of six employees to care for the members' wants. James Calloway is president, Chris, vice-president, and Leonard Ruffin dance instructor. The club maintains a reception room, check-room, rehearsal hall, private office, private parlor, restaurant, pool and billiard hall and card rooms, occupying a whole floor in the building adjoining the Lafayette Theater in Seventh avenue.

Dudley To Test Drawing Power

S. H. Dudley, who recently declined a $10,000 per year offer for burlesque, and who has just been elected treasurer of the Federal Loan and Finance Corporation of Washington, a $100,000 concern, has definitely decided to test the capacity of his name as a box-office draw. April 7 the business man will retire and Dudley the artist will begin a week of personal appearances with the film Easy Money, a Reel production in which he starred. The film was made a few years since and has been shown in towns that Mr. Dudley selected for his test.

He will appear with the picture in Hampton, Newport News, Portsmouth and Norfolk, Va. The booking is a strictly percentage proposition, as will be any future bookings for the reel in towns where it has already been exhibited. In all probability there is a close connection between Mr. Dudley's appearances and the proposed project of Mr. Levey, of the Reel concern, to make a series of comedy films and Westerns under a hook-up arrangement with the T. O. B. A.

Special Showing for Educators

The Dressmaker From Paris, a film, was given a special showing at the Republic Theater, Washington, D. C., for the department of Domestic Science of Howard University. The exhibition was attended by a large group of educators that included Madeline Wand, instructor in the Department of Domestic Art; Gwendolyn Bennett, of the Department of Art; Dean Harold D. Hatfield, of the School of Applied Science, and Mrs. Hatfield; Mrs. J. V. Herring, of the School of Applied Science; Dr. Emmett J. Scott, secretary-treasurer of the University, and Mrs. Scott; Dean George W. Cook and Mrs. Cook; Dean D. O. W. Holmes and Mrs. Holmes; Mrs. A. F. Hilyer and Mrs. Kathryn Hilyer Bingham; Mrs. E. D. W. Jones; Katherine Beard and Norman L. McGhee.

The incident constitutes a remarkable exhibition of the adaptability of the "movies" for educational purposes.

Paper Concern Doing Well

Thomas J. Mason, general manager of the Circus Advertising Company, informs that the response to the publicity announcing the new concern and its specialized line of paper depicting Negro characters for the use of Race fairs and celebrations has been highly satisfactory. He says that his first advertisement in The Billboard brought a number of inquiries. He and his partner, Isaac D. Childress, formerly of Nashville, are confident that they have started a project that is going to fill a long-felt need in the colored show world. Already the modest quarters in which they opened in Broadhurst avenue, New York, have been outgrown and they are negotiating for a location on busy 125th street, with better shipping facilities and more office space.

New Pittsburgh Park

Frank Sutton, Pittsburgh (Pa.) hotel man, well known thruout the country and an especial friend of showfolks, is to be the manager of a new park that will be opened Decoration Day at Reedsville, about 22 miles from the Steel City. Others connected with the enterprise, which as yet is unnamed, are: W. M. Goodlet, president; Henry Wilson, secretary, and Mrs. Georgia Tyson, treasurer. According to local papers the park will be equipped with a merry-go-round, a dance pavilion that will accommodate 2,000 people, a skating rink, swimming pool and other amusement features.

Minstrel and Tent Show Talk

More Loan Shark News

tion from one of the best known minstrel stage managers in the country, a colored man of genuine ability and of considerable intelligence, who is seriously contemplating retirement from show business.

He declares that many things contribute to the thought he has been giving to such a move. The low salaries that prevail with most of the Negro minstrels is a big factor. Another cause for complaint is the fact that the companies, some of them, decline to carry personal trunks for the performers, thus making it difficult for them to maintain the degree of respectability that intelligent people desire. Without that type of performer it is becoming increasingly difficult for a producing director to obtain the results he desires. He finds it hard to have the ideas for a good show that he lays down understood and interpreted by the fellows willing to work for the low salaries that prevail in the business. The better ones are leaving minstrelsy.

These same salary figures are responsible for the loans that some one connected with the management makes to performers at as much as 20 per cent interest, a something that keeps the people constantly broke and depressed; keeps them just above the scale of a "weary Willie". Performers of this type situated so as to be under heavy financial obligation know that they will not be discharged and fines or other additions to their debt make little difference, and the result is that discipline is destroyed. It is easy to perceive that a stage manager's troubles under such circumstances might be such as to drive a conscientious man to despair. Let's hope that managers will recognize the injustice such practices are to their interests.

Tribute to Ed Hill

In writing of the recent passing of Ed Hill, N. D. Dobbins, manager of the Virginia Minstrels, states:

"Hill was a fine fellow. I knew him for 10 years and never knew him to do a dishonest thing. If he was going to leave your show he would put in two weeks' notice and always paid any amount of money you advanced him. His credit was unlimited on any show that knew him. The profession will miss him. He was a fine fellow, a good musician and loyal to his employer.

"His mother was notified at Dallas, Tex., of his condition and came over and was at his bedside when he passed away. Everything was done for Hill that was possible. Attending physicians said his death was caused by sudden change of climate and altitude affecting high blood pressure. The body was sent to Dallas, and all burial expenses paid by the performers, musicians and the management."

Robert Underwood, comedian with the recently closed Holtkamp Minstrels, jumped from Elmira, N. Y., the closing point, to Joyce City, Tex., where he joined the Virginia Minstrels.

Arthur A. Wright, erstwhile bandmaster of the Smart Set Minstrels, is now with the Alabama Minstrels, jumping from Elmira, N. Y., to open with the show at Waco, Tex. En route he visited with his old friend P. G. Lowery and family, and a Miss Jackson in Cleveland, O.

Walter Robinson, of the Rusco & Hockwald Minstrels, which attraction played day and date with Roland Hayes, the concert artist, in Portland, Ore., exhibits his pride in the achievements of our greatest artist by sending clippings from all the Portland papers, one of which, The Daily Journal, gave the review of Hayes' work a three-column head. Walter promises to be in New York late in May.

Sunny Dixieland is the name of a show being assembled in Washington, N. J. Eph. White, Ebb Jackson, and Bert Stevens are the featured people.

St. Louis Has New Hotel

The West End Hotel at Vandeventer and West Belle place, St. Louis, is the name of the latest high-class hostelry to bid for the patronage of the Race. It is declared to be the largest hotel in the country catering to our people. It has 200 rooms, all with hot and cold running water, and many of them with private baths. It is operated on the European plan, with rates ranging upward from $1 per day or $5 per week.

A professional who visited the house a few weeks since says in a communication: "You must hand it to St. Louis for giving the colored people something they have long wanted. Upon entering the place I was agreeably surprised at the beautiful lobby that would compare favorably with that of any big hotel in the country. It has wonderful rooms, newly decorated, with new furniture, hot and cold water, phone service in every room, dining room, ballroom, billiard parlor, bar, drug store, beauty parlor and barber shop. Real theatrical rates prevail.

Charlie Anderson, yodeler, has a long route out of the Sam Reevin office.

Always a Performer

It has long been Frank Kirk's boast that he has never earned a dollar in any other manner than in the theatrical profession. Not long since he closed with the Beck & Walker Minstrels in the far West, and returned to his home in Jacksonville, Ill. In a conversation he gave utterance to some complaints that prompted a friend to suggest his abandoning the business. To Frank's reply that he knew no other occupation, the friend expressed disbelief, much to Frank's surprise, for he has an equal pride in his veracity and in the profession that he has followed with considerable profit.

From 1880 to 1885, during his "kid" days, he practiced acrobatics, wirewalking, music, dancing and doing Punch and Judy. He then ranged from 10 to 15 years of age, having been born in 1870. In 1885 he clowned with Fred Stone and his brother Ed in Dearlie & O'Brien's one-ring show.

1886-7-'8 he spent in variety houses in St. Louis and Peoria, Ill., in 1889-'90 he clowned with Robbins' Circus in summer and with Hogg & Wilson's Minstrels during the winter season. In 1891 he was with Sayman's medicine show and '92 with the Madory Brothers' Minstrels. In '93 he was with Bill Crawford's medicine show, while thru '94-'5 he mounted the streets for collections. In 1896 he was costar with Harry Gilliam in The Queen of Haiti. The seasons of '97-'98 he spent with John Vogel's Darkest America, and joined Ernest Hogan's Old Tennessee in 1899. Part of that year he did the part of the gorilla in Bill McClain's Stearns River Company. The year 1900 found him with Gideon's Minstrels.

From 1901 to 1905 Frank did a single in vaudeville, and during 1906-'7 he was with the Richard & Pringle Minstrels, resuming vaudeville in 1908, remaining four years when Lowery's Greater Minstrels claimed him until 1916 with occasional summer forays into vaudeville.

The years 1917-'18 saw him with the Harvey Greater Minstrels and 1919 with the Rusco & Hockwald Georgia Minstrels. The season of 1923-'4 was spent with the Gus Hill Bringing Up Father Company, and the early months of the present year with the Beck & Walker show.

That is a fine unbroken record of professional activity.

Here and There Among the Folks

"Bob" Davis, former manager of the Globe Theater, Cleveland, O., is now traveling in advance of the Mame Smith show.

Bert Joyner, of Joyner and Flster, please communicate with the Page on a matter of importance and of a personal character.

Edmonia Henderson, blues singer, is in New York negotiating more recording and some vaudeville dates. She came from Philadelphia after a big week at the Standard Theater.

Susie Edwards, or "Butterbeans" and Susie, has been seriously ill in Detroit for several weeks, necessitating setting back of the row of continuous dates the act had on the T. O. B. A.

The Miller-Slater Company is being enlarged, and after playing Memphis, Nashville and Chattanooga, Tenn., in order from April 6 will make a tour to the Coast under the direction of W. S. Billings.

"Kid" Red, manager of the Grand Theater, West Palm Beach, Fla., reports that he played the S. H. Gray Elicia Scandals Company, featuring Virginia Iston, in his house in mid March and the show drew wonderful business.

Jules McGarr's company played the Palace Theater, Norfolk, Va., last week. After three more weeks the show will close its T. O. B. A. Tour and go on the road under canvas with the Brown & Dyer Shows.

Billy Chambers, whose duties with an insurance company occasioned his being in Fort Valley, Ga., during the week of March 16, advises that more than 5,000 colored people gathered there for the annual Peach Carnival.

Laverta Holt, lyric soprano, is touring West Virginia under the direction of Clarence Cameron White, who is rapidly developing a concert booking bureau in conjunction with his duties as an instructor of music.

A London (Ont.) paper says this about the Marshall Revue: "Lee Marshall's Revue consists of four colored performers in a peppy act of Southern dances and songs. Something new in the way of stepping is shown in this act, which sizzles with syncopation. This revue offers about the choicest bit of vaudeville seen here for some time, all actors possessing feet that just can't keep still."

The Frolic Theater, Bessemer, Ala., has been closed for the season. Business did not warrant Manager Hury keeping it open any longer. This will spoil the two weeks' stay in nice Birmingham hotels that performers have enjoyed so much.

The Howard Theater, Washington, is in darkness. Joseph Fine, a stockholder in the Matchwig Corporation, lessee of the house, has filed an application for a receiver in the District of Columbia Supreme Court alleging many irregularities against Manager Machet.

Billie Rowe writes from Raleigh, N. C., that he finally reached home after the close of the Meacham Minstrels at Berwick, Pa. He expresses solicitous interest for Homer Meacham and Edgar Holmes, who apparently were headed for St. Louis the last he heard of them.

The Billboard erroneously stated that "Kid" Cottman is with Christy Bros.' Circus. He writes that his correct name is Lee Cottman and that he will be with Lee Bros.' Circus under the management of Louis Chase. His cousin, Alonzo Lynn, will be calloffe fireman for him this season.

Kike and Marion Gresham were on the bill at Tampa, Fla., the week ending March 21 after a month's rest. They jumped from there after doing two weeks for Mr. Cummings to Birmingham, thence to the Liberty Theater, Chattanooga, last week. Strong and Ewing, Irene Scraggs, the record star, and "Sunshine" Sammy were on the Birmingham bill.

Will Henry Lucas, character monologist of Wilmington, O., informs that he is an applicant for membership in the C. A. U. He is a lyric artist who sees the broader duty of the professional to his brother. Others might well profit by the example.

Mrs. S. H. Dudley, known to the profession as Miss Desdy, a term of familiar endearment, and who manages the bookings in the Eastern offices of the T. O. B. A. at Washington, D. C., has been confined to bed for the past week. Mr. Dudley also was ill for a time, but recovered and is again at his desk.

Sybil Bazel, Oriental and interpretive dancer, has been engaged to make a series of Monday afternoon appearances, beginning April 13, at the Ritz Carlton Hotel, New York, under the auspices of a club of wealthy women. Her last professional engagement was in the cast of the Demi-Virgin.

Taylor and Peggie's Land of Sunshine Company did a nice business at the Apollo Theater, Chicago, week of March 16. Alice Foster, Eva Robinson, Eunice Howard, Frank King and Charles Johnson are in the company. The outfit is booked to join the Wallace Shows for the summer.

Boots Hope is a big asset to the Mame Smith Company in more ways than one. Besides his interesting monolog Boots keeps the papers informed about the company. He is a corking good press agent. Since he joined the show the trade papers have a line on its whereabouts.

Ivan Turner, a Negro midget of Wheeling, W. Va., has been added to the Ike Rose midget show, now numbering 26 people. Mr. Rose has contracted Ivan for a term of years and is confident that the intelligence and personality of the little fellow will make him a star of the group after a bit of training and experience.

James Patterson has leased the Pekin Theater, Savannah, Ga. The house has long been a spoke in the T. O. B. A.

Wheel and was for years operated by Mrs. Styles, passing last year into the hands of Drs. C. B. Tyson and E. J. Smith. The new manager is having the house remodeled. It will reopen April 20 with vaudeville and films.

The Excelsior Band of Norfolk, Va., under the direction of Captain George Elliot, recently played a Sunday concert at the Attucks Theater in that city, with Maude Claiborne Holmes as the singing soloist, to a very appreciative audience. This band was the winner of the Elks' convention contest in Boston a few years since.

Marion Anderson, contralto, made an appearance at the Douglas Theater, Baltimore, March 31, under the direction of Lewis H. Murray, Joshua Sandler, violinist, of Philadelphia, and William L. King, pianist, shared honors on the program. Miss Anderson announces a trip to Europe for study and concert appearances.

The Deacons of New Haven Corner 25 presented their final dinner and initiation of the season March 30. Senior Pickett has elevated three high-ranking Masons to honorary memberships so as to provide for as many additions to the active list. The Corner has a membership limit of 25, but oh, boys, don't miss meeting them if you play New Haven. They are hot.

Carey B. Lewis, writer and erstwhile amusement manager, and his wife have taken title to a 30-apartment structure in Chicago at a cost of $150,000. The Lewis' also own considerable realty at Idlewild, the big Michigan race resort, and are the proud parents of a clever infant.

Peggy James, an ex-troupier, inquires if the Waters-Dancer act is still on the Orpheum Circuit. Her letter gives no address and we answer in print. The act is playing vaudeville dates in and around New York, and appearing as a feature at a midnight supper club on Broadway at a very high salary. A communication care of The Billboard, New York, will reach them.

The Garden of Love is the name of a play that is to be presented in Indianapolis the week of April 13 by the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. Varnell advises that the Ida Cox unit, four well-costumed vaudeville acts, registered about as follows with patrons of the Liberty Theater, Chattanooga, Tenn.: Bruce and Skinner, man and woman in 15 minutes of song, 85 per cent; E. Vol. XXXVI. APRIL 11. No. 15

Editorial Comment

OPERATION of concessions, except those which are considered strictly skill, soon will be a thing of the past in the State of California if those whose interests are concerned, for instance legitimate merchandise concessionaires, continue to sit back and wait for the other fellow to do their fighting for them. The bill, known as Assembly Bill No. 1201, was introduced by Mrs. Saylor March 5, and has been favorably reported on to the Assembly by the Committee on Public Morals.

If this measure becomes a law it will be a severe blow to amusement parks, beaches, picnics, carnivals and other amusement enterprises that have such concessions in the State—a blow in that one of their greatest revenues will be cut off. It may even wipe out some of these enterprises, thereby depriving thousands of people of those classes of outdoor amusement.

A report from a reliable source tells us that the Hotel Men's Association has made every effort to suppress this bill, but that the organization has not had the support of the people who are or rather should be most interested.

We believe if those amusement men directly concerned would get together and form a committee for the purpose of explaining what ill-effects this bill would have on outdoor amusement enterprises, traveling repertoire shows and other organizations that cannot afford to pay more than a nominal sum for their scripts.

The majority of repertoire companies throughout the country are still using old-fashioned plays. Not that they have any objection to modern pieces, but they just can't pay the prices asked for them.

There are several hundred repertoire (house and tent) and boat shows in this country, while the established stock companies number about 90. At present these stock companies are about the number of both traveling and stationary companies. The more companies working the more money coming in for the playwrights, hence we believe they could well afford to accept a much smaller consideration from each organization.

The country is full of medium-sized towns that could support a stock company if it did not cost a great deal to operate. But the company would have to present timely programs, and the prohibitive cost of these scripts is invariably the stumbling block. A hundred or two hundred dollars weekly for royalty in most cases means the difference between profit and loss for these small organizations. It is up to the playwrights to help them—and thereby help themselves.

A REVIVAL THEATER

THE NATION thinks that, having seen such remarkable developments in the theatrical world these last few years, such great strides toward free and independent theaters both small and large, so many steps in the direction of stock companies, now is the time for discussion of a revival theater—a theater devoted to the producing of the masterpieces of earlier days and the more valuable plays of latter years.

"Why," it asks, "should each oncoming generation of playgoers be denied the best plays shown during the youth of the elder group?" And it answers that question by saying: "If anything, the life of a play-going generation is shorter than that of the ordinary mass of people. We can give to the newcomers the great written words of all ages; we can and do play for them the works of Haydn, Beethoven and all their successors. But it is rare, indeed, outside of the Shakespearean drama, for us to give them a living representation of the great old plays."

Continuing, the editorial reads: "Naturally, the commercial producer is quick to declare that it cannot be done for financial reasons. A play has had its day, and, therefore, he says, a revival is out of the question. Times change, fashions alter, he avers, forgetting that a really worth-while play never loses its power or its charm, that some of the most successful plays of recent years have been given a mid-Victorian setting, forgetting the oncoming hordes of theatergoers which have never even heard of Augustin Daly or of still earlier days of the American stage. To say that the passage of time has destroyed the interest of the best work of Henry Arthur Jones, or of Pinero, or such typical and admirable American plays as William Vaughn Moody's The Great Divide, or Augustus Thomas' The Witching Hour, would be to assert that they were untrue to life or that they depended for their success upon unusual acting or some temporary fad or contemporary allusions. That is, of course, untrue of every work of merit and artistry—precisely as it is untrue of Shakespeare. The commercial producer usually shies at the very mention of a Shakespearean revival. Yet when true artists appear to act the chief parts—presto, Shakespeare, for all the managers' doubts, becomes once more a money maker.

"Of this Walter Hampden has given us proof in this theatrical season by playing Othello for a longer consecutive run than it had ever had before. More than that, his extraordinarily successful revival thru two seasons of Cyrano de Bergerac demonstrates both the need and the possibility of the revival theater for which we are arguing. And so does the success this winter of Shaw's Candida, of Congreve's The Way of the World, Pinero's The Second Mrs. Tanqueray, and Ibsen's The Wild Duck, not to speak of a miniature performance of Pinafore, of Paola and Francesca, and the promise of Congreve's Love for Love. The Theater Guild is to open its new theater with a revival of Shaw's Caesar and Cleopatra. If all of this does not indicate a demand not only for the classics but for the plays of yesteryear, what could?"

After mentioning a number of old plays that once stirred enthusiasm The Nation closes its editorial with this: "We do not deny that the question of the necessary talent will count not a little. We are developing good actors rapidly and yet we are still far from where we ought to be chiefly because of the same old failure to drill our novices as they are drilled abroad. Here the revival theater should help not a little, since it must by its very nature be a repertory theater with all that the name implies in the way of frequent changes of bills, and, therefore, of roles, and the absence of overshadowing stars. What else could such a theater be but a training school? But if we are wrong about that, let us have the old plays none the less. It is a debt we owe to the oncoming. Shall they not have their Sheridan and their Goldsmith and their Congreve and their Wycherley, and the best of the moderns too?"

terprises having concessions much good could be accomplished. It's probable that the sponsors and supporters of the measure are not aware of what the consequences would be so far as professional entertainment is concerned if it should become a law. At any rate something should be done—and done quickly. Don't wait for the other fellow to make the start. It's a "call to arms"—don't turn a deaf ear to it. Battles are not won singlehanded.

BECAUSE of the high royalties they demand nowadays playwrights are losing money that would be forthcoming to them from small stock com-only ones that can use the scripts of recent New York successes, and very often even some of the stock companies have a hard time making the money to pay the weekly royalties.

If the playwrights were to reduce their charges so as to bring the plays within the reach of all the stock, repertoire and boat shows, the smaller individual charge would be offset many times by the larger number of companies using up-to-date scripts, and not only would the playwrights make more money but the traveling shows could offer better bills, which in turn would attract more patronage, create wider and greater interest in the drama and increase the number of both traveling and stationary companies.

The more companies working the more money coming in for the playwrights, hence we believe they could well afford to accept a much smaller consideration from each organization.

The country is full of medium-sized towns that could support a stock company if it did not cost a great deal to operate. But the company would have to present timely programs, and the prohibitive cost of these scripts is invariably the stumbling block. A hundred or two hundred dollars weekly for royalty in most cases means the difference between profit and loss for these small organizations. It is up to the playwrights to help them—and thereby help themselves.

Purely offensive plays have only a minority appeal. In New York they draw heavily from a certain element, mostly of that class of visitors who like to indulge in a little "recklessness", or a "moral vacation", while in the metropolis. But around the country, where plays invariably make most of their money, these attractions always fail. Thousands of persons will not go to them because they are afraid of what they are liable to see. This has led to a lot of parents prohibiting their children from attending the theater at all. So it is the theatrical industry in general that suffers for the sins of a few unwise producers.

New York University recently awarded varsity letters in dramatics, 10 members of the school's dramatic society receiving their letters from Chancellor Elmer Ellsworth Brown. Thus the drama has taken its place alongside football and baseball in the colleges!

This is just another indication of the wide popular interest there is in dramatics these days. D. Appleton & Company, publishers of printed plays, report that there are daily inquiries from all parts of the country and requests for permission to produce the one-act plays described in the booklet they issue on their dramatic publications.

THE CZAR

Of the Popular Songsmiths

By Harry H. Pace

WITHIN the last few years the public has become so well acquainted with three men who have been elevated to a sort of super-royalty that most of us feel that these are the only three examples of that kind. Whether this is due to the fact that Judge Landis, Will Hays and Augustus Thomas have better press agents or merely that the song-writing and publishing industry did not want the public to know about it at all, there has been very little written or said about E. C. Mills, chairman of the Music Publishers' Protective Association, who was a czar long before Judge Landis was awarded his position in baseball.

The fact remains, tho, that "Claude" Mills, as he is known among his intimates, the publishers, has about as firm a grip on the popular song-writing industry today as Will Hays has on the making of pictures or Augustus Thomas on the disputes between players and producers.

The Music Publishers' Protective Association is one of those peculiar things that happen every now and then, where somebody else organizes you to protect you from yourself. While the association is made up now, with very few exceptions, of every publisher, large and small, engaged in the business of furnishing us our daily tune and our nightly fox trot, it was brought into being by the Vaudeville Managers' Protective Association, sponsored largely by Pat Casey, to protect the poor publishers from the inroads of the vaudeville artists who helped the publishers reduce the amount of their income tax by a weekly stipend for singing their latest creations.

Publishers spend, or at least used to spend, enormous sums in "plugging" a new song. Instead of advertising on the billboard, or the subway, or the daily newspapers, or the breakfast-food manufacturers, or the chewing-gum makers, when they issued a new song they used to put this money into weekly payments to vaudeville and concert singers to introduce the song and to help them to keep singing it until the public caught on to the tune and began to whistle it at the next dance. Some popular vaudeville stars up to five years ago drew down more each week from the publishers than they did from the theater. Every publisher tried to get the headliners under contract to sing only his songs and the more headliners he got on his staff the more quickly he could popularize his song. The result was considerable rivalry between the publishers to sign up these singers, who raised their salaries according to their success with a song.

Another result was that it frequently happened that an otherwise good vaudeville bill would be ruined because there would be three or four acts that would be using the same song and each would insist that his act must use it as he was getting paid to do so. To be sure, they would plug the song all right, but the theater manager would be in despair, with half of his show merely a repetition of the same thing.

Under the singer's exclusive contract with the publisher the singer would be compelled to use whatever song the publisher was working on at that time no matter how ill-fitted it might be to the general character of the act instead of being free to choose a song that fitted into a particular spot. Many times a pretty little sentimental sketch would be ruined by a jazz song, or a dancing act which had won the favor of the audience would go off cold because they chose for closing a sentimental song from their particular publisher, making a contrast which the audience could not quickly grasp.

A few years more of this and vaudeville would have been headed for the toboggan. At the same time the publishers were all groaning under the demands of the singers, who were becoming more and more exacting. But every other publisher in the game was doing it and nobody could afford to quit. To stop paying singers meant that no more songs from that publisher's house would be used by the majority of acts, which could go across the street and get a hundred dollars a week to sing some song from a rival house.

Pat Casey Steps In

THEN Pat Casey, with the aid of Maurice Goodman, got the publishers together and had a heart-to-heart talk with them. The publishers all realized that the idea was all right, that unless some such thing was done all of them would face ruin within a few short years. But each was distrustful of the other and neither believed that a custom as old and as fixed as this could be eradicated.

The Vaudeville Managers' Protective Association, which had profited from its own union and co-operation, offered and agreed to finance the whole scheme the first year. A binding contract was drawn up between the members, to run for a period of five years. In consideration of mutual promises made to each other, to form the Music Publishers' Protective Association, to divide the publishers into three classes dependent on their size and ability to pay fixed monthly dues and each binding himself, under penalty of heavy fines, not to pay, give, donate or cause to be paid, or given, money, jewelry, automobiles, clothing, traveling expenses or any other thing of value to any singer, player or musician in return for the use of any song or musical composition from his house. It was a real honest-to-goodness legal contract, as the members found out after they got into it, and they also found that the fines assessed could really be collected at law if they were found guilty.

For a while the association had desk room in Mr. Casey's office. Later it went to Goodman's office, but it didn't begin to function on all six cylinders until it secured Mr. Mills as chairman, giving him powers plenipotentiary and extraordinary, and took a small room in the Columbia Theater Building. Then things began to hum. Mr. Mills made it known that the laws these fellows had made were going to be enforced and that the contract meant what it said. He emphasized this attitude by halting before the executive committee one of the oldest and most reputable publishers in the business on a charge of making payments to a prominent artist who was plugging one of this firm's songs. This action sent cold shivers all thru the industry. After everybody had been thoroughly scared the executive committee brought in a Long Island verdict: "Not guilty, but don't do it any more."

The truth is everybody had been going along paying those favorites that they wanted to pay and cutting off those that they didn't want to pay, reading the law to them. Everybody displayed the pretty sign issued by the association and pointed to it when suggestion was made of some financial arrangement. After this first trial those signs took on a new meaning and for a while panic reigned along Broadway and around 46th street. The publisher saw the advantage of adhering to the law, the sensible artist realized that at least he or she was free to choose from any source material that would strengthen and round out their act and that by doing so they would gain as a box-office attraction.

The theater manager felt the effect of it in the new life and novelty of the acts that came along and the ultimate consumer—the audience—got more value for his money.

That's why the one room in the Columbia Theater Building became too small for "Claude" Mills and his one clerk, why his own salary was raised to $20,000 a year, why the publishers told the Vaudeville Managers' Protective Association that they would and could pay their own bills and moved into an entire floor at 19 West 45th street, with a whole army of clerks, stenographers and executives.

Credit Bureau Established

WHEN the publishers at last had confidence enough in each other to keep the compact Mr. Mills further strengthened them by establishing a Credit Bureau, which saved them millions of dollars a year by eliminating numberless "song shops" which preyed on the publisher, anxious to plug his song, and which never paid their bills to any publisher. Then came the union with the Society of Authors and Composers, which brought to the Music Publishers' Protective Association the first year royalties of more than $180,000 and further stabilized the song-writing and publishing trade. When the first five-year contract expired there was no question about the continuation of the association. It was merely a revision of classes into which certain publishers belonged. Some had grown from Class C to Class A and some had slipped back to Class B size. A new contract was signed and many old-established houses like Oliver Ditson Company, G. Schirmer and others were brought in as associate members to the Witmarks, Irving Berlin, Remick and the Von Tilzer boys, who have been among our popular melody makers for more than a quarter of a century. Mr. Mills doesn't get as much money, but he has more power in "Tin Pan Alley" than Judge Landis in baseball or Will Hays in film and he can rightly lay claim to the fact that he was a ruling power before the other kingdoms came into being.

A LONDON LETTER

By "COCKAIGNE"

Tax Reduction Unlikely

LONDON, March 20.—The Entertainments Tax Abolition League, of which Walter Payne is chairman, is making every effort to reduce the burden of taxation on the theater, and last Friday a deputation waited on the Right Hon. Winston Churchill, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, with a view to impressing upon him the need of further mitigation of this financial burden on the show industry. The Chancellor's reply was, according to report, in no way hopeful as he stressed the need of turning over every available economy to the reduction of the income tax, and there is therefore little likelihood that the next budget will bring any alleviation of the tax on amusement. But on the other hand even a small curtailment of income tax will probably assist enormously in releasing a share of the private purse of theatergoers.

It is to be noted that those amusement houses where the last year's reductions of tax mostly apply have proved conclusively the arguments of the Abolition League in respect of the disastrous effects of tax on the entertainment industry.

The Maddermarket

The capable and well organized amateur company working at the reconstructed Elizabethan playhouse in Norwich known as the Maddermarket Theater is giving The Tempest this week, this being the final production of its present season, which is its 14th year of activity, and its fourth in the Maddermarket Theater. Nugent Monck, who is the founder of the theater and the general director of the Norwich Players, has now been responsible for more than 70 different Shakespearean productions in the county town of Norfolk, and of

The Stage Guild

Some time ago it was pointed out in these columns that the actuarial side of the Stage Guild was likely to prove inept if that body were really disposed to tackle the many problems and abuses of the theatrical profession in a live manner. The subscription of $5.25 a year per member of which nearly $2 has to go in insurance certainly does not leave much to play with when the settlements of the many disputes and distractions to which theatrical flesh is heir is taken into account.

The Guild apparently relies in the immediate present on fairly expensive social functions to put its house in order, which on the face of it seems to offer conclusive proof of my previously expressed opinion that it was an organization of snobs for the establishment of professional snobbery rather than an organization of workers intent on the decent establishment of their craft. Personally were I an actor, I think I should feel that the dignity of my profession was better upheld by an organization which relied for its upkeep on adequate yearly subscriptions from its constituent members, rather than the haphazard profits from expensive soirees, dances, and the like. But it may be a defect in my critical mentality that I always consider effective economic organization as more suitable to the 20th century than charity. In this, our charity-matinee-loving stars are not, of course, with me, but as we are agreed to differ, I sincerely hope that the Stage Guild Bill, which is to be held April 16 at Covent Garden, will prove an overwhelming success and put something in the till which will enable the Guild to get a move on with the many pressing problems of theatrical organization which await attention.

John Barrymore in London

London Town has taken kindly to the Hamlet which John Barrymore gives nightly at the Haymarket to well-filled benches. I suppose no Hamlet will ever be completely satisfactory, but Barrymore goes a long way toward filling the bill. Besides his performance, his production is very effective and well thought out, and just as he seems to have a reason for everything he does himself, so he manages to make the contributory characters pay a maximum tribute to the impressing and pleasing of the public. With the American actor is associated in management William Foss, who some years ago was joint manager with his brother Kenelm, one of the best-known and most talented English film producers. The present is, I believe, Foss' first big bid for the managerial laurels, and if initiative, hard work, a remarkable ability to cast plays and enthusiasm for the theater can command those laurels, his brows ought to be weighed down with them before he reaches middle age. One of his ambitions is to run a series of modern English plays for short-date runs, and I learn that he has several likely new authors up his sleeve for when this scheme matures. Barrymore's run has been extended for three weeks, to end April 18. Frederick Harrison has therefore suspended rehearsal of A. A. Milne's new comedy, "Ariadne," which is to be the next production at the Haymarket.

A Great King

One happy result of this Hamlet production will, I prophesy, be the establishment of Malcolm Keen once and for all among the leading actors of his generation. The Claudius in this resourceful, ingenious and powerful player stands out as one of the finest portrayals which it has been my good fortune to see on any stage. There was at once a massiveness and dexterity and an attractive, almost a romantic, badness about his usurper which made one feel that he had captured every nuance of the Shakespearean intention in a way in which I have certainly never seen an actor capture it.

In a succession of parts lately we have had many opportunities of seeing the fine work of Malcolm Keen, whose masculinity, good presence and resonant and variable voice are great assets which he uses with exactness. He possesses indeed the endowment of a "heavy" melodrama actor, but he has also a gracious lightness of touch and his method is essentially modern and intellectual rather than sensational and sentimental. So that, with all the gifts of person and a personality, he remains essentially an artist in the best sense of the word.

Brevities

Henry Bainton has arranged an extensive tour of No. 1 towns for his Shakespearean repertory company, which is adding several pieces to its list, among these being Timon of Athens, Cymbeline, Love's Labor's Lost, and the interesting but seldom seen Measure for Measure.

Irene Bordoni and Arthur Margetson are due to appear shortly in a West End theater in Little Miss Bluebird.

Basil Dean has under active preparation the adaptation of Somerset Maugham's story, Rain, for presentation this side, probably at the Garrick Theater. The other play of the Readean management, Frederick Lonsdale's Spring Cleaning, continues to do capacity business at the St. Martin's, and looks like being one of the great successes of the year.

Henriette Pascal, of the Moscow State Theater, is in London arranging for the production of The Chief Thing, by Nicholas Evreinov. This will not be the first performance in this country of a play by this brilliant Russian dramatist, whose claims to production Cockaigne has long urged upon English managements. The Birmingham Repertory Theater some years ago presented The Merry Death, in the translation of my one-time colleague, C. E. Bechofer, who has translated The Great Thing. Another weird but powerful play, a forerunner of the Expressionist drama, having a man's heart for stage and his emotions for characters, was to have been presented for public performance in a London house, but owing to the intervention of the Censor, was afterwards put on only for one of the play-producing societies by Edith Craig.

NEW YORK OFFICE

M. P. T. O. A. Sends Query to Producers

Wants Information Concerning Pictures To Be Released Be- ginning Next September

New York, April 4.—The M. P. T. O. A. has sent a questionnaire to every producing and distributing company in the industry in an effort to get the "low down" on the character of the pictures to be released during the year beginning next September. This information will be forwarded to members of the exhibitors' organization.

Following is a copy of the questionnaire sent out by Sidney S. Cohen, chairman of the administrative committee: "For the purpose of officially and authentically advising members of our organization with regard to the quality, number and general character of feature motion pictures to be released in America during the coming theatrical season, beginning September, 1925, we respectfully request your answer to the questions enumerated herein:

"(1) How many feature motion picture productions of more than 5,000 feet in length will your company release during the coming season?"

"(2) How many feature pictures will you release that you might classify (A), (B)?"

"(A) Of course referring to the type of picture worthy of a full week's run in cities or zones where such is the policy; or for the longest possible run given a picture in the larger neighborhood theaters or first-class houses in smaller cities and towns.

"(B) To refer to all other features worthy of a split-week run in houses dedicated to that policy; or to the three, four or five-day run which the first-class houses in smaller cities and towns and the large neighborhood houses give to features which merit such showings.

"(3) How many feature pictures, usually described as program pictures, will you release? These, of course, are pictures worthy of a two-day play, to be played either singly or as a double feature according to the policy of the theater—or to be played singly in the smaller daily-change houses.

"We respectfully suggest in your response that these 'program' pictures be in no wise confused with the Class A and B pictures referred to in the previous paragraph, and we urge the utmost frankness on your part in giving us the information we ask.

"We request, if possible, that you furnish us with your answer not later than April 10, 1925.

"Any additional information that will enlighten exhibitors in formulating booking plans for the coming season, we will be pleased to have for transmission to our members."

Calliope With Travelog

New York, April 4.—The principal attention-arresting device with Wonders of the Wild, travelog, which is playing houses in this vicinity, is a calliope costing more than $22,000. The outfit has been escorting the print since it left the West Coast eight months ago and gradually worked East. It is liberally decorated with exploitation stuff and includes a berth for the chauffeur, heating apparatus and a plant for generating its electricity. A radio is included in the equipment. The top of the car is fringed with colored electric lights.

Wonders of the Wild closed a week's engagement at Moss' Broadway tonight. With the picture is its producer, Burr Nickle, who appears at each performance and tells of the making of the film. He next plans to go to the South Seas to make short cinemas of the country and the natives.

De Mille Joins Hays Group

Los Angeles, April 4.—The Cecil B. De Mille Pictures Corporation has affiliated with the M. P. T. O. A. in a statement announcing the step De Mille said: "Mr. Hays has done splendidly in creating added public confidence in our great industry." Announcement was also made that the Cinema Corporation of America has insured De Mille for $1,000,000.

Abandon Film Congress

London, April 4.—Announcement is made of the abandonment of plans for an international film congress which was to take place the first week in July under the auspices of The Cinema. The matter has been dropped owing to lack of interest.

EDWARD M. FAY

Of Providence, R. I., who, thru his energetic efforts in behalf of exhibitors, has become one of the best known theater proprietors in the East. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the M. P. T. O. A., and is president of the M. P. T. O. of Rhode Island.

Pettijohn-Bromberg Dispute Aired in Atlanta Film Paper

Atlanta, Ga., April 5.—The Weekly Film Review has been publishing hot shots at C. C. Pettijohn, general counsel for the Film Boards of Trade, in connection with his statement upon the withdrawal of three members of the Atlanta Film Board of Trade. As announced in The Billboard last week Progress Pictures, Enterprise Distributing Corporation and Elitabram Film Company, independents, quit the organization owing to dissatisfaction with its methods. Announcement of this action was made in a full-page ad in the Film Review when explanation was given to the exhibitors that the step was taken "to keep our independence and help you maintain yours." A cartoon which occupied most of the ad depicted liberty breaking off her chains labeled "Film Board of Trade", "New York Rule", "Hays Organization" and "Trust".

Early in the controversy Pettijohn issued a statement in which he said: "Neither the Hays organization nor any other organization has any power over the Film Boards of Trade. The 32 Boards throuth the country have deemed it best for their interests and in furtherance of the objects for which they were organized to maintain a supervisory and directing medium which is in the New York office. This office is in no wise controlled by the Hays organization, nor any other organization, and operates to the end that the Boards of Trade throuth the United States should function uniformly and within the limits of the rules and regulations adopted for their operation and in accordance with law."

"It seems to me that the use for over a year by the exchanges above referred to of the uniform contract, which I admit can be improved, but which in the main is a fair contract to both distributors and exhibitors, and as you know was adopted after many months of conferences between exhibitor and distributor representatives, is a clear refutation of this biased charge that it is unfair."

Arthur C. Bromberg, president of Progress Pictures, replied to Pettijohn in part as follows: "Mr. Pettijohn should know his case before he attempts to extricate his organization from an embarrassing position. He denies that the Hays organization or any other organization has any power over the Film Boards of Trade, and yet I know, since I have been a member and an officer of the Atlanta Film Board of Trade, serving on the Arbitration Committee, that specific instructions for the functioning of the Board come from the office of the Film Boards of Trade in the Hays organization at 469 Fifth avenue, New York. More than that, as a member and an officer of the Atlanta Film Board of Trade, I know that on various matters that have come up for handling a final ruling and decision was rendered only after the individual branch managers here in Atlanta received instructions from their respective executive offices in New York specifying in what manner and to what end they should vote.

"Is it not significant that producer-distributor members of the Hays or-

"Grass" Opens Big At N. Y. Criterion

Distinguished Audience Attends Premiere --- "Madame Sans- Gene" at Rivoli April 19

New York, April 4.—Topping film events along Broadway this week were the premiere of Grass, at the Criterion, replacing The Miracles of the Wolves. The initial presentation of the film, which records the migration of a Persian tribe and which resembles somewhat a travelogue, brought out a distinguished audience. Among those in attendance were: Lillian Gish, Thomas Meighan, Gloria Swanson, Bebe Daniels, Richard Dix, Neil Hamilton, Dorothy Gish, D. W. Griffith, Alan Dwan, Julian Johnson, Ray Long, George W. Putnam, publisher of the book Grass; Irving S. Cobb and Hugo Riesenfeld. The opus, which will stay at the Criterion for at least three weeks, made a good showing this week but the real test of box-office value will be made during the next two weeks. Famous Players-Lasky is handling the film, which was treated kindly by the critics.

The Billboard is informed that Madame Sans-Gene, which Gloria Swanson made in France, will be played at the Rivoli the week of April 19. It had been intended to run this picture at the Criterion following Grass, but present plans cancel this arrangement. There are reports in circulation to the effect that the scale of admission prices will have a $5 top.

Charley's Aunt continued to do good business at the Cameo, where it will remain for an indefinite period. Later it will be transferred to the Broadway to run on the same bill with vaudeville. The picture has played four weeks at the mentioned house and previously five weeks at the Colony, another Moss' property. Its pronounced hit has proved a surprise to its own promoters. William Tell, produced in Switzerland, will come into the Cameo Easter Sunday.

The Piccadilly concluded a big week last night, the drawing card being Smoldering Fires, which was generally liked by the reviewers. This picture and Oh, Doctor have been practically the only films to give the box office of the house a gratifying deal during the past few months. Que Vadis, at the Strand, pleased the box office.

Last week high box-office honors went to the Strand, playing Declasse, which is estimated to have done better than $30,000. Percy flopped badly at the Colony and The Bridge of Sighs had a similar experience at the Piccadilly. At the Capitol business was good with Confessions of a Queen. The Rivoli, playing Sackcloth and Scarlet, and the Rialto, with Contraband, had fair weeks and Charley's Aunt registered heavily at the little Cameo. Among the features the best showing was made by The Lost World at the Astor.

More T. O. C. C. Members

New York, April 4.—The annual report of President Charles O'Reilly of the T. O. C. C. indicates that there are 425 theaters represented in the organization's membership roster, this being a slight increase over the preceding year. The statement was presented at the annual meeting Tuesday when the following officers were re-elected unanimously: President, O'Reilly; first vice-president, Sol Ralves; second vice-president, Joseph James; secretary, S. A. Moross; treasurer, Samuel Schwartz; sergeant-at-arms, Al Eriendlander; finance committee, E. R. Behrend, Max Barr and Samuel Leselbaum; chairman of board of directors, Sydney S. Cohen; board of directors, A. H. Eisenstadt, Hy Gainsboro, Benjamin Knobel, William A. Landau, John Manheimer, Charles Moses, Lee A. Ochs, Hyman Rachmil, Rudolph Sanders, Benjamin Sherman, William Small and Charles Steiner.

Plan Los Angeles Studio

Los Angeles, April 4.—Associated Arts Corporation, which is making pictures for F. B. O. release, plans to erect a studio on Wilshire boulevard, Los Angeles. The concern will continue using the F. B. O. studio for an indefinite period and plans to start a picture there soon.

Organization were called upon to give their approval to the formation of the Film Boards of Trade before these boards were organized? And is it not equally significant that when these Film Boards of Trade were organized the national producer-distributing organization which are members of the Hays organization instructed their branch managers to affiliate with the Boards?"

New Films on Broadway

Capitol—Proud Flesh, Metro-Goldwyn, Eleanor Boardman, Pat O'Malley, Harrison Ford and Priscilla Bonner.

Rialto—The Charmer, Paramount, Pola Negri, Robert Fraser and Wallace McDonald.

Rivoli—Code of the West, Paramount, Owen Moore, Constance Bennett, David Butler and Mabel Ballin.

Strand—His Supreme Moment, First National, Blanche Sweet, Ronald Colman and Jane Winton.

Piccadilly—Riders of the Purple Sage, Fox, Tom Mix and Mabel Ballin.

Reissued Films Must Show Former Titles Prominently

Washington, April 5.—Reissued motion picture films must bear their old titles as prominently as their new, according to a decision of the Federal Trade Commission announced Tuesday in an order against four respondents. The order named the Capital Film Exchange, Philadelphia; William Alexander, New York; Herman Rifkin, Boston; and the Films Distributors' League, Inc., New York.

The commission charges that The Three Musketeers was being shown in New York when the respondents issued an old Douglas Fairbanks picture titled D'Artagnan. Allegation is made that advertising matter used misleads the public into believing the reissue was the same as the newer picture. The respondents were ordered to stop such methods.

The proceedings were ordered dismissed as to the Eastern Feature Film Company, Boston; Favorite Players' Film Corporation, Chicago; Lance Film Distributing Corporation of Ohio, Lands Film Distributing Corporation of Delaware, Supreme Photoplay Corporation, Los Angeles; Favorite Film Company, Detroit; Friedman Film Corporation, Minneapolis; Alexander Film Corporation, New York; Supreme Film Company, Los Angeles; Quality Film Corporation, Pittsburgh; Reliance Film Exchange, Washington; and Maurice Fleckles, Chicago, who also were named respondents in the commission's original complaint.

Movie Houses To Observe National Music Week Soon

New York, April 4.—Film houses throuth the country are making preparations for the observance of National Music Week May 3-9. Exhibitors desiring to tie up with this movement may either communicate with the local National Music Week committee (provided there is one in his town or city) or get in touch with the national committee, which has its headquarters at 45 West 45th street, New York.

The committee points out that participation in this observance undoubtedly will help the standing of the theater owner in his community. Not only will he render the place a public service from a musical standpoint but he will also rate beneficial publicity and increased interest in his house. The committee suggests that house managers interested in the matter obtain the services of local artists, appealing for their co-operation in the project. Some recommendations for slides are as follows: "Give More Thought to Music", "Music for Everybody—Everybody for Music", "Music of the People, for the People and by the People" and "Cultivate a Love for Music". A list of films suitable for presentation during the week may be secured from the national committee.

Johnnie Walker on Tour

Scranton, Pa., April 4.—Johnnie Walker, film star, tonight closed a personal engagement at Poli's, having come to this city from Providence, R. I., where he proved a sensation at Pay's Theater. Unlike many acts picked out by screen actors for personal appearance tours his turn is the right kind to hold an audience's attention. It is a dramatic sketch brimming over with action. Johnnie is seen as the son of a woman who is charged with murdering her husband. The set is a police station. Johnnie, in a highly emotional scene, confesses that he killed his father because he beat his mother.

REVIEWS

By EDDY

"One Way Street"

First National

There are exactly two good bits in One Way Street, First National offering featuring Anna Q. Nilsson and Ben Lyon. One is a poker game (and you have to know this pastime in order to thoroughly appreciate the shots) and the other is the scene in which the rejuvenated Lady Sylvia Hutton loses her regained beauty during a violent rage. I dare not recommend this film to any exhibitor, more especially to those whose houses are located in the rural districts.

One Way Street is another one of those comedies which are jeopardizing First National's reputation. The plot has been padded to make seven reels and consequently there is a tiresome number of close-ups. The acting is mediocre, generally speaking. There is nothing much to commend in the titles, and the photography is normally good.

Miss Nilsson, as Lady Sylvia, repeatedly ignores proper restraint, and Ben Lyon, cast as Bobby Austin, does not register anything worth mentioning. Marjorie Daw is agreeable as Elizabeth Stuart, and the balance of the cast, Dorothy Cummings, Lumsden Hare, Mona Kingsley and Thomas Holding, are all competent. Discredit for the direction is assigned to John Francis Dillon.

When Lady Sylvia's social supremacy is endangered she accepts the role of Juliet in a production which is to feature a society event, thereby intending to spike the guns of her rival. Incidentally, she plans to maintain influence over young Bobby Austin, billed as a "mere clerk", thru having him play opposite her as Romeo. Bobby is more or less infatuated with the lady, but becomes peeved when she refuses to quit her husband and marry him. Sylvia then seeks vengeance, and during a game of bridge makes it appear as if Bobby had a hobby of collecting axes. Bobby and his real sweetheart, Elizabeth Stuart, learn that Lady Sylvia is responsible for the trick and expose her before her guests at a house party. She develops a bad case of anger which ruins the work of a famous surgeon who had rejuvenated her 20 years previous. The shock converts her into an old hag, but all ends happily, because her neglected husband still loves her.

"Headwinds"

Universal

Headwinds is one of the most entertaining pictures that Universal has produced in some months. The plot, although simple, has a new twist; the cameraman does an effective job and the titles are good, with no tendency to become gushing. House Peters and Patsy Ruth Miller, the leads, display their abilities with all desired competency. The film is not a worldbeater, but it is worth booking for the smaller houses.

Peter Rosslyn is on his yacht in quest of adventure when he receives a radio that the girl whom he loves, Patricia, has decided to marry another chap who has an eye on her income. He returns to San Francisco and with her two brothers plans to prevent her wedding. They inform her that her fiancé has been injured in an accident and the marriage takes place on board of yacht, the bridegroom being swathed in bandages, being beyond recognition. The original expectant groom is held prisoner.

For some feet the film goes on to show Rosslyn endeavoring to subdue Pat's obstinacy and temper, which is especially in evidence when he learns that she is the victim of a trick. A terrific storm arises and is depicted with realistic effect. The girl afterwards takes sick, and when she recovers finds that she is really in love with Rosslyn.

The cast includes Richard Travers, Arthur Hoyt, William Austin, Lydia Yeaman Titus, Togo Yamamoto, George Kuwa and K. Nambu. Direction of the picture, which has a footage of 6,486, is by Herbert Blache. The script is based on The Saturday Evening Post story of A. M. Sinclair Witt.

"School for Wives"

Vitagraph

Capitalism vs. Idealism clash without producing much entertainment in School for Wives, made by Victor Hugo Halperin for Vitagraph release. The story is loosely constructed with plenty of padding and, except in the case of Conway Tearle, the acting does not prove convincing. Titles in the picture are normally good and the photography is substantially better. The sets are excellent and Halperin has incorporated a few clever directorial touches. School for Wives is only a fair box-office film, nothing more.

The picture reveals that Betty is the daughter of a capitalist, Jordan B. Lyuel, one of the kind of rough-shod men the Hearst papers tell their readers about. She succumbs to the masculine charm of one Richard Keith, painter, with more ability than money, and finally induces him to marry her after she agrees not to accept money from her fond papa. They go to England to live and poverty (the kind which permits screen folk to have a pretty apartment, a maid, etc.) makes its appearance. After a while the couple have a son, and Keith, fighting against his idealism and the suicide of a pal, due indirectly to Lynch's business methods, cables the lavish father for funds. Betty and Keith separate and the former, with the baby, returns to America. After living on $10 a week she distributes her father's money to the persons who have suffered thru his ventures, and eventually husband and wife resume their matrimonial relations. There is a side plot to the main story, but it isn't necessary and only serves to add slowness to the picture.

Tearle is able in the role of Keith, but his feminine lead, Sigrid Holmquist, doesn't register with any success. According to the plot Lynch is a "crook, crook" man, but Arthur Donaldson makes him a congenial soul. The cast also includes Allan Simpson, Jill Lyon, Brian Dunlevy, Dick Lee, Dorothy Allen, Gerald Oliver Smith, Emily Chichester and Alyce Mills.

"Gold and the Girl"

Fox

Buck Jones, who qualifies as one of the few entertainingly clever portrayals of Western roles, is seen in a good picture in Gold and the Girl, which Edmund Mortimer directed for Fox. Audiences that like dramas of this type, stories that strive for entertainment rather than reality, will find this film pleasing.

Supporting Buck is Elinor Fair, and her work is gratifying, much more so than that of the average Western heroine. Other players, all of whom do acceptable work, are Bruce Gordon, Claude Peyton, Lucien Littlefield, Alphonzo Ethier and Pal, a clever canine. The plot, photography and titles are all fair enough.

Dan Prentiss is sent to a mining town to apprehend just who is holding up the company's messengers and stealing its gold. He meets Ann Donald thru the usual method, whereby he stops her runaway horse. It seems her uncle and another chap, Colton, are the thieves behind the holdups. They realize that Prentiss is close on their trail and plan to kill him. The girl overhears the conversation and warns Prentiss, who is driving the gold-conveying truck. A posse then aids in the rounding up of the outlaws, but the uncle and Colton escape with Ann. The uncle, already wounded, finishes the job of dying with a revolver shot, and Colton makes ready to escape across the border with the girl. In comes Dan and, after a fight, all ends in approved fashion, with the girl a prospective bride.

Footage of film, 4,512.

F. B. O.

To write with charity, O. U. West, which measures 5,000 feet, is approximately 4,000 feet too long to be interesting for any audience, sophisticated or unsophisticated. Its plot is only a plot in name and the acting is mediocre. F. B. O. has certainly turned out a crude piece of work in this film, the camera work and titles of which are fair.

Lefty Flynn walks and rides thru the picture and that is all his role calls for. Ann May, his leading lady, is good looking, but spoils the effect by obviously trying to be more attractive. Others in the cast are Milton Ross, Evelyn Francisco, Bill Donovan, Raymond Turner, Ed Burns and Fred Burns. Harry Garson held the megaphone on the production.

The plot, which is an unreal affair, explains that O. U. West, dissipated son of the usual Western rich man, is put aboard a train while intoxicated and sent out to the great, open spaces. Cass Jones, his father's partner in a ranching project, makes him believe that he has killed a miser, but later O. U. learns the truth and becomes peeved at the deception. The idea is to keep the young man on the ranch for one year and thus win a check for $5,000 from Mr. Jones, Sr. Before the picture has its finale O. U. is loved by two girls, rescues the heroine, Jones' daughter, from the cattle rustlers and captures these illegal men of the West. The process results in his reformation and his winning the heroine for his bride.

"Smoldering Fires"

Universal

Universal has released a first-class production in Smoldering Fires, which is a sensible investment for exhibitors catering to any class of patrons. It concerns the old "eternal triangle" coupled with a woman whose youth is fading and who tries to retain the affections of her young husband. The woman of the story is Pauline Frederick. She is ever sincere in her performances, and in this role in particular she does her work with a splendid sense of understanding and sympathy. Miss Frederick is a genuine actress and an excellent model for many of the other stars who have not lived as long as she.

Laura La Plante is sweet and real as Dorothy Vale, and Malcolm McGregor succeeds in making Robert Elliott good enough. Other players are Tully Marshall, Wanda Hawley, George Cooper, Bert Roach, Billy Gould, Rolfe Sedan, Jack McDonald, William Orlamond, Robert Mack and Jack Newberg. Credit for the fine direction goes to Clarence Brown. The titles and photography are both of a satisfactory order. The footage of the film is 7,356.

Jane Vale, proprietor of a manufacturing concern, has reached middle age when she falls in love with one of her employees, Robert Elliott. She is prim, bossy and of a positive nature. Her interest in Elliott results in his promotion. On the eve of their marriage her younger sister, Dorothy, returns home and the husband-elect is attracted to her. When they discover that their affection is mutual they plan to tell Jane, but change their minds when they realize how much Elliott means to her. The wedding takes place.

Later a party of young people visit the house and Jane, who is expending every effort to regain her youth, comes to a realization of the gulf between she and her husband. That her sister is in love is obvious to her and she finds that Elliott is the man. Finally, at her birthday party, she takes steps to give the younger couple the happiness they have dreamed of by giving her husband the impression that she desires her freedom.

There is one criticism to be made concerning Miss Young. In the opening scenes of the picture she portrays Jane as unsympathetic towards her employees and cold-natured in other ways. Later, however, she entertains her subordinates and displays a decided change in character which is not convincing.

"Burning Trail"

Universal

Universal's The Burning Trail is a poor Western possessing all the defects that usually detract from films of this class. I would not advise any exhibitor to play it unless his clientele is the kind that gets a kick out of this type of story, regardless of the quality of the plot and acting. The titles are commonplace and the camera work is ordinarily good.

"Smiling Bill" Flannigan retires from the boxing ring after killing an opponent with a kayo punch and seeks forgetfulness out in the West. Eventually, he gets a job on the Corliss ranch, operated by John and Tommy Corliss. The younger brother, Tommy, is robbing the ranch safe when Flannigan interposes, but Texas, bad man and accomplice of the young chap, knocks the ex-pugilist on the head. Flannigan, being one of these big-hearted men, leaves the ranch under suspicion of the thief rather than have the light-fingered youngster exposed. His next job is on a nearby sheep ranch, one of the features of which is the owner's pretty daughter, Nell Loring. The Corliss men decide to drive their cattle thru the Loring property en route to market, and a fight with the sheep men follows. Concluding the tale is the rescue of Nell by Flannigan from the burning house and the arrival of the sheriff, who interrupts the battle. All shake hands. And Smiling Bill marries another girl.

William Desmond, playing Flannigan, gets by with his performance. Others in the cast are Albert J. Smith, Mary McIvor, James Corey, Jack Dougherty and Edmund Cobb. The megaphone was in the hands of Arthur Rosson. Length of film, 4,783.

"Marriage in Transit"

Fox

Only mildly interesting is Fox's Marriage in Transit, starring Edmund Lowe, who appears in a dual role. This comedy-drama is too weak-framed to appeal much to houses catering to sophisticated audiences. Its only hope is in pleasing small theater moviegoers, especially in the little towns.

Lowe does well all that is required of him, and that isn't much. Carole Lombard, playing opposite him, is sufficiently good. Others in the cast are Adolph Milar, Frank Beal, Harvey Clark, Fred Walton, Byron Douglas, Fred Butler, Wade Boteler, Fred Becker and Edward Chandler. R. William Nell directed the film, which measures 4,800 feet. The camera work and titles are average and the plot is trite and improbable.

Cyril Gordon, U. S. secret service man, is assigned to the job of intercepting a code book stolen from the Government by a gang of international crooks. A representative of a foreign nation is to arrive to purchase the stolen property and Gordon impersonates him. Receiving the book he breaks out of the hotel room and secures a taxi which is waiting for Holden, the real agent. He is taken to the home of Celia Hathaway, who rushed thru a marriage with her. It seems that Holden is compelling the girl to marry him. After the ceremony they do a comic rush to the train and then Gordon explains the situation. The disgruntled crooks follow, and after several narrow escapes the couple arrive at Gordon's apartment in Washington. He goes to turn the code book over to the proper authorities and returns to find Holden in his apartment assaulting Celia. You know how these stories end. Film fans who like to watch men accept cracks on the jaw will find plenty of this in Marriage in Transit.

"Men and Women"

Paramount

Men and Women is an illustration of a case wherein a film with a shabby but human plot is saved from mediocrity by its principal player. Richard Dix is the gratifying performer. This Paramount picture will have but little pulling power in the small houses, but will make a fair box-office attraction for the larger theaters.

The story concerns a foolish, extravagant wife whose parallel undoubtedly can be found in every community in the country. In addition to her husband, Will Prescott, Ned Seabury is in love with the girl, Agnes, and he spends his money lavishly upon her. Seabury announces his intentions of winning her affections. Prescott, as a last resort, takes $30,000 worth of bonds from the bank which employs him and invests them, hoping to be able thereby to please his wife. The market slumps and the money is wiped out. Seabury, who is also employed at the bank and who has been speculating, is accused of the theft, but Prescott admits his guilt. The husband is sent to jail. Agnes goes to the bank president and matters are adjusted when he commissions Prescott to take charge of his coffee plantation in South America, taking with him his repentant wife.

Dix makes Prescott sincere at all times. He does remarkably well with the role, especially in consideration of the fact that most of his best performances have been given in lighter entertainment. Claire Adams, as Agnes, does not reach the necessary emotional pitch to make her efforts worthy of commendation. Nell Hamilton, under the handicap of being miscast, is a likable heavy. Robert Edison, Henry Stephenson and Flora Finch are also in the cast. William De Mille directed the picture.

"The Way of a Girl"

Metro-Goldwyn

Metro-Goldwyn's The Way of a Girl serves to prove that a picture with a weak and at times absurd plot can be converted into an entertaining affair through intelligent treatment and clever subtitles. The film turns out to be a first-rate box-office opus with an appeal that will be universal among moviegoers.

The acting is as good as the plot demands. Eleanor Boardman gives an effective performance as Rosamond, and Matt Moore is fair enough in his portrayal of the snappy lover. Others in the cast are William Russell, Matthew Betz, Charles K. French, Jack Herrick, Leo Willis and Kate Price. The photography is good, altho the studio exteriors are too noticeably the work of man rather than of nature.

A novel form of telling the story injects considerable interest into the film. The scenarist is shown writing the script with Eleanor Boardman and Matt Moore, in miniature, receiving instructions as to their parts. According to the theme, Rosamond becomes peeved when she learns that her fiancé, George, "knows how to handle women and horses." She starts in to demonstrate that he is mistaken and is arrested for speeding. The judge paroles her in charge of George. Returning home after an artists' ball Rosamond sends her escort back after her hat, which she has purposely dropped, and

TABLOID REVIEWS of SHORT SUBJECTS

"Inside Out"

One-reel Educational comedy about a hotel press agent who ruins the house with a story concerning a mythical hidden treasure there. The picture is slap-sticky, but is fast and amusing.

"The Butterfly Man"

Two-reel Fox comedy in which Ned Smith, butterfly chaser, nets a notorious bandit. William Francy is good as the intoxicated major. This is a fairly good buy.

Alex Miller Writes

Every platformist knows Alex Miller, the genial chautauqua and lyceum fan of Washington, In., whose lecture on The Other Side of Main Street has been heard with profit thruout the Middle West. A letter from him to The Billboard gives the following endorsement of a recent article:

"Dear Flude—I read your article in The Billboard on the future of the lyceum course, and I want to hurry and say 'amen' to it. You have touched the vital points and we need a lot of propaganda along that line. I was glad to see it. I just want you to know that I enjoyed the article because it needed saying and you said it so well. Yours, Alex Miller."

The above is only one of about a dozen letters received endorsing that article. I am glad that it has been endorsed because I believe it is so vital that it should appeal to the common sense of every platformist. The fact of the matter is the dear public does not care one tinker's curse whether you or I are clever or not. The public does not care whether we are good looking, whether we bob our hair or whether we have any hair to bob. It does not care whether there is any lyceum or any chautauqua except as that individual program may appeal to it. It is up to you and me—not to the bureau—to insure the future of the lyceum. The old blind violinist who remarked "Something will have to be done for me" must have been a lyceumite of the old school. Thank goodness that time is past. The future platformist is going to remain there because he is giving a real service. If he does not give a service he will not remain. The "clever" man and the "overworked" platformist will have to go. It is up to you and me to put the lyceum upon the high road to success by doing so fine a bit of service that the communities will not dispense with our services. Hours do not count. Money does not count. It is service that will tell the story. We are coming to it and if we are not able to stand the strain then we had better begin to look for a new job right now.

The Editor Hits the Trail

New Bloomfield, Pa., April 4.—If I were a writer of fairy stories I should at once tell a tale of The Lost Railroad, the story of a road that became lost in the mountains. Such a wonderful little road it is, wandering from somewhere out into the glens and beside the brooks of the Blue Ridge (or is it the Allegheny?). When one leaves the Pennsylvania at Duncannon to go to New Bloomfield he steps into the shabbiest old coach and settles down to an hour of discomfort and quickly forgets everything but the little mountain brook we follow here and there, with a glimpse of ferns and brakes and of wonderful banks where only a little later the wild flowers will be on display. And when New Bloomfield is reached we leave with regret that we could not follow that little brook to the very ends of the earth. What a relief is New Bloomfield with its face bright and clean—a little "spotless town" after the grime and the dirt and the squalor and the lack of paint and the lack of most other things which one meets on every hand in the mining and the manufacturing towns of the Keystone State. I liked New Bloomfield the moment I saw it and I liked it still better when the lieutenant stepped forward and shook hands so genially and later made me at home in the comfortable little hotel. My liking increased when I met Captain Holman, principal of the Carson Long Institute for Boys, where several hundred young men are taught how to learn, how to labor and how to live. I think I liked it best of all when later in the afternoon I was permitted to stand on the platform and look into the eyes of those splendid youngsters and tell them the art of travel, which after all is the art of life. How fine it was to have an opportunity to do that thing and to think that possibly each one of those splendid young men might be just a little better for that interview. And later on the streets to meet the same young fellows and to be greeted with a smile and a happy word—is there anything in life better than this?

JEWELL BOTHWELL TULL

This young lady is codirector with her husband, Clyde Tull, of the Tull Players, who have played Redpath-Vauter circuits for the past four years. She has found a promising field for her literary talents in the small-cast play. She first wrote "The Gorilla", a four-part mystery play, at the suggestion of Hugh S. Bell, assistant manager of the Vauter interests. It was presented by two companies on the Vauter five and by three companies on the Cadmean circuits. Then it was taken over for lyceum use in the Vauter, Honer and Craft territories of the Redpath system. The success of "The Gorilla" led her to write two more short-cast plays, which have been sold for use next summer—"The Other Woman", which will be used by the Cadmean people, and "Her Son's Wife", which will be used on the Acme Circuit along with "The Gorilla". Mrs. Tull is author of five books of adventure for boys, a novel entitled "Sylvia of the Stubbles", which had a wide sale last year, and many magazine stories. Her verse has appeared in "Poetry", a magazine of verse, edited by Harriet Monroe of Chicago. Just now "Woman's World" is featuring her serial entitled "The Girl Back Home".

That night the whole school was there to hear me—they had to go. They are under military discipline. It reminded me of Siberia. When I would speak in one of the camps the officer would give his orders and every man was on hand. "Would be a great thing if every town was under military discipline on lyceum nights, wouldn't it? A fine orchestra set things off right and we had a good time. But New Bloomfield is not in evidence in the course as it should be. Perhaps the people consider it merely a school affair. Perhaps they have not been sufficiently urged. For in the lyceum field people must be urged to do themselves a favor.

Wonderful, is it not, how one town will stand out in the memory and another will be forgotten? I only hope that New Bloomfield will remember me as long as I remember it—its school, its homes, its people and that fine evening in the home of Captain Holman—all of it brings a picture of delight.

Windmills of Holland was given at Laporte, Ind., for two nights recently under the direction of George Eckert. The receipts totaled $1,350. At Salem, O., the Love Pirates of Hawaii was given for two nights with the gross receipts $1,351. Certainly a good record. I do not know of any better way by which clubs, lodges or societies might raise money than one of these home-produced operettas.

People of the Platform

Padric Colum

Mr. Colum is a gifted story teller. His charm of manner has won him the highest encomiums. His knowledge of the tales of Ireland is not exceeded by anyone on the American platform. His lecture, Irish Folklore, is the embodiment in words of the fancies of the Irish people for generations.

As an author Mr. Colum ranks well in this country. Castro Conquer, The Children of Homer, The Golden Fleece, The Children of Odin, The King of Ireland's Son, Mogu the Wanderer, The Boy Who Knew What the Birds Said and The Children Who Followed the Piper are among his most noted works.

One critic in writing of Mr. Colum's works on Ireland has said: "Soil underlies them and gray Irish skies droop overhead; pools glimmer like opals, and the voices of birds are sharp on the road."

Charles H. Craig

Mr. Craig is a young magician of Morrill, Neb., who is winning his way nicely upon the lyceum and chautauqua platform. He gives a few humorous readings to add variety to his program. I note a letter from Dodge, Neb., in which is stated: "Mr. Craig gave the best performance of the lyceum course held here this year and had the largest attendance. Every minute of the program was thoroughly enjoyed, especially by the young people, as Mr. Craig has an unusual understanding of their nature."

News Notes

Ernest Briggs writes complaining of an item in The Billboard which stated that he had quit handling artists. I am on the road, so cannot look the matter up. Don't know how it crept in. I have no recollection of writing anything of that kind. Briggs is a sticker, and he is the last man I would select as having quit anything he had undertaken. He has a fine list of musical artists for the coming season.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bingham have left New York for the Mediterranean. They will visit Greece, Turkey, Holy Land, Egypt and return by way of France and England in time for the chautauqs next summer. Well, "Bing" has it coming to him. I don't begrudge him the trip, but I wish I were going along. One of the geniuses of the platform, it is really good to see that his work has not been without reward. I got the letter too late to send an introduction to the London office. Just show them this note, "Bing", and tell them for me that you are "The King of the Entertainment Platform" and I will back you up in every word of it.

Harry Holbrook says that one of the greatest and most peculiar compliments that he ever saw paid to a speaker was the one accorded Fred High at Madison, S. D. "The other night," said Harry, "I dropped in at the high school to hear Fred and just about the time he started to put on the final embellishments the lights went out. Fred went right on and finished without a break, and when we got out in the hall the janitor turned a switch and the lights came on. Some one asked: 'Why didn't you come out and do that as soon as the lights went off?' And he replied: 'I was so interested in what he was saying that I just couldn't leave the room.'"

The public schools of Floyd, N. M., write me thru their superintendent, A. E. Lang, that E. J. Powell recently came out to their school, which is 20 miles from a railroad, and gave them what money could not buy. In other words he considered it a privilege to take a message to the children in that school. Prof. Lang wants us to mention the fact that the message brought a wonderful vision to those children who are not privileged to hear things of that sort frequently. It is a fact that those who give the most liberally on the platform are those who also receive the most in return.

Dr. Fisher, of Ridgewood, N. J., is delivering lectures in that State upon The Flora and Fauna of Lapland. The doctor spent several months last summer in Northern Norway, Sweden and Lapland, crossing a portion of the country never before visited by an American or Englishman. He lived with the Lapps, during their migration with the reindeer from their winter feeding grounds to their summer homes in the mountains. He took photographs and motion pictures, and is giving a most interesting travelogue.

Otto Lang, a member of the famous Passion Play family of that name, is lecturing in America upon the Passion Play. Mr. Lang uses illustrations in his description of the work of his collaborators at Oberammergau.

St. Johns, Mich., has selected the following course for next season, all from the Coit-Alber Bureau, Cleveland: Charlie Paddock, Smiley Brothers' Jubilee Quartet, Chas. Grayford Gorst, Edwin M. Whitney and Dolly Varden Operatic Quintet.

Recently the Smith-Spring-Holmes Company gave a concert for the "Citizens' Club", Syracuse, N. Y., which is one of the very big clubs of the country, with a membership of nearly 2,000. It is unique in that they have their own building in the center of the city and more than $50,000 in the treasury. Besides all the usual features of such a club they have a concert, recital or entertainment of some kind free for the members every Friday night and they secure leading celebrities in all lines.

An interesting meeting of a few of the chautauqua managers and others interested was held in the Redpath Studio, Chicago, March 26. The occasion was the discussion of the advisability of adopting a specialized form of better citizenship program. The matter was introduced by Ralph Parlette and discussed by Morgan, Ewell, College, MacCaddam, W. Morgan, Hulbert and Flude. A committee is to be appointed by the chairman to discuss and present ways and means, the report of which will be presented at another meeting to be called soon.

Governor Ritchie, of Delaware, was contending to give one of a series of lectures before the University of Maryland. The entire series is to be given by men prominent in the political life of the nation.

Prof. Samuel L. Boothroyd, Cornell University, is lecturing upon the subject Our Sun and Other Suns. Professor Boothroyd is in charge of the Fuertes Observatory at Cornell.

The Junior High School, Altoona, Pa., is producing a chautauqua which will be given in the near future, with the five days compressed into one evening. All the performers will be local talent.

The Y. M. C. A., of Dayton, O., recently held a health week, with lectures each day on health topics.

The life of the girl duo upon the platform is usually a short one for obvious reasons. The Columbus Duo played their last date recently, as "Bee" was married recently and "Bob" will be married in the fall.

Ethel S. Hanley and Rita Smith are both to appear in one play company on the Acme Circuit next summer. The play is The Mollusk, and it will be some company to say the least.

Rev. Joseph Garrison, a veteran of the Civil War and a retired minister, still gives occasionally his famous lecture, The Dark Side of Life in Libby Prison.

I call attention to the notice which appeared recently under "Deaths in the Profession", telling of the death of Mrs. Lewis, mother of "Blondie" Lewis, of the old Howard Hall Male Quartet. The notice was sent me by Howard Wade Kimsey, who at one time sang in the same company with Mr. Lewis. Most of us remember Mr. Kimsey very well indeed, for he was one of the well-known lyceum singers for a number of years. The Brooklyn Eagle recently said of him: "Mr. Kimsey is one of New York City's best known and most frequently heard bass singers. He was formerly senior music director of the United States Army, and he was song leader in 1922 and 1923 of the Easter Dawn Services in Central Park and Columbia University. He is song leader for the Kiwanis Club, the Bedford Y. M. C. A. Men's Conference and for many other stated gatherings in the city where throngs join in song."

I have been on the road so much this season that occasionally a letter slips my attention. I had a most interesting communication from Packard some time ago and it has just come to light. Writing from Salt Lake City, he said: "Today (Sunday) I look out of the window in my hotel room across the street from the Mormon Tabernacle and Temple, which, the now surrounded by modern structures and skyscrapers, are imposing and beautiful. Brigham Young and his band were no pikers, I'll tell this world—and the next."

I have mentioned before that Ray Morton Hardy is now working with Stockdale and Griest in the Retail Merchants' Institute. A clipping from The Hoopston (Ill.) Herald speaks in superlative terms in regard to his recent work in that city. The two paragraphs below are from an article of more than a column reporting his last address in that city. They are as follows: "Despite the inclement weather of Wednesday evening an excellent crowd gathered at the Commercial Club banquet hall to hear Ray Morton Hardy, business expert, continue his series of 'Sales Talks' as part of the business institute being held in Hoopston this week. The fact that a good crowd was present testified to the high interest in the institute, for a driving rainstorm held the center of the stage in Hoopston for an hour preceding the gathering at 7:30 o'clock. You and the Sale was Mr. Hardy's subject Wednesday night, the concluding lecture of the series of 'Sales Talks' that have created much comment in this city. The talk of Wednesday night was on a par with those that had gone before, a wonderful explanation of the psychological end of making a sale."

The Smith-Spring-Holmes Company closed its winter season at Defiance, O., and went direct home to Chicago, where the members had only a few days to brush up a new program for their Pacific tour, as they left April 6. They reported fine business all along the line in the South and East, and a very successful winter tour. They will do no chautauqua work this summer, but will do some independent concerts just to keep their hand in. The Messrs. Smith and Holmes say they are not so keen for the "two-a-day" under the hot tents and besides the afternoon audiences are not what they once were.

Piqua, O., selected for the coming season the following course of attractions: Mrs. Rosetta Knapp Breed, Charlie Paddock, B. R. Baumgardt, The Rawlens, The Jugo-Slav Tamburica Orchestra, Lorado Taft and Whitley Williams. It is a fine course.

Someone said to me the other day: "What are you trying to do—force everyone to work two or three times a day without extra pay?" Not at all. But I do say that the speaker or entertainer who gives so many minutes for so many dollars without any consideration of the way in which he may do the most good in the community or without thought of how he can best perpetuate lyceum and chautauqua welfare is shortsighted and is not honest even with himself. It is not for me to say what Clay Smith or Henry Clark should do. They have their own ideas which are worth just as much as mine. I have found my best way to boost the business is work in the schools. You may find some vastly better way. But if you do not find a way to boost and boost all the time and consistently you will find the goose that laid the golden egg will suddenly die in the effort. It is not a question of overworking you. Many of us work 12 and 16 hours a day when our hearts are bound up in the work, and it does not hurt us. Now the time has come when you and I are challenged to show that the lyceum and the chautauqua are really a valuable asset to community life. I do not care how you present the proof, except that it must be a proof that will appeal to the guarantor. It must be a proof that will reach the mind, heart and pocket-book of the committeeman. If you can add to the financial success or the moral success of the business in which you are engaged then you are an asset. If you are interested in going into a community and saying "your piece", getting your money and leaving, then you are a liability and should be crossed off from the debit side of the platform ledger. Platform people can do 100 per cent more toward making their courses successful—if they only will.

When Army Ambrose reached Wilkes-Barre, Pa., recently for a Sunday-night engagement with the Y. M. H. A., he found that Geoffrey F. Morgan was already on the ground with a lecture date for the Sunday afternoon course at the Y. M. C. A., so that for once at least a town had two Redpath numbers by different artists on the same day. Ambrose was an enthusiastic listener at Morgan's address, while the latter, not to be outdone, lent interest and appreciation to the scientific demonstration which Ambrose presented in the evening.

A bureau representative and an entertainer met in the post-office lobby at Robstown, Tex., recently. "It was some 400 years ago," smiled the fair representative of White and Brown, Ruth Simpson, "that you taught me in your Sunday-school class at Paragould, Ark., and while I've been all around, behind, in front and near you, at I. L. C. A. convention meetings and on the road, I have not met you in these 20 years." And Tom Elmore Lucy grabbed the hand of his former protege with a greeting such as only platformers can give. They had a delightful chat, and later Lucy received a letter from Superintendent R. A. Deen, of the Weslaco schools, saying: "We were all the more interested in Miss Simpson when we knew she had had such a man for a teacher." Yes, there are real folks both on and off the platform.

Drifting to You, one of the season's best sellers, a popular number written by Clay Smith, has forged right ahead since its appearance on the market a few months ago. It is now issued on 41 mechanicals, and you can hardly tune in on any radio concert without hearing it. It is also being widely used by dance orchestras and the symphonic orchestras of the movie palaces. Several letters have come in from leading popular orchestras of England showing it is taking hold over there, while orders from Sydney, Australia, show it has reached that far-away land. Drifting to You is published by Chas. E. Roat, Battle Creek, Mich., who put over two of the outstanding hits of the past two years, namely, Faded Love Letters and Pal of My Dreams. The publisher reports, if he can judge from the present manifestations of interest, that Drifting to You will eventually surpass these successes.

Geoffrey F. Morgan has just completed the manuscript of a new musical comedy, Marrying Marian, for the use of amateurs. The piece has already been sold to the T. S. Dunison Company, Chicago, and will be published early this fall. This is the fourth number which Mr. Morgan has published thru the same house, the earlier pieces being A Royal Outing, In Hot Tamale Land and Hinky Doodle Town. Mr. Morgan closed his lyceum season March 25, and went at once to Athens, O., where he delivered the principal address at the dedication of the new high-school building. Mr. Morgan was formerly superintendent of schools at Athens, and, though the building was not started until after his resignation in 1920, the Board of Education felt that his interest in the project made him a suitable speaker for the dedication.

Troy, Pa., is booking a series of lectures this winter before the student body of the high school. This is a form of course which is gaining rapidly in the public favor, many of the schools making it a practice to have three or four lecture numbers in the course of the term.

I heard of a lecturer recently who is still regaling his audiences with moth-eaten tales of the "Degeneracy of the English Aristocracy". A lecturer who would do a thing of that sort after the object lesson of the great conflict is in the same class with the backwoodsman who thought we were still fighting in the Civil War. One could hardly blame an intelligent audience for refusing to patronize a lyceum course that inculcated such doctrine. The reverend lecturer should read Wiggam's Fruit of the Family Tree in regard to heredity and then get down on his knees and pray to be forgiven for a viciousness which will not hesitate to propagate a lie in order to get a laugh or to score a bit of patriotic bunk.

Every speaker upon the lyceum platform who is more concerned with demonstrating his own cleverness than he is in rendering genuine service to every community in which he appears is an enemy of the entire platform movement. If ever a profession should be approached with fasting and prayer that profession is that of the platform. According to the parable the devil went out by night to sow tares, and I imagine there are a few devils on the platform sowing more tares than wheat.

The Buffalo Society of Natural Sciences, Bureau of Public Welfare and Department of Education, furnishes free to the people of Buffalo, N. Y., a series of lectures, most of them illustrated with slides or motion pictures. These lectures are given in the various schools, several being given each evening during the season. The lectures are all informative, including travel, history, industry, etc. No finer educational movement could be inaugurated for any city than this.

W. T. Borsukiewicz, of Warsaw, Poland, who is making a tour of the world, is lecturing in this country on Poland. Mr. Borsukiewicz is now 23 years of age and has traveled thru all the important points of Europe and 28 States of the Union. He has spent much time in Maryland and will leave Frostburg for Columbus to begin a series of lectures in Ohio. Three years has already lapsed since starting his travels, which will be discontinued in the next seven years. In his possession there are some 2,500 signatures of prominent people, including President Coolidge and Governor Albert C. Ritchie, recommending him to educational institutions as a lecturer of note. Mr. Borsukiewicz speaks five different languages and is a graduate of Lublin School of Poland. On completing his extensive tour of the countries of the world he will have concluded a course of practical education which will entitle him to a degree in the Vest Polish University.

The Student Activity Association, of Pratt, Kan., will have charge of the course there for next season and has selected for the coming year the following well-known attractions: Alton Packard, the Welsh Choir, the Tooley Opera Company and Smith-Spring-Holmes Quintet.

In the new issues from J. W. Jenkins & Sons, Kansas City, Mo., we find three songs from the pen of Clay Smith which look interesting. They are all of different types. Trail-Mate is a ballad with community appeal and yet suitable for solo work. It is published in three keys as a solo and two keys as a duet besides orchestrations and quartet arrangements for mixed male and female voices. Would You Might Answer Me is the type of ballad that delights the hearts of concert artists and teachers, while To Miss a Kiss is a novelty encore in a humorous vein whose chief charm is a play on the words in the title. We recall how singers looked to the Liab Tree and Her Dream, so Mr. Smith's song will be welcomed the same way.

The first labor chautauqua ever held in Pennsylvania was given for three days recently at Hastings, in that State. The program was given during the evenings only and was well balanced with music and oratory. A moving picture feature was also added. The music was given by the Hastings Orchestra. The addresses were by notable speakers. That of the first evening was by Richard W. Hogue, director of education of Pennsylvania

Federation of Labor. He spoke upon Some Aspects of the Labor Movement. On the second evening Norman Thomas, New York, lectured on The League for Industrial Democracy, and J. A. Maurer, president of Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, spoke. On the last night addresses were by Norman Thomas and Paul W. Fuller.

The following from Herrington, Kan., may or may not be correct, but it indicates how necessary it is for the welfare of the lyceum business as a whole that each bureau should bend every energy to help the committee secure the greatest possible success. On the other hand it is sometimes difficult for a committee to understand how absolutely impossible it may be to shift dates. The Herrington (Kan.) Sun says:

"While there is a small deficit from the winter's lecture course there is a very general approval of it, a cordial appreciation of a fine lot of entertainment for the small sum charged and of the great care and conscientious work of the committee in the selection of talent and securing the entertainment of high type.

"That two competing lyceum companies should take advantage of approximate dates to force them together in the belief that one would gain over the other, resulted in a loss of box-office receipts of from $40 to $50 and added to the deficit. It also lost one of them considerable prestige as entertainers and both companies fell in the estimation of all who knew of the incident, the whole matter being beyond the control of the local committee to prevent."

The Sun did not hesitate to severely roast one company upon the course. It is the first bad report I have seen on that company in any of the host of clippings I receive, and yet there is reason in the bad report—not on the musician-ship of the company but its poor judgment. At that I wish more papers would give honest reports. A lyceum attraction gives the most important item of local news of the week, and it is only the part of wisdom to give these features a careful review.

OUR BAND AN ASSET
NOTHING has contributed more to the pleasure and entertainment of visitors in Tampa this season than the concerts of the Bachman Million-Dollar Band. The afternoon and evening programs at Plant Park have been heard by large audiences and the band has become very popular with our visitors as well as with the citizens of Tampa.
Band concerts as tourist entertainment have proved very successful in Florida. Cities in other States have come to realize that a good band is a civic asset.
The Asheville (N. C.) Citizen comments on the favorable impression made upon the party of North Carolinians who recently toured Florida by the Tampa band concerts. As a result of this good impression Asheville is now negotiating for a band to play there during its season. The Citizen says:
"Members of the Good-Will Tour to Florida were struck by the popularity of bands in many of the cities of that State. In Tampa's great park a famous band played two hours in the afternoon and two hours in the evening. Thousands of people, seated on the comfortable park benches in the ideal weather, heard these concerts. Citizens of Tampa told the Asheville visitors that the money the town spent on the band, thus giving its tourists four hours of delightful entertainment free of charge was the best investment it had ever made or could make."
Tampa is completely "sold" on a good band as an asset and will have one every season. The Bachman organization has given general satisfaction. It has not only furnished music for the Plant Park concerts but delighted thousands at the grounds during the South Florida Fair. By next season the Bachman band doubtless will have become a larger and even better one. During its summer engagements it proposes to advertise Tampa as its home town and urge people wherever it plays to come to Tampa next season. Thus the band is a year-round Tampa asset. Tampa has never made a better investment.

A Cure for the Crippled Theater

WHY is the American theater in all but a few of the larger cities a well-nigh defunct institution? In the current issue of Collier's John Golden, who has been actor, playwright and producer, offers an answer to this question. He discards some of the usual explanations. He doesn't believe that the movies and the radio have anything to do with it. The theater has survived other forms of recreation which were once regarded as dangerous to it. The movies, Mr. Golden thinks, ought really to stimulate a taste for the spoken drama. The radio is no more a serious rival than the cross-word puzzle. Whatever other forms of amusement may be devised, the instinct for the drama is too deeply implanted in human nature to be uprooted.

This is a reasonable view. But it does not explain why "the road" has become a losing proposition to most managers. High salaries and railway fares are items in the account. Of more importance is the fact that poor plays are sent out, or good plays with inferior actors. The manager underrates the intelligence of the sticks; they know what is good and what is bad. It is not difficult to believe that thousands have formed the habit of staying away from the theater because what they see when they go there is not worth seeing.

Whether an Academy of the Theater such as Mr. Golden proposes would be sufficient to save the situation is a question that can not be answered offhand. This body would censor plays and make its imprimatur a guarantee that a play was at least worth seeing. It would advertise approved plays nationally. It would provide better theaters in the smaller communities. It would establish a school of the theater.

This looks like an ambitious program, but Mr. Golden is a practical man, and his advice deserves serious consideration. That the theater is losing its hold on people in general is undeniable. It is up to the managers to do something.

then races off in her auto. The machine goes over a cliff and Rosamond falls over enough rocks to kill even a cat with nine lives. But she is not even slightly injured. She terminates her fall in a river, from whence she is rescued by one of a duo of escaped murderers. They fight for her possession and one is killed. George appears in the cave and covers the surviving villain with a revolver. But in true movie style the murderer charges him, only to be subdued, but not shot. Lightning causes an avalanche and the passageway of the cave is blocked. George tunnels thru the debris. The heavy slips out of his bonds and starts towards the girl, who shoots him. That ends both the villain and the picture. Robert G. Vignola is credited with the interesting directorial touches.

Exploitation Stunts

stores. They carried the legend: "Just to remind you to notify everyone in the store that Norma Talmadge in her latest production, 'The Only Woman,' is at the Tivoli today."

At the Elite Theater, Waukegan, Ill., the presentation of Greed was called to public attention thru a tieup with a bank which displayed art cards showing the danger of hoarding money and advising the public to open savings accounts. Incidentally, the cards announced the showing.

Peter Pan, playing at the Grand Theater, Columbus, Ga., obtained publicity thru a stuffed alligator, which was used as part of the elaborate lobby display. J. Wright Brown connected an electric bell to a flasher and timed it to ring at regular intervals.

The Business and Professional Women's Club of Toledo, O., attended a special showing of Smoldering Fires just prior to its visit to the Temple Theater in that city. After the film had been screened A. J. Sharick, Universal exploiter, talked on Carl Laemmle's stand for clean pictures. As they passed out each person was given 10 postcards with the request that they mail them to friends.

A stunt which is producing satisfactory results for many theater owners is that of inviting readers of the local newspapers and patrons of their house to write ads on current attractions. The offering of prizes is a sure-fire stimulant for this plan.

When playing The Thief of Bagdad at the Leroy Theater, Pawtucket, R. I., Manager Harry Storn used a lobby display which included a specially modeled clay statuette group four feet high, representing the thief and the princess on the magic flying carpet.

Residents of Saginaw, Mich. and vicinity were given an opportunity to try their hand at titliewriting when Secrets of the Night was offered at the Mecca Theater. Stills from the picture were printed in the house's newspaper ads on three consecutive days and cash prizes and tickets were awarded.

Cullen Espy, manager of the West End Lyric, St. Louis, "sold" The Great Circus Mystery to the public thru allowing children to attend, without charge, a Saturday matinee when the initial episode was featured. Two ballyhoo clowns contributed to the entertainment.

for the National Music Supervisors' convention and made this office a pleasant visit. Mr. Gordon was formerly of the profession.

Pauline Kerns, of Ellison & White's Seven-Day Chautauqua National Lyceum attraction, is in the city visiting her sister. Will again be in chautauqua work this summer.

The Lawson Twins, assisted by Babbe Wright, entertainers de luxe, is the name of the act which Phil Moore is presenting. He is acting as both manager and agent. The act is now in Texas and reported as going over big.

Bud Anderson, of the Bud Anderson Overland Shows, was here recently buying canvas and new equipment from the Kansas City Tent and Awning Company, and left for Benedict, Kan., winter quarters of the show, where it opens April 11. The show will play thru Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas, and will be transported on eight wagons and five trucks.

Charles Donovan, of the Metropolitan Entertainers, bell ringers and marimba players, was a caller recently. He wintered here and is getting ready for an early call to the road.

J. W. and Mrs. Collins, balloonists, arrived March 15 from Oklahoma City and left for Colorado and other Western points.

S. T. Whitney, of Whitney and Tutt, with The Smarter Set, which played a week's engagement at the Lincoln, the leading colored theater of the city, paid this office a visit.

Managers and artists are respectfully requested to contribute their dates to this department. Routes must reach The Billboard not later than Friday of each week to insure publication.

SLIPPING BACK

WE seldom question our business conditions until they begin slipping back. So long as things seem well enough and running smoothly we are apt to place too much confidence in trade continuing on the upward trend without advertising.

A sudden slump of business arouses the dealer to action. Very often it takes more advertising to bring business back to normal than to advertise from week to week without a break.

Obviously, the way to keep your products before the public eye is to place your name in The Billboard Trade Directory, where it can be easily found by prospective buyers. This list points out live dealers in various lines of merchandise. Fill out the coupon.

THE BILLBOARD PUB. CO.,
Cincinnati, Ohio:

If my name and address can be set in one line under (name heading).....insert it 52 times in The Billboard Trade Directory for $20. If it cannot be set in one line, write me about rate.

John Robinson Circus

Ready for Season's Tour Which Opens April 17 at West Baden, Ind.—New Features Added to Program

Activities have just about ceased at West Baden, Ind., where the John Robinson Circus has been made ready for its 1925 tour, and everybody there is awaiting April 17, the date set for the first performance.

Many new features have been added to the program, and most prominent will be the wrestling tiger, which will be displayed by Loraine Wallace. Capt. Ricardo has broken in several new lions and will offer his darling act of 12 males. Nelle Roth is putting the finishing touches to the "big" tiger act. In the dog barns Wink Weaver has mastered many new and novel tricks and acts for the arena and rings, and several new monkey stunts as well.

Robert Thornton continues as equestrian director, and is rehearsing the opening "spec," which will be titled Peter Pan and has been clothed with brand new colorful wardrobe and properties. All animals in this spectacle will be worked by Ione Carl. Patricia Salmon, well-known vocalist, will again present her dove songs. Two Liberty horse acts will be displayed and are just about broken in readiness for presentation by Robert Thornton and Rudy Rudyoff.

Sam Dill, manager, is enthused over results of his assistants in getting the show ready for the unusual circus program that has been arranged. W. M. (Egypt) Thompson is the assistant manager, and his efforts around the quarters have more than shown for themselves.

Six new baggage wagons as well as five new cages have been built this winter, and there is a new private car for staff and executives, new seats, a new calloper for the band, as well as new canvas and poles. The show has been painted thoroughly and looks spick and span, and the train of 30 cars is ready to be loaded and moved to Louisville, Ky., the second stand.

Al Langdon, elephant trainer, has created a few new tricks for his department. The cookhouse is ready, and George Davis is "all set."

Bill Bacher, manager of Advertising Car No. 1, recently arrived in West Baden and has started billing.

Frank Taylor's Circus To Open Early in May

Omaha, Neb., April 4.—The Frank Taylor Circus winter quarters, located on the Taylor farm, about four miles from Omaha, is a scene of activity in all departments. The mechanical department is in charge of Jim Babcock, an oldtimer. He was with Taylor's Great American Circus 20 years ago and has been connected with the white tops for more than 40 years.

The work of rebuilding the entire equipment is progressing at a rapid pace, and the show should be ready for the rails early in May. The color scheme of the wagons will be red, with plenty of gold leaf. About 70 head of large gray horses and several menage horses have been purchased, and are now on the farm. The animals for the menagerie have been secured, but only a few received up to the present time.

The cars are in the railroad shops undergoing necessary repairs. Harry Johnson, for many years connected with circuses, will have charge of the advance car, with eight billposters. The show will be one of the best equipped 10-car circuses on the road, but the name of it has not yet been made known.

Morgan Show Opens April 20

The W. E. Morgan Nickel-Plate Shows, in quarters at Oakdale, Knoxville, Tenn., are being prepared for the season's tour, which opens at Clinton, Tenn., April 20. The outfit will be a one-ring show and will have nine circus acts, a six-piece band and a five-in-one side show. The equipment will be transported on wagons and the performers will travel in automobiles. Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio territory will be played, informs Agent Billie LeDanzal.

Laird With Sells-Floto Circus

Gentry-Patterson Circus

Paola, Kan., April 4.—Everybody in winter quarters of the Gentry-Patterson Circus was grieved to learn of the death of Eddie Limoges, producing clown, who passed away at the home of his sister in Montpelier, Vt. He had been in charge of clown alley on this show for the past two seasons. Always ready and willing to do his bit to help out wherever needed, Limoges was often pressed into emergency service as a six-horse driver, as he was adept at handling the ribbons.

James Shropshire, manager of the side show, and Mrs. Shropshire have arrived in Paola. Bill Hatton, in charge of side-show canvas, also reached here and is busy putting the finishing touches on his equipment. S. F. Harris and wife were others among the early arrivals. Billie Echols, who had the programs last season, has done all the painting and other work on the candy stands as well as the interior decorating in the dining car. In addition he has been selling prize candy nightly at Paola's movie palace.

By the time this appears in print the show will be set up on the lot and rehearsals well under way for the opening, which occurs a week from today. Car Manager Wm. Polkinghorn and his men, under Boss Billposter Mike Fagen, have Paola and the surrounding countryside billed to a finish, and many flashy stands of new and attractive designs of special paper are in evidence. The performance will be under the direction of Harry J. McFarlan, and while no sensational changes are contemplated it will surpass in excellence those of previous seasons. The bosses in all departments remain practically the same as in 1924. Harry Dickerson, last year purchasing agent, has been switched to superintendent of properties. Doc W. T. King, who spent the winter in Texas with his own medicine show, has arrived and will again have the big pit show for his third season.

Perry Bros.' Shows

Will Be Transported on 32 Wagons—Outfit Being Whipped Into Shape

Bassett, Neb., April 3.—The Perry Bros.' Shows, Inc., now have all their show property at the quarters, and 10 men, in charge of R. B. McDonald, are painting it. The three new wagons for sleeping purposes are nearly completed. The show will be transported on 32 wagons, and there will be about 60 people and 70 horses with the organization. Two bands and a calloper will be used in the street parade, which will be three blocks long. Col. R. A. Hunt, president, and H. C. Carr, vice-president, of the shows, have been buying gray horses for the past two months, and Manager A. O. Perry recently purchased a carload of the large kind from Wm. P. Hall, Lancaster, Mo. The management has secured a cream-colored horse with a white mane and tail, which is now being trained.

Circus Men in Chicago

Chicago, April 3.—Dapper circus agents, shedding an aroma of mothballs, are darting in and out of town this week as busy firemen at an alley ball game. Bert Rutherford, general agent of Christy Bros.' Circus, and J. C. Donahue, general agent of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, were visitors here today. Before they left town, R. M. Harvey, general agent of the Sells-Floto Circus, arrived. Yesterday C. W. Finney, general agent, and Frank Braden, press agent of the 101 Ranch Show, were here, and departed last night.

I. A. B. P. & B. Local No. 43

Detroit, April 4.—The snipe plant of Nels & Davies and the plant controlled by Van Geisen, St. Aubin and Jack (Happy) Bell have been very active this winter. Brother Joe Adams, of Local No. 43, has left for Macon, Ga., to join the Sparks Circus. "Slim" Crow, of the Nels & Davies plant, is doing excellent work as lens square for three-sheet boards. Montreal Walters is the official sign writer and lobby display decorator of the Nels & Davies plant.

Brocks To Play Fairs

The Alex. Brock troupe has returned to the States from Cuba, where it recently finished an engagement with the Circo Canarias. The Brocks will play fairs this season, having signed contracts with the Wirth-Hamid Agency, and will open at Carmen, Man., Canada.

Addrine and Alien Knight, clever wire walkers, of the Knight troupe, now with the M. L. Clark & Son's Shows.

Miller Bros.' Show

Rapidly Nearing Completion at 101 Ranch, Marland, Ok.

Marland, Ok., April 3.—Months of hard work at the 101 Ranch will culminate next week in the completion in every detail of the Miller Brothers' 101 Ranch Real Wild West and Great Far East Shows, reports Edna L. Shaw.

Rehearsals will start April 10, according to Art Eldridge, general superintendent. After the first two performances at the 101 Ranch Roundup grounds, April 18 and 19, the train will pull out of Marland at 8 a. m., April 20 for showing at Oklahoma City April 22.

Next week will see the arrival of C. W. Finney, general agent; James Heron, treasurer; W. B. Fowler, band director; Raymond Elder, auditor, and others. J. H. "Doc" Oyster, manager of the side show, and Clyde Willard, manager of the advance car, are already on the grounds. Laurence Ladoux and A. C. Bradley, local contractors, have been on the road for several weeks getting everything in readiness for the spring route, which includes Tulsa, Ok.; Joplin, Kansas City, Springfield, Mo.; St. Louis, Indianapolis, Dayton, Washington, D. C., and Eastern points.

Lucille and Ted Harmon, daughters of Jim Harmon of Vinita, Ok., will make their professional bow to the public as fancy ropers and trick riders with the 101 show. H. B. Yelvington, feature writer of The Daily Oklahoman staff, visited the ranch the past week, securing material and special features of interest for a full-page article. "Nowata Sim" Richardson and wife, Ruth Roach, of Nowata, Ok., with Paddy Ryan of Miles City, Mont., are among the star rodeo performers to appear at the Sunday performances at the ranch.

Buck and Tad Lucas, well-known rodeo people, are among the many visitors of the Millers these days and will probably be among the star riders with the show. Dan Dix, well known in pictures and the Wild West profession with his trick mule "Virgil," is now acting in the capacity of assistant production manager to Robert F. Hill of the Patton Productions for the making of the 20-reel serial being filmed on the ranch. Dan will be one of the big features with the Wild West show.

Lord Saunders, noted cowboy, with his bride, Helen Holmes, well-known motion picture star of Hollywood, are among the visitors to the ranch following the Fort Worth rodeo. Guy Shultz, bronk rider and bulldogger of Marland, who suffered a broken hip at the Cheyenne Frontier Days last July when a wild horse fell on him, has fully recovered and is taking part in the Sunday rodeos. He returned to his profession of roping and riding at the Fort Worth show.

Fred Burns, one of America's first trick ropers of reputation and now a motion-picture star in his line, is renewing old acquaintances at the ranch while playing the role of George Miller in the Western serial. He was a member of the Millers' first Wild West when they showed at the Jamestown Exposition.

Complete Review of Al. G. Barnes' Circus

Los Angeles, April 2.—After four months of rest the Al G. Barnes Big Four-Ring Circus moved out of winter quarters at Palms March 21. The opening in Hollywood, brief mention of which appeared in the issue of The Billboard dated March 28, was more of a rehearsal than a real performance and this gave the performers a chance to be ready for the real opening on the Praeger Park lot in Los Angeles week of March 23. As in former years the lot was not any too large to accommodate a show the magnitude of this one. Most of the canvas this year is new, the side show especially looking spick and span with its new white canvas, trimmed and bordered with red. Lew Berg of the Downey Brothers of this city, is responsible for the design and workmanship on this tent, but it was regrettable that he could not have had the big top ready for this date. However, before the show leaves this neck of the woods a new top much larger than the one now used will be up. No parade is given this year. The show

Guests at National Elks' Home

Will Be Entertained by Charles Sparks When His Show Plays Lynchburg, Va.

Lon B. Williams, who is at the National Elks' Home, Bedford, Va., has received a letter from Charles Sparks, owner of the Sparks Circus, extending an invitation to the approximately 200 guests at the home to become his guests when Sparks' Circus plays Lynchburg, Va., April 14. In issuing the invitation, Mr. Sparks expresses himself, viz.:

"It is a great and genuine pleasure for me to entertain the 'old stags' at the home, and if there is anything that I can do to make it pleasant for them and give them a good time, it will be gladly and cheerfully done. The Antlered Herd will have right of way and can graze all over the place, from the pad room to the front door. I promise to give to the 'boys' the best performance that was ever carried under the Sparks banner."

When the announcement was made at the Home a shout went up in the dining room, and the "boys" praised and thanked Charlie Sparks for his good fellowship and brotherly love, advises Williams, who adds: "We call him Brother Sparks, for he belongs to the great Order of Elks, and for the next week or so nothing else will be talked about but the Sparks Circus."

Ninety per cent of the guests at the Home are enthusiastic circus fans, many of them being former tanbark performers and members of the theatrical profession. Speaking for the Home and the guests, Mr. Williams thanks Mr. Sparks thru The Billboard for his extended hospitality.

Stuart Praises Clyde Newton

Frank (Doc) Stuart recently visited Moon Bros.' Circus and reports that it is a splendid overland outfit. He praised the manager, Clyde Newton, who is but 20 years of age, and says that he bears watching. Quoting Stuart: "He is of the type that should be a success in the show world. Every characteristic points toward executive ability. He is clean in his business methods, modest, polite and full of pride. He can 'put 'er up and tear 'er down, handle elephants, lions and tigers, sell tickets and juice, entertain and talk business, run a good cookhouse and lay out a wagon show route."

Sparks Troupers Become "Bills"

The Macon (Ga.) Lodge of Elks recently initiated a large class of Sparks Circus people, including Jake Posey, Chuck Connors, Mike Carey, J. H. (Mackinaw) Heblin, Leslie Avery, Harry Lamson and A. McIntee. Connors and Carey drew the "spotlight" position in the initiation work, and Posey was a close second. A large Sparks' delegation was in attendance, including Clifton Sparks, "Butch" Fredericks, Doc Walker, Jack Casteel, Allen Hauser, Al Greene, Abe Goldstein and Eddie Jackson.

Cooper Bros.' Shows

Open at Fair Park, Little Rock, Ark., for Week's Engagement Under Auspices

Little Rock, Ark., April 2.—The first annual Charity Circus, sponsored by the Little Rock Klan, No. 1, K. K. K., opened here March 23 for a week's engagement. The attractions were furnished by Cooper Bros.' Show, which wintered here at the new Fair Park.

During the winter the shows combined with Cole Bros.' Shows, and in addition acquired 30 head of stock and 10 new wagons and cages. It played under a new top, 200 by 100 by 90. Also on the lot to enhance the holiday spirit were a Ferris wheel and a carousel, the property of Schellie & Wallack Shows, a carnival company which also wintered at the fairgrounds. E. H. Jones, owner of Cooper Bros.' Shows, reports that he expects to be out 26 or 10 weeks, working as far north as British Columbia.

Consistent with the lot of all shows playing Little Rock, circus and others, the matlines are from fair to good, but every night saw the big top packed for the excellent performance. The program is without a dull moment. A first-class Wild West concert is the added attraction.

The program—Tournament—A spectacle replete with color.

Song—"The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," by Frances Peasley, mounted on a snow-white horse. Pony drills presented by J. O. Lewis and Bob Peasley, in which two groups of Shetlands are put thru several interesting papers. Clowns, Japanese slide, by George Whittle. Comedy juggling, by James Irwin and Joe Brooks. Performing elephants, trained and presented by J. O. Lewis and Bob Peasley. "Judy" and "Lucy," the big pachyderms, did their stuff well. Another frolic by five jokeys. Stunt-wire artist, Amy Lewis and Brooks and Soares. Comedy acrobatics, the Maxwell Trio. Cannonball manipulating, by Bob and Frances Peasley. Performing goats, presented by J. O. Lewis. Bounding wire act, by George Whittle. Tuesday afternoon while performing this feat Mr. Whittle fell and suffered a fracture of his right arm. He is recovering nicely at this writing. Clown number. Horizontal bars, the Maxwell Trio. Liberty pony act, presented by Mr. Lewis, in which three ponies show amazing skill and intelligence. Aerial butterfly act, Annie Lewis, and swinging ladder, Frances Peasley. Clowns. A very good contortion act, presented by Mile. Inez. Riding dog and monkey, presented by Messrs. Lewis and Peasley. Swinging perch, Annie Lewis. Breakaway ladder, Bob and Frances Peasley. January comedy mule act. Head-balancing trapeze, by James Irwin. Bucking mule. Leaping Greyhounds.

The Wild West, immediately following, has a remarkable display of bronc riding, lariat throwing and spinning, and roughriding galore. Bob Goldman does the announcing.

Leonard at Sparks Quarters

Al Leonard writes that he is among some real show people in Macon, Ga., winter quarters of the Sparks Circus. He met Belle Lynch, whom he hadn't seen since 1912, when with the Young Buffalo Show, also Chas. (Chuck) Connors, trainmaster; Harry (Savannah) Lemon, assistant trainmaster; Jake Posey and Gary Vanderbilt. He states that Chas. Cole, Johnnie Burns, Denny Flynn, Pop Coy, Stattie Peterson, Tom McEntee and Eric Avery, of the Sparks show, are guests at the Frances Hotel. Manager McDiven and his assistant, Leo McCase, of the "Frances" are good friends to showfolk. Leonard also met C. B. (Butch) Fredericks and says he looks the same as when he was with Lemon Bros.' Show. Jake Posey has a number of old-time drivers in his department, including Roy Ralph, Ben Frey, Steve Brown, Bill Ransom, T. R. Heel, Prisco (Red) Kelly and T. Murray.

The Humboldt Times, Eureka, Calif., in its issue dated March 21, paid a rather glowing and lengthy tribute to Big Bill Erickson, who has been sitting behind the wheel at the Orpheus Theater for some time. Bill's feet got to itching and this season will again find him with the big tops. He recently left Eureka to join the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus advance.

Among visitors to the Christy Show at Fort Worth, Tex., was Ben Wilkins, one of the real old-time musicians, who was entertained by Charlie Summers and Lonnie Miltendorf. Ben was with the Joe McMan Show in 1888, playing alto. He is now the tuba player with the Montgomery-Ward Orchestra in Fort Worth, playing in the local store and doing broadcasting from The Star-Telegram radio station.

Edward J. Linoges, whose death was recorded in the obituary columns of The Billboard last week, was producing clown with the Gentry Bros.-Patterson Circus seasons 1923 and 1924, and had been engaged with this show for the coming season. He had been with the White Tops for many years. In 1921 he was with Howe's Great London Shows and in 1922 with Gollmar Bros. Circus and in 1923 with member of Osawatimie (Kan.) Lodge of Elks, No. 921.

Owing to the rush in getting in news last week an error occurred on the first news page of the circus department, where it was mentioned that for the first time in the history of circusdom Philadelphia will see a tented show of that nature open in the Quaker City. It has been learned that this is not so. The Barnum & Bailey Circus opened its tenting season April 20, 1917, following the Madison Square Garden (New York) engagement. It also is believed that the Forpaugh-Sells Circus opened its canvas season in Philadelphia.

Now that the El Paso & Southwestern has been taken over by the S. P. Railroad, the old circus lot at Douglas, Ariz., west of the Y. M. C. A. Building and across the railroad tracks is a thing of the past. There is, however, another suitable lot in that city, informs H. H. Hancock, agent of Clark's Greater Shows. The Douglas Improvement Co. owns the land that adjoins the railroad property on the west and H. G. Arthur, of the Douglas Light and Power Co., will treat showfolk right at a nominal figure, adds Hancock.

With the Lemon Bros. Circus in 1902, when it wintered and opened in Tacoma, Wash., were: Frank Lemon, manager; Carl and Frost Lemon; Bert Chipman, manager kid show; Charlie Taylor, tickets; Tex Bell, boss canvassman; Fred Morrison, trainmaster; Gordon Orton, ring and baggage stock; Henry Siffey, adjuster; performers—Jake Malvern Troupe, Earl Girdella Troupe, Hines-Kimball Troupe, Little Edna, Rose Mareta, Ben Beno (the writer), Gordon Orton, Joe Robie, Pewee Devande, Spav. Morrison, Monroe, Ed Baxter, Zelleno, The Delves, Dan and Jess Leon, Bert Mayo, Marco Bros., Frank Perez, Charlie Crooks, Annie Tersia, Kate Cook; Pop Baldwin, equestrian director, and Ed Lemon, bandmaster.

The Jolly Young Men's Club at the home of the Daughters of Jacob in the Bronx, New York, recently held a love feast to mark the end of disputes between factions that advocated and opposed raising the age of eligibility from 90 to 95 years. The faction waging the fight for the higher age limit won. The nonagenarians were asked to bury the hatchet by Superintendent Kruger at the home and suggested they show a spirit of brotherly love. They did so when the birthday (81st) of Henry Cohen, "baby" member of the club, afforded that opportunity. The members had a cake with 81 burning candles for him. They assured Mr. Cohen that they would grant him the right to vote in club elections, etc., despite the fact that he has not yet reached the voting age of 95 years. Mr. Cohen was admitted to the club two years ago. The members, however, did not recognize his right to all privileges. It has now been disclosed that they admitted Cohen because he was practically indispensable to the club. He's the greatest funmaker of all the jolly young men. For 20 years he was an acrobatic clown with the Barnum & Bailey Circus. He is a juggler, can sing and does the buck and wing.

Atkinson Show in Arizona

The Tom Atkinson Circus is playing one-day stands in the cantaloupe district in the Great Salt River Valley, Arizona, reports Prince Elmer. An accident occurred last week when George King and the writer were breaking a new resin-back horse. A mechanic was used, the writer being the rider, when the cable that held the mechanic broke and struck King on the head. He was removed to the hospital, but is now able to be up and around. Wm. Thompson has replaced King for the present as chief animal trainer. Tex Emerson (Brooklyn Blackie), tattooed artist, has returned to California and has been replaced by Prof. Gail in the side show. The cookhouse has been remodeled and made larger. The Atkinson concert, under the management of Henry Tymbie, is a fast and snappy one.

R.-B. Opening Briefs

Capt. White and the inimitable "Zip", inventor of the "Zipples", were very much in evidence. "Zip" never fails to attract the attention of the visitors to the side show.

Owing to the fact that there was no canvas displayed during the action of the opening performance, Sis Hopkins, superintendent of the canvas department during this engagement, had little to do but smile.

Miss Lettzel, our own Lillian, began her 10th season with the circus at this engagement. Lillian, looking more charming than ever, went thru her number like the real trouper she is despite the fact that her arm was slightly injured during one of the rehearsals.

THE CORRAL

by Rowdy Waddy

(Communications to 25-27 Opera Place, Cincinnati, O.)

The contest business has reached the stage where it has outgrown any "few". Too many districts in the West interested. Too many boys and girls now contesting.

Will have to delay running the large cut of Butler & Oakley (photo taken in 1882) until more space is available.

Rumor has it that one of the big circuses will have a very prominent Wild West showman's name attached to its title at least a part of the coming season.

The roster of Jim Eskew's Wild West with the Rubin & Cherry Shows appears in the opening story of the R. & C. organization in this issue.

Jimmy Foster, Mabel Mack's son, trick rider and roper, will again be with his mother's Wild West, with the Morris & Castle Shows this year.

Contestants will make a special movement from the Triangle Ranch Rodeo which closes May 3d, at Iowa Park, to the Mineral Wells Rodeo, which opens May 14th.

Robert Barnby figures he will break the ice this year for roundups in the cold-weather States, with his contest-exhibition, on the Barnby Ranch, near Perkins, Col., April 19.

What the editor of The Corral desires is to get as many short squibs of the folks in print each issue as possible—it makes the reading the more interesting to a greater number of people.

Heads were bowed in memory of one of the greatest bronk riders that ever mounted the hurricane deck of a bucking horse when the news was flashed that S. T. Privett (the original Booger Red) had crossed the great divide.

It is good to see that progressive contest managements are working more together—in harmony. That's the thing. Better for each contest, better for contestants, and better for the whole contest business.

An attorney called at the home of Fog Horn Clancy in Fort Worth, Tex., recently in an effort to trace the heirs of a large estate in England. The attorney is of the opinion that "Fog Horn" is one of the heirs and Clancy is furnishing him plenty of help in his efforts.

How about the roundup at Dewey, Ok., around the Fourth of July, some one of you officials of it there? There has been a rumor afloat that some other event will be substituted for that date this year—let's have the "low-down" on it.

Jack Hughes (San Angelo Jack) expects to "ship out" from Defuniak Springs, Fla., about April 12. But he intends visiting the folks with the Rubin & Cherry Shows and attend the opening of the 101 Ranch show before going to work for the season.

Because of the heavy advertising and news incident to outdoor shows of all branches, parks, etc., at this season of the year it is necessary that the long list of dates be omitted for a few issues. However, the list (at the head of the "column") will be used when space permits.

"Shorty" Shipley wrote: "Wick Leonard and Jack Minshall put on a Wild West exhibition for the Boy Scouts' show in the Coliseum at the fairgrounds at Columbus, O., March 28. They have real good horses, and gave a real riding, roping and whip-popping show that went over big."

The Corral is in receipt of the printed sales, prizes, etc., for Fred Beebe's two big rodeos, one at Omaha, Neb., May 12-17, and the other at Des Moines, Ia., May 26-31. The Billboard and particularly this department wishes to convey its appreciation to Mr. Beebe for the following, which appears on each of the official lists: "Notice—Watch Corral Dept., Billboard, for announcements of dates of Fred Beebe's rodeos."

C. B. Obendorf writes from Chicago (Stock Yards Station) that while attending a speed sale a few weeks ago he met D. H. (Frank) and Pearl Biron, both of whom did excellent exhibition work and will be with the John Robinson Circus the coming season. Says he also met Martin McGreal, Jimmy Gulm, Joe Farrell, Bob Burns and a number of other boys who are booked with various shows.

As we have repeatedly said in this "column", we will gladly publish NEWS of every contest, and welcome all information from the managements themselves. Send it in. If you are not enthusiastic about your own contest, how can you expect others to be? Contestants, the same applies to you. No matter how well known you are it is up to yourself to give out authentic information as to your doings. Don't depend upon others to do it for you.

Montana Meechy, Columbus, O., recently concluded negotiations with the U. S. Western Rodeo Association as manager of the organization's Wild West sports, attractions and arena director. He closed the deal with C. A. Jones, of the company, which plans to stage rodeos (some of the events contested for prizes) in fairgrounds located near large towns and cities. Meechy advises that the stock will include about 20 head of saddle horses, 26 buckers; 12 steers and buffalo, and carrying about 30 people. The opening has been slated for April 11 at some point in Indiana.

From Macon, Ga.—During the recent engagement of Bee Ho Gray at the Grand (Keith) here he was entertained by his brother, Weaver Gray, who is in charge of the Wild West with the Sparks Circus. Bee Ho's act sure went over fine here and received liberal praise in the Macon papers. Weaver has been working on a number of new high jumpers recently purchased by the show, and his lineup this season will include Clyde and Francois Widener, Dave and Rose Nimmo and the Australian O'Sheas. "Bill-Dog Martin" will be the feature boxer and wrestler in the concert.

Georgia Carson, of the late team of Carson & Campbell (the late Hugh Campbell), shooters and knife throwers, recently passed thru Cincinnati to Macon, Ga., to open with the Sparks Circus, with which she will do her impudent act. Georgia told of some shooting act playing theaters in Indiana recently, making a talk to the audiences to the effect that all professional exhibition rifle shooters using candy lozenges as targets are "fakes", or words to that effect. Says she did not know the exact name, but heard it was the son of a former widely known professional rifle marksman.

The following data, bearing a Caldwell, Idaho, dateline, recently appeared in The Salt Lake (Salt Lake City, Utah) Tribune:

"Lou Krall and W. Jenkins of Boise, W. H. Doolittle and M. R. Power of Ontario and John Sneed and E. H. Plowhead of Caldwell were named on the committee to investigate dates for fall rodeos and to set dates for all attractions to be held this fall. At the meeting, which was held in this city, it was definitely decided that shows would be held at Boise, Caldwell, Weiser and Ontario, Ore. Effort is being made to avoid any conflict of dates. The dates which were temporarily set are as follows: Ontario, September 8, 9, 10; Weiser, September 10, 11, 12; Caldwell September 17, 18, 19; Boise, September 23, 24, 25. Nampa was not represented at the meeting because it already has set September 1-4 for its show. Nampa is linked with the Salt Lake and Twin Falls circuit."

From Iowa Park, Tex.—Preparations are well under way for Tom L. Burnett's Triangle Ranch Rodeo, to be staged on the ranch, near here, April 30, May 1, 2 and 3. Hugh Strickland is superintendent of construction and arena director and Fog Horn Clancy secretary and director of publicity. The seating capacity is being enlarged so as to take care of several thousand additional spectators, the enlargement being deemed necessary on account of there being a turn-away business the last day of the rodeo last year. The affair will open with a big free barbecue, in which several thousand pounds of choice beef will be cooked over the old-fashioned hardwood open fire and served to the multitudes. This will be the sixth annual rodeo for Mr. Burnett in Wichita County, he having staged three in Wichita Falls before he moved the big doings to his ranch. The Triangle Ranch Rodeo is looked upon as one of the biggest cowboy contests in Texas and is heavily attended. Calf roping, bronk riding, bulldogging and steer riding will be contested events—all other events will be contracted exhibitions.

Notes from the Dakota Max Wild West and Circus, with the Zeidman & Pollk Shows: The show will be staged under a large tent, and will provide Roman and chariot races as free attractions at some of the fairs the organization plays. Among the personnel in quarters: Dakota Max, manager and arena director; Oklahoma Buster, trick roping and riding and bronks; Arizona Blackie, bronks and Roman riding; Texas Harry, Roman, bronks and steers; Bob Allen, trick riding, bronks and Roman; California Glenn, menage, high jumps, trick riding, shooting and chariots; Prairie Lillie Smith, trick riding and tickets; Sue Allen, tickets and riding for roping and in quadrille; Shorty Perry, goat trainer and clown; Buster Todd, funmaker; Kid Keen, rube clown; Allen and Allen, trapeze and wire; Ralph George with his bucking mule; Harry Robbins, boss hustler; Ed Perry, boss property man; G. M. Henster, stock; E. C. Yonce, assistant props; George Vaulhayden, in charge of ponies. Mr. and Mrs. Wane, of Billings, Mont., are expected to arrive April 6, both all-round hands. The carnival will provide a 10-piece band for the show.

Moon Bros.' Circus

Having Ideal Weather and Excellent Business

The Moon Bros.' Circus has been enjoying ideal weather and excellent business, according to Harry Shell a number of showfolk from the Orange Bros. Circus, Ada, Ok., attended the opening at Roff, Ok. They included Mr. and Mrs. A. Lee Hinkley, Honest Bill Newton and family, Albert McGehee and wife, Tommy Brennan and others. Equestrian Director Wilson has the program running smoothly and has it down to 1 hour and 25 minutes. Leonhart and Kanerva are going over big with their comedy acrobatic, contortion and hand-balancing turns. Warren Paige, last season with the Christy Bros. Shows, is in charge of the reserved seat tickets with three assistants. He is also banner solicitor. A new stake and chain truck and bus arrived at Mansville, Ok., from the Ada winter quarters. Manager Newton has ordered a new 40-foot middle piece, which will be used for the first time at Ringling, Ok. This will make the show a three-ring outfit. A steel arena is also used.

Christy Shows

Having Good Business in Texas—Fort Worth a Big One

The second Sunday on the road found the Christy Show in Fort Worth, Tex., with the lot in the heart of the city. Business was big in the afternoon and capacity at night. The show week before last did a wonderful business, starting with a turnout at Galveston and a packed tent at the night performance at Houston. Bryan, Morin, Wortham and Linnis were all good. John Guilfoyle, who is working the big male lion act, is again nursing wounds, one of the animals giving him a bad chewing. He has one bad wound just under his heart that for a time gave him much concern. One of the Beaumont young ladies, while working a posing horse, was kicked and slightly injured. She resumed work after a few days' lay-off. The show is now running very smoothly. The six-pole big top goes up every morning before the parade call and there were by actual count 555 people fed in the cookhouse at Fort Worth. There is plenty of help in every department.

Equestrian Director Merritt Below has rearranged the program and has added several acts that were left out the opening week. These include the riding lions, leopards, leaping greyhounds and wrestling bear. Nick Loudens finds some real wrestlers in this section and he has his hands full at each performance. All of the paper used by the show is special and has been copyrighted. Visitors at Houston were the mother and family of Everett James, bandmaster of the Lee Show, Ed Connolly, formerly of the Gentry Show, L. E. Tinden and wife; Clyde Tressell, who years ago was stage manager of Downes' Uncle Tom's Cabin Company; Fred Hall, of the Barnes Show, and "Red" Lumpkins. Several members of the Newman Dramatic Company were guests of Mr. Christy.

Red Sheldon has a lively bunch of butchers, including F. C. Proper, B. S. Robinson, Jr.; E. H. Lester and Robert Pence. The balloon men are Jack Rindges, Guy Robinson and Ray Morrison. Virge Boice and Maion Graham have the lunch stand, R. M. Jones, Norman Wells and J. Elliott the outside stands, and Mr. and Mrs. William Orr the outside concession. Rodney Harris is receiving much praise for his splendid music. His band is made up of Bill Swiheart, Earl Branch, Bob Williams and Lloyd Soum, cornets; Harry Sailer, Morgan Dolkarhilde and Walter Hodgdon, clarinets; John Griffin, E-flat cornet; J. B. Lyons, piccolo; William Kresser and C. A. Dechenne, horns; Charles Summers, Shelby Ishler, Ed Lake and Elwood McCarthy, trombones; C. L. Carr and Louis Mitterdorff, baritones; Ted Millban and E. W. Eudy, basses; Billie Reeves and Joe Davis, drums. In clown alley are: Sig Bonhomme, Leo LaRose, Vernon Page, G. Rue, Ed Leslie, Shorty Evans, Whitt Davis, Bert Deano, Charles Nelson; Bert Ledell, who is also singing in the spec.; Bill Tadlock, Friday Wright, W. M. White and Jack Hart.

Henry Emgard is getting a big play with the side show. The roster: A. E. Murray, assistant manager; Prof. N. W. Dew, with his band of 14 men; Lowrow Family, Scotch band; Princess Sylvia, snakes; C. V. Dalbosgo, fire eater; Prof. Curtis, punch and ventriloquist; Mlle. Minnette, baton and club swinning; Mr. and Mrs. Williams, impudent act; Madam Higher, Swedish glaucus; Madam Ruth, mental marvel; Mlle. Cleo and Hawaiian entertainers; A. B. Murray, magic and lecturer; Leon Bennett, P. L. Brown and D. V. Phillips, ticket sellers, and C. C. Gibson, boss canvasman.

Lee Bros.' Shows

The program of Lee Bros.' Wild Animal Shows is now running very smoothly, and business in Texas has been very good, informs a correspondent. The show, managed by Louis Chase, is moving promptly and arriving in the various towns in good time. The kid show, under the management of Harry Morris, is getting its share of the business. The management is being praised by both press and public for the splendid performance and the general conduct of the personnel. Four lions, recently born during a night run, were smothered by the mother.

The band, under the direction of Everett James, is composed of the following capable musicians: Tony Kondraski and Tommy Fallon, solo cornets; J. E. Chase and Jack Bell, first cornets; C. E. Smith and Salvadore Verastigano, solo clarinets; Earl Hanchett and Frank Simons, second clarinets; Fred Heimlich, E-flat clarinet; Alfred Fere, first horn; G. F. Ingram, second horn; Lloyd Stutz and C. J. Campbell, baritones; Fred Mayberry and Henry Worms, trombones; Clarence Barbour, Eb bass; Clinton Evans, Bb bass; C. N. McKay and Harry James, drums. Mr. James is eliminating most of the jazz numbers and has placed in his programs avertures and airs from the standard composers.

Miss. Valley Fair On Solid Footing

Directors Highly Pleased Over Refinancing--Big Entertainment Program for 1925 Event

Davenport, Ia., April 2.—As mentioned in a brief item in last week's issue, the Mississippi Valley Fair and Exposition, which faced bankruptcy a few months ago, has been definitely saved through medium of the biggest campaign ever held in this city and Scott County for a community proposition.

The fair was built five years ago when prices and labor were high, and built beyond the reasonable need, at that time. The grand stand is a massive cement and iron structure, the half-mile track the widest in the country, and the buildings as permanent as any needed for all-year events.

As a result a plant worth about $750,000 was built, the crowds came, each year big profits accrued, but not enough to pay the tremendous interest charges caused by the big indebtedness.

On January 1, 1925, the directors found they had bills amounting to more than $250,000, and had decided to go into bankruptcy. At the suggestion of a few directors Robert J. Eustace, of a company which specializes in financing campaigns, was called into make a survey of the situation.

As a result 14 of the biggest creditors were called together and agreed to write indebtedness to the extent of about $150,000, provided $150,000 was raised to pay up the balance.

The directors then decided to have a campaign, and two months of constructive publicity work and organizing was started by Mr. Eustace. Each year the directors had "hit up" various people of means to assist in reducing the debt, and when the campaign was announced strong opposition developed at first.

Mr. Eustace's first task was to make the fair a community proposition, gradually swinging it around to a point where the business men began to see that the fair was an absolute necessity to bind together Davenport and prosperous Scott County.

The campaign opened a few weeks ago with a big street parade, the local musicians' union contributing a 62-piece band, and the 20 teams of workers and the county teams lined up over 500 men in line. A big dinner was held at the Blackhawk Hotel, big advance subscriptions announced, and the boys went to it.

More than $100,000 was raised, the fair is saved definitely, all bills are cared for, and the happiest man in town is Managing Secretary M. E. (Pat) Bacon, who has fought hard five years to build up the fair and has brought bigger crowds each year, and bigger operating profits. Now, with no overhead, the fair undoubtedly will have wonderful success. The buildings are in tip-top shape, the 90 acres simply beautiful. With civic clubs planting trees now along the driveways, the whole city wants to help.

Secretary-Manager M. E. Bacon has his plans for the sixth annual fair, to be held August 16-22, well advanced.

Contract has been placed with the Thearle-Duffield fireworks division of the World Amusement Service Association for their 1925 spectacle, Rome, Under Nero. Contract has also been placed with the Alex Sloan auto division of the World Amusement Service Association for a program of auto races Saturday, August 22, in conjunction with the auto races Lillian Boyer, annually, also will appear.

Contract for the hippodrome and circus attractions has been placed with J. C. McWherry, manager of the Western Vaudeville Managers' Association. The feature act will be Poodles Hamford and Company. Another feature will be push ball and auto polo, furnished by the W. V. M. A.

The race program will consist of a program of running races Monday, August 17 (which will be Derby Day); Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, a program of harness and mud races, with four stake races for $25,000 each.

The civic clubs, federated organization of Davenport, and from organizations of Scott County will again take part in the fair by giving their volunteer help in the way of ticket takers and ticket helpers for the entire term of fair, using 64 men each day.

Contract has been placed with Rubin Goldberg for the Rubin & Cherry Shows to play on the midway.

There will be a large industrial and merchants display at the fair this year. From all indications the sixth annual

GEORGE JACKSON

Mr. Jackson was recently appointed secretary of the Nebraska State Fair, Lincoln, succeeding E. R. Danielson. Mr. Jackson has been a member of the State Fair Board for a number of years and is thoroughly experienced in fair management.

Mississippi Valley Fair and Exposition will be the greatest ever held in Davenport.

British Columbia Fairs Prosperous

The fairs of British Columbia are in prosperous condition. The Billboard is informed in a newsy letter from H. S. Rolston, secretary-manager of the Vancouver Exhibition, Vancouver, B. C.

"The big fairs in British Columbia—Victoria, Westminster and Vancouver—have never been in better shape," says Mr. Rolston, "and the prospects are very flattering indeed. Conditions in these three cities have wonderfully improved during the last year and the good times will no doubt be reflected in the fair."

"As to the fair prospects in Western Canada in general," Mr. Rolston continues, "they have never looked better than at the present time. All the fairs in the North Pacific Circuit are organized for a big season. Last year two or three of the principal fairs had to go out of commission on account of the foot and mouth disease, and those that did operate were very much handicapped indeed. However, it looks as if this plague were perfectly under control, and even if we have another outbreak now it would not create quite the disturbance that it did before."

Many Attractions For De Pere Fair

De Pere, Wis., April 2.—Plans and preparations are being made for the 1925 fair to be held August 21, September 1, 2, 3 and 4. Herb J. Smith, secretary, stated that free attractions have been contracted for with the Robinson Attractions and the World's Amusement Service Association. The Thearle-Duffield Fireworks Company will furnish a fireworks program on four nights.

The grounds are in splendid condition, and there is a proposal to erect a modern exhibition building. The association occupies grounds owned by Brown County and the city of De Pere, with improvements costing in excess of $100,000. Brown County has made liberal annual appropriations for the improvements and with the fair earnings have been able to pay off all indebtedness. The fair association now has more than $7,000 in its treasury. This is a remarkable growth and development since the organization of the fair in 1909.

S. E. Marcell, superintendent of speed, has prepared a tentative list of classes that provides a three-day race program of nine races. Paul Nusslin has charge of the track and already has 15 horses in training preparatory for the 1925 season.

On Friday September 4, in addition to the regular program there will be auto and running races.

Massachusetts Fairs Spring Meeting April 22

A. W. Lombard, secretary of the Massachusetts Agricultural Fairs Association, has announced the following program for the annual spring meeting of the association to be held in the Hotel Bancroft, Worcester, Mass., April 22:

The session will open at 10:30 a.m. with a meeting of the executive committee. At 11 o'clock the meeting will be called to order by President W. Stuart Allen and the annual reports of officers and committees will be heard. Committee chairmen are as follows:

Executive committee, Hon. Eben S. Draper, Uxbridge.

Committee on concessions, John J. Kennedy, Northampton.

Special committee on co-operative publicity, Bertram Durrell, Worcester.

Following the business session there will be an address, Would a Mid-State Racing Circuit Pay, by Edgar F. Power, Winthrop, secretary Coastline Circuit in 1924. Then will follow the introduction of representatives of attractions and booking agencies, carnival companies, fireworks manufacturers, etc. At 12:30 there will be a luncheon for delegates, with entertainment furnished them by the courtesy of the Keith-Albee Vaudeville Exchange, Boston.

Immediately after luncheon a meeting of the Coastline Circuit Stewards will be held.

At the afternoon session, convening at 1:30, the report of the Legislative Committee, Hon. John W. Hargis, chairman, will be presented. There will be three addresses: Accounting System for Small Fairs, by Frank Kingman, office manager Eastern States Exposition, Springfield, Mass.; Rain Insurance, by W. S. Vanderbilt of Hartford; Liability and Theft Insurance, by Paul Dowe of Hartford.

Campaign On for International Expo.

Robert J. Eustace Handling Work of Raising Funds for San Antonio Fair

San Antonio, Tex., April 2.—A big campaign is now in process of formation here to raise funds to build a big international exposition that will bring exhibits from Mexico and South American countries here, and give San Antonio a fair-ground second to none in the country.

A large tract of land right on Houston street, at the city limits, has been secured; a mile track will be constructed, and the plans call for a very substantial set of buildings.

San Antonio is well located for such a big exposition, and as the idea spreads other Texas cities, like El Paso and Houston, have become interested, and are watching the efforts with interest.

The campaign is being thoroly organized in the city and in seventeen Southern Texas towns while the government of Mexico has already pledged support and will erect a building to house the exhibits from that country. The city will take over the land and maintain it, and co-operation is building up in every section, according to Robert J. Eustace, who is working on the big campaign.

San Antonio is now a city of more than 200,000, and a big railroad center as well as winter resort, and an exposition here in the early winter months would bring tremendous crowds. Mr. Eustace states the advance interest is so strong, and the enthusiasm so high, that the directors decided to change their plans from a half-mile to a mile track, and also changed the location to a bigger section of land that has two railroads adjacent.

Warsaw (N. Y.) Fair To Be Held

Warsaw, N. Y., April 3.—It has been announced that the Wyoming County fair will be held here this year as usual, owing to the sale of the fair grounds a report gained currency that the fair would be abandoned, but this was incorrect, the agricultural society having retained the right, when they sold the grounds, to hold the fair as usual. Then the efforts of Max Shandro 110 citizens have agreed to underwrite any deficit there may be on this year's fair to the amount of $25 each. It is not expected that they will be called upon for any part of the amount, as the interest shown indicates that the fair will be a success.

Vanderlip Discusses Winnipeg Summer Fair

Canadian City Hasn't Had a Fair for Thirteen Years and Now Is Back of New Venture

Chicago, April 2.—C. Vanderlip is in Chicago last week and is contracting for $20,000 of free work and fire works for the Winnipeg Summer Fair, of which he is manager and secretary. The fair will be held June 22 to July 4, inclusive. Winnipeg has not had a fair for 13 years and Mr. Vanderlip said he has been working on the citizens up there for seven years to have a fair. He said he had a lot to overcome but that now the city government of Winnipeg is solidly back of him and aiding him in every way possible to make a huge success of the undertaking.

Mr. Vanderlip showed a blue print of the new fair grounds. Only temporary buildings are to be used the first season, as a matter of course. Construction is going on rapidly and Mr. Vanderlip said that space is selling so fast that additional wooden buildings will be necessary. He said it will cost about $100,000 to get the fair started this season. There are fair exhibition buildings under construction, each 26x300 feet in size, and other improvements are going up so as to include a complete and adequate fair group.

The grand stand is to have 7,000 seats. There will be a huge machinery and mechanical exhibit hall and an equally large automobile exhibit. There will also be a large "tourists' camp". There are 68 acres in the plot occupied by the fair and it is in reality the ground years ago occupied by the old Winnipeg Exposition. The location is very close to the downtown business section of the city. Mr. Vanderlip said he is laying the foundation for what he hopes and believes will be another, and a new, Winnipeg Exposition. He is advertising the forthcoming fair over a big territory around Winnipeg and extending south as far as St. Paul and Duluth.

A. H. Barkley, general agent of the Greater Shows, notified The Billboard today that he has had closed a contract with Mr. Vanderlip to play the above fair date. Mr. Vanderlip also said that he looked for a fine engagement for the Sheesley Shows on that occasion.

Business and Labor Back Spokane Fair

Spokane, Wash., April 2.—Special attention will be given to the livestock show at the Spokane Interstate Fair this year, September 7 to 12. President Thomas S. Griffith has announced. The fair took over the Western Royal Livestock Show two years ago. There were no stock exhibits last year and now the association has turned to building up this department for 1925 with attractive premiums and exhibition conditions now planned.

The Spokane Central Labor Council, which was none too friendly to the fair prior to 1924, has endorsed the 1925 show and has a committee to co-operate with the association. The Spokane Betterment Organization, representing all principal business interests of the city, is promising solid backing for this fair. Favorable dates and prospects of good crops had President Griffith to expect his best show when September rolls around.

Asheboro (N. C.) Fair

W. C. York, secretary-manager of the Randolph County Fair, Asheboro, N. C., advises that preparations for the 1925 fair are going forward nicely and that a fine fair is in prospect.

The association has new grounds, consisting of 12 acres, on which are five buildings, and there is trackage for 25 railroad cars.

The West Shows have been contracted for the midway. A number of entertainment features are being planned, one of them being a pageant in which several hundred school children will take part.

World's Fair Building Burns

The World's Fair German Building built in 1892 and one of the few remaining buildings of the Chicago World's Fair, was destroyed by fire March 31. It is believed the fire may have been started by tramps who frequented the building.

When constructed the building cost more than $300,000.

FAIRS AND FUN IN ENGLAND

By "TURNSTILE"

Canada to the Fore

London, March 20.—The Canadian pavilion at Wembley this year will seek to win in attractiveness with the most effective exhibits at Wembley. The largest diorama ever produced, fit by over 2,000 lamps, is to be installed in the pavilion. Canada is relying very largely on scenic effects, and 12 other scenic exhibits are to be included in the attractions of this section. A. W. Tomlin, the Canadian commissioner at Wembley, states that Canadian manufacturers met with such success at Wembley last year that there is a rush to secure space for this year's continuation.

Princess Mary, Viscountess Lascelles, has accepted the vice-presidency of the women's section, of which her sister-in-law, the Duchess of York, is president, and of which the Queen is a patron.

Tussaud's Burnt Out

The event of the week in the entertainment world must surely be reckoned the gutting by fire on Wednesday night of that famous show resort of this and the past generation, Madame Tussaud's Exhibition of Waxworks in the Maylebone road. The fire started about midnight, and the first intimation of trouble was received from the automatic fire-alarm. The engines were quickly on the spot and a brigade call was circulated, with the result that within a few minutes many hundred firemen were on the spot in a vain attempt to save the many priceless relics which the exhibition contains. Unfortunately, however, the fire got such a hold that with the exception of the Chamber of Horrors, which is protected partly by the fact that it is in the basement and partly by its thick concrete walls, the building was practically gutted. Damages estimated at $1,250,000 has been done. Most of this is covered by insurance, but many of the relics, of course, are irreplaceable, and altogether beyond assessing at any commercial value. The many relics of Napoleon, for example, of which there was a whole room full, have been burnt out, and this crowning glory of the exhibition of unique historical importance is no more. The three coaches, one of which was the one used by Napoleon after Waterloo, are only left as twisted scraps of metal. The bed in which Wellington slept before the battle and Napoleon's coronation robe are completely lost. As I have said, the Chamber of Horrors where the elligies of celebrated murderers of two or three generations have aroused shudders in numberless visitors has suffered comparatively little damage. As John T. Tussaud, the managing director and grandson of the founder of this celebrated exhibition, drily commented when he surveyed the wreck of the show in the dawn of Thursday morning: "The devil has been looking after his own again it seems." By that time only a blackened shell remained of the great building. The splendid Hall of Kings with its fine staircases from historic mansions and its priceless original costumes and other relics was completely destroyed. The fire was visible for many miles, and great crowds have besieged the street outside the ruins ever since. Curiously enough, negotiations were just on the point of completion for a transfer of the exhibition into other hands. The directors are to meet almost at once to decide the future policy, but I learned that plans for a continuation of the exhibition in a new form are practically certain to be adopted. The Hall of Tabloux, the Children's Gallery and the Cinema Hall have been saved, altho they were severely damaged by water. Molds of a great number of the elligies are also in existence, so that reproductions can be made, altho many of the original costumes will, of course, be irreplaceable.

Our and About

Messrs Farrars, the well-known traveling showmen, have sustained a serious loss. Their scenic whale roundabout has been burned down almost at the very beginning of their Eastern counties' spring circuit.

Another bill to provide for the regulation of movable dwellings has been introduced into the House of Commons by Major Wheeler, M. P. The last bill of this kind was scotched, and the open-air men are watching this attempt to initiate fresh legislation.

Buxton is to revive its once-famous festival known as the Well Dressing, in conjunction with which a fair is to be held. This is likely to prove an important date for the North-country travelers.

Just to show there was no ill-feeling, that good sportsman Tex Miller, recently released after serving a two months' sentence in gaol at the instance of the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, celebrated his release by joining the society at its invitation. This is the sort of thing which proves that the real showman is also a real sport, and which ought to help to allay the antagonism of the mugwumps.

I hear increasingly good reports of the growing prosperity of the traveling circus in the provincial centers, and it is

Popularizing the Palace

During the last two years the average of visitors to the Crystal Palace has fallen to one-half its 1922 figure, and residents of the district are seriously concerned as to the future of this great South London amusement center, which was formerly the unrivaled champion of its kind. Little or no efforts were made last year to capture Wembley visitors. Local residents have therefore formed a Brighter Crystal Palace Society, and a public meeting has been held at which various suggestions for making this a great pleasure, social, educational and sporting resort were discussed. The Sunday opening of the grounds is urged, and the restoration of the North Tower Gardens as an amusement center is advised. The society urges the trustees to act immediately on the program which they suggest, and demands the provision of season-ticket facilities.

Capac Fair

The Capac Fair, at Capac, Mich., proved so successful last year that it was determined to make it an annual event. It will be held this year the second week in August under the auspices of the merchants of the town. Several new buildings will be in evidence this year, also some improvements on the midway, and a larger program of amusements, free acts, and fireworks will be put on.

State Aid Defeated In West Virginia

Charleston, W. Va.—State aid to county fairs will be a minus quantity this fall, as a result of the State senate by a vote of 4 in favor and 21 opposed decisively defeating House Concurrent Resolution No. 11, which provided for the introduction of a bill relating to State aid for fairs.

Calif. Fair Bill Loses

FAIR NOTES AND COMMENT

Charles Gaylor, frog man, advises that the Gaylor Bros.' act has signed 11 weeks of independent fairs for 1925.

Rocco Grella's Band met with splendid success at Tarpon Springs, Fla., during the past winter, and will be back again next year. He was so well liked that his engagement was extended to 12 weeks.

Austin C. Wilson, well-known auto race and auto polo man of Youngstown, O., is putting out an attractive 22-by-30-inch poster heralding his activities. Mr. Wilson's racers will be seen at many fairs during the 1925 season.

At Breckenridge, Tex., stock is being sold for the establishment of a fair park and race track. The promoters plan to hold the first fair next fall. The organization is known as the Oil Belt Fair Association. O. C. Goggin is secretary.

A real friend of fair men and outdoor showfolks is Arthur P. Crauer, assistant secretary of the California Senate. Mr. Crauer never misses an opportunity to put in a good word for showfolks and to combat hostile legislation, and he deserves credit for it.

The article Fairs—Then and Now, by W. R. Hirsch, in the Spring Special, has received much commendation from Billboard readers. It was probably the most popular article in the special. Mr. Hirsch not only knows his theme, but also tells his story in a highly interesting style.

"The biggest little fair in the U. S. A." is the way the Haskell County Fair, Haskell, Tex., is billed—and it looks as if it's going to make good. Last year—the first year of the fair—there were 55,000 paid admissions in three days, altho the population of the county (and some Texas counties are almost an empire) is but 32,000. Much of the success of the fair was due to the manager, Turner E. Campe. He continues at the helm this year and expects to put over an even bigger event.

The McKenzie Scotch Highlanders' Band and a nightly display of Thearle-Duffield fireworks will be features of the Beckham County Fair, Elk City, Ok. The fair association intends to construct a new attraction platform and a new band stand this year.

The work of Robert J. Eustace in directing the refinancing campaign for the Mississippi Valley Fair and Exposition, Davenport, Ia., was highly appreciated by the fair directors and the business men of the city. A Bob Eustace Club was formed at the close of the campaign, and is to be continued.

The Alabama State Fair, Birmingham, which suspended a couple of years ago, will "come back" this year. The association has raised $200,000 for improvements and will build a grand stand, exhibition building, some stables and make other improvements. R. A. Brown continues as president and J. L. Dent as secretary.

R. J. Bushell, secretary, treasurer and manager of the Kingston (Ont.) Industrial Exposition, and one of the five-wire fair men of Eastern Canada, is thoroly "sold" on the value of The Billboard to fair men. "A manager of any fair or exhibition, or celebration of any kind, is slipping if he is not enrolled on your subscription list," says Mr. Bushell. "We're pleased to know our efforts are appreciated by such men as Mr. Bushell, and hope to continue to present readers' material that will prove of value."

"Huff", the fair guide man, stopped in for a brief chat with the editor of the fair department one day recently. He and his wife had just recovered from illness, and their boy, Dick, had the mumps. (Continued on page 82)

"Oil and Gas Show" Changes Its Policy

International Petroleum Exposition at Tulsa Will Have Well-Rounded Amusement Program

Another big exposition has become converted to the truth that in order to please all classes of patrons and present a well-rounded program of amusements the carnival and the concession man must be taken into consideration.

The International Petroleum Exposition, held annually in October in Tulsa, Ok., has until now kept out the shows and concessions, confining its amusements to hall shows exclusively and these of the very highest class.

This year, according to General Manager Edward F. McIntyre, a new policy will be adopted and a contract made with the best carnival company available for the Petroleum Exposition dates. The show will run ten days.

The "Oil and Gas Show", as it is sometimes called, is unique. It is held on its own grounds and in its own buildings situated in the heart of the city of Tulsa. These grounds comprise about 10 acres and there are about 12 exhibit buildings for the different branches of the industry and the material and appliance men who cater to those branches.

The exhibits come from all parts of the world where petroleum is produced. A Petroleum Congress, at which the problems confronting the industry are discussed and in many cases settled, is one of the features, this branch attracting delegates from many countries. The congress is truly international and the social functions in connection therewith are most elaborate.

One of the big free attractions is a series of street pageants participated in by girls representing the 17 oil producing States of the union, each girl being selected for her pulchritude by the citizens of these States and sent to the exposition in regal splendor to strive for the honor of being chosen Queen Petrolia. Each princess rides in the pageant in a royal float representing her particular State.

The attendance at the exposition is drawn from all parts of the world.

There is no other show like it in all the world in another respect—it is a buyers' show. Millions of dollars' worth of business is done right on the exposition grounds by the exhibitors.

Edward F. McIntyre, who has been the general manager since the organization of the exposition, is a veteran fair and exposition manager, having at different times been connected with the Cincinnati Fall Festival, the Dayton Industrial Exposition, the International Wheat Show at Wichita, Kan., and several other similar enterprises.

Eddie Quigley, who has been auditor of the Exposition since its inception, has been placed in charge of the Department of Shows and Concessions. Quigley is well known in the show world.

C., B. & Q. Circuit Formed

At a recent meeting of a number of Illinois fair men at Mendota, Ill., the C., B. & Q. Fair Racing Circuit was formed. C. L. Stinson, of Sandwich, was elected president, and John S. Skinner, of Princeton, secretary-treasurer. Fairs included in the circuit are Central States Fair and Exposition, Aurora; Stark County Fair, Wyoming; Bureau County Fair, Princeton; Sandwich Fair, Sandwich; LaSalle County Fair, Ottawa, and Mendota Agricultural Fair, Mendota.

Secretary Skinner states that all these towns are on the C., B. & Q. Railroad and on hard roads. Conditions, classes and purses will be attractive to horsemen, he states.

George W. Denby has been re-elected secretary of the Macoupin County Fair, Carlinville, Ill.

DANGEROUS BILL

Introduced in California Legislature—Showmen Urged To Aid in Fighting Measure

A bill which, if passed, would work havoc with the parks, piers and beaches, as well as other amusement enterprises, has been introduced in the California Legislature, and, unless showmen get busy and oppose it with all their strength, it bids fair to become a law.

This bill would do away with practically all concessions. Section 1 reads as follows:

"Every building or place used for the purposes of gambling, lotteries or games of chance, played for money or other representative of value, whether played with cards, dice or other mechanical device for money, checks, credits or other representative of value, and every building or place wherein or upon which gambling, lotteries or games of chance played with cards, dice or other mechanical device for money, checks, credits or other representative of value are held or occur, is a nuisance, which shall be enjoined, abated and prevented as hereinafter provided, whether the same be a public or private nuisance."

Severe penalties are provided for violation of the provisions of the proposed law. The bill has been reported favorably, and, according to information received by The Billboard, no organized effort has been made by showmen to forestall its passage, although a number of those interested have spoken against it.

The Billboard is in receipt of several letters urging showmen to get busy and write, wire or see their representatives and enter vigorous protest against the bill.

Pacific Coast To Have a Luna Park

San Diego, Calif., April 2.—Announcement is made by Chester Park Crawford that ground has been broken for Luna Park at the new Mission Beach amusement center to be opened this summer. The group of attractions and concessions will be strictly in keeping with the elaborate, high class and costly development work being done by the Spreckels interests.

T. H. Eslick, prominent amusement architect, is in charge of operations. The Luna Park project will cost a minimum of $125,000 and it will embody a new note of distinction for such playgrounds, occupying a site 93 by 362 feet at the entrance to the amusement zone, adjoining the tunnel from the bathhouse to Bonita Bay. Included in the features already decided upon are a $20,000 Spillman four-abreast carousel, a fun house with 20 or more units, a dodgem, merry mixup, toyland of miniature devices for children, Niagara whirl, Ferris wheel, old mill, love nest, shooting gallery and numerous other attractions. Crawford has just closed a lease with Herbert S. Burns, general manager of concessions at Mission Beach, for 10½ years.

Architect Eslick has designed and built amusement parks and ballrooms from Sydney, Australia, to Moscow, Russia, including Luna Park in Paris, France, and being associated with one of the widest experience as Crawford, who has managed amusement parks and theaters in various parts of Europe and the United States. Luna Park at Mission Beach should prove one of the best amusement resorts on the entire Pacific Coast.

Decorating Riverview Park

Chicago, April 3.—Painters and carpenters are busy out at Riverview Park this week touching things up and beginning to get the big resort in trim for the opening on Wednesday, May 13. A story in the daily newspapers to the effect that the assistant superintendent of the Board of Education has some plans for a great educational center on the ground occupied by Riverview has occasioned no alarm. There are a lot of people who would like to build something on the Riverview site and pretty nearly every year the newspapers tell about some big plan that somebody has thought out whereby they propose to change Riverview from a park into something else. One thing the newspapers haven't told about is just how much money it would take to get Riverview away from its present owners. That's another thing.

The Park of the Lakes at Cadillac, Mich., owned by the Holmen Brothers, will open April 25. Prospects are reported as excellent.

Babcock Has Long Park Season Booked

Boston, April 2.—Oscar V. Babcock, he of the spectacular combination death-trap loop and flume act, winters in Winthrop, Mass. He was a recent caller at the local office of The Billboard and announces he is booked ahead for a long season starting May 16 at Dominion Park, Montreal, Canada, for three weeks, with three weeks in South Bend, Ind., and an indefinite engagement in Kansas City, Mo., to follow, after which he enters Northwestern Canada. Babcock announces he has had so many offers for booking this season that he could keep three acts working, but states he has never been able to break anybody into doing his act. He's been at it for more than 20 years now.

Babcock has a collection of old Billboards dating back to 1906 of which he is quite proud.

Making Coney Island An All-Year Resort

New York, April 2.—It has long been the dream of real estate men and amusement promoters to make Coney Island an all-year attraction, and that dream now promises to come true. Fifty million pleasure seekers visit Coney Island every summer, without counting the half million residents during the warm months. The permanent winter population is said to be over 80,000, and with direct five-cent subway express trains to Times Square this number is rapidly being boosted.

For 20 years the Coney Island business men urged a modern Boardwalk on the beach, and when it was officially opened last spring it was heralded as the first link in the chain of improvements to make Coney an all-year resort.

The next and most important improvement in the all-year Coney movement is the erection of a modern theater and office building by the Chanin Construction Company on Surf avenue at Stillwell avenue.

The Chanin theater and office building is seven stories high with an additional roof garden and restaurant, which commands an unobstructed view of the bay and ocean, and in cold weather will be inclosed in glass in order to remain open thruout the year. The ground floors on the Surf and Stillwell avenues sides will be fitted up for stores. Above these will be four floors arranged for business offices. Then there will be a spacious, modern ballroom with a mezzanine equipped with a modern restaurant and kitchen.

The theater will be modern in every way and is so constructed that regular productions, vaudeville or motion pictures may be presented. The seating capacity will be 2,600.

Luna Park opens Saturday, May 16, with several new featured attractions, including a Wild West show.

Daffin Park Opens

Savannah, Ga., April 1.—The opening of Daffin Park today starts the bathing and amusement season of the Savannah resorts for 1925. Manager W. H. Hodges has erected a new shell for the orchestra in the dance pavilion, installed concession booths, walks, seats, etc., and the park is in the pink of condition.

The Jacobson orchestra is again furnishing music for the dances and special events.

The big municipal swimming pool is free to the public. It has life-saving service, police protection and rest rooms, furnished by the City Park Commission.

Daffin Park is extremely popular and bids fair to be well patronized thruout the summer.

Havana Park

Havana, Cuba, March 30.—Havana Park recently closed its fall and winter engagement and the management seems to be pleased with the business done. Attendance has been good, and in spite of the scarcity of acts those that played the park have been well patronized.

The mechanical devices, too, were well patronized, as were all the other different amusements. The Belgian Dwarfs were drawing well. The diving girls and Fatty Redding, who did a special act in the tank, and a review in which 8 or 10 American girls took part in the theater drew well. An American jazz band and a Cuban orchestra furnished music. Every night there was an exhibition of fireworks in the stadium.

Mr. Canosa is now in the North trying to secure some acts for an American revue he is going to put on in one of the regular theaters here.

And this is Barney, short for Barney Google, the Little Bear. His vaudeville contract completed, Barney has taken up his residence at Summit Beach Park, Akron, O. He is one of three bears that have been added to the park's zoo for the 1925 season. Barney's "trainer", shown alongside of him, is C. C. Macdonald, manager of Summit Beach Park, who purchased and brought the cub from Pennsylvania this spring.

Pleasure Beach Notes

Bridgeport, Conn., April 2.—Fred W. Pearce, president and general manager of the Pleasure Beach Park Company, was a visitor here recently for a meeting of the directors and to make final plans for the opening of the 1925 season.

Many improvements are being made at Pleasure Beach Park in an effort to take care of the ever-increasing patronage at this resort from year to year. New bathhouses have been built and the capacity of the already large plant increased about 25 per cent. Another worthy addition will be found in the installation of a chair-o-plane of large carrying capacity, which will be ready for the opening.

Several new concessions of a small nature are to be installed. The large building which formerly housed the scrambler is being filled to ground level that it may be used for picnic shelter. New and novel decorations are being worked out in the Pavilion De Danse. Popular orchestras will be introduced at intervals during the season.

A large force has been rebuilding old Seaview bridge approach, drainage system which will carry off overflow waters caused by heavy rains, painters giving the buildings the annual coat of white are but few of the many activities now under way.

Noble Parsonage, office manager, has a new sedan of popular make. Parsonage will be active in the management of the beach this summer.

Julius Schlump, park electrician, who has been ill for several weeks, feels that he will be able to resume his duties soon.

Ed Corner, proprietor of the rifle range since the park opened, will greet his friends at the usual place this season. Thin hard work the gallery has shown fine returns.

George Hewitt, builder and carpenter, begins his fourth season with the opening of the park this year.

Hans Orn, chief plumber, is entering his third season in charge of this department.

Albert Menard, director and manager of Menard's Band, will again present his orchestra in the dance pavilion. Scored a big hit last season.

Al Sheridan, park superintendent, the oldest of the park attaches in point of service, is again on the job, this making his fifth season.

New Ride Is for Cronie

New York, April 2.—In a recent issue it was announced that the Blue Ribbon Sales Agency was building a Steam-ride at the C. W. Illions & Sons factory, Coney Island, for delivery to the management of Savin Rock Park, New Haven, Conn. John F. Cronie, of New London, Conn., informs that this is an error; that the ride is being built at that location for him personally.

Atlantic City Piers Preparing To Open

Atlantic City, N. J., April 2.—Three piers are preparing to open their seasons here shortly. The Million-Dollar Pier, popular downtown amusement palace, will house the Benson Collegians starting Saturday as the orchestra for its dancing. Regular attractions will probably not swing into action for two months. The Steel Pier will open April 9 for a week, dancing and concerts by Vessella's Orchestra to be featured. A recent fire on the pier will prevent the Steel Pier's opening for its regular season until the latter part of May.

The Steeplechase Pier, on the Boardwalk in the central section of the resort, will probably open its inside attractions Easter Saturday, according to announcement made this week. One of the most novel of entrances is an attraction to the "Funny Place" this season. Wooden soldiers, several rods in height, stand on guard on either side of the entrance. Small soldiers, all gaily painted, guard the opening to the Steeplechase. A beautiful ballroom catches the eye slightly to the right with various fun devices on the left.

The Steeplechase open attractions on the end of the structure will not be complete until the middle of June. For the first time since the Steeplechase has been in operation there will be stores leased all year round to both national and local concerns. The stores are of generous size and are directly on the Boardwalk.

Manchester's Belle Vue

London, March 20.—Recently I referred in these pages to the probability of the well-known Belle Vue Amusement Park at Manchester passing out of the active control of the Jennison family, in whose hands it has been for the past three generations, into the administration of a company. This has since been actually accomplished, and J. Henry Iles, the well-known showman and proprietor of Dreamland Park at Margate, is to take over the actual direction on behalf of a company, Belle Vue (Manchester) Ltd., which has been formed with a nominal capital of a million dollars. Col. J. P. Hodges, who since his association with his former M. P. colleague, Pat Collins, has been connected with various amusement companies at Wembley and elsewhere, is working in conjunction with Iles, the other director being Sir William Gentle, who is managing director of the Palace Pier, Brighton. The Jennisons are not dissociating themselves from the venture, however, but will co-operate practically with J. H. Iles in the direction of Manchester's great amusement center.

Neptune Beach Has New Attractions

Alameda, Calif., April 2.—Neptune Beach, which will open its season April 5, has been considerably improved during the winter. The area of the park has been almost doubled by pumping sand and crushed seashells over a 20-acre space, on which a new swimming pool 150 by 600 feet has been built, and a group of vacation cottages has been added.

A clean sandy beach a quarter of a mile long and extending far into the surf has been built. A new tank which provides 90,000 square feet of tank service is provided with chutes and toboggans. Among the new amusement devices to be installed is the swan flier.

Orral Humphrey will have charge of the park's amusement programs. Reginald Code's Radio Orchestra will play for dancing.

Luna Park, Houston

Houston, Tex., April 2.—Luna Park, Houston's $1,000,000 amusement park, is speedily becoming ready for the summer season. Many new shows and riding devices will make their debut in Texas with the formal opening of this park on April 18.

The giant skyrocket, a mile and a quarter ride, has a number of changes in it, making of it one of the most novel coasters in the country.

A frolic, dangler, butterfly, wizzy-wiz, fun house, marionet theater, crazy house, laughing gallery and several novelty shows are being installed for the 1925-'26 season.

Last year there was operated within the park a dodgem, caterpillar, seaplane swing, ferris wheel, miniature railway, laughing gallery, crazy house, whip, motordrome and a number of rides for the kiddies.

Free automobile parking space for several thousand cars, daily free acts and the usual special stunts will be the policy this year.

Playland Park

Playland Park, the red and white amusement city at Freeport, Long Island, is getting ready for the coming season and if preparations are any indication of a busy year Playland will have its share of profits when it closes in the fall. In addition to the many rides which the park had last year a number of new ones are to be installed. Edward Goldman and Harry Barasch, the secretary and treasurer of the park respectively, have formed companies and are now installing an up-to-date whip, and within a few days Miller & Baker will start the construction of an old mill for them. Altho last year was an off season in parks, the records at Playland show that they had no complaint with the business they did, and in fact, in proportion, they did more than many larger parks. Just before the season closed a large swimming pool was added. It will be the scene of many important water events this summer. Everything in the park is undergoing renovation, the grounds being given special attention and particular interest being centered in a number of outings that have already been arranged. This park is a seven-day resort and there is no gate. It has been running three years and each year it improves. The park was originally planned and built by the late D. Baldwin Sanneman. His plans and ideas are being carried out by his successors.

Don't Want Park

Bridgeport, Conn., April 3.—The Shippan Point Association has declared war on any development of Spelke Beach at Shippan, Stamford, Conn., into a summer resort. The association has reason to believe that Peter Vanech, who has leased the beach for a number of years, contemplates connecting it with Halloween Park by means of a bridge, and that he would put in various devices that go to make a summer resort. The association has written a letter to the Common Council asking to be heard on any such proposition.

Record Season in Sight

Philadelphia, April 2.—Lusse Bros., manufacturers of the Lusse skooter, have started installing a ride at Chutes at the Beach, San Francisco. Robert Lusse, one of the firm, is on tour of the United States and reports business in abundance. The Lusse Bros. have added another large room to the plant, also one to the office department, and have enlarged the drafting room. A record-breaking season is in prospect.

River Gardens

Chicago, April 3.—C. W. Elrod, who was with the Hostetter Amusement Company the past season, was a Billboard visitor today and said there will be a good lineup of attractions at River Forest Gardens, Fort Wayne, Ind., this season. He said the park will have a penny arcade, aeroplane swing, Ferris wheel, kiddies' playground, a new dance hall, box-ball alley, shooting gallery, fun-house, two launches and rowboats. He will have free acts and will play bands and vaudeville.

The season at Venice Pier, Venice, Calif., was scheduled to officially open April 5.

The opening of the Grand Central Rink, Buffalo, N. Y., April 20, marks a new epoch in the career of Edward J. Scott, owner and manager of the roller palace. Mr. Scott started in the game as skate boy at the Coliseum Rink, Buffalo, in 1905, and worked his way up. Now he owns what is considered the largest rink between New York and Chicago. The new Grand Central is located in the heart of the city, and the feature will be a floor of the latest rink design. It will be equipped with 1,000 pairs of Chicago skates, and music will be furnished by the newest type organ, supplemented by a 10-piece orchestra.

William McEvoy and Alice Miller have returned to Milwaukee, Wis., after a successful tour of the East, where they went very good with their classy and colorful roller-skating act. Mr. McEvoy expects to enlarge his act in the fall.

The Mission Beach Roller Rink, San Diego, Calif., opened recently, and the reports are that business has been good. The maple floor, 100x200 feet, is causing much favorable comment from the patrons.

Bonnie Barger has joined the act of Harriet and Boys at Rochester, N. Y., for a tour of the Keith-Albee Time. Bonnie is called "Old Reliable" by her skating friends, as they can always depend upon her to help them out in case of an emergency.

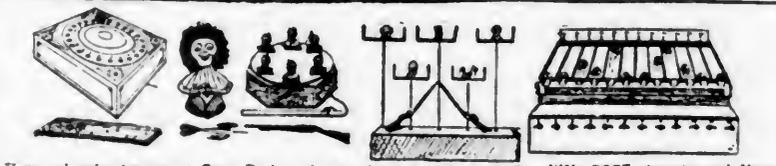

After a long silence on the part of Charles D. Nixon, the "Skating Jay Walker", he drops a line saying that he is managing a new rink in Carlisle, Pa., for Messrs. Miller and Morton. The surprise part comes in the announcement of his marriage to a local girl, Rachel Snyder, March 26. He has no intention of giving up the little rollers, however, and expects to be skating at an Eastern park this summer.

Idora Park Rink at Oakland, Calif., had a very profitable winter season.

An interesting letter was received from the Sizelove Family, now at Healdsburg, Calif. They are operating three country rinks at present, mostly doing two sessions a day. During the winter season they had several small rinks in operation, all of them doing very favorable business. In May their portable rink will be put in motion. A feature attraction will be the four Sizelove children in an exhibition of fancy skating.

The three-mile amateur team race held at the St. Nicholas Rink, New York, March 26, was won by Murray Gorman and Steve Donnegan. Five teams took part, including some of the best amateur skaters in that section. Charles Gregory and Rudolph Blanco finished second, while Walter Cook and David Matson took third prize. The other two teams were tapped. The winning time was 10:47.

EXHIBITIONAL AVIATION. BALLOON ASCENSIONS AND PARACHUTE DROPS. Billy West, well known for daredevil feats, was engaged as the star performer for the three-day festival at Lake Worth, Fla., last week. C. H. Parlette, business manager of the Burns Flying Circus, imparts the information that the circus will concentrate this season on an enormous air program in connection with subdivision selling in Detroit, carrying seven ships at present, five daredevils, and also opening with a splendid enrollment of flying students. Scotty Wines was at Point Isabel, Tex., the past winter. He spent most of his time fishing and swimming. One day while visiting Brownsville he saw four planes in from San Antonio. Scotty says he took a ride and walked the wing just to see if he had forgotten how. He found quite a number of individual pleasure planes at Houston, mostly Jannies, but it seemed very damp to him in Texas, with the clouds hanging low, and he was not sorry when the time came to start back north. "Please publish this," writes Earl Vincent, "in answer to Charles Bretel's letter of March 11, stating I had made 26 flights in Florida but found $30-a-day balloonists endangering this section. He misunderstood my letter, as I am the only balloonist actively operating in Florida the past two winters, with the exception of a balloon (?) man on a carnival in the southern part of the State. They are not even $30 balloonists, mostly $10 per day aeronauts. I did state there were exhibitional airplane flights here, where the jumper got $50 and the pilot carried passengers to get his money. But I don't believe this cheap airplane work really endangers the balloon business, as all realize the public has a thrill in the balloon filling and leaving the ground that is not enjoyed in an airplane drop, altho the airplane drop is really more difficult."

GRAND BANQUET AND BALL GIVEN

Mississippi Valley Showmen Organizes Its Club During Auspicious
 Function Which Has Several Hundred Persons in Attendance, Immediately Enrolling 109 Members

ST. LOUIS, April 2.—The Mississippi Valley Showmen last Saturday night organized their club at an elaborate banquet and ball at the main ballroom of the American Annex Hotel, this city. Following short talks by leaders in the organization work, 109 members were enrolled, all paying their initiation and dues for this year. The first official meeting will be held tomorrow in the grill room of the American Annex Hotel, where it is expected that about 100 additional show people will ask for membership cards.

That the Mississippi Valley Showmen will be one of the representative leagues of this kind in the United States is an assured fact. Interest and enthusiasm along this line was rife all winter and was at fever pitch on the night of the big event. If present plans develop it is quite possible that the club will have a beautiful home almost in the heart of St. Louis. By a beautiful home we mean a former mansion, now vacant, where the showmen will hold sway and arrange and do things just as they please.

The banquet was attended by approximately 500 show people and their friends. Following the feasting, speech-making, entertaining and grand march, dancing was in order until 4 a.m. The great dining and dance hall was richly and attractively decorated for the gala occasion. Eddie Vaughan, known from coast to coast, served as toastmaster. He sparkled in this capacity and was brilliantly humorous, keeping the banquet-goers in continuous and unstinted merriment, his wit crackled and bubbled spontaneously. Sarril's Superb Orchestra furnished the music during the banquet and for the dancing.

The principal speakers of the evening included Col. Mike Morgan, a showman of the earlier days, humanitarian, philanthropist, nationally known, and for the past five years the veteran superintendent of the St. Louis World House; Lawrence McDaniel, former circuit attorney, and Jerome P. Dugan, formerly in the Missouri House of Representatives, and a prominent attorney and friend of the show people in the Middle West. Many were called upon by Mr. Vaughan from the floor to deliver a few words to the assembled throng. Among these were D. D. Murphy, Fred Beckmann, L. S. Hogan, E. C. Talbott, Jimmie Simpson, Sydney Belmont, Earl C. Noyes, L. S. Bymaster, T. T. Dugan, F. B. Joerling, Elsie Calvert, Dave Stevens, and quite a few others.

A magnificent floral offering from the Showmen's League of America, Chicago, which was well represented by well-known leaders in the world of canvased arenas and the stage, was a striking and beautiful contribution to the ensemble of decoration. Congratulatory telegrams, expressing regret at their enforced absence as guests, were read by Chairman of the Banquet and Dance L. S. Hogan. Those

Signs for Two Years With Zeidman & Polle

Spartanburg, April 2.—Negotiations have just been completed and contracts signed by Henry J. Polle and Etta Louise Blake whereby the famous producer of scenic and electrical spectacles has associated herself and company with the Zeidman & Polle Shows for the seasons of 1925 and 1926. Miss Blake will produce her original Superba Show and within a few weeks also will have ready an up-to-date revival of the Awakening Show, with which she was identified several years ago. This latter exhibit, to be built and produced on a lavish scale, will give another feature to the Zeidman & Polle program. Miss Blake is now at the show's winter quarters here superintending her interests.

The Fairlys Extend Thanks to Friends

In a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Noble C. Fairly, from Leavenworth, Kan., these well-known showfolks requested The Billboard to express their sincere thanks to their many friends for kindnesses and expressions of sympathy extended during the illness and at the recent death of their infant daughter, Vera Mae. Also for the beautiful floral offerings at the funeral services, including the pretty tokens from the Heart of American Showmen's Club and its Ladies' Auxiliary.

"Prohibitive" Bill Against Carnivals

Introduced in Pennsylvania House of Representatives

A bill aimed at carnivals recently was introduced in the Pennsylvania House of Representatives at Harrisburg. Should the measure become a law it will place a prohibitive license fee on all such shows exhibiting in the State, and deprive citizens of both opportunity and choice of their periodical summer entertainment. Up to this writing the exact wording of the bill has not been received by The Billboard. However, a telegraphic communication from C. C. McCarthy & Company, Inc., Williamsport, Pa., states that the bill would "bar concessions or any carnival carrying concessions from entering the State and also fix a heavy tax on carnivals without concessions."

The Philadelphia North American carried the following, under a Harrisburg dateline:

"A bill making it unlawful for the operation of any carnivals in this State without license and fixing the license fees was introduced in the house today by Representative Burke, of Philadelphia."

The bill provides a license fee of $1,000 for a carnival transported on one railroad car and not more than 15 railroad tickets. The scale increases until 25 cars is reached, for which the fee is fixed at $2,500.

"The bill further provides that no gambling devices of any kind are to be operated at the carnivals and that at least six weeks must elapse between shows in any borough, township or city of the State. Violations are made a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than $500 or more than $1,000."

The bill is referred to as House Bill 1606. Not only would its passage affect the personal and business interests of the outdoor show people and the opportunities of their patrons to visit their attractions but also would greatly affect the entertainment showing and revenue of fairs thruout the State because of the collective amusement organization managements deducing they would be against a "snag", and not enter Pennsylvania. Coincident with this, fairmen thruout the State are "sitting up and taking notice" and the secretary of the Pennsylvania State Association of County Fairs has submitted communications to secretaries of fair members of the association suggesting that they immediately get in touch with their local representatives in the House and the Senate, explaining the situation from the fair men's standpoint.

Rubin & Cherry Shows Launch
 Season With Glittering Array of Attractions—Mayor Of-ficiates in Formal Lighting Up of Mammoth Midway

Montgomery, Ala., April 1.—The Rubin & Cherry Shows opened their new season Monday night under most auspicious conditions. Thousands of happy merry-makers crowded the brilliantly lighted midway and saw the 10th annual tour inaugurated with a grand array of high-class shows, modern rides and other attractions. They found the show installed in horseshoe formation on the Todd showgrounds and presenting a most beautiful appearance, resplendent in bright colors, with a profusion of gold and silver leaf embellishments. At 7:30 p.m. Mayor William A. Gunter, of Montgomery, pressed the button which was the signal for the flooding of the midway with thousands of brilliant lights. Prof. L. Claude Myers' Concert Band struck up Hail to the Chief as Rubin Gruberg appeared on the scene, accompanied by the Mayor, and delegations from the Chamber of Commerce, city officials, Junior Chamber of Commerce and a host of friends and well-wishers. During the evening Mr. Gruberg was the recipient of many hearty congratulations from citizens of Montgomery, where he has long resided, and while his shows have been wintering on the fairgrounds. Mayor Gunter had issued a proclamation declaring this week a "Rubin Gruberg Testimonial Week", and the townfolks have been turning out en masse. As an additional feature to the opening night's program the three baby lions born on March 11 were christened "Brandon", "Gunter" and "Hobbie", in honor of Governor Brandon, Mayor Gunter and Henry Hobbie, a

Newsy Letter From W. E. Delorey

The following news letter was received from William E. Delorey, dated Manila, P. I., February 23:

"Have just finished an extensive trip thru the interior of Java and Siam, traveling with the Churchill & Taits organization, and found the fairs thru Java very profitable for the rides, of which we had three, but not so good for shows. While at Bangkok, Siam, the King's annual fair was postponed on account of a death in the Royal family. Met quite a few Americans, among them being Leeds and Lamar, vaudeville performers; Ben Makay and Slim Howard, concessionaires, and Alex Ahnazoff, former manager of Bostock's Royal Italian Circus, who has a saloon there.

"The roster of the Manila Shows, Inc., is: M. A. Moyston, manager; John Francisco, advance; Al West, supt. rides; D. Orville (former partner of Bob Cunningham, magician), Egyptian dancers; the writer in charge of the pit show, with George Stillwell (the Great Stillwell), magic and illusions; Ademet, dancer; Spidora and Half Lady, and miniature theater—the writer making openings and inside lecturing. Just finished the annual carnival held here. It was a bloomer, as rain interfered and money was short. Met quite a bunch of the oldtimers from the West Coast, including Pete Glander, milt jockey; Edwards & Edwards, sharp-shooting act; Al Wilson, with his "living skeleton", William Barlowe (weighing only 67 pounds and standing six-foot-two in height). John Bowen is general superintendent of the Churchill & Taits Shows. I expect to leave here very shortly for the States, arriving home on or about April 15."

Ethel Dore in Cincinnati on Way to Zeidman & Pollie Shows

Mrs. Ethel Dore, who will again have her Water Circus as one of the features with the Zeidman & Pollie Shows, which open their season at Spartanburg, S. C., April 11, passed thru Cincinnati last week en route to Spartanburg from her home at Washington Court House, O., where she spent the winter. Mrs. Dore presented an excellent aquatic performance, given by adept fancy swimmers and divers and high divers last season with Z. & P., and informed while visiting The Billboard that she will have even better equipment and offering this year. She seemed somewhat perturbed, however, that she was forced to engage another clown to fill the place of one contracted going to another organization. She will again make a major portion of her out-front announcements.

MacCollin to T. A. Wolfe Shows

W. X. MacCollin, widely known show press representative, spent a day visiting in Cincinnati last week between trains, while en route from Chicago to Atlanta, Ga., to take up his duties on the T. A. Wolfe executive staff, as assistant to Doc Waddell, whose scope of activity with the Wolfe organization is considerably widened this year. Mr. MacCollin has had extensive experience with circuses, carnivals and theatroids. Last season he did press work for the ill-fated Con T. Kennedy Shows. He spent the winter, principally, vacationing with his brother, Paul, at Sioux City, Ia., at intervals aiding in lyceum show publicity, including an outstanding event at Sioux City. He was with the T. A. Wolfe Shows two years ago.

New York, April 2—Mark Marks, who last season entertained Coney Island visitors with a nifty minstrel show, announces that he has contracted with H. N. Endy for the season and will carry a 15-people show with a five-piece band. The Endy Shows open at Pottsville, Pa., April 28.

Some Bill if It Had Materialized

Indianapolis, Ind., April 1.—The fact that the Indiana Legislature recently adjourned before the Senate could take action probably saved the outdoor show business thousands of dollars in Indiana this year, also saved the popular summer-time amusement for thousands of outdoor show fans of the State. Had there been sufficient time, it is quite probable that the bill providing for increased license fees for outdoor productions would have passed the Senate, as it had passed two readings. The bill was sidetracked in the closing hours to make way for some administration measures that were rushed thru. As previously stated in The Billboard, the bill had passed the House by a vote of 71 to 12.

The bill provided that "any caravan, rope or wire dancing, legerdemain, ventriloquism, puppet show, concert or other similar exhibition of whatever name or description except carnivals, circuses, wagon shows, whether by traveling or stationary troupe or troupes, individually or collectively, $1 tax for each performance."

"To exhibit any carnival, $5 per day for each separate attraction or show constituting such carnival, which license fee shall be paid personally by the owner or agent of the person, firm or corporation owning or operating said carnival."
 "To exhibit any circus or tent show, not less than $5, and not more than $100 per day, if less than 10 cars are required to transport such circus; not less than $15 and not more than $300 per day if at least 10 cars but less than 20 cars are required; not less than $20 and not more than $400 per day if at least 20 cars but less than 40 cars are required, and not less than $25 and not more than $500 per day if 40 cars or more are required. The boards of county commissioners are hereby authorized to fix the fees to exhibit any circus or tent show within any such county within the limits prescribed in this paragraph."

"Each theater and moving picture show shall pay an annual license fee of $5.

"At least 10 days prior to the date on which any such circus, tent show or carnival enters the State the responsible agent of the person, firm or corporation owning or operating any such circus, tent show or carnival shall file with the Auditor of State a statement designating the proposed or contemplated itinerary of such circus, tent show or carnival thru the State, with a schedule of the names of all cities or towns in which such circus, tent show or carnival is to be exhibited. If any change or changes are made in the proposed itinerary, or the schedule of cities or towns in which such circus, tent show or carnival is to be exhibited, a supplemental statement shall be filed with the Auditor of State accordingly, indicating such change or changes.

The bill had a penalty clause providing for a fine of $500 for refusal to pay license fees and that each day constituted a separate offense.

Narder Bros.' Shows

Philadelphia, April 1.—The attaches of Narder Bros.' Shows are busy as the proverbial bee at their winter quarters here on Hog Island. All wagons, cars, amusement devices, tents and concession booths are said to have been redecorated and repainted, presenting a spick and span appearance, further advice being as follows: The shows travel in 20 cars and have 8 rides, 12 shows and a high-dive free act presented by Prof. Herbert Smith, also about 30 concessions. The opening date is set for April 11 for a two weeks' engagement at 13th and Bigler streets, this city, the location opposite the Sesqui-Centennial site, under the auspices of the Wm. Shetzline Post No. 96, American Legion, working in conjunction with the South Philadelphia Business Men's Association. The official roster of the shows for the coming season is as follows: B. A. Narder and Irving Narder, owners; Nat Narder, general manager; Billie Owens, assistant manager; Irving Narder, treasurer; E. K. Johnson, general representative; Julius Roth, special agent; B. H. Voorheis, publicity agent; Arthur Courtney, trainmaster and superintendent; Dick Lennon, electrician; Lord Russell, general announcer; Prof. Pozina, bandmaster.

From all reports received by Deb, everybody had a wonderful time at the showmen's party-ball in St. Louis March 28.

Many heavy box-office attractions in big-time vaudeville have been recruited from both carnivals and circuses—thinking over the list is interesting.

Samuel Shuman intends to close his tabloid show in the East the latter part of June and return to the Bernardi Greater Shows with a string of concessions.

Not only is Doc Waddell a veteran press agent but also he is apparently an up-to-date figurer and player of "hows" special dates (Incidentally, a "deep" one).

Chief Lone Bird and Billy, "the Bear Boy", will again be with Scott's Greater Shows, second season. Chief wintered and showed Saturdays in Tuskegee, Ala.

Mrs. Artie Wills, of the Robin & Cherry Shows, recently had her tonsils removed at Memorial Hospital, Montgomery, Ala., and last week was reported as getting along fine.

There was an interesting angle to the bill that got stuck in the Indiana Senate recently. A part of it read: "Each theater and moving picture show shall pay an annual license fee of $5."

Billyboy has been unexpectedly swamped with "show letters" lately. They are being "alternated" (as to weeks) until the big rush is over. Incidentally it seems needless to again state (for the same) he met an old friend with that caravan, Frank Meeker, bandmaster, with whom he tramped some years ago on the Famous Aiken Shows.

Clarke B. Feigler was last week preparing to leave Kansas City, Mo., for Wayne, Neb., to take up his duties as assistant manager with the Walter Savidge Amusement Company.

Harry Bonnell was reported as hustling last week in connection with promotions incident to the T. A. Wolfe date at Knoxville, Tenn., the third stand of the season for the Wolfe organization.

Alfred J. Durnberger and his business associates are outdoing all their previous efforts toward up-to-date preparation of the Brown & Dyer Shows for the coming season as to equipment and attractions.

Doc Scanlon is, this season working on the front of Doc Collins' Water Circus with the Rubin & Cherry Shows. This marks Scanlon's 32d year in show business. Last season he was with the T. A. Wolfe Shows.

W. C. Clark writes from Tuscaloosa, Ala., that he and his wife wintered there and will henceforth make that city their home, also that he was made a Mason early last month, joining Harmony Lodge No. 3, of Marianna, Fla.

According to a letter from the secretary of the Young Men's Business League of Waxahachie, Tex., a local ordinance prohibitive to shows existing for some time is no more and good shows are again welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. (Del) Davis info that after spending a pleasant winter in New Orleans, they bade the city adieu and are now in St. Louis, booked with the D. D. Murphy Shows—yep, with juice and grab stand.

"Irish Jack" Lynch, veteran show talker, infoed that this season he will be with the Rubin & Cherry Shows, with the "Wild Animal Show, to which Rhoda Royal's circus acts will be added when the big caravan plays Louisville, Ky.

Showfolks witness many strange things. In some places one so inclined has to get "sick" and see a doctor before he can get a drink, and possibly after getting it MUST see one because of real illness.—DOC DOWNALL.

If all tent show people could afford to lay off a couple of years what a terrible punning their "other business" knockers would get from the many thousands of outdoor amusement lovers—particularly those who greatly appreciate "a change at intervals".

Last week the sun was still shining, the bathers were still bathing, the fish still biting, with Ralph and Aimee Pearson enjoying it all, and Aimee still pleasing the patrons on one of the amusement places with her famous Lily and other dance creations.

Col. I. N. Fisk last week saw a friend "counting on his fingers", shaking his head after each count and doing it all over again. Finally, Colonel laughingly remarked: "Why don't you go to some Chinese laundry and borrow a set of those counting beads?"

Deb. is reliably informed that Victor Lee's shows—Cambria, Wormwood, Gates of Pekin and Egypt—will be with the Brown & Dyer Shows the coming season. Also that Mr. and Mrs. Lee will be on the job in person, looking after the interests of all concerned.

Have you wondered why the movie men who have tried to knock carnivals and their friendly supporters do not suggest that the readers of their propaganda scan the current scandal news in the columns of newspapers? Outside of "knockers" propaganda the readers would find VERY LITTLE of it.

Deb received two communications last week not signed. One of them had "A Friend" at the bottom of the page and the other, "One of the Boys". Also, one of them told about two show people getting married. Unsigned communications, as stated time and again in this department, don't mean a thing toward their getting into print.

Did you read the article on page 111 in the last issue, headed "Hilton Sisters Draw $39,750 in Week for Loew in New York"? Yes, this is Violet and Daisy Hilton, formerly with Wortham's World's Best Shows. Apparently the girls have taken the Eastern vaudeville fans by storm. If you failed to read the article referred to take a slant at it.

F. C. Watson has left the Hotel Hannah, Cleveland, where he has been clerking for the past seven years in addition to furnishing talent for entertainments. He is staying with his mother at her home in that city. F. C. has no intention of trouping again, but aims to connect with another theatrical hotel soon and devote all of his time to it.

Col. H. S. Thompson, formerly with various midway companies, including four seasons with the K. G. Barkoot Shows, and now selling electrically operated household utensils, accompanied by his working mate, H. G. Smith, spent a day in Cincinnati last week and called on The Billboard. Colonel stated that he will not troupe this year, but—paratively inexpensive articles toward attracting special interest to his own attraction and at the same time encourage a mardi gras spirit among the citizenry (something they can have fun with while on the midway and, especially, play with or let be seen on the streets downtown)?

Chas. S. Arnold, who operated a concessionaires' location plot in New Orleans all winter and who recently rambled north to the Nat Reiss Shows, with which he will this season have the cigaret shooting gallery privilege, made a business trip to Cincinnati last week. Chas. confabed with Billboard folks and reminisced on the "old days" when he was one of the prominent trapeze performers.

Lonnle L. Fisher, who will have the colored minstrel show, numbering 25 people, on the George L. Dobyns Shows this season, visited The Billboard offices last week while his Fun Festival was playing the Roosevelt Theater in Cincinnati. He will close his T. O. B. A. season in Pittsburgh, Pa., April 18, and with his present 12-people company jump to York, Pa., for rehearsals before opening there under the Dobyns banner May 2.

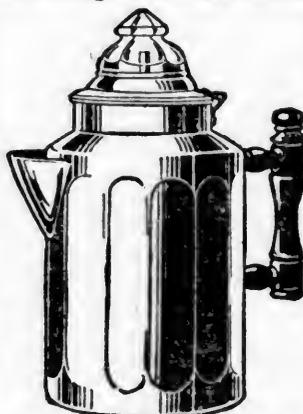

B. F. Bennett, of the J. George Loos Shows, was loser of a set of teeth valued at $50, according to an article in The Fort Worth (Tex.) Star-Telegram, when someone unconsciously took it—that is, took Bennett's coat in which the set had been placed. Could this be termed "copping a feller's eye teeth"? In the same article it was mentioned that the same night someone rode off in the automobile of J. A. Long, also of the Loos Shows.

Jack Wallace, who for many years operated Wallace's Cockatoos, and with Mrs. Wallace is now now retired from active show business, is vacationing among friends for a few weeks in Philadelphia. Some time ago Jack inherited an annuity of several thousand dollars, and a letter from him last week informed that he had about closed a deal for a gasoline service station in New Jersey, also a rooming house in Philly. Added: "This is the 'itchy season' for showfolks, but we will stick it out."

H. L. Wright wrote that he had motored from the South to a town where a show was supposed to be wintering, but when he arrived no one in town knew anything about it, even officials. Also stated that the show at various times had "show letters" stating that a great deal of work was "being done" in its winter quarters. H. L., you didn't give either the name of the town or the title of the show that had the "show letters". By all means send this info to us!

Among recent arrivals on the Delmar Quality Shows were J. (Slim) Leach, in charge of motors and light plant; Daniel Hunt, with his Mechanical City; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dixon, the Missus on concessions and Paul publicity and banners; Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Underwood, concessionaires; G. A. Woods, musician (trombone); Mae DeGreta, Cecil Nailing, George Sweada, Roland Smith and Happy Ward, concessionaires. The caravan (C. J. Keplar, owner and manager) was said to be moving along satisfactorily in Texas.

While stopping over in Fort Worth, Tex., some time ago Doc Best, well known to many in carnival circles, asked to be called at 6:30 a.m. at his hotel, so it was passed to Deb., and on entering his room that night found the following pinned to the pillow: "One man said he has no timepiece; another, that 6:30 is too early for him to get up; another, 'Everybody for himself' and another, 'I'll call him if my watch doesn't stop' and—well, if I'm awake at 6:30, I'll call you." Doc probably made his train, as he had landed in Galveston.

On the front page of The Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser of March 30 was an eight and one-half-inch deep and two-column wide cartoon (by Spang) descriptive of the Rubin & Cherry Show train leaving for its season's tour. On the rear was shown a car of the Extension Department Junior Chamber of Commerce (Montgomery), with a newswoman on the top yelling "Extra! All about Montgomery," and with a Montgomery citizen running along the track shaking hands with Rubin Gruber, on the rear platform, and saying: "So long, Rubin; you tell 'em!"

Recent arrivals at the Sheesley quarters included Mr. and Mrs. E. L. (Spot) Kelley, concessionaires, who motored from Sacramento, Calif., in 13 days (narrowly missing the recent tornado in the Middle West); William Stehle, well-known talker, from Bridgeton, N. J., and L. C. Rodgers, artist and show manager, from Portsmouth, O. Among recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sheesley in their private car, Alabama, have been Mr. and Mrs. William Glick, of the Bernardi Greater Shows, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Blen. Mr. Blen is night editor of The Baltimore American.

The thanks of showfolks are undoubtedly due to W. D. Arthur, of the Traffic Department of the Pennsylvania Railway at Pittsburgh, for the arrangements he has just completed for shows to have a one movement thru Pittsburgh instead of two, as has been in the past. Mr. Arthur is one of the most accommodating railway executives in the country and takes special pleasure in arranging emergency moves for traveling organizations. He takes a keen delight in looking after the welfare of showfolks. Deb. suggests that Mr. Arthur be an honored guest at the Showmen's League banquet next fall.

S. B. Williams Shows

Have Promising Opening at Weatherford, Tex.

The new season for the S. B. Williams Shows has been ushered in. The opening engagement at Weatherford, Tex., was a success, as the show wintered there and the American Legion boys, the audience were good hustlers. They have invited the show to make that town its permanent quarters. Mr. Williams purchased a new merry mix-up and had his merry-go-round overhauled from top to bottom, placing 200 lights on it, also a new Tangley callophone, of which he is very proud. He also purchased a tractor for use in hauling to and from the lots.

Four cars will be used for the railroad moves. There are 3 shows, 3 rides and 30 concessions. Mrs. S. B. Williams was fortunate in leasing a six-room cottage just two doors from winter quarters during the winter and says she disliked to give up "her home". The attaches made lots of friends at Weatherford and passed a most enjoyable winter. GRACE WILLIAMS (for the Show).

Dee Company Moves

Chicago, April 2.—The Dee Candy Co. moved to 300-310 West Lake street this week, occupying three times the space as at the firm's former address. Boyd & Linderman Shows

Have Canadian Route Booked—Open at Richmond, Va.

The Boyd & Linderman Shows, thru the activities of Larry Boyd, have the booking of their route in Canada, including fairs, for the coming season completed. The information came recently from Mr. Boyd, who was then at Montreal, Que., and itemized his dates as follows: Big Catholic Centennial at Montreal, July 14-August 1; Old Boys' Reunion, Kingston, Ont., and the fairs at Cornwall, Ottawa, Peterboro and Lindsay, Ont., and Sherbrooke and Quebec City, Que.

The show has wintered on the State fairgrounds at Richmond, Va., and preparations for the coming tour, which is scheduled to open April 25 at Richmond, are under way. It is planned to move in 25 cars and to carry 15 shows, 7 rides and about 30 concessions. The opening date is somewhat later than has been customary for the Boyd & Linderman Shows, but this point was decided upon with a view to starting under more settled weather conditions than encountered last spring.

Sandy's Amusement Shows

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 1.—The preliminary work at the winter quarters of Sandy's Amusement Shows is progressing nicely. Rides are being painted, concession frames built, shows completely renovated and the executive staff attending to business matters.

General Agent Edward Murphy came in recently and had some nice contracts, among which are Chillicothe, O., week of July 4; Chaffont Firemen, East Pittsburgh, for Decoration Day week, and under the auspices of the Police Department at North Braddock week of May 4. The show has been fortunate in procuring some nice dates in the larger towns when it was practically unknown, as this is the first year that it has been of the 15-car size. One of the monkeys owned by the show ever since its birth died last week. New people have been coming in every week and others are now expected almost daily. Visitors, both troupers and laymen, have been frequent, and with the quarters being open day and night a great deal of interest is being shown in the show. JACOB TAMARGO (Press Agent).

Knickerbocker Shows

Cleveland, O., April 1.—The management of the Knickerbocker Shows is fast rounding things into shape for their new season. Included in this, the museum here is a scene of rather extensive operations, Jack Williams and Charles Hayes constructing some new illusions and remodeling the old ones, and Barney Bernstein has been busy the past several weeks painting some gorgeous-looking banner fronts. By the time the show is to open Mr. Bernstein will have all the fronts works of art. The big 20-in-1 show is about ready and will be under the management of Prof. Alton. The rides and other shows are being rebuilt and painted at winter quarters at Sharon, Pa. Joe Lavine is in charge at Sharon, while M. B. Lagg is out scouting for his coming season dates. The writer, while having five concessions with the show, will also act as press agent, in connection with which he will supply the "show letters" for The Billboard, and a complete list of the attractions and roster of the personnel will appear in a later issue. JACK BURKE (for the Show).

Great England Shows

Have Good Opening Week in Arkansas

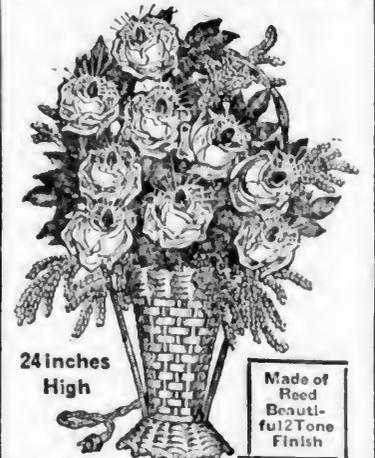

The Great England Shows played Cherry Valley, Ark., week ending March 28 following their opening at Fair Oaks, Ark. The opening stand was very good, the patronage exceeding expectations. Ollie Polk, well known with circuses and carnivals, is manager. The advance is handled by Col. Robert C. Atkins. Tom Ross is trainmaster and N. R. Green lot superintendent. Homer Glendal has the band. Teddy Wells has the Plantation Show; Cyclone Thorpe, assisted by Billie Martin, the Athletic Show; Prof. Longent, the 10-in-1. Bessie Bracken, former prima donna with circuses, sings with the band.

Among the concessionaires are: Terry Scholes, "Frenchy" Marchand, Madam Roma, Tom Petty, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sullivan and Tom Baker, who has the cook-house in charge. All of which is according to an executive of the above shows.

Lewis Loses Home in Tornado

Phil T. Lewis, veteran ex-showman, writes from Murphysboro, Ill. (Box 213), that he and his three children suffered the loss of their home there in the recent tornado that swept over that section of the country and that as they carried no tornado insurance they are in need of assistance, including clothing, from friends. Lewis has been off the road the past two years. He is a billposter and formerly was a concessionaire (novelties). States he would like letters from the Guthrie Family, "Tuby" Snyder, M. D. ### Smith's Greater United Shows Koppel, Pa., April 1.—Work at the winter quarters of Smith's Greater United Shows is progressing, under the supervision of Manager K. F. (Brownie) Smith, who has had a crew of 10 men working daily from daylight until dark building and painting paraphernalia.

This season will find the show one of the prettiest gilly shows en route. The management plans an organization of 7 shows, 3 rides and 25 concessions.

The carousel and Big Ell wheel are undergoing a thoro overhauling and painting, as are also the various show fronts, most of which are owned by the management.

Smith's Circus Side Show will present some new and novel attractions. It is planned to have the newsboys in each city play as guests of the show on Monday nights, and a substantial amount of newspaper space and pictorial paper will be used in advertising the caravan at every stand.

M. J. Lapp's Shows

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., April 2.—Recent arrivals at the winter quarters of M. J. Lapp's Greater Shows and American Exposition Shows, which are near readiness for their opening this month, were Vernon Chappelle and wife, from Washington, D. C., and who have been with Mr. Lapp the past six seasons. They both expressed surprise at the amount of work already accomplished on both caravans and the decided advancement Manager Lapp has shown in his preparation for the forthcoming tour of his two shows. Chappelle will remain here to put his midway restaurant in shape, while Mrs. Chappelle will spend the intervening time with Mrs. Lapp at Ellenville, N. Y. Sixteen employees are now at work putting the finishing touches to the wagons and cars, all of which will this season bear the name of shows in large flaring letters.

Joining recently were Dick Harrison and wife with palmistry, and Guy C. Bailey, with two concessions. Daniel Daley is expected this week with a Collins Cave show and another attractive walk-thru show. Recent visitors at the Ellenville home included Harry Hall and Mr. Perkins, of the California Shows; Joseph Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. James Bingham. ## SUCCESS CROWNS SHRINE CIRCUS IN CINCINNATI

Music Hall Scene of Brilliant and Well-Balanced Program Staged by John G. Robinson---Matinee Crowds Heavy---Capacity Business First Two Nights, After Which Turnaways Ruled

AN excellent program and a gratifying success marked Syrian Temple's Shrine Circus at Music Hall, Cincinnati, last week. It was the third successful event of this nature that Syrian Temple has staged there, at all of which John G. Robinson officiated as managing director and selected the acts, he being assisted this spring in staging the performances by his son, John G. Robinson, Jr., a Cincinnati attorney--both members of Syrian Temple. The affair presented an almost complete change of program from its predecessors thereby providing a prime factor for circus fans being eager to again be in attendance.

There were no concessions other than to give the ever-needful atmosphere, peanuts, candy and other confections, sold by "butchers" (Shriners in clown suits)--it was exclusively circus. The performance ran exactly two hours, with no waits between turns. Jerome M. Jackson was general chairman of the Circus Committee. Guy Shipley was in charge of properties. Harry Martin ably conducted the publicity program for the show. The Shrine Band of about 60 pieces, directed by Henry Fillmore (August Schaefer the first two days), delivered a wonderful musical program--for the acts a brand that drew commendation from the performers.

Mayor George P. Carrel, of Cincinnati, a member of Syrian Temple, in a few well-chosen remarks, periodically humorous, opened the show from the front-center stage.

The opening performance found nearly every seat in the massive auditorium, with its two large balconies, filled. The extent of patronage increased, until turnaways started Wednesday night. The five matinees, starting Tuesday, were also heavily attended. At the afternoon shows the Shriners were hosts to inmates of the various charitable institutions of Cincinnati and vicinity.

Several of the acts stood out as features. Special choice would depend to great extent on one's personal fancies. Among them, however, were the Hannaford Troupe of equestrians, with Poodles; Dutton's Society Equestrians, Six American Belfords, Famous Fearless Flyers, and Robinson's Military Elephants. The clowning of Gene DeKos also stood out conspicuously. The 20-act bill ran as follows:

Fred Derrick of the Hannaford Troupe, gave an artistic principal riding act. Gene DeKos, novelty leaps (somersault over several--up to six--stooping men). Aerial Youngs, double trapeze, remarkably fast and gracefully presented. Dutton's "Frisco" mule, worked by DeKos Brothers. Excellent comedy, bringing many laughs.

Mardo Trio, comedy acrobats. A turn repete with skill and laughgetters. The table acrobatics and slap-stick work especially registered.

The Duttons, society equestrians, with three horses, carriage and all trappings and wardrobe spotlessly white, and the personified alertness and skillfulness of the participants. This is one of the most artistic "carrying" equestrian offerings. In all there are five people, three ladies and a man (Jim Dutton). The act drew riveted attention and impressive appreciation, particularly on the part of those of the audiences who favor the classical.

Silvers Johnson, in a clown long-shoe dance, went big.

Robinson's Military Elephants, four in number, and presented by Dan (Curly) Noonan. Regardless of the fact that these pachyderms have appeared at all three of the Shrine circuses and exhibited many other times in the Queen City the act probably received greater appreciation than at any of its former presentations. Mr. Noonan has added some new ensemble features, also brilliantly flickering headpieces and anklets to the "wardrobe" of his "actors". The "Battle Scene" was again immense, as was "Tilly" saying "Papa."

Aerial Youngs in a carrying perch that was gracefully executed, the lady working high up in the "borders".

Six American Belfords. This is one of the best of combination floor acrobatics and Ritsley acts, and the audience took due notice and gave applause to each of the difficult offerings. Each of the personnel (all men) did his part in the single and ensemble routines with quickness and precision--there were no unintentional "misses". The foot casting, with three underlanders and three topmounters working on table pedestals, was especially clever, and, incidentally, contained some innovations.

Clown Number. A walkaround of grotesque figures (Dutton's equipment).

Poodles Hannaford and Family. Using but two horses, this troupe of seven (two men and five ladies) put over their riding act to its customarily sure winner, with Poodles' comedy strongly to the fore. The straight work of several of the members was very good, but a great portion of the audiences seemed to concentrate on "funny" stuff, and Mr. Hannaford in his inimitable manner gave it to them in abundance. In fact he really, accepted three encores (one of them an aerobic dance)--he didn't "stall" for them.

Gene and Gabby DeKos, acrobats and equilibrists. A feature of these boys' turn was that they did a great deal of their equilibristic feats with the underlander (Gabby) on about five-foot stilts. The comedy was quite catchy--Gene features it.

Ida Delno, contortionist. Miss Delno presented a pretty act and did some close bending.

Miss Fisher swinging ladder. Executed with skill and grace.

Nellie Jordan, wire artist. Miss Jordan (formerly of the Jordan Sisters) scored heavily. In addition to her past-mastership on the silvery thread her wardrobe and personality were par excellence. She made two changes of costume during the necessary intervals, Gene DeKos filling in with comedy. For a finish Miss Jordan carried DeKos across the wire.

Silvers Johnson and his clowns. Amusing situations, using burlesque properties. Rider's Mechanic. This comedy act was given by Jim Dutton, using one of the horses of his big act, and caused much

Clown Band. All the "Joey's" got together for this number and each played (something), with Charles (Shorty) Flemm acting as leader.

Famous Fearless Flyers. This is a return act, using four trapezes and two pedestals for the flyers, and brought a fitting climax to a good show. Beautiful rigging and wardrobe. One of the ladies is a catcher. The first routine of the principal flyer was a double somersault to his catcher and a double pirouette back to his bar.

While the above program was in progress, the clowns (all professional), individually and in twos and threes, appeared at intervals. "Shorty" Flemm worked the comelin and kept the waiting audience in laughter with his antics in the auditorium, including almost falls from the balcony railings. The personnel of clown alley included Gene and Gabby DeKos, Silvers Johnson Trio, Mardo Trio, "Shorty" Flemm and Charles Mitchell.

The clubs planned to stage their own popularity contests, but later committees from both met and agreed to unite to elect a "queen" by a popularity vote. The contest is exciting considerable interest locally.

OUTDOOR CELEBRATIONS

Poor Location for Savannah Promotion

Savannah, Ga., April 4.—An outdoor entertainment on the Tri-State Fair grounds the week ending March 21, promoted by Dakota Max and advertised as a "Masonic Circus", was under the auspices of Pooler Masonic Lodge to raise funds. Dakota Max's Wild West, some shows and concessions formed a fair-sized midway attraction, but as a benefit for the Masonic lodge or profit to the promoter it was a dismal failure. It has been demonstrated repeatedly that a carnival or any similar outdoor attraction must be located on the Bolton street show lot or Park Extension Military grounds to hope for profitable business. The fairgrounds is oked during State fair week for any of the Class A carnivals but is not established as a show lot for other than fair dates.

PIPES FOR PITCHMEN

(Communications to 25-27 Opera Place, Cincinnati, O.)

All "news pipes" this week.

LIE CONTEST

"Readers are free in most towns (including Tuisa)."—R. J. BURNS.

There have been quite a number of the boys at Detroit the past several weeks, but some have left, among them Billy Meyer—probably toward Pennsylvania.

Word comes from Philly that Bob Todiss, Phil Brandis and Sid Urganowicz, the hustling trio of Karr & Auerbach, have "oiled up" their elbows and thinking apparatuses and are again ready to shoot stock to the boys.

The LaVelles report doing nicely with their needle demonstrations in the East. They recently met, in New York, Mat O'Brien, of Pleasure Beach, Bridgeport, Conn., working gas lighters to good sales. Say they think they will stick to needles.

Word came from Branchville, Pa., that Georgia Henry, widow of Dr. J. P. Henry, had just returned north from Tampa, Fla., where she was playing piano and doing specialties and enjoying her engagement with Dr. Thos. P. Kelley's winter show.

Joe Clark is still in Detroit passing out "knobs, hooks and buckles", and buttons, but expects to hit the road soon—he and Branchholtz. Says he was sorry to learn of Sid Sidenberg's recent illness at Tuisa, Ok.

A. B. Hibler, of "Zip" corn remedy fame, has migrated northward from his winter stay in Texas. Last heard from he was in Louisville, Ky., having covered about 800 miles of territory (railroad) on his sort of zig-zagging route.

Thanks, Heverly, for the squibs on ancient magic, etc. Will use them when opportunity affords (am right now trying to catch up with the overflow from the S. S. and current news of the boys being received).

Johnny Holt "shouted" that conditions were "bucking up" a little in the Vancouver (B. C.) section after a rather quiet spell, and that there were signs of good days ahead. He wanted pipes from Buster Powell and Tony Reed.

Jerry Frantz writes that everybody connected with his show is busy at his farm in Pennsylvania, getting ready for the opening this month. Jerry wonders where Chief Wongo Nema has been hibernating this winter. Infoes that he will have two shows this year, that he recently placed an order for a calliope and that the grass in his section is getting green—and so are the tent poles, etc. (with paint), for season 1925."

George R. Gillespie and his side-kick, Tom Winstead, magazine subscriptionists, passed thru Cincinnati last week, headed for New York State. The boys recently migrated north from Texas, stopped a while in St. Louis and then rambled on eastward.

Jack Sheridan, according to a recent letter from him from San Bernardino, evidently hadn't liked working conditions in California, including San Francisco, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara and San Bernardino—from which he was immediately leaving eastward.

Doc Silver Cloud (McLean) was in Cincinnati, from Columbus, O., last week on a combined visiting and business trip. Doc called at The Billboard, but, as during a visit by him several weeks ago, on Bill's off day of the week—hope to be present next time, o'timer.

L. Feldman piped from Denver, Col., that he was stopping there for about three weeks, having migrated north from Texas, where he says he had a very nice winter season and met up with some of the best boys ever. (The address, Feldman, will be found in a pipe from them, this issue.)

Doc Cal Hicks infoes that he had put in a few weeks with med. at Fort Smith, Ark. Others in town were the Docs. Maynard, with Curly Berry as entertainer, but were leaving for Dallas, Tex. Renfro, with paper, also was there. Last heard of, Cal was headed for Kansas City.

"Dixie Bob" (B. B.) Harris, white and blackface singing and dancing comedian, "shouted" that he rusticated all winter with relatives "down on the farm in ol' Virginia", and was set to hit the road for his fifth season with G. W. Gregor's Dandy Dixie Tent Show, opening this week in Virginia.

Rex Evans piped from Canton, O., that he was headed for points in Canada, also that he was graciously entertained at Orrville, O., by Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Burt (Mrs. Burt was one of the Banjo Sargents—three of which act lost their lives in France) and Peggy Manson, who conducts a place of business at Orrville. The Burts, he added, are leaving for Digby, N. S., for the summer.

B. B. Baxter has been working pens and pencils and can openers in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York State the past several months, "gassing" it between towns. Says he had a good stand at Binghamton, N. Y., and vicinity—but a change in administration was about to take place. He was to steer his "gas buggy" from there to Elmira. Wants pipes from Yancy Yon, Earl Search and Doc Ed Amos.

In some manner Doc Nye's name was made "Rae" in a recent pipe. Anyway, Doc is back in Grand Rapids, Mich., after a trip into Ohio. Says things are not rosy there. He expects to wander over into Pennsylvania the coming summer. Doc wants pipes from James Miller, Nofleet, Docs Miles, Wine and others. Says: "Now that the sun is about to shine on both sides of the fence let's see how clean the boys can work this year."

Dr. Jim Thorpe with his herbs and other remedies, accompanied by his young son, has had a successful several weeks' stay in Newport, across the Ohio river from Cincinnati. Jim makes a straight-forward, convincing and highly entertaining talk to his listeners, also presents a catchy amusement program, and made straight sales and advertised his wares in one of the local drug stores. He expected to head north from Cinny this week.

The Kansas City office of The Billboard is informed that Doc Little Beaver launched his No. 2 show at Prairie View, Kan., two weeks ago. A public marriage on the stage of Legion Hall, where his company showed, taxed the seating capacity of 1,000. The roster includes the Hidalgo String Band of seven pieces, featuring harmony singing and Spanish and Hawaiian dances. Kingsley and Roberts form one of the teams with the show and, submit the information.

Col. E. C. (Ed) Jenkins, the well-known erstwhile postwar man, who has been located in Salt Lake City, Utah, since his last trip to Honolulu and the South Sea Islands, kicked in with the info. last week that he has been doing nicely there in the auction and furniture business, and that he has a nifty auto-locking device which he has placed on the market. He and his family (wife and two children) motored to California for the winter and while on the trip had dinner with Lew Schilling, the ex-peeler worker, at Menlo Park. Ed wants to know what has become of his old working partner, Frank Dotson. Also wants pipes from George Covell, John Cochrane, Harry Sullivan, Dick Jacobs, Ben Briscoe, Max Gottlieb, Fido Kerr, Eddie Brett, Mike Reynolds, Ira Weiss and other oldtimers.

R. J. Burns recently piped of Sidenberg being sick at Tulsa, Ok. Also: "Barney Silvers, with rubber goods, has left here. C. C. Knight (auto paint), McKenzle, Miller and Hall, paper men, will probably migrate north as soon as the next flock of ducks fly over. I have made a few indoor shows and worked the streets here all winter—with burlap around my feet to keep them warm—so I'm in favor of a near-future flight of the ducks myself. Novelties have been my chief 'agony'."

Among the boys at the recent Better Homes Show in Omaha, Neb.: Fido Kerr, vegetable knives; Andy Lewis, knife sharpeners; James E. Miller, pens; Smith, sharpeners, and Nichols, darners. Among the lads about town: Chic Denton, ties and belts; Docs, Meyers and MacFarland, herbs; Burr, razor paste; Campbell, wire jewelry; Langford, pens; Tice, razors; Sing Lee, bamboo pens; Miller, Scott and Jones, paper, also Mrs. Lewis getting crackerjack sales with bamboo pens at the Beeton Drug Store.

Word from Acker's Vodvil Show, in Connecticut, was that it was ready for the coming outdoor season, with a 50x80 big top and the largest roster it ever carried. The roster: E. H. Acker, manager and lecturer, also novelty acts; Catherine Acker, owner, also handling confections; Buster Acker, who looks after the show at night; Dan Robb, black-face comedian and dancer; G. A. Bowman, pianist and acts; Morton Craig, the "boy with the big voice"; and Roland Harris, cook and tickets. The show travels in two touring cars and two trucks. The folks want pipes from Jack McCoy and Drs. Jesse Craig and White Moon.

J. B. Robbins piped from Philly that the Robbins & Hart Comedy Company is planning to open its platform season May 4. They closed their hall show February 3 because of inclement weather. In addition to J. B., the roster, up to the time of writing, included Mr. and Mrs. James Hart, James Martin, Happy Joe Williams and Drs. Cooper and Lantz. They will use a Deagan un-foin instead of a band this year. Robbins says he was both surprised and pleased at receiving a letter recently from the erstwhile med. man, W. H. Birdsall, now residing in Fresno, Calif.—but soon to return to the business.

Doc Harry Z. Austin recently wrote that while on the road in Kansas some time ago a hotel which he had an interest in caught fire, so he returned to Columbus, O., where he now has the Clayton Hotel in Town street. Among the boys in the city at the time of writing were Wayne Garrison, Bill Slusher, "Kentuck" Bealbert and George Reed, all working in doorways, as the streets were closed. Harry informed that the veteran black-face comedian and banjo player, Jack White (60 years old), was there and sick, and would appreciate letters from his acquaintances (care of the Clayton Hotel).

Notes from the Parker Comedy Company, in Wisconsin—An outstanding event while the show was playing Plattsville, Wis., was the marriage, March 20, of Rob E. Cunningham, well-known comedian and dancer, and Irene VanHorn, a nonprofessional (a beautiful and popular young lady of Monroe, Wis.). The couple were recipients of many presents. This was the 13th wedding to take place on the Parker show during the past 20 years. The show will continue to play houses a few more weeks, then play cities on platform. Harry Parker says that when he went into the repertoire game many of the old boys figured that he had completely left the med. business, but he says he is back in to stay.

That amiable veteran, Dr. Thos. P. Kelley (the "Irish Doctor"), accompanied by his son, Thos. R., Jr., and Frank Bradley, well-known comedian (four seasons with Dr. Kelley), visited Bill a few minutes last week while en route a la auto home, Detroit, from Florida, where they spent the winter, as did Mrs. Kelley and their daughter, Caroline, and the "boss," Master John L. Kelley. Mrs. Kelley, Miss Caroline and Master John had preceded the above trio by train. Thos. P. informed that he had a very satisfactory 14 weeks' season in Tampa with a 10-people company. Mrs. Kelley remained around Miami, where she had some quite remunerative deals in real estate—incidentally, Thomas also took over some very promising holdings. Reported a very good 1924 season in Canada, which old territory of his he will again make this year, carrying, as customary, two doctors and 10 performers. The Kelleys will return to Florida for next winter.

That hustler, Johnny Morris, kicks in with a new pipe. He is still with the M. J. Henry (Buffalo) organization and working Texas stores with peelers and doing time with them. He added in part: "Met Johnny Haskell here at San Antonio. The Haskells have bought a home and Mrs. Haskell is raising chickens. Andrew (Andy) Watson is in this vicinity, leading the life of a tourist, with his car and camping outfit—working factories—says he will start a trip to Arizona. The old-timer, Samuels, is working scopes in a doorway here and reports good biz. The following boys are working under the M. J. Henry Demonstrations banner in Grant stores—which are getting bigger and better every day: Charlie Gow, knife sharpener, at Fort Worth; Harry Horne, peelers, Newark, N. J.; John O'Brien, pie crimpers, Buffalo; the old reliable Billy Ahern, with silver plates, at Fall River, Mass.; Paul Rhodes, rub cleaner, at Houston, Tex.; George Glew, engraving your name on free' at Tampa, Fla.; Bill Benjes, resting up after being laid up with the 'flu' at Buffalo, but soon will be back on the job. M. R. Henry has closed contract for the Toronto Exhibition and will have the same following as last season."

Dixon, H. G. Taylor, Mrs. W. S. Petseys, Chas. E. Hahn, Douglas Homer, Jack (Sailor) Clark, the veteran wire worker; Doc U. G. Harris, Jack Gilbert and Thos. North.

Memorial services were held in behalf of the departed brother, Martin Mercer. The eulogy was delivered by President Howard, followed by a minute of silence by the members.

"A message to the boys: We are growing fast and if you are a live wire you shouldn't delay becoming one of the strands in the cable to better success. There is only one way to get a local in your neck of the woods—that is to join this association now. If you are the progressive type of the profession here is your chance to join in with the 'cream of pitchdom' in its march over the rough and rocky path to a smoother road, cleared of some of the obstacles that have been hindering your success."

The Holmes Comedy Co. (J. J. Holmes) played small towns in Nebraska all winter, carrying eight people, and J. J. informs that he had but two losing weeks. ## PIPES

Knockers of medicine shows: "Since Monday we have with us the J. J. Holmes Comedy Company, which will remain here all week. They opened with a free show, having played to a full house. Despite the fact that it was a free show sponsored by a medicine company, it must be admitted that the program was equal to, if not better, than the average show charging 50 cents admission. The large attendance on the following nights attests to this assertion and speaks very highly for the company. Its shows are meeting with the approval of the public and we expect to see even larger crowds during the remainder of their stay in Clarkson."

It was explained in the clipping that after the first performance the admission was 10 cents for children and 20 cents for adults.

JEAN DE RESZKE

JEAN DE RESZKE, world-famous operatic tenor, for many years leading tenor at the Metropolitan Opera House, died April 3 in his villa at Nice, France, following an attack of influenza. He was 75 years old. During the '90s de Reszke occupied with opera-goers a popular place, similar to that held by the late Caruso. He had obtained success on the opera stage in Europe before coming to this country, and, with his brother, Edouard de Reszke, basso, shared the honors of being the principal attraction on the European opera stage.

Altho his repertory was a long one and included the tenor roles of all the operas sung in his time, it was said that his greatest delight was in singing Romeo, in Romeo et Juliet, for which he was famous a generation ago. He was almost as popular in Lohengrin and Vasco de Gama. De Reszke was born at Warsaw, January 14, 1850, and was of a noble Polish family. His first voice instructions were received from his mother, a distinguished amateur singer. At the age of 12 he sang solos in the cathedral at Warsaw, and later studied with several noted teachers. He made his debut at Vienna in 1874 as a baritone, and as such he appeared in several cities. M. Sibirigla heard him and at once recognized the possibilities of de Reszke as a tenor, and advised him to cultivate the upper range of his voice. He abandoned the stage for two years to study. At Madrid, in 1879, he made his debut as a tenor in the role of Robert le Diable. His success was more pronounced than that which attended his previous appearances as baritone. He continued to sing tenor roles with such satisfaction that Massenet composed Le Cid especially for him.

When the brothers came to America in 1890 to sing for the Metropolitan they immediately became favorites, but Jean appeared to be the more popular, not only in New York, but in other cities of the country as well.

After returning to Europe Jean retired to Paris and devoted himself to teaching. He appeared in opera only occasionally for a few years, altho he retained his fine voice until well advanced in age. He married the Countess Maria de Goulaine.

Scores of tributes to the fame of the great tenor were wired to his widow, the only immediate relative who survives, and who is a talented amateur musician and a pupil of Gounod, by those prominent in the operatic and musical world in this country. The funeral will probably be held in Paris.

In the passing of De Reszke the world lost one of the greatest tenors of all time.

JOHN PALMER SLOCUM

JOHN PALMER SLOCUM, manager of the Globe Theater, New York, for Charles Dillingham, and one of the foremost producers of musical comedies, died April 1 of heart disease in his apartment at the Hotel Bristol after an illness of only two days. His demise came as a distinct shock to the theatrical world. He was generally regarded as the dean of company managers. Thru his long connection with the theater he had a large acquaintanceship with members of the profession in New York and all over the country.

For many years Mr. Slocum was one of the foremost producers of musical comedies, and was for six years manager of the late Richard Mansfield. Of his own productions are remembered The Quaker Girl, No-body Home, The Gay Musician, Princess Chic and The Lady in Red.

Mr. Slocum was born in Detroit, Mich., and began his theatrical career at an early age under the guidance of M. B. Curtis. After producing for himself for many years he joined the Dillingham forces about five years ago, and up to his death he had remained with Dillingham as manager of the Globe Theater. He had directed several of the most important Dillingham productions, including Hitchy, Koo, Good Morning, Dearie, and Cyril Maude's comedy, Aren't We All. It was Mr. Slocum who developed such stars as Vera Michelena, Amelia Stone, Texas Guinan and Marguerita Sylvia. He is said to have known personally every newspaper editor and theater manager of importance in this country.

Mr. Slocum was prominent in Masonic circles and was a member of all the higher orders of Masonry, including the Knight Templars and the Mystic Shrine. He is survived by a brother, Frank Slocum, of Brooklyn, who formerly was associated with him in the theatrical business, and a sister, Mrs. Tena Freedman, of New York. Funeral services were held at the Campbell Funeral Chapel, 66th street and Broadway, New York.

Showmen's League Members Robbed of $18,000

started off with all of the decorum accompanying a sewing circle. Everything was fine and President Barnes called for any business coming under the head of the "good of the order". The subject of raising money came up. It hadn't got far when the boys with the "gats" came and then they did all the talking. They ordered the members to get up, put up their hands and place their noses carefully against the wall. Shotguns, pistols and fluent adjectives emphasized the order. Leon Berezniak began to remonstrate and was struck twice on the head with a gun by one of the men.

The hold-up men worked with the precision and coolness of adepts. While one held his gun in readiness the others searched the showmen with care and deliberation. About 30 minutes were consumed in the process and not much was left when the robbers finished. Then all of the gunmen save one, besides the gunman on guard at the door, left and the other two marched the victims into the large lavatory. It took squeezing, but all of the 38 league members flattened themselves and got in. Charles G. Klippatrick was allowed to remain in the lodge room as one of the robbers said he didn't believe a one-legged man would do any harm. One gunman cautioned the members to stay in the lavatory for five minutes and not "force him to do something he would hate to do". He made the request looking over a nifty automatic. After a few moments the prisoners opened the door and again fled into the lodge room. The police were notified. They came—plain-clothes men, "harness men", newspaper reporters and photographers.

The names of those who filed reports with the police and the amounts given as lost by them in money and jewels were: Fred M. Barnes, $7,600; Leon Berezniak, $1,000; Frank Perlson, $1,400; Martin L. Callahan, $965; Walter F. Driver, $275; Edward P. Neumann, $200; Edward A. Hook, $65; Sam J. Levy, $50; Harry Coddington, $75; Louis Hockner, $155; H. J. Ernst, $75; Zebbie Fisher, $20; Al Latto, $520; Col. Fred J. Owens, $35, and on down the line. Others who lost from $100 down were: Al Hock, L. C. Beckwith, Fred Hollman, Charles G. Browning, Joe Rogers, Jimmy Murphy, A. J. Ziv, Louis Leonard, Tom Rankine and whoever else was there.

All in all it was about the boldest bit of work the gatting-gun boys have pulled off in the loop in many years. The Ladies' Auxiliary downstairs was not disturbed. As the gunman crept by the door of the auxiliary room one of the ladies who stood in the door asked the last bandit to buy a pair of tickets for the next hunko party. "Sure," said the gunman, "but I've got to go upstairs and get some money first. I'll stop in on the way down." As the bandits re-passed on their way out one of the ladies asked them if the meeting upstairs was over. "All over," was the reply. "They'll all be down in a few minutes."

Lieut. John Sullivan, of the Central Detail, believes the robbery was perpetrated by the same gang that has been holding up a number of clubs of late in different parts of the city.

Not much business was transacted before the "fire-works" and none afterward. Earlier in the evening Mr. Browning, who has just returned from Florida, took his place as first vice-president and made a little talk, saying he had bought property in Florida, but was always glad to get back to Chicago. Sam Levy, chairman of the entertainment committee, reported that the cost of the getaway party was $542. The sum of $363.50 has been collected and Zebbie Fisher, chairman of tickets, said he believed some more money will still come in. Edward A. Hook said he will have plans for a new monument for Showmen's League Rest that he will submit to the membership for discussion and examination at the next meeting. After the dramatic finale of the evening there was a prating of carfare and everybody went home hugging memories of one hectic evening.

ELTON BROCK GRUBS

ELTON BROCK GRUBS, 49, died at St. Mary's Hospital, Kansas City, Mo., at 10:30 p.m., March 31, after two years of suffering and several years of more or less ill health.

Mr. Grubs was born in Columbus, O., March 16, 1876, the son of J. C. and Ola Grubs, and was educated in the public schools of Columbus and later the Military School of Ft. Worth, Tex. At the age of 17 years he was married to Kathryn Timmons, of Columbus, and was graduated from the Ohio Medical University in Columbus in 1895 at the age of 19. Soon thereafter he and his wife moved to Peabody, Kan., where he began the practice of medicine. A son, Lee Austin Grubs, was born to them in 1896 and a daughter, Bertha Marion, now Mrs. Charles McMahon, was born in 1898. Corporal Lee Austin Grubs was killed in action in the World War.

Elton Brock Grubs and Kathryn Grubs were divorced in 1905, and in 1906 he was married to Alice May Sandy, of Paxton, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Grubs moved to Kansas City soon after, and there he opened The Western Show Properties Company, where he was very successful in business for a number of years, gaining a wide circle of friends among showfolk thru his pleasant ways and willingness to serve. While in this business Mr. Grubs became a Mason, and in a very short time climbed the ladder to the 32d degree and the Shrine. His health failing him he was obliged to go to California for treatment and change of climate. He spent two winters there and returned to Kansas City in 1922, feeling much better.

At the annual election of the Heart of America Showman's Club in January, 1923, Mr. Grubs was unanimously elected president. That spring he and his wife joined the Lachman Exposition Shows, as his health had again commenced to decline and all season "Doc" and Alice Grubs, as they so endeared themselves to everyone on this show, conducted a corn game. At the show's close they went to Emporia, Kan., the home of Mr. Grubs' mother, and in the spring of 1924 returned to Kansas City to operate their corn game at Fairmount Park. That fall his health became bad and it gradually failed until death came.

Besides his widow he is survived by his mother and father, who went to Kansas City for funeral services; a daughter, Mrs. Charles McMahon, and a sister, Mrs. Caroline Brown, of Indianapolis, Ind.

Funeral services were conducted at the Newcomer Sons' Undertaking Parlors of Kansas City Thursday morning, April 2, and the body, accompanied by relatives, taken to Emporia and buried in the Masons' Cemetery. The services were in charge of the Emporia lodge. Flowers sent by sorrowing friends were profuse and handsome, the casket and chancel overflowing with them. The usual red heart of sympathy, sent by the Heart of America Showman's Club, was a mammoth affair—big red and white carnations. The Lachman Shows and Harold Busha also sent handsome floral offerings, as did other showfolk. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Zeiger made the trip to Kansas City from the show's winter quarters at Fort Dodge, Ia. Mrs. Zeiger is a sister of Mrs. Grubs. W. J. (Doc) Allman at the close of the Masonic ritual paid a beautiful tribute to the memory of the deceased.

IN MEMORIAM Jules Soulsby Wolforth

Age 5 years, 6 months, beloved son of Jules Play and Queenie Dunedin, died on March 28, 1925, in the Fordham Hospital, New York City, of Bright's Disease.

LITTLE HANDS

Perhaps there are tenderer, sweeter things somewhere in this land, But I thank the Lord for His blessing, the clasp of a little hand. A little hand that softly stole into my own that day, When I needed the touch that meant so much to strengthen me on my way. It seemed to say, in a strange, sweet way, "I love you and understand". And calmed my fears, as my hot tears fell over his little hand. But now that little hand is still, my darling has gone from me. My beautiful babe, whose pretty hands smoothed out my misery, I try to think that God knows best, but my heart is filled with pain. To think that the touch of those tiny hands I shall never feel again.

Complete Review of

has been changed somewhat in that it is no longer a strictly animal exhibition. Mr. Barnes has installed a number of circus acts and the title on all the paper now reads Al G. Barnes Big Four-Ring Circus, with the part, Animal Show, subordinated.

In order to give one a correct arrangement of this year's aggregation The Billboard correspondent will first take up the side show, managed by W. B. Chamberlain. With the new top and new banners the show presents a wonderfully inviting appearance and is probably the best kid show ever carried by Mr. Barnes. Instead of the usual Negro band and minstrels they depend upon a band of Scotch Highlanders to furnish the music, and attractively costumed they are an attraction as well. Wm. Haley and George Douglas are on the ticket boxes and Mrs. Chamberlain at the door with a staff of assistants. Inside on the various platforms are High Bill, the giant; Prof. Frank Martin, tattooed man; Royal Lilliputians, 12 midgets, which are a feature; Prof. Prescott and Jerry, mental telepathists; Madame Olga, snake enchantress; "Happy" Ethel, fat girl; Stevens and Foster, comedy jugglers; Hawaiian singers and dancers—Wm. DeMello, manager; Al Santos, Aeklan Soares, George Otto, Eva DeMello, Varda Mou, James Mitchell and Jimmy Murray, bagpipers. Will Z. Smith does the lecturing. Punch and Judy and magic.

After a trip thru the side show the reporter entered the midway again and looking toward the marquee of the main show saw Bill Peck, who again is handling the courtesies of the show. Chas. Cook is manager. Several new animals are in the menagerie. Joe Martin, the monk, is still the feature. Jack Coleman is the educator of Joe Martin and Jiggs, two wonderful animals. Entering the big top, first came across Nels. Lauston, superintendent of reserved seats. His staff is uniformed in blue, gray and black. John T. Backman is the capable equestrian director and was dressed in his suit of white flannel. The bandmen in bright red uniforms were playing popular airs of the day. Chas. Redrick handles the baton. Pocahontas at the Court of Queen Anne is again the spec. offering. This is all in new costume and with new principals and is better than the previous year. Rex de Rosselli, who is responsible for its perfect rendition, has labored during the off season to put it on better and to change it somewhat from his previous efforts. Instead of the display of fireworks at the close of the spectacle he has worked into it the forcing of steam thru pipes into the rings, giving the effect of the geysers of Yellowstone National Park. With the throwing of colored light effects on these it gives added beauty to the whole scheme. Mr. Rosselli has given much attention to the music, and thru the aid of Morrie B. Streeter, who has written all special music for the show, he has made this end of the whole worth while. Every bar of music has been copyrighted. So important is this part of the production that Mr. Streeter will go with the show for a few weeks to perfect it. In the spec. are: Pocahontas, played by Marce Bennett; Chas. K. Miller, as Powhatan; Gabriel Munzo, as Capt. John Smith; Wellington Mack, as Okonouchi, and Chief Big Tree as the Medicine Man. After the first half of the spec. is over the tournament takes place before the throne of Queen Anne. The color effect is great. Mrs. Wm. Morrow is wardrobe mistress and has had charge of building all of these costumes. The tournament, headed by the band of 24 musicians, wearing black and white costumes, includes 10 buff-colored horses with their riders in a rainbow of colored suits, 3 elephants in spangled trappings, 4 more couriers on horseback, team of buffaloes, tribe of 18 Indians, 3 more elephants, band of Singalese, 8 zebras, 6 camels, 5 more elephants, 4 camels, band of 6 Eskimos, 8 zebras, miscellaneous collection of monkeys, dogs and semi-wild animals, closing with Pocahontas in carriage, etc. Then follows the throne scene at the court of Queen Anne. The cast includes: Emma Leigh, as Queen Anne; Irene Allen, as Lady in Waiting; Jack LeBlanc, as Courtier; Chas. K. Miller, as King James; Wellington Mack, as Minister to the King, and Joyce de

Rosselli as the Page. This is a beautifully worked up scene, full of melody handled by a sextet of operatic voices especially engaged for the spectacle. The electrical effects are by Carl Taylor. The next part of the program is taken up by the presentation of the silent features, namely, the introduction of the troupe of midgets, High Bill, the giant; Jack Coleman and Joe Martin and Frank Rooney driving 60 head of draft horses around the arena. These horses are exhibited in the tent because of the abandonment of the parade. Dot Whitney drives the hippopotamus down the track. The program was then on as John Backman blew the whistle and W. E. Mack announced the first event. Ring 1, six-pony drill, with Bert Dennis at the whip; Steel Arena, Louis Roth, with a tiger-riding horse act; Ring 2, H. Smith directing a six-pony drill. Ring 1, group of elephants, Irene Grizzell with the hook; Steel Arena, Lillian Hopkins, with a troupe of trained rabbits; Ring 2, Billy Mack, handling a group of elephants. Stage No. 1, Penny Parker Family, contortionists and gymnasts; Stage No. 2, Tim Buckley and his group of 16 white cats. Clowns, including Jack McAfee, producing clown; Toby Tyler, Dutch Marco, Bill Ward, Tom Plank, Geo. Roarick, Jack LeBlanc, Dan McAvoy and Eddie Russell. Ring 1, Max Sahel and his eight tandem horses; Steel Arena, Helen Roth and her group of pumas; Ring 2, Austin King and eight tandem horses. Ring 1, Bob Norton and group of dogs; Steel Arena, lion riding elephant, Ruth Wolfe at the whip; Ring 2, Joe Dokes and group of dogs. Ring 1, leaping dogs; Steel Arena, Jack Coleman and Joe Martin; Ring 2, monkey slide for life. Ring 1, group of llamas, Wm. Kingston directing; Steel Arena, Bert Nelson and his teddy bears; Ring 2, Austin King and group of zebras. Hippodrome Track, the Zarelli and Zarelli wire walkers. Entrance of Dove Song March. This again introduces the operatic sextet, consisting of Miss Leigh, Miss Allen, Miss Kina, Wellington Mack, Charles Miller and Gabriel Munzo. Ring 1, posing horses, with Agnes Lausten and Margaret Graham directing. Ring 2, posing horses, Margaret Munzo and Ethel Long directing. Posing dog, with Irene Grizzell; Dutch Marco and his singing mule; posing dogs again, with Bohly Todd and Dot Whitney directing. Slim Wren here appeared, giving his first announcement of the concert, which was announced as a Wild West and Indian Congress. Ring 1, Bob Norton and his trained pigs; Steel Arena, Bert Nelson and his group of 12 male lions; Ring 2, Dutch Marco and his trained pigs. Ring 1, Max Sahel and his 12 Liberty horses; Steel Arena, Bert Dennis and his zebra Liberty act; Ring 2, Austin King and his 12 Liberty horse act. The Shyman All Troupe of "Famous Eight Blue Devils", Arabs, in stunts of tumbling on Hippodrome track. In the troupe are Allal B. Mohamed, manager; Ben Ayssa Wadrassie, M. Ben Serry, Mohamed Mezzie, M. Ben Boushta, Hadj Nasser, B. Said, Nick Zano and Chas. Carnoy. Ring 1, Charles C. Charles and his trained seals; Steel Arena, Bert Nelson and group of polar bears; Ring 2, Max Sahel and his performing camels. Twelve girls performing on swinging ladders scattered thru the tent. Ring 1, Dutch Marco and trained goats; Steel Arena, Dot Whitney, with her panther riding zebra; Ring 2, Toby Tyler and his trained goats. Ring 1, the act beautiful, 12-horse menage act; Steel Arena, lion riding horse, with Lois Hopkins at the whip; Ring 2, 12-horse menage act. These horses have replaced those burned last season while on the road and so perfectly do they duplicate the work done by the others that even the most skeptical would not know the change. These horses are remarkably matched for getting them in so quick a time. The riders are Agnes Lausten, Margaret Graham, Ruth Wolfe, Billy Mack, Dot Whitney, Edna Anshler, Golda Backman, Margaret Munzo, Nellie Karino, Betty Kenyon, Bobby Todd, Erna Brown, Dorothy Devon, Irene Grizzell, Pearlita, Helen Roth, Babe Young, Nettie Rooney, Lillian Hopkins, Ethel Chase, Peggy Norton, Miss Gallagher, Gertrude Dennis and Neva Patsy. The act is concluded on the Hippodrome track by waltzing, dancing and prancing horses. Betty Kenyon on her prize waltzing and raring horse and Bert Dennis on his high-jumping horse, "Sky Rocket", are features of exceptional note. Another beautiful act, that of 75 cockatoos, macaws, pigeons and parrots. They are worked by Marion Norton, Agnes Lauston, Pat Clancy, Dorothy Kenyon, Billy Mack and Lois Hopkins. At the close of the act the doves and pigeons are released from the top of the tent and they fly to the outstretched arms of these girls. This act is the conception of John T. Backman and makes a beautiful display. Ring 1, Babe Young and her elephants; Steel Arena, Marce Baudet and her group of spotted leopards; Ring 2, Dot DeVon and her group of elephants; Ring 1, Fred Sauter, with a group of performing buffaloes and oxen; Steel Arena, Bert Nelson handling 10 African lions; Ring 2, Gertrude Dennis and her goodnight pony. The Pageant or Spectacle of all Nations. This is another conception of Rex de Roselli and consists of all the horses being ridden by a rider and representative of every country on this globe. At the stand of attention the Hippodrome races are put on and consist of pony and monkey races and Roman standing races. At the end of these races the entire audience joins in singing the Star-Spangled Banner, the cloaks of the riders showing the American flag. In the center ring is a huge 30-foot American flag in the background, with Columbia guarded on each side by a sailor and soldier. This has a wonderful effect and it leaves the entire audience standing at the close of the show. This is the A. G. Barnes Show of 1925 and it will grow better as the season progresses. The music is no small part of the show. Chas. Roadrick has a band of real musicians and their work demands the highest praise, for they are handling unusual numbers.
