Said assessment shall be ascertained by dividing the number of dollars due or to become due upon the warrants which have been issued by the number of acres in the district, and assessing to each acre the result so obtained. Such assessment roll shall be prepared and delivered to the county auditor or auditors by the secretary of the irrigation board as provided in section seventeen, and the said amount shall be collected by the tax collector of the county in the same manner as is provided for the collection of other assessments levied by the district.

At any time after the irrigation board shall have made the examinations, surveys, plans and estimates of cost for the storage, diversion and distribution of water, and for the other purposes enumerated in this act, and after the same has been entered in the minutes of said board and shall have also had assessed and apportioned upon the lands in any irrigation district organized under the provision of this act the charges and benefits and apportionments provided for in this act, and after such apportionment and assessment roll shall have been finally fixed and approved by the said board, and after the same has been entered in the minutes of the said board must, as soon as may be practicable, proceed and issue the bonds of said irrigation district for the purposes aforesaid.

And whenever thereafter the construction fund of said irrigation district has been exhausted by expenditures herein authorized, and it is necessary to raise additional money for such purposes, it shall be the duty of said board to estimate and determine the amount of money necessary to be raised for such additional purposes.

Examination

For the purposes of such bond issue, or additional bond issue, the said board shall be authorized to employ engineers and other assistants and make all such further examinations and estimates as may be necessary, to fix and determine such

Said irrigation board shall by order entered in its records order a special election to be held at such place or places in said irrigation district as shall be designated by said irrigation board, at which said election there shall be submitted to the owners of land in said irrigation district the question whether or not the bonds of said district shall be issued in the amount specified in the order of said board, and which amount shall be stated in the order for such special election. For all purposes of this act relating to signing petitions and voting at any election, and for all other purposes where the question of title to land claimed to be owned by such voter or owner is involved, the equalized assessment roll for the year last preceding in each county wherein any land of the said irrigation district is situated, shall be sufficient evidence of ownership of lands in the irrigation district. Guardians, executors, administrators and other persons holding land in a trust capacity under appointment of court may vote without obtaining any special authority therefor. Said irrigation board shall at the time of calling the said election designate in its order the voting place or places at which said election shall be held and where votes shall be cast and shall designate three landholders of the irrigation district to act as a board of election at each voting place.

Affidavits of the publication and posting of such notice must be filed with the secretary of said irrigation board.

Notice.

At such election each owner of lands in the district shall be entitled to vote in person or by proxy, and shall have the right to cast one vote for each acre of real estate owned by him in the irrigation district, such ownership to be determined from the next preceding assessment roll of the county or counties in which the lands of the irrigation district are situated and the irrigation board shall, prior to the election, cause to be prepared and certified and furnished to the board of election at each polling place, a true and correct copy of each of said next preceding assessment rolls so far as such assessment roll applies to any lands within such irrigation district, which said certified roll shall be used by the board of election in determining the number of votes each voter is entitled to cast. Executors, administrators, special administrators and guardians may cast the vote of the estates represented by them. No person shall vote by proxy at such election unless authority to cast such vote shall be evidenced by an instrument in writing, duly acknowledged and certified in the same manner as grants of real property and filed with the board of election.

A list of the ballots cast shall be made by the board of election containing the name of each voter, and, if the ballots be cast by proxy, the name of the person casting it and the number of votes cast by each and whether the same be cast for or against the issuing of bonds.

Oath of election officer.

If any person appointed as a member of the board of election shall fail to attend at the opening of the polls, the voters then present, voting individually, may appoint in his place any landholder in the irrigation district. Each member of said board of election must, before entering upon his duties, take and subscribe an official oath, to faithfully perform his duties as an officer of such election, which oath may be administered by any officer authorized to administer oaths, or by a landholder in the irrigation district.

Canvass of votes.

At the close of the polls the board of election shall at once proceed to canvass the votes and declare the result and shall forward a certificate showing such result and the number of votes cast for and against the issuing of the bonds to the irrigation board and shall also deliver to the said irrigation board all ballots cast at such election and all documents and papers used at such election.

Order of irrigation board.

Said irrigation board shall, upon the receipt of such canvass and declaration of the result from the said board of election, proceed to examine the same and shall ascertain and declare the result as shown by such canvass and declaration, and shall enter an order in its minutes that the said proposition for the issuance of said bonds has been carried or defeated, as the case may be.

Result recorded.

Forthwith, upon the declaration of the result of said election by said irrigation board, the secretary of said board shall make a certified copy of the order of said board, declaring the result of said election, and shall forward said certified copy or copies to the recorder or recorders of the counties in which any land of said irrigation district may be situated, and the same shall forthwith be filed and recorded in said recorder or recorders' office, and shall impart notice to all interested persons as to the result of said election.

Such written contest shall specify the ground or grounds of contest to said election, and upon the filing of the same with said irrigation board it shall expeditiously set the said contest for hearing, and shall have the right to postpone the hearing for such time as may be necessary, but not otherwise, and shall expeditiously hear and determine the same. For the purposes of such hearing the board may by subpoena signed by the secretary under its seal compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of evidence. Disobedience of such subpoena or of any lawful order of the board in the premises shall constitute a contempt of the authority of the board punishable by the board in accordance with title five of part three of the Code of Civil Procedure, and shall also constitute a misdemeanor under section one hundred sixty-six of the Penal Code. Said irrigation board shall, upon the conclusion of said hearing of said contest, proceed forthwith to enter its order and decision thereon. Such decision on the part of said irrigation board shall be final, conclusive and binding upon all parties interested as to validity and as to result of such election and shall be subject to review only in the event suit is brought by the said irrigation district or by some person or corporation or association authorized to bring the same to determine the question of the validity of the said bond issue, and in the determination and adjudication of the question of the validity of said bond issue, as hereinafter specified, the court may review and consider the validity of said election for the issuance of said bonds, but in such action the certificate and determination of said irrigation board shall be received and accepted by the court as prima facie evidence of the result as to the validity of said election and the regularity of the canvassing, counting and return of the votes cast at said election. If a majority of the votes cast at such an election is in favor of the issuance of bonds, the irrigation board shall after canvassing the returns and declaring the result of said election cause bonds of said irrigation district in the amount stated in the order for the election to be issued, executed and delivered to the state treasurer of the State of California. Said bonds shall be of the denomination of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars each; they shall be signed by the president of the irrigation board and attested by the secretary thereof, and shall be numbered consecutively in the order of their maturity, and shall bear interest at the rate not exceeding six per centum per annum, payable semiannually on the first day of January

Said petition shall set forth generally the boundaries of the proposed district and also shall state generally the source or sources (which may be in the alternative) from which said lands are proposed to be irrigated, and shall pray that the territory embraced within the boundaries of the proposed district may be organized as an irrigation district under the provisions of this act. Signatures to the petition may be withdrawn at any time before the publication is commenced as in this section required, by filing a declaration, signed by the petitioner, with the board of supervisors before which the petition is to be presented, stating that it is the intention of the petitioner to withdraw therefrom, which declaration shall be acknowledged in the same manner as conveyances of real estate are required to be acknowledged. When said petition is presented, said board of supervisors shall hear the same and shall proceed to determine whether or not said petition complies with the requirements hereinbefore set forth and whether or not the notice required herein has been published as required, and must hear all competent and relevant testimony offered in support of or in opposition thereto. Said hearing may be adjourned from time to time for the determination of said facts, not exceeding two weeks in all. No defect in the contents of the petition or in the title to or form of the notice or signatures, and no lack of signatures thereto, or to the petition as published, shall vitiate any proceedings thereon; provided, such petition or petitions have a sufficient number of qualified signatures attached thereto. The determination of the board shall be expressed by resolution. If it shall determine that any of the requirements hereinbefore set forth have not been complied with, the matter shall be dismissed, but without prejudice to the right of the proper number of persons to present a new petition covering the same matter or to present the same petition with additional signatures, if such additional signatures are necessary to comply with the requirements of this act. If the board of supervisors shall determine that the petitioners have complied with the requirements hereinbefore set forth, it shall cause a copy of the resolution so declaring to be forwarded to the state engineer. Upon receiving a copy of said resolution, the state engineer shall make or cause to be made such preliminary investigation as may be practicable, with a view to determining the feasibility of the project proposed to be undertaken. He shall report as soon as practicable, but at all events within ninety days from the date of the adoption of the said resolution, in writing, on the matter to the board of supervisors from which the copy of said resolution was received, except that upon receiving a written request from the state engineer, the board of supervisors may at any meeting before the expiration of said ninety days grant to the state engineer not more than ninety days additional time in which to make said report. If the state engineer shall report within the time specified herein that the supply of water available for the use of the proposed district, or that may be acquired by any practicable means, including the condemnation of existing rights, is not sufficient or that the project is not feasible for any other reason or reasons, the hearing of the matter shall be continued for not more than two months and shall then be dismissed unless the board of supervisors shall be petitioned in writing by three-fourths of the holders of title or evidence of title to land within said proposed district to grant said petition; provided, that if the board of supervisors is not so petitioned, it may modify the plans for the proposed district in accordance with recommendations by the state engineer. If after receiving an adverse report from the state engineer the board of supervisors shall be petitioned as aforesaid or shall decide to modify the plans for the proposed district in accordance with recommendations by the state engineer, it shall, at the time to which the hearing of said matter shall have been continued, set a time for the final hearing thereof. If the continuance of the matter is not compelled by an adverse report as aforesaid, the board of supervisors, at its first regular meeting after the receipt of a report from the state engineer, or at the first regular meeting after the expiration of the time allowed for the making of such report if no such report has been received, shall set a time for a final hearing of the matter. In any case the time set for the final hearing as aforesaid shall not be less than one week from the meeting at which said time was set; provided, that notice of the time of such final hearing shall be given by registered mail to such party as shall have been designated for that purpose by the petitioners, or by publication for at least three days in one daily newspaper published in the county in which the lands within the proposed district, or the greater portion thereof are situated. A failure to give such last mentioned notice, however, shall not affect the validity of subsequent proceedings. On a final hearing herein provided for, the board may adjourn from time to time, but at no time for a longer period than three days until a determination of the matter is reached. On said final hearing said board shall make such changes in the proposed boundaries as it may deem advisable and shall define and establish such boundaries, but said board shall not modify said boundaries so as to exclude from such proposed district any territory which is susceptible of irrigation from any of the sources proposed, unless said board shall decide to modify the plan for such proposed district, as herein provided, nor shall any lands which will not, in the judgment of said board, be benefited by irrigation by means of said systems or works be included within such proposed district. Lands already irrigated and riparian lands may be included in the district if in the judgment of the board of supervisors such land will be benefited, or if the water used thereon or the rights to the use of water thereon should, in the judgment of the board of supervisors, be taken or acquired for the district. Any person whose lands are susceptible of irrigation from any of the proposed sources may, upon his application, in the discretion have disposed of the same, have the right to redeem such real estate by paying to the county treasurer of the county wherein the real estate may be situated, the amount of taxes, penalties and costs due thereon at the time of said sale, with interest on the aggregate amount of said taxes, at the rate of seven per cent per annum; and also all taxes that were a lien upon said real estate at the time said taxes became delinquent; and also all unpaid taxes of every description assessed against the property for each year since the sale; or, if not so assessed, then upon the value of the property as assessed in the year nearest the time of such redemption, with interest from the first day of July following each of said years, respectively, at the same rate, to the time of redemption; and also all costs and expenses of such redemption, and penalties as follows, to wit: ten per cent if redeemed within six months from July first following the date of sale: twenty per cent if redeemed within one year therefrom: thirty per cent if redeemed within two years therefrom; forty per cent if redeemed within three years therefrom; forty-five per cent if redeemed within four years therefrom; and fifty per cent, if redeemed within five or any greater number of years therefrom. Upon the payment of the money specified in said certificate, and the giving of the receipts aforesaid by the treasurer, controller, and auditor, any deed or certificate of sale that may have been made to the state shall become null and void, and all right, title and interest acquired by the state, under and by virtue of the tax sale, shall cease and determine. Upon consummation of the redemption, the auditor shall report the same to the tax collector and recorder; the recorder shall, without payment of fee, note on the margin of the certificate of sale, or deed, if issued, the fact of such redemption, date thereof, and by whom redeemed.

If no changes be made in the boundaries of the district as set forth in the resolution of intention, it shall be sufficient to state that the boundaries of the district are those set forth in the resolution of intention; if any change of such boundaries is made, the boundaries of the district, as finally determined, shall be fully set forth. If no change be made in the plans and specifications, it shall be sufficient to state that such plans and specifications are approved. In either case, the boundaries of the district so determined shall be the boundaries of the district for all purposes of the proceeding and until any bonds to be issued for the cost of the work shall have been fully paid and discharged; the plans and specifications so approved shall be the plans and specifications of the district for all the purposes of proceeding. The boundaries of the district, as set forth in the resolution of intention, shall not be so changed as to include within the district any territory not within the boundaries as set forth in said resolution, nor so that the place or locality of any work as finally approved and originally planned to be within the district shall be excluded from the boundaries of the district as finally determined. In like manner the board of supervisors may order the work to be done, and if it so do, shall fix a time for receiving proposals or bids for doing the work, and direct the clerk to give notice, inviting sealed proposals or bids. SEC. 10. The notice inviting sealed proposals or bids shall be published by at least two insertions in the newspaper or newspapers designated in the resolution of intention, and (though it need not be simultaneously) a copy or copies of the same shall be posted and kept posted for five days, at or near the chamber door of the board of supervisors. All proposals or bids shall be accompanied by a check, payable to the county, certified by a responsible bank in an amount not less than ten per cent of the aggregate of the proposal or bid, or by a bond in such amount running to the county, signed by the bidder, with two sureties qualifying before an officer competent to administer oaths, each in said amount over and above all statutory exemptions, or executed by some bonding company acceptable to said board of supervisors. Said proposals or bids shall be delivered to the clerk of said board.

SEC. 11. Said board shall, in open session, open and examine and declare the same. No proposal or bid shall be considered unless accompanied by such check or such bond in terms satisfactory to the board. The board may reject any and all proposals or bids should it deem it for the public good, and shall reject all proposals or bids other than the lowest regular proposal or bid of any responsible bidder, and may award the contract for said work to the lowest responsible bidder at the price named in his bid.

Award to
bidder.

A notice of such award, attested by the clerk of the board of supervisors shall be transmitted to the successful bidder by mail by the clerk of the board of supervisors, and shall also be published and posted in the manner herein provided as to the notice inviting proposals or bids.

Notice of award.

The check or bond accompanying such accepted proposal or bid shall be kept by the clerk of said board until the contract for doing said work, as hereinafter provided, has been entered into. Checks or bonds of unsuccessful bidders shall be returned by the clerk of said board. If said successful bidder fails, neglects or refuses for fifteen days after being awarded the contract to execute the same, the certified check accompanying his bid, and the amount thereof shall be declared forfeited to the county, and may be collected by it and paid into the interest and sinking fund of the district, and any bond forfeited may be prosecuted, and the amount thereof collected and paid into said fund.

Before being entitled to a contract the bidder to whom the award thereof has been made must advance and pay to the clerk of the board of supervisors, the costs and expenses of publishing and posting the resolutions, notices and orders required under this act to be made, which have been made, given, posted or published in the proceeding.

If for fifteen days after being awarded the contract, the awardee fails, neglects or refuses to execute the same, the board of supervisors may direct the clerk of the board to give notice as in the first instance, inviting sealed proposals or bids, and thereupon, after receiving bids shall award as in the first instance; and as in the case of the default of a first awardee, so also in the case of a second or any subsequent awardees.

SEC. 12. After adopting said plans and specifications as hereinabove provided, and before executing a contract for the construction of the improvement, the board of supervisors shall direct the engineer of construction to estimate the total cost of making the proposed improvements and performing such proposed work (which estimate shall include all expenses of every kind incurred or to be incurred, either directly or indirectly, in carrying out said work and improvements), and to assess the same in proportion to the benefits thereof to the lands in said district, and to do all things proper and necessary to carry out the provisions of this act.

Estimate

Said engineer of construction shall proceed to view the lands within the district and may examine witnesses under oath. He shall proceed to assess against the land within said district the estimated amounts of the cost of the proposed work or improvement and the expenses incident thereto, in proportion to the benefits to be derived from said work or improvement so far as he reasonably can estimate the same, including in such estimate of benefits the real property of any railroad company within said district, if such there be. He shall state the amounts to be assessed on each parcel of land separately, and shall divide the total assessment on each parcel of land into yearly installments of amounts clearly sufficient to retire the bonds and to pay the interest thereon for each year that said assessment shall continue.

In estimating the total cost and expenses of doing said work, the engineer of construction shall be governed by the amount he deems necessary to pay the principal and interest on bonds to be issued therefor as herein set forth and all incidental expenses to be incurred as herein authorized. Such estimate shall be based upon the amount bid by the successful bidder for doing the work as set forth in the plans and specifications together with an estimate of the incidental expenses to be incurred.

board.

The engineer of construction having made his assessment of the benefits, shall with all diligence, and before the board of supervisors declares the work to have been completed, make a written report thereof to, and file the same with, said board, and shall accompany said report with a plat of the district showing the relative location of each block, lot or portion of lot, or other piece of land and its dimensions so far as he can reasonably ascertain the same. Each block and lot, or portion of lot, or other parcel or parcels of land affected or assessed shall be designated and described in said plat by an appropriate number and a reference to it by such descriptive number shall be sufficient description of it in all respects. Said report of said engineer of construction shall also state the names of the persons owning lands over which a right of way for said improvement has been obtained, as well as the name of any lessee, encumbrancer, or other person having an interest in said land over which a right of way has been obtained, together with the particulars of their interest therein, and together with a waiver of any interest they may have had in said land so obtained for said right of way. Errors in the designation of the owner or owners of any land or improvement or any interest therein, or of the particulars of their interest, shall not affect the validity of the assessment.

Notice of
report.

The report of such engineer of construction and the affidavit accompanying it shall be filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors, and said board shall thereupon fix a time for the hearing thereon, and thereupon the clerk of said board shall give notice of said hearing by publication once each week for at least three weeks prior to the time fixed for said hearing, in the newspaper or newspapers designated in the resolution of intention. Such notice shall be substantially in the following form:

Notice is hereby given that the engineer of construction of drainage improvement district No. ---- (the number being that of the district), did on the ----- day of -----, 19----, file his report of the assessment of benefits in said district with the clerk of the board of supervisors of said county, which said report is now on file in the office of the said board of supervisors in the city of -----, of said county, and that said report will be heard by said board at its chamber on the ----- day of -----, 19----, at the hour of ----m. Said report and the map, plans and specifications of the improvements mentioned therein are hereby referred to for further particulars. All persons interested are hereby required to show cause, if any they have, at the time and place fixed for said hearing, why such report should not be adopted and confirmed by said board, and why the several parcels of land referred to in said report should not be assessed for said improvement as therein set forth. All objections shall be in writing, signed by the person objecting, and filed with the clerk of said board at least one day prior to the time fixed for the hearing of said report.

Objections.

Signed, -----

Clerk of the board of supervisors, ----- county.

Any property owner may file with the clerk of said board at least one day before the time fixed for the hearing, a written objection to said report, or to any part thereof, to the assessment as a whole or to the assessments on the several parcels of land, as set forth in said report. At the time fixed for such hearing or at any time to which the hearing may be adjourned, the board of supervisors shall hear and pass upon all objections so filed, and shall proceed to pass upon said report and the assessments therein contained, and may confirm, correct or modify the same, or may direct the engineer of construction to make a new assessment, report and plat which shall be filed, heard and acted upon in the same manner, and on like notice as an original report. The action of the board upon the report and objections thereto shall be final and conclusive as to all matters therein, and no assessment shall be set aside except upon such hearing for any error, defect, or informality therein, or in the proceedings prior thereto, where notice of the hearing of the report has been given as herein prescribed. The board of supervisors shall, upon the adoption of said report, by order entered upon its minutes, levy against and upon all lands within said drainage improvement district No. ---- (being the district as established and bounded in the order for the work to be done) a special assessment upon the lands found to be benefited by such improvement in the amount set forth in the said report of the engineer of construction as adopted by the board of supervisors, and which said amount shall be available for the payment of said bonds and the interest thereon. Said assessment shall be payable as herein provided at the times and in the amounts indicated in said report of said engineer of construction. When the said board has levied the special assessment as hereinabove set forth, the clerk of said board shall cause to be filed with the recorder, and with the tax collector of the county or counties in which the district is situated, certified copies of the plat and report as adopted and confirmed by said board, together with certified copies of the order of said board levying said special assessment, and also give to the county auditor notice of the total amount of the installments for each year. If the district lies within more than one county as provided in section two, said certified copies shall be filed with the recorder and tax collector of each county affected. Upon the filing of such certified copies the charges assessed upon each piece of land for the first year shall immediately become due and payable, and shall constitute a lien thereon; thereafter the installments for the succeeding year shall become due and payable on the third Monday of October of each year, and shall thereupon constitute a lien upon the land against which it is assessed.

Special fund
to retire
bonds.

All moneys paid upon such assessment, either by property owners or by the county or municipality affected, shall be placed in the county treasury of the county in which such district was organized in a special fund to be known as drainage district improvement No. ---- interest and sinking fund (the number being that of the district), and shall be used only to retire the bonds issued to pay the cost of constructing the improvement and the incidental expenses thereof, and to pay the interest on said bonds. Any surplus remaining shall be paid into the maintenance fund of said district. Upon the filing of the certified copy of the report, assessment plat, and order with the tax collector of the county or counties as above provided, the tax collector shall give notice by ten days publication in the newspaper designated in the resolution of intention, that the assessment list of drainage improvement district No. ---- has been filed in his office, with the date of such filing; that the first installments entered thereon are due and payable, and that if not paid on or before the last Monday of April next ensuing the same will become delinquent and will be collected as are delinquent taxes. He shall note on said assessment list all assessments paid, and give receipts as upon the payment of taxes, and shall pay all money collected into the county treasury at the same time and in the same manner as money collected for taxes.

Subsequent collections of installments shall be made in the manner above set forth, and the tax collector shall annually publish a like notice, and the same proceedings shall be had as upon the collection of the first installment.

When said installments have become delinquent the tax collector of the county shall proceed to collect the same, together with an additional ten per cent added thereon, and pay the same over to the county treasurer as state and county taxes are collected and paid over; for the purpose of collecting such assessments and delinquent installments and penalties, all of the provisions of chapter seven, title nine, part three of the Political Code not in conflict with any of the provisions of this act are hereby made applicable. The entire assessment against a parcel of land within the district, subsequent installments as well as the installment for the current year, may at any time be paid in full. Delinquent installments.

The board of supervisors shall each year, at the time of making the levy of taxes for county purposes, levy an ad valorem tax upon the real estate in each drainage improvement district in their county organized under this act in an amount sufficient to raise the revenue which will be needed for the current year for maintaining and repairing the works and improvements for said district. Said tax, when levied, shall be entered upon the assessment roll and collected in the same manner as state and county taxes. When collected it shall be placed in the treasury of the county in a fund to be designated "drainage district improvement No. ---- maintenance fund," (the number being that of the district), and shall be used only for the purpose for which it was raised. If said district includes land within more than one county as above provided in section two, the ad valorem tax herein provided to be levied, shall, by each of said counties be collected as to the lands lying within its boundaries; and said counties shall pay said tax so collected over to the county having jurisdiction of said district. Ad valorem tax for maintenance fund.

SEC. 13. The chairman of the board of supervisors is hereby authorized, in the name of the county to execute the contract with the awardee thereof, and to receive and approve all bonds required by this act on the part of the awardee, and shall, by the terms of said contract, fix the time for the beginning of the work, which shall not be more than twenty days from the date thereof. The contract shall provide that the work shall be prosecuted with diligence until completed, and shall fix a time for such completion. Such time of completion may be extended from time to time by the board of supervisors, in its discretion, and by resolution, entered by the clerk in the minutes of said board, a copy of which shall by said clerk be endorsed upon or annexed to the contract. Execution of contract

Before the execution of such contract, a bond shall be executed and filed, running to the county, in an amount not less than one-half of the contract price of the work, signed by the contractor and two or more sureties, who, unless surety companies, shall qualify before an officer entitled to administer the oath, in a sum aggregately equal to the amount of the bond, each surety in the amount for which he becomes surety. Such bond shall be conditioned for the faithful execution of Bond of contractor.

the contract by the contractor, and for the payment by him for all labor and materials furnished for or in the doing of the work. The form and sufficiency of said bond shall be passed upon by some member of the board of supervisors, and such bond shall inure as well to the benefit of any and all persons furnishing labor or materials for the work as to that of the county.

County to issue bonds

By said contract the county shall undertake that the board of supervisors will, upon the fulfillment and performance of the contract on the part of the contractor, and under the provisions of the drainage district improvement act of 1919 take all steps, in or by said act authorized to be taken, to effect the issuing by the county treasurer of the bonds in said act authorized to be issued, and provide a fund for their payment, as in or by said act prescribed. The contract shall state that in no case shall the county be liable thereunder, nor any officer thereof be holden thereunder except for the discharge of official duty under the law.

Taking over
contract

If the contractor shall fail to begin in good faith the work provided for in said contract within the time in said contract set forth, or shall fail thereafter to prosecute said work in a workmanlike and diligent manner, or shall fail in any other respect to carry out the terms of said contract, then the board of supervisors shall cause written notice to be served upon said contractor, specifying the particular in which he is not fulfilling the requirements of said contract, and if for a period of three days thereafter said contractor shall fail to remedy the defects set forth in said notice, and to prosecute said work thereafter with diligence and in a workmanlike manner, then the board of supervisors shall either take over said contract and complete said work, or shall relet said contract, without the necessity of advertising for bids, and cause the work to be completed, and shall declare the bond given by said contractor forfeited and order suit brought thereon, and all moneys collected therefrom shall be paid into the interest and sinking fund of the district.

Action on bond for material or labor
furnished

If the contractor shall fail to pay for any labor or material furnished for or in the doing of said work by any person, such person may within ninety days after the making of the final order hereinafter referred to, file with the county treasurer a verified statement of such facts, and such person may thereafter, within six months after the filing of such statement, bring an action on said bond in his own name, or if he has assigned his claim, the action may be brought in the name of the assignee; provided, however, that the right of the county to recover on said bond shall be superior to the rights of any such person to recover thereon; provided, moreover, that if such statement shall be filed before the expiration of twenty days from the making of such final order, then the county treasurer shall be authorized to withhold from the contractor sufficient of the bonds, issued as herein provided, to satisfy said claim, and costs, which can reasonably be anticipated.

SEC. 14. As soon as in good faith may be done, there shall be filed with the clerk of the board of supervisors a declaration that the work has been completed according to the contract, together with an itemized statement of all the incidental costs and expenses of the work and the cost of the proceedings inclusive of the estimated cost of publishing the notice of final hearing hereinafter provided. The aggregate amount of such items shall be stated, and also the amount due under the contract; and also the gross sum for a bond issue representing the entire amount thereof, as claimed by the contractor. The said declaration and statements shall be signed and verified by the engineer of construction and by the contractor or by some person cognizant of the facts signing on his behalf and stating why he, instead of the contractor, so signs and verifies. Either signer may except from his signature and verification any amount or item to which he does not assent. The chairman of the board of supervisors shall fix a time for a hearing, to be known as the final hearing, for the purpose of determining whether the work shall be accepted as completed according to the contract, and for determining the aggregate amount for which bonds shall be issued representing the total costs of the work and the incidental costs and expenses of the work and the proceedings, all of which have been charged to and are payable by the contractor. Notice of such hearing shall be given and may, in form, and shall, in substance be as follows (filling the blanks):

Such notice shall be signed by the chairman of the board of supervisors and attested by the clerk of the board of supervisors and published by at least two insertions in the newspaper or newspapers designated in the resolution of intention, and a copy or copies thereof posted and kept posted for two days at or near the chamber door of the board of supervisors, the first day of such publication and that of such posting (they need not be simultaneous) to be not less than five days before the day in said notice specified for the hearing. Proof of such publication shall be made by affidavit or affidavits, and the same shall be filed. If a quorum be not present at the time specified in the notice of the hearing, the members of the board then present may continue the hearing; and at all stages the hearing may, by resolution entered in the minutes, be continued from time to time. At any time before the day in said notice specified for the hearing any property owner may file written objection to the acceptance of the work on the ground that the work has not been completed or done according to the contract, specifying in ordinary language the particulars in which the work has not been so completed or done. Any person interested in the proceeding, as of the interest of the contractor, shall be presumed to take issue with such objection and shall be heard accordingly. Questions as to the incidental costs or expenses of the work or the proceedings may be raised orally by any property owner within the district. Evidence may be adduced as to any of the matters to be determined, and in such order as the board may direct. If, when the matter has been fully heard, whether under, or in the absence of, objections, the board of supervisors is of the opinion that the work has not been completed or done according to the contract, it shall in writing specify what must be done in order to complete the work, and shall, by an order or resolution to be entered in its minutes, continue the further hearing of the whole matter to a specified day, expressly stating that such continuance is for the purpose of enabling the contractor to complete his contract. On said continued hearing, the objections to the work filed before the day of the first hearing shall continue in force, and evidence shall be received, if offered, as to what has been done by way of completing the contract in the particulars specified in the order of the board on the said continuance of the hearing. If, upon such continued hearing, the board is of the opinion that the work is still uncompleted in the particulars as to which it was ordered to be completed, it shall be discretionary with said board to order or refuse a second continuance of the hearing. If the board does order such second continuance, it shall be ordered in the same manner, with like effect as upon the first continuance; and likewise as to a second and any other or further continuance. Objections to any item of incidental costs and expenses shall pend and be heard on said day, or at any continued hearing had as above in this section provided. SEC. 15. Whenever upon the hearing in section fourteen provided, whether original or continued, the board shall be of the opinion that the work has been completed and done according to the contract, said board shall by resolution to be entered upon its minutes so declare, and shall in said resolution declare that the work is accepted and the amount of the contract price for doing the work and the amount of the incidental costs and expenses of the work and proceedings and the aggregate amount for which bonds are to be issued and shall make final order that bonds be issued therefor as hereinafter provided. The decision and determination of said board at the hearing provided for in section fourteen shall, as to all matters determined at said hearing and as to all errors, informalities, irregularities, or omissions which said board might have avoided or remedied during the progress of the proceedings, or which it can at that time remedy, be final and conclusive upon all persons entitled to be heard before said board on said matters, and no assessment or tax levied for the payment of the bonds, and the interest thereon, to be issued for said work and expenses, shall be held invalid by any court for any error, informality, omission or other defect in the proceedings where the resolution of intention has been actually published as in this act provided, before the said board shall have ordered the work to be done.

Acceptance of work.

SEC. 16. Upon the expiration of twenty days after the making of the final order provided in section fifteen of this act, the clerk of the board of supervisors shall transmit to the county treasurer of the county an attested copy of said final order, and upon receipt of the same, the treasurer shall proceed to issue bonds amounting in the aggregate to the principal sum for which bonds are to be issued as the same is stated in said final order. A bond may be issued in any amount, provided that the aggregate of the bond or bonds made payable in any one year is the proper part of the whole principal of the bond issue as specified in said final order, and that the interest thereon shall be payable as hereinafter provided. The said bonds may in form, and shall in substance, be as follows:

[Approved May 21, 1919. In effect July 22, 1919.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Any domestic society, organization or company providing life insurance for its members or their beneficiaries upon the assessment plan, including any domestic fraternal benefit society organized or operating under that certain statute entitled "An act for the regulation and control of fraternal benefit societies," approved May 1, 1911, as amended, may upon a majority vote of its trustees or directors, or in any lawful manner, amend its articles of incorporation and by-laws, if already incorporated, or if not incorporated, may incorporate, in such manner as to transform itself into a legal reserve or level premium company, with the name by which it is already known or another name as its directors or trustees shall determine; and upon so doing and upon procuring from the commissioner of insurance a certificate of authority as prescribed by law to transact business in this state as a legal reserve or level premium life insurance company it shall incur the obligation and enjoy the benefits thereof the same as though originally thus incorporated; and such corporation under its articles and by-laws as so framed or amended shall be a continuation of the original organization, society or corporation and the officers thereof shall serve through their respective terms as provided in the original articles and by-laws, but their successors shall be elected and

If at the time of reorganization, or at any time thereafter, it shall appear from the last preceding annual report of any such society, organization or company filed with the commissioner of insurance, or as the result of any investigation made by said commissioner, that the present value of the contributions to be received from the holders of policies or benefit certificates on the assessment plan, together with all assets owned by the company that have been accumulated from assessments paid by members on that plan, are not equal to the present value of the benefits to be derived by members under the assessment plan, including all matured liabilities; then the society, organization or company so reorganized shall set aside and maintain a fund which with said present value of contributions and assets will equal the present value of said benefits together with all matured liabilities.  (g) The signature of the carrier.

A negotiable bill shall have the words "order of" printed thereon immediately before the name of the person upon whose order the goods received are deliverable.

A carrier shall be liable to any person injured thereby for the damage caused by the omission from a negotiable bill of any of the provisions required in this section.

2126b. A carrier may insert in a bill, issued by him, any other terms and conditions, provided that such terms and conditions shall not— What terms may be inserted.

- (a) Be contrary to law or public policy, or
 (b) In any wise impair his obligation to exercise at least that degree of care in the transportation and safe-keeping of Negotiable or order bill. 2126d. A bill in which it is stated that the goods are consigned or destined to the order of any person named in such bill, is a negotiable or order bill.

Any provision in such a bill that it is nonnegotiable shall not affect its negotiability within the meaning of this article.

Negotiable bills must not be issued in sets. 2126e. Negotiable bills issued in this state for the transportation of goods to any place in the United States on the continent of North America, except Alaska, shall not be issued in parts or sets.

If so issued the carrier issuing them shall be liable for failure to deliver the goods described therein to any one who purchases a part for value in good faith, even though the purchase be after the delivery of the goods by the carrier to a holder of one of the other parts.

Duplicate negotiable bills must be so marked. 2126f. When more than one negotiable bill is issued in this state for the same goods to be transported to any place in the United States on the continent of North America, except Alaska, the word "duplicate" or some other word or words indicating that the document is not an original bill shall be placed plainly upon the face of every such bill, except the one first issued. A carrier shall be liable for the damage caused by his failure so to do to any one who has purchased the bill for value in good faith as an original, even though the purchase be after the delivery of the goods by the carrier to the holder of the original bill.

Nonnegotiable bills must be marked. 2126g. A nonnegotiable bill shall have placed plainly upon its face by the carrier issuing it "nonnegotiable" or "not negotiable."

This section shall not apply, however, to memoranda or acknowledgments of an informal character.

Insertion of name of person to be notified. 2126h. The insertion in a negotiable bill of the name of a person to be notified of the arrival of the goods shall not limit the negotiability of the bill, or constitute notice to a purchaser thereof of any rights or equities of such person in the goods.

Except as otherwise provided in this article where a consignor receives a bill and makes no objection to its terms or conditions at the time he receives it, neither the consignor nor any person who accepts delivery of the goods, nor any person who seeks to enforce any provision of the bill, shall be allowed to deny that he is bound by such terms and conditions, so far as they are not contrary to law or public policy.

SUBDIVISION II.

 Section 2128. Altered bills.
 Section 2128a. Lost or destroyed bills.

 Section 2128i. Creditor's remedies to reach negotiable bills.
 Section 2128j. Negotiable bill must state charges for which lien is claimed.
 Section 2128k. Effect of sale.

2127. A carrier, in the absence of some lawful excuse, is bound to deliver goods upon a demand made either by the consignee named in the bill for the goods, or if the bill is negotiable, by the holder thereof, if such demand is accompanied by—

Obligation of carrier to deliver.

(a) An offer in good faith to satisfy the carrier's lawful lien upon the goods;

(b) An offer in good faith to surrender, properly indorsed, the bill which was issued for the goods if the bill is negotiable; and

(c) A readiness and willingness to sign, when the goods are delivered, an acknowledgment that they have been delivered, if such signature is requested by the carrier.

In case the carrier refuses or fails to deliver the goods in compliance with a demand by the consignee or holder so accompanied, the burden shall be upon the carrier to establish the existence of a lawful excuse for such refusal or failure.

2127a. A carrier is justified, subject to the provisions of the three following sections, in delivering goods to one who is—

Justification of carrier in delivering.

(a) A person lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods, or

(b) The consignee named in a nonnegotiable bill for the goods, or

(c) A person in possession of a negotiable bill for the goods by the terms of which the goods are deliverable to his order, or which has been indorsed to him or in blank by the consignee or by the mediate or immediate indorsee of the consignee.

Carrier's liability for misdelivery.

2127*b*. Where a carrier delivers goods to one who is not lawfully entitled to the possession of them, the carrier shall be liable to anyone having a right of property or possession in the goods if he delivered the goods otherwise than as authorized by subdivisions (b) and (c) of the preceding section; and though he delivered the goods as authorized by either of said subdivisions, he shall be so liable if prior to such delivery he—

(a) Had been requested, by or on behalf of a person having a right of property or possession in the goods, not to make such delivery, or

(b) Had information at the time of the delivery that it was to a person not lawfully entitled to the possession of the goods.

A request or information to be effective within the meaning of this section must be given to an officer or agent of the carrier, the actual or apparent scope of whose duties includes action upon such a request or information, and must be given in time to enable the officer or agent to whom it is given, acting with reasonable diligence, to stop delivery of the goods.

Negotiable bills must be canceled upon delivery of goods.

2127*c*. Except as provided in section two thousand one hundred twenty-eight k of this code, and except when compelled by legal process, if a carrier delivers goods for which a negotiable bill had been issued, the negotiation of which would transfer the right to the possession of the goods, and fails to take up and cancel the bill, such carrier shall be liable for failure to deliver the goods to anyone who for value and in good faith purchases such bill, whether such purchaser acquired title to the bill before or after the delivery of the goods by the carrier, and notwithstanding delivery was made to the person entitled thereto.

When part of goods are delivered.

2127*d*. Except as provided in section two thousand one hundred twenty-eight k of this code, and except when compelled by legal process, if a carrier delivers part of the goods for which a negotiable bill had been issued and fails either—

(a) To take up and cancel the bill, or

(b) To place plainly upon it a statement that a portion of the goods has been delivered, with a description, which may be in general terms, either of the goods or packages that have been so delivered or of the goods or packages which still remain in the carrier's possession, he shall be liable for failure to deliver all the goods specified in the bill, to anyone who for value and in good faith purchases it, whether such purchaser acquired title to it before or after the delivery of any portion of the goods by the carrier, and notwithstanding such delivery was made to the person entitled thereto.

Altered bills.

2128. Any alteration, addition or erasure in a bill after its issue without authority from the carrier issuing the same either in writing or noted on the bill shall be void, whatever be the nature and purpose of the change, and the bill shall be enforceable according to its original tenor.

2128a. Where a negotiable bill has been lost or destroyed, a court of competent jurisdiction may order the delivery of the goods upon satisfactory proof of such loss or destruction and upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to be approved by the court to protect the carrier or any person injured by such delivery from any liability or loss, incurred by reason of the original bill remaining outstanding. The court may also in its discretion order the payment of the carrier's reasonable costs and counsel fees.

Lost or destroyed bills.

The delivery of the goods under an order of the court as provided in this section, shall not relieve the carrier from liability to a person to whom the negotiable bill has been or shall be negotiated for value without notice of the proceedings or of the delivery of the goods.

2128b. A bill upon the face of which the word "duplicate" or some other word or words indicating that the document is not an original bill is placed plainly shall impose upon the carrier issuing the same the liability of one who represents and warrants that such bill is an accurate copy of an original bill properly issued, but no other liability.

Effect of duplicate bills.

2128c. No title to goods or right to their possession, asserted by a carrier for his own benefit, shall excuse him from liability for refusing to deliver the goods according to the terms of a bill issued for them, unless such title or right is derived directly or indirectly from a transfer made by the consignor or consignee after the shipment, or from the carrier's lien.

Carrier can not set up title in himself.

2128d. If more than one person claims the title or possession of goods, the carrier may require all known claimants to interplead, either as a defense to an action brought against him for nondelivery of the goods, or as an original suit, whichever is appropriate.

Interpleader of adverse claimants.

2128e. If someone other than the consignee or person in possession of the bill, has a claim to the title or possession of the goods, and the carrier has information of such claim, the carrier shall be excused from liability for refusing to deliver the goods either to the consignee or person in possession of the bill, or to the adverse claimant, until the carrier has had a reasonable time to ascertain the validity of the adverse claim or to bring legal proceedings to compel all claimants to interplead.

Reasonable time to ascertain validity of claim.

2128f. Except as provided in the two preceding sections and in section two thousand one hundred twenty-seven a of this code, no right or title of a third person unless enforced by legal process shall be a defense to an action brought by the consignee of a nonnegotiable bill or by the holder of a negotiable bill against the carrier for failure to deliver the goods on demand.

Adverse title no defense except as provided.

2128g. If a bill of lading has been issued by a carrier or on his behalf by an agent or employee the scope of whose actual or apparent authority includes the issuing of bills of lading, the carrier shall be liable to—

Liability for nonreceipt or misdescription of goods.

- (a) The consignee named in a nonnegotiable bill, or
- (b) The holder of a negotiable bill,

Liability
of carrier.

Who has given value in good faith relying upon the description therein of the goods, for damages caused by the nonreceipt by the carrier or a connecting carrier of all or part of the goods or their failure to correspond with the description thereof in the bill at the time of its issue.

If, however, the goods are described in a bill merely by a statement of marks or labels upon them or upon packages containing them, or by a statement that the goods are said to be goods of a certain kind or quantity, or in a certain condition, or it is stated in the bill that packages are said to contain goods of a certain kind or quantity or in a certain condition, or that the contents or condition of the contents of packages are unknown, or words of like purport are contained in the bill, such statements, if true, shall not make liable the carrier issuing the bill, although the goods are not of the kind or quantity or in the condition which the marks or labels upon them indicate, or of the kind or quantity or in the condition they were said to be by the consignor. All carriers must issue to shippers of carload freight from agency stations a clean bill of lading at the request of the shipper and in such cases shall discontinue the practice of noting on bill of lading "Shipper's load and count." Upon request of shipper of carload freight from a non-agency station, the carrier shall send a man to check the loading and shall issue a clean bill of lading, the expense, except transportation of man to and from point of loading to perform service of checking, to be borne by the shipper.

upon goods.

2128*h*. If goods are delivered to a carrier by the owner or by a person whose act in conveying the title to them to a purchaser for value in good faith would bind the owner and a negotiable bill is issued for them, they can not thereafter, while in the possession of the carrier, be attached by garnishment or otherwise, or be levied upon under an execution, unless the bill be first surrendered to the carrier or its negotiation enjoined. The carrier shall in no such case be compelled to deliver the actual possession of the goods until the bill is surrendered to him or impounded by the court.

Creditor's remedies
to reach negotiable
bills.

2128*i*. A creditor whose debtor is the owner of a negotiable bill shall be entitled to such aid from courts of appropriate jurisdiction by injunction and otherwise in attaching such bill, or in satisfying the claim by means thereof as is allowed at law or in equity in regard to property which can not readily be attached or levied upon by ordinary legal process.

Bill must state charges for lien
claim.

2128*j*. If a negotiable bill is issued the carrier shall have no lien on the goods therein mentioned, except for charges on those goods for freight, storage, demurrage and terminal charges, and expenses necessary for the preservation of the goods or incident to their transportation subsequent to the date of the bill, unless the bill expressly enumerates other charges for which a lien is claimed. In such case there shall also be a lien for the charges enumerated so far as they are allowed by law and the contract between the consignor and the carrier.

2128*k*. After goods have been lawfully sold to satisfy a carrier's lien, or because they have not been claimed, or because they are perishable or hazardous, the carrier shall not thereafter be liable for failure to deliver the goods to the consignee or owner of the goods, or to a holder of the bill given for the goods when they are shipped, even of such a bill be negotiable. Effect of sale.

SUBDIVISION III.

NEGOTIATION AND TRANSFER OF BILLS.

- Section 2120. Negotiation of negotiable bills by delivery.
 Section 2129*a*. Negotiation of negotiable bills by indorsement.
 Section 2129*b*. Transfer of bills.
 Section 2129*c*. Who may negotiate a bill.
 Section 2129*d*. Rights of person to whom a bill has been negotiated.
 Section 2129*e*. Rights of person to whom a bill has been transferred.
 Section 2129*f*. Transfer of negotiable bill without indorsement.
 Section 2129*g*. Warranties on sale of bill.
 Section 2130. Indorser not a guarantor.
 Section 2130*a*. No warranty implied from accepting payment of a debt.
 Section 2130*b*. When negotiation not impaired by fraud, accident, mistake, duress, or conversion.
 Section 2130*c*. Subsequent negotiation.
 Section 2130*d*. Form of bill as indicating rights of buyer and seller.
 Section 2130*e*. Demand, presentation or sight draft must be paid, but draft on more than three days' time merely accepted before buyer is entitled to the accompanying bill.
 Section 2130*f*. Negotiation defeats vendor's lien.
 Section 2130*g*. When rights and remedies under mortgages and liens are not limited.

2129. A negotiable bill may be negotiated by delivery where, by the terms of the bill, the carrier undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of a specified person, and such person or a subsequent indorsee of the bill has indorsed it in blank. Negotiation of negotiable bills by delivery.

2129*a*. A negotiable bill may be negotiated by the indorsement of the person to whose order the goods are deliverable by the tenor of the bill. Such indorsement may be in blank or to a specified person. If indorsed to a specified person, it may be negotiated again by the indorsement of such person in blank or to another specified person. Subsequent negotiation may be made in like manner. By indorsement.

2129*b*. A bill may be transferred by the holder by delivery, accompanied with an agreement, express or implied, to transfer the title to the bill or to the goods represented thereby. Transfer of bills.

A nonnegotiable bill can not be negotiated, and the indorsement of such a bill gives the transferee no additional right.

2129*c*. A negotiable bill may be negotiated by any person in possession of the same, however such possession may have Who may negotiate bills.

been acquired if, by the terms of the bill, the carrier undertakes to deliver the goods to the order of such person, or if at the time of negotiation the bill is in such form that it may be negotiated by delivery.

Rights of person to whom bill has been negotiated.

2129*d*. A person to whom a negotiable bill has been duly negotiated acquires thereby—

(a) Such title to the goods as the person negotiating the bill to him had or had ability to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value, and also such title to the goods as the consignee and consignor had or had power to convey to a purchaser in good faith for value, and

(b) The direct obligation of the carrier to hold possession of the goods for him according to the terms of the bill as fully as if the carrier had contracted directly with him.

Rights of person to whom bill has been transferred.

2129*e*. A person to whom a bill has been transferred but not negotiated acquires thereby as against the transferor, the title to the goods, subject to the terms of any agreement with the transferor. If the bill is nonnegotiable, such person also acquires the right to notify the carrier of the transfer to him of such bill, and thereby to become the direct obligee of whatever obligations the carrier owed to the transferor of the bill immediately before the notification.

Prior to the notification of the carrier by the transferor or transferee of a nonnegotiable bill, the title of the transferee to the goods and the right to acquire the obligation of the carrier may be defeated by garnishment or by attachment or execution upon the goods by a creditor of the transferor, or by a notification to the carrier by the transferor or a subsequent purchaser from the transferor of a subsequent sale of the goods by the transferor.

A carrier has not received notification within the meaning of this section unless an officer or agent of the carrier, the actual or apparent scope of whose duties includes action upon such a notification, has been notified; and no notification shall be effective until the officer or agent to whom it is given has had time with the exercise of reasonable diligence to communicate with the agent or agents having actual possession or control of the goods.

Transfer of negotiable bill without indorsement.

2129*f*. Where a negotiable bill is transferred for value by delivery, and the indorsement of the transferor is essential for negotiation, the transferee acquires a right against the transferor to compel him to indorse the bill, unless a contrary intention appears. The negotiation shall take effect as of the time when the indorsement is actually made. This obligation may be specifically enforced.

Warranties on sale of bill.

2129*g*. A person who negotiates or transfers for value a bill by indorsement or delivery, including one who assigns for value a claim secured by a bill, unless a contrary intention appears, warrants—

- (a) That a bill is genuine;
- (b) That he has a legal right to transfer it;

(c) That he has knowledge of no fact which would impair the validity or worth of the bill; and

(d) That he has a right to transfer the title of the goods, and that the goods are merchantable or fit for a particular purpose whenever such warranties would have been implied, if the contract of the parties had been to transfer without a bill the goods represented thereby.

In the case of an assignment of a claim secured by a bill, the liability of the assignor shall not exceed the amount of the claim.

2130. The indorsement of a bill shall not make the indorser liable for any failure on the part of the carrier or previous indorsers of the bill to fulfill their respective obligations.

Indorser not a guarantor

2130a. A mortgagee or pledgee, or other holder of a bill for security who in good faith demands or receives payment of the debt for which such bill is security, whether from a party to a draft drawn for such debt or from any other person, shall not be deemed by so doing to represent or to warrant the genuineness of such bill or the quantity or quality of the goods therein described.

No warranty implied from accepting payment of debt.

2130b. The validity of the negotiation of a bill is not impaired by the fact that such negotiation was a breach of duty on the part of the person making the negotiation, or by the fact that the owner of the bill was deprived of the possession of the same by fraud, accident, mistake, duress or conversion, if the person to whom the bill was negotiated, or a person to whom the bill was subsequently negotiated, gave value therefor, in good faith, without notice of the breach of duty, or fraud, accident, mistake, duress or conversion.

When negotiation not impaired by fraud, etc.

2130c. Where a person having sold, mortgaged, or pledged goods which are in the carrier's possession and for which a negotiable bill has been issued, or having sold, mortgaged, or pledged the negotiable bill representing such goods, continues in possession of the negotiable bill, the subsequent negotiation thereof by that person under any sale, pledge, or other disposition thereof to any person receiving the same in good faith, for value and without notice of the previous sale, shall have the same effect as if the first purchaser of the goods or bill had expressly authorized the subsequent negotiation.

Subsequent negotiation.

2130d. Where goods are shipped by the consignor in accordance with a contract or order for their purchase, the form in which the bill is taken by the consignor shall indicate the transfer or retention of the property or right to the possession of the goods as follows:

Form of bill as indicating rights of buyer and seller

(a) Where by the bill the goods are deliverable to the buyer or to his agent, or to the order of the buyer or of his agent, the consignor thereby transfers the property in the goods to the buyer.

(b) Where by the bill the goods are deliverable to the seller or to his agent, or to the order of the seller or of his agent, the seller thereby reserves the property in the goods.

Form of bill as indicating rights of buyer and seller.

But if, except for the form of the bill, the property would have passed to the buyer on shipment of the goods, the seller's property in the goods shall be deemed to be only for the purpose of securing performance by the buyer of his obligations under the contract.

(c) Where by the bill the goods are deliverable to the order of the buyer or of his agent, but possession of the bill is retained by the seller or his agent, the seller thereby reserves a right to the possession of the goods, as against the buyer.

(d) Where the seller draws on the buyer for the price and transmits the draft and bill together to the buyer to secure acceptance or payment of the draft, the buyer is bound to return the bill if he does not honor the draft, and if he wrongfully retains the bill he acquires no added right thereby. If, however, the bill provides that the goods are deliverable to the buyer, or to the order of the buyer, or is endorsed in blank or to the buyer by the consignee named therein, one who purchases in good faith, for value, the bill or goods from the buyer, shall obtain the title to the goods, although the draft has not been honored, if such purchaser has received delivery of the bill indorsed by the consignee named therein, or of the goods, without notice of the facts making the transfer wrongful.

buyer by seller of goods.

2130e. Where the seller of goods draws on the buyer for the price of the goods and transmits the draft and a bill of lading for the goods either directly to the buyer or through a bank or other agency, unless a different intention on the part of the seller appears, the buyer and all other parties interested shall be justified in assuming:

(a) If the draft is by its terms or legal effect payable on demand or presentation or at sight, or not more than three days thereafter (whether such three days be termed days of grace or not), that the seller intended to require payment of the draft before the buyer should be entitled to receive or retain the bill.

(b) If the draft is by its terms payable on time, extending beyond three days after demand, presentation or sight (whether such three days be termed days of grace or not), that the seller intended to require acceptance, but not payment of the draft before the buyer should be entitled to receive or retain the bill.

The provisions of this section are applicable whether by the terms of the bill the goods are consigned to the seller, or to his order, or to the buyer, or to his order, or to a third person, or to his order.

Negotiation
defeats vendor's lien.

2130f. Where a negotiable bill has been issued for goods, no seller's lien or right of stoppage in transitu shall defeat the rights of any purchaser for value in good faith to whom such bill has been negotiated, whether such negotiation be prior or subsequent to the notification to the carrier who issued such bill of the seller's claim to a lien or right of stoppage in transitu. - Nor shall the carrier be obliged to deliver or justified in delivering the goods to an unpaid seller unless such bill is first surrendered for cancellation.

2130g. Except as provided in section two thousand one hundred thirty f of this code, nothing in this article shall limit the rights and remedies of a mortgagee or lienholder whose mortgage or lien on goods would be valid, apart from this article, as against one who for value and in good faith purchased from the owner, immediately prior to the time of their delivery to the carrier, the goods which are subject to the mortgage or lien and obtained possession of them.

When rights and remedies are not limited.

(4) Annuities based on prior service—Any member in the service of the county at the time this law becomes operative shall, upon being retired receive an annuity based upon an annuity reserve of such sum as the county's contributions at regular interest would have produced for the period of years, not exceeding twenty-five, that he shall have been in the actual service of the county at the date of retirement, plus the amount of the reserve created by his own deposits with regular interest. In all such cases that portion of the annuity not produced by the member's deposits and similar contributions by the county shall be paid from the prior service annuity reserve. Nothing herein contained shall prohibit any employee from paying into the retirement system any sums in excess of the regular monthly contributions. Any payment so made shall be made in accordance with rules adopted by the board of retirement, be credited to a separate and special account of the employee so making the payment, held for his sole use and benefit, and increased with regular interest as provided by this act. When a member who has made an extra deposit retires or separates from the service of the county, the amount of such extra deposit with regular interest shall be returned to him in a lump sum, or used to increase his annuity reserve and annuity, as the circumstances of each particular case may require.

(5) The amount of the surplus as of December thirty-first of each year, if there be a surplus, shall be paid into the salary fund of the county. The deficit, if there be a deficit, shall be made good by a transfer from the salary fund of the county, on order of the board of supervisors, to the fund of the retirement system.

That portion of the wage of a member deducted or to be deducted under this act, the right of a member to an annuity, and all his rights in the fund of the retirement system shall be exempt from taxation, and from the operation of any law relating to bankruptcy or insolvency, and shall not be attached or taken upon execution or other process of any court. No assignment of any right in or to said funds shall be valid.

SUPERVISION BY INSURANCE COMMISSIONER.

SEC. 8. The insurance commissioner shall prescribe for each county that adopts a retirement system under the provisions of this act mortality and annuity tables based upon the rate of interest herein named and may later modify such tables or prescribe other tables to represent more accurately the cost of the annuity system, and may determine the application of the change so made. He shall also prescribe and supervise methods of bookkeeping of each retirement association formed under the provisions of this act.

Supervision
commissioner.

The insurance commissioner shall at least once in each year, either personally or by deputy or assistant, thoroughly inspect and examine the affairs of the retirement association to ascertain its financial condition, its ability to fulfill its obligations, whether all parties in interest have complied with the provisions of law applicable to the association, and whether the transactions of the board of retirement have been in accordance with the rights and equities of those in interest. The retirement system shall be credited, in the account of its financial condition, with the amounts due from the county, under the provisions of section five, its investments with fixed maturities at amortized values, and its other investments at a reasonable valuation.

For the purposes aforesaid the insurance commissioner or other persons making examination shall have access to all the securities, books and papers of the retirement system, and may summon and administer oaths and examine as witnesses the members of the board of retirement or any other person, relative to the financial affairs, transactions and conditions of the retirement system. It shall be the duty of the attorney general by mandamus or other proper proceedings in his own name to compel compliance with this act.

SEC. 10. The purpose of this act is to recognize a public obligation to such of its employees as may become incapacitated of act.

by age or long service in public employment and its accompanying physical disabilities by making provision for a retirement annuity as an additional element of compensation for future services, and at the same time to provide a means whereby public employees who may become incapacitated may be replaced by more capable employees to the betterment of the public service without prejudice and without inflicting a hardship upon the employees removed.

This act, therefore, shall be given a liberal interpretation with a view of carrying out such purpose, and it shall not be construed as a local measure or one intended as a benefit to particular persons or places.

Constitutionality.

In case any section, or sections, or part of any section, of this act, shall be found to be unconstitutional or invalid, for any reason, the remainder of the act shall not thereby be invalidated, but shall remain in full force and effect.

[Approved May 21, 1919. In effect July 22, 1919.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section one thousand seven hundred forty-seven of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Taxation for bonds of high school district.

1747. The board of supervisors of the county whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over any high school district must annually, at the time of making the levy of taxes for county purposes, levy a tax for that year upon the taxable property in such high school district for the interest and redemption of all outstanding bonds of such district, and said tax must not be less than sufficient to pay the interest of said bonds for that year, and such a portion of the principal as is to become due during such year, and in any event must be high enough to raise annually, for the first half of the term said bonds have to run, a sufficient sum to pay the interest thereon; and during the balance of the term high enough to pay such annual interest, and to pay annually a proportion of the principal of said bonds, equal to a sum produced by taking the whole amount of said bonds outstanding and dividing it by the number of years said bonds then have to run; and all taxes so levied, when collected, shall as herein provided be paid into the county treasury of the county whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over the high school district in behalf of which such tax was levied to the credit of the bond interest and sinking fund of such high school district, and be used for the payment of the principal and interest on said bonds and for no other purpose. The principal and interest on said bonds shall be paid by the county treasurer of the county aforesaid at the place required by the terms of such bonds, upon presentation and surrender of warrants drawn by the county auditor in payment thereof after he has cancelled the bonds and coupons, or upon the receipt of the registered owner if such bonds are registered, after a proper warrant has been drawn by the auditor therefor, out of the fund provided for their payment.

In case of a high school district situated in two or more counties, the assessor of each of such counties must annually, as soon as the county assessments have been equalized by the state board of equalization certify to the board of supervisors of each of the counties in which any portion of such high school district is situated, the assessed value of all taxable property in such county situated in such high school district, and the said tax shall be so levied according to the ratio which the assessed value of the property in such high school district in any county bears to the total assessed value of the property in such district, each board of supervisors to levy upon the property in such high school district and within their own county, such rate of tax as will be sufficient to raise not less than the amount needed to pay the interest and such portion of the principal of such bonds as is to become due during such year. Said tax shall be entered upon the assessment roll and collected in the same manner as other school taxes are entered and collected and when collected paid into the treasury of such county and it shall then be the duty of the treasurer of any such county other than the one whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over such high school, on written demand of the treasurer of the county whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over such high school to pay the sum collected on account of such tax into the treasury of the county whose superintendent of schools has jurisdiction over such high school. Wherever money has been raised for the payment of principal or interest of outstanding bonds of any high school district and the same is at the time this section takes effect in the treasury of any other county than that prescribed by this section for the custody of such funds, the same shall at once be paid into the proper county treasury as above provided.

3. The death of an injured employee shall not affect the liability of the employer under subsections (a) and (b) of this section, so far as such liability has accrued and become payable at the date of the death, and any accrued and unpaid compensation shall be paid to the dependents, if any, or, if there are no dependents, to the personal representative of the deceased employee or heirs or other persons entitled thereto, without administration, but such death shall be deemed to be the termination of the disability.

Sec. 5. Section fourteen of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Stats. 1917, p. 844.

(b) In all other cases, questions of entire or partial dependency and questions as to who constitute dependents and the extent of their dependency shall be determined in accordance with the fact, as the fact may be at the time of the injury of the employee.

(c) No person shall be considered a dependent of any deceased employee unless in good faith a member of the family or household of such employee, or unless such person bears to such employee the relation of husband or wife, child, posthumous child, adopted child or stepchild, father or mother,

3. If there is more than one person partially dependent for support upon a deceased employee, and no person wholly dependent for support, the amount allowed as a death benefit shall be divided among the persons so partially dependent in proportion to the relative extent of their dependency.

Commission
may reassign
death benefit.

(e) The commission may, anything in this act contained to the contrary notwithstanding, set apart or reassign the death benefit to any one or more of the dependents in accordance with their respective needs and as may be just and equitable, and may order payment to a dependent subsequent in right, or not otherwise entitled, upon good cause being shown therefor. Such death benefit shall be paid to such one or more of the dependents of the deceased or to a trustee appointed by the commission or a commissioner for the benefit of the person or persons entitled, as may be determined by the commission. SEC. 6. Section seventeen of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

disputes.

Sec. 17. (a) Upon the filing with the commission by any party in interest, his attorney, or other representative authorized in writing of an application in writing stating the general nature of any dispute or controversy concerning compensation, or concerning any right or liability arising out of, or incidental thereto, jurisdiction over which is vested by this act in the commission, a time and place shall be fixed for the hearing thereof, which hearing, unless otherwise agreed to by all the parties thereto, must be held not less than ten days nor more than thirty days after the filing of such application. The person filing such application shall be known as the applicant and the adverse party shall be known as the defendant.

A copy of said application, together with a notice of the time and place of hearing thereof, shall forthwith be served upon all adverse parties and may be served either as a summons in a civil action or in the same manner as any other notice that is authorized or required to be served under the provisions of this act. A notice of the time and place of hearing shall also be served upon the applicant.

Service of notice.

(b) The jurisdiction of the commission shall include any controversy relating to or arising out of the provisions of subsection (a) of section nine of this act, unless an express agreement shall have been made between the persons or institutions rendering such treatment and the employer or insurance carrier fixing the amount to be paid for the services.

Jurisdiction of commission.

(c) There shall be but one cause of action for each transaction coming within the provisions of this act, and all claims brought for medical expense, disability payments, death benefits, burial expense, liens or any other matter arising out of such transaction may, in the discretion of the commission, be joined in the same proceeding at any time.

But one cause of action.

(d) The death of an employer subsequent to the sustaining of an injury by an employee shall not impair the right of such employee to proceed before the commission against the estate of such employer, and the failure of such employee or his dependents to cause the claim to be presented to the executor or administrator of the estate shall not in any way bar or suspend such right.

Death of employer.

SEC. 7. Section twenty-four of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Stats. 1917, p. 851.

Sec. 24. (a) No claim for compensation shall be assignable before payment, but this provision shall not affect the survival thereof, nor shall any claim for compensation, or compensation awarded, adjudged or paid, be subject to be taken for the debts of the party entitled to such compensation, except as hereinafter provided. No compensation, whether awarded or voluntarily paid, shall be paid to any attorney at law or in fact or other agent, but shall be paid directly to the claimant entitled to the same, unless otherwise ordered by the commission. Any payment made to such attorney at law or in fact or other agent in violation of the provisions of this section shall not be credited to the employer.

Claim not assignable.

(b) The commission may fix and determine and allow as a lien against any amount to be paid as compensation:

Lien against amount due as compensation.

(1) A reasonable attorney's fee for legal services pertaining to any claim for compensation or application filed therefor and the reasonable disbursements in connection therewith.

(2) The reasonable expense incurred by or on behalf of the injured employee, as defined in subsection (a) of section nine hereof.

(3) The reasonable value of the living expenses of an injured employee or of his dependents, subsequent to the injury.

(4) The reasonable burial expenses of the deceased employee, not to exceed the sum of one hundred dollars.

(5) The reasonable living expenses of the wife or minor children of the injured employee, or both, subsequent to the date of the injury, where such employee has deserted or is neglecting his family, to be allowed in such proportion as the commission shall deem proper, upon application of the wife or guardian of the minor children.

Notice of claim.

(c) If notice in writing be given to the employer setting forth the nature and extent of any claim that may be allowed as a lien, the said claim shall be a lien against any amount thereafter to be paid as compensation, subject to the determination of the amount and approval thereof by the commission. The commission may, in its discretion, order the amount of such claim as fixed and allowed by it paid directly to the person entitled, either in a lump sum or in installments.

Award by commission.

Where it appears in any proceeding pending before the commission that a lien should be allowed if the same had been duly requested by the party entitled thereto, the commission may, in its discretion, and without any request for such lien having been made, order the payment of such claim to be made directly to the person entitled, in the same manner and with the same effect as though such lien had been regularly requested, and the award to such person shall constitute a lien against unpaid compensation due at the time of service of said award.

Excessive claim for legal services.

(d) No claim or agreement for the legal services or disbursements mentioned in paragraph (1) of subsection (b) hereof, or for the expense mentioned in paragraph (2) of said subsection (b), in excess of a reasonable amount, shall be valid or binding in any respect, and it shall be competent for the commission to determine what constitutes such reasonable amount.

Preference of claim for compensation.

(e) A claim for compensation for the injury or death of any employee, or any award of judgment entered thereon, shall have preference over all other unsecured debts of the employer or insurance carrier.

Stats. 1917, p. 854.

Sec. 8. Section twenty-six of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Employee."

Sec. 26. The term "employee," as used in this section, shall include the person injured and any other person in whom a claim may arise by reason of the injury or death of such injured person. The death of the employee, or of any other person, shall not abate any right of action established by this section. The claim of an employee for compensation shall not affect his right of action for damages arising out of injury or death against any person other than the employer; and any employer having paid, or having become obligated to pay, compensation, may likewise bring an action against such other person to recover said damages. If either such employee or such employer shall bring such action against such third person, he shall forthwith notify the other in writing, by personal service or registered mail, of such fact and of the name of the court in which such suit is brought, filing proof thereof in such action, and, if the action be brought by either, the other may, at any time before trial on the facts, join as party plaintiff or must consolidate his action, if brought independently. If the suit be prosecuted by the employer alone evidence of any expenditures which the employer has paid or become obligated to pay by reason of said injury or death shall be admissible, and such expenditures shall be deemed a part of the damages, including a reasonable attorney's fee to be fixed by the court; and if in such suit the employer shall recover more than the amount he has paid or become obligated to pay as compensation he shall pay the excess to the injured employee or other person entitled. If the employee joins in or prosecutes such suit, evidence of the amount of disability indemnity or death benefit paid by the employer shall not be admissible, but proof of all other expenditures on account of said injury or death shall be admissible and shall be deemed part of the damages. The court shall, on application, allow as a first lien against any judgment recovered by the employee the amount of the employer's expenditures for compensation. When any injury or death shall have been suffered by an employee, no release or settlement of any claim for damages by reason of such injury or death and no satisfaction of judgment in such proceedings, shall be valid without the written consent of either both employer and employee, or one of them, together with the consent of the commission or the court in which any such action may be pending.

If employee
joins in suit.

SEC. 9. Section twenty-nine of said workmen's compensation, insurance and safety act of 1917, approved May 23, 1917, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Stats. 1917,
p. 857.

Sec. 29. (a) Every employer as defined in section seven hereof, except the state and all political subdivisions or institutions thereof, shall secure the payment of compensation in one or more of the following ways:

Ways for securing payment of compensation

1. By insuring and keeping insured against liability to pay compensation in one or more insurance carriers duly authorized to write compensation insurance in this state.

2. By securing from the commission a certificate of consent to self-insure, which may be given upon his furnishing proof satisfactory to the commission of ability to carry his own insurance and pay any compensation that may become due to his employees, the commission may, in its discretion, require such employer to deposit with the state treasurer a bond or securities, but not both a bond and securities, approved by the commission, in an amount to be determined by the commission. Such certificate may be revoked at any time for good cause shown. So long as the certificate of consent to self-insure has not been revoked, and the self-insurer has deposited with the state treasurer such bond or securities, the self-insurer shall not be required or obliged to pay into the state compensation insurance fund any sums covering liability for compensation, excepting life pensions: but shall be permitted, and such permission is hereby given the self-insurer, to fully administer any and all such compensation benefits assessed against the said insurer.

Action
employer.

Right to
property.

(b) If any employer shall fail so to secure the payment of compensation, any injured employee or his dependents may proceed against such employer by filing an application for compensation with the commission, and, in addition thereto, such injured employee or his dependents may bring an action at law against such employer for damages, the same as if this act did not apply, and shall be entitled in such action to the right to attach the property of the employer, at any time upon or after the institution of such action, in an amount to be fixed by the court, to secure the payment of any judgment which may ultimately be obtained. Such judgment shall include a reasonable attorney's fee to be fixed by the court. The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure, except in so far as they may be inconsistent with this act, shall govern the issuance of and proceedings upon such attachment; provided, that if as a result of such action for damages a judgment is obtained against such employer in excess of the compensation awarded under this act, the compensation awarded by the commission, if paid, or if security approved by the court be given for its payment, shall be credited upon such judgment; provided, further, that in such action it shall be presumed that the injury to the employee was a direct result and grew out of the negligence of the employer, and the burden of proof shall rest upon the employer to rebut the presumption of negligence. In such proceeding it shall not be a defense to the employer that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence, or assumed the risk of the hazard complained of, or that the injury was caused by the negligence of a fellow servant. No contract, rule or regulation shall be allowed to restore to the employer any of the foregoing defenses.

together.

SEC. 23. If two or more separate ballots are found so folded together as to present the appearance of a single ballot, they must be laid aside until the count of the ballots is completed; then, if upon comparison of the count with the number of names of electors on the lists which have been kept by the clerks, it appears that the two ballots thus folded together were cast by one elector, they must be rejected.

Ballots in excess of names on list destroyed.

SEC. 24. The ballots must be immediately replaced in the box, and if the ballots in the box exceed in number the names on the lists, one of the officers must publicly, and without looking into the box, draw out therefrom singly, and destroy, unopened, a number of ballots equal to such excess; and the board of election must make a record, upon the poll list of the number of ballots so drawn and destroyed. SEC. 26. Each clerk must write down each office to be filled, and the name of each person marked in each ballot as voted for, to fill such office, and keep the number of votes by tallies, as they are read aloud. Such tallies must be made with pen and ink as the name of each candidate voted for is read aloud from the respective ballot, and immediately upon the completion of the tallies the clerks who respectively complete the same must draw two heavy lines in ink from the last tally mark to the end of the line in which such tallies terminate, and also write the initials of the person making the last tally in such line. The ballot so read and the tally sheet so kept must, during the reading and tallying, be within the clear view of watchers at the count.

Rules for
ballots.

SEC. 27. (a) In canvassing the votes any ballot which is not marked as provided by law shall be void; but such ballot must be preserved and returned with the other ballots; provided, however, that two or more impressions of the voting stamp in one voting square, or a cross (X) made partly within and partly without a voting square or space shall not make such ballot void. Any name written upon a ballot shall be counted for such name for the office under which it is written, provided it is written in the blank space therefor, whether or not a cross (X) is stamped or made with pen or pencil in the voting square after the name so written.

(b) If a voter marks more names than there are persons to be elected to an office, or if, for any reason, it is impossible to determine the voter's choice for any office to be filled, his ballot shall not be counted for such office.

(c) If a voter stamps in the voting square after the name of any candidate and also writes the name of a person for such office in the blank space, such act does not invalidate his ballot, but his vote shall not be counted for any person for that office, but as to all other offices the ballot must be counted for the candidates opposite whose names the ballot is stamped in the voting squares.

(d) No mark upon a ballot which is unauthorized by this act shall be held to invalidate such ballot, unless it shall appear that such mark was placed thereon by the voter for the purpose of identifying such ballot.

SEC. 28. The ballot, as soon as the names marked on it as voted for are read and verified, must be strung on a string by one of the officers and must not thereafter be examined by any person, but must, as soon as all are counted, be carefully sealed in a strong envelope, each member of the board writing his name across the seal. After counting.

SEC. 29. As soon as all the votes are counted and the ballots sealed up, lists must be attached to the tally lists containing the names of persons voted for and for what office, and the number of votes given for each candidate, the number being written at full length, and such lists must be signed by the members of the board. The board must also immediately transmit unsealed to the city clerk a copy of the result of the votes cast at such polling place, which copy must be signed by the members of the board, and which copy shall be open to the inspection of the public. It shall be a misdemeanor for any person to remove or deface such posted copy of the result or to delay or change the copy to be delivered to the city clerk. Lists sent to city clerk.

If, for any reason, any portion of the tax for any year remains unpaid, and in consequence thereof any portion of the interest or principal due for any year remains unpaid, the same shall be added to the levy for the next year, and be collected and paid accordingly. The payment of the whole amount of the principal and interest of all of said bonds, within forty years from their issuance, is hereby made the imperative duty of the district; and, if necessary for that purpose, a special tax shall be levied; and it is hereby made the duty of every officer and board to do his or its respective part towards the levy, collection, and payment of such tax; and mandamus shall issue from the superior court of the county in which the district is situated, or from any other competent court, upon application of any party interested, for the purpose of compelling the performance of the duty imposed by this act upon any and all officers or boards.

The proceedings in respect to the issuance of bonds for such purposes shall in every respect, except as in this section otherwise provided, conform to the requirements of sections fourteen to twenty-one inclusive of this act.

of bonds.

SEC. 32. The reclamation board shall deliver the bonds prepared pursuant to this act duly signed and attested, to the state treasurer. Within ten days after said bonds have been delivered to the state treasurer, an action may be commenced by the reclamation board in the superior court of the State of California, in and for the county within which the largest acreage of land affected by the assessment for which bonds are proposed to be issued is situate, against the lands and all persons owning the same or interested therein, in that portion of the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district affected by said assessment or the issuance of said bonds, to have it determined that said bonds are a legal obligation of said drainage district. Such action shall be in the nature of a proceeding in rem and the defendants in such action shall be designated as "All persons owning or claiming any interest in or lien upon any lands within the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district affected by that certain assessment levied by the reclamation board known and designated as (giving the name and number of the assessment)." It shall be sufficient to describe said lands as all lands affected by such assessment, without a more specific description. A summons shall be issued in such action which summons, besides the matters required by section four hundred seven of the Code of Civil Procedure, shall contain a statement that the action is brought to determine the validity of bonds of the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district to the amount stated therein executed by the reclamation board and delivered to the state treasurer and based upon and to be paid out of an assessment levied by said reclamation board upon lands within the Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district assessed in and by that certain assessment known and designated as (giving name and number of the assessment). Jurisdiction by the court over all parties interested in said action shall be obtained by publication of a copy of the summons at least once a week for three successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation published in each county wherein are situated any lands within said Sacramento and San Joaquin drainage district and assessed in and by said assessment, which newspaper, in each county, shall be designated by the court wherein the action is pending or by the judge thereof. If there be no newspaper within any such county, or if said summons is refused publication in the newspaper so designated for any county, then such summons may be published in a newspaper of general circulation published in an adjoining county. Within thirty days after completion of the publication of such summons in each of such counties any owner of land assessed by said assessment or any one interested in any such land may appear and answer the complaint in such action which answer shall be verified and shall set forth the facts relied upon to show the invalidity of said bonds. The default of all defendants not so appearing may be entered. Such action shall be given precedence in hearing and trial over all other civil actions or proceedings in such court, and judgment shall be rendered therein declaring such bonds either valid or invalid. Any party not in default shall have the right within thirty days after the entry of such judgment to appeal therefrom to the supreme court of this state, which appeal shall be advanced upon the calendar of the court in which the appeal may be pending and shall be determined as early as possible. Judgment for the plaintiff in such action declaring such bonds to be valid shall be considered as a judgment in rem and shall be conclusive against said district and against all lands therein and all owners thereof and all other interested persons. Costs may be awarded to or against any party appearing in such action as the court may in its discretion determine. Any action or proceeding commenced by any party other than the reclamation board to contest or in any manner interfere with the validity or disposition of said bonds must be tried in the superior court of the State of California, in and for the county within which the largest acreage of land affected by said assessment or the issuance of said bonds is situated, and no such action or proceeding shall be commenced by any party other than the reclamation board until the expiration of ten days after such bonds have been so executed and delivered to the state treasurer, nor unless the action in this section provided for shall not have been commenced by the reclamation board within said period of ten days.

p. 1344.

SEC. 2. Section thirteen of said act approved December 24, 1911, as amended, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Levy of assessments.

Sec. 13. Whenever, in the opinion of the reclamation board it shall be necessary to levy an assessment upon any lands within said drainage district for any of the purposes herein specified, including the expenses of bonding such assessment if authorized by law, said board shall cause an assessment to be levied upon such lands within said drainage district for such purposes. The plans to be carried out shall be divided by said board into separate portions or projects in such manner as will in its judgment best facilitate the levying of assessments for each particular portion or project in a just and equitable manner according to benefits upon the lands in said district affected by such portion or project; provided, however, that each separate and particular project or unit shall include all by-passes, cuts, canals, sumps, levees, pumping plants and other works of flood control and drainage as shall be necessary by reason of the carrying out and construction of the particular project, to properly conduct the water of any stream, natural or otherwise, the outlet of which has been intercepted by the construction of any levee or embankment included in such project or unit into such by-pass.

Said board shall enter in the minutes of the board a resolution to the effect that the execution of each such separate portion or project which they may determine upon is a public necessity. Each such particular portion or project shall be designated by the board in such resolution by name and number. All assessments, plans and funds intended for or connected with the execution of each particular portion or project shall be designated by such name and number and shall be kept separate and shall be used only for the purpose of carrying out such particular portion or project. For the purpose of making any such assessment the board shall appoint three assessors who shall be disinterested persons, and shall have no interest in any real estate within said drainage district, and each of whom, before entering upon his duties, shall make and subscribe an oath that he is not in any manner interested in any real estate within said district, directly or indirectly, and that he will perform the duties of an assessor to the best of his ability. Said assessors shall be exempt from the provisions of the civil service laws of this state. Said assessors must assess upon the lands within said drainage district proposed to be assessed for the plans adopted by the reclamation board the said sums included in the estimates of said board, and shall apportion the same according to the benefits that will accrue to each tract of land in said district, respectively, affected by any particular portion or project by reason of the expenditure of said sums of money. After said assessors have examined the plan or plans of the works contemplated and the estimates of the cost, they shall make a preliminary report to the reclamation board indicating the exterior boundaries of the lands that in their opinion will be benefited by the expenditures. The assessors shall then appoint a time and place in each county in which any of said lands proposed to be assessed are situated, when and where they will hear objections to the said report and also evidence concerning the manner in which said assessment should be apportioned. They shall give notice of such hearing in each of such counties by publication in a newspaper published in such county once a week for three weeks, the first publication to be not later than the twenty-first day before the day of hearing, which notice shall contain a general designation of the lands which will in their opinion be so benefited, as aforesaid, and shall refer to said preliminary report on file in the office of the reclamation board for such exterior boundaries. They shall exclude any land that will not be benefited by the expenditure of said sums and shall assess all lands that will be benefited thereby.

In determining the benefits that will or may accrue to each particular tract of land by the construction or maintenance of the works contemplated by any particular project or unit, the works of such project or unit shall be considered as a whole and lands shall be assessed for the works embraced in such project or unit only in the proportion that they will or may be benefited by the construction of the entire works embraced in the said project or unit, and no lands shall be considered as benefited by the construction or maintenance of the works embraced in such project or unit, or any part or portion thereof, nor shall any lands be assessed for the expense of the construction or maintenance of such project or unit or any part or portion thereof, because such lands have been or may be first endangered or flooded, or the natural drainage thereof obstructed by the construction or maintenance of any part or portion of the works embraced in such project or unit in advance of or prior to the completion of the construction of the entire works embraced in such project or unit.

Assessment
list.

Said assessors shall make a separate list of the lands so assessed in each county, which list shall contain a description of the tracts of land assessed by swamp land surveys, legal subdivisions, or other boundaries or references sufficient to identify the same, the name of the owner, if known, or if unknown, that fact, and the amount of the charge assessed against each tract. The name of the owner of land which is or is supposed to be the property of the estate of a deceased person in course of administration may be stated as estate of (such person, naming him), deceased. When there are two or more owners or supposed owners of any tract of land, partly known and partly unknown, the assessment may be to such known owner or owners by name and to other owner's unknown. No mistake in the name of the owner, or supposed owner, of any real estate shall invalidate the assessment. In the assessment list for any county the assessors may make use of any abbreviation in common use in that county, without explanation thereof. The assessors may also in the assessment list for any county make use of other abbreviations, provided a schedule and explanation thereof with reasonable certainty shall, unless printed on each page of such assessment list, be prefixed to said assessment list and a reference thereto written, printed or stamped on each page of said assessment list whereon any such abbreviation is used. In case any land shall in the assessment list for any county be described in whole or in part by reference to a map, plat or survey, which map, plat or survey shall be on file or of record in any public office, it shall be sufficient in such description to designate such map, plat or survey by name, number or other designation sufficient to identify the same in a schedule of such maps, plats and surveys, which schedule shall be prefixed to said assessment list and shall set forth with reasonable certainty where each such map, plat or survey may be found, and shall be referred to by a reference written, printed or stamped on each page of said assessment list whereon such method of description is relied upon. The assessors appointed for any assessment may also prepare or cause to be prepared a map or maps of the whole or any part or parts of the lands to be assessed with sufficient detail to indicate thereon and identify the several tracts of lands to be separately assessed or any of them, each of which such separate tracts shall be designated on such map or maps by a distinctive number. Each of such maps shall be inscribed and designated as "reclamation board assessment map No. —," giving each map a distinctive number. Any such map may consist of any number of sheets attached together and designated as one map. Such map or maps when approved by the reclamation board, shall be certified by the secretary of said board as having been so approved, and shall be filed for record in the office of the county recorder of the county wherein the land indicated on such map or maps is situated. Thereupon and thereafter, for the purpose of said assessment, or of any future assessment levied by said reclamation board, the assessment list for any county may, for the description of any tract of land so indicated on any such map, refer to such map and to the number by which such tract is designated on such map, and such reference, if used for that purpose, shall be a sufficient description of such tract for the purposes of such assessment list, and for the purposes of the notice of delinquent sale, certificate of sale and deed in pursuance of such sale, and all other proceedings under this act based upon such assessment. No provision of any other statute of this state relative to the filing or recording of maps in the office of the county recorder shall apply to the maps in this section referred to; provided, however, that the maps herein referred to shall have no legal effect for any purpose except for the convenient reference to and description of the tract of land indicated thereon for the purposes of description of such tracts of land by reference thereto in the matter of assessments levied by the reclamation board and acts and proceedings based thereon as herein provided. No fee shall be charged by any such county recorder for the filing for record of such map as in this section provided. Said lists when completed shall be filed with the secretary of the board and said secretary shall forward to the county treasurer of each county in which any lands so assessed are situated, the assessment list for such county, and the same shall be open for inspection by the public for at least thirty days. The compensation of said assessors shall be fixed and allowed by the board. The reclamation board shall appoint a time and place not less than thirty days after said list has been filed with the county treasurer when and where it will meet in each county wherein any of the lands so assessed are situated for the purpose of hearing objections to said assessments, and notice of such hearing in each county shall be filed with the county treasurer and published once a week for two weeks in some newspaper published in such county. At any time before the date of such hearing any person interested in any land upon which any charge has been assessed, may file in the office of the reclamation board written objections to such assessment, stating the grounds of such objections, which said statement shall be verified by the affidavit of such person or some other person who is familiar with the facts. At such hearing, the board shall hear such evidence as may be offered touching the correctness of such assessment or the manner of its apportionment, and may modify or amend the same, and may reapportion all or any part of the entire assessment. Unless the aggregate amount of the whole of such assessment shall be modified or amended by the reclamation board so as to cause a difference of more than two and one-half per cent greater or less than the original total amount of said assessment, it shall be deemed that the assessment has not been substantially modified and no necessity shall exist for a reapportionment thereof.

reapportionment.

If said assessment shall be reapportioned, the board shall give two weeks notice as before and proceed to hear objections in each county affected, as before, and shall then reconsider said assessment and make an order approving said assessment as finally fixed; and the decision of said board shall be final, and thereafter said assessment list shall be conclusive evidence, except in the suit hereinafter provided, that the said assessment has been levied and apportioned according to law. Any person interested, as aforesaid, in any land upon which any charge has been so assessed, aggrieved by the decision of the board approving said assessment, may commence an action against the district in the superior court of the county in which said land or the greater part thereof is situated, to have said assessment upon such land modified or annulled. Such action must be commenced within thirty days after the reclamation board has approved such assessment and the assessment list for such county has been deposited in the office of the county treasurer as provided in the next section, and shall have preference over all civil actions in fixing the time of trial. No objection to said assessment shall be considered by the court unless such objection shall have been made in writing to the reclamation board as hereinbefore prescribed, and, excepting in the action above mentioned, no action or defense shall ever be maintained attacking the said assessment in any respect. Whenever an assessment has been levied by the reclamation board upon lands in said district for general administrative expenses and other expenses not pertaining to any particular project, and the boundaries of said district have been or shall be extended so as to include lands other than the lands included within said district at the time such assessment was levied, the reclamation board shall make an estimate of the fair and equitable amount which should be contributed by the lands so included in the district by such change of boundaries for the purposes of such assessment previously levied by said board for general administrative expenses and other expenses not pertaining to any particular project, and shall levy and cause to be assessed, equalized and collected in the manner in this act provided, an assessment to the amount of such estimate upon lands so included in the district by such change of boundaries, according to benefits in the manner in this act provided.

SEC. 3. A new section is hereby added to said act approved December 24, 1911, as amended, to be numbered thirty-two, to read as follows:

Sec. 32. The assessors appointed by the reclamation board pursuant to section thirteen of this act, in apportioning the assessment on each tract of land which may be assessed shall, as information for the said reclamation board or the State of California, state, opposite each sum assessed for each particular tract of land, in separate columns respectively, the amount that they shall determine that each tract is so assessed by reason of benefit from the flood control features of said works involved in said plans, and also the amount that they deem each tract of land is so assessed by reason of all other benefit from the said works. The amounts so stated and placed opposite each assessment charged shall be no part of said assessment and shall in no way affect the assessment charged against each tract of land as the same may be fixed, but shall be subject to review and readjustment in the same manner as the assessment itself.

SEC. 4. A new section is hereby added to said act approved December 24, 1911, as amended, to be known as section thirty-three, to read as follows:

Sec. 33. Any compensation that may be made to any reclamation district, levee district, drainage district, municipal corporation, association, private corporation, or person, in accordance with section eighteen of this act, shall be applied toward the payment of any assessment upon any tract of land assessed for any particular portion or project owned by any such municipal corporation, association, private corporation or person, but in case of any reclamation district, levee district or drainage district, such compensation shall be applied and credited pro rata toward the payment of the balance remaining unpaid upon the assessments levied by the reclamation board against the lands respectively situated within such reclamation district, levee district or drainage district, as part of the assessment out of which such compensation is to be made based upon the total amount of the assessment; charges against the lands in such reclamation district, levee district or drainage district respectively, and if such compensation, when so applied, shall exceed the total amount of such credits upon the assessments upon the lands in any such district, the excess shall be paid to the district itself.

SEC. 5. A new section is hereby added to said act approved December 24, 1911, as amended, to be numbered section thirty-four, to read as follows:

to flood

Sec. 34. All moneys which may be hereafter paid to the said reclamation board by the State of California under and by virtue of the provisions of an act entitled "An act to appropriate money to be expended under the direction of and by the reclamation board to aid in carrying out the project adopted by the reclamation board for the Sutter-Butte by-pass assessment number six with such modifications and amendments as may hereafter be adopted by the reclamation board, and to aid in carrying out any work described in the plans of said Sutter-Butte by-pass assessment number six, in conformity with the report of the California debris commission, transmitted to the speaker of the house of representatives of the United States by the secretary of war on the twenty-seventh day of June, 1911, and such modifications and amendments as have been, or may be hereafter adopted by the reclamation board, or by the war department, or the congress of the United States, and providing for the future completion of the entire project," or by any law of similar import which has been or may be hereafter adopted by the legislature of the State of California, shall be applied on said Sutter-Butte by-pass assessment number six, by said reclamation board, to the pro rata payment of such portions of said assessment as are based upon flood control benefits as set opposite each assessment, in the manner hereinbefore provided; provided, however, that if no flood control benefit amount is set opposite any tract of land, the assessment upon such tract of land shall not be entitled to any credit for any of the moneys so received by said reclamation board from said state. In case the amount remaining unpaid, including interest, upon the total of said assessment on any tract of land entitled to such pro rata payment or credit out of the money so received from the state shall be less than such pro rata payment or credit to which such tract is so entitled then the surplus of such pro rata payment or credit shall be by the reclamation board paid to the owner of such tract in cash out of said money so received from the state and deducted from the amount to be paid over by the reclamation board to the state treasurer as hereinafter directed.

The reclamation board shall prepare and furnish to the several county treasurers a statement of the several amounts so applied to the pro rata payment of such portions of the assessments as are by reason of flood control benefit, and the several county treasurers shall enter such amounts on the original assessment lists as payments or credits on account of the several assessments. In making its calls or orders for the collection of installments on said assessment the percentage to be called and paid shall be calculated upon the original total amount assessed against each tract, but no such call or installment need be paid upon the assessment on any such tract except for the excess of the total of such calls over the total of payments so credited to such tract from application of such money received from the state as aforesaid, or otherwise paid thereon.

The money so received by the reclamation board from the state shall, unless bonds based upon said assessment shall have been authorized by law, be by the reclamation board paid over forthwith to the state treasurer and by him credited to the funds of said assessment, to be used and expended in the same manner as funds collected from land owners upon said assessment. But if at the time of the receipt of any such money by the reclamation board from the state, bonds based upon said assessment shall have been authorized by law, the money so received from the state shall be deposited by the reclamation board with the state treasurer to be held as a special fund for the redemption of such bonds and shall, under the direction and as required by the reclamation board, be applied to the payment and cancellation of such bonds in the manner following, to wit:

Disposition

from state.

Upon receipt of any sum of money under said act or acts of similar import, the said reclamation board shall proceed to advertise, at least once a week for four consecutive weeks, in at least one daily newspaper published in the city and county of San Francisco, and one daily newspaper published in the city of Los Angeles, calling for bids or offers for the sale to said state reclamation board of sufficient of the issued and outstanding bonds to cover the amount represented by said money so received from said state; provided, however, that said reclamation board shall not purchase any bonds at a sum in excess of par plus accrued interest. But, if the said reclamation board shall not receive bids or offers of a sufficient amount to cover the money so received from the state, then as to the balance thereof, the said reclamation board shall pay bonds in the order of their numbers, beginning as to the first payment, at bond number one, and continuing in numerical order, in a sufficient amount to cover

The notice must state a day on or after which the sale will be made, and a place where offers or bids will be received. The day last referred to must be at least fifteen days from the first publication of notice; and the sale must not be made before that day, but must be made within six months thereafter. If it be shown that it will be for the best interests of the estate the court or judge may, by an order, shorten the time of notice, which shall not, however, be less than one week, and may provide that the sale may be made on or after a day less than fifteen but not less than eight days from the first publication of the notice in which case the notice of sale and the sale may be made to correspond with such order; provided, however, that when it appears from the inventory and appraisement that the value of the whole estate does not exceed five hundred dollars the court, or a judge thereof, may in his discretion dispense with the publication in a newspaper and order notices be posted. Upon the hearing the court must examine into the necessity for the sale, or the advantage, benefit and interest of the estate in having the sale made, and must examine the return and witnesses in relation to the sale, and if good reason does not exist for such sale, or if the proceedings for the sale were unfair or the sum bid disproportionate to the value and it appears that a sum exceeding such bid at least ten per cent exclusive of the expenses of a new sale may be obtained, the court may vacate the sale and direct another to be had, of which notice must be given and the sale in all respects conducted as if no previous sale had taken place. If an offer of ten per cent more in amount than that named in the return be made to the court in writing, by a responsible person, it is in the discretion of the court to accept such offer and confirm the sale to such person or to order a new sale.

SEC. 9. Application for license as real estate broker shall be made in writing to the real estate commissioner, which application shall be accompanied by the recommendation of two real estate owners of the county in which such applicant resides or has his place of business, certifying that the applicant is honest, truthful and of good reputation, and recommending that a license be granted the applicant. Licenses for salesmen.

The real estate commissioner may require such other proof as he may deem advisable of the honesty, truthfulness and good reputation of any applicant for a license, or of the officers of any corporation, or of the members of any copartnership making such application before authorizing the issuance of a license.

in offices.

SEC. 11. The licenses of both broker and salesman shall be prominently displayed in the office of the real estate broker, and no license issued hereunder shall authorize the licensee to do business except from the location stipulated in the license. Notice in writing shall be given the commissioner of change of business location or change of employer, whereupon the commissioner shall issue a new license for the unexpired period without charge. The change of business location without notification to the commissioner and the issuance by him of a new license shall automatically cancel the license heretofore issued.

Each person, firm or corporation licensed as a broker under the provisions of this act shall be required to have and maintain a definite place of business in the State of California which shall serve as his office for the transaction of business.

Revocation
of licenses.

SEC. 12. The real estate commissioner may upon his own motion, and shall upon the verified complaint in writing of any person, investigate the actions of any person, copartnership or corporation engaged in the business or acting in the capacity of a real estate broker, or a real estate salesman, within this state, and shall have the power to temporarily suspend or permanently revoke licenses issued under the provisions of this act, at any time where the holder thereof in performing, or attempting to perform, any of the acts mentioned in section two hereof is guilty of—

- (1) Making any substantial misrepresentation, or
- (2) Making any false promises of a character likely to influence, persuade or induce, or
- (3) A continued and flagrant course of misrepresentation or making of false promises through agents or salesmen, or
- (4) Acting for more than one party in a transaction without the knowledge or consent of all parties thereto, or
- (5) Any other conduct, whether of the same or a different character than hereinabove specified, which constitutes dishonest dealing.

Before suspending or revoking any license the said commissioner shall notify, in writing, the holder of such license of the charges against him and afford an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel in reference thereto. The decision of the said commissioner in suspending or revoking any license under this act shall be subject to review in accordance with the provisions of chapter one of title one of part three of the Code of Civil Procedure; and any party aggrieved by such decision of the commissioner may within ten days from the date of said decision appeal therefrom to the superior court of the State of California, in and for the county in which the person affected by such decision resides or has his place of business under the terms of this act, by serving upon the commissioner a notice of such appeal and a demand in writing for a certified transcript of all the papers on file in his office affecting or relating to such decision and all the evidence taken on the hearing and paying ten cents for each folio of the transcript and one dollar for the certification thereof. Thereupon the commissioner shall, within thirty days, make and certify such transcript, and the appellant shall, within five days after receiving the same, file the same and the notice of appeal with the clerk of said court. Upon the hearing of such appeal, the burden of proof shall lie upon the appellant, and the court shall receive and consider any pertinent evidence, whether oral or documentary, concerning the action of the commissioner from which the appeal is taken, but shall be limited to a consideration and determination of the question whether there has been an abuse of discretion on the part of the commissioner in making such decision.

Appeal from
of license.

The decision of the commissioner shall not take effect until ten days after its date, and if notice of appeal and demand for transcript are served upon the commissioner in accordance with the provisions of this section, then such stay shall remain in full force and effect until decision upon appeal by said superior court. But if said aggrieved party shall fail to perfect his appeal as herein provided, said stay shall automatically terminate.

SEC. 13. The real estate commissioner shall have power to administer oaths, certify to all official acts, and to issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of books and papers. In any hearing in any part of the state the process issued by the commissioner shall extend to all parts of the state and may be served by any person authorized to serve process of courts of record or by any person designated for that purpose by the commissioner. The person serving any such process shall receive such compensation as may be allowed by the commissioner, not to exceed the fees proscribed by law for similar service, and such fees shall be paid in the same manner as provided herein for the payment of the fees of witnesses. Each witness who shall appear by order of the commissioner shall receive for his attendance the same fees and mileage allowed by law to a witness in civil

court.

The superior court in and for the county in which any hearing may be held by the commissioner shall have the power to compel the attendance of witnesses, the giving of testimony and the production of books and papers as required by any subpoena issued by the commissioner. In case of the refusal of any witness to attend or testify or produce any papers required by such subpoena the commissioner may report to the superior court in and for the county in which the hearing is pending by petition, setting forth that due notice has been given of the time and place of attendance of said witness or the production of said papers, and that the witness has been summoned in the manner prescribed in this act, and that the witness has failed and refused to attend or produce the papers required by subpoena before the commissioner in the cause or proceeding named in the subpoena, or has refused to answer questions propounded to him in the course of such hearing, and ask an order of said court compelling the witness to attend and testify or produce said papers before the commissioner. The court upon petition of the commissioner shall enter an order directing the witness to appear before the court at a time and place to be fixed by the court in such order, the time to be not more than ten days from the date of the order, and then and there show cause why he has not attended or testified or produced said papers before the commissioner. A copy of said order shall be served upon said witness. If it shall appear to the court that said subpoena was regularly issued by the commissioner, the court shall thereupon enter an order that said witness appear before the commissioner at the time and place fixed in said order and testify or produce the required papers, and upon failure to obey said order, said witness shall be dealt with as for contempt of court.

depositions.

The commissioner may in any hearing before him cause the deposition of witnesses residing within or without the state to be taken in the manner prescribed by law for like depositions in civil actions in the superior courts of this state, and to that end may compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books and papers.

Right to
of witnesses.

Any party to any hearing before the commissioner shall have the right to the attendance of witnesses in his behalf at such hearing or upon deposition as set forth in this section upon making request therefor to the commissioner and designating the person or persons sought to be subpoenaed.

Sec. 15. No violation of any of the provisions of this act on the part of any salesman or employee of any licensed broker in this state shall cause the revocation or suspension of the license of the employer of said salesman or employee unless it shall appear upon a hearing to be had by the commissioner in accordance with section twelve hereof that said employer had guilty knowledge of such violation.

Sec. 16. The real estate commissioner may prefer a complaint for violation of section one of this act before any court of competent jurisdiction, and said commissioner and his counsel, deputies or assistants may assist in presenting the law or facts at the trial. It shall be the duty of the district attorney of each county in this state to prosecute all violations of the aforesaid provision of this act in their respective counties in which such violations occur.

Party to action must be licensed.

CHAPTER 606.

An act to amend section one thousand eight hundred fifty-eight of the Political Code, relating to the apportionment of the elementary school funds and the counting of attendance in the elementary and secondary schools of the state.

[Approved May 27, 1919. In effect July 27, 1919.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section one thousand eight hundred fifty-eight of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:
1858. The school superintendent of every county and city and county must apportion all state and county school moneys for the elementary grades of his county or city and county as follows:

Apportionment of school moneys.

Number of teachers in each district.

First—He must ascertain the number of teachers each school district is entitled to by calculating one teacher for every district having thirty-five or a less number of units of average daily attendance and one additional teacher for each additional thirty-five units of average daily attendance, or fraction of thirty-five not less than ten units of average daily attendance as shown by the annual school report of the school district for the next preceding school year; and two additional teachers shall be allowed to each district for every seven hundred units of average daily attendance; and in districts wherein separate classes are established for the instruction of the deaf, as provided in section one thousand six hundred eighteen of this code, an additional teacher for each nine deaf children, or fraction of such number, not less than five, actually attending such classes.

Total number of teachers.

Second—He must ascertain the total number of teachers for the county or city and county by adding together the number of teachers allowed to the several districts. He must make an annual report of the schools of his county or city and county under oath to the superintendent of public instruction not later than August first of each year, and must report the number of teachers ascertained and allowed to his county or city and county by the rule or provisions of subdivision one hercof.

Apportionment for each district.

Third—Eight hundred dollars shall be apportioned to every school district for every teacher so allowed to it; provided, that to districts having over thirty-five or a multiple of thirty-five units of average daily attendance and a fraction of less than ten units of average daily attendance, forty dollars shall be apportioned for each unit of average daily attendance in said fraction.

Fourth—All school moneys remaining on hand, after apportioning to the school districts the moneys provided for in subdivision three of this section, must be apportioned to the several districts in proportion to the average daily attendance in each district during the next preceding school year. In any newly-organized school district where school was not maintained during the school year in which it was organized the county superintendent shall apportion eight hundred dollars to the newly-organized school district for the purpose of maintaining school therein during the school year next succeeding the school year in which it was organized.

Apportionment of balance.

Fifth—A minimum full day's attendance on the regular full-time elementary day school as hereby established is, for a pupil of the first, second, or third grade, two hundred minutes, and for a pupil of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, or eighth grade, two hundred forty minutes, of actual attendance for any given day upon school sessions, exclusive of intermissions. When a pupil is absent from the first, second, or third grade of a regular full-time day school, for any day, session, or part of a session, five per cent of a day's absence must be recorded for each full ten-minute period of absence; and when a pupil is absent from any other grade of said elementary school for any day, session or part of a session, five per cent of a day's absence must be recorded for each full twelve-minute period of absence; provided, however, that such record may not for any one day exceed one hundred per cent. The actual attendance of a pupil upon a regular full-time day school for any given length of time shall be the number of days school was actually taught during such time less the sum of his absences. Attendance upon evening schools and special day and special evening classes of day schools of elementary and secondary grade shall be kept according to regulations prescribed by the state board of education. A full day's attendance upon such schools or classes shall be four sixty-minute hours. Units of average daily attendance in elementary schools shall be construed to be the quotient arising from dividing the total number of days of pupils' attendance in the regular full-time day and evening elementary schools including the special day and evening classes of the elementary schools of the district for the school year by the number of days school was actually taught in the regular elementary day schools of the district during said year; and units of average daily attendance in secondary schools shall be construed to be the quotient arising from dividing the total number of days of pupils' attendance in the regular full-time secondary schools, the evening secondary schools, the special day and evening classes of secondary schools, and the part-time vocational courses of the district for the school year by the number of days school was actually taught in the regular secondary day schools of the district during said year; provided, that where a high school maintains during the school year four terms of school of at least twelve weeks each, and where the course of instruction is so arranged that students may complete a full year's work in any three of these terms, the total number of days of pupils' attendance, as specified above, shall be divided by the greatest number of days school was actually taught in any three of the four terms, but in no case shall said divisor be less than one hundred seventy-five; provided, further, that in making up the aggregate attendance, if the number of days of attendance of any pupil for the fiscal year exceeds the above-mentioned divisor, the number of days which may be included on account of such pupil's attendance shall equal said divisor.

Regulations for keeping
attendance.

Sixth—Subject to the provisions of this code, the state board of education shall adopt uniform regulations governing the keeping of attendance in all secondary schools. In adopting regulations governing the keeping of the attendance of pupils upon the part-time vocational courses provided for in section one thousand seven hundred fifty c of this code, the state board may, in its discretion, provide that the time spent by a pupil in practical vocational work shall be counted in making up each six-hour minimum daily unit of attendance.

Where school is closed for part of term.

Seventh—Where a school in a district maintaining more than one school is closed for a part of a term by order of a city or county board of health or of the state board of health, on account of contagious disease, or where such school has been closed on account of fire, flood or other public disaster, the average daily attendance of said school shall be estimated separately and added to the average daily attendance of the other schools of the district. The units of average daily attendance of said school shall be determined by dividing the total number of days of pupils' attendance upon such school including the special day and evening classes and the part-time vocational courses by the number of full-day sessions actually maintained in such school during the year; provided, that where such number is less than one hundred twenty days the divisor shall be one hundred twenty.

Transfer of moneys to make up deficit.

Eighth—Whenever in any school year, prior to the receipt by the school districts of any county, or city and county of this state, of their state, county, or city and county, or special or high school fund, the school districts of that county, or city and county shall not have sufficient money to their credit to pay the lawful demands against them, the county or city and county superintendent shall give the treasurer of said county or city and county, an estimate of the amount of school money that will next be paid into the county or city and county treasury, stating the amount to be apportioned to each district. Upon the receipt of such estimate it shall be the duty of the treasurer of said county, or city and county, to transfer from any fund

Revocation
of license.

If it shall be brought to the attention of the insurance commissioner that any agent licensed hereunder has wilfully misstated any material fact in his application, or that the purpose or principal use of such license as an insurance or surety agent is to avoid or prevent the operation or enforcement of any antirebate law or other insurance law of this state, or that such agent conducts his business in a dishonest manner or misrepresents the policies or contracts he sells or misrepresents the policies or contracts of other agents or companies, or is conducting his business in such a manner as to cause injury to the public or those dealing with him, then the insurance commissioner shall give notice to such agent and cite him to appear before such insurance commissioner and show cause why his license as an insurance or surety agent should not be suspended or revoked. If at the hearing of said order to show cause it shall appear that said agent has wilfully misstated any material fact in his application to the insurance commissioner, or that the purpose or principal use of such license is to avoid or prevent the operation or enforcement of any antirebate law or other insurance law of this state, or that such agent conducts his business in a dishonest manner or misrepresents policies or contracts he sells or misrepresents the policies or contracts of other agents or companies, or is conducting his business in such a manner as to cause injury to the public or those dealing with him, then the insurance commissioner shall either revoke or suspend the license of such agent, and shall notify both the agent and the company of such revocation or suspension.

In any such action the court shall have full power to investigate all the facts de novo without regard to the determinations previously made by the insurance commissioner. All of the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to pleadings, proofs, trials and appeals shall be applicable to such actions.

Such action shall be commenced and tried in the superior court of the county in which such agent resides, unless the parties thereto stipulate otherwise.

Term
of license.

Unless revoked by the commissioner, or unless the company by written notice to the commissioner cancels the agent's authority to act for it, such license, or any renewal thereof, shall expire on the first day of July next after its issue or renewal. Any license issued after this section takes effect may in the discretion of the insurance commissioner be renewed for a succeeding year by a renewal certificate without the commissioner requiring the detailed information required by this section.

Any person who shall act or offer to act or assume to act as an insurance or surety agent unless licensed by the insurance commissioner as provided in this section, or after such license granted to him or it has been suspended or revoked, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, but any policy issued on an application, thus procured, shall bind the insurance company if otherwise valid. Violation.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to, refer to, or affect county mutual fire insurance companies, or their agents, or title insurance business, or fraternal benefit societies, or agents or employees of reciprocal or interinsurance exchanges. Exemptions from provisions of act.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
EXECUTIVE OFFICE, SACRAMENTO.

The foregoing general appropriation bill, Assembly Bill No. 313, is approved except for the certain items hereinafter specifically set forth and objected to in accordance with section 16, article IV of the constitution, which items are disapproved, to wit:

1. I object to the item on page nine [1317] under heading "Legislative Counsel Bureau," "For additional salaries, three thousand six hundred dollars," for the reason that said bureau will be able to accomplish its work and pay sufficient salaries without this additional appropriation.

2. I object to the item on page fifteen [1322] under the heading "University of California," "For support and maintenance of University of California, four hundred thousand dollars," for the reason that Senate Bill No. 28, which has already been signed by me, appropriates a like amount for this same purpose and this item would be a duplication thereof.

3. I object to the following items on page eighteen [1325] under the heading "State Commission of Horticulture," to wit:

"For salary of commissioner, eight thousand dollars;

"For salary of deputy commissioner, five thousand four hundred dollars;

"For salary of assistant superintendent of state insectary, three thousand six hundred dollars;

"For salary of deputy quarantine officer at San Francisco, three thousand six hundred dollars;

"For salary of deputy quarantine officer at Los Angeles, three thousand six hundred dollars"; for the reason that Assembly Bill No. 1112, which has already been signed by me, reorganizes this department and renders these appropriations unnecessary.

4. I object to the item on page eighteen [1326] under the heading "State Veterinarian," "For salary of clerk, three thousand two hundred dollars," for the same reason set forth in the preceding paragraph hereof.

5. I object to the item on page twenty [1327], "For support and salaries, Pacific Colony, forty-eight thousand dollars," for the reason that Assembly Bill No. 735, which has already been signed by me, carries sufficient appropriation for the needs of this institution.

WM. D. STEPHENS,
Governor of California.

Dated: May 27, 1919.

[Page numbers given in above statement are those of bill presented to the Governor for approval; accompanying numbers enclosed in brackets [] are the pages of these Statutes on which items objected to appear.]

Definitions
of terms.

Section 1. First—The term "commission" as used in this act means the "state civil service commission" herein created, and the term "commissioner" as used in this act means one of the three members of that commission, all unless such terms are plainly used with some other meaning.

Second—The terms "position" and "positions" as used in this act include all offices and employments under state authority, whether there be any salary or other compensation or emolument connected therewith, except offices held by elective officers as such and also except the militia and all offices and employments as now or hereafter provided by virtue of or under article eight of the constitution of the state, and except county and township offices and employments.

Third—The term "appointing power" as used in this act includes all persons whether acting singly or in conjunction with others in any way whatsoever, either by nomination or confirmation or as a board or commission or otherwise, in selecting any one to hold any position as that term is so used in this act.

Fourth—The term "appointment" as used in this act includes all means of selecting and employing any one to hold any position as that term is so used in this act.

Sec. 3. The commission shall employ a chief examiner and secretary, which offices may be combined, and such other employees as it may deem necessary or proper to carry out the purposes of this act. Their compensation shall be fixed by the commissioner, and they may be paid necessary traveling expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties. The duties of the chief examiner, secretary and other employees shall be prescribed by the commission, subject to the provisions of this act. It shall be the duty of the secretary to keep the minutes of the meetings of the commission and perform such other services as may be assigned him by the commission. The commission may select suitable persons to assist in examinations under its direction. The compensation of such assistants shall not exceed five dollars per day, except in the case of special and expert examiners employed in the preparation of questions and rating of candidates; and when the persons so selected are in the official service of the state it shall be deemed a part of their official duty to serve as such assistants without additional compensation.

Sec. 4. The commission is authorized to secure in the city of Sacramento suitable and convenient rooms and accommodations and cause the same to be furnished, heated and lighted, for carrying on the work of the commission and the commission may order the necessary stationery, postage stamps, and official seal and other articles to be supplied, and the necessary printing to be done for its official use.

Sec. 5. The commission shall: *

First—Classify positions to be held under state authority in accordance with the provisions of this act and in accordance with the duties attached to such positions. The commission shall grade all positions within each class with respect to salaries, to the end that like salaries shall be paid for like duties. Such classes and grades may from time to time be amended, added to, consolidated or abolished by the commission, but persons holding positions under the original classification or grade shall not be affected thereby; provided, that no person otherwise competent shall be excluded from any class on account of any physical defect or affliction unless such defect or affliction tends directly to incapacitate such person from performing the services required of that class, and that when any person with any such physical defect or affliction which does not tend directly to incapacitate such person from performing the duties required of persons in that class, has been appointed to a position, such person shall not be placed in a different grade as to salaries from other persons in the same class.

Second—Hold examinations to determine the merit, efficiency and fitness of applicants for positions, and prepare properly classified eligible lists from applicants so examined.

All questions for examination shall be prepared under the supervision of the commission or chief examiner and delivered to the examining board or to the candidates by one of the commissioners or chief examiner or by an examiner specially designated to perform such service.

Enforce act.

Third—Enforce the provisions of this act and prescribe and enforce suitable rules and regulations for carrying the same into effect and from time to time amend and repeal the same.

Fourth—Keep minutes of its own proceedings, and records of its examinations and other official actions.

Efficiency records

Fifth—Records of individual efficiency of holders of positions in performing their duties must be established and posted monthly in all offices and places of employment affected by this act. Such records shall be made by the appointing power, unless otherwise directed by the commission, and under and in accordance with such rules and regulations as the commission may prescribe, and a copy of such records shall be filed with the commission. The commission shall investigate all such efficiency records and may make its own records, and shall rate upon such records the item of "ascertained merit" in examinations for promotion. The commission shall establish and enforce rules and regulations under which records of unsatisfactory service may lead to reduction in grade and compensation of the person holding the position concerned, and shall further provide for the manner in which persons falling below the standards of efficiency fixed by its rules and regulations may be removed from their positions by the commission proceeding substantially as provided in this act and with the same effect as in case of removals by the appointing power.

Make investigations.

Sixth—Make investigations concerning and report upon all matters touching the enforcement and effect of the provisions of this act and the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder; inspect all state institutions, offices, places of employment and services affected by this act, and ascertain whether this act and all such rules and regulations are obeyed. Such investigation may be made by any commissioner, or chief examiner, or by any other authorized agent of the commission. In the course of such investigation any commissioner, or chief examiner or such other authorized agent of the commission, or the secretary of the commission, shall have power to administer oaths, subpoena and require the attendance in this state of witnesses and the production thereby of books, papers, documents and accounts appertaining to the investigation but not requiring the attendance of witnesses either with or without books, papers, documents or accounts unless residing within the same county or within thirty miles of the place of attendance.

Rules governing hearing

Seventh—All hearings and investigations before the commission, or any commissioner, or the chief examiner or such other authorized agent of the commission shall be governed by this act and by rules of practice and procedure to be adopted by the commission and in the conduct thereof neither the commission nor any commissioner nor the chief examiner nor such other authorized agent of the commission shall be bound by the technical rules of evidence. No informality in any proceeding or in the manner of taking testimony before the commission or any commissioner, or the chief examiner or such other authorized agent of the commission shall invalidate any order, decision, rule or regulations made, approved or confirmed by the commission. The superior court in and for the county, or city and county, in which any inquiry, investigation, hearing or proceeding may be held by the commission, or any commissioner, or the chief examiner or such other authorized agent of the commission shall have the power to compel the attendance of witnesses, the giving of testimony and the production of books, papers, documents and accounts, as required by any subpoena issued by the commission, or any commissioner, or such other authorized agent of the commission or the secretary. The commission, or the commissioner, or the chief examiner or such other authorized agent of the commission before whom the testimony is to be given or produced, in case of the refusal of any witness to attend or testify or produce any papers required by such subpoena, may report to the superior court in and for the county, or city and county, in which the proceeding is pending, by petition, setting forth that due notice has been given of the time and place of attendance of said witness, or the production of such books, paper, documents, or accounts, and that the witness has been summoned in the manner prescribed in this act, and that the witness has failed and refused to attend or produce such books or papers or documents or accounts required by the subpoena, before the commission, or the commissioner, or the chief examiner, or such other authorized agent of the commission, in the matter named in the notice and subpoena, or has refused to answer questions propounded to him in the course of such proceedings, and ask an order of said court, compelling the witness to attend and testify or produce such books or papers or documents or accounts before the commission, or any commissioner, or the chief examiner or such other authorized agent of the commission. The court, upon the petition of the commission, or any commissioner, or the chief examiner or such other authorized agent of the commission, shall enter an order directing the witness to appear before the court at a time and place to be fixed by the court in such order, the time to be not more than ten days from the date of the order, and then and there show cause why he has not attended and testified or produced said papers before the commission, or such commissioner, or the chief examiner or such other authorized agent of the commission. A copy of said order shall be served upon said witness. If it shall appear to the court that said subpoena was regularly issued by the commission, or any commissioner, or the chief examiner or other authorized agent of the commission, or the secretary, the court shall thereupon enter an order that said witness appear before the commission, or such commissioner, or the chief examiner or any other authorized agent of the commission at the time and place fixed in said order, and testify or produce the required books, papers, documents and accounts, and upon failure to obey said order, said witness shall be dealt with as for contempt of court. The remedy provided in this section is cumulative, and shall not be construed to impair or interfere with the power of the commission, or a commissioner, or the chief examiner or any such other authorized agent of the commission to enforce the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers, documents and accounts.

Depositions.

The commission, or any commissioner, or the chief examiner or such other authorized agent of the commission may, in any investigation or hearing before the commission, or any commissioner, or the chief examiner or such other authorized agent of the commission, cause the deposition of witnesses residing within or without the state to be taken in the manner prescribed by law for like depositions in civil actions in the superior courts of this state and to that end may compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, papers, documents and accounts.

Witness not excused from testifying.

No person shall be excused from testifying or from producing any book, paper, document or account in any investigation or inquiry by or hearing before the commission, or any commissioner, or the chief examiner or such other authorized agent of the commission, when ordered to do so, upon the ground that the testimony or evidence, book, paper, document or account required of him may tend to incriminate him or subject him to penalty or forfeiture, but no person shall be prosecuted, punished or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any act, transaction, matter or thing concerning which he shall, under oath, have testified or produced documentary evidence; provided, that no person so testifying shall be exempt from prosecution or punishment for any perjury committed by him in his testimony. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as in any manner giving to any person immunity of any kind otherwise than is herein expressly provided.

Biennial report.

Eighth—Make a biennial report to the governor for transmission to the legislature, showing the action of the commission, including all the rules and regulations adopted by it during such period and those that are in force at the time of making such report, information as to exempted positions as required by this act and the effects of this act and of all proceedings under it and any suggestions the commission or any commissioner may deem practical for the more effectual accomplishment of the purposes of this act.

Meetings.

Ninth—Meet at Sacramento as often as the needs of the public service may require, and at such other places as the commission may designate. A majority of the members of the commission shall constitute a quorum.

Sec. 6. It shall be the duty of all persons subject to the authority of the state in that behalf (including all state officers and employees of all state institutions of every kind and character) to aid in all proper ways in carrying into effect the provisions of this act and the rules and regulations prescribed from time to time thereunder and especially, at the request of the commission, to allow the commission the reasonable use of public buildings and to heat and light the same for the purpose of making examinations of applicants and investigations as provided by this act. Every one subject to the authority of the state in that behalf shall afford to the commission and its members and employees all reasonable facilities and give inspection of all books, papers, documents and accounts applying or in any way appertaining to any and all offices subject to the authority of the state in that behalf, and shall also produce said books, papers, documents and accounts, and shall attend and testify when required to do so by the commission, or any commissioner, or the chief examiner, or the secretary or any other authorized agent of the commission. The attorney general shall advise and assist the commission, and the district attorneys of the counties shall prosecute violations of this act. The commission may employ special counsel.

state
officers.

Sec. 7. The appointing power in all cases not excepted or exempted under the provisions of this act, or by virtue of the provisions of the constitution of the state, shall fill positions by appointment, including cases of transfers, reinstatements, promotions and reductions, in strict accordance with the provisions of this act and the rules and regulations prescribed from time to time hereunder, and not otherwise. Except only and to the extent that the appointing power otherwise requests as hereinafter provided, the positions held in the following specified classes are excepted from such method of appointment:

Upon such appointee ceasing to hold such office by reason of the termination of the tenure of office of said appointing power, said appointee shall be restored to place upon the eligible lists in accordance with such rules and regulations as the commission may prescribe in that behalf. Any position subject to the provisions of this act may be declared exempted by resolution passed by concurrence of the three commissioners. govern appointments, transfers, reinstatements, promotions, reductions and removals, and examination of applicants, and the commission may amend such rules from time to time. Such rules shall be printed for public distribution.

Sec. 10. The examinations shall be practical in their character, and shall relate to those matters which will fairly test the relative capacity and fitness of the persons examined to discharge the duties of the positions they seek. Applicants for positions in the mechanical trades and occupations may, in the discretion of the commission, be rated solely on experience and physical qualifications which may be determined by such evidence and in such manner as the commission may direct; and such applicants may be submitted to such further tests as the commission may require. The commission shall prepare lists of preliminary requirements and subjects of examinations for the several positions, and shall publish its rules and regulations and such information and advertise such examinations in such manner as the nature of the examination may require. The commission, except as may be otherwise provided in the case of laborers, shall require an applicant to file in its office, in accordance with its rules and regulations, a reasonable length of time before the date of examination, a formal application filled out in his own handwriting. Blank forms of such application shall be furnished by said commission without charge to all persons requesting the same. Sec. 11. When there is no eligible list from which a position may be filled, the appointing power may, with the consent of the commission, fill such position by temporary appointment; and such temporary appointment shall not continue for a longer period than three months, nor shall successive temporary appointments be made to the same position under this section without the previous consent of the commission, and in no case shall any person hold a position under such successive temporary appointments for a longer period than six months without the unanimous consent of the commission.

The commission shall establish rules and regulations under which emergency appointments may be made when those on the eligible lists are not immediately available, and for the time for which such emergency appointments shall be valid; and may fix a different time for different counties or cities and counties of the state for which such emergency appointments shall be valid.

Promotions.

Sec. 13. Vacancies in positions shall be filled, so far as practicable by promotion from among persons holding positions in a lower grade of the department, office or institution in which the vacancy exists. Promotion shall be based upon merit and competition and upon the superior qualifications of the person promoted as shown by his records of efficiency. For the purposes of this section an increase in the salary or other compensation of any person holding an office or position within the scope of the rules and regulations in force hereunder beyond the limit fixed for the grade in which such office and position is classified, shall be deemed a promotion. The commission may authorize the transfer of any person legally holding a position to a similar position in the same class or grade, and may provide for the reinstatement within one year of persons separated from positions without fault or delinquency on their part, if within that time there is need for their services. No promotion, transfer or reinstatement shall be made from a position in one class to a position in another class, nor shall a person be transferred to or reinstated in a position for original entrance to which there is required by this act or the rules and regulations thereunder an examination involving essential tests or qualifications different from or higher than those required for original entrance to the position held by such person.

Transfer.

Employment of laborers.

Sec. 15. The commission shall provide by rule for the employment of laborers in the labor class in the order of priority of application for employment. There shall be separate lists of applicants for different kinds of labor, and the commission may provide separate labor registration lists for departments, institutions, districts or localities. The commission may require an applicant for registration to pass such examination as they may deem proper with respect to his age, residence, physical condition, ability to labor, skill, capacity and experience. The commission shall establish such time as it may deem expedient for the duration of eligible lists in the labor class.

Sec. 16. It shall be the duty of each appointing power to report to the commission forthwith upon each appointment the name of the appointee, the title or character of the position, the date of the commencement of such service, and the salary or compensation therefor, and to report from time to time, and upon the date of official action in, or knowledge of each case, any separation of the person from the position, or other changes, and such other information as the commission may require in order to keep the roster hereinafter mentioned. The commission shall keep in its office an official roster of all persons holding positions under the provisions of this act and shall enter thereon the name of each and every person who has been appointed to, promoted, reduced, transferred, reinstated or removed from or left any position and require such evidence as it may deem satisfactory as to whether such person was appointed to, promoted, reduced, transferred, reinstated or removed from such position in accordance with the provisions of this act and the rules and regulations of the commission thereunder and as to when and why and how such person was otherwise separated from such position. The official roster shall show opposite, or in connection with, each name, the date of appointment, promotion, reduction, transfer or reinstatement, the compensation of the position, the date of commencement of service and change in or separation from position and when and why and how there was such change or separation. The names of all persons holding positions at the time of the taking effect of this act which if vacant would be filled under the provisions of this act shall be certified to the commission by the appointing power that could then so fill such position if vacant, and such names shall be entered in said roster, and thereupon shall be deemed appointed under the provisions of this act and persons then holding such positions who have served in such positions a less period than one year and more than sixty days from the date of the classification of such positions as required by this act shall be deemed to be serving the probationary period, and persons who have served in such positions for less than such sixty days shall be deemed temporary appointees.

Sec. 17. It shall be unlawful for the controller or other fiscal officer of the state to draw, sign, issue, or authorize the drawing, signing, or issuing of any warrant on the treasurer or other disbursing officer of the state for the payment of, or for the treasurer or other disbursing officer to pay any salary or compensation to any one holding any position under the provisions of this act unless the estimate, pay roll or account for such salary or compensation, containing the name of the person to be paid, shall bear the certificate of the commission that the persons named in such

Any sums paid contrary to the provisions of this section may be recovered from any one making such appointment in violation of the provisions of this act and of the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder or from any officer signing, or countersigning, or authorizing the signing or countersigning of any warrant for the payment of the same, and from the sureties on his official bond in an action in any court of competent jurisdiction of this state maintained by a citizen resident therein, who is assessed for and is liable to pay, or within one year before the commencement of such action has paid, a tax therein. All moneys recovered in any action brought under the provisions of this section must, when collected, be paid into the treasury of the state, except that the plaintiff in any such action shall be entitled to receive for his own use the taxable costs of such action.

Sec. 18. Any commissioner or examiner, or any person who shall wilfully by himself or in co-operation with one or more persons, defeat, deceive or obstruct any person in respect of his or her right of examination or registration, according to any rules or regulations prescribed pursuant to the provisions of this act, or who shall wilfully and falsely mark, grade, estimate, or report upon the examination or proper standing of any person examined, registered, or certified pursuant to the provisions of this act, or aid in so doing, or who shall wilfully make any false representation concerning the same, or concerning the person examined, or who shall wilfully furnish to any person any special or secret information for the purpose of either improving or injuring the prospects or chances of any person so examined, registered, or certified, or to be examined, registered, or certified, or who shall personate any other person, or permit or aid in any manner any other person to personate him, in connection with any examination or registration or application or request to be examined or registered, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor.

Sec. 19. No officer, agent, clerk or employec, under the government of the state shall, directly or indirectly, solicit or receive, or be in any manner concerned in soliciting or receiving, any assessment, subscription, contribution or political service, whether voluntary or involuntary, for any political purpose whatever, from any one on the eligible lists or holding any position under the provisions of this act.

Every officer, agent, clerk or employec under the government of the state who may have charge or control in any building, office, or room occupied for any purpose of said government is hereby authorized to prohibit the entry of any person, and he shall not permit any person to enter the same, for the purpose of therein making, collecting, receiving or giving notice of any political assessment, subscription or contribution, and no person shall enter, or remain in any said building, office or room, or send or direct any letter or other notice thereto, for the purpose of giving notice of, demanding, or collecting a political assessment, subscription or contribution, nor shall any person therein give notice of, demand, collect or receive, any such assessment, subscription or contribution contrary to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 20. No one, while holding any public office, or in nomination for, or while seeking a nomination or appointment for, any public office, shall use or promise to use, whether directly or indirectly, any official authority or influence (whether then possessed or merely anticipated) in the way of conferring upon any person, or in order to secure or aid any person in securing any position under the provisions of this act, either in nomination, confirmation, promotion, or increase in salary, or as to any change in any such position, upon a consideration or condition that the vote or political influence or action of the last named person or any other, shall be given or used in behalf of any candidate, officer or party, or upon any other corrupt condition or consideration. And no one, being a public officer, or in nomination for, or while seeking nomination or appointment for, any public office or having or claiming to have any authority or influence (whether then possessed or merely anticipated) for the securing or holding of or as to affecting any position under the provisions of this act, shall use, or promise or threaten to use, any such authority or influence, directly or indirectly, in order to coerce or persuade the vote or political action of any person on the eligible lists or holding any position under the provisions of this act.

Promise of advancement for political influence prohibited.

Sec. 21. No salary, compensation or other emolument shall be paid to any one appointed to or retained in any position in violation of this act. Any officer approving or paying such salary shall be liable for such sum on his official bond. CHAPTER 14.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 5—Relative to the retirement on annuities of men and women in the employment of the United States who are over the age of sixty-eight years.

[Filed with Secretary of State January 25, 1910.]

Retirement
on annuities of employees of United States.

WHEREAS, Retirement on annuities has for many years been a vital issue with all organizations of federal civil service employees, for the reason that a large number of men and women over sixty-eight years of age have served the United States for a lifetime at such comparatively low wages that it has been impossible for them to accumulate a sum of money sufficient to enable them to voluntarily retire; and

WHEREAS, These men and women know that either demotion or dismissal awaits them if a retirement bill is not passed by the congress, as the efficiency of employees rapidly declines after the age of sixty-eight years; and

WHEREAS, The United States civil service commission, in its last annual report, strongly recommended a system of retirement, as follows:

“It is too costly to continue the aged and infirm in positions requiring alertness and vigor, and a retirement system is possible which would be alike in the interest of the government and the worker.

“While inefficiency is a just cause for removal, appointing officers naturally hesitate to dismiss old employees who have become incapacitated after rendering long and efficient service, and a virtual pension system thus exists.

“A retirement system would give stability to the service, create an inducement for capable men to continue in it, contribute to improve administrative methods, and make possible a standardization of salaries and other needed reforms”; and

WHEREAS, There is now before the congress a bill known as the McKellar-Keating bill, which has for its object the retirement on annuities of all superannuated and disabled civil service employees of the United States, at a cost to be borne equally by the government and the employees; and

WHEREAS, The McKellar-Keating bill, which is known in the senate as S. 4637 and in the house of representatives as H. of California, and section fifteen of the act to regulate commerce.

[Filed with Secretary of State March 31, 1919.]

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 6—Relative to the education of our youth for service in the American merchant marine.

[Filed with Secretary of State April 26, 1919.]

WHEREAS, The growth and development of the American merchant marine prior to the civil war was without parallel in the history of commerce, our national maritime spirit was equal to every demand, American ships and American seamen were known in every port of the world, the United States was the mistress of the seas, manning her peerless clipper ships with her own sons and carrying more than ninety per cent of all national exports and imports in her own bottoms; and Education for service in United States merchant marine.

WHEREAS, As the result of the civil war, the change from wood to iron, and our unpreparedness for that change either economically or politically, our country's proud merchant marine in a short period shrunk to only a shadow of her former self; and

WHEREAS, The events of the past few years have clearly proved that when national necessity sounded the clarion call to the sea our country, notwithstanding fifty dormant years, still had the necessary maritime genius and an abundance of the natural resources to found and maintain a great merchant marine; and

WHEREAS, History is emphatic in her teachings that no nation can ever hope to retain and successfully operate a great merchant marine without a virile national maritime spirit back of it, because a native seafaring population to man the ships has ever been as essential to national welfare as the ownership of vessels, for in the final analysis sea power is in the seamen; and

WHEREAS, The history of American seamanship is a glowing record of patriotism, courage and achievement unsurpassed by any people anywhere, no other calling demands a higher mental and physical standard in the men employed, none has given better service to civilization and to humanity, no occupation has a right to higher consideration or greater honor, for none has given more important service in peace and war; now therefore be it

for service in United States merchant marine.

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That we respectfully urge upon our state board of education to so arrange for special courses in history, geography and commercial studies generally so as to instill in the minds of our young men the conviction that the destiny of California and the United States is inseparable from the sea; also to create the basis for a thorough nautical education, to awaken an interest in foreign trade and inspire a genuine appreciation of our unlimited opportunities upon the seven seas; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forthwith transmitted by the secretary of the senate to the president of the state board of education and to the state superintendent of public schools.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 14—Relative to the report of Adjutant General J. J. Borree showing the extensive participation of California high school cadets in the recent world's war and expressing legislative approval and appreciation of the splendid physical and military results obtained from military training in the high schools of California.

[Filed with Secretary of State April 26, 1919.]

Military training in high schools
commended.

WHEREAS, From reports furnished the adjutant general's office by the various high schools of the State of California, it is shown that from the month of September, 1911, when cadet training was first instituted in California high schools, to the month of September, 1917, one thousand six hundred fifty-five cadets completed their training; that of this number six hundred twenty-five cadets became of age up to and including September, 1918; that the reports further show that one thousand nine hundred six cadets entered the service during the war, indicating that a large percentage enlisted who were not yet twenty-one years of age and who had not yet completed their high school course; that the total number of cadets who had had training, or who were in training up to September 20, 1918, was seven thousand forty-five; that five thousand three hundred ninety of this number were then in the schools, and that a very large number of them were not old enough to enter the service, and it further appearing from said reports that there were one thousand four hundred sixty-five men from the cadets who entered the army, three hundred seventy-one who entered the navy, and sixty-one the marine corps, and that of this number, seventeen became ensigns in the navy, five entered West Point, four entered Annapolis, and there were commissioned in the United States army, one

colonel, eleven captains, forty-three first lieutenants, one hundred thirty-seven second lieutenants, one hundred nine sergeants, eighty-nine corporals, or a total of two hundred eighteen commissioned officers and one hundred ninety-eight noncommissioned officers; that four hundred sixteen men, or twenty-two per cent of the number of cadets entering our country's service, became officers; and

WHEREAS, Practically every boy who was old enough to enlist, that is eighteen years of age or over, entered the service, it demonstrates the physical value of military training, as nearly all of the cadets and former cadets who applied for admission to the service were accepted as being physically qualified, and it further demonstrates the fact that military training given in the schools was of value to them as individuals as well as of great value to the nation; now, therefore, be it

value of military training.

Resolved by the senate, the assembly concurring, That the legislature by resolution express its approval and appreciation of the splendid results obtained from military training in the high schools of California; and be it further

Resolved, That this body express to the schools of California its appreciation for the part they have played in providing for this military training, and that a copy of these resolutions be supplied to the adjutant general's office, with the request that the adjutant general by circular letter inform all the schools of this action.

to wresting the precious gold from its earthen receptacle, there came an outburst of literary glory whose flowering astonished the world and added new lustre to the fame of California; and

WHEREAS, The miners' tales of Bret Harte, the scintillating humor of Mark Twain, the sweet music of Ina Coolbrith, the pen paintings of Charles Warren Stoddard, the Sierran songs of Joaquin Miller, the scorching satire of Ambrose Bierce, have added lasting riches to the treasure-house of English literature; and

WHEREAS, The stirring epics of Frank Norris, the historic romances of Gertrude Atherton, the rugged stories of Jack London and the work of the fine array of present day poets and prose writers have continued to uphold these first traditions of the golden age of California literature; and

WHEREAS, Recognizing the need for a worthy and undying record of this fertile output of literary wealth, Ella Sterling Mighels, by a labor of years and of love, has preserved in "The Story of the Files" the story of these great California writers and has supplemented this work in "Literary California" by giving choice extracts from their works; therefore, be it

CHAPTER 61.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 17—Relative to special legislative committee for investigation of the finances of the state.

[Filed with Secretary of State May 6, 1919.]

Legislative committee to investigate
state finances.

WHEREAS, The forty-third session of the California legislature finds the state facing a critical financial situation, due to the fact that revenues are insufficient to meet the legitimate demands arising especially from the educational and humanitarian departments of the commonwealth; and

WHEREAS, Appropriations absolutely essential to the support of state institutions as shown by the report of the budget board, together with the increases vital to the life of the elementary schools and the proper sustenance of the orphans thrown upon the charity of the state government, are of such proportions as to impair the surplus account of the state treasury to the extent that the amount carried in such fund as an insurance against catastrophes or other emergencies will be so small as to be dangerous; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the senate, the assembly concurring, That a legislative committee consisting of two members of the senate to be named by the president of the senate, and two members of the assembly to be named by the speaker of the assembly, be appointed to investigate during the coming two years, and to report to the legislature in the month of January, 1921, with recommendations as to action, on matters governing the subject of revenue and taxation in the State of California broadly outlined as follows, and on such additional lines as it may deem wise, as a result of its investigations:

Legislative committee to investigate state finances.

1. As to increasing revenue as derived from present sources of taxation, having in mind the urgent need of equitable methods so that the burden of taxation will fall according to the benefits received, and particularly as to the burden between general property and corporation property.

2. The uncovering of sources of revenue now taxable but escaping taxation, if any there be.

3. As to the taxation of general property (a) as needed to provide further and necessary revenue for the support of the state government, and (b) the wisdom of such taxation aside from a strictly revenue point of view, in order that the people may feel the burden of the cost of state government directly.

4. As to the burden of taxation under our present state system as between small corporations and large corporations; also the double taxation of corporations under the existing system.

5. Recommendations as to new sources of revenue.

This legislative committee shall be empowered to call upon all departments of the state government for co-operation and assistance, particularly the state board of equalization, the state board of control and the state controller.

The board of equalization is charged particularly with the duty of collecting data as to the ratio of assessed to true value under the ad valorem system in vogue in the counties, and such other data and information as the legislative committee may direct it to secure for the use of said committee in determining the burden of taxation as between general property and corporation property, and such other purposes as it may have in mind.

Members of the legislative committee shall receive no compensation for their services but shall receive actual and necessary traveling expenses.

The committee shall hold hearings in Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and such other places as it may deem necessary in order to fully carry out its investigations.

For the purposes of enabling the legislative committee to perform the task assigned to it by this resolution there is set aside from the contingent fund of the senate one thousand five hundred dollars, and from the contingent fund of the assembly one thousand five hundred dollars; provided, that only so much of said funds shall be expended, as is necessary, in equal amounts from said funds.

Resolved. That the board of control is further instructed to communicate with the various county assessors and recorders in this state for the purpose of securing the information in regard to the matters under investigation by the board; and be it further

[Filed with Secretary of State May 6, 1919.]

Exclusion of enemy-aliens from business enterprises.

WHEREAS, Instances have occurred during the recent great world war where citizens of the United States of America, called to the colors, were thus compelled to discontinue the business in which they were theretofore engaged; while others, who were exempt from service to the country by reason of their being enemy aliens, were permitted to continue in business and enjoy the advantages thereof; and

WHEREAS, It is but fair that neither those of our citizens who went forth to render heroic service and sacrifice, nor they who, if permitted to serve, would gladly have welcomed the country's call, should be at any disadvantage or suffer by

Resolved by the senate and assembly of the State of California, jointly, That our representatives in congress be and are hereby memorialized to use their best efforts to the end that a federal statute be enacted prohibiting enemy aliens from engaging in or conducting business of any kind whatever.

WHEREAS, The fund created by said act is available only upon receipt by the board created by said act to administer the affairs of said school of a vessel assigned by the navy department of the United States; and

WHEREAS, Assurances have been given that the United States ship Hartford is now available for the purposes mentioned; and

WHEREAS, The appropriation made by the legislature in 1917 will lapse in the month of June of the present year unless the assignment of a vessel is made as above set forth; now, therefore, be it

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

Los Angeles, California,

October 15, 1918.

To His Excellency, WILLIAM D. STEPHENS, Governor, State Capitol, Sacramento, California.

DEAR SIR :

The commission appointed to determine the exact date of the discovery of gold in California has the honor to herewith transmit the report of its investigation. The commission held two meetings in San Francisco. There were also conferences and correspondence between the members of the commission.

After much research work on the part of Mr. Phil. B. Bekkert, who devoted considerable time to the subject, the commission submits the following report and determines that the correct date is January 24, 1848:

PHILIP BALDWIN BEKERT.

Secretary.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

Committee appointed by Governor William D. Stephens to show proof that the date of the discovery of gold at Coloma, Sutter's Mill, as shown on the Marshall statue at Coloma, January 19, 1848, is wrong, and that the correct date is January 24, 1848.

Date of discovery
of gold in California.

The following report is submitted by Phil. B. Bekcart. He makes no claim for any discovery of the correct date, this date having been proven by the findings of John S. Hittell, the pioneer and historian, in 1885.

James W. Marshall never kept a diary. He attached no historic interest to his discovery at the time it was made. The California Chronicle published a letter February 9, 1856, signed by Marshall, but written by some other person. His next statement, and over his own signature, appeared in Hutching's California Magazine, Vol. 2, No. 5, November, 1857. This published conversation and interview with Marshall was afterward verified in a letter to John S. Hittell, written by J. W. Hutching, December 28, 1885.

In his statement to Hutching, November, 1857, Marshall says: "On or about the nineteenth of January. I am not quite certain to a day, but it was between the eighteenth and twentieth of that month, 1848." "The first piece which I found weighed about fifty cents."

Marshall states he left for Sutter's Fort four days after his discovery, to show Captain Sutter his find, and to prove its genuineness.

In view of this statement of Marshall's, the nineteenth of January was the accepted date of the discovery until 1885, when John S. Hittell happened to hear that one of Marshall's companions at Sutter's Mill in 1848 still lived in Utah, so he wrote to this man, Henry W. Bigler, St. George, Utah, and sent him a copy of an address that he delivered before the Society of California Pioneers, in San Francisco, September 9, 1885. He asked Bigler if this address agreed with his knowledge of Marshall's discovery, and Bigler replied in a letter dated November 29, 1885, that the date was the twenty-fourth, not the nineteenth.

This diary was afterwards obtained from Bigler, and is, I believe, now a part of the Bancroft library at Berkeley. A facsimile of this diary is in the possession of the Pioneers. It reads:

"Monday 24th. This day some kind of mettle was found in the tail race that looks like gold. First discovered by James Martial the boss of the mill."

General Sutter's diary, now a valued possession of the Society of California Pioneers, records the following few words regarding Marshall:

"Friday, January 28, 1848. Mr. Marshall arrived from the mountains on very important business."

"Saturday, January 29, 1848. Marshall left for the mountains."

discovery
of gold in California.

Azariah Smith, then a young man of nineteen years, and one of the laborers at Sutter's Mill, also kept a diary. He wrote but once a week (Sunday). His diary, the original of which is in the vaults of the Pioncers, reads as follows:

"Sunday, January 30th. Mr. Marshall having arrived, we got liberty of him and built a small house down by the Mill, and last Sunday we moved into it in order to get rid of the Brawling, Partial Mistress, and cook for ourselves. This week Mr. Marshall found some pieces of (as we all suppose) Gold, and he has gone to the Fort for the purpose of finding out. It is found in the raceway in small peaces. Some have been found that would weigh five dollars."

NOTE: This last remark was afterwards explained as follows: Azariah Smith possessed a five-dollar gold piece, and the combined weight of all the flakes picked up by the men weighed about five dollars. There never was a nugget found in the American river at Coloma (Sutter's Mill).—P. B. B.

SUMMARY.

Sutter's diary states that Marshall arrived at the fort on the twenty-eighth.

Smith's diary of Sunday, the thirtieth, states that Marshall discovered gold during the week, and had returned from the fort. If the discovery had been on the nineteenth, Smith would have recorded it on Sunday the twenty-third.

This proves my contention that the date, January 19, 1848, on the Marshall Monument is wrong, and the monument should have the date of discovery January 24, 1848.
