most part, too low, to ensure the selection of competent individuals.

Various amendments to the Black Code are recommended, in order that humanity and self-protection may go hand in hand. Negro sreal-ing it is urged, should be made a capital crime. This branch of the subject brings the Governor naturally to the Wilmot Proviso, against which he launches most indignan; philippies. The following passage will give the reader an idea of the ione and gentiments of the message on this point:

Feeling, as I do, the incalculable value of the Union, for that purity of equality handed down to us by the great aposities of liberty that formed it is entertaining with arder and sincerity, a feeling of horror at all alternate by one action or hote Union to violate the rights of another; and cherishing the spirit of liberty and equality, actual and positive, in government, above and far beyond unequal laws and odious oppression, I may be permitted here to realign the sentiments with which I went before the People of the State, in the late election, as containing my opinion that further aggression is not to be caudiered, and, if attempted by the Federal Government, must be repelled, all anicable means being first exhausted, by all the power, morel and physical, at the command of the State.

The message is very well written, but of most disproportionate magnitude and superfluous of the tone and sentiments of the message on
