Campbell Organizes to Stamp out "Blind Pigs"

Addresses Are Made by Pastors and a Law and Order League is Formed

November 13, observed throughout the world as "Temperance Sunday," was celebrated in Campbell by the organization of a Law and Order League to stamp out "blind pigs" which are said to be running in the community. Stirring speeches were made by several pastors, many names were signed to the membership roll, and money was pledged in the movement to rid Campbell of places where liquor is sold.

The meeting was held in the Congregational Church in the evening. Preceding the organization of the league a short program was given under the direction of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. W. W. Stewart presiding.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. J. F. Wilson, a reading was given by Mrs. A. P. Merrill, a vocal duet by the Misses Florence Kennedy and Muriel Palmer, and a solo by Alex. Adams. The principal feature was the address by the Rev. D. M. Marshman, whose theme was "Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord, Make Straight His Paths." He devoted much time to local conditions, which he said should be reformed. He referred to a "blind pig" which was said to be running openly. At the close of the Rev. Mr. Marshman's address the Rev. Mr. Wilson and the Rev. Mr. Atkinson were called upon for a few words. They made stirring remarks and proceeded toward the organization of a Law and Order League for the purpose of driving "blind pigs" from the community. It was said "there were not only one, but two or three places in town where liquor could be had."

A committee of five prominent men was appointed to lay the foundation of an organization. A great many names were handed in for membership, and a considerable amount of money was pledged to promote the work.—Mercury.

The Aisons Surprised

Last Monday was the tenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. R. Alison and the young people of the Epworth League took occasion to give them a delightful surprise. To make sure that they would not surprise an empty house two or three friends invited themselves out for the evening. They were chatting merrily and neither Mr. or Mrs. Alison "smelt a rat" when they were startled by a terrible pounding of pans and cans, by bells ringing and loud yells. It was a thorough surprise. The young folks charivariated them until both their throats and arms were tired and then they went into the house for a jolly evening of fun and laughter.

An impromptu program was given, some of the numbers being ridiculously acted out. As it was the tin wedding many appropriate gifts were given the couple. In the latter part of the evening the refreshments consisting of pumpkin pies, sandwiches, chocolate, pickles and a big wedding cake, were served. There were about forty present.

A SUCCESSFUL YEAR'S WORK

The Finance Committee of the Methodist Church Makes Report Showing Money Expended for the Year

The finance committee of the official board of the Campbell Methodist Episcopal church recently issued a statement to the members of the church showing the amount of money raised during the year which closed September 1st, and also stating the various purposes for which the money was used. The statement, which follows, shows that an unusually large amount of money passed through the church treasury, which fact indicates the prosperous condition of the organization in spite of the fact that three different pastors had charge of the work during the year.

During the ten months that Rev. Wilson has been here the work and interest has steadily progressed and the prospects for the coming year are very bright.

The first debates of the fall series in the Santa Clara Valley Debating League are to be held at Campbell and Palo Alto on the evening of December third. Each school has two teams, an affirmative and a negative team. The negative team of C. U. H. The two debating squads out of which the teams will be chosen are as follows: Affirmative—Miss Ruth Hoag, Mr. Russell Downing, Miss Byrona Bennett, and Mr. George Beaver; Negative—Mr. Max Currier, Miss Ada Collins, Mr. Howard Bean, and Miss Muriel Palmer.

Paragraphs Selected With a View to Giving Busy Readers the News in a Nutshell.

San Jose.—Joe Portorico, for whom the officers have been looking for a number of days, has been arrested for the alleged murder of Joe Escovillo, who was stabbed to death in a night quarrel.

Bakersfield.—Traces have been found in the Cuyama mountains which have led oil experts to believe there is oil in paying quantities in that region. A number of claims have been filed on and prospecting will be started this week by Midway parties.

Berkeley.—A college of journalism is the latest course that has been suggested for the curriculum of the University of California. The new course is advocated in an editorial by Dudley Oates in the last issue of the "Daily Californian," the official organ of the student body.

Willows.—Many improvements in the California national forest are planned by Supervisor Goodwin in the way of tree planting and the construction of telephone lines. An experimental planting will be undertaken to see if tree culture can be carried on practically in the forest.

Vancouver, B. C.—Richard Berryman, who came to Vancouver from Butte, Mont., two years ago, was arrested charged with the murder of Mrs. J. P. Mott Woodworth of this city, who died shortly after the performance of an alleged illegal operation. Two women have also been arrested in connection with the affair.

Aberdeen, Wash.—Word has been received from Sheriff J. H. Boise at Weaverville, Cal., of the arrest at that place of Wilson Buttner, a former attorney of this city, who fled after his indictment by the Grand Jury for the alleged larceny of $500 from Mrs. Elizabeth O'Brien of Hoquiam. It is said that he has been working as a miner.

Los Angeles.—Mrs. Belle Lavin of San Francisco, held for three weeks in the county jail on a charge of murder in connection with the "Times" disaster, was released on her own recognizance. Her arraignment on the charge of murder has been set for November 14th. It is said that in the meantime no effort will be made to keep her under surveillance.

Seattle, Wash.—Two explosions, occurring within a few minutes of each other, resulted in the death of twelve men in the Lawson mine at Black Diamond, thirty miles southeast of Seattle. Seven men going down on the shift and five men coming up were caught between the first and sixth levels, and it is almost certain that all perished. Natural gas combustion is assigned as the cause.

Sacramento.—A right upercut to the chin was the answer received by a thug who attacked Mrs. Leona Duden Smith, a comely bookkeeper, while she was passing through the Capitol park. The man jumped from behind a tree, and seizing her left hand, ordered her to keep quiet and go with him. Mrs. Smith swung her right on him and sent his head flying back. She then screamed and the thug took refuge among the park trees.

Los Angeles.—An unusual feature was found in the will of the late Conrad Hafen, filed for probate here. A large part of the $80,000 estate of Hafen consisted of notes, and a clause of the will directs that the executors shall extend the time of payment of any note to a date not later than one year from and after his death. "I do this for the purpose of enabling my debtors to have ample time to pay, as I do not wish anyone to be inconvenienced or hurt by my death."

Chico.—The motor of John A. Reuld's automobile "died" on the Malaga road a few nights ago, and Reuld and his machine were appropriately hauled into town by a "dead" wagon. A local undertaker was returning from near Sterling, bringing with him the body of Fred Rhoey, who died of heart failure as he bent over a creek to drink. Reuld had been stalled for two hours 14 miles from town when the undertaker came along. The machine was hitched to the rear of the dead wagon and towed to Chico.

RAISIN SEEDERS INFRINGE SAYS EASTERN INVENTOR

New York Concern Seeks Heavy Damages From California Firms.

Los Angeles.—Because of the alleged infringements of patents of the United States Consolidated Raisin Company, the Dinuba Farmers' Union Packing Company of Tulare, the Kings County Raisin and Fruit Company of Hanford, the California Dried Fruit Agency and the California Farmers' Union, incorporated, of Fresno, must put up $22,000 bonds or temporarily close their plants, under a conditional temporary injunction granted today by Judge Wellborn of the United States Circuit Court. The controversy affects all the packers of seeded raisins and the grape growing industry of the entire State is interested.

The New York concern which brings the action seeks heavy damages, alleging that the machines which are an infringement on its patents have been in use two years, and it asked the court to stop them until the suit shall have a final hearing. Judge Wellborn, in order not to work a hardship on the packers, gave them permission to file sureties, in default of which the injunction will become effective. They are granted two weeks in which to act.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA DID THINGS TO STANFORD

Both Squads True Sports and Defeated
Took Their Medicine Like Men.

In the fastest and most spectacular exhibition of Rugby ever witnessed on the Pacific coast, the California varsity fifteen won a clear-cut victory from their Stanford rivals at California field last Saturday by a score of 25 to 6. A record crowd of spectators was in attendance and every color of the rainbow bedecked the beachers. Incidentally Old Sol had decidedly the better of the argument in a battle of the gods, as he smiled on the assemblage from start to finish.

It was a grand fight, and, though beaten, the cardinal men put up a stubborn defense. Toward the end of the game their defense weakened and the men got out of their positions, leaving openings of which the California team was quick to take advantage. The game was played in a sportsmanlike manner by both teams, and the playing all the way through was clean-cut, hard and vigorous. The large crowd got lots of excitement and was kept in an uproar all the time. It is estimated that 23,000 people attended the game.

Wire Netting Carries Deadly Charge.

San Leandro.—Grabbing hold of the wire netting that inclosed his chicken yard, in an endeavor to stamp out the flames about the frame work of the fence, F. C. Vargas, a farmer residing near Estudillo station, was instantly killed, when a charge of several thousand volts of electricity passed through his body. The current came from a high power wire of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, which had broken and fallen across a barbed wire fence at a point nearly half a mile away, the deadly current flashing along the tortuous route of the wire strands until it reached the chicken house of Vargas, to which the fence was attached.

Son of Victor H. Metcalf Dead.

Oakland.—After an illness of more than two years' duration, Victor N. Metcalf, son of Victor H. Metcalf, former Secretary of the Navy and at the present time vice-president of the Union Savings Bank of Oakland, died of tuberculosis at Colorado Springs, Colo. He had gone to Colorado Springs, accompanied by his bride of less than a year, for the benefit of his health.

Fruit Growers Meet at Newcastle.

Sacramento.—State Horticultural Commissioner Jeffrey has issued a call for a convention of fruit growers to be held at Newcastle, Placer county, on November 2d. This date will be the first anniversary of the commencement of the standardization movement in California and Jeffrey states that it will be a fitting time to make plans for work for the coming year.

Dead Men Didn't Get Votes.

Seattle.—Corpses of two men who died from alcoholism were placed on exhibition in the windows of the undertaking establishment of Deputy Coroner H. W. Connell at Auburn, 20 miles south of Seattle, in an effort to win votes for the "drys" in the local option election held there, but without effect, for the town voted "wet."

Australian Railroad Ties.

Rodondo.—The first large consignment of railroad ties shipped from Australia to the United States is on its way to Rodondo, Cal., according to the consular report received here. The ties, about 66,000 in number, are mainly iron bark, much used in railroad construction in Australia.

California Now Ready to Make Fight for Exposition

San Francisco.—California has given its unqualified indorsement to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition project. Constitutional amendments 52 and 33, providing both for a State tax of $5,000,000 in aid of the exposition and authorizing the city of San Francisco to issue $5,000,000 bonds, carried by an overwhelming vote.

In San Francisco and the bay cities both amendments carried by practically a unanimous vote, while in many parts of the State a favorable vote of from 5 or 10 to 1 was given, and almost everywhere the majorities accorded were substantial ones.

By the action of all California at the polls San Francisco can present its claims for the fair to Congress on the basis of a cash fund of $17,500,000. The State has put the one needed weapon in the hands of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Company.

The work of educating the people of the State to the necessity of voting for amendments 52 and 33 devolved principally upon Robert E. Connolly, chief of the bureau of publicity of the exposition company. Day and night Connolly worked indefatigably directing a corps of assistants in the work of compiling statistics and sending out literature and arguments showing how the entire State would be benefited by the great exposition in 1915. The overwhelming vote in favor of the amendments is a testimonial to Connolly and his plan of campaign.

Julius Kahn, re-elected to represent the Fourth Congressional district in Washington and the spokesman for San Francisco's Panama-Pacific International Exposition, is ready for the fight with New Orleans for Congressional indorsement of the Pacific coast project.

"The resolution indorsing the Panama-Pacific International Exposition at San Francisco is now on the House calendar. So is the New Orleans resolution. The House committee on foreign affairs reported back both resolutions. It is generally believed that New Orleans will never call up her resolution. We will take the initiative. The Governor of Louisiana said unequivocally to the committee on foreign affairs that New Orleans would expect Government aid. The resolution reports do not contemplate Government aid, and San Francisco specifically stands as not asking for nor expecting one cent of aid from the National Government.

"We feel that New Orleans will make no effort to secure the adoption of its resolution at the present time, but, on the other hand, San Francisco will press its action and will bring the matter to an issue. We will have it decided upon by the present Congress at the short session between December and next March, while Congress is of its present complexion, and we will ask for action as soon as possible, in December if that can be done. Our campaign will be aggressive.

"It is of tremendous importance to San Francisco that Congressman E. A. Hayes of the Fifth district was re-elected, as his influence is great, and he, and in fact each member of the California delegation, has been untiring in his efforts for San Francisco and California's Panama-Pacific Exposition."

California Election Veritable Republican Landslide

Hiram W. Johnson was elected with a plurality of 21,000 over Theodore Ehl, and the entire Republican State ticket was elected by pluralities ranging from 10,000 to 50,000. California returned a solid Republican delegation of eight Congressmen.

The Republicans made substantial gains in both branches of the Legislature. The Democratic minority in the Assembly was reduced from 20 to 13 members. In the State Senate the Democratic minority remains nine as before.

California ratified the Panama-Pacific Exposition tax and the San Francisco fair bond amendment by overwhelming votes.

The San Francisco and San Diego harbor improvement bonds were ratified by big majorities.

The vote on Amendments

Figures from counties covering a large portion and many sections of the State indicate that all the amendments and the San Francisco harbor, India basin and San Diego seawall acts have carried. Even the State highway act, which was fought in many places, seems to have pulled through.

Returns practically complete from

Alameda, Fresno, Orange, San Benito, San Bernardino, Nevada, Marin, Sonoma, Sacramento, Santa Clara, Contra Costa, Colusa and Santa Cruz counties and the city and county of San Francisco show the following results:

No. 1—For, 54,674; against, 29,280.
No. 11—For, 40,282; against, 24,974.
No. 36—For, 45,266; against, 12,257.
No. 38—For, 32,800; against, 26,239.
No. 44—For, 42,741; against, 12,959.
No. 52—For, 72,431; against, 11,663.
No. 14—For, 57,475; against, 7,048.
No. 33—For, 73,422; against, 8,828.
San Francisco harbor act—For, 72,265; against, 15,421.
State highway act—For, 52,238; against, 29,891.

India Basin act—For, 59,594; against, 30,116.
San Diego seawall act—For, 56,441; against, 21,153.

A significant feature of the vote in San Bernardino county on the tax amendment is that it was voted against there 3 to 1. At no other place was the movement so strong against it.

Democratic landslides swept over the States of the East. With New York, Ohio and Massachusetts, give the party control of the House.

Pleadings of Two Daughters Ignored By Officials

New York.—Ellis Island will remember the case of Franz Lohm and his wife, German Hungarians, as a peculiar example of how the innocent letter of the law, as applied to immigrants, may work heartrending hardships.

The aged couple have two daughters living in Passaic, N. J., and it was their intention to join them when they journeyed to Hamburg, Germany, and bought a ticket to America. But the man who sold them the ticket put them on a steamer that landed them in Buenos Ayres.

With no funds they spent a year at hard labor on a ranch, finally earning enough for passage to New York. A week ago they arrived here, again penniless. The immigration officials said immediately they could not land because they were likely to become public charges.

The pleadings of the two daughters availed nothing and the only question which remained was, should they go back to Argentina or to Hamburg? The law says specifically that the line which brings over an undesirable alien shall take him back.

The daughters offered to pay the passage to Germany, but the law was inflexible and the two are now aboard a steamer sailing back to Argentina.

Death in Either Case Whether She Stayed or Left

San Francisco.—Seeing in "The City," the tragedy by Clyde Fitch, a picture of her own life, Mrs. Lilla Levy, a belle of the night life, committed suicide, dying at St. Winifred's Hospital.

Less than a year ago the girl came to the city from Chicago. The glare of the electric lights and the enticing melody of distant music drew her away from her husband. The husband pleaded with her to return to him and gave her all possible attention and assistance. He took her to see "The City." She left the theater profoundly impressed and repeating many of the lines which fitted her own life. The husband pleaded with her to return to him, picturing a life in the country.

"I belong to the city," she said. "It will kill me if I leave it, and it will kill me if I don't."
They reached the apartments and the girl went to her rooms. A few moments later there was a shriek and attendants rushing to the room found that the girl had taken poison.

GARAGE FOR AEROPLANES ODD SAN FRANCISCO LIVERY

Large Structure to House, Equip, Build and Repair Flying Machines.

San Francisco.—This city is to lead ever city of the United States in having the first aerodrome, or garage for aeroplanes, which will be of sufficient dimensions to accommodate all flying machines likely to be made or operated in the city for some years to come. This project of an aerial garage is not merely a scheme which has only reached the stage of idle dreaming. On the contrary, it is an assured fact, which will be consummated within a month or two, when the aerodrome will be ready for its "grand opening" to aviators.

The garage for flying machines will be at the northeast corner of Polk street and Pacific avenue, a site in the center of the automobile garages and conveniently situated for those who are most likely to have aeroplanes. Grading has actually begun on the lot, and plans for the building, after having been carefully thought out by the originator of the aerial garage, are in the hands of the architect. A petition has also been presented to the Board of Public Works for a permit to construct the building.

NEW MEXICO WAR WARRANTS ARE GOOD FOR THE CASH

Constitutional Convention Decides That Million Dollars be Paid.

Santa Fe, N. M.—The New Mexico constitutional convention wrangled through a good part of a session over the clause on state, county and municipal indebtedness. It was agreed that the so-called militia warrants, amounting to about a million dollars, should be validated or paid by the State.

They were issued during the Civil War and the subsequent Indian raids, and it was contended that such as were valid should be paid by the United States, as they had been in other States.

The bonded indebtedness of the new State, to be created in the future, is to be limited to one per cent of the assessed valuation, and no bonds are to be issued except upon the passage of a law by two-thirds of each house of the Legislature and upon its ratification at the polls by the voters.

After a heated debate the convention voted to allow women to vote at school district elections and made them eligible to the office of school director and county superintendent of schools.

Kills Two in Courthouse.

Boston.—Walter G. Fall, a state-house employe, who was at liberty on bail awaiting trial on a charge of assaulting a 14-year-old girl, Esther G. Fogg, shot and killed Frank A. Rees, step-father of the child, and Police Sergeant Frederick Schleuber, the witness against him, as they were waiting to lay the case before the District Attorney. The shooting occurred in the District Attorney's office in the Suffolk county Court House. Fall struggled fiercely in an attempt to end his own life, but was overpowered and taken to police headquarters. He is 24 years old and was an employe of the office of sealer of weights and measures.

Liquor Crazed Suitor Commits Murder.

Spokane.—Miss Josephine Putnam, a school teacher, was brutally murdered by Patrick Holland a Duncan farm hand. Crazed by liquor and by her refusal to receive his attentions, Holland went to the cottage where she was living alone and shot her, killing her instantly. He then shot himself, the bullet entering his breast and inflicting serious but not fatal injuries.

Suit to Regain S. P. Oil Lands.

Washington.—For the alleged fraudulent procuring of patents on lands in southern California the Southern Pacific Railroad Company is soon to be sued by the Government. Agents of the Department of Justice and the Interior Department are busily engaged in going over the records of the Interior Department gathering evidence which they may use in a suit.

Fifty Years With the S. P.

Willows.—Albert Frisbie, the oldest locomotive engineer in the State of California and who had the distinction of running the first locomotive in the State on the first construction train taken out of Vallejo on the main line to Sacramento, died at his home here. He was 69 years old. He served the railroad company for 50 years.

Population More Than Doubles.

Washington.—According to official census reports the population of Los Angeles is 319,198, as compared with 102,479 in 1900 and 50,395 in 1890. The increase from 1900 to 1910, therefore is 216,719, or 211.5 per cent, compared with an increase of the preceding decade of 52,084 or 103.4 per cent.

Pithy Paragraphs.

Lisbon.—It is officially announced that 61 persons were killed and 417 others were injured at the time of the revolution.

Charleston.—The cruisers Tennessee and Montana came up to the city, anchoring in the Cooper river. President Taft will board the Tennessee for the voyage to Colon, the Montana acting as convoy.

Rawlins, Wyo.—Charles F. Perkins, a pioneer scout, Indian fighter and trapper of the Snake River country, was crushed to death by a log while lumbering on Black Mountain, near Baggs, Wyo. He was 70 years old.

Wellston, O.—Mrs. Sarah Stewart, 49 years of age, married James Turner, her adopted son. As guardian of the young man, Mrs. Stewart first appeared before the license clerk and signed the necessary permission for a minor to marry.

Guthrie, Okla.—In a collision between a Rock Island passenger train and an Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe work train three miles south of here, A. Wilson of King Fisher, the Rock Island engineer, was killed and 13 trainmen and passengers were injured.

Cincinnati.—Taft voted at 11:37 a. m. last Tuesday. The polling place was an empty store at 2034 Madison road. The President spent four minutes in the booth marking the ballot. He seemed to be examining every name on it. Taft was voter No. 322 in the precinct.

Topeka.—The State Supreme Court decided that a loaf of bread weighed sixteen ounces or it was not a full loaf. John McCoat, a Leavenworth baker, was arrested because he did not label his bread when the loaves weighed less than sixteen ounces. He appealed and the Supreme Court upheld the decision.

Salt Lake City.—A man who led a band at the coronation of Queen Victoria died here a few days ago in his 96th year, leaving 89 descendants, including seven great-great-grandchildren. He was Thomas Cannell, born on the Isle of Man in 1814. He crossed the plains on foot and settled in Utah in 1868.

Tazwell, Tenn.—A free-for-all fight to gain possession of the Court House, the registration books and the ballots occurred on election day between Republicans and Independent Democrats on one side and Taylor Democrats on the other. As a result the majority of the ballots were destroyed, also the registration books. There was no bloodshed nor shots fired.

Chicago.—A gathering advertised as a political rally turned out to be a prize fight. The fight got well under way before the police raided the place and arrested 300 men, including the principals and a prominent politician. A ring had been roped off in a stable. Men scheduled to fight to a finish had taken their corners and excited spectators were crowded about the improvised ring.

Madison, Wis.—The will of Hallie Stensland, alderman of this city and twice consul for Norway and Sweden, who was knighted several years ago by King Haakon, filed for probate, disposes of an estate of $500,000. Of this sum $10,500 is given to the United Lutheran church of America and Madison public enterprises get $200,000, and Stensland's native parish is given 200 kroner, or $560, with which to pay off a debt.

Washington, Penn.—Totally ignorant of the danger that surrounded her and under the impression that she was carrying water, 11-year-old Mildred Anderson tripped along holding in each hand a pail of nitro-glycerine which had been prepared for shooting an oil well on the Cameron farm near here. At a quiet command from her father the child set the pails down and was taken out of danger. The men, unnerved, suspended work for the day.

New York.—One of the great secrets of the Civil War died with General Thomas T. Eckart, former president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and head of the United Military Telegraph Corps during the war. That secret was the burial place of J. Wilkes Booth, the assassin of Abraham Lincoln. General Eckart is said to have been the only surviving veteran who knew anything in connection with the case. No amount of questioning could draw the story from him.

VICTIM OF A "SKIN GAME"

Only Conclusion Backward Boy Could
Arrive at When Promise
Was Not Kept.

A teacher in the primary grade in one of the down-town schools worked valiantly but to no avail with the most backward pupil. The child seemed incapable of individual thinking. He was not able even to write from copy in his copybook. The best he could do was to "trace" the copy through a piece of tissue paper and then write through it on the copybook again, which he did with regularity.

His teacher tried in vain to break him of the habit, but it was easier for the child to "trace" his exercise than to copy it. Shortly after Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh had been made superintendent of schools, he dropped into this teacher's room just as she was scolding the backward pupil for his refusal to copy his exercise. The superintendent asked what was the trouble.

"This boy just won't try to copy his exercise," the teacher complained. "I am sure he can if he tries, but he will do nothing but trace his copy, and I can't make him do otherwise." She was almost ready to cry with mortification. Doctor Brumbaugh thought a minute, then took a penny from his pocket.

"Do you know what this is?" he asked the backward one. The boy's dull eyes lighted and he nodded his head.

"Well, if you copy your exercise between now and the time I come back," said the superintendent, "I will give this penny to you."

Then he went out of the room and by the time he had made the round of the building his attention had been drawn to other things, and he left without returning to see what progress the unpromising pupil was making.

As soon as Doctor Brumbaugh had left the office, the boy took up his "tracing" paper, made a new copy of the exercise, and then sat back waiting for the superintendent, who did not come. An hour passed, and finally he raised his hand.

"What is it, William?" the teacher asked.

"Miss Smith," the boy replied slowly, but with conviction, "I'll bet that sucker skinned out with that cent."—Philadelphia Times.

Fear and Fun.

Of course, the great discovery of Doctor Crile on the changes which fear and shock make in the brain cells has enormous bearings on many questions in psychology, as it does also in war, etc. But fun is the opposite of fear, so if fear plays particular mischief with brain cells, then fun is what makes them solid, plump and healthy. Anyhow, one sees how much better luck with bad cases some surgeons have than others. It is by the exercise of elaborate care that one surgeon is able to snatch from death or permanent disaster a patient who on other hands would surely die. That fear can kill and grief injure is no news, of course. Some hospitals for years have let the patient for several days before the operation whiff a little ether and make believe he was being put to sleep, so that he did not really know he was asleep when the operation came. In the same way for years laughing gas, which has no smell, has been given before the ether, so that the patient would start off with less fear.

When Frank O'Brien Was Shot.

Mr. M. O'Rourke, himself a faithful soldier in the cause of the south, tells the Register the following story of the late Frank P. O'Brien, mayor of Birmingham, who died last week:

"It was at Washington, N. C., and we were under the fire of the Yankee gunboats. Frank P. O'Brien, who was standing by my side, was struck and fell in a heap. I stooped to see what I could do for him. There was apparently a serious wound directly over his heart, where his coat was cut to pieces. I opened the coat and felt inside, finding first a note book, that was mashed into pulp. Underneath, however, there was no break of the skin, the book having taken the force of the piece of shell that had hit him. Frank was clean knocked out. After a little he revived.

"Mike, I am dying," he said.

"No, Frank," said I, "you are not hurt."

"Yes, I am," replied Frank. "I'm dying. Tell them that I died like a true Irishman."

"But he got up pretty soon, and lived to fight another day—a good many other days."—Mobile Register.

A Correction.

The habit of contradicting sometimes "overleaps itself" unwittingly. "I've heard it said," remarked a loungee at the cross-roads store, "that John Henderson over by Woodville was one of eighteen sons."

"That's what ye heard wrong," contributed the chronic kicker. "Twasn't John Henderson at all. 'Twas a brother o' his'n."—Lippincott's Magazine.

The Unassertive Listener.

"Indeed," replied Miss Cayenne; "he must have been very much interested or very much bored."

HOW AN AUTOMOBILE MADE POSSIBLE THE VICTORY

Hiram Johnson Will Stay With the "Old Boat" Until He is Governor

(By MARION MICHELSON)

An automobile made possible the sweeping victory of August 16th, which placed California in the ranks of insurgent states and made Hiram Johnson the Republican nominee for Governor—an automobile and Hiram W. Johnson, Jr.

Johnson's Locomobile roadster carried the future governor into remote communities which had never before known a candidate for governor and which were not accessible by the railroad. Hiram Junior guided the car on its 10,000 mile journey, arranged the itinerary for the long campaign, and was able to gauge his distances and the power of his machine with such accuracy that he was able to keep his appointments almost to the minute.

A run of 100 miles from Madera to the little town of Houston, in Modesto County, brought Johnson 300 votes in one lot and is still the talk of the country-side. Houston was celebrating its first anniversary. The farmers had come from miles around to attend the celebration and Johnson was selected as the orator of the day. He was due at 11 o'clock. Houston lies in a low prairie country and only a year ago was the center of a barren waste, which has since been reclaimed by irrigation. The day was hot and the roads dusty. When the farmers heard that Johnson was leaving Madera, where he had spoken the night before after a long day's work, they said, with some disappointment, that he would be too tired for the journey ahead of him and that even if he wished to come he could not make the long run in time to take part in the celebration. The people went ahead with their games and races. At two minutes to 11 o'clock a small boy on the grand stand cried out that he could see dust in the distance. The word was passed from lip to lip; all games were suspended while people came to look; all could not see the speck in the distance and some doubted. The dust became clearer and the people knew that Johnson had kept his word and was then crossing the prairie on full speed. A mighty cheer went up and a delegation of cowboys was sent out to escort the guest of honor to the grand stand. At exactly 11 o'clock the Locomobile drew up before the assembled audience. "Any man who can keep an appointment like that deserves to be governor," said the people, and that they meant what they said was proven when Modesto's vote was counted.

"The old boat," Johnson affectionately calls his car. It has served him as a public platform and from it he has made over 600 speeches during the campaign just concluded. Without it, he frankly admits, he could not have made the race. In the first place, it enabled him to get closer to the people, talking to them as he would to his neighbor instead of through political bosses or organizations, as other candidates have talked to them. In the second place, he could not have held up under the strain of the campaign had it not been for the rest afforded him in the open air after his tiring speeches.

And when Hiram Johnson becomes governor of California he is going to enter the capital in the "old boat," simply as a matter of sentiment, and Hiram Junior will be at the wheel. They carried him to victory, he says, and they shall carry him to the governor's mansion at Sacramento.

AUTO GOSSIP.

The most sensational announcement that has held the attention of the local automobile fraternity for many a day is that just made by the Standard Motor Car Company of a reduction in the prices of Ford cars. As now listed the model "T" touring car sells fully equipped for $875, delivered in San Francisco, or without extension top, automatic windshield, two six-inch gas lamps, generator and speedometer for $795. The roadster fully equipped sells for $775 f. o. b. San Francisco, or without the equipment mentioned in connection with the touring car for $695.

The Peerless Motor Car Company of Cleveland, Ohio, has issued a most beautiful catalogue of their 1911 cars. It is an ornament to any one's desk, and is of great value to those seeking information regarding automobiles. The pen sketches are especially good, and are suitable for framing. H. O. Harrison is the San Francisco agent for the Peerless cars.

With the approach of winter, motor car interest has turned to the various limousine and coupe devices. The greatest recent sensation along this line is the little Buick "14" fitted with an inside drive body, announcement of which has just reached the local branch of the Howard Automobile Company from the factory. For finish and elegance this little coupe is, according to advices, quite the equal of the larger limousines.

is invaluable in its capacity of quickly giving heat. It will burn nine hours with one filling. It is safe, smokeless and odorless; has a cool handle and a damper top. An indicator shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain. It has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so the wick can be quickly cleaned. The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, and can be unscrewed in an instant for reworking. Finished in Japan or nickel, strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

CAMPBELL INTERURBAN PRESS

Entered as second-class matter September 30, 1901, at the Postoffice at Campbell, California, under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $1.00 per Year in Advance Locals, 5c per Line each insertion
Display Adv., (2 or more inches) 50c an inch per month. 1 inch 75c per month.
Notices of Entertainments where a charge is made, Cards of Thanks, etc., 5c per line.

The voters of Campbell precinct showed unusual interest in the recent election. There were 195 votes cast, which included every name on the register that could be accounted for or was in the community.

Slow down! The local officers have had sign boards place at the school house, the bridge and on Central avenue demanding that all vehicles slow down to ten miles per hour. The reckless manner autos drive through the main streets has made it necessary that some action be taken to protect the lives of our citizens.

The Santa Clara News announces that after January 1, 1911, the subscription price of that paper will be raised from $1.50 to $2.50 per year. The Interurban Press still maintains the old price of $1.00 per year and yet it gives two or three times the amount of local news that it did one year ago. How can we do it? We can't do it unless you help. You can help improve the paper by keeping your own subscription paid promptly, by speaking a good word for the paper to your neighbor, and by sending us news items.

Peterson and Ruby K. Fore. The funeral was held from the home on the Santa Clara-Los Gatos road. Interment at Oak Hill Cemetery. The Masons conducted the services.

Children and Other Animals

My Dear Boys and Girls:—

I want to ask you some questions and make you think for a few minutes. Did you ever have a pain; or get hurt? Yes, and you wished the pain would stop pretty soon, didn't you, because that was suffering. Now I want you to take notice that it is because you feel that you have suffered, and to remember that everything can feel, horses, and cows, and cats, and rabbits, and birds, and insects,—every creature that is alive can suffer.

You all know that it is bad to be hurt, and that it is hard if someone goes on hurting you just for fun. It is no fun at all for you. That is the way it is when you hurt animals, or birds, or insects. Just think, they cannot speak and tell you how much you hurt them, and that makes it still more wrong for you to do it. When you feel like throwing a stone at some creature, "just for fun," stop a moment and think, "How would I like it myself? How would I like some big, strong person to throw stones at me?" One kind of a coward is a boy or girl who hurts anything for fun. It is not real fun, it is a very ugly thing indeed,—cruelty.

A lady once told me of two pictures which she saw. One was a very large frog sitting on the edge of a pond and throwing stones at a very small boy, and asking him how he liked it. The other picture was a large fly hurting a little boy and paying no attention to anything but the fun he was having. How dreadfully cruel of the frog and fly! But, boys, you know it is really the other way, and it is the boys who are cruel to the poor creatures who cannot speak or protect themselves.

Sometimes children think it is fun to frighten animals. There are boys who think it no end of fun to say, "Shoo!" whenever they see a cat, and I have actually heard of boys who throw stones at cats! How would they like it themselves?

Suppose that whenever they dared to show themselves in daylight somebody a great deal bigger than they should make a great noise and chase them and frighten them dreadfully and throw stones at them!

Geo. E. Hyde & Co. Plan Extensive Improvements

The past season was quite successful for the Geo. E. Hyde & Co. and they are planning quite extensive improvements so as to be better equipped to handle the next year's business. They hope to arrange with the Campbell Fruit Growers Union to have another story added to the building and also to have a new steam boiler put in that will meet with their requirements. It was found this past year that the old boiler would not do the work. As the lease expires this year they will ask for a five year contract.

Richardson's Good Work

[From The Herald of Benicia, Nov. 11, 1910.]

No republican in this state did harder or more effective work for the election of Hiram W. Johnson than did Friend Wm. Richardson, the able editor of the Berkeley Gazette, and the popular president of the state editorial association.

Although deliberately counted out of the republican nomination for state printer by the supply trust, Richardson did not sink in his lull but supported Johnson and the entire ticket. For several weeks before the election he spent practically all of his time in a canvass of the state in the interest of Johnson.

Richardson is a progressive republican who was one of the first in the movement in this state to gain political freedom. His work has been all the more effective because quiet and dignified. He is one of the most influential republicans in the state and has a brilliant future.

The little babe of Mrs. Redding, of Michigan, has been quite sick with bronchial pneumonia at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Spencer, parents of Mrs. Redding.

The Clock's Annoying Habit.

Mrs. Benham had just seated herself to work at a bit of embroidery that required particular care and attention when there came a ring at the telephone. "I just know that's Mrs. Gummy," she said as she laid down her work and went to answer the call. "Whenever I am unusually busy and haven't any time to spare she rings me up and talks to me by the hour."

She was right. It was Mrs. Gummy, who was fully as talkative as ever. She began with a long story, and when fairly in the middle of it the clock on the wall of the room began to strike.

"Wait a moment," interposed Mrs. Benham. "I can't hear you until this noise stops."

"What made that noise?" asked Mrs. Gummy after it had ceased.

"It was only the clock," answered the patient Mrs. Benham. "You know it always strikes once or twice when we get to talking."

The conversation did not last long after that.—Youth's Companion.

The World's Railway Mileage.

A table prepared for the Archiv fur Eisenbahnen states that at the commencement of 1908 the total railway mileage of the whole world was 504,842 miles, divided as follows: America, 302,928; Europe, 190,346; Asia, 56,284; Africa, 18,518; and Australia, 17,769. The cost of construction per mile has been highest in Great Britain and Ireland, where it averaged $271,000 per mile. In Belgium the cost was $172,900; France, $122,000; Germany, $198,500; Italy, $125,300; Russia, $79,000 per mile. In the United States the average cost has been $88,800; in Canada, $58,000; in New Zealand, $60,300; and in Queensland, Australia, it is as low as $34,200.

Travel on Their Stomachs.

Certain devotees in India in their fanatical zeal practically travel from place to place on their stomachs! Their method of progression is rather peculiar. Throwing themselves forward full length on the ground, they make a mark with their hands as far in front of them as they can reach. Then, springing up, they put their toes to the mark and repeat the process. Some of these devotees travel half way across the Indian continent in this extraordinary fashion.—Wide

Cut Out the Middlemen

California fruit growers should attempt to make arrangements to sell their products in the cities of America direct to retailers, thus doing away with the services of high priced, unnecessary and grafting middlemen who are in search of nothing but the almighty dollar, and whose evident purpose is to receive as their share of profit just a little more, every time, than is received by those orchardists who grow the fruit. Reports from Chicago are to the effect that the finest California prunes sell in that city for twenty-five cents per pound when boxed in small cartons. As the average price paid in this year of grace 1910 to California orchardists is four to four and a half cents per pound, the inference to be drawn needs no explanation, being self evident.

Fruit growers have struggled against this one-sided discrimination for years, but up to the present time there has been nothing practical accomplished. Whether better success will attend future efforts will remain to be seen. Among the plans adopted has been the shipping of fruit to the principal eastern markets by those who raised it, but it has invariably been the case that when this measure has been resorted to, the eastern buyers have at once glutted the market to which the orchardists shipped their fruit; then they have cut the price below cost, temporarily of course, thereby accomplishing their object, which was only to discourage such shipments by orchardists.

These and other obstacles have been placed in the way of every attempt on the part of fruit raisers to market their own products on the plan of dispensing with the services of expensive middlemen, with the results stated above—four cents a pound for prunes to growers, and six times as much to be paid for them by retail buyers.

An organization was formed in San Jose ten years ago with the alleged object of controlling the sale of prunes and dispensing with all that savored of middlemen, in the handling of fruit from the time it was dried until it was sold to the consumer. The scheme was all right, on paper, but it had its inception in the mind of a worn out promoter, who is alleged to have floated it only for the purpose of providing insecure positions for himself, his family and friends, and who continually misrepresented the condition of the market to members of the association, it resulted in a rank failure, as was naturally to have been expected. The affairs of this model of cheap grafting cost its members tens of thousands of dollars. So much for one of many attempts made by orchardists to obtain their rights.

Another obstacle to any attempt on the part of fruit growers to dispense with the services of this horde of hungry middlemen is the ever present poverty that seems to be the lot of fruit growers. This compels them to sell whenever an offer is made, and right there is where the middlemen begin to succeed in their scheme of dividing profits with orchardists upon the basis of the former taking the lion's share.

There is but one method by which orchardists can receive the limit of prices for their products; that is by co-operation. When a feasible plan along this line is presented, the orchardists of each district can combine, can arrange to sell their fruit direct to wholesalers in eastern markets, at fair prices, or they can arrange to sell it direct to consumers, through the establishment of retail stores in all the larger cities. Such a course would bring about lively competition for a time, but it would come more nearly securing for fruit growers a fair return for their labors than any other method that has yet been considered.—Gilroy Gazette.
