So ended the foreword left to us to continue
In the nineteen forty-four yearbook.
The time is indeed now,
We who were stunned by the enormity of war
Realize that life, in death, goes on . . .

Four wars have swept the campus.
Four generations of students like ourselves
Have faltered in their stride, have learned again,
Day passes into day and life goes on.

TIME IS NOW

Students in skirts, students in uniform, students whose life has been harassed by a war.
We had been trained not to expect to Fight in war as we have fought in peace:
For liberty, for justice, for the intelligent mind
Which creates its freedom and Defends it.

In the microcosm that is Carolina,
In this universe which reflects the tortuous choices of the world,
We learn to govern first ourselves and then
Our land, our society, our time;
We who look forward to a world
Ours to make less evil in war or peace,
Who will earnestly deny fear.

To wrest from this era something more than
A vacuum surrounded by a war . . .

Selah . . .

Ericson

Here is a man
With his feet on the ploughed field
And his eyes scanning the far reaching horizon,
Ink on his index finger . . .

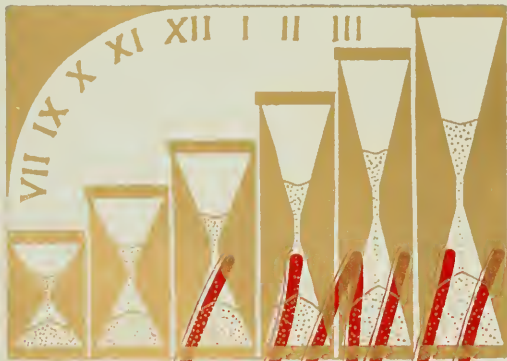

Here is a scholar, world authority on
The Old English sæc, which has become in Modern English the expression as . . . as—
Who knows more about that word than any living human being on the face of the earth.

Here is a teacher
Who has wandered over the earth,
who has taught
In China as in North Carolina:
Liking us, his hearers, as individuals and respecting us as students
So that we respect ourselves.

Because, Dr. Ericson, you are to us
A friend,
The staff of the 1945 yearbook join in its dedication . . .

To You ...

UNIVERSITY

JANUARY 16, 1795 . . .

It was raining on that opening day . . . Dawn was slowly coming to New Hope Chapel . . . The drizzling and gelid rain . . . That fell upon the stumps dotting the avenue . . . Marked a tradition as old as the red clay . . . Freshly dug for the foundation of the chapel . . . The wind blew cheerlessly through leafless Davie Poplar, . . . Whistled around the staunch corners of Old East. . . The only building of the University . . . Except the unpainted house . . . Of Dr. David Ker, the presiding professor . . . Prepared with the valiance and courage . . . That his Presbyterian faith had given him. . . . Not a student arrived. . . . Solitude—Dr. Ker, Old East—and the rain.

February 12, 1795 . . . A weary figure reached the University . . . 200 miles on foot he had come . . . From North Carolina's own Wilmington. . . . No Sophomores and Upper-classmen to hail him. . . . Hinton James, the first member . . . Of the University of North Carolina. . . . First student, first honor-man of his class. . . . Destined to be a herald of education . . . To follow knowledge . . . To be a legislator in 1807 . . . A few acres—stumps—red clay—two buildings. . . . And faith that a University would be established. . . . Dedicated to truth. . . . The Alma Mater of North Carolina.

... JANUARY 16, 1945

One hundred and fifty years—the bell rang out the hour . . . For five thousand military and civilian students. . . The huge plant, once an avenue of fresh stumps . . . Now embraces 1638 acres . . . Sixty-six buildings instead of two . . . These institutions have developed . . . To meet the needs in training for citizenship and war. . . One of the leading Universities of the nation. . . Rating high in graduate work and natural sciences. . . The Rural Economics Department . . . Has established an accurate fact finding bureau. . . The Institute of Government, School of Public Health . . . Have furthered honor and prestige of the University. . . The athletic program, builder of men. . . Established competition between Duke and Carolina. . . Thirteen lost, thirteen won—football . . . Continues—in wartime. . . Twenty months before the tragedy of Pearl Harbor . . . 1875 Cadets enrolled in the Pre-Flight Program. . . Navy moved to the “HILL” . . . V-12’s—Pre-Flights—R.O.T.C.’s . . . Sprinkled by civilians—coeds . . . Coeds nearly 1000 strong. . . Student-run government renders . . . Valuable experience. . . The newest planned building. . . A bus station to save congestion—in going . . . And coming to the Alma Mater.

... SOUTH BUILDING—Mighty and massive—sound in its advice and square in its campus policy.

CENTERS OF CAROLINA

... A different side of our administration building—warm and cheerful—showing the traditional Old Well.

... THE LIBRARY—Maybe not the most frequented but one of the most appreciated spots in our academic moments.

... GRAHAM MEMORIAL—Our Student Union where anything and everything goes including political intrigues, some good hard work, and fun on the side.

... ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

... BOARD OF TRUSTEES

What is the General Alumni Association, you ask?
 It is the organized alumni
 Through which . . . may be best expressed
 And made positive . . . the loyalties to Alma Mater of 34,432 living former students.
 Maintained by the Association in Chapel Hill
 Is the Alumni Office at the Carolina Inn
 . . . where are kept myriads of records.
The Alumni Review, contains now in each issue
 hundreds of items about the University's 8000
 Former students who wear their country's uniform.

What do the alumni think of Carolina, you ask?
 "Our University," they say,
 "Represents what we are fighting for."
 Alumni look Chapel Hill-ward
 From every corner of the globe.
 Messages come from them expressing admiration
 . . . that despite the sunrise to sunset concentration,
 Planes overhead and "hup-two-three-four" underfoot,
 The spirit of Carolina is unchanged.
 Alumni look to the University
 . . . for still greater achievement
 As an educational institution
 In the 150 years to come.

Legally, the University of North Carolina
 Is the Board of Trustees, "in whom,"
 Reads the State Constitution, "shall be vested
 All the privileges, rights, franchises and endowments"
 of the University.
 The legislature in joint session—elect twenty-five Trustees;
 The Governor is chairman of the Board.
 Trustees, in turn, elect an Executive Committee
 Of twelve, which has power of the full Board
 Between semi-annual or call meetings.

One hundred and fifty years ago
 The first Board of Trustees
 Recognized that for free government
 Free education is necessary.
 They wanted a university that would "Serve the time without yielding to it."
 It has not yielded.
 And as a State university, Carolina
 Enjoys a closeness to the heart
 And ambitions of North Carolina.
 Hospitable also to students who come
 From across its borders.

DR. FRANK PORTER GRAHAM . . .

Melted into the campus and student body
Is faith, good will, integrity, understanding
And democratic principles.
Here is the man who incited these ideals and cooperation
For peace and harmony in living on the "Hill."

To them has fallen the decisions
 That day after day have to be made
 In order that our lives
 . . . At Carolina
 Should not be in vain.
 Plans, schedules, organization, meetings
 . . . Routine, but all important
 For maintaining the academic status quo,
 Order and cooperation among civilians and military.
 To them we owe our established phases of life.
 Without their hard work and foresight
 . . . Our daily college existence
 Would result in confusion.
 Individually, they have given us laughs and ideas
 That have helped us to look up and out.

Director Ripley Instructs a Coed of 1917

“LOOK

October—the richest of all
The seasons for harvest and returning
To home again.
Such was the reception
At the Hill
For the movie camera on October 22,
When scenes were shot for the production

Which tells the story of a Carolina man
Thomas Wolfe, a student
Of North Carolina twenty-five years ago.
His first book, “Look Homeward, Angel,”
Received and still receives acclaim;
And to further immortalize the characters,
The philosophy, the message,

Hollywood Comes to Chapel Hill

HOMeward ANGEL"

A film is being made . . .
 Released by United Artists, produced by Raoul Pagel,
 And directed by Arthur Ripley.
 They came to Chapel Hill . . .
 Bringing lights, cameras, costumes, and technicians.
 Bringing no extras or stars.

The call rang out,
 "All those wishing to star in a movie . . ."
 The clatter of heels, excited feminine eyes . . .
 High shoes, middies, bow ties . . .
 High hats and short pants . . .
 A young blond extra
 Hailed by a friend, who liked the effect
 Of her hair piled high on her head.
 The bell rang . . . one more exam over . . .
 The Y . . . a mad scramble for cokes.
 Ready for the philosophy class shot,

"Bring on the coeds . . . O. K., next!"
 Action spoiled by
 The unexpected flow of cadets from classes.
 Forest Theatre, usually so full of lonesome crickets,
 Became a bustle of people and song,
 "Hark the Sound."
 Other shots were taken round the Hill and Durham.
 On to Asheville the company moved
 For Wolfe's own home . . .
 The students felt proud, their chests expanded
 To know that here he walked, talked and found himself
 Through the sound of other Tar Heel voices.
 That helped create a voice
 That echoes from his first success,
 "Look Homeward, Angel,"
 Until his death at early thirty-seven
 And far into the years beyond.

THE FEBRUARY GRADUATING CLASS OFFICERS

After the late June graduation
Senior memories of Carolina
Will be carried to the corners of the world.
Some of these memories are those that every Tar Heel knows:
The Arboretum in the Spring,
The before and after-the-game
Sessions at Harry's and the Porthole, Singing "Hark the Sound" with as much pride after losing to Duke
On Thanksgiving as after beating them on the hardwood,
The snake-dances and "Beat Duke!"
The chimes when everything was still,
Saturday night dances
 minus big-name bands,
 . . . which seemed incidental,
Hell week and exam weeks,
Both in which we caught plenty of it,

Senior walk and all its moods.
We called it the Battle of Chapel Hill.
We were Seniors . . .
We were different . . .
We were Marines and V-12's,
Navy R.O.T.C. and veterans,
Coeds and civilian men,
We were Tar Heels . . .
The Navy and Marines turned the frat houses
Back to the student body in November,
And Navy and Marines were pledged.
Military students held high student offices,
Coeds got later curfews
 for musters with the military.
Many of us graduated in March.
We leave Carolina for parts unknown.
We didn't dwell on the old Carolina days,
We didn't envy our peace-time successors.
We leave the Carolina we have known.

••• Carolina's 150th Anniversary

... Fraternity songs echo at Hogan's Lake.

... Tea and Carolina chatter on the intellectual side.

... This shot doesn't need a rutline!!

... We didn't beat Duke, but we had a helluva good time.

... Grail initiation—stripes and satin.

Time for FUN at

Carolina

... We heard her
sing to the music of Clyde Lucas.

AND HERE'S
EIGHT REASONS
WHY!!! —

... N.R.O.T.C. Beauty Ball

... We can't count—here are nine reasons why.

... Beat Dank pep rally—the beginning of the end.

... The stagline sidetracked for a moment.

... That fascinating but forbidden sun roof.

... Kenan even more impressive with a dress review.

... Quick tracks to the Y.

"Undergrads" this year was a reality.
We weren't Juniors, Sophomores, Freshmen
. . . except in the South building files.
Some of us—Freshmen in plaid jackets
Returned as Sophomores in Gob suits.
500 of us were coeds,
. . . transfers from all over.
Coeds and civilians said, "Carolina is different."
V-12's said, "Carolina is different."
We all felt at home.
Freshmen rat caps weren't seen,
We were undergrads, not underdogs.
We joined fraternities and sororities,
We measured Franklin Street
. . . with a fish,
And even let Duke burn the bonfire.
But we were important
In this year at Carolina.
We were council and staff members,
Tar Heels, Blue Dolphins, White Phantoms.

We debated compulsory fized,
We had legislature difficulties,
We wrote letters to the Tar Heel
. . . complaining and complimenting.
We lived:
In classrooms and out . . .
On the second floor of Graham Memorial,
In the lounging rooms at the "Y,"
Downtown and around . . .
In the reference room of the library,
On the gravel paths in the springtime,
In forums and bull sessions,
With our feet under a desk
. . . or a table,
At Kenan Stadium and Woolen Gym,
The Tin Can and Fetzer Field,
We walked in the rain.
We were the Undergrads
With much behind us
. . . and more to come.

The UNDERGRADUATES

... Pharmacy School banquet a gala affair.

... Ambitious lawyers of the future studying in their well-equipped library.

... Pharmacy lab about to be blown up.

... Pharmacy students and faculty alike relax at playing Easter bunnies.

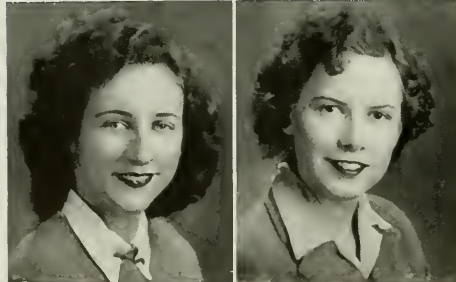

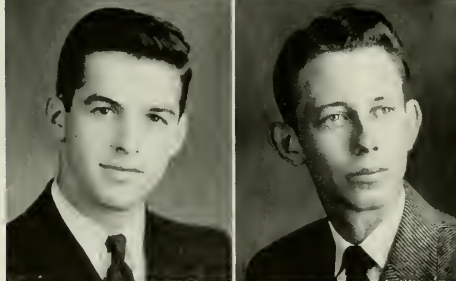

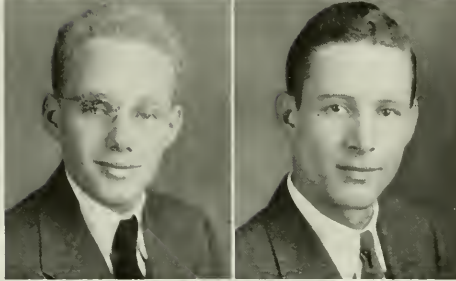

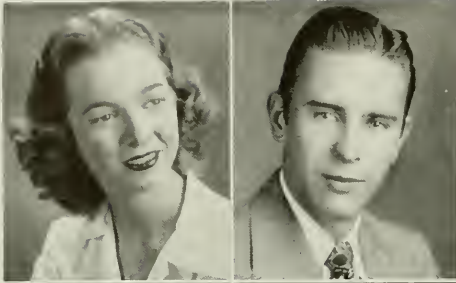

... An airview of the modern Med Building.

The prospective young doctors, pharmacists,
And promising young lawyers
Have each practiced the separation of powers;
Have specialized in their professional training
Working apart so that they may work
Together for the benefit of all mankind.
Hours and years of preparation, money, sacrificing
A little sweat and a grim determination
To make the grade, to complete the task.
To face the now-peaceful horizon with new hope,
New illumination, new desires, new knowledge,
New faith,
With several rounds of the ladder to go,
To continue study and research outside Carolina's doors.
Old Manning Hall stands

Confused about all the things which war has brought
Within its "lawful" doors.
On its second floor
U. S. Navy Pre-Flight school trains men
In Aviation identification courses.
Downstairs comes the phrases: "res ipsa loquitur, quare, clausum fregit and quid pro quo."
The gray, somber building of Pharmacy
Awaiting the students with its organic odors
To the remote and far away
Med Building trudges the ambitious med student
To study, to experiment, to exert drudgery, perseverance and love of profession
The med students and faculty anxiously await the construction of a four year med school.

Professional

SCHOOL OF

The day was hot, spring was here with the blooming flowers and "sleepy" classes.
The fellows mopped their brows,
The girls rushed to the "Y" to refresh themselves
Before making a "B" line to the Pharmacy Building
That gray, somber building
That awaited the students with its organic odors.
"Labs!"
Gripe the P.D.C. 4Fs and gals
Yet the periods whereby the P school family
Becomes acquainted.
The favorite subject
" 'Tis easy to guess,
Dr. Burlage's famous Quiz Course No. 88!"
Susie, with the springing joints and intact bones
Is the S.P. of all the guys
The silent gal, whose figure speaks for itself.

The same opinion is expressed
 That Dean Beard and Mr. and Mrs. Smith are to be Repeatedly commended for their tireless efforts
 And attention directed toward the school of Pharmacy.
 This year, a total of 39 were graduated in March and December.

With another class in August.
 The Pharmacy dance and the banquet of Phi Delta Chi
 Kept the social wheels running smoothly.

THE PHARMACY SENATE

Founded in 1940 by Dr. E. A. Brecht,
 Assistant Professor of Pharmacy,
 The Pharmacy Senate is now in its sixth year
 of activity.
 Though youngest of its fellow organizations
 in the School of Pharmacy,
 It has earned a reputation for leadership.
 It is the purpose of the Pharmacy Senate to promote inter-class friendship and cooperation within the School of Pharmacy.
 This is accomplished by a free discussion of the various, current, professional problems.
 Membership is limited to thirty active
 members,
 Who must maintain membership by active participation in each meeting.

Since the beginning of the war 40,000 lawyers or 25 per cent of all the lawyers have been called into the armed services. Older men carry on in courts having shorter and shorter dockets each year. In 1940 the enrollment was over 100 in Law School. Now the student body is 15. In the former reading rooms of the library the law faculty holds forth. On the second floor of the Law Building U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School trains men in aviation Identification courses. Downstairs comes the phrases: "res ipsa loquitur, quare clausum fregit and quid pro qup." Upstairs men are giving split-second identification of P-38s, Corsairs, Mitsubishi, and jet-propelled planes. Old Manning Hall stands just as it always has. It is probably confused about all the things which war has brought within its doors.

SECOND YEAR MED STUDENTS

The prospective young doctors waited for the Assembly of North

Carolina to vote on a Bill

Very anxious they were as was the state at large.

The Medical Care Bill which authorized a four year medical school at the University.

And provided for a 400-bed hospital in Chapel Hill or other part of the state
Plus giving financial aid to needy medical schools upon

Guarantee that they would practice four years in the state that ranked low in physicians and hospital facilities.

The bill was passed with a slight amendment, which permitted a survey.

However,

The four-year school is just around the corner.

THE GRADUATE SCHOOL

Judith Joyner, Genie Bisset, Julia Ward, Albert V. Coble, Madie Belle Ward.

During the year 1944-45 the total registration for the Graduate School was 313. For the first time in Carolina's history the number of women students outnumbered the men. (193 women, 120 men.) Students with bachelors' degrees came from 160 institutions and those with masters' degrees from 40 institutions. Many came from other countries to study in the advanced fields of public health, English, physical education, chemistry, history, and many other departments ranging from comparative linguistics to social work.

Graduate courses are offered in cycles, following a sequence of three years, in order that students may secure logical and evenly balanced programs of study.

BEHIND THE SCENES . . .

Just before the curtain rises.

"Sweeter as the days went by."
Those are the words of our hearts
As we permit our minds to flood
With the passing parade of 1944-45
Activities at Tar Heel University.
What contributed to our treasured
Moments, hours and weeks spent here?
Labor, sweat, headaches, and tears,
Hours of thought and midnight oil.
There were moments of trial, disillusionment, excitement,
happiness;
There were times when we sought guidance;
On the other hand, we were never willing
For our freedom to be jeopardized.
Through our student government, or organizations
Our academic work and creative arts,
We are developing a symmetry from our personalities,
In short, we are "shipshape,"
Ready for our journey on the billowy seas of life!

That cup of coffee which makes an eight o'clock endurable.

All agreed—a necessary evil.

...ndi's deslthness—
more reason for Yack's delay.
...y men shooting the breeze
the "Scuttlebutt."

Tar Heel goes to press.
The press box cooking up
1944 football thrills!!

Y.W.C.A. educating new coeds to fun.

I'm broadminded—how about you?

...arlie, a Chapel Hill character, behind the usual counter liquid spicing!

The life or death of a party.

CHARLIE FRANK BENBOW, JR., President.

STUDENT

Carolina students have one of the oldest and at the same time one of the most liberal and responsible self-governments to be found on a collegiate campus. This government has evolved slowly but definitely through many decades from absolute faculty control to its present form only because of a greater feeling of responsibility on the part of each succeeding student generation with the ever increasing desire to control and govern itself to a greater extent. Thus,

BILL CRISP, Vice-President

JENKS TRIPP, Secretary-Treasurer

GOVERNMENT

today, our student government is truly self-governing, in practice as well as in name, and, as such, is the most highly prized possession of every Carolina student.

The student body, through its various democratically elected groups regulates general campus life, edits its publications, controls its dances and other forms of entertainment, and determines how its own self-imposed fees shall be spent, as well as establishing and enforcing its own standards of honor.

Being free of written constitutions, strict rules, and confining laws, students are required only to act always as befitting a Carolina gentleman and so have the invaluable privilege of being able to live and develop their lives during their University days according to their own wishes, yet observing the rights of others to do likewise, always with the knowledge that they are mutually respected as men of honor.

GOVERNMENT . . .

STUDENT

... DOUGLASS HUNT, Speaker

Now eight years old, the growing legislature
 Has supreme legislative authority on the campus;
 It has regulatory power over all other student agencies.
 "Legislation without representation?"
 Never at Carolina! It is composed of
 One representative from each women's and men's dorm;
 Two women-at-large; six members held over
 From previous year's legislature; one representative
 From Pan-Hell; one representative, Inter-Frat Council;
 Six representatives from Town Girls' Association;
 One representative from Law School; one representative
 From Pharmacy School and one graduate representative
 at large;
 The speaker is elected by the campus
 At large in spring elections.

First Row: A. B. Smith, Ed Gaither, Kitty Kelly, Douglass Hunt, Jennie Edel, Travis Hunt, Jack Ranzenhofer. . .

Third Row: Tommy Slayton, Tom Robinson, Bob Lipton, Charlie Fulton, Charlie Warren, Betty Lou Cypert, Allan Pannill.

LEGISLATURE

... Hunt during a session of the Legislature.

... KITTY KELLY, Parliamentarian

The body meets bi-weekly on Thursday evening at 8 p. m.
When business is heavy, meetings are held weekly.
The law making body will take a vacation
When the rest of the University ceases academic activity.

... Legislature
in action.

WOMAN'S GOVERNMENT

... Jean Rankin,
president Women's Government.

... Coeds pledging their loyalty to the Carolina Honor Code.

This year the Honor Council has stressed
The Honor Code and its observance.
Members of the honor council compelled
The girls to know and to use it.
The Personality Council was established
By the council. Three nights with helpful
Speakers and excellent training furnished
The new officers of coed organizations
For next year with enthusiastic spirit and concrete Ideas with which to make them alive and progressive.
The Banquet at Carolina Inn,
Installing W. G. A. officers, expressed
The wielding influence of the coeds on a campus
Where some years ago she was a "lone angel."

ASSOCIATION

Due to resignations and matrimony,
The officers of W. G. A. have seen a mighty turnover,
But the present and former ones score "thumbs up"
From all the other coeds on campus.
In addition to trying honor cases, defending,
Upholding the Honor Code, the Honor Council
Plans and executes the orientation program
In the summer and autumn.

... Talking it over!

WOMAN'S

Kitty Kelly . . . Speaker of the Coed Senate.

Meeting the WGA candidates.

The members of 1945 Coed Senate
 Completed their work with a high record
 Of unity and efficiency.
 Revision and simplification of the W. G. A.
 Constitution;
 Eleven o'clock dorm closing hour;
 Functioning of the W. G. A. during the summer;
 Election of Speaker of Coed Senate by action of all coeds;
 These and many more legislative matters have confronted the Senate.
 Social rules, coed elections,
 Officer training, coed dances, and the coed hour.
 Through its monthly meeting sponsored by the senate

SENATE

As a unified body; the organizations see
Their purpose clearly
In building better women for the post-war world.
Thus the youngest branch of the student government
Has acted, planned and has not sat passive;
Within their power is the drawing up of the W. G. A.
budget,
Passage of all expenditures of women's government.
It is their duty to bring about the necessary amendments
Of the W. G. A. Constitution,
To supervise all coed elections
And to improve personality, cooperation and democracy
In women's government.

... The Senate plays hostess.

... "A" students on women's government quiz.

... The Coed Ball

GRAHAM MEMORIAL BOARD OF DIRECTORS

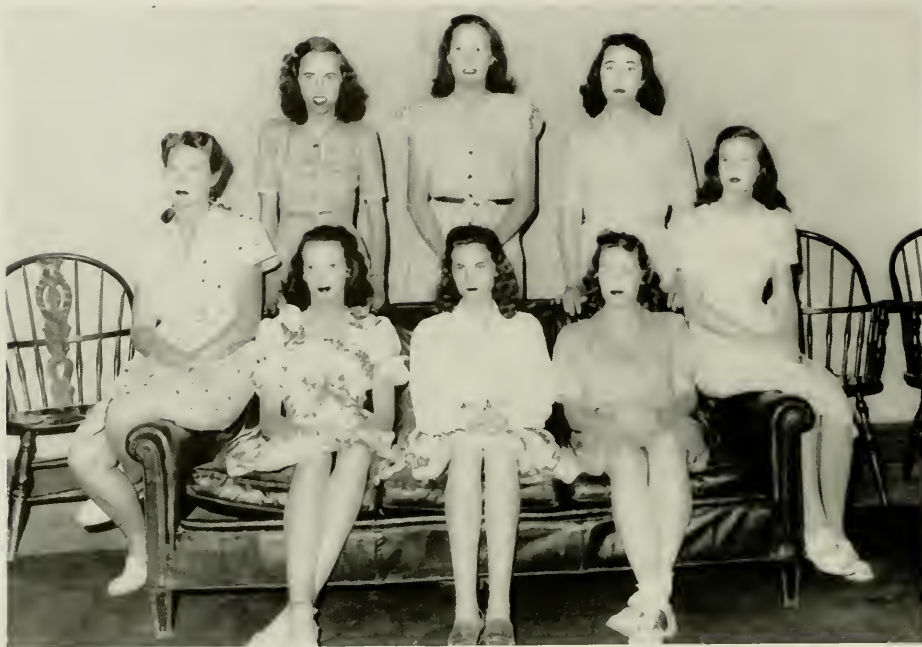

FLOYD GILLIS, OTT BURTON, CHARLIE FRANK BENBOW, HARVEY WHITE, MR. CATE.

Historically the Student Audit Board was organized
 To keep the records of all student organizations
 That received student fees, used University property
 For the acquisition of funds, or voluntarily put itself
 Under its jurisdiction. Out of it grew
 Mrs. Cate's office and the present set-up for student organization accounting.
 Its present functions are purely supervisory and advisory.
 Membership consists of the president of the student body, chairman,
 Two students and two faculty members.
 The Faculty members are Dean Mackie, Mr. Peacock, and Mr. Woosley.
 Student members for the past year were C. F. Benbow, Floyd Gillis and Ott Burton.

CHARLIE FRANK BENBOW, President

STUDENT AUDIT BOARD

Seated: Margaret Merton, Margaret Parsons, Tharon Young, Betty Don Sweat, Rosalind Davidson.
Back Row: Martha Dixon, Mildred Gulick, Carole King.

The W. I. C. is comprised of the dorm presidents
 And the sorority house managers,
 And now has a membership of twelve.
 It interprets social regulations,
 Recommends changes in these regulations to the Senate,
 Supervises the Judicial House Councils.
 It sponsors open houses for the Pre-Flight Cadets
 And V-12 students in one of the dorms or sorority houses.
 Permanent changes in social rules are recommended to the Coed
 Senate
 A provision is made for the election of Junior representatives
 From each dormitory to the Legislature.
 Through these activities the council has made an effort
 To better relations between sorority and non-sorority girls,
 And to contribute to the welfare
 Of the women students of the University.

WAR COORDIN

In addition to special drives
 This board adopted several year-round projects.
 Representatives of the board conduct
 Salvage drives and teach first aid.
 They encourage students to roll bandages, and
 Have fun hostessing at the U.S.O.
 At eleven every Tuesday.
 The representative of Uncle Sam offers
 The opportunity of buying another share of freedom
 In form of war stamps and bonds
 All these activities are supplemented
 By the annual tuberculosis seal campaign
 And the World Student Service fund drive.
 Almost $1,000 was collected this year in the latter.
 For the 6th War Loan drive
 Coeds volunteered to sell stamps
 In the "Y." To the patriotic went a kiss.
 The "Miss Victory" campaign of the 7th War Loan Drive
 And the Victory Ball, Miss X was quite a handsome male!
 To the War Coordination Board goes credit
 For helping Tar Heels return home sooner.

SENATE

Following its long tradition of providing Carolina
 With able student leaders
 Continues to furnish the campus with competent
 Student officers,
 And provide incentive in student affairs.
 Last February, the Senate inspired the campus
 In two worthy projects,
 An orientation booklet for every registered student
 At Carolina and a complete Student Constitution,
 Materializing under auspices of a Legislative Committee.
 Di Senators have ascended to positions
 Of leadership at Carolina.
 Bill Crisp, thrice elected President of the Di,
 Became President of University Debate Council,
 Chairman of C.P.U. and Vice-President of the Student Body.
 Kitty Kelly, once President Pro-Temp of the Di
 Was an outstanding leader in Woman's Government.
 Other leaders in campus affairs and members of
 The Senate were Rene Bernard, Charles Fulton, and Bob Morrison.

PUBLICATIONS . . .

PUBLICATIONS UNION BOARD

To completely supervise the financing and administration
Of the three student publications—

The Tar Heel,

The YACKETY YACK,

And the Carolina Magazine—

Is the chief purpose of the Publication Union Board.

It appoints and fixes the salaries of all

Business Managers and other officers except the elected
Editors;

Makes all contracts for printing and engraving;

Controls expenditure of all publication funds;

Promotes cooperation between the publications.

There are five members on the Board.

Three students are elected by campus-wide vote

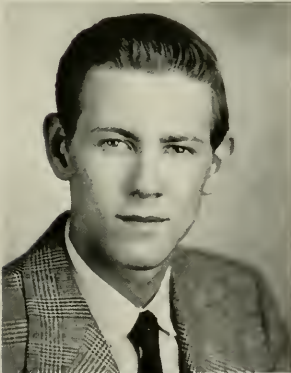

Of the Publications Union, which is composed of every student at the University.

The Dean of Administration appoints the two faculty
members

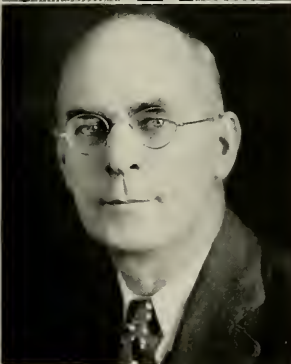

For staggered two-year terms.

A financial adviser from the faculty also sits with the Board
But has no vote.

In order to give you a 1945 YACK
 Tense, hair twirling "executives"
 Worked through baseball games, sweet spring
 Life in the Arboretum, pre-flight receptions . . . and such things.
 We kept yelling, "Come on in, the water's fine!"
 But we had trouble inducing people to swim along
 With us so late in the season.
 Some bright somebody said that the only thing
 That doesn't change is change—
 With which we heartily agree considering
 How many deadlines we've missed, not to mention
 Losing an editor at a crucial point,
 And other necessary staff adjustments.
 Little war-time problems brought moments of . . . well, moments.
 Paper and man power shortage, no film, and incidentally . . .
 no cigarettes.

A few times late at night when type looked dim
 And snapshots particularly ridiculous
 These same "executives" eyed inviting waste baskets.
 One night when nothing looked good but . . . the Carolina moon
 We put the baby to bed, and with
 Exalted benzedrinitus we had our first sleep
 In months without little gremlins sitting on
 The bed cheering in rhythm, "YACKETY YACK Boom Bah."
 We locked our typewriters and threw the ribbons away.
 You just can't always be patriotic!

The Tar Heel remained
 During this school year
 The only medium which bound together
 Our perpetually emotional and changing campus.
 Three editors,
 One seaman, one female, and one marine,
 Guided the news sheet through regimes
 Punctuated by national, state, and local incidents,
 Directly affecting the University.
 Horace Carter was the albeit, last of the old guard
Daily Tar Heel in control
 Wrote F.D.R., and his "30" in the spring.
 Muriel Richter filled Carter's unexpired term
 During the summer,
 Charles H. Wickenberg, Jr., U.S.M.C.R.,
 Was elected to the editorship
 Four months after leaving the Fleet.
 With Fred Flagler as Managing Editor
 Resumed a definite course,
 Lashed the student body for their complacency
 Abetted reorganization for "Return to normalcy,"
 Won Associated Collegiate Press First Class, excellent, award
 And in five months kept the campus on its toes,

The third coed editor in two years!

Until December under the editorship of Shirley Hartzell

And literary editorship of Dave Hanig

The Mag depended on the contributions of regular staff members.

After Christmas, the literary editor's post fell to Mike Beam.

And the managing editorship was handled by Bob Lax,

Who brought new makeup ideas with him.

Combining features, poetry, prose, jokes, and fiction

The Mag attempted to effect a balance

Between a strictly humor magazine and serious literary publication.

Pin-up pictures and feature articles of outstanding

Campus personalities remained;

A plan was made to include one unpublished article in each issue by a famous resident Chapel Hill writer.

MAGAZINE

Noel Houston, New Yorker contributor and short story writer, Charles Mills and Paul Green were contacted. Cut to six issues per school year by budget limitations Student contributions were nevertheless welcomed. The Mag showed a full impact of war by having a large coed Percentage on the editorial, circulation, and advertising staffs. With the return of staff "regulars" from the war And budget difficulties worked out The Carolina Mag looks forward to a nine-issue year.

Service to a war-time campus and world community
 Is the purpose of Carolina's Y.M.C.A.
 The third oldest student organization on campus;
 Since its founding in 1859,
 The Carolina "Y" has sought to aid students
 In a three-fold development:
 Spirit, mind, and body,
 Furnishing information, housing service, worship,
 Special speakers and personal counsel
 To civilians and service men alike
 Are some of the "Y" contributions to Carolina.
 A continuous campus recreation program,
 War-bond drives, Religious Emphasis Week, supper forums;
 24-Below Club provided a Saturday night
 Of candlelight, soft music and dancing.
 Looking ahead to post-war needs,
 The Y.M.C.A. is making plans
 For a campus chapel and a larger Book Exchange.

RELIGION . . .

Y. W. C. A.

"United in the desire to realize a fuller and creative Life through a growing knowledge of God; We seek to understand Jesus and to follow Him." This is the purpose of the Y.W.C.A. on the Carolina campus. Numerous activities are a fulfillment of this purpose: The Public Affairs Committee busily packs books for our prisoners of war.

Girls from the 24-Below Club plan a romantic atmosphere. "Shall pork chops or ham loaf precede discussion on world organization?" debates the Supper Forum Committee. A poll on racial attitudes, weekly dorm worship services, Dorm store sales, work at the Negro nursery and health center Are a few of the functions of the Y.W.C.A., working Through a system of fifteen committees. The Cabinet, composed of committee heads, meets each week To plan activities and to execute those plans. This year Y.W.C.A. boasts a membership of five hundred twenty-three.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

DOROTHY PHILLIPS, President

Baptist Student Union Supper—A get-together and an outlet for students' ideas.

Known as "the Link between the Church and the University,"

The B.S.U.'s supreme purpose is to express through fellowship and service

The spirit of the Christian Way of Life.

Dr. Kelley Barnett, the pastor, leads the discussion Following the Friday night supper hour;

B.S.U. enjoys planning their own worship services Held each Sunday evening in the local church.

Vespers vary in form from fine arts recitals to student leaders and visiting speakers.

Following the vesper service,

The students gather in the basement of the church

For doughnuts and coffee. It is in these hours

That lasting friendships are formed.

Bill Poteat, local Y.M.C.A. Secretary,

Discusses questions and problems of today's college youth On Sunday morning. Thus, the local B.S.U.

Cooperates with all organizations on the campus interested In the promotion of Christian ideals.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

... CHARLIE STEVENS,
President Men's Glee Club

The resurrection of the club began with about fifty voices
Rehearsing for a Christmas concert
To be presented in December in conjunction with the Women's Glee Club.

Shortly after the new year the club began rehearsing
For concerts to be given at women's colleges in the state.
Intermittent rehearsals of the Brahms Requiem,
Which will be presented with combined vocal organizations
On the June Commencement.

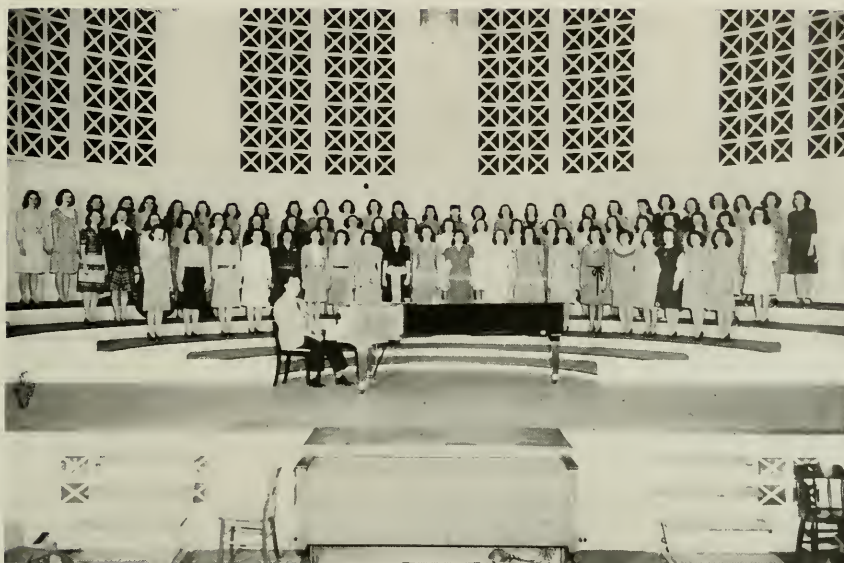

The latest activity has been the performance of a Bach chorale
For the current radio series sponsored by the Radio
And Music Department of the University.

It is not intended that it be an organization
Which admits potential Pinzas and Melchiors only;
If a man has any voice at all, his contribution will
Be welcomed. Mr. Young, the director, expressed
The ideals when he remarked that the groups would consider Themselves a satisfactory organization
As soon as they were invited to sing in New York's Town Hall.

One hundred girls spending an hour of work that was fun,
 Twice a week rehearsing for the public concerts and programs which they

 Under capable direction of Paul Young,
 Who worked with a contagious enthusiasm,
 The Women's Glee Club combined with the Men's Glee Club

 To aid in presenting Handel's "Messiah,"
 The sprightly music of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta,
 "The Gondoliers" was in part by the Women's Glee Club;
 When spring came, the coeds who "couldn't help singing"
 Made a tour of army camps in North Carolina
 Singing semi-classical and popular songs,
 Boosting morale on the home front!

Pan-Hellenic Council started the year off during orientation week by giving a party with C.I.C.A. for the new coeds. The council was unusually active this year. Due to the change to the trimester system, rushing had to be deferred until November and this entailed a great deal of work for Pan-Hellenic. Through "Pan-Hell's" work a new system of rushing proved very successful for all the sororities. The next big event of the council after rushing was the Pan-Hellenic Ball, held on December 30. This function had not been held for the last two years because of the war.

A new development for the council this year was the faculty committee on sororities, which serves as a link between the administration and the sororities. As a post-war plan this committee is working on a housing program for a permanent sorority court. A Pan-Hellenic workshop was held in the spring for the purpose of training officers for sorority duties and for discussion on inter-sorority relations.

COUNCIL

Every year a scholarship cup is given to the sorority having the highest average. Also this year Pan-Hellenic began the organization of the Stray Greeks on campus and they now have representatives on the council.

One new sorority, Alpha Gamma Delta, was invited to colonize at Carolina this year. The policy of admitting new sororities every two years will take care of the ever-increasing number of girls coming to U.N.C. each year.

Through the executive officers of Pan-Hellenic Council headed by Mary Payne Jett, President, cooperation and harmony was achieved throughout the year among sororities and the place of sororities on the Carolina campus was more firmly established.

CHI OMEGA

"Tawny grey awe, cardinal and straw, tiny gold pin set with pearls..."—Chi O emblems these... how tightly they bind seemingly idle straws in our stack of '44-'45 memories: Those tottering ladders and spattered paint buckets which spelled in colorful smears renovation for "rushing"... our thirty-one pledges... the Duchess with five purple hats, and her lemon pie awards for neatness... no hot water... the leathernecks, who landed at the sign of the X and horseshoe, but didn't succeed in keeping "the situation well in hand"... certain "fly-fly boys, who lived up to their name... our own Queen Margaret, a regal study in white... Boo and operator 14 Pensacola... that all-significant warning, "Don't sit there; it isn't safe"... STILL no hot water... nine a.m. bedlam, featuring "gone-with-the-wind Gulick and don't-leave-me Cook... Dawg's car screeching to a stop for breakfast coffee in the "Y"... our pledges, spotlighted against a carnation... the DKE house, where the Chi O's receive week-end priority ratings... those lovable REBELS, Mochie and Harvey... "Mountain Dew"... the fifty years of Chi O celebration... Bleight, outstanding pledge of the year... Tharon Young, the girl who's done most for Chi Omega... Lohengrin, that hit parade tune of the year for Rankin, Ray, Phillips, and Schroder... but STILL no hot water... and so these single straws bespeak, "Fraternity, Eternity, Chi Omega always."

INTERFRATERNITY

... WILLIAM MCKENZIE, President

In the past year, as in the year preceding, there have been tremendous changes in the fraternity scene. The Navy has returned the houses that had been rented to their owners, with only St. Anthony Hall remaining in the hands of the Navy as the V-12 headquarters. Most of the houses were returned in October, some returned in February. With the return to the respective chapter houses, there have arisen problems of the greatest proportions; those of finance, furnishing, repair. A solution to the inability of the members to meet the increased expenses was sought in permitting non-members to live in the fraternity houses, with fairly satisfactory results. Fraternities began to come closer to a realization that through the period of reconversion they would have to stand together even more closely.

Early in the year it was realized that the foundations of the Interfraternity Council could be made more firmly fixed. A committee of the representatives was appointed to work on a constitution which was to cover the entire jurisdiction of the council as completely, but as briefly, as possible. This work is continuing at the present moment, though the end is in view.

At the end of the year it seems that the attitude of the fraternities has turned very definitely toward a determination to work together on their common problems, to maintain the system which they feel offers real advantages, advantages which, when properly regarded in the light of all unities within the University, more than "justify" the fraternity. There is a feeling of confidence gained through months of strained relations and hardships which have demonstrated with no uncertainty that the fraternities can and will work together. With this conception firmly impressed upon the fraternities, the Council faces next year with hopes of working for the betterment of the fraternities and the school. Improvement in all fields of the academic life is the aim of the Council, and with cooperation and an attempt at understanding by those in and out of fraternities, there is no question that the fraternity system can and will be of the greatest value for the school and its students.

BETA THETA PI

It may not have been exactly like pre-war years, but 1944-45 was a big year for the Betas. If there was any curtailment of social activities on the campus, it was not evident around the Beta House . . . with the reorganization of the German Club last year came the annual German dances in Woolen Gym . . . what with imports and coeds gracing the house, who could wonder that no Beta was conspicuously absent those nights . . . to top it off, a week-end of dances, parties, and dinners marked the May Frolics . . . big time was had!

The house was returned to us after sixteen months. The Navy V-12 left it in good condition . . . thanks, lads. It's like the Beta House of pre-war years again.

Members continually left for active duty with the armed forces. We now have brothers on every battle front of the war who have been fortunate and have come back to see Chapel Hill and their old chapter and to have a few beers on the Betas. We bow our heads however in memory of two pledges who will not return: Carlyle C. Council, Jr., killed in Italy, June 1, 1944, and Creighton Soyars, killed while on duty with the Navy in the Atlantic, March, 1945. Hoping with the help of God that the rest of our brothers will keep up the Beta spirit . . . yours in kai.

Hayrides, beer parties, Harry's Delicatessen and Jeff's Confectionary are especially dear to the Delta Psi's . . . music of all sorts makes the "smooth" environment of the hall . . . Eduardo Bello and guitar, Dick Ford, accordion and piano . . . and records of everything from opera to Dwight Fiske . . . politics are engaged in by a few, "poo-pooed" by the rest . . . mention must be made of Eulas Mason, the genial man of the house, host to the returning members, confidante of all, master of mixing bottled goodies . . . the biggest sight was the war of nerves with the mice infiltrating into the larder in Emack and Bello's desk drawers . . . biggest gripe was the battle with the furnace to keep the house at sleeping temperatures . . . girls find Eduardo Nicolas Angel Bello Franco (not a misprint!) delightful with his guitars and mustache! . . . we boast of Bill Pritchard, the champion athlete and Robert Butman, receiving honors in English . . . the capital event was Dougald Macmillan and Dick Ford, roommates, running on different tickets.

Honorary and Professional fraternities on campus encourage students to maintain a high scholastic standard, create a desire on the part of students to measure up to high personality qualifications. These organizations work to stimulate interest in a specific professional field and to recognize outstanding students in that field. Carolina has such fraternities in the fields of chemistry, sociology, medicine, psychology, German, commerce, pharmacy, music, and geology. The national scholastic fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, is also well established at the University.

UNIVERSITY VETERANS ASSOCIATION

SOME OF CAROLINA'S VETERANS.

On October 18, 1944, a group of young men met at Carolina to form an organization. They were the veterans of this war who had returned to complete or to begin their education. They called their organization the University Veterans Association. Their purpose is to promote the general welfare on this campus of veterans and all other students of the University, and to provide opportunities for the orientation of incoming veterans by securing cooperation among veterans, faculty, and other students and by making the organization's activities appeal to all veterans.

The infant organization tried hard to fulfill its purpose. It sponsored dutch suppers and parties during the remainder of the fall and winter semester. During the spring semester 92 veterans were enrolled in the University. The association put on a drive to include every veteran as an active member. A beer party was held at Hogan's Lake, and promotion and publicity campaigns were inaugurated.

To the students on the campus privileged to wear the "Phi Bete" key, Phi Beta Kappa represents a minimum of eight full quarters of work in which a scholastic average of 92.5 or better has been maintained. Often content to rest on its own laurels, the fraternity last year took a step forward as plans inaugurated last spring materialized into the form of a tutorial system. Under this system members offered their services as tutors in their major subjects to those first and second year students who needed scholastic aid but who were financially unable to get it.

CHI DELTA PHI

... TOY EASTERLING, President

Chi Delta Phi began the year with a very small membership, and at the beginning of the first semester accepted applications from those interested in becoming members. The final tea for those invited to join was held in November, and on December 14 Olive Ann Burns, R. Frances Brown, Mary Tom Colones, Marcella Harrer, Dorothea Janssen, Marjorie Martin, Catherine Sloan, and Shroy Lange were initiated.

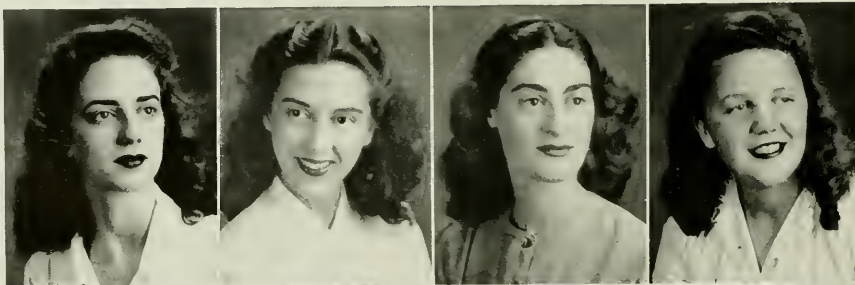

The purpose of each weekly meeting is to discuss campus and national writers, to criticize each other's stories, and to wonder about the wandering stationery order. Visiting speakers such as Kay Ferrell of the campus Y.W.C.A., and Dr. Tippete of the educational department and author of many children's books, acquainted Chi Delta Phi with several of the different phases of professional writing.

The highlight of the year was Chi Delta Phi's presentation of Paul Green, well-known author and playwright, who discussed his new book, "The Way Out for the Negro," which is still in the process of being written. The annual spring rushing was held in April and one pledge, Ann Thornton, was taken in. The membership of Chi Delta Phi is limited to one per cent of the coeds enrolled at the University.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, honorary music fraternity, is made up of outstanding music students on campus. The local chapter, Alpha Rho, endeavors to advance the cause of music sponsoring concerts, both of nationally known artists and of its own members, assisting the music department in all of its programs, and encouraging original composition. Among its activities this year, beyond regular meetings, were a supper meeting once a month, picnics, and as a service to the music department, the members of Phi Mu Alpha ushered at all musical programs.

TKA, national honorary forensic fraternity, was founded in Indiana in 1908, and now has 105 chapters. The local chapter was established in 1910. Active membership is limited to those who have participated in at least two years of forensic or public speaking activity, have demonstrated superior ability as debaters or public speakers, and rank in the upper thirty-five per cent of their college class, in accordance with the regulation of the Association of College Honorary Societies.

The purpose of this fraternity is threefold: to award suitable recognition for excellence in forensic meets and public speaking, to promote interest in speech among the general public and especially among the students of the campus; and to foster a respect for and an appreciation of freedom of speech as a vital element of democracy.

The Alpha Chapter of Theta Psi Epsilon, national women's chemical fraternity, was organized at Carolina this year. Alpha Chapter had a great amount of work to do in order to establish the fraternity. It was necessary to acquaint the campus with the name and purposes of Theta Psi Epsilon, write ceremonies, the constitution, and set up standards and ideals to be maintained.

Along with building the framework of the organization, Alpha Chapter held two initiation banquets, sponsored several speakers, and endeavored to bring a better coordinate between the chemical majors and the rest of the campus. Carolina is honored in having the Alpha Chapter of a new national professional fraternity on this campus. Theta Psi Epsilon is planning to establish five new chapters on college campuses next year.

Today Alpha Chi Sigma, the only professional chemical fraternity in the United States has grown to fifty-three collegiate chapters, fifteen professional chapters and eleven professional groups. The Rho chapter was established on the Carolina campus in 1912. Its members have upheld the ideals upon which the fraternity is founded—the advancement of chemistry and the promotion of fellowship among chemists. Professional activities, lectures, movies, and discussions are important functions of Alpha Chi Sigma. Sponsorship of safety programs, awards, and enlargement of the library are frequent. The student-faculty smoke was one of the outstanding events of the year. (The question is, "Can a coed smoke cigars in times like these?") Parties and banquets furnish another lab in chem, away from ye olde Venable. Chemistry is a big help in everything, even to the mixing of the drinks! On the scholastic side, a $100 award will be given to the outstanding undergraduate student in the University.

Alpha Epsilon Delta, national honorary pre-medical fraternity, was founded at the University of Alabama in 1926. The purpose of the society is to encourage excellence in pre-medical work by furnishing a goal toward which the student may work, to act as a force to aid any movement designed to advance the welfare of the pre-medical student, and to bridge the gap between the spirit of the pre-medical and that of the school of medicine. Each member is required to maintain a high scholastic average in all his pre-medical work, be outstanding in his pre-medical career, and prove himself likely to carry on the name of the fraternity with excellence in medical school.

COACH BOB FETZER.
Director of Athletics.

DR. O. K. CORNWALL,
Head of Physical Education Department.

CAROLINA has rounded out another wartime year of sports. During the spring, baseball repeated very much the same experience set by basketball in the winter. Both teams had good and bad spots, but each came through with clear cut victories to establish their superiority in the end. Swimming was the sport in which Carolina set the best record in 1944-45. At season's end 132 monograms had been awarded participants in nine different sports during the year.

Perhaps most talked-about news in sports continues to be the outlook for football in the fall. Coach Carl Snaveley and his assistants, Max Reed and Russell Murphy, held very satisfactory spring drills and the prospects are good for an interesting and representative card of nine scheduled games next fall.

The 132 monograms awarded to players and managers on Carolina athletic teams during 1944-45 were distributed among nine sports as

The records of the nine teams follow: football, won 1, tied 1, lost 7; cross country, won 2 dual meets, lost 2, and placed second in two other meets; basketball, won 22, lost 6 (own Conference tournament); boxing, won 3, lost 1; wrestling, lost 3; swimming, won 4 dual meets, placed first in two A.A.U.s (Southern champions); indoor track, placed third in annual invitation meet; baseball, won 13, lost 10 (Ration League champs); track, won 3, lost 3, placed first in invitation meet; tennis, won 3, tied 1, lost 6.

The University Club, an undergraduate organization, is composed of a Junior class representative from each men's dormitory and fraternity and a Senior class representative from each girls' dormitory and sorority. This is easily the most representative group on the campus and, as a result of having direct contact with almost every undergraduate, does much toward bettering intra-school relations. Members are elected to the club to serve for a period of only one year.

The club may be classified as a service organization since, through the cooperation of each member, it strives to carry out any activities for the administration, the student organizations, the alumni, and other projects that will be of benefit to the University.

The motto of the club—For The University—is self-explanatory of the purposes of the club. Through its close connection with the Athletic Association, the club seeks to promote and to maintain enthusiasm and a high spirit of sportsmanship in all University events and con-

CHEERLEADERS

Head Cheerleader Proctor.

In 1944-45 came a new era in cheerleading on the Carolina campus as coed cheerleaders, for the fourth time in the University's history, helped arouse Carolina spirit. Head rabble-rouser Proctor did a fine job of whooping it up at athletic events during the season, ably backed up by Stubbs, Teague, Stanton, Herndon, Faulkner, Berman, Parsons, Morrow, Couch, and Tuthill.

Pep rallies were bigger and louder this year than last and seemed to bring out that . . . CAROLINA, BEAT DUKE . . . spirit. Eleven cheerleaders elicited yells and cheers that bid fair to tear the top off the staid old Memorial Hall.

FOOTBALL — 1944

Head Coach Gene McEver

Coach McCauley McEver.

Line Coach Gill.

It was a New Carolina spirit, a new coaching staff, and an almost completely new team that saw the TAR HEELS through their third wartime football season. Moreover, it was a coaching staff and football team that worked overtime to do credit to the University students and alumni it represented. In return, it received the wholehearted support of those students and alumni.

Naturally, the war slowed things down a bit. You don't let yourself completely go when you know your classmates and friends are scattered in the four corners of the earth fighting to preserve democracy—even that phase of it which made it possible for you to spend your Saturdays in Kenan Stadium.

The Carolina Bench During the Duke Game.

Warren

Smith

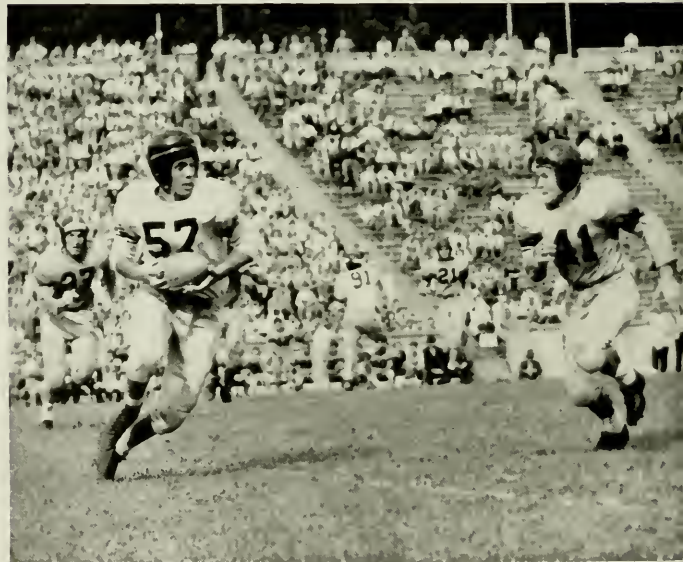

A green contingent of footballers opened up the grid season against Wake Forest with plenty of pep and vigor, which held sway for three quarters. But the Deacon troops smashed the stubborn Tar Heels in the final period to win the ball game 7-0.

Bob Warren's booting, coupled with potent defensive work of Bobby Weant, helped the Tar Heels stifle the Baptist onslaught. It was Russ Perry, Wake Forest back, who outkicked the Tar Heels, and who, in the final analysis, proved to be the deciding name in the Wake Forest win.

Coach Gene McEver's eleven performed defensively as well as might have been expected of a totally new football regime. It was the lack of offensive power which put the locals off their feet.

Up front it was Kinsey, Walker, Smith, Lane, Golding, Thomas, Godwin, and Bauer who sparked the defensive machine for the Tar Heels.

Backing this combination were Bobby Weant, Bob Warren, Jack Foster, and Jim Camp, the first of the four having starred defensively while the other three worked toward a futile cause in the ground and aerial attack.

DEMON DEACONS TRIP TAR HEELS

A terrific array of the nation's top footballers found no trouble in running rampant over the Tar Heels in the first foreign tilt of the season. The Tar Heels returned from a trip to New York badly battered by the West Point Cadets, 46-0.

From start to finish it was a West Point victory as weighty Army forward men, combined with speedy backs, established a beachhead in the opening minutes and pushed on in true invasion style to smother the helpless Tar Heels.

The Tar Heels managed only once to penetrate Cadet territory. It was in the second period that the Tar Heels pushed six yards inside the midfield stripe on the Army side. Stubborn Army resistance paved the way for a fourth down kick and a halt to Tar Heel scoring chances.

Only in the kicking bracket did the Tar Heels show up better than Army. The Tar Heel punting average was 35.4 as compared with 34.6 for Army.

Captain Bobby Weant attempted to get the Tar Heel offensive machine to function with passes, but there was Army in the air as well as on the ground ever ready to squelch the locals.

Facing a national leader in grid competition last fall was too much for the locals as Coach Bill Alexander's Yellow Jackets took advantage of every Tar Heel mistake to romp to a 28-0 victory in Atlanta.

Though the score fails to indicate the fact, the Tar Heels got an offensive really underway for the first time against the Engineers.

After the Techs scored their first marker via a powerful aerial offensive and hard driving backs, it seemed as though the Tar Heels would knot the count. A pass from Bob Warren to Bobo Gilliam and a lateral to Jim Camp from Warren saw the Tar Heels deep in Tech territory on the 28-yard stripe. Stubborn Tech men halted the scoring threat.

A pass interception paved the way for the second first period tally for the Techs.

Fred Bauer broke in the clear with a Warren pass in the second quarter, but the referee ruled that the Tar Heel end had stepped out of bounds.

During both the second and third periods, the Tar Heels and Techs exchanged punts, neither being able to get started toward the goal. The last period proved to be equally as profitable as the first with the Techs adding 14 points on fancy passing and running.

TECH TAKES TO AIR FOR WIN

It was a happy day in Kenan stadium for fans as well as footballers when the Tar Heels, paced by Bob Warren and Jack Foster, captured their first victory of the season over the Cherry Point Marines. The score was 20-14.

Rebounding from three setbacks, the determined Tar Heels came from behind as the lead shifted to down a stubborn Leatherneck crew.

Cherry Point drove 64 yards in the first three minutes for their first scare. A bad kick out of bounds put the Tar Heels in the right frame of mind for a tally.

Bob Warren in particular, and Bobby Weant, Art Lowe, and Jack Foster, in general, figured in a march to the three-yard mark. Foster drove over for the first score of the season from the three. Pete Maronic's try for conversion failed.

Art Lowe put the Tar Heels out in the lead after several runs by Bob Warren. Lowe caught a pass on the three and went over standing up. Maronic made the extra marker and the Heels led 13-7.

Early in the last period the Cherry Pointers scored to get in the lead by one point. With two minutes remaining the Tar Heels started driving. Passes carried by Jim Blair and Jim Godwin put the locals on the Marine 26. A final dash by Warren after attempting a pass won the ball game.

Before a scanty handful of spectators the Tar Heels, hit by losses of football material, tried their hearts out but the University of South Carolina carried the pigskin over in the second period to capture the contest 6-0.

Bob Warren and Bob Weant pushed the weakened Tar Heels, driving with all they had for the full sixty minutes of the encounter. Carolina backs tried everything in the books in the way of offensive attempts, but failed to get the scoring machinery functioning.

In the forward wall it was Bill Smith, "Two-Ton Tackle," from Lexington who also turned in a brilliant performance and played the full game time. Fred Bauer at end took a beating all afternoon, but stood up with the best of Tar Heels as there was an acute shortage of reserve power.

The Tar Heels pushed inside Gamecock territory several times, but fumbles and bad luck halted the chances of realizing a tally. A mishap by Warren on the South Carolina 18-yard stripe was the nearest Carolina came to chalking up a score in the fourth period.

CAROLINA LOSES A HEART-BREAKER TO S. C.

For a while it looked like the fourth defeat for the Tar Heels, but the stubborn McIvermen just wouldn't yield, and a just about even William and Mary crew failed to tally in a thrilling ball game which saw the Tar Heels threaten several times, only for a 0-0 deadlock.

Pass interceptions and fumbles were hazards to the local eleven as time and time again the Tar Heels lost scoring opportunities via such errors.

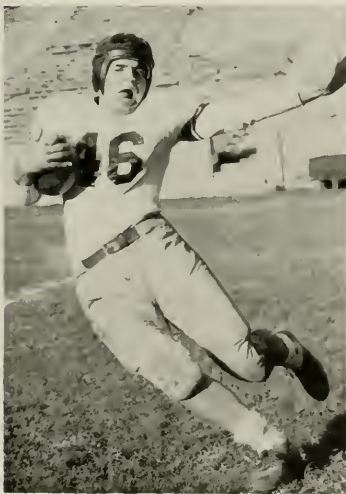

Bill Voris, playing his first game, led the goal line attacks by the Tar Heels, and Jack Dean displayed a sparkling running and passing attack against the William and Mary Indians.

Bob Warren and Jim Camp started a threat in the second quarter. Warren recovered a fumble and then slung a pass to Camp which placed the Tar Heels on the Indian 37-yard stripe. Warren scampered to the 19 but the Indian forward wall tightened and the ball went over to them on downs, another threat squelched.

In the statistics bracket the locals outclassed the Indians in number of first downs and out-rushed the visitors, but completed only two out of twelve tries in the aerial department.

Foster makes a high tackle.

Trying desperately to crack the string of victories of the Yale eleven over Carolina, the Tar Heels gave the unbeaten Elis a scare in losing a hard fought battle 13-6 before 10,000 chilled fans in the huge Yale Bowl.

The loss gave Yale a string of seven victories over the Tar Heel gridders since their first series meeting in 1919.

Bob Warren, playing the brand of ball that he displayed all season, led the Carolina attack and trotted 37 yards after intercepting an Eli pass for the Tar Heels' lone tally. A nice block by Fred Bauer cleared the path for Warren's marker. This was the first time that Carolina has scored against Yale since the team of 1919.

Paul Walker, Yale's All-American end candidate, accounted for both of the Elis' scores as he caught Hall's toss in the opening quarter and trotted across the goal for a six-pointer. He later hauled down Sadowski's 10-yard pass in the fourth quarter.

Trailing in the final period 13-6, the Tar Heels had a chance to tie the count when they had possession of the pigskin on Yale's 16-yard stripe, but three passes and a run netted only three yards.

CAROLINA SCARES YALE'S UNBEATEN TEAM

A power-laden Duke University football team simply outclassed Coach Gene McEver's scrappy crew and whipped the Tar Heels to a tune of 33-0.

Despite the one-sided score, the Carolina gridders played their hearts out and had many scoring opportunities which were halted by the Blue Devils' stubborn defensive blockade.

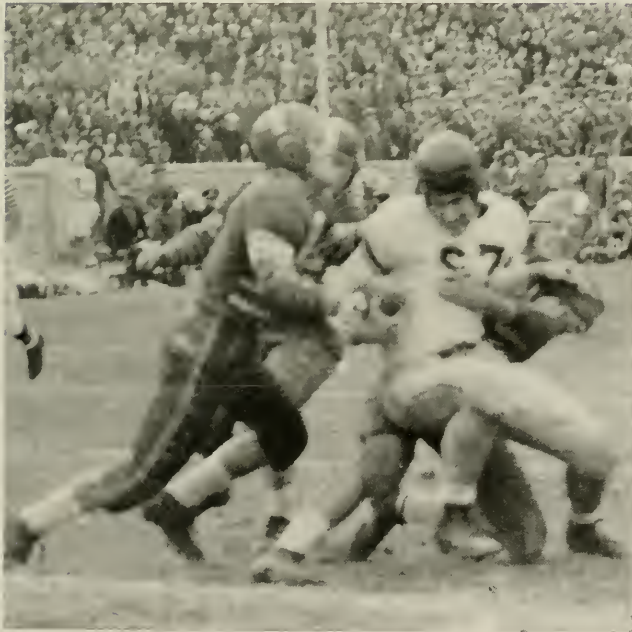

The arch rivals fought on even terms for the first 13 minutes of play and it appeared to the 25,000 fans that a close duel might be the outcome, but the Duke grid machine tuned up and tallied two quick touchdowns. Davis plunged over from the seven with two Tar Heels riding his back and Clark shot a 22-yard pass into the waiting arms of Garver for the other score.

Carolina got a break in the opening seconds of the classic as Leatherman recovered Clark's fumble on Duke's 16-yard line, but four straight line bucks failed to materialize and the ball switched hands.

The Tar Heels again had a golden opportunity when Voris grabbed Lewis' aerial shot in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter. A series of passes by Elger to Camp, Dean and Bauer placed the ball on Duke's 12, first and ten, but here again the attack bogged and the Blue Devil forward wall held steadfast for four plays.

Spirited, but not quite potent enough, were the Tar Heels against a strong aggregation of footballers at the University of Virginia. The Cavaliers broke up all but one scoring threat and wound up with a 26-7 win.

The ancient and traditional series between the two state institutions was tied at 23 wins and three ties each by virtue of the Tar Heel loss.

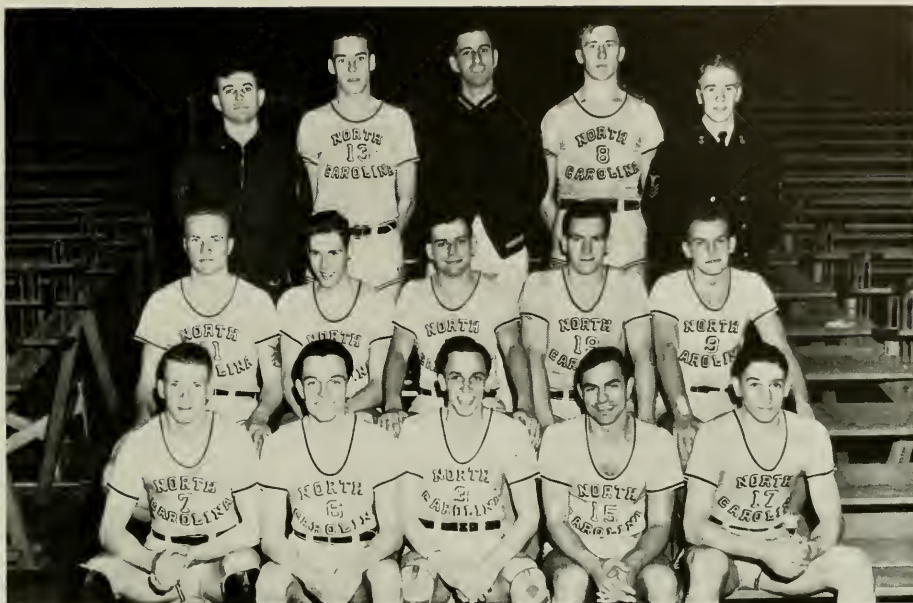

A second quarter blocked kick by mammoth Bill Smith set the stage for Carolina's first score. Fred Bauer, stellar flankman for the Tar Heels, recovered the lost pigskin on the one-yard stripe where Bill Voris bucked over for the marker. Gus Lacy replaced Allan Elger in the backfield to attempt a conversion. He was successful and the Tar Heels enjoyed a 7-6 lead in the opening minutes of the second period, the Virginians having tallied a touchdown in the first quarter.

It was Allan Elger with his tricky passing and scintillating punt-returning which kept the Virginia backfield on edge throughout the contest.

Trying to keep a check on the fast moving Virginia backs were guard Del Leatherman and tackle Bill Smith, who pummeled the Cavalier forward wall with mighty blows.

In the statistics bracket the Tar Heels knotted the first down count, but the Virginians took advantage of every break to aggregate yards rushing almost double that of the Tar Heels.

The 1945 basketball season was a successful one for the White Phantoms, probably the most successful on record, despite the dark prospects which were evident as the cagers got underway. The new Tar Heel mentor, Coach (Lt.) G. L. Carnevale, was faced with a tremendous job, with only one letterman in sight.

But this was not to stop the Carolina men of the hardwood. Coach Carnevale, aided by Pete Mullis, quickly organized the available forces, and after a regular season that saw them win 19 of 25 games, the Phants drew up to the Southern loop champs, the ninth ranking college team in the nation and the third in the South. Coach Carnevale, a star himself of N.Y.U. several years ago, received invitations for his five to the N.C.A.A. and National invitational tourneys in New York, but the Phantoms were unable to go because of the Navy travel rules.

Carolina got off to a good start on its 25-game slate, taking four straight wins before losing to South Carolina, 38-27. The Phants were not to stay down, however, and they won three more games consecutively only to lose to the Gamecocks again, this time 41-40 in an extremely close contest in Woollen gym.

After the second lose to South Carolina, the White Phantoms hit a slump, losing three of the next five games, including a 50-41 battle to Duke. However, after the Duke clash, Coach Carnevale revamped his lineup and the Phants started on their victory march that saw them win nine of the last ten games and break all-time scoring records.

The Tar Heels broke the single game scoring record in beating Davidson, 89-20, and recorded the largest total for one season, 1,340 as against 901 for opposition. The Phantoms wound up the season with a decisive 50-38 upset victory over Duke's high-flying Blue Devils. The local quint knocked off State, 52-28, South Carolina, 39-26, and Duke, 49-38, to cop the Southern Conference championship.

Coach Carnevale's lads averaged 54 points a game offensively against 36 defensively, and during the last seven games averaged 64 points a tilt. Four times the Phantoms hit 75 or higher.

Seven Tar Heels scored 100 points or better, Jordan getting 245—one of the top totals in the conference—Dillon 184, Norfolk 167, Anderson 160, Alvarez 134, Paxton 111, and Allen 102. Also Jordan was unanimous choice for All-Conference and received the Foy Roberson award as outstanding Southern Conference player.

Carolina placed third at the Annual Invitation Indoor meet held in Woollen Gymnasium on February 10. Entries representing the Carolina Pre-Flight School won 39-3/7 points, Cherry Point Marines 35-3/7 points, and Carolina 34-6/7 points. Georgia Tech placed fourth with 15-3/7, followed by Duke with 11-3/7, and Virginia with 4.

Carolina's Ted Shultz was the individual collegian star with first place in the 70-yard low hurdles, tie for first place in the high jump, and second in the 60-yard dash. He also ran the 220-yard dash leg in the sprint medley relay in which Carolina placed second. Individual star of the meet was S/Sgt. John Montgomery, of Cherry Point, who took first places in the broad jump and pole vault and tied for first in the high jump. Lt. Charlie Beetham, the great middle distance runner, coached and performed for the Pre-Flight team to lead his team to first honors. Dale Ranson was coach for the Carolina team.

Nearly 100 enthusiastic but inexperienced candidates swarmed out on Fetzer Field the day practice was first called for Carolina. Coaches R. A. Fetzer and Dale Ranson looked over the field and agreed that it was the youngest and greenest crop of cindermen to come up at the University in the last twenty years.

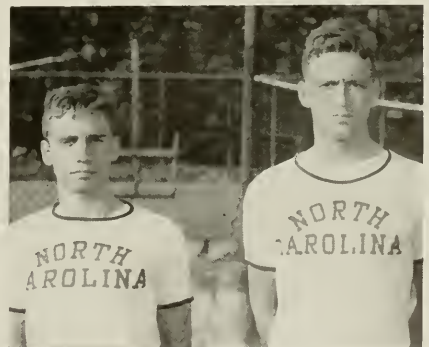

However, the coaches didn't let this get them down. They developed a good hurdle, dash, and broad jump man out of Don Clayton. Fred Bauer blossomed into an excellent javelin man. Mike Mangum was coaxed out into a couple of meets and scored points in the hurdle and broad jump events.

Bob Dodson was built into a middle distance runner, and Forrest Leathers did well in the mile and two-mile runs. The Tar Heels defeated Duke, 72 to 59, for the unofficial Southern Conference Championship, and took first place in the invitation A.A.U. Track and Field Championships. It was great testimonial to the work of "Coach Bob" and his assistants.

At the close of the season the squad elected Ted Haigler and Jack Hester to co-captain the 1946 team. At the same time Bynum Hunter and Bob Dodson were elected co-captains of this year's team.

OUTLOOK FOR FOOTBALL

Proctor and Ramsees.

With Carl Snavelly back at the reins of Carolina's football machine, Tar Heel gridiron supporters can rest assured that the Blue and White forces will be put back on the football map starting this fall.

Snavelly, fresh from Cornell where he produced top-flight grid outfits, brought his bag of tricks and his assistants to Chapel Hill to rear a team to compare with those he turned out here in 1934-35.

His assistants, Russ Murphy and Max Reed, have been following Snavelly for quite a number of years and the trio have run up many football records in their years of coaching.

Carolina is honored to have Coach Snavelly back and feels confident that the veteran mentor will bring Carolina back to her pre-war status in the football ranks and from reports flowing around the country side Carolina might be THE team to watch this fall.

This foursome will direct Carolina's gridiron team this fall. They are Head Coach Carl Snavelly, Max Reed, Russ Murphy, Chief Gill.

BASEBALL

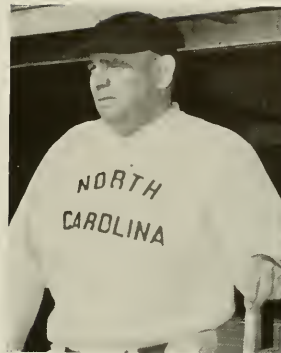

Coach Bunn Hearn's diamond squad broke even during their 1944 campaign by winning eight contests while dropping as many.

Continuing their play in the Ration League, a war-time substitute for the Southern Conference, the Tar Heels bowed to the Pre-Flight school after setting a hot pace.

The baseball team was composed mostly of young players without too much experience, but the Hearnmen managed to edge out the Navy's powerhouse by the score of 5-3 for the season's biggest victory. Claude Crocker, Freshman chunker, was on the mound for the locals against the Midshipmen.

Coach Hearn had a number of veterans on hand—Ray Walters, Bill Lee, Whitey Black, and Frank Wideman.

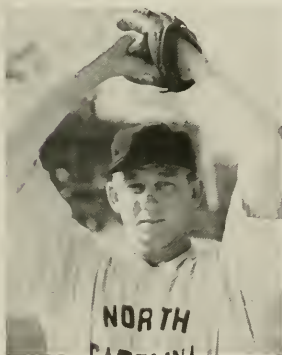

It was hard work and steady improvement by all the players, plus the able tutelage of Coach Hearn, that turned the Tar Heels from a green, inexperienced club into a hard-fighting, winning outfit that took the lead, lost it, and then came roaring back to win the Ration League Championship.

Coach Murnick

Ranked as one of the best boxing teams in the country, Coach Joe Murnick's mitmen won three of their four ring engagements, bowing only to Army's strong pugmen.

Coach Murnick, ending the third year at the helm of the boxing reins, faced the task of building from only two vets, but he turned out one of the finest teams to represent Carolina in several years.

His team whipped such strong forces as Maryland, Emory and Henry, and Virginia to give them a claim to the Southern Conference boxing championship for the second straight year. Capt. Walter "K. O." Krause, Carolina's minute man, was the only holdover from last season's squad and he alone was enough for Coach Murnick to build around. The other veteran was Thad Ellis, who went through the campaign unspurred.

Clever tutoring and hard practice gave Carolina a well rounded crew of boxers. The prize find and a gift to the coach was Del Leatherman, a colorful V-12 ringman, who sported a perfect record in his four fights during the season in the 175-pound class.

Kraus, fighting in the 165-pound class, continued his brilliant college record with three wins—twice with T.K.O.s and once by default, but lost his first college match in the Army scrap by decision.

Ed Keyes, talented leather thrower, in the 120-pound division won three of his four bouts, losing only in the Army tussle on a K.O.

Bobby Thomas at 127 and Jim Worley in the 145 fought four fights and did well despite their lack of ring experience. Thomas drew with Maryland but lost the remainder of his bouts. Worley won twice, drew with Maryland and lost to the Army. Tony Payne and Jim Lodge both performing part time in the 135-pound class failed to register a win after losing some close decisions.

In the 155-pound division, Joe Mallard drew one and lost one, but Ed Twohey, fighting with a broken hand, gained a well-earned decision on Virginia's captain. Johnny Richardson, dropped a decision to Army in the same class.

At a barbecue (given after season when the men could break their training diet!) Coach Joe Murnick presented a trophy to Capt. Walter Kraus who in two years had won six one-round bouts by the knockout route. Kraus' Army bout, which marred his college record, was a close affair as were other Carolina vs. Army bouts.

SWIMMING

Under the genial guidance of Coach Willis Casey, Carolina's Blue Dolphins continued their winning ways as they finished the 1945 season undefeated to run their string of consecutive victories to 24 to give the swimmers a record of 41 victories in the last 42 duel meets.

ard, Jack Zimmerman, and Snooky Proctor that won the National Junior 400 meter free style relay in record time.

The supporting cast was headed by Mike Morrow, Jack Davies, and Burt Sparer in the free style bracket; Denny Hammond, Jesse Greenbaum, and Warren Perry in the back stroke; Peter Hexner, and Ira Abrahamson in the breast stroke; and Tom Gray in the diving department.

The team won the Southern Conference Championship, the Southeastern A.A.U. Championships, the Carolinas A.A.U. Indoor and Outdoor Championships, the Southern Service Men's Championships, and the Southern Intercollegiate Championship. They won six National Junior Championships, and set four American Records, tied another, and established two National Junior Championship records. They will go down as one of the greatest tank outfits the South has ever boasted. The Dolphins defeated Duke 50-25 for the conference championship, and sank Georgia Tech, Southeastern Conference Champions, twice, 47-28, in Atlanta, and 25-5 in Chapel Hill. In their annual meet with the Naval Academy at Annapolis they drowned the middies, Eastern Intercollegiate Champions, 42-33, to rank as one of the top Intercollegiate teams in the country.

Coach John F. Kenfield, who was beginning his 17th year as head tennis instructor at Carolina, had the weakest squad to work with since he came to Chapel Hill in the spring of 1928. Not a letterman returned from last year's team, which was the weakest previous team under Coach Kenfield's tutelage.

Outstanding members of the team were: Ray Morris, Don Peck, Charles Hackney, Ben Johnsen, Ben Hoech, Ed Welch, and Harvey Jagoe.

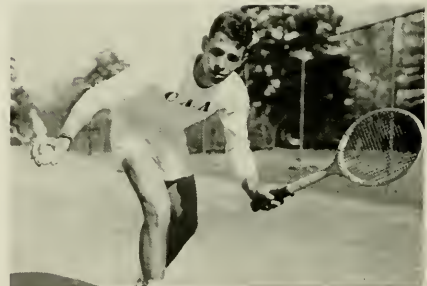

For the first time in seventeen years the Tar Heels failed to win a home match. Georgia Tech saw to this by opening the season with a score of 9 to 0 in favor of Georgia Tech. In the closing match of the season the Tar Heels whipped the University of Virginia, 9 to 0. The Tar Heels won the opening engagement with Duke, 8 to 1.

Tennis results for 1944 were:

With Laurie Hooper, the only veteran from last year's team, and a group of around 38 new men, Coach Chuck Quinlan went about the business of building another team that compared favorably with the one of last season.

The 1945 wrestlers continued their new low record in February, losing 38-0 to Navy at Annapolis on February 17, to close a season that in January saw them pinned to the mat twice by Duke grapplers, 23-3 and 26-3.

It's like this.

The Intramural Department, like all other departments within the University, found it necessary to make adjustments in program and personnel after the United States entered the war.

Much organization and planning has led to a well balanced physical training program, currently speaking, and Woollen is holding its own.

With the conclusion of the strength tests, consisting of five exasperating exercises tabbed by someone as pull-ups, squat jumps, squat thrusts, set-ups, and push-ups, the regular daily physical training classes began. With this came a dreaded military track course designed to whip service personnel into conditions or else send them back home to mama as incapable. Wrestling, boxing, basketball, football, and swimming became a must with as much compulsion as a physics lab.

The Intramural Department has found it wise to use the housing units on the campus as a general division for basis of competition. The following units were used: housing units, independent teams, and fraternities. The cup this year was won by Phi Delta Theta. Due to their expert management they came in first and second in most activities. The Medical School placed close second. Phi Gam and Sigma Chi, who won last year were strong competition.

It is almost as large as Bowman Gray Pool, measuring 49 by 150 feet, and is 4 to 12 feet deep. The pool is named for Commodore "Scrappy" Kessing, U.S.N.

SHIRLEY DICKINSON
Our W.A.A. President

Women's athletics didn't assume their rightful place under the Carolina athletic sun until the W.A.A. Council was formed in 1934. Since then, each season sport has demanded tournaments, and the W.A.A. Council itself, this year under the guidance of Mrs. Gladys Beard, Miss Lois Blanchette, Mrs. Ruthe Van Collie, and Miss Marion Ruch, has successfully directed teams and varsities.

The 1944-45 season began with volley ball. Pi Phi won the sorority plaque, and Alderman led the dormitory division.

During the winter semester a Demonstration Day was given, and all departments of women's athletics participated. The program included exhibitions of classes in basketball, water ballet, hygiene, dance, military drill, and conditioning.

The hockey tournament, directed by Miss Marion Ruch, was won by Chi Omega. The varsity hockey team included: Christian, Foster, Brewster, Fowler, Smith, Rodnick, Ray, Woodson, Gulick, Hunt, Dickinson, and Sklary. They played Duke, losing to them by a score of 7-2.

This year women's athletics sponsored a Physical Education Club made up of all majors in physical education. The purpose of this group was to promote interest and participation of all coeds in sports. Mickey Gulick, President; Margaret "Spiff" Eller, Secretary-Treasurer, together with 19 majors under the guidance of Mrs. Gladys Beard, met bi-monthly.

The tennis team, coached by Miss Lois Blanchette, included Christian, E. Rhyne, Dickinson, Wideman, Fowler, D. Rhyne. During the season they played William and Mary, Cherry Point, and W. C. of U. N. C.

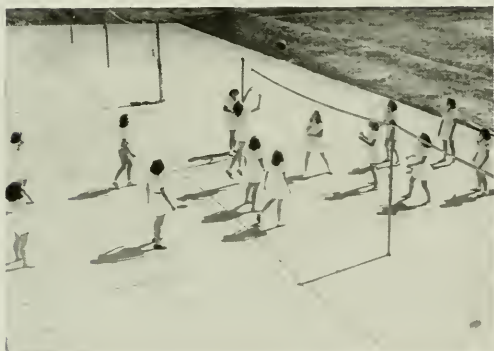

New gym classes this year included military drill, conditioning, tap dancing, and water ballet. These new classes, however, did not overshadow the ever popular basketball, which had a very good season. Fowler, Prince, Hoyle, Montgomery, Janssen, and Farr, comprised the basketball varsity. Alpha Delta Pi defeated Alderman in the finals.

WATER BALLET

The swimming team was managed this winter by Prince Nufer and participated in several meets. The water ballet, under the direction of Miss Marion Ruch, gained quite a bit of interest from swimmers, and gave an exhibition during the winter semester in which Sue Johnson, Mary Nancy Bailey, Echo Patterson, and Betty Cobbs were particularly outstanding.

Dormitories and sororities participated in a softball round robin this spring. Softball being a favorite sport, the invitation for Women's College to a four college softball Play Day was eagerly accepted—report has it that the Play Day was a huge success.

The W.A.A. banquet was held before spring exams, and tournament winners and varsities were announced and awards presented.

The coming year holds a bright future for the continued progress for the women's athletic program, the W.A.A. Council, and the Physical Education Club.

UNIVERSITY DANCE COMMITTEE

S. N. Black Jim Dillard R. S. Elliot W. M. Ficklen J. F. Fowler L. Herrera

... ALLAN PANNILL, Chairman

The purpose of the University Dance Committee is to aid organizations in the giving of dances. Their function is to advise and not to dictate in the numerous details of dance preparation and execution. At the dances proper, the Dance Committeemen act as hosts and as trouble-shooters for any occasion which may arise.

In the past year, the Committee has approached a return to pre-war condition in that it has increased its membership and revised its outmoded rulings.

Recently a Dance Committee key was selected which will become the official award to its members in the future.

As has every other organization on campus, the Committee has lost a number of men to the Armed Forces. Among these were Kenny and Ed Black, Jim Fowler, Francis Parker, Bob Kirby, Dick Elliot, Sam Black, and many others too numerous to mention.

For these men and for the students of Carolina, the Dance Committee pledges itself to continue its aid and policies as long as they will be needed.

GERMAN CLUB

It was the custom of the German Club in pre-war days to have three big week-end dances during the year with name bands playing for each. For the past two years it has been impossible to have big-name bands, but the dances went on as usual.

The week-end of January 13 presented a fair picture of Carolina before the war. Fraternity houses were in full swing; imports littered the campus; parties seemed to go on continually; everybody was happy!

This year May Frolics took the place of Spring Germans. It was a gala week-end which started with individual parties Friday night followed by a beer party Saturday afternoon and climaxed by the dance that night. The figure was led by the current president, Billy Mac.

The fraternities making up the club are Beta Theta Pi, Zeta Psi, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Nu, Kappa Sigma, Kappa Alpha, and Sigma Chi. It is the dream of all these fraternities to have name bands for dances again and to have a set of dances instead of one on Saturday night.

The 1945 YACKETY YACK BEAUTY BALL

... Margaret being crowned by Lt. J. D. Hill.

The traditional Yack Beauty Ball featured the crowning of the most beautiful coed on the campus, and eight lovely attendants. Highlighting the Duke-Carolina week-end, the ball was attended by 2,000 who watched Lt. J. D. Hill, executive officer of the V-12 unit here, crown Miss Margaret Fountain of Rocky Mount, and sponsored by Chi Omega.

... Such a beautiful stag line.

The Beauty Queen was picked by five members of the faculty who served as judges. Members of the faculty who exercised their eyes as judges were: Dean Francis Bradshaw, Commander Carroll, Dean E. L. Mackie, Chancellor R. B. House, and Major James W. Marshall.

Each organization on campus was eligible to sponsor three coeds for the contest. From the contestants a Queen and eight attendants were selected. Other than raising money for the tremendous cost of publishing the YACKETY YACK, the dance was sponsored in order that beauties for the YACK beauty section might be selected.

CAROLINA BEAUTIES

The YACKETY YACK publishes each year the pictures of girls selected at the Yack Beauty Ball as most representative of Carolina beauty. These girls were sponsored by various organizations on the campus. The Beauty Queen and her attendants do not constitute merely a beauty section in a yearbook, but stand for the entire coed student body. In their lives are reflected the influences that make them Carolina coeds. They do not only stand for beauty, but for appreciation of the beautiful as well. They are representatives of students who live by and up to two codes. They base their ideals on the Honor Code, and their conduct on the Campus Code. They, as well as adding beauty to the Yack, lend the atmosphere that in the past few years has been brought to Carolina through the increasing coed enrollment.

BETWEEN THESE COVERS

It was with overwhelming discouragements that we produced and financed a yearbook in this year of 1945. We needed no compulsion but determination to hold on to this one phase of American college life; to preserve it for those who might have been here to take part in it; and to assemble it in order to retain tangible memories of Carolina for many who leave. We are glad that we have been able to, as well as we could, "build with broken tools," this chronicle of student and faculty life. If it does not meet with your expectations, we ask that you give us the benefit of the doubt; if it does, then more's the blessing!

THIS IS INDEED A HAPPY ENDING . . .

To close a book, we close a year . . . a wonderful year for Carolina, for the world, and, quite simply, for us. It was a lot of fun, this YACK, and it was a lot of hard work. But now—at last—the work and the play; the easy parts and the tough parts; the headaches, the backaches, the cramped fingers . . . they're all parts of the past. As much do they belong to previous days as does this book. And as much do they belong to you. For it was for you . . . Carolina man and coed . . . that this book came into being. We offer it now as something of your Hill days to take away with you, to pull off the bookshelf in some day to come and proudly show to others who weren't here; or to reminisce over with a classmate or by yourself.

Many were the cooks that brought forth this broth and we tell ourselves that the old adage is wrong. We've given credit before and now in this last bit, we remember others who gave you this stew. Thanks are due Buck Shelton of the Charlotte Engraving Co.; Frank Fleming of the Lassiter Press; Mr. Moore and staff of Wooten-Moulton; Philip Lanier for proof reading; Warren Rummelhoff for great work in photography, and Boots Walker for grand assistance in the YACK Beauty Ball. Without them these words would not be here in print.

So here it is, the 1945 YACKETY YACK, a memory of happy and carefree days.

And thanks again to you for being here, for being Carolina, and for helping to make her the grand place that we have known and loved so well.

Margaret and Gene
