Fourth Liberty Loan

The campaign for the Fourth Liberty Loan will begin Sept. 28, and closes Oct. 19. The result of the loan will be watched with keen interest in Europe, not only by our associates in war against the Teutonic powers, but by our enemies. It will be regarded by them as a measure of the American people's support of the war.

The Germans know full well the tremendous weight and significance of popular support of the war; of the people at home backing up the Army in the field. As the loan succeeds, our enemies will sorrow; as it falls short, they will rejoice. Every dollar subscribed will help and encourage the American soldiers and hurt and depress the enemies of America.

The loan will be a test of the loyalty and willingness of the people of the United States to make sacrifices compared with the willingness of our soldiers to do their part. There must be and there will be no failure by the people to measure up to the courage and devotion of our men in Europe. Many of them have given their lives; shall we at home withhold our money? Shall we spare our dollars while they spare not their lives?

Pine Needles

Alma Voerdisch, manager of concert artists, of New York, spent a few days this week in Carmel, calling particularly at the Search cottage.

The Warren boys will soon be home from Alaska. They were to leave the north on August 28, and proceed homeward via Seattle.

Prof. J. M. Stillman and wife are here from Stanford. They plan to remain about three weeks.

Mrs. H. P. Larouette went to San Jose last Thursday to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Schumacher, who passed away in Oakland on September 4.

The MacArthur family, who occupied the Hall cottage in north Carmel for several weeks, have returned to San Francisco.

I. B. Waterbury is to retire from the milk business about November 1. He will take a position with a large industrial corporation, where he will pursue the electrical line, probably in San Francisco. The family will accompany him.

D. W. Call and family, who have occupied the Merriam house here for several months, becoming thorough Carmelites, have returned to their home in Los Gatos.

William F. Steinmetz and wife, Mrs. McNally, and H. G. Nielsen were here from Saturday to Monday, occupying the Saxe cottage. Mr. Steinmetz is in the Oakland office of the Examiner.

More than twenty persons made up the audience which gathered at the Book Shop last Thursday evening for the reading of Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra." Tonight Mr. Heron will read Macfie's "The Tragedy of Nau."

In addition to the $50 already reported for the Belgian Babies Christmas Fund, Mrs. Canine has $5 more from Mrs. F. W. Goodman, and 76 cents from three children.

"Give until it helps" will be the 4th Liberty Loan slogan.

A. M. Allen of Point Lobos has been elected treasurer of the newly formed Monterey Bay Cannery Association.

Eugene Gillett was among the Mare Island Naval Reserve band boys who recently made the trip to Sacramento to play at the State Fair.

Already several preliminary orders for Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds have been received at the "Pine Cone" office. The drive begins officially on September 28.

Miss Jessie White and Mrs. F. O. Steele are visiting at Bay View, Mich. They will occupy their cottage here in the Fall.

Dr. Alexander S. Kaun says: "For years it has been my most cherished dream to see Russia and the United States come to a closer mutual understanding." Dr. Kaun will give the third lecture of his course at Arts and Crafts Hall on Monday evening.

The rule prohibiting painters and photographers sketching or taking pictures on or near the Monterey wharves or Presidio is being strictly enforced. Keep away!

G. F. Beardsley, Carmel's representative of the Committee on Public Information, gave the first of series of four-minute talks at the moving-picture show last Saturday evening.

Nine men who will not be home today to register appeared before W. E. Martin, Exemption Board member, at the Pine Cone office last Saturday, to procure cards to forward to their local boards.

W. L. Overstreet has been made a member of the California Press Association, and will probably attend the annual meeting of that body in November.

Registration is again open for the November election. Any citizen entitled to vote who has not registered this year, should do so at once.

They're Running Yet

Donald Hale, who is with 2 Co and Flame Battalion, 30th Engineers, writes to his mother, Mrs. F. Bechdolt, that he is back of the lines again, after being up at the front. He was there for four days and nights, helping to put the Germans on the run. He writes that "they are on the run all along the line." Also that "It is great up there."

FIGHTING WITH FOOD

By DR. RAY LYMAN WILBUR

President of Stanford University.

Redemption By Blood.

What have you and I done in our democracy? Did you ever stop to think about it? We put up service flags. They mean that you and I have picked out the best young men, the best we have. We have picked them out and sent them over there, and said, "You go out and fight for us so that we can have liberty, freedom, and justice; we will go on as before but you fight and die while we stay home." That is what we have done, that is what we have said.

We have been talking in terms of dollars, not in terms of men. Our legislation has been in terms of dollars. Our talk of war has been a dollar talk. We are still in the dollar stage. Don't you know that dollars—money—is no longer the medium of exchange the world is using? The world is using today men and boys, the best it has, to buy the things we want—liberty, freedom, justice.

The precious blood of boys and men is the thing we are spending. I tell you if any American comes out of this war with one dollar more than when he went in, God forgive him. The American people never will.

The Submarine War.

Germany started submarine warfare to keep us from giving help to the Allies. That submarine war has gone on now for more than a year. We have watched it. We have read anxiously week by week the number of ships that have gone down. But the average American has failed to see civilization bleeding to death as each great ship went to the bottom. He has not seen the thread of ships that reaches from our Atlantic ports to England and France and Italy getting continually thinner and thinner. He has not realized that the life of this Nation hangs on that thread of ships. That is the only thing that connects us with the western front, and the western front is today the only thing on earth that counts. Everything here is insignificant except as it backs up that western front.

The United States is not in a position to fully meet the onslaught of the German military machine today. We have watched that machine as spectators, not realizing that we were in the center of the stage and the world was saying, "What will America do? Will America understand? Will she send the men? Will she send the food? Will she build the ships? Will she fight the submarine?"

Deep-Sea Pirates.

We went to war in a leisurely way, not realizing what was going on. There has not been an hour in the last 17 months when there have not been men in open boats at sea trying to get to land; men in those boats dead of exposure, of thirst, of starvation, of shell wounds and machine-gun bullets, men who have gotten down from merchant vessels into little boats 500 to 1,000 miles from shore. For the submarine is a deep-sea pirate now and strikes its prey far from shore. Month after month that has been going on.

We were slow to understand because we thought modern Germany was like the Germans we have as our fellow citizens. We did not know that when Germany crushed the revolution in 1848, when the Hohenzollerns drove from Germany that portion of the liberty-loving people who are found in every land, that she thereby sowed the seeds of this war. She gave us the best blood she had, and it has been a great contribution to us. Those who stayed in Germany are a perverted and polluted generation that has willed this war. There is the belief in the divine right of kings, the belief in conquest which regards not justice nor pity nor mercy.

The Spirit That Wins.

There is only one short way to win this war—unless Germany wins—and that is to get an absolute solution of the submarine. Otherwise we have got to keep the submarine under water and keep the ships on the water while we gradually build up an offensive against Germany.

But you can fight the submarine, because right now the thing that they are trying to do is to keep us from sending the food that England and France and Belgium and Italy need.

 Chapter Baby Writes

Paris, July 19, 1918
 Dear Madam:
 I write you this letter to say that I've sent the children to the Creuse district. My oldest child was rather afraid. As to your pro-tégée, she never bothered about the danger, only it was very troublesome to get her up in the middle of the night, when she was comfortable and warm, each time that we had to go down to the cellars,
 and both children risked contract some illness. The country will do them good, especially the older one, who is delicate. The only reason that I have not sent them until now was that my means did not permit. With the aid that you have sent me, I am able to carry out the plan.
 At Paris on July 4 we celebrated the American holiday, and it was really a magnificent spectacle, in spite of the fact that we all had tears in our eyes.
 We are happy to see that the German in their latest drive have not met with success. They have now been hurled back, and most of their gains nullified.
 With intense pride we watch the Franco-American forces surge forward in violent counter-attacks between Chateau-Thierry and Rheims. Let us hope that we shall soon see the overwhelming of the German race with the forces marching to our aid, growing in numbers every day, and that the allied troops will have their revenge, God being with us.
 Accept my most sincere thanks.

"Unlucky enough to be cap-

 the War Department is having offi-

 way of getting word to the prison-

 the job, besides beginning at once

New Wheat Rules for Households

Food Administration Tells What Each Housewife is Asked to do Under New Program

Full details of the new wheat saving program for the housewives of the state are announced by Acting Federal Food Commissioner Preston McKinney, following further advices from Washington.

The essential changes from the former program are:

1—Breads for each day and each meal henceforth to be partly wheatless, with the elimination of the two former wheatless days and the wheatless evening meals.

2—Curtailling of the list of wheat substitutes. Rice and breakfast foods are no longer substitutes.

3—Abolishment of the rule which restricted flour purchases in towns and cities to one-eighth of a barrel at each purchase and in rural districts to one-quarter of a barrel.

4—Abolishment of the 50-50 rule, which provides for the purchase of an equal quantity of substitute flours with wheat flours.

The new program calls for the use of Victory Mixed Flour which will contain the 20 per cent substitutes, and which will be put out by the mills. This flour will shortly be on the market.

In lieu of using this flour the housewife may purchase wheat flour at the ratio of four pounds to one pound of substitutes, which includes barley, corn, oat, potato, rice and other cereal flours. Where rye flour is used as a substitute two pounds must be purchased with each three pounds of the wheat product.

In brief, the nation is asked to use bread, rolls and other breadstuffs which shall contain at least twenty per cent of substitutes in accordance with the bread which the Allied nations will use.

The Food Administration made it clear that there should be no let-up in saving under the new wheat program, but that the restrictions have been modified in a measure commensurate with the improved conditions abroad.

No one is asked to continue on a strictly wheatless diet, but those who do so will be contributing that much toward winning the war, McKinney said.

How New Wheat Rules Affect Grocers

Change Made in Substitutes and Quantity that Must be Sold With Wheat Flour

Grocers are now permitted to sell four pounds of wheat flour with one pound of substitute flours under the rules regulating the new wheat saving program, it is announced by Acting Food Commissioner Preston McKinney. Larger quantities may be sold in the same ratio.

The Food Administration's official bulletin of Sept. 3 contained full instructions to grocers and bakers.

Rice in the grain and breakfast foods, one of which is oatmeal, are no longer wheat flour substitutes, although rice flour is. Barley flour, corn flour and corn meal, rye flour and oat flour and other cereal flours also are on the official substitute list. Grocers are now required to carry at least three substitutes—barley flour, corn meal and corn flour.

The new Victory Mixed Flour, which contains the required twenty per cent substitutes and which will be put out from the mills, will be on the market soon. When this Victory Mixed Flour is purchased by the housewife no other substitutes need be purchased at that time.

While there is no definite limit placed on the quantity of wheat flour the grocer is permitted to sell, either in the city or rural districts, hoarding will not be tolerated, McKinney said. No more than a reasonable amount of either the Victory Mixed Flour, or the pure wheat flour with the required substitutes should be bought at one time.

Although the wheat saving rules have been slightly relaxed due to improved conditions among the Allies, the patriotic public should observe the new restrictions rigidly, the Food Administration urges. Unless the new program is given the same measure of loyal support that observed previously, wheat saving henceforth will not be sufficiently effective to meet the requirements of our soldiers and the troops and civilian populations of the Allies.

In a nutshell, the new program calls for only a twenty per cent substitution in breadstuffs, and no patriotic American will use straight wheat flour in bread or rolls and leave the substitutes on the shelf, McKinney said.

"Cheer Up! the Best Yet to Come"

"Every dark cloud has a silver lining."

The probability of Carmel having street work done only when Ireland gets its freedom, as announced in last week's Pine Cone, was a bit pessimistic. This week there is more cheerful news.

From Trustee W. T. Kibbler it is learned that upon a perusal of 158 replies received in answer to the proposal of the Board of Trustees to put down clay roadways, eighty-five per cent of those answering are in favor, wholly or partially, of the plan presented.

It would appear from the foregoing that now the Trustees have something to go on.

Two of the replies are as follows:

"Yours of August 7th at hand. I am in accord with the proposition. 'Barkus is willin.'" I may never go back to my dear little home in Carmel, but it will be a satisfaction to know that the shifting sands of the street have been subdued. Snow under rock and clay six inches deep: any every property owner on Dolores equally speak. Yours in the cause of good roads, Mrs. M. H. Jaquith"

"Replying to your circular note of August 7th, I am in accord with plowing and leveling Camino Real and making an 18-foot road, 6 inches deep of local clay and rock, properly rolled and packed, at a cost of $16 a lot of 40 running feet. Very truly yours, Vernon Kellogg"

Keep Your Eyes Open

What the civilized world is up against should Germany triumph was stated straight from the shoulder by Dr. Frederick V. Fisher at the Manzanita Theatre last Friday night. Being a representative of the Committee on Public Information, what Dr. Fisher said may be accepted as the truth. And he presented and with indictment against the kaiser and his government. "I have no doubt but that right here in Carmel there are German spies" said the speaker.

Therefore, remember "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty."
