OVER FOUR HUNDRED FRENCH SAILORS PERISH

BRITISH LIBERAL WHIP IN VICTORIA

SCOTTISH EMIGRATION AND LAND TENURE SYSTEM

J. W. Gulland, M. P., Anticipates Early Passage of National Insurance Bill

The Scottish Liberal Whip, J. W. Gulland, M. P., for Dunfermline, arrived in the city last evening from Vancouver, and will leave today for Seattle. He is due to speak at a mass meeting in Chicago next Sunday, and from there will go on to Philadelphia; and then sail from New York to England.

This being his first visit to western Canada he is profoundly impressed with the marvellous advance made, and considers the principal cities of British Columbia have a most substantial appearance. He stayed off at two or three of the mountain resorts, and was astounded with the beauty of the Rockies, which he considers greatly surpass the attractions of the Swiss Alps.

Mr. Gulland, who possesses that modest good-humor necessary in a parliamentary whip, made it clear that his visit is purely in the nature of a holiday, and has no political significance. His last act before leaving Scotland was to recommend W. E. G. Gladstone, a grandson of the famous statesman and the present earl of Glatton, to the Liberal Association of Kilmarnock, as a candidate for adoption as candidate. He has not yet heard how the by-election has gone, but as the late Dr. A. R. Rainy had 3000 majority in December, he has not much to fear of the result.

Mr. Gulland was surprised in passing through the country to find how much the name of Lloyd George was on the lips of the people in discussing British politics, and said he was afraid the sterling characteristics of the present Mr. Lloyd George in Canada. Few more level-headed, calm, resolute men had ever been at the head of affairs than Mr. Asquith, and no other man could have steered the Parliament Bill through as he had done. His talents were of a very different order to those of Mr. Lloyd George, and yet each was necessary to the government.

Lloyd George was handling the great National Insurance Bill with remarkable skill. The bill was one of the greatest attempts to deal with the evils of society to-day in a great industrial country. The ramifications into which its operations would extend were at the present time scarcely appreciated, but the Chancellor of the Exchequer had received the best advice, and when the House resumed its sessions in October the government expected to deal with the bill effectively, and to pass it through the House. Some amendments would doubtless be admitted, but the broad principle would remain.

The Scottish Land Bill, which had been the cause of much trouble with the House of Lords, had progressed better during the recess, and they hoped to take the report stage as soon as the House reassembled. This bill was of importance to Canada, as it was an attempt to deal with the depopulation of the rural areas of Scotland by removing some of the objectionable features of the existing land tenure system, and to pass it through the House. Some amendments would doubtless be admitted, but the broad principle would remain.

While it was Scotland's loss, it was Canada's gain, yet from the standpoint of the Scottish member he did not wish to see the rural areas depopulated of the best and most industrious of her sons. It was a singular commentary on the bill that while the opposition strongly opposed the measure till the publication of the census returns, their objections became practically passive after statistics showed that the drain had been so enormous.

Next session would be a Home Rule one. Some measure had to be submitted to deal with the grievances of Ireland, and the Liberal party was organizing public opinion to educate the British electors on the measure. At this very time a party of English Liberal members were in Ireland studying the question at first hand.

He was confident the Liberal party stood as firmly entrenched in public confidence as it had at any time since its advent to power nearly six years ago.

FATAL EXPLOSION

Montreal, Sept. 25.—One man is dead and two others in a critical condition as a result of an explosion in one of the powder mills at Beloeil yesterday. William St. George, Cassimir Williams and Maurice Menard were brought to the city last night and taken to the general hospital, where the first named died in a few hours after reaching the city. Two other men, Alphonse Duquette and Arlene Williams, were also brought to the hospital, but while their injuries were painful they were not serious.

R. L. BORDEN FACES TARIFF PROBLEMS

WOOLLEN MANUFACTURERS WANT DUTY INCREASED

Earl Grey May Postpone Departure Until New Government is Organized

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—R. L. Borden, Premier-elect, arrived in Ottawa today and will begin the organization of the new government. Earl Grey, the Governor-General, is considering postponing his departure until a few days after October 4 in order that the Borden government may be fully organized before the arrival of the new Governor-General, the Duke of Connaught, on October 14.

Mr. Borden, Geo. H. Parley, M. P., chief whip of the Conservative party; John Thompson, K. C., son of Sir John Thompson, a former Conservative Premier; and W. H. Rowley, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, were among those who met Mr. Borden. The public celebration of his victory has been deferred until Tuesday. Mr. Borden drove at once to his home in Wurttemberg street.

Mr. Borden will be called upon to give early consideration to several requests for tariff increases. The Woollen Manufacturers, who considered themselves insufficiently protected from British competition by the existing duty of 20 per cent, are anxious that the tariff be increased to 50 per cent. At present English woollens have a large market in the Dominion, but the domestic woollen industry is stagnant.

Ottawa is filling with office-seekers. The resignation of A. N. Parent, chairman of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission, is expected at an early date. Mr. Parent was formerly Liberal Prime Minister of Quebec. The commission was hotly attacked by the Conservatives when in opposition. The Laurier government, while administering the government until its actual retirement, is preventing an early date for making any important appointments. The private secretaries of the ministers, by immemorial custom or both sides, will be given responsible positions in the public service, but the real plums offered are vacant Senatorships, Railway Commissionerships, etc., will fall to the Conservatives.

Lord Strathcona, Canadian High Commissioner of London, is expected in Ottawa next week. He signified to Sir Wilfrid Laurier last summer his intention of soon relinquishing his position on account of advancing age. He is a Conservative, and although Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, was selected to succeed him, Lord Strathcona did not tender his resignation. If he does so now the appointment of his successor will be by the Borden Government.

Sir Wilfrid's unsuccessful campaign was marked by wonderful exhibition of endurance on his part. He will return from California in time to prepare for the parliamentary session, which will open probably in November.

May Be Counted Out.

Montreal, Sept. 25.—Hon. William Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, in the Laurier government, passed through Montreal yesterday en route to Ottawa. Mr. Pugsley said he was not quite sure whether he was a member of the House of Commons, for his majority, he now learned, stood at two. A request was to be held, and there was a large number of rejected ballots as well as alleged irregularity in one poll, he thought it likely that he would be counted out. Mr. Pugsley was accompanied by Sir Frederick Borden, who attributed his defeat to the fact that the farmers did not want reciprocity.

R. L. Borden interviewed.

R. L. Borden spent an hour yesterday in Montreal en route from Halifax to Ottawa. He expressed great satisfaction at the Conservative gains in this province, and whether he had as yet any plans to announce regarding the formation of his cabinet or calling together of parliament, he replied in the negative. The premier-elect said that there appeared to have been some doubt as to his majority in his own constituency, but that it could now be definitely announced that he headed the poll in Halifax with a majority of 198 over Hon. A. K. McLean, who was also elected. Mr. Borden stated that he would probably attend the luncheon being tendered His Excellency Earl Grey at the parliamentary restaurant on the evening of his departure. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has also expressed his intention of being present at the function.

Alleged Libel.

Mr. Borden was also a candidate in Massonville in the recent election, and Albert Gingras, the returning officer, were placed under arrest on a complaint of Mr. E. W. Villeneuve, the defeated candidate. Neither of the men was taken to the

ELECTIONS ON PRAIRIES

Winnipeg, Sept. 25.—The election summary of the western provinces as sent out on Saturday still appears unchanged.

In Manitoba, Provencher and Dauphin are Liberal seats. A. M. Campbell, the Liberal candidate in Souris, announced this morning that Dr. Shaffner's election in that district was conceded. The slight doubt as to Selkirk still obtains, though it is probable that George Bradbury, Conservative, is elected.

The Conservatives have apparently carried only Prince Albert in Saskatchewan, and Calgary in Alberta.

TAX COMMISSION OPENS SESSIONS

The sessions of the Provincial Tax Commission, which will investigate the situation throughout British Columbia, holding meetings in the principal cities of the province during the next month, began this morning in the executive council chamber, Parliament buildings. The commissioners present were Hon. Price Ellison, Minister of Finance, chairman; Hon. A. E. McPherson, K. C., president of the executive council; C. H. Lugin, of Victoria; and W. H. Malkin, of Vancouver. Dr. Gray, secretary of the commission, and J. B. McKillop, surveyor of taxes and inspector of revenue, were also in attendance.

After the reading of the formal notice by Dr. Gray, the chairman intimated that the commission had been duly sworn before Judge Barker.

The first witness was John Dean, who, in course of his evidence, said he thought the commission would agree that the question was not so much the rate, as the judicious expenditure of the money when collected.

It was a question of the equitable proportion, that all the different interests should be rated proportionately and equitably with every other interest. Coming to the matter of the wild land tax, in his view it was altogether too high in comparison with the general average. No doubt the legislature took the view "that if you tax the land, the greatest high it will result in the development of it, or force quick sales to others, who will develop." "I have always," he continued, "taken the view that there is only a certain demand for a certain amount of agricultural land, or that there is a certain amount of development in any land or any community, and thus you are traversing the natural law of supply and demand if you endeavor to force anything contravening this natural law. I believe this was the theory on which the single tax was advanced, and I believe the same cause has been

HAMAR GREENWOOD VISITS VICTORIA

One of the rising men among the younger barristers in the British House of Commons, Hamar Greenwood, has arrived in Victoria, and is staying with Mrs. Greenwood at the Empress hotel. He has since 1901 made a practice of a visit to the land of his birth, not only on pleasure, but to keep in touch with conditions on this side of the Atlantic. Enjoying an increasing practice before the Privy Council, and as counsel for the Board of Trade his visits have become practically a necessity to him.

Mr. Greenwood, who was in the House for York from 1906 to 1910, was elected Member of Parliament in December at Sunderland, being at the head of the poll, with a Labor colleague, thus securing one of the few gains in large industrial centres obtained during that election. The confidence the government feel in him was shown in his selection as one of the counsel at the recent Newfoundland Fisheries arbitration at The Hague.

In the course of a conversation with a Times representative on Saturday evening, Mr. Greenwood was naturally asked his view on the elections of Thursday. He deprecated at the outset any interference by British M. P.'s with Canadian politics, declaring that so far as his experience went, the elections in one section of the Empire had no effect on any other part, nor should they, as the sentiment aroused in one part of the British dominions could receive little sympathy from others, nor could he see the cause for British Conservatives taking satisfaction out of the result of the recent election here, as the aims and ideals of the parties in Great Britain and Canada had little in common save the party name.

It was, in his own words, "a triumph of sentiment over economics," and he pointed to the fact that the English provinces, Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia, had some strongest against reciprocity, while the Scottish section, the Maritime provinces, had divided their support. Quebec had, of course, been affected by the Nationalist movement, while the elements of nationalism in Saskatchewan and Alberta were at present uncertain, although the sentiment in favor of reciprocity had been considerable, as was shown by the number of Liberals returned in those provinces.

Rising Member of British House Expresses Guarded Opinion on Recent Election

SELECT CANDIDATE FOR THE YUKON

Dr. A. Thompson Nominated by Conservatives to Oppose F. T. Congdon

Dawson, Y. T., Sept. 25.—The Yukon Conservative party on Saturday unanimously nominated Dr. Alfred Thompson for the Dominion parliament. No other name was placed before the convention. Forty-six delegates representing all points of the territory. The nomination was ratified Saturday night at a public mass meeting and banquet of party members. The convention adopted a platform declaring allegiance to Borden and embracing planks favoring a quartz mining code for Yukon, subsidies for steamers to serve prospectors and others along the Yukon side streams, government wireless service for the entire Yukon and the outside world instead of the present government land lines, lower transportation rates to Dawson, first-class wagon road from Dawson to White Horse, and government aid smelters and sampling mills.

The Yukon election will be held October 23.

Thompson will be opposed by F. T. Congdon, who was renominated by the Yukon Liberal convention unanimously last month. Congdon left Vancouver for Dawson yesterday.

ITALY PREPARES FOR EMERGENCY

DETERMINED TO SECURE CONTROL OF TRIPOLI

Rome, Sept. 25.—The Italian government is moving rapidly and with determination in the matter of an Italian protectorate over Tripoli. Its plans no longer are concealed, and its attitude is favored by all classes except the advance Socialists, who threaten to call a general strike in the event of hostilities.

Although not attaching much importance to the strike, the government has decided to call to the colors 10,000 reservists so as to be prepared for all emergencies, both at home and abroad.

According to the information in official circles to-day, the government hopes to effect an amicable arrangement with Turkey whereby Italy will secure a lease of Tripoli under the sovereignty of Turkey, paying therefor an annual rental.

If Turkey definitely refuses to meet this proposal, Turkey will proceed with military measures.

The government is prepared to meet any aggressive measures on the part of Turkey, such as attempts on the lives and property of Italian subjects in Turkey, in which case it is understood naval demonstrations will be made before Smyrna immediately.

The material difficulty of these operations have been given full consideration. The calamitous Abyssinian campaign has been recalled by the government, which realizes that the failure of the proposed expedition would be a grave disaster. Accordingly, most careful precautions have been taken. The Turkish forces in Tripoli are estimated at a minimum of 30,000 men. To cope with these, Italy will send her whole fleet and an expeditionary force of 60,000 men.

It is reported that several Italian merchant steamers have departed from Turkish ports without disembarking their cargoes.

The Porte has instructed the Turkish ambassador at Rome to ask the Italian government for an explanation of the movement of Italian steamers.

It is reported that an Italian squadron, consisting of the battleship Napoleone and Roma, the armored cruisers Pisa, Amalfi, Giuseppe Garibaldi, Varez and Francesco Ferruccio and two flotillas of destroyers and torpedo boats left Syracuse last night for Tripoli.

BATTLESHIP BLOWN UP IN TOULON HARBOR

Fire Breaks Out on the Liberte and Spreads Rapidly to Magazine—Many Killed While Trying to Escape From Doomed Warship

Toulon, France, Sept. 25.—Fire broke out early to-day in the hold of the battleship Liberte, counted one of the finest vessels in the French navy, and the explosions which followed wrecked the ship and killed more than half of her crew of 793 officers and men.

The fire was discovered a 5 o'clock. At first it did not appear to be serious, but it gained a quick advantage over the squad of sailors who tried to extinguish it, and suddenly, without warning, it reached the magazines, which had not been flooded on account of the apparently trifling nature of the blaze.

The force of the explosions were terrific. They shook the vessel fore and aft, each one seemingly stronger than the preceding one, opened great fissures in the armor and framework of the vessel. The vessel immediately became a mass of fire and smoke and soon demolished by the terrific detonations sank to the bottom of Toulon harbor.

At an early hour to-day unofficial estimates of the number of dead on the battleship Liberte ran as high as five hundred. Estimates by naval men varied widely, but there was no doubt that the loss of life was more than 200. Scores of the seamen died in their berths. About one hundred saved themselves by jumping overboard. Many of those injured leaped into the water and drowned before the boats from the other ships in the harbor could reach them.

One hundred and forty of the crew escaped death owing to the fact that they were ashore on leave. Commander Jaures, a brother of the Socialist deputy, was not on board.

Awful Carnage.

The carnage in the explosion was worse than could ever have occurred in an actual naval engagement. The first crash came when the crew was for the most part dispersed in various sections of the vessel. They were without warning of their danger. Scores of bodies were hurled into the air, accompanied by great fragments of framework, armor, bursting shells, and the blinding suffocating smoke of the powder.

Men below who had not yet been awakened, were killed in their sleep. Others awakened by the explosion, started to jump overboard and were caught by the second detonation.

The crew was panic-stricken and rushed wildly about, groping through the blinding smoke in which many fell unconscious from suffocation.

There were many vessels in the harbor at the time, including a number of warships which have been manoeuvring here since the first of the month.

Recalled to Posts.

The first explosion brought a quick response from the nearest war vessel and from the shore. Dozens of boats put off and picked up survivors and floating bodies. There were three tremendous explosions in quick succession as the fire reached the magazines. One hundred men saved themselves by jumping and others would have escaped, but for the discipline which held them at their posts. At the first explosion the men below, suddenly awakened, tumbled from their berths and rushed to the sides of the vessel and were throwing themselves overboard when an order calling them to their stations rang out and held to their deaths those who had not already escaped.

A piece of armor plate blown from the Liberte struck the cruiser Republique on the port side with great force, damaging her plates.

From 300 to 350 of the crew of the Liberte and about 100 men from the other warships which had been sent to help extinguish the fire disappeared. The Democrate lost 20 dead and fifty injured.

The Liberte was anchored in the roadstead where she had been since the review of the fleet by President Faillieres on September 4.

Particular significance attached to the review, the most imposing in the history of the French navy, as it was made on the very day that France communicated to Germany the terms on which the Republic offered a settlement of the Moroccan dispute with Germany.

Following the review the fleet resumed the ordinary manoeuvres and gun practice. On September 20, the armored cruiser Glaire was engaged in target work when a port gun exploded as a projectile was being inserted in the breech. One runner was killed and thirteen others were in-

BRITISH OFFICERS RELEASED

Emden, Prussia, Sept. 25.—Lieuts. Atwood and Sheppard, the British army officers who were arrested here on Wednesday, charged with espionage, have been released.

OVER FOUR HUNDRED PERISH

Toulon, Sept. 25.—(Later.)—The latest estimate this afternoon places the number of missing from the Liberte at 350. To this must be added 100 men from the other ships who were killed. Several small boats which had gone from the other warships to the aid of the Liberte sank when the final explosion occurred.

Twenty men were killed and 50 injured on board the Democrate and there were fatalities on the Verte and Republique. The latter was damaged and was obliged to dock hastily.

News in Paris.

Paris, Sept. 25.—The news of the explosion of the magazines on the battleship Liberte came as a stunning blow to the French public and to naval officials.

It is the climax of a long series of disasters which have marked the history of the French navy since the blowing up of the battleship Jena on March 3, 1907.

The news of the disaster as received here during the morning hours varied widely.

The most authentic dispatches stated that the sinking came nearly two hours after the discovery of the fire in the hold. Another wire said that the ship broke in half from the force of the explosions and sank twenty minutes later. According to this version the battleship re-appeared at the surface for a time, a grim piece of wreckage surrounded by a tangled mass of iron surmounted by a tangled mass of wreckage. The number of dead varies from 250 to 500.

The battleship Liberte was the type ship of the so-called Liberte class in the French navy. A boat of 14,900 tons displacement and an overall length of 452 feet. She carried a crew of 793 men and bore four 12-inch guns and ten guns of the French 7.6 inch type. She also had twenty-three small guns and four torpedo tubes. She was completed in 1907 at a cost of $7,000,000.

The recent history of the French navy contains a series of disastrous accidents, most of them caused by explosions and several occurring at Toulon, the scene of to-day's catastrophe.

On March 12, 1907, the battleship Jena was almost destroyed by the explosion of her magazine and 107 officers and men lost their lives.

Until to-day the Jena disaster stood as the greatest recent calamity suffered by the French navy in times of peace. Like the Liberte, the Jena was blown up in the harbor at Toulon, but the loss of life was less, making the disaster on the Liberte the most serious investigation of the Jena explosion resulted in an official report that it was due to spontaneous combustion of powder in a magazine where the temperature was too high on account of DEDICATION WEEK OPENS IN Y. M. C. A.

A. J. Brace, Secretary, Delivers an Address—Fellowship Tea and Song Service

Addressing a large and representative gathering of men, some residents of Victoria, some strangers to the city, C. R. Sayer, Winnipeg, opened the ceremonies of the dedication of the new Y. M. C. A. building yesterday afternoon. After a few words of greeting he read from the first verse of Paul's Epistle to the Romans. Mr. Sayer emphasized particularly the words: "Present your bodies as a living sacrifice unto God," showing how necessary was the application of this admonition in our own times, especially to men who had taken up association work.

Several hymns were sung after which A. J. Brace, who returned yesterday from a visit to relatives in the east, spoke, taking as his subject the text read by Mr. Sayer. He extended a hearty greeting to all present. This was perhaps the last occasion he would have of meeting them, he said. It gave him great pleasure to be able to be present at this time, to witness the opening of the new association work in Victoria. He and his associates had looked forward to this week for several years. Every man, whether in the association or not, should try to find out his work on earth, and at home or abroad give all that was in him to God, not occasionally, but every hour of the twenty-four each day. It was no easy task to make a sacrifice of one's self to the Lord; it was, however, a most necessary thing to do.

He himself was now about to take up foreign work. The idea, the call, had not been a pleasant one in many ways. It took many years of prayer and thought to confirm him in the acceptance of it. The question was this, "Is it right to consider your own convenience in the face of the necessity of others?" No. We were told to "present our bodies as living sacrifice to God"; "a living offering," he felt it should be called, and wherever there was a need of truth there was a call for workers, and although the call came from a foreign, uninviting spot, yet must heed be paid to it.

It was not by words that we served the Master, it was by practicing helpfulness in our daily lives. Mr. Brace emphasized this need of practical action for the furtherance of good. He called the attention of the audience to cards that had recently been printed by the Y. M. C. A. On each card was a set of resolutions, each one a wish and a vow to take a forward step by the help of God. The speaker called attention to the promise to join some church. This was the duty of everyone. All needed the church and the church was as strong as we made it. If it had its failings we were the ones to blame for them.

Mr. Brace asked every man present to take one of the cards with him, and to mark in the margin a cross opposite every resolve taken. The cards were printed in duplicate. After being filled ed out one-half was to be given in to the association officers; the other part was to be retained by the individual. A record could be kept of those who could be relied on to further the cause and mission of the Y. M. C. A.

R. C. Horne, acting general secretary of the local association, announced that immediately after the mass meeting Mr. Brace would conduct the regular meeting of the Bible class. He extended an invitation to all present to attend any day or every day during the week of the opening ceremonies, stating also that not only to men was the hospitality of the association offered, but ladies would be welcomed and expected as well. Mr. Horne announced that a "Friendship Tea" would be served in the reading room at six o'clock.

The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of a hymn, led by Mr. Sayer.

At six o'clock about sixty men sat down to an inviting and generous supper. Mr. Brace, who presided, called on every one present to rise in turn and give his name, residence and birthplace. Many courtesies were rendered, and many assurances of appreciation, both of this city and of the Y. M. C. A., were offered by the guests.

At the close of the introductions, a brief but encouraging and inclusive speech was delivered by the Western Field Secretary, C. R. Sayer. Mr. Sayer brought out particularly the point, that the association was not composed of buildings but of men, the members made the association and its spirit.

He also laid stress on the religious side of Y. M. C. A. work. The name "Christian" loomed up large in the name of the association; let that significance remain ever prominent in the thoughts of every member, and let him conduct himself according to the guidance and teaching of Jesus.

After church about nine o'clock in the evening a pleasant hour was spent in the lobby, where the usual informal Sunday evening song service was held.

RING FIGURES IN CAMORRIST'S TRIAL

Attorneys for Defence Declare Carabineers Have Manufactured Evidence

Viterbo, Sept. 25.—More experts were called in the Camorra trial in the attempt of the jury to determine whether the finger ring alleged by the carabinieri to have been found in the possession of the alleged murderers of Genaro Cuocolo, was identified with that Cuocolo is known to have worn. The defence has asserted that the carabinieri purchased a new ring to exhibit in court with the deliberate purpose of manufacturing evidence. Three experts have declared that the ring in evidence has been worn several months. Others testified that it had been worn six months, while still other experts declared that the ring had been in service for not more than two or three months. "I propose," said Demarini, "that ten identical rings be purchased and these brought into court and handled as this ring has been handled. If this is done, I will wager that in a few days all of them will be reduced to the same condition as the exhibit. If they are not, and I lose, my forfeit will be that I will admit that I murdered Cuocolo and I will go to prison for life."

THREE FIREMEN CRUSHED TO DEATH

Killed by Avalanche of Bricks While Fighting the Flames

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 25.—An avalanche of bricks from upper walls of a burning six-story building in the wholesale district crashed through three floors of an adjoining building Saturday night, killing three firemen and injuring several other men. The dead: Lieutenant Virgil Ferguson, Louisville; Fireman Richard Hardman, Louisville; Fireman Richard Dial, salvage corps. The injured: Jacob Stuegel and Arthur Mohlman, employees Kentucky Wall Paper Company. The firemen and clerks were on the street floor of the Louisville Paper Company when the upper walls of the adjoining wholesale millinery, crashed without warning. The fatal loss is $300,000, while adjoining stores also suffered damage.

RAILWAY STRIKE

Texas Law Prevents Company Entering Into Agreement With Employees

St. Louis, Sept. 25.—The strike of the carmen and inspectors of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, which began Saturday in the shops of the company along the entire system, is the result of a demand for a new schedule of wages, according to W. A. Durham, assistant general manager, that the company cannot legally give. The Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway Company is a separate corporation from the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, and the legal department of the road has held that the laws of Texas forbid the two corporations from entering into an agreement for the entire system which is composed of two corporations. The legal department of the road has informed union officers that they cannot legally enter into a conference for the entire system, no matter if the terms were agreeable. Durham said that 1,000 men were out, but that the road would not be inconvenienced and that the car inspectors could be replaced easily.

THINKING THEMES BY DR. FRANK CRANE

Right here I wish to write down being this day fifty years of age, and the time hence being short, and being unwilling to waste effort in foolish struggles against Nature, that I love them that love me, and no body else. I have rounded the shoulder of life's hill, and desiring as pleasant an amble down the slope of years as possible, I have no time nor strength to waste in cultivating people for reasons of policy or duty. For years I was a preacher, whose business it was to be "popular." It was impressed upon me by all my mentors, my relatives, and by every circumstance of my calling, that I was to be "pleasant" to every one. Thus should I win souls. This also fills pees and tone up the finances. My soul loathes the uniformly pleasant to all. If he smiles at every one, how do I know what he means when he smiles at me? He has destroyed the very language and significance of smiles. He would smile and speak sweetly to the devil. No; give me a good, honest, grim-face; then if it lights up for me it means something. Indiscriminate pleasantness is immoral. Never was any mortal reason for anybody to love another body, save only that "The rest is morbid. And that I am wholly in the right you can prove for yourself, if you will open your Bible (for who can gainsay what

Literary Mention from the Mantle Section

Here, at "Campbell's," Fashion Unfolds for You Her Rarest Creations

TIME and again the ladies in and around Victoria have pronounced CAMPBELL'S to be a liberal education in style correctness.

THIS is an age when scientific accuracy is demanded in every phase of social and business life. Particularly in the realm of Ladies' Fashionable Apparel, we cannot guess or surmise, we must KNOW what is correct—not a month or a week ago—but to-day. Few ladies would have time or opportunity to learn these vitally important facts were they dependent wholly upon their own efforts. But every woman is more than welcome to avail herself of the knowledge we have gained through years of unremitting study, observation and experience. We know where to seek for the truest interpretation and the most perfect delineation of Fashion's latest edicts. World famous designers and importers have contributed their choicest productions to make our Fall and Winter display the greatest possible style significance. The hundreds of ladies who have already made their Fall and Winter purchases from us, have themselves admitted that they have gained a real insight into the countless innovations Fashion has decided upon for the coming season.

THE well-informed woman is without exception the well-dressed woman—she carries with her an unmistakable air of distinction. This style knowledge so essential to the fashionable woman may be pleasantly acquired by a visit to "Campbell's."

Friday next, from 3 to 6 p.m., display de luxe of Evening Dresses, Dinner Gowns, Visiting Costumes and Ball Dresses

Next Friday afternoon, from 3 to 6 p. m., we have decided to make a special exposition of Evening Gowns, Dresses and Tunics; purchases that were made personally in Paris by our Mr. Campbell.

Our three French Rooms on Friday afternoon will be devoted entirely to this exposition, which we venture to say will be the first and finest of its kind ever attempted in Victoria.

The graceful new lines, the one-sided Parisienne effects, the many new garnitures and the glorious French designed Tunics all will be placed upon models ready for your inspection.

We very respectfully mention that between these hours (3 to 6 p. m.) no garments will be sold in either of our three French Rooms; this is necessary in order that we shall be able to extend our usual prompt courtesies, and enter into chatty detail upon the various exclusive styles you will find displayed here.

You glean as much information here as a trip to New York or Paris, for we have the exact models, which were personally purchased at these great centres.

PRESIDENT TAFT ON JUDICIAL REFORM

Complains of Delay in the Administration of Justice in United States

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 25.—During a moderately busy day here Saturday President Taft made side speeches, took a forty-mile automobile ride, opened the local football season by tossing the pigskin into the gridiron at St. Louis university, laid the corner stone of a new Y. M. C. A. building, sat through nine innings of baseball between the St. Louis and Philadelphia National league teams, visited the Masonic club to be made a life member of the organization, and addressed a throng in the Coliseum at night. President Taft put forward the suggestion of a wider power of impeachment as a substitute for the more radical proposal of a judiciary recall. The president declared that the law's delay unquestionably was one of the great causes of unrest in this country, and said that undoubtedly the recall idea had grown out of the fact that the courts in many instances are not performing the functions that they should.

Judges should be more responsible, the president declared, and the means of impeachment made more simple. There should be judicial procedure, a proper hearing, rather than public clamor. Mr. Taft declared that the delay in administering justice in this country should bring the blush of shame to all good Americans, and that the courts of this country made a very poor showing in comparison with those of England, where the judges keep up with their dockets and where criminals find swift-punishment awaiting them.

The president spoke with a great deal of earnestness on the subject of reform in judicial procedure. The speech on this subject was entirely impromptu and followed the conclusion of a luncheon at the City club. The president's set speech of the day was on the creation, the work and the purpose of the tariff board.

THE DAILY TIMES

IMPERIAL PREFERENCE

Although the Conservative organs of Canada have scarcely recovered from the surprise of their recent victory at the polls and the echoes of their intoxicated rejoicings are still heard, they are already beginning to see some of the pitfalls that threaten their path as the party in power.

Tory press to deceive the ignorant people of both countries into the belief that some such scheme must follow if reciprocity could but be defeated.

For ourselves, we have not been deceived. We knew it would be so; we said it would be so. While we have no sympathy for the Tory party of Britain nor with those egregiously stupid members of it who lent their assistance to the campaign of deceit.

LAURIER'S LEADERSHIP

The decision of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to lead the forces of the opposition—though in the heat of the campaign he several times announced a different determination—will be received with unalloyed admiration for Canada's grandest political chief.

There are two reasons why Sir Wilfrid's decision will be hailed with delight by Liberals throughout Canada and in Great Britain.

As an additional example of the manner in which the Tory party is seeking to cover up its tracks, we find the party organs listing the straight Nationalists who were elected in the province of Quebec as straight Conservatives.

A matter that is being seriously discussed by a number of well-wishers of the mining industry of British Columbia, is the gross exaggeration and misrepresentation frequently characterizing both promotion advertisements, in connection with so-called mining companies, and newspaper descriptions of mining properties.

Sir Wilfrid will unmask the Tory shams, strip the gorgeous decorations from their pretentious promises, disclose their firm adherence to the principle of high tariffs at the cost of the helpless classes that constitute the strength of Canada's prosperity and the people will have a rare spectacle.

No rainbow colors of illusion will deceive the optics of the political forces of Canada when next they aim at the target of their evil situation.

The only question settled by the emphatic pronouncement of the people of Canada on September 21 was the imputation of possible infidelity to the British Empire.

and the relation of high tariffs to these as well as the question of an open market for natural products are still to be settled.

THE HOUSE and the Home

It has been well said that there are plenty of houses but not enough homes.

Most anyone can own a house of some kind or other, but for that house to be a "Home" in the fullest and best sense of the word it must be beautiful, within and without, artistic in its arrangement, and rich in its design.

This does not, of necessity, imply extravagance or expense. The smallest house if properly designed may have the beauty and stately grandeur which a palace may lack. Everything depends upon the genius of the architect. If the plans for the house are conscientiously drawn, conforming to the essential principles of architectural excellence, they will please the eye and prove a permanent source of delight.

Here in this office is an exhibition of sketches, plans and photographs which have been highly approved of by home seekers and intelligent people generally. You are cordially invited to examine them.

BOY SCOUT TROPHIES

Many Excellent Trophies Are Presented for Competition Among Troops.

The popularity of the Boy Scout movement in the city of Victoria is reflected in the numerical strength of the various troops, the enthusiasm displayed in all its work by all its members, and by the whole-hearted appreciation of the public which looks on and exercises the function of criticism upon the merits of all such institutions. It is no longer an experiment; it is an institutional bulwark of the community, and not to be aware of it or to be uninterested in its sphere of endeavor and activity amounts to no less than an unwritten confession of ignorance.

Like all incipient movements the Boy Scout movement is dependent to a large extent upon the favor of public sentiment, and when, as in the city of Victoria, public sentiment extends the helping hand to further the development of this particular movement it may be taken as the impetus and stimulus which quality being stamped upon its banner.

What the Boy Scout movement means to the youth of the city particularly, and to the youth of the nation generally, has been generously recognized by those members of the adult community whose interest and patronage render their association of double significance and value. It is gratifying indeed to be able to acknowledge the co-operative efforts of such men as Lieut.-Governor Paterson, and others in this movement. His Honor has signified his appreciation of the work being done by donating a magnificent shield for competition among the respective troops. Others who have presented cups and valuable trophies for like purposes are Rev. H. A. Collinson, W. G. Scott, Oscar Hass, and Messrs. Robinson and Andrews.

ODD FELLOWS' NEW HALL

Committee Has Two Plans From Which to Finally Select for Building.

Competition in the plans for the construction of the new Odd Fellows building which is proposed to be built on View street at a point between Quadra and Blanche streets, is now limited to two, and it is claimed that whichever of them is finally selected by the committee in charge the building will be a magnificent one.

In the first instance architects were asked to submit plans for the work; many took advantage of this opportunity of submitting a plan and the plan of the committee has not been easy on account of the many excellencies which were to be found in all the plans. The site on which it is proposed to build covers an area of 120 by 120 feet, so that there is ample room for a palatial edifice rising to several stories in height.

The local union of Christian Endeavor will hold a rally on Wednesday, September 27, in the James Bay Methodist schoolroom. Rev. H. H. Rothman, provincial field secretary of the C. E., will be the chief speaker. Reports of the recent convention in Vancouver will be given and election of officers take place.

Building permits have been issued by the building inspector to Albin Johns, dwelling, Gorge road, $10,000; J. Burdick, additions to dwelling on Chamberlain street, $350; Mrs. M. E. Bell, restaurant, Government street, $800; Lee Dan, additions to premises on Cormorant street, $200.

NATURAL COLORS IN KINEMACOLOR SHOW

Revelation in Moving Picture Science Gives Faithful Reproduction of Scenes

The marvelous advance which has been made in the realm of moving pictures is demonstrated in a remarkable manner by the exhibition of pictures presented at the Victoria theatre on Saturday by the Kinemacolor Company.

All the pictures retain the original natural colors, and the display and beauty of the scenes drew forth long and hearty applause from the large audience which assembled for the opening exhibitions. While the pictures in the first part of the programme were not as distinct as those shown later, this will no doubt be remedied at succeeding shows. The exhibition was a revelation to those who have hitherto regarded moving pictures as having about reached the acme of perfection.

The programme opened with pictures of the horse show at Richmond, followed by London street scenes, here the familiar views were shown, but with all the natural colors and tints, which added much to the pleasure of renewing acquaintance with historic spots. Views of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police in Montreal previous to their departure for London were next displayed, followed by camp views in the metropolis, including the inspection by Lord Roberts.

To pave the way for the coronation picture scenes in the streets of London the day before the crowning of the King and Queen were shown, including the Embankment, Charing Cross, the Strand, Tower Bridge, etc. The "regal procession" to Westminster Abbey was also exhibited, followed by the peers and peeresses leaving Chelsea for Westminster.

There were two sets of coronation films, and here the work of the kinemacolor was seen to advantage, the various colored uniforms of soldiers and sailors, street decorations and crowds being faithfully reproduced. The spectators were green-eyed and as the military and naval forces of the empire passed in review before them, and as the orchestra played the national anthem, heralding the approach of the carriage conveying their majesties, the audience arose and stood until the coach passed.

The procession from Hyde Park corner, including the presentation of the city charter to His Majesty at Temple Bar, was also shown.

The second part of the programme opened with "Liqueurs and Cigars," displaying the limpidity and sparkle of the various colored spirits and labels, bands and colors of cigars, while the sparkle of a diamond on the finger of a charming Urban one of the programme. This showed the evolution of flowers from bud to blossom by speed magnification, and here again the beauty of the pictures was as remarkable as any of the evening. An added number showed a coronation drill by a large number of boys, the various evolutions performed being heartily applauded.

The closing series was in many respects the finest of the programme. This showed the evolution of flowers from bud to blossom by speed magnification, and here again the beauty of the pictures was as remarkable as any of the evening. An added number showed a coronation drill by a large number of boys, the various evolutions performed being heartily applauded.

There will be displays on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday, matinees and evenings, with an entrance charge of programme, starting Wednesday when other coronation pictures will be shown.

The entire programme is not only a demonstration of color reproduction, but is educative, and the scenes of the coronation will be long remembered by those who view the display by the Kinemacolor.

VICTORIANS WILL HEAR BERESFORD

ADMIRAL TO ATTEND CANADIAN CLUB LUNCH

Ducal Party, Representing Both Houses of Imperial Parliament, Visits Victoria

The Duke of Sutherland's party reached Victoria yesterday afternoon on the Princess Adelaide from Vancouver, and thus completed their tour through Canada. The party has changed somewhat in its personnel and the visitors to the capital are the Duke, his heir, the Marquis of Stafford; Lord Charles Beresford, M. P.; Viscount Castlereagh, M. P., and Lady Castlereagh; Lord Desborough and the secretary, Mr. Simpson.

The hero of the party, Lord Charles Beresford, attracted a large gathering when the steamer docked and had a hearty reception when he came up from the landing stage. The party went at once to the Empress hotel, and later in the afternoon made a tour of the city.

Lord Charles was met at the hotel by representatives of the Canadian club, and pressed to reconsider his decision to decline their invitation. In consequence of the conversation, he has consented to accept their invitation to luncheon on Wednesday, before leaving for the East.

In view of this fact the popular admiral and member for Portsmouth did not wish to anticipate anything that he might say then, except once again to express his amazement at the wonderful progress of the coast cities of British Columbia since he came as an officer of the navy to the Esquimaux station in the years 1863 and 1867. He was on the Pacific coast of America some years ago, but did not come further north on that occasion than Seattle. Another reason why he objected to go into politics at any length was that ever since they landed, statements had been used attributing to him remarks which he had never made, particularly in regard to reciprocity and the naval question as it affected Canada. Reciprocity was a political issue, he said, and had to be decided by the votes of the people of Canada, and until the time that the people had expressed themselves it was impertinent for a visitor, a member of another parliament, to discuss the affairs of the country through which he was passing. All sorts of curious statements about naval secrets and Admiralty plans had been attributed to him, he added, which anyone who knew him must be aware never came from his lips.

In his opinion there was no doubt the election had aroused the greatest interest of any Canadian election throughout the Empire, and its result would have satisfactory effects on the consolidation of the British Empire, to work out its own destiny, free from external influences.

The following opinion expressed his views of the influence of the Panama Canal on the Western ports of British Columbia, and he was glad to think Victoria was awake, preparing to take advantage of the opportunity she now had to increase her commerce.

The Panama Canal will considerably alter the trading route of the world, and more than that it will alter the strategic positions with regard to the defence of the trading routes. If I had a great deal of money and wanted to make a great deal more I should commence shipbuilding here and in other places right now, so as to get a large proportion of the carrying power of the Pacific in the Orient, which undoubtedly will develop into one of the greatest industrial futures. Though the Panama Canal is American property, there is no danger in my opinion to the water-borne commodities of Great Britain and Canada in time of war. War, in my opinion, between the English-speaking nations, is impossible, and would be fratricidal. The present good feeling between the United States and the British Empire is most remarkable, and I should like to see the English-speaking nations so strong that they can demand the peace of the world without alliance, treaty or written obligation to each other.

The Duke of Sutherland has expressed his great satisfaction in being in the country, and his further intention to invest in B. C., having purchased on this visit another large area of land south of Fort George. His companions include his son, the Marquis of Stafford, who was one of the youngest candidates at the last general election in Scotland. Lord Desborough, a well known sportsman, president of the London Chamber of Commerce and for various periods a member of the House of Commons, and Viscount Castlereagh, heir to the Marquis of Londonderry. Lord Castlereagh entered Parliament for Maidstone in 1904 and has retained his seat at the two subsequent general elections. Lady Castlereagh, who accompanies him, is a daughter of the Rt. Hon. Henry Chaplin, member of several Conservative ministries.

The party will return to England in time for the opening of the autumn session of the House of Commons on October 24.

The Army is seeking to tap 15,000 villages annually which every year throw off one family from each that cannot be absorbed. It is to catch these people who are bred to agricultural conditions that the effort is being made, and they will in his opinion make excellent settlers.

On account of the demand for domestic servants the Army is devoting its attention mainly to the training of the women of the Empire. The province is concerned. Four parties of domestics will reach Vancouver before the end of the year, one being made up in Liverpool, one in Scotland, and two in the west of England. They will number about 30 each. As there is an excess of 1,200,000 women over men in the United Kingdom the emigration of girls will be beneficial in regulating the position of the sexes.

Little work, he said, will be done at present in this province with child immigration, as the conditions do not warrant it. On his tour Col. Lamb has the assistance of Col. H. W. Mapp, of Toronto, chief secretary of the Salvation Army in Canada.

The erection of a three-story building next to the Kirkham Grocery Co., Fort street, to be put up for Arthur James. The block will cost about $250,000. Hays & Jarvis are the architects. There will be room in the building for several shops.

NEWS OF SPORT

WARDS AGAIN WIN CLAXTON TROPHY

In Tame Exhibition of Lacrosse on Saturday They Outplayed Victoria West

In a ragged and tame exhibition of lacrosse at the Royal Athletic park on Saturday afternoon the Wards secured a 5 to 2 victory over the Wests and again became city champions and holders of the Claxton Cup.

That enthusiasm in local lacrosse is practically dead for this year was plainly evident. Both clubs had trouble in mustering a full team and the game was never exciting except in the first quarter. In that season each team scored two goals and the spectators tried hard to encourage themselves into the belief that the struggle was going to be a close one. But in the succeeding quarters the Wards had things their own way the most of the time, and although they only scored one goal in each period it was not due to lack of opportunities but to poor shooting.

The poor defense put up by the Wards was offset by the fast, strenuous work of their home division, which, despite a hard and earnest struggle on the part of Stan Okell and Styles, kept continually bombarding the West goal. Circumstances, that is, the fact that although the Wards defense was poor their home was fast enough to get past the splendid defense of their opponents combined to give both goalkeepers more than their share of the work. The Wards were lucky in having a net guardian of the calibre of Ross Johnson, whose saves were the redeeming feature of the exhibition. Sam Lorimer's work was not at all bad, but he foolishly let himself be drawn out of his position at times and gave the blue-shirts numerous chances at an open goal.

Prominent amongst the West players were two youngsters, Sam Tuohy and Cyril Baker lately recruited from the intermediates. By their daring and "never give up" style of play these two really constituted the life of the West home. Leo Sweeney was in his old position at centre and he was also a big factor in offensive work of the Wests.

Goals were scored by Leo Sweeney, Wests; J. Johnson, Wards; Pettigrew, Wards; and Sam Tuohy Wests in the first quarter; Johnson, Brynjolfson and Johnson, Wards, in the second, third and fourth quarters respectively. The teams were:

North Ward—Goal, Johnson; point, F. Sweeney; cover point, Kroeger; first defence, A. Dakers; second defence, Sid Humber; third defence, Brynjolfson; centre, McCarter; third home, Pettigrew; second home, McDougall; first home, Macdonald; outside home, Johnson; inside home, McGregor.

Victoria West—Goal, Lorimer; point, S. Okell; cover point, Stiles; first defence, Laidlaw; second defence, Redgrave; third defence, S. Ross; centre, Leo Sweeney; third home, Jenks; second home, Tuohy; first home, C. Baker; outside home, Young; inside home, Clute.

WESTERNERS REFEREE.

Lacrosse Games for World's Championship to be Handled by B. C. Men.

Toronto, Sept. 25.—President James Murphy of the N. L. U. on Saturday received a wire from Premier McBride of British Columbia, one of the Minto cup trustees, dealing with the referee question. Tecumseh asked for an eastern official. Premier McBride's message states that in view of the fact that when the New Westminster came East they had to play under Eastern referees it is but fair that Tecumseh should agree to Western officials, and he would wire Sir Edward Clouston, the other trustee. This will settle the question and Western men will handle the matches, as there is little likelihood of Sir Edward insisting on one Eastern official. The Tecumsehs were expected in Vancouver yesterday. They will commence training immediately for the first game which takes place on Saturday. The second game is to be played Oct. 7.

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.

Unknowns Pick Up Gauntlet Thrown Down by Redoubtable Moose Bowlers.

The challenge of the Moose Indoor Bowling Club to all comers has been accepted by a team modestly labelled the "Unknowns." This team evidently plans to spring a ghastly surprise on the Moose aggregation. The match will take place on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock sharp. The teams follow: Moose—Brooke, Brewster, Ockerman, and Green. Unknowns—Buckle, Fraser, Kennedy and Green.

About 125,000 books are published annually throughout the world, according to the calculations of a French gentleman who is interested in the subject.

WESTS LEAD SECOND DIVISION ELEVENS

Defeated Wards on Saturday—Oak Bay and J. B. A. A. Play to Draw

By virtue of their defeat of the Wards on Saturday afternoon by a score of two to one and the fact that the Oak Bay, J. B. A. A. game ended in a draw, one all, the Wests jumped into the lead in the second division city soccer series at the top of the gun.

The result of the game at the Royal Athletic park between the Wards and the Wests came somewhat as a surprise to the fans present. All through the first half the blue-shirts had the most of the play, and set a pace which the lads in green were hard put to keep up with. To the majority of soccer enthusiasts on the grounds they surely looked like the one best bet, their playing being surer and consequently their forwards more dangerous. About half way through the first soccer season, however, apparently bearing out the opinion of the Ward supporters that last year's champs would start this season with a victory.

With the change of ends, however, the tide of affairs shifted around completely. The Wards seemed to get into good condition as were their rivals in green and were not able to maintain the hot pace they had set. The boys from across the harbor took the offensive, and with their determined "ruling tactics" broke down the really fine defence of Pike and C. Bishop time and time again. Before the cessation of hostilities they managed to bulge the net twice, Brown and J. Youson being responsible and walked off the field victorious in their first match of the season.

The North Ward boys seemed to go entirely to pieces in the second half, and this can be to a great extent blamed on the work of one man, who has been long enough in the game to know better. Frank Sweeney is his name, and it is the more surprising because Sweeney, in local athletic circles at least, has always been a name to conjure with. And generally Frank is the mainstay of his team, but Saturday he seemed to lose his head. He ran all over the field, interfering with his defence and blocking and disorganizing the forwards.

The Wards, by the way, have considerable new material in their ranks this year, and as the recruits appear to be fast on their feet and to know what to do with the ball, a little more practice ought to put the blue shirts in a position to give a good account of themselves.

Referee Dave Dougan was very impartial and gave complete satisfaction, albeit he did have a little trouble with one of the players in the first half. When McDougall scored Captain Ross, of the West, claimed an offside and became impudent when Dougan refused to allow it. He was ordered to apologize or get off the field, and after trying to brayen it out for a while waddled toward the former's course.

The teams follow: North Ward—Goal, McArthur; full backs, Pike and C. Bishop; half backs, G. Bishop, A. McDougall and McGregor; forwards, Kerley, Swan, Sweeney, G. McDougall and H. Kerley. Victoria West—Goal, N. Luckett; full backs, Stewart and Ross; half backs, Young, Stewart and Brown; forwards, Brown, Jamieson, B. Youson, A. McDougall and J. Youson.

OAK BAY V. J. B. A. A.

At Oak Bay the intermediate teams had a terrific struggle, the score becoming one all in the beginning of the second half and remaining so until the end. There never was a lull in the contest. The closing half hour was particularly exciting, neither team letting up for a moment in the struggle for the winning goal. In the initial season the Oak Bays did the pressing, and within a few minutes had the lead. The J. B. A. A. followed with a hot drive. Balch scored for the James Bays in the second half. The decisions of Referee Pilkington were always satisfactory.

James Bay—Goal, O. Falconer; full backs, J. Greig and H. Heath; half backs, C. W. Matthews, Digler and H. Skuce; forwards, Totty, Raich, Middleton, Harper and J. Youson. J. B. A. A.—Goal, Donald and Warnicke; half backs, McDonald, Shanks and Malcolm; forwards, J. Baker, Ferris, A. McDonald, Winsby and McInnes.

TODD MEDAL WON BY R-S-M. MACDOUGALL

Long Range Shooting at Clover Point Concluded in Perfect Feather

Perfect weather and an excellent turnout of members marked the last long range shoot of the season at Clover Point on Saturday afternoon. The star event was the struggle for the Todd medal, and the numerous interested spectators were treated to an exciting finish at the 1,000 yards distance. Lieut. Colonel Currie, Major Winsby, Capt. Harris and other officers were present to receive C. E. Todd, the donor of the medal, who arrived whilst perfect weather was taking place at 900 yards and remained to the end.

Coming to the last range shot, "Carr" was leading with 68; R-S-M. MacDougall close up with 65; Sergt. A. Richardson and Gnr. Winsby, 63, and C-S-M. Caven, 62.

A variable light at this stage bothered the competitors. Sgt. Carr finished first with 88, R-S-M. MacDougall followed with 94 and Sgt. A. Richardson with 92. C-S-M. Caven obtained a bull's-eye and took third place from Sgt. Carr.

Mr. Todd after congratulating the winner, R-S-M. MacDougall, expressed the intention of putting up another prize for competition in the early months of next season.

It is a source of gratification that to encourage rifle shooting in the district by the donation of medals and trophies.

In the spoon competition Staff R-M. Fred Richardson took first place with 98, which it is believed is a range record for long distances. The principal

COMPLETES HER BEST 1911 NORTHERN TRIP

Prince Rupert in Port After Encountering Splendid Weather—Out Again This Morning

Completing a trip, which the officers state was the finest experienced so far this year, the Grand Trunk Pacific steamer Prince Rupert, Capt. Barney Johnson, arrived in port early yesterday morning from Prince Rupert.

Both north and southbound the vessel encountered the best of weather, the sun shining as though it was the middle of July. Coming south the steamer met practically no fog, a little haze hanging over the waters early in the morning.

The Rupert had a good crowd of passengers south, including the following: Geo. M. Cowan, ex-M.P. for Vancouver, who was in the north in the interests of the Conservative candidate for Comox-Alton; Mrs. Curran, of Stewart, who accompanied her daughter, who is on her way to attend Toronto university, as far as Vancouver; A. Butchart, J. Balfour, H. P. Heming, Mrs. Stewart, L. Terry, A. Green, E. Hobin, Dr. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Swain, Mr. and Mrs. Linn; Stewart, who are on a visit to this city; F. A. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Peterson, Miss C. Matherson, Mrs. Roberts, J. Johnson, A. M. Palmer and V. Nicholson.

At 10 o'clock this morning the Rupert sailed for the north after having made her regular trip to Seattle. The local passengers who left on her were: A. St. Marie, accompanied by Mrs. St. Marie, president of the Cassiar Hydraulic Mining Co., who is taking in a great deal of machinery to Newton, which is across the Skeena from the Cooper river; Miss B. Morley and Miss McTavish of this city, who are making the round trip; J. T. Moore and H. W. Bogg. The Rupert had a full cargo of general freight, including a large quantity of supplies.

MARINE NOTES

The schooner C. S. Holmes is reported as arriving at Hilo last Thursday from Port Gamble.

Bound for Honolulu with lumber cargo the schooner Robert Lawers sailed from Port Ludlow Saturday.

The ship St. Paul, which has been discharging salmon cargo at Seattle, shifted to Port Blakeley Saturday, where she will lay up for the winter.

The German barque Elisa Lihn, now at Port Townsend, will be given an overhauling at the Hefferman plant, Seattle, before loading lumber cargo at Anacortes.

The cannery ship Benjamin F. Packard, which has been discharging salmon cargo at Seattle, has shifted to Port Blakeley, where she will lay up for the winter.

The British steamer Belle of Spain, loading wheat cargo at Tacoma for the west coast, shifted to Seattle yesterday. The vessel is under charter to Grace & Co.

With lumber cargo loaded at Tacoma and Port Ludlow the Chilean barque Richard de Soto sailed from Port Townsend for the west coast Saturday. The vessel has been on the Sound since July 1.

B. B. Dobbs, the motion picture photographer, was a passenger on the steamship Alameda, when she sailed for Alaska last night. Mr. Dobbs expects to make motion pictures in the vicinity of Cordova and Kenecotte.

The Blue Funnel liner Onia, which has been discharging cargo on the Sound, will return to Seattle this morning and begin loading 2,500 tons of salmon, box shooks, scrap tin, flour and lumber.

The steamship Yucatan, of the Western Alaska Steamship Company, arrived at Seattle Saturday, from Ladysmith, E. C. She is expected to sail for Nome and St. Michael tomorrow on her last trip.

Customs inspectors at San Francisco have discovered 74 tons of smoking opium valued at about $5,000 on the steamer Siberia, which arrived Friday from China and Japan. The drug was concealed in a pile of tackle blocks.

SLACK WATER—ACTIVE PASS. September, 1911. Table with columns for ship names, routes, and dates.

EATEN BY ALLIGATORS. A grim tragedy was enacted on the river Ganges, India, recently, as a result of which Mrs. G. Livesey, who three months ago was a bride, is now a widow.

While she is lying in the Royal roads awaiting the arrival of Lieut. W. R. Kennedy, R. N. R., senior marine superintendent of the Weir SS. Co., the barque Olivebank is discharging her ballast. The members of the crew are hauling the rock and gravel from the vessel's hold so that she will be ready to go into dock immediately after the arrival of the Bank line official.

Lieut. Kennedy left London a little over a week ago and is expected here about Thursday. He has been sent out to conduct an examination of the barque, which was badly injured by fire at Santa Rosalia. It will be known when Lieut. Kennedy reaches this city whether the sailing ship will be repaired at Esquimaut or at some Sound point. No information has been given out yet as to where the ship will undergo her repairs but it is expected that the work will be done by a local firm. The job will be one of the largest that has been done on a sailing ship on this coast for many years.

Since the Olivebank has reached the Pacific on her trip from the United Kingdom she has been followed by a hoodoo. When at Santa Rosalia the vessel caught fire and was scuttled in order to save her from destruction. After the holes made in her sides were plugged-up she was floated and sent to a charred-appearance when she emerged from beneath the waters. She took nearly 50 days to make the passage north to the roads, which is one of the longest on record for a sailer. She was delayed by calms and head winds.

Another ship of the Weir line, the Springbank, is expected here shortly from the south. She sailed about two weeks ago from Santa Rosalia and should be here about the middle of next month.

J. F. Luckenbach Believed to Have Foundered During Trip From Nome to Seattle

Mysterious but persistent rumors that the big freighter J. L. Luckenbach, operated by the Western Alaska Steamship Company in the Alaskan service, has been wrecked on her voyage from Nome to Seattle, have been current in this city and Sound ports for the past few days. Officials of the company have been waiting to hear news of the Luckenbach, which left the Alaskan city on September 10. The last heard from the ship was that she had called at Dutch Harbor, near the entrance to Behring Sea, for a fresh supply of fuel on September 14.

This morning the officials of the company at Seattle expressed little alarm at the reports, stating that the earliest date at which the ship could have reached Seattle would have been Saturday. Efforts were made by the company yesterday, however, to try and locate the vessel by wireless through other steamers having sighted her, but all were futile. The Luckenbach carries no wireless and it is quite possible that even now she is just outside the entrance to the Strait of Juan de Fuca on her way to Seattle.

The vessel left the Sound July 26 for Nome, St. Michael and Solomon with one of the heaviest cargoes of general merchandise ever shipped by a single vessel into Behring Sea. In the far north she was delayed by stormy weather and low water and she occupied forty-one days on the voyage north and discharging before starting back for Seattle.

Capt. A. R. Connor is in command of the Luckenbach, which has been rather an unlucky vessel. Formerly she was the North German Lloyd liner Sante, which was burned to the water's edge in Hoboken ten years ago. After the fire she was rebuilt and added to the famous Luckenbach fleet of tramp freighters. The Luckenbach has been chartered by Balfour, Guthrie & Co. to carry a cargo of grain to the east coast upon the expiration of her contract with the Western Alaska Steamship Co.

PERSONAL. Dr. Lewis Hall has returned from a hunting trip to the Islands. Dr. F. Proctor has returned from a month's holiday and has resumed practice. Mrs. A. E. Mitchell, Superior street, will not be at home on Tuesday, September 26. Mrs. Gordon Jameson will receive with her mother, Mrs. J. B. Lovell, at 1190 View street, on Tuesday, the 26th inst.

Mrs. A. Ellis, 1122 Pembroke street, will be at home tomorrow and hereafter on the fourth Tuesday of every month. A. St. Marie, president and general manager of the Cassiar Hydraulic Mining Co., left on the Prince Rupert this morning for Kitlaas to install a $25,000 plant on gold creek, which empties into the Skeena river just below Kitlaas. The pumping machine alone of this plant weighs 27,000 pounds. The company expects to have the plant complete and ready for operation by the beginning of March, 1912.

WOMEN DIVERS. The pearl divers of Japan are women. Along the coast of the bay of Ago and the bay of Kokasho the thirteen and fourteen year old girls, school work, go to sea and learn to dive. They are in the water and learn to swim almost from babyhood, and spend most of their time in the water, except in the coldest season from the end of December to the beginning of February. Even during the most inclement of seasons they sometimes dive for pearls. They wear a special dress, white underwear and hair twisted up into a hard knot. The eyes are protected by glasses to prevent the entrance of water. Tubs are suspended from the waist. A boat in command of a man is assigned to every five or ten women divers to carry them to and from the fishing grounds. When the divers arrive on the grounds, they leap in to the water at once and begin to gather oysters on the bottom. The oysters are dropped into tube suspended from their waists. When three vessels are filled the divers are raised to the surface and jump into the boats. They dive to a depth of from five to thirty fathoms without any special apparatus and retain their breath from one to three minutes. Their ages vary from thirteen to forty years and between twenty-five and thirty-five they are at their prime.

CARRIES MAIL IN AEROPLANE

Aviator Delivers Letters and Postcards—Miss Moissant's Flight

New York, Sept. 25.—The first United States mail ever transported by aeroplane was carried Saturday from the aviation field on Nassau boulevard, Long Island, to Garden City, a distance of five miles, by Earle Ovington, in a Blériot aeroplane.

The flying contests were mediocre, the most interesting being the search by aviators for a detachment of the Eighteenth Infantry, U. S. A., which had been secreted in a wood three miles southeast of the field.

White, Eugene Ely, J. A. D. McCurdy and Beatty could not find the soldiers. Eugene Ely made a spectacular flight showing the perfect control of his machine.

Miss Matilda Moissant was the only woman to make a flight in the 24-mile course several times in a monoplane, and made a safe landing.

the proximity of the dynamo compartment. A parliamentary commission appointed in 1907 presented a report scathingly condemning the naval administration of the preceding years and recommended a complete reorganization with special attention to the elimination of red tape and the distribution of responsibility.

Other notable French disasters of recent years were:

October 16, 1906—Submarine Lutin lost off Bizerta, 13 dead.

February 3, 1907—Explosion on torpedo boat No. 39, 9 dead.

February 9, 1907—Cruiser Jean Bart lost off the northwestern coast of Africa, no deaths.

August 13, 1908—Explosion aboard school ship Couronne at Toulon, 6 dead.

September 23, 1908—Explosion aboard cruiser La Touche Treville at Toulon, 23 dead.

May 17, 1910—Submarine Pluviose remained submerged after diving in the harbor of Calais, 27 dead.

September 10, 1911—Gun explosion aboard cruiser Gloire at Toulon, 1 killed and 13 injured, 5 fatally.

PIAN FAILED.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Borrowing a baby to display as her own in an effort to influence a jury to acquit her husband of burglary, failed to impress a Benton Harbor, Mich., jury, and Mrs. Harry Silverton bore the charge of a charge of kidnapping the borrowed child, Solie Smith, 4 years old.

The Silvertons had no children, so Mrs. Silverton, believing in jury persuasion by sentiment, borrowed the child, Mrs. Rose Smyth in Chicago.

Unknown to Mrs. Smyth, she boarded the first train to Benton Harbor, where Silverton was on trial. Solie played his part in the drama to perfection.

All he was supposed to do was to cry at intervals and gaze on the jury. He did his part, but the jury did not live up to expectations.

In the closing plea for the defence, counsel asked the jury, in behalf of little Solie, not to send "papa" to jail. There were tears in the lawyer's eyes, in Solie's eyes and also in his "mother's" eyes.

It was a dramatic scene, but the jurymen were not so much impressed. Mrs. Smyth became alarmed when Solie did not return home. She told the Chicago police and they got track of the child, who was returned to the mother.

Women Know

Women of Canada have learned that nothing preserves the youthful appearance so much as a good head of hair, for women with scant, dull, listless hair grow old all too soon.

Since the introduction of Parisian Sage into Canada, druggists in every town are recommending Parisian Sage because they know that it will do exactly what the makers say it will do.

Besides being a hair grower and beautifier Parisian Sage is rigidly guaranteed to stop itching scalp, to stop hair from falling and to banish every trace of dandruff or money back.

Parisian Sage causes the hair to grow strong, vigorous and lustrous because it kills the dandruff germs that infest the hair roots, which is the basis of all scalp and hair diseases and also because it furnishes natural nourishment to the weakened and run-down hair bulbs.

Parisian Sage is sold by druggists everywhere for only 50 cents a large bottle and guaranteed. The gift with the Auburn Hair is an every package. Mail orders filled, charges prepaid, by the Gironx Manufacturing Co., Fort Erie, Ontario, upon receipt of price.

VICTORIA BOXMEN FEEBLE YESTERDAY

First Game Developed Into Real Contest but Second Was a Farce

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 25.—Against weak pitching by Lake and Thomson, the Spokane team played for averages yesterday. The first game developed into a real contest when Victoria came from behind and tied the score, but Spokane came in strong in the ninth and won the game by a score of 5 to 4.

The second game was a farce. The fourth play of the game was Netzel drove the ball to the right field fence with Kippert and Kraft on bases and followed the latter home on six feet behind. The score was 12 to 2. The scores:

HAD FIGHT WITH SHARKS. Policeman's Tale of Desperate Struggle When Boat Capsized.

Policeman Alfred Miller, of the Bayonne department, went on duty at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and in the evening he turned up at his home with the following account of his experience in the few hours which had intervened.

He had gone out fishing in his 35-foot motor boat Emily, and had cruised down the ocean coast of Jersey until he was off Seabright.

He had noticed a turmoil in the water to seaward. The disturbance came nearer until he could see that it was caused by a school of porpoises. Then he saw that the porpoises were trying frantically to get away from something, and a minute later it became evident that the something was a school of sharks. The hunters and their quarry came on until they surrounded Miller's boat, and the water about the boat was red with the blood of the porpoises.

The motor-boat rocked as the fighting mass charged about it and then, as several of the sharks and their victims seemed to hit the side of the boat at about the same time, it keeled over. Miller crawled upon the upturned bottom of the boat and got his shoes off. Before he could get further undressed the boat filled with sharks.

Miller then found himself in blood-stained water, a mile and a half from shore, in the midst of the massacre. He is a strong swimmer and struck out for shore. He had to kick porpoises out of the way and push them out of the way with his arms, so thickly were they herded in his flight. Then a good sized shark came up to him and Miller kicked at the fish with all his might. The shark turned and grabbed a porpoise instead.

The sharks, the policeman said, followed him, closing up and then dropping back again as he labored at them with his hands and feet. He reached the shore pretty well exhausted, but otherwise unhurt, and got to a fishing house where he was braised up until he was able to take a train home.

OUR LETTER BOX

AN INDEPENDENT OPINION.

To the Editor:—E. G. Prior, describing himself in the Colonist as "an old politician," etc., holds up the Colonist with many fond endearments, as a specimen of a "clean press." On the other hand, the Times is represented as an example of the "very unclean."

I also plead guilty to being an "old politician," and can confidently say the statement of "E. G. Prior" is pre-eminently inaccurate and unjust to the Times. Of course there can be no mistake as to what he is driving at when assailing the "paper that must be nameless." He is referring to three terribly applicable words in the Times which a judge would not hesitate in using when delivering judgment in a case of "forgery."

Considering the daily insults and misrepresentations the Times has been subjected to by the "morning paper," there could be no more dignified response than to call a spade a spade, and give the most literal meaning possible of the word "forgery." The Times has done this in three words that failed to meet with the approval of "E. G. P." Does "E. G. P." know anything about "that forgery" (treated with so much "silent contempt") that might exonerate his dear friend? If so, will he mention it?

As this letter is not political, but merely in response to one which appeared after the battle was over, may I crave for space in the Times?

"A FRIEND."

P. S.—"Silence" places many innocent persons (male and female) under suspicion; but the Colonist cares for none of these things. He has been told he is "too big for a small thing like that." For the life of me I can never understand what a man's size has to do with the admission or denial of forgery, unless that the shock to a man of abnormal bulk, combined with an appetitive tendency, might be dangerous.

A FINAL WORD. To the Editor:—After a few days' rest, during which I have recuperated somewhat from the awful beating I received on the 21st from Champ Clark, Borlen and Bourassa, I am concluded to review the situation. I cannot do it properly, for I haven't a good command of language, but I'll try.

The election was carried by the false cry of annexation and the fallacy that cheaper food means lower wages.

Mr. Borden said that he would revise the tariff. As the intelligent leaders of the Conservatives were only afraid of the break in the tariff wall, I am afraid that the revision will be upward instead of downward.

Now when the ultra loyal regulars try to pass an act giving to England two or three Dreadnoughts instead of building up our own navy, and when the forces guided by Mr. Bourassa oppose it (Mr. Bourassa being the greatest master of investive in Canada, possibly excepting the minister of war for British Columbia, Mr. Bowers), Mr. Laurier (the greatest Roman of them all) will lean back in his chair and, gently smiling, wait events.

As to the tariff question, regarding wheat and barley, if the United States desire these articles they have but to take off the tariff on them, and if their price is the better one, the farmers, even Conservative farmers, will sell to them; but we of British Columbia are shut out with our fish and oil from the greatest market for these products in the world, and we will continue to pay the Canadian duty on our fruits and vegetables, and will be asked, as a photographer asks, to "smile and look pleasant, please."

During the campaign I heard many times the slogan, "Let well enough alone." If this is carried out we will have no breakwater and no part of the canal trade, no dry dock, no navy, no patrol fleet, no new post office. Poor Victoria! There are other points, Mr. Editor, but my eyes bother me. Please excuse these tears. Adieu.

E. S. TOPPING.

The Chitcan government has decided to invest $25,000,000 in public works and railways next year.

international reputation, bankers, barristers, financiers, prominent and influential business men. The point of destination will be Ironside, where these gentlemen will visit and inspect the only steel plant west of the Rocky Mountains, which plant is owned and operated by the Western Steel Corporation. This interesting and instructive outing has been arranged for, and will be under the supervision of Fred Phillips, the financial representative of the Western Steel Corporation, who has been a guest at the Empress hotel for the past three weeks. In an interview with the Times to-day, Mr. Phillips said: "I am only too sorry that the Aquillo will not comfortably accommodate more people, as there are many others I would like to have had in the party. The company is now manufacturing 150 tons of finished steel per day, and the plant is running night and day in order to try to keep up with the ever-growing demand for the product. "It is the specific intention of the Western Steel Corporation to increase the capacity of the plant to one thousand tons of finished steel a day, and to continue enlarging and increasing the output every year. At the present time the company has acquired large bodies of iron ore, limestone, coal and dolomite, the raw materials of iron and steel manufacture. In fact, it has enough raw material to keep the plant running for over two hundred years, making one thousand tons of the finished product per day, so you can see that the iron and steel industry will be and is to-day, an important factor."

Luncheon will be served at Ironside at one of the hotels there, and the Aquillo will return to Victoria about 8 p.m. Tuesday. The following are the invited guests: F. A. Paullin, S. Leiser, R. L. SEVEN KILLED IN COLLISION Engine Crashes Into Van of Stock Train on C. P. R. North Bay, Sept. 25.—A Canadian Pacific wreck at Chapleau has resulted in seven deaths. It was caused by an engine of a work-train running tender first and crashing into the van of an abandoned stock train standing on the main line. Eight men in charge of the stock train were in the van, but only one escaped, saving himself by jumping. The accident occurred at 5 o'clock in the morning. The dead include S. Claremont of London, England; W. Harold of Windsor, Ont.; N. Nelson, Winnipeg, Man.; E. Geoffroy, of Quebec, and three others whose names are unknown at present.

ALLEGED FRAUDS

New York, Sept. 25.—In a raid on the stock investment office of Jared Flagg, on West 19th street, Saturday, Flagg and seven other men were arrested on a charge of fraudulently using the mails in a series of endless chain schemes to defraud investors. Among the prisoners were former United States Treasurer Daniel N. Morgan, of Bridgeport, Conn.; James K. Schöck, said to have been a minister of the Dutch Reformed church; F. Tompkins, formerly a publisher on Fifth avenue; the city; Joshua Brown and Harold Jackson, brokers; Alvin M. Higgins, lawyer, and Edward L. Schiller. The prisoners who arraigned pleaded not guilty. Bail was fixed for Flagg at $25,000. Assistant District Attorney Smith asking for higher bail, because he said he understood that Flagg had $1,000,000. Various amounts were fixed for the others. All will be given a hearing next Wednesday.

In spite of the strike situation conditions are improving, he said, in Great Britain, and under the Asquith ministry the return to better social conditions continues. The problems affecting the wage-earning classes were being slowly but assuredly solved, and the government represented the only political force of modern times in any country. Some of the principal efforts towards social reform had been the Old Age Pension Act and the national insurance bill, now under consideration. Feudalism was receiving an emphatic check from the government's action.

He hoped it would not be introduced here, in the form of the British tenant farmer system, as was suggested from more than one quarter at the present time. England was the richest country in the world, but unfortunately the wealth lacked even distribution, accounting for the wretched poverty now existing in the old country. Canada so far had escaped from the inequality of an evil land tenure system, and there was the encouragement to possess land, and see it rise in value with the advance of the community.

The wonderful development of British Columbia, its progress since he was here last, and the amount of substantial buildings being erected, made the visitor enthusiastic, and led him to remark that he could well understand Premier McBride wishing to remain premier of the province, and direct its development, rather than venture on the sea of federal politics. Mr. Greenwood remarked that he was a great admirer of Mr. McBride, who possessed that personality from which successful politicians were drawn.

The amount of British capital invested in British Columbia was remarkable, and there was scarcely a line of track, or piece of pavement laid, or a waterworks scheme projected, but that the money came from England. The investing public had absolute confidence in the country, and so long as progress continued along sane lines he was sure there would be no slackening of the flow.

There had been, he mentioned, more than twenty peers and members of the House travelling in Canada during the recess, and their personal investigation would have a beneficial result, and increase their knowledge of conditions.

The whole prosperity of the country depended on the continued immigration and the present policy must be carried on by the new government, if prosperity was to remain unabated on the prairies, and to B. C., as though that prosperity she obtained a market for her natural products.

Premier McBride had done useful work for the province during his recent visit to England. He had brought British Columbia prominently into the attention, and his visit would prove very beneficial to the community in introducing fresh capital. A larger share of the immigration from the old land to this province might reasonably be anticipated.

A personal element enters into the present trip, as Mr. Greenwood said it was her first visit to Victoria, and it transpired they are on a honeymoon trip. Romance tinged the engagement, as Mr. Greenwood first met his wife at Kingston, Jamaica, where they were both on a visit at the time of the great earthquake. Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood will return to the Empress hotel in the autumn session of the House in October.

LEATHER ROADS

Birmingham, England, has a road made of leather waste, which is judged to be a complete success. There had been no use for the waste leather until somebody conceived the idea of roadmaking with it. It was first shredded into fine bits and then treated with bitumen and tar. The road has been in existence for a year and shows but a comfortable footing for horses.

THOMAS GEIGER DIED SATURDAY EVENING

Deceased Was Pioneer of Victoria and Came Here in the Early Sixties

On Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock Thomas Geiger, one of Victoria's pioneers, passed away after a short illness. Deceased came to this city in 1862. He was well known and respected throughout the city, and his death will be sincerely regretted. He was in his 74th year.

The late Mr. Geiger was a native of Stuttgart, Germany, where he was educated. Coming to Victoria he conducted the San Francisco barber shop on Government street until 1889, in which business he was very successful. Mr. Geiger was for upwards of 30 years a member of Victoria's volunteer fire department.

He leaves to mourn his loss a widow and three sons, Thomas E., at present residing at Riverside, Cowichan; Edward F., a well-known local plumber, and Charles E., of V.W. and J. Wilson & Co.

The warships carried to Tripoli, and it is understood will confine their time to watching the coast. They will not interfere only in the event of an outbreak on the part of Turkey.

Reported Landing of Troops. Paris, Sept. 25.—A dispatch to the Temps from Rome gives unconfirmed rumors that Italian forces have landed at three points on the coast of Tripoli.

In a published interview, the present Turkish charge d'affaires at Paris declared that he has no knowledge of the negotiations being opened by Italy on the subject of Tripoli. "If Italy has any desire to take Tripoli from us," said the charge, "we will defend ourselves, and our defence will be desperate."

The whole population will rise as one man. If Italy lands troops in Tripoli she will find it something worse than a military promenade. We will immediately expel all Italian subjects and denounce the treaties."

Abuse at Constantinople. Constantinople, Sept. 25.—Rumors that Italian troops have disembarked in Tripoli caused alarm here. The Italian liner Romania, bound from Constantinople on arrival in the Dardanelles early Saturday morning, was boarded by the Italian vice-consul, who ordered the captain to land his passengers within half an hour. The Romania sailed for Italy without landing the mails.

Rumored Capture of Steamer. Port Said, Sept. 25.—It is reported that the Turks have captured the Italian steamer Regina Margherita at Messtina. This steamer is one of the fleet of the Navigazione Generale Italiana of Genoa.

TRANSPORT PROBLEM

In the engineering section of the British Association, W. J. Lewis introduced a device for what he described as a continuous service in passenger transportation, for which it was claimed that it solved the rapid transport problem, which the tubes and trains had failed to do. The system, he said, was extremely simple, though remarkably efficient, consisting of a series of independent cars driven and controlled by a spirally threaded shaft. The entire route would be brilliantly illuminated, whilst the possibility of car derailment would be exceedingly remote.

The operation of the system would be practically independent of the human element—a point of considerable importance in view of recent strikes. In a report on the scheme, H. M. Hobart, C.E., attributed much importance to four valuable features: (1) the provision of a continuous system of cars moving slowly at stations and at high speed on route between stations; (2) the perfection of acceleration received owing to the graduation obtainable in the driving system; (3) the excellent regenerative features of the system, consisting in operation on approaching stations, whereby a large saving in power consumption was effected; (4) the elimination of the necessity for any signalling system, notwithstanding which even greater safety was secured than was possible with the most comprehensive signalling systems yet developed for the control of electric trams.

October Columbia Double-Disc Records ALICE NEILSEN

The new Nielsen records are altogether of unusual interest in all respects, not the least of which is the fact that they include recordings of the immortal old ballads—"Old Folks at Home" and "Bonnie Sweet Bessie." So seldom is it that there can be found English speaking operatic singers to render these simple old numbers in really adequate fashion, that the chance should not be lost of securing these unique interpretations by one of the foremost singers of the world. This double record forms a splendid companion to that of "The Last Rose of Summer" and "Home Sweet Home," issued some time ago. In another combination is found a record of the famous Prager from "The Sacrifice," the new Converse opera, produced at the Boston Opera House last season, the first grand opera in English to really create a universally favorable impression. Coupled with this is a new and popular number by Charles Wakefield Cadman, whose work in transcribing and developing the characteristic airs of the American Indians has been recognized as an endeavor of untold value to musical art. Two new numbers from Miss Nielsen's star role, Clo-Clo-San in "Madam Butterfly" form another double-disc and the list closes with two of the most dramatic and effective of the many dances in "Rigolotta," sung with Ramon Blanchard, leading baritone of the Boston Opera House.

NOT DROWNED. New Westminster, Sept. 25.—Mr. Bunyan, who was supposed to have been drowned 18 months ago is now walking the streets as large as life, indignantly denying that he was ever dead. At about 10:15 a body was found near the Columbia river in the reservoir area in the dam. The face was downward and in the mud. The body was recovered and an inquest held. Four men positively identified the body as that of Bunyan, who had left the employment at the dam without calling for his wages. The body was buried last week, however, Mr. Bunyan returned and called on the man of the jury engaged to inquire into the cause of his death. The discovery was made by a man who had been told that a body was found near the Columbia river in the reservoir area in the dam. The face was downward and in the mud. SOCIALISM A DANGER TO BRITISH NAVY

Types of Socialists Analyzed and Remedy for Cult Suggested

The question of Socialism in the British Navy and how far it extends is occupying the minds of many of those in authority at present. Ever since the Portsmouth naval barracks affair some years ago it has been recognized that a certain amount of discontent exists, and is apparently increasing; and it is customary to attribute this to Socialistic influence. There is some reason however, to doubt the correctness of this assumption.

A considerable amount of Socialistic literature is distributed in the navy. The navy, however, is likewise flooded with circulars from betting touts, from agents who offer to make every one rich for the sum of $25 or thereabouts invested, from persons with wonderful remedies for curing all the ills to which human flesh is liable, and from those with valuable jewelry to be sold at a nominal price, and so on. Socialistic literature, such as I have seen of it, paints the new heaven and the new earth in fairly brilliant colors, but not more brightly than do the jewelry and other philanthropists paint their heavens, and the Socialistic literature is otherwise decidedly duller than the rest.

It is read along with the rest; but I shrewdly suspect that much of the reading is due to the knowledge that officers regard Socialistic literature as "pernicious." For that reason any attempt to suppress or interfere with Socialistic literary activities would defeat its own object. It is generally held that Socialists afford are mostly to be found in the engineering branch. This is so, but the fact is to be accounted for otherwise than politically. Most of the artificer class generally belong to or are in some way connected with a trade union, and the unions are allied to the Labor party, which is generally taken to mean the same thing as Socialism.

The Socialism of the genuine Labor party, however, is of a very mild type as a rule—at any rate, in the naval ports. In many cases it gets no further than a desire for state ownership of the railways. The navy being a state-owned institution, the doctrine of state ownership as a cure for all ills does not commend itself so rapidly afloat as it might to men in private employ. Sailors generally are nothing if they are not logical, and they realize that were the social republic established to-morrow, things afloat would suffer little from what they are now. Officers might be drawn from a different class, but officers would still be there. The system of "everybody being some one else's boss" would still obtain. Leave might possibly disappear; but then it is obvious that the question of leave and writing reports might equally easily disappear under the existing regime, and perhaps more easily than under Socialism.

Of the men afloat who profess themselves to be Socialists there are two different types. Of these, one is the kind of man who "gets his religion" in exactly the same way that some "get religion." These are the enthusiastic missionaries who preach Socialism night and day wherever they get a hearer. But between their long-winded preaching and the making of converts there is usually a great gulf fixed. The other and more serious type of Socialist is actually no more a Socialist than the man in the moon. If the Social Republic were established he would be grumbling under it exactly as he does now. Almost invariably this class of man has a good time by letting others do most of the hard work. He is standing idle and is sick of the navy and of life generally. He is often contrasting his hard lot with that of the "soft" billet of the officers, though were he put in the wardroom to-morrow he would then as likely as not be jealous over the happy lot of the bluejackets. He calls himself a Socialist because "Socialist" happens to be a handy word, but it is not fair on the genuine Socialists to be charged with the sins of these men.

Now, of the two types the latter is the dangerous one. I have never found the genuine Socialist type interfering with discipline in any way, or even preaching the doctrine of passive resistance to those in authority. On the contrary, the genuine Socialists are usually men of some education and some authority, which they never lose to exercise. As a standing proof of the horrid truth that "Socialism is organized slavery," the British navy has no place for the Keir Hardie type of Socialist; and the average genuine naval Socialist would probably be the first to throw things at any missionary of Keir Hardie doctrines.

The real danger to the navy is the second type, which increases and multiplies as the years go on. It is a curious thing that the increase of this type coincides with the increase of torpedo craft. The reason of this is that, as a rule, in small ships there is a great deal of what the martinet calls "slack discipline." The conditions of life in torpedo craft are so hard that there is little time for that tailoring and housewifery work which in many a larger ship is regarded as an important part of a man's discipline. A man going from a torpedo-boat to a battleship naturally feels the difference, and resents it. He is therefore suitable soil for the agitator who calls himself a Socialist.

No amount of literature will counteract these "Socialists." The only cure is the removal of the legitimate grievances that they exploit, thus driving them to obviously imaginary ones. These legitimate matters have to do with leave and with the tailoring and housewifery work mentioned above. There are a great many officers who have an absolute horror of giving leave in all cases, and leave is worked on out-of-date lines. So are the other things which are the causes of discontent. The extraordinary thing is that they are nearly all of quite modern invention. They were created mostly by Earl St. Vincent at and about the time of the great Spithead and Northfleet mutinies. The idea was to surround the quarter deck with so much pomp that awe was increased accordingly. In St. Vincent's day this was effective; but the navy is now manned with men drawn from totally different classes, and the necessity of his day has passed away completely. The modern blue-jacket of today is several points ahead of any average "skilled workman" ashore in education and in common sense. The sailor of St. Vincent's day was as like as not to the sweepings of a jail. What he was to be gauged from the fact that the mutineers did not ask for the abolition or even the curtailment of "the cat."

The weak point in our modern naval system is the official inability to understand this, and a too easy acceptance of the doctrine that "a sailor must have something to grumble about." Any number of existing regulations are still those that were made for the jail sweepings of a hundred years ago; and it is the petty ones that jar most. It would be contrary to human nature if the type of person who becomes an agitator did not avail himself of this state of affairs.

They are faced with one obstacle, and one only—that is the fact that no bluejacket cares for a stoker's woes, no stoker for a bluejacket's, neither of them for the ship's cooks, and so on, ad infinitum. Agitators, therefore, aim at the creation of some kind of lower deck union, society, or whatever they please to call it—in which all differences of ratings, etc., are pooled for the common benefit. Pending the formation of a general society in which all ratings are merged, we are in no danger of the mutinies of a hundred-odd years ago being repeated. Given the formation of any such society—even were its avowed object entirely philanthropic—trouble may be looked for in the future, unless genuine grievances be alleviated. It is futile to shut our eyes to the fact that the agitator, in the past the lower deck voters (a trifling proportion of the whole) used to be about one-third Conservative, two-thirds Liberal. To-day a rough approximation (except at Portsmouth, where Bessford is a name to conjure with) would be one-third Conservative, one-third Liberal, and one-third Labor Socialist. But so far as any non-patriotic nonsense is concerned, the proportion is absolutely immaterial. No danger lies in that direction. But it does lie in the other direction indicated.—Correspondence of The London Standard.

THE ADVANCEMAN

"Jim the Penman" To-night. The great play, "Jim the Penman," will be seen at the Victoria Theatre to-night with Florence Roberts, Thurlow Herson and Theodore Roberts as a specially engaged tri-star combination for the revival of this, probably the greatest melodrama of past years. It is the story of a soulful and penitent sinner, struggling to save his wife and children from the consequences of his early performances as the penman. The anguish of the wife, tricked into a marriage by a criminal, and unwilling to have her children disgraced, though ready to expose her husband. The nobility of the Penman's chief victim, from whom he stole both wealth and fortune; and the splendidly appealing youthful love-story of the former's daughter, and the man from whom her father has stolen the family jewels—all these elements are woven into a well told and vigorous story, and their straightforward human appeal is what gives this play its vitality. A rather refreshing vitality after much of the sickly mysticism of the moment.

The tri-star combination—Florence Roberts, Thurlow Herson and Theodore Roberts—is limited to a tour of fifteen weeks, after which they separate, and it is doubtful if the West will ever see them associated in the one play again, as the tour upon the expense and of the undertaking is so great as to be almost prohibitive. The tremendous demand now being made by managers in the West to secure a visit from so unusual a combination of artists and play makes it necessary to select such cities as will practically guarantee record houses, and as we are fortunate in securing one of these limited engagements we trust our patrons and the public in general will take advantage of this coming appearance.

Richard Carle, Actor, Author and Composer. Richard Carle frankly admits that he acquired his first taste for the stage from a stolen visit to the old Howland-athens in Boston, a temple of those that induced many another well-known actor to seek the path of histrionic glory. Mr. Carle is still on the sunny side of forty, and is one of the unique personages of the American stage, he is at once, author, composer, lyric writer, stage manager, dancing instructor, star comedian and producer. He was born at Somerville, Mass., and was known as Charles H. Carleton until he became a star.

At eighteen years of age, a tall, gawky boy with light hair and spectacles, he became a lyrician entertainer at various resorts in New England. He had been in this kind of work only a short time when he secured a real job as an actor with Rich & Harris, appearing in farce comedies. The turning point in his career came with his engagement in "The Lady Slavey" at the New York Casino. His aptitude was such that George Lederer took him to London and he stayed there for two years in "The Casino Girl," "An American Beauty," and "The Belle of Bohemia." During this engagement he rose to be leading man and played in "Vienna and Buda-Pesth."

Returning to America he began writing for the stage and at 28 was a successful dramatist as well as star comedian; his well-known and popular pieces include "Mamselle Awkins," "The Storke," "The Fenwick," "The Mayor of Tokio," "The Maid and the Mummy." He also adapted "The Spring Chicken" and "Mary's Lamb" from the French. Now at the age of 38, he is successful and popular in "Jumping Jupiter," the latest musical comedy from his pen, to appear at the Victoria Theatre. Walker Hopper is his leading lady on this tour.

WHAT IS A SOUL?

Scientist Uses Wireless Telegraphy as Illustration.

Professor Macdonald's use in his British Association address of the word "soul" in relation to the "unknown influence" which goes to the making of human thought has very naturally aroused great interest, and the article on the subject in the Daily Mail has brought him many inquiries and requests for a fuller statement of his position. But this he does not intend to give. I had a talk with him this morning, and while he evidently has definite views of the dual nature of man, he quite as evidently means to keep them himself.

"You mean to throw out a challenge to the monists," I began by saying. "No," he replied. "I did not want to challenge anybody; I simply wanted—well, you saw that paper I read was with the exception of this one passage, written from the material point of view. It dealt with the reclaimed aspect of the body. I introduced this passage in order to show that I did not hold the material and mechanical aspect to be the only one, but I really do not want to follow it up. I am a physiologist. Of course, any physiologist who thinks at all on the wider plane must ponder these questions, which have puzzled all the ages. But it is not the physiologist's business to devote himself to them—that is the business of a philosopher, and particularly of the psychologist. Psychological research is now on sound experimental lines. We must look to it for results and guidance."

Professor Macdonald is a man who makes his mind up and does not unmake it. He does not look like a professor. There is no stoop in his gait, no pallor of midnight studies on his cheek. He is tanned and bronzed by the weather. His thick set and well-knit figure might be that of a sea-captain. There is a cheery frankness in his speech and a friendly gleam in his eye which suggest an open-air life much more than the close atmosphere of class-rooms and lecture-theatre. He knows life as well as books. He has studied men completely, not only the bones and the sinews of men. An unusual type of professor, a specially interesting type, but not a type which can be induced to talk when it has made up its mind to be silent.

"This, however, I don't mind telling you," Professor Macdonald said, pulling thoughtfully at his pipe. But when he had got so far I interrupted him. "Will you tell me," I asked, "what you mean when you use the word 'soul'?" He smiled as his eyes met mine. "What do most people mean?" he asked. "I think they mean," he replied, "an influence breathed into the body of a man by God—an influence without which the body would be merely a piece of mechanism."

"Well," he said, "except for the mind the body would be a piece of mechanism." "Then by 'soul' you mean 'mind,'" I suggested. He shook his head. "Perhaps this may help you," he said. "Take wireless telegraphy. Here is an influence roaming at large through the world, which does not have any visible effect, however, until it comes into contact with instruments specially prepared to receive it. Might not that analogy hold good of the brain? Might the brain not be an instrument specially prepared to be acted upon by the universal mind? That is the suggestion I made in my address—just a brief suggestion in passing to indicate my position. Of course, the philosopher will at once be eager to ask the question, 'Is there any conscious direction of the influence which we can assume to be acting upon the brain?' Well, that is what the philosopher must find out himself.

"I am trying by means of physiology to do something to straighten out the tangle into which our ideas about the mind have got. It seems to me the mind and the brain are not always associated, as, for example, during sleep or when the brain is under the influence of an anaesthetic. Therefore there is at least a possibility that mind is an outside influence, only affecting the brain when the latter is in certain states. So much is clear to me from the physiological side. The other side I leave to the metaphysicians. I may have more complete views than I have expressed so far, but I see no reason why I should make them public. I would rather leave the matter where it is."—Correspondent London Mail.

RACE RIOTS.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 25.—A race riot between whites and blacks broke out in this city Saturday at midnight. Three riots in less than two hours occurred, knives and revolvers being used. Most of the participants were under the influence of liquor. Of three sent to hospital, Joe Carline, a Porto Rican, was stabbed, probably fatally.

When a patrol wagon loaded with officers arrived, a crowd of men unhitched the horses, leaving the wagon stranded. Several hundred persons filled the street and blocked efforts of the police. Patrolman McNally was badly beaten when he arrested Charles Lyons, white, said to have been a leader of the gang which started the fighting.

The police at 1:30 o'clock on Sunday had succeeded in restoring order after making several arrests.

The riots were the result of a feud at several weeks' standing between the whites and blacks.

The latter, the police say, started out to find the former, and when the two factions met there was a fight with pistols. Several hundred persons filled the street and spread several blocks down the street and continued until the negroes fled.

LEAPS FROM WINDOW.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—While delicious as a reward for accosting and striking a woman he met in the street "Pat" Crowe, kidnapper of the Cudahy boy in Omaha and later an evangelist, jumped from the window of a hospital. He was saved from death by landing on a fire escape twenty feet below the window. Crowe has been under the care of watchers since he was whipped for flirting.

He will have a hearing in court on the charge of flirting as soon as his condition permits.

JOHN DAY DENIES EVIDENCE OF REID

REGULAR FAVORITE OF SEA CAPTAINS

Accused in Navy Yard Prosecution Admits He Smuggled Ship's Stores at Esquimaux

Making an absolute denial that he had ever sold admiral's stores to the Victoria Machinery depot as charged, and denying the evidence of the Crown witnesses Bullock and Reid, John Day this morning occupied the witness box in the county court and was examined by his counsel and cross-examined by the crown, telling the latter that the evidence given by Reid was absolutely false.

During his cross-examination Day openly admitted he had carried on a smuggling business at Esquimaux and had obtained ship chandler's stores from captains of vessels sailing into Esquimaux, taking these, he said, in payment for loans and accounts run up by the sea captains when ashore.

"There is nothing in it, it is utterly false," said the accused, when questioned by Stuart Henderson regarding the sale of twelve boxes of navy candles to the Victoria Machinery Depot. "I have heard this story, I never asked him to get me navy stores and never bought them from him. I never paid Reid a cent. His confession is untrue as far as it deals with me. No candles that I sold to the Victoria Machinery Depot as shown in the invoice were like the navy candles in court. Nor the paint either."

The witness said he had carried on a ship's chandler's business at Esquimaux as agent for P. McQuade and Sons. He visited ships, got orders, and when the orders were sent he took them on his scow and delivered them to the ships. Sometimes, said the witness, the sailors on the ships were drunk and in handling the stores from the scow to the ship they might drop from the slings, get damaged and be no good to the ship, so they would remain on the scow and be taken by himself. Stores were sent to his hotel at Esquimaux and sometimes when the sailors came ashore to get them they would leave some behind. At times he had made loans of $50 and $100 to sea captains. "I was a general favorite with them," said Day. "They would come to pay their bills before leaving and I would take it out in ship's stores from them."

Day said he was a regular favorite with Capt. Stewart, of the ship Columbian, and bought paint, meat, candles, pork and rope from him when the ship came dismantled to Esquimaux. Capt. Locke, of the Holthill, and Capt. Blanche, of the Falls of Dee, the captains of the Blythwood and the Sante and also Norwegian steamers had sold him stores. It was a practice to get rid of stores to settle loans and launch expenses. There were no navy goods in the bill he sold to the Victoria Machinery depot.

Crews were sometimes stupefied with drink," said the witness, "and often refused to take the stores aboard. I then worked with the officers in getting it shipped and some would be left behind on the scow. The captain being in a hurry would give orders to shove off before it was all on board. My place has been a dumping ground for stores for 21 years."

He sold the stores locally, trading off coffee and sugar that he obtained in a perfectly legitimate way, he declared.

Referring to the load delivered at the Victoria Machinery depot Day said Bullock had tried to graft off him and held the invoice up, saying the stuff was so old and hard it could not be broken up. He had bluffed Bullock with a promise of payment and then Bullock had passed the invoice. His lawyer, did not pay Bullock any money. Bullock had also told him his whole scheme was a bluff to evade the case started against him of theft in the police court.

Day was put through a long cross-examination by J. A. Alkman, admitting that in some of the trades it was smuggling; that he had smuggled a little but that all goods had been honestly paid for.

Mr. Alkman ascertained that the accused kept no books of his purchases from ships and that the captains of vessels would not give him receipts for money paid.

"Why?" asked Mr. Alkman. "I don't know why," replied the witness.

"You bet you do," said counsel, "they would be making against themselves."

Asked how often he sold stores from his storeroom, witness said when he felt like it. Asked to come nearer the mark he said two or three times a year, and he had sold paint and candles to Mr. Greer, rope to Mr. McGregor and rope to Capt. Pettit. He bought ten or twelve cases of candles from the captain of The Falls of Dee and got them as cheap as possible.

Mr. Alkman asked if captains could make profit by buying candles at $5 and selling them to him at $2. Day replied there were freighters with which he did business and these had left over cargo.

"You never went to the customs when you obtained these goods?" asked counsel.

The witness replied he did not.

"In doing business for McQuade you did business for yourself, by doing a little smuggling?"

"You should take it from the captains and the captains would have to go and get the goods from McQuade?"

"Sometimes I'd get some of the new stuff."

"Yes," you got about four to one, didn't you?"

"I'm not such a big thief as that," replied Day and to further questions he said he had never bothered the captains to know if they had stolen the goods he got from them.

"I suppose Capt. Vician could sell me some," he concluded.

"Yes, and give away his ship if he felt like making a gift," said Mr. Alkman.

The witness said he acted as agent for many consignments from various firms. The goods would be left at his hotel from the city for delivery to the ships. He had two store-rooms on his premises. One was open to anyone applying for it. He had a license taken out a license other than the hotel license.

On further questioning of the witness Mr. Alkman learned that after telling his lawyer the truth Mr. Henderson had advised Day to pay the customs the $1,000 posted after the seizure at the Victoria Machinery Depot.

Mr. Alkman: "Before you paid you knew that the goods were claimed by the naval authorities?"

Witness: "Yes."

"And that Bullock was after the Victoria Machinery depot scamps?"

"Yes. Most bitterly."

"Notwithstanding your knowledge you did not give information to the authorities?"

"Why should I?"

"If those invoices were honest you would not have paid $1,000?"

"I did it on Mr. Henderson's advice."

"Why did you get Mr. Henderson to see the collector of customs?"

"Mr. Spratt telephoned me there was a seizure made and Mr. Henderson saw Mr. Newberry and advised he to put up the $1,000."

The witness was asked as to where the candles came from that he sold according to invoice to the Victoria Machinery Depot and could not remember. He had bought some from three different kinds, but they were not like navy candles. He said them through a crack in the box. There were different kinds. He admitted he kept no books, made no entries and sold the candles below market price. The boxes were not like those exhibited in court. He thought he had told Bullock to send the candles to the Depot in the day-time. They would have to go according to tides, as a landing could not be made effectively at the Depot wharf except at high tide.

Mr. Alkman asked the accused what motive Reid could have in committing perjury. By doing so he would be liable to imprisonment and also to lose his navy pension. "Reid, by telling the truth, is bound to suffer," said counsel.

"I've told you the truth," replied Day. Ambrose Richardson, chief officer on the cable ship Restorer, lying in Esquimaux harbor, said he had sold old stores from the Restorer to the value of $25 to John Day, but no paint or candles. Stores for the ship and for other ships had been left at Day's for collection.

Harvey Combe, registrar of voters, said in reference to the voter's application put in to the Depot in the day-time, it had been signed by a person declaring himself to be Frederick Bullock, but he could not identify the witness Bullock as the man who signed it, although the signature was like that of Bullock. It had been sworn to in March, 1908. He would put in the same man in the day-time. They would have to go according to tides, as a landing could not be made effectively at the Depot wharf except at high tide.

The case is continuing this afternoon.

TAX COMMISSION OPENS SESSIONS

at work to defeat it. There is only a limited demand for a certain amount of improved property at any time. It was very difficult to arrive at an equitable rate.

In reply to Mr. Malkin, he did not think the alteration of the 4 per cent. rate would lead to the encouragement of speculation.

In response to Mr. Lugin, he felt some difference should be made between wild land in the matter of taxation, since it had been regularly renewed and the magazines were kept at a normal temperature.

M. Delcasse thought the theory of a short circuit advanced technically at Toulon was the most possible.

BORDEN WILL TAKE OFFICE NEXT WEEK

Announcement That Sir Wilfrid Will Lead Liberals Received With Satisfaction

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—Most of the cabinet ministers have returned to the capital, but pending arrival of Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. W. Patterson, who will be here to-morrow, the cabinet meeting called for this afternoon has been postponed till to-morrow. The transfer of administration to R. L. Borden will likely take place at the end of next week.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is busy in his office clearing up arrears of work and answering hundreds of letters, telegrams and cables from all parts of Canada, and from friends in Britain and sister dominions, expressing regret at Thursday's defeat. The premier is preserving his usual serenity, and while still confident the policies he stood for are in the true interests of Canada and the Empire, he has no criticisms to make of the people's verdict. The announcement that he will still devote his energies, experience and statesmanship to the leadership of the Liberal party is received with general satisfaction, and the Conservative press comments favorably thereon.

One of the first results of the change of government will be a change in the personnel of the national transcontinental commission. Chairman Parent announces he will resign and other members of the commission will probably do likewise. It is not expected that Mr. Borden will hold the axe on Liberal officials in the civil service to any extent, but a few heads will undoubtedly fall, including possibly three deputy ministers.

The plans of the defeated ministers will not be known until after the cabinet conference this week.

DESTRUCTION OF FRENCH BATTLESHIP

Commander at Toulon Reports That Three Hundred Men Are Dead or Missing

Paris, Sept. 25.—Vice-admiral Bellue, commander of the second squadron at Toulon to which the Liberté was attached, telegraphed the minister of marine as follows:

"About 300 men are dead or missing, which estimate includes those from other ships in the harbor. Mr. Delcasse, minister of marine, M. Delcasse, received the members of the press this afternoon and talked to them about the catastrophe. He was greatly distressed and spoke with emotion of the deplorable event coming so soon after the splendid naval review.

In considering the possible causes of the explosion, M. Delcasse excluded that of spontaneous combustion of powder, since it had been regularly renewed and the magazines were kept at a normal temperature.

M. Delcasse thought the theory of a short circuit advanced technically at Toulon was the most possible.

OBJECT LESSONS FOR COAL MINERS
Demonstrations by U. S. Bureau of Mines—Explosion of Coal Dust
Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—Thirty thousand miners killed in the United States in the last 10 years! Seventy-five thousand miners injured, many of them maimed for life. In the same period! Eleven thousand widows made by the deaths of the miners! Thirty thousand children left fatherless!
This terrible record represents not only the accidents in the coal mines, but also the metal mines.
It is the story of a tragedy of the mines, but not the whole story. If the mines of the United States in those 10 years had had the same standards of safety as in the European countries, if the United States had killed two in every 1,000 employed, instead of three, four or five.
This is the whole grim tragedy of the mines epitomized. It is one of the most serious problems of the country and the one that brought the federal bureau of mines into being. It is the great problem that the bureau—Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, its director—is attempting to solve.
This problem is responsible for the great national mine safety demonstration which is to be held in Pittsburgh, Pa., October 30 and 31, under the auspices of the bureau of mines, the American Red Cross, the United Mine

MUCH INCREASED COST OF LIVING
Problems to Which Statesmen Are Compelled to Devote Themselves
The cost of living, which has been steadily rising during the past few years, is beginning to give serious concern to statesmen. Formerly it was only housewives who worried over the tendency of prices to mount while incomes remained stationary or nearly so. In the past year or two, however, the agitation has spread from the housewives, through their husbands, to the legislators, and to-day these well-defined movements among all our governments to reduce the cost of living.

PROBABLY MURDERED.
Sandusky, O., Sept. 25.—The body of an unidentified man, with legs strapped together above the knees, a rope around the waist and a large gash in the neck was washed ashore at Kelly's Island. The body was nude and bore no marks to make identification possible. It is believed the man was murdered aboard a vessel and thrown overboard.
Probably the most polyglot passports in the world are those issued to balloon pilots and aeroplans by the Austrian Aero Club, which are drawn up in no fewer than fifteen languages in parallel columns.
