EAGLE ROCK ASKS FOR BETTER FIRE PROTECTION More Hydrants and Grading of Certain Highways Sought by City Important recommendations for more adequate fire protection of the Eagle Rock section have been made to Battalion Chief Charles B. Casey of District No. 2 by Lieutenant E. W. Welty of the local engine company, after a complete survey of conditions. The report tabulates a long list of locations where hydrants are needed. In certain places, 2-inch risers are recommended. Buena Vista Terrace and Roanoke Avenue, Buena Vista Terrace and Eucalyptus Lane, Buena Vista Terrace and Mahantonga Terrace, Glen Arbor Avenue, opposite Minden Place. Concerning the report, Lieutenant Welty states: "In places where 2-inch risers are recommended no other means of getting water is possible, and I believe these to be very essential. In connection with this report I would urgently request that a crossing be established across the L. A. Railway tracks at Corliss Avenue and Glassell Avenue. With a fire in this region we would be seriously hampered because of this long stretch of impassable trackage, and especially so with a hydrant at this location, as requested. "I would also urge the grading of College View Avenue between Addison Way and Norwalk Avenue. This condition of impassability might necessitate going down hill quite some distance and then having to drive back up again, should the fire department be called to engage the exact location of the fire."

PAVING AFFORDS TRAFFIC RELIEF FOR BRAND BLVD

Glendale Ave. Improvement to Restore Business to City's East Side

With the paving on the eastern side of Glendale avenue from Cerritos avenue on the south to Broadway on the north completed, and thrown open to vehicular traffic, Brand boulevard which has been carrying double the amount of traffic for the past few weeks due to the closing of the parallel artery...

Work was being rushed with all rapidity possible on the western half of the avenue, until the rain of the week end halted operations. Several blocks of the old surfacing still remain to be removed. The grade has been completed and the base laid as far north as Palmer avenue...

Tempt Speeders The opening of the street has caused the traffic officers no small amount of worry, as the smooth surface extending through the city is a great temptation to drivers to "step on her" especially at night...

It is the willing assistance of men and organizations such as yours that made it possible for this benefit to have been the success it was, and the Post is grateful to its many friends. Sincerely yours, E. E. McWAIN, Adjutant.

EARLY TIMES ON PLATTE RECALLED BY AUTO VISITOR

Residents of "Cities of a Night" Cosmopolitan Crowd of People

By "OLD TIMER," Of The Evening News Staff. During the trouble on the border at the time of the world war, a visit was made to Calexico, and across the line to Mexicali on September 16, the Mexican Fourth of July. U. S. troops guarded the border on this side and the dark swarthy Mexican troops on the other, but otherwise the crowds mingled in a most friendly fashion.

A more cosmopolitan crowd cannot be imagined. Turned Hindus, Greeks, Russians, Japanese vegetable growers, Chinese gamblers, the negro cotton picker with his mule-drawn cart and the pickaninnies peeking out, dark skinned Luize in (purple) satin gown, her brood following blissfully consuming that American product, the ice cream cone, all were there.

All in Gay Dress Under a ramada in Mexicali, the crowds congregated, bands played, and the little guard at the corner of the ramada clicked his heels and saluted as an officer in a splendid limousine parked his car at the side of our trusty Ford. It was an interesting sight and as ever on such occasions, the writer was the one who are they, whence come they, and why are they here. Since the establishment of the modern auto camp it has been to Old Timer that a man has the above question would bring out equally interesting facts as in these "cities of a night" the ever changing crowd coming from the far north, the sun...

Six-Cylinder Sedan 127-Inch Wheelbase Seven Passengers

Five Disc Wheels and Nash Self-Mounting Carrier $25 additional

Here's a Sedan with Extra Value Apparent in Every Point

Among cars selling for a like price, you'll find none to match this handsome Nash Six Sedan for seven.

Judge it yourself. See the over-value Nash gives in every feature.

For instance, every cylinder wall is processed. This imparts a mirror-like finish and insures a perfect-fitting piston. Costly cars pursue exactly this engineering practice.

Again in the crankshaft. Nash was first to procure and is one of an exclusive few who enjoy the benefits of a specially designed machine for accurately balancing Nash shafts.

Nash makes its own axles and transmission parts, including bearings—in Nash shops—so that these important parts must pass exceptionally severe tests by rigid Nash standards.

In the stalwartly fashioned body there are fully 26 forged steel and malleable iron braces strengthening the body at places where strain and stress are most apt to be borne.

In every detail of construction, every nicety of appointment, every comfort provision you will find that Nash offers surplus value.

Come in today and take the car for a trial ride. It's the best way to test what we say.

PAVING AFFORDS TRAFFIC RELIEF

Improvement of Glendale Ave. to Lighten Burden of Brand Boulevard

The finally determined until the street is entirely finished and presented to the city for acceptance. An inspector is on duty at all times when the sub-base, as well as the top, is being laid, who reports directly to Ben S. Dupuy, city engineer each day.

Merchants Jubilant

Merchants whose business has suffered owing to closing of the street are jubilant that once the side is finished and that once new cars are using this important link in the city's traffic chain.

Many of the residents of the street who have looked forward to big things for Glendale avenue when the paving is completed, will say the soundness of their opinion put to the test.

With the ever increasing population in the Verdugo Woodlands, along with Montrose, La Canada, a Crescenta and Tujunga, Glendale avenue is destined to be, according to their opinion, one of the heaviest traveled thoroughfares in the city. It will be the greatest amount of foothill country north of Glendale.

Values Advancing

That property values have been enhanced far beyond the amount invested in the improvement is asserted, and many who a short time ago were figuring on selling property on Glendale avenue are now keeping it in anticipation of participating in the increased values which they say are sure to come with the completion of the street.

As the space between the rails of the Glendale & Montrose railway was paved along with the eastern side of the street, the completion of the paving will be pushed along faster than has been the case heretofore.

The completion of this much needed improvement will mark one of the greatest forward steps taken by the city in recent years, and will be a large factor in the development of this section of the city and country adjoining Glendale, which it serves.

SHOWS GROCERY LINE

A demonstration of the entire line of products prepared by A. H. Nichols & Co., of New York, is being held today in the Japanese Tea Store, 135 South Brand boulevard, and will continue until tomorrow night. Jennie H. Gregg, the firm's representative, is conducting the demonstration.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE
Douglas Fairbanks in "The Mark of Zorro" shows at the Glendale Theatre for the last time today. Fred Niblo directed this exciting adventure film, which was adapted to the screen from the story by Johnston McCulley, "The Curse of Capistrano," appearing originally in the All-Story weekly.

Fencing has long been added to "Doug's" versatility as a means of keeping himself in the best physical condition. This made it necessary for Director Fred Niblo to put Noah Beery, who plays the part of the braggart Gonzales, and Bert McKim, who acts the part of the over-zealous and suspicious swooper, Captain John Ramo, through a course of fencing.

DEMANDS BAN ON NOISY ROOSTERS

Sleepless Citizen to Insist on City Ordinance to Choke Chanticleer

to The Glendale Evening News.

With tears in his eyes, the patient sufferer outlined some of the methods he employed in order to enjoy his forty winks without being awakened when the first gray gleamings of an opalescent dawn streaked the eastern skies.

First, he tried out his plan of buying all the offending fowls in the neighborhood and punishing them in the same manner as the Revolutionists treated the Royalists a couple of hundred years ago in France, and thus put an end to his "Reign of Terror."

Chicken a-la-Kill

The crow of these over-jovous roosters was stopped, he said, but he soon tired of the sight of gore and the taste of chicken, fried, stewed, boiled, baked, browned and burnt, when his thrifty wife insisted upon converting a frying pan into a funeral pyre.

On top of his agony, caused by indignation and a rapidly shrinking bank roll, he learned the owners of the roosters were doubling-crossing him—taking the money he had paid to get rid of the noise and buying more roosters, and raising the price when they found he was in the market.

Naught remained but to move from that neighborhood when the peace and tranquillity of the home was disturbed at 5 a. m., he said, so he sacrificed their little home and paid a higher price for a less desirable abode in another part of the city.

Shades of Tennyson

He had not quaffed his cup of woe to the last drop, however, for at 4 o'clock the first morning in their new home he was awakened by the call of the wild—more riotous roosters in the offing. Quickly dressing, he walked into the back yard and there beheld roosters to the right of him, roosters to the left of him, roosters behind him, crowing and thundering, as Tennyson might have so aptly put it.

He thought of moving once more, to flee from his enemy, to seek a spot somewhere away from where roosters, like Macbeth, murder sleep. His funds were too low, so he needs must stay.

Now, he wants or will create an ordinance calling for mufflers for roosters within the city limits and the privilege of a hard-working man to sleep between 4 and 6 a. m., instead of lying awake and listening to the blatant tones of a brass-throated Rhode Island Red splitting the sun-blessed, balmy atmosphere of Glendale.

Nebraska Night to Be Observed at Meeting

"Nebraska Night" will be observed tomorrow night at the community "sing" at the Harvard High school at 7:30 o'clock. Among the former Nebraskans who will serve on the reception committee are Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Troth and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Morton.

COMMENT: RECALL DAYS OF EARLY NEBRASKA

That's All
Politicians Are Busy Give Disabled Their Due Fashion Show in Glendale Action—Something Human
—By Gil A. Cowan

With the South Dakota primaries developing a close contest between Coolidge and Johnson, political observers here and elsewhere are beginning to sit up and take notice. And while South Dakota is no criterion, it remains to be seen whether Calvin Coolidge will poll the vote necessary to make him the candidate leaders hope for. At any rate, the party organization will accept the president before they will even consider Johnson of California, but the senator may reveal many needs of the Republican platform.

More surprising, however, to the observer is the strength which William G. McAdoo shows. While Democrats disagree as to his candidacy, they are having a hard time to find anyone more widely known.

It will take more results, nevertheless, to convince everyone that all is well in any political camp.

There is a ruling affecting the federal vocational trainers in southern California which seems worthy of criticism, although it is an exception which may confound Washington authorities.

As we have had it explained, the man attending university, and particularly the disabled veteran, returns to his compensation pay basis—some as low as 10 per cent disability pay—during the three months' vacation period.

Now it sounds reasonable that if he is in need of vocational training to rehabilitate himself, likewise he is in need of the wherewithal for support for not only himself, but, sometimes, a family.

During the summer vacation season in southern California it is difficult for a disabled man to find remunerative employment, particularly if they are only to temporarily fill a job. Also, it is ridiculous to think of a disabled man impressing employers when the brown of our schools and colleges is available.

Therefore, may we not suggest that the government keep faith and pay the veteran students during the vacation period enough so they may rebuild their war-shattered bodies. We believe the physical well-being of a trainee is equal to that of his mental qualifications in days to come.

With $5,000,000 capital for new factories in Los Angeles, as announced today, there is every prospect of increased prosperity in the southland. That is one thing about Los Angeles we like—whatever benefits the metropolis also benefits the outlying communities.

And when Glendale, or Long Beach, or a community in the San Gabriel community makes a record, it is likewise a plume in the cap of Los Angeles.

Yesterday we were reading of 2272 passengers being in port on ocean liners at Los Angeles harbor. That looks like something real, doesn't it?

The day before that we read of Los Angeles harbor setting the pace in America for intercoastal tonnage during 1923. One more evidence of the magnitude of things done right here in our section.

It is difficult, indeed, to convince people that this metropolitan area is going to be comparable only to New York in a very short while, if it is not true today.

And we must reflect this very attitude in our part in this game of life.

The track fans will get a chance to see the 1924 Southern California track champions in action next Saturday afternoon, when Occidental will entertain the Grizzlies from S. E. U. C. on Patterson Field oval. This is the last appearance of the Tiger varsity on their home cinder path this season.

Although the Oxy team is considered an easy winner, several of the events will be hotly contested and very interesting. The meet will furnish Coach Pipal's men a good workout for the conference meet which comes off the following Saturday at the L. A. Coliseum with the Southern Branch in charge.

practically sure of their events, Graham of Caltech will probably take the pole vault away from Goodenough of Occidental. Each have gone over 12 feet, 5 1/4 inches.

WILL ISSUE NEW PHONE DIRECTORY

Changes in System Render Present Book Useless After March 29

The present or January Los Angeles county telephone directory will be superseded on March 30 by a red covered book bearing that date. Do not use the old directories after March 30.
"Due to the enormous number of books to be printed and delivered—340,000, or 650 tons of them—it will be impossible to complete distribution in one day." This was the message today of Fred Deal, local manager of the telephone company, to the people of Glendale.
"We should destroy the old directory," he said, "as soon as the new one is received."
Obsolete March 29
The Los Angeles county directories now in the hands of subscribers will be obsolete after midnight, March 29, because the new simplified method of operation will go into effect then. A call to Los Angeles using one of the numbers after that date will result in service interference, according to Manager Deal.
So, before placing any call to Los Angeles after March 30, if one of the new directories is not at hand, the Glendale user should call "Information" and make sure of the proper number.
The new method of operation in Los Angeles was necessary, said Manager Deal, because of the growth of the city, which is comparable to the growth of all Southern California cities. Just as Los Angeles is becoming a true metropolis, the Los Angeles telephone system must be put on a metropolitan basis.
New Equipment
"Los Angeles and all Southern California points are presenting a great problem of telephone growth," Manager Deal said. "One of the mileposts in this year's expansion program in that city will have been reached on midnight, March 29, when the big cut-over to the simplified method of operation will put into service apparatus that has cost $1,300,000 and the new March 30—red covered—directory will go into use. Because of these changes Glendale people should not fail to call 'Information' and make sure of their number before placing a telephone call to Los Angeles on March 30, and later. This should be done in every case until the March 30 directory is made available, and thereafter the new book should be used."
The new simplified method of operation in Los Angeles permits all subscribers using machine switching telephones to dial all numbers, whether machine switching or manual. To make the new method operative, it has been necessary to assign office names to practically all machine switching numbers and to capitalize the first two letters of all office names to indicate that they are to be dialed as a part of the telephone number.

U. P. WILL HONOR PIONEER PRIEST

Name of Father Escalante Is Chosen As Title of Utah Hostelry

Honor will be paid to the memory and bravery of the first white man who penetrated the then unknown inter-mountain region of Utah, when the Union Pacific system formally opens its magnificent new tourist hotel, El Escalante, at Cedar City, Utah, next Saturday. Many prominent business men of Southern California and railroad officials will attend the opening of the new hotel which is the first of a series of great tourist hotels to be completed by the Union Pacific in southwest Utah in the region known as "Utah's Scenic Wonderland."
El Escalante hotel has been named after Father Sylvester Velez de Escalante, a Spanish padre who set out to discover an overland route from Santa Fe to the new capital of California at Monterey. He set forth in 1776 with an expedition and, after many hardships, finally discovered a route into the "Great Basin" country. Continuing his way down the valleys he finally arrived at a point near Cedar City but, owing to the extreme hardships undergone, the men were unable to continue further. The great valley which marked the furthestmost point of his expedition of discovery was named Escalante Valley and the naming of the new tourist hotel in his honor will further perpetuate his name. While he did not succeed in completing the first overland trip to California, the news he took back to Santa Fe started other hardy pioneers who years later discovered a natural route across the mountains to Southern California, the present route of the Union Pacific system.
Recall Early Days
In casting about for a name for the new hotel, officials of the Union Pacific decided it would be a fitting tribute to name it after Father Escalante. And in keeping with the name the fittings and decorations of the hotel will be a constant reminder of the discoverer of that region. The new hotel is of picturesque design and is absolutely fireproof, even to the furniture and fixtures which are all made of metal.
El Escalante will be the starting point for all tourists over the Union Pacific to the great scenic attractions of Southern Utah including Zion National park, Bryce Canyon, Cedar Breaks, Kaibab Forest and the North Rim of Grand Canyon. It will also accommodate the large motor tourist traffic over the Arrowhead Trail to and from Southern California and the east. It is expected El Escalante will soon be famous as one of the notable tourist hotels of the west. It will be operated by the Hotel and Dining Car department of the Union Pacific system. The entire furnishings of the new hotel were purchased in Southern California, and, according to C. A. Redmond of the Union Pacific, the new hotel will soon be a popular headquarters for Southern Californians as the scenery in Southwestern Utah is among the finest in the world.

SUPERSTITION vs OIL FACTS

Is it bad luck to break a mirror? No, that's just a superstition. And the current belief that "eastern" oil is in some mysterious way "better" is another. When you pay a fancy price for "eastern" you are paying just so much needless tribute to unwarranted prejudice.

The Best Crude Is Western Crude
As a matter of fact, the most suitable crude for the production of motor oil is Western Naphthenic Base Crude, obtained from Pacific Coast wells. And the most advanced and efficient refining process yet developed is the high-vacuum process, the patents on which are owned by this Company.
You can drain and refill your crankcase every 500 miles—which is good practice regardless of the kind of oil used, as any automobile manufacturer will tell you—and still save money if you use Zerolene. And your car will get better continuous lubrication, as proved by your increased gasoline mileage, smoother operation, and reduced carbon deposits.

Better Gasoline Mileage—Less Carbon
Extended tests conducted by this Company in the laboratory and on the road show that the Zerolene-lubricated car averages about 5% better gasoline mileage than when other oils are used. Carbon deposits are also less, chiefly because of the selected western crude from which Zerolene is made.
Insist on Zerolene even if it does cost less.

FICTION WRITER'S AUTO IS STUDIO

Motors Around in Search of Local Color; Writes as Mood Strikes Him

That the latest wrinkle in automobile writing and that Glendale and the Verdugo hills have been the birthplaces of many thrilling short stories, novelettes and other current magazine literature was the news received this week by the Nash Sales company from Robert S. Breyer, of Los Angeles, vice-president and general manager of the Troy Motor Sales company, Nash and Lafayette distributors for Southern California, Arizona and Southern Nevada.
Johnston McCulley, celebrated author of "Saddle Mates," "The Black Jack," and other popular fiction stories, together with many novel screen plays, is a devotee of Lafayette and Nash cars, according to the word received from Troy headquarters. Instead of having any one certain city or town as his home, he motors here and there in search of inspiration and there in search of inspiration roaster.
With a small, noiseless typewriter of the "transportable" variety, a supply of "Mss." paper and a camp chair, the author avers that he needs no more studio furniture. His running board is his desk, and the great, open dome of the sunny southland gives him all the inspiration he needs to woo the muse.
"Aside from whatever glory, self-satisfaction and money there may be in fiction writing," Mr. McCulley was quoted as having told newspaper representatives, "there is that wonderful sense of freedom in being able to live where one pleases. And with a Lafayette or Nash, there is no reason why any writer of adventure stories should move away from this section, for right at one's door lies all the local color one could wish for."
Mr. McCulley admits that in his latest novel he wrote the yarn in three states and a dozen cities, doing the introduction in Arizona, the dramatic adventure stuff in Southern Nevada and writing the conclusion in Glendale and various other cities and towns through which he "Nashed" while engaged in its composition.
Ramparts in ancient times were built of sharpened stakes or felled trees in the manner of the use of barbed wire in modern warfare.

PAPER TELLS OF LINCOLN'S DEATH

Civil War Veteran Cherishes New York Herald with Story of Murder

The approach of the anniversary of the assassination of President Lincoln has brought to light a carefully preserved copy of the New York Herald, dated Saturday, April 15, 1865, the date of the murder of the great emancipator, which is now in the possession of Charles I. Peirce, 328 West Elk avenue. The ancient Herald contains a full account of the attack on Lincoln by John Wilkes Booth and the bulletins that were sent out at brief intervals from the White House until the final message came that Lincoln had succumbed to his injuries.
Mr. Peirce served with company A of the 23rd Massachusetts Infantry for over two years of the war, receiving his discharge when his injuries incapacitated him for further service.
Other relics that Mr. Peirce cherishes highly are a few tattered scraps of his old regimental flag, the banner of the 23rd Massachusetts, but he has taken a few strands of the revered flag to present to the son of one of his old comrades in arms, now of Alhambra, but whom he met here in Glendale, where Mr. Peirce has lived for the past nine years. He is the father of Theodore Peirce, 317 Vine street, general manager of the Pacific Desk company of Los Angeles.

Fathers, Sons, Strengthen Bonds At Annual Banquet Staged By Glendale Hi-Y

By A. S. HALL
Of The Evening News Staff.

Staid business men forgot the cares and worries of their offices, years flitted gayly by for men whose hairs were becoming tinged with gray, and boys got a new insight into life last night at the annual Father and Son banquet given under the auspices of the Glendale Hi-Y club at the Glendale Presbyterian church.

Preparations had been made for 500 guests, but when the chairs around the long tables were filled it was found that nearly 200 more than had been provided for were in attendance. The banquet drew more guests last night than any previous banquet held by the club.

Rex C. Kiley, secretary of the Glendale Y. M. C. A., who had charge of getting the guests seated in the big dining room of the church, succeeded in finding additional chairs for the extra number, while a part of the celebration took on the aspect of a buffet luncheon later in the evening.

Fatherless Boys

The Hi-Y club and the Y. M. C. A. provided 131 fatherless boys for the banquet, whose wants were looked after by members of the three civic clubs and fathers who had no sons. There were more demands for fatherless boys last night than could be filled, and in some instances one son with two "fathers" could be found.

Members of the Kiwanis club took care of forty-two youngsters from the Strickland home, bringing them to the church in automobiles provided by the club. Kiwanis paper hats, tops, balloons and candy were given the youths by the club members. Ed Radke had charge of the event for the Kiwanis club.

Thirty fatherless boys were cared for by the members of the Exchange club, with President R. E. Johnston and W. H. Daniel in charge. The Rotary club, with President George B. Karr at the head of the table, played "father" to thirty boys. The emblems of each club were on their respective tables.

White Leads Singing

David Black, chairman of the executive committee of the Glendale Y. M. C. A., acted as chairman for the evening. He introduced H. R. White, executive secretary of the Presbyterian church, who led the singing in the place of Fred Dye of Hollywood, who was unable to attend on account of illness.

Arlyn McCormick, a member of the Hi-Y club, gave the invocation. Music was furnished by the members of the Hi-Y orchestra, composed of Kenneth Bartlett, 329 Milford street, drums; Harold Jones, 1385 East Colorado boulevard; saxophone; Norman Nelson, 1328 North Columbus street, saxophone; and Harry Grace, 310 Hawthorne street, piano. Everett L. Anderson of Montrose was accompanist of the evening.

Chairman Black, in introducing the toastmaster for the evening, Theodore Haig, former president of the Hi-Y club, said there are thirty Hi-Y clubs in Glendale and vicinity, with 415 members and workers.

Merriam Is Speaker

Frank F. Merriam of Long Beach, speaker of the house of the California legislature, was the principal speaker. He was introduced by Frank C. Weller of Glendale, assemblyman from the Sixth district, who told of some of Mr. Merriam's activities in legislature, and the regard in which he was held by all assemblymen.

"Parents today are too busy gaining wealth or social position to look after the needs of their sons," Mr. Merriam said. "Men are not the pals of the boys in their communities, let alone the pals of their own sons. This lack of interest on the part of fathers leads the sons to seek companions elsewhere, and their search invariably leads them into paths of crime."

"Make the work of tonight the work of days to come. Show the interest in the boys that you have displayed tonight on every night of the coming year, and on every day. The only fault I find with these father-and-son banquets is that they do not come often enough. Men, be pals with your boys. Boys, be pals with your dads. With such a combination, the world cannot help but grow better."

Need for Religion

There is a great need for religion in the everyday life of the boy today, C. W. Ingledue told the guests, in his address on "Our Boys." He cited facts and figures given by judges of juvenile courts showing the average age of criminals has been lowered within the last ten years, he said, while the churches have only doubled. He pleaded for the men to show more interest in the boys, to get them into the church and into the Y. M. C. A.

Art Foster of 1215 Stanley avenue, kept the boys, both young and old, laughing for fifteen minutes as he told numerous dialect stories. His stories provided the biggest laugh of the evening. Jerry Oster, president of the Junior Hi-Y club, told of the 1923 summer camp, and described the various routine duties, sports and good times the boys had.

Speak On Dads

Two boys spoke on "Dads." Bill Gray of 533 North Isabel street, representing the Fremont Pioneers, and Arden Gingery of 157 1/2 South Central avenue, of the Hi-Y club. Rev. W. E. Edmunds pronounced the benediction.

Girls of the Christian Endeavor society of the church did the serving at the banquet. Mrs. L. A. Hart was in charge of the waitresses, and Mrs. James Newton was in charge of the kitchen. The fatherless boys were provided by Robert Hatch, and the decorations were in charge of Charles Thompson, Richard Rhyme and Lee Fayna.

The table decorations consisted of large sunflowers for centerpieces, and orange ribbons. California popples were provided for all the fathers, while sunflowers were provided for the boys.

Southern California

Air Route to Big Bear

ONTARIO, March 26.—Prospects of a passenger air route between this city and Big Bear valley for the coming season appear excellent, a franchise having been granted W. D. Waterman and his associates to undertake flights on a commercial scale. If successful, such a route will do much to popularize a great and wonderful section of Southern California, long accessible to the majority of people. A landing field in the valley is now being put in shape and flights may be expected to start within six weeks, according to Mr. Waterman.

Plan Honeymoon in Arctic

PASADENA, March 26.—Harold Noice, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Noice of 168 Chestnut street, will leave New York City this spring for the Arctic with his bride, who was Miss Frances Allison of Englewood, New Jersey. There, in the land of the midnight sun, according to his father, the daring young explorer and his wife will spend a honeymoon whose rigors would daunt the average girl of today. The Noice party, which will include a crew of eight men, will board their vessel, which has been christened the Frances, in New York, and will journey through the Panama Canal. On the way to the Pacific coast, they will put in at Los Angeles for a brief visit with Mr. Noice's parents. Then they will continue up the coast, through Behring Straits, past Point Barrow on the northern coast of Alaska, then through Coronation Gulf which divides the Canadian mainland from Victoria Land, which Captain Noice christened on a previous expedition, and then on to King William Island, which will be their winter headquarters.

To Build Big Monastery

SIERRA MADRE, March 26.—The Fashionist Fathers have purchased for $100,000 the famous Mount Tera springs tract and will erect there a magnificent monastery, to be the headquarters of their western province. The estate was once the home of Lyman Gage, former secretary of the interior. The full name of the order which will erect the new monastery is the Congregation of Discalced Clerks of the Most Holy Cross and Passion of Our Lord Jesus Christ. It was founded by Paul Francis Dani, later known as St. Paul of the Cross, who was ordained in 1727. The order has extensive establishments in the east, and in Europe.

Carnival May Not Be Held

ALHAMBRA, March 26.—The annual business men's carnival, an institution of four years' standing, may not be held this year, the sentiment of the board of directors at their meeting being that a postponement for at least a year would be advisable because of the presidential election.

It was finally decided to place the matter before the entire membership of the association for a vote. This ballot will be taken by mail within the next few days, according to Secretary J. B. Scullin.

On Tour of South Pacific

SAN PEDRO, March 26.—Dr. Wilton McCarthy, noted scientist, has embarked with a party of other scientists for a three months' tour of the South Pacific ocean, to study submarine life. Specimens and data acquired will be given to the Field Museum of Chicago. Tiburon Islands, off the coast of Mexico, will be the first stop of the expedition.

Community Hotel Planned

MONROVIA, March 26.—This city has joined the ranks of the community hotel builders, a $330,000 hostelry being "over the top" financially, reports R. T. Radford, chairman of the executive committee. The hotel will have thirty guest rooms and twenty-five apartments, eight stores, a big dining room, patio, assembly room and will be of the Aztec architecture, something unique in the history of Southern California.

Banker Huris Self in Front of Car, Is Dead

PHILADELPHIA, March 25.—Morris W. Stroud, Jr., 36, president of the banking concern of Stroud & Co., committed suicide by throwing himself in front of an electric car at Villa Nova, a suburb. The banker, it was said, suffered from a nervous breakdown over a week ago.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.
Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

"Dear Doctor:—I see you offer pamphlet of reducing so I am enclosing four cents in stamps for same because if anyone ever needed to lose weight I am that one. I need to lose 50 pounds but I know it will be mighty hard work as it has been accumulating for some years. I am one of those shrunken necked females with a fat back, 42 bust and well padded hips. But my arms are the bane of my existence. The flesh on the upper arms is not the solid, firm flesh, but the flabby kind that shakes and shimmies. Can you tell me of anything that I can do to get my arms and bust and back down to normal? It is only fair to say that I am very fond of candy.—K."

I could have told you you were when you acknowledged 50 lbs. very fond of candy (or something) overweight. Your arms, bust and back will get down to normal when you have reduced that excess 50 pounds. But I'm afraid you are going to be disappointed in your expectation of receiving that pamphlet! According to your letter, you did not enclose a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope with your stamps and the office has had to rule that no material can be sent out unless that is done, because it would require an extra office force to address the envelopes of the hundreds of letters I receive every mail. Will you try again, observing the rules?

Miss D.:—I think when you get down to normal, your legs will reduce. They can't help going down some! The shape of the legs does seem to be another of those inherited characteristics. Try deep massage and lots of brisk walking and dancing.

Mrs. F.:—Send for my article "It Won't Be Any Easier Tomorrow." That will help you get started to diet. But don't wait for that article. Just think of the tide.

DIVORCEE IS ACCUSED OF MURDER

Tells Weird Story Of Suicide Pact In Car

Mrs. Belle Brown Overbeck Gaertner

Chicago's latest murder sensation is the Gaertner case. Mrs. Belle Brown Overbeck Gaertner, twice a divorcee, was arrested by police after Robert Law, automobile salesman, was found shot to death in her automobile. She told police a weird story of the two of them, drunk, deciding to take turn shooting at each other to determine who was the better shot. After one was killed the other was to commit suicide. They flipped a coin for the first shot, she said. She didn't remember what followed.

Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Mme. Semenova is one of thirty-seven women members of the soviets of the Russian union with for women's club rooms. Many women live in hotels, boarding houses and light housekeeping rooms where they have no way of entertaining men friends. No one can look askance at a woman's inviting a man to dine at a club, therefore the business woman joins a club and entertains there. Good food at modest prices is the rule in the clubs, and as the majority of the members are not particularly affluent, this makes a real appeal. Also the non-tipping rule is strictly observed.

Kentucky is famed for its beautiful women—also for its "moonshine." Since prohibition has come into effect the blue grass state has developed record breaking feminine dry agents. Miss Bessie Winton and her helpers, Alice Henry and Mathilda Scott, have brought a number of "big cases" into court. In this country, back in the Kentucky mountains, where firearms are the law, these girls go unarmed. They use smiles for weapons and they seem to be effective.

Miss Anne Nichols

To be the author of a play so popular that it has a New York run of 90 weeks, with seven road companies out all playing to packed houses, is a record that few men and fewer women achieve. Miss Anne Nichols, of New York, is the author of "Able's Irish Rose," which has won this phenomenal success. The box office receipts are said to have gone above the million dollar mark.

Miss Sophia Delevan Cowles is president of the Women's Association of Commerce of Chicago. She was the only woman delegate to the recent United States Chamber of Commerce convention held in that city.

Miss Cowles was the woman who insisted that Mabel Normand, the movie star, should be given a hearing in the case of the sen-

The old tub churn, formerly an indispensable part of every rural home equipment, is passing. Twenty-five years ago farm women in this country manufactured 1,071,745,127 pounds of butter each year. Last year they produced but a small fraction of this amount, while the creameries turned out 1,200,000,000 pounds. The farmers' wives are learning that they can sell the cream for practically as much as the butter and are saved the labor of churning.

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

A CHAT ON WHITE HAIR

If you dread the coming of white hairs, let me tell you the story of a woman whom we will call Mrs. Graham, though that is not her real name. Mrs. Graham had been an unattractive girl, and as she grew old she became still less attractive with her pale complexion and her light-colored, nondescript hair. She had rather fine, dark eyes, but no one paid much attention to them. No one paid much attention to her anyway, and least of all her own husband. She dreaded the approach of oldness and dyed the white hairs as they appeared. The result, as usual, made her still homelier.

Her husband's death and a period of illness and trouble brought her back to her old home with her hair snow white. She was too discouraged with life to try to darken it. And then suddenly she found herself spoken of as an exceedingly attractive woman, for the white hair gave prominence and beauty to her dark eyes, and her pale skin, a clear pallor now as a result of her illness, went very well with her white locks. Mrs. Graham, as a widow who acknowledged herself 50 years old, began to receive all the attention which, as a young girl and a young wife, she could never command.

Some of it, perhaps, was because she took care of her white hair, washing it every six weeks with castile soap and warm water, and between each one of these shampoos giving it a good washing with half alcohol and half water. She kept it in this way a lustrous, silvery white without a tinge of yellow. She also used the slightest amount of bluing in the rinse water—not enough to hurt the hair or the health, merely enough to keep it silvery. And as she had stopped using dyes, her hair came in with its original thickness.

The last I heard of Mrs. Graham she had married one of the most sought-after widowers, a man who had never looked at her when she was young and unattractive.

Heart and Home

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl fourteen years old and in the eighth grade. I am the only girl at home, but have a brother four years older than I who is very cross to me. My parents are always scolding or slapping me when they don't have any reason for doing it.

I wash the dishes every night with my mother and also help her with the rest of the work, and I do everything I can to please her, but still she insists upon slapping and scolding me for nothing. Sometimes my parents make me so unhappy that I could put an end to my life that instant.

I have a few boy friends, but I am not allowed to speak to them. There is one boy who is very polite and I like him very much. One day our neighbor saw me talking to this boy. Just as soon as he got a chance he told my mother. This made me very angry, for she scolded me as usual and also slapped me. She also said that if she caught me talking to him again she was going to send me away. Do you think she is treating me right? I haven't done a thing that could have caused her to say such a thing. I am getting discouraged by always being scolded and slapped like this, and not even being permitted to talk to a single boy friend.

Please give me your advice as to what I should do. I will not stand this very much longer.

At the age of fourteen you are very young to have "boy friends" and I can see that your mother would object to your standing talking to a boy. To slap you for it, and talk as if you were bad, is not the kind of treatment you should have, however, because it only fills your heart with resentment and hatred. I believe your mother is trying to discipline you as best she knows how. She slaps you because she thinks that will make you mind. Of course you resent such treatment, but there is little you can do except try to please your mother and the rest of the family. You are learning a valuable lesson and when you are a mother you will be able to profit by your own sad experience and suffering. One of the pitiable things in life is that so many children are misunderstood and mistreated. Try to keep your heart full of love so that when you are old enough to be free your life will not be spoiled by bitterness and resentment.

"JUST HOW" TO BAKE WHITE BREAD

- TOMORROW'S MENU
- Breakfast: Oranges, Cereal

 - Toast

 - Tea: Lettuce, French Dressing
 - Preserves
 - Dinner: Cream of Onion Soup, Cold, Sliced Corned Beef, Pickles

Several young housekeepers have written to ask for directions for baking bread. The following recipe will bring excellent results if accurately followed:

To Bake Two Loaves of White Bread—Put one cup of hot, sweet milk into a good-sized bowl and add to it one cup of hot water and one tablespoon of beef dripping. Let this mixture cool to the tepid stage, then add one-half cake of compressed yeast which has been previously dissolved in an extra half-cup of lukewarm water. Also add one teaspoon of salt and one tablespoon of granulated sugar. Stir till the sugar is dissolved, and mix to a stiff batter by stirring in six and one-half cups of flour.

You now have your bread mixed. The next step is to turn it out onto a slightly-floured bread board and knead it for ten minutes. It should be quite elastic at the end of this period of kneading; place it back in the bowl, cover with clean dish-towels, and set in a warm place to rise overnight (it is a good plan to mix

RADIO STILL IN ITS INFANCY, SAYS DE FOREST

"To look far ahead in the development of the radio is impossible," said Dr. Lee De Forest, foremost contributor to radio science, recently. "It would be pure guesswork. Eventually radio will make us all one people—the final achievement of the dream of the brotherhood of man. It is easier to predict what is going to happen within the next few years—the next twenty-five years, anyhow.

Dinner Stories

A bright-eyed old man boarded the train at St. Paul, bound for Seattle. Perhaps it was Minneapolis where he boarded it, but it doesn't matter. Anyway, as the conductor passed through the car the old man stopped him and asked how far it was from St. Paul to Seattle.

"Sixteen hundred and twenty miles," the official answered curtly.

The next time the conductor came along the old man stopped him again and asked him how far it was from Seattle to Los Angeles.

"See here, my man," the conductor responded pompously, "it's sixteen hundred and twenty miles from St. Paul to Seattle and sixteen hundred and twenty miles from Seattle to St. Paul—do you understand?"

"Maybe so," said the cross-examiner, without raising his voice. "I didn't know. You see, it's only seven days from Christmas to New Year's, but it's a long time from New Year's to Christmas."

Auto tourists see so much on the way that it requires something out of the ordinary to interest them, says a prize story in Judge. A tourist in a rural district was impressed by the more dead-than-alive character of the country, where houses were few and dilapidated, and inhabitants but infrequently seen. He at last found a native leaning lazily over a fence and regarding the stranger with a glimmer of interest.

"Not much going on around here, is there?" the tourist asked. "None," replied the native. "Nuthin' but the interest on the mortgages."

these things, but to look much further into the future you have only to dream.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—Deaths due to automobile accidents reached a total in excess of 134 in California in 1923, according to figures just announced by L. E. Ross, state registrar of vital statistics. Delayed reports from several counties will increase this total, according to Registrar Ross. The figures at hand show a 25.7 per cent increase in the death rate over last year, as against a 34.7 per cent increase in automobile registration in 1922, compared to a 13 per cent increase in deaths and an 18 per cent jump in registration in 1922 over 1921, according to D. V. Nicholson, manager of the public safety department of the California State Automobile association.

An earthquake a week is the average recorded at the University of California seismographic station. The California station has a world record in registering earthquakes and data on the various shocks, compiled by Professor J. B. Macelwane, of the geology department of the university, is regarded as a valuable contribution to the scientific world. Professor Macelwane has recently carried on some interesting researches into the nature of earthquake waves.

The most systematic collection of remains of California Indians to be found in the world is the work of Professor Kroeber, of the University of California anthropology department, housed at the university's anthropology museum at the affiliated colleges in San Francisco. This museum is one of the three best collegiate museums in the country and, although small in quantity, makes up in quality, is the opinion of Professor Leslie Spier, of the University of Washington, Seattle, now engaged in research work at the University of California. Speaking of the collections, he said: "The University of California museum ranks equally as high as the American museum, the National museum or the Field museum collections, the three best in the United States."

CLASSICS OF HUMOR "THE TWINS" By HENRY SAMBROOK LEIGH In form and feature, face and limb, I grew so like my brother, That folks got taking me for him, And each for one another. It puzzled all our kith and kin, It reached a fearful pitch; For one of us was born a twin, Yet not a soul knew which. One day, to make the matter worse, Before our names were fixed, As we were being washed by nurse, We got completely mixed; And thus, you see, by fate's decree, Or rather nurse's whim, My brother John got christened me And I got christened him. The fatal likeness even dogged My footsteps when at school, And I was always being flogged, For John turned out a fool, I put this question, fruitlessly, To every one I knew: "What would you do, if you were me, To prove that you were you?" Our close resemblance turned the tide Of my domestic life, For somehow, my intended bride Became my brother's wife. In fact, year after year, the same Absurd mistakes went on, And when I died, the neighbors came And buried brother John. We suppose the elements who are always howling that the United States is controlled by a "financial oligarchy" will change it to "olligarchy."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND UNCLE CHOW Just as Uncle Wiggily and Nurse, Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy finished their breakfast in the hollow stump bungalow one morning there sounded a knock on the door. Uncle Wiggily and his muskrat lady housekeeper looked at each other. "I wonder who that is?" whispered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "If it's the Woozle Wolf or the Fuzzy Fox," began Uncle Wiggily, "they can knock all day and they can knock all night before I will let them in!"

"Oh, dear! It's a Lion!" cried Jackie. "What are we going to do, Uncle Wiggily? There's a Wolf behind us and a Lion in front of us. Oh, why did I come down this path? Why didn't I mind you?" "I'm sure I don't know," answered Uncle Wiggily. "It is too late to think of that now. We must think of how to save ourselves." "I don't see how we can be saved!" howled Jackie. "I wish I had minded you and gone the other path. The Wolf is coming and so is the Lion!" But, all of a sudden, the animal that Jackie had called a Lion began to laugh. And the Wolf suddenly stood still and cried: "Oh, excuse me, Mr. Lion, I didn't know you hunted here! I'll go away and leave everything all you!" Then the Wolf slunk away and the other animal laughed again and said: "Ho! Ho! I'm not a Lion. I'm your Uncle Chow, Jackie, and I am on my way to visit at your house! Hello, Uncle Wiggily!"

Poems That Live

LINES When the lamp is shattered, The light in the dust lies dead; Where the cloud is scattered, The rainbow's glory is shed; When the lute is broken, Sweet tones are remembered Not; When the lips have spoken, Loved accents are soon forgot. As music and splendour Survive not the lamp and the lute, The heart's echoes render No song but sad dirges, Like the wind through a ruin'd cell, Or the mournful surges That ring the dead seaman's knell. When hearts have once mingled, Love first leaves the well-built nest; The weak one is singled To endure what it once posted. O Love, who bewailest The frailty of all things here, Why choose you the frailest For your cradle, your home and your bier? Its passions will rock thee, As the storms rock the ravens on high; Bright reason will mock thee, Like the sun from a wintry sky. From thy nest every refter Will rot, and thine eagle home Leave thee naked to laughter, When leaves fall and cold winds come. --Percy Byssche Shelle y.

Many Write Reasons Why
They Came To Live Here

Replies to the request made by The Glendale Evening News in its issue of Saturday, March 22, asking the citizens of Glendale who came here from other communities to say just why they decided to settle in Glendale, are already beginning to pour in.

Every writer has given his or her reasons on WHY I CAME TO GLENDALE, and nearly all of them show that Glendale was selected as a home place only after careful comparison with other Southland communities.

Why did YOU come to Glendale? There must have been some definite reason why YOU brought your family to Glendale and cast your lot in with those who had already made their homes here.

The Glendale Evening News is offering three cash prizes for the best letters telling why their writers settled here. The first prize will be $25, the second $15, and the third $10, and the only condition is that the letters must not exceed 150 words in length. Employees of this newspaper and members of their families are barred from participating.

The contest will close March 29, and all replies must be in before that time, addressed to GLENDALE EDITOR, The Glendale Evening News, 139 South Brand Boulevard, Glendale, Calif.

HAS ANSWER TO PASTOR'S SERMON

Defends Christian Science In Replying to Recent Talk by Rev. Evans

changed and revised and revised and re-changed again?" The recanting Christian Science leader, who, we are told, first suggested this question to Doctor Evans, would have found more light had she turned to page 357 of her Science and Health and read the simple and direct answer which Mrs. Eddy herself gives to this question: "I have revised Science and Health," she says, "only to give a clearer and fuller expression of its original meaning. Spiritual ideas unfold as we advance." Could ought be more logical?

Is It Scientific?

"It is not scientific!" exclaims the doctor. Twelve years ago the writer would have gone the doctor one better and added that Christian Science was not only unscientific, but non-intelligent and lacking in coherence. This is the experience of many who are drawn to Christian Science. They come to scoff, linger to marvel, and remain to sit at the feet of Wisdom and learn their lesson like little children in school.

Present day thought accepts as "scientific" that theory which has a well defined, standardized technique of practise through which the theory can be applied. The age demands a theory that, when so applied, can be depended upon to produce a high ratio of successful, beneficial and permanent results. In other words, it should be something that any intelligent person can study and understand, something he can put into practise and something that will make humanity better. Theory, practise and results must articulate and harmonize. Christian Science meets each one of these requirements.

It is commonly difficult for one to grasp the theory of Christian Science at the beginning. The usual experience is that one hears people testify to physical healings that seem almost miracles, or solutions of personal and financial difficulties that to mortal sense appear supernatural. The hearer believes—without understanding—and asks to be healed likewise. Observing and analyzing the "mental work" or "treatment" that healed him, he perceives the method—nothing more or less than a simple, faithful prayer to God.

So, he has before him the fact that in his experience there have been demonstrated two of the essentials for science—results and method. These tend to prove the correctness of the third essential, and his ambition to study the theory and understand it is stimulated.

ed. It is what business men term a "show me" process of conversion. Instead of beginning with the theory, it begins with the goods.

"Unchristian," Evans Says
"It is not Christian," asserts Doctor Evans. As a standard for comparison, the writer has obtained from inquiry among a number of business and professional men of many creeds the following summary:

"Any doctrine is 'Christian' which (1) Receives the Bible as the word of God, (2) Accepts unreservedly the divinity and teachings of Jesus Christ, (3) Demands that its followers faithfully put His teachings into practise."

Christian Science certainly meets these tests. Critical theologians may give a weird slant to isolated passages clipped at random from Science and Health, but to criticise it intelligently and fairly it must be studied and the acts of those who follow its teachings must be observed. The theory of radio-transmission cannot be grasped without first understanding the principle of the dry-cell. Understanding of Christian Science—what it is and how it does—comes from acceptance of simple propositions such as "God is Good." From these, the student progresses to the more involved formulae.

"It denies the personality of God," affirms this critic. Now, if by "personality" is meant a concept of a "God in man's image", an exalted being with human form and venerable mien, perhaps seated on a golden throne in the upper atmosphere—then Christian Science does deny that concept. And so, likewise, think many other enlightened Christians of today. Mankind seeks a higher and more spiritual concept.

To the writer, it appears that Christian Science teaches that God is so vast, so good, so eternal, so powerful, that with our limited imaginations of time, dimension, weight, sound, color and motion, we must fail utterly in trying to paint a mental picture of God as person. Christian Science seems to point out that God can be discerned only by spiritual sense. Spiritual sense would include the qualities that people term "moral sense" and "sense of right and wrong" or "conscience" or "ethics."

As to what is, and what is not specifically, the true teaching concerning Jesus Christ there appears to be some division recently in the Protestant churches—not excepting the doctor's own denomination. Cries of "heretic" and "treason" resound. All these warring factions accept the biblical word as the truth concerning Jesus Christ, but differ as to its interpretation.

One of the quiet spots amid all this clamor is the Christian Science church. The Christian Scientists found their whole teaching about Jesus Christ upon the Bible. They accept the biblical word about Him in its entirety. That Christian Scientists are able to interpret this Word today in harmony with each other and at peace with contemporary denominations—while round about the sparks fly from theological swords—leads the writer to conclude that their teaching about Christ must be true, since manifested in good works.

"It denies sin," Dr. Evans charges. The writer is moved to inquire "What matter if it does?" Few of us care what indignities are heaped upon sin so long as it is driven out and replaced with well-doing. Thousands rise in Christian Science churches over the land every Wednesday evening testifying that Christian Science does cleanse them from sin and protect them from sin. Those interested in the theological aspect of the doctor's objection will find on page 472 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy's answer to the question "What is sin?" To the writer the most vital thing in this connection is the demonstrated fact that where Christian Science enters, sin departs.

Church Marriages
"Did you ever hear of a marriage ceremony in a Christian church?" concludes the doctor. The answer to this would be emphatically in the affirmative—and that nothing else has ever been heard of as authority for those who live in wedlock in the Christian Science church. Prompt discipline would undoubtedly follow the attempt of any member to put into practise unlawful or bizarre theories concerning the marriage covenant.

Doctor Evans has confused the word "church" with "church edifice" or "church building." In the Christian Science church edifices there is no performance of marriage ceremonies, nor of christenings, baptisms, confirmations, funerals, Christmas trees, parades, picnics nor ice cream socials. There is a marked absence of ceremonial. The services are limited to readings from the Bible and from Science and Health, hymns of thanksgiving, and testimonials of healings and remarks on Christian Science.

Members who marry are free to choose whether they will have the ceremony performed by duly constituted civil authorities, or by pastors of other Christian churches. They may have the ceremony performed in their homes or if they wish, in other Christian church edifices. All that the Christian Science church asks is that it be done decently and in order and that all the law be fulfilled.

The reader who will turn to the chapter on "Marriage" in Mrs. Eddy's book, Science and Health, will find a wholesome attitude and much good counsel upon the subject. Quoting from page 60: "Marriage should improve the human species, becoming a barrier against vice, a protection to woman, strength to man, and a center for the affections." And on page 55: "Infidelity to the marriage covenant is the social scourge of all races." Also page 64: "Honesty and virtue insure the stability of the marriage covenant." Page 60:

"Mother-love includes purity and constancy, both of which are immortal." Page 59. "The nuptial vow should never be annulled so long as its moral obligations are kept intact."

Competitors "Sell" It
One principle of salesmanship expounded to young salesmen by experienced sales managers is the following: "Above all, avoid drawing attention to your competitors' wares! Pointing out the flaws in your competitors' goods may operate to turn the attention of your prospect to their virtues and thus lose you the sale."

The writer has often wondered why this principle is not taught in schools of divinity. It is amusing to see how theologians continually fall for the temptation to spice their own selling-talk with attacks on Christian Science. Long before the writer ever regarded Christian Science seriously, his curiosity to learn more of it was stimulated by the enthusiasm of competitive clergymen as they "ambushed" the Science and its students. Many converts to Christian Science are made in this wise.

I believe I voice the thought of an intelligent masculine majority in saying that what men ask from the clergy today is not doctrine, but works; not preaching so much as teaching; less theology, argument and controversy and more of the healing Word. For men like Doctor Evans and the rest of his cloth who have consecrated their lives to the work of leading and lifting up humanity, we have naught but deepest respect and affection. But in the sound of their strife there is no comfort. We need peace on earth, good will towards men.

Arguments do not convert. The healing obtained in the Christian Science churches today is the magnet that draws men toward Mrs. Eddy's teachings. Christian Scientists are DOERS. The Christian Science practitioners or "healers" preach hardly at all but the answer to their prayer accomplishes wonders in healing and in comforting. The members of the church as a class, radiate kindness, helpfulness, success, optimism and sincerity. These are the realities that beckon like a friendly shore to the deliric, adrift on the turbulent waters of present day controversy and materiality.

Y. W. C. A. Conference Will Be Held at Oxy

The Annual Intercollegiate Conference of the Southern California Y. W. C. A., which was to have been held at Santa Ana, is to be on the Occidental Campus over the week-end. The convention begins at noon Friday, March 28, and ends Sunday morning, March 30.

Several hundred girls from the institutions all over the south are expected to attend. Elaborate plans are in order for the guests. Committees are working on the different divisions. Beth Dean, president of the Occidental Y. W. C. A., is chairman of the reception committee.

The visitors will be taken on sightseeing trips in and around Los Angeles, Glendale, Pasadena and other points of interest. Many prominent men and women in this part of the state will address the organization. President Dexter of Whittier college is to deliver the main lecture before the convention Saturday night.

Nearly 1,000,000 American workers are buying shares in companies where employed.

Peagreen Edition of Tiger Paper Coming

The freshmen edition of the "Occidental" newspaper will appear on the campus next Tuesday morning, decorated with plenty of green ink, typical of the sophisticated frosh. The peagreen edition is predicted to be the outstanding issue of the four classes and should win the competitive prize offered for the most unique and original paper. Samuel Peck, the editor-in-chief of the yearling publication, is working hard to produce an attractive class newspaper. Since the freshmen edition will come off the press on Tuesday, April 1, only time can decide whether it shall be considered a joke or not.
