

FROM THE FRONT

BURT RICHARDSON WRITES INTERESTINGLY OF HIS WORK IN FRANCE

The following extracts from letters from Burt Richardson, who is at the front in France, to his mother and sister here, will be very interesting to the young man's Glendale friends:

"I am now at the front driving a Pierce-Arrow as I told you in my last letter. When I left New York I had a dread, more or less, of the whole thing but it is strange how happy and content I am. And of course, I am seeing and learning a great deal. The old cannons roar night and day at times and occasionally the bombs land near us. This war problem, as far as my obligations are concerned are for me to decide. There are quite a few opportunities open to me now and I must decide what branch of the service I will enter for I expect to remain here until the end of the war, which may take at least another year.

"I may take up aviation for there are plenty of openings and aviators are very important in this war, but my plans are not definite.

July 10. "By now you know I am not in ambulance work as I first planned and I have many reasons for having switched over. Girls are now driving ambulances and all the officers and soldiers look down upon the U. S. ambulance drivers since they are of military age and the United States is at war. But I am in a service which is much larger and much more important. I am driving a Pierce-Arrow here at the front. I say front because I speak of the zone between the trenches and the big artillery and this is close enough. It certainly is interesting and exciting work. There are thousands of troops and hundreds of aeroplanes around and the big artillery guns roar constantly. The shrapnel and high explosive bombs drop near here and near my car every day but they are easy to dodge as they have a high shriek and their death radius is only about fifty feet.

"I have two alternatives in the French army, artillery and aviation. I am working very hard and like it very well. I speak French very fluently now and talk to the Frenchies all the time. Am with some Yale and Harvard boys. There is nothing you can do but work for a big army to be sent here soon."

DIRECT FROM THE FACTORY

Our townsman and dealer, L. W. Bosserman, has a brother-in-law in Indiana, who manufactures baby carriages and go-carts and ships them in large quantities to all parts of the world. This gentleman is authority as to the latest styles and makes of these very necessary domestic vehicles. He has shipped to Mr. Bosserman a fine assortment of different styles, some of them being the best that can be found on the market any place. Conditions make it possible for Mr. Bosserman to make these sales at a great saving to the buyer. It will cost you nothing to call at the store, 339 South Brand Boulevard, and view these beautiful specimens of handiwork.

CUT DOWN BUTTER BILL

Mrs. T. W. Preston, 725 Adams street, says she has tried the following economy suggestion which is taken from the Ladies' Home Journal, with good results:

Bring half a cupful of good milk to a boil, then set aside to cool. When just lukewarm add a quarter of a pound of unmelted butter, beat with an egg beater until the mixture is thick and creamy, then put in a very cool place to harden. The resulting mixture is like a soft creamy cheese, and, although lighter in color than the original butter, it can be used just as satisfactorily and will go much farther.

A JURY CASE

Judge Lowe's court in the City Hall was the scene of considerable activity this forenoon on account of the trial of the case of H. P. Coker against a Mr. Dalrymple, an ice salesman in Los Angeles, to whom Mr. Coker was furnishing ice. The trouble began some weeks ago when, during the hot spell, the machinery at the ice factory broke, causing a delay in deliveries, and as this delay in delivering ice to Mr. Dalrymple caused him considerable inconvenience, he became very angry and used, according to Mr. Coker's statement, abusive language, and it was this procedure on the part of Mr. Dalrymple that caused his arrest. The jury, after hearing the evidence, brought in a verdict that there was no cause for action.

PASTORS' PLANS

GLENDALE MINISTERS ARE NOT GOING FAR FOR SUMMER VACATIONS

Glendale is a city of churches and nearly every denomination is represented. An immense amount of work is being done by the faithful pastors and it is gratifying that Southern California affords so many places easy of access where short but restful vacations may be enjoyed by these Shepherds without leaving their flocks very long without their leaders.

Rev. James O'Neill of the Holy Family Catholic church has not announced his plans as yet for his vacation.

Rev. and Mrs. Clifford Cole and family have returned from a ten days stay at Long Beach where they attended the annual state convention of the Christian church.

Rev. and Mrs. B. Dudley Sudden, of the First Methodist church, are at Laguna Beach and will be absent another Sunday.

Rev. C. A. Norcross of the West Glendale Methodist church, accompanied by Mrs. Norcross and the three boys, Willard, Ivan and Clarence enjoyed an outing in Lytle canyon in the San Bernardino mountains last week and are spending this week at the beach. Mr. Norcross will occupy his pulpit next Sunday.

The pastor of Casa Verdugo Methodist church, Dr. Julius Soper, accompanied by Mrs. Soper, Miss Maude Soper and Miss Powers, enjoyed his vacation at Huntington Beach where they attended the Epworth League Institute from July 14 to the 23rd. Since then they have enjoyed numerous short trips with their house-guests, Mrs. Chas. Davison and children, from Tokio, Japan.

Rev. C. Irving Mills of St. Marks Episcopal church, will take his vacation later in the season, announcement of which will be made.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the First Presbyterian church, will spend his vacation in Glendale, being actively engaged in preparation for the Billy Sunday campaign next month.

Rev. Vernon W. Cowser of First Baptist church, with his family are spending the vacation time at Santa Monica.

Dr. E. H. Willisford, of the First Congregational church, was obliged to return from his vacation on account of the serious illness of his daughter, Joy.

Rev. R. W. Mottern, of the First Lutheran church, has been so engaged with the erection and dedication of their new church building that with the exception of a short vacation attending the C. E. convention last month at Riverside, he has kept close to Glendale.

Rev. G. A. Snyder, pastor of the Seventh-day Adventist church, is attending the annual camp meeting in Los Angeles. Rev. Snyder and family are camping on the grounds for ten days. The camp meeting closes next Sunday.

ENTERTAIN MISSIONARIES

Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Mottern were the hosts at a most interesting house party over Sunday, when they had the pleasure of entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Newcomer, of Phoenix, Arizona, and Mrs. Dr. Chester, who has recently returned from India, where she has been closely associated with Pundita Ramba in her wonderful work among the women of India.

Mr. and Mrs. Mottern also will entertain the following most interesting guests this evening at dinner: Mrs. Dr. Harpster of Guntur, India; Miss Bingham, whose work has been among the American Indians, and Miss Planter, of Tunis, Africa.

The guests later will be the speakers at the special service at the First Lutheran church, Monday evening. This meeting will not begin till eight o'clock, giving opportunity for those who wish to attend the block prayer meetings to attend this meeting afterwards.

JOY WILLISFORD IMPROVING

Joy Willisford, who has been seriously ill for the past few days, is improving. The little girl has been a great sufferer. Her trouble has been diagnosed as ulcers of the stomach. She suffered four severe hemorrhages last Friday, but has had none since early Saturday morning. It is believed that her difficulty will yield to the careful nursing and efficient medical treatment which she is receiving. Dr. H. R. Boyer is in charge of the case.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Tuesday. Westerly winds.

ALLIED PEACE TERMS

SKETCHES OF REMODELED EUROPEAN MAP AFTER WAR AS AGREED TO BY ALLIES IS SHOWN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, August 6.—The Allies have come to a full agreement as to the remodeling of Europe's map after the war. Sketches showing the peace aims of these countries have been exhibited here at one of the embassies. It is intended to have such restoration tend to international peace for the future. The first condition is the restoration of Belgium, France to have Alsace-Lorraine. Constantinople is to be internationalized and the Turkish government's grasp in Europe loosened. The Grecian boundary is to be shoved north. Italy is to have Trent and Trieste and by the straightening of the northern boundary a small slice of territory across the Adriatic. Croatia and Bohemia will be made independent states. Poland is to be made an independent state, a buffer between Russia and Germany. It is proposed to divide Austria into two states. These Allied terms have not been subscribed to by the United States.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

GLOBE, Arizona, August 6.—John Marcuris, a United States trooper, is near death from a mystery attack made upon him while guarding mining property from strikers, near here. He was cut or struck with a sharp instrument. One soldier was killed three weeks ago in a similar manner. All Globe is aroused.

THREE KILLED IN ANTI-DRAFT RIOTS

RIOTERS' PLANS COVERED DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY AND MURDER TO LAST TWO YEARS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

HOLDENVILLE, Okla., August 6.—The death list in the anti-draft rioting which has held eastern Oklahoma in a grip of terror for the past three days reached three this morning, when J. S. Moore was shot and killed by a posse while he was guarding a road leading to this city. Two others were killed in rioting and several were seriously wounded. The rioters' plans were revealed to-day. They intended to burn bridges and seize trains; capture banks, destroy grain elevators, cotton mills and wealthy men's homes; and shoot every man who wears a white shirt. This was to be the start of a two years' nation-wide uprising.

KILBANE THROUGH MANAGER SAYS

NEW YORK, August 6.—Johnny Kilbane, according to Jimmy Dunn, friend and manager of the world's featherweight champion for a number of years, never will fight another battle. The words Johnny spoke when a friend of his was killed in an Ohio ring are about to come true. Kilbane promised then that he never would fight any more, but the lure of a fight with Freddie Welsh, then the world's lightweight champion, and the added inducement of a battle with Benny Leonard made him break over. Kilbane declared after the bout with Leonard that he would like to have another chance. In six months, he said, he would try again if Leonard would give him the opportunity. The probable truth, is however, that Kilbane has hung up his gloves for all time. There remains no creditable featherweight for him to battle; his ambition for conquering two boxing worlds has been stifled. He has made lots of money and saved it. There would be nothing surprising if he never fought again.

SOLDIERS MESS FUND

PLANS LAID TO COLLECT FOR LOCAL BOYS IN COAST ARTILLERY

At the Military Dance given last Saturday night in honor of the 36 young men who have been mustered into the service of their country in the 21st Cal. Coast Artillery, a plan was brought forward by Dr. Henry R. Harrower to start a Mess Fund for them.

In a brief speech Doctor Harrower explained that the change from home eating to army rations was not particularly pleasant, though the Army Quartermaster's Department sees to it that the grub is enough to sustain life. But meat (which forms altogether too large a part of the army ration) and the things that go with it soon pall upon the appetite and the soldier buys such "luxuries" as fruit and other things from a "mess fund" contributed by themselves or their friends. Sergeant Louis Lewis, who has charge of the mess, explained the need of the fund and how it would be used and a subscription was opened at the dance which indicates that even if Glendale is rather late in starting this, she will see to it that she is no whit behind her sister cities in this respect. In fact so far as we know ours is the only city which has not seen to it that a mess fund was collected.

The plan is to invite subscriptions from friendly-disposed citizens, the amounts to be paid in in three monthly installments to Mr. Dana Burkett of the Bank of Glendale, who has kindly consented to take charge of this. He will be glad to hear from any who will give a dollar, more or less, a month (for three months) and hopes to secure 75 or 100 dollars during each of the next three months. Do not wait to be importuned, but call up Glendale 145 or send in your check.

RETURN FROM AUTO TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Temple and Marjorie and Charles Temple, of 301 Orange street, returned Sunday evening from a most delightful auto trip which they have been enjoying for the past two weeks. Mrs. Temple says it was "a get-ready-quick" trip, as the plan was proposed by Mr. Temple at 1 P. M. and at 5 P. M. they were on their way to the Yosemite. A tour of the valley was made, stopping at the various hotels, then the party proceeded over the mountain range through the most magnificent scenery to beautiful Lake Tahoe. Here they found Mrs. H. P. Goodwin, who is making a lengthy stay at Tahoe, hoping to benefit her health. Mrs. Goodwin was delighted to see the Temples, who enjoyed their stay there very much. The party then toured the Sacramento valley making a brief stop at the old home in Monterey county.

COMPLIMENT HAGINS

A most delightful affair was the luncheon given Saturday by Mrs. Sarah Blatchley at her beautiful home, 228 South Central avenue, in honor of Mrs. Fred E. Hagin and daughters, Miss Fanny and Miss Edith Hagin. Mrs. Hagin and Miss Fanny are leaving for the east on Thursday.

The home was beautifully decorated, a pink and white color scheme being used. Pink and white lilies formed a most artistic centerpiece on the beautiful luncheon table where an elaborate course-luncheon was served. The afternoon was most pleasantly spent in conversation and music.

Mrs. Murman and Miss Fanny Hagin delighted those present with several piano selections. Rev. Fred E. Hagin was a most interesting visitor later in the afternoon.

Those enjoying this charming luncheon were Mrs. Fred E. Hagin, Miss Fanny Hagin, Miss Edith Hagin, Mrs. C. W. Dudley, Mrs. Maxwell, Mrs. Murman, Mrs. Lowinsky, and Mrs. M. S. Russell.

FRENCH CLASS TO AID RED CROSS

The French class, being formed by Mrs. Nanno Woods, will meet for the first time next Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock p. m., at 1222 Milford street. Four o'clock is selected as being in the cool of the late afternoon. Milford street is the first block north of First street, just west of Brand boulevard. Ladies are requested to bring note books and pencils. The lessons will cost 25 cents each, in courses of ten lessons. All money received will be divided between the Red Cross and British Ambulance Associations. One member of the class will be elected treasurer, to receive all fees and to disburse same.

MILITARY DANCE

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR GIVEN AT MASONIC TEMPLE FOR RED CROSS

Saturday evening some 250 persons spent a delightful evening at a Military Dance arranged by Miss Alice Frank and a corps of active Red Cross workers for the dual purpose of bidding farewell to the members of the 21st Regiment of the California Coast Artillery who entered the service of the country yesterday, and, incidentally, to add a little something to the funds of the local Red Cross Chapter.

The affair was a huge success, thanks chiefly to the skillful management of Miss Frank and her assistants. Dr. Harrower, chairman of the Red Cross Chapter, rendered invaluable service and inspired the committees with enthusiasm. The music was unusually good. The program was pleasing. The refreshments were fine! In addition to the usual number of dances, Mr. J. H. Braly, Chairman of the Glendale Chapter American Red Cross, spoke, Master James Bush sang two beautiful songs, "Laddie in Khaki," and a pretty little encore about a patriotic vegetable garden; and Miss Curtyn Engler, an accomplished professional dancer, gave two entrancing dance-solos.

Despite the fact that the expenses were heavy, for all soldiers and their ladies were admitted free, there will be approximately $20 to be turned over to the Red Cross by Mr. Dana Burkett, the treasurer of the occasion.

It is desired here to express appreciation to those who assisted in consummating the well-laid plans of the Chairman of Program and to thank them for enabling Glendale to complete the send-off to her soldier boys. PUBLICITY COMMITTEE.

THE LAST BAND CONCERT

On next Saturday evening will occur the last band concert for the present season given by the Glendale Municipal band. For the present year the city appropriated $360 to the band to be paid monthly, $30 per month and the band was to furnish 12 concerts for the benefit of the people of Glendale. The first of these concerts was given the latter part of May and the last will be given August 11. These weekly concerts have been largely attended, and highly appreciated. Prof. Hicks, the band instructor, has been untiring in his efforts to keep the music rendered up to a high state of efficiency. On account of a lack of financial remuneration it has been exceedingly difficult to hold the boys together, and especially has this been true the last few concerts. The claim has been that the thirty dollars per month paid for the service of the band scarcely does more than to pay room rent and pay for their music.

MILITARY EXEMPTION OR DISCHARGE

By Walt LeNoir Church

So many people are applying to the Chamber of Commerce for specific information regarding exemption and discharge, that it may be well to publish Section VIII, on page 5, of "Form 21, P. M. G. O., from office of Provost Marshal General, War Department—Bulletin of Information for Persons Registered—1917."

VIII "Ten Days After Filing Claim to File Proof."

Your claim of exemption or discharge must be filed within seven days of the day on which notice to you that you are called was posted and mailed. But after you have filed your claim for exemption or discharge you have ten days within which to file proof.

Bear in mind that the physical examination may render it unnecessary for you to file exemption or discharge application.

After you are examined by the Board at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, Thursday, August 9th, or Friday, August 10, you can then and there, if need be, file your application for exemption or discharge, and have (10) ten days thereafter to make the required proof. You can get all needed blanks and information August 9th or 10th.

GENUINE SUMMER TIME

With apologies for California climate it is fair to announce to the readers of the Evening News who reside a long distance from here that hot weather is the order of the program in Southern California at present. "More real hot weather than has been experienced for thirty years," say old settlers.

THE NATIONAL ARMY

Isn't it about time, now that the lists have been posted and the draft law is about to become operative, that the country adopted a fixed attitude toward the draft army—the National Army?

Hitherto the draft system has been looked upon with more or less suspicion, if not with actual hostility. Most Americans will admit that universal military service is the fairest and most logical method of raising armies; but our habit of thought in this country has been such that we find it hard to square practice with theory in a matter involving our precious creed of individual liberty.

We reach the period of the draft, then, with a somewhat unsettled feeling. This is an overseas war, not well understood in all its aspects, and many of us are still "leary" of forcing men to fight abroad. What we need most of all, if we are to give our national army proper moral and spiritual support, is an unswerving recognition of the gravity of this world crisis.

Germany will either defeat the world, forcing her terms upon it and forming a mighty empire which will provoke other wars; or she will confess failure of her scheme of domination and accept terms which will prevent war in future. The United States is committed to an overthrow of German military power as a menace to the liberty of all nations and to the well-being of our own. The American armies may be called upon for a last stand against Germany. Victory or defeat for the cause of liberty and what we call humanity may depend upon the quality of the National Army. And defeat of Germany as surely means the overthrow of other autocratic forces, including those within our own country. Verily, this is a war for democracy.

Now—is it a misfortune to be called to the country's service? Or shall the call be regarded in individual cases as a mere stroke of chance, to be accepted languidly, or grudgingly? Or shall it be taken as an honor?

Upon the manner of its acceptance depends the morale of the new army, the morale of the whole nation.

To regard national service as a misfortune is something new in American ways of thinking. A sort of defiant pride, a strong fighting spirit would seem more American.

The idea of the draft as a misfortune has been fostered by many careless newspapers and many short-sighted individuals. It has been customary with some to refer to the good fortune of those who "escape" the draft and to the calamity befalling those whose numbers were selected early.

That attitude must disappear if the National Army is to be anything better than a gathering of long-faced fatalists and sour-minded malcontents.

The members of the National Army are called because their country needs them, not because they are losers in a lottery. They are their country's hope—an army of soldiers—not a convention of beaten gamblers. They must feel so, and their friends, the other 99 millions must sustain them in their will-to-service.

There is in the world a condition which must be corrected. We fight for correction just as we would combat a world epidemic of plague. We want the strongest men for the fight.

Another point—the sooner the National Army falls into duty mood and the public gets behind the National Army, the sooner the country will reach that unity without which it is unable to accomplish even the overthrow of the internal evils which now beset us: the food and munition robbers, the congressional traitors, the alien enemy forces of unrest.

At this moment we as a nation are a disorganized, headless mass, shouting for what we want, but without the driving power of solid unity. We shall find that unity through our National Army, our people's army.

Every town, every home in this land is to be represented more or less closely in the National Army. That army doubtless will be supported as no army ever was supported before.—Boston Journal.

THE WOMEN ANSWERED THE BATTLE CRY OF FEED 'EM

When the American people become aroused they do not do things by half way measures as is clearly shown by the figures in the nation wide survey made by the National Emergency Food Garden Commission which has just been made public. The survey estimates the increase in the number of war gardens at 222 per cent. over last year with an estimated value of three hundred and fifty million dollars in the produce now growing. The Evening News takes a great deal of pride in this showing for it co-operated with the National Emergency Food Garden Commission of Washington by printing its garden planting lessons as first hand information for our readers. But the real credit should go to the readers of this paper and the readers of all other papers for they did the actual work. The people are willing enough and all they wanted was intelligent information.

Now the Commission is conducting a nation wide drive for the drying and canning of fruits and vegetables and this paper is co-operating to the extent of printing the lessons of instruction on these subjects. The commission of which Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Forestry Association, is the head is now doing a great service by sending throughout the country canning and drying manuals to any who send a two cent stamp. This is some job. It is costing the Commission a tremendous amount of money but it is doing a real patriotic service by providing clearly intelligent information stripped of all technicalities, for the housewife, who, now as always, is ready to do her bit to feed a soldier by providing and saving enough to feed one. Thus the Battle Cry of Feed 'Em is answered.

JUSTICE TO ALL

Complaints of governmental violations of the rights of individuals have been so frequent of late that the judicial proceedings in certain cases should have a wholesome effect. Justice Brandeis' action in granting permission to the two convicted anarchists, Emma Goldman and Alexander Berkman, to appeal to the United States Supreme Court demonstrates that we are not being arbitrarily ruled by a military caste; it also demonstrates that ours is still a government of laws rather than of men. Administrative officials and prosecuting attorneys are not having things wholly their own way; and no one, not even Emma Goldman and her companion, who once tried to assassinate Mr. Frick, can be railroaded to prison on a charge of sedition without the chance to appeal. The moral effect of such a demonstration is incalculable.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

TO SERVE BREAKFAST QUICKLY

Breakfast matters can be well outlined the evening before. The table should be set, potatoes sliced and put on the ice if one is going to have fried or creamed potatoes for breakfast, and chops or other meat on the ice ready for use. Oatmeal, if it is to be served, should be partly prepared the evening before, and the woman who has no gas stove for cooking should get an oil stove, if only a tiny affair with a couple of burners, as it will do quicker work in the "rush hour" than either a coal or wood fire.—Dallas News.

AGRICULTURAL LINES

Little Miss Muffet went out to rough it
 By working with spade and hoe,
 But when her tomatoes came up as potatoes
 Poor startled Miss Muffet said "Oh."

Little Jack Horner grows beets in a corner
 And corn that his neighbors can't beat.
 He's worked 'em all season and that is the reason
 His folks will have plenty to eat.

Sing a song of sixpence, father's growing rye,
 And squash and beans and other things we used to have to buy.

When the crops are gathered we'll all begin to sing:
 A Yankee gard'ner's better than a European king.

Little Bopeep has sheep to keep
 But how's she going to feed 'em
 Why simple enough, for she's raised garden stuff
 That'll make 'em all fat when we need 'em.

Little Bopeep is feeding her sheep
 On the tops of the greens she has grown.
 They eat cauliflower just six times an hour;
 They're the fattest young sheep ever known.

Little Tommy Tucker has for his supper
 Canned things and dried things and good bread and butter.
 Where did he get 'em Raised 'em himself
 And mother dear stored 'em away on the shelf.

Did this little pig go to market
 He did not. He worked with the hoe.
 So he doesn't need any roast beef,
 But fattens on things he can grow.

Will this little pig cry whee, whee, whee No. No. No.

There was an old woman who lived in a shoe
 Who had so many children she didn't know what to do;
 So she set 'em to work with the spade and the hoe
 And she'll feed 'em next winter on things that they grow.

GROW YOUR OWN SEED

"Seed raised somewhere else is not nearly so well adapted to your own local conditions as seed grown from plants which you have picked out as those which produce the most and best yields on your own land and under your own home conditions."

Such is the advice for the farmers of California given by the University of California College of Agriculture to the Committee on Resources and Food Supply of the California State Council of Defense.

The farmer who selects his own seed, so as to harness up heredity, assures himself a larger yield and a better product without any greater expense for cultivation, fertilization, or irrigation. The mere look of a seed is not the real test—the question is did it come from a plant which yielded a large crop, excellent in quality?

The only plants fitted to be the mothers of next year's crop are the plants which are the best in the field or garden, strong, healthy, and heavy-yielding.

Seed selection is particularly easy in the case of Indian corn, but it should be practiced also by the farmers of California for potatoes, grains, the annual forage crops, and for all the vegetables.

The farmer who does not select and grow his own seed is neglecting a modern agricultural method of tremendous importance.

STORING IRISH POTATOES

Irish potatoes can be stored in pits, root cellars, or above-ground, frost-proof storage warehouses. Small quantities, or even carload lots of potatoes are often placed in pits in the field when other storage facilities are not available. Immature potatoes can not be successfully stored for any considerable period even in the best of storages, and should never be pitted or buried. Well-matured tubers of either early or late sorts, if sound and in a dormant condition upon the advent of freezing weather in the autumn, may be kept until required for table use or for planting by pitting, storing in potato cellars, of which there are many designs, or in above-ground, frost-proof buildings.

IF YOU'VE GOT THE GOODS ADVERTISE

Merchants should read and ponder the story of the Scared Rabbit and the Lion in relation to their own business.

The Scared Rabbit overheard the Lion say to the Leopard: "I roar to advertise my presence, and all the other animals fear and respect me."

Thereupon the Rabbit sneaked away and when at a safe distance filled his lungs and did his best imitation of a Roar like that of the Lion.

The Rabbit thus made his whereabouts known to a Coyote, which caught him and ate him up.

Moral: If you haven't the goods, don't advertise.

P. S. If you've got the goods, roar as loud as you like.

JUDGE GRAHAM'S INSTRUCTIONS

Here are the instructions which Superior Judge Graham, chairman of the San Francisco defense council, issued to the lawyers composing the Draft Free Legal Aid Bureau which is helping claimants for exemption make out their papers.

1—Report for duty promptly. Don't let your private business interfere with this public service.

2—Treat everyone with consideration. Show every possible courtesy to mothers, wives, sisters and daughters seeking information. Regard every applicant as you would your own personal clients.

3—Be respectful to the selective service men. Don't assume that they are shirking responsibility. Let us have no repetition of the insulting conduct of the eastern exemption boards which in sending notices to draft eligibles, instructed each man to take a bath before appearing for physical examination. Respect selective service men. Show them the honor they deserve.

4—It is your duty to discourage the filing of questionable exemption claims. Likewise it is your duty not to put any impediment in the way of valid claims. Tell the men who have valid claims they are violating their duty if they do not make their claims.

5—Tell the people not to worry. The government will deal fairly and squarely with every man. Assure wives and mothers and sisters of selective service men that the government will not foreclose on the right of any man or woman who acts in good faith. Be patient. Be kind and remember that the services of the lawyers committee, and of court commissioners and of interpreters are absolutely free.

OPPOSES ANNEXATION TO L. A.

Tropico, Cal., August 4, 1917
Glendale News,
Glendale,
Calif.

Dear Sir: In the issue of July 12th, of the Tropic Interurban Sentinel appeared a letter signed by Mr. John A. Paine, favoring the consolidation of Tropico with Los Angeles, and as many residents of Tropico and Glendale are led to believe that the writer is connected with the local basket factory, on account of the name, I desire at this time to say that the policy of the Los Angeles Basket Company is against the city of Tropico consolidating with Los Angeles, but do favor the consolidation with Glendale.

The Company is considering at the present time the erection of a concrete fire proof warehouse on our property in Tropico, but there is a question whether the same will be built if Tropico is annexed to Los Angeles, for if we are to be subject to Los Angeles City ordinances applied to country property, it would be financially to our interests to move the plant into the manufacturing district of Los Angeles and consolidate our factories under one management, where we now own property, and save freight to Tropico and back to Los Angeles.

We believe that Tropico has everything to lose and nothing to gain by going into Los Angeles at this time. Very truly yours,
LOS ANGELES BASKET CO.,
HERMAN PAINE,
President and Manager.

FOOD DRYING SERIES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—In this article we outline some of Uncle Sam's ideas on drying methods for various products.

In drying sweet corn, select very young, tender corn and prepare it right after gathering. Cook in boiling water two to five minutes, cut kernels from cob with sharp knife, not cutting bits of the cob. Spread thinly on trays and place to dry. Stir it occasionally till dry. Dry in oven 5 to 15 minutes and finish drying in the sun. A pound of dried corn to a dozen ears is a good yield. After dry, pack in cartons a few days for conditioning.

Select string or snap beans in ideal table condition. Wash, remove stem, tip and strings. Cut or break into pieces 1-2 to 1 inch long. Or run them thru the slicer. Very young, tender beans will dry whole. Cut your beans rather than snap them. Thread them into necklaces on coarse, strong thread and hang over stove or in the sun. Dry young beans two hours, older ones three hours. Wax beans are dried in the same manner. Condition them as you do corn.

For lima beans, take them from pods, remove surface moisture and dry from 3 to 3 1/2 hours. This same method answers for other beans. It also includes cow peas or other field peas.

Dry young, tender okra pods whole. Older pods should be cut into 1-4 inch slices. These may be strung as with string beans and hung over the stove. If so dried, heat in oven before hanging up.

Peppers may be dried by splitting on one side, removing seed, drying in the air and finishing the drying in the drier at 140 F. A more satisfactory plan is to place peppers in biscuit pan in oven and heat until skin blisters, or steam until skin softens, then take out seed and dry at 110 to 140 F.

For beets and turnips, select young, tender, quickly grown ones. Wash, peel, slice about 1-8 inch thick and dry. Slice carrots lengthwise, avoiding those with large, woody cores. Parsnips, kohlrabi, celeriac and salsify are handled the same way.

Select mature onions, remove papery covering, cut off tops and roots, slice into 1-8 inch pieces and dry quickly. Store in a light-proof container to avoid discoloration. Leeks are so handled also.

Select well developed cabbage, remove loose leaves, split cabbage, remove woody core, slice with kraut slicer and dry. All these products should be conditioned.

For spinach, remove leaves from roots, wash carefully, slice and spread on trays and dry. Treat parsley the same way.

For beet tops, Swiss chard and celery should be in condition edible as greens. Wash carefully, cut both leafstalks and blade into 1-4 inch sections, spread and dry.

Choose young, succulent rhubarb. Don't use the leafblade. Prepare as for stewing, by skinning and cutting to 1-4 to 1-2 inch lengths.

Select sound, well matured Irish potatoes. Wash and boil or steam until nearly done. Peel and pass through meat grinder. Collect the shreds in layers on trays and dry until brittle. If toasted slightly in oven when dry the flavor is improved. Or you may boil, slice and dry. Handle sweet potatoes the same way. Or boil and slice.

Clean cauliflower, divide into small bunches, blanch six minutes, and dry 2 to 3 hours. Don't worry if it turns dark in drying. Handle brussels sprouts the same way, but add a pinch of soda to the blanching water.

For pumpkins and squash, select sound, grown specimens. Cut into strips, remove all seeds and softness around them. Cut strips into pieces and dry. Be sure to condition all these things.

Celery tops, parsley, mint, sage and herbs need not be blanched, but should be washed exceedingly well and dried in the sun or oven.

Early varieties and sweet apples are well adapted to drying. Use winter apples. These instructions apply also to pears and quinces. Peel, core, trim and slice 1-4 inch thick. Dip in weak salt water containing a teaspoonful of salt to 1 gallon water. Spread on trays and dry till tough and leathery.

Sort imperfect raspberries, spread selected berries on trays and dry. Not so dry they rattle. Stop drying when berries don't stain the hand when pressed. This applies to blackberries, huckleberries and dewberries.

Peaches are dried better when peeled. Remove stones, cut fruit in half or smaller and spread on trays, pit sides up. Turn over later.

Plums and apricots are not peeled but are pitted and halved and dried as are peaches. Select medium ripe plums. Small, thin flesh varieties are not suitable.

For cherries, remove stems and, if fruit is large, also pits. Spread on trays and dry. Small, black cherries can be dried whole. If they are seeded there will be a loss of juice.

Steadfast purpose shapes destiny and destroys doubts.

Daisy—Does that bracelet Charlie gave you make good music?

Marie—Music—how?

Daisy—Brass band, you know.

Luck refuses to hobnob with a man who never perspires.

ANOTHER "WAR BREAD"

Just as in Europe, the use of bread made from flour representing not less, approximately, than 80 per cent. of the wheat milled has been urged for this country. With every bushel of wheat so inestimably precious as it is at present, the saving between this and the flour as milled for our popular white loaf is appreciable. A still greater saving might even be effected, however, by combining a portion of cornmeal with the wheat flour. About 25 per cent. of cornmeal can be successfully used in bread-making, and the resulting product is both wholesome and delicious. The price of cornmeal is about one-half that of wheat flour, while in nutritive value it compares favorably. As a complete food it is somewhat deficient in protein and certain mineral elements, but, on the other hand, it is relatively richer in fat and starch. When combined with wheat flour—as in bread-making—the loaf produced gives us an economical and wholesome food, and its more general use at the present time ought not to be overlooked.

CHEERFULNESS

Learn to Laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn how to tell a story. A well-told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sick room. Learn to keep your own troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows.

Learn to Stop Croaking. If you cannot see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself. Learn to hide your pains and aches under pleasant smiles. No one cares to hear whether you have the earache, headache or rheumatism.

Don't cry. Tears do well enough in novels, but are out of place in real life. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. A good-humored man or woman is always welcome, but the dyspeptic or hypochondriac is not wanted anywhere, and is a nuisance as well.

Above All, Give Pleasure. Lose no chance of giving pleasure. You will pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that you can do, or any kindness that you can show to any human being, you had better do it now; do not defer or neglect it, for you will not pass this way again.—Anonymous.

MUNITIONS NOTE

On July 4, 1776, the Declaration of Independence was not the only event to occupy the attention of Congress. Among other business was the passing of a resolution that "the Board of War be empowered to employ such a number of persons as they shall find necessary to manufacture gunflints and . . . to apply to the respective Assemblies, Conventions and Councils of Safety. . . for the names and places of abode of persons skilled in the manufacturing of aforesaid and of the places in their respective states where the best flint stones are to be obtained, with samples of same."—Angur Idea.

NOT A BAD PLAN

"You can't get around the fact that counterfeiting money is a crime." "Certainly not." "But the average counterfeiter might give some valuable lessons in thrift." "How is that?" "He never spends more than he makes."—Whiteside Sentinel.

WRONG TIME FOR PRAYER

NO TYPHOID DEATHS IN THIRTY-TWO COUNTIES

There have been no deaths from typhoid fever during the first five months of the year in thirty-two counties of California, according to the California State Board of Health. These honor counties are Alpine, Calaveras, Colusa, Contra Costa, Del Norte, Glenn, Kings, Lake, Lassen, Madera, Marin, Mariposa, Mendocino, Merced, Modoc, Mono, Monterey, Napa, Nevada, Placer, Plumas, San Benito, San Luis Obispo, Shasta, Sierra, Siskiyou, Sutter, Trinity, Tuolumne, Ventura, Yolo and Yuba. The 74 deaths reported during the same period occurred in the remaining twenty-six counties. One-third of these deaths were in the large cities of San Francisco and Los Angeles, where about one-third of the population of the state is centered.

In spite of the good records made by these thirty-two counties, typhoid is about as prevalent this year as it was last year during the same period. If California is to maintain her good record in typhoid control, every county in the state must be active in the control of the disease within the county. The State Board of Health through its Bureau of Sanitary Engineering will aid any community in improving water supplies and sewage disposal. The Bureau of Communicable Diseases will investigate extensive typhoid outbreaks and will supply physicians with anti-typhoid vaccine, free of cost. With the facilities for control that are now available, it is inexcusable for any county to have a high typhoid rate.

This is the season when the disease begins to be most widely prevalent. Every case that is prevented now will help to lower the typhoid death rates for August and September, which are generally the highest of any months during the year.

GLANCES

WHEREVER people come together the air is full of glances and yet for the most part they are stolen, for the unwritten law in such cases is that one person shall not look openly into the eyes of another unless some mutual acquaintance has uttered the meaningless but extraordinary important words of introduction. Perhaps it is because custom demands that among strangers glances of shy appraisal or frank interest must be stolen that they are so intense, so furtive and, in the main, so interesting. The principal difficulty in learning about them from observation is, of course, that in order to observe one must of necessity steal a few glances. What one can learn in a brief glance, is little, but with practice it becomes greater, and a skilled observer, used to thinking quickly and to point about what he sees, can see and learn much without making a brazen nuisance of himself.—Indianapolis News.

GOOSEBERRY SOUP

Take two pounds of gooseberries, two quarts of water, two cupfuls of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, the yolks of two eggs and an inch stick of cinnamon. Wash the gooseberries and put them into a saucepan with the water and sugar. Add the cinnamon and boil until the fruit is reduced to a pulp. Then strain and thicken with the cornstarch, mixed to a paste with four tablespoonfuls of cold water. Simmer for five minutes, then pour over the yolks of the eggs, which have been in a soup tureen. Serve with rusks or wafers.

A half cupful of gooseberry preserves allowed to stand until rather dry will take the place of raisins in cake or pudding. Any rich sauce, if allowed to dry out partly, may be used in fruit drop cakes most satisfactorily.

CLEVER BOY

The fond mother of a smart boy on a Maine farm was making preserves one day, and as she sealed them up she labeled them thus: "Gooseberry jam, put up by Mrs. Mason."

Johnnie discovered the shelf on which they were deposited, and fell to work. Having emptied one of the jars, he took his school pencil and wrote underneath the label: "Put down by Johnnie Mason."

BOUND TO BE HEARD

"Why this sudden fondness for music?" "Well," replied Senator Sorghum, "in order to stay in the business, a statesman must be heard. My people don't pay any attention to my serious remarks, and they don't laugh at my funny stories. I guess it's up to me to take singing lessons."—Phyllander Johnson in Washington Star.

ALL PLANTS ONCE WILD

It would be interesting if we could know the history of the various fruits and vegetables that we eat. Of course, all of them—or, at least, their uncultivated ancestors—were once wild; just as we, or, at least, our savage forebears, were once wild. And, of course, the cultivated garden vegetables, many of them, bear no more resemblance to their uncultivated prototypes, some of them, than we do to the missing link or his immediate descendants.

BAG YOUR VEGETABLES

Muslin flour bags are excellent for keeping vegetables. Lettuce washed and put inside the bag, then placed on the ice, will keep cool and crisp a long time. Other vegetables, like cabbage, will keep longer than usual if placed in a bag that has been wrung out in cold water and hung in a cool though not a freezing place.

LUNCH MUFFINS

Mix two cupfuls of flour, one half-spoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and salt twice.

Beat two eggs separately until very light. Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of sugar in one cupful of milk, add three ounces of melted butter, stir in the eggs and flour and beat well. Bake about twenty minutes.

THE REAL MINUTE MEN
Every American ought to be a patriot these days.
A patriot is a man ready for duty any moment.
Men loaded with debts, men of slack habits and shiftless homes can never be the best patriots.
It's the paid-up man who is the minute man.
It's the paid-up man who's ready at the drop of the hat.
The paid-up man is never caught in a corner. His get-away route is always clear.
Be a paid-up patriot.
You can be a paid-up patriot by saving your money, keeping your slate clean of liabilities and comfortably filled with assets.
Money in the bank is always an asset. It's a strong stone wall at your back. It's something to start from.
Money in the bank puts pep into your system.
The nation needs paid-up patriots. The nation needs men ready for duty on a minute's notice.
If you've never done it before, start to-day to be a paid-up patriot.
Begin a bank account. Save down to the last red copper, and tote your savings to the bank.
Be a paid-up patriot and get a start to-day!—Rialto Record.
Government financial requirements make prohibitionist assaults on liquor and liquor revenues unpatriotic, we are told. Logical deduction is that the man with the biggest thirst is the best patriot and all of us should drink all the booze we can to increase the government revenues.
