WHOLE TOWN ACCOMPANYING COLLEGE TO UNIVERSITY CITY

RAY GREENE APPOINTED SECRETARY WINTER PARK CONFERENCE LAST WEEK

ENTERS NEW FIELDS

Plans to Give Much of His Time To Educational Work

It was announced last evening at Winter Park that Raymond W. Greene, A. A. U. Commissioner and member of the 1924 Olympic committee would accept the position of Executive secretary of the Winter Park Conference offered him several weeks ago and that he would give a large part of his time during the coming year to the directing of a state-wide program which has been under consideration by the directors of the conference for some time.

The Winter Park Conference, a state agency organized in 1916 has held several conferences at Winter Park. Its directorate is composed of several prominent college people. The scope of the conference has been enlarged to include in addition to religious activities previously conducted in a highly successful manner, an all-state athletic program and a plan to greatly quicken Christian education among the young people of the state.

The new field of the Conference in an athletic way will foster local, county and state contests in swimming, track, basketball, volley ball, road and relay races.

Conferences of interest to the people of the state will continue to be held and will be scheduled during Christmas holidays and summer months.

The directors of the conference aim to assist the Christian institutions of the state in every possible way. In addition to the aid already being given them by the several de-

Tickets For Special Selling Rapidly According to Committee in Charge; Winter Park To Be Deserted City; Business Men's Club To Go In a Body; Wight's Men Spend Week In Improving Weak Points Displayed Saturday

Ticket sales for the special train for Gainesville have been heavy during the week and it is thought likely by Winter Park business men that the train will be loaded to overflowing tomorrow morning when it pulls out of the station. The special will be decorated with the college colors to celebrate the occasion. R. D. Barze, president of the Winter Park Chamber of Commerce, reports that practically every citizen of Winter Park will be aboard. Plans for closing every place of business in the city are now complete, there will be no one left in Winter Park after 7:30 tomorrow morning. The Business Men's Club will march to the train in a body and will also attend the game with the Gators in the same formation. Orlando is sending several hundred rooters to go up on the special train, while it is expected that fully half that many will drive up in automobiles. Students will practically all be on hand at Gainesville, about as many traveling by car as by train. The Kissimmee brass band of 20 pieces has been secured to accompany the Rollins crew on the train.

Reports from the nearby towns in Orange county indicate that Orlando and Winter Park will not be alone on the special when the conductor hollers "all aboard" in the morning. The ticket committee states that the inquiries coming in from citizens of these towns have kept them busy for over a week with no let up in sight, to the present hour. Tomorrow will tell the tale definitely, but it can be predicted that 250 people from these towns will be on hand for the journey.

At the meeting of the Business Men's Club Friday night it was decided to advance $200 in cash in order to insure the arrival of the Kissimmee brass band on the scene Saturday. The club has bought and paid for this band outright.

Mr. Leedy, proprietor of Leedy's, the store down town so well known to students, has purchased a big supply of noise-makers for the big game. They are for sale at a reasonable price at Leedy's. Cheer leaders have requested that several hundred of these be taken along for use on the side lines.

The Rollins football teams are now ready and waiting for the supreme test tomorrow. Wight has been pounding them into shape all week and improving the few weak points which showed up at the Legion game last Saturday. The Tar eleven will be in the best of shape for a battle royal when they strut out on the university gridiron tomorrow afternoon.

Florida has been playing wonderful football since their season began

ANCIENT HISTORY FOUND IN OLD FILE

ABOUT ROLLINS

Steady Past Progress of College To Be Surpassed in Next Few Years

Plans for a greater Rollins are about to materialize. During the past thirty-eight years Rollins College has had a rapid and steady growth. The college was established on the present site during the year 1885. In February of that year Mr. F. W. Lyman, of Minneapolis, Mr. Loring A. Chase of Chicago, Mr. A. W. Rollins and others obtained a charter from the Florida legislature and founded the town of Winter Park.

The General Congregational Association of Florida met in April with its youngest church which had recently been established in Winter Park. At this meeting Dr. E. P. Hooker, first pastor of the Congregational church, urged the establishment of "a first class college in Florida." It was unanimously decided to carry out this intention. Overtures

COLLEGE PLANS NEW BUILDING PROGRAM

STARTS VERY SOON

Though Only Minor Improvements Will Be Made During The Present Year.

Though definite plans for radical changes and improvements on the campus are about to be released by the college authorities, no details except in regard to minor improvements are available at the time of going to press. It is known that a building program on a large scale will be undertaken next year, but this year will see little construction work started.

The first plan to be put into operation this season will be the building of a new walk between Knowles Hall and Carnegie Hall. On the spot where the bamboo cluster now stands a beautiful pergola will be erected. It is to be octagonal in shape with a cement pillar eight feet high at each point of the formed octagon. In the center of this a pillar will rise ten feet forming a hy-

TARS LEAVE FOR GATOR CAMP IN AUTOMOBILES EARLY THIS MORNING

IN EXCELLENT SHAPE

Coach Wight's Grid Men Will Get Good Rest Tonight

Leaving early this morning by automobile, Wight and his football men will arrive in the Gator camp in time for an easy work out in preparation for the struggle with the university tomorrow afternoon. Wight will see to it that his proteges get a good rest tonight. Tomorrow they will strut out on the gridiron in tip-top shape, the equal of the Gator's best. Wight and his men are confident of victory on the morrow. Ray Colado, the only man who was injured in the Legion game last week, has been in the best of condition ever since Monday and will give the Gator outfit more fight than ever before in the past. Florida's best players are still more or less bruised up after their fierce struggle with Tech last Saturday, though few reports to this effect have been able to break through the censors at the university.

The Tars will take two complete squads up to Gainesville to meet the university aggregation. Last year Rollins was not able to put this many men in the field to meet the Gators, which made it possible for the Gainesville lads to break through in the last half for a 19-0 win. Had Rollins been able to put in new men at any time last year like she will be able to do tomorrow, a different tale might have been told. These two squads which Wight will turn loose against the university machine are in every way the equals of each other. They are also the equal of the best in the state.

It is known that Florida has a line that could be compared to a stone wall this fall. Neither Tech nor the strong Army eleven were able to gain much ground through the Gator line. Her backfield is heavy and powerful, with Middlecoff at full a regular football demon. It will be this man who will put Rollins to the test more than once after the opening whistle sounds on the Gainesville gridiron. The university is feeling elated over the recent playing of the football men on their journey north. The record set by these gridgers is nothing to be ashamed of by any means. Holding the Army eleven to a 20 to 0 score was a feat which will be remembered for years. Florida may be feeling over-confident when she meets the Tars, a so-called insignificant foe.

Don't leave for Gainesville without plenty of pennants and school colors.

YES—WHEN DO WE EAT?

To one who denounces the sport and rises above it there is little doubt concerning "our great American pastime"—eating. We are a nation of heavy eaters. Walk along a city block and count the restaurants; look on every hand about the city and see the monumental shacks that have risen to the gluttony of this pastime.

The average student participates splendidly in the game. He seldom leave the flock of eating places about the city deserted, ever in the small hours of the night.

The patent expression of the student who wants to be congenial is, "Let's have a hamburger."

The word that occupies the greatest attention on publicity for a campus event is—Eats!

Eats! Say that and there has been found the sure way to get an attendance at the dullest sort of committee session.

Perhaps it is a sign of good health—this great American hunger. But a sign of future health? That is less certain. The college student who does not have much physical activity needs no heavy nourishment. Perhaps his following of the over-eating practice is storing up cause for later ills. A reputable doctor would suggest that we give less attention to over-nourishing of our stomachs in the supposed process we now are engaged in of providing mental nourishment.—Exchange

SUNDAY LIBRARY HOURS

Despite the fact that certain influential parties not actually connected with the college have since time immemorial successfully opposed the opening of the college library on Sunday afternoons or evenings, some few others are now so daring as to suggest that the time-worn and fossilized practice be put in the discard. However, these few dangerous radicals make up only 90 per cent of the student body, which should be comforting to the staid citizens who favor continuing as in ye days of yore.

At present it is absolutely necessary for many students to do a great deal of reading in the library. Several courses can be studied nowhere else. It will be the same all year. The professors have a habit of assigning at least twice the usual number of pages in these library volumes for over the week end. Somehow or other there should be more time then for study, they reason—and apparently there should. But the humble student asks to be shown.

The library closes on Friday afternoon every week. On Saturday morning it is open for a few hours. After this it is closed until Monday. May we ask, when we are to do all this week end studying? The books, remember, are in the library and there are only a few of them.

No one wants the library open on Friday or Saturday night—it has been tried too many times. Saturday morning is no time for study either, as far as the big majority of students is concerned. To most reasonable people it seems that a few hours of perfectly harmless, even beneficial, reading might be indulged in by the average student on Sunday. Yes, in the library.

At least open the library on Sunday for a few weeks to see how the student body responds. Give us a chance. It won't lessen the chances of our getting into Heaven.

CHEERING

Tomorrow at Gainesville all Rollins students must get together and stay there. Organized cheering will increase the fighting ability of the team about 50 per cent. Don't make a lot of excuses, but show up and yell from start to finish. What's the use of going to the game if you don't?

Tar and Feathers

Ye ed asked us to write this column this week.

He promised that our name should remain unknown. It better had.

How about some honest to goodness yelling tomorrow afternoon when the pride of the school struts out for the biggest struggle of the year.

Maybe you would rather repeat the noble showing made on the sidelines at the Legion game.

It is something to be proud of alright.

Has anyone noticed the strange looking boxes which Shreve smuggled into the co-op Monday night, after dark?

Three guesses as to their contents.

Yes, Tommie Quinn is some second-story man. As long as he doesn't walk in his sleep everything will be Okay.

But what a catastrophe if he does! Wow!

But, so long until we see you up in the Gator's city.

"Funny why some fellows will go to sleep on Cloverleaf porch," says Paul Potter.

The Chase Hall gang held the first picnic of the year last week. A bad time was enjoyed by all.

A hearty welcome was extended to Prof. Mabry's son who just arrived.

Hurrah for Gunpowder Dick Potter, former member of Tau Lambda Delta, who is rapidly approaching a crisis in his life. Aaron has just received a message over his radio that Dick was fatally wounded by Kid Cupid and knocked for a row of "bunkers." The groom is fortunate in winning as his bride Miss Helen Bunker of Bowling Green, Kentucky. The couple have the congratulations and best wishes of the college.

Dame Gossip is passing the word along that Prof. Fuerstein's wife will arrive in Winter Park in the near future.

The steps by the trash can are very popular. Sunday night they were the scene of a grand fudge party. Old Kid Dot makes her fudge soft, so she can feed it to everyone with a spoon.

Buster Keaton appeared on the campus in full golf dress last Sunday afternoon. If you don't believe it, ask Toad.

Dutch Class is backsliding. He's gone back on Pop Donaldson and is seen at Cloverleaf regularly now. The coach had better watch his step!

Guy swears that he is a very studious little boy this year. Wonder if he always studies in a fudge apron?

Phoebe isn't content to worry about the freckles on her nose, she has to worry for fear her hat will freckle, too.

Walter Johnson may have a sore toe, but it doesn't seem to affect his walking habits. S'funny how he has suddenly developed a craze for taking long walks.

A few fellows anyway had such a good time at the dance last Saturday night that they danced as if they were home. Was not the music intoxicating?

Not many moons ago the six half wits made a flying trip to Daytona in thirty minutes according to the Ray More standards of calculations. A dip in the ocean at 3 o'clock in the morning and back in time to hear Boswick "blow his stuff" for breakfast, having safely rounded twenty Bartlett turns defying the law of gravity, ended the celebrating.

Tommy Quinn has originated a new way to eat Kumquats—he peels 'em.

Rumors have been floating around the campus that Ted Carroll has a better half somewhere up in Pittsburg. Better watch out, Ted, for we sure would hate to have you paying alimony!

Did you know Larry Semon—beg pardon—Cecil Draa had a birthday? Every one in Chase treated him as tho he were 20 instead of 16 in offering wa'm congratulations.

Brandt Watson is back and in honor of his return he received a special bid to the Siam Club. He thinks there may be some joke to it.

The Pittsburg Trio kind of miss the traditional smoke of the old home town.

The Tennessee Entertainers expect to be here again on Oct. 27, so look forward to one more big time.

BEAUVAIS—KALBACH

A beautiful double ring wedding occurred Wednesday, Oct. 17, at high noon at the estate of A. F. Rundle at Lockhart, Florida, when Charles Ellwood Kalbach was united in marriage to Miss Carol Brenda Beauvais, of Atlanta, Georgia, and Orlando, Florida, Rev. William H. Dresch officiating. The bride's sister, Miss June Thelma Beauvais, was maid of honor. Thomas Quinn, former school mate of the groom, was best man. Marcia Converse, accompanied by Gretchen Harrel, sang at the wedding. Among others present were Gomer Emery, Rollins student, Major A. M. Hall, editor of the Apopka Chief and the National Pilgrim, and Mrs. Wm. H. Hayward, of Kansas City.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a short boat trip north on the Clyde line. Upon returning they will reside at Apopka.

Mr. Kalbach is business manager of the Apopka Chief, Apopka, Florida, and a former student at Rollins College. He is well known to Rollins students.

DANCE

Half of the college students, two dozen alumni and a few invited guests were present at the dance following the Legion game Saturday night. The music was furnished by the Tennessee Eight, famous jazz players.

A week from tomorrow night another dance will be given for students only in the gym, the Tennessee musicians again furnishing the music.

WHO'D A THUNK IT!

We interviewed ONE of the floor proctors in Cloverleaf on the important question, "Do Co-eds Kiss," and she answered in a mournful tone, "You'd be surprised at the amount of kissing going on right under my nose."

The Prof's Corner

(J. F. Taintor)

I have been asked to write "something" for The Sandspur. I begin by writing "something" that few of those who read, if any do read, will believe. It is likely to be called "Shop talk" or a departmental view. But it isn't.

This is the thing I wish to say to college students anywhere: The most important thing a college course can do for you—not the most profitable, not the most productive, not the most praised, not the most apparent—but the most important—is to improve and perfect your English.

I do not mean that this course or that course or any course in English Composition or English Literature ought to be taken; I mean that there is nothing more important to an educated man, however he gets it, than correct speech.

This is however the one thing that the average college student cares least about. He knows English; he has always spoken it; he is able to read it understandingly. Why bother with it any more? I have known many college students to make fly tracks all over a college catalogue in the effort to find something to "fit them for life's work." Yet they were neglecting the one thing needful for any field of work.

I have a friend who has been for many years the city engineer in a good sized western city. He said to me not long ago this: "If I had my college course to take over again I would let much of the special studies go until later and would give my attention to English. The sixteen men who report to me can all do accurate work, but there are only two of them who can tell what they have done. If I had not given special attention to English since college I should be in their fix."

College students, of course, need Science, Mathematics, History, Philosophy, Economics, French, Spanish, Latin and all the other things they get. But if the man's spoken or even written English is poor he is, in spite of all else, outside of the circle of educated, English speaking men and women.

The late President Harper once said in substance that there were students in the University of Chicago almost ready to take their doctor's degree who did not possess the first principles of cultivated educated people. The attainment of these first principles, so far as speech is concerned ought to be the thing that bulks large in every student's life.

Theoretically the best means of cultivating one's speech, as it seems to me, is the constant reading of only the best English writings, and by attempting to use for one's self the best forms of speech one knows. During the late war an American found himself stranded in Vienna without money. He telegraphed to a friend, "Kale all gone; send thirty beans." It was difficult to convince the German mind, even before America entered the war, that that was not a cipher code. So that the last state of that man was worse than the first. Slang is expressive and useful and forceful but, outside of college circles, it has its limitations.

STUDENT ASSOCIATION OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

The following student association officers were elected at the meeting Thursday: President, Orja Sutliff; vice president, Edwina Parkinson; secretary and treasurer, Kay Beall.

The newly elected officers took charge of their duties immediately.

CLASS RUSH POSTPONED WEDNESDAY BY FRESHIES

The coming class rush between the freshmen and sophomores was postponed until a later date at the request of the freshmen Wednesday. It is not known when this rush will take place now, as it is up to the freshman class to decide upon a date.

On Tuesday, October 16th, the first concert by the Orlando Symphony Orchestra will take place. This organization is under the direction of Mrs. Roy G. Steele, formerly conductor of the Norfolk Symphony. Several members of the Rollins College orchestra will assist Mr. Steele, among whom are Elizabeth K. Krauss, violinist, Martha Marsh, violinist, Margaret Ryan, cellist, and Robert Chandler, cellist.

The entire credit of the interest in the Symphony should be given to Mr. Steele, who has given so generously of his time and ability. This organization will, no doubt, prove a great asset to the cultural interests of Orlando, and Winter Park, and should have the cooperation of both communities.

Margaret Ryan, Cellist

Mrs. Ryan, who is first cellist of the Orlando Symphony, is also on the faculty of the Rollins Conservatory, and will be heard with the Rollins College Orchestra during the coming season.

This artist has been a pupil in violin of Jacobson of Chicago, and in cello, of John B. Martin of the Sherwood School of Music, and of Henry Miller of New York. She has been a member of several ensemble organizations, among them the Kalamazoo Symphony, C. Z. Bronson, Director, The Bertha Wooden Concert Orchestra, and The Florentine Quintette.

The Conservatory is particularly fortunate in securing such a competent addition to the faculty.

Glee Club and Ensemble Concert

As a result of the popularity they have gained through their public concerts of the past seasons, the Glee Clubs of Rollins College have been asked to appear for the third time under the auspices of the Methodist Church of Orlando. The concert is planned for the second week in November.

It is indicative of the excellent training which the students of Rollins have received, that they are enabled to present such a varied program, as this is planned to be, so early in the college year.

HOW ABOUT THE SPECIAL TRAIN IN THE MORNING?

Everyone all set for Florida tomorrow? If you don't have your reservations on the Rollins Football Special you had better snap out of it for there's going to be some crowd. The boys left early this morning in cars and it's going to mean a lot to them to see a special train pull in with every Rollins student on board. And it's going to have a psychological effect on the Gator too. Either by hook or crook try to make the trip. It's going to be a treat to see the Gators bow to old Rollins for the first time in almost 20 years.

TARS HAVE NO TROUBLE WINNING LEGION GAME

Wight's men were able to defeat the St. Augustine Legion team 46 to 0 with ease last Saturday, though the Legion crew fought hard from the start until the final whistle. Rollins simply outclassed the opposition, but it must be said that the Tars could have put forth a better game than they did. Straight football was played by both elevens, the Legion men attempting only one pass. The Tar backfield was able to gain ground throughout the struggle. Rain between halves and during part of the last half made spectacular playing impossible.

GRID GRAPHS

Did you see the Tars step out last Saturday

If you didn't, you sure missed something.

It was a familiar sight to see Cotton, Ray Colado and Seeds tear around those ends.

As for Dutch, Tommy, Toad and Vickers, well—it's easy to see why we're going to beat the gators.

The first touchdown of the season goes to our captain, Big Six. Fifteen for Six.

Red and Rux alternated with Zip Hagerty and Pete Lenny at ends,—result, no gains for the Saints around the ends.

Perault and Guy Colado did some powerful charging at tackles and opened holes big enough for Shreve's Ford to go through.

Pop Donaldson, Kid LaFroos, Currie and Parker took turns at out-charging and breaking through the Saints' line.

Needless to say there were no gains made through center by the Saints, for Em and Bob Wilson were right there with the goods.

Six and Ken played with the same old fight that won so many games last year.

This week has been spent in perfecting the different departments in preparation for the Gators.

At that some faults were displayed in the Legion game which must not be pulled again tomorrow.

Don't let's get over confident now. Keep calm and tread on the Gator outfit when the time comes.

All aboard for Gainseville.

FACULTY ENJOYS VERY INTERESTING EVENING

On Tuesday evening, October ninth, in the drawing room of the Faculty House, Lakeside, Dr. Taintor read a paper on the "First Modern Pageant," which gave in beautiful style a reproduction of the main incidents of the "Oxford (Eng.) Pageant of 1907." Many interesting word-pictures were painted, and very definite ideas of early English History. Religion and Literature were given those who heard the paper.

They were: Mrs. Taintor, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Cass, Miss Gladwin, Mrs. Faust, and the members of Mrs. Taintor's English Literature class, the Misses Gray, McKay, Page, Barnes and Blair.

STUDENT DANCES WOULD HAVE ADDED FEATURES

Having suggested that college dances be held at regular intervals all year for the students, the Dean and faculty members now would add various entertaining features to these dances. A half hour or more before the dancing starts will be devoted to short plays or other features of interest to everybody, according to this plan.

Chase Hall and Cloverleaf will have an opportunity to provide entertainment for the dances. Judges will decide as to which puts on the best show. It has been suggested that Prof. Mabry sing several solos on the night of the next dance. Miss Treat is favorable to this plan of the committee on student dances.

SOUTHWARD, HO.

By G. W. Emery

There are incidents and experiences in the life of every student that exert lasting influence and leave indelible impressions. To know the story of how some students spend their summer vacations, and how they prepare for the following school year while on their vacations, is probably very interesting and amusing to the public. I have been requested to amuse the Rollins students and faculty through the medium of The Sandspur for a few weeks. I shall try to tell you of my experiences of coming to Rollins this year in the next two or three issues of the much-looked forward to collegiate paper of the school, "The Rollins Blizzard."

I, of course, like all other students try to prove to my fellow students after arrival at the school that I love them as much this year as I did last, and prove to my girl friends that I am still in love with them all, and make wonderful declarations filled with alibis of why I did not write to them during the summer, and meet the new students and show my rank by dictating to the naive and innocent little freshmen. So I have decided that this is the time and place for me to make my apologies for not having been able to go through with the afore-mentioned formalities in as great detail as I did last year, inasmuch as my arrival on the Rollins campus was delayed by my method of transportation. But I can say, and this is straight from the heart, that I am a Rollins man from "A" to "Zink," and I hope that I shall be able to prove this to the student body and faculty of this institution.

As I said before I am writing this by request, not to have my name or what I think in The Sandspur, but to amuse and help the College to the best of my ability, since I am receiving instruction in this institution from the very capable faculty members of this great institution of learning.

The first chapter of my story will be in the next issue of The Sandspur, and will deal with: (I) The Preparation and Starting of my Trip to Rollins; (II) View of the Alleghany Mountains and Trouble Therein; (III) View of the Shenandoah Valley and the Blue Ridge Mountains. The remainder will be found in the (?) chapter.

nominations, they hope to see Palmer College at De Funiak Springs, Rollins College at Winter Park, Southern College at Lakeland, and Stetson University at DeLand, become larger and more effective in the state.

The fact that Mr. Greene is to direct this program as the executive secretary of the conference comes as a distinct surprise to his many friends throughout the state as it was expected since his resignation as director of activities at Rollins that he would accept one of a number of lucrative offers elsewhere. That he will remain in the state to vitimize this undertaking for Florida's young people will be a source of satisfaction to thousands of college men and women and high school boys and girls who have been benefitted by his labors during the past ten years.

The first Older Boys' Conference of the Y. M. C. A. in Florida, the first Southeastern Swimming Championships held in 1923, the State Interscholastic Aquatic Meets, the State Interscholastic Baseball Championships and other such meetings have been directed by Ray Greene.

At a meeting of the conference directorate held in Daytona recently it was decided, provided Mr. Greene would accept the heavy responsibilities, to enlarge the activities of the organization to include educational and athletic work.

this fall. The Tars will meet a team full of confidence and one fully expecting a victory. Wight is aware of these facts and has been coaching his men accordingly. A Rollins victory will certainly be no easy matter, but it is very probable that the Tars will be able to put it across.

Some few students have been circulating reports that no one will be able to go on the special train unless tickets are purchased by today. This is not true. Tickets may be secured at the station in the morning or even, if necessary, on the train.

pergola which will be covered with vines. The walk will make a half circle around either side of the central pillar, on either side of which will be drinking fountains. Stone benches around the edge of the pergola will afford an ideal resting place for weary students. "As a whole the construction will be along the lines of Grecian Architecture," said Dr. Sprague when interviewed.

All the construction is to be done by Aaron Shreve, John Scott, and Raymond Reading under the supervision of Professor Weinburger and Mr. Donaldson. These men are doing this as practical work in their pursuit of a Pre-Engineering Course.

The Graduates of the past ten years will be asked to finance the proposition. Each class is to erect a pillar as a memorial to their class. After this pergola is built each future class to graduate will add to it until the walk is lined with pillars from one building to the other the whole of which will be covered with vines.

FORMER SANDSPUR EDITOR NOW CELEBRATING ARRIVAL OF SON, ROBERT DEWITT.

Arthur G. Ivey, former editor of The Rollins Sandspur and now on the Tampa Times editorial staff, is at present celebrating the arrival of a son, Robert De Witt, who, Mr. Ivey hopes, will some day become a real Rollins Tar.

The mother was Thelma Grace De Witt before her marriage, and is a sister of Peter Bruce De Witt, new student at Rollins this year. Mr. Ivey edited The Sandspur during its first year as a weekly.

Boss: "Is it true that you leave your typewriter and go when the clock strikes five even if you are in the middle of a word?"

Stenog: "Certainly not! When it gets as near five as that I never start a word at all."

EDUCATION CARRIED ON BY ADVERTISING

A novel and somewhat unselfish trend in modern advertising has been developed by the National Carbon Company of New York, the largest manufacturer in the world of dry batteries and of batteries especially adopted for use in radio sets. This company, in addition to conducting a national advertising campaign dwelling on the merits of its radio batteries has started another national campaign designed to call the attention of the public to the fact that radio is no longer an experiment, but has reached a state of perfection where a million American families find that it brings them, through the miracles of the air, choice entertainment, the latest news of the day, market reports and notable speeches of the leaders of thought. They are pointing out that this daily service, which is practically without cost after the first installation, has enlarged the horizons and broadened the viewpoint of all who are wise enough to take advantage of the benefits it confers, and is educating the entire nation.

There have been, in recent years, quite a few large industries which have found it a wise policy to focus public attention on the products which they produce or handle, so that no matter what individual producer got the benefit of the actual sales, the general use and knowledge of the advertised product has been largely increased.

This, for instance, when on the grounds that the daily use of coffee was injurious to health, manufacturers of coffee substitutes threatened by their reiterated arguments, to reduce materially the consumption of coffee berries, the importers and roasters—the leaders in the coffee industry found it expedient, in a series of advertisements to present to the general public the actual facts about coffee, showing that its mild stimulation so far from being harmful was positively beneficial. And from this, seemingly altruistic advertising the entire coffee trade and the general public has benefitted.

Similar unselfish advertising, urging not at all the purchase of any particular brand, has been carried on by other great industries. Thus the history of how cement is made and the various uses for the product has been put before the public in a series of advertisements, so that the use of concrete and cement roadways has been greatly expanded. In a similar spirit of co-operative help the world at large has been informed by the brains back of the paint industry that "if you save the surface, you save all"; information which has reminded many householders of their need of a coat of paint, no matter what kind of paint they bought, or from whom they get it.

But it is worthy of remark that all of those and many similar advertising campaigns have been carried out by an association of manufacturers or dealers. Never before has a single corporation undertaken such a campaign, bearing the entire cost without regard to the fact that such an educational effort must, of necessity, by increasing the general interest in radio, benefit in no small degree all other manufacturers of radio batteries.

This experiment in co-operative advertising development is sure to be watched with great interest by dealers and manufacturers and it may well prove to be far-reaching in its results.

ANCIENT HISTORY FOUND IN OLD FILE

looking towards the location of the college were made by Jacksonville, Daytona, Interlachen, Orange City, Mount Dora and Winter Park. An offer of $114,000 assured the location of the college in Winter Park. Of this amount Mr. A. W. Rollins gave $50,000.

The name Rollins College was adopted in honor of the man whose large gift had assured the establishment of the institution. Knowles Hall was erected in 1886 by the man whose name it bears. Unfortunately in 1903 it was burned to the ground but was rebuilt through the help of Mrs. Knowles in memory of her husband. Since that time rapid strides of progress have been made. The student body has grown, new buildings have made their appearance, the campus has been bettered year by year, and Rollins has secured, after many years of selection, an excellent faculty.

Great building improvements are scheduled for next year.
