

00081384

Digitized with financial assistance from Observer Research Foundation
on 17 May, 2019

REGISTRUM,
quod a Tegumento Nigro vocatur
LIBER NIGER
Clarissimi Ordinis Militaris
a Subligaculo Crucis, GARTERII
Nomine appellati, una cum Prolegomenis, Spicilegijs, ac Scholijs ad unam paginam marginem hunc inde dispositis.

THE B 3151

REGISTER

Of the MOST NOBLE

ORDER

OF THE

GARTER,

From its COVER in

BLACK VELVET,

USUALLY CALLED

THE BLACK BOOK;

WITH

NOTES

Placed at the Bottom of the PAGES,

AND AN

81384
cc.

INTRODUCTION

PREFIXED by the EDITOR.

In TWO VOLUMES.

L O N D O N :

Printed by JOHN BARBER upon Lambeth-hill, MDCCLXXIV.

T. a. 7

00081384

INTRODUCTION.

THE Article of the Duty of GARTER King of Arms, is to make diligent Enquiries after the Military ACTS of the Knights Companions; and to certify them to the Register, to be entred in the Annals of the ORDER for a perpetual Memorial. The present Officer hopes that it will not be esteemed a Curiosity unbecoming his Station to extend his Researches back to the Foundation; for he thinks it will be no Diminution to the Splendor of this most Noble Society, to settle the Persons of the Knights, and to give short Memorials of their Lives, according to the following Specimen, of those who died in the Possession of the last Stall, or the XIIIth on the Prince's Side: Which Stall is here first placed, because the Knight in it, either single, or with his Companion in the opposite Stall on the Sovereign's Side, begins all Processions of the Order.

But though these Amusements may be unexceptionable, nay, laudable Entertainments for this Officer in his private Retirements; yet it may be reasonably demanded, What Excuse or Apology can he make for publishing this Essay? and, What Motives could prevail on him to prove his Want of Prudence, by setting his Name to it? He might, it is true, in case he was fond of the Press, however, have taken effectual Care to continue undiscovered in an Anonymous Treatise; and if he was inclined to own it, it may be said, he ought, for his own Character, to have kept it for a longer Time in his Closet, and rendered it more pardonable and less unworthy of the publick View, and might also have amended the Method, Style, and Manner of Expression. In answer to these Suggestions, he declares himself not to have had any more regard to the Language than to be understood; but must submit to the Mercy of the Reader's Opinion, whether such Delay in printing, and Caution in suppressing the Name of the Writer, would have suited the Design and Intention of this Specimen, which is not an History of the GARTER, but a Preparation or Apparatus sent into the World to obtain, if possible, proper Materials to compile a tolerable History. For which End it became necessary, that this Performance, mean and immature as it is, should be published as an Advertisement, and be likewise owned by the Proposer.

For it will appear in the Sequel of this Discourse, that several Books and Instruments belonging formerly to this most Noble Order, are not at this Time to be found in the Repositories where they were heretofore carefully lodged: A publick Address is therefore to be made to all Gentlemen of Letters, in whose Custody any such Originals or Copies chance to remain, that they would have the Goodness to communicate them, or Abstracts of them at least. And there being still in the distant Parts of this Kingdom, the Effigies of several antient Companions on their Tombs, adorned with Ensigns of this Order, as likewise the Pictures of others in Glass-windows and in Manuscripts, and their Coats of Arms surrounded and encircled with Garters, Gentlemen of publick Spirits in the respective Neighbourhoods may, probably, be induced to impart Draughts, or convey Descriptions of them. And it may be reasonably hoped, that the Heirs and Descendants of divers antient Knights of this Order, will, with some Degree of Pleasure, contribute Extracts of the Charters and other venerable Memorials and Remains of their Ancestors, when they are informed of the Residence of the Person, who desires such Instructions, and who promises to make Acknowledgments in the best Manner he is capable for such Assistances. The Groundwork of such an History is large, and requires a great Variety of Materials towards its Superstructure, and therefore, upon the Confidence of receiving such Helps, this Plan is owned, that when a sufficient Stock is provided, some Architelt-Herald of a powerful Genius, or diligent Antiquary of Abilities and Leisure, well acquainted with the hidden Particulars of past Ages, may be excited to finish this imperfect Model and little Sketch of a Design, (if it shall receive any favourable Approbation) and that with Honour to himself, and Success in the Undertaking: To whom the Editor, with the utmost Satisfaction, will deliver all his own Collections, and whatever shall be recovered upon this publick Application: For the present Specimen will be a Demonstration that the accomplishing an History with the Life and Perfection this noble Subject justly requires is too high for him, and much above his reach.

With these Views only, this unfinished Piece, and in that respect unworthy of the Patronage of the Sovereign and Knights Companions, is adventured into the World without any Dedication, and at the sole Expence of the Collector, who conceived the Permitting the late customary Manner of Subscriptions as much below the Dignity of his Office, as it would be a Difingenuity unbecoming it, to reprint this Work with any Additions, without giving fuch Enlargements in feparate Sheets for the Ufe of the Buyers of this Trifle, (if there fhall be any) in cafe he fhould be ever induc'd to review this rough Draught, and to proceed through the other Stalls in a more deliberate Method: For he judges fuch dry Notices, as are herein contained, not only fatiguing to moft Readers; but to fpeak the whole Truth, the Coft of engraving the Plates remaining in all the Stalls, and the Working them off at a Prefs of a different Nature from that which prints the Text or Contents, would have been too chargeable an Experiment for the Purfe of an Officer, whose Profits are no Ways anfwerable to the founding Title of his Profeflion, and which, fmall as they are, have been invaded and leffened in almoft every Article.

To proceed then: The feveral Books of the Baronage of England contain Accounts of the Noblemen who have been of this Order, which in fuch an Undertaking, may be referred to without tranfcribing, with fome Correftions where neceffary; but no Narratives have hitherto been printed, relating to thofe Companions who have been under that Degree, fuch as in the following Specimen are, Sir Walter Paveley, Sir Thomas Banaftre, Sir Simon Felbrigg, Sir Thomas Montgomery, Sir Gilbert Talbot, Sir Richard Wingfeld, Sir Henry Guldeford, Sir Nicholas Carew, and Sir Robert Rochefter: Or any thing yet printed about any of the Foreigners, fuch as Sir Soldan de la Trau, Henry Duke of Viffo, and the Lord Duras, who were all feated in this Stall. And of the laft Kind in other Stalls, are Sir Frank Van Hall, Sir Robert de Namur, Sir John Robfart, Sir Hertonk Van Clux, Sir Frencis Suricme, Albro Valques d' Almada, &c. befides the Emperors, Kings, Electors, and foreign Noblemen, fave only the bare Catalogues of their Names.

Which Catalogues themfelves, being very incomplete and unaccurate, do, in fome Sort, fhew the Neceffity of fuch an Undertaking.

It will befoon evident, that not only new Materials are to be provided, but much Rubbifh muft firft be removed, even from the Ruins of this History. Dr. Heylin, indeed, acquaints us, that he had (as he expreffes it) clear'd up and perfected the Catalogue of the Knights of this Order. The Pains he took to fettle the Perfons of fome of them, are fo commendable, that 'tis to be lamented he did not proceed in farther Enquiries: of the fame Nature. Mr. Afmole, making due Ufe of this, and feveral other Affiftances, hath prefented us with the beft ^b Nomenclator of them hitherto extant, with Numbers prefix'd to their Names, which are quoted in that Series throughout this Eflay: However, 'tis certain, fome Knights of the Garter are not only omitted out of it, but others inferted who could not be of this Order; (which is not faid with an intent to detract, in any Degree, from the Deferts and Merit of that moft worthy Herald, whose History of the Ceremonial and legal Parts of this Order, will be a lafting Monument of his Industry, and can never be fufficiently praifed, in reference to thofe two Points to which he chiefly confin'd himfelf; but after this Harveft in them, there remain Gleanings enough in the Antiquarian Part, to fill some Volumes :) And it will be no Abatement from the real Value of his Labours, or any Ingratitude to his Memory, to shew, that there are Defects of other Natures in his Catalogue, which are not only by placing the Elections of some Knights under the Reign of one King, when, 'tis evident, they must have been elected under another; but the very Persons of some Knights are mistaken therein; and that no Method of Seniority of Elections is observed, 'till the Reign of Hen. V. where the Black-book or Register of the Order begins, and that there are Deficiencies in it even after that Time in this Point.

* History of St. George, in the Dedication.

1 ^b History of the Garter, p. 708.

'Tis possible these Assertions may be thought very bold, and therefore Indulgence is craved for producing some few Instances in each Kind, for it would be a forestalling of the History, to croud in all the Errors into this Introduction.

One may observe Faults in the Books of learned Men, and yet retain a profound Admiration of their Persons and Labours; and the Collector hopes, that he hath behav'd himself with good Manners, and a Decency and Respect to such Authors from whom he differs in Opinion: His Intention being to propose Arguments, and to produce his Vouchers for his Dissent, in so tender a Manner, as he should rejoice to receive the Retaliation of the same Treatment in his Life-time, in the Rectifying such Errors as by Chance and Inadvertency he may have committed.

As the Proofs of these different Kinds of Defects and Mistakes in the Catalogues are produced, an Opportunity will be industriously taken to shew the Nature, and the Time of the Compilement of the Registers which now remain, and the Authority of them; as likewise to intimate what Books and Instruments are now missing, and to point out what Materials may in all probability be found in several publick Offices; which Informations will be some Ease, and contribute to shorten the Labours of any Person who shall hereafter write on this Subject.

The most Royal Founder, for the Advancement of the Honour of this Society, took effectual Care to exempt it from the Rules of the Common Law, and of all other Jurisdictions; and to guard and secure this Independency, instituted a Seal peculiar for the Service of the Order, under which all the Proceedings relating to it were to be transacted, and to receive their Sanction; a Policy very conducive to its Grandeur: But from thence it hath happened, that few Entries about the Garter are to be met with in the Records pass'd under the Great Seal of the Kingdom, which are by Way of historical Recitals only, and by Chance, interwoven with State-Affairs. Under this Seal of the Order the first ^a Statutes receiv'd their Authority, which were deposited in the Treasury at Windsor, and under it we find Summons issued to the Knights Companions within few Years after the Institution of the Order, refer'd to incidently in a ^b Record, which latter Word is throughout this Discourse given to Instruments kept in publick Offices, whose Authority is unquestionable.

^a Statut. Art. 26. 27.
^b Exit Pell. Mich. 46 E. 2. Diversis Nunciis & Curforibus missis ad diversas partes Angliæ cum literis de magno sigillo & literis de privato sigillo, & literis de sigillo del Garter, Cv. Sol.

The Dispatches which thus pass'd under this Seal of the Order in former Reigns, were, without all doubt, preserv'd in some safe Place with the utmost Care, but are now irreparably lost by the Length or Iniquity of Time: And our victorious Henry V., the great Restorer of the Honour of this Order, having erected the Office of Garter King of Arms for the weighty Purposes recited in the ^a Instrument upon that Institution, it is very reasonable to believe, that the Persons who, with the greatest Abilities, worthily filled that Employment for some Successions, did, according to their Duties, keep regular Annals and Memorials of all the Transactions. And indeed it appears that this Officer, as low as in the ^b Reign of Henry VIII., reposit'd the Narrative of the Acts (as the Expression is) among his Records in his Tower at Windsor; which very Place hath been lately uncovered of its Lead, and lies at this Time in Ruins. And in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth there were Books, as they are called, Hereditary to that Office; but no Collections of this Nature came down to the Loyal ^d Sir Edward Walker Garter; so that all these are perished, or remain undiscovered in private Closets; and in truth, the Editor hath perused the Proceedings in the several Chapters while Sir Gilbert Dethick executed this Employment, which are handsomely wrote on Vellom, now in the Library of a very worthy and learned Gentleman.

Another Misfortune hath happened, in that the Crown did not formerly give the Appellation of Knights of the Garter in Grants or Commutations which pass'd under the Great Seal of this Kingdom, which being liable to be construed by the Rules of the Common Law, it might have been thought that this Omission might be of purpose, from too nice a Jealousy of preserving the Independency and Exemption of this Order entire, if the Knights themselves had not also pretermitted the Usage of this Style in their private as well as publick Instruments; which seems very surprizing, considering the high Value they placed in this most distinguished Honour.

But the greatest Unhappines is, the irrecoverable Loss of all the antient Registers prior to the fourth Year of Henry V. and by these several Accidents it happens, that we have no Guides remaining to direct us in the Certainty of the Persons of the antient Knights, save the Plates left in the Stalls at Windsor, with the Copies of the Windsor-Tables (of both which a full Account will be soon given) together with some scattered Notices in Records, and the annual Accounts of the Wardrobe (for the Habit of this Order was heretofore delivered to the Companions to be worn by them at the yearly Celebration of the Feast) whereof the Collector hath found a small Number; but these Records, few as they are, furnish us with the Names of several Knights of this Order, omitted out of this Catalogue, and these as well Foreigners as Englishmen.

^a Adm. Append. n. v.

^b Letter in the Keeping of the Chamberlains of the Exchequer.

^c L. 25. p. 2. in the College of Arms.

^d His historical Account of Instaurations, &c. M. S. in Custody of Garter.

^e John Michel of Richmond, Esq;

1. Which was the first Assertion, And as to Strangers, a Record under the Great Seal in 6 Hen. V, positively ^a assures us, that Albert of Bavaria, Count of Hainault, Holland, and Zeland, was, in his Time, Companion of this most Noble Order; (who died ^b on 25 January, 1404.) and yet his Name is not found in any one Catalogue. It hath not hitherto appeared to this Editor at what Time this Albert was elected into this Order; but if it was prior to the Year 1382, it is not improbable that he thence took the Hint of instituting the Order of our Lady and St. Anthony; for in the Sequel of this Discourse it will be shewn, that several Companions of the Garter took that Method, and that our most Noble Order was the Plan, Pattern, and Model of sundry foreign Military Societies, and that their Statutes, were in the most substantial Parts, copied from those of the Garter: With such consummate Wisdom did the most Royal Founder settle the Oeconomy of this most Noble Institution.

There is the like Negligence in the Case of Gilles de Bretagne, if the several Historians here quoted are of any Authority.

The Capit de Buch who receiv'd the Habit of this Order in the ^d 37th of Edward III, is here placed among the Foreigners, by reason only of his Birth and Residence in Gascoign, and not upon account of his Allegiance: This Honour and Office was then in the Noble ^e Sir John de Grailly who was of ^f Royal Lineage, and the most renowned Commander in that Time, whose unalterable Loyalty to the Crown of England, for which, after a close Confinement during five Years, he chose to die a Prisoner in Paris A. D. 1377, rather than to deviate from it, will be celebrated in the History of his Life, and yet his Name hath not occurred in any Catalogue.

In the third Stall on the Sovereign's Side, there is indeed a Plate inscribed, le Capitow de la Bouch Monsieur Piers: And since ^g our Records attribute to the Capitals de Buch, the ample Testimony that they had immemo-

^a Rot. Fran. 6 Hen. VI. m. 2. Le feu de bone memoire le Comte Albert & Duc Guillaume de Boyvier succellivement en leur temps Countees de Hainaut, Holland, & Zeland, sont devenus Compaynons de nostre College de Chivalrie del Ordre de Garter, en Signe d'Amisté & Amour perpetuel, &c. This in 1435, after the Peace made at Arras between the Duke of Burgundy and the King of France, Henry the Fifth, on the 14th of December, in his 14th Year, writing to the good Towns of Hollande, Zelande, and Frize, recites the ancient Alliances and Confederacies of our Kings with the Princes of Zelande, who had continued in that freight Friendship, as to accept and wear the Honourable Order of the Garter, &c. Monstrelet vol. 2. p. 124. b. 125.

^b Scriptores Genealog.

^c Joan Chartier. Hist. de Charles VII. p. 212.

Monstrelet, Vol. 3. p. 31.

Berr. d'Argentine Hist. de Bretagne, l. 12. c. 3.

^d Ex rot. Compoti Henrici de Snaith Cus- todis M. Garder. R. Anno 37 E. 3.

Dominis Ducibus Lancastrie, & Clarenie, Comitibus Canteburg.
Stafford,
Sex. & Suff.

Dominis le Dispenfer,

Bartholomeo Burgesfib, Domino de Mibun,
Waltero Marny,
Waltero Pavely,
Hagoni Wroiteffe,
Thoma Ughred,
Franconi Vanbale,
Capitan de Beeche, & Nigello Loryng,

Militibus de Societate Garterij ad robas sibi contra scilicet S. Georgij de dono Dom. R. faciendas & furandas & capucias earum liriandas, viz. cuilibet eorum v. uln. pann. sanguin. in grano & 1 fururam de C. C. ventri. minev. pur. per literam privati sigilli. From an Extract of this Roll in Mus. Ashmol. Oxon.

^e Exit. Pell. Mich. 36 E. 3. Johanni de Greylye Capitan de la Buche & aliis in pretio xxiii floren. de Scuto veteris pretii xiv. gr. in perfolutionem xxv. M. floren. de Scuto veteri, in quibus Dom. Princeps eidem tenebatur pro Jacobo de Bourbon Com. Pomyf. nuper prifonar. eorundem apud Bel- lum de Poyters capto iv. l. ix. s. vii. d.

^f Rymer, vol. 5. p. 467, & E. 3. calls him his Kufman, Vasc. 46 E. 3. m. 5. which Appellation was not given in that Age to Persons who had not actual Kowred to the Sovereign.

^g Rymer, vol. 8. p. 223.

rially shewn an inviolable Adherence to the Interests of our Kings, and since several of them have, with an interrupted Sort of an Entail, been elected Companions of this most noble Order, as this Sir John de Grailly, Gaston de Foix Earl of Longueville, John his Son Earl of Kendall, and Bernard de Foix Duke of Espernon, it will be the more pardonable to explain the Nature of this Honour, and to insert a Scheme of the Descent of this Capitalat, whereby the Contexture of this Discourse will not only be more intelligible, but the same will tend greatly to the Discovery whether this Peter was really one of the Founders of this Order.

Buch then is a small Promontory lying along the Coast from Baionne to Medoc, from the Nature of its Situation call'd Cap de Buch, whence some have supposed the Lord or Proprietor thereof was stiled Captain or Captal, or more probably from the Office or Right of being Captain of the Castle there; for the same Title of Captal was in our and foreign Records given also to the ^b Lord of the Castle of Trene. This Title of Captal de Buch continu'd to our Age in a direct lineal Descent, and not long since was advanced into a Principality, the Rights whereof being thought to interfere with the Prerogative, the last King of France was pleas'd to purchase them, and to cause the antient Muniments to be deposited in his ⁱ Royal Archives, from whence it may be possible to obtain certain Informations for settling any Doubts touching the Descent of this Honour, wherein our own Records and the Historians are silent; from these latter however, the following Scheme of the Descent of this Capitalat is taken, for there is no occasion to insert the upper Part of the Pedigree of this most illustrious Family of de Grailly, which derives its Original from a ^k Castle of that Name in the Balliage of Gex.

^b Vafcon. 23 E. 1. m. 22. Du Fresne Glossar. voce Capitalis. Peter de Marca Hist. de Bearn, l. 6. c. 24. n. 9.

ⁱ Ex informatione Domini Clairembault.

^k Guichenon Bibliotheca Sebustiana, p. 66. & Hist. de Savoye, p. 1287.

Part of the PEDIGREE of the Family of DE GRAILY.

This Capitalage then descended to this Illustrious Family of Graily by the Marriage of Peter with the Heiress of Bordeaux; but the Question here to be examin'd is, Whether the same was ever invested in this Peter by that Marriage, and if he had that Title according to this Inscription on the Plate, the Exemplar of the Founder's Statutes in the Hatton Library, and the Concurrence of the French Genealogists, who place him as

¹ Ashmole's Append.

| ² Anselme Hist. des Marech. p. 615. &c.

Knight of the Garter? Or if this Capitalage descended directly to John de Graily his Son, as Heir to the Family of Bordeux, and this doubt would be clear'd up, if we can learn that Affalide died while this Title was in her Brothers or Nephew.

A late French^b Author commits two Blunders in one Line, by saying, that Peter de Foix was of this Order in 1375, which was long after the Death of our Peter, and before the Family of Graily had assum'd the Surname of Foix.

Mr. *Ashmole*ⁱ presents us with the Reasons of his questioning the Reality of Peter's Admission into this Fraternity. His first is, That he could not trace him below the 22d of Edward III; which tho' of Weight with him upon his Hypothesis, that this Order did not commence till the 23d Year, will, however, be of no Force, if Froissart's Narrative be credited, that this Order was erected in the 18th Year: So that consistently with this Period, Peter might have been one of the Founders in that Year, and his Stall becoming void by his Death, might be fill'd by John his Son, if there lay no other Objection; but Mr. Ashmole proceeds to a very considerable Argument against the Validity of the Inscription on this Plate, which ascribes the Title of Capital de Buch to this Peter at the Erection of the Order; for, according to his Observation, that Stile of Capital had been in John his Son from the fifth Year of Edward the Third: To which he might have added, that this^k Peter and his Son John are frequently nam'd in the same Records, wherein that Title is always attributed to the Son, and not to the Father.

The French^l Genealogists, indeed, name this Affalide de Bordeaux to have been Capital de Buch; but 'tis somewhat remarkable, that she uses not that Title in her^m Will made in 1327, soon after which she must die, because this Peter was in the following Year re-married to his second Lady; and, which is more observable, John, Son of this Peter by Affalide, succeeded in 5 Edward III, directly asⁿ Heir to his Uncles Amanev and Peter de Bordeaux: So that it seems this Affalide died before one, if not both these her Brethren; and therefore this Plate, notwithstanding its appearance of an Antiquity equal with the others, may be supposed to have been affixed in this Stall some Ages after the Foundation; but the Time when these Plates were here placed, will be enquired into in a Section upon that Subject.

^o Froissart acquaints us, That in the eighteenth Year of Edward III, which he assigns for the Erection of the Garter, the Sire de Graily was then in Gascoign, whereby he doubtless designed this Peter, who being then beyond Sea, it was out of his Power to seal the Statutes of this Order at Windsor, which was done, as this Author tells us, by the^p first Knights upon the Foundation of this Order.

The French Authors again are mistaken in the Person of John de Graily, the valiant General of that Age, who was Companion of this Order in ⁱ Hist., p. 687.

^b Louvet Hist. de Guienne, p. 93.
^k Vas. 17 E. 3. Rymer, vol. 4. p. 389. Will of Katherine de Greilly in Ashmole's Hist. p. 687.
^l Guichenon Hist. de Savoie, & Anselme ut supra.

^m Ex informatione Domini Clairambault.
ⁿ Ashmole's Hist. p. 687.
^o Vol. 1. c. 103.
^p Ibid. c. 101.

37 Edward III; for he was not, as they say, the Son, but the Grandson of this Peter.

For John the Capital, Son of Peter, Heir to his Aunt Catherine de Graily in 14 Edward III, and to John Lord of Langton in 15 Edward III, must die before the 15th of September 22 Edward III, when a Payment was made to Blanche de Foix Capitalisse de Buch, the Widow of John the late Capital, and the Mother of John de Graily; hence we retrieve his Mother's Name, wherein the French Genealogists differ very much: And 'tis evident, this Knight of the Garter must be the Grandson of Peter, because we find that Edward III, in his thirty second Year, confirms to him, by the Title of Capital de Buch, the Lands that Peter his Grandfather (not his Father) held, which is unanswerably supported by the Will of this John the Capital (the celebrated Commander) whereby he instituted Archembauld his Uncle (not his Brother) to be his universal Heir, and the Letters Patents of the Crown thereon, wherein he is expressly stiled the Uncle that is in the Half-blood.

The greatest Oracle in Antiquities and Pedigrees, the most learned Monsieur Clairambault, who fills and adorns the Place of Genealogist of the Orders of France, out of a communicative Sweetness of Temper, not confin'd to the Bounds of a very large and learned Kingdom, hath condescended to oblige and instruct this Editor with Extracts taken out of his inestimable Collections, which, among other Particulars, prove, that Peter the Father of John the Capital, and the Grandfather of our Knight, in his advanced Age, made his Will in 1356, (about 30 E. III.) whence it is evident he liv'd long after the Institution of this Order, though Mr. Ashmole could find no Voucher thereof.

Then again, that the Names of several Englishmen are likewise omitted out of these Catalogues, will be evident from the Records inserted in the Margin and at length, because there will be frequent occasions hereafter to refer to them as Vouchers in several other Particulars.

In the 7th Year of Richard II, the Earl of Northumberland (Henry Percy) and Thomas Percy receiv'd Robes of this Order, whose Names are not

* Rot. Pip. 36 E. 3. Computus Joh. de Stretle Constabularii Burdegal. ab 15 Sept. 22 E. ufq; festum St. Mich. Anno 23. Blanche de Fuco Capitalisse de Buchio in perfolutionem 38:8 l. debuit Johanni Greyllino nuper Capitali de Buchio viro suo — Eidem Blanche & Johanni de Greyllino filio suo in partem solutionis 1300 feutorum auti, &c. She is mentioned in Vasc. 28 E. 3. Rymer, vol. 5. p. 785.

† Rymer, vol. 9. p. 16. &c.
‡ Vasc. 7 R. 2. m. 10. And Froissart vol. 1. p. 396. filius Archembaud de Grayly, Oncle to Monsieur le Capital de Buch.

* Vide Rymer, vol. 9. p. 25.

Rot. Comp. Alani de Stokis Custodis magni. Garderob. 7 R. 2.

M. 15. Ad vestoram & broudard. MMDCCCC Garteriorum de Taffita plunket linat. cum cardu blu operat. in broudard. cum auro de cipro auro soldat. & serico diversi coloris, & cum literis de serico blu cum dictamine Hony soit qi mal y pense, ordinarum pro xxij robis de panno violetto in grano pro Dom. Rege, Dom. Duce Lancastrie, & Comitibus Baronibus & Militibus de Societate Garterii, ac etiam pro xi robis de eodem panno pro Dom. Regina & pro matre Regis & pro aliis Dominibus de eadem societate contra festum S. Georgii anno septimo.

M. 9. Domino Regi Johanni Castellie & Legionis Duci Lancastrie, & aliis Comitibus, Baronibus & Militibus de Societate Garterii de dono Dom. R. contra festum S. Georgii anno septimo ad robas de panno violet in grano, qualibet roba de ij garniamenis faciend. & furrarand. cum Minev. pur. ac ad capuc earundem robar. linand. cum pan. Carleto, qualibet roba broudada cum Garterii operatis in broudard de Taffata plunket cum auro de Cipro auro soldato & serico cum literis de Dictamine Hony soit qi mal y pense, scil.

Eidem R. Castell. v. ult. pan. viol. in grano, i uln. dim. scarl. & i furrar. de CC ventr. menev. pur.

Et Dominis Comitibus Cantebrie,
Com. Buckingham,
Com. Derb.

Com.

not contained in Mr. Astmore's Catalogue, though in the Body of his ^d History he hath abstracted this Instrument; and these same Persons, together with Hemy Percy, receiv'd the like Habit in the ^c 11th, ^d 12th,

Com. Kanc.
Com. Warr.
Com. Staff.
Com. Sar.
Com. Northumb.
Com. Notingham.
Domino de Nevisil.
Domino de Bosket. &
Johanni de Holland.

cuilibet eorum v. uln. ejusdem panni in grano dim. uln. panni scarletti & i furrur. de CC ventr. Miniv. pur.

Et Dominis Guidoni de Bryen, Willmo Beauchamp,
Thome Percy,
Nicoll Loryng,
Johanni Sully,
Lodovico Clifford,
Simon de Burle,
Briano de Sappulton, &
Saldam de la Trane, Milit'

& cuilibet eorum v. uln. dicti panni in gra. dim. uln. pan. scarl. & i furrur. de Cxx. miniv. gr.

Ac etiam diversis Dominibus subscriptis ad confimiles robas de eodem panni in gra. faciendi & furrur. cum Miniv. pur. & ad capucis liniandi. cum confimili scarlet. & ad broudand. dictas rob. cum Garzerii de confimili dono R. contra eundem festum.

Scil. Dom. Regina iv uln. ejusdem panni dim. uln. pan. scarl. & ij furr. uterq. de CCC. Ventr. Min. pur.

Dom. Matri R. i pan. violet. in grano i uln. pan. scarl. & iv furr. quilibet de coc. ventr. Min. pur.

Dom. Ducissa Lancastrie dim. pan. viol. in grano. dim. uln. pan. scarl. & ij furr. uterq. de coc. ventr. Min. pur.

Dom. Comitissa Canteburg. iii uln. dicti pan. in grano. dim. uln. scarl. uterq. de coc ventr. min. pur.

Et Dominabus Comitisse Buckingham,
Com. Peutr.
Com. Oxon. &
Sar. & Phillippe, &
Catherine, filiabus
Dom. Ducis Lancastrie, &
Dom. Moban.

cuilibet earum v. uln. ejusdem pan. in gr. dim uln. pan. scarl. & i furrur. de coc ventr. Men. pur.

Ac venerabili patri Willmo Episcopo Wynton de confimili dono R. contra idem festum S. Georgii i pan. viol. in gr. i mantellum de vi c ventr. & i capuc. de xl ventr. Min. pur. i furrur. de coc ventr. i furrur. de coc ventr. Min. gr. unam furr. de bill. de col best. per eandem literam de privato sigillo. From an Extra^d of this Roll in Mus. Ashmole. Oxon.

^d Hist. p. 213.

^c E Libro Cotom in Offic. Magna Garderobas, p. 167.

Dominis Duci Ebor. Duci Glouc. & diversis Com. Baron. & Militibus de Societate Garzeriorum ad rob. de panni blank. long. quilibet roba de ii garn. fac. & furr. ac ad capuc. circumlata rob. lin. cum panno blu. long. de dono Dom. R. contra festum S. Georgii anno xi. quilibet roba broadat. cum Garzerii operat. in broadat. de Taffeta blu auro de eipr. soldat. & cum literis de serico de dicamine, Hony sale q*i* mal y panse, viz. prazato,

Duci Eborum,
Duci Gloucest.
Com. Derb.
Com. Kanc.
Com. Arundel,
Com. Warr.
Com. Sar.
Com. Northumb.
Com. Marfrell.
Johanni Holland,
Domino de Nevisil.
Domino de Bosket. &
Edwards filio Ducis Eborum.

cuilibet eorum v. uln. panni blanket long. dim. uln. panni blu long & i furrur. de coc ventr. Min. pur. &

Dominis Guidon. Bryen,
Willmo Beauchamp,
Thome Percy,
Henrico Percy,
Lodovico Clifford,
Johanni Sully,
Briano de Sappulton, &
Nicolao Sarnesfield, Militibus.

Cuilibet eorum v. uln. dicti panni blanket. dim. uln. dicti panni blu & i furrur. de coc ventr. min. gr.

Ac etiam diversis Dominibus subsc. ad conf. rob. de conf. panni blank. fac. & furr. cum Min. pur. & capuc. lin. cum conf. panni blu & quilibet roba broadat. cum Garzerii de secta dictorum Dominorum de conf. dono R. contra idem festum S. Georgii, viz.

Dom. Regina viii uln. panni blanket long. dim. uln. panni blu long. & ii furrur. utraq. de coc ventr. Min. pur.

Ducissa Eborum vii uln. ejusdem panni blank. dim. uln. dicti panni blu & ii furrur. utraq. de coc ventr. Min. pur.

Ducissa Glouc.
Comitissa Kanc.
Com. Derb.
Com. Oxon.
Com. Sarum.
Com. Marfrel.
Confrancia domine de Dispenfor.

Dominis de Malbyan, Dom. de Yeer,
Dom. de Poyngett, &
Dom. de Gumonia.

Cuilibet earum v. uln. dicti panni blank. dim. uln. dicti panni blu & i furrur. de coc ventr. Min. pur.

Ac venerabili patri W. Episcopo Wynton de confim. dono ipsius Dom. R. contra idem festum i panni blanket long. i mantel. de coc ventr. i capuc. de xl ventr. Min. pur. i furrur. de coc ventr. Min. gross. & i furrur. de cal best.

Tuen in p. 168, in this Entry. Dom. Katrina Sappford ad i robam de liberat. confitratum S. Georgii de panni blanket long. fac. & furr. cum Min. pur. & ad capuc. lin. cum panni blu long. de secta aliarum Dominorum de eadem societate contra festum S. Georgii anno xiiii. per literam de privato sigillo eidem iussu direct. dat. 8 die Aug. anno xii. It is thus dated in this Book.

^d E Libro

^d 12th, and ^e 13th of Richard II. and again in the 22d of the same King, before which Time this Thomas had been advanced to the Earldom of Worcester; and in this latter Year also the then Earls of Gloucester and Salisbury

^d E Libro Comit in Offic. magn. Garder. p. 173.
 Dominis Duci Lancastrie, Duci Eborac, Duci Glouc. & diversis Comit. Baron. & Milit. de societate Garteriarum ad rob. de pann. blu long. qualibet rob. de il. gata. fac. & furrur. ad capuc. earundem rob. lin. cum pann. nigr. long. de dono Dom. R. contra festum S. Georgii anno xii qualibet rob. broudat. cum Garteris operat. in broudat. de Taffeta blu auro de Cyp. aur. foldat. & cum literis de ferico cum dictamine, Honi sui qd mal & pnest, viz. prefato

Duci Lancastrie, Duci Eborac, Duci Glouc.
 Com. Derb.
 Com. Kanc.
 Com. Arundel,
 Com. Warr.
 Com. Sarum,
 Com. Northumberl.
 Com. Marsc.
 Com. Huntington,
 Dom. de Basset, &
Edo. filio Ducis Eborac.

Cuilbet eorum v. ulnas pann. blu long. dim. uln. pann. nigr. long. & i furr. de cc. ventr. Min. pur. Es

Dominis Guidoni de Brian,
Willmo Beauchamp,
Petro Courtenay,
Filibani Devereux,
Henrico Percy,
Thoma Percy,
Lodovico Clifford,
Brian de Stapulton, &
Nicholas Sarnesfield, Militibus.

Cuilbet eorum v. uln. disti panni, & dim. uln. disti panni nigri & i furrur. de cxx ventr. Min. grano.

Ac etiam diversis Dominibus subscrip. ad conf. robas de conf. pann. blu fac. & fur. cum Min. pur & capuc. lin. cum conf. pann. nigr. & qualibet rob. broudat. cum Garteris de festa dictorum Dominorum de conf. dono R. contra idem festum S. Georgii, viz.

Dom. Regine viii uln. pann. blu long. dim. uln. pan. nigr. long. & ii furrur. utraq; de cc. ventr. Men. pur.

Ducisse Lancastrie xiv uln. ejusdem pann. blu dim. uln. panni nigri & ii furrur. utraq; de cc. ventr. Men. pur.

Ducisse Eborac vii uln. ejusdem pann. blu dim. uln. ejusdem pann. nigri. & ii furrur. utraq; de cc. ventr. Men. pur.

Ducisse Glouc.
 Comitisse Derb.
 Com. Kanc.
 Com. Hunt.
 Com. Oxon.
 Com. Sarum,
 Com. Marsc.,
Constance Dominæ de Spenc.
 Dom. de Malvoyn,
 Dom. de Pery,
 Dom. de Poynges,
 Dom. de Comey, &
Katherine Seynford.

Cuilbet eorum v. uln. disti panni. blu. dim. uln. disti panni nigri & i furrur. de cc. ventr. Men. pur.

Ac venerabili patri nostro Willmo Episcopo Winton de conf. dono ipsius Dom. R. contra Idem festum i panni. blu long. i Mantel. de cccc. ventr. i capuc. de cxi ventr. Men. pur. i furrur. de cccc. ventr. i furrur. de ccc. ventr. Min. gros. & i furr. de biss. de cxi. best. per eandem literam de privato filio.

^e E Libro Comit in Offic. Magnæ Garderobæ, p. 183. &

Dominis Duci Aquitan. & Lancastrie Duci Ebor. Duci Glouc. ac diversis Com. Baron. & Milit. de Societate Garteriarum ad rob. de pann. sanguin. long. in gr. de dono Dom. Regis contra festum S. Georgii anno xiii qualibet rob. broudat. cum Garteris de Taffeta blu operat. in broudat. cum aur. de Cyp. aur. foldat. & cum literis de ferico plunkett de dictamine, Honi sui qd mal & pnest, pref. Dominis

Duci Aquitan.
 Duci Ebor.
 Duci Glouc.
 Com. Derb.
 Com. Kanc.
 Com. Huntington,
 Com. Arundel,
 Com. Warr.
 Com. Sarum,
 Com. Northumb.
 Com. Marsc.
 Com. Rotel, &
 Dom. de Basset.

Cuilbet eorum v. ulnas pann. sanguin. in grano dim. uln. pan. nigr. long. & i furrur. de cc. ventr. Menevoit pur &

Dom. Guidoni Brian,
Will. Beauchamp,
Petro Courtenay,
John Devereux,
Tho. Percy,
Henr. Percy,
Nich. Sarnesfield, & Lodovic Clifford, & Brian Stapulton, Mil'

Cuilbet eor. v. uln. pred. pann. sanguin. disti uln. disti pann. nigri. & i fur. de cxx ventr. Min. pur.

Ac etiam diversis Dominibus subscrip. ad conf. robas fac. & furrur. ac broudat. de festa Dominorum & Milit. præ viz.

Dom. Regine viii uln. dim. pann. sanguin. dim. uln. disti pann. nigr. & duas fur. utraq; de cc. ventr. Min. pur.

Ducisse Aquitan. xiv uln. ejusd. pann. sanguin. dim. uln. pan. nigr. & ii furr. utraq; de cc. ventr. Min. pur.

Ducisse Ebor. vii uln. ejusd. pann. sanguin. dim. uln. pann. nigr. & ii fur. utraq; de cc. ventr. Min. pur.

Ducisse Glouc.
 Comitisse Derb.
 Com. Kanc.
 Com. Hunt.
 Com. Oxon.
 Com. Sarum,
 Com. Marsc.

Salisbury (that is Thomas Spenser and John Montacute) had the like of Livery; yet all these Persons are omitted out of the Catalogue; as is also the Lord Scrope,

Coufear, Dom. de Spens, Dom. de Mabon,
Dom. de Yer,
Dom. de Passenger,
Dom. de Gumme,
Dom. de Tryer,
Dom. de Beauchamp,
Dom. Fitzmaurice; & Katerina Swinford.

Cullibet eorum v. uln. pann. fanguin. dim. uln. pann. nigr. & i furr. de ce. ventr. min. pur.
Ac venerabili patri W. Wynto Epifcopo ad. i rob. de conf. dono R. contra idem festum S. Georgii i pann. fanguin. in grano, i mantell. de C. ventr. i capuc. de crs. ventr. Min. pur. i fur. de v. C. ventr. i fur. de coct. ventr. Min. grof. & i fur. de Bill de cal. bell. per eandem literam de privato sigillo.

J Computus Juan. Mactlesfield custodia magn. Garderob. a festo S. Mich. anno 22 Rich. II. ad festum S. Mich. prox. pates Roman. Regis in Scaccario.

Super broadatur. & talliatur. MDCIX Gart. de Satyn trarrin. taffar. blu ordnat. pro liberat. fratemitatis Garterii erga festum S. Georgii hoc anno.

Pro factur. & broadat. DCCCXVI Garter. operat in broadat. ad modum Fawdeley de tartrini blu auro de Cypro auro folido & serico divers. color. cum literis de dictamine, Hony sui q. mal y pefe, ad perfumand. liberat. Garter. erga festum S. Georgii hoc anno.

Ad unam gown long. cum manicis larg. & i capuc. de panno scarlet operat. in broadat. cum Garter. de Satyn blu serico. & auro de Cypro cum dictamine, Hony sui q. mal y pefe, dict. gown. furr. cum min. pur. & purill. cum Erm. capuc. linat. cum pann. nigr. long. fac. pro dicto Dom. Rege. contra festum S. Georgii infra tempus computi.

v. uln. dim. pann. scarlet.
dim. uln. pann. nigr. long.
moxerivi ventr. Min. pur.
xi bell. Ermyn.

Ad factur. iv MDCIX Garter. de Satyn trartrin & taffar. blu linat. cum Botram & Cand. blu broadat. cum auro de Cypro auro folido. & serico divers. color. cum literis de serico planket cum dictamine Hony sui q. mal y pefe, ordnat. & broadat. ad modum Fawdeley pro diversis robis de panno scarlet pro Dom. nostro Rege, Duce Elorum, Ducibus Geldr. Exon. Albemurilla, & aliis Ducibus, Marchione de Dorset, Comite Deffrevant, Comitibus Northumb. Wygern, & aliis Comitibus & Baronibus de Societate Garter. Dom. Isabella Reginae Anglie, Reginae Portugalia, Ducibus Geldr. & aliis Ducibus Comitibus & ceteris Dominibus de facta & liberat. Garter. praed. erga festum S. Georgii hoc anno 22. pro factura DCCCXVII Garter. de tartrini blu linat. cum Carde blu operat. in broadat. cum auro de Cypro, auro plate & serico divers. color. cum literis de serico planket de dictamine, Hony sui q. mal y pefe, ordnat. & broadat. ad modum Fawdeley pro diversis robis de panno scarlet pro Dom. Rege, Duce Elor. ac aliis Ducibus, Comit. & Baron. de Societate Garter. contra festum S. Georgii hoc anno 22. ordnat.

Duci Elorum, & aliis Ducibus, Marchion. Comit. & Baronibus subscript. ad robas suas de liberat. Societatis Garter de panno. scarlet. & broadat. cum dictamine, Hony sui q. mal y pefe, contra festum S. Georgii hoc anno 22 fac. & furr. vna. dicto

Duci Elorum, Ducibus Bretar.
Briata.
Geldr.
Surrey.
Exon. & Albemurilla,
Marchioni de Dorset, Comitibus Northumb.
Sarum.
Offrenton.
Wygern.
Gloucester. &
Willa.

Praefatis Ducibus Bretar. Brian. Geldr. & Comit. D'Offrenton, cullibet pro robis sua v. uln. pann. scarlet. dim. uln. pann. nigr. long. & i furr. utriq. de ecc. ventr. Men. pur. Et praefat. Duci Elorum & aliis Ducibus, Marchion. & Comit. cullibet eorum v. uln. pann. scarlet. dim. uln. pann. nigr. long. & i furr. de ce. ventr. Men. pur. Ac etiam

Wll. Beauchamp,
Peter Courtenay,
Johann le Roach,
William d'Arundell
Simon Feltrige, &
Isorke Percy, Militibus.

Cullibet eorum pro Roba sua conf. v. uln. pann. scarlet. dim. uln. pann. nigr. long. & i furr. de cxx ventr. Min. grof.

Dominæ Isabella Reginae Anglie, Reginae Portugalia, & Ducibus Geldr.

Ad robas suas de conf. panno. scarlet. de liberat. Garter. praed. vna. praefatis Dom. Isabella viii uln. pann. scarlet. dim. uln. pann. nigr. long. & i furr. utraq. de ecc. ventr. Men. pur. Et dicta Reginae Portugalia, & Ducibus Geldr. utraq. eorum v. uln. pann. scarlet. dim. uln. pann. nigr. long. & i furr. utraq. de ecc. ventr. Men. pur.

iiii pan. vi. uln. pan. scarlet xi uln. dim. pan. nigr. long.
vi MCC ventr. } Men. } pur.
DCCXX ventr. } } grof.

Ducibus Elorum,
Ducibus Hibernie, Ducibus Exon,
Marchioni de Dorset, Comitibus Kent.
Oxon.
Sarum.
Glouc. &
Wiltshire, ac etiam

Dominæ de Molyn,
Dom. Passenger,
Dominibus de Beauchamp, Faxtoner, Grancy,

Scope, [Henry of Mafham] mentioned in the Wardrobe-Roll 1 Hen. V. (who gave a ^b Legacy to the Church of Windsor;) and which is very memorable, when his Attainder was ratified in ¹ Parliament, this explanatory Clause was inserted, "That his Punishment reflected no Dishonour upon the other Companions of this Noble, Excellent, and Venerable Military Order of the Garter, which was at first laudably erected for Blanche Braddish,

Agnes Arundel, &
Dominabus de Roos, Cary, &
Triver.

Cullibet eorum ad conf. robas suas erga dictum festum fac. & furr. & ad capac. similiter linat. de panni, nigr. long. v. uln. panni. scarlet. dim. uln. panni. nigr. long. & i furr. de cc. ventr. Men. pur.

Et venerabili patri Willmo Wynton Episcopo ad unam robam suam de iiii garnimentis ad conf. panni. scarlet. erga dict. festum S. Georgii fac. & furr. viz. i panni. scarlet. i furr. de DC ventr. Men. pur. i furr. de cccc ventr. Men. gr. i furr. de cccc ventr. Men. pur. & i furr. de cal. best. de Byll.

iiii panni. ai uln. pan. scarlet ix uln. dim. panni. nigr. long.
iiii M. DXL. vente. } Men. } pur.
DCCLX. ventr. } } gros.
i furr. de cal. best. Byll.

N. B. The Name above John Rouch, is in error in the Original, having a Dash through the i at the End as a Contrailion for ex, and is undoubtedly mispelled for John Bourghier or Boucher, then Knight of the Garter.

† Liberatare facta diversis Dominis Dominabus Comitibus Comitissis, Ducibus, Ducissis, & aliis Militibus contra festum S. Georgii.

Duci Holland, Duci Clarenc, & aliis diversis Comitibus, Baronibus, & Militibus subscriptis, ad robas suas de panno blanket long. fact. de dono Domini Regis erga festum S. Georgii anno primo, qualibet rob. broadet. cum Garteris de tart yn operat' in broad. in auro & serico de Cipte, & cum distamine. Huy sui q' nulz pense, viz.

Duci Holland viii uln. panni blanket long. dim. uln. panni nigri long. ii furr. utraq. de cc ventr. Men. pur. & cxx Garteris.

Duci Clarenc,
Com. Arundel,

utriq. eorum viii uln. panni blanket long. dim. uln. panni nigri long. i furr. de cc ventr. Menev. pur. cxx Garteris.

Dominis Johanni & Unfo's Fratribus Regis,

Duci Eborum,
Com. Wim'land,
Com. Wer, &
Dom. de Gry.

Cullibet eorum vi uln. panni blanket long. dim. uln. panni nigri long. & Doumno de Gry i furr. de cxx ventr. cullibet ai. v. dominorum i furr. de cc ventr. Menev. pur. & Dominis Johanni & Henrico utriq. eorum cxx Garter & cullibet aliorum iiii Dominorum C. Garter.

Dom. de Fizburgh, &
Dom. de Roos,

utriq. eorum vi uln. panni blanket long. dim. uln.

panni nigri long. i furr. de cxx ventr. Menev. pur. & C. Garter.

Dom. Dorset,
Dom. de Burgh,
Dom. de Charleton,
Dom. de Morley,
Dom. Scroop,
Dom. Talbot,
Rob. Umfraville,
Johanni Debridgeman,
Tho. Erpingham,
Simoni de Felbyger, Johanni Stawley, &
Johanni Cornewall,

Cullibet eorum v uln. panni blanket long. dim. uln. panni nigri long. cxx ventr. Menev. pur. C. Garter.

Regine Agnes viii uln. panni blanket long. viii uln. panni nigr. long. ii furr. utraq. eorum ccc ventr. Menev. pur.

Ducisse Clarenc, Comitissis Hunt,
Com. Westm'land,
Com. Dorset,
Com. Arundell,
Com. Sarum, jun.
Domine Beauchamp,
Dom. de Roos,
Dom. de Waverton,

Cullibet eorum v. uln. panni blanket long. dim. uln. panni nigri long. i furr. de cc ventr. Menev. pur. & C. Garter.

Ducisse Eborum, sen.
Ducisse Eborum, jun.
Comitissis Sarum, sen.

Cullibet eorum v. uln. panni blanket long. dim. uln. panni nigri long. & i furr. de cc ventr. Menev. pur.

Ac etiam venerabili patri Episcopo Winton ad rob. suam de conf. dono ipsius Dom. R. erga idem festum S. Georgii un. panni. blanket long. un. nantell. DC ventr. i capac. cxi ventr. de Men. pur. i furr. de cccc ventr. furr. de cccc ventr. men. gros. & i furr. de cal. best. de Byll.

This was at the End of a Roll remaining in the Pelle-Office in 1632, Intituled, Liberat. Dom. Regis Henrici Quinti facti. diversis Dominis, Dominabus, Militibus, Clericis, Scutiteris, valetis & aliis diversis personis contra Coronationem suam Anno Regni sui primo. Wores of the Collector had a Copy taken at that Time.

† Rymer vol. 2. p. 274. Lego Collegio de Windsor unum vestimentum nobile de alba veste de Cipte.

† Rot. Parl. 3 Hen. V. p. 1. n. 6. — Et quia predictus Henricus Dominus Lejor est unus militum de illo inclito & excellenti Ordine militari de la Garzar, qui pro fortificatione Fideli, Regis, Regni, & Reili providitus fuerat laudabiliter inductus: Ipse tamen Henricus, licet in eodem ordine pro delicto suo iuste habeatur reprobus, non tamen ordinem illum venerabilem, hinc, qui in eodem digno utantur, pejorari, nec reprobari quiqu; presumant.

"the

“ the Strengthening of the Faith, of the King, of the Kingdom, and of “ Right or Justice.” The Lord Zouche is also omitted out of the Catalogues, though he received the Robes of this ^k Order in the 4th of Hen. V. according to Mr. Rymer, who might however mistake in placing the Fourth for the Third Year of that Reign; and it will not be esteemed too foreign a Digression to settle the Chronology of this Instrument.

That most worthy Antiquary gave this Collector a Copy of the entire Roll, transcribed from the Office of the Chamberlains of the Exchequer, from whence he printed this, and some other Extracts: The Title thereof imports an Account of the Wardrobe from 1 Oct. 3. Hen. V. to the same Day in the following Year; and the Entry of these Habits being inserted towards the End of this Roll, 'tis reasonable to believe Mr. Rymer was thereby induced, without any farther Examination, to place them under the 4th Year; whereas 'tis certain that this Lord Zouche

^k Rymer vol. 9. p. 335. Liberationes erga festum Sancti Georgii Anno 4 Hen. V. [in quo (ni fallor) menduan irreplet pro anno Tertio.]

Regi Portugalia, Regi Dacia, Duci Hollandie, Duci Bavaria, Duci Croatia, Duci Beddefordie, Duci Gloucestria & aliis Comitibus, Baronibus, & Militibus de Fraternitate Garterianum, erga festum Sancti Georgii ad robas scilicet de panno blu longi facienda & furranda de dono Domini nostri Regis, quilibet Roba operata in brouder cum Garteris de tarturin tasiat auro de Cypre & auro soldato cum isto dictamine, Hony sui qui mal y pense, videlicet predictis, Regibus Portugalia & Dacia, Duci Hollandia, Duci Bavaria,

cuilibet eorum viii ulnas panni coloris blu longi dimidium ulnae panni scarlet. ii furras utraq; de coc ventribus Menev. pur. cxx Garteris de tarterin operata cum literis de auro de Cypre & serico de dictamine predicto. Et predictis

Duci Croatia, Ducisse Beddefordie,
Duci Gloucestria, ac
Comiti Westmorlandia, Comiti Warrenia, Comiti Dorsetia, Comiti Sarum, Comiti Huntingdonia, & Comiti Oxonia,

cuilibet eorum v. ulnas panni coloris consimilis longi dimidium uln. panni scarlet. unum furratum de coc ventri. Menev. pur. & cxx Garteris consimil.

Et Domino de Fitzbugh,

Domino de Grey,
Domino de Burnell, Domino de Carleton,
Domino Morle, Domino de Talbot, Domino de Zouche,
Domino de Comoy,
Roberto Unfravile,
Thome Epyngham,
Simoni Feibrigg, Johanni Cornwall, & Willelmo Haryngton, cuilibet eorum v. uln. panni coloris consimilis longi dimidium uln. panni scarlet. i furr. de coc ventri. Menev. gross. & cxx Garter. consimil.

Ac etiam diversis Dominibus subscriptis ad consimiles robas, scilicet, faciendas & furrandas in brouder. cum Garter. de festa Dominorum & aliorum Militum de consimili dono Regis, videlicet

Regina Anglia,
Regina Hispania,
Regina Portugalia,
Regina Dacia, & Ducissa Hollandia,

cuilibet earum viii uln. panni coloris consimilis longi ii furr utraq; de iii c. ventri. Menev. pur. cxx Garter. consimil.

Ducisse Croatia, Ducisse Eborum, seniori, Ducisse Eborum, juniore, Comitisse Huntingdonia, Comitisse Sarum, juniore, Comitisse Westmorlandia, Comitisse Arundelia,
Domina de Beauchamp,
Domina de Roos, &
Domina de Waterson,

cuilibet earum v. uln. panni coloris consimilis longi i furr. de coc ventri. Menev. pur. & cxx Garter. consimil.

Et venerabili in Christo Patri Episcopo Wyntonensi, de consimili dono Regis, erga idem festum i panni. color. consimil. longi i Mantellam furratam de ivc. i furr. de coclx ventribus Menev. gross. & i furratam de cxl bestis de Byf. de dono Domini nostri Regis.

ix panni. viii uln. panni. color. longi.
xiii uln. panni. scarlet.
xviii Qualibet de coc ventri.	} furr. } Men. pur.
xix Qualibet de coc ventri.
i de DC ventri.	} furr. Men. gross.
i de cxl ventri. capuc.
i de cccc ventri.	} furr. Men. gross.
i de coc ventri.
xiii qualibet de coc ventri.	} furr. Men. gross.
i de cxl bestis furr. de Byf.
iy M. ix c. xx. de serico. & auro. Garter. rotund.

dyed

dyc'd¹ on the Third or Fourth of November in the third Year, and in all probability before he received an actual Installation, since his Name occurs not in the Windsor-Tables, which omit Persons in such Circumstances: For the bare preparing the Robes for this Lord, is no plain Proof of an Installation, as will soon appear in the Case of the King of Denmark.

It is evident these Habits must have been prepared after the Fifth of August in this Third Year, because otherwise the Name of the Lord Scrope, who was not^m Attainted 'till that Day, would have been mentioned herein: And indeed this Account commencing from the First of October, we can come nearer the Time, when this Feast must have been held, since the Earl of Arundel is omitted, whoⁿ lived 'till the 13th of October, in this Third Year, and this Lord Zouche dy'd in the Beginning of November following; so that of course it must have been celebrated in that short Interval: The Relict of this Earl of^o Arundel however received the Habits of this Order, to whom (by the Way) the Jewels and^p valuable Moveables of her Husband were afterwards delivered, among which was "Una toga de Garters furrata cum Menyver:" And that it was his Widow that had then these Robes is evident, in that after his Death, this Earldome was in suspense and for some time controverted.

The Reader must be cautioned to guard against the Manner of Printing the Names of the Duke of Holland and the Duke of Barvaria in two separate Lines by Mr. Rymer (which is followed in the Note k) and not thereby to understand two different Persons, for these were the Titles or Appellations of the same Individual. Neither is it here any ways intended to be insinuated, that this Lord Zouche was elected into the Stall vacated by the Attainder of the Lord Scrope; for he was, without doubt, elected into the Prince's Stall. To explain this Matter, we are to observe there are Twenty Five Companions enumerated, who received these Habits in this Third Year, which with the Sovereign, must compleat the whole Number: Now there is another^q List remaining of the Knights of this Order contemporary with the Emperor Sigismund, which will be soon ascertained to the fourth Year of Hen. V. wherein all the same Persons, named in this first List, are mentioned in this latter One, save only this Emperor supplies the Place of this Lord Zouche, ⁿ Efc. 4 H. 5. n. 54 Norf.

¹ Efc. 3 H. 5. n. 46.

^m Efc. 16 H. 6. n. 59 Ebor.

^o Vide supra ad notam K.

^p Clauf. 4 H. 5. m. 23.

^q MS in Coll. Trinit. Cantab. Claff. R. 9. 14. folio penultimo. Ita sunt nomina Ordinis Sancti Georgii Anno quo Sigismundus Rex Romanorum fuit in Anglia tempore Regis Henrici Quinti.

Rex Romanorum,
Rex Anglie & Francie,
Rex Dacie,
Rex Portugaliæ,
Dux Glancie,
Dux Bedfordie,
Dux Gloucestrie,
Dux Hollandie,

Comes Hunyngdonie,
Comes Warrenchie,
Comes Dorsetie,
Comes Oxonie,
Comes Saleisburienfis, Comes Westmorlandie, Dominus de Poyt, Dominus de Gray,
Dominus de Talbot,
Dominus de Fuzburgh, Dominus de Kammus, Dominus de Burnell,
Dominus de Marie,
Dom. Thomas Erpingham,
Dom. Johannes Cornemayll,
Dom. Symon Felbrig,
Dom. Robertus Umfravile,
Dom. Willielmus Haryngton,

wherefore

wherefore it must of course follow, that this Emperor must have been elected into the Vacancy occasioned by his Death.

There is indeed a Variance at first Sight in these Lists, in that the Lord Charlton is named in the Former, and the Lord Powys in the Latter; but the same Person is designed by these Entries; where, in the First, he is denominated by his Surname, in the Second by the Title of his Barony: And though this latter List of the Companions coævous with the Emperor, hath no Date affixed thereto in the Manuscript; yet it contains Characteristicks to fix its Era to the Fourth of Hen. V. because the Lord Morle herein named ⁷ died on the 24th of September in that Year, and the Earl of Oxford on the 15th of February following; and even its very Title shews, that these Persons were Knights of the Garter while this Emperor was in England.

This Emperor is indeed said in the Windsor-Tables to succeed Sir John d'Abricourt in the Prince's Stall, which means no more than that this Sir John was his immediate Predecessor, that had really been Installed therein, and for Want of that Ceremony the Name of the Lord Zouche was omitted; as upon the same Account the Names of the Emperor Albert, and of Edward Son of Hen. VI. who succeeded this Emperor in this same Stall, do not occur in these Tables: But the main Difficulty in this Succession of this Emperor is, that ¹ Mr. Ashmole places the Death of this Sir John in the Fifth of Hen. V. and in Truth one John d'Abricourt died on the 23d of November in that ² Year, who left a Son of the same Name then eleven Years old; though ³ it is evident this Person could not be our Knight of the Garter, since not only the Black Book and Records hereafter cited, place the Election of this Emperor in the fourth Year; but we know that the Plate of our Knight (which still remains in the Prince's Stall) was set up at Windsor after his ⁴ Death in the Third of Hen. V. and therefore the Knight of the Garter seems to be that Sir John d'Abricourt who made his ⁵ Will on Friday after the Feast of St. James the Apostle, A. D. 1415, and which was proved on the Last of November following.

Here then are incontestable Evidences of the first Assertion, That the Names of several Companions are not inserted in the present Catalogues, and in the Sequel of this Introduction it will be shewn, that the Earl of Kent, who received the Habits in the 11th, 12th, and 13th of Richard the Second, is also omitted out of them. And whenever more Accounts of the Wardrobe shall be discovered, we may possibly be furnished with several other Instances of the like Nature. And to make such a Search less painful to any Persons who shall take that Task, the Publisher takes Leave, by way of Information, to acquaint them, that he entirely lost his Labour in the Pipe-Office, where it was reasonable to

⁷ Efc. 4 H. 5. n. 49.

¹ Efc. 4 H. 5. n. 53.

² History of the Garter, p. 319.

³ Efc. 5 H. 5. n. 29. Wilts.

⁴ Computus Willimi Tyrith Thesaurarii Capellæ de Windsor, tertio Hen. V. Dat uni nuncio Ducis Claudia portanti unam mantelam Dom. Johannis d'Abricourt & scutum armorum ejusdem post mortem suam Collegio pertinet. Item dat. Johanni Ryby equitanti ad Executores Johannis d'Abricourt pro mantela. In Erario Wyndeſor.

⁵ In Registro Philippi Remyngdon Episcopi Lincola.

suppose these Accounts might have been entred yearly, at the End of the Great Rolle, as 'tis termed, or among the Computi forinseci: And which is to be lamented, the Wardrobe-Office it self affords nothing to this purpose prior to the Reign of Hen. VIII. save only some Transcripts in a Book called Cotom from the ^s Clerk, who collected it under Hen. VI. wherein too we have only the Names of the Knights who received these Habits in the 11th, 12th, and 13th of Richard II. and 22d of Hen. VI. But these Defects may be in some manner supplied by a diligent Search in the Offices of the Chamberlains of the Exchequer and of the King's Remembrancer: In the Former the abovementioned Account of the Third of Hen. V. was found, and from the Later were copied the Others herein cited; where it is supposed several more still remain intermixed with an innumerable Quantity of most valuable Instruments which lie there in the utmost Confusion, and buried in Dust to that Degree, that 'till the same shall be removed by Porters, that private Gentleman will deserve the Character of the strongest Bias to Antiquities, that, without such a Preparation, will adventure the Hazard of his Health in a Pursuit so dirty and fatiguing.

It is also probable that there may be Signers and Privy Seals touching these Robes, as likewise for Payments of the Charges of St. George's Feast, Fees of Installation of Foreigners, &c. in the White Chappel within the Tower of London, from which Place an Instrument will be soon quoted: But this great Storehouse labours under the Misfortune of the Want of Index's of the Contents of the Records there lodged.

After these certain Proofs of the Omissions of the Names of several Companions, an Indulgence is craved to propose an Enquiry, whether the Register of the Garter itself doth not indicate to us a King of Denmark to have been a Knight of this Order in the Reign of Hen. VI. and the Beginning of Edward IV. whose Name occurs not in the Catalogue, and to examine if this Conjecture receives Support from any publick Instrument.

The Windfor-Tables mention only one King of Denmark, without the Addition of any Christian Name; and Erick IX. is numbered 123 by Mr. Afemole, who places him among the Knights elected by Hen. V. who was indeed his Nephew. ¹Dr. Heylin hath observ'd, that our Genealogists have mistaken the Christian Name of the King of this Place, who married Philippa second Daughter of our Hen. IV. miscalling him John, an Error which ^mMr. Saunders hath left uncorrected; for our ⁿRecords are positive in her Marriage to this Erick, who had been declared by his Aunt to be her Successor in that Throne, and for the greater Security had been crowned in A. D. 1396, and obtaining the Name of King of Denmark by this adoption, began to reign after his Aunt's Death in A. D. 1412.

The ^oInstruments printed in this Essay, prove him a Companion of this Order in '3 & 4 Hen. V.; and he must certainly be that King of ^z Vile p. 286. in dicto libro.

¹ Hist. of St. George, p. 424.

^m General. Hist. p. 276.

ⁿ Scot. 1, 2, & 3 H. 4. de Sponsalibus. Fran. 7 H. 4. Pat. 7 H. 4. &c.

^o See above P. 15. Note k, and p. 16. Note g.

Denmark who is placed in these Windsor-Tables as immediate ^p Successor to Robert Count Palatin, Duke of Bavaria, in the eighth Stall on the Sovereign's Side; which Duke (afterwards Emperor) died at Oppenheim on 1 June, A. D. 1410. And these same Tables make Anthony Wideville Lord Scales immediate Successor in this Stall to the King of Denmark, which Lord being not mentioned in the Register as a Knight of the Garter till the 7th Year of Edw. IV, A. D. 1467, there then is the Space of 57 Years wherein the King of Denmark is only inserted as possessing this Stall: And 'tis to be examined, whether this indeterminate Expression of the King of Denmark, may not mean several Kings of that Place in Succession.

But it may not be improper first to observe, that this Stall being vacant A. D. 1410, this Erick might have been elected thereto by his Father-in-law Hen. IV, otherwise it must have continued empty many Years beyond the Time limited in the ⁹ Statutes for a new Election: And the Omission of the Name of this King out of the List of those ^r Knights, who received the Habits of this Order in 1 Hen. V, is no Proof against this Supposition; for only Twenty three Companions are then named: And the Weakness of such a negative Argument is evident even in the Case of this King, for though he with his Queen Philippa (a Lady of a true ancient Englissh Spirit, who in Person carried on a ¹ War during her Husband's absence) received such Robes in the Third of ^t Hen. V, yet neither of them received this Habit in the ⁹ 9th Year; for though this * Queen might be dead before that Time, yet this King did then take his Oath for the Observance of the Statutes of this Order, whereon, as the ⁷ Register informs us, his Ensigns were hung up in the Chappel at Windsor, and a ² Record assures us, Hen. VI, in his third Year, paid the Fees that had been due on that account; and from this Year to the Fifteenth of this King, there are Excuses entred in the Register for the Absence of the King of Denmark, which without all Doubt relate to this Erick, who soon afterwards abdicated his Throne A. D. 1438. about 17 Hen. VI.

Notwithstanding this Abdication, Excuses for the Absence of the King of Denmark are continued in the Register down to the First of Edw. IV, A. D. 1461 inclusive, which embarrass us with this Difficulty, whether all these Entries can be thought to Design this Erick, who after his Resignation retired into Pomerania, where he lived in a private Retreat, but died before the Commencement of the Reign of Edward IV, viz. A. D. 1459, about 38 Hen. VI.

'Tis certain that the Lord Scales (afterwards Earl Rivers) placed in these Tables as immediate Successor to the King of Denmark, was not

^p Heylin's Hist. of St. George, p. 352.

⁴ Art. 18.

^r See above p. 14. Note g.

¹ Loccenii Hist. Suecan. p. 120.

² See above p. 15. Note k.

^{*} This Note will be inserted hereafter in the Life of Sir Simon Felbridge.

⁷ Cluver. Epit. Hist. p. 733, A. D. 1430.

⁹ Vide dictum Registrum.

² Exit Pell. 3 H. 6. Decano & Canonico Collegii

de Windsore de avifamento & assensu Consilii Regis, viz. pro ipso Domino Rege xl marc. & pro Rege Dacia xx lib. prout inter alios articulos Statutorum de Honorabili ordine de Gariera ordinatum existit, viz. quod quilibet Socius dicti ordinis secundum ejus statum ad suum primum introitum dictis Decano & Canonico donabit certam summam monetæ, viz. Rex Anglie xl marc. & alius Rex Extraneus xx lib. prout in dictis Statutis plenius continetur.

born at this Time of Erick's Abdication, for he was only Thirty Years Old in May, 12 Edw. IV, A. D. 1472, at the Death of his Mother Jaquet Duchefs of Bedford.

The Register of the Garter is silent from the 15th to the 22d or rather 23d of Hen. VI, and the Conjecture which is here offered, that in this Interval another King of Denmark might have been elected into this Stall seems to be favoured, if not fully supported by a ^b Warrant dated 15 Sept. 24 Hen. VI. A. D. 1445, for the Delivery of a Garter to John Fettplace, to be carried by him to the King of Denmark, a Method observed upon Elections into this Order; and 'tis farther observable, that in December this same Year a Reference is made to a ^c Peace (as 'tis there expressed) lately entered into between the Kings of England and Denmark, which can hardly be conceived to relate to this Erick.

Now at the Time of sending this Garter, Christopher of Bavaria was King of Denmark, who after an Anarchy upon Erick's Abdication, was prevailed upon to accept that Throne and was crowned on the ^d First of January, A. D. 1440, and ^e lived 'till the Ides of January 1448-9; so that Fettplace might be sent to him with this Ensign of the Order, who might thereon succeed Erick in this Stall wherein his own Grandfather, Robert of Bavaria the Emperor abovementioned, had been formerly placed.

But even after the Death of this Christopher, there are Excuses still entered on in this Register, for a King of Denmark, down to A. D. 1461, which at first Sight one should be tempted to imagine, meant his Successor Christiern crowned on 28 October 1448, especially as to that Part of this Time which is subsequent to the Death of Erick in 1459, and even during Erick's Life in private Retirement, it looks like an Impropriety in Language, as well as Absurdity in Politicks, to attribute to him the Title of King of Denmark absolutely, while at the same time there were several Intercourses and Treaties made with this Christiern as ^f King of that Realm. This latter is in some Catalogues reckoned as a Knight of the Garter, and said to be ^g elected in the Reign of Hen. V. which is inconsistent with Chronology: And indeed if he be denoted by these latter Entries in the Register, as elected in or after the Year 1448, yet it may be doubted, whether he was originally designed to be placed in this Stall, because he lived 'till XI Kal. Jun. 1482, before which time, to wit in 1467, this Lord Scales was a Knight of this ^b Order according to the Windsor-Tables seated in this Stall; unless we suppose this Christiern King of Denmark (if he was of this Order) was either translated from it, or that upon some dissatisfaction he had either resigned, or been depriv-

^a Efs. 12 E. 4. Jacqueta Ducissa Bedford, obiit 30 May. & Antibonius Widesvik Comes de Rivers filius. & hæretus est. Ætatis 32 annorum & amplius.

^b Priv. Stigill. Hen. &c. To the Treasurer, &c. We wil and charge you, that unto our trusty and well-beloved Spier John Fettplace, ye do deliver a Garter of Gold, garnished with Sonies and Perlis of C. marc. or of lx pound. and xl pound in money for his Costs in bearing the said Gartere and byere unto the King of Denmark. Teven under our prive Seal at our Castell of Hertford, 15 Sept. in the yere of our regne xxviii.

There is no doubt but the Payment hereon may be found in the Pell. Rolle.

^c Rymer vol. xi. p. 168.

^d Chronologia Danie a Joh. Jani Suaningio Ripensis, p. 95.

^e Reyner Basilic. p. 215.

^f Rymer vol. xi. p. 264. &c. See a Treaty in 27, renewed in 28 Hen. 6. in Bibl. Cotton Nero B. 3. p. 35.

^g Mills de Nobilitate Politica & Civili, p. 167.

^h Vide Registrum Garterii in dicto anno.

ved upon a Rupture. But the Incertainty of settling the Stall to which he might be elected, is no Proof against the Fact of an Election, since his Son and 'Successor John, King of this Place, was certainly chosen in or before the 18th of Hen. VII., though his Name not occurring in these Tables for Want of an Installation, it will be some Difficulty to fix on his Stall; and from hence it also appears, that the bare Omissions of this Christopher and Christierne out of these Tables, are no convincing Arguments against the Probability of their Elections.

And here it may be some small Satisfaction to the Reader, to attempt the Discovery of the Occasion of the Defectiveness of these Catalogues; whoever shall take the Trouble to collate them with these Tables, will soon find, that these Catalogues were composed out of them, as to all the Time prior to the Commencement of the Annals of the Order, which to our Grief (as hath been already observ'd) run no higher than the Fourth of Hen. V.: Now by comparing these Tables with the Register since that Period, it will soon appear that the Elections of several Knights are contained in this Register, whose Names are not however mentioned in the Tables, in case these Knights did not receive actual Installations, or were afterwards deposed from the Order, upon Attainers; and hence it may be reasonably presumed, that the Names of former Knights that were never installed or had been deprived, were in the like manner omitted out of these Tables in the Years prior to the Era of this Register, and consequently could not be inserted in the Catalogues, which were composed only out of these Tables.

It will not be foreign to give some Proofs of these Particulars. The Register then of the Order (from its binding in black Velvet, commonly called the Black Book) records, among others, the Elections of

- Albert* Duke of Austria, n. 150.
- Alfonfus* King of Arragon, n. 162.
- Casimir* King of Poland, n. 163.
- William* Duke of Brunswich, n. 164.
- Sir Edward Hall, n. 169.
- The Emperor Frederick, n. 170.
- Francis Sfortia*, n. 192.
- Ferdinand* King of Castile, n. 216, &c.

and yet not One of these Persons is named in the Windsor-Tables, because every One of them died (as 'tis supposed) without Installation, and of course by the very Tenor of the Statutes, ^k "having not the full Possession of their State, could not be placed among the Founders:" So that it would have been an impropriety to have inserted any of their Names in these Tables, which, according to their Title, recite only the Successions in the Stalls.

^k Ibid. in dicto anno.

^l Stat. E. 3. Art. 19.

Then again, this same Book registers the Elections of John de Foix, Earl of Kendall, n. 156.

Lionel Lord Wells, n. 172.

The first Election of Jaspas Earl of Bedford, n. 175.

Richard Earl of Salisbury, n. 179.

Sir Richard Ratcliff, n. 222, &c.

and yet none of them is entred in these Tables, becaufe they were all degraded upon Attainders or deprived.

And 'tis more than bare Guess, that the same Omissions were in these Tables upon the like Circumstances before the Beginning of this Black Book, since Sir John Holland, the three Piercys, the Lord Scroope, and the Earls of Gloucester and Salisbury are not mentioned in them, though all these Persons have been incontestably proved Companions of the Gar-ter, so that doubtless their respective Attainders were the Occasions thereof.

Though great Use will be made of these Tables, it is superfluous to reprint them after ¹ Dr. Heylin and ^m Mr. Astmole; the former Author described them to be a " Monument almost eaten out with Time thex " placed in the Choir of Windsor, on each Side one," which when the Later wrote his History, had been removed, and were lodged in the Chapter-house there, from whence they have been since removed, stoln, or have entirely perished, by which misfortune an Antiquary loses the Satisfaction of an ocular Survey of them, whereby he might have been enabled, in some tolerable Degree, to have given his Conjectures of the Respective Ages of the different Hand-writings: So that now this Collector can only inform his Readers, that " about 55 Years after the Ere-ction of the (Order, if it was instituted in 18 Ed. III.) it was then the Custom to write the Names of the Knights into Tables, and that he as yet esteems them of the greatest Authority, having throughout all his researches found them consistent with Chronology, (the true Eye and Touchstone of Antiquities) save only in one or two Instances, which are easily reconcilable with it, upon a Supposition, that a Translation of Stalls was practised in these particular Cases.

With Reference to Materials for an History of the Gar-ter, Leave is here also taken to advertise the Reader, to prevent any future Loss of Time in searching, that very little Assistances can be obtained from the Arery of the Chapel of Windsor, where it was reasonable to believe the Fees for Installations due to that Church, and the Return of the Mantles of the Companions after their Deaths, might have been regularly entred; there are a great Number of Accounts of the Treasurers and Stewards still remaining, which contain nothing on these Subjects; but in those of the Præcentor's are some few Particulars, which will be mentioned incidently in the Sequel of this Essay. There are Eleven of this nature in the Reign of Rich. II. Four under Hen. IV. Five in the Time of Hen. V. and Eight in the Reign of Hen. VI. and from thence none 'till Philip and Mary, but scarce any thing mentioned in them of the Order, or of the Knights of the Garter.

¹ Hist. of St. George, p. 246.

^m In his Appendix.

ⁿ Computus Thome Martin Præcentoris Windsor 4 Hen. V. pro intratione nominum Militum Gar-teræ in Tabul. xxd. In Arario Windsor.

II. The second Propofition was, That the Names of some Knights are inferted in the Catalogues, who could not be Companions of this Order. This being a negative Affertion, muft in its own nature require a larger Share of the Reader's Patience; though it is hoped, the Arguments that fupport it, will, upon Attention, be found conclufive. And thefe Interpolations of Names have, in all probability, happened in the Cafe of a Foreigner, and of feveral Englifhmen.

The Duke of Briga feems an Instance of the firft Kind, numbered 118, as elected in the Reign of Hen. V. by Mr. Afmole, who pleafes himfelf with the ° Difcovery of him, quoting the Black Book for his Voucher, wherein he dealt very ingenuoufly, but it is to be examined whether his Guide did not miflead him.

The Words he refers us to, are indeed pofitive. “ Henrici Quinti anno ° Quarto circiter feptimum Maij folemnitas Divi Georgij celebrata eft Windefori, quo Sigifmundus Imperator Alemannicus — accessit; Quem paulo poft fubfecutus eft Dux Hollandiæ — Atq; hij duo cum præclaro Duce de Briga uno ex Comitatu Imperatoris ibidem creati funt Equites illuftriffimi illius Ordinis Divo Georgio nuncupati.”

His Evidence is then faithfully recited, but he might be too credulous in the Competency and Capacity of his Witnefs. This is the firft Entry in this Black Book of any Proceedings in this Order, and 'tis very unlucky and ominous, that the Collector of this Register fhould thus stumble in the Threhold, and be fo unfortunate to commit two grofs Miftakes at his fetting out, if this Passage fhould be conftrued to mean, that the Dukes of Holland and Briga were created or infalled Companions of the Garter at the fame Time with the Emperor Sigifmund, in this 4th of Hen. V.

Thefe Exprefions from an Officer of the Order, may be efteemed too harfh, or bold, to fuch Perfons who remember the Outcries and Exclamations, wherewith Mr. Vincent loaded and triumphed over Ralph Brooke, when he thought he touch'd on the Authority of this Register.

This being a tender Point, this Stone of Offence muft be firft removed; and it will be readily owned, that Brooke might deserve this Animadverfion for quoting this Book falſely, and in that Part of it too which muft be allowed to be an Original, for it is of that nature for the Facts fubſequent to the Time that Doctor Aldrydge was promoted to the Office of Register of the Order: But as to the Years preceding that Period, it will ſoon be evident 'tis no original Record, but only a Collection compiled by that Doctor, and with what Ability, Industry, and Care he performed that Task is to be the Subject of an Enquiry by Way of Preliminary.

° History of the Garter, p. 291.
? Registerium Garterii.

¶ Difcovery of the Errors of Ralph Brooke, in his Catalogue of Nobility, p. 707, 708.

Historical Pyrrhonism can be no discommendable Quality, with relation to any modern Authors who digest the Transactions of former Ages, though the Writers should be in eminent and exalted Stations; and such Compilations may be inoffensively examined with the most circumstantial Niceties, if not with a rigorous Exactness. And as no greater Injustice can be offered to this most Noble Order, than by inserting into the Annals of it Facts which do violence to contemporary Records and the common Faith of History, because such Interpolations must of course create Suspicions, and cast at least a Blemish upon the Residue; an Officer therefore must be justified in being scrupulously circumspect and frugal in his Belief, and may without Reserve take the Liberty of dissenting from any such modern Collector, when there is clear Evidence to contradict him.

It is necessary then to premise, That the former Part of this Black Book was compiled by this Dr. Robert Aldrydge, Fellow of King's College, Schoolmaster, then Provost of Eaton, at length Canon of Windfor, appointed Register on the Third, and sworn into the Office on 27 May 26 Hen. VIII. from thence afterwards advanced to the See of Carlisle. He acquired a Character in his Youth, for assisting Erasmus in collating Manuscripts, who styles him 'Blandæ Eloquentiæ Juvēnis; and being thus promoted to this Registry, upon the Strength of his Accomplishments in the Latin Tongue, he was either pitched upon, or voluntarily undertook to translate into that Language, the  Registrum Chartaceum* which had been wrote in French by his respective Predecessors in that Office.

There was indeed a Decree in a  Chapter* held by Henry the Seventh for the Transcribing the antient Annals, but the same extended not to Translating them into Latin, and 'tis to be lamented that it was ever undertaken; for notwithstanding that Language be permanent, and keeps fixed and steady, and consequently most intelligible to Posterity in Treatises of most Natures, yet in Subjects wherein technical Terms, Habits, Rites, Ceremonies, Fashions, Dignities, and Offices, unknown to the Roman Ages are to be described, very great Skill is required to express them aptly in classical Terms: And with what Judgement the Doctor performed his Part in these Niceties we are left to guess, since that most valuable French Register, which was preserved in the Paper-Office at Whitehall when Mr. Ashmole wrote his ' History, is not, (as the Editor hath been informed) at this time to be found there. However, by the  Quotations* of several Passages from thence interspersed in Mr. Ashmole's History, and of several Instruments published in his  Appendix*, r Frith in Catal. Decan. & Canon. Windfor.

f Registr. Garterii.
s See Lelandi Encomia, p. 134, Wood's Athen.
 Oxon. p. 79.
 Ashm. Hist. p. 197.

 Registr. Garter. 4 Hen. 7.

f P. 198.

s Hist. p. 266, 368, 372, 373, &c.

 n.* 13, 14, 21, 22, 24, 25, 45, 46, 50, 51, 55, 145, 176, 177, 186.

we shall be soon convinced, that the Doctor took the Liberty of abridging and curtailing this French Register. There is no greater Judgement required in any Work than in an Abridgement, which, like the Reducing a Picture into Miniature, should express every particular Lineament, though in less Proportions than the Original. But this Translation labours under other Blemishes of equal Size, for the Doctor took the unjustifiable Latitude in deviating from this French Register in the ^b Chronology, without assigning any Reason for his Variations; and his chiefest Aim throughout the whole Work seems to be bent on the Turn and Elegancy, as he conceived, of his Latin Style, wherein, according to the prevailing Humour of that Age, when Cicero was studied by many Divines almost to the Neglect of the Bible, he retains the Schoolmaster, and his Taste was so very delicate, that he could not bear the unpolite Dress of the Founders Statutes in their rough original Terms, but out of an excessive Affectation of Purity, clothed them up in a new fashionable Latin Garb, thereby giving, as much as lay in his Power, the Sanction of Authority to his own private Interpretation; for certainly these Statutes should have been inserted literatim in their own Language and Phrase, how barbarous soever their Sound was in his Ear.

It was also a Duty incumbent on any Translator to have avoided all equivocal Expressions and ambiguous Words, which might make some Passages very intricate and-obscure, that probably were very intelligible in the French Register. Can any greater Unaccuracy be committed than this Doctor hath done in the material Point of the ^c Number of Companions whereof the Order consists? Several other such-like Instances are obvious. He hath given us a Sketch of his Abilities in Antiquities in his tedious romantick Preface, in a fustian Style, that hath more Smoak than Fire, containing his History of the Institution of this Order, whence we may perceive he was a credulous Antiquary, notwithstanding his Fame for Oratory.

But least the Reader should be offended with this Freedom in the Character of the Labours of so eminent a Churchman, he is desired to turn his Eye on the ^d Censure of this Work given by a Right Reverend Prelate, who in Succession of Time (tis meant not so much in Distance of Age as in Excellency) enjoy'd this same Office of Register, the learned Dr. Matthew Wren, Lord Bishop of Ely; whence we may learn, with great Concern, what a miserable Desolation this Black Book is, as to the Years preceding Dr. Aldrydge's advancement, and this Narrative will sufficiently remove the Prejudices cast in by Mr. Vincent. One Design then

^b Añm. Hist. p. 265, 266, 308. &c.

^c Institutio — Ordinis, l. 15. — ordinem instituire decrevit, in quo Supremum Angliæ Regem & Virginis Sex auratos Equites subrutilantes exhiberet, &c. And in another Place, Sex & Viginiti connumerantur, quibus Supremus ac Illustrissimus superadditur.

^d Statuta nobilissimi ordinis in Angliâ, dièti a Pericelide, adjectis ad marginem notis M. S. Primus ille est, quem Librum Nigrum vocant. In eo memoria rerum deducitur ab ipsa inchoatione ordinis ad exitum EA, VI. sed hiis plane, abruptaq; & miseris subinde hiis deformi historia.

Nec mirum. Nam si recte observo, conscriptus non fuit ante annum Hen. VIII. xvijmo. Erat tum Robertus Aldridge (S. S. D. & Canonicus Windsorienſis) scriba Ordinis. Ille (forsitan) compilatis undiq; prioribus scriptis, & conflatâ (quæ tum reperire erat) rerum Georgianarum monumentis, Historiam inde hanc (ut potuit) contexuit a prima origine. Dein etiam continuavit (ut vero est simillimum) usq; ad initium regni Mariæ, quanquam Episcopus ipse interea Carlolenſis esset per xiii annos. Est Mr. Añm. p. 199, but already observed, thus another Hand-writing begins 32 Hen. 8.

of publishing this Specimen is, to desire the Communication of this French Register, if the Same or any Copy of it remains in any private Hand. And in the mean time, if we have lost the Spring, let us make what Use we can of the Stream, though it runs not unfulfilled, and therefore it may not be judg'd improper to print this Black Book it self, leaft by the Infelicity of some unforeseen Accident, or the Currency of Time, it may meet with the same Fate: For though the Doctor is inexcusable in his Method of Abridging, by disguising and maiming this French Register to a considerable Disadvantage, in making Alterations, in using Words and Phrases of ambiguous Significations, in refining upon the Original in several Places, and in his Negligence of the Chronology of Dates; yet the main Parts and Substance of the Book will be found to contain Facts supported by Records, and it may be possible, with Pains, to sift off the Chaff in some tolerable Degree.

'Tis high Time to return to the Examination of this Entry, that the Dukes of Holland and Briga were elected or installed Knights of the Garter with the Emperor Sigismund in 4 Hen. V. and to do the Doctor Justice herein, 'tis supposed he had not the Opportunity of any Direction in these Particulars from the French Register, (which if this Collector understands 'Mr. Ashmole aright, did not begin 'till in or about the seventh Year of Hen. V.) but he might be herein misled by some uncorrect Author, but from whence-ever he took it, there are two apparent Mistakes in it.

The first is, That the Duke of Holland was about the seventh Day of May, 4 Hen. V. 1416, created, that is installed, Knight of the Garter: Now the Duke of Holland at that time was William, who ^f succeeded his Father Albert 25 January 1404, and lived himself 'till 31 May 1417, the Year following this Entry; which William had been ^g chosen, and even installed Knight of this Order in 14 R. II. while he was only Earl of Ostrevant, and is numbered 61 in the Catalogue, who by the Title of Duke of Holland, received Robes in the ^b First, and also in the ⁱ Third of Hen. V. before the Election of this Emperor Sigismund; (from which Entries, as well as divers others, it is to be observed, that ^k Dr. Heylin and Mr. Ashmole were both mistaken, when they thought this Title of Duke of Holland had not been used at that Time) whereas his Father ^l Albert had the same appellation. It seems then very plain, this Duke of Holland was neither elected nor installed with the Emperor in this fourth Year of Hen. V. so that there is no occasion to refer to our ^m Historians, who only mention the Election of the Emperor singly at that Time.

Here

^e H. B. p. 374.

^f Scriptores Genealog.

^g Hist. de Ch. 6. par le Laboureur, p. 196, 197. Modii Pandæta Triumph. Tom. 2. p. 162. Monstrelet, vol. 1. p. 236. Froissart, vol. 4. fol. 85, 87, 87c.

^h See p. 14, Note g.

ⁱ See p. 15, Note g.

^k History of St. George, p. 347.

^l Rymer, vol. 7. p. 371.

^m Walsingham Ypodig. Nensur. p. 192. Septimo die mensis Maii [A. D. 1416.] venit Imperator Londoniam — Rex ducens eum & secum Wyndeshevo- ram ad festum S. Georgii, honorans illic eum & tante fraternitatis titulo & religionis illius nobilitate vestimento, signumque regale imposuit collo suo, quod Imperator exposit semper concessit in omni conventu publico & privato. The same in his History, p. 441.

Titi Livii vita Hen. 5. p. 21. Sigismundus Romanorum & Hæwicus Anglie & Francie Reges temporibus istis maxima familiaritate, summa mutuaque benevolentia inter se complexi sunt, ita ut in fraternitatem militum Garterii Rex Augustissimus Sigismundus ascribi peteret & ascriberetur.

Roffi

Here then is an evident Error in the Time when this Duke of Holland was created into the Order of the Garter, which was not together with this Emperor: But no Charge is hereby intended to be laid on Dr. Al-drydge, that he feign'd this Entry purely out of his own Invention, which would have been an unprofitable Forgery; for he could have no sinister End, private Interest, or servile Compliments to make to a Family extinct long before his Age. And he was, without doubt, innocently misled by some old incorrect Entry: And 'tis not improbable he might be imposed upon in this Particular by the Words of Harding, whom he might esteem an Author worthy of Credit, as being ⁿ about 38 Years old at this Emperor's Installation. But if by the obscure Verses quoted in the ^o Margin, this Chronicler meant that this Duke was then also made Knight of the Garter, yet it is evident that he doth not relate that Fact of his own personal Knowledge, but seems to refer to some nameless Annalist for his Voucher, for he published this Poem in a very advanced Age, about 45 Years ^p after this Installation of the Emperor, when the Duke of Holland's Election into this Order was entirely out of his remembrance. However from this or some such other superficial Writer ^q Hall and ^r Hollinghead have improved the Blunder, adding thereto the greatest Inconsistency in Chronology, That Albert Duke of Holland was invested with the Garter at the same time with this Emperor Sigismond; who, in Truth, was dead some Years before that time.

The second Mistake is about the Election of Lewis Duke of Briga, who was indeed, a very considerable Person, and might possibly have been elected, if there had been any vacant Stall. He was a younger Branch of the famous Piasbeam Family, which became extinct in 1672, and his Titles were, Dux Lignicensis & Brigenfis & Trimschimensis Comitatus in Pannonia Dominus; He is sometimes called ^u Ludovicus de Slesia, and Roffi Historia Regum Angliæ, p. 209. Sigismondus Imperator Romanorum — venit in Angliam solemniter receptus, portans secum patroni gentis Anglorum, Sancti videlicet Georgii, Comitis & Militis & Sanctissimi Martyris, preciosum cor, quod devote immolavit in collegio Militum Garterii dicti Sancti Georgii de Windsor. Et eodem tempore per manus regis in unum ordinis dictæ nobilis Militiæ solemniter est assumptus, juramentum ordinis prædicti accipiens & faciens cum omnibus aliis ad dictum honorabilem ordinem requisitis & perfectè adimpletis.

Vita M. S. Hen. 5. quæ incipit Lucerna inter Cod. Norfolk, in Off. Arm. n. 15. p. 25. b. Ipse etiam Imperator in fraternitatem sive societatem militarem de la Garriere, in quam nobiles secundum sua in actibus bellicis merita promoventur, tam in sui honoris incrementum, quam in ejusdem fraternitatis decus imminente frater eligitur & assensu regio ordinatur.

Einblam vita Hen. 5. Julius E. 4. in Bibl. Cotton. p. 106.

Intiterat festiva dies tua, Sancte Georgi, Quæ clero duplex perpetua datur,
Huic Princeps summus interfuit Indoperator, Eligitur miles laude notandus ibi:
Dux Hollandensu venit hac pro pace paranda
Centum militibus concomitatus erat.

Liber Johannis fratris Heremitarum Sancti An- gustini de Henricis in Bibl. Cotton. Liber. A. 8. — In quintadecima Pasche in Parlamento renovatur puppice fraternitas inter Imperatorem & Regem olivæ secrecius iniciata — Instante quoque; festivitate S. Georgii Martyris Imperator huic festivitati interfuit, ubi eligitur in fraternitatem Militiæ de Garteria, & debitus insignis installatur. In qua festivitate Dux Hollandiæ interfuit cum centum Militibus, ut fertur, pro pace inter Angliam & Franciam perpetuo servandam tractaturus.

ⁿ He said he was 25 Year: old at the Battle of Shrewsbury, which was on 21 July 1403.

^o Ch. CCXV. having mentioned the Arrival of the Emperor Sigismond, and that he was made (as he words it) of the Garter the Secondary, which doubtless means that he was seated in the Prince's Stall, he then proceeds,

The Duke of Holland then by Sea came With LX Shippes, in Thames thus did arrive
And to the King, He went unto launde
To th' emperor after he went beynde
As Chronicles then sayd dysorde
Then was he made Knight of the Garter
At his desire, as saith the Chronicler.

^p Ch. 178 & 239.

^q Hist. of Hen. 5. p. 21. b.

^r Hist. p. 556.

^s Reusner Basilic. p. 56, 57.

^t Hartnook Polonia, p. 68.

^u Vanderhardt de Conc. Constant. vol. 1. p. 158. vol. 2. p. 36. 37. vol. 5. p. 32.

Dux Slesie as well as Dux Brige and Dux Brigenfis in Slesia, and attended in a considerable Place of Trust on this Emperor, at the Council of Constance; from whence this Emperor, with a noble Retinue, came into this Kingdom, having this Duke with him, and soon afterwards followed the Duke of Holland, who was a near Kinsman to this Duke of Briga, being Son of Albert of Bavaria, by Margaret, Daughter of Lewis, his Grandfather. Now if this Duke of Briga had been elected in this fourth Year of Hen. V. he should have continued a Companion 'till his Death, which happened in ≈ 1436 ; 15 Hen. VI. unless he had been degraded or had resigned; and though he sent his Pursivant ^a hither in 1432, yet this very same Black Book never mentions him in all this Tract of Time, but furnishes us farther with the strongest negative Proof that this Fact can admit, that he could not be of this Order, because in 7 Hen. VI. the Names of Twenty Five Companions are therein enumerated, who with the Sovereign, must complete the whole Number, while this Duke of Briga was living, so that there could certainly be no Place for him.

From these Mistakes in the Ara of the Election of this Duke of Holland, and the Insertion of the Duke of Briga into this Order without any ground, the Reader, according to the Prejudices suggested by Mr. Vincent, may be in doubt touching the other Part of this Entry, which mentions the Election of the Emperor at this Time. But that Particular is amply confirmed by a Multitude of uncontroverted Proofs, by the ^b Recital of his Acceptance of this Order in a Record, by a Flood of Historians already quoted, by his wearing the Ensigns of this Order with great Solemnity upon his Return to the ^c Council of Constance, and we find that the Habits were given him ^d annually, and that the Chancellor of England inflicted a Punishment upon those of the College of Windfor who ^e sold his Mantle during his Life.

This Fact of the Emperor's Election is then certain, but the Time of his Installation is very indeterminately expressed in this Black Book, where it is placed about the Seventh of May, whereas he landed at Dover the First, and did not enter London 'till that very ^f Seventh of May. The Man-

^a Bib. Cotton. Tiber. B. 6. f. 83. Littera Henrici V. Regis — Accessit ad regnum minimum Christianissimus & inclitissimus Princeps Rex Romanorum — Adveniensq; deinde ad idem regnum nostrum carissimo consanguineo nostro Wilhelmo Duce Bavariae Annunio Holandiae & Zelandiae, Comite, &c. Leland's Collect. p. 488, Edi. Hearne. Among after Sigismund came the Duke of Holland to King Henry.
^b Chron. Joan. a Leydis. l. 31. c. 2. Folia 357.
^c Reufer ut supra.

^d Rymer, vol. 10. p. 521. Et Privat. Sigill. in Off. Pell. a Nichel Crutesborough pursevant de nostre trescher Cousin le duc de Brye nadgains par nostre Coufin devers Nous, &c.

^e Rymer vol. 9. p. 711. Considerantes exuberantiam amicitiae & fraternalis amoris pulchritudinem quae inter serenissimum Principem Sigismundum Romanorum Regem, &c. & Domum Anglie — ac alligantias indissolubiles inter ipsum praerarifimum fratrem nostrum & subditos Imperii, ac nos & subditos nostros initas, & eas firmius foederatas, ex quo dictus inclitissimus frater noster de sua gratuita bonitate Socius & frater devenit Collegii nostri Militaris de Garteris, ordinem ejusdem Collegii nostri in Signum perpetuae Amicitiae & sincerae Fratemitatis, proferendo, &c.

^f Rymer vol. 9. p. 434. The Emperor on 27 January — entride the Cite of Constance with the hyere of the Coler about his Necke, a glad syghe to alle zowr hyge men to se, &c. Moreover hyerib zowr to xyste that on Soudare the last Day of Januarie zowr Brother the King of Rome serede the Gowne of the Garterez with zowr Coler openly ad the Hyze Myffe. A Letter from Forrester to Hen. V.

Ibid. p. 440. 441. Letter to the Bishop of Durham about the Proceedings in the Council of Constance. Post excellentissimi Principis Sigismundi Romanorum & Ungariae Regis ad hanc civitatem felicem introitum Liberatam seu Devotam metuendissimi Regis nostri continue deferentis quae in Gallorum oculis multum tadiofa & nociva consistit.

^g Cleopatra F. iv. Acta Concilii Privati, 24 Oct. 12 Hen. 6. Warrantum Custodi Magnae Garderobae ad deliberandum — Imperatori annuatim liberatam pro roba de Garter suo statui conceden, habend. de dono Regis. And in several Wardrobe Accounts to be mentioned in this Essay.

^h Althm. Hist. p. 232.

ⁱ See Note m. page 26, and following Note k.

date for taking Lodgings against the then next Feast of St. George, upon the expected Coming-thither of this Emperor and the Duke of Holland, is entred in a ^s Register of the Church of Windsor, dated on the 18th of May in the seventh Year of Hen. V. wherein tho' the Scribe being unconvertant in the Arabick Figures then used for the Number 4 and 7, mistook the Latter for the Former; yet if there be not the same Error in the Day of the Month, we may infer this Feast was held after the 18th of May. Now St. George's Day in this Fourth of Hen. V. was so near Easter, which fell then on the 19th of April, that of course the Feast was by the Statutes to be prorogued; and 'tis very reasonable to conjecture that it was adjourned beyond the usual term, in expectancy of the Arrival of this Emperor, who was to bring a Relict then esteemed invaluable, the Heart^b forsooth of St. George. And it is also evident, that if this Duke of Holland had been present at this Installation of the Emperor, that Ceremony could not have been prior to the 30th of May, for that Duke landed at Orewelle just before Ascension-day, which then was on the 28th of May, and entered London the next^d Day: But in truth this Duke was not^k present at this Solemnity, being retarded by contrary Winds or some other Accident. Leave is craved here to hint, that this Emperor soon after the Reception of the Garter, instituted an Order of the Dragon overthrown, which was the Practice of several other Sovereigns after their Elections into our Order; as we shall find in the Sequel of this Discourse.

To proceed: The Rules of Truth and History will justify a modest Enquiry, whether some of the Englishmen, whose Names are contained in the Catalogues, were actually Companions of this Order; certainly such a Disquisition will not be esteemed an invidious Task, or any Design to detract from the Honour of their real Merits: And of this Kind (if the Publisher is not deceived in his Conjectures) are Sir Fulk Fitzwarin, numbered 51: For although his Name remains on a Plate affixed in the 13th Stall on the Sovereign's Side, yet the same seems to be a plain Mistake, for Sir William Fitzwarin, who received the Robes of this Order in the 34th of Edward III. which will come under examination in the History of the Successions in that Stall.

Sir Robert Dunsford is numbered 84, touching whom an Enquiry will be made hereafter in this present Differtation, since in some late Manuscripts he is said to have been seated in the 13th Stall on the Prince's Side.

^a Athm. Append. n. clxxxii.

^b Roffi Hist. edita per Hearn. p. 209. Dugd. 1 vol. Baron. p. 245. Introduction to the Black Book of the Garter, p. 26.

^c There is a Letter of Hen. V. in Bibl. Cotton. Tiber. B. 6. f. 83. Accessit ad regnum nostrum Christianissimus & inclitissimus Princeps Rex Romanorum — adventientes; deinde ad idem regnum nostrum carissimo consanguineo nostro Wilhelmo Duce Bavariae, Annonie, Hollandie & Zelandie, Comite, &c. Leland's Collect. p. 488. Edit. Hearn mentions this Duke's Arrival here after the Emperor. Walsingham Hist. p. 441. scilicet, Ante festum Ascensionis Dux Hollandie venit in Angliam. And a MS. in the Harley Library about the Affairs of the City of London, scilicet, The Emperor of Almayn came into Ingelond with viii c. hors to Saint Georges seste yat is to mete the first day of May attemgh be holden at Dover, and on the 2. he came to Canterbury, &c. and the 29 of May the Duke of Holand came to London. And in the Wardrobe Account above-mentioned given to this Editor by Mr. Rymer, is this Entry. Pro diversis panis. de seric. & ad aur. — renovand. & emend. erga adventum Duc. Holand. & al. de retinien. sua secum sibi obviam apud Port de Orewell mense Maij hoc anno quarto, &c.

^d Vitellius, f. 9. in Bibl. Cotton. 4. H. V. The same yere the 7 day of May came the Emperoure of Almayne to London and the feste of Saint Geotge was deferred unto his comynge and thanne was his solemnely done and holden at Wynddelfore. And at the same tyme Duke William of Holande came into Ingelonde, but he was not at the feste.

Sir Philip Wentworth is likewise numbered 168, who was a noble Knight, qualified according to the Strictness of the Statutes, who met with the severe Fate of losing his Head.

And this Collector remains in great Doubt relating to the ever famous Sir Robert Knolles, numbered 74, in these Catalogues, all which Persons, as well as the Duke of Briga, are omitted out of these Windsor-Tables, which is a Matter of Weight: But if in any Wardrobe-accounts hereafter to be discovered, the Habits of this Order shall be found to have been delivered to either of these Persons, these Conjectures must be immediately retracted; so bold an Attempt it is to adventure to write on this Subject, without inspecting all the Records of that Office.

The Collector therefore conceives himself obliged to propose his Reasons for doubting in these Cases; and he is at present induced to believe, that the Name of Sir Philip Wentworth was inserted in the Lists from a dark Expression in the Black Book in 30 Hen. VI. "Hic per procuratorem suum solemniter in sedem suam est introductus Dux Norfolciæ, Dominus Philippus Wentworth ipse per Comitem Salopiæ, ac Dominum Sudeley, Vicecomes autem Boucer ipsem etiam in designatam sibi sedem inductus per Dominum Hastings & Dominum Beauchamp". For the Explanation whereof, it is to be remembered, that in the 28th Year this Duke of Norfolk and the Viscount Bourgeois are in every Suffrage, but the Name of this Sir Philip Wentworth, who immediately follows them in these Catalogues occurs in none of them: So that this obscure Passage may mean no more than as it is interpreted in a¹ Manuscript, that this Sir Philip was the Proctor for this Duke of Norfolk at his Installation, and therefore as his Name is not in the Windsor-Tables, so it doth not occur in the List of Mr. Glover printed by Mr. Mills.

Then as to Sir Robert Knolles, his military Exploits were beyond Imagination so illustrious, and his Enterprizes in warlike Actions of the greatest Hazards and Difficulties so surprisingly successful, that it remains a Question whether this "le véritable Demon de la Guerre", as he was called, The true Thunderbolt or Demon of War, owed more to his fortunate Chances or his Conduct. So that if he was not a Companion of this Order, which will be soon examined according to the Measure of the Light that this Publisher hath at present, yet one Paragraph which bears some relation to Heraldry will be excused.

If the Report of the later Historians is to be credited, that he was born of mean Parentage in Cheshire, that Infelicity in his Extraction must have been a Bar against his Admission into this Order according to the Letter of the Statutes, which absolutely required the Qualification of a Descent from a gentile Ancestry. His Actions indeed were so wonderful and exceedingly meritorious, that he had the greatest Pretensions for the Indulgence of a Dispensation, if any such was grantable in that Age, and thereby to have entered into this highest Temple of Honour through that of Vertue only.

¹ Vinc. MS. in Offic. Armorum, n. 417.
² De Nobilitate Politica & Civili, p. 170.

³ L'Hist. de Charles 6. par le Laboureur, p. 78.
 • Fuller's Worthies in Cheshire, p. 179, &c.

It is very obvious, That two opposite Errors have been frequently committed touching the Descents of Persons, who have by the Strength of their own natural Genius, been the chief Artificers of their own Fortunes, and thereby suddenly exalted to great Heights in civil or military Employments, which are either on one Side out of Envy and Calumny, by debasing them below their true Originals; or on the other out of a servile Flattery, by complementing them with fabulous Pedigrees deduced from fictitious Ancestors of great Eminency, two Extrems to be avoided by an Officer of Arms with the utmost Abhorrence; for the First offends as much in the Defect, as the Latter doth in Excess, and both equally do Violence to Truth and Honour.

Whether the Memory of Sir Robert hath fallen under the Fate of this first Extreme would be a proper Enquiry, if it should appear that he was a Companion of this Order; but at present it may be sufficient to observe, that these modern Authors produce no Vouchers for their Assertion of his mean Extraction; possibly they had in their View the Words of Walsingham placed in the p Margin: But his Expression, “ex paupere mediocriq; valetto”, can never be extended to prove the Want of a gentle Descent, with those who are apprized of the Signification of that Word valet in former Ages; though admitting it then to import, as in the present Acceptation, the low Degree of a Servant, such mean Circumstances however will not necessarily infer a Lowness in Descent; for whatever greater political Capacities may be supposed to exist in any Person by an Estate of a larger yearly Value, Parentage is no more than common Sense or Honesty annexed to Acres, or, to use Chaucer's Words, “Gentry is not annexed to Possession”: And a noble Blood doth often, like a River, throw it self into the Mouth of a Cave, and after running some Miles under Ground, rises again and emerges at an Outlet with greater Force; and 'tis only for Want of our Power to dive with it, that we cannot describe its Passages, which possibly may be more pure in that subterraneous Current, than if it had run on upon the Surface. Hollingshead seems to quote a Register of Bermondesey for a Voucher of his mean Off-spring, whereof the Publisher hath consulted one Copy which justifies not his Assertion, but extols his Bravery. “In isto Bello [de Poictiers] de Robert Knollis milite Cestria sic camebatur metrica

“O Robert Knollis, per te fit Francia mollis, Ense tuo tollis prædas, dans vulnera collis.”

The Publisher is concerned that he is compelled to doubt, whether he was a Companion of this Order. Some Manuscripts of late Date place him in the fifth Stall of the Sovereign's Side, as immediate Successor to Sir Richard de la Vache, and next before Edward Charlton Lord Poswis:

p Hist. p. 165. Robertus Knollis ex paupere mediocriq; valetto* mox factus ductor militum, ad divitias usq; regales excrevit, &c.
† See du Fresnoie and other Glossographers, and long after the Age of Sir Robert, we meet in Fortescue de laudibus legum, c. 29. Sunt namq; Valecti diversi in regione illa [Anglia] qui plusquam sexcenta scuta per annum expendere possunt.

† Wife of Bath's Tale.

† Hist. p. 405.

† In Bibl. Harley, 3 C. 14. p. 57.

* Vinc. MS. in Offic. Armor. n. 417.

There is no intermediate Person between these two in these Tables: Now this Sir Richard ^a died in the 39th of Edw. III, which was some time before the Birth of this Lord Powis, for he was ^b only thirty Years old in 3 Hen. IV; so that it follows of course that the Name of the immediate Successor to this Sir Richard must be omitted. But it seems not reasonable to believe, that Sir Robert supplied this Vacancy; for though he was a distinguished Commander at the Time of the Death of Sir Richard, yet if he had been seated in this Stall upon his Death, in 39 Edw. III, he should have continued a Companion during the Remainder of that Reign, throughout that of Richard II, and 'till ^c 15 Aug. 8 Henry IV, when he himself died, and yet we do not find him named in the ^d Wardrobe-accounts of the 7, 11, 12, 13 and 22 Rich. II; which is a negative Argument of some Strength, when accompanied with the Silence of the Windfor-Tables.

But though we cannot as yet ascertain him to have been a Knight of the Garter, let not England lose the Honour of the Birth of him, who was so great a Terror to France, that the ^e Memorial of his Valour remains fresh in a common Expression in that Kingdom, for some of our Writers have too hastily supposed him a Briton born, being doubtless led into that Error by an Expression in ^f Froissart, which means no more than that he had a large Inheritance in that Dutchy, deservedly granted by John de Montfort in reward for his Recovery of that Country for him, whereof he was made Governour for some time, and had the ^g Castles of Derval and de Rouge convey'd to him and his Heirs in Fee by a Treaty.

As we are not then implicately to believe these Catalogues, so we must be on our Guard with reference to several Authors in print, who have taken the Liberty of placing several Knights into this Order, without any foundation. ^h Mr. Vincent, a very worthy and industrious Herald, promised to publish the Lives of the Knights-Companions, but his early Death prevented that Work, which is very much to be lamented, considering the Character given of his Abilities by the great ⁱ Mr. Selden, and the Opportunities he had, as a Clerk in the Tower, of consulting the Records, to have compleated that Undertaking with Success: However in his Book of the Discovery of the Errors of Ralph Brooke, there are Garthers round the Arms of several Noblemen who were never Knights of this Order, as Guy Earl of Warwick, who died in a Reign preceding that of the Founder, of Henry Duke of that Place, of the two Edwards Sons of Rich. III. and Hen. VIII, of George Nevill Duke of Bedford, of Ralph Earl of Stafford and Hugh his Son, of Robert Umfreville Earl of Angus, of ^a Sir Richard de la Vache had the Constablership of the Tower of London for Life, by Patent, 35 E. 3. p. 1. m. 33. And that Office was granted to Sir Allen Boxhull [Knight also of the Garter] by Patent 39 E. 3. for Life.

^b Efc. 3 H. 4. n. 40. post mortem Johan. Cherlton.

^c Leland's Collect. edit. Hearne, p. 485. Weaver's Fun. Mon. p. 436. Fuller's Worthies, Chelshire, p. 179. Chron. Godstovian — ad calcem vitæ, Tho. Mori, p. 240. MS. in Offic. Arm. inter Cod. Ducis

Norfolc. n. 5. Wallingham's Hist. p. 419, places it in 7 H. 4.

^d See above p. 10. Note a. P. 12. Notes d, e, f, and p. 13. Note f.

^e Wever's Fun. Mon. p. 436. Lambert's Perambul. of Kent, p. 292, &c.

^f Vol. 1. p. 331.

^g Lobineau Hist. de Bretagne, p. 381.

^h In his Dedication of his Discovery of Errors committed by Ralph Brooke.

ⁱ His Letter prefixed to this Book.

William of Bavaria Earl of Leicester, of John Earl of Oxford who died in 18 Hen. VIII. and of several others; and on the Reverse, the Arms of several Noblemen who were certainly Companions, are not encircled with Garters, as of John Vere Earl of Oxford, who died in 4 Hen. VIII. of the Earls of Northumberland, Worcester, Gloucester, and Salisbury above-mentioned.

If then our own Officers of Arms commit such inexcusable Mistakes, which have hitherto remained uncorrected, it is the less to be wondered that foreign Historians having not such Conveniencies of Instruction, should run into the like Errors, especially with regard to Persons who have long since left the Stage of Life. Before the Instances of this nature are given, it may be a Justice due to the Memory of Philip de Commines, to rescue him from the Faults committed by the Ignorance or Carelessness of his Transcribers or Printers, who place one Vaucler in this Order, for the Fidelity of that most judicious Politician is above Suspicion, and he was so well acquainted with the Ensigns of our Order, that he could not be imposed upon in that Particular. The Substance of the Narrative then is, That the Earl of Warwick, Captain of Calais, having his Son-in-law George Duke of Clarence in his company, sailed thither, expecting entrance into that Garrison from his Lieutenant Montseigneur de Vaucler, Vauclou, Vavebe, or Uvaroloc (for in these different Manners that Name hath been spelt in several Editions) who instead of admitting this his Principal, turned the Canon of that Place against him, which Refusal was so satisfactory to Edw. IV. that in Reward for that Action, he granted him a Patent of that Office (as 'tis expressed) "in Chief, he being a wise and antient Knight, that bore the Order of the Garter." With this Person our Historian then transacted Affairs of the utmost Secrecy and Importance; and at length he informs us, that all this Behaviour was Artifice and Dissimulation, for that in a short time this Vaucler publicly embraced the Interest of this Earl, and wore his Livery as soon as Edw. IV. had fled into Burgundy.

^b Hall and ⁱ Hollinghead, without producing any Voucher, call this Vaucler a Gascoign, who might with equal License have made him a Savoyard or Bretagne, in which latter Countries there were considerable Families of this Surname. But the Collector, from several Inducements, believes, that Commines designed the Lord Wenlock [a Name easily corrupted into Uvaroloc by an ignorant French Amanuensis] Knight of this Order, numbered 181 in the Catalogue, who was ^k on the 26th of May 10 Edw. IV. certainly constituted Lieutenant of the Town and Marches of Calais, by a Patent directly from the Crown, that is in Chief, which was in the ^l Month after this Earl of Warwick sailed from Dartmouth [towards Calais]; and which is remarkable, this Lord Wenlock afterwards adhered to the Faction of this Earl, and was killed in the ^m Battle of ^k L. 3. cb. 4. p. 149.

^l In his Hist. of Ed. 4. f. 16. b.

^m Hist. p. 636.

ⁿ Fran. 10 E. 4. m. 11. dilectus & fidelis noster Jo. Wenlock Miles constituitur locumtenens noster ville nostre Calais & Marchiarum ibidem sicut Radul-phus Sudeley de Sudeley Miles & Johanner Stonton de Stonton habuerunt 26 May, & 25 Apr. m. 6.

^o Hollingh. p. 676. Chiron, addit. au Montfretet p. 34. place v in May.

^p Vinc. MS. in Offic. Arm. m. 18. p. 137 b. Polyd. Virg. p. 530.

Tewksbury on the Fourth of May following, and in the ^o Month of July the Lord Hastings had the Lieutenancy of Calis, with an especial Power to reduce that Place to the King's Obedience.

The next Instances are not Mistakes of the Press, but Errors in Fact: Thus the French Authors, with a common Voice, place the ^o Marquis de Fronfac (usually called the Marhal de St. Andre) a Companion of the Garter in 1550; for which Assertion they can have no other Grounds, than that this Marhal brought hither the Ensigns of the ^o Order of St. Michael to our Edw. VI. at a Time when the Hatchments for Hen. II. King of France, elected Knight of the Garter, were hung up at Windsor.

A Writer on the Subject of ^o Military Orders vouches the celebrated Sir Francis Drake to have been a Companion of this Order. This worthy Sea-Commander was indeed meritoriously “^r dubbed [a Knight Bachelor] at Deptford near Greenwich by the Queen's Majesty, 4 Apr. 1581, “being in the Ship wherewith he had travailed about the World.” Which Expression, by the Way, may import no more, than that this Knighthood was by her Majesty's Command, and in her Presence, conferred upon him by the Hands of some actual Knight; for though all Sovereignty in its utmost Plenitude, and the Right of conveying Honours, is as entirely and substantially vested in Queens Regents, as in Kings themselves, yet even the Latter were not in former Ages thought empowered by their bare Accession to the Throne to confer Knighthoods; so that the Collating that Degree was deferred 'till such time as they themselves had regularly received Knighthoods; thus pure and unblemished, by the Laws of Chivalry, was this Character to be preserved and conveyed in a constant Knightly Succession. Under the Reign of Queen Mary, it may not be improper to treat of the Methods whereby Sovereign Princesses conferred Knighthoods; so that at present it may be sufficient to hint, that though the Sovereignty of the Garter devolved upon Hen. VI. in his Infancy, and that Robes of the Order were immediately made for him, and a Mantle was deposited in the Chapter-House at Windsor, and his Fees due to the ^o College were paid, yet he afterwards received the Degree of ^o Knighthood from his Uncle the Duke of Bedford, as Edw. VI. did from the Hands of his Uncle the Protector, authorised thereto by Virtue of Letters Patent; thus Francis I. notwithstanding the Sovereignty of the Order of St. Michael had devolved upon him, ^o Fran. 11 E. 4. m. 30. dilecto & fideli nostro Willmo Hastings de Hastings: Militi consiliar. & Camerario nostro & locumtenenti nostro villa nostre Gales, castri ejusdem, ac turris de Ryfebank necnon marchiarum ibidem ad recipiendum dictam villam pro celeriori reductione ejusdem ad obedientiam & pess. ff. necno nostras 22 Julij.

^o Anſime l'Hist. Genealog. vol. 1. p. 634. Moreri Distion. in voce Albon. Roque traite de Noblesse. p. 373.

^o Journal of Ed. VI. printed in the second Volume of Baxter's History of the Reformation; in the Appendix.

^o Beloy Origine de Chevalerie, p. 90.

^o Claudius C. 3. in Bibl. Corton-

^o Comput. Rob. Roll non Clerici, Custodis Magni Garder. a vigilia S. Michael. 1 Edm. VI. pro uno anno [penes Rememorator. Regis] Dom. Regi pro i Roba fac. de pann. scarlet. & furr. cum Menev. gr. colar. & manic. cum bestes de Ern. & Ern. ventr. de liberat. fraternitatis S. Georgii superoperat. cum Cart. de serico & auro de Cipre cum isto dictamine, Hony soit q. mdr y pense, fac. pro dicto Dom. R. contra fest. S. Georgii infra tempus prelast. de liberatura S. Georgii.

i uln. dim. patn. scarlet. xxvi } Ern. } bests
i Timbr. } Ern. } ventr.
v Timbr. Men. gr.
xlii cum literis auri Garteri.

^o See above, p. 19, Note 2.

^o Stow's Ann. p. 604. Rymeri Fœdera, &c.

received Knighthood from Peter Bayard 17 Kal. Off. 1515, and that there is an express Clause in the Statutes of the Golden Fleece in the Cases of the Minority of a Duke of Burgundy, or the Descent of that Dutchy to an Heiress: But of this more will be said in treating upon the Sovereign's Stall under Hen. VI.

Under this Head may be fitly placed another Mistake committed in these Catalogues, by splitting or cutting one Person into two distinct Knights; which hath happened as late as the Reign of Henry VII., when a Person was elected by an inferior Title, and chanced afterwards to have a greater One by Descent: Thus Tho. Fitzalan Earl of Arundel, is numbered 228, whereas he must be the same Person who was before numbered 208, by the Title of Lord Mautravers, and as such was elected 13 Edw. IV., and present at the Feast of St. George in 2 Hen. VII., in his Father's Life-time; after whose Death, being stiled (as he really was) Earl of Arundel in 3 Hen. VII., he is therefore divided into two Knights; tho' 'tis certain, there could be no other than this same Tho. Fitzalan Earl of Arundel or Lord Mautravers, in all this Tract of Time; and in Truth, he continued Knight of the Garter for Fifty Years, being chosen in his Youth by Edw. IV., with some respect doubtless to his Marriage with the Sister of his Queen.

III. The third Proposition, that the Catalogues place the Elections of some Knights under the Reigns of Kings, in whose Time they could not be elected, will be evident from the following Instances.

Sir Thomas Felton, numbered 49, is placed in them as elected under the Reign of Edw. III., whereas the Windsor-Tables make him Successor to Sir Hugh Wrotesly the Founder, in the 10th Stall on the Sovereign's Side, which Sir Hugh did * not die 'till 4 Rich. II., so that Felton could not be a Knight of the Garter 'till after that time.

Sir John Sulbie, numbered 109, is placed as elected under Henry IV., whereas the Windsor-Tables assure us, he succeeded Reginald Lord Cobham in the 9th Stall of the Prince's Side, which Reginald died 5 Off. 35 Ed. III. so that Sulbie then succeeded, unless there should be some intermediate Person between them omitted in these Tables: However that should be, his Election could not be so late as the Reign of Henry IV., because † Mr. Ashmole himself hath presented us with a Wardrobe-Account of the 7th Year of Rich. II., when this Sir John Sulbie received the Habit of the Garter.

Richard Earl of Arundel, numbered 30, is placed under the Reign of Edw. III., whereas the Windsor-Tables make him Successor to Sir Nele Loring in the 9th Stall of the Prince's Side, which Sir Nele did not ‡ die 'till 9 Rich. II.

The Cases of Sir Soudan de la Trau and of Sir Simon Felbrigge will be shewn to be of the like Nature, in that Part of this Specimen where the Memorials of their Lives will be given.

* Ashmole's History of the Garter, p. 300.
† Id. 35. E. 5. n. 62.

‡ History, p. 213.
‡‡ Id. 9. R. 2. n. 20.

Richard Beauchamp Earl of Warwick, the Father of all Courtesy, is numbered 124, and his Election placed in the Catalogues under the Reign of Hen. V; but it appears from his own Historian ^a John Rous, that he was a Companion of this Order before the 9th Year of Hen. IV, and ^b Dugdale places his Election soon after the Battle of Shrewsbury, which was on Saturday the Vigil of St. Mary Magdalen, in the Fourth of that Reign.

Robert Count Palatine Duke of Bavaria, afterwards Emperor, is numbered 91, and placed in the Catalogues as elected in the Reign of Hen. IV. ^c Dr. Heylin conjectures that his Election was in the first Year of that King, because he is entered in the Windsor-Tables Duc de Barvayre Robert, whereas he became Emperor in 1400; and as he goes on "possibly" with a View to the Marriage in 1402, between his Son and the Lady "Blanch the King's Daughter." The Doctor's Argument is so far conclusive, that he must be a Knight of this Order before the 21st of August 1400, when he was chosen Emperor; but since he had the Title of Duke of Bavaria long 'ere that time, it doth not follow he was not admitted into this Order before that first Year of Hen. IV; and in Fact 'tis certain, he was a ^d Companion in 22 Rich. II, when by the Stile of Duke of Bavaria he received the Robes of the Garter, having two Years before, together with his Son, performed ^e Homage to that King; so that the Supposition that his Election might be on some Prospect to the Marriage between his Son and the Daughter of Hen. IV, is entirely precarious.

John Beaufort Marquels of Dorset is numbered 92, and Sir William Arundell 104, as both elected under the Reign of Hen. IV, whereas both of them received the ^f Habits of the Garter in 22 Rich. II.

Here then is sufficient Evidence that in these Catalogues the Reigns of the Kings are mistaken, wherein several of the Knights were elected. Let us now examine on what Grounds ^g Mr. Astmole averred, That the Knights, from the Beginning of the Reign of Hen. V, are marshalled in his Catalogue according to an exact Series of their Elections.

He fixed on that Era doubtless, because the Annals of the Order commence in the fourth Year of that Reign: But there being large Chasms in them, it is a bold Attempt to be positive in settling the Priority of the Knights elected in the Intervals, where this Register is entirely silent; but which is a great Misfortune, if we should rely solely on the Authority of these Annals themselves, we may possibly be led into some chronological Errors; for Dr. Aldrydge, (as hath been already observed, and which comes now to be proved,) hath made Variations in some Dates. And Instances will be soon produced of Mistakes in the Catalogues of the Times of Elections of the Companions, as well where this Black-Book is express, as in the Years where it is silent.

^a Dugdale's Warwickshire, p. 325.

^b Baron, vol. 1. p. 243.

^c History of St. George, p. 423.

^d See above, p. 13, Note f.

^e Rymer, vol. 7. p. 854, 855, 850.

^f See above, p. 13, Note f.

^g History, p. 710.

^b Dr. Heylin

^b Dr. Heylin hath already remarked, that the Viscount Wells succeeded Sir Edward Wydeville in the same Stall, which Mr. Afsmole must have overlooked when he placed the Viscount prior to this Knight in Election, though even the Succession in the eighth Stall on the Prince's Side in the Windsor-Tables, printed by himself, might have suggested that Amendment to him.

As to the Suggestion that the Black-Book it self may mis-guide us without due Care, let us first examine some of the Dates therein. A Chapter is entered to have been held on the Vigil of St. George, 22 Hen. VI. A. D. 1444, by Humphry Duke of Buckingham Lieutenant in the Absence of the King, then intent on his matrimonial Affairs, for in this Year (as this Book relates) he married the Lady Margaret; at which Feast, the Stall void by the Death of the Duke of Somerset, was not filled.

Here is a strange Jumble of Anachronisms; for this Humphry [Stafford] was not then advanced to be Duke of Buckingham, and the Duke of Somerset lived to the 27th of ⁱ May in this 22d Year, and received the ^k Robes of this Order against the Feast held that Year, if there be no Mistake in the Date of a Wardrobe-account; and the King was not married till the following Year.

^l Mr. Afsmole acquaints us, that this Feast is placed in the 23d of Hen. VI. in the Regisfrum Chartaceum, and it must have been then held; for the Warrant for making a Commission for that purpose still remains; and though the certain Year of the King's Reign is not affixed to it, yet there are Characteristicks to ascertain its Date to the 23d of Hen. VI. for the King ordered this Warrant from Southwike, a Priory in Hampshire near the Abby of Tichfield, where we find by a ^m Record he continued the next Day, and there married the Queen on the ⁿ 21d of that Month; and this Duke of Buckingham had not that Title conferred on him till on the ^o 14th of September, in the former Part of this 23d Year, who was afterwards thus constituted Lieutenant, by reason of the Queen's Indisposition contracted by her Voyage on the Sea. The ^p Signet is very particular, and is therefore inserted at length.

“ Right Reverend Fadre in God our trusty and right welbeloved,
 “ we grete you wel; and suppose, that ye have wel in know“ leghe, how thatoure moost dere and bestbeloved wyf the Queenē “ is yet seke of the labour and indisposition of the See, by occa“ sion of which the ^q Pokkes been broken outt upon hir: for which “ cause we maye not in oure own personne holde the Feste of “ Sainte George at oure Castel of Wyndesore upon Saint George's day

^b History of St. George, p. 426.

^c Etc. 22 H. 6. Gloc. Suller.

^d Liber Corom. in Offic. Garder.

^e Hist. p. 265, 266.

^f Rymer in an Instrument of that Date.

^g See the Historians of England.

^h Cart. 22 H. 6. n. 33.

ⁱ In the White Chappel within the Tower of London, among the Privy Seals not ranged under any certain Year.

^q Compt. Hugon. Waterton de expensis Cameræ & Garder. Dom. Comitiz Dethie ab ultimo Sept. anno Regni Reg. Ric. secundi xl. pro Medicina emptâ pro Domino quando Dominus infirmabatur de lei Pokkes per duas vices xli. liii d. & pro Medicinis per Medicum emptis eodem tempore xxvii s. viii d. In Officio Ducatus Lancast.

Chaucer in the Prologue to the Pardoners Tale, Of Pockis and of Scabbes, and of every Sore Shall every Shepe be bole “ next comyng. Wherefore we wol that ye make out our lettres of “ Comission under oure Gret Seel in due forme yeving power by the “ fame unto oure right trusty and entierly welbeloved Cousins the Duks “ of Excestre and Buiks, and eyther of theym to holde the faide Feste in “ oure behave at the day and place abovefaid, with other Lordes and “ Knights of the Gartier, such as we have commanded to be there:

 “ and that herein be no defaute as our greet trust is in you. Yeven “ under our Signet at Southwyk the xvith day of Apr.

Endorfed.

“ To the right reverend fader in God oure “ Right trusty and right welbeloved “ tharchebiffshop of Canterbury oure “ Chancellor of Englande.

The next Entry in this Black-Book is a Feast laid to be held on 12 May 23 Hen. VI. [A. D. 1445.] where a Scrutiny is entred after the Death of Sir Hertonk Van Clux, whereas the Inscription on his Monument placed his Death in the following Year. That Tomb perished in the Fire of London, so that Date depends on the Authority of Stowe, and others who viewed it, which will be considered in the Narrative of his Life.

The following Entry in this Book, is a Chapter laid to be held at the Lion in Brentford the xi July, which was, as he saith, on the Sunday of the Relicks in 24 of Hen. VI. an inauspicious Entrance, for the xi of July in 1446 was on Monday, the Dominical Letter being B. As this Doctor unfortunately erred in the former Instance, by placing the Transactions back for one Year; so in the present Case he runs them one Year too forward: which is evident, in that the Names of Albro Vasques Dalmadea, Sir John Beauchamp, and Sir Thomas Hoo, are then in the Scrutiny inserted here in this 24th Year, by which account Dalmadea could not be a Companion of the Order till after that Scrutiny. But we know from a Record, that he was certainly a Knight of the Garter before the 4th of August in 23 Hen. VI. [A. D. 1445.] because the King then creating him Earl of Dawarans or Awenches in Normandy, recites, “ Ipsum in Militem ac Socium & Fratrem de Garteria ex unanimi consensu Societatis ejusdem elegimus & realiter investivimus”, so that he was elected before this time, and hence we may correct a small Slip of Mr. Ashmole, who thought him to have been an Earl before the Time of his Election into this Order, and on that Supposition makes some Observations on the Method of placing his Name in these Scrutinies.

Now the xi of July, in the 23 Hen. VI. [A. D. 1445.] was on a Sunday, and doubtless he was then elected; and it may be forgiven to observe here, that there being no Place remaining for him, Mr. Ashmole ^r Survey of London.

 Vinc. MS. in Off. Arm. n. 40. p. 192.
 H. B. penes me p. 109.

^r Rymer vol. 11. p. 95. Selden's Titles of Honor,
 p. 426.
^r History, p. 281.

hath attributed Arms to him different from those in a * Manuscript, and also to hint, that though there is a Town in Estremadura called Almadae, yet this Family (which is ranked among the principal Ones of Portugal in King Emanuel's Register) retains a Tradition, that their Descent is originally from an English Knight present at the Taking of Lisbon: However that may be, our worthy Knight had the Misfortune to be slain in the Field, together with the Duke of Coimbro another Companion of this Order, at the Battle of Alfaro Robera, on the 20th of May 1449. 27 Hen. VI.

Let us now see if the Compilers of these Catalogues have any better Success in marshalling the Seniority of the Knights elected under the same King in the Years preceeding the Commencement of this Register.

Thomas Montacute Earl of Sarum is numbered 125, and placed the fifteenth Knight elected under the Reign of Hen. V.: But since he received the Robes of the Garter in the third Year, it is evident his Name should have preceeded that of the Emperor Sigismund. * Mr. Brooke was therefore extremely wrong in bringing down his Election to the 6th of Hen. VI.: The Windsor-Tables place him as Successor in the twelfth Stall on the Sovereign's Side to Sir John Stanley, who received the Habits in 1 Hen. V. and died on the 6th of the Ides of January in that same Year at Ardaye in Ireland, whereon his Sword was sold by the College. Let no Honours be delayed to the Memory of this most heroick Earl, who deserved the highest Degrees and Extent of them: His unfortunate Death by a Cannon-ball was duly lamented, when his Merits were fresh in such moving Strains of Grief, as must affect us at this Distance of Time.

And let us try the same Experiment in the Years where this Black-Book is silent: There is a Vacuity or Hiatus in it from the 15th to the 22d or rather 23d of Hen. VI. In this Interval Henry Duke of Viseu is numbered 153, and placed before Gaston de Foix Earl of Longueville, numbered 155, yet 'tis certain this Earl was senior by Election to this Duke; for this Duke being Successor to Sir Simon Felbrigge, who made his Will on 21 Sept. 21 Hen. VI. his Election must be subsequent to that Period, whereas a Record assures us, that this Earl of Longueville received the

* M. 7. in Offic. Arm. p. 21.

* Meneutrier Preuves de la Noblesse, p. 503 & p. 498.

† H. 8. penes me p. 316.

‡ See above p. 15. Note 2.

§ In his Catalogue of the Nobility, in the Title Salisbury.

¶ See above p. 14. Note 6.

‡ Gloveri Collectiones inter Cod. MSS. Philoti in Offic. Armorum n. 17. p. 12.

‡ Compt. Job. Estion Praetoris 1 Hen. V. de duabus mantellis vendend. & uno gladio, qui fuit Job. Stanley, &c. in Arario Windsor.

‡ Caligula D. 5. in Bibl. Cotton. Credence from the King to Garter King of Arms, to be delivered unto my Lord of Bedford, 20 Nov. 7 Hen. VI. wherein he is to declare to him the Report of the lamentable taking once of his world of his riez dere and melibvelod Cousin Yerte of Salisbury, the which as my said Lord of Bedford, as also every true Subject of the King's hand-red, was in his lyve so trewe diligent and bebovesful to the King in France and elsewhere, that save only the pleasur of our Lord, it is to grete a bewynesse to the King and to my Lord of Gloucester, as also to the remament of my Lords of the King's Counseil to remember, and ——— so grete a losse and chastyng of the merciful hand of God as is the passing of his persone yet was so bebovesful to the King and his landes, &c. after the grete rejoysment and comforte yet is likly the King's Enemy; in yet parties will have of the said my Lord of Salisbury passing, &c.

‡ See hereafter in the Narrative of his Life in this Book.

z Robes of the Garter in 17 Hen. VI. and the Windsor-Tables concur in this Æra, for this Earl is there placed in the eleventh Stall of the Sovereign's Side, after the Translation of the Duke of Gloucester to that of Edward King of Portugal, which King died on the 19th of September 1438, in the Beginning of the 17th Year of Hen. VI.

There is another Chasm in this Book from the 4th to the 8th Year of Hen. VII. and from thence to the 14th Year; in which Intervals Arthur Prince of Wales and the Duke of Calabria were elected, which Duke in the Catalogues preceeds the Prince, though this Prince was installed on the Eve of ^b St. George's Feast in the sixth Year of Hen. VII. and this Duke of Calabria was not elected 'till about the 8th Year, and received the 'Ensigns of the Order with great Ceremony on the 18th of May 4 Peres Rememorat. Regis in Sacerario. Particula compositi Rob. Radcliff Custodis Mag. Garderobæ a vigilia S. Michaeli anno 17 Hen. VI. pro uno anno.

Comiti de Lancaster ad i mantell. fac. de velvet. blod. lin. cum tarterin alb. de liberat. Fraternitatis S. Georgij garnis super stapul. finistr. cum i Gari. operat. in brooder. de armis S. Georgij in medio cum feric. xuri & argenti Capr. more consueto super istyn blod. ad carde & laqueat. ante pectus cum i laq. feric. blod. cum knapp. & tassell feric. per litteram dotman. dat. 19 Febr. anno xiiii.

i pec. v. uln. de velvet plan. vii uln. de tarterin.

i cum knopp & Tassell. ponder. iii unc. laq. feric. operat. cum armis S. Georgij Gari.

Eidem ad i gouts long. fac. de pann. scarlet cum manica rotundis garnis. cum Gari. & furr. cum Men. pur. & purflist. cum Ermyrs per Coler. & manus, & i capuc. de eodem pann. consimiliter garnis. cum Gari. & fiet. cum i rotul. de pann. nigr. Stuff. cum Cotom per breve & billam pzediel.

v uln. dim. pan. scarlet. dim. uln. pann. coler. cur. viii terij. Ermins. xxvii tymb. de Men. pur. C. Gari. dim. lib. Cotom.

* Hemi. Ec. To the Treasurer, &c. Forasmuche as we purpose to have the Fest of Sainte George kept and observed at our Castell and College of Windsor the 8th Day of May next comyng: & whiche tyme we have determinid (God willing) to have our decree? Sen the Prynce, to be enstalled Knight of our Noble Ordre of the Garter ye do delivour on hundredth markes sterl. to be employd aboute the sd. festelle. And to delivour also two Tonnes of Good wine 2d May (6 H. 7.) Bele. In Off. Pellium.

Hemi. Ec. To the Treasurer, &c. Forasmuche as we be enformed by our treasry servaunt John Sixtlyby Clerke of our Greneclabe, that there is using in certain creditours for the expence of the Fest of Sainte George holden at our Castell of Wyndesore the xxvth day of May last nine pound. &c. ever and above the sum of an hundredth markes and two tonnes of Wine. Ye pay the same, &c. Seven under our prive seall thirday of July the sixt yer of our Regne.

† Fiuz. 8 H. 7. m. 10. Rex omnibus, ad quos, &c. Salutem.

Notum esse omnibus concupiscimus quod, Cum intellexerimus Serenissimum Principem Alphonsum Calabriæ Ducem, Illustrissimi Principis Neapolis Regis Filium Primogenitum, non modo Sanguinis Nobilitate & Sapientia fulcitur, verum etiam in Rebus Bellicis strenuum, innumerisque ceteris Virtutibus perhenni mecurato dignis præditum, quo ille omni Re insigni merito decorandus est.

Eundem Consanguineum nostram in Ordinem Militiæ Garteræ & in eisdem Ordinis Confratrem, unanimo Consensu nostro & Confratrum ipsius Ordinis nostrorum, eligi & insigniri fecimus; Quocirca, De Fidelitatis Industriadque & providis Circumpectionibus, Dilectorum & Fidelium nostrorum, Magistris Cristofori Ursynsky Decani Ecclesiæ Cathedralis Sancti Petri Eboracæ Magni Elemosinarum nostri, Hugredi Talbot Militiæ Marescalli Villæ nostræ Castellæ, & Torke Heraldæ nostri ad Arma, plurimum confidentes,

Ipsos nostros veros & indubitatos Commissarios Oratores Procuratores Legatos Deputatos & Nuncios speciales Assignamus, Facimus, Constituimus & Ordinamus per Prasentes, Dantes & Concedentes eisdem, & eorum cuilibet, conjunctim & divisim, Tenore Prasentium, Potestatem & Auctoritatem ipsam Consanguineum nostrum ad Ordinem predictum, pro Nobis & Nomine nostro, Acceperunt, & in Confratrem & Commilitem ejusdem Ordinis Admitteri, Prasentiendi, & Insigniendi.

Eique Munera & Insignia dicti Ordinis, quibus ceteri Confratres ejusdem insigniri solent, Tradendi & Deliberandi.

Juramentumque, de observandis ejusdem Ordinis Statutis, ab eo, prout moris est, Exigendi & Recipienda;

Ceteraque omnia & singula, que in Prasentibus vel circa ea necessaria fuerint seu quomodolibet oportuna, Faciendi & Expediendi, ita & eodem modo prout Nos ipsi faceremus & facere potemus si personaliter interfuissemus.

In cujus, &c.

Telle Rege apud Westminsterum Quinto Die Martii. Per ipsam Regem. Rymet, vol. 12, p. 517.

Libet Comput. in Offic. Pellium Mich. 8 Hen. 7. Job. Figh valedto Garderoba Regis pro xviii virgide de blew Velvet pro usu Dom. Regis, viz. pro uno Mantello pro Duce de Calabriæ fiend. & pro vi virgide de Scarlet pro una toga & Capicio pro eodem Duce cum certis Garter. & aliis necessariis pro eisdem mantello, toga, & capicio empt. xxxvi. lib. iiii.

May in the following Year, in presence of his Father Ferdinand I. King of Naples, who was also a Companion of this Order, and the Fees of his ¹ Installation were paid in the 9th Year.

During these Defects in the Black-Book, Sir Gilbert Talbot is in the Catalogue numbered 246, and Henry Duke of York numbered 249: The Commission for the Installation of ¹ Sir Gilbert is dated 20 Dec. 11 Hen. VII. and though this Book is very profuse in the Entries about this Duke [afterwards Henry VIII.] by way of Complements, yet it hath omitted even the Time of his Installation, which we know was on ^m Sunday following the 12 May 10 Hen. VII. so that he should have preceded Sir Gilbert.

Thus also Thomas Marquês of Dorset is numbered 240, and is made Senior to this Duke of York, whereas this Marquês succeeded his ^a Father in the same Stall, who did not die ^o till 20 Sept. 17 Hen. 7. so that his Election was several Years subsequent to that of this Duke.

Several other Examples will be found; so that a very late One will be only added, which is of the most Noble William Seymour Marquês of Hertford, numbered 459, placed after the Duke of Albemarle and the Earl of Sandwich, who were both chosen after the Restoration; whereas this noble Peer was constituted a Companion in ^p Jersey, by the King in his Exile, on 12 January 1649, while he was a Marquês, who was afterwards deservedly Affusus de Aragonia Dux Calabriae Primogenitus ac Vicarius Generalis Regis Siciliae, &c. Universis & singulis, presentes Litteras inspecturis, Salutem sincerisque Amoris Intentionem.

Natum factum ac Testatur, serie cum presentibus, quemadmodum presentibus Die Dominico decimo nono Mensis Maii Anno infrascripto in Civitate Suesia, in speciali Civitatis ipsius Ecclesia, assistentibus atque Interventibus Reverendissimis Parentibus nostris, Ferdinando, Dei gratia, Rege Siciliae & Jerusalem, ac Joanne Rege, eisdem Consorte, in Celebrata publica multorum Regulorum, ac plurimorum Nobilium, in Celebratione solennis Missae, adhibitis debitis Solemnitatibus, ac Ceremoniis servatis servandis, in Nomine individuae Trinitatis, gratanter accepimus Nobilissimum Insigne Carolinum ad Nos transmissum, de Consensu Contratum omnium, a Reverendissimo Principe atque Illustrissimo Domino Henrico, Dei gratia, Angliae Franciae Rege Inclito, portatorem ac Nobis datum ejusdem Mandato a Reverendissimo Domino Gregorio Ursatili Decano Ecclesiae Sancti Petri Eborum Magno ipsius Domini Regis Elemosinario, necnon a Magnifico Milite Humphredo Talbot, Marcellio Castellii, Oratoribus ac Nunciis specialibus & Procuratoribus ad hoc deputatis ab eodem Domino Rege, una cum Joanne Jorda Armatum Araldo,

A quibus quidem Oratoribus, Nomine & pro Parte ejusdem Reverendissimi Domini Regis, de eodem Insigni Decorati atque Insistentis fuimus, & in Contratum ac Committentem Ordinis ipsius admitti & acceptari, Openi quidem Ordinem, cum eodem Insigni, sponte & libenter, & in publico, ut praedicitur, Constituti, cum Capitulis ipsis Accipimus, eaque Praesertim atque Servavimus, Praesertim ac Servatori sumus omnia & singula quae in moris est praesentibus ac servari debent a Contrahentibus Ordinis ejusdem, cum optima Voluntate Animique dispositione atque obedientia.

In quorum omnium Testimonium atque Fidem praesentibus Litteris fieri iussimus. nostra Manus subscriptas, ac pendenti Magno nostro Sigillo in Pede manitas.

Dat. in Civitate Suesiae, Die Decimo nono Maii, Millesimo, Quadringentesimo, Nonagesimo tertio.

Affusus

Dominus Dux mandavit mihi Io. de Castano.

Risâ Cor. xxi. f. Rymers vol. 12. p. 58.

â E Libro Priv. Sigill. in Off. Pell. de Terz. Patch 9 H. 7. William Filber Coterario pro expensis Installationis Regis de Naples apud Wyndesore xx marc.

â Inserted in the Narrative of his Life.
â In Office Pellion, Signed by the Monogram of Hen. 7. Right 1295, and right retrieved we give you self, and where we have lately address'd out we have letters of warrant under our privie seal for payment to be made of a certain summe of money to be employ'd upon the Feis of the Clergy of Merye St. George, which shall be at our Castell of Wyndesore on Sunday next coming. We desire and pray you and mercifully charge you that the Day of the said Feis is at hand. And that for the more honour thereof we have appointed our dearest second Son the Duke of York to be ennobled Knight of the Garter at the same time. Ye and forthwith make ready payment, &c. 12 May in our tenth yer.

To our Re-trusty and right welbelovyd Knight and Counsellour Sir Robert Linton our Undertreasurer of England.

In the Book of Priory Seals Patch. 10 H. 7. in Off. Pell. it appears that 100 marks were paid towards provision of tunsants, and 25 l. 18 s. 6 d. more. At p. 491. 13 s. 4 d. and 20 l. 6 s. the Feis being held on Sunday the 17th of May.

â Vine. MS. in Off. Arm. n. 417.
â Ech. 17 H. 7.
â Register of the Garter, called Liber Carolinus, p. 14.

restored by Act of Parliament to the Dukedom of Somerset, in Sept. 1660, because as the King in his Speech on the Adjournment, declared, "He was "an extraordinary Person, that had merited as much of his Royal Father "and Self, as Subject could do"; but he died on the 4th of October following, before any formal Installation.

IV. The fourth Proposition was, That the Persons of the Knights are mistaken in these Catalogues. Thus ⁹Mr. Astmore places Sir John Grey of Codnore to be the Founder in the 8th Stall of the Sovereign's Side, and hath accordingly wrote the History of his Life, wherein he truly tells us this Sir John was living in 45 Edw. III, for which very reason he could not be the Founder, because the Windsor-Tables acquaint us that Sir Walter Manny succeeded him in this Stall. Now we are certain that this Sir Walter had the Habits of the Garter delivered him in the 34th and also in the 37th of Edw. III, which was many years before the Death of this Sir John Grey of Codnore: And thence we may infer, that it was another Sir John who was Knight of this Order, and that it was doubtless Sir John Grey of Rotherfield, whose Death happening ' on 1 Oct. 33 Ed. III. here was a Vacancy for Sir Walter Manny, for there was no Removal or Translations of Stalls in these early Times.

Thus again Mr. Astmore places in the 7th Stall of the Sovereign's Side, Sir Hugh Courtenay, who he * there saith died in 40 Edw. III. Now the Windsor-Tables assure us, that William Bohun Earl of Northampton, succeeded Courtenay, and Edmund (of Langele) Duke of York, succeeded Bohun. Now this Earl of Northampton obtained License to assign the * Advowson of Dadyngton to the Custos and Chaplains of Windsor in 24 Ed. III. And if this Benefaction was made (as it seems not improbable) upon the account of his being Knight of the Garter, then Courtenay must die very soon after the Institution. But however that may be, 'tis certain this Earl died ' on 16 Sept. 34 Ed. III. and even this Duke of York, by

¹ History of the Garter, p. 698.
² Comp. Joh. Norbury Custodis Magni Garderob. 34 Ed. 3. m. 7. Will. de Gendale Armatori Dom. Regis ad fabricam cxxx Garteriorum operat. per Joh. de Colonia de novo broadrand. nonen ad fabricuram dccviii firmaculorum pro Robis Mil. de Garterio contra festum S. Georgii broadrat. de auro & serico, &c.

m. 1. Domino Principi, Comitibus Ultoniæ, Richmondia, &
Sarum.
 Dominis Edmundo de Langele, Rich. la Vache, Hugoni Wrouste,
Reinaldo de Cobham, Bartholomæo Burghesib.
 Domino
de Molun, Waltero Manny,
Nigello Loring,
Waltero Patvely,
Willino Fitzwarin, & Milioni de Stapeton, cuilibet eorum v. uln. pan. color. nig. long. & unam furrur. de CC ventr. Min. pur.

Comitibus Staffordæ, Wernici, Suffolchie, & Thoma Ugitred,

mililibus de Garterio, cuilibet eorum vi uln. pan. nig. coloris long. & unam furrur. de cc ventr. Min. pur. ad robas sibi pro festo S. Georgii faciend. & capcias distar. robar. linand. fil. cuilibet eorum iiii quarter. unius uln. panni scarletti per litteram de privato sigillo.

¹ Rot. Comp. Hen. de Snaib Custodis magni Garder. 37 Ed. 3. m. 12. Eidem Johi de Glendale Armatori ad fabricuram mccc Garteriorum de tartarij pro Dom. Rege & aliis Mililibus de Societate Garterii contra festum S. Georgii broadrat. cum literis de auro & serico cum quodam distamine Hony sicut qui mal y penje & liberat. eidem contra festum S. Georgii.

m. 3. Dom. Ducibus Lancastria, &c. ac above in Page 6. Note d.

² Ech. 33 E. 3. n. 38.

³ Hist. p. 696.

⁴ Mon. Angl. de Ecclef. Colleg. p. 69.

⁵ Mon. Angl. vol. 2 p. 68. Ech. 34 E. 3. n. 85.

the Name of Edmond de Langele, received Robes of the Garter in the 34 Ed. III. six Years before the Time that Mr. Afsmole assigns for the Death of this Sir Hugh Courtenay; so that of Necessity it must be another Sir Hugh Courtenay, who was this Knight of the Garter.

The Genealogists differ extremely about the Person of this Courtenay the Founder; Dugdale fixes upon Hugh the second Earl of Devon of that Surname, which is a very precarious Conjecture; because this Hugh being an Earl by Descent, from 14 Edw. III. it will be difficult to assign any Reason why that Title of Earl should not have been attributed to him as well as to the Earls of Warwick and Salisbury, two others of the Founders in the like Circumstances. But this Earl Hugh lived to 21 May 51 Ed. III. whereas Edmond de Langele (as it was just now observed) received the Habits of this Order in 34 Ed. III. being then seated in this Stall. In order for a Discovery, it may not be amiss to insert that Part of the Pedigree of this most illustrious Family, that seems to be any way concerned in the present Enquiry.

Hugh Courtenay Earl of — Agnes St. John.
Devon died the 14th of Edw. III.

Hugh E. of Devon, — Margaret Bohun, 33 Years Old at his Fathers Death and died 51 Ed- ward III.
Granddaughter of Ed. I.

Sir Thomas Courtenay — Muriel, Daughter and Heir of Sir John Moelis.

Hugh Courtenay di- — Elizabeth.
ed before his Father.

Hugh Courtenay died without Issue in 42 Edw. III. being then under Age.

Hugh Courtenay di- — Maud Holland.
ed also before his Grandfather without Issue.

Hugh Courtenay, Son of Sir Thomas, could not be our Knight, because he died in his Minority ^d in 42 Ed. III. and we know that his Mother was only 15 years Old in 11 Ed. III. Hugh, Son of the Earl, was ^f born on 11 Kal. Apr. 1 Ed. III. who doubtless was the Founder; for his Son Hugh was a Child, if not unborn at the Time of the Institution of this Order, and who died in his Youth after his Marriage with Maud Holland, remarried to the Count of St. Paul.

It would be of consequence in the Disquisition of the true Æra when this Order was erected, if the certain Time of the Death of this Hugh the Founder could be ascertained; Mr. Afsmole hath not deduced him

* See above, p. 42. Note r.
^a Dugd. 1 vol. Baron. p. 639.
^b Ech. 14 E. 3. n. 27.
^c Ech. 51 E. 3. n. 6.

^d Ech. 42 E. 3. p. 1. n. 24.
^e Ech. 11 E. 3. n. 56. post mortem Johannis Moelis.
^f Monast. Angl. vol. 1. p.

lower than 21 Ed. III., and the Collector hath not been able, as yet, to trace him below the 2 following Year. We have indeed the Inquisition taken after the Death of Elizabeth, the Relict of this Hugh, ^b in 49 Ed. III. who survived also her Son.

Thomas Holland Earl of Kent, afterwards Duke of Surry, is numbered 62, and said in the Catalogues to have been Knight of the Garter under Rich. II. Now the Earl of Kent receiving the Habits of this Order ⁱ in 7 Rich. II. could not be the Person who was afterwards created Duke of Surry, but was Thomas Holland Earl of Kent, Father of him who was so created Duke in 21 Rich. II. whose Mantle was deposited in the Vestry at Windsor, in the ^k eighth Year of that King. Now in this seventh Year Thomas Holland (afterwards advanced to the Dukedom of Surry) was only ten Years old, being no more than ^l twenty three Years of Age at the Time of his Father's Death in 20 Rich. II. And hence we retrieve the Name of a Knight of the Garter, which hath not hitherto occurred in any Catalogue, that is of Thomas Holland, the second Earl of Kent of that Surname, who again received the Robes of this ^m Order in 11, 12, and 13 of Rich. II. whose Name occurs in the Windsor-Tables, in the sixth Stall on the Prince's Side, but hath been omitted out of the Catalogues, being confounded with his Son, who bore the same Christian Name, who indeed was also a Companion of this Order, and received the ⁿ Habits in 22 Rich. II. by the Stile of Duke of Surry, though being afterwards attainted, his Name is not inserted in the Windsor-Tables.

Michael de la Pole Earl of Suffolk, is numbered 66, as elected under the Reign of Rich. II. and the Manuscripts place him in the fourth Stall of the Prince's Side. ^o Dr. Heylin hath already observed, that he is not mentioned in the Windsor-Tables; and conceives rightly, that the Earl of Suffolk, elected into this Order, should be William de Ufford. The Windsor-Tables indeed name William Earl of Suffolk to be Successor to Sir Richard Pembury, and herein the Chronology will be right, for this Sir Richard died ^p in 49 Ed. III. and this William de Ufford Earl of Suffolk ^q on 15 Dec. 5 Rich. II. And which is a certain Proof that it could not be Michael de la Pole (who by this Account should have been elected about 49 Ed. III.) we find that Sir Richard Burley, who succeeded the Earl of Suffolk in this Stall, had ^r Robes of the Garter in 7 Rich. II. while this Michael was living, and then only a Baron.

Upon this Subject of ascertaining the Persons of the ancient Knights of this Order, it will not be foreign to examine into the Discovery which the learned Greek Professor of Cambridge, Mr. Josua Barnes, thought he had made, and wherein by his frequent ^s Repetitions he seems to take delight, that Sir Henry Eam, one of the Founders, (which Surname ^t Mr. Asb-mole could find in a single Record only) was Sir Henry of Flanders, so

^a Exit. Pell. Pasch. 22 Ed. 3.

^b Eich. 49 Ed. 3. p. 1. n. 27.

^c See above p. 10, Note a.

^d Albm. History of the Garter, p. 232.

^e Eich. 20 R. 2. n. 20.

^f See above p. 11, Note c. P. 12, Notes d, e.

^g See above p. 13, Note f.

^h History of St. George, p. 360.

ⁱ Eich. 49 E. 3. n. 25.

^j Eich. 5 R. 2. n. 57.

^k See above p. 10, Note a. where indeed there is an Omission in the Print, for in the Record immediately after Simoni de Burle, follows Richardo de Burle, and the Reader is desired to insert the same with his Pencil.

^l History of Edward III. p. 140, &c.

^m History of the Garter, p. 707.

justly celebrated by the Historians of that Age: At first Sight one should be apt to imagine, that the References in his Margin to several Authors in Print, were there inserted as Vouchers for that Assertion; which when consulted, will not be found any Authority for the Identity of a Person who bore the different Names of Eam and Flanders. In order to discuss this Matter to the Bottom, let us first enquire into the Descent and Country of Sir Henry of Flanders, whereof Mr. Barnes hath imparted nothing to us, save only that he is positive he was a Native of Brabant, and indeed according to his postulatam, that he was the same Person with Sir Henry Eam, he must from the Authority of the ^a Instrument published by Mr. Ashmole, of course fix him in that Dutchy; for Sir Henry Eam therein makes a Reservation of Homage to his Liege Lord the Duke of Brabant only, which sufficiently expresses his Country.

Now ^{*} Froissart, who was his contemporary and a Native of Henalt, saith expressly, That Sir Henry Flanders was a Subject to the Earl of that Place; and in enumerating Persons of different Allegiances, ^y contradistinguishes him from those of Brabant; and the ^z Historians and publick ^a Instruments acquaint us, that he was Lord of Ninove, a Seigneurie in the County of Alhorst in Flanders, whereto he became entiaued by his Marriage in or before the Year 1339, before the Institution of the Order of the Garter; whence we may amend the Print in ^b Mr. Rymer, where he is by Mistake called Seigneur de Meneue; so that 'tis scarce conceivable that he should in January A. D. 1343, by the Name of Sir Henry Eam, reserve Homage to the Duke of Brabant only, when he had large Territories in Flanders, and, as it will soon appear, was nearly related in Blood to that Earl, and was in all probability a Native of that Country; for at that time, the Dutchy of Brabant was in John III, the Triumphant, and the Earldom of Flanders in Lewis de Male, which latter did indeed afterwards in A. D. 1356, over-run the greatest Part of that Dutchy and assumed that Title.

It is the more incredible, that Sir Henry of Flanders should in the Year 1343, by the Name of Sir Henry Eam, reserve Homage to be paid only to the Duke of Brabant, when the original ^c Instrument is still extant ^{*} Hffory of the Garter, p. 707.

^x Vol. 1. c. 42.

^y Vol. 1. p. 210.

^z Marchanti Flandrie descriptio p. 41, 253, &c.

Meieros Annal. Flandrie, p. 161, A. D. 1339.

Ex Flandris hii fuerit, Henricus Flandrensis Toparchus Ninovenfis, &c. Marchant ut supra, p. 200.

^a Vredli Geneal. Flandrie, vol. 2 p. 68.

^b Foeslera vol. 5. p. 649, 652, 654, &c.

^c Ceste endorse faite. parentre excellent & puissant Prince Edward par la grace de Dieu Roi d'Engleterre Seigneur d'Flande & Duc D'Acqui, done part, & le noble homme Henry de Flandres de lautre part tesmoigne que le dit Henry est entre en homage le dit Roi & ad grante de servir a lui & a ses heirs de cea la mer loialment od cynquant hommes d'armes suffisantz & bien appareillez en toutes ses guerres & emprises pr. ses presentz droit defendre recouvrir & purchacer countre monsr. Philtip de Valoys qui se dit Roi de France ses heirs & touz ses adherentanz, sauce que si guerre — countre le Counte & genz de Flandres en pais de Flandres — eider as ditz Counte & genz en meis — celle cause le dit Roi ad grante de faire — au dit Henry — florins de Florence en maniere comme autres Seigneurs prendront — a la premiere foitz que le Roi mand — de venir a lui od son dit service des genz d'armes le Roi lui ferra — des gages pur ses dites gentz d'armes — la meis & puis de temps en temps come il ferra as autres Seigneurs demorant od lui. Item sil aveigne que dieu defend que le ditz — de ses dites gentz d'armes soient pui en la guerre le Roi, soit le Roy tenuz de les delivrer & acquitter a ses coustes & a ses fres propres sans damage le dit Henry: Item si per cas le dit Henry pur cause de sa demore devers le Roi perde terres ou remes pr. queles le Roi nad mie especialment fait son gre, le Roi soit tenu de lui restorer les dites terres & rentes ou la value dyelles des custames le Roi en port de Loundres si avant comme le dit Henry pourra prover loialment tant dated at Antwerp 16 Feb. 1338, whereby the noble Henry of Flanders enters into the Homage of the King of England against all Persons, saving the Earl and People or Country of Flanders. *

And in truth his Birth seems to have been in that Country, for Guy Dampierre Earl of Flanders, by his second Lady Isabel of Luxemburg Countess of Namur, had several Children; their eldest Son John was Earl of Namur, whose younger Son Sir Robert Namur was a worthy Knight of this Order; their third Son was Henry of Flanders, Marshal to the Emperor Henry VII, created by him ^d Earl of Los or Lodes in Milain, Father to our Sir Henry, who was therefore Nephew to the Queen of our Edw. III, whose Interests he embraced in his Wars, and from whom he received the Honour of Knighthood, as Froissart relates, with an annual Pension, which is fully supported by our J Records.

loialement que les dites terres & rentes vaillent. Item que si le dit Henry ou ses gentz d'armes perdent chevaux d'armes en service le Roi, le Roi lui paiera pour les ditz chevaux illint perdues solonc ceo q'is seront loialement & en bone foi prizez. Et en cas que le dit Henry ou ses gentz d'armes avandites peignent de guerre alguns des ennemis le Roi, soient le dit Henry & ses gentz tenuz meintenant presenser & liverer meillins les prisons au Marechal le Roi en maniere que autres seigneurs feroient qui font demoeur devers le Roi illint que le Roi puisse de eux faire sa volonte. Et a cestes choses pleinement tenuz & garder en maniere come dessus est dit, ausillien le Roi pur lui & ses heirs, come le dit Henry, cessat-avoir cheffoin de eux en quant, a lui attend, le font fermement entreobligez. En tesmoignance de queu chose le Roi a l'une partie de ceste endenture demoeirant devers le dit Henry, Et le dit Henry a l'autre partie dycelle demoeirante devers le dit Roi our mis jour feal. Don a Andree le xvi jour de Feveres lan de grace Mill ccc trent oysime.

[Sigillum contractum est.]

In tercio Bundello Indenturarum diversorum temporum.

d See the Genealogist, principally Vredius, of the Earldom of Los, or Lodes, Baluzij Vite Paparum Avenion vol. 2, p. 1221. L'Espinoz recherche des Antiq. de Flandres, p. 46.
e Vol. 1. c. 43.

f Pat. inter Regem Anglie & diversos Magnates Germanie, 13 Ed. III.

Roi a touz ceux q' cestes Lettres verront ou oiront saluz, Sachez que come nostre chere & foial Henry de Flanders soit entre en nostre homage & est grante de servir a nous & a nos heirs od cyrquant hommes d'armes par nos presentz droitz defendre recovrir & purchacet contre Monsieur Philip de Valois que se disoit Roi de France & ses heirs & touz ses adherelantz: Et par celle cause le dit Henry eit lesse Terres, queles il tint en fee en Roialme de France descendantz heritalement de ses predecesseurs a la value de cinq centz livres de paris en les gros turneis counte pur dis paris & autres Terres — tint a terme de la vie a la value de autres cinq centz livres de paris, Nous estuz consideration a la grande nature de ce que le dit Henry — ad montre & voillanz par tant ordiner q'il soit pleinement en celle partie de damage si auons grantez au dit Henry de lui faire estre pleinement & prestment paie cheffoin au par toutes les dites terres de Mill livres de paris en eberlings ou autre monoye convenable le gros turnois vient en trois eberlings counte pur dis paris des custumes en port de Londres a recevoite a deux termes cest assuer la moytee a la nativite Saint Johan le Baptiste prochain avenir & l'autre moytee a la purification nostre Dame apres soante & illint de terme en terme tant; les dites terres lui soient tellesores, ou q' nous lui coms donez autres terres de meisme la value en Roialme de France a tenir come il tint les terres avant dites: Et en cas q' — — — — — sioms oue fait tiele restitution ou recompensation des dites terres deuant la mort le dit Henry; Nous voloms & grantoms par nous & nos heirs q' par les dites terres q' le dit Henry tint en fee come dessus est dit les heirs le dit Henry apres sa mort soient pleinement & prestment paie de cinq centz livres de paris en eberlings ou autre monoye convenable solonc la counte fustid de nos dites custumes & as termes avant ditz par ouvelles portions: Item voillanz faire outre greinoire grace au dit Henry par la cause avandite lui auons grante de lui faire chevaler & lui doner pur son homage Mill Florins de Florence a prendre par an a toute la vie de nos dites custumes en port & as termes avanditz par ouvelles portions. Item si auteng q' Dieu defend q' le dit Henry ses messagers procurours ou Artoimez portours de cestes ne soient mie prestment & pleinement paie des dites sommes a cheffoin terme come dessus est dit par default de nous ou de nos Ministres par quoi le dit Henry encourge coustes fies depens ou damage, nous grantoms & promettons au dit Henry de lui rendre & resoumer touz les ditz coustes & damages des dites custumes sanz Abregger la dette principale. Item si par cas guerres aviegnent q' Dieu ne voille entre la terre d'Engleterre & le pais de Flandres ou de Brabant si auons grantez de nostre grace speciale au dit Henry q'il ou les attournez puissent achier Leynes deinz nostre Roialme a la value de toutes les sommes q' serroint dues par le temps des dites custumes & les Leynes illint achatees mesur en Flandres ou en Brabant par la ou lui perra. En remoinance de queu chose nous avons fait faire cestes nos lettres patentes enleales de nostre grant feal Don, &c. ut supra prox. i. e. Don a Andree le 26 jour de Feverer l'an de grace Mill ccc trent oysime.

His Birth and Extraction was then so illustrious, his Alliance to our Royal Founder so near, and his military Actions so very conspicuous, that the Editor wishes it could be proved that he was a Companion of the Garter at its erection; but this Order wants no Addition of Splendour or Honour, and the Question is not of his Qualifications for an Admission, or the Probability thereof, but of the Reality of the Fact.

The Place of the Allegiance of Sir Henry of Flanders, the Time of his Death, the Repetition of the Degree of Knighthood, and his Coat-Arms together, seem to intimate that he was a distinct Person from Sir Henry Eam, and 'till these Difficulties shall be solved, the Editor must suspend his Subscription to the Opinion of Mr. Barnes, who was indeed a Person of immense Reading.

Whoever Sir Henry Eam was, it appears from the Windsor-Tables that Sir Thomas Utreight succeeded in his Stall, and therefore of course the former must be dead before the 34 Edw. III, A. D. 1360, when this Sir Thomas received the 8 Habits of the Garter, unless Sir Henry had been deposed, or had surrendered the Order. But then Sir Henry of Flanders survived this Time, for two ^b Years afterwards he received from the Exchequer the Annuity granted him formerly upon his Knighthood in the 13th Year, which shews the Individuality of the Person, and it cannot be conceived that in case either of a Deposal or Resignation of the Order, this Pension would have been paid him afterwards; and in truth we find him executing a Treaty on the Behalf of the Earl of Flanders, touching the ⁱ Marriage of the Earl of Cambridge in 38 Ed. III.

Then as to Knighthood, Sir Henry of Flanders received it in 13 Ed. III, but Sir Henry Eam had that Degree conferred on him by the ^k Black Prince in or before 21 Ed. III. which Honour was not used to be repeated in former Ages: Mr. Barnes being aware of this Difficulty, thinks he solves it, by supposing that the Black Prince conferred the Degree of Banneret on this Sir Henry of Flanders, by the Title of Sir Henry Eam. Those who are conversant in the Tenor of Records will allow, that it was the usual Style and Custom to express the Honour of Banneret particularly by Name, whenever that had been given; because Bannerets were entitled to several Privileges, and larger Wages in War than Knights-Batchelors, who usually served under the Banners of the Former.

There remains no Plate or Escutcheon for this Founder in his Stall at Windsor, but the Arms usually ascribed to this Sir Henry Eam are, ^l Or, a Fess Sable, with a Deny-Lyon Gules issuing out of the Middle of it; whereas Sir Henry of Flanders bore the Arms of Flanders, Or, a Lyon rampant, with the Brizure of a Bend dexter, as may be seen by the Impression on his Seal, exhibited by the learned ^m Vredius, which are so very different from the Former, according to the Rules of Heraldry, as one should be apt to believe the first Coat was not born by any legitimate Kinsman of

^g See above Page 42. Note r.

^b Exit. Pellis Mich. 36 F. 3. Henrico de Flanders militi, cui Dom. Rex M. Boren. de Florenc. &c.

ⁱ Rymer vol. 6. p. 449.

^k Alm. Hist. p. 707.

^l See Mr. Ashmole's Plates.

^m Tabul. General. Comitum Flandriae, p. 86.

the same Lineage with Sir Henry of Flanders; and it would be a very precarious Guess to conjecture the same might be used by some natural Relation. Indeed we find this Sir Henry had a Son born out of Marriage, but it is to be doubted whether he was of Age sufficient to be admitted into this Order upon its first Institution, for Froiffart represents the Father as a young Esquire in the 13th of Ed. III., though he was married before that time: Indeed if our Sir Henry had any natural Brother, the Chronology would not be injured by the Supposition that he might be the Founder; but this without other Grounds, is indulging Fancy; though it must be granted, that such a Defect in a Descent from an illustrious Family, was no Bar against an Election into this Order, for Sir Frank Vanballe, or Hale, (who was chosen a Companion very early after the Erection,) was Son of a natural Son of Albert King of the Romans.

But to return to the settling the Persons of the Knights of the Garter. The Alteration of a Vowel, in the Spelling of a Surname, hath occasioned many fruitless Enquiries. The Catalogues mention Sir Edward Hall, who is numbered 169, which Error might be easily amended by inspecting the Entry in the Black Book, on 7 May, 31 Hen. VI., where Sir Edward Hull is named to have been elected, which is the Orthography: This is the only Memorial of him in that Book, because he was unfortunately slain in July following at the Battle of Chastillon before his Installation, for which Reason his Name doth not occur in the Windfor-Tables, neither could any Plate be therefore affixed for him. This noble and valiant Knight commonly stiles himself the Son of Alianor Hull, a great Heiress, the Daughter and Heir of Malet of Enemer, whose Arms he bore in his Seals, for Mr. Assmole is mistaken in ascribing different Ones to him.

The Publisher conceives that he hath ascertained the Persons of some Companions, and in hopes of receiving some Light and Assistance from his Readers, towards explaining a dark Entry in the Black-Book 22 Apr. 7 Ed. IV. A. D. 1467; craves Leave to insert the whole Passage, which being without Comma's, may, by the various Methods of placing them, receive different Constructions. The Words are "Domino Principi Regi Neapolitano & Domino de Montgryson Apulie jam ante defunctis ad illustriſſimum ordinem sedes reservate sunt." Stalls are reserved for the Lord the Prince the King of Naples and the Lord of Montgryson of Apulia already elected into this most illustrious Order.

This Expression in the plural Number proves the Elections of two or three Knights, if the Rules of Grammar were observed in this Latin Translation, and the Difficulty is, who were these Knights that had been thus elected.

There can be no doubt as to the King of Naples mentioned before in this Black-Book, on 22 Apr. 3 Ed. IV. A. D. 1463, who was Ferdi- ⁿ L'Espinois Recherche de Flanders, p. 46.

^o Vol. 1. p. 46.

 p 2 } 7 	The Proofs hereof will be given in his Life.
---	---

and I, natural Son to Alfonfus V. King of Arragon and Naples, Knight also of this Order, who was born at Valentia, and declared Succesor to the Crown of Naples at the Desire of the Nobility, on 2 March, A.D. 1442, and in May following created Duke of Calabria, having been legitimated by Pope Eugenius IV., and advanced to that Throne 4 Id. Nov. 1458, receiving Investiture from Pope Pius II. and he lived 'till 25 January 1494. The Collector hath not yet discovered the certain Time of his Election into this Order; but the Windsor-Tables placing him as Succesor to Sir John Fastolf, whose Death happening on St. Leonard's Day A.D. 1459, he might have been chosen a Companion very soon after his Accession to the Throne, in the latter End of the Reign of Hen. VI. unless the Name of some other Knight designed or admitted into this Stall, in that troublesome Time, be omitted out of these Tables for Want of an Installation, or upon an Attainder. However that may be, the Habit of the Garter was sent to him on 18 July 1463; and though he was not intalled in this 7th Year of Ed. IV. yet he afterwards received this Honour, for his Hatchments were hung up in the Chappel in the 19th Year, being then mentioned in the Pope's Bull; and by the Way, this King erected the Order of the Ermme, and afterwards accepted that of the Golden Fleece.

But the Difficulty is, who was this Lord Montgryson of Apulia in Naples; the Editor of these Papers, after a diligent Inspection of several Historians and Genealogists of that Kingdom, hath not been so fortunate to meet with any such Name in that Age. This Person is mentioned in no other Place of this Black-Book, and he doth not occur in the Windsor-Tables; which Omission must be allowed to be a strong Argument against his receiving any Installation, unless he was afterwards degraded: And if this Lord had been elected before the 18th of July 1463, it would be reasonable to suppose, that the Livery of this Order had been then sent to him by the same Person who carry'd the Habit to the King of Naples, who seems to be his Sovereign.

If this Ferdinand King of Naples ever used the Addition of Dominus de Montgryson in his Titles, as our Kings did formerly that of Dominus Hi- f Topius de Origine Tribunal. Neapol. vol. 2. p. 142.

1 Frecca de Subfendis Baronum, p. 68.

u Heresior in his Life.

x Priv. Sig. Fasc. 3 E. IV. Edward, &c. Forasmuch as we sende at this tyme our trusty and welloved servaunt Berthelot de Ryvers Squier to our Cousyn the King of Naples to presente unto hym our Livery of the Garter, we wol and charge you that without delaye ye deliver to him for his Costes in oure said message C. marcis. Given under our prive seal at our Towne of Northampton the 18 day of Juill the thirde yeere of our reigne. Doubtlesse this payment may be found in the Pelle Rolle.

y Sixtus Episcopus Servus, &c. Circa cunctorum Christi fidelium animarum salutem ex assuetu pietatis officio continuo inveni illa libenter concedimus per que fideles ipsi presertim in capellis, &c. Dudum liquidem cupientes ut Capella Garterii in honorem & sub invocatione Dei Genitricis, &c. ad quam dilectus filius Nobilis Vir Fredricus Dux Urbini & gentium ad nostra & Romane Eccle-sie stipendia militantium Consaloneries, qui per carissimum in Christo filium nostrum Edwardum Anglie Regem illustrem, alioque Reges, Duces, & Principes collegiatis dicti Collegii in predicto eorum insigni Collegio in quo alii quam Reges, & de Regum prosapia geniti non sine magna difficultate recipi consueverant, collocatis honorifice in eadem capella ipsius Ducis Gales, Seno, & reliquis militaribus ac aliis insigniis in loco decenti iuxta predicti Edwardi Anglie & carissimi in Christo filii Ferdinandi Sicilie Regum & Ducum collegiatorum predictorum insignia tunc receptus fuerat, specialiter non immerito gerebat devotionis affectum, &c. De indigentis, &c. Dat' 1479, Sextodecimo Kal. Sept. anno 8^o. In Registro Windsor.

z Athmole Hist. p. 118. Hence we find he sent Arminium nostrum Armorum Regem to Lewis XI. Leibnitz Cod. Juris Genq. Diplom. in prodromo p. 24.

a Ancienne Chronique dans le Supplement aux Memoires de l'ommes, p. 402. 31 Juillet 1474.

bernia; the Kings of Spain, Dominus Cantabrie, &c. and the Kings of Portugal, Dominus Ceutæ, &c. then here would be no Difficulty, and the Construction would be, that two Stalls were reserved, one for the Prince of Wales, and the other for this King of Naples who was also Lord of Montgryson.

But this Lord hath been taken to be a distinct Person from this King; ^b Dr. Heylin makes him a Gascoigner, but gives no Reasons for that Assertion; and the late ^c Manuscripts place him in the twelfth Stall on the Sovereign's Side, after Sir William Chamberlaine, who ^d dying before 22 Apr. 3 Ed. IV, in truth there seems to be Room for him, but in case he was elected hereto, 'tis plain he enjoyed it not long, for Blunt, Lord ^e Montjoy, was here seated in the 13 Ed. IV, when he was one of the Scrutiners.

And if he was a distinct Person from this King of Naples, it then may be probable Domino Principi in this Place, may be a Term attributed to this King, which is the common Language of our ^f Records to foreign Princes, and therefore may not relate to or design the Prince of Wales in this Place; for 'tis some Impropriety in Strictness of Speech to say, That the Prince was already elected in 1467, which by the Statutes ought to be after a previous Scrutiny of the Suffrages, when as this Prince was not born & till 4 Nov. 1470; so that in case this Prince was here meant, the adjective delectis must be variously interpreted, as signifying, with regard to this Prince, a provisional Designation upon the Contingency of his Birth and Presumption of his Creation to that Title, and his Election into this Order, and in the Case of the King of Naples and Lord Montgryson an actual preceding Election regularly made of them.

Indeed this Place hath commonly been interpreted in that Sense, of a triple Election or Designation, which seems to receive some confirmation from the Entry in this Register in the 15 Ed. IV, that this Prince of Wales was declared to be elected ad sedem jam ante reservatam, whose Name is in all the Scrutinies given that Day, which furnished ^b Mr. Asb-mole with one Argument to reject an Entry in a Manuscript which placed his Election much earlier, which may be here properly considered, in regard that Passage relates to the Settling the Persons of the Knights and the Time of their Elections.

ⁱ After the Narrative of holding Christmas in 1471. The Words then are, — “ In the foresaid yere the King our Sovereign Lord kept “ his fest of St. Forge at his Castell of Wyndfor and kept his Estate in the “ foresaid Castell, the Bishope of Winchester sat on the ryght hande and “ the right noble Duke of Glocester and the Earle of Essex on the left “ hand, There were present Therl of Dougles, the lord Barnes, the lord “ Dures, and on the morne after the feast come to the Chapter of the ^b History of St. George, p. 371.

^c Vinc. MS. in Offic. Arm. n. 417. Or.

^d e Compte de Wyndfor-Tables with the Black-Bank in 1471: And in truth this Lord was chosen in the 12th Year, as will be soon evident.

^f Thus to this King, Fran. 14 E. 4. m. 18. 79. Jannes Abbas Alynghden Coniliaris noster, & Ber- ibol. de Ryvere miles Ambassiatore ad Illustrem Principem confratrem nostrum Ferdinandum eadem gratia Regem Sicilie, Jerusalem. & Hungarie, &c. g See Sandford's Gen. Hist. p. 425. and the Historians.

^b History, p. 266.

ⁱ MS. in Off. Arm. M. 15. f. 12b.

“ Order of the Garter into the Chapter howſe come The King, The Duke of Gloceſter Therle of Effex the Lord Barnes Lieutenant of the Order Therle of Doglas, The Lord Doglas [Duras] and Sir John Aſteley, The which Sir John Aſteley was ſent for to London by Calis Purſuyvant to come to furniſh the Chapter in the which chapter were choſen. to bretherene of the ſaid Order

“ My Lord the Prynce
 “ The K. of P.
 “ The Duke of Norfolk “ Therle of Wylthere
 “ The L. Feres
 “ The Lord Montjoye &
 “ The Lord Haywarde

} VII elected at the Chapter.

“ and this day they had a maſſe of requiem, and at the tyme of offer- tory the King offered and the Knights of the Garter there being preſent, when he had offered there one offeringe, The Duke of Gloſter and the lord Barnes offered the Sword, bering the Pernel forward of the goodde of the right feyfull and noble Lord Therle of Wyſcheſter, Therle of Effex and therl Douglas his helme, The Lord Duras and Sir John Aſteley the ſword of therle of Pembroke, the Duke of Gloſceſter and the lord Barnes his helme. Therle of Effex and therle of Doglas the ſword of therle of Ryvers, The Lord Duras and Sir John Aſteley his helme. Alſo the Duke of Gloceſter and the Lord Barnes offered the ſword of Sir Rob. Harcorte, Therl of Effex therle of Duglees his helme.”

This Narrative was wrote by ^k Bleumantle-Purſuivant, whoſe Duty it was to attend this Feaſt; but Mr. Aſmole diſcredits it as an inadvertent Relation which caſts in falſe Lights, becauſe (as he ſaith) this Feaſt is placed there in the 11th, which ought to have been in the 12th of Ed. IV. as it would appear by collating ſome of the Facts here named with thoſe entred in the Black-Book; and he diſbelieves the Time of ſome of theſe Elections, becauſe as he ſaith, the Prince of Wales was not elected till the 15th, and the King of Portugal was not elected till the 22d of Edward IV.

The Chronology however of the Manuſcript was miſtaken by Mr. Aſmole, for the Feaſt of St. George therein recited, was ſubſequent to Chriſtmas 1471, and conſequentely muſt have been in Apr. 1472, in the 12th of Ed. IV. and the Fact of ſummoning Sir John Aſteley to the Chapter is confirmed by the Black-Book, which though it omits the Names of the Knights elected, yet contains theſe Words, “Verum nec è veſtigio, qua habetur, ſecuta eſt electio,” [The Election, as far as any Account can be had, did not immediately follow;] which muſt doubtleſs be the Expreſſion or Obſervation of Dr. Aldrydge who collected this Book under the Reign of Hen. VIII. and not the Remark of the Register of the Order, who lived in the 12th of Ed. IV., for he could not have been ignorant of the Proceedings in so solemn a Chapter.

^k MS. in Off. Arm. M. 15, p. 13.

If it should be allowed that this Entry means only that a Stall was kept empty for the Prince, then not two Years old, Mr. Afsmole's first Objection ceases, and his Second will have no Force, 'till it be first proved that the Letters K. of P. certainly denote the then King of Portugal; for why may not these Initials be as well construed to signify the King of Poland, of which somewhat will be soon said, after it hath been observed, that Mr. Afsmole's sole Argument that the King of Portugal could not be elected in 12 Ed. IV., is because that King was not elected 'till the 22d Year, which must presuppose that the same Person was King of that Place in both these Years; whereas Alfonfus V., was King of that Place from Sept. 1438, 17 Hen. VI., 'till his Death on 24 Aug. 1481. 21 Ed. IV., and though John the Second, his Son and Successor, was elected Knight of the Gariter in the 22 Ed. IV., yet that can be no Sort of Proof that his Father had not been elected into this Order in 12 Ed. IV., and we know that he was then certainly one of the Companions; so that the Question, according to Mr. Afsmole's Supposition, would be reduced to this single Point, Whether this Alfonfus was chosen in this 12th Year and indeed the Collector thinks this King had been installed much earlier: which is one Reason that induces him to believe that K. of P. in this Place means the King of Poland.

It is here to be remembered, that the Statutes require that Foreigners elected into this Order, must receive an actual Installation by their Proctors, within some Months after their Investitures, with the Ensigns, under the Penalty of the Vacating and Annulling their Elections: Now we find that Casimir, crowned King of Poland in 1447, lived 'till 7 Jun. 1492, who had been elected into this Order on 4 Aug. 28 Hen. VI and invested with the Habits in 31, 34, and 37 of that King, though he was not installed 6 of Ed. IV., and in truth he died without the Solempnity, for which Reason his name occurs not in the Windfor-Tables and therefore it may not be unreasonable to believe, that these Letters K. of P. design this King, who might be then re-elected to the Stall which was thus void for Want of an Installation, by the Tenour of the Statutes, especially since Alfonfus, who became King of Portugal, A. D. 1438, was certainly installed long before this 12th Year of Edward IV

1 Stat. 20 E. 3. 20 H. 5. 21 H. 8. and hence the Entry in the Black-Book in 31 H. 6. in relation to the King of Poland, and other foreign Sovereigns may be explained, toties in Electione pronuntiati sed nihil magis ad sedes dum introducti.

m See the Black-Book in that Year; but Mr. Afsmole observes, that the Registrum Chartaceum places it in the 29th Year. History of the Garter, p. 368.

n Priv. Sigill. in bundello 31 Hen. 6. Henri, &c. To the Treasurer. &c. Forasmuch as we have commanded our beloved servant Clarentew King of Armes to ardy hym for to go upon oure message with John Newport Squier unto the King of Arragon and Pollen to admitte and receive therein in oure behalve unto thowre of the Garter. We considering the goodde and diligenc service that the same our servaunt hath don unto us by the space of sixe yere without any wages or fee to him yeven in that behalve, As also in thertent that He shall nowe the more honourably do us service in our side message have graunted unto him xx l. sterling to be taken by way of reward by youre hande, Wherefore, &c. Yeven under oure prive Seel at Chawtley the 27 of Jun the yere of oure Regne xxxii.

Exif. Pell. Mich. 31 H. 6. Clarentewe Regi armorum quem Rex ordinavit ad proficiendum, et nuncio suo cum Johanne Newport ad Reges Arragon & Palon. admittendum, &c. recipiendum. illos ex parte dicti Domini Regis in ordinem Gartere xx l. quos Dominus Rex eidem Clarentio mandavit habendi. de dono suo per viam regardi.

See the Black Book in the 34 & 37 Hen. 6. but probably both these Entries refer to this former Delivery of the Garter, and not that the same was again sent him in these Years.

o Black-Book in that Year.

The Black-Book places it in the 34th of Hen. VI., and in consequence thereof our King, in his next Year, orders the Fees due to the P Church of Wind- for setting up the Helme of this King of Portugal to be paid.

But though the Fact of his Intallation be certain, the Time of his Election into the Order is puzzled by some Entries in this Black-Book; wherein there seems to be some Mistake. In 22^d (or rather 23^d) of Hen. VI., the King of Portugal is in this Register numbered among the Companions, whereas in the 24th Year he is nominated in the Scrutiny of the Earl of Shrewsbury, as a Person capacitated to be elected; and in the following Year he is in all the Suffrages, and expressly said to be then elected unanimously into the Stall of the Duke of Glocester, who died on the Last of 4 February in that Year, and John Fetplace in the 34th of Hen. VI., had a Garter of Gold delivered to him garnished with Stones and Pearls for this King, with the whole Habit of the Order, out of the Wardrobe, and this King being soon afterwards installed, there must be a Mistake in the Entries of the 6th of Ed. IV., that he was not then entalled, and of the Scrutiny of the Lord Montjoy in 13 Ed. IV. wherein the King of Portugal is named, for this Alfonfus sat on that Throne during all this Time. In the Life of the Duke of Visen hereafter in the p Privat. Sigill. Henry, &c. To the Treasurer, &c. We take you wit that we have understode by the supplication of our welbelovyd the Dean Chemon and Knightz of our Colledge of Saint George within our Castell of Wyndesore howe ther is due by us unto them for the setting up of the Helme of the King of Portugal the some of xxl. as in the Statute of the Ordre of the Garter made by our progenitors hit hath be used and accustomed, wherefore we wol and charge you that ye do pay, &c. Given under our prive seel at our Cite of Coventry the xx day of Fevver the yere of our reigne 35.

q Liber Sancti Albani f. 158.
r Henry, &c. To the Treasurer, &c. We wol and charge you that unto our trusty and welbelovyd squire Johan Fetplace ye do delivere a Garter of gold garnished with stones and perls of C. mare or of lx l. and xl s. of money for his costs in being the said Garter and Letters thereof unto the King of Portugal; yeven under our prive seel at our Castell of Hertford the xv day of Septembri. the yere of our reigne xxxiiii.

Henry, &c. To the Treasurer, &c. Forasmuche as we are long ago by the advys of the Lords of our Counsaill sent our welbelovyd squire Johan Fetplace in Ambassatour and message unto our brother the King of Portugal to bere unto him our licence of the Garter, which was comendement oure said squire desly executed and accomplished to his greet costes and charges and not sufficiently recompensed for the same. We considering the pmisses have graunted him C. l. by way of reward, &c. Given under our prive seel at Westminster the iiii day of Novemb. the yere of our Reigne xxxvi. Doubtlesse these Payments may be found in the Pelle Rollis of these Years.

f Rymer vol. II. p. 368. 34 H. VI. Henry, &c. To our trusty and welbelovyd squire Henry Fylyngley Koper of our Cite Wyndesore Greteing.

For as muche as our right entirely welbelovyd Brother the King of Portugal is chosen to be a Knight of the Gartere, to whom we will send in all haste by our welbelovyd squire John Fetplace the Gartere and all that longit hitert.

We will therfore and charge you strengly that anon after the sight of this, ye delivere unto the said John out of oure said Wardrobe the Parcellis hereafter enjuying, for to bere them to oure said Brother, and delivere them unto hym of oure Cyst.

First a Mantel of Blue Velvet pleyn, lyncd with white Damask and Garnysed with a Garter embroidered with gold, with our Effigies in the myddis thereof, of the Armes of Saint George, and faced with lace of blue Silk with Knoppis and Tassell.

Item a Gowne with rounde Sleeves made of Scarlet, and garnysed with Garters embroidered with golde and furred with Ermyon, the Sleeves thereof lyncd with clatbe underne the Furre.

Item a Hoode of Scarlet garnysed with lyk Garters of golde, with a vone of Purples for the same.

Item two Elmes of linnen Clatbe for the carriage of the said Garments.

And we wol that thet oure letters be unto you hereth sufficiaunt Warrant, and that by the same ye have therof due Allowaunce in yours accompt.

Given, &c.

- T. Cant.
- W. Ebor.
- T. London.
- J. Lincoln.
- R. York.
- R. Salisbory.
- Prior Sancti Jobanni,
- Bourgeois,
- W. Fauconberge,
- Stowton.

In dorso. decimo nono die Novembrii, &c. xxxvi. apud Westm. Rex de avitamento Concilii sui voluit, & mandavit, quod Custos privati Sigilli litteras sub eodem Sigillo fieri faceret secundum tenorem predictum Dominis le subscriptibus ut patent.

Ken.

i See above in Note p. and the Black-Book in this Year.

ii Black-Book of the Garter in that and in the Thirteenth Year.

Sequel of this Specimen, the Privy Seal which, at first Sight, seems to intimate that the King of Portugal had the Ensigns of this Order sent him in 22 Hen. VI, will be examined and explained.

* Mr. Afsmole had no Objection against the Time of the Elections of the Duke of Norfolk, and the others mentioned in this Manuscript, and upon an Examination, we shall find several of the Particulars therein contained to be confirmed by other Authorities. Here are five Knights, beside the Prince and the K. of P. said to have been elected, and yet the Hatchments of only four Knights were offered, to wit of the Earls of Worcester, Pembroke, Rivers, and Sir Robert Harcourt, who had all lost their Lives before this Time for their Adherence to the Right of Ed. IV, and which is very memorable, these Four were succeeded in their respective Stalls by the Duke of Norfolk, Earl of Wiltshire, Lords Ferrers and Howard, named in this Manuscript, as the Windsor-Tables assure us; so if any sufficient Reason shall appear, that the Hatchments of the Lord Montjoy's Predecessor could not have been offered at that time, this Narrative will receive a very considerable Support.

This Black-Book it self shews us, that this Lord Montjoy was one of the Companions before 26 Feb. 13 Ed. IV. though the Time of his Election is not inserted in that Register: He is placed by the Windsor-Tables in the 12th Stall on the Sovereign's Side after Robert Lord Willoughby, whose Hatchments had been ² offered in 31 Hen. VI. though it must not be understood that this Stall continued empty in that Interval from the 31 Hen. VI. to this 12 of Ed. IV; but the Hatchments of the intermediate Persons ⁴ Sir Edward Hall for Want of an actual Installation, Lionel Lord Wells upon a Deprivation, and Sir William Chamberlain and the Lord Montgrison (if he was ever elected) having never been installed, could not be offered according to the Tenour of the Statutes, and not being Founders of this Order, are omitted out of these Tables.

V. As to the last Point relating to the Marshalling, ^b Mr. Afsmole, after ^c Dr. Heylin, saith expressly, That the certain Years of the Elections of the Knights of this Order, till the Reign of Hen. V. cannot be found, and therefore these Knights are ranked by him, as they are placed in other Catalogues, according to their greatest Dignities. The Proposer submits to better Judgments, whether the following Method will not determine the Priority of the Elections of those whose Names are contained in the Windsor-Tables, which are printed by Mr. Afsmole in his Appendix with this Title, "The Names of the first Founders, and other Knights Companions who succeeded in their Stalls, after the ancient Manner; as they were (in ^c his Time) exemplified in two Tables, remaining in the Chapter-house at ^c Windsor." And the present Garter, by good Fortune, hath bought a Manuscript which belonged to his Predecessor the first Garter King of ^x History of the Garter, p. 266.

^y Our Historians inform us of the Deaths of these three Earls, and Peter le Neve, Esq; Norroy, said in his Copy of the original Deed whereby Margaret late Wife of Sir Robert Harcourt, remits to William Stafford of Grafton Bossard, Homby and Thomas of that Place, Esquires, all Actions, and principally the Appeal which she had against them for the Death of her Husband, which is dated 16 Ed. 4.

^z Black-Book in that Year.

^a See the History of this 12th Stall.

^b Hist. p. 71c.

^c History of St. George, p. 358.

Arms, wherein after the Draughts or Pictures of the Founders of this Order, is the Succession in each Stall, to the Reign of Hen. VI. which agrees in most Particulars with these Windsor-Tables. Now the Statutes made by ⁴ Edw. III. the Founder, enjoin all Vacancies to be filled within six Weeks (a Method which the Black-Book informs us was observed as low as the 4th of Hen. VI.) whereby we know the Succession, and the Time wherein vacant Stalls were filled; so that if the certain Times of the Death of each Companion can be retrieved, (which may possibly be done by Industry;) It must of course follow, that the Seniority of the Elections of these former Knights, may be ascertained in the highest Degree of Certainty that historical Facts demand, which the present Garter hath digested into yearly chronological Schemes; whereby at one View may be seen, the Year of the Election of each Knight, in which Stall he was placed, his Seniority in the Order, who were his Contemporaries, and in what Stalls, how long each continued therein; and that from the Foundation of the Order to the present Time, even after the Practice obtained in translating from, or, (as the Term is) removing Stalls: So that this seems not to be, as it hath been hitherto esteemed, an unsearchable Enquiry, though it will be found full of Labour and Difficulties.

It is freely confessed, that the Censurers of Faults in other Persons, commit frequently as many Errors as they correct or amend; and this Writer is sensible that he is as subject to such human Frailties as other Persons; but protests here, with the Sincerity of an Officer of Arms belonging to this most Noble Order (if he may be allowed, with reverence to take that Liberty) that he hath not designedly run into any, and that he detests the criminal Fault of persisting in Error, and declares his Readiness to retract and rectify the Mistakes he hath made in his own Profession; when he is convinced of them; for he would not have Ignorance or Error made sacred by any Place or Title; and that he shall be the first Person who shall return Thanks for such Discoveries, his Design being to deliver Truth impartially, which he loves for its own native Simplicity; and as farther Searches shall be made, and more Records found, new Matter of course will arise, whereby the several Parts of this Discourse will be explained, improved, amended, or corrected.

The Positions laid down in the Beginning of this Introduction, That there are several Omissions, Interpolations, and Mistakes of Persons and Reigns in the present Catalogue, have been, as 'tis thought, separately proved; and it may not be esteemed unnecessary, to give some Instances where the equivocal Expressions used by the Compiler of the Black-Book, have, as it was hinted above, misled even Mr. Ashmole in Points relating to the original Elections of the Companions.

This Register then, after mentioning the Surrender of Caen, in 5 Hen. V. proceeds to say, that this King caused the Celebration of St. George's Feast to be there held, "Ubi quindecim Equites regio more conceavit," which Mr. Ashmole mistranslates "with great Solemnity created fifteen Knights "into the Order," which latter Word is printed by him in the Italic Character, and inserted in the Chapter that treats upon the grand Feast of this Order, which may misguide the Reader, by inducing him to suppose, that fifteen Knights of the Garter were then made in the same Chapter.

In this Matter there are Mistakes of divers Natures, an Error in Chronology, and in the Nature of the Degree of Knighthood. The Town of Caen was taken on 5 Sept. and the Castle capitulated on the 23^d in 5 Hen. V. A. D. 1417. Now Livius tells us, that after this Surrender the King kept Lent and Easter at Baiieux, and thence returned to Caen, where he celebrated this Feast of St. George according to the Custom of his Predecessors; so that of course this Feast was after Easter in the Year 1418, which fell then on the 27 March, and in 6 not the 5th of Hen. 5. & Walsingham therefore places it rightly on St. George's Day, in this sixth Year, and that it was solemnized in the Castle of Caen. Some of our Historians likewise set us at rights in the Degree of Knighthood then conferred, which they express in intelligible Language "^b quosdam Nobiles secundum Balnearum observantias creavit in milites." ^c Leland indeed in an Extract mistakes the Year, but presents us with the Names of these Knights.

And it cannot be foreign here to take notice, that this and other Degrees of Knighthood, were heretofore usually conferred with great Solemnity at the ^d Feasts of this Order.

Now again: This Black-Book on 8 Febr. 39 Hen. VI. hath these Words, "Rex autem ibi sedes à consensu transtulit, loco Ducis Buckingham Comiti- tem Warwici constituens," &c. which equivocal Word transtulit induced Mr. ^e Ashmole to place these as Examples of Translations or Removals to higher Stalls by the especial Favour of the Sovereign, and he ranks these with the Cases of the Earl of Ostrevant, and of the Duke of Glocester; whereas if he had consulted the Scrutinies on that Day, he must have found therein the Names of all these Persons, who must therefore be then originally elected, and that they were only designed to the Stalls here

^f Livius in vita Hen. V. p. 38.

Rot. Norm. 5 H. V. n. 101.

^g P. 418. A. D. 1418.

^h Elmham de gestis Hen. V. in Bibl. Hartley 62 B. 5. MS. vita Hen. V. quæ incipit Lucerna in Off. Arm. p. 56b.

ⁱ Collect. vol. 1. p. 488.

^k Comp. Garderobe 11 R. II. p. 168^a. Waltero Clopon capitali Julicario de Banco Regis & Rob. Ch. ardeon capitali Julicario de communi Banco R. pro apparatus suis ad ordinem militarem de Dom. Rege in festo S. Georgii ad modum Bannere futuriend. viz. utriq; eorum — ad mantellam sursum, cum i penula de Cxx ventri. Menev. pur. & ad i capam faciend. ad infra vigiland. vi uln. pann. russi long. & utriq; eorum ad lectum suum faciend. & lineand. ac pro balneo suo ii pann. ad aur. signon. &c.

^l Lib. Costom in Garderoba p. 184^a. Com. March. Thomas Com. Stafford & Ajour. filio Com. de Den in Armagans pro vestur. & apparat. eorum ad ordinem militarem de Dom. Rege apud Wyndesore in festo S. Georgii anno xlii [Ric. II.] suscipiend. viz. cuiuslibet eorum ad i rob. yenal. fac. & furrur. &c. & cuiuslibet eorum ad lectum suum fac. & lin. ac pro balneo suo cooperiend. ii pann. ad aur. signat. & i pec. siudon. virid. afforc. xliiii uln. tel. lin. brabant p. iii or qrt. & ii pec. card. de lumbard.

^m Comp. Garderobe 9 H. V. Regi Scot. ad & pro apparatu suo ad ordinem militar. de Dom. nostro Rege apud Castrum de Wyndesore in vigili festi S. Georgii recipiend. viz. ad i capam, &c. & ad i lectum de Worsted rub. med. aff. cont. cooperor. restor. i par. blanket. p. blanket curt. i par. lindh. de ii tel. lat. & iii uln. long. tel. lin. Brabant. & i carvas fest. de Canab. ac ad cooperiend. dict. lect. cum pann. ad aur. de Luke. & ad cooperiend. Balnearum suum tam infra quam extra & in fund. cum tel. lin. Brabant. & de calcar. Glad. fell. & aliis rebus ordinari. & fact. pro dicto Rege.

ⁿ Comiti Staff. ad & pro apparatu suo, &c. similiter. Thos Charles V. holding a Chapter of the Toison at Utrecht in 1546, in the Cathedral Church, after hearing Divine Service with the Companions of this Order, did, in their presence, confer the Honour of Knighthood on the Seigneur Vigoreux de Cortevill. See the Instrument in Meneillier de la Chevalerie, p. 88.

^o Hist. p. 521.

mentioned, is confirmed by an Entry in 1 Ed. IV, where it appears that some of these elect Knights had not even then received any Installation.

The Arms of Knights Companions of Foreign Orders have been frequently published in pompous Volumes; and even Draughts of ^m Arms, ascribed to the Knights of this Order, have been printed beyond Sea, in large Books, done according to the Conjectures and Fancies of the Authors, and indeed Mr. Afsmole hath presented us with the Arms of them in a modern Fashion, omitting the quartered Coats; but it seems strange, that Types or Draughts of the Escutcheons or Plates, remaining in the Stalls at Windsor, have never been hitherto engraven and published. It was ordained by the ⁿ Founders Statutes, that a Plate of Arms of each Knight should be fastened to his Stall, for a perpetual Mark of his Honour: And to answer this Intention, in some measure, a Decree was made in a Chapter held in 1628, that all the Stiles on the Plates should be taken in a Book, and laid up in the College, which if ever done, was ^o lost before Mr. Afsmole's Time. And since Types and Pictures do convey better Representations and fuller Ideas than any verbal Descriptions; so as the Omitting them in a Work of this Nature would be equal, if not worse than the Publishing a Book of Geography without Maps: It is therefore proposed, That whoever shall undertake this Work, should procure the Engraving the Plates still remaining, whereof Nine are for the First Founders as they are called, but whether Coarvovs should be critically examined. And as to those Plates of the Companions that have been sacrilegiously taken from thence, 'tis submitted, whether it may be proper to Engrave the Seals of such Knights, most of which may still be found affixed to Instruments executed by them; or to cast them into the Form of the contemporary Plates, taking particular Notice thereof: As also to insert Draughts of the few Monuments that remain, exhibiting the antient Knights with any Ensigns of the Order, and the Pictures of some of them in the whole Habit preserved in Manuscripts; together with a most stately Procession of the Order, and a Representation of Hen. VIII. in a Chapter, with all the Knights Companions in their Habits.

The Reader must be cautioned in this Place to be on his Guard in the Case of Figures, and with great Strictness to examine into the true Ages of all Effigies and Draughts, whether they were really contemporary with the Person or Fact they represent, or erected in succeeding Times. Ma-

^m Les Noms Surnoms Qualites Armes & blasons de tous les Princes Seigneurs Commandeurs Chevaliers & Officiers de l'Ordre & Milice de la Jarriere depuis l'Institution jusques a present creez par le Roy Edward III. Roy d'Angleterre premier Fondateur & chef Souverain d'iceluy le dernier Decembre 1347. a Paris chez Pierre Lamy en la Grand Salle du Palais au second Pillier au Grand Cefor, 1647. 'Tis a large Folio, containing in each Side the Tales of the Knights, in the Middle their Arms within a Garter, and underneath the Blasons.

Armoiries & Blasons de tous les Chevaliers de l'Ordre du Roy de St. Esprit, de la Jarriere & de la Toison d'or depuis le commencement d'iceluy jusqu'a present par Charles Soyer Enlumineur du Roy, in folio Paris 1643.

Jean Boiffas fit imprimer en 1648, un Promptuaire Armoial en quatre parties, la dernière desquelles comprend les Noms Surnoms & Qualites des Chevaliers des Ordres du Saint Esprit, de la Toison d'or, de la Jarretiere & de l'Annonciade.

Les Noms & Armes des Chevaliers du St. Esprit depuis leur creation jusques en 1652, & ceux de l'Ordre de la Jarriere gavez par Pierre Danet, in Quarto, Paris.

And it appears that the very learned Monsieur Perresk was very sollicitous to get a Catalogue of these Knights, in order to publish the same in a noble Design upon an Foot. Epistola ad Candacium, p. 322.

ⁿ Art. 22.

^o Hist. p. 628.

ny Instances could be produced of great Errors committed by too hasty a Credulity in this respect. The Matter may be explained by a-Supposition, That in case a Statue should now be made for Hen. VI. with a Collar composed of the Figures of Garters about his Neck, and the Image of St. George thereto appendant, and set up in the Nich of any College built by him; when these Effigies, by Length of Time, and Exposure to the Winds and Weather, shall become of the same Colour with the other Parts of the Building: It would be an Imposition on Posterity, when the Time of its Erektion shall be forgot, if any Argument should then be drawn from this Figure, that this Sort of Collar and George was the determinate Form of the Symbols of the Order in the Reign of that Prince. Such an Argument must be built on a fallacious Ground, whether the Fact of the Usage of such a Collar in that Age was true or otherwise. Hence it is, that the Collector of these Notes is no more influenced by the Picture of Ed. III. in the Chapter-House at Windsor, with a George pendant to a blue Riband hanging down upon his Breast, than he is by the Escutcheon of the Confessor's Arms, as they are called, represented within a Garter in the Stone-work of the Chappel there. The learned P. Guichenon hath observed, that the Emblem of the Amunciade appears on the Statues of some antient Knights of the Collar in Savoie, who died long before the Time that Duke Charles added that as one of the Symbols of the Order. Such Ensigns have been placed by their Descendants, with an innocent Inadvertency, as Memorials only that their noble Ancestors participated in the Distinctions of these Orders, and not with any Design or View to impose on Posterity.

It must be an afflicting Consideration to a Lover of Antiquities, that at the Dissolution of religious Houses, and especially Frieries, no Care was then taken to remove the Monuments of the Dead, and the painted Glass into neighbouring Churches; the Havock and Rapine, if it may not be termed Sacrilege, was unaccountable, and the Right Rverend Historian acquaints us, how early, upon the Survey, the Chappels were deemed superfluous, and the Ornaments rifled and sold. But 'tis high Time to draw to a Conclusion.

Though this Order, by the politick Contivance of that potent Prince Edw. III. (in whose Reign, martial Discipline was at a great Height) was instituted principally for a Fraternity of Arms, inasmuch as each Knight was by the sacred Tye of an Oath, obliged not to bear Arms against any of his Companions (which was the original Design of this and all other antient military Orders, as will be sufficiently proved in its proper Place;) yet it likewise appears, this most Noble Founder had a further View, to give Encouragement and Reward to military Persons, descended from a Series of Ancestors of noble Blood, to remain for ever as the Price of Vertue, a perpetual Memorial of their Family, an Encomium of the Glory of their own Names, the Increase of their Honour, and a publick Testimony of the Eminency of their Deserts : And though these Knights stand in a much better Register of Honour, by the bare Act of an Election into this Order, than by any Narrative of their Lives recoverable at this distance ; yet as there can be no doubt, but a due and laudable Desire of Fame and Praise, was a main Spring of the honourable Achievements, by which these active and publick-spirited Knights signalized themselves in unwearied Labours and Hazards for the Service of their Country ; so it may be a Tribute justly owing to their Memory and Merits, as well as a Debt to Truth and History, to retrieve some Accounts of their glorious Exploits dispersed in Records and Fragments, over-run as it were with the Rust of Time ; that these may be transmitted down with Honour to Posterity, and their Descendants be thereby excited to immortalize their own Names by imitating these noble Patterns, and illustrious Examples of distinguish'd Valour, Vertue, Generosity, and Contempt of their own private Advantage, when the Publick came in the Balance.

p L'Hist. General. de Savoie, vol. 1. p. 112.

q Burnet's Hist. vol. 1. in the Records, p. 152.

Heralds - Office near St. Paul's Cathedral, London.

To

To the Right Honourable

Sir THOMAS HERBERT

Earl of Pembroke and Montgomery, &c.

Knight of the Most Noble Order of the GARTER.

THE real Occasion of the Erection of the ORDER of the GARTER, and the certain Æra of its Institution, are controverted Articles in History. The Loss of the original Statutes, and of the antient Registers and Annals, the Silence of contemporary Writers, and the great Distance of Years, have left modern Authors to the Liberty of giving various Conjectures in both Cases: Under these discouraging Difficulties, and by reason of the short Compass of Time, wherein my Enquiries have been turned upon the Subject of this Order; I am forced to expose my own Defects, rather than not to obey your Lordship's Commands, in giving my poor Sentiments too hastily upon these fundamental Points; and here I am to crave the Freedom of taking the epistolary Manner, which is not tied to the Rules of any particular Method or strict Connection, so as I may lay down and resume the same Subject at my own Will,

R

and

and to use the problematical Way throughout, with Power of Revocation and Liberty to alter my Opinion when I shall be better informed. And your Lordship having been farther pleased, in regard to the injured Memory of Sir John Falfolf, to require I should make some Researches concerning his Conduct, I have added such Memoirs relating to it in a distinct Section, as I have been able to collect from Records and the most authentick Historians, whereto I hope to make large Additions, if I shall ever proceed to write the Narrative of the third Stall on the Prince's Side.

Many learned Persons have not only exercised their Pens on these two grand Subjects, with small or little Success, but even traditionary Legends and Fables have in both Particulars obtained admittance. In this first Article, touching the Reason of the Institution of this Order, the Fiction of the Slipping the Garter of the Queen, or of the Countess of Salisbury, is now no more credited than the absurd ridiculous Relation of ^a Micheli Marquez, That this Order, termed from the Greek Language Pericelidis Ordo, was erected to the Memory of one Pericelide, a true fairy Queen, or the whimsical Dream of ^b Mr. Joshua Barnes, in his far-fetch'd Derivation of it from the Cabiri among the Samothracians. To pass over these Visions as romantick Fancies, and without repeating the Sentiments of ^c Authors of the first Class, which may be consulted in Print, it is my Duty here to explain the Hint given in the aforegoing Introduction, That the Garter, like other Military Orders, was, according to my present Notions, erected principally for a Fraternity of Arms: It is said principally, because some other Motives hereafter to be mentioned, might also be in the View and Design of the most heroick Founder of our Order.

It must be here premised, That the Enquiry is restrained at present, to shew for what Reason the Order it self was instituted, and not upon what Occasion the Garter was made the chief Symbol, and gave Denomination to it, which must be the Subject of another Disquisition; whereon I shall now only observe, that I can never believe it was purely humourfome, or accidental, or wholly allegorical and mystical, as the ancient Author ^d Belvaleti interprets it, who hath given a Rationale or Explication of the Mythology or Moral (as he would have it) of every little Particular in the Fabrick or Make of the Garter.

According to the Rules of Method, and especially since I have undertaken to give a Conjecture, That the Order of the Garter owes its Origine to the same Cause that other such Military Institutions do; I

^a Tesoro Militar de Cavalleria, p. 92. ^b Algunos dicen aver institudo esta Orden a contemplacion de Pericelide Reina de Gantiera, &c.

^c History of Edw. III. p. 294.

^d Leland in Cygenam Cautionem. Quærenti mihi sæpiusculè de Pericelidis origine, relata sunt incerta multa, usq; adeo ut nondum apud me constituerim quid potissimum admittam; longe præstat silentio originem rei parum mihi constantis præserire, quam incerta pro certis pronunciarè. Profecto verisimile est præclarum fuisse aliquod facinus, quod nobilitatis Societati primordia tam Augusta pepererit. Sunt qui Pericelidem interpretentur tesseram belli designare. Cincturæ species ea est. Cincti milites sua obibant munera. At quanta interim distinctorum infamia. Exautorati illi quidem erant. Sunt rursus qui dicunt Eadverum Signo Pericelidis infortem dato hostem vixisse; sunt porro qui Pericelidis circulo orbem virtutum apprime necessarium Principibus viris colligant.

Vide Camdeni Britanniam in: Atrebatii, sive Barthire.

^d Catechismus Ord. Pericelidis.

take Leave to give a Definition, or rather a Description of a Military Order, which I think hath not been done by any of the numerous Writers on that Subject. By it, then I understand a Brotherhood, Fellowship, or Association of a certain Number of actual Knights, subjected under a Sovereign or Great Master, united by particular Laws and Statutes peculiar to that Society, some whereof relate to warlike Purposes, into which College the Companions are admitted with certain Ceremonies and sworn to the Observance of those Statutes, and are distinguished by some particular Habits, Ensigns, Badges or Symbols, which usually give Denomination to the Order, the Vacancies wherein are from Time to Time supplied by Nomination or Election, for which, and several other Ends and Purposes, the Members are oblig'd to assemble and hold Chapters: And though the Proofs of these several Parts are within the Compass of my Design, however, for avoiding too great a Breach in the Beginning of this Letter, the same shall be postponed to be resumed in the Sequel hereof, since such an Examination will cast a great deal of Light in this Matter.

It would be Labour in vain to search for the Commencement of any Military Order beyond the ^e twelfth Century: The Religious Ones are of a more early Date than the Civil Military ones, and owe their Original to the ⁷ Crusades, but both were in all probability instituted upon the same Prospect and Design, which might be the Giving mutual Aids and Supports in War, the Former against the Enemies of Religion, the Latter against the Enemies of the Sovereign; and the great Success the Former met with against the Infidels, might encourage and excite ⁸ Princes to erect the Latter for their own particular Defence and Security; for if we cast our Eyes on the Founders of them, we shall find them Persons famed for their military Enterprizes and warlike Policies; and by surveying these Orders, their Institutions will appear to have been at such critical Times when the Sovereigns or Founders were either making preparations or actually engaged in Wars with their Neighbours.

But to descend to more positive Arguments, in perusing the Statutes of the respective Orders, we shall meet an express Article, which in substance, though in different Terms, requires an Assistance to be given in War to the Grand Master at all Events, accompanied generally with the strictest Prohibition from bearing Arms against any one Member of the Society. But before References are made in particular to these Clauses, it may not be amiss to recite the Opinions of two Authors in Print who concur in their Judgments in this Point, and then to weigh the Motives why Princes have been induced to desire an Admission into foreign Orders, and on the contrary the Reasons given by other Princes, why they have refused such Orders when freely offered to them. In the next Place let us consider what Resentments have been shewn, and Punishments inflicted by Sovereigns upon their Subjects and Homagers who have presumed, without their previous Consents, to accept foreign Orders, and then let us inspect the Forms and the Reasons given for the Surrender and Resignations of Orders, and the Causes assigned for Deprivations, to all which let us add, the Expedients and Methods observed by cautious Princes upon their Investitures into foreign Orders, out of a justifiable Prudence, least they should otherwise thereby subject themselves to Obligations required by those Orders which were derogatory to their own Rights of Supremacy, or by the Acceptance of them entangle themselves in fruitless or dangerous Alliances; all which remarkable Occurrences and Proceedings, though very different in their Natures, will sufficiently evince, that the Supporting the Grand Master in all his Wars, is esteemed to be the principal Design and Intention, especially when compared with the express Articles of that nature in the Statutes of the respective Orders.

^e Papebroch apud Bolland tom. 3 April. p. 155. | ^f Menesfrier de la Chevalrie, p. 351, 352.
 Helyot des Ordres Monast. tom. 3. p. 1. ch. 31. | ^g Heylin's History of S. George, p. 313.

To proceed then: The Authors in Print are Mezeray and Polydor Virgil; the First with reference to the Order of St. Michael in France, and the Latter with an especial Regard to our Order of the Garter. This French^b Historian informs us, that Louis XI. limited the Number of the Knights Companions to Thirty-six, but at the Time of the Foundation nominated only Fifteen, reserving all the other Vacancies in petto, with the political Prospect and Design of drawing Foreigners, especially the Burgundians and English into his Interest; for he obliged all the Companions to renounce all other Alliances, which (as this Writer there judiciously remarks) was the “real Cause of that Institution, though that “cunning Prince coloured it over artfully with the Pretence of a peculiar “Devotion to the Archangel.” The Conjecture is sufficiently proved by the Behaviour of the Duke of Bretagne, whom this Prince attempted to entrap unawares, by the specious Bait of presenting him the Badge of this Order in the next Year after its Erection. The^c Chronicle added to Monstrelet relates, that he sent his new-erected Order to this Duke, desiring his wearing the Emblem of it and taking the Oath, which the Duke refused in regard he had (as it is there reported) formerly declared himself the Friend, Brother, and Ally of the Duke of Burgundy, by the Acceptance of the Golden Fleece, which non-compliance offended the King to that degree, and (as this Author words it) not without good Reason, that he thereon declared War against the Duke: But we have the Reasons given by this Duke for his Refusal of accepting this Order ‘till such time as an Explanation should be made of the Statutes; and though the Instrument be long, yet giving great Light into the Nature, Design, and Policy of the Erection of Orders, I cannot omit the Inserting the whole Substance of it.

After a^d civil Introduction in usual Forms, the Duke thinks proper to observe, that the first Article of the Statutes of this new Order of St. Michael, “requires the Companions thereof to quit all other Orders, with “an Exemption indeed for Kings, Emperors, and Dukes, who were permitted the Liberty of retaining their own Orders, if the Sovereign of

^b Hist. de Louis XI. p. 136.

^c P. 33.

^d Lobinon Hist. de Bretagne, p. 709.

“ that of St. Michael should consent ; whereas this Duke represents that “ he himself being Great Master and Sovereign in Chief of his own “ Order, it would be severe to confine himself either to discontinue his “ own, or to prevent him from erecting other Orders, which he had “ Power to institute. Against the fifth Article, which ordains the strictest “ Union among all the Companions, he remonstrates that the King “ was at Liberty to admit the Enemies of the Duke into this Society of “ St. Michael, and that the Duke was so much superior to most of the “ other Companions, that it would be burthenfome to him to engage “ himself with such from whom he could receive very little Benefit in “ return. As to the sixth Article, whereby all the Knights were obliged “ to serve the King in his Wars ; he answers, That he could not depart “ out of the Limits of his own Dutchy, which being much environed “ by the Sea would quickly be ruined, if he should be compelled to “ break with all Persons, against whom the King should be pleased to “ declare War ; besides, that the Bretons his Subjects were averse to serve “ in War out of the Bounds of their Country. As to the Import of “ the eighth Article, of the King’s Right of demanding the Advice of “ the Companions, except in Matters of Secrecy and Dispatch, where “ the King was at liberty, he freely avows, That he cannot engage him“ self in that implicate Manner, without knowing against what Persons “ and for what Cause. To the ninth Article, which prohibits the Knights “ Subjects to the King, to undertake any War or long Journey without “ the Permission of the Sovereign, he enters a solemn Protestation, that “ neither he nor his Subjects are any ways obliged to take the Direction, “ much less to obey the Commands of the King in Matters relating to “ War. To the tenth Article, which forbids all Manner of War between “ the Knights, and which orders that all Differences between them shall be “ ended in a Chapter of the Order ; He objects that he cannot submit “ to it, for if any of his own Lords of Bretagne should chance to be “ admitted into this Society, they might by this Method decline his Juris“ diction, which would be of the last ill Consequence. To the thirteenth “ Article, which gives Permission to the Companions who are not Sub“ jects to the King, to defend their own Sovereign, if the King should “ make the first Attack upon him ; but in case their own Sovereign “ should be the first Aggressor, they may not then follow him, unless “ they are compelled thereto, and that only when their own Sovereign “ is personally present, in which Case too they shall give the King no“ tice thereof : The Duke insists that an Explanation be made of the “ Meaning and Extent of the Word Subject, and declares his firm Re“ solution not to deprive himself of the Services of his Subjects, even “ in case he should not be present in Person in his Wars. And lastly, “ he represents, that he cannot submit himself to the Contents of the “ eighteenth Article, which empowers the King to resume the Ensign of “ the Order for a Crime, because he cannot consent to the Giving any “ new Rights to be exercised over Himself or Subjects, of whom he is “ the natural Lord and Judge, and that the Acceptance therefore of this “ Order would, as he conceived, be a Pledge given by him derogatory

“ to his own personal Rights, to those of his Duchy and of his Subjects.” Hence we may sufficiently be instructed of the Policy, Spirit, and Design of this Order, and also of all others which contain in them Clauses to the same Effect and Purpose.

¹ Polydor Virgil informs us, That Alfonfus Duke of Calabria perceiving that the French King had Intentions to declare War against him, earnestly solicited an Admission into the Order of the Garter, as a Security against such an Attempt; on which this Historian observes, That the ancient Custom of giving Aid and Support to Companions of the same Order, was then grown obsolete, as had fully appeared in the Cases of several Italian Princes, who in vain had applied for such Assurances from the Colleges of the French and Burgundian Orders, of which they were Members.

But though the Giving a real effective Support, might in that Age be out of Fashion; yet we learn from our Records in this very Case, that the Companions had a Right to such Assurances; for when this Duke of Calabria had succeeded his Father in the Throne of Naples, and the French Embassadors applied to our Hen. VII. for the Borrowing of a Sum of Money, that Prince returned this real or politick Excuse, “ That he could not with Honour, give any Aid against the King of Naples, who was his Companion and Ally, having received the Garter; and that in case he should act otherwise, the same would be contrary to his Oath which he had taken according to the Statutes of the Order.” Whence, by the Way, it appears, that our King, who had not been a Knight of the Garter before his Accession to the Crown, did thereon take the Oath for the Observation of the Statutes. as hath been practised in the like Cases by the Sovereigns of the Orders of France and of the Golden Fleece; though ^o Mr. Ashmole observes, That Edw. VI. became Sovereign by virtue of the first Article of the Statutes, not needing any Ceremony to make him so: And I have above shewn, that Hen. VI. had not only the Habits of this Order prepared for him against St. George's Feast in his first Year, but paid the Fees for assuming his Stall in his third Year, when by reason of his Minority he was not capacitated to understand the Nature of an Oath.

This Request of the Duke of Calabria shews, the Motive why Princes have solicited an Admission into foreign Orders; and the Records are very full in declaring the Reasons for which several Princes have accepted the Garter, That it was in Token, Sign, and ^p Pledge of perpetual Friendship, Love, and Brotherhood; these Instances are so numerous that it would be too tedious to recite them: Hence the Society is called ^q Con-

¹ Hist. Angl. p. 587.

^m Catiguia D. 6. in Bibl. Cotton. Que le Roy ne povoit avec son honneur bailler aide & assistance a icelluy son bon Frere & Cousin a l'encontre du Roy de Naples, qui estoit son Coufrere & Allye, veu & considere, qu'il avoit prins & receu l'ordre de la Ferretiere: Et si le Roy autrement faisoit, ce seroit contrevenir au serment, qu'il a fait par les Statutz du dit Ordre, &c.

ⁿ Godfrey Cerem. Franc. vol. 1. p. 419, 437, and the later Kings have taken the Oath the Day after their Coronations. See Anselme Catalogue des Chevaliers in the case of each Sovereign, &c.

^o History, p. 320.

^p See above p. 6. Note a. of Albert and William Duke of Holland; and p. 28. Note b. of the Emperor Sigmund, &c. Aud'even us late as Gervais Adolfus, who saith that he received the Garter in arduis amicitie nexum, & evidentialium amoris-perpetuo duratur. Selden's Titles of Honour, p. 381. See the 38th Article of the Order of the Holy Ghost, &c.

^q Froiss. vol. 1. ch. 302. vol. 3. p. 87.

frainie, and the Members Confreyes and Freres: And the Historians stile those of the same Order Freres & Compagnons d'Armes, and take notice, that mutual Friendship is so absolutely required, that it is the highest Aggravation of an Injury when it is done by one Companion to another. Thus the Duke of Orleans complains, that the Murther of his Father was more criminal in the Duke of Burgundy, in regard that as the greatest Confirmation of a Fraternity and Society of Arms, they had mutually received each others Orders.

This Assassination was committed on 23 Nov. 1407, which probably was before the Time that there were any Military Orders properly so called either in Orleans or Burgundy; so that this Expression may mean nothing more than their mutual Acceptance of the Devices and Badges of each other: Yet we see the Opinion of that Age, That personal Enmities were unjustifiable even in these Cases of Badges, which Symbols were then worn as Memorials and Pledges of strict and firm Amity. Indeed Juvenal des Ursins acquaints us, That the Duke of Burgundy, in 1405, upon a Reconciliation, promised this Duke of Orleans to be his Brother in Arms, and to bear (as he expresses it) his Order, which doubtless was the ragged and knotty  Baton*, with the Motto J E L'E N V I E, taken by this latter Duke to distinguish his Partizans in his Contest with the Former, touching the Maintenance of his Authority, as the Order (as 'tis here called) of the Duke of Burgundy, was probably that of the Joyners Plane inscribed J E L E T I E N S, to shew that he intended to break the Authority of the other Duke; for it will be shewn hereafter, that such Devices have been frequently called Orders.

But as some Princes have been earnest to accept foreign Orders; so others, in different Circumstances, have declined them when offered. There is only one Instance, recorded in the Register of the Garter, of a Refusal, which is of Philip Duke of Burgundy, who gives this Reason, " Least he should be obliged to break either the sacred Statutes of this Order, or the Rights of Kindred.*" He means that Article of the Statutes which prohibits these Knights from bearing Arms against any of the Companions, which he could not oblige himself by Oath to observe, because he was then engaged to support the Duke of Brabant his Uncle and Ally, against the Duke of Glocester a Knight of the Garter, for the Recovery of his lawful Wife, whom this latter had unhappily married, which unfortunate Controversy run to the Length of a Challenge for a Combat between these two Dukes: And here I must crave Leave in a short Digression to observe, That this Duke of Burgundy within few Years after this Refusal, erected the Order of the Golden Fleece with the Motto Autre n'hauray, i. e. I will have no other; and since the second Statute expressly prohibits the Companions thereof from accepting any other Order, it is left to your Lordship's Judgement, whether it is not a probable r Chifflet Vind. Hist. p. 269. Monstrelet, vol. 3. p. 75. Commines p. 126, 162, 157, 158, 159, &c. f Menestrier de la Chevalerie, p. 72.

i Ad A. D. 1405, & A. D. 1411, portoint l'ordre l'un de l'autre ou avoient promis le porter.

 Du Chesne Hist. d'Angleterre ad A. D.* 1405. Favin, vol. 2. p. 23, in English.
 See Chifflet Liliun Francicant, p. 79, 82, ubi differ a lute.

x Lib. Niger in Anno 2 Hen. 6.
y Rot. Parl. 5 Hen. 6. n. 19.

Conjecture, That this Motto may relate in some Manner to this Refusal of our Order, and to his ² Resolution at that time to receive no other, tho' the usual Interpretation is, that he only designed thereby to intimate he would not marry again. Indeed his Lady surviv'd him, which prevented the Exposing him to the Temptation of trying his Resolution for a Re-Marriage; And in truth it must be allowed that he altered his Resolution, if he ever made one to refuse all other Orders, since eighteen Years after this Institution he accepted the Orders of Alfonfus King of Aragom and Sicily, which will be mentioned in the Sequel of this Letter. It is certain that his Son, Duke Charles, having as 'tis presum'd in his Father's Life-time, receiv'd the Order or Device of ^a Bretagne, altered the Motto, which taken in the Sense of his Averfion either to another Order, or to another Marriage, was equally unsuitable, to his Circumstances. But the chief Reason of inferring this Guess is, with a View only of shewing, that a Foreigner upon Refusal of our Order, might thereon take an Occasion of erecting one of his own; as it will be soon evident other Foreigners did, upon the Resignations or Deposals from the Garter.

I come now to enquire what Resentments Princes have shewn upon their Subjects or Homagers, who have accepted the Order of the Garter, or any other, without their previous License and Consent.

Gilles de Bretagne, mentioned above in the ^b Introduction, third Son of John VI, Duke of that Place, was Uncle [in Law] to our Henry VI, and was bred up in the ^c Englifo Court from the Age of twenty-one Years, and received several signal ^d Favours 'till his Return to that Dutchy in December 1443, where he was forthwith imprisoned, and at length strangled on 24 April 1450, because as several ^e Authors inform us, he had received the Order of the Garter. A late ^f Writer conjectures, the Letter said to have been sent in the Name of our King, demanding his Release upon the Account of his being a Companion of this Order, was a Piece of Art contrived to hasten his Death; which if it should be admitted to have been a pure Forgery for that wicked Purpose, yet such an Artifice will by no means prove that he was not a Knight of the Garter, but rather the contrary; for 'tis improbable the Counterfeiter of it would invent a Fact that could very easily be disproved. 'Tis certain, that some little time before he was thus murdered, one of the Articles of ^g Impeachment

² Gollut Republ. Sequanoise, p. 726, fait pour monstrier, qu'il ne vouloit autre femme, ny amie que la Duchesse sa compagne; soit qu'il vouloit monstrier, qu'il ne se lieroit a une autre Ordre de Chevalerie.

^a Comines, p. 7 & 8.

^b Page 6. Note c.

^c St. Marth. Hist. General. vol. 2. p. 490, 491. See Rymer, vol. 8. p. 877.

^d Priv. Sigill. 5 May, 12 H. 6. recites, That the King on the 5th of Nov. in his 11th Year, had granted to his Cousin Gilles Son of his Uncle the Duke of Bretagne 250 Marks yearly, in consideration of his proximity in Blood, and his great personal Vertues. And another Privy Seal dated 13 Dec. 22 H. 6. recites a former Grant of 1000 Marks yearly to him, for such time as he should continue in this Kingdom; and that he being then on his departure out of this Realm, the same should be paid up to Candlemas following; as also to give him a gold Cup of the Value of 100 Marks and 100 l. in Money within the same.

^e Hist. de Charles VII. p. 212. speaking of the Attachment of Francis Duke of Bretagne to the French King, saith, il a porte guerre contre tous, qu'il savoit estre contre le Roy de France, mesme contre son Frere, qui avoit recue l'Ordre du Roy d'Angleterre qu'on appelle la Jarrier.

Montrelet lived in 1451, and in his Hist. vol. 3. p. 31, to the same Purpose. — Contre un de ses propres Freres nomme Messire Gilles de Bretagne, lequel on prejidice du Roy de France, & sans quelque adveu de luy, avoit recue l'Ordre du Roy d'Angleterre qu'on appelle le Jarriere, &c.

See Berry d'Argonne l. 12. c. 3. La Roque traite de Noblesse, p. 371.

^f Lobineau l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 637.
^g Rot. Parl. 28 H. 6. n. 26. 7 Febr.

in Parliament against the Duke of Suffolk, charges him with the Omifion of comprehending the King of Aragon and the Duke of Bretagne in the Truce entred into with the King of France, “whereby that Duke [of Bretagne] is become your [that is our King’s] enemy and Gyles of Bretagne his brother, which is and belong tyme hath been your well willed man and servant put in grete duresse of prifion and likely to be putte to deth or destroyed for his true faith and will that he hath to you.”

A great Jealoufy was upon the like occasion expreffed against an Homer; for when William of Bavaria Earl of Ostrevant, eldest Son of Albert Earl or Duke of Hainalt and Holland, received the Order of the Blue Garter of the Company of St. George, it was immediately (as ^b Froiffart words it) inferred, that he thereby shewed his Courage or Inclination was much more English than French; and this Fact being reprefented to Charles V. King of France, with an Explanation, That no Person could be admitted into this Order, without a previous Oath not to bear Arms against the Crown of England; that King was so highly incensed, that he caused this Earl to be summoned to perform his Homage for the County of Ostrevant, to which another contemporary ¹Historian adds a further Circumstance, That this Earl, upon the Receipt of the Garter, had discontinued the Weating the Jewel that was the Symbol of the Order of the King of France, and indeed we are assured that he ^kreceived the Honour of Knighthood from Charles V. to whose Daughter he had been contracted in 1377, who died before Marriage.

In 1470, when Charles Duke of Burgundy appeared in Gant, having the Garter on one of his Legs, and upon him the Red Cross, which was the Order and Emblem of Edward [IV.] King of England, he thereby shewed and declared himself (as the ¹Historian expresses it) the capital Enemy of the King of France and of that Kingdom, and was to be taken and reputed an Englishman, whereon that King confiscated the Lands of this Duke by an ^mInstrument, whereof a Copy is printed in the Proofs annexed to the History of Philip de Comines.

Thus the King of France was extremely dissatisfy’d with the ⁿDuke of Orleans for taking the Golden Fleece in 1440, interpreting that Action as an Alliance made with the Duke of Burgundy, the Sovereign of it, and with the Dukes of Bretagne and Alençon, who had at the same time accepted that Order with him.

In later Ages our Country-men Sir Nicholas Clifford and Sir Anthony Shirley, were committed to Prison for accepting the Order of St. Michael without the License of Queen Elizabeth, as ^oMr. Camden informs us, whereof a more particular Narratïve is inserted in the ^b Vol. 4. c. 22. p. 86, 87.

ⁱ Hist. de Charles VI. par le Laboureur, p. 196, 197.

^k Beka f. 208.

^l Chroniques additionnees au Monfretlet, page

33 b.

^m Preuves sur Comines, p. 101. 3 Dec. 1470.— Et avec ce nous a este remonstree comment le dit

Doc de Bourgogne en demonstrent vouloir de demeurer nostre perpetuel ennemy & de la Couronne, a pris la Jartiere, & Ordre de nostre ancien Ennemy Edouard de la Marche Anglois & porte son Enseigne, qui est la Croix rouge, &c.

ⁿ Monfretlet, vol. 2. p. 181. a. b.

^o Camden. Eliz. sub A. D. 1594.

Margin. This latter Person, Sir Anthony Shirley, after several famous Exploits in foreign Parts and several long Peregrinations, accepted another Order, Touching Sir Anthony Shirley, and the ORDER of St. Michael.

To our very good and honoured Friend Sir John Willy, Kt. of Her Majesty's Privy Council.

After our very hearty Commendations, According to her Majesty's Commandment, we have called before us Mr. Anthony Shirley, and having strictly examined and required him upon his allegiance truly to declare the manner of his acceptance of the Order of Knight-hood of St. Michael, he answered, That when the French King did offer the same unto him, he refused it, being minded never to accept thereof, and afterwards the Duke of Bouillon, and Monsieur de Sancy told him, that if he did not accept of the King's honourable Offer, the King would take it in ill part, and to be done in his dishonour. But not being persuaded to accept thereof, he repayed to her Majesty's ambassador, who advised him to refuse the same if he could, but if he were craftily pressed, and could not refuse it, then to accept it without the Oath, reserving always his service and due to her Majesty. And being afterwards earnestly pressed by the King, he did accept the said Order of Knight-hood, and kneeling (his hands between the King's) the Statutes of the Order being read, he took the Oath, saving always his duty and allegiance to her Majesty, and made an excuse of the said Order, otherwise thin to satisfy the King's pleasure therein. And being shortly reprehended by us for accepting that Order, in the detraction of his service, by Oath given to another Prince, notwithstanding the reserving of his Allegiance and Duty to her Majesty without her Highness pleasure first known; he said, he is barely sorry for his offending her Majesty therein, having never any meaning to have offended her Majesty thereby. We have commended him unto the Priseur in the Fleet, with her Majesty's full authority command: We have also called before us Sir Thomas Shirley the Father, and charged him, that he hath encouraged his Son therein, and hath persuaded him, to take the place and precedence of other Knights; he answered, that he had not any never encouraged him, but hath counselled and charged him to be very cautious and circumspect in taking place, to the offence of any, and it mov'd barely sorry, that his Son hath thus done, to the offence of her Majesty: which our duty according to our duties, we desire you to let her Majesty understand, with our selves may wait on her Highness, to make more particular relation thereof. And so we bid you right hartely farewell this 12th of March 1593.

Your very loving Friends,

J. Puckering, C. S. T. Buckherz.

12th of March 1593.

Being sent from the Lord Keeper, and the L. Buckhurst unto Mr. Shirley in the Fleet, is understood what Oath he took, at the receiving of the Order of St. Michael, and the manner thereof: At the first I called him to sett down in writing as much of it, as he could call to his remembrance, and thereupon he wrote a fide of a lode of paper, containing in effect these things.

That Oath he took none, for he only made answer to the King's demands, and had no Book presented him to swear by.

That the King's Demands were two (1) that he would promise never to bear Armes against him for the Service of any Prince Christian, but only his Sovereign, or by her commandment. (2) That he should never Satisfaction with any Infamous University of his Highness Order, but which he promised to perform.

This upon his Oath and repetition he offered to be all, being in short a matter to be remembered, that he did always the truth of the report thereof.

But supposing, that in these reports would give little Satisfaction, I desired him that I might see down from his mouth by my writing, some more circumstances and particularities: The which he presented. And then upon my Question unto him (which I framed from a copy of the manner of the receiving of that Order by the Duke of Norfolk and Earle of Leicester in A° 1566, that I had of Mr. Gutter by my L. Keeper's direction) he answered as follows.

That the King at ten of the Clock in the night, sent for him into his Chamber by Le premier Secretaire de Navarre, and at his coming thither, he found with the King, the L. Chancelier, who is also Chamberlain of the Order, the Bp. of Bourges (that is Priseur of the Order, Le Sieur de Beauvais Secretary of the Order and of France, Le Sieur de Sancy, Monsieur le Grand, and sundry other Gentlemen, the Nuntius of the Order (that afterwards carried his name into the Register) and the seven Officers of the same.

Thus being come into this presence, the King before them all declared the good opinion his Majesty had of him, the love he bore towards him, and the good Service that he had done unto his Highness, for request thereof, when he came to be peaceable King of France, he should receive further recompence. In the mean time his Majesty would bestow an Honour upon him, by the receiving thereof, the King offered him, he should be eyed in Ceremony.

Thirdly, in the Form of giving the said Order was in this sort. First his Spurr and Sword were taken from about him, then he knelt down, and putting his hands within the King's, Monsieur Beauvais the Secretary of the Order made unto him to the King's name, the two demands aforementioned in his Declaration. Then the King himself said him: Promettez vous cela: his answer was, Ouy Sire je le promets. Then the King drew out his Sword, and laid it on Mr. Shirley's shoulder, saying, Soyez Chevalier de St. Michel, au nom de St. George, car vous l'avez bien merite. And whilst he was so kneeling, the King put on his Sword about him himself, but his Spurr were put on by Le Sieur Roussier premier Gentilhomme de St. Gerdes. Thus done, the King lifted him up with his Cheek, and at his rising again, put on about his neck the Lace and Michel that he wore himself. And these things besides the paying of fees were all the Ceremony.

Fourthly, I asked him, whether the Book of the Statutes of the Order were not read unto him, at the time of his Creation. His Answer was, that he receiving the Order in the night, because the next morning he was purposed to have gone away by the break of day with the Quay of the Duke Montpenier, the Book containing the said Statutes being at the Chancellors House two Leagues from Chartres, was not then sent for, but afterwards the Count Chiverny, the Chancelier's Son showed it unto him, being a little Book of some twenty leaves, written in great letters, wherein to his remembrance, there is nothing contained, which may not be referred to one of these two Heads, sett down in his Declaration, besides for the most part matters of Honour, touching the absence of Ladies and Orphans, and committing no Crime, nor lose sites, &c.

Lastly,

der, that of ⁹ St. James in Spain, and at last was made a Count of the Empire; but 'tis probable he had long before resolved not to return to his native Country; for this Honour could not have been received from the Emperor without Leave, if any Homage was to be performed upon the Acceptance of it, or if it gave Admission into the Imperial Diets, both which must have been derogatory to the Rights due to his natural liege Sovereign.

Hence therefore William de Vergy, Steward and Marshal of Burgundy, took the proper Steps in desiring the Consent of the Emperor Maximilian in 1518, for his Acceptance of the Order which Charles Duke of Savoy had sent him, which License imports the Emperor's Approbation "in regard, as 'tis worded, that the Duke of Savoy was a Prince of the Empire, and therefore a Vassal or Homager to him as well as the Steward of Burgundy."

It is probable that Mr. Asmole had not the Fortune in his industrious Searches, to meet with any Precedent of a Resignation of the Order of the Garter. And indeed upon an Installation, the Oath was worded for the Observance of the Statutes in absolute Terms, which seemed not to allow any tacit Reservation to renounce or abdicate the Order at pleasure: But then we are to remember that it was the established casuistical Doctrine of former Ages, that a Person might not only surrender any Treaty or Alliance, but that an Homager or Vassal was entirely discharged from the Obligation of his Oath, if he publickly returned his Homage (as the Stile then was) to his Sovereign, that is, if by a publick Instrument or Messenger he declared to him that he would not any longer continue his Subject, and then he was at liberty to send him a formal Defiance; and it was the like Practice at that Time to perform Homage to

Lastly, I asked him, whether he gave any Instrument in writing of the acceptance of the Order, because there were such given in the Creation of 1566, but his answer was, That he gave none, nor that there was not any required of him, which seems to stand with good reason, for in the former Creation, being done by Commission by Monsieur Rambouillet such an acceptance in writing was requisite, but in this being done in the King's presence, superfluous.

This is as much, as could learn of him, and to testify the truth thereof, I have by my own hand to two blotted papers, the Substance of both which I have contained in this.

Geor. Carew.

[One of the blotted Papers referred to, is, I presume, as follows.]

Being demanded by Mr. Cary from my Lord Keeper, and my Lord of Buckhurst, what solemn Oaths I took, at the receiving this Order of St. Michell, as I answered your Lordships the other day, so I say still: That Oath I took none, except the Answer I made to the Kings Demand, nor an Oath. For Beake I had none presented me, so far as by. The effect of the Kings demand was, That I should promise in his hands never to bear arms against him, for the Service of any Prince Christian, but my Sovereign, or by his commandment. And I did freely assure him, &c. That I should never spee my self with any Infamy nor partly so high an Order, as he termed that, which I did as liberally promise, as I meant to performe. This is all upon my self and reputation: So short a matter to be remembered that I do assure the truth of the report of this.

Ant. Shirley.

[The other Paper is in substance the same, with Gen. Carew's account, as before recited.]

From my Lord Keeper Puckering's Papers MSS. in Bibl. Harley.

9 E. Cod. M.S. de familia de Shirley penes Thomam Kemington, Arm.

7 See Camden. Eliz. A. D. 1566. Rymer vol. 15. p. 285, 289, 301. in the Case of Tho. Arundell.

1 Du Chesne Hist. de Vergy, p. 325.

2 The Duke of Orleans in 1402, sent a Challenge to our Hen. IV. to fight him personally with 100 Knights on each Side; that King returns an Answer, and among other things, revives the Alliance made formerly between them, observing "que nul Prince, Seigneur, Chevalier, ne de quelconq; estat, qu'il soit, doit demander de faire armes dedous nulle alliance ne amitie, & par ce que nous quittons devons vous toute vostre alliance & amitie." The Duke of Orleans replies, "Et pour ce que vous dites que nul Seigneur, Chevalier de quelque estat qui il soit, ne doit de mander a faire armes, &c. sans rendre leurs alliances avant faire telles entrepries; Je ne feay se a votre Seigneur lige, le Roy Richard vous rendistes la serment de feaute qu'aviez a luy, avant que vous procediez contre fa personne par voye de faict. Leibnitz Cod. jur. Gent. Diplom. vol. 1. p. 268, 270.

foreign

foreign Princes upon receiving the Settlement of Pensions, a Notion different from the Tenour of the antient Feudal Law, where Homage attended Beneficiary Fiefs in Lands only. This is hinted only to shew, not to justify these Customs, whereof there are several Instances in the Histories and Records.

Ingelram, Lord of Coucy, Marle, de la Frere, D'Oissy and Montmyrall came into England one of the Hostages for the Payment of the Ransom of the King of France, and grew into such favour with Edw. III., that in 1365, he married Isabel that King's Daughter, and was created by him Earl of Bedford and Soissons, and invested with the Garter. After the Death of that great Prince his Father-in-law, by an authentick publick Writing executed in Form he surrenders his Faith and Homage, as also the Garter to Rich. II., desiring another Knight might be elected to supply his vacancy, "because he was obliged, as he therein saith, to serve the King of France his natural and soveraign Lord, according to his bounden Duty." Here is an expresse Renunciation of the Order, because of the Inconsistency thereof with his natural Allegiance. The Chantor of Windsor did, in 1377, account for the silver Belt which was about the Sword of this Earl of Bedford: But since his Name remains in the Windsor-Tables, it may be conjectured from that appearance, that he was afterwards restored to this Order, which will be examined in the Narrative of his Life: So that I shall now only observe that he instituted an Order of his own, styled The Crown.

The Behaviour of John de Montford Duke of Bretagne, seems in most respects to correspond with that of his Brother-in-law this Earl of Bed- a Though this be a County in France, yet Edw. III. gave him this Erldome, because the same had been surrendered to this King by Guy de Chastillon, by the Licence of Charles V. for his ransom, &c.

A Treshonoure & Tres Poissant Seigneur,

VOSTRE Noble & Grant Seignourie s'est & cognoit allez l'Aliance, que de la Grace & Bonte de tres poissant & bon Roy, mon treshonoure & tres redoubte Seigneur & Pere le Roy destrainement trespasse (que Dieux face merci) a pleu que j'ai en aly & au encore avec vous; dont Treshonoure Seigneur je vous mercie tant comme je puis & scai.

Or il est avenu, que la Guerre est entre le Roy de France, mon naturel & Souverain Seigneur d'une part, & vous d'autre.

Dont il me desplaist plus que de chose qui puisse estre en ce Monde, fe attendre je peusse, Et m'a commande & requis, que je le serve & acquitte mon devoir, comme je sui tenu, au quel, comme vous savez bien, je ne doy desobeir, si le servirai a mon poir, comme je le doy faire.

Et pour ce, Treshonoure & Trespouissant Seigneur, que on ne puisse en aucune manere, puler ne dire chose qui fust contre moy, ne mon honneur, vous fais allover les choses dessusdites, & vous renvoie tout ce, que je pourie tenir de vous en soy & hommage.

Et aussi Treshonoure Seigneur, mon trespouissant Seigneur & Pere desussit voult moy ordonner & mettre en la treshonoure Compaignier & Ordre du Fartier; si plaist vostre treshonoure & poissant Seignourie de pourvoir, en lieu de moy, tel ou ainsi que il vous plaira, & moy tenir excusé en ce.

Car treshonoure Seigneur, se en autre maniere vous me voliez aucune chose commander, je le ferroie de tout mon poir.

Treshonoure & trespouissant Seigneur, je prie a Messire qu'il vous dont bonne vie & longue.

Escrict le xxvi jour d'Aoust.

Locus Sigilli,

Le Sire de Coucy.

In Dorso.

A Treshonoure & trespouissant Seigneur le Roy d'Angleterre. Et memorandum quod litera predicta portata fuit, Domino nostro Domino Ricardo Regi Anglia apud manerium de Hatton-grange juxta Hunndeston, per quendam Pegetum sc. Johannem Pieres nominatum, qui ydioma Anglicanum loquens, dictam Literam involutum in quodam papiro nudo indorsato.

A Tres honurez & trespouissant Seigneur le Roy d'Angleterre mon tres redoubte Seigneur.

Dicto Domino Regi liberavit die Veneris proximo post festum Apostolorum Simoni & Jude Anno presentis in presentia Dominorum Willielmi de Nezill, & Johannis Cheyne militum & aliorum ex parte Ingherami Domino de Coucy.

Rymer, vol. 7. p. 172.

Comp. Ric. Lawton Canonici & Precentor. A. 1377, pro xv gladius & xxxiii galeis vendit. & una zona argentea que fuit circa gladium Comitris de Bedford, &c. In Errario Windsor.

z Hist. des Ordres Monast. vol. 8, p. 285.

ford,

*ford, between whom there was, as Froissart informs us, the greatest Friendship; for he had been bred up in the Court of England, and had married another Daughter of Edw. III. and had the Earldom of Richmond conferred on him, and was established in the Dutchy of Bretagne by his Aid and Power; so that in 1373 he renounced the Homage he had made to the Crown of France, being at that time re-married to Joan Half-sister to our Rich. II. yet in or about the Year 1380, he revolted to the Party and Interest of the King of France, and went so far in a ^b Treaty as to promise Assistance to that Crown against the Kings of England, Navarre, and all others; for which his Lady was detained in this Realm and his Lands were seized in Rich. II. and in the very next Year he convened an Assembly of the States to give their Opinion in this Matter of his performing Homage to France, and erected the Order (as 'tis called) of the ^d Ermine, with the Motto A MA VIE, which their Historians leave to be explained by the Conjectures of the Reader: and I know not whether it will be a tolerable Guess, to suppose it might any way relate to the Declaration that 'Duke sent into England on 28 Off. 1380, therein setting forth that the King of France and his Accomplishes laid Snares for his Life, "qui insidiantur mihi die & nocte & Vitæ meæ;" and therefore protests in Form, That in case he should thereby be forced to enter into any Agreements, contrary to his Engagements with England, that the same were extorted from him "metu mortis:" And it may not be unlikely that he conceived the Institution of this new Order might be some Security to his Person and Life, and in a short time afterwards he performed ^j this Homage at Compiègne.

It may be reasonably supposed that this Duke followed the Example of his Brother-in-law the Earl of Bedford, in surrendering this Order, because there were no Robes provided for him in 7th, 11th, 12th, and 13th of Rich. II. or that he was deposed from it, since he had entred into open War with this Kingdom; though it may not be improbable that his Stall might be kept vacant, upon a ^b Prospect of his returning to the Interest of this Crown, as indeed he afterwards did, having a safe Conduct to come ⁱ hither in Person 21 Rich. II. being afterwards released from several ^k Debts, and having the Earldom of ^l Richmond restored to him, and at ^m St. George's Feast in the next Year, he had the ⁿ Habits of this Order; so that he was doubtless reinstated in his Stall, and his Name still remains in the Windsor-Tables. He died soon afterwards on 1 Nov. 1399,

^a Lobineau en preuves de l'Hist. de Bretagne, Page 633 & Page 850. To whom he was married before the 10th of July 1372, ibid. p. 580, and this is the Lady Joan to whom with her Husband the Earldom of Richmond was granted in 26 Edw. 3. and not Joan his third Wife, Daughter of the King of Navarre, as Dugdale 1 vol. Bar. p. 52, mistakes it, for he was not married to her till 11 Sept. 1386. Du Paz. Gen. de Bretagne, p. 551.

^b Bouchard Amrales de Bretagne, p. 133 b. Lobineau l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 437.

^c Pat. 5 Rich. 2. p. 1. m. 16. Vide Lobineau en preuves de l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 632.

^d Lobineau Hist. de Bretagne, p. 442. Hist. des Ordres, vol. 8. p. 285.

^e Ibid. en preuves, p. 608.

^f Lobin. en l'Hist. p. 442.

^g See above p. 10, Note n, p. 11, Note c, p. 12, Notes d and e.

^h It appears in the Parl. Roll. 14 Rich. 2. Que le quel jugement (del forsaite) n'estoit mye enroulle en roulle du Parlem. l'an. viii, par certains causez au Roy & Seigneurs bien couuz.

ⁱ Rymer, vol. 8. p. 8.

^k Ibid. p. 38.

^l Ibid. p. 62. Mr. Lobineau had not the good Fortune to be informed of this Instrument, Hist. p. 495, &c.

^m Ibid. p. 79.

ⁿ See above page 13, Note f.

and the Effigies on his Tomb in the Cathedral of Nantes, represented in Lobineau's History of Bretagne, exhibits him with the Collar of Ermines about his Neck, and with the Garter buckled over the Armour of his Left-leg, which was the Ensign of our Order; but it seems to appear from this Figure, as if the like Garter was also about his Right-leg.

I would not separate the Cases of these two Brethren; though I must confess I have met with no positive Proof that this latter resigned or renounced the Order by any Instrument, as the other did. And I now crave Leave to mention two other Instances, which seem to have been Surrenders, that is of Sir Francis Surienne and of the Lord Duras, though the Black-Book differs, assigning the Stall of the First to become void by his Death, and of the Latter by a Degradation; though if that Stall was vacant by that Method of Deprivation, the same will be as full to my present Purpose: But I take it to be my Duty to represent Matters in the true Lights they appear to me; and 'tis consistent with good Nature and Ingenuity, to vindicate the injured Memory of the Deceased.

The Black-Book on the 4th of Nov. in 16 Edw. IV, relates, That Sir Thomas Montgomery was elected a Companion in the Place of the Lord Duras, who had deserted the King, and like a Batt which flies abroad in the Dark [tanquam Vespertilio] had fled into France, and took the Oath of Fidelity there.

This is an harsh severe Censure; and, it may be, the Similitude and Parallel to a Batt was a Flower of Rhetorick cast in by the Compiler, who might have no Voucher for it in the Registrum Chartaceum. Let us see therefore if the Criticalness of the Juncture, and other Circumstances, may in any measure, if not excuse, yet mitigate his Submission to the Crown of France; and let us examine his Behaviour as to the Garter.

Your Lordship, by casting your Eyes over the Memoirs of his Life, will find that he had exposed himself to the greatest Dangers, and to the Loss of his large Patrimony in Aquitain for his Adherence to the Crown of England; that in March, 16 Edw. IV. he surrendred several Grants upon receiving a Sum from the Exchequer, to which he was doubtless induced, by the Treaty then in agitation for a Truce between the two Kingdoms, which was at length concluded to continue during the P Lives of the two Kings, and for one Year after the Decease of the First of them, wherein no Care or Provision appears to have been made for those Persons whose Lands in Aquitain had been seized for their Loyalty to the Crown of England; and the Desire of a Restitution to an ample Estate, after so long a Dispossession, if the same could be honourably obtained by the Consent of all Parties, can in no ways be blameable; and our King seems to have agreed, in some measure, by the Acceptance of his Surrender of the beneficial Grants. A 9 M.S. if it may be credited, acquaints us farther, that he even took his Leave of Edw. IV. at Calis, where he caused a Mass of St. George a In that Year.

p The Proofs will be inserted hereafter in the Narrative of his Life.

q H. B. In my Copy, p. 186, 284.

to be celebrated, and then offered up his Garter; upon his Intention of embracing the Interest of France.

Sir Francis Surienne, usually called, from his Country, Arragonois, was elected in 26 Hen. VI. and the Duke of Norfolk is in this Black-Book said, on or after 4 Aug. 28 Hen. VI. A. D. 1450, to succeed in his Stall, then vacant by his Death. The Compiler of that Register hath entred two distinct Scrutinies at large; and upon the First, the Kings of Arragon and Poland, and the Duke of Brunswick, are declared elected in the rooms of the Earl of Averence, the Dukes of Coimbero and of Suffolk, then dead; who, with the Lord Ryvers, were elected upon a single Scrutiny, and then, which is somewhat remarkable, follows a second Scrutiny; after which 'tis entred, that the noble Duke of Norfolk was elected into the Place of Francis Arragonois now deceased. Is it to be supposed the News of his Death was brought to this Chapter during their sitting, after the Election on the first Scrutiny? Otherwise, why was that Scrutiny confined only to the Filling four Stalls vacant by Death, while, according to this computation, there was another void in the same manner? But though the Election of this Duke of Norfolk is introduced only by the Latin Word subinde, without any farther Designation of Time, yet it appears to have been in a distinct Chapter; for the Lords Scales and Beaumont, two of the Nominators in the First, do not occur in the second Scrutiny, and the Earl of Shrewsbury and Lord Sudeley, who gave their Suffrages in the Second, are not mentioned in the first Scrutiny. Henry VI. began his Reign on 31 August, so that the Election of this Duke being in the Twenty eighth Year of his Reign, and subsequent to that of the Four abovementioned Companions, must of course have happened in some subsequent Day of that Month. The Æra of his Election is not the present Subject, but the Enquiry now is, where there are any Reasons to conjecture, that this Arragonois had either resigned the Order, or that he was degraded from it by a Decree of the Chapter, upon his doing Homage to the King of France. It is much to be lamented that the Registrum Chætareum is missing, which would in all probability settle several Particulars that must be now left to Conjecture: And as Mr. Asmole, who had the Benefit of the Perusal thereof hath observ'd, that this Paper-Register places these Elections in the 29 Hen. VI. which the Compiler of the Black-Book hath run back to the preceeding Year; so it may be as probable that he took the same Liberty of the Addition of the Death of this Person. The Fact is, That this Knight yielded up the Castle of Fougeres in Normandy, in Nov. or Dec. 1449, and thenceforth, as the French Authors assure us, remained in the Interest and Obedience of the King of France: And a safe Conduct being some Years after the Election of this Duke of Norfolk; granted at his Instance, for r Exit. Pell. Michs. 26 Hen. 6. Francisco Larragonoz nuper constituto Militi de Gartera 141. 165. 8 d. Eidem Francisco in consideratione quod idem Rex eundem Franciscum constituit militem de Gartera per viam regardi x1.

f In this Year.

ff SS. Hist. p. 368.

t Montrelet, vol. 3. p. 6b. 13, 19. 23b. Chartier l'Hist. de Ch. vii. p. 134, 153, 186. Lobineau l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 639, 640. D'Argentre l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 824, faub. That he surrendered Fougeres on the 4th of November 1449.

^a Francis Arragonois, Knight, in 33 Hen. VI, to come into this Kingdom, this Entry in the Black-Book of his Death must be a Mistake, if this be the same Person, which seems very probable from some particular Restrictions in this Instrument that shew the Government entertained Suspensions of him, and which seem to have a particular View to prevent any such Surprize as he had formerly committed in seizing the Castle of Fougères in the Night, which Action Hen. VI, and the Duke of Somerset his Lieutenant-Governour of France disavowed in publick, for Reasons of State; though 'tis to be believ'd private Orders had been given for that Purpose, which might be such a Tryal of his Patience, that it might throw him so far off from his Temper, as that he might resign the Garter when he entered into the Service of the Adversaries: That he either did so, or was degraded, may be collected from the Silence of the Windsor-Tables, for he could not be omitted for Want of an actual ^x Inflation. And it is probable that he resign'd this Order, before he obliged the ^y French with an Attestation upon Oath; wherein he discovered a Secret of the greatest Importance, That there had been a Design formed for an Year and an half to surprize this Castle of Fougiers, which he by the Knowledge, Advice, and Consent of the King of England, the Duke of Somerset, and other chief Persons, put in execution in the Month of March 1448, according to the Method of Computation used in France, or 1449 according to the English Calculation.

As the Statutes of most Orders were framed from the Model of the Garter, and bear also an Analogy to the Customs of it: So there are the like Precedents of Renunciations of foreign Orders, when the Companions have quitted the Interests of the Grand Masters. Thus the Lord of ^z Chastellavillain in 1432 returned the Golden Fleece when he entered into the Alliances with France, for which latter Action he was greatly blamed by our valiant Duke of Bedford, and charged that he had thereby falsified his Oath, and the Duke of ^a Burgundy seized his Lands situate within his Territories, and detained them 'till the Peace of Arras. ^b Honore Grimaldi, the second Prince of Monaco, in 1642, surrendered the same Order when he put himself under the Protection of France: And we have the like Examples in the Order of St. Michael which ^c Charles V. returned upon the Prospect of a Rupture; as did the Marquess of ^d Mantua in 1521, when he was constituted the Pope's General; and ^e Philibert Emanuel Duke of Merceur quitted that of the Holy Ghost, when he entered into ^u Fran. 33 H. 6. m. 24. 23 Nov. Rex per literas suis paten. per 5 menses prox. futur. duratur. de avifamento Conc. sui ad instantiam confanguin. Rs. scribitur. Ducis Norw. suscepit in saluum conductum, &c. Francisc. Aragonois mil. cum 12^m. person. familiar. suis in regnum Angl. ac villam Cales. &c. veniendo morando & exinde vers. partes suas proprias absq; perturbatione revertendo Proviso quod idem Francisc. & dict. personæ bene & honeste se hab. erga Regem & populum suum absq; aliquo faciendo vel attemptando quod in Rs. seu populi sui prejudicium cedere valeat, Quod ipsi nullum Castrorum, &c. Rs. ingredient. absq; eo quod ipsi predictas literas Capitaneis, &c. primitus demonstrent.

^x Privat. Sigill. 15 Dec. 26 Hen. VI. Henri, &c.

To the Treasurer, &c. Frasimoche as we understanding that our Right Trinity and well-loved Franceys Aragoniez late made Knight of the Garter hath paid for his Fees to the College of St. George at Windesore 13 l. 16 s. 8 d. Ye repay it, &c.

^y Leibnitz Cod. Juris Gentium Diplom. vol. 2. p. 93, 96.

^z Montrelet, vol. 2. p. 89.

^a Du Chesn Hist. de la Maison de Chastellavillain, p. 74.

^b Anselm Hist. General. de France, p. 1716.

^c La Roque de la Noblesse, p. 362.

^d Honore de Sainte Marie de la Chevalerie, p. 438.

^e Anselm Hist. General. de France, p. 1651.

the League, though upon a Reconciliation with Hen. IV, he reassumed the same.

I shall only add upon this Subject of Resignations of our Order, that when Philip King of Spain, upon a Dissatisfaction, delivered up the Ensigns of the Garter in 1560, to our Embassador, the same, as the learned Mr. Camden observes, was interpreted to amount to an absolute Renunciation of all Friendship and Amity.

But if the Duke of Bretagne, Sir Francis Surienne, and the Lord Duras, did not resign this Order, but were deposed, the Reason of their Degradation was for their entering into the Interests, Alliances, or as the Term then was, the Homage of the Enemies of the Crown. It would be too tedious to detain your Lordship a long While upon this ungrateful Subject, and it would be an Anticipating the History to amass all the Instances of this Nature; so that I shall run over this Article very briefly, by shewing, That Deprivations have been upon the Breach of that Statute, which requires the Supporting the Sovereign and the Companions in War.

The Behaviour of Gaston de Foix Earl of Longueville and Benauges, and of his Son the Earl of Kendal, will illustrate this Matter in opposite Views: The First, as it is said in the Introduction, and the Latter some Years afterwards, were deservedly chosen Knights of this Order; and they both, for a long Time, shew'd an incredible Loyalty and firm Attachment to the Crown of England, which they continued when all Guienne, except Baionne only, had been surrend'ed to the French. The Father being then in the Power of the Enemies, refused to pay them any Submission upon the Account of his Religion and Reverence of the Oath

f Elizabetha ad A. D. 1560.

g Page 42, Note g.

b Chartier Hist. de Ch. vii p. 242, A. D. 1451.— Gaston de Foix Comte de Benauges, ou Benauges, & Capral de Bouch se retira par devers Monsieur le Comte de Dunois, & fit une Traicte & appointement avec le dit Comte touchant son fait & les siens: Or pource que le dit Monsieur le Capral estoit Chevalier de l'Ordre de la Jarriere, qui est l'Ordre du Roy d'Angleterre, il estoit en volonte de se retirer avec les Anglois — Il fut accorde par les parties ce qui s'ensuit, &c.

Ibid. p. 463. — messire Gaston de Grey ou Greylls Capral de Bouch ou Capral de Bouch & son fils qui rendirent & mirent toutes leurs Places en l'obeissance du Roy, mais il ne voulurent faire le serment, pource qu'ils estoient de l'Ordre de la Jarriere, qui est l'Ordre du Roy d'Angleterre.

Bertrandi Elise Hist. Comitum Fuxensium, p. 64, 65. Gasto Fuxensis — ei cum multa alia tum imprimis Equestris dignitas & praelara honoris insignia, quae ordinem Jarrierie vulgo appellant, a Rege [Anglia] ultro deferuntur. — Quam autem Carolus Gallia Rex accepisset Gastonem cum Anglis in Aquitania esse, ut qui illic possessiones suas tueretur, ac multa oppida castellaq; praesidio Anglorum nomine teneret, consentium in eum movet, nullaq; data providendi occasione, cum primum illic appulsi innumera oppida vi capiti, agros, villas, possessiones, ferro igniq; vastat, atq; omnem ferre Aquitaniam suae ditionis facit, tandem commisso cruento praelio, cum multis alios tum etiam hunc capit, captum; in arce recludi atq; adservari jubet.

Cui tandem intervenientibus amicis impunitatem libertatemq; Rex promisit, modo ab Anglis ad se desicere velle, siquid justitiam praestare. At ille ut erat propositi tenax fidei; perpetuus observator, amicis id ei in carcere renuntiatis respondit, se eam maximam libertatem existimare, cui integritas fidei religio semper assisteret. — Quinobrem se Bynanno Regi ob fidem praestitam obnoxium addictissimumq; semper fore. sed; male mortem suppliciaq; pati, quam illi non adherere, non intersive, non obsequiosissimum esse, a quo tam pulchra militum auctoramenta, equestre scilicet insigne accepisset, ac subinde tamen Rex meas (inquit) fortunas, meumq; corpus possideat, animum tamen non habet, quippe Anglis Regi, cui omnia debeo, semper interserviat, atq; illi pressio sit. Tantumque abest ut ego possessionum recuperandarum aut libertatis adipiscende gratia ad Carolium desicam, & Equestrem dignitatem, qua me Anglus insignit exavi, ut si triplo meliores conditiones offerantur, non multo majus immineat mihi periculum, huius quidem facturus sim, neq; propterea minimum de Briti desiciar. Quod animadvertens Rex, ac subinde iniquum esse arbitratum tam excessum animum in carcere confici, Gastonem omnibus nudum fortunis interdicta ei tota Gallia dimisit. Qui deinde omni spe desitutus ad Regem Arrogantia proficiscitur, a quo est benigne liberaliterq; exceptus, tandemq; post aliquot annos Macilien oppido, quod ei idem Rex habitandum dederat, moritur.

Vide Ollogary Hist. de Foix; p. 326.

he had taken for the Observance of the Statutes of the Garter; and at last, by this Greatness of Mind, he prevailed so far on the Count de Dunois, that he obtained Liberty by a separate Treaty on 7 July 1451, to settle his large Estates in Aquitain on his Grandson, then only three Years old, contenting himself with the Privilege of a safe Conduct to continue in these Parts, or to remove thence within the Term of one Year; during which Time he had Liberty granted him, if he pleased, to declare himself a Subject of France, with the Benefit of a Restitution to his Land: And farther also, That in case his Son, the Earl of Kendal, should embrace that Interest, an ample Recompence should be made him for the Effects he should lose in England, by such an Alteration of his Allegiance. This Family had considerable Patrimonies in Savoy and Arragon, and the Father chose rather to lose his Lands in France, and to suffer an Imprisonment for some time, and then to fly into Arragon, than in the least to swerve from his said Oath and Conscience, and in this Constancy of Opinion he died, under pressing Difficulties, in his Exile, whereon his Hatchments were offered with Honour at Windsor in 37 Hen. VI. The Son imitated for a great while the worthy Example of his Father, not only to the Loss of his whole Inheritance, but to an Imprisonment for seven Years; and at last, paid such an excessive Ransom for his Release, that he was utterly ruined, "penitus & in totum destructus"; notwithstanding which pressures, he adhered inviolably to Hen. VI. during his whole Reign; though upon the Alteration of the Royal Line, he omitted to pay that Duty to Edw. IV. and upon his embracing the Interests of France, his Ensigns were ^m removed from the Choir at Windsor in 3 Ed. IV, and therefore, as it hath been already hinted, his Name occurs not in the Windsor-Tables.

The like Methods of Deprivations have been observed in other Orders, when any Companion hath neglected to support the Sovereign, or hath levied War, or entered into Alliances against him. It may be pardoned that I lay some such Instances out of the Order of the Golden Fleece, at large, taken from a ⁿ Manuscript, because I suppose they have not hiⁱ Guichenon Bibliotheca Sebustiana, &c.

^k Vale, 29 H.6. n. 3. 29 July. Quod per quandam supplicationem Carissimi. & consanguinei nostri Gaspardus de Foix Com. de Langueville & de Benauges Capitanus de Bouch & Johannes de Foix filii eius Com. de Kendale presentiam accepimus, qualiter ipsi cum Ducatus noster Aquitan. in manus adversarii nostri Franc. ab obedientia nostra redderetur, Nolentes prout alibi voluit sub obedientia seu favore præd. Adversarii nostri existere, quinimo desiderantes durante vita sua fideliter ligeos nostros permanere, a Ducatu nostro præd. usque regnum Aragon. adepta sibi prius a quibusdam inimicis nostris adversarii nostri præd. adhaerent, pro omnibus terris Dominiis & possessionibus suis certa pecunia summa, unde dum Ducatum nostrum præd. ab obedientia nostra fore contingeret venire possent, se retraerunt; semper optantes Ducat. nostrum infra bre. Deo duce ad nostram ditionem redigi, attendentesque ad id proficiend. tam corpora, quam bona sua pro viribus suis applicare, ac præd. Gasco. & Johannes formidant, quod personas terras suas ex dono nostro habere, &c. Nos desimus eisdem omnes terras quas prædicti Gasco. & Johannes; tam in Ducatu Aquitan. quam in Ducatu nostro Norman. &c.

^l Rot. Fran. 39 Hen. 6. m. 8. 7 Dec. Nos considerantes gratia laudibilia & fidelia obsequia tam nobis quam Nobilibus Progenitoribus nostris Regibus Angliae per Johannem de Foix Comitem de Kendale & ejus Patrem atque Antecessores, verum etiam gravia & importabilia dampna exheredationes & deperditia per ipsos ob ligeantiam & fidelitatem nuper sustenta, necnon dira & intolerabilia imprisonmenta qua ipse Johannes Comes in manibus inimicorum nostrorum captus & detentus fere per septem annorum spatium, sustulisse coactus est, ac etiam graves & excessivas financias & redemptiones in quibus per dictos inimicos postus est & quas nec ipse (cum sit occasione guerrarum nostrarum & pro servitio nostro penitus & in totum destructus) nec ipsius amici sufficere contentare & satisfacere; de gratia nostra, ut idem Comes de prædictis financiis aequaliter releveretur, & unum ex filiis suis, quem pro eo in dictorum inimicorum potestate demisit, juramentumque sumum & promissionem ea de causa datus servare possit, &c.

^m Liber Niger in dicto Anno.

ⁿ Hector, le Breton, Montjoy King of Arms, now in the Library of the College of Arms.

therto appeared in print, which I shall place according to the Series of Elections.

John de Neufchâtel Seigneur de Montagu, was elected in 1451, and upon his retiring into France, and taking Party (as 'tis worded) against the Sovereign, he was on 8 March 1481, adjudged to be excluded out of the Order, and declared incapable to bear the Collar or any other Ensign thereof.

John of Burgundy Count d'Estampes, a near Kinsman of the Duke of Burgundy, being Son of Philip Count de Nevers, Son of Philippe the Hardi, was elected in 1456; but (as this M.S. informs us) his Plate was never affixed, because he was a Fugitive from his Country: An Author in his marginal Note, said to be extracted from another M.S. relates, That in the first Chapter held by Duke Charles at Bois le Duc, he being summoned to appear to answer a Charge of Witchcraft and abusing the Sacraments, he returned the Emblem of the Order to prevent a formal Deprivation; but a later Writer is express, That he was deposed from it for embracing the Interests of Charles VII, King of France.

However this Fact may be, the following Instances are more full to the present Purpose. Anthony de Bourgoigne natural Son of the Founder, elected as above, was summoned to appear in the Chapter held in 1481, for he had not only entred into the Service of Lewis XI, but at last was made Knight of the Order of St. Michael.

At the same Time Philippe Pot Seigneur de la Roche-Noulay, who had been elected in 1461, was deprived, for that he forgetting his Oath taken in this Order, had voluntarily forsaken Madam the Duchess, and submitted himself to her Adversary the King of France, and took his Partie in War. And from his Epitaph we learn, that he also received the Order of St. Michael.

In that Chapter a Censure passed upon John de Damas Seigneur de Cleffy, though he was dead, in that he had acted contrary to his Oath as a Knight, Brother, and Companion of this Order [to which he was elected in 1468] and therefore his Punishment is left to the Almighty, the sovereign Judge of the World.

Jacques de Luxembourg Seigneur de Richebourg, was the next upon whom the Sentence of Deposition was given in the same Chapter, for that swerving from his Duty, and contrary to the Oath taken in this Order as a Knight, Brother, and Companion [elected in 1468] he not only swore Allegiance to the King of France, and omitted the Wearing of the Collar of the Golden Fleece, but without surrendering the same, had publicly born the Order of that King, and appear'd in Arms and actual War with the Enemies of the Duke, and seiz'd several of his Towns and Seigneuries. And the Inscription remaining on his Monument at Clercamp mentions him to be a Knighe also of St. Michael.

The Decree then also given against Philip de Crevecoeur Seigneur d'Esqueres, is more particular, it enumerates the Honours and Advancements ^o Pierre Matthieu Hist. de Louis XI. p. 750.

^p Gollut Mémoires de Franche Comte, p. 738.
^q Anselme Hist. General. p. 126.

^r Maufolee de la Toison d'Or, p. 41, 42.
^s Ibid. p. 50.

conferred on him by the late Dukes Philip and Charles, and by the Dutchess in her Minority, but that in Contradiction to his Oath, he delivered up several Towns to the King of France, and had not only omitted to wear the Collar of the Order, but bore that of the King of France and continued in Arms and open War against the Duke, Sovereign of the Order present in Person, and the Companions thereof, for which Reasons he was adjudged degraded from the same, and declared incapable and unworthy of it, and that the Plate of his Arms should be removed out of the Church and affixed to the Door, and reversed or turned upside down. This is the famous Marshal des Ouerdes who made the greatest Figure under Lewis XI, and Charles VIII. And an Author tells us that the Arms of all these Persons were removed from their Places, and that an Inscription in memorial thereof remains to this Day.

Adolf de Cleves Seigneur de Ravestein, Louis de Bruges Seigneur de Grutuse, and Jacques de Savoye Comte de Romont, were summoned to appear in a Chapter held in Mechlin 24 May 1491, to answer Points touching their Honour, the First and Last died before that time, but the French Embassador interceeded that the Plates of the Seigneur de Ravestein and of the Lord Grutuse should not be removed. This Summons issued probably, because these three Persons supported the Pretensions of those of Gant, in their Claim of a Right to the Guardianship of the Children of the Dutchess.

Thus also in the Chapter of the Holy Ghost held at Fontainbleau on 15 May 1633, it was adjudged that the Duke of Elbeuf and the Marquess of Vieuville having fled the Realm and born Arms against the King contrary to the Statutes of the Order, should be degraded, and their Arms removed and broken, and that in the Place of them there should be Inscriptions fixed, containing this Sentence for a Memorial to Posterity of their Felony (as 'tis termed) and Ingratitude. To this may be added, that the Embassador of France in 1688, demanded the Restitution of this Order from the Duke of Bracciano, when he espoused the Interests of the Pope.

I come now to consider the several Sorts of Cautions used by politic Princes in their Acceptance of foreign Orders, and the especial Care they took to guard themselves against subjecting themselves to the Duty enjoined by the Statutes, to support the Grand Master thereof in his Wars, and other such Obligations inconsistent with their own Sovereignty, or the Rules of their own Orders. And here I shall pass over such Protestations made upon the Investitures of the Garter, which are to be found in Mr. Ashmole, and may be easily consulted.

Some Princes would not trust to the Validity of these general verbal Protestations only, but made express previous Terms and Stipulations, that in case of War, they should reciprocally remain at Liberty to return the Orders; which was made an Article of Agreement between Alfon-

¹ Jurispr. Heroica, vol. 2. p. 147.

² Gollut Memoires des Bourgonnons, p. 97.

³ Hozier les Noms, &c. des Chevaliers, &c. crees le 14 May 1633.

⁴ Anselme Hist. General. p. 1729.

⁵ History of the Garter, p. 452, 451, &c. The Protest of Frederick King of Denmark, 24 Eliz. Biederod Brevarium Equestris de ordine Elephantino, p. 16, &c.

fus V. King of Arragon and Naples, and the Duke of ^a Burgundy in 1447, upon the interchanging of their Orders. And here a particular Incident happened, that the Emblem of the Order of this Alfonfus being a white Bend, Belt, or Ribband, worn tranſverſely or obliquely from the Shoulder, which chanced to be uſed in the ſame Colour for the Scarf or Badge of the Enemies of the Father of this Duke of Burgundy; he therefore to avoid the Scandal that his Subjects and Allies might take at that Symbol, makes a ^b Reſervation to wear this Stole or Bend of black Colour upon his Breſt, hanging directly down from his Neck or Shoulder, ſo jealous was he not to conform to any Habit that reſembled the Livery of his Enemies: Which brings to my Remembrance, that when ^c Gui Ubaldo [de Rovere] Duke of Urbini was elected into the Order of the Golden Fleece, and the Statutes were preſented to him in the French Language, he out of his Averſion to the French Nation reſuſed them, 'till they had been tranſlated into Latin.

But the moſt uſual Expedient that Princes took to obviate the lying under a ſingle Obligation on one Side only, was, as in the preceding Example of the King of Arragon and Duke of Burgundy to receive each others Orders mutually at the ſame time: But not to ^d repeat the Precedent of the Dukes of Burgundy and Orleans, touching their reſpective Badges, I choſe rather to inſtance their Sons and Succeſſors in theſe Dutchies; and here occurs a memorable Tranſaction, that in 1440, when Charles Duke of Orleans was with the greateſt Generoſity ransomed from his Impriſonment in England, after the Continuance of twenty five Years, by the Duke of Burgundy, who had not only advanced the entire Sum, but given him his own Niece, Mary of Cleves, in Marriage, and honoured him with an Election into the Order of the Golden Fleece; yet this Duke of Orleans reſuſed the Acceptance of it, unleſs the other would firſt receive the Porc-Epi, which it may be was improperly called an Order, ſince

^a Summote Hiſt. de Naples. Hiſt. des Ordres Militaires, vol. 4. p. 24, 2 Anſterdam, 1721.

^b Chiffletii diſſertatio militaris de vexillo Regali, p. 29, 30. Quod ad Solam albam, vel albam veſtem geſtandam minime teneremur, quoniam colorem album aut alium, præter nigrum, pridem reliquimus, & decrevimus amodo non portare, ac vivimus. Item etiam non teneamur dictam Solam cuſcuſcumq; coloris a latere ad latum aliud tranſverſatiliam geſtare vel oblique, ne videamur cum ſcandalo ſubditorum & amicorum noſtrorum, in hoc imitatores Hoſtium ſive adverſariorum Dominii Cenſurâ noſtri, atq; noſtrorum, qui furentibus in Francia gueris ſua beſſibia ſigna hoc tranſverſali modo geſtare ſoliti ſunt. Verumtamen ſi prædicto Dominio Regi gratum fuerit, & cetera ad libitum, ſolam hujusmodi nigri coloris & e collo ſive humero ad inferus directe pendente, diebus ſtatibus portare offerimus. Datums 15 May 1447.

^c That the white Scarf or Bend (as 't was called from that in Heraldry which goes from the dexter to the ſiniſter Angle of the Shield) was the Livery of the Duke of Orleans. See Montfret, vol. 1. c. 64.

^d Chifflet Hiſt. auri Velleſis apud Jurispr. Heroic. p. 441. Hiſt. des Ordres, vol. 8. p. 350.

^e See above in Notes 17, 18, 19. This Reconciliation between the Sons of theſe two Dukes might be the cauſe made, becauſe the Survivor of the Duke of Orleans was reſcued by the Aſſiſſination of the Duke of Burgundy on 10 Sept. 1419, by Tanneſpy de Chaſtell, who was in the Intreſt of the Houſe of Orleans.

^e Berry Heraut Hiſt. de Charles VII. Quand ce meme Charles Duc d'Orleans ſe fut reconcilié avec Philippe le Bon Duc de Bourgogne, que le ſir delivrer de ſa priſon d'Angleterre, ou il avoit eſte conduit apres la bataille d'Azincourt, & ou il demeura vingt cinq; ans; le Duc luy ayant voulu mettre au col ſon Ordre de la Toiſon d'or, Charles ne le vouloit point recevoir, que Philip n'eust auparavant ſa deſiſte du Porc-Epi.

Montfret in his ſecond Volume, p. 176, &c. after an Account of this Redemption, and his Marriage with Mary of Cleves, and of the Election of this Duke on the Morrow after St. Andrew, (the Day of the Feaſt of that Order) and on the Preſenting him with the Collar of it, This Duke "preſentement requiſt auſſi au "Duc de Bourgogne, qui luy pleiſit porter ſon Ordre, ce qui luy accorda, & tantôt le dit Duc d'Orleans tira de ſa manche un des colliers de ſon orde & le metit autour du col du dit Duc de Bourgogne. Et apres le dit Duc d'Orleans fut la aſſemble d'un mantel & chaperon de ſon orde, & puis fut mene au chapitre pour faire les ſerments, &c."

it was a Badge given to f Esquires and Gentlemen engaged in his Interest.

It will be more satisfactory to examine the Intercourses of our own Kings with such foreign Princes who had civil Orders, purely Military. It is said Civil, because our Kings never submitted to take such as were partly Religious, which would subject them to the usual Vows in that Case, which was the Reason, doubtless, that they never received the most celebrated Orders in Spain or Portugal; though since Alfonfus V. was Knight of the Garter, 'tis to be suppos'd that he might send our King Henry VI. (if he had no Objections to the Acceptance) his Orders of the Bend, the Lys, Tarva, or Griffon, as well as to the Duke of Burgundy: And I could wish my Curiosity might be gratify'd in seeing the Itinerary of George Ebingenius in the German Tongue, wrote about the Year 1454, wherein 'tis said are the Pictures of the Kings of that Age accurately drawn with their respective Orders, which Book was printed at Augsburgh 1600, Studio Domini Custodis.

By reason of the Alliances with Burgundy, the Order of the Golden Fleece claims the Priority of an Examination. But here I must crave Leave to observe, (which ought to have been remarked in the former Part of this Letter,) that Lewis XI. refused the Acceptance of it, as being the Order of a Subject or Homager, upon a Presumption, doubtless, that it would be some Diminution to his Sovereignty, upon which account the b Duke d'Alençon, or out of a particular disregard to his Brother Hen. III. would not take the Order of France. The Golden Fleece was erected in the Reign of our Henry VI. but this our King and Duke Philip the Founder of it, did not reciprocally accept their Orders for the Reason already given. This Duke lived 'till the seventh Year of our Edw. IV. and we find that on the ' first Feast of the Order, after the Accession of his Son and Successor Duke Charles, which was celebrated on Sunday the 8th of May 1468, our King was elected a Companion; and a modern k Author tells us that the Plate of his Arms is still remaining; and which is full to the subject Matter of this Letter, when Edw. IV. was driven from the Throne, he implored the Assistance of this Duke upon the ' Motive of their being Companions of the same Orders. Now by reason of the Loss of the Entries of the Annals of the Garter from the seventh to the twelfth Year of Edw. IV. the exact Time of the Election of this Duke may not be soon found, but m Robes being made for him, the Commisf Montrelet in his second Volume, p. 185 b. Et quand a son Ordre elle fut par luy oſtrooyee a porter a grand nombre de Chevalliers & Escuyers & autres de moyens Estats, qui luy en faisoient requerir pour l'avoir, &c. Indeed we have the Instrument whereby by an Act of the Parliament of Bretagne given Liberty to several Gentlemen of that Duchy, to bear his Order du Canail, provided they take the Oath accustomed. Lybincau en preuves de l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 1067. If the Contents of this Oath had been recited, we might have received other Instructions to direct us in our Enquiry whether this was a real Order, for we shall find in the Survey of this Letter, that our Kings gave their Liberty of the Collar to such who previously took an Oath not to receive Fees from any other Person, without special License.

g Athn. Hist. p. 116.

b Amelot de la Houſſaie Memoirs Hist. Tom. 1. P. 48.

i Chronique dans le supplement aux Memoires de Commines, p. 261. See Chifflet Insignia Equit. Ord. auri Vell. p. 37.

k Menestrier Art du Blason, p. 248.

l Commines, p. 162. Du Chesne Hist. d'Anglet. p. 1161, 1162.

m Exir. Pell. Pasch. 9 E. 4. Johan. Brome de London aurifabro pro uno Garerio de auro misso Duci Burgundie xli. xlii. i. iii. d. Johanni Cosyn Clerico magne Garderobe Regis pro vi virgis panni de scarleto in grano pro una toga & uno capucio pro Duce Burgundie inde faciend. & pro xliiii tymber de Menyver purid cum xii pell. de Ermys pro garnitura diehe Toge misso pro Dom. Regem ad ducum Ducem Burgund. xliiii l. xliii s. iiii d.

tion for his Investiture bears ⁿ Date the 10th of January 1469, and he notified his ^o Acceptance on the 4th of February, which was performed with great Magnificence at Gaunt, the Ceremonies whereof were reduced into Writing by ^p Sir George Chastellain Toyson d'Or King of Arms, which, considering the great Abilities of that Officer in his own ^q Profession and other Parts of Learning, must be a valuable Piece; and this Duke bore not only the Ensigns thereof ^r during his whole Life, but solemnized the annual ^s Feasts of St. George; and his Plate, which is an exquisite Piece of Workmanship for that Age, remains still in the Chappel at Windsor, surrounded with a Garter; hence ^t Historians describe him with the Garter about his Leg and with the red Cross, the Symbols of this Order, and the judicious ^u Politician calls this King and Duke by a double Obligation, Freres d'Ordre; and it may not be an improbable Conjecture, that this noble Duke might, upon view of the Habits of our Order, alter the Mantle of his own from Scarlet to ^x Velour Cramoisy doublé de Satin blanc, in a Chapter held in 1473, as Emanuel Philibert Duke of Savoy, Knight also of the Garter, might in 1568, upon the like Occasion, order the future Robe of his Order of the Collar, now called the Annunciade, should be ^y Velour cramoisy bleu couleur d'azur doublé de taffetas blanc.

I am aware that an Objection may at first Sight be made against this Guess, that this Duke of Burgundy might alter the Habit of his Order from Scarlet to Velvet, upon view of the Robes of our Order, because the ^z Marginal Instrument abovementioned recites, that six Yards of scarlet Cloth in Grain were bought pro Toga for him; but this Scarlet was for the Surcoat, not for the Mantle of the Order, which long before that Time was made of Velvet for Sovereign Princes, which Mantle was by the Statutes to be of blue Colour, and was lined with white Silk, Damask, Satin, or Taffeta. And we find Toga used in this Sense for the Surcoat or Kirtle, and 'tis probable no Mantle might be sent to this Duke, for it was incumbent on the Knights themselves to provide that ⁿ Athm. Append. n. lxxii. cxii.

^o Rymer. Foedera, vol. 11. p. 651.

^p Hist. de Jaques de Lalain, p. 19.

^q Oliv. de la Marche p. iii. 395. Jean le Fevre Hist. de Ch. VI. Molinet en prologue de ses Chroniques. Andrea Bibl. Belgica, p. 202, &c.

^r Comines, p. 34.

^s Ancienne Chronique dans le supplement aux Memoirs de Comines, p. 368. le xi Janvier 1469, le Seigneur de Duras, l'aumoinier de la Roynie d'Angleterre, & autres au nombre de 16 personnes apporterent au Duc de Bourgogne, etant lors en la ville de Gand, l'Ordre de la Jarretiere, que le Roy d'Angleterre luy envoioit, & qu'il recut en ceremonie le 4 Fevrier. Ils y furent jusques au 9 suivant, pendant lequel temps ils furent tous desfrayes aux depens du Duc, le Seigneur de Duras eut un present de deux Flacons d'argent pesans 28 marcs, les autres eurent aussi des presens a proportion.

^t P. 374. Le Duc vint a Peronne, & y fit le 27 d'Avril 1471, la feste de l'Ordre de la Jarretiere & mangea en salle.

^u P. 379. Le Duc a Briques jour de S. George, il celebra la feste de l'Ordre de la Jarriere, & tint salle ouverte.

^v P. 400. Le Samedi 23 Avril 1474, feste de S. George, le Duc estant a Luxembourg solennisa la feste de l'Ordre de la Jarriere.

^w Chroniq. addition au Montrelet, p. 33 b. portat a l'une de ses jambes la Jarretiere & sur luy la Croix rouge, qui estoit Ordre & Enseigne du Roy Edouard d'Angleterre.

^x Comines p. 126, 159, 162. See Du Chesne. Hist. d'Angleterre, p. 1161, 1162.

^y Hist. des Ordres Militaires, vol. 4. p. 43. Jurispr. Heroica, vol. 1. p. 440.

^z Athm. History of the Garter, p. 110, &c.

^{aa} See above Page 82, Note m.

^{ab} See Athm. Hist. p. 229. That Toga signified the Kirtle. See Liber Computi in Offic. Pell. Mich. 8 H. VII. Johanni Figg valesto Garderobe Regis pro 18 virgis de bleu velvet pro usu Dom. Regis, viz. pro uno mantello pro Duce de Calabre fiendico pro 6 virgis de Scarlet pro una Toga & capicio pro eodem Duce cum certis Garter. & aliis necessariis pro eisdem mantello, Toga, & capicio emptis 35 l. 7. s. 4 d.

upper Robe, and whenever the Crown gave it, the same was a Mark of greater Favour.

To go on: Maximilian, after his Marriage with the Heiress of Burgundy, being on 29 Apr. 1478 Knighted by the Sire de Ravenstein, did on the next Day accept the Sovereignty of the Order of the Golden Fleece, and according to the sixty fifth Statute kept it 'till 17 Dec. 1494, during her Life, and the first Part of the Minority of their Son Philip le Bel. Now during the Continuance of this Guardianship Hen. VII. was elected into that Order in a Chapter ^d held at Mechlin 1491, and a ^e MS. places the same on 24 May, which was in the sixth Year of the Reign of our King. And though it happens the Register of the Garter contains no Entries from the Fourth 'till the Eighth of that King; yet we are certain that this Maximilian, then King of the Romans, afterwards Emperor, must have been elected before the 12th of September in this very sixth Year, because a Commission ^f then issued to Sir Charles Somersset and Garter King of Arms to invest him with the Ensigns of our Order, and the Manner of performing this Ceremony is exhibited in Sculpture by ^g Mr. Asmole, who chanced to mistake the Person of this Garter King of Arms, for he was Sir John Writhe and not his Son Sir Thomas, who had not that Office 'till 20 Hen. VII., as in ^h another Place he runs into the contrary Error by putting John the Father instead of the Son Thomas.

Here is Evidence of the Investiture of this Maximilian with the Garter, in the same Year that Hen. VII. was elected into the Golden Fleece, about which time these Princes entred into Treaties for declaring War against France, and Maximilian stands in the Catalogue numbred 234, according to the Series of an Election made in or about this Year, as will be plain by inspecting the Names of those who preceed and follow him in this Catalogue. But a great Difficulty arises touching his Behaviour or Continuance in this Order; for whether according to the Statutes, his Election became void for Want of an actual Installation, or, whether upon some Dissatisfaction or Rupture he might surrender, Certain it is, that he had at least refused the Wearing the Garter; for in a Treaty confirmed on 14 Aug. 1502, 17 Hen. VII. this Emperor and his Son Philip agree "to admit and accept the most worthy and most antient Order of the Garter as soon as may be done, and to wear the Ensign pub-

^b MS. in Coll. Herald. p. 21, inter Cod. Ducis Norf. Cliflet ad vindic. Hist. Lam. Salica, p. 302. fact. That having taken the Oath, John de Lamoor, the eldest Knight present, put the Collar of the Order about his Neck.

^c Vrediti Signilli Flandriae, p. 125.

^d Cliffette: Insign. Eq. Ord. aurei Veller, p. 37.

^e Jurisprud. Heroica, p. 485.

^f MS. Hectoris le Breton Montjoie in Colleg. Herald.

^g Rymer, vol. 12, p. 493.

^h FFB p. 404, and in 405, he mentions the Installation of Maximilian in 6 Hen. VII.

ⁱ Page 392.

^j Rymer, vol. 15, p. 35, 36. Item conventum concordatum & conclusum est, quod Sacratissimus Rex Romanorum [Maximilianus] necnon illustrissimus Dominus Philippus Archidux Austriae, [Dux Bur-gundia] carissimus ejusdem Regis Primogenitus Dignissimus & Antiquissimus Ordinem Garterii, quamprimum post datam Praesentium fieri possit, admittent & acceptabunt, & eodem ordine palam & publice utentur, & omnia & singula Statuta ordinationes & consuetudines ejusdem ordinis, nisi quatenus cum eis dispensatum fuerit, inviolabiliter observabunt.

Item conventum est quod illustrissimus Rex Anglie necnon Serenissimus Dominus Henricus Princeps Wallie carissimus ejusdem Regis filius & Heres approbatus Ordinem aetate velleris, quamprimum post datam Praesentium fieri possit, admittent & acceptabunt, & eodem ordine palam & publice utentur, ac omnia & singula Statuta ordinationes & consuetudines ejusdem ordinis, nisi quatenus cum eis dispensatum fuerit, inviolabiliter observabunt.

“lickly, and to observe inviolably the Statutes; and the King of England and the Prince of Wales promise to do the like in the Case of the most approved Order of the Golden Fleece.” And hereon Sir Thomas Brandon and Dr. West were sent to the Emperor with a Commission dated 18 Nov. 18 Hen. VII, to admit him into this Order, to deliver him the Ensigns, to declare to him the Statutes, and to receive his Oath for the Observance of them.

It was sufficient to my Purpose to shew the mutual Acceptance of Orders by Princes, but I have digressed from the main Point, in attempting to disentangle some Difficulties relating to the Garter, which I hope will not be unacceptable to your Lordship; and I shall farther presume to insert in the Margin the Transactions of these Embassadors with this Emperor that relate to this Subject, taken from their original Letters, † Rymer, vol. 13, p. 35, 36.

1 Galba, B. 2. in Bibl. Cotton.

INSTRUCCONS given by the King unto his right trusty servants Sir Charles Somerset Knight his Vicechamberlain and to Maister William Warham Maister of the Rolls — It is also sayed in the said Credence that to thentent the same alliance and anytee fraternall maye be the moor ferme and stable betwixt the said Kings, the said King of Romans contented afore the said alliance and alliance be passed and renewedd as afore it saide to here the Garter, as be hath don in tyme passed and that the Archduke shal doo the same. Provided that our said Sovereign Lord take and here ibordre of Thyon dorre and cause his son the Prince of Wales to do the same.

Sir Tho. Brandon and Dr. West account of their Legation to Maximil. in Febr. 1502.

ON Wednesday 15 Febr. they had an audience where they proposed the matter for the receiving of the order of the garter. In the which matter some communitie was had before betwixt his counsaill and us moved on there partie by occasion of saying of our Comission wherein is specified both the manere of the same and of the garter.

Whereupon after the king had comyned aparte with his counsaill the said Provoost Lang answered that the King had received the said Order yeres passed with the gartermaned and Statutes and sworn to the same. And therfor the King thought that if some esjones be holdd receive it with joying of the same agayne, he shold do thing contrary to his honor.

Whereupon we shewed that because his Proclor came not to be entialed for hym and to present his helmes, &c. by the tyme synayed by the said Saint, therfor aswell the receiving of the said Order as the giving of the same were void and of none effecte likewise as if they had never been done wherefor insinuaunce as it is an article comprised in the same that aft the conclusion and confirmation of the same anytee He shold accepte the said Order upon hym we insinuated hym esjones that he wold so doo.

Whereunto the said Provoost after the King had comyned with hym and others aparte answered that his majeste wold send unto us the next day forw of his counsaill to shewe unto us his further mynde upon the same.

On thursday then next ensuinge the 16 day of February there came unto us the said Bishopp of Laulenburg the Provoost Lang and Chambermaistre and Doctor Haydon and the Provoost received the Substance of our saide Petition made unto the king for the garter— giving unto us like answer upon the matter of the garter as was given the day before in the presence of the king saying that the king was determyned in his mynde not to accepte of more the said Order nor to give the same, but to stand to that he had don, and by his Proclor whom he wold send with his Orators performe the residue.

Whereupon we alleged tharicle of thantye hounding hym to the contrary and persuaded unto thann by many reasons yn the best wise we coude and so playnly as they were somewhat moved and miscontented with us, Abeit synally they were pacified and convinced by reasoning so as they were contented and thought it according esjones to move the king to accepte this Order.

We reberced that He did not were the garter as he was bounde to doo by thate that he made when he toke upon hym thordre. They answered that they desired not but he wold were it And the Chambermaistre had shewed that had the garter there, for he had it carried alwaies with hym, Thon we shewed unto thaim of a George whiche every Companion of that Order shold were. And also a color the patron wherof we shewed unto thaim according to our instrullions.

And they said that the king had understanding of such a george the whiche he wold be contented to take, and we said that every thing performed according to thordre we wold deliver it.

On Saturday then next ensuinge the 18 day of February came unto the said Provoost Lang the Chambermaistre and Doctor Haydon, they shewed unto us that according to thire promysse they had shewed unto the king the reasons and persuasions as we had made for the taking of thordre of the garter — Thantye they saide that the king was thoroughly determyned to send his Ambassadors unto your grace to comye with you to drovers matters. And also a Proclor sufficiently authorized to be entialed for hym and before thire comyng unto you be wold no thing doo further in that matter.

And as touching the wearing of the garter they said that the king supposed the garter to have be ther but it was not, and then we said we wold provide for one.

They said it shold not nede for the king wold differre every thing in that matter till the comyng of his said Ambassadors and Proclor unto your grace. They brought agayne the said patron of the color, saying that the king wold be contented to were a Color according to the same upon St. Georges daye.

After his appointment of Embassadors. Whereupon we shewed unto hym that de thau shal be his Proclor must be a knight as none were that were appointed to be his Ambassadors and he said He knewe it nede ynough shewing that his said ambassadors were there with hym and shold be depected from thens, And the knight whiche shold be his Proclor was at St. Omens in thir ters, wherein are several curious Observations. And I may here adventure to give a Conjecture, that Maximilian, upon his first Election, might be designed to the ^m second Stall on the Sovereign's Side, though upon the second Election he was placed in the Prince's Stall then void by the Death of Prince Arthur, where his Plate still remains.

The Sovereignty of the Golden Fleece being after the Year 1497, in Philip Son of this Maximilian, our King was no ways influenced by the Practice of this Emperor in disusing the Emblem of the Garter, but on 26 Apr. 1500 made his ⁿ Proxy to appear in a Chapter of the Golden Fleece to be held in Brussels in the following Month.

This Discontinuance of the Wearing the Garter by Maximilian may, for the Resemblance of the Matter, be an Apology for my taking notice here of his Father Frederick the Pacifick; for though the Register informs us, that this Emperor was in 35 Hen. VI., elected to the Stall of [Edmund] Duke of Somerset and ^o actually placed therein by his Proxy in the 37th Year of that King, yet his Name occurs not in the Windfor-Tables; whence it may be guess'd that he either surrendered or was deposed from this Order, which should be the Subject of Enquiry in a more proper Place, especially since though this Emperor lived 'till Monday the 19th of August, as Cuspinian saith, or according to others 'till the 7th of September 1493, which in the former Account was in the 8th, and by the latter in the Beginning of the 9th Year of Hen. VII.; yet the Name of this Emperor is never mentioned in the Annals during the Reigns of Edw. IV., or Hen. VII.; and, which is more remarkable, William Lord Herbert, afterwards Earl of Pembroke, is in these Tables made the immediate Successor to Edmund Duke of Somerset; and we know from the Register, that this Lord was a Companion of the Order in 3 Edw. IV., several Years before the Death of this Emperor.

And here again the abovementioned Treaty for the reciprocal Acceptances of the Orders of the Garter and the Golden Fleece may justify me in observing that this Philip le Bel, by the Title of Archduke of Austria, was named in the Scrutiny of the Garter 14 Hen. VII., but elected by the Stile of Archduke of Austria in 18 Hen. VII., and becoming King of Castile by matrimonial Right, was in his Voyage thither driven by a Storm into this Kingdom and personally installed at Windfor on 5th of February 21 Hen. VII., and not as ^p Mr. Ashmole repeats his Mistake in the 22d Year, occasion'd plainly by not duly considering the Entry in the Register; for this King died in August 1506, and his Hatchments were offered 12 May, 22 Hen. VII.

their way. then we desired that his Commission myght extend not only to the sending and presenting of the helmet and other thing, but also to do every other thing in that order as he should do if he were there in person.

Whereunto be answered doubt ye not it shall be well enough, for he shall have power to do every thing that shall be agreed betwixt the king and myne Ambassadors.

Item We moved hym to write unto the Archduke his son for accepting of the order of the Garter and he said he would not so doo unto the tyme his Ambassadors had been with your grace, and had concluded for his parte, the whiche doos bothe he and the said Archduke should fulfill every thing to that ordre apperteyning on St. Georges day next coming.

^m Vinc. MSS. in Heralds Office, n. 417. Elect 6 Hen. 7. into the second Stall on the Sovereign's Side, after the Death of John King of Portugal, translated 22 Hen. 7. to the Prince's Stall by Death of Prince Arthur.

ⁿ Rymer, vol. 12. p. 750.

^o Liber Niger in that Year.

^p Hist. p. 348, 559.

It is however very material that ⁹ Henry then Prince of Wales was invested with the Ensigns of the Golden Fleece at Windsor on the same Day that this King of Castile was installed, he having been elected of that Order at Middleburg in 1505; and we find that after the Crown descended to him, he made a ¹⁰ Proxy on 19 May 1516, to appear in a Chapter of that Order, and in an ¹¹ Inventory of his Wardrobe the Robes of this Order are particularly specified.

The Sovereignty of the Order of the Golden Fleece then devolved upon Charles Son of Philip King of Castile, who became in Time Emperor; He at the Request of his Embassadors, when by Proxy he affianced Mary Daughter of our Hen. VII. was elected Knight of the ' Garter in Dec. 24th Year of that King, and we know that several Years afterwards he observed the ¹² Feast of our Order with great Solemnity.

Let us now turn our Eyes upon the Transactions between England and France, in relation to their Military Orders. And here the Words of ¹³ Modius offer themselves, that our Hen. IV. made a Procession from the Tower the Day before his Coronation, "gestans conchyliatro torquem ordinis Gallicani — & cœruleam cruceatam fasciam sinistram cruce, &c." But 'tis a plain Mistake, for the Order of St. Michael, with a Collar composed of Scallop-shells was of a much inferior Date: Doubtless he mistook ¹⁴ Froissart's Narrative, who only saith that King had a son col la devise du Roy de France; that is possibly the Cosse de Genes, which I shall have an Occasion in the Sequel of this Letter to shew had been sent him, while he was Earl of Derby, not as an Order of Knighthood, but as a Devise, Livery, or Badge, as was practised by several Princes of that Age as Signals and Pledges of Friendship; and it appears from the Accounts of this same Earl that he had the ¹⁵ Liveries also of the Kings of Hungary and of Cyprus before he assumed the Throne.

⁹ Hist. p. 348, 559.

¹⁰ Rymer, vol. 13, p. 548.

¹¹ MS. penes Rob. Wotley Baronet. View of Stuff remaining in the standing Wardrobe in the Tower, 12 Hen. VII. Robes of Tofande of crimson velvet. Item a Robe of Thofyn of Crimofyn velvet richely embroidered with white Satin with a Hode to the same. Valent in simul C. marc.

¹² There being no Entry in the Black-Book of this Election, it will not be unacceptable to transcribe a Paragraph from a Latin Narrative of the Arrival and Reception of the Embassadors of the Emperor, touching a Treaty and the affiancing of his Grandson Charles the Duke with Mary, second Daughter of Hen. VII. Ea nocte Dominus de Bergis Cesaris Majestatis & illustrissimi Principis (jam Serenissimi Regis Anglie filii dilectissimi) instantissime petit a Regia Majestate & illam requirit, quatenus placeret ei dignum Principem Karolum suum filium nobilis Ordinis Garterii Equitem eligere ac creare, Quod Rex optimo animo atq; ex corde concessit, providitq; illico, ut ipse Princeps suus filius non solum in unum focorum Equitum dicti ordinis esset electus, sed etiam ut ipsa Garter cum omnibus ornamentis ad illam spectantibus brevi ad illum mitteretur. MS. penes me G. xi. p. 168, 169.

¹³ B. 14. Bibl. Harley, p. 109. Letter from the Lord Berners Embassador from Almanara. In which town upon St. Georges day the King himself came at afternoon, the Collor of Garters aboute his necke muche honourably accompanied with a grete comite of Nobles and ther kept Evenyng of St. George in his robe of the Garters, &c. 1518.

¹⁴ Pandedæ Triumph. p. 150.
¹⁵ Vol. 4. p. 311.

¹⁶ Comp. Rich. Kyngeson Thesaur. guerre — Henrici Lancastre Comitis Derby. pro viagio suo versus partes Pruc. &c. a 16 Julii anno R. R. Ricb. II. 16. (in officio Ducatus Lancastri-) pro diversis calligis factis pro Domino ex liberatione Regis Hungarie broider. cum liberatione dicti Regis.

Comp. Willms Lovenev Clerici magne Garde-robe Dom. Henrici Lancastria Comitis Derby. anno 17 Ricb. II.

pro powder. unius Ouche auri ad modum rose cum liberatione Regis de Cyprus.

Comp. ejusdem de anno 18 R. II.

pro broider. duorum caligarum panni albi de liberatione Regis Hungarie.

The Military Order of St. Michael was instituted by Lewis XI, who had been educated in the ^a Court of the Duke of Burgundy, and from ^b whom he received the Honour of Knighthood, and the Statutes have very few Variations from those of the Golden Fleece; after the Foundation thereof, no King of France was admitted into our Order till Francis the First, who was ^c elected on 21 Oct. 19 Hen. VIII, as our King had been elected a ^d Companion of St. Michael on the 5th of the preceding Month, and the Commission was dated on the 15th, after a Treaty made between them for the Liberty of Pope Clement. But though these Elections were thus made at different Times, yet care was taken that the Investitures should be performed in the same Day, [that is on the 11th of November] which is with prophane Flights, if not impious Strains of Oratory, pompously set forth by ^e Dr. Tayler in that Part of his Speech to the French King upon the Delivery of the Ensigns, where he runs into a Panegyrick upon Cardinal Wolsey and flatters him almost to Adoration.

The ^f Instruments whereby these great Princes acknowledge the Receiving these Orders now remain under the same Date, and both these Kings observed the Statutes of these Orders; the French King was personally present in the Chapter held at Calis, 28 Oct. 24 Hen. VIII, and gave then his ^g Suffrage or Scrutiny; and 'tis as memorable for the Interchanging of Orders, that at this same Chapter the Duke of Montmorency and Philip Chabot Admiral of France were elected Knights of the Garter, in ^h Lieu of taking the Dukes of Norfolk and Suffolk into that of St. Michael by the French King at Bologne three Days before: And this King put so great a Value upon the Garter, that he declared his Resolution of wearing that Ensign when he should in Person combat the Emperor upon the ⁱ Challenge between them: And it is not improbable that upon account of Henry VIII. being a Companion of this French Order, ^k Obsequies were performed for him at Paris after his Death, notwithstanding his death under the Pope's Excommunication.

These powerful Kings died within a short Space of each other, and their Successors very soon imitated their Examples in mutually receiving their Orders. Edward VI. hath entred in his own ^l Journal, that the

^a Bodin. de Repub. p. 517, 518.

^b Choppin de Doman. Fran. p. 670.

^c Liber Niger in that Year.

^d W N in Officio Astorum, p. 242. Rymer, vol. 14, p. 227.

^e Effecerat ut haec duo clarissimi Reges & quasi duo hujus mundi cardines antequam familiarissime inter familiariores, ac quiescentes antea amicissimi sua cura longe essent amicitiores, videlicet dum Tertium sacratissimum illius Caelestis Tridivis Personam, hoc est Spiritum Sanctum in terra nunc representans, effecerat ut haec duo clarissimi hujus mundi ornamenta in praclarissimos Divorum Georgii & Michaelis ordines felici amicissimorum inter sese officiorum reciprocatone hodie cooptarentur, hodieque clarissimum illorum Ordinum insignibus visenda ac aliorum Regum fastigiis multo augustiora in publicum prodiret & procederet. Ex Oratione MSS. nunc tenes Dominum Harley.

^f Rymer, vol. 14, p. 277.

^g Lib. Nig. Garterii in that Year.

^h Herb. Hist. Hen. 8. p. 540.

ⁱ Caligula D ii in Bibl. Cott. Letter from the Bishop of Bath, Tailor Master of the Kales, &c. 12 Sep. 1528, to the Lord Legat — the 10th of this month the French King willing to give audience to the Emperor's Herald had caused a solemnity apparat to be don in his great Hall here — The King there at his first coming into the place came unto me where we were placed and shewed us his legge whereon he had the Garrettis saying that seeing He went about an acte wherein consistid the honor of knighthode, He thought that he should better muse hym and singe hym to the defence of his honor than the saying thereof. He sayd also that He thought it convenient it be worn that day to thence men should see that the thing whereabout He went concernid the Kings Highnes his Brothers honor as well as his, and sayd that He wold do no lesse for the defence of the honor of the one then for the honor of the other, &c.

^k Godwin Hist. H. 8. E. 6, &c. p. 87.

^l Dr. Burnet's History of the Reformation, in the Appendix to the second Volume.

French King was chosen Knight of the Garter 23 Apr. 1551, and we know his ^m Hatchments were set up on the 30th of June following; and this Journal informs that this King was chosen a Companion of St. Michael on the 21st of June, and that on the 11th of July the Lord Marshal [of St. Andre] arrived here, and soon afterwards presented that Order. This Interchanging of Orders was, as a ⁿ learned Historian remarks, after the Conclusion of a Peace, and was the Mark of the strictest Conjunction: And we find our King on St. Michael's Day, in his 5th Year, did wear the Robes with ^r Skallop-shells.

Under the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, Charles IX was agreeably pleased with his Election into our Order, esteeming it a ^p Confirmation of Amity; as were also Hen. III, and Hen. IV upon his Accession to the Throne, as a ^q Mark of Alliance and Confederacy, but the Sex of her Majesty prevented the personal Acceptance of the French Order; however, when Charles IX was, by the Sire Rambouillet his Proctor in 1556, installed at Windsor, he brought to her Majesty two ^r Collars of the Order of St. Michael, to be given according to her Majesty's Pleasure to two of her own Subjects, whereupon the Duke of Norfolk and the Earl of Leicester were invested therewith; and with what Ceremonies the Feast of St. George was annually then observed in the Chappel of these Kings of France may be seen in ^s Peyrat the Almoner, where it is to be observed, that the Arms of France were allowed to be quartered by our King.

There are other Instances (which being in too much Hastè I had forgot to insert) of Companions who upon returning the Ensigns, thought themselves discharged from the Obligations that the Oath on their Admission laid on them to assist the Grand Master, and who thereby esteemed themselves at Liberty to assist his Enemies, which ^t Menenius takes notice was customary in his Age; and he produces the Precedent of Ottavien Duke of Parma, who upon receiving the French Order relinquish'd the Toison d'Or, to which he was restored by Philip King of Spain in 1557, ^m Liber Nig. Garr.

ⁿ Du Chesne Hist. d'Anglet. p. 1346.

^o Vitellius F. v. in Bibl. Cotton.

^p Du Chesn. ibid. p. 1384.

^q Ibid. p. 1411.

^r Camd. Elizabetha ad A. D. 1566.

^s Antiquitez de la Chapelle & Oratoire du Roy de France, p. 722. On observe aussi à la Cour, que si la veille de la feste de Saint George au mois d'Avril, le Roy doit faire la ceremonie de l'Ordre de la Jarretiere, on tapisse le lieu destine pour la Chapelle du Roy, ou l'on prepare deux daix a queue pendante, l'un de velours violet, tout couvert de Fleurs de Lys en broderie, pour le Roy a main gauche: & l'autre de velours rouge incarnat, couvert d'un large clinquant d'argent, a main droite, pour le Roy d'Angleterre; les armoiries de France, & de Navarre, & une Couronne close au dessus, environnees d'une jarretiere bleue, avec la devise Honny soit qui mal y pense, sont mises sous le daix du Roy, & un drap de pied de velours violet, brode de fleurs de lys, & deux carreaux de mesme estoffe & broderie, l'un pour s'agenouiller dessus, & l'autre pour s'appuyer priant Dieu; & derriere, une chaire de velours rouge incarnat, couverte d'un clinquant d'argent sous le daix du Roy d'Angleterre sont mises semblablement des armoiries d'Angleterre leopards &

fleurs de lys, environne d'une jarretiere bleue, avec la mesme devise, Honny soit qui mal y pense, un drap de pied de velours rouge incarnat, deux carreaux, & une chaire de mesme estoffe; si l'Ambassadeur d'Angleterre assiste a la Ceremonie, ce qui arrive quelques fois, elle se fait a Vespres, non a la Messe, on met un siege ou scabelle au dessus de la place, & drap de pied du Roy d'Angleterre, pour le dit Ambassadeur, ou il se peut alseoir, la place de son maître demeurant vuide. J'ay veu faire cette ceremonie a la Messe du Roy Henry le Grand estant a Monceaux, l'Ambassadeur du Roy d'Angleterre absent.

^t Menen. Delic. Equestr. Ord. p. 171, treatise of the Order of St. Michael. Moris enim Regibus, minus hoc in externis Principes couertere, in honoris & benevolentie indicium: qui si eorum hostes velint se profiteri, per internumis torquem remittunt, ut omni sacramenti religione soluti, alteri Principi strenuam operam navent. Quod fise huce nostris temporibus contigit. Et anno 1559, Philippus Hispaniarum Rex, Gandavi Equitum aurei veliter concilium celebrans, ordinis torquem Octavio Parmensium Duci, quem ille accepto a Rege Galliarum conchyliati ordinis insigni, superiorum bellorum tempore abjecerat, restituit.

in which Year * he withdrew from the French; and another * Author informs us, that the Princes of Melphi, Bisignano, and Terrane with the Duke of Madaloni, who had been created Knights of St. Michael by Lewis XII. returned the same in 1511, when the Spaniards had drove the French out of Naples.

The Sum of what hath been hitherto said, is intended only as a Commentary or Explanation on the Clauses contained in the Statutes of the several Military Orders, which in different Terms, though in the same Substance, require the Assisting the Sovereign in all his Wars, and prohibit bearing Arms against the Companions. It would be tedious to fill up the Margin with such Quotations at length, and the Statutes of several Orders are in print, and being obvious may be easily consulted.

But here, my Lord, I would not be misunderstood to insinuate, that the Support of the Sovereign in his Wars was the only Aim and Design of our heroick Founder, for 'tis probable he might have several other noble Views and Intentions. An Act of Parliament recites some other Motives, * That "this Noble, Excellent, and Venerable Order was laudably erected for the Strengthening or Fortifying of the Faith, of the King, of the Kingdom, and of Right and of Justice." The Preambles to the Statutes said to be made by the Founder, and the Revisions of them by Hen. V. and Hen. VIII. instance some Designs of this Institution, which may be inspected in Mr. Astmole without great Trouble.

With regard to Purity of Faith, the Statutes exclude from this Society all Persons tinctured with Heresy; and as to Acts of Religion, a College of Priests and Ecclesiasticks was erected with ample Endowments for constant Prayers and Thanksgivings, a perpetual Charity established for the Subsistence of veteran Knights reduced to Poverty by adverse Fortune in the Wars; and according to the Persuasion of that Age, Masses were ordered to be celebrated for the Souls of the deceased Companions; these were some of the pious Designs of this Institution. Our * English Homer, Chaucer, who x Hist. de Chevaliers des Ordres, Tom. 4. p. 387.

* Heylin's Cosmogr. p. 149.

y Stat. Gart. Art. 22. And see several Articles in the Statutes of the Golden Fleece, St. Michael, and the Holy Ghost; of the Order of l'Etoile, see Hist. des Ordres Religieux, vol. 8. p. 309; of the Knot in Naples, see the first Article of the Statutes printed in the Notes on Castellau by le Labourer; of Los en Croissant Hist. des Ordres Relig. vol. 8. p. 283. of the Collar in Savoye, see Sanfivino della Origine di Cavallieri, p. 57; of the Order de la Banda, see Hist. des Ordres Relig. vol. 8. p. 292, &c.

z See above in the Introduction, p. 14, Note i.

a To the King's most noble Grace, and to the Lords and Knights of the Garter.

TO you welles of honour and worthinesse,
Our Christen King, the heire and successour Unto Justinian's devout tendernesse,
In the faith of Jesu our redempour;
And to you, Lordis of the Garter, flour
Of Chivalrie, as men you clepe and call
The Lord of vertue and of grace author
Graunt the fruit of your (1) lose never (2) appal.

(1) Los, Fiecede, Honour, Glory, Bruse. (2) Ducey.

O Liege Lorde, that have the likeneffe
Of Constantine, thensamble and mitroue
To Princes all, in humble (3) boxomneffe
To Holy Church, O veray sustinour
And Piller of our faith, and Werriour Againe of heretics the bitter gall:
Doe forth, doe forth, continue your succour,
Hold up Chrystis banner, let it not fall.

This Ille (4) or this had ben but (5) hithinesse
(6) N ad be of your faith the force and vigour;
And yet this day the (7) fendis crabbednesse
Wenth fully to catch a time and houre,
To have on us your lieges a sharpe shoure,
And to his servitude us karte and thrall:
But aye we trust in you our protectour,
On your conformance we awaitin all.

Commandeth that no (8) wight have hardinesse,
O worthy kyng our Christen Emperour;
Of the faith to desputin more or lesse
Openly emonges peple: Her erroure

(3) ardience, Day; Hence this Ward us'd in some of the Reclamations of the Lollards, and in the Praeface of the Wife in the ancient Form of Marriage. (4) Ere, before. (5) Infidelity, Paganism. (6) Had me. (7) Enemy the Devils, usually so called. (8) Saxon for Person, Creature.

who is said to have been ^b born in 1328 before the Erection hereof, and who lived 'till the Reign of Hen. IV., addresses himself to the Sovereign and Knights Companions of the Garter, the Flower of Chevalrie, wherein he tells them that the Maintenance of Christ's Cause against Error is their Duty.

I know no Instance either of a Refusal or a Deposal from our Order upon Point of Religion, though some Knights were formerly Lollards; the foreign Orders have also severall Clauses about Religion, and upon that Account the Duke of Saxony would not accept the Order of St. Michael.

I shall not expatiate on these different Inducements enumerated in this Act of Parliament, but shall crave Leave to hint two Heads only, That in the Creation of this Order, there might be a View to a Reward due for military Actions, and that a ceremonious Respect might also be had to Ladies.

There have been indeed some few Examples of private Persons who, by an uncommon Force of Genius in reading Histories and Tafficks, have gained the Theory of War, and like Lucullus, without any Practice, have performed Wonders on their first Appearance in the Field: But as our Royal Founder was a distinguishing Judge of Men and Rewarder of them according to their Deserts; so in his great Polity he was pleased to omit these very rare Occurrences, and to confine the Honour of this Society to ^d actual Knights, without Reproach, as the Price of their martial Vertue. In that Age the Qualifications for single Knighthood were very Springeth all day, and engendrieth rumour.

Maketh such law, and for ought may befall,
Observe it wele, thereto be ye doctour;
Doth so and God in glorie shall you (1) stall.

Ye Lordis eke, shining in noble fame,
To which appropriated is the maintenance
Of Christ's cause, in honour of his name,
Shove on, and put his foes to utterance;
God wolde so, and fo wolde eke your legiaunce;
To the two aye pricketh you your dewte.
Whofo nat keepeth this double observance,
Of merite and honour naked is he.

Your stile sayth [that] ye ben foes to shame:
Now (2) kith of your faith the perseverance,
In which an hope of us ben halt and lame,
Our Christen king of Englende and of Fraunce,
And ye my Lordis with your Alliance,
And other faithful peple that there be,
Traut I to God, shall quench al this noisance,
And this lond set in high prosperitee.

Conquest of high prowesse is for to tame
The wild (3) wodensett of all this (4) misfeuriance;
Right to the rote daily reye ye that fame
Slepen nat this, but for God's pleusance
And his mother, and in signifiuance
That ye ben of St. George's liveres, Doth him service and knightly obeisance;
For Christ's cause is his, well knowin ye.

Stiff stand in that, and ye shall greve and (5) grame
The foe to pece, the (6) norice of distaunce,
That now is earnest, turn it into game,
Now kith of your beleve the constance,
Lord Liege and lordis, have in remembrance,
Lord of all is the blisfull Trinite,
Of whose virtue the mightie habundance
You herten and strengthen in faithful unite.

He mentions the Knights of the Garter in his Poem and Lease, as acquiring that Honour by martial Glory, v. 519.

Eke there be Knights old of the Gartir
That in their timis did right worthily,
And the honor they did to the laurie,
Is for it they have ther land wholly,
Ther trump eke and martial glory,
Which unto them is more perfite riches
Than any wight imagin can or gesse.

^b In his life prefixed to his Works, which must be a Mistake if he be the same Person who was examined as a Witness in the Court Military in 9 R. II. in the famous Case of Cast-Arms between Scrope and Grosvenour, wherein the Title of his Deposition is, Geffrey Chaucer Esquier del age de xl ans & plus armes per 27 ans jures & examines, &c.

^c Tillet recueil, &c. p. 431.

^d Stat. Gart. Art. 2.

^e Bodin de Republ. p. 547. Majores nostri difficilium Equitem creabant quatuor his temporibus Imperatorem aut Ducem exercitus, ac ne Reges quidem liberi ac propinqui eum honorem facile consequerantur, &c. See the Speech of John King of Portugal in Froissart, vol. 3. ch. 14.

(1) Blatt, Seat: Perhaps the Post may allude to the Stalls in this Order.

(2) Since.

(3) Mandors.

(4) Unbelief.

(5) Trouble, &c.; Saxon for Fury.

(6) Noisier, Christier.

strict, and that Honour was then had in the greatest Estimation, and acquired by meritorious Actions: Now could any Person, who had to the utmost Degree signalized his Courage and Conduct in Camps and Battles, allowing him the most ardent Thirst for Honour, wish for a more eminent and extraordinary Distinction, than an Enrollment into a Military Fraternity with the Sovereign himself, by the unanimous Suffrage, or at least by the Majority of Voices upon a Scrutiny given upon Oath? And in truth, What greater Honour could Henry II., convey upon the famous Gaspard de Saulx, ¹ Vicomte de Tavannes (afterwards Marshal of France) for his remarkable Behaviour in the Battle of Renty in 1554, than by making him immediately in the Field, Knight of the Order of St. Michael, without any other Ceremony, than by taking off his own Collar and putting it about his Neck, which must be the most signal Mark of Distinction.

The ² Lord Bacon observes, That the Wars of latter Ages seem to be made in the Dark, in respect of the Glory and Honour which reflected upon Men from the Wars in antient Time. “There be now (as he saith) for martial Encouragement some Degrees and Orders of Chivalry, which nevertheless are conferred promiscuously upon Soldiers and no Soldiers, and some remembrance perhaps upon the Scutcheon, and some Hospitals for maimed Soldiers, and such like Things:” With such Freedom this most noble Genius seems to censure some Customs of his Age, upon his Consideration of the antient Methods of rewarding Military Actions; but certainly if the Honour of the Garter should not be esteemed equal to Triumphs and Ovations, yet it must be allowed superior to civick and mural Crowns, to any Decoration of Houses with the Marks of Victory, the wearing Bracelets or Rings at publick Games, and such other antient Ensigns of Rewards for Feats of Arms.

Again: The Erection of this Order was in an Age of innocent Gallantry, when the Ladies were justly allowed a large Share in all splendid Occasions; for their Sakes, and for their Honours, the Founder and his Royal Successors appointed Tournaments wherein they presided as Judges; and how far they participated in the Distinctions of this Order, your Lordship will allow me to shew in a distinct Paragraph hereafter, which I look upon as the chief Part of this long Letter.

I come now to examine the Era or exact Period of the Erection of the Garter, wherein the Conjectures of the Authors have been as various in their Chronology of it, as in the Occasion of its Creation. Their Disagreement is so very wide, that the Person of the Founder is even questioned. All splendid and military Institutions, by a romantick Humour of former Ages, have been ascribed to King Arthur, whose glorious Atchievements have been enormously magnified; but such legendary Traditions which assert this Order to be a Renovation of his celebrated Round Table, deserve not, in this Age, the Trouble of a serious Confutation. To descend lower; we find two dignified ^b Churchmen in the ^f Dictionnaire de Moreri voce Saulx.

^g In his Essay on the true Greatness of Kingdoms.

^b Oratio habita in traditione Garterii ad Christianissimum Franciscum Galliarum Regem — decimo

Nov. 1527. Josanne Teylers Vicecancellario pronunciant — redeamur; ad id quod in initio hujus orationis pollicitus sumus ad precellentissimum omnium Divo Gregorio dedicatum ordinem, cujus Auctore the Reign of Hen. VIII. in discoursing designedly upon the Garter, with some small Diversity of Circumstances, agreeing in the main that Rich. I. in his successful Enterprizes in the holy Land instituted this Order, or the Plan at least of it, referring to our Annals in general for Proof, without quoting the Titles of them or the Names of the Historians; but 'till such Vouchers shall be produced by particular References, these Narratives may obtain not much more Credit, than another grave Tradition that Henry II. upon his Return from the same Place (where in Fact he had never been) erected in this Kingdom another military Order of Religion, the Knights of the Holy Sepulcher; for one Legend is best answered by another.

To leave these Visions. There is no doubt but that this Order was erected by Edw. III. and it was worthy of a Prince of such an elevated Mind for Magnificence and incomparable Valour, who was the Terror of his Enemies Abroad, and the Glory and Joy of his happy Subjects at Home. The Difficulty is only in what Year of his Reign or Period of Time it received its Birth. It is somewhat surprizing that this Epocha should be so much in the Dark, and that the Contemporary Historians did not deliver down to Posterity a Transaction of so great Importance. The Era's usually assigned, are the 18th and 23d Years of his Reign; and here I must premise, that though this Controversy is of no Consequence to the intrinsic Dignity of the Order, for so small an Interval of Time would not add to, or diminish from its Lustre in Point of Antiquity, yet the exact Chronology of its Com-lore macum Institutionis causa succinde explicatis breviter perorabimus. Illustrissimus olim Rex Anglie Ricardus primus, qui ob invictam animi fortitudinem Cordellion cognomen sortitus est, hujus sacri Ordinis (ut nostri produunt Annales) auctor erat. Hic ubi in terram sanctam potentissimo cum exercitu expeditionem fecerat, post devictum Cypri regnum, Caesarem captam, Joppen deletam neque abinde haecenus restauratam, ut ejus ruinarum reliquiae monstrant et testantur, aliis non paucis nobilibus Palaestinis locis in deditioem receptis, Acheonem urbem id temporis Judae celebrem quantum poterat dura obsidione cinxit, et vi capere contendit, qui quum diutius obsidione et mira militum tolerantia nihil profecerat, atque urbem illam nudam; munitionem fuisse experimento cognoverat. Quam ut ullus in eam hostibus pateret receptus, neq; ullum omnino ad eam demolendam humanis vel consiliis vel praesidiis locum extitisse reliquit; Rex ille magnanimitas in hac tanta urbis potius desperatione maximam divino plane instinctu spem subito concipiens, centum primarios ac praesantissimos totius exercitus sui Duces ad se accersit, quos ubi primum praesentes illi omnes adstare cernebat, hanc ad fortissimam est affatus; Strenuissimi milites, fidsissimi; Comititones. Videtis plane nos hic temporis commoditatem frustra contere, verumque ac militum icturam, et antehac magnam fecisse, et posthac, nisi mature prospiciamus, majorem futurus; Namq; eo jam res venit, ut vel hostes propediem fortiter aggrediamur, vel re infecta turpiter (quod absit) discedamus: Et verum profecto ne Divus Georgius nos comodo profusus desinuerit, sed ut iram insuper non modicam in nos conceperit, quod illius nomen toties nobis antehac praesens, et propitium experiti, nullo vicissim honore haecenus sinus prosecuti: proinde vos omnes et singulos adhortor, ut inter nos insigne aliquod amicitiae foedus in illius honorem ineamus, quod et sacramento et iurejurando omnes confitemur; quemq; videlicet alterum ad vitam usq; exitum amanissimi fratris loco habiturum, atq; insuper Deo Optimo Maximo et Divo Georgio fidem omnes asstringamus, omnesq; votum illis sancte nuncupemus. Nos aut urbem hanc strenue et viriliter. Expugnatos, aut mortem unanimitur summa cum laude hic appetituros. Cujus sententiae statim ut a reliquis erat assensus, Princeps ille primus in verba concepta juravit, reliqui Principis illius exemplum ordine subsecuti sunt, datum; illico erat cuiuslibet illius Ordinis socio jurato insigne, crux scilicet purpurea in Christi cruce memoriam, contra cujus hostes nihil magis optabant, quam vitam, si fors ita ferret, profundere; Eademq; crux in hodiernum usq; diem hujusce ordinis habitui glorioso imponitur: Ceterum hoc foedere idio tantum animorum, fiduciae tantam ac spiritibus illis exemplo omnibus accessit, ut capta statim urbs illis videretur; et nisi historiae fides hic in parte laborer, vix tertius ab illo tempore dies illuxit, quom hostes Christiani nominis inimici aspersimo et pertinaci insula, impetu, et incurfu superati necessitran subire deditioem cogenterur: Cujus postea religionis ordini multa praesclara ac speciosa addidit ornamenta et ceremonias inclitas, et rei militaris illa in memoria unicum decus Edwardus tertius, &c. E. MS. pen. Dominum Harley.

The other is Mr Aldridge in his Preface to the Black Book which is cited by Camden in Berkthire, and by Mr Selden in his Titles of Hon. p. 657, who saith that he had not learned what ancient Testimony he had to justify this Assertion.

1 Ordres Religieux vol 2. p. 135. La Roque traite de Noblesse p. 376, &c.

mencement would afford some Light in other Points. For Instance, several Writers have conjectured the Word Garter being given as the Cri de Guerre or Signal, by Edw. III in a Battle where he had the Victory, that therefore as a Memorial thereof, he appropriated it to be the chief Symbol or Badge of this Order, and thence denominated it. Some specify the Battle of Poitiers on 19 Sept. in his thirtieth Year, ^k Mr. Ashmole fixes on that of Cressy, on 24 Aug. in the twentieth Year, but if this Order was erected in the eighteenth Year, this Emblem and Appellation cannot be owing to any Accident in either of these two memorable Victories.

I shall hint some Characteristicks in the Sequel, which if they can be found, will settle the Dispute between the 18th and 23d Year; for Example, if it shall appear that either of the Founders died before the 23d Year, the first Supposition would entirely fall; but I must confess that at present, I am destitute of such Assurances, and though that Matter is out of my Reach, yet my Time and Thoughts may not be wholly mispent in this Enquiry, and therefore I shall state the Case very fairly, and leave the Decision thereof to your Lordship upon the Evidence that now appears.

The first Statutes and the ancient Annals of this Order being perished by Length or Injury of Time, Recourse ought first to be had to contemporary Historians, and hitherto none hath been produced in this Controversy save Froissart, who expressly places the Original of the Order in the Beginning of the 18th Year of Edw. III. There have been several Objections made to his Testimony, and as I am under no Prepossessions or have any Interest or Inclination to put any Veil over his Errors or those of any other Person, so I would have him sifted to the Bottom, and cross examined as a Witness at the Bar with the nicest Scrutiny.

There can be no Exception against his Admission or his Capacity to give Evidence, let us therefore hear his Narrative in his own native Language, for all Witnesses ought to have that Privilege, with the Translation thereof made by a very Noble Lord under the Reign of Hen. VIII.

De la Confrairie Saint George, que le Roy Edouard établit a Wyndesore.

EN ce temps vint en propos & en volonté au Roy Edouard d'Angleterre, qu'il seroit faire et reedifier le grand Chastel de Wyndesore, que le Roy Artur fit jadis faire et fonder la ou premierement fut commencée et edifiée la noble Table ronde: dont tant de bons et vaillans hommes et Chevaliers estoient

Of the Order of Saynt George that Kyng Edwarde itabliſhed in the Castell of Wyndſore.

IN this season the King of England toke pleasure to newe reedify the Castell of Wyndſore, the which was begonne by Kyng Arthur. And there fyrſt begonne the table rounde, whereby sprange the fame of ſo many noble knyghts throughout all the World. Then kyng Edwarde determyned to make an Order and a brotherhode of a certayne nombre et allèrent et travaillèrent en armes, et en prouesses par tout le monde. Et feroit le dit Roy une ordonnance des Chevaliers, et luy et de ses enfans, et des plus preux de la terre: Et en seroient en somme quarante: et les nommeroit on les Chevaliers du bleu jartier: Et la feste à durer d'an en an, et de la solennizer à Winderose, le jour Saint George. Et pour ceste feste commencer le Roy assambla de tout son pays Comtes, Barons, et Chevaliers: Et leur dit son intention: et ils luy accorderent joyeusement, pource qu'il leur sembloit moult honorable ou toute amour se nourrirait. Adoncques furent cleus quarante Chevaliers, par advis, et par renommée les plus preux de tous les autres: lesquels sceillirent et jurèrent à poursuivre et tenir la feste et les ordonnances telles qu'elles estoient la divisées. Et fit le Roy fonder et edifier une chapelle de Saint George au Chastel de Winderose, et y establit Chanoines pour Dieu servir, et les rentra moult grandement. Puis envoya le Roy publier la feste par ses Heraux en France, en Escosse, en Bourgonne, en Hainault, en Flandres, en Brabant et en l'Empire d'Allemagne: et il donnoit a tous Chevaliers et Escuyers, qui venir y voudroient, quinze jours de saufconduit apres la feste. Et devoit estre ceste feste le jour Saint George ensuivant, l'an Mil trois cens quarante et quatre, au Chastel de Winderose. Et devoit estre accompagnée la Roïne d'Angleterre de trois cens Dames et Damoiselles, toutes nobles & gentils dames et parées richement de paremens semblables.

^k Hist. of the Garter, p. 183.

^l Aslum. Hist. p. 285, 286.

Entandis que le Roy d'Angleterre faisoit son grand appareil luy vindrent nouvelles du Sire de Cliffon &c. Et le Roy delivra nombre of knyghtes, and to be called knyghtes of the blewe garter: And a feest to be kept yerly at Wyndfor: on S. myt Georges day. And to begynne this Order the kyng asssembled t'wyche erles, lordes, and knyghtes of his realme and shew them his intencion. And they all joyously agreed to his pleasure, because they sawe it was a thinge woche honourable and wherebye great amyte and love shoulde growe and increase. Then was there chosen out a certayne nombre of the moost valyantest men of the realme. And they swawe and sayed to mentayne the ordynances, such as were devised: and the kyng made a chapel in the Cytie of Wyndor of Saynt George and stablished certayne chanons ther to serve god, and enduyd them with sayre rent. Then the kyng sende to publyse this feest by his heraldes into Fraunce, Scotland, Burgone, Heynault, Flaunders, Brabant and into thempyre of Almayne: gyvenng to every knyght and squyer that wolde come to the sayd feest XV. dayes of saufe conduct before the feest. And after the whiche feest to begynne at Wyndfore on Saynt George day nexte after, in the yere of our Lord MCCC XLIII. and the quene to be there accompanied with III C. ladyes and damosels all of noble lynage and appavelled accordingly.

Then after a Chapter wherein is an Account of the news brought hither of the beheading of the Lord Clyffon and others, and of the generosity of Edw. III. in the delivery of Sir Henry of Leon on a small ransom, follows The daye of Saynte George approached that this great feest shulde be at Wyndfore, there was a noble company of Erles, Barownes, delivra de sa prison messire Henry de Leon &c. Or approcha le jour Saint George, que ceste feste se devoit tenir au Chastel de Winderose, et y fit le Roy d' Angleterre grand appareil de Comtes, Barons, Dames, et Damoiselles : Et fut la feste moult grand : et noble, bien festoye et bien joustee : et dura par le terme de quinze jours &c. Et le Roy envoye le Comte d' Erby son Cousin guerroyer en Gascogne &c.

Barownes, Ladys and Damofelles, knyghtes and squyers : and great triumphe, justyng and tournayes, the which endured fyfene dayes &c. The kynge ordained his Cosyn the erle of Derby to go to Galcoigne &c.

His Fidelity hath been called into Question from an apparent Inconsistency in this Relation as it now stands in the printed Copies ; for it is alledged this first Fraternity consisted of Forty Companions, when 'tis beyond all Contradiction that 25 Knights with the Sovereign always compleated the Number of this Order.

But if the Word Forty should be the Slip of the Transcriber or the Error of the Press, this Reason of Disbelief is too hasty and rigorous. It is very well known, that the Numerals in the Editions of this Work are lamentably corrupted and misprinted, as the truly Great ^m Mr Selden hath on another Occasion observed, though by the way, this most learned Antiquary is unfortunate in the Instance about the Numbers in the Passage he attempts to correct, for finding in this Historian Cinque Pers mentioned sitting at the second Table on the Coronation Day of Hen. IV. he would amend it by substituting Cinquante, when the Negligence of the Press is evidently in the second Word, for by reading Ports instead of Pers the Sense is altered, and the Practice agreeable to the Formularies of all Coronations, where the Barons of the Cinque Ports have enjoyed the Privilege of sitting in that Place as an indisputable Right.

Before I shall examine the Force of the Counter-evidence to invalidate this Report, I crave Leave to sift the Character of this Witness, whether he had Opportunities of receiving proper Informations, and whether it can be supposed he lay under any Temptations to commit designedly a chronological Error ; whether he shews Integrity, or too much Credulity in the Remainder of his History, especially in other Articles which relate to this Order, and how far any of the Facts of this Narrative are supported by other Vouchers ; which several Examinations seem to be putting this Matter on a fair Issue, and by these Tests let his Credit stand or fall.

This inquisitive Historian was a dignified * Clergyman, who in his youth had been nourished (as he terms it) in the Court of Edw. III. [the Founder] and of his own Madam and Mistress Queen Philippa, where he continued for five Years; afterwards he travelled into several foreign Dominions, and in 1366 was sent from Bourdeaux by the Black Prince to the Queen his Mother in England, and then continued here about the Space of an Year, and returned hither again on 12 July 1395, after the Absence of xxviii Years. He early applied his Studies to make just Enquiries, as his Words are, for the Truth of Deeds of War from the Time of the Battle of Poitiers, having made Collections of that Nature for some Years before it, and he honestly acquaints his Readers that the former Parts of his History were taken from the true Report of the Canon of St. Lambert of Liege.

As there seems to be an Air of Sincerity in his Narratives, so he was in a Capacity to come at the Truth of the Facts he relates. He was lvii Years of Age in the Year 1390, so that of course he could be only about 11 Years old in this 18th of Edw. III., when he saith this Order was instituted; and though we know not the precise Date of his first coming hither, yet by his own Narrative we are assured he resided here within few Years after the Period he assigns for the Erection of this Order, and that he was of Age sufficient to have informed himself exactly in the punctual Ara of a Fact so recent in Memory, and so signal and considerable in itself. Mr. Selden justly remarks, that "He was very conversant with the English Court and Customs, and especially such as related to the Lords in whose frequent Acquaintance he lived here." For which Reason 'tis scarce credible, he should be so supinely negligent to commit an Anachronism and antedate the Creation of an Order for five Years, to whose original Statutes and Ordonnances he refers as then extant, and even sealed by the First Founders. It is on the other Side very probable he might take more especial Care not to err herein, since he presented the first Part of his History to this * Queen Philippa, who, as he saith, had in Person appeared with great Splendour at the first Feast of this Order; and farther, that after her Death he continued it on at the Instance of his dear Lord Sir Robert Namur Lord of Beaufort, who was elected a Companion of the Garter about 43d of Edw. III., and contemporary with the Founder and some other of the Knights made upon the Institution. Under these Circumstances it appears scarce conceivable that Froissart should be guilty of such a solemn Piece of Indiscretion, if the same may not be termed an extreme Impudence, as to dedicate an History wherein he professes to write Truth to Persons of such distinguished Quality, who must themselves be well apprised of the Time of this Fact n Rector of the parochial Church of Lesclines on the Mount near Mons in Haynalt. Introdect. a l'Hist. de Ch. VI. par le Laboureur, p. 69. Treasure and Canon of Chimay.

o Vol. 4. c. 16. p. 175.
Vol. 3. p. 196, fus je de ma jeunesse cinq; ans de l'Hotel du Roy d'Angleterre & de la Reine.

p Vol. 3. p. 176.
q Vol. 4. p. 176.

r In his Introduction.

s Vol. 3. p. 196.

t Title of Honour, p. 635.

u In his Introduction.

x Ibid.

y He is in the Catalogues numbered 85, and succeeded Robert Ufford Earl of Suffolk, who died on Sunday after All Saints, in 43 Ed. III.

which must be so notorious and fresh in memory, that they as well as the Nobility of that Age must have immediately detected his Error and laughed at his Credulity: It would seem an Appeal, in some measure, to them, as Vouchers for this his Error, if it was one; for here is no Room to suppose he was under any Temptations to mislead his Readers, for the Antedating the Order for so little a Time cannot fall under any Suspicion of an Incentive of Flattery: And there is no doubt but that he gave Copies of the several Parts of his History as he perfected them, and presented them to his distinct Patrons; for though the same is brought down to the Year 1400, yet in 1381 several ² Quires thereof were in the Custody of Louis Duke of Anjou finely illuminated, which were intended by the Author to be sent to the King of England.

But waving his own frequent Declarations of his Veracity, as Matters of course in such Writers, let the Contents of his large Work be brought to the Touchstone, and whoever will have the Patience to compare it with the coxvous Records published by Mr. Rymer, will from that Essay only be so far satisfied of his Integrity, as may induce him passionately to wish a new correct Edition; and if this Author hath hitherto not received the Honour of being printed at the Louvre with the other French Historians, upon any ^a national Motive, that Reason should excite some learned Person of this Kingdom, for the Reputation of our native Country, to undertake the Collating the Manuscript-copies, to compare the Facts with Records and contemporary Writers foreign and domestick, to correct the miserable mispellings of the Surnames of such who abundantly signalized their Valour and Conduct, which would be a Justice due to the Merits of these celebrated active Persons and an Honour to their Posterity. The very learned ^b Monsieur du Fresne made a Proposal of this Nature, with reference to Froissart and Monstrelet, the principal and most faithful Writers of their respective Ages, who have been extraordinarily ill treated and altered.

I proceed now to consider how far and in what manner any of the Circumstances of the Facts related by him about the Erection of this Order are supported by other Authorities.

Henry de Leon was a Breton, and ^c taken Prisoner by Sir Walter de Manny. Oliver de Clifton ^d and several other Bretons were beheaded at Paris before ² Le Laboureur Hist. de Ch. VI. en sa vie de Louis Duc d'Anjou Roy de Sicile. Le dix jour (12 de Decembre 1316) furent peccées deux lettres doubles d'une tenue & forme, Buisin mention, que Monseigneur le Duc a fait prendre & retenu par devers luy, pour faire sa volonte en ce qu'il luy plaira, 50 quoyers que Messire Jehan Froissart Prestre Recteur de l'Eglise Parrochiale de Lescines au Mont pres de Meun en Haynault, avoit fait escrire, faisant mention de plusieurs & diverses batailles & batailles en fait d'Armes, faites en Royaumes de France le temps passe. Lesquels 50 quoyers de Romans ou Croniques, le dit messire Jehan avoit envoye pour enluminer & Guillaume de Baily Enlumineur, & lesquels le dit messire Jehan proposoit a envoyer au Roy d'Archevesque Adversaire, &c.

The Word Romans here used, means only a Book wrote in the Vulgar or French Language, see Du Fresne Gloss in voce, and see according to the Acceptation of the Word in the present Age, to denote a singular historical Narration of Adventures invented and artfully designed for the Entertainment only of the Readers; and this being in the Year 1381, was long before he finished his whole History. He wrote his third Volume in 1397, Froiss. vol. 3. p. 76.

^a Popeliniere Hist. des Hist. l. 8. p. 422. see Bodin Meth. Hist. c. 4.

^b Le Long Bibl. Hist. p. 956.

^c Du Tillet Recueil, &c. p. 275. — Lobineau Preuves de l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 25. A. D. 1342. fait captif Dom. Horeux de Louis Dom. de Noyon cum multis Dominis & militibus apud Tregarantem. — per Dom. Galterum de Mansi, &c.

^d Antienne Hist. General. p. 352. fait, &c. & est beheaded 2 Aug. 1247, and others on 29. or 30 November. Lobineau Hist. de Bretagne, p. 334.

Edward the Third declared his Intention of having general Justs held at Windsor, and it happens that the Writ for them still remains on Record bearing Date at Ditton on New-Years Day in the 17th Year 1443, by it these Justs are appointed to be held at Windsor on the Monday next after the Feast of St. Hilary then following, and for that Purpose a safe Conduct and Protection is given to all Persons of all Kingdoms for their coming, staying, and returning home, which Safeguard was declared to remain in force 'till the Ostaves of the Purification.

This King began his Reign on the 25th of January, so that these Justs were to be held in the End of his 17th Year on Monday (which Mr. Ashmole and Mr. Barnes calculate to be on the 19th of that Month,) on which Day we find the King was at Windsor; but the Ostaves of Candlemas, named in this Writ, fell in the Beginning of the 18th Year: In this Writ there is no express mention of the Term of fifteen Days for the Continuance of this safe Conduct, as Froissart suggests; but if we suppose these Justs lasted a whole Week, as was customary in such Cases, then there is this exact Number of fifteen intermediate Days from Saturday the 24th of that Month to the Ostaves of the Purification being the 9th of February following.

If therefore apres la Feste in Froissart should be understood to relate to the End of the Feast of holding the Justs, the Computation is literally true; but if the word Feast should be apprehended to mean that of St. George, the Addition of one Letter, which may be esteemed a tolerable Amendment, will reconcile that Matter; for by substituting apres for apres, the Sense will be altered to import, that this Safe-conduct was to endure for fifteen Days near or not far distant from this Feast of St. George, as it apparently doth.

This Record is an indisputable Authority, so there is no occasion of quoting Walsingham and the other Historians who mention the Solemnity of these Justs in this Year. We have the like Authority, that Edw. III. in this Year, b new-built or made some Reparations in Windsor Castle, and the Chapel was certainly finished before August in the 22d Year, when that King avers — Capellam in castro nostro de Wyndesore — nostris Regiis sumptibus fecimus consummari, wherein as far as his Prerogative extended, he adds fifteen Canons to the Eight of the old Foundation, establisheth a Custos over them, orders twenty four poor Knights, and settles some Advowsons on them; which Grant, according to the Notions of the Law at present, could have no legal Subsistence unless these Canons and poor Knights had a Being. Now the Fourth and Sixth Articles of the Statutes of the Order reserving the Presentation of the first Canons and poor Knights to the Disposition of the First Founders, these Knights must therefore pre-exist as a Fraternity antecedent to those whom they were thence to nominate. But not knowing how far the Papal Power then interposed in ecclesiastical Erections, I shall not insist on this Topick of

c Rymer. vol. 5. p. 400.

f Hist. p. 182. Barris Hist. of Ed. 3.

g Pat. 17 E. 3. p. 2. m. 2. Valcon. 17 E. 3. m. 15.

2, and 3.

b Rot. Pip. 18 E. 3. Computus Aldui de Kellum

clerici assignati ad quasdam operationes infra castrum de Windsor, inter 16 diem Februarii anno 18mo. quo die operationes incipiebantur, &c.

i Pat. 22 E. 3. printed by Mr. Ashmole in his Ap. pendix. n. 1.

Reasoning, especially since in the Pelle-Office there are the same Entries after this 22d of Edw. III, as were before that Year, Johanni de Melton & Sociis suis capellanis de Wyndesore divina celebrantibus in capella dicti Regis, &c. and the Queen is said by Froissart to have been at the first Feast with a splendid Appearance, which cannot be improbable, since in the thirty-second Year we find a very large Sum, according to the Value of Money in that Age, paid to this same Queen for her Apparel against the approaching Feast; and it will be hereafter shewn that Ladies had upon this Occasion Robes of the Garter.

These are some of the Particularities mentioned by this Historian, and before I come to examine his Relations of some subsequent Transactions in this Order, I must obviate an Objection that may be made against his Credit, as being a single Evidence. If the Authority of a double or treble Voucher is absolutely required, what Number of Narratives of uncontested Facts must be rejected? But it chances he is corroborated by another Author who Ends his Annals about the 36th of Edw. III, and this is the Writer of that valuable Piece which is stiled Scala Cronica. There is a Copy of this Manuscript remaining in Bemet College in Cambridge, but by a great Misfortune that Book is imperfect, there being an Hiatus in it from the Siege of Tournay to the 30th of Edw. III, so I am forced to make use of the Extracts which Leland made, to which he hath not prefixed the Years, but the Series of the Facts will settle the Chronology. The Words are, "King Edward came yn to Breтайne — He gave his eldest Sonne the Principalltie of Wales. The Countes of Saresbyri and Southfolk took there Torney into Spayne to the Fronter of Granate to the Sege of Algezire a great tounne of the Saracens upon the Straites of Morok, that the good King Alphonus had besegid, and after won it by Famyne. King Edward made a great Fest at Wyndesore at Christemes, wher he renewed the Round Table, and the name of Arture, and ordened the Order of the Garter, making Sainct George the Patronne thereof. King Edward sent an Army ynto Flanders," then the Hiltory mentions the Beheading of Arteville, the Sending the Earl of Derby into Gascoigne, the Victory at Albecroche, the Siege of Aguilon, &c. This Manuscript is more particular in one Instance than Froissart, though no ways inconsistent with him, and that is of the Erection of this Order in Christmas, at which Time we know from Records that the King resided at Windsor.

Now Edw. III sailed into Bretagne on 4 Oct. 1342, and returned the 2d of March 1343, the Prince of Wales was created on the 12th of May, in the 17th Year, Henry Earl of Derby returned from the Siege of Algezire about All Saints 1343. Then follows the Era of the Erection of the Garter; and the King's sailing into Flanders which was on the 3d

l E. it. Pell. P. 32 E. 3. Philippe Regine Anglie in perfolutionem D. librarum quas Dom. Rex sibi liberari mandavit de dono suo in auxilium apparatus sui contra festum S. Georgii prox. præteritum apud Wina pte.

l MSS. F. IV.

m Lelandi Collect. p. 568. edic Hearn.

n Rymer, vol. 5. p. 342, & p. 357.

o Charta 17 E. 3. n. 27.

p Knighton col. 2583, n. 12. Heylin in his Col- mography saith, that Algezire [which hath been supposed to be the ancient Carteria] held out a Siege of 19 Months, and surrendered A. D. 1343. Alfonso XI. Algeziram 22 mensibus obseffam pertinaciter constantia ad deditionem 1344 coegit. Red. Sanct. Hist. Hisp. p. 4. c. 12. This MS. doth not say that this Town was actually surrendered before the Erection of the Garter.

q Rymer, vol. 5. p. 472.

of July 1345, the Earl of Derby having before landed at Bainie on the 6th of June 1344.

'Tis very strange that the other Writers of that Reign have omitted the Institution of this Order. I proceed to examine the Narratives which Froissart gives of subsequent Transactions in this Order, and if these shall be sufficiently vouched, it will be a strong Indication of his Exactness, also in the Year he assigns for its Original.

In Vol. I. p. 381. After an Account of the Death of Sir Walter Manny, he saith that "in 1372. the King held the Feast of St. George at Windfor, as he was accustomed to do every Year, and that then Messire Guichard D' Angle was admitted a Companion with the King his Children, the Barons of England, who call themselves in that Fraternity, Knights of the blue Garter."

Every numerical Syllable hereof is confirmed by our Records, Sir Walter Manny died Thursday next after St. Hillary, 1372. and Money was issued out of the Exchequer for the Charges of this Feast, and the Windfor-Tables assure us Sir Guichard D' Angle, (afterwards created Earl of Huntington,) succeeded Sir Walter in the eighth Stall on the Sovereign Side, and Stalls were to be filled within six Weeks after a Vacancy.

In Vol. 3. p. 203. The King on St. George's Day, 1387. kept a great Feast at Windfor. Now we know by a Record that "the Habit of the Order was delivered to the Companions for that Purpose."

In Vol. 4. p. 86, 87. is a Narrative of the Installation of the Earl of Ostrevant, afterwards Duke of Holland, which hath been supported by several Authorities in the former Part of this Letter.

In Vol. 4. ch. 36. ch. 37. falsè paged 110. After the Assembly at Amiens in Mid-lent, 1392, two French Knights Sir John of Castell Morante, and Sir Jausin of Cantwell, were sent to London to know the King's Resolution upon the Proposals for a Peace or Truce, the King went to keep St. George's Feast at Windfor, where these Knights attended for an Answer, which Words relate to the Feast held in 1392.

Now the Records inform us that on the 5th of May, 1392. Our King confirmed the Prolongation of a Treaty by * his Oath taken according to the Custom of that Age, in presence of Sir Tanquin de Chautemarle, and Messire John Briant, for in this Manner the Names incorporated in the Print of our Author are to be read.

St. George's Day A. D. 1392 fell upon a Tuesday, and we know from a Record that the Feast was prorogued to the Sunday following,

* Froiss. c. 102.

† Ric. 46. E. 2. n. 30.

‡ Exit Pell. M. 46. E. 2. Johanni de Sieford clerico magna Gardieobis Regis in denariis super providentia facta contra festum S. Georgii prox. futurum pro militibus de Garsia CXXXIII. libr. VI. fol. IV. den.

u 11. R. 2. vide introductionem p. XI. Note C.

x Rymer vol. 7. p. 74.

y Exit. Pell. M. 15. R. 2. Diversis Nunciis et Curatoribus missis diversis Episcopis Magnatibus et Dominabus de essendo London pro exequiis Comitibus de Santo Paulo in festo S. Georgii proxime fu-turo in Ecclesia beati Petri Wishmas. celebrandis, quam cum literis missis Ducibus Ebor. et Glow. et aliis Comitibus Banneretis et Militibus de Garsia de veniendo usque Windfore die Dominica proxime dictum festum S. Georgii pro Solemnitate dicti festi ad dictum diem tenendi &c.

It is to be remembered that according to the Site and Method of the Exchequer, there are only two Terms in the Year, Michaelmas and Eastre; and therefore the Payments for the Feast of St. George are found entered in Michaelmas Term, unless Eastre Term began at it sometimes doth before that Festival.

being the 28th of April, because the Countess of St. Paul was buried in St. Peters Westminster on St. George's Day.

The Count of St. Paul had a safe Conduct to come into this Kingdom in the preceding November, and this his Lady died ' before Easter Day, 1392. which was on 14 Apr. and he contracted himself to his second Lady on 17 May, 1393.

I have thus summed up the Evidence given by Froissart, and hinted in what particular Circumstances his Narratives are verified, and it seems consistent with common Justice to give Weight to his Testimony 'till the same be disproved, or lessened by Counter-Evidence.

Mr. Astmole ^b is very positive that Froissart is intirely mistaken in the Æra, and that this Order was certainly erected in the 23d Year, for which he gives us his Reasons. He begins with such as seem of very little Authority, as the Number of Forty Companions in the printed Copy, which may be the Error of the Transcriber, or the Press, the Conjectures from the exploded Fable of the Ladies Garter, the Forgetfulness of Mr. Selden in assigning two Periods of its Institution, though it should be here observed, that this c Great Antiquary in his most mature Thoughts placed its Commencement in the 18th Year. After these Introductions he insists upon the Strength of two Arguments, that a Wardrobe Account subsequent to this Time, mentions the Habits of this Order prepared for the First Feast thereof, and that the Statutes place the Date expressly in the 23d Year.

This Wardrobe Account begins, as he saith, at Michaelmas 21 Ed. III. and is continued to 31 of January in the 23d Year, wherein he tells us are contained the Habits prepared for the First Feast. It is not unmannerly to crave an Oyer of any Record, I have not indeed seen the Original, but have the Advantage of a Copy made (as 'tis presumed) by d Mr. Astmole himself, which is so far from naming the First Feast of St. George, that it doth not even mention any Feast at all. There are several Materials powdered with Garters, whence Mr. Astmole safely concludes this Order was not founded in the XVIIIth Year, because the Sovereign's Robes were not made 'till the XXII, perhaps not 'till the Beginning of the XXIIIrd Year, which seems to be a Conjecture without any Grounds for it; the Fact being, that the whole Roll consists of Twenty three Membranes, in the Eighth whereof the Entry of ' Chlamis,

^a Rymer, vol. 7. p. 708.
^b Du Chef Preuves de l'Hist. de Bar. le Duc. p. 65. Hist. de Chastillon, p. 275.

^c Hist. p. 185, 186, 187.
^d In his 2d Edition of the Tales of Hoisie printed in Quarto, in 1614, p. 362, and in his Notes on the Poly-Olona note by him in 1612, p. 68. He places the Erection after the Victory of Calo, but in the last Edition of the former Work with Amendments, p. 658, receding in his Opinion he concludes there is Reason enough to credit Froissart for the Year of the Institution.

^e A New Translation in Mus. Ashmol. in Oxon.
^f E. Masco Astmole Oxon. n. 1135. Ex computo Joh. Cale. provisorius marie Garderobe a festo S. Mich. in Sep. anno 21 Ed. III. utp. 31 Jan. anno dieb. Regis, 22.

M. B. Testis de Colonia Armatori ad faciend. II.

Sumarios de Worsted uno viz. de Armis quartellatis. & altero de armis quartellatis cum imagine S. Laurentii in capite ornat. de uno alba pala powdered cum Garteris blattis, &c.

Et ad faciend. unum lectum de Taffeta blu pro Rege powdered cum Garteris continentibus lund didamen Hoy sui q. and 2 grass, &c.

Et pro factura union chlamydis, supertunica, et Capuchij pro corpore Regis de pann. long. bl. powdered cum Garteris paratis cum boucles et pendens de auto deum.

x. ulp. pan. long. blu iiii. flor. cont. II. ulp.
for.
dim. pec. de carde.
dim. lib. auri in plate

xi. lib. de serico.
clxviii. boucles pro Gar.
de argen. desurat.
clxviii. pendens pro eisdem Gar. de argento.

mis, Supertunica, and Capucium powdered with Garters, is before the Disguisings prepared for Christmas in the XXI Year, and preceding another Entry in the tenth Membrane of twelve blue Garters enriched with their Motto's Hony soit q. mal y pense, for the Justs at Eltham in the same Year. So that the Garter it self, the chief Emblem of this Order, was used at a Tilting in the XXI. Year, which is sufficient to overthrow Mr. Asmole's Supposition. But in Truth there is no Inconsistency in guessing, that the Garter with the Motto might have been a Badge, or Devise of the Crown antecedent to the Erection of this Order, as the f Fuzil in Burgundy was the Badge of the Father of that Duke who instituted the Toison d'or, of which the Fuzil was made one of the Badges.

And if this Hypothesis should be true, all the Entries of Garters in this Roll, in what Year soever we place them, will give us no certain Light as to the Institution of the Order.

Again this Roll doth no where intimate that these Habits powdered with Garters, were the first of that Kind or Livery that were ever made, or that these were prepared, as it is alledged by Mr. Asmole, for the First Grand Feast. It is to be wished the Wardrobe Accounts of the 18th, 19th, and 20th of Edw. III. may be discovered, and if any such Robes should be mentioned in either of them, this Matter would be cleared against Mr. Asmole; though by the Way their Silence only would not be a sufficient Proof to reject Froissart's Report, for there is no Incongruity in supposing that this Order subsisted some short Time before either the peculiar Habit might be appointed for it, or before the same could be provided.

The next Argument appeared to this Historian of that Strength, as to put him out of all farther Doubt, and that is, because the Statutes of the Founder fix its Erection in the 23d Year. 'Tis very true the present Exemplars do so, But are these authentick genuine Copies without any Interpolations? This first Article which thus places the Erection in this 23d Year, enumerates the Duke of Lancaster and the Earl of Stafford among the Founders, whereas there were no such Titles of Honour at that Time, these being not created 'till March 25, Ed. III.

M. 9. Et ad faciendum unum Jupon de Taffata blu pro Regis corpore poudert. cum Gart. et boucles & pendans de arg. deaur.

iii. uln. de Taffata } dim. lib. ferici.
ii. uln. cendall. affore. } hii. boucles arg. deaur.
dim. lib. auri in plate. } iiii. pendans. arg. deaur.

Et ad faciendum unum Jupon de Taterryn blu poudert cum Garteris blu paratis cum boucles et pendans de arg. deaur. &c.

Et ad faciend. lidos Dom. Regis ad festum Natalis Dom. celebrat. apud Gulford anno Regis xli. &c.

M. 10. Et ad faciend. diversos apparatus pro corpore Regis pro Hastiludiu suis apud Windsore anno pzed. — apud Lyebfeld anno pzed.

Et ad faciend. xii Garteris de blu brodata de auro et ferico, quolibet habente Dislamen Hony soit q. mal y pense et ad faciend. alios apparatus pro hastiludiu Regis apud Ebbow anno Regis pzedicto.

Et ad faciend. tria herinea pro Rege quorum duo de velveto albo operata cum Garteris de blu et diaprez per totam campelinum cum Wod-houles, et tertium herineum de velveto inde continen. Isppekyn quilleux et calgas operatas cum Garteris.

M. 11. Pro hastiludio Cantuariensi anno Regis xlii.

M. 12. Et ad parandum i. tunic. R. et i. clocam et capuc. cum C. Garteris paratis cum boucles baris et pendentibus de argenteo.

This was the Symbol of John the Hardi. Miral Origin. Ord. Equestr. p. 62. Indeed Chiffierius reckons it an Emblem taken by Philip the Good in 1429. Liliun Francie. p. 84. by Wolfgangus Lazius in Commentar. Gentium Austriac. l. 1. c. viii. saith it was assumed by his Father John in his Capisury in Hungary ob vaticinium Astrologandi causulam nobilis harioii; Fose ut olim Ipse, vel eius posterorum quispian qui ignem gestaret in pectore, Saracenos vinceret, gentemq; eorum deleterit unversam.
g. Pat. 23. E. 3. p. 1. m. 18. 6 March Duke of Lancaster created. Chart. 25. E. 3. n. 13. n. 25. 5 March Earl of Stafford created.

I have not hitherto had the good Luck to inspect the Original, or even any Copy of the Statutes wrote in the Reign of the Founder, such a Discovery would be of great Service to settle several Particulars, and I cannot doubt but there are Copies of that Age remaining in private Hands.

Froissart informs us the Founders swore to the Observance of the Statutes, so that they were coævous with the Erection, and why may it not be conceived that those first Statutes in the 18th Year, were only Capitulars containing the substantial Parts, which might be digested into a more regular Form in the 23d Year, and from thence that Æra be inserted in the subsequent Copies, wherein the Transcribers might commit Anachronisms in giving the Companions the Titles they had at the Time of their writing these Copies. This is indeed only Guefs Work, but this Fact hath happened in other parallel Instances. The present Statutes of the Golden Fleece bear Date on 27 Nov. 1431; yet that Order was founded before on 10th January, 1429. according to the Stile of that Country, and indeed at the ^b first Erection Statutes were made, whereof I have a Copy, and which is somewhat remarkable the Name of John de Neufchastel Seigneur de Montagu, one of the first Companions is not inserted among the Founders in these latter Statutes, made in 1431, because he had been in that Interval deposed from the Order. Somewhat of the like Nature occur'd afterwards even to the Garter. The Statutes by Hen. VIII. are entred in the Register dated in his 14th Year; yet he first made an Explanation on 29th May in his 11th Year, whereof I have a ⁱ Copy, in which Year there is only a short Hint given in the Register, because the same was thus afterwards perfected and drawn into an ampler and more regular Form.

This is the State of this Controversy, as it stands between Froissart's Credit and Mr. Ashmole's Suggestions to invalidate it, but to decide the Merits of the whole Cause, it will be necessary to examine an Observation, or Reply made against the Assertion of the latter, that the First great Feast of St. George was held in the 23d Year, which comes from no less a Pen than that of ^k Dr. Brady, whom a very learned Author stiles the ^l Father of English History. He takes Notice " that the Great Plague began about the first of August, 22 Edw. III. and continued with Violence, 'till Michaelmas twelve Months after, that not only the Parliament " was twice prorogued, but scarce any Thing remarkable is reported in " the 23d Year to have been done, either in England or France, so that 'tis " scarce probable the Garter should be then instituted, or the First Grand " Feast; especially since the Parliament that was called by Writ, to meet " fifteen Days after Easter, was prorogued until ^m new Summons, because " of the raging Pestilence. And 'tis remarkable blethat Easter-Day this Year " falling on the 9th of April, and the Quindene being the 23d, or ⁱ L. 13. penes me.

^b A. 10. penes me p. 55. Copie des premiers ordonnances et Institution des Chevaliers de l'Ordre de la tres noble Tboison d' or faict l'an mil. iiii. c. xxix.

^k Hist. of Ed. iii. p. 247.

^l Hicely's Dissertatio Epistolaris p. 52. & p. 34.

^m See these Writs in Rymer, vol. 5. p. 655. 658. see also another Writ about the Pestilence 1 Dec. 23. E. 3. p. 608.

“ St. George's Day, it cannot be thought that this great Solemnity of the “ Garter, to which all Foreigners were invited to come, should be held on “ that Day when the Parliament was prorogued, by Reason of the mortal “ Plague. The Doctor however allows (as he words it) that this famous “ Order might then be instituted, the Model of it contrived, and the Sta“ tutes made to adorn martial Virtue, and to increase and confirm Faith, “ Honour, and Courage in the Minds of the Nobility.

By my Computation Easter-day in 1349 was on Apr. 11, but that will not alter the Strength of the Doctor's Reasoning.

To proceed: There are several other Circumstances to be duly considered, before any Decision can be given with any Assurance.

Edward the Third ⁿ in his twenty-third Year on St. George's Day was at Westminster, having been at Langele the Day before, to which Place he returned again on the 24th of April, having on the 27th of December before been also at Westminster, and on the 2d of January at Mertonn, and returned to Westminster the next Day.

It should likewise be enquired, whether any Light may be gathered from the Persons of the first Companions of this Order; for if any of them died before the 23d Year, the Question must be then decided against Mr. Asmole: He indeed ^o saith, that Sir Tho. Wale made the first Vacancy by Death in the 26th of Ed. III, but I am ignorant on what Authority he grounds that Assertion, especially since he himself presents us with nothing of Sir Sanctet d'Abrigeourt lower than the 19th, or of Sir Richard Fitz Simon after the 22d of Edw. III; and 'tis some Degree of Probability that one Vacancy happened before the Death of Sir Thomas Wale in 26 Ed. III, because in the preceeding Year, there were only ^p Robes made for twenty-four Companions, and 'tis much to be lamented that the Names of these Knights are not specified in the Record.

I cannot find any Inquisitions taken after the Deaths of this Sir Sanctet, or Sir Richard, and Mr. Asmole is mistaken in placing the Death of Sir Hugh Courtenay in 40 Edw. III, as is plain by ^q inspecting the Escheat to which he refers to, and I have not as yet been able to trace him lower ^r than the 22d of that Reign.

Till the Times of the Deaths of these Persons shall be found, let us see if any of the First Companions received the Honour of Knighthood after the 18th Year; for if the original Statutes were of the same Tenour with the present Ones, that Degree must have been prior to their Elections.

'Tis then certain the Prince of Wales was s knighted in 20th of Ed. III, whereon the Writ for the Aid due a faire Fitz Chevalier issued. But if Mr. Barnes may be credited, this Prince when he was invested with the Dutchy of Cornwall in the 11th of Ed. III. made twenty new Knights, which implies, that that Order had been first conferred on himself; if so,

^d From the Dates of the Patents, &c. in the Tower.

^e Hist. of the Garter, p. 700.

^f Exit. Pellis Mich. 25 E. 3. Willmo Rofford nuper Clerico magne Curie barba in partem solutionis clt libratum pro factura viginti & quatuor roborum cum x clocc. poulr. cum Garterii broudit. 12 Standard. de worstede de armis ejusdem Regis, ritell. pro capella de Windsore, &c.

^g He quotes Esch. 48 E. 3. n. 7.

^r Exit. Pell. p. 22 E. 3. Hugoni de Courtenoy mil' in perfolucionem 38 libr. quas mutuo liberavit, &c.

^s Ypodigma Neustriae, p. 516. n. 50. See Rot. Parl. 20 E. 3. n. 45. and Rymer vol. 5. p. 527.

^t History of Edw. III. p. 113.

then this Writ might be with some View to the " Statute, which requires the Son to be fifteen Years of Age before that Aid shall be levied.

The ^a Sovereigns of Orders have in latter Ages dispensed with this Article, in relation to their Sons and nearest Relations: But then again, William Earl of Salisbury and ¹ Roger Lord Mortimer, two others of the first Companions received Knighthood at the same Time and Place with the Black Prince; so that the like Dispensations must have been necessary in their Cases also, unless we should suppose the Knighthoods then said to be conferred, were of the Degree of Bannerets, and thus Edmund of Langley received the ² Habits of this Order in 34 Edw. III. A. D. 1360, yet he was in 1369 knighted at the Siege of " Bordille in Spain.

It will be no Objection against Froissart's Narrative, that in this 18th Year some of the first Founders were under Age, for Knighthoods were then conferred on Persons during ^b their Minority; thus Charles de Valois at Bolonia in 1301, knighted Philip and Albert de gli Asmelli, one of twelve, the other of fourteen Years old, and Francis Bentivoglio then only thirteen. Alexander, Son of the King of Scotland, was knighted by our King ^c John when he was fourteen; Alexander, King of Scotland, when he was nine Years of Age, was ^d knighted by Hen. III. And if this Order was instituted in the 18th Year of Ed. III. the Prince was then about fourteen; as afterwards Richard his Son, King of England, was above ten Years old at his Installation; Henry, Son of Henry IV. was about twelve; Edward, Son of Edward IV. was elected into this Order when he was not five Years of Age, and at the same time his younger Brother was likewise elected. Arthur, Prince of Wales, was installed when under five Years. Thus Henry IV. of France, in 1601, gave the Ensigns of the Order of the Holy Ghost to Louis the Dauphin at his ^e Birth, and to the Duke of Orleans his second Son in 1607, which Practice hath been ever since observ'd by the succeeding Kings.

But if the Order was erected in the 18th Year, or rather during Christ-mas Holy-days in the 17th Year, then William Earl of Salisbury, the Father of this Person must have been the first Knight, for he was slain at these Juffs at Windfor in ^f January 1343, and his Son might succeed in his Stall.

Thus also the Duke of Lancaster, mentioned a Companion in these Statutes, said to be made in 23 Edw. III. was at that time only Earl of Derby; but if the Order was instituted in the 18th Year, the Founder might have been his Father the Earl of Lancaster, who died in the following Year.

These are my present Sentiments on this critical Point, which I leave as a Problem, 'till some farther Records shall be found, which may au-

^a W. An. l. c. 35.
^x Philip Duke of Burgundy, created his Son Companion of the Toison at his Baptism, Chifflet insigne. Eq. An. Vell. n. xxxiv. as also Philip le Bel his Son Charles. Vredii Sigilla Com. Fland. p. 142. & Chifflet n. cxiv.
^y MS. in Bibl. Bodl. K. 84. f. 116. a.
^z See el. 27. p. 42. Note.
^a Froiff. vol. l. c. 264, p. 335.

^b Menestrier de la Chevalerie. p. 134.
^c Scotichronicon, p. 735. edit. Hearn.
^d Ibid. p. 762.
^e Hist. des Chevaliers, Tom. 4. p. 185.
^f See Wever's Funeral Monuments, p. 437. Hollingh. p. 366, that he died of Bruises received in Tilt-ing at Windfor, but the E. Ch. 18 E. 3. n. 51. is positive that his Death was before the Purification of the blessed Virgin in the 17th Year.

thetically determine this Point: Your Lordship needed not that I should thus open this Case, which is entirely submitted to your Judgement, you being better qualified than any Person that I know to decide this Controversy.

I now crave Leave to resume the Explication of the several Parts of the Description of an Order of Knighthood laid down in the Beginning of this tedious Letter, with a View still to the Explaining some Particulars relating to the Garter.

The First was, That such a Military Society must consist of actual and real Knights regularly dubbed according to the Laws of Chivalry, which Qualification excludes from Orders all ^s voluntary Fraternities; for the Sake of St. George, I shall confine my self to two famous Guilds dedicated out of several others to his Patronage, That erected in Ireland by Act of ^b Parliament, for the Defence of the English Pale, which subsisted 'till it was dissolved by the like Authority in 10 Hen. VII. which however was no Order, since Knighthood was not required for an Admission into it; and for the same Reason the other instituted in ⁱ Franche Comté in 1485, was never placed in this Class of Orders, though it hath several Laws and Customs very analogous; as a peculiar Livery, Plates of Arms of the Brethren fixed in the Chapel of Rougemont, whose Controversies were to be determined by the general Body in a Chapter, and who were all obliged to wear the Image of St. George, and before their Admissions to prove their noble Descents, leurs quatre lignes and for whom Masses were celebrated after their Death, and their Hatchments offered with ceremonious Honour.

Statutes and ^k Rules are also absolutely necessary to constitute Military Orders, and as essential to them as the three Vows were to create Religious Ones. Hence all Fraternities of Arms entered into by private Contracts, though confirmed by Oaths, for mutual Protections in War, for Division of the Ranfome of Prisoners, &c. cannot be entituled to be Orders; some of which Associations are of very antient ^l Date, and others subsequent to the Erection of Orders, and the Usefulness of them might give some Hint to Princes to institute Military Orders in Form.

The Continuance of Successions is likewise required in an Order; hence the occasional Knighthoods of the Bath and of Bannerets being uncertain in their Numbers and arbitrary as to their Creations, are out of this Rank.

But my chief Design is to treat of the Livery-badge or Emblem, which is so very essential that it not only discriminates, but generally denominates the Order: And here, as to Badges, I am to premise my Opinion, That the Wearing them alone is not sufficient to constitute an Order, ^g See Meneitrier de la Chevalerie, ch. 8. Du Prelne's Gloss. voce Ordo fidei. Honore de S. Marie de la Chevalerie, p. 196.

^h See Sir John Davis of the true Causes why Ireland was never entirely subdued, p. 61, 64, and his Reports p. 11 b. and Sir James Ware's Antiq. Hibern. in the Reign of Hen. VII.

ⁱ Gollut de la Republique Sequanoise at large.

^k Miræus in his Preface to Orig. Equest. Ord. — quibus & certæ sunt leges, & unus idemq; est perfectus.

^l See Du Cange's Dissertation 21 on Joinville. Dugd. 1st vol. Baron. p. 450. Lobineau Hist. de Bretagne en preuves, p. 538, &c. between Thomas de Grandison and Spincho I. eus de Hasberge in 1244. Vinc. MS. n. 222. in Offic. Arm. page 104, &c.

which

which I the rather do, since I have great Reason to suppose that the Authors on this Subject have in too much haste placed the Collars or Devices given by Sovereigns as their particular Liveries, into the Classis or Range of Military Orders.

The antient Advice nor to be curious in foreign Republicks is before my Eyes, so that I shall only in the Margin mention some Englishmen, said to be Companions of foreign Orders, which Expressions upon a Text with this Definition of Orders, may be probably found to mean no more than that they had the Devices or Badges of foreign Sovereigns.

It might be a Disquisition to be pardoned, if the whole Compass of the Badges and Collars used or given by the Crown was enquired into, which would contain many Curiosities. The great Mr. Selden, and Mr. Ashmole, after their most diligent Searches, found little Instructions in this Article of Collars, I shall therefore be somewhat more full in this Particular, with an especial View however to our Order.

Favin asserts that our Hen. V. erected a new Order of Knights denominated S. S. from these Letters in the Collar, for which he quotes Juvenal de Ursins, whose Expression is, That Hen. V. declared all present in the famous Battle of Agincourt to be Gentlemen, giving them Permission to wear a Collar of the Letters S. of his Order.

This conferring of Gentility at this celebrated Victory was certainly only a verbal Concession, and therefore omitted out of our printed Historians; but this Method of Encouragement and Reward is fully intimated in the Words of a Writ which was in the fifth Year issued to the Sheriffs of this Kingdom, and allows the bearing Coats of Arms by those m Several Subjects of England have been Companions of foreign Orders, one of the Founders of the Collar in Sweary was of this Nation; many have been Knights of St. Michael, the valiant and advised Thomas Duke of Norfolk, whose Descentings Hen. VIII. knew not how to value, having never omitted any Thing thus concerned his own Honour and the King's Service (which is the Character justly given him by Sir Walter Raleigh) next of this Order, as was also his Grandson, and likewise Charles Brandon, See Camden ad A. D. 1568.

But the present Enquiry is of such who have received the Device, which by the Mistake of Writers, have been called Orders. The Writers on this Subject have mentioned an Order, said by them to be erected by Charles V. at Tunis in 1535, which they call the Burgundian Cross, and in a Church within the City of Norwich is this Inscription, "Here under lyeth the Corps of Peter Rede, Esq; who hath worthily served not only his Prince and Countrey, but also the Emperour Charles the fifth both at the Conquest of Barbara and the Siege of Tunis, but also in other Places, who had given him by the said Emperor for his valiant Deeds the Order of Barbara who died the twenty ninth Day of December in the year of our Lord God mcccclxxviii," and on his Arms are two Guntens sinister, the First the Burgundian Cross with the Steel or Fustil in the Middle, and in the Second Mercury, the Figure of the tenth Planetary Hour, at which Time the Emperour made his magnificent Entry into Tunis. But the Appellation of Esquire, here given him, shews, That this was no Knightly Order; for there are several Instances of the Subjects of this Kingdom knighted by this Emperour, who were allowed that Title in this Kingdom, which belonged of Right to them, as will appear in other Parts of this Discourse.

Mr. Lobineau en preuves de l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 627. hath obliged his Readers with a Catalogue of several Companions of the Order of the Ermine and Esqy, among whom he places the following Englishmen, William Rymalden in 1431, two Esquires of the Household of the Lord Scales 1431, an Esquire of the Lord Talbot a Coler of Silver 1433; James Aubourne a Coler of Esqy or Ear of Corn 1447; Oliver Huet, Lieutenant of the Captain of Vire 1447. It appears then that Esquires Menials to English Lords had this Badge, which seems to exclude it from the Classis of a Military Order, and if it had been really such, this Distinction might not have been an improper Complement to these Lords themselves, unless it should be supposed that the Lord Scales and Talbot would not accept it, being before that time Companions of the Garter, &c.

n Selden's Titles of Honour, p. 691, 692. Ashm. Hist. p. 224.

o Theatre d'honneur & de Chevalerie, l. 5. c. 2.

p Le Roy d'Angleterre exhorta ses gens, & leur commanda, que si aucuns avoient rancune les uns contre les autres, qu'ils se missent en paix & concorde, &c. En les exhortant a ctre bonnes gens a la Journee, & de fair bien leur devoir. Avec ce il accorda que tous ceux de sa Compagnie, qui n'estoient Nobles, il les ennobliroit, & leur en doneroit Lettres, & vouloit que delors ils jouissent de telles franchises comme les Nobles d'Angleterre, & afin qu'on les reconneust, il leur donna conge de porter un collier de lettres, S. de son Ordre.

q Rymer, vol. 9. p. 257. and in the Introduction to Gore's Catalogus Rei Heraldice; as also in Sandf. General. Hist. p. 283.

present at Agincourt, though they had no prescriptive Right or any [other] particular Grant thereof, that is, by any former written Instrument or Donation. But then it must be acknowledged that this Collar of S. S. was only the ' Ensign, and a Right incident to Gentility, or bearing Coat-Armour, and not (as the French Author supposes) a particular Order of Knighthood.

The Preface to the Black-book and Dr. Heylin, imagined a Collar was one of the Emblems of the Knights of the Garter, instituted by the Founder; but since there remain several Warrants to send the Habits thereof to Foreigners, wherein there is no mention of any Collar 'till about the Reign of Hen. VII. it may be justly questioned whether the Collar was any Symbol of the Order in these former Ages.

My late Friend / Mr. Rymer, for whose Memory I have a just Esteem, hath docketed or entituled an Instrument in 12 Hen. VI. De Colaribus liberaturæ Ordinis Garterij per Imperatorem in Consilio Basiliensi distribuendis, whereas the Minute of the Privy Council mentions only Collars de ordine et Liberaturæ Regis, of the King's Order and Livery.

This Inscription or Lemma, implies not only, that there were Collars at that Time belonging to the Knights of the Garter, as Part of the Ensigns, but that also these Collars of the Garter were distributed to other Persons that were not Companions of that Order.

It is beyond controverting that some ancient Knights of the Garter wore Collars, which (if I am not mistaken) were not any Symbol peculiar to this Order, but distinct from it as the Livery Badge, or Devise of the Crown, which Matter I am now to examine, and into the Fashion of these Collars.

Froissart ' then informs us, that the Earl of Ostrevant in 14 Rich. II. received the blue Garter, and the Devise of that King, Et la devise du Roy d' Angleterre. His Words in Strictness seem to imply, that this Devise (whatever it was) must have been separate and distinct from the Emblems of the Order.

A late * Jesuit hath determined this Devise to have been a Collar of the Letters S. S. which he saith were the Cyphers of the Countess of Salisbury, for whom, as he will have it, this Order was originally instituted; such a positive Averment without any Proof to support it will be of little Significancy, whatever Ingenuity or Acuteness may appear in the Conjecture at first Sight.

r Upton de milit. officio, p. 33. In Angliâ autem quando Dominus Rex aliquem nobilitat, solet unicum feodum, ut prædictum est, liberatam suam nobilitatio coadonare: Quæ liberata est unum Collarium cum literis S. de auro vel argento fabricatum, &c.

f Vol. 10. p. 576.

The Warrant from the Privy Council dated 14 Apr. 12 H. vi. pro sex Colar. auri, 24 argenti deaurati, et lx argenti de ordine et liberat. Regis destinatis Imperatori ad ea deliberand. inhabitantibus villæ Basili. et alijs militibus et Armigeris secundum discretionem dicti Imperatoris et Ambass. Regis ibidem existentium.

In the same Year we find more Collars sent to this same Emperor. Priv. Sigill. 19 Dic. 12 Hen. vi. — que vous facez delivrer cxxiii livres, que Johan Merson Gardein de hoz joiaix faut paier pour quatre vintz Colers d'or, d'argent dorrez, et d'argent, queux nous faut envoier a nostre trescher frere L'Empereur de Rome pour les donner a Countes Barons Chevaliers et Esquiers de sa pais, &c.

l. 4. c. xxii. p. 86.

* Menecrier de la Chevalerie p. 44. — qu'outre la Jartiere, il prit ce colier des S. d'or ou d'argent, qui estoient les Chiffes de la Comtesse de Salisbury, en faveur de qui cet ordre fut institue avec ces mots, hony soit, &c. Thus he indulging his Fancy in Ornaments of the Arms of the Crown was on occasion of this Order dedicated to St. George, whose Symbol was the Dragon, which will be shown to be also a Mistake.

Before I endeavour to settle the Figure or Fashion of this Devise, which I conceive was the White Hart hanging probably at a Collar of Broom-cods, I beg Leave, for the Affinity of the Subject to cite ^x Walsingham, who saith that Hen. V. invested the Emperor Sigismund with the Habit of the Order, and also "put about his Neck the Royal Sign, which the Emperor afterwards constantly wore in Publick and Private."

This Royal Sign was certainly a Collar, for this Emperor entred into Constance "wearing the Livery or Devise of our King, which was displeasing to the French, or as 'tis expressed by another. "The King of Rome entride the Cite of Constance with liverye of the Colar about his necke — and on Sonedaye the last daye of Januarie your Brother the King of Rome (as it is worded in a Letter to our King) werede the Gowne of the Gartere wyth your Coler openly ad the Hyze Messe." This Collar might in all Probability be different in Shape from the Devise given to the Earl of Ostrevant, both which I shall endeavour to explain.

But I take it not amiss to premise, that our Princes from the Reign at least of Rich. II. inclusive wore Collars, from which Badge an Officer of Arms took his Denomination, as the other Badges, Cognifances, or Devises of the Crown, gave likewise Titles to other such Officers, as ^b Faucon, Fleur de lis, Leopard, Blanch Sanglier, Eagle, Griffon, Leon d'or, &c.

Our Kings not only wore Collars themselves, but presented them (as we learn from our Records) to foreign Princes, Embassadors and Foreigners, ^x Ypodigma Neulfrizæ p. 192. et Hist. p. 441. honorans illic eum et tante fraternitatis titulo et Religionis illius nobili vestimento, signumque regale impopit collo suo, quod Imperator expost semper concessit in omni conventu publico et privato.

^y Rymer, vol. 9. p. 440, 441. a Letter from the Bishop of Durham — liberatum seu Devifam mendiifimi Regis nostri continue deferens, que in Gallorum oculis multum tadiofa et nociva confitit.

^z Ibid. p. 434, 435. a Letter to Hen. V. from one Forester.

^a Our Records mention this Purfevant from 15 Hen. 6. to 2 Hen. 7. inclusive, but it would be too foreign to inferi these Passages. It is also mentioned in the Cotton Library in Cleop. F. 5. p. 62.

^b Faucon is mentioned in several printed Books. Rymer, vol. 6. p. 417. Monfvelet vol. 1. c. 2. p. 5. Bertrand D'argenteo p. 125. Froiff. vol. 1. c. 202. c. 221, &c. ac meo nullo Fleur de lis created at Windsor, 13 Hen. vi. at St. George's Feast. Leopard in Rymer vol. 10. p. 505, 506, &c.

Collars for the King.

^c Exit Pell. Patch. 16 R. 2. Super fabricationem duorum Collarium et unius Nouché anti cum pery rubies balesy dyamantes et saphires ornatorum pro persona Regis 26 l. 17 s. 6 d.

^d Priv. Sig. 8 Sep. 4. H. iv. pur un Coler achate au temps de Noeques parentre nous et nostre tresame Campaigne la Roynie Sept Centz marcs, &c.

^e Priv. Sig. 7 Feb. 21 Eiv. Wherca Reynold Undecolt, Goldsmith hath delivered unto our Use a liell Colier of golde price fifty Shilling, a signet graven with our hood armes of England, price six pounds ten Shilling, a grete Coler of gold price twelve pounds, and also a Gar- ter of gold le price three pounds sixteen Shillings and eight pence, &c. We find mention made of the Kings rich Coliar called Pysan in several Records, and which upon extraordinary Occasions was frequently mortgaged. See Priv. Sigill. 20 Aug. 21. H. vi. &c.

^f Brevia Mich. 8. Hen. iv. The King recites that he had mortgaged to Lewis de Portico for 2500 Marks deux Colers d'or et une rubie, et diverses autres pierres pretieuses en memes les deux Colers esteantz, &c.

^g Foreign Princes. Lib. Comp. 8 H. iv. Domino Regis emptis et de mandato ipsius Regis Rogero Sylem militi liberatis ad deliberandum Duci Polan. et aliis extraneis de familia sua. 4 l. 4 s. 10 d.

^h Embassadors. Priv. Sigill. 2 March 18 E. iv. To a Goldsmith for a Coliar of Gold of the King; Liverye, bought of him by the King; Highness, and given to Stephen Van Kellham Ambassador of the Duke of Orlitch and Burgoin, &c.

ⁱ Lib. Comput. Mich. 7. H. 7. Johanni Bergans [Berghes] militi huper venienti a Rege Romanorum in valore unius Coleri de auro de liberata Regis.

^j Foreigners. That to the Duke of Quimbre will be hereafter inserted, 3 Febr. anno 6 [Hen. 6.] quod Westm. concordatum fuit quod fiat warrantum Theofaur. et Camerarii de faccar. de solvendo Johanni Comiti Oxon. xx. marc. per viam regardi pro un Coliar aureo, quod Dom. Rex sumpsit manibus propriis de ipso Comite, et dedit cuidam Jacobo de Balduanes de regno Felome militi. Signed by the prync Counsellors, and the prync Seal for this Payment callit un Coler d'or de nostre liverre.

^k Exit Pell. Mich. 8. H. 6. Joh. Merfion custodi Jocalium Regis 90 l. 16 s. 3 d. pro uno ciphro de auro et uno Colar. de auro datus Nicholas Meston militi reigners, as likewise to our own ^s Noblemen, to their Domesticks, their Favourites, the ^b Gentry, and even to ⁱ Ladies, and that either as Pledges of a stricter Amity, Tokens of Honour to be worn as Memorials, Rewards for Merit, or Symbols of immediate Service, and as a more especial Mark of Favour, these Collars were sometimes sent to ^k foreign Princes, to be distributed at their Discretion to Persons of noble Descent and Character. The Instances of each particular Assertion are in the Margin, to which may be added one Article of the Impeachment against the Duke of Suffolk in 28 Hen. VI., which shews these Liveries were worn as Badges of Alliance and Friendship, for that Duke is charged to have levied English Souldiers for the Dauphin to make War against your [that is the King's] Friends of Almayne — “ So that many Nobles of that “ Parties having your honourable Lyvere, departed from their good Will, &c.” But these Collars were not military Orders, or any Ensign of them, though sometime improperly stiled in Latin Instruments, de ordine Regis that is of his Livery, Sect, or Badge, for these were frequently given to Persons under the Degree of Knighthood, and these Collars were not only (as I presume) varied in their Figures by our Kings at least of different Lines, but were made of different Materials under the same King, according to the Distinction and Quality of the Person to whom they were presented, being often of Gold, enriched sometimes with precious militi cum Duce Savoie existenti; Et pro lxi Color. datus diversis militibus et Armeris post coronationem Domini Regis, &c.

Account of John Merton. A Heer Wolfstane Escuyer Seigneur de la pais d' Ostrieche del done du Roy ung Coler d'argent oue une Nouche d'or garniz d' une gros diamond pointe.

Priv. Sig. Hen. 6. fine data. pur un rhouche, deux Colers d' or, dys Colers d' argent par nous donnez a l' Estrangers d' Almayne seffiante et trois livres fys fouldz et oyt deniers.

Priv. Sig. 9 Oct. 31 Hen. 6. Forasmuche as Tho. Burneby by our Commandement delivered late a Coler of Silver of our Livere unto a Stranger, whom we at that time departed the same our Lyvere, which Coler was of the value iiii unc. &c.

Lib. Comp. Mich. 2 Hen. 7. Richardo Gifford militi pro corpore Regis pro pretio unius Colaris de auro per mandatum Regis cuidam extraneo de partibus Flandrie 17 l.

Rot. Parl. 28 H. 6. ar. 21.

g. Our Noblemen. The Earl of Oxford had been already mentioned.

Exit Pell. Fasc. 8 H. 6. Johan. Merton custodi Jocalium pro uno Collar de auro dato Comiti Devon 8. 13. 4.

The Lord Berkeley in his Will made 1417. gives to the Church of Kingewode, meum optimum Collarium de Liberata Regis. Reg. Chichele p. 1. f. 307 b.

b. Order of Council 23 Juill. 32 Hen. 6. at Westm. The King by th' avis of his Counsaill hold and graunted to his Right wraif and right entirely wellbelovéd Cousin the Duc of Yock protectour and defensor of England, that he shold have power and auctorite to give the King's livery of Colers to xxiiii gentlemen after his discretion, they and everich of them to be sworn to be a feed with no man but with the King without his special licence, and that therupon letters under the prive Seel and greet Seel be made in due forme.

London.	Salisbury.
Elief.	Bourghier.
Bathon.	P. Sancti Johannis.

i Ladies. Account of John Merton keeper of the Jewels 18 July 14 H. 6. a la Duchesse d' Turk un Coler d' or avec ung nouche garniz de iii Rub. iii Perl. et en une lieu d' une diamonde quarre donné autrefois au Roy par la Roine Katherine a Roen.

è. We find Collars twice sent to the Duke of Mantua.

Priv. Sigill. 8 Oct. 8. H. 6. a Simon Crema quarante livres, un hanap d' argent coverez a son oeps propre, comme trois Colers d' or, dont deux sont emblez oue blanc pur les faire delivrer au Sire de Mantua.

Exit Pell. M. 8. H. 6. Johanni Merton custodi Jocalium pro tribus Collariis de auro, quorum duo erant enamelata cum alb. deliberando Domino de Mantua.

In Rymer, vol. 10. p. 655. is a memorable Instrument, and the privy Seel, upon which it pass is existing: Henri &c. a l' onorable Pere en Dieu Levesqz de Bathe nostre Cham. eller Saluz. Comme par id report de nostre treschier et final Counsaillieur Johan. Sire de Scrope nous entenduz les grandes humanitez, honours, benevolences, et faveurs que le noble et puissant Prince nostre treschier et tresme Confit le Marques de Mantua nadgairs luy avoir faite en atant parmy ses terres et povuies a la Sepulture nostre Seigneur et retournant par youelles: Parquoy Nous volons faire chose a luy agreable : Et pur tant que par la dit report Nous eons aussi bien entenduz, que le dit Marques espesrialment desire d'avoir de Nous licence pur donner nostre Livere de Coler ou Devise as divers ses subgitz et auzs pur l'onneur de Nous, et pur avoir de Nous espesiale remembrance &c. Nous favourablement encline a son dit desire, luy avons donez licence de donner nos Liveres de Coler ou Devise a cyquant personnes, per ainsi q' ils soient nobles et de grand povuie et Sange &c. 19 Oct. 15 Hen. vi. in the ubite Tower, London.

The fourty Collars sent to the Emperour Sigifmond are mentioned above.

Stones; others were Silver gilt, and others Silver only, some of them seem to have been of Silk, and others of Stuff of Meaulx, many of them enamelled, and which is remarkable with divers Colours, as White and Green, White and Red, White and Black, of all which we have Instances in the Inventory of the Jewels that Hen. V. left at his Death.

I shall first examine the Form (as I guess) of that Devise of Rich. II. given to the Earl of Offrevant when he was invested with the Garter, and afterwards the Figure of the Royal Collar given to the Emperor Sigismund.

Among your Lordships most invaluable Collections, is a Picture of Rich. II. wherein he is represented in the Posture of Devotion, habited with a long Gown, with large Sleeves, which Robe is throughout embroidered with Broom Codds, Husks, or Shells placed in as circular a Manner as their Form and Figure would admit, and in the Center of each of these Circles is a [White] Hart couchant gorged with a Coronet; and this King hath about his Neck a Collar composed of the same Broom-codds, to which the like [White] Hart is appendant, and which is somewhat singular, the Angels in the same Picture have this Livrey of the Hart on their left Shoulders. That great Master Hollar hath published a curious Etching of it, which he dedicated to King Charles the First, with a Copy of Verses to explain the Contents of the Picture, but hath 1 Rot. Parl. 2 H. 6. n. 30 Inventory of the Jewels of H. 5. delivered to his Executors.

The Ribbe Collar valued 5162l. 13s. 4d.

Gold.

1 Cailer d'or refecue de Tho. Gloucester pois unce. iiii quart pris le unce xxiii d. xli. x d.

Guilt.

It. 46 Colers d'argent dorrez pris le pece x. xliii l. It x Colers d'argent dorrez de la lièvre du Roy le pec 3 s. 4 d.

Silver.

It. xliiii Colers d'argent blanc pris le pece vi. l. viii d. en tout iiii l. xii s. iiii d.
It xliiii Colers d'argent de la lièvre du Roy poifans ensemble iiii l. iiii unce demy.

Staff.

It. i Coler de tissu vert garniz d'or l' escripture Sauns departir pois de troie vi unce. iiii quart dount abatuz pur le tissu ii unce. iiii quart. pris l'unce xx s. iiii l. v s. l. v Colers d'or fait del Estuf de Meaulx pois xv unce. i quart. pris l'unce xxi s. viii d. xvi l. x. s. v d.

It. i Coler de soy noier garniz d'or pois vi unces dount abatuz pur le corps demy unce pris l'unce xxi s. viii d. xix s.

Different Colours.

It. i Coler de Noer garniz d'argent d'orre pois xi unce. demy dount abatuz pur le tissu ii unce. pris del unce xxxi d. en tout xxviii s. vi d. ob.

It. i Coler d' emaille blanc et vert pois de troie x unce. iiii quart. demy pris l'unce xxi s. xi l. viii s. iiii d.

It. i Coler dor fait d'un wrethe esmaille de vers et blanc pois iiii unces pris del unce xx s. lx s.

It. i grande Coler d'argent dorrez et enamez de blanc et rouge pois x unce. iiii quart.

It. ii Cheynes d'or overez d'atornes blanc et vert pois ensemble 26 unce. pris l'unce xx s. en tout 26 l.

Colours not mentioned.

It. i doseyn de Colers diverses sortes pois ensemble vii unce. pris l'unce ii s. vi d. xvii s. vi d.

in Serenissimo Potentissimo et excellentissimo. Principi Carolo Dei Gratia Magnae Britanniae Franciae & Hiberniae Regi fidei Defensori, Haec tabella Aqua forti secundum antiqua Originalia Coloribus depicta seri insculptas humillime dedicat consecratq; Wenceslaus Hollar Bohem. A. 1639.

Plantagenetorum Richardus Stripe secundus

Ortus hic est auro pulchrior ore nitens.

Huic adsunt bini Reges, Edmundus ab unda

Danica cui extracto tela tolere necem.

Annium Edmundus gestat Confessor, et alter

Baptista est episcopus (Christe Supreme) rous:

Dicitur hos Principes sibi delegasse patronos,

Devote votis et coluisse magis.

Cur Regi se siliquis torques contexta genitq;

Cognomen Regis Plantagenis fuit.

Pendulus est albus Cervus, cui colla Catena

Perq; quiescentis terga reducta ligat.

Regia cum fuerat mater pulcherrima cervam

Albam insigne tulit filius unde matrem.

Quod toga confertis aquilis (cervisq;) refulget,

Filia Wencellai Cesaris uxor erat.

Hæc Christum puerum cum virgine Matre tabella

Quem Rex suppliciter pronus adorat habet;

Ceu benedicturus digitos experigit infans

Annuit aa præcibus Rex qui sancte tuus. [core

Credo equidem, angelicus quid adest chorus ille de-

Vultu, cærulea vesteq; conspicitur.

Virtutes sis sex morales credimus illas

Conspectu quarum pulchris orbe nitit,

Signatae cervis pueri famulantur Jesu

Querentis Christum Regis in obsequia

Erigit una crucem Periculis Ordinis Arma

Edmundus quem Rex instituit avus.

Pingitur innumeris tellus et floribus herbis

Sob pedibus violas ista cernit rofæ:

Quippe ubi virtutes Christo præsentent morantur

Est ver perpetuum lætæq; curæla vident.

omitted

omitted to observe, that on the Reverse of the Original, there are the Arms of the Confessor as they are termed, empaling those of England, as also a White Hart couchant gorged, with a gold Coronet and Chain, which we find used as his Supporter in several Places in Westminster-Hall.

Here then we have the Devise of Rich. II. which I shall endeavour to explain, and shew that the same was given to the Earl of Ostrevant when he was invested with the Garter.

The Hart thus gorged was used by Charles VI King of France for his Devise, and likewise for the Supporters of his Arms, in or about the Year 1480, in Memory, as ^o Juvenal des Ursins gravely relates, of the Hart taken at Senlis, with a Chain about his Neck, inscribed Cæsar hoc mihi donavit; and our Writers would not bear the Reproach of coming behind a People, whom they had beaten by their Valour, in any other Particular, and therefore ran into the same romantick Humour about an ^o Hart taken at Bagshot near Windfor, and (as Legends encrease) with the Addition that Julius Cæsar gave the Collar, a convincing Argument of the Antiquity of the French Language. ^p Froissart ascribes the flying Hart (as he names it) to a Dream of this King. Legends are best answered by Legends, and these here recited are as credible, as that which ^q Du Bellai found in an old Chronicle, that a King of France after Dinner chased a Stag from Compiègne to Loudun, at the Distance of about 100 Leagues.

Certain it is, however, that Richard the II bore the White Hart for his Badge, and the Supporter of his Arms. And the Authority of this Picture will be amply confirmed by Records. He is said expressly to have first assumed it at the ^r Justs held in Smithfield, on Sunday next after Michaelmas Day, the 14th Year of his Reign, and several Authors describe him at this Solemnity with this Devise or Badge.

Now this Earl of Ostrevant came to these very Justs, and within a few Days afterwards was installed a Companion of the Garter, and also received the King's Devise, and the Conjecture that it was this White Hart is farther strengthened, in that we find in this very Year Henry, then Earl of Derby Knight of this Order [afterward Hen. IV.] ordered the Sleeves ⁿ Hist. de Ch. vi. p. 10. A. D. 1282 fut trouve un cerf qui avoit au col une chaisne de cuivre dore, et defendit qu'on ne le prit que au las, sans le tuer, et ainsi fut fait: Et trouva on qu'il avoit au col la dite chaisne ou avoit escrit Cæsar hoc mihi donavit. Et dessus le Roy de son mouvement porta en devise le Cerf volant couronne d'or au col, et par tout ou on mettoit ses armes y avoit deux Cerfs tenans ses armes d'un costé et d'autre. A French Author gravely thinking this could not be Julius Cæsar abuses his Leisure by an Enquiry which of the Emperors of Germany was in France that might give this Collar to this Hart.

^o Upton de re militari p. 159. with this Inscription

Julius Cæsar quantoque fuit petis Cest coler fuit mori col ad mys.

and thus the Family of Pompei in Italy use two Harts for their Supporters collar'd with the Letters N. M. T. in Memory of one taken, on whose Collar, at its side, were these Words Nemo Me tangat, Cæsar's sum. Menschtr. Ornem. des Arm. p. 118.

^p Vol. 2. p. 176.

^q Prologue to his Ogdoades.

^r Tiberius C. 9. in bibl. Cotton. Historia Rich. 2. per Monachum Evesham p. 25 l. 12 Octobris Rex tenuit suam magnam Curiam in Episcopatu London, et apud Smithfeld hallitulia grandia, ad quam Curiam venerunt extranei de Francia, de Selandia, de Alenmania, et de aliis partibus docentes secum equos optimos, et arma pertinencia, ubi datum erat primo signum vel stigma illud egregium cum corvo albo cum corona et caudæ aurea. Et ad demonstrandum suam regiam excellentiam extraneis prædictis tenuit Rex festum S. Edwardi apud Kensington, solenniter sedens in regalibus tam ad missam coronatus, similiter et Regina: Cui solennitati Comes de Sancto Paulo cum uxore sua, quæ fuit soror Regis Angliæ, et Comes de Ostrevant, qui tunc effectus est miles de Caribur imeterat.

However this may be, We find that this King had Jewels ala guise de Cerfs blancs which he mortgaged in his ninth Year. Rymer, vol. 7. p. 359.

^s Letlands Collectan. per Hearne, p. 482. vol. 2. White Harts with chains of Gold the Kings Lyvery at the Justs when the Earl of Ostrevant was here.

Ibidem p. 312.

of his Coat to be embroidered with 'Harts of the King's Livery, and his Father John of Gaunt in his Will ^a gives to his Daughter the Queen of Portugal mon second meilleur Cerf d'or, and the Dutchess of Tork whose Will was proved in January, 1392. devises to the King ^x mon Cerf de Perle. I would add hereto because it hath some Reference to the Order, that Rich. II. in his 22d Year had a ^y Belt and Sheath of a Sword embroidered with White Harts, to be hung up under his Helmet at Windsor, whereas there were no such ^z Harts embroidered on that hung up in his 13th Year, which was probably before he took that Symbol.

But this White Hart was not appropriated to be an Emblem of our Order, because the same was given by this King, not only to his own Subjects, but to Foreigners, and even to ⁴ Ladies, who were not of this Order. And the Historians observe, that several Persons after his Abdication wore this Devise as ^b Proofs of their Adherence to his Interest, and we find that afterwards ^c Ed. IV. reassumed the Hart crowned and chained: And that the Duke of Bretagne in 1445, took ^d flying Harts for his Devise.

^e Then as to the Broom-codds, for such they are, and not Peascods, (as Mr Sandford supposed, being misled probably by ^f Mr Camden), which are engraven upon the Robe of his Effigies on his Monument; and by the Way this Tombe is of great Authority, because it was erected by ^g himself in his Life Time, which extricates some Doubts that have been made touching the Inscription on it.

^a Comp. Willi. Lovency clerici magn. Garder. Dom. Hen. Lancastrie Com. Verb. 14 Ric. ii. pro brouder. daturum manicarum de velvet rub. et i par. plates ejusdem secte cum cervis de liberata Regis. xl. s. In altero comp. de anno 20 Ric. ii. pro furrua cervi auri pro Domino et pro positione des Baleyis inter cornua ejusdem, et alterius Baleyis in pectore ejusdem. &c.

^b 7. Febr. 1397. in Registro Hen. Beaufort Episcopi Lincoln.

^c Lib. Rous in Cur. Prærog. Cant.

^d Comput. Joh. Macclesfield Custodis magna Garderobæ a festo Mich. anno 22 Ric. ii. penes Remem. Regis. Super broudatur. unius vaginæ et zonæ pro uno gladio Dom. Regis operat. Super velvet rub. cum Cervis Albis ad pendend. subter Guleam Regis in capella de Wyndesor xxx. s. vi. d.

^e Lib. Cotom. in Officio Garder. p. 156 b. ad broudatur. unius vaginæ et unius zonæ de velvet rub. cum literis de auro, de Cyp. et serico pro uno gladio contra festum S. Georgii, &c.

^f Exit. Pell. Mich. 21 R. 2. pro viii cervis argenti de liberata Regis traditis et deliberatis viii Scutiferis de novo penes Dominum Regem retentis de Liberata prædicta &c.

^g Claus. 21 R. 2. Quod omnes et singuli Magnates, Milites, Armigeri et alii Generosi liberatum nostram de Ceruo gerentes, &c. Rymer, vol. 8. p. 13.

Exit Pell. Mich. 22 R. 2. Hillario Militi fratri Imperatoris Constantinopolitani venienti usq; in Angliam Rex liberate mandavit de dono suo in pretio unius Cervi cum certis Margaritis ornati de liberata dicti Domini Regis 8 l.

We have a privy Seal of this King without the Date of the Year of his Reign, which grants to several foreign Ladies, Knights, and Esquires Liberty to wear his Livery of the Hart according to their several Degrees and according to the Custome in this Kingdom. Treveler et bien ame Saviour faisons, que à l'instance et Supplication de vous, Nous avons octroyé, et par ces presents octroyons à les Dames Chivalers et Esquires defouz nommez coughte de porter et user nostre Livere du Cerf, chescun selonc son Estat, par maniere et selonc ce, come y eff usez deinz nostre Royaume d' Angleterre, Cest a scavoir a Dame Blanche Zenteler, Dame Aldone de Quexall, Dame Beatrix de Sciapin, Dame Castellani de Vilanova, Dame Macciximenez Selia, Dame Danijara de Blaves, Dame Nabel Duze, Dame Blanc Daries, Dame Yolai de Valterra et Adonca, Dame Johanna de Cathar, Agnes de Blaves, et a Dame Johanna de Castellon. A Gilbert Zenteler Baro de Zenteler, Baro Gilabert de Praxida, Baro Thomas de Praxida, Baro Rodrigo diez Maridorez, Rimo de Blaves, Guilem de Gariella, Johan Falva, Loys de Castellia, Alfonso Suarez, Jamme Daries, Jamme Castellia, et a Jamme Despignes Chivaler. A Johan, Gasto, Johan, Castellia, Frances Castellia, Vidal de Blaves, Johan, Munyoz, Perez Zelinella, Perez Codinat, Perez de Ualterra, Bernard de Velarig et a Jofre de Velarig Esquiers Donne fouz nostre prive Seal a nostre Paloy de Westminster le seconde jour de Juyl.

^b Walsingham ad A. D. 1404. Comitissa Oxon fecit fabricari cervos argenteos et auratos plurimos (signa videlicet que Rex Richardus conferre solebat suis militibus scutiferis et amicis) ut his vice Regis distributis facilius allicerentur in vota sua milites &c. and Henry Hotspur gave to his Souldiers the White Hart the Cognisance of Rich. 2. Leland Collect. p. 388.

^c Lelands Collect. per Heorne p. 619. and Mr. Sandford in his Genealogical Hist. p. 404. takes notice of his several Badges which are depicted in the Huse of one of the Prebendaries of Westminster, among which is a White Hart attired accoled with a Crown and chained or on a Mount Vert, and over it a Scrole, Ex Rege Ricardo.

^d Lobineau preuves de Hist. de Bretagne, p. 1113.

^e General Hist. p. 191.

^f Remains, p. 215.

^g Rymer, vol. 2. p. 795. 797.

Hollar's Verses intimate these Broomcodd's were taken in Allusion to the Sobriquet of Plantagenet, which he conceives was the Surname of our Kings, who in Truth like those of France, and other ancient Monarchs, had no peculiar Ones; and even Rich. II. was before his Accession to the Throne, and after his Abdication, stiled of Burdeaux the Place of his Nativity, which was the most customary Method of denominating the Children of the Crown. I shall postpone the Proofs of this Matter, 'till I consider the Case of Arthur Plantagenet Knight of this Order.

It is certain that our Kings were very jealous of their Title to the Crown of France, and as Edw. III. took the Arms thereof in the first Quarter, being then semée of Fleurs de lis, so when the King of France reduced them to Three, the same Method was observed here. And it may be conjectured that Rich. II. might have practised the same, not only with Regard to the White Hart, which had been taken as the Badge of that Crown, but also with Reference to the Broomcodd's, which Upton, who was present at the Siege of Orleans in 1428, tells us was in his Time the ^b Devise or Signum of that Crown. Their ancient Authors say the same was anciently an Order called Cosse de Geneffe, and ⁱ Menestrier informs us that he had seen the Picture of Charles VI. and behind him his Herald, who had about his Neck the Collar of " du Geneff de deux Cordons, tortillez, l'un blanc & l'autre vert, d'ou pendent deux Gouffes de Geneff, l'une blanche, et l'autre Vert." And which is very remarkable we find that this King in 1393, sent to ^k Rich. II. and to the Dukes of Lancaster, Gloucester, and Tork his Collar with the Broomcodd's in it, but as yet I do not suppose our King used this Collar in Memory of this Present, not only because he placed the Broomcodd's on the ^l Habits of the Queen, but because his Successors Hen. V. and Hen. VI. used the same ^m Badge on several Occasions; and I am induced to believe that the above-

^b de militari Offic. p. 33. Rex autem Francie clat pro suo signo vis liberata unum collarium factum de siliquis Geneffs de auro similiter vel argento, &c.

ⁱ Art du Blason. p. 97.

^k Registre de la Chambre des Comptes à Paris de 10 Sept. 1393. a Jean Comper Orfevre pour quatre autres Colliers d'or, l'un parit au Collier du Roy, pout le Roy d' Angleterre; cest a sçavoir iceluy Collier fait en facon de deux gros tuyaux ronds, et entre iceux tuyaux Cosse de Geneffe doubles entretenant par les queues, et autour d'icelluy sur les cosses fait neuf potences, autour chacune de neuf grosses perles, et l'enre deux d'icelles potences autour du dit Collier a Cinqante lettres d'or pendant a l'un d'iceux tuyaux, qui sont par dix fois le mot du Roy JAMES; et au devant d'iceluy Collier, a un gros balay quatre, environne de huit grosses perles, parcelles aux perles du Collier du Roy, et au derrière a deux cosses en forme de couffie de geneffe, ouvertes emailles, l'une de blanche l'autre de vert, et a dedans chacune d'icelles cosses trois grosses perles, et les dits tuyaux poinfonnez de branches fleurs et cosses de Geneffe. Et les trois autres Colliers, l'un pour le Duc de Lancastre, l'autre pour le Duc de Gloucestre, et l'autre pour le Duc d' Thors semblables a celui ci, a quelques perles un peu moins fortes, pource, pour tout 820.

Franks 3 s. 4 deniers. Hist. des Ordres Religieux vol. 8. p. 278.

^l Comp. Job. Macclesfield Custodis magnæ Garderob. anno 22 Rich. 2. pro broadatur. ii gown. long, cum manicis larg. una de panno sanguin. in grano, et altera di Blanket long. operat. in brouder. cum frondibus de Rosemary et Geneffre de auro de Cijro et serico pro dom. Regina contra festum Natalis Domini ad broadatur. ii gown.

^m In the Account of the Jewels left by Hen. V. Coler d'or de Broomcodd's avec i Saph. et ii perles pris vi s. viii d. pois. xxxvii d. dount abatez v d. de pois, pris del unce xxiii s. iiiii d. en tout xliiii s. Item i Coler d'or de Broomcodd's pois de trois vi unces. pris l'unce xxiii s. iiiii d. viii l. xv s. Pat. 1 H. 6. p. 5. m. 4. et Rot. Parl. 2 H. 6. n. 32.

ⁿ As to Hen. VI. We find a Gold Collar of S. and Broomcodd's made for him. The Warrant hath several Caricatures, and therefore is inserted at Length.

^o Henri &c. et Trez. &c. Pource que nostre ame servante Yban. Merlion ad delivrez &c. parcelles dessous escriptes &c. cessavoit pour dys Coliers d'argent enorrez de nostre livere achate de diverses gentz de nostre Citee de Londres pour chacun coler douze soulz, et pour wyngt & svs colers d'argent pour chacun coler svs soulz & oyt deniers; lesqueux Coliers keuyent donez en nostre present par abovementioned Collars of Hen. V. enamelled White and Green, were of this Livery of the Broomcodds, which might be probably taken by our Kings in their own Rights as Kings of France. We find that the Queen of Hen. IV. gave to her Son the Duke of Bretagne for New Years Gift, 1410. un "fromaillet en saccon de Couronne à gosses de Geneff.

Having mentioned this Present of the Broom-Collar, by this King of France to our King Rich. II. I crave Leave for the Affinity of the Matter, to observe that it was an usual Complement before that Time, for Princes to present each other also their Liveries yearly, and which was practiced even as low as the Reign of Hen. VIII. which Liveries had no Relation at all to any military Orders.

I come now to the Form of the Collar given by Hen. V. to the Emperor Sigismond at the same Time when he was created Knight of the Garter. The wearing the White Hart being the Proof of an Adherence to Rich. II. after his Abdication, seems to intimate, that his Successor Hen. IV. had a Devise of a different Form, otherwise the Continuance of the same Emblem would have made no Discrimination. That his Livery was a Collar, is plain in that Sir Walter Hungerford is called "Miles noster de liberatâ nostrâ vocata Colere, quâ utebatur pretes viginti li- par nostre tresch. Uncle de Glouceire a nostre manoir de Eatham le 24 jour de Novembre d'icell' an p'fect ax diversis Chiers et Esquiers de nostre tresame Cousin le Duc de Bedford, et aussi qu'il ad payer a deux Fourchevins de meisme le Duc a jour de partir de nostre don. Or. s'ellente & d'ys foulds & oyt deniers. Et a Rikiri Torvaldis Et user nous presentant a nostre manoir de Eatham oves que les Estrains a nous donnez par nostre treshonneur Dame & Miere le premier jour de Jan par commandement du Seneschal de nostre houteil & de nostre bien ame la Dame de Beaufort 40 foulds, et a Estephen Nasfeld Esquier nous presentant ovesq; les Estrains a nous donnez par nostre tresame Uncle le Duc de Bedford le premier jour de Jan par Commandement des Seneschal & Dame 66 foulds & oyt deniers. Et a Jehan Stouley Esquier nous presentant ovesq; les Estrains a nous donnees le dit premier jour de Jan par nostre tresch. Uncle le Duc de Glouceire par Commandement des ditz Seneschal & Dame 40 foulds. Et a les bernaides pour lent regard le dit premier jour de Jan par commandement de les ditz Seneschal & Dame Cent foulds. Et a noz ministres pour leur regard a icel feste paie meisme le jour 66 Soulds & oyt deniers Et a Jakke Travail & ses Compaignons gentz de London, qui furent en nostre houteil par tout la feste de Noel pour faire et jouer divers entredans devant nous a nostre manoir de Eatham a livres. Et a quatre Enfants faisant autres Entredus apres la dite feste de Noel par Commandement de nostre Cousin Jehan 12 s. 4 d. Et a trois gentz de la tres noble *P*rocurerie la Roynie J-dame ames nantez ovesque eulx une char ovesq; les chivalx pour carier les gentiles femes de nostre houteil de nostre houteil de Wyndesore jusques a nostre ville de Lecestre 26 s. & 8 d. Et pour diverses noz offrandes entre les festes de Noel & de Pasq; par deux fois en nostre Chapelle de Saint George a Wyndesore 12 s. 4 d. Et le jour de Chandelur 32 s. 4 d. Et pour une eboine d'or a la quelle pendoit une peice d'uncorne et une peice de serpentine pour mettre en nostre bouire 19 s. 6 d. Et a deux hommes de l'abbé de Clouesey ames nantez sept chivalx de la duce abbat pour carier les dites gentiles femmes de nostre houteil de nostre manoir de Eatham jusque a Wyndesore 12 s. 4 d. Et pour nostre Mante laire le jour de la Cene de nostre Sr. paie et donne a treinte & trois pour hommes par Commandement de vous nostre dit Tresorier, assavoir a chacun de eux 2 s. et 9 d. Et pour nostre offrande le jour de Lafrencon par Commandement de vous nostre dit Tresorier 6 s. 8 d. Et que a Jehan Bayng Officier de London sont dues pour un Cher fait de S. & Bronnesdais pour nous meisme, poissant deux unces et demy & trois deniers d'or, price l'once de 26 s. 3 d. s'ellente & noef foulds quatre deniers mail et s'elnyng, et pour l'ouvrage d'icel 30 s. 8 d. don sous nostre prive Seal a Wolm le xxvi jour de Juill lan de nostre regne quart. [4 H. 6.]

Compar. Rob. Rolleston custod. magni Garderob. a vigilia S. Mich. anno 17 H. 6. — pro opere et broderatur. vii gown. pain. violet in grano per ambas manicas cum flor. de opere damate. et Ranis de Bronze, et Dieu et mouin droyt operat. cum serico et argent. cipt. &c.

V Henenim ad v gown. fact de panno ruffet jgg. cum lrip. et rotul. de panno. nigro. Stuff. cum flokks. embrodant. in quilibet manica cum iii flor. de opere Jamafcan. et cum Ranis de Bronze, et Dieu et mouin droyt. &c.

Of the 11 of Hen. 6. see Alum. Hist. p. 575. Comp. Garder. 19 H. 6. x hexz. pro x gown fact de panno. viridi embrod. per ambas manicas et ferul. cum longis ramis de Brome tort. et simul nodul. in diversis locis et isto dictamine diei et mou droyt. &c. contra festum S. Georgii.

u Lobineu preves de Hist. de Bretagne, p. 921. e Exit. Pell. M. 26. E. 3. cuidam valerio Regis France portanti per annum Domino Regi pro una Roba de liberata Regis France ante festum Natalis Domini prox' futur' 6. 13 4.

Exit. Pell. M. 40. E. 3. cuidam valerio Regis France portanti Domino Regi Anglie Liberaam ipsius Regis France contra festum Natalis Domini proxime prateritum de dono Regis 66 s. 8 d.

In the View of the standing Wardrobe made 12 H. 8. in Calisy of Sir Robert Wortley Bart. it appears that King Jean Robert gave to the Emperor and to the King of France, and received the like from them, which by the Description of them therein contained did not relate to any knightly Orders.

p Rymer, vol. 8. p. 165.

« bratum,

“brarum, &c.” And no Inconsistency appears in supposing he might after his Accession to the Throne, continue the Collar in the same Form which he had used for his own Badge while he had been Duke of Lancaster; of which Title he was very ⁹ fond, and this seems to have been made of the Letters S. S. which was doubtless continued by his Son and Grandson, as their principal and chief Emblem, and the Collar given to this Emperor may be thought to have been of this Fashion, because the like still remains on the Effigies of some ^r Knights of the Garter who dyed under the Reign of the Lancastrian Line.

In a Manuscript Historical-Poem of the famous ^s John Gorwer, about the Life of Rich. II. the Nobility are there described under the eleventh Year of his Reign, by the Names of their Badges only, as the Duke of Gloucester by the Swan, the Earl of Arundel by the Horse, the Earl of Warwick by the Bear, the Earl Marshal by the Ostrich-feather crowned, the Earl of Northumberland by the Crescent, the Earl of Oxford by the Boar, and then follows this hobling Verse, which he himself in the Margin explains to denote Henry then Earl of Derby, afterwards Hen. IV.

Qui gerit S. tandem turmam comitatur eandem.

Hence it appears that he bore the Cognisance of S, and we have a Record to ascertain it; for in 15 Rich. II. a Payment is made for a ^g gold Collar made for him with seventeen Letters of S, and another ^a made with Esces and the Flowers of Sovereigne vous de moy. It might be esteemed a very precarious Conjecture to guess, That the Repetition of the Letter S, took its Rise from the initial Letter of this Motto or Sentence, though possibly 'tis on as good a Foundation as the common Derivation of it from ^x Sanctus Simplicius, a canonized Lawyer, scarce to be found in our Kalendars. We find indeed that Rich. II. himself had a Gown made in his fourteenth Year, whereon this ^r Motto was embroidered, to be used at the famous Tilt in Smithfield.

But this Earl of Derby not only wore himself this Collar of S S, but gave the same Livery to his ^x Esquires, and no doubt the same was the Badge of his Domesticks and Retainers; and it will be needless here to ^q For which Purpose he got an Act of Parliament to prevent the merging of that Duchy in the Crown. See Camden, Britan. He also ordered that the Sword which he wore at his coming to Holdernets should be born on solemn Occasions, and ever to be called Lancaster Sword. Rymer, vol. 8. p. 95. He likewise instituted a King of Arms by this Title, &c. and in his Affiancing the Queen Relict of the D. of Bretagne, bestites himself Henry of Lancaster, Lobineau en preuves de l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 876.

^r See Sandford's General. Hist. p. 310. Of the Duke of Clarence, and of John Beaufort Earl of Somerset. and p. 328. of another Earl of Somerset, &c.

^s Tiberius A. 4. in Bibl. Cotton. p. 153. Sunt Oler, Ursus, Equus, stat eorum quilibet eque, &c. Penna coronata tribus hiis fuit associata, Qui gerit S. tandem turmam comitatur eandem, &c. Hac sub fortuna præfens Aquilonica luna, &c. Quærit Apr. latebras fraudes mortisq; tenebras, &c.

^t Comp. Willm'i Loveneij Clerici Magnæ Garderobæ Domini Henrici Lancastriæ Comitis, &c. anno 15. Rich. II. pro i coler auri facti pro Domino cum xvii literis de S. ad modum plum. cum rotulis & Scriptur. in eisdem cum Sign. in forest. ejusd.

^u Comput. Garderobæ Henr. de Lancastri Com. Derb. 20 R. II. pro pondere unius Colerij facti cum Elles de Floribus de Sovereigne vous de moy penden & anaili ponderis viii unc. In Officio Ducatus Lancastriæ.

^x Aſton. Hist. p. 224.

^y Lib. Cotom. in Garderob. p. 157.

^z Comput. Magnæ Garderobæ Henrici Lancastriæ Com. Derb. 20 R. II. pro pondet. argenti unius Colerij facti cum Elles rollati & dati Roberto de Winton eo quod Dominus dederat colerium ipsius Roberti alio Armigero ponder. v. unc. xviii d. ob. prec. ii s. v. d. xiiii s. iiii ob. In dicto Officio.

prove, that it was the Practice of the Nobility heretofore to give their Cognizances for such Purposes: I will therefore only observe, that I take the Swan which now hangs at the End of the Collar on the Effigies of our Author John Gower, in St. Mary Overies Church, to imply his Service to the Duke of Gloucester, whom ^a he takes all Occasions to extol; and that several Knights of the Garter have had Officers of Arms by the Titles of their Devices, as the ^b Lord Dudley had Leop d'Or; the Duke of Clarence, Noir Tavren; the Duke of Gloucester, Blanch Sanglier; the Earl of Dorset, Cadran; the Duke of Norfolk, Blanch Lyon; and Sir Charles Brandon Duke of Suffolk, Merlion de Aye, &c.

John of Gaunt, the Father of this Earl of Derby, placed on a Saltfeller the Garter, with a ^c Collar worked about it; but I must confess I have not been able as yet to ascertain the Make and Fashion thereof; neither have I any positive Proof from any Record that Hen. V. used the Collar of S. S. The Covering of Silver upon his Effigies on his Tomb, and the Regalia of Silver which were there repositied, being long since sacrilegiously stol'n; but because Hen. VI. used the same Collar as his Grandfather, 'tis not incongruous to believe the same was transmitted down to him by his Father. Now Upton is very exprest that this was the Form of his ^d Badge; and we find a "Coller of golde of Esses of this King's" "livery was yeven to my Lord of Gloucestre for his zeresyvisi" [New-Years Gift], who was at that time Knight of this Order, and I cannot conceive this was given him never to be worn, and that it ought not to be esteemed parallel to a Legacy made by a Nobleman of the Habits of his Degree to his Servant, which the Civil Law hath interpreted to be Non ad ornandum, sed ad ditandum.

Here I cannot omit to observe, that we find in the Account of the Keeper of the Jewels of the Duke of Bretagne from 1414 to 1424, a Collar of twenty-six S. S. of the Order (that is Livery) of the King of England enamelled, with the Words A M A V I E, which is the Motto of the Order (as 'tis called) of the Ermine in that Dutchy.

It may be objected against these Suppositions, that the Collar of S. S. was about the Neck of the Effigies of Sir Simon de Burly, Knight of the Garter, beheaded in the Time of Richard II. The same appears very faintly in the Type of it in § Dugdale, which can only extend to prove, that this might be the Figure of the Collar till that Year when his Attainder happened, which too must have been altered by the same Prince into another

^a Mr. Selden in his Titles of Honour, p. 692, hath crevilled the Mistake of those who supposed, from the Collar that he was a Knight. His Praefes of the Duke of Gloucester, under the Badge of the Swan, run thro' his Works. He ends his first Book in Tiberius A. 4. In Christi signo sit semper Gloria Cigno, &c. And we find that this Duke gave to the Abbey of St. Albans, monile aureum circulare in cuius medio Cignus albus alis quasi ad volandum expansis. Nero D. 7. in Bibli. Cotton.

^b Leon d'Or mentioned in a Privy Seal, 24 H. VI. Noir Tavren in W. C. in Off. Arm. p. 16. Blanch Sanglier, ibid. compared with M. 14. Cadran, Privy Seal, 25 Nov. 19 H. VI. Blanch Lyon, M. 6. in Off. Arm. p. 6. Pat. 29 H. VIII. p. 2. m. 40. Merlion de Aye in MS. Job. Hare nupet Richmond.

^c Testam. Job. Ducis Lancast. in Registro Hen. Beaufort Episc. Lincoln. — a ma tresredoute Neveu le Roy mon Saier d'Or oveque le Garin, & le Collet overez entour le Saier.

^d De Milit. Offic. p. 33. In Anglia autem quando Dominus Rex aliquem nobilitat solet unacum feodo, ut praedictum est, liberatam suam nobilitate condonare. Quae liberata est unum collarium cum literis S. de auro vel argento fabricatum, &c.

^e Rot. Strenarum, 18 H. VI.

^f Lobineau Preuves de l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 921. Un Collier a S. S. de l'Ordre du Roy d'Angleterre & y a xxvi S. S. qui sont emaillees du Mot A Ma Vie, & ii bars es deux bouts, garny d'un balay & poise i m. 10. xvii. c. ob.

^g In the History of St. Paul's Cathedral.

Form: But then it is to be enquired at what Time this Monument for Sir Simon was originally erected, for it might be after the Reversal of his Attainder under another^s Reign, when the Crown might have assumed a Collar in another Shape: Though if it was erected soon after his Death, why might not Barly be represented even in the Reign of Rich. II with the Badge of this Earl of Derby, who had used his utmost Interest to save his Life?

And 'tis some Sort of Presumption that the Collar of the Emperor might be of the Letters S. S., in that such Collars are represented on the Monuments of several Knights of the Garter who died in the Reigns of Hen. V. and Hen. VI. though these Collars might not be any Part of the Ensigns of the Order, or any Ways appropriate to it, but wholly distinct and separate; for the like Collars of S. S. are found on the Effigies of several Persons who died during these Reigns, that were not Companions of the Garter, which may be seen in several Churches.

And here I would remark, that I am informed, the Pourtraiture of Sir Robert Harcourt, Knight of this Order, under the Reign of Ed. IV. remains in the Church of Stanton-Harcourt, exhibiting him with a Collar of Roses, to which a white Lyon is appendant, with his Tail passed between his hinder Legs and turned over his Back; The white Rose was the Badge of the House of Tork, taken from the Castle of (1) Clifford, or from the Family of (2) Mortimer, wherewith the (3) Seals of the Dukes of Tork are embellished, and Ed. IV. calls it his (4) Devise, who is said to have erected a Pursivant by the Title of (5) Blanch Rose, that attended at his (6) Funeral; and the white Lion was the Badge doubtless of the Earldom of Marche born by Ed. IV. (to whom this noble Knight inviolably adhered to the Loss of his own Life;) whence we find this King had likewise a (7) Pursivant stiled Blanch Lion: So that it may be guessed, the Image of St. George was not at that Time an Emblem of this Order, worn by the Companions at their Breasts, and that Ed. IV. did give a Collar distinct from the Kings of the Lancastrian Race.

But to confirm this Hypothesis of the Collar's being no Ornament essential to this Order in former Ages, I must beg Pardon now to quote a Book freight with such dull Conceits and far-fetch'd Mysteries and Extravagancies, as^m Dr. Heylin professes he never met with such a Piece of Stuff. But notwithstanding this Abatement to its Character, which relates to the allegorical mystical Explanations of the Meaning of the Habits of this Order; yet this Treatise being wrote under^o the Reign of Hen. VI. and by a Stranger, a Monk of Cluny, who came hither with Credentials and a Deputation to that King, and since Foreigners have been always more curious than Natives in describing the Particularities of Habits, it may be allowable for that Reason, and more especially because the learned Abbot of St. Alban's, John Wethamstead, (to whom it was sent, and to whose Corrections it was submitted, and who must be ⁿ Parl. 2 H. IV. Art. 19.

ⁱ Walsingham ad A. D. 1288, p. 265.

^k See Sandr. Gen. History, p. 310. Tomb of the Duke of Clarence p. 277, of the Duke of Somerset, &c.

(1) Dominus in Bibl. Cott. A. 9. n. 22.

(2) M. Athyn in Mat. n. 1121. p. 276.

(3) Sandr. Chron. H. 7. p. 285, 286, 407.

(4) Parl. 1 E. 4. p. 2. m. 6. Quod Franciscus de Compunctis Intermentibus, Papa legatus, & Nepotes ejus in Franciam perire Artibus iniquis suorum pollutis delictis contra Regem alban videretur Devoti Regis.

(5) Centur. 10. 3. in Off. Arce. p. 16. M. S. Wood in Mus. Athyn. n. 32. p. 22.

(6) Record de Richaort Clere. M. Nark in Coll. Arm.

^l Domit. A. 9. Bibl. Cottou n. 2. Sandr. Gen. Hist. p. 203, &c.

(7) Collect. reg. Rymer 21 E. 4.

^m History of St. George, p. 249.

ⁿ Acta Thomae Winton. de Abbacia Sancti Albani in Off. Amotum. Litera Mundi Beuvale Tiscologorum munitum ad illud Abbatem. Transmissio votis omniu brevium tractatum, quem hic edidit, non pro Clerico, sed pro Ordine tenentium Dom. Regis, & suorum Nobilium, illos in illo molliu intere tenentium, qui nec unum librum possideo; conscriptis ita libet ignoratum meum. Vide Præterit. Apollol. Benedictinum in Appendix, n. 1331. sub A. D. 1457.

well acquainted with the Emblems and Ornaments of this Order) returned him Thanks for it, without finding any Fault with his Description of the Badges of the Order: Upon these Commendations of his Station, and these other Circumstances, and his own Experience in the World by Reason of his advanced Age and the Knowledge he professes of other Orders, I may without any Offence or Discredit observe, that this Author Mondanus Belvoletii in his Catechismus Equitum Ordinis Perisclididis mentions nothing of any Collar appropriate to the Order; and however trifling this Treatise is in the fanciful visionary Allegories, yet being a very uncommon scarce Book, I have taken the Pains of giving 7 Extracts of the most material Passages

De rebus in Throno pro numero casidum tractati de ordine militum hujus regni, &c. qui insunt ad motus & ad destinationem; Thronulus quippe pleurus est pinguedine moribus scientior, morosiorque; utinam quicquid insunt, qui in ipso vel legere vel fodere velit.

P. 22. Quia cum septuaginta sex annis tum peragravit, &c. missis perulstantur Angliam. P. 6. Cum sint fœna & fœne obsequium, humiliter ex Christi- co Moribus, &c. P. 75. Nam circa adulationem & cum pace loquens, cum novorum quinq; Regum Ordines, & plurimum Dominorum illorum Ducum, nullum Ordinem scio, tot in suo significatu continentem fecerat, differentia & mysteria, ut hic Ordo (Perisclididis).

q The Tenth Page of the Book is, Catechismus Ordinis Equitum Perisclididis Anglicane, seu Speculum Anglorum, Autore R. Domi F. Mondano Belvoletii S. Theologie Professore, Ordinis sui Clauiscentis Archidiacono, Praesentissimo Apostolice, & quondam ad Angli Oratore, nunc primum ex Memorabilibus velutitulis, plane regio scriptis, pœllis; erutum, castigatum, & editum studio P. Philippo Bispiani Castellomontani Ord. Minorum Reg. Obi. Prov. Fœderis ad Sacrosanctum Anglie Regem, &c.

Eccle. 39.

Sapientiam omnium antiquorum exquiret Sapiens. Colonias Agrorum Apud Hieronymum Criticum Anno MDCXXXI.

P. 2. A Prullion ad illam opulentam famosamque Cavitatem Irredigatur.

P. 3. Vidi vitos strenuos & gloriosos, primos Aolz Regis, Thronos aureos (vel quos) gestantes non certe in dextera, sed in sinistra, mox percussatus hinc inde, quid sibi illud vellet?

P. 7. Et sunt pleriq; nonnulli autumantes, hanc Ordinem Essodum simpliciter a fœsu muliebri —

P. 13. Quod color significat, in quo fundatum dicitur ordo?

— Nam hic Color lividus est & calcitrans —

P. 17. Quis ordinis figura præsentat?

— quia spherica est — inserto puncto jungitur & stringitur.

P. 22. Quis ligaturæ cum Plufcula significat?

P. 23. — hæc ligaturæ — quomodo; est ferrea, aliquando argentea & interdum aurea fuit inventa. Sed quia hæc pretiosior a paucis incolitur.

P. 29. Quid ligula in Plufcula?

— ligaturæ hujus ordinis sit fortis, & magna latæ; reatur Plufcula —

Est enim Plufcula, sine Boucla sine lingula —

Plufcula est rotunda, vel quasi que bistrata [clatruca] in medio duos oculos habet —

P. 30. Lingula in ejus Barra fitatur.

P. 32. Plufcula transversali Barra vel sepaglio armata.

P. 37. Quid Nodus post Plufculam?

P. 36. Quod post ligaturam & non ante vinculum seu nodus sequitur.

P. 38. Quod Pendulum ex nodo desciat?

P. 39. — ipsum Pendulum stringitur, sed post bistrata; conceditur, Quod autem arctatio ipsius Penduli inter duos corrigas, &c.

P. 42. Quid sonu Redis in ipso ordine?

— cui nomen Redis (alias le Morlent Gallice) & cui carere jugiter inhaeret. — Redis dicitur a rotundo, eo quod plerumq; egreditur & ingreditur per Plufculam. P. 46.

P. 47. Quare Ordo non solum in Tibia, sed etiam deservit?

— Et licet Ordo, de quo agitur determinatum locum habet, in quo defertur quoad Primatas; nihilominus parum refert ut in aliis locis supra humanum corpus transportetur; quia omnia in supra brachium, alia per totam videntur; & ita licet colli; portate ubi placent — Ordo est locum proprium habeat, scilicet Tibiam sinistram fœpiam (ut dictum est) eundem variis locum.

P. 52. Et licet principaliter in Praetorio, id est in tibia sinistra, tubilominus in omni loco, id est, in omni parte corporis (ut dictum est) deseri potest hic ordo.

P. 54. Quis clavus qui lingula penetrat?

— In hoc ordine vocatur omnis Clavus cuius medietas later, reliquaque parit.

P. 55. Clavelli medietas videtur tantum —

P. 56. Quis tres Clavi in Ordine?

— ad laxandum & arctandum tres clavi seu Barra fitantur.

P. 60. Quis Brodatura [Limbus] in ordine?

P. 61. Brodatura, que tam pulchra & delectabilis est — quod enim constat ex multis hircis & delectabilibus variis, & suis locis congrue fitatur —

In hoc ordine, licet quædam essentia sit pura Plufcula, Lingula sive LEDARDAILLON, duo Clavi, duplex lamina; necnon & corrigas, in qua talis ordo fitatur; tres Barra; Catena; Nodus, duo Clavelli; nihilominus plura sunt ceremonialis —

P. 64. Quis Lamina cum duobus clavellis?

— Lamina aurea duplicata in qua Boucla vel Plufcula fitatur, & quo Laminæ duobus clavellis penetratur ostium tibialis — Lamina duplicata, que retinet Boucliam sive Plufculam. Hæc Laminæ plura & aurea, & fœnalis decorata.

P. 65. Hujus Laminæ duplex est officium, nam illius est stringere corrigas, & gubernare Plufculam sive Boucliam, — duo Clavi Laminam penetrantes, ut Plufculam sive Boucliam virtuose regant.

P. 68. Et quædam Pæpala — que velut Plufculam, cuius extenitate penetrando totum regit ordinem, circa cuius officium jugiter Lapula ludendo volvitur, que licet non videtur, omnium officiorum doctor, alia & origo.

Id. Quis coloribus in ordine?

— Et enim ibi colores Angli, Niger, Viridis, Lividus, Rubens & Aureus.

P. 72. Quis Catena cum Pendulo?

P. 73. Illa Catena que ex Pendulo desciit — Etenim quantum ad illam Catenam ex plurimum reatur annulis aureis minutis & quasi innumeris —

P. 74. Nam si quod suspendit a catena sit Lapis pretiosus, sive Sol illuminans, sive Luna trahens, sive Cor aureum, sive Passages therein, which describe the Fabrick of the Garter, and on that Account it would be a very valuable Curiosity if the Original, which the Title Page faith was Royally depicted, could be now retrieved.

After so long and problematical a Discourse upon Collars, wherein I must have tired your Lordship's Patience, I crave Leave now to descend to the present One composed of GARTERS with the Image of St. GEORGE appendant thereto, which is first mentioned in the Statutes of Hen. VIII, and made peculiar to the Order. The Form is described by Mr. Asmole, who hath produced some Proofs that the ' Same was used before the Reign of Hen. VIII, to which I shall add an indisputable One as to the Collar, from the Will of John de Veer Earl of Oxford, dated 10 April, in the last Year of Hen. VII, wherein he devises " his ' Chaine with the Whistell having sixscore and one links weighing ^{xxxviii} ounces to be sold, " and to his Cousin John Veer his Coler of Garters and rede Roses of Gold." But when this Collar first became thus appropriated to this Order will not be probably discovered till the old Entries of the Jewel-Office shall be recovered; though from the Narrative inserted * above of our Embassadors to the Emperor Maximilian, it may be conjectured, this Collar was instituted in the Interval between the sixth and eighteenth Years of Hen. VII.

If that should prove to be the Fact, we must be on our Guard in reading some of our Historians. The learned * Dr. Heylin seems to be under an Apprehension, that the Image of St. George was one of the original Ensigns upon the Institution, and some of our ' Annalists acquaint us that the Duke of Bedford, Regent of France under Hen. VI, took from the celebrated Sir John Fastolf the George as well as the Garter, which Point shall be considered in the Narrative of his Life.

But though the Knights of the Garter might not antiently wear the Image of St. George pendant at a Collar, I would not be misunderstood to intend there were not such Usages beyond Sea, in preceding Times, for 'tis plain that Hierax gave to the Emperor Cantacuzene the Figure or Impres of St. George, which hung at his Breast as the Pledge of his Loy-

Stella matutina, feu
Rosa vespertina,
— Si vero sit Stella splendida, Si — rosa
— Si Sol rutilans,
— Si Luna
— Si gerit speciem cordis auri.

P. 75. — Sed non est fubticandum — quod catena extra & non intra tibiam deferatur.

* P. 76. § Cur magis deferatur in sinistra quam in dextera?

Et si quis vellet se expe. lire dicendo quod ita placuit primo condenti fce Inventori, ratio transiret.

P. 77. Quando quis Miles efficitur, primo armatur calcar dextero tanquam digniori, deinde sinistro vel accessorio.

P. 82. § Quid sonat Dilamen in ordine?

r Hist. p. 221, 222.

f Fettyplace in Curia Prærog. qu. xi.

t This Earl was then Admiral, whereof the Whistell was the Badge or Emblem.

This Sir Edward Howard by his Will made in 1512 devises to * Sir Charles Brandon, the Roupe of bowed " Nobles that He wore his greate Whistell by, and to the King's Grace his greate Whistell. Liber Fettyplace in Cur. Prærog. qu. 18.

In the 10th of Hen. VIII. the Earl of Surrey High Admiral — on a great Carrier richly trussed and a great Whistell of gold set with jones and perle having as a great and misty ob. yne baudrick. Hist. Chron. p. 65. z. And the same Ensign was used by the Admiral of France.

Thevet es vies des hommes illustres l. 5. p. 381. l'Admiral de France à pour armoies l'ance, & le sifflet, pour monstrier que tous ceux, qui sont sur la mer, luy sont subjects, & doivent au simple sifflet de ce General de la Marine, se ranger vers luy, tout ne plus, ne moins, que en une navire le sifflet du Capitaine, retient guide & pouffe la vogue de la chioirne. And that our Captains of Shipt were Whistles appears from the Provision in the Statute of Apparel, 24 H. VIII. c. 13.

n Vide supra p. 85. Note 1.

x Hist. p. 223. and in other Places.

y Hall in Hen. 6. j. 26 b. Hollingh. p. 601. n. 57.

z Cantacuzene Hist. l. 3. c. 9.

alty, which ^a Papebroch remarks hung at a Collar in the Manner that the Knights of the Garter wear it; and I am not ignorant that the same was likewise used by the Brotherhood of St. George in Franche Comté: But I do not find that Instance of Respect shewn him by our antient Companions of this Order, though they always esteemed him with a particular Devotion the Tut-lar Saint, Advocate, and Patron, not only of the Order, but of the whole Nation.

It is as certain that there were also several Jewels stiled ^b Nouches de St. George, Tabuleæ auri de Sancto Georgio, enriched with precious Stones; but these might be in all probability Images of St. George designed to be placed on Shrines according to the Devotion of that Age, and one of them was deposited at Windsor, another was of great Value ^c being bought for two thousand Marks in 23 Hen. VI, a large Sum in that Age.

There is an obscure Passage in the ^d Black-Book, importing that Ed. IV. ordered the Knights to wear the Image of the Virgin Mary on their right Shoulders at the Feasts dedicated to her Memory, wherein there is a Reference made to the Custom of the Feast of St. George in such dark Terms, as I do not understand whether the Intention of the Writer was to intimate that the Image of St. George was worn on the other Shoulder; but if he meant the Scutcheon of St. George, that Fact is evidently true.

Nothing now remains untouched but the Consideration of the Habits which are said to be necessary to the constituting Orders, but here I shall only consider such as Ladies formerly received, leaving those of the Knights to a particular Chapter, which must contain not only all the Robes and Ornaments, their several Variations, the Ensigns hung up in the Chappel during their Life-times, and after their Deaths, of what Antiquity the Plates are that now remain, the Antiquity of the Method of surrounding Arms with the Garter, &c. And notwithstanding this immethodical Letter is insensibly swelled to an extraordinary Length, it would be an unpardonable Crime in an Herald to conclude it without performing the Promise I made above to your Lordship in relation to the Ladies.

I do not think my self obliged to verify the Story of the slipping the Garter of the Queen, or of the Countess of Salisbury, which hath been thought a Romante feigned by ^e Polydor Virgil: However that may be, I must do the Justice to the Ladies to aver, that a Tradition obtained as far back as in the Reign of Hen. VI, that this Order received its Original from the ^f Fair Sex, the particular Occasion is not expressed in my Author, which must therefore be left in the Dark: ^g Dr. Heylin observes,

^a Uti p. eo modo, quo eam [imaginem S. Georgii] gestare solent e collo Equites Garteriani. Papebroch. Acta Sanctorum in S. Georgio, c. x.

^b See Perry's Seal dated 21 Nov. 16 H. 6. 15 Febr. 30 H. 6. &c.

^c Frit. Pell. 6 Apr. and 25 May, 23 H. 6.

^d Lib. Nig. p. 37.

^e Heylin's Cosmography l. 1. page 287. edit. 1652.

^f Mondonus Belvæti Catech. Equit. Ord. Penitencielid. p. 7. Et sunt pleriq; nonnulli auroamantes hunc Ordinem exordium sumpsisse a sexu Muliebris, &c.

^g History of St. George, p. 324.

there is no such Spur to Valour and heroick Resolutions as the Love of Ladies.

A late foreign ^b Author treating on the Institution of the Order (as he calls it) of the Ermine in Bretagne, remarks a Singularity, (as he thought) not observed in other Orders, that Ladies were admitted thereto. I shall not endeavour to contradict him with Precedents from the Orders of Malta, St. James, of the Sword, of Calatrava, St. Stephen, and of the Anarante, &c. but confine my self to the Garter, wherein Mr. Asmole hath produced incontestable Evidences of their receiving a Participation in the Robes from the 7th of Rich. II. to the 16th of Edw. IV., which he supposed to be the last Entry of them; 'tis strange he had not in his view the Verses of Skelton under Hen. VII. quoted by himself in ^c another Part of his Book, and the Passage in the Black-Book in the third Year of that Reign, "Regina vero, & Domina Mater Regis vestibus etiam Ordini Militari congruentibus tunc induebantur," which in a contemporary ^d Manuscript is worded, "The Queen, my Lady the Kings moder wer in gownys of the Garter of the same as the Kyng and the Lordes wer, &c." and Skelton ^e the then Poet-Laureat, in his Verses,

*O Knightly Ordere clothed in Robes with Gartere,
The Queens grace and thy Mother clothed in the same.*

I shall not repeat the splendid Appearance of Queen Philippa at the first grand Feast of the Order, and the large Sum issued for her Apparel against another Feast, but only observe, that the Queens at Windsor made Offerings at the High Mass ^f celebrated on St. George's Day, in the same Manner as the King did: And shall confine my self at present to remark, That the Ladies who received the Robes of this Order, are ^g stiled Dames de la Fraternité de Saint George, and Domina de Seclá & liberaturá Garter, which are the same Epithets as are given to the Knights, and that these Habits were delivered them annually by Warrants from the Crown, in the like Manner as the Knights received them, and that their Robes, as those of the Knights, were differenced in the Number of Garters, according to the Superiority of the Titles, and Degrees of the Ladies.

I must confess my Ignorance, whether these Ladies were heretofore nominated by the sole Pleasure of the Crown, or chosen by any Sort of Election, whether any Ceremonies were performed at their Admission, or whether they were under Obligations to observe any Rules or Statutes peculiar to them.

It would be too tedious here to run over the List of these Ladies mentioned in the Records, which I reserve for a particular Chapter, wherein it will be shewed which of them were then Consorts, and which of them Widows, a Task of some Difficulty; for several of them will be found

^b Loiseau Hist. de Bretagne, p. 442. Sc.

^c Hist. p. 217.

^d p. 502.

^e Julius B. 12. in Bibl. Cotton, p. 46.

^f Asmole's Hist. p. 502.

^g Expense Philippæ Reginae Angliæ ab ultimo Sept.

anno Regni Regis Angliæ xxv ad xxvi. In oblationibus factis ad magnam missam celebratam in capella castri de Windsore in die Sancti Georgii, 13. 4. in Bibl. Cotton.

^h Rymer, vol. 9. p. 3.

to have been the Widows of Knights of the Garter, and after their Deaths married to Noblemen of higher Titles, by which Denominations they received the Robes of this Order, though their then Husbands from whom they had these Titles, were not Companions; others being the Relicts of Noblemen of higher Titles not of the Order, and being remarried to Knights-Companions, retained however their first superior Titles, and by these Appellations received the Habits, though in consequence of their latter Marriages. And another Difficulty occurs, that some of these Ladies, being themselves Heiresses, retained always their paternal Surnames, notwithstanding their Marriages to Knights of the Garter.

By turning our Eyes upon the Lists printed in the P Introduction, it will appear that several Consorts of the Knights shared in this distinguishing Privilege of the Habits of the Garter, which will be therefore unnecessary to be proved; so I shall only mention an Order of the Privy Council made on 21 May, 10 Hen. VI. Concordatum per Dom. de consilio quod fiat warrantum Custodi Magne Garderoba Regis ad deliberandum Isabella Comitisse Warwic & Alicie Comitisse Suffolc liberatur. vestur. cum pellur. de la Garter pro festo S. Georgii uli preterit. modo quo alie Comitisse ante bec tempora extra dictam Garderob. pro consimili festo liberat. fuit.

Richard Beauchamp was then Earl of Warwick, who had been elected into this Order before the 9th of Hen. IV., and he married to his second Wife Isabel, Daughter of Thomas le Dispenser Earl of Gloucester, Sister and sole Heir to her Brother, on the 26th of Nov. 1423, who survived her Husband and died on 27 Dec. 1439.

William de la Pole was at that Time Earl of Suffolk, after created Marquis and Duke of that Place, who had been Knight of the Garter from the 9th Year of Hen. V. This Alice was the Daughter of Sir Thomas Chaucer of Ewelme, Widow first of Sir John Philip, and secondly of Thomas Montacute Earl of Salisbury, which Earl her second Husband died on the 3d of Nov. 1428, and she died * 20 May 1475.

The sumptuary Laws for Distinction of Degrees, while in force, allowed them the Wearing of Velvet upon Velvet, by which these Consorts were known in their ordinary daily Habit. The Wife-man, in describing the Wife of an Husband who sits clothed in Scarlet among the Elders of the Land, intimates, That she never lacked the Spoils her Husband brought back from his Victories, for in her his Heart securely trusted; and as she participated in the Spoils, 'tis reasonable she should partake in the other Rewards given for these Victories, for the Law, by reason of the strict Union, counts Husband and Wife only one Person.

As to Relicts, I have already shewn, that the Countess of Arundel receiv'd the Habits very soon after the Death of her Husband; she was a Lady of great Quality, being the natural Daughter of John King of Portugal, married to this Earl in 1405 in presence of Hen. IV., who

p. P. 10. Note n. P. 11. Note e. P. 12. Note d & c.
P. 13. Note f. P. 14. Note g. P. 15. Note k, &c. q Chynatta F. iv. in Bibl. Cotton.
r Abbr. p. 36.
s 11th. Traksbur. in Mon. Angl. vol. 1. p. 158.
x 150.

t E Testamento ejus [in libro March] condito 20 Junij 1415, probato 23 May 1418.
u. x Inscription on her Monument in Ewelme.
y Stat. 3 E. 4. c. 5. &c.
z Above in p. 16.
a Walsingham, p. 474.

was Brother-in-law to that King, with great Solemnity, and was re-married to ^b Gilbert Lord Talbot, Knight also of this Order, who dyed 19 Oct. 7 Hen. V. so that ^c Dugdale is mistaken in making him her first Husband: After his Death she was made a free ^d Denizen and had Dower out of his Lands, and as ^e Camden saith was married to Thomas Fettiplace, by whom she had Children, and afterwards to ^f John Holland Earl of Huntington, and died at ^g Bordeaux 13 Nov. 1439; her Marriages are thus particularly specified, because ^b Mr. Ashmole presumes that John Fettiplace was sent to the King of Portugal with the Garter, upon the Account of this Relation or Kindred.

The Entries of the Delivery of these Habits to the Duchesses of York, the Elder and Younger, in the first and third of Hen. V. do not prove that the Elder then remained in her Widowhood; because, though this Addition of the Elder must of course denote one who had been Dowager, yet she might possibly have been the Wife at these Times of an actual Knight of the Garter, and in that Right have received these Habits, her first Title being out of Courtesy continued to her, which will be plain by examining this very Case.

The Duchess of York, senior, in this First and Third of Hen. V. was Joan de Holland, second Wife, and then Relict of Edmond de Langley, Knight of this Order, after whose Death in the 3d of Hen. IV. the first re-married with William Lord Willoughby, then in the 12th Year of that Reign, with ^k Henry Lord Scrope of Masbam, Knight of this Order, and therefore might receive these Robes as his Consort in these Years; after whose Attainder she was again married to Henry Bromflet Lord Vesey, and died without ^l Issue in 12 Hen. VI.

The Duchess of York, junior, was in these Years ^m Philippa, Daughter and Coheir of John Lord Mobun, the Consort of Edmond Duke of York killed at Agincourt soon ⁿ after these Habits were delivered, which Lady was re-married to the Lord Fitzwater, and ^o died Issueless.

In this ^p first Year of Hen. V. the Countesses of Salisbury, the Elder and Younger, are named as receiving these Habits.

This elder Countess was Elizabeth, another Daughter and ^q Co-heir of John Lord Mobun, who had received the Habits of this Order ^r in the 7th, 11th, and 12th of Rich. II. in the Life-time of her Husband William Earl of this Place, one of the Founders, and the lived ^s till the 2d of Hen. V.

The Countess of Salisbury the Younger, in 1 Hen. V. was ^t Maud, Daughter of Sir Adam Francis, the Relict of John Aubrey, and also of ^b Ypodigma Neutr. p. 175.

^c Vel. 1. Baron. p. 328.

^d Clauf. 7 H. 5. m. 6.

^e Britan. f. 203. laine.

^f Pat. 11 H. 6. p. 2. m. 14.

^g Regist. Priorat de Lewis.

^h Hist. p. 383.

ⁱ Elc. 3. H. 4. n. 36.

^k Wallingh. p. 421. n. 10. Pat. 4 H. 5. m. 18.

^l Clauf. 12 H. 6. m. 2 & 6.

^m Elc. 12 H. 6. n. 43.

ⁿ Her Will in Chichele's Register.

^o Elch. 3 H. 5. n. 45. Wallingh. 439, 440.

^p Elch. 10 H. 6. n. 45.

^q See above Page 14, Note g.

^r Rot. Fin. 6 H. 4. m. 5. Der Dower assigned to Ber.

^s Clauf. 1 R. 2. m. 3.

^t See above p. 10. Note a. p. 11. Note c. p. 12.

Note d.

^u Elc. 2 H. 5. n. 39.

^v Clauf. 1 H. 4. p. 2. m. 13.

Sir Allen * Boxhall, a Knight of this Order, then of John Montagu Earl of this Place, who hath been proved a Companion of the Garter, whom she survived, and lived 'till the 3d of Hen. VI. And hence we see that the Title of Younger, attributed to her in the Wardrobe-Account * in the 3d of Hen. V. might have been omitted, because the elder Countess was dead before that Time; and may observe, that this Lady retained the Title of Countess notwithstanding the Attainder of her Husband by 'Act of Parliament, though the same was not reversed 'till many Years afterwards.

The Lady Roos received these 2 Robes in 22 Rich. II.

The first Lord Roos that was Knight of this Order, is in the Catalogue numbered 97, elected in the Reign of Hen. IV. and by Mr. Abbot mole called Gilbert, whereas his Name was without doubt William; the Lady therefore thus stiled Roos in 22 Rich. II. seems to be Beatrix the Relict of Thomas Lord Roos, Father of this Knight of the Garter, after whose Death in the ^b 7th Year of Richard II. she was remarried to ^c Sir Richard Burly Companion of this Order, that died at Arpent in ^d Spain in the 12th Year, and she might share in these Habits in this 22 Rich. II. as his Relict, for whom she erected afterwards a ^e Chantry and lived 'till the ^f 3d of Hen. V. But then the Lady Roos receiving Robes in the first Year of Hen. V. in all probability might be ^g Margaret the Daughter of Sir John Arundell then Consort of William Lord Roos, who had the like Habits, but this Lord dying on ^h 1 Sept. 2 Hen. V. this same Lady might as his Relict receive this Habit in ⁱ 3 Hen. V. for she lived 'till the 17th of ^k Hen. VI.

I come now to unmarried Ladies who were admitted into the Distinction of the Habits of this Order, and here some of the Royal Blood present themselves, Philippa and Catherine Daughters of John of Gaunt, appeared thus ^l habited in the 7th Year of Rich. II.

This Philippa was his Daughter by his first Lady ^m Blanch of Lancaster, married to ⁿ John King of Portugal, in or after the Year 1387, when he obtained a Dispensation from his Vow of ^o Celibacy made by him as Great Master of the Order d'Aviz; and as she thus received these Habits before her Marriage, so she had them again by the Stile of Queen of Portugal in ^p 22 Rich. II. when as yet her Royal Husband had not been elected into this Order; for 'tis evident he could not be at this time a Knight of the Garter, since the Windsor-Tables place him the Successor to Sir William Arundel in the second Stall of the Sovereign's Side, which Sir William received these Habits in this 22d Year; but this King being x See above p. 15. Note k.

* Hen. Will made 2 June 1424, in Regist. Luffenham in Cur. Prerog. lego. Alano de Buxinall filio meo, &c. See ESh. 1 H. 4. n. 11.

y His Attainder was from 1 Jan. 1 H. 4. Rot. Parl. 2 H. 4. n. 30. and in Parl. 4 H. 5. n. 16. a Petition for the Reverful, which was then obtained, was done Pacl. 9 H. 5. m. 6.

z See above p. 13. Note f.

a Thus named in Glover's Catalogue, Mills de Nobilitate Polit. & Civil. p. 166.

b Efk. 7 R. 2. n. 68.

c Pat. 9 R. 2. p. 1. m. 45.

d Froiff. vol. 3. p. 229. & vol. 1. p. 208.

e Rot. 10 H. 4. p. 1. m. 7.

f Efk. 3 H. 5. n. 44.

g Dugd. Baron. vol. 1. p. 552.

h Monast. Angl. vol. 1. p. 728 b.

i See above p. 15. Note k.

k Efk. 17 H. 6. n. 51.

l See above p. 10. Note a.

m n Knighthood, vol. 2675. Froiff. vol. 3. ch. 39.

o From Pope Urban the Sixth, &c.

p See above p. 13. Note f.

afterwards elected into this Order, he together with his Queen ^g received the Robes in 3 Hen. V.

Catherine was another Daughter and only Child of John of Gaunt by his second Lady ^r Constance of Spain. She had these Robes in 7 Rich. II. and was afterwards married to Henry, created Prince of ^t Asturias in 1388, who afterwards in her Right became lawful King of Spain; and though this ^u King died in 1407, without being ever elected into the Order of the Garter, yet this Queen (to whom her Father gave a ^v Legacy in his Will made in 1397, and who is ^w said to die on 2 June 1418) received again this same Habit from her ^x Nephew Hen. V. in his 3d Year, when she was a Queen-Dowager.

Then again in 16 E. IV. the Lady ^y Elizabeth, that King's Daughter, had the like Robes together with the Duchefs of Suffolk, the Marchionefs Montagu and Dorset, and other Ladies.

This Lady Elizabeth was afterwards the ^z Queen of Hen. VII. and the Marchionefs Montagu was then the Relict of ^{aa} John Nevil who had been slain before at Barnet Field on ^{bb} Easter-day 1471, and who in the 17th of Ed. IV. is said to be re-married to ^{cc} Sir William Norreys of Bray.

But here it may be supposed, that this Participation of the Habits was allowed to these Ladies upon the Account of the Grandour of their Birth, to which all Degrees of Honour were due. I must therefore beg Patience to inspect the Qualifications of another Lady mentioned in these Lists, the celebrated Katherine Swinford who received these 5 Habits in the eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth of Rich. II. "This Lady, according to ^{dd} Froissart, "knewe moche honour, for in her youth and all her dayes "she had been brought up therein," as the Lord Berners translates it. Her Parentage was from ^{ee} Sir Paen Ruette or Roette a Knight in Henalt, who is said to have been Guyenne King of Arms, and as that Author goes on, had sometime been married to Sir Thomas Swinford, by whom 'tis certain she had a ^{ff} Son. But the greatest Occasion of her Fame is, that though she had been first Mistress of John of Gaunt the great Duke of Lancaster, and had bare him three Sons and a Daughter, yet this Duke after the Death of his second Wife ^{gg} Constance of Spain, married this Lady, but this Constance living 'till near the ^{hh} Feast of the Apostle's St. Peter and St. Paul in 1394, must be the Duchefs of Lancaster and of Acquitaine who received the Robes of this Order ⁱⁱ in the 7th, 11th, 12th, and 13th of Rich. II. in whose Life-time this Lady Swinford had

g See above p. 15. Note k.

r Knighton, col. 2677.

f See above p. 12. Note a.

t More ex Angliâ translato. Mariana l. 18. p. 158. See Knighton col. 2677.

u Mendoza Origen de las Dignidades, p. 138.

x A ma Trefchere fille Catherine Roigne de Charzill & Lyon un hanap d'Or. In Registr. Henr. Episc. Lincoln.

y Mendoza, p. 138.

z See above p. 15. Note k.

aa Athm. Hist. p. 549, 218.

bb Records, Genealogies, and Histories.

cc Hall in E. 4. f. 29 a. Pol. Virg. l. 24.

dd e Pat. 17 E. 4. p. 2. m. 20.

f See above p. 11. Note c. p. 12. Notes d, e.

g Vol. 4. ch. 71. p. 238.

h Hic jacet Paganus Roeti miles Guyenne Rex Arromum, pater Catherine Ducifse Lancast. Wever's Funer. Monum. p. 661.

i Pat. 13 H. 4. p. 10. m. 75. Quod dilectus miles noster Tho. Swinford est filius & heres inclitissime Domine Katherine de Roeti nuper Ducifse Lancast. in legitimo matrimonio procreatus, & quod quoddam scriptum ipsius Thomae presentibus annexum sigillo Arromum ipsius Thomae signatum est factum ejusdem Thomae, Quodq; ipse & Pater ejus & Antecessores sui ex parte Patris Arma praedicta totis temporibus retroactis possiderunt.

k I Knighton col. 2741. Walsingham, p. 387. &c. m See above p. 10. Note a. p. 11. Note c. p. 12. Notes d, and e.

the like Robes long before her Marriage to this Duke which was on the Octaves of Epiphany in the 19th of that Reign, whereby she became, as Froissart phrases it, the second Lady or the next to the Queen, to the great Dissatisfaction of the Court.

Then again Constance Lady Dispenser received these ^o Habits in the 11th, 12th, and 13th of Rich. II. she was of Royal Lineage, being Daughter of Edmond de Langley by Isabel of Castile, and as it appears from a ^p Legacy in her Mother's Will, was married to Thomas Lord Dispencer before the 6th of that King, but her Husband received not any Robes of the Garter in the Years here mentioned, though being afterwards created ^q Earl of Gloucester and elected into this Order, he had the ^r Habits in the 22d of that King's Reign, as had also this Lady, being then ^s Countess, who survived her ^t Husband.

I shall now dismiss this Subject by shewing, that these Ladies had not only the Habit of the Order, which was Semie of Garters, which were more or less according to their Degrees, but that they, like as the Knights, had also the Ensign of the Garter delivered them; the Records are ^u exprefs in this Particular; and 'tis probable, these Garters might be worn by them about their Left arm, as ^x Mr. Ashmole tells us the Countess of Tankerville is represented by the Effigies on her Monument, to which may be added that of the Lady of Sir Robert Harcourt who is on her ^y Tomb pictured with the Garter just above her Elbow on her Left-arm, with the Motto, Hony soit quy mal y pense, whereas at this time there is no visible Distinction or Badge for these Ladies, and even the Knights do not impale the Arms of their Consorts within the Garter, though there are several antient ^z Precedents on the Plates in the Stalls where the Ladies Arms are inserted within it.

Your Lordship will pardon me in making one Reflection, which appears naturally to arise on Occasion of what I have observed relating to the Ladies who formerly shared the Honours of this Order and wore the Robes of it. In a Nation so tender of the Rights and Priviledges of the Fair Sex, and where Beauty seems to have fixed her Empire, it is really surprizing that any Custom in their Favour should be disused, while no reasonable Pretence has been assigned, or in my humble Opinion can be assigned, for the Discontinuance of it. The Order of the Garter was ⁿ Wallingham, p. 288.

^o See above, p. 11. Note c. p. 12. Notes d e.

^p Lib. Rous. f. 49.

^q 8 Sept. Chart. 21 R. 2. m. 21.

^r See above p. 13. Note j.

^s Ibidem.

^t Wallingham, p. 416.

^u Priv. Sigill. 2 R. 2. Richard, &c. As Tresorier, &c. parce que Nous devons a nostre cher & bien ame Nicholas — pur les choses, lesquels il ad fait & livre a nous en nostre chamber, cessastavoir pur trois jartiers d'argent susorez pur dames dys soldz — Item pur l'amendement d'un nostre jartier d'or & pur le risseu fys solds & oyt deniers, &c. — Mars l'an de nostre regne second.

Rolls of New year's Gifts, 18 H. 6. in Offic. Pell. Item, to my Lady of Gloucester the same day a Garter of gold barred with gold, and this reson made with letters of gold thereupon Hony soit quy mal y pense and garnished with a stowe of diamonds on the buckle and ij gres perl and a ruby on the pendant and ij gres perl with other 26 perl on the said Garter.

^x Hist. p. 218.

^y In the Church near Stanton-Harcourt in Oxfordshire.

^z Richard Earl of Warwick, n. 179. bears his Ladies Arms in the first Place; as also William Nevil, n. 149. The Lord Montacute, n. 186. and Lord Strange, n. 231. bear their Ladies Arms on Inscriptions of Pretence, and Sir Charles Somerset, n. 243. empales those of his Wife; as those of Sir Simon Burly, n. 75. and Ralph Nevil Earl of Westmerland. n. 96. were in the like Manner on their Monument. Ashm. Hill, p. 226. And at Amiens in France the Arms of the Earl of Oxford, n. 226. are empaled within a Garter with those of his first Lady. Traite Historique du Chef de St. Jean Baptiste par du Fresnoy, p. 129.

a political Institution: It is not easy to conjecture by what Maxims of Polity that Prince governed himself, who first relinquished a Right exercised by his Predecessors of giving so honourable a Distinction to Ladies of superior Quality or Merit; since such Ladies, if they do not preside, must at least be allowed to have always a very powerful Influence in Society. The Consorts and Relicts of the Knights Companions especially seem to have a more peculiar Claim to any relative Honours of the Order, which the Sovereign shall think fit to confer: But it may with all Submission be more proper to enquire, whether so valuable a Privilege of the Sovereign might not, upon wise and good Reasons, be resumed, than how the Exercise of it came to be originally discontinued.

One of the most heroic Actions by which the Patron of this Order is said to have signalized himself, was in Defence of a young Lady, no less distinguished by her personal Accomplishments than her high Birth. I am under no Obligations to verify all the Circumstances of that Story; however I may inoffensively say, the Moral of it may be extended to shew, that it is very consistent with the Institution of an Order nominated from St. George, that all the Advantages at any time belonging to the other Sex should be inviolably preserved to them; and that it will be unaccountable if among so great a Number of Hero's, several Champions should not be found to assert and espouse their Cause.

In all probability they would not at this time have wanted any Advocate, if the rebellious War had not prevented the Revival and Establishment of this Custom by Charles the First, a Prince who, as the noble Historian characterizes him, kept State to the Full, which made his Court very orderly.

This Prince intended to have all Solemnities observed with the exactest Distinction of proper Rites, and for that purpose having in his View the Practice of the Greatest of his Predecessors, thought fit, after mature Deliberation, to confirm to the Heralds their ancient Rights in all Assemblies and Processions of State. Their Education and Study must render them the best Judges and Guardians of the Decorum and Punctuality of Ceremonies, and their Experience enable them to keep a Rule uniform to the Precedents of former Ages, and the Consent of foreign Kingdoms. I am with the utmost Deference, My Lord,

Your Lordships most obedient and ever faithful Servant,

JOHN ANSTIS, Garter.

^a Ashm. Hist. p. 218.

^b Clarendon's Hist. vol. 3. p. 198.

^c 19 June 1670. — Whereas we have lately taken Notice of the ancient Rights and Privileges of our Trusty and Wellbelov'd Servants the King's, Heralds, and Pursuivants of Arms, by them claimed, and before the Lords of our Privy Council by many Precedents approved and allowed, We mistaking the Continuance and Establishment of the said Rights and Privileges to our said Servants, do hereby signify and declare our Pleasure to be, and so We Will and Command that they our said Servants the King's, Heralds, and Pursuivants of Arms shall from henceforth in all manner of Assemblies and Proceedings of State, as also for delivering of all Messages, Summons, and other our Commands touching Matters of Honour and Arms, aswell at home as abroad both in Time of War and Peace, be called, used and employed in our said Service, as by Right to them appertained and by ancient Custom hath been used: and that for all such their Services and Attendance they be allowed such Fees, Droits, Liveries, and Allowances as of ancient Right and Custom, they have used to have and enjoy in Time of any of our Progenitors Kings of England, &c.

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of

Sir JOHN FASTOLF.

SIR JOHN FASTOLF n. 1339, succeeded the Earl of Westmerland in the third Stall of the Prince's Side; for the Black-Book (as Mr. Ashmole hath observed) is mistaken in placing him in the Stall of the Lord Fitzburgh. In the Scrutiny for an Election on St. GEORGE'S EVE 4 Hen. VI. there chanced to be an Equality of Votes for our Knight and Sir John Radcliff, whereon the Duke of Bedford, Lieutenant in the King's Absence, esteeming them both most worthy of an Election, however judged Sir John Fastolf more worthy of the Two, whom he according to his Authority declared to be admitted into this Order.

This Preference, upon a Competition, shews the Largeness of his Deserts, especially when determined by so great a Judge of them as the Duke of Bedford, who ^b himself in a Recommendation to the Companions of the Garter, enumerated the noble Actions of Sir John Radcliff, which should be consulted, 'who was soon afterwards also elected into this Order; and from this Comparison and an Acknowledgment that our Knight was superior to him in Merits, we may conceive an Idea of the Amplitude, Dignity, and Excellence of them.

Hereon a Letter signifying this Election was sent to him then in France, wherein this Honour is said to be conferred on him in "consideration of his good, loyal, and honourable Services performed to the King's Father, and to the King himself, and for other Deserts of Honour, which God had endowed him with, in his constant Behaviour, as a good and faithful Subject, and for the Pains and Travels sustained by him in the Wars, to support the King's right and just Claim." And a Commission issued to the Earls of Warwick, Salisbury, and Suffolk to receive his Oath, and to invest him with the Garter; farther intimating, that he should with all convenient speed send his Helmet and Sword to be hung up in the Chapel at Windsor, and depute an honourable Knight without Reproach to take Possession of his Stall, and accordingly he appoints Sir Henry Inglose and Sir William Breton his Proctors jointly and severally to receive it, to offer his Mantle, Helmet, and Sword, and to take the Oath required by the Statutes; and on the 25th of February 5 Hen. VI. a Commission was directed to Sir John Robessart to install him by his Proctor, wherein to his former ^d Character is the Addition made of his great Sense, Valour, and Experience in Armes; these are honourable Testimonies and Attestations of his personal Qualifications and Vertues, and of his Fortune and Merit in publick Services.

Such authentick Eulogies deserve the Trumpets of Fame; but as of Old the Reputation of Socrates was in his Life-time sullied by Aristophanes in personating him on the Stage, so the Memory of our Heroe hath in this last Age met with the same hard Fate by Enterludes in Plays. The Deriding the Absent is contrary to all good Manners and good Nature, as well as the Precept of a grave Philosopher; but the Impairing or Lessening the Fame of the Dead is a more disingenuous Abjunctness as well as an Injustice; for they are incapable of making their own Defence. Such Usage is against the common Principles of Humanity, for the Best as well as the Greatest of Men have placed their Reputation in the next Degree to their Souls, as giving some shading Shew of Existence, and a Sort of Immortality whereby they survive their Bodies, a Principle so far implanted by Nature that even the Heathens have cheerfully yielded up their Lives in the Contemplation of the Glory of it.

It is indeed remembered that the abovementioned Socrates, upon Notice of this or other such contumelious Speeches behind his Back, made no other Reply than that, his Detractor might beat him too when he was absent: But now-a-days Persons are not of the Temper of that Philosopher, who could abstract himself from the World to that Excess of Contem-

V. Altim. Hist. p. 270. This Certificate might possibly be after the Admission of Sir John Fastolf; but it appears from it, that Radcliff had been xxviii Wjnter unreproved in Armys.

c. Altim. App. n. xxi, xxii.
d. Ibidem, n. L.

plation, as to stand in a thinking Posture two whole Days together with his Eyes steddily fixed on the same Object: The Comick Writers have drawn Characters with unaccountable Freedoms, and have run to that Length, as to burlesque the Best of their Poets from whom they derived their own little Knowledge, and therefore 'tis the less Wonder they should in their Plays distort Historical Facts, and like Harpies defile what they touch; which strange License can be only to the Taste of those who would rather leave behind them Stench than Perfume, and choose rather to live in ridiculous Satyrs and Invectives, than in just Panegyricks and Commendations.

Shakespeare, however, cannot be charged with any premeditated Spleen against the Memory of our Knight, at the Time when he composed his Comedies; for Sir John Oldcastle was at first introduced by him upon the Stage and personated in the Drama, which being resented as a great Affront, the Poet altered the Scene, and when there was nothing to Fear from any Repentment, or any Hope for Favour, he in its Room substituted the Name of Sir John Fastolf, which might be done at random, since his first Design was evidently no more, than to entertain the Theatre with the Character of a fat, amorous, vain, cowardly, drunken, old Fellow, the Corrupter of Hen. V. while Prince, as the Subject of Mirth and Ridicule: And it must be confessed, that he hath performed his Design with incomparable Wit and inimitable Humour, which have made such lasting Impressions on the Generality of Spectators, that they have been induced or bewitched into a Belief, that this Drollery was a Piece of true History.

It would be too serious to begin the Justification of our Knight, by observing, that the Comedian is guilty of a strange Anachronism in representing him an old Man before Henry the Fifth's Accession to the Throne, when he could be only Thirty four Years of Age. But the late Remarker on these Plays knows not (as he expresses himself) whether this Poet might not be somewhat to blame in this his second Choice of personating our Knight, since he was a Man of Figure in the Army and a Companion of the Garter; yet at length he is pleased upon the Whole to conclude, that the Comedian merits Applause therein, because (as he goes on) the Cowardice of our Knight lost the Battle and betrayed the brave Talbot, which ought to stigmatize any Character to all Posterity. Such a decisive Determination ought not to have been given without the Certainty of the Truth of the Fact; let his Behaviour in this, and his Courage and Integrity in all other Actions be then examined, and if he should prove unexceptionable in these Articles, such coarse Usage and Buffoonry of his Memory cannot be justified, much less commended; for sober Men will prefer Truth before Wit pointed with Satyr, as much as real before theatrical Pleasures.

To proceed then to some Memoirs of the Life and Actions of our Knight: It is much to be lamented that a particular Treatise wrote pro-

^e Fuller's Church Hist. l. 4. p. 168.
^f Compared with his death in 1459, being then 80 Years Old.

feffedly on this Subject, entituled, Acta Domini Johannis Fastolf, which Bale had seen who reports the initial Words of it, should (if it be still extant) remain at this time concealed in private Hands: This Misfortune is the greater, since this Book was compiled by William Wyrcester or Bateman, an Antiquary, Physician, and Astronomer of great Abilities for the Age he lived in, as appears from several Fragments wrote by him dispersed up and down in Libraries; and the Loss or Secreting of this Tract is the more to be regretted, in that he was an Eye-witness of most part, if not of all the Facts related by him, since his Son in the ^b Dedication of a Volume to Edw. IV. saith, that “his pore fadyr William Worceltre sometyme “servaunte and ⁱ Soget with his Reverent master John Fastolf Chevalier, he “exercised in the werres continually above xliiii yers.”

If by this Expression he meant that his Father attended our Knight for that Number of Years, then from the Calculation of Sir John's Death in 1459 he must have been in his Service ^k from the Year 1415. By a Note in a ^l Manuscript we know that he was in his Family in 1432, and that at his ^m Instance he compiled a Treatise of Astronomy in 1440: And it can be no Digression in this Place to enquire into the Quality of this Writer, because some of his Books still remaining, furnish us with some considerable Passages relating to this his Patron.

Bale calls this Author, Equestris ordinis homo; but the Editor of the Antiquities of Oxford saith, “Huic [Johanni Fastolf] ille Armigeri vicem præstitit “chlypeumq; viro detulit, quoties bellici quippiam aggrederetur,” with this farther Particularity, that he compiled the Genealogies of the Gentry of the County of Norfolk, which is there stiled a Treasure of the greatest Value, wherein we have all reason to guess the Pedigree of Fastolf, then an ample and flourishing Family might be deduced, and supported with proper Vouchers.

This Latin Expression, importing that this Wyrcester was the Esquire or Armour-bearer of Sir John, is a wrong Translation of the English original Words of the Author Anthony à Wood, “to which Person he did belong in “the Quality of an Herald, and attended him with his Coat, when he went upon any Encounter,” who might probably ground this Assertion on the Authority of ^p Fuller; however that may be, our Knight had a Pursivant by the Title of ^q Segret in 1432, which in Sound approaches very near to Soget abovementioned; though indeed ^r Peter Basset, his contemporary, stiles our Writer in Latm, Secretarius; but whether he was of the Retinue of our Knight, as his Secretary, or an Officer of Arms, in either Capacity he was enabled to relate his Actions on his own personal Knowledge, ^g In his Centuries of British Writers.

^h MS. in Bibl. Lambeth. 49. n. 141.

ⁱ Thus spelled in the Original.

^k It will be shewn, that our Knight is said to have been only forty Years in the Wars.

^l MS. in Coll. Nov. Oxon. n. 162.

^m MS. in Bibl. Bod. Gul. Laudi 504.

ⁿ Tom. 2. p. 347.

^o In Custody of the most learned Dr. Tanner Chancellor of Norwich.

^p Norfolk, p. 250, in the Margin.

^q By an Instrument under the Seal of the Commis of the Bailliage of Dieppe, dated 4 Sept. 1432, it is certified, that Gloestrie le Herault, heralt de tresault & trespuissant Prince Monsieur le Duc de Gloestrie, Segret le Poursuivant de Noble homme Monsieur Jean Fasse Chevalier, grant maistre d'ostel de l'ostel de tresault & trespuissant Prince Monsieur le Regent le Royaume de France Duc de Bedford, that they had been robbed by Tbirds, who said they were Allies of the Enemies of our King, &c.

^r M. 9. in Officio Armorum, hereafter inserted.

and it was within the Compass of each of these Employments to be acquainted with the secret Springs and Motives of them, and with his private Counsels and Instructions, and his Conduct therein.

No Improbability appears to this Editor, in supposing, that he might be his Pursivant at first by this Title of Segret, and from that Office (which was a Sort of Noviciate or Apprenticeship) be afterwards promoted to the Degree of his Herald, by the Title of Botaner, and therefore stiled Worcestre alias Botaner, according to the Method used in these Cases, which is the more credible in that his Son omits that Addition of Botaner. It was the Practice of the Nobility of that Age to give such of their Officers the Denomination of some principal Bearing in their Escutcheons, Crests, Supporters, Cognizances, Motto's, or of the Title of their Honours, or some chief Lands or Seigneuries; and though it may be too precarious a Conjecture, to imagine this Title might be taken from the Cross-Crosslets Botonée in Sir John's Arms, yet it must be confessed that his high Station in the Household of the Regent of France, did qualify him by the strictest Rules of Chivalry, to the Privilege of an Herald to attend his Service; and that our Knight placed an entire Confidence in this Person will hereafter appear, by his constituting him one of the Executors of his last Will.

By the Loss of this Treatise, we are reduced to the Necessity of collecting Scraps and Fragments scattered here and there, like saving Planks after a Shipwreck. Caxton on 12 Aug. 1481, (which is only twenty three Years after the Death of our Knight) printed a Translation of Tully de Senectute in English, which is there said to have been “ translated and thystories openly declared by the ordenaunce and desyre of the noble auncient knyght Sir Johan Fastolf of the Countee of Norfolk baneret lyyving the age of fourscore yere, exercisyng the warrys in the royaume of Fraunce and other Countrees For the diffence and unyverfal welfare of bothe royames of Englond and Fraunce by fourty yeres enduryng, the fayte of armes hauntyng, and in admynystryng justice and polytique governaunce under thre kynges that is to wete Henry the fourth Henry the fyfthe Henry the sixthe and was Governour of the Duchye of Angeou, and the Countee of Mayne Capytain of many townys Castellys and fortressys in the said royaume of Fraunce havynge the charge and saufgarde of them dyverse yeres occupyeng and rewlyng thre honderd speeres and the bowes accustomed thenne and yeldyng good account of the forsaide townes castells and fortresses to the seyd Kynges and to their Lyeutenantes Prynces of noble recommendation as Johan regent of Fraunce Duc of Bedforde Thomas Duc of Excestre Thomas Duc of Clavence and other Lieutenants.

¹ Leland observes that the Translator hereof is not named, but Bale and Pits ascribe it to John Tiptoft Earl of Worcester, upon no other Grounds possibly than that this Book was (as Caxton expresses it) annexed by him to the latter's Translation of Tully de Amicitia; the One being a strict verbal Translation and the other very Paraphrastical; from which different Manners one should be induced to guess them to be the Labours of different Persons; and from this Passage relating to Sir John Fastolf, it might be reasonably conjectured, that this same William of Wircestre alias Botaner was the real Translator, since in his own Memorials he hath entred "A. D. 1473, die 20 Aug. presentavi W. Episcopo Winton. librum Tullii de Senectute per me translatum in Anglicis." Though this Translation, by whomever it was done, is not from the original Latin, but as Caxton informs us from the "Frenshe by Laurence de primo facto at the commaundement of the noble Prynce Lowys Duc of Bourbon." The Son of this William Wircestre made a Collection of several Matters relating to the Wars in France, entituled by him, Declaration de la Chevalerie of Johan de France Duc de Bedford, which he dedicated to Edw. IV. and among other Things there is a Catalogue of the Princes, Dukes, Earls, Barons, Bannerets, Knights-Bachelors, and other Noblemen of the Household of the Regent, where it is remembred, that "John Fastolffe, Knight-Banneret, Baron of Gilliguillin, was great Steward, otherwise called Great Matter of the Household of the said Regent, and for one Year was the King's Lieutenant in the Dutchy of Normandy, and afterwards Governor of Angewe and Maine for many Years, Captain of the City of Mauis and the Castles and Towns of Allaunson, Mayn, Fresney le Vicom for 14 Years and likewise — — — of Cane — — — of Vernolle and Housfue some Years." In this same Book are several political Advertisements relating to the grand Articles of Peace and War, compos'd at sundry Times by our heroick Knight, who not only perform'd Actions fit to be wrote, but wrote what is very Instructive to be read, being a Minister of State as well as a General, and as able to counsel as to execute; and, as that Author remarks, if these his Advices had been observed, several Mis-carriages had been prevented.

¹ MS. in Bibl. Regia E. n. 1403. Symphorien Champier Traitise de fondement & origine des Titres de Noblesse, 156. MS.
² Hall's Edit. p. 481.

These are general Characters of him, but to descend to Particulars: He being 80 Years Old at his Death in 1459, must be born in or about 1379: His Education and his Actions till about the 35th Years of his Age remain undiscovered to this Collector, save only that he was in Ireland in 10 Hen. IV. where he was then married. In 1 Hen. V. the Castle and Dominion of Verres in Gascoigne were then granted to him, whence it may be conjectured that he then resided in that Dutchy, which belonged to the Crown of England. In the Colledge of Arms is the first Part of the Manuscript wrote by Peter Basset, whose Character may be consult-ed in Bale, with this Latin Title, "Iste liber de Actis Armorum & conquestibus regni Francia, Ducatus Normannia, Ducatus Alenconia, Ducatus Andegavia & Cenomania cum pluribus Comitatus compilatus fuit ad nobilem virum Joh. Fastolf Baronem de Cyllyeguillien in Anno Domini 1459, quo anno dictus Joh. Fastolf obiit per Petrum Basset Armigerum Anglica nationis, exercentem arma in Francia sub victorioso Principe Hen. V. — — — & Xpofero Hanlon — — — quod cum Thoma Beauford

^u MS. in Coll. Bened. Cant. f. 322.
^x MS. in Bibl. Lambeth, 40. n. 141.
^y See a Note hereafter inserted.

^z 1 Hen. V. Int. Collect. Rym. ad finem, Vol. 17.
^a Cent. p. 600.
^b M. g. In Officio Heraldorum.

“ Duce Excellent — — — — — de Thoro Joh. Fastolf, per diligentiam Willimi Worcesterre Secretarii dicti Joh. Fastolf, & sub Joh. Duce Bedfordia Regem. regni Franciæ, necnon aliorum Principum sub Henrico VI, in toto per spatium xxxv annorum;” which acquaints us that Harstew being taken in 1415, our Knight was established Lieutenant thereof by the Earl of Dorset, in which Year being then only an Esquire, he was retained by ‘ Indenture on the 18th of June with ten Men of Arms and thirty Archers, to serve the King in his intended Voyage into France, and having received the Honour of Knighthood before the 29th of January following, had the Mannor and ^d Demesnes of Fritense near Harstew then granted to him during his Life for his good Services. He was present at the Battle of Agincourt, one of the most glorious Victories that our Nation can boast of, where he signalized himself with others, by taking the ‘ Duke of Alençon. In 6 Hen. V. he was ordered to seize the Castle and Dominion of ⁱ Bec Cressin and other Mannors, which James d’Auricher, William de Horn, and Percival Desvanel, Knights, had held, and had that Castle and other Lands to the yearly ^g Value of 2000 Scutes granted to him in special Tail: In 1420 he was at the Siege of ^b Monstereau, and in the next Year at that of Meaulx-en-brie. After the Demise of Henry V. in January 1422, the Town of Meulent being surpris’d, John Duke of Bedford the Regent, with Sir John, then Great Master of his Household and Seneschal of Normandy, laid Siege to that Place and re-took it. In the next Year, after the Relieving of the Castle of Cravent, Sir John was constituted Lieutenant for the King and the Regent in Normandy in the Bailiwicks of Roan, Eureux, Alençon, and the Countries beyond the River Seine, and Governour of the Counties of Anjou and Maine, and before the Battle of Vernoye was advanced to be a Banneret; and about three Months afterwards a French ^h Author tells us, that our Sir John, then Captain of Alençon and Governour of the Marches thereof, laid Siege to the Castle of Tennuye in Maine, which was surrendered to him, and in 3 Hen. VI. was sent to ^k prevent the Delivery of Alençon to the French, upon a Discovery that a Gascoigner had secretly contracted to betray it. In Sept. 1425 he besieged ⁱ Beaumont le Vicomte, which surrendred, and then also took the Castle of Sillie-le-Guillem, (which as we see gave him the Title of Baron, which Place revolting afterwards, was in 1432 re-taken in an ^m Assault by the Earl of Arundel;) and in this Year our Knight took likewise St. Ouen d’Esfrais near Laval, as also the Castle of Gravelle, and about this Time was elected into this Order of the Garter. In 1426 the Lord Talbot was constituted Governour of ⁿ Anjou and Maine, and for this purpose ^o Sir John Fastolf was removed to another Place of Command, which in all probability might be the Original of Suspicions, Emulations, and Competitions between them which were never reconciled. On the 20th of October,

c Rymer, vol. 9. p. 270.

d Ibid. p. 239.

e G. G. Peres me, p. 286.

f Rot-Norman. 6 H. 5. m. 40.

g Ibid. m. 36.

h Basset ut supra.

i Chartier Hist. de Ch. VII. p. 9.

k Hollingh. p. 587 b. n. 10.

l Basset.

m Hist. de Ch. VII. p. 62.

n Basset.

o Hollingh. p. 597 b. n. 10.

7 Hen. VI, he had a *P*rotection, being then going into France, and there he performed an Action of that Bravery and Conduct as can scarce be parallel'd in antient or modern History, the Victory or Battle, (as 'tis usually called,) of the Herrings, because a great Quantity of that Fish was at that Time, being in Leant, carrying to those who besieged Orleans, the Narrative whereof, as related by Basset and a French Historian, is plac'd in the Margin: 'Tis indeed almost incredible that Fifteen hundred Englisch under the Fatigue of a March, incumbered with the Charge of a large Quantity of Provisions, should gain a compleat Victory over Nine or Ten thousand of the Enemy, who attacked them under the Conduct of Persons of the first Distinction, and that by killing Fifteen hundred of them on the Spot, without the Loss of a single Soldier of Reputation.

It appears from the Title of Basset's Manuscript, that he continued his History to the Time of the Death of our Knight, though this Copy unhappily ends with this Battle; but if there be any perfect Exemplar remaining, it may furnish us with several Memorials relating to him, which otherwise may never be retrieved.

Hitherto his Courage seems to be unquestionable, and consequently no Foundation for the Character attributed to him by the Comedian; but the Remarker lays hold on his flying from the Battle of Pataye, which was immediately after the Breaking-up this unfortunate Siege of Orleans: And indeed some French Historians say, That he and others fled from it; which 'others express in more significant Terms, That he, and such others p Rymer, vol. 10. p. 408. 7 H. 6.

9 Et environ le temps de Karesme ensuivant, pource que vivres & artilleries commencent a failir on dit Siege, fut appointee & ordonnee, que Sire Jehan Faisol & Sire Tho. Rampillon avec leurs gens vrierent devers le dit Regent a Paris, pour querir & leur admener au dit Siege des vivres & Artilleries; Lesquels venuz & arrivez au dit lieu de Paris, par l'ordonnance du dit Monsieur le Regent firent charger grant nombre des vivres tant blez, farines, barynes & autres, comme artileries sur chariotz chargez plus leurement au dit Siege, ordonna Sire Simon Morbierre Chivalier Prevost de Paris avec lui les Artibaleires de la cinquantaine de Paris, & une partie des gens du propre hostel d'icellui Monsieur le Regent, pour aller avecques les ditz Faisol & Rampillon conduire iceulx vivres jusques au dit Siege, lesquels partirent touz ensemble jusques au nombre de quinze cens hommes de guerre, ou environ, & alerent avecques leurs ditz vivres jusques a Tarnville en Beaulle. Et un matin qu'il avoit tresfort gele & faisoit grant froit, partirent du dit lieu de Tarnville, tendans leur chemin vers le dit Siege, & comme ils furent alez jusques environ ung village nomme Rouvroy, en unes grandes landes apercevoient les Francois adversaires venir de loings venir a l'encontre de eulx, & estoient bien en nombre tant Francois comme Escossois de neuf a dix mille ou environ, ou estoient les Seigneurs & autres Nobles dont les noms en partie ensuivent, cestacavoir, Sire Charles de Bourbon filz aîné du Duc de Bourbon, Sire Will. Snyard Conseillable d'Escoce, &c. & plusieurs autres: pourquoy le dit Faisol ordonna & mist tous les Anglois & autres de sa compagnie en bataille, & fist planter devant chacun archier ung pal agu pour rompre la force des chevaux a l'arriver des adversaires, & — fist mettre enclaver & l'yer touz les chevaux & charroiz, qu'ils avoient admenez avecques eulx, & yelques attendent la venue des ditz adversaires, qui viendrent & assaillirent les ditz Anglois dedens le dit cloz, qu'ils avoient ainsi fait comme dit est, mais iceulx Anglois se defendirent moult viguerement & vaillamment & tellement, que lesditz Francois se desconfirent & retrayrent & honteusement perdirent le champ, & s'enfuyrent, & a celle noble victoire & decouvre furent occis, cestacavoir le dit Sire Will. Snyard Conseillable d'Escoce & son frere, &c. & plusieurs autres tant Francois comme Escossois au nombre de xxv. ou environ. Apres laquelle noble & glorieuse victoire icellui Sire Jehan Faisol & tous ceulx de sa compagnie, dont aucun ne fut occis ne navre, dont il doyt estre fait mention, partirent avecques leurs vivres & autres artilleries, & s'en alerent au dit Siege. M. 9. in Officio Armorum.

7 Chartier Hist. de Ch. VII. p. 17. Jean Faisol estoit party de Paris, pour a vitailier & amener vivres au Siege, & pour ce que c'estoit au temps de Karesme, il y avoit plusieurs chars chargez de barynes, & furent iceux rencontres pres de Janville en Beaulle par le Duc de Bourbon & sa compagnie, lesquels estoient beaucoup en plus grand nombre que les Anglois, la y eut de tresgrandes & grosses escarmouches, & Snyard Conseillable d'Escoce & le Sire d'Orval y furent tuez, & environ deux cens hommes en leur compagnie; & icy Faisol & les gens s'en alerent au dit Siege d'Orleans.

f Hist. de Ch. VII. p. 378. Hist. de Arthur Duc de Bretagne, p. 756.

1 Chartier Hist. de Ch. VII. p. 26. Jean Faisol & plusieurs Anglois, qui peurent echapper de ce combat, se retirèrent a Corbeil. Menestrelet, vol. 2. p. 46. mesmement messire Jean Faisol — departirent enfuyant a plain cours pour sauver leurs vies.

as could escape [that is, from being killed or taken] in that sudden unexpected Surprise retired to Corbeil, while the Lord Talbot with the Lord Scales, Hungerford, and Sir Thomas Rempton had the Misfortune to be taken Prisoners of War: To which our own later Historians add, "That for this his Departure from this Battle, the Duke of Bedford took from him the George and the Garter." A Charge of so high a Nature, and such a severe Animadversion, should have been vouched by authentick contemporary Writers, and 'till such shall be produced, let us consider what absurd Consequences are necessarily implied in this Censure, and whether these do not afford us reasonable Presumptions to doubt the Truth of this Tradition.

And here to omit that the Image of St. George was not in all probability a Symbol of the Order in that Age, and admitting that these Words of the later Historians should be construed only to mean, that the Cross of St. George, an Ensign of it, was taken from him; it will be however confessed, that this Duke, then Regent of France, could not constitute, or invest any Person with this Order, though by this Action (if it should be true) it must be allowed, that he had an absolute Power to divest a Companion, and that without the Knowledge of the Sovereign or any concurrence of the other Knights; and which is the more incredible, that he actually exercised this Power upon an Information only, without hearing or examining into the Truth of the Charge or Complaint, which seems not consistent with the Honour, Generosity, and exalted Character of this Regent, who had the greatest reverence for this Order, and was a most punctual Observer of its Statutes, as appears from several Circumstances: And it is very surprising that this most heroick Duke, who esteemed himself limited and circumscribed to the Statutes in the Case of the Election of our Knight, should be on a less Guard in deposing him, and thereby casting on him an indelible Infamy by a voluntary Power not allowed by the Statutes then in being; for the Degradation of a Knight who should fly from Battle was an Article first inserted into the Statutes made by Hen. VIII. which too is there restrained, "if it should please the Sovereign, and the Company in the next Chapter."

But taking it for granted that the Regent, upon the first Representation of his Behaviour, should have been so far warmed as under that Impression to declare that our Knight might in his Opinion deserve to be degraded for this his supposed Demerit; or in the highest Extent as these Authors deliver it, that the Ensigns of the Order were really demanded and taken from him, yet this hasty Prepossession of the Regent cannot be construed to be any Diminution to the Character of our Knight, since

* Hall's Chronicle, fol. 26 b. Hollingsh. p. 601. n. 50. &c.

* Johannes filius & frater Regum Dux Bedfordie Comes de Richmond & de Kendale & Constabularius Anglie — Licet pater meus Prioratum de Okborne mihi sub certa forma donasset — Volentes occupationem Spiritualem a nobis abdicari — Custodi & Canonice libere Capelle Sancti Georgii — in honorem gloriosi Martyris, quem inter omnes Gallias ex ordinis Militaris debito & præsertim præ-textu Societatis Militaris, ad quam in eodem Collegio, quamquam immerito & minus digne socialiter sumus ascripti, præ cæteris cogimur singulariter quantum in nobis est plenius & integraliter concedimus. 3 Dec. 9 Hen. V. in Registro Arundel apud Windsor, p. 90. This being confirmed by the King on 21 July following, may probably be enrolled in the Tower.

y See Almole's Hist. p. 269.

these same Historians inform us, that after an Examination of this Charge these Ensigns were restored to him, and as they word it, for apparent Causes of good Excuse, and against the Mind of the Lord Talbot, who must have been a powerful Adversary: And though we have not the Particulars of his Vindication, or Specification of his Conduct, yet such an honourable Acquittal under these Circumstances gives reasonable Grounds to presume, that this sudden Accusation had no Pretence of Foundation but was a causeless Defamation, and that his Retiring was irreproachable.

It is the greatest Degree of Evidence that this Regent was fully convinced and satisfied in the Management of our Knight in this critical nice Juncture, in that he afterwards continued to employ him in military and civil Administrations of the highest Importance; for in 1430 he constituted him his ^c Lieutenant in Caen, as being a Person of Vigilance and Experience in Wars: In 11 Hen. VI, he went ^e into France in the Company of this Regent, and was soon afterwards one of the Embassadors sent to the ^b Council of Basil, and one of those appointed to treat of a final or temporary Peace with the Adversary of France. In 1432 he with the Lord ^d Willoughby, commanded the Army which assisted the Duke of Bretagne against the Duke of Alençon: In 12 Hen. VI, being then going into foreign Parts ^e he had License to constitute John Fastolf of Olton, Esq; his general Attorney; and in the 14th Year was again one of the ^f Embassadors to conclude a Peace with the Adversary of France. In this Year the Regent died, and with him all the Englisemens good Fortune; and which is the fullest Proof of his Confidence in our Knight he constituted him one of the ^g Executors of his last Will.

But lest it should be imagined that this Regent might be any ways partial in his private Affections for our Knight, that Suspicion will be obviated by the Grant made by the Duke of ^b Tork, the succeeding Lieutenant of France, of an Annuity of Twenty Pounds yearly out of his own Lands to him for his notable and laudable Service and good Counsel, which is a convincing Argument of this Duke's Sentiments of his Deserts. In 22 Hen. VI, he obtained License to employ some ⁱ Ships for the Furnishing of his House: In 29 Hen. VI, he conveyed to John the Cardinal ^k Archbishop of Tork and others, his Mannor of Casfre in Fleg, and several other Lands therein mentioned.

Being arrived to the Age of Eighty, he was seized with an ^l hectick Fever and Asthma, under which he laboured for 148 Days 'till ^m St. Leo-

^a Huet Origines de Caen, p. 50.

^b Rymer, vol. 10. p. 525.

^c Ibid. p. 527.

^d Ibid. p. 530.

^e Chartist Hist. de Ch. VII. p. 59.

^f Rot. Fran. 12 H. VI. m. 5. 26 January.

^g Rymer, vol. 10. p. 642.

^h Registr. Chichele, vol. 1. p. 475.

ⁱ Sandford Gener. Hist. p. 386.

^j Rymer, vol. 11. p. 44.

^k Claus. 29 H. VI.

^l E. M. S. penes Dom. Hans Sloane, Baronetrum. Cum hanc ad Ethicam febrem sive passionem devenirent plurimum senescentes disponuntur ad illam passionem sicut Johannes Fastolf miles in etate octaginta annorum illo morbo cum passione Astmatis, videlicet stricti anhelitus occasione pulmonis tumescens non potuit de leni atrahere anhelitum sive aerem suum quando emititur, unde obiit ex dictis passionibus infra 148 diebus a prima die inceptiois diste febris ethice, ut bene per experientiam numeravi.

^m In 1459. Title to Basset's MS. in the Heralds Library. MS. in Bibl. Bodl. Gul. Laudii n. 504. Quo Anno 1459. Job. Fastolf miles de Comitata Norfolk, obiit. An old Book of Law-Terms and Memorandums collected by one Reynes of Acle in Norfolk, Obiit praeclarus Vir Johannes Fastolf miles Dominus de Casfre in die Sancti Leonardi 1459, & sepellitur in Abbatia S. Benedicti de Hulno.

ward's Feast 1459, when he died, and was buried in the Abbey of St. Benedictus de Hulme in Norwich.

He made a Will, and therein John Paston sen. William Worcestre and others his Executors, which the Collector hath not had the good Fortune to find; in which 'tis probable several of his Benefactions may be specified.

After his Death a Writ of Enquiry issued to know what Lands he held in Tork and Wilts, and the Jury find that he died seized of the Mannors of Redham, Varnes, Borzuns in Castre, Drayton, Haylsdon, Heynford Saxthorp, Wurterton, Heringby Femmes, Heringby Spencers, Guton in Brundeston, Tickwell, Beyghton, the third Part of Rumham, and One hundred Acres of Land in Erleham in Norfolk, Burnevites, Caltoftys, Hemyhalis in Cotton Kirkley, Asethorp Mareland in Suffolk, Lands in Gorlesb, the Mannors of Wyghton, Neathreswald, and Bentley in Yorkshyre, and Castlecombe in Wilts.

The Lands in Torkshyre and Wiltshyre came to him by his Marriage with Milicent the Widow of Sir Stephen, third Son of the Lord Scroope, to whom he was married in Ireland on the Feast of St. Hillary in 10 Hen. IV, when he settled on her 100 l. yearly for Pimmoney, which Lady was Daughter and Coheir of Robert Lord Tibetot, and a Legatee in the Will of her first Husband made in 6 Hen. IV; and we find that these Lands descended to Stephen Lescope Esq; her Son and Heir.

This Extract relating to the Time of his Marriage, with some others taken from the Itinerary of William Worcestre and the Proctor's Book, was communicated in the most obliging Manner by the Reverend Mr. Baker of Cambridge, who after observing the Insufficiency of human Learning in all its Articles, is the most noted Person for his Readiness in assisting and directing all Searchers into Antiquities, and is above all the Praise and Acknowledgements they can render him.

The Black-Book of this Order mentions, besides his Election, nothing more than his Presence or Absence at the Feasts; that in the 5th and 8th of Hen. VI, he was in France, in the 9th in Normandy, in the 10th and 13th with the Regent in France, in the 14th, 15th, and 16th in Normandy; and that in 32 Hen. VI, he was so old and infirm, that he could not travel on Foot or Horseback without the greatest Hazard of his Health, so that his Absence was afterwards excused.

In the Church-window of Pulham-Mary in Norfolk, was formerly his Effigies or Picture in Armour gilt, his Crest on a Wreath Azure and Or, a Plume of Feathers Argent, and two Escutcheons with the Cross of St. George within the Garter, and his Lady kneeling in her Coat-Armour n See the Itinerary of William Worcestre quoted in the following Note (g) wherein at p. 245, is an Instrument whereby Sir William Yelveton, one of the Executors of Sir John Fastolf and Will. Jenney and Will. Warceste another of his Executors, appoint a Surveyor of the Lands of the Testator in Southwark and the County of Surry.

o Pat. 38 H. VI. p. 1. m. 19 d. 28 Nov.

p Ech. 38 & 39 H. VI. n. 45.

q Miscell. M. 221 in Bibl. C. C. C. Itinerar. William Worcestre. M. quod — temporis quo Johannes Fastolf Armiger sponsabat Milicentam Fastolf Dominam de Castlecombe filiam Domini Roberti Tibotot & Relictam Domini Stephani Scrope Chevalier fuit apud — in Hibernia in festo S. Hillarii anno 10 R. R. Henrici quarti & obligavit se in Mille libris — ut eadem Domina Milicenta quolibet anno durante vita ejus haberet ad Cameram centum libras & sic receipt a dicto anno usq; annum xliiii R. R. Hen. VI. See Thoroton's Nottinghamshire, p. 104. Claus. 13 H. IV.

r Registr. Arundel, f. 40 b. vol. 2.

s Rot. Fin. 38 H. VI. & 1 E. IV.

t E. 26. penes me p. 23 b. & L. 13. p. 23. and in Bicklinge Church were his Arms within a Garter.

Argent, a Saltire Gules, with these Words subscribed, Orate pro animabus Johannis Fastolf, qui multa bona fecit tempore vite — the Residue not legible when this Description was taken.

But though this Picture of his Person be defaced, we have however ample Testimonies of the Magnificence and Greatness of his Mind in several Articles very honorary to his Memory.

He was very splendid and sumptuous in his Buildings; at Caſtre near Tarmouth, the antient Seat of the Family, are to be seen the Remains of a noble Castle or House erected by him, at one Corner whereof is still a ruined Tower of Brick above One hundred Foot high, built in an odd Shape; which House, according to the current Tradition, was erected by a French Nobleman taken Prisoner in the Wars by our Knight, according to the Model and Architecture of his own Castle in France as the Price of his Ransome; which if true, might be the abovementioned Duke of Alençon. On an Arch over a Bow-window on the Inside of these Ruins in Stone-work, in Basse-relieve, are carved the Arms of our Knight surrounded with the Garter, exhibited in the Frontispiece of these Memoirs, because his Plate of Arms is not to be found in the Chapel of Windſor. He likewise built an House in Tarmouth, and a Royal Place* (as 'tis termed) in Southwark.

His Munificence was very extensive: He was a great Encourager of Learning in General by his Benefactions, and a Patron and Mecenas to learned Men in Particular: But it happens, that the Compleating several of these Designs being left to the Direction of his Executors, happened by some Means or other to be abortive, or at least his Name, as the Founder, is almost wholly forgotten.

In the Proctor's Book of the University of Cambridge* there is entred the Expence of several Messengers sent to the Executors of our Knight, and to the Lord Chancellor of England, the Supervisor of his Will, for a Beneficence towards the Building the Schools of Philosophy and Law, which by the Care taken in procuring it, seems to have been considerable, yet his Name occurs not in the Missa pro Benefactoribus.

To Magdalen-Colledge in Oxford he was a considerable Benefactor, for which his Name is commemorated in an Anniversary Speech; but it happens that the College cannot give the Particulars at large, because our Knight enfeoffed the Founder in his Life-time; but it is known that the Boars-head in Southwark, which now retains that Name, though divided

* Vinc. MS in Off. Arm. n. 18. p. 122.

* A. D. 1459. Item pro cera pro literis missis Executoribus Fyffasse militis 2d.

Item pro Scriptura duarum literarum missarum eisdem Executoribus 20 d.

Item solut. Procuratoribus pro expensis suis equitando ad Telverton, Fyffon, Executor. Domini Fyffasse militis unacum 8s. pro conductioe trium eorumum ad octo dies & 2s. 8d. pro conductioe famuli 18s. 8d.

Item solut. magistro Olivero Procuratori pro expensis suis equitando cum literis Universitatis ad Dom. Cancellarium Anglie pro benevolentia habenda, eo quod sit Principalis Executor, Supervisor bonorum Johannes Fastolf militis & pro conductu eorumum & scriptura litera 15s. 4d. 9.

Item una lagena vini tradit. M. Fyffon Executori Fyffasse 10d.

Item solut. magistro Roberto Calton Equitanti ad Executorem Johannis Fastolf militis cum literis Universitatis in procuracionem pecuniarum ad novam Edificacionem 6s. 8d. & in scriptura earundem literarum 8d. ob. — 7s. 4d.

The new Buildings here referred to, were doubtless the Structures of the Schools of Philosophy and Civil Law, for which the first Order under Lawrence Bishop of Durham Chancellor of the University, is dated the Last of June 1458; for in the same Register under 1463, solutum magistro Calton (the Person abovementioned) pro solis Juris Civilis & Philosophiæ, nichil were not perfected 'till 1467 or later.

into Tenements, yielding 150 l. yearly, and Caldecot Mannor in Suffolk were Part of the Lands he gave, and that Lovingland in that County, as 'tis conjectured, was another Part of his Donations.

At Caſtre, his Seat in Norfolk, he intended his Executors ſhould erect a College for a Maſter, ſix Priests, and ſeven poor Men, and to Endow it with an Annuity of 120 Marks chargeable upon ſeveral Mannors, and a Petition was exhibited to the Crown for a License, and an Inquiſition was taken thereon, which noble Deſign, by ſome Accident, dwindled down to a Chantery; for in the Valuation taken 26 Hen. VIII., Cantaria in Caſtre-Hall ex fundatione Joh. Faſtolf militis, valet 53 s. 4 d. per Annum.

It is particularly remembered that he was bountiful to the Officers of Arms; and we find by this Worceſtre and Baſſet that he was a Patron to Perſons of Learning and Industry.

Having this Miſfortune, that the Memory of his particular Liberalities to publick and pious Uſes was ſoon worn out, John Beauchamp Lord of Powyke, in his Will made 15 Ed. IV. appointed a Chantery more-eſpecially for the Soul of Sir John Faſtolf.

Theſe are the few Notices that the Collector hath hitherto been able to retrieve of the publick Actions of our Knight, and the Eſtimate of the Merits of them is left to the Reader's Judgement: But ſince the Statutes of this Order require a noble Birth, as one of the Qualifications for an Admiſſion, let us alſo ſearch into his Lineage and Deſcent: And on this Article Peter Le Neve Eſq; Norroy King of Arms, an exact Enquirer into Antiquities, hath been pleaſed to impart ſeveral Memorials (diſtinguiſhed by the Letters P. L. N.) taken out of the immense Magazine that he hath with an unuſual Industry aſſeſſed together, with a Deſign to compile a perfect Hiſtory of the County of Norfolk, which he is now digeſting into Method, whereby he will raiſe a durable Monument of his great Zeal for the Promoting the Honour of the Families of thoſe Parts.

To paſs by the Obſervation that one b Faſtoſes was Maſter of a Mint under King Edgar: Our Knight was certainly deſcended from a Family of great Diſtinction in Norfolk, ſeated at c Caſtre in Fleg near Great Yarmouth.

Nicholas Faſtolf held d Lands in 9 Ed. II. in Wyehinton, Redham, &c. and in that Year two Fines were levied, the e Firſt between John Faſtolf querent, Thomas Faſtolf Parſon of Fekenham and Nicholas Faſtolf deſorciants of Lands in Caſtre and Great Yarmouth; and by the Second ſeveral Lands in Yarmouth and Fleg in Norfolk, and Reydon in Suffolk, were ſettled on the ſaid John and Joan his Wife for their Lives, the Remainder to Nicholas Son of John and Ida his Wife in Tail, Remainder in Fee to the right Heirs of Joan. Nicholas was f Chief Juſtice of Ireland in 1 Ed. III. and y In eſtady of Dr. Tanner.

z Vinc. MS. in Off. Arm. n. 18. p. 122.

a Logge Qu. 12. in Cur. Prærog. Cant.

b Str. And. Fountain's Saxon Coins, Tab. 5. n. 10.

P. L. N.

c Camden Britan. de Icenis. Caſtor ſedes quotidam fuit Joannis Faſtolf militis celeberrimi.

d Nomina villarum.

e Fines 9 E. 2. P. L. N.

f Clauf. 1 E. 3. p. 2. m. 20.

was a ^g Justice itinerant in Nottingham, and this ^b Nicholas Son of John with Ada his Wife, settled Lands in Castre and other Places in Norfolk, and Reydon in Suffolk, on themselves in Tail, then to the Heirs of Nicholas, Remainder to John Son of John in Tail, Remainder to Thomas and Richard Brothers to John. In the 20th Year ⁱ Alexander held Lands in Reppes, and in the 23d Thomas Son of Alexander held ^k others in Tarmouth, and in the 35th Year this Thomas died seized of ^l Pankesford, Southwalsbam and Randerworth, and in the 48th John Fastolf was sent into ^m foreign Parts about some secret Affairs which the King laid much to Heart; in which Year Hugh ⁿ Fastolf of Great Tarmouth and John Bite of Little Tarmouth were Lieutenants of William Nevil the Admiral, as the said Hugh had ^o formerly been in the 38th Year to William Herle Admiral of the North Parts, against whom, being of Great Tarmouth, we find a Complaint lodged in Parliament 50 Ed. III. of Extortions and Oppressions to the great Damage of the King and his Subjects, of which Imputation after an Enquiry he was honourably acquitted in the ^p following Parliament, and this Hugh was Brother of ^q John. In 51 E. III. John Lakenbith grants to John Son of Hugh Fastolf and Margaret his Wife Daughter of Robert Fitz-Rauf, and to the Heirs of the Body of the said Margaret, the ^r Mannors of Bentley, Longeston, Playford, Foxhale, Combarwe, Rendlesham, and Sholondball in Naketon, with the Advowsons of Sholond, Naketon, Hokton, and Wendham combusta. And in 1 Rich. II. the Earl of Warwick Admiral, makes ^s John Fastolf of Tarmouth his Deputy, who being a Knight had a ^t Protection in the third Year, being then going to Sea in the Service of the Crown, and made Hugh Fastolf and John the Elder his general Attornies in his Absence; he held ^u Rolebies in Tarmouth in Right of his Wife Margaret, and ^v Sir Hugh [his Father] dying in 5 Rich. II, he obtained a ^w Confirmation of Free-waren in his Demefine-lands of Castre and Thruwayte, first granted in 44 Hen. III. to Robert de Castre. ^x Hugh Fastolf granted in 2 Rich. II, to John his Brother, the Mannors of Old Kerkale, Pakefield, Karleton, Kelrugland, Braderwell, Belton, Saplof, &c.

This Family being divided at length into several Branches, shared among them the Inheritances mentioned above to be conveyed by Lakinbith and others: John Fastolf Knight, in the ^a Right of Margaret his Wife, held Rolebies, Tunstall, Botillers, Wichampton, and ^b Hugh Son and Heir of John held the Mannor of Naketon in Suffolk; Hugh Fastolf Knight, held ^c Tunstall, Biston, Renghammershe in Norfolk, and John was his Son and ^d Heir. Maud, Widow of Sir Hugh, held half of ^e Tunstall Mannor and half of Wheteacremershe; and John Fastolf held the Mannor of ^f Sho- ⁱ Auxil. ad primogen. Reg. milir. facient.

^g Dugd. Chron. Series.

^b Fin. 6 E. 3. P. L. N.

^k Fin. 23 E. 3. P. L. N.

^l Efc. 35 E. 3. n. 26. Norf.

^m Rymer, vol. 7. p. 33.

ⁿ Fran. 48 E. 3. m. 20. 3 Febr.

^o Plac. Mich. 38 E. 3. coram Rege, P. L. N.

^p Rot. Parl. m. 96.

^q Fin. 41 E. 3. P. L. N.

^r Claus. 51 E. 3. in dorso.

^s Fran. 1 R. 2. m. 2.

^t Rymer, vol. 7. p. 257.

^u Efc. 7 R. 2.

^v Efc. 5 R. 2. n. 49.

^w Pat. 7 R. 2. p. 1.

^x Claus. 2 R. 2. m. 18.

^y Efc. 7 H. 4. n. 34.

^z Hill. Fin. 10 H. 4.

^a Efc. 5 H. 4. n. 49.

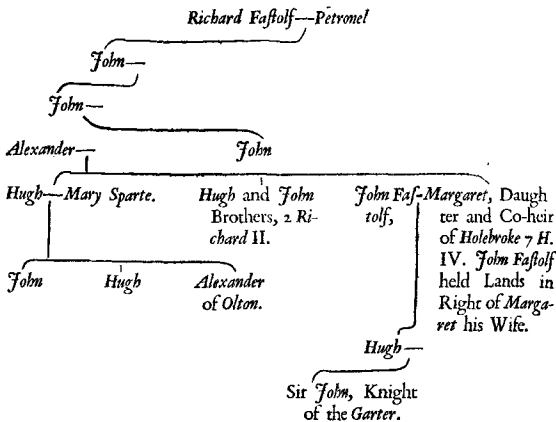

^b Fin. 22 H. 6.

^c Efc. 15 H. 6. n. 39.

^d Efc. 26 H. 6.

land-hall in Suffolk with the Mannors of Bentley and Langston, and also the Mannors of Tunstall, Biston, Benghammershe in Norfolk, leaving his Son Thomas then seven Years old. But the Branch whence our Knight descended was seated at Castre, where ^e John Son of Nicholas in 1393 orders himself to be buried in the Church of the Holy Trinity, in which Place was also a free Chappel dedicated to St. John the Baptist, to which ^b John Fastolf the Elder presented in 1377, and John Son of Alexander in 1383, and our Knight himself in 1444. Wever calls it a College, wherein he is mistaken, as that Oracle in all the Learning relating to Monasteries the Reverend Dr. Tamer, the worthy Chancellor of Norwich, hath acquainted this Collector, who hath very kindly imparted several Notices touching the Families and Persons of the Knights of this Order, who have been resident in that Diocess, and who hath frequently condescended to instruct him in several other Parts of Antiquities, in which the Doctor is a compleat and accurate Master. In the Registry of Norwich there are several Presentations and the last Wills of many of this Family, which being so numerous, and spreading into several Branches with the same Christian Names, by these Means and the Frequency of mutual Settlements, it becomes a difficult Task to deduce the Pedigree of our Knight in a direct Line, though there seems to be no Doubt but that he was the chief Heir-male, being seized of the antient Patrimony of Castre; we cannot however be mistaken in the Person of our Knight, who dying on St. Leonard's Day in 1459, at the Age of eighty Years, must of course be born in or about 1378. ^k Wever saith, that John Fastolf Esq; was his Father, and in another Place mentions one of this Name who died in 1445, who married Catherine Daughter of Bedingfield, who survived 'till 1478. Some MSS. ^m make him Son of Hugh, who was the Son of John by Margaret Daughter and Co-heir of John, Son of Sir Thomas Holebroke as follows, which is here inserted in order for a farther Examination.

^g Liber Haydon in Registro Norwic.
^d E Registra Episcop. Norwic. ⁱ To Holton by Sir John Fastolf K. in 1384, as also Rendlesham in 1388, to One-House in 1396, to Nakeron in 1404, to Brandeston, Hellefen, and Quidenham in 1448, to West Tofts in 1393, to Saint Margaret's in Norwich 1439, to the Medietie of Tavertham, and to the Rectory of Stokesby in 1444, and several others.
^k P. 363.
^l P. 784.
^m A xi. penes me, p. 201. A 21. p. 18 b. Vanc.
 MS. n. 30. in Off. Arm. in the later Part.

'Tis certain Margery Wife of ⁿ John Son of Hugh Fastolf being sixteen Years of Age, was one of the Heirs to John Holbroke, in which Right the Mannours of Holbroke, Tatington, Langeston, Bentley, Foxhale, Rendlesham, Sholland-hall in Naketon, and More-hall in Playford descended to her.

Indeed we find one Hugh Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk in 13 R. II, and in the following Year ^o Knight of the Shire for Norfolk, and ^p one of this Name was Son and Heir of Sir John Fastolf in 7 H. IV, whose ^q Homage was taken in 7 H. V, and this Hugh (or another of that Name) ^r died 7 H. VI, leaving his Son John then 21 Years old, which latter cannot be our Knight of the Garter for at that Time he must have been 49 Years old, and therefore this John, Son of Hugh, might be the Person ^s who died in or before 22 H. VI.

The Arms of our Knight have been already blazoned in this Narrative, and these and his Crest as carved upon the Arch of a Window, are exhibited in the Frontispiece of these Memoirs.

ⁿ Efc. 50 E. 3. n. 31.
^o Claus. 14 R. 2. m. 30 d.
^p Efc. 7 H. 4. P. L. N.

^q Fin. 7 H. 5. m. 10. P. L. N.
^r Efc. 7 H. 6. n. 61. Efc. 8 H. 6. n. 51. P. L. N.
^s Rot. Fin. Mich. 22 H. 6. P. L. N.

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of

Sir Walter Paveley.

SIR WALTER PAVELEY is on his Plate in this Stall stiled Premier Foundator; that is, he was one of the original Companions appointed or elected upon the Erection of this Most Noble ORDER, whose Glory (as ^a Mr. Camden saith of them collectively) can never be obliterated, having in those Days, for military Vertue and Bravery, had few Equals, and upon that Account were advanced to this Honour: so fair and conspicuous was the whole Building contrived and finished by the first grand Architect, the FOUNDER. This Appellation of ^b First Founders is always attributed to the first Knights, to distinguish them from their Successors, who by the Statutes are likewise for ever accounted and named ^c Founders.

^a In Berkhire.

^b Stat. Ed. III. Primi, Primarii, Primævi Fundatores.

^c Ibid. Art. 19.

^d Dr. Heylin imagined, that the Title of First Founders was given them, because each was by the Statutes to have the Nomination or Presentation of a Canon in the Chappel of Windsor, but this Appellation seems rather analogous to the Language and Customs of that Age observed in lesser Matters; so as the Visitors of some Colleges (who stand in the Place of the Founders) are by the local Statutes termed, Fundatores in perpetuum; and also the Heirs of the true Founders, and such to whom the Patronage devolved by Purchase, or Grants from the Crown, were in the monastick Writers in like manner stiled, Founders: As 'also other Benefactors, who either restored the Old, or made some additional Foundation.

By what Method the ROYAL FOUNDER, that great and distinguishing Judge of Men and Merit, fixed upon the Persons of these first Companions, will in all likelihood remain undiscovered: The Commencement of the Statutes ascribed to him, according to the present Copies, intimate his own Appointment of them: Froissart indeed mentions an Election Adonques furent eleus, but omits by whom or in what manner the same was made.

The Fancy of a Poet may be innocently indulged, in virtue of a License peculiar to that Art, which is not fettered by the strict Rules that confine Historians, in supposing, that since this Order hath been said to have been erected at, in, or after a general Justing, the Garter, as the Reward and Signature of the greatest Honour might be given to those, who behaved themselves best in that military Prelude or Exercise, by the Command of the Founder himself, according to his own Judgement singly, or d History of St. George, p. 704.

e Dr. Tanner's learned Introduction to his Notitia Monastica.

f See above in Page 95.

g Christophe. Delandi Anglorum Prælia 1532.

Sic pius Edwardus, certamina ludicra Martis
 Max haud injucunda mea spectacula plebi Exhibeamus, ait. Proceres quid dicitis? omnes Assensum præbent. Phalera bullataq; iræna, Auratæ sellæ, ornamenta pantur equorum,
 Conscendunt & equos. Rex sculptis aureis armis Sternacui urebatur equo, gravioribus armis
 Frazinei ligni grandi concurritur ictu,
 Aere ut hætarum fumino fragmenta volarent.
 Quicq; sui frontem vibrata percudit hostis
 Cuspide, perupto lignoq; reverberat ipsum
 Crebris, hic prius hujus certaminis aufert.
 Nox interveniens cursum dirimebat equorum,
 Rex proceresq; ejus repetunt convivæ læti,
 Nostres & cænis dixisset esse Deorum.
 Quadrædo exacto concertatoribus ampla
 Premia dat Princeps, baccharas induit illis
 Cura periculosæ, quas uno mistus Eous Commendat, flammis interloquente pyro.
 Præterea ex auro puro, quod odorifer Indus Miserat, inserta donabat læspide gemma,
 Si formam species, duplicato ex Sygmate torques.
 Et statuit numerum præclara hæc classe locandum
 Stipulis honorificæ præfatas quattuor atq;
 Viginæ, ante alios quorum laus bellica floret.
 Hoc factum ille suos iussit servare nepotes,
 Egregium sane factum, quod nulla vetustas,
 Nulli aut amorum series abolere valebit.

Namq; ad virtutes ingens est gloria veras
 Ac oblatas honor stimulus. Mittuntur ad aedes Inde suas satrapæ regali munere ditæ.

De Eduardo Tertio.

Ille memor veteres Arburi instaurat honores, Heroasq; vocat duri ad præludia belli:
 Quisquis equos melior domat, & qui viribus aude
 Continuis aut gladio certare, aut eminus hasta:
 Seu valido malit bellum committere pugno:
 Cuncti adsint, meritesq; expectent præmia palmæ
 Quoscuq; accendit peregrina gloria Martis;
 Invitat fama Juvenes, duriq; laboris Curalem vitam gemmis ostroq; rigentem
 Mercedem ponit, pretium par talibus ausis.
 Convenerè Duces, & nunc per tela, per hostes
 Haud dubiam in mortem vadunt, & fata futurse
 Securi famæ non jam metuenda læcesunt.
 Ex illo florere Edwardi, & crescere Judeæ, Gallorum fortuna retro sublapsa referri.
 Sed Britannum neu forte ingens decus intrumpat
 Longa dies, tanciq; aboleat gloria fasti, Perpetua serie succedit Martius ordo
 Heroum: Si quis bello est præclarus & armis,
 Sive fide, fidei monumentum & præmia belli,
 Aurea Rex lævæ subnectit cingula furæ.
 Nonc eadem jaçant eadem ad fastigia vestri
 Quinq; & viginæ proceres, quos æquus amavit
Carolus, atq; ardens instigat ad optima Virtus.

J. Sparrk Adii Christi Aunus in Ada Vindesiviat
D. Edwardi instaurata in Mus. Angl. vol. 2
 p. 64.

with the concurrent Advice of others; and certainly no Incongruity will result from this Hypothesis. But in what Manner soever the Designation might be, it is manifest that the first Fraternity consisted generally of young Gentlemen of great Quality, and of the most promising Hopes, many of whom were at that time under the Degree of the Peerage, to which some of them were afterwards most deservedly promoted; and as it is evident that several Noblemen of most illustrious Extractions, of large Fortunes, and in great Favour with the Crown, and eminently distinguished by their Courage and Actions in War, as the Earls of Oxford, Pembroke, Huntington, &c. were not chosen of this Society upon its Institution, so 'tis very remarkable that others who had before that time sufficiently signalized themselves in War, being pretermitted at the Foundation, were afterwards elected into this Order upon some of the earliest Vacancies; such were the Earls of Suffolk and Northampton, the Lord Cobham of Sterborough, and the ever Famous Sir Walter Manny, Persons of the first Figure in the Histories of that Age, and renowned for their Valour and successful military Actions.

The Design of the present Collection is by Way of Promptuary to ascertain the Persons of the Knights Companions, and their Successions in the several Stalls, and to shew, that each of them answered the Qualifications required by the Statutes, of a noble Birth, and Merit in military Exploits, and that briefly: for the Drudgery of compiling Pedigrees from Records, is no more suitable to the Genius, than consistent with the Leisure of the Editor, for which Defects there will be found in these genealogical Tables, as in geographical Maps of distant Countries, some void Spaces, which might be supplied by taking the proper Pains. Then again, with regard to the personal Actions of these Knights, it is become impossible, by Means of the Distance of Ages, and the Silence of the contemporary Writers, to give any other Narrative of them, than a bare unedifying Relation of their Presence in Camps, Sieges, and Battles, with the Series of their Employments in the civil Government, which will be transcribed in the obsolete Terms of the Records and antient Historians, tinctured with Barbarisms, and recited in the old Spellings, since some may think a certain Sort of Veneration is due to them: These naked Annals of Facts without their Causes, Springs, and Motives, deserve by no means the Name of Biography, which should inform us with them, and the particular Abilities, Endowments, and Excellencies of the Persons, whether their Talents were mostly for the Field or the Cabinet, or equally to both, the two grand Branches of political Studies. The Friends to Antiquity are however not few, and some may take the Labour of running over these jejune Extracts; wherein there will occur the Actions and Deaths of Generals, the Loyalty and Courage of Commanders fighting for their Prince and Country, and in truth the Characters of the individual Persons will appear very bright; whence by all Rules of Proportion it may be inferred, what a Mass of Honour or Constellation of Glory was united in the whole Fraternity or Collective-body. Some Particularities of Heraldry will incidently offer themselves among this dry Detail of Achievements, of which some cursory Explanation will be given in the Margin, that the Thread of the Discourse may not be too much interrupted, which Comments may be omitted by such (if there are any) who have no relish for this Science of Gentlemen.

Though that Part of Mr. Afmole's History which is published, grew very voluminous, and without doubt is the most compleat in its Kind that hath been published about any Order, yet he was fully convinced, as he ^b informs us, that some Memorial of the Lives of the Companions was so essential a Part of his Subject, that he made a laborious and chargeable Collection of Materials for that Purpose, which probably remain in the Museum at Oxford, but that he waved the Prosecution thereof (as he terms it) upon receiving some great Discouragement. The Expression would have been more suitable to the Fact, if he had been pleased to say, That he discontinued those Enquiries upon the Disappointment in his Solicitation to be Historiographer and Remembrancer of this Order, according to the Tenor of a ^k Patent which he had prepared; which was prevented, upon a Representation made by some of the Officers that the same was invasive upon their Rights. After such a Number of Rewards, and the several ^l Offices conferred upon him by the Sovereign, the ^m Encouragement of having Paper imported without Payment of Duties for the Edition of his History, and the respective Bounties of all the ⁿ foreign and domestick Companions, such a Complaint might have been decently spared.

^o Mr. Afmole having already entertained the Publick with the foreign Employments and Expeditions of this worthy Knight, the Reader may consult that History: And thence, as also from an Inquisition hereafter quoted, collect, that he was only Twenty-seven Years of Age at the Institution of this Order, if the same was erected in 18 Ed. III, as it hath been hinted in another Place of this Discourse.

But little being said there of his Parentage, it may not be amiss here to add, That this Sur-name, like most antient Ones, hath been variously spelled, Parvele, Parveli, Parveilli, Parvilli, and de Paviliaco; and that this Family was seized of many Knights-Fees in ^p Normandy, and frequently attested the ^q Charters granted by our Anglo-Norman Kings in that Duchy.

Mr. Afmole acquaints us, That our Knight had Lands in Northampton and Wiltshire: In the Latter we find this Family were Lords of the ^r Hundred of Westbury, and had their Seat at J Broke; which at length, in the Reign of Hen. VII, gave the Title of Baron to Robert Willoughby [Knight also of this Order] derived from this Family by his ^s Mother the Daughter and Co-heir of Sir Edmund Cheney of that Place: Which Barony is now by Descent in his Heir at Law, the Right Honourable and Reverend Dr. George Verney, Dean of Windsor, and Register of this Noble Order.

^b History, p. 643.

ⁱ n. 7395, &c.

^k Now in the Editor's Custody.

^l Secretary and Clerk of the Courts in Surinam,

Comptroller of the Excheq., &c.

^m Signet in June 1673.

ⁿ Register of the Garter 29 May 1674.

^o History of the Garter, p. 708.

^p Norman-Scriptores, p. 1032, 1039, 1047, 1057.

^q Mon. Anglic. vol. 2. p. 952, 978, 1203, 1008.

^r Efc. 40 H. 3. n. 41. Efc. 8 E. 1. n. 24. Efc.

^s 17 E. 2. n. 70. Efc. 21 E. 3. n. 28.

^f Camden. Britan. in Wils.

^t Dugd. 2 vol. Baron. p. 87.

In this County the Family of Paveley were "Benefactors to the Abbey of Stanley, and were often Sheriffs and Knights of that Shire.

In Northamptonshire we find a "Writ directed by Hen. I. to Robert de Paveley, together with many "Inquisitions and other "Instruments relating to this Family, and their "Benefactions to religious Houses in this and other "Counties.

Bofton Olauf, and many other Lands in Kent, belonged formerly to the Family of " Burghersh, and descended to " Paveley by the Marriage of Walter (Father of our Knight) with Maud Daughter and Heiress of Stephen de Burghersh; and hence doubtless it was that our Knight, being Twenty-five Years of Age, was in 16 Ed. III. found to be Cousin and Heir to Henry de " Burghersh Bishop of Lincoln, for Lands situated in Northamptonshire; which two Families engaged in the same publick Hazards; for as the " Bishop and " Sir Bartholomew Burghersh adhered to Thomas Earl of Lancaster, so " Walter de Paveley, Father of our Knight, at length obtained a Pardon upon that Account; and Sir Bartholomew Burghersh, Son of the former Sir Bartholomew, and one of the First Founders of this Order, in his " Will made in 43 Ed. III. gave our Knight a standing Cup gilt, and his whole Suit of Arms for the " Juffs, with his Coat of Male and Sword, and constituted him one of his Executors. It is very easy, if it should be thought necessary, to give much larger Notices of this Family.

There were other famous Men of this Surname contemporary with our Knight, among whom " John Paveley was Prior of St. John's of Jerusalem, and Captain of the King's Navy in 34 Ed. III. which was not thought inconsistent with the Religion of that Order; and we find that his two immediate Successors Robert de Hales and John Radington, were constituted Admirals; for this Prior was reputed among the Temporal Barons, and sat at the Head of them in the Parliaments, stiling himself " Primus Baro Anglie, as the Archbishop of Canterbury was Primus Par Anglie. There had been another of this Surname Prior of this House before this Person.

The Registers of this Order go no farther back than 4 Hen. V. but our Records assure us, that our Knight had Robes of the " Garter in 34 and 37 Ed. III. so that the Authors who miscal our Knight " Paynell and " Paganel, the Surnames of other Families, are in apparent Errors. He died, as Mr. Astmole rightly informs us, on 28 June, 49 Ed. III.

^a Mon. Angl. vol. 3. p. 261.

² Ibid. vol. 1. p. 808.

³ Efc. 16 E. 1. n. 35. Efc. 26 Junii 11 E. 2. Efc. 23 Nov. 20 E. 3. Efc. 28 Jan. 23 E. 3. Efc. 38 E. 3. n. 48. Efc. 35 E. 3. n. 24. p. 2. Efc. 49 E. 3. p. 2. n. 34. videlicet Rymer, vol. 1. p. 635, 706. vol. 2. p. 74, 190, 199, 312, 641, vol. 4. p. 109, 80, 109.

⁴ Testa de Nevill. Will of William Paveley in 1241, printed, n. 770, in Formul. Anglic. Cr.

⁵ To St. Mary de Pratis, Mon. Angl. vol. 1. p. 1018. To Sulby, Ibid. vol. 2. p. 627, 628.

⁶ To Castleacre in Norfolk, Ibid. vol. 1. p. 625. To West Derham, Ibid. vol. 2. p. 625, had Lands in Neuton in Southampton Testa de Nevill.

⁷ Dugd. 2 vol. Bar. p. 34.

^d Efc. 1 E. 3. n. 5. Efc. 11 E. 3. n. 5. Efc. 49 E. 3. Philpot's Kent, p. 86. and see p. 6, 64, 115, 132, 277.

^e Efc. apud North. 8 July, 16 E. 3.

^f Rot. Rom. 15 E. 2. m. 12. Rymer, vol. 3. p. 900. Rot. Fran. 16 E. 2. m. 9. Walsingham. A. D. 1324.

^g Leland's Collectanea, vol. 1. p. 329.

^h Rymer, vol. 3. p. 444, and vol. 4. p. 256.

ⁱ Dugd. Bar. vol. 2. p. 36.

^k Fran. 34 E. 3. m. 18.

^l Pat. 10 E. 4. p. 1, m. 13. See Camd. Brit. p. 123.

^m See above p. 44, Note, and p. 6. Note d.

ⁿ Camden in Berthire.

^o Segar, Norrow, of Honours, &c.

The Arms ascribed to John de Pavilly in that ° antient and valuable Repertory, which from the Discoverer hath been called Fleming's Book, (the Original whereof is now in this Collector's Custody) are thus blazoned, " Il port d'Azur ou une Croix d'Or, les boutes fleuretez", which were doubtless intended by this Draught. But whether this and the other Escutcheons for the First Founders and their Successors were affixed to their Stalls, in pursuance of the Statute of Ed. III., and of what Age the same are, will more properly come into Examination, when the Reader hath taken a View of the Types of all of them.

This Crest is by some thought to be an Hind's, and by others an Horse's Head.

The Mantling is Azure, lined Ermine, and of that Sort properly termed Cappeline, covering the Helmet like a Cap, having Lambrequins issuing from it, the Use whereof was not only to defend the Head from the Heat of the Steel, occasioned by the Rays of the Sun, but also to distinguish Persons in Wars or Tournaments, by their Upper-parts, in the same Manner as the Coats of Arms did their Bodies.

Least the Reader should imagine that the Engraver hath mistaken the Position of the Arms of the Knights in this Stall, which are in a quite different Posture from those made by the Impressions of their Seals: It is here to be remembered, that it was the antient Method to place these Arms in this Chappel, so as the Crest might front or encline towards the Altar, and that this Stall is situated on the Left-hand as you enter into the Choir from the West-end. A ° French Author terms the like Usage in placing the Helmets of the Companions of the Golden Fleece in the Chappel of Dijon to be Bastard-heraldry, and imputes it to the Ignorance of the Painter, not recollecting possibly, that it had the Appearance of a decent religious Respect. The Plates are now removed from one Stall to another, according to the Translations of the Knights, and being thus ambulatory, 'tis uncertain which Way the Crests may front at the Times of their Deaths, till which they do not become fixed.

The Metals and Colours are for the most Part enamelled on these Plates, which in these Draughts are expressed by Hachures or Lines.

o Laudatissimus ille vetus Armorum Liber, qui a repertore Liber Tb. Fennis appellatur. Camdeni | p Favin's Theatre of Honour, vol. 2 p. 22 in En-Apologia, p. 13. | glis.

ms. 4 p. 152

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of

Sir Thomas Banaster.

IS Successor in this Stall was Sir THOMAS BANASTER, numbered 55 in the Catalogue. This Family had long flourished in the Palatinates of Cheshire and Lancashire. Richard Banastre attests a Charter made to S. Werburgh by Hugh Lupus; and he, or another of the same Name, is Witness to the Grant of Randolf Meschines made to the same Monastery; and Hen. II. confirms the Donation made by Robert Banastre to Basingwerk in Flintshire. This Family had divers Knights Fees in Lancaster mentioned in Testa de Nevill, and were frequently Knights of the Shire for that County, as also for Shropshire. In 7 Ed. II, Robert Ba-

^a Mon. Anglic. vol. 1. p. 201.

^b Ibid. p. 285.

^c Ibid. p. 722.

^d Cl. 8 E. 2. m. 31. d. Tho. Banaster, Cl. 6 E. 3. m. 29. Adam Banast. Of the Tenure of Makefield for Rot. Pip. 7 Joh. Fin. 15 Joh. m. 7. of the Bailiwick of Amondenes, Plac. Trin. 8 E. 3. rot. 27.

^e Cl. 22 E. 3. p. 1. m. 24. d. William Banastre

de Yorton. Similiter Clauf. 18 E. 3. p. 2. m. 26. Cl. 25 E. 3. m. 27. d. Will. Banaster de Hadenhale. Similiter Clauf. 29 E. 3. m. 3. d. Clauf. 31 E. 3. m. 31. d. Clauf. 35 E. 3. m. 38. d. Clauf. 36 E. 3. m. 28. 3. d. A Family of Bunastre, with Arms like those of our Knight, is cited in Vinc. Shropshire, p. 139.

^f Rymer, vol. 3. p. 443.

nastre had a Pardon for adhering to Thomas Earl of Lancaster, though "Adam Banastre a Batchelar of Lancastreshire (as B Leland tells us moved "Ryot agayn Tho. Lancaster," which ^b happen'd in the Year 1316, and the Reader may inspect what ⁱ Knighton saith of this Matter.

But to come to the Actions of our Knight, who, for his good Services performed in the Engagement at Sea against the Spaniards under the Earl of Lancaster, had a ^k Pardon for the Death of Ralph de Blakeburn, whom he had the Misfortune to kill; and in 1360 he attended on Ed. III. in the Wars into France, where that King having entred as far as Bouy-la-Roime, conferred the Honour of ^l Knighthood upon him, who thereon undertook a bold Enterprize even to the Barriers of Paris. Then he waited on the ^m Black Prince into Spain, and was present at the famous Battle at Naxar in 1367, and in the following Year was sent to the Dutchy of ⁿ Aquitaine with Forces, when the King of France had defied Ed. III. about the Fouage. In 1369 he made a great Inroad into ^o Anjou, and before Perigourd had the ill Fortune to be taken Prisoner of War, and was afterwards exchanged for Caponel de Capommat, who had ^p summoned the Black Prince upon the Appeal of the Gascoigners about the Imposition of the Fouage; so that it appears the ^q French do an Injustice to this Prince's Memory, by saying, he was put to Death for that Action. In 2 Rich. II. Sir John Arundell (then Marshal of England) with this our valiant and good Knight (as ^r Froissart calls him) were ordered to conduct an Army into Bretaigne, when a violent Tempest drove them into the Irisse Sea, where this most noble Knight (as ^s Walsingham stiles him) was ^t drowned on the 16th of December; which, if true, he survived Sir John Arundell by one ^u Day.

In an Inventory of the ^v Ornaments, &c. of the Chappel of Windfor taken in 8 Rich. II. there is mention made of the Sword of our Knight preserved in that College, which continued there under the Reign of Hen. IV. being a Proof that he had been a Companion of this Order.

The Arms ascribed to him in Fleming's Book are, "Argent & une Croice Patée de Sable": The present Heralds might be apt to blazon it (as Wall doth) by Sarcelé, and as another Potencé. The Crest, which was formerly enamelled hereon, is, by the Injury of Time, broken off; but if some old ^w Draughts may be credited, it was a Peacock in its Glory, with Wings Argent; or, as the Latin Blazoners would call it, Parvo cum oculatâ caudâ in orbem explicatâ. "Wall Garter, calls it a "Pecocke in "his Pryde sitting on a Wreath Silver and Sable, mantled Sable, lined Silver." The Mantling is of the Cappelle Form, Sable lined Ermine.

g Leland's Collect. vol. 2. p. 546. Edit. per Hearne.
 h Ibid. vol. 1. p. 249.
 i Ibid. 2532. n. 30.
 k Rymer, vol. 6. p. 691. 24 E. 3.
 l Froiss. vol. 1. p. 220, throughout that Book he is, by mistake, called Banastre.
 m Ibid. p. 287, 303.
 n Ibid. p. 341.
 o Ibid. f. 354.
 p Froiss. vol. 1. p. 315.

q Entreeue de l'Emper. Cbar. IV. & V. p. 96.
 r Ibid. vol. 2. p. 69.
 s Walsingh. p. 242.
 t Ibid. p. 231. see p. 239, 240, &c. u Ec. 3 R. 2. n. 1.
 v Althm. Hist. of the Garter, p. 635.
 w Mon. Angl. vol. 3. p. 86.
 x Vinc. MS. n. 18. f. 80 b. y B. 1. MS. penes me.

SIR ROBERT DUNSTAVILLE is numbered 84 in the Catalogues, and placed in them as elected in the Reign of Rich. II., and in a late ^a Manuscript is inserted between Sir Thomas B. Maistre and Sir Soudan de la Trau; so that if he had this Honour, he could enjoy it only for a short Space of Time. The Want of a Plate of Arms at Windsor is no convincing Proof that there was no such Companion, since several have been stol'n; but the Silence of the Windsor-Tables is a considerable Negative-Authority against his Election, if he did not die before his Installation, or was not afterwards degraded. The Wardrobe-Accounts of this Time, when discovered, will settle this Particular. He is said to have been seized of Castlecombe in Wiltshire, which indeed belonged to the Family of ^b Dunstarvil till the 54th Year of Hen. III., when ^c Petronilla the Heiress thereof brought it to her Husband Robert de Montford, whose Son sold it to ^d Badlesincere, and by a Daughter and Coheir of that Family it came to ^e Tybelot, whence by a Daughter and Co-heir it descended to ^f Scrope of Bolton, and for some time it was in ^g Sir John Fastolf, who had married the Widow of one of that Family, and after his Death it returned to the Heir of Scrope, so that it was not in the Name of Dunstaville at this time: And the Collector doth not at present remember that he hath had the good Fortune to meet with any Knight of this Surname in the Records during this Reign, so as at present he is induced to suppose, that some Person might mis-read Robert Dunstaville for Robert Dunfraville, who was seated in the sixth Stall of the Sovereigns Side from 9 Hen. IV. to 15 Hen. VI. especially when he considers that a former ^b Officer of Arms both at ⁱ Colatford near Castlecombe, claimed a Descent by his Mother from one of this Surname, and took such Dissatisfaction to his own monosyllable Paternal-surname as to lengthen it to a Mouthful, in the Spelling whereof he at first used a Variety, and was pleased in Memory of this his Descent (as he conceived) to take the Vanity of placing for some Time an ^k Half-Garter about his Arms. The Editor is certain of the latter Facts, but gives his Opinion as to this Sir Robert's not being of the Order with Diffidence, reserving Liberty to retract it when he shall be better informed.

The Arms ascribed to him are Argent, a Fret Gules, within a Border engrailed Sable, over all on a Canton of the Second a Lyon passant Or.

^a Vinc. MS. n. 417. n. 18. in Offic. Arm.

^b See Dugd. 1st Vol. Bar. p. 591.

^{c, d} Camd. Britan. in Wilts & Dugd. Baron.

vol. 2. p. 58. 59.

^{e, f} See Dugd. & Camd.

^g Above in p. 141.

^b In several Pedigrees of his own drawing.

ⁱ A. x. penes me, p. 66.

^k H. 3. penes me, p. 1164, & A. x.

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of

Sir Sandich de Trane.

THE next Knight after Sir Thomas mentioned in the Windsor-Tables, and whose Plate remains in this Stall, is Sir SANDICH DE TRANE, as his Name is spelled, and in the Catalogue numbered 110; he was a noble enterprizing Gascaigner, and is misplaced by Mr. Asmole, Doctor Heylin, and others, as elected under Hen. IV. whereas the Former might have corrected that Mistake from his own History, where he hath faithfully quoted an Entry for Delivery of the Robes of this Order to him at the Feast held in the 7th Year of Richard II.

The Letters (n) and (u) bearing the same Form or Character in ancient Manuscripts, 'tis very difficult to assert the true Reading in the Names of Persons or Places; but since we find this Word sometime spelt Trowe, we may thence be certain of the Pronunciation in this Case.

There are large Accounts of his martial Achievements; yet, the Collector is induced to believe, this is not the Surname of his Family, but the Appellation of some Office. For tho' there occur in our ^b Records some Instances where de la Traue, or, de la Traue, looks like the Surnames of some particular Persons, as it was lately of one who dedicated a fabulous History of an Order of Knighthood to Queen Mary de Medicis; yet the following Reasons, submitted to the Readers Judgment, may possibly be found of Weight sufficient, to determine otherwise in this Case.

A late Gascogne Author complements the Comte d'Esfrades with this Souldic d'Esfrades, as he spells the Name of our Knight, for one of his lineal Ancestors; but later Genealogists run not up that Pedigree to such an Height, and it will soon appear his Conjecture was groundless. About the Time of our Knight we meet with ¹ Soldanus de Pressaco Miles, whose true Name seems to be Arnaldus Bernardi de Pressaco: But what is of great Consequence in this Matter, our Records in the French Language, and the Historians generally, if not constantly, prefix the Particle Le to Soldan, as is usual to Surnames taken from Offices or Functions, such as Le Dispenser, Le Marechal, or from Incidents or Soriquets, as Le Bigot, Le Strange, &c. Distinctions, as ^s Mr. Camden observed, religiously retained in our Records until about the Time of Ed. IV: And which is more, we are certain, That Soldanus de la Trau was given as an ^b Addition of Honour or Office (as the Lawyers term it) to Montferrant in 28 Hen. VI. The Words must be recited, "Petrus de Montferrant Soldanus de la Trau duxerat Mariam filiam naturalem carissimi avunculi nostri Johannis nuper Ducis Bedford." And in another Place, "Petrus de Montferrant Ar-miger Soldanus de la Trau in Ducatu nostro Aquitanie — supplicans, &c." who, after his Death, is stiled ^k Dominus de la Sparre (a ¹ Barony in Gascogne, granted hisundry Times to divers Knights of this Order): And in another Place, ^m Soldanus de la Trau, Dominus de Landiras; and this Mary his Relict, hath the Title of ⁿ Domina de la Sparre, after the Death of her Husband, who for his ^o Loyalty to our King, met with the Severity of losing his Head when Aquitain was taken by the French in 31 Hen. VI. And ^p two Years afterwards, we meet with a safe Conduct granted, "ad

^b Vafcon. 3, 4 & 5 H. 4. m. 10. Pro Bertrando de la Traue mil. Valc. 3 H. 5. Rym. vol. 9. p. 259. Fauquet de la Trau.

^c Discours de l'Ordre, &c. du Saint Esprit par messire Olivier de la Trau 1629.

^d Louvet Hist. d'Aquitaine, p. 222.

^e Anselme, p. 493, &c.

^f Valc. 27 E. 3. m. 14. Soldanus de Pressaco miles Dominus de Didiou, & Rym. vol. 3. p. 530. Arnaldus Bernardi de Pressaco dictus Soldan. Dom. de Dydone, p. 573, 586.

^g Remon, p. 121.

^h Rym. vol. 11. p. 275.

ⁱ Ibid. p. 241. Vileclerum Rot. Vafcon. 29 H. 6.

^m 11. Rex concessit dilecto Petro de Montferrant Soldano de Lirans custodiam castri Civitatis nostre Aquensis ad vitam. Fran. 33 H. 6. m. 23. Rex ad humilem Petitionem dilecti Fulbertus de Montferrant nuper filii Petri de Montferrant Soldani de la Trau, & Domini de l'Esparre defuncti suscepit in saluum conduclum Stephanum de Nova Domo, &c.

^k Ibid. p. 422.

^l Rym. vol. 9. p. 387.

^m Claus. 27 H. 6. d. Petrus de Montferrant Soldanus de la Trau, Dominus de Landiras de Aquitania filius & heres Euz. filie & heredis Margareta Stratton filie Johannis de Stratton, &c. relaxat jus in Stratton.

ⁿ Collectan. Rymeri ad finem, vol. 17. ad An. 2 E. 4.

^o Hollingh. p. 614. Du Tillet p. 133. Privat. Sigill. 12 Aug. 35 H. 6. That our dear and wellbelovyd Mary, Daughter of our Onckle late Duke of Bedford, whom God pardone, hath shewed unto us by supplication the great losses that she hath suffeyned since the death of Pyers Mountferrant Lord de la Sparre late hir husband which was slayne in our werres in our Duchie of Guyenne, &c. We have granted xxv marks yearly, &c. And by another Privy Seal she had C. Saluz yearly, &c.

^p Fran. 33 H. 6. m. 23.

“supplicationem Johannis de Mountferrant nuper filii Petri de Mountferrant Soldani de la Trau & Domini de la Sparra defuncti.” Whence it should seem, That Soldanus de la Trau was as much the Name of some Office in him, as the other Title, Domini de la Sparra, a Town or Seigneurie in Guienne, was of an Honour. But however, it is not pretended this Peter could be our Knight of the Garter, because our Le Soudan, whoever he was) must die before 1 Hen. V., when his Successor in this Stall, Sir Simon Felbridge, receiv'd Robes of this Order, which was under the Reign of a King preceeding the Death of this Peter; who, as it appears above, was not even of the Degree of Knighthood in the 28th Year of Hen. VI.

It may not therefore be unreasonable to suppose, Soldanus de la Traue might, under the Reign of Ed. III., and Rich. II., be as much the Appellation of some Office, as it must have been under Hen. VI.; and, probably, Le Soldan, Soudan, Soudain, Sandich, Sondyke or Souldich (as it is generally printed in Froissart) de la Traue, de la Traue, or de l'Estrade, might denote the Governor or Captain of some Town or Castle of that Name in Gascoigne, where ⁹ were Three hundred and two Baronies, and above One thousand Captainships and Bailiwicks; in the same Manner as ¹⁰ Le Capital, Capitow, or Capitan de la Buch in the same Country, is the only Title attributed by the Statutes of this Order, to one of the First Founders, whose Surname was certainly Greysly; and as the Title of Lord Duras, in the same Country, is likewise given to a Successor in this Stall, whose Surname was Durefort.

This Writer freely owns, he doth not at present recollect this Word Soldanus (derived from ¹¹ a Verb which in Arabick and Hebrew signifies to govern as a Lord, and not as one of our ¹² Historians conceived, from the Latin, Solus Dominus) hath been used in the Western Parts, for any others than the Sultans of the East; and for a certain Officer in the ¹³ Court of Rome; and in the present Case, if this is the Appellation of some Office, or Governour of some Castle or Place, as it doubtless was, for the ¹⁴ Chronicles inform us that Pope Clement V., built the Castles of de la Traue, Landriais, and others in Aquitaine, and we shall hereafter find that the Sister of this Pope was married to the lineal Ancestor of this Soldan. William Brewer was in 2 Hen. V., made Captain of this ¹⁵ Castle de la Traue, situated in the Frontiers, and we know our Knight received Money in 22 Ed. III., to fortify his Lands lying in the ¹⁶ Frontiers.

Whatever his Surname might be, his steady loyal Adherence to the Interests of our Kings in Aquitaine, and his noble military Actions on that Account, seem fully to merit this Honour: For we find him present at the ¹⁷ Battle of Poitiers, 19 Sept. 1356, and he was one of the Conservators of the ¹⁸ Truce made 31 Ed. III., for two Years. He then served the ⁹ Hollingh. p. 614.

¹⁰ See third Stall on the Sovereign's Side.
¹¹ Selden's Titles of Honour, p. 71.
¹² Order. Vital. p. 828.
¹³ Cereemoniale Roman. 1560, p. 17. Marecallus five Soldanus Curia, where also the Titles of Janizarii and Mamalucii are used. Cohellii Notitæ Cardinali. p. 224.

¹⁴ Lurbe Chronique Bourleloise, p. 25.
¹⁵ Comp. Will. Clifford Constab. Burdegal, 2 H. 5. in Off. Pip.
¹⁶ In rot. Pip. 36 E. 3. in comp. Johannis de Sreite Constab. Burdegal.
¹⁷ Froiss. vol. 1. p. 173.
¹⁸ Rym. vol. 6. p. 7.

Duke of Normandy against the King of Navar at the Battel of Cokerell, on 24 May 1364, where he was ^d wounded: This was long before Sir Soudan was elected into this Order; for otherwise the Captal de Buch being the chief Commander on the other Part, he could not have born Arms against him. He then went with the Black Prince in the Expedition into Spain, and was present at the famous ^f Battle of Nazar in 1366.

In 43 Ed. III, that King grants (as the ^g Patent expresses it) a Notre chier & feal Chevalier le Soudan de la Trau, and to his Heirs, a Place called Talement sur Gonde, (which is in Xaintongne) to hold until such Time as he should recover his own proper Inheritance in the Petit-Customs of Royan. He was one of the ^b Captains in the Castle of Montauban in Britaigne; and in 1370 at the ⁱ Siege and Taking of Limoges; and the next Year went to the ^k Siege of Montpaon. And on 24 Febr. 45 Ed. III, the Black Prince gives a Nostre bien amé Le Soudain de la Trau, the Baillewick of Mavampne during Life, in Consideration of the painful Diligence and Travels which his said faithful Knight had performed to him in his Wars, and at the Siege of Montpaon and other Places. In 1372 he was ^m one of the Captains in Rochelle. In 50 Ed. III, he is ⁿ named immediately after the Seneschal of Aquitaine, for observing the Truce made with the King of Castile, and in the next Year the King confirms to him the Grant of ^o Mavempne.

In 1 Rich. II, the King ^p commands him to obey the Orders of John Lord Nevil, Lieutenant of Aquitaine, which Sort of Mandate usually issued upon the Constituting of that Officer: And in this Year he ^q valiantly defended himself in the Castle of Mortaigne sur Mer. In Poitou: The Words of the Historian, who must personally have known him, are so material as to be inserted, “Dedans Mortaigne estoit un Chevalier nommé le Souldich, qui estoit de Gascoigne, vaillant Chevalier & bon homme d’armes”; which Place he held out ^r during the Siege of one Year and half, till such Time as he was relieved by the said Lord Nevill; for which noble Action he received Five hundred Franks, as the ^s Patent runs, for his good and agreeable Services to the late King, and which he shall perform to the present King, and for his great Pains, Travel, and Charges which he and his Souldiers had suffered for a long Time in the Siege of Mortaigne. In 4 Ric. II, the King confirmed the Grants of the Black Prince made to him of Montandre and Mavempne, by an Instrument which will be hereafter inserted at Length. Being a ^t Knight and Banneret, he served in Portugal and Spain under the Earl of Cambridge, with One hundred Men of Arms, and the like Number of Archers: But we are informed, that in his Passage or Voyage to Lisbon, he was separated from his Company by a violent Storm, whereby it was concluded he was drowned; but after forty Days he arri-

^c Froiff. vol. 1. c. 220.

^d Ibid. c. 221.

^e Ibid. p. 287.

^f Ibid. p. 298.

^g Rym. vol. 6. p. 612.

^h Froiff. vol. 1. p. 331.

ⁱ Ibid. p. 366.

^k Ibid. p. 374.

^l Rym. vol. 6. p. 683.

^m Froiff. vol. 1. p. 387.

ⁿ Rym. vol. 7. p. 107.

^o Valcon. 51 E. 3. n. 8.

^p Rym. vol. 7. p. 198.

^q Froiff. vol. 2. p. 10.

^r Ibid. p. 9, 25.

^s Ibid. p. 25.

^t Rym. vol. 7. p. 328.

^u Indentura in Off. Pellium.

ved thither, in the Moment while his Friends were performing an Obsequy for him in mourning Habits. After escaping this Danger and unhappy Omen, he received the Congratulations of his Companions, and was present at the Taking of 'Fighiere from the Spaniards, and was sent to the ² King of Castile to desire a Time and Place of Battle; but the Peace being suddenly struck up, and, according to the Humour of that Age, Justs being appointed, Miles de Windsor, one of the Combatants, received the Honour of Knighthood (as the Historian expresseth it) from "Messire le Souldich de l'Éstrade pour le meilleure Chevalier de la place & qui mieux s'estoit travaille & trouve en belles besongnes;" which the Lord Berners translates, "Souldyche of l'Éstrade as of hym that was reputed the best Knyght in that Company:" And we know it was the Custom of that Age for Knights to confer that Degree on others, and that it was thought more ⁴ Honour to receive it from a Person who had acquired great Reputation in Feats of Arms, than from the immediate Hands of a King or Prince. In the said 4 Rich. II., for consideration of his Loss of Lands of 6000 Livres of yearly Rent (sex mille libratas terræ) in Aquitain, and for his Loyalty to our King, he had a ^b Recompence of 1500 l. yearly granted. In 7 Rich. II., he acknowledges the Receipt of some ^c Money, and in this Year received ^d Robes of the Garter, though he was doubtless chosen into this Order soon after the Death of Sir Thomas Banastre, which will be settled by the Wardrobe-accounts if they shall be discovered. In 8 Rich. II., the King grants to him and his Heirs ^e a Fair, to be held Weekly within his own Territory or Dominion of Darbenatz in Aquitain.

Either this Person, or another Soldanus de la Trau, is named One of the Conservators of the ^f Truces made from the 11th to the 18th of Rich. II. inclusively.

Hence 'tis certain, that all the Books which place his Election under Hen. IV., and his Death in 21 Hen. IV., are in apparent Errors, but none of these Writers have attempted to describe his Person or Family.

The most learned Monsieur Clairambault hath obliged this Editor with Copies of several valuable Instruments, which, compared with the Records of this Kingdom, ascertain the Family and Surname of our heroick Knight, to whom we owe the Merit of these military Achievements: Let us therefore with Pleasure, render due Honour to the Memory of ——— de Preissac Sire de Didon, a Seigniorie in Xaintonge near the Garonne somewhat above Royan.

These ^g Instruments remain under Seals of the same Impression; by the first Soudan de la Traue Knight Seigneur de Dydone, acknowledged the Receipt ^x Froiss. vol. 2. p. 121, 136, 137.

^y Ibid. p. 144.

^z Ibid. p. 155.

^a Lobineau l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 851.

^b Vasc. 4 R. II. m. 2.

^c Collect. Rymeri ad finem, vol. 7.

^d See above p. 11. in the Notes.

^e Rym. vol. 7. p. 436.

^f Ibid. p. 598, 640, 721, 775, 786.

^g Copie sur l'original estant en parchemin. Sachent tous que nous Soudan de Laitane Chevalier

Seigneur de Dydone, confessions avoir heu & receu par la main de Jehan des Doubet Clerc Lieutenant de honorable homme Regnaud Grollebois Receveur du Roy nostre Sire en Poitou & en Xaintonge, par le commandement de Noble & puissant honnne Monsieur Iber Seigneur de Maignac Chevalier du Roy nostre Sire Cheaptayne Souverain de parti depute en Xaintonge per tou Limouzin & es lieux voyzins & Seneschal de Xaintonge au compte & paiement de noz gages serviz ou a deservir en ceste presente guerre dis livres monnoye courante: Desquelles
T t
vous

cept of his Wages in War, dated 7 June 1340; by the Second, on the 5th of the next Month Soudan de Priffac Sire de Didome, gives a Discharge for a farther Sum; and by the Third of the like Nature, bearing Date in the following Month, under the Title of Souldan de Perfac Seigneur de Didome; whence it appears, that the Seigneur de Didome was the same Person who is stiled Soudan de la Traue and Soudan de Priffac, the former in respect probably of the Office and Place of his Government, and the latter with regard to the Name of his Office prefixed to his Surname.

This most accomplished Antiquary, with the greatest Civility, hath taken the Trouble of transmitting the Copy of another Record bearing Date in 1350, whereby the King of France gave the Chancellery of ^b Didon to Sir Fouk de Matas, who had taken it by Force from the Soudan de la Trau, then his Enemy, reserving therein Power to himself to vacate that Grant within the Term of one Year, which was done with a Prospect doubtless, that the Soudan might within that Term return to the Embracing his Interest; and in Fact we find him in that Capacity at the Battle of Cocherell, which Action was not inconsistent with his Allegiance to the Crown of England; and here he performed such signal Services, that the King of France rewarded him 1364 under the Appellation of ⁱ Soldan de la Trau Chevalier Seigneur de Didome, with the Castle of Beavoiv, for which he performed Homage.

The Identity of the Seigneur de Didome with Soldan de Trau and Soldan de Priffac, is amply confirmed in our Records. In the Account of the Constable of Burdeaux from 17 July 1352 to Michaelmas 1353, are different Payments, ^k Soldano de la Trau Domino de Didon and Soldano de Pyffaco and Soldano de Preiffaco Domino de Didon. Richard II, reciting two Grants made by the Black Prince his Father, Soldano de Preiffaco Domino de Didone and Soldano filio suo primogenito, and a le Soudan de la Trau confirms both of them by an Instrument which is docketted or entituled in the Margin of the Roll, ^l Pro Soldano de la Traue Chevalier.

Being

nous le dit Soudan & Chevalier nous tenons pour bien paieez, & en quignons ledit Receveur & son Lieutenant par cez nos lettres de nostre propre seal sceelles le 5 jour de Juliet l'an Mil ecc & quarante.

Sachent tuit qui je Soudan de Priffac Sire de Didone confesse avoir eu & receu de honorable & sage Regnaud Crullebis Receveur du Roy nostre Sire en Yainflong par la main de Jehan du Doubec son clerc par rachat de Mr. le Capitaine G. Seneschal de Xaintes quatre vins sept livres tournois en prest fur mes gages de moy & des Gens d'armes estans en ma Compagnie, & de ceulx de pie ferviz & a servir en ceste presente guerre: Desquelles iiiiii^{es} vii li je me teings parbien paie par ces lettres sceelles de mon seal. Donne a Nantes le 7^e jour de Juing l'an Mil iiii^{es} xl.

Autre Quittance du meme commençant par ces mots. Sachent toz que je Soudan de Perfac Seigneur de Didome Chevalier par lui donnee au dit Regnaud Crullebis de la somme de 93 li tournois en prest fur ses gages & des Gens d'armes & fergens de sa Compagnie en date du 19 jour d'Aoust 1340.

Ces tres quittances sont sceelles en cire rouge, & sur le fceau est un Chevalier arme, tenant de la main droite l'Espée haute & de la gauche un Bouclier, sur lequel il y a pour armes un Lion parri de trois faces. Les Caparisons du Cheval fenz de ces memes armes.

^b Tresor des Chartres du Roy de France.

ⁱ Ibid.

^k Entred in Rot. Pip. 36 E. 3.

^l Ex. Rot. Vascon. de 20. 40. Ric. 2di. m. 20. De Confirmatione pro Soldano de la Traue Chevalier.

Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem. Insuperimus tenorem Literarum patentium carissimum Domini & Patris nostri sub sigillo Guille. Bevell Judicis Appellationum Curie nostre Vascon. in hac verba. Edwardus Illustrissimi Domini Dei gratia Angl. & Franc. Regis Primogenitus Princeps Wallie Dux Cornub. & Comes Cestr. universis & singulis presentes literas inspectur salurem & presentibus dare fidem & meminimus nos nuper ex legalibus & gratuitis servitiis dicto Domino & progenitori nostro & nobis per dilectum & fidelem nostrum Soldanum de Priffaco Dominum de Didone Militem prestitis & impensis & que per in antea verisimiliter speramus impendit eidem locum de Mumandre cum omnibus redditibus

Being thus ascertained of the Surname of this Soldan, it is within the Connection of this Discourse to give some short Notices of this Family, to shew that the Linage of our Knight answered the Qualification required by the Statutes. Pope Clement V., extended Nepotism to great Lengths, in the Number of such his Kinsmen were m Gaillard de Pressaco Bishop of Thoulouse and n Arnald de Pressaco; and we find that Regine de Gutto Countess of Armagnack the Granddaughter and Heiress of Arnald Garfis del Gout Brother of that Pope, in her o Will made 1325, devised the Viscounties of Leomagne and Auvillar, the Chastellanries of Duras, Blanquefort, and several other Lands to her Husband, and the Heirs of his Body to be begotten, and for Want thereof substituted Arnald Bernardi de Pressaco Kt. called the Soldan, Aymery de Durfort, and others of her Relations, in equal Portions: And Liberty is here craved to insert a genealogical Table, to shew this Consanguinity more intelligibly to the View, because the Descent of another noble Knight, seated hereafter in this same Stall, will thence receive some Light. But it must not be understood that these two Families owed their Originals to this Alliance, though their Fortunes might be considerably advanced thereby; for we have Memorials of them both antecedent to this Papacy; That of p Pressac occurs as early as the Reign of King John, and the Title of q Soldan was used in 9 Ed. II., which was in the Year next after the Death of this Pope, and Arnaldus Bernardi de Pressaco was two Years before retained to be of that r King's Council and Household, who, or another of that Name, had in 1 Ed. III. Thanks return'd to him for his s Loyalty; and in the 27th Year was made r Regent of the Office of Seneschal of the Dutchy of Aquitaine, and in the 35th Year he received a considerable Sum for one Years Salary in u executing that Office.

bus iuribus deveris proficuis emolumentis & aliis suis perin' univ'ersis cum mero & mixto Imperio alta & bassa ac omnimoda iurisdictione ad dictam locum pertinen' & pertinere debent' quoquo modo sub certis forma & modis per nostras Literas duxerimus contulisse. Cum igitur exarcescentibus subdiurini meritis & servitiis Regie largitionis inserit ad ampliores gratias se reddere liberalem Idcirco dicti Soldani intuent' obsequia & servitia de diebus in dies in regis honorum & tuend' iuribus ut est fidelis cuiuslibet adaugeri ex his sibi facere uberiores gratiam & merito appetent' eidem Soldano ad vite sue terminum, & Soldano filio suo Primogenito pro se & heredibus suis dictum locum de Montandre cum omnibus redditibus iuribus deveris proficuis & emolumentis & aliis suis perin' univ'ersis ac mero & mixto Imperio alta & bassa ac omnimoda iurisdictione ad dictum locum pertin' & pertinere debent' quoquo modo de nostra certa Scientia & gratia specialiter porestatog; itobis super hoc attributa dedimus & concessimus Damusq; ac concedimus per presentes habend' tenend' possidend' regend' gubernand' per dictum Soldanum ad vite sue terminum & per dictum Soldanum filium suum pro se & heredibus suis ut est dictum quacunq; donatione concessione vel assignatione per inancia in contrarium facienda in aliquo non obstante dicto Domino progenitori nostro & nobis Superioritate Resorto & Homagii & in aliis salvis iuribus regis quibullibet alienis. Dat. Burdagal' sub sigillo nostro primo die Aprilis Anno Dom. Millesimo cccmo. quinquagesimo septimo.

Insuperimus insuper tenorem aliarum Literarum patentium ejusdem Domini & patris nostri sub si-gillo predicti Indicis in hac verba Edward Aisne filx du Roy de France & D'engleterre Prince D' Aquitaine & de Galer Duc de Cornaille Comte de Cestre Seigneur de Biscaye & de Castro Durliats faisons favoir a tous qe pur le penyble diligence & travail que nostre bien ame le Souldain de la Trais nostre foial Chivaler nous a fait en noz Guerres & services tant a Siege de Montpaon come ailleurs & fetra en temps avenit Et en recompensation de ses gages les quels il dit a lui estre due luy avons domies & attroyes donnons & attroyons per ces presentes de nostre Grace especial la Baillie de Marenne avecques touz les profitis & emolumentis dielle a terme de sa vie, &c.

Nos autem dictas Donationes concessiones & confirmationes Patris & Avi nostrorum predictorum approbamus ratificamus & confirmamus prout Literas suae predictae rationaliter testantur. Ita semper quod idem Soldanus fil' & heredes sui homagium Ligeum & alia deveria supradicta nobis & heredibus nostris pro rebus supradictis faciant ut est iustum In cujus, &c. Teste Rege apud Wym. x. die Junij.

m Baluzii notae in vitas Pappar. Avenion. p. 621, 645, 733, 739. Gallia Christiana vol. p. 692.
n Rymer, vol. 3. p. 579.
o Balaz. ibidem, vol. 2. p. 465.
p Rymer, ibid. 1. p. 116. vol. 2. p. 398.
q Ibid. vol. 3. p. 572, 586, &c.
r Ibid. p. 530.
s Pat. 7 E. 2. p. 2.
t Valcon. 28 E. 3. m. 14.
u Rot. Pip. 36 E. 3.

So that Soudan de Preiffac the Father, married ^a Rose Sister of Sennebrun Lord of l'Esparre, by whom he had a Son and a Daughter. Soudic the Son married ^y Margaret the Daughter of John de Stratton or Stretton ^a Lord of Landiras and Constable of Bordeaux in 6 Rich. II., who had several Lands in England, by whom he left a Daughter his Heiress married to Peter de Montferrant, whereby the Titles of Soudan de la Traue and Lord of Landiras and of l'Esparre was brought into this Family. The Daughter of Soudan the Father was married to the Sire de Courton, from whom descended the Alferix of Navarre, which Pedigree is proved by an Instrument placed at large in the Margin, because it shews the Method of Descents of Lands in Bourdelois, while the same was under the Crown of England.

This Margaret de Stratton survived her Husband, and under Hen. IV., had several Controversies with the ^a Prior of St. Stephen de Moretanke in Guyenne.

* A vous tres excellent & trespuissant Prince & nostre tres Souverain Seigneur le Roy d'Angleterre & a Mess. du Conseil.

Signifie treshumblement suppliant la vostre lige Agnee Dame de la baronie de Conron de vostre Duchie de Guyenne, laquelle est mariee a son Seigneur Mary Charles de Beaumont Alferix de Navarre, Que comme a la dite Suppliant & a ses enfans par droite lignee & succession de nature soit appartenante & deue la moitie de tout l'ostel, terre, baronie, & heritage de l'Esparre, de Carcans, de Lisrac, & de Brull, avecques toutes les apparten' & appendences, sicome de cest droit de succession, &c. Et soit ainsi que la mesme heritage est retenu & mis en vostre main Royal par vos Officrs & gens de la vostre Conseil de Bordeaux, &c. Qu'il plait a vostre Royaute de lui faire droit & raison selon le loy de Justice & Coustume de Bourdelois, &c.

Et afin que vostre Royaute & vostre hault Conseil serent informez de la vraye lignee de la dite Suppliant, en le dit heritage, La verite du fait si est, Que Dame Rose de l'Esparre fa entiere sœur germaine de Monsieur Sennebrun Seigneur qui fu de l'Esparre & pere du noble Seigneur Monsieur Florimont Seigneur de l'Esparre naqueres ale de vie a trespassement, fut mariee en l'ostel de Lavras, laquelle Dame Rose, si fusse a present en vie fusse & devoit estre proprietaire sans doubt de tout l'ostel, baronie, & afaire de l'Esparre. Et de la dite Dame Rose descendirent & furent filz & fille de son dit mariage, le noble baron Mont. Soudain de Lavras, & la noble Dame Dame Marguerite de Lavras, mere qui fut du noble baron Mess. Anauls Sire de Conron tierienale de vie a trespassement, Du quel la dite Dame Agnee quereillante & suppliante est fille loyalle & vraye heritiere, Et le dessus dit Mont. de Conron son pere, Et Monsieur le Soudic fils dudit Monsieur le Soudain, autemps qu'ilz vivoient, estoit Cousins germainz filz de frere & de sœur, Et come par les choses & causes dessus dites, lesquelles sont prouveables & vrayes aboudeusement selon droit divin, & selon droit escript, & selon la vraye coustume de Bourdelois, laquelle est & contient que es terres & biens provinciaux & advenus de la partie de la mere, filz & fille succedent & doivent partir egalement & par egales portions, se demostre & aparaille clement, que la dite moitie de tout ledit Chastel, Seigneurie, & afaire de l'Esparre par droite succession de nature & lignage soit deue & appartenante a la dite Dame suppliante, Et aussi que des enfans du Sire de l'Esparre detreinement mort est devenus sans hoir de eulx descendants.

Le Roy d'Angleterre & de France & Seigneur d'Irlande.

Trefchers & bien amez foiaux. Nostre trefchere & bien amee Anne Dame de la Baronie de Conron dedeinz nostre Duchie de Guyenne femme a nostre trefchere & foial Cousin Charles de Beaumont Alferix de Navarre per sa supplication monitez ad en compleignant devant nostre Conseil, Que combien que a elle & a ses enfanz par droite lignee & succession de nature soit appartenante & deue la moitie de tout l'ostel, terre, baronie, & heritage de l'Esparre, de Carcans, de Lisrac, & de Brull, &c. De l'assent de nostre dit Conseil volons & vous mandons, &c. que selon la ley & coustume de nostre Duchie & de nostre pais de Bourdelois, facer faire a la dite Dame en la susdite cause ce, que droit raison & justice demandent, &c. Don a Wesim. le viii jour de Mars l'an premier.

A nostre trefchere & foial Chevalier Johan Radcliff nostre Seneschal de Guyenne, & de los Landts & as autres noz foiaux a nostre Conseil de Bourdelois.

In dorso.

Tertio die Marii A9. p. 9. apud fratres predicatores London concessi. est quod, sicut litera sub privato sigillo secundum quod infrascriptur super contentis in supplicatione huius amez, presentibus Dom. Ducibus Glouc. & Essex. Lon. & Winton. Episcopis, Comite Warr. Tippoft Canc. Thef. & Custode Privati Sigilli. (i.e. 3 Marii, 1 Hen. 6. Anno Dom. 1422-3.

3 Abree in Note m, p. 158. Vafcon. 5 R. 2. m. 10.

2 Vafcon. 1 R. 2. m. 4.

Rymer vol. 7. p. 325, 322, 266.

a Ex Origin. in Off. Pell. Henri — a Pourable Pere en Dien Lercovefs, de Bordeaux Salaz. Monfrer Fauque de la Roba Priour du Manfrer de Epistene de Moretanche en nostre Duchie de Guyenne, que Dame Margarete de Stratton jadis femme du Sindic de la Traue — ne veullot foecier avoir fa possession de la dite Priorie, &c. volons que vous facez faire droit selonc ce que les leies & coustumes de nostre Duchie de Guyenne le requierent.

The abovementioned most obliging Gentleman hath farther informed this Editor, that after the Beheading of the Sire de Montferrant le Soudan de la Trau at Poitiers in 1454, his Lands being distributed as forfeited, and his Children insisting that Confiscations were contrary to the Law of Guyenne, that Controversy remained undecided 'till after the Year 1500, and that his Posterity at this Time continue the Usage of the Title of Soudan de la Trau.

His Arms on the Plate are Or, un Lyon rampant quiev fourchue Gules, which differ in the Addition of fourchue from those on his Seal to the abovementioned Instrument, which are there impaled with three Fesses. His Crest, as some Manuscripts blason it, a Sary's Head Argent or Proper; but rather the Head of Midas with Asses Ears, not unlike That of his Countryman the Capit de Buch, which hath been observed to be as good a Crest according to the Rules of Heraldry, as the ^b Chieftans Head Proper, in a white Scarf goodly enveloped, born by Sir John Chandos.

^b Wirley's true Use of Armory, p. 27.

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of

Sir Simon de Felbrigg.

AFTER Sir Sandieb, Sir SIMON DE FELBRIGG numbered 114 filled this Stall, who in the Catalogues is said to be elected under Hen. V, and by ^a Mr. Ashmole in the fifth Year of that Reign; whereas 'tis certain, he was chosen in the ^b Reign of Rich. II, a Prince not only extremely fond of his Royal Consort Queen Anne, but very liberal in his Favours to her Relations, and among others to our Knight, who had married her near Kinswoman one of her Maids of Honour, and our Knight expressed his Gratitude for these Benefactions in his last Will made even under the Lancastrian-Line, by ordering Masses for that King's Soul, according to the Religion of that Age.

The Black Book in 2 Hen. VI, when the Duke of Gloucester, who had been elected in 1 Hen. IV, is mentioned to be present, proceeds to describe this Sir Simon (as 'tis there worded) to be Ordinis maxime Senex; and in the following Year, in the Absence of our Knight, this same Book stiles the Lord Hungerford cœtis illius natu maximus, at a Time when several Companions, Seniors to this Lord Hungerford by Election, were present; so that our Knight might be the eldest Companion by Priority of Election, and possibly in Years too, of the Knights present in this Second of Hen. VI., and the Lord Hungerford be the Senior in Years, or the eldest Person of the Knights present in the Third of Hen. V., when Sir Simon was absent.

^a MS. in Mus. Adu. n. 7395.

^b See above Page 13, Note f.

Our Sir Simon was descended from an ancient knightly Family furnished from d Felbrige, a noble Seat, Mannor, and Parish in Norfolk: Richard de Felebrig, by a Deed without Date, gave to the Church of the 'Holy Cross in Thetford, several Lands, which descended to him from Maud de Raunton his Grandmother; and it appears from a f Fine, that William Son and Heir of Richard married Mary de Merlay, but dying without Issue, was succeeded by his Sister g Maud married to Simon Bigot, who in her Widowhood by a b Letter of Attorney empowered her Son Roger to agree to an alternate Presentation with the Prior of Beefston for the Church of Ranton, and who in 2 Ed. I., had the Right of i Wreck, Assize of Bread and Beer, and View of Frankpledge in Ranton, which doubtless was first brought into this Family by the abovementioned Marriage. This Sir Roger, by the Name of Roger le Bigot de Felbrige, had free k Warren in Felbrige, Ranton, and other Places, who by Cecilia his Lady named in Deeds the 19th and 23d of Ed. I., jointly with her Husband to have held Lands in 1 Tutington, was Father of another Sir Simon, who stiled himself frequently m Simon Bigot de Felbrige, and is in the Tract called Nomina villarum, called Simon Felbrige Proprietor of the Mannor of Felbrige, and of other Places in 9 E. II., and of Pellinge in Norfolk, and who in the Aid for the Knighthood of the Black Prince in 20 Ed. III., is there said to hold Pellinge, which Simon Bigot formerly held, and likewise one Knights Fee in Ranton; which Simon Bigot de Felbrige purchased Lands in n Barringham and other Places from Mary de Hastings, and with his Wife Alicia Daughter of Sir George Thorpe, levied o Fines of several Messuages in East Harling and other Places, and settled the p Mannor and Advowson of East Harling on John Herling, and was Father of Sir Roger Felbrige that had the Grant of a q Market, Fair, and View of Frankpledge in Felbrige in 26 Ed. III., and had a Writ of r Ad quod Danum in 28 Ed. III., in which Year by the Title of Roger Son of Simon de Felbrige he had another Grant of s View of Frankpledge in Felbrige and Ailmerton, with Waif, Stray, Market, and Fair; and in the Thirtieth, being then a Knight, purchased Lands

c Lib. Nig. Garterii.

d Spelmanni Icenia, p. 152.

e Ex. Origin. penes, P. Le Neve Norroy.

f Fin. 4 H. 3. penes eundem.

g Gloveri Stematata inter Philp. MSS. in Off. Arm. p. 245.

h Fin. 56 H. 3. P. Le Neve Norroy.

i Inq. per hundreda penes eundem.

k Cart. 9 E. 1. n. 73.

l Penes P. L. N.

m E. Collect. Tho. Tamer, S. T. P. Cancellarii Ecclesie Norwic.

n Fin. 28 E. 1. penes P. L. N.

o Fin. 6 E. 2. penes eundem.

p Fin. 25 E. 3. penes eundem.

q Cart. 25 & 26 E. 3. n. 15. Rogerus fil' Simonis de Felbrige.

r Ec. 28 E. 3. n. 40.

s Cart. 28 E. 3. n. 22. P. L. N.

in Roughton and other Places; and in the 33d Year confirms to Sir Walter de Walcot and others the Mannors of Felbrigge and Ailmerton, with Lands in Ranton, Beston, Grestham, Becham, Southside, Metton, Roughton-shippedene, Thurgarton, and Aldeburgh, with the Advowsons of Felbrigge, East-Harling, Ailmerton, and Ranton, to which his Lady^a Elizabeth is a Party, and her Seal hath the Impression of the Arms of Felbrigge empling those of Scales: In 38 Ed. III, Thomas de Wingfeld and Margaret his Wife farm out the Mannor of Metton to^x Roger Felbrigge Knight, and Elizabeth his Wife, for seven Years: In the 41st Year he purchaseth Lands in^y Donyham, Colby and other Towns, and was living in 41 Ed. III, with his Lady Elizabeth, who was Daughter of Robert Lord Scales, and at length one of the^z Heiresses of that noble Family; he died it seems in Prussia, having an honorary Monument or Cenotaphium erected for him in the Church of Felbrigge, leaving our^a Knight his Son and Heir.

If Credit may be given to the Genealogists, the first Simon Bigot above-mentioned was Brother to Roger Earl of Norfolk, which if true, he must be younger than John, who by^b Inquisition was found to be the Brother and Heir of that Earl, and in confirmation of this Tradition, it hath been supposed, that the Similitude or Analogy of the Arms of Felbrigge to those of Bigot, is owing to this Consanguinity: But whatever the present Case may be, 'tis certain that there were several Families of the Bigots seated in different Counties who bore different Arms, and that a Conformity or even Identity of antient Arms, without further Proofs, is no certain Argument of Kindred, since Feudatories holding beneficiary Lands by Tenure of performing Services in the Wars, did frequently take^c Clientelary Arms very near resembling those of their High Lords, and it may be their Surnames too, as one Part of the Manumitted among the Romans assumed those of their Patrons: It is however certain, that Roger Bigot held Felbrigge at the Time of making^d Domesday-Book, and it is not improbable that a younger Branch of that Family on whom this Mannor might have been settled, did, according to the Humour of former Ages, assume this Surname from this Seat or Habitation.

But 'tis high time to proceed to the Actions of our Knight, who presented Clerks to several^e Churches in the Diocess of Norwich, from the 13th of Rich. II., till 18 Hen. IV., and among others to that of Felbrigge in 1430. It appears from his Deposition hereafter inserted, that he was present with the Duke of Lancaster at the Relief of Bress, and in the Voyage into Spain, which was in 9 Rich. II., and in the 11th Year he^f purchaseth the Mannour of Colby, and granted an Annuity issuing out of it to^g Sir William Philip: In the 13th Year he had a^b License to travel together with Sir William Arundell (who was a Knight also of this Order) for

¹ Fin. 30 E. 3. penes eundem.

² x y Penes eundem.

^z Camden. Britan. in Herefordshire.

^a Gloveri MS. n. 2. Tom. 33 inter Philp. MS. in Off. Arm.

^b Ek. 35 E. 1. n. 46. Vide Walsingh. Ypod. Neustr. p. 426.

^c Spelman; Aspilogia p. 49. Camden's Remains

p. 181. Dugdale's Warwick p. 647. Vincent agnatio Broke, p. 693.

^d Domesday-Book.

^e Registr. Episc. Norwic. To the Medietie of Aylmerton in 1389, to Snoring in 1400, and many others.

^f Fin. 11 R. 2. P. L. N.

^g Clauf. 11 R. 2. m. 25. dorc.

^b Pat. 13 R. 2. p. 2. m. 12.

a Pilgrimage, probably to St. James, as was very usual in that Age; and in the 18th succeeded Sir Nicholas Sarnsfeild (Knight also of this Order) as the King's 'Standard-bearer (an Office formerly granted to none but Persons of almost experienced Valour and Bravery, endued with great Strength of Body as well as with a known Genius for the Functions of War, and for that Reason the same was mostly in the Companions of this Order;) in Memory whereof the King's Standard is represented on the Monument which our Knight in his Life-time caused to be erected for his Lady and Himself. In 22 Rich. II., being one of the Knights of the King's Chamber, he had granted to him in Tail-male the ^k Mannour of Beston in Norfolk, lately belonging to the Earl of Arundell attained, in which Year he went into ^l Ireland, waiting probably on the King thither. In 9 Hen. IV., our Sir Simon was ^m examined in the Court Military, in the Controversy about Arms between Grey and Hastings: And a ⁿ Memorial which hath no Date affixed to it, shews, that our Knight had four Mannours belonging to the Alien Abbot and Convent of Cluny in France; and we meet with one of his Deeds ^o enrolled in the Reign of Hen. IV., whose Successor Hen. V., in his first ^p Year reciting Grants made by Rich. II., of 100 Marks issuing out of the Fee-farm of the City of Norwich, and of the like Sum from the Issues of the Counties of Norfolk and Suffolk confirmed to him by his Father, orders the same to be annually paid; in which Year also he received Robes of this ^{pp} Order, and was retained on the 29th of April in the third Year by ^q Indenture to serve in the Wars in Guierme and France with twelve Men of Arms and thirty-six Archers; as also in the following Year, when he again received ^r Robes of the Garter; and on the 4th of October being at ^s St. Albans with John Duke of Bedford, was received into the Sustrages and Fraternity of that Monastery. He settled on ^t William Merford and other Feoffees the Mannours of Felbrigg, Tottington, Routon, Ailmerston, Ingworth, Barmingham, and Colby in Norfolk, Bryffworth in Suffolk, and Shawpenhow and Stratley in Bedford. The Black-book of the Order gives i Pat. 18 R. 2. p. 2. m. 17. 17 Apr. & Pat. 19 R. 2. m. 30.

k Pat. 22 R. 2. p. 3.

l Pat. 22 R. 2. p. 3. m. 21. 28 Apr. Simo Felbrigg Chevalier qui verius partes Hibernie profecturus habet literas de generali Attornato &c. sub nominibus Georgii Felbrigg Chevalier, & Rob. Berny Chevalier, Robertus Felbrigg Armigeri, sub nominibus Job. Felbrigg Clerici, &c.

m Mesme le Jour, l'an & lieu avant ditz [i. e. 20 de Juyll en la vicarage de Northwalsham l'an 11] par les ditz Commisairs & Examinateurs, en presence du dite assise, Monsieur Symon Felbrigg Chevalier requis & diligemment examine, de & sur tout les matieres, sur queux ses costes pre-examines feurent demandes & requis, dist c'est Chevalier soy tant savoir, que luy mesme fust present a le secours fait a Siege de Breiff par le Duc de Lancastre, qd dieu assoile, sur son viage en Espaigne, & ailleurs, vint le Baner du dit Monsieur Hugh [Hasting] sanz interruption ou challenge; Et celle partie dist, & concorde mesme c'est Chevalier oue Monsieur Thomas Bryngbom preexamine, touchant le pertur des ditz armes durant la dite siege en Espaigne. Item dist c'est Chevalier q'il feust hors del Royaume a temps de la departition del heritage & terres des Countz de Penbroke entre la partie pleyntii, &

Monsieur William Beauchamp, & a son revenis en Engleterre, il soy merveillast de ceo, qsr il guidoit, que le dit Monsieur Edward par cause del noun de Hefpyge deust avoir les terres & heritage sds ditz, & dist ausi c'est Chevalier, q'il suppose veritairement, si le dit Monsieur Edward eust este du pleyn age al temps du dite departison, le dit Monsieur Edmond n'eust heut liens li legement, comme il avoit, des terres avant ditz. Item quant as generalz Interrogatories dist c'est Chevalier come il ad dit devant, & outre & concorde oue Monsieur Miles Stapulston preexamine, Plus nautrement as ditz matieres ne a les Interrogatories, ses depositions concernant ne a nulle parcelle dicelles, ne scut c'est Chevalier dire, ne deposer au present, come il dist; noun obstant que sur les ditz matieres, & cheicon partie dicelles, & ausi sur le Interrogatories il feust bien & diligemment examine.

n In Off. Pell.

o Claus. 12 H. 4. m. 8.

p Priv. Sigill. 19 Dec. 1 H. 5. in Off. Pell.

pp Abbr. p. 14. Note 5.

q In Off. Pell.

r Rymer vol. 9. p. 335, which should be in the 3d of Hen. V. See above p. 15.

s Nero D. 7. in Bibl. Cotton.

t Claus. 5 H. 5. P. 1. N.

no other Notices of him than his Presence or Absence from the Feasts; that he attended at That held 7 Hen. V., in which Year we find him as a Witness of the Promise made by * Arthur of Bretagne upon his Release-ment, to return under the Penalty of the Reversal of his Arms, which in that Age was the Mark of perpetual x Infamy. He was one of the Com-missioners for borrowing y Money in the County of Northampton on a Loan to the King, in which Year, and the following One, we meet with two of his z Deeds enrolled in Chancery; he was present in the a Chap-ers of this Order held in the 8th and 9th of Hen. V., and received the Habits of this Order against the Feast held in this b latter Year, and was

* Rymer, vol. 9. p. 744.

x Hence the Clause commonly inserted in Agreements made with Prisoners upon their Ransom, that in case they did not perform the Conditions, they consented re-turari pro felonio & infami, ac Arma sua reversari. Rym. vol. 7. p. 228. Rym. vol. 9. p. 444, 743, 744. See Du Tillier recueil des Rois de France, p. 432. See Froiss. vol. 2. p. 123, &c.

y Rym. vol. 9. p. 814.

z Claus. 7 H. 5. m. 16. d. Cl. 8 H. 5.

a Lib. Niger.

b Comp. Robertii Rolleston Custodis magni Garde-rolas pro anno nono Henr. Quinti penes Remm. Regis in Scaccario.

Pro broadat. mclxx Gart. eor. pret. vii. 24. 7. 6d. pro opere & broadat. mclmlii Gart. operat. de feric. & auro de Cipre pro qual. pret. v. d.

Ad i goun. long. i capuc. duplicat. de pann. Blanket long. fac. & diét. goun. furr. cum belis de Ern. & Ern. ventr. ac operat. in brouder. cum Gart. de aur. de Cipre & feric. cum isto dictamine Henr. fait qd mal y pense pro eod. Domino Rege erga festum Sancti Georgij.

ix uln. pann. blanket. long.
xii timbr. belis. de Ern.
17 panes de Ern. vent.

xx

Ciixix de aur. Gart.

q qr. dim. unius uln. tel. lin. Braban.

Ad i capuc. simpl. de panno nigr. long. fac. pro Rege erga diét. festum & ad i cingl. pro eodem domino Regi fac. de Tiffur. feric. nigr. & i Bokell. i pendant. & Barr. auri pur. & ad vi. wardebrac. pro Rege fact. & garnit. cum tissut. feric. conf. i Bokell. & i pendant & Barr. de—

Johanni Cavendish Broadatori dom. Regis sup. broadat. iii. M. cccxxii Gart. rotund. de Tarterin. Boker. & Carde operand. cum feric. & aur. de Cipr. cum isto dictamine, Henr. fait qui mal y pense, ordina. pro Robis de pann. Blanket. long. viz. pro Domino Rege, Duc. Bedf. & al. Duc. Comit. Baron. & Milit. de Societat. Gart. ac pro Domina Regina & Comitissa Hunt. p. Rob. suis conf. operand. in brouder. de pann. conf. cum Gart. conf. erga festum Sancti Georgij anno ix p. tpus. huius computi p. litem dorman. de Priv. Sigillo diét. Custod. inde direct. dat. xx Feb. anno vii.

v pec. ii uln. iij. qtr. Tarterin.
xiii l. ix unc. auri de Cipr.
viii l. de unc. Seric.
iiii pec. x uln. Carde.
i pec. ij uln. Boker-ilh. x unc. Pakfil.
ilh. Fil.

Domino Regi ad mt. goun. de pann. rub. curr. fac. & in med. ante & retr. diét. goun. confuend. cum Cruc. Sancti Georgij mod. unius Sol. &c.

Duc. Bedf. Gloucester, & Exon. ac al. Comit. Baron. & Milit. de societat. Gart. erga festum Sancti Georgij hoc anno ix. ad rob. suas de pann. Blanket. long. de dono Domini Regis fact. & furr. ac operand. in brouder. cum Gart. de Tartin. auri de Cipr. & feric. cum isto diét. Henr. fait qui mal y pense, viz. prædict.

Duc. Bedford, Gloucester, & Exon. ac Comit. Warw. Sarum, Wylm. & Hind.

Cuilibet eorum v. uln. pann. Blanket. long. & i furr. de cc ventr. men. pur. ac diétis tribus Duc. cuilibet eor. ca. Gart. de feric. & aur. de Cipr. ac cuilibet diét. comit. & Gart. confil.

Ac Domino de Fitzbugh, Domino de Willoughby,
Johanni Cornwallie, Willmo Pbilip,
Johanni Robessart,
Wih. Hangerford,
Willmo Harrington.
Thom. Erpyngbam,
Simoni Felbrige,
Rob. Umfreville,
Her. Tancke,
&
Lodovic Robessart, milit.

Cuilibet eor. v. uln. pann. blanket. long. conf. i furr. de cxx ventr. men. gross.

Ac præfatio Dom. de Fitzbugh, & Waltero Hangerford.

Utrique eorum C Gart. & cuilibet al. Domin. & Milit. lxxxi. Gart. confimil.

Ac Comitissa Hunt.

Ad Conf. Rob. suam de panno Blanket. conf. de conf. dono Regis fact. furr. & operand. in brouder. cum Gart. erga diét. festum v. uln. pann. Blanket. conf. i furr. de cc ventr. Men. pur. & c Gart. conf.

Ac venerabili in Christo Patri Episc. Wynton.

Ad rob. suam fac. & furr. de conf. dono Regis erga idem fest. i pann. Blanket. cont. i furr. de DC. & i capuc. de cxi ventr. men. pur. i furr. de cccc. & i furr. de cccix ventr. de men. gross. & i furr. de Byf. de cxl best p. breve Regis dat. xii Decemb. anno ix.

iiii pann.

was excused for his Absence in the following One; and at the Feast 1 Hen. VI. hath this Addition, Dom. Simon. Felbrigge Senior, which seems to relate to his Seniority in the Order, since it may be difficult to find any other Knight at that Time of his Name; and indeed if there was, that Addition would however be foreign in an Entry in the Register of this Order. At this Time he settled an ^c Annuity of two Nobles on Garter King of Arms; in the next Year he is described as above, Ordinis maxime Senex, and is by mistake in the third Year called Dominus Thomas Felbrigge, and was present at the Feasts in the 4th, 5th, 6th, and 7th of Hen. VI. excused in the 14th and 15th, and omitted in the 16th Year; from which Time there is a Chasm or Silence in this Book 'till the 22d Year, before which Time he died, having in 19 Hen. VI. with his Lady ^d Katherine, purchased Lands in East Beckham and Beefton by the Sea. His Will was made on 'St. Matthew's Day, [Sept. 21, 1442,] 21 Hen. VI. and proved on the 20th of February following, wherein he mentions his Mannors of Felbrigge, Ailmerton, Routon, Barningham, Colby, Toisington-Hall, and Ingworth in Norfolk, Presseworth in Suffolk, and Sharpenhoe and Stattele in Bedford, ordering himself to be buried in the Church of the Friars Preachers in Norwich, appointing Masses for the Souls of his Wives and of Richard late King of England, and giving Legacies to his Wife Katherine, to Thomas Tndale, to the eldest Son of Sir Thomas Warnton by Alana his (this Sir Simons) Daughter, and also to another Daughter a Minoress at Bruford; yet the Jury finding that he died seized jointly with Katherine his Wife of Felbrigge, and of these other Lands, give however their Verdict of their Ignorance of his Heir at Law; which seems very surprizing, unless the same was occasioned in that this Lady Alana might be his Daughter by an Alien not naturalized, wherein the abovecited Pedigrees so far agree as to make this Alana to be his Daughter by Margaret the Daughter of a Brother to Wenceslaus King of Bobemia and Emperor; and yet it seems the Descent of Tndale from this Marriage, was afterwards esteemed no ^e Bar to his being One of the Heirs to the Lord Scales, whose Sister was Mother of our Knight.

iiii pann. x uln. pann. Blanket. long.
viii quart. de CC } ventr. } furr. } men. pur.
i de DC } } capuc. }
i de CXL

xii qual. de Cxx }
i de CCCC } ventr. Furr. men. gross.
i de CCCLX }

i de CxL beffs furr. de Bff.
MDCCCLX de feric. & aur. Gart.

Imperator. Roman. ad rob. suam fac. de pann. blank.
long. & furr. cum beffs de Erm. ac operat. in broad.
cum Gart. cum literis aur. pro liberat. fraternitat.
Sancti Georgij p. breve. prad.

ix uln. dim. pann. Blanket. long.
xxv timbr. v. beffs. de Erm.
Cxlj cum literis aur. Gart.

In this Account are the Particulars very large provided for the Coronation of Queen Katherine.

Eidem Regina ad i gown. long. fac. de pann. Blanket. long. de liberat. Gart. erga dict. festum Sancti Georgij & furr. cum panes de Erm. ventr. & beffs. de Erm. ac operat. in brouder. cum Gart. rotund. feric. & aur. de Cipte cum isto dictamine, Hony soit qi male y pense, erga idem festum per breve Reg. 12 Dec. anno ix.

ix uln. pann. Blanket. long.
xix timbr. xii beffs. de Erm.
iii panes de Erm. ventr.
CLXXV cum literis aur. Gart.

c Athm. App. to the History of the Garter.
d Fin. 19 H. 6. P. L. N. e Lib. Roue in Curia Præ. Cantuar.
f Efc. 21 H. 6. n. 33.
g Camd. Brit. in Engl. p. 293.

The Inquisitive and most learned Sir Henry ^b Spelman saith, that our Knight's first Lady was the Daughter of the Duke Thasa (as 'tis printed) who was Nephew to the King of Bohemia, and entertains his Reader with a Tradition current in his younger Years, That this Lady's Great Grandson William Tindal, made Knight of the Bath at the Creation of the Prince, was on the Right of this Descent declared Heir of that Kingdom, " jure " Margaretxæ Proavia sue heredem regni Bohemix denunciatum." ⁱ Fuller mentions the same Tradition in substance, but varied as to the Person; acquainting us, That Dr. Humphry Tindal Dean of Ely, and Master of Queen's College in Cambridge, was in the Reign of Queen Elizabeth " prof- " fered by the Protestant Party in Bohemia to be made King thereof, " which he refused, alledging he had rather be Queen Elizabeth's Subject, " than a foreign Prince:" He reckons it improbable, but proceeds to add, " I know full well that Crown is Elective; I know also that for " some Hundreds of Years it hath been fixed to the German Empire: " However because no Smoak without some Fire, or Heat at least, there " is something in it, more than appears to every Eye: True it is, that " he was Son to Sir Tho. Tindal of Hockwold in Norfolk, and how Bohe- " mian Blood came into his Veins I know not; sure I am, he gave the " Arms of Bohemia, viz. Mars, a Lyon with a forked Tail Luna, crown- " ed Sol, with a Plume of Estrich Feathers for a Crest."

The Manner how Bohemian Blood came into his Veins hath been hinted, but possibly the Arms and Crest which Mr. Fuller conceived to be those of Bohemia, were only the paternal Arms and Crest of Felbrigge, which Tyndal might bear [Quarterly] or allusive thereto, as the Heir thereof.

Ostrich Feathers were indeed the ^k Crest of the Arms of Bohemia, and in all probability the Black Prince might assume them as his Cognizance, in memory of killing that King at Cressy; but those of Bohemia were not Ermind, whereas Tyndal (as Wall Garter saith) bore for his Crest " a Busche " of Ostriche Feathers bound Ermyns in a Crowne gold maneteled Gules, " lyned argent;" and the Arms of Felbrige differ from those of Bohemia, not only in the Colours but in the Tails of the Lyon.

But to return to this first Marriage of our Knight: Sir Henry Spelman, by Duke of Thasa intended without doubt Primislaus Dux Teschmenfis, that is of Tessen, a Principality in Silesia, which Person was not natural Brother, but sororius (as our ^l Records term him) to Wenceslaus Brother of our Queen Anne. Balbinus ^m acquaints us, that Wenceslaus VIIth King of Bohemia married Viola Sister of Casimir the third Duke of Tessen, Father of Primislaus; this Duke waiting on Queen Anne hither, had many distinguishing Marks of " Honour and Bounty given him, and this Lady Margaret died, as appears from the Inscription on the Monument, on the 27th of June 1416, 4 Hen. V. and our Knight after some time married again.

^b Icenia, p. 152.

ⁱ History of Cambridge, p. 81.

^k Vredii Sigill. Flandria, p. 63, Gr.

^l Rymer vol. 7. p. 283, 293, 295, Gr.

^m Miscell. Hist. Bohemia, in Genealogis.

ⁿ Pat. 4 R. 2. p. 3. retained of the King's Council, &c.

There remain other Difficulties in Entries about our Knight, who (as we are certain from the Probate of the Will) died before 20 Febr. 21 Hen. VI, and therefore the Account of the Wardrobe transcribed into a Book by one Cotom Clerk of that Office, said in the Title thereof to 'commence from Michaëlm. 22 Hen. VI, charging Robes to have been delivered to our Knight, must either be mistaken in the Date, or be understood to relate to the Year wherein that Officer passed the same, according to the Forms of the Exchequer.

Then as to his Burial, Mr. Wever in one Part of his ^p Book places it in the Black Friars at Norwich in 1442, and that of his Lady Katherine at the same Place in the Year 1449; and yet in another Part saith, that at " Cromer lieth the Body of Sir Simo Felbrigge Knight of the Garter in " the Reign of Hen. VI. with his Effigies, which he there describes to be " in compleat Armour, in both his Emerales the Crofs of St. George, " holding in his Right-hand a Pennon of Arms, his Belt bossed and " gilt, his Hanger by his Side, his Spurs gilt, the blue Garter about his ^o Liber Cotom in Officio Magnæ Garderobæ, p. 91 b.

Venerabili in Christo Patri Episcopo Whiton Cardinali Aniæ ad robam suam de liberat. Fraternalit. Sancti Georgij hoc Anno facti de pann. Blanket-furr. cum men. pur. & gross. & lylf.

i pann. cont. xxiii uln. Blanket long.
i de cxi capuc. } men. pur.
i de de furr. }
i de cccc } furr. men. gross.
i de cccxl }
i de cxi bests. furr. Byf.

Duci Glouc.
Duci Fbor.
Duci Excestr. & Duci Smerf.

Cuilibet eorum v. uln. pan. Blanket. i furr. de CC ventr. Men. purr. & Cxx Garteris.

March. Dorfs.
Com. Suff.
Com. Suff.
Com. Sar.
Com. de Langvile, &
Com. Salop.

Cuilibet eorum v. uln. pann. Blanket. i furr. de CC ventr. Men. pur. & C Garteris.

Domino de Wroughby, Domino de Stales, Domino de Hungerford,
Domino de Sudely, Vicount de Beaumont, Domino de Fauconberge.

Cuilibet eorum v. uln. pan. Blanket. i furr. de Cxx ventr. Menev. gross. & lxxx Garteris.

Johanni Robshart,
Johanni Fyffoly,
Henr. Tankt, &
Simoni Felbrigge,

Cuilibet eor. v. uln. pann. Blank. furr. de Cxx ventr. men. gross. & Lxx Garteris operat. cum literis feric. & aur. cipi. more consueto, de dono dom. Reg. contra fm. Sancti Georgij hoc anno.

iii pann. & uln. Blanket long.
x qrt. de cc ventr. furr. menev. pur.
x qrt. de Cxx ventr. furr. men. gross.
MDCXXI Garteris.

Regi Portugal. ad habend. i mantell. de Velvet blod. plan. lin. cum damasc. alb. cum i Garter gross. embroud. de Arnis Sancti Georgij cum i laq' long. cum knopp. & Tassell. de rem. ultimi Comp. anni precedent. ac ad i gown' long. fac. de pann. scarlet. garnizat. cum Garteris de liberat. Sancti Georgij & furr. cum men. pur. puriflat. Ermyns cum i capuc. de eodem panno similiter. garnizat. cum Garteris.

v. uln. pann. scarlet.
iiii integ. Ermyns
xxxvii tymbr. de men. pur.
i de Velvet blod. } mantell.
lin. cum damasc. alb. }
i long. cum knopp. } laq; feric.
tassell. feric. }
i gross. operat. cum armis } Gart.
Sancti Georgij Cxx }

Comitissa Suffolk ad habend. de dono Regis con. festum Sancti Georgij hoc Anno pro liter. dorman. de Priv. Sigillo diei. Custodi qui nunc est. vel qui temp. fuerit inde direct. dat. iii Nov. Anno Regis xii liberat. & comp. diei coruptan. de eodem Anno xii & sup. annot.

v. uln. pan. Blanket long.
i de CC ventr. furr. men. pur.
C Garteris.

Johanni Mounshill. broudr. Regis ad superbroudr. Garteria præd' sup. Tarterin. & Card. confut. cum feric. & operat. cum aur. cipi. pro divers. Dom. & Dominabus supradict.

iiii pec. i uln. Tarterin.
iii pec. di. uln. Card.
viii iii unc. i qrt. aur. cipi.
iiii lb feric.

^p Funeral Monuments, p. 805.
^q Ibid. p. 856.

hic Jacet Symon felbrigge miles quondam verillarius illustri sicut dicitur regis ricardi secundi qui obiit die mensis anno dni mccc et dua Margarita quondam consors sba nomine boena ac olim domicilla filios crissime die dne anne quondam inclite regine que obiit xxvii die mensis junij anno dni mccc cccii qvaranun qpres amen

“right [he should have said about his left] Leg, his Feet resting on a “Lyon all engraven in Brass, his Lady by his Side, &c.” by which Particulars it appears, that Cromer is by mistake inserted for Fellrigge, where such a Monument still remains, which was doubtless erected by himself upon the Death of his first Lady, and where he intended at that time to have been laid, and accordingly there are Blanks in the Inscrि- ption for the Day, Month, and Year whereon his Death should happen, which were never filled up, because he afterwards altered that Resolusion, and ordered himself to be buried in the Black Friars in Norwich, which we shall soon find was observed; but 'tis necessary first to give some larger Description of this Monument, a Type whereof is here exhibited, the same being of very great Authority as to the then Habits of the Order, and very instructive in other Curiosities. He being under great Obligations to Richard the Second, to whom he was Standard-bearer, hath the Standard displayed, the Shaft thereof resting on a Lyon, and in the Standard or Banner, as also in the Upper-part of the Monument are that King's Arms empaled with or after those ascribed to the Confessor, which are said to be ' Azure, a Cross fleure Or, between five Martlets of the Second, taken probably from the Reverse of a Coin of Edward found in that dark Age, when Arms were thought to have been ' established long before the Conquest: And Richard II, towards the End of his ' Reign, out of regard to his great Patron St. Edward (as he esteemed him) placed his Arms before his own; and accordingly we find many Entries in the Accounts of the ' Wardrobe 2 2 Rich. II, of several Things embroidered de Armis Sancti Eduardi & Domini Regis nunc partitis, which he allowed to be also born as Augmentations in the first Place, by some of his chief Favourites*, and among others by ' Thomas Mowbray Earl of Nottingham, the Usage whereof by his Descendant the most learned and generous Nobleman of his Age the unfortunate Earl of Surry, Knight also of this Order, was made a chief Article of the Accusation against him, and Inuendo's of Treason found out of that and other Simbols.

r Upton de re milit. p. 129.
 f Camd. Brit. in English, in Saxoni Cuius, Tab. 7.
 n. 14, 16, 23, but Fontaine de Nonisim. in Tab. 7.
 ad finem Theauri ling. Septentr. attribuitur it to Edward Senior.

* In the Case of Arms between Scrope and Grosvener, John of Gaunt Duke of Lancaster attests, That in the Reign of Ed. III, upon a Reference to Six of the most eminent Knights of that Age, Catminow of Cornwall proved his Right to his Arms, by the constant Bearing thereof from the Time of King Arthur, &c. u Froissart vol. 4, p. 183, tells us, That the Irish had great Reverence and Dread of Edward the Confessor, whereof King Richard receiving Information, did upon his Expedition into that Country leave off the Usage of the Leopards and the Fleurs de Lis, and took the Arms of that Saint, viz. A Cross potencee d'Or, & de Gules, a Quatre Coulombs blanc, which induced the Irish to favour to him.

Chron. Melros de ferali Parlamento inter MSS.
 Will. Petri Arm. in Bibl. Interioris Templi. Rex vero qui iam triumphasset ex infestissimis hostibus sic su-perbit sic efferebatur vanis cogitationibus, ut iam respueret omne medium, & sic se supra se extolleret, ut mutaret arma sua, que pater & Avus & patri sui geftaverunt & adderet kuto suo Arma S. Eduardi, sic ut anterior pars arma Sancti plena forent, & pars reliqua plena esset recognitio armorum parentum ejus.

See Walsing. p. 355. ad Annum Domini 1398.
 u Comp. Johannis Macclefield Custod. Magn.
 Gard. 22 R. 2. penes Remem. Regis.

x To the Duke of Hereford, Surry, Exeter, &c.
 Comp. William Lovyns Custodis Magna Garderobe dom. Henrici Lancast. Ducis Hereford abanno x R. 2.
 in Officio Ducat. Lanc. pro pondere argenti unius Sigilli Domini facti cum Armis Sancti Eduardi & An-gelice ac Hereford, cum nomine Ducis Hereford ponderantis xv uncias iii gran. pretii unc. ii. iiii.

Seal of the Duke of Exeter in Vinc. n. 88. p. 89.
 and I have seen some Originals.

y Mon. Angl. vol. 2. p. 194. Richardus Rex anno 25mo dedit Tho. de Mowbray Comiti Nottingham ad portandum in sigillo & vexillo suo Arma S. Eduardi, idcirco arma bipartita portavit Kilicet S. Eduardi & Domini Marecalli Anglie cum duabus pennis fruscionis erect. &c.

See Vinc. MS. in rough Leather in Off. Arm. n. 63.
 p. 39. See Vincent against Brook, p. 389.

His Arms were so empaled in the Windows of Keg-worth Church in Leicestershire.

The Arms of Queen Anne impaled likewise with those of Richard the Second, are placed over the Head of the Lady Felbrigge, to whom she was related, being Quarterly, those of the Empire Or, an Eagle displayed with two Heads Sable, and the Kingdom of Bohemia Gules, a Lyon rampant Argent, queue furchée. ^a Upton indeed blazons those Arms of Rich. II. and Queen Anne, not by Empalement, but Quarterly Quarterly: But there possibly is an Anachronism committed in Heraldry upon this Monument, for Queen Anne died on the 7th of June 1394, in the End of the 17th Year of Richard II., which is supposed to be before that King took the Humour of empaling the Arms of the Confessor.

The Effigies of our Knight represents him in compleat Armour, and thereon the Cross of St. George in a Scutcheon on both Shoulders, but not surrounded with any Garter, that on the Left being doubtless an Ensign of the Order, and the Collector cannot as yet adventure to determine, whether That on the Right hath also any relation thereto; he is certain that the English Souldiers wore in the Army the Emblem of the Red Cross for several Ages after this Time, but knows not whether the same was placed on the right Shoulder. Beside his Sword, which is dependant on his Left-side, he hath a Dagger on the Right, which was then used in order to stab an Enemy, that should chance to be dismounted, in such Place as any Defect could be found in his Armour, then termed ^a Misericordia, and antiently ^b Anelace.

The Armour is made of large Plates of Iron or Steel, which about this Age succeeded to the Coat of Mail, then newly discontinued by reason of the Greatness of its Weight, because it required several other Accoutrements to make it useful. ^c Chaucer lived about this Time and describes his Knight Sir Thopas in full Armour, being first a Shirt of fine Cloth, over it a Haketon or Jacquet without Sleeves, sometimes called Gambeson, which was stuffed with Cotton or some such Materials, to take off the Impression that the Annulets in the Coat of Mail must otherwise make on the Body when run against by a Spear or Lance, over this was an Habergeon or Coat of Mail made of Rings or Annulets interwoven, then the Hauberke and thereon the Coat of Arms in Silk, in the Form of a Dalmatick or Herald's Tabart without Sleeves. This seems somewhat too foreign, so that at present there is only a Reference made in the ^d Margin to a Claim, wherein the Armour of a Knight in former Ages is particularly described.

Our Knight was certainly buried in pursuance of his Will at the Black Friars in Norwich; because his second Lady Katherine, who survived him

^a De re Militari, p. 223.

^b Du Fresne Gloss. in voce.

^c Ibid. in voce Anelacius. Chaucer in his Description of the Squire's Yeoman,

And by his side a sword and bokeler,
And on that side a gay dagger, &c.

^d Tale of Sir Thopas, v. 3360, &c.

^e Registrum Sacristie Monasterii de Burgo Sancti Petri penes Ducem de Montagu. Quod Abbas & conventus fuissent in pacifica possessione percipiendi nomine mortuarii meliorem dextrarium armatum si fuerit, alioquin equum alium meliorem cum armatura sua omnium militum & aliorum secundum militare, seu partem feodi militaris de dictis Abbate & conventu tenentibus una cum armatura militari, videlicet, cum Atton, Gambeson, lorica, Galea, bacinetto cum Anentayle & pylan, cirothecis de plates five baleyn, scuto, lancea, quikeis, pulleyinis, Jambers five caligs de mayle, gladio, sella & freno, &c.

about 19 Years, in her Will ^e directs her own Burial in the Choir of the Friers Preachers there, near the Body of Sir Simon her Husband: She could not be ignorant that the Directions given her by her Husband's Will, had not been observed, to lay his Body in that Place. This Lady was Daughter ^f of Ansketill Mallory of Wimwick and Relict of Ralph Grene of Draiton, who died on the 24th of October, 4 Hen. V., and being married to our Knight, received ^g Robes against the Coronation of Queen Katherine in the ninth Year.

Contemporary with him and of Suffolk, and (as a Manuscript Pedigree saith) his Brother was Sir George Felbrigge of Playford, a Person of great Eminency in Military and State-Affairs, to whom ^h Rich. II. gave forty Pounds yearly to support the Degree of Knighthood conferred upon him, and employed him in several Embassies of Consequence, whose Lady Margaret was one of the Daughters and ⁱ Co-heirs of Sir John Aspale. He died seized of the Mannor of Cowling in Suffolk, and bore the same Arms with our Knight, with a Mullet for Difference: Sir John Felbrigge was likewise of Playford, whose Will was proved in 1423, with several others of this Surname.

As to the Arms. The Family of Bigot ^k bore, Parti per Pale d'Or & Vert, au Lion Gules, sur tout armé & lampassé d'Azur, by reason, as 'tis supposed, of their Intermarriage with the Daughter and Co-heir of Marshall Earl of Pembroke: But those of Felbrigge are in the Repertory of Jennings blazoned d'Or, a un Lion embelliff rampant de Goules, that is a Lion Saliant, and in this manner the same without the Colours are represented on the Monument in Felbrigge.

The Crest is a Plume of Ostrich Feathers Ermined, issuing out of a Coronet Gules, placed upon a Cappeline, which Crown in that Age was a Proof that he was a ^l Gentleman (as the Term was) de Nom, d'Armes & de Cry, which Cry or Motto was Sanx juver. These Pemaches, as they were termed, were a common Bearing on the ^m Helmet, and used by several Knights of this Order.

The Mantling over the Helmet d'Or is the same Feathers, or rather Cloth Ermined, lined Gules.

The Fetterlocks on the Monument were his Badge or ⁿ Cognizance.

Peter Le Neve Esq; Norroy, hath in his Custody some Deeds of our Knight, as also of Sir George Felbrigge, sealed with the Crest of a Lion's Head crafed within a Fetterlock.

^e Lib. Bolyard in Registr. Normic.

^f Genealogical History of Mordaunt, p. 154, 187, 193.

^g Ex Compot. in Offic. Rem. Regis.

^h Rymer vol. 8. p. 51, 525, 564.

ⁱ Incident, 47 E. 3. P. L. N.

^k Vinc. againtf Broke, p. 340.

^l Menestrier Orig. des Armoiries, p. 69, 70.

Froiss. vol. 1. c. 29. The Lords of Germany promise to serve E. III. with a certain Number des Gens d'armes à Heaumes & Timbres couronnez.

^m Du Fresne Gloss. voce Tufa, &c.

ⁿ E. 26. penes me p. 27 b.

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of the

Duke of VISEN.

AFTER the Death of Sir Simon succeeded Henry Duke of Visen, misspelled Visen in the Catalogues and numbered 153, a fourth (and not as ^b Dr. Heylm saith second) Son of John the first King of Portugal by Phillippa Daughter of John of Gaunt, Sister of our Hen. IV., and thereby Great Uncle to our Hen. VI. in whose Reign he was elected a Companion of the Garter, after he had been for several Years e Great Master of the Religious Military Order of Christ in Portugal, and the Insertion of his Name in the Windsor-Tables in this Stall is a Proof that he actually received an Installation according to the Statutes.

There is a Silence in the Black-book from the 16th till the 22d (which is there misentred for the 23d) of Hen. VI. in which Interval he might be elected, and in all probability at the next Feast of this Order held after the Death of his Predecessor in this Stall. ^d Dr. Heylin placed his Election in 1444, upon the Authority possibly of this Register, which numbers him among the Companions on St. Georges Eve in that Year; but if the Doctor had weighed the whole Journal of that Chapter, he must have been convinced, there was no Election then made, it being expressly averred that the four Stalls then vacant were not filled for want of the Presence of a sufficient Number of Knights necessary for that Purpose.

^a Anselme, Moresi, &c.

^b Cosmography, p. 278. But in the Hist. of St. George, p. 307, It is right.

^c From the Year 1419. Order Militaire, Vol. 3. p. 322.

In that Grand Treasury of Antiquities the Harleian Library there is a Copy of an Act of Council which intimates the preparing the Ensigns of the Garter for this Illustrious Prince in the following Words.

" July 21. Hen. VI. B. there made a Letter to the Wardrobe commanding him in all goodlye haste to make two Mantles of Velvet lined with Sattin with the Garter of St. George, and also that he ordain two Gown Clothes, and two Hoods, and the Furrurs of Ermine for them, and deliver them to Garter King of Arms, He to bere and deliver one Robe with a Garter for the Lege of the King of Arragon, and the other to Lynfranc de Henryche of Portugal, Uncle to the King of Portugal."

Though the printed Books consulted by this Collector do not give our Knight this Appellation of Lynfranc, yet the Identity of the Person is ascertained by the succeeding distinctive Character or Designation of de Henryche Uncle to the then King of Portugal, that is to Alfonfus V. who ascended that Throne in 1438, upon the Demise of Edward eldest Brother of this our Knight, who is frequently mentioned in the Black-book by the Title of Duke of Viseu.

'Tis to be supposed the Transcriber copied this Minuit of Council from the Original still extant in the Cotton Library, in which at the Top of the Leaf there is entered in the ancient small Hand Day of July, and the other Words Acta Concilij 21 Hen. VI. have been added in much later and larger Characters, and on a distinct Paper, pasted on to supply what was either wearing out by length of Time, or grown almost illegible.

The Body of the Instrument remains entire and hath all the Marks of Genuinenesse, so that the Date of the Year being under these Circumstances can only be questioned, It is plain there was in this Stall a Vacancy occasioned by the ^e Death of Sir Simon Felbrigge before the 20th of February, A. D. 1443, which preceeds the Time of the Date hereto affixed. But tho' these Ensigns might in pursuance hereof be delivered to Garter King of Arms within a short time, yet 'tis to be presumed he did not immediately carry them, because on the 19th Day of this same July, this Officer was sent to the Duke of ^b Bretagne, and was ordered

^d Hist. of St. George 367. Cosmography, p. 278.

^e 24. B. 21.

^f Cleopatra F. v. p. 110.

^g See above, p. 172.

^h In Officio Pell. 19. Juyli. 21. H. 6. Henri, &c.

A Nostre cher & bien ame Gartier Roy darmes, lequel nous Envoyons presentement avec nos lettres & Instruccion a me trescheir & tresame Uncle le Duc de Bretagne en Bretagne vynt livres.

on the 25th of August ⁱ following to attend on the Bishop of Salisbury, and others in an Embassy, but it is probable he executed this Commission afterwards, for ^k we find by a Reward paid him in the following Year that he had then been with a Messager into Portugal, where he tarried ten Months, and it may be conjectured he might then invest this Duke with the Garter, as well as his Nephew the King of Portugal, at the same time of which more will be said hereafter.

This Act of Council consists of two Parts, importing the Elections of the King of Arragon and of this Duke before July, in the 21. Hen. VI. But if any Failure in Chronology should appear in the Date given to this Minuit relating to this King, its Credit will be impaired with reference also to this Duke, and here the Black-book must be examined, which makes this Duke to be many Years Senior in this Order to this King of Arragon, for it names the former under the 22d (which should have been the 23d) Year of Hen. VI. which is consistent enough with this Minuit as to this Duke, but places the Election of this King in profest terms as late as on 4th of August in the 28th Year, which is long subsequent to the Date that this Minuit now bears.

This King was Alfonfus V. siled the wise and magnanimous, who succeeded to the Throne in 1416, and having conquered Naples in 1442, dyed on 8th of June 1458, but the Time of his Election into the Garter is the present Subject of Enquiry, and till the Wardrobe Accounts shall be discovered, which will infallibly settle this Point both as to this King and this Duke, it may not be amiss in the mean time to search if any farther light in this Particular may be obtained from this Black-book. We learn indeed from thence that he never was installed, for the Signification ordered to be given him to depute his Proctor for that purpose ^l chanced to be after the time of his Death, when the notice thereof had not reached this Kingdom, which is the Reason that his Name doth not occur in the Windsor-Tables.

There are several other Entries relating to him, and ^m Mr. Affmole supposing that there were great Perplexities contained in Labours to disentangle them, but it will be found these were only imaginary Difficulties raised by himself. Thus he ⁿ conceives these plain Words in the Chapter held in 34. Hen. VI. "Ad Regem Arragonum, Regem Poloniae, & Ducem Bromiswichiae, ut prius electos, Ivabea cum Regni Subligaculo per Dom. Fettiplas & Dom. Newport transmissa fuit," to import only an Intention or Design of sending the Ensigns to these Knights Elect, and that this Decree of Chapter was either not put in Exe-ⁱ Privat. Sigill. (25. d'Augst) 21. H. 6. Henri, &c. At Treves.—A nostre Chier & bien amye Serviteur Gartyer Roy darmes, lequel nous Envoyons presentement en nostre Service avec ly revd. Pier in Dieu L'evêque de Saresbirs & nostre trescheir & foial Cousin le Comte de Suff. & autres Seigneurs, en nostre Ambassade pour la Matier de la Pays—quarante livres.

Exit. Pell. P. 21. H. 6.—Gartero Regi Armorum p. Dom. Regem ad presens missio in Servicio suo, cum vener. in Christo patre Episcopo Sarum ac Comit. Suff. quos dictus Dom. Rex mittit in Ambaf-siata sua pro Materijs Pacis, &c. 40 l.

^k Exit. Pell. P. 22. H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum nuper missio in Nuncio Regis versus Regem Portugal 22 l. quas Dom. Rex eidem pro tantis denarijs per ipsum persoluit. in dicto Nuncio, quo erat occupatus per spatium x. Mensium de denarijs suis proprijs ultra quamdam summam eid. Gartero alias liberatam, &c.

^l Black-book n. 37. H. 6.

^m ⁿ Hist. 382 383.

cution, or countermanded, or at least that these Habits miscarried by some Accident in the Voyage; for as he goes on, if these had come safe to their Hands, then the Letters signifying their Elections sent to them in the 36 Year reported in this same Register, would have been entirely needless, and he conceived this his Interpretation to be clear beyond all doubt, and that the Embassy (if any) for this purpose to the King of Poland in the 34th Year here named took no Effect, in that 'tis again remembered in the 37th Year. "Ad Regem Poloniae Subligaculum ac Trabea missa sunt," which as he imagined would imply the sending the Habits to him a second time, an Action that his Argument presupposes irregular or incredible, and thence upon the whole concluded, that in this 34th Year the Name of this King of Arragon is by mistake substituted for the King of Portugal, which he tells us, is justified by the Entry in the Registrum Chartaceum quoting the Words thereof, "Le Roy de Portugale est esleu & ad le Farretier & le mantel envoiez par Fettiplas," which King of Portugal was according to him elected in 25. Hen. VI, wherein he likewise hath erred in the Chronology as will be soon proved.

'Tis certain that the Kings of Arragon and Portugal were both at that time called Alfonfus, and each was the Fifth of that Name; yet we shall soon be convinced Mr. Ashmole hath not given us any solid Reasons for his Conjecture, that the Habits had not been sent to the Kings of Arragon and Poland in or before this 34th Year, this Fact may be demonstrated without the Assistance of the Registrum Chartaceum, the Loss or Suppression whereof is an inestimable and irreparable Misfortune to the History of this Order; For the above recited Words in the 34th Year, as also those quoted by ^o Mr. Ashmole from this latter Register, "Le Roy de Poleyne est esleu & ad le Farretier & le mantel envoyez par Newport," are in the preterperfect Tense, and by the Rules of Grammar must be plainly construed that these Ensigns had been actually sent before the time of that Chapter, and not a Decree made therein for the future sending them, and in Truth the Fact is incontestably proved by a ^p Record, that Newport had carried them three Years before this time to these Kings of Arragon and Poland, and from this Instance it may reasonably be guessed that Fettiplas might have been also employed in the like Errand to the Duke of Bromswick, notwithstanding this same Person was, as Mr. Ashmole ^q rightly thinks, employed on that Errand into Portugal, which we find was in ^r Sept. in this 34th Year, for he might in all probability have before executed the like Commission to the Duke of Bromswick, and possibly about the same time that Newport went to these two Kings Knights Elect. And hence we are ascertained in what Sense the Note relating to this King of Poland in the 37th Year is to be understood.

But then as to the Foundation of Mr. Ashmole's Reasoning, there doth not appear to this Collector any Incongruity in sending an Intimation to a Stranger Elect to depute a Proctor after an actual Investiture, ^o Above in the Introduction, p. 52. note 11.

^p Ibid. p. 385.
^q Above in the Introduction, p. 53. note 2.

^r Art. 20. Stat. Ed. 3. Art. 20. Stat. Hen. 5. Art. 21. Hen. 8.

or the least Absurdity in a second Investiture, in Case the first Election became null and void, which Methods seem consistent with the Letter of the Statutes that absolutely require the Stranger Knight-Elect to send his Proctor within some Months after his Investiture, and in failure thereof declare the Election vacated, and consequently the Investiture must be void also: But such Stranger who by such a neglect of Installation thus forfeits his Election is not laid under any Incapacity from being again elected into this Order, and if it should chance that He should have that Honour reconferred on him, He ought without all doubt to be invested anew, which seems to have been the Case of the Emperor Maximilian as low as in the Reign of Hen. VII. and without the Benefit of this Explanation several Instances about the Times of the Elections of foreign Knights may remain inexplicable, and in all likelihood it may be found that the Foreigners whose Names are mentioned in the Black-book as not installed in several Years successively, might however be annually re-elected; and were, as it may be guessed, upon these re-elections frequently chosen into Stalls different from those to which they were designed upon their first Elections; this is proposed here barely as a Conjecture, and not asserted as a positive Determination. And certainly Conjectures under these Circumstances may be proposed with modesty in Historical Matters remote from our Age, wherein we have no certain Guides to govern us. To avoid any ambiguity, by the term Investiture is here meant only that with the Royal Ensign the Garter, and not the delivery of the Surcoat which was annually ordered for Foreigners, as well as Subjects, who were in full Possession after their Installations. If any one knows any better Way to clear the Difficulties which appear in some Entries, He will do a worthy Service to this History, and no one will be more thankful for such a Discovery than the Collector of this Notes.

According to the Strictness of the Statutes, the Election of this King of Aragon, whensoever it happened, became void for the Omission of sending his Proctor, and the Supposition that He was frequently re-elected is in some measure confirmed in that, though this Black-book places him as elected into the Stall of the Earl of Averence in 28 Hen. VI. yet in the Registrum Chartaceum, as appears by a short Extract of Mr. Asmole's, He is said to be chosen into the Stall of Sir John Robsart, and both may be right as referring to the Elections of him at different Times, and yet these Elections into these two distinct Stalls can be no Argument, that He had not an earlier Election, and before the Time mentioned in the Date affixed to this Minit of the Privy Council.

But this same Black-book at first Sight furnishes us with an Objection against the Possibility of his Election in this 21 Year of Hen. VI. for that in the 22d, (as 'tis misdated for 23d) Hen. VI. there is inserted a List of the Knights wherein the Name of this King is omitted, s See above, p. 84.

t Mus. Alm. n. 1135. prout in Catalogo impresso.

u Hist. p. 266.

and yet there are 21 Companions enumerated, and four Stalls said to be then vacant, which doth complete the Number of the whole Fraternity, and according to this Computation here could be then no room for him; so that if He was elected in or before the 21 Year, that Election is to be supposed vacated for want of an Installation.

It is necessary therefore to reflect on the Negligence of the Compiler of this Book, who as Mr. * Ashmole hath observed omits sometimes the Names of Knights recorded in the Registrum Chartaceum; and 'tis capable of such a Demonstration as Historical Facts can demand, that in this (22d or 23d Year) under Examination, He must be guilty of a gross Error by not placing the Name of the Duke of Comibre among the Companions, who as we shall soon see, had been installed in Form before this Time, and which is memorable, He is in this same Black-book ranged as One of this Society in the preceeding and subsequent Years.

The Addition of this Duke would exceed the total Number, and if this King should also be ranged in this List, the Difficulty would encrease; But here we are to consider, whether if the four Stalls said to be thus vacant, should be understood not absolutely void in the strict Acceptation of the Word, but according to the restrained Language of the Statutes, that is, remained legally and reputedly void, because the Knights elected to them had not received actual Installations, whether then in this Sense these Difficulties may be answered, and in that Acceptation there may not be a Reduction of those seeming Supernumeraries; and indeed there is some Countenance that this may be the true Method of Construing this Word Vacant in this Place, in Regard, in this same Year one of these four vacant Stalls is said to be that of the Emperor Sigismund, whereas we know from this same Book, that the Duke of Austria had been formerly elected thereto in 16 Hen. VI, who dying before Installation, this Stall was however still reputed empty by the Death of Sigismund only. The farther Disquisition of this Point is referred to the History of the Stall, to which this King was elected.

So much for the first Part of this Act of Council, but before we come to the Examination of the remaining Part relating to this Duke of Viseu, though it may be some sort of a Digression, yet it may not be discommendable, by way of Introduction, or Preparative, to set in one View the Entries relating to the seven Companions of this Order, that the Royal Family of Portugal produced within the space of ninety Years, and not only because Mr. Ashmole is puzzled by some, and misled by others of them, but more particularly with a design to obtain some Light towards guessing at the Time of the Investiture of this Duke. But if any one thinks such Disquisitions over curious or needless, He may, it is true, employ his Time (if he pleases) on other Subjects, if his Disposition be not suitable to Enquiries about this Order.

John the first King of Portugal, surnamed the Father of his Country, married the Daughter of John of Gaunt, and received * Robes of this Order in 3 Hen. V, and dyed on 14 Aug. 1433, in the End of the 11 Year of Hen. VI.

* See above, p. 15. note k.

Edward V, his eldest Son being elected into this Order, this Black-book relates that Garter King of Arms, was on 8 May 1; Hen. VI, commanded to carry him the Ensigns, in which Year He was certainly elected, but we know from a Warrant, that Directions were not given to prepare the Mantle Surcoat and Garter till the Month of May in the following Year, to be then ² carried by this Officer.

In this Warrant there is a Singularity, or at least a very rare Occurrence that the Robe or Surcoat of the Order furred with Miniver, and the Garter should be also then prepared to be sent to Don Pedro Duke of Comibre, Brother to this King; who was elected into this Order (as the Black-book informs us) on 22 Apr. 5. Hen. V, long before the Death of his Father, and Seated in the Stall, then void by the Death of Thomas Duke of Exeter which happened on the 27 Day of the preceding December, and a ⁴ Record assures us, that Gloucester Herald had Money advanced to him out of the Exchequer for carrying to this Duke the Robes in that Year, and this Black-book gives us the Narrative of his Installation by his Proctor on 22 Apr. in the sixth Year, whereof we have undeniable Evidence from other ^b Records; 'tis therefore Extraordinary, that the x See above, p. 15. note K.

Ensign

y Rymer Tom X. p. 639.

De Liberata Garteri, Portugalie Regi & Infantii Petro Portanda. An. 14. H. 6. Pen. Cler. Pell. Roy, au Garderobe, &c. Saluz.

Nous Volons, &c. que a notre Chier & bien ame, Garrier Roy d'Armes facez liverer, hors de notre dite Garderobe, notre Liverree de la Jarrier (assavoir) un Mantel, & un Robe Furrez ove Hermyne, & le Jarrier.

Pour les portier & amesier, de par nos a notre Treschier & Tresame Frere le Roy de Portugalie.

Et volons, &c. & que par yoell, &c.

Item, soient faites semblables Lettres au dit Garderobe, pour delivrez au dit Jarrier la Liverree de la Jarrier (assavoir) une Robe Furrez, avec menybar & le Jarrier, pour les porter & amesier au Don Pedro, Frere du dit Roy, Onc de Comibre.

H. Gloucestre,

F. Ebor.

F. Hanyngton,

F. Barbon Canc.

H. Northumberlande.

Dorfo

Primo Die Maii, Anno, &c. xiv. apud Westmonasterium, in Camera Parliamenti, concessum fuit, per Dominum Regem, de avilamento Concilii sui, quod fiant consimiles Literæ Custodi Magnæ Garderobe Regis, secundum quod infra patet.

Præsentibus Dominis infrascriptis.

z Rymer Tom X. p. 641.

Super Garterio Regi Portugalie destinato.

An. 14. H. 6. Penes Cler. Pell.

Soyent faites Lettres, dessous le Prive Seal, as Tresorer & Chamberleyns, &c. pour Delivrez ou Garrier Roy d'Armes alant par le Commandement du Roy ove son Liverree de la Jarrier au Roy de Portugalie, XL l. par voie de Regard.

H. Gloucestre,

F. Ebor.

F. Barbon Canc.

Suffik.

H. Northumberlande.

Dorfo

Le Douziesm Jour de May, L'An. &c. xiv. estoit otroite, par le coustent, que sur ceste copie soient faites Lettres, dessous le Prive Seal, en manere, que deleins est desirez, Estantz Presentz les Seigneurs dedeeinz escript, &c.

Priv. Sigill. 120. Maij. 14. H. 6. (In Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. as Tres. &c. que vous facez delivrer a nostre bien ame Garrier Regi d'Armes alant pur nostre Commandement ove nostre liverree de la Jarrier a nostre treschier & tresame frere le Roy de Portugalie, quarante livres par voye de Regard.

Exit. Pell. 14. H. 6. Garrier Regi Armor. eumdi de Mandato Regis cum liberatura sua de la Garrier ad Carissimum fratrem suum de Portugalie 40 l.

Priv. Sigill. 26 Apr. (15 H. 6.) in Officio Pellium. Henri, &c. as Tres. &c. Come depuis nagaris eussions envoyez en nostre Message nostre bien ame Serviteur Jarrier Roy d'Armes devers nostre frere le Roy du Portugal, liquel Jarrier ait fray & pendu en nostre dit Message, en quelle il estoit occupie par l'espace de dys Moys la forme de vint & deux livres de ses propres deniers outre la somme a lui donne Vous facez paiez le diez vint & deux livres.

a Priv. Sig. in Off. Pell. 22 May 5. H. 6. Henri, &c. as Tres. & par. les coustages queux nostre bien ame Gloucester Herald sustiendra on alant de nostre Commandement, devers nostre treschier Cousin le Duc de Queenburgh pour lui apporter nostre liverree de Jarrier vous payez xx livres.

Exit. Pell. Pasch. 5. H. 6. Gloucester herallo misso versus Ducem de Queenburgh cum vestura de liberata de Garrier eidem Duci deliberrand. xx lib.

b Bibl. Cotton. Cleadpatr. ff. 4. de Ter. Mich. 6. H. 6. 8. Juill. accorda fut que garrant soit fait pour paier pr. l'Instalm. de Duc de Quimbre filz au Roi de Portugalie compaignon de Lordie de Garrier a Windsore accordant a les Estatuz du dit Ordre Xl. Ibid. Ult. Apr. fiat warrantum pro solvendo pro Installatione Ducis de Quimbre filij Regis Portugalie socij Ordinis Garterij in Anglia infra Collegium apud Windsore decem libras.

Priv. Sigill. in Off. Pellium. Henri, &c. as Tres. B b b

&c. nous

Ensign of the Garter should be sent him in this 14 Year so long after his Installation, unless we should believe that this Order to the Wardrobe meant no more than a Garter to be embroidered on the Surcoat then sent him to be worn for the greater Honour and Splendour of the Order, at the Time of the Investiture of his Nephew: However that may be the Entry of the Reward paid to ^c Garter King of Armes for this his Journey into Portugal in this 14th Year, mentions only the carrying this Livery to the King without any Intimation of this Duke, who was afterwards killed at the Battle of Alfaro Robera, on 20 May 1449.

The above-named King Edward dyed on 19 Sept. 1438, in the beginning of the 17 of Hen. VI. and his Crown descended to his Son Alfonfus V. then about six Years old, who was the only Prince with whom our King had any ^d Alliance. The Time of his Election is render'd disputable by means of some Entries in the Black-book which seem to disagree; for tho' it specifies that on 28 Apr. 28 Hen. VI. this King had been elected four Years, which runs back to the 24th Year, yet on St. George's Eve in the 25th Year, He is there said expressly to be then elected into the Stall of the Duke of Glocester deceased, and upon this latter Authority Mr. ^e Afemole settled it in this Year, whereas if he had cast back his Eyes to the 22d Year, He would have found him Registered in this same Book, as a Companion at that Time. And it will be found He was elected before the Death of Sir Simon Felbrigge, and consequently before the 1 20th of Febr. 21 Hen. VI.; for at the same time when a Surcoat was delivered to this Knight, a ^f Mantle was also prepared for this King, which was certainly ^g sent to him in the 22 Year. The Reader for avoiding Repetition may consult what hath been already said relating to the Election of this King in the Introduction, p. 52, 53.

This King dyed 24th Aug. 1481. 21 Edw. IV. leaving the Throne to his Son John the Second, Surnamed the Grand, and Severe, who very soon renewed the antient ^h Alliances. He is in this Black-book mentioned to have been elected at distinct Times into different Stalls, first on 15 Sept. 22 Edw. IV. A. D. 1482. into the Stall of the Duke of Clarence there said to have been long void, and He is again said to be elected on 3 Hen. VII. to the Stall of the Earl of Arundel.

Ce nous volons de l'avis & assent de nostre conseil & vous mandons que vous facez paier pour l'estallement de nostre tresch. Cousin le Duc de Qoymbre filz a nostre tresch. frere le Roy de Portugale Compagnon de l'Ordre de Gerter a nostre Chastell de Windsore accordant a les Establis du dyr Ordre dya livres 8 July 6. H. 6.

Exit. Pell. P. 6. H. 6. In denar. solut Tbo. Browne, pro Stallacione Ducis de Qoymbre Consanguinis Regis & fil. Regis Portugal socii de Ordine de Garter ad Castrum Regis de Windsore juxta ordinem Statutor. inde edit. A. libr.

^c See above, note 2.

^d Rymer, Vol. 2. p. 766.

^e Hist. p. 523. 528, &c.

^f See above, Page 172.

^g See above, Page 174 note 0.

^h Priv. Sigill. 22. Oil. 22. H. 6. Henry, &c. que au Balance pursuant a nostre treschier & tresame frer. le Roy de Portugale, liquel est en allant devers nostre dit frer. & avec liquel nous envoions presentement a mesme nostre frer. le Jartier & nostre livree de la Jartier de l'ordre de S. George, vous facez paier dya livres.

^c Exit. Pell. Mich. 22. H. 6. Balance pursuant a Regis Portugal qui de Regno Anglie versus dictum Regem profecturus est, & cum quo Dominus noster Rex misit ad presens frater, necnon liberatam Ordinis sancti Georgij versus Regem Portugal. X. libr.

Here the masculine and feminine Particles le and la, being in different Places prefixed to the Word Jartier, it may be supposed the first may denote the King of Arms by that Title, at the second expressly doth the Livory of the Garter or of the Order.

ⁱ 8 Febr. 21. E. 4. Rymer, Vol. 12. p. 145.

Notwithstanding this first Entry under Ed. IV. Dr. Heylm is positive of Opinion, He was not chosen till the Reign of Hen. VII. because he thought it not likely, that this King, being descended from the House of Lancaster, should either be chosen or accept the Honour of the Garter from Edw. the IV. that was so great an Enemy to his House, and having in his m Margin inserted the Year 1489, He places his Election at that Time and not before: But with due Deference to the Memory of this Great Historian, His Election, whenever it was, must have been Prior to 1489, because the Ensigns of the Order were sent him m on 4th of Dec. 1488, with which he was s invested on 2 May 1489, i Hist. of St. George, p. 372.

l Ibid. p. 377.

m Ibid. p. 374.

n Rymer Tom. XII. p. 351, 352.

De Communicando cum Rege Portugaliæ.

An. 4. H. 7. Franc. 4. H. 7. m. 17.

Res Omnibus, ad quos, &c. Saltem.

Cum ab omni redacta Ætate firmata fuerint Amicitia & Fœdera inter Illustrissimos ac Potentissimos Angliæ & Portugaliæ Principes, quos non sola moris Intercursum necessitas, verum etiam Sanguinis Affinitas copulans, Hinc est quod Nos,

Qui Pacis Viros novimus eique totis Viribus insulam, quique peculiaris tamen Potentissimi Regis Portugaliæ, cui sumus Sanguinis benevolentia devincti, mutuum, firmam, ac stabilem esse desideramus,

De Fidelitatis, Industriæ & providis Circumspectionibus, Dilectorum & Fidelium Consiliario nostro, Magistro Thomæ Savage Legum Doctoris Comitatus nostri Marchiæ Cancellarii & Ricardi Nanfan Militis quamplurimum confidentes,

Ipsos nostros veros & indubitatos Commissarios, Oratores, Procuratores, Legatos, Deputatos, & Nuncios speciales, Assignatos, Facimus, Constitutum, Ordinamus & Deputamus per Præsentes, Dantes & Concedentes eisdem plenam, Tenore Præsentium, Potestatem & Auctoritatem, ac Mandatum generale & speciale, pro Nobis & Nomine nostro, cum Serenissimo Principe Rege Portugaliæ Consanguineo nostro carissimo, seu ejus Commissariis, Procuratoribus, Deputatis, & Nunciis, sufficientem Potestatem & Auctoritatem ab eodem Consanguineo nostro ad hoc habentibus, Conveniendi, Communicandi, Tractandi, Concordandi, Appunctuandi, Componendi, Pacificandi, ac finaliter & integre Determinandi & Concludendi, tam de & super vera, firma, perpetua, & reali Pace & Concordia, Ligis, Conföderationibus, Amicitias, Fœderibus, Affinitatibus, & Intelligentis quibuscumque, ac Intercursum Mercium & Mercandiarum, mutuaque Auxiliis, & Assistentiis hinc inde præstandis, inter Nos & dictum Consanguineum nostrum, Haeredes & Successores, ac Regna, Patrias, Dominia, Subditos, Vassallos, Alligatos, Faventes, Conföderatos, Amicos, & Adherentes nostros & suos quoscumque hincinde inveniendi, capiendi, celebrandi, & habendi, atque Pacem, Ligas, Amicitias & Conföderationes, hujusmodi, Pactionesque & Conventiones via & modis quibus melius expedire eis videbitur Componendi, Inveniendi, Vallandi, Roborandi, & Pacificandi.

Dantes ulterius & Concedentes eisdem nostris Commissariis, Oratoribus, Procuratoribus, Legatis, Deputatis, & Nunciis, plenam etiam, Tenore Præsentium, Potestatem & Auctoritatem ipsam Consanguineum nostrum suis exigentibus & condignis Meritis ad Ordinem Militiæ Gartera Nobis & Nomine nostro Acceptandi, ipsamque in Confratrem & Conitem ejusdem Ordinis Admittendi, Præfendi, & Insigniendi, eiq; Munera & Insignia ejusdem Ordinis Tradendi & Liberandi, habendum cum suis Juribus, Honoribus, Præminentis & Dignitatibus, sicuti eidem Consanguineo nostro ex Parte nostræ per dictos nostros Commissarios & Oratores latius intimabitur & declarabitur, Ac etiam Communicandi, Tractandi, & Appunctuandi de & super omnibus & singulis Attemptatis, Contentionibus, Questionibus, Querelis, Litibus, & Causis, una cum suis Circumstantiis, Emergentibus, Incidentibus, Dependentiis, ac connexis, que inter Nos & præfatum Consanguineum nostrum, ac Regna, Terras, Dominia, Patrias, Loca, Subditos, Vassallos, Alligatos, Conföderatos, & Adherentes nostros & suos prædictos hincinde pendere dinoscuntur.

Ac etiam si necesse fuerit, unam aliam Dietam in talibus Locis & Tempore, prout eis Melius visum fuerit, Deputandi, Limitandi, atque Statoendi, & inibi de & super omnibus & singulis Præmissis & ab eis qualitercumque dependentibus Communicandi, Tractandi, Appunctuandi, & finaliter Concludendi, prout eis expellens visum fuerit & opportunum.

Præmissaque omnia & singula Firmandi, Appunctuandi, Allocurandi & Concludendi.

Nec non de & super hujusmodi Appunctuatis & Conclusis, cæterisque omnibus & singulis, Præmissa qualitercumque concernentibus, que cum præfato Consanguineo nostro, seu ejus Commissariis, Procuratoribus, Deputatis, & Nunciis prædictis, Appunctuata, Concordata, & Conclusa fuerint, Litteras validas & efficaces pro Parte nostra Tradendi & Liberandi, Litterasque alias consimilis effectus & vigoris ex altera Parte Perendi & Recipiendi,

Et generaliter omnia Præmissa & Præmissorum singula eaque qualitercumque concernentia Faciendi, Exercenti & expediendi, ita & eodem modo sicut Nos ipsi faceremus & facere possemus si in propria Persona interessemus, ac etiam si talia sint que Mandatum de se magis exigant speciale; Promittentes, bona Fide, & in Verbo Regio, Nos Omnia & singula, que per præfatos, Commissarios, Oratores, Procuratores, Legatos, Deputatos, & Nuncios nostros prædictos Appunctuata, Præmissa, Concordata, & Conclusa fuerint, in hac parte, Nos Rata, Grata, & Firma habituros & observaturos, & superinde Litteras nostras Patentis, novas aut Ratificatorias, & Confirmatorias in forma Debita & autentica, daturus.

In cujus, &c.

Telle Rege apud Westmonasterium undecimo Die Decembris.

Per ipsum Regem.

o Recueil des certains choses de Ricobonus Clarenus 1488.

1489, and was Installed in or before the ^p sixth Year of Hen. VII. But then this Investiture and Installation is no conclusive Argument, that He had not been formerly elected in the Reign of Ed. IV; and the Supposition that a Regard to his descent from John of Gaunt his Great Grandfather, should prevent his Election into this Order, or his Acceptance of it in the End of the Reign of Ed. IV, is a precarious and imaginary Speculation; for Princes are not usually governed by such remote Tyes in Blood, but the Interest of State and the Ballance of Power are by the Rules of Politicks their Guides, and in pursuance of these Mysteries the ^v King of Portugal entered into Treaties with Ed. IV, which were renewed by ^v this King John after his Father's Demise, and therefore it is not so unlikely, as the Doctor presumed, that He should be elected at this Time when the House of Lancaster was in the lowest Fortune. The Insertion of the Name of this King of Portugal in the Scrutiny under Rich. III, would have been a more plausible Objection against his Election in the Reign of Ed. IV, but in Truth this Nomination is no real Argument of Weight, because that former Election, if he had obtained that Honour, might be vacated by the Import of the Statutes for want of an actual Installation in due Time, and the Stall was thereby empty, to which He might be again nominated.

But a greater Difficulty arises against the Probability of his Election into the Stall of this Duke of Clarence, in the 22d Year of Ed. IV, from an explicite Entry in this same Black-book, that the King of Spain who lived beyond this Time, had been elected into it on the 10th of February in the 19th Year: These two Passages may indeed be capable of being reconciled upon the former Hypothesis, that this Election of this King of Spain, whoever He was, might be vacated also for ms. Ms. in Off. Arm. inter Codices Ducis Norfolk. He gives a Narrative of his Attendance on Dr. Savage and Sir Richard Nantun, a Hen. 7. first into Spain, and thence to Portugal. Le Roy print l'Ordre de la Jarretiere le second jour de May moult honorablement—& tient la Feste de S. Jorges le second jour de May, comme accoustume est de la tenir en Angleterre, assavoir commença a la prendre le Samedi a l'isner, & en ces mesmes habillemens alla a seoir a l'isner, & chevaucha apres d'isner a vespres sur ung beau courfier, & de vespres derechief a souper, & en ceas parail lendemain, qui estoit beau a veoir. Le jour que le dit Roy recheut la dit Jarretiere, il estoit habillee de une Jaquette longue de fin drap de soier en graine, & estoit prodre richement de fill l'or bien fin, & sur ce avoit ung manteau a la mode de pais de fin escarlate, les quels habillemens Il donna a Richmond Roy d'armes pour son fees, pource que la Jarretiere lui fust presente—Et Richmond Roy d'armes eut a lui donne en un gand L'escadris qui valent XI.

*p Rymer Tom. XII. p. 448, 449.
Super Installatione Regis Portugalie in Ordinem Garterii.*

An. 6. H. 7. Penes Cler. Pell.

Henry by the Grace of God, King of England and France, and Lord of Ireland, to the Treasurer and Chamberlains of our Exchequer, Greeting

It is shewed unto us, on the behavie of our beloved Subject John Stephens of our Citie of London Coper Smyth, how that his Ambassadors of our Right Dere Cousin the King of Portugale, late being here with us from the same our Cousin, Covenanted and Agreed with Him for the making of an Helmes with a Corone and a Tergat of Coper and Gilt, for the Use of the Ensigning of the said King into the Order of One of the Companions of our Noble Ordre of the Garter, for the Summe of thre Pounds ix s. Sterling, whereof our said Subject is behinde unpaid of xxvi. s. x. d. as We certainly be enformed.

Which Ambassadors be now Departed and gone, We, not willing our said Subject to be hindered or to have any Lose in this Partic, for certain Causes hee mooving, Will and Charge you that, of our Tresour here being in your Ward, ye Incontinent, upon the Sight hereof, Content and Pay unto the said John the said Summe of xxvi. s. x. d. and every Part and Parcel hereof, without any Prefe or other Charge to be set upon him for the same; and this our Letters shall be your Warrant.

Given under our Prive Seel, at our Maner of Greenewiche, the eighth Day of July, the sixth Yeaere of our Reigne.

Belc

*g 12 E. 4. Rymer, Vol. XI. p. 741, 762
r See above note l.*

his Omission of Installation, so as this Stall might properly be said still to be void by the Death of the Duke of Clarence, notwithstanding the Election of this King of Spain thereto.

Mr. Ashmole treating on the King of Spain thus elected names him Henry, whereas Henry Stiled the Impotent was only King of Aragon, and in Truth dyed in Dec. 1474, 14 Ed. IV, before this Duke of Clarence, so that the King of Spain elected in 19 Ed. IV, must of course be Ferdinand the Catholick, King of Castile, and by matrimonial Right King also of Aragon, and there is Reason to believe He either refused the Acceptance of this Order, notwithstanding there were ¹ Treaties of the greatest Confidence between Ed. IV. and him, or rather that his Election was annulled for want of an Installation, and that one of these Incidents happened seems very plain, for though He is by the Stile of King of Castile, ranged among the Knights not Installed in 20 Ed. IV, yet He is in two Scrutinies by the Title of King of Spain, and in another as King of Castile under Rich. III, and in all the Suffrages in 4 Hen. VII, and in some in the 14th Year, and also in several in the first and second of Hen. VIII, by the Appellation of King of Aragon: For the Queen who brought him Castile by Marriage, dying on the 5th of the Calends of Dec. 1504. 20 Hen. VII, devised that Realm to her Daughter Joan then married to Philip Archduke of Austria, which Will was ratified by this Ferdinand and the States with a ² Provision, that the Father and Son-in-law might both use the Title of King of Spain, which this Ferdinand continued after his Retirement into Aragon, till his Death on 22 January 151⁶, 7 Hen. VIII.

To return to this John King of Portugal, ³ Mr. Ashmole relying implicitly upon the Credit of this Narrative in the Black-book of his Election in the 22 of Ed. IV, into this Stall of the Duke of Clarence, which was the second of the Prince's Side, is thence induced to believe, that there is a Mistake in the Windsor-Tables in placing him in the second Stall on the Sovereign's Side. The Collector esteems these Tables genuine and of great Authority, and in the present Case, they chance to be in some measure corroborated by the Plate of this King which still remains in this Stall; and it is some Confirmation of them, that the second Stall on the Prince's Side, wherein the Duke of Clarence was seated, was at the Time of the Installation of this King of Portugal filled by ⁴ Jaspas Duke of Bedford, according to the Windsor-Tables; which Duke is named a Companion in 37th Hen. VI, under the Title of Earl of Pembroke, and being attainted by Parliament 1 Ed. IV, this Duke of Clarence succeeded him in this Stall, after whose Death this King of Portugal might be designed thereto; but before his Installation, Hen. VII, restored his Uncle this ⁵ Jaspas to this Stall, whereof He had been thus dispossessed, and we meet with him as one of the Nominators in

¹ Hist. p. 317.

² Rymer, Vol. 12. p. 2, 3, 36, 42, 110, 147.

³ Vredij Stigilla Comitum Flandriae, p. 137.

⁴ Hist. p. 317.

⁵ Vinc. Ms. in Off. Arm. n. 417.

⁶ Ibid. which saith He was here placed after the translating the King of Portugal;

4 Hen. VII., and he survived this King of Portugal about two Months, for he lived till ^a 21 Dec. 1495.

John King of Portugal dyed on 25 Off. preceding, leaving his Crown to devolve upon Emanuel, Great Grandson of Edw. V.; who is nominated in all the Scrutinies save one in 14 Hen. VIII., and was in the following Year unanimously elected, and, if the ^b Manuscripts do not mislead us, to the Stall which Hen. VIII., enjoyed upon his Election into this Order when He was Duke of York, that is, the third on the Sovereign's Side, It is remembered that He was ^c never Installed, for which Reason it may be that He is named in a Scrutiny on St. Georges Eve 13 Hen. VIII., and He dyed 13 Dec. following.

After so long a Recapitulation of the Times of the respective Elections of these Portugueze Princes, which must be allowed within the Compass of the History of the Garter, though 'tis here inserted with no other View than that the whole Series of them may be found in one Place, and that from this Connection it may be reasonably supposed this Duke of Viseu might be invested at the same Time, if not before his Nephew Alfonfus V.

This Duke of Viseu or Viseo (Visontium as the Latins call it) hath rendered his Memory famous to Posterity for his Vertue, Valour and Letters, being deservedly celebrated for his disinterested Largeness of Soul, his distinguished Courage, and His strong Genius for Astronomy, Navigation, and all the Functions of War. The Religious Military Order of Christ in Portugal, was Instituted upon the Dissolution of the Knights Templars, and ^d endowed with their Lands, but its Chief Grandour and Renown is owing to this Duke, who in his ^e younger Years was constituted Grand Master thereof, under whose Presidency, this Fraternity recovered from the Moors several Territories in Africa, whereof Edw. V. gave them the Sovereignty confirmed by Pope Eugene IV. with an Appropriation of the Tythes of whatever Provinces they should gain by Conquest: His Nephew Alfonfus V., in farther recompence granted the Spiritual Jurisdiction over all their Possessions beyond the Sea, which was ratified by Pope Calixtus III. But our Knight was not satisfied with the augmenting the Revenues, but took Care to reform and correct the Discipline and Oeconomy of his Order by the Permission of the Pope, and having nothing left to merit more from it, He extended his Benefactions by improving the Advantages of his High Birth and Exalted Capacities in Projecting and Promoting the universal Service and Glory of his Native Country, for being convinced from his Observation of the Stars, as an ^f Author words it, that there were Islands in the Ocean then undiscovered, He taught the Portugueze, as another ^g Writer phrases it, to Form their Navigations according to the

^a Ffeib. 11 H. 7. n. 172

^b Vinc. Ms. ibid.

^c See the Bull in Baluzij Vitæ Papæ. Avenion. Völ. 2. p. 741.

^d In 1419 II. ff. des Ord. Militat. Vol. 3. p. 320.

^e See the Writers upon this Order, and St. Marthe's Hist. General. de France, Völ. 2. p. 677. for several

^f of the Particulars here mention'd.

^g Mariana l. 20. c. xi. Henricus Lusitani filius

ex Astrorum cognitione, in qua magnam vitæ partem consumplerat, suspicatus est in Oceanis maris vastitate ad novas insulas, novaq; gentes cursum patere, missis classibus tentatum, si quod operæ pretium existeret, &c.

^g Il styla si bien les Portugais a dresser leurs Navigations selon le cours des Astres. St. Marthe as above.

Course of the Stars; whatever these Expressions mean, 'tis certain that by his Encouragement and Example the ^b Isles of Azores, in the Atlantick, ^c Holy Port, Capo Verde and several Ports in the Indies were found out, and Madera was peopled at his Expence, and that his Countrymen under his Direction and Conduct extended their Conquests on the Western Coasts of Aethiopia, and in Africk even as far as Guinea. His Courage was eminently signalized in the Enterprize, and taking of Sept, (the antient Exiliffa since called Ceuta) in the Year 1415, in Memory whereof the King his Nephew incorporated it as a Dominion among his Stiles, and erected a ^k King at Arms by that Title. In order to Prosecute the practicable Schemes he had laid down with the greatest Application, an ^l Author informs us, that He obtained from Marriage; which Observation seems to be built on a Mistake, because the Rules of this Order of Christ which prohibited Marriages were not dispensed with till ^m several Years after the Death of our Knight; For the Improvement of his Mathematical Contemplations and Studies He for some Time fixed his Residence at Cape St. Vincent, that by the Serenity of that Climate, He might have the Opportunity of better observing the Motions of the Heavens, and at length turning his Thoughts wholly to the extending his Discoveries and Conquests in the East, He removed to the Cape of Sagra in Algarbe, being more commodiously situated for these Purposes, where being over vigorous in those Noble Designs, and fatiguing himself beyond the Strength of his Constitution, He dyed to the great Detriment of that Kingdom on the Ides of ⁿ November 1460, or 1461. and not as ^o Dr. Heylin saith in 1465, for before that Time the Lord Duras was Seated in this Stall. He was 67 Years ^p old at his Death, and not as another ^q Writer hath it 77; for his Brother who was next before him was Born ^r in 1392. He was deservedly admired for several Splendid and Heroick Qualities, and hath been transmitted down to Posterity under the rare Character of a Prince who lived with the most undefiled ^s Chastity, and that in Celibacy: This latter State of Life might be enjoined him by the Statutes of his Order, and at this Distance of Time and Remoteness of Country no one will undertake to determine, whether He might be so tender in his Conscience as to conceive himself obliged to obey the Rules imposed on the Templars as enjoying their former Possessions; For these Religious Knights were Prohibited from ^t kissing any Woman, upon Account of which Restraint the truly Great ^u Mr. Selden with a seeming Air of Se-

^b Heylin's Hist. of St. George, p. 367.

^c Heylin's Cosmog. p. 278.

^k Exil. Pell. P. 7 Hen. 5. Capt. Regi Armorum de Portugalia, de regardo speciali per Regem sibi facto, &c. Chaucer in the Man of Laws tale, v. 947.

Forth goth her Ship thorough the narrow Mouth
Of Jubaltes and Cept ydring ay.

^l St. Marthe de above.

^m Pope Alex. VI. on 12 Cal. Julij 1496. Leibnitz Codex Jur. Gent. Diplom. Vol. 1. p. 475.

ⁿ Anselme Hist. General. de la maison de France.

^o Heylin's Cosmog. p. 278.

^p Nommij Leonis Regum Portugaliæ p. 236.

^q Mariana l. 23. c. 2. — Henrici Lusitani Regis Patruj, calibe vita, nullogi femineo contactu fedata, qui septem & septuaginta natus annos, Sagræ suæ dittonis oppido ad Algarbiam deceffit libus Novembri, &c.

^r Anselme de above.

^s See note c.

^t First Edition of Titles of Honour printed in " 3 Quarts

rioufness would exclude these Templars from the Classis of Orders, adding the following Remark, that Honourary Knighthoods and the Favours of Ladies even by ancient Institution ran together sometimes as Virtue and Reward.

If any Plate was here placed after the Death of our Knight, the same was embezil'd or removed long since, because there remains in an ancient * Hand-writing an Examination made to discover what Arms of the Companions named in the Windsor-Tables remained in the Stalls, and upon that search it appeared that xxxv Plates therein specified were wanting on the Sovereign's Side, and Lix on the Princes, among which were those of Don Pedro Duc de Quymber fitz a Roy de Portygal, and of Monsieur Henry Duc de Vysen fitz a Roy de Portugal, on which view there were found affixed in the second Stall of the Sovereign's Side four Plates for the Kings of that Place, one of which was stol'n before the Year 1569, and at this Time only one of them remains here, which is inscribed Johan Roy de Portingale, having a Crest over the Arms. In the third Stall of the Prince's Side there is a large Copper Plate without any Crest or Inscription, which certainly belongs to some of this Royal Family, and there being no doubt but that our Knight bore the Arms of that Crown with some mark of Cadency, it may not be improper to shew some of the material Differences in these two Plates; In that of the King, the two Escutcheons in the Flanks of the Shield have their bas Points turned towards the Escutcheon in the Center, and the Border is charged with eight Castles only, In the other these two side Escutcheons have their Points turned towards the bottom of the Shield, and the Border is charged with Eighteen Castles, which are contained in a Shield whose Largeness is remarkable, being 15 Inches deep and 9 Inches broad, and whose Figure is as memorable, being in the Tilting form, that is, it hath an Hole or rather vacant space just under its dexter Corner, which seems designed for the Passage of the Spear or Lance, and for the better Support and Direction of it, when this Shield should be fixed before the Breast of the Ryder in these Tilting Exercises. But although such a Difference in the Positions of the Bearings and the Additions of Charges in the Border have been in this and foreign Kingdoms usual Brizures taken by younger Branches, yet the Collector dares not presume without farther Light to ascribe the same either to the Duke of Coimbro or to our Knight, neither can He pretend to guess whether this Plate was fixed in this Stall by any Right or by Mistake or Accident. He hath not had the Fortune to meet with any Types of the Seals used by this Royal Family, or by our Knight, but in the Genealogical ² History of France opposite to the Context where our Knight is mentioned, there are inserted in the Margin in two Lines the Words Portugal, Vysen which is the Method observed in that Work to describe the Coat Armour, and if that doctocquery may be depended upon as a sufficient Authority, then our Enquiry is satisfied, and we have his Arms being those of Portugal

* H. 8. penes me, p. 104. &c.
 † Q. 1. penes me, by Nich. Debitz Bienenaille.

² St. Matthe l'Hist. Geneal. de France, Vol. 2
 p. 677.

with the Addition of Vifon, Or quatre Pals de Gules, which indeed were born by one of his Successors in that Title, and in Truth several of that Royal Family have differenced their Arms by the Addition of their Dutchies.

This Subject then shall be dismissed for the present, since it may be resumed hereafter, in treating upon the Arms of this Crown, if in the mean Time sufficient Information can be obtained, so that it will now be only hinted, that though it is the common tradition ^a of the Historians that Alfonfus III first assumed the Border Gules, charged with seven Castles Or, in memorial of his Marriage with Beatrix natural Daughter of Alfonfus IX of Castile, and not as the Arms of the Kingdom of Algarves, which he used among his Titles, yet that in an Authentick Certificate remaining in our ^b Archives of an Instrument executed by King John on 12 August, Sub Era Cesarum 1435, as 'tis there wrote, that is in the ^c Year of our Lord 1397, there is no notice taken of any Border. The Impression on his ^d Bull or Seal on Lead being described in the following Words. “Sigillo ejusdem Principis in plumbo” “impresso in formâ rotundâ, In quo quidem Sigillo sculpta erant ex utraq;” “parte Sigilli quinque Scuta ejusdem quantitatis ad modum Effigiei Crucis, &” “in singulis scutis decem petræ rotundæ ut apparuit,” but for several Ages these Escutcheons have been charged only with five beasants. This is noted here more especially because this King John was one of the Companions of this Order.

^a St. Marthe l'Hist. General. de France, p. 659.
^b In Offic. Pellium.
^c A Method of Computation used in Spain and Portugal, and in the latter till the Year 1415, at least.
^d Sealing on Lead was used in some Occasions almost by all Princes, This Instrument being dated during the Reign of Rich. 2. we may observe that King practised it. Rymer. vol. 7. p. 510. and many other Instances this Custom by our Kings might be added.

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of

Sir GALEARD de DUREFORT
Lord Duras, n. 194.

HOUGH the time of his Election is not mentioned in the Black-book, which Names neither the Duke of Viseu, nor this Lord, in the first Year of Ed. IV, and is wholly silent as to any Transactions in the second Year, yet being entred as present in the Chapter held 22 Apr. in the third Year, It may be presumed He was chosen in some short time after the Death of that Duke was regularly signified. That Book gives only the following Memorials of him, that in 4 Ed. IV, He was in foreign Parts, obeying the King's Commands, being misentred Comes Duras, in the 5th and 6th was at Calais, and abroad in the 7th, from whence there is a Chastn till the 12th Year, when he is entred as present in two several Chapters, and a severe Censure is laid on his Memory on the 4th Nov. in the sixteenth Year, where 'tis said that Sir Thomas Montgomery was declared elected Companion of this Order in the Place

Place of the Lord Duras, who had deserted the King, and like a Bat, that flies abroad in the dark [tanquam Vespertilio] had fled into France, submitted to that King, and took the Oath of Fidelity to him.

After some short Account is given of this most noble Family, which had produced in our Days Lewis Duras Earl of Teverfham, another Knight of this Order, it may be no unpardonable Offence to state the Fact of the Behaviour of this Galiard in so critical a Juncture, and probably the Circumstances may, if not defend and justify his Proceedings, yet mitigate and in some measure abate from this Harsh Character of Desertion.

If the Collector had the Fortune of perusing the Antiquities of this Family lodged in a ^a Library in France, this Narrative must certainly have been more complete; however our Records sufficiently Instruct us, that this noble Family Lords of Duras and Blanquefort long flourished with great Honour in the Provinces of Guyenne and Foix, and for many Centuries rendered faithful Services to our Kings Dukes of Aquitaine.

The French ^b Genealogists commence the Pedigree with Arnold de Durefort, who by Marriage with Marquese the Daughter of Arnold Garcia de Gouth Vicomte of Loumayne, Brother of Pope Clement V, had the Lordship of Duras and other Lands; Our Archieves inform us that the Castle of Blancford, was in Peter ^c Bertram, and granted by Edw. II, to ^d Bertrand Deugod [Son of the said Arnold] one of the Nephews of that Pope, in as full a manner as the same came into the Hands of the King's Father, which Bertrand is stiled ^e Vicecomes Leomanne & Alti Villaris.

The French ^f Authors tell us, that Sir Bertrand del Gout Father of this Pope, married Marquesia de Ithacoë, who held Blanquafort in the Parish of St. Severin de Ramafort, in the Diocese of Bourdeaux in Dower, and in the Year 1312, this same Bertrand then stiled ^g Dominus de Duracio, the Son of this Arnald Garfise, Viscount of Leomayne and Auvillar, had a Confirmation from Ed. II, of the Castle and Town of Blanquafort to him and the Heirs of his Body, which Castle had great ^h Dependancies, and doubtless, these two Places, Duras and Blanquafort came to this Family after the Death of ⁱ Regine, the Granddaughter and Heiress of the said Garfise in pursuance of her Will, and an ^k Author observes that this Family enjoys the Privilege of presenting to the Churches of Vmbendraud and Uzesta, which latter was the Place of the Nativity of this Pope Clement V.

But we meet with the Name of Durfort before this Time, ^l William was Councillor of the King of Arragon and ^m Rensry assisted Ed. I, for the Recovery of Aquitaine; and divers other Branches occur in our Records, ⁿ Bernard upon a sudden Invasion of the French was for some Time drawn into their Interest, but soon returned to his Allegiance with ^a Le I. Bibl. Hist. n. 16924.

^b Anselme I. Hist. Genealog. de France, Vol. 1. p. 812.

^c Vafcon 38 H. 3. m. 19.

^d Rym. Vol. 3. p. 93, 107.—Oihenarti Notitia Vafcon. p. 481. tells us, that Phillip the fair granted this Vifcomty to Arnald Garfise Gueto, Brother of Pope Clement, which Arnold was Father of this Bertrand, and of Regina married to Bertrand Durofort.

^e Rymer, vol. 3. p. 372, and in Baluz, p. 618.

^f Baluz. not. in vits Pap. Avenion. p. 616. A. D. 1308.

^g ib. p. 618. in a Grant of our Ed. 2.

^h Rymer, Vol. 3. p. 372.

ⁱ in the Life of Sir Sandich de Trave above, p. 164.

^k Lubein de illustribus Aquitania viris, p. 71.

^l Rymer, Vol. 2. p. 372.

^m ib. p. 648.

ⁿ Ibid. Vol. 4. p. 115, 116.

Adomar de Duresford, Lord of Sapiere Clairmont and Sohireim, which Bernard Lord of Flamarius is said to have married Regime, another Niece of this same Pope and Sister to the former Lady, but our Arnold during this sudden Invasion of the French stood firm in his Loyalty: About this space of Time ^o Arnold de Duroforti Knight was Lord of Fespuch, another Bernard of Carlinbaco.^p One Arnold in 1326, had our King's Letter directed to Katherine Lady de Sauſta Baſilica, Relict of Jurdam de Inſula to persuade her to marry him, which ¹ Arnold being in England had a Silver Cup gilt given him on 6 Oct. 3 E. 3. and on the 19 May 4 E. 3. a Reward of 500 Marks in ^r Consideration of the Damage he had suffered in the Service of that King's Father. It would be too tedious to run through the numerous Branches of so spreading a Family.

This Arnold had several ^s Grants from the Crown and dyed in 1324, being by the French Authors said to be Father of Aymery, who follows in the next Paragraph, and also of ^t Gaillard Prebend of Wetewang in Tork, who revolting to the French was made Præcentor of Cahors in 1345, and an ^u Archdeacon, and likewise of Bernard who accompanied the latter in the Desertion.

II. Aimery his Son and Heir ^v adhered constantly to the French, who place his Death in 1345, so that our Records scarce mention him; the French ^w Archives let us know that John Comte d'Armagnac in 1335, made a Cession to the King of France of his Right in the Vicomtez de Leomayne and d'Anvillars, and in the Castles and Towns of Blanquesfort and other Places within the Archbishoprick of Burdeaux, saving that of Duras and Chasteau Gaillard, which with several others he had assigned formerly to Messire Aymery de Duresford, which Vicomtez belonged formerly to Messire Bertrand de Gouth, and after his Death descended to his Daughter Regime, Wife of the said Comte d'Armagnac: But though the Head of this Family embraced the Interest of the French, yet in this Interval of Time, several other considerable Persons of it adhered to their Loyalty, and therefore our ^x Records mention Arnald de Duroforti, who received at once ^y 1200 Marks. Ramsfred de Duroforti Lord of Baiolmont, and his Sons Ramsfred and Reymond, Arnald Son of Sir Arnald, and that Sir Arnald was sent Embassadour to the King of Jerusalem and Sicily, Bertrand Lord of Cadilhak received a Letter of Thanks from our King for his good Behaviour, Sir Bernard Lord de Capella, Bertrand Lord of Cadilhas, &c. Pope Clement, recommends Sir Arnald de Duroforte Viscount Laburde, and Arnald Lord of Fespuch to the Favour of our King.

III. Galiard Son of Aimery embraced at first the Interest of England, and there is a ^z Number of Grants made to him extant on Record, ^o Ibid. vol. 3. p. 522.

^p Ibid. vol. 4. p. 191.

^q Priv. Sig. 6 Oct. 3 E. 3.

^r Priv. Sig.

^s Valcon. 5 E. 3. m. 4. Valcon 6 E. 3. m. 5. Valc.

^t 7 E. 3. m. 3. Valcon. 8 E. 3. m. 3. 10 E. 3. m. 4. 11

^u E. 3. m. 34. 12 E. 3. m. 1. & 22.

^v Rym. vol. 9.

^w Rym. vol. 5. p. 329. 567.

^x Valcon. 15 E. 3. m. 9. Rebellio Emerici de Duroforte.

^y Du Chesne Hist. des Chancel. de France, p.

322.

^z Rym. vol. 4. p. 191, 171, 342, 250, 678, 766, 841. vol. 5. p. 192, 193, 603, 784.

^a Liberat. 26 E. 3. m. 3.

^b Rot. Valcon. 22 E. 3. m. 9, &c.

but being seduced from his Allegiance in 1352, the Castle of Blanquaforti was in 28 E. III, given to Augery de Muysfidano, in which Grant our King reserved Power to vacate it upon Assigning him other Lands to the Value of one thousand Scutes of Gold, which was a prudent Clause, for this Lord returning very soon to his Loyalty had in Apr. 1356 Restitution of this Barony of Blanquafort in 32 Ed. III, by a memorable d Patent, the Chastellany of Blavia being in the preceding Year given to this Muysfidano in Lieu and Satisfaction thereof, together with other e Rewards. He by Margaret de Caumont had

IV. Galiard the Second in 1365, did l Homage to the King of England, in pursuance of the Peace made at Bretigny, and thereon the Castle of Blanquafort with Veyzimes, and the Seignory of Bessau were restored to him, and by the Title of Lord d Duras and Blanquafort had in 50 E. III, a Gift of 308 l. 8 from the Exchequer, in 1377 was taken b Prisoner by the Duke of Anjou, and in 1 R. II in Regard of the Loss of some i Lands by the Wars in Aquitaine had an Annuity of 200 l. being often named Sire de Duras & de Blanquafort, without any Christian or Surname. In 1 H. IV, Money was advanced to him for his Passage from hence into k Gascoigne upon the Affairs of the Crown, he having first a Grant of the Prevoostie of Bayonne in Lieu of the 200 l. above-mentioned, l formerly granted by Rich. II. on 23 Decemb. and was by Endenture retained to be m Seneschal of Aquitain during the King's Pleasure, and as such by the Stile of n Galiard Lord of Duras and Blanquafort, had 1000 Marks in part of the payment of his Wages in the Wars out of the Subsidy given by the Clergy. In X H. IV, was in England and received a o Reward of a 100 Marks, and continuing in this high Office had in 3 Hen. V. the Hôtel of p Limran granted him, and in 1420, was at the q Siege of Monstreau, who by Eliouer de Perigord had

V. Galiard the third, who in the 1 Hen. VI. petitioned the King re- titing the r Grant of the Prevoostie of Bayonne made by R. II, to his Fa- ther for Life, and confirmed by Hen. IV. to him and to the first Heir from him descending for Life, by vertue whereof the said Galiard being in Possession desired a Confirmation thereof, which was done during the King's Pleasure, which He again in the s eighth Year petitions to hold during his Life, when he was retained by an e Endenture for one whole Year with 20 Men of Arms, accounting himself and two other Knights in that Number, and the Remnant were to be Esquires, and 10 Archers to do Service in the Voyage which the King intended in Person into c Rymer. vol. 9. p. 406, 407. per Inspec.

d Vafcon. 32 E. 3. p. 2. m. 6. See Vafcon. 31 E. 3. m. 2.

e Rot. Pip. 26 E. 3.

f Vafcon. 31 E. 3. m. 2. Inspecim. Cartæ Prin- cipis factæ 4 Apr. 1356.

g Erit. Pell. p. 50 E. 3.

h Du Chesne Hist. d'Angleterre, p. 867.

i Rym. vol. 7. p. 261.

k Priv. Sig. 17 Junij 1 H. 4.

l Rym. vol. 8. p. 117.

m In Off. Pell. & in Priv. Sig. 24 Dec. 1 H. 4.

Vide Rymer, vol. 8. p. 117, 371, 588. Rot. Vafcon.

1. 2, 3, 4, 5 & 6 H. 4.

n Rym. vol. 8. p. 371.

o Priv. Sigill. in Off. Pell. 21 Aug.

p Rym. vol. 9. p. 259.

q Ballet Hist. MS. in Off. Arm.

r 18 May 1 H. 6. in Off. Pell. Rym. vol. x. p.

288, 272.

s 8 May 8 H. 6. Ibid.

t Priv. Sig. 20 Febr. 8 H. 6. & etiam Indent. in Off. Pell.

his Realm of France, in 1432, He was ^a banished out of that Kingdom, and in the 15th Year for his own good Services performed to the King and to his Father, He was constituted ^x Seneschal of Landes. By the means of the Identity of the Christian Name Galiard in the Father and Son, and not knowing the exact Time of the Death of the Father, it is not improbable that some of the Actions above-mentioned may have been ascribed to the one instead of the other: But by a Recital in a ^y Patent we know this Galiard was dead before the 20th Oct. 23 Hen. VI. leaving by Jeane de Loumayne

VI. Our Knight of the Garter Galiard the Fourth ^z under Age, who in 24 Hen. VI. had ^a a Safeguard or Conduct to come into this Kingdom, and to return to Aquitain at his Pleasure, in which Year (if a ^b Manuscript may be credited) He was made Marshal of Calis, which ^c Comines mistakes and calls him Marshal of England, having before in 1451, been present at the Surrender of ^d Bordeaux to the French, and as their ^e Authors say did Homage to the King of France in Sept. 1452, for his Signory of Duras, to which he was compelled by the Necessity of Affairs; for He soon retired to ^f Calis whereof He was Marshal, and from thence returned into Aquitaine with the most valiant Earl of Shrewsbury, after whose unfortunate Death at Chatillon, a ^g Record dated 21 Apr. 32 H. VI. informs us, "That the King's humble Subject and faithful Liegeman Guillard de Durafort Knight of Gascoigne, did in this present Year when the Adversary of France seized on that Duchy fortify his own Castles with Soldiers and Provisions, and most valiantly defended himself in Blanquafort, so as the Counts of Clermont and Foix, the Lords of la Bret. Dorval, and Potton de Saintevailles, who lay before the same with a great Army, were however forced to break up the Siege, by which means He kept his Lands in the Obedience of the Crown till such a Time as the City of Bordeaux was taken, whereby He was constrained to consult the Safety of his Person and fly, since if it had chanced that He had been taken Prisoner, He would certainly have been put to Death." This last Suggestion was no groundless Apprehension, proceeding from Fear or Caution, since two of the Family of Monferrant did at that Time meet with that severe Fate. Upon this Account the King granted him an Annuity of one hundred Pounds, and took him afterwards into his special ^h Protection for two Years, being reduced (as 'tis worded) to the very Abyss or Extremity of Poverty for this his firm Alliance, which Summ was afterwards made payable out of Issues of Lands in ⁱ Guifnes, and Parts thereabouts: By the way the French King in this Interval gave the Lands of Blanquafort to the Comptre of ^k Dampmartin, and the Barony of Duras

* Du Tillet Chron. Abrege des Rois de France, p. 133.

x Vasc. 15 H. 6. m. 5.

y Rym. vol. xi. p. 71.

z Vasc. 23 H. 6. m. 8. 21 Off.

a Vasc. 24 H. 6. m. 4. 14 Aug.

b Vinc. MS. in Off. Arm. n. 18. p. 143 b.

c Hist. l. 3. c. 4.

d Moresi Diction. Hollingh. ad A. D. 1431.

e Anselme, p. 813. & Moresi. Vide Du Tillet recueil des traitez, p. 368.

f Hollingh. p. 636. Comines ut Supra.

g Vasc. 32 H. 6. m. 9. 21 Apr. Rym. vol. xi. p. 348.

h Rym. vol. xi. p. 348.

i Fran. 36 H. 6. m. xi. 9 May Rym. vol. xi. p. 110.

k Anselm. l'Hist. General. p. 831. & 1361.

to the Siegneur du Lau, which latter at length had this Chastellainy of Blancafort also. After this Time we meet with Recitals of these his unfortunate Losses and Sufferings, and several Orders for Payment of the Arrears of this Annuity. Henceforth he was reputed an Englishman by the French, and accordingly that King gives a Reward to his Pursuivant ¹ Blanquesfort as the Officer of an English Nobleman. In April the first Year of E. IV., by the King's Appointment He laid Siege with three or 400 Persons to the Castle of ^m Hammes then detained by certain Rebels, and He, which is somewhat remarkable, was made Knight of the Bath at the Coronation of the ⁿ Queen in 1465, and in 1469 was one of the Embassadors sent with the Garter to the ^o Duke of Burgundy. In the XI. of E. IV., He was sent into ^p Lancashire to suppress a Rebellion, and was one of those who in ^q Parliament did on Oath perform Homage to the Prince of Wales. In the 12th had the ^r Dominion of Lesparv in Gascoigne granted to him and to his Heirs Males, and on 15 July in that Year was retained by Endenture (as the Words are) to do ^s Service of War unto the Duke of Bretagne against the Might and Malice of Louis calling himself King of France, and in Regard, "Our Knight could not chevish, (as the Term is, that is borrow) Goods to prepare himself to wayte and intende upon the King in his Wars against his great and auntient Enemy of France, because of the Non-certeinté of his Life," It was Enacted in Parliament 14 E. IV., that in Case He should ^t dye within five Years, his Assigns or Executors should for that Term next after his Decease enjoy the Annuity of one hundred Pounds granted to him on 6 Sept. in the fourth Year of the King, under the Seal of the Duchy of Lancaster, Issuing out of the Lordship of Bolynbroke. In 14 E. IV., was one of the Embassadors ^u to the Duke of Burgundy and John Lord Audley, and this Galiard being by an Indenture dated 21 Nov. retained to serve the King with 2000 Archers in the War of Bretagne, received Money from the Exchequer upon that Account, and they in the next Year had the ^x Government of the Army sent thither, In the 15th He obtained a Grant of the ^y Mannors of Shelford, Stokebardorf and Gedling, in the Counties of Nottingham, Derby and Lincoln, to himself and the Heirs Males of his Body, for Gascoigners being Born within the ^z Ligeance of the King, were capable of Grants and Inheritable here. He was one of the ^a Embassadors into Bretagne, and had served according to a ^b MS. under Edward the IV in Flanders,

1 Du Compte de Sire Guillaume de Varie General des finances du Roy du premier Octobre 1463, au dernier Sept. 1463, a Blanquesfort Poursuivant d'Armes du Seigneur de Duras Anglois 27 l. 10 s. a Tournay pour avoir apporte des nouvelles d'Angleterre. Communiquée par Monf. Monf. Clauembault.

m E. Signet 16 Junij 3 E. 4.

n Vita Ed. 4. edita per Hearn. p. 295.

o Alim. App. n. Lxii.

p Exit Pell.

q Claus. 11 E. 4. m. 1 d.

r Pat. 12 E. 4. p. 1. m. 7. 28 July, Rym. vol. xi.

p. 410.

s Indent. in Off. Pell.

t N. 26. Ancienne Chronique dans le Supplement.

aux Memoires de Comines, p. 399. le 22 April 1474. Messire Gerard de Duresfort Sir. de Duras & No. Jean Morton, Docteur es loix Maître des Ralles. Ambassadeurs d'Angleterre. prirent congé de ce Duc, Ils eurent en présent pour eux deux cent dix Mars de vaisselle d'argent, & chacun un cheval. Bertrand de Duras frere du dit Gerard qu'il avoit accompagne dans cette Ambassade eut aussi un cheval en present.

u Exit Pell.

x Pat. 15 E. 4.

y Ibm. p. 2. m. xi. 12 Julij.

z Co. 7. Rep. p. 19 b.

a Fran. 15 E. 4. m. 17. 16 Junij.

b H. 8. penes Authorem, p. 186, 284.

the last Entry that this Collector hath found of him in the Records, is in March 16 E. IV, whereby he surrendered the Grant of the ' Annuity issuing out of the Mannor of Bolynbroke, and the other Grants of the Mannors above-mentioned, for which the King ordered him the Payment of 485 l. from the Exchequer.

Hitherto his Loyalty is irreproachable, for which He lost one of the ^d four Chief Baronies in Aquitaine, with an ample Patrimony and all his ' Moveables, and a Re-establishment therein after so long a Dispossession was no Ways blameable, if it could be obtained upon honourable Terms by the Consent of all Patties interested. The Fact certainly is, that He performed ^j Homage to the King of France in 1476, upon the Restitution of his Inheritance, and the Enquiry ought to be whether this Regulation of his Conduct was defensible.

For want of the Registrum Chartaceum, it cannot be determined whether the Compiler of this Black-book might not fling in this Comparison to a Bat as an Ornament to his Style and Oratory: However that may be, it is not pretended that this Behaviour of our Knight can be in any measure justified by the Inducement of his own Interest, though that hath always been a prevalent Motive, and a Principle, that hath had too visible a Power over the Actions of Men even in exalted Stations: But we are here to recollect that it was the current Doctrine of former Ages, that when a Person had in Form renounced and surrendered his ^s Homage to one Prince, He was esteemed discharged from it, and at liberty to transfer it to another Prince: At the Time when this was the common Practice, there can be no Doubt, but if the Prince who had the Right to the Allegiance should consent to the Alienation of it, that must have been then allowed a good Plea.

When our Knight thus submitted to France upon the Restoration of his ancient Estates, the Dutchy of Guienne had been several Years in the Possession of that Crown, and there seemed to be no Prospect that the Crown of England should recover it after the Treaty concluded in ^b August 15 Edw. IV, a Treaty which though it was shameful to the King of France, who petitioned and paid for it, was however in no other Respect honourable to our King, save only that He returned Home laden with the Tribute of his Ally, to whom He was reconciled upon that Purchase. Both these Kings expressed entire Satisfaction in this Peace, and the greatest Expressions of Affection passed between them at their Interview, when they took their Oaths for the mutual Observation of the Articles, and in a short Time they consented to prolong the Continuance thereof during the Terms ⁱ of their respective Lives, and for one Year after the Demise of the first of them. These Treaties remain still on Record, and no Provision or Recompence is made therein with

^c Priv. Sig.

^d Du Chesne Hist. d'Angleterre, p. 867. A. D. 1377.

^e Franc 24 H. 6. m. 23. 20 Nov. ad petitionem dilecti & fidelis Regis Gahardi de Durford militis Domini de Duras in Ducata Aquitanie oriundi, qui cum Adversarius Regis Ducatum predictum inva- serit & sibi subjugaverit omnia bona sua mobilia & immobilia fidelitatem ligeantiae suae observando amisit, &c.

^f Anselme, Moreti, &c.

^g See above, p. 71.

^h Rymer, vol. 12. p. 14, 18.

ⁱ Ibid. p. 47.

Regard to those Gaſcoigners, who for the Reverence of their Loalyty had unfortunately loſt all their Lands in that Dutchy, and how offenſive this League was to thoſe of that Country appears from the free Cenſure made upon it by Lewis de Bretailles in his private Converſation with Philip de Comines, that Ed. IV received greater Diſhonour by returning Home, than he had obtained Honour in winning nine Battles in Perſon.

The State of Affairs was in this Scituation, in Reference to the Gaſcoigners, and if a Relation in a ¹ Manuſcript can be credited, Ed. IV conſented that our Knight ſhould become a Subject of France, for 'tis there ſaid, " That after the Peace He asked Licence that He might ſue " to the French King to be reſtored, which done and granted, He took " his Leave of the King at Calais, where He cauſed a Maſs of St. George " to be celebrated, and there offered up his Garter. This ſeems to be countenanced not only from the Continuance of the Name of our Knight in the Windſor-Tables, wherein ſuch as were degraded, are generally omitted, but from the Management of Ed. IV, who was a Prince verſed enough in Politicks, and 'tis ſcarce conceivable He ſhould not ſuſpect the Motive that induced our Knight at that Juncture to ſurrender the Grants made to him in Fee-Taile, and that He tacitly at leaſt conſented to his Intention of ſubmitting to France by his Acceptante of theſe Grants, and giving him ſo ſlender a Conſideration, which was no Ways equivalent to the Loſſes he had ſuſtained, and would rather irritate and provoke him to a Deſertion, than be an Allurement to keep him firm in his Intereſt.

Our Knight by his Lady Jeanne de la Lande left John de Durefort his Son, from whom in a direct Line deſcended the Duke of Duras, the Compte de Lorges, the Earl of Feverſham Companion of this Order, and other Branches in France. Whether this was a Depoſition or Reſignation, there might be no Plate for him ever affixed to this Stall, for in that Age it was not cuſtomary to ſet any up, till after the Death of the Knight: His Arms however may be ſeen in Mr. ^m Aſtmole's Hiſtory which were Quarterly Gules a Lion Rampant Argent, and Argent a Bend azure for Durefort.ⁿ Spener was ignorant to what Family the firſt Coat did originally belong, but a late ^o Author acquaints us, that 'tis for Lomagne, probably He means the Antient Viſcompte of that Placé de Gout; His Creſt is in ſome Manuſcripts ſaid to be a Lion's Head erazed Or on a Chapeau azure lined Ermine, having three taſſels Or, ^k l. 4. c. x.

^l H. 8. penes me, p. 186; 284.
^m p. 712.

ⁿ Speneri theoria Inſignium, p. 619.
^o Moreti Diction. v. Durefort.

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of

Sir Tho. Montgomery.

His Successor was Sir Thomas Montgomery numbered 215, elected on the 22 Apr. 16 E. IV, An. Dom. 1476. under the Character of a most Eminent ^a Knight [Perregregius Eques] of whom the Black-book contains no other Entries than his Presence in, or Absence from Chapters till the 8th Year of Hen. VII. and from thence there is a Chasm in it till the 14th Year, in which Interval he dyed:

He was Son of Sir John Montgomery of Falkburn in Essex, who was probably the first of that Surname seated at that Place, which in 13th Hen. IV. had been in the Family of ^b Bobun, and indeed the Collector cannot discover ^a Lib. Nig.

^b From the Information of Mr. Holman, who will merit largely from this County by his Topographical description of the Antiquities thereof.

his Descent, unless it was from Scotland, as the Person who lately published 'Cambdene there, conjectures from the small Distinction between his Arms and those of Montgomery Earl of Eglinton. This Sir John created Knight of the Bath at St. George's Feast held in Caen, was famous for many military Exploits recorded by the ⁴ Historians during the Wars in France, where he was Privy Councellour to John Duke of Bedford the Regent, Captain of the strong Castle of Arques and other ^c Fortresses, Bailif of Caux, and had the Honour of being nominated in the Scrutiny of this Order in 23 H. VI. It would be too foreign to give the Particulars of his Wife, He married Elizabeth Sister to Ralph Boteler Lord of Sudeley (Knight also of this Order) who by the Title of ^f Lady Say made her Will on the last of January 1484, which was proved on the 9th of March following, wherein "She appointed her Funeral in the " Priory of Erbury, where the Bones of her Ancestors lay, and constituted Sir Thomas Montgomery her Son one of her Executors, and gives " a Legacy to her Daughter Alice Wife of Clement Spice Esq; making " her Brother Ralph Boteler Lord Sudeley Surveyor thereof.

Erbury in Warwickshire was the Burying Place of these ^g Botelers, and by a fix fetcht Courtsey she constantly retained the Title of Lady Say, being only the Relict of Sir ^b William Heron stiled Lord Say, by Reason of his first Marriage with ⁱ Elizabeth the Daughter and Heiress of the Lord Say Widow of Sir John Falvesle. This Sir William entituled Lord Say dying without Issue in or ^k before 6 Hen. IV, this his Lady must have been the ^l Widow of Sir Henry Norbury, because ^m Sir John Norbury her Son was in 13 E. IV, found to have been one of the Heirs of this Ralph Lord Boteler, Hence our Knight in his Will orders Masses for the Soul of his Uncle the Lord Sudeley, and devises a Legacy to his Nephew Ralph Norbury, and we find some other intermarriages between these Families, for ⁿ Gawine Boteler had formerly married Alice Montgomery, and Elizabeth an Heiress of the Chief branch of the Botelers was married to John Say.

This Sir John Montgomery ^o dyed in 27 Hen. VI, being with his said Lady seized of Falkburne, leaving John his Son and Heir then 22 Years of Age, and a Deed of this Lady by the Stile of Elizabeth Lady Say late the Wife of John Montgomery, dated in the next Year, hath been ^p published, and the ^q Jury find that this Lady dyed 4 Edw. IV, seized of Che-loughton and Blountelshall in Southampton and Essex, together with Sir Ralph Botiller and Ralph Browne, and that Tho. Montgomery then 30 Years of Age was her Son and Heir, so that John the elder Brother of our Knight by the same Mother must be then dead (and probably was the Person

^c Printed at Edinburg in 8vo.

^d Ms. in bibl. Lambeth. n. 141. Basset Historia

Ms. in Off. Arm. m. 9.

Hollingsh. p. 604. 67.

^e Capitaneus de Meullent. Rot. Norm. 7 H. 5.

de Mauliverer. Ibid. m. 56. de Danfont. Norm.

8 H. 4. p. 2. m. 15.

^f Lib. Godyn in Prerog. 56.

^g See Dugd. Warwickshire.

^h Vinc. Baronage Ms. in Off. Arm. p. 250.

ⁱ Dugd. Bar. vol. 1. p. 730.

^k G. 7. penes me, p. 70.

^l Erch. 6 H. 6. post mortem Petronelle uxoris

Hugonis de Mortuo Mari

^m Erch. 13 E. 4. n. 58.

ⁿ See the Pedigree of Boteler and Say.

^o Erch. 27 H. 6. Essex.

^p Madox Form. Anglic. n. DCxx.

^q Erch. 4 E. 4.

that was beheaded in 3 Edw. IV.) for the Lady Say being married to Sir John Montgomery on or before 5 H. V., it is evident she was Mother to these two Brothers, and there was only the Difference of nine Years in their Ages.

By the Interest and Merits of his Father, who had distinguished himself in the Wars, our Knight seems in his early Years to have been admitted into Court; for Hen. VI. in his 25th Year gave forty Pounds ' to his well-beloved Squier Thomas Montgomery oon of the Marechalx of, his Hallé for his entandance upon the Duke of Norfolk at Killingworth and in the Tower of London, and afterwards upon Sir John Asteley, and in fetching Alianore Cobham from Ledys to London, and for his awaiting upon John Davy appellant to teche and informe him Points of Arms, such as He cowde, ayentit the tyme that He should have at do in Smythfeild, and also in Regard the Grant of an Office in Wales late made to him, which should have been worth xxl. yerly was not valuable to him.

One should scarce imagine that this Passage related to our Knight who was at that Time only about 13 Years old, an Age scarce capable to give any effective Instructions in Points of Arms to an Appellant in the Case of a Duel al outrance, where the Charge being Capital, the Combat was to continue, till one of the Parties was killed; though there can be little doubt of the Identity of the Person, because, as we shall soon see, Thomas Montgomery by the same Appellation of one of the Marshals of the Hall was three Years afterwards advanced to be Warden of the Mint, which very Office was confirmed to our Knight by Ed. IV. Hence therefore it may be presumed that this Instrument cautiously intimates such Instructions, as He cowde give, with respect to the Tenderness of his Age, which Words are omitted in the Privy Seal to another who was to teach the Prior of Kilmayn in the like manner, which may be seen in the Margin.

This Alianor Cobham from the Mistress became the Wife of the Duke of Glocester, and had been * arrested for Conspiring the Murder of the King, and we may observe, which is somewhat remarkable, that by the Rules of the * Court military Appellants were allowed to be taught
in

¹ Hollingth. p. 605. Life of Ed. 4. published by Heame, p. 290

² Lib. S. Albani in Bibl. Cotton. Nero D. 7. 23 Oil. 14. 17. Subcepit beneficium nostre fraternitatis Elizabetha Domina. Say; cujus interventu concessa fuit fraternitas nostri Capituli Domino Johanni de Montgomery viro suo, qui pro tunc in ultramarinis militavit Domino, nostro Regi Henrico.

³ Privat. Sig. 28 Apr. inter brevia in Off. Pell. Speed 678. Hall 64 b.

⁴ There are two other Instances in this same Year. Priv. Sig. 28 Dec. 25 H. 6. To Philip Treher Fishmonger xxl. for his Attendance and Labours by our Commandement as wel in teaching certain Points of Arms unto the Prior of Kilmayn, which late appelled th' Erl of Ormond of banu Treason, as in teaching and countrolling John Davy, which hath appelled oon John

*Catour Armerer of Treason. These two Appellants had another Councillor allowed them, who was a Experienced in Feats of Arms; as any Person of that Age; the James Sir John Asteley, who was afterwards elected into this Order. Exit Pell. 25 H. 6. Johanni Asteley militari, qui nuper ex speciali mandato per litteras de privato Sigillo fuit intendens, & de consilio in quadam materia concernens personam ipsius Dom. Regis cum Priore de Kilmayn, & postmodum cum Johanne Davy in alia materia appellacionis concernens personam Dom. Regis xl. The Defendants as fo had the same benefit, and therefore a Privy Seal was directed to Sir William Lile, setting forth that whereas Battle was adjudged between Upton and Down, and the Defendants had desired him, "De luy assister, & a luy entendre a ses propres frais & aider & informer en, de, & sur certains choses la fait d'armes concernentz, & pur son defense en le dit bataill besoignables, Vous nientmoins luy assister,* in the Management of their Arms; though the Permission of Combats for Tryals in doubtful Cases where ordinary Proofs were wanting, could be grounded only on a Notion of the Interposition of Providence by the visible Sign of giving to the Innocent the Victory over the Guilty.

In 28 H. VI, being then the King's Esquire and Marshal of the Hall, He had the Custody of the ³ Exchange, and of the Money within the Tower of London, and the Wardenship of the Coynage of Gold and Silver within the Kingdom granted him during his Life.

Under the Reign of Edw. IV, He was one of the greatest Favourites, and of his Cabinet, "Un Chivalier fort privé de luy, as a ² judicious Statesman acquaints us, and had several Posts of considerable Profit; in the first Year He was constituted Steward of the Castle of ^a Haddale for Life, and had the Office of the Linnen Armory within the Tower of ^b London for the like terme, and was ^c made Treasurer of Ireland for Life, and had the Stewardship of ^d Haveving at the Bowes, with a Confirmation of the ^e Wardenship of the Mint on 15 June, being then only an Esquire, but received the Honour of Knighthood before the 19th Nov. following, when a ^f Tally formerly made out in the Name of his Father Sir John, was ordered to be changed and assigned to him, and in February that Year He had ² Parts of the Mannour and Town of ^g Saldeyn with its Members in Bucks and Bedford granted to him, in the next Year had the Captainship of ^b Caernarven for Life, and was ⁱ Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk, sent in the 3d Year Embassadour into ^k Scotland and afterwards to the Duke of ^l Charolois, to treat of a Marriage between him and the King's Sister, and He afterwards attended on that ^m Princess in her Journey thither, and He was empowered to treat with the ⁿ Embassadors of Lewis the King's Adversary, having had the Constableship of the Castle of ^o Caen for Life, and was in or before Nov. 8 E. IV, discharged from the Office of ^p Warden of the Mint doubtless with his own Consent, on the 14 Oct. in the 9th Year being then Knight for the King's Body, had for his laudable Services the Constableship of ^q Bristol for Life, and in the following Year in Regard he had done his true Devoir to the King at all Times, had a Pardon for the ^r Forfeitures incurred by him in the Common Pleas, by Reason ou a luy entendre en aucun fait d'armes aider & enfourmer, ou enseigner n'avez voulu, ne ungore ne veulle en aucune manere saunz nostre coungeie, The King therefore by the Advice of his Privy Council charges him, "Que Vous vous adressez personnelment au dit fr. en Donne, & a luy soiez assistant, aidant, & confortant, & luy donnez autiel conseil en de & sur le fait d'armes & les circonstances d'icell a luy par son dit bataill necessaires, comme de bon foi, & selonc la ley d'armes vous semblera bon, just, sun, &——— In Officio Pell. The distinction was, the Appellant being supposed to support the Interest of the Crown, was Taught at the Charges of the Crown, whereas the Defendant paid for his own Instruction, and in the like Manner the Armour was provided by the Crown for the Appellant, and if he was the Conqueror, was given to him as to this Upton by a Privy Seal dated 17 Apr. 8 H. 6.

^j Pat. 28 H. 6. p. 1. m. 10. 25 Oct.

^z Comines l. 4. c. xi. p. 245.

^a Pat. 1 E. 4. 8vo. Julij.

^b Ibid.

^c Ibid.

^d Ibid.

^e Ibid.

^f Priv. Sig. 19 Nov. 1 E. 4.

^g Pat. Ibid. sub mensis Febr.

^h Ibid. 11 Junij.

ⁱ Priv. Sigill.

^k Rot. Scot.

^l Rot. Fran. 6 E. 4. m. 6. 22 Martij.

^m F. 2 penes me, p. 83.

ⁿ Rot. Fran. 6 E. 4. m. 7.

^o Fran. 2 E. 4. 29 Martij.

^p Priv. Sig. 29 Nov. 8 E. 4.

^q Pat. 9 E. 4. 13 Oct.

^r Priv. Sig. 3 Nov. 10 E. 4.

of his Office of Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk. The King having in his 12th Year created his Son Prince of Wales and Earl of Chesler in Parliament, a special Provision was inserted in the ' Act that the Livery of the Dutchy of Cornwall should not be prejudicial to the Grants of Offices made to the King's trusty and well-beloved William Stanley Knt. Tho. Burgh, Thomas Montgomery, &c. In 13 E. IV, He purchased from the Earl of Kent the Mannor of ' Braxsted Magna for 1000 Marks, and was in Parliament in the next Year with Thomas Burgh, William Parr, Knights, and others constituted one of the Feoffees for the Hereditaments of the " Dutchy of Lancaster in order for the Performance of the King's Will, and in that Year had the Stewardship of all the Lands of * Francis Son and Heir of John Lovel Knight, lying in Essex during his Minority, and being then a Banneret and Knight for the King's Body, received the first ' Quarter's Pay for his Voyage into France, with ten Men of Arms and one hundred Archers according to his Endenture, and for his good Services had the " Stewardship of the King's Forest of Essex during Life, and on the 2d of Dec. a Commission was directed to him then Knight for the King's Body and his " Steward [nostrog; Dapiscidi] to make a League with the Emperor against France, where being at Seintre on 13 Aug. 15 E. IV, He was one of those who advised that King to enter into a ^b Treaty with the King of France, and afterwards ^c Margaret Queen Dowager of Hen. VI. was put into his Custody to be delivered to that King upon such Terms as He should judge reasonable.

This Treaty with France soon ended in a Peace, which however dishonourable to that King who stoopt so low to purchase it by an yearly Tribute or Pension, was however ungrateful to the Genius of the English, who imagined they had thereby lost the Opportunity of making glorious Conquests. The compliance of Ed. IV. to the Proposals offered him, is attributed by a late ^d Historian to the Advice and Approbation of some Members of the House of Commons who attended him, in that Expedition, who soon became tired of lying in the Field like Souldiers, which if true, is an antient Instance that Deputies of States have not been always proper Councillours, touching the Critical junctures when Battles ought to be fought. Our Knight having gone formerly through the Fatigues of foreign Voyages, and having several military Employments at Home, it is to be hoped He was not one of this tender delicate Number, but it may be questioned whether He might not be influenced by a Motive of a worse Denomination; for it appears that by Reason of the general Discontent of the Nation, the Continuance of this Peace seemed so very insecure, that to support it the politick Lewis XI. condescended to pay annual Pensions to the Ministers and Favourites of Ed. IV. and among others to our ' Knight; How far the Knowledge and Consent of the Sovereign can justify, or how far excuse

1 Parl. 12 E. 4. p. 12, 13, 14.
 2 Collect. Rich. Symonds in Off. Arm.
 3 Parl. 14 E. 4. p. xi.
 4 Pat. 26 Jani 14 E. 4.
 5 Rymer, vol. xii. p. 816.
 6 Pat. 15 E. 4. 27 Apr.

7 Fran. 14 E. 4. m. 1.
 8 Rymer, vol. 12. p. 15.
 9 Ibid. p. 21. 22. Du Tillet, recueil des Traitez, p. 374.
 10 Matthien Hist. de Louis xi. l. 6. c. 19.
 11 Comines l. 4. c. 8. p. 227.

any Courtiers in taking Money from a foreign Prince in such Circumstances is not the present Subject, but if it was culpable in our Knight, there were several other of great Quality Partners with him in the Guilt.

He was chosen into this Order when He was about forty two Years old. In 17th Year was Knight of the ^f Shire for Effex, and continuing Knight of the King's Body was by that ^l Title deputed to treat with the Embassadors of France, and in the next Year being ^p pro corpore nostro miles, ac Ordinis Garterij was one of the Embassadors to treat with the Dutcheſs of Burgundy about the Courſe of Money, as alſo with thoſe of the Duke of ⁱ Oſtriche and Burgoyne. In 19 E. IV, hath the Addition of ^k Conſiliarius Regis, and in the following Year being Ordinis Garterij miles, was at ^l Bruges when Maximilian and Mary Dukes of Austria and Burgundy took their Oaths for obſerving the Treaty of Marriage between Philip Count of Charolois and Anne Daughter of our King. He was one of the Founders of a Gild or ^m Fraternity at Ulyng in Effex, and He met with the good Fortune to ſtand ſo far in the Graces of Rich. III. that He in his firſt Year granted him the Caſtle of ⁿ Hyngham for Life, and continued him one of the ^o Knights for his Body, and ordered him by Reaſon of the Infirmity of the Lord Montjoy in the 2d Year to take Care of the Caſtle of ^p Guifnes, upon the Rumour that the French intended to attack it, and he was one of the Embassadors who concluded ſeveral Articles with ^q Philip of Austria Duke of Burgundy, and was one of thoſe who agreed to prolong the ^r Truce with the Duke of Bretagne. In the 4th Year of Hen. VII. He had a Pardon for all Amerciaments laid on him for not appearing at the Sessions held at ^s Colcheſter as Bailiff of divers Fraunchiſes, and was commiſſioned in that Year to provide ^t Archers within the County of Effex for the Relief of Bretagne. In the 6th Year was conſtituted Sheriff of ^u Norfolk and Suffolk for one Year from Michaelmas. His ^v Will made at Falkeborne in Effex bears date 28 July 1489, (4 H. VII,) ſome Years before his Death, wherein he orders his Burial in the Chapel of our Lady which he had made at Tower-Hill, and that the Body of his Lady Dame Philip ſhould be removed from Falkeborne thither, mentions the Lord Sudeley his Uncle, Ralph Norbury his Nephew, his Siſters Anne Montgomery, Alice Langley, and Alice Spice, and gives Legacies to Dame Lore then his Wife, and ſeveral other Relations. The ^w Inquiſition taken 9th of May, XH. VII, finds his Death on the XIth of January preceeding (ſo that He was about 55 Years of Age) and that he held Falkeborne and Bluntſball, and that Alice Wife of Robert Langley then 60 Years of Age was his Siſter and Heir (who had been the Wife of John Forteſcue Eſq; whoſe Poſterity by her enjoyed ^f Clauf. 17 E. 4. d.

^g Pat. 17 E. 4. p. 1. & Fran. 17 E. 4. m. 20.
^h Ibid.
ⁱ Fran. 18 E. 4. m. 3. 18 Dec.
^k Pat. 19 E. 4.
^l Rym. vol. 12. p. 139.
^m Pat. 21 E. 4. p. 1. m. 9.
ⁿ Pat. 1 R. 3. 26 Apr.

^o Ibid.
^p Rym. vol. 12. p. 131.
^q Ibid. p. 248.
^r Ibid. p. 261.
^s Priv. Sig.
^t Pat. 4 H. 7. m. 20 d. 23 Dec.
^u Rot. Fin.
^v Vox in Prærog. qu. 25.
^w Eſch. in Cap. Rotul.

Falkburne) and which Alice notwithstanding her Age was re-married to Edmund Wiseman in or before 1502, and dyed in 24 H. VII, so that his other Sisters named in his Will either dyed before him, or were of the half Blood.

He was doubtless buried (as we shall presently find) in the Place he appointed, and the Body of his first Lady Philippa (Daughter and Coheir of ^z John Helion of Bumsted-Helion in Essex, Son of John by Alice Daughter of Robert Swinborn and Johan Daughter of Sir John Battetourt of Otes Belchamp) was probably removed thither, who dying in or about 1 H. VII, our Knight married Lora the Relect of John Lord Montjoy, whose Son the Lord William (Knight also of this Order) did by his Will dated 26 H. VIII, order a Tombe for his Mother, who (as tis therein worded) lyeth interred with Sir Thomas Montgomery her late Husband at the New Abbey (that is at Tower-Hill) and our Knight had the Wardship of this Lord William. This Lady Lora was the Daughter of Sir Edward Barkley of Bewerston, and was one of the Executors of the Will of her Husband the Lord Montjoy, made in 1 H. VII, and surviving our Knight was re-married to ^b Thomas Earl of Ormond, who in his ^c Will made in 1515, mentions Dame Lore late his Wife, by whom this Earl had a Daughter that lies buried at Sheffield in Yorkshire.

The Plate of our Knight remained in this Stall, when a View was taken of all the Arms in this Chappel by ^d Nich. Dethick Bleumantle in 1563, since which Time it hath been torn off with some Violence, as appears from the Marks left in the Board. His Effigies was also in a Window of Falkbourn Church, when ^e Mr. Symonds made a Survey of Essex, but that is also taken away, He was there pictured in his Tart of Arms as exhibited in the Frontispiece of these Memoirs. Wall Garter King of Arms blasons them. “ Gules a Cheveron Ermyns between “ three fleurs de lys Gold, His Crest was the like fleur de lis.

^z Esch. 23 H. 6. post mortem Johanna Swinborn & Esch. 28 H. 6. post mortem Johannis Helion.

^a Dug. 1 Vol. Baron. p. 521.

^b See Newcourt Registr. Paroch. vol. 2. p. 494.

^c Lib. Holder in Pierog.

^d Q. r. penes me.

^e In Off. Armor.

voir la page 37

Guillaume Talbot, baron de Talbot, et fils du comte de Lescorps.

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of

Sir Gilbert Talbot.

SIR Gilbert, Numb. 246, was a Person of that Eminency and Merit, that in the IVth Year of Hen. VII he had the Majority by one Vote in the Scrutiny beyond Sir John Savage, who however had the Honour of being then declared elected; but Amends were afterwards made him, during the Time that the Black-book is silent, which contains no Entries from the VIIIth to the XIVth Year, the Original Commission for his ^a Installation, bearing date under the Seal of the Garter on the 20th of December, in the XIth of Hen. VII being still extant, wherein the Day of ^a Peres Comitem Salopia.

Henry by the grace of god king of England and of France, Lord of Ireland and sovereign of the noble Order of our garter, To our Right truly and right nel-belovok Cousen Thierle of Shrovesbury, To our Right truly and cawerly beloved Uncle the wiseant Welles, and so oore Right truly and welbelovok Counsellour the lord Daubetay oore Chamberlain, and the lord Broke of his Election is not mentioned, being only said therein to succeed Sir Thomas Montgomery.

Sincok

This Black-book remembers only his Presence in the 14th, his Absence excused in the 18th, and his being abroad in the King's Business in 19th, 20 and 21 of Hen. VII., that his Absence is again excused in 8 Hen. VIII., and upon the Scrutiny to fill up his Stall made 24 Apr. 10 H. VIII., the Epithet of Strenuus Eques is given him after his Death.

He was third Son of John Talbot the ¹ Second of that name Earl of Shrewsbury, who being slain at the Battle at Northampton 10 July; 38 H. VI., leaving his eldest ² Son only 13 Years old, we may thereby make some Conjecture of his Age; for his eldest Brother (if he had been living at the Time of this Installation) would have been no more than 48 Years old; After his Brother's Death in 1473 Our Knight had on 28 July ³ that Year, being then only an Esquire and one of the King's Carvers, the Custody of the County of Weisford in Ireland during the Minority of the Earl his Nephew, without paying any Rent for the same, and on the 8th Oct. ⁴ following was made Steward of the Towns and Lordships of Blakemere and Whitchurch for the same Term. He early addicted himself to the Wars serving in the Quality of an Esquire ⁵ in France with 3 Men of Arms and 30 Archers, in 14 Ed. IV. By his Descent from this most Antient and well allied Family, He was nearly related to many of the greatest Nobility, who having Experience of his Knowledge and Abilities granted him beneficial Offices, as the Stewardships of their Lands were then esteemed: On the 11 Apr. 15 E. IV., John Duke of Norfolk and ⁶ Elizabeth his Wife (who was Aunt to our Knight) in consideration of the good and laudable Services, and of the Council of their beloved Kinsman Gilbert Talbot Esquire, granted him the Mannor and Lordship of Stodesden for his Life without any Rent. In 1479 ⁷ Indulgences were given him, and Elizabeth his Lady and their Relations by an Officer under the Pope, and in 20 E. IV., Ralph Lord Graystock and ⁸ Wemme constituted him Steward of all his Lordships Mannors and Lands in Wemme and Hinderstock during his Life, with such Fees and Profits as the Earl of Shrewsbury formerly had by virtue of that Employment.

Under Rich. III. He was Sheriff of ⁹ Shropshire, which probably was Steward of our household knights and Companions of the said Ordre being Whereas by the decease of Sir Thomas Montgomery late one of the Companions of the said Ordre a Stad in the queir and a voue in the Chapitre is now void, and our trusty and welbelovyd knight for our hony Sir Gilbert Talbot by us and the Chapitre of the sayd ordre is accordingly to the statuts therof named and elected to be one of the knights and Compnyons of the garter, We therfor wol and desire you ¹ that by the presents committe unto our our ful power and aucthrite to doo the said Sir Gilbert at such tyme as ye thinke convenient, to be enstalled by you into the said ordre in publick maner and forwice as the statuts of the same doo require, Charging and straitly commaunding all such barons, knights and officers of the said Ordre as shalbe seen and there present with you and all others to whom it belongeth, that in and for the due execution of the premises they and every of theym be unto you obeying helping and assisting As the cases shal require, As they tendre the honor of us and of the said Ordre yowen undre our seal of the garter at our Palais of Westm. the xxvii Day of Decembre The xiiij yere of our Reigne.

^b Belands. Itinerary, vol. 7. p. 8. Edit. Hearne. Monast. Angl. vol. 2. p. 937. Camden's Britannia. p. 518, &c.

^c Etc. 38 H. 6. n. 36.

^d Par. 13 E. 4.

^e Ibid.

^f Rym. vol. xi. p. 845.

^g Ex Origin. penes Com. Salop.

ⁱ Fuller's Worthies, p. 16.

not given him as any Mark of Favour, since our ¹ Historians are very particular in their relating the great Assistances he brought to Hen. Earl of Richmond, and that He himself was the Leader of the Right Wing of the Army at Bosworth Field, where He had the hard Fortune of being sorely wounded. ^m Upon the Accession of Hen. VII to the Throne, He was soon made a Privy ⁿ Counsellour, when his eldest Brother would have been only about 38 Years of Age if he had been living, and further to Reward his Valour that King grants to him being then Knight for the King's Body and his Heirs Males, the Mannor of ^o Grafton with that of Upton Warren and several Lands and Tenements in Hambury, Bromesgrove, Kingis Norton, Kedernyster, Kenneswyk and Esbury, forfeited by the Attainder of Humphry Stafford by Act of Par. made on 7 Nov. and He had an Assignment of 100 l. towards his ^p Charges of being Sheriff of Salop for the Year then ensuing. He was made a Bannet before the ^q Battle of Newark, or as a MS. ^r faith at Stoke Battle, which was xith June 1489.

In 5 H. VII. He was in the ¹ Expedition into Flanders made on behalf of Maximilian the Emperor, and which is remarkable, there is an Indenture preserved dated 7 March, 6 Hen. VII. whereby John Pounde Citizen and Grocer of London, is placed an Apprentice to Sir Gilbert Talbot Citizen and ¹ Mercer of London, and Merchant of the Staple at Calis, so that this City hath had the Honour of having two of their Freemen very famous in their Ages for Bravery, Companions of the Garter if Sir Robert Knolles was ever elected into this Order. In the 7th Year He was by ⁿ Indenture retained to serve in the Wars beyond Sea, and in the 8th the Queen ^x grants him the Stewardship of the Lordship of Feckenham, and the Mastership of the Game with the Custody of that ^y Park.

In the 10 or 11 Year He was elected into this Order, being as Mr. ^z Camden justly characterizes him a Person of Bravery in War and of extraordinary Wisdom, and as it will appear a Friend to the Churchmen, and Religious according to the Modes of that Age. The Bishop of Worcester in 13 H. VII. granted him a ^a Bullery of Salt in Wyche for his Life, and constituted him Steward of Alnechurch and Supervisor of his Warren, Parke and Deere there, He had granted him ^b the Guardianship of Giles Son and Heir of Sir William Alyngton, and was sent in 14 H. VII. with ^c Bere the ^d learned Abbot of Glastenbury to congratulate Pope Pius III. upon his Election to the Papal Chair, who had been as the Term was, Protector of this Realm. In 14 H. VII. William Hare-

1 Hall: Cron. f. 30. Hollingh. f. 755. n. 50.
 m Leland's Itin. vol. 7. p. 81
 n Polyd. Virg. p. 507.
 o Par. 1 H. 7. p. 4. 18 Julij.
 p Priv. Sig. 13 Nov. 1 H. 7.
 q Seid. Tit. of Hon. p. 656.
 r Clarius C. 2. in Bibl. Cotton.
 s Pol. Virg. p. 584. n. 30.
 t Ex Orig. penes Com. Salop. There are no Books of Freedoms in the City of London from the 15 Year of Edw. 3. till the 1 of Hen. 7. but we find that He was admitted Free of the noble Company of Mercers in 1489.

 u Indent. in Off. Pell.
 x } Ex Orig.
 y } z Britann. p. 518.
 a Ex Orig.
 b E. Registro Episc. Norwic. 13 H. 7. pro Restoria de Ruthmeere.
 c Polyd. Virg. p. 615. n. 20. Leland. Itin. vol. 7. p. 8.
 d Epistol. Erasmi.

well of Wooten in Warwick makes him Steward of his Lordship of Brouesley, and the Prior of Worcester ¹ for his good and laudable Counsel, and Aid gives him an Annuity of 5 Marks, and in 17 H. VII, the Prior of the Dominicans in ² Cambridge makes a Present of the Suffrages and Prayers of that Order to the most puissant Sir Gilbert Talbot Knight of the Garter [Equiti Garterij fortissimo] the Lady Ethelrede his Wife and their Family in Life and Death. In the 18th Year the Prior and ³ Convent of Worcester grant him 4 Marks Yearly for his Life, to defend and protect the Revenues of their Church from all Invaders. On the 1st of January 19 H. VII, the Provincial Prior of the Dominicans 'in England, Wales and Ireland, directs his Letter Strenuissimo militi, wherein the great Devotion and Favours of Sir Gilbert to this Order are extolled, and the Prayers of the Brethren are promised for him during his Life and after his Death, as also for his Brothers and Sisters. On 24 Feb. in that Year He was ⁴ commissioned with Richard Lord Abbot of Glasfenbury and Sherburn Dean of Pauls to present the Garter to the Duke of Urbim. On 20 May the Bishop of Worcester grants him the Stewardship of all his Lands in the Counties of Worcester and Norwick, and the King makes him ⁵ High Steward of the Honour of Tuttenbury with the Fee of 100 Marks under the Seal of the Dutchy, and the Bishop of Worcester in the ⁶ next Year for the laudable Services that Sir Gilbert had done him and the Church, and for the good Peace and Tranquillity of all his Tenants, and the Preservation of all his Cattles and Lands, confirms the above-mentioned Stewardship to him for Life.

In 20 H. VII, Pope Julius directs a ⁷ Bull to the Bishop and Dean of Worcester on behalf of Sir Gilbert, to prosecute such as detained any Goods belonging to him or his late Lady Ethelrede, and in Case of Non-refutation within a Term prefixed, to pronounce them Excommunicate.

In this Reign He was Deputy of ⁸ Calis, where He purchased 132 Acres and Half, and 18 Rods of Lands from ⁹ John Tremaine and Katherine his Wife, and other Lands from ¹⁰ Thomas Robertson. And in 23 H. VII, was one of the Commissioners for the ¹¹ Marriage to be had between Charles Archduke of Austria and Mary the King's Daughter.

The Services which this King expected from him to oppose the two Impostors are specified in the ¹² Instruments placed in the Margin; being under the Signet, and containing some Particularities of History.

He continued in his Office at Calis under Hen. VIII, which was confirmed

f } g } h } i } k } l } m } n } o }
p }

k Ex Origin. penes Com. Salop. Hellingb. p. 794.

795. P. 19. penes me, p. 115.

l Ex Orig.

m In Ducat. Lancast.

n } Ex Orig.

p He is so filed in several Instruments

q } Ex Orig.

r } Rym. vol. 13. p. 172.

t By the KING.

H. R.

T Rossy and welbelovyd, We grete you wels, and not forgetting the grete malice, that the Lady Margarete of Burgonnye bereth continually against us, as she shewed lately in sending hider of a fained boye, swearing him to have been the son of the Duc of Clarence, firm'd to him during the King's ^a Pleasure, on 26 Sept. in his first Year, and held a Muster ^x there, having some Months before obtained a general Pardon by several Additions, which express the different Places of his Residence and several Employments, some not ^y already mentioned. In Sept. the Queen grants him the Stewardship of ^z the Lordship of Firkenham, and on 27 Oct. he was empower'd to receive the Money from the ^a French King according to the Articles of the Peace. On 10 January 4 H. VIII Sir Charles Brandon constitutes him ^b Steward of his Mannors of Chaddesley, Corbert and Ribbesford for Life, and on 4 Febr. the King grants him and his Heirs Males the Mannor of ^c Dyrfeild Abbot in Berks, and in the 5th He and Sir Richard Wingfeild and the longest liver of them (who became afterwards his Successor in this Stall) were made Deputies of ^d Calis. In the 6th Year He had a special ^e Pardon, as also a general ^f one in 8 H. VIII, to himself and to Sir Gilbert his rence, and caused him to be accompanied with Therl of Lincoln, the Lord Lovel, and with a grete multitude of Irishmen and of Almans, whoes ende, blessed be god, was as ye knowe wete; and forjeyng now the perseverance of the same her malice by thourne contrivinge slysons: of another sayned lad, called Perkyn Warbeck, born at Tournay in picardy, which at his first conveyge into Ireland, called himselfe the bastard son of king Richard that the son of the said Duc of Clarence, and none the second son of our sadre king Edward the IIIIth, whom god assile, whereiborough she entended by promisinge unto the Flemynge, and othr of Tharcheduks obseivance, to whom she laboweth daily to take her way, and by her promes to certain aliene Capitaines of strange nations, to have dachtes, Counties, baronies, and othr land, within this our Roym, to induce them therby to launde her, to the destruction and dismemberance of the noble men and othr our Subjettis, inhabitantis of the same and finally to the subversion of this our Royme, in cas she may attaigne to her malicious propos, that god defende: We therfor, and to thentent, that we may be almy perveied, and in a redynes to resiste her malice, write unto you at this tyme, and wol not desire you, that preparinge on borokat defensibly arraied fourscore persones, wherof we desire you to as many speeres with their custrelles, and dym. lances wete horsed, as ye can furniche. And the remanent to be archers, and billes, ye bee thoroughly appointed and redy to come upon a day warninge, for to do us service of wete in this case. And ye shall have for every burshman wete and defensibly arraied, that is to say, for a spere and his custrelle, a dym. lance, and an archer or bille on borokat wited by the day, from the tyme of your conveyng out unto the tyme of your retourne to your home againe; And in thus doinge ye shall deserve suche thanks of us for your lovinge and true acquaylitt in that behalf, as shalbe to your weale and honour for tyme to come. We praye you that herein ye wol make such diligence, as that ye be redy with your said nombre to come unto us upon any our solein warninge Twelve undre our signet at oure Castell of Keneilworth the xx day of July. To oure wif and welbelovyd knight and Counsellor Sir Gilbert Talbot.

By the KING.

H. R.
Trusty and welbelovyd, We grete you wete. Stanfyinge now you that wherens Perkyn Warbeck, and his wif were lately sette ful parcy to the see by the king of Scotts, and afore thea landed within our land of Ireland in the wyld Irishmen, where be had be taken by our Cousins Therl of Kildare and of Desmond, if be and his said wif had not secretlye fledden away, the same Perkyn beinge free upon the see is comen to land in our Countie of Cornewalle with 7 small shippes and a Breton Prifae, wherupon we have sent our right trusty Counsellor the Lord Daubency our Chamberlaine by land toward thos parties: — our Subjettis for the subduyng of him, and our right trusty Counsellor the Lord Broke Steward of our household by water, with our Arme on the see now late retourned to take the said Perkyn, if he retourne agayn to the see, And we shal in our owne persone, if the case so require, goo so accompanied thiderward with our Lords Marcy withoute delay, As we shal subdant the said Perkyn and all othre that wil take his part, if any such be, And therfore we herthly pray you to address you unto us with sixscore tall men on borokat, defensibly arraied, and no more, withoute any long delay, And to meete with us at our Maner of Wodeitok the 23 day of this present month, and at your conveyng unto us, we shal see content you for your and their conduct money, and also wages as of reason ye shal holde you pleasid, And that ye shalle not therof, as our special trust is in you Twelve undre our signet at our said Manoir the viiiij day of Septembre.

^a Pat. 1 H. 8. p. 1.

^x Rym. vol. 13. p. 265.

^y 20 June, Patent to Sir Gilbert Talbot Knight Deputy of Calais and the Marches thereof, otherwise called G. T. late Deputy to King Hen. VII. of the Town of Calais and the Marches there, otherwise called G. T. of Grafton in the County of Worcester Knight, otherwise called G. T. of Hottelhead in the County of Cambridge Knight, otherwise called G. T. of Ballham in the County of Cambridge Knight, otherwise called G. T. late one of the Justices of the Peace to King Hen. VII. for the Counties of Worcester and Salop. otherwise G. T. Knight late Steward of the Honour of Tutbury, otherwise called G. T. Knight late Steward to King Hen. VII. of the Town of Reckenham and the Forest thereon, otherwise called G. T. late Chamberlain to Hen. VII. of Northwales, otherwise called G. T. Knight Executor to Richard late Lord Beauchamp, otherwise called G. T. late of London Gent. or by any other name, &c.

Ex Orig.

^c Pat. 4 H. 8. p. 2. 4 Feb.

^d Priv. Sig. 5 H. 8. 6 Aug. & Pat. 5 H. 8. p. 1.

^e 23 May, 6 H. 8.

^f 12 Feb. 8 H. 8.

Son with several Additions, and in the following Year he dyed, on g the 19 Sept. and was buried at Whitechurch in Shropshire.

It appears from a Passage in the Will of his Son Sir Gilbert proved in b January 1543, that his Father made a Will, wherein he bequeathed to the Use of the Chappel of St. John the Evangelist of Whytechurch in Shropshire a Cloth of Gold, a Robe of blew Velvet used for the honourable Order of the Garter with other Things, but the Collector hath not yet had the Fortune to find it.

Our Knight was buried certainly at Whitechurch, where a Chantry was i erected for him, and the Agreements between him and the Mason dated 6 January 6 H. VIII, are still k extant, as likewise the Draught of a l Licence granted to his Son for setting up a perpetual Chantry with many Priviledges in St. John's Chappel, wherein it is recited that his Father Sir Gilbert was buried there; So that the Tradition that He was buried under a large Marble m Stone in the Porch of that Church; where 'tis said there was an Inscription in Brass on the Right Hand relating to him, and where his Coat of Arms carved in Wood within the Garter stood, seems to be a Mistake.

Leland in his n Itinerary tells us, that the Earl of Shrobbesbyri, of whom Aeneas Sylvius Bishop of Rome maketh right famous mention was slain in France, &c. "John Earl of Shrewsbury had among his Brethren "one caullid Gilbert Talbot, after a Knight of Fame, the which buried the "Erle his Grauntfathers Bones brought out of France at Whitechurch, in "a fair chapelle, where He is also buried himself".

He first married Elizabeth Daughter of the Lord Greystock, Widow of the Lord Scrope of Massam, to whom by the Name of Eliz. Lady Scroope Wife of Gilbert Talbot late Wife of Tho. Lord Scroope her o Feoffees convey divers Lands in York, Suffolk, Essex, Lincoln, Kent and Richmondshire, and a Letter of Attorney was made by Gilbert Talbot then an Esquire and Eliz. Lady Scroope of Massam his Wife, dated 20 Dec. 1 R. III, to receive Seisin of some of these Mannors; By this Lady He had two Sons, Sir Gilbert and Sir Humphrey, which latter dyed without Issue in the Holy Land, and after her Death Henry the VIIIth writes to Eliz. Lady Scroope, who was the Widow of Thomas Lord Scrope of Upsal, recommending his Servant Sir Gilbert Talbot to her for an Husband, with whom our Knight had many Suits about her Dower, but this Recommendation not taking Effect, he married with Ethelvede or Audrey Daughter of Sir John Cotton of Cambridge, the Relict of Richard Gardiner sometime Lord Mayor of London, by whom he had Issue Sir John Talbot of Albryghton, to whose Great Grandson after the Extinction of all the prior Branches of the Male Line of John Talbot the first Earl of Shrewsbury, this Earldom being in Tail Male descended in 15 Jac. I.

g Vine. against Brooke, p. 465.

b Lib. Spert. in Perog.

i Leland's Itinerary, vol. 7. p. 8.

k } Ex Orig.

l }

m Dugd. Visitation of Shropshire in Off. Arm. p. 17.

n Vol. 4. p. 40.

o E. divers. Orig. Penes Com. Salop.

This John Talbot of Albryghton, by his first Lady the Daughter and Heir of Trounbeck, was direct Ancestor to the present Earl of Shrewsbury, and to Talbot of Longford, and by his second Wife Elizabeth Wrotesley was Father of John Talbot seated at Salt-warf, who by Olive Daughter and Coheir of Sir Henry Sherington, was Father of Sherington Talbot, who had several Children by his first Wife, as also by his second, and among the latter a younger Son William, who by Mary, Daughter of Thomas Doughty of Whittington, was Father of the Right Reverend William now Lord Bishop of Durrham, lately Bishop of Salisbury, and Chancellour of this most noble Order.

At Grafron, the Seat of this our Knight, is preserved his Busto, exhibited in the Frontispiece of this Narrative: On the Right Pedestal are his Arms impaled with those of his first Lady, and on the Left impaled with those of his second; over his Head are his Arms surrounded with a Garter. There are several other Quarterings in them, besides those on the Plate in Windsor. The latter are 1. Azure, a Lion Rampant within a Border Or, the Bearing ascribed to Belisno or Montgomery, the Ancient Earls of Shrewsbury, and it is presumed that John Talbot the first of that Name, created Earl of this Place, assumed these as local feudal Arms, and not by Right of any Descent or Alliance. Though this Method be somewhat particular, yet it was not singular; for during the Life-time of that Earl, the Earldom of Richmond was granted to the renowned John Duke of Bedford, “Cum Armis integris Comitatus, Honori, & Dominio de Richmond annexis”, and thence probably he bore per Pale on his Labels, the Ermyns, the Arms of the Dukes of Bretagne, who had been long time honoured with this Earldom. Thus afterwards Woodville Earl Rivers sometimes bore the Griffin, which is supposed to be the Arms of Rivers Earl of Devon, upon an Inescutcheon, And the Family of Stanley Azure a Lion Rampant Argent the Arms of Montaultz, by reason of the Possession of that Castle, &c. for there are several Instances where the Arms and Badges of the Ancient Possessors of Earldoms and Honours became in Tract of Time to be esteemed annexed to these Honours.

The next Quarter, Gules, a Lion Rampant within a Border engrailed Or, is the Coat of Rhys ap Griffith Prince of South Wales, whose Daughter was Married to Gilbert Talbot before the 29th of Henry III. The Descendants from this Lady after she became an Heiress discontinued the bearing of their Paternal Arms of Talbot, Bendé Argent and Gules, and according to the prevailing Custom in former Ages used those of this distinguished Heiress.

3. Gules, on a Saltoir Argent a Martlet of the first, Nevil of Raby.
 4. Argent, a Bend between six Martlets Gules, Furnival. 5. Or, a Frett Gules, Verdun. 6. Argent, two Lionceaux passant guardant Gules, Strange of Blackmeere. The Right to which several Arms of Nevil, Furnival, Verdun and Strange, may be easily found in Dugdale's Baronage under these Titles.

In the Center of the Whole is a Crescent Gules, the Difference of a second Brother, for James the Second Brother dyed without Issue, being slain in the same Battle with his Father: The Crest is a Lion, Or, with a Crescent Sable, for the filial distinction, upon a Chapeau or Ducal Hat Gules, lined Ermin; and these are the first Arms that remain in this Stall in such Position as Seals make their Impressions, and not inclining towards the Altar.

MEMOIRS

next to page 129

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of

Sir Richard Wingfeild.

O Sir Gilbert Talbot succeeded Sir William Sandys, who being removed to the 11th Stall of this Side (where an Account will be given of him) * Sir Richard Wingfeild was here Seated, having the Honour of being elected in the same Scrutiny with Ferdinand afterwards Emperor, on 23 April, and Installed 11 May, 14 Hen. VIII.

Wingfeild is a Manor with an half ruined Cattle in Suffolk, which as Mr. Camden writes, gave both a Name and Seat to a large Family in those Parts, famous for their Knighthood and Antient Nobility; but though in all probability the Name might be originally taken from thence, yet till some farther Discoveries be made, it may be doubted whether it was the Seat of this

* Blackbook, p. 274.

† Britan. in Suffolk.

Family till the Time of Sir John, since the ^c Patronage and Advowson of that Place was in Sir Richard Brews in 1302, 1323. and 1329. Mr. Camden ^d in another place adds, That this Family had brought forth an Abundance of renowned Knights: At length it produced two celebrated Companions of this Order under the Reign of Hen. VIII. this our Sir Richard, and Sir Anthony his Nephew, Son to his eldest Brother.

In this Collection the Editor owns that he hath amassed together several very trivial Passages, in conformity to the Liberty taken by Genealogists, relating to Persons who lived in Ages distant from them, that he hath inserted the Purchases and Sales of Estates, and other Particularities that belong to Persons in most Spheres of Life, for which he hath no other Apology to make, save that for want of a Sufficiency of Materials there is no Room left to shew any Judgement in the Choice of them. However it hath been a Curiosity allowed to those of his Profession to search for the minutest Circumstances relating to the Personages of Great Men.

This Pedigree will be carried no farther back than is absolutely necessary to explain the Arms quarter'd on the Plate in this Stall, for the upper Part of it will be referred to be inserted in the Narrative of the Life of Sir Anthony the direct Heir Male of the Chief Branch.

This Antient Family came early to be divided into several Eminent Branches, which from Time to Time afforded ^e Knights of the Shire and Sheriffs of the County of Suffolk, many of whom were likewise Famous in Feats of War.

It is remarked that the ^f Cottices are said to be added to the Old Coat, as a Brizure of a younger Branch, and we shall find this Family was several Centuries since separated into three Male Lines of considerable Distinction.

Sir John, towards the End of the Reign of Edw. II. or in the ^g first Year of Edw. III. left three Sons. The Eldest was Sir John, who presented to the Church of Saxmundham in 1348 and 1349, of whom there will be more said hereafter. He left only one Daughter and Heiress married to Michael de la Pole, the first of that Name, Earl of Suffolk, to whom she brought an ample Estate, ^b the Mannour of Netherhall in Saxlingham, and the Advowson of that Church of Saxlingham Thorp, 2 Messuages, 400 Acres of Land, 10 Acres of Meadow, 20 Acres of Pasture, and 42 s. Rent in Saxlyngham, Foleman, Neuton, Brokedystrand, Herleston in Norfolk, with the Mannors of Wyngefeild, Stradbrook, Silbam, Fresyngfeld and Saxmundham, the Mannor of Wyngefeild called Old-hall, the Advowsons of the Churches of Stradbrook and Saxmundham, the Chantry of Wyngefeild, and 700 Acres of Land, 20 Acres of Meadow, 100 Acres of Pasture, 20 Acres of Wood, 100 Acres of Marsh, and 100 s. Rent

^c The Reverend and Learned Dr. Tanner, Chancellor of Norwich, kindly imparted the Notices touching this Family, taken from the Registers of that Church, to whom the Editor is indebted for several Assurances, whose freedom in communicating, (to give it a great Character) is as extensive as his Skill in Antiquity.

^d In Northampton.

^e Rol. Parl. 50 Ed. 3. n. 34. Cl. 50 E. 3. p. 2 m. 23. Cl. 2 R. 2. m. 22. Cl. 5 R. 2. m. 5. 22d. Cl. 6 R. 2. p. 1. m. 17 and 13 d. Cl. 7 R. 2.

m. 1 d. Cl. 8 R. 2. m. 27 d. Cl. 10 R. 2. m. 16 d. Cl. 13 R. 2. p. 2 m. 17 d. Cl. 14 R. 2. m. 30 d. &c.

^f D. 25. penes me p. 205.

^g Feoda pertinent ad Dom. Reginam ratione Ducatus Lancastrie primo Edw. 3. Hæredes Johannis Dom. de Wingeilde tenent unum feodum in Ikerne.

^b Clauf. 13 R. 2. p. 1. m. 2

in Wingfield, Silham, &c. It will soon appear that the Lady of this Sir John was named Aliaur, and that after his Death she presented to Saxlingham Thorp, in Sept. 1361, and died in 49 Edw. III. who, according to the Pedigrees, was Daughter of Sir Gilbert de Glanville, though there is an Appearance she was the Daughter of the above-mentioned Sir Richard de Brewis, who not only presented to several Churches immediately before the Advowsons thereof came into this Family of Wingfield, but this same Lady, as we shall soon see, being Coheirrix of her Husband's Will, order'd in the Foundation of the College at Wingfield, Prayers for the Soul of Sir Richard de Brewis, there named immediately after the Father and Mother of her deceased Husband, and the Name of Glanville is not mentioned in that Bead-roll: And her younger Son Thomas in his Will, devises Silver Plates with the Arms of Brewis. To the Master-ship of this College, Sir Michael de la Pole presented in Off. 1379, in Right of his Lady sole Daughter and Heiress of Sir John Wingfield.

Richard was the next Brother to this Sir John Wingfield, and he was beyond Sea with Edward II in 1325, and seated himself at Dynington, to which he presented in 1342, and was Father of Sir William, who by the Name of William, Son of Richard de Wingfield, presented to Dynington in 1349, and again in 1355 he was a Member of Parliament 50 Edw. III. and Knight of the Shire for m Suffolk in 5, 6, 7, 10, 13 and 14 Rich. II. He received the Honour of Knighthood before 1371, before which Time he had given to the n Earl of Oxford a Coat of Mail, and with other Feoffees presented to Wattersfield in 1392, 1393, and to Cretymg. St. Peters 1397. This Person lies buried under a Fair Stone in the Chancel at Dynington, which Mr. Wever by mistake places at Letberingham, whereon is the Pourtraicture of an armed Knight with a Lion at his Feet, and this Inscription, "Hic jacet tumulatus Dom. Will. Wingfield miles Dominus istius ville, & Patronus istius Ecclesie, qui obiit 1 Junii 1398, cujus animus, &c." There were two Coats of Arms, but the Bralles are reaved off, so that we know not the Coat Arms of his Ladies, for by his Will dated 17 July 1397, he mentions his then Wife Margaret, and we shall soon be instructed that by his former Lady Joan he was Father of another William, who died without Issue, leaving a Widow, who by the Name of Catherine Wingfield alias Wolfe, made her Will at Cotton on 19 May 1418, and therein gave 10*l.* to the Parishioners of Cotton to keep an Anniversary for her Husband on the Feast of St. Bartholomew, and 20*l.* to be kept in a Chest to be lent to her Tenants upon Pledges without Interest, every Borrower to say five Pater-nosters, five Ave's, and Credo for the Souls of the said Katherine, late the Wife of William Wingfield Esquire, the Son of Sir William Wingfield and Joan his Wife; she lived some Years afterwards, and presented to Dennington on i Fl. n. 40. R. 2. m. 51.

l Kmitz, Vol. 1. p. 101.

l Rot. Parl. 52. R. 8. m. 24.

m See the Description of the claye Rolls in these Years for the Expenses.

n Dugl. 1. Vol. Bar. p. 193.

o Fast. Mon. p. 755. 759.

p Lib. Haydon in Reg. Norwic.

q In Reg. Norwic.

2 August 1421, in the Chancel of which Church this Lady lies buried by her Husband, with this broken Inscription, Hic jacet Willelmus Wingfeild Armiger, & Katherina uxor ejus.

This Pedigree of the eldest Branch, and of this second, seated at Denington, is proved by an Inquisition taken after the Death of this William 6 Hen. V, when the Jury find that he died without Issue, and that his next Heir was William de la Pole Earl of Suffolk, Son of Michael, Son of Michael de la Pole late Earl of Suffolk, and of Catherine Daughter and Heiress of Sir John Wingfeild Knight, Brother of Richard, Father of Sir William, Father of William Wingfeild then deceased, by which several Lands descended to the De la Poles, and among others this Denington, where that Family founded an Hospital.

The third Brother was Sir Thomas, direct Lineal Ancestor to our Knight, who by his Marriage with Margaret the Daughter and Heiress of William Bovile, Widow of William Carbone, became seized of Letheringham before the 38th of Edw. III. in which Church He and his Lady are interr'd, and several of their Descendants, this Family continuing there till after the Restoration. The Memory of this Match is preserved in the second Quarter on the Plate now at Windsor, and by it this Family became Patrons of the Priory* of Treue founded by John Bovile. He presented to the Free-Chapel of St. Andrew in Stradbroke in 1349, 1352, 1355, and to Cretyng St. Peter 1358, 1361, and being Coexecutor of the Will of his eldest Brother Sir John with Dame Aliamor his Relict, represented to the Bishop of the Diocese, That it being the Testator's Intention to re-build and endow the Parish Church of Wingfeild, and to found a College therein, but dying of the Plague, Sed eum invadens mors pestifera, they his Executors had new built it larger than ordinary, with the Steeple and all proper Offices, therefore pray'd that the Bishop would be pleas'd to make it Collegiate for three Secular Priests to be afterwards made up to nine, with three Choristers, and one Priest or Secular Canon to be added upon any Increase of their Revenues to the Value of ten Marks yearly, which the Bishop by Consent of his Chapter allowed, and made Statutes for the Government thereof, dated June 6. 1362, which College was founded to the Honour of the Holy Trinity, St. John Baptist, and St. Andrew (to which later the former Parish Church was dedicated) and these Priests were to pray for the Peace and Unity of the Church, the Tranquillity of the King and Kingdom, for the good Estate of the King, Prince Edward, Dame Aliamor Wingfeild, Sir Michael de la Pole, and Catherine his Wife, Thomas Wingfeild, William Bishop of Winchester, Robert Earl of Suffolk, and Dame Margaret his Wife, and for the Souls of Sir John de Wingfeild deceased, his Father and Mother, of Sir Richard de Brewis, and of John de Verley and of Joan his Wife. The Will of this Thomas bears Date at Letheringham, on 17 July 1378.

* Wever ibid.

† See Vinc. against Brook, p. 501.

‡ Hollingsb. p. 1256. Leland's Itin. vol. 2. p. 6.

§ See above, p. 169. Thus feoda militum quondam Humfridi de Bohun. Com. Hereford, 47 E. 3.

Septem feoda militum in maneriis de Letheringham, Thorp, &c. que Thomas Wingfeild tenet, & fuerunt quondam Willimi de Eovil.

x. Mon. Angl. vol. 1. p. 545.

y Lib. Haydon in Reg. Norwic.

and was proved on 27 Sept. following: In it he orders himself to be buried in the Choir of that Priory, and that 46 l. 13 s. 4 d. should be expended on his Funeral, and devises several Sums for the Repairs of that Priory and Parish-Church, with his Silver Cross, and a Vestment of the Arms of the Earl of Warren, gives Legacies to the Abbey of Sypton, to the Nuns of Campes, to the Abbey of Leyston, to the Friars Carmelites of Ipſwich, to each Convent of begging Friars in the Counties of Norfolk and Suffolk to pray for his Soul; bequeathes to the Servants of his Household, and to his poor Tenants in the Villages of Stradbroke, Wyngfeild, Fresyngfeld, Westhale, Laxfeild, Badyngham, Eston, Letheringham and Thorpe; devises to John his Son 12 of his best Silver Dishes, and 12 Silver Saucers, and 12 Silver Spoons, and 6 Silver Pieces with the Coat Arms of Brewer, and his Golden Cross, upon Condition that it should not be sold or alienated, but remain to his Heirs for ever; and gives him all his Wardrobe with Clothes and Armure, and other Legacies, to Sir William Wyngfeld, Sir William Hoo, John Wyngfeild, Margaret Wyngfeld, and Elianor Wyngfeild, to each of them a Silver Cup gilt worth four Pounds, and to Peter Brown Clerk, a Silver Cup, with Cover [S. pomello] with his Arms, and that his Goods be divided into four Parts, one to remain to John Wyngfeld his Wife and Sons, another to the Priory of Letheringham, the third to his Confessor, to be distributed as he should think most expedient, and the other Part to be divided among his poor Tenants, constituting Sir William Wynfeld, Peter Brown Rector of Stradbroke, Margaret Hardel his Daughter [Wife of Sir Thomas Hardell] and others, his Executors.

John his Son and Heir is said in some Pedigrees to have served the Black Prince in the Wars in France, and to have wrote his Acts very learnedly, but it is much more probable that it was his Uncle Sir John; for these Letters, which gives an Account of the Progresses and Victories in Gascoigne, bear Date in 1355, the Writer whereof was doubtless the Person who went over to France under the Earl of Salisbury ^a in 1338, and being a Knight attended there again upon the Black Prince in 1356; however 'tis certain that this John Son of Thomas, had the Honour of Knighthood when he presented to the Free-Chapel in Stradbroke in 1389; he married Margaret (named above in his Father's Will) the Daughter of Sir Hugh Hastings of Elsyng, who surviving him remarried with Sir John Ruffel Knight, and by her Will, ^c dated in August 1387, orders herself to be buried in the Choir of Letheringham, near the Grave of John Wyngfeld her first Husband; their Effigies were formerly in the Glass Windows of Lackefelde Church.

Their Son was Sir Robert, who married Elizabeth Daughter of Sir John Ruffel, which was doubtless occasioned by the second Marriage of his Mother, and they both are buried at Letheringham, and not as ^d Weaver ^z Hellingb. p. 348. Avesbury ex Edit. Hearne, &c.

^a Rymr. vol. 5. p. 63.

^b Ibid. p. 849.

^c Lib. Haydon in Reg. Norw.

^d Fam. Mon. 755. See p. 755.

faith in Denington, which Sir Robert dyed on the third of May 1409, leaving Robert, William, Ann and Margaret a Nun.

This Robert was Knighted by Hen. VI. on Whitsunday, in his fourth Year at Hereford, and increased the antient Inheritance by his Marriage with Elizabeth the Daughter and Coheir of Sir Robert Gouffil, by Elizabeth the Eldest Daughter of Richard Earl of Arundell, by Alice Sister and Heiress of John Earl Warren, and at length one of the Heirs to her Brother Thomas Earl of Arundel, and for this Reason the Arms of Gouffil, quartering those of Warren, are inserted on the Plate at Windsor. This great Lady had been first married to William Son of the Earl of Salisbury, then to Thomas Mowbray Duke of Norfolk, afterwards to this Sir Robert Gouffil, and surviving him to Sir Gerard Uflete. This Sir Robert, stiled of Letheringham, attended on the Duke of Norfolk in an Embassy, and was made Steward of his Lands for the good Services he had done to the noble Prince his Father and to himself, and is said to die in 1431, being, if Wever may be credited, buried at Letheringham: He left several Sons, who raised different Families of great Estimation.

His second Son was Sir Robert, who whilst Esquire in 3 Edw. IV. had License to perform Feats of Arms with Lewis de Bruil of France. He presented to Dallingbo in 1432, and to Trimly St. Martin in 1437, and had a plentiful Estate by the Marriage of Anne Daughter and Heiress of Sir Robert Harling, in whose Right He presented to the Church of Quidenham 1466, Barnham-Grove 1467, Bichenston 1468, 1472, Lound 1475, 1479, East-Harling 1474, for which Place he being then Comptroller of the King's Household, obtain'd a Fair and Market in Apr. 15 Edw. IV. and having joined in presenting his Nephew Henry to Baconsthorp, on 30 July 1480, dyed before 26 Apr. 1482, when his Relict, with others, presented to Lound. By a Record inserted hereafter, it will be found he was dead before 23 Nov. 1481, being, at the Time of his Death, Comptroller of the Household to Edw. IV. and was buried at Rushforth, as 'tis mention'd in the Will of his Nephew Sir Robert. It will be pardonable to say something more of this great Lady, since she was first married to Sir William Chamberlaine, and thirdly, to John Lord Scrope of Bolton, both Knights of this Order. She was sole Daughter and Heiress of Sir Robert Harling, who dyed at Paris in 13 H. VI. during the Wars, and being marry'd to Sir William Chamberlaine, that King, in his 25th Year, in Consideration of his laudable Services in the Wars of France and Normandy, and of the great Summ he had paid for his Ransom, when he was taken Prisoner by the Enemies, gave Liberty to e Hill's Chron. p. 18.

f Pat. 2. R. 2. p. 1. m. 9.

g Mon. Anglic. vol. 2. p. 194.

gg Clauf. 2 H. 4. p. 2.

d Esch. 1 R. 3. n. 43. Suffex.

i Fran. 17 H. 6. m. 9.

k Clauf. 22 H. 6. m. 17.

ll Fran. 3 Ed. 4. m. 9.

l Par. de disno Anno.

m Sa. Lehardi Coll. & Edit. Hearn. vol. 1.

p. 41. P. 147 s. Sceletos Cantabrig.

n See Registr. Walt. Lyhert Episc. Norw. p. 185. and the Inscription on his Monument.

Saxo Marmoreo tumulator in hoc Poliandro
Harung Rboris miles, vir nobilis armis,
Lau. sua Franigenis florebat cognita multis,
Tandem Ebori vi succubuit multia us
C. quater & Mille xxxv. cadit ill.
Gregori festo, Septembris quoq; die nono.

o Registr. Lyhert, ibid.

erect a perpetual Chantery in the Parish Church of East-Harling, after whose Death she made her ¹ Will on 10 Febr. 1477; which she took Care to get enrolled in Chancery, wherein by the Name of Anne Wyff of Sir Robert Wyngesfeld Knight, Daughter and Heyre of Sir Robert Harlyng Knyght, and of Jane his Wyff Daughter and Heire to John Gorvoile Esq; she recites, "That I have no heyre of myn body begotten, ne any other heyre nygh of myn kyn, as within three Degrees of marriage that I know," and therefore makes several Devises to her then Husband, and farther according to the Custom of that Age, provides for Prayers for the Souls of "her right worshipful fyrst husband Sir William Chamberlayn Knyght, of her Grandame Dame Cecile Harlyng, and "of her Grandfather Sir Robert Mortymer Knyght," but surviving this Husband, she was in Off. 1492, married to John Lord Scroop of Bolton, for which a particular ² Licetce was granted, which may be here inserted. "Die sexto mensis Octobris Anno Dom. 1492, apud Thorp emanarunt literæ Commissionis prædicti reverendi Patris [Goldwell Episcopi Norwicensis] Curato Ecclesie parochialis de East-Harling ad solemnizandum matrimonium in secunda editione bannorum, bannis prius unâ vice rite & legitime editis; inter nobiles personas Joannem Dominum Scrope de Bolton & Dominam Annam Wyngfeld de East-Harlyng prædictâ in capellâ infra dictum manerium situatâ absq; præjudicio Ecclesie parochialis; super quibus in eisdem literis idem reverendus Pater non modo cum dicto Curato, verum etiam cum dictis Joanne & Anna, & omnibus aliis hujusmodi matrimonio interessentibus, quantum de jure potuit, misericorditer in Domino dispensavit". She out-lived likewise this Husband, who in his Will made at ³ East-Harling on 3 July 1494, gave this his Wife all his Goods South of Trent, and she herself makes another ⁴ Will at East-Harling, dated 28 August 1498, proved on 8th of November following; wherein by the Stile of Ann Scrop Lady Scrop, she orders herself to be buried there in the Tomb with her late Husband Sir William Chamberleyn, and devises Legacies to the following Persons, which seem to be related to her by her Marriage with Sir Robert Wyngfeld, to wit, "To her neice dame Anne Wyngfeld, to iche of her newewes her Sustet Dame Elizabeths chyldren, to her neveu Sir Edward, her neveu Sir John, to her brother William Wyngfeld, and to her neveu Robert Wyngfeld, which she had brought up of a Childe". And in this Church between the Chancel and a little Chapel there is an Arch chequered Monument, whereon were several Bras Plates with Inscriptions and Arms now torn away, as the Collector is informed, over which, towards the Chapel, still remains the Coat of Chamberlain within 2 Garter; and on Part of the Tomb

Antha fuit dicta Christi mulier benedicta Mundi— fuit Harling nata Roberti
— Mortimer de stripe benigna
C. quater. & mille—

² Claus. 18 E. 4. m. 5 d.
³ Registr. Goldwell, p. 161. 4.

¹ Dugl. 1 Vol. Bar. p. 657.
² Lib. Harnc in Cur. Prætor.
M m m

And in the Windows are the Effigies of this Lady, which is supercribed, Pater de celis miserere nobis; of Sir Robert Wingefeld supercribed, Fili redemptor mundi Deus miserere nobis; of Sir William Chamberlain supercribed, Spiritus Sancte miserere nobis, and there was another Effigie over which the Supercription remains, Sancta Trinitas unus Deus miserere nobis, which doubtless was of this Lord Scrope; these Pourtraictures are all in their Tabarts or Coat Armors, that of Wingefeld being cottised and quartered with Bovill. Hence it appears that Leland was mistaken when he writes, That as he remembers, one of the Wingefeldes had Issue male by his Lady, unless such Child died in its Infancy.

The other younger Sons were Richard and Sir Thomas, both mention'd to be dead in the ^u Will of William Wyngfeld Esquire the fifth Son, dated last of Febr. 1 Hen. 8. and proved on 29 Apr. 1510, who orders himself to be buried near by them and under the same Stone within the Priory of Letheringham, and devises Legacies to Edmund Son of his Nephew Sir John Wyngfeld, and to the other Sons of the said Sir John; to his Nephews Humsfry, and Robert one of the Executors of the Lady Scrope, and Sir John Wyngfeld Clerk, his Neice Dame Anne Wyngfeld Widow, late Wife of his dead Nephew Sir John; and devises Lands for the Maintenance of one Canon of the Order of St. Austin for fourscore Years in the Priory of Letheringham, to which he likewise bequeathes two Silver Basons with an Ewer of Silver, with a plain Cup of Silver and Cover, and gives divers Sums to the Prior of Dodnastee, to every Place of the Friars in Ipswich, to the Prior of Wodbridge, to the Priorefs of Camsfey, to the Prior of Butley, to the Abbots of Layston and Sibton, to the Priorefs of Flexton, to the Priors of Blyburg, Wangford, and Rambour, and to every of the Places of the Friars in Norwich, for observing of a Trental to be sung in every one of these Places for his Soul and the Souls of his Friends. Thomas, named in this Will, had a Privy-Seal dated last Nov. 7 Edw. IV. directed to the Chief Justice, to cease all Proceedings against him upon an Indictment for giving Liveries to thirty Persons, and he married Philippa one of the Daughters of the Lord Tiptoft, and Coheir to her Brother the Earl of Worcester, who was the Relict of Thomas Lord Roos, and obtained a Grant on 23 January, in the 8th Year, of several Lands belonging to that Lord, forfeited upon his Attainder by Parliament in the first Year, which Thomas died before the 12th Year, when the same ^x Lands were confirmed to her for her Life, and the Reversion thereof then given to Anthony Earl Rivers, and this William the Testator seems to be the ^y Person who bore Arms in France in 1475. The sixth Son was Sir Hemy, seated at Orford, who made his ^z Will 21 Feb. 1483, ordering himself to be buried in the Freves of Orford by Alice his first Wife, and gives Legacies to his Sons Thomas and Robert, as also to his Nephew Robert, Dame Elizabeth Wyngfeld his Siter, Dame Anneys Sir John Wyngfeld's Wife, his Neice Margaret John Wyngfeld's Wife: And

¹ Collect. ut supra.

^u Lib. Spilymbre in Reg. Norw. f. 257.

^x See Pat. 19 E. 4. m. 16. per Inspex.

^y Rymur, Vol. II. p. 844.

^z Lib. Vox in Cur. Prætor.

his second Lady was the Daughter of Sir Robert Rooks, and lies buried in Westhorp Chancel, with an Inscription, Orate pro anima Elizabethæ Wingfield uxoris Henrici Wingfield militis. His eldest Son Thomas Captain of the Castle of Deale dying without Issue, his Brother Robert, afterwards a Knight, had in 35 H. VIII, a Grant of the Manors of Upton and Ailesworth in Northamptonshire, and other Lands thereabouts, and at Upton, as Mr. Cambden relates, Robert Wingfeild had a fine House with lovely Walks; a younger Branch of this Line was seated at Tickencote in Rutland.

But to return to the Principal Stem of this Family, John the eldest Son seated at Letheringham, had a Licence to erect a^b Chantry in Stradbroke in 15 H. VI, and on 21 Oct. 1455, being an Esq; presented to the Chapell of the Manor of Skelton in Stradbroke, and after he had been knighted to Easton in 1470, to Dallingbo in 1480, and in the same Year presented his Son Henry to Baconsthorp: He was Sheriff^c of Norfolk and Suffolk in 33 Hen. VI; and again, in 11 Ed. IV, being then one of the King's Privy-Council, for which Attendance he had granted to him by a^d Privy-Seal Forty Pounds yearly, as had been accustomed to other Knights in such Cases. The Pelle Rolles inform us that heretofore Annuities were constantly paid to Privy-Counsellors according to their Degrees of Titles: He had received the Honour of Knighthood on 26 June 1 E. IV. and in the 17th Year he was one of the Commissioners appointed to treat with the French Ambassadors at Amiens, and in all probability the broken Inscription in Letheringham Church, whose Fragments are in Wetver, relates to his Death on 10 May 1481, for we find Elizabeth his Relict presenting to the Church of Waldringfield 1483, 1485, 1496, to Dallingbo in 1488, to Easton in 1498. She was the Daughter of Sir John Fitz-Lewis by Anne Daughter of John Earl of Sarum, and in her^f Will made 14 July 1497, proved on 22 Dec. 1500, mentions her Sons by this Sir John, who are therein ranged in this Order according to the Legacies given them, which probably is not according to their Seniorities in Birth, Sir John, Walter, Lewis, Richard, Edmund, Hunfry, John the younger, Sir Edward, Sir William, Henry a Clerk, Edward, Robert, Lewis: These were then living, though their may possibly be a Repetition of some of their Names; but she had another Son Thomas, said in the Pedigrees to be killed at the Battle of Bosworth. In this Will she orders herself to be buried near her Husband's Tomb in Letheringham.

Richard here named was our Knight of the Garter, but some short Narratives may be given of the other Brothers.

Sir John the Eldest in the Compass of the present Enquiry, for he by Anne Daughter of the Lord Audley, was Father of Sir Anthony a Companion also of this Order, whose Plate remains in the twelfth Stall of the Sovereign's Side, and of two other Sons and four Daughters. He a Pat. de dicto Anno.

 b Privat. Sigill.
 c Priv. Sig. 23 Nov. granting him 160 l. 10 bear the Expenses thereof.

d Priv. Sigill. 7 Oct. 11 Ed. IV.
 e Bymer, Vol. 12. p. 45.
 f Lib. Cage. in Reg. Norwic.

while an Esquire was in the 11 French Wars 14 Ed. IV, and being one of the Esquires for the King's Body, & had in 21 Ed. IV, the Stewardship of several Lands held of the Honour of Richmond in Norfolk, void by the Death of Sir Robert Wingfeild, and in the next Year he had 160*l.* paid him by the Crown to bear ^b the Expences of his Shrievalty of Norfolk and Suffolk, and by the Title of ⁱ Armiger pro corpore Regis, presented to Creting St. Peter 1481, 1482, 1488, to Wilby 1497, and was Commanded to receive ^k the Honour of Knighthood [of the Bath] at the design'd Coronation of Edward V. He was Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk in 1 R. III, and was one of the Privy-Council to Henry VII, was again Sheriff in the Eight Year, and one of the Commissioners to ^l muster the Archers of Suffolk, who would go to the Relief of Bretagne, and died before 10 Nov. 1509, when his Lady presented to Creting St. Peter. There have been divers Descendants from him, whereof Sir Henry Wingfeild Baronet sold Letheringham in the Reign of King William; Sir Edward is by ^m Brooke said to have married Anne Daughter of Richard Earl Rivers, the Widow of George Grey Earl of Kent, wherein he contradicts himself under the Title of Kent, saying, That this Earl married another Wife after her Death. ⁿ Dugdale marries this Lady to Sir Anthony Wingfeild. H. VII, in his ^o eighth Year, granted to this Sir Edward an Annuity of twenty Pounds during his Life.

Henry was Rector of Rendlesham and Baconsthorp, who in his ^p Will dated 5 August, and proved 22 Dec. 1500, orders a Tomb to be made for himself in the Churchyard of Letheringham, upon which the Palmes may be laid in Passion Week, and therein mentions Anthony and Elizabeth the Son and Daughter of his Brother Sir John, and his Brothers Sir Edward and Humfry, his Sister Anne, and his Brothers in Law Eichingham and Brewer.

The fourth Son was Sir John, to whom H. VII, in his second Year, ^q granted an Annuity of forty Pounds for Life, who by Margaret Durward left a Family seated at Dunham in Norfolk, of which the younger Branch was settled at Wimch. His youngest Son William an Aufim Canon, at the Surrender of the Monastery of Westacre in that County, was afterwards instituted to the Rectory of Burnham Thorp; where he was deprived in the Beginning of Queen Mary's Reign for being ^r married, and was forced to be divorced; he made ^s his Will 16 Nov. 1555, proved 24 Feb. 1556, wherein he gives his two Sons Thomas and *Anthony 120*l. to each, and that Margaret Petingale [who had probably been his Wife] should have such Portion of his Goods as should appear reasonable to his Executor. The chief Branch of this Line ended in Heirs Females, and from it descended a younger Line seated at Speckworth.

11 Rym. Vol. 11. p. 846.
⁵ Pat. 16 Febr.
⁶ Priv. Signil. 8 Nov.
¹ Registr. Norw.
^k Rym. vol. 12. p. 185.
^l Rym. vol. 11. 356.
^m Catal. of Nob.

ⁿ Vol. 2. Baron. p. 231.
^o 2 Pat. 8 H. VII. 20 Febr.
^p Lib. Casr. in Reg. Norw.
^q Pat. 2 H. VII. p. 2.
^r Collect. Dom. Tanner.
^s Ibid.

William the fifth Son was Sewer to Hen. ⁴ VII, and died 4 Dec. 1491, according to the Pedigree he married Joan Daughter of Thomas Waldegrave, and left Posterity.

Thomas the sixth Son was sometime Captain of Deal-Castle, and slain at Bosworth on the Part of Henry VII.

The seventh Sir Robert, was bred up by his Aunt the Lady Scrop, became Knight of the Holy ^u Sepulchre, High Marshal of Calis, afterwards Lieutenant of that Castel, then Deputy of that Town and the Marches, and then Mayor of that Place; he was one of the Privy-Council to Hen. VIII. He was in 3 H. VIII sent ^x Ambassador with the Bishop of Winchester to the Council of Lateran, and in the next ^y Year to the Emperor, when he procured out of the Archives of the City of Constance, and caused to be Printed at Lovain, Disceptatio super dignitate & magnitudine Regnorum Britannici & Gallici habita ab utriusq; Oratoribus & Legatis in Concilio Constantiensi. He was Embassador to ^z Pope Leo. We may make some Computation of the Time of his Birth, since he was above 50 Years old in 11 H. VIII, when he was one of the ^a Maskers at Newhall, so was born in or before the 9th of Ed. VI. In 1523-4 he went into ^b France in the Army under the Command of the Duke of Suffolk. He styles himself in his Will made on 25 March 1538, and proved 12 Nov. 1539, Sir Robert Wingfield ^c Knight Councillour of King Hen. VIII, and late Alderman of Calais, and remaining Burget of that Town, and therein orders himself to be buried in the North East of St. Nicholas Church in Calais, where he had edified a Place for his Sepulture, if he should fortune to decease in that Town or the Marches thereof, but if he should die in Norfolk within ten Miles of his College of Russeforth, then to be buried in the Midst of a Chapel on the South Side in that College where the Body of his Uncle and Godfather Sir Robert Wingfield Knight Comptroller of King Edward the Fourth's House lies, and that upon his Grave be laid a Marble Stone, and thereon graven a Cross of Jerusalem, and in case he should die in London, then to be buried in St. Peters in the Parish his House stands. He devises to his Wife the Lady Jane Clinton his Mansion Place at Bulloign-Gate, and Lands in Calais, and after her Decease to his Neice Frances Hallet and her Heirs Males, in default thereof to his Nephew John eldest Son of his Brother Lewis and his Heirs Males, and in default thereof to his Brother Richard and his Heirs Males, then to his Brother George and his Heirs Males, then to Robert third Son of his Nephew Sir Anthony Wingfield and his Heirs Males, then to his Brother John Brifwood in like manner, then to his Cozen and Godson Jchyngame and his Heirs, and for want thereof to his Brother John and his Heirs Males, and in default thereof to his Sister Eliz. Jchyngame his Goddaughter for ever. He gives the Patronage of the College of Russeford to his Nephew ^z See Wever who mistakes the Year of his Death.

^u Glov. inter MS. Philp. in Off. Arm. n. 17.

^x Rym. 14. p. 453.

^y Ibid. p. 344.

^z Ibid. p. 354.

^a Holl. l. 69. b.

^b Ibid. f. 113.

^c Dingley in Cur. Præc. qu. 33.

John Wingfield, together with his Target of Steel and his light Harnes, his Army Sword, and twelve Footmens Harnes and as many Halberds; to his Nephew Richard his Brother his compleat Harnes which was made at Owbroke in Almayn, and his two Hand Swords, and to his Nephew George his Brother another Harnes, and to his Brother Sir Humphrey his Gilt Goblet, and he died on ^d Tuesday 18 March 1338, 30 H. VIII.

The eighth was Sir Walter, and Lewis the ninth by the Daughter of Mackwilliams was the Ancestor of the Family settled in Hampshire, whereof Sir Richard was Governour of Portsmouth, and his Son Sir Richard Marshal of Ireland was created Viscount Powerscourt by King James the First,

Edmund the tenth was living in 1509, at the Time when his Brother William made his Will, and married Margaret the Relict of John Affesfield, who in Right of her Dowry presented to the Church of Stow Langford in 1506, 1515. He made his Will in 14 Feb. 1526, proved 17 May 1530, wherein he makes Margaret his Wife his Executor, and his Brother Hunfry Supervisor.

Hunfry was 12th Son, and one of the Executors of the Will of his Brother William in 1509, he was bred up in Gray-Im, where he was Lent Reader in 8 H. VIII. Sheriff of Norfolk and Suffolk 12 H. VIII. and chose Speaker of the House of Commons 24 Hen. VIII. He was one of those appointed to hear Causes in the Absence of the Cardinal then Chancellor; being a Knight, the Mannours of Overhal and Netherhal in Dedham in Essex, Part of the Possessions of the Monastery of Campsey, and the Mannour of Creping-Hall in Stutton in Suffolk, late belonging to Cobn-Abbey, were granted to him 29 June 29 H. VIII. He was seated at Bramtham and from him that Branch and the Wingfields of Winston are descended. He made his Will on 13 March 24 Hen. VIII. which was not proved till 26 Nov. 1548, 38 H. VIII. wherein he then devised his Mannours of Overhal and Netherhal in Dedham, and other Towns, to his Son Robert and the Heirs Males of him the Testator, and in default thereof to the King's Majesty his Heirs and Successors, according to Letters Patent to him made; bequeathes his Mannour of Braham-Hall to his said Son Robert and his Heirs lawfully begotten on Bridget his Wife, and in default thereof to his own right Heirs, as also his Mannour of Bridge-Place and Park in Codenham, and other Places in Suffolk and Essex, which he had purchased of his Daughter Dorothy Adgore, one of the Daughters and Heirs of Gregory Adgore Serjant of Law, then Wife of William Callabut, and for default of Issue, the Mannour of Brigge to descend to his Daughter Anne Wife of Alexander Newton and the Heirs of their Bodies, and in default thereof to William Callabut Son of William by Dorothy his Wife. A great deal more might be added touching the Persons herein named.

To come then to our Knight, who according to some Books was the Eleventh, others say the Thirteenth Son; John Wingfield, Robert, and Jf Richard his Brother were Commanders against the Cor- d Glov. ut supra.

e Rymer 14. p. 299.

f Allen in Cur. Præc. qn. 23.
ff Polyd. Virg. p. 600.

with Rebels 12 Hen. VII. In 3 Hen. VIII. Richard Wingfeild had the 2 Office of Marshal of the Town and Marches of Calis; in the fourth Year being a Knight, was one of the 3 Embassadors to treat with the Pope and the Emperour, being then Knight for the King's Body, and one of the King's Council, and to him doubtless 4 Erafmus refers. This Marshallship of 5 Calis was 5 H. VIII. regranted to him, and to Sir Robert Wingfeild, for the Life of the longest Liver of them, and in that Year our Knight being then 4 Marshal of the Army, was created a Banneret at the Siege of Turney, and was jointly with Sir Gilbert Talbot (who was his Predecessor in this Stall) constituted Deputy of Calis, and was 6 sent Embassador to Charles Prince of Spain into Flanders, and is named Deputy of Calis 7 in 6 H. VIII, in which Office he had a Pursuivant at Arms titled Toell-Volant, a Title in all probability taken from the Wings in Lute Part of the Arms, and the Ancient Crest of the Family: And here by the way these Arms are doubtless of the Paronomastick Kind, alluding to the Surname, which the French stile Speaking Arms: A Method, notwithstanding the Obviousness and Coarseness in the Invention, in all probability as Antient as any other manner of bearing whatever.

In the Collector's Custody is an 8 Original Letter of the following Tenour, whose Direction or Supercription is lost. " My Lorde, I spake " to my Lorde of Norfolke for your man Baker, He saide He would " spekke to the King's Majestie in that, And I shewed him, that Sir Richard Nanfant had oon Sevisball, and Sir Richard Wingfeilde had oone " Toel Vollant, and the Lord Barnes oone Barnes, and the Lord Lysle one " Lysle Purcevaunes; and that that was nedefull, that your Lordeshipp " had oone for suche causes and besynes, as you have to doo, &c.

All these Persons were in their respective times Deputies of Calis, and we meet with some of these Officers of Arms mentioned in other Entries. Serreshal was present at the Funeral of 9 Elizabeth Queen to Hen. VII, who in the Obiequy Book in the Wardrobe is spelt Suresant. Barnes Purservant receives a Share in the Fees in 23 H. VIII, and Lisle is remembered in 7 Spelman.

The jingling Complement made to 10 Sir Anthony Wingfeild, with a Device or Rebus of a Wing with the Letters F. E. L. D. quarterly, and over the Wing a Cross, to shew he was a Christian, and on it a red Rose, to intimate that he followed the Interest of the House of Lancaster, made a very poor sorry Design worthy of no Reward.

Our Knight was appointed with the 11 Duke of Suffolk to receive the Queen Dowager of France, and to settle her Dowry and conduct her into England. In 7 H. VIII, he had the Custody of the Lands of 12 Tho.

2 Pat. 2 H. VIII. p. 1. 14 Nov.

3 Rym. vol. 13. p. 344

4 Epist. f. 1546. 13 Dec. 1515. Tradideram Epistolam Roberto Wingfeild, sed ille semper dehinc Curiam secutus est, locutus es tu forsitan cum fratre illius, qui & ipse aliquando apud Casarem Oratorem Regis fuit egit.

5 Pat. 5 H. VIII. p. 1. 6 Aug.

6 G. 2. penes me p. 137.

7 See above, p. 215. note d.

8 Rym. vol. 13. p. 466.

9 H. V. p. 167.

10 T. XI. in off. Arm. p. 32

11 Paris. Book off. Arm. p. 41.

12 Gloss. voce Heraldus.

13 Cind. Rem. p. 166.

14 Stow.

15 Pat. 7 H. VIII. p. 5. 25 Oct.

Brews Esquire, who was his Nephew, and had Licence to import an ^x Hundred Hogheads of Wine, and in the 10th divers ^y Mannours in Suffolk were granted to him in Reversion after Elizabeth Countess of Oxford; on 15 May, in 11th Year, had an ^z Annuity of 50*l.* payable by the Treasurer of the Chamber, as likewise another of 200*l.* by the Title of the King's trusty and right well-beloved Counsellour and Knight for his Body. He was one of the four sad and ancient Knights as ^a Stow expresseth it, who were made Gentlemen of the Bedchamber to the King in 1520, was one of Cardinal Wolsey's retinue into Flanders to meet the Emperor 1521.

Being Chancellor of the ^b Dutchy of Lancaster, and of the Bedchamber and Privy-Council, he was elected into this Order in the 14th Year having obtained some ^c Months before a Grant to himself and the Heirs Males of his Body of the Castle of Kimbolton, in the County of Huntington, with the Advowsons of several Abbies and Priors forfeited by the Duke of Buckingham.

In this Place he built new fair ^d Lodgings and Galleries upon the old Foundation, and in this same Year, with Sir William Sandys Knight of this Order, led the Rear of the ^e Army sent into France, and attended in 14 H. VIII upon the Emperor into Spain with the Lord Admiral, and in his Return from thence was present at the Burning of ^f Morlaix. In 15 H. VIII, had a Grant of the Mannours of ^g Swynesthead in Huntington and Hardwyk in Bedford, forfeited likewise by the Duke of Buckingham, and a Messuage in St. Swithins for 24 Years. He accompanied the Duke of Suffolk into France; the Register of the Order mentions only his Presence 23 Apr. 16 H. VIII. his Absence from the Feast held 8 May in that Year, and that his Hatchments were offered on 10 May 18 H. VIII.

He and Cuthbert Bishop of London were sent Embassadors into Spain, in which Employment he ^b died at Toledo on St. Mary Magdalens Day, being 22 July 17 H. VIII, at four of the Clock in the Afternoon, and was with great Solemnity buried in the Church of the Friars Observants of St. John de Pois by the Directions of Navera King of Arms of Spain and Richmund Herald, who was Christopher Barker afterwards Garter King of Arms and Knight of the Bath. In this Place none were buried unless by the special Command of the Emperor; at this Funeral the Banner of St. George was carried, and his Nephew John Wingfeild offered the Mafs Penny, where if a Manuscript may be credited, a sumptuous Monument was erected for him. Upon his Appointment to that Employment, he on the fifth of April 16 Henry VIII made his ⁱ Will, and therein by the Title of Knight of the most Noble Order of the Garter, and ^x lb. 10 Oct.

^y Pat. 16 H. VIII. p. 24 Martii.

^z Bill. sign. 11 H. VIII. 2 July.

^a P. 502.

^b Vinc. MS. in off. Arm. n. 181. Newer fun. Mon. p. 334.

^c Pat. 14 H. VIII. p. 2 Nov. 20 Pat. 25 H. VIII.

^d p. 1, Sept. 15.

^d Leland's Itin. vol. 5. p. 2.

^e Holingsh. p. 875.

^f Hall.

^g Bill. sign. 15 H. VIII. Sept. 4.

^h 7. XI. in off. Arm. p. 77.

ⁱ Lib. Forthe in Cur. Prætorij.

Chancellor of the Dutchy of Lancaster, mentions his Sons Charles, Thomas, James, and Lawrence, then all under Age, and his Daughters Katherine, Cecill, Mary, and Elizabeth; gives a Legacy to the Prior of Letberyngham in Suffolk, where his Father, Mother, and other of his Anceltors were buried; orders Masses for the Soul of his singular good Lady Dame Katherine Dutcheſs of Bedford and Buckingham his late Wife, and deviſes ſeveral Things to his Wife Dame Bridget during the Lives of Sir John Wiltſhire and Dame Margaret his Wife, her Father and Mother, and names his Nephew John Brewſe, ending with this Clauſe, "All which things
 " notwithstanding, forasmuch as at the tyme of the making and ſealing
 " hereof, I am going as the King's Ambaſſadour into Spain to th' Em-" perour there, leaving here behind this my preſent teſtament with my " moſt truſty Brother Lewes Wyngfeld, named herein oon of myn Exe" cutors, yet my mind is to be ever at ſuch libertee, that I may here" after change the ſame at my pleaſure." We may make ^k ſome Queſts at his Age, becauſe he was one of the Maskers at Newball in 11 H. VIII, when he is ſaid to be above 50 Years old.

This his firſt Wife was the youngeſt Daughter of Richard Widdeville Earl Ryvers, by Jacquet of Luxemburgh the Relict of the moſt renowned John Duke of Bedford, who after the Death of her Brothers was one of the Heireſſes of that Earl; ſhe had brought ſeveral Children to her firſt Husband Henry Stafford Duke of Buckingham, and was re-married to Jasper of Hatfield Duke of Bedford, upon which Account the Titles of thoſe Dutchies are given to her in this Will, and by this Marriage of our Knight he became great Uncle to Hen. VIII., in whoſe Reign he was elected into this Order. His ſecond Lady was Dame Bridget, Widow of Sr. Michael Harvey, Daughter and ſole Heir of Sir John Wiltſhire ſome time Comptroller of Calis, who, in his Will ^l made in 1526, gives all his Lands after the Death of his Relict to his Daughter Dame Bridget Wyngfelde for Life, and to the Heirs Males begotten between Sir Richard Wyngfelde and the ſaid Dame Bridget, and by this Match ^m Stone Caſtle near Gravesend came into this Family. An ⁿ Inquiſition was taken on 12th March 17 H. VIII, wherein the Jury find that he died ſeized of the Mannors of Kimbolton, Sawynneſhed, and Tillbrooke in Huntington, that Charles his Son and next Heir was at his Father's Death of the Age of twelve Years, and that this Sir Richard died at Toledo in Spain the 22d of July before the taking this Inquiſition. His Poſterity continued at Kimbolton till the Time that his great Grandſon's Grandſon ſold it. Thomas and Lawrence the younger Sons of our Knight left Poſterity, but his Son James Maſter of the Ordnance in Ireland died without Iſſue.

The Arms are quarterly; in the firſt and fourth the Paternal Coat Argent on a bend Gules, three pair of Wings in Lure of the firſt; in the ſecond Bovil Sable and Or, quarterly; and in the third quarterly Gouſhill Or and Gules barrulee of ſix Pieces a Canton Ermin, and Warren Checquy Or and Azure, and in the Center of the Whole ſix ^k Hall. f. 69.

^l Lib. Forſtie in Cur. Prærog.

^m We. ſon. Mon. p. 354.
ⁿ In the Chappell of the Rollers.

Difference the Sun or an Etoile with sixteen Rays, which may be allusive to the Course of his Birth. This is a beautiful and costly Plate, being inlaid with Gold, the Motto being in Letters of pure Gold, set into Enamel, some of which are now missing, and the whole is surrounded with an Oval Ornament of Foliage wrought with Wire Gold, having four Cords placed at the Corners of the Plate interlaced with Tassels, which seem to be in the Form of those which fatten the Mantles of this Order.

The Seal of Letheringham Priory, which was in the Patronage of this Family, had the Impression of the Blessed Virgin, and under it the Arms of Bovil and Wingfield quartered.

The Crest born by him is an Eagles Head Or, beaked Gules, between two Wings erected Argent mantelled counterchanged on the Sides Azure lined Or, and Gules lined Or, the Crest of the eldest Branch is an high Bonnet between two Wings displayed.

1702. 6. page 234

LOIALTE

NEA FEVR

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of

Sir Henry Guldeford.

HIS Knight number'd 293, whose Surname is abbreviated in the Pronunciation to Gulford, and often spelt in that manner, was elected on 24 Apr. 18 H. VIII. at Greenwich, and installed on St. George's Feast following, which the Black Book places on the seventh of May; but as this Feast began on the Vigil, so there is no doubt but that he received this Honour on the Eve which was upon a Saturday, as 'tis placed in the Narrative of that ^a Ceremonial, which was the Practice in Cases of Installations, at which Time he settled on ^b Garter King of Arms an Annuity of Fourty Shillings.

He was, as we shall find, about 39 Years of Age at the Time of his Election, and was descended from a very antient Family, famous for ^a H. 1. p. 67. me p. 67.

^b M. 7. in Off. Arm.

considerable considerable Services to the Publick; one of his Ancestors is said to have been a great Benefactor to the Priory of c Tuning, probably the Place is mistaken either for Tunington near Canterbury, or for Tanbridge in Surry: But the Pedigree shall not at present be carried farther back than to the Time of the Marriage of William with Joan the Daughter and Heir of John Halden of Rokenden in Kent, whose Arms are quartered on this Plate by our Knight. This Lady brought large Possessions to this Family, which continued in her Descendants, who frequently resided at Halden, and at other times at Hempsted, which later Mannor being forfeited by an Attainder was granted to this William Guilford then Sheriff of this County in 11 R. II.

His Grandson Sir John made a considerable Figure in the King's Household, being Comptroller of it under E. IV, and was Father of Sir Richard, who under the Usurpation of Rich. III. espoused the Earl of Richmond, and in order to advance him to the Throne raised Forces, and began the 4th War in Kent, but upon the sudden Defeat of the Duke of Bucks, he was obliged to seek Refuge in Bretagne, and it is probable that the Father being supposed to favour the Son in this Enterprize, was therefore attained by an c Act in Parliament made at that Time.

This Sir John married three Wives, the first dyed without Issue, the second was Alice Daughter of Thomas Waller of Gromesbridge Esq; by whom he had Issue Sir Richard, and the third Wife survived him, and with Richard his Son was constituted Executor of his f Will made 20 March 1492-3, and proved 25 August following, wherein he ordered himself to be buried at Tenterden, but possibly he countermanded that Direction, because he was buried at s Canterbury in the Body of that Cathedral.

Richard his Son and Heir came back from Bretagne with Hen. VII. and received the Honour of Knighthood upon the Landing at b Milford-Harven, and upon the Accession of H. VII. to the Crown, he was on 23 Oct. appointed to prepare the i justes of peas ayensf the Coronation, and on 24 Sept. was constituted one of the k Chamberlains of the Exchequer, and also made Master of the l Ordnance and of the King's Armory; and he was one of those of whom that King made Choice of for his m Privy-Council, by which Title he had the Custody of the n Heir of Rob. Mortimer, and in the second Year had likewise the Marriage of Eliz. Mortimer, having on the 6th of October a Grant of the Mannor of o Hogben in Suffex to him and his Heirs Males, with License to build Towers there; and on the 15th of Apr. by the Name of the King's right trusty Counsaillour and Knight for his Body, was appointed to take Care for the Building of a p Ship of 700 Tunns, to be like a Ship called the Columbe of France. On 5 Oct. 3 H. VII. the Summe of 100 Markes was ordered to be paid him for preparing Requisites for the q Justes against the Queens

c Philpot's Kent, p. 71.

d Pol. Virg. p. 552. Stow, &c.

e Parl. 3 R. 3. m. 6.

f Dogget in Cur. Prærog. Qu. 20.

g Cerom. of his Fun. in the Herald's Office.

h Philpot's Kent, p. 28. F. 14. in off. Arm p. 13.

i Priv. Sigill.

k Pat. 1 H. 7. p. 1.

l Ibid. p. 1. m. 17. &c. p. 3. 8 Martii.

m Pol. Virg. p. 566.

n Priv. Sig. 14 July, Pat. 2 H. VII. p. 1. 31 Dec.

o Pat. 2 H. VII.

p Priv. Sigill.

q Priv. Sigill. apud Warw.

Coronation, and in 5 H. VII, he covenants by ^r Indenture to serve the King upon the Sea with 550 Mariners and Soldiers for two Months, from the 12th July in three Ships, and on the 13th May had given him 300 Marks of the first Money arising from the ^l Subsidies in the Port of Chichester; on 30 March 7 H. VII, the King reciting, That he had granted 40*l.* yearly, besides the Fees belonging to the Offices of Master of the Ordnance, and of the Armory; orders that 20*l.* thereof be immediately advanced for his good and acceptable Service, and that (as the ^u Words are) “ Now specially in this our great journey to our Royaume of France “ to him right ponderous and chargeable.

In the Eight Year, he with Courage and Prudence opposed the ^{*} Cornish Squadron on Blackheath, and was there made a ^v Banneret. In 8 H. VII, the Marriage of ^w Thomas de la Mere was granted to him. In the 9th Year he had 100*l.* given him towards his Charges in being ^x Sheriff of Kent, and in the same Year the Office of the ^y Armory was re-granted to him, and to Edward Guilford for the Lives of each of them, which Edward was his eldest Son. In the 11th Year he was made ^z Steward of the Lands which were the Dutchess of Tork's in Surrey and Suffex. In 12th Year we meet with ^a Licences granted to the Abbots of Battle, Feverstean and Roberts-bridge, to enfeof him and his Heirs with sundry Lands, and Liberty granted them to purchase other Lands, and in this Year Money was ordered to be issued to him being then Comptroller ^c of the Household, for keeping of St. ^e George's Feast, on which Feast in the 14th Year his Name occurs in the Scrutinies, in both the Classes of Barons and of Knights, when Sir Richard Poole was elected. The Black-Book contains no other Transactions of this Order in 15 H. VII, save the Observance of the Feast by the Prince, and is silent in the 16 and 17 Years; but since John Viscount Wells died on the 9th Febr. 14 H. VII, and the Windsor-Tables inform us that he was succeeded in the 8th Stall on the Prince's Side by this Sir Richard, there is the greatest Probability he was elected into this Order about St. George's Day 15 H. VII. In 19 H. VII, he procured an ^f Exemplification under the Great Seal, and had Letters of Constat in 21st Year, and a special Pardon. In 22 was beyond Sea, and on the 14th Nov. ^g Licence was given to Rich. and Walter Culpeper to enfeof him in the Mannors of Thorn and Grace. He made ^b his Will on 7th Apr. 21 H. VII, which was proved on 10 May 1508, 23 H. VII, wherein he devises to his Wife 50 Marks yearly for her Dower, and the Residue to his Son Edward.

This Edward his eldest Son by his first Lady, became Marshal of Calis, Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, and Master of the Ordnance, and a Person of great Distinction, and this Sir Rich. had by her also George, and four Daughters. He re-married with Joan the Sister of Nicholas

^r Ex Indentur.

^s & ^t Priv. Sig.

^u Priv. Sigill. 30 Martii 7 H. VII.

^x Philip. Kent. 295.

^y Ibid. p. 28. Ann. Hist. p. 282.

^z Pat. 8 H. VII, 1 Feb.

^a Priv. Sigill. 23 Nov.

^b Pat. 9 H. VII, 1 Dec.

^c Pat. 11 H. VII, Apr. 21.

^d Pat. 12 H. VII, Martii 12 & Junii 5.

^e Pat. 19 H. VII, Junii 2.

^f See Note to the Black-Book, p. 236.

^g Pat. de dist. ann.

^h Pat. 22 H. VII.

ⁱ Fetipiece in Cur. Pærog.

the first Lord Vaux, and by her was Father of our Knight Sir Henry, and he died according to a ' MS. in the 22d Hen. VII. leaving a Vacancy in this Seat for Sir Thomas Brandon, who is said to be Installed on the 9th of May in that Year.

This Lady Joan survived her Husband, to whom Henry the VIIIth on 23 Nov. in his 4 sixth Year grants an Annuity of 20*l.* during her Life for her Services to his Father, Mother, the Queens of France and Scotland his Sisters, and to himself; and in the 7th H. VIII. she had an Additional 1 Annuity of 40*l.* payable for her Life out of the Issues of the County and Honour of Richmond, who as we shall find hereafter by a Letter from Erasmus was living in May 1519.

This Henry our present Knight whilst he was an Esquire, (to use the Words of " Mr. Philpot in 1 Hen. VIII.) " Went into Spain, and engaged " himself under Ferdinand and Isabel in their Wars against the Moors, " and behaved himself with that exemplary Resolution, that upon the " Reduction of Granada, the above-mentioned Prince added to his Paternal Coat an Augmentation of a Pomgranet slipped upon a Canton " [which we know were the Arms of that regained Province] and likewise " dignified him with the Order of Knighthood, and, he continues on " to inform us that in the fourth of Hen. VIII. he was again invested " with the above-said Order by our King.

That the Degree of a Knight Bachelor should be reconferred is so singular an Instance, that it seems scarce credible without direct positive Proof. An Accollade or Dubbing of a Knight, by any Person that had a Right to convey that Honour, was a Creation universally received throughout all Kingdoms; that is, a simple Knight Bachelor made according to the Laws of Chivalry in one Kingdom, retained that indelible Character in all Places whatever, and therefore the same was not only conferred by Princes within their own Territories on " Strangers, but was i Vinc MS. n. 40. p. 40. 71 in off. Arm. See Notes to the Black-Book, p. 254. Note 5.

k Rym. vol. 13. p. 470.

l Priv. Sigill. Junii 9.

m In his History of Kent.

n Kings themselves went to foreign Princes to receive this Order, therefore Alex. III, King of Scotland, pleaded quia si placeret ei, potuit ipse arma suscipere a quovis Principe Catholico vel ab aliquo nobilium suorum. M. Paris A. D. 1252. The Instances of that Practice are too numerous to be inserted. Two Years before this Time Prince Edward, eldest Son of H. III. received this Honour from Alphonso the Wise King of Castile, see Gloss. 28 H. 3. m. 4. dorf. Rymet vo. 1. p. 527, to which King many Princes applied for this Honour. Propter gloriosam famam multi nobiles & egregii viri de diversis mundi partibus veniebant ad ipsum ut ab eo acciperent cingulum militare, inter quos fuit illustis Rex Anglie nomine Odoardus, nobilis vir Philippus Imperatoris Constantinopolitani filius, Abocada Rex Granate, nobilissimi infantes Dom. Philippus Dom. Emanuel Ferrandus, & Sanctius qui postmodum in regno successerit, filii Alphonso Regis predicti: Egreui viri Alphonso & Johannes filii quondam inclvty Regis Johannis de Acon, Radulphus Comes, qui fuit postmodum Rex Alama-nize. Gaufr. Toletan. App. ad Hist. Roderici Toletani. Here by the way is a Moorish Mahometan King knighted, which was unprecedented, for our Rich. 1 at Acon in 1122. filium Saphadini insignivit magnifice in angulo [cingulo] militie. Vinefauz Iter Hierosol. p. 385, and who ibi Saphadine was may be seen in the same Book, p. 368, 422, and Joinville informs us that Frederick knighted Succedum Faccardin General under the Soudan of Egypt.

As Kings received this Honour from Foreign Princes, so their Subjects likewise followed the same Example, which was always esteemed laudful; we find indeed sometimes Licence given for this Purpose; the Reason was double; because such Persons were Tenants who held of the Crown, and that by the taking this Honour their Wardships determined, which seem to be the Ground of that Article in Eyre recited in Bracton, p. 117. Therefore in Rot. Pip. 15 H. II. Avelina de Ria debet C. libras de misericordia pro filio suo quem fecit militem dom esse in custodia Regis. Tibi is explained in Par. 35 H. III. m. 9. Rex Roberto de Graylock, &c. Licet de nobis tenear in Capite, tamen tibi licentiam concedimus, quod te militem fieri facias in festo Pentecostes a diebus & fidei Willmo Comite Albemarie vel a quocunque alio pro tuo libito voluntatis. And this may explain the Reason that our H. III, in his 44th Year, wrote to the Duke of Bretagne was given by them when ^a they resided in foreign Countries to the Natives there, and sometimes even to their ^p Enemies in War. Hence when Pope Clement VIII knighted John Mocenigo one of the Venetian ^q Embassadors, who had been formerly advanced thereto by Hen. IV of France, that Action was judged to be without Precedent, and a Papal Implication, that the Creations by that Prince before his Absolution, in the Opinion of his Holiness, were null in themselves.

This Instance of a Venetian is the rather mentioned, because some Particularities are observed in that Republick, for as their Embassadors claim a Title to receive Knighthood from that Sovereign to whom they are first sent, and to have a Charter attesting it with some Badge relating thereto given to them (which in this Kingdom was usually a Gold Collar, and sometime the Sword wherewith they were advanced to that Degree) so at their Return Home they lay down those Ensigns to the ^r Senate, which however always approves the Fact, and from thenceforward these are reputed Knights of their own Order of the Stole.

The present Subject is confined to the conferring simple Knighthoods and of the same Degree, for it hath been always allowed to a Knight of an inferior Form to receive another Knighthood of an higher Precedence, and there are Instances likewise that Knights of a Superior Form have accepted inferior Degrees, as the Companions of our Order, who have been only Knights Batchellors at their Installations into this Order have been made ^s Knights of the Bath and ^t Banneretts, which are collated with distinct Ceremonies, the former to grace some great Solemnity, and the latter to be entituled to an Advance of daily Wages in the Wars, and it hath never been thought any Inconsistency to receive several Military Orders under due Protestations.

Some

Bretagne de his Desire to confer this Honour upon that Duke's Son John, in feilo beati Edwardi, quod inter ceteras solemnitates anni specialius veneramur, dum tamen hoc vestre federit voluntati, & assensum domini Regis Francie, quem hoc diuenter rogabimus, habuerimus. Rymer, vol. 1. p. 698. and be actually conferred that Honour upon him, Chron. Tho. Wikes, p. 54. A Clause of this Nature to receive Knighthood from any Person at their Pleasure was usually in France, La Roque de la Noblesse, p. 66, 73, &c. That to Lawrence Pouffart and his Posterity, granted by King John, qu'ils peussent demander recevoir & obtenir de quelconq; person le noble ordre de Chevalerie was confirmed by Rot. Cales 24. E. III. m. VIII. It would be endless to recount the Knighthoods conferred on Foreigners by our Kings through the several Reigns, and the Knighthoods of English Men by Foreign Princes. But it seems reasonable, that in such Kingdoms where Civil Exemptions are annexed to Knighthood, such as Freedom from Taxes, that it should not be in the voluntary Power of any Foreign Prince to privilege the Subjects against their natural Sovereign, and discharge them from contributing to their Support, upon which Foundation it was that the Charters of Cavalleria Armada, granted by Charles V. as Emperor, were not allowed of Validity in Spain, notwithstanding he was King also of that Realm, Ordin. l. 4. tit. 1. l. 8. But it is not improbable that if any of the Hidalgos of Spain, who had in Right thereof an Exemption from Taxes, had received the Honour of Knighthood from Ch. V. as Emperor, the same might have been absolutely admitted: and hence it is said was that though the King of England had knighted Ralph Coots of Bruges, and made a particular Request to Charles the Second King of Spain to ratify the same, yet he was again knighted by Letters Patent passed at Madrid without any reference to the former. Noblesse de Brabant, p. 113. and this was in performance of the sovereign Pleasare Heraldique 16 Dec. 1616, which declares the Reception of such Honour to be contrary to the Sovereignty of the Prince, et a la surcharge & mespris de nos autres Subjets contraindables, en aucune Provinces es tailles & subides d'icelles, Jurispr. Heroica, vol. 2. p. 7.

^o The Emperor Sigismund conferred a Knighthood on a Frenchman in March 1515 at Paris, who confessed for a Swiss Bishop annexed only to that Degree, Du Fresn. Gloss. v. Alapa. Du Tillet receuil, p. 433. Savaron de l'espée Franc. p. 32, 31. Some Authors write that the permission of the King of France was obtained, but Choippin saith the King of France was angry with the Parliament for permitting it.

^p See Note to the Black Book, p. 75.

^q Wicquefort Ambassadeur, p. 450.

^r Hist. des Ordres Reig. vol. 8. p. 263.

^s See Life of the Lord Duras.

^t Sir John Chandos one of the first Founders, was not created a Banneret till the Battle of Nazarre in Spain in 1367 Froiss.

Some Instances that have the Appearances of a ^a second Collation of simple Knighthoods are considered in the Margin, it being sufficient to the present Purpose that the great ^x Oracle of the Common Law of England hath delivered his Opinion positively that Knighthoods are universal.

In pursuance then of this Maxim we are to examine into the Fact of his Knighthood, Mr. ^y Camden and ^z du Presne take Notice of the Augmentations granted him, but are both silent in the Point of Knighthood. Hall, ^a who might personally know him, saith that the King of Spain dubbed Henry Guilford, Weston, & Browne. But his Authority is much lessened in this Case, since he makes Weston and Browne two separate Persons, whereas it was Sir Weston Browne of Langehorw in Essex that received that Honour, whose Privilegios de Cavalleria (as the Spaniards term it) is copied into several Books, and placed in the ^b Margin, because the Collector is induced to believe that the like Patent mutatis mutandis was then given to our Knight, because in a MS. containing the List of ^c Knights with their Arms, it is entred "Lord Henry Guldeford, dubbed by the Kinge " of Arragon at Bruges [it should be Burgos] in Castile 15 Sept. A. D. 1511, " 3 H. VIII, " and whose Arms are there drawn with the Augmentation, and without any Mark of Cadency, and then immediately follows " Sir Wystan Browne dubbed at the same Time and Place. " But which ^a Rot. Lib. 41 H. III. Liberat de thesauro nostro Willimo Chamlet, quem super tercio militum cingulo decoravimus xxx Marcas. Mr. Thinne Lancaster Herald in a MS. interprets it to have been the receiving the Degrees of Bachelor, of the Bach, and of Banneret; but though these Degrees should have subsisted at that Time, yet then the Word should have been militiae not militum; therefore the Collector suspesit it means on'y that he was one of the three Persons who had received Knighthood, answerable to the Expressions frequently in Rolls of Payment of Wages to soli, se alteri, se tertio, se quarto, &c. Tous Fin. 15 Johan. Walterus de Turbevil venit se tercio militum in servitio Regis Fin. 15 H. 3. m. 11. Robt. Courteney venit se vicissim militum in servitio Domini Regis in unum annum ad cultum suum, a very Ancient Form used in the Laws of H. 1. c. 66, 67, 74, for so many Pledges or Compurgators, and even Froiss. vol. 1. c. 160. Le Roy Johan arme luy vingtiesme en ses paremens.

^x Coke's 7 Rep. p. 15b. 16a.

^y Britan. in English, p. 352. Remains, p. 193.

^z Sur Joinville, p. 328.

^a In Hist. of Hen. VIII.

^b A Certificate by Garter and Clarenceux of this Knighthood and Augmentation is entred in the Office of Arms, H. V. 2 p. 11. The Patent follows; Ferdinandus Dei Gratia Rex Aragonum Sicilie citra & ultra Farum Hierusalem Valentie Majoricarum Sardinie & Corcice Comes Barchinonae Dux Aethenarum & Neopatriae Comes Rossilionis Cerdantie Marchio Orisani & Gotsini. Universis & singularis ad quos presentes nostrae litterae pervenerint & presentate fuerint notum facimus quod attendentes excultos mores quibus decoratus estis vos magnificis & devotus noster Wifanus Brown Anglicus Serenissimi & potentissimi Principis Henrici Angliae Regis fratris & filii nostri charissimi subditus & alumnus ac etiam laudabile propositum & desiderium quibus impulsus natale solum dimittere ad nos proleptus et in Africam trajecturus unacum nostro valido exercitu quem parabamus ad bellum gerendum contra Spurcissimos Mauros Christianiani nominis hostes pro Christiana Religione augenda, proq; extirpanda nefanda Secta Mahometana, his & aliis meritis personae vestrae vos eundem Wifanum Brown tanquam benemeritum & condignum die datae presentium militem fecimus atq; creavimus in modum sequentem, Quoniam vobis personaliter coram Majestate nostra constitutus in quadam Atrio Hospitalii quod impensiarum forum in Civitate Barchinensi Regni Castellae esse praefinito & capite galea testis ente ipso evaginato vos lente percussimus, dicentes vernaculo yudionate Hispanoq; haec verba Dios vos faga buen cavallero y los bienaventurados Sant Jago y Sant Jorge sic & prout fieri ac dici solum est in similibus militum Creationibus. Necnon ad majoris decorationis cumulum vobis eidem Wifano partem insigniarum nostrorum contulimus atq; per presentes conferimus videlicet ut vos & soboles ac tota posteritas vestra de ferre possitis & possis in clypeo sine Cruce Aquilam nigram in campo albo, prout hic patet diagrama: Volentes & decernentes vos totamq; sobolem & posteritatem vestram gestare posse atq; debere absq; ulla contradictione quorumvis officialium nostrorum dicta insignia ac etiam gaudere, & uti privilegii, praerogative, gratias, franchitatis, honoris, immunitatis & exemptionibus, usibus & consuetudinibus, quibus gaudere debent & consequerentur ac possint ceteri milites militari cingulo decorati. In cujus rei testimonium presentes heri iustissimus sigillo nostro impendente munus. Datum in civitate praefata Barchinensi die xv mensis Septembris Anno a Narivitate Domini Millesimo quingentesimo undecimo. Regnorunq; nostrorum, videlicet Sicilie ultra Farum Anno quadragesimo quarto, Aragonum & aliorum tricesimo tertio, Sicilie autem citra Farum & Hierusalem Nono. Dominus Rex mandavit mihi Michaeli Perez Dalmau-r Claudius C. 3. in bibli. Cotton, p. 78.

is of ^d Authority, Sir Robert Wotton hath left us this Entry A. D. 1511, 3 H. VIII. Dom. Darcy cum Classe in comitatu Nobilium missus in Hispaniam ad ferendam opem adversus Mauros, sed cum illuc appulisset, Hispani eam expeditionem suscipere noluerunt, redeunt ergo nostri domum re infecta, Henricus tamen Guldeford, & Wiltanus Browne profecti ad Aulam Castellani bene habiti sunt ab eo & militiae cingulo donati. Our Knight afterwards married the Daughter of this Wotton, who was Born 19 March 1498.

This same Manuscript Catalogue further informs us, that one Sir Henry Guildford, whose Arms are therein also delineated without this Augmentation, but with the Abatement of the Mullet for a Brizure, was dubbed at Westminster on 20 March the last Day of the Parliament 3 Hen. VIII 1511-12, and it remains to be enquired, whether this was the same Person who had been thus ennobled with that Augmentation in the Month of September preceeding, which this Editor is not as yet enabled to determine, or whether there were two Sir Henry Guildfords at this Time. 'Tis evident from the Arms on the Plate, that our Knight of the Garter is the Person who received this Honour from the King of Spain.

In 2 H. VIII, Henry Guildford Esq; had the ^e Custody of Anne Daughter and Heiress of John Langford during her Minority, and in the 4th Year the King grants to him, being then ^j a Knight, and to his Wife and the Heirs of their Bodies, the Mannors of Hampton in Ardenne in Warwick, and Dyker in Lincoln, as likewise the Baillywick of Sutton in Warwick, with the Custody of the Park during his Life, and in that ^k Year also had the Constableship of the Castle of Leedes, with the Parkership thereof, and of Langley for his Life. Upon the Reputation of his Martial Abilities by Sea as well as by Land, he was sent with Sir Charles Brandon in the Sovereign with the ^b Fleet against the French, and not as ⁱ Philpot saith in the Regent, for that Ship with its Captains was burnt in Grappling. He carried the Royal Standard at the Siege of ^k Therouenne, which Office ^l had been granted to him for Life in such manner as Sir Edward Howard, who was a Knight elect of this Order, had enjoyed the same, and at Turney he was created ^m Banneret: In the 7 Hen. VIII, he was constituted ⁿ Master of the Horse for Life, and at the same ^o Time had an Annuity of 50*l.* during the like Term for the Executing the Office of an Esquire of the King's Body. In the 10th Year, on 11 August, Sir Henry ^p Guyford and Nicholas Carewe, had each of them from the Standing Wardrobe 6 Yards of Blue Cloth of Gold towards a Bafe and a Trapper, and 15 Yards of White Cloth of Silver Damask to perform another Bafe and Trapper for the Kings Juffs appointed to be at Greenwich upon the Arrival of the French Embassadors. In 1519 Erasmus wrote

^d MS. penes Ricb. Foley Arm. Protonotar.

^e Pat. 2 H. 8. p. 1. 29 Martii.

^f Pat. 4 H. 8. p. 1. 3 Dec.

^g Pat. 4 H. 8. p. 2. 23 Dec.

^h Herb. Hist. of H. 8. p. 25.

ⁱ Kent. p. 295.

^k Herb. p. 37.

^l Pat. 5 H. 8. p. 1. 28 May.

^m Vinc. MS. n. 40. p. 475. Glover's MS. among Philpots Books, in Off. Arm. n. 8. p. 15 b.

ⁿ Pat. 7 H. 8. p. 3. 6 Nov.

^o Ibid.

^p MS. penes Rob. Worsley Baronet.

him some Letters, which it hath been thought proper to print in the ² Margin at length, not only for his Character of the Personal Virtues and Studies of our Knight, but for his Description of the English Court, wherein the great Personages distinguished themselves for their Learning, and at their Tables had modest Disputations touching Points of Erudition and Piety, contrary to the then prevailing Practice of the Ecclesiasticks. In the next Year he had the Custody of the Mannor of Leedes, with other Perquisites for 40 Years, and in the 14th was appointed to attend on the Emperor at his coming hither, and on 24 Apr. being then ¹¹ Comptroller of the King's Household, as his Father and Grandfather were formerly, had the Mannor of Hadlow, with the Advowson and Appurte-

9. EPISTOLA CCCCVII.

Henrico Gulstordo. Epist. Anon. Prefata res equitum Regis Angliæ. Insula S. D.

VIR clarissime, multorum sermone cognosco, quam antea sis in nos animo, siue scitulis istum benevolentia ex mea substitutionibus concessisti, siue ex Tobiano Genti, ceterorumque amicum humiliter feruente. Tu me diligis, quod veritatem esse veritas, quoniam illi prædicantur. Ego te vicissim amo, quod toto pedore virtuti, quod honesta studiis favens, quando hoc gratia mihi quoque faves, non quod proleus sum, sed quod tibi persuisum sit his prædicum esse me. Certe rectis studiis, præsertim ea que ad veram faciunt pietatem, provehere semper conatus sum, sed utram perinde feliciter, ac sedulo. Mundus respicit velut ex altissimo fomno expurgatorem: & tamen pertinacibus animis alioque repugnant quidam, veterem incertiam suam manibus pedibusque, ac moribus etiam, retinentes. Sed hos pudebat assensum suæ, si viserit fumos Reges, ac Regum Proceres amplecti, fovere, tueri meliores literas. O mira rerum humanarum vicissitudines! olim literarum ardor perennis religionis profuditores erat, nunc illa magna ex parte, ventri, luxu, pecunie que vacatibus, amor eruditionis ad Principes profanos, ac proceres aulicos demergit. Nam que schola, quod monasterium usquam tam multos habet insigni probitate, doctrinaque præditos, quam vestra habet aula! An non optimo jure nos nostri pudeat? Sacerdotum ac Theologorum convivia nudent violentia, scurrilibus oppulentur joci, tumultu parum sobrio peritrepere, violentis oblectationibus latent: & ad Principum mensis modeste disputatur de his, que ad eruditionem ac pietatem faciunt. Nimirum ad optimi Regis exemplum properant omnes, cujus ut exterarum illas dotes omittam, que sic habet cum aliis Regibus communes, ut perisque præcærat, nulla sit inferior: quid illo ad disputandum argotius, ad inveniendum scilicet, ad iudicandum sanius, ad eloquentium venustius? Olim oculi literarumque dulcedine captus, ab aula Regum abhorrebam: At in istam aulam, vel cum tota suppellectile, que fere chartacea est, liberet immigrare, ni valetudinis imbecillitas, & ætas jam ingrevescentis distulderet. Ubi nunc sunt que patiantur, Principum vigori officere literarum cognitionem? Quis Henrico aulico, vel in bellicis rebus dexterior, vel in concendis legibus conditor, vel in consiliis oculator, vel in concordia secularium licentia vigilantior, vel in deligendis magistratibus, atque officis diligentior, vel in concilianda fidei Regibus efficacior? Equidem autem quoddam seculum extorri video, quo mihi fortassis non continget frui, quippe qui iam ad fabule mex catastrophem accedam: gratulos tamen orbi, gratulos juvenibus, in quorum animis ob officiorum memoriam utenque superbescit Erasmi. Sed ut finiam, ornativissime Horace, redimo te amantem, proque officis in me tuis, non vulgaribus, hoc majorem habeo gratiam, quod ea præsteris nullo unquam a me, cessum officio. Generosa domina marci tibi, mihi uno, atque altero colloquio cognita, precor omnia læta prosperaque. Hinc animum tibi, te nobis ferret Opt. Max. Iesus. Hinc Erasmi pergit humanitas inter suos clientulos poneret, studio certe nulli cessuram. Antuerpiæ 15 Marti, Anno 1519.

EPISTOLA CCCCLXXV.

Erasmo Henrico Gulstordo, res Epistolarum Regis præfata. S.

Vides, ornativissime Gulstordo, virtute nihil amabilius, que sic omnium animos ad se pellicat, ut nulla incantatio possit efficacia. Si quidem fragrantia honestissimæ famæ, que noster Regem, omnibus absoluti Principis dotibus egregie cumulatum, & huic familiarum Reginum, tot antæper integris, eruditiss, gravibus, constantiss, vitis abundant, Principem Erasmi, virum in primis prudentem, hoc est, a tergo pariter atque a fronte oculatum, excitavit, ut Antonium nam nimirum ex liberis, quæ natura videtur genosæ virtuti, non alteri scholis tradendum iudicaret: unde rediret, non solum innotesceret ab his vitis, quibus fere sunt obnoxio magnatum aule, verum etiam in virtutibus instructus, que tam clara sermone, tantique negotiorum molibus, ad qua hinc dicitur vocabatur, digne sint. Nihil enim si tibi juvenem commendem. Ea est indoles, ea morum suavitas, in pudor ac probitas, ut optimum quæque prostratus in sui amorem rapturus sit. Atque hic quoque sentio mihi Rhamnusia inferentem. Ante complures annos & Regis benignitas, & Cardinalis Eboracensis humanitas, me ad aule consortium non fecerit invitare, eodem provocavit Gualterus Monasterii fidele semper, & amicum consilium. Sed mihi licet mens erat, surdo carcebat fabula, Sciebam haud ullam usquam aulam ista esse incorruptiorum, at quis divinate poterat Principis domum tale matatum domicilium futurum? Nunc id Consilium sequat oportet, quod dant ætas ac valetudo. Vobis inrem gratulabor istam felicitatem, quando meam infelicitatem deplorare, nihil attulerit fructus. Bene vale, vir ornativissime. Lovanio 18 Octob. An. 1519.

7 Pat. 12 H. 8. p. 2. 12 Febr.

7 Rym. vol. 13. p. 767.

11 Pat. 14 H. 8. p. 2.

nances granted to him and his Heirs Males, and the Farm of ¹ Eltham, and other Places for 40 Years. A Licence was granted to him and ² George Guldeford Esq; for the King's Body, to export One Hundred Woollen Cloths, and in 16th he had the Park of ³ Northfryth in Kent, with other Lands given him in Tail Male, and upon the Surrender of his ⁴ Patent of Stand-bearer, that Office was conferred upon Sir Ralph Egerton, and Sir Edward Goldeford for their Lives, in which ⁵ Year the above-mention'd Mannors of Hampton in Arderne and Dyker, the Mannor of Hadlow in Kent, and the Kings Park of Northfryth were granted to him and Mary his then Wife, and to the Heirs Males of their Bodies. In the 17th he was made one of the ⁶ Chamberlains of the Exchequer, and in the next Year elected into this Order. In the great Cafe of the ⁷ Divorce his Evidence was only upon the Article of publick Report, and that the Form of Stipulation, or the Contract of Marriage used in this Kingdom, was in Words De Presenti, of this later every Person could give Testimony, since that Part was in the English Language, though the Office of Matrimony was in Latin: He among others subscribed the ⁸ Articles exhibited against Cardinal Wolfey, and he averred in ⁹ Parliament, That being one of the Executors of Sir William Compton's Will, the Probate could not be obtained from the Cardinal, and the Archbishop of Canterbury, till One Thousand Marks had been paid; he was one of the ¹⁰ Knights who in that Parliament subscribed the Letter to the Pope, and on 23 Apr. 23 Hen. VIII. he with others had the Office of ¹¹ Constable of Leeds, and on the 7 of May was one of the Nominators in the Scrutiny for an Election into this Order, and died in that ¹² Year being about forty four Years Old.

And on the 12th of June the ¹³ Sovereign advertized the Companions of his Death, that they might cause Masses and Suffrages for his Soul according to the Tenour of the Statutes. His Stall continued empty till 27 Off. 24 H. VIII. when Philip Chabot Earl of Newblanch was elected thereto. The Collar of this Order of our Knight was after his Death returned to the ¹⁴ Master of the Jewel-House, who by the King's Command delivered it to the Duke of Suffolk in recompence of one borrowed from him at Calis and given to this Chabot then Admiral of France.

- ¹ Pat. 14 H. 8. p. 2.
² Priv. Sigil. 6 Febr.
³ Pat. 16 H. 8. p. 2. 15 July.
⁴ Pat. 16 H. 8. p. 2. 13 Sept.
⁵ Bill. Signar.
⁶ Bill. Sign. 26 Apr.
⁷ Herb. Hist. p. 271, 273.
⁸ Ibid. p. 302.
⁹ Ibid. p. 324.
¹⁰ Ibid. p. 334.
¹¹ Pat. de dict. ann.
¹² Vinc. n. 40.
¹³ Titus A. 7. in bibl. Cotton.

God to call unto his infinite Mercy Sir Henry Guldeford late one of the Companions of the Noble Order of the Garter, we therefore advertise you thereof to inhibit you may with convenient diligence cause such masses and suffrages to be done and said for his Soules health, as by the Statutes of the said Order ye be bounden in that behalf. Given under the Signet of the said Garter at our Mannor of Eltham the xii. day of June.

To our right trusty and welbeloved Counsellour and Counsellour the Erle of Essex one of the Companions of the noble Order of the Garter.

HENRY,
 Right trusty and right welbeloved We greet you well, and forasmuch as that is bath pleased Almighty

¹⁴ Comp. Tho. Cromwell 24 H. 8. in offic. Jocal.

Our Knight was twice married but left no Issue. His first Lady was Mary Daughter of Sir Thomas Brian, and the second Mary Daughter of Sir Robert Wotton, re married to Sir Garwen Carew.

His Picture drawn by the famous Hans Holbein remains in the Earl of Stafford's Gallery, whereof a Sculpture is exhibited in the Frontispiece of this Narrative, which hath this Inscription, Anno MCCCCXXVII atatis XL, Sir Henry Guilford Comptroller to King Hen. the VIII. On his Bonnet is a Badge which seems to represent a Sort of a Clock, having on each Side somewhat like two Hammers, and underneath a Carpenter's Square and Compass.

The Arms Or, a Saltire between four Martlets Sable, quartering those of Halden Argent, a Chief Sable surmounted by a Bend engrailed Gules, on the Center a Mullet Gules for Distinction, the Crest a Firebrand on a Wreath Silver and Gules, mantled Sable doubled Silver.

On the Crest, and in the first Coat on a Canton is the Augmentation, being the Arms of the Kingdom of Granada Argent a Pomegranet, the Shell open grained Gules, stalked and leaved proper, with which Fruit that Country abounds, prasinum malum punicum ramulo & foliis viridibus sustentatumicante cortice, granulis coccineis.

Either our Knight himself, or one of his Name, was the Principal * Benefactor to the Abbey of DURFORD, which is placed by the Monasticon in Hampshire, which may be a Mistake for Suffex.

As the Conferring of Knighthoods, so the Concessions of Arms and Augmentations have been allowed to be universal, and Sovereign Princes to reward the Vertues and Merits of Foreigners, or as Instances of their particular Favours, have granted them the Honour of bearing their Arms either entire, or the most considerable Figure thereof to be used singly, quarterly, or on some eminent Part of the Escutcheon. The * Examples in Foreign Kingdoms, and even in Republicks are too numerous to be inserted, so that it is no ways singular that the whole Arms of Granada in a Canton should be granted to our Knight, as those of Sicily were at the same Time given to Sir Wiston Browne, the last Instance of this Nature probably to an English Man was the Concession made by Y Gustavus Adolphus in 1627, to Henry St. George an Herald then knighted by him, who had a Grant to bear a Canton, Cum tribus insuper Coronis flavis regnorum nostrorum insignis. Foreign Princes have gone further by adopting Persons into their * Surnames as well as Arms. But the Editor doth not at present recollect any Record whereby our Kings gave Liberty to Foreigners to bear their whole Arms, the usual Method being of affixing some Badges or Principal Part of the Arms of the Crown, however some u See Menestrier Orig. des Arm. p. 237. Orig. des Ornaments des Armoires p. 363. Le labourer Orig. des Arm. p. 39. Campanile dell Insigne p. 256. Speneri Theoria Insign. p. 55. Du Tillet recueil, p. 320. Wicquet: Ambass. p. 450. Daniel de la milice France. vol. 2 p. 557, &c. Every one knows the Instance of the Grant made to Bartholus the Civilian.

x Mon. Anglic. vol. 1. p. 545.

y Selden's Titles of Honour, p. 381.

z Zuzzerza della Nobilita dell Italia in Bevilacqua. Lellis Famiglie di Napoli, p. 215. Guichenon Preuves de l. hist. Gen. de Savoie, p. 647, &c. The Collector hath seen the Copy of a like Grant, by the King of Scotland in 1520, to Balthazar Tued of Piedmont, to whom the Duke of Albany afterwards granted the Lion of Scotland during the Minority of Queen Mary in 1515.

Foreigners have born them entire. The Learned ^a Dufresne acquaints us that our Rich. I. gratified Geoffry de Joinville for his signal Services at the Siege of Acon, with the uncommon Honour of empaling or demidating his Arms, which is only inserted out of Deference to the immense Learning of that Author; for doubtless it hath no better Foundation than common Tradition, and if that Family did ever use the three Leopards of England Passant Guardant (for such^b they have been frequently

^a Narr. at the End of History of Joinville.

^b As the French Authors have converted whether their Arms are the Heats of Javelots or Fleams de Lis, and if the latter, whether those Fleams were of the Kind called Lis, or otherwise plain Lilies of the Valley; so it seems a Conjecture of the like Difficulty arise about the Arms of this Kingdom, whether they were Lions or Leopards. Upon de re milit. p. 125. determines positively for the former, and in support thereof gives a Romanistick Deduction of the Arms born by several of our Kings from Brute. There is however a Manuscript of this Book, in which the Arms of Queen Anne are Mazoned Leopards by Richard II. Vinc. MS. in Off. Arm. n. 444. This Author, according to the Degree of Learning in his Time labours this Point, and the Occasion of his Zeal in this particular appears in p. 175. That he had been provoked by several disgraceful Reproaches, which he had heard in Siege to be hung upon Hen. V. by reason of bearing Leopards, and on the good Lady his Mother. He doth not explain in this Place in what Manner these Reproaches were drawn from Leopards, but we know it was a tain gravelle Concili in that Age that our Arms contain a concealed Hieroglyphick Signification of the Qualities, or some remarkable Circumstance of the Bearer, which the Devins run through that Work. 'Tis not surprising such Nivions should then prevail, since we know a more innumerable Folly in later Times, when Predictions of future Events to the Bearer of Arms descended to them from their Ancestors were drawn from them; a Detraction prohibited by Stat. 33 H. 8. c. 12. 4. and 5 Ed. 6. c. 15. and 5 Eliz. c. 15. which lay a severe Penalty in those who make such fantastical Propositions upon or by occasion of any Arms, Fields, Banners, Badges, or the Things accustomed to Arms, Ornaments, or Signes. Now this Author, p. 148. saith, That Leopards born for Arms imports that the first Affaire was begun in Adultery, and thence probably the Story against Hen. V. and his Mother were fetched out the greatest Rascality. He writes under Hen. VI. and the Nature of the present Subject may be an Apology in support of Conjectures, that since Leon d'Or was in that Reign a Pursuivant to the Lord Dudley, while Leopards was an Herald to that King, that the Leopard and not the Lion d'Or was taken by the Herald, who was to be competent Judge, to be the Companion or Principal Part of the Bearing of that King. No great Weight will be laid on this Supposition, though it is well known that it was the Practice of that Age to denigrate the Officers frequently from the Arms or Badges of their Families. Leopard Herald then had a Salary from the Crown, Rymet, vol. 10. p. 505. 506. Leon d'Or was an Officer in that Reg. Cam. Pell. p. 24. H. 6. Leon d'Or pursuivant nullo cum Ambassiatoribus Regis versus armenicum suum de Francia &c. and at that Time the Lord Dudley, afterwards a Companion of this Order (whose Arms were Or, a Lion Rampant Vert) was one of the Ambassadors sent thither. Rymet, vol. 12. p. 138. 152; 161. and this Officer is in the Manuscript, which contains the Ceremonial of the Duel betwixt Chalons and Du Breuil performed in France in 25 H. 6. expressly judic. Profes- vani in this noble Lord. See berostes in the Surrection of Garter. Let us now weigh the Authorities on both Sides.

On behalf of the Lions it may be alleged, when Henry I. laid the Gentry of Anjou upon his Marriage with his Daughters, there were put in a Shield golden Lions about his Neck, and the same upon his Coat. Richard the First, before he came to the Throne being in the French Wars, is described with the Emblems of Lyons on his Shield, for the Duke of Bar in his Speech. — Ritus agnoscit Leonum Illius in Guto. Brito Philippidis l. 3. p. 308. He is the first of our Kings who bore Arms in his Shield upon his Seal. That used by him before his Expedition to the Holy Land exhibits only the Dexter Half of it, which shews one Lion (as it hath been called Rampant); and Sir Henry Spelman, Asul. p. 26. conjectures that we should imagine another Lion to be covered from our View, so that his whole Arms were then two Lions combatant. There hath been lately published a contemporary Writer, who proves it as in the Copyscript, " Res illustres infidelit se fellae. — Parce postioribus hinc ansae fese te spicantibus hinc hinc leonibus, singularium pedum anteriorum versus alterum tanquam ad lacerandum porrectis. Vincul. Hist. He- rofol. From this History Spelman conceives he had the Subriquet of Cor Leonis: Another Author supposes on the Reverse, that he took these Arms from the Subriquet, as he saith that Loys le Jeune, about the same Time, took the Lis or Lilie with the like Allusion to his Name, Menestrier Orig. des Arms p. 216. These Conjectures both concur that his Arms were Lions, and it was this Author's reward with him Joy, He was Corde Leonino, Brito Philippidis l. 4. v. 398. Leonem & pluvium Leonem Gir. Cambre. which Knighton, Col. 240; 36. writes he deserved by his Courage, but in Col. 2177. he enters into with an incredible Story that his King had the Appellation of Cor Leonis because during his Captivity he threw his Hand down the Tower of an hungry Lion (as he says he drove him and placed on his Heart and did on it. The like Romance hath been given for the Title of Leo attributed to his Brother in Law Henry Duke of Bavaria and Saxony, which Cranzias Saxon. l. 6. c. 34. hath judiciously exposed, see Schutzschickius de Henrico Leone, p. 575.

But if the Arms of Richard I. were esteemed to be Lions in that Age, yet Heraldry was then in its Infancy, and probably not settled into a Science; but since the Rules of Blazoning became fixed, it was no longer an Herald to denote from thence. M. Paris, who died in 1250, and hath drawn the Coats of Arms of the Nobility in his Original Manuscript, is very express, Hist. p. 416. That the Emperor Frederick the III. bore three Leopards, in signum regaliae Clypeus, in quo tres Leopards transientes figurantur, in the Reign of his Son Ed. I. at the Battle of Fairbairn in 1200. Peter de Langtoft, as translated in 12 E. 3. Thus saith Kynges Sancte rampant thre Lebarres. MS. in bibl. Inter. Templa.

frequently blazoned) it must have been upon the Grounds of an unaccountable Anticipation, for that King did not bear his Arms in that Manner till after his Return from the Holy Land. The same Learned Author saith, That Aeneas Silvius, afterwards Pope Pius II, wrote to Adam Moulins, Secretary of the King of England, in favour of the Emperor's Secretary, that he might have the Privilege of bearing that King's Arms: Its left to the Reader to judge whether there was any other Intention than to have the Liberty of bearing the Badge, Livery, or Collar.

The

Thus the Antient Poem in bibl. Cotton. of the Arms of those who attended the Siege of Caerlaveroc in 1200, speaking of King Ed. 1.

En sa baniere trois Leoparde,
De or & de sur eschequette,
Couverte d'ellout, fier, & harouge &c.

And of John Duke of Britaigne,

Baniere avoit cointe & parce
De or & de sur eschequette,
Au rouge Ourle o James lapars
Determiné estoit la quatre pars.

And the Stat. 28 E. 1. c. 20. appoints, That Vests of Gold and Silver should be Marked with the Leopard's Head: This was afterwards enjoined to be observed by the Goldsmiths. Vast. 18 H. 6. m. 10. in which Year the Gold Coins were impressed with a Leopard, tria genera auri, quorum primum impressum duobus Leopardis, secundum cum uno Leopardo, & tertium cum unum beaume. Clauf. 18 E. 3. p. 1. m. 11. The Black Prince by his Will orders, That there be placed on his Tumb, under his Effigies, Nostrre beaume de Leopard Regis, Sudbury, p. 90. and what his Widow hath said in her Will may be seen in Dodd. 2 Vol. Baron. p. 94. The Poem of his Life writ by Chandon Herald, who lived in his Time, intrencheth him among the Advice of his Knights, whether it was proper to make an Expedition into Spain. MS. prim. G. Clerk. L. L. D.

Que le Leopardez et leur compaignie
Se deployerent en Espagne &c.

In the Ballad upon the Battle of Poitiers

Scutis Edwardi sic flos fit amote Leopardi.

To which the Countess Beland

Et fuit Edwardo cum flore frui Leopardo.

Contm. Merimouth, p. 129, 112. The Dukes of Lancaster gave the Church of Lincoln a Chevalerie with Orfury of Gold with Leopards, Mon. Angl. vol. 3. p. 278. and Edmund of Langley Duke of York desires by his Will to be buried with Leopards and Leopard's Heads, Dodd. 2 Vol. Bar. p. 157. In the Reign of Rich. II. there are Records which blazon his Arms and Crest. He grants to Peter de Mandell Arms de Goules cum tribus Leopardis de auro, quolibet eorum portante quandam coronam de Arma circa colum ad differentiam armorum infantum & filiorum Regis, Pat. 13 R. 2. m. 15. and he recites the Rights of the Earl Marshal, Ad portandum pro Crisfa sui unum Leopardum de auro cum uno labello albo, qui de jure esset Crisfa filii nostri primogeniti, in quem processerunt: And Froiss. vol. 4. p. 188. acquaints us, That, ibi King deservoured the Arms of England, C'est a entendre les Deques — les prius celles du Roy Edward qui est Saint. And the French Gentleman who wrote his Life in Prose and Verse, En ce faisant le Roy, qui les Leopards porte en blason. Bibl. Harley 66. C. 25. John Gower, in his Poem, denounces the Noblemen who conspired against Rich. II. from their Arms and Badges. Liber. A. 4. p. 101. Luc. Rex Ricardus lepus est, & non Leopardus, and at the End of his Confessio Amantis. See Seld. Notes on Polyan. p. 182. Hen. V. is described by his Taber at Agincourt Tres Leopards auri in 290 Insuperientes purpuras apparatum regium non modicum solemnizant, Elham in Bibl. Harley 62. B. 5. and his Treatise were embelished with Lillies & Leopards, Livius in vita H. 5. p. 77.

Alain Chartier Hist. de Ch. 7. p. 3. and the Author of la Mer des Hist. c. 125. describes the Inscriptions of the Great Seal of Hen. 6. to be quarterly Lillies and Leopards, and the former, p. 24. acquaints us, That the Leopards were part of the Impress on his Money coined in France. This King grants in the College of St. Mary, and St. Nicholas in Cambridge, Parcels armorum que nobis in regnis Anglie & Francie jure debentur regio, in summo loco cari statutus, partium principis de exoco cum Francorum flore cleo rubeo cum pedante Leopardo. Cart. 27 H. 6. n. 37. and the same Year in his College of Eaton, with some Variation, Cart. 27 H. 6. n. 38. and the Leopard's Head was ordered to be in the Mark on Silvers, St. 2 H. 6. c. 14. which was re-constituted by St. 7. E. 4. c. 1. which King granted to Lewis Gruthuse, when he created John Earl of Winchester, D'aur a six mailles d'or en ensme d'ong Caron de nostre propre d' Engleterre, cellaivoit de Goules un Leopard pillant d'or en ensme d'aur. To these Testimonies may be added the Attribution of some very Ancient Writers; That of the Author of L. Abne des Barbares is quoted by Upton, p. 125. in his 125th Chapter, La Beur de l'ya point l'obel de France et le Jeyrant pour l'ostial d'Angleterre, and the famous Christine de Pise, who lived in the Reign of Char. V. of France, Doffine. Gloss. vol. 1. p. 165. Bibl. Reg. n. 1301. The Ancient MS. which Jenning's Repository of Arms, Le Roy d' Engleterre porte de Groules a trois leopardes pillantz d'or, and that he uses the Arms of Denmark to be Leopards, and those of Spain, Armenia, Cyprus, Norway and Bohemia to be Lions pillant d'or. Hence the Reader will determine, whether the augmentation given to the Venetian Ambassadors Gjustinian, Valeressini, and Sr. Jerom Lando, as likewise to Sr. Peter Paul Reubens, &c. were rightly bestowed, the former having Leonem Anglichem granted, and the latter, Unum de Leonibus nostris Anglia. The Writers on Heraldry contend, that where both Eyes appear, the Blazon should be by the third Lion, and where only one Eye is seen, it is to be called a Leopard, though Upton, p. 147. dissent, to name himself conspire with his former Opinion; some Writers to compose this Difference have found a Distinction by adding a further Term, either Lion Leoparde, or Leopard Lion. & Dikert. 25. sur Jouvarde.

The Words in his ^d Epistle dated 23 Oct. 1444 (23 H. 6.) are, Aeneas Silvius Imperialis Secretarius Reverendo patri Adæ de Mulin Apostolicæ sedis Prothonotario, ac Serenissimi Regis Angliæ Secretario S. P. D. Cum lator presentium probus ad te venturum se diceret, hanc brevem Epistolam statim ad te mittere. Verum quia nulla petitio amici causa refutanda est, cum litteratus vir, magnâq; virtute præditus Michael Pollentorius Secretarius Imperialis mihi amantissimus inigne Serenissimi Principis Regis vestri deferre cupiat, sitq; hoc munere dignissimus, te precor, hortor, obtestorq; ut hoc sibi apud regiam Majestatem impetratum reddas, litteras mihi transmittas regias, per quas ei hoc ferre liceat.

The Family of ^e Leirva in Spain have born the English Leopards, which they say is in Vertue of the Marriage of their Ancestor Sanchius Martinez de Leirva with Isabel a natural Daughter of the Royal Founder of this Order, which Lady hath not been named (if the Collector's Memory doth not fail him) in the English Genealogies. The Family of ^f Goulaime in Bretagne have born the Leopards dimidiated with the Arms of France, said to be granted by both Kings to one of them in recompense for the Negotiating a Peace between them, and the Precedency being in this Coat given to the Arms of England, Le ^g Laboureur takes Pains to remove that Difficulty.

There is a Mistake in the Print of the foregoing Page, in the Metal of the Field of the Coat, and of the Wreath, which may be easily rectified by inspecting the Plate, as also in the Mantlings which are Gules doubled Silver, double tasselled Or.

^d Edit. 1483; per Joh. de Weffalia in Universitate Lovan.

^e Spener Theor. Infig. p. 55.

^f Du'Paz. Geneal. de Bretagne. Menefrier Orig.
des Arm. p. 238.

^g Orig. des Arm. n. 5c.

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of

Sir Richard Carew.

AFTER the Death of Sir Henry Guildford, the Earl of Newblanch was elected to this Stall on the 28th of Oct. 24 H. VIII. upon whose Translation Sir William Fitz-Williams was removed hither, who being again translated from it, Sir Nicholas Carew number'd 297, was on the 23d Apr. 28th H. VIII. after a Scrutiny, declared by the Sovereign most worthy to be elected, in regard (as the Black-book words it) of the Majority of Votes, the Eminency of his Extraction, his own

Fame, and the many and noble Actions he had performed, which ample Declaration was unanimously applauded by the Knights Companions, and being thereon conducted into the Chapter-house to receive his Investiture, he returned infinite Thanks to the Sovereign and Companions for the great Honour done him, who esteemed himself most unworthy of it, declaring, That his Preference to other Persons, much more deserving than himself, was not to be attributed to his Merits or Actions, but solely owing to the Sovereign's Bounty, and the Favour of the Companions, and a Warrant being signed for his ^b Robes, he was ^c installed on 21 May, at St. George's Feast following.

This eminent Testimony of his Descent, and the Lustre of his Genealogy, will justify the enlarging on some Particulars thereof. He was indeed only the Heir of a younger Branch of the Family of Carew, which had seated itself at Bedington in Surrey, where it had flourished a long Time, especially (as Mr. ^d Cambden saith) after [Sir] James Carew had married the Daughter and Heiress of the Noble Baron Hoo.

Nicholas Carew, the Ancestor of this Line of Bedington, was third Son of Sir Nicholas of Deconshire by Amicia the Sister and Heiress of John Peverell of Ermington in that County, on whom ^e Reimund de Carew, in 43 E. III, settled the Mannors of Bedynton magna, Portlee and Brightwell in Surrey, Berks, and Oxon, and he was made Keeper of the Privy-Seal, on 27 July 45 E. III, and had free Warren granted him in the 8 Villages of Croydon, Bedington, and other Places in Surrey and Berks, and this Nicholas, or rather his Son, was ^b Knight of the Shire for Surrey in 1 R. II.

Anne ⁱ Boufledé, Cousin and Coheir of Sir Thomas Huscarl, in the third Year, grants to Nicholas Carreu the Elder, and his Heirs, her Right in the Mannors of Purle magna in Berks and in Bedington, and in the Advowson of the free Portion in the said Church; in the next Year this Nicholas released his Right in divers Lands that were formerly Sir Thomas Huscarl's, and ^k Nicholas, Son of Nicholas de Carew, confirmed the same, and in the Year following ^l Maud, Widow of William Syndlesham, released to Nicholas de Carreu and his Son Nicholas, all her Right to the Mannor of Bedynton and the Advowson thereof. The King confirms the Release of the Mannor of Parrock made by this ^m Nicholas to Sir Simon de Burley, being a great Benefactor (fructuosissimus ⁿ amator, as the Terms are) to the Abbey of St. Albans, was in 1387 admitted with his Son Nicholas into the Benefits of the Fraternity of that Monastery: He was Examined in the ^o Case of Alice Pervers, and dying ^p seized of several Lands in the aforesaid Counties, and in that of Kent left his Son Nicholas his ^b In offic. mague Garderobx.

Per narram' apud Grenewiche dat. 1 May 21 H. 8. pro Nich. Carewe mil. ordinis Garter.

PRO xxii. virg. velvet crimfin pro una toga & uno capucio pretii cuiuslibet virg. xviii.
Pro xvi virg. Taffata alb. pro linura ejusd.
Pro xvi virg. Velvet blod. pro un. mantell pretii cuiuslibet xviii.
Pro xviii virg. Taffata alb. pro linura ejusd.
Pro xviii unc. dim. seric. blod. pro Laquez ktopes Button & Tassels pro eidem robis ad xvi d. le unc.
Pro xviii unc. di. auri pro eadem causa ad v s. le unc.

Pro vi Buttons magn. de auro pro eidem laquez iiiii s.

Sum Lxvi l. xixs. iij d. nova empla.

^c Lib. Nig. Gart.
^d Britannia in Surrey.
^e Pat. 6 H. VIII. p. 2. per innotescimus.
^f Pat. 45 E. 3. vide Kymer, vol. 6, p. 742, 747. vol. 7, p. 19, 82, 122.
^g Cart. 48 ad 51 E. 3. n. 20.
^h Claus. 1 R. 2. m. 22 d.
ⁱ Claus. 3 R. 2. m. 40 d.
^k Claus. 3 R. 2. m. 16 d.
^l Claus. 4 R. 2. m. 36.
^m Pat. 7 R. 2. p. 1.
ⁿ Nove D. 7. p. 157. Bibl. Cotton.
^o Parl. 1 R. 2. n. 41.
^p Elch. 14 R. 2.

his Heir then 28 Years Old, who in 16 R. II, paid his ⁹ Relief for the Mannors of Bedington and Hufcarle, and for a Portion of the Church of Bedington held of the Honour of Wallingford, &c. He was Knight of the ^r Shire for Surrey in the Parliaments 17, 18 and 20 R. II, of whom by the ^s Title of Nicholas Carreu de Bedyngton, there are many Deeds enrolled touching the Mannors of Maycham, Malemeins, Nutfeild, &c. and who held ^t Great Maytham in Benenden in Kent, and by the Title of *Nicholas * de Carreu Armiger de Bedyngton*, made in 3 H. V, a Feoffment of Messuages in London, which his Father Nicholas had by Letters Patents from Edw. III, of whom there are Deeds enrolled on the Clofe-Rolle 9 H. V. touching Maychame and Malemeins, with a Chantery in Kent, and of the Mannors of Nutfeild with the Advowson, Carshalton, Norbury, and severall other Places; and having married Luce, Daughter and Heirels of Richard de Willeby Relict of Sir Thomas Hufcarle, ^x died the 4th of Sept. in the 11th of Hen. VI, leaving Nicholas his Son and Heir, who in his Father's Life-time, being then an Esquire, served in the ^y Voyage into France, and in his ^z Will made on Tuesday before St. Bartholomew's Day 1432, and proved on the 9th of Sept. following, mentions his Mother Lucia, his two Wives Isabel and Murcia, constituting the latter his Executrix, and devises Legacies to his Son Nicholas, and lies buried under a Monument in the Church at Bedyngton, where the Inscription informs us, He died full of Years on the 4th of Sept. 1432. The Surname of his first Wife Isabell doth not appear to the Collector, but Murcia Daughter of *Stephen * Heyme* was his second Lady, in or before the 10th of Hen. VI, when by a ^b Fine he settled on her, and the Heirs Males of her Body by him to be begotten, the Mannors of Maytham and Stoke, with the Advowson of the Chantery there, the Mannors of Purle, Salbam and Hyde in Essex, the Mannors of Brandon, Cressalton, and Nutfeild in Surrey, and for this Lady Henry Sever Doctor of Divinity by his ^c Will 4 July 1471, order'd an Obit to be for ever observed in Merton College in Oxford.

Nicholas his Son was ^d Sheriff of Surrey and Suffex for one Year from Michaelmas 27 H. VI, and out of the Issues thereof was ordered to pay the Master of the Buck-Hounds, and having married Margaret Daughter of Sir Roger Fenis, made his ^e Will in 1456, proved in 1458, and therein Margaret his Wife his Executrix devising Bedington, and several other Mannors to Nicholas his Eldest Son, and to the Heirs of his Body, and for want thereof to James his Second Son, which Eldest Son died ^f seized of Bedington, Hufcarle, Kershalton, and Nutfeild, leaving by Margaret Daughter of Edward Langford another Nicholas his Son then three Years Old, and three Daughters, but after the Death of the said Nicholas the Son,

9 Pach. Fin. 16 R. 2. in Saecar.
 r Claus. 17 R. 2. m. 9. dorfo Claus. 18 R. 2.
 m. 6d. Claus. 20 R. 2. p. 2. m. 2d.
 f Claus. 9 H. 5.
 i Philpot's Kent. p. 71.
 * Madox Form. Anglic. n. CCCxliii x Efc. XI. H. 6.
 y Indent. in off. Pall.

z Lib. Luffenam in Off. Prærog. Cant. p. 124 a Vinc. Baron. MS. in Off. Arm. p. 242 b b Claus. 10 H. 6. in dorfo.
 c Warty's in Cur. Prærog. Cant. p. 19.
 d Priv. Sig. 2 March 28 H. 6.
 e Liber Sinton in Cur. Prærog. p. 94.
 f Efc. 6 E. 4.

Son, Bedington, &c. came to the said James his Uncle though the ^s three Sisters of the said Nicholas laid claim thereto, who ^b died 8 H. VII, and left by Elizabeth, ⁱ Daughter and Coheir of the Lord Hoo, Sir Richard his Son, created a Banneret at Blackbeath, Sheriff of Surrey in 1501, to whom in the 19th Year the King ^k grants the Stewardship of the Mannor of Walton upon the Hill in Surrey, who was made ^l Lieutenant of Calis by Hen. VII, and continued in that honourable Post under Hen. VIII, to whom, and to Dame Matilda his Wife, Thomas Marquess of Dorset ^m granted all his Lands in Calis, and the Marches thereof, for their Lives, and in the 5th of H. VIII, that King was pleased to grant the ⁿ Lieutenantancy of Calis to him and Nicholas his Son during the Life of the longest Liver of them, and having been Sheriff of Surrey and Suffex in 17 H. VII, made his ^o Will on 10th of May 1520, proved in 1522, therein mentioning his Lady Molyn (who ^p was Daughter of Robert Oxenbridge of Forden in Suffex) and devising his Lands in Surrey, Suffex, Lincoln, Effex and Guifnes to Nicholas his Son, who was afterwards our Knight of the Garter, died on 23d of May 1520, as appears from the broken Inscription on the Tomb for him and his Lady still remaining at Bedington.

The Reader will observe that his Election into this Order was 24 Apr. 28 H. VIII, which was a very short Time before the Arraignment of Queen Anne Bolein, who being descended likewise from the ^q Lord Hoo by another Daughter, was nearly related to our Knight; but 'tis probable the King's Affection might be alienated from this Queen before this Time, since he gave Orders for her Restraint to her Chamber on the First of May.

This is the State of his Pedigree of our Knight from the Time of the Settlement at Bedington, but doubtless the Eminency of his Extraction mentioned as one of the Inducements for his Election had a View also to his Ancestors of the chief Line from whom he descended, which can be deduced from the Conquest with proper Vouchers.

In the first place it will be necessary to insert a ^r Record which points out the Period when this Sirname was taken; by it King John confirms to William de Carrio the Mannour of Molesford in Berkshire, originally granted by Hen. I, Son of the Conqueror, to Girald Fitz-Walter, Grandfather of Odo, Father of this William de Carrio.

Here is an ample Voucher of the Antiquity of this Sirname of Carrew, and their lineal Descent from Girald Fitz-Walter, together with their early Possession of Molesford, which continued in this Family from Father to Son till the Reign of Hen. VII, as may be seen in the Inquisitions.

Giraldus

^g Orig. 1 H. 7.

^h Ffc. 8 H. 7. n. 94. Orig. 8 H. 7. Rot. 8.

ⁱ Dugd. Bar. vol. 2. p. 234.

^k Pat. 19 H. 7.

^l Rymer, vol. 13. p. 232, 208, 310.

^m Cart. 1 H. 8. penes Comitum Salopiz.

ⁿ Bill. signat. 20 Nov. 5 H. 8.

^o Lib. Fodfeld in Cur. Prærog. Qu. 2.

^p Lib. A. vi. penes me, p. 234. b.

^q Dugd. 2 Vol. Baron. p. 234.

^r Pat. 14 Johannis. Sciatis quod reddidimus & hac carta nostra confirmavimus Willmo de Carrio manerium de Moleford cum pertinentiis suis, quod Henricus Rex Avus Regis Henrici Patris nostri dedit Geraldo filio Walteri Avo Odonis patris predicti Willmi de Carrio. Teneendum eidem Willmo & heredibus suis de nobis & heredibus nostris per servitium unius militis, &c. Datum per manus magnifici Richardi de Marisco Archidiaconi Northumb. apud Wellmon. 25 Mar Anno Regni nostri 14.

Giraldus Cambrensis ¹ was about 20 Years old when he studied in Paris at the Time of the Birth of Philip the August, which being in 1166, he was born about 1146 (11th of King Stephen) and he tells us that he himself was the fourth Son of William de Barri by Ankareth Daughter of Girald Fitz-Walter, and Nesla Daughter of Refus Prince of South-wales, who were also the Father and Mother of William de Carrio Father of Odo (Father of William de Carrio to whom this Confirmation was made) and therefore he calls this Odo ² Consobrinum suum his Mother's Brother's Son.

This Appellation of Fitz-Walter mentioned in the Record and this Historian was given to this Gerald Castellán of Pembroke, because he was a ³ younger Son of Walter Fitz-Other Castellán of Windsor, mention'd in Domesdaye, and therefore Cambrensis calls him ⁴ Giraldus de Windesora, and names his Son Willielmus filius ⁵ Geraldi de Pembroke, who was Father of Reimond le Groffe hereafter mentioned, and of this Odo, who according to the Custom of that Age nominated himself ⁶ Odo filius Willimi filii Geroldi, but at length fixed on the Sirname of Carrio, which he transmitted down to his Posterity, and which he assumed (not from Charru a Plough, as the Learned ⁷ Descendant from him conjectured but) from Kaerew a Word signifying in the British Language the ⁸ Ramparts of a Fortrefs, being the Name of a Castle in Pembroke the ⁹ Patrimony and Seat of this Family, and which continued in the Heir Male till the Reign of Hen. VIII, when Sir Edmund Carew Baron Carew mortgaged it to Sir Rhis ap Thomas Knight also of this Order, upon the Expedition to Therouenne, where being himself Master of the Ordnance, he had the Misfortune to be kill'd by a ¹⁰ Canon Ball the second Day after the Siege commenced.

This Odo surnamed sometimes de Carrio, notwithstanding the Grant of the Mannor of Molesford by Hen. I, met with Controversies from ¹¹ Geffery de Chaufe, who pretended some Title to it. Before this Sirname became steadily fixed, Richard the First granted the Mannor of Braunton in Devon, ¹² Odoni filio Willimi filii Geroldi, under an yearly Rent, and King John in his 5th Year grants to Robert de Sechevill the same Land that ¹³ Odo de Carrio held in Braunton, which shews the Identity of the Person, and probably this was after Odo's Death, which we shall immediately find must have happened before the 9th of that King, when his Son met with new Troubles about Molesford. However that may be, we learn from ¹⁴ Cambrensis that he certainly married the Daughter of Richard Fitz-Tancred, who

¹ MS. de Principis Instructione in Bibl. Cotton Julius B. 13.

² Anglia sacra, vol. 2. p. 468.

³ Dugd. 1 Vol. p. 509.

⁴ Apud Camdeni Britan. in Pembroke.

⁵ Anglia sacra, vol. 2. p. 482. Lib. Rub. in Scaca.

⁶ H. 2 Will. fil. Geroldi de Pembroke tenet Hermitage in Com. Berks.

⁷ Regr. de Reading in Bibl. Harley 92 C. 20.

⁸ p. 69.

⁹ Carew's Survey of Cornwall, p. 103.

¹⁰ Lihwyd's Addit. to Camd. Britan. p. 591.

¹¹ Camd. Britan. in Pembroke. Dugd. Warnickshire, p. 514. Leland's Itiner. vol. 4. E. 49.

¹² Holling. p. 8. 17 b. 10.

¹³ Placita de Ter. Mich. 6 R. 1. Rot. 3. Berks.

¹⁴ Odo de Kariou ponit Willielmum filium suum versus Gasfr. de Chaufe de placito terræ in Molesford.

¹⁵ E. Collett. Willielmi Pole mil.

¹⁶ Liber 5 Joh. m. 6. 19 Januarii Roberto de Sechevill terram quam Odo de Carrio tenuit de nobis in Braunton. Fin. 7 Joh. m. 4. Rob. de Sechevill dat.

¹⁷ L. marc. & un. palefrid. pro habenda terra, que fuit Odonis de Carriu in Braunton, &c.

¹⁸ Angl. Sacra, vol. 2. p. 468.

T E E

was a Man of Power in ⁱ Pembroke, her Christian Name might be ^k Margaret, and they had two Sons William and ^l Stephen.

This William finding Gilbert (probably Son of Geffery) de Canze had demanded Molesford by a Writ of Right, followed the Practice of that Age by giving ^m King John 40 Ounces of Gold that he might not be impleaded, and thereon obtained the above-mentioned memorable Confirmation of this Mannour. After the Death of his Uncle Reimond the Groffe, William Marshall seized on his Lands, and even of the Mansion or Castle de Carrio, which compelled him to apply by the same Method in paying the King 400 Marks for a Writ of Mort D'Ancestor, which is entered in the ⁿ Pipe Roll 15 Job. and relates to the Time of the Beginning of the Payment of that Summ, for the Composition was doubtless made in the former Year, when a Writ was issued to the Bailiff of ^o Glamorgan to deliver to him Dominiuum suum de Carrio. Harpeter gives a Fine for the Lands of this William ^p citra Mare Hibernicum, which strongly implies he had Lands in Ireland, where this Geraldine Family (as ^q Cambrensis names it) had a great Share, and probably these Lands might likewise come to him from his Uncle Reymond, who married ^r Basille the Sister of Richard Strongbowe, and might in all likelihood accompany him in the Expedition for the Conquest of Ireland: Whether this Oblation (as it was then called) of Harpeters was after the Death of this William de Carrio, and for the Custody of these Lands during the Minority of his Heir might be discovered from the Pipe Rolls, since William de Carrio had obliged himself to pay the 400 Marks in four Years next after the 15th of King John by even yearly Portions, and that it was so seems credible in that this same Harpeter, in 8 H. III, made a Composition for the ^s Fine which he should have paid King John for the Custody of the Lands and the Wardship of the Son and Heir of this William, whose Christian Name was Nicholas, of whom there are very few Materials, because he was thus in his Minority in 8 H. III, and died in or before the 12th Year of that King, when ^t Bertram de Crioil had Seisin of Molesford duⁱ Cowden's Britan. in Penbroch.

^k Lib. Rob. in Scacc. Bucks, Margaretta que fuit uxor Odonis filii Willielmi tenet unum feodum, &c. but it may be doubted whether this be the same Lady.

^l Regifir. Abb. S. Thome in Dublin Stephanus filius Odonis de Karru dat Ecclesiam de Trumore.

^m Fin. 9 Joh. m. 6 Willielmus de Carrio dat. 40. uncias auri quod non implacitur de terra sua de Molesford, vide Rot. Oblat. de dicto Anno Magn. Rot. Pip. x. Johannis apud Madox Hist. of the Exchequer, p. 311.

ⁿ Magn. Rot. 15. Joh. Rot. 5. Berkfir Willielmus de Cario debet 400 Marcas pro habenda seissina de Molesford cum pertinentiis in Com. de Berebfora & pro habenda ibid. Carta Regis, ut manerium illud tenere possit, sicut Antecessores sui teneverunt; Et pro habendo Brevis de Morte Antecessores versus Will. Marscallum de x libratibus terræ cum pertinentiis, quas clamat ex parte Reimundi Avunculi sui: & pro habenda Saisina Domus de Carrio. Et inde Regi obsequii de fideli servitio, de quibus debet reddere per Annum 100 Marc. Madox History of the Exchequer, p. 340.

^o Pat. 14. Johannis m. 6. Sciarius quod reddidimus Willielmus de Carrio Dominiuum suum de Carrio cum terris, quas habuit die, qua venimus ultimo usq; Penbroach ante transfretandum in Hibernia, &c.

^p Fin. 15 Joh. m. 6. 17th Sept. Will. de Harpeter finem fecit cum Domino Rege pro 40 Marc. & 4. Palefridis, pro habendis terris Willielmi de Carrio, quas habet citra mare Hibernicum, & pro jure quod prædictus Willielmus de Carrio clamat de terris sitis citra mare Hibernicum, &c.

^q Angl. Sacra, vol. 2. p.

^r Gemeicentis, l. 8. p. 307.

^s Fin. 8 H. 3. m. 8. Willielmus de Harpeter finem fecit pro 280 Marc. quas Domino Rege debet de sine quem fecit cum Domino Johanne Rege pro custodia terræ & hæredisq; Willielmi de Carrio.

^t Pat. 12 H. 3. m. 1. 20 Febr. Rex conc. Bertram de Crioil manerium de Molesford quod Nicholai de Karru tenuit in capite usq; ad ætatem hæredum ipsius Nicholai.

^u Claus. 16 H. 3. m. 15. Bertram de Crioil habet Seissinam manerii de Molesford, quod Nicholai de Carrio de Rege tenuit in Capite, habendum ad ætatem hæredum dicti Nicholai.

ring the Minority of the Heir of this Nicholas de Carriko: He is said to have married Ada Daughter of Adam, Great Grandson of Arnulph de Montgomery Lord (and others say ^a Earl of) Pembroke, whence probably the Tradition took its Rise, that this Family of Carew was first called Montgomery ^x, and whole Arms they are said to bear. Thus Nicholas living so little Time must of course leave in Minority his Son.

William, who conveyed Lands held de Baronid sua de Karreu, by a ^y Fine levied before the Steward of the Earl of Pembroke.

Nicholas his Son is doubtless N. Carew, by whose Marriage, (as Mr. ^z Camden saith) with the Daughter of one Digon, the Barony of Idron or Odron was brought into this Family, which, by the way, is a ^a Barony within the County of Catherlogh in Ireland, a sort of Palatinate having Royal Liberties (belonging formerly to Margaret Countess of Norfolk) and which Barony, in Mr. Camden's ^b Remembrance, was recovered after a long Usurpation by Sir Peter Carew the Heir Male of this Family. This Lady is in the ^c Deeds named Amicia, Daughter of Richard Tuit of Odron whose Grandfather was Founder of Granard Monastery, and slain by the sudden fall of a Tower at ^d Athlone.

Sir Nicholas used a Seal in 1283, having the Impression of the Bodies of three Lions concentrating in one Head, like the ^f contemporary one of Edmond second Son of Hen. III. He was in 27 E. I, summoned to appear with Horse and Armour in the Expedition against the ^g Scots, and again upon the same Account 29 E. I, and a rhyming Poet acquaints us what Arms he bore at the Siege of ^h Karlarverock, which agree with those on his Seal appendant to the famous Instrument to the Pope, signed by the Great Men [Proceres] in the Parliament at Lincoln (as the Terms are) Tam pro nobis, quam pro tota communitate predicti Regni Angliæ (among whom this Person is stiled ⁱ Nicholaus de Carew Dominus de Mulesford, setting forth the King's Right to Scotland: He by Amicia, Sister and Heiress of ^k John Peverel, had Issue Sir John de Mounts Otery, his Heir, Thomas, and Nicholas Ancestor to our Knight.

This upper Part of the Pedigree, containing only the ascending Line or Progenitors of our Knight before the Settlement of this Branch at Bedington, shews sufficiently the Eminency of his Extraction, and if the De-

^a Mr. Camden's Brit. in *Pembroke*shire aves non affirmavit to have been an Earl, but Mon. Angl. vol. 1. p. 281, and Ordericus Vitalis, l. 8. p. 738, seem to confirm it.

^x Leland's Itiner. vol. 3. f. 40. vol. 4. f. 49. Camden's Britan. in Englsh. p. 620.

^y E. Collect. Willm. Pole mil. Hæc est finalis concordia facta in Curia Domini Willm. de Valence Comitis Pembrock Anno R. R. Hen. 37. coram R. de N. tunc senescallo, &c. inter Dominum Wilhelmum de Karreu petentem, & R. M. tenentem de 111 Carucatis, &c. in Baronia sua de Karreu, &c. salvis servitiis, &c. que acciderent debent in Baronia sua de Karreu, &c.

^z Britan. in Engl. p. 987.

^a Davis's Reports, p. 65.

^b Camden in Catherlogh.

^c Ex Apographis Catharum penes me.

^d Annals of Irel. in Camd. Britan. sub A. D. 1211.

^e E. Collect. Willm. Pole mil.

^f Sandf. General. Hist. p.

^g Boyle's Plac. Parl. p. 486.

^h Les Noms & les Armes de Seigneurs, &c. a l'assise de Karlarverok en l'Escoce 1300. in Bibl. Cotton.

Un vaillant home, & de grant lei
Olui Nicolas de Herru,
Dont meinte foiz orent paru
Li fait en covvert e en land
Sur la felloune gent d' Ireland
Baniere & jaun bien passable
O-trois passans Lyons de Sable

ⁱ Rymer, vol. 2. p. 81.

^k Ex Apographis Catharum.

sign of the present Work would allow it, the Collector would be very glad to carry down the Succession of this eldest Branch, which hath received many additional Honours by Matches with several noble Families, and hath produced a long Series of Baron Carewes of great Fame for Military and Civil Affairs, of which Sir Tho. Carewe, now of Hacombe in Devon, and Sir William Carewe of Anthony in Cornwall both Baronets, are the direct Descendants in the Male Line; for he readily owns that he hath given the Proofs of this Pedigree more largely with Regard to the latter, for he shall never esteem it Criminal to pay his due Respects to his Friends.

But here is a Particularity as to the Title of Baron Carewe, which in a Scrutiny of this ¹ Order in 25 Hen. VI, being given to the then Heir of this Family, who is in that Suffrage placed in the Classis of Barons, it cannot be any Digression, because it will explain that Entry in the Black-Book, to observe, that tho' none of this Family had been summoned as Barons to any regular Parliament till Sir George Carewe Baron of Clopton in the Reign of Jac. I, made Earl of Tornejs by Car. I, (it is said regular Parliament because Sir John de Carewe was summoned to a great Council held in 35 E. III, about the Affairs of ^m Ireland) yet the Title of Baron was not only used by this Family in their private Deeds and ⁿ Epitaphs, but was attributed by our ^o Historians, and which is of undeniable Authority, our Kings themselves in the ^p Records give them the same honourable Appellation.

Mr. Cambden ^q styles the above-named Nicholas Baro de Molesford, led thereto probably by the Expression Dominus de Molesford in the above-mention'd Letter to the Pope; but that alone seems not a full Proof, that He was Baron of that Place, because there are no less than Twenty Seven subscribing that Letter, who all of them have the Title of Dominus of some Place prefixed to each of their Names, and yet none of them were summoned as Barons to that Parliament. The Conclusion of this Letter to the Pope seems somewhat like that in the Parliament 8 H. IV, where Tiptoft the Speaker subscribes with the Lords, ^r Vice totius Communi-

¹ Lib. Nig. Garterii sub dicto Anno.

^m Dugd. Summons, p. 264. Rym. vol. 6. p. 319.

ⁿ In Ecclesia Abbatis Westm. Orate pro animabus Nicholai Baronis quondam de Carew qui obiit 1470. See Kepts Monuments, p. 78.

^o Hollingshead, Sion, Hell, &c. Camd. in Britan. in Berks, & Devon. in Hacombe MS. Radulphi Haffer de conquestu Regni Francie in Officio Arm. M. 9. p. 32. le Baron du Carue du pays de Cornwallle.

^p Scala Mundi MS. in Offic. Arm. inter Libros Ducis Norfolciae n. 5. Anno 6 H. 5. cum Duce Clarentia. Baro de Carew.

^q 2. penes me among the Knights made at the Coronation of Hen. VI. Le Sire & Baro de Carue. Fenning's MS. of Coat of Arms, Chron. Godtsovian. edit. per Hearn ad calcem vite Tbo. Mori. p. 243. In Registro Bourgeoisier Archiepiscopi Cantuar. 21 Feb. 1457. Baroni de Carew. Chron. St. Albani in Bibl. Bodl. A. F. izi. 8 H. 4. Tbo. Baro de Carrew ad obsequium castris de Aberstwick.

^r Acta Conc. Priv. 21 H. 6. in Cleopatra F. iv. p. 68 b. To the Baroni of Carreu.

^p Clauf. 14 H. 4. m. 9. Thomas Baroni de Carrene Chevalier Rym. vol. p. 773.

^q Privat. Sigill. 8 Jun 3 H. 5. —Que veue Eindenture d'entre nous & nostre foial Chevalier Thomas Baron de Carrew, sur ce quil est retenuz devers nous avec douzxe hommes d'armes lui mesmes acotez & quatre archers pour nous faire service en guerre en le viage, &c. Fran. 4 H. 5. m. 24. Tbo. Baro de Carrew super falva custodia ville de Hersles habet protectionem.

^r Pat. 4 H. 5. m. 9. pro bono & acceptabili servitio, quod dilectus & fidelis miles noster Thomas Baro de Carrene nobis impendit, &c.

^s Fran. 6 H. 5. Tbo. Baro de Carew miles profeeturus in Comitatu Thome Ducis Exon.

^t Fran. 6 H. 5. Tbo. Baroni de Carew militi apud Rym. vol. 10. p. 168. Priv. Sigill. 14 H. 6. in Off. Pell. a nostre Chier. & foial Chevalier le Baron de Carew par certains noz Joiaix, &c. Priv. Sig. 20 Oct. 9 H. 6. in Off. Pell. a nostre trefch. & foial le Baron de Carrew Cent marcs, &c.

^u q Britan in Hacombe. in Devon.
^v See Prin's Prefate to Cotton's Records.

tatis. In other places we meet with this Family likewise using the Title of ! Dominus de Carreu.

But Molesford is no where, that this Collector knows, added to the word Baron, as the word Carreu is, which Castle (that first gave the Sir-name to this Family) being called a Barony, and Mr. Camden being informed by some Sages of the Law, that Baron and Barony are conjugates, it may not be improbable the Appellation of Baron in this Family might be taken from this Place, which continued in their Possession till the Reign of Hen. VIII. but then this Castle being seated in Pembroke-shire, where the Ancient Earls had  totum Regale*, and in a Pleading were allowed to have the like Privileges with † Chester and Durham, and the same is expressly called a ‡ Palatinate, and since all such either ⁴ Foreign or ⁴ Domestick had Barons, and it being certain that Pembroke had those of ᵇ Haverford, Camneys, Roch, and Castle Garret, probably Carewe might be of the like nature, unless the same was one of the Barons in the Marches of Wales near adjoining to this Castle, as indeed it is reckoned in a ᶜ MS. for which there seems to be some Foundation by those Inquiries which find that this Family held Carew Castle in Marchiis ⁴ Wallie, wherein we know were likewise several such ⁵ Baronies.

But 'tis high time to return to the Actions and Employments of our Knight, who had his Education in France, as by an ⁶ Author of that

f E charta origin. penes Pir. le Neve Norroy Reg. Arm. Patet universis quod Ego Johannes de Carreu dominus de Carreu recepi de dom. Gilberto Talbot decem libras 12 £. 2. pro matrimonio filii mei ad Alanorum filiam dicti Gilberti.

i Britann. in Salop. de Baronia de Burford.

n Ryley placita Parl. p. 34, 43, 41, 44, 103.

x Fragment Plac. ad temp. H. 3. in Turre. A nuper obiit being brought against John Scot Earl of Chester by the other Coburs of Randal Earl of Chester, and the Summons being made on some of his Lands in Northampton, he pleaded, Quod noluit respondere ad hoc breve, nisi curia consuleraverit, & consideratione Parium suorum, per summationem factam in Comitatu Northampton de terris in Comitatu Castrie ubi brevia Domini Regis non currunt. But the Judgment is, Quia usitatum est hucusq; quod Pares sui, & alii qui libertates habent consimiles sicut Episcopus Dunelm. & Comes Marecallus [Comes Penbrochie] respondent de terris infra libertates suas per summationem factam ad terras extra libertates suas. This Pleading was about 14 H. 3. and there is some Reference to it in Fitz. Brief 881, Partition 18.

y Confirmation to Laurence Hastings printed in Camd. Britan. de Penbroke.

z The Palatinate of Champagne had seven Barons or Peers, the Earl of Guines twelve, the Earl of Vermandois six, the Earl of Haynalt eight, the Earl of Flanders twelve, the Earl of Bouloinois &c.

a Those of Chester are well known, as are many of those of Durham, who have had the Titles of their Baronies given them by our Kings in the Records: Thus the Baron of Hilton, Parl. 1 H. 4. n. 73. Rymer, vol. 7. p. 668, 750. Elch. 27 H. 1. Pat. 1 H. 6. p. 1. That of Burford in Salop will be explained in the Memoirs of the Life of Sir John Cornwall.

b Ryley ut supra.

c George Owen in his Description of Penbroke.

d Joh. Carren de terris in Molesford, Southampton, Devon, & Carren Castle in Marchiis Wallie.

e There hath been a great deal said of these Baronies, to which shall be here only added, that in a Pleading, Coram Rege de Ter Michaelis Anno 19 E. 1. nemente, incipiente 20 Art. 54. Hereford. Quod continetur in magna Carta Johannis Regis de Romenede, quod si aliquis Baro de Marchia difficultus fuerit de libero tenemento in Marchia, rectum tenentur secundum constitutiones Marchie. These are sometimes filled generally Marchia, &c. as is observed by Camden in Shropshire, to which may be added, Pat. 5. 3 H. 3. m. 28. Quod Edmundus filius Regis habet in Terris de Hermelen, &c. Regale Regis, sicut alii Marchiones habent in terris suis in Marchiis Wallie. Gours est un baronie en Marches de Gales Assise 383. Plac. coram Pege M. 9. E. 1. Rot. 35. Gibb. de Clave Comes Gilbert clamat terras suas in Glamorg. in sicut Regale, and pleads Magna Carta to the same Purpose. This Pleading about Glamorgan is the rubric here mention'd because the above Order in 14th of King John, for the Delivery of the House of Carewe was directed to the Bailiff of this Place. See the Names of the Lord Marchers of Wales, Rot. Scot. 9 E. 2. m. 2. & 1. & Rot. Scot. 11 E. 2. m. 6. & Rot. 10 E. 3. m. 21. d. & m. 19. & Rot. Scot. 1 E. 2. m. 8. 9. dors de libertatibus Dom. Marchar. Pat. 15 E. 2. p. 2. m. 10. pro Abb. de Goldclive.

f Vinc. MS. in Offic. Armor. n. 91. See Stow 10 H. VIII. In a Letter from Tho. Boleyn to Card. Wolsey. May 10, 1519, That it is written to the French King (as he told me) how the King's Grace hath put away divers of his Mignons, as Carew, Bryan, Nevel, Guilford, Peche and Pointz; that the manner of it was thus, The Cardinal and the Council sent for these Gentlemen, and said to them how the brute was, that they governed the King after their appetite which was not honourable, wherefore they should come no more to Court, &c. others were put into their places, viz. Weston, Kinlton and Jerningham, and the Cardinal in his Answer said these young Men (as he calls them) were removed, and other ad Commissarij put in their places. Collect. Master in Bibl. Coll. Jesu Oxon.

Nation we are informed that Nicholas Carew, Francis Brian, and other young Gentlemen bred up for a long Time in the Court of France, being made Gentlemen of the Privy-Chamber to Hen. VIII. not only behaved themselves according to the French Manners and Fashions, but took all Opportunities of extolling the King and Court of France as superior to that of England, were therefore in 1519 removed without assigning any Reason, and William Kingston, Richard Wingfield, Richard Jerningham, and Richard Weston Knights placed in their Rooms.

It hath been already mentioned that in 5 Hen. VIII. he was joined in the Patent with his Father for the Lieutenancy of Calis during the Life of the longest Liver of them, and in 6 H. VIII. on 27 Apr. the King grants to him and his Heirs the Reversion of the Mannors of Plompton, Berconbe, Fletching, Pedingho, Buskegage, and Birling, after the Death of the Countess of Oxford, and the first Avoidance of the b Chantry of the Holy Cross in St. Nicholas Church in Calis, and in the next Year 7 May had an l Annuity of 20 l. during his Life issuing out of the Revenues of Calis, and on the 6th of Nov. the like 2 Annuity of 50 Marks for executing the Office minus Caphariorum ad receptam Scaccarii. In 8 H. VIII. the King, Duke of Suffolk, Earl of Essex, and Nicholas Carew, were Challengers at the Justs then held. In 9th Year had the Custody of the Mannor of Plesance in East-Grenwich for Life, and in the 10th Year 2 was again one of the Justers, and in the 11th had the Lieutenancy of the Tower of Royshanke in Picardy for the like Term, having also an p Annuity of 109 l. during Pleasure, and was one of the l Justers on the English Side at the Interview between Hen. VIII. and Francis I.

In the 13th H. VIII. being then a Knight had the Office of Constable of the Castle of Wallingford with the Stewardship of that Honour, St. Valeries and the four Hundreds, and in the 15th served in the Wars against Scotland under the l Earl of Surrey.

In the 14th the King makes him three Grants dated the l same Day to be Master of the Horle for Life, Steward of Bradsted in Kent, with the Custody of the Park which lately belonged to the Duke of Bucks, and granted to him and Elizabeth his Wife and their Heirs, the Mannor of Blechingele, with the Advowsons of the Churches thereto belonging. He was one of the Embassadors in Nov. 1527 (19 H. VIII.) appointed to carry 2 this Order of the Garter to the French King. In 28th Year he was appointed chief Steward of the Mannors of Perching, Preston, and others in Suffex, and in the 29th Year was made Captain of the Isle of Gernesey, and of Cornet Castle, and is said to have been de m- g Pat. 6 H. 8. p. 2.

b Priv. Signill. 6 H. 8. 5 May.

i Priv. Sign. 7 H. 8.

2 Pat. 7 H. 8. p. 3.

l Stow's Annals, p. 924.

m Pat. 9 H. 8. p. 2. 18 Dec.
n Abbot, p. 241. in the Life of Sir Henry Guil- ford.

o Pat. 11 H. 8. p. 2. 20 May.

p Ibid. 18 May.

q Lord Herbert's History of H. 8. p. 89.

r Pat. 13 H. 8. p. 1. 2 Junii.

s The English Historians.

t Pat. 14 H. 8. p. 2. 18 July.

u Althm. Append. n. 116. where there is a Mistake in the Year of the Kings Reign.

x Pat. de dicto Anno.

y Pat. 29 H. 8. p. 2. 26 Janu.

z Vinc. Surrey, p. 59.

teriovi Cubiculo Regis, and was Captain also of Ruyshanke near Calais.

Being accused for being of Council, as Stow expresses it, with the Marquess of Exeter and others, by endeavouring to maintain, promote and advance Cardinal Poole the King's Enemy, and to deprive the King. He ^{bb} was attained by Act of Parliament in 31 H. VIII, wherein 'tis said Nicholas Carewe Knight, and several others, abominable Traitors and Rebels, who were and be by the Common Laws of this Realm attained of High Treason, and have suffered Execution for the same, and another Act passed at the same Time for the Attainder of Gertrude Courtney Wife to the Marquess of Exeter, for confederating her self with the said Traitor Nicholas Carewe, but in the Parliament 1 E. VI, Francis his Son procured a Reversal of this Attainder. 'Tis remembered in a Law^e Report that he said, Marvel greatly that the Indictment against the Lord Marquess was so secretly handled, and to what Purpose, for the like was never seen.

He was beheaded on the 3d of March on Tower-Hill 1538-9, who had been a zealous Papist, yet when he came to suffer, exhorted all People to read the Scriptures carefully, acknowledging that the Judgements of God came justly upon him for the Hatred that he formally bore to the Gospel, as a ^d Writer of great figure expresses it, but the Words of Holmhead are not of so extensive a force. His Body was^e buried in the Church of St. Borolphs Aldgate.

Fuller in his Worthies entertains his Readers with a Tradition in the Family, that the King having given this Knight opprobrious Language between jest and earnest while they were at Bowels, the Knight returned an Answer rather true than discrete, as more consulting his own Animosity, whereby he offended and fell into displeasure: He mentions not the particular Answer said to be made.

He married Elizabeth Daughter of Sir Francis Brian, who after the Death of her Brother became one of his Coheirs, and by her he had a Son and four Daughters. Sir Francis his Son was restored in Blood by Act of Parliament 2 Maria, and died unmarried Aged 81 Years on 16 May 1611, having adopted Sir Nicholas Throckmorton Son of Anne his [third] Sister to be Heir to his Estate, and to bear his Surname, as 'tis worded on his Monument in Bedington Church.

A Plate of his Arms was doubtless affixed in the Chapel upon his Installation, which was removed upon his Attainder, and in a Parchment^e Manuscript of the then Garret King of Arms, the Coat of our Knight consisting of six Quarterings is surrounded with the Ensign of this Order, as exhibited in the Frontispiece of these Memoirs.

The first contains the Ancient Arms Or, three Lions passant Sable, without any Distinction of Cadency, which notwithstanding the Separation of this Branch from the Trunk or chief Line, was as old as the Reign of Edw. II, in strictness possibly should not have been omitted. The a Dugl. 2 Vol. Bar. p. 423.

 b Stow's Annals, p. 576. Weyer's Funeral Mo- niments, p. 426.
 c H. Hollinghead, p. 246, taken from Hill in 30 H. 8.

e 1 Cov. p. 124.
 d Barret's Hist. Reform. Vol. 2.
 e See Weyer's Funeral Monuments, p. 426.
 f In Surrey.
 g Vins. MS. n. 152. in Off. Arm.

second Quarter Hoo, the third Wells quarterly with Engayne, the fourth Waterton, the fifth Mobun, the last Idron.

Mr. ^b Vincent writes that George Baron Carew of Clopton, (afterwards Earl of Tornes) derived himself in a Lineal Descent from John de Mobun who lived in 1 E. III, 'tis certain that in the 10th of Ed. I, Sir John Carew had the Mannors of Otery Mobun, Monketon, Galmeton, and Stokefleming in Devon. by his Marriage with Alianor one of the Daughters and Cohers of William de Mobun, by whom he had only two Sons, who both died without Issue, yet the Descendants of this Sir John have quarter'd the Arms of Mobun by Vertue as 'tis said of a ' Conveyance of them made by this Lady to her Husband and the Heirs of his Body.

Here being a Concession of Arms and an Adoption into them, it may not be amiss to insert cursorily some short Notices on both Articles. The Proprietors of Coat Armour did frequently assign and transfer them to the Exclusion of their own Heirs by particular Grants, whereof some are ^k enrolled in the Tower, and others may be consulted in ^l printed Authors, for Arms were then esteemed Inheritances alienable; some Civilians have thought Ladies were not entituled to this Power, grounding themselves on the Texts, Mulier sue Familie caput est, & finis, & Descendentes ex femina non sunt de Familia; though this Privilege hath been allowed to them in this Kingdom, for the Lady ^m Lucy by a Fine upon Record made such a Conveyance to her Husband the Lord Percy, and to the Heirs Males of his Body, though she had no Children by him; and there is published another such Grant of Arms by a ⁿ Widow that was an Heiress, and this Notion of the Civilians is contrary to the Forms of several Matrimonial Contracts; but though such Dispositions have been in Fact made, yet the Legality of such Concessions have been called in question. It appears from the ^o Depositions in the Case between John Lord Lovel, and Thomas Lord Morle, touching the Arms born by the Antient Lord Burnels, that Robert Morle the Defendant's Grandfather had been Esquire of Edward Lord Burnel, who died without Issue in 9 E. II, and that afterwards this same Robert bore these Arms in the Wars of Scotland, where being demanded for what Reason he did so, answered, That he took them because they were void. This Lord Burnell left one Sister his Heir, who by her first Husband was Grandmother of the Plaintiff, and by her second Husband had a Son Nicholas, that assumed the Surname of Burnell, who finding this Robert de Morle invested in these Arms at the Siege of Calis prosecuted him in the Court Military for bearing them, which made so great an Impression on him, that he made a publick Declaration confirmed by his Oath, that if Sentence should be given against him, he would never undertake any other Military Expedition, on which (as the Words are) the King considering the Nobility of this Robert (whose Merits indeed were large) and to chew a Trial ⁱ MS. Will. Pole mil.

^b Against Brooke, p. 475.

^k See Prynn on the fourth Inst. p. 70, 80.

^l See several Instances in Camden's Remains.

^m Rythe in Upton, p. 103, 104. Thus Heimer have been also granted over Madox's Forn Angl. n. 572.

See Leicester's Antiq. p. 230, 234, 242, 244, 245.

ⁿ Prynn ibid.

^o Camden's Remains.

^p A. 7. penes me in a contemporary Hand, containing an Extract of the Depositions.

by Duel, and other ill Consequences, interposed with the then Plaintiff, that he would permit the Defendant to use those Arms during the Term of his Life only, to which Proposal he readily consented out of Reverence to the King, and a Sentence thereon was given accordingly, with a particular Provision that his Heirs should be entirely excluded. This Robert Morle died in Burgundy 34 E. III, and his Banner according to his own Direction was delivered to this Nicholas who chanced to be present. Notwithstanding those Provisions Thomas de Morle the Grandson used these Arms, for which John Lord Lovel commences an Action before the Constable and Marshal in 1395, and therein among other Things sets forth in his Libel, that a Man cannot sell or grant his Arms to the Prejudice of his Posterity, on which Article several Witnesses were examined, among whom were le Roy Vaillant Heraud Aged 60, and Aquitaine Roi Heraud Aged 70 Years, whose long Experiences should render them competent Witnesses in a Matter within the Cognizance of their Professions; Sir Ralph Ferrers adds in his Deposition, That this very Point had been judicially determined in the Court Military in a Case which depended between Sir Thomas Cowyn and Sir John de Norwych. Sir John Sully, probably the Companion of this Order, was another Witness, who saith, He was then above one hundred Years Old, and that he had travailled in Arms above fourscore Years, though by the way, he was younger than some others produced in that Dispute, whereof one was Aged 120, another 140.

This Doctrine of the Illegality of alienating Arms is also asserted by Jean le Ferre in 1461, whose Authority is the greater, not only from his Profession, being then King of Arms of the Order of the Golden Fleece, but in that the Honourable Character of his Sufficiency for that Province is given him by his Contemporaries. His Words are express, Qu'on ne peut vendre, ne alier les Armes de son lignage. These last Terms seem to contain the Reason of this Prohibition, for Coat Armour was esteemed a Right or questum, which ought to descend to the whole Family jure successorio, and varied with proper Marks of Cadency according to the Degrees of Consanguinity belonged to every Branch of it exclusive of all others, and thereby not only the Distinction from other Families, but the Proximities or Distances of any Branch from the Heir were visible, and therefore it seemed a consequence that the Sale of the Hereditary Arms of a Family by any Branch of it, while others were subsisting, must be prejudicial to them, if their Consents were not obtained. But though it may not be lawful for a Father to appoint a younger Son, to whom he should devise all his Estate, to bear his full Arms without any Distinction, yet in case a Person chanced to be the last of his Name and Family, that is have no Kindred of his Father's Side alive, an Adoption or a Donation of his Name and Arms by his last Will should, as the Collector at present thinks, admit no Controversy; for if the Arms should p Menefier Orig. des Armoires, p. 26.

q Olivier de la Marche, p. 40, 257, 259. La vie de Jaques Lalain, p. 62, 179.

r Boer. qu. 146. n. 6. but see Chassin. Catal.
Glor. mundi concl. 46.

not be devised, the same, as being entirely extinct according to the Heraklick Systems, should be entered with the Bearer at his Funeral. This Method of Substitutions is consonant to the Opinions of the J Civilians who place such Legacies of Arms and Surnames by Will inter fideicommissa, and whereof there are Instances in our ' Records, some by Settlements, others by Will.

As such a Substitution into the Surname and Arms of a Family doth no way derogate from the Native Nobility of the Person thus adopted, the same being cumulative not privative, so notwithstanding the Adopted may herein obtain the Name and Arms of a Family, de quatre lignes ou de nom & d'armes, yet he cannot pretend hereby to that Privilege of those Distinctions which flow only from Birth, Blood, and Nature, but like an emancipated Person or Libertinus, who though he gained the Effects of an Ingenuus as to the Civil Parts, yet his Manumission did not alter any Natural Rights.

f Les Nobles dans les Tribunaux, p. 40. and the Autori quoted in Jurisprudencia Heroica, &c.

e See Pymn ou fourth Inst. p. 65. The Settlement made by John Earl of Pembroke is recited in Rot. Pat. 50 E. 3. where in case he should die without Heir of his Body, his Lands are granted to William de Beauchamp and his Heirs, Sur tiel condition, qu'il port nostre entiers armes, & qu'il face tant eides a nostre seigneur le Roy qu'il port nom du Count de Pembrok a luy & a ses heirs. Et si le dit William ne veuille, ou ne puisse les avoir en maniere avant dite, que nostre bien a fine Cousin Monsr. Will. de Clinton ait sur mesmes les forme & conditions a tous point. Ralph Basset by his Will in 1399, dat terras Hugoni Sbirley nepoti suo & heredibus masculis de corpore suo procreatis ea conditione, ut portet cognomen de Basset & insignia ejus, & si dictus Hugo obierit sine heredibus masculis de corpore suo procreatis, remanebunt Gulielmo de Stafford fratri Comitis Stafford sub Conditione, predicta. Ita quod si idem Gulielmus obierit sine heredibus masculis de corpore procreatis, vel recuaserit portare cognomen & insignia de Basset, remanebunt Johanni de Grey, &c. ut antea. Vinc. MS. n. 222. p. 114. in Off. Arm. See his Will in Registr. Beckyngham Episc. Linc.

See that of Touchet in Vinc. MS. n. 86. in Off. Arm. and several others.

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of Sir Robert Rochester a Knight Elect.

SEVERAL Knights had been placed in this Stall after Sir Nicholas Carew, who were upon Vacancies removed to higher Seats, these were,

Sir William Kingston, elect 23 Apr. installed 18 May 31 H. VIII.

Sir Anthony Brown, elect 23 Apr. installed 9 May 32 H. VIII.

Sir Anthony Wingfeild, elect 23 Apr. installed 8 May 33 H. VIII. void in 36 H. VIII.

Lord Chancellour Wriotbesly, elect 24

Apr. installed 16 May 37 H. VIII.

Sir William Pager, elect 17 Feb. installed 23 May 1 Ed. VI.

Sir Willian Herbert, elect 1 Dec. installed 22 Dec. 3 Ed. VI. void in 6 and 7 Ed. VI. and 1 Mary.

Sir Edward Hastings.

Viscount Montacute

These

These two latter were indeed chosen in the same ^a Chapter held 23 Apr. 1st and 2d Phil. and Mary, and the Viscount is the first that is declared to be elected, but being then at Rome in an Embassy, Sir Edward Hastings was installed here on the 29th of May following, and was removed upon the Return of the Viscount, who notwithstanding his Precedence in the Election, and his superior Quality, was however placed here on the 17th of Oct. in 2d and 3d of Philip and Mary, upon whose Translation our Knight Sir Robert Rochester was hereto elected on 22 Apr. 3d and 4th of Philip and Mary, and his Installation was appointed to be on the Feast, which was designed to be held in May following; but the Feast being several times ^b prorogued upon Weighty Reasons relating to the King and Queen. — It happened that our Knight elect died in this Interval, whereby according to the ^c Tenour of the Statutes he lost the Privilege of being in the Number of one of the Founders; upon his Election however he was not only invested with the Ensign of the Garter, but became intituled by the ^d Statutes to half the Number of Masses required for one of the Founders, for which Reasons it may not be improper to give some short Narrative of him.

His Pedigree entred in the Visitation Books of the Heralds, goes no farther back than to his Grandfather Robert seated at Terling in Essex, but we learn from ^e Records, that John Rochester and Agnes his Wife purchased in this Place, in the Reign of Edw. II. and in that Church, are or lately were ^f Monuments for Robert Rowchester, and Johan his Wife without any Date, for John Rowchester, and Agnes his Wife the Relict of William Gotham, which John died in 1444, for Robert Rochester and Elizabeth his Wife, which Robert was Comptroller of the Household to John Earl of Oxford, and died 4 May 1508, and for his eldest Son John Rochester, who died before his Father on 16 January 1507, which John by Grifolda the Daughter and Coheir of Walter Wryttell was Father of William, and of our ^g Knight the second, and John ^h third Son.

Being Comptroller of the Household to Queen Mary, and Chancellor also of the Duchy of Lancaster, he was constituted one of the Commissioners to treat about that Queen's ⁱ Marriage, and in that Year was Knight of the Shire for the County of Essex. On 1 May, 2d and 3d of Philip and Mary, William Barnes by Licence alienated to him and others the Mannor of ^j Kynton in Glouc. On 9 November, in the 3d and 4th, he had a Grant of divers ^k Lands in Essex to him and his Heirs, and on 7 May, Licence to found a ^l Chantry in the Church of Terling, and on 1 Dec. had the Bailiwick of the ^m Liberties of the dissolved Monastery of St. Albans for Life, as also a special ⁿ Pardon on 1 June, and ^a Lib. Carol. Garret.

^b Allm. Hist. p. 313.

^c Art. 19.

^d Art. 20.

^e Fin. 20 E. 2, &c.

^f Symond's Collect. of Essex, in Off. Arm. p. 146.

^g Vizit. of Essex in Off. Arm. p. 2.

^h Rymer, vol. 15, p. 377, 393.

ⁱ Par. 2 & 3 Ph. & M. p. 3.

^k Par. 3 & 4 Ph. & M. p. 4.

^l Ibid. p. 5.

^m Ibid. p. 10.

ⁿ Ibid.

on the 12th of Dec. a Lease of the ° Mannors of Benington, Weston, Argenton, Monden parva, Monden magna, Sabridgeworth, with others in Hertford, Suffolk, and Essex for 40 Years, and on the 18th of Sept. was ꝑ Licenced to keep Retainers, and on the 30th of that Month the Lord ꝑ Windsor had Liberty to alienate to him and others the Mannor of Almouton.

He made his ꝑ Will on the Twenty Seventh of May 1557, wherein by the Title of Knight of the most Honourable Order of the Garter, Chancellor of the Dutchy of Lancaster, and Comptroller of the Queen's most Honourable Household, he bequeathes to the Queens Highnesse, as a poor Witnesse of his humble Heart, duty and service due to the same, one hundred Pounds in Angells, and to every of her Highnesses Women his old Fellows who served her Grace before she came to this Estate, and being yet attending in her Majesties Service, one Ring of fine Gold of the Weight of an old Royall, which he requires them to wear as a Token of his good Will born to them, and to put them in Remembrance to pray Christ to have mercy on his Soul. He devises Legacies to his Nephew John Son of his Brother William Rochester, to his Nephew Sir Edward Walgrave, to his Sister Rice, to his Nephew John Walgrave; to the Prior of the Black Friars in London, and to his Brethren, the Sume of 50*l.* to pray for his Soule, his Father, Mother, his Ancestors, and all Christian Souls: And to the Warden of the Observant Friars in Greenwich, and to his Brethren, the like Sume on the same Account. Concerning his Mannors, Lands, &c. he humbly beseeches the Queens Highness his most gracious Sovereign Lady and Mistris, to whom he hath born his faithful and true Service to the utmost of his Power, that it would please her Majesty after his Decease to give her Royal Assistance to such as he should put in Trust, that his Will may be perform'd, which he trusts is agreeable both to God's Laws and her Majesties, and in nothing contrariant to her Prerogative Royal; he wills his Mannor of Ashfeld magna in Com. Suff. with the Appurtenances, and all his Lands in Brodwell, Hunston, Tx-worth and Emmswell, in the said County, his Mannor of Milles in Essex, with the Appurtenances, and all those Lands known by the Name of Milles in Sisted, being a third Part of his Inheritance, to descend to his Heir. As to the Residue of his Mannors he bequeathes to the Prior of the House of Jesus of Bethlem of Sheen in Com. Surrey, to the Honour of God, and his Son Jesus Christ his Saviour and Redeemer, and for the better Maintenance of his Honour, and Glory and Divine Service, and of his Blessed Mother the Virgin, and all the Holy Company of Heaven, all those his Mannors and Lordships of Halfsted, Stransted, Abells, Hemmyngham, Clavering, Lucas Pitchards and Marks in the County of Essex, with all and singular the Appurtenances, as also his o Ibid. p. 12.

p Ibid. p. 11.

q Ibid. p. 15.
r Lib. Willes in Cur. Prærog. Cant.

Capital House of Stansted, and the Advowsons and Rights of Patronage of the Churches of Stansted and Henyngham Sible, and all those his Lands known by the Name of Bowcher's Wood in Gosfeild, Essex; and all those lying in Halfsted, Stansted, and Branktree, Henyngham, Peurburgh, Gosfeild, Tynsted, Henny magna, Henny parva; Myddleton, Bulmere, Alphamston, Maplested, Foxeherd, Belcheham, Otton, Toppefeild, Colne, Engayne alias Coblesgayne, Stiffed, Henningham Sible, Aldeham, Partefwick, and Markeß-all in Com. Essex; or elsewhere in the said County, which he purchased of the King's and Queen's Majesties to him and his Heirs for ever, as by Letters Patents, dated at Westminster 19 Nov. in the 3d and 4th of their Reigns appeareth; except the Park of Stansted, and those Lands, Tenements, &c. within the said Park, the said Prior and his Successors to hold for evermore all and singular the said Premises, &c. desiring them, and requiring them for evermore to Pray for the good Estate of the King and Queen's Majesties, whilst it shall please God to send them Life, and after their Decease for their Soules, and for the Soul of him the said Sir Robert Rochester, his Father and Mother's Soules, all his Ancestor's Soules, and all Christian Soules. And whereas he obteyned a Licence of the King and Queen, that he in his Life-time, or his Executors after his Decease, might erect and found one perpetual Chantry within the Parish Church of Terling in Essex, and might give to the said Chantry Priest and his Successors for ever Lands, &c. to the yearly Value of 10*l.* his Will is that the said Chantry shall be erected and founded in as convenient Time as may be after his Decease, according to the said Licence, and that the said Chantry Priest, and his Successors, shall have assured to them by the said Prior and Convent of Sheen, and their Successors for the Time being, one Annual Rent Charge of 10*l.* out of the aforefaid Mannors, the said Chantry Priest, and his Successors, praying for evermore for the good Estate of the King's and Queen's Majesties, whilst they live, and after for their Soules, and for the Soul of him the said Sir Robert Rochester, his Father and Mother's Soules, all their Ancestor's Soules, and all Christian Soules. He likewise wills that the said Prior and Convent of Sheen pay 20*l.* yearly to the Abbess and Convent of Syon to perform Divine Service after the same manner, and 5*l.* yearly to the Prior and Convent of Langley for ever. He ordeyns Executors, Ralph Bishop of Coventry and Lichfeild, Sir Edward Walgrave Knight his Nephew, William Cordell Esq; John Carrell Esq; Thomas Lewen Clark Steward to the Lord Cardinal's Grace, and Reginolde Hollingworth Gent. and Overseer of the same his singular good Lord the Lord Chancellor of England. The Residue of his Goods and Chattels, his Funeral and Debts duly contented, he bequeathes to his Executors to be bestowed in Deeds of Charity for the Wealth of his Soule, and especially on the House of Sheen.

As to Sheen, the Queen on the 28th of March 1515, before the Lord Chancellour, Sir Robert Rochester Comptroller, and others, declared her Resolution to render up all the Church Lands in her Hands, to be disposed as the Pope and Lord Cardinal should think fit, and in 1556, she founded an House for the Carthusians at Sheen, in Gratitude to that Order for their Sufferings upon her Mother's Account, an Order of strict Discipline and Mortification.

The ' Jury on the 24th of February, 4 Philip and Mary, find that he died in the Parish of St. Andrew Underbass London, on 28 Nov. before, seized of the Mannor of great Asbeild in Suffolk, and several other Lands and Rents in Asbeild, Uxworth, Hanston, Badswell and Emeswell, and that William Rochester his Brother, aged 60 Years and more, was his next Heir, which William * died on 2 Sept. 1558, who, and his Wife Eliz. are buried at Terling.

His Funeral was solemnized on 4 Dec. 1558, at Sheene, when his Escutcheons were not surrounded with the * Garter, because he died before his Installation.

Boisseau in his Promptuaire ' Armorial ascribes to our Knight Argent three Chescrokes Sable; but he must be certainly mistaken, for he bore 1st, Checque Argent and Gules on a Fesse Azure three Escallops Or. 2d, Or, a Fesse between 3 Crescents Sable. 3d, Sable, on a Bend Argent a Bendlet wavee of the first. 4th, Sable, a Chevron between three Rams Heads erased Argent; the three later are the Arms of the Heiresses from whom he was descended, and doubtless he used the Crescent for a Brizure.

His Crest on a Wreath a Demy Tyger Azure, horned, maimed, hoofed, and collared Or, studded Gules.

† Efc. in Capella Rotul. p. 3.

* Symonds ut supra.

æ Vitell. F. 3. in Bibl. Cott. 4 & 5 Pb. & M.

4 Dec. was buried at Sheene the Charter-house Sir Rob. Rochester Knight, the which he was chosen Knight of the Garter, but he was never Sally'd at Wyndfor, so he was not buried with the Garter, but after another Knight.

γ Cybbon. Introd. ad Latin. Blason. p. 13.

next to page 267

● AVANT DARNLY. ●

Du tresault, et trespuissant Prince, Emme Duc de Lenox, Comte de Marche, et de Darnley Baro de Saighton Bronsvold V. Hubigny, Terboulton, Metbuen, et S. Andre, grand Chambellan, et Admirall d'Escoce, gentilhomme de la chambre du liec de sa Ma. et Chtr du tresnoble Ombre de la Fertierre. Enstalle a Windsor; le 22. d'Avril

1624 ●

MEMOIRS

OF

Esme Steward Duke of Lennox.

HERE was a Vacancy in this Stall, according to the Language of the Statutes, from the Time of the Removal of the Lord Viscount Montacute, notwithstanding the Election of Sir Robert Rochester, and it continued void till the 3d of Queen Elizabeth, when on 18 May the Lord Humf- don was here installed, after whose Removal succeeded Sir Henry Sidney.

The Earl of Huntington, void in 15, 16, 17 Eliz.

Lord Howard of Effingham, void in 27 Eliz.

Earl of Pembroke, void in 2, 3, &c. Jac. 1.

Marquess of Hamilton.

All which were likewise severally removed to higher Stalls, and our Knight the Duke of Lennox was hereto elected 24 April 22 Jac. I. installed on 26 April, for the Day is mistaken on his Plate if the Register of this Order may be credited, and he died on the 14th of February following.

He is stiled on his Plate Duke of Lemox [in Scotland] Earl Marche [in England] and of Darnley [in Scotland] Baron of Leighton Bronswold [in England] of D'auigney [in France] of Torbolton, Merhuen, and St. Andre [in Scotland] Great Chamberlain and Admiral of Scotland, and Gentleman of his Majesty's Bedchamber.

It would be superfluous to transcribe the Pedigree of this most illustrious Duke, which may be consulted in several ^a Historians and Genealogists, so that nothing need to be added, save only what conduceth to the Explanation of this Plate.

The Office of Dapifer of Scotland was given in Fee to one of his Ancestors, which Sole in Tract of Time was altered into Steward, and from thence the Family took this Surname, which branched out into several Lines honoured with divers Titles, whereof Robert by Descent from his Mother succeeded to the Throne of Scotland in 1370, as did afterwards James VI to the Crown of England.

The Scotch ^b Historians inform us, that Malcolm IV in 1158, confirmed (as the Words are) "Hæreditarie Waltero filio Alani Dapifero meo " & hæreditibus suis in feodo & hæreditate Senescalliam meam — Ita bene " & plenarie, sicut Rex David Seneschalliam suam ei dedit", who by the Title of "Walterus filius Alani Dapifer Regis Scotiæ", founded the Monastery of Pasley, whose Son by the Stile of "Allanus filius Walteri Dapifer Regis Scotiæ" makes several Donations to that Abbey, and that his Son Walter altered the Name of this Office to Senescallus Scotie. The Dapiferate comprehended a Superintendency over the Ministers of the Household, which in the 11th Century became generally entituled the Stewardship, whereof we have some contemporary Instances. Our Henry the Second confirmed to ^c Hugh Bigot Earl of Norfolk, "Dapiferatum suum, ita libere sicut pater suus melius habuit tempore Regis Henrici " Avi mei", which ^d Rich. I. confirms to his Son by these Words, "Senescalliam suam, ita libere habendam, sicut Rogerus Bigot avus suus, & Comes Hugo pater suus illam habuerunt tempore Domini Regis Henrici Avi nostri, vel tempore patris nostri": Thus Eudo was called ^e Dapifer of Normandy, whose Daughter and Heiress being married to William Mandevill, their Son Geffery in that Right named himself ^f Steward of that Dutchy. In the same manner the Family of ^g Mandevill in Catalonia discontinued the Title of Dapifer, and substituted that of Seneschal in its room; Hugh de Cleeris is express in this Point, where he ^h treats of the "Regiæ domus dapiferatus" of France granted in Fee to the Counts of Anjou, which in the same Book he stiles the Stewardship, as doth a ⁱ Chronicler in 1177, and we find in Ingulfus Alan de Corona in one place stiled Dapifer, and in another Senescallus Regis, and we know that the Family of ^k Montalto in the Palatinate of Chester used the Appellation of Dapifer, and afterwards that of Senescallus Comitibus

^a Anselme. Moreri Dict. &c.
^b Crawford's Hist. of the Royal and Illustrious Family of Stewart.

^c Carr. Antiq. S. n. 13.

^d Ibid. n. 14.

^e Mon. Angl. vol. 1. p. 724.

^f Dugd. 1 Vol. Bar. p. 201.

^g Hist. de Bearn par Marca 1. 6. c. 2. &c.

^h Inter Scriptorum edit. per Du Chesn.

ⁱ Rob. de Monte in dicto Anno.

^k MS. Glou. inter Philpoti MS. in Col. Ann.

n. 17. p. 45. 46.

Cestrie. By the way, ¹ Richard Earl of Arundel, in the Tenth of Ed. III, reciting, That the Stewardship of Scotland belonged hereditarily to him, surrenders the same to that King, who gives him One Thousand Marks in Recompence for it, which was confirmed by Edward [Baliol] King of Scotland; probably his Title to it might be by some Grant from that Family.

The Creations to the Scotch Honours mention'd in this Plate may be found in their Authors, and those within England in our Writers. Aubigny is a Town in Berry, situate upon the River Nerre, about two Leagues from Concreffant in France, given according to ^m Pere Daniel to John Steward the Second, on the 24th of March 1422, to whom the County or Earldom of ⁿ Eureux was also granted in 1426, who was killed at the Battle of the Herrings in 1429.

The Arms on the Plate are quarterly 1st and 4th of France, within a Border Gules charged with 8 Buckles Or, which are said to be an Augmentation by the King of France, being the Coat of Eureux, with the Charge of the Buckles supposed to allude to the Ancient Bearing of Croo, whose Heirefs was married into this Family; 2d and 3d Or, a Fesse Checkie Argent and Azure within a Bordure engrailed Gules, the Arms of Stewart with a Brizure; over all is an Inescutcheon of Prentence Argent, a Salter engrailed between 4 Roses Gules, thought to be the feudal Arms of Lenox, a common Practice in Scotland.

The Crest a Bull's Head Sable armed Or, breathing Fire issuing out of a Ducal Crown.

Supporters two Wolves proper.

The Mantlings Gules doubled Ermin.

The Cry de Guerre Avant Darnley.

¹ Pat. 10 E. 3. pt. 2. m. 10.
^m De la Milice Franco. Vol. 2.

ⁿ Moreri Diction.

Du Tres-noble et Puissant Seigneur, CHARLES
Comte de HALIFAX Vicomte de SUNBURY, Baron de HALIFAX, Premier Commissaire pour l'Execution de la Charge du Tresorier de l'Echiquier de la GRANDE BRETAGNE, un des Seigneurs du Conseil d'Etat et Privé de sa Majesté, et Chevalier du Tres-Noble Ordre de la JARRETIERE, Installé au Château de WINDESSOR, le neuvième Jour de Decembre l'An MDCCXIV.

MEMOIRS

Of the LIFE of

Sir Charles Montague Earl of Halifax.

AFTER the Duke of Lemox, several Knights had been seated in this Stall, who upon Vacancies were removed higher, these were

The Viscount Andover, elected 15 May, installed 23 Nov. 1 Car. I, void in the third Year.

Earl of Suffolk, elected 24 Apr. installed 24 Sept. 3 Car. I, void in the fifth Year.

Marquess of Hamilton, elected and installed 5 Oct. 6 Car. I, void in 10 and 11 Years.

And after the King's Restoration the Earl of Strafford, elected 1 Apr. 13 Car. II, and was here seated on 15 Apr. and upon his Translation,

The Duke of Monmouth, elected 29 March, installed 22 Apr. 15 Car. II, void in 18, 19, 20, 21 Years.

Earl of Salisbury, elected 30 August, installed 30 Sept. 32 Car. II.

Duke of Richmond, elected 7th, and installed 20 Apr. 33 Car. II.

Duke of Hamilton, elected 25 Sept. installed 21 Nov. 34 Car. 2.

Duke of Northumberland, elected 10 January 35 Car. II, installed 8 Apr. 36 Car. II.

Earl of Rocheſter, elected 29 June, installed 22 July 1 Jac. II.

Earl of Feverſham, elected 30 July, installed 25 Auguſt 1685.

Earl of Sunderland, elected 26 April, installed 23 May 1687.

Earl of Devon, elected 3 April, installed 14 May, 1ſt of William and Mary.

Earl of Dorſet, elected Febr. 2, installed Febr. 24, 1691-2.

Earl of Shrewsbury, elected 25 April, installed 5 June 1694, void in the 7th Year.

Earl of Portland, elected Feb. 19, 1696, installed 15 March following.

Earl of Albemarle, elected May 14, installed June 5, 1700.

Earl of Marlborough, elected March 14, 1701-2, installed March 13, 1702-3.

Duke Schonburg, elected Auguſt 12, installed 2 Sept. 1703.

Lord Godolphin, elected July 6, installed 13 Dec. 1704.

On the 16th of October, 1714, the Right Honourable Charles Montague Earl of Halifax was elected into this moſt Noble Order, and placed in this Stall on the 9th of December, he died on the 19th of May following, according to the Inſcription on a ſtately Pyramid of vein'd Marble, in Henry the Seventh's Chapel at Weſtminſter.

H.

CAROLUS MOUNTAGUE
 Honorabilis Georgii Mountague de Horton
 In Agro Northamptonensi filius, Henrici Comitis de Manchester Nepos,
 Qui Scholæ Regiæ apud hanc Ecclesiam Alumnus.
 Collegii S^æ Trinitatis apud Cantabrigienses Socius.
 Literas humaniores tam feliciter excoluit
 Ut inter nostratum primos
 Tunc Poetas, tum Oratores,
 Dispari licet in Studiorum genere,
 Pari tamen cum laude floretet:
 Bonarumq; Artium disciplinâ instructus
 Ex Academiæ Umbraculis
 In Publicum prodiret,
 Literatorum jam tum Decus,
 Max & Præfatum.

S.

Brevi etenim hanc virum
 Sua in Senatu facundia,
 In Concilio providentia,
 In utroq; solertia, fides, auctoritas
 Ad gerendam Aſarî curam evexit;
 Ubi laborantibus Eſtæ rebus
 Opportune ſubſerviens,
 Monetam argentæam,
 Magnæ reipublicæ detrimento imminutam,
 Valori priſtino reſtituit;
 Et tantæ molis opus
 Cum ſagiente jam bello diutino,
 Et aggredietur & abſolveret
 Ne ſubſidia Regi Regnoq; neceſſaria Deſcent interim,
 Ne fides aut prævata aut publica
 Vacillaret uſſium
 Sapienter curavit.

E.

His erga Patriam, & Principem meritis, Utriuſq; Benevolentiam complexus,
 Arcium Stirpis ſuaſ ſplendorem
 Norviſ Irriſis auxit:
 Baro ſcilicet, deinde & Comes Halifax
 Creatus
 Ad tres Montacutiani nominis Proceres
 Quartus acceſſit:
 Summo deniq; Perſectidæ honore
 Inſignitus
 Dum promovendæ ſaluti & utilitati publicæ
 Onni mente incumberet
 Medjos inter comatus,
 Cum honorum omnium luſu
 Eximiſtus eſſet
 XIX die Maii A^d MDCCLXXV.
 Etatis ſuae LV.

The Editor shall not attempt any Essay upon his Character: The Rule which he hath prescribed to himself as inviolable, is to say nothing that may render him suspected either of Partiality or Prejudice. It is much easier to conform to this Rule in speaking of Persons, who have sometime since quitted the Stage of Life, and whose Achievements have no visible or immediate Relation to any Political Schemes or Interests of Great Men at present: But the Difficulty lies in making such a Report concerning the personal Qualities or Conduct of Great Men, whereby many Persons now living may apprehend themselves more nearly affected, some from Reasons of Affinity, or former Dependencies, of personal Esteem, or the Good, as they term it, of some common Cause; others from Reasons of Distaste, of different Opinions, or opposite Measures. He hath therefore rather chosen to be silent upon Subjects of so great Nicety, than to be guilty of a Temerity, for the Success of which he dared by no means undertake to answer. Few Historians indeed have succeeded well, or without giving, in one Degree or other, Occasion of Offence, who have undertaken to write the Characters and Transactions of their own Times, and immediately to publish them, and therefore some of the most celebrated Names among them have wisely deferred for several Years the Publication of those Works, which related to the Lives of their Contemporaries: But he here proposes them rather as Examples of Caution, than as Models, which he is yet determined in this Respect to follow: He shall think his Pains in the present Specimen abundantly rewarded, if he hath been able to retrieve any valuable Monuments from Dust and Oblivion, relating to the former Knights of this Order, who have been long in their Coffins, leaving to those, who may think fit to proceed in a Work of the like Nature, a large Field of Glory, in reciting the Actions of the more Modern Knights Companions, and not envying them the great Advantages of reaping from latter Histories or Records, which it is hoped greater Care will be taken for the future in preserving than has been hitherto at all Times employed.

The Arms are quarterly, in the first and fourth Montague, Argent, 3 Lozenges in Fesse Gules, within a Border Sable; the 2d and 3d Moutbermer, Or, an Eggle Vert, membred and beak'd Gules. ^a Upton mentions his special Patron who bore Arms (as he saith) by reason of certain Lands belonging to the Barony of Montacute, thus blazoned in French, Il port d'Argent trois fusilez de gewles. Sir Edw. ^b Byshe is at a loss to discover to what Lands those Arms were annexed. Our Historian ^c Knighton informs us, that in July 1335, the King gave to the Lord Montague His Crest With Eggle, with a War Horse caparisoned with the Coat Arms of Montague, with the Reversion of the Mannors of Wetton and Merberwode; and indeed the Grant is on Record, wherein Ed. III. on 12 July, in his ^d ninth Year [A. D. 1335.] grants for himself and Heirs to William de Montacute,

^a De re milit. p. 249.

^b Note: in Upton, p. 85.

^c Dec. Script. col. 2565.

^d Cart. 9 E. 3. n. 10.

Tymbriam nostram de Aquila per se & Heredes suos in perpetuum defendendam: Volentes insuper eundem Willimum, ut ipse & Heredes sui statum & honorem bajulationis Tymbrie prædictæ decentius & honorificentius futuris temporibus manutenere possint, munere prospicere gratiofo, concessimus ei -- Maneria de Wodeton, Frome, Whitefeld & Merswode, &c. post decessum prædictæ Matildæ, &c. This Person, created Earl of Salisbury, being Godfather to Lionel of Antwerp the King's third Son, assigned this Crest to his Godson, which the King confirms, and makes a new ^c Grant of these Mannors to this Earl, to hold them notwithstanding this Assignment of the Crest. This doth not explain the Terms of Upton taken in a strict Sense, but the Collector knows no other Proof of any Arms annexed to the Lands held by this Family.

Margaret, Daughter and sole Heir of Thomas Son of Ralph Montbermer sometime Earl of Glocester, was married to John Montacute younger Brother to this William, and for that Reason their Descendants the Earls of Salisbury quartered these Arms, and the Great-Granddaughter of this John being married to Richard Nevil, (who was by a solemn ^d Determination declared Earl of Salisbury by Vertue of this Marriage) he in Allusion probably to these Arms of Montbermer, gave the Title ^e Eglevert to his Partevant, who seems to be the same Officer misprinted ^b Anglebert in the Historian, who tells us he was in 1429 sent by the Earl of Salisbury to the Duke of Bretagne.

The Crest is a Griffon's Head couped Or, between two Wings erected in Dorfe, beaked and charged on the Neck with a Portcullis Sable. Simon de Montague, in the Reign of Ed. I. bore an entire Griffon on his Counterfeal, and William Montagu Earl of Salisbury in 9 R. II. granted to ^f John de Tyre during his Life, Parcel of his Helmet, that is, La teste de Griffon ovesq; le cool la chief d'asure jusques al moitie de cool, & l'autre moitie de cool la chief d'asure jusques al moitie de cool, & l'autre moite de coole desoutz ovesq; la labekyn d'argent, ove un rondet torceles d'asur lentour le cool.

The Supporters are, on either Side, a Griffon Argent Gutté de Sang, the Wings erected in Dorfe Gules, and charged on the Breast with a Portcullis Sable.

Since his Death there have been installed herein,

The Earl of Berkeley, elected the 31st of March, installed the 30th of April 1718.

^c Pat. Hom. Angl. & Vasc. 13 E. 3. m. 14. Sciatz quod cum nuper attendentes probitatem Srenuam dilecti & fidelis nostri Willimi de Monte Acuto Comitis Saruni & Marecalli Angliæ dederimus ei tymbriam Aquilæ quam proprius nos ipsi portavimus, & ut honorem dictæ tymbriæ possit decentius conservare concessimus, &c. ut maneria de Wodeton Frome, &c. remaneant præfato Comitæ & hæreditibus suis in perpetuum, ac jam idem Comes ad rogatum nostrum Leoni filio nostro carissimo, quem dictus Comes de sacro fonte levavit dictam tymbriam ex affectione multa concesserit per ipsum ad nostri honorem & memoriam defendendam, &c. 16. Sept. and therefore the King confirms the same Mannors to the Earl, Non obstante quod idem Comes præfatus filio nostro tymbriam reddiderit supra dictam.

^f Cleopatra F. iv. in bibl. Cotton.

^g Exit. Pell. Pasch. 33 H. 6. Eglevert Purifivant Com. Saruni misit versus partes Bonaales cum xxi literis de privato sigillo Regis diversis Dom. & aliis personis ibid. existentibus directis Dom. & aliis personis causis & materis in eisdem literis contentis commodum Regis concernentibus expediendis 25 s. 8d.

^b Lobineau's Hist. de Bretagne, p. 538.

ⁱ Busb. Note in Upton, p. 85.

^k Madox's Form. Angl. n. DLXIII.

Duke of Kingston, elected the 29th of April, installed the 23d of June 1719.

Earl of Sunderland, elected the 21st of November 1719, installed the 24th of May 1720, died on the 18th of April 1722, in the 12th Stall of this Side.

The Earl of Lincoln, elected the 27th of March, installed the 25th of April 1721, and the same is at present [Sept. 1723.] possessed by the Duke of Roxburghe, elected Off. 10, 1722, installed the 13th of November following.

A SUP.

A SUPPLEMENT

TO

Mr. ASHMOLE's Discourse

OF GARTER'S

Institution, Oath, Mantle, Ensign, Badge, Privileges, and Pension.

THE Editor hath thus gone through the Task proposed in the Introduction, which he owns to be done without reflecting sufficiently on the Subject Matters, which hath been occasioned on Account of the Haste he was obliged to write in by Directions of those, whom it was his Duty to obey; and he designed here to have made an End, but finding the Black-book and these Collections are too large to be conveniently bound up in one Volume, and that in case they should be divided into two, this Part will bear no due Proportion in Bigness to the other, and being unwilling to engage in the Expence of Engraving two and twenty Plates

Plates remaining in the opposite Stall on the Sovereign's Side, which ought to follow in course of the ranging the Stalls, till an Experiment had been made, whether such insipid Narrations of bare Facts prove acceptable to any Readers: He hath therefore adventured to make an Essay of some Additions to one Chapter in Mr. Ashmole's History, in the manner he designed to consider other Chapters, and he hopes there is no Occasion to make any Apology for selecting that which treats of the Institution, Oath, Mantle, Ensign, Badge, Privileges and Penſion of Garter King of Arms, considering the Relation thereof to his proper Office; but if it had not any such Relation, he is well protected by the Authority of Persons in their respective Ages very illustrious in the Common-Wealth of Letters, who have not thought it any Diminution to the several Professions whereof they excelled, to publish Dissertations upon Heralds in general, whereof some of these Writers were * Churchmen of the highest Order and Stations,

* Rome Silvius, afterwards Pope Pius the Second, cited in 1458.

Jeau de Dormans, Bishop and Cardinal of Beauvais, quoted in the Feron's Inſtit. des Roys & Heralds d'Armes, p. 6. He died in 1373, according to the Inscription on his Tomb in Dir Broed's Description de Paris, p. 471. Le Sieur de la Croix du Maine in his Bibliothèque ſaite, This he never ſaw this Author, but it is ſometimes remarkable, that when this de Dormans was an Advocate, King John in May 1352, ſubſtituted him, his Lady, and his Poſterity, by an Inſtrument printed in Du Cheſne Hiſt. des Chancel. p. 761, which probably may be ſeen by employing ſome of his leiſure Hours in doſe Enquiries.

If this Work remain, it may be probable he may mention ſomebody of the English Heralds, ſince he was Embaſſador biſhop, Frizon Gallia Purpur. p. 287, and there remains among our Records a ſafe Conduct for him to come in Calis, Rymer, vol. 6, p. 705.

The Biſhop of Borgos in Spain, mentioned in the ſame place by le Feron, & in Bibl. Cotton Faulſina E. v.

The Biſhop of Pampelona — Sandoval in the Life of Ch. V. L. 18. Sect. 26. had a long Diſſertation touching theſe Officers.

Robert Gaguin Doctur of Laws, General of the Order of the Mithurins, or Trinitarians, who died in 1521, Beſon's Amis de Paris, p. 168. b. He published Statutes and Ordinances des Roys d'Armes, printed at the End of L'hiſtoire des Gueſtes Romains, a Paris pour Anthoine Verard. *This Perſon may be placed under the Class of Statesmen, having undertaken many Embaſſies from the King of France to the Pope, Notes for Ph. de Comines, p. 261. in Italy, Germany, and England, and was ſent for his Skill in Hiſtory, Oratory, Poſie, and all Poſſible Literature. Mirax Elogia Bellica, p. 197. *As to his Embaſſy into England, ſee Rymeri Fœdera, vol. xii, p. 432, 454, 498. Polydor Virgil, p. 581. Domitian A. 18. in Bibl. Cott. Eloquentiſſimus Oſtor Gaguinus Ordinis Sancti Trinitatis Generalis — legatus Regis France.

*To doſe may be added Spertus Inſignium Theoris, and the Works of C. F. Menestrier the French, a Perſon very famous for his Learning, who died at Paris 21 January 1705. Memoires de Trevoux fevrier 1705. Marc de Vaulſon, Sir de la Colombiere, Chevalier de l'Ordre de St. Michel & Gentilhomme Ordinaire de la Maifon du Roy, de l'office des Roys d'Armes, des Heralds & des Pourſivans, &c. a Paris 1645, in 4to. *This Perſon was nobly knighted in 1643, La Science Heroique, p. 162. And in the privilege for Printing his Book, the King gives him the Character of having performed divers Services in the Wars: See his Theatre d'Honneur, Vol. 1. p. 532.

Olivier de la Marche, in his Hiſtory, hath many Remarks about theſe Officers, but more particularly in l'Etat de la Maifon du Duc. Charles de Bourgogne, in 1574, printed at Broſſels at the End of his Memoirs, who may be conſidered either as a Statesman having been Maſter of the Houſhold to the Duke of Burgundy, and Embaſſador into this Kingdom. *Thus Rot. 9 E. IV. m. 5. 6. Feb. Salus Conducitur pro Domino Olivero de la Marche Magistro Hoſpitii Caſſimi fratris Noſtri Ducis Burgundie: And the ſite again, 22 Junii Rot. Franc. 10 E. 4. m. 2. He was ſiſt, as he acquaints us, Embaſſador in France: Or he may be conſidered as a Soldier, having been Captein of the Guards to Duke Charles, Knighted at the Battle of Montleheri, and taken Priſoner at that of Nancy. He died at Gramaye in Auſis. Brabant informs us in 1501, of whom ſee Bayle's Dictionaire Veſt. Marche, and poſſibly be is the ſame who in Privat. Sicill. 7 E. 4. in Regis in Off. Pell. is entered, To Sir John Olwyer de la Marche a Knight of Bretagne, with a Cap. of Silver and Gilt Pr. of xl. in v. and vi. Marc. in Moncy, Bretagne being poſſibly here placed for Burgundy.*

Henry Howard Earl of Northampton, a Perſon of excellent Wit, and ſweet Eloquence, Maſter of Arts and Sciences, at Mr. Camden ſites him.

But the lateſt of all, Jean Baptiſt Chryſtin Baron of Meerbecke, Chancellor of Brabant, and Plenipotentiary for the King of Spain at the Treaty of Peace at Nimeguen, in Juriſprudentia Heroica, whereof he was the Author: See le Theatre de la Nobleſſe du Brabant, p. 157.

Moreri's Dictionaire, augmented by Monsieur le Clerc.

Belleſort's les Grands Annals de France, l. 4. c. 41. p. 759 b.

St. Julian Doyen de Clalon de l'Antiquite & Origines des Bourgognons c. 220. p. 143.

Gollur de la Repub. Sequanoſis, p. 817. a very learned Lawyer and Hiſtorian.

Charondas le Caron Pandectes du Droit Francois.

Johan le Feron de la Primitive Inſtitution des Roys & Heralds, 1555. Abridged under the Title Le Heralds de la Guerre enſemble ſon election, pre-eminence digne & Office parmy les Armes a Paris 1610 in 12mo.

Claude Pancher origines des Chevaliers, Armoiries, & Henna, a Paris 1600 in 8vo.

tions, others Laymen of Learning, Souldiers, Politicians, Statesmen, Historians, Civil and Common Lawyers, Antiquaries, and Glossographers.

The Method proposed is first to consider the Original and Import of the Title of King of Arms in general, and next that of Garter in particular, the Time of the Institution thereof, the Succession of these Officers, and the Duties and Rights of this Employment.

For several Ages antecedent to the Creation of Garter, there had been in this, as in Foreign Kingdoms, a Society or Fraternity of Officers of Arms, distinguished by the Degrees of Kings and Heralds; for it seems Pursuivants were then esteemed only Candidates, Noviciates, or Probationers, who when promoted into the Order of Heralds of Arms, became complete real Officers; out of these Heralds, a Superior Order was selected, at first known by the Stile of Kings of the Heraldry, to whom in Process of Time the Title of Kings of Arms was attributed, because the Order of an Herald of Arms was comprehended within the Dignity of a King of the Heraldry by way of Involution as a Part in the Whole, or as the Inferior is within the Superior; for heretofore as no Herald of Arms could be created, unless he had gone through the Apprenticeship of a Pursuivant, so no Person was advanced to be a King of Heraldry without passing through the Office of an Herald of Arms; but these Gradations have been determined to be unnecessary in Westminster-Hall, and that Promotions may be made per Saltum in this Office. The Office then of a King of Heraldry included that of an Herald of Arms ex vi Ordinis, and thence the Term of Arms became at length an Appellation given to those Kings as well as to the Heraldry to whom it did originally belong: But it must not be inferred, that such Kings of Heraldry were no more than the first or primary Heraldry of Arms presiding over the others, for the Support of Regularity and Government, for these Kings were of a separate and higher Order and Character, that is, upon their Creations thereto became invested with some Singularities of Power and Privilege, and were thereby qualified with a Capacity to perform some Functions and Trusts, which they had no Authority or Pretence to execute or claim, while they were only in the Class of Heraldry: Hence it was that the Heraldry of Arms, upon their Advancement to be Kings of the Heraldry, had a new Method of Creation and Coronation in a Form very much different from that of their former Admission to be Heraldry of Arms, and an Oath of a different Tenour was administered to them, which, with several other Particulars that might be named, sufficiently prove a Distinction of Order, if the Publisher is not mistaken in his Notion of that Term. An Instance to illustrate this Matter may be taken from the Feciales among the Romans, thought to resemble the Heraldry, where, as other Qualifications were re-

Andrea Favine le Theatre d'Honneur & Chevalerie, l. 1. c. 4.

Sir John Dodderidge.

Hyde chief Justice.

The Dissertations of the Members of the Voluntary Society are preserved in the Cotton Library, Faustinae E. v.

Weaver's Funeral Monuments.

Tho. de Rouck, Den Nederlandschen Herald Amst. 1645 fol.

The chief of the Antiquarians are Sir Henry Spelman, Du Fresne, Dr. Watts, Cafeneuve, Covarruvias, Martinus, Hofmann, Kilianus, Minshew Dictionnaire de l'Academie, de Trevoux, de Rochefort, de Furetiere, &c.

b Roll's Abridgement, p. 2. E. 72.

quired for the Pater Patrus than for a simple Fecial, so, the former had an Authority to demand an Oath, which the latter could not do: For notwithstanding the Allusion of Dr. Wats, the Collector is diffident, whether he may without giving Offence, compare these Degrees of the Officers of Arms to the Orders in the Church, though by the way several other Resemblances besides these Distinctions of Orders may be found of an Analogy between the Customs of the Clergy and those relating to the Officers of Arms. To specify some of them, none could be admitted into either College without a Purity of Extraction, a Competency of Age, a previous Examination of their Abilities, and a Certificate of their Moralities and Conversations, and then their Admissions were conferred at Solemn Festivals with splendid Ceremonies differing according to their Degrees, and even the Initiation of Pursuivants was known by the Ecclesiastical Term of Baptism; and it was further required that all Officers of Arms should have a particular Title as well as the Clergy, and likewise that an Endowment or Subsistence was to be settled upon them for their Lives irrevocably, for none of them were permitted to be temporary; they were forbidden frequenting Taverns, and using Games of Hazard, and when this Character was duly conferred, the same was thought, like that of the Clergy, to be indelible.

The Comparison to the Clergy might the rather be indulged in this Case, if the Observation of a learned Jesuit hath any solid Foundation, that to render the Order of Knighthood more venerable, the several Cere-

e. Dated de Parma Equestri Woodwardiana, F. 75.

A Olig. ad M. Paris voce Cunfor.
All Writers have used this Term for this Purpose, as whob Spener, Theor. Insign. p. 5. takes Offence, as implying, in his Opinion, a profanation of the Holy Sacrament of Baptism. This Scribble seems to be of an older Date; for the MS. of Anderson in Queen's Coll. Library in Oxford hath these Words, "And thus is he [the Pursuivant] twice origin, first at the font Seine for the salvation of his soule, and sine be his Poundur, but not in derisione, " in l'yt lying of ye holy sacrament, bot for agumentation of gode werks and to keep unite among Christin pepill als Fer as in him it efter his power". May it be allowable for an Officer of Arms to say somewhat in this scrupulous German-Baptize sense in his Primitive Sense in wash or plunge, or dip in Water, and therefore the Washing of Caps is termed Baptism by the inspired Writers, Mar. 8. 4. Hebr. 9. 10. and at length this Word, like severall other Greek and Latin ones, was made by the Christians a technical Term, and as it were consecrated in expressioe of the Holy Sacraments: However this Term was not only used in the Romish Church for other Rites, but like severall other, taken from religious Rites, hath been successively used in Secular Affairs, otherwise the Lawyers must need quill in what Baptizer ion Appel for specifying the Particulars thereof. Dist. de Trevous voce Baptizer, Du Fresin Gloss. Upon which that he had baptized, that is translated by Book de Militari Officio. It may possibly be too late to mention the usual Practice of the Seamen, who upon their first passing of the Line draw Water throng on their Head, which is called Baptism; when the Portuguesee take on them a new Surname, which is of some illustrious Family in that Kingdom; which latter Point seems indelible, as being derogatory to the Nobility for no know

It was thought a Capital Crime in Postostanus for calling his Bond Slaves by the Names of Janous Caputains. And thus in the French Language, when any Subjunct is imposed, the Person is said to be baptized, and in the same Idiom Baptizer ion vin it to mingle Water with it; new Wine mixed with Wine was, as Upon said, poured upon the Head of the Penitent, who had then the Title or Surname imposed upon him. And thus in some Rites in the Romish Church, not accounted by them Sacraments, this Word hath been used, as in the Dedication of Churches, the naming of Bells, as whob Peyrat Antiqu. de la Chapelle, p. 533. Ce n'est pas un Baptisme, qui soit Sacrement, ce n'est qu'une seule imposition de nom accompagnee de Saintes Ceremonies, &c de benediction. The Monks for some Ages called their Entry into Religion a Baptism, Ducheril notes ad vitam Lanfranc, p. 20. at which Time they usually took a new Name. Du Fresin Gloss. v. nomen, and at present the Cardinals themselves baptize the Relicks of Saints that are supposed to be found in the Catacombs without any Inscription, De cultu ignotorum Sanctorum, p. 10. and 'tis as well known that when the Greeks married any Lady of the Latin Church, they imposed on them new Names which they styled a Retabaptization, Du Fresin. Gloss. voce nomen, a Word much less desirable. This German would have been more flourish'd at the Word Christian used in the Manuscripts, though our noble Historian hath used this Expression for giving a Name to a Ship, Lord Clarend. Hist. vol. 3. p. 602. and possibly would be as much scandalized at the Term Creation, though the same hath been used for the Promotion to the Degree of the Nobility as well as to Heralds; and he had the same Reason to show the like Aversion to Evangelizer used by the French Lawyers and Historians, in the Words Apostle, Evangelizer, Bishop, Abbot, &c. used in a Secular Sense.

J. Meuzier de la Chevalerie, p. 83.

monies used in the conferring thereof were taken in Allusion to those of the Church, as the Bath with reference to Baptism, the Colaphus in regard to the Blow on the Ear given at Confirmations, the Habit from that of publick Penitents, the Vigils to the Eves, &c.

To prevent any Insinuation, that the Publisher writes with Partiality to the Office of a King of Arms, and disadvantageous to the Pursuivants, he craves Leave, though it may be somewhat foreign, to produce the Proofs of these Assertions by way of Introduction.

It is not worth the while to confute a late & Author, who makes no Distinction between a Pursuivant, an Herald, and a King of Arms, conceiving them only different Terms of one individual Office, or to take Notice that it is laid down, there is no Difference at this Time between Kings and Heralds in the ^b Netherlands, which must be a great Singularity; but if the particular Province of the Netherlands had been mention'd, tis not improbable this Collector might have been enabled to have shewn this Practice was a modern Innovation in that Place. Thus Spener, ⁱ who published his Book in 1690, saith there were five Heralds in the Imperial Court, and no King of Arms among them, "Neq; aliquis inter eos Rex Armorum". If that was the Fact in his Time; our ⁱⁱ Records inform us there anciently were the Degrees of Kings, Heralds, and Pursuivants; The Quotations are in the Margin. But to proceed, ^k Upton, and from his Authority other ^l Authors inform us, That there were two Degrees of Officers inferior to Pursuivants, the lowest are by them named Cursives, that is Messengers on Foot, who wore the Arms of their Masters painted; enclosed in Boxes hanged to their Belts, and from those Chinachers were taken (false Printed doublets for Chivauchers) that is Messengers on Horseback, who had their Master's Arms affixed to their Shoulders, which latter, ⁱ Theoria insignium, p. 9.

^g Rene Francois Essays des Merveils de Nature, p. 437.

^h Jurisprud. Heroica, vol. 2. p. 78.

ⁱⁱ Comp. Hospitii & E. 1. in Turri Lond. Hertelino Regi Herardorum Alemannie, vidulatore Regis Alemannie, & uni heraldorum Armorum Alemannie de dono Regis xii l.

Comp. Garderob. 12 E. 3. penes Camerar. Secar. magistro Conrad Regi heraldorum. & decem aliis Menestralis diversorum aliorum Magnatum Alemannie existentium apud Insulam de Ward in presentia Regis & scientibus Menestralium suam ibidem de dono Dom. Regis C. Ludewiko Regi Heraldorum Alemannie & Ludewiko Piper Ministrallo Domini Imperatoris venientibus ad Dom. Regem & scientibus Menestralium suam coram Rege 25 Decemb. xi. Johanni de Stembergh & heraldo Armorum de Alemannia de dono Regis venientibus cum rumoribus xiv s.

Exit Pell. M. 20 E. 3. Custodi Garderobis per manus Johannis de Staynehall Regis Heraldorum de Alemannia in partem solutionis xxiv l. xvii s. sibi debitis tam de vadis suis guetree de tempore quo stetit in obsequio Regis in partibus Francie & Brabantie, quam pro restituro duorum equorum in obsequio Dom. Regis in eisdem partibus, & pro Robis suis.

Exit Pell. P. 24 E. 6. Heraldus Imperatoris in denariis sibi liberatis per manus Garterii Regis Armorum in perfolutionem x Marcarum, quas Dom. Rex certis de causis ipsum moventibus dicto Heraldus liberare mandavit.

Priv. Sig. 5 July 27 H. 6. 10 pay to Syrelande bivaule unto the byg and mighty Prince the Emperor xl.

Priv. Sig. 17 June 36 H. 6. To pay Barchelour Herald late coming towards us from the byg and mighty Prince the Emperor with certain Letters and Message xl.

In 1467, Romerick King of Arms of the Holy Roman Emperor and Herald confirmed and constituted by the most illustrious Roman Emperor Frederick being then in the City of London grants a Coat of Arms. The Original is in the Custody of Peter le Neve Esq; Norroy.

Exit Pell. P. 7 E. 4. cuidam heraldo Imperatoris Alemannie in denariis sibi liberatis per manus proprias in precio xiii vinarum de Velvet nigro viiii. & in pecuniis numeratis x Marce, probably the same Romerick.

Priv. Sig. Oct. 7 H. 7. To pay unto Stephen Gosset pursuivant unto our dearest Cousen and brother the King of the Romans 5 Mark.

Lib. Comp. M. 7 H. 7. Philippo Pursuivant nuncio Regis Romanorum nuper venienti a dicto Rege de regardo xl.

37 B. 16. in Bibl. Harley p. 1. x July 1 H. 7. Peris Physiamis Pursuivant of the King of Romans.

k De re militari, p. 18.

l Gerard Leigh's Accidence of Armory.

after three Year's Service, were promoted to be Pursuivants, who however were still accounted, as it hath been hinted, under the Degree of proper Officers of Arms. No great Stress should be laid upon Etymologies, though it be remarked that the Word Pursuivant seems to be of a French Extraction, derived from pour for, and suivre to follow, and thence latinized Prosequens Prosecutor, Prosequutor, somewhat like as the Acolythy, now reputed in the Roman Church to be the lowest of the four Minor Orders, had that Appellation from the Greek Language, signifying a Follower: But the main Question is, whom the Pursuivants were obliged to follow? Le^m Labourer's Conjecture is, that they had that Denomination from their Duty to attend on Princes in their Progresses, to observe and record the Memorable Actions in Justs and splendid Solemnities. But it may be more reasonable to observe that this Denomination of Pursuivant or Follower, according to the Opinions of the Authors cited in the Margin, was attributed to them from their Attendance upon the Heralds, whom they served as their Scholars, Clerks, Scribes, Mandataries, Agents, Substitutes and Assistants, and thence called Les^o Aides des herauts from their waiting on them in such a manner, according to the Expression of D^r Wats, as the Deacons did on the Presbyters, or if that Comparison should be too assuming, as the young Valets or Esquires waited upon Knights, before whom they carried the Shield and Lance; this Resemblance is the rather made, not only because Gowen Douglas uses even the Word Pursuivant for such an Esquire, but because these Officers, on whom we now treat, have been termed Valetti Armorum, which Title of Valets was retained by young Esquires of the greatest Descents, even the Sons of Princes, till the Time they received the Honour of Knighthood. Upon this Account of their being thus the Actuaries, Amanuenses or Secretaries of the Kings and Heralds, they have been called Clercs d'Armes & Serviteurs de l'Office d'Armes, and in this Sense the Editor conceives the Appellation of Apprenticij Heraldorum in an Ancient Wardrobe Account denotes these Pursuivants, and therefore their Duty is expressed to be l'Office des Poursuites ordinaires des Herauds, and the Heralds are enjoined to perform their Functions either personally or by their Pursuivants, and therefore one Pursuivant was substituted to each Herald: Hence a Dutch Author calls the Pursuivants Bachelors, and Du^a Rueille Feccales Baccalaureos, a Word used on several Occasions for young Gentlemen, who for want of Experience in Feats of Arms

^m Origine des Armes, p. 119.

ⁿ Limu. de jure publico in addit. ad l. 6. c. 5. n. 121. Pursuivants vocabulo a Gallis petito, quibus Pursuivans d'Armes appellatur Heraldus, qui nondum in officio suo sunt, sed expectant dum locum vacare contingat: See Faucher des Herauts, p. 26. Belleforest les Grands Annals de France, l. 4. c. 21. Diction. de Furetiere, des Arts & Sciences par M. D. C.

^o Trabouillet l'Etat de France, vol. 1. p. 592.

^p Gloss. ad M. Paris in voce Curfor.

^q Gloss. at the End of the Translation of Virgil.

^r See La Roque de Noblesse, p. 7. Du Fresno Gloss. v. Valetti.

^s See Sicily Herald hereafter quoted. Menestrier de la Chevalerie, p. 208.

^t Comp. Garderobe xi Ed. 3. Peres Rememor. Regis m. 3. Cokerello & Waltero Cardinali Apprenticij Heraldorum d'Armes ad robas suas ut patet per breve Dom. Regis sub privato sigillo datum apud Westm. v. die Marti anno xii, xii unlas de panno radiato: See Mus. Ashm. xi. 1111.

^u Belleforest les Grands Annals, l. 4. c. 21.

^x Schubarrus de Com. Palat. p. 308.

^y Favyn Theatre d'honneur, l. 1. c. 4.

^z Rouek Nederl. Herault, p. 222. ende ghedonden voor Bacheleron der officieren der Wapenen.

^a Tab. suprem. honorum Car. iii. Lotharingis Ducis.

were not advanced to the Degree of Knighthood, as likewise for the lowest Sort of Knights, who having not Estate or Vassals qualifying them to be Bannerets, had that Appellation given them; and again, this Term Bachelour, in the University Language, was attributed to a Noviciate, that being not any real or perfect Degree, as the ^b Canonists tell us. In this State of Tryal, according to the Ancient Treatises, these Pursuivants were to continue for seven Years to learn ^c Obedience and Silence, a Rule heretofore so strictly observed, that the Sovereign himself, upon extraordinary Occasions, was permitted only to Dispence ^c with the last Year of this Apprentiship.

The Collector intends not to delay the Reader in this Place, by shewing the Ceremonies used in the Baptisms of Pursuivants to be different in several Articles from the Solemnities of the Creations of Herald, and the Difference of their respective Ensigns, that had a concealed allegorical Meaning in them, which would require a large Dissertation; but he would not omit two Particulars relating to Pursuivants, which he thinks intimate, these were not complete Officers of Arms, that is, their Power of resigning or renouncing that Employment, and their former Method in wearing their Coats.

It hath been hinted, and will be soon proved, that the Character of an Officer of Arms, like that of the Clergy, was esteemed indelible, and it was the Doctrine of former Ages, that if any such Officer had committed a Crime, for which he deserved to be condemned to Death, or to be exposed to publick Shame, that before the inflicting such Punishment, he, in the same Manner as a Clergyman, ought to be degraded, and not suffer in the Quality of an Officer of Arms, but as a defecrate Malefactor; the Creation of a Herald (as it is expressed in an Ancient ^d Manuscript) “ Is na litell thing, for it is ane Ordre of worschep, and He is bunden to it for all the dayis of his live— Fra he be maid Herald, may his Foundour discharge him or deprive him? Nay yat may He not, without caus of deprivation, and yat be maid known to the King or to the Constable of his Realm. And be ye herald worthy and undeservit, gif ye case his Foundour would be fa unworschepfall, yat he wald failze him and not fulfill him of his leving, He may call him before his Sovereaine Lord and compell him till it. May a herald gif oure his Office, and discharge him yerof and he left? Nay yat may he not, bot gif he wald purches ane dispensation to enter in religione: Sum haldis opinion, yat to take ye Ordour of Knytheid dischargs him, bot I cannot understand be quhat reson, for of knights were heralds wer first made and put yerto for the maire strait Ordour, and it is not usable to charge fra ye strater to the frear, bot it is oft done”. Let us now hear what this same Writer saith upon the Subject of Pursuivants. “ Ane Pursuivant standis, bot as a Novis, ay quibil ye zeirs of his preveing be past, for He may leif it and tak him to ane other officer liffing,

^b Rebuffus de Beneficiis, p. 279. n. 29. Hopping de jure insign. c. 2. n. 631.
^c Moreau des Armoiries, p. 89.

^d c Paillet Science des Armoiries. p. 169.
^d In Queen's College Library in Oxon, bearing the Name of one Anderson.

“ quenever him left, diſchargeand him to his founder. May his foundour diſcharge him witour his aun consent or deprive him? That may he not, for it is contrary to his Honour, and alſo to ye firſt promis at yair creatione, And in yat ye Purſevant is frear yan ye maiſter, for ye purſevant may leiſt it as ſaid is”. The Purſevant then was allowed to renounce that Employment at his own pleaſure, which an Herald could not do, becauſe he had received an Order of Worſhip, which is commensurate with the Term of his Life,* unles upon his Entry into Religion: for the Writer doth not as ſome other Authors do, allow the vacating this Office by the Aſſumption of Knighthood. This ſame Doctrin is laid down by Sicily Herald, who muſt be admitted to be a competent Witneſs, who, in his Treatiſe dedicated to all Officers of Arms, ſpeaking of a Purſevant, hath theſe expreſs Words, “ Il n'eſt que Novis que entre en religion, Car il ne faiſt ne doit faire nuls ſerments aux armes— La raiſon eſt celle, pour ce qu'il poeult renuncier a l'office s'il luy plaiſt: Et cela ne peut faire ung herauld, ſi non pour trois cas apres declares”. And when he diſcourtes upon the Nature of the Office of an Herald he thus explains himſelf, “ Et n'eſt pas poſſible, qu'il puiſt renuncier au dit office de herauld; ſy non per trois cas, le premier eſt pour de venir Chevalier, le ſecond eſt pour de venir homme de l'Egliſe, le troiſeme pour commettre Crime de leſe Majeſte, et de deſervoir paine capitale, en cas de criſme de leze Majeſte, de traiſon, meurdre, ou aultre cas digne de mort, doit officier eſtre degrade”: And then he deſcribes the Rites of ſuch a Deprivation. As to the firſt Particular, he propoſes the Caſe, that an Officer of Arms (to whom he there gives the uſual Title of Vordisant) being ſent by his Maſter to the Enemy's, ſhould be informed by them of their laying an Ambuſcade in ſome Wood, whether this Officer was obliged to keep this Secret from his Maſter: On this Point he plays the Cauiſt reſolving it in this Form, That for preventing the Effuſion of Chriſtian Blood, this Officer, without Breach of his Duty to Secrecy, might, in his Opinion, pray and beſeech his Maſter not to proceed towards that Place, where he knew the Enemy thus lay in Ambuſcade, and adviſe him to take a different Rout, without diſcovering the Reaſon of that his Requeſt: But he ſaith the common Expedient to ſolve this Difficulty had been, “ Que le dit Roy d'Armes ou herauld, qui a trouve la dite Embuche des Ememis de ſon maiſtre, s'en doit retourner per aultre chemin, et venir a ſon dit maiſtre luy ſupplier, qu'il le ſache Chevalier en guerre, & adoucu— Roy d'Armes ou herauld doit en la main de ſon dit place remercier a l'office d'armes, et mettre l'ung autre en ſon lieu. Et ce faiſt, le dit Chevalier nouvellement faiſt doit dire en la preſence de ſon Prince et de ſon Conſeil au dit roy d'armes ou herauld quil— au chef des Ememis's qui tiennent embuche en tel lieu, et— ycelluy— eſt deſcouverte”. So that according to the Judgement of former Ages, the Office of a King or Herald, which could not be renounced, might however become extinguished by receiving the Degree of Knighthood, which hath been longer insisted upon in this Place, because in all Probability it will set a Passage of J. Upton in its true Light, who writes, “Et est sciendum quod tales nunci” “Prosecutores possunt esse milites & militaribus gaudere insigniis, ut de-” “ratis, uti velvet, & aliis pannis aureis indui, when as to the Heralds he”

* There is a Copy of this Book formerly belonging to the Quarto's E. 1403, and there is another Copy in the Mr. Selden, now placed in the Royal Library among the College of Arms.

 “only saith, insigniis militaribus utuntur”. Pursuivants, who were Novices, and could abdicate their Professions, might enjoy the Honour of Knighthood, which it seems was esteemed wholly inconsistent with the Offices of Heralds or Kings of Arms. It would too much lengthen the Discourse to enquire into the Reason of the Incompatibility of Knighthood, with their Duties, which may be shewn in a more proper Place.

This Sicily Herald, probably the same Person whose Dissertations on Blazon were published in French at Lions and Paris, under the Reign of Ch. VIII., and afterwards translated into Italian, printed at Venice, treating upon the Manner of Partition of Fees, writes, “Que les poursuivans” “n'ont nul droit de partage, fors ce que plaist au roy d'armes & heraulds de” “leur donner le leur frank volunté: Combien que aucuns ont voulu maintenir,” “que deux Poursuivans vailloient ung herauld: Mais la question est decidée &” “trouvée que non, Car lesdits Poursuivans ne sont que Clercs serveurs aus dits” “roys d'armes & heraulds.”

Besides when Noblemen had their Pursuivants and Heralds, we find this remarkable Difference in the Methods of the Constitution of them by their Masters, that they might institute the first by their own single Authority, and with their own Hands; but for the latter, not only the Consent of the Sovereign was to be obtained, but the Creation it self of the Herald was to be personally by the Prince, or at least some Power derived from him. For (in the Terms of the above quoted Manuscript)
 “All Princes Dukes Marques Erllis Barons and Captains of weir may” “maak Pursévants— How sall a Duke or Marques, ane Erll, or a Bar-” “ron haif his Pursévant maid Herald, sence he may make nane him-” “self? He sall présent him to his Sovereine Lord and certefy his hienefs” “be toung or writ his— and witness governane, and quhat zeirs he”
 “had persewit, and how yat he was borne, and promittit him leving,”
 “and quhen he hes maid him Herald he sall sest him in accomputable” “leving, yat he may leif in worship according to yat Ordour, be-”
 “seeking him of his Grace to do him yat worship, yat he wald creat” “him Herald to his service.”
 “Upton saith, Pursévants were made a Do-” “mino vel magistro ipsius Creandi; Sicily Herald proposes this Question “ Quel-” “ques Gens peullent creer & faire heraulx, ou Officiers d'armes? Nul ne” “doibt faire herauld, s'il n'est Roy, Prince, Comte, ou Baron de sy grande” “Antiquité, que a grand paine soit il memoire du commencement de la noblesse.” “Et que cè soit par le assentement de leur Prince souverain; parceque s'il ad-” “venoit, que le dit herauld messit— qui portast prejudice ou damage au” “prince, ou au país, que le maistre d'icelluy poeult restituer; et a ceste cause” f De re milit. p. 20. & p. 22.

g Meuseur. Orig. des Armoiries, p. 27, 34, 35.
The Collector has inspected Trattato de i Colori nelle arme, nelle livree, & nelle devise di Sicilio Araldo del
Re Alfonso d'Aragonia in Venet. 1605. in 8vo. &

1595, appresso Micheli Bonibelli. We may make some guess to the Age of our Writer of our MS. because in
 p. 27. he saith, Et depuis n'y a pas long temps ou a veu en France Dame Jehane la Purelle, &c. b De re mil. p. 19.

“fiist al commencement accoustumé de baillier & trouver pleges pour yeux, “quand on les faisoit”. Somewhat more is said of these Officers in the Margin.

But there was a visible Distinction between Heralds and Pursévants in the Forms of wearing their Tabarts, which might be perceived at a great Distance, and this Variety, in all Likelihood, owed its Original to the Sentiments of these Ages, that the latter were not complete Officers of Arms. Tabart was indeed a Term ascribed in general to the Habits of all

¹ That his Entered by William Fellowe afterwards Nerroy. “On Thursday the 24 of October 1522.
“The high and mighty Prince Charles Duc of Sul- “folke in his pace in sudwarke did create me with “his own hand to be his Purveyor at Armes naming “me Merlyan de Aye in presence of M^r Gayer, “Suffolk alias Richmond and others. MS. given to “the Herald Office by John Hare Esq; late Rich- “mond”. By the way we learn that the learned “Glossographer is short in saying that only Marleon, “Spein, Gloss. v. heraldus. This Tale finishes in the “*French Livres of a little Hawk in the Nest, which was* “part of the Gift, and the younger Supporter of this noble “Duke. This Herald in his Time, inspired the lesson “*ing the Reputation of this College to the two *Presby- “ter and unaccountable Practices of Knights and Gentlemen “who would have Pursévants of their own. MS. in Royal “Library E. n. 1423. Main aujourd'hui le Noble “Office d'Armes est fort mis en bas & a nyen, a “cause q'il n'y a present tant simple Chevalier ou “Gentilhomme, qu'il ne veuille avoir son poursuivant.
“The French Herald, doth never humbly petition their “Superiors, in prohibi it.

*At a Peace of Charity, the Constitution of a Pursévant, dated in 1422, is here inserted, wherein the “Founder doth it by his own Authority, Omnibus ad “quos potestate litera perveniant Johanne de Lisle “miles in regno Anglie debemus reverentiam & ho- “nestam; Notum facimus, quod quis de fidelitate, “industria, et; bona diligenter dilecti familiaris no- “stri Thomae de Lassy, dicti continentiam habemus “experientiam, nec de eisdem plenarie confidentes, “Ipsum Thomam exavimus, fecimus, & ordinavimus, “creavimus, facimus & ordinavimus per praesens Pub- “licum Instrumentum ad Arma, Autoritates eum ad “obsequium; terrarum in quibusvis locis honestis “nostra intersigimus. Amotum palam detestandum, &
“ad illa que praesens Pursivandi ad Arma facere “consequenter gerendum & exercendum; in quo “*officio impotamus sibi nomen Esquire a modo ap-* “pellandum; de quo officio fideliter exercendo pla- “centis nobilibus viris & nobis presentibus solenne “*fratrisse monumentum in manibus Cestre herauldii*
“ad Arma ad hoc per nos specialiter vocati & re- “quisiti, alios etiam adhibitis solennitibus in limi- “libris & consuetis. Rogamus propterea Principes “suoslibet & viros nobiles, necnon Reges ad Arma “nostris Heraldos & alios quoscumq; fulgent praecelenti- “bus aut auctoritate, paces quos praenominatum “Esquire* familiarium nostrorum contigerit se transferre,* “quatenus ipsum pro tali habeant & favorabiliter “admirant de honoribus, prerogativis, iuribus & “emolumentis dicto officio spectantibus & consuetis
“cum libere uti, & pacifice gaudere permittentes & “Evidentes. In cujus rei testimonium sigillum no- “strum presentibus literis duximus apponendum.
“Datum in Civitate B. vi die Ap. Anno 1442.
“MS. in Cotton Libr. not yet marked. There is an “Instrument much of the same Tenure in 1429, printed “in Bellesme's les Grands Annals de France, l. 4.
“c. 41. The Collector doth not remember that he hath “*seen any Instrument whereby an Herald was constituted by a Nobleman. Our Records indeed furnish us with “plentiful Instances of the Employment of such Officers, “but there was no Occasion to rectify the Form of their “Constitutions. Edmond Earl of March died in “5 R. 2. leaving his Son under Age, and therefore the “King, in the next Year, doth call his Wn to the For- “wers of the Manor of Wortley Mortimer, residing,

“That whereas Edmond late Earl of March, and Ul- “ster, had by an Indenture (which the King had con- “firmed) for the good Services rendered to him by his be- “*loved Servant John Orbelake, “*Quem ipse Haral- “*dum ad Arma & nominatè Mortie fecit”, had* “granted him an Annuity during his Life, as by the “Letters of the said Earl and the King Confirmation “were fully appeared, therefore these Forwers are “ordered to pay it. Claus. 6 R. 2. m. 25. See Pat. 6 R. 2.
“p. 1. m. 29.

At the Investiture of the Prince of Wales, on All-“Saints Day, x H. 7. the King, at the Request of the “Marquis Dorset, created an Herald of Arms for him, “Julius B. 12. hild. Cotton p. 95. Chodius A. B.
“W. Q. in off. Arm. E. 227b.

In the Life of Sir Richard Wingfield, in this Book, “p. 231. there is inserted a Letter, wherein it is in- “structed, that the King was to be spoke in about the “Constituting a Pursévant for the Deputy of Calis, but “the Occasion of that Letter was doubtful to obtain an “Allowance of the usual Salary, which should out of the “Revenues of that Place.

From this Instance of March, compared with several “other Records, in which he was first by his Name,
“after the Death of his Founder, we find that those Her- “alds by their Creation became Officers for Life, and
“as it was not in their own Power to resign, so their “Office was not determined by the Death of their “Founder. This Chancery Herald is first mentioned by “Froissard, under that Title, after the Death of his “Master, who was killed 44 E. 3. yet this Office is “named in 1380. Froiss. vol. 2. p. 54. for p. 83. 1366.
“and in a Record Exit. Pell. 7 R. 2. it is proven there will “*be only another Precedent inserted, which says that *Ni- “cholas did, according to the Manuscript above quoted, “insinuate, that it suit an Annuity upon these Officers
“for their Lives, and that they retained these Titles after “*the Death of their Founder. We have a *Privy-Seal, “dated 16 March 1 H. 2. to confirm the Grant of xxx “Marks out of the Manor of Wyndon, made by the “then late Duke of Norfolk to Reginald Mowbray the “Herald, which Reginald had succeeded on that Duke
“in his Beneficence, Rymer. vol. 8. p. 51. and in this “same Reginald Mowbray Herald, and in Elizabeth his “Wife, that King in his 5th Year grants the Custody of “the Exchange at Calis. Privy-Seal. 22. Oct. 5 H. 2.

If it should be enquired what these Officers of this “Book did after the Death of their Founders, who died “without their Male, it will be found they were at Liberty
“to retain themselves under the Sovereign, or with some “Noblemen, in such which Cases their Titles were allowed.
“But what is very particular, if their Founders left a “Widow or Heiress, these Officers might continue with them,
“in which Case they were obliged to bear the Arms of the “Ladies in a particular manner, in which Custom our all these Degrees, which with regard to these Classis of Officers had however peculiar Names; the Robes of Pursuivants were called ⁴ Coats of Arms, Plaques were attributed to Heralds, as Tuniques did belong to the Kings.

Heralds were complete Officers, and according to Sicily Herald, wore their Habit in the same Manner with their Founders or Masters, which *Upon*¹ expresses more fully, to be in the same Form as their Masters used in the Days of Battle, at Turnaments or other Feats of Arms, " Et isti " [Haraldi] debeant portare tunicam armorum Dominorum suorum, & eisdem " indui eodem modo sicut Domini sui cum in consiliis fuerint vel torneamen- " tis & aliis periculis bellicis, &c. " But Pursuivants being Novices wore their Coats transversely to intimate they had not a full Investiture, and had not the Privilege to appear clothed like their Masters in their Feats of Arms. This Transposition of their Coats could not be ordained at first with a View only to distinguish them from Heralds, for their Coats of Arms were as inferior to Plaques in the Materials, Bigness, Shape and Value, as Plaques were to Tuniques; and as this Difference of Plaques from Tuniques in these Particulars diversify'd these Kings from Heralds, so the like Diversity in these Coats of Arms from Plaques would as well serve to difference Heralds from Pursuivants; besides there were other Ensigns and Symbols that would sensibly distinguish Heralds from Pursuivants, if the latter had not been forced to wear their Coats in a particular Posture; thus even at present Heralds have Collars of S. S. while the Pursuivants have none, &c.

But the Pursuivants in this Kingdom having discontinued this Transposition of their Coats, let us inspect what hath been wrote upon this Subject by our Domesticks and also by Foreigners. Gerard^m Leigh tells us, the Coat is to be put upon a Pursuivant over his Shoulders overthwart, that is, the Manches or Sleeves of it should hang, one over his Breast, the o-out all d'elles ont sur les levrais Entrées de la Presence of the Herald, of Ladies in publick Assemblies, who by this apparent Difference in their Arms were immediately to be distinguished. The Words of Sicily Herald are, " Et si elles sont Princesses de Pais, Duchesses, ou Comtesses Heritieres, les Officiers d'armes de leurs Peres ou Marys defuncts, se ils ne changent de Maistris & de Nom, & se veulent tenir a elles, ils poeillent & doivent porter les armes de leurs Maistris Heritiers, soient vesves, ou autres, en l'esmail de leur poitrine tantseulement en telle maniere, Cestàsavoir en lozange sur leur trespas. Car en ce cas lesditz Officiers doibvent porter les Armes de leur dits fils, & non pas de elles.

This Method of Bearing the Arms in a Lozange within a Shield, by the Officer of a Lady being not commonly known, the Editor could not omit it, since it is a full Proof also of the Position, that Heralds were not Temporary.

This however did not extend to Ladies that were Sovereigns, as the Dutchesses of Burgundy and Bretagne, &c. and to some Heroines who had command'd Armies, as the Countesse d'Montfort, the Pucelle d'Orleans, &c. who bore their Arms in Shields. These latter march'd, Le casque en tete & l'eepe a la Main, and fought like Amazons: But though the Queen's Consorts and Dowagers of France, had Right by the Crown to bear their Arms in a Shield, yet they could not have Officers of Arms, because that Kingdom, according to the Salick Law, could not descend to a Lady. These are the Observations of that same Author, whose Rank richly deserves to be made publick.

⁴ Feron Institut. des Roys & Heralds, p. 2. Diction. de Trevoux v. Heraut. Favin. l. 1. c. 14. H. 3. penes me, p. 1064 b. This among the Clergy we find the Tunique was the Habit of Subdeacons, the Dalmatic of Deacons, and the Chasuble of Priests, Diction. de Trevoux v. Dalmatique.

¹ De re mil. p. 22.
^m Accidence of Armory.

ther over his Back, or to exprefs it more full with regard to the prefent Difquifition, that thofe Parts of the Tabart which cover the Breaft and Back of an Herald, and which are the longeft Parts of it, fhould be placed to hang over the Arms of Purfivants as Manches or Sleeves. ⁿ Upton describes it very explicitly, "Time accipiet Haraldus tunicam prefati [Prosecutoris] creandi, & ponet fupra caput creandi ex tranfverfo, ita quod illa pars tunice que ordinatur pro brachiis [Haraldi] ponatur ante & retro, ita quod pars longior prefate tunice fuper brachia [Prosecutoris] creandi ex utraq. parte pendeat; & fic prefatus Prosecutor novus uti debet tunicam armorum, cum eam aliquando induat femper, & non alio modo quamdiu fuerit Prosecutor". This was fo ftrictly obferved, that in 1576 ^o Rouge-croix Purfivant was cenfured for prefuming to wear his Coat as an Herald. The Reader may confult a ^p Sculpture in 20 Elix. where this manner of the wearing thefe Coats is exhibited to publick View, and one fhould be apt to guefs this Practice continued to the Time when Mr. ^q Weaver published his Funeral Monuments. This Cuftom probably may allude to the Practice of Deacons, who, according to the ^r Pontifical, are to bring Dalmaticam fuper brachium finiftrum, which is the rather hinted becaufe Pere J Daniel faith, that the Coat of Arms is a Sort of Tunique without Sleeves, like to that of Deacons.

However that may be, this Cuftom was univerfal, and whoever will write to any Purpofe touching the Officers of Arms, will find himfelf very much inftructed by confidering Foreign Authors; for though each Nation, according to the Greek Proverb, is governed by its own particular Inftitutions and Magiftrates, yet there are fome Laws and Cuftoms agreed on by common Confent, ufually called the Law of Nations, which relate particularly to the Affairs of War and Peace, and therefore efpecial Provisions have been made for the publick Mefengers in tranfacting thefe Grand Articles, wherein heretofore the Heralds were concerned, at leaft in all the Preparatory Parts; and for that Reafon all Officers of Arms were then efteemed one Fraternity, joined in a fort of focial fæderal Union, and reckoned together as conftituting only one College, fo as they were not circumscribed to the Execution of their Offices within any Limits, and if it may be allowed to carry on the Similitude to the Spiritual State, they were in this Refpect not unlike the Bifhops, who are all Members of the fame College, whereby not only the Bifhops of each Province, but all of them throughout the Catholick Church are Fellows and Colleagues; and though they are bound to the Circuits of their Diocefes in Matters of contentious Jurifdiction, yet in Point of Order are univerfal. Thus thefe Officers of Arms were in all Kingdoms permitted to execute their Offices indifcriminately, and had wherever they went a Participation in the Fees, and the leaft Injury fhewn to them was refented by the Prince to whom they belonged as an Infracton of the Laws of Nations, which is only hinted in this Place to juftify the Collector in making Quotations throughout this Difcourfe from Writers of Foreign Kingdoms.

ⁿ De re mil. p. 19.
^o 1 Part. Book, p. 342 b.
^p Athm. Hift. of the Garter, p. 514.

^q P. 668.
^r P. 12.
^f De la milice Francoife, p. 468, &c.

Pursuivants indeed were publick Persons, though only Noviciates in the College, and by their Oaths were obliged to be faithful to the King, Et cuicumq; Nobili licet hosti; but to return to the Wearing of their Coats. The Romance of Saintrè is truly historical, in whose Procession to the Lifts, 'tis said, " Tous heraulx & poursuivans portans les cottes d'Armes en sa façons, quilz devoient porter "; and in another Place, " Tous les Poursuivans leurs cottes d'Armes vestues de costè "; but to proceed to other Authors, ⁂ Symphorien Champier, Menestrier from an Antient Ceremonial, and Rouck agree in this Particular, which we know was also the Practice in ⁂ Burgundy. But the Words of Sicily Herald must not be omitted, because he mentions a farther Particularity touching the Pursuivants of this Kingdom, who as he relates wore their Coats hanging by a Cordon to their Shoulder " Meisment [le Pursuivant] ne doit porter cottes d'Armes de son Maistre ou aultre Seigneur fors vaillans, les ayllerions devant & derriere. Et le heraud les porta vestue comme le Prince de quel est. Et qui plus est en Angleterre les poursuivants les soloient porter pendantes a une aguillette a leur espaule ".

But 'tis high Time to return to the Explication of the Title of Arms attributed originally to Heralds, and after some Time also to the Kings of Heralds. The Term Arms is very equivocal, and had and still obtains different Significations: It is attributed not only to Arms or Weapons offensive and defensive used in War and Turnaments, to the Feats of Arms themselves, to the Military Garment, but also to Armoiries or Armorial Ensigns; the other Senses of this Word are foreign to the present Enquiry. In the first Acceptation we meet with per Arma jurare, militaribus armis donare, to confer Knighthood, Armiger or Scutarius for the Esquire or Armour Bearer to a Knight: As to the Military Expeditions, Hommes d'Armes, Gens d'Armes, for such as were completely armed, and probably the ⁂ Sergeants at Arms owe that Appellation to their being thus arrayed, being Originally instituted by Philip the August in 1192, while he was in the Holy Land, to defend his Person by Day and Night against any Assassins that might be sent to him by the Ancient of the Mountains, that is the then Sovereign of the Capyci settled in the Mountains of Phœnicia between Tortosa and Tripoli, who made a Trade of murdering Christian Princes: But the Heralds could not have the Denomination of Arms given them in either of those Significations; for though these proclaimed the War, carried Defiances, and attended in the Army to carry all the Messages

¹ Upton, p. 19.

² Nero D. 9. in Bibl. Cott. p. 44. 39.

³ A MS. on Velons in the Collector's Custody Q. 21. entitled, Le Fondement & Origine des Titres de Noblesse, &c. p. 96. Et luy doit mettre une Cotte d'Armes arroyee de ses armes, les manches pendantes devant & derriere, & attacher ung escusson sans couronne de ses Armes sur la poitrine finisse, & le corps d'icelle sur les espaules. In Bibl. du Sieur de la Croix du Maine, p. 46c. Symphorien Champier is said in le fr. Physique of the Duk. of Lorraine, and Knight of the Order of St. Georges, and that his Fondement & Origine des Titres de Noblesse was printed at Paris in 1553.

Menestrier de la Chevalerie, p. 212.

Nederland Her. p. 222. Wierde gek by de Heralden den weapenrock over divers hanghende de nouwen op de bort ende rugge, &c.

⁴ Olivier de la Marche l'Etat de la maison du Duc Charles, p. 699. Les heraux ley [Pursuivant] vestent la Cote d'Armes du long des bras, & non autrement, & le doit ainsi porter tant qu'il soit Pursuivant en difference des Roys d'Armes & Héraux.

⁵ Daniel Milice Franc. vol. 2. p. 93. &c. Je croi que de cette armure, que leur vient leur nom de Sergeant d'Armes: comme on appelloit gens d'Armes, & hommes d'Armes les Cavaliers, qui avoient l'Armure complete, &c.

of the Generals, wherein they ran no "Hazard of their own Lives, summoned Towns, appointed the Times and Places of pitch'd Battles, &c. Yet they retired from the Field before the Armies engaged; for Example, at Agincourt the Heralds of both Sides retired and stood together in one Place, as 'tis noted by ^b John le Fevre then an Officer of Arms, and afterwards deservedly created the first Toujon d'or; who farther informs us that after this Battle the Heralds of France went where it seemed good to them, that is, were not made Prisoners, but had free Liberty to go where they pleased after they had first performed a Duty incumbent on their Offices, by taking ^c Account of the Number of the Persons of Quality there slain, whom they were best qualified to know from their ^d Tarbarts, or Military Garments, that had armorial Ensigns on them. Our King after that Battle judged it Expedient for the Refreshment of his Soldiers greatly fatigued to retire from the Field, whereon the French made an Appearance of ^e Rallying again but desisted, whence it was, probably, that he thought fit to consult ^f Montjoy, and the other Heralds of his Adversary before their Departure, whether in these Circumstances he had any Right to challenge the Honour of a Victory according to the Law of Arms, who without any Difficulty gave their Opinion in the Affirmative. An Officer of Arms may be permitted in this Place to remember that one of the Reasons taken or given for the Commencement of this War was the ^g Detention of the English Herald who had been sent for a safe

^a For this Reason the Duke of (a) Somerset was censured for sending Deshaick Narroy with Orders to the Mayor of the Ordnance at Muffelburg, whereby his Person was put in eminent Danger. The Expedition into Scotland wrote by W. Paten, was printed by Grafton in 1548, and therein is this Remark, "It is an ancient order in War invariably observed, that the Heralds and Trunspouers at any time on necessary Messages may freely pass too and froo betwene the Enemies without hurt or stay of any, as privileged with a certain immunity and freedom of passage, especially at during the time of any such message, boethwise on both sides should utterly cease. The Scottes notwithstanding, what moved them I know not, but sometime before the rules of Stans puer ad mensam, that in or in the Shute at us in the midst of this message doing". Hollinghead hath the like Observation under the Year 1547. That these Officers had Power therefore to order a Cessation of Arms hath been observed by (b) Authors, who give us an Instance taken from the History of the Expedition of Lewis ix, wrote by Joinville, That the Soldiers hung down their Arms upon the Command of Marcell Huilher, or as they say, Herald of the King. (c) Daniel interprets the Word Usher here by that of Herald, wherein probably he wrote not with the Exactness of an Antiquary, for these seem to be distinct Offices: for in this Hist. of (d) Joinville, William le Bron, and John de Gaymarches, are expressly called the King's Heralds at the Battle of Malvouze; and Father Daniel himself in another (e) Treatise explains the Office of these Ushers of Arms. Our (f) Records likewise mention them. But we have also Precedents of this Kind: Affairs were ordered to cease at the Summoning of (g) Aureime, at the Assault made at (h) Villeclope a la puelle des Herauts cefferent les Asteillans.

(a) Vinc. MS. n. 92. p. 122. in Off. Arm.

(b) Memoir des Arm. p. 157. Colomb. des Roy's & Heralds p. 30

(c) Hist. de Franc.

(d) P. 45.

(e) Miræe Franc. vol. 2. p. 93.

(f) Byner, vol. 7. p. 792. vol. 8. p. 98.

(g) Froiss. l. 3. p. 130.

(h) Ibid. p. 119.

^b Hist. de Ch. vi. p. 98. Car durant la bataille d'Agincourt, tous Officiers d'Armes tant d'un party, que d'autre se tindrent ensemble, & apres la bataille, ceux de France s'en allerent ou bon leur sembla, & ceux d'Angleterre demoustrerent avec leurs maistres, qui avoient gaigne la bataille. Mais quant a Moy, je demouray avec les Anglois. ^c Chronicon St. Albani in Off. Arm. n. 7. inter Cod. Norwic. interempti funt Ducis de Alanfon. &c ad numerum pene centum, de militibus & Armigeris quatuor millia sexaginta novam feruntur occisa. Numerus vulgi non fuit ab Armorum nunciis computatus. Basset de Armas & conquestu France MS. in Off. Arm. M. 9. Et plioheurs autres Chevaliers jusques au nombre de deux Mille quatre Cens Chevaliers baillier par declaration par Montjoye Roi A Armes de France.

^d Chaucer's Knights Tale after the Battle Arcite and Palamon were found

Not fully quik, ne fully dede they were,
But by their Cote Armoires and by their gere,
The Heralds knew them best in speciall, &c.

Nothing is more common in Ancient Histories than the sending out Heralds after a Battle to View the slain.

^e Tit. Liv. Forojul. Rex Feciales ad Gallorum novum exercitum mittit, ut statim ad pugnam veniant aut retrocedant, scientes, quod si discessint, vel ad prelium veniant, mox omnes de fides capti simul & quotiens; capiuntur ex ipsis nulla misericordia omnes cedentur, p. 20.

^f Monstrelet, vol. 1. p. 229.

^g In the Acts of the Privy Council, 9 Feb. 1 H. 7. tis represented that our Embassadors being at Calis could not obtain a safe Conduct, Mais le Heralds, qui feut alez pur les dit fauconduit detenuz a force en le Royaume de France, &c. upon which the Lords of the Council give their Advice that a Parliament should be called. Cleopatra F. 3. in bibl. Cotton. And it seems not improbable it was for the detaining of this same Herald, that an Expulsion was made safe Conduct for our Embassadors to go from Calais to Paris. Our ^b own Writers take Notice of the placing the Heralds during this Battle with the Priests and Chaplains in a Place out of Danger, and herein there is another Analogy between them; for the Clergy, as ⁱ Froissart observes, bearing no Arms, and being forbidden to fight, had Liberty of Intercourse between the Armies; as for the same Reason the like Indulgence was permitted to Prisoners taken who had given their Oaths to continue ^k unarmed. Now Heralds “ Were unharnessed and unweapon’d according “ to the Laws of Arms, as well in Battels and Fields, as other Places, “ being Persons that never used Feats of Arms”. These are the express Words of an ^l Act of Parliament, and consequently the Adjunct of Arms could not be attributed to them from Arms as that Word signifies Weapons, unless by an Antiphrasis. Among the Romans the ^m Feciales were without Arms, that no Persons might do any Violence to them, and one of them, as ⁿ Livy relates, was questioned for transgressing this Rule. It is not insinuated that this Custom is derived down from the Romans, but we find the Abstinence from Arms to have been a strict Injunction on these Officers of Arms: An Ancient ^o Manuscript delivers that they ought not to wear among the Enemies any Sword or Harness of War, but to be bare Headed, save only to have Silk of Sky Colour tied about it, in Token that in them resides perpetual and firm Truth, and over it a White Circle or Chapelet in Token of Humility and Love, wearing their Coat of Arms and other Habitments of their Office. ^p Le Feron after he hath laid down, That in Battel they are not to wear Dagger, Sword, or other Engine of War, since they are not to give any Assistance to hurt any Person, adds, That however for their own Security, they may have Coats of Mail under their Tabarts.

1113

with the French Ambassadors on 28 Nov. 1417, in very strong Terms, unless it be supposed the French had repeated this Affront by Arresting another Officer: It was represented to them by our Ambassadors, Postquam recepimus literas Domini vestri Regis de Salvo conductu, misimus, etiam e converso vobis Dominis per Heraldos nostros literas Domini nostri de salvo conductu. Et quantum ad Heraldos nostros qui literas huiusmodi de salvo conductu vobis apportantur, notis (& res est de qua habemus vobis loqui) quod fuit ipsi per Dominum vestrum Regem detenti & arrestati, de qua summe miramur, nec videtur aliquo modo debuisse fieri. Imprimis quia est contra veritatem & honestam consuetudinem Armorum. Secundo quia est contra vim & effectum salvi conductus Domini vestri Regis, in quo concessit nobis certum numerum Servitorum, de quo sunt ipsi comprehensi. Tertio, quia si respiciantur Chronica & veteres Tractatum pagina, non reperitur, quod istis centum annis, aliquis Heraldus veniens pro solemnibus Ambassata habenda inter duo regna, presertim pro bono pacis, sic arrestatus extiterit. Quarto, quia contra bonam & utilitatem huiusmodi negotii pacis pro quo venimus, in quo eorundem Heraldorum opera potissime indigemus, si forte aliqua de causa necessaria oportebit nuncium aliquem mittere, qua propter vobis supplicamus, quatenus dignemini scribere Domino vestro Regi pro liberatione ipsorum Heraldorum nostrorum.—Quibus pro praetatum Remensem Archiepiscopum respondebatur.—Et quantum ad materiam detentionis Heraldorum nullam habemus instructionem; novimus tamen indubitanter Dominus nosse eorum Heraldos, nec contra sui salvi conductus vigorem, nec Armorum honestam consuetudinem, immo non sine causa rationabili & honesta detinere. Tiber. B. 6. in Bibl. Corr. f. 104. &c. It would require a very long Chapter to recount the Resentments shewn by Princes for the Refusal of the Assistance of their Herald, for the ill Treatment of them, especially for the Imprisoning or Murdering of them.

^b Tit. Liv. p. 19. Sacerdotibus, capellanisq; regis in orationibus, supplicationibusq; divinis manere iussis, & Fecialibus Armis depositis ad eorum officium attentissimis, &c. Elmham de Gestis H. v. in bibl. Harley 62 B. 5. Rex Capellanos tamen proprios, & omnes sui exercitus sacerdotis ad orationem vacarent, & Herodibus, ut suis tantum officiis absq; armorum exercitus diligenter insisterent, constanter monuit. Ser MS. inter Cod. Norfolk. in Off. Arm. n. 15. p. 21 b.

They were ordered to attend their Offices, that is, they withdrew to some eminent Place out of Danger, where they might have a distinct View of all the Feats of War to be performed, in order to make a true Report of the Actions in the Field. Feron l'Institution des Roys & Heralds, p. 442. Favin. p. 57. &c.

ⁱ Froiss. vol. 1. p. 175. Of the Battle of Poitiers.

^k Ibid. vol. 1. p. 262.

^l Stat. 5 H. 8. c. 6. about Sergeants.

^m Marfelaer de Legatis, p. 4.

ⁿ Lib. 5. Of Quintus Fabius.

^o Des heraulx & de leur Office. M. 16. in Off. Arm. f. Lxi. MS. penes Ed. Dering Baronet L. 6. 1. MS. penes me H. 3. p. 1085.

^p Institution des Roys & Heralds, p. 29.

A Spanish ⁹ Author mentions their being in the Wars without Offensive Weapons, which a late French ^r Writer extends to all Places; and to the same Purpose in an English MS. Heralds may not in any wise either in "Tyme of Peace or Warre weare any Armes offensive"; but shall by all Princes be permitted securely to pass, to appease all Wars, Battels, and particular Combats between Kings, Princes, Knights, and Gentlemen of Reputation. Thus ^r Grammond describes the Herald, who summoned Rochelle in his Coat of Arms with a long Rod, catera inermis.

We have a more ancient Proof from a Law entred in our old Statute Books, there entituled Statutum Armorum, which must be made in or before the Year 1296; when Edmund the King's Brother, and Sir William de Valence mention'd therein died both of them: The Words relating to our Purpose are thus imprinted by Rob. Redman in the Edition of Statutes 1539, "Et que nul Roy de Haraz, ne Ministraux ne porte pinte" [privée for this is the Reading in several old Manuscripts] armure, n'autre "forisque leur espées sans points: Et que les Roys des haraz eient leur houces des Armes sans plus". No King of the Heralds, or Ministreaux shall use [privy] Armour, or other, save their Swords without Points, and the Kings of the Heralds shall have their Houces of Arms without any more: Some Observations ought to be made hereon. Sir Henry ^r Spelman interprets Ministreaux here to signify Ministers subordinate to these Kings, that is in his Opinion Heralds and Purfevants. This Expression Kings of Heralds, doth indeed imply the Existence of Heralds, and though the Collector disputes not the Existence of Purfevants at that Time also, yet till the Record of this Act shall be found, and thereby the Orthography of the Word here printed Ministreaux be settled, the Inference of this most Learned Glosographer may not be supported, for in some ^r Manuscripts 'tis wrote Menestralz, and then it imports a Prohibition to the King of the Heralds, and to the King of the Minstrells, an Office of great Antiquity also in this Kingdom, as will be shewn hereafter, and the Collector is induc'd to suppose this latter may be the true Reading, because these Ministreaux or Menestralz, whoever they are, seem not to be allowed Houces d'Armes, which he thinks the Heralds then had. The Minstrells in ^r Chaucer's Time were distinguished by Red Hats like those of the Cardinals, but never were, as this Editor believes, habited in the Military Houces or Tabarts of their Masters; and to countenance this Conjecture, that Minstrells are here designed, it is observable that these are often joined with the Heralds in the Ancient ^r Largesses or Rewards, for heretofore it was their Employment, on great Solemnities, to celebrate ⁹ Moreno de Vargas de la Nobleza d'España, p. 114.

^r Menestrier de la Chevalerie, p. 224.

^s Penes me H. 3. p. 1008.

^t Hist. Galliz, p. 771.

^u Gloss. voce heraldus.

^v 61 A. 4. Bibl. Harley, p. 112. E ke nul Rey de Harauz, ne Menestralz portent prive Arme, ne autre fors luz Espyes fauntz pointz, E ke les Reies de Harauz eient leur houces des Armes fauntz plus.

⁶² B. x. Ibid. p. 46b. E que nul Menestrall ne autre port prive armur fors Espe large fauntz point, E que le Roi des Harauz eit luz des Armes fauntz plus.

⁶³ A. Ibid. E que nul Roi des Harauz ne Menestraux portent prive arme, ne autre fors luz espies fauntz point, E que les Rois des Harauz eient luz houces des Armes for Seignori fauntz plus.

^y In the Plowman's Tale, p. 225.

*For Christ made no Cathedrall
Ne with bis was no Cardinal's
With a redde Hat as use Minstrells.*

^z See above, p. 50, 56, 108, &c.

with Songs set to Musick the Heroick ²² Actions of the Ancestors of Princes, to incite and enliven them to an Emulation, and by such Examples to animate them before Battels to tread the same Paths of Glory.

'Tis true however that some of our Kings did on great Festivals give their Robes to the ^d Minstralls, as the Kings of ^b France, till the Reign of Philippe the August, did bestow on the Players their Habits, which they intended to wear no more, but these were Ordinary ^c Veltments used in Civil Ceremonies, and not the Military Tabard or Coat of Arms of the Sovereign, such as the Heralds of Arms wore, which the Collector guesses to be the Meaning of the Word Houces des Arms in this Statute, and is inclinable as yet to conjecture, that the Adjunct of Arms was Originally attributed to the Heralds from their being thus apparelled in the Surcoates of Arms, in the same Form that their Founders used them in Battles and Feats of Arms, which Coats were usually known by the Term of Arms only. Herein a ^d French Author concurs, who speaking of a King and an Herald of Arms saith, "Il se dit ainsi, car il peut porter la cotte d'Armes de son Prince". He is so called because he may bear the Coat of Arms of his Prince. Let us then examine the Import of the Words Houces des Armes here mentioned.

The Names given to Habits in different Ages are very difficult to be explained, for there were new Words coined to express new invented Fashions, whereof the Reader will be convinced by the long vocabulary de ve vestimenta placed at the End of Du Fresnes Glossary, without going back to the Lunule Batronatum Dextralia, Discriminalia in St. Cyprian's Tract of the Habit of Virgins. The Word in this Statute is variously spelt in the Copies, Houces, Hoerzes, Houfces. The ^e Glossographers generally interpret Houces to signify Boots worn in War, or rather ^f Buskins, for the Shoes were not affixed to them. Hence William Rufus, from a short Boor was surnamed ^g Court-hose, and even the Statute of ^h Ed. IV, which prohibits Cordwainers from selling Shooes, Huseaus, or Galoches upon Sundays, is in the ⁱ Repeal thereof by Hen. VIII, recited to be against selling Shooes, Boots, or Galeges. 'Tis certain that Boots were formerly used by the Nobility in ^k War for Ornaments and Distinction as well as Service, and that even ^l Heralds themselves had Boots in War and Buskins in Times of Peace, and thence one of ^m them under Hen. VI, writes, "Houfes sont faites pour soy garder de la boe & de froidure quand l'on acheminé par pays, & pour y garder d'peave", which may probably relate to Boots. Commes ⁿ having described the Manner of the Furnishing out the fictitious Herald by Louis the XI, saith, There were secretly brought ^a Du Fresn. Gloss. v. Minstrall.

^b Flora, l. 2. c. 25. 14th, l. 2. the Duty of the King Answer to Cardinal de Charoy, præcipue diebus Sanctorum & rogare, ne robas suos, quæ magni sunt pœni Insuperibus, Blanditoribus, Accusatoribus, seu Mercatoribus, sed ad Ecclesiasticos suos incrementum jubet largiri.

^c Daniel Hist. de France, vol. 4. p. 1451.

^d Thot Rigord de gesta Philippi Aug. 1185. Vidimus quondam quosdam Principes, qui vestes diu exegerant & vitas savorum reparationibus artificibus elaboratas, pro quibus forsan 20 vel 30 marchis argenti consumperant, via refoletia 7 diebus hiuionibus, ministris Diaboli, ad primum vocem decuit.

^e Reue Francois Eflay des Marveil. c. 43. p. 300.

^f Du Fresne in voce Oia & fiquen.

^g Diction de Trevoyn v. Houfcaux.

^h Order, Vital p. 644. brevis Oera a parte cognominatus. See Caligula A. x. p. 46.

ⁱ 4 E. 4. c. 7.

^j 14 & 15 H. 8. c. 9.

^k Memoires pour l'Hist. de Dauphine, p. 218.

^l Favin Theatre d'honneur l. 1. c. 4. Biso en l'Etat de France, p. 128. Trabuouier l'Etat de France, p. 593. Mareis Diction, v. Herand.

^m Du Fresn Gloss. v. oia.

ⁿ Hist. l. 4. c. 7.

to him, ses houreaux & son habillement, which Pontanus translates into Latin, occultè ocræ data; but as the Words Calceamenta and Calceatura, which originally signified Shoes only, are in our Records frequently applied to the Whole Suit of Apparel, so this Word Houces, which in its primary Sense might mean only Boots, hath been attributed to other Habits. But to determine the Sense of this Word in this Statute, 'tis to be remarked, that des Armes are added to it. Now ^o M. Paris seems to distinguish such Houces from the Vestments, where he represents the Pope's Nuntio's in 1247, "preciosissimis vestibus, calceamentisq; militariribus, quæ vulgariter Houces dicuntur, seculariter immo potius prodigaliter calceati & calceati". One of the Copies of this ^p Statute goes farther touching these Houces des Armes, that they were de lur Seigneurs, and though these latter Words may be an Interpolation, yet this Transcript, being in an ancient Character, explains the Import, in which the Words of this Statute were understood in the Age when that Copy was made. Let us then enquire in what other Acceptations besides Boots, the Great Men were said to have Houces des Armes, and we shall soon find not only the Caparisons of the Horses which had the armorial Ensigns wrought or depicted thereon, known by the Name of Houces, and thence probably still called Houfings, but that the Surcoate of the Rider adorned in the like Manner had the same Denomination. In the Wardrobe Accounts of ^q King John, Pro quatuor ulnis & uno quarterio de Bleu ad unam huciam arcuariam ad unum Equum Domini Regis iii s. xid. ob. Johannis filio Philippi pro Hucia Scuti Domini Regis reparando vi. In duobus scutis Domini Regis reparandis & in gurgis atachiandis & in hucis illorum reparandis iii s. In the Inventory of ^r Piers de Gaveston, Une bouche pur palefrei des Armes le Roy. In the Accounts of the Expences of ^s Henry Earl of Darby, afterwards Hen. IV, Pro factura vi Houces albi & blodii pro equis Domini 2 s. pro viii Houces Equorum Domini xxv ulnas & dimidium Canabi. Heralds when they rode had their Horses thus caparisoned with the Arms of their Masters called Trappers in their Ceremonials. Chaucer in the Poem of the Floure and the Leaf exhibits the Knights clothed in White Cloaks going in a Procession to the Jufts, preceded by the Trumpeters, whose Horse Harness was also white, and by Kings at Arms in Cloaks of White Cloth with Gold, with the like Horse Harness, the Heralds and Pursuivants in Clothes of White Velvet, and the like Horse Harness. It is well known that these Officers of Arms in Tilts, Jufts, and Combats of Pleasure, wore the Arms of the Person who sent the Challenge, and that they introduced both the Combatants into the Lists, being likewise invested in the Surcoates of their Armes, and rode before them on Horses trapped in the same Manner, which several Antient Figures preserved in Books and the Rituals shew, and that they were habited in like Surcoates at ^t Duels al Ourance, that is in Combats of Extremity for Life and Death. But then this Appellation Houces was likewise given to the

^o Hist. p. 720

^p Vide supra p. Note

^q Inter Collect. Tbo. Rymer.

^r Rymer, vol. 3. p. 392.

^s Computus 14 Rich. 2. & Comp. 20 R. 2. in Offic. Ducatus Lancast.

^t Upon de te mil. p. 76.

Surcoates which had the armorial Ensigns on them. "Lalain is described, par le boufse luy & son Desfrier, and "Saintre entred into the Lists boufse & son Desfrier d'un nouvel pavement tout de Satin verd a fleurs da pencees. Here both the Rider and the Horse are alike apparalled Houfse. "Monstrelet mentions a Spaniard, " Qui portoit sur son harnois un heuque de Fev- meil a une Croix blanche". This Houce worn over the Harnes or Armour must be the Surcoat, because the Bearing or Arms thereon are blasoned. It will be unnecessary to produce more Instances of this Usage of this Word, as it would be to prove that Herald's were invested in the Military Surcoates of their Founders; whence the Editor conjectures this Title of Arms was given them, and not taken from Arms as they signify Weapons, which they were prohibited to use. He shall readily retract this Supposition when a more tolerable one shall be produced, and therefore he proceeds to Examine some other Opinions that have been given for this Denomination. But since it was hinted that the Habit of Princes in War, and Feats of Arms, differed from the Apparel worn by them on ordinary Occasions, or upon Days of Ceremony in Times of Peace, He could not omit one Occurrence that happened under that peaceful mild King Hen. VI, who being forced to take the Field upon the Insurrection of Jack Cade, bought the Tabard or Coat of Arms of his Servant "Lancaster King of Arms, which he would not have descended to if either his ordinary Robes had been proper in such an Expedition, or that the Coat of his Officer had not been the Military Habit of the Crown.

It is beyond all Dispute, that the Word Heraldry for some time denoting the Science of armorial Bearings, is taken from Herald's, whose Business it heretofore was (as an Author expresses it) to register the "Blazons of the Combatants or Enterprizers in Justs before they entered the Lists of Combat; but the Collector is not yet enabled to make any Guess when this Term Heraldry was first attributed to this Theory, having not hitherto had the Fortune to meet with any ancient Treatise thus inscribed, x Nero D. ix. in bibl. Cotton.

" Hist. de Jaques Lalain. p. 26.

y Vol. 2. p. 109 b.

z Privatum Sigillum Henr. &c. To the Treasurer &c. We let you see that whereas, our Wellbelov'd Servant William Tendale otherwise called Lancaster King of Armes in the 28. yeare of our Reigne by our Commandement rode from Leycestre unto London, and so to Berkhamstede and from thence to London to Davenentre and Ayles, and unto other divers and many places during the rying of the great Traitor John Cade, calling himself Captaine of Kent, in so busy wise that he lost ii. horses price of viii l. and more, And ever that another hors hired was lost in the same rying, for which he paid xl s. without his Costs and Expenses made in the same rying unto the Somme of Cs. whereof he had xx l. and how also as is liked us to have a Coate of our Armes of our said Servant, for the which Coate he hath and must paye xxx l. and more, as he saith, all the Sommes above specified, due unto our said Servant, amounteth unto the Somme of xxxvii l. which is a great Hurt and importable charge, without our Grace be shewed unto him in the Partie, wherefore We in Consideration of the Premises of our Grace Especial, have granted unto him xl m. to be taken of our yist by way of Reward. Temen under our prive Seal at Eltham 11 Sept. the Yere of our Reigne 21 (H. 6.)

Exit. Pell. P. 21 H. 6. Eidem Lancastre, qui ex mandato Regis in Anno Regni 28. tempore instructionis magni proditoris Johannis Cade scilicet nuncupantis Capitaneum de Kent, festinanter equitavit a Leicester versus London, Davenentre & alia diversa loca, in quibus Equitatus destruxit duos Equos pretii viii l. Et insuper alius Equus Conductus pretii xl l. in eisdem Equitatus perditus fuit, In denariis sibi liberatis xl. m. quas dictus Dom. Rex de Gratia sua specialiter eidem Lancastre liberate mandavit tam in consideratione premiorum ac Custum suorum pro idem tempus attingentium ad Cs. quam pro quibus Tunica Armorum Regis pretii xl l. eidem Dom. Regi per ipsum liberata xxvi l. 13. 4 d.

* Nomen ars Heraldica haud dubie ab Herald's. Spenser Theor. Insign. p. 1. l'une des principale. fonctions des Herauts d'Armes estoit de se trouver aux Joustes, &c. ou ils gardoient les Ecus pendans, recevoient les noms & blasons des Chevaliers, en tenoient registre, & en composoient recueils, d'ou vient que l'on a donne le nom d'art Heraldique a l'art du Blason. Menestr. Orig. des Armoiries, p. 180.

or any old Author wherein it was used in that Signification. These Officers had several Functions to be performed by them at Juits, Tilts and Turnaments, which Exercises were indeed stiled Jeux de Armes, and Bulenger asserts, That the Kings of Arms had that Appellation, because they directed and governed the Rites and Ceremonies in these Martial Preludes. 'Tis true, the Master of the Ceremonies at Athens was stiled a d King, and the e Brabente the Judges in the ancient Games far in the Plethrum robed (as the Heralds were afterwards) in Royal Habits, with Crowns on their Heads and Scepters in their Hands when they gave the Reward or Bravium. That indefatigable Antiquary J Mr. Glover Somersset Herald runs into an Error of another Nature, where he alledges that the Sovereigns of this Realm never yet themselves descended to the blasoning, describing, or assigning Arms to any of their own Subjects, but authorized the Provincial Kings to give these Tokens of Honour to deserving Persons, for which Respect they were at first honoured with the Title of King of Arms, because in giving and bestowing these Significations of Honour they resembled the Kingly Prerogative. This is an Opinion at random, upon which it shall only be observed, that it is a Mistake in Fact, that our Sovereigns did not assign Arms to their Subjects, there being several on Record, and of ancienter Date, as the Collector believes, than any genuine Grant of Coat Arms that can be produced to have been made by any Provincial King; and this Notion of Mr. Glover farther implies, that the Original Titles of these Provincial Kings were Kings of Arms, which as yet wants a Proof; for we shall soon find these were at first stiled Kings of the Heralds, neither is it so probable that the Stile of a King should be given to these Officers because they resembled the Kingly Prerogative by such Grants, when other Officers with much superiour Powers in Matters of the greatest Consequence had no such Appellation. z Fauchet conceives the Term King was given to these Officers because they regulated several military Ceremonies: He mentions not the Particulars, and though these Kings were certainly Military Officers, yet they were in that Capacity subject to the General and to their Masters, and it would be difficult to instance any peculiar Power in the Army wherewith they were invested, that could countenance the giving them the Title of Kings: It is by the way probable that the Cognizance of Coat Arms was devolved upon them from their Service in the Wars, since only military Persons formerly had Right to such Bearings, and therefore Generals and Commanders usually made Grants of Arms; and to the same Original may be owing the Jurisdiction of these Ensigns of Arms, which continued determinable before the Constable and Marshal who were the Judges in the Army.

b Tit. in the Wits prohibiting these Exercises, the words ge erolis are Inhibemus ne quis torneare, hoc dicit, iustas facere, aventuras quaerere, seu alia facta armorum exercere presumat; and also in the Wits which permit this Liberty to particular Persons, the Words are, Quod certa puncta sive facta armorum & certa armorum asta peragere possent.
c Reges Armorum quia ceremonias & ritus ludierorum certaminum regerent. Buleng. de Offic. regni Gallie.

d Garaker of Lots, p. 47.

e Fauchet. de Coronis l. 6. c. 30.

f Faustina E. 1. in bibl. Cotton.

g Orig. de Cheval. p. 25. Roys pour ce c'estoient eux, qui reglent plusieurs ceremonies guerriers.

The Learned Glossographer writes, That the Title of Kings of Arms, or of the Heralds, was attributed to the Officers of the ^b Crown, and the Style of Heralds simply to the Officers of the Princes of the Blood and of the Nobility. It must be a Mistake, if it be meant either that the Crown had not simple Heralds in all Ages since the Commencement of the Office of Arms, or that the Name of Kings of Heralds was attributed to all the Kings Officers, as the French Kings Barber was of course named, ⁱ Le Roy des Barbiers. ^k Moreau indeed lays down a Rule to this purpose, That Kings only can have Kings of Arms, and Dukes only Dukes of Arms, but it is evident there were such Kings of Arms in ^l Brabant, Bretagne, Burgundy, Artois, Haynalt, Guelphes, Limburgh, Luxemburg, Lorrain, Millain, and other Dutchies and Earldoms, as also in the Principalities of Sedan, Orleans, Bourbon: And even our own Kings, when they used no higher Title than Lord of Ireland, had a ^m King of Arms by that Style, as likewise other Kings of Arms by the Titles of ⁿ Aquitaine, ^o Anjou, and ^p Guienne, though there are some Reasons to believe these three Officers might formerly have Provinces allotted them within this Kingdom. Another ^q Author is somewhat more exact in this particular, who confines Kings of Arms to Sovereign Princes only, to which ^r another Writer adds a Limitation, That none can have Kings of Arms besides Sovereigns save only the Princes of the Blood in France. This seems also to be an Error, unless it be understood within that Kingdom only, for the House of ^s Braganza in Portugal had Kings of Arms before that Family came to the Throne, and the Constable ^t of Castile, and the Grandees of Spain, enjoyed the like Privilege: And if the Copy of an Instrument might be ^u credited, Roger Duroit, Autrement dit Lancastre Roy de North d'Angleterre, Herauld a Johan. Duc de Lancastre in 1316 attested the Descent of Wesf, which is said to be confirmed by Leigh Clarenceux in 23 July 1446, and on March following by Wrexworth Guyen.

The Title of King of the North of England is here ascribed to Roger Duroit, in or about the 13th Year of Richard II. Now that King in his sixth Year confirmed to John ^x Othelake March Herald, the Annuity granted to him by his Master Edmond late Earl of March deceased, who

^b Spelman, voce herald.

ⁱ Faucher, Orig. des Dign. p. 43 b.

^k Les Armoiries de France.

^l It would take too much room to insert the Proof of all these Particulars in this Place, many of these Kings of Arms are Entered in our Records receiving Languages and Rewards in this Kingdom, which would require an entire Chapter.

^m This Officer is mentioned by Froissart in 1382, vol. 2. p. 196. In his Will dated 2 H. 5. he styles himself, Ego Thomas Brian Rex Armorum Hibernie, Registr. Episc. London. f. 29 b. A great deal might be added upon this Title.

ⁿ The Publisher hath met with this Officer in our Records, from the 4th Year of Ed. 3. till the End of the Reign of Hen. 5.

^o He is frequently named in our Records in the Beginning of the Reign of Hen. 6.

^p Sir Paen Roet's Monument was in St. Paul's Cathedral with an Inscription Guyenne Rex Armorum pater Catharine Ducisse Lancastrie. John Wrexworth is named by this Title frequently in the Reign of Hen. 6. and Ed. 4. created such an Officer.

^q Ceneuve Diſt. v. heraud.

^r Favin Theatre d'honneur, p. 59.
^s St. Marthe Hist. Geneal. de la maison de France, p. 729.

^t Mendoza Origen de las Dignidades seglares de Castilla. Sandoval Hist. de Carlos vol. 11. Sect. 10. & itid. p. 568. Carrilo preeminencias de que gozaron los Grandes, p. 12.

^u Faustina E. 1. f. 6. in bibl. Cotton. G. 7. in offic. Arm. p. 4. 2d. Book of Grants, p. 639.

^x See above in p. 288 in the Note.

Exit. Pell. M. 8 R. 2. Johanni March Regi Heraldorum missio ex ordinatione Regis & Concilii sui vestras partes France, &c. 6 L. 13. 4 d.

Pat. 9 R. 2. p. 2. m. 21. dilectis nobis Johannes March unus heraldorum nostrorum ad arma Rex Norwy, &c.

Exit. Pel. M. 17 R. 2. Johanni Lake alias dicto Marche Herald, & similiter. 18 R. 2.

in the 8th Year is stiled John March King of Heralds, and in the 9th expressly John March one of our Kings of Arms King Norveys, who is mentioned in our Records down to the 19th Year inclusive, being in the 16th Year entred John de la Lake, otherwise called Marche; and he doubtless must be the Person meant by Froissart in 1393, by the Name of Marche le Roy d'Armes d'Angleterre, and in other places. John Duke of Lancaster had indeed an Herald in this 13th Year by the Title of that Dutchy, of whom we have several Memorials; but the Difficulty is whether the Officer of this Duke was then also the Provincial King of the North: In the Heraldick Language that Province hath for many Ages comprehended that Part of the Kingdom situated on the Northside of the River Trent; and we meet with a King of the Heralds stiled 6 Norveys and Norveis, in the Reign of Ed. III. who is expressly said to be Norveis, Roi d'Armes de North, not Norroy as it hath been commonly pronounced, and also wrote in latter Times; for the most usual Method of denominating these Kings heretofore, was not from the Name of the Territory or Marche, but from the Persons therein inhabiting, which Practice was continued in the Appellations of the two other Kings still subsisting, Garret being stiled Roy d'Armes des Anglois, and the other Roy d'Armes des Clarenceux; and though these two were of latter Institution, yet these Titles might be given them in conformity to the ancient Practice, and in all Probability may be an Indication that King of Arms might be contemporary with the Centuries, when the Sovereigns themselves took the Titles of Kings over the Persons of their Subjects, not of their Kingdoms, as Rex Anglorum, Rex Francorum, Rex Scotorum, &c. Now Norveis signified the 6 People of the North Part of this Kingdom, so then if this Instrument be not supposititious, here was Lancaster King of the North of England, and Herald of the Duke of Lancaster at the same Time, when John ¹ Froiss. vol. 4. p. 164. and the same Officer doubtless, ubi et inscriptum Marie, ibid. p. 183.

² Priv. Sigill. in alba Torre London. Richard par la Grace de Dieu Roi d'Engleterre & de France & Seigneur d'Irlande, a l'onorable Pere en Dieu l'evêque de Wyncestre nostre Chancelier Saluz. Comme de nostre Grace epetiale tous grantez a noz bien amez Lancaster & Leicester herauds de nostre & tresher tresame Uncle le Duc de Guicenne & de Lancaster, & Bourbon Heraud au Duc de Bourbon licence pour passer la mer overseas svs Chivalz leur hamois & monoye pour leur expenses resonables sanz desurbance ou empeschement queconque. Vous mandons, que sur ce faites faire lettres fouz nostre Grand seel en due forme. Don fozz nostre prive seel a Westm. le x jour de Marz l'an de nostre regne trefziesme.

^a See the Relique of Petrus Rex hyrcadorum citra aquam de Trent ex parte boreali in Spelman Gloss. v. herald. This River was also the Boundary between the Englishes, when there were only two for the Kingdom, and for the Jurisdiction of the Justices in Eyre of the North.

^b Priv. Sigill. Edward par la Grace de Dieu Roi d'Engleterre Seigneur d'Irlande, & Duc d'Aquitaine, as Treherer & Chamberlains de nostre Eglisequier Saluz. Comme nous soyons tenuz a nostre chier Sergeant Andrew Norreis Roy d'Armes de North en Lxii Solds & iv deniers, sicome piert par une bille sealee du Seal nostre chier clerck Rich. de Farby nadsgrs Gardain de nostre Garderobe vous mandons que lui facez paier, &c. Don fozz nostre Prive-Seal a Gippewiz le xx jour de Juin l'an de nostre regne douziesme (12 E. 3)

Exit. Pell. P. 12 E. 3. Eidem custodi per manus Andree Norreis Regis Heraldorum in persolucionem Lxii. & iv d. sibi debitorum per billam dicti Custodis in Hanapertio de hoc termino de vadiis guerra & robis suis MS. penes Ed. Dering Barone L. 18. p. 21. & Comp. Garder. P. 12. E. 3. Andree de Norreis Regi Heraldorum pro denariis sibi debitis de vadiis guerra & robis suis xxxi. iv d.

Exit. Pell. M. 22 E. 3. magistro Andree Roy Norreis, Lybekino le Piper, & Hanckino filio suo & sex aliis Menehallis Regis in denariis eis liberatis de dono Regis in subsidium expensarum suarum lvs. iv d.

c M. Paris, Hist. p. 443. ad A. D. 1237. Australes se Norruibus opposuerunt, similiter ibidem, P. 846. 919.

In the Translation of the Hist. of Peter de Langtoft, made in 12 E. 3. in the Library of the Inner Temple touching the War against the Scots by Ed. 1.

Norroys and Surreis that service ambt the King. With horse and harnets at Carlele made janyng

And in another place.

Bot Sir Jon de Wales taken was in a pleyne Through spring of Norreits men that were certyn

Othelake was King Norreis; 'tis true, there was a King of the North subsisting (as it is supposed) at the same Time with Norreis, but that former Title of King of the North belonged then to a ^d Minstral. This Instrument, said to be signed by this Durroit, seems to import further, That a Person might be an Herald to the Duke of Lancaster, and at the same Time a Provincial King of Arms under the Crown. 'Tis true that ^c Froissart, in the Year 1381, mentions the Herald of this same Duke of Lancaster, whom he calls Hervault du Duc, and likewise Hervault d'Engleterre, but that may be only owing to the Style of an Historical Narrative, and to design the Country of this Officer only, and no ways to intimate that he was an Officer of Arms belonging at the same Time to this Duke and to the Crown also. It is well known that Persons formerly admitted into Offices in the Household, did upon their Admission take an Oath "Not to be, or stand confederated, or bounden, nor confederate, nor bind themselves, or yet be retained in any cause, or matter to, or with or towards any manner of Person, of what Estate, Condition, or Degree he be of, privately, or openly, neither by promise, nor signe, Indenture, Fee, nor by no other manner of wise —not to weare any Livere, conifauce, or badge of any mans, be retained to no man but only to the King's Majesty, &c." To give some Instances in the present Subject of Officers of Arms; In the Grant of a Salary to this Richard Delbrug already named, is this express Reservation, ^j "Ita tamen quod idem Richardus cum aliquo alio praterquam nobiscum non retineatur. Thus in the Injunctions on Montjoie King of Arms in France, & "Et sera tenu de james en porter null [esmillet de Blason] de quelque autre Seigneur, que ce soit. Indeed Sir Henry Spelman conjectures, That when Henry the IVth promoted his Herald Lancaster to be a King of Arms, he might give him that Dutchy for his Province; but that Conjecture fails, because the Records, in his first Year, expressly stile him Richard Del Brug Lancastre Roy d'Armes del North, which Expression was not, as 'tis supposed, confined to that Dutchy solely: But from hence it cannot be inferred, that under John Duke of Lancaster, the Title of King of the North might be given to his Herald, who might have his Province within this Dutchy only, during the same Time whilst we find another King des Norreis under the Authority of the Crown. The Collector hath great Reason to believe that from the Assumption of the Throne of H. IV. and during the Reigns of his Son and Grandson, the Title of Norreis was not used, but that the ^e Vol. 2. ch. 73. p. 121.

^d Rex concessit Wilhelmo de Morlee dicto Roy de North Ministrallo Regis domos que fuerunt Johanni: le Boteler dicti Roy Brunaud. Pat. de ter. foris. 16 E. 2.

^f Pat. 1 H. 5. p. 2. m. 26.

^g Du Fresnoy. Gloss. v. heraldus. Froiss. vol. 3. p. 125. indeed describes Combrès Herald being on his Breast the Arms of his Sovereign the King of Portugal, and of other Lords. Probably the latter Words do not mean the Escutcheons of any Lords of that Kingdom, but of some other Sovereign, which was a Compunctive brevifare made to intimate the Union and Amity that was between Princes; of this Usage we have some Examples. Thus our Hen. 6. gave a Compunctum of his Arms to Lisbon Herald of Portugal, Priv. Sigill. 4 June 30 H. 6. To Lesbon Herald of the King of Portugal 2 marks. To our Kings of Arms, barcolds and Purcevaunts v marks. To Ambassadors of therle of Douglas and his pourcevaunte xliii. vis. viii d. and for a Sencheon of our Arms to be delivered to the said Lesbon xxxiii. iii d. The like to an herald of Aragon. Exit Pell. Mich. 31 H. 6. cuidam heraldo Regis Aragon in denariis sibi liberatis in perfolutionem xl. quos Dominus Rex eidem Heraldio liberate mandavit, habend. de dono suo pro quodam Scuto Armorum suorum inde faciendo. Thus the Duke of Bretagne gave in 1406, to Charolois Herald of Burgundy, permission to bear the Sencheon of his Arms, Lobineau Hist. de Bretagne, p. 701. And Haines pursevant had in 1461 the like privilege. Ibid. en preuves. p. 1266.

whole Province on the North of Trent, formerly enjoyed by Norreis, was then held in as full an Extent by Lancaster; and 'tis observable, that in Patent 1 H. IV. to this Richard del Brugge, Robes are granted "Comme Johan Marche Heraud Roy Norreis avoit". However this may be, Henry Duke of Lancaster in 28 Edward III. had certainly a ss King of Arms that waited upon him when he went beyond Sea to Combat the Duke of Brunswick; but the Title being omitted, it would be a forward Attempt to guess whether he was of the King's or Duke's Coat. The Contents of this Instrument would furnish us with several other Arguments against the Genuineness hereof, if this was a proper Place to examine them.

'Tis high Time to attempt to give the true Reason of the Denomination of Rex, Roy, or King, as the same is attributed to the highest Order of Persons in the Office of Arms; and though the Word Rex is in the Classical Authors used in a Sense somewhat equivalent, as Rex Sacrificus, Rex Sacrorum among the Athenians, as well as Romans, Rex Aravii, Rex convivii, Rex Vini, Rex Pueritie, &c. yet it is probable the Word Rex in the present Case was used in the lower Ages for Latinizing the French Term Roy, according to the Customs of these Times when that was ascribed to the Chief and Principal, who presided in several Offices. And here it is to be repeated, that those Kings were antiently stiled in ^b this as well as ⁱ Foreign Kingdoms Reges Heraldorum, and not Reges Armorum, which Adjunct Arms was first given to the Heralds, as appears fully from our Records, but in Tract of Time the Words Heraldorum and Armorum became indiscriminately referred to these Kings. If the Instrument printed by ^k Bishe on Upton be genuine, there is an Instance of the Title King of Arms in the 6th of Ed. III. 'tis certain that Term was used in the ^l 12th of that Reign. Chaucer uses the same Expression in his ^m Poem, and under the Reign of Rich. II. Records frequently give this Appellation;

^{g g} Exit. Pell. m. 28 E. 3. Hermanno Regi Heraldorum moranti cum Duce Lancastrie de dono Regis xli.

^b The Release of Petrus Rex Hyarudorum citra aquam de Trent ex parte Boreali in 4 E. 1. is printed by Sylem. Gloss. v. Heraldus. Comp. Hofstadii 18 E. 1. in Turre London. Roberto Barvo Regi Heraldorum pro rebus suis hysmalis, &c. Nicholus Morell Regi Heraldorum Roi des Haraz in the Statute of Arms. To mention some Instances under E. 3. Exit Pell. m. 28 E. 3. Will. Volant Regi Heraldorum. Exit Pell. 30 E. 3. Joh. Mufhou Regi Heraldorum eunti vestus partes Valconie, &c. Comp. Garder. 31 E. 3. in Off. Rememor. Regis, Roberto Regi Heraldorum Protocollo. de Ter. p. 35 E. 3. Falconi de Thane Regi Heraldorum, &c. the Instances are numberless of such Kings of Heralds as have their Titles added to them.

ⁱ That the French mention'd in our Records. Comp. Hest. 6 E. 1. in Turre London. Equus datus Regi Horell. qui est Rex Heraldorum in partibus France. Galba E. xii. in bibl. Cott. 30 E. 3. Haneleno de Oteley Regi Heraldorum France venientis usq; Hertford. The Learned Mr. Clairambault hath communicated Copies of some Originals to the same Partic. Bois Robert Roy des herauts de France in 1318 gives a Receipt, remaining under his Seal, which hath the Impression of three Ducal Crowns, another Receipt, dated in 1337, by Rampanz Roy de Herautz; another by Guiot Roy des herauz de Champagne, for his Wives of War bearing Date in 1255, sealed with a Shield in Banner Parti, in the first, 3 Crowns in pale, and in the 2d, a Lion; but in Tract of Times, these Kings of Heralds became stiled Kings of Arms. Thui. Exit. Pell. M. 18 R. 2. Jehotte de Merlotte Regi Armorum de Champagne Heraldus Regis Francorum in perfoliatus v. margarum de dono Regis. And in the Composition touching the Church of St. Anthony made in 1406, several are therein named Kings of Arms. Ms. in bibl. Regia E. n. 1403. p. 77. There have been some Instances given above, p. 283, note. ii. of the Appellation of Kings of Heralds in Germany: Janderk Goldast. Const. Imper. vol. 1. p. 24. recites a Statute about Turnaments, said to be made A. D. 938, wherein Kings of Arms are mentioned, but 'tis easy to see that had that Appellation of Kings of Arms there: See Modii Pandect. Triumph p. 150, 145, &c.

^k Notae, p. 34.

^l Above, p. 283, note ii.

^m In the Poem of the Flower and the Leaf.

Camin Kings as Arms and no moe,
In cloaks of white cloth with gold riebley,
Chaplets of green on their beds on lye,
The Crowns that they on their Scabbards bere,
Were set with perl, and ruby, and spibers, &c.

but the former Title of Reges Heraldorum was not thereon discontinued, for we meet with these Terms throughout the Book of Francis de Foveis, who Dedicated it to Anne Queen of Rich. II. and in Upton in several places, who wrote in the Reign of Hen. VI. as also very frequently in Records.

Among our Neighbours the " French, the Word Roy or King, and from them in their and our Histories and Records the Latin Word Rex hath been frequently referred to the Principal, the Governor, the Judge, the Visitor, the Supreme, the President or Chief of many Professions, Arts, or Communities, as well on a serious as jocular Account.

Here we may justly reflect on the Emptiness of the Grandour of the Titles in this World, where ' Kings themselves cannot secure their own Titles, and prevent a Communication of them to their Subjects of low Degree.

Thus the Chief of these poor Officers of Arms participates in the Stile of King, and Garter King of Arms, by the Terms of his Institution, is appointed to be even the Sovereign in the College of Arms.

In the same Manner among the French, the Person, to whom the Chamberlain of France heretofore committed the Authority of viewing the Merchandizes, Weights and Measures of the Mercers, was denominated le Roy des Merciers, Rex Merceriorum, which Title being afterwards conceived to be somewhat a Reproach to the Majesty of the Sovereign, was by an Edict in 1597 altered into that of Visitor Merceriorum.

The President or Governour of the Minstrels had the like Denomination of Roy in ' France and Burgundy, and in England ' John of Gaunt constituted such an Officer by a Patent, and long before his Time, Payments were made by the Crown to this King of Minstrels by Ed. I. Regi ' Roberto Ministrallo scutifero ad arma commoranti ad vadia Regis Anno Quinto, as likewise ' Menestrallis in die Nuptiarum Comitisse Holland filie Regis, Regi Pago, Johanni Vidulatori, &c. Morello Regi, &c. Druetto Monthaut, and Jaketto de Scot Regibus cuilibet eorum xls. Regi Pagio de Hollandia, &c. under Ed. II. We likewise find other Entries, " Regi Roberto & aliis Ministrallis facientibus Menistrallas suas Coram Rege. That King granted, x Willielmo de Morlee dicto Roy de North Ministrallo Regis domos que fuerunt Johannis le Boteler dicti Roy Brunaud, and a safe Conduct is granted by Richard the Second, ' Johanni Cumini Regi Ministrallorum Regis n Le Mot de Roy estoit applique au Superieur ou Juge. Du Tiller recueil de Rois de France, p. 435.

o Le Roy signifie Chef, & Visiteur, Fauchet des Heras, p. 22 b. Origines de Dignitez, p. 43 b. 45 b. Du Fresne Gloss. v. Rex.

p Farestere Dictionnaire Universell, v. Roy. Laboureur l'Origine des Armes, p. 118.

q Voyez comme Dieu se moque de nos Grands, de Ce Roy qui par son Excellence & Prerogative de Dignite est par ses Subjects appelle Sire, na peu empêcher que ce mesme titre n'ait este baillie aux Simples Marchands. Pasquier, p. 690.

r Ragneau en Indice des Droits Royaux, p. 637. Fauchet Origines des Dignitez, p. 38 b.

g Du Fresne Gloss. v. Minstrel.

h Donnams & Grantants au dit Roy des Minstrels plein poer & Mandement de les faire resonablement justifier & Confrimere de faire leur services & Ministraloies en manere come apent Mon. Angl. 1. p. 255 b. Blount's Glossography, v. King of the Minstrels, Blount's Trennes, p. 167.

i Bibl. Cotton. Vespas. c. 16. f. 3.

j Liber. Garder. 25 E. 1. petites Rem. Regis.

k Bibl. Cotton. Nero c. 8. p. 84 b. Comp. Garder.

l Pat. de terr. forisfact. 16 E. 2.

m Franc. 10 R. 2. m. 7. Rymer Fœdera. Vol. 7: 555.

versus partes transmarinas profekturo. It being an ancient Custom for Minstrells and Herald's to repair to Forreign Courts on great Festivals and solemn Occasions, whereof there are many Proofs interperfed throughout this Discourse, which Title of King of the Minstralls, in after Ages, was in this Kingdom altered to that of Marshal. Of the like Nature, relating to Mutick, was the King of the ² Violins, and also the King of the ⁴ Juglers, Rex Juglatorum.

Mr. ^b Selden presents his Friend Ben. Johnson with Rex versuum, and Mr. ^c Borell acquaints us with le Roy des Poetes (Poetarum facile Princeps). There are many Dissertations on the ^d Roy des Ribauds Rex Ribaldorum; we likewise meet with ^e Roy d'Arbalestriers, Roy des Arpenters, Roy de Messiers, attributed to the Person who had a Superintendancy over these Professions, to which a Learned ^f Author hath added Rex Alutariorum, Arcariorum & Spineti, and ^g another informs us of Le Roy des Porteurs a Sac a Valenciennes; in the same manner we find ^h Rex Armigerorum, ⁱ Roy de Clercs, and among the German's with ^k Reges Ludorum, and Reges Circulorum for Judges in Turnaments; of which latter Sort was Le ^l Roy d'Epimette, or Le Roy des Brandons, at the Turnaments annually held in ² Il y a encore maintenant un Roy des Violons qui est le Chef de la Maistrise, Furetiere Diët. Univers.

Lettes Patents de Confirmation des Statuts Ordonnaunces & Reglem. faits par les Rois sur l'Exercice de la Charge du Roy des Violons, Maitres a danser & Joueurs des Instrumens tant haut que bas. Boniface 10. 3. livre 4. lit. 13. c. 2.

^a Super quod Johannes dictus Charmillens Juglator, cui Dominus Rex per Literas suas tanquam Regem Juglatorum in Civitate Trecenti Magistrerium Juglatorum, quemadmodum sibi placeret voluntati 1296 Reg. mag. dierum Trecentium. Probably it signifies Jongleurs, such as plaid on the Cymbal, an Instrument formerly in great Esteem. Des Jongleurs jouoient de la vielle, cestoit dans ces premiers temps l'instrument le plus estime. Le Genre Moeurs des Francois, p. 24.

And thus in Chaucer's Translation of the Romaunt of the Rose, p. 1126.

There mightst thou see these Flouters
Minstralls, and eke Joglours, &c

Mezeray (Hist. p. 416, 417) treating of the Cruisades to the Holy Land, derives the Original of the French Poetry and Romances from that Expedition. Les Grands avoient des Trouvers, Chanterres & Jugleors : Les Trouvers estoient des Poetes & faiseurs de Romans, & les Chanterres qui par la Musique debitoient apres le repas ce que les poetes avoient invente, & les Jugleors des faiseurs de Passe passe & tours de souffle, d'ou s'est encore conserve le mot de Jongleur. In a Translation of the History of Pierre de Langtoft, made in the Beginning of the Reign of Edward 3. treating of King Arthurs Coronation, and now in the Library of the Inner Temple.

Jogleours wer their trouwe,
That were qu'isfe for the trouwe
Minstrall many with foyers glew
Soun's of benes that men blew
Harps, Pipes and Tabours:
Ficbels, Cioelles, Sautreours, &c.

In Domestici Book in Glowcestershire, Berdic Joculator Regis habet ibi 3 Villas. Chaucer in his House of Fame, v. 168.

There saw I playing Jouglois, Magiciens and Trageleors.

Notredame Vies des Poetes Provençaux en proeme, p. 14. Violars pour sonneurs de Violons : quelquefois Juglars pour sonneurs de Flutes. Bibl. Croix du Maine, p. 179. Jonglet ancient Poete Francoys & tres excellent jouer d'instrument de Musique en l'an 1260, &c.

^b Selden's Tules of Honour, p. 336.

^c Recherches d'Antiquites, p. 605. Aux jeux floraux on appelloit le Roy des Poetes celui qui avoit emporte le prix, & qui l'annee suivante jugeoit des Poesies des autres. Furetiere Diët. Univ. voce Roy.

^d Du Fresne Gloss. v. Ribald. Pasquier l. 8. c. 44. Tillet recueil, &c. p. 345. Limnæi Notitia Francie, p. 805. Fauchet, p. 43. Bullenger de Officiis regni Gallie. du Haillan, p. 231, &c.

^e Ragneau Indice des droïts Royaux, p. 637.

638.

^f Du Fresne Gloss. v. Rex.

^g Menestrier de la Chevalerie, p. 243.

^h Preuves de l'Hist. de Bretagne par Lobineau p. 142. Oliverius de Dinnao Oliverii filius concessit Monachis St. Martini majoris Monasterii terras in Anglia, Nothoellam Kilker & Helseport, &c. Testibus Alano filio Brient — Gaufrido Rege Armigerorum, xiv. Kal. Junii tempore disentionis Regis Anglie Henrici & filii sui Henrici (1179.)

ⁱ Ibidem, p. 1184. Henn. Fils Jehannin Trillet Roy des Clercs a Nantes.

^k Goldast. Const. Imper. vol. 1. p. 211. Judices seu Reges Torneamentorum. Limn. de jurc Publ. l. 6c. §. n. 11 6.

^l Du Fresne Dissert. vii. ad Joinville, p. 182. des Turnois, behourds, &c. cest a ce Usage qu'il faut rapporter les jeux d'Epimette, qui ont este si frequens dans la ville de l'Isle en Flandres, Quelques uns en rapportent l'origine & institution au Roy St. Louis.

May

May at Lille in Flanders, whereof ^m Haynault Herald hath wrote a large Treatise; this Title was taken from his Ensign, being so constituted by the Delivery of the ⁿ Espine or Spinula, and he was clothed with Royal Robes, and had also, which is not wholly foreign to the present Purpose, an Herald appropriated to him by that Title for the Regulating the Ceremonies, who was under the Obligation of an Oath to the City for that Purpose, and when there was an Occasion, performed the Services of an Herald likewise to the Prince, that is (as the Editor supposes) to the Earl of Flanders, by whose Grant he wore on a Tabart Gules a Lilly Argent, the Arms of that City; which was reputed an Instance of great Favour, because such Officers belonged only to powerful Princes and Provinces; and though Philip the Second forbad the Exercise of these Turnaments, yet the Herald subsisted to the Time this Author wrote, who proceeded before the Senate and Council of Lille invested with his Coat, bearing the Rod of Office. Though the Publisher knows not the Antiquity of this Institution, yet ^o Espinette Purfevant was present at Arras in 1435.

Of the same Original are the Titles Roy de ^p l'Arquebuse at Sezanne and Beauvais, le Roy de ^q Papegay (of the Parrot) at Lagny, a Sport also used formerly in this Kingdom, and called Shooting at the ^r Poppingaj, and something of the same Nature, as all the other ^s Gargouilles, as the Pa-poire at Amiens, the Gargouille at Rouen, the Merefolie at Dijon, the Taraf-ⁿ Buzelinus Gallo Flandriae l. 3. c. 23. fol. 537. De Festo ludisque Spinetici olim magno Insule apparatus Celebratus.

^m Menestrier l'origine des Armoiries, p. 64. Guillaume Rucher Heraut d'Armes du titre de Haynaut a fait un gros Volume des Rois de l'Espinette a Lille en Flanders, c'est une Ceremonie, ou une feste dont il a decrit les Joustes, Tournois, noms, armoiries, livres & Equipages de divers Seigneurs, qui se rendoient de divers endroits, avec les Catalogues de Rois de cette feste.

A. D. 1338. floruisse hanc ludorum Celebritatem Philippi Francorum Regis diploma fides facit, quo facultatem Insulensibus tribuit iis se decursibus oblectandi, quamvis per Francie Regnum Certamina & ludos equestres prohibuisset.

Quotannis mense Maio. habitu viridi conspicui decursiones equestres Insule adversus omnes aliunde convenientes inirent, & qui victor esset renunciatus ad Aedem Templemartii Constructam deducerent in Sacello S. Georgii Arma de tholo in signum victorie suspendurum.

Ex Insulensi Nobilitate deligi quenquam qui tunc regis ornamentis ac titulo decoratus per totum anni tempus Regis personam sustineret.

In ea funebri oratione quam Insulensis quispiam Anno Caritæ 1577, in laudem Guilielmi Hangovarii Artesia Praefidis latine conscripsit hæc legitur.

Porro Spineti festo dignitate magna speciali Gratia Principis accedit ejus praesenti Reges Spinula disti ornabantur, privilegiis, Immunitatis & honoribus Concessis & Confirmatis per eodem supremos Flandriae Principes. Adjectus eadem Urbis titulo Spinulae in hanc usque diem. Nomen & Officium Caduceatoris retinens, qui solennes ludorum obiter Ceremonias, & si usus foret etiam Principi in Bellis aliisq; Negotiis operam impenderet, quod frequenter olim & in hunc usque diem uti venit; eiq; privilegia Principis Gratia sagum militate gestare per-“ miserat exornatum lilio argenteo in area punicæ, “ que urbis Insulanae sunt insignia. Est id vero “ Nobile & Magnæ Majestatis beneficium; cum “ id genus Magistratus in potentiorum Principum “ & Illustrium Provinciae usus duntaxat creari “ permiserint.

Ludorum Rex in Die Dominico, qui Cineribus est proximus cenam opiparam praebet, proximo die Martis prandium, ubi Regnum alteri decretum est, qui in prato Suburbano facialis aut Caduceator Senatus Urbisq; nomine spinulam ei tradebat quem Magistri Regem nuncupaverant, unde Nomen Regis spineti quem olim Gallice Roy des Brandons sive luminarium quod eo die Celebraretur festum, quo facibus accensis hortos plateasq; lustrabant, vocatum constat.

Post plausum Victoribus datum eorumque Principe accipere, &c. deinde recitat Author quæ de hisdem ludis varii Principes stauerint & dicit quod tandem Philippus 2. Hispan. Rex eos prorsus inter-dixit.

Igitur hoc tempore unicus tantum ejus veteris pompæ aliquid retineri Caduceator, qui Senato Insulano publice prodeunt praegreditur, Sago Insignis & Caduceum gestans ut in quem ante memoravi de laudibus Guilielmi Hangovarii distentate verbis a Nobis relatis expresse notavit.

Eidus est hic liber Duaci in fol. 1625.

^o Charrier Hist. de Ch. vii. p. 82.

^p Memorial Alphabetique v. Roy d'Arquebuse n. 3.

^q Celuy qui abbat l'aile droite du Papegay est Chevalier, celuy qui abbat l'autre aile est le Baron, celuy qui abbat le Papegay est Roy; les trois jouissent de l'exemption de la Taille en la ville de Lagny. Plaidoyers de Corbin. c. 39. Du Faj. l. 1. c. 338. l. 2. c. 352. Monac. l. 7. Cod. de vestigibus.

^r Hall's Chronicle of Hen. 8. p. 62 a.

^s Menestrier Recherches du Blason, p. 149. Origine des Ornaments d'Armoiries, p. 365. vide Dictionnaire de Trevoux. v. Fiette. Gargouille.

que at Tarascon, and the Duke d'Urbain or Prince d'Amour at Aix in Provence, as also the Roy de la ' Bravade. The Prince de Jeumesse at Soissons, the Roy de Perroquet at Montpellier and Caen.

And in this Kingdom the ludicrous & Custom within the City of London, of choosing yearly a King or Lord of Misrule on the Fourth of January, within the Holy Days of Christmas (a Season formerly of Pastime, Indulgence, and Libertinism, who (as also another belonging to the Sheriffs of the same City, and likewise a Third belonging to the Treasurer) went in splendid Procession theatrically acting the Pageantry of Majesty, which was practised as low as the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, which calls to this Collector's Remembrance a Custom observed heretofore at Lothwithiell in Cornwall, where, as Norden describes it, the Freeholder's Tenants of the Dutchy yearly, upon little Easter-Sunday (as they called it) chose one of themselves, who being solemnly attired, well mounted, having a Crown on his Head, a Scepter in his Hand, a Sword born before him, rode to the Church, where he was met with great Ceremony, and thence accompanied to Dinner where he was Entertained with a Sewer, Talter, and other Princelike Attendants, served with Kneeling at delivering the Cup, and such like.

Sturdy Beggars have also had their King, whom they have stiled in their Jargon le Roy ' Thafur, le Grand Cosroe, le Roy de Thunes, and in a Sence not much different, Geffry Mortimer called his Father the King of Folly; and learned and rich Societies have likewise concurred in this Buffoonry, for not only Forreign Universities elected such a fictitious King, but some of our own Colleges in Oxford have done the same from the Time of their first-Foundation, who in their Registers is stiled Rex Fabarum, and Rex Regni Fabarum, an Appellation probably attributed to him because he might be elected by Lots, wherein Beans were used, as the Roy de la Febve in France on Twelfth Day or the Feast of the three Kings (said to be buried at Cologne) and possibly in Remembrance of them, was the Person, who by Chance received that Part of the Cake, wherein the Bean was placed, a Custom observed upon that Day in this Kingdom, under the Reign of Edward the Third. And in Forreign Colleges

¹ Rauchin. p. 378; Moreri Diction. in v. Bravade.

^u Bouchel. Bibl. du droit Franc. tom. 2. p. 1126.

^x Moreri Diction. v. Feste du Perroquet.

^y Origines de Caen. p. 169.

^z See Viellius F. 5. in Bibl. Cotton. 5 E. 6.

6 F. 6. 3 Pbl. & M.

^a Ibid. See also Vespaf. F. 13. f. iii. in bibl. Cott. where is a Letter to the Cardinal to know his Pleasure whether any Lord of Misrule should be appointed for the Prince'sse's Household at Christmas.

^b Norden's Survey of the Duchy of Cornwall. MS. in that Office.

^c Furetiere Diction. voce Truand, l'Abbe Guibert en son Histoire de Jerusalem represente la vie & les gestes des Gueux & Truands, qui suivent l'armee croisee qu'il nomme Truandens: Leur Capitaine sur un Chevalier, qui se fit nommer le Roy Thafur, & il remarque que ces gens firent grand peur aux Sarasins. Cette Royaute a toujours continue depuis: Et a present les Gueux de France nomment leur Roy, le Grand Cosroe, & le Roy de Thunes, comme on voit dans le jargon d'Argon.

^d Lelandi Collect. edit. per Hearn. vol. 2. p. 476.

^e Hist. Strenarum per Lipenium apud Grævii Antiq. Rom. vol. 12. p. 529. a Studiosis Academicis missa forte eligitur Archimarecallus, Archicamerarius, Consiliari, Præfeti, Ministri deniq; ac Moriones vel Histiones, qui singuli suo funguntur Officio, ministrantes illi Putativo Regi ad mensam, ita tamen ut finito Convivio omnes ita vino inebriati, vix quis Rex, quisq; morio fuerit, dignoscere liceat, atq; sanus jurates omnes infansie — sed hæc iam fabulata sunt in nostris Academicis.

^f Wood's Athen. Oxon. Part 2. p. 154.

^g Borell recherches d'Antiquitez, p. 400.

^h Linnæi Notitia Franciæ, p. 325. cui pars libri, in qua faba reperitur, forte obtingit. Erasmi Adag. Chil. 6. Cent. 4. 37. Etiam hodie in Epiphaniis Rex convivii fabis deligitur.

ⁱ Nero C. 8. in Bibl. Cotton. p. 175. Comp. Garderob. 8 E. 3. Rogeto Trumpour & focius fies Mensuralis Regis de dono Regis nomine Regu de Fabæ die Epiphaniæ Lx.

the Title of ⁴ Emperours of the East and West have been attributed to the First of their Classis.

This Comical Bean King is called also in France ¹ Roi-bois, and is thought to be a Relique of Paganism; rich Fraternities diverted themselves heretofore with this same Pageantry; for the Practisers of the Parliaments or Courts of Justice in France had annually their Roy^m de Baschoe, i. e. Discours, Goguenard, ou piance, and the Prince des Sots. Thus our ⁿ Inns of Court had a King stiled by some fancied Kingdom, chosen on Christmas-Day, who had Officers of State, and the Appearance of Majesty, as may be seen in the Authors quoted in the Margin, who was allowed an ^o Herald as part of the Ornament and Equipage of his State.

According to this Dialect an Humourist, or rather a Captain of the Blacks, under the Reign of Edward III, took upon himself the Stile of ^p Roy de la Route des Raveners, which was solemnly adjudged contrary to the Prerogative of the Crown. This Enquiry touching the Title of Kings, calls to Remembrance the Plays forbidden the Clergy, denominated ^q Ludos de Rege & Regina, which might be Cards, Chess, or the Game since used even to this Age at Christmas, called Questions and Commands, and also that Ed. I. plaid ad^r quatuor Reges, which the Collector guesses might be the Game of Cards, wherein are Kings of the four Suits, for he conceives this Play of some Antiquity, because the Term Knave, representing a Youth, is given to the next Card in Consequence to the King and Queen, and is as it were the Son of them, for in this Sense this Word Knave was heretofore used; thus ^j Chaucer saith, That Alla King of Northumberland begot a Knave Child, and useth the Word ^k Diction. de Trevous v. Empereur.

^l Baillet en vies des Saints vi Janvier, conclues le Roi-bois or de la Feve, to be a Remain of Paganism, when in the End of December, or Beginning of January, the Heathens did in Honour of Saturn (in whose Golden Age all Persons are imagined to have been equal on a Level) choose an Imaginary King by Lot, so that if it chanced to fall on a Niece, his Master obliged him during the Continuance of that Feast. If the Reader is curious to know the Manner of that Election, he may consult Arrian upon Epictetus l. 1. c. 25. Pollux l. 9. c. 7. Tacit Ann. l. 13. Lucian. Mr. Bochart, in his Phaleg, vns up this Custom to the Time of Noah: Tibi is not unlike the choosing a Servant to be Sorgan or King at Babylon at the Feast of the Goddess Dercecha, who during his Regency was Habited in Royal Apparel.

^m Rochestavin des Parlemens, p. 170. Ragneau Indice des Droits Royaux 677, 678. Miraumont Memoirs des Juridictions. Bouchel Bibliothec; du droit françois voce Baschoe, ou est un Playdoye au Parlement de Paris en 1469. Mr. Menage Diction. voce Baschoe. Il y a un recueil des Statuts, &c. du Royaume de la Baschoe imprime a Paris 1654, 8vo. Of this King see also Moreri's Diction. 1718. v. Baschoe.

ⁿ Dugd. Origin. Juridiciales, p. 247, 151. Gesta Grayorum in videntia.

^o Leigh's Accidence of Armoys, p. 217, 223.

^p Placita coram Rege apud Nottingham de Termino Sancti Michaelis 10 E. 3. Eborum 27.

^q Lionel Roy de la route de Raveners a notre faux & delloyaux Richard de Snawellhill salut sans amour. Nous vous mandons sur peyne de quant que vous poez forsaire contre nous & noz leyes, que vous venes cestes noz lettres vous ostes nettement de celui que vous maintenez en la Vicairie de Burton Annes; Et sotez que la Abbe de nostre Dame de Bouthon peust avoir la Franchise & sa election poest estre & tenir a celuy qil ad donc la dite vicairie & quest plus hable davoir un bon advancement qe vous ou nul de votre linage: Et si vous ne le facetz, nous sefontons nostre avou premier au Roy de Ciel & puis au Roy d'Angleterre & a notre Coronne qe vous avezez & reseveyerez par nous au tieux ordres come eust l'Evescqe de Excestre en Cheep ou que vous soyez trovex mesqe joietz en Coningstret & mannes ceste lettre a votre souverain & dites luy qil lesser faux comparsenments & confederacions, & quil seoffre qe droit face a celuy, a qui le dit Abbe ad presente, ou par les a vous avant ditz il aura mille Livres de damage par nous & lesnoez. Et si vous ne veullez avoir regard a nos mandemens nous manderons a nostre Viscount de North, qil face sur vous la grande distresse comme devant est dit. Donnez au nostre Chastiel de Byse en la tout de Vert en ven de notre Regne premier.

^r In Synodo Worcester. 1240.

^s Comp. Hospitii 6 E. 1. in Turre. Waltero Stortton ad opus Regis ad lodendum ad quatuor Reges viii. v. d.

^t Man of Law's Tale v. 716. See the Merchants Tale v. 818, 185 b. Somponour's Tale v. 514. Wife of Bath v. 1190. Circ of Oxford v. 1474, 1476. Parloner v. 2183. Shipman v. 2816. Erillig is the Monk's Tale v. 9. Nones Priests Tale v. 1063. See Spelman of Deeds, p. 243, &c.

frequently, frequently; and in France this Card is known by the Term Varlet, a Word given to the ' Sons of Kings.

Whoever hath the Patience to read over this tedious Catalogue of Kings, the Geography of whose Realms cannot easily be found out, will not be surprized that answerable to this Custom the Principals or Chiefs of the Heralds should be denominated by this * Epithet, especially when they recollect that their Creation is by pompous Ceremonies somewhat allusive to Coronations of Sovereign Princes, receiving at that Time Crowns, and the Chief of them a Scepter, being anointed (if it may be said) by pouring Wine on their Heads, and Robed with the Royal Military Habit or Surcoat of Arms of the King, and the Tides of their Kingdoms, Provinces, or Marches given them, or rather of the Persons living within them, being (as a Learned * Author observes) the Statue of the King, or in the Words of ^y another, the Shadow of Royalty, and Representative of Majesty, or, as was said in Derision of Charles VII of France, Roy en peinture, which Title of King, according to ^z Olivier de la Marche, is the highest in the Cosmography of Heraldry, tho' he must be mistaken in that Assertion, if the Emperor's Chief Herald was then called, as some * Writers have since stiled him, Arch Roy, or Roy des Roys, a ^b Title given to our Garter in the Journal of the House of Lords, in Respect probably to his Superiority over the other Kings of the Obedience of this Realm. But these Officers of Arms should not be elated with Pride upon this August Title, and the uncommon Marks and Ensigns of Royalty attributed to them, but thereby remember to Reverence themselves by not doing any Thing beneath the Trust reposed in them by the Person whom they represent, and not forget that they are frequently and truly also stiled ^c Servants of Arms and Clientes Armorum.

This Title of King got footing also in Ecclesiastical Societies, Rex d Stultorum, was prohibited to the College of Beverly in 1391, who bore Rule there on the Festivals of the Holy Innocents, and of the Circumcision. This King was of the same Nature with the Barn Bishop, Barn Abbot, &c. in other Places, ^e Forreign and ^f Domestick, a Ceremony justly called ^r See De la Roque de la Noblesse, p. 7. Du Fresne Gloss. voce Valer.

^s Columbiere des Roys d'Armes, p. 12. Roy d'Armes est titre plus propre au Chef des Heraux, qui exerceans un Office tout Royal, out toujours eu cette advantage de marcher devant le Roys leurs Maistres en royal appareil. Ils font aussi ditz Roy, a Cause de la Beute & de Authorite de leurs charges & pour la dignite du Maistre qu'ils servent & qu'ils representent. Autrefois on donnoit le nom de Roi a plusieurs principaux Officiers, mais il y a une raison particuliere pour le Roi d'Armes qui est qu'on luy mettoit une Couronne sur la tete le jour de sa reception & qu'il la portoit dans plusieurs ceremonies, ou il representoit la personne du Roi: cest pourquoy il etoit toujours Chevalier. Moreri Diction 1718. in voce Heraut.

^x Splem. Gloss. voce Herald.

^y Menestrier le blason justifie c. 5. p. 119. L'ombre de la Royaute & qui represente la Majeste.

^z Si hault, si noble & si grand, que jamais ne peut avoir plus hault nom en l'Office d'Armes.

^a Columbiere des Roys d'Armes, p. 40. Le Roy d'Armes de l'Empereur nomme Archeroy porte la Couronne & les Habits Imperiaux. Rouck der Nederlandtschen Heraud, p. 224. Den Roy des Roys werdt gheket by den naem van Marckgraef des Heyligh Rier ende g' hreect by den Keyser, is een van ne principaelste Roy d'Armes van Christenrick.

^b 15 Febr. 6 H. 8.

^c Thus Garter is in his Institution stiled, Ung Servant d'Armes, aud in some Records, Serviens Communis ad Ordinem Garter.

^d Mon. Angl. vol. 2. de Eccl. Colleg. p. 7.

^e See Du Fresne Gloss. v. Episcopos Puerorum. Moreri Felle des Innocens Festales Fous. Durandus, who died in 1296, in his rationale. p. 282. describes this Custom at large. Lobineau Hist. de Bretagne, p. 586. Com. Garderob. 12 E. 3. penes Camerar. Seacc. Episcopo puerorum Ecclesie de Andewerp cantanti coram. Dom. Rege in Camera sua in festo sanctorum Innocentium de dono ipsius Dom. Regis xiiii. vid.

^f See ibi Processionale secundum usum Sarum Rothom. 1555. In the Mon. Angl. vol. 3. p. 313, 314, 177, 279, 169. As to our Kings, Lib. Garderob. 25 E. 1. penes Rem. Regis Episcopo puerorum fado called the Feast of ^s Fools, and this Bishop ^b Nihilensis, for as in the State the Title of King was attributed to Persons, who presided in some jocular Ceremonies, so that of Bishop, the Highest Order in the Church, was taken by a Child who personated the Bishop, being clothed with all the ⁱ Pontifical Ensigns, and which was intolerable, executed the ^k Function facto in Ecclesia parochiali de Neylonde de Elemofina Regis pro seipso & Clericis suis xli. Eodem die Episcopo puerorum in Ecclesia Albarie Colledis de Elemofina Regis & Clericis suis xli. and it is documented in the Margyn, in festo Sancti Nicholai. There is an usual annual Entry in the Pelle Rolles. Pueri Episcopo liberati capelle Sancti Stephani infra palatium Regis Westmonast. in demeritis sibi liberati de Elemofina Dom. Regis in vigilia Sancti Nicholai, proot consimili Episcopo de anno in annum ab antiquo liberari consuevit xx. The Last Shew in his Will 1415. desires in the Church of York, Cape, Casala, Tunica & Dalmatica cum omni apparatu quam habeo pro Episcopo puerorum. Rym. vol. 9. p. 273.

^g Domini. Moreri, Lobineau, et aliorum: See Notes in the Works of Peter Blesensis Paris. fol. 1667. & Consuetudin. Schola Etonensis MS. in Colleg. C. C. In die Sancti Hicogni solent Etona fieri Hedio Episcopi Nihilensis, sed consuetudo obsolevit. Olim ille Episcopus puerorum habebatur nobilis, in cuius electione & literata & laudatissima exercitatio ad ingentium vires & motus excitandos Etona celebrari erat.

ⁱ Gregory's Posthumous Works. A Roll or Parchment, belonging to the Church of Canterbury, gives an Inventory of his Habits, whence we may judge of the Apparel of Bishops. Contents of Ornaments Episcopi puerorum penes Ed. Dering Baronet.

Imprimis i Myer well garnished with perle and precious Stones with needles of Silver and gilt befor and behind.

Item iii ruyges of Silver and gilt with ii redde precious Stones in them.

Item i pontifical with Silver and gilt with a blue Stone in hye.

Item i Orche broken Silver and gilt with iii precious stones and a perle in the myd.

Item a Croise with a Staff of Coper and gilt with the ymage of Saint Nicholai in the Mydd.

Item i vesture redde with Lyons wher Silver with byrds of Gold in the Ouyfrot of the same.

Item i Aube in the same with Sterry in the pa. . . .

Item i whit cap thyned with vestrell and orferye ridel sik with doys of Gold and whit napkins about ther necke.

Item i cope: blew silk with red orferye trayled with aube braunches and flowers.

Item i signed cloth of the ymage of Saint Nicholai.

Item i Tabard of Skarlet and a bodde ibereu bound with whit Silk.

Item a hode of Skarlet lynch with blew silk.

In a Will in the Registry of Norwich 1504 the Testour desires a summe to be laid out for a Robe of worsted lynch with purple Satin to be made in the honor of St. Nicholai for the Bishop to wear his day and night in the Parish of St. Martin at the Paley Gate, and in the old Roll of the Accounts of the Ammoner of that Church. Item. Pro vidualibus empta cum aliis expensis pro Episcopo puerorum in festo Sancti Nicholai. Probaby Chauceer in the Proverbes tale v. 3023 refers ^k To the above mentioned Ornaments may be added one from the Registry of the Ammoner of Pauls in bibl. Coll. Sancti Joh. Cantab. F. 4. Memorandum quod Anno Domini MCCCXIII tempore G. de Ferruge De ani ordinatum fuit de Officio Puerorum die Sanctorum Innocentium prout sequitur Prævidi fuit ab antiquis Patribus Prædecessoribus nostris deliberatione statutum, ut in solemnitate Sanctorum Innocentium qui pro innocente Christo sanguinem suum fuderunt, Innocens Puer Præfulatus officio fungeretur, ut he puer poeris prædictis & innocens innocensibus imperaret, Illius typum tenentis in Ecclesia quem secuntur innocentes quocunque ferit. Cum igitur quod ad laudem lacerantiam fuit adinventum conversum sit in dedecus & detursum decoris domus Dei propter insolentiam effrenatæ multitudinis consequentis eundem & assuetudine improborum turbe patem Præfulati exturbantis atrocemulorum dumnus, ut prædicti Pueri tam in eligendo suo Pontifice, & Personis dignitatum Decani, Archiepiscoporum, & aliorum, necnon & Stationariorum aut quom suum ritum observent. Tabulam suam faciant & legant in Capitulo, hoc tamen adhibito moderamine, ut nullam cetero de Canonici majoribus vel minoribus ad celebrandos vel turbabiles vel ad aliquos obsequia Ecclesie vel ejusdem Pontificis deperunt in futurum, sed suos eligant ministeriales de illis qui sunt in secunda forma vel tertia; Processiones suam habeant honestas, tam in incessu quam habitu & cantu competenti. Ita vero se gerant in omnibus in Ecclesia, quod Clerus & populus illos habeat recommendatos. Cum autem decesserint Episcopus ad ornandum possi velperis Sancti Johannis accipus voluerit Canonici residentis domum hac forum contentus sit familia, duos secum habeat quos sibi elegit Capellanos, duos quoque sibi elegit Cereferarios, quinque pueros alios vice Clericorum suorum, duos etiam de ferventibus Ecclesie, qui cum virgini Præfulum precedant; Caveat autem sibi ne capellanos vel Cereferarios vel Clericos suos alios ut prædictum est de illis eligat qui gerant persona Stationariorum sive sint dignitates absentes five aut nisi persona quorum vicem gerunt sint absentes. Illustri autem persona qui vicem tenet Decani adjunctis sibi quatuor Sociis de aliis personis Stationariorum nisi fuerint absentes ut dictum est ad domum declinet Decani. Ceteri vero qui personarum optinent dignitatum ad Domos Dominorum suorum descendant, quilibet contentus tribus sociis. Et is ordo & numerus observetur tam in prima Coma quam in mensa dies quom coma posteriori, nec cum eo comabit ultima die vel prædictum cum quo comavit die prima. Ex præmissis manifeste colligitur quod si descendens Episcopus ad Dornum Decani erit ibi cum xv clericis, si ad domum aliquis optinentis dignitatem cum xiiii clericis, si ad alterius privati Stationarii cum xiii die vero solemnitate possi præfidium ad mandatum persone Decani convenient in atrio Ecclesie ibidem equos ascendant ituri ad populum benedicendum, Tenetur autem Decanus Præfuli præfere Equum & quilibet Stationarius sive persona in Equis providere. In transgressores autem hujus Constitutionis, &c.

Saint Nicholai Sont eye in my presence
For he se yunge in Christ did reverence.

R k k k

W

on of a Bishop, which though it was prohibited by an Epistle of Pope Innocent III to the Bishop of London, continued however in that Cathedral, and several other Churches, till 33 H. VIII, when it was Abolished by a Proclamation, which the Writers of the History of our Reformation probably had not seen, or thought it below their Notice. There might be a great deal more said of this Boy Bishop, and that in like manner other Ecclesiastical Terms, as Apostles, Cardinals, Abbots, Deans, &c. in the middle and latter Ages have been attributed to Persons of much inferior Degrees in the Church, and very frequently to the Laity.

Having thus endeavoured to explain the Term King, wherein the Provincials participate with Garter, it may not be improper to shew wherein the latter is distinguished from them in his Title: There have been some Variations in the wording of the Patents to these Provincial Kings, as well as to Garter; Clarenceux by his present Patent is created "In Regem Armorum, ac principalem Heraldum partium Australium, Orientalium, & Occidentalium regni nostri Angliæ", which Words Orientalium & Occidentalium were first inserted in the Patent of Thomas Benoit in 2 H. VIII, and Norroy is created, "In Regem Armorum ac principalem Heraldum partium Borealiū regni nostri Angliæ: Here is a Copulative in both their Styles, yet only one Office is granted to each, with the respective Names or Titles of Clarenceux, and Norroy; Garter hath the like Conjunction at present in his Patent, being constituted "In Principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum & præcipuum Officiarium Armorum inclyti Ordinis Garterii", with the Name, Style and Title of Garter, but the same is throughout the Patent designed as one Office. By the first Patent on Record he was erected, In Regem Armorum de Gartera, without any other Words. It hath been alledged by a former Clarenceux, that the Word Anglicorum herein must be an Adjective agreeing with Armorum, and imports that this Officer was Principal King of English Arms, and not as 'tis usually Translated of Englishmen: The Collector is not apprized of any distinct Consequences that will follow from this Difference of Translations; but that the latter is true, appears from an Authentick Instrument, under the Hands and Seals of Twelve Knights of the Order, and of the Prelate, who recite the Erection of this Officer, in the following Words, according to a verbal Translation. "m Hen. V, by good and demure deliberation willing to the Contemplation of the said noble Order, as Sovereign of the same, in full Chapter of the said Fellowship and Confraternity, by the Advice and Consent of all the Brethren, and there being present the Reverend Father in God Henry Bishop of Winchester

We have the Will of Tholeshonte, Answer of this Church, dated 20 Januarii MCCCXXVIII. Item lego Hugoton meam meliorem & Pricianum maiorem & minorem in uno volumine ligatum & Ysodorum. Ethenologiarum & omnes libros meos gramaticales præterquam illos quos habet Radulphus Clericus meus & omnes Quaternos sermonum de Festo Satorum Innocentium quos tempore meo solebant Episcopi Puerorum pronunciare ad remiandum in Eleemosynaria prædicia in perpetua ad usumfructum puerorum in eadem degentium, &c. Probatum in Hustingo London 4 E. 3.

1 Titus B. ii. bibl. Cotton, p. 208.

11 Controversy between Garter and Benoit Clarenceux, begun in 22 H. 8. whereof there are Copies in several Libraries. Faustina E. 1. in bibl. Cotton 4. 6. 15. penes Ed. Dering Barroni. A. 10. penes me, &c.

m Ashm. App. n. 2.

cc Prelate

" Prelate of the said most noble Order willed ordeyned and Constituted
 " in encreasing the Name of the said Order, and to be attendant on
 " the service of the said fellowship, the brethren of the same, and of all " Gentry a Servant of Arms, the which for the Dignity of the said Order,
 " He would that he should be Sovereign within the Office of Arms, over " all other Servants of Arms of the most noble Kingdome of England,
 " and in confirming the said Order was named Garter King of Arms of " Englismen". [Jartier Roy d'Armes des Angloys].

It is no ways singular that a King of Arms, intituled by the Title of a Military Order, should be also thereby created the Principal King of Arms, and invested with Powers to execute all other Articles of Heraldick Functions throughout the whole Territories of the Grand Master. There were anciently severall Kings of Arms for distinct ⁿ Provinces under the Dominion of the Duke of Burgundy, yet upon the Erection of the Order of the Golden Fleece there was a King of Arms created by that Title [Toifon d'or] sworn in a ^o Chapter, who had Robes of that ^p Order, and executed the Duties belonging thereto: However he was not limited to that Order solely, for as Toifon d'or he was employed in all the ^y Branches of the Heraldick Capacities. In the Declaration made in a Chapter of that Order held in 1545, of the Rights of Officers of Arms, he is acknowledged to be " ^r the first and principal King of Arms, and " it is decreed that to him appertained generally the correction of Arms,
 " Crests, and Helmets unlawfully born in all Kingdoms, Counties, and " Lordships obeissant and subject to the Sovereign, and that such an " authority belonged to the other Kings of Arms within their respective " Provinces only", and therefore this Officer in the Ceremonies not relating to the Order is invested in a ^f Tabart; and he is the ^t Chief or First in the Office of Arms, which corresponds in every Particular with Garter, who by his Institution was erected for the Service of all the Gentry

ⁿ The Order of Toifon d'or was instituted 9 January 1429-30. Now before that Time we find in our own Records Artois King of Arms, Ryin. vol. 9. p. 631. who is mention'd before this Time by Montrelet, vol. 1. p. 192 b. 194. who likewise names Flanders King of Arms, vol. 1. p. 125 188. 193 b. &c. The Officers of Arms belonging to the Duke of Burgundy were distinguished into Royers and Posniers, the former being for his Territories within the Empire, near the Rhine or Rura speaking the German Language, the latter for his Dominions within the Fee of France, situated round the Coast of Poits, which are not at present subject upon, because the Collector hath not hitherto found this Distinction in Authors who wrote before the Erection of this Order.

^o In the 19th Ch. of the Original Statutes Jean le Fevrie (as he writes himself) was Instituted in this Office of Toifon d'or, and took a solemn Oath for the Execution of that Office, and also of that of Chancellor to the Duke of Burgundy by the Hands of the Chancelier of the Order in Presence of that Duke. Prologue au Hist. de Ch. vi.

^p His Robes are sett'd by the Statutes, and Olivier de la Marche, p. 257. describes him habited therein as a Feoff of the Order.

^q Olivier de la Marche mentions his Functions as several Justs; but he himself acquaints us, That he had serv'd his redoubted Lord according to his duty as well in the wars as in great and notable Embassies to the Pope Eugene and Nicholas, to divers Princes in Italy, to the King of Arragon, to the Kingdoms of Naples and Sicily, into Spaine to the Kings of Castile, Portugal, Navarre and Granada, and had made divers voyages into Germany, England, Scotland, and other places. Prologue au Hist. de Ch. vi.

^r Having mentioned his Messages into this Kingdom, it may not be amiss to refer briefly to some of our Records. In 13 H. 6. he had a Reward from our King. Cleopatra F. 4. in bibl. Cotton. Exit. Pell. P. 13. H. 6. Toifon Regi Armorum Ducis Burgundie XI. de dono habendo. Exit. Pell. M. 27 H. 6. Toifon d'ore heraldo Burgundie nuper venienti versus Dom. Regem cum literis & nunciis XI. &c.

^s Jurisprudence Heroria, vol. 2. p. 72, 71.

^t La vie de Jacques Lelain par Geo. Chastellain en avis. Le Sieur de St. Remy est peint vettu de sa cotte de Armes assis & escrivant sur un poulpitre. Mons. Clairembault acquainted the Collector with Duffein de l'Habit du Roy d'Armes de l'ordre de la Toifon hors des Assemblees capitulaires, tiré de l'original manuscrit en velin de l'Hist. de messire Jacques de Lelain.

^u Regios inter munetis sui ministris primus-Chiffet Brev. Hist. ordinis aucti Velleis c. 9. Upon the Tomb of Thomas Itac, who died in 1530, is inscribed, Le premier Roy d'Armes de la Majeste de l'Empereur dit Toifon d'or. Meneffier de la Chievaletie, p. 227. Jurispr. Her. vol. 2. p. 107.

through the whole Extent of the Heraldick Systems, as well as the Service of the Order: And by the way, this Article of the Declaration made in this Chapter of the Golden Fleece agrees with the antient Tract entituled, Les Droits, &c. aux Roys d'Armes & Heralux selon l'usage d'Angleterre, whereof there are old Copies in severall Libraries, wherein Garter is enjoyned to make Inquiries generally, and the Provincial Kings within their respective Marches only, and that no Provincial shall intrude in the Province of another. And also with the Constitutions made in a Chapter of the Garter in 14 H. VIII, where the Correction of Arms is asserted to be the Right of Garter King of Arms. Thus also when Charles Duke of Savoy had added to his Order of the Collar the Image of the Annunciade, (from whence the Order afterward became so styled) we find a King of Arms denominatèd Bonnes Nouvelles, alluding to the good Tidings or Annunciade, which the Angel Gabriel brought to the Blessed Virgin of the Miltrey of the Incarnation, which Officer had beside the * Robe of the Order a Tabart, to be worn according to the Nature of the Functions he executed. It would be very easy to run through the Instances of the Officers of Arms erected by the Titles of other Military Orders.

But though this Appellation of Jarretier Roy d'Armes d'Anglois was in pursuance of this Institution used by * Bruges, on whom this Office was first conferred and given him by the Officers of Arms themselves assembled in Chapter at Roan, and also by the Decree of the Duke of † Clarence made for the Government of them, and though all the Patents which have conveyèd the Office have expressed the same as one single Office, Cum præminentius hujusmodi Officio spectantibus — officium illud — eidem officio — dicto Officio — ratione ejusdem Officii, &c. yet a new Doctrine hath been started by distinguishing him from all other Officers, which was that Garter had two distinct Offices inseparably united in his Person, one the Office of a King of Arms of the Order, the other of a King of Arms in the College. If no more was meant by this Position than that Garter had several Functions and Duties incumbent on him by Vertue of his Institution, 'tis as certainly true with Regard to him, as it is with Reference to all other Officers of Arms, who execute several distinct Branches or Articles belonging to their Professions, whereof some relate to the Order of the Garter, but still each of them is only one individual Officer, and acts in these several Capacities by Vertue of one Title, one Patent, and one Creation only, to which these several Duties are incident, and not as having different Offices in the Legal Acceptation of that Word. This Nice Notion was invented with a View to a Controversy, wherein Garter was no Party, and wherein the opposite Side instead of demanding the Proofs closèd in with the Proposition, and laying hold on the Concession, that these two supposed distinct legal

* This Officer arose by the Ceremonial of the Creation of the Count de Pontevour, wherein himself, the King of Arms of Savoy, Chablais, and Geneva Herald proceeded devant le Seigneur richement ornés, reserve moy, qui ne portois point la mienne, d'autant que cette Creation ne concerne en rien les Ceremonies de l'ordre. Guichenon Hist. General. de Savoy en preuves, p. 651.

† In his Petition to H. 5. hereafter recited.

‡ There are several antient Copies in different Libraries, which will be hereafter considered.

§ There are many antient Copies in distinct places, which will be Examined hereafter.

Offices being allowed to be inseparably annexed, desired only to be informed which of them was in their Opinion the Principal, and which the Accessary, and then left them to apply the Maxim of Law, that the Accessary must be of the Nature of the Principal.

But to return to the remaining Part of the Title of Garter: He is in his Patent styled Principal King of Arms of Englishmen, and the Chief or Principal Officer of Arms of the most Noble Order of the Garter, which latter Terms seem strongly to imply that there are other subordinate Officers of Arms belonging to the Order. In the warm Dispute above-mention'd, in the Reign of Hen. VIII., carried on in Writing between Garter and Clarenceux, the latter treating of Marshalls or Deputies, hath these Words, that "Garter because he was an Officer of Arms to the said Noble Order, hath appointed to be under hym in the said Office an Herald and two Pursuivants for his more ease to be ready to do such things as He shall commande them touching their Office". He doth not specify the Titles of this Herald and those Pursuivants, but in another Place he alledges, that Windsor Herald, Rougecroix, and Bleumantle Pursuivants, were erected by Hen. V. belonging to the Office of Garter: He is mistaken in the Æra of the Institution of the former, as will be soon shewn; Windsor, is indeed the Place wherein the Order was fixed, Rougecroix, the Arms of the Tutelar Saint of it, and the Robe thereof is a Blue Mantell, and in two Entries as low as the Years 1513 and 1520. Sir William Dethick then Garter, styles Rougecroisse to be Garter's Pursuivant. But the Collector doth not suppose the subordinate Officers of Arms belonging to this Order are confined to such only who were particularly appropriated; or attendant upon Garter King of Arms, but that the whole Fraternity of Officers of Arms are hereby intended, for all such are obliged to do their Duties at Installations and Feasts of this Order, for which they have Rewards, and were formerly allowed to Diet on St. George's Eve and Feast at Windsor, and in 1672 had Lodgings assign'd to them within the Castle. As the Emperor Charles V. in the above-mention'd Chapter of the Golden Fleecce, declared the Rights of all Officers of Arms therein said to be Toison d'or, and the Kings, Heralds and Pursuivants, which Declaration had not been proper for that Place if all the latter had not been subordinate Officers, or had some relative Duties to that Order; so we find that the Knight's Companions of the Garter, assembled in 3 Ed. VI. "Agreed and condescended, that the Officers of Arms should be freed from payment of taxes forever by the said Chapter". But this Conjecture seems undeniable, in that before the Institution of Garter King of Arms, the Officers of Arms then in being received Fees for executing their Duties at the Feasts of this Order, as they have done since that Time, and it hath been constantly allowed even to Officers of Arms of foreign Kingdoms, who have chanced to be pre-

^a H. 3. penes me. p. 1198.

^b Ashm. p. 546, 551.

^c Jurisp. Heroica. vol. 2. p. 68.

^d See Notes to the Black-book in that Year.

^e See ibid in 32 E. 2. to William Volant King of the Heralds. Notes to the Black-book, p. 50. and to divers Heralds in 21 R. 2. Ibid. p. 56.

^f See Note 1. p. 92. to the Black-book. Note 1.

p. 138. Of Toison d'or, see Ashm. p. 348. Of Lion

King of Arms of Scotland, 35 H. 8. Partii. Book

p. 92. Again at the Installation of Prince Henry, sent at Windſor, not only to officiate in the Solemnities of the Order, but to participate alſo in a Share or Dividend of the Fees.

Ashm. p. 345, &c.

Nothing remains unexplained in the Title ſave the Terms Principalis and Præcipuus, for which other Words have been ſometimes uſed, ſuch as Capitalis Rex Armorum, ſocialium^b Priniceps, Premier Roy d'Armes, &c. The true Import of theſe Expreſſions will be diſcovered from the Terms of the Inſtitution, by which, “ For the Dignity of the Order Garter “ is made Sovereign within the Office of Arms of the moſt Noble King- “ dom of England”, and very ſoon after his Erection, he is thus termed Sovereign in the above named Decrees of the Duke of Clarence, who in Conſequence thereof, Orders, That “ all other Kings of Arms, Heraldſ “ and Purſevants ſhall honour and reverence him, as the Chief and Prin- “ cipal of the ſaid Office, according to the Tenour of his Creation”. And the Conſtitutions made by the Officers of Arms themſelves, aſſembled in a Chapter at Roan, within a ſhort Time after the Inſtitution of Garter, furniſh us with the moſt unexceptionable Proof of the Nature and Extent of this Sovereignty, for it was agreed by their unanimous Conſent, “ That all Officers of Arms ſhall promiſe him Obeiſſance within the “ Office of Arms, and take an Oath for that Purpoſe”. Something will be hereafter ſaid touching the Authority of theſe Decrees, and of theſe Conſtitutions.

In the before recited Controverſy, Sir Thomas Wriotheſly Garter having alledged, That he and all his Predeceſſors in that Office had been reputed, and at all Times taken as Sovereigns, and Principals of the Office of Arms, Benoilt then Clarenceux makes this Remark on it, “ That he mar- “ vails that the ſaid Garter ſhameth not to preſume to take upon him, “ that any of the Kings Servants, or any of the Kings Subjects ſhould “ call him as their Souverain, which name of Souverain only appertain- “ eth and is incident to the Kings Royal Majeſty, and to none other “ Perſon within this Realme”. Whoever is poſſeſſed of any Right, that gives him a Preference before others, may doubtleſs juſtify his aſſerting it, without incurring the Charge of Preſumption, Ambition, or Inſolence, while it is done without vain Oſtentation and Contempt of others; and 'tis the Duty of all Perſons inveſted with any Authority to execute the ſame with Prudence, Reſolution and Moderation; to this Charge therefore Sir Thomas made the following Reply, “ That he, and “ all other his predeceſſors haſt alwayes ben taken, and named, as “ ſouveraigne in th'office of Armes, as may appere by diverſe prece- “ dents, as well remaying with the ſaid Garter, as with other of the “ ſaid Office, and alſo by certayne bookes apperteyning to the Office of “ Arms remaying in the keeping of the ſaid Clarenceux; and that it “ may appear from ^k Froiffard that Sir John Chandos at the battayl of ^g Fin. 1 R. 3. m. 10. Vide Rymer, vol. 12. p. 210.

Aulvoy

^b Aſſum. App. n. Lx.

ⁱ Ibid. n. Lxix.

^k He might have added ſeveral other Inſtances from Froiffart, Souverain Maître de la Salle, vol. 3. p. 370. Souverain Patron de la navire, Ibid. p. 102. Sou- verain en garniſon, vol. 1. p. 36. Cheſt & Souverain del'arriere garde, vol. 1. p. 263. Souverains des gens d'Armes, vol. 2. p. 223, 224. Souverain Caprain de tous le Secours de France au Royaume de Caſtile, vol. 3. p. 151. Sir Richard Burley eſtoit l'un de plus renommez de tout ſon Poſt apres le Conestable, car il eſtoit Souverain maître de tout ſon “ Aulroy in Brittayne was namyd Souverayn Captayn, and Sir Hugh Calverly was namyd Souveraign of the Rereward, notwithstanding John Erle Mountford Duke of Brittayne was cheif; also the Terme of Souveraign Immediate is expounded in the Booke of Justice of the Pax, and also in the Book of Exposition of Terms, and of certain Acts of Parliament, and further that Mountjoy Principal King of Arms in France is written Souveraign Roy d'Armes de France, as may appear by divers Books: Also at the first Institution of the Office of Garter the King ordained him to be Souveraigne, and Garter hath greate Marvaile that Clarenceux denieth him to be Souveraign in the Office of Arms, considering that the said Clarenceux and the more part of the Office of Arms under their own hands have granted and signed to the said Name of Souveraigne in the Office of Arms, as by their Writings thereof made more at large doth appear; where by this and by the other it appeareth well, that Clarenceux is ignorant, and doth not understand the Term of Souveraigne Immediate, nor never did read the Book of Exposition of Terms; for their be many that beare the Name of Souveraign with certain Additions, for the Husband is Souveraign Immediate of his Wife, an Abbot is Souveraign Lord of the House of Religion, with many other, &c. But the Term of Souveraign Lord appertaineth only to the Kings Person.

The Editor thought it not improper to add Proofs of these Assertions in the Margin, and to give other ^m Examples, where the Term Souveraign hath been communicated to those, who had the Command and Superintendency in particular Offices, without the least Thought of diminishing from the Supremacy of the Crown. Every individual Officer of Arms hath certainly an Interest in the Colledge, but each of them is not to preside at the Helm. In pursuance of the Institution, and the other Particulars above-mention'd, we find one Article of the Latin Constitutions made in the Chapter of the Order, held in 14 H. VIII, touching Garter, ordaining, Quem Supremus & Commilitones ob dignitatem Ordinis — ceteris Armorum Officialibus qui Coronæ Angliæ subiecti sunt superiorem esse volum”, which in the French Copy is expressed by the Word Souveraign, before which Time, in the Journal of the House of Lords, Garter was son Off. vol. 3. p. 208. Son maistre Escuyer & son souverain Contestillor, vol. 1. c. 15. Six Chevaliers Souverains estoient de cette Enbutche, vol. 1. c. 140. Sir John Chandos, maistre & Souverain de tous les Chevaliers & Escuyers de son hostel. vol. 1. c. 261. Pierre de Villars Souverain maistre d'hostel du Roy, vol. 4. p. 94, &c.

l. Sve Splem. Gloss. voce Abbas. The St. 9 R. 2. c. 4. Whether a Prior be perpetual or removable at the Will of his Abbot the Sovereign, see Stat. 30 H. 6. c. 5. The Act 7 H. 7. c. 5. canonizes Abbots, Priors, Gardiens, Keepers, Masters, Rulers, or Sovereigns of Spiritual places: See 12 H. 7. c. 7. and the Stat. 18 H. 7. c. 7. is against such as wilfully commit Murder in slaying their Master, or their immediate Sovereign, under whom he or they be, or owe Obedience, and Stat. 26 H. 8. c. 2. fell. 8. instances in Priors removable at the only Pleasure of their Masters, and Sovereigns of the Mansueries, whereinto the Cells belong.

As to law Cases, see 21 H. 4. 5b. Co. Little-

p. 132b. and in Fitzh. Juris Utrum n. 3. this Title of Sovereign to the Chief of a Collegiate Church.

m In France Souverain maistre d'hostel during the Reigns of King John and Charles VI, as also Souverain maistre des Eaux, & Forests, Souverain de Trefor, Diétion. de Trevoix v. President and Souverain — The Masters of Accounts are prohibited from absenting themselves without the Licence of the Souverain, Ibidem. Pasquier recherches, l. 8. c. 12. who further saith, that Stewards, with reference to Prevoits and Chateilains, are their Sovereigns. The Earl Rivers in his Distin and Strivings of Philisophers saith, Valens Graunfader was a Sovereign maistre Carpenter. The Irish Act of Parliament names the Chief Officer of several Burroughs the Sovereign 13 H. 7. m. 26. 27. Mr. Selden in his 4to Edit. of the Title of Honour, mentions the Dedication of a Poem by a Dominican Fryer in the Reign of Henry 7. To my Sovereign Lady benigne and honorable, discrete, full of Wisdom, of Gloucestre Duchesse, &c.

stiled " Rex Regum Heraldorum. But those who challenge an Authority Superiour to this Sovereign in the Office of Arms, or a Power coordinate with him therein, may explain this latter Expression in the jocular Manner that the Emperor Maximilian said of himself, That whereas other Princes were Reges Hominum, he was truly Rex Regum, because his Subjects would do only what they listed.

Thus an Attempt hath been made to explain all the Appellations attributed to Garter, and before an Enquiry be made into the certain Time of his Institution, it may not be amiss, according to the Series of Chronology, to Examine Mr. Ashmole's Assertion (who was himself Windsor Herald) " That the Services of this Order in Time preceding [this Erection of Garter] were performed by Windsor Herald at Arms, " an Officer created with that Title by King Edward the Third, much " about the Time of his instituting the Order ". He refers us to the Collections of Sir William le Neve Clarenceux for Proof thereof, without inserting his Words. Sir Henry P. Spelman, with his accustomed Modesty, proposes barely a Conjecture, that Ed. III having instituted Windsor Herald A. D. 1368, upon bringing the News of the Victory obtained at Auroy in Bretagne, adds, " Fortè ut Garteriæ ordini (cujus Windeforziæ capitulum) inferretur: Nam inchoatus est ordo iste anno superiori tertio decimo: & " Garterius Rex Armorum annos ultra 50 postea non comparuit ". Here is some Mistake in the Numerical Figures, for that Battel was gained on ¹ Michaëmas-day 1364, but this Windsor being created above 20 Years after the Commencement of this Order (if it was Erected before St. George's Day in the 18th of E. III.) and this Person being, as it is likewise supposed, a Forreigner then sent over upon this Occasion, it is left to the Reader's Judgement, whether it be probable in these Circumstances, that a bare Herald (for at that Time this Windsor is supposed to be no more) should be constituted the Chief Officer of Arms for the Services of this Order, who must be in Degree inferior to several Kings of Arms then subsisting in this Kingdom, more especially since we know that before the Creation of this Herald, Volant King of Heralds executed Services at the Feast of St. George in the 32d Year, who might probably be Living at the very Time of the ¹ Erection of this Windsor Herald, and that a Payment in 21 R. II. was made to all the Heralds in general, and nothing in particular allotted to Windsor Herald for his Attendance at n 15 Febr. 6 H. 8.

o Ashm. Hist. p. 252.

p Gloss. v. Herald.

q See the Historians, and from the obtaining this Victory on Michaëmas-day, it is probable that in Memorials thereof John de Montfort bore the Image of St. Michael on his Countersail.

r In this very Year Proissil vol. 1. p. 248. Le Roy Faucon estoit Heraut au Roy d'Angleterre, who in the preceding Year received x Marks, Rymer vol. 6. p. 417. See the next Note.

s This Volant is frequently mentioned in our Records. Exit. Pell. M. 28 E. 3. Willimo Volant Regi Heraldorum de dono Regis C. received a Reward for St. George's Feast 32 E. 3. See Notes to the Black book, p. 50. Exit. Pell. p. 33 E. 3. Willimo Volant Regi Heraldorum & Ministrallis existentibus apud Smeibfeld in ultimo hastitudo de dono Regis XI. And probably is the same Person, who by Title of Vaillant Herald received Winter Robes with Faucon there sited an Herald only, who we know from the preceding Note was a King of Arms, Compt. Hen. Smith Custodis Mag. Garder. 27 E. 3. Vaillant & Faucon Heraldis Dom. Regis ad robas, &c. faciendas & futurandas, videlicet utriq; eorum quatuor ultas panni radiati & duas furruras cum uno capucio bogetti albi per literam de privato sigillo dat. 25 Dec. Anno eodem. m. 4. which was in the Year preceding this Institution of Windsor. Vaillant, sometime wrote Vailland, was long the Title of a King of Arms, but it would be forreign here to give the Proof thereof: t Notes to the Black-book, p. 56.

that Festival. 'Tis likewise somewhat remarkable, that Thomas Irland, King of Arms of Irland, in his "Will proved in July 1419, makes this Divise to the Church of St. Michael Bafynghall London, "Quod statim post obitum meum de meis mantell fircote & Kytell albi panni de Cerico fiat unum integrum vestimentum prout decet, si fieri poterit, poudve cum Garters-blod, cum toto apparatu consimili vestimento pertinente."

Mr. Joshua Barnes indeed writes, that in 13 E. III, the Bishop of Lincoln carried the Defiance to the French King, being attended by the Herald Windfor, referring in his Margin to Froissart and Knighton, who both are silent in this Particular, the former ' expressly assures us, that the Pursuivant who brought the News of the Victory gained at Auroy, was immediately made an Herald by that King, and had given him, "Mult grand profit & revenue pour soy entretenir". And a later ² Historian of Bretagne is positive this Person thus advanced was a Pursuivant of that Dutchy. Whatever his Country might be, our "Records inform us, there was an Herald by the Title of Windfor, in 40 Ed. III, and if the Revenue here mentioned imports an yearly Salary, such Annuity was given to this Officer on 12^b June, in the 41st Year, for the good Service (as 'tis there expressed) that he had done, as well in bringing good News lately from the Prince, as otherwise; but the News from the Prince can no ways relate to the Victory of Auroy. This Patent was confirmed to this same Officer by Rich. II. But notwithstanding this Confirmation to Windfor as an Herald only, yet there are some Instruments in this Interval, which upon the first Sight would induce a Belief, that Windfor might have been a King of Heralds at that Time. There are two distinct Payments entred in ^d Michaelmas Term, 41 E. III, according to the following Abbreviations, the first is, Ducendo Wyndes. Reg. Heraldorum", the second is "ducendo R. Herald. Wyndesore. These Summs were both given upon the same Occasion, but it must be remembered that such Payments were made in pursuance of a Privy-Seal, and 'tis probable, that the Clerk of the Pells meant nothing more by ^u Regist. Episk. Lond. f. 29^b.

^k Hist. of E. 3. p. 135. It is very probable the same Guelders Herald, who was in this Year sent to the King of France to demand a Day of Barre. Froiss. vol. 1. p. 45. which Herald was employed by our King in the foregoing Year, Comp. Garder. 12 E. 3. penes Camerac. Scacc. Willmo Heitaldo Ducis Geltrie nullo ad diversas partes Alemannia in negotiis Regis, &c.

^y Froissart, vol. 1. p. 265.

^z Berr. d'Argentre Hist. de Bretagne, p. 457.

^a Priv. Sig. 20 Dec. 40 E. 3. En amenant Windfor un heraut de Melcombe tanque au St. Malo.

^b Priv. Sigill. in Torre Lond. Edward par la Grace de Dieu Roy d'Engleterre, Seigneur d'Irlande & d'Aquitaine a honurable Pierre en Dieu l'Evesque de Cantebrits Primat de toute Engleterre nostre Chancelier salut; Comme de nostre Grace Especialle & par le bon service, que nostre bien ame Wyndesore nostre Herald, nous ad fait, si bien en nous apportant ore tarde bones nouvelles de nostre trescher fitz le Prince comme autrement, & ferra en temps a venir, cons grantez a nostre dit Heraud vint marcz a prendre cheacun ana nostre Eschequer as termes de seint Michel & de Pasque par ouels portions a toute fave, ou tanque nous eons autrement ordenez par son Estat; vous mandons que sur ce facez faire Lettres souz nostre grant Seal en due forme Don de foyz nostre Prive Seal a Cantebrits le xii jour de Juyn l'au de nostre regne quarante premier. See Pat. Enrolled 41 E. 3. m. 15. 12 Junii.

This Annuity is entred paid to Windfor Herald in Exit. Pell. M. 43 E. 3. P. 46 E. 3. P. 47 E. 3.

M. 51 E. 3. P. 51 E. 3.

^c Pat. 3 R. 2. m. 10. and the Payment thereon in Exit. Pell. P. 3. R. 2.

^d Exit. Pell. M. 41 E. 3. Larentio Jany de Melcombe in partem solutionis xx Marcarum, quas Dom. Rex sibi liberare mandavit de dono suo in pensolutionem expensarum suarum ducendo Wyndes. Reg. Heraldorum a portu de Melcombe usq; portum de Seint Malou in Britannia & re-ducendo 6. 13. 4. In the same Roll is another Entry of the farther Payment of the like Summ, in ducendo R. Herald Wyndesore.

these Entries than Regis Heraldum, and that the Privy-Seal for this Purpose is that 'above-mention'd in the 40th Year; however the Collector knows there is a Protection in the 49th Year, wrote at Length, Pro^s Stephano de Wyndesore Herald Rege Armorum dicto, who was then attending on Edmond Earl of Cambridge, and John Duke of Bretagne into Foreign Parts, which may be owing to the Unaccuracy of the Transcriber, since within five Years afterwards another Protection was granted s^e Stephano de Wyndesore Herald. It would be tiresome in this Place to dilate farther on this Subject of Windfor Officer of Arms, to which a great deal might be added: Some Entries subsequent to this Time which name him a King of Arms, seem to admit of an Explanation, in that these Instruments order Payments of Rewards to a Person then probably promoted to the Order of a King of Arms, for Services performed by him while he was Windfor Herald before such his Advancement, and this Editor is induced to believe it was not unusual formerly for Heralds after their Promotion to Kingdoms to retain frequently their first Titles of Heralds also.

But to come to the Erection of this Office of Garter, if the same had been at first granted by Patent to this Bruges, the exact Period of the Institution might have been easily discovered in the Records; but this Person was promoted hereto by a Creation only, as he himself alleged in a ^b Petition. That Act was then esteemed to confer any Office of Arms in as effectual a Manner as the Accollade conveyed the Honour of Knighthood, which subsisted during Life, or till Degradation for some Crime, and by this Sort of Investiture only, the Officers of Arms of all Degrees were formerly constituted without the Aid of any Letters Patents from the Crown. The first Instance in the Cases of the subsisting Titles of our Kings of Arms, that the Collector hath hitherto seen, wherein the Patent insinuates any Creation by it, is in 28 H. VI, to ⁱ Smert the Second Garter, in which is this Clause, "Ipsum in Regem Armorum de Gartera creximus, creavimus, ac fecimus, erigimusq; creamus, & facimus per presentes"; yet it seems (as will be shewn hereafter) that he had this Office by an actual Creation thereto, with proper Ceremonies antecedent to the Date of this Patent, and it was towards the End of the Reign of Ed. IV, when Patents of this Tenour were first given to the present Provincial Kings, and even after the Time that such Patents pass under the Great Seal to Officers of Arms, it was the received Doctrine, that these express Terms of Creation inserted in these Patents did not constitute them perfect complete Officers, without a distinct real Creation, and therefore such Officer mentioned in his Patent to be thus created, while he remained uncreated by actual Ceremonies, was not admitted to any ^k Participation in Largeffes, or occasional Droits belonging to the

^e See the foregoing Page Note 2.

^f The Privy-Seal for it bears Date 3 Martii 49 E. 3. and is in the White Tower, and it is recorded, Rot. Fran. 49 E. 3. m. 25.

^g In the White Tower is this Privy-Seal 4 R. 2. Fiat protectio cum clausula Voluimus pro Stephano de Wyndesore Herald, qui in obsequium nostrum in comitiva dilecti & fidelis nostri Willimi Domini de Larymer ad partes transmarinas professorus est per unum annum duratura. Dat. sub privato Sigillo nostro apud Westfal. quarto die Julii Anno Regni nostri quarto.

^b Inferred in his Life.

ⁱ See his Life.

^k The Instances are numerous.

Society, 'but this Point hath been altered by some later ^l Determinations in Westminster-Hall, where it hath been adjudged that the Patent it self is sufficient: And it was also customary to create these Officers first with Ceremony, before they obtained Patents from the Crown for their Salaries, which sometimes had ^m retrospect to the Time when they were thus created, or as it is expressed in the Patents to the Day from which they had executed these Offices. But though the Crown did not antiently grant the Character of an Officer of Arms by Patent, yet the King frequently gave daily ⁿ Wages or Annuities to such Persons as had been formerly created to these Offices for the Merit of their Services performed in them, which will be found to be the Tenour of the ancient Instruments passed under the Great Seal to these Officers: Indeed there is ^o one in 37 H. VI, of a different Style without any Salary, but upon Inspection it will be found not to create the Officer, but to contain only a Certificate of a previous Creation, which is thereby publicly notified by way, or as a Letter of Credence, Passport, and Safe Conduct for him.

This cannot be lookt on as a Digression, since it shews this first Erection of Garter by a Creation only, without any Patent, was conformable to the Ancient Precedents, and even with latter ones, for this Method of Advancement to Offices in the College of Arms, by the Solemnity of a Creation only without any Patent, was observed as low as the Reign

^l Adjudged in the Case of Garter, Leon. 1 Rep. CCCxxvii: in the Case of an Herald Noys Rep. p. 157. Rolls Abridgment, p. 154, &c. The like not adjudged in case of the Patents of the Nobility. Annals Jacobi 1 per Camdenum ad 27 Junij 1615.
^m See some Instances in Parit. Book, p. 265, though there are Mistakes in some of them, but there are several Patents of this Tenour: See J. 25. in Off. Arm. p. 39.

ⁿ There is a Grant of 7d. ob. by the Day to Marche, in 10 R. 2. which hath this Clause, Non obstante quod aliquis Heraldus ante hæc tempora aliqua vadia in Hospitio nostro seu Progenitorum percipere non consuevit. Rymer vol. 7. p. 547. which is not to be understood that no Officer of Arms had daily Wages prior to that Time, but only with Reference to the Doctrine touching Non obstante & is recited in the King's Grants: for in Comp. Hosp. 18 E. 1. Nicholas Morell Regi Heraldorum per diem vid. pro vadiis suis. Thus in the former Session we find Windsor Herald had a Salary granted to him before this Time, &c.

^o Pat. 37 H. 6. p. 2 m. 19. Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem: Scitis quod non solum ex re late plurimorum nostrorum fidelium, quibus in ea parte fidem plenariam adhibemus, sed etiam per rerum gestarum experientiam, quam nos ipsi habemus de fidelitate, industria, atque bona diligentia Richardi Benwell, Nos de eisdem suis fidelitate & industria plenarie confidentes, ipsum Richardum dei data presentium creavimus, fecimus, & ordinavimus, creamus, facimus, & ordinamus per præsentem Pursuivandum nostrum ad Arma, in qua creatione imposuimus sibi nomen Coler, Dantes & Concedentes eidem Coler licentiam, & autoritatem, ac mandatum speciale publice deferendi, in quibuscunque locis honestis, Arma nostra, & illud Officium Pursuivandi ad Arma debite gerendi, & fideliter exercendi; Qui Coler ad statim nobis presentibus solenne prestitit juramentum, in manibus Garter Regis ad Arma dilecti Familiaris nostri specialiter per nos ad hoc vocati, adhibitis solemnibus requisitis, Rogamus propterea & insinuat requirimus omnes & singulos Reges Catholicos, Duces, Marchiones, ceterosque Principes tam Ecclesiasticos quam Seculares, Comites, Vice Comites, Barones, Milites, Capitaneos Armatarum, Gubernatoresque, Custodes Civitatum, Villarum, Fortalitiorum, Portuum, atque Passagiorum, aut eorum loca tenentes, & alios Egregios viros cuiuscunque dignitatis aut conditionis existentes, Reges etiam, & Heraldos ad Arma, & alios quoscunque nobis non solum subditos, penes quos ipsum Coler se quando-cumque transferre contigerit, quatenus eundem in suis viagijs rim cundo, quam redeundo, atque morando totiens quotiens sibi necesse fuerit in & per regna, Dominia, loca, & territoria, & potestates suas cum familiaribus, rebus, ac bonis suis, literis patentibus, & clausulis, aliisque scripturis quibuscunque pacifice & quiete intrare, transire, morari, redire, reverti, atque exire: facere & permittere, singula sibi necessaria pro pretio competentis expensis suis utroalitando, atque ministrari faciendo, prout vellent suis in casu consuevisti vel majori nos facturos, in quo nobis complacentiam atque Amicitiam exhibebunt singulararem. Subditis vero nostris, & eorum cuilibet, prout ad eum pertinerit districte præcipiendo mandamus per eisdem patentes, quatenus etiam prænominitum Coler tanquam Pursuivandum ad Arma servitorem nostrum pro tali habeant, & admittant, & in omnibus favorabiliter tractent, ac de honoribus, juribus, prærogativis, & emolumentis ad hujusmodi Officium spectantibus & consuetis libere, pacifice, & quiete uti permittant, & gaudere. In cuius, &c. Teste Rege apud Westm. vii die Junii. Per breve de privato Sigillo & de data prædicta, &c.

The Certificate of Sir John Life to the same Purpose, signifying the Creation of his Pursuivand Esquire in 1442, both been inserted in p. 288 in the Note, and there is another to the same Effect to Bellesforest les Grands Annals, l. 4. c. 61.

of Queen ^p Elizabeth, when some of all the Degrees in this Fraternity executed their Offices in the College several Years, before they obtained any Letters Patents for the same.

It is on all Hands agreed, that this Officer was Instituted under the Reign of that great Restorer of this Order the most Heroick King Hen. V. a Prince so averse from Luxury, that he ^v prohibited the Use of Featherbeds, and to prevent the English Courage from degenerating, designed to follow the Method of Lycorgus, being determined when he should ascend the Throne of France, to Plough up all the Vineyards, which the Collector could not omit to observe, since he thinks our English Historians are silent in these Particulars.

But Garter King of Arms being mention'd in the Romance of Saintre, it is necessary in the first place to settle the Time when that Book was wrote; 'tis a Masterpiece in its Kind for the Rules of Tilting and the Warlike and Generous Customs of its Age; the ^r Learned Peter de Marca, and some other Authors, conceive it was compiled under the Reign of Charles V. who died in the Year 1380, 4 Rich. II. John de Saintre indeed was a renowned Knight, and taken ^v Prisoner by the English at Poitiers in 1356, and the Epitaph which is inserted for him in this Romance, places his Death on 25 Oct. 1368. Now among other his Adventures, this Knight Errant is introduced as holding a Pass or Tilt against the English between Graveling and Calais, wherein 'tis said, ' Il donna a Jaretiere sa premiere housure de son destrier, qui estoit de satin cramoisy chargee d'orfèverie a grands bors de martres Sebellines, & 11 C. francs a Cheval, & aux autres heraulx donna leur dit logeis, leur bourt & cent francs. The Editor hath not had the Fortune to meet with any of the Printed Editions of this Book, and therefore makes use of the Manuscript in the Cotton Library, from which the Sequel of the Narrative of this Pass hath been long since cut out, as is evident by the Paging in an ancient Character. * Meneffrier in some Measure supplies this Defect, for he saith that Campagne & Garter King of Arms were appointed Judges of this Pass, which two Officers being accompanied with all their Heralds, were placed on a Scaffold for this Purpose.

If therefore this Romance be really of this Antiquity, this Writer seems to have had a Spirit of Prediction in naming Garter, but the above-mention'd Authors are mistaken in the Age thereof, for this Romance was wrote by ^x Anthony de la Sale a Burgundian, Author of a Book of Ceremonies p Mr. Camden and Mr. Segar are Entred at Clarendon and Norwy in the Part. Book, 23 Oct. 1597, yet the former had no Patent till 6 June 1599, 41 Eliz. and the latter not till 2 July 1602, 44 Eliz. Raven Richmond, Trefwell Somerset, Lant Windfor, Smith Rougedragon, Thompsen Portculis, and Paten Blevmantell were created at the same Time with Mr. Camden and Mr. Segar, that is on 22 Oct. 1597, 39 Eliz. yet Ravens Patent is dated 13 Aug. 1 Jac. I. Trefwell's 20 March 45 Eliz. Lants on 19 Nov. 43 Eliz. Smiths 20 March 45 Eliz. Tomsons 15 May 44 Eliz. and Patens on 8 May 2 Jac. I.

q See a Quotation from Gobelinus in Du Fresnoy Gloss. voce Plumacijs.

r Bythei Note in Upton de mil. Offic. p. 56.

s Meneffrier Origine des Atmoiries, p. 23.

f Froiss. vol. 1. p. 178. This Romance calls him, in the Inscription on his Tomb, Senecallos Andegavensis & Senomanensis. Nov. Rot. Fran. 35 E. 3. m. 17. there is a Sise Couduel, Pro Johanne de Sainre Senecallos Andegaven. & Cenomanen. See of him, Rymer, vol. 6. p. 460.

t Nero D. 2. p. 108.

u Meneffrier de la Chevalerie, p. 216.

x Du Chesne preuves de l'Hist. de Montmorency, p. 2. Du Fresnoy methode pour etudier l'Hist. vol. 2. p. 132. Antoine de la Salle Hist. & plaisante Chronique du Petit Sainre a Paris en 46. 1571. Bibl. du Sieur de la Croix-du-Maine, p. 21. Antoine de Ceremonies, from his Name stiled La Sallade, which is quoted frequently by Mr. Selden as an ancient Book, without any further Indication of its Age. This may in some Measure be discovered in that this Anthony de la Sale came into this Kingdom to see the Solemnity of the Queen's Coronation, 23 Hen. VI. 1445, so that there can be no Doubt but that he composed this Book after the Institution of Garter King of Arms. In this Romance the Compiler confounds all Chronology, and ascribes to his Heroe the Knight Errant divers Pieces of true History.

Sir Henry Spelman, with his wonted Modesty, leaves a Blank for that Year of the Reign of Hen. V wherein this Office was erected, though in the Quotation about Windsor above-mentioned he seems to be of Opinion that there is no Remembrance of Garter till about 50 Years after 1368, that is, till in, or after the Sixth of Hen. V, wherein the Publisher presumes this most Learned Knight might be mistaken. If the Wardrobe Accounts of the several Years of this Reign remain in the Custody of the King's Remembrancer, it is probable these will settle or give Light in this Matter. Mr. Sandford assigns his Institution at the Siege of Montfreaux, which in the Margin of his Book is placed in A. D. 1422; but as he produces no Voucher for the first Assertion, so he is mistaken in the Time of that Siege: And it will be soon manifest, that the Manuscripts are in an Error, which place his Institution, and those of Windsor Herald, Rougecroix, and Blewmantle Pursuivants in a Chapter of the Garter held at Windsor in the last Year of Hen. V; for the Erection of Windsor was long before, though possibly these two Pursuivants might be coeval with Garter, but it is evident that he and Rougecroix had been created prior to this Chapter. The Editor hath not hitherto found any Record before the Reign of Hen. VI which mentions Blewmantle.

The Collector knows no other Writers that have pretended to give the certain Period of this Erection, so that an Attempt will be made to determine this Matter.

William Bruges was without doubt the first Garter, now a Record assures us he was JJ Guyenne King of Arms on the 22d of May 5 Hen. V. A. D. 1417.

la Salle Secretaire du Duc de Calabre & de Lorraine, & de Rene Roy de Sicille; Il est auteur de Roman du petit Jean de Saincte Il florissoit l'an 1422 & 1450. Le Long Bibl. Hist. n. 13824, saitis this Book was wrote by ibis Anibar at Genepe in Brabant A. D. 1450.

y Titles of Honor, p. 413, &c.
z Priv. Sig. 21 Juin 23 H. 6. —Que a Antoine de la Saale Ecuier & Johan. de la Panetriere nadjairs venantz en ceste nostre royaume du Roy de Sicile en la compagnie de nostre presentierement bien ame la Roigne nostre compaignie pour veoir festat & solemnitee de la Coronation, a Janet Godard Secretaire de nostre chier & trespasse Cousin le Duc de Bretagne, & a Ermine son herault venanz divers avec certaines matieres de-par le dit Duc & aussi pour veoir la solemnitee de la Coronation de nostre dite compaignie. Vous payez a dit Antoine Cent marcs —a dit Ermine cinq marcs.

a Gloss. v. Herald.

b General Hist. p. 286:

c H. 3. penes me, p. 1411. H. 5. penes me, p. 310b.

d See above, p. 316, &c.

e 6 Hen. v. Rymer, vol. 9, p. 620. He is frequently mentioned afterwards. Thomas Rougecroix, alias dictus Thomas Holme de Walden in Comitatu Essex Yoman, alias dictus Thomas Rougecroix Pursuivante ad Arma bad a Protection, Pat. 37 H. 6. p. 2. m. 6.

f It is said he was created by Hen. v. Crem. vol. 3, in off. Arm. p. 16. Exit. Fell. p. 26 H. 6. *Blewmantle*ll persuant ad presens proficiscunt cum certis nunciis Episcopo Cesteriensi & aliis Ambassiatoribus Regis in Regno Francie directis.

ff Privat. Sigill. in Turre. Fiat Protectio cum clausula Volumus pro Willmo Brugges alias dicto Guyen Rege Armorum, qui nobiscum versus partes transmarinas, profecturus est, ibidem in obsequio nostro moraturus, per unum annum duratura. Datum sub sigillo nostro apud Westm. xxii die Maii Anno Regni nostri quinto.

And hence it appears, there must be some Anachronism or Anticipation of Time in the several MSS. which relate, that this William Bruges Garter, at his own House at Kentishrown, feasted the Emperor Sigismund, and attended on his Installation at Windsor; the Records hereafter cited will shew us that he had an House at that Place, and 'tis no ways improbable that he might entertain this Emperor there, but it must be antecedent to his Promotion to the Place of Garter, for the Emperor returned from hence to Germany before that Time.

His Advancement then to be Garter was subsequent to this 22d of May 1417, and he was created in a full Chapter of the Order, if we believe not only the b Instrument, whereby the Knights of the Order settle Provisional Pensions upon him, but his own Allegation in his Petition for a Declaration of the Rights of that his Office, which will be inserted hereafter.

Mr. Ashmole hath observed, that in the Instrument which recites his Promotion, the Year 1422 is placed instead of 1423, in which Year we shall find these twelve Companions thus consenting to this Provisional Maintenance for him on St. George's Day mentioned in the Black-book to be present at that Feast at Windsor, and no others.

There is a Decree made by the Duke of Clarence, touching Fees to be paid to Heralds for the displaying of Banners, wherein there is express Mention of Garter King of Arms of Englishmen, which bears Date at the Royal Siege before Caen on 3 Sept. that City was surrendered on the 5th, and the Castle capitulated on the 23d of Sept. 1417. 5 H. V. If therefore this Instrument be genuine, this Bruges being Guienne on 22 May 5 H. V. must have been advanced to be Garter on the Festival of St. George, which was held after 22 May, and before 3 Sept. 1417. This King remained in England m till vi Kal. sextilis, that is 27 July this Year, and it hath been observed, that the Feast solemnized in this 5th Year is omitted out of the n Black-book, for that therein placed as held at that Time apparently belongs to the sixth Year.

g MS. penes Ducem de Montagu, p. 79 b. &c.

b Ashm. Appen. n. V.

i See the Black-book, p. 85, 86.

k Being short it may not be amiss to insert it.

Nous Thomas de Lancaſtre, ſitz & ſiere aux treſnobles Roys Dangleterre & de France, Duc de Clarence, Conte Daumarles, grant Senefchal de Angleterre, & Conſeillable en l'hoſt du Roy mon Seigneur, Conſiderans comme d'ancienne par les treſnobles & victorieux princes des les fondacions de l'office d'armes aux Officiers ſerviteurs exerceans le dit Office leur furent attribuez plusieurs privileges en droit d'armes de l'abondance de chevalerie: & de fait exercez avant ces heures, tant ez nobles voyages de mon dit ſeigneur le Roy, comme du temps de ſes nobles predeceſſeurs: nous ſont ſur ce venuz tres humblement ſupplier Garrrier Roy d'armes des Anglois accompagnie de tous les autres Roys d'armes & heraulx de l'obeiſſance du Roy mon dit Seigneur, pour les teſmoigner par nos lettres ſeellees, & par icelles ſignifier a tous eſtatz ſes droitz, que au dit office appartient, pour les faitz des banners, & ce que leſditz officiers doivent demander des Princes, Contes, Barons, Chavaliers Banneretz, pour leurs banners, & comme de perpetuelle memoire a eſte accouſtume: ſi ſignifions a touz ceulx, qui ces preſentes verront, que Jeſdits Officiers d'armes doivent de droit demander des Princes, Contes, & Banneretz, de fait exploiter: Ceſtſavoir, de ung Duc qui levera fa banniere doit aux ditz Officiers d'armes & Serveiteurs pour fa banniere vingt Livres eſtrelingz, Et ung Conte dix livres eſtrelingz, Et pareillement le baron doit cinq livres eſtrelingz, Et pareillement le Baron doit cinq livres eſtrelingz, Et le Chevalier qui met ſus fa banniere doit cinq Mars eſtrelingz: Et pour ce que les eſtatz deſſusditz ſaichent veritablement, que doivent aux Roys d'armes & heraulx pour leur honneur exaulcer comme deſſus eſt dit, que les ditz de l'office ne demandent tant de leur droit, que leur en appartient, teſmoignons a caufe de ce comme deſſus eſt faiſte mention. Et pour ce deſſus veritablement approuver avons fait mettre noſtre ſeel a ces preſentes Donnez au Siege Royal de mon Seigneur le Roy devant la Ville de Caen en fa Duchie de Normandie le troiſiesme Jour de Septembre.

l Rot. Norman. 5 H. 5. n. 101.

m Livit Hiſt. Hen. V.

n See the Register 5 H. 5. p. 65.

This Decree doth not respect Garter more in Point of his own private Interest, than it doth the other Officers of Arms, and therefore there can be no Grounds of suspecting that either Bruges, or any of his Successors in that Office should forge it with a View to their own Advantage, besides there are several antient Copies of it in Parchment, and the Language seems of that Age, and the domestick and foreign Practise of that and succeeding Times in paying Fees for displaying Banners agrees with the Contents of that Instrument, and we know that this Duke of Clarence was very active at this Siege, and was constituted Captain both of the City and Castle when it was surrendered: But though the Collector hath never met with any Objection against the Authenticalness of this Decree, yet there being an Exception made against another Decree of this same Duke, touching the Regulation of the whole Office of Arms, wherein the Privileges of Garter are expressed, and the same Arguments (if they are of any Weight) equally affecting this other Decree about the Banners, it may not be improper to consider them.

Sir John Borough Garter having cited these Orders of Thomas of Lancaster Constable, the Provincial Kings answered, There was never any Constable of England so called, and that there was no Copy of these Regulations antienter than the Time of Hen. VII. and would thence infer, that these Orders were supposititious; to which Sir John replied, "That he never alledged that this Duke was more than Great Steward of England, and Constable of the Host; that these Orders were recorded in a Book of the then Norroy (with whom he disputed) which was ² wrote in 1477. 14 Ed. IV. at the Request of Walter Bellingier Ireland, who is there said to have then been an Officer of 55 Years standing, and therefore (as he urges) might in Probability remember the Making of these Orders, that Sir Thomas Wriothesley, who was an Officer of Arms above 120 Years before the Time of his writing this Reply, saith, These Orders were made by the King's Command, and that the Authority of them was antiently allowed, in so much as the Officers of Arms at their first Entrance were sworn to observe them, which was even owned by Benoist Clarenceux, in the Reign of Hen. VIII. in several Parts of his Answer in his Contest with the then Garter.

It will not be denied that this Thomas of Lancaster Duke of Clarence, was at that Time ³ Constable of the Host, that there are several antient Copies of this Decree, many of them fairly wrote on Velome, and that

¹ Walsingham, p. 445. See Titus Livius, & M. 8. penes me.

² See L. 14. in OE. Arm. p. 211 b. L'An Mil. CCCCLXXVII. & le xviii jour du Moys de Decembre fut fait escript ces livres en la Cite de Londres a la Requeste de honorable & Saige homme Walter Bellingier, Natif de Drepe, Roy d'Armes d'Irlande de tres victorieux tres hault & tres puissant Prince le Roy Edouard d'Angleterre Quart de ce Nom lequel livre a este escript par Jehan Pelbisser, Escolier de l'universite de Paris & serviteur du dit Roy d'Armes d'Irlande qui a este Officier d'Armes par l'espace de Cinquante cinq ans & plus a content de la date dessus mise.

³ See Rymer, vol. 9. p. 462, 551, 696. Inter Collect Rymeri, p. 72. factus Constabularius exer-citus apud Conque Rot. Norm. 5 H. 5. 1 Aug. la Roque preuves de l'Hist. de Harcourt, p. 417. e chronic. Becc. Abb. A. D. 1418. Thomas Dux Clarentie frater predicti Regis Anglorum, & Constabularius ejus obtinuit castrum Haticurii. See Tiber in Bibl. Cotton B. 6. f. 41. Thomas Dux Clarentie Comes Albemari, magnus Senescallus Anglie, Capitaneus ulterioris Gardie, & Constabularius exercitus Dom. nostri Regis 17 Maii 7 H. 5. See Norman, 5 H. 4. m. 28 Radulfus Cromwell miles locumtenens Thomæ Ducis Clarentie Constabularii Exercitus Regis. Norman. 6 H. 5. p. 2. m. 14. Castra de Graund & Petit Goulet reddita Thomæ Duci Clarentie, Comiti Albemarie, Senescallo Anglie, ac Constabulario Exercitus Regis 26 Febr. 1418.

at the Bottom of some latter ones there is the ^r Subscription of three Kings and three Heralds, dated the 23d of May, in 15 H. VIII, promising the Observance of every Article of them, and upon Examination this Decree will be found to contain little more than is strongly implied in the Institution of Garter, and allowed by the Constitutions made by the Officers of Arms themselves in their Chapter held at Roan, and in several other antient Treatises, and that these Orders too agree entirely with the concurring Practice of the Officers of Arms in Forreign Kingdoms, but this is no proper Place to examine into the Detail of these Particulars.

These Orders of the Duke of Clarence for the Regulation of the Office have no Date affixed to them, but this Duke, to the great Loſs of this Kingdom, was slain on Easter Eve 9 Hen. V. By reason of this Omission of a Date, we know not certainly, whether these Orders were prior to the Chapter, which the Heralds thus held at Roan, which was on Friday in the Year 1420, that is, as we should now write it 1419-20, 7 H. V, for in that Year the Dominical Letter for the two first Months being G. consequently the 5th of January was then upon a Friday. The Authority of these Constitutions at Roan cannot well be doubted, because these were entred likewise by this same Walter Bellinger Ireland, who according to his own Narrative, became an Officer of Arms two Years after the Time of holding this Chapter, and as the Title of Ireland was of a more ancient Date than that of Garter, and as it is supposed that this Ireland had then a Province within this Kingdom annexed to that his Office, it cannot be reasonably imagined, that either he could be imposed upon so early, or should design to impose on any other Officers, by allowing to Garter such superior Powers over himself, as well as over them.

The Collector hath hitherto had only the Opportunity of inspecting one Wardrobe Account under the Reign of Hen. V, wherein Habits are entred to be delivered to Garter against the ^s Coronation of the Queen, which was solemnized on the Third Sunday in Lent in the Eighth Year.

It would be a Trespas on the Reader to give any Detail of the Lives of this Bruges, or any of his Successors, if ⁿ Sir William Dugdale late Garter had any solid Foundation for his Remark to Dr. Smith; for when the Doctor, like a Person of Litterature, had in Conversation with him expressed his Regret and Wonder, with some Sort of Indignation, that the Heralds, who retrieved the Remembrance of Families buried almost in Oblivion through the Injury of Time, should neglect the History of their own College, and the Lives of the Officers who flourished therein from the Original of it; Sir William with an Air of Serioufness answered, That ^r L. 6. i. p. 161 b. penes Fd. Bering Baront.

^f Comp. Rob. Rolleston 9 Hen. 5. penes Remem. Regis. Garter, Ireland, Exeter, Nottingham, Leopard, & Richemond Heraldis Regis cuilibet eorum iv uln. panni Scarlet ad consimilem vesturam suam erga dictam Coronationem [Regine].

^t Rymer, vol. 10, p. 62.

ⁿ Camdeni vita, p. 27. — cui cum in familiari, quod de re Antiquaria & Historica pro more habuimus, colloquio dixissem, me non potuisse satis mirari, ne dicam indigni, neminem e Facialibus Historiam Collegii celeberrimiq; virorum, qui a primis Fundationis temporibus illic floruerant, vitas describendas in se suscipere velle, & sic, dum aliorum simam, multa nocte adoperam, quia novo egent Illustratore, in feram posteritatem propagando, suam immortalatem reddere: quod & flagrantissimis votis mille optaverim, nec effugitare adhuc desistam; ille sine mora acriter, ac serio quidem, respondit, se in istoc piragandi numero duos tantum pro vere magnis habere, Gloverum & Camdenum; cujus sententiam hac molli interpretatione explicare placuit, caeteros Faciales, ut ut illustres, ipso cense, te, duobus illis prestantissimis, quos admirari solitus erat, longe inferiores esse.

there had been in his Opinion only two, Glover and Camden, who ought to be esteemed truly Great: The Doctor indeed thinks fit to explain and soften this hasty and harsh Judgement, and in Truth it wants it, though it should be only limited to the Time subsequent to the Charter of Incorporation, but it is more defenceless, if it should be extended back to the Institution of the Office of Arms.

This Dumvirate without doubt did Honour to their Professions, and if such an Address may be inoffensively used, let their Successors yearly visit their Tombs, and celebrating their Memories with all Marks of Esteem, admire and endeavour to imitate them. Let no Comparisons or Competitions be made, and let them enjoy the Merits of being the chiefest Oracles in their Faculties. However it cannot be any Abatement or Diminution to them to allow that there had been several in this Fraternity, before they were born, endowed with Talents answerable to the Dignities of their Offices, and also with extraordinary Personal Abilities.

The Officers of Arms in this Kingdom had heretofore the Character of ^a surpassing all Forreign Ones in the Knowledge and Practice of their Faculties; ^b Hector Boethius cannot be suspected of Partiality in this Matter, who owns that this Superiority was universally given them. Now if no more than two Officers in this Kingdom were truly Great from the Foundation of this Society, what Credit is to be given to the Forreign Historians, who give their Heralds, confessedly inferior to the English ones, the ample Characters of bringing Splendour to, and (if it may be so said) even Adorning their Professions. The higher Degrees of these Offices of Arms were then bestowed on Persons whose Genius had long bent them to this Study, and whose Education had duly qualified them for the Exercise of it, and not as meer Kindnesses, upon bare Recommendations, or any Sort of Civil Simony, and then they fully answered the Expectations of the Publick. It would be no Difficulty to nominate Officers of this Kingdom throughout almost all the various Titles, who have excelled in their Sciences, but the present Enquiry must be confined to the former Garters, whom we shall find transacting the most important Matters of State during the Succession of many Years, and filling their Places with that Sufficiency, as they seem to deserve the Character of being truly Great in their Professions. This Assertion is supported in the Case of the first Garter by a ^c Record, wherein the King attributes to him the honourable Testimony of being an excellent Herald, which must be esteemed an Attestation due to his Abilities and Merits, because it was given to him in his Grave, when Complements were useles. He ^d doubtless, and his Suc-

^a Paulinus E. r. in Bibl. Cotton. Where the officers of Arms of this noble realm of England for this time have been had in great estimation and reputed the most expert and most approved persons in Knowledge of all things appertaining to Nobilitie, above all other officers of strange realmes, and so have continued, &c.

^b L. 16. F. cccclviii. treating of the Tilt between the Lord Wells and Earl of Crawford. Nam Fecit alius Anglorum, qui rei militaris prudentia reliquos opinionum judicio antecellunt, &c.

^c See Rymer, vol. xi. p. 262. dato pridem per egregium Heraldum Garterum Armarum Regem nature tributo, &c.

^d We have several Memorials remaining of the two first Kings of Arms of the Golden Fleece, and in Bibl. Harley 25 C. 19. p. 40. 'tis said that Garter wrote in French the Narrative of the Jests held at the Marriage of Charles Duke of Burgundy, with the Sister of Ed. IV.

cessors, wrote Memoirs of their several Employments in the Publick Services, which being perished by the Distance of Time, we are reduced to the Necessity of collecting Fragments scattered up and down; but even those will furnish us with an Authentick Register of their frequent Embassies and Messages into Forreign Countries, one of the most principal Articles of the Duties of Heralds in former Ages: For the Notion that hath lately obtained, which circumscribes the Knowledge of Heralds to that which for some Time hath been termed Heraldry, that is, the Science of Blazoning of Coat Arms, is narrow and derogatory ^{aa} to them; that hath been indeed one, and the most easy and mechanical Branch of their Duties; but the bare System of Blazonry will no more constitute an ^b able Herald, than the mere knowing the Inscriptions on the Gally-pots in an Apothecary's Shop is an adequate Qualification for a Physician. The Preambles of the present Patents to Kings of Arms intimate the Extent of their Professions in Times of War as well as of Peace, and if this was a proper Place to specify the Gopioufness and Variety of the ^{bb} Branches of Heraldick Learning, it would shew the Prejudice which that narrow Heterodox Opinion hath brought on this Fraternity.

To descend then to Bruges this first Garter, His Parentage, we find in his Petition to Hen. V. wherein he desires such Bouche at Court, as was formerly enjoyed by Vaillant March Son Pere Lancaster & Faucon Rois d'Armes; there being no Comma's, it may be questioned, whether March or Lancaster was his Father, the Collector supposes the latter, and that ^{aa} Gare prefatio ad Catalog. Herald. Somniant quidam totum Heraldicæ corpus sub unica ipsius parte (Amorum) sicuti explicatione quam Blazonium vocant) contineri, quam adeo factilem iudicant, ut viri mediocri ingenii, unius mensis spatioso rotam elevante querat, dominodo vel medioere tempore colloiet in Studia, sed eos multum hallucinari arbitratur, quibus est plena nobilitas illius artis cognitio incerta &c.

^b Fuller's Hist. State, p. 132.

^{bb} See Henry Spelm. v. Herald. Quicquid deniq; ad Nobilitatem spectat & rem Honorariam (Heraldorum) curæ, tanquam Sacris Custodibus & Templi Honoris Asibus demarcatatur.

Jurifer. Her. vol. 2. p. 81. Nobilitatis Politicæ Alumnus, Aequitatis Arbitri, Veritatis vindices, Legum Principum, rerumque egregie gestarum Scriptores.

Lalans de congressu Freder. III. & Car. Burgundicæ. Vultus Gallorum Heraldos vocat, genus hominum Gallis Germanisq; & reliquis ad occidentem nationibus usitatum, Italis non perinde cogitunt; Græcis, Nobilitatem, decus Principum, insigniam; per gentes familiarum nosse ipsorum muneri habetur. Quibus majoribus nobilissima quoque domus propagata, quid in quoq; honeste, egregie ferde, turpiter factum patrarum; ipsi precipue vel norunt vel noscisse creduntur. Tutæ ac velut sacrosancti, in pace honorati, in bellis quoq; quamvis feruiss intachi. Libertas & licentia sacerata facta Principum reprehendendi: Minor nunc quidem olim maxima. Ausi adire mensas Regum, & reserpinatum (sommis id ignominio loco habebatur) panem apponere, & linteam quo mensa infernuitur medium perferre, &c. See Freber Scripte. German. t. 2. p. 156. Hoep. de Jure insign. 446. 447. Beccan. Francic. l. 4. p. 92. Heraldum si iuxta veram vocis originem interpreteris, eum significat Scriptorem, qui publice ab omnibus in magna est veneratione habendus. Atqui quis talis revera, nisi is qui ceteris rerum omnium cognitione non privatarum tum publicatum ceteris antestare scitur? — De veris Francorum Monumentis scimus, in tanto quodam Heraldos honore fuisse, ut Regum mensis ac umbereis, controversiarum inter summos Principes ortuarum Arbitri essent, soli deniq; honorum & decorem pro rebus vel bene vel male gestis iusti haberentur distributores. Manet hæcenus nomen ipsum quidem, sed quam digni eo sint, quomodo bene munere suo fungi possint, qui Heraldici nuncupantur, malo de re ipsa quam de meo iudicio cognosci: Quemadmodum Regum Majestas apud Romanos ad quædam hæcæ mouerit ceremonias tota fuit deserta, ita hæc arate tota Heraldorum dignitas ex altissimo suo fastigio ad sua cuiq; insignium discrimina in aram geritorum præscribenda descendit, &c.

The Preamble of the Patent is Utter, in 6 E. 6. recet. Quod cum inter reliquos, qui ad nostræ Regiæ Majestatis splendorem ornatumq; spectant, officarios, non innumum ab antiquo inter prima Classis viros vendicent sibi locum Heraldicæ, qui a veteribus vocari Heroes soliti sunt, quorum solice est Regum Isteribus pro eorum magnificentia & gloria assistere, Republicæ consilere, virtutes egregiasq; Principum facinoras, & amplissimos triumphos celebrare, terras virorum facta extolere, vitia reprehendere, & armorum curam suscipere, deniq; domi & milite bonis omnibus ipsi esse. Nos muneri huius tam amplio officio splendido virum aliquem indistinctum præferre cupientes, &c. Reynes. vol. 15. p. 305.

It would be useless to transcribe what Authors have wrote on this Subject.

See in his Petition heretofore inserted, he was Son of Richard del Brug Lancaster King of Arms, who is often in Records called ^d Brugge; and sometimes ^e Brugges, for tho' no mention is made of this William the Garter in the Will of this Del Brugge Lancaster, yet by this his Allegation, it may well be supposed, he was his lawful Son (and not his Disciple or Pupil only, as ^z Olivier de la Marche styles St. George Chastellain the Second Toison King of Arms Mon Pere en Doctrine) for no Argument to the contrary can be drawn from the Silence in the Will of his Father, who, 'tis probable, might be a Citizen of London (because the fame was proved not only before the Archbishop, but also before the Bishop of ^b London;) and then a certain Part was by Custom due to this his Son, for which Reason Children of Citizens are frequently omitted in such Wills; but the Legacy of ⁱ Katherine Lancaster [^k Widow doublets of this Del Brug] to Katherine Daughter of William Garter seems to confirm this Descent. No Memorial hath yet come to the Collector's Knowledge, that he was a Pursivant, tho' 'tis probable, from his Father's Employment, he might be bred up in the Office of Arms, and promoted gradually according to the Custom of that Age, and might be taken into the Service of the Crown, while his Father was an Officer to the Duke of Lancaster. 'Tis certain when Richard II. in his 21st Year, raised the Earldom of Chester into a ^l Principality by Act of Parliament, he by Patent, dated 7 June, under the New Seal of that Principality, created this ^m Bruges to be Chester Herald, and when by the Repeal of the Laws of that Parliament by ⁿ Hen. IV. Chester returned again to its pristine State, this Person however continued (as 'tis supposed) an Herald to Hen. V. while ^o Prince of Wales, to whom that Palatinate belonged, who afterwards promoted him to the Place of Garter. And he was doubtless that Chester who after his Return from France was sent by Hen. IV. from Doncaster ^p to the Lord Chancellor about safe Conducts, and who, in ^d Many Records mention him, which are too long to be inserted here; since are printed: See Rymer, vol. 8. p. 281, &c.

^e A Priory Seal in the Tower, dated 13 May 11 H. 1.

^f Registr. Chichele, p. 331.

^g Hill, p. 115.

^h In libro testam. ab anno 1438 ad 1438. p. 226 b.

ⁱ In Carta Ererog. Luffham, p. 184. Ego Katerina Lancastre. — Corpus meum sepeliendum coram summo altari sub lapide viri mei Richardi Lancastre in Ecclesia Sancti Bartholomæi. — Ut habet Katerina filia Williami Garter unam Crameran deauratam. Prossed 13 Feb. 1436.

^k This Richard, in his Will, having ordered himself to be buried in St. Bartholomews in West-Smithfield, mentions Katherine his Wife, and the same Place; and Persons are named in both those Wills; where it may be guessed that the Titles of the Officers of Arms because so for their Sirnames, that they belonged to their Records, of which more will be said in the Life of Sir Christopher Barker Garter.

^l Stat. 21 R. 2. c. 2.

^m MS. in Curia Wardour. Abstractus Comitum Comitatus Palatini Cestrie a perquisitore eisdem per Hugonem Lupam. — Et inde Comitatus Cestrie predictus tempore Regis Richardi II. in Parlamento apud Westm. regni sui 22^{to} tento infinium Principatus sui accepti. Quo quidem tempore idem Rex Richardus eisdem provincie heraldum Guthelinum Bruges creavit, eius Cestrie nomen indidit. Et hoc per literas suas potentes sub sigillo Principatus sui predictæ dat. Cestrie 7^o Junii anno regni sui 22^{to}. Christi vero 1377, a Conquista 227. See Vincent in Book, p. 127. Weaver's Fam. Mon. p. 674. Vinc. MS. in Off. Arm. n. 218. p. 94. n. Stat. 7 H. 4. c. 3.

^o Ceremo. vol. 2. in Off. Arm. p. xi. Several Writers inform us, that Chester was the Title of the Prince's Herald. Mills de Nob. Pal. & Civ. p. 166. Speimart Glou. voce herald. MS. Ant. a Wood in Mat. Ardm. n. 37. p. 22. W. C. in Off. Arm. p. 15. Weaver's Fam. Mon. p. 683. the respective Times are not specified, but a Signet is late in 7 Dec.

^p H. 7. revert. "T'was whereat our trusty and beloved Chester herald was for drest in the Prince's most need; hastily you and you his stewardance this Christinus next coming upon my said Son, and he hath shewd unto us, that he is behind us of such a fee as he hath of our grant; by our letters patents in the space of half a year, &c. that ye pay the same, &c."

^q De pat. le Roy — Tres reverent Pere en Dieu & nostre Treschier & tresime Cousin, Nous vous saluons in the 9th of that King, carried into ³ Aquitaine the Prorogation of the Truce between that Prince and the French, and in the next Year was sent into France, being then described by his Christian Name, and Title ^r William Chester Herald.

He was afterwards certainly ^f Guyenne King of Arms, as is above-mentioned, and probably might be promoted thereto before the Coronation of Hen. V, when this Officer received ^l Robes, and in his third Year attended upon that King in his Expedition into France, whence he was instituted Garter, and it may be presumed was mostly in foreign Parts during the Remainder of the Reign of this King, because the Collector hath not met with any Entries about him during that Time, save these above-mentioned, and in a MS. that he was ^e employed by that King in divers honourable Messages, and that he also attended on the Coronation of Queen Katherine, and at that King's solemn Funeral, to whom he had been of the Secret Council, if some ^x MSS. may be credited herein, which may probably mean a Member of the Council of War, as Toussin d'Or was of Course in ³ Burgundy.

After his Advancement to this new erected Post of Garter, he petitioned Henry V to have it confirmed to him by Letter's Patent, together with a Declaration of the Rights and Duties thereof, in Analogy to those of Montjoy in France; but tho' it doth not appear, that any Patent passed saluons souvent, & favez vous faisons, que y ce present jour nous avons recevez unes lettres, a nous envoies hors du parties de France par nostre treschier & foiz Chevalier Thomas de Erpingham, & les autres nos Messages, nagairs par nous y envoiez, failantes mention en partie de la Maniere de leur gouvernance celles parties, sicomme par le Copie de mesmes les lettres, quelle nous vous envoians close dedens celles. Il vous pourra plus pleinement apparoir, & entendo a vous aveques ore par rapport de Chiffre le herault porteur des dites Lettres, que le Duc de Berry, & les autres Seigneurs de par de la ont fait a 102 dix Messages par Continence de Jour en autre, aussi grandz honneur chere & desport, come onques avoient Messages de leurs Estatz en mesmes les parties cy devant. Si que par tant on suppose que bonne Conclusion se prendra de leur dit Message au plaisir de Dieu. Tres reverent Pere en Dieu, nous vous envoians aveques ces presentes la forme d'un faufconduet a nous envoie par nos dix Messages, en la forme que les Ambassadeurs de la Partie de France, qui sont ordonnez avenir pardeca par les Causes specifiques en les dites Lettres le desirant: si volons & Vous mandons, que Vous facez faire souz nostre Grand Seal quatre faufconduetz, souz mesme la forme, par ainsi que chascun des dit Ambassadeurs puisse avoir un devers lui, sicome nos dite Messages devers chascun de eulz, & sceulz Saufconduits ainsi faiztz, facez delivrer au dit Heraldt pour les bastivement porter a nostre Ville de Calais: Et regardez treschier Cousin, que le Nom de nostre adversaire de France ne soit escrit souz la forme recitee en la Copie du dit faufconduet, mais en maniere accoustume, & selon ce que vostre tresage Discretion le siet considerer. Tres reverent Pere en Dieu & nostre treschier & tresame Cousin, nostre Seigneur vous ait en la garde. Donne souz nostre signet a Danville le xxvij jour de Septembre.— A tresreverent Pere en Dieu nostre treschier Cousin l'archevescque de Cantebria nostre Chancelier. Ex Originalli in Turre-

Sir Thomas Erpingham, as appears by the Register of the Garter, died before 7 H. 6. was no Archbishop of Canterbury was Chancellor after the Demise of H. 4. the Death of Erpingham, and we are assured that Hen. 4. went into the North in his 8th Year, Wallingford's Hist. p. 419. and was at Nottingham 30 Sep. Rymer, Vol. 8. p. 500.

³ Ex Pell. f. q. H. 4. Chiffre Herald missio de Ordinatione & mandato Regis versus partes Ducatus Aquitanie cum terra Listeris factis super prorogatione treugiarum inter Dominum Regem & illos de Francia usque ultimum diem Septembris proximum futurum in partibus illis ex parte dicti Domini Regis proclamandarum xx Marc.

^r Ex Pell. m. x. H. 4. Willmo Chiffre Herald Domini Principis missio versus partes Francie in Nuncio Ipsi Domini Regis cum Certis brevibus sub privato Sigillo certis Dominis & aliis diversis personis Adversarii sui Regis Francie 61. 134. 4 d.

^f See above, Page 321. Note ff.

^l Libertate Dom. nostri Regis Henrici Quinti fidei diversis Dominis, Dominibus, Militibus, Clericis, Scutiferis, Valeris, & aliis diversis personis contra Coronationem suam Anno Regni sui primo, de mandato suo, &c. Guien Regi Armorum, Lancastre Heralde, Lycestre Heralde, Derby Heralde, Hereford Heralde, Norynham Heralde, Cornwell Heralde, Liberd Heralde, cultibz eorum vi uln. pann. rub. long.

^e MS. penes Nich. Jekyl de Castle Hedingham p. 104 b.

^x B. 3. page mes. p. 41. in membran. Memorand. que le Roy Henry cinquieme donnoit a Sire William Bruges, qui en son temps estoit Juretiere, quant il l'envoyoit en ambassade hors du royaume vingt sols par jour pour mieulx maintenir son estat. Et aussi luy donnoit huyt sols pour ses gages de poestre: Et si estoit icelluy Juretiere de son secret conseil, &c.

³ Olivier de la Marche l'Etat de la Maison du Duc Charles 1474.

thereon,

thereon, which might be occasioned by the untimely Death of that Prince, therefore the Knights of the Order made a Provisional Settlement for his Subsistence, till such Time as Henry the Sixth should come of Age, yet this Petition is here inserted at large, because it contains many memorable Particulars of the Practice in that Age relating to the Office of Arms.

During

z. Athm. App. n. 7.

Plaise à vostre treshaute Excellence, Souverain Seigneur, Considérez, que il vous a plu de vostre Majesté Roial en vostre treschevalereux Chapitre de Saint George à Windsore creer ung Roy d'Armes des Anglois de vostre noble Royaulme, en luy donnant de vostre tres benigne grace l'honorable Nom d'excellent Ordre de la Jarretiere, & à Iceuluy mesme Jour de la Creation, quand il vous plaist luy donner la Gouvernemens & Correction dedens l'office d'Armes, & de vostre obeissance, comme premier, & Chef en dict office d'Armes vostre ordonnance & fondation d'icelles Roialte d'Armes à vostre magnificence, supplie le plus tres humblement vostre tres humble Subyezt & serviteur Jarretier, que pour vous tres excellent Roy, voz Nobles Heirs & Successeurs vous plaist Confirmer & ratifier par vos gracieuses lettres Patentes tant à vostre Roy d'Armes des Anglois, qui pour le present est, comme à iceulx que par voz Nobles Ordonnances, & par voz Nobles heirs & Successeurs succéderont en dict Office de Jarretiere Roialte d'Armes autre le - - - - - gouvernement & Correction du dict Office en Iceuluy Office. Et par ce, Souverain Seigneur, Reposera & demourra vostre noble fondation d'icelle Roialte d'Armes en perpetuel Memoire. Et aussi plaist à vostre tresgracieuse Seigneurie, tres excellent & Souverain Seigneur, avecques la dessusdict Roialte d'Armes attribuer à Jarretier Roy d'Armes des Anglois Vostres gracieuses Lettres Patentes ainsi dict à vostre Roy d'Armes des Anglois les libertez & preveilliges, selon les Articles, qui ensuivent, ou partie d'icelles comme plaira à vostre tres haute Majesté, qu'il en use & exerce, dedens & par l'Office dessusdict.

(1.) Premierement plaist Vous de vostre benigne & thabondant grace, octroyer & approprier à Vostre dict Serviteur & Roy d'Armes des Anglois dedans vostre Chastel de Windsore maison propre pour y demourer, ou luy retraine, quant mestier luy sera, ayant consideration, tres excellent Prince, qui porte le moult Noble Nom du tres excellent Ordre de la Jarretiere, & luy par Vous tres redoubte Sire & pour Iceuluy tres noble Ordre fondees.

(2.) Item plaist à vostre haultesse, tresredoubte Sire, de Vostre Grace octroyer audit Roy d'Armes des Anglois dedens vostre noble Court sa livree de pain, vin, Cerveoise, Chandelle, feuill pour le temps qu'il y soit, & comme eurent avant ces heures Vaillant Marche son Pere Lancastre & Faucon Rois d'Armes, pour le temps qu'ils exercoient es hostels de leurs Princes & Maistres: Combien qu'ilz ne fussent exalcez en l'Office selon leur Merite, comme il vous a plu de vostre grace exalcer vostre Serviteur sans son deserte.

(3.) Item depuis qu'il vous a plu, Souverain Seigneur, de vostre Grace donner au Roy d'Armes des Anglois Gouvernemens & Correction dedans l'Office d'Armes, & pour Iceulx de l'Office & de vostre obeissance Reformier & Corriger, quant le Cas le Requiert, en ce qui peut toucher ou gouvernement dedens l'Office, Plaist à vostre Majesté Royal octroyer & Expresser en vostres lettres de Confirmation, que généralement tous de l'office d'armes, tant Heralux Rois d'armes, heralux, que Pursuivans de vostre Obeissance, que apres qu'ilz seront Creez, faiz & exalcez en l'office d'armes, que ung Chacun d'eulx soit tenu de luy Representier devant le Roy d'armes des Anglois, & en parole de luy Reconnoistre, & tenir par tout pour leur premier & Souverain Roy d'armes, en luy promettant de bien, & loiaument obeir, garder, & observer ses ordonnances, & Correction, quant au gouvernement dedens l'office d'armes.

(4.) Item plaist à vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, que toutes & quantes fois que Ancuns Princes, Ducz, Marquis, ou Contes soient Nouvellement faiz par Vous, vos Nobles heirs & Successeurs, & attribuez à qui que soit Roy d'armes des Anglois, mais qu'il y soit present ou absent, leur premier habitz, & en quoy ilz recevront leur premiers dignitez, & Estaz, & ainsi est, tresredoubte Roy, attribuez en France à Monjoit Roy d'armes des Francois.

(5.) Item plaist à Vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, & de Vostre Grace attribuer au Roy d'armes des Anglois ensemble avecques toute l'office d'armes lesdicts de l'office, vestuz des tunicles & Cottes d'armes des Princes, Seigneurs, & de la Chevallerie, puissent aller en Vostre Noble presence, devant au plus pres de l'espece, & comme illa a este de memoire accoutumee pour l'honneur & Noblesse des Cottes d'armes.

(6.) Item plaist à Vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, & de Vostre Grace attribuer au Roy d'armes des Anglois, que son Mareschal d'armes des Anglois pult pour luy, & pour toute l'office demander, & avoir en votre noble Court, en votre Salle, tant aux festes Solempnelles, que aux autres jours, table à part pour l'office d'armes, comme de memoire à este accoutumee en Vostre Noble Roialme, & encore est es autres Roiaumes.

(7.) Item de vostre benigne Grace, que Vostre Roy d'Armes des Anglois en votre Salle en sa table puisse estre servy de ses trenchemens & de son Sel, avec le seurplus du service à ce appartenant, & comme de Memoire jusques à Noble temps ont este les Roys d'armes de Vaillant, Marche, Lancastre & Faucon, pource qu'ilz estoient premiers & Chiefz de l'office en Iceuluy temps, & en votre Noble Roiaume.

(8.) Item plaist à vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, octroyer & attribuer de Vostre Grace au Roy d'armes des Anglois, que en votre Court, & en votre salle, les Pursuivans d'armes puissent avoir leur assiere au commencement de table de voz varles, & comme il fut de temps de Grant Memoire.

(9.) Item plaist à vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, & de vostre Grace, octroyer & attribuer au Roy d'armes des Anglois, qu'il puisse à chacun feste de Cry d'armes tenir en votre Noble Court, Requérir & demander, ou son Mareschal d'armes des Anglois pour luy, de mon honneur Seigneur vostre grant maistre d'ostel, ou de mes Seigneurs vostre Tresorier, ou Controleur, eschafault failz fur les Rancs, ou les Joutes se feront, ainsi lesdicts de l'office puissent mieulx exercer le service de leur office pour le temps de la Joute.

(10.) Item plaist à vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, & de vostre Grace attribuer & confirmer au Roy d'armes des Anglois, preveillige, que au jours solemnelz, quant vous tiendrez Estate en

During the Reign of Hen. VI, this Officer is mentioned frequently in the Issues of the Pelles, as receiving Rewards for executing his Function in Forreign Embassies, Messages and Employments; some of these Payments are for Services past, so that the exact Time when they were performed is not discoverable. The Collector must own his Obligations for the Liberty of taking Extracts from these valuable Rolls, to the great Civility of his worthy Friend Mr. Sadler, in whose Custody they remain.

Our Garter then, in 1 H. VI, was sent to b Rome with the Bishop of voz Regibus, que ledit Roy d'armes puisse porter Couronne sur teste, & colier au Col armoye de blasons de la tresnoble Compaignie de la Farretier, le creste ou tunicie d'armes Vestuz sur le doz, & en sa main une blanche Verge & longue, sur le bout de la Verge une petite baniere, ou penonceau, icelle verge en signiffiance que vous luy avez commis de vostre Grace la Souverainete & Gouvernement dedens l'office d'armes, & de vostre obeissance, quant au Gouvernement dedans icelle.

(11.) Item aux autres Roys d'armes de vostre Obeissance vous plaise, Souverain Seigneur, pareillement attribuer ausdicts jours solempnels, eulx de porter Couronnes sur testis, armoires des Blasons, Et comme il a este acoustume du temps de grant memoire, mais de vostre Grace tous ditz reserver la Verge comme dessus a celluy, qui est ou sera Roy d'armes des Anglois, en la signiffiance & Memoire, comme dessus de Souverainete en l'office d'armes.

(12.) Item plaise a vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, & de vostre Grace octroier & attribuer au Roy d'armes des Anglois, que singulierement a l'office d'armes sont appropriez d'en donner de la louenge, par quoy de largesse a la Chevalerie a toutes les foiz, que l'observance de leur office le Requiert, & que aux Menestriels soit Restraint lesdicts Cryz, veu qu'ilz ne donnent nulle observance a la Chevalerie, sinon de leur franche Vouloir.

(13.) Item plaise a vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, que nul ne soit Receu en l'office d'armes, soubz vostre obeissance, sinon personne honneste, & de bonnes meurs, & Conversation Vertueuse.

(14.) Item plaise a Vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, octroier de vostre Grace au Roy d'armes des Anglois, que dotelenavant autre que homme lige ne soit Receu en l'office d'armes, pour servir a la Chevalerie de vostre Roiaume, aiant Regard a Nature.

(15.) Item plaise a vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, octroier de vostre Grace, que personne d'icy enuant, qui aura une foiz a l'office d'armes Renonce & resigne, ne soit derechief Receu dedens ledit office.

(16.) Item plaise a vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, octroier de vostre Grace, que nulle Maniere de personne disfaime, ne soit Receu en dict office d'armes soubz vostre obeissance.

(17.) Item plaise a vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, octroier au Roy d'armes des Anglois, que des Pourfuivans soubz vostre obeissance, nul ne soit Receu a estre fait & cree herault, sans vostre Noble Conge & licence, & que le Roy d'armes des Anglois, si l' y soit present, avec les autres de l'office d'armes soient appelez pour donner l'information de l'abilite. Et si eulx est digne d'estre Receu, Car souvent frequenter & conuier donne parfaite Congnoissance.

(18.) Item plaise a vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, de vostre Grace octroier au Roy d'armes des Anglois, que nul Roy D'armes, Herault, Pourfuivant ne soit receu en l'office des Armes, sans faire le serment solempnel, comme y appartient & comme a este - - - de grant Memoire.

(19.) Item plaise a vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, octroier de vostre Grace au Roy d'armes des Anglois la franche eslection de son Marschal d'armes des Anglois, & sur ce luy doit faire Representation a vostre Excellence de la personne, qu'il aura esleu Et vous de vostre benigne Grace - - - Marschal de donner la Verge.

(20.) Item plaise a vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, & de vostre tres benigne Grace octroier & attribuer de Reigle a l'office d'armes, vous tres noble & tres abondant largesse aux iiii testes solempnelles, comme Pasques, l'Esthecouste, la Touffains, & Noel, & pareillement, s'il vous plait, la Noble feste de Saint George & soubz ceste Droite Reigle de Franchise sont gardes les dessoldites iiii testes solempnelles en la Court de France, ausdict office d'armes est quelque Estat ou Disposition que le Roy soit & a este fait de grant memoire.

(21.) Item plaise a vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, & de vostre Grace, que en vos lettres Patentes de Ratiffement, & Confirmation telles, comme il plaira a vostre Majeste Roial commander pour vostre tres humble serviteur Jarretier Roy d'armes des Anglois, que toutes les Articles dessus Recites puissent en voidites gracieuses Lettres patentes estre expressez, afin que par aucunes d'icelles Articles, lesdicts de l'office puissent avoir plus vray entendement du plaisir, & Vouloir de vostre tres-haulte & tres excellente seigneurie, Et quant au fait du gouvernement de l'office.

(22.) Item plaise a vostre haultesse, Souverain Seigneur, de vostre Grace en voidites Lettres Patentes expressement commander, ausdict Roy d'armes des Anglois, que tous Iceulx excerfans endict office d'armes et de vostre Obeissance, qui ne vouldroient obeir ne observer aux ordonnances & Correxions par vostre Roy d'armes des Anglois dedens ledit office, que luy a toutes les foiz, que needre le Requiert, Il en face la Reputation d'iceuluy, ou ceulx, au treshault & trespuisant Prince, vostre Connestable.

Taken from an ancient Copy J. 9. penes me, p. 144. there is a Transcript in Cerem. Vol. 3. in Offic. Arm.

b Privat. Sigill. in Turre. Fiat testificatio cum Clausula volumus pro Willmo Brugge alias dicto Garter Rege Armorum, qui in Obsequium nostrum in Comitatu Caristini Consanguinei nostri Episcopi Wintoniensis ad Curiam Romanam profecturus est, ibidem in eodem obsequio moraturus, per unum annum duratura. Dat. sub privato Sigillo nostro apud Westmonast. xxvi die Febr. Anno Regni nostri primo.

See Rot. Francie 1 H. 6. m. 17. apud Rymer, vol. x. p. 268.

Winchester, and in 2 H. VI, he carried ^c Messages to the Dukes of Bedford, Bretagne and Burgundy.

3 H. VI, he was sent by the Advice of the King's Council to the ^d Duke of Gloucester then in his Dominion of Hainault, and had been with the Duke of ^e Burgundy in Flanders, and with the Dukes of ^f Bedford and Bretagne.

4 H. VI, he is mentioned as having attended on the ^g Duke of Bedford in France, and in that Year, by Order of the Privy-Council, received the ^h Ambassadors of the Duke of Burgundy, introduced them into the King's Presence, and waited on them during their stay here, and in 5 H. VI he was sent to the ⁱ King of Scots for expediting certain Affairs.

In 6 H. VI, he received 20 l. for his Attendance on the King's Embassadors into ^k Flanders and Holland, and on other Ambassadors into France and Flanders, and for his Return to the Duke of Bedford in France, as

^c Exit. Pell. P. 2. H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum in denariis sibi liberatis per manus proprias, in perfolucionem xxl. quas Dominus Rex nunc de avitamento & assensu Consilii sui eidem Gartero liberate mandavit, habendis de Rege pro Custobus & Expensis per ipsum faciendis eundo in Nuncio Regis versus Ducem Bedfordie, Britannie, & Burgundie per breve de privato Sigillo xl.

^d Exit. Pell. M. 3 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missio de avitamento & assensu Consilii Regis de Regno Anglie versus Ducem Gloucestrie existentem in Dominio suo Hannonie, pro certis Causis & Materis specialibus eidem Duci ex parte dicti Consilii declarando pro custobus & expensis 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

^e Exit. Pell. 3 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum nuper missio de avitamento & Assensu magni Consilii sui de London versus Ducem Burgundie in Flandria, cum quadam litera Domini Regis eidem Duci directa, pro certis secretis & specialibus materiis in eadem contentis dictum Consilium ad hoc moventibus.

^f Ex. Pell. P. 3. H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum, qui per mandatum ipsius Domini Regis, de Assensu Consilii sui, nuper erat cum Johanne Duce Bedfordie Regente Regni Francie, ac cum Duce Britannie, pro certis actibus materiis dictum Dominum Regem & consilium suum moventibus 20 Marcas.

^g Ex. Pell. m. 4 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missio de avitamento & assensu Consilii Regis de London versus Ducem Bedfordie in Regno Francie existentem, pro certis Causis arboris & Materis specialibus eidem Duci ex parte dicti Consilii declarandis C.

^h Henri, &c. as Tresorier, &c. Pource que nostre Amie Serveur Garter Roy d'armes par l'ordonnance de notre Conseil douziesme jour de May darrein passez, feust comandez de soy transporter vers les portz de Dover ou de Sandayc, pour y recevoir les Ambassadeurs de nostre treschier uncle le Duc de Bourgogne, & les conduire a nostre presence, & pour attendre ovesques eulx durant le temps de leur demeure en nostre Royaume d'Engleterre, a quel commandement il ad obeiez, demorez, & continuellement attenduz ovesques mesmes les Ambassadeurs, jusques a le vint & cynquiesme jour de ceste present mois de Juill, deinz quel temps il ad dependuz par ses coustages sept livres & sept soulds a ce quil dit: Volons de l'avis & assent de nostre Conseil, & vous mandons, q'en regard de les despenses & coustages soustuz, facez payer au dit Garter la somme de sept livres & oyt souldz, a avoit pour voic de regard : Donnez souz nostre prive Seal a Westminster le xxvij jour de Juill lan de nostre regne quatriemesme.

ⁱ Ex. Pell. P. 4. H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum ordinato & Assignato — per consensum Regis 12^m Maii ultimo preterito ad proficiscendum versus portus Dover & Sanderic, ad ibi recipiendum Ambassatores Ducis Burgundie, & eos conducendum ad presentiam dicti Regis, & attendendum cum Ambassatoribus durante mora sua infra Regnum Anglie 7 l. 8 l.

^j Cleopatra F. 4. Bibl. Cotton. 13 Martii An. 5 (H. 6.) apud Cantuarium Concordatum fuit quod fiat Warrantum Thesaurario & Camerarius de solvendo Gartero Regi Armorum, qui in negotiis Regis penes Regem Scottorum profecturus est x l.

^k In Off. Pell. Henri, &c. a bon Amie Garter Roy des Armes liquel nous envoions presentment pour certaines nos besoignes affaires vers nostre treschier Cousin le Roy d'Escoce, &c. dys livres 13 Mars 5 H. 6. Ex Pell. m. 5 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missio versus Regem Scottorum pro certis negotiis Domini nostri Regis Expediend. xl.

^l Henri, &c. as Tresorier, &c. comme nous considerantz, coment nostre cher & bien ame Garter Roy d'armes ad este en nostre service per commandement de nostre treschier & tresame Uncle le Duc de Bedford maidgirs Protectour & defendour de nostre Roiaume d'Engleterre, que nos chers & loiaiz William Oldewall, Richard Wydevill, & mestre Jehan, Escozars maidgirs nos Ambassadeurs pour nous envoiez en Flandre & Holland, & coment il aussi par commandement de nostre tres cher & tresame Uncle le Duc de Gloucestrie protectour & defendour de nostre Roiaume d'Engleterre ad este semblablement en nostre service avec li reverend pere en Dieu Levesque de Norwich, & nostre treschier & foial le Sire de Tipisji Seneschal de nostre hoisiel maidgirs noz Ambassadeurs pour nous envoiez en nostre Roitume de France & Flandre, sanz gages ou regard par les services delivrez, avons par celles causes de l'avis & assent de nostre conseil, & en recompensation de ce que le dit Garter soy transporter a commandement de nous & de nostre Conseil en nostre message vers nostre dit Uncle de Bedford, grauntez a mesme Cellui Garter vint livres de nostre Tresor, &c. donne souz nostre prive Seal 25 Nov. 6 [H. 6.]

^m Exit. Pell. m. 6 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum, qui nuper erat in servitio Regis per mandatum Ducis Bedfordie nuper Protectoris & Defensoris Regni Anglie in comitiva Willimi Oldewall chevalier as the King's Messenger, and was sent by the Council to the Cardinal of St. Jusheius, (that is to Henry Beaufort Bishop of Winchester) into France, and was ordered by the King with the Assent of the Council, to go to Calice for dispatch of divers necessary Affairs, and afterward to Fowway for discharging a Ship taken from our Allies.

In 7 H. VI, he had for his good Services performed to the King's Father, and to himself, an Annuity of 20*l.* yearly out of the Fee-Farm of the City of Winchester, during Pleasure, and 16 Nov. was going into Normandy to the Duke of Warwick Lieutenant General of France, and of that Duchy, and on the 20th Nov. Credence by the King was given him, to be declared unto his Uncle the Duke of Bedford, for which he was paid 13*l.* 8*s.* 8*d.* and afterwards a farther Summ; and in 16 July following, had large Instructions given him by the King and his Council then at Paris, to deliver to his Council in England, and for that Service he was rewarded, and in Easter Term following was going again a valier Rich. Wydevill & magistri Joh. Flocart nuper Ambassiatorum dicti Regis & per ipsum Regem missi in Flandria & Hollandia, & etiam missi alia vice de mandato Ducis Clive Brit. Protectoris & defensoris dicti Regni Anglie in servitio ipsius Domini Regis in comitiva Reverendi in Christo patris Episcopi Norwic. Domini de Tiptot nuper Ambassiatorum dicti Regis in Regnum suum France, & in Flandria, abique vadis & regardis pro servitiis supradictis xx*l.* pro Custibus per ipsum factis & faciendis in exequendo de mandato Regis & Consilia sui in Nuncio ipsius Domini Regis versus Ducem Bedfordie in Francia.

1 Cleopatra F. 4. Bibl. Cott. ultimo Apr. Ann. (6 H. 6.) Concordatum fuit, quod fiat Warantium de solvendo Garteri Regi Armorum, qui missus est cum iteris Regis Domino Cardinali titulo Sancti Eusebii, in Francia de Mandato Dominorum de Concilio decem Muras.

2 In Officio Pellium 6 H. 6. Henri, &c. as Tresorier, &c. Comme nous le 26 d'Avril datrein passez de Lavis & Assent de nostre Conseil ---- a nostre bon ame Garter Roy des Armes, pur passer en nostre Message a Calcy pur le bon de nous & de nostre Roiaume ---- dys ---- There are likewise his petition, and the Signer for ibi Summ, Signed by the Lords of the Council.

Exit. Pell. P. 6 H. 6. Garteri Regi Armorum ordinato & Assignato per Dominum Regem de Assensu Consilii sui ad proficiscendum versus Calcy, pro diversis Materis necessariis ibidem ex parte ejusdem Domini Regis & Consilii sui predicti ibidem Expediendis 6*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*

3 Exit. Pell.

4 Priv. Sigill. in Turc.

Henri par la Grace de Dieu Roy d'Engleterre, & de France, & Seigneur d'Irlande, a l'honorable Pere en Dieu l'Archeveque d'Evernye Primat d'Engleterre nostre Chancelier salut. Come nous Considerantes les bons & agreables services, queux nostre bon ame Gaillaume Brugges autrement dit Garter Roy d'armes ad fait, si ben a nostre treschier Seigneur & Pere le Roy, qui Dieux assoile, come a nous, & a nous Ierta en temps avenir, de Lavis & Assent de nostre Conseil, lui eons grauntez vunt livres apprendre annuellement, rancome nous pierza, as termes de Saint Michel & de Pasque par ouelles portions de la ferme de nostre Citee de Wyncheestre, par les mains des Citeins de mesme la Citee pour le temps echeantz: vous mandons, que sur ce facez faire lettres defouz nostre grant Seal en due forme: Donne souz nostre prive Seal a Westminster le 26 Jour d'Avril l'an de nostre Regne festeime.

Constat de restita, viz. ubi superius Continetiar de la Fee Farm, &c. Extrahitur Fee per mandatum Domini Cancellarii presentibus ad tunc Custode Rotuorum, abique Magistris Cancellariis, & multis aliis, &c. Frank. Sc Pat. 7 H. 6. p. 1. m. 18. 16 Apr. Printed by Rymer, vol. 2. p. 415.

2 In Officio Pellium 16 Nov. (7 H. 6.) Henri, &c. as Tresorier, &c. Que a nostre bien ame Garter Roy d'Armes lequid nous envoies en nostre Duchie de Normandie vers nostre treschier & foial Cousin le Counte de Warric nostre Lieutenant General & Gouverneur en nostre Roiaume de France & Duchie de Normandie vous paieez vynt Marcs.

3 Caligula D. 5. in Bibl. Cott. 20 Nov. Credence committed by the King our Sovereign Lord, unto Garter King of Armes, to be declared unto my Lord of Bedford his Uncle, 7 H. 6. 20 Nov. the Instrumēt is very long.

4 Priv. Sig. 1 Juyll 7 H. 6. a nostre bien ame Garter Roy d'armes en alant de nostre comandement en nostre message ou certains nos lettres devers nostre treschier & tresame le Duc de Bedford Regent Roiaume de France vynt marcs.

Exit. Pell. m. 7 H. 6. Garteri Regi Armorum nuper missi versus Ducem Bedfordie avunculum Regis Regentem regnum suum France pro Certis negotiis ipsum Regem moventibus 13*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*

5 Exit. Pell. m. 7 H. 6. Eidem Garteri, cui idem Dominus Rex nunc de avasimento & assensu Consilii sui nuper mandavit in Nuncio suo versus carissimum Avunculum suum Ducem Bedfordie in regnum dicti Domini Regis France, causa Cujus nunciū dictus Dominus Rex nuper concessit certum Regardum pro Expenfis & laboribus, ultra quod quidem regardum Garterus expendit de bonis suis propriis vi*l.* quas Dominus Rex de avasimento & Consensu Consilii liberare mandavit.

6 Cleopatra F. 4. in Bibl. Cott. 16 Juyll: See Rymer, vol. 2. p. 422.

7 Exit. Pell. m. 7 H. 6. Garteri Regi Armorum, qui mandato Regis profectoris est, pro Certis Necessitatibus ejusdem Domini Regis de Francia ad dictum Dominum Regentem de ibidem reportandis ex parte Clarissimi Avunculi sui Johannis Ducis Bedfordie Regentis dictum Regnum suum France de Certis responsionibus 13*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*

Messenger to the ^x Duke of Bedford, Regent of France, with the King's Letters.

In 8 H. 6. he received 50 Marks, by Consent of the Council, for his great Expences, in going twice as the Kings's' Messenger, to his Uncles the Dukes of Bedford and Burgundy, and to his Council in France, and returning with the Answers thereto; and for the Costs he was then to sustain in another ^a Journey to be made into France, and received the Summ of xx Marks, and a short Time afterwards was returning from thence into England to the above-mention'd ^d Cardinal of St. Eusebius upon some necessary Occasions, and was again remitted by the King's Council in England to the King and his ^b Council in France, about special Matters relating to the Welfare of both Kingdoms.

In the 9th Year he was sent into ^c England, by the King's Council in France, and about this Time it is probable he was sent likewise to the King ^d of Scots, and in January 1431 had been sent from Rouen to the ^x Priv. Sigill. in Officio Pellium Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. que a nostre bien ame Garter Roy d'armes, en alaut de nostre comandement par avis & assent de nostre Conseil en nostre message avec certaines nos lettres devers nostre trescher & tresame Uncle le Duc de Bedford Regent de France vint mars 1 July 7 H. 6.

Exit. Pell. P. 7 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum eunti de mandato Regis per avifamentum Consilii sui in Nuncio ipsius Domini Regis cum certis literis dicti Regis Avunculo suo Duci Bedfordie Regenti regnum France 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

In Officio Pellium Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. A nostre bien ame Garter Roy d'armes facez paier, par les grands labours, Coustages, & Expences, queux il ad euz & sustenuz, en alant jartard par deux foitz par Comandement de nous & de nostre Counsaill en Message vers nos treschers & tresames Uncles de Bedford, & de Burgaigne, & aussi nostre Counsaill de France, & d'illoques avec leur responses devers nous retournant & ---- luy coviendra de present avoir & sustenir en alant par Comandement de nous & de nostre Counsaill devers nos ditz Uncles & Counsaill, & d'illoques en retournant ---- 40 marcs darrein de Sept. 8 H. 6.

Exit. Pell. m. 8 H. 6. Johanne Throkmarton ex parte Richardi Comitis Warwick Camerario Existente, 4to Oct. Gartero Regi Armorum in denariis sibi liberatis per manus proprias in persolutionem L. marcarum, quas Dominus Rex nunc de Assensu Consilii sui eidem Gartero liberare mandavit habendas de Dono suo per modum Regardi pro grandibus Custibus, & Expensis per ipsum habitis & sustentis eundo tam tarde ad duas Vices de Mandato Domini Regis & Consilii sui predicti in Nuncio Ipsius Domini Regis ad Avunculos suos Bedfordie & Burgundie, & etiam ad Consilium suum France & de ibidem cum eorum responsionibus versus ipsum Dominum Regem & Consilium suum predictum retornando & etiam pro Custibus & Expensis suis, quas ad presens sustinere oportebit eundo de mandato Ejusdem Domini Regis & Consilii sui predicti versus Avunculos suos predictos, & Consilium predictum & de ibidem cum eorum responsionibus ad Consilium predictum retornando.

& 22 Oct. (8 H. 6.) in Officio Pellium, Henri, &c. as Tresorier, &c. que a nostre bien ame Garter Roy d'Armes, liquel avec Certains nos lettres et Messages nous envoions presentement es parties de delà vous facez paier xx marcs.

a Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. que a nostre bien ame Garter Roy, qui divers nostre trescher Cousin le Cardinal, &c. sur certaines nos besognes est nostre Royaume de France est presentement a aler, facez payer dys livres, &c. 7. Fevever 8 H. 6. in Officio Pellium.

Exit. Pell. M. 8 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum qui versus Carissimum Consanguineum Regis Cardinalem de titulo Sancti Eusebii in Regno Anglie ad presens est iturus pro certis Cavalis opportunis xl.

b Exit. Pell. P. 8 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum nuper misso per Consilium Regis in Regno suo Anglie versus ipsum Dominum Regem & Consilium suum cum ipso Domino Rege in Regno suo France pro Certis materiis specialibus tangentibus bona ac utilitatem Regis et regnorum suorum predictorum 6 l. 13 s. 4 d.

c Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. que a nostre bien ame Garter Roy des Armes nadgairs envoiez par nostre Conseil en nostre Royaume d'Engleterre devers nous & nostre Counsaill avec nous en nostre Royaume de France pour certains matiers touchantes le bien de nous & de nos ditz Royaumes, vous paieiz dys marcs, &c. 20 d'Octobre lan noefiesime (9 H. 6.)

20 Dec. 9 H. 6. In Officio Pellium. Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. qu'a nostre bien ame Garter Roy des Armes nadgairs par nostre Conseil envoier en nostre Royaume d'Engleterre devers nous & nostre Counsaill avec nous en nostre Royaume de France pur Certains Matiers touchants le bien de nous, & de nos ditz Royaumes paieiz dys marcs.

d Faulhina F. 7. in Bibl. Cotton, p. 56. April (8 H. 6.) Rymer, vol. 10. p. 455, and in July (14 H. 6.) Rymer, vol. 10. p. 650. Instrukcion yeven by the K. by thadevis of his Counsaill in Garter King of Armes sent unto his Cousen the King of Scots at Canterbury 12 day.

Signed Johan le Cantuar. J. Eborum Cancell

J. huntain.

hungerford, tiptoft Pr. on.

The Date being not legible in this Instrument, the same is placed about this Time, because the King was at Canterbury in Apr. 8 H. 6. Rymer foedera, vol. 10. p. 455, and in July 14 H. 6. Rymer, ibidem, p. 650.

Duke of Burgundy into Flanders, for which he had 60 Tournois by the Day, as appears from an ^a Original Receipt under his Signet, which hath the Impression of a Crown within the Garter, taken from the Records of France, and communicated to the Collector by Monsieur Clairambault.

In the 11th H. VI. the King Commanded ^b the Citizens of Winchester to pay him the Arrearages of his Annuity, and what should become hereafter yearly due, during the King's Pleasure, and on 18 Febr. ^c Instructions were given to him to declare on the King's behalf to his Uncle the Duke of Bretagne, and we find in a Credence or ^d Memorial delivered by the Chamberlain of Bretagne, answered 5 Sept. 1441, that (the Dukes of) Orleans, Dallenson, and others, had continued some Time in Bretagne in Expectation of the Return of Garter.

In 1435 he attended on the Embassadors at the Treaty of ^e Arras: In ^f the 14th (which Mr. ^g Ashmole, as also the Black-book of the Garter misplaces in the 13th of Hen. VI.) he carried the Livery of the Garter to the King of Portugal, in which Kingdom he continued ^h ten Months.

In 16 H. VI. he was sent into the ⁱ Dutchy of Normandy to the Earl

^a Sachent tuit que Je Guillaume Brugge ditARRIERE Roy d'armes du Roy nostre sire, confessé au sir et receu de Pierre Surreau Receveur General de Normandie la somme de 60 l. tournois pour mon payement de vingt jours du voiage que j'entends promptement, & a moy ordonne faire par le Roy nostre sire de cete Ville de Rouen par devers monseigneur de Bourgogne en Flandres ou ailleurs, ou il terra, pour certains affaires secretez touchans le bien du Roy nostre dit Seigneur a moy chargiez un pris pour chachun jour de 60 tournois a moy taxez par le Roy nostre dit Seigneur, de la quelle somme de 60 tournois je suis content & bien paie et enquire par ces presentes le Roy nostre dit Seigneur, le dit Receveur general, et tous autres: En remouing de ce j'ay signe ces presentes de mon faing Manuel, & sceelles de mon signet a Rouen le tiers jour de Janvier lan. 1431.

^f Claus. 11 H. 6. m. 22. Rex Civibus Civitatis nostre Wynton, qui nunc sunt, vel qui pro tempore fuerint Salutem. Cum viciesimo sexto die Aprilis Anno Regni nostri Septimo per literas nostras Patentes de avifamento & Assensu Consilii nostri concesserimus dilecto Nobis Willelmo Brugge alias dicto Garter Regi Armorum Viginti libras, percipiendas annuatim, quamdiu nobis placuerit, ad terminos Sancti Michaelis & Pasche, per aequales Portiones, de feodi firma Civitatis nostre predictæ, per manus Civium ejusdem Civitatis pro tempore existentium, prout in Literis Nostri predicti plenius Continetur; Vobis mandamus, quod eidem Willelmo id quod ei a retro est de predictis Viginti libris Annis, a festo Pasche ultimo præterito, & easdem Viginti libras annuas ex nunc singulis annis, quamdiu nobis placuerit, de feodi firma Civitatis predictæ solvatis juxta tenorem Literarum Nostrarum predictarum, Recipientes a præfato Willelmo de tempore in tempus literas suas Acquietancie, quæ pro Vobis sufficientes fuerint in hac parte, per quæ & prefatis Mandatum Nostrum vobis inde in Compto vestro ad Scaccarium nostrum de tempore in tempus debitam allocationem habere faciemus, Teste Rege apud Westmofastancium 30 die Oshobris.

^g 34 B. 18. Bibl. Harley, p. 62. b. Instructions given to Garter King of Arms, to declare on the King's Behalf unto his Uncle the Duke of Britaine, 18 Feb. (11 H. 6.)

^b The Original is in Bibl. Cotton. Julius B. 6. Instruction given to Garter King of Arms, to declare on the King's behalf unto his Uncle the Duc of Bretagne (11 H. 6.)

^c A Letter 11 H. 6. 18 Feb. to the Duke of Bretagne, signed by the Council— Trecher & trefame Oncle, nous envoyons presentement par devers vous nostre bien ame Roy d'armes & herabit Jarretiere, pour vous expoler depar nous Certains choses, Auquel & a tout ce qu'il vous diroit de par nous prisons, que adjoûtez foi & Creance, &c. Julius B. 6.

^d b Lobineau preuves de l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 1075.

^e i Chartier Hist. ch. 7. p. 82. A Arras 1435. Pour le Roy d'Angleterre Jarretiere Roy d'Armes, Suffolk Heraut, Kembre Pourfuitant, Eudelet Poursuivant, lesquels s'en allerent des le Commencement avec leur Maistres.

^f Fauchet de l'origine des Heraux, p. 29— At the Treaty of Arras were divers Heralds, whose Names or Titles are mentioned, and among others, "Pour les Anglois Jarretier Roy d'Armes Subfoliotier Heraut, Henlic Pourfuitant, lesquels allerent des le Commencement avec leuts Maistres.

^g See above, p. 185.

^h i Alst. History, p. 392. See the Black-book, p. 141.

ⁱ m See above, p. 185.

ⁿ Priv. Sig. 16 Nov. 16 H. 6. A nostre bien ame Garter Roy d'armes, liquel nous envions ci vers nous Messages en nostre Duchee de Normandie vers nostre trecher et foial Cousin le Comte de Warwic nostre Lieutenant general et gouverneur en noz Royaume de France, et Duchee de Normandie wynt marcs.

^o Exit. Pell. 16 H. 6. Garter Regi Armorum nuper misso in Nuncium Regis versus partes Exteras ad Comitem Warwic; in quo quidem Nuncio idem Garterus erat occupatus in servicio ipsius Domini Regis per spatium 26 septimanarum et etiam in eodem Nuncio Ipse erat Captus per Inimicos Regis, et bona sua per ipsos ab eo Capta et rata ad grave dampnum ipsius Garteri, pro qua quidem Causa idem Garterus accomodavit ad faciendum Custus suos in servicio Regis de xxxl. 13 s. 4 d.

of Warwick, then Lieutenant of France, in which Service he was employ'd six and twenty Weeks, and was taken by the King's Enemies, and lost his Goods.

In 17 H. VI., the King, at the Instant Desire of the ^o Knights of the Order of the Garter, granted him 40 l. yearly for Life, to be paid out of the Issues of the Hannaper, and he was sent then ^o beyond Sea, and in the next ^o Year, a Writ was sent to the Keeper of the Hannaper to pay him his Salary, in which Year he was sent ^r beyond Sea, and by o In Offic. Pell. To the Right Chrysten King our Sovereign Lord.

[A the Top it moute, Le Roy ad granto]

Besechith moost humbly to your right high Excellence your moost humble Liegeman and King of Armes Garter, commune Servaunt in thoffice of Armes to the Noble Ordre of the Garter to Consider, that of your habundant, hit hath liked to youre highnesse for the Reverence and honour of the said Ordre, and for the long service of your faide servant, at the beseching of al his Lords of the said Noble and Worthy Ordre, to have graunted and giffen him terme of his lyf a Fee and pension of 40 l. Pleasing to youre high Excellence to graunte unto your faide servaunte by youre Letters Patentes the said 40 l. to take yearly for terme of his said lyf, of the Issues and Profits coumyng of the Hannaper of your Chancerie by the hondes of the Gardayn of the said Hannaper that for nowe is, or for the tyme shall be, atte the feils of Mighelmasse and Ester by evyn portions. Notwithstanding that the said Garter hath of your noble Grant by your Letters Patentes duryng your pleasure 22 l. by Yere to be taken of the Ferme of your Citee of Wynchestr by the hondes of the Citizens of the same Citee for the tyme being, for the love of God and in Weye of Charitee.

Letre estz souz faite a Westminster le 2^e Jour de May l'an, &c. xviii.

K. Chambellan d'Engleterre.

Privat. Sigill. in Turte. Henri par la Grace de Dieu, Roy d'Engleterre et de France, et Seigneur d'Irlande, a Pourable Piere en Dieu leveque de Bath nostre Chancelier Saluz Comme nous par Consideration du bon et agreable Service, que nostre bien ame Serviteur Garter Roy d'Armes, commun Serviteur a Jorde du Jarir, ad fait de long temps, tant a nostre treschier Seigneur & Pere le Roy, qui Dieux assoille, comme a nous, et a nous ferra en temps avenir, eons de nostre Grace speciale, et a les priers des Seigneurs du dit Ordre, Grauntez au dit Garter quarante livres par Ann, aprendres pour terme de sa vie, des issues et prouffitiez provenantz de Hannaper en nostre Chancelarie, par les Mains du Gardain du dit Hannaper pour le temps esteant, as termes le Saint Michel et de Pasque, par ouelles portions; Ce que le dit Garter ad de nostre Graunte par noz Lettres Patentes, durans nostre Plaisir vynt Livres par Ann, aprendres de la ferme de nostre Citee de Wynchestr par les Mains des Citeiens dicelle Citee pour le temps esteantz non obstant, vous mandons que sur ce vous facez faire Lettres de soubz nostre Grand Seal en due forme Donne soubz nostre Prive Seal a Westminster le v Jour de May l'an de Nostre Regne dys septieme.

Ex. Orig. in Turte.

Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem, scitis quod nos Lonum & acceptabile servitium, quod dilectus servitor noster Garter Rex Armorum, serviens comunis ad ordinem Garter, tam clarissimo Domino et Patri nostro Regi defuncto, quam nobis per tempus non modicum impendit, et nobis impendit in futurum considerantes, de gratia nostra speciali, et ad instantiam et rogatum Dominorum dicti Ordinis de Gartera concessimus dicto Garter quadraginta libras per annum percipiendas pro termino vite sue de exitibus et proficuis de Hannaperio Cancellarie nostre provenientibus, per manus Custodis ejusdem Hannaperii pro tempore existentis, ad terminos Sancti Michaelis et Pasche per equales portiones: Eo quod dictus Garter viginti libras percipiendas annuatim de firma Civitatis nostre Winton per manus Civium ejusdem Civitatis pro tempore existentium per literas nostras Patentes, quandoque nobis placuerit ex concessione nostra optinet, non obstant. In cujus, &c. See Rymer, vol. 10. p. 737.

p. 7 Maii (17 H. 6.) In Officio Pellium. Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. que a nostre bien ame Garter Roy d'armes liquel en Certains nos Messages nous Envoyons presentement vers les parties de dela vous facez delivrer vynt Mars:

q Rymer, vol. 10. p. 737. Rex Custodi Hannaperii Cancellarie sue, qui nunc est, vel qui pro tempore fuerit Salutem. Cum quinto die Maii Anno Regni nostri decimo Septimo, bonum & acceptabile servitium, quod dilectus servitor Noster Garter Rex Armorum serviens Communis ad Ordinem Gartere, tam Clarissimo Domino et patri nostro Regi defuncto, quam Nobis per tempus non modicum impendit, et nobis impendit in futurum considerantes, de gratia nostra speciali, & ad instantiam et rogatum Dominorum dicti Ordinis de Gartera Concessimus dicto Garter quadraginta libras per annum percipiendas pro termino vite sue de Exitibus et proficuis dicti Hannaperii provenientibus, per manus Custodis ejusdem Hannaperii pro tempore existentis, ad terminos Sancti Michaelis et Pasche per equales Portiones, prout in Literis nostris Patentibus inde Confectis plenius Continetur. Vobis mandamus quod eidem Garter, id quod est a retro est de predictis quadraginta libris annuis pro termino Sancti Michaelis ultimo preterito, et easdem quadraginta libras annuas extunc singulis annis pro termino vite sue de exitibus et proficuis predicti Hannaperii, ad terminos predictos solvatis, juxta tenorem litterarum nostrarum predictarum, Recipientes a prefato Garter de tempore in tempus Literas suas Aquitancie, que pro vobis sufficientes fuerint, in hac parte, per quas et presens Mandatum nostrum vobis inde in Compto vestro ad flaccarium nostrum de tempore in tempus debitam allocationem habere faciemus. Teste Rege apud Westminsterium vicesimo primo die Octobris. W. Rom. Claus. Ann. 18 H. 6. m. 35.

r Priv. Sig. 22 Oct. 18 H. 6. a nostre bien ame Garter Roy d'armes liquel avec certainz nos lettres et messages nous envoyons presentement es parties de dela vous facez paier vynt mars.

Advice

Advice of the King's Council into Somersetshire to commune with the ¹ Duke of Orleans about special Matters, and was afterwards sent as a Messenger to the ² Dutchess of Burgundy, and in this Year he received his Winter ³ Robes, and on the 10th of March he granted Arms to the Corporation of ⁴ Drapers, whereto the Attestation of a Publick Notary is subscribed.

In 19 H. VI, he attended on the ⁵ Ambassadors of Coloign, and by Order of the King's Council on the ⁶ Duke of Orleans, who was a Prisoner here; then going, by Leave of the King, into his own Country, and had 20 l. by way of Reward for that Purpose, and having expended beyond that Summ, was ⁷ reimbursed, and forthwith sent again into ⁸ France, having ⁹ Purchase Purfevant attending on him, and was present at his Marriage ¹⁰ with the Duke of Burgundy's Niece, in which Year he received f Exit. Pell. m. 18 H. 6. Garteri Regi Armorum missio de avitamento et assensu Consilii Regis versus Comitatum Somerset ad communicandum cum Duce Orliense in Custodia Joh. Stourton Militis ibidem existentis pro Certis specialibus Matris Dominum Regem & Concilium suum moventibus xl.

g 12 Maii 18 H. 6. Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. que a nostre chier & bon ame Garter Roy d'armes, lequel en Certaines noz Messages est en allant vers le Duchesse de Burgogne, vous facez paier xx marcs Priv. Sig. in Officio Pellium.

Exit. Pell. p. 18 H. 6. Garteri Regi Armorum nuper missio in Nuncio Regis versus Ducissam Burgundiam, 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

h Pericula computi Rob. Kollifon Custodis inaque Garderobe a vigilia Sancti Michaelis anno 17 Hen. 7. pro uno anno revoluto. Garter & Clarenceux heredi Armorum ad vesturam suam yemalem faciendam de pann. nurr. & radiat. de dono dicti Domini Regis, viz. utriusque eorum ii ulna coloris long. & iii uln. dim. panni radiati. Lancestre heredi ad vesturam suam yemalem faciendam de pann. nurr. & radiat. per breve 14 Aprilis hoc 17mo anno ii uln. panni coloris long. iii uln. dim. panni radiati.

i In Cod. membran. penes Petr. le Neve Arm. Norroy.

j Priv. Sig. 3 Oth. 19 H. 6. Pource que nostre ame serviteur Jarier Roy d'armes ad este continuellement entendant en nostre service sur les Ambaxiatoiers de l'Archevesque de Coloya, par l'espace de dys semaines a ses propres coullages & expenses, lesquelles amontent a la somme de svs livres, &c.

k 19 H. 6. (in Officio Pellium) le 5 Jour de Novembre, l'an xix a Westminster, estoit accordez par les Seigneurs du Roy, estant en la Chambre des Estroilles, qui suffisent garant soit fait dedoubz le Prive Seal du Roy, direct as Tresoriers & Chamberlains de l'eschequier, de paier xx livres au Garter Roy d'Armes, envoie par Comandement du Roy avec le Duc Orleans pour, son honneur, & en allant par Congie du Roy souz Certain appointement a ses parties propres, et ceo par voie de regards; Present Monsieur le Cardinal, Monsieur le Chancelier et autres. Adam Moleyns.

l Nov. 19 H. 6. (in Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. as Tresorier, &c. Pource que de presentement nous envoions nostre bon ame Serviteur Garter Roy d'Armes avec nostre trescher Cousin le Duc Orleans pour son honneur en allant de presentement par nostre agreement et soubz Certaine appointment en son pais, vous facez paier xx l. See Rymer, vol. 10. p. 828.

m R. H. [The King's sign Manual]. To the King our Sovereign Lord.

Defecteth mekely youre humble Servant Garter King of Armes, that for as muche, as be by youre Comandement, passed the See in youre Service with the Duc of Orleans, in which Viage your seide Servant over the Somme, that ye coumanded him, hath spended 28 l. of the which Somme he standeth endaugered to certain perones beyond the See, as of Borowing the Somme of xliiii l. and ye over xliiii l. he hath laid out of his own Goods: In Consideration whereof, hit pleas unto your most ample and abundant Grace, for to directe your Letters of prive Seal unto your Tresorier of England, charging him for to do, paie, and content your said servant of the said Somme of xliiii l. in redy money without Delay, as by Wey of Reward, and that the said Letters of Prive Seal, be unto your seide Tresorier sufficient Warrant, and your said Servant shall pray God for you.

(Endorsed) 10 die April Anno xix. (Hen. 6.)

Rex apud Baskum suum de Wyndesore Concessit presentem Billam ut petitur, & ultra Concessit infra Supplicanti xx l. pro Viagio quod ipse jam facturus est in partes Francie; et mandavit Custodi privati Sigilli sui desuper fieri facere litteras sub eodem Sigillo in hac parte requisitas, et quod 20 l. predictas habeat supplicans per viam Regandi, presentem Dominum Cancellario.

Adam Moleyns.

10 April 19 H. 6. (in Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. as Tresorier, &c. Pource que n'adairs envoians en nostre Service nostre bien ame Serviteur Garter Roy d'Armes as parties de par de la, avec nostre Cousin le Duc Orleans, a quel nostre Service luy ad convient dependre de ses propres, et par apprompte vynt et oyt livres, comme il nous ad donez a entendre, &c.

n Priv. Sigilli. 6 Apr. 19 H. 6. vous mandons, que au Parcisse le Purfevant, liquel est en allant en nostre Royaume de France en la compaignie de nostre serviteur Garter Roy d'Armes, vous paieez dys marcs.

o See the preceding Note.
p Monsieur Hij. vol. 2. p. 178.

his ^e Winter Habit from the Wardrobe, and attended on the ^j Ambassadors of the Archbishop of Coloiene.

On 29 August, 20 H. VI, he had allowed him for the Costs of his last being abroad in the King's Service, and for the Service that he should do in this his present Journey 100 Marks, and received also one Hundred Marks for his Charges in his last ^g Journey into Forreign Parts, and his Return to the King, and his going again by the King's Command in certain ^b Messages to the Duke of Bretagne and the Duke of Orleans.

In 21 Hen. VI, he sets forth, by ⁱ Petition to the King, that he had been Employed constantly in his Service for one and twenty Months touching Matters about Peace, during which Time he had borrowed 60 l. 6 s. 8 d. which was repaid him, and had xx d. more, being then sent with Letters of Credence and Instructions to the ^k Duke of York Lieutenant of France; and he had an Article inserted in his Credence, about the Grant formerly made by the King of the County of ^l Maine to the Lord Dorset, and he had then a ^m Reward of 20 l. and in the same Year had ^e Liberaciones de magna Garderoba H. 6. fol. 33. a. transcribed in MS. n. iiii. in Mus. Aethiol. Oxon. Garcio et Clarenciensis Regibus Anorum vocatis Heroldis, et vesturam suam yemalem faciendam contra festum natalis Domini, urrique eorum iiii uls. parui iustr. de dono Regis. per literam domantem de privato Sigillo, Dat. 14 Dec. Anno 19. Wyneshore Heroldo ad Vesturam suam Yemalem faciendam contra festum natalis Domini per literam de privato Sigillo 3 Junii, Anno 22.

^f 13 October (19 H. 6.) in Officio Pellium, Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. Pource que par nostre Comandement Especialle nostre Ame Serviteur Jarrier Roy d'Armes ad eesse Continuellement entendant en nostre service sur les Ambaxiatours de l'evesque de Coloya par l'espace de dys semaines a les propres Coustages, lesquelles assouvent a la Somme de fvs livres, que vous facez paier.

^g Acta Concilii 20 H. 6. Cleopatra in Bibl. Cotton f. 5. p. 36. Item, to Garter King of Arms for the Service and Gifts, &c. that he hath done in last bying in the Kings Services, and for the Services that he shall do well in this his going over in the Kings Service C. Marks (29 Aug.) The same is transcribed in 35. C. 19. p. 40. Acta Concilii 20 H. 6. (29 Aug.) in Bibl. Harley.

^h 28 d' Aoust Ann. Vintisine H. VI. (in Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. nous volons de l'avis de nostre Conseil, que a nostre cher & bon ame Serviteur Jarrier Roy d'Armes, liquel mdgairs feust par nous envoiez es Parties de dela & lequel de present soy est retourné devers nous, & par nostre Comandement en Certains noz Messiges est en allant devers noz treschers & tresfame Cousin & Oncle le Duc d'Orleance, & le Duc de Breagne, vous facez paier de nostre Tresore Cent Marks.

ⁱ Exit. Pell. m. 21 H. 6. Garcio Regi Armorum, qui nuper per ipsum Dominum Regem versus partes exteras erat missus, & qui ad presens versus eundem Regem rediit, & per mandatum ipsius Domini Regis in Certis Nunciis suis vestus Castellum Avunculum suum Ducem Britannia & dilectissimum Consanguineum suum Ducem Orliensem iurus est. 66 l. 12 s. 4 d.

^j 7 Feb. 21 H. 6. (in Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. nostre ame Serviteur Jarrier Roy d'Armes par la supplication nous ad suppliez de Considerer, comment il ad eesse occupiez continuellement en nostre service entour la matiere de la paix, par l'espace de vynt et un moys incessamment, deins la quelle temps pur Necessitee lui ad constrainz de cheviliter la Somme de Cestant livres, fvs soulds, et oyt deniers, outre ce que nous lui eussions assignes pur la dite viage, pur la quelle somme nostre dit serviteur est endangeres as divers personnes, a ce qu'il dit, donc nous il ad humblement suppliez, que nous voulons commander lui conter, que vous facez paier, &c.

^k Exit. Pell. m. 21 H. 6. Garcio Regi Armorum, qui per Billam suam Domino Regi supplicavit, ut dignaretur, qualiter ipse Garcio nuper in servicio ipsius Domini Regis continue circa materia Pacis, per spacium xxi mensium incessanter occupatus existit, infra quod tempus dictum Garcio ad Summam 60 l. 6 s. 8 d. mutuandam ----- necessitati constringebat, pro qua summa diversis ut dicitur est deterioratus, in denariis 60 l. 6 s. 8 d.

^l Acta Concilii 21 H. 6. Cleopatra f. 5. p. 66 b. --To Garter, the which goeth with Letters and Credences to my Lord of York Lieutenant of France xli.

^m Acta Concilii, 21 H. 6. Cleopatra, f. 5. p. 75. Instructions given by the King to his Wellbelovd Servant Garter King of Arms for to say on his behalf, unto his right Trusty and right wellbelovd Cousin the Duke of York, Lieutenant General and Governor of France and Normandie.

ⁿ Instructions given by the King our Sovereign Lorde to his Wellbelovd Garter King of Arms, for to say on his behalf, unto his Right Trusty and right wellbelovd Cousin the Duke of York Lieutenant General and Governour of his Realme of France and Duchie of Normandie, 5 Apr. 34 B. 21. Bibl. Harley.

^o 21 H. 6. Cleopatra f. 5. p. 71 b. As that seib my Lord of Dorset, may not have his Letters of the Kings Grante to him made of the Countee of Mayne sealed in France, &c. and touching this Matter the King wol that Garter have an Article in his Credens in the forme desired by my Lord of Somerset.

^p Acta Concilii—Garter shall have 20 l. Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. —que a nostre Chier et bien ame Jarrier Roy d'Armes, liquel nous envoions presentement en nostre Messige avec noz lettres & Instruction a nostre trescher et tresfame Cousin le Duc de York lieutenant General et Gouverneur de noz Royaume de France et Duchee de Normandie, vous facez paier vyngt livres Privat, Sigill. in Officio Pellium 2 March 21 H. 6.

had 40*l.* being sent with the Bishop of Salisbury and Earl of Suffolk, the King's " Ambassadors, about Matters of Peace, and received a Reward for going to the " Duke of Bretagne into that Dutchy, and in July, was sent with the Livery of the Garter to the " King of Arragon, and to the King of Portugal's Uncle, on whom Balante Pursuivant of Portugal attended in that Journey, and was rewarded for it, and having continued ten Months in this Service, he had in 22 Hen. VI. an " Addition of 22*l.* to his former Reward; in which Year he was sent to conduct the Pope's " Embassadour, and was sent with " Commissioners appointed to go into France, and had an Addition of xx*l.* more for that Service upon his " Petition, and was again sent by the King to his " Queen in Company

Exit. Pell. m. 21 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum, quem Dominus Rex ad presens misit in Nuncio suo cum certis Literis et Instructionibus Duci Eborum Locumtenenti Regis Generali ac Gubernatori in Regno suo Francia et Ducatu Normandie directis pro certis Materis in eisdem literis et Instructionibus dictam Regem et Consilium suum moventibus 20*l.*

" (25 d'augst) 21 H. 6. Henri, &c. As Tresorier— a nostre Chier et bien amyve seruiteur Gartery Roy d'Armes, lequel nous envoions presentement en nostre Service, avec ly reverend Pier in Dieu Evêque de Sarthe et nostre trescher et foial Cousin le Comte de Suffolk, et autres Seigneurs, en nostre Ambassade pour la matier de la Pays— quarante livres.

Exit. Pell. P. 21 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum pro dominum Regem ad presens misso in servicio suo, cum venerabili in Christo patre Episcopo Sarum ac Comite Suffolke, quos dictus Dominus Rex mittit in Ambassata sua pro Materis Pacis, &c. 40*l.* Cleopatza, f. 3. p. 110*b.* 21 H. 6. To page to *Garter King of Armes, whom the King with his Letters and Instructions sendeth unto the Duke of Bretagne 20*l.* for his labour and Conspage.*

*Acta Concilii 21 H. 6. Bibl. Harley 34 B. 21— Et there made a Letter to the Tresorer and Chamberlain to delivere to Garter Kyng of Armes, whom the Kyng with his Letters and Instructions sendeth unto, unto the Duke of Brittain 20*l.* for his labour and Conspage.*

In Officio Pell. 19. Julij. 21 H. 6. Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. a nostre chiere et bien ame Garter Roy d'armes, lequel nous Envoyons presentement avec nos lettres et Instruction a nostre treschiere & tresame le Duc de Bretagne en Bretagne vint livres. p. 34 B. 21. in Bibl. Harley— July 21 H. 6. Et there made a Letter to the Wardrobe, commanding him in all goodlie haste to do make into Mantles of Velvet lyned with Sattin with the Garter of St. George, and also that he ordain li Gamme Galbes et li bonds and the Jerrurs of Ermine for them, and delivere hem to Garter King of Armes he to bere and delivere one Robe with a Garter for the Legs of the Kyng of Aragon, and the other to Lynsaic de Henryche of Portugal Unkle to the King of Portugal.

E. Priv. Sigill. in Officio Pellium 22 October 22 H. 6. Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. que au Balance pursuivant a nostre trescher & tresame Frere le Roy de Portyngale, lequel est en allant devers nostre dit Frere, et avec lequel nous envoions presentement a mesme nostre frere le Jerrier & nostre Lieveree de la Jerrier de l'Ordre de St. George vous facez paier dys livres.

Ex. Pell. m. 22 H. 6. Balante pursuivant Regis Portugal qui de Regno Anglie versus dictum Regem profecturus est, et cum quo Dominus noster Rex misit ad presens Garter necnon liberatam Ordinis Sancti Georgii versus Regem Portugal prædictum xl.

9 Exit. Pell. P. 22 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum nuper misso in nuncio Regis versus Regem Portugal 22*l.* quas Dominus Rex eidem pro tantis denariis per ipsum solutus in dicto Nuncio, quo erat occupatus per Spatium decem Mensium de denariis suis propriis ultra quamdam summam eidem Gartero alias liberatam.

r Exit. Pell.

f To the right Christen Kyng our soverain Lord, Befechih most humbly to youre highnesse youre servant Garter kyng of Armes to confidre, it plesyd to youre said highnesse to comaunde hym to gyf his entendance in his service to my Lordes your Ambassadors at this tyme apoynted into France, for the which usage yee comaunded his rewarde, the whiche the getrest portion thereof he hath spenden in the last viage, ye sent him in to my Lord of Orleans, of your benyngre grace to have consideracion, that your befecher shall contene his feid entendance, and of your habundance to comaunde as by way of rewarde for your feid servant, as most shall plesy to youre high noblesse, and this in the waye of Charitee.

[Endorsed.] Quarto die Mensis Februarii, Anno, &c. xxii^o Rex apud Westmonasterium in camera Stellata per adiutamentum Concilii sui concessit supplicanti in presenti billa, quod haberet per viam referendi xx*l.* et mandavit Custodis privati Sigilli sui literas fieri debere sub eodem Sigillo pro guaranto. T. Kent.

In Officio Pellium 4 Feveer (22 H. 6.) Henri, &c. As Tresorier, &c. Pour ceo que nous avons ordenez nostre bien ame Seruiteur Garter Roy d'armes pour aler en nostre Service avec certains noz Comissaires par nous Ordenez, pour aler vers nostre Royaume de France, &c. vous facez paier vint livre.

Exit. Pell. m. 22 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum ordinato ad proficendum in Servicio Regis cum Certis Commissionariis per ipsum Dominum Regem appunctuatis versus Regnum Francia, xl.

r Rymor, vol. 11. p. 52.

" E. privato Sigillo in Officio Pellium, 12 Aug. Anno 22 H. 6. Henri, &c. to the Tresorer, &c.—We wyl by th'advys of our Counsaill that unto our Trusty and Welbelovyd Knights Rob. Roos and Tho. Haw, and to Garter King of Armes, whom we send nowe into our Reaume of France, unto our best beloved wif the Queen, ye deliver in haste for their shipping toward our said Reaume, 26*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*

Priv.

pany of Sir Robert Roos and Sir Thomas Hoo, and in the following Year, was sent to Calice to attend the Ambassadors from France, and received 29 l. which he had laid out in his 3 Journeys to the King of France and the King of Sicily, the King's Father in Law, and was again sent into France with Adam de Moleyns Keeper of the Privy-Seal.

In 24 Hen. VI, he had the Annuity of xx l. from the Fee-Farm of the City of Winchester, granted to him and Agnes his Wife for the Term of their Lives, and the longest Liver of them, and having an Houfe at Kentish Priv. Sig. Hovi, &c. Forasmuche as for diverses causes moving us we send unto our moost deere and bestbeloved wyf the Queene our trusty and welbeloved Garter Kyng of Heralds in the Compaigne of our right trusty and welbeloved Kayghts Robert Roos on of our kervens and Thomas Hoo, we wol and charge you that ye deliver unto the said Garter xx l. &c.

14 Aug. (22 H. 6.) the same Day there is another Privy-Seal to pay the said Knights for their Embassy into France.

In Officio Pellium 14 Aug. (22 H. 6.) another privy Seal there to pay Garter 20 l. by Way of Reward for the Causes abovefaid.

Exit. Pell. P. 22 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum, quem Dominus Rex certis de Causis misit ad presens versus Carissimam uxorem suam in comitiva Roberti Roos militis 20 l.

Exit. Pell. 22 H. 6. Rob. Roos, Tho. Hoo Militibus et Gartero Regi Armorum, quos Dominus Rex misit ad presens versus Regnum Francie Carissimam Consortem suam Regine pro Esquippenmentis suis 40 Marcas.

x In Officio Pell. 14 Juin 23 H. 6. Hovi, &c. As Tresorier, &c. vous mandons que pour les grans labours & dispenses, queux nostre bien Ame Jarreier Roy d'Armes ad eu en la entendence entour les Ambassadeurs de nostre trescher et tresme Pere le Roy de Cecille, mdgrais Envoies devers nous, et Coviendra aveoir en allant vers nostre ville de Calais, pour la attendre la venue des Ambassadeurs de nostre Oncle de France, qui proclument comme sumes ensurmeuz de transporteront devers nous et dalleres Choses faire pur nous a lui comis, vous facez paier vint marcs.

Exit. Pell. P. 23 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum super missio per Dominum Regem versus Gales ad ibidem attendendum super Ambassatores super venientes de partibus France ac Ambassatores Regis Cecilie venientes de partibus exteris versus Regnum Anglie 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

y 6 Apr. (23 H. 6.) Hovi, &c. To the Tresorer, &c. Forasmuche as we in Consideration of the Grete Coltes and Charges, that our Trusty and Welbeloved servant, Garter King of Armes hath been and suteigned in going in oure Messaiges by oure special Comandement unto our Oncle of France, and to oure Fader the King of Croyle into the parties of Lorraine in yi Voyages, the whiche hath caused him to spende in our said service of his own Good, as he faith, we have given unto him 29 l. Priv. Sigill. in Officio Pellium.

z In Officio Pellium, 9 Aug. (23 H. 6.) To the Tresorer, &c. Forasmuche as We at this tyme by th'avis and Assent of Oure Counsaill, for Certaine Causes, that moeve us sende in oure Messaige unto oure Oncle of France our Welbeloved Garter King of Armes in the Compaigne of our Right Trusty and Welbeloved Clerc Maister Adam Moleyns Oure Ambassiatour, and Keeper of our Prive Seal, ye pay 40 marcs.

Exit. Pell. P. 23 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missio versus partes Francie in Nuncio Regis in Comitiva Magistri Adami de Moleyn Custodis privati Sigilli Regis 26 l. 13 s. 4 d.

a Ex Originali in Turre, Memorand. quod 12 die Novembris Istud breve liberatum fuit Cancellerio Anglie extendendum.

Henri by the Grace of God King of England and of France, and Lord of Irland.

To the most Reverend Fadre in God John Archbishop of Canterbury Primat of all Englande and of the Apostolique See Legat, oure Chauncellor Greeting, Forasmuch as William Brugges otherwise called Garter King of Arms - - - oure Graunte by our Letters Patentes beryng Date at Westminster the xxvi day of April in the viith yere of our Reigne xx l. to be taken yerely as long as it plesid - - - termes of Saint Michael and Pasche by even Portions of the Ferme of our Citee of Winchester by the Handes of the Citizens of the same Citee for the tyme - - - in our said Letters more plainly it appiereth, is in wille to restore the same Letters into our Chauncellerie, there to be Cancelled to th'intent that it myght like us - - - unto him and to Agnes his Wyf, the said xl. for terme of their lyyves, We therefore havynge Consideration unto the long and continuell Services that - - - William Brugges otherwise called Garter Kyng of Arms hath donen unto the Kyng ny Lord and Fadre, whom God pardonne, and unto us, and desirith in the tyme to come, have of oure Grace Especiale graunted unto him, and to Agnes his Wyf xx l. to be taken hereby from the Fest of Saint Michael last passed, during theire lyyves and the lyfe - - - either of them longer lyyvynge, at the termes of Epre and Michinasse by even Portions, of the Ferme of our Citee of Winchester by the handes of - - - Citizens of the same Citee for the tyme being, that noo mention is here made of other gifts and Graunts by us or our progenitours made unto the said William Brugges, otherwise called Garter Kyng of Armes, after the fourme of the Statutes in that Behalf made and ordeyned, or any Statute, Act, Ordinance, or restraint made into the contrarye notwithstanding: Well therefore and Charge you that receyved towards you the said Letters Patentes, and them with theyr enrollement in oure said Chauncellerie Cancelled, and adnullid, ye doo myke upon this oure Grant unto the said William Brugges and Agnes his Wyf other oure Letters Patentes undre oure Greete Seal in due fourme. Given undre oure Prive Seal at Westminster the xi day of November the Yere of our Regne xxxiii.

Frank.

Constat de interlacione ipsarum verborum, from the fest of St. Michil last passed, per me

Th. Beaugran.

Pat.

Kentish Town, the King for the better Accommodation thereof, 1 grants hum 20 Foot, to be taken out of the High-Way, in Order to make a Ditch or Pool for Defence of the said House, and that without any Fine for the same: At this Place he is said to have entertained the

Pat. 24 H. 6. p. 1. m. 11. Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem, &c. sciat pro eo quod Wilhelmus Bruges alias dictus Garter Rex Armorum habens ex Concessione nostra per literas nostras Patentes Datum Londonæ apud Westmonasterium, Vicefimo Sexto die Aprilis Anno Regni nostri Septimo, Vingtii libras percipiendas Annuatim, quamdiu nobis placeat, ad terminos Sancti Michaelis & Pasche, per equales portiones de ferma Civitatis nostræ Wintonie, per manus Civium eisdem Civitatis pro tempore Existingum, prout in Literis nostris predictis plenius apparet, in Voluntate existit eandem Literas in Cancellariam nostram restituere, cancellandas, ad effectum, quod nos predictas Vingtii libras eidem Willemo et Agneti uxori eius pro termino Vintie eorundem concedere dignauerimur; Nos proinde quod predictus Wilhelmus Bruges, alias dictus Garter Rex Armorum dictas literas de Concessione predicta Nobis in Cancellariam nostram restituit cancellandas, Consideranteque ditina & Continua Servitia, que prefatus Wilhelmus Bruges alias dictus Garter Rex Armorum, tam carissimo Domino & Patri nostro Regi Defuncto, quam Nobis impendit, & impensum impendere desiderat, de Gratia nostra speciali Concessimus prefato Willemo & Agneti uxori eius Vingtii libras, percipiendas annuatim a festo Sancti Michaelis ultimo præterito, durante vita eorum, & alterius eorum diutius viventis, ad terminos Pasche & Sancti Michaelis, per equales portiones, de ferma Civitatis nostræ Wintonie per manus Civium Eiusdem Civitatis pro tempore Existingum, eo quod expressa merito de aliis Donis & Concessionibus eidem Willemo Bruges alias dicto Garter Regi Armorum per Nos aut Progenitores nostros iuxta formam Statutorum in hac parte factorum, sive Ordinariorum, aut aliquo statuto, actu, ordinatione, sive Restrictione in Contrario factum non existente, non obstante. In cuius, &c. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium 12 die Novembris. Per breve de privato Sigillo, et de Data predicta, &c.

b Memorandum quod istud breve liberatum fuit Cancellario Angliæ apud Westmonasterium vii die Januarii Anno subscripti Exsequendum.

Ex Originali in Turri— Henry by the Grace of God, King of Engelände and France, and Lorde of Irelände, to the most worshipful fader in God John Archebishop of Canterbury Primat of all Engelände, and of th'apostolique See legat, oure Chaunceller greting. Forasmuche as we have understante by a supplication presented unto Us by oure well-beloved Servant William Brugges otherwise called Garter King of Arms, howe he hath billed a place for his habitation in Kentishtown within the Countee of Middlesex, the which place had a Close of the same William thereto longyng lyeth and joineth to oure high Wey betwix London and Heryngy parck, to wiche place and Close fo joyning to oure said Wey Excedeth not in lengthe xxvi Roddes, Every Rodd containinge xvi foot and an half, and oure said high way before the said place, being of the Brede of fourecore foot and more, we have of oure abundant Grace Granted unto oure said servant Parcell of oure said high Wey, that is to saye xx foot in brede, and next adjoyning to his said place, and Close, as far and after the lengthe, as the said place and Close lyeth and Joineth to oure said high Wey, To have and to hold the said Parcell of oure high way to oure said Servant, his heires, and Assignees for ever. And that if it be laful to oure said Servant, his heirs and Assignees to Enclose, and sever the said parcell from oure said high Wey afore specified, and thereof to make a dyche, or a Mote in defence and strengthening of the said place, and Close without any Empechement, fine or Amercement, or any thing yielding to us, or oure heirs for the same parcell, howbeit that Expresse mention is not made herein of other yffers, and Grants maad by us unto oure said Servant, or that the verray yerely value of the said Parcell is not Expresseed herein, or any Statut, Act, or ordonnance in such behalfe heretofore, maad, ordeigned, or provided notwithstanding. Wherefore we woll and Charge you that hereupon yee do make oure Letters patentes undie oure Great Seal in due forme: yeven under our prive Seal at oure Castell of Windsore the xxvii day of December the Yere of oure Reigne xxiii.

Pat. 24 H. 6. p. 2. m. 34. Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem: Sciat quod nos per supplicationem nobis ex parte dilecti servitoris nostri Willemus Brugges alias dicti Garter Regis Armorum nobis exhibitam intelleximus, qualiter ipse quandam mansionem pro habitatione sua in Kentishtown in Comitatu Middlesexie edificavit, quae quidem mansio, et Clausum prædicti Willemi eidem Mansioni pertinens, faceret et abutuntur alia: viz nostrae inter Civitatem Londonensem & parcam de Heryngy, quae Mansio et Clausum viginti et sex Virgas in Longitudine, qualibet Virga sexdecim pedes et dimidium continente, minime excedunt, viae nostrae predicta latitudinem quater viginti pedum, et ultra continente, de abundantia Gratia nostra concessimus eidem Servitori nostro parcellam dictam viae nostrae, videlicet viginti pedes in latitudine proximam mansioni et Clauso prædictis adjacentes, tam procul in longitudine prout Mansio et Clausum predicta viae nostrae predicta iacent et Abutuntur, Habendum et Tenendum prædictam viam nostram prædictam Mansionis et Clausi prædictorum fossatum sive stagnum inde facere, absque Impetitione, Fine, Amerciamento, aut aliquo alio Nolis vel Hæredibus nostris pro eadem Parcella reddendis, eo quod Expressa donis de vero valore parcellae predictae, aut de aliis Donis & Concessionibus per nos eidem Servitori Nostro ante haec tempora factis in presentibus minime facta existit, aut aliquo Statuto, Actu, vel ordinatione in contrarium factum ordinatum, seu provisionem non obstantibus, in cuius, &c. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium vii die Januarii— Per breve de privato Sigillo & de data predicta auctoritate Parlamenti.

c Priv. Sigil. in Turri London. Henry, by the Grace of God King of Engelände and of France and Lorde of Irelände, To the most Reverend fader in God John Archebishop of Canterbury, Primat of alle Engelände oure Chaunceller Gretyng. We wol and charge you, that unto oure well-beloved servant William Brugges otherwise called Garter King of Armes ye make to be deliverted oure letters patentes, remanyng in oure harapert, withoute fyn, or fee to oure use, taking, Eny restraint or Comaundement made to the contrary notwithstanding, by the which the Emperor Sigismund, ^d which if true, must be done before he was Garter.

And 19 July, was sent with the Bishop of Chichester, and the Lord Dudley the King's Ambassadors, when the Ratification of the Treaty, between the Kings of England and France, was delivered to the Maister of Requests of the King of France by ¹ Garter King of Armes. In this Year he received 29 l. for his Costs in going with 5 Messages to the King of France, and the King of Sicily in Lorain, as in ^b Michaelmas Term 13 l. 6 s. 8 d. for going to the King of France with certain Letters and Instructions, and in Easter Term, first 40 Marks being sent with the Ambassadors, and then 13 l. 6 s. 8 d. being sent with ² Lettres to the King of France.

In 25 Hen. VI, he was paid with Coler Purfevant 40 l. for his Attendance on the King's Ambassadors into France, at which Time he was present at the Duels between ^m John Chalons an Englishman, and Louis du Beul a Frenchman, before the Kings of France and Sicily, the Dukes of Orleans, Bretagne, and several others; and when the latter insisted to know if the Englishman had any Right to the Arms he displayed, and though the Duke of Orleans verified the same, yet the King would not be satisfied till Garter had certified more at large the Nobility and Gentry of this Chalons, who at length killed the Frenchman at the sixth Course: On 25 July ⁿ following he received 25 l. expended by him in his being oure Letters we granted unto him, and his Heires, a parcel of our high way before his place in Kentisam in the Countie of Middlesex betwixt London and Haringey parck. Yeven under oure prive Seal at oure Castell of Wyndesore the xx day of Aprill the Yere of oure Reigne xxxiii.

^d See above, p. 322.

^e Acta Concilii 19 Julie 24 H. 6. 34 B. 31. Bishop of Chichester, and Lord Dudley the King's Ambassadors, Garter to go with them, and a Purfevant: Garter shall have for his going as he had for his last, and Coler shall have as he had before. Bibl. Harley.

Priv. Sig. xx of Julij 24 H. 6. to the Clerk of the Exchequer to pay the Bishop of Chichester and Lord Dudley, whom we now send in our Ambassage to oure Uncle in France.— And to Garter King of Heraldes, the which goeth with oure said Ambassadors in the said voyage xl. marcs of oure renarde, and also to Coler Purfevant that goeth with hem v. marcs, and also to Leon d'or a purfevant that goeth with hem in the said voyage Cs. of record.

By the Way, the Arms of this Lord were Or, a Lion rampant Vert, and this Leon d'or Purfevant is expressly said to be his Officer, and to have been present at the Duel at oultrance between Chalons and Du Bueil, in the King of France in 1446. F. 3. penes me, p. 55. See 24 B. 9. p. 9. in Bibl. Harley.

^f L'Histoire Chronologique du Charles VII. bound up with Chartier, p. 428.

1445 Le Roy de France renvoya devers le Roy de Angleterre son neveu, Maistre Guillaume Cousin et Conseiller & Maistre des Requetes de son hostel, & Jean Hauart Roy Vailet trenchant, lesquels confermerent les dites Tresves jusques au Mois d'Avril. Et apres le retour d'iceux le Roy d'Angleterre, renvoya Forretiere son Roy d'Armes devers le Roy de France, lequel apporta lettres Patents du Roy d'Angleterre, coment il promittoit en parole de Roy d'estre & venir deca la mer, pour traiter du bien de la Paix & de Convenir & Conclure avec le Roy de France dedans le premier Jour de Novembre prochainement venant. Vide Rymer, vol. 11. p. 123. Montrelet, vol. 3. p. 3.

^g Exit. Pell. m. 24 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum pro Custibus in eundo in Nuncio Regis versus Avunculum suum de France, & etiam versus Regem Cecilia in partibus de Lorain 29 l.

^h Exit. Pell. m. 24 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missis ad presens versus Avunculum Regem de Francia cum certis Literis & Instructiõibus dicto avunculo suo directis 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

ⁱ 22 Dec. 24 H. 6. (in officio Pellium) Henri, &c. To the Treasurer, &c. Forasmuche as we send at this tyme our truste and Wellbeloved Garter King of Armes with certain Letters and Instructions unto our Oncle of France, ye pay xl. marcs.

Exit. Pell. P. 24 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missis cum Ambassiatoribus Regis versus Avunculum suum de Francia in persequentiem xl. marcarum.

^k Exit. Pell. P. 24 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum numer missis per Donatum Regem cum certis Literis & Instructiõibus ipsius Domini Regis Avunculo suo de Francia directis 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

^l Exit. Pell. m. 25 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum & Coler Purfevant, quos Dominus Rex misit ad presens cum Ambassiatoribus suis supradictis versus Avunculum suum Francia xl marcs. i. e. cum Johanne Domino de Dudley & Episcopo Cicestriz.

^m 34 B. 9. in Bibl. Harley, p. 9. In F. 3. penes me, p. 35. is not only the Narrative in a Contemporary Hand, but all the Feats of Arms are painted.

ⁿ Exit. Pell. P. 25 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum xl l. viz. 25 l. pro tantis denariis de Bonis propriis per ipsum expensis nuper missum cum Ambassiatoribus Regis versus partes Franciae, & 20 l. pro eo quod ad presens versus partes Exteras cum Ambassiatoribus Regis profecturus est.

lately with the King's Ambassadors in France, and 20 l. more being given thither again with the King's Ambassadors, by whom he was sent to the Dauphin, in which Journey he was Employed for six Months.

In Michaelmas Term, 26 Hen. VI, he had 8 l. more than his ^p former Reward for that Attendance, and 26 l. 13 s. 4 d. for his ^q Expences for his present Message, with Letters to the King of France, having Blew-mantle then to wait on him, and in Easter Term following was sent with ^r Instructions to the King's Ambassadors, then in Foreign Parts, and with Letters to the King of France; in which Year William Godying grants to him ^s an yearly Rent; and in 27 H. VI, had brought over ^t Articles from the Duke of Somerfet Lieutenant General of France, to which Answers were given; he was again sent in ^u November with Letters to the King of France, in which he expended more Money than had been advanced to him, which was ^x reimbursed to him, and returned the same Year o 24 July 25 H. 6. (in officio Pellium) Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c. We have understande by the Supplication of our Trusty and Welbelovéd Garter King of Armes, how by oure Comandement he hath entred in Oure Service upon our Ambassatours last sent from us unto oure Oncle of France, during their abiding there, and after their Expedition he was sent by them unto oure Cousin the Dauphin unto his Lordship of the Dauphiny, with suche our Letters and Charge, as our said Ambassatours had from us unto the same oure Cousin, if he had ben with oure Oncle his father. In which Viage the said Garter hath been occupied vi Moneths, and hath spended over the Reward to him by us assigned for the saide Voiage xxv l. of his owne, &c.

p 12 July 25 H. 6. Ye deliver unto our trusty and welbelovéd Garter King of Armes, which we — — — late in France with oure Ambassatours, yat we send yedre, and spend of his owne goods xxv l. over yat yat we hadde rewarded him for his saide going xxv l. of oure yist— And also to Chesler the Herald for his attendance to the Ambassatours of France nowe being in this our Reume xx l. of oure yist, and also to the abovesaid Garter xx l. for his going over with the saide Ambassatours: And also to Chesler the Herald xx marc. for his going and attendinge nowe over see with our Ambassatours, &c.

q 14 Nov. 26 H. 6. (in officio Pellium) Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c.— We late you wite that we having in Consideration, how that by our Comandement our Trusty and welbelovéd Servant Garter King of Armes hath attended upon our Ambassadeurs, that we last sent to oure Oncle of France, where over the Rewards assigned to him he hath spent viii l. &c.

Ex. Pell. m. 26 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum, qui ex Mandato Regis attendebat circa Ambassiatores ultimos missos versus Avunculum Regis de Francia viii l. pro tantis denariis per ipsum de bonis propriis expenditis, ultra Regardum sibi per Dominum Regem pro eadem causa factum.

r 27 Janu. 26 H. 6. (In Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c. Forasmuch as at this tyme We send our Trusty and Welbelovéd Garter King of Armes in Oure Message with certeine oure letters unto our Oncle of France, ye do pay xl marcs, and also unto Blew-mantell oure Pursivant going and awaying upon the said Garter in the said Vyage ye pay x marc.

Exit. Pell. m. 26 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum, quem Dominus Rex missit ad prefens in Nunciis suis cum Certis Literis versus Avunculum suum de Francia 26 l. 13 s. 4 d.

Exit. Pell. m. 26 H. 6. Blew-mantell Pursivant proficiscenti & attendenti cum predicto Gartero in Viagio predicto 6 l. 13 s. 4 d. r 17 Aug. 26 H. 6. (in Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c.— Forasmuch as we send at this tyme our Welbelovéd Servant Garter King of Armes with certain Instructions and Letters unto our Ambassatours over the See, and also with Letters unto our Oncle of France and other places ye pay l. marc.

Exit. Pell. P. 26 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missio cum certis Instructionibus & literis Ambassiatoribus ipsius Domini Regis in partibus exteris existentibus, et etiam cum literis Avunculo Regi in Francia, & aliis directis 33 l. 6 s. 8 d.

f Claus. 26 H. 6. m. 29. Willielmo Godying concessit Willielmo Brigges alias dicto Gartero Regi Armorum, &c.

t Ox. Orig. in Officio Pellium— Here followen Th'answers unto Th'articles which Garter King of Armes declared by way of Credence unto the King our Sovereign Lord, and my Lords of his Council, on the Behalfe of the High and Mighty Prince my Lord the Duke of Somerfet, the Kings Lieutenant General of his Reume of France, and Duches of Normandy and Guyenne, and other my Lordes the King's Ambassatours nowe being in thoo parties, &c. 30 Off. 27 H. 6.

u 19 Nov. 27 H. 6. (in Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c.— unto our Welbelovéd Servant Garter King of Armes, whom we send at this tyme with certain Letters and Credence unto oure Oncle of France, ye do pay for his Costs 20 l.

Exit. Pell. m. 27 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missio ad prefens cum literis, & aliis Creditentis Regi avunculo ipsius Domini Regis in Francia 20 l.

Exit. Pell. m. 27 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum nuper missio cum certis Literis Regis versus avunculum suum de Francia in persolucionem, 16 l. 13 s. 4 d.

x In Officio Pellium— To the Right Cristen Kyng our Souverain Lord.

Tour Highnesse most humble Servant Garter King of Armes to Consider, that from your said Highnesse, he was comanded but late with your Letters and Message— France, for the which Message Servinge, to him was Comanded your Reward, over

Year from thence with ³ Columbers Pursuivant, with Letters from the King of France.

And on the 12th of Febr. 28 H. VI. (1449) he made his ^c Will, inserted in the Margin, desiring he might be buried in the Midst of the Choir over the whiche Reward, in the Viage your seid Servant hath dispended of his owne ——— your benigne Grace please it to your right high Excellence to Command, that Letters of Prive Sell and guarant direct to your Tresorer of England He to recompence ——— your seid Servant of the feid Some, and this in wey of Charitee 20 Martii Anno 27 (H. 6.)

20 March. 27 H. 6. (in officio Pellum) Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c. — Forsmoche as late ago we sent oure welbelovyd Servant Garter King of Armes, with certain oure Letters unto oure Oncle of France; in which Joutnee, he hath spende of his own Good (as he saith) over such rewarde, as was assigned unto him for that Cause 16l. 13 s. 4 d. and we willing his Contentement in this behalf, &c.

29 July 27 H. 6. (in Officio Pellum) Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c. Forsmoche as late ago oure welbelovyd Servant Garter King of Armes payed on our behalf unto our Columber Pursuivant comyng towards us with Messaige from our Oncle of France the Some of v. marcs, ys paye him.

Exit. Pell. P. 27 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum 5 marc. propter Domini Regis Columbers Pursuivant venientem versus dictum Dominum Regem cum certis Nunciis ab Avunculo suo de Francia, in denariis sibi liberatis, quas idem Rex dicto Gartero liberare mandavit pro tantis denariis per ipsum solutis dicto Columbers 60 s. 8 d.

E. Regis Stafford Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis, p. 137 — In the name of the Fader, Son, and holy Gost hit persons in the ——— Tyme, and on sole God. Y William Brages otherwise Cleped Garter King of Armes, in my right and in my fresh Mynde, through the inspiration of the holy gost, the Thursday the xxvi day of Febrer the Yere of our Lord God MCCCCXLIX, and the Yere of the Reigne of the King Henry the sexte the xxviii, I make this my present Testament and last Will, as for first and formost Y bequethe my Soule to the gret Mercy of oure Lord God Jesu, that suffred payne and passion of his gret mercy to bring my wretched Soule from the Carnal payne and dampnation to the eternal blisse, and redemption, and to that gret mercy Y to be brought Y besече our blessed Lady Maiden and Wyf, that she of her gret grace and Goodnes like and please to be mean and Inmediatrice. And also I besече al the Glorious Seyntes and Seyntesses in heaven, that they for thayre glorious Martyrdoms and Goodneses pray to Almighty God, that so Y may find, and have also yf it be possible my body to be brought and buried in the Church of Seynt George within Stannford, there to be buried in the myddes of the Quere of the said Church; To the which said Church Y bequeath a gret halywater Scope of Sylver with a Staffe bernate, the said bernate and Staf weyng twenty Nobles in plate and more. Item, to the said Church Y bequethe a peyre of Confours of sylver, with a Ship of Sylver for Frankincense, and one Spone in the same Ship of Sylver. Item, I bequethe to the said Church a little hand bell of sylver of the greenesse of a scyring bell. Item, I bequethe to the same Church a little round Cofyn of Sylver Closed in syngyng bred, and not the hofte. Item, Y bequethe to the said Church for their solempne fest dayes, to stande upon the high awter two grette basyns of sylver, and two high Candlestykkes of sylver. Item y bequethe to the said Church One Coupe of Sylver, in the which is one litel box of yvory to put in the blessed Sacrament, and to hang over the high awter when the said Chauncell and redy Closed and ——— round about. Item y bequethe to the said Church a gret Chalice overgilt of the Weight of C. to serve for their solempne festes. Item y bequethe to the said Church one hole sute of Vestmyntes of Russet Velvet, one Coupe, Chesible, Diarones for Deacones with the awbes and panetes, and two case corporassies of the same sute of Vestmyntes. Item I bequethe another hole sute to the said Church of Seynt George of black Velvet, one Chesible diarones for decones or Pres of white Clothe of gold powdered with Garter, and two Case Corporassies. Item Y bequethe and ordeyne, that the gret frame, that Y have lying in the gret berne in my place at Kenilston, that it be sold to the most value, and the money rising therof to be bestowed upon the Complethyng and ending of the said Church of Stannford, that is to be understand, in Coveryng with lede, glassyns, and making of pleyn desques, and of a pleyn Haddell, and in payng of the said Church nouze. Curiously, but pleynly, and in payng of as the hole Church body and quere with brode Holland Tyle. Item Y bequethe to the said Church of Seynt George a Solempnite of Array for the Fest of Corpus Christi, oon partie wrought in the plate of sylver and over gilt, and that other in tymbre, to be born between the Decon and Subdecon, the Tymbre is peynted and overgilt with fyne Gold, and for every signe of the passion an Augell beryng the Signe of the Crosse, and of the Crowne of thorn, another Augell beryng the pillour and the scourges, another Augell beryng the Spere, and the Sponges, another Augell beryng the remnant of the signes of the passion; and in the Middell of the foratorye a gret round black Corver, and one peynted with gold and asure, and paynted with Stertes of Gold. In the myddell of that round blok for a gret Coupe of sylver and overgilt to stand one upon a Pynne of tre, and in the said Coupe a litte box of sylver and overgilt to put in the Sacrament. This gret Coupe, and the litte togedir first to be set upon the gret blok of tre, a gret Crown of sylver and overgilt garnished with Stones, Clepyd Dublets redde, blue, grene, and yellowe, and the said Crown garnished with Counterferte Perles made of sylver, The Crown of the Weight of C. This Crown first to be set upon the gret round blok of tre, and thanne upon the pynne standyng in the said blok to be set the said grette Coupe of Sylver and overgilt, the said Coupe to be Crowned withoute with a small Croune ordeyned redy therefore. Item I bequethe to the said feretorye a tabernacle wele y wrought of sylver, and overgilt of the Weight of v. marcs, or thereabouts, goyng with a byll to be set on high upon the Coupe, and above upon the Poynt of the said Tabernacle a litte Crosse of Sylver, and overgilt going also by a Vice, all this Plate that length to the Fest, that is to say of Corpus Christi, yf myn Executors feynyn, that it should be in more lute

Choir of the Church of St. George in Stamford, to which he gives many Legacies, and among others, a Suite of Black Velvet of St. George powdered with Garters, mentions his Chapel at Kentish-town, and gives some Vestments to a Chapel in the Church at Sandwich. In the Windows of this St. George's Church at Stamford, were formerly the Effigies of the first Founders of the Garter, and of the Knights Companions in the Time of this Bruges, whereof that of the Sovereign and three others now remain.

In an old Manuscript (after the List of the Fees paid Bruges Garter) he is there said to have "Festyd the Imperour Sigismund at his owne howle at Kentish-town and bylded the Church of St. George in Stamford for the more part, and gave thereto also many oder gret yestys and anorements, and to lodir Churches he gave gret yestys as Copys and Weltimentz and lyeth buryed at Stamford."

He died, as appears by the Probate, before the 20th of March 1449, and his Son in Law John Smert succeeded him in this Office on the 28th, as appears from a Privy-Seal hereafter mention'd.

Thus died this excellent Herald, (which honourable ^b Testimony is given him by the King in a Record after his Death, in Reference doubt-

Garde of the Paryshors of the Chirche of oure Lady of Stamford, Y wold it should vest, and abide in the Garde of hem, and within there Tresour, And atte the day of the Fest of Corpus Christi, hit to followe the Sacrament of the said Chirche of our Lady, if it please the Paryshors of the said Chirch, onlesse thanne they will have it serve for both. Item Y ordeyne and bequethe, that the two Chapells of our Ladye and Seynt George within the said Chirch of Seynt George be closed with Estrich Corde, and Clerg freyed after such quantite as the Closure of pleyn borde there now Containeth, and to the said Chappell of our Lady I bequethe two Images of our Lady, and Seynt George, being in peynted Stone, and in my Chappell at Kensington. And to the same Chappell of our Lady of Stamford y bequethe my grette Candlestykkes of Lyon, that standen in my Chappell at Kensington. Item I bequethe to the said Chirch of St. George of Stamford the Ymage of the Trinite of Stoon standing in my Chappell of Kensington, with the branche of Laton for three Lights according thereto, it to be sett upon a foot of Stone higher thanne the heddes of the ymages of oure Lady and Seynt George. Item I bequethe the saide small Candlestykkes standing in my Chappell at Kensington to the new Chappell of oure Lady now in makinge in the same Towne. And as for the seyde three Ymages of Stone, that is to say, the ymages of the Trinite, oure Ladie, and Seynt George y wold have made for eiche of them a gret Coffin of Elmyne borde, the seid ymages to be nayled in fast, stuffed with hey, and so carried at my Cost unto Stamford, and set up in the said Chirch of St. George. Item the two lefs Candlestykkes to be fet upon the awter of our Lady in the said Towne of Stamford, and there to serve brennyng from the begynnyng of the Gospel unto the tyme that the Prest have used upon my Cost as my good Will suffice, to Continue it every taper of half a pound wight. And every day a Masse to be saied of oure Lady. Item y ordeyne and wold, that the two gretter Candlestykkes beyng in my said Chappell at Stamford, that they serve in the Chappell of oure Lady of Stamford, that on to stand upon the Ground afore the ymage of oure Lady, and that other afore the ymage of Seynt George in the same Chappell, and for eche of these Candlestykkes to be ordeyned a taper of Wax of one pound weight, and so served to be lighted atte dyvnye Service atte principal Fest Dayes, and at other solemne fest, as at Maryns, pyne, Masse, and the two Even Songs. Item I bequethe and Ordeyne to the saide Chirch of Seynt George of Stamford a little Coffie standing bounden with plate of yren full of Vestments, except on Vestment yf it be therein, and that is of black Satyn ground figured with rede Velvet, the Orfryes wrought with the Needle with ymages, the which said Vestment y wold it serve for oure Lady Chappell in Stamford only. Item y Ordeyne and bequethe to the Chappell of our Lady in Seynt Mary Chirch at Sandwich an half long gown of purpell Velvet furred with martrons, of that to be made a Cheffle with the parures, and with the furre to be bouzt and ordeyned the Orfryes lyke to the Orfryes of the single vestment of black Satyn lyned with rede Velvet. And yf the said furre of Martrons wol not suffice to ordeyne the said Orfryes, myn Executors to put to such money, as they may have of myn to the percomplyng of the saide Orfryes, and to ended to be delivered to the said Chirch. Item y bequethe to the said Chappell of oure Lady in Seynt Mary Chirch of Sandwich the Chalice of Sylver, and overgilt, that my Wyf hath and myn Executors to make for the same Chalice two small Netts of Sylver, and overgilt of the price of xx s. and thanne my wyf to send it to the said Chirche. The Residue of my Goodes after my Dettes payed, I geve and bequethe to Annet my Wyf. And this my testament Y make and Ordeyne the same Annet my wyf principal Executrice, Tho. Haddon her Brother coexecutour to her, and Maister Gremet Denison Clerik Overfeer of the same my Testament, that they ordeyne and dispose for my Soule, as they shall seme best to the please of God, and to the profite of my Soule. Yeven at London the day and Yere abovesaid.

Probatum coram Domino apud Lameth xii mo die Mensis Martii A. D. MCCCLXXIX. Commisarius fuit Administratio Executoribus in dicto Testamento nominatis.

a E. Manuscripto Vetusto penes Ducem de Montague, p. 79 b.

b See ibi Patent to his Successor in this Office.

less to his Personal Abilities and Talents in Business, beyond the common Standard of other Heralds, and not in Respect of the Office only, full of Years, having been Garter above 30 Years, and an Officer of Arms about 52 Years, from the Time he was made Chester; and if he served, according to the Usage of that Age, seven Years before as a Purse-bearer, he must be very old at his Death, and from his constant Employments in the Service of the Publick, even to the last Period of his Life, it appears he enjoyed great Health and Vigour.

The Pictures of him and his Lady kneeling, with the Pourtraictures of three Daughters behind them, were heretofore in a Window of the Chapel founded by him at Stamford, whereof there was a Draught taken before the Glass was broken, and he is the Person represented (as 'tis supposed) in the Posture of Devotion to St. George, by the Type in Mr. Ashmole's ^d History.

His Lady survived him, and doubtless enjoyed the Pension for her Life, to whom Thomas Ive and others entred into a Recognizance in 31 H. VI, and having in the 33d Year made over her Goods to John Smert her Son in Law the succeeding Garter, there happened divers Suits in Chancery between them after the Death of her Daughter ^l Katherine whom he had married, till at Length he ^e reconveys them back to her again: The Proceedings are abridged in the Margin, because he is stiled only John Garter without c D. 3. penes me, p. 53.

d Ashmole's History of the Garter between, p. 642,
and 643.

e Claus. 31 H. 6. m. 20. dorso— Tho. Ive, & alii tenentur Agneti, quæ fuit uxor Willi. Brugges alias dicti Garter nuper Regis Armorum.

f Billa in Cancellaria in Turre London.

To the Right Noble and Gracious Lord the Erle of Salisbury Chauceller of England, Besechith mekely your Contrynnell Oratour Agnis Brugges late the Wyfe of William Brugges otherwise called William Garter sometyne Kyng of Arms, that whereas your said besechir was taken with a Grete Infirmite, of the which your said besecher wened to have died, at the which tyme she was in purpouse to make her Testament, &c. Thereupon oon John Smert nowe called John Garter Kyng of Arms, which at that tyme hadde wedded oon Katherine daughter of your said besechir nowe ded, came to your besecher saying by words of pleasure, Moder, if ye make your Testament yn manner and forme as ye are purposed to doo, it shall never take Effecte ne be Execute, &c. for your brother Thomas Haddon, which is Coexecutor with you of your said husbandes Testament will take and occupie as well your propre godes, as the goodes of your said husband your Testator, wherfor, Moder, I counsell you to make a Deed of Gyft of your Good, which she did to William Venour Warden of the Fleet, and to the said John Smert whereon the said John Smert divers Goodes mentioned in the Schedule claymes and keeps as his own propre Goodes, &c.

Schedule. Theys been the Goodes, which wer William Brugges otherwise called William Garter Kyng of Arms.
Fyrtle two Cotes of the Kyng's Armes [rice xiii. viii. viii d. &c.

In Turre London. This is the Replication of Agnis late wife of William Brugges otherwise called William Garter late Kyng of Arms to the Answer of John Garter King of Arms.

As to the first Article of the Answer of the said John, wherein as he confesseth that he Counselled the said Agnis to make a Gyfte of her goodes to suche persons as she trust unto, the which—Agnis by the same Councell made a Gyft of all her goodes to William Venour Warden of the Fleet, and to the said John Garter— to the use of the said Agnis, and to thentent, to fulfill as welle the Wyll of the said Agnis, as the Wyll of the for-said William Brugges late her husband, wherfore the said Agnis prayeth, that the said John Garter may be Coarted to make a Gyfte ayeen of all the Goodes and Chartels to the said Agnis: And furthermore, whereas the said John Garter furniseth in his said Answer, that after the Death of the said William Brugges, and before the said Gyfte, that he should gyf to the said John Garter 2 Cotes of the Kings Armes— the said Agnis saith, that after the dethe of the said William Brugges, He came to the said Agnis, and desired to borrowe of her two Coates of Armes, at such tyme, as he was new elyte to the same Office of King of Armes, that the said William Brugges had, and was not prowey'd of such Cotes of Armes, as longth to the said Office, And for Consideration that he had wedde her daughter, she sent them only, but did not give them, &c.

She saith, that after the dethe of the said William Brugges, late her husband, at such time as Kathryn her daughter late wyf to the said John lay ske, she sent a bedyrbud and a Pelaw, &c.

g Claus. 35 H. 6. m. 9.— Omnibus, &c. Johannes Smert alias dictus Johannes Garter Rex Armorum Salutem. Cum Agnis nuper uxor Willielmi Brugges alias dicti Willielmi Garter Regis Armorum per quoddam scriptum dederit mihi omwithout his Surname: This Agnes was, (as appears in her Husband's Will) Sister to William Haddon.

His Arms were Ermine, a Cross Ermines Square pierced of the Field, which still remain in one of the Windows in St. George's Church in Stamford, Empaling Sable, a Chevron between three Wolve's Heads Coupé Argent, Collar'd Or. In the Top of the same Window were his Arms, formerly furrounded with a Towell, wherein was a Word or Motto, that Mr. Thime Lancaster Herald could not read in his Time.

As this Person filled this Post with Sufficiency, so this Employment was at that Time a Place of considerable Revenue: The Royal Founder indeed died without making any Settlement upon him, but his Successor by two Patents granted Sixty Pounds yearly, and though it might be interpreted a Breach of Decency to compare these Annuities with the Salaries then given to Officers in high Stations, yet to make an Estimate of the Value of Money in that Age, it can be no Offence to refer to the Stat. 2 H. 5. c. 2. where the Summ of Nine Marks is the utmost that is allowed for a competent Portion to a Parish Priest or Vicar. The annual Pensions first settled upon him by the Companions were intended to be only temporary, and to cease when a sufficient Provision should be made by the Crown for his Support; but from the Continuance of the Payment of these annual Pensions to him after these two Grants from the Crown, we may collect that the Companions esteemed these two Annuities not adequate for his Maintenance answerable to the Dignity of his Office. He had Robes annually delivered to him, and received his Diet in the Household in the honorary Degree of Baron Service, and was allowed there a limited Number of Servants and Horses. These were certain Incomes and Allowances, but the contingent occasional Profits and Largeesses might surpass them besides the Fees for Installations, and other Transactions in the Order; for we find him frequently in Embassies, and carrying Messages to Foreign Princes, and attending on our Embassadors abroad, or upon Foreign Embassadors sent hither; and in all those Cases he was not only paid by the Crown, according to the Number of Dayes he was thus employed, but according to the generous Customs of that Age was also rewarded by the Foreign Princes, to whom he was thus sent: It was the Magnificence of those Times to make ample Gifts to the Officers of Arms, and even to those who brought Defiances or challenged a Time and Place of Battel. There were occasional Fees due to these Officers, as well in Times of War as Peace, in some of them Garter had a separate Fee to himself, and in others participated in a Dividend with the Whole Fraternity: In Foreign Wars they all had stated Liveries and daily Wages according to their Degrees, and in Civil Commotions or Rebellions had large Perquisites; they received Droicts for the first displaying of Banners, and were rewarded by the Generals of the adverse Party, to whom they carried Messages, and frequently by the Towns which they summoned.

nia & Singula bona sua Mobilia, &c. Noveritis me prefatum Johannem Smeri alias dictum Johannem Garter Regem Armorum per presentes dedisse prefate Agutte Bruges omnia bona predicta 13 Edw. 3. H. 6.

Ed. 3. p. 65. me, p. 33.

In Times of Peace they not only were paid for their Attendance on all Solemn Ceremonies and Festivals at Home, but were often sent abroad upon such Occasions, where they received large Gratifications. They had Fees from the Sovereign for his and the Queen's Coronation, upon his Marriage, and of all the Royal Family, for their Christnings, the Churching of the Queen, for the Knighthood of the Sovereign, and of all the Sons of the Royal Family, for their Attendances at the great Festivals of the Year, and whenever the King kept his Estate Royal, or wore his Crown; for the King's Entry into Towns in his Progresses, for Solemn Cavalcades and Triumphs, for the Interviews and Congresses of Princes, as also for the Funerals of their Sovereigns, and the Obsequies which were formerly observed for Foreign Princes; and they received Fees also from the Nobility upon their Creations, as well from the Crown; for the Introductions of Lords into Parliament, even when the Title came to them by Descent; on their Marriages, the Christnings of their Children, and Churchings of their Ladies; for all the several Degrees of Knighthood, when the highest Nobility at that Time esteemed it their greatest Honour to have Knighthood conferred on them; for the performing of Homages, and upon all Jufts, Tilts, and Turnaments, as well from the Crown as the Tilters, for the Funerals of the Nobility and Gentry, for Grants of Arms, which three latter Articles were formerly very beneficial.

II. John Smert the Second Garter was a Norman by Birth, tho' ^k Hall saith otherwise; but he is certainly mistaken, for Philip de Comines, a contemporary Witness and well acquainted with him, ought to be fully credited in this Particular: He was Guyenne [Herald] and Son [in Law] to Bruges-Garter, at whose Death, being beyond Sea by the King's Command with the Dutchess of Burgundy, upon his Return, he ^m petitions the King for the Place of Garter, which was granted him by the Title of ⁿ Rex Armorum de Gartera, ⁱ Stow's Annals, ad 14 E. 4.

^k Hall's Life of E. 4. p. 38.

^l Comines l. 4. c. 5. p. 214.

^m 28 March (28 H. 6.) In Offic. Pell.

To the King our Sovereign Lorde.

Besechith mekly to your Highnesse, your most humble Servant John Smert otherwise called Guyen your Heraude, that whereas now late he being in your Service beyonde the See, by the Commandement of your Highnesse, charged with your Letters unto the Noble Princeesse your Cosyn the Duchesse of Burgoyne, his Fader Garter your Servaunt the King of Armes, whos Soule God assoile, died, the which was to the right grete hinderyng and hurt of your said besecher, because of his Absence, withoute your more special Grace, wherefore please hit your high and Noble Grace Considering the long and Contynull Service, that his said Fadir Garter hath doon unto your Highnesse, and to your Noble Progenitours, Kinges of Noble mynde, and for the Service, that your said Bisecher hath, and shall doo to You Sovereain Lorde with Goddes Grace in tyme comyng, to Cree and to graunte to your said bisecher the Name and Office of his said Fader of the Garter with such Fee, as shall seme unto your Highnesse Conveyent by th' advice of the Lordes of your Counsaile, after the Merites and desertes of your said bisecher, At the Reverence of God, and in Way of Charite. And your said Bisecher shall pray to God for You.

(Endorsed.) Cum Dominus Noster Rex creverit, & Creaverit infrascriptum Supplicanem in Regem Armorum de Gartera ut inferius specificatur, reservando taxationem feodi dicti Officii discretioniibus Dominorum de Consilio suo xxviii Marcii Anno, &c. xxxviii. in Palatio Westmonasterii, Idem Dominus Rex per avifamentum Concilii sui taxavit dictum feodum ad xx libras, percipiendas annuatim per dictum Supplicanem pro termino Vitæ sue, apud Receptam Scaccarii ejusdem Domini nostri Regis apud Westmonasterium, per Manus Thesaurarii & Camerariorum ibidem pro tempore Existentium ad Festa Pasche & Sancti Michaelis, per æquales portiones, presentibus Dominis Cancellario, Cantuariensi, Wintoniæ, Elien. Cromwell, Duddeley. & aliis.

T. Kent,

ⁿ Rymer, Vol. 11. p. 263. — Par. 28 H. 6. p. 2.
^o 25. Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem. Sciat is quod cum non novum esse consuet, set jam in-de

ters, with the Salary of 20*l.* yearly by reason of that Office, to be paid at the Receipt of the Exchequer. In a Manuscript he is said to have been a most sufficient Lawyer in Westminster-Hall, and thence made Garter, being no Officer of Arms before, but the latter is certainly a Mistake.

This Smeert was probably the Person, who the Year before, by the Title of Guyen Herald, was sent the King's Ambassador into Foreign Parts, and afterwards into Scotland, and in the Beginning of the 28th Year of Hen. VI. went with the King's Letters into the North, and attended there on some Ambassadors, and then sent to the Dutchess of Burgundy, who likewise paid a Reward given by the King to Columber's Purfevant.

Being thus constituted Garter, on the 3d of April 28 H. 6. he was on the 16th of that Month sent to the King of Scots, in which Year he granted Arms to one Mille, and in 29 H. VI. was twice sent to the Sea Coast to expect the Arrival of Earl Douglas of Scotland, in his Return de al' aliquis utitur, ut inter ceteros, quos lateribus Principum pro eorum Gloria & Magnificencia Officiales & Secretarios adhibere decet, in minoribus quam prudentissimam adhibere eorum esse consilio debent, quibus Artium in Officiis cura atque labor committitur. Inter Constantibus itaque nobis dato system per Gregorium Heraldum Garterum Artium Regem nuntiare Tributo de Perfona cui Officium illud merito graderet, in Medium illico profuerunt fidelia illa, & non minus obsequiosa servavit per dilectum nobis Guillelmum Smeert Guyene vulgariter nuntiarum Heraldum Artium, illo Officio plurimum Nobis impensa, & illum adeo apud Nos magnificenter, ut eum dilectum Officium Vacans conferamus habilitatem eius Ordinis comperimus eo Neminem: Huius igitur & alii Considerationibus morti eundem Yobannem Smeert (modo Guyene Heraldum nuntiarum) in Regem Artium de Garteri Erexitimus, Creavimus & Fecimus per presentes Habendum cum Nonnino Titulo, ceterisque Juribus, & Prebendis illi Officio ab antiquo debitis & Consecuto. Etiam preterea de Gratia nostra specialis, & matura Deliberatione Dominorum de Consilio nostro Concessimus, atque Tenore Presentium Concochimus prefato Yobanni Smeert, sic ut prefatur in Regem Artium de Garteri erecto, ratione Officii illius Viginii libras, habendas et percipiendas annuatim pro termino Vixit Sex ad Recepiendam foccarii nostri Anglie per Manus Theaurarii & Camerariorum Nostrorum ibidem pro tempore Existentium ad Festi Pasche & Sancti Michaelis per equales Portiones: In Gujo, &c. Telle Rege apud Westmonasterium tercio die Aprilis.

¶ C. 10. p. 105. m. p. 25. Lauts Observaciones in Officio Artium, p. 8.

¶ p. 14 July 27 H. 6. (in Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c. Forasmuch as we send our Trusty and wellbelov'd Guyen Herald of Armes in Oure Ambassate into divers Countrees out of this our Reame, ye pay him 2*x* marca.

Exit. Pell. P. 27 H. 6. Guyen Heraldus Artium nullo in Ambassadors Regis ad diversas partes Extraneas x*l.*

¶ p. 30 Aug. 27 H. 6. (in Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c. unto our wellbelov'd Servant Guyene Herald of Armes, whom we sende at this tyme unto the Marches of Scotlande to Endeue upon our Ambassadors, such as we have Ordrenged to Continue and enterte with Ambassadors of Scotlande in such Matters as we have Comanded them, ye pay 10*l.*

Exit. Pell. P. 27 H. 6. Guyen Heraldus nullo versus partes Scotie in Nuncio Regis C. 2.

¶ In Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c.— Unto Oure Trusty and Wellbelov'd Servant Guyene our Herald whom we have Comanded to bece divers Letters into the North Countree, and to Endeue upon our Ambassadors, that we sende at this tyme towards the Marches of Scotlande for suche Matters as we have charged them with, ye do pay x marca, Et. 27 Oct. The Year, &c. (28 H. 6.)

Langport.

De mandato Regis per Avancementum sui Consilii presentibus Dominis Cardinale Cancellario, Custode privati Sigilli, Karill, Rossent, Cromwell, Abbate Gloucestris, Stourton.

Exit. Pell. m. 28 H. 6. Guyen Heraldus, cui Dominus Rex dedit in Mandatis ad dirigendum diversitas literas suas versus partes botales, & ad ibidem attendendam circa Ambassadors ipsius Domini Regis nullo, &c.

¶ Exit. Pell. m. 28 H. 6. Guyen Heraldus nullo versus Ducem Burgundie in Nuncio Regis 4*l.* 13*s.* 8*d.*

¶ Exit. Pell. P. 28 H. 6. Columbers Purfevant per manus Guyen heraldi in perfoliacionem 100*l.* &c. which Purfevant was the Officer of the Duke of Orleans, Priv. Sigill. 14 March, 25 H. 6. 10 deliver to Columber's Purfevant unto our Cousin the Duke of Orleans 100*l.*

¶ p. 26 Apr. 28 H. 6. (in Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c.— Forasmuch as we send in this tyme our wellbelov'd Servant Guyen King of Armes unto the High and Mighty Prince our Cousin the King of Scots for suche Matters as we have charged him with, Ye pay x marca.

Exit. Pell. P. 28 H. 6. Garter Rex Artium nullo ad Regem Scotiarum pro certis materiis nullo Dominum Regem moventibus x marca.

¶ Faustina E. 1. Grant from John Smeert autem dicit Garter Roy d'Armes en Revueue d'Angleterre to Edmond Miller, 12 Aug. 28 H. 6.

¶ Priv. Sigill. 13 March, 29 H. 6. Forasmuch as we have yeve in Comandement unto our wellbelov'd Garter King of Armes, to goe unto the See Side to wayte upon the coming of thersle of Douglas of Scotlande, the whiche is now hiderwaite from the Coast of Norme, and to bring and conveye him unto our presence, and to interde upon him during his abode here, ye pay v marca, &c.

Exit.

turn from the Court of Rome, in order to bring him to the King's Presence, and to attend on him during his Stay in England, and in that Year was sent to ^a Scotland, when Money was ordered him for his Journies to the Dutches of Burgundy and the King of Scots, which ^a was paid.

He was present at the ^b Marriage of the Duke of Orleans with Mary of Cleves, on Saturday before Saint Andrew's Day 1450.

In 30 H. VI, on the Third Day of June he had brought from the Earl of Douglas some ^c Articles touching his Intention of paying Homage to our King.

In the which Year he had a Reward for 78 Days in ^d attending on Sir James Douglas, and carrying Letters to the King of Scotland, and afterwards was sent thither to ^e attend upon our Ambassadors, at which Time he was also paid his ^f Salary granted to him by reason of this Office for Term of his Life.

About this Time he was sent to the ^g Duke of Exeter, who had assembled People contrary to Law, with the King's Letters, who instead of receiving them as he ought with Reverence, ill treated the Bearer.

In

Exir. Pell. m. 29 H. 6. Garteri Regi Armorum ex Mandato Regis ad latus Maris ad ibidem expectandum de adventu Comitiss de Douglas de Scotia, qui in partes Angliæ est Venturus a Curia Romana, & ad ipsum Comitum ad præsentiam Regis conducendum, & ad intendendum circa dictum Comitum durante Mora sua in Angliâ 66 s. 8 d.

2. Exir. Pell. P. 29 H. 6. Garteri Regi Armorum missio versus partes Scotia C. 1.

^a In Officio Pellium—Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c. Forasmuche as Oure welbelovyd Servant Garter King of Armes hath hadde by oure Comanement sith Fevever last passed hiderto divers labours and Journes, as well unto oure Cousine the Duchesse of Burgoune, as to the King of Scots, and otherwife, about thurduandance of which oure Service he hath Continued by the Space of Cxlvij dayes, in which labours and Journes, as we beyn Credibly enfourmed, the said Garter hath over suche Sommes as was limited to him by Us for that Cause expended greet Money of his own Goodes, we wol therefore and Charge you, that in Recompense of his said laboure and Costes, ye do pay him 13 l. 13 s. 4 d. To have of Oure Yiste by way of Rewards for the Cause above-said. Yeven under our prive Seal at Westmynster, 19 Novemb. the Yere of our Regne (29 H. 6.)

Ex. Pell. m. 30 H. 6. Garteri Regi Armorum missio ex Mandato Regis, diversis vicibus ram Ducissæ Burgundie, quam Regi Scotorum in quibus Nunciis attendebat, & continuavit per spatium Cxlvij Dierum, ultra Monetam per dictum Dominum Regem sibi limitatam, habendum de dono suo per viam Regardi 13 l. 13 s. 4 d.

^b Monstrelet, vol. 2. p. 178.

^c Rymer, vol. 11. p. 310, 311.

^d In Officio Pellium—Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c. We have understande by the Supplication of oure Welbelovyd Servant Garter King of Armes, howe that he not long agoo by oure Comanement was sent to mete with Sir James Douglas Knight, Comyng towards Us, and to bring him to oure Presence to Wynchestr, to Salebury, and other place, and also to Conveye him home into Scotiande, and to presente Certayne oure Letters unto oure Cousin the King of Scots, in the which oure Service he hath continued, as he hath made feith, by the Space of Lxxvij dayes,

Wherefore we Wol and Charge you that unto him ye doo paye daily Wages of iii s. iiii d. for Everiche of the Lxxvij days above-said to have of oure yest by Way of Reward for his Costes and Expenses in that partie, Yeven under our prive Seal at Westmynster the 19th day of Ottobre the Yere of oure Regne xxx (H. 6.)

Exir. Pell. m. 30 H. 6. Eidem Garteri nuper missio ex Mandato Regis ad obvianum cum Jacobo Douglas veniente versus Dominum Regem, & ad ducendum dictum Jacobum versus præsentiam Regis apud Wynchestr, Salebury, vel alibi, & etiam ad Conducendum ipsum in Scotia, & ad præsentandas literas Regis Regi Scotorum, in quo tempore Continnavit moram suam 78 dies pro Vadis ad xl d. per diem 13 l.

^e 5 Jun. 30 H. 6. In Officio Pellium—Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c. Ye deliver and paye unto our Servant and Squier Garter King of Armes xl l. which we wol that He have for his going at this tyme by way of Reward in oure Message into Scotlande to entende upon oure Ambassate there.

^f Exir. Pell. m. 30 H. 6. Fihanni Smeri Regi Armorum de Garteria erecto, cui Dominus Rex nunc 3 April. Anno Regni sui 28 de Gratia sua specialis, &c. Concessit 20 l. libendas ratione Officii sui pro termino vite, &c.

^g By the King to the Duke of Excester. Right trusty and right welbelovyd Cousin, we understande to our grete displeour, the haynous ungodly disposition, and gouvernaunce, that ye be of right full usurting to your Estate, and birthe, youre selfe can remember your demeanyng withinn our Cite of York not long ago with presumption, ye toke upon youe there, as it is said, usurping other power than was yeven to You by Us, what langage ye had there, what cries ye have doo make in sondry places, what people ye have assembled ayens our lawes, and pees, in what wise ye rode with Standards displated full outrageously and indiscretely, what sedicious Letters ye have written, as well to oure right trusty and welbelovyd the Barone of Graystoke, as the Communes of oure Shires of Lancaster, and Cheshire, howe also ye have entreded oure welbelovyd servant Garter, that came to youe with our Letters, the which it hadde be your part to have received with reverence, rather than to have doo pulled therein from the better weyeth in your Consideration

U u u a

In 31 H. VI. he received xl. for his ^b Journey into Scotland, as the King's Messenger to attend on his Embassador there, and carried the Confirmation of the ⁱ Truce thither, for which he was paid 3 s. 4 d. by the Day, and then also received his ^k Salary.

In the following Year he had a Reward ^l for his being lately sent into the Marches of Scotland, about an Appointment with Earl Douglas, and for attending the Lord Hamilton at London, and other Places, for above five Weeks, and for waiting six Weeks upon the King from Sherborne to Kenilworth, for his Majesties Answers to the Commissioners and to the Earl of Douglas, and in May carried a Letter to the King of ^m Scotland, wherein H. VI. writes, that Garter King of Arms the Bearer thereof, will more largely inform his Excellency, and he was then paid his ⁿ Salary.

In 33 H. VI. he met and ^o conducted the Archbishop of Ravenna, sent hither by the Pope, and was sent by the King and the Council to the Earl of ^p Northumberland, and other Lords in the North, about the Siege of Berwike, in which Year he surrenders to Agnes Widow of William Brugges, late Garter King of Arms (who was his Mother in Law) all her Moveables which she had formerly given him, whereof an Account hath been already ^q given.

In the next Year he was sent by the King and the Council to Plymouth, consideration wheyr this fitheth to your Estate and birth faith and ligeance, that ye owe unto us, or noo, notwithstanding fith ye be disposed in such wife, we must provide to set apart your wilfulness, as we shall do with God's Grace, and in such wife, as it shall be example to other, for so moche we Wol and Charge you upon the feith and ligeance, that ye do owe unto us, that ye surcease of your said behavyng, and attempte noothing that may sowne or be to the breche of our pees, or lawes, and over that that ye come, and be with us, and our Counsaill at our Palois of Windsor the xxv day of this month there to answer to such things as shall be declared unto you at your comyng.

At the same time Letters in different Formes were directed to the Lord Egremont, to Richard Percy, to the Earle of Devonshire, to appear and answer on the same day, 3 July 32 H. 6.

^b Ex. Pell. P. 31 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum in denariis sibi liberatis in perfolutionem xl. quas Dominus Rex eidem Gartero liberare mandavit habendas per viam Regardi pro Itinere suo in Nuncio ipsius Domini Regis versus Scotiam ad intendendum circa Ambaffiatore Regis ibidem xl.

ⁱ 14 June 21 H. 6. (in Officio Pellium) Henri. Sec. To the Tresorer, &c. — Forasmooche as we send at this tyme our welbelovyd Servant Garter King of Armes into the parties of Scotland, with the Confirmation of the treaties late taken bytwix thambaffadour of oure Cousin the King of Scottes, and oure Commissioners, and also what other Messages suche as we have Committed unto him; ye pay the Wages of iiii. liii. d. by the day for the Space of 40 Days.

^k Exit. Pell. P. 31 H. 6. Johanni Smert Regi Armorum de Gartera erecto, Cui Dominus Rex nunc 3 Aprilii Anno xxviii. sec. 20. l.

^l Priv. Sigil. xi. Sept. 31 H. 6. We in Confidence of the gret Charges and labours of oure welbelovyd servant Garter King of Armes hath had at dyvers tymes by oure Comandement, as well in going into the Marches of Scotland ther to take certaine appointments of therle Douglas, as in attending upon the Lord Hamilton at London, and in other places by the Space of v Weeks and more, and also in awaiting upon us from Sherborne in the Counte of Dorset to Kenilworth the Space of vi Weeks for an Answer to be had to oure Commissioners in the said Marches and to therle Douglas ye pay 25 Marcs.

^m Exit. Pell. m. 32 H. 6. Eodem Gartero Regi Armorum qui nuper ex Mandato Regis erat missus versus Marchias Scotie, ad ibidem Capieundum Certa Appunctuamenta cum Comite Douglas, ac etiam attendendum circa Dominum de Hamilton apud London, & alia loca per spatium 5 Septimanarum & amplius, necnon attendendum circa Dominum nostrum Regem a Sherborne in Comitatu Dorset usque Kenilworth per spatium 6 Septimanarum pro responsione de Domino Rege habenda Commissionariis & dicto Comite Douglas in eisdem partibus existente 16 l. 13 s. 4 d.

ⁿ Rymer, vol. xi. p. 349.

^o Exit. Pell. Mich. 32 H. 6. Johanni Smert Regi Armorum de Gartera erecto, cui Dominus Rex 3 Apr. Anno 28 Concessit xxl. annuam, &c. o 22 Nov. 32 H. 6. (in Officio Pellium) — Henri. Sec. To the Tresorer, &c. Forasmooch as we send Garter King of Armes at this time to the parties beyond the See, to mere and Condukt the right reverent Fader in God the Archbishop of Raven sent by our holy Fader the Pope, into this londe, ye pay him v marcs.

^p Exit. Pell. m. 33 H. 6. Gartero Regi missi Versus partes Extreas ad obviantum & Conducendum Archiepiscopum de Ravenna nuper venientem a Domino Papa in Regnum Anglia 66 l. 8 d.

^q Ex. Pell. 33 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missi pro Dominum Regem & Consilium suum in certis Nunciis ipsius Domini Regis versus Comitum Northumbriae & alios Dominos in partibus Boreabilibus existentes pro recollu Obsidia Villa Berewic xli.

^r See above, p. 345. note g.

mouth and Forwey for Delivery of some Ships and Vessels, and again to Forwey on the same Errand.

In 35 H. VI he was sent to Calis to the Earl of Warwick Captain of that Place, and thither again in the King's Affairs, and was sent with Toifon d'Or to demand the Performance of Articles by the French King, and in Failure thereof he had Orders to defy him, but that King would not permit them to come into his Dominions, in which Year he received his Salary, and also 2 Robes.

In 36 Henry VI, he was sent with the King's Privy-Seal towards Scotland, and received a Reward for going to the King of Scotland.

In 37 H. 6. he gave, as hath been before-mention'd, the Oath to Colar Purfevant, being then stiled of the King's Household, for that is the Import of the Word Familiaris noster.

In 38 Hen. VI, the Duke of Tork, and the Earls of Warwick and Salisbury, certify their Truth and Duty by Garter King of Arms, and on the first of March He granted Arms to John Alfray and his Heirs.

The next succeeding Year the Custody of an House in Fleetstreet was granted him, when he had his Share of Largesies, with other Officers of Arms for divers Services, from the 28th to the 34th Year of that King.

Edward

r Ex. Pell. m. 34 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missio ex Mandato Domini Regis de avitamento consilii sui versus Villam de Phynonib & Fosey pro deliberatione diversarum Navium de amicis ipsius Domini Regis ibidem Capturam iiii l.

f Exit. Pell. P. 34 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missio versus Villam de Fosey cum literis ipsius Domini Regis pro deliberatione Cujusdam Navis de Amicis Regis per subditos ipsius Domini Regis ibidem Capri 53 l.

t Exit. Pell. P. 35 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missio versus Villam Gales cum literis Domini Regis Comiti Warwic captiviano Villæ Gales ibidem existentis directis pro certis specialibus Causis & Materis in eisdem literis contentis ipsum Dominum Regem & consilium suum moventibus iiii l.

u Exit. Pell. P. 35 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missio ex Mandato Regis versus Gales, in certis Negotiis ipsius Domini Regis 6 l.

x Hollingh. Cron. p. 560. a. n. 60.

y Exit. Pell. m. 35 H. 6. Johanni Smeri, cui Dominus Rex 3 Apr. Anno 28. in Regem Armorum de Gartera crecto, ratione Officii illius xx l. ad vitam.

z Particulæ compoti Henr. Fyloghly Armigeri Cuffodis magnæ Garderobæ a Vigilia Sancti Micheelis 35 Hen. vi. pro uno Anno.

Garter. Lancaster, & Guicenne Regibus Armorum vocatis Herardi ad vesturam suam yemalem faciendam erga festum natalis Domini de dono dicti Domini Regis, viz. culibet eorum iiii pavn. color. long. per literam dormitantes de privato Sigillo suo datam 7 Dec. Anno 30. Et prout Consimilis vestura allocata pro Hertsford, Lancaster, Leicester, & Guicenn Regibus armorum in compoto Johannis Spencer Cuffodis magnæ Garderobæ Domini Henrici nuper Regis Angliæ Quinti a primo die Octobris anno primo ipsius nuper Regis usque eundem diem revoluta.

a Exit. Pell. m. 36 H. 6. Gartero Regi Armorum missio cum literis de privato Sigillo ipsius Domini Regis diversis personis ibidem [i. e. in Scotia] existentibus directis, &c.

b Henr. Oc. To the Tresorer, &c. We wol and charge You that unto our Right trusty and Wel-beloved Cousyn John Earl of Sirrabury late our Tresorer of England ye do pay and content the Some of xiii l. vi. viii l. the which he paid unto Garter Kinge of Armes sent to the King of Scots by way of Reward for his Coils and Expenses Yeven under our prive Seal at Wiminsiter the first day of August the Yere of oure Roync xxxvith.

c See above, p. 319. note o.

d Stow's Annals, p. 405.

e H. 3. penes me, p. 1191.

f Fin. 39 H. 6. m. 4.

g Rymer, vol. 11. p. 497. Pat. 39 H. 6. m. 139.

—Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem, Sciatis, quod cum Summa Ducentarum Quadrantina Trium Librarum, sex Solidorum & Octo denariorum, per nos debeat dilectis nobis Johanni Smeri alias dicto Garter, Willelmo Tend de alias dicto Launcestre, & Johanni Wrixworth alias dicto Guicenne Regibus Armorum pro eorum Largeis coram nobis proclamatis diebus Festivalibus per septem Annos proximos post Annum Vicefirmum Septimum Regni nostri elapsos, de qua quidem Summa ipsi aliquam Solutionem, sive contentationem hucusque minime adepti sunt seu habuerunt: Unde nobis supplicaverunt, ut sibi solutionem & Contentationem ejusdem summæ in forma sequente concedere dignaremur. Nos Premissa Considerantes, & prefatis Johanni, Willelmo, & Johanni hujusmodi Solutionem & Contentationem fieri cupientes, ut tenemus, de Gratia nostra speciali, & pro plenaria Solutione, & Contentatione dictæ Summæ Ducentarum Quadrantina trium Librarum, sex Solidorum, & Octo Denariorum sic faciendi, concessimus eis, quod ipsi habeant & percipiant eandem summam Ducentarum Quadrantina trium Librarum, sex Solidorum, & Octo Denariorum de Custumis & Subsidis Lanarum & Pellium lanarum in Portu Civitatis nostre Londoniæ, per manus Collectorem sive Customariorum earundem Custumarum, & subsidiorum pro tempore existentium, per Indenturas inter ipsos Collectores sive

Let. and the IVth came to the Crown 4th of March, and on 10th of August following, he grants him a ^b Privy-Seal for this Office, which passed under the Great ¹ Seal on the 4th of September, wherein he takes no Notice of the Patent formerly granted him by Hen. VI. but calls him indeed Garter, and augments the Salary to 40 l. yearly, the first Payment whereof was to commence from the Feast of Easter preceeding, which was occasioned doublets because he had been in this Office before, and had, as it is said in the Preamble of this very Patent, well executed the same; for the regular Payment whereof a ^k Writ was granted on the First of March following. In which first Year, as appears by an Entry in the ¹ third, he was present at St. George's Feast, which he attended also in the ^m following Year, and in this first Year, was sent into the ⁿ North, and ^d thither again with other ^o Heralds in the 2d Year, and on 15th of Feb. 2 E. IV. attended on the ^p Funeral of the Earl of Salisbury.

In

five Cultumarios & præfatos Johannem Wilhelmum & Johannem considerandis, solationem five contentationem sanam prædicte & cujuslibet eiusdem Parcellæ restitucias, per quas Volumus & Tenore presentium concedimus, quod prædicti Collectores five cultumarii in compoto suo, ad Saccharium Nostrum, debite inde habeant Allocationem, Aliquis Statutis, five Ordinationibus (in contrarium editis, factis five Ordinatis) non obstantibus. In cujus, &c. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium septimo die Decembris. — Per breve de privato sigillo & de Data prædicta, &c.

^b Ex Orig. in Torre. Memorandum quod istud breve liberatum fuit Domino Cancellario Angliæ apud Bristol quarto die Septembris Anno subcripto Exequendum.

Edwardus Dei gratia Rex Angliæ, & Franciæ, & Dominus Hiberniæ Reverendo in Christo patri dilecto & fidei consanguineo nostro Geor. Exonia Episcopo Cancellario nostro Salutem, vobis mandamus, quod sub magno sigillo nostro literas nostras patentes fieri faciatis in forma sequente; Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. salutem. Cum non novum esse constet, sed iam inde ab antiquis usitatum inter cæteros Officiales & Ministros, quos principum lateribus pro eorum magnificentia, atque gloria adherere decet, non minoris quam prudentissimæ estimationis ortum debeat esse conditio, quibus Armorum in Civium cura atque labor Committi solet. Nostræ igitur considerandis aciem in laudabilia Servicia, que dilectus Nobis Johannes Smeri, alias dictus Garterius Armorum Rex, in hiis que Officium illud concernere intelliguntur exercuit, dirigentes, eundem propterea, & non minus ob solemnitatem & Sagacitatem, quas in eo satis habemus exploratas in principalem Heraldum Nostrum Armorumque Regem de Garteria ex Gratia nostra speciali Ereximus, Creavimus, & fecimus, tenoreque presentium Erigimus, Creamus, & facimus, Habendum cum nomine, titulo, Juribus, & proficiis omnibus illo Officio consuetis & debitis. Etenim præterea de gratia nostra uberiori concessimus et tenore presentium concedimus præfato Johanni Smeri in Regem Armorum, ut præfetur erecto quadraginta libras, ratione & causa officii illius percipiendas annuatim a Festo Paschæ ultimo præterito, pro termino Vitæ suæ de Firma Comitatum Londoniæ & Middlesexiæ, & de Exitibus, Proficiis, Firmis, & reventionibus de eisdem comitatibus provenientibus, per manus Vicecomitum eorumdem pro tempore existentium a Festo Sancti Michaelis & Paschæ, per æquales Portiones, prout in Literis nostris Patentibus inde concessis plenius continetur. Vobis præcipimus, quod eidem Johanni id, quod ei a retro est de prædictis quadraginta libris annuis, a prædicto festo Paschæ ultimo præterito, & easdem quadraginta libras annuas eidem Johanni, & nunc singulis annis durante vita sua de Firma, Exitibus, Proficiis, Firmis, & Reventionibus prædictis ad Festa prædicta, de tempore in tempus, solvatis juxta Tenorem litterarum nostrarum prædictarum: Recipientes a præfato Johanne de tempore in tempus Literas suas Acquiescentiæ, quæ pro vobis sufficientes fuerint in hac parte, per quas & præfens Mandatum nostrum vobis inde, in compoto vestro, ad saccharium nostrum, de tempore in tempus, debitam allocationem habere faciemus. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium primo die Martii.

Et erat Patens.

¹ See Notes to the Black book, p. 175.

^m See Notes to the Black-book, p. 179.

ⁿ Exit. Pell. 1 E. 4. Garterio Regi Armorum missio in Negotiis Regis versus partes Boreales, in denariis sibi liberatis pro Custibus & Expensis suis eundo & redeundo ex causa prædicta per breve generale currentis 53 s. 4 d.

^o Exit. Pell. m. 2 E. 4. Garterio Regi Armorum & Sociis suis Heraldis missis Domino Regi versus partes Boreales pro certis specialibus Causis, & Materis dictum Dominum Regem & Consilium suum Moventibus, in denariis eis liberatis pro Custibus & Expensis suis eundo, & redeundo per breve generale x l.

^p E. 11. penes me, p. 181.

In 5 E. IV, he entertained some Polanders and Strangers of Naples, who probably were then Ambassadors, since Collars and Plate were presented them, and they had a Herald attending.

In the Act of Resumption made (as the Law Book reports it) 2 E. 4. There was a general Proviso or Reservation for Annuities and Pensions; now this Office being granted to Smert without any Term in the Habendum, and with xli. during Life, Ratione & Causa Officii, a Question arose in the Common Pleas, whether the same was an Annuity, or otherwise a Fee in consideration, and appertaining to the Office, and determinable with it. In the subsequent Resumptions, 3d and 4th of E. IV, and in the 7th Year, there were especial Proviso's inserted, That these Acts should not extend to Prejudice John Smert, otherwise called Garter King of Arms, in, or of xli. by Year for Term of his Life, to him granted by reason of that Office of the Farm of the Shires of London and Middlesex, in which 7th Year he performed the Duty of his Office at the Juits between the Bastard of Burgundy and the Lord Scales.

In 8 Edw. IV, he was sent to the Lord Manypenny about Matters of Secrecy (who was Embassador from France) and was at Bruges, at the Marriage of Charles Duke of Burgundy, with Margaret Sister of Edward the IVth, and wrote an Account of the Juisting at that Time.

10 January (1469) 9 Edw. IV, he was sent with the Garter to Charles Duke of Burgundy, who owns the Receipt of it from him.

In 10 of E. IV, he was sent to the Duke of Clarence, and to the Earl of Warwick, with their Accusations under the Privy-Seal, with Orders to Charge them to come to his Highness the King, which however they refused. He was present 12 E. IV, at the Creation of Lewes Gruthuse to be Earl of Winchester, and having then an Impediment in his Tongue, Norroy proclaimed Large's.

On 23d of Apr. 12 E. IV, he carried the Letters of Sir John Aschely to the Chapter of the Order of the Garter to excuse his Attendance.

q In Baga (in officio Pellium) 5 E. 4. Gartero Regi Armorum pro Custibus & Expensis Certorum extraneorum de Polign infra Regnum Anglie Termino Michaelis Anno 4. Existentium 18 l. 13 s. 4 d.

r 5 E. 4. (in Officio Pellium) Gartero Regi Armorum super Expensis Certorum Extraneorum de Naples, infra Regnum Anglie existentium l. l.

Diets extranei pro tribus Colaribus Auri de liberata Regis, &c. Heraldo eorundem extraneorum in precio unius pecii de Skarlet pro toga per Dominum Regem sibi data C s. f Hill. 5 E. 4. f. 8. & Mich. 7 E. 4. f. 22. abridgd in Fitzh. Annalis 12. Pro. Office 50. Patents 60. Estates 44. Plond. 382 b.

t f. 3. penes me.

u Exit. Pell. P. 8. E. 4. Gartero Regi Armorum missio ex Mandato Regis versus Dominum Manypenny cum certis Secretis Materis xx s.

x Bibl. Harley 35. c. 12 p. 40. — Transportation and Marriage of Margaret Sister to E. IV. to Charles Duke of Burgundy. — At her Wedding in her Entry into Bruges next before her, Kinges of Armes and Herolds of divers Relmes. — Afterwards Juists for 9 days in the Market place of Bruges, which Garter the King of Armes hath put in French, and for that Cause I leave to write it.

y Ashmole's Hill. of the Garter, App. n. Cxiv. 2 Rymer, vol. 12. p. 951.

a Clasf. 10 E. 4. m. 7. Dorfo de Proclamationibus faciendis.

How be it, that the King our Sovereign Lord granted unto Georg Duke of Clarence and Richard Erle of Warwick his pardon, &c. yet the said Duc, and Erle unnaturally, unkindly, and unruly intending his destruction, &c. and to make the said Duc King of this his said Realme, &c. wherupon his said Highness sent unto the said Duc and Earle by Garter King of Armes summation, and Warning of their said Accusations under his prive Seal, straitly charging them to come unto his said Highness, and which they prelamptuously refused, &c. wherfore our said Sovereign Lord will, and in the most straight wyse, chargeth the said Duc and Erle, that they in their persones come, and in humble and obeyant Wyse, and appier before his Highness the 28th day of this present Month of March.

The Account of Garter's carrying this Message is in Vinc. MS. in Off. Arm. N^o 435.

b B. 2. penes me, p. 289. There are Copies of it in several Libraries.

c See Black-book, p. 186.

In 14th Ed. IV, he defied the French King, by a ^d Letter, which for the Stile, and the penning excellently ended, the Frenchmen would not believe to be framed by an Englishman, and had given him 300 Crowns, and 30 Yards of Crimfon Velvet, and there was a Promise to him of 1000 Crowns more, if a Peace should be made, which the Herald (as our Author saith) being more coverous of the Crowns than Secret, according to the Duty of his Office, promised to perform.

He was paid in 15 Ed. IV his Wages, after the Rate of 4 s. per Diem, for attending on the King in his Entry into Normandy.

In 18 Edw. IV, he was sent by the Council to the King at Nottingham, with the Lord Saint Pere Embassador from France, and the 18th of February received Reward for the King's ^d Largesse, which two latter Instances belong either to him or to his Successor, for he died before 6 July in this Year, when this Office was granted to Writhe: He made a Will, which the Collector hath not found, and with great Worth and Reputation filled this chief Seat among the Officers of Arms for 28 Years, to which he was first promoted, because no Person (as the Patent expresses it) had greater Abilities for it.

He first married (as hath been already said) Katherine Daughter of William Brugges Garter by Agnes his Wife, by whom he had one Daughter and Heir named Agnes, married to Richard Bourne, by whom she had a Son John, stiled in a Bill in Chancery Cosin and Heir to William Brugges Garter, and Grandson of this John Smert Garter; he married again with Agnes ⁱ Widow of William Haldenby, who survived him.

His

^d Hall's Chron. f. 98. which was taken from Co-mines, l. 4. c. 5. p. 211.

^e Scow's Annals, ad 14 Ed. 4.

^f R. 5. penus me, p. 378b.

^g Exit. Pell. P. 18 E. 4. Gartero Regi Armorum millo per avitamentum Consilii Regis ipso Domino Regi apud Nottingham existentii in Comitiva Domini Saint Pere de partibus Fransie nuper venientis de partibus illis ad dictum Dominum Regem, in denariis sibi liberatis per manus proprias pro Custibus & Expensis suis sic millo per breve generale currens 13 l. 4 d.

^b Privy Seal 14 Feb. 18 E. 4. to allow to John Fitzherbert one of the Tellers, for rewards to be given to Garter kyng of Armes and other heralds and mynstrells for the kyngs Largesse in the solemnitee of the Feests of Christmas, Newyers day and xiiij day 50 l.

ⁱ B. Billa Cancellarii in Torre— To the right reverend Fader in God the Bishop of Durban Chauceller of England, Mekely beseecheth your pouer Oratours John Smert otherwyse called Garter King of Armes, and Agnes his Wyf, late the Wyf of oon William Haldenby, that where William Cateby and others were seized of the Mannor of Haldenby, and other lordis in Northampton, to the use of the said William Haldenby to performe his Wilk, and in his Wilk he ordered his feoffes to grant an annuell rent of 10 l. unto the said Agnes, &c.

E Billa in Cancellaria in Torre— To the Right reverend Fader in God the Bishop of Durban Chauceller of England,

Mekely beseecheth your pouer Oratours John

Smert otherwyse called Garter Kyng of Armes, and Agnes his Wyf, late the Wyf of oon William Haldenby that where William Cateby Knight and others were seized of the Mannor of Haldenby, &c. in the Countee of Northampton, in their demaune as of fee, to the use of the said William Haldenby, and to perform his Will, &c. And afterwards the said William declared by his last Will, that his Feoffees should immediately after his decesss make a Sufficient Grant of an Annual Rent of 10 l. by year out of all the saide londes unto the said Agnes oon of your Suppliants and late wyf of the said William, &c. for term of her lyf, and moreover declared by the said Will that his said feffees shuld suffer Sir William Lucy now dede, and the said Agnes to rejoyce and take the residue of all the said Lands and tenements above the Yerly rent of x l. forefeild for the terme of 24 Yeres after his decesss, to thentent the profits thereof so taken shuld by the said Agnes be employed to the use, profite, sustentacion, and Marriage of 3 of his daughters, that is to say Elizabeth, Margares, and Agnes, &c.

In Torre Londonia. To the Right Reverend Fader in God the Bishop of Lincoln Chauceller of England.

Mekely beseecheth your gode and gracious Lordshyp your pour Oratrice Agnes late the Wyffe of John Smert otherwyse called Garter King of Armes, where the same Garter being sole feased by his lyfe in his demesnaies as of fee of 20 Tenements with thappurtenances in Fenchurch Strete of London and of vii melez and xl. Acres of Medowe with their Appurtenance in Malsiden within the forest of Deane, And so feased of grete Truft entossed in the same John Marksh, and William Bybop

His Arms were Argent a ^k Cheveron between three Pheons Sable, wherewith he quarter'd the Arms of Brugges Garter, of which Practise there are some ^l Instances about that Age, though contrary to the present Rules: His ^m Badge was a Brod Arowe Heed blake Armed.

III. The Third Garter John Wrythe, is said by some Writers to have been ⁿ Antelope, then Rougecroffe Pursuivant; but he certainly was ^o Faucon Herald, from whence (and not as Wever saith, from Leopard) he was made Norroy, on 25 January 16 Ed. IV., and created on ^p Candlemas-day following: He did his Duty at the ^q Justs held on the Marriage of Richard Duke of with othre new ded, to have to them and theyre heyres in fee for ever, to th'e. and behoef of the feyd Garter, and to performe the last Wyll of the feyd Garter, which Garter in his Deth bed ordeyned and deysed by his last Wyll, that his feyd offices ymedyately after his deces shulde make Astate of all the feyd tenements and Medowe to your feid Oratrice, and suche as the wolde Name to have to her for terme of her lyfe, and after her deces the same tenements and Medowe, to remeyn to John Bourne, Son and heire to Richard Bourne and Agnis his Wife daughter and heire of the feyd Garter, as in the same Wille reuly to be shewed more plainly doth appere. And how be it, your feyd Oratrice divers tyme sith the deth of the feyd Garter her husband, hath required the feyd John Morcock and William to make her Astate of the feyd Tenements and Medewe wyth thappurtenance accordyng to the entent of the feyd feoffement, and last Wyll of the feyd John Smeri, yet that to do the feyd John Morcock and William at all tymes have refused, and yet refuse contrarie to the feyd entent, and last Wyll of the feyd Garter, and against all reason and gode Conscience, onlesse your Gode Lordshipp to hyr be shewed in this behalf. Plese it your feyd Lordshipp the premis Considered, and that your Oratrice hath no remedy hereof by the Comyn lawe of this land, to graunte severall Writtez sub pena discrete to the feyd John Morcock and William Bisshop to appere afore the King in his Chancery, at a Certeyn day to answer to the premis, and to doo and receive as this Courte shall award, And this for the love of God and in the way of Charity.

Plag. de profes ^r Johann Thompyns de London Bruer.
^s Willel. Conty de eadem Tailleur.

^k Vinceni's MS. in Officio Armorum n. 88. p. 47.
^l Upton de Officio Militari, p. 223. Anne Queen of R. 2. Sir John Oldcastle 11 H. 4. quarter: his own Arms with thyle of Joan Lady Cobham. Glover's Collections among Fitzpott's MS. in Officio Armorum, p. 107 b.

^m B. 5 penes me, p. 378 b.

ⁿ Wever's Funeral Monuments, p. 667. Lant's Catalogue in Off. Arm.

^o Priv. Sig. in Turri. Memorandum quod 25 die Januarii, Anno Regni Regis subscripto iudicium breve liberatum, &c.

Edwards Dei Gratia Rex Anglie, & Francie & Dominus Hibernie Reverendo in Christo Patri Thomae Lincoln. Episcopo Cancellario nostro Salutem. Vobis mandamus, quod literas nostras Patentes sub magno Sigillo nostro in forma sequente fieri faciat, &c. Dat. sub nostro privato sigillo apud manerium nostrum de Greenwich 25 die Januarii Anno Regni nostri sexto decimo.

Pat. 16 Ed. 4. p. 2. m. 6. Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem, Sciatis quod cum Officium Heraldi nostri Regis Armorum partium borealium Regni nostri Anglie, per dimissionem & Relinquationem Thome Thine alias dicti Greenche idem officium nuperime occupantis & Exercentis, ac per restitutionem in Cancellarium nostrum Literarum nostrarum Patentium de Vadis & feodis Officii predicti eidem Thome factarum vacaverit. Ac Nos officium illud per unum de Expertissimis, Scientissimisque Heraldis Regni nostri pradii, prout decet, occupari & exerceri volentes: Hinc est, quod nos bonum & laudabile obsequium Nobis per dilectum & fidelem nostrum Johannem Wryth alias dictum Faucon unum Heraldorum nostrorum, in Scientia & Exercitio hujusmodi Officii, & Occupationis probatissimum virum multipliciter & Effectuose impensum merito Contemplantes, ac de fidelitate, Circumspectione, & Industria Ejusdem plenarie Confidentes, necnon de Gratia nostra specialia ipsum Johannem in Caputem Heraldum nostrum. Regem; Armorum partium borealium Regni nostri Anglie creximus, fecimus, Constituimus, Ordinavimus, Creavimus & Coronavimus, ac per presentes Erigimus, facimus, Constituimus, Ordinavimus, Creamus, & Coronamus, ac ei officium illud, necnon Nomen, Solum, Titulum, libertates, & pre-eminencias hujusmodi Officio Convenientes & Concordantes & ab antiquo Confectas Damus & Concedimus, ac ipsum realiter in eisdem investimus. Habendum, Occupandum, & Exercendum Officium illud, ac Nomen, Solum, titulum, & pre-eminencias predictas eidem Johanni pro termino vite sue, cum omnibus Juribus, proficiis, Commoditatibus, & Inmolementis eidem officio qualitercunque debitis, pertinentibus, sive spectantibus. Et ulterius Concedimus eidem Johanni Viginii libras per Annum percipiendas eidem Johanni singularis annis, durante Vita sua, pro Vadis & feodis Officii predicti de feodi firma, ac aliis Extribus, proficiis, firmis, & reversionibus de Comitatu nostro Eborac. provenientibus sive Gravenibus pro manibus Vicecomitis ejusdem Comitatus pro tempore Existentis, una cum tali libertate Vestire, qualem, & eidem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius Rex Armorum, sive Heraldus tempore Domini Regis Edwardi nuper Regis Anglie tertii Progenitoris nostri habuit, & percipit, Habendum & percipiendum annuatim liberarum hujusmodi eidem Johanni singularis annis ad terminum vite sue ad Maquam Garderoham nostram per manus Custodis Ejusdem Garderohe pro tempore Existentis, Et quod Expressa mentio de vestro Valore anno proximo futurum, aut de aliis donis, sive Concessionibus per Nos eidem Johanni peracta factis, Editis, sive provisus aut aliqua alia re, causa, vel materia quancunque non obstant. In cuius, &c. Teie Rege apud Westmonasterium 25 die Januarii of Tork with the Lady Anne Morbray, and from this Province, on the 6th of July 18 E. IV, was constituted Principal Herald and Officer of the Noble Order of the Garter, and King of Arms of Engliſhmen, with 40 l. yearly during Life, by reason of this Office, payable out of the Petit Customs in the Port of London, on which ſame Day a Writ iſſued to the Customers to pay it, and four Days afterwards, a Command to the Wardrobe to give him Livery yearly, as any ſuch King of Arms, or Principal Herald received during the Reign of Edward III.

Per breve de privato Sigillo

^p B. 2 penes me, p. 293.

^q MS. in Mus. Alham n. 856. p. 24.

¶ Clauſ. 18 E. 4. p. 2. m. 28. Rex omnibus ad que, &c. Salutem, Sciatis, quod cum non ſit novum, ſed hinc ab antiquis temporibus uſuratum, quod inter ſcientia officiales & multos, quos Principum literibus pro eorum Magnificentijs atque gloria ſubſcribere ſoleat, eorum quibus Officia Armarum Cura committitur, Coſtam habere debeat, ut nec tempus Bellorum, neque pacis, ſine convenientibus & apertis Miniſtris debeat præteriri. Nos igitur conſiderationis Aciem in huiusmodi ſervicia, que deſertus Nobis Johanni Wylbe, aliam raperi dictus Norris Rex Armarum partium Britannie Regni noſtri Anglie, in hijs que ad officium illud ſpectare intelliguntur exercuit, diligentes, eandem præſertim, & non minus ob ſoleſtram & Signatorem, qua in eo ſatis habemus exploratam, in Principalem Heraldum & Officiarium iſtius noſtri Ordinis Garteris Armarum, Regem Angliorum, ex gratia noſtra ſpeciali, examinis, ſecuturis, Conſtitutionis, Ordinamenti, Cæterum, & Conſuetudinibus, ac per preſentes erigimus, ſecuturis, Conſtitutionis, Ordinamenti, Cæterum, & Coronam, ac et officium illud nec non Nomen, & Gra-tiam, Stylum, Titulum, & præſentiam huiusmodi Officio convenientia, & concordantia, ac ab antiquo conſervata, & Conſervamus, ac ipſum in eodem realiter inveſtimus; Habendum occupandum, & Exercendum officium illud, ac Nomen, Stylum, Titulum, & præſentiam prædictam eidem Johanni pro termino vite ſue, cum omnibus iuribus, proficijs, Commoditatibus, & Emolumentis eidem Officio quilibetque debitis, pertinentibus, ſive ſpectantibus, & aliter Conſuetudinibus prædicto Johanni in Regem Armarum Angliorum, ut præſertur ereſto quadraginta libras per annum, Ratione & Causa Officii illius percipiendam eidem Johanni ſingulis Annis durante Vita ſua, pro Vadis & Feodis Officii prædicti de parva Cuſtoma Noſtra in portu Civitatis noſtre Londonie, per manus Collocationum, ſive Collectarum Cuſtome prædictæ in portu prædicto pro tempore Exiſtentium, ad terminos Sancti Michaelis & Paſche per aquales Portiones, prout in Literis noſtris prædictis plenius continetur. Vobis præcipimus, quod eidem Johanni illi, quod ei a retro eſt, de prædictis quadraginta libris annis, & eodem quadraginta libras annis ex-meriſis ſingulis annis, durante Vita ſua prædicta, de parva Cuſtoma Civitatis noſtre prædictæ de tempore in tempore ad terminos prædictos ſolvatis, iuxta tenorem literarum noſtrarum prædictarum; Recipientes a præſto Johanne de tempore in tempore literas ſuas Acquiescentes, qua pro Vobis ſufficienter fuerint in hac parte, per qua & præſens mandatum noſtrum Vobis inde in Compore veſtro ad Saccharum eaſdem de tempore in tempore debitam allocationem habere ſciatis. Teſte Rege apud Weſtmonaſterium ſexto die Julii.

¶ Clauſ. 18 E. 4. m. 27. Rex Caſtoli Garderobis noſtri, qui nunc eſt, &c. Com. &c. Johanni Wylbe, &c. & inſuper concedimus prædicto Johanni ad libras per annum, &c. unam tali libertate veluti, qualem, & eidem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius huiusmodi Rex Armarum ſive principalis Heraldus tempore Domini Edmudi noſtri noſtri Anglie noſtri progenitoris noſtri habuit, & percipit; Habendum & percipiendum annuatim liberatam huiusmodi eidem Johanni ſingulis annis ad terminum vite ſue, ad magnam Garderobam noſtram, per manus Cuſtodi Exiſtentem pro tempore Exiſtentis. Et quod expreſſis mentio de vero Valore Annui Præmiſſarum, ſeu alioquin eorum, ut de alijs Domini, ſive Conſuetudinibus eidem Johanni per Nos ante hæc tempora factis in præſentibus minime factis exiſtit, ut aliquo Statuto Actu, Ordinatione, proviſione, ſeu reſtrictione in Contrarium factis, editis, ordinatis, ſeu proviſis non obſtante: In conſ. &c. Teſte Rege apud Weſtmonaſterium ſexto die Julii. — Per ipſum Regem, & de data prædicta auctoritate Parlamenti.

¶ Clauſ. 18 E. 4. m. 28. Rex Cuſtumarum, ſive

Collectoris parva Cuſtome noſtre in portu Civitatis noſtre Londonie, qui nunc, & qui pro tempore erit, Salutem. Cui Nos per literas noſtras Patentes de Gratia noſtra ſpeciali crederimus, reſervamus, & Coronaverimus dilectum Nobis Johanni Wylbe aliam nuper dictum Norris Regem Armarum partium Britannie Regni noſtri Anglie, Principalem Heraldum & Officiarium iſtius noſtri Ordinis Garteris Armarumque Regem Angliorum aſſoci officium illud, necnon Nomen, & Gra-tiam, Stylum, Titulum, libertates, & præſentiam huiusmodi Officio convenientia & concordantia, ac ab antiquo Conſervata, & Conſervamus, ac ipſum in eodem realiter inveſtimus. Habendum occupandum, & Exercendum officium illud, ac Nomen, Stylum, Titulum, & præſentiam prædictam eidem Johanni pro termino vite ſue, cum omnibus iuribus, proficijs, Commoditatibus, & Emolumentis eidem Officio quilibetque debitis, pertinentibus, ſive ſpectantibus, & aliter Conſuetudinibus prædicto Johanni in Regem Armarum Angliorum, ut præſertur ereſto quadraginta libras per annum, Ratione & Causa Officii illius percipiendam eidem Johanni ſingulis Annis durante Vita ſua, pro Vadis & Feodis Officii prædicti de parva Cuſtoma Noſtra in portu Civitatis noſtre Londonie, per manus Collocationum, ſive Collectarum Cuſtome prædictæ in portu prædicto pro tempore Exiſtentium, ad terminos Sancti Michaelis & Paſche per aquales Portiones, prout in Literis noſtris prædictis plenius continetur. Vobis præcipimus, quod eidem Johanni illi, quod ei a retro eſt, de prædictis quadraginta libris annis, & eodem quadraginta libras annis ex-meriſis ſingulis annis, durante Vita ſua prædicta, de parva Cuſtoma Civitatis noſtre prædictæ de tempore in tempore ad terminos prædictos ſolvatis, iuxta tenorem literarum noſtrarum prædictarum; Recipientes a præſto Johanne de tempore in tempore literas ſuas Acquiescentes, qua pro Vobis ſufficienter fuerint in hac parte, per qua & præſens mandatum noſtrum Vobis inde in Compore veſtro ad Saccharum eaſdem de tempore in tempore debitam allocationem habere ſciatis. Teſte Rege apud Weſtmonaſterium ſexto die Julii.

¶ Clauſ. 18 E. 4. m. 27. Rex Caſtoli Garderobis noſtri, qui nunc eſt, &c. Com. &c. Johanni Wylbe, &c. & inſuper concedimus prædicto Johanni ad libras per annum, &c. unam tali libertate veluti, qualem, & eidem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius huiusmodi Rex Armarum ſive principalis Heraldus tempore Domini Edmudi noſtri noſtri Anglie noſtri progenitoris noſtri habuit, & percipit; Habendum & percipiendum annuatim liberatam huiusmodi eidem Johanni ſingulis annis ad terminum vite ſue ad magnam Garderobam noſtram per manus Cuſtodi exiſtentem pro tempore exiſtentis, prout in literis prædictis plenius continetur. Tibi præcipimus, quod eidem Johanni huiusmodi idem liberatam veluti, &c. liberatis Teſte Rege apud Weſtmonaſterium 14 Julii.

It may be supposed that the Faucon Herald, who gave his ^a Opinion touching the Method of bearing the Arms of the Crown descended to a Nobleman by an Heire's, and who was sent to the ^b Duke of Burgundy 14 Edw. IV., and present likewise at the ^c Translation of the Body of the Duke of York on 24 July 16 Edw. IV., might be this Writhe, for the Historians and MSS. which place this Translation in 1446, 6 Edw. IV., are in apparent Mistakes.

In 19th of Edw. IV. he was present at the Feast of St. George, and was sent to the ^d King of Scotland for divers Special Matters, highly concerning the Peace of England, for which he had 10 l. given him by Privy Seal, dated 26 June; from this Time we shall find very few Materials of the Officers of Arms in the Issues of the Pell-Office, because the King was pleased to allot a certain yearly Summ to be paid for defraying the Total Charges of Embassies and Messages (wherein he was followed by his immediate Successors) which Summ is only entred in Gros in these Rolls, without specifying to what particular Ambassadors and Messengers any Part thereof was paid, whereby the Employments of the Officers of Arms to Forreign Princes must remain in the Dark, till such time as the Accounts of the Disposition of this Money, if any remain, shall be found.

However we now and then find some Fragments scattered up and down in other Records, and in Histories and MSS. from whence it appears that the Heralds continued in the Enjoyment of this great Branch of their Office; thus in 20 Edw. IV. he is said to have made the Proclamation of War at ^e Edinburgh, and installed the Duke of ^f Ferrara Knight of the Garter, and ^g Hollinghead acquaints us, that in 1482 (misplaced by ^h Weaver to 23 E. IV.) the King sent Garter his Principal

^a See Sandf. Gen. Hist. p. 224. L. 1. penes me p. 14 b. G. 13. penes me, p. 135.

^b Exit. Pell. 14 E. 4. Faucon Heraldus missus per Regem Duci Burgundie in certis Negotiis Regis 61. 13. 44.

^c Exit. Pell. 14 E. 4. Faucon Heraldus missus Duci Burgundie cum Magistro Johanne Morino Clerico Custode Rotulorum Cancellarius & Thoma Montgomery 131. 61. 84.

^d 34 A. 9. p. 139. in bibl. Harley: See F. 3. in Of. Arm. p. B. Mr. Sandf. Gen. Hist. p. 391. and several MSS. place it in July 1466. But the Hist. of Crutche, Otto B. 13 in bibl. Cotton, p. 178 b. translati. Ed. quarum Offi. parisi. quam fratris sui. Oct. mensis Julii anno regnandi Regis xvi^o qui facti annis 1476, which is confirmed by a Privy Seal 14 June, in that Year that recites the Appointment of the Translation of his Father's Body, and orders the Tresorer to provide for his Herse Black Woollen Cloth, and also for the Robes and Habits of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Gowns for others, and Torches, Lights of Wax, and other Things convenient for it according to his Estate: See Baynes, vol. 12. p. 28. 'Tis true, there had been Obsequies before performed for him in Pauls and the Kings-Chapel, and probably in other places, where some of the Heralds might according to Custom have attended. Thus Exit. Pell. 2 E. 4. F. banni Lebbe W exhaundler, pro salvatore sanis herie in Ecclesia Sancit Pauli Londra pro obsequiis Ducis Eboracum idem secundis 74. l. 17. s. 24. and Priv. Sig. 2 June. nam terris to the Prests and Clerks of our Chapell, for shobsequies of the right noble and famous Prince of worthy memorie our Padre whom God rest, &c.

^e In Officio Pellium (E. 4.)

By the King,

Right Reverend Padre in God, right trusty and wellbelov'd, we wol and Charge you, that under our Prive Seale being in your ward, ye do make our Letters in forme following, Edward, &c. To the Tresorer and Chamberlains of our Exchequer Greeting. Forasmoche, as We at this time find in our Message our Trusty and wellbelov'd Servant Garter King of Armes unto our dearest brother and Cousin the King of Scotis, we woll and Charge you for his Costs in that party, that ye deliver unto him of ourr yifte and reward 10 l. in ready Money incontinent upon the Sight hereof, &c. Yeven under our Signet at our Manoir of Down the 26 June the six yet of our Regn— To the Right Reverend, &c. the Bishop of Rowchester Keeper of our Prive Seale.

Exit. Pell. P. 19 E. 4. Garteris Regi Armorum, missus per Dominum Regem Regis Scotiarum pro diversis specialibus Causis, & Materiis ipsum Dominum nostrum Regem, & consilium sumum noventibus, tranquillitatem & pacem hujus Regni maxime concernentibus 101.

^f A MS. Ant. at Wood in Mus. Ashm. Oxon. n. 33.

^g 29.

^h MS. Nichol. Jekyll Arm. p. 104 b.

ⁱ Hollinghead, p. 707.

^k General Minutary.

King at Arms, and Northumberland Herald, to refuse the Marriage [of his Daughter Cecily, with the Son of the King of Scots]. The true State of that Fact is, That in 14 Edw. IV., a Treaty was concluded for a Marriage to be had between them (being both very young) and the King of England Covenanted to give with his Daughter 20000 Marks (that is 20000 within three Months next following, and the like Summ every Year for two Years following, and then 1000 Marks yearly, till that whole Summ should be paid) with a particular Relervation, that in Case the Marriage should be refused by Edward the Fourth, that then the King of Scotland should repay the same, for Security whereof not only that King gave his Letters Patents, but the Provost and City of Edinburg bound themselves for Performance, and some of this Money being paid according to this Contract, Garier King of Arms, and Northumberland Herald, were at length sent to re-demand the same from the King of Scotland, and from these Securities, to whom Garier King of Arms declared the

Edw. IV. vol. 10 p. 165. 166—Edward by the Grace of God King of England, and of France, and Lord of Ireland, to all to whom this present Writing shall come, Greeting. We have seyne certayne Letters made and passed under the Common Seale of the Towne of Edinburg in Scotland, by the Provost, Burgesles, Marchantes, and Commitee of the same Towne, bearing Date the fourth day of August this present yere of our Lorde Mil. CCCCLXXXII. containing in Effecte, that whereas it was some tyme consumed and agreed betwene Us of the one partye, and the High and Mighty Prince James King of Scots our Cousine of the other Partye, that Marriage and Matrimonye shulde have bene solemnized and had betwixt James the firste begotten Son of our seyd Cousine, and our Right cherly beloved Daughter Cecily, and that by Us for the said Marriage to have been performed. Certain and diverse grette Sommes of money ben paid and Conceded, Walter Barrons Provost of the Towne of Edinburg in Scotland, and the hole Feleship of Marchantes, Burgeslez, and Commitee of the seide Towne, have Bounde themselves, their Heires, and Successors, That if it were our Pleasur, that the seid Marriage shuld be performed according to the seide Communication and Writing thereupon passed, that then it shuld be welle and truly kepte and accomplished on the Partye of our said Cousin the King of Scots: And if it were not our Pleasur to have the seide Marriage performed and accomplished, that then the seide Walter Provost, Burgeslez, Marchantes, and Commitee of the seid Towne, or any of them shuld pay and Content unto Us all the seid Sommes of Money, that was payde for the seid Marriage, at lyke Termez and Dayes immediately ensuying the Resolvaile of the seide Marriage, and in such lyke maner and fourme as the seid Sommes were afore delivered contented and payed: Provided alwey, that we shuld give Notice of our Pleasur and Election in the Premises, in taking or refusing the seid Marriage, or of the Repayment of the seid Sommes of Money to our seid Cousin the King of Scots, or Lordes of his Councelle, or to the seide Provost and Marchantes, or any of them within the Royme of Scotland being for the tyme, afore the Feste of Hallowis then next to come, as in the seide Letters it is Conteyned more at large. Wherefore we the seide Edward King of England and of France willing to declare our Mynde, Pleasur, and Election touching the Premises, within the tyme in the seide Letters Expressed, for diverse grette Causes and Consideracions us moving, have Chosen the Partye to have the Repayment of all suche Money, as we have payde in Contemplation of the seide Marriage, Retusing and Refuse for the said Causes and Consideracions the performing and Accomplishment of the seide Marriage, and therefore we let you wyte, that trusting upon the feith, Trough and Diligence of our Truly and Welbelovd Sarvaunt Garier King of Arms, and of Northumberland Herald, we have made Ordeigned and Constitute Jointly, and severally, the same Garier and Northumberland our Ambassadors, Orators, Procurators, Factors and Messengers, Charging and Commanding them, and over that geving to them, and either of them, by these Prefences, full Power, Licence, and Auctorite to go and Adresse themselves unto the Royme of Scotland, there to Notifye unto such Persones as, by Vertue of the seide Letters, Notification or Knowledge oughte to be made unto, Namely and principally to the Provost, Burgeslez, Marchantes, and Commitee of the seide Towne of Edinburg, or any of them, within the seide Royaulme of Scotland for the tyme being afore the Feste of All Hallowis next to come, our Pleasur and Election in the Premises. And that we have utterly refused the seid Marriage, and Takyn us to have the Repayment of all such Sommes of Money, as for Occasion of the seide berruled Marriage we have payde and Contented afore this tyme: Promittyn in the Word of a King, that by all suche Notification, Declaration, and Knowledge of our seid Pleasur and Election, as the seide Garier and Herald or the one of them shall, in fourme above expressed, make and publish in this Partye, We shall abyde and the same holde ferme, and stable to thintent in the seid Letters conteyned, undet obligation and Plege of all oure Goodes. In witness whereof we have doon this Letters to be made Patentes. Yeven under our Greater Seale at oure Palois of Windsor the xiiij day of October, in the xxiii yere of our Reigne.

166.

Per ipsam Regem

Sab magna sigilli de Cera glauci
 Claris pendente a Causa Pergoniana

Sovereign's Refusal of the said Marriage, whole Speech thereon is exemplified at large.

In

Per Roper, fol. 13. p. 167. In Dei Nomine Amen.
 Præsentia publicum Instrumentum Constitutum apparet evidenter, quod Anno Domini Millesimo, Quadragesimo, octavo, scilicet secundo, Indictione prima, Pontificatus Sanctissimi in Christo patris & Domini nostri Domini Sixti divini Providentia Papæ quatuor anni Indictionem, Mensis vero Octobris die Vicesimo Septimo, in Vestibulo Ecclesie Paschalis Sancti Augustini Ville de Edinburgo Diocesis Sancti Andree in Scotia situate, coram Venerabilibus, discretis, & honestis Viris Patriis Barthelemy Præposito, David Garter Ballivo, ac Waltero Bortone, Roberto de Borthol, George Bartram, Bartholomeo Curat, George Barlow, Roberto Leger, Willielmo Farley, Mercatoribus, & Burgenlibus dicte Ville de Edinburgo, ac nonnullis aliis eisdem Villa Mercatoribus, Burgenlibus, & Communitatibus, in mei Johannis Richardson Notarii publici subscripti & Testium infrascriptorum presentia Constitutus personaliter Discretus Vir, Garter Rex Armorum, Noveris, Servetis, Procurator, Orator, Executor & Ambasciator, ut assensit, Christianissimum Principem & Dominum Edwardi Dei Gratia, Regis Anglie & Francie ac Domini Hibernie, tenens & habens in Manus suis quendam Pergaminum Scutum, & inter Cœtera tunc ibidem communicata, idem Garter tenens Scutum & Contenta in eadem publice alta & intelligibili voce legit, sub isto qui sequitur Tenore Verborum.

I Garter King of Arms, Servant, Proctor, and Messger unto the most High and Myghty Prince my moost Dear Sovereign Lord Lord Edward by the Grace of God, King of England, and of France, and Lord of Irland, by Vertue of Certain Letters of Procuracy here relye to be shewed by me by my said Sovereign Lord made and given, make notice, and yeve Knowlich, unto you Provost, Burgeses, Marchantes, and Communitie of the Towne of Edinburg in Scotland, that whereas it was sumtime comownd and agreed, betwix my said Sovereign Lord on the oon Partye and the Right High and Myghty Prince James King of Scots, on the other Partye, that Marriage and matrimonye shoulde have been solemnized and had betwix James the First begoten Son of the said King of Scots, and Gisle daughter to my said Sovereign Lord the King of England, and for the said Marriage ben performed, Certain and diverse grete Sommes of Money ben paid and Contented by my said Sovereign Lord, which Sommes of Money, in Case of Refusal of the said Marriage, by my said Sovereign Lord to be made and declared, ye the said Provost, Burgeses, Marchantes, and Communitate, and every of You be bound, and obliged by your Lettres under the Common Seal of the Town of Edinb, to Repaye unto his Highnesse undre like Forme, and at such Termes, as thei wer first paid, so that the King my Sovereign Lord, wold make Notice and Knowlich of his Pleasire and Election in Taking or Refusing of the said Marriage, or of the Repayment of the said Sommes of Money before the Fell of Albion next to come, like as in your feid Lettres being date at Edinburg the fourth day of August last passed, it was Contreined all at large. The Pleasire and Election of my said Sovereign Lord for diverse Causes and Considerations hym moving is to refuse thaccomplishing of the said Marriage, and to have the Repayment of all such Sommes of Money, as by Occasion of the same betroued Marriage his Highnesse hath paid, the said Repayment to be had of you

Provost, Burgeses, Marchantes and Communitie, and every of you, your Heirs, and Successors, according to your Bond and Obligation afore reheberd; and ther of, I yeve you Notice and Knowlich, by this Wrying, which I delyver unto you, within the Terme in your feid Lettres limited and expressed, to all Eminentes and Effedes, which therof may ensue.

Post cuius quidem fedule lectionem, supradictus Garter quoddam Procuratorium, Mandatum, sive Littera Procuratorii magno sigillo ipsius Christianissimi Principis Edwardi Regis munito, ut apparet, in Carta glauca Coloris Sappulani: In Carta sigilli medio ex parte una insculpta erat Imago Regis positi in throno sedentis in manibus sua dextra scriptum habentis, & in manu sua sinistra quoddam pemon five Pluma Rotundam tenentis, & in ipsius sigilli Circumferentia scripta erant ista verba viz. Edmudus Dei Gratia Rex Anglie & Francie, & Dominus Hibernie, in altera vero parte illius sigilli, Sculpta erat Figura Regis, sive Hominis Armati sedentis super Equum, tenentis in manu sua dextra Gladium, & ante Pectus quendam Clipeum tenentis, & in eisdem sigilli Rotunditate ex alia parte scripta fuerunt verba sequentia, scilicet, Edwardus Dei Gratia Rex Anglie & Francie, & Dominus Hibernie. Cujus quidem Procuratorii Tenor talis est.

Edward by the Grace of God King of England, &c.

Tunc ibidem coram ipsis Venerabilibus Viris exhibuit, & monstravit, ac idem procuratorium, sive eisdem litteris Procuratorii, una cum scheda predicta eis tradidit & liberavit: qui quidem Patriis Præpositus memoratus ipsa Procuratoria & Schedulam a Manus dicti Garter grantavit, ut apparuit, recepit, & penes se custodivit, & consequenter vicefimo Nono die dicti Mensis Octobris, Anno Domini, Indictione, Pontificatu, & loco in principio presentis Instrumenti designatis coram eisdem venerabilibus Viris Patriis præposito & David Ballivo predictis, ac Archibaldo de Tarrick & Patrio Bawbinyne Ballivis, Thoma Zare & Willielmo de Rynde Burgenlibus, & Mercatoribus, et attestebat, dicte Ville de Edinburg, & Nonnullis aliis dicte Ville Mercatoribus, & Burgenlibus, in mei Johannis Notarii supradicti, & Testium infrascriptorum presentia Constitutus personaliter quidam Richardus Loefus dicte ville Communis Clericus, sive Recordator, supra dicto Garter tunc ibidem presentis ista Verba subsequenter, sive alia eis in effectu Confimilia, publice, alta, & intelligibili voce dixit, protulit, & emisit, viz.

We understand by your Kingys Wrying, and by You, the Pleasire and Election of your King according to his Wrying; and we trust to God, that at the Day of Payment of the Money, your Kingys Grace, shall be so Contented, that he shall hold hym pleasid, and your Kingys Wrying is right Welcome unto Us; and we pray you of your good Report to your King, and that you will recommend us to him.

Super quibus præmissis ipse Garter me Notarium publicum subscriptum sibi unum, vel plura, Publicum, seu Publica Instrumentum, sive Instrumenta conficere requisivit.

Acta sunt hæc proot supra scribuntur, & recitantur, sub anno Domini, Indictione, Pontificatu, mense, Diebus & loco predictis, Præsentibus tunc ibidem in supradicta fedula Lectione ipsiusque Procuratorii

In 22 Edw. IV, he was sent into France, upon certain Messages, and was one of the Officers, who attended on the ^b Funeral of Edward the Fourth.

He attended on the ^c Coronation of R. III., who on 30 Novemb. in his first Year confirmed his former ^d Patent, with Writs to the Collectors of the [Pett] Customs in London, to pay his Salary, and likewise to the Keeper of the Wardrobe for his annual Livery, and he is the First or Chief to whom the ^e Charter of Incorporation of the Heralds was grant-Procuratori Exhibitione, Offensione, Liberatione, & Receptione eandem, William Wra alias Col of Wra & Pere Geandry, Seulmergi & Leitger roff Dioecelium, Praesentibus etiam in districtum verborum, sic ut praefertur per ipsum Ricardum Leufon prolatorum, Emiffione & prolatione dictis William Wra alias Col of Wra & Pere Geandry, ac Northerland Hualdo Armoreum, Nicholas Hemby & Roberto Leander, Cicostrenfi, Grenewicli & Lichfeldenfi, ac Eborum Dioecelium, Testibus ad praemissa Vocatis specialiter & rogatis. Et ego Johannes Richardson Clericum Certhens Dioecel, Publico auctoritate Apostolica Notarius, praemissa Scedula Lectioni, ac dicti Procuratori Exhibitionis, Offensionis, Liberationis, & Receptionis, Ceterisque Praemissis omnibus & singulis, dum sic, ut praerititur, sub Anno Domini, Indictione, Pontificatu, Mense, Diebus, & Loco praedictis agebantur & hebant, unicum praenominatis Testibus Praefatus personaliter interfuisset, eaque omnia & singula sic fieri Vidi, & Audivi, praesens quoque publicum Instrumentum, Manu mea propria scriptum, ex inde collecti, publicavi, & in hanc publicam formam redegit, signoque & Nominis mei solita, & Confectus hactenus rogatus & requisitus in Fidem & Testimonium omnium & singulorum Praemissorum.

Et Constat michi Notario auctore de Interrelatione harum Dictarum, Lord, vobis, vires taliter, quas approbo Ego Notarius memoratus

Ad inum Signi

Johannes Richardson

Testimonium fidele perhibeo.

22 Feb. 22 E. 4. (in Officiis Pelloni) Edward, Ch. To the Treasurer, &c. Where as we send at this time Oure trovy and wellbelovyd Servant Geovur King of Armes into the parties of France on Certain our Messages to be done there and have gyven unto him towards his Costs and Charges which he shall susteyne in that behalf 22 l.

b. l. 5. in Off. Arm. p. 7. l. 21. p. 83. 84. MS. of Matthias Richardson among D. of Norfolk MS. in OE. Arm.

i. MS. Ant. a Wood in Mus. Alim. Oxon. n. 33. f. 21.

1 Pat. 1 R. 3. p. 1. m. 5. Rex omnibus et quos, &c. Salutem, Sciatis, quod cum Dominus E. nuper Rex Anglie, frater noster Considerationis aciem in laudabilia servicia, quos Dilectus sibi Johannes Wylde alias nuper dictus Norrey Rex Armoreum partium borealium Regni Anglie, in hiis que ad Officium illud spectare intelligebantur, exercuit, diligens, eundem propterea & non minus ob solertiam & Sapientiam, quos idem frater noster in eo Satis habuit exploratas, in Principalem Heraldum & Officiarium incliti Ordinis Generris, *Armoreum*que Regem Anglicorum ex Gratia sua specialiter creaverit, fecerit, Constituerit, ordinaverit, Creaverit, & Coronaverit, ac et Officium illud, necnon Nomen le Geovur filium, titulum, libertates & preeminencias hujusmodi Officio convenientis & concordantis, ac ab antiquo Consuetudine, dedit & Concesserit, ac ipsum in eisdem realiter investiverit; Habendam, occupandam, & Exercendam Officium illud, ac nomen, titulum, & preeminencias praedictas eidem Johanni pro termino vite sue, cum omnibus Juribus, proficiis, Commoditatibus, & Emolumentis eidem Officio qualitercumque debitis, percipientibus sive spectantibus; Et alterius Concesserit idem frater noster praefato Johanni in Regem Armoreum Anglicorum, ut praeretur, credo quadraginta libras per Annum, ratione & Causa Officii illius, percipientibus eidem Johanni singulis Annis durante vita sua, pro Valdis & feodis Officii praedicti de parva Custumia in portu Civitatis Londonie, per manus Custumiarum five Collectorum Custumia praedicta in portu praedicti pro tempore existentium, ad terminus Sancti Michaelis & Pasche per equales portiones una cum tali libertate ventura, qualem & eisdem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius hujusmodi Rex Armoreum, sive Principalis Heraldus tempore Domini E. nuper Regis Anglie tertii Progenitoris nostri, habuit & percipit, habendum & percipiendum annuatim liberatam hujusmodi eidem Johanni singulis Annis pro termino vite sue, ad magnam Garderobera ipsius fratris nostri, per manus Custodis ejusdem pro tempore existentis, prout in Literis Patentibus dicti fratris nostri, quarum datum est apud Westmonasterium sexto die Junii, Anno Regni sui decimo Othavo inde Confectis plenius Continetur. Nos autem literas praedictas & omnia & singula in eisdem Contentis ratas habentes, & gratas, eas pro Nobis & Haereditibus Nostris, quantum in Nobis est, acceptamus, ratificamus, & approbamus, ac eidem Johanni Concedimus, & Confirmamus pro praesente, aliquo Statuto, Actu, vel Ordinatione in Contrarium factis vel habitis non obstantibus.— In Cujus, &c. Telle Rege apud Westmonasterium xxx. die Novembris. Per breve de privato Sigillo & de data, &c. & pro quatuor Marcis solutus in Hampferio.

Et Mandatum est Custumariis, five Collectoribus parve Custumie in portu Civitatis Regis Londonie, qui nunc sunt, & qui pro tempore erunt, quod eidem Johanni id, quod ei a retro est, de praedictis quadraginta libris Annuis, a praedicto Sexto die Junii, et eisdem quadraginta libris Annuis extunc praedictis, et eidem quadraginta libris Annuis extunc praedictis, de tempore in tempus solvant, juxta tenorem literarum & Confirmationis praedictarum.

— Telle ut supra.

Et Mandatum est Custodi Magnae Garderobera Regis, qui nunc est, & qui pro tempore erit, quod eidem Johanni id, quod ei a retro est, de praedicta liberata Vestura annua a praedicto sexto die Junii et eandem liberatam Vesturam annuam ex tunc singulis Annis eidem Johanni pro termino vite sue de Magna Garderobera Regis, de tempore in tempus liberet, juxta tenorem Literarum & Confirmationis praedictarum. Telle ut supra.

1 See Rymer, vol. 12. p. 225.

ed with the Messuage called Colebarbert, so that Mr. ^m Philpot is in an Error touching this Houle.

And on the Fourth of January, he was one of the ⁿ Sureties for Gloucester King of Arms, for the Payment of a Rent reserved to the Crown.

After Hen. VII came to the Throne, he had his Robe ordered him before the Coronation, which was on the 30th of Oct. and obtained on the 13th of February a Confirmation of the Patent granted him by Edward m Villere Concinnam, p. 164. " Jack Gale burnt down the Office of Arms then kept at Colebarbert, and destroyed their Rolles, Registers, and books of Armo^y. His Insurrection was in the 28th of Hen. vi. Rymer, vol. xi. p. 275. and six Years before this Time this Houle had been granted to John Holland Duke of Exeter, Pat. 22 H. 6. p. 1. m. 13. Mr. Lambard in his Perambulation of Kent, p. 240. writes, That Jack Straw and Jack Gale foolishly defaced the Records and Monuments both of the Law and Armo^y, and Gerard Leigh, in his Accidence, p. 134. saith, That in Rich. the Second's Days, Jack Straw, William Wane, and their Companions, in the Time of Hen. vi. Jack Gale, in the Reign of Ed. iv. the Bastard of Boulogne and Giffrey Gate, in the Time of Henry vii. His Days Perkin Warbeck and the Black-Smith, all which, with their Accomplices, have defaced Law and Arms.

a Fin. 1 R. 3. m. 10. Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem, Sciatis quod per manucapionem Fab. Garterii Capituli Regis Armo^y & Th. Clarenceus Regis Armo^y in Australemsibus Commissarius Ricardo Chempney alias dilecto Gloucester Regi Armo^y Custodiam Manerii de Honyngfeld in Comitatu Kentie, habendum a festo Sancti Michaelis ultimo preterito usque ad finem viginti Annorum ex tunc proxime sequentium & plenarie Completorum, Reddendo inde Nobis per Annum pro Custodia predicta decem Libras & duodecim Denarios, pro ut Nobis responsum est, & duodecim denarios ultra de Incremento predicto annuo ad Festa Pasche & Sancti Michaelis per equales portiones, ac sustentando Domos, Clausuras & Edificia, necnon Supporando omnia alia Onera dicte Custodie pertinentia sine aliquo modo incumbencia quamdiu Custodiam habere voluerit supradictam, Proviso semper, quod si aliquis alius plus date voluerit de Incremento per annum sine fraude vel malo Ingenio, quod tunc distum Ricardo tunc eodem solvere teneatur, si Custodiam habere voluerit supradictam. In Cujus, &c. Telle Rege apud Westminsterium quarto die Januarii— Per Billam Thesaurarie. Vide Rymer, vol. 12. p. 212.

a Penes Rem. Regis. Provisionis for the Coronation of Hen. viii. f. 207. Rolles for the Officers of Arms Garter, Richmond, Norrey Kings of Arms, in each v. yards of Cloth, Parfeysons Rougecroix, Eleumantie, Calys, Goufines, Hammes, Rifebank, Berwick, Montorgell, Myldece 3 yards and a half, Somerfet herald 5 yards.

p. 1 H. 7. (in Officio Pellium) — Per Regem. Reverende in Christo Patre Nobis quamplurimum dilecte Salutem, vobis Mandamus, quod sub privato sigillo nostro in Custodia vestra existente, literas nostras Cancellario nostro Anglie dirigendas fieri faciat, mandantes eadem, quod sub magno sigillo nostro in Custodia sua existente literas nostras patentes fieri faciat in forma sequente.

Rex omnibus ad Quos, &c. Salutem. Sciatis, quod cum Dominus Edwardus nuper Rex Anglie quartus per literas suas patentes, quarum datum est apud Westminsterium sexto die Julii Anno Regni sui 18^o creaverit, fecerit, Constituerit, Creaverit, & Coronaverit Johannem Wyble in principalem Heraldum & Officiarium incliti Ordinis Garterii, Armo^y; Regem Anglicorum, &c. Dat. sub Sig. nero 20 Febr. Anno Regni nostri primo.

Reverendo in Christo Patri nobis quamplurimum dilecto Episcopo Eborac Custodi privati Sigilli nostri.

Pat. 1 H. 7. p. 2 m. 13. — Rex omnibus ad Quos, &c. Salutem. Sciatis, quod cum Dominus Edwardus nuper Rex Anglie quartus per literas suas patentes, quarum datum est apud Westminsterium sexto die Julii Anno Regni sui decimo octavo creaverit fecerit, Constituerit, Ordinaverit, Creaverit, & Coronaverit Joh. Wyble in principalem Heraldum & Officiarium incliti Ordinis Garterii, Armo^yque Regem Anglicorum, ac ei officium illud, Necnon Nomen le Garter, titulum, titulum, libertates, & preeminencias hujusmodi Officio Conventivas & Concordantes, ac ab antiquo Confectas dederit, & per literas illas concesserit, Nec non ipsam in eisdem realiter Investiverit, Habendum, occupandum, & Exercendum Officium illud, ac Nomen, Stylum, titulum, libertates, & preeminencias predictas eidem Johanni pro termino vite sue cum Omnibus Juribus, Proventus, Commoditatibus, & Emolumentis eidem Officio qualitercumque debitis, pertinentiis, sive spectantibus, prout in eisdem literis plenius continetur; nos autem de Gratia nostra speciali, ac intuitu obsequii predicti Johannis Wyble literas predictas, que ad officium predictum, ac ad omnia & singula premissa officium illud tangencia in dictis literis Patentibus contentis rata habentes & grata, ea pro Nobis Hereditibus nostris, quantum in Nobis est, acceptamus, approbamus, ratificamus & Confirmamus: Et nuper de uberiori Gratia nostra Concessimus, & per presentes Concedimus prefato Johanni in Regem Armo^y Anglicorum, ut preterit, Erecto qualraginta libras per Annum, Ratione & Causa Officii illius, habendum & percipiendum eidem Johanni singulis Annis durante vita sua, pro vadis & foedis Officii predicti, de Beatribus Proventus, firmis, & reventionibus de Comitatu Londonia & Middlesexia provenientibus, sive *Arce*ntibus, Necnon de quibuscumque debitis, & denariis summis in Comitatu predicto per Vicecomites Comitatum predictorum pro tempore Existentes, ad opus nostrum, vel heredium Nostrorum levantis pro miras Vicecomitum eorundem Comitatum pro tempore Existentium, ad festa Pasche & Sancti Michaelis, per equales portiones, una cum tali liberata Vestura, et eisdem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius hujusmodi Rex Armo^y, sive Principibus Heraldus tempore Domini Edwardi nuper Regis Anglie tertii Progenitoris nostri habuit & percepit, Habendum & Percipiendum annuatim liberatam hujusmodi eidem Johanni singulis annis pro termino vite sue ad Magnum Garterobam Nostram per Manus Custodia ejusdem pro tempore exiitens: Et quia Certitudinaliter Nobis Constat, quod dictus Johannes officium predictum a vicennio secundo die Agustii ultimo preteriti locupletis exercuit & occupavit, nulla Valis foeda, seu regarda de Nobis proinde habens esse percipiendi, de gratia nostra predicta Concessimus & per presentes Concedimus prefato Johanni tot & tanta denariis summis ad que & quantas quousque draginta libra per annum a dicto Vicefimo &c.

Edward the Fourth, with 40 l. yearly from the Revenues of London and Middlesex, with a Writ to the Sheriffs to pay it, and on the 10th of July following, he had 40 l. more, by reason of the said Office, granted from the Petit Customs, notwithstanding any former Gifts, and the next Day a Writ issued to the Customs to pay it: And in the Act of Resumption then made, there is an Exception for the Salary of Garter; but notwithstanding these Favours, we are informed that Colebarbert, granted curia die Augusti ultimo præterito hucusque se nitiqunt, Habendum & percipiendum eidem Johanni de Nobis, Nomine Regardi, de Exitibus, Proficiis, firmis, & Reventionibus dictorum Comitatum Londonie & Middlesexie provenientibus, five emergentibus per manus Vicecomitum dictorum Comitatum pro tempore existentium, Eo quod expressa Mentio de vero Valore annuo præmissorum, seu aliquis eorum, aut de aliis donis, five Concessionibus eidem Johanni per nos ante hæc tempora factis in presentibus minime factis existentibus, aut aliquo Statuto, Acto, Ordinatione, provisione seu restrictione in Contrarium factis, editis, ordinatis, five provisus aut aliqua alia re, Causa, vel materia quancunque non obstant. In cujus, &c. Teste Rege apud Westminsterium xiii die Februarii— Per breve de privato Sigillo, & de data, &c. & pro sex solidis & octo denariis solutis in Hæsarero.

Et insuper est Vicecomitibus Comitatum Londonie & Middlesexie, qui nunc sunt, & qui pro tempore erunt, quod eidem Johanni id, quod ei arcto est de prædictis quadraginta libris nomine Regardi, a prædicto vicesimo secundo die Augusti & dictas quadraginta libras annuas eidem Johanni ex tunc singulis annis, durante vita sua prædicta, ad terminum prædictos, de Exitibus, proficiis & reventionibus prædictorum Comitatum Londonie & Middlesexie, de tempore in tempus solvant iuxta tenorem litterarum nostrarum prædictarum, Recipientes a præfato Johanne de tempore in tempus littera suas Acquiescencie, tam pro eo, quod ei arcto est de prædictis quadraginta libris, nomine Regardi, a prædicto vicesimo secundo die Augusti, quam de dictis quadraginta libris annuis de tempore in tempus, quæ pro Vobis sufficientes fuerint in hac parte; per quas, & præfata Mandatum Nostrum Nos vobis inde in Computo Vestro ad faccariationem haberi faciemus— Teste Rege apud Westminsterium xiiii die Februarii.

9 Pat. 1 H. 7. p. 1. m. 19. Rex Omnibus ad Quos, &c. Salutem, sciatis quod Nos de Grata nostra speciali, ac ex certa Scientia, & mero motu nostra, Certis notabilibus de Causis nos specialiter Moventibus, Dedicimus, & Concedimus ac per presentes Damus, & Concedimus dilecto Nobis Johanni Wrythe alias dilecto Regi Armorum Anglicorum quadraginta libras Sterlingorum per annum, ratione & Causis Officii illius, Habendum & percipiendam eidem Johanni singulis annis, durante vita sua, pro vadis & feodis officii prædicti, de parva Custuma nostra in portu Civitatis nostræ Londonie, per manus Custumiariorum five Collectorum Custumæ prædictæ in portu prædicto pro tempore existentium, ad terminos Sancti Michaelis & Pasche, per æquales Portiones, prout in Literis nostris prædictis plenius Continetur. Vobis precipimus, quod eidem Johanni id, quod ei a retro est, de prædictis quadraginta libris annuis, & eisdem quadraginta libras annuas ex nunc singulis annis de parva Custuma nostra prædicta, ad terminos prædictos, de tempore in tempus, solvatis, iuxta tenorem litterarum nostrarum prædictarum, Recipientes a præfato Johanne de tempore in tempus litteras suas Acquiescencie, quæ pro Vobis sufficientes fuerint in hac parte, per quas & præfata Mandatum Nostrum, Nos vobis inde in Computo Vestro ad faccariationem haberi faciemus.— Teste Rege apud Westminsterium xii^o die Julii.

1 Part. 1 H. 7. provision for our wellbelovéd John Wrythe, otherwise called Garter, touching his Creation to the Office of King of Arms by Ed. vi, or his Ancestry by us granted.

dem pro tempore existentis, Et quia Certitudinaliter Nobis Constat quod dictus Johannes Officium prædictum a vicesimo secundo die Augusti ultimo præterito sumptibus suis propriis hucusque Exerçuit, & Occupavit, nulla vadia, feoda, seu regarda de Nobis providè habens, aut percipiens, de Grata nostra speciali Concessimus, & per presentes Concedimus præfato Johanni tot & tantis Denariorum summis, ad quot & quantas quadraginta libras per annum a dicto vicesimo secundo die Augusti ultimo præterito hucusque se attingunt, Habendum & percipiendum eidem Johanni de nobis, Nomine Regardi, de parva Custuma nostra prædicta in portu Civitatis Nostræ Londonie prædictæ, per manus Custumiariorum five Collectorum Custumæ prædictæ in portu prædicto pro tempore existentium, Eo quod expressa Mentio de vero Valore annuo præmissorum, seu aliquis eorum, aut aliis donis five Concessionibus eidem Johanni per Nos ante hæc tempora factis, in presentibus minime facta existit, aut aliquo Statuto, Acto, Ordinatione, provisione seu restrictione in Contrarium factis, editis, Ordinatis, seu provisus; aut aliqua alia re, Causa, vel materia quancunque non obstante.— In cujus, &c. Teste Rege apud Westminsterium 10 die Julii.

Per breve de privato Sigillo & de data, &c.

1 Claus. 1 H. 7. N. 11.— Rex Custumariis, five Collectoribus parve Custumæ Nostræ in portu Civitatis nostræ Londonie, qui nunc sunt, & qui pro tempore erunt, Salutem. Cum nos decimo die Julii, Anno Regni Nostri primo per litteras nostras patentes, de Grata nostra speciali dilectimus, & Concesserimus dilecto Nobis Johanni Wrythe alias dilecto Regi Armorum Anglicorum, quadraginta libras Sterlingorum per annum, ratione & Causis Officii illius, Habendum & percipiendum eidem Johanni singulis Annis, durante vita sua, pro vadis & feodis Officii prædicti, de parva Custuma nostra in portu Civitatis Nostræ prædictæ, per manus Custumiariorum five Collectorum Custumæ prædictæ in portu prædicto pro tempore existentium, ad terminos Sancti Michaelis & Pasche per æquales Portiones, prout in Literis nostris prædictis plenius Continetur. Vobis precipimus, quod eidem Johanni id, quod ei a retro est, de prædictis quadraginta libris annuis, & eisdem quadraginta libras annuas ex nunc singulis annis de parva Custuma nostra prædicta, ad terminos prædictos, de tempore in tempus, solvatis, iuxta tenorem litterarum nostrarum prædictarum, Recipientes a præfato Johanne de tempore in tempus litteras suas Acquiescencie, quæ pro Vobis sufficientes fuerint in hac parte, per quas & præfata Mandatum Nostrum, Nos vobis inde in Computo Vestro ad faccariationem haberi faciemus.— Teste Rege apud Westminsterium xii^o die Julii.

1 Part. 1 H. 7. provision for our wellbelovéd John Wrythe, otherwise called Garter, touching his Creation to the Office of King of Arms by Ed. vi, or his Ancestry by us granted.

granted by the Charter of Rich. III, was seized into the King's Hands, becaute it was supposed to belong ' personally to Him, and not to the Officers of Arms in their Corporate Capacity; and in this first " Year he had 80*l.* Reward, in the next was sent to the " King of the Romans, whose " Instructions for that Purpose taken from the Original are Tran-

¹ Insuperius Mr. Stow, in his Survey of London, could not find how the Heralds became displaced from this Office: See also Weaver's Fun. Mon. p. 686. Sir George Bae saith only in general, That they were removed to Rouncival by those who did not approve the Doings of Rich. 2. Unconformity at the End of Stow, p. 1288. But the Heralds in their Petition in the Reign of Hen. 8. that the King would be pleased to grant them some Place to keep their Apartments, Closets, and Library, insert these Words, " As they had of late dayes the House of Coldharbour, the which to them appertained by gift under the Kings broad Seal, as may appear, the which house was taken from the said Office of Arms at the coming into the realm of King Hen. the vii of most noble memory, and that for because, that it was presupposed, and taken for the very house of John Writb then being Garter King of Arms dwelling in it, and so when the house was taken from the said John Writb, all the bookes which longed to the whole Office remained in his keepinges." MS. of Char. Lees, given to the Office by Mr. Hate Richmond, p. 211, 212, &c. and in another MS. given by him, which was Dethick's, p. 221 l. 8c. It would be too strange here, to shew that Bae was mistaken as to Rouncival, as also to give an Account of these Bookes, which were afterwards in 1504. delivered to Machado Clarenceux, and then came into the Possession of Bencolt, who gave them by Will to Hawley then Carlisle, at which Time a Catalogue was made of all the Bookes so devised, now in the Custody of this Collector, 11 Office. Pell.

² 24 Oct. 2 H. 7. (in Officio Pelliam) Henr. 6. To the Tresorer, &c. Forasmuch as we at this tyme send unto our Cousyn the King of Romania our Truly and wellbelovéd Herald Garter King of Arms, to open and shew unto our said Cousyn Certain things Concerning our pleasure, for whose Costs we have assigned him 20 Marks, &c.

Priv. Sigill. in Officio Pelliam m. 2 H. 7. Garter Herald pro Expensis suis usq. Regem Romanorum xx Marcs, Magistro Olivero missis usq. Regem Franca pro expensis suis, Lancaster and York Heraldis missis in Comitatu usque eundem Regem pro Expensis x Marcas.

Lib. Comput. m. 2 H. 7. Garter Herald Regi Armorum missis in Negotiis Regis versus Regem Romanorum pro Custibus & Expensis suis, 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

H. [The King's Monogram].

³ " Instruction baillée par le Roy d'Angleterre, & de France, Seigneur d'Flandrs, a Son Roy d'Armes Garter, & a Thomas Wynnam Marchant de l'estaple, lesquels Il envoie devers treshault & puissant Prince le Roy des Romains son Cousin, au quel Ils diront de bouche les Choies qui c'ensuivent.

Premierement Remonstreront audit Cousin plusieurs de ses subtilz Fraingans, & eulx d'uns estre d'autre Nation comme Danois ou autrement, ont longuement estes sur Ja mer & encore yront, lesquels ont prins & prennent chacun Jour les subgez du dit Seigneur & J'eulx avec leurs Navires biens & Marchandises ont mené & n'ayent vendré & distribuer & en faire leur bon plaisir es pays & soubz loyevance du dict Cousin en les mettent a finance & Raison, comme sil y avoit guerre ouverte entre eulx.

Item que ledits & autres mailleuseurs & pirates de mer four es pays du dit Cousin soustenu Receptez Vituiller & maintenus, & desira par es devant le dit Seigneur a par ses lettres missives adverty & ledit Cousin.

Item en Continuans J'eulx excec & Oultraiges lesdits mailleuseurs & autres pirates de mer ont nagairs mesmeement en ce moy d'Octobre, prins un Marchant nome Arnould de Londres, lequel avec sa merchandise a par eulx este mené & avec ce Ilz ont prins plusieurs autres des Subjects du dit Seigneur Dont ample declaration est faicte en ung billet delivré ausdits Garter & Wynnam pour le dire & declarer ausdits Cousin.

Item ditont J'eulx Garter & Wynnam, que cest chose bien congnue que aucuns subgez d'audit Cousin ont prins nagairs fait haulleur & aprestre a leur propre Courre & depens certains Navires esquipés en guerre. Dont des aucuns un escosfais Nomme le Seigneur de Criketon est Capitaine, qui se donne accompagnie avec les autres dessus mencionnez ainsi que eulx mesmes le dyent. Car aucuns de leur Compaignie fait venus devers le dit Souverain apportans leur congnoissance Cest savoir la blanche Rose, le sur, & de la hysse blanche, & plusement ont donne a coignoisse toute leur entreprense qui nest pas pour prendre seulement les subgez d'audit Seigneur mais pour lui cuder faire grief & Nuysance tant a sa personne, comme a son Royaume, en ayant quelque entendement secret avec aucuns ses ennemis & Rebelles, Dont il se donne merveilles que le dit Cousin le Veuille Consentir ne patmetre, Remembrant les tresues & entrecours de Marchandise prins entre eulx & les promesses sur ce faictes & Selvees, Car telles Choies ne se peuvent faire es pays du dit Cousin sans son feait ou Consentement au moins quil nen ait aucune congnoissance car tout le monde le fait ainsi que de chose bien publique.

Surquoy les dits Garter, & Wynnam diront quilz sont la venus pour entendre & savoir ouvertement & plairement l'intention du dit Cousin, & de ce que faire voudra tant pour la Reparation & Reparation diceulx excec & achemptez comme pour eviter Ceulx qui pour le temps advenir se pouvoient Commettre & enfaier Ainsque le dit Seigneur puisse certainement congnoistre sur quoy Il le pourra allurer & fier, Et Il a intention d'entretiens seulement & Justement les dits tresues & entrecours de marchandise au non Aussi lesdits Garter & Wynnam desireront savoir le dit Cousin enverra ses disputez a Colais aladyete accordee Yeste tenue avec ceulx d'audit Seigneur En la conclusion prins avec Maistre Pierres puisant son Ambassadeur quant demierement estoit pardeca, Et savoir le Jour que ses Deputez se trouveront audit lieu de Colais.

Fait & expedit au Manoir de Greenwieb le dernier Jour doctobre Mil. CCCC. lxxx. & six.

H. [The King's Monogram] in the Collector's Copy.

scrib

scribed into the Margin, and in the third Year was in ^a Ireland; in the fourth was in ^b Bretagne, in the sixth was sent to the King of the ^c Romans with the Garter, which ^a Ashmole, by a Mistake, ascribes to his Son and Successor Sir Thomas.

In this Year he attended, by the King's Command, on the ^b Embassador of the King of the Romans at Dover, and conducted him to London, and was then sent ^c Embassador with Francis Dupo into Bretagne, whose Business there was to take ^d Obligations from Anne the Dutchess, and the three Estates, for such Money as had, or should be laid out by the King for the Defence of that Country, and by a late Historian he is remembered to have been in that Dutchy in 1491, with ^e Wallingford Pursivant to the Prince of Wales, that is his Son Thomas, afterwards his Successor in this Office.

In the Seventh of Henry VII. he was sent first to the ^f Duke of ^x In Officio Pellium—Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c. that ye paie unto our trusty and welbelovyd Garter King of Armes 20 Marc. by Way of Reward for his Coits and Expences to be born into and from our Lord of Ireland 1 June 3 H. 7. on the same day CCC*l.* Sterling Ordered to Sir R. Eggesham for the same purpose.

Priv. Sig. In Officio Pellium. P. 3 H. 7. Garter Regi Armarum pro Expensis suis habitis usque a partibus Hibernia 20 marc.

^y 4 June 4 H. 7. (In Officio Pellium) Henri, &c. To the Tresorer, &c. Whereas We at this tyme send our Trusty and Welbelovyd Servant Garter King of Armes, for and upon Certain our Messages into the parties of Bretagne, Ye pay him 20 Marc, &c.

Priv. Sigill. P. 4 H. 7. Garter Regi Armarum pro expensis suis in Britania 20 Marc.

^z Franc. 6 H. 7. m. 22 Rex omnibus ad Ques, &c. Salutem. Sciant, quod cum Sacratissimum Principem Maximilianum Romanorum Regem semper Augustum Consanguineum nostrum Carissimum, in Confratrem Nobilissimum Ordinis Garteri una cum aliis ipsius Ordinis Militibus, elegerimus, ipsi quoque quodam Garteri insigni decoravimus, Cum etiam quendam Intelligentias, Passiones, Conventiones, Amicitias, Alligancias, & Confederationes inter eundem Consanguineum & Confratrem nostrum & Nos, per nos Nostrosque Commissarios, Procuratores, & Deputatos superiote sufficienti & legitime Autorizatos, novissime sub certis modo & forma pacti sint, factas, imitas, & Concluse, Quas quidem Intelligentias, Passiones, Conventiones, Amicitias, Alligancias, & Confederationes pro Parte nostra firmiter teneri & inviolabiliter observari volentes, per Literas nostras Patentes, manuali subscriptione, ac magno sigillo nostro munitas, pro Nobis & in nomine nostro, innovavimus: Nos de Fidelitatibus, Industrias, & providis circumspectionibus, dilectorum & fidelium serventium Nostrorum Gavri Sumersel Militis pro Corpore nostro, & Garteri Heraldici Regis Armarum plenius Confidentes, Ipsos nostros veros, & indubitatos Oratores, Commissarios, Legatos, Deputatos, & Nuncios facimus, Ordinamus, & Constitumus per presentes, Dantes & Concedentes eisdem plenam potestatem, & auctoritatem, ac Mandatum generale & speciale, tam idem Garterium, quam Literas nostras predictas eidem Consanguineo & Confratri nostro pro nobis & Nomine nostro deliberandi; Consimilique literas Patentes ab eodem Consanguineo

& Confratre nostro petendi, exigendi, & recipiendi, Ceteraque omnia & singula, que in Prenuntiis seu circa ea necessariis fuerint, seu quomodolibet opportuna faciendi, exercendi, & expediendi, eodem modo prout Nos ipsi faceremus & facere possemus, si presentes interfuissimus. In cuius, &c. Teste Rege apud Okyng duodecimo die Septembris— Per ipsum Regem. Rymer, vol. 12. p. 403.

Extr. Pell. P. 5 H. 7. Garter Regi Armarum missio per mandatum Domini Regis usque Regem Romanorum pro Custibus & expensis 33*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.*

^a Alun. Hist. of the Garter, p. 424.

^b Pajcha 6 *H. 7. Garteri Regi Armarum missio Mandato Domini Regis usque Ducei in Comitibus Ambasiatorum Regis Romanorum pro Custibus suis recipienti denariis per manus Willielmi Wardlaw servientis sui* 27*l.* 4*s.*

^c *Lib. Comput. P. 6 H. 7. Garteri Regi Armarum missio usque Ducei ad attendendum super Ambasiatores Regis Romanorum ipsos Consulendum usque London pro Expensis suis* 22*xxvi* 4.

^d *Lib. Comp. P. 6 H. 7. Willielmi Testy pro denariis solutis cuidam Nuncio missio a Domino Thesaurario usque Garterium Regem Armarum existentem cum Ambasiatoribus Regis Romanorum in Comitibus *Kencia 3*l.* 4*s.*

^e *Lib. Comp. P. 6 H. 7. Garteri Regi Armarum, ac Francisco Dupo missio in Negotio Regis usque partes Britannie pro Expensis* 20*l.*

^f Rymer, vol. 12. p. 439.

^g Lobineau Hist. de Bretagne, p. 813. Jartiere *Herauld du Roy d'Angleterre & Wallingford Pursivant du Prince de Galles estoient pour lors aupres de la Duchesse* 1491.

^h 20 Januarii 7 H. 7. (in Officio Pellium)

Signed

By the King

Right Trusty, &c. And forasmuche as we sende at this tyme our full trusty Servant Garter King of Armes in our Especial Messige unto our right dere Cousin the Duc of Burgaigne, and have appointed unto him the Somme of xx marks sterling for his Coits, &c.

Priv. Sig. m. 7 H. 7. Garteri Regi Armarum missio usque Ducem Burgonie 20 marcas.

ⁱ Lib. Comput. m. 7 H. 7. Garteri Regi Armarum missio Duci Burgonie pro Expensis 13*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* *Magistro Johanni Curteley nuper venienti in negotio ab Archiduce de Austria & Duce Burgonie de regardo pro literam per manus Garteri Regis Armarum* 22*l.*

Burgundy

Burgundy, then to ^b Cales, ^b Guifnes, and other Places, about Matters of Secrecy.

In ⁹ Hen. VII. he was sent into ⁱ France on the King's Affairs, and then to the ^k King of the Romans, with the Allowance of ⁵ s. ⁸ d. daily, having a Purfevant with him.

These Entries will be observed to be very imperfect, being taken from the short Notes of the Tellers, there being no Pelle Rolls, that the Collector knows, of the Issues of these Years.

Mr. *Afmo*le mentions the carrying the Garter to ⁱ Guido Ubaldus, ²² H. VII. by him, whereas he died before that Time, which is a Mistake for his Son and Successor.

He made his ^m Will ²⁵ March 1504, proved the last Day of April following, wherein he mentions three Daughters, Catherine married to John ^g Priv. Sigill. m. ⁷ H. 7. Garteri Regi Armorum pro Expensis suis utque Cales, & aliis locis. C.

^b 22d. Februrij ⁷ H. 7. (in Officio Pellium)

Signed By the King

Right Trusty—And forasmuche as we now sende our full Trusty Servant Garter King of Armes in our Especial and hasty Message unto Calsis, Guifnes, and other places beyond the See, and have appointed unto him 100 l. Es.

Mich. ⁷ H. 7. Garteri Regi Armorum missio Mandato Domini Regis usque Villan Cales, Guifnia & ad alia loca in partibus illis pro certis Secretis Negotiis Regis tanquam pro Expensis 100 l.

ⁱ Priv. Sigill. P. ⁹ H. 7. Franc. Marezon xx. l. & cuidam Presbitero xl. pro Custibus suis missis versus partes ultra mare, ac Garteri Regi ad Arma xx. l.

⁷ Jan. ⁹ H. 7. (in Officio Pellium).

Signed By the King.

Right Trusty, &c. Forasmuche as we send at this time in our especial Message into the parties of France our Trusty and welbelovd Servant Garter King at Armes, and for his Costs have assigned him 20 Marks Sterling, &c. ⁷ Janu.

^{Priv. Sig. M.} ⁹ H. 7. Garteri Regi Armorum missio in partes Francia 20 marcas.

Mich. ⁹ H. 7. Garter Roy d'Armes missio in Francia super negotiis Domini Regis pro Expensis suis 13 l. 6 s. 8 d.

^k ⁵ July ⁹ H. 7. In Officio Pellium.

Signed By the King.

Right Trusty— Forasmuche as we send at this time our full Trusty Servant Garter King of Armes, in our Especial Messages unto our Brother and Cousin the King of Romeyns, and have appointed him for his Costs and Expences from the time of his departing unto his Returne 60 l. 8 d. daily, and for the Charges going in his Company 5 Marks, &c.

^{Priv. Sig. P.} ⁹ H. 7. Garteri Regi Armorum missio in negotiis Regis ad Regem Romanorum capienti per Itam 60 l. 8 d. itinerando, & Cuidam Purfevanti in Comitiva sua de Rege 7 marks.

^{Lib. Conaput. P.} ⁹ H. 7. Garteri Regi Armorum missio Mandato Regis versus Regem Romanorum super expensis suis juxta ratam 60 l. 8 d. per diem dum erit in servitio versus eundem Regem sibi per Dominum Regem causa illa appunctuatis 20 marcas.

Eidem Gartero pro Expensis unius Purfevanti in Comitiva sua ad eundem Regem 5 Marcas.

ⁱ Atthm. Hist. of the Garter, p. 392.

^m Liber Holgrave in Officio Prerog. Cantuar. Qu. 9.

In the Name of God Amen, the 25 day of March the yere of our Lord God xxxxiii. I John Wiche, otherwise called Garter King of Armes, Esche hole of minde, nevertheless feebull of Body, first I bequeth my Soule to Almighty God, our blessed Lady, and all the holy Company of hevyn, my body to be buried in the Chur of St. Giles without Crepulpat in the same place, wher my wyve Elinor is buried. Also I bequeth to the lye Altar of Saint Giles for forgotten riches xl. Item to everich Prest of Saint Giles Church, that shall be at my burial, Dirige, and messe xx. d. Item to the Clerks after the rate Item to iiii poor Men to hold iiii tapers. Item to vi pore men to holde vi new Torches, every man iiii d. Item I will that my wyfe have my howse in Greblad, in the which Richard Horton now dwellyth in, with the ii hoppis during her life natural, the reversion to my Sonne Thomas, with all the Landis that ever was my fathers in Saltbury, Greblad, Chelmoorthe, Bibery. Item I bequeth my Sonne Thomas, and after him to his Sonne John a standing Cup gilt, the which the King of Romanus gave me. Item I bequeth to my Sonne Thomas a gilt flat peege, that was my fathers. Item I will and Ordaine, that my Sonne William have all my landis in Horow the Hill or within Middlesex that I bowgth of March King of Armes, And if he die without Issue of his body lawfully begoten, I will the reversion be unto my Sonne Thomas, and to his Issue lawfully begoten. Item I bequeth my Sonne William, also my bookes of Petegres. Item I bequeth my Sonne Thomas all my French bokis. Item I bequeth to my Sonne John Mynne, and to my dowghter Katerne his Wyfe that Land that I bowgth in Warwick called Dunm, so that thei annex hit to their owne manor. Item I bequeth to my Sonne John Mynne and to my dowghter Katerne his wyfe a Standing Covered, which I had of Nicholas Cke, and is in the Kepping of my Sonne Thomas. Item I bequeth to John Mynne a boke of Statutes which I bowgth of Punock. Item I bequeth to Anes Wiche a Salt with a Cover, which was her Godfathers. Item I bequeth to Birbara the felow of hit the other Salt without Covering. Item I bequeth my two yonge dowghters my ii Swagid gilt Salts. Item as the Law will, all the Landis and tenemens in John Minne, Agnes and Barbara, and William his Son, and John his Grand-son, Son of Thomas.

He died, and was buried at St. Giles Cripplegate, where was his Effigies, and an Inscription on a large Marble Stone, but neither remained in Walter's Time.

To him ^o Sir Henry Spelman (and thence the ^p Author of Jurisprud. Heroicæ) attributes the Invention of placing the Differences or Marks of Cadency, in the Chief of the Shield, but whether before or after his Promotion to be Garter cannot be collected from the nominating him only Feialis, neither doth the Collector know, what Authority Sir Henry had for it, tho' doubtless he had a sufficient one.

In the Ordinary of Arms made by ^q Thomas Wall Wyndesor in 1530 (who was afterwards himself Garter) "Wryth Garter beryth Asur three doves silver membry geules in a double tressoir floreite contre-floreite Gold—Wrythesly beryth Gold a Bend ingrayered Geuls; but at length his Descendants bore a plain Cross Or betwixt four Doves closed Argent". If these were Doves (wherein several ^r MSS. agree) the same might be originally taken in Correspondence to the Practice of former Heralds, who upon their Creations frequently took ^s Doves; but Sir William Dugdale Blasons them Faucons, (as many others have done) and conjectures they might be taken in Allusion to his Title of Faucon Herald: Ballard March King of Arms his Contemporary, calls them only Birds, without describing the Species; there hath been also another ^t Coat of Arms ascribed to him, and a Variety also of Crests, ^v whereof one is particularly said to belong to him as Garter. A late Author writes, That the College of Arms it self borrowed its Coat from a ^z Gentleman of the most signal Clester and Mynty to be divided between my daughters Agnes and Barbara. Item I will that Agnes have hit greet part that is at Ward. Item I will that Agnes and Barbara have such Stuff of howhold, as my Mother has ordeined for them. Item I will that all such writings as Concern my Cousin Stone be delivered to him. Item I trust to John Minne that he will forbeare every Year upon my Stoke unto the tyme that L. be paid unto my Godson John Stone. And so doing I bequeeth him the hole Stoke. And I make and ordein my Sonnis Thomas Write, and John Myntyne my Executors, And will that the Residue of all my Goodis to be divided in iii. partis, the first part to my Wife and such Stuff as she brought unto me, the second part to pay such Debtes as I owe, and to be disposed for the Welth of my Soule by the discretion of my Executors, the iii. part to be divided between my Children.

Probat ultimo Aprilis 1524.

ⁿ Weaver's Funer. Monumentis, p. 661.

^o Atiplogia, p. 29.

^p Jurispr. Heroica, p. 140.

^q B. 1. penes me, p. 220.

^r Julius E. 2. in Bibl. Cott.—Namet of Nobles and other Gentlemen of Wiltshire, H. 7.

^s John Wrythe alias Garter Roy de Armes des Anglois, a Cross Or between a Columbe Az., memberd G. in his Crest, a Bugle heald; genty and crowned Or, on a Wreath Or b. mantell'd b. doubled Ermine His Word Humble and Servisable. D. 1. penes me, p. 299.

^t John de Bado aureo, p. 20. Et columban in Armis habere bene pertinere sibi ad Haraldos Armorum, qui dimissa arte sua foliæ & suis arma assumunt. By the way, this Author's Name was de Vado aureo, i. c. Guilford.

^u Upton de mil. Off. p. 178. Soleat insuper Veterani, qui dimissa milicia nostris temporibus Haraldii sunt, columban in suis armis assumere & portare, prioribus eorundem armis, nominibusq; propriis dimissis & penitus derelictis, pro eo quod Columbe de patria ad patriam diversa nova nuntiantes evocant, & revertuntur indies, Et scilicet, p. 179. Their Helms may bear either their ancient Arms, or those collated on them at their Creation, and that the Veteran himself may justly and lawfully bear his ancient Arms, and add somewhat new to them, if he please, p. 183.

^v Baron, vol. 2. 384. Thus also Brook in his Catalogue of Nobility in the Title Southampton.

^w M. 3. in Off. Arm. p. 71.

^x B. 1. penes me, p. 220. L. 1. in Officio Armorum.

^y B. 1. penes me, p. 16. a Dove Close Silver memberd G. Crowned Gold standing in a Wryth Or, which is said to be in reference to this Office, the Crest of the Family being a Buffalo's Head crested Sable, attired and crowned with a Ducal Coronet and Gutte d'Or. Sometimes a Buffalo Sable passant, attired, and unguled, and crowned with a Ducal Coronet, ringed through the Nose, having a Chain reflexed over the Back all Or.

^z Buc in his Universities of England at the End of Stow's Survey.

Name

Name and Family that had ever been of it, by which he doubtless means this Wrythe; but it is more probable that those Officers might discontinue their old Seal, and assume Doves in Conformity to the Practise mentioned by Upton, wherein by chance they have likewise followed the Directions of ^b a Learned Father of the Primitive Church.

He first married ^c Barbara Daughter and sole Heir of Januarius de Caslecomb, alias Dunstanvil, by whom he had Issue Katherine married to Mynes William York Herald; Katherine married first to Horton, then to Trebern, and Thomas his Successor in this Office: He was secondly married to ^d Eleanor, Sister and sole Heir of Thomas Arnold, by whom he had Barbara married to Anthony Hungerford, Agnes a Nun at Syon, John who died young, and Margaret: His third Wife was Anne daughter of Myme, by whom he had Margaret married to Vaghan, and Isabel first married to Gough, then to Davers.

His Son and Successor Sir Thomas, in his ^e Controversy with Benoit Clarenceux, styles him Sir John Wrythe.

After the Death of John Wrythe, Henry VII intended to give this Office to Roger Machado Clarenceux, who (the ^f Book saith) came into this Realm

^a This Society had a Seal before the Chapter held at Roan, when a new one was ordered to be made, and it was decreed that the Impressions should never afterwards be altered, which may imply that there was some Alteration then made. If the Books may be credited those Officers used on their publick Seal Argent a Cross Or. on a Chief quarterly, in the first and fourth A Flower de Lys Or. in the second and third Or a Lion [or Leopard] Gules. L. 6. in Off. Arm. p. 131. This MS. is silent as to the particular Time, but the Elevating in the Time of Ballard March King of Arms may be found in M. 2. in Off. Arm. p. 74. and when Wall was Windfor Herald, in B. 1. penes me, p. 149 b. and the Motto was Diligent and Secret, which is doubtless signified by one Wing of these Doves being open to fly, and the other close to the Body.

^b Clementis Alexandrini. apud Hertn. de Sigill. p. 62.

^c A. 5. penes me, p. 66, 67.—E. 21. penes me, p. 4. She was buried in the Quire of St. Giles Cripplegate—Snow's Survey, p. 541. See A. 17. in Officium Armorum, buried in St. Gyls without Cripplegate in the Quire.

^d Alonso Wryth of John Wrythe Esquier daughter of Thomas Arnold Esquier.

In the walking before the Chappell,

First Margaret daughter of John Wrythe, Esquier.
John Wrythe Son of John Wrythe Esquier.

^e H. 2. penes me, p. 1059.

^f A. 10. penes me, p. 44. Clarenceux Benoit alledges, that Machado Clarenceux was a very old Man, and might not ryde nor well goo, and that was a'ter the death of John Wryth that tyme being Garter and to dyed Garter, after whose death that pleased the Kings grace to geve the saide roome and office of Garter to the said Machado Clarenceux, and the said Machado considering his great age and also his weaknes refused the saide roome of Garter and so the said Machado Clarenceux remembering the greater Jone that was between the said John Wryth alias Garter and him, made sute to the Kings Grace for Thomas Wryth son of the said John Wryth to have the Office of Garter, and so by the greate labour and sweate of the sayd Machado the sayd Thomas Wryth was made Garter in manner and forme following, that is to say that the said Thomas Wryth should occupy and have the place of Garter and Machado Clarenceux to have the fee and profits of the same, then that was provided that the said Thomas Wryth then otherwise called Garter, that he during the lyfe of the saide Machado to have a certeyn pencon out of the saide Office of Garter, which Machado had as is above written, and after the death of the said Machado the said Thomas Wryth that now is Garter to have the hole Fee to the saide Office belonging, And moreover the said Clarenceux considering his greate age and feeblenes, as ys above written, thought most necessary and profitable for hymselfe to have a payre of indentores made between him and the said Thomas Wryth, bycause that the said Thomas was yong and lusty and that he shuld take the pain and travayll to wyfte and to go within his Marches and give Arms and Confirmations of Arms, and all interements, And the sayd Thomas Wryth to have half the profit for his paine and labour, and Machado Clarenceux the other halfe.

To this allegation this Garter answered it was untruly said. But that upon the motion of the most famous prince of noble memory King Hen. VII. he giving him the saide roome of Garter, considering the age and ancientie of Machado Clarenceux, and that he came into this realme with him, willed the said Garter to give unto Machado Clarenceux out of his Fee xx marks by the yere in penycon during his lyfe, whose pleasure and commandement the sayd Garter obeyed and condescended unto. And the rather for because, that the said Machado for his age could not conveniently exercise the saide roome, which xx marks was not half the Fee of the said Garter as the sayd Clarenceux untruly saith; The which penycon was never given by any other his Predecessors, having the roome of Garter before that tyme, but only by Garter that is now present. And after by the space neere of iiii yeres, that the sayd Garter had enjoyed his saide office, the sayd Machado Clarenceux, perceiving and considering the restort and the profit that Garter had Realm with that King; but by reason of his advanced Age, he chose rather to accept of a Pension of 20 Marks yearly during his Life, so that in pursuance of a Petition made by Thomas Wrythe, a Patent passed, dated 26 January 20 Hen. VII., granting this^b Office to him, then Wal-lingford Son of John Wrythe late Garier during Pleasure, according to the Tenour of his Father's Patent in all Respects, saving the Clause, That during Machado's Life, he should only receive 40 Marks yearly Salary, after whole Death it was to be increased to forty Pounds annually.

for the suits of the parents of Armes, and also for interments, desired and prayed the sayd Garier, that he would be contented to graunte unto him, that he might be Copartner with him of the graunts of the sayd patents of Armes and funerals within his province, saying that he should bere no losse by him, and that by his means he trusted to advantage him, whereupon the sayd Garier, considering the good mynde, that the sayd Machado did beare both unto Sir John Wrythe alias Wrythe Garier, father unto the sayd Garier that now is, And also that the sayd Machado Clarenceux greatly favoured him in his suite for the obtaining of his sayd office of Garier, the sayd Garier was contented with the same desire and request, and then covenanted with him and passed by Indenture betwene them, which was the first Indenture that ever was made betwene any Garier and Clarenceux for that cause, And the sayd Garier saith that Clarenceux, nor non other cannot fynde any thing in this party to the contrary, but saith that upon the sayd present of covenants, the sayd Benolt Clarenceux, John Tange being Norrey, Thomas Wall being Norrey desired the sayd Garier, that they might be in like manner involved with the sayd Garier in their Provinces for the profits of both the parties. H. 3. penes me, p. 1158b.

Hwsey Norrey soon afterwards on 2d Aug. 26 Hen. 8. entered into the like Indenture with this Wrythe Garier. L. 6. 15. p. 85. penes Ed. Deering Baronet.

But though 'tis here said that this Machado came into this Kingdom with Hen. VII. yet 'tis probable he was before that Time Leicester Herald, for we find a Protestion dated 15 Dec. 1 R. 3. Ruy Machado alias dicitur Leycestre herault alias dicitur Rogerus Machado alias dicitur Leycestre herault, qui in obsequio Regis in comitiva dicitur & fidei nostri Willimi Roffe Vicarii Calis professurus. Ec. Rot. Franc. 1 R. 3. & privat. Sigill. in Turre, in which Title of Leicester there was a Succession in the Reign of Hen. vii.

g. Bundell. Signet. 20 H. 7. In Cap. Rotul. directed to the King our Sovereign Lord, then inserted. Memorand. quod 26 die Januarii A. K. H. VII. xxviii. ista billa liberata fuit Domino Cancellario Anglie apud Westminsterium exequendum. Pleas it your Highness of your most noble and habundant Grace to traunte your Gracieu Letters Patents in forme following, and that this Bill signed with your most gracious hand and signe Manuell may be sufficient warrant to your Chancellor of England for making owt of your said letters without any further warrant or writing in this behalf. H. R. the King's Monogram. Then follows the Tenour of the Patent, as on Record.

b Pat. 2 H. 7. p. 1. m. 21. Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem. Scias quod cum non sit novum, sed jamdiu ab antiquis temporibus usitatum quod inter ceteros Officiales & Ministros, quos Principum lateribus, pro eorum Magnificentia, atque Gloria, adherere decet, eorum, quibus officii Armorum cura committitur copiam habere debeat, ut nec tempus Bellorum, neque Facis sine convenientibus & aptis Ministris debeat pretaxari: Nos igitur considerantes ac aciam in laudabilia servitia que dilectus Nobis Thomas Wrythe alias dicitur Wallingford, filius Johannis Wrythe nuper dicitur Garier defuncti, in his que ad Officium illud spectare intelliguntur, exercuit, diligentes, eundem propterea & non minus ob solertiam & Sinceritatem, quas in eo satis habemus exploratas, in Principalem Heraldum & Officiarium inchoi nostri ordinis Caricrii Armorumque Regem Anglicorum ex gratia nostra speciali creavimus, fecimus, constituitimus, & ordinavimus, & creavimus, & coronavimus ac perpresentes, criginus, facimus, constituimus, ordinamus, creamus & coronamus, ac ei Officium illud, nec non nomen Garier solum, titulum, libertates, & Præminentias hujusmodi Officio Convententia & Concordantia, ac ab antiquo consuetæ Damus & concedimus, ac ipsum in eisdem realiter investimus, Habebimus, occupandum, & exercendum officium illud, ac nomen, Stylum, Titulum & Præminentias prædictas eidem Thome, durante Beneficio nostro, cum omnibus juribus, proficiis, commoditatibus & emolumentis eidem officio qualescunque debitis pertinentibus sive spectantibus. Et ulterius concessimus & per presentes concedimus præfato Thome in Regem Armorum Anglicorum, ut præsertur, erecto, ratione & Causa Officii illius (videlicet) durante vita Rogeri Machado alias dicitur Clarenceux Regis Armorum partium australium quadraginta marcarum per Annum, & post decessum ipsius Rogeri quadraginta libras per Annum, pro valuis, & feodis officii prædicti de parva Custumia nostra in portu civitatis nostræ Londonæ, pro manus Custumiariorum sive Collectorum, custumias prædictæ in portu prædicto pro tempore Existentium ad terminos Pasche & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per æquales portiones, una cum tali liberata vestire, qualera & censem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius hujusmodi Rex Armorum, sive Principalis Heraldus tempore Domini E. nuper Regis Anglie tertii progenitoris Nostri habuit, & percepit, Habendam & percipiendam annuatim Liberatam hujusmodi eidem Thome singulis anni durante beneficio nostro ad magnam Garderobam nostram per manus Custodis sive Clerici ejusdem pro tempore existentis. Et quod expressa mentio de vero valore annuo præmissorum, seu aliquibus eorum ut de aliis donis sive concessionibus eidem Thome per nos ante hæc tempora factis in presentibus minime facta existit aut aliquo Statuto, Actu, Ordinatione, sive Provisione, in contrarium facta, edito, ordinato, seu proviso, aut aliqua alia re causa, vel materia quacunque non obstantibus. Proviso semper quod dicitur Thomas, durante Vita præfati Rogeri, habeat Allocationem Annuam dictarum quadraginta marcarum & non ultra, & post decessum ipsius Rogeri, habeat plenam Allocationem dictarum quadraginta librarum annuarum absque interruptione sine contradictione aliqui. In Cujus, &c.— Telle Rege apud Westminsterium Vicesimo sexto die Januarii per ipsum Regem. Se: Rymer, vol. 13. p. 113.

Dugdale styles him an ^k Herald, referring to this Patent for his Voucher, which however only mentions Wallingford, without determining whether this was the Title of an Herald or Purfevant, therefore the ^o MSS. being confirmed by his own ^m Averment, ought rather to be credited which name him expressly to have been only a Purfevant, and by that Appellation an Officer to the Prince of Wales, to whom that Castle then belonged, as Part of the Duchy of Cornwall, from which it was severed by a ⁿ subsequent Act of Parliament.

He was ^o Godson of Thomas Holme Clarenceux, from whom possibly he had his Christian Name, and was doubtless the same Person whom Hen. VII. at the ^p Investiture of Arthur Prince of Wales in 1489, had created a Purfevant for that Prince by the Name of Walynford, who by this Title, and in such Capacity, attended upon John Wriche Garter [his Father] into the ^q Duchy of Bretagne. In the College of Arms, there remains a Manuscript in Parchment, where, in the last Leaf, was first wrote, ^r Thomas Wriche autement Walynford, importing him to be the Proprietor of it, and afterwards, to the End of that Surname were added in a different Ink, Str. with a Dash from the last Letter, which filled up the Space left originally between the Words at the first Writing; for though this Officer was advanced to this Employment by the Monosyllable Surname that his Father used, yet he disliked the Shortness of it, either with regard to the Explication of the Ancient Proverb, Omnis herus servo Monosyllabus, or some other whimsical Humour, and therefore augmented it with the high Sound of three Syllables, which added nothing to the Smoothness in Pronunciation, and after some Variations in the Spelling, he at last settled upon Wriothesley, wherein his Brother William York Herald concurred, and their Descendants followed this Precedent; and, which is somewhat particular, in order to countenance this Affectation, he attributed this new coined Appellation to all his paternal ^s Ancestors in the Draughts he made of his own Pedigree; and therein he deduces himself by his Mother from the Walters ^t of Dunstovill, ancient Lords of Castlecomb in Wiltshire: He was so very fond of this new Surname thus devised by him, that when the Salary granted by Hen. VII. was determined by his Demise, he took a new one from his Successor, wherein he procured his Father to be styled ^u John

Wriothesley

^k Dugd. Baron. vol. 2. p. 333.
^l Ceremonies, vol. 3. p. 11, 15. Lant's Observations—MSS. Ant. a Wood in MSJ. Ath. n. 33.
^m p. 21. 23.

ⁿ H. 3. penes me, p. 1158.—“ I never had any room of an Herald, and therefore took not any Oath of an Herald, but only that of a Purfevant— and was only Wallingford Purfevant with the Prince, that is to say Prince Arthur and also with Prince Henry, now being the King our Sovereigne Lord, out of whose Service I was preferred to the Room of Garter, &c.”

^o Stat. 20 Apr. 31 H. 8.
^p His Will made 8 H. 7. I bequeth to John Garter King of Armes my booke of Polieronicon. Item I bequeth to Thomas Garter my welbelovéd Godsonne my booke called Arbor bellorum. Lib. Vox. in Cur. Prærog. qn. ix.

^q Julius B. 12. p. 56. in Bibl. Cotton.
^r Lobineau l'Hist. de Bretagne, p. 813.—Jarriere

Heraut du Roy d'Angleterre & Wyoynford Pourfivent du Prince de Galles estoient pour lors auptes de la Duchesse 1491.

^r Among the Duke of Norfolk's MSS.

^s J. A. xi. penes me.

^t Camden's Britan. in Wiltshire. Sandf. Geneal. Hist. p. 51.

^u Pat. 1 H. 8. p. 2. m. 19.—Rex, Omnibus ad quos presentes litteræ pervenerint Salutem. Sciatis quod cum non sit novum, sed jamdu ab antiquis temporibus usitatum, quod inter ceteros Officiales & Ministros quos Principum latebris pro eorum Magnificencia atque Gloria adnectere decet, eorum quibus Officii Armorum cura committitur, copiam habere debeant nec tempus Bellorum neque Pacis sine Convenientibus & expertis Ministris debeat præteriri. Nos igitur Considerantes ac Actem in laudabilia Servitia quæ dilectis Nobis Thomas Wriothesley alias Wriche nuper dictus Wallingford d. f. ius Wriothesley alias Writhe late Garver, at which Time the Reflection that Judge Catalin once made upon an Alias might probably be out of his Memory.

'Tis certain the Roman Civil Law by a Rescript of Diocletian and Maximian permitted the Freedom of altering Names, when innocently done without Intention of Fraud, and in the last Century Antonio Maria Conti endeavoured to justify his own Practice, in assuming that of Majoragus, by an Oration on that Subject, which is a Piece of polite Eloquence: But since Surnames, like Coat Arms, have become Hereditary Properties, and have long been the Indications of the Diversity of Families, it may be questioned, whether the voluntary Mutation of either of them be not a Transgression against the Maxim of all well constituted Governments, tending to confound the Order and Dignity of Families, which should be inviolably preserved: But to omit the Consideration thereof on this political Account, we find our own Municipal Laws have been so strict in the Exactness of Surnames, that a Writ was quashed for the small Variation in denominating the Defendant " Stephen Cobham for Stephen de Cobham, which sort of Pleading in Abatement, for giving the Defendant a wrong Surname, is (as it is supposed) still Legal. 'Tis true, that Adoptions by the last of a Family into the Surname and Arms thereof, either by Wills or Grants, have been allowed by the Customs of this Land; for whoever hath the whole Right of any Thing in him, hath the Power of Transferring it to whomsoever he pleases, though sometimes the Consent of the Crown hath been obtained to give the greater Sanction; but the Arbitrary Assumption of the Surname of a Family subsisting, by any Suranger in Blood to it, may create Confusions in Precedencies, and Hic Johannis Wriothesley alias Writhe nuper dicti Garver defuncti in hiis que ad officium illud spectare intelliguntur exercuit, dirigentes, eundem propterea & non minus ob solertiam & sagacitatem, quas in eo satis habemus exploratas, in Principalem Heraldum & officiarium incliti nostri Ordinis Carterie, Armarumque Regem Anglicorum ex Gratia nostra specialiter Ereximus, fecimus, Constituimus, Ordinavimus, Creavimus & Coronavimus, ac per presentes Erigimus, facimus, Constituimus, Ordinavimus, Creavimus & Coronavimus, ac ei Officium illud, nec non Nomen le Garver, Stylum, Titulum, Libertates, Præminentias hujusmodi Officio Convenientia & Concordantia ac ab antiquo Consecrata Damus & Concedimus, ac ipsum in eisdem relictis investimus, Habendum, occupandum & exercendum Officium illud ac Nomen Stylum Titulum & Præminentias prædictæ eidem Thome a Festo Pasche ultimo præterito durante bene placito nostro cum omnimodis Juribus, Profitibus, Commoditatibus, & Emolumentis eidem Officio qualitercumque debitis, sive spectantibus. Et ulterius Concessimus, ac per Præsentes Concedimus præfato Thome in Regem Armarum Anglicorum ut præfatur erecto, Ratione & Causa Officii illius (videlicet durante Vita Rogeri Macado, alias dicti Clarencius Regis Armarum partium Australium) Quadringenta Marcas per Annum, & post decellum ipsius Rogeri Quadringenta Libras per Annum pro Vadis & Fœdis Officii prædicti, de parva Custodia nostra in Porto Civitatis nostre Londoniæ, a Festo Pasche ultimo Præterito (a quo quidem Festum idem Thome officium prædictum per mandatum nostrum exercuit) durante bene placito nostro prædicto, per manus Custumariarum sive Collectorum Custumæ prædictæ in portu prædicto pro tempore Existentium ad terminos Sancti Michaelis Archangeli & Pasche per æquales Portiones una cum tali liberata Vestura, qualem & eisdem modo & forma, prout aliquis unus hujusmodi Rex Armorum sive Principalis Heraldus tempore Domini E, nuper Regis Angliæ tertii Progenitoris nostri, habuit & percepit Habendum & percipiendum annuatim liberatam hujusmodi eidem Thome singulis annis durante beneplacito nostro, ad magnam Garderobam nostram per manus Custodis sive Clerici ejusdem pro tempore Existentis. Et quod expressè Mento de vero valore annuo Præmiorum seu gliticus eorum, aut de aliis donis sive Concessionibus eidem Thome per nos ante hæc tempora factis in præsentibus minime facta existit, aut aliquo Statuto, Actu, Ordinatione seu Provisione in Contrarium facta, edita, sive provisio, aut aliqua alia re Causa vel materia quacumque non obstantibus. Provisio semper quod dictus Thome, durante Vita præfati Rogeri habeat Allocationem annuam dictarum quadringenta Marcarum, & non ultra. Et post decellum ipsius Rogeri, habeat plenam Allocationem dictarum quadringenta Librarum absque Interruptione seu Contradictione aliqui. In Cujus, &c. Teste Rege apud Westminsterium nono die Octobris— Per breve de privato Sigillo. Rymer, vol. 13. p. 266.

 Plac. coram Rege Trin. 12. E. 3. vol. 7.

several other Disorders, some of which may even endanger the private Right of Succession in Tract of Time, and may immediately also subject the Antient Proprietor to Inconveniencies whereby his Property may chance to be affected without his Knowledge by an Outlawry; for which Reasons probably our Common Law hath provided a Remedy in Casé the Owner of a Surname should suspect such Consequences, which is by permitting him the Liberty of intervening in the Action, and suggesting that he is not really the Defendant notwithstanding he hath the same Surname, though sometimes he must be inevitably driven to the Expence and Trouble of suing out a Writ de identitate nominis, which is some presumptive Implication that it is not consistent with the Intention of this Law, that either Surnames should be altered according to Humour, Levity, and Fancy, or that Strangers should be at Liberty to usurp the Surname whereto another Family hath an Antecedent Right by Prescription; but such Matters seem more properly cognisable in the Court Military, or Court of Chevalerie before the Constable and Marshal, which Court is as much the Law * of the Land, as any Chapter in Littleton's Tenures; for the Law, as a Learned Judge observed, doth not recipere magis & minus: But admit this was a disputable Point in the Judgement of either of these Courts, yet it will be granted, the Change of a Surname by amplifying, contracting, or any other Method of Alteration, either out of Ambition, Affectation, or any other Motive, by Officers of Arms is less tolerable, because it is one considerable Article and Duty of their Employments to record faithfully the Genealogies of Families, which will be deducible with little Certainty where such Liberty of Corruptions of Surnames is permitted, and

* It was expressly determined in the Common Pleas, that the Law whereby the Constable and Marshal proceed is the Law of the Land and the Law of the King, and that the King's Justices are bound to take Notice thereof, 37 H. 6. f. 3. 20 b. which was again asserted by a Learned Judge, M. 10 H. 7. f. 7. This Court of Chevalery, in Matters within its Jurisdiction, proceeds secundum legem & consuetudinem Curie militaris, Cl. 21 R. 2. pt. 1. m. 5. Pat. 6 H. 4. p. 1. m. 30. secundum juris exigentiam ac leges & consuetudines Curie Militaris, Pat. 22 R. 2. p. 2. m. 32 d. secundum legem & consuetudinem armorum, Pat. 48 E. 3. p. 2. m. 20 d. These Customs grounded, as Mr. Selden saith, mostly on the Civil Law and Law of Lombardy, Vind. existimatus. p. 21, 22. obtained their formal Authoritative Force by a voluntary Reception of them by an immemorial Usage in this Kingdom, being such (to use the Words of an Act of Parliament in a parallel Case, St. 25 H. 8. c. 21.) which by Suffrage of the King and his Progenitors, the People of this Realm have taken at their free Liberty by their own Consent to be used among them, and have bound themselves by long Usage & Custom to the Observance of the same, &c. It may not be amiss in this place to insert two Interrogatories exhibited to the Witnesses examined in the great Case of Grey and Hisinger, touching the Right of Coat Arms in the Reign of Hen. iv. Si la Cour de Chevalerie d'Angleterre appartient d'avoir consistance & déterminer les pices d'armes, ou leur incident, dépendance, & connexes, s'il dist que oile, ne soit le plus demandé, s'il dist que non, soit demande quelle Court donques ad tiele poité a déterminer les causes des armes, Si la Cour de Chevalerie d'Angleterre soit mesnie & gouverne ransiblement par les loys civiles, & par customes d'armes devant usés. Among several Witnesses on these Points, two Apprentices of the Law were examined, who must be allowed competent Evidences, that is John Harvey, who answered on his Oath, Que la Cour de Chevalerie d'Angleterre ad consistance a déterminer pices d'armes, mais dist ceste jurre, q'il ne soit crisenment la rule & gouvernance du dite Court de Chevalerie. And Robert Bria deposed, Q'il suppose que la Cour de Chevalerie d'Angleterre ad poair de terminer pices d'armes, & dist gouverne par la ley civile & customes d'armes devant usés. It would be too foreign in this place to cite Acts of Parliament, Records, and Law Books touching this Subject: But since this court cannot intermeddle with any Matter determinable at Common Law, and may be controlled by it whenever it exceeds its limited Bounds, the Proposal made to the Parliament, 2 Rich. 2. at the Opening the Session is submitted to the Consideration of the Professors of the Common Law, "Que les loys de la terre & les loys d'armes devient estre comme Relatives, l'une loy tout d'ys aidant a l'autre en touz cas besoignables, que en chescun cas ou la ley de la terre ne purroit justier un malfait, la ley & poair des Armes la doit aider & maintenir: Et semblablement arrier, maine en chescun cas, ou le loy des Armes ne sauroit ou ne purroit faire ce que a lui apparteniroit a faire, la loy de la terre y doit focouer & aider; & ilsent que l'une loy sanz l'autre ne purroit loinguenment effect n'endurer, &c. Parl. 2 R. 2. n. 8.

therefore

therefore they should be more cautious to avoid giving Occasion for falling under the Censures heretofore justly cast by Lucian on Simo the Cobler, and by the Poet Martial on Cinnamus the Barber.

We have some scattered Memorials of the Employments of this Officer, as of his Attendance on the Proctor or Ambassador of Guido & Ubaldo, and his waiting on the 2^d Installation of the King of Spain, which were Duties incumbent on his Office. In 5 H. 8. he received a 4th Reward from the Crown, but the particular Service for which it was given is not recorded. In that Year he waited on the King in the 6th Expedition to Tournay, and summoned that Town to surrender: In the Sixth Year he attended on the 7th Marriage of the Lady Mary with the French King, and proclaimed 8th Jufts at Camterbury. In August, in the 15th Year, he was sent to Ferdinand Archduke of Austria (Brother to the Emperor Charles V.) to invest him with the Order of the Garter, who conferred the Honour of 1st Knighthood upon him at Nuremberg, and did not return till after New-Years-Day following. In November, 19 H. VIII, he was in 2^d France, having carried the Ensigns of the Order to the 3^d French King, being then attended by Bleuwantle Pursivant.

In the Process of the Divorce between Hen. VIII and Queen Katherine, as abstracted by the 4th Lord Herbert, the Cardinals Wolsey and Campegius proceeded to require the Sight of the Archives, and Records touching that Business, for which Purpose Thomas Wriothesley and Thomas Tong King of Arms had been employed; these Men certified, that Prince Arthur died in the Castle at Ludlow, the 2d of April 1502, that his Brother Henry was born 28 June 1491, and that the Marriage betwixt Prince Arthur and the Lady Katherine was the 14th of November 1501. In the Original Entry 1st Clarenceux is also mentioned, and these three Kings are there stiled Magnifici Viri.

It would be an easy, if it were a pertinent Task, in the Lives of this and the following Garters, to enumerate their carrying the Ensigns of the Order to foreign Princes, their Attendances at Installations, the Performance of their Duties at Coronations, Interviews of Princes, Creations of the Nobility, &c. But these Instances being Articles of their Function, y See Notes to the Black-Book, p. 257, note h.

z Athm. Hist. of the Garter, p. 348.

a Priv. Sigill. P. 5 H. 8. — Thomas Wriothesley alias Garter Regi Armorum de Regardis de devariis sibi solvendis per manus William Compton & Johannis Wriothesley nuper Collectorum parve Custumæ in portu Londoniæ xx l. ix s. ix d.

b Hollingshead's History, p. 548.

c G. 11. penes me, p. 197 b. 231. Gartier principal King of Arms at 15 b. by the day for his Ordinaire 4 Servants 2 horses with Carriage, one with apparel anoder with Stuff for a bouldre vii horses. in which book is the allowance made to him and to Richmond Herald out of the Pantry, Wine Celler, Kitchen, Fruiterie and Apothecary while they attended in France.

d Colombiere Theatre d'Honneur, vol. 1. p. 189.

e Alb. Append. n. Cxv. n. xiii.

f Claudius C. 3. in bibl. Cotton. p. 107.

g E. xii. penes me, p. 187.

h 1 Part. book in off. Arm. p. 16. E. xii. penes me, p. 288.

i Rymer, vol. 14. p. 232 Hall's Chronicle, p. 165 b.

k P. 273.

l July 19, 1529. Quibus sic factis Comparuerunt personaliter magnifici viri Dominus Thomas Wriothesley Garter miles ac primarius Rex Armorum Anglicorum Thomas Benildis alias Clarentius in partibus australibus, ac Thomas Long alias Norrey in partibus borealibus Angliæ respective Reges Armorum, ac tunc ibidem tactis per eos sacris Dei Evangelis jurarunt, quod contenta & conferta in dicto processu per dictum Dominum Abbatem Westmonasterii, Commissarius predictum exhibita fuerunt ex libris suis scripta, transcripta, & exemplificata, quæ crederentur esse vera, Et quod ad eandem ratione officiorum suorum spectat hujusmodi transcripta, & similia in libros suos redigere, & ad perpetuam rei gestæ memoriam fideliter registrare.

These Exiralls chiefly concerned the Times of the Birth, Marriage, and Death of Prince Arthur, and were first exhibited before the Abbot of Westminster deputed to search the publick Offices.

which

which of Course must be executed, by such as enjoyed this Office, and containing nothing particular to the Persons, it hath been thought fit to omit the greatest Part of them.

He was born at ^m Colatford near Castlecomb in Wiltshire, and lived sometime at Cricklade in that County, for which Reason we find him frequently writing himself ⁿ Tho. Wr. Grek. that is of Grekade.

The Black-Book of the Order takes Notice, That at ^o St. George's Feast, held 27 May 26 Hen. VIII, the Duke of Norfolk administered the Oath to the Register, which Garter by his Office should have performed, who was absent by reason of his Age and Sicknes.

He ^p dyed 24 Nov. 1534, (26 Hen. VIII.) having been twice married; his first Wife was Jane, ^q Daughter and Coheir to William Hall of Sarum Esq; by whom he had several Sons, two named John, Edmond, and Charles, which latter died young: Another Charles born the 8th of May 1508, who was Windfor Herald, Michael, Thomas and three Daughters; Barbara born 5 July 1507, Dorothy born 31 Dec. 1506, and Susanna born 17 Dec. 1509. His second Wife was ^r Anne Daughter of William Ingleby of Torkshire, (the Relict of Richard Goldesborough, and also of Robert Warcop) by whom he had a Daughter Joan; which Anne, as it appears by an ^s Award, died before the 10th of July, 17 H. VIII.

He bore the Arms of his Father, with the same Motto Humble and Serviceable.

He built a great House, called Garter's Place, next adjoining to Barrican, and in the Top of it a Chapel dedicated by the Name of Sancta Trinitatis in alto, and he built another House at Cripplegate.

Among the ^t MSS. of Trinity College Dublin are Epistola Tho. Wriothesley, alias Garteri Regis Armorum, & Tho. Benoilt alias Clarenceux, possibly the same may contain only Grants of Arms made by each of them respectively, or some Narrative of the Disputes between them.

As to his Character, the Lord Stafford in his Allegations in Parliament for preceeding the Lord Talbot, mentions the Record of the Parliament of Lincoln, when the Pope's Authority was disannulled, shewn him by ^u Wriothesley then Garter, who he saith, was the best Herald, that ever was since, or many Years before.

There are still preserved many MSS. of his Collections, which shew him to have been an Officer of great Industry.

V. The Fifth Garter was Sir Thomas Wall, Son of Thomas Wall of Cryche in Derbyshire, who in his Time was Norroy King of Arms, and if the ^m A. 5. penes me, p. 66. Aenes de Luffhill uxori Nichola Cricelomb tempore Richardi 2. edificavit Colatford, in qua domo Henricus coram Bliu, Johannus Nepos & Barbara filia Jannarii, & Thomas Wriothesley & eius filia Barbara nati fuerunt, & dicta domus est modo, in tenura dicti Thome Wriothesley alias Garter jure hereditario Antecessorum suorum.

ⁿ B. 3. penes me, and in divers other MSS.
^o See the Black Book, p. 395.
^p 1 Partit. Book in Officio Armorum, p. 57 b.
^q MS. Ant. & Mus. Athm. n. 33. p. 22.

^r See Wever's Feudal Monum. p. 685. Stow's Survey in 4to. p. 541. A. xi. penes me.

^s Vnc. MS. in Officio Arm. in pergam. p. 71. B. 21. penes me, p. 47.

^t Between the Earl of Cumberland and the Garter, in Copies of Peter le Neve Esq. Norroy.

^u Wever's Feudal Monum. p. 551.

^v Catalog. Manusc. Angl. & Hibern. p. 47.

^w MS. Nicholai Jekyll de Caste Holingham Arm. p. 115 A. L. 7. penes me, p. 283 b.

Catalogue may be credited, he was first Berwick, then created ² Rouge-croix on the 4th of May 1521, (13 H. VIII.) or as another ² Manuscript hath it, on the 5th of May, by Sir Charles Somerset Earl of Worcester Lord Chamberlain: His ^a Patent for this Pursuivantship is dated 11 May, with xl. yearly Salary, and on 12 Oct. 1523, he summoned the ¹ Town of Orleans to surrender to the Duke of Suffolk Lieutenant General for Hen. VIII. hence he was promoted to be ^c Windsor Herald, with 20 Marks yearly, 24 Oct. 17 H. VIII. being ^d created at Greenwich, and in the Book of the Partition of Fees between the Heralds, he is mentioned to have been in ^e Flanders, and again in Febr. 19 Hen. VIII. in which Year he is said to have carried the King's Letters to the Dutches of Savoy in Flanders, and was again sent about the 20th of Febr. 1527, to the Lady ^f Margaret: The People in the Low Countries suspected, and said, That he came to defy the Emperor; but he brought Letters from our King to know, whether if War should fall out between England and the Emperor, the Treaty of Intercourse for the Term of six Weeks should be observed in these Parties, as by the King and Emperors is accorded: Windsor protested in the King's Name, that his Majesty desired not War, unless he be thereto constrained, the like the Lady Margaret saith in the Emperor's Behalf. He was in ^g Italy on Allhallows-Day, 21 Hen. VIII. and at that Feast, in 26 Hen. VIII. at ^b Dover, waiting on the Admiral of France Ambassadour hither, and soon after was by ⁱ Patent, dated 9 Dec. (26 H. VIII.) promoted to be Garter Principal

¹ MS. Ant. a Wood, in Mus. Ailm. n. 37. p. 27.
² & 45. Cat. Bibl. Harley 556. in the Hand of John Stow.

Be it remembered that in Anno 1521, (the 15th H. 8.) and 4th daye of May Thomas Walle (Son to Thomas Walle King of Arms called Nerry and also that Lancaster, and also that Gaiffes Pursuivant) was made and Create by Sir Charles Somerset Earl of Worcester and Chamberlayne to the Kyng at Greenwich in the Lord Chamberlaines Orng Chamber and named Rougeroy Pursuivant after the decrete of one Laurance de la Yve.

² Cæren, in Officio Armorum, p. 63. The Wall Latin pece de Tom. Wall alias Rougeroy 1513.

³ Liber Privats. Sigill. pece Thomas Rouslas. Arm. Tar. 12 H. 8. p. 11. 21^o. Mou ad Vitam.

⁴ MS. Ailm. n. 1116. P. 45. pece me, p. 17.

⁵ La Somation d'Orleans le 12 d'Octobre l'an 1523; faite par Tho. Wall Rougecroix, Monsieur de Romeny évesque Capitain pour le Roy Francois de France en celle ville.

Seigneur Capitain, & vous touz Gardiens, Gouverneurs de Guerre manantz & habitantz en celle ville, & Chasteau de d'Orleans, Monsieur le Duc de Suffolk Capitain & Lieutenant General de l'armée de treshault, tresexcellent, & tres puissant Prince Henry le viii. de ce Nom par la grace de Dieu, Roy de France & d'Angleterre, defendeur, &c. vous monde & commande lay rembe & delivrer celle dite Ville, & Chasteau, que vous gardes pour, & en nomme du dit Seigneur Roy, comme au Vostre Souveraineté Seigneur, & natural Prince, en quy faisant serres comme a bons, & leals subjets appartient. Et en faisant serment de fideleité au dit Seigneur Roy a estre receu par ledit Seigneur Duc ou son Commis, vous ne serrez pas seulement prin, & acceptes come bons & leals subjets au dit Seigneur Roy, mais aussi serres mis en tout liberte, & franchisez a toujours, mis & hors de Gravelles Miseres, Captivitez & Tyrannies en quy ayes de long temps vescu souz les usurpateurs de cestuy son royaume. Et si vous estes refusans de le faire, & bailler entre les Mains du dit Seigneur Duc Chevalier Ville & Chasteau de d'Orleans, comme dit est, & que faits residence quelconque, par laquelle le moindre de celle Arme soit bleste ou en dangier de sa vie, & qui attendes seulement un Coup de Canon, Vous ne perdes pas seulement les Graces dessus declarez, mais aussi vous Corps & biens sans aucune grace ou misericorde. Et si d'Adventure aucune soit icy dedans, qui ne trouveroit pas honeste de faire le dit serment sans primerement eux acquies de leur Roy bailler autre partie, ilz auront liberte deparzir hors de ladite Ville & Chasteau, leurs Corps. Saules seulement pourquoy advisez ce qui esch delibere de faire, & me donnez response sur les premisses. Fait l'an & jour dessusdict.

⁶ Liber Priv. Sigill. (17 H. 8.) 21 Oct.

⁷ MS. Ant. a Wood, in Mus. Ailm. n. 37. p. 25.

⁸ Cæren, in Officio Armorum.

⁹ 1. Parvina Bost, p. 19. 34 Cæren, in Officio

Arm. p. 43.

¹⁰ Ibid. p. 27.

¹¹ Ibid. p. 57 b.

¹² Pat. 26 H. 8. p. 2. m. 25. Ret omnibus, &c. Saloren, Sciatis, quod cum non sit novum, sed jamdum ab antiquis temporibus usitatum, quod inter cæteros officarios & Ministros, quos Principum lateribus pro eorum Magnificencia & Gloria adhibere decet, eorum, quibus Officia Armorum Curæ committitur, copiam haberi debeant, ut meo tempore Bellorum nec Pacis, sine conventibus & apud Ministros debet preteriri. Nos igitur considerantes ac acient in sua libella servituti que dicitur nobis Thomas Wall, alias dictus Windsor, in his, que cial Herald and Officer of the Noble Order of the Garter, and King of Arms of Englishmen during Life, with 40 l. yearly Salary, out of the Petit Customs of London, to which Place he was created on ¹ Christmas-day following, who is said to have had a subsequent ¹ Patent, which this Collector could not find, enrolled upon Record.

In January following he was sent in Embassy and Commission to the King of ^m Scotts, to carry him the Garter, from whom "He received " a Gowne of Purple Velvet lyncd with blacke boche, and a C Crownes " of the Sunn, and Harwley Norroy, who went with him, likewise a " Gowne of black Satten, lyncd with black budge, all the Sleeves tyed " with Aglettes of goulde to the Number of xxxiii and C Crowns of " the Sun. "

He is usually stiled a Knight; but if he had that Honour, it must be after the 6th of Apr. (27 H. VIII) at which Time he is called an Esquire, in a ⁿ Grant of an Annuity to him; and he died in ^o June following, 28 Hen. VIII, when he had held this Office about one Year and half.

This Collector hath not found, whether he was married, or whether he was descended from that Roger Wall, who is said by ^p Hollingshead, Stow, and others, to have been an Herald, and to have wrote the Life of Hen. V. but these Authors might probably mistake the Owner or Proprietor of the Book for the Writer of it; for though there remains in the Office ^o of Arms the Life of that King, beginning Lucerna, which hath in the Front the coarse Device or Rebus of a Roe Buck, with the Syllable Ger on the Body, placed upon an Hill, encompassed with a Wall turreted, and at the End of it, Claudatur Muro constat liber iste Rogero, alluding to the Name Roger Wall, yet the Proeme assures us, that the Compiler of it was a Foreigner.

quæ ad officium illud spectare intelliguntur, exercuit, dirigentes. Eundem propterea, & non minus ob solertiam & Sagacitatem, quas in eo satis habemus exploratas, in Principalem Heraldum & Officiarium incliti nostri Ordinis Garterii, Armorumq; Regem Anglicorum, ex Gratia nostra speciali, Preximus, fecimus, Constitutimus, Ordinavimus, Creavimus, & Coronavimus, ac per præfentes Eugenius, Facimus, Constitutimus, Ordinamus, Creamus, & Coronamus, ac e officium illud, nec non Nomen le Garter, Scilum, Titulum, Libertates, & Præminentias hujusmodi Officio Convenientia, & Concordantia, ac ab antiquo Confecta, Damus, & Concedimus, ac ipsum in eisdem realiter Investimus, Habendum, occupandum, & Exercendum Officium illud, ac Nomen, Stylum, Titulum, & Præminentias prædictas eidem Thome durante vita sua. cum omnibus Juribus, Proficiis, Commoditatibus, & Emolumentis eidem Officio qualitercunque debitis pertinentibus, sive spectantibus. Et ulterius Concedimus, & per præfentes Concedimus præfato Thome in Regno Armorum Anglicorum (ut præfatur) erecto, pro exercitio Officii prædicti, quadraginta libras per Annum, pro Vadiis & feodis Officii prædicti, de parte Custumæ nostræ in portu Civitatis nostræ Londoniæ, per manus Custumariorum sive Collectorum Custumæ prædictæ, in portu prædicto a Festo Sancti Michaelis Archangeli ultimo præterito, ante datam præsentium, & sic deinceps, pro tempore existentium ad terminos Pasche & Michaelis Archangeli per æquales Portiones, una cum tali libertate & Vestura, qualem & eisdem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius hujusmodi Rex Armorum, sive principalis Heraldus tempore Domini Edwards nuper Regis Angliæ tertii Progenitoris nostri habuit, & percipit, Habendum, & Percipiendum annuatim Libertatem hujusmodi eidem Thome singulis annis durante Vita ipsius Thome ad Magnam Gyrderebam nostram per manus Custodis sive Clerici pro tempore existentis, Eo quod Expressa mentio de vero valore annuo præmissorum. &c. in cuius, &c. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium 19^o die Decembris.

Per breve de privato Sigillo.

^k MS. Ant. a Wood in Mus. Ashm. n. 37. f. 23.
^l D. 4. p. 211. receiving the former, with some additional Clauses.

^m E. 10. penes me. p. 243 b. — H. 1. penes me, p. 58, &c. — MS. penes Edward Dering Baronet L. 5. 3.

Lib. Nig. Garterii, p. 267, in 20 Jun. 26 H. 8. gives an Account of this Election, and sending Notice thereof by the Lord William Howard, Queen & Garterus Rex Armorum ob illud ipsum cum debitis instrumentis est illico factus.

ⁿ G. 12. penes me, p. 100 b. Faustina E. 1. in Bibl. Cotton.

^o MS. Ant. a Wood in Mus. Ashm. n. 37. p. 22 b. p. Hollingshead, p. 1591. Stow's Annals, MS. in Bibl. Cotton.

^p MS. in Officio Armorum donat. per Ducent Norfolkæ.

There

There remain two Volumes of the Collections of this Officer in the Collector's Custody, in one of which is the Entry of his Father's Arms, wherein were some Words blotted out, where the Blank is left in the Margin; those now ascribed to him, are Azure, a Chevron Ermine on a Chief Crenelle Or, three Ogreses Sable; his Crest an Eagle's Head comp^d Argent and Azure between two Wings counterchanged, on each three Doupes counterchanged on a Wreath.

VI. The Sixth Garter, Christopher Barker, had been (as 'tis said) Callis, and Rougedragon Pursévant; then Suffolk, and thence Richmond Herald, afterwards Norroy; wherein are many Mistakes, which appear by an Entry, that seems to be in his own Hand Writing.

He was the Son of William Barker of Stokesley in Yorkshire, by Joan his Wife the Daughter (according to some MSS.) of William Carlisle Norroy, tho' 'tis more probable that she was his Sister, since this William had no Issue by Alice Malory his Wife, and the Collector hath not met with any Memorial of the second Marriage of this Norroy.

He was first Lysley Pursévant to Sir Charles Brandon, who had been made Viscount Lisley [that is Lisle] 15 May 5 H. VIII, and as his Officer he attended on the 8th of April, 6 H. VIII, at the French King's taking his Oath for the Observation of the Peace: He was created Suffolk Herald to the Duke of Suffolk (that is to the same Sir Charles Brandon) by r B. 1. & E. 1. penes me.

 f B. 1. penes me, p. 222 b. Walls of Cryche in Derbyshire alias Norroy King of Armes beryth quarterly the first quarter a sur a chevron Ermys — — — on a chief enbalete gold three pellets.
 † Catalogue of Officers— In D. 1. penes me, p. 284. Wall of Derbyshire, Az. on a Chevron Er. 3 Ogreses, as many Egletes display'd Argent.
 ‡ B. 1. penes me, p. 14.

§ Weaver's Funeral Monument, p. 660, 680, and therein the Catalogue agrees.

¶ M. 9. in Officio Armorum, p. 118 b.— At the Swearing to the Observation of the peace made the 8th day of April 1515, by Francis King of France were present West then Bishop Elect of Ely— and with him Christopher Barker alias Lysley pourcévant to Duke of Suffolk, after Suffolke herald, after Richmonde harould, after that Norroy King of Armes, after that Garter principall King of Armes. See H. 5. penes me, p. 144.

z From a Book in the Office of Arms given by Sir William Dugdale, &c.

Tho. Carlille Pursévant buried at Rome	Johan. Carlille	Willm. Barker de Stokesley
Alicia filia Rich. Dalron 2 uxor	Christopher Barker Richmond.	Margaretta filia—Spacelby ob. f. p.
Justinianus ob.	Christopher ob.

* 65 B. 8. p. 45, 46, 47 in bibl. Harley Robert Carlille

John Carlille

Sir William Carlille

Christopher Carlille — Alicia filia alias Norroy — — — Malory
ob. f. p.

the ^b King at Eltham, the 1st of Febr. 1516 (8 H. VIII. But if his Nomination was not till that Year, he must have had a Predecessor, by the same Title in this Office, who attended on that Duke (called his Master) at the ^c Turnament in Paris 1514. He had afterwards a new Title given him, being made by Patent ^d Richmond, with 20 Marks Wages, in 14 H. VIII, and was created on ^e Albawyn Day, 14 H. VIII, at Hereford.

In 15 H. VIII, He received two ^f Coats of the Kings's Arms painted, one of Damask, the other of Sarfenet.

In 17 H. VIII, He continued in ^g Spain, being sent thither in 15 H. VIII, to attend upon Cuthbert Tunstal Bishop of London, Sir Richard Wingfield Knight of the Garter, and Doctor Sampson Dean of the Chapel, whitch Sir Richard dying there, he ^b solemnized his Funeral, and in 22 H. VIII, was in ⁱ France; in June, 21 H. VIII, was made Norroy, and the 15th of July following, Christopher Barker Esq; alias Norroy, was advanced to be Principal King of Arms of Englishmen, and Chief Officer of Arms of the Noble Order of the Garter, having been solemnly created to it before the Date of this Patent, on Sunday the 9th of that Month on the same Day that the Lord Fitzwaren was invested Earl of Bath.

There is no Privy-Seal or Signet in the Chapel of the Rolls in the Bundle of 27, 28 and 29 H. VIII, for passing this Patent to Barker, neither is there any Record of it on the Patent Roll, which is somewhat strange, since in a Docquet Book kept in the Petty Bag Office there is the following Entry, Priv. Sigill. 28 H. VIII, xv. die Julii creavit & coronavit Christopherum Barker Armigerum alias Norrey in principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum & precipuum Officiarium Armorum incliti sui ordinis Garterii, & Officium illud, necnon nomen le Gartier sulum, &c. cum vadis xl. per Annum ad vitam, and the ⁱ Original under Seal was in the Custody of Sir Will. Le Neue Clavencieux.

He was sent with Toison d'Or, to ^m demand from the French King the Performance of some Articles, in 35 H. VIII, and in case of ⁿ Denial had a Commission to defy him, which could not be executed, because that King refused to admit these Officers to come into his Presence.

In

^b MS. Ant. a Wood, in Mus. Ashm. n. 33. p. 23— MS. Ed. Dering Baronetti l. 6. 1. p. 172.

^c Colombiere Theatre d'honneur, vol. 1. p. 181.
^d Rex creavit Christopherum Barker alias Suffolk cum novo titulo vocato Richmund, cum vadis xx marcarum par. 14 H. 8.

^e A. 10. penes me, p. 245. MS. Ant. a Wood, n. 33. p. 23.

^f B. 7. penes me, p. 31 b.

^g 1st Partition Book, p. 28 b.

^h J. 11. in Officio Armorum, p. 75.

ⁱ 1st Partition Book, p. 31 b.

^k Partition Book, p. 265. H. 5. penes me, p. 132.

H. 10. penes me, p. 379 b.

^l H. 5. penes me, p. 82.

^m Hollingshead's Hist. p. 960.

ⁿ H. 5. penes me, p. 319. Henricus Octavus Dei Gratia, Anglie, France, & Hibernie Rex, Fidei Defensor, ac in terris immediate sub Christo Ecclesie Anglicane, & Hibernice supremum Caput, Quibus ad quos presentes littere pervenierint, Salutem. Notum facimus, quod nos de file, pro bitate, & industria dilecti nobis Christophori Barker alias Garter Regis Armorum, & Ordinis Garterii Heraidi nostri Principalis, plurimum confiden tes, Eidem mandavimus, & commisimus Illustris simum Principem Franciscum Regem Christianis simum adire, & nomine nostro unatum Rege Ar morum aut alio Heraldo Invidiosissimi Principia Caroli quinti divina Clementia Romanorum Im peratoris, &c. litteris nostri charissimis, quedam mandata & Commissionem aperire, proponere, & declarare, Et super eisdem sic per illum propositis, apertis, & declaratis a dicto Rege respon sium petere secundum Instructiones quasdam manu nostra signatas, ac eidem Garterio in hac parte traditas & deliberatas; Et quo casu respon sionem tale prefato Heraldo nostro intra decem dies a prefato Rege datum non fuert, quale nos per dictas Instructiones nostras dicto Heraldo nostro prescripsimus accipiendum, ad Belli denunciationem, & intimationem.

In 36 H. VIII, he had his ^o Livery and Conduct Money, in order to attend on the Duke of Suffolk, then Commander of the Middle Ward for the Expedition into France, in the _p Diary whereof he is remembered.

At the Coronation of Edward VI, he was one of the 9 Knights of the Bath then made, which was by a Promotion without Ceremony, by reason of the ^r Shortness of Time, and he is the first named in the ^s Charter of Exemption to the Heralds.

He made ^t his Will 31 Dec. 1549, proved the 6th of April following, wherein he orders himself to be buried in the Vault he had prepared in the long Chapel next St. Fayth's Church in Pauls, and gives the Reversion of some Tenements to the Company of Vintners and their Successors.

He is said ^u die on the 4th of January, 3 E. VI, but the Inquisition ^x fixes it to the 2d, leaving a very considerable Estate behind him, as appears from his Will, and that Inquisition.

He married Margaret, Daughter of Speckley of Worcester-shire, who, (as he writes himself) dying 15 March 1520 (12 H. VIII) without Issue—He afterwards married Alianor Dalton, Widow of Rigby, by whom he had two Sons, in 14 H. VIII, Justinian, who died Rougecrosse in Spain, and Christopher, who died likewise before his Father, so as Edward Barker, Hofilitatis procedere juxta formam in ea re, de concilio & assensu Consiliariorum nostrorum in dictis Instructionibus scriptam, & comprobata. Promittentes bona fide, & in verbo Regio nos tarum, gratum, & firmum habituros, quicquid Heraldus noster fecerit in præmissis, & aliquo præmissorum. In Cujus rei testimonium hiis Literis manu nostra signatis Sigillum nostrum apponi fecimus. Datum in Honore nostro de Hampton-Courte die xxviii^o Mensis Maii. Anno Domini Milimo quingentesimo quadragesimo tertio, & Regni nostri trigesimo quinto.

Cod. Saxe

o M. 16. in Off. Arm. p. 100b.

p Rymer, vol. 15. p. 53, 53.

q Wever's Fun. Mon. p. 660, 680.

r E. xi. Penes me, p. 217b.

s Rymer, vol. 15. p. 186.

t In Curia Prebendæ. Consuar. Conde Qu. 10. In the Name of God the father, the Sonne, and the Holy Ghost &c. Amen. the 31 day of Dec. in the Yere of our Lorde God 1549 &c. in the 3d yere of the reign of our Sovereign and most excellent Prince Edwarde the Sixte &c. I Christopher Barker alias Garter Knt. principall Kynges at Armes of Engylshemen, resident in the parshie of Seynte Frythes called Pater noster Row &c. I wyl that my wretched Corps and Carcase shall be buried in the Vawite, which I have alreedy provided, beyng in the long Chappell next St. Fythes Church in Pauls &c. He then devises lands to the cleere yearly value of xl. therein particularly named to his Cofyn William Kunning, Esq. and his heirs &c. to the same Edith his wife all the other free lands for her life, &c. whereof many are named, and after her decease to the Company of Vynetners in London, and their Successors for ever, his Tenements standing in Lympe Street London. To his brother Edward Boyce Citizen, and Drasset of London, after the decease of his said wyf, his house in Pater noster Row, and to his heirs for ever; to his Cofine Alexander Carlyll and Christopher his Son after his wyves decease his Lease of his Maner house in London, his Lodes, &c. in Saynt Nicolat and Ive lane in London to John Colnell, Richard Colnell, and Edward Colnell his wyves Children, to be equally devyded among them, to them and their heires &c. After his wyves decease to Edward Barker, and the heirs of his body lands in Wensled, and for default of such yfsewe to Tho. Barker his Brother, and his heirs of his body, and for default of suche yfsewe to William Barker their Brother, and to the heirs of his Body, and for lack of soche yfsewe to his Godsonne Christopher Carlyll, and to his heirs for ever. And after some legacies to pious uses, Then He gives to Elice Colwell and Katherine Colnell his wives daughters xl. marks between them towards the preferment of their marriage and makes Edith his wife Executrix, &c. To which a Codicil is annexed.

u 1st Partion Book, in Officio Armorum, p. 135b. MS. Ant. a Wood, in Mus. Ash. n. 33. p. 22b.

x E libro in Curia Wardonum de Anno Quarto Edwardi Sexti. The Extent and cleere yerely value of all the manors lands and hereditaments late of Sir Christopher Barker Knt. deceased iij January anno tertio Ed. 6. and Edward Barker his Cofyn and next heir xviii yeres old at the finding of the Office in London the viii of June Anno Quarto Regis prædicti. Civitas Londonia. One Messuage in Stue lane given to the Lady ----- Barker late wife of the said Sir Christopher terme of her lyff, and after her decease to John Colnell Richard Colwell and Edward Colnell Children to the said Lady and to their heires for ever, which said Lady died in Sept. an^o 4to E. vi. &c. one Messuage in Lymfreet, &c. given to the Lady for terme of her lyff and after her deathe to the Company of the Vynetners in London for the mayntenance of their company and to their successors for ever &c. Vide Libr. Libertattonum in dicta Curia de anno primo Mariae, f. 125b.

y M. 4. in Officio Armorum, p. 34. It appears by a MS. formerly Mr. Camdens, given to the Herald's Office by Dugdale, that this Elianor Dalton was the Widow of ----- Rigby.

Son of his Brother John, became his Heir at Law, for he had no Issue by his third Lady Edith Daughter of John Boys of Godwelfton in Kent, Relict of Robert Colwell and Robert Legge, who in the Index in the Prerogative Office to her Will, dated 1 July 1450, is stiled Dame Edith Barker alias Garter Widow; she therein orders herself to be ^z buried within the Vault in the Chapel next adjoining to the Parish Church of St. Fairhe in Parules in London, where the Body of Sir Christopher Barker alias Garter Knight her late Husband lyeth buried, and names therein divers Sons and Daughters by her Husband Colwell, and also her Brother Edward Boyse, which Will was proved on the 14th of Sept. following. His Arms were Argent three Bear's Heads erased Gules, muled Or, in Chief three Torreauxes.

The Titles of Officers of Arms were used as their Surnames, according to the Tenour of their Patents, which expressly impose them, Nomen tibi " imponimus Garter, &c." The Rule of Law is, that when any Person is created to the Stile of a Baron, or higher Nobility, he shall from that Time be named by his ^a Christian Name, and that of his Title, State, and Degree, which stands in lieu of his Surname; in this Privilege Ladies also participate, who retain their Husbands Titles during their Widowhood, though their Husbands had been advanced thereto for Term of their Lives only; thus Faquet the Relict of John Duke of Bedford, and Earl of Kendal, enjoyed the Stile of Dutchess, and this Practice is more evident in the Widows of Knights, who retain the Title of Ladies though the Knighthood expires with their Husbands. ^b Upton goes farther in the Case of Heralds, who, he saith lost their former Names upon Creations, and then took new ones and Arms also; at the Time of his Writing, Heralds were taken out of the Purfevants, so that this Expression may here only mean, that they lost the Titles which they enjoyed while they were Purfevants. In the Case of Garter it hath been judicially determined ^c that Title must be used in Pleadings, and the Reason is given, because it is not only a Name of Office but a Name of Dignity also, which appears from the Term Coronamus in the Patent, to which might have been added, that the other Word ^d Creamus likewise therein, always imports a Dignity: This extends to all other Officers of Arms whose Patents are in the same Tenour, and hence probably it might be that these Titles were not only used by them, but by their Wives, and also by their Relicts. Before the Instances of this Custom are given, 'tis necessary to examine an Assertion of ^e Gerard Leigh, who being sensible doubts of an Illegitimacy in his own Line, by way of Recrimination on these Officers, boldly averred, " That the Marriage of Heralds was contrary to their Profession, and that though they are so anciently wived, " as the six Clerks, yet they are not so lawfully". Whereas 'tis evident from this History of the Garters, that Bruges was the Son of a King of Arms

^z Coode in Cur. Prærog. Qu. 21.

^a Co. 2 Inst. p. 666.

^b De re milit. p. 178. Haraldi— columbas in suis Armis affumere & portare, prioribus eorundem armis, nominibusq; propriis dimissis & penitus derelictis, &c.

^c Leon. 1 Rep. n. CCCxxxvii. Cro. Eliz. p. 224.

^d Co. in the End of his Preface to the xiv Rep. e Accedence of Armory, 143.

and was himself married, his Successor was twice married: Sir John Wrythe had three Wives, and his Son Sir Thomas had several Children: Wall was the Son of a King of Arms, and the first Wife of this Barker died before these six Clerks were permitted to marry by a Law in general, which was enacted in 14 and 15 Hen. VIII., though our Records shew us, they might marry before that Time, if they obtained a Licence from the Crown for that Purpose. 'Tis strange this false Doctrine hath never met with any Censure, for it is contradicted not only by the Wills of ancient Officers, who mention their Wives and their Children, but also by several of our Records, and this Liberty of Marriage corresponds with the f To omit the Daughters of Sir Paen Roet, said to have been Guenive King of Arms in the Reign of Ed. iii. married to John Duke of Lancaster, and to Chauver.

Richard Northampton Herald. in his Will made in 1377, mentions his first Wife Katherine, and devises Lands to John his then Wife. Registr. Episc. London.

John Derby, Herald of the King, in his Will made 1413, constitutes his Wife Isabel, and Thomas his Son, his principal Legatees. Registr. Episc. Lond. Thomas Irland, King of Arms, in his Will 2 Hen. v. gives Legatee to his Wife Johan, then big with Child. Registr. Episc. Lond.

Thomas Gryffyn, otherwise called Richemond, in 1473, gives the Residue of his Goods to Katherine his Wife, and Richard his Son, and Richard Wryght his Son in Law. Warrys in Cur. Prærog. p. 147.

John More Norroy in 1491, gives to his Wife Alianor all his Goods, Milles in Cur. Prærog.

Thomas Holme Clarenceux made his Will in 1493, and therein orders, that the Will of Christian sometime Wife and Executrix of John Garland, and afterwards his Wife, should be fully performed, and constitutes his then Wife Eliz. one of his Executors. Vox in Curia Prærog. qu. ix. The Will of this Christian Holme, made in 1476, by Licence of her said Husband, is in the Registr. Episc. Lond.

Richard Wyndesore Herald of Arms, in his Will 1502, makes Katherine his Wife his residuary Legatee, Blamyr in Cur. Prærog. Qu. 8.

John Joyner Norroy, in his Will proved 28 July 1523, mentions his Daughter Margaret. Bodfield in Cur. Prærog.

Francis Drees likewise Windsor, made his Will in 1524, whereby his Wife, and Margaret his Daughter, then married to Peter Cave, were Executrices. Reg. Tunstall Episc. Lond. f. 54. So that he must have been married before the Act for the six Clerks.

g Clauſe 13 R. 2. p. 1. Richardus Northampton Herald, & Katherine uxor ejus tenuerunt terras in Theydon, &c.

Priv. Sigill. 4 H. 6. Hewi, &c. As tresfeverent Pere en Dieu nostre trescher cousin L'evêque de Cauterbris Primat de toute Engleterre nostre Chancellor salut. Comme de nostre grace especialles nous gantez a noz bien amez Reignault Mowbray herault d'armes & a Elizabeth fa femme la garde de nostre Change deinz nostre ville de Calceys par terme de lour deux vies, &c. 22 Oct.

Pat. 10 H. 4. p. 1. m. 12 Rex, &c. Sciatis quod nos considerantes diturnum servitium, quod dilectus nobis Henricus Green vocatus Leicester Rex Armorum nobis ante hæc tempora impendit, concessimus eidem Henrico, quod ipse, & Elizabetha uxor ejus de cetero habeant & teneant durante vita eorum quoddam hospitium in villa nostra de Herford, &c.

Fines in Com. Bucks, 6 H. 5. n. 30. inter Willielmum Boys alias dictum Excitree heraud & Matildam uxorem ejus querentes, & Thomam Wulston & Emman uxorem ejus detortantes de terris in Burnham & Dorneye, unde prædicti Thomas & Emma concesserunt dictis Willimo & Matilde pro vita, remanere Willimo Boys juniori alias dicto Blanchyverc Purfevant, & heredibus masculis de corpore, remanere Thomæ Boys alias dicto Anolep Purfevant & heredibus masculis de corpore, &c.

In the Chamberlain's Office London 16 Hen. vi. Richardus Arondel filius Johannis Clarenceux Regis Armoſus venit hic coram Camerario, & cognovit se esse Apprenticium Rob. Alshely Civis & aurifabri, &c.

Clauſe 20 H. 6. m. 3d. Robert Ashmole alias dictus Lancaster filius Johannis Ashmole super Regis Armoſum concessit Oweyno ap. Meredith ap. Tudur Armoſigero, &c. And at Little-Chart in Kent was an Inscription on a Tomb: hic jacet Johannes filius - - - Lancastri Heraldus Regis Armoſum, qui obiit 10 die Junii 1441. West. Fin. Mon. f. 283.

The Will of Roger Lygh Clarenceux is mentioned in Notes to the Black-book, p. 138. note 1.

Pat. 30 H. 6. p. 3. m. 9. Rex, &c. Sciatis quod de gratia nostra specialis concessimus & licentiam dedimus dilecto servitiori nostro Willmo Myghard alias dicto Suffolke Heraldico Officiario Armoſum, quod ipse a regno nostro Francia in regnum nostrum France ad uxorem, & liberos suos qui in dictis carceribus a die ibidem detenti extiterunt, &c. 30 Julii.

Will. Hawkeslow Clarenceux, who was drowned in the Spanish Seas in 1476, was married. Priv. Sig. 26 Feb. 17 E. 4. Edward, &c. Forasmuch as We be remembered that our servant Clarenceux King of Arms lately deceased in oure service served us truly by the space of xviii yeeres, by the which season He ne perceived any fee or reward from us over the common profits and rewards apperteyning to the said Office, And that we be verily ascertaigned, that He died in great dette and povertie, by the which his wife and children ben now in misery. We remembering the said service, and the long continuance thereof, And the said misery of his wife and children, of our very pity be mooved to emparte our almes to his said wife and children for their releif and succour, &c. His wife present at the obsequies for him, Thus in lib. Cotton. c. 1. p. 456. Signet. 1 H. 7. 20 May, "To the Bishop of Exeter to make a privy Seal to the Tresorer and Chamberlains of the Exchequer to paye and deliver in redy money to our trusty servant Windsor oon of our Heraldz the somme of twenty marcs sterling, which we have appointed hym freely to have of our yift and reward towards his arrement and apparailing "ayent his marriage, &c.

After these records may be inserted, that in M. 3. in Off. Arm. is this Entry. This booke was bought of the Widow of March King of Arms, 6 Hen. 7. Of this Marriage, see Glover's Visit of Chester, p. 310.

Practice in Foreign ^b Parts, where the Romish Religion is still professed. Mr. Leigh assigns no Article of their Professions which interferes with Marriage, and certainly there is no more Prohibition on them in this Particular than there was on the Roman Heralds, the Fecials, whose Chief the Pater Patrvatus (as 'tis usually said) was not qualified for that Post unless he had a Son as well as a Father living, so as he might know how to obey as well as to command. Among them likewise the Wife of the Rex Sacrorum was stiled ⁱ Regina Sacrorum, and she actually performed some ^k Sacred Rites.

But to return to the Titles used by the Wives of Heralds. Burdeaux the King's Herald in his ^l Will made 1398, calls his Wife Elianor Burdeaux; the Widow of ^m Richard Del Brugg Lancaſter hath been already hinted. There was formerly this Inſcription in the Gray Friars London; ⁿ Facet Alicia Carlille alias Norre ſecunda filia Thomæ Malore de Com. Cantuarii. She was the Wife of ^o Chriſtopher Carlille Norroy, who ſurvived her, and died ^p himſelf in 1510; the Wife of Benoilt is, during his Life, ſtiled by the Heralds in their Books ^q of Partition of Fees Miſtriſs Clarenceux, and we have ſeveral Grants on ^r Record to Suſan Tonge alias Clarenceux Widow, who is likewiſe mentioned by that Title in ſeveral of our Writers.

VII. The Seventh Garter Sir Gibert Dethick ^l is ſaid to have continued an Officer of Arms 65 Years, and to have died at the Age of 81 in 1584, according to which Computation he ſhould have been firſt admitted

^b Chron. Martiniens 1475. Montjoie & un ſien ſils, &c. Chron. Scandalaufe, p. 235.

^c Chronas de le Caron, who wrote the Pandects of the French Laws, ſaith, That he himſelf was Son of the Sieur de Canley an Herald of Arms, p. 382.

^d John Hervart Toylon d'or dying in 1635, was ſucceeded by his Son Meſſire Joſeph Anthony Hervart, upon whoſe Death in 1667, the Son of this latter Meſſire Jean Hervart ſucceeded.

^e Johannes Tyrol preſented to Hen. VIII. three books of Arms which he ſaith that his Father an Herald to the Emperor had with great Care collected.

^f Nicaife L'Adam Grenade King of Arms died in 1547, on whoſe Tomb, Deux femmes epouſa, &c. Menestrier Richerches du Blafon, p. 145.

^g Jean Baptiſte Anthoine de Getz was Eſcuyer King of Arms in 1687, and his ſecond Son was Namur King of Arms in 1703.

^h Michael Mauriffens was King of Arms, whoſe Son was Guelderland King of Arms in 1651, and was ſucceeded by his Brother in 1673.

ⁱ The Bieherghes Father, Son and Grandſon, have been ſucceſſive Kings of Arms.

^j Matthurin Marteneau ſucceeded to his Father Bernard in the Order of the Holy Ghoſt, &c.

^k Gruter Inſcript. p. 1087.

^l Macrob. l. 1. c. 15. Panvin. de Civ. Rom. c. 26.

^m Registr. Episc. London.

ⁿ Antiq. p. 327. not in.

^o Vitell. F. 7. in bibl. Cott.

^p 65 B. B. p. 43, 46, 47. in bibl. Harley.

^q Weaver's Ben. Mon. p. 526.

^r Part. Book. p. 21.

^s She was early in the Service of the Princess Mary, Daughter of Hen. 8. who in a letter to her Father's Secretary touching her Desire about her Servants, writes, "That of such, whom she thought worthy to be accepted for their faithful Service done to the King's Majesty and to herself, fittens they came into her company, she promises him or her faith, that Margery, Banton and Susan Clarenceux have in every condition used themselves as faithfully, painfully, and diligently as ever did women in such a case." Syllog. Episc. ad finem Hist. Hen. 5. edit. per Hearne, p. 145. Her Husband Tho. Tonge Clarenceux died in 28 H. 8. Stow Survey of London in St. Mary Overy. Ed. 6. granted to Susan Tonge, alias Clarenceux Widow, the Mannour of Thundersley, Priv. Sig. 7 E. 6. 22 Junii. In 1 and 2 Ph. and M. Robes were bestowed, pro Susanna Clarenceux generosa de privata Camera Regine. Compr. Ed. Waldgrave penes Rem-Regis; and in 4 and 5 Ph. and M. p. 3. m. 28. Licence for alienating and settling some Mannors is granted Susanna Tonge alias Clarenceux vidua prima Generosa privata camera nostrum prefate Regine. Pat. 4. & 5 Ph. & M. m. 28. in which Year a Lease of the Mannor of Wighele in York was granted to Susan Tonge alias Clarenceux Widow. Cur. Ward. ultimo Febr. She presented to some Churches by this Name, Newcourt Regist. Paroch. vol. 2. p. 586, 587. and is so stiled in the Will of her Brother Rob. White of Hatton-Hall in Essex Esq; dated in 1549. Lib. Horn. in Reg. Lond. and she is called Clarenceux by Fox in his Martyrology, and Hollingsh. p. 1158, 1160. and the Collector writes she is the Clarentia Anicula who fled into Spain for her Religion mentioned in Camd. Eliz. sub A. D. 1560.

^t J. A. B. Hist. of the Garter p. 302. which, as may be supposed, he took from W. N. in Officio Armorum, p. 27 b. or from Weaver's Fun. Monuments, p. 660.

mitted in 1519, about the 11th Year of Hen. VIII., when he could not be above Sixteen; but if he had been in the Office so early, 'tis strange there should be no Remembrance of him in the Books of the Partition of Fees between the Officers, which are still preserved from the 19th Year of that King, and intimate their Names and Surnames by the initial Letters thereof prefixed to their Titles; as therefore here is an evident Mistake in his Age at the Time of his Death, for by the Inscription in Paul's Church, he was then 84, so it is reasonable to believe that the Entry in this Partition Book is right, wherein 'tis noted that he was advanced to be Hampnes Pursuivant on Corpus Christi Day, the 16th of June in 28 H. VIII., and two Days afterwards had a Salary granted him by a Patent, from whence he was in Dec. 32 H. VIII. made Rougecroix, and forthwith on Christmas-Day promoted to the Place of Richmond Herald, for which he had a Patent bearing Date the 8th of March following, and in this Qualification he attended in the Camp at Monfrel, and received the Wages of 4*s.* daily for himself, and 6*d.* for each of his two Servants, and in the next Year was employed in Denmark, whose Negotiations in that Kingdom may be consulted in the Cotton Library. On Easter Day, 37 H. VIII. the Partition Book takes notice of his Absence occasioned by his being then employed in the King's Affairs, when, as it is supposed, he was in Scotland demanding the Scotch Prisoners to return according to their Articles; for Instructions of that Nature signed by the King were given to Richmond Herald, which are inserted in the Margin, because the Maxims of the Laws of Arms in such Cases

In H. 3. penes me, p. 1096 and 1110. Sir William his Son and Successor, in a petition to her Majesty sheweth, that his late Father Garter after 62 years payfull and dangerous services, &c. Now Sir Gilbert being 84 years old at his death, must have been born in 1500, and by this Account was an Officer of Arms from the Year 1522 (14 H. 8.)

1 In Partition Book, in Officio Armi, p. 265.
2 In MS. Ant. a Wood in Mus. Ashm. n. 33.
P. 24.

3 Pat. 28 H. 8. Part 2. — Rex, &c. quod dilectus subditus noster Gilbertus Dethyke, quem Hannes unum Porfevandorum nostrorum nominimus, eique nomen illud imposuimus, nobis ante hæc tempora impendit. Deimus, &c. eidem Gilberto pro fendo Officii prædicti vadia & feoda, & sic de minorum hering per diem pro Exercitio ejusdem Officii prædicti, Habendum, &c. durante vita sua a festo die Aprilis ultimo præterito, &c. de Thesturo nostro ad receptam Saccarii nostri Calis, &c. 18 Julii.

4 Weaver's Funeral Monuments, p. 680.
5 In Partition Book, in Officio Armarum, p. 81 b. on Christmash-Day 32 H. 8.

6 Pat. 32 H. 8. p. 8 Martii Priv. Sigill. 8 Martii Rex crevit Gilbertum Dythick alias Rougecroix unum Heraldorum suorum & nomen Richmound imposuit, &c. & concessit XX marcas per annum, &c.

7 See Rymer, vol. xv. p. 54.
8 H. 4. penes me, p. 650.
9 Nero B. 3. p. 123, &c.
10 In Offic. Arm.

11 Instructions given by the King's Majesty to his trusty servant Richemonde one of his Highness heralds at Armes, whom his Majesty sendeth at this present to the Lords of the Parliament in Scotland, or if the Parliament sit not, to the Lords of the Council assembled at his coming thither for the doing of certain his Majesty's Affaires there.

Henry R.

Furth the sayde Richemonde taking with him these Instructions with such other Writings as be prepared for his proceedings with the sayde Lords shall ymedyately with all diligence possible take his Journey from hence to my Lord of Staff. and there receiving of him such further information, as he shall give him, touching his Charge and directing himself thereafter shall passe into Scotland straight unto Edinburgh or such other place where the sayd Lords shall reside taking in his Company for his better Conduyt by my said Lord of Staff. appointment Henry Roke one of his Majesty's Officers at Armes, whose advis he shall use for his passage in his Waye, and for the Knowledge and Intelligence of things in Scotland, and also for his behaviour there concerning his safeguard and Suerrey willing both the sayd Richemonde, and the sayde Henry Roke to weare on their Backs always their Cotes of Armes; and at their Coming to the place where the sayd Lords shall be, making sute to the same for Audience, the sayde Richemonde, shall after they be admitted unto them, saye the Message on his Majesty's behalfe hereafter expressed, which wherme he hath said, if they desire a Coppe of the same, he shall deliver it subscribed with his hand.

Right Honorable my Lords and others assembled here at this present, whereas by the ancient Lawes, and laudable use of Armes, it hath bene always

Cases are recited therein. William Fellow Norroy dying before Christmas Day always hitherto observed and inviolably kept between Princes and Princes, and also all other Men of honour for shadvoyding extreme Cruaity and Slaughter, which elz would vsue in the Warres, that yielding themselves, and being taken to mercy they shuld not be kylled and destroyed but be reserved and kept at the mercy of their taker, the same to be always, until they were redeemed and ransomed at the Will disposition and Ordre of the sayd taker, and in the mean Season to be none otherwise subiect to any Lawe or personne, but that they might be at all tymes redy to cum into their takers whensoever they were Comanded, and Called for, which honourable vsage and Lawe of Armes being by any Colour or devise violared or broken, all humanity Mercy and pyttee for the Saufgarde of mans lief shoud be utterly among men abolished and extinct. The Kings Majesty my moost drad Sovereign Lord Henry theight by the Grace of God Kinge of Englande France and Irelande the Supreme heid, having by Victory in Just and lawfull Warre against this Realme taken certain Noblemen and Gentlemen Prisoners, (whose Names I shall repete anon unto you) did sone after their taking upon their own humble Sute and request to return into this their Country for the doing of certain things tending to thouniversal benefit, as they affirmed of this Realme gyve them leave to repayre into this their sayde Countrey upon their Othe and promesse made unto his Highnesse, on their Honours and Fidelities, to returne at all tymes notwithstanding their Hostages, whenne he would appoynte them. And being now determined to have them returne unto him according to their said promesse, and yone in respect of your honours will not only suffice them, but also comforteys them, if they woud not acquire themselves therein honorably as apperteyneth to true Nobilitye and Gentle blood, and represent themselves unto his Majesty according to their sayd bonds, hath Comanded me to repayre unto you the Lords and others of the parliament or Counsaill here assembled and to requyer you in his Majesty's name to delivere unto me out of hande to be conveyed unto his Majesty his lawfull and sworn Prisoners Therie of Caffels Therie of Glencarn, the Lord Somerville, the Lord Maxwell, the Lord Grey, the Lord Olyvant, the Lord Fleming, Oliver St. Cler, George Home Lord of Hoyon, Rob. Erskin, Sonne and heire to the Lord Erskin, William Seton, Patrick Hayburn, James Pringle, James St. Cler, Alexander St. Cler, John Melind Lord of Avoncaffels, Henry Maxwell, Brother to the Lord Maxwell, John Rolfe Lord of Cragy, the Lord Munmoreth, William Munmoreth Lord of Carsay, John Lefe younger Sonne to therie of Rothers, John Caringshell eldest Sonne to the Capitayne of Crafsford, signifying further unto you that in Case by any pretence or allegation to be devised by you or them to the Contrary the same be not accomplished according to my request, his Majesty entendeth to revenge it, not onely upon such their pledges remayning for their appearance in England as far as to his Majesty shall seeme good and agreeable to the Lawes of Armes, but also upon all the persones of this Realme, which shall hereafter happen to cum into his hands, and in such sorte denounce this rupture of this aunyent Lawe of Armes to all the Woorld, as the same shall turne to your and their perpetual ignomy and reproache, Requiring you to gyve me answer hereof within these three Dayes.

And when the said Richemond hath declared the faile Messaige, in Case therie of Arreyn, the Cardinal or other shall aunswer that the said prisoners shall either cum in, or paye their Ransoms, according to the rates of the value of their Lanis and Goods, he shall thereto replye and saye.

The Lawe of Armes touching the taxation of the Ransoms of prisoners, is and hath bene always used, that the takers shall fert at their liberty such ransoms upon their prisoners, as shall seeme meete unto their discretion, for in respect of that liberty the takers have many times, upon hope of making their own advantage and profet upon their prisoners, saved many a Mans lief, whom else they woud have slayn without taking the same to Mercy. And yet those Prisoners whom I now demaunde in the Kings Majesty my Sovereigns name wer not let home upon Condition eyther to paye their ransoms, or elz to return, but to stand bounden, by their Faythes and honours simply and without Condition to return at such tyne as his Majesty woud call for them, thoberservation of which promesse, I cum now to require.

And therewithal, in Case of any of the sayd Prisoners fortune to be present at the doing of this Messaige knowing by and by of Berayk their Names and which they be, he shall turne his tale unto them and saye.

My Lords (calling every one by his Name) the Kings Majesty my Sovereign Lord requyrethe you by vertue of your faithes and honours, which remayne with his Majesty in Obligation for your Returne, to performe and accomplye your promesses in that behalf, and furthwith to repayre unto him being your Lord and Master by the Commu Lawe of Reason and Armes, and you likewise being his prisoners and Captives until by his Consent and manumission you shall be put to Liberty.

And furthermore if it shall fortune any of the said Lordes tobeject that the Kings Majesty hath already accorded and agreed by certain his Commissioners upon certain Sommes to be payd for the ransom of every of the said prisoners the said Richemond shall make this aunswer.

It was indee agreed, that at such tyne as hostages which wer promised to be layd in, according to the Treaty for the performance of the marriage and delivery of the yong Priorelle shuld be layd into the King's Majesty at the same tyne the Prisoners of Scotlande gyving in bonds by Obligation for the payment of their Ransom at Convenyent days with their owne promesse to yelde themselves prisoners, if they brak their sayde days of payment with the Writing also of the Governour of Scotlande conteyning his promesses to uphold and mainteyn the said bands and promesses that these things done the prisoners shoud be ransomed upon certayn Sommes, whereunto his Majesty did agree both in respect of the sayd Conditions, and to thintent also that all the rest of the Treary which was concluded betweene the Commissioners shuld on your partes have bene fulfilled and observed, wherof because ye have kept neer a one, not only that poynt touching the saide ransoms, which you now alledge is voyde, but also you have gotten your selfs thereby perpetuel Ignomye and shame throughout all Christendome.

And what Aunswer the sayde Richemond shall receive of the sayde Lords to the premises, he shall make it diligently, and also all other things that that

Day ; 8 Hen. VIII, Detbick ¹ succeeded him in that Place, for which he obtained a ⁵ Patent from Edw. VI on the 16th of August following, and in that Year waited on the Protector in the ⁶ Expedition against the Scots, who, as it hath been observed, sent him in a ⁷ Message that hazarded his Person : He is named in the Charter of Exemption granted to the Heralds, and was sent into ⁸ Kent and other Places to pacify the Rebels ; and upon a Vacancy in the Office of Garter, though there were ⁹ divers Officers of Arms his Seniors, yet he was constituted thereto by a ¹⁰ Creation, as it is said, on Sunday before St. Georges-Day 1550, and afterwards on the 29th of Apr. obtained a ¹¹ Patent with the ancient Salary, payable from Michaelmas preceeding, and received the Honour of Knight-hood on Easter Tuesday following, 5 Ed. VI.

His Son and Successor William, some Years before the Death of his Father, gives a summary ^o Narrative of his Employments in Publick Affairs, ^o That first being Rougecroffe, and Richmond Herald he was sent in sundry shall com to his Knowledge to thintent he may make report of the same at his return to his Majesty accordingly. H. 4. penes me, p. 491. bring ibe Original.

Here is no Date affixed to this Inshrament, which boarter must be after July 35 H. 8. when those Prisoners were released upon their promise of returning back : See Rymer, vol. 14. p. 797.

f MS. Ant. 4 Wood, in Mus. Ashm. n. 33. p. 24. H. 5. penes me, p. 313.

g Rymer, vol. 15. p. 157.

h 16 Sept. the Lord of Brimston a Scottish Gentleman, who cam to my Lordes Grace from their Counsell for Cause of Communication bilyke returned again to them having with him Norrey an Herald and King of Armes of ours. Expedition into Scotland by D. of Somerse, printed by Grafton 1538.

i See above, p. 292. Note a.

k Acta Concilii privati— 11^o Aug. 1549. Warrent for xlii. 10 Norroy King of Armes for divers Voyages by him made into Keut, Essex, Suffolk and Norfolk, about the pacifying of the Rebelli.

l 2 Ceterm in Offi. Arm. p. 11.

m P. 1c. penes me, p. 64.

n Pat. 4 E. 6. p. 2. —Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem. Sciatis, quod cum non sit novum, sed jamdiu ab antiquis temporibus usitatum, quod inter Ceteros officarios & Ministros, quos Principum lateribus pro eorum magnificentia atque Gloria adhaerere decet, eorum, quibus Officij Armorum cura committitur, Copiam habere debeat, ut nec tempus Bellorum, neque Pacis, sine convenientibus & aptis Ministris debeat preteriri : Nos igitur considerantes & aciem in fidelia, & etiam laudabilia Servitia, quae dilectus Gilbertus Dei bycke Armiger alias dictus Norrey in his quae ad officium illud spectare intelliguntur, exercuit, dirigentes, eundem propterea, & non minus ob solertiam & Sagacitatem, quas in eo satis habemus exploratas, in Principalem Regem Armorum Anglorum, & praecipuum officiarum Armorum ^o incliti nostri ordinis Garterij, ex Gratia nostra speciali, ac de avilamento Concilii nostri & Consensu eorumdem, creavimus, fecimus, Constituimus, Ordinavimus, Creavimus, & Coronavimus, ac per praesentes, erigimus, facimus, Coofituimus, Ordinamus, Creamus, & Coronamus ad Officium illud, nec non Nomen le Gariter, Stylum, Titulum, Libertates, Praeeminencias, Commoditates hujusmodi Officio pertinentia : Habendum, occupandum, & exercendum Officium illud, ac Nomen, Stylum, Titulum, Commoditates, & Praeeminencias praedictas eidem Gilberto Dei byk durante vita sua, cum omnibus Juribus, Proficiis, Commoditatibus, & Emolumentis eidem Officio qualitercumque debitis, pertinentibus, sive spectantibus, in tam amplis modo & forma, prout Chrystiferus Barker Miles nuper Gariter, aut aliquis alius nuper habens feu occupans officium praedictum habuit, usus, vel gavisus fuit, exercuit, seu exercere potuit in eodem officio ratione ejusdem Officii : Et ulterius Concessimus, ac de avilamento & Consensu praedictis per Praesentes concedimus praefato Gilberto in Principalem Regem Armorum Anglorum (ut praefatur) erecto, pro exercitio Officii praedicti quadraginta libras per Annum, pro vadio & feodo Officii praedicti, percipiendas de exitibus & proficiis Parvae Custumae nostrae in portu Civitatis nostrae Londoniae, per manus Customariorum, Collectorum, sive Receptorum Custumae praedictae in Portu praedicto, a festo Sancti Michaelis Archangeli ultimo praeterito, ante datam Praesentium, & sic deinceps pro tempore existentium ad terminos Paschae & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per aequales Portiones ; nec non talem Liberaturam & Vesturam, qualem aliquis Principatus Rex Armorum Anglorum aliquo tempore antehac habuit, aut percipit in vel pro eodem officio, deliberandam eidem Gilberto per manus Custodis, sive Clerici Mstrae Garderolae nostrae, Habendum & annuatim percipiendum eidem Gilberto durante vita sua dictas quadraginta Libras annuatim de exitibus & Proficiis provenientibus de parva Custuma nostra in portu Civitatis nostrae Londoniae per manus Collectorum sive Receptorum ibidem pro tempore existentium, ad Festa Paschae & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per aequales Portiones, ac etiam dictas Liberaturam & Vesturam ad Garderolam nostram durante vita sua praedicta, per manus Custodis, sive Clerici ejusdem pro tempore similiter existentis ad terminos consuetos ; Et quod expressa mencio, &c. In cujus Rei, &c. Teste rege apud Westmonasterium vicesimo nono die Aprilis. Per breve de privato Sigillo. Rymer, vol. 15. p. 229.

o H. 3. penes me, p. 1096, 1110.

“ Messages of honour and urgent causes to the King of Denmark for the “ traffick of Merchant shippes, and royall intelligences, also to the town “ of Lubeck, to the Dyet at Ratisbone, where Stephen Gardiner afterwards “ Bishop of Winchester was present, likewise sundry times to the Duke “ of Cleves, and concerning that marriage in the time of Hen. 8. also “ into Scotland in the time of Edw. 6. for speech of marriage there com“ menced, Besides employed in his Office for matters of the warrs, or “ in his Office now of the Garter, To Henry the late French King, to “ the Christning of Henry now French King then named Edward Alex- “ ander, to the Duc of Monmorency Countable of France, to Charles ix “ late French King at Lions, To the Duke of Savoy, To the Duke of “ Holftein, To the Earl of Warwick at Newbarun, to the late Emperor.

Edw. VI was Godfather to this French King, and by his Command the Name of Edward Alexander was given him, which his Mother afterwards procured him to alter for that of his Father.

He published Jufts at Canterbury in 1564, and was sent with the Garter to Frederic the Second King of Denmark.

When he had enjoyed this Office 34 Years and some Months, and not, as Mr. Afemole misreckoned, 38 Years, he died ¹ on the 3d of Oct.
 1584, 26 Eliz. and was buried at St. Bennets Pauls-Wharf on the 10th of that ¹ Month, for whom there was an Inscription in St. Pauls Cathedral on the Tomb of his Son and Successor Sir William, published by Dugdale, ² who by Mistake transpos'd the numeral Figures 48 for 84.

He was twice married, his first Wife was Alice Daughter of one Le- onard a Dutchman, whose Surname, according to some Pedigrees, was Pet- erson, by whom he had three Sons, whereof Nicholas the Eldest was Windsor Herald; Sir William succeeded him as Garter, and Harry. This Lady by the Title of Ales Peterson Wife of Sir Gilbert Detbick principal King of Arms, is said to bear for her Arms ² Lozenge Ermins on a Cheveron ingrailed: He had another Son Robert, to whom ³ Queen Eliza- beth was Godmother, but the Collector knows not whether he was by his first, or by his second Wife Jane the Widow and Administratrix of William Naylor one of the six Clerks in Chancery, the Daughter of Rich.
Duncomb.

Smith Rouge dragon gives this Garter in plain Terms the ² Character of illiterate, either in writing or speaking true Latin, true French, or true

^p K. Edw. Journal Printed by Burnet, p. 43.
^q L. 1. in Off. Arm.
^r Afsm. App. n. 91. n. 121. Vinc. MS. in Officio Armorum, n. 92. p. 332. & ibidem n. 151. p.
 95. 96. Hollingshead's Hist. p. 1348.
^s Hist. of Garter, p. 302.
^t MS. Anton. a Wood, in Mus. Afsm. n. 33.
^u p. 22.
^v Hist. of St. Pauls, p. 51. That the Figures are transposed, see Ecclesia Sancti Pauli illustrata per H. H. London 1633, and Scow's Survey of London,
 p. 647 b.
^w 23 H. xi. penes me, p. 559 b.
^x Videll. F 5, in Bibl. Cotton. 2 Eliz. the xvi day of July was Christened Robert Detbick the Sonne of Sir Gilbert Detbick Garter in the paryche of Sant

Gyll without Crespigate, and the Chyrche hangyd with Clothes of Arrys, and the Cloth of State and strod with grene rybles, and Sir William Huet depute for my Lord of Shrober, and Mr. Care Depute for my Lord Honston, and my Lade Sak- feld the Queen Depute, and after wafors and Epa-craste grett plente and myche better thier, and my Lade Yorke bare my Lady Deputes trayne, and so hem to here plasse and had a bancket.

In Rot. Strenuarum 4 Eliz. in pergam. Signed by the Queen. Given by the Queen Her Majesty, 15 Julii Anno 3^o to the Christeninge of Sir Detbick alias Garter King at Arms his Child oone gilt Cup with a Cover poz. xix. oz. qrt. di.

^z P. 37. penes me, p. 102 a b

English; but not being his Contemporary in the College, he might take this disadvantageous Report by Hearsay; and as Tradition sometimes magnifies the Truth, so it frequently also diminishes from real Worth; but though 'tis almost impossible at this Distance of Time to determine whether there were any just Grounds for this coarse Censure, 'tis certain however several Collections of this Officer are still remaining, relating mostly to Arms and Pedigrees, which are Evidences of his Industry.

He bore Argent a Fesse vary Or and Gules between three Waterbudsgets S. with a Muller Or on a Crescent Az. for difference, which he used in that his Grandfather (according to some Pedigrees) was the second Son of the sixth Son of Sir William Dethick of Dethick Hall in Derbyshire: But when Ralph Brook Tork Herald engaged in avowed Enmities with the Son of this Garter and his Successor also in this Office, they mutually charged each other not only with changing their true Surnames, but with endeavouring to engraft themselves into Families from which they were no ways descended, and neither of them made any Justification of himself in this Particular, that this Editor ever saw. Brook, in an Action in Star-chamber, stiles him Dethike alias Derike, and according to his ^a Narrative Robert Derike a Dutchman came into England with Erasmus Crukeker Yeoman Armorer to H. VIII. and forged Armory for that King at the Wages of 10 d. by the Day, who by Agatha, Daughter of Matthias Leyendecker a Dutch Barber dwelling at Acon in Germany (who likewise made Armour for the King) had three Sons, Derick, Matthew, and Gilbert; which latter in 33 [it should be 34] H. VIII. procured for his Brothers and himself a Denization by Act of Parliament, and that he, by the Daughter of one Leonard a Dutch Shoemaker at the Sign of the red Cock in St. Martin's-Lane, was Father of Sir William. This Paper being in a publick Library is inserted here in an Historical way only, though there are some collateral Circumstances that seem to support it; for Sir Gilbert is in other Books said to be the ^b Son of an Armorer, and even in those Pedigrees wherein his Genealogy is derived from the Family seated at Dethick-Hall, his Father is there named to be Steward to Edmond Earl of Suffolk, and Yeoman of the Armory to Hen. VIII. and ^c Matthew Derike is in another place mentioned as one of the King's Majesty's Armorsers.

VIII. On the Day that Sir Gilbert died, some Knights of the Garter were installed at Windsor, where Cook Clarenceux executed the Functions of this Place, and from that Time during the Interregnum (if that Word may be inoffensively used with reference to this Kingship of Arms which continued empty near eighteen Months;) this Clarenceux was permitted to act, till this Office was conferred by ^d Patent, dated 21 April 28 Eliz.

1586,

^a Julius E. 2. in Bibl. Cotton.^b MS in Mus. Ashm. n. 1132^c 24 L. 10 penes me, p. 186.^d Regina omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem. Sciatis quod cum non sit novum, sed jamdiu ab antiquis temporibus usitatum, quod inter ceteros

officiarios & Ministros, quos principum lateribus, & pro eorum magnificentia atq; gloria adhibere decet, eorum, quibus Officii Armorum cura committitur, copiam habere decet, ut nec tempus bellorum, necque pacis sine convenientibus & aptis Ministris debeat præteriri: Nos igitur considerantes

1586, on William Detbick, second Son of the preceding Garter, then about 44 Years of Age; he was first admitted into the College by the Title of Rougecroix Purlevant in 9 Eliz. and in that Capacity attended upon his Father to Vienna, from whence he travelled into Italy, and afterwards was sent into France, Flanders and Germany, and was advanced to the Place of York Herald in 18 Eliz. wherein he misbehaved himself in an unprecedented Manner, by giving and exemplifying Arms by Patents under his Seal, which being detected after he was thus settled in the highest Preferment in the Office of Arms, was, however justly, made a criminal Article against him, as being an evident Invasion of the Province of Norroy, and of the Rights also of the Garter for the Time being. The granting him this Title of Garter might expose him to the Envy of Clarencieux, Norroy, and Lancaster his Seniors in this Fraternity, who upon the Disappointments in their Pretensions, or out of Envy, might be induced to take all Opportunities of opposing him, and accordingly they immediately raised a great Outcry against the Clause inserted in his Pa-*fiderantes fidelis & laudabilia servicia, que dilectus servus noster Wilhelmus Detbicke Armiger alias York unus Heraldorum nostrorum nobis impendit & impendere intendit, ac eius experientiam, diversarum regionum perustrationem, variarum linguarum Scientiam, & in his que ab hujusmodi officario requiruntur, notitiam, ipsum Wilhelmum Detbick in principalem regem Armarum Anglicorum & precipuum officiarium Armarum incliti nostri ordinis Garterii de Gratia nostra speciali ac certa scitencia & mero motu nostris ereximus, fecimus, constituimus, ordinavimus, creavimus, & coronavimus, ac per presentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris erigimus, facimus, constituimus, ordinamus, creamus, & coronamus, ac officium illud, necnon nomen imposuimus, & per presentes imponimus Garter: Quod cum stilo, titulo, libertatibus, privilegiis, preeminentiis, & commoditatibus, hujusmodi officio convenientibus, concordantibus, & pertinentibus ab antiquo consuetis damus & concedimus, ac ipsum in eisdem realiter investimus & coronamus per presentes, Habendum, occupandum, & exercendum officium illud, ac nomen, stylum, titulum, libertates, privilegia, preeminentiis, commoditates predictas eidem Wilhelmus Detbicke Garter durante vita sua, cum omnibus juribus, proficiis, commoditatibus, honoribus quibuscumque; necnon visitandi & insignia Armarum claris viris concedendi, ac cetera omnia & singula, que dicto incumbunt Officio principis regis Armarum Anglicorum, & precipui Officiarii Armarum incliti nostri ordinis Garterii seu inesse debent de jure, vel consuetudine qualitercumque spectantia, debita seu pertinentia faciendum exercendum & exequendum, in tam amplis modo & forma, prout Gilbertus Detbick miles nuper Garter pater predicti Wilhelmi, aut aliquis alius antehac occupans officium predictum habuit, & percepit, habuerunt & perceperunt. Et ulterius concessimus & per presentes concedimus prefato Wilhelmus Detbick Garter in principalem Regem Armarum Anglicorum & precipuum officiarium Armarum incliti nostri ordinis Garterii (ut praefertur) erecto, pro exercitio Officii predicti quadraginta libras per Annum pro viciis & feodis Officii predicti, percipiendas de exitibus & proficiis parve Customae predictae in portu predicto a festo Sancti Michaelis Archangeli ultimo praeterito ab Anno Millesimo quingentesimo octogesimo quarto ante*

*datam praesentium & sic deinceps pro tempore existen. ad terminos Pascha & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per aequales portiones, necnon talem liberataram & vesturam annualem, qualem aliquis principalis Rex Armarum Anglie aliquo tempore antehac habuit & percepit, in vel pro eodem Officio, deliberandam annuatim eidem Wilhelmus per manus Custodis sive Clerici magne Garderobe nostrae, habendum & annuatim percipiendum eidem Wilhelmus Detbick dictas quadraginta libras de exitibus & proficiis provenientibus de parva Customa nostra in portu Civitatis nostrae Londonia per manus Custumariorum, Collectorum, sive Receptorum ibidem pro tempore existentium ad Festa Pascha & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per aequales portiones, ac etiam dictam liberataram — — — & vesturam annualem ad magnam Garderobam nostram heredum & successorum nostrorum per manus Custodis sive Clerici ejusdem pro tempore similiter existentis, ad terminos predictos consuetos; Et quod expressa mentio. In cujus rei, &c. Teste Regina apud Westmonasterium xxi^o die Aprilis Anno Regni Regine Elizabetha vicesimo octavo.*

Per breve de privato Sigillo

E. Bruce, Sir William Detbick.

Vacat istud Irrotulamentum istarum literarum patencium, pro eo quod decimo die Decembris Anno Regni Domini Regis Jacobi quarto, infra nominatus Wilhelmus Detbick venit coram eodem dicto Rege in Cancellaria sua personaliter, & istas literas patentes, ac omnia & singula in eisdem contenta in manus ejusdem Domini Regis pure, sponte, & absolute sursum reddidit, & restituit Cancellandas: ideo istae literae patentes unicum Irrotulamento earundem vacauerunt, Cancellantur, & omnino dampnantur.

e Pat. 9 Eliz. p. 6. xi. Febr.

f Albm. p. 394.

g MS. penes Nich. Jekyll de Castle Heddingham, p. 105. Wever's Fun. Mon. p. 676.

h Pat. 12 Eliz. p. 5. m. 13. 24 Martii, Rymers vol. 15. p. 679.

i H. 5. penes me, p. 424. Causet why he was put from his Office: There are several Copies in different Libraries.

k Cerom. vol. 3. in Off. Arm. p. 3.

Patent

cent, "Necnon visitandi & Armorum insignia claris viris donandi," as if he had unduly obtained that Addition by Surprise, Management, or some Artifice put upon Tetworth one of the Clerks of the Signet; in this Accusation several other Officers of the College joined, and particularly Mr. Glover Somerses, who was his Senior in the Office of an Herald though Junior to him as a Pursuivant, concurred with a distinguishing Eagerness and Animosity, by those Applications his Admission by the usual Oath into the Chapter of the Order then soon held was deferred, which compelled him to justify this Clause, and himself in the Method of procuring it by a Representation to Walsingham Secretary of State, and Chancellor of the Order, wherein he insists on these Rights as inherent in this Office in pursuance of the Signers of Hen. VII and VIII, the Constitutions declared in the Chapter of the Garter, and by ancient Precedents, and then he expresses his Wonder, that Clarenceux and Norroy should take the Liberty to offer such an Objection against the Insertion of these Words, when Clauses of the same Import had been so lately added in the Patents of these respective Officers, "Literas Patentes Armorum Claris viris, insignia, arma & Cristas, ceteraq; alia Nobilitatis monumenta, quam visitandi & corrigendi arma," and having taken notice of the concurrent, or rather reverentary Patent of Norroy, not long before given to Glover, he avers that Segar then Portcullis engrossed the Bill whereon his Patent passed, which though probably might be no otherwise mentioned by him than as it tended to the Vindication of Tetworth, yet ought not to be omitted here, since this same Person afterwards opposed him, as will be shewn, with the greatest Activity and Violence. Some Books acquaint us, that this Memorial exhibited against him was so far countenanced, that the Original Patent was taken from him. If that was the Fact, 'tis however certain that at the next succeeding Feast of the Order, the Sovereign expressly ordered the usual Oath to be administered to him; and we find the Salary contained in this Patent was paid him during the Queen's Reign according to the Tenour of it; but whenever he afterwards fell under Difficulties, the Addition of this Clause, and the Want of a formal Creation were repeated as grand Objections to him, notwithstanding this his Admission in Chapter had been solemnly determined by a Judgment in the King's-Bench to be a full Legal Investiture.

He was a Gentleman of an haughty warm Spirit, which without being quickened by this early Opposition, was too apt to be suddenly enflamed; he retained so keen a Memory and Resentment of this Usage, that (if the Representations of his Contemporaries in the Fraternity may be credited) he treated them frequently with intemperate vehement Language, accompanied sometimes with Blows, a Behaviour which must be owned to be contrary to the very Nature of this Profession. It may not be possible at this distance to determine with Certainty, whether this

¹ H. 5. penes me, p. 419.

² H. 3. penes me, p. 1224, in his own Writing.

³ Lib. Carol. Ordinis Garterii 29 Eliz. Tandem de Garteri Regis Armorum juramento anno superiori omisso nunc demum faciendū, Suprema munificentissime concessit, &c. Garterus ibidem intravocatus, & juramento per decanum exhibito de more admittus est.

⁴ Leonard 1 Rep. p. 248, &c.

Confederacy against him, and the constant Oppositions he met with did not render him too magisterial and imperious in his Conduct within the College, or whether the Provocations and personal Affronts which his Adversaries studiously gave him would have been tolerable by a Person of much more Phlegm.

Within few Years after his Promotion to this Place, Mr. Brooke was admitted into the Society, who not only joined with his Opponents, but delighted himself by declaring a profest Enmity to him. This Person was of a fierce, impetuous Temper, unwearied and implacable in Malice, who to gratify his Appetite of Revenge stuck at no Design or Practice, how vile soever, though by the compassing thereof, he brought himself into the Danger of Punishment, of which his insidious black Contrivance to surprize and entrap Seagr the succeeding Garter will be a lasting Evidence. Hence there arose perpetual Animosities and Discords in this Fraternity, which broke out into Actions and Law Suits in most Courts; and stopp'd not there, for Memorials and Remonstrances in Writing were handed about of each others Infirmities and Defects in Life, which were drawn with great Acrimony, and their mutual Hatred became so mortal, that the Breaches could never be made up; for they rejoiced constantly to combat each other at the same Weapons, and by all Methods to meditate each others Ruin. The Event of these Conteests on both Sides ought to be an Example of Caution to succeeding Officers, for though Brooke first saw Dethick deprived of his Freehold by a summary Proceeding which will be soon related, yet he had little Reason to triumph upon it, for within a short Time this Precedent was turned upon himself in as large an Extent, wherein he deserved little Pity, if any be due to a Member of a College who bends all his Wit and Skill to set up new Schemes and Systems contrary to the ancient beaten Paths, with new Models of Amendments and Abatements of old Orders and Discipline; for it will scarce be lamented if premeditated Designs to crush others recoil upon the Head of the projecting Bourefeu to his Disgrace and Confusion. Brooke was ousted likewise of the Freehold of his Office by the same Power to which he had appealed against Dethick, and the Cause assigned for it was his Insufficiency of Knowledge requisite for an Officer of Arms, which Charge in Truth is somewhat surprizing, after the Books published by him, which shew at least that he laboured with Industry according to the Measure of his Literature. The Experience of latter Times hath shewn us other Examples of such Retaliations, when Innovations have been set on foot, where the Contrivers have suffered at length by their own Inventions; Favour hath and will be found fluctuating, which these two fierce Contendants found so sensibly, that both of them were at different times driven to recur to the Protection of the Common Law for Writs of Assize, upon which Dethick had beneficial Terms granted him, and Brooke was re-instated in his Office, and died in Possession of it.

But to proceed: This Office of Garter had not been long conferred upon Dethick, till the Violence of his Passion prevailed so far over his Reason, that to wreak his Spleen upon Mr. Glover Somersset, and to bring him into Disfavour, he with the greatest Indiscretion signed and exhibited an Information against him for declaring his Opinion in a private Conversation, and possibly in Confidence of Friendship too, that after the Queen's Demise the Right of Succession to the Crown of this Realm was in the Issue of Hen. VII. which at that Juncture for Reasons of State was a nice and critical Point to be asserted: This hasty imprudent Action in his Conduct was doubtless the Recourse of all the Troubles brought on him in the succeeding Reign; for though King James conferred upon him the Honour of Knighthood on the 13th of May, just before his Coronation in the first Hurry and Rapture of universal Joy, yet the original Information which he had given against Glover was very soon laid before the King by his Adversaries, with the aggravating Inference, that he was no ^p Well Willer (as 'tis expressed) to his Majesty's succeeding Right; so that in the Month of January following a ^q Bill passed under the Signet for advancing Seagar Somerset to this Office of Garter, upon which Foundation, without the Authority of the Great Seal (which it may be reasonably believed was stopt by some Caveat) this Person under the Appellation of Rex Armorum Ordinis, adventured to carry the Ensigns of the Garter to the King of Denmark on the 23d of June that Year; but Sir William soon after this Deseizin became reinstated; for on the 8th of September he was joined in a ^r Commission by his proper Stile to invest the Duke of Wirtemberg, though in the Execution thereof he fell under a Load of new Censures, which Investiture was performed upon the 6th of Novemb. 1603. Upon his return home, a Warrant passed the Signet Office in May 1604, to pay yearly to William Seagar, therein named Garter, the Charges of the Escutcheons for the Knight's Companions, and Detbick was forbidden to wear his Coat on ^s Christmas-Day 1604, and in a Court ^t Marshall (as 'tis termed) held on the 26th of January following, the Lords Commissioners without any Summons, Libel, Answer, Evidence, or other judiciary Form whatever, declared his Majesty's Pleasure, That Sir William Detbick upon some approved Misdemeanors (for these are the Words without descending to any special Matter) committed in the Execution of his Office of Garter should be put from it, and that William Seagar Norroy should be created thereto, a very summary Method to oust a Person of his Freehold without Process, Articles, or Proof, for the Power of that Court how extensive soever, is tied up to the Direction of Law: There is an ^u Instrument entituled, Causes why Sir William Detbick was put from his Office, drawn with a Strain of much Bitterness by some private Person, because it frequently speaks in the singular Number, containing several Articles of a very mixed Nature, whereof a great Number no ways relate to or affect the Execution of his Patent, and consequently could not extend to the Forfeiture of it.

It contains a strict Inquisition into all the casual Actions in the different Periods of his Life, that could admit of ill Constructions, and are ^p The Proofs of these Points may be seen in the above-mentioned Paper, filed, Causes why he was removed from his Office.

^q Signet Book kept in the Office at Whitehall, January 1603, The Office of Garter to Will. Seagar late Norroy, and on 7th Febr. following a Warrant to Will. Seagar Garter for publication of the degradation of the late Lord Cobham.

^r Ashm. App. n. 70.

^s Ashm. App. n. 71.

^t Faustina E. t. in bibl. Cotton.

^u J. 25 in Off. Arm. p. 12.

^x E. t. penes me, p. 424.

lumped together in an accumulative manner; such are, the Charge of his Undutifulness in some Instances to his Father, his Unkindness to his elder Brother, who had been both long dead, his Disposition to Fighting, and among several other Accusations of the like Stamp, the Information exhibited by him against Glover Somerset, who had been then also long laid in his Grave in Peace, was urged in strong Terms, and after this long List 'tis alleged several other Matters were omitted by reason of the King's Pardon, which, as 'tis there expressed, intended to exempt him from corporal Punishment only, and not to take away the Faults or the Remembrance of them, and then this Paper concludes with a Narrative of his Behaviour in carrying the Order to the Duke of Wirtemberg, which was subsequent to this Pardon.

Sir William was a Person of Courage and Firmness, and could not be frightened into tame Submissions, and therefore drew a Petition directed to the King's Majesty and Lords in Parliament assembled in Febr. 1605, setting forth his Deprivation from all Profits without Cause known, or Offence proved by Law, praying Justice in the Name of the Almighty, the Honour of the King's Majesty, Preservation of the Laws of the Realm, and the Power of the great Seal, and annexed thereto the 29th and 14th Chapters of Magna Charta, and the Statutes of 13 R. 2. c. 2. 5 E. III. c. 9. 25 E. III. c. 4. 38 E. III. 42 E. III. 2 E. III. 18 E. III. c. 3. It doth not indeed appear whether this Instrument was presented, but 'tis certain he had the Resolution in the following October to bring an Assize for this Office in the Court of Common Pleas, upon which Legal Application for Justice advantageous Offers of Penfions were made him on Condition he would submit and surrender, with severe Threatnings if he stood out, all which Expedients he rejected, till at last upon the Request of the King himself (as 'tis fully set forth on Record) he complied, and instead

¹ Ibid. p. 429. 431.

² Fla Roll. Mich. 3 Jac. n. 104.

³ Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem. Cum Domina Elizabeth nuper Regina Angliæ per literas suas Patentes sub magno Sigillo suo Angliæ concessas gerentes datam apud Westm. vicesimo primo die Aprilis Anno Regni sui vicesimo octavo, pro Consideratione in eisdem literis patentibus expressa & specificata exererit, fecerit, constituerit, ordinaverit, creaverit, & coronaverit Dilectum Servientem suum Willelmum Derbick Armigerum alias York tunc unum Heraldorum dictæ Regniæ (modo Militem) in principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum & præcipuum Officiarium Armorum inelicti Ordinis Garterii, ac Officium illud, necnon nomen imposuerit, Garter, quod cum stilo, titulo, libertatibus, privilegiis, præbementiis, & commoditatibus, huiusmodi officio convenientibus concordantibus, pertinentibus, & ab antiquo consuetis dederit, & concesserit, & ipsum in eisdem realiter investiverit, & coronaverit, per easdem literas patentes Habendum & exercendum officium illud, ac nomen, stylum, titulum, libertates, privilegia, præbementias, commoditates prædictas eidem Willelmo Derbick Garter durante vita sua, cum omnibus iuribus, proficiis, commoditatibus, emolumentis quibuscumque, necnon visitandi & insignia armorum claris viris concedendi, ac cætera omnia & singularia quæ dicto incumbunt officio principalis Regis Ar-morum Anglicorum & præcipui officarii Armorum inelicti sui Ordinis Garter, seu inesse debent de iure, vel consuetudine, qualitercumque spectantia, debita, seu pertinentia faciendum exercendum & exequendum in tam amplis modo & forma, prout Gilbertus Derbick Miles nuper Garter pater prædicti Willelmi, aut aliquis alius antehac occupans officium prædictum habuit & percepit, habuerunt & perceperunt: Et alterius per easdem literas suas patentes concesserit præfato Willelmo Derbick Garter in principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum & præcipuum Officiarium Armorum inelicti sui Ordinis Garterii (ut præfatur) credo pro exercitio officii prædicti quadraginta libras per Annum pro vadit & feodis officiali prædicti percipiendas de exitibus & proficiis parvis Customæ suæ in porta Civitatis suæ London per manus Custumariorum Collectorum five Receptorum Customæ prædictæ in porta prædicta, a Festo Sancti Michaelis Archangeli tunc ultimo præterito ab anno Millesimo quingentesimo octogesimo quarto ante datam prædictarum literarum patentium, & sic deinceps pro tempore existentium ad Terminos Pasche & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones Necnon talem libertatum & vestiarum annualem, qualem aliquis principalis Rex Armorum Anglicorum aliquo tempore antehac habuit aut percepit in vel pro eodem officio deliberandam annuatim eidem Willelmo per manus Custodis five Clerici mag-stead of Forty Pounds yearly Salary, having that Annuity increased to Two Hundred Pounds during his Life, together with an Exemption from all Taxes, he resigned his Office, and surviving it in a private Station about 8 Years died in 1612 aged Seventy, and was buried in St. Pauls with an ^b Inscription on his Monument. After this Retirement from the College, the natural Warmth of his Temper did not wholly abate, for it subjected him to a Prosecution in the Ecclesiastical Court for giving opprobrious Terms and Blows to a ^c Clergyman.

It doth not appear what Answer or Defence was made by Dethick to this long Impeachment, but whatever real Faults he might have, yet out of a Principle of common Honesty and Love to Justice, the Editor thinks himself obliged to observe, that this Garter was very active and diligent in his Employment, and in spite of all Calumny and Detraction, must be allowed a Person of a good Capacity, Abilities and Industry; he had travelled into foreign Countries, and was well skilled in their Languages, and deserved the Character early given him by Mr. Camden, of being a Gentleman very ^d studious in every Thing relating to Honour and Nobility, a Testimony continued in the Edition of Britannia published after the Time of this his Resignation; which Attestation of this Learned Author is unexceptionable, because he was a competent Judge of the Merits of a Person with whom he had long conversed in the Society of An-nae Garderobæ suæ. Habendum & annuatim percipiendum eidem Willelmo Dethick dictas quadraginta libras de exitibus & proficuis provenientibus de parva Custura sua in portu Civitatis suæ London per manus Custumariorum Collectorum five Receptorum ibidem pro tempore existentium ad Festa Paschæ & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones, ac etiam dictam liberatam & vestram annualem ad magnam Garderobam suam, heredum, & successorum suorum per manus Custodis five Clerici ejusdem pro tempore similiter existentis ad terminos predictos consuetos prout in eisdem literis patentibus plenius continetur: Quas quidem literas patentes, ac Officium predictum, ac omnia in eisdem literis patentibus contenta & specificata eidem Willelmo Dethick Milite ad Rogatum & Requisionem nostram nobis in Cancellaria nostra sponte sursum reddidit, & gratis dedit cancellandas & eidem Cancellaria existunt, ut certam inde habemus notitiam. Sciatis igitur, quod nos tam in Consideratione sursum redditionis dictarum literarum patentium, quam pro diversis aliis causis & considerationibus nos ad presens moventibus, de gratia nostra speciali, ac ex certa Scientia, & libero motu nostris dedimus, & concessimus ac per presentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris, damus & concedimus eidem Willelmo Dethicke Militi quendam Annuitatem five annuatim percipiendam ducentarum librarum legalis monete Angliæ, Habendam, gaudendam & annuatim percipiendam eandem annuatim, five penonem ducentarum librarum per Annum eidem Willelmo Dethicke Militi, & Assignatis suis a festo Natalis Domini ultimo ante datam presentium præterito ad terminum & pro termino vite naturalis ipsius Willelmi Dethicke Militis de Thefauro nostro, heredum & successorum nostrorum ad Receptam Scaccarii nostri Westm. heredum, & successorum nostrorum per manus Thefaurarii & Camerariorum nostrorum, heredum & successorum nostrorum ibidem pro tempore existentium ad quatuor anni terminos usuales videlicet, ad Festa Annunciationis beate Mariæ Virginis, Nativitatis Sancti Johannis Baptistæ, Sancti Michaelis Archangeli & Natalis Domini per equales portiones solvendi. Fe ulterius de uberiori gratia nostra ac ex certa scientia & libero motu nostris pro consideratione prædicta concessimus, ac per presentes pro nobis, heredibus & successoribus nostris concedimus præfato Willelmo Dethicke Militi, quod ipse idem Willelmo durante vite sua naturali, sit exemptus, quietus, & exoneratus de et ab omnibus subsidis, decimis, quinto-decimis, releviis, contributionibus, taxationibus, decimationibus, concessionibus, & benevolentis, ac de & ab omni solutione eorundem, ac generaliter ab omnibus aliis oneribus tam tempore belli quam pacis, ac etiam, ab omnibus tolneris, finibus, Inquisitionibus ac demandis in omnibus mercatis, & aliis locis quibuscunq; in tam amplis modo & forma prout præserte exemptus, quietus, & exoneratus fuit, virtute officii sui prædicti, quocumq; Statuto, Actu, Provisione, proclamatione, uso aut aliqua alia re, causa, vel materia quacunq; in contrarium inde in aliquo non obstantibus. Eo quod expressa mencio, &c. In cuius rei, &c. Telle Rege apud Westm. xi^o die Decembris. Anno Regni Regis Jacobi Angliæ, &c. quarto.

Per breve de privato Sigillo.

^b Dugd. Hist. of St. Pauls, p. 53. Hic requisivit in Domino Willelmo Dethick, eques Auratus, filius & hæres Gilberti Dethick equitis aurati: Qui ambo fuerunt Garteri principales Reges Armorum Angliæ. Hic Anno 1584. ætatis suæ 48. Ille Anno 1612. ætatis suæ 70. in Domino obdormierunt, expectantes resurrectionem per Jesum Christum Salvatorem nostrum.

^c Godbolt's Case, 208.

^d Brian. p. 208. Gualtelmus Dethicus principalis Armorum rex Garterii nomine notus, omnium quæ ad honorem & Nobilitatis rationem spectant Studeosissimus.

tiquiries, triquaries, of which Sir William was a Member, and accommodated them with the Freedom of his House for their Place of Meeting, and with whom he had been also a Collegue many Years in the Office of Arms, during which Time we do not find this Mr. Camden Clavencoux joining with the other Officers in any of their Representations against him, though when his Removal was first attempted, this Place of Garter was ¹ offered to Mr. Camden, which would have been some seeming Compensation for the unusual Severities of these Proceedings; but he either disliking the Force and Violence of them against a Gentleman whom he knew to be worthy of that Trust, or out of Love to the Repose and Calmness of his Life, which he would not have disturbed by any Controversies, or some other Motive, refused the Acceptance of it with much Aversion according to the Innocency of his Manners, which however blameless could not secure this peaceable learned Clavencoux from having a Petition exhibited against him, as he words it, & “Sine die, sine consule, sine nomine,” such hath been the epidemical Fatality and Phrenzy of Contentions in that College, which like some other Societies hath suffered most by the Divisions between its own Members, by the Compliances of some, the Designs and fallacious Expedients of others; and thereto is owing the Dilapidation, if that Term may be used, of several Rights of that Fraternity.

The Charge which brought him into fresh Difficulties after this Pardon is thus stated by ^b Segar, “That being joined with the Lord Spencer in the Commission for carrying the Garter to the Duke of Wirtemberg as a Thing incident to his Office, he took so much Advantage of the Word “Legatos, as to assume the Title of an Ambassador, setting up his Arms and Stile over his Lodgings in that Journey.”

The Publisher doth not know what Answer he made to this Accusation, and though the Title and Scutcheons here mentioned were Matters of Shew and Appearance only, yet it will be allowed he was inexcusably mad as well as vain, if he rashly presumed to run into any Novelty which could not be justified by the Authority of former Precedents; since he could not be ignorant how obnoxious he was, which ought to have put him upon his Guard, and having several times attended on his Father in the like Messages with the Ensigns of the Order, he could not pretend Ignorance of the former Practices in such Cases. This Insolence, if it was one, is however so obscurely worded, that it is some Difficulty to fix the Point upon which this Excess here charged upon him is certainly grounded; for it could not be hereby intended that it was a Crime in him being only Garter to assume the Style of an Ambassador, because a Baron was deputed in the same Commission of Legation with him; since his Predecessors, and even Heralds of Arms have been frequently joined in Embassies with the highest Spiritual and Temporal Peers in Matters of the greatest Consequence, and in their proper Ranks signed Leagues and Treaties in the Capacities of Ambassadors, of which the Examples are without Number: Neither can it mean or import that the subject Matter of this Message rendered it im-

^e Smith vita Rob. Cotton, p. 7.
^f Faustina in bibl. Cotton.

^g Camdeni Epist. n. 288, 289.
^h Faustina E. i. bibl. Cotton.

proper for him to have the Character of an Ambassador in that respect, for 'tis expressly the Right of this Officer to be joined with any ⁱ Ambassador that is sent to deliver the Ensigns of the Order, and this very Title of Ambassador hath been expressly given in ^k Commissions to several former Garters employed in carrying the Order to foreign Princes, who in their Certificates of the Reception of these Ensigns own their ^l Acceptance of them from these Garters in the Quality of Ambassadors, and in the Absence of Garter, an Herald and others have been constituted ^m Commissarios, Oratores, Procuratores, Legatos & Nuncios speciales for this Purpose; and indeed it is a Matter of some Astonishment that Segar should make this Accusation, who (which is memorable) some Months before this time, while he invaded this same Office, being constituted an ⁿ Ambassador with the Earl of Rutland to the King of Denmark in the like Message, acted so far in that Character as to proceed in ^o Breach with that Earl to the first Audience: But since Detbick is said to take Advantage of the Word Legatos in the Commission, 'tis necessary to insert it at large in the ^p Margin, on which he grounded this Claim to the Title of an Ambassador. Since the Custom of instituting Resident, Ordinary, or Leidger Ambassadors, (which is not of greater ^q Antiquity than about the Year 1500,) a new Doctrine hath prevailed as to the Form of Words, which constitute an Ambassador, who being to represent the Person of the Sovereign, which Agents are not thought to do, it is now judged necessary that some particular technical Words allowed to import that Signification are absolutely required in the Commission or Letters of Credence to convey this Quality and Power of an Ambassador; which Title in the present

ⁱ See Athmole's Hist. p. 305, 392, 393.
^k Athm. Append. n. 72, 73, 74, 75, &c.

^l Ibid. n. 114, 115, 116, 117. Kymer, vol. 12. p. 528.

^m See above, p. 40, note l. &c.

ⁿ Athm. Hist. p. 70.

^o Athm. Hist. p. 399.

^p *Jacobus Dei Gratia, Anglie, Scotie, Francia, & Hibernie Rex, fidei Defensor, &c. Universis & singulis presentes has literas nostras vituris, inspecturis, vel audituris, salutem. Cum illustrissimus Princeps, ac Dominus, Dominus Fredericus Dux Wirtembergenfis, & Tektensis, Comes Montis belegardi, Dominus in Haydenheim, Consanguineus, & affinis noster charissimus, plurimarum, heroicarum virtutum splendore, & gratia Nobilitatis, Orbem Christianam fama nominis sui impleverit, eaq; jam ante aliquot annos animum nostrum accenderit, ut eam amicitiam in persona ejus, melioribus quibus poterimus Officiis, cultiorem redderemus, quam hereditario quodam jure sanctissimam memorie Nobilissimi majores & antecessores nostri nobis commendaverunt, nullis autem Officiis erga tam charum Principem satisfacientes nobis, cum super elegerimus (conspirantibus omnibus omnium suffragiis) in illustrissimi Ordinis nostri Garterii nobilissimam Societatem quo auctori benevolentie vinculo (si fieri posset) eum in dies singulos nobis magis magisq; conjungeremus, utpote Principem vere Christianum, in cujus amicitia vel maxime cupimus conquirere, summoq; desiderio aventes, ut quod non nisi auspiciatissime incipimus ad optatum finem perducatur, Sciatis, quod nos de fidelitate, prudentia & diligentia pre-* *nobilis viri, plurimum nobis chari, Domini Roberti Spencer de Wormleiton, & spectabilis viri Gulielmi Detbick equitis, Garterii, Regis Armorum Ordinis, plurimum confideotes, ipsos nostros veros & indubitatos Legatos, Procuratores, & Oratores speciales assignavimus, fecimus, & constituimus, assignamus, facimus, & constituimus pro presentes, dantes eis potestatem, autoritatem, & mandatum speciale, ad prefatum consanguineum nostrum charissimum proficiscendi, eiq; deferendi, & donandi, nostro nomine & pro nobis, subjugaculum & Trabeam, & reliqua vestimenta, insigniaq; illustrissimi Ordinis nostri Garterii, per nos ad presens ad illum transmissa, ceteraq; peragendi quam officiosissime religiosissimq; poterunt, que ad honoratissimi illius Ordinis decus, & ornamentum quoquo modo putabunt pertinere, haud aliter ac si ipsi faceremus, si presentes essemus. In cujus rei testimonium has literas nostras, manu nostra subscriptas, Sigillo dicti Ordinis nostri Garterii communiti fecimus. Date mesterio nostro de Woodstock, decimo octavo die mensis Septembris, Anno Regni nostri Anglie, Francia, & Hibernie primo, & Scotie 37. 1603.*

^q Gratus de jure Belli & paci, l. 2. c. 18. §. 2. n. 2. calls it a new Custom. Chifflet ad vindic. Hispan. p. 421. ab annis duntaxat centum & quinquaginta Reges & Principes in Romanis curia aliiq; Principum & Rerum publicarum aulis legatos ordinarios habuisse: primosq; hujus consuetudinis Francos fuisse auctores. Daniel in his Dedication of his Hist. of England observes that Leidger Ambassadors were first employed abroad for Intelligence in the Reign of Hen. VII.

Case is allowed to be conferred on the Lord Spencer by this Term Legatus, though it is insinuated that Word ought not to have the same Effect as to Detbick, because, as 'tis darkly objected, he was so named in this Commission as a Thing incident to his Office of Garter; 'tis not very apparent how that Incident should disqualify him from the Usage of this Title, for it will not be asserted that it was so inseparably incident to him that he could have acted in this Investiture purely by Vertue of his Office without being impowered by a particular Commission, yet when such a Commission was thus granted, constituting this noble Lord and him Legatos, (which as to him was in pursuance of an inherent Right of his Office) Detbick however was censured for using the special Title of an Ambassador, and for setting up Lodging Scutcheons, which is an honorary Privilege belonging to all Ambassadors, both which, as 'tis suggested, this Lord was sufficiently authorized to do by this same joint Commission: Let us suppose then this Garter had been at that Time employed in other Services of the Crown, and instead of him any other Person or Persons of a superior or inferior Rank to this Lord Spencer had been substituted in this Commission, (for the Sovereign is not limited to a definite Number) it would have admitted probably no Controversy, whether such other Persons so nominated were not thereby complete Ambassadors, in as full an Extent as this Lord Spencer, and since Garter hath sometimes singly carried the Ensigns of this Order (as other individual Persons have done at different times) we may suppose for Argument sake, that Detbick had been sent alone to this Duke of Wirtemberg by such a Commission as was now granted, with the only Variation of placing the Singular instead of the Plural Number, in which Case in all probability his Right to the Character of an Ambassador would not have been called in question; but indeed this was a joint Commission without any several separate Powers, and to wave the Enquiry whether in the Absence of one of these Legates, the other could have strictly executed the Authority, 'tis certain that if the Accident of the Death of either of them had happened, this Commission would either have ceased of course, or the Powers might have been executed by the Survivor: If it should be imagined that it became vacated by this Contingency, it must be because each of them was joint in the Legation, and consequently participated equally in the Title of Legates; but if it subsisted, then it might have chanced to have devolved upon Detbick, who then would have been as perfect an Ambassador, as if the same had accrewed to this Lord by his Survivorship, unless it should be thought some sort of Difference, that Detbick, as incident to his Office, was to perform some particular Functions in the Investiture, and that such Operations so far derogated from the Dignity of an Ambassador, as even to cancel that Title given him before in the Commission; but that Conjecture seems unsatisfactory, because this Commission gives no Power to Detbick to act exclusive of this Lord, but the Tenour of it is Authorizing them jointly to r 14 H. 6. To the King of Portugal. 21 H. 6. of Portugal 24 H. 6. Berthelot de Rivers to King to the King of Arragon. 22 H. 6. of Portugal, &c. of Naples 3 E. 4.

f Gloucester Herald 5 H. 6. Fettiplace to King deliver the Ensigns, and to do such other Things in this Investiture, which are specified to be of that Nature as the Sovereign would have done himself in Person, if he had been really present; and therefore the performing these Ceremonies is so far from degrading the Person who actually performs them from the Title of an Ambassador, that he is truly in that respect representing the Sovereign in the adequate Notion of an Ambassador, by doing what the Sovereign would have done himself in case he had been there: Besides if this Lord had been sent single, or if he could have acted either in the Absence, or upon the Death of Dethick, or if another Person or Persons had been joined in this Commission with this Lord instead of Dethick, then the Performance of these Ceremonies, which are supposed to be incident to the Office of Garter, and which according to the Notion here implied would have extinguished Dethick's Character of an Ambassador, must of course in either of these Circumstances have been finished by this Lord himself, or some of the Persons joined with him, which Actions are not pretended to operate by way of Abatement to this Lord or to any other Person, much less the defacing their Character of Ambassadors, so that a Person acting by Vertue of a proper Commission in a subject Matter incident to his Office loses the Essence of an Ambassador by Actions, which if any other Person had transacted in his stead, by Vertue of a Commission in the same Terms, he would have retained entire.

In these Solemnities of Investiture, when Garter is joined by Vertue of a Commission, that Instrument is first read, and the Ensigns being brought by him, he delivers them in Order to the first named in that Commission, and actually assists in putting them on the Knight Elect, and reads the proper Admonitions; these latter were heretofore thought more proper for the Province of an * Ecclesiastick, and for that Purpose, and to administer the Oath, a Clergyman was frequently constituted one of the Ambassadors, which Character was not thought to be in the least impaired in the Clergyman by these Administrations, much less by this means render'd a Nullity.

But then as to Dethick's Usage of Lodging Scutcheons in this Journey: Though the Ceremonials of most of the ancient Investitures are probably lost, yet we know that when, in 6 H. VII, Sir Charles Somerset and John Writhe then Garter were commissioned by the * Words, Veros & indubitatos Oratores, Commissarios, Legatos, Deputatos, & Nuncios, to invest the Emperor Maximilian, this Garter in consequence thereof sat at Dinner with the Emperor at his Table, with his Scutcheon of Arms placed over his Head in the same manner as Sir Charles Somerset had, which was even after the Investiture had been finished, as appears from this Emperor's sitting in the whole Habit of the Order, and consequently in Strictness of Words that Embassy might be esteemed to be completed.

† Ashm. Hist. ch. 15. §. 3.

‡ Ibid. p. 392. to which may be added Christopher Urwick sent to the Duke of Calabria, see above, p. 40. note i. Mr. West to the Emperor 18 H. 7. Rymer, vol. 13. p. 35. Dr. Savage to the King of Portugal, Rymer, vol. 12. p. 351, &c.

* Rymer, vol. 12. p. 403.

‡ See the Draught of it in Sculpture in Ashm. Hist. betw. p. 404 and 405.

Indeed this Charge against Detbick is laid in stronger Terms in the above-mentioned ^a Paper, though it is not therein intimated, whether he claimed any other ceremonious Respects than were shewn to the Lord Spencer in the Quality of an Ambassador, if he did, it was certainly an high pitch of Arrogancy, unless that Lord suffered any Diminution of the Rights: But if this Detbick imparted any Secrets to the King of France (which Charge is difficult to believe) he could not meet with too severe a Punishment. It must not be concealed, that there is something unusual in the Preliminaries to this Embassy; for though Detbick is joined in this Commission under the Great Seal of the Garter, yet in the Letter of ^a Credence his Name is omitted, to which Letter no Seal is mentioned to be affixed, and therefore it might only be under the Sign Manual: But whether he was wrong, and took this Title without any solid Foundation, or was too aspiring in using Lodging Scutcheons, or otherwise, the Publick hath reaped one Advantage from this his Journey; for upon his Instance, and from his Instructions, ^b Cellius Professor of Poetry and History at Tubing, published in Latin the Narrative of this Investiture, upon which Occasion this Sir William had a Copy of Verses in Print addressed to him, whereof the Collector hath seen no other Exemplar than that in his own Custody, annexed to that Book.

These reciprocal invective Accusations exhibited by these Officers are not published, since on a Principle of Charity it may be imagined that the Facts on which these mutual Charges of Immoralities were grounded might be wrested and exaggerated on all Hands, so that in Decency a Veil may be cast over them. There was a Bill exhibited in the Star Chamber against Rotherham and this Detbick in 1584, wherein it was suggested that this Garter had signed a Pedigree, in which Sir Thomas Rotherham the great Grandfather was entred Husband of Catherine Daughter of Anthony Grey eldest Son of Edmond Earl of Kent; whereas it was alledged (as it seems truly) that he married Catherine Daughter of John Lord Grey of ^a In the late Ambassage unto the Duke of Wirtemberg, wherein he was joined in Commission with the Lord Spencer, for investing of the said Duke with the Order of the Garter, his Behaviour and Carriage was such and so insolent as there is no President of the like to be found; for besides that he took upon him to be an Ambassador (which he yet maintaineth) and set up his Armes and Stile wheresoever he came, he compared with the Lord Ambassador for Gentrie and Quarrelled with the Knights and Gentlemen his followers for Precedency, to their Great Disturbance, he forcibly kept the Commission from the Lord Ambassador, and sent him a Copy in paper, saying it concerned him more than the Lord.

And when the day of solemnizing the Feast came, he challenged to sit alone at Table, as the Ambassador did, and was served on the Knee with Taster, Carver, and Assay as a Great Prince.

The Lord Ambassador being ashamed to see him take so much upon him, sent him word (at the Table where he sat) that he forgot himself greatly, and that he should rise and do his Office, that was to proclaim the King's Stile and the Dukes; he most arrogantly sent him word again, that he knew better what belonged to his Office than he could tell him, and that it hee did any thing that he did mislike, he bad him put it into his Writing Tables, and he would answer it, when he came home.

To be brief in their Retorne homewards, he forgot the L. Ambassador, and pretending to go thro' France, because he would sell his Horse at Paris, he directed his Course unto the French Court, and there communicated unto the King his Legation to the Duke Wirtemberg, with all the Circumstances thereof. The King brought him to the Queen, whose hands he kiss, with many other Compliments and Jestis, which passed between him and the King, as since he hath vainly boasted.

How high a Fault this was for an Officer of Armes joined in Commission with a Lord Ambassador first to abuse him, and then to forsake him in the Journey, and without Warrant to visit a foraine King, and to enforce him of that which perhaps was not requisite to be knowne, I leave to the Judgment of your Lordships being in my self fully perswaded that Times have been, that a greater Man for a lesser fault, might very easily have lost his Head.

^a Album, App. n. 59.

^b Eques Auratus Anglo-Wirtembergicus, &c. Tubing, 1605 in 4to.

Wilton by Anne Daughter of that Earl of Kent. The Collector hath not found what Determination that Court made thereon, but no Imputation in this Affair being laid to his Charge among the long Detail of Causes for which it is said he was deprived of his Office, it may be reasonably inferred he was acquitted from any ill Designs in that Matter.

IX. After this Resignation, William Segar succeeded, who being conscious of the Invalidity of the Signet he formerly obtained, procured a new one in January 1606, and a ^d Patent under the Great Seal bearing Date on the 17th of that Month. He was Son of Francis Segar, who, as it is said, was a ^c Dutchman; He was bred up a ^f Scrivener, and was admitted into some Service under ^g Sir Thomas Heneage the Vicechamberlain, and constituted ^b Portcuillis Pursuivant by Patent 4 June 27 Eliz. and created to it with ⁱ Ceremony six Days afterwards, and in this Capacity waited on the Earl of Leicester into the ^k Low Countries; from hence he was promoted to be Somerfet ^l Herald on the 4th of January 1588, and soon afterwards published a ^m Treatise of Honour and Arms without affix-

^c In Libro Signet in Whitehall, January 1603. The office of Garter granted to William Segar Late Norrey, proceed ut supra. [i. e. by Sir Thomas Lake.]

^d Rex omnibus ad que, &c. Solutem. Sciatis quod cum non sit novum, sed iamdiu ab antiquis temporibus usitatum, quod inter ceteros officarios & ministros, quos principum literibus & pro eorum magnificentia atque gloria adherere decet, eorum, quibus officii Armorum cura committitur, copiam habere deceat, ut nec tempus Bellorum neq; Pacis sine convenientibus, & aptis Ministris debeat præteriri: Nos igitur considerantes fidelia & laudabilia servicia, quæ dilectus serviens noster Willimus Segar Armiger alias dictus Norrey unus Regni nostrorum ad Arma nobis impendit & impendere intendit ipsam Willimum Segar in principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum & præcipuum Officiarium Armorum incliti nostri ordinis Garterii de gratia nostra speciali, certa scientia, & mero motu nostris creximus, fecimus, constituimus, ordinavimus, creavimus, & coronavimus, ac per presentes pro nobis, heredibus & successoribus nostris erigimus, facimus, constituimus, ordinavimus, creamus, & coronamus, ac officium illud, nec non nomen impostum & per presentes imponimus Garter, quod cum filo, titulo, libertatibus, privilegiis præheminentis & commoditatibus huiusmodi Officio convenientibus, concordantibus, & pertinentibus ab antiquo consuetis damus & concedimus, & ipsum in eisdem realiter investimus, & coronamus per presentes: Habendum, occupandum, & exercendum officium illud & nomen, filium, titulum, libertates, privilegia, præheminentias, commoditates prædictas eidem Willimo Segar Garter durante vita sua, cum omnibus iuribus, proficiis, commoditatibus, emolumentis quibuscunque, ac cetera omnia & singula que dicto incumbunt officio principalis Regis Armorum Anglicorum & præcipui officarii armorum incliti nostri ordinis Garterii seu inesse debent de iure, vel consuetudine qualitercunque spectantibus, debitis, seu pertinentibus, faciendum, exercendum, & exequendum, in tam amplis modo & forma prout Willimus Deibick nuper Garter, aut Gilbertus miles pater prædicti Willimi Deibick, aut aliquis alius antehac occupans officium prædictum habuit, & percepit, habuerunt, & perceperunt: Et ulterius concessimus, & per presentes concedimus præfato Willimo Segar Garter in principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum & præcipuum Officiarium Armorum incliti nostri ordinis Garterii (ut præfetur) erecto, pro exercitio Officii prædicti quadraginta libras per annum pro vadis & feodis Officii prædicti percipiendum de exitibus & proficiis parve custumæ nostræ in Portu Civitatis nostræ Londoniæ per manus custumariorum, collectorum, five Receptorum custumæ prædictæ, in Portu prædicto a Festo Sancti Michaelis Archangeli ultimo ante datum præsentium præterito, pro tempore existentium, ad Terminos Paschæ & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones, necnon talem libertataram ac vesturam annualem, qualem aliquis principalis Rex Armorum Angliæ aliquo tempore antehac habuit, & percepit, in, vel pro eodem Officio deliberatam annuatim eidem Willimo Segar per manus Custodis, five Clerici magne Garderobæ nostræ: Habendum & annuatim percipiendum eidem Willimo Segar dictas quadraginta libras de exitibus, & proficiis provenientibus de parva Custumæ nostræ in Portu Civitatis nostræ Londoniæ per manus Custumariorum, Collectorum, five Receptorum ibidem pro tempore existentium ad Festa Paschæ & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones, Ac etiam dictam libertataram, & vesturam annualem ad magnam Garderobam nostram heredum & Successorum nostrorum per manus Custodis, five Clerici ejusdem pro tempore existentis similiter ad Terminos prædictos consuetos, Et quoque expressa mentio, &c. In cuius rei, &c. Teste Regis apud Westmonasterium decimo septimo die Januarii Anno Regni Jacobi quarto.

Per breve de privato Sigillo, &c.

^e In a Pedigree drawn by his Grandson Simon, 'tis said he was Son of Fran. Segar a Prochionary in Holland, ut fertur, by Ann Daughter of Richard Sherard.

^f MS. in Mus. Ashm. n. 1137.

^g Lant's Observations MS. in Off. Arm. p. 346.

^h Pat. 27 Eliz. p. 2.

ⁱ H. 5. penes me, p. 217.

^k Ashm. Hist. p. 618. Wever's Fun. Mon. p. 682.

^l Pat. 31 Eliz. p. 10. 8 January.

^m In 4to Printed by Richard Jones 1590.

ing his Name to it, and ⁿ attended on an Embassy into France, and having a Patent to be Norroy on 2 July 44 Eliz. he ^o reprinted the former Treatise altering the Title, and making considerable Additions to it. Being made Garter, he received the Honour of ^p Knighthood 9 Novemb 1616, and in the ^r Month following he was imposed upon by Brooke Torke Herald, who by Artifice in sending a luborned Person, procured him to attest and confirm Arms to Gregory Brandon, who was found to be the common Hangman of London, whereof there is a short Narrative given in the Printed ^r Life of Mr. Camden; on 5 Apr. 15 Jac. I. he had ten Pounds yearly ^s added to his Salary. In May 1633; he was declining in ^v his Health, and therefore Mr. Philpot Somerset was sent in his stead with the Garter to the Elector Palatin, and he died some Months afterwards, and was buried in Richmond Chancel in Surrey, 11 Dec. 1633, as appears from the Register Book of that Parish.

Sir William Dethick sharpened with the ill Treatment he received, gives him the coat^e ⁿ Character of a poor base beggarly Painter, and stiles him an ignorant base Peasant, which may reasonably be thought to bear the Tinctures ^x of Prejudice and Resentment.

He married twice, first Hellen or Elenor Daughter of Somers in Kent, by whom he had six Children, two of his Sons are mentioned in ^y Absmole to be attending on him, when he 1627 carried the Garter to the Prince of Orange; but their Names being omitted, it is difficult to know whether they were by this or his second Lady Mary Daughter to Robert Bourne of Evington in Hereford Gent. by whom he had also five Sons, the youngest Thomas being created Blount in the Reign of Charles II, and two Daughters. He was a Benefactor to the Church of St. Gyles in the Fields, by giving the Kings Arms thereto, and glazing the East High Window before the Chancel.

X. The Tenth Garter Sir John Borough a Learned ^z Knight, was (if we believe the Information which ^a Mr. Wood received in the Herald's-Office) the Son of a Dutchman a Brewer in Sandwich; several indeed of that Country were settled in that Place, but no such Name occurs in the Registers of their Colloquies, as they termed their Congregations. There are ^b Pedigrees which assert that William Borough of Sandwich by the Daughter of Basil Godscall of Newchurch in Brabant was Father of John, to whom (if Credit may be given to the Copy of an ^c Instrument without any Date affixed) Segar Garter gave a Certificate in the following Words “Quod Johannes Burrough filius Willimi Burrough mu- n H. 8. penes me, p. 280. where (as he certifies under his Hand) he wore the Queen's Coat of Arms France and England quarter'd H. 4. penes me, p. 906.

o Honour Military and Civil, &c. 1602, in Fol.

p Camd. Annales, Jac. 1.

q Ibid. 27 Dec. 1616.

r See the Life of Camden in Latin by Dr. Smith, and that in English prefixed to the Britannia: A fuller Account thereof in H. 4. penes me, p. 793.

s Par. 15 Jac. 1. p. 27.

t Atth. Hist. of the Garter in App. n. Lxxiv.

u Fauftina E. 1. in bibl. Cotton.

x This same Dethick in the State of the Office Oct. 1597, when he might not foresee this Controversy with him, only writes, that Segar was then 12 Years standing, could write, and paint, and had some Language.

y Hist. p. 418.

z Heylin's Cosmography, p. 298.

a Athen. Oxon. p. 722.

b Philpot's MS. in Off. Arm. p. 54. f. 18 b. &c.

c W. L. in Off. Arm. p. 250.

“ per de Sandwich in Comitatu Cantii Armiger natus est ex antiqua & in“ seni familia ejusdem nominis in Anglia, &c.” This John, by the Daughter of Robert Denne of Pennebil in Kent, was Father of our Knight:
 It may therefore be conjectured that Mr. Wood either mistook his Informant, or that his Informant misled him by ascribing this Dutch Extraction to this Garret, which belonged to Segar, or the Dethicks his Predecessors. However his Descent might be, the industrious Oxford Antiquary gives the following Extract of his Life, to which some Additions are made, which for sake of Distinction are included within Crotchets, to which the Proofs are annexed. “ He was Educated a Scholar, and “ in the Common Law at Greys-Inn, Keeper of the Records in the “ Tower; 1623 he by the Favour of the Earl Marshall, to whom he “ was then or lately Secretary, was sworn Herald extraordinary by the “ Title of Morwray, because no Person (as this Author writes) can be “ a King of Arms before he is Herald, [He was made Norroy by Patent on 18 December, being therein called John Borough Esquire, the Warrant to create him bearing Date 21 December] ” and on the 23 d of that “ Month he was created at Arundel-House in the Strand in the Place of “ Richard St. George advanced to be Clarenceux, on 17th July 1624 he “ received the Honour of Knighthood, [and attended on the King's Coronation in Scotland in 1633] “ and in 1634, was made Garret King of “ Arms

d Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem. Sciat, quod cum non sit novum, sed jam diu ab antiquis temporibus usitatum, quod inter ceteros Officiarios & Ministros, quos principum lateribus pro eorum magnificentia atque gloria insistere decet, eorum, quibus Officiu Armorum cura committitur, copiam habere debeat, ut nec tempus bellorum neque pacis sine convenientibus, & apud ministris debeat preteriri: Nos igitur considerationis aciem in fidelia & etiam laudabilia servicia, quae dilectus servicus noster Jobannes Burroughs miles, alias nuper dictus Norrey Rex Armorum partium borealium Regni nostri Angliae in his, quae ad Officiu illud spectare intelliguntur, exercuit, dirigentes, eandem propterea, & non minus ob solertiam & sagacitatem quas in eo satis habemus exploratas in principem Regem Armorum Anglicorum & praecipuum Officiarium Armorum incliti nostri Ordinis Garretii ex Gratia nostra speciali creavimus, fecimus, constituimus, ordinavimus, creavimus, & coronavimus, ac per praesentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris erigimus, facimus, constituimus, ordinamus, creamus, & coronamus, ac ei Officiu illud quod communiter Garret nuncupatur, necnon nomen Garret, filium, titulum, libertates, praerogativas, & commoditates hujusmodi officio convenientia, concordantia, & pertinentia ac ab antiquo consuetudine eidem Jobanni damus & concedimus: ac ipsum in eisdem realiter investimus per praesentes, habendum, gaudendum, occupandum, & exercendum Officiu illud, ac nomen, filium, titulum, libertates, praerogativas, & commoditates praedictas eidem Jobanni Burroughs Garret pro termino vitae suae, cum omnibus iuribus, proficiis, & emolumentis quibuscunque eidem officio quali tercumque spectantibus & pertinentibus: Dantes ulterius & per tenorem praesentium concedentes eidem Jobanni Burroughs Garret cetera omnia, & singula, quae dicto incumbunt Officio principalis Regis Armorum Anglicorum & praecipui Officiarii

Armorum incliti nostri Ordinis Garretii five inesse dignoscuntur in Jure, vel ex consuetudine temporis retroacti longaevi: Faciendum, exercendum, & exequendum in tam amplis modo & forma, prout Williamus Segar Miles nuper Garret, Williamus Dethick Miles, Gilbertus Dethick Miles pater praedicti Williami Dethick, aut aliquis alius antehac habens vel occupans officium praedictum habuit, & percipit, usus, & gavisus fuit, exercuit, seu exercere potuit in eodem Officio vel ratione ejusdem Officii: dedimus insuper, & concessimus per praesentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris damus, & concedimus eidem Jobanni Burroughs Garret a nobis in principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum (ut praefertur) erecto quinquaginta libras Sterling per Annum, ratione, & causa ejusdem Officii, & pro exercitio ejusdem, percipiendas eidem Jobanni Burroughs Garret de exitibus & proficiis parvae Custumae nostrae, hereditas, & Successorum nostrorum in portu Civitatis nostrae Londoniae per manus firmariorum, custumariorum, collectorum, five receptorum custumae praedictae in portu praedicto pro tempore existentium, a festo Sancti Michaelis Archangeli ultimo pretetito annuatim & singulis annis Juratae vitae suae, ad festa paschae & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones solvendae, unacum talibus libertatibus & vestura, quales, & in eisdem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius Rex Armorum, seu Heraldus tempore Edwardi tertii nuper Regis Angliae progenitoris nostri existens in Regno nostro praedicto, vel postea, habuit, & percipit, habendas & percipiendas annuatim eidem Jobanni Burroughs Garret durante vita sua dictas quinquaginta libras Sterling de exitibus & proficiis provenientibus de parva Custumae nostrae in portu Civitatis nostrae Londoniae per manus firmariorum, custumariorum, collectorum, five receptorum ibidem pro tempore existentium ad festa paschae & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones, ac etiam libertatibus & vestura “ Arms in the Place of Sir William Segar deceased [and in Apr. 1636 being employed beyond Sea in his Majesty's Service, he obtained a Warrant for enjoying his Fees and Rights of his Office as well at Home as abroad, as if he were personally present, with a ^c Prohibition to all other Officers to make any Visitations during his Absence, in which Journey he was Secretary to the ^f Embassy. The ^g Register of the Garter contains a Memorial that this Earl, Longa virorum nobilium caterva perrexit Aprili medio, inter quos Legato à Secretis Supremi jussu aderat meritissimus Eques auratus D. Joannes Burroughs Rex Armorum, vir ad optima queq; natus— And in 1640 he ^b attended on this same Noble Earl then General of the Army against the Scots, receiving ten Yards of Crimson Velvet for his ⁱ Livery, and Warrants for Post Horses, and other Conveniencies, and ^k such other Droits and Fees as had been usually paid on such Occasions; in which Expedition he was sole Clerk of the ^l Council] ” this “ learned and polite Person who writes his Surname in Latin Burrhus [probably alluding therein to Nero's Tutor the Colleague of Seneca] “ hath “ published Impetus Juveniles & quedam sedatoris aliquantulum animi Epistola Oxon 1643, [printed at the End of Busbequius's Epistles, Oxon 1660 in 12mo. among which is a Grant of Arms, Regenti Musei Minervæ, & Professoribus liberalium Artium in eodem, wherein he styles himself Joannes Burrhus Fecialium Anglorum Primas] “ The Sovereignty of the British Seas, Lond. 1651. [which ^m Bishop Nicholson supposes might be suppressed by the Author upon the Appearance of Selden's Mare Clausum, but his Friends almost ten Years after his Death did him so much Right as to send it abroad]. “ He was made Doctor of Law in Oxford August 1643, “ where he had retired to serve his Majesty according to the Duty of “ his Office, and died there on 21 Oct. 1643, and was buried the next “ Day at the upper End of the Divinity Chapel joining on the North “ Side to the Choir of the Cathedral of Christ-Church in that Univerfity. [Edward Byshe usurped this Office during the Rebellion and Civil War, as will be shewn hereafter].

“ He married the Daughter of —Cassy, and had two Sons, John ⁿ bred al “ so in Greys-Inn, Knighted by Charles II, who had a considerable Practice in ram hujusmodi eidem Johanni annuatim pro termino vite sue ad magnam Garderobam nostram, heredum, & successorum nostrorum, per manus Custodis, sive Clerici ejusdem Garderobæ nostræ, heredum, & successorum nostrorum, pro tempore existentium liberandam, ac firmariis Custumariis Collectoribus & Receptoribus dictæ Custumæ nostræ, & dictis Custodibus & Clericis & singulis eorum mandamus, quod de tempore in tempus annuitatem prædictam eidem Johanni persolvant, & liberatam & vesturam prædictam ei liberent & liberari faciant, & Thesaurario & Baronibus Scaccarii nostri, heredum & successorum nostrorum, & aliis quorum interest mandamus, quod de eisdem denariis, liberatura & vestura eidem Johanni solutis vel liberatis, literis ejus acquietantiæ solutionem denatorum prædictorum, ac prædictæ liberaturæ, seu vesturæ, restituantibus offensis, eisdem firmariis, custumariis, collectoribus, & receptoribus ac prædictis custodibus & clericis debitam allocationem super eorum computis fieri faciant, aliquo statuto, acti, ordinatione, provisione, proclamatione, seu restrictione in contrarium inde antehæhabitis, factis, editis, ordinatis, sive provisus, aut aliqua alia re, causa, vel materia quacumque in aliquo non obstantibus, Eo quod expressa mencio, &c. In cujus rei, &c. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium vicefimo septimo die Decembris Anno Regni Regis Caroli nono.

Per breve de privato Sigillo.

^e Original Remains in his Majesty's Paper Office.

^f Liber Signet. Apr. 1636. A Warrant to p. 401. per diem uno Sir John Borough Knight Garter and King of Heralds, for his Employment as Secretary of the Ambassage to the Emperor, &c.

^g Register. Ordinis, f. 116.

^h Sir Edward Walker's Historical Discourses, p. 264.

ⁱ H. 4. penes me, p. 898.

^k Liber Signet. Sept. 1640.

^l H. 4. penes me, p. 897 b.

^m Hist. Library, p. 220.

ⁿ In his Epistles, p. 25. he places his eldest Son with Mr. Farnaby the famous Rhetorician, and he sent him to Sir Hen. Spelman, p. 33. &c.

“ Chancery till the passing the Test Act; and Cassy killed in a Duel, and “ two Daughters.

[His Paternal Arms, as exemplify'd by Segar, were Or, on a Cross Gules, five Mullers pierced of the first: The Crest upon a Torse of his Colours, a Dove sitting on a Serpent proper.]

XI. King Charles I. had been pleas'd to promise Edward Walker, without any Suit from him, that he should succeed in this Office upon the first Vacancy; but when it happened, upon his humble Request, and free Release of his Majesty (as 'tis^o worded) this Place of Garter was bestowed upon Sir Henry St. George, who was eldest Son of Sir Richard St. George Clarenceux, extracted from an ancient Family seated at Hatley St. George in Cambridgeshire: He had been first Rougerose Pursivant extraordinary (and not as Mr. Wood mistook it for Rougecroix) thence made Bleumantle in ordinary by Patent 9 Jac I. and in the 13th Year was advanced to be Richmond Herald; and during his Continuance in this Station, Sir James Spencer, Peter Young, and himself were in 1627 constituted Legates or Embassadors to invest the King of Sweden with the Ensigns of the Garter, who conferred the Honour of Knighthood upon him in the View of his Army, and gave him a Diploma thereof, wherein also after the Recital of his personal Qualifications, an Augmentation was granted to be born by him and his Descendants, being in a Canton an Escutcheon of the Royal Arms of Sweden. He attended upon the Queen from France at her first Entry into this Kingdom in 1 Car. I. with York Herald, to whom a Reward was given of one Thousand French Crowns. In 1635 he was created Norroy, and within few Years was justly deprived thereof by a Sentence for an high Misdemeanor in the Matter of Coat Arms, from which Censure he obtained the great Favour of a Pardon under the Great Seal which remains upon Record; he made amends for this Transgression, so far as his waiting upon the King during the Civil War and Rebellion at Oxford could atone for it, where in 1643 he was created Doctor of Physick, and had at length the good Fortune to be made Garter by a Patent dated in Apr. 1644, in which after the ^o H. 4. penes me, p. 392b. in the Hand Writing of Sir Edward Walker.

Grant

p Wood's Athen. Oxon. p. 722.

q Pat. 9. Jac. 1. p. 17, 18 Dec.

r Pat. 13 Jac. 1. p. 21. xi Martii.

s Ashm. Hist. of the Garter, Append. n. 73.

t Printed at large in self. Titles of Hon. p. 381.

u Wever's Fun. Mon. p. 678.

x Pat. xi Car. 1. p. 18. 24 Junii.

y Pat. 16 Car. 1. p. 5. 6 Apr.

z Athen. Oxon. p. 722.

a Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem. Sciatis, quod cum non sit novum, sed jam diu ab antiquis temporibus usitatum, quod inter ceteros Officiarios & Ministros, quos principum lateribus pro eorum magnificentia atq; gloria insillere decet, eorum, quibus Officii Armorum cura committitur, copiam habere debeat, ut nec tempus bellorum neq; pacis sine convenientibus, & aptis ministris debeat preteriri: Nos igitur considerationis aciem in fidelia & laudabilia servicia, quae dilectus serviens noster Henrico St. George miles, alias nuper dilectus Norroy Rex Armorum partium borealium Regni nostri Angliae in hiis, quae ad Officium illud spectare intelliguntur, exercuit, dirigentes, eundem propterea, & non minus ob solertiam & sagacitatem quas in eo satis habemus exploratas, in Principalem Regem Armorum Anglorum & praecipuum Officiarium nostri Ordinis Garterii ex Gratia nostra speciali creavimus, fecimus, constituvimus, ordinavimus, creavimus, & coronavimus, ac per praesentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris erigimus, facimus, constituvimus, ordinavimus, creavimus, & coronavimus, ac ei Officium illud quod communiter Garter nuncupatur, nec non nomen Garter, solum, titulum, libertates, praerogativas, & commoditates hujusmodi officio convenientes, concordantes, & pertinentes, ac ab antiquo consuetas eidem Henrico damus, & concedimus; ac ipsum in eisdem realiter investimus per praesentes. Habendam, gaudendam, occupandam, & exercendam Officium illud, ac nomen, solum, titulum, libertates, praerogativas, & commoditates praedictas eidem Henrico St. George Garter, quam diu

Grant and Habendum of this Office with all its ancient Rights, a Clause was inserted that had never been in the Parent of any former Garter, which was introduced as a new Concession of the Crown, giving him Authority, Power, and Licence to grant Arms to famous Persons according to the Ordinance lately prescribed by the Earls Marshalls, and with their Consent, whereof a fuller Narrative will be hereafter given in the Life of Sir William Dugdale.

He enjoyed this Place a very little Time, for he ^b died on the 5th of November following in Brazemose College, and was buried the next Day in the Cathedral of Christ-Church in the North-East Corner of the North Isle or Transept joining to the Body of the Church; Mr. Wood ^c saith in the West Isle of that Church.

He married Mary Daughter of Sir Thomas Dayvell of Lillingston-Dayvell in Bucks, by whom he had several Children, among others Sir Thomas his eldest, and Sir Henry both of them afterwards Garters, Richard sometime Ulster King of Arms of Ireland: This Lady was buried at St. Dunstons in the West London.

His Arms a Chief Azure, over all a Lion Rampant G. crowned Or, with the Augmentation.

diu se bene gesserit in eodem Officio, cum omnibus Juribus, proficiis, & emolumentis quibuscunque eidem officio qualitercunque spectantibus, & pertinentibus: Dantes ulterius & per tenorem presentium concedentes eidem Henrico St. George Garter cetera omnia, & singula, quae dicto incumbunt Officio principalis Regis Armorum Anglicorum & praecipuo Officio Armorum incliti nostri ordinis Garterii sive inesse dignoscuntur in Jure, vel ex consuetudine temporis retroacti longinquo, faciendum, exercendum, & exequendum in tam amplis modo & forma, prout Johannes Burrough Miles nuper Garter, Gulielmus Segar Miles, Gulielmus Delbick Miles, Gilbertus Delbick Miles pater praedicti Gulielmi Delbick, aut aliquis alius antehac habens seu occupans officium praedictum habuit, & petcepit, usus, vel gavisus fuit, exercuit, seu exercere potuit in eodem Officio, vel ratione ejusdem Officii: Dantes ulterius & per tenorem presentium concedentes eidem Garter auctoritatem, potestatem, & licentiam Literas Patentes Armorum claris viris donandi, secundum Ordinationem per Comites Marissallos nuper praescriptam, & cum eorum consensu. Deditus insuper & concessimus ac per presentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris damus & concedimus eidem Henrico St. George Garter a nobis in principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum (ut praefertur) erecto quinquaginta libras Sterling per Annum, ratione, & causa ejusdem Officii, & pro exercitio ejusdem, percipiendas eidem Henrico St. George Garter de exitibus & proficiis parvae Custumae nostrae, heredum, & Successorum nostrorum in portu Civitatis nostrae Londoniae per manus firmariorum, Customariorum, Collectorum, sive Receptorum custumae praedictae in portu praedicto pro tempore existentium, a festo Sancti Michaelis Archangeli ultimo pretérito annuatum & singulis annis, quam diu se bene gesserit, ad festum paschae & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones solvendas, una cum talibus liberaturis & vesturis, quales, & in eisdem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius Rex Armorum, seu Heraldus tempore Edwardi tertii nuper Regis Angliae Progenitoris nostri existens in Regno nostro praedicto, vel postea, habuit, & percipit. Habendum & percipiendum annuatum eidem Henrico St. George Garter durante vita sua dictas quinquaginta libras Sterling de exitibus & proficiis provenientibus de parva Custuma nostra in portu Civitatis nostrae Londoniae per manus Firmariorum, Customariorum, Collectorum, sive Receptorum ibidem pro tempore existentium ad festum paschae & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones, ac etiam liberaturas & vesturas hujusmodi eidem Henrico annuatum, quam diu se bene gesserit ad magnam Garderobam nostram, heredum, & Successorum nostrorum, per manus Custodis sive Clerici ejusdem Garderobae nostrae, heredum, & Successorum nostrorum, pro tempore existentis liberandas, ac Firmariis, Customariis, Collectoribus, & Receptoribus dictae custumae nostrae, & dicto Custodi, & Clericis, & singulis eorum mandamus, quod de tempore in tempus annuatum praedictum eidem Henrico persolvant, & liberaturas & vesturas praedictas ei liberent, & liberari faciant, & Thesaurario & Baronibus Sacrarii nostri, heredum, & Successorum nostrorum, & aliis quorum interest, mandamus, quod de eisdem denariis, liberaturis & vesturis eidem Henrico solentur & liberentur, literis ejus acquiescentiae solutionem denariorum praedictorum ac praedictarum liberaturarum seu vesturarum testificantibus ostensa, eisdem Firmariis, Customariis, Collectoribus, & Receptoribus ac praedictis Custodi, & Clericis debitam allocationem super eorum, computis fieri faciant, aliquo Staturo, Actu, Ordinatione, Provisione, Proclamatione, seu Restrictione in contrarium inde antehac habitis, factis, editis, ordinatis, seu provisus, aut aliqua alia re causa vel materia quocumque in aliquo non obstante: in eo quod expressa mentio, &c. In cujus rei, &c. Teste, &c.

Expedit. apud Oxon sexto die Aprilis Anno Regni Regis Caroli vicelesimi.

^b MS. Ant. a Wood in Mus. Ashm. n. 4. p. 61.
^c Athen. Oxon. p. 722.

XII. The Twelfth Legal Garter was Sir Edward Walker; it is said Legal, because in deducing the History of the Execution of this Office, it would be an Omission contrary to the Rules of Sincerity to conceal the Usurpations made upon it, for several Years during the Rebellion and Civil Wars; an Officer of Arms is not at liberty to suppress any Thing, in him it would be even a criminal Silence to forbear calling Injustice and Iniquity by their proper Names in whatever Shape, Time, or Place they appear, so that the Editor cannot be charged with Breach of Christian Charity, good Nature, or good Manners, by exposing to publick View such Intruders, who by Force or Fraud have at any Time invaded this Office in defiance of Legal Patents.

Anthony Wood^d acquaints us, that on the 20th of Off. 1646, Votes passed in the House of Commons, that Bysse should be Garter King of Arms and Clarenceux; but there must necessarily be some Mistake in these Numerals; for though he had indeed usurped on the former Office more early, yet that of Clarenceux was then illegally invaded by another Person, for in the Funeral of the Earl of Essex General of the Forces raised by the Parliament, solemnized on the 22d of Off. 1646, and published by that Authority, Edw. Bysse Esq; is named Garter, Arthur Squibb Esq; Clarenceux, William Ryley Esq; Norroy, George Owen Esq; Tork Herald, John Beauchamp Portcullis, William Crowne Rougeadragon, and John Watson Blew-mantle. This Squibb was promoted by the assumed Authority of this Parliament, upon the Endeavours of his Son in Law John Glyn a noted and leading Member, while Sir William Le Neve Clarenceux waited according to the Duty of his Allegiance on the King at Oxford: This Squibb died within few Years, whereupon the Commissioners according to the Power given them (as they stile themselves) by Ordinance of Parliament, did on the 12th of June 1650 appoint Edward Bysse Esq; Garter to execute also the Office, and bear the Name of Clarenceux, with all Fees, Stipends, Privileges, Powers, and Immunities belonging thereto; who continued in Possession (if that Word may be given to an Intruder) till the Year 1658, when upon scandalous Terms with the above-mentioned Ryley he permitted him to take a Grant of the Office of Clarenceux from Oliver.

Edward Bysse of the Parish of Burystowe in Surrey was a Bencher in Lincolns-Inn, and a great Practicer in the Court of Wards by which he got an^b Estate, and erected a fair Freestone House at Smalfield in that Parish, which he often justly said was built with Woodcock's Heads: To him Mr. Camden Clarenceux, on 1 Off. 1617, exemplified, confirmed, and allowed a Coat of Arms partie per Fesse embattelled Argent and Erm, in Chief three Leopard's Heads Gules; and in the Visitation of Surrey 1623, an Entry was made of his Descent, which in the next Visitation in 1634, was carried up higher by three Paternal Ancestors, and several

^d Athen. Oxon. p. 485. See Whitlock's Mem.
p. 229.

^e Aft. Oxon. Ibid.

^f H. 2. penes me, p. 426.

^g Ibid. p. 463. L. 18. penes me, p. 3.

^h Aubrey's natural Hist. and Antiq. of Surrey,
vol. 3. p. 71, 72.

Marriages inserted therein. He by Mary Daughter of John Turner of Hann in Blechingley Esq; was Father of this Edward, who at 18 Years of Age was entered a ¹ Commoner in Trinity College in Oxford 1633, and thence went to Lincolns-Inn, where he was called to the Barr, and was chosen Member of Parliament for Blechingly in 1640, in which Parliament, on November 23 in that Year he was ² appointed one of the Committees to consider the Proceedings and Power of the Court of High Constable and Earl Marshall, and the Fees of Heralds, which Committee on the 19th of February following reported their Resolution, that the Court of the Earl Marshal was illegal: In 1643, he took the Covenant, and about this Time he invaded the Office of Garter, if ¹ Mr. Wood be not deceived in his Computation, that he usurped it in the Lifetime of Sir John Burrough, who died on 21 Oct. in this Year: Notwithstanding this Vote of the House of Commons of the Illegality of the Earl Marshall's Court; 'tis somewhat remarkable, that during these prodigious Confusions the House of Lords, on 19 March 1645, being sensible (as 'tis worded) that many Persons had assumed the bearing Arms of the Nobility and Gentry, ordained some Lords and Commons with Power not only to settle and regulate the Office and Officers of Arms, but likewise to supply the Offices of Constable and Marshal of England. But 'tis no ways to be wondred that our Byshe was appointed one of the select Commoners for executing these Powers which he had formerly voted illegal in a Committee, while the same were derived by lawful Grants from the Crown; for he did not rest contented by acting contrary only to his former solemn Determination, but went larger Steps, and took the Courage, while he was thus fitting as a Judge, to transgress in the very Articles of Abuses, which this Ordinance designed to prevent, and that in the largest Extent of Facts, not only by assuming several Arms in ^m Quarterings which belonged to the Nobility, but discontinuing his Paternal Coat took the Arms of De la Bisse, whose Original Name (as he writes) was de Clare, bearing the Arms of the antient Earls of Glocester of that Surname, with the Distinction of a Labell with five Points Sable, till the Reign of Richard II, when one of them (as he saith) altered it to Or a Cheveron between three Roses Gules. These two Coats are engraven on a Plate in the ^m Monasticon Anglicanum, where the Descent of the illustrious House of Clare is deduced in English and Latin Verses, with this Inscription "M. cognatæ familie" "Edwardus Bissæus Ar. P." and in the ^o Hiltory of Warwickshire are these same Arms of De la Bisse quartering Clare, Zouch, and Boys inscribed "P. M. Majorum P. Edoard. Bysih." There is an Instance of his Vanity beyond Measure (not to give it a worse Term;) for there being in the South Window of the Chancel of Burford the Arms of ^p Henry Chichele Archbishop of Canterbury, Or, a Cheveron between 3 Cinquetoils Gules: He took down that Escutcheon, and made the Cinquetoils to resemble the ⁱ Athen. Oxon. p. 483.

^k H. 2 penes me, p. 433b.

^l Ach. Oxon. Ibid.

^m See his Notes on Upton de re mil. p. 52b.

53. 67. See H. 2 penes me, p. 433b.

ⁿ Vol. 1. p. 535.

^o Dougl. Hist. of Watw. fol. 40.

^p Aubrey's Hist. of Saxrey, vol. 4. p. 245.

Roses of De la Biffe, which Fraud is not only well attested, but the Traces of it were discoverable by Inspection; and he was so silly, as well as base, (as a late ⁹ Author writes) to put Abundance of Scutcheons of his pretended Ancestors in his House at Smalfield, though his Descent and Arms were well known by the Inhabitants in the Neighbourhood, who call it a new raised upstart Family of Yesterday's Growth, and that the Benchers Father or Grandfather was a Miller. While he was a Member of Parliament he had the Meanness to accept a Pension of Six Hundred Pounds yearly from the Sequestrators, and was in 1654 elected Burgess for Rygate in Surrey, in which Year he published Upton de re Militari, wherein he thought proper to add to the Coat of De la Biffe which he had formerly bore plain, a Labell with one Point in the Middle; and to this Book he wrote Notes in English, which were ¹ translated into Latin by Dan. Whitford. In 1658 he was chosen Representative in Parliament for Gatton, and as soon as the Monarchy was wonderfully restored, he became obliged of Course to quit this Office of Garter to the Right Owner whom he had long dispossessed; but notwithstanding the Eminent Parts he had acted in all the Guilt and Schemes of the late Times, he had the good Luck to be promoted within less than a Year's Time to the Office of Clarenceux, by a Grant which recited the Vacancy to be through ² the Lunacy of Sir William le Neve. This worthy Person in his younger Years had the Testimony of being a Gentleman ³ of singular Industry and Ability, given him by Mr. Selden a proper Judge of Men and their Merits, and being deservedly promoted to that Office of Clarenceux, he steadily adhered in his Duty to the King, and for his Loyalty and the Reverence of his Conscience lost his Liberty with his Estate: Hardships which might probably make too deep an Impression on the Spirits of a Person advanced in Age, and which depressed him even to the Loss of his Memory and Understanding, for he was indeed found a Lunatick by an Inquisition taken 22 Oct. 1658: This his Lunacy was it seems esteemed the Loss of his Freehold in this Office of Clarenceux, which had been granted him by Par. 22 June 11. Car. I. during the Term of his good Behaviour, which is equivalent to an Estate of Life, when used in Relation to Offices.

It hath been asserted by several Authors already quoted, that the Character of an Officer of Arms is indelible; but however that may be, the particular Labours and Sufferings of this worthy Person in the Vineyard all the Heat of the Day, might, if not merit, yet raise so much Compassion, that some Officer of Arms might have been allowed to be his Guardian, Assistant, or Marshal, during this his unavoidable Condition laid on him by the Hand of Providence, with some Allotment of Maintenance for him out of the Profits, without leaving him entirely upon the Charity of his Friends, which might have been done in such Manner as Coadjutors were formerly given to Clergymen in like Circumstances. A Life of Loyalty and Zeal might have made some Claim to it, since if

⁹ Ibid. vol. 3. p. 71, 72

¹ Ibid.

² Athen. Oxon. Ibid.

³ Signet March 1660. Clarenceux to Edward

Bish Esq; now void by the Lunacy of Sir William le Neve.

⁴ Titles of Honour, p. 23.

by the Blessing of Heaven he had chanced to have been restored to his perfect Senses, it must have raised Melancholy and afflictive Thoughts in him, sufficient to have caused a Relapse into a new Distraction, when, instead of any Recompense for his Sufferings, he should see the Usurper of his Office during the Distresses of the Crown settled therein after its Restoration by an absolute Patent. This Bysse in the Conduct of this Office, to which he was thus undeservedly raised, made no Reparation for his former Invasions, or attempted to ballance his former Errors by an Atonement in his future Management, which was suitable to the first Part of his Life and Character, but the Particulars of his Misbehaviours in this his Administration are foreign to the present Enquiry.

Thus Sir Edward Walker upon the Restoration became seized of his Office after an Usurpation upon it for sixteen Years. * Anthony a Wood hath given an Abstract of his Life, which is here transcribed with the Addition of the Proofs, and with some Augmentations which are included within Crotchets.

“ He was second Son of Edward Walker of Roobers in the Parish of Ne-therstowey in Somerset Gentleman, by Barbara Daughter of Edward Sal-keld of Corby Castle in Cumberland Esq; [which ⁷ Edward the Father was Son of John Son of Edward second Son of Humphry Walker of Kestern in Stafford Esq;] “ He was born at Roobers” [and whoever loves the Speculations in Astrology (if it be not a Dotage) may consult some * Calculations made of his Nativity. The Tradition is, that his Father having several Children, and being of the Romish Religion, a Gentleman of his Acquaintance took this his Son, and placed him in the then Office of Purveyance, from whence he was, as Mr. Wood words it] “ bred a “ Servant in the Family of Thomas Earl of Arundel Earl Marshal of Eng-“ land,” [to which Noble Earl he was first made ^a known in 1633, when he was about the Age of twenty two, and on the 24th May 1635 obtained his Majesty’s Warrant to be created ^b Blanchblion Purvevant Extraordinary, which Earl being sent ^c Ambassador in Apr. 1636 to Ratisbon, touching the Election of a King of the Romans, and also to negotiate the Restitution of the Prince Palatine, in which Journey his Lordship (as ’tis reported) taking a View of Pictures in some Church, Mr. Walker more particularly recommended one which stood at some Distance, which his Lordship, who was a critical Judge in Painting, Sculpture, Statues, &c. having examined upon a nearer Approach, was thenceforth pleased to take him into great Confidences, and as he modestly expresses it ^d himself, in a nearer Relation than he was either worthy of or expected; for upon the Death of his Secretary, he was preferred thereto] “ and his Lordship gave “ him the Purvevant’s Place called Rougecroix in the College of Arms;” [Mr. Wood means Rougedragon, which passed the Signet in May 1637.]

* Athen. Oxon. p. 701, 702

⁷ B. 5. penes me, p. 340.

^a Mus. Alhand. n. 185, p. 317. Ibid. p.

423, &c.

^b His Historical Discourses in Print, p. 214.

^c H. 5. penes me, p. 347.

^c The true Relation of all the Remarkable Passages in the Travels of the Earl of Arundel Ambassador to the Emperor by William Crowne Gent. in 1637, which Crowne was afterwards Rougedragon Purvevant by Pat. 12 Sept. 14 Car. 1.

^d Historical Discourses, p. 214, 223, 270.

and the Great Seal 19 May 12 Car. I. to which he was created with Ceremony on Monday the 5th of June 1637, and in January following had a Signet to be Chester Herald, which passed the Great Seal the 31st of that Month, being solemnly created on Thursday the 8th of February ensuing at Arundell-House, and in the next Year in the Expedition against the Scotts, this Earl of Arundell then General made him his Secretary at War, in which Post he served him and the Publick with the best of his Faculties, which Mr. Wood places in the Year 1639; in the Year following he again attended on that General into the North, and in April was appointed Paymaster of his Majesty's Garrison in Carlisle "afterwards when his Majesty and the Royal Family were by the Endeavours of that unhappy Parliament, begun the 3d of November 1640, forced from London in January 1641, Mr. Walker followed him into the North Parts of England, and was with him at Edghil Fight, and afterwards at Oxford, where he was actually created Master of Arts, being then Chester Herald. In the later End of 1643 he was made Norroy King of Arms, in Place of Sir Henry St. George promoted to the Office of Garter, but his Patent for this Office did not pass the Signet till Apr. 1644, and the Great Seal till 24 June, in which Month he was sworn Clerk Extraordinary of the Privy-Council; and in the Year following he was upon the Death of the said Sir Henry made Garter;" [by Signet in Febr. 1644, and Patent dated 26 Febr. 20 Car. I. and

e Ibid. p. 217, 264.

f H. 4. penes me. p. 897.

g Lib. Signet Apr. 1640.

h Origin. penes me.

i Pat. 11 Car. 1. p. 18. 24 Junii.

k H. 2. penes me, p. 539. ibe Original Book.

l Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem, Sciatis, quod cum non sit novum, sed jam diu ab antiquis temporibus usitatum, quod inter ceteros Officiarios & Ministros, quos principum lateribus pro eorum magnificentia atq; gloria insistere decet, eorum præferimus, quibus Officii Armarum cura committitur, copiam habere deceat, ut nec tempus bellorum neq; pacis sine convenientibus, & aptis ministris debeat preteriri: Nos igitur considerationis aciem in fidelia & laudabilia servitia, que dilectus serviens noster Edwardus Walker miles, alias nuper dictus Norroy Rex Armarum partium borealium Regni nostri Anglie in his, que ad Officium illud spectare intelliguntur, exercuit, dirigentes, eundem propterea, & non minus ob solertiam & fidelitatem, quas in eo satis habemus exploratas, in Principalem Regem Armarum Angliarum & præcipuum Officiarium Armarum incliti nostri Ordinis Garterii ex Gratia nostra speciali creavimus, fecimus, constituimus, ordinavimus, creavimus, & coronavimus, ac per præfentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris erigimus, facimus, constituimus, ordinamus, creamus, & coronamus, ac ei Officium illud quod committitur Garteri nuncupatur, nec non nomen Garter, stilum, titulum, libertates, præheminencias, & commoditates hujusmodi officio convenientes, concordantes, & pertinentes, ac ab antiquo confectas eidem Eduardo damus, & concedimus; ac ipsum in eisdem realiter investimus per præfentes. Habendum, gaudendum, occupandum, & exercendum Officium illud, ac nomen, stilum, titulum, libertates, præheminencias, & commoditates prædictas eidem Eduardo Walker Garter, quam diu se bene gesserit in eodem Officio, cum omnibus Juribus, proficiis, & emolumentis quibuscunque eidem officio qualitercunque spectantibus, & pertinentibus: Dantes ulterius & per tenorem præsentium concedimus eidem Eduardo Walker Garter cetera omnia, & singula, que dicto incumbentis Officio principalis Regis Armarum Angliarum & præcipui Officiarii Armarum incliti nostri Ordinis Garterii sive inesse dignoscuntur in Jure, vel ex consuetudine temporis retroacti longinquæ, faciendum, exercendum, & exequendum in tam amplis modo & forma, prout Henricus St. George Miles, nuper Garter, Julian Burrough Miles, Guilielmus Sugar Miles, Guilielmus Dalziel Miles, Gilbertus Dalziel Miles præter prædicti Guilielmi Dalziel, aut aliquis alios antehac habens seu occupans officium prædictum habuit, & percepit, usus, vel gavisus fuit, exercuit, seu exercere potuit in eodem Officio, vel ratione ejusdem Officii: Dantes ulterius & per tenorem præsentium concedentes eidem Garteri auctoritatem, potestatem, & licentiam Literas Patentes Armarum claris viris donandi, secundum Ordinationem per Comitum Marescallum nuper præscriptam, & cum ejus consensu. Dedimus insuper & concessimus eidem Eduardo Walker Garter a nobis in principali Regem Armarum Angliarum (ut præfator) erecto quinquaginta libras Sterling per Annum, ratione, & causa ejusdem Officii, & pro exercitio ejusdem, percipiendas eidem Eduardo Walker Garter de exitibus & proficiis parve Custumæ nostræ, heredum, & Successorum nostrorum in portu Civitatis nostræ Londoniæ per manus Firmariorum, Custumariorum, Collectorum, sive Receptorum custumæ prædictæ in portu prædicto per tempore existentium, a festo Sancti Michaelis Archangeli ultimo præterite annuatim & singulis annis, quam diu se bene gesserit, ad festum pasche & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones solvendas, una and ¹ sworn in a Chapter of the Order held at Oxford the 2d of March following, being at that Time only 33 Years old] “ having on the 2d of “ February in that Year received the Honour of Knighthood and being “ thus Garter King of Arms, and (as the Noble ^m Historian acquaints us) “ also Secretary to the Council of War, was pitched upon to carry a “ Message of Grace and Favour to the Rebels at Cropey-Bridge on the “ 29th of June 1644; but he knowing the notorious insolent Barbarities “ of those who neither regarded the Laws of Arms or of Nations, or ac- “ knowledged any Master or Discipline, desired the Wise Precaution that “ a Trumpet might be first sent for a Pass or safe Conduct to deliver that “ Message, to which Sir William Waller returned an Answer, that he had “ no Power to receive any Message of Grace and Favour from his Ma- “ jesty without the Consent of the two Houses of Parliament at Westmin- “ ster; after the Surrender of Oxford, in the Beginning of 1646, he was “ sent by the ⁿ Duke of Tork and the Council with an Account thereof to “ his Majesty then with the Scots at Newcastle, whom his Majesty de- “ sired to stay with and attend him, and notwithstanding his Distress gave “ him 100 l. for to get himself an Equipage; but he was soon removed “ from thence by a particular Ordinance of the Lords in Parliament, sti- “ ling him one Edward Walker a dangerous Malignant, and a Person ill “ affected to the Parliament, without giving him the Addition of Knight, “ Esq; or Gentleman: In 1649, he finished the ^o Narrative of the Pro- “ gress of the King’s Arms in the preceding Year, which he wrote by “ his Majesty’s especial Command, who was pleased to correct it with “ his own Hand, which is since published. In August 1655, he was “ sent from Cardiff to ^r the Prince of Wales, and in 1646 obtained “ from the Lords of the Council an ample ^q Certificate of his Loy- “ alty, with a Licence to travel into any foreign Country with his “ Wife, Children, and Servants. He soon returned again and lay hid “ for some ^r Time in and about London, and on the Second of Sep- una cum talibus liberatoriis & vesturis, quales, & in eisdem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius Rex Armorum, seu Heraldus tempore Edwardi tertii nuper Regis Angliæ Progenitoris nostri existens in Regno nostro predicto, vel postea, habuit, & percipit. Habendum & percipiendum annuatim eidem Edwardo Walker Garter durante vita sua diebus quinquaginta libras Stirling de exitibus & proficibus provenientibus de parva Custodia nostra in porta Civitatis nostre Londoniæ per manus Firmariorum, Custumiarum, Collectorum, sive Receptorum ibidem pro tempore existentium ad festa paschæ & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones, ac etiam liberatarum & vesturarum huiusmodi eidem Edwardo annuatim, quam diu se bene gesserit ad magnam Garderobam nostram, heredum, & successorum nostrorum, per manus Custodis sive Clerici ejusdem Garderobæ nostre, heredum, & successorum nostrorum, pro tempore existentium liberandis, ac Firmariis, Custumariis, Collectoribus, & Receptoribus dicte custodiæ nostre, & dictis Custodi, & Clericis, & singulis eorum mandamus, quod de tempore in tempus denarios predictos annuatim eidem Edwardo persolvant, & liberatarum & vesturarum predictarum ei liberent, & liberari faciant, & Theaurario & Baronibus Scaccarii nostri, heredum, & successorum nostrorum, ac aliis quorum interest, mandamus, quod de eisdem denariis, liberatura & vestura eidem Edwardo soluta vel liberatis, literis ejus acquirantur solutionem denariorum predictorum ac predictum liberatarum seu vesturarum testificantibus offensis, eisdem Firmariis, Custumariis, Collectoribus, & Receptoribus ac predicto Custodi, & Clericis debentur allocationem super eorum computis fieri faciant, aliquo Statuto, Actu, Ordinatione, Provisione, Proclamatione, seu Restrictione in contrarium inde antehac habita, facta, edita, ordinata, seu provisum, aut aliqua alia re, causa vel materia quacunque, in aliquo non obstante; eo quod expressa mentio, &c. In cujus rei, &c. Teste, &c.

Expedit. apud Oxon. quarto die Februarii Anno Regni Regis Caroli vicimo.

- / Lib. Carolin. p. 3.
^m Lord Clarendon’s Hist. vol. 2. p. 387. See Hist. Diss. p. 24.
ⁿ Hist. Diss. p. 241, 242.
^o Ibid. p. 228.
^p H. 2. penes me, p. 551, 555.
^q Ibid. p. 555.
^r His Register of the Garter, MS. p. 6.

“ tember 1648, there was a ^f Vote of the House of Commons, That “ Edward Walker Esq; now called by the Name of Sir Edward Walker, “ might go to the King in the Ile of Wight, being nominated by the “ King, and approved of the House, to be at the Treaty there, in which “ he was employed as the Chief or ¹ first Clark, and at that Place his “ Majesty was pleased to give him a large and honourable ² Testimony “ of his great Merits in the Execution of the Offices of Garter and of Se“ cretary of War, and in consideration thereof gave an Addition to his “ Arms with a new Crest: After the Murder of his Majesty, which soon “ followed, he got privately unto his Sovereign into ³ Holland, where he “ then resided with the Prince of Orange, by whom he was employed as “ Clerk of the Council, and otherwise in Payment of Money: In 1649
 “ he carried the Ensigns of the Order of the Garter to the Elector ⁴ Palat“ tine: He then waited upon his Majesty in Jersey, where a new Coat “ of Arms was granted him on the 8th of Febr. 1649, to be born in “ the first place, or quarterly by way of Augmentation Argent on the “ Cross of England Gules five Leopard's Heads Or, in which ⁵ Instru“ ment it is recited, That in the Beginning of the wicked Rebellion he “ had espoused the Royal Cause of Charles the First, to whom he had been “ for many Years Secretary of War, and served him in arduous Affairs “ to the Loss of his Fortune and the Hazard of his Life, being constant“ ly present in all his Councils of War, Battles and Sieges; that he “ was sent with an Account of the Surrender of Oxford to that King then in ^f H. 3. Disc. f. 8.

¹ Talk Page to his Hist. Disc. and to his Narrative of that Treaty.

² Ex. Orig. penes me.

Carolus Rex.

Carolus Dei Gratia Magnae Britanniae Franciae & Hiberniae Rex Fidei defensor, &c. Omnibus & singulis has literas nostras inspecturis salutem. Cum nunquam plus effugiat Majestas Regia, nec solum Principis magis enitecat, quam cum debita virtutis premia illico Regia dispensatione bene merentibus conferantur. Cumque Progenitorum nostrorum Regum Angliae atque exterorum Imperatorum, Principum & Dynastiarum institutis primitus officii consonum sit, non solum viros Castrenses & militari gloria florentes, verum etiam alios bonarum artium & literarum studiis egregie decoratos, quasi Castrenses, Insignibus & Armis investire. Quae quidem Insignia Regio favore sic donata, & in fentis, Clypeis, Cristis & Galeis infixae, ac perpetua rerum praechare gestarum symbola & Monumenta, Honoris ergo, ad posterum etiam gestanda remaneant. Cumque etiam dilectus & perquam fidelis servus noster Edwardus Walker Eques auratus Sommus noster Facialis & Garteris Principalis Armorum Anglicorum Rex, flagrantibus nuper hic undique intestinis diffidiis, exitium nobis & Coronae nostrae fidelitatis & obsequii Testimonium praefiterit, mandatisque nostris sedulo indies incurberit. Ac non solum in Officii Istitus munere, verum etiam in Consiliis nostris Tacticis & in epistolis Chartis & diplomatibus singulis militaria tangentibus (qua ipsius fidei & curae commissimus) periti in ea parte Amanuensis, & assidui ministri navavit operam. Sciatis igitur quod nos Regii favoris nostri Testeraam praefato Edwardo Walker & posteris suis tradidimus Volentes, ex Gratia nostra speciali, certa Scientia & mero motu nostris Dedimus & Concessimus, & per praesentes pro-

Nobis, Haeredibus & successibus nostris Damus & Concedimus praefato Edwardo Walker & haeredibus suis, Quod in posterum bene liceat eidem Edwardo & haeredibus suis, atque etiam omnibus aliis de stirpe sua oriundis, debito discrimine cum insignibus familiae suae quaternaria gestore. In Scuto Argentae unam Roseam Crucem (vulgo dictam Sancti Georgii) In medio; Quae unam Canem Leporarium (Anglice a Grybando) Coloris argentei, cum Colari aureo decoratum. Inq; Christa etiam Canem Leporarium ejusdem Coloris cum Colari rubro tribus Coronis aureis insignis. Qua quidem Insignia prout vivis Coloribus hic depinguntur praefato Edwardo Walker (ut glyphica fidelitatis sua symbola) per praesentes damus & Concedimus, ac praefatum Edwardum Walker iisdem insignibus ornatum & investimus per praesentes, habend. tenend. & gestand. eidem Edwardo Walker haeredibus & posteris ejus de stirpe sua oriundis sic ut praefertur in perpetuum. Volentes insuper & per praesentes firmiter mandantes omnibus & singulis Archiepiscopis, Episcopis, Ducibus, Marchionibus, Comitibus, Vice Comitibus, Baronibus, Proceribus, Magistris, Armorum Regibus, Officiariis & aliis Ministris & subditis nostris quibuscunq; quod praefatum Edwardum Walker haeredes & posterus suos, Insignia praedicta in Scutis, Cristis & Paludamentis, sic ut praefertur delineata absq; impedimento vel Inhibitione in perpetuum gestare permittant. In Cujus rei testimonium Anulo nostro signatorio has praesentes sigillari fecimus. Datum apud Newport in insula Vestis primo die Novembris Anno Regni Nostris Vicefimo Quarto, Annoq; Dom. 1648.

³ His Register of the Garter, MS. p. 6.

⁴ Ibid. p. 9. Ashm. Append. n. 111.

⁵ Accounts of Additions or Augmentations of Arms granted under the Great Seal of England from 1 Jan. 1644, to 1st of Sept. 1664, collected by Sir Edw. Walker Garter, MS. in OR. Arm. & A. 30, penes me. The patent will be Printed as the End of his Life in the next Sheet.

“ Custody of the Scots at Newcastle, to whom he was most acceptable, but “ was within few Days removed by an Order of the Rebels, and then sent “ by that King to his Queen in France with the greatest Trust, &c. These “ Letters Patent passed under the Great Seal, and which is Memorable, “ K. Charles II. is thereon exhibited armed on Horseback riding with his “ Face in the same Posture that Charles I. is represented on his Great Seal, “ which was altered afterwards to the reverse Position. Probably this first “ Seal was lost in the ^a Defeat at Worcester, and the new Seal might be “ prepared in this latter Form when it was engraven to be given to “ Sir Edward Herbert: There is no Enrollment on Record of any Pa“ tents passed in this Island. In this Place he was on 30 Sept. 1649, “ constituted ^b Receiver General of all Money that should from Time “ to Time be paid or delivered to the King, or to his Use upon any “ Occasion whatsoever, with the yearly Salary of two hundred Pounds, “ and the Editor hath several Accounts of his Payments signed by his “ Majesty; and in 1650 went with the King into Scotland, and was by “ the Committee there Voted to be ^c banished out of that Kingdom,
 “ and after his Majesty’s Escape had Notice sent him by Sir James Bal“ four Lord Lyon to depart thence, and we find him Resident at the “ Hague ^d in December that Year; at ^e Iffesteyn in June 1651, at “ the ^f Hague again in May 1652, and in Febr. 1653, at which Time “ he delivered the Ensigns of the Order to the Duke of ^g Gloucester, to “ the Prince of ^h Orange, to the Elector of ⁱ Brandenburg, from whom “ he ^k received 150 Pieces of Gold, each 5 Ducats, in all 250*l*. In “ 1655 was at ^l Amsterdam, and in 1658 at Bruges: On the first of “ January was ^m constituted Secretary of War, and in July 1658 had a “ Pass to travel to and fro in the ⁿ Netherlands, and in that Year deli“ vered the Garter to Count ^o Marcin: He waited on his Majesty in his “ Restoration, and was by ^p Signet made Clerk of the Council: To him “ his Successors must gratefully own the ^q Enlargement of their Yearly “ Salaries.”

^a Lord Clarendon’s Hist. p. 403.

^b Origin. penes me.

^c Ibid. vol. 3. p. 285. Hist. Disc. 161, 201.

^d Hist. Disc. p. 205.

^e Ibid. p. 225.

^f Ibid. p. 287, 314.

^g Garter’s Book, p. 20.

^h Alhm. p. 427. App. Cvj.

ⁱ Alhm. p. 428. App. Lxi. Cvii. Cviii.

^k Garter’s Book, p. 25*b*.

^l Hist. Disc. p. 369.

^m Orig. penes me.

ⁿ Orig. penes me.

^o Alhm. App. n. Cvi.

^p In libro Signetorum.

^q E. libro Signet. apud Whitehall, Off. 1662 the Office of Garter King at Arms to Sir Edward Walker upon Surrender of former Letters Patents with 50*l*. to hold quam diu se bene gesserit, and in respect of his said Services, his Majesty is pleased to Establish an Additional Fee of 50*l*. per Annum more, to be annexed to the said Office, not only to be paid to him during his Life, but as his Request to be continued to his Successors in the said Office for ever, payable out of the Customs of London, with Liberties out of the Wardrobe yearly, and all other Profits, &c. thereto belonging, subscribed by Warrant under his Majesty’s Sign Manual, procured by Mr. Secretary Nicholas.

Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem. Cum praecharissimus nuper Pater Noster Rex Carolus (beatissimae memoriae) per Literas suas Patentibus magno sigillo nostro Angliae Sigillatas gerentes datum apud Oxon. vicesimo sexto die Februarii Anno Regni sui vicesimo, erexit, fecit, constituerit, ordinaverit, creaverit, & coronaverit Edwardum Walker militem in principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum, & praecipuum Officiarium Armorum incliti sui Ordinis Garteri, ac eum Officium illud quod communiter Garter nuncupatur, necnon nomen Garter, Stylum, Titulum, Libertates, Praeheminentias, & Commoditates huiusmodi Officio convenientes, concordantes, & pertinentes, ac ab antiquo consuetas eidem Edwardo dederit & concesserit, ac ipsum in eisdem realiter investiverit: Habendum, gaudendum, occupandum, & exercendum officium illud, ac nomen, stylum, titulum, libertates, praeheminentias, & commoditates praedictas eidem Edwardo Walker Garter, quando se bene gesserit in eodem Officio, cum omnibus Juribus, proficiis, & emolumentis quibuscunque eidem Officium qualitercunque spectantibus, & pertinentibus: Dantes ulterius & per tenorem praedictarum literarum patentium concedentes eidem Edwardo Walker Garter, caetera omnia & singula, quae desio incumbent Officio Principalis Regis Armorum Anglicorum, & praecipui Officarii Ar-

“Salaries.” He was a Gentleman of Spirit as well as of great Abilities in his Profession, and having filled this Place about 32 Years to great “Commen-

morum incliti sui Ordinis Garterii five inesse dignoscuntur in Jure, vel ex consuetudine temporis retroacti longinqua, faciendum, exercendum, & exequendum, in tam amplis modo & forma, prout Henricus St. George natus nuper Garter, Johannes Burrough miles, Guillelmus Segar miles, Guillelmus Derbick miles, Gilbertus Derbick miles, pater prædicti Guilelmi Derbick, aut aliquis ante tunc habens, seu occupans officium prædictum, habuit, & percepit, usus, vel gavisus fuit, exercuit, seu exercere potuerit in eodem Officio vel ratione ejusdem Officii: Dantes ulterius & per tenorem prædictarum literarum patentium concedentes eidem Garter Autoritatem, Potestatem, & Licentiam Literas Patentes Armorum claris viris donandi, secundum ordinationem per Comites Mariscallos nuper præscriptam, & cum eorum consensu, dederit insuper & concesserit eidem Edwardo Walker Garter in principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum (ut præfector) octavo quinquaginta Libras Sterlingorum per Annum ratione & causa ejusdem Officii, & pro exercitio ejusdem percipiendas eidem Edwardo Walker Garter de exitibus & proficuis parve Civitatis suæ, hæredum & successorum suorum in Portu Civitatis suæ Londoniæ per manus Firmariorum, Custumariarum, Collectorum, five Receptorum Cusumæ prædictæ in portu prædicto pro tempore existentium a Festo Sancti Michaelis Archangeli ultimo præterito ante datum prædictarum literarum patentium annuatim, & singulis annis, quantum bene gereret, ad Festum Paschæ & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per æquales portiones solvendis, una cum tali liberatam & vesturam, quales, & in eisdem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius Rex Armorum, seu Heraldorum tempore Edwardi tertii nuper Regis Angliæ Progenitoris sui existens in regno suo prædicto, vel posses, habuit, & percepit: Habendum & percipiendum annuatim eidem Edwardo Walker Garter durante vita sua dictas quinquaginta Libras Sterlingorum de exitibus & proficuis provenientibus de parva Cusumâ sua in Portu Civitatis suæ Londoniæ, per manus Firmariorum, Custumariarum, Collectorum, five Receptorum ibidem pro tempore existentium ad Festum Paschæ & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per æquales portiones. Ac etiam liberatam & vesturam hujusmodi eidem Edwardo Walker Garter annuatim, quantum bene gereret ad Magnam Garderobam suam, hæredum, & successorum suorum, pro tempore existentium, liberandam, ac Firmariis, Custumariis, Collectoribus, & Receptoribus dictæ Cusumæ suæ, & dicto Custodi & Clericis & singulis eorum mandavit, quod de tempore in tempus denarios prædictos annuatim eidem Edwardo persolverent & liberatam & vesturam prædictam ei liberarent, & liberari facerent, prout per easdem Literas Patentes plenius liquet & apparet. Cumque prædictus Edwardus Walker Garter prædictas Literas Patentes in Curiam Cancellariæ nostræ nobis sursum reddiderit Cancellandas, ea tamen intentione, quod nos alias Literas nostras Patentes eidem Edwardo Walker Garter cum Augmentatione ulterioris feodi quinquaginta librarum præter & ultra antiquum feodum (sic ut præfector) per præfatum præcharissimum Patrem nostrum concessum eidem Edwardo Walker concedere dignaremur, quam quidem sursum redditionem acceptavimus, ac per presentes acceptavimus. Sciatis igitur, quod cum non sit novum, sed jamdiu ab antiquis temporibus usitatum, quod inter ceteros Officiarios & Ministros, quos

Principum lateribus pro eorum Magnificentiâ atque Gloria insistere decet, eorum præfectorum, quibus Officii Armorum cura committitur, copiam habere debeat, ut nec tempus bellorum, neque pacis sine convenientibus & aptis Ministris debeat præteriri: Nos igitur considerationis aciem in fideiâ & laudabilia servicia, quæ dilectus serviens noster Edwardus Walker Miles alias nuper dictus Norroy Rex Armorum parvum borealem Regni nostri Angliæ, in his quæ ad Officium illud spectare intelliguntur, exercuit, dirigentes, eundem propterea, & non minus ob solertiam & sagacitatem, quas in eo satis habemus exploratas in Principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum, & præcipuum Officiarium Armorum incliti nostri Ordinis Garterii ex Gratia nostra speciali creavimus, fecimus, constitimus, ordinavimus, creavimus, & coronavimus, ac per presentes pro nobis, hæredibus, & successoribus nostris erigimus, facimus, constitimus, ordinamus, creavimus, & coronamus ac ei Officium illud quod communiter Garter nuncupatur, necnon nomen Garter, Stylum, Titulum, Libertates, Preheminencias, & Commoditates hujusmodi Officio convenientes, concordantes, & pertinentes, ac ab antiquo contractas eidem Edwardo damus & concedimus ac ipsam in eisdem tenentibus investimus per presentes: Habendum, gaudendum, occupandum, & exercendum Officium illud, ac Nomen, Stylum, Titulum, Libertates, Preheminencias, & commoditates eidem Edwardo Walker Garter, quantum se bene gererit in eodem Officio, cum omnibus feodis, proficuis, & enolumentis quibuscunque eidem Officio qualitercunque spectantibus & pertinentibus: Dantes ulterius, & per tenorem præsentium concedentes eidem Edwardo Walker Garter cetera omnia & singula, quæ dicta incumbunt Officio Principalis Regis Armorum Anglicorum & præcipui Officiarii Armorum incliti nostri Ordinis Garterii five inesse dignoscuntur in Jure vel ex consuetudine temporis retroacti longinqua faciendum, exercendum, & exequendum in tam amplis modo & forma, prout Henricus St. George Miles nuper Garter, Johannes Burrough Miles, Willielmus Segar Miles, Willielmus Derbick Miles, Gilbertus Derbick Miles, pater prædicti Willielmi Derbick, aut aliquis alius antehac habens, seu occupans Officium prædictum habuit, & percepit, usus, vel gavisus fuit, exercuit, seu exercere potuit in eodem Officio vel ratione ejusdem Officii: Dantes ulterius & per tenorem præsentium concedentes eidem Gartero Autoritatem, Potestatem, & Licentiam Literas Patentes Armorum claris viris donandi secundum ordinationem per Comites Mariscallos nuper præscriptam & cum eorum Consensu. Cumque Regali nostro animo ruminationis, prædictum annuale feodum quinquaginta librarum ad sustentandum decus & Honorem Officii nostri prædicti nimis esse exiguum, ideoque & meritis prædicti Edwardi Walker, nos ad hoc præfectorum instigantibus, ulterius annuale feodum quinquaginta librarum eidem Officio adijcere statuimus, non solum ipsi durante vita sua, verum etiam ad ejus requiritionem successoribus suis in prædicto Officio impostum in perpetuum solvendum: Ulterius igitur sciatis, quod nos voluntatem nostram Regiam per presentes declaramus, quod prædictum ulterius annuale feodum (præter antiquum) quinquaginta librarum prædicto Officio Principalis Regis Armorum Anglicorum & præcipui Officiarii Armorum incliti nostri Ordinis Garterii in perpetuum fuerit ac per presentes pro nobis, hæredibus & successoribus nostris prædictum annuale feodum quinquaginta librarum (præter antiquum)

Commendation, including therein several Years during the Usurpation : He died suddenly on the 20th of February 1676-7, having left 7 Notes for his Will, whereby he devised some Books to his Successors, and several good Manuscripts to the College of Arms, notwithstanding the ill Usage he received from several designing Members of it.

His Body being conveyed to Stratford upon Avon in Warwickshire, was buried in that Church among the Graves of the Clopton's of Clopton, where there is a Monument fixed to the Wall, with an In-scription to his Memory, whereon are his Arms with the 'abovementanriqum) p̄dicto Officio ant̄t̄simus & superaddi-volumus in perpetuum. Delinus igitur & concessimus, ac per presentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris damus & concedimus eidem

Edwardo Walker Garter a nobis in principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum (ut presertim) erecto, centum libras Sterlingorum per Annum ratione & causa ejusdem Officii, & pro exercitio ejusdem, Percipiendas eidem Edwardo Walker Garter, de exitibus & profectis parvæ Custumæ nostræ, hæredum, & successorum nostrorum in portu Civitatis nostræ Londoniæ per manus Firmariorum, Custumari-orum, Collectorum, sive Receptorum Custumæ predictæ in portu predicto, pro tempore existentium, a Festo Sancti Michaelis Archangeli ultimo preterito ante datum presentium annuarii & singulis annis, pro & durante termino vite sue, ad Festa Paschæ & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per æquales portiones solvendas, una-cum tali liberatura & vestura, quales, & in eisdem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius Rex Armorum seu Heraldorum tempore Edwardi tertii nuper Regis Angliæ Progenitoris nostri existens in Regno no-stro predicto, vel postea habuit, & percipit : Ha-bendum & percipiendum annuatim eidem *Edwardo
Walker Garter* durante vita sua, dictas Centum Libras Sterlingorum de exitibus & profectis pro-venientibus de parva Custuma nostra in portu Ci-vitat̄s nostræ Londoniæ per manus Firmariorum, Custumariorum, Collectorum, sive Receptorum ibidem pro tempore existentium, ad Festa Paschæ & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli, per æquales portiones, ac etiam liberaturam & vesturam hujusmodi eidem Edwardo annuatim durante vita sua ad magnam Garderobam nostram, Heredum, &
Successorum nostrorum per manus Custodis sive
Clerici ejusdem Garderobæ nostræ, Heredum, & Successorum nostrorum pro tempore existentium liberandas : ac Firmariis, Custumariis, Collectoribus, & Receptoribus dictæ Custumæ nostræ, & dicto Custodi & Clericis, & singulis eorum mandamus, quod de tempore in tempus denariis prædictis annuatim eidem Edwardo persolvant, & liberaturam & vesturam predictam eidem liberent, & liberati faciant, & Thesaurario & Baronibus Scaccarij nostri, hæredum, & successorum nostrorum, ac aliis quorum interit, mandamus, quod de eisdem denariis, liberatura & vestura eidem Edwardo solviti vel liberatis, Literis ejus acquirtancia solutionem denariorum predictorum, ac predictæ liberaturæ seu vesturæ restitutionibus ostensis, eidem Firmariis, Custumariis, Collectoribus, & Receptoribus, ac predicto Custodi & Clericis debitam allocationem super eorum Computis fieri faciant, aliquo Statuto, Actu, Ordina-tione, Provisione, Proclamatione, seu Restrictione, in contrarium inde antehac habitis, factis, edi-tis, ordinatis, sive provisus, aut aliqua alia re, Causa, vel materia quacunque in aliquo non obstantibus, eo quod expressa mentio, &c. In cuius rei, &c. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium vicesimo die Octobris.

Per breve de privato Sigillo.

r Lib. Hale in Cur. Prærog. 36.

f M. S.
Edwardi Walker Iqvitus Auræi
ex antiqua ejuſdem nominis Stirpe (de Caterne in agro Staffordie) Orinuli ;
Qui per omnes
Caræ Heridicæ gradus ascendens, in principalem Regent Armorum Anglicorum
titulo Garter
Merito tandem erectus est,
Seviente nuper Civili incendio
a secretis Belli
Regi Carolo primo,
Carolo deinde II ab interioribus Consiliis
Clericis fideliter inseruit :
Uxorem Agnetem Jobi, Recepti de Bubbam, S. Th. D.
in Comitatu Surreiæ filiam (juxta hec tumulatam)
duxit,
e qua filiam unicam suscepit Barbaram, quam Johanni Clouston Equiti auro nuptus dedic.
Obiit xx. Feb. a. Dom. MDCLXXVI.
Ætatis LXV.

1 Carolus R.

Carolus Dei Gratia Angliæ, Scotiæ, Franciæ & Hiberniæ Rex, Fidei Defensor, &c. Omnibus ad quos presentes Literæ pervenerint Salutem : Cum Regio interlic muneris virtuti publicæ testimonium perhibere, ut memoria bene merentium in æter-num conservetur ad eorum laudem, & aliorum ad similia peragenda emulationem : Cumq; sit summe fortitudinis in publico Principis & Patriæ discrimine Rebellium conatus se opponere, & in communi defectione fidem integram & illibatam conservare, Cumq; dilectus & fidelis servus noster Edwardus Walker Eques auratus vulgo dictus Garterus
principalis Rex Armorum Anglicorum Filius secundo genitus Edwardi Walker nuper de Nether-stony in Comitatu Soverie nepos Johannis Walker
pronepos Edwardi Walker filii secundo geniti Johannis Walker de Castborne in Comitatu Staffordie Armigeri, e generosa & antiqua ejusdem Cognominis familia inter Covintans oriundus fuit, in exordino nefariæ in Angliâ Rebellionis ad partes serendissimi Patris nostri beatissimæ memoriæ convolaverit, & per plures Annos ei fuerit a secretis Bellicis, & in rebus arduis cum fortunæ pectura, & viæ discrimine ei deseruerit, omnibusq; Consiliis bellicis, præliis, & obsequiis cum serenissimo Patre nostro perpetue interfuit : Rebellionem prevalentem patri nostro se inter Secos resagiente & Oxonia reddita, selestus fuit ad reddendum rationem redditionis pa-tri nostro tunc sub custodia Scotum apud Necastle, e-tiq; gratissimus erat, & paucis post diebus speciali Rebellium ordinatione amotus fuit, & per Patrem nostrum summa cum fiducia ad charissimum matrem nostram Regium in Galliam legatus fuit : Ec-cum præcharissimus pater noster sub Rebellium Custodia in Insula Vestis conclusus fuerit durante tra-sitione

N n n n n

tionem Augmentatam, impaling those granted by himself to his Lady Agnès, who was the Daughter of Dr. John Reeve of Bookham in Surrey.

He used, for a Badge or Crest, a Wheat-sheaf supported by a white Lion and red Dragon issuing out of the Crown of a King of Arms, relative to his Offices of Blanch Lion, Rougedragon, and Cheffer, before he was promoted higher, which are painted in the Glass-windows at Clopton, the Seat of Sir John Clopton who married his Daughter and Heiress, and for his Motto Loyaulte mon Honneur, which he made good in all Instances, having served throughout the War, and waited afterwards on King Charles II during his Exile, with unblemished Integrity.

XIII. Some Memorials of the Life of Mr. Ashmole, and also of Sir William Dugdale, written by themselves, have been lately published, in which are contained several imperfect Hints of a Dispute, which arose about the Filling the Place of Garret upon this Vacancy; which Transaction might be easily set in its true Light by the Addition of some original Papers, if such a Supplement was not foreign to this Place.

Mr. Dugdale Norroy, being then aged seventy-one Years and seven Months, had this Office conferred on him by "Patent, bearing Date 26 April, 29 Car. II. 1677.

Statione pacis partes habuit, & ad presens nobis in officio Clerici interioris nostri Consilii deservierit. Cumq; non solum dictus Edwardus, sed omnes fratres ejus arma sumpsissent contra Rebelles, & nominatim Philippus & Thomas per omnes gradus militares Tribuni Militum sive Colonelli merito videantur: Scitis igitur, quod nos predictum Edwardum & fratres suos aliquo Charactere meritorum eorum & nostrae in eos benevolentiae insigniri volentes, ex gratia nostra speciali, certa scientia, & mero motu nostris dedimus & concessimus, & per praesentes Literas nostras Patentes damus, & concedimus predicto Edwardo Walker, Fratribusq; suis haeredibus & descendensibus eorum respective, quod ipsi in posterum in Augmentatione Armorum, ut honoris testas gestare possint & valeant, In clypeo Argenteo Crucem Angliae Rubram quinque capitibus Leopardorum deauratis decoratam, Anglicano Idiomate, Argent, on a Croci Gules, sive Leopardi Heads Or, prout ea margine praesentium vivis coloribus depinguntur: Volentes quod ipsi, haeredes, & descendentes eorum respective cum Familiis eorum propriis, quae sunt in clypeo Argenteo Tigium inter tres Lunulas crescentes nigratas, Anglice, Argent, a Chevron beteen three Crescents Sable, Insignia praedicta in primo loco, vel quaternatim gestare possint, & valeant, Habendum, tenendum, ferendum, & gestandum Insignia praedicta praefato Edwardo Walker, Fratribusq; suis, haeredibus, & descendensibus eorum in perpetuum: Mandamus etiam tenore praesentium omnibus & singulis Armorum Regibus, Feudalibus, & aliis Officiariis, & subditis nostris quibuscumque, quod praefatum Edwardum Walker, Fratres suos, haeredes, & descendentes eorum respective Insignia praedicta superius descripta, & explicata, in Scutis, Pannis, Clypeis, Sigillis, aliisque Figuris debito more depicta, vel incusata, In posterum semper gestare permittant, absq; ullo impedimento vel molestia in ea parte sندا vel exhibenda; volumus deniq; quod haec Literae nostrae Patentes vel instrumenta eandem firmam, bonam, & validam in lege existant, secundum veram earundem intentionem, & effectum, aliquo Statuto, Actu, Ordinatione, vel aliqua Legge, re vel materia quacumq; in contrarium non obstantem: In cujus rei testimonium has Literas no-stras fieri fecimus Patentes; Teste meipso apud Castrum Elizabethae in Insula nostra de Jersey Octavo die Februarii Anno Regni nostri secundo Annoq; Domini 1649.

¶ Pars pat. de Anno 29 Car. 2. n. 3.

Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Salutem, Scitis, quod cum non sit novum, sed jam diu ab antiquis temporibus usitatum, quod inter ceteros Officiarios & Ministros, quos principum lateribus pro eorum magnificentia atq; gloria insistere decet, eorum praesertim, quibus Officia Armorum cura committitur, copiam habere deceat, ut nec tempus bellorum neq; pacis sine convenientibus & apris ministris debeat preteriri: Nos igitur considerationis aciem in fideles & laudabilia servicia, quae dilectus serviens noster Wilhelmus Dugdale armiger, alias nuper dictus Norroy Rex Armorum partium borealium Regni nostri Angliae, in his, quae ad Officium illud spectare intelliguntur, exercuit, dirigentes, Eundem propterea, & non minus ob solertiam & sagacitatem, quas in eo satis habemus exploratas, in Principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum & praecipuum Officiarium Armorum Insulae nostri Ordinis Garretii ex Gratia nostra speciali creavimus, fecimus, constituimus, ordinavimus, creavimus, & coronavimus, ac per praesentes pro nobis, haeredibus, & successoribus nostris erigimus, facimus, constituimus, ordinavimus, creamus, & coronavimus, ac ei Officium illud quod communiter Garret nuncupatur, necnon nomen Garret, stilum, titulum, libertates, praeheminentias, & commoditates hujusmodi officio convenientes, concordantes, & pertinentes, ac ab antiquo consuetas eidem Willemo damus, & concedimus; ac ipsum in eisdem realiter investimus pro praesentes: Habendum, gaudendum, occupandum, & exercendum Officium illud, ac nomen, stilum, titulum, libertates, praeheminentias, & commoditates praedictas eidem Willemo Dugdale Garret, quoad diu se bene gesserit in eodem Officio, cum omnibus Juribus, proficiis, & emolumentis quibuscumque eidem officio qualescumque spectantibus, & pertinentibus: Dantes ulterius & per tenorem praesentium concedentes eidem Willemo Dugdale Garret cetera omnia, & singula, quae dicto incumbunt Officio principalis Regia Armorum Angli-

The Crown, by the Grant in this Patent, created Dugdale to be Garter, with the Liberties and Commodities thereto belonging, and anciently accustomed; and the Habendum limited this Estate to him during his good Behaviour, with all Rights, Profits, and Emoluments any ways appertaining, in as large Manner and Form, as any Person (whereof his Predecessors to Sir Gilbert Dethick inclusive are specified by their Names) did enjoy, or any other whatever had formerly enjoyed the same. The Terms Grant and Habendum are here used in their technical Senses, because in the Eye of the Law they have their proper Operations; so that if after them, any Powers be inserted in Letters Patents, such an Insertion could be of no validity, unless such Power had been incident, or Parcel of the Office before granted. The Grant then and Habendum contain a Reference to the ancient Rights of Garter in as strong comprehensive Language, as Grammar can express; and here it would be an unpardonable Omission to pass over the judicial Determination in the very Case of Garter, that such a general Reference to a former Patent or Grant was fully effectual in Law. Then there follows in this Patent, a new independent Clause solemnly ushered in by the Sovereign's Avowment of a farther Grace to this Patentee, which is rum & præcipui Officiarii Armorum incliti nostri ordinis Garterii five inesse dignoscuntur in Jure, vel ex consuetudine temporibus retroactis, faciendum, excipiendum, & exequendum in tam amplis modo & forma, prout Edwardus Walker Miles nuper Garter defunctus, Henricus St. George Miles, Johannes Burroughs Miles, Gulielmus Segar Miles, Gulielmus Dethick Miles, Gilbertus Dethick Miles pater prædicti Gulielmi Dethick, aut aliquis alius antehac habens seu occupans officium prædictum habuit & percepit, usus vel gavisus fuit, exercuit, seu exercere potuit in eodem Officio, vel ratione ejusdem Officii. Et ulterius de Uteriori Gratia nostra Damus & Tenore presentium concedimus eidem Garter auctoritatem, potestatem, & Licentiam cum consensu Comitum Marescalli Angliæ, vel ejus Deputati pro tempore existentis sub manibus & sigillis suis propriis inscriptis de Tempore in Tempus prius dato vel significato Licentiam Patentes armorum & Cristerum fonalium & consensum cum Clarencieus & Noitoy Regibus Armorum, vel eorum uno, aut solummodo per se ab eis separatis ad libitum & voluntatem Comitum Marescalli sine ejus Deputati pro tempore existentis secundum eorum ordinationes vel statuta de tempore in tempus in ea parte respectivo emanata & emananda, clavis viris concedendi & assignandi, & non aliter, nec quavis alio modo; Ita tamen quod si hæc Garter in aliquo præmissorum in contrarium fecerit, hæc presentis concessio nostra, & omnia in ea contenta cessent & penitus & omnino vacua ac nullius effectus vel vigoris consueque sint & forent. Deditimus insuper & concessimus, ac per presentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris damus & concedimus eidem Willelmo Dugdale Garter a nobis in principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum (ut præsertur) erecto centum libras Sterling per Annum, ratione, & causa ejusdem Officii, & pro exercitio ejusdem, percipiendas eidem Willelmo Dugdale Garter de exitibus & proficiis parvæ Custumæ nostræ, heredum, & Successorum nostrorum in portu Civitatis nostræ London per manus Firmariorum, Custumariorum, Collectorum, sive Receptorum custumæ prædictæ in portu prædicto pro tempore existentium, a festo Annuntiationis beatæ Mariæ Virginis ultimo præterito annuatim & singulis annis, quantum se bene gesserit, ad festa paschæ & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones solvendas, una cum tali liberatura & vestura, quales, & in eisdem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius Rex Armorum, vel Heraldus Armorum tempore Edwardi tertii nuper Regis Angliæ Progenitoris nostri existens in Regno nostro predicto, vel postea, habuit, & percepit; Habendum & percipiendum annuatim eidem Willelmo Dugdale Garter quantum se bene gesserit in prædicto officio dictas centum libras Sterling de exitibus & proficiis provenientibus de parva Custumâ nostrâ in portu Civitatis nostræ Londoniæ per manus Firmariorum, Custumariorum, Collectorum, sive Receptorum ibidem pro tempore existentium ad festa paschæ & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones, ac etiam liberaturam & vesturam hujusmodi eidem Willelmo annuatim, quantum se bene gesserit, ad magnam Garderotham nostram, heredum, & successorum nostrorum, per manus Custodis sive Clerici ejusdem Garderothæ nostræ, heredum, & successorum nostrorum, pro tempore existentium liberandam, ac Firmariis, Custumariis, Collectoribus, & Receptoribus dictæ custumæ nostræ, & dictis Custodibus, & Clericis, & singulis eorum mandamus, quod de tempore in tempus denarios prædictos annuatim eidem Willelmo persolvant, & liberaturam & vesturam prædictas ei liberent, & liberi faciant, & Thesaurariis & Baronibus Sacarii nostri, heredum, & successorum nostrorum, ac aliis quorum interest, mandamus, quod de eisdem denariis, liberatura vel vestura eidem Willelmo solvatis vel liberatis, literis ejus acquiescentiæ solutionem denariorum prædictorum ac prædictam liberaturam seu vesturam testificandis ostentis, eidem Firmariis, Custumariis, Collectoribus, & Receptoribus, ac prædictis Custodibus, & Clericis debitam allocationem super eorum computis fieri faciant, aliquo Statuto, Actu, Ordinatione, Provisione, Proclamatione, seu Restrictione in contrarium inde antehac habitis, factis, editis, ordinatis, seu provisus, aut aliqua alia re, causa vel materia quæcunque, in aliquo non obstantibus; eo quod expressis mentio, &c. In cuius rei, &c. Teste Rege apud Wimonsastriam vicessimio sexto die Aprilis.

Per breve de privato Sigillo.

x Hill, 5. E. 4. f. 8. Mich, 7. E. 4. f. 22.

printed at length with Italic Characters in the Margin; and though the same Royal Declaration hath been continued in the Patents of the succeeding Garters, in the same Position after the Grant and Habendum, yet under the Umbrage of this Clause, such an unlimited Power hath been exerted over one of them, that the two Provincial Kings were by Warrants from a late Deputy to the most Noble Officer mentioned in this Clause, commanded to grant Arms jointly, though from the View of these Instruments it appeared, that one of these Provincials, in every Instance, acted without his own District, and within the Territories of the other; and by this Means Garter principal King of Arms, without the Charge of Disability or Misfeasance, was for a considerable Tract of Time entirely excluded from executing one of the most beneficial Articles of his Function, declared to be his Right by the very Constitutions of this most noble Order.

The critical Rules of writing an History of the Succession in this Office, may not strictly justify the entering into a Debate, touching the true Import, and Interpretation of this Clause, and in Truth the Discussion of that Point, would take up too great a Compass in this Place. But since all Authorities and Powers either incident to Offices, or delegated by the Crown are Branches of Property, and included within the Notion of Meum & Tuum, it cannot therefore be esteemed any Breach of Decency, or good Manners, if Garter, whenever he shall apprehend himself aggrieved, should according to the Nature of the Trust reposed in him, attempt to vindicate the Rights of his Office in a Treatise for that Purpose, with Softness of Expressions, and a respectful Deference; for it cannot be expected, he should tamely relinquish them out of a servile Fear of offending any Person whatever. Garter cannot but assure himself from the Honour and Justice of the most noble Prince the Duke of Norfolk, Hereditary Earl Marshal, and Marshal of England, and from his Grace's strict and inviolable Regard to the Principles of Morality, that he shall not incur his Displeasure in asserting the Rights of this Office of Garter, but that he shall rather recommend himself to his Grace's Approbation, as having discharged the Duty of his humble and faithful Servant, a Servant to whom his Masters Rights have ever been, and ever will be as dear as his own, and whose Interests he is under the most invincible Engagements to consult, as well from the strongest Ties of Gratitude, as the highest personal Esteem. Such a Dissertation must in its Nature consist of several historical Deductions, as the Antiquity of the Division of this Kingdom into Heraldick Provinces, wherein it appears by an undeniable Proof, that the Northern Province was bounded by the River Trent above 450 Years since, as probably it might have been long before that Time, which was not an imaginary Line, but a Separation or Barrier in the Fraternity of Arms as real, as it was either in the Case of the Escheators or Wardens of the Forests. That for several Centuries there were three other provincial Kingdoms, whercof those of the Eastern and Western Parts were at length annexed to Clarenceux, who at first had only the Southern Parts under his Jurisdiction, by which Consolidation he first got Power over these two Territories, like the Union of two Diocesses under one Bishop, or that of Parishes under one Incumbent, or in the Case of Pluralities: That every Provincial in Matters of Jurisdiction was confined within the Circuits of his own Diocese, (if that Term may be inoffensively used,) and by Reason of the Disparity in the respective Values of these Provinces, it was customary to translate from a less to a more beneficial Royalty, as the Constitutions settled at Roan in 14th express it, and as Norroy hath in later Ages been advanced to the Place of Clarenceux, whenever he had Interest enough to procure that Removal. But then though these Provincials had separate local Rights within their Districts exclusive of each other, yet when Garter Principal King of Arms of Englishmen was instituted (as the Instrument words it) “for increasing the Name of the said noble Order, and to be tending to the Service of that Fellowship, the Brotherhood of the same, and of all the Gentry, and to be Sovereign within the Office of Arms, above all other Servants of Arms of the Right noble Realm of England.” He had not only an Heraldick Primacy thus vested in him over the whole Kingdom, wherein these several Provinces were contained, but exercised a cumulative Jurisdiction with each of these Provincials in their distinct Circuits, wherein there was observed, as the Civilians term it, a Prevention in the Article of granting Arms, that is a Priority in executing that Authority between him, and the Provincial; with this Restriction only, that the Grants of Arms by either Provincial within his own Marches was to be void and of none Effect, if the same was not registered with the Garter within a limited Time. To avoid such and other Inconveniencies that might arise by this Concurrence of Jurisdiction, it was a frequent Practice for Garter and each Provincial to enter into Agreements by Indentures, to join in such Grants with Regard to the particular Marches; and thus the Provinces were kept separate and without any Confusion: But in Case the Grantee had a Residence in both the Provinces, (which is allowed by the common and civil Laws,) then Garter hath joined with both Provincials, as in the Grants to Clergymen thus benefited, in which all these Kings, being interested in different Respects acted within the Circuits of their own Spheres; and for the same Reason these may all join without any Invasion upon their separate Rights, in Declarations of the Arms of a common Ancestor, and also in the Confirmations of them to two or more Descendants, who at the same Time shall reside in these different Provinces. In the Narrative of the ancient Methods of granting Arms, it will be proper to distribute the Times into different Æra’s, that distinct Views may be taken of that Practice, not only before those Kings of Arms had any Patents for their Offices from the Crown, but while they had such Patents, wherein no Authority of granting Arms was inserted, and when such an Authority was expressly conveyed, at first by general Words, and afterwards by Words which seem restrictive. And then it will be more particularly requisite to examine the Nature of the present Clause, and to specify the Occasion of it, and if it be restrictive, how far it extends, and to lay down the Maxims of the common Law touching Interpretation in such Cases, and thereby to examine all the Words in the Series they are placed, and upon the whole admitting, that every Syllable of this Clause in the full Scope ought to take an Effect, whether if the same being construed distributively according to the subject Matter, or as the common Lawyers express it, reddendo singula singulis, there be not an obvious genuine Construction of it, consistent with the separate local Rights of all these three Kings, coherent with the Residue of the Tenours of their respective Patents, and the Nature of their Offices and Titles, conformable to their different Creations, and with the Terms of their Oaths upon their Admissions, without confounding or annihilating the Provinces, or prejudicing the Rights of each other, (which it would be hard to infringe, or alienate by a Clause in a Patent to a distinct Officer,) and without rendering either of them an insignificant useless Cypher, and not only corresponding with the known Usages and Decrees of former Ages, but with the ancient and continued Practice in foreign Realms: Which latter Analogy will illustrate this Matter, whatever Weight may be allowed to it in our Courts of Law, though Coats of Arms and Officers of Arms have been universally allowed as Parcel of the Law of Nations in the Western Parts. And then the Conjunction of the three Kings of Arms in the Beginning of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth, according to an Order obtained upon their particular ^a Instance and Application, will be an Example of little Force, especially since that upon the Experience of the Inconveniency thereof, these same Kings soon receded from it and made Grants separately, and the like Answer may be given to an ^a Order dated in 1673, that the same was ^b reversed by the Authority of the Power which enjoined it in 1680, which directs, that for the future, Grants of Arms should be made by the Provincial King joined with Garter, which is the last standing Order in this Matter.

But it is Time to return to Mr. Dugdale, who in his own Narrative of this Advancement, hath dropped one Expression which seems the Effect of some Partiality to his former Title, for he writes, that he declined coming to London after the Death of Sir Edward Walker, notwithstanding his Friends had importuned him, in Order to his obtaining this Office, being, as he words it, "The next King of Arms, to whom it properly belonged:" At that Time he was indeed Norroy, to which he was created before Byshe had been legally constituted Clarenceux, it is said legally, because he had usurped on that Office and on Garter also during the Rebellion: But though Dugdale was thus senior to Byshe by legal Creation, yet according to the Heraldick Oeconomy, he was not the next King of Arms to Garter, for Clarenceux always precedes Norroy in the Fraternity and Corporation of Arms: Probably he did not mean that he was the next King in Precedence, but that this Office of Garter might belong to him as Norroy, under some other Circumstance, either as first by Creation, or the most antient Officer; However in either of these Senses, it seems to be only a Pretence, in that by the Inspection of the Succession it appears, that though seven Norroys had chanced to be formerly promoted, yet it is also evident that Officers of other Titles enjoyed this Place, and that some were directly advanced to it from Heraldships, and one from a Pursuivantship.

^a Vinc. Mf. in Officio Armorum p. 147, 150. | ^a 7. 25. in Off. Arm. p. 124.

^b Ibid p. 221.

It would be a tedious and useless Repetition to enter upon the Particulars of the Life of this most industrious Antiquary, which have been printed in several distinct Pieces, wherein Care hath been taken to give a Character of him not inferior to his Merits. It would doubtless have been some Advantage if he had resided in the College, and executed his Office in Person, where his Character and Experience might have supported the Esteem and Reverence, that he must well remember had been paid to that Station before the civil Wars; but when by Reason of his Age, and his Attachment to his Affairs in the Country, he by Permission deputed his Son to execute this Office (who at that Time, and during his Father's Life was in no higher Post than that of Windsor-Herald) he seemed not to have the Interest of his Successors singly in his View. For though in Strictness a Representative may justly claim the Respect due to his Constituent, according to the Form of the Powers given him, in which Case an Affront shewn him in the Execution of them, is interpretatively done to the Principal; yet if the Rector of any College or Fraternity, consisting of Members of divers Orders subordinate to each other, should substitute one of an intermediate Degree, it would be a rare Occurrence, if a due Distance should be cheerfully paid, unless such a Deputy by the Eminence of some other Qualifications, should be enabled to sustain the Dignity of the Rector's Person, as well as capacitated to negotiate his Affairs. By such Means the Rules of Subordination may be neglected and a Parity introduced.

Sir William made his Will on August xth 1685, wherein he devised his Manuscript Books to the Museum Ashmoleanum in Oxford, and therein hath this Clause "Whereas Sir Edward Walker Knight deceas'd, my immediate Predecessor in the Office of Garter, did by his last Will and Testament bequeath unto his next Successor in the said Office four Manuscript Books, viz. two of the Arms, Crests, and Supporters of the English Nobility painted in Colours, and two other touching the Knights of the most noble Order of the Garter, unto both which I have added what hath happened in my Time, as also perfect Indexes to them all, and likewise a large printed Book in Folio, of the whole Ceremony used at the Coronation of the late King Charles the Second, which five Books are now in my Study at London; My Will is, that within three Months next after my Decease, they be carefully delivered to my next Successor in the Office of Garter, and so to his Successor, and from Successor to Successors according to the Will of the said Sir Edward Walker." And having thus enjoyed this Office for near nine Years, he died on the xth of February 1685.

XIV. The fourteenth Garter was Sir Thomas St. George Norroy (eldest Son of Sir Henry St. George the eleventh Garter) who in July 1660, after the Restoration, obtained a Signet to be Somerset-Herald in such Manner as John Philpot had enjoyed the same, which passed under the great Seal on the 12th of that Month. And in the latter End of the Year 1668, he was sent with Sir Thomas Higgons to carry the Ensigns of the Garter to John George Duke of Saxony, and at his Return, received the Honour of Knighthood from King Charles the Second, with the same Sword which he received from that Duke upon his Investiture. In January 1679-80 he obtained a Signet to be Norroy King of Arms, which soon passed under the great Seal. And after the Death of Sir William Dugdale, he obtained a Signet in February 1681 to be Garter during his good Behaviour, his Patent for it being dated on the sixth of March 2 Jac. II. 1686, wherein that King reserves Power to himself and Successors to revoke the same, by an Instrument under the great Seal.

He

A. Pat. 2. Jac. 2. p. 4. n. 17.

Rex omnibus ad quos, &c. Solutem, Sciatis, quod cum non sit novum, sed jamdiu ab antiquo temporibus usitatum, quod inter ceteros Officiarios & Ministros, quia principum lateribus pro eorum magnificentia Officij gloriæ addere deat, eorum presertim, quibus Officij Armorum cura committitur, copiam habere debeat, ut nec tempus bellorum neque pacis sine convenientibus & aptis ministris debeat pretereire: Nos igitur considerantes aciem in fidelibus & laudabilibus servitis, quæ dilectis servitiis nostris Thomæ St. George Miles, alias nuper Norroy Rex Armorum partium borealium Regni nostri Angliæ, in his, quæ ad Officium illud spectare intelliguntur, exercuit, dirigentes, eundem propter, et non minus ob solertiam & fagacitatem, quæ in eo satis habemus exploratas, in Principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum & præcipuum Officiarium Armorum lectissimi nostri Ordinis Garteri ex Gratia nostra speciali exequimus, fecimus, confirmavimus, ordinavimus, creavimus, & coronavimus, ac per presentes pro nobis, hæc edibus, & successibus nostris erigimus, facimus, confirmamus, ordinamus, creamus, & coronamus, Ac ei Officium illud quod communiter Garter nuncupatur, nec non iocum Garteri, filium, trivium, libertatem, prærogativas, & commoditates huiusmodi officio convenientes, concordantes, & pertinentes, ac ab antiquo concessas eidem Thomæ datus, & concedimus; ac ipsam in eisdem restiter investimus per presentes: Habendum, gaudendum, occupandum & exercendum Officium illud, Ac nomen, filium, trivium, libertatem, prærogativas, & commoditates prædictæ eidem Thomæ St. George Garteri, quamdiu se bene gesserit in eodem Officio, cum omnibus Juribus, profectibus, & emolumentis quibuscumque eidem officio qualitercumque spectantibus, & pertinentibus: Dantes utemur, & per tenorem præsentium concedentes eidem Thomæ St. George Garteri cetera omnia, & singula, quæ dicto incumbunt Officio principalis Regis Armorum Anglicorum & præcipui Officiarii Armorum lectissimi ordinis nostri Garteri siue inesse dignoscuntur in Jure, vel ex consuetudine temporibus retroactis, faciendum, exercendum, & expendum in tam amplis modo, & forma, prout Guillelmus Dugdale Miles nuper Garter defunctus, Edwardus Walter Miles, Henricus St. George Miles, Johannes Burrough Miles, Guillelmus Seger Miles, Guillelmus Dediok Miles, Gilbertus Dediok Miles patres prædicti Guillelmi Dediok, aut aliqui alius antehabens seipsum occupans officium prædictum laicit & perceptit, usus vel gavisus fuit, exercuit, seu exercere potuit in eodem Officio, vel ratione ejusdem Officij, Et præterea de Usuris Gratia nostra Datus & Tenore præsentium concedimus eidem Garteri auctoritatem, potestatem, & Licentiam cum consensu Comitis Marescalli Angliæ, vel eius Diplicati pro tempore existentis sub mensura & scilicet sui proprii in scriptis de Tenore in Tempus prædicta vel significatio Litterarum Patentes omnium & singulorum simul & consensum eorum Clericorum & Notroy Regibus Armorum, vel eorum sui, non solvimus per se ab ea separatione ad filium & voluntatem Comitis Marescalli sine eius Diplicati pro tempore existentis in ea parte respectiva emanandi & emanandi, etiam tunc accedendi & assignandi, & non aliter, nec quovis alio modo, Ita tamen quod filium Garteri in aliquo præmissorum in contrarium fuerit, hæc præsentia concessio nostra, & omnia in ea contenta cessent penitus & omnino vacua & nullius effectus vel vigoris consequantur sui & forent. Deditimus insuper & concedimus, ac per presentes pro ipso, heredibus, & successoribus nostris datus & concedimus eidem Thomæ St. George Garteri a nobis in principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum, ut præterit, erecto centum libras Stirling per Ann. ratione, & causa ejusdem Officij, & pro exercitio ejusdem, percipiendis eidem Thomæ St. George Garteri de thesaurio nostro hereditum & Successorum nostrorum ad receiptam Saccarvii nostri, hereditum, & Successorum nostrorum per manus Theaurarii Angliæ vel Comissionariorum Theaurarii nostri & Camerariorum nostrorum ibidem pro tempore existentium a Festo Natalis Domini Dei jam ultimo elapso annuatim & singulis annis, quamdiu se bene gesserit, ad festum Pasche & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones solvendis, utrumque talibus libertatis & ventura, quietem, & in eisdem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius Rex vel Hereditarius Armorum tempore Edwardi tertii super Regis Angliæ Progenitoris nostri existens in Regno nostro prædicto, vel postea, habuit, & percipit, Habendum & percipiendum annuatim eidem Thomæ St. George Garteri quamdiu se bene gesserit in prædicto officio dicta centum libras Stirling de thesaurio nostro hereditum & Successorum nostrorum ad receiptam Saccarvii prædicti per manus Theaurarii Angliæ vel Comissionariorum nostrorum ibidem pro tempore existentium ad festum Pasche & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli per equales portiones, Ac etiam liberatum & venturam nostram, hereditum, & Successorum nostrorum libere tandem per manus Custodis ejusdem Garderoche nostre, hereditum, & Successorum nostrorum, pro tempore existentis, ac dictis Custodi, & Clericis, & singulis usui mandamus, quod de tempore in tempore eidem Thomæ St. George liberatum & venturam

He was 70 Years of Age when he was thus promoted, and in the Beginning enjoyed a tolerable State of Health, being able in 1699, to carry the Order of the Garter to the Duke of Zell: He was a Person of many Gentlemanlike Qualities, and continued in this Office near seventeen Years, till his Death on the 6th of March 1700, in his 87th Year, and lies buried in the Church-yard of Woodford in Kent, under an Altar Tomb with this Inscription.

Here lyeth the Body of Sir THOMAS St. GEORGE Knight, GARTER Principal King of ARMES, who died the sixth Day of March 1700, in the 87th Year of his Age, and was buried the 11th Day of the same Month; he married to his second Wife ANNA Daughter of Sir JOHN LAWSON Knight.

At the higher End or Top of the Stone is cut the Coat of St. George, with the Augmentation of Sueden, empaling per Pale a Chevron counterchanged, and above it the Crest with the like Augmentation.

By this Lady he had no Children that survived him, but by his first Clare Daughter of John Pymlove Rector of Cliff in Northampton, he had a Son who died in his Life-time, leaving only one Daughter, and also other Children.

XV. The fifteenth Garter was Sir Henry St. George, younger Brother of the former, who went through several Gradations in the College by Virtue of Patents, being soon after the Restoration constituted Richmond-Herald 18 June 12 Car. II, thence created Norroy King of Arms on 27 Apr. 29 Car. II, and received the Honour of Knighthood, was advanced to be Clarenceux 28 January 31 Car. II, and at length he procured a Patent to be Garter, bearing Date 26 Apr. 2d^o Anno, when he was near vestorum predicta liberent, & liberari faciant. Et Theaurario & Baronibus Scaccarii nostri, heredum, & successorum nostrorum, ac alius quorum interest, mandamus, quod de eisdem liberata & vestura eidem Thome St. George liberatis, literis ejus acquiescentiis predictis liberatis, seu vestur, vestificantibus ostensis, predicto Custodi, & Clerici debitam allocationem super eorum computa fieri faciant, aliquo Statuto, Actu, Ordinatione, Provisione, Proclamatione, seu Restrictione in contrarium inde antehac habitis, factis, editis, ordinatis, seu provisus, aut aliqua re, causa vel misterio quocumque in aliquo non obstante. Provisio semper & per presentes nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris plenam potestatem & auctoritatem reservamus, has literas nostras patentes & omnia in eisdem contenta per scriptum sub magno Sigillo Anglie revocandi & determinandi. Et quod expressis mentio, &c. In cuius rei, &c. Teste meipso apud Westmonasterium undecimo die Martii.

Per breve de privato Sigillo.

e Anno Dei Gratia Anglie, Scocie, Francie, & Hibernie Regina, Fidei Defensor etc. Omnibus ad cuius presentes Literas nostras pervenerint Salutem. Scitis quod cum non sit novum, sed iam diu ab antiquis temporibus usitatum, quod inter ceteros officarios & ministros, quos Principum lateribus pro eorum magnificentia atque gloria insistere docet, eorum presertim, quibus Officij Armorum cura committitur, copiam habere debeat, ut hoc tempus Bellorum, neque Pacis sine convenientibus & aptis Ministris debeat preteriri, Nos igitur considerantes fidelis & laudabilis servitii, quos dilectus serviens noster Henricus St. George Miles alias nuper dictus Clarenceux Rex Armorum, in his que ad officium illud spectant intelligunt, excurrit, presertim Henricus St. George Principalem Regem Armorum Anglorum & principum Officium Armorum In liti nostri Ordinis Garterii ex Gratia nostra speciali, ac ex certa Scientia, & altero motu nostris creavimus, fecimus, constituimus, ordinavimus, creavimus, & coronavimus, ac per presentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris erigimus, facimus, constituimus, ordinamus, creamus, & coronamus, ac ei Officium illud quod communiter Garter nuncupatur, nec non nomen Garter Stylum, Titulum, Libertates, Præeminencias, & Commoditates huiusmodi Officio convenientes, concordantes, & pertinentes, ac ab antiquo concessas eidem Henrico dimitte & concedimus in loco Thome St. George interitus defuncti, ac ipsam in eisdem realiter investimus per presentes, habendam, gaudendam, occupandam, & exercendam officium illud, ac nomen, Stylum, Titulum, Libertates, Præeminencias, & commoditates predictas eidem Henrico St. George Garter, quando se bene gesserit in eodem Officio, cum omnibus iuribus, prosciis, & emolumentis quibuscumque, quibus Officio qualitercumque specificibus & prementibus Dantes utentibus & per totorum presentium conce-near - 8 Years of Age, in which Office he continued above twelve Years, dying on the 12th, and buried in the Church of St. Bennets Paul's Wharf on 18 August 1715. His Death was so late, that the Editor shall no ways attempt to give any Narrative of his Qualifications, and Conduct in the College, but leave that Province to his Relations, to do the Justice they shall conceive due from them to his Memory, or else to the residuary Legatee named in his Will. Thus this Place of Garter was granted successively to three Persons in the Decline of their Ages, when it might have been imagined, each of them should have contracted their Thoughts, and much rather have retired from the Fatigues of the Offices they then enjoyed, than engaged themselves in farther Ones by undertaking to provide at the Helm. As the Branches of the Functions of Garter are many and of large Extent, so several of them require a Briskness, Vigour, and Resolution in the personal Execution of them, for whenever these shall be exercised by the Direction or Administration of inferior Officers, during any Insufficiency of the Principal, in Abilities, either of Understanding, or of the Body, though no Disadvantage should accrew to the Service of the Publick, yet the Successors in this Office may experience the same Inconveniences from them, as Ecclesiasticks sensibly feel in those Benefices, cedentes eidem Henrico St. George cetera omnia & singula, que incumbunt dicto Officio Principis Regis Armorum Anglicorum & precipue Officii Armorum incliti nostri Ordinis Garteri sive inde dignoscuntur in Jure vel ex consuetudine temporibus retroactis, faciendum, excutendam, & exequendum in tam amplis modo & forma, prout prefatus Thomas St. George, aut aliquis alius archæe habens, seu occupans Officium: predictum habuit, & percepit, usus, vel gavisus fuit, exercuit, su exercere potuit in eodem Officio vel ratione ejusdem Officii: Et ulterius de uberiori gratia nostra damus & tenore presentium concedimus eidem Garteri Auctoritatem, Potestatem, & licentiam cum consensu Comitris Mareschalli Angliæ vel ejus Deputati pro tempore existentis sub manibus & sigillis suis propriis in scriptis de tempore in tempus pius dato vel significato, Literas patentes Armorum & Crestarum simul & conjunctim cum Clavaceæ & Norry Regibus Armorum, vel eorum uno, vel volummodo per se ab eis separatum, ad libitum & voluntatem Comitris Mareschalli, sive ejus Deputati pro tempore existentis secundum eorum Ordinationes vel Scripta de tempore in tempus in ea parte respective emanata & emananda clausis viris concedendis & assignandis, & non aliter nec quovis alio modo: Ita etiam, quod si idem Garter in aliquo præmissorum in contrarium fecerit hæc præfens concessio nostra, & omnia in ea contenta penitus cessabunt, & vacua erunt, ac nullius effectus vel vigor cujuscunque: Desimus in super & concessimus ac per presentes pro nobis, Hereditis, & Successoribus nostris damus & concedimus eidem Henrico St. George Garter a nobis in Principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum erecto (ut prefatur) centum libras legalis monete Angliæ per annum, ratione & causa ejusdem Officii, & pro exercitio ejusdem, habendum & percipiendum dictam summam centum Librarum per annum eidem Henrico St. George Garter de tali thesauro nostro, Hereditum, & Successorum nostrorum, qualis ad hujusmodi solutionem legaliter applicari possit ad Receiptam Scaccarii nostri, Hereditum, & Successorum nostrorum per manus Theaurarii Angliæ vel Commissionariorum Theauri nostri & Cane- rarium nostrorum iidem pro tempore existentium a Festo Paskhe jam ultimo elapso annuatim, & prima semiannuali solutio inde facienda in & pro Festo Pasche & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli proximi sequentis datum presentium, & subsequentes solutiones prædictæ summa centum Librarum per annum faciendæ & in super Festo Pasche & Sancti Michaelis Archangeli annuatim, & singulis annis per æquales Portiones, quantum se bene gesserit in Executione Officii predicti, una cum tali liberata & vestura, qualem & in eisdem modo & forma, prout aliquis alius Rex vel Heraldus Armorum tempore Edwardi Tertii nuper Regis Angliæ prædecessoris nostri existens in Regno nostro prædicto, vel habuit, & percepit, dictam liberatam & vesturam annuatim liberandam eidem Henrico St. George, quantum se bene gesserit in Officio prædicto, ad magnam Garderobam nostram, Hæredum, & Successorum nostrorum pro tempore existentium per manus Custodis ejusdem Garderobæ nostræ, Hæredum, & Successorum nostrorum pro tempore existentis, ac dicto Custodi & Clericis & singulis eorum mandamus, quod de tempore in tempus eidem Henrico St. George liberatam & vesturam prædictam liberent, & liberari faciant, & Thesurariis, & Exoneribus Scaccarii nostri, Hæredum & Successorum nostrorum, ac aliis quorum interest, mandamus, quod hæc Literæ nostra liberata & vestura eidem Henrico St. George liberata (Literis ejus acquisite prædictam liberatam seu vesturam testificantibus officiosis) prædicto Custodi & Clericis debitam allocationem super eorum computum fieri faciant: Denique volumus ac per presentes concedimus, quod hæc Literæ nostra patentes, vel irrotulamentum eorundem sint & erunt in omnibus, & per omnia, bona, firma, valida, & effectualia in lege, aliquo defectu, incertitudine, re, causa, vel materia quacunque, in aliquo non obstante. In cujus rei Testimonium hæc Literas nostras fieri fecimus Patentes, Teste meipso apud Westmonasterium decimo sexto die Junii Anno Regni nostri secundo

Per breve de privato Sigillo,

Cocke

whercon

whereon their Predecessors for some Incumbencies have been non-resident, in which Circumstances they frequently find, not only a Dilapidation of the Houses, but (if it may be so termed) of the Rights too, which are not retrievable without great Application.

It hath been observed how careful Sir William Dugdale was, that the Intention of Sir Edward Walker in the Donation of some Manuscripts should be made effectual, which occasions the mentioning another Legacy. Mr. Camden Clarenceux in his Will written with his own Hand, made the following Devise, "as for my ^f Books and Papers, my Will is, that Sir Robert Cotton of Conington Knight and Baronet shall have the first View of them, that he may take out such as I borrowed of him, and I bequeath unto him all my imprinted Books, and Manuscripts, except such as concern Arms and Heraldry, the which with all my ancient Seals I bequeath unto my Successor in the Office of Clarenceux, Provided that whereas they cost me much, that he shall give to my Cozen John Wyat Painter such Sum of Money, as Mr. Garter and Mr. Norroy for the Time being shall think meet, and also that he leave them to his Successor in the Office of Clarenceux." Though he understood not the Niceties of the Law, yet he was the most competent Judge of the Value of the Particulars devised, and takes Care to express that they cost him much, and by a Note in his ² Annals of King James, it appears that one Parcel which belonged to Lancaster-Herald, who died 19 Nov. 1613, [that is to Nicholas Charles] cost him ninety Pounds. What other Collections he had by his Industry recovered, and what particular Treatises he left in his own Writing, the Editor knows not; however it is not only certain that Sir Richard St. George succeeded him in the Title of Clarenceux, but that several, if not all of these Books which belonged to Nicholas Charles, with Books of Genealogies in the Handwriting of Mr. Camden, were in the Custody of this Sir Henry St. George, who while he was Garter, frequently promised to bequeath them to the College by his Will, wherein as it is said, there is only a Reservation to dispose of them, as he should think fit, by a future Codicil, which was never made, so that it is now in the Power of his Executor to supply this Deficiency, who must retain a Veneration for the Memory of Mr. Camden, as well as Reverence for the Memory of his Testator.

XVI. When Sir Henry St. George was not far distant from ninety Years of Age, Her late Majesty Queen Anne by a ^b Patent dated 2 Apr. in her thirteenth ^f Lib. Swan in Cur. Prærog. f. 111.

^g P. 10. ed. Smith.

^h Anno Dei Gratia Magna Britannia, Francia, & Hibernia Regina, fidei Defensor &c. Omnibus ad quos præsentis literæ nostræ pervenerint salutem, Sciatis, quod cum non sit novum, sed jamdiu ab antiquis temporibus usitatum, quod inter ceteros Officiarios & Ministros quos principum lateribus pro eorum magnificentia atq; gloria institere decet, eorum præsertim, quibus Officij Armorum cura committitur copiam habere decet, ut nec tempus bellorum neq; pacis sine convenientibus & aptis ministris debeat præteriri: Cumq; nos per Literas nostras Patentes sub magno sigillo nostro Anglia concessas gerentes datum apud Westmonasterium decimo sexto die Junii Anno Regni nostri secundo, dilectum servientem nostrum Henricum St. George Militem, Principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum, & præcipuum Officiarium Armorum incliti nostri Ordinis Garteris exceperimus, fecerimus, constituerimus, ordinaverimus, creaverimus, & coronaverimus; Ac et Officium illud quod communiter Garter nuncupatur, necnon nomen Garter, Stulm, Titulum, Libertates, Præminencias, & Commoditates hujusmodi Officio convenientes, concordantes, & pertinentes, ac ab antiquo consuetas eidem Henrico dederimus, & con-thirteenth Year, reciting her Grant formerly made to this Sir Henry, was pleased to constitute John Anstis Esq; Garter, to hold the same, during his good Behaviour, immediately after the Death, Surrender, Forfeiture, or other Determination of the Estate and Interest of the said Sir Henry. The concederimus per literas nostras predictas, habendum, gaudendum, occupandum, & exercendum officium illud, ac nomen, solum, titulum, libertates, prebementias, & commoditates predictas eidem Henrico St. George Garter, quamdiu se bene gesserit in eodem Officio, prout per easdem literas patentes, relatione inde habita, plenius liquet & apparet: Qui quidem Henricus St. George Garter adhuc superstes, & in plena vita existit: Sciatis modo, quod Nos considerantes fidelia & laudabilia servitia, quae dictis servitiis noster Johannes Anstis Armiger, alias Johannes Norfolk Heraldus, in his, quae ad Officium illud spectare intelliguntur, exercuit, praefatum Johannem Anstis Principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum, & praecipuum Officiarium Armorum Incliti nostri Ordinis Garterii ex Gratia nostri speciali, ac ex certa scientia, & merito motu nostris creavimus, fecimus, constituimus, ordinavimus, creamus, & coronavimus, ac per presentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris erigimus, facimus, confirmamus, ordinamus, creamus, & coronamus: Ac et Officium illud quod communiter Garter nuncupatur, necnon nomen Garter, solum, titulum, libertates, prebementias, & commoditates hujusmodi officio convenientes, concordantes, & pertinentes, ac ab antiquo consuetas eidem Johanni Anstis Garter, damus, & concedimus, ac ipsum in eisdem realiter investimus per presentes: Habendum, gaudendum, occupandum, & exercendum Officium illud, ac nomen, solum, titulum, libertates, prebementias, & commoditates predictas eidem Johanni Anstis Garter, immediate post mortem, sursum redditionem, foris facturam, vel aliam quancunque determinationem status & interesse praefati Henrici St. George Garter in Officio praedicto, quamdiu se bene gesserit in eodem Officio, cum omnibus Juribus, proficiis, & emolumentis quibuscunque eidem officio qualitercunque spectantibus, & pertinentibus: Dantes ulterius, & per tenorem praesentium concedentes eidem Johanni Anstis Garter, cum & quam cito Officium praedictum vacaverit, ut praefertur, caetera omnia & singula, quae incumbunt dicto Officio principalis Regis Armorum Anglicorum & praecipui Officii Armorum Incliti nostri Ordinis Garter sive inesse dignoscuntur in Jure, vel ex consuetudine temporibus retroactis, faciend. exercend. & exequendum in tam amplis modo & forma, prout praefatus Henricus St. George Garter modo habens seu occupans officium praedictum habet, & percipit, utitur, vel gaudet, exercet, seu exercere potest in eodem officio, vel ratione ejusdem officii, aut aliquis alius antehac habens, seu occupans officium praedictum habuit & percipit, usus vel gavitus fuit, exercuit, seu exercere potuit in eodem Officio, vel ratione ejusdem Officii: Et ulterius de Uberiari Gratia nostra Damus & Tenore praesentium concedimus eidem Johanni Anstis Garter cum & quam cito Officium praedictum vacaverit, ut praefertur, autoritatem, potestatem, & Licentiam cum consensu Comitum Marescalli Angliae, vel ejus Deputati pro tempore existentis sub manibus & sigillis suis propriis in scriptis de Tempore in Tempus prius duo vel significato, Literas Patentes Armorum & Castellorum simul & consensum cum Clerenicis & Norroy Regibus Armorum, vel eorum uoc. vel solusmodo per se ab eis separatim ad libitum & voluntatem Comitum Marescalli, sive ejus Deputati pro tempore existentis, secundum eorum Ordinat. vel Statut. de tempore in tempus in ea parte respective emanat. & emanand. clavis viris concordandi & assignandi, & non aliter, nec quavis alio modo, ita etiam quod si idem Johannes Anstis Garter in aliquo praemissorum in contrarium fecerit, hac praesenti concessio nostra, & omnia in eadem contenta penitus cassabuntur & vacua erunt, ac nullus effectus vel vigoris consequentur. Deditimus insuper & concessimus, ac per presentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris damus & concedimus eidem Johanni Anstis Garter a nobis in Principalem Regem Armorum Anglicorum ereto (ut praefertur) centum Libras legalis monetae Mage Britanniae per Annum ratione & causa ejusdem Officii, & pro exercitio ejusdem, habendum, & percipiendam dictam summam centum Librarum per Annum eidem Johanni Anstis Garter de tali Thesauro nostro, heretum, & Successorum nostro- rum, qualis ad hujusmodi solutionem legaliter applicari possit ad receptam Scaccarii nostri, heretum, & Successorum nostro- rum, per manus The- saurarii nostri Mage Britanniae, vel Commissionario- rum de Thesauro nostro, & Camerario- rum nostro- rum ibidem pro tempore existentium, immediate post mortem, sursum redditionem, foris facturam, vel aliam quancunque determinationem status & interesse praefati Henrici St. George in Officio & praemissis praedictis, annuatim & singulis annis, videlicet ad festa Sancti Michaelis Archangeli, & Pasche per equales portiones solvendam, Quamdiu se bene gesserit in Officio praedicto, un- cum tali liberatura & vestura, qualem, & in eisdem modo & forma, prout praefatus Henricus St. George Garter modo habet, & percipit, aut aliquis alius Rex vel Heraldus Armorum tempore Edwardi Tertii nuper Regis Angliae Praelocessoris nostri existens, vel postea, habuit, & percipit, dictam liberaturam & vesturam annuatim liberandas eidem Johanni Anstis Garter, cum & quam cito Officium praedictum vacaverit, ut praefertur, quamdiu se bene gesserit in officio praedicto, ad magnam Garderobiam nostram, heretum, & successorum nostro- rum pro tempore existens per manus Custodis ejusdem Garderobae nostrae, heretum, & successorum nostro- rum pro tempore existens, ac dictis Custodi, & Clericis suis, & singulis eorum mandamus, quod de tempore in tempus eidem Johanni Anstis Garter liberaturam & vesturam praedictas liberent & liberari faciant, & Thesauro & Baronibus Scaccarii nostri, heretum, & successorum nostro- rum, ac aliis quorum intererit mandamus, quod de eisdem liberatura & vestura eidem Johanni Anstis Garter liberatis, literis ejus acquiescentiae praedictae liberature seu vesturae testificantibus offensis, praedictis Custodi & Clericis debitam allocationem super eorum computos fieri faciant: Denique volumus, ac per presentes pro nobis, heredibus, & successoribus nostris concedimus, quod his litterae nostrae patentes, vel irroulamentum earundem sint & erunt in omnibus, & per omnia bona, firma, valida & effectuales in Legge, non obstantibus non recte, vel plene recitand. praedictas recitat. literas nostras patentes, vel datum earundem, aut aliquo alio defectu, incertitudine, re, causa, vel materia quancunque in aliquo non obstante: In cujus rei testimonium has literas nostras fieri fecimus patentes: Teste noscra apud Westmonasterium secundo die Aprilis Anno Regni nostri decimo tertio.

Per Breve de Privato Sigillo:

Coch.

Editor makes no other Address to him, than in the Words of St. Bernard to Eugenius the third. "Quibus successisti in sedem, ipsos sine dubio sequeris ad mortem."

It is Time to proceed to the other Particulars mentioned by Mr. Ashmole, the Oath, Ensign, Badge, Privileges, Pension, and Duties of this Officer. There remains little to be added, to what he hath said about the Oath, though it should be observed, no Clause was ever inserted into the Patent of Garter, certifying his taking the Oath, as was continued in the contemporary Patents of the Provincial Kings, during several Reigns, wherein was a Paragraph of the following Tenour. "Qui quidem — ad hunc statum nobis, presentibus omnibus aliis Regibus, & Heraldis, & quam plurimis Magnatibus, & Fide dignis regni nostri Angliæ prædictæ tunc coram nobis assistentibus, & specialiter per nos ad hoc vocatis, adhibitis solennitatibus requisitis & consuetis, super sancta Dei Evangelia solempne prestavit sacramentum," which Certificate was likewise in the Patent of Gloucester King of Arms, erected by Rich. III for the Dominion of Wales, and also in the Patents of those Clarenceux's who had the Fortune to be^k promoted to that Place from the Province of Norroy. The Reason is obvious, because Garter was obliged to take his Oath in a Manner, different from these Provincials, which was to be taken in Presence of the Sovereign, and the Companions of this Order, where it was administered to him by the Register. However Sir Gilbert Dethick seems to have taken his Oath before the Sovereign, out of a Chapter, if a^m Ritual may be credited, though the Authority of that Instrument may justly be questioned, in that it specifies the reading of his Patent, which in Fact did not pass under the Great Seal, till some Days after the Date of that Ceremonial of his Creation. All the succeeding Garters were (as it may be supposed) sworn in Chapters, and the Memorials of several of them are registred in the Annals: Which hath been adjudged a sufficientⁿ legal Creation without any other Method of Investiture, though some latter Officers have indiscreetly submitted to receive the Formality of it, by Virtue of a Commission under the Sign Manual.

Mr. Ashmole hath confined himself only to the Mantle, Rod, and Badge, which are the late Symbols of Garter relative to this Order; to which Ensigns this Officer hath had a Right since the Institution of them, exclusive of all other Officers of Arms; but he also participates with other Kings of Arms in all the other Habits, belonging in general to the Profession. From this Variety of Robes thus used by Garter on different Occasions, an Argument was brought to prove, that he had two separate distinct Offices, according to the legal Acceptation of that Word; the Advocates who urged it, must have forgot, that the Judges of this and foreign Realms, have distinct Robes to be worn on distinct Solemnities, and that each Baron by Writ or Patent hath Robes of State, as well as Robes of Parliament; and even Mr. Ashm. intimates, that these relative Ensigns were not i Pat. 1 R. 3. p. 5. m. 1.

k Pat. 2 H. 7. p. 2. m. 8. Pat. 2 H. 8. p. 2. m. 8.

l Pat. 26 H. 8. p. 2. m. 17. C.

l Black-book in the Appendix. p. 460.

m P. 10. pence me p. 64. It bears Date 20 Apr. whereas his Patent was on the 29th of that Month.

n Lechard 1 Rep. p. 248. C.

conval with the Erection of Garter, so that the Addition of a new collared Office arose according to this Supposition, from the Grant of these new Ornaments to an Officer subsisting. But this Subject of the Diversity of Offices, hath been ^a already touched upon, and is not worth any farther Consideration, for it is but the same Man and the same Officer still, though he appears every Day in a different Suit of Cloths.

The Character of an Officer of Arms belonging to an Order, might be sufficiently known within the Verge of it, without any particular Discrimination in his Habit, taken from any Emblems of the Order: But as such Officers have been likewise employed in foreign Parts to defy Princes, proclaim Wars, summon Towns to surrender, and at Home to declare Rebels &c. it became absolutely necessary, that on such Occasions, they should be invested in such Habits, which by the Laws of Nations protected them in those critical Messages. And as Garter hath thus ^p frequently officiated, it may not be foreign to insert some Observations briefly upon the Tabert, and all his other Ensigns, which indeed deserve a larger Dissertation, that would be instructive, and not wholly unentertaining.

If the Sovereign and Nobility had continued the antient Practice of Wearing their Coat-Arms embroidered upon their Surcoats, the Dignity and Grandour of the upper Vestment of the Heralds, must have affected the Eyes of the By-standers in such Manner, as to have left on them lasting Impressions of Reverence for their Persons; But that Mode being altered, it is not to be wondered, that the vulgar People, who are mostly governed by Appearances, should upon the first Sight of an Herald at some Distance, entertain the same confused Notion of his Habit, as if they beheld a Gentleman walking the Streets in the common Apparel of his Ancestors, worn under the Reigns of the old Henry's and Edward's; But though common Spectators may not have such a Measure of Knowledge in Antiquities to be ascertained, that these Vestments of the Heralds were the real military Robes, worn formerly by the Sovereigns themselves, yet upon a nearer Inspection, as soon as they should perceive the Royal Arms wrought upon them, they cannot but retain some civil Respect for those who wear them; But it will never be credited without Proof, that in the last Century, a venerable Judge should upon the incident naming of Heralds in a Cause, where they were not Plaintiffs or Defendants, term them Gentlemen in Fools Coats, which seems to have been an hasty Expression, if not dropt upon some private Repentment: For though it will be allowed, that an Habit, how splendid soever, avails little, when either the Man who wears it, or his Profession is grown out of Fashion; yet the Wearing the outward Robes of the Prince, hath been esteemed by the ^q Consent of Nations, to be an extraordinary Instance of Favour and Honour, as in the Precedent of Mordecai under a King of Persia, though when ^r another Person for Reward of some Services requested from the same, or another King of Persia the like Permission of wearing the royal Vestment, and

^a See above p. 310, 311, 312.

^p See above p. 351, note x; p. 354, note d. 357, note 4, p. 372, note b, p. 349, note 2, p. 351, note d, p. 353, note 4, &c.

^q Louis d'Orléans les Ouvertures des Parliemens p. 255. Du Chefne Antiquitez & Recherches de la France p. 517, 518.
^r Hobbes Leviathan p. 42.

obtained his Petition with the Addition of wearing it, as the King's Fool, that conditional Concession no ways contributed to his Reputation: And until the Case of the Heralds shall be proved to run parallel with this latter Instance, it will remain a Doubt, whether the denominating them Gentlemen in Fools Coats, became a Person of Birth or Education, or was not below the Gravity of a Judge, not only habited in a Livery of the Crown, which had some Particularities too in its Shape, but covered remarkably with a black Coif turned up with a white Edging, which is as singular in its Form, as any Ensign belonging to an Herald; and though a rational Account can be given of the Original of this particoloured Coif allotted to the Sergeants at Law, as also of their particoloured Gowns, yet the Reasonableness of that Institution could not secure this Coif from being exhibited, for the Subject of Ridicule among Christmas Mummings to divert Rich. II. and his Court. But Articles relating to Lawyers are tender Points, and it ought to be remembered, that the great Professor of Law Hortensius, who went through the Offices of Quæstor, Ædile, Prætor, and Consul, and who almost equall'd Cicero in Oratory, brought an Action against his Colleague for ruffling the Symmetry of his Gown in a narrow Passage. Bishop Gardiner run into a more defenceless Excess on the other Side, when from the Practice of Heralds in bearing the Sovereign's Coat, the King's Image on his Seal, and Cæsars Image on his Coin, he attempted to draw an Argument in Divinity for the Worship of Images in Churches. In a middle Course between these Extremities, our learned^s Glossographer stiled Heralds the Statues (as it were) of their Princes, and another Author gives them the Appellation of Shadows of Royalty, which represent Majesty; and how far these Coats rendered their Persons inviolable throughout all civilized Nations, will appear in the Sequel of this Discourse.

An Author treating upon the^y Antiquities of Germany, hath inserted a Disquisition touching the Ensigns of Heralds, which the Collector hath not had the good Fortune to inspect, who wants the Instruction, which that Treatise might probably afford him. In many Parts of this Chapter f The Clementine Constitution l. 3. tit. 1. c. Quoniam, prohibet the Clergy to wear infulam, seu pileum lineum: The Canons made formerly in England, are full to the same Purpose, wherein these Coverings are called expressly Coiffes. Constit. Othoboni p. 88. Jo. de Burgo Pupilla oculi p. 82, &c. The Reason doubtless was, that the Tonsure, or the Circle of the Crown of the Head (then esteemed the Mark of Perfection) should not be hid; indeed there was a Relaxation in this Article, during the excessive Colds of Winter, indulged to the Monks of Canterbury and Glastonbury by some Bulls. The Clergy now were interdicted to study the municipal Laws of this Kingdom, which was sometimes extended even to the civil Law, and were also forbidden to plead before temporal Judges, whereas the Proofs might easily be produced, and Palquier Recherches l. 4. c. 30 quotes a Decree, whereby the King of France likewise forbids any Persons to plead in the temporal Courts, who were not subject to the Jurisdiction of such Judges. Now it is well known, that Ecclesiastics were exempted from any Subjection, by the Benefit of the Clergy. Hence it may be presumed, that the Sergeants at Law gave a visible Demonstration they had no Claim to it by wearing such Coiffs, which contradistinguished them upon the first Sight from the Clergy, who in Case of wearing any such Covering, would by the Canons have even forfeited that clerical Immunity, for which Reason these Sergeants wore a Cap of white Linnen, Lawn or Silk at their Creations tied under their Chins, and afterwards they wore a black one edged or turned up with white, and Robes also parted with two distinct Colours, which particoloured Vestments were likewise prohibited to the Clergy by the same Clementine Constitution, and by several antienter Canons made in this and foreign Realms. We are informed by M. Paris in 42 H. 3. p. 984, 985, that Bussy having committed intolerable Rapines, while he was Steward to William de Valence, for which being questioned before the Judges, he united the Springs of his Coife, that he might show his Tonsure, which, however did not avail him.

¹ Comput. in magn. Garderob. 14 R. 2. p. 193 b. pro xxi Coifs de tela lineæ pro hominibus de lege contractatis pro Iudæ Regis tempore natalis Domini anno xii.

² Burnet's 2 Vol. Reform. p. xi.

³ See above p. 308, notes x y.

⁴ Pauli Hachemburgi Germania media printed in 1678, then in 1689, and again in 1702, according to an Extract in Biblioth. Univers. vol. 6. p. 340.

it hath been shown, that the Officers wore the military Surcoats of Arms of their Founders, that even Hen. VI upon the Insurrection of Jack Cade, bought a Tabart from one of his own Kings of Arms, and it hath been suggested likewise, that Heralds may owe their Denomination or Adjunct of Armes, originally to the wearing such a Surcoat of Arms, which Vestment hath had a particular Term appropriated to it by several Writers, being by them called a ² Tabart, Tabard, or Tabbart, which a ⁴ Foreigner in his Notes upon the clementine Constitutions prohibiting the Clergy "uti Epitogio, seu Tabardo foderato usque ad oram, & ita brevi, quod vestis inferior notabiliter videatur," explains in these Words "Tabardum, quod Anglicum erat Sagum militare, olim proprium militum, hodie fecialium seu Heraldorum." This Term however was antiently used within this Realm in a larger Sense, for any Surcoat whatever without Sleeves used also in Times of Peace, and therefore we find ^b Tabards made for the Kings and Queens against their Coronations, and upon other ^c Occasions, and likewise for the ^d Nobility as Part of their usual Habit, as well as their ^e Habit of State, and was equivalent in its Signification with the ^f Scotch Word Surcoat, being also heretofore Part of the Habit of ^g Scholars and Graduates in the Universities, as likewise of ^b common Persons. But the antient Britons of Wales might justly be affronted, if any one of Cornwall should omit to remark, that in their Language ⁱ Tabar signifies a Coat, as the Word Herod doth therein denote a Messenger.

It may be a Task of Difficulty to assign the certain Occasion, how the military Surcoat of the Sovereign was at first communicated to the Heralds, or to fix the precise Period of Time, when this sort of Investiture was originally granted. In this Age it would be ridiculous to cite the ancient ^k Treatises, which gravely assert that Bacchus, Alexander &c. made such positive Concessions of Tabarts to the Heralds; Former Ages indeed delighted in the Vanity of such romantick Flights; However thus much we may safely infer from such Fables, that such Vestments had been worn by Heralds beyond the Times of the Memory of the Inventors of these far fetched Stories. A much latter Writer ^l Favin indulged himself in as whimsical a Fancy, by deducing these Coats from the Vails of Wool worn, as he saith, by the Roman Feccials, when they denounced War, through which Vails he supposes, that in Process of Time, a Passage was cut through the middle, to let out the Herald's Head, by which means one Part of these Vails hung on the Breast, and the other on the Back :

² Somner Gloss ad decem Script. in voce Vestimentum illud militare, Nobilium olim, hodie Feccialium proprium, Colobium scilicet vel Sagum.

³ See Skinner Etym. in voce.

⁴ Mr. Stow Survey of London of the Tabard-Inn in Southwark, and the Gloss. in Chaucer, who mentions that Inn.

^a Aulsebra Not. in Clement. p. 39 in Clem. l. 2. tit. 1. Quoniam.

^b Com. Custod. Garder. 10 E. 3. Liber Comom. in Offi. Garder. p. 100 b. 59 b. Acta Couc. priv. 13 Febr. 1 E. 6. &c.

^c On Twelfth-day M. 7. in Offi. Arm. p. 48. &c.
^d After Hugh le Dispenser was apprehended he was in Derison set on a lean horse apparelled en un Tabbar, comme il souloit porter Froiss. vol. 1. p. 9. e Creation of Viscount Berkley 7. 7. in Offi. Arm. p. 9.

^f Knighton ad A. D. 1295, ut suos cognoscerent in congressu cum Angliis, ut Scotus decret Anglice Tabart, alter responderet Surcoate.

^g Tabardars in Queens College Oxon. Statutes of King's College in Cambridge. Rymer vol. 7. p. 242.

^h Chaucer in the Description of the Plowman.

ⁱ See Dr. Davis Welch Diction.

^k Le Feron l'Institution des Rois & Heraldes.

^l 21. See Ancas Sylvius, and several old MS.

^m Theatre d'honneur l. 1. c. 4.

After such Dreams the Editor would interpose a modest Conjecture into the Retirements of Antiquity, if that Liberty may be excused in one, who is very sensible how weak his Talents are in searching into such obscure Matters, which he shall with great Satisfaction retract, whenever any more probable Opinion shall be propounded.

Two learned ^m Authors have given their Sentiments, that Heralds were instituted, and the Doctrine about Coat Arms reduced into some imperfect Sort of System, during the Crusades to the holy Land: In some of these Journeys, the ⁿ Princes and Persons of distinguished Quality wore Tabarts ensigned with their respective Coat Arms; and we likewise know, that even the common Souldiers wore Crosses of divers ^o Colours on their Habits, which distinguished them according to their native Countries; so that in all Probability Coat Arms may not owe their Original to any Ostentation or Vanity, but were at first assumed out of some Sort of Necessity, for a visible Distinction of Persons in such Expeditions, which consisted of Princes of different Languages, who had joined their Forces in a common Alliance; and as these Princes by Reason of the great Number of their respective Armies, were thereby compelled to be frequently at considerable Distances from each other, so that upon any sudden Accident, it became absolutely necessary to communicate Notice of such an Emergency, with Hastè and Secrecy, to all the Principals of the whole Confederacy, together with the proper Measures which were judged fit to be immediately executed, in Order to prevent the ill Consequences, that might otherwise follow from such an Event; several Incidents of this Nature, must of course happen in an Army consisting of several Nations, that could not admit the least Delay: And since in these Times of the Crusades, the Art of writing was not in all Probability very common among Generals; may it be conjectured, that under Circumstances of such Cogency, the Princes engaged in these Enterprises, should by common Consent enter into any Consultation for an Expedient, to give Sanction to verbal Messages delivered in their Names; and if this Supposition might be granted, these Sovereigns and Generals, who were themselves thus distinguished by their Surcoats of Arms, could not possibly have pitched upon, or contrived any more visible Symbol to answer that End, than by investing their Messengers with the same Tabart they wore themselves, which being universally known throughout the whole Army, might serve them for their Passports, and Protections, and likewise be a sufficient Credence for an Audience, and to verify all Messages transmitted by Word of Mouth: But if this Practice should not be conceived to be first introduced by any express Determination of Princes, yet it is indisputable, that it soon obtained the general Consent of the civilized Europeans, by whom these Officers were admitted, and to such a Degree, that the ill Treatment of any Officer of Arms thus habited, was esteemed by them a Violation of the Laws of Nations; to support this Conjecture, we are informed by ^p one, who actually attended in one of these Crusades, that St. Lewis of France had his Heralds there

^m Chifflet Liliam Francie. p. 45. Jurisprud. He-roica vol. 1. p. 77.

ⁿ See Joinville's Hist. of the Crusade of St. Lewis.

^o Hoved. ad A. D. 1188.

p Joinville p. 46, Devant nous avoit deux He-raux du Roy.

waiting on him, and during his Reign, and in his Presence at a splendid Feast celebrated at Saumur, the Huiffiers d'armes & de Salle belonging to the Earl of Poitiers, being habited in his Coat Arms wrought upon Sendall performed their Duties; for though in Strictness there might be some Distinction between Heralds and Officers of Arms, yet this Author in his historical Style makes no Difference, if Moreau doth not misquote him, that he entituled "Marcel Huiffier, ou Heraut du Roy S. Louys," and long afterward Froiffart used the same Expression, that John King of France rewarded one Bacon, by advancing him to be his Huiffier or Herald of Arms.

By the Roman Law it was high Treason to wear any Part of the Imperial Habit without Licence, and no Instance occurs to the Collector's Memory of any Liberty, or Indulgence to be invested in the royal military Surcoat, as a settled Livery, allowed to any others, save Heralds; the Presidents of the Parliament in France, had indeed the Concession of wearing the royal Mantle from Philippe le Bel, and the Chancellor of that Kingdom wears Purple or Scarlet, the ancient Habit of that Crown, but these were Vestments in Times of Peace; there are also some Examples, where Persons have occasionally been invested in the royal military Habit, but not as a settled Livery: Thus in some pitched Battles, the Sovereign hath been personated by others habited in the same Manner, which was an usual Policy for the Preservation of his Person, not only that the Enemies might thereby be deprived of bending all their Force against him, but that his own Souldiers should not be too much disheartened, in Case the real King should happen to fall in the Fight, of which Caution we have Precedents in the Conduct of Princes of the most ardent Courage; but such Investiture was temporary, during the Engagement only, and had no Relation to the Case of Heralds, who (as it hath been shewn) retired from the Field to some eminent Place out of Danger. There are two other occasional Solemnities in Times of Peace, wherein a single Person hath been apparelled in the Arms of the Sovereign, one almost peculiar to this Realm, that is, the Champion at the Coronation, who in the later Ages hath only worn the plated Coat Armour, though probably he might heretofore wear the Royal Surcoat over it, because we find by a memorable Precedent that the Champion of a Bishop, who was to vindicate his Rights, was not only clad in White, the then Colour of the outer Garment of the Episcopal Order, but had over it a Surcoat of the g Ibid. p. 20.

r Des Armoires p. 57. Colomb. des Roys & Herauts p. 30.

f Lib. 1. c. 148, p. 156.
t See Pet. de Marca de concord. Sacerd. & Imp. l. 5. c. 39, 33, 36, & l. 6. c. 6.
u Louis d'Orléans les Ouvertures des Parlemens c. 23.
x See Du Chesn. Hist. des Chanceliers. Monstrelet vol. 3. p. 21 b.

y The Writer of the Life of the Duke of Richmond Confable of France acquaints us, that two Persons habited at Hen. V. were slain in the Battle of Agincourt. Thus in the Battle of Shrewsbury, the Earl of Douglas killed with his own Hands tres Reges sophisticatedo prætectu, veri Regis Henrici [IV] ut-pote habentes tunicas armorum, & regias corruellas super castiles, cum grandi clava, interfecti. Scotichr. vol. 4. Edit. Hearne p. 1161, one of whom was doubtless Sir Walter Blunt, Leland's Collect. Edit. per Hearne vol. 1. p. 2 f. 285. Walsingham 409. n. 10. Thus at the Battle of Poitiers estoit le Roy Jehan arme luy vingtieme en ses paremens. Froiss. vol. 1. c. 163, see also Examples Hist. de Ch. viii. p. 162. Hist. de Ch. viii. p. 744. Abercromby's Hist. of Scotland vol. 2. p. 135. of the Battle of Auroy Daniel Hist. de Ch. vi. p. 624. See Labourer Origine des Armoises n. xi. p. 10, 11.

z Of Poland and Suedeland See Menestrier de la Chevalerie p. 108.

a See Camd. Brit. Engl. Edit. p. 9. Goodw. de Præfulibus in tit. Sarum.

Bishop's Arms. The other Instance is of the Person who represented the Deceased in his Armour at Funerals, whereof ^b Notice hath been already taken.

It hath been likewise ^c suggested, that these Tabarts might be meant by the Words Houes d'Armes in the Statute made by Edw. I. and to the Proofs there given of the Signification of these Terms, may be added the ^d Quotation in the Margin, and also the ^e Proclamation made at Turnaments touching “les banniers, blasons, ou Houes d'escu, ou enseignes d'armes.”

Sometimes the very Entries in the ^f Wardrobe, specified the working the King's Arms on the Coats delivered to the Heralds; and here it cannot be esteemed any Digression to shew, that the Heralds of the Nobility were in like Manner invested in the Surcoats of their Founders. Upton hath several ^g Expressions to this Purpose, “Aliquis Haraldus Armorum tunica Domini sui indutus— accipiet tunicam armorum presati creandi” “—Et isti debent portare tunicam armorum Dominorum suorum, & eisdem indui eodem modo, sicut Domini sui cum in conflictibus fuerint vel torneamentis, aut aliis periculis bellicis, vel cum per aliquas regiones equitaverint extraneas.” And probably ^h Chaucer alludes to the Heralds of Noblemen in his House of Fame. This Matter is very evident, however it may not be tedious to give some domestick Examples. In 15 Hen. VI. the Painter in his Bill charged the Earl of Warwick for one Coat made for himself, and two ⁱ Coats for [his] Herawdes beat with demy Gold: Sir John Lisle in his Constitution of a Purservant in 1422, ^k authorizes him to bear his Arms publicly. And when the Body of the Earl of Shrewsbury, the Achilles of England, was found after the Battle of Castillon upon Dordon in 1453 by his Herald, “who (as the ^l Historian words it) had worn his Coat of Arms, he kissed the Body, and broke out into compassionate and dutiful Expressions, Alas! It is you, I pray God pardon all your Misdoings, I have been your Officer of Arms forty Years or more, 'tis Time I should surrender it to you, and while the Tears trickled plentifully down his Face, he disrobed himself of his Coat of Arms, and flung it over his Masters Body; which we know was the accustomed Rite performed heretofore at Funerals. The Earl of Northumberland waited upon the Princess, Daughter of Hen. VII. into Scotland for her Marriage in 1503, “having with him, as the ^m Ceremonial expresses it, “his Officer of Arms named Northumberland araid of his Livery of Vel-

^b Notes to the Black-book p. 219 d.

^c See above p. 294, 297.

^d Omnes habeant habitus, videlicet tabaldos, seu bussias longas de bruneta nigra. Du Fresno. Gloss. in voce tabaldus.

^e Colombiere Theatre d'honneur 19. 1. p. 48.

^f Comput Rob. Rollifan Custod. magn. Garder. 9 H. 5, pro vi Tunica ad arma vapulatis cum armis pro Heraldis. Lib. Cotom in Off. Gard. p. 33.

^g H. 6, ii Cores de Tarterin pro Heraldis vapulat. de armis prædictis [Regis] Comp. Rob. Rollifan 13 H. 6, pro i herold vocato Fleure de lys per breve Regis Cote ad arma vapulat. de armis Anglie & Francia, &c.

^h De Re milit. l. 4. c. xi, xii.

ⁱ Tho at last sppard 1

That Purservantes and Heraldis,

That cryn riche folkis laudis

It weria all and every man

Of 'hem as I you telin can,

Hid on him throun a Vesture,

Wliche men slepe a Cote armow;

Embroudrid wonderly riche,

And though thei weria not iliche,

But naught will I, so mote I throve

Be now abowin to discrete,

All these armis that there yaren

That thei thus on thei outis weren,

For to me were impossible

Mon might make of 'hem a Bible, &c.

ⁱ Dugd. Warwi kshire p. 227.

^k A note p. 288 in the Notes.

^l Hist. Chroul. du Ch. vii. p. 646.

^m G. xi penes me p. 38.

“vet being his Cote. Hen. VIII created his natural Son Earl of Nottingham, and Duke of Richmond and Somerset on 18 June in his seventeenth Year, and on the fifth of the next Month, commanded the Chancellor to pass Letters ⁿ Patents to Richard de la Toure, granting him the Office of Purfivant of Arms, with the Duke of Richmond and Somerset and Earl of Nottingham, to hold it during his Life; upon whose Death this Office with the Name of Nottingham, was in like ^o Manner granted to William Hasyng Rouge dragon during his Life, who being promoted to be Somerset-Herald, this Purfivantship was again granted to Richard Croke, of whose Coat we have this ^p Entry in the Wardrobe. “Per warrantum datum apud Grenewiche 17 Maii 20 H. 8, pro Richardo Crokis etiam Nottingham ^q pursevante ad arma—pro una tunica de Armour de Sarfcinet de armis Ducis de Richemount & Somerset,” which Croke being ^r killed at Bologn, this same Office was by a Patent of the like Tenour ^r conferred on Thomas Trebearne.

It may here by the Way be also observed, that when an Herald of the Crown was sent beyond Sea to attend upon a General in the Army, it is highly probable, that as during that Expedition he was under the Command of the General, so he did on several Occasions wear the Tabart of the General's Arms. Aquitaine and Chandos ^s were in 4 Rich. II invested in the Tabart of the Earl of Buckingham, when he sent them with a Message to the Duke of Burgundy; now it may be reasonably guessed, that Aquitaine was then a King of Arms belonging to the Crown, because three Years afterwards he received his ^t Livery from the King's Wardrobe; and as to Chandos, who had been Officer to that renowned Heroe Sir John Chandor, slain in 44 Ed. III; it is not improbable, he might be the same Person, who in the 6th of Rich. II is ^u mentioned to be King of Arms of Ireland, Chandos by Name, for it was not unusual for Heralds to retain the ^v Titles of their Heraldships in Nature of Surnames after their Promotions to be Kings of Arms. And it is observable that when those two Heralds, being thus ordered by the Earl of Buckingham to demand from the Duke of Burgundy, the Appointment of the Time and Place for a Battle, desired they might have an Instrument in Writing for that Purpose, the Answer given them was “Allez et ditez ce dont vous estes informez, vous estes ^w croyables assez, et s'ils veulent, ils vous croiront,” and certainly their Coats were sufficient to verify their Messages. And thus Percy Herald was apparelled in the Duke of Lancaster's ^x Coat in 1387, when he was sent by him to Aurenne, but to whom this Percy then belonged, the Collector is not yet enabled to determine. And thus also the Heralds of the Crown ⁿ Priv. Sigill. in Capella Rot. 17 H. 8.

^o Pat. 18 H. 8. p. 1. m. 3.

^p E Libro in Off. magn. Garderob.

^q Vinc. MS. n. 113 in Off. Arm. p. 305.

^r Pat. 22 H. 8. p. 2. m. 13.

^s Froiss. vol. 2. ch. 54.

^t Rot. Compot. Alani de Stoke custodis magn. Garder. 7 R. 2. Nicholas Cheyne Regi Armorum Aquitanie, Richardo Hereford Heraldio armorum, Johanni Adysec, Henriceman Domini Regis ad gowas cum caputis faciendis contra festum Natalis Domini videlicet quilibet eorum ii ulnas panni coloris curt. & iii ulnas panni radiati de festa Scutillerum Hospitii ipsius Domini Regis.

^u Froiss. vol. 2. p. 196.

^x John Othelake was first Marche-Herald, who is often styled Marche, while he had the Province of Norroy, Richard Delbrug files himself Lancastreroy d'armes del North. Henry Greene is expressly emulated Leicester-Herald, and afterwards Leicester King of Arms, and in all Probability these were the Cases of Gloucester under the Reign of Rich. III, and of Richmond Clarencieux in the Reign of H. 7.

^y Froiss. vol. 3. p. 192.

were heretofore sometimes robed in the Coats of the Tilters, and at some Funerals wore the Coats of the deceased.

Having given these short Hints touching the Heralds of Noblemen, it would be an unpardonable Omission to pretermitt those of the Ladies, and the Reader is here requested to inspect the Notes inserted in the 289th Page, taken from a Writer of unquestionable Authority in these Matters; who adds farther, that Joan the Maid of Orleans for her valiant Actions was ennobled, and had a Grant of Arms [dated 16 January 1429.] to be born in a Shield Az. two Flowers de lis, Or, and in the middle a Sword Argent, whose Point passed through a Crown in Chief, which Arms her Pursivant named Fleur de lis bore. This Title was doubtless taken from Part of the Coat thus assigned to her, according to the Practice of the Nobility, who frequently denominated their Heralds from some principal Bearing in their Arms. We meet with the Heralds of Ladies described as assisting in august Solemnities, though the Surnames of these Ladies are rarely specified, however the Officer of Madame de Brienne is^b particularized in the Ceremony of the Entry of the Duke of Richmond into Rennes in 1457, and in the Household Accounts of John d'Orleans, Count of Engoulesme in 1467, under the Title Heraulx, among others is entred Antoine Pimpervot dit Mervins, who occurs in the Household Accounts of Marguerite de Rohan the Relict of that Count. Our Records furnish us with a Curiosity, that the Lands and Goods of a Person were^d seized into the King's Hands, for wearing the Robes of the Countess of Lincoln, and the same Roll acquaints us with the like Seizure, because another Person bore an Habit bendee in the Time of Commotion.

For the Affinity of the Matter, it may also be remembered, that where Cities enjoyed the Privilege of Heralds by the^e Indulgence of Princes, their Officers were habited in the Coat Arms of these Cities, as Esmette Herald bore the Arms of Lille in Flanders, and the Herald of Valencienmes those of that City in 1355, whose Title of Office might be probably Franquevie, the^f Denomination given to the Herald of that City, in the Ceremonial of the Knighthood of William of Haynalt.

But to return to the Tabart of Garter, the first promoted to this Office, left^g two Tabarts or Coats of the Kings Arms belonging (as 'tis said) to his said Office, which his Relict lent to his Successor. And after a Mantle relative to the Order was granted, or confirmed to this Officer, by the Constitutions settled in 14 Hen. VIII, such^h Tabarts were however delivered z Et depuis n'y a pas long temps on a veu en France Dame Jehane la Pucelle, la quelle combien que elle venist de bas estat, et de petite extraction, neantmoins par sa hardiesse en armes, Elle mena & conduict le Roy Charles a sacrer a Reims ---- Et pour ses vaillans faicts d'armes, le dit Roy Charles annobly, et luy donne Armes, qu'elle porta en escu, Et fist porter par son Pursuivant nomme Fleur de Lis; Desquelles armes estoient telles, savoir D'az. a deux Fleurs de Lis Or, et au milieu une Espée d'argent, la pointe en hault ---- de Gules estoit d'or, per my une couronne de meismes en chief. MS. Sicile Herald in Bibl. Regia n. 1403, p. 27.

a The Coronation of Claude Queen of France in 1517, Cerem. Franc. in 410 p. 174. See p. 184 &c.

b Lobineau Hist. de Bretagne p. 666.

c Communicated by Monsieur Clairambault.

d Clauf. 15 E. 2. m. 11. terræ & bona Rob. Tillington seistia quia tulit Robas Comitisse Lincoln. Ibid. m. 5. Terræ & bona Job. de Sandleigh seistia in manu Regis, pro eo quod idem Job. vestem bendatum apud London & alibi portavit tempore turbationis.

e See above p. 305 note n.

f Meneillier de la chevalerie p. 212.

g Ibid p. 352, & 319.

h See above p. 245 note f.

i Origin in Curia Augustural. Ey the King and signed Henry R.

We wol and comaunde you with Diligence after the S s s s s Receipt

delivered to him from the Wardrobe, as they are still continued upon his first Promotion, and at Coronations.

These Tabarts rendered these Officers inviolable in Time of War, as the Efcutcheon gave them the like Immunity in Times of Peace: These were their Passports, safe Conducts, and Credentials; and since these had the like Efficacy in these distinct Seasons, some short Proofs thereof will be found intermixed in the following Discourse.

It may be some Sort of Entertainment to recite the Precedent of equipping a fictitious Herald, which will be a full Proof, that real Officers of Arms invested in their Tabarts, did not want any other Passports or Credentials, because one equipped only with a Tabart, Efcutcheon, and other Ensigns to personate an Herald was allowed an Admittance to an Audience in Time of War, without any farther Examination. The Narrative of it may be consulted at large in that judicious Historian ^k Commines, who bore a Part in dressing out this supposititious Officer, though this pert Fellow had the less Occasion for such Assistance, if ^l Bodin be exact in his Relation, that Lewis XI, who adventured on this Expedient, did out of Parsimony employ his Taylor for his Herald, as he did his Barber for his Embassadour, (whose Name he changed from Oliver the Devil into ^m Dam, though the ⁿ former had been the Surname of antient Families in several Kingdoms,) and his Physician (to whom he shewed the greatest Liberality) for his Chancellour. It is no Wonder this King should stoop to such a low Shift to save his Money, and not retain an Herald with the Allowance of an handsome Salary, who was so very frugal, as to cause new Sleeves to be made to amend his old Doublets, and his Boots to be oyled, and even appeared at an Interview with the King of Castile, in a plain Drabb Coat and a greasy Hat. ^p Mezeray indeed thinks, there was a Fetch of Policy concealed under this Substitution of an Herald, that in Case this new fashioned Officer had met with any Repulse, or ill Treatment from our Edw. IV, Lewis XI might then have reserved a Liberty to himself to have disavowed the Character of the Messenger, and thereby excused himself from the Necessity of resenting such an Affront.

In Denunciations of War made to Princes in Person, and Defiances of them, the final Destruction of the Inhabitants by the Sword, and of the whole Country by Fire were often threatened, which in the French Dialect, and the Ceremonials are termed à feu et à sang, and the Emblems of such total Devastations were used, as a ^q burning Flambeau or Torch, a naked Receipt herof, ye deliver or doo to be delivered unto our trusty and well beloved Serwant Garret Principal King at Arms, a Coate of our Arms embrauntered of like Sins, length, and bredt, as in tymes passed it hath been accustomed: Considering that these seventene yere passed the said Garret hath had no new Coate of our said Armes: And these our Lettres shall be your sufficient Warrant and Discharge in this Behalf, Toven under our Signes at our Mannour of Weston. the vi day of May the xxxiii yere of our Reigne.

To our right trusty and welbelovéd
Countailour the Lord Wyndesor Keeper of our great Wardrober.

k Hist. l. 4. c. 7.

l De Republ. l. 6. c. 2.

m Preuves sur Comines p. 190.

n The pleasant Dialogue between Archdeacon Pecher [Peccatum] and the Dean surnamed the Devil may be consulted in Camd. Brit. in Cheshire. Plac. 2 Joh. roi. 3. Thomas cut a Diablen. See Imagin. Geruz. Dorobert. p. 1329. Gesta Consulum p. 461. Preuves de l'Hist. de Bethune p. 119. Bely Hist. des Contes de Poitou p. 113. The Families of Trelle, that is the Devil, in Suedeland and Norway bear the Devil for their Coate Armes, and there is a Family of Trelle in Austria. Menage Hist. de Sable p. 31.

o Comines l. 2. c. 8.

p Vol. 2. p. 162.

q Gollut. Repub. Sequan. ad A. D. p. 831. Me-nestrier l'espèces de noblesse p. 285.

^r Sword

† Sword on one Side flaming, and on the other enamelled with red &c. and upon greater Provocations, Princes went to the Extremity in transmitting Challenges for a personal Combat to decide their Differences, and as the Pledge and Proof of their Resolutions sent a ' Gantelet or Glove, the Ensign used generally upon Cartells for Duels: In these Indications of War, Defiances, and Challenges, it was an essential Ingredient to use the strongest Expressions of Stile, and the most rough and harishest Language without Reserve: However the Heralds, whose Province it was to perform these Functions, enjoyed all Immunities in the Execution of these peremptory Messages, being by Virtue of their Tabarts esteemed inviolably sacred in these most critical Solemnities, in Case they did not transgress in some Formalities, which were then settled by Consent of Nations and well known, which it would be foreign here to enumerate; from these Employments some Authors latinized these Officers by the Words ' Clarigarii and Clarigatores; and to this Custome Queen Elizabeth alluded in her extemporary * Answer to the Polish Embassador, who had made haughty Demands " Legatum expectavi, Heraldum inveni &c." It would take the Compass of a large Chapter to collect the Instances of these Particulars which lie scattered up and down in Histories, out of which one Example will be here selected, because it seems to intimate a Singularity, that a safe Conduct had been granted to an Herald upon Terms. When Clarenceux and Guienne had delivered their Defiances to the Emperor Charles V, he upon the Spot acquainted the French Officer, that Francis his Master had broken his Word, and that he would maintain it by single Combat, which Speech being notified to the French King, he returned a * Cartell in writing by Dauphine his own Herald, at the End whereof was this Clause " Pourquoy puisque contre verite vous nous avez voulu charger, desormais ne nous ecrivez aucune chose, mais nous assurez le camp &c." upon the Delivery whereof, the Emperor demanded a safe Conduct to send an Herald, and therefore when the Emperor's Herald was admitted to an Audience, the French King insilted that Conduct was conditional, and limited only to the bringing an Appointment of the Camp according to the Cartel. The Lord Herbert † relates, that the Emperor gave Instructions to this his Herald, to offer the French King his Service in bringing back any Reply, that King should be pleased to remit, and if he should judge more proper to convey it by any other Messenger, a safe Conduct should be made, if it was desired, though his Imperial Majesty did not think it necessary for a King of Arms, being a privileged Person. That noble ‡ Historian then proceeds to inform us, that Burgundy the Emperor's Herald, sent to the Governor of Bayonne for a safe Conduct, yet when he had obtained it, as soon as he was in the French Territories, he put on his Coat of Arms, and came before that Governour, where he made a Protestation, that the demanding it should be no Derogation to his Privilege belonging to him as a King of Arms, and being at length † Du Bellay Memoirs p. 176.

‡ Juvenal des Ursins Hist. de Ch. v. p. 320.

§ Knigton col. 261 2. n. 18. &c.

* See Camd. Eliz. ad A. D. 1597.

‡ See Pete Daniel's Hist. vol. 3. p. 239 &c. and the Instrument drawn up by Notaries published in the Quarto Edition of Ceterum France. p. 199.

‡ Hist. of Hen. 8. p. 231.

‡ Ibid. p. 233.

conducted to Paris, he would there have worn his Coat of Arms, but was not suffered, it being told him, it was Cosa de un San Nicholas de Aldea, which he interprets, a Thing not to be shewn but upon Holy-Days, or in a Country Church, against which Usage this Herald protested, as being contrary to the Privileges of his Place. It would be improper to enter into the Dispute between the French and Spanish Historians, through whose Default this Challenge did not take Effect, since the Execution of such a Project seems not very consistent with the Rules of Prudence on either Side; yet as to the present Purpose it may be observed from this Narrative, that though Charles V had at first demanded a safe Conduct for his Herald, however upon Recollection he thought it a superabundant Precaution.

Another Example may be added, touching the Conduct of an English Officer, which being a memorable Transaction should be related with all its Circumstances, from whence we may learn, that as the Escutcheon was an Immunity in Time of Peace, so the Tabart gave the like Privilege in Time of War. Norroy King of Arms in 1557, having entred the City of Reims habited in a Gown of black Cloth, and having a Commission signed by our Queen to defy the King of France, and having notified the same to the Constable Montmorency, (who was at that Time Knight of the Garter) it was demanded of him by that great Minister of State, whether he understood the Duty of his Function, and by what Road he had entred into that Kingdom, and to what Governours of the Frontiers he had discovered either his Profession, or the Occasion of his Journey; and upon the whole it was insisted, that for these Defects, he had justly incurred the Forfeiture of his Life. Our Officer answered, that he landed at Bologne, and proceeded forwards, having his Escutcheon constantly on his Brest, and for that Reason conceived he had no ways transgressed in any Article of his Duty, because the Peace was then subsisting between the two Kingdoms; a publick Instrument was taken of this Matter, which is placed in "the Margin to a Ribier Lettres & Memoires d'Etat servant a l'Hist. de Hen. II. vol. 2. p. 690, 691. l'Ordre tenu a la venue du Héraut envoye en France par la Reyne d'Angleterre pour declarer de sa part la guerre au Roy.

Memoire Origin.

Le 7. de^e Juin 1557. Le Roy estant a la ville de Reims en Champagne, en l'Abbaye Saint Reny, arriva au logis du dit Seigneur Guillemes Nory Héraut d'Armes d'Angleterre, vestu d'un Manteau de drap noir, sans autrement se faire connoistre ny declarer sa qualite, jusques a ce qu'il fust a la porte du Conseil du Roy, ou il demanda a parler a Monsieur le Duc de Montmorency Pair et Connestable de France: lequel apres le Conseil tenu, le fit entrer en la dite Salle, ou il demanda audit Nory l'occasion de sa venue. A quoy il respondit estre depeche de la Reyne d'Angleterre sa Maistresse, pour denoncer et declarer la guerre au Roy, montrant a cette fin une petite Lettre en parchemin, scellee du grand Sceau de ladite Dame Reine, du premier jour de cedit mois, contenant en substance pouvoir audit Héraut de faire ladite declaration: Sur quoy mondit Seigneur le Connestable luy dit qu'il se retirast, et qu'il luy ferait entendre ce qu'il auroit a faire, apres avoir tenu ce l'intention du Roy.

Et pourceque le mesme soir le Roy parloit pour aller a la Chasse a deux lieues de cette ville, d'où il ne revint que le jour d'hier bien tard, fut remis l'Audience du Héraut a ce jour d'huy dudit mois, que mondit Sieur le Connestable environ midy, a faire venir pardevers luy en sa Chambre iceluy Héraut. Auquel en la presence d'aucuns Seigneurs, Chevaliers de l'Ordre et Gens du Conseil prive du Roy, il a demande s'il savoit bien son Estat, et quelle estoit la Charge d'un Héraut: aussi par ou il estoit entre en ce Royaume, a qui des Governours des Frontieres il avoit declare sa qualite et l'occasion de sadite venue, et comme il avoit este si temeraire de venir si avant sans autrement se declarer ny decouvrir portant avec luy une telle Commission; qui estoit autant que de se venir precipiter, et mettre en danger d'estre pendu et estrangle, comme il avoit merite. A quoy ledit Héraut a fait reponse, qu'il estoit venu a Boulogne, & passe outre, ayant toujours eu son Escutcheon a l'estomach, sans que personne luy ait rien demande, et qu'il ne pensoit pas avoir faully, d'autant que la paix n'estoit pas rompue; ayant este charge de sa dite Maistresse ainsi, et d'apporter quelques lettres a son Ambassadeur Resident par deza, ainsi qu'il avoit fait. Et comme mondit Sieur le Connestable eust replique, que tant mieux meritoit il d'estre puny, et qu'il estoit venu a la Jeterbee feignant d'estre serviteur dudit Ambassadeur; dont to explain the too succinct Narrative of ^b Thuanus, by which the Reader might have otherwise been induced to believe that this Norroy had not his Tabart with him, which this publick Certificate testifies, and that he held it upon his Arm during the Time of his declaring this Defiance, the accustomed Ceremony in such Cases, and in which, as soon as the Defiance was finished, the Officer fully invested himself for his safe Conduct in his Return, though sometimes Letters Patents were granted for that Purpose, but the most usual Practice was to assign an Officer of Arms to secure such Herald through the Territories of the Prince defied. The Words sine diplomate in Thuanus have been construed by ^c Wicquefort, to import the Want of a Passport from our Queen, which Omission (if it was any) seems to be amply supplied by the ^d Commission to defy this French King, and it s'il n'avoit affaire a un Roy treslemlent et debonnaire, il seroit en evident danger de perdre la vie; mais pour montrer par iceluy Seigneur sa grande bonte, et excuser cette faute qu'il ne vouloit prendre a rigueur, il l'ouyroit tres volontiers.

L'ayant mondit Sieur le Connestable laisse en sa Chambre, accompagne de deux Roys d'Armes, s'en alla trouver le Roy: auquel il fit entendre tout ce que dessus, et combien ledit Herault s'estoit oublie, et avoit besoin de sa misericorde. Usant de la quelle en son endroit, et pour faire connoistre sa magnanimité et grandeur, ledit Seigneur sans avoir regard a tout cela, l'a envoye querir par un Capitaine de ses Gardes grandement suivy; et ayant devant luy lesdits deux Roys d'Armes, a este amene par le dit Capitaine des Gardes en la salle dudit Seigneur, qui y estoit accompagne de la personne de Monseigneur le Dauphin son Fils aîné, de Messieurs les Cardinaux de Lorraine, de Guise, de Chastillon et de Sens Gardes des Sceaux de France, de Messieurs les Ducs de Lorraine, de Longueville, de Nivernois, et de Montmorancy Connestable, du Prince de Montpensier, et de plusieurs autres Princes, Seigneurs, Chevaliers de son Ordre, Evêques, Prelats, Capitaines et Gentilshommes en grand nombre, presens les Ambassadeurs de nostre Saint Pere le Pape, du Roy de Portugal, de la Seigneurie de Venise, du Duc de Ferrare, et autres.

Ou apres plusieurs reverences faites par ledit Herault ainsi conduit que dessus, et estant a genoux, sa Cotte d'Armes sur le bras, luy a este demande par le Roy a haute voix: de paraque il estoit envoye, et pourquoy; et ayant respondu que c'estoit la Reyne sa Maistresse, et presente sondit Pouvoir, que ledit Seigneur a fait lire publiquement, luy a dit: Herault, je voy, que vous estes venu icy pour me denoncer la guerre de par la Reyne d'Angleterre; je l'accepte: mais je veax bien que tout la monde sache que j'ay observe envers elle sincerement et de bonne foy ce que je devois a l'amitie que nous avons ensemble, comme j'ay delibere de faire et feray tant que je vivray a l'endroit de tout le monde, autant qu'il appartient a Prince grand de vertu et d'honneur; et s'espere puis qu'elle y vient avec si injuste cause, que Dieu me fera s'il luy plaist cette grace, qu'elle n'y gagna rien plus que ses Predecesseurs ont fait, quand ils se sont attaquez aux miens, et qu'ils ont fait deneriement a moy dont la memoire est recente; et qu'il montera en cela la justice de sa grandeur sur iceluy qui a le tort, et est cause des maux qui procederont de cette guerre, vous defendant sur la vie de paraque le plus avant, paraque c'est une Femme: Et si elle estoit autre, j'userois aussi d'autre langage; mais vous vous en irez hors de mon Royaume le plus tost que vous pourrez.

Cela fait, a este reconduit par les suivants et accompagne jusques au logis de l'Ambassadeur d'Angleterre: ou le Roy plain de liberalite luy a envoye pour present une Chasme de deux cens escus: ainsique par la et ce qu'il a veu et oüy de la bouche dudit Seigneur, il puisse porter plus de temoignage en son pays, de la vertu et generosite dudit Seigneur, desja assez connue de tout le monde.

^b Thuanus l. 19. p. 528. tom. ad A. D. 1558. Dom in eo Rex & Philippus essent, Maria Anglia Regina a marito persuasa per Gal. Norroy facilem, qui ignoto habitu in Galliam venerat, cum Rex Durocortori Remorum esset, et vii Id. Junius Regina nomine bellum denunciavit, incertis initio scialia a Memorantio, quod sine Diplomate, & Herz sue insignibus regnum intravit, quasi penam capitis ob id commertum, postea ad eo ad Regem introductus, ubi que in mandatis habebat de geniculis exposuisset, Rex coram Regni Proceribus, ac Pontificis, Lusitanie Regis, Venetorum Reipub, ac Ferrariensis Ducis Oratoribus accipere se quidem denunciationem dixit, ceterum omnes facere velle se, quantum in ipso fuerit, pax inter Gallias & Angliam iuxta conditionibus plene satisfecisset, & sincera fide amicitiam cum Regina coluisset, uti semper cum onibus fecerit, & porro facturus sit: Ac proinde sperare ultorem violati fœderis Deum, ac fore ut hoc bellum, ut olim fere semper ac nuper eriam, sic nunc Angliis detrimentosum futurum sit. Ceterum ne ultra scialia loqueretur, prohibuit, hoc audito a femina eam venisse, que si vit esset, regem longe alio sermone usurum fore, itaq; ammittendum se regno excederet: Ita Marius a Regis conspectu discit deus in Angliam Ædis deducitur, donatusq; a Rege catena CC aureorum cum Oratore in Angliam redit.

^c Ambassid. p. 26.

^d Marie the Oene.
Maria Dei Gratia Regina Anglia, Hispaniarum, Francia, utriusque Sicilia, Jerusalem, & Hibernie, fidei Defensor, Archiducissa Austria, Ducissa Burgundie, Mediciensis, & Erbanensis, Comitissa Habsburgi, Flandrie, & Tirolis. Omnibus ad quos presentes litera pervenerint salutem. Notum facimus, quod nos de fide, probitate, & industria dilecti nobis Willielmi Norroy Principis Regis Armerum pro partibus nostris borealibus plurimum confidentes, eidem mandavimus, & commisimus Illustrissimum Principem Henricum Regem christianissimum adire, & nomine nostro quedam mandata, & commissionem aperire, proponere, & declarare, & ad belli denunciationem, & intimationem hostilitatis procedere juxta formam in ea te de confilio & assensu Consiliorum nostrorum in quibusdam instructionibus scriptam, & manu nostra signatam. Promittentes bona fide & in verbo regio nos tuum, it seems not to mean any Diploma from the King of France, because a safe Conduct for an Herald to enter into his Kingdom could not be required in Time of Peace, since an Officer of Arms is not under Obligation to ask such Security to qualify, or indemnify him in bringing any Message to the adverse Sovereign, even during the Heat of War; and upon this Account it hath been censured as a Breach of the Law of Nations, when any one of the Princes engaged in War, hath prohibited the Heralds of the adverse Party to enter his Dominions without his previous Consent, and it hath been asserted to be one of the Functions of Heralds, to sollicite and obtain safe Conducts for Embassadors in Times of Hostility, and for that Reason Officers of Arms have been permitted the Freedom to enter with Safety into Places, where Embassadors had no Right to approach without an antecedent Licence.

Their Tabarts were such sufficient safe s Conducts in Time of War, that the assigning an Officer to convoy Persons, was esteemed of s equal Validity with Letters Patents under the Great Seal. Hem. VIII in Dec. 1542, transmitted to his b Embassador in France, a Narrative of the Proceedings against Scotland, wherein were the following Words. "We fend unto you the Copy of a Declaration, which we have caused to be made and published to the World, touching the Grounds and Causes of the War, now open between us and Scotland— and the Scots have finished— most cruelly and pitifully contra jura Gentium, and against all Lawes of Armes and Ordre used amongst Princes, to the most pernicious Example and extreme Daungier of all Ministers, slayne and murdered Somerset oon of our Heralds at Arms, being sent with Letters to the King of Scots from our Lieutenant, for the Delivery of the said Prisoners, as he was returning Homewards with their Aunfwere of Refusal of the same— And in this most cruell murdering our Messenger and Heralde at Armes, having his Cote on his Backe, and also a Pur-suyvant of Scotland appointed to conduct him, to th'intent, as it doth evidently appeare, they might be the more sure to have him in the Way at such Place, as it appereth they had determined for that Pur-tum, gratum, & firmum habituros quicquid dictus Heraldus noster fecerit in præmissis & in aliquo præmissorum. In cujus rei testimonium hiis literis manu nostra signatis Sigillum nostrum apponi fecimus. Datum in Palatio nostro de Westmonasterio primo die Mensis Junii Anno Domini Milleimo quingentesimo quinquagesimo septimo & regnorum nostrorum tertio & quarto.

Sealed with the great Seal of Philip and Mary. H. 5. penes me. p. 339.

Pontanus Hist. Geln. p. 838, A. D. 1544. That the French Herald who desired Letters of Conduct for Embassadors to treat, was confined for four Day; and reprimanded, in that he came from his Master an Enemy to the Empire, into the Dominions thereof, without the Permission and Consent of the Emperor. But Zouch de judicio inter gentes p. 155, put; the Question An Feccialis ad extraneas regiones transire veniam impetrare teneatur? Ferdinandus Comes Francia primi Regis Gallie Feccialem in Germaniam missum, in custodiam misit justis, & edito Cæsarei consilii, idem & suisbus Germanie egressi justis est, & demittitur, ne quisquam alius ejusdem conditionis in posterum limites imperii, nisi prius impetrata venia, ingreditur; de quo factò obsecro, inquit Patchafius, ubi lectum aut fando auditum Caduceatori impetrandam veniam aut securitatem, cujus Officium hoc ipsum alius impetrare, quod; peculiare jus habet eo penetrandi, quo Legatis aut illicitum est aut intutum, quod censisse videtur Rex Argvorum apud Æschylum, qui miratur Danada aulos fuisse ingredi ditonem suam, non præmissis Caduceatore. Vide Feschajam de Legatis cap. 11, 22.

f Hearn's Antiquities p. 103.

g Upton de re milit. p. 86. Quomodo conceditur securitas per personam publicam. Ille modus multum habet in usu, & specialiter quando finitis obsequiis & villis sine forealicis redditus, partes prius obsecræ volunt: per suam compositionem transire ad alias partes: quibus dabitur forte aliquis notabilis Heraldus, seu Prosecutor, qui sunt personæ publicæ ad conducendum dictas gentes &c.

b Caligula E. 4 Bibl. Cott.

“ pose, the like Traitory being never before harde of among the most “ cruell and batberous Peple of the Worlde.” It would be too foreign here to give the Detail of this Murder, and that ¹ Leech Bailly of Forth who committed it, being afterwards taken was hanged, and quartered for it at Tyburn.

This Tabart was by its Form and Fashion so short, the Openings on its Sides so large, and the Wings or Manches of it so wide, and in such a Shape, that the Habit worn under it must be very visible. The Surcoat of the Sovereign would indeed be disgraced, if it should be made a Covering for Raggs, or a Thread-bare greasy Coat: Which Accident could not happen, while these Officers had annual Liveries from the Crown, that were solemnly grave in their Figures, and rich in their Materials. Such Robes (together with their Dyets) were provided, and delivered to them, as they were the Menial and Domestick Servants in the Royal Household, in which Respect we find the King describing Garter by the Term ¹ Familiaris noster in a Record; and even the Patents themselves to this Officer from 16 Edw. IV, contain an exprefs Clause for such yearly Vestment, to which a positive Mandate hath been added in the latter ones for the due Allowance thereof; but since this Right, like several others, hath not been regularly continued, the Collector hopes for an Excuse in being somewhat more particular on this Article.

The common Law hath in private Cases provided a proper Remedy;
when Robes incident to an Office by Prescription, or Grant shall be detained. A Robe, that by ¹ Custom was Parcel of a Corrody, was recoverable by an Assize, and if the ^m Keeper of a Park should be constituted with a Salary and a Robe, and be disseized of the latter, the Plaint may be of that Tort singly. Here then is a plain Grant to Garter with a Reference to such Livery, as any King of Arms or Herald received during the Reign of Edw. III; but from hence it must not be inferred, that the Kings of Heralds had not such annual Liveries antecedent to that Time; for we find a Charge for their Winter and Summer Robes in the ^m Household Accounts of Edw. I. It is evident from several ancient Authorities, that Winter Robes were in this Kingdom delivered at or before ^o Christmas, and the Summer ones at or before ^p Whitsunday, which differed from the Practice in ^q France only in Point of Time, where the Summer Habits of the Domesticks were made against Easter, (at which Time the Date of their Year formerly commenced) and their Winter Robes against the Feast of All Saints.

ⁱ Hollingsh. p. 958. Stows Ann. p. 583, 584.
This Leech had been one of the Lincolnshire Rebels.
Goodwin. The killing Nuncius Regis was adjudged Treason Br. Patents 32. B was deemed Treason in the Rebels of Norwich, who flew an Herald coming to proclaim a Pardon. Hearne Antiquit. p. 103.

^k See above p. 319, note a.

^l Bro. Abrig. tit. Corrodies n. 10.

^m Fitzherb. Alf. n. 175. Co. B. Rep. p. 94. l.
ⁿ Comp. Hosp. 18 E. 1. in Turri. Roberto Parvo Regi Haraldorum pro roba sua hyemali anni presentis per manus proprias xx s. & pro roba estiva xx s. Nicholas Mirell Regi Haraldorum pro robis suis hyemalibus anni presentis xx s. & pro

roba estiva xx s. Nicholas Mirell Regi Haraldorum per diem vi d. pro vadiis suis.

^o M. Paris ad A. D. 1213 appropinquante vero & imminente preclara Dominice Nativitatis festi-vitate, qua mutatoria recentia, que novas Robas appellamus, Magnates suis domesticis distribuere consequerunt. Vide ibid. p. 143, 157, 173, 255.

^p Vide Commun. de Ter. Mich. 21 H. III. Constitutions Hospitii sub Ed. II, & Constitut. sub Ed. IV, c. 40. Dugd. Orig. Juridic. p. 106. Rymer
vol. xi, p. 566.

^q Louiseau p. 155. And in Dauphine, Memoires pour l'Hist. de Dauphine p. 216.

Put the present Enquiry must be confined within the Limits of the Respect of this Patent, which extends no farther back than the Reign of Ed. III inclusive; under whom even the Apprentices of the Heralds received some Ells de panno radiato, which the Editor takes to be Cloth with Rays of different Colours, like to the ancient radiated Hoods of the Cavalites described by our Historian ¹ Knighton; in this Reign there was a Warrant for Robes to ² Norroy King of the Heralds, and in the 37th Year the like radiated Cloth was delivered to ³ Vaillant and Faucon Heralds, with Hoods furred with white ⁴ Bogue. In the Reign of his Successor Rich. II, ⁵ Aquitaine King of Arms, and Hereford-Herald had radiated Cloth, and ⁶ Bindeaux Herald and Faucon had their Gowns de Sella Scutiferorum Hos- pitii, that is, of the same Suit or Clothing with the Esquires of the King's Household. By the Way, the Colours of this radiated Cloth were at that Time probably white and red, since ⁷ Knighton acquaints us, that in the ninth Year the Mayor and Citizens of London were habited in coloribus ve- gis, videlicet in gornis albi coloris & rubri. The ⁸ Patent of R. II to John March Norreys, grants him a Salary "ac etiam robas suas ad Statum suum pertinentes," and on 12 May 1 H. IV, that King granted to Richard Brugges Lancaſter King of Arms his daily Wages, "ensemblement ovesque ses Robes appartenantz a son Estat," which general Words prove, that so long since there were stated settled Habits, incident to the Office of a King of Arms, whose Materials and Forms were well known.

There remain doubtless in the Custody of the King's Remembrancer several Wardrobe Accounts, which might probably furnish us with the Particulars of these Liveries in the succeeding Reigns, but till these shall be cleared from the Dust, wherein they lie covered, with an immense Quantity of other Instruments of great Value, The Publisher shall only insert some few Extracts from the Records, which he hath inspected, touching these annual Vestments. In the 17th Year of Hen. VI, ⁹ Garter, Clarenceux, and Lancaſter had their Winter Robes made of Murray and radiated Cloth, and in the next Year¹⁰ the Kings and Heralds petition for their ⁷ See above p. 284, note 1.

⁸ Honorius quartus Papa mutavit capas Fratrum de Carmelo in purum album; quæ prius erant ſtra-galatæ, radiatæ, & birratæ [forſan bauratæ.] Knight.
 Cal. 2463, n. 10.

¹ See above p. 300, note 6.

² See above p. 316, note f.

³ Rot. Parl. 37 E. 3, n. 26, being in the same Year both these Words: nul manere de Pellure ou de Bogue, mes ſeulement d'aiguel, tonit, chat, gepill.
 Stat. 24 H. 8. c. 13, black Coy or Bogy &c.

⁴ Comp. Alani de Stokes 7 R. 2. m. 6, Nicholao Chyngæ Regi Armorum Aquitania, Richardo Hereford Herald Armorum &c. ad gownas cum ca-pucius faciendas contra feſtum natalis Domini, ſcilicet cuiuslibet eorum ii uln. panni coloris curt. & iii uln. panni radiati, de feſta Scutiferorum Hoſpitii iſtius Domini Regis &c.

⁵ Lib. Cotom. in Offic. Garder. p. 178, Willmo Burdenz herald, Colynet Faucon ad gownas cum ca-pucius feſtas contra feſtum natalis Domini anno 13 [Rich.] de conſimili dono Regis de feſta aliorum Scutiferorum iſtius Domini Regis, viz. cuilibet eorum ii ulnas panni col. curt. & iii ulnas panni radiati.

⁶ Cal. 2466. n. 53.

⁷ Pat. 9 R. 2. p. 2. m. 21.

⁸ Privat. Sig. in Turre. vide 4 H. 4. Rym. vol.
 8. p. 281, and in Exit. Pell. Mich. 11 H. 4. Money was paid him in Lien of theſe Robes. See Pat. 1 Ed. 5.
 p. 2. m. 26.

⁹ See above p. 336, note a.

¹⁰ An Original in Bibl. Cotton. Faustina E. 1.
 To the right Chriſtian King our Sovereign Lorde.

The King granted in theſe forme, as baldowry hath ever ſore this Tyme.

Reſpecting to your highneſt meſſe humbly your Kynges of Armes heraudes to conſider that in al the tymes of the noble Kynges of Ingland your Predeceſſors, the Kynges of Armes heraudes of the ſaid Reine han had care of her grete Wardrobe at every feſte of Chriſtemeſſe here lycere clothing lyk to other Spaiers of the Kynges Court of your benigne grace, right Chriſtian Prince to comaunde your Letters of Privy Seel, direct to the Wardrobe of your grete War-robe for the tyme being or ſhall be, to deliver to your ſaid Kynges of Armes heraudes from tyme to tyme at every Feſte of Chriſtemeſſe her lycere clothing lyk to other Gensurmen of your noble Court, and this in bonneur of Gentileſſe and way of Charite.

Lettre eust faicte a Weſtm. le xviii jour de Dec. lan xviii.

Livery, which was granted, as appears by the Subscription of Sir William Phelippe then Lord Chamberlain, and from the ^j Privy Seal, which are still remaining. In both which Instruments it is recited, that these Officers had received the like Liveries in the Reigns of that King's Progenitors; a Petition of the same Tenour was renewed in the following ^k Year, and the Wardrobe ^b Account contains the Entry of Winter Robes then delivered to Garter, Lancaster, and Clarenceux; ⁱ Chester Herald obtained the same in the 23^d Year, and ^k Garter, Lancaster, and Guiceme had the like in the 35th Year, wherein is an express Reference to the Precedent under the Reign of Hen. V.

These Liveries which at first were of woollen Cloth, became in Tract of Time to be made of richer Materials, ⁱ Upton who wrote under the Reign of Hen. VI. takes Notice, that Purcivants might wear Velvet and Cloth of Gold: Upon Account of these Liveries, as well as of the Tabarts, there was generally a Provision inserted into the sumptuary Statutes about Apparel, that these Laws should not extend to the Heralds. Thus the Act 3 E. IV. c. 5, which ascertained the wearing Cloth of Gold, Furr of Sables, Velvet upon Velvet, Silk of the Colour of Purple &c. to several Degrees, hath an Exception for Haroldees and Purcivants. The Statute 1 H. VIII. c. 13, hath a Provision that it shall not be prejudicial to Haroldees of Armes, which is likewise continued in the Acts made in 6 H. VIII. c. 1. 7 H. VIII. c. 7. 24 H. VIII. c. 13. The like Caution was taken by the Parliaments in Scotland, where in 1471 it was enacted, "that na man fall weare silkes in time cumming in doubler, gowne, or " Cloakes, except Knichtes, Mintrelles, and Heraldes, without that " the wearer of the samin may spend ane hundredth pundes worth of " land rent, under the paine of amerciamento to the King of twentie " pound als oft, as they ar foundin wearand silkes, and eticheting of the " samin to be given to the Heraldes and Ministrelles." In 1581 another Statute was made, which appropriated Cloth of Gold, Silver, Silk, j Henri &c. Au Gardein de nostre grande Garderobe q'ore est, ou qi pur le temps fera, Salut: Nous avons entenduz parmye la supplication des Roys d'armes Heraldes, coment es temps de nos nobles Progeniteurs Roys d'Engleterre, les Roys d'armes Heraldes du dit Royaume ont eux a la Garderobe de nos ditz Progeniteurs encounter chacun Feste de Noel leur Liverie de Vesture, par maner come les Esquiers du Cour du Roy ont eux, nous les premieres considerans, Volons de nostre grace especialle, et vous mandons, que vous facez faire delivrer aux Roys d'armes Heraldes desoresnavant de temps en temps encounter chacun Feste de Noel nostre Liverie de Vestur, en semblable forme, come tous autres Roys d'armes Heraldes ont eux avant ces heures. Et volons que cesles nos lettres vous en soyent garant, Et que par icelles vous en ayez due alloance en vostre compte: Donnez sous nostre prive Seal a Wilm. le xviii jour de Decembre l'an de nostre regne dis oytisme.

g To the Kinge our Sovereign Lord

The King hath granted

Respecten right mekely youre humble Serviteurs Garter, Lancaster, and Clarenceux, That it liketh to your noble ----- have Liverie of Clothings, in manere, as youre Suters of Courte have yeven this Feff of Cristemasse last pasten ----- that now ys, or for the tyme schal be to delivrei to youre saide Suppliants thaire Liverie of clothinge, as alle other Kinge of ----- for your gracious lignie.

Lettre eut feult faite ----- l'an xix au Gard. ----- par le feste de Noel prochain.

b Comp. Garder. peres Renem. Regis 19 H. 6. Garter, Lancaster, & Clarenceux Regibus Armorum vocatis Heraldis, cuilibet eorum ad vesturam suam yemalem contra festum Natalis Domini, cuilibet eorum ii uln. panno. nunt. et iii uln. panno. radiati de dono dicti Domini Regis per literam dorman. de privato Sigillo dicto Castodi, qui nunc est, vel qui pro tempore fuerit inde directam, dat. 14. Oct. hoc anno xix.

i To the right Christen King our Sovereign Lord;

The King hath granted this Byll.

Besechinge moste humbly your humble Servaunt and Heralde of Armes Chesire of your bovyngs grace to commaunde your lettres of warrant dormant direct to your Wardroper of your grace Wardrope for the tyme beinge to delivrei to your saide Heralde yerely his Liverie clothinge lyke as your other Heraldis have, and he shal pray God for you.

Sudley Chamberlayn.

Don. Et. a Wilm. le jour d'Avril l'an xxlii.

2 See above p. 351 note 2.

1 De re militari p. 20.

Uuuuu

Velvet,

Velvet, Satin, Damask, Taffata &c. to the Degrees therein mentioned, excepting Heraldes and others therein recited. In 1621 another Act to the same Effect, wherein the Heralds are by Name exempted, and so late as 1672, it was enacted that none should wear any Apparel, wherein there should be any Gold, or Silver, or any flower'd Stuffs, striped Stuffs, or Brocades of Silk, excepting, among others, Heralds as to their Coats.

It is particularly remembered that Ed. IV^m granted to Garter King of Arms ii Robes aur. & i Velvet cremo. and that Hen. VII granted him ii Robas aureas. The former Prince in his 7th Year, issued Money to ⁿ Norroy to buy him three Yards of Velvet, when he was sent to the Duke of Burgundy. Our Kings also frequently presented foreign Officers of Arms with Velvet, and Scarlet, and the Charge thereof is inserted in the Accounts, whereas it had been much more proper to have given them that Money directly, than to have laid it out in Materials, which if they could not wear, would be of no other Advantage than by the Sale of them at Discount. In the 5th of Ed. IV, the ^o Neapolitan Herald received five Pounds in the Price of a Piece of Scarlet to make him a Gown: The Emperor's Herald had ^p eight Pounds in the Price of 13 Yards of black Velvet. And thus it was customary for Princes to reward foreign Officers of Arms with very rich Robes, Gueldres ^o Herald sent to the King of France for the Appointment of a Time and Place of Battle, received rich Mantles with Furrs. John Holland gave the ^r Herald who brought him a Challenge, a Mantle furred with Meniver; Du Guesclin gave the ^l Officer, who came from the Duke of Lancaster, "un Japon de soie tout neuf. Our Hen V gave the ^l Officer who brought him Notice of the Battle to be had near Agincourt une robe. The Duke of Burgundy presented Constance Herald in 1435, "with "une robe brodee de la Liverree des nopces d'Estampes, laquelle "le dit Duc portoit, et avoit vestue pour l'heure." In 1474 the Duke of Burgundy received the Herald of Lorraine (as the ^{*} Historian words it) "ex-
"ceptum hominem Principis ornatu pervestivit." It hath been shewn that Smeri ⁱ Garter had a large Present of Velvet from the King of France. Our Richmond Clarenceux in 5 Hen. VII^m received from the Embassador of Spain "ung robe et ung purpoint de Satin noir, et un drap noir bien fin de iiii escus "l'aule, double de ung damas noir bien fin & longue jusques a my jambe," and from Monsieur de Rieux Marshal of Bretagne "une robe de velours "noir fourree de Baugs noir jusques terre." Normandy ^o Herald in 1517 desired the Duke of Savoy, and had the rich Vestment which the Duke then wore: it is needless to give more Precedents of this Practice.

^m B. 2. penes me p. 22.

ⁿ Exit. Pell. Mich. 7 E. 4. Norroy Regi Armorum misso ad Ducem Burgundiae cum Secretario Regis in denariis x l. & in pretio trium virgarum velvet xlvii s. viii d.

^o Colled. Rymer. 5 E. 4. Garthero Regi Armorum super expensis certorum Extraneorum de Neple infra regnum Anglia existentium 50 l. Heraldorum eorum Extraneorum in pretio unius petri de Skarlet pro toga per Dom. Regem sibi data C. l.

^p Exit. Pell. Pasch. 7 E. 4. Cuidam Heraldico Emperatoris Almanniae in denariis sibi liberatis fct manus proprias in precio xlii virgarum de velvet nigro viii l. & in pecunia numerata decem marcas de dono Regis.

^q Froiss. vol. 1. c. 41. p. 45

^r Ibid. vol. 3. p. 166.

^s Lobineau Hist. de Bretagne p. 357

^t Juvenal des Ursins p. 314.

^u Charrier Hist. de Ch. vii. p. 86.

^x Addit. ad Abb. Ursperg. p. 327.

^y See above p. 354.

^z MS inter Cod. Norf. in Coll. Arm.

^a Guichenon l'Hist. General. de Savoye p. 627.

Montjoie King of Arms at his Creation was ^b apparelled “en habits voyaux, comme le Roy meme, c'est a dire, robes d'escarlate fourrees de Menu-vair,” and had a Right to the Vestment, which the King himself wore on Christmas-Day. The Duke of Bretagne in 1457 bought of Normandy King of Arms, a long ^c Robe of Cloth of Gold wrought on a black ground furred with Ermins, out of which he made a Cope, as it may be supposed, to be worn by himself, when he was to be admitted an honorary Canon in the Church of St. Gratian de Tours, which was a Privilege that the ^d Emperor, King of France, and several other Princes and great Lords had in some Cathedrals within their Territories. And in several Wills of the ancient Officers of Arms in this Kingdom, there were ^e Devises of their Gowns of Velvet, and other rich Silks to Churches, in order to make Copes, and other Utensils for celebrating divine Service in them.

Master Darcy [Cockran] a Scotsman born was King of Harolds in Denmark, and proceeded through Antwerp in a Gown of rich Cloth of Gold, his Servants in Liveries of green Chamlet, and was detained by our Garriſon at Tourney for some Time.

Besides these annual stated Liveries abovementioned, our Officers of Arms had likewise other Under-gowns delivered them from the Wardrobe, as their Right upon particular Occasions, which were different from these annual Ones. For at the Coronations of the King and Queen, and at Tilts they received Robes of Scarlet, and upon Expeditions in the Army, they had Liveries of the Colours of the Blason of the General: And again the chief Officer of Arms present, had Right to Robes upon Marriages, as Garter King of Arms had upon Creations of the Nobility, and Installations of Companions elected into the most noble Order of the Garter, and all Officers of Arms on their attending Funerals, had Right to mourning Habits for themselves and Servants.

Scarlet was the Livery of the Crown and ^g Coronations, and the ancient Treatise stiled “Jura & Libertates appertinentes de antiqua consuetudine Armarum Officialibus” takes Notice of this Droit & vestes scarlati secundum cujuslibet gradum that is, Robes of Scarlet according to the different Degrees of the Officers of Arms. Such Habits were in Fact delivered to ^h Guen King

^b Du Fresn. Gloss. v. heraldus. The usual Habit of Montjoie worn under his Tabart, may be consulted in Favyn and several other Writers.

^c Hist. de Lotheman en preuves p. 1205. A. D. 1457. A Normandie Roi d'armes pour une robe longue de drap d'or a poil noir fourree d'Ermines, que le Duc print de lui, & la donna pour une Chape a l'Eglise de S. Gratien de Tours, auquel lieu il avoit este receu a Chanoine &c. cfus v. lant Ciii l. ii 4. vi den.

^d See Du Fresn. Gloss. v. Canonici honorarii: La Bret. Souveraine du Roy p. 139. Limn. Notit. Fran. vol. 1. p. 459. Coquille Hist. Nivern. p. 159. Savaron de l'Espe Françoise p. 16. Du Chesn. Grand. des Roys de France p. 171. Guichenon Hist. de Breffe p. 215. Meneff. utage des Arm. p. 74. Boyles Dict. v. Chasteleux. Parthenai. Louvet Hist. de Guienne p. 149, 154. Valdefins de dign. Hist. p. 277. Est au in this Church at Tours In Paschali Arturus puer Turonis veniens, more debito, in Ecclesia B. Marini Canonicus est receptus, & in Stallum Decani in vestibus Chori, ficus Canonicus installatus. Lobinus en preuves p. 326.

^e See the Will of Bruges the first Garter p. 343 note c. of Ireland p. 317, in which are several other Legacies of his Robes, and several other Wills might be here inserted.

^f Caligula E. 1. in Bibl. Cotton.
^g Exit. Pell. Pasch. 1 H. 5. Thomas Carnica Clerico Garderobæ Regis super empitionem & providentiam paritorum Scarleti, ac aliorum pannorum & apparatusu coronationi Domini Regis M. 1.

Thus the four Esquiers of the Kings Body, and the four Ushers of the Chamber, and the Wardens of the Jewells petition for 4 Yards of Scarlet to each of them, against the Refusal of the Coronation of Hen. VI, which was granted to them. Origin. in Off. Pell. Froiss. l. 4. c. 114. that at the Coronation of Hen. IV. touts autres Chevaliers & Escuyers avoient houppepands fourrees, de Livree, & estoient d'Escarlate.

^h See above p. 328 note 1.

of Arms, Lancaster, Leicester, Derby, Hereford, Nottingham, Cornwall and Lilard [Leopard] Heralds at the Coronation of Hen. V., and to Garter, Ireland, Exeter, Nottingham, Leopard, and Richmond Heralds at the Coronation of his Queen. The like scarlet Robes were delivered at the Coronation of the Queen of Edw. IV., as it is recited in the ⁴Warrant for preparing the same against the Coronation of the Queen of Hen. VII., and our ¹Historian informs us, that these Officers had such Liveries at the Coronation of Queen Anne Boleyn. There is no Occasion of adding more Proofs, because these Officers have since the Restoration been paid 167 l. in Money, in Lieu of such Robes due upon each Coronation, which Composition in the Editor's Opinion, should neither have been asked or granted, since these Officers would have made a greater Appearance in the Procession, by wearing their Tabarts over these Liveries of the Crown trailing on the Ground, than by placing them over their usual Habits; which seem much inferior in Figure and Shew to the antient Livery appropriated for so splendid a Ceremony. Formerly in ^mFrance, and also in the ⁿEmpire, the Officers of Arms had the Habits which were worn by these Monarchs at their Coronations.

These Officers of Arms had a Right also to scarlet Robes, when they performed their Functions in attending upon Tilts and Turnaments, wherein the ^oCeremonials are express, but it would be tedious to insert them at Length, since these manly Exercises have been disused. A learned ^pFrench Advocate well versed in Antiquities, and jealous of the Honour of his own Country, could not however but freely confess, that the English (as his Words are) have been always the most glorious of all Nations in those Feats of Arms: These were the Images, Figures, or Preludes of War, and young Noblemen were by this ^qSchool rendered vigorous and active, bold and enterprizing, and animated with a generous Emulation, and by ⁱ See above p. 322. note f.

^k 38 B. 17 in Bibl. Harley f. 174. We will and straightly command you, that unto our Servants the four Kings of Armes, four Heralds, and four Pursuivants ye deliver, that is to say, to every one of them after their Degrees, as much quantity of Clothe, and of such Coloure for their gowne to be had of our exche, as any King of Armes, Herald, and Pursuivant had at the Coronation of Queene Elizabeth, And their our letters shall be your sufficient warrant and discharge against us at all tymes hereafter. Given under our Signet at our Pallace of Westmester the xix daye of November the third year of our Reyne.

To our trusty and Welbelov'd Servant Piers Curwys Keeper of our greate Warderobe.

In a Ceremonial of Materials to be provided against a Coronation it is entred, for Garter King of Armes a Robe of Crimson Damask, for Clarenceux, Norroy, and the rest of the Heralds and Pursuivants at Armes Robes of Scarlet Cloath. G. 5. penes me p. 28.

^l Stow's Annals p. 565, Fuller in D. 4. in Off. Arm. p. 52.

^m Belisforest les Annals de France l. 4. c. 41. Comptable des Roys d'armes p. 69, 70. Favin l. 1. c. 4.

ⁿ Jurispr. Heroica vol. 2. p. 71.

^o Jura, debita, & Largaritas appertinentes de antiqua consuetudine Armorum officialibus &c. Ille Rex Armorum vel Heraldus qui dedit proclamationem de hastiludii: habebit de suo labore sex ungas Scarlet &c. Sicile Heraud MS. in Bibl. Regia E. n. 1403.

^p Guichenon Hist. General. de Savoys vol. 1. p. 432, 433.

^q About the Time of instituting this Order, the martial and magnificent Founder of it, granted Liberty of holding Jousts annually at Lincoln, and the Patient reciev, that such Exercises were "ad solatium vitiorum militarium, & usum armorum melius optinendum; Nos itaq; recentibus Gestis antiquorum attendentes, quantum extulit nomen & gloriam hominum militarium usus & amor armorum, quantumque per numerositatem hominum expertorum in armis Regale solium roboratur &c." Pat. 18 E. 3. p. 1. m. 44. The Proclamation for Jousts on the Marriage of the Duke of York in 1477 hath these Words: "because the laudable and noble Custome of this matrimonial and triumphant Joy in tyme passed hath be, that at such high dayes of honour, exercise and faictes of the necessarie discipline of Armes we shewed and done to experient and enable the which our Moder Church is defended, Kyngs and Princes served, and Contrays kept and mantaigned in Justice and Peace." M. 3. in Off. Arm. p. 7 b.

these

these Seminaries they gained Experience to turn their blunted Spears and Swords into pointed Ones, when the publick Service required it. These Martial Exploits were continued in this Kingdom, to the End of the Reign of King James the First ^r inclusive; and the Discontinuance of them in foreign Parts, hath been regretted by some of their ^r Writers.

The Romance of Saintre contains the Customs of the Age wherein it was compiled, and we are informed by it, that Anjou King of Arms being sent to Barcelona with the Articles of a Tilt received from the King, “ung tabart de velloux figure noir fourree de Martes sebellins.” That Saintre gave to the King of Arms of Arragon, who brought him the Acceptance of the Articles and the Appointment of the Tilting, “ung tresbel mantel de damas cramoisy brochie d’argent, & fourre de fines Martes Sebellins.” That the King of France likewise gave to Brunswick the Herald “une de ses tres riches robes &c.” But to come to true History, Jaques Lalain after a Tilting, presented the King of Arms of the Golden Fleece with a rich long Robe of Cloth of Gold, furred with Sables, in which that Officer habited himself.

It hath been suggested, that in military Expeditions the Heralds belonging to the Sovereign might formerly be invested with Tabarts, ensigned with the Coat Arms of the Generals: However that may be, we find such Officers in latter Ages received Gowns of the Colours of the Livery of the Generals, upon whom they were ordered to attend, at the Expence of the Crown. In the 36 Hen. VIII. though Garter and Clarenceux had eight Yards of red, and two Yards of yellow Velvet, the Heralds eight Yards of red, and two Yards of yellow Damask, and the Pursivants eight Yards of red, and two Yards of yellow Chamlet, (which were the Colours of the ^r King’s Livery) when they waited on that King in the Partition of the Army stiled the Middleward. Yet at the same Time the other Officers of Arms, who attended on the Duke of Norfolk Captain of the Vanguard, had ^r blew lined with red, and those who then attended on the Lord Russell Captain of the Rereward, had ^r blew lined with Yellow. Besides one of these Heralds herein named, received likewise a ^r Coat of Damask of the Kings Arms laid with Gold, and two of these Pursivants had two such Coats of Sarfenet. It appears from the Instruments, that these ^r Annually on 24 March, being the Anniversary of that King’s Accession to the Throne, See Finets Philox. p. 63, 76, which had been the Custom on 17 Nov. during the Reign of Qu. Eliz. Camden Ann. Eliz. sub A. D. 1570. This same Author the learned Clarenceux in Ann. Jac. 1620, 24 Martii Hastitudo in anniversariis Regis Jacobi, ubi Princeps Carolus 12 curfusib decursis omnem laudem retulit. Ego plumatus & superhumeralibus oneratus ex colore albo, cæruleo, & viridi, mihi ignotus ante equitavi. There was a Saxons issued for a Tilt dated 29 Apr. 1625. W. K. in Off. Arm. p. 22, upon Occasion of the King’s Marriage.

f Mayoli Dies Caricul. tom. 2. coll. vi. Cur vero egregia atq; utilia exercitia deserunt, haecenus mihi non constat: Habet certe Nobilitas etiamnum multos generosos & strenuos viros mihi favore & familiaritate notos, quibus hæc desitisse ex animo dolet, & redintegrari atque renovari cuperent. Sed quid agant? vident virtutem non solum in suo, verum etiam aliis statibus consensere, omnia orta occidere, fato in pejus ruere, & retrosublapsa referri.

Munster Cosm. l. 3. Et hic fuit ultimus ludus militaris nobilium, post quem videmus vulgus Nobilium pro magna parte degenerasse in manifesta vitia, id quod, proh dolor! nemo non novit; coceruit eos nonnihil ignominia illa, qua in ludis Torneamentorum confondebantur; jam vero illo retinaculo quoq; submoto impunes multi ruunt in vitia, & exequuntur cupiditates carnis.

^r Hist. de Jaques Lalain wrote by St. George Chastellain ubi was Toison d’or p. 214. See Olivier de la Marche p. 328.

^r W. Y. in Off. Arm. p. 113 b. 3. tot. Cerem. p. 76.

^x Stow’s Ann. p. 587.

^y M. 16 in Off. Arm. p. 83.

^z Ibid.

^a W. Y. in Off. Arm. p. 114.

Officers of Arms in the 5th of Hen. VIII. had Gowns or Coats of ^b white and green. The Warrant to the Wardrobe in 1557, shews this Matter in the plainest Light, for a ^c Command is thereby given to deliver Richard Herald a Coat of the King's Arms, of Damask painted with fine Gold, and for his Livery eight Yards of crimson Sattin, and two Yards of crimson Velvet for guarding the same, and to Rougedragon a Coat of the King's Arms of Sarteret painted with fine Gold, and for his Livery eight Yards of crimson Chamlet, and two Yards of crimson Velvet for guarding the same, being then appointed to attend on the Earl of Westmerland Lieutenant and Captain-General from Trent Northwards; in which same Year ^d Chester Herald and Portcullis Purfevant had blue guarded with red, being then appointed to attend upon the Earl of Pembroke Captain General of the Army against France; and ^e Blewmantle sent afterward with the Earl of Warwick Lieutenant of the Bands of Men prepared to pass the Seas, received not only a Coat of the King's Arms laid in Oyl, but also eight Yards of blew Chamlet for a Coat, and two Yards of red Velvet to guard the same, and ^f Somerset and Rougecroix had the same Colours in 5 Eliz.; when they waited upon the Earl of Shrewsbury.

In this, and foreign Kingdoms, Officers of Arms had a Right to the Robes, which several Persons wore upon particular Occasions, as their Perquisite and Fee. A learned ^g Bishop taking Notice, that Princes used to give the Coats they wore to the Poets, assigns a Reason for it, that these Princes were so transported with the Excellency of the Compositions recited to them, that they could not defer extending their Liberality, and having nothing nearer at Hand than their own Robes, immediately gave them, in such Manner, as it is reported, that some Saints distributed their own Habits to the Poor; and that which at first happened by Accident upon a sudden Rapture, grew up gradually and silently in Tract of Time to be a Custom; and doubtless this same Author would have ascribed the same Original of the Practice of Princes, in giving their Vestments to the ^h Minstrels and Players, if those Instances had then occurred to his Memory. But though it is true, that Monsieur Robert Clifford in 5 Hen. VII. being then in Bretagne, presented Richmond Clarenceux with his own Sword, because (as it is there ⁱ entred) he had no other Thing then to bestow upon him, yet it might admit a farther Enquiry, whether the Assignment of Habits in kind in Lieu of Fees to the Heralds, (as likewise to other Officers Ecclesiastical, and Temporal, whereof several Instances might be produced) may not in some Part owe its Institution to the Scarcity of the Species of Gold and Silver in former Centuries, when Habits were esteemed such a Treasure, as the bequeathing them took up frequently a large Compass in last Wills.

^b M. 16 in Off. Arm. p. 15.
^c Vinc. n. 151. p. 99 in Off. Arm.
^d Ibid. p. 98.
^e M. 16 in Off. Arm. f. 157 b.
^f W. K. in Off. Arm. p. 111.

^g Huet Orig. des Romances.
^h See above p. 295. note c.
ⁱ Recueil des certains choses de Richemont Clarenceux inter Cod. MSS Norf. in Bibl. Collegii Ar-morum.

The Robes of the King and Queen, and of the Nobility worn by them at their Mariages, were the ⁴ stated Fees of the Heralds. The Ceremonials inform us, that the Sovereign gave his Robe to the Officers of Arms of that Country from whence the Queen was descended, and the Queen her Robe to the Heralds of the Prince her Husband. At the Marriage of Charles Duke of Burgundy with the Sister of Edw. IV., Chester Herald received ¹ “une longue robe d'ung riche drap d'or verd fourre d'ermins.” When Earl Bothwell by Proxy affianced the Daughter of Hen. VII., he gave to the Officers of Arms the Gown of Cloth of Gold, which he then wore; and when the Marriage it self was solemnized, the King of Scotland before he sat down to ² Supper “sent hys Gowne of Marriage to the Officers of Armes of England, and changed another of Velvet blak long and fourred of ³ Martes, the which Robe berred the next Day in Court Somersset Herauld, accompayned of his Companions, the which thaunked the Kyng: This Ritual specifies the King's Marriage Robes to have been “a Gown of Damaske hwytt figured with Gold and lyued with Sarfene, a Jakette with Slyffs of Saryn cramfyn, and the lists of velvet black, under that sam a dowblet of Cloth of gold, and a payre of scarlatte hofys;” On the following Evening the Queen delivered to the Officers of Arms of Scotland “hyr robe of marriage, the wiche the next day followyng barred hyr in Court in escharpe the Herawlt Marchmont, which robe is therein also described to be a rich robe, like the Kings, borded of velvet cramfyn and lyn of the same.”

These Officers had also the same Right to the Robes worn by ⁴ Knights of the Bath, when they received that honourable Degree, which are particularized to be the ⁵ Mantles and Surcoates of crimson Taffata, Coyfes, Laces with Tassels, the white leathern Girdles, the Gloves, the blue violet Gowns with the Hood furred with Miniver, like to that of a Batchelour of Law; and in these very Gowns these Officers were to ⁶ apparel themselves in the Prefence of the Sovereign. Thus also a certain Quantity of Cloth was due to each of these Officers for Mourning, as Part of their Fees at the Funerals which they attended, and even at Obsequies performed for ⁷ foreign Princes, which was a Practice continued here even after the ⁸ Reformation, ¹ In the Treat filed Jura &c. Dum Rex recipit uxorem pertinet supradictis notabilis largitas &c. & vestes sponſales Regine & similitur Principis. And in several other MSS. As to the Nobility the said Treat Dum Dux, vel Marchio, vel Comes recipiunt uxores—vestes quas portant ipsi & eorum uxores; & si sint vidue mantella nigra etiam pertinent. As to foreign Royals see Favin l. 1. c. 4. Colombiere des Roys d'armes p. 71. Belleforest les Grands Anns l. 4. c. 41 &c.

² F. 3. penes me p. 115.

³ G. 11. penes me.

⁴ See the old Ceremonial printed by Byalthe in his Notes upon Upton p. 23.

⁵ See the Partition-Books in the Heralds Office.

⁶ Partis Book p. 40.

⁷ As it was heretofore the Custom in this Realm to signify to the Bishops by Writs under the Great Seal the Death of foreign Princes, quatenus exequias devote & solemniter celebrant, & animam cum devotione missarum, aliisq; devotarum orationum suffragis altissimo specialiter commendat, whereof there are numerous Precedents in the Registers of several Secs., and one in Ryleys Plac. Parliam. p. 528. So our Kings canst Obsequies to be performed for such Foreigners in a splendid Manner, wherein almost the same Ceremonies were performed, as though the Body it self had been actually present, of which there was a Representation; whereof see Dugd. Hist. of St. Pauls p. 25, who produces several other Instances, to which large Additions might be made. That observed, for John King of France by Edw. III. may be consulted in Felicien Hist. de l'Abbatte de St. Denis p. 282, and our Wardrobe Account 27 Ed. III. refers to it &c. Thus the Obsequies of the Black Prince were celebrated at Paris, Froiss. vol. 1. p. 416. Those for Hen. VIII. have been mentioned above p. 88. But to omit farther Precedents, since it is here only necessary to shew, that the Officers of Arms had mourning Gowns and Hoods on those Occasions, which are distinctly enured in a Book remaining in the Wardrobe, wherein are contained the Obsequies for the King of Arragon Reformation, and justified by the Bishops in the Sermons they preached upon those Solemnities.

On all these occasional Ceremonies Garter Principal King of Arms not only participated in these Habits with the other Officers, but in some others had Rights to receive Vestments to himself exclusive of them. Whenever any Comment shall be published upon that Part of the Constitutions of his Office, declared by Hen. VIII in a Chapter of the most noble Order, it will be proper to dilate on his Right to the Habit worn at the Investiture of Knights elected to be Companions, as also of those created to any Degree of Peerage, or advanced to an higher Title therein, which Vestments were heretofore very rich, when the Nobility delighted in Magnificence, all which Habits this Officer may at his Election receive still in kind, or accept the Composition settled in Money in Recompence of them, and which Habits, if he takes them in Specie, are to be worn by him during the Remainder of the Day, wherein these splendid Investitures are performed. Those Constitutions refer to a Right due likewise to him upon his administering the Oath to all Officers of Arms upon their Creations, without expressing the Nature of it, which was either the Coat of the Founder, or Person who performed that Ceremony, or of the Officer upon whom the Character was conferred.

Whoever is curious to know the Shape of the Undergowns worn by these Officers of Arms, may receive some Satisfaction by viewing the Effigies of Clarenceux on his Monument in St. Olave Hart-fleet, London, who died in 1427; and the Pourtraicture of Benoist Clarenceux on his Tomb in St. Helen's Church in London, who died in 1534; and by inspecting the Figures of several Officers painted in old Manuscripts, and frequently in the Embellishments of the Initial Letter in ancient Grants of Arms, and in some printed Draughts of Processions. And here it should be remembered, that the Lord Chancellours of this Kingdom upon Application to them, used to issue mandatory Writs to the Keepers of the Wardrobe for the Time being, to deliver annually these Liveries to these Officers during the Continuance of their Patents.

But to return to the Escutcheon, which distinguished and protected these Officers in Times of Peace, as the Tabart secured them from any Vio-

Aragon 7 H. VIII. Emperor Maximilian x H. VIII. Lady Regent of France 23 H. VIII. The French King's Mother 25 H. VIII. Of the Emperesse 31 H. VIII. The French King 1 Ed. VI. Queen of Spain 1 & 2 Ph. & M. King of Portugal 4 & 5 Ph. & M. The Emperor 1 Eliz. King of France 1 Eliz. The Emperor 9 Eliz.

r There is this Memorial in the Narrative of the Obsequies for the French King 1 Ed. VI. that the Ambassador of Scotland had warning by Norway King of Armes, by the commandement of the Council to be at the said Obsequy, who made answer, that he wolde not come, for because that the Ambassador of Scotland being resident in France, was not commaunded to be at the Obsequy of Kyng Henry the Eighth our late Master, which was solemnele doone in France at Parry: J. xi in Off. Arm. p. 114.

s In the first Year of Queen Eliz. at the Obsequies of the French King, Dr. Scorie Bishop elect of Hereford justified that practice in his Sermon, which is abridged in F. 13 in Off. Arm. p. 21. Mr. Camden in his Annals of Qu. Eliz. takes Notice of her performing Obsequies for the Emperor Charles V. and for this French King with great Solemnity, both in Templo Welfmanasteriensis Mariae sorori magnifico apparatu solvit & paulo post Carolo Quinto—

Illa tamen (at [Henrico secundo] conflaret regis honos) exsequias ut Regi amico in templo Paulino Londini magna pompa perfolvit. In her sixth Year the like Obsequies were celebrated for the Emperor Ferdinand, at which Archbishop Parker assisted, Strype's Life of him p. 175, where Grindal then Bishop of London, preached upon the same Subject. F. 13 in Off. Arm. f. 55, which Sermon is published in Print. Mr. Camden also mentions the Obsequies in 1574, for Charles the sixth King of France.

t See the Tracts filed Jura &c. Les Droits &c. n. Claus. 1 H. 5. m. 8 to Richard Del Brug Lancaster. At 10 Garter see above p. 356 note 1, p. 360 note k.

lence in Times of War. Several Authors have remarked this Particular, Moreau * having treated upon the Rod belonging to them, proceeds, " Outre ce les herauts portoient en temps de paix un émail de Cristal rehauffe d'or garni, & borde de fine pierreries, & enrichy d'orfèverie pendu sur leur poitrine," and in another Place writes " Le Heraut portoit la Cotte d'armes de son seigneur blasonnee, pour luy servir de sauf conduit en temps de Guerre," thus specifying the distinct Seasons of wearing these two different Ensigns. Two learned French Lawyers assert the same Doctrine. Budæus recites the Custom of his own Age and Country " Nostros autem Caduceatores spintere hodie utuntur, quæ Armilla etiam dici potest, Blasonam autem lingua vernacula vocant. In præliis autem utuntur paludamento, quod eos velamentum sacrosanctos (ut ita dicam) facit, id est ab omni violentia tutos, vulgo Cotta Armorum vocatur." The Testimony of Charondas le Caron being the Son of Bretagne Herald, in this Case is above Exception; " jadis portent en temps de Paix l'émail sur le haut de l'estonach, & en temps de Guerre la Cotte d'armes de Fleurs de Lis d'or, pour leur servir de sauvegard, & estre recogneus." Pierre Matthieu lays to the same Effect: And for this Reason doubtless it is, that the Escutcheon is omitted in the ancient Pourtraictures of these Officers, when they are represented in their Tabarts, which being reputed the principal Distinction and Ornament of the Heralds, we shall meet with very few Figures of them without that Investiture. However we are certain, that Escutcheons have not been long discontinued in this Kingdom; for not only Gerard Leigh and Mr. Weyer mention them as the Symbols used in their Time, but Mr. Lant in the 4 Ceremonial of his own Creation to the Office of Portcullis Pursivant in 1588, enters " that at last the Escutcheon made of fyne gould enamelled with the Arms of England was tyed with a point upon his left hand." It may therefore be an innocent Amusement to enquire into the Materials whereof these Escutcheons were made, their Figure or Fashion, the Impresses on them, and the Manner of wearing them by these Officers according to their respective Degrees.

The Appellations given to this Ensign by several Writers will afford Light in some of these Particulars, such are Escutcheon, Blason, Email, Camail, Camabieu. Escutcheon or Scutcheon is derived from the Latin Word Scutum, which properly signifies a Shield: And because armorial Ensigns were usually engraven or painted upon Shields, this Word hath been used by Writers to denote such Bearings. Upton c expresses these Jewels of the Officers of Arms by this Word Scutum, and explains the different Manners of wearing them by Cursors, Chevauchers, Pursivants, and Heralds in four jingling Latin Verses; In an old 1 manuscript Copy of this Book there are Limnings or Draughts, wherein the two former Officers have each of them the Cross of St. George on a Shield, the first hanging to

* Tableau des Armoïes de France.

† Annotas in Pandectas in L. de rerum divisione L. Sanctum.

‡ Pandectas du droit François à Paris 1677 in fol. p. 287.

§ Hist. de Louis xi p. 487.

¶ Accidence of Armoys. p. 76.

⊕ Funeral Monuments. p. 667.

d Observations by him MS inter Cod. Norf. in bibl. Colleg. Arm. p. 4 b.

e De re milit. p. 22.

f Cinctores Scutum dicit referre Pedinum,

Sic Equitis dignum teret signata dextera signum;

Sed lumeto lævo detulit Professorator ab avo,

At Harallorum flat pectore fons titulorum.

g Inter MSS Vinc. in Off. Arm.

his Belt, the other fixed to his left Shoulder, the Pursivant is represented in his Tabart, and consequently hath no Escutcheon that appears, and an Herald is there exhibited also in a Tabart, presenting to the Sovereign a Shield ensigned with Arms hung to a String, as though it was to be put about the Neck of a new Herald then to be created. Our Records hereafter cited, likewise use this Word Scutum in the same Sense for the Badges of these Officers. The old Treatise Stultifera navis printed with Figures under the Title de Stulta nuntiorum legatione, which Alexander Barclay translated of foolish Messengers and Pursivauntes, entertains us with the Picture of such an Officer having the Escutcheon on his left Shoulder: No one will laugh at this Citation, who considers that grave Authors have quoted Heliodorus and other such Writers, for the Manners of the Ages wherein they lived, and that Mr. Selden referred to the Poems of Chaucer in the weighty Argument of the Sovereignty of the Sea, and likewise to the Ballad of the Tanner of Tamworth relating to Collars in his Titles of Honour. Email, in English Enamel is well known, which Word in the French Language became attributed to signify Colours in Arms; a learned Jesuit observed from a Manuscript, that Limners and Painters to make Parchment more firm, worked it first over with a Composition [Encaustum] and then applied the Colours, and saith that Figures were enamelled on gold and silver Vessels, and on Arms in the same Manner, and that from thence, the Badge of the Heralds and Messengers took the Denomination of Email. Doctor Wats in his ^b Glossary makes a Difference between Camayeu and Camayeux, the former importing the sardonix Stone, the latter signifying Medals, or the Sculpture of Gemms; Camail is the Design of a Painter, wherein one Colour only is employed, the Lights and Shades being on a Ground of Gold or Azure, which the Greeks term Monochromata. Blason is an equivocal Word, which hath been applied to the Devise or Bearing, to the Shield whereon the Arms are painted, and to the Science which describes or deciphers the Colours of these Arms. It hath been ^c shewn, that the Officers of Arms had the Cup, wherein the Wine or Water was carried at the Time of their Creations, as their Perquisite, in Order to make themselves an Escutcheon of the Arms of their Founders. And ^d Gollut quotes Olivier de la Marche for this Purpose. This latter Person was sent hither in an Embassy from the Duke of Burgundy, and he published the Ordonnances of the Household of that Duke dated 1474, wherein he takes particular Notice, that the Officers of Arms in Burgundy wore their Blasons on their right Sides, which he remarks to be contrary to the Custom of the English Officers, who bore them on the left Side, which occasioned his demanding the Reason of our Usage from one of the English Kings of Arms, who returned him the Answer in the ^e Margin, but ^g Menefier l'Art du Blason justifie p. 42.

^b Ad Math. Paris.

ⁱ Notes to the black Book p. 114.

^k De la Republ. Scquan. p. 817. Je trouve es escripts du Sieur Olyvier de la Marche non imprimés, que le Duc donnoit le nom selon le vin, qui lors luy estoit presente en un casse; de sorte que si c'estoit du vin envoié ou achepte en la French Comte, lors le Duc appelloit cest herault French Comte, luy donnant la tasse, qui en ces temps luy estoit presente, afin que l'herault en feist former son Escuffon.

^l P. 699. Les Officiers d'armes doivent porter les blasons du Prince au coste dextre selon nostre coutume, mais l'officiers d'armes d'Angleterre portent leur blasons au coste senestre. Et autres fois

but a more satisfactory Answer might have been given, by shewing that the English Pursuivants (for to them this Question was confined) conformed themselves to the general Practice, and that those of Burgundy were singular in their Method. Sicily Herald wrote a Treatise for the Instruction of his Fraternity, wherein he is ² positive, that the Pursuivant was to wear the Arms of his Founder affixed to the left Side of his Breast, and therein ² Symphorien Champier agrees. ^o Le Feron is as expresse, that Pursuivants should wear their Emalls on the left Shoulder in Contradistinction to the Heralls and Kings of Arms.

These Officers being sent in Embassies and Messages to foreign Princes, had sometimes the Permission and Honour granted them to bear the Escutcheon of those Princes to whom they were thus sent, which was not only esteemed a particular Favour and Reward, but, (as a late ^p Historian writes,) was an Indication and Testimony of the Amity between these Princes, the Founders of these Officers: And in that Place he produceth the Instance of Hannes Pursuivant, who in 1461 obtained that Privilege from the Duke of Bretagne, and the same ^v Author quotes another Precedent of such a Communication, where that Duke as a Signal of his Friendship with the Duke of Charolois in 1406, gave Charolois Herald the like Liberty of thus bearing his Arms. Our own Records furnish us with Examples of the same Nature. ^v Lisbon Herald in 30 Hen. VI. had besides other Gifts Money likewise issued to him to buy an Escutcheon of the Arms of our King, and in the next Year the ^s Herald of the King of Arragon had the same Honour conferred upon him; and the Earl of Derby [afterwards Hen. IV.] gave to the ^v Herald of the Duke of Austria, a Shield of his Arms and Badges upon Silver guilt. Thus Conimbres Herald is described by ² Froissart, with the Escutcheons of his Sovereign and of several other Princes, and the ² Prohibition to Montjoie in France “de jaunes en porter nul [blason] de quelque autre Seigneur, que ce soit,” seems to intimate the Allowance of that Practice in the Cases of other Officers of Arms.

J'ay demande un Roy d'armes de leur party, pour quoy ils avoyent tel costume en Angleterre, sur quoy il me respondi, que leur raison estoit plus grande qu'autre. Et si un noble jeune homme, qui jamais n'autoit este arme, vouloit sçavoir de quel coste il devroit prendre son escuz, il le verroit aux blasons des Officiers d'armes, & de quel coste ils le portent. Et pardeza les Officiers d'armes les portent aux dextre coste, pour ce que le dextre est le plus noble pour faire honneur au blason, et ainsi chescun a opinion raisonnable. Et la cause pour quoy le Prince leur donne la raffe d'argent a leurs costes est pour faire le blason de ses armes.

^m MS. in bibl. Regia E. n. 1403. Le Prince luy met a la poitrine ou coste fenestre ses Armes.

ⁿ Le fondement et Origine des Tiltres de Noblesse MS. treating en Pursuivants. — Et luy doit mettre une Cotte d'armes armoyee de ses armes, les manches pendantes devant & derriere, & attacher un escusson sans couronne de ses armes sur la poitrine sinistre, et le corps d'icelle sur les Epauls.

^o Inquisition des Roys & heraulds p. 43.

^p Lobineau Pseuvres de l'Hist de Bretagne p. 1266.

^q Ibid. p. 701.

^r Priv. Sig. 4 Janii 37 H. 6. Hemi Ec. to the Treasurer &c. We wol and charge you unto the persones underwritten ye deliver the summes of money this followen, that is to say — to Lesbne barold of the King of Portingale x mares — To oure Kings of Arms, barolds and Purcevaunts v mares, To ibambassadors of theye of Douglas and his parcevaunte xliii l. vi s. viii d. and for a Scobon of oure Armes to be delivored in the said Lesbon xxxiii s. liii d.

^s Exit. Pell. M. 31 H. 6. Cuklam heraldo Regis Arragon in denariis sibi liberatis in persequonem xl s. quos Dominus Rex eidem Heraldo liberare mandavit habendi de dono suo pro quodam scuto Armorum suorum in se faciendo.

^t Comp. Willimi Lovence Clerici Garderobe Henrici Lancastrie Comitiss Derby 17 R. 2. in Officio Ducatus Launcestre. Hermann Goldsmith pro ponder. unius Scuti argenti deaurati de armis & bagis Domini pro J. heraud Ducis D'Offlich ponderum xiv uno de Troys prec. unc. ii s. vi d. xxxii s. viii d. & pro opere & deantat. ejusdem xxxii s. viii d. lxx s. iv d.

^u Vol. 5. p. 125.

^x Du Fresn Gloss. v. heraulds,

The Form of the Email of this Montjoie is described by several^y Writers, and the Constitutions touching^z Officers of Arms settled in a Chapter of the Order of the Golden-Fleece, refer to this Ensign of the Heralds. We also know, that the Officers of Arms belonging to the Nobility wore such Badges, in that it is remembered the^a Herald of the Duke of Alençon in 1431 was reduced to that Necessity, as to mortgage his Email for his Support, and that the Supposititious Herald equipped out by Lewis XI. had, as^b Comines informs us, the Email of Plein Chemin, who had been an Officer of Arms to the Admiral.

The Heralds in Spain had such Escutcheons, the Effigies of Nicaise l'Adam Grenade King of Arms, who died in 1547, upon his^c Monument in the Church of St. John de Rouville at Arras exhibits “sur son bras droit son Esmail,” and the^d Pourtraiture of the Herald of Alphonfus V in the Cloister of St. John de Lateran shews him not only in his Coat of Arms, but “a son Email sur le coste droit d'un Escuffon d'Arragon couronne, And Money was given to a^e Pursivant of Bretagne in Order to enable him to make his Email of that Duke's Arms. The Badge of the Lord Lyon of Scotland is of pure Gold in an Oval Form, having on one Side the Effigies of St. Andrew upon the Cross, surmounted with an Imperial Crown, and on the other Side the ancient Arms of that Kingdom under the like Crown, and on the Bottoms or Bases of each Side the Thistle Vert flowered Gules.

The Officers of Arms belonging to military Orders bore usually the Ensign, or some chief Badge thereof in their Escutcheons; The Herald of the Genesse or Bromestalk is represented by his^f Picture at Ingoldstad in a Tabert vert semee of Scutcheons of St. George, having about his Neck a Collar, to which are Appendant “deux gouffes de Genest,” two Shells of Brome, one white, the other vert; but probably this might not be in Strictness a real military Order, let us therefore inspect the Injunctions in the Orders of the Golden-Fleece, St. Michael, and of the Holy Ghost. In the 15th Article of the Ordonnances touching the Officers of the Golden Fleece it is directed, that the Sovereign shall deliver to “Toison d'or King of Arms “un^g esmail, qui sera du dit Ordre, ou seront les Armes du dit Souverain, et le portera chacun jour tant qu'il vivra.” The 29th Article of the Statutes of St. Michael command^h Mont Saint Michael (and not asⁱ Dr. Heylin and^j Mr. Ashmole misname him Monsieur Saint Michael) to wear during his Life “un Email du dit Ordre,” which Officer at the Inveltitures of the Duke of Norfolk and the Earl of Leicester into that Order, in 8 Eliz. had about his^k Neck a Ribbond, at which hung upon his Breast the Arms of France within the Order of Gold, some^l Writers say, his Jewell was a y Furetiere Dict. v. Roy &c.

z Jurisprud. Heroica vol. 2. p. 68 &c.

a Lobineau l'Hist. de Bretagne p. 58.

b L. 4. c. 7.

c Menestrier Usage des Armoiries p. 246.

d Ibid. p. 154.

e Lobineau en preuves de l'Hist. de Bretagne p. 1112, ad A. D. 1445 a S. Aubyn nouveau pourfuit vant, pour luy aider a faire un email des Armes du Duc.

f Menestrier Att du Blason ou la pratique des Armoiries p. 96.

g See S. 62. of that Order, This Denomination is taken from the Church wherein the Ceremonies of the Order were to be performed.

h Cosinogr. p. 205.

i H. B. of the Garter p. 119.

k Ashm. p. 370.

l Favyn in 4to p. 958. Hist. des Ordres vol. 8. p. 374.

gold Escallop Shell, the Badge of the Collar of that Order, hanging at a gold Chain. The 71 Article of the Statutes of the Holy Ghost injoin the Herald of it to bear the Cross of the Order "avec son email pendue au col;" It would be too tiresome to run through other Orders.

Upon the Subject of Garter's Badge, Mr. Azmole hath gone no farther back than to the Assignment by Queen Eliz. and it may be thence conjectured, that he supposed this Officer had no Right to any Escutcheon antecedent to that Reign: But though such a Possession could not be proved by any positive Evidence, yet there are several probable Indications of it. In most Articles relating to the Heralds, there was a Similitude and Parity throughout all Dominions, and as these were publick Persons constantly sent with Messages, which were verified or authenticated by their Characters, it was more particularly requisite, there should be some Emblem or Signal, whereby this Character should be publickly demonstrated, which, as it hath been shewn, was an Escutcheon in Times of Peace, and herein there was a Conformity between some of our and the foreign Officers: And it would be very strange and incongruous, that the Principal King of Arms should be debarred a Privilege enjoyed by Norroy and other Subalterns, and even by the Pursivants, who were only Novices and Probationers, whilst that Badge too was of that Significancy, as not only to discriminate these Officers, but to confer Immunities upon them; Besides the black-Book observes, that the Order of the Golden-Fleece was erected upon the Model of our most noble Order of the Garter, and the Analogy between the Statutes and Customs is apparent to View; now at the Institution of it in 1429-30, a Badge was appropriated to Toison d'Or the Herald of it; and though it should be admitted our Garter should not have had any Escutcheon appropriated to him before that Time, yet considering the Intercourses between the Courts of England and Burgundy, and that these Sovereigns mutually accepted the military Orders of each other, and also the reciprocal Embassies of Garter and Toison d'Or to these respective Princes, it is scarce to be imagined, that the former should be denied any Honour, which was allowed to the latter; for though the greater Part of the Statutes of the Golden-Fleece were borrowed from hence, yet no Inconsistency will result from a Supposition, that there might be new Decrees made in our Order, to imitate the Customs of the other in some few Particulars added by the Dukes of Burgundy. Thus in Fact, in the French Copy of the Constitutions relating to the Officers of our Order, with Reference to the Immunities of their Persons, Servants, and Goods settled by Hen. VIII. there is an entire Paragraph transcribed literatim from an Article in the first Statutes of the Golden-Fleece, though it is no Ways improbable, that this very Clause might be originally incorporated into the Laws of that Order, from some Decree made at first in a Chapter of the Garter, which hath perished by the Length and Injury of Time. But it chances, that there are some Sculptures remaining, wherein Garter is represented in the Execution of some Branches of his Profession without any Tabart; as at the Investiture of the Emperor Maximilian in 6 Hen. VII. where he is pictured l A. 10 genes me p. 61 b.

m Alm. Hist. p. 404 with a Collar about his Neck, to which is appendant upon his Breast a Jewel or Badge in a circular Form, but by Reason that Limning is in Miniature, the Impression on it is not distinguishable: And at the Investiture of Ferdinand Prince of Spain in 15 Hen. VIII, the then Garter hath a Collar, but without any Thing appendant thereto that is discernable; And here it must be observed, that these two Collars are not in the Form of S. S. (to which Garter had then also a Right) but in the Figure of Chains interlinked. Hence therefore the Collector is induced to believe, that this Decree of Queen Eliz. (which is placed in the ^o Margin) is to be interpreted, not as an original Donation of a Badge in general, but as an Addition or Augmentation, which in all Probability might be the surmounting the whole with an Imperial Crown. If the first Garter had not a particular Badge relative to the Order, it is however certain, that in his Petition to his Founder for the Allowance of his Rights by Letters Patents, he in the tenth ^o Article desires it might be declared, that on solemn Festivals, (when the King kept his Estate) he might wear "Colier au col de blasons de la tres-noble Compaigne de la Jarretier."

Sir Edward Walker Garter is by his Effigies prefixed to his History exhibited receiving Commands from King Charles the First, during the Rebellion, having a Badge ensigned with the Cross of St. George within the Garter, surmounted with an Imperial Crown, fixed to a Ribbond which is spread over his right Shoulder, and brought athwart his Body down to his Belt or Sash on his left Side, where this Badge hangs: The Colour of this Ribbond is not discoverable by that Draught or Print, yet without doubt it was Purple, because when the two Provincial Kings in 1662 petitioned the Crown for the Assignment of some Medal, and offered the Design of the King's Arms surrounded with the Garter, this same Sir Edward represented to the Sovereign, that such an ^o Ensign would be an Invasion upon the Officers of this Order, and farther requested, that the Provincials might not be allowed to wear the Medals to be granted them in purple Ribbons. The latter Warrants to the Jewel-House specify the Weight of Garter's Badge, to be one Ounce of Gold curiously enamelled with the Cross of St. George, impaling the Sovereign's Arms, all within the Garter, and surmounted with an Imperial Crown; and that the Chain be of Spanish Fashion, richly enamelled of the Goodness of xxii Kar. weighing six Ounces.

There are several other Ensigns belonging to Garter: In all the Patents for this Office since the Reign of Ed. IV inclusive, the Sovereign is introduced speaking in Person coronarius, & coronamus; Words contained likewise in the Patents of the Provincial Kings of Arms; and in Fact, when Princes heretofore created and invested these Officers with Ceremony, they actually placed Crowns upon their Heads with great Solemnity. The Crown of Garter was doubtless coeval with the Erection of that Office, n 8 Elic. 24 Apr. Eodem etiam in confessa Suprema ex solita sua beneficentia cum consensu fuorum Comitum decrevit, quod Garter Armorum Realius, reliquique post eum in eodem officio successuri, collo gerantur propendula Regum Anglie Insignia Orulini Subligari circumducta, & eisdem corona Imperiali super imposta.

^o See above, p. 530 in the Note.

^p The Original with his Majesty's Reference counterfeited by the Secretary of State. H. 2. p. 166.

but it may not be an easy Task to point out the Æra, when other Kings of Arms first had that honourable Ensign. The first Garter in the xith Article of his ⁹ Petition to his Founder King Hen. V recites, that Crowns had been worn on grand Dayes by the English Kings of Arms “du temps de grant memoire,” having in the precedent Article desired that it might be declared under the Great Seal; that the same Privilege belonged to himself and Successors. And it might be, that the Crown Fleuronnee surrounded with a Garter, which was the Impression on his ⁹ Signet, alluded to, and represented the Form of the Crown he wore, especially since that particular Bearing is still continued in the publick Seal of this Officer, being placed in the middle of the Chief. The Conjecture that this Crown on his Signet was thus relative, seems to be supported in some Measure by the Practice of other antient Kings of Arms; the Editor hath seen very few of their original Seals, yet in that small Number finds, that in 4 Ed. I. Peter King of the Heralds used a ⁹ Seal with three Crowns, that Wrexworth Guienne King of Arms in the Reign of Hen. VI had a ⁹ Crown in his Counterseal, which was not particular to the Officers of Arms in this Realm, for “Bois Robert Roy des Heraus de France in 1318 sealed with three Ducal Crowns, and “Guiot Roy des Heraus de Champagne in 1355 used the Impression of three Crowns, empaling a Lion within a Banner.

There were doubtless several Monuments erected for these Officers, which according to the Customs of former Ages, exhibited their Pourtraictures upon their Tombs; the Effigies of Clarenceux King of Arms, (who died in 1427) is still ⁹ remaining, having on his Head a Crown with Fleurons, like those in the Coronets of the present Dukes, and Clarenceux ⁹ Benoit, (who died in 1534,) hath a Crown in the same Form. Several old Manuscripts in Vellom, relating to the Institution of the Office of Arms, have by Way of Ornament the Pictures of Kings of Arms, fairly limned with Crowns on their Heads, and the Initial Letters of several antient Grants of Arms are embellished with the like Figures.

Mr. Astmore hath presented us with a ⁹ Sculpture of Garter under the Reign of Hen. VIII, with a Crown Fleuronnee, wherein there seems to be a Pearl set upon a Point between the Fleurons; for which Reason it will be no Digression to insert briefly, what Rules some Authors have laid down, touching the Materials, and Form of these Crowns to be worn by Kings of Arms.

It must be premised, that Romances were the great Entertainments of former Centuries, whereof many were composed by the Heralds, who ran likewise into another Vanity, that emblematical Mysteries were concealed under all Ensigns and Arms, and therefore indulged their Fancies and Inventions, to find out such allegorical Allusions throughout the whole System of their Professions. How silly, and wild soever such Notions might be, yet these were more innocent and allowable, than the extrava-

⁹ Above p. 330.

⁹ Above p. 331.

⁹ The original Release with this Seal is in Bibl. Harley.

⁹ Book of Grants in Off. Arm.

⁹ Communicated by the most learned Monsieur Clairembault.

⁹ By the same.

⁹ In St. Olave Hartstreet, London.

⁹ In St. Hellen's Church, London.

⁹ Hisp. beween p. 224 & 235.

gant Opinions, which in Tract of Time, and in an Age of Learning succeeded, which at Length arrived to that Height, that the Legislature interposed by a Statute 5 Eliz. c. 15 to lay a severe Penalty "on all fond phantastical Prophecies upon, or by the Occasion of any Arms, Fields, Beasts, Badges, or like Things accustomed in Arms, Cognifances, or Signets &c."

The transcribing these whimsical Conceits had been almost as ridiculous, as the composing them, if we did not learn the Fabrick, Make, and Fashion of the real Crowns from these far fetched Explanations. A learned Jesuit observed, that the Scepter and Crown of a King of Arms were ^b differenced from those of the Sovereign, but is silent in the Nature of these Distinctions; Olivier de la Marche supplies his Deficiency with regard to the Crown, who in his ^c Estate of the Household of the Duke of Burgundy in 1474, writes, that the Sovereign ought to set on the Head of a King of Arms a Crown, which must be of Silver gilt, and not of gold, that it must not be adorned with any other precious Stones, save Saphirs only; thereby to intimate that such Officer should not regard Riches, but fix his Thoughts upon the Treasures of Heaven solely, and that this Crown should have likewise four Crosses upon its Rim, and no Fleurons. Sicily ^d Herald, a Witness in this Case above all Exception, doth for the same Reason exclude all precious Stones; as likewise Fleurons, and insists that the Crown should be Silver gilt with four Crosses thereon. Whether this Allegory from the Symbol of the Saphir was taken from the blue Colour of that Stone, which seems to make some faint Appearance like to the Sky or Heaven, or from the Representation which the holy Scriptures give of the Throne of the Almighty, is no more material to enquire, than it would be to examine, whether the Rabbins had any Foundation for their cabalistical Assertion, that the Rod of Moses, as also the Tables given upon Mount Sinai were Saphirs.

These Particularities in the Crowns have not been observed in this Kingdom, where these have not only been fleuronnez, but if ^e Chaucer our Englifo Homer was just in his Description, have been also enriched with Pearls and Rubies, as well as with Saphirs. This Poet was contemporary with Rich. II. who mortgaged his own Crown, which is described to be ^f fleuronnee with several precious Stones. The antient Treatise stiled ^g Jurd &c. which hath been frequently cited, is positive that the Sovereigns of this Realm upon the Constitution of a King of Arms, ought to give him a Silver Crown gilt with Gold, wherein several other Ceremonials agree, though some of them being in the ^h French Language have couronne d'or, ^b Menestrier L'art du blason justifiee p. 119. c. P. 698.

^d MS. in bibl. Reg. E. n. 1403. Et apres le Prince luy met la couronne sur la teste, que doit estre d'argent d'ore, & sans nulles pierres, en signifiant, que nul Roy d'armes ne doit avoir nul regard a quelques richesses, fors en ciel seulement, la dite couronne doit estre en quatre lieux croisettes, & non fleuronnee. See also Gollut. Republ. Sequan. Pierre Mathieu p. 488. Rouck Nederlandischen Herald.

^e In his flour and lese Cainin King's at Arm.

The Crowns that they, on their Scottish, here Were set with pearl, and ruby and Saphere.

In his house of fame and coronid were at King's with crownis wrought full of Lofygers.

^f Rymex vol. 7. p. 359. de cymk granis & cymk peritz florum garniz ovelque Daleys, Emeraudes, Saphirs, Diamantz & grosses perles.

^g MS. in Mus. Ashmol. Oxon. n. 827. H. 4 penes me p. 689 b. Quando unus Rex Armorum fit, debet esse coronatus, & Rex sibi debet dare unam Coronam argenteam deauratam.

^h Menestrier de la Chevalerie p. 209 &c.

which may be the Errors of the Transcribers for d'ore. Therefore it might be owing to some temporary Frugalities, that the Kings of Arms at the Coronation of Queen Anne [Bullen] wore Crowns of ¹ Copper gilt, and that the like were prepared for ² Wall and ¹ Barker Garters. But in a short Time these Officers were restored to their ancient Rights, and the Provincial Kings received Crowns of Silver gilt, and Sir John Burrough Garter ^m obtained one of Gold, weighing 22 Ounces of the Goodness of xxii Kar. in Febr. 1636, which was after his Return from waiting upon his Majesty's Coronation in Scotland, that he might not be inferior to the Lord Lyon King of Arms, who, as will be soon shewn, had a Crown of that Metal: And the like Crowns have been continued to the succeeding Garters.

The present Crowns of the English Kings of Arms, have inscribed round upon their Rims these Words of the Psalmist, Miserere mei Deus secundum magnam misericordiam tuam, which probably gave Occasion to Mr. Camden the learned Clarenceux, to begin his Will with the three first Words of this Sentence. The Editor knows not, whether the foreign Kings of Arms have any Inscriptions on their Crowns; and though in the ancient Draughts of the Crowns of these English Officers, which he hath hitherto seen, there are not any Words visible, which might be owing to the Negligence and Unaccuracy of the Painters, yet he conjectures this is the Continuance of an old Practice, since he hath not met with any Memorial of the Introduction of this Motto, and therefore he supposes it to be an Indication of the Antiquity of these Crowns, in Correspondence to the former Crowns of Sovereigns, which had Inscriptions on them; thus the Crowns of Charlemagne, and of the Kingdom of Hungary still remaining, have several Motto's on them, and the Crowns of the former Kings of ⁿ France contained their Names formed thereon with Nails of Gold; and that there were Words engraven heretofore on the real Crowns of our Monarchs, seems to be intimated by the Quotation in the ^o Margin, and also on the Representations of these Crowns in ^p Embroidery: Within these Crowns of the English Kings of Arms, there is a Cap of crimson Scarlet doubled with Ermin, having at the Top a large Tuft or Tassel wrought in gold Silk.

Sir James Balfour was constituted Lyon King of Arms of Scotland, in 1630, and according to his own ^q Narrative, the old Crown it self of that Kingdom was put upon his Head at his first Creation. This in-ⁱ Stow's Ann. p. 567. Shakespeare takes Notice of it in his Play called the Life of Hen. VIII, which is British.

² D. 4 in OE. Arm. p. 222 b.

¹ MS. Ant. a Wood in Mus. Astm. n. 117 in 8vo

^m H. 2. penes me p. 170.

ⁿ Le Genre Moeurs des Francois p. 21.

^o Domitian A. 15. p. 105 b. In fronte Coronæ Regis scribitur Timor Dei, & hoc est initium sapientia Regis, timori superponitur iusticia, ut unicuique iudicando quod suum est, reddat. In posteriore parte coronæ ponitur species æternæ tribulationis, cui superponitur prudentia in cavendis malis, & adulatibus passivis. In dextra parte coronæ scribitur gaudium pro regni sui iusto mode ramine, cui superponitur temperantia, quæ est in appetendis bonis. In sinistra parte scribitur dolor pro iniquitate malorum, & depressione honorum; dolet enim pius & prudens rector, cum non potest ulcisci injuriam & oppressionem popularium: dolori superponitur fortitudo, ut fortis sit & constans contra maliciam tyrannorum. Et ita diademata item coronarum regni regi regnum integram & firmam conservabit & in æterna presentabit Or.

^p Lib. Cotom. in magni Garder p. 104. pro brauat, unius Coronæ cum literis operatis de nuro de Cipr. & serico super unum capucium de nuro velvet rubr. pro Palat. Dom. Regis.

^q H. 3. penes me p. 132.

dustrious Preserver of the Antiquities of that Nation hath left among several other Works, a Treatise Entitled, The Office of Heraldrie, now in the Advocates Library at Edinburgh; wherein he describes the ' Crown of his Office to be "made close of beaten Gold, after the Model of the Imperial Crown of Scotland, not set with Stones, but only enamelled, its Cap being of crimson Velvet doubled and uplaid with Ermins, which " was given him solely for ever by his Majesty the Day of his Coronation, [18 June 1633] as a Token of his Bounty, which may be worn " at all Solemnities whatsoever, except at Funerals, and Interments." The Word Close signifies doubtless a Crown with Circles or Arches over it; but this Editor cannot determine, at what precise Time the Kings of Scotland first used Crowns in that Form, for James the Vth, in the Delineation of a Procession of the Knights of the Garter 26 Hen. VIII, is represented with an unarched Crown; but though in all Probability the Kings of England wore the Close Imperial Crowns before any Monarchs of the neighbouring Realms, since ' Hen. IV at his Coronation in 1399, had a Crown arched in the [Form of a] Cross, Henry VI had the same on the Impression of his English Money, and which is memorable had the Crown open or unarched on his French Money, and Edw. IV used the arched Imperial Crown on his Great Seal and Coins from the Commencement of his Reign, yet our Sovereigns have not permitted that Privilege to their chief King of Arms any otherwise, than by surmounting the Badge with it.

The Ritual of the Creation of Montjoie in France, assigns to him such a ' Crown as pleases the Sovereign, and in the Figure of him placed in the Frontispiece of Institution des Roys Heraldez, & Poursuivans d'armes printed by Le Feron in 1555, he is represented with a Crown with Perles (as they are termed) set immediately upon the Rim, like to the Coronets of Viscounts, having as it seems to View, a Cross in the Center of the Crown. In the Austrian Netherlands these Officers had four Crosses partees surmounted on a Circle, garnished with precious Stones set with Pearls.

The Lyon of Scotland according to his own Relation is at Liberty to wear his Crown at all Solemnities, besides Funerals, but our Ceremonials enjoined our Kings of Arms to wear their Crowns at all Times when the Sovereign kept his Estate royal, that is appeared in Regalibus with his Crown on his Head; and the like Command is laid on ' Montjoie to attend " en habit royal couronné, si le Roy est;" and at what Times the latter Kings of France thus wore their Crowns, appears from a Clause in the Will of Philippe de Valois in 1350.

It would be too foreign to recite in this Place the Customs of our Anglo-Norman Kings, and of other Princes contemporary with them, who appeared crowned with great Magnificence on the annual Festivals of Christ-

r C. 12.

f Froiss. vol. 4. c. 114.

i Du Fresn. Gloss. v. Heraldez.

Jurisprud. Heroica vol. 2. p. 24. Lamina aurea quatuor parvulis crucibus impositis conspicua, vulgo le Cercle garny de pierres, gresle de perles, & surmonte de quatre crois partees.

x See above p. 332 art. 10, 11.

y Du Fresn. Gloss. v. Heraldez.

z He desistes to his Queen all bis Jewells, exceptee tantseulement nostre Couronne Royale, de laquelle nous avons use ou acoustume a user en grandes Fesses, ou en solemnitez, & de laquelle nous usames & la portames a la Chevalerie de Jean nostre aïné fils. Du Fresn. Dissert. ad Joinvill. p. 152.

mas, Easter, and Whitsunday, called therefore by ^a Eadmer Days of the Crown, unless it could be proved that Officers of Arms were coeval with those Times; however since our learned ^b Glossographer supposed a Fraternity of them consisting of Kings, Heralds, and Pursivants was settled in this Kingdom under Hen. III., some Instances of this Practice in, and subsequent to that Reign may be produced; especially since in several of these Solemnities, wherein our Kings thus wore their Crowns in Majesty, they personally created some Officers of Arms.

Hen. III. was ^c crowned on the 28th of October in his first Year, from which Day as our ^d Annalists observe, he began the Dates of each Year of his long Reign, and yet a ^e Record assures us, he was again crowned on Whitsunday in his fourth Year, and also on Whitsunday in the following Year, if ^f Mat. Paris is not mistaken in his Chronology; and he wore his Crown again at the ^g Translation of the Body of the Confessor. But to descend to latter Ages; we find the royal Crown carried to ^h Shene, Eltham, and other Palaces, where Rich. II. resided. Hen. IV. wore his Crown in Westminster-Hall solemnly in ⁱ Term Time, Hen. VI. created Lancaster King of Arms and Colar Pursivant, having his ^k Crown on his own Head. In this Manner Edw. IV. celebrated several ^l Festivals, and created Guienne King of Arms. Among the Memorials of this Usage by Hen. VII. it is particularly remembered, that at the Creation of his second Son to be Duke of York, he at the Instance of the Marquess of Dorset constituted ^m an Herald for him by that Appellation, and it is to be presumed that he did not appear in less Splendour, when he created his eldest Son to be Prince of Wales, when he instituted a Pursivant for him by the Name of ⁿ Wallingford, a Castle then belonging to this Prince as Duke of Cornwall, and from the Copies of some ^o Petitions drawn by the Heralds in the Reign of Hen. VIII. it may be inferred, that King upon some august Solemnities might also wear his Crown.

In and with such Pomp, State, and Grandour, some Englisb Officers of Arms were created; it was indeed a Rule in this Kingdom, as ^p Upton who wrote in the Reign of Hen. VI. informs us, that even Pursivants (who were only Novices) could not however be constituted upon any Festival less than a Sunday, but Heralds might be created in the Field of War, at Coro-

^a L. 4. p. 102, 105.

^b Spehm. in v Heraldus.

^c Claus. 1 H. 3. m. 25 d. Rym. Fed. vol. 1. p. 215.

^d Chron. T. Wykes p. 38, Annal. Waverl. p. 182.

^e Claus. 4 H. 3. m. 2. Liberat. de thesauro nostro Willmo Caisari nostro xxxi. v. viii. 4, quos posuit in reparacione Coronæ nostræ, & Regalium nostrorum contra Coronacionem nostram apud W. 11. m. in festo Pentecostes ultime preterito: Dat. 5 Oct.

^f P. 309.

^g Annal. Waverl. p. 225.

^h Exit. Pell. Pasch. 16 R. 2. in denariis solutis pro expensis per diversas vices habitis pro portagio & caratagio magne Camere Regis ad Wallingfordiam, veritus Shene, Eltham, & alia maneria Re- Bis.

ⁱ Enlog. ad A. D. 1408.

^k Notes to the Black-Book p. 114.

^l On St. Edward's Day 1472. The King being crowned in the Parliament-Chamber created the Lord Grothuse Earl of Winchestre, and then made a King of Arms and baptized him Guienne, and set a Crown on his hedde which was call'd Richemonte. M. 15 in Off. Arm. E. 14 b. MS. Ant. a Wood in Mus. Alhm. n. 35. p. 22.

^m Julius B. 12 in bibl. Cotton. p. 96. Claudius A. B. W. Q. in Off. Arm. p. 223.

ⁿ Julius B. 12. p. 56.

^o MS. of Fellow Norroy given to the Heralds Office by Mr. Hare Richmond p. 10 b. Item as oft tymes, as hit shall please the King's moste noble Grace to be in his Estate royal, wearing his Crowne, the King's of Armes being present to were thaire Crownes to the Chapell and from the Chapell and all the dynner tymes and to have largesse after his moste noble pleser. The same almost in the Petition of Wall Lancaster to the same King. L. 6. 15. penes Ed. Dering Baronet. p. De it. mil. p. 19, 21.

nitions, and Turnaments. The foreign Rituals enjoin that the Erection of this Office should be "es grandes jours, et es bonnes festes," and we have several Precedents of such their Practices. The King of Portugal being crowned at Ombres erected then an Herald by that Denomination; Charles Duke of Burgundy at the grand Triumphs upon his Marriage made a general Promotion of his Officers of Arms; our Hen. VII on the Vigil of his Coronation erected Rougedragon Pursivant, and Jackson was created Chesler at the Coronation of Queen Anne Bullen; and in a Treatie of this Nature it must not be forgotten that Garter was instituted, and Clarenceux and Fleur de Lis were created at Windsor, when the Feasts of St. George were solemnized.

There is a Tract, which Mr. Thynne Lancaster Herald, a competent Judge in all Points of Antiquity, assigns to the Reign of Rich. II., wherein among other Rights of Kings of Arms a Rule is laid down, "that at all Times, and every Time, when the King wears his Crown, and holds his Estate Royal, especially on the four high Feasts of the Year, Christmas, Easter, Whitsunday, and All Saints Day, every King of Arms present ought to wear his Crown in the King's Presence going to Chapel, and returning from thence, and during the whole Time of Dinner;" But the Observation of these Festivals with this Splendour by the Sovereign's wearing his Crown, hath been long discontinued; and for some Ages our Kings after the Solemnities of their own Coronations, have worn their Crowns only upon Occasions of their publick Entries into the Parliament-Chamber, however in the Sculpture, which exhibits Hen. VIII thus sitting on his Throne crowned in Majesty, Garter King of Arms is bare-headed. And it is supposed that for the latter Centuries these Kings of Arms after the Ceremonies of their own Creations were finished, have only worn their Crowns at the Coronations of Kings and Queens.

If Chaucer did not indulge himself in a Poetical Licence, Kings of Arms in his Age wore Crowns at Tilts, and indeed a Ritual of the Jufts between the Baltard of Burgundy and the Lord Scales informs us, that four Kings of Arms were then placed at the Corners within the Rails thus crowned; as these Officers were heretofore crowned at the Times of their

^q Olivier de la Marche Etat du Duc Charles le 607. Mutibien Hist. de Loys xi l. xi p. 612. Colomb. des Roys d'armes p. 43. See about Creation of Mourjoie in du Fret Glod. v. Herald. Sicily Hist. MS. in bibl. Regia E. n. 1403.

^r Froill. vol. 3. p. 125.

^s Il changea les noms de plusieurs, & fit de Heaux Roys d'armes & Marechaux, & de Pourjuvans Heraux; & de nouveaux Poursuivans (q. 13. 14.) comme il est de costume, & ainsi se jout la Solemnite, & triumphe d'icelle feste. Ol. de la Marche p. 587.

^t MS. penes Honibil. Magist. Rotul. MS. Ant. a Wood in Mus. Ashm. n. 33. p. 23.

^u MS. Ant. a Wood ibid.

^v Notes to the Black Book p. 114.

^w Collection of Discourses by Astyn, p. 245, 247. The next correct and learned Publisher of them had not the Fortune of a perfect Transcript, the Words be "Item toutz & cheacun fois que le Roy port coronne et tient Estate Royal, en especial aux quater hault festes de l'an, cestaveoir Noell, Pasques, Pentecoste, & Tour Seintz, doivent et appanient a cheacun des ditz Roys d'armes qui seront present de porter coronne en la presence du Roy avant a la Messe a la Chapelle, et en revenant, et aussi tout au temps de dîner, et si doivent avoir Laygelle selonque la tres-noble plesure du Roy." B. 2. pieces noe p. 273 in Mr. Thynn's Hand-writing.

^z Dr. Fiddes's Life of Cardinal Wolsey p. 302.

^a In his flour and test.

^b MS. of the Right Honourable Sir Jos. Jekyll Master of the Rolls, endorsed Coronation, Funerals, and Feats of Arms.

respective Creations, so the same Crowns were carried and offered at their Funerals, with other Ornaments and Hachments. Some later Officers have indeed taken the Liberty of empaling their own Arms with those upon the Seals of their Offices, all surmounted with the Ensign of these Crowns; but when those in the ^d Netherlands attempted to place such Crowns over their Arms, that Novelty was prohibited by an Order of the King of Spain as an unjustifiable Innovation.

For the Affinity of the Subject, it may not be a disallowable Curiosity to enquire, what particular Coverings these Officers wore on their Heads, when they formerly waited on the Sovereign in Cavalcades or Processions, when he did not wear his royal Crown. Herein Garter by Reason of his going within the State, as it is termed, is distinguished from the other Officers of Arms. The King is then said to proceed in State, when the Sword of State, the Emblem of regal Power is carried, and he who carries it, and those who proceed near it, and immediately belong to his royal Person, are said to go within the State, and all such of what Degree soever within that Circuit, are uncovered out of Reverence to Majesty, while the Nobility and others without the Limits of that State, are covered in all Cavalcades or Processions on Foot, made without Doors. This Distinction is mentioned in the ^e Formularies, and may be seen in the printed Draughts of the ^f Cavalcades from the Tower to Westminster, which were ^g customary on the Day before the Coronation: Though in some Proceedings either for the Severity of the Weather, the Length of the Way, or the Age of the Persons, the Sovereign hath been pleased to indulge those within the Compass of his State the Liberty of wearing privileged Caps, like to the Caps or Bonnets of the Yeomen of the Guard.

In the Constitutions touching the Officers of the Order, it was declared by Hen. VIII and the Knights Companions, that when the Sovereign shall proceed solemnly [in State] Garter shall go next before his ^b Sword [of State,] no one interposing, save only the Constable and Marshal &c. which was not introductory of a new Right, but the Allowance of an antient One; for upon a Controversy soon after the Institution of this Officer; there was a Determination made by the ⁱ Duke of Clarence Constable of the Host at the Siege of Caen 3 Sept. 1417, "That as often as the King shall " ride, or go on foot, or on horseback to the Church; or in the Army, " or otherwise in any Camps, Towns, or other Place or Places, where " Honour ought to be maintained, the Principal King of Arms, or He-

^c At the Obsequy for Will. Haukelow Clarenceux (who was drowned in 1476.) his Crown was offered by Irlonde King of Arms, his own Coat by Windsor Herald, his Garter by Fawcon Herald &c. Titus C. 1. Bibl. Cott. p. 456. B. 2. penes me p. 293. Hawley Clarenceux in his Will dated in 1557. desires that Mr. Norroy do see him honestly brought to his Grave, and that he might have his Coat and Penon of his Arms, and his own Crown according to the Estate of his Office. Wratley Q. 29.

^d Juristpr. Heroica vol. 2. p. 24.

^e M. 6 in Off. Arm. F. 42 a.

^f See that of Charles II printed by Ogilby, &c.

^g Thuanus l. 13. p. 355 of Jane Gray and p. 361 of Queen Mary.

^b Black-Book p. 351, 352.

ⁱ There are antient Copies hereof in several Libraries. The Words are, "Que toutes les fois, que le Roy chevauchera, ou yra a pyed, ou a cheval, soit a l'eglise, ou en armee, ou autrement aux Champs, en villes, ou autres lieux, & places, ou l'on doit tenir & garder honneur, le principal Roy d'armes ou herault presens portantz les Armes du Roy, se tiendront & yront dorenavant droit devant la personne du Roy, ou de celui qui portera son espee devant luy, et les autres Roys d'armes & heraults, pour ce que une cote d'armes & heraults represente tous cotes d'armes du Roy, yront droit devant les autres Seigneurs, & c'est pour l'estat du Roy.

“ shall present, wearing the [Coat] Arms of the King, should from thenceforwards keep, and go streight before the King's Person, or him, that shall carry his Sword before him, and the other Kings of Arms or Heralds, because one Habit of Arms represents all the Kings Coats) shall go streight before the Lords, and this is for the Estate of the King.” A Decree much to the same Purpose was ^k made by Arthour of Breitayne, Constable of France in Febr. 1457, in Relation to the Heralds of that Kingdom.

The French Writers mention a particular Cap belonging to their Officers of Arms, being a black Bonnet of Silk, others ^m say of Velvet with a Cordon or Band of Gold, and thus ⁿ Montjoie is pictured, whose Cap is specified to be of ^o black Velvet with a Cordon of Gold semee, with two Rows of Pearls adorned with a Plumage of Heron's Feathers, yet in some ^p Formularies these French Officers are said to have had white Bonnets. The French Herald who summoned the Baron de Soubize to surrender the Town of St. Jean d'Angeli is described by the ^q Historian “ cum serico & oblongo pileolo without intimating the Colour of it. Some ^r Manuscripts ascribe to these Officers during the Time of War Coverings on their Heads of Sky coloured Silk with white Chapelets thereon: But the Editor hath not found any particular Caps assigned to them within this Kingdom, differenced from those worn by other Persons. 'Tis true they had ^s Hoods furred or garnished with white Bogy in the Reign of Ed. III. and under Rich. II. delivered from the Wardrobe, but then we find that such Hoods (stiled Caputia) were likewise delivered to other Persons, but no such Hoods are mentioned for the Heralds, under the Reign of Hen. V. and Hen. VI. in the Wardrobe Accounts already cited. The Reason whereof might be, that Caps or Hats with Brims were used before that Age by the English, and from them in all Probability were introduced into France, an useful Return for the several fantastick Modes of Apparel that in different Tracts of Time had been taken by our Ancestors from that Nation. But though these Chaperons or Hoods were in some short Time after the Usage of Hats discontinued as Coverings for the Head, yet such Hoods were and still are kept up as a solemn Sort of Ornament by the Knights of the Garter, civil Magistrates, Judges, Liveries-men in Corporations, Council learned in both Laws, and Graduates in the University, and till very late Years were actually worn by all Gentlemen in close Mourning at Funerals. Bever Hats with black Fringes, and as broad as Bucklers, are mentioned in ^t Chaucer to be worn upon the Head, who also seems to intimate that Chaperons were not totally disused in his Age. In the ^u Wardrobe Account of Hen. IV. before his Accession to ^k Ms. in Queen's College Oxon. wrote by one Anderson.

^l Pileum ex serico nigro. Spensii Theor. Insign.

^m p. 7. Besoign l'Etat de France p. 128.

ⁿ Diction. de Trevoux v. heraut.

^o In Title Page of Colombiere des Roys & Heralds d'Armes.

^p Futretiere en Dictionaire.

^q Ceremon. Franc. Entry into Paris 1515. Corollations of Lewis 13 &c.

^r Grammond Hist. Gallie ad A. D. 1621.

^s M. 16 in Off. Arm. f. 61. L. 6. 1. penes Edm. Doring Baronet.

^t See above p. 316 note f. and p. 446 note y.

^u In the Merchant's Tale, Upon his bed a Flaunters bevir hat. In Friars Tale v. 119. an hat on his head with fringes black. Of the Wife of Bath, and on her head a hute, as broad, as is a Boketer or a Targe. See the Plowman's Prologue v. 1948, and the Knight's Tale v. 1092. In the Prologue to the Miller's Tale, neither hoods, ne hat.

^v 14 R. 2 in Offic. Ducis Lancastrie.

the Crown is an Entry "pro pileo nigro empto pro capite Domini." A Chronicler relates that it was the ^x universal Practice of the English in 1369 to wear coloured Caps, mostly red with Furrs, but possibly that Word Caps may there denote Hoods; Mr. Ashmole's supposes that the Founders of the Order of the Garter wore really Caps, because they are represented in that Manner by a Draught; but he should have considered the Age wherein that Draught was made during the Reign of Hen. VI., by the Order of the first Garter to be pictured in the Windows of St. George's Chappel in Stamford. As to France, there was an Order made in 1447, that every Person should have a ^z Cross upon his Robe or upon his Chaperon, and Monstrelet informs us, that Queen Isabelle shewed a great Repentment against Tozel, who had addressed himself to her Majesty without the Respect of waving his Chaperon, whereas in the Entry of Charles VII into Roan in 1449, that King had a Castor, (that is a Bever,) Hat on his Head lined with red Velvet, surmounted with a Tuft of gold Thread; and from that Time, or at least under his Reign ^d Bonnets succeeded in Place of the Chaperons within that Kingdom. Tonge Clarenceux in his Will made 28 Hen. VIII., devised his ^b Cap with a Broche of Gold thereon. The Herald of the King of Aragon had a round ^c scarlet Bonnet bordered with Ermin, and an high Plumage. Toison d'or had a ^d Chaperon of scarlet furred with Gris, which was relative to the Order.

The Rod, Virge, Scepter, and Staff are Symbols of temporal and ecclesiastical Government. The Admonition upon Delivery of the Virge at Coronations evidences the former, and the pastoral Staff is a Testimony of the latter. But the heraldick Systems themselves will supply us with sufficient Proofs, for in them we find, the chief Officer of Arms present at Funerals bore a white Rod, as the ^e Signal of his directing and conducting the Ceremonies; upon which Account a ^f French Author intimated, that Pursivants, being only Aids and Assistants to the Heralds, and having no Command in the Office, were therefore excluded from the Honour of Rods. The first Garter upon his Institution petitioned his victorious Founder Hen. V. that the long white Rod ensigned with a small Banner or Pennon might be reserved to himself exclusive of all other Kings of Arms, for the Badge and ^g Mark of his Sovereignty over that Fraternity. Mr. Ashmole on this Subject only ^b quotes the Constitutions by Hen. VIII. which too he mistranslates; for the ⁱ Original doth not mention the Empalement of the Sovereign's Arms, but directs only a Banner ^x Chron. Evelham A. D. 1360. Tota Communitas Anglicana, tam dives, & simplex, & etiam pauper, ut magnates, tam rex, quam comes, & cuiuscunque sortis homines, & presbiteri usi sunt cappis coloratis, & fere rubri coloris, pro maiore parte quidem furcatis nobili pelle. Quidam autem duplicato nobili panno, velut in antiquo tempore solebant Judei & Gentiles solemnitate tabata sua, & diis libamina offerre; & maxime mulieres lasciviebant illo ornameto, si fas est vocare ornametum.

^y Hist. p. 215.

^z Hist. de Chartier.

^a Daniel Hist. Ch. viii. p. 1224.

^b Hogen 94. 34.

^c Menestrier l'usage des Armoiries p. 154.

^d Olivier de la Marche p. 257.

^e In the Funeral of Hen. VII. it is entered Garter with a white Rod in his Hand as Condolour bearing the King's hundred Cross, D. 4. in Off. Arm. p. 1096. At the Funeral of the Prince of Orange 1530. Burgundy King of Arms of the Emperor bore a white Rod in his Hand, as Condolour of the Mourning. Gollut. Repub. Sequan. p. 1353.

^f Besoign l'Etat de France p. 128. Dié. de Moireti 1718 v. Héraux.

^g See above p. 330. Art. xi.

^h Hist. p. 352.

ⁱ Black-Book p. 352.

of the Ensigns of the Order; though it is indeed probable, that the Sovereign's Arms were antiently thus empaled with St. George's Cross, since the Treatise Jura &c. (hereafter cited) describeth this Banner on the Rod of Garter with such an Empalement, as it is also represented in such Manner by the Sculpture under the Reign of Hen. VIII.

This Petition of the first Garter seems to imply, that antecedent to that Time the Four Provincial Kings of Arms, or the most antient, or superior of them in Precedency might have Rods appertaining to their Offices; and though no direct Proof of it should be found, yet that Conjecture would be countenanced, in that these Provincials before that Time had Marshals or Deputies under them within their respective Marches, and such Marshals to Kings of Arms, at least in foreign Parts, were created by the Solemnity of delivering them a Rod, so that it is reasonable to suppose, the same Formality was observed in this Realm: And therefore it may not be easy to determine at this Distance of Time, whether this first Garter designed any more by this Petition, than that his Rod might be contradistinguished from those of the other Kings of Arms and their Marshals, by the Addition or Augmentation of this Banner or Pennon, leaving still to these Provincials, the Liberty of using simple Rods unensigned: However that may be, there is no Rod represented in the Hand of John Clarenceux, on his Pourtraicture upon his Tomb, who died in 6 Hen. VI, within few Years after this Erection of Garter, and there is no Mention of any Rod appertaining to the Provincials in the Treatise Entitled Jura &c. which is particular in the Figure of that belonging to Garter; and it may be here remarked, that this Tract was in all Probability compiled before the 18th Hen. VI, when Viscounts were first created, because in stating the Fees of the Degrees of the Nobility for displaying their Banners, conferring Knighthoods on them &c. the Fees for the Order of Viscounts are omitted; which are inserted in a subsequent Treatise in French, stiled Les Droits &c. wherein the Rod of Garter is likewise described without taking Notice of any Rods belonging to the Provincials. But the Silence of these Books is no convincing Argument, that these Provincials might not at these respective Times have the Honour of Rods differenced from that of Garter: Certain it is, that Benoilt Clarenceux, who died in 26 Hen. VIII, is exhibited by his Effigies upon his Monument with a long Rod, but without any Banner or Pennon upon it; and the Initial Letters of several Grants of Arms made by the Provincial Kings are embellished with the Figure of a King of Arms having a Rod in his Hand.

² Ashm. Hff. p. 274.

¹ In the Church of St. Olive Hartstreet, London.
 m The Words are, Et debet portare secundum antiquam consuetudinem in manu virgam albam & longam, habentem terminos auratos, & in cuspidi virgæ prædictæ parvum vexillum cum armis Sancti Georgii mixtis cum Armis Regis. H. 4. penes me p. 638. There are Copies in several Libraries, The Title at large is Jura, Debita, & Largitates appertinentes de antiqua consuetudine Armorum Officialibus

" secundum morem & consuetudinem Angliæ."

n The Words are Et icelluy Jarrrière le jour et feste de Saint George portera une longue verge blanche, les boutz dorrez, & en la pointe dicelle une petite banniere des Armes de Saint George parties avecques les Armes du Roy. B. 3. penes me p. 39. in membran. which Book belonged formerly to Sir Tho. Wriothesley Garter.

o In the Church of St. Hellens, London.

To the French Treatise here quoted a ^p Note is added, That there are two Rods in the Order of the Garter, one white signifying Joy, the other Black denoting Punishment; and probably this Observer believed, that this white Rod might be first allowed to Garter, in Contradistinction only to the Black Rod carried by the Gentleman Usher in that Order, who hath his Denomination from it, and in Truth was an Officer of much earlier Institution than Garter, and whose Business it was to apprehend and arrest any Knights Companions, who transgressed against the Statutes: But though a white Rod might well be esteemed the Signal of Joy, since our municipal Law hath reckoned it the Emblem of ^q Peace; yet considering the Similitude and Analogy throughout all Kingdoms in Matters relating to Officers of Arms, it may be supposed, that this Symbol of a white Rod was rather allowed to Garter in Correspondence to a general Custom, than given him singly with a View to the Black Rod; though it must be confessed that the Banner on the Rod of Garter, is relative to the Order.

Kings of Arms in Hungary, Bohemia, Norway, Suedeland, Poland, and in other Places (whereof Instances will be soon given) had Rods, which many Authors term ^r Scepters. The first Commentators upon the Institution of Heralds according to the legendary Drapery of their Ages, derived the Descent of these Rods from the Caduceus, the Symbol of Peace ascribed by the Pagan Theology to Mercury, whom they gravely denominate the Herald of the Gods; and if they had known, that the Pater Patratus the chief of the Roman Feccials, held a ^s Scepter at the confirming Treaties of Peace to supply the Absence of the Statue of Jupiter, they would generally have contemned that Original as of slender Antiquity, though indeed one of these Writers is contented to ascribe this Institution to a ^t Decree of Julius Caesar. There could be no Apology made for quoting such Dreams, unless we were thereby assured, that Rods had been the known Ensigns of Heralds in these Ages, when these credulous Authors thus rack'd their Inventions to deduce the Pedigree of them. But no Confure is hereby intended to be laid on several latter Writers, who in their Latin Histories, have expressed these Officers by the Term Caduceatores.

But to descend to Facts, there are several Solemnities of Funerals published in Sculpture. La Ruelle printed that of Charles Duke of Lorain, where Sicily King of Arms is figured with a Rod resembling a Marshal's Staff, called there baculum Fecciale; whereas the Heralds and Pursivants then attending are without any Rods: At the Funeral of the Emperor Charles V, the principal Officer Toison d'or is drawn with a Rod not ensigned with a Crown, and the Heralds and Pursivants are without any Rods; and in the same Manner these latter are represented in the Funeral of Albert Archduke of Austria, wherein the Premier Roy d'armes is pictured with a Rod

^p Nota, que en dit Ordre de la Jarretiere y a deux verges, l'une blanche, et l'autre noyre, desquelles l'une signifie Liefte, et l'autre pugnicion.

^q Britton de leg. Angl. c. 53 oue une blanche vinge ensigne de peas.

^r Colombiere des Roys d'armes p. 42. et pour Sceptre un baston d'or a la main dextre.

^s Ibid. et p. 58. Ceremon. Franc. vol. 1. p. 447 &c.

^t Servius ad 12. Aeneid. Sceptum hoc &c.

^u The Treatise concerning Selon les ditz des Philosophes &c. whereof there are ancient Copies in several Libraries.

crowned. These are modern Precedents; and we know, that the Baton of the Lord Lyon of Scotland is of "Wood great at one End, and small " at the other, coloured Azure, and all over powder'd with Thistles of " Gold, which he may use on all Occasions whensoever and wheresoever " himself pleases; But the Times he must not take it, are at his denoun- " cing War, or proclaiming Peace, forfaiting of Traytors, Degrada- " tion, and Proclamation of Kings," which are the * Words of Sir James Balfour, who filled this Office with great Sufficiency; though it may be difficult to assign a satisfactory Reason, why this Ensign should not be born upon the Proclamations of Peace, whereof it was antiently a Symbol, or at the Proclamation of the King: We find the first King of Arms at the † Inauguration of Ch. ii. to the Dutchy of Brabant 24 Febr. 1666, carried his Caduceus surmounted with a Royal Crown.

These Precedents relate only to Kings of Arms, but then there are Ex- pressions in some Historians, that Heralds were in Possession of the same Privilege of Rods, though it may be not improbable, that these Writers in several of these Cases used the Term Herald according to the usual Sense, wherein it hath been and still is, frequently attributed to and in- cludes Kings of Arms: Therefore the Herald who † bore "bacillum lilii " distinctum, when he summoned the Baron de Soubize, might be of this superior Order; as also the "duo Regii Heroldi," who held Rods in their Hands at the † Funeral of Frederick the second King of Denmark; and the † Heralds of Austria, Hungary, and Bohemia, who carried white Rods at the Emperor's Election might be of the same Classis, if at that Time there was any † real Distinction between Kings of Arms and Heralds in Austria. However the French Authors (as it will be soon shewn) allow Rods to their Heralds with some Distinction in the Form of them, which might be an Usage peculiar to that Realm; for though Charolois Herald used a † white Rod at a Tilt in 1449, yet it doth not follow, that he certainly bore it as an Incident to his Heraldship, but might then use it as being ap- pointed to attend at that Time within the Lists to part the Combatants, for such Persons † carried long Rods for that Purpose; otherwise he might then have been a Marshal to some King of Arms, and thereby entituled to a Rod; and we know in Fact, that an Herald by that Title was in 1530 Marshal of Arms in Brabant.

Such Marshals were doubtless settled in all Kingdoms, wherein the Fra- ternity of Officers of Arms was allowed; we have several uncontrollable Evidences of this Usage within this Realm. Richard Spenser Herald was † Marshal del South in 7 Rich. II. that is, Deputy to that King of Arms, who then had the Southern Province under his Jurisdiction; and again in

* The Office of Heraltrie c. 12. MS. in bibl. Advocat. Edinburg.

† Theatre de la Noblesse de Brabant in 4to 1705. le Premier Roy d'armes revetu de la riche Cotte d'armes plaines du Roy en riche broderie, le Caducee somme de la Couronne Royale en la main ‡ Grammond Hist. Gallix ad A. D. 1621.

§ In the printed Draught of that Funeral.

¶ Licent. ad autem bullam p. 265.

‡ See above p. 283.

‡ Olivier de la Marche Hist. p. 295.

‡ Ibid p. 183, 215, 250, 265, 298, 300, 491.

‡ Meneitrier le Blason de noblesse p. 536.

‡ Rot. Fran. 7 R. 2. m. 23. Richardus Spenser

Heraud Mariscall del Sud, qui in obsequium Regis ad partes transmarinas prefecturus est, habet hiteras Regis de Protectione cum Clavula Volorum usq; ad festum Purificationis beate Mariæ proxime futurum duraturas. T. R. apud Wilm. xvi die Sept.

the 18th Year of that Reign, a ^b Marshal Herald was sent into Ireland. In the third of Hen. V, Hereford ⁱ Mareschal of Arms waited upon that King in his Expedition to France; and the first Garter petitioned that Prince for ^k Permission to appoint his own Marshal; William Bois dit Excestre hervold Mareschal d'armes des Noreys was one of the Officers, who consented to the ^l Constitutions made at Roan on Friday 5 January 1419-20; in which the Marshal of Clarenceux is mentioned. The learned Du Fresne quotes a ^m Manuscript of an English Herald wrote under the Reign of Hen. VI, which Names the Marshals; and under Ed. IV our Records furnish us with Thomas ⁿ Holme Windsor Herald Marshal of Arms in the second and ^o fifth Years, and with John Windsor Herald Marshal of Arms in the ^p fifteenth Year then one of the Embassadors to the King of Castile.

It would be tedious to transcribe the Passages to this Purpose scattered up and down in our Manuscripts; but it may not be too great a Digression to observe, that these Marshals thus specified in our Records were Persons eminent in their Professions, and soon promoted to the highest Order. Meneftrier indeed cites an ^q ancient Formulary, that the Marshal had of Course a Right to succeed his Constituent upon his Death. The Title of Spenser's Heraldship being omitted, and the Surname of Hereford not mentioned, it may be difficult to settle their Persons. But this William Bois thus designed Marshal of Noreys in 7 Hen. V, had been in the first Year of that Reign by the ^r Denomination of Dorset Herald twice sent into France to attend upon [Thomas Beaufort] Earl of that County, which Earl being in the fourth Year promoted to the Dukedome of Exeter, this William ^s Bois of the County of Buckingham by the Title of Exeter Herald attended again upon him into France in 1 Hen. VI, which Duke ^t dying on 27 December in the fifth Year, we find that in January ^u following ⁱ Priv. Sigill. 22 Junia 3 H. 5.—Que a noz hien amcz Lycestre, Guyenne, & Irland Roys d'armes, & a Hereford Mareschal d'armes facez paier a chacun de eux douzce deniers le jour en main pour le premier deuy quart pour leur gages de guerre pour ceste nostre viage.

^b Exit. Pell. Mich. 18 R. 2. Marescallo Heraldio missio in Comitatu Her Nicle Rynens, & Richard Abberbury junioris militum ad Dom. Regem versus partes Hibernie in per solutionem v. marcarum, quas Dom. Rex eidem Marescallo liberare mandavit de dono suo.

^k See above p. 330. art. 19.

^l There are Copies of them in several Libraries.

^m Dillert. au Joinville p. 162.

ⁿ Priv. Sig. 1 Sept. 2 E. 4. in Turre. In consideration of the service that our beloved Sworn: Tho. Holme obviously called Wyndesore our herault Mareschal had don unto us, and shall doo in tyme to come, we have given and granted unto hym the lands &c. in the Countie of Keir possessed unto us by the Rebellion of Robert Mersyn &c. 29 Oct. hoc breve liberatum fuit Cancellario Anglie exequend.

^o Rot. Claus. 9 E. 4. m. 16 d. Noveritis me Thomas Smith libere donasse Thomas Holme alias dicto Wyndesore Heraldio Marescallo Officii Armorum. 27. Dat. 14. Nov. 5 E. 4.

^p Rot. Firm. 15 E. 4. m. 12. 15 May Rymer vol. 12. p. 3.

^q De la Chevalerie p. 210.

^r Priv. Sig. in Turre. Fiat Protectio cum clausula Voluntas pro William Bois Armigero alias dicto Dorset le Heraud, qui in obsequio nostro in Comitatu carissimi Avunculi nostri Thomas Comitis Dorset in partibus Aquitanie super salva custodia partium illarum moraturus per dimidium anni duratura. Dat. sub privato sigillo nostro apud Wilm. xiii die Maii anno regni nostri primo.

^s Rot. Valcon. t. H. 5. m. 15. Rymer vol. 9. p. 8.

^t Priv. Sigill. in Turre. Fiat Protectio cum clausula Voluntas pro William Bois Armigero alias dicto Dorset Heraud, qui in obsequium nostrum versus partes Aquitanie profecturus est, ibidem in comitiva carissimi Avunculi nostri Thomas Comitis Dorset, ac locum tenentis Ducatus nostri Aquitanie in eodem obsequio nostro super salva custodia eorundem partium moraturus per unum annum duratura. Dat. sub privato Sigillo nostro apud Wilm. viii die Febr. anno regni nostri primo.

^u Priv. Sigill. in Turre. Fiat Protectio cum clausula Voluntas pro William Bois alias dicto Excestre Heraude de Comitatu Bucks gentilman, qui in obsequium nostrum ad partes Francia profecturus est, ibidem in comitiva carissimi Consanguinei nostri Thomas Ducis Exon in eodem obsequio nostro moraturus per dimidium annum duratura. Dat. sub privato Sigillo nostro apud Wilm. xv die Aprilis anno regni nostri primo.

^v Ech. 5 H. 6. n. 56.

^w Priv. Sig. in Turre. Fiat Protectio cum clausula Voluntas pro William Bois de Barnham in Comitatu Bucks Armigero alias dicto Anjou Rege Armorum, qui in obsequium nostrum ad partes regni nostri Francia profecturus est, & ibidem in eodem obsequio nostro in comitiva carissimi Avunculi nostri Johannis Regentis regnum nostrum predictum Ducis Bedfordie moraturus, per unum annum duratura. Dat. sub privato Sigillo nostro apud Wilm. ----- die Januarii anno regni nostri quinto.

William

William Boys of Barnham in the County of Buckingham, by the Title of Anjou: King of Arms attended upon John Duke of Bedford Regent of France, which Regent was ^x Duke of Anjou, and that this was the same Person whose Name was changed to ^y Lancaster by Hen. VI., appears evidently from a ^z Protection granted in the 17th Year to William Boys of the County of Buckingham, otherwise called Lancaster King of Arms; and by this last Title he then obtained the ^a Province des Noreys, over which he had been formerly a Marshal, Deputy, or Substitute to that Provincial King. Holme thus named also a Marshal, was a Person of Merit in the Fraternity, and therefore constituted Norroy King of Arms in 7 Ed. IV., and Clarenceux in the 16th Year, who went through several honourable Embassies, and received the Order of Knighthood, and John Windsor Herald the other Marshal, was doubtless John Moore Windsor, who in the 18th Year of this King's Reign was promoted from Windsor to be Norroy.

It is evident that Marshals had Rods: The first Garter petitioned the Sovereign to deliver the Rod to his Marshal; which was the usual Ceremony upon the Occasion of constituting such an Officer: Menesfrier hath published the ^b Formulary from an ancient Manuscript, and Sicily Herald, who wrote for the Instruction of his Contemporaries and of his Successors, is more large in the Ritual, That a ^c Marshal ought to be an Herald, and have the Testimonials of all Officers of Arms and of the Nobility of the Province; that the Prince delivered a Rod to the Provincial King, who held it by the Top, and the Marshal by the Bottom, during the Time the Marshal took his Oath for the due Administration of that Office; which being done, the King of Arms removed his Hand leaving the Rod with the Marshal, in Token that he had transferred to him during his own Absence all the Power given him; but when the King of Arms should be ^x Gilles Brie l. 5. c. 9. p. 321. Chevalerie de John Regent du Royaume de France. MS. in bibl. Lambeth. n. 141.

^y See above in this Book p. 459. and Notes to the Black-Book p. 114.

^z Priv. Sigill. in Turro. Fiat Protectio cum Clausula Vilanus pro Willmo Boys de Comitatu Bucks Gentilman alias dicto Lancastre Rege Armorum, qui in obsequium nostrum versus partes Ducatus nostri Aquitaniae profecturus est, ibidem in obsequio nostro in Comitiva dilecti & fidelis nostri Johannis Comitis Hanynghon locum tenentis Ducatus nostri predicti super salva custodia partium extraneum moraturus, per unum annum duratura. Dat. sub privato Sigillo nostro apud Westm. viii die Maii anno regni nostri decimo septimo. Rot. Vascon. 17 H. 6. m. 17. Rymer vol. x. p. 722.

^a Sr Hen. Spelm. in his Gloss. v. Heraldus suppleto the County Palatine of Lancaster was the Province of this Office, whence it appears by several Records, that he had all the Northern Province in the Manner that John March Herald King Noreys enjoyed it; which Title of Lancaster continued in the End of the Reign of Hen. VI. and Ed. IV afterward retained the old Title of Norroy.

^b De la Chevalerie p. 229. Le Roy d'armes pour faire un Marechal d'armes ou Lieutenant, il le requiert au Prince, de la main duquel il reçoit une verge. ou baston, que il baillie au Marechal, en signifiante que apres son trepas il luy doit succeder, & estre Roy d'armes.

^c MS. in Bibl. Regia E. n. 1403. Pour faire urg

Marechal d'armes. On doit faire de Marechal d'armes d'un Herald par le Election du Roy d'armes, & des Heralds du pais dont il est, & qui luy cognoissent. Et y doit estre present le Roy d'armes de la Marche, ou autre Roy d'armes en son absence; Sy le doit faire en jours de solemnitez de feste solemnelle, es hautes Courts ou en Armes, comme il est d'un Heraldu. Et y a par le rapport & relation que le Prince a de luy par lesdites Officiers d'armes, & Seigneurs du pais, le dit Prince done un vergette de bois au Roy d'armes de la Marche, ou a autre en son dit absence, lequel le baillie au dit Heraldu, qui doit estre Marechal d'armes, sy luy fait jurer & prometter par tous les sermens, qu'il fist quand il fust Heraldu, de bien & lesment garder & accomplir tout ce, que a bon Marechal d'armes appartient; Et jusques a ce que le serment est fait, ne laisser aller la dite Vergette, & le tient le Roy d'armes par dessus, & le dit Marechal par dessous. Et le dit serment ainsi fait, le dit Roy d'armes oste fa main & laisse la dite vergette es mains du dit Marechal d'armes, en signifiant qu'il luy resigne en son absence la puissance a luy bailliee par le Prince. Et le dit Marechal remercie le dit Prince. Sy appartient au dit Marechal d'armes faire en l'absence du Roy d'armes tout ce que le dit Roy d'armes facit, fil y estois present; mais quand le dit Roy d'armes y est, il n'a non plus du puissance & auctorite, que chacun des dits heraldu, sy non quel le preferre a tous en l'honneur.

present,

present, the Marshal had then no more Authority than any other Herald, save only a Preference in Honour and Precedency. And William Fellowe created Norroy in 28 Hen. VIII. hath left us this^d Entry; "That in every Province or Marche be ordeined an honest Herald under the said King of Armes, to be his Marshal for the Honour and keeping of the said Office of Arms in the Absence of the King, and in his Presence at his Pleasure and Will; And that none of what Estate he be of, be not made Marshal, but yet yf be by the Election of the King of Arms of the Marche, to whom he wold be Marshall, bycause that yt hath byne accustomed to be so don of old tyme, and reson, for the Kyng of Armes knowyth better the suffisaunce of the Herald of his Marche then the Prynce, that gyyyth him the Rod or Yerd."

Let us also examine the Customs of foreign Countries in this Particular; our own Records as long since as in 12 Ed. III. present us^e with the Marshal of the Heralds of Brabant, and a^f Marshal of that Place attended at Arras, and is mentioned in the^g Constitutions of the Household under Charles Duke of Burgundy in 1468, and in the Year 1530 above-mentioned; and in these Parts were also Le Marechal d'Artois, and le Marechal de Flandres. As to France, the Formulary of the Creation of Montjoie is very determinate, that at his^b Creation he shall present to the Sovereign the Person nominated by him to be his Marshal, to whom the King shall deliver the white Rod. In the Compositionⁱ touching the Church of St. Anthony in Paris dated in 1406 the Marechal d'armes des Francois, is one of the Parties: And in that Kingdom this Office of^k Marechal d'armes des Francois, was confirmed by Letters Patents in 1487 to Gilbert Chauveau, which Person was afterwards advanced to be^l Montjoie, who, as it is said, received the Honour of Knighthood from the^m Emperor of Constantinople and was created Baron of Ypsala in Greece.

Because the white Rod was thus given to Heralds in France, as the Ensign of their Promotions to Marshalships, one should be ready to infer, that the other Heralds there had not antiently any Rods appropriated to their Offices, unless it could be shewn that there was some apparent Difference in the Forms or Make of their Rods: However some late Authors attribute Rods to their Heralds in general, and expres the Distin-

^d Given to the Heralds Library by Mr. Hare Richmond p. 6 b.

^e Comp. Garderob. 12 E. 3. in libro penes Camerac. Sacarii. Marechal Heraldorum de partibus Brabant venient ad Dom. Regem usq; dictas pates ex consensu dono Regis per manus proprias x. l. Cuidam Heraldus Armorum Brabantia xiii. l. vi. d.

^f Charrier Hist. de Ch. viii. p. 82. A. D. 1435. Et y avoit plusieurs Roys d'armes, Marechaux, Herauts, & Poursuivans pour le Duc de Bourgonne. — Le Roy de Brabant, le Marechal de Brabant, le Marechal de Flandres, le Marechal d'Artois &c.

^g Orho B. 12 in bibl. Cotton.

^h Du Fresnoy Gloss. voce Heraldus.

ⁱ MS. in Bibl. Regia Angl. E. n. 1403. p. 77.

^k Vol. 271 des MSS. de Bienne F. 176 en Bibl. du Roy de France F. 176. Lettres par lesquelles le Roy a institue Gilbert Chauveau dit Bourbon herault du Duc de Bourbonnais & d'Auvergne Con-table de France, Marechal d'armes des Francois aux honneurs des Rois, herault, & autres Officiers d'armes du 17 Juin 1487.

Lettres du Roy Charles viii par lesquelles il cree, & erige un Marechal d'armes des Francois pour avoir autorite, & charge de faire peindre & pourtraire & mettre en ordre les noms, & les armes de tous les Ducs, Princes, Contes, Batons, Seigneurs, Chastelains, & autres nobles de ce Royaume, du 16 Juin 1487. Communiquees par le Sire Clairrembault.

^l Quitance donne le 18 Mars 1520. par Gilbert Chauveau dit Montjoie Chevalier Premier Roy d'armes du Roy nostre Sire 2. Jean Sapin Receveur general de ses finances de la somme de 300 l. tournois a luy ordonnez pour la renison d'une annee; commuttee par le Sire Clairrembault. Sie Joly de la Justice Militaire de France p. 43 b.

^m Colombiere des Roys d'armes p. 36.

ations of them from those of Kings of Arms, in that these ⁶ Rods of Heralds are without any Fleur de Lis, or Crown upon them, another ⁷ intimates a Difference in the Metal, or Materials of them within the Empire, and one of our ⁸ Manuscripts describes a Martinet of Or and Argent at the Top of their Rods: That of ⁹ Montjoie is specified by their Writers; But in the Ceremonial of the Coronation of Lewis XIII., which seems to be very particular, the two Kings of Arms of France and Navarre had ¹⁰ Scepters, whereas the Heralds who attended thereat are not mentioned to have any Rods. In the Sculpture of the ¹¹ Creation of Knights of the Holy Ghost on 14 May 1633, published by Mr. Hozier, the Quatre Héraux are drawn with Rods in their Hands without any Thing at the Top of them: The King of Arms with a Rod surmounted, when the Herald of the Order carried his Mace on his right Shoulder: At the ¹² Funeral of Eliz. Daughter of Hen. IV. in 1644 the four Heralds of France, Burgundy, Valois, and Alemcon are said to bear their Batons; but whether the Word Heralds in these two last Entries may design Kings of Arms, the Editor is not enabled to determine.

It may be repeated, that no one who was not in the Degree of an Herald was capacitated to be a Marshal; that a Testimonial of his Sufficiency was required from the Officers of Arms, and even from the Gentry of the Province, (which was a reasonable Precaution, since by his Function he would have Power over their Standards, Banners, in Jufts &c.) That the Sovereign solemnly created such a Marshal by Ceremony, and that too on some splendid Feasts, when an Oath was required for the Execution of this Office; all which Rules must have been eminently violated, if any Provincial Kings ever presumed to depute a Number of low Mechanics, and among others a Woman, to act as their Deputies or Marshals throughout their Marches, or within any District of them; and it could be no Mitigation of this Transgression, that such Deputations were granted for the Consideration of Money paid in Hand, or under Reservation of annual Payments. If such Practice did no Ways tend to the Prejudice and Denogation of the Gentry, by an Attempt to subject them to ignorant Dawbers, Stone-Cutters, and Handicrafts Men, in the nicest Points of Arms and Mysteries of Honour, and if it was no Reproach to the Heralds, to whom such Substitutions were heretofore only communicable, or in any Manner invasive on their Rights to serve by Turns at Funerals un-

⁶ Colomb. des Roys d'armes p. 60. Le Baston des Héraux est appelle Caducee, pource qu'il n'a aucune fleur de lys ny Couronne au bout; Il est couvert de velours violet & semé de fleurs de lys d'or en broderie, comme celuy du Roy d'armes.

Diction. de Trevoux in voce. Caducee se dit aussi d'un baton couvert de velours fleurdelisé, que portent les Héraux dans les Ceremonies. Celuy du Roy d'armes a un fleur de lis au bout, que quelquefois nomment Sceptre.

⁷ Colombiere des Roys d'armes p. 42. scimus the Rods of some Kings of Arms and scilicet pour sceptre un baton d'or a la main dextre, and of Héraux belonging to Sovereign Princes dependant on the Empire, et pour sceptre on caducee baton d'argent seulement.

⁸ MS. of Filias Narrey given to the Héraux by Mr. Hare Richmond p. 177. Héraut doit tenu en sa main une verge blanche, au bout de laquelle doit estre ung oyleau, qu'on appelle Martinet, lequel est de deux couleurs, cestàsavoir d'or & d'argent.

⁹ Colombiere des Roys d'armes p. 38 Montjoie S. Denys tient en sa main droite un Sceptre couvert de velours violet semé de fleurs de Lis d'or en broderie, orné au bout d'une fleur de lys d'or massif couronnée d'un Couronne Royale de mesme. Diction. des Arts & Sciences par M. D. C. voce Roys d'armes. Functiere Diction. v. Héraut.

¹⁰ Cerem. Franc. vol. 1. p. 447.
¹¹ Les Noms &c. de Chevaliers &c. creez 14 May 1633. Paris en fol. 1634.

¹² Hist. General. de la maison de Gondi vol. 2. p. 169, 170.

der the Kings of Arms; yet if no Authority to depute was contained in the Patents of these Provincials under the Great Seal, or otherwise derived from the Sovereign, it might be a Question in Law, how far an Officer during good Behaviour (in whom, as the Terms are, Confidence, Trust and Skill are required) could justify the Assumption of subdelegating such Power. Certainly that Officer cannot without a very ill Grace inveigh against the interloping of Painters, who hath himself went beyond the Bounds of his own Authority, in giving Sanction to the Actions of the most ignorant of them, who have not returned any of their Proceedings to be registred in the College. We have the following Words in a * Law-Report. "Action lies for any Deputy, as of the King of Arms, who hath "a Patent and Power by Commission to make a Deputy to enquire of "Matters about his Office, when he hath done it, to say of his Deputy he "came and sat by Force of a forged Commission, and he is a Scrivener "and no Herald."

But to return to the Rod of Garter delivered from the Jewel-house, which is in Length above two Feet, gault at both Ends, the middle Part of Silver burnished as bright as Art can make it, at the Top of it a Banner of Gold, composed of four Sides of equal Height, but of unequal Breadth, on each of the two largest Sides, being somewhat more than an Inch wide, St. George's Cross impaling the Sovereign's Arms; on each of the lesser Sides, somewhat more than an half Inch wide, the Cross of St. George surrounded by the Garter with the Motto thereon, being all curiously enamelled, and the Top of the whole ensigned with an Imperial Crown.

There is also delivered to Garter from the Jewel-house a Collar consisting of the Letters S. S., wherein the Provincial Kings and Heralds participate, with some Distinctions in the Form and Materials of their Collars, but the Pursivants have no such Ensign. The Editor supposes, these Collars were not originally given to these Officers with Relation singly to their Functions in the Capacity of Kings or Heralds of Arms, but as the Liveries of the Crown to be worn by them in Testimony of their Admission into the Royal Household, as Servants in that Degree of * Worship, which actually conferred Gentility upon them.

Those who received Wages, Robes, and Diet in the Court, and who waited on the Sovereign either constantly, or by Turns in a Sort of Rotation, (in Case they were Members of a collective Fraternity professing the same Faculty,) were in the strictest Sense Familiars, that is Menial Servants to the Crown: Now that these Officers of Arms had Salaries and Habits hath been sufficiently proved, and as to their Diets, the first Garter ^{is} intimated, that antecedent to his Erection, the Provincial Kings sat at one Table,

* 1 Cro. p. 329.

x See above p. 285.

y See above p. 319 note o. and p. 439, where Garter is termed by Hen. VI Familiaris noster, which signifies one of his Servants in the Household. Thus Hoveden p. 725. Pat. 4 E. 1. m. 21. Rex recepit in suum capellanum fratrem G. M. Monachum, volentes quod ex cetero familiaritatis sue titulo decoretur. Pat. 29 E. 3. p. 1. m. 27. Rex constituit Johannem Stannon Cameræ sue Militem & Familiarem quoad vixerit. Stat. 6 R. 2. c. 4. & Stat. 20

R. 2. c. 2. s'il ne soit meignal & familier contumuellement demeurant en l'ostel de son Seigneur. xi H. 6. dilecti servientes nostri Armigeri, Clerici, Valetti, Garciones, & Pagetri nuper de hospitio patris nostri — familiares, & cotidie secum circa tempus mortis sue existentes, Rym. vol. x. p. 548, and thus this Word is given in our Records to the Servants in the Household of foreign Princes. Rym. vol. 8. p. 446. vol. 9. p. 312 vol. x. p. 70, 72 vol. xi. p. 371.

z See above p. 329. in the Notes art. 6, 7, 8.

the Residue of the Officers of Arms at another, and that the Pursivants began the Table of the Vallets, that is of those stiled Yeomen in the Court, a Term retained by the Yeomen Harbingers, Yeomen Ushers, Yeomen of the Crown, of the Chamber, of the Chappel &c. and upon the Strength of this Precedent, this Garter petitioned for a Table for himself and his Successors; but his Words do not exprefs, whether it was his Intention to request a Table for himself distinct and separate from the Table of these Provincials, though in Fact, it seems, that Privilege was enjoyed by him and his Successors, in that he was served with Barons Service, when the other Kings of Arms were served only with Knights Service. The ancient Rules of the royal Household determined the Number of Dishes, the Quantity of Wine, the Number of Servants, and Horses, and the different ceremonious Respects, that Dukes, Marquesses, Earls, Viscounts, and Barons were entituled to, which Services were allowed also to some Officers in the Household who were not in any of these Degrees of Peerage, for the Dignity and Support of the Honour of the Employments, which they executed within the Verge of the Court. In this List was Garter, who (as it is recited and confirmed by the Constitutions declared in 14 Hen. VIII) was served in the Court with Baron Service, and that too immediately after the Dean of his Majesty's Chappel; an Officer of great Character and Power in the Household. If it was not in Consequence of this Service, that Garter had a Privilege in the Ewery, till he lost it by the Emulation of one of the Provincials, yet the Narrative of it may be^b inferred, because it is a Proof of his Attendance in the Court. It is to be lamented, that the Rights of Garter are not specified in the Black-Book of the Counting House, which was compiled under the Reign of Edw. IV., wherein there is a Chapter in general Terms, touching the Waitings of Kings, Heralds, and Pursivants of Arms on the five solemn Feasts, placed in the^c Margin with some short Explanations, and which among

^a See Black-Book p. 552.

^b Faustina in bibl. Cotton E. 1. Memoirandum that Garter that now ys, and ys father, and all other hys Predecessors from the first institution of his Office of Garter unto the Feit of Abbatons in the xxi yere of our Sovereign Lord the Kyng that now ys, have had a preeminence of the service of water of the Kyng Ewery, and had the towell received no further then his aunc person; and non of thoffice of Armes to washe with hym, unless he desired them, in signe and tokenyng, that the said Garter ys Souverayn and principal Chieff in the said Office of Armes, which said service and peminence Benlli Clarencus not being contented therewith complainyd unto the Treasurer and Comptroller of the Kings Houfe, saying that Garter presumed to have a higher Service of the Ewery then they had, whereupon afterwards by means of these, Garter lost his Preeminence of the Service of the Ewery, to which he desireth to be restored.

^c C. 40. penes me p. 42. Kings, Heralds, and Pursivants coming to this Royal Court to the Worship of the five Feits in the Year, sitting at Meals, and suppers in the Hall, and to begin at one ende of the Table together upon Dayes of Estate by the Marshall's assignation at one Meale, and if the King kepe a State in the Hall, then this walke before the Steward, Treasurer and Comptroller; coming with the King's meat from the Surveyinge Bode, at every Courte, and after the last Courte they cry the King's Lovells, shaking their great Cuppe, they take their Largete at the Jewell house; and during these festiwal Dayes they waight upon the King's Person, coming and going to and fro the Church, hawle, and Chamber before his highness in their Coats of Arms, they taking neither wages, cloathing, nor Fees by the Counting howse, but livery for their Chamber day and night, amongst them all two loaves, one pitcher of wine, 2 Gallons of Ale, And for winter feason, if there be present a King of Arms, for them all one Torche at the Chaudrey, 2 candles wax, 3 candells Pariz 3 Tall. These Kings of Arms are served in the Halle as Knights service, and livery for their horses nere the Courte by the Harbinger: always remembered that the Cupp, that the King doth create any Kinge of Armes or Herald withall, it standeth upon the charge of the Jewell-Howse, and not upon the Treasurer of the Household, The Fees that they shall take at the making of Knights of the Bath, it appeareth next after in the Chapter of Squires.

Under the Reign of Rich. II. there are only four principal Festivals mentioned, See above p. 462 note y. And Bruges, the first Garter, concurs in this among other Things particularly directs, that the Kings of Arms are to be served in the Hall by Knights Service, that is without doubt the Provincial Kings, since under the Reign of Hen. VIII it is positively averred in the Constitutions, that Garter had been served in the Court as a Baron by ancient Custom. This Black-Book contains only what is chargeable upon the Counting House, and though the first Part of this Chapter describes the Duty of these Officers at these solemn Feasts only, yet the latter Part by the Words Winter Season seems to relate to daily Liveries throughout the whole Year, which is more probable, because the Treatise stiled "Jura &c. asserts positively, "Omnes Officiales Armorum habent sua nutrimenta in "Curia, & sui servitores secundum eorum gradum, exceptis servitoribus Pro-"secutorum." Henry VII in his third Year commanded all these Officers to wait at Court upon every principal Feast, every great Counsel, and every great Business, but that at all other privy Seasons, a King of Arms, Herald, and Pursivant should attend by Rotation according to the Scheme there settled, who all of them should have their Services and Liveries accustomed; that Number, See above p. 329, which were termed in foreign Parts, Festa annalia Perard. Mem. de Bourgogne p. 1172. See du Fresn. Gloss. v. Natales, Festa annalia. To these another Feast had been added, to be kept with the like Estate in or before the Reign of Edw. IV. which was the Epiphany, Twelfth Day, as 'tis termed, or the Feast of the three Kings: On this Feast our Kings antiently made Offerings of Gold, Frankincense, and Myrrh, Comp. sub Hen. 4. in Bibl. Harl. 37 C. 22. p. 39. In oblationibus Dom. Regis factis in die Epiphanie Dominus in precibus nobilitatis auri oblatus cum Myrra, et Thure vi s. viis d. which was consonant to the Practice in France. du Fresn. Gloss. v. Offerre. And that this was the fifth Feast, appears from a Privy Seal dated 14 Feb. 18 Ed. IV, to allow John Fitzherbert, one of the Tellers, among other Particulars, "The "rewards to be given to Garter King of Arms "and other Heralds and Mynstrells for the Kyngs "Largeffe in the Solemnities of the Feits of Crist- "mas, New Yers Day, and Twelff Day, fifty Pounds." It is supposed this Festival of Twelff-day was begun to be observed with this grand Ceremony of the King's keeping his Estate before the 18th of Hen. VI. because the Treatise stiled Jura, &c. supposed, as above, to be compiled before that Time, hath this Entry, Item in die Regum habent supradicti officiales Armorum ex Rege quinque libras Sterlingorum; and accordingly we find them to be paid that Sum in 29, 31 and 31 Hen. VI. See Notes to the Black Book p. 128. The Feast of St. George was in these Ages celebrated constantly at Windsor.

Tall is an Abbreviation for Talbid, that is, Firewood cleft into Tallies or Billets of certain length and ligness, See Stat. 34 and 35 Hen. 8. c. 7 E. 6. c. 7. and 43 Eliz. c. 14. See the Feast at the Introduction of Abbot Warham, Append. ad Landi Collect. p. 31.

d H. 4. penes me p. 687 b.

It was concluded in the Chapter-house of Westminster, 19 Nov. 3 H. 7. by all the Kings of Arms and Heralds for their attendance on the King's good Grace: That every Kinge, Herald, and Pursivant of Armes of the King's Court await at every principal Feast, at every great Counsel, and at every great Business that shall now fall, from so far as at all other preveye seasons many strangers may come to the Court, and that the Court be not ungruntyled of Officers of Arms, It is concluded, that alway there shall be a King, a Herald, and a Pursivant of Armes giving their Attendance on the Kings Grace, humbly beseeching his Grace, that his signet with his most noble hand may be a sufficient comendement to his Officers of his most noble household, that the said Attendants may have all suche services, liveries in his most noble Court, as in old tyme hyr hath lyne accustomed at all tymes of yeur Attendance.

Garter
Windsor Blewmantle } from beginning of Decemb. and half January.

Clarencoux
Carlisle Herald
a Pursivant to be appointed by Clarencoux } half January and all Febr.

Marche King
Chester Herald
Rougedragon } all March, half Apr.

Richmond King
Tork Herald
Falcon } half Apr. all May.

Garter
Windsor
Blewmantle } all June, half July.

Clarencoux
Carlisle
a Pursivant } half July, all August.

Marche
Chester
Rougedroffe } all Sept. half October.

Richmond King
Tork
Falcon } half Oct. all Novemb.

Also yt shal be lawful for eny the said Attendants, if he be sick, or diseased, or have eny especial business to do, to entreat another of hys Fellowshipes to wayt for hym.

customed; Hen. VIII by a new ^f Regulation ordained, that each King of Arms at the Charges of the Crown, should keep within the Court three Servants, and three Horses; the six Heralds each of them one Servant and two Horses; and the then seven Pursivants each one Horse: But afterwards in this Reign these Officers lost their constant daily Diets, because in the Rules, which were then established for the Household, their standing Liveries chanced to be omitted, as it is recited in their ^e Petition to be restored to that Privilege, or to receive some Compensation for it, wherein they again solicited the Duke of Suffolk to be their ^b Mediator, as they also addressed themselves in the xxvi Year to the 'Duke of Norfolk; but (as it may be supposed) without any Success. The new Rules for the Government of the Household referred to in this Petition were, in all Probability, the Statutes made at Eltham in the seventeenth Year, wherein only the occasional ^k Liveries to these Officers at the five solemn Feasts were specified, which indeed were from that Time regularly allowed to them, till under some of the latter Reigns this Pittance too hath been taken from them.

In foreign ^l Courts the Officers of Arms had their Diets, and at solemn Festivals their Tables in the same Room, where their Founders dined, which were placed at a greater Distance, than the Table of the Ushers and Sergeants of Arms, because it was the Duty of the latter to receive and immediately to execute the Commands of the Sovereign upon any Emer-

Also there shall no Officers of Arms sew to have a voyage during the wayting season of hys fellows, but tho' that waite, unless that the Kynges goy! Grace, or the Lordes of hys Counsell call any Officer of Arms whatsoever he be, be yt wayting season, or not, he shalbe readye to do hys dewtye, and this in payne of perjury; And also that this bill signed with the Kyngs noble hand be sufficient Authority to Gario King of Armes to cawse all th'offices of Armes to holde and kepe the forsaide ordynances. MS. wrote by Clarenc. Lee given to the Heralds Library by Mr. Harc Richmond p. 214. Roger Mucbide was at this time styled Richmond Roy d'armes de Norrey, and William Ballard by the Title of March had the West of England, Wales, and Cornwall for his Province.

^f Vinc. MS. in Off. Arm. n. 98.

^g To the Kinge our Sovereigne Lorde. Pleaseth your highnes of your abundant Grace to consider the greves, and lamentable complainytes of your most humble Servaunts, and Officers Kinges at Armes, Heralds, and Pursivants of this your most noble Realme of England, which of necessitye complainyth unto your noble Grace for their lvyngs, which they have had heretofore of your Highnes, and of the Kings your Majesty's Progenitours, that ys to saye, Carter your Principall Kinge at Armes, Clarencex Kinge at Armes of the South, Norrey Kinge at Armes of the Northe, six Harrolds at Armes, and four ordinary Pursivaunts hath heretofore had Meate, Drink, and Lvyerage allowed at all tymes, as your noble Grace hath kept Howshold, and otherwise tyll now of late, that your Grace hath made an Order for your Howshold, where all other Officers be allowed of your Highnes, save onely your most humble Complaynants your sayde Officers at Armes, which have indured to their greate Costs and Charges hitherto, and to their utter undoing, yf your Grace see not for their lvyngs as heretofore they have had, or elles an augmentation, as your Grace shall thinke most convenient for the same; And that this may be considered by your Grace, and by your most noble and honourable Counsell, as your Highnes shall thinke necessary for the Preservation of the sayde Officers at Armes; and so doinge they shall be able to do your Highnes service at all tymes, where they shallbe commaunded by your Majesty, or by your most honorable Counsell; and they shall praye to Almighty God for the Preservation of your most noble and royall Estate, as their most bounden duty longe to continue and endure. E. 9. penes me p. 3.

^b MS. of Clarencous Lee given to the Heralds Library by Mr. Harc Richmond p. 211 &c.

ⁱ MS. in bibl. D. D. Ed. Dering Baronetti. l. 6. t. p. 166. Item to have Liverye meat and drynke attre the olde custom in the King's Courte to content, that we may geve our attendance of hym and his moste honourable Councell, and also to have a warrant dormant in the Kings Wardrobe for Cots of Armes for thole Office one tyme in the yere with our Lvyerage accordinge unto our pattents of olde tyme made.

^k In these Statutes, is this Clause, Kings of Armes, Heralds, and Pursivants comming and attending at five Feasts of the yere, and at each of these Feasts for their livery among them all, two loaves of bread, one pitcher of wyne, two Gallons of Ale, and in winter two sices wax, three white lights and three caldids. C. 40 penes me p. 128. which possibly was then construed to extend no farther than to these Feast days. In another part it is ordained, that the Heralds, and no Officers there named, should not bring into the Court for any cause any boyes &c.

^l Of Burgundy. See Olivier de la Marche l'Etat du Duc Charles, in France Montjoie a son plat ordinaire, & son legis pres du Roy. Belleforest les Grandes Ann. l. 4. c. 41 &c.

gency, and not ^m upon Pretension of any Claim that the Sergeants of Arms were in Degree of Honour equal with the Heralds, to whom they always gave the Precedency: It is ⁿ asserted that in France the Heralds heretofore sat at the Tables of the Kings themselves. Indeed we have some such Instances in other Places, when Officers of Arms were sent with the Characters of Embassadors; and in this Kingdom it was certainly the Practice to admit ^o foreign Heralds, whenever they resided here, to officiate within the Household equally with our Domestick Officers, and that they participated in a Share of the ^p Largeſſes given upon splendid Solemnities; and it seems to have been the ^q Custom here, (and probably also in other Realms,) to treat such foreign Officers of Arms in Respect to their Masters with such Distinctions of Ceremonies, as were not even shewn to the Domestick ⁿ At the Feast of the Marriage of the Duke with the Sister of Ed. IV. there were three Tables placed in the Middle of the Hall, at the first sat the Usher and Sergeants at Arms, at the other the Kings and Heralds of Arms, and at the third the Minstrels. Oliv. de la Marche p. 586.

^m Olivier de la Marche Etat du Duc Charles p. 706. Quand le Duc vient Estât, au milieu de la Salle doit avoir deux tables, d'où l'une est petite pour quatre personnes seulement, & doit estre tournée vers le Prince, & devant luy, & au milieu d'icelle doivent seoir deux huysiers d'armes, en couchans chacun, les nasses sur les bouts de la table, et ayant leurs visages devers le Prince, & derriere eux, doit estre la table des Officiers d'armes, qui doivent estre du long de la table, et seoir leur costes d'armes vestues. Mais je demande pourquoy ne sont les Roys d'armes, & Heraux plus pres du Prince, que les Huysiers et Sergeans d'armes, & toutefois ils ont leur costes d'armes vestues, et sont de plus noble estat, que les autres? A ce je responz, que c'est pource que les Huysiers et Sergeans d'armes sont les Executeurs du Prince, et que telles nouvelles pourroyent advenir, ou telle chose pourroit estre faict, que le Prince voudroit mettre la main au plus grand de ses pays ou autres, et pource doivent estre assis iceux Sergeans devant sa face, pour promptement exccuter son bon plaisir et commandement.

^o The Tables were placed in the same Manner at the Coronation of Charles 8. King of France in 1484. Cerem. Franc. vol. 1. p. 277.

^p Besan. Franc. p. 44. p. 93. De vetustis Francorum monumentis cinis, in tanto quondam Heraldica honore fuisse, ut Regum mensis accumbent &c.

^q Several such Instances have been given in this Discourse. There were twenty four such Officers of different Countries at the Marriage of Charles Duke of Burgundy. Oliv. de la Marche, p. 523. among others our Garter. See above p. 352. note x, with Chesler-Herald. See p. 447. Seventy three at the Entry of Louis into Paris in 1461. Cerem. Franc. vol. 1. p. 170. at the Coronation of the Emperor Charles the Fifth, the Heralds of the Kings of France, England, Scotland, Portugal, Hungary, Poland, of Austria, and of several Kingdoms and Principalities of that Emperor. Wissl. Lett. Mem. vol. 2. p. 125. and Mazarin who was present at that Ceremony writes, Anglicus quoq; Heraldica cum insignibus Regis sui honoris causa consuebat. Schard. vol. 2. p. 26.

^r Many Precedents have been given hereof from Payments to the English and foreign Heralds attending together. See the Black Book p. 93. note f. p. 138. note r, &c. It would be endless to produce all the Instances of this Practice: Sometimes these foreign Officers were paid by separate Warrants. Exit. Pol. Mch. 21 Hen. 6. Regi Armorum Regis de Cyprus ad presens existens in regno Anglia, qui erat in presentia Dom. nostri Regis una cum aliis Regibus Armorum, Heraldis, & Pursuants, ubi idem Dom. noster Rex festa sua solemnibus duobus temporibus tenebat, & qui est transivus extra dictum Regnum Anglia, vii. xiii. s. iv. d. A Privy Seal on 21 June 23 Hen. 6. a Ermine herald of nostre trescher & tresame Cousin le Duc de Bretagne devers nous avec certaines matieres & pour voir la solemnite de la Coronation de nostre Compaignie cinque marc, &c.

^s It was the Civility of our Kingdom to treat all Strangers in the Household with Ceremonies superior to the Quality of the Person; thus foreign Earls were served as Dukes, and foreign Barons as Earls, E. 11. penes me p. 27. which in all probability was observed in the case of Officers of Arms; thus Normandy King of Arms, at the Coronation of our Henry VII. went in front or in breast with our Henry VII. 5. penes me p. 78. though there is no doubt but the English Provincial Kings attended, because there were Liveries prepared for them. Regist. B. penes Remem. Regis J. 227. thus Taisin went with Garter Aghm. p. 248. where the Provincials are not mentioned: and in the Procession 1. J. I. in the Order of the Garter, Lyon King of Arms proceeds with Clarenceux Aghm. p. 245; but though it is not specified on which Hand, yet it may be supposed he was on the Right, because in the Warrant for preparing Coats for these Officers, Lyon is placed immediately after Garter, before Clarenceux and Norroy, Lib. Signer. apud Whitehall. Ms. 1662. and he is thus placed in the Partition books, p. 92. so that probably there was not any absolute Necessity in the Articles of Union, for a Clause touching the Settling his Precedency, to be inserted to the Determination of the Sovereign.

As to the Customs in Foreign Parts particularly France, Es. si aucun Roy d'armes ou Herald d'autre Roy, ou Prince estrange, estoit, on le mettra au Rang des Roys d'armes, ou Heralds du Roy, en leur diſtance, que c'est pour l'honneur de leur Seigneur. De Frasn. Ch. 7. Herald. At the Joins upon the Marriage of Char. D. of Burgundy, le Roy d'armes de la Yartore, le Roy d'armes de Tajon, &c. were two of the Judges. Oliv. de la Marche, p. 532. When Richmond King of Arms attended on our Embassadors in Spain in 1488, in the Procession to Joins, Sunderland Herald of Scotland went in breast with Archeon King of Arms, and then followed our Richmond on the right Hand of Cassite King of Arms. Recueil de Richmond Clarenceux inter Cid. Norf. in Off. Arm. The Romance of Sainte hath Domestick Officers of the same Degree and Station. And here it may not be improperly remembered, that Princes were formerly pleased to admit the Heralds to wait upon them at their Tables in a near Degree of Access, and to discourse with them familiarly upon Topicks of nice Natures within the Compass of their Functions.

It is needless to produce other Arguments to prove that these Officers were, and still are Servants to the Crown in the Royal Household, because it may be reasonably supposed, this Honour will not be denied to them. In several Instruments from the Crown inserted in this Work, Garter is termed the King's trusty and welbeloved Servant, and the like Appellations have been given to other Officers of Arms, and upon this Foundation the Petition of Trefswell one of the Heralds to be discharged from an Arrest during the Session of Parliament, was received by the House of Lords in 43 Eliz. However the Stile in the Preamble to the Patents of Kings of Arms, which hath been continued for some Centuries, should not be here passed over unobserved, "Quod inter ceteros Officiarios, & Ministros, quos Principum lateribus pro eorum magnificentia atq; gloria ad-hereere decet &c." Since it not only asserts their immediate Service and Attendance upon the Person of the Sovereign, but happens to correspond with the chief Description, that the Civil Law gives of the Method, whereby Nobility or Gentry is obtained, "Cum Imperator aliquem ad imperialis lateris comitatum admittit."

Our Common Lawyers agree, that several Offices in the Royal Household confer the Title and Addition of Gentlemen to those who execute them, and lay down a Rule, that in Case such Officers lose these their Places, they return to be Yeomen, in Case they had not a previous Right to Gentry by Birth. The Treatise Entituled The Definition of an Esquire concurs, with the Addition of the Manner, whereby this Gentry is conveyed, and upon what Incident it may be lost. "Such Esquires as bearing Office in the Common Wealth, or in the King's House, are therefore called and reputed to be Esquires, as the Sergeants at the Law, the Escheators in every Shire, and in the King's House the Heralds of Arms, the Sergants of Arms, and the Sergants of every Office, who have the Collar of S. S. given them, but having no Arms, that Degree dieth with them, and their Issue is not ennobled." According then to this Doctrine, the Heralds either by Virtue of their Offices, or by the Reception of this Collar are matriculated into the Rank of Gentry, which is said to be accessory only to their Offices, and consequently temporary, being subject to an Extinction upon a Resignation, or Discharge from the Office.

hath been often quoted as an Authority for the splendid Customs of that Age: Now we are therein acquainted, that when Sainre was to perform Feats of Arms at Barcelona, the Entry was in this manner, les Poursuivans tenent Cottes d'armes vestues de cotz, deux a deux; Apres les trompettes venoient les Heraldes d'Arragon, & apres eux les Heraldes Francois, & apres venoient les deux Rois d'armes d'Arragon & d'Anjou portans les Cottes d'armes vestue de leurs Seigneurs.

r Lalanus de congressu Fred. iii. & Car. Burg.

Ducis apud Freheir Script. German. t. 2 p. 156. Audi adire mentas Regum.

f See Hollinghth. Hist. of Scotland p. 227, which was probably taken from Boethius f. CCCxx n. 55.

t See Dewe's Journal.

n Cod. 12. tit. 18. 1.

x Co. 2. Inst. p. 668.

y Glovers Vif. of Cheshire p. 95 in Off. Arm.

z To the same Effect see Mills de Nob. Pol. p. 148.

Spehn. Gloss. v. Armiger. Caund. Brit. p. 127 in Latin.

Some Observations with Regard to these Articles, as they relate to the Heralds particularly, will be transiently here inserted, without determining any Thing positively on these Subjects: It should be premised, that for the Support of the Civil Government, and the Order of Society, Persons have been distinguished into several States, Degrees, or Qualities, and that within this Kingdom for some Ages, the Title of an Esquire hath imported a Degree superior to Gentry, (or at least the highest Degree of Gentry,) and includes that State by Way of Involution, so as every Esquire is a Gentleman.

The deriving the Right of an Esquireship by Birth and Extraction is without the Compass of the present Enquiry, but the legal Method of acquiring it, is now to be considered, and this flows from the Favour and Donation of the Sovereign either expressed in Letters Patents, or by the Ceremony of Creation in which some Symbol is delivered, that according to the Laws and Customs of Honour conveys this Title, or otherwise by the Grant of some Office.

That there were some ^z Ensigns delivered by the Crown upon the Creation of an Esquire appears from a Record, and Upton who lived under Hen. VI is particular, that the King of England gave the ^a Collar of S. S. being his Livery, to the Person whom he emobled, which Word is not confined to that strict Usage whereby the Term Nobility hath been frequently used in this Kingdom to signify only the Peerage, but he takes it in its largest Sense, wherein it comprehends the lower Titles of Esquires and Gentlemen, and without doubt he designed to include Heralds, because in another Place (which will be soon quoted) he is very explicite, that upon the Creation of an Herald, the Sovereign shall emoble him, and in this general Acceptation even the chief Justice ^b himself in that Reign used the Term Nobilis. At that Time also a Judge delivered his ^c Opinion, that though a Writ indeed might lie against the Sergeant of the King's Kitchen by the Name of Cook, yet he had a Collar and was a Gentleman, (that is, in his Sentiments, such an Addition would answer the Directions of the Statute 1 Hen. V. c. 5. which mentions Mysteries as well as States,) whereon another Judge forthwith observed, that it would however be a Grievance, and Diminution to the Officers in the Royal Household to denominate them in this Manner from their Employments only. A late ^d Dutch Author takes Notice of the Effect of these Collars, and there will be no Occasion here to ^e repeat the Donation of them, to those by whose Courage the famous Victory was obtained at Agincourt, or that these Collars were given by our Monarchs of the Lancastrian Line to their Domesticks, and to others, as their Badge, Livery, or Devise.

^z Cui insignia Armigeri dari solita contulimus. Rymer vol. xi. p. 371.

^a See above p. 109 note r. where instead of condonare, read condonare.

^b Fortescue de Laudib. leg. Anglie c. 49. Vix doctus in legibus illis reperitur in regno, qui non sit nobilis & de Nobilitate genere egressus.

^c 14 H. 6. f. 15. Fitzh. Dett. 71.

^d Rouck den Nederlandtschen Herald p. 223.

in Engelandt den Pourfuisant eerst afgebraecht werde by den Koninck of hy was een Edelman, ende hadde wapenschilde, ingevalle niet, begeldde hem landen en leenen, ende behoortlicke Armoeries voor hem ende syne nakomelingen, ende on den hils enen bande of collier van silver onghedruckt met de Letter S. dat hem maecte Esquier of Schildtknaep &c.

^e See above from p. 108 a Dissertation on Collars.

Thus these Collars delivered to the Kings and Heralds of Arms, did (as it is here alledged) virtually and tacitly advance them to the Degree of Esquires: But it should be remarked that these Collars were not appropriated to their Heralds as Symbols of their Profession, like to their Tabarts, and some other Ensigns; for other Officers in the Household who were Esquires participated with them in the like Honour of receiving those Collars, which by the Favour of the Crown were likewise granted (as it hath been already shewn) to several other Persons not resident in the Household.

But in Case Heralds had not received these Collars, yet it may be supposed, they became ennobled, even by Virtue of their Offices, to which they were solemnly created: For Creation (as the Chief Justice J. Coke observed) is a Term applied to the conferring Offices of Dignity, which have Honour annexed to them; whilst other Officers of great Authority are only said to be constituted; and it hath been judicially determined, that the Heralds have such ^b Dignity by Virtue of their Offices, which are Part of their very Names; and hence doubtless it was, that the Epithet of ^b Noble was attributed to them in Addresses and Compellations.

This Esquireship thus acquired by the Heralds, according to the former Authorities was extinguished with the Loss of their Offices; but by the Way, it must be remembred, that the Removal or Dismission of Heralds from their Professions is contrary to the antient Rules, by which their ⁱ Characters could only be effaced by actual Degradations upon Commissions of such Crimes, as would of themselves have corrupted, and determined their Gentry: But this Abolition of their Gentry is here restrained, to the Supposition that these Heralds had no Arms, in which Case it is said their Posterity remained ignoble, or returned to Yeomen. It was the Custom as long since as under the Reign of Rich. II., that Heralds should upon their Creations take Arms, (which were often allusive to the Functions of their Faculties,) and such Arms were to be born by them and their Descendants, wherein ^k John de Bado Aureo (or rather de Vado aureo as his Surname is sometimes spelled thus, latinized probably for John of Guildford) is very express, and Upton under Hen. VI. is more ^l large, that the Sovereign upon the Creation of an Herald shall ennoble him, settle a competent Maintenance upon him, and assign to him and his Heirs congruous Arms, and in another ^m Place he reports an Injunction on these Officers to transmit their Arms to their Heirs, that they might not be ignoble; It was then the Doctrine of these former Ages, that Heralds could not want Coat Arms; and though it is true that such Arms have been long esteemed the Badge and Indication of Gentility, yet Mr. ⁿ Selden acquaints

^f In the End of his Preface to the x. Rep.

^g See above p. 379.

^h Sicily Herald MS. in bibl. Regia E. n. 1403: le noble Office d'armes. That Appellation is frequently given to Tolson in the History of Olivier de la Marche. The Kings of Arms of England in 1446 address themselves to the French Officers: A nous treschers et honorez Seigneurs & Freres Normandis & Berry Roys d'armes & aux autres Roys & Heralds d'armes en Royaume de France &c.

ⁱ See above p. 285.

^k P. 22.

^l De re milit. p. 21. ipsum nobilitabit, & terris aut feodo sufficienti dotabit, & arma congruentia eidem, & suis heredibus assignabit.

^m Ibid. p. 178, 179. Qui quidem Veterani sive Heraldii tunicis Armorum Dominorum suorum uti debent pro maiori parte: Verumtamen ne ipsorum heredes ignobiles & sine armis inventiantur, dicti veterani aut ipsorum arma quae in militia portaverunt, aut nova per Dominos suos in sua creatione collata eidem, suis heredibus portanda dimittere tenebantur.

ⁿ Titles of Honour p. 722.

us, that several Witnesses in the Case between Gray and Hastings deposed they were Gentlemen by Ancestry or Race, notwithstanding they had not any Right to Coat Arms: And it is somewhat strange, he should omit the Testimony of another Person examined in the same Dispute, who gives the Reason of that Defect of Arms, because none of his ^o Ancestors, or he himself had been in any military Expeditions.

Let it be admitted, that the Title of an Esquire obtained by an Office only, may according to the strict Acceptation of that Word be personal, and determine with the Owner, yet it would not be a singular Instance, that the State of a Gentleman which was involved in that Title of an Esquire, and even in the ^p highest Peerages, should however remain intire in the Heir of such an Officer. There are Officers in the Household who in Consequence of their Employments, can claim the Honour of Knighthood, and though that is a personal Order which is extinguished by Death, yet the eldest Sons of them as of all other Knights are allowed to be Esquires, being the immediate State inferior to Knighthood, and let us enquire what Inconveniencies would happen, if the like Pretensions were allowed to the Descendants of Esquires by Office, if they should claim the State of Gentry: For it is a Rule that all Decisions touching the States of Persons should be on the most favourable Side.

It is certain, that when any Person shall be dismissed from an Office, or dies, all the ^q Ensigns appropriated to that Office must of Course descend to the Successor, together with all the ^r Privileges and Immunities annexed to that Office: But the Successor cannot be affected with any Disadvantage, if his Predecessor after his Removal should preserve the Title of Gentleman, or by his Death should transmit that Character to his Posterity, which seems to be rather for his Interest, if he himself had not the Felicity of the native Qualification of a Gentleman.

It will be found very difficult to give a full Definition, or a precise Idea of the States of Persons. A Gentleman, according to Mr. ^s Selden, denotes one "That either from the Blood of his Ancestors, or the Favour of his Sovereign, or from his own Vertue, Employment, or otherwise, according to the Laws and Customs of Honour in his Country is ennobled, made Gentile, or so raised to Eminency above the Multitude, perpetually inherent in his Person." The first Branch here is a Deduction from the Blood of Ancestors, and after the Enumeration of the several Kinds and Methods whereby it is acquired, it is added perpetually inherent in his Person: Hence it may be presumed it would not contradict Mr. Selden's Notions, if Gentry should be described to be a Quality fixed to the fust pris sur la mer; les queux Armes cest jurre ne sceit point blasonner a present, come il dist, pour ceo q'il ne les vist par ceses xxix ans dar-trein passez.

^o John Lee Escuyer dist q'il est Gentilhomme d'Auncestrie, & xx mares de terre luy son descendoz, & n'ad use point de travailler en guerre ni son pier devant luy, et pour ce ne prest garde d'apprendre ses Armes: The Deposition of another Witness's shewt, that Coat Arms belonged to military Men; John Edom Escuyer, qui feust madgairs bo-teller en le ostel Monsieur John de Hastings Counte de Penbroke, qui feust pris sur la mer: — q'il n'est Gentilhomme d'auncestrie, mes dist q'il ad este armez, & porte un escuchon d'armes: queux luy furent donez, en presence du dit Count, qui

^p Spelm. Gloss. v. Generosus Minorum Nobilium classis apud Ang'os infima; Convenit tamen appellatio vel ipsi Maximis; Sed his in genere ut Nobilitatis vestibulum, illis in specie ut nominis fastigium.

^q Upton de re milit. p. 179.

^r Loiseau des Offices p. 155. n. 55.

^s Titius of Honour p. 705.

Blood, and communicable hereditably; so that the Blood being (as it were) purified, a permanent Character inseparable from it is conveyed by the Collation of Gentry, which is indelible as long as the Blood shall be transmitted down without Corruption.

By our old Laws the Blood of a ¹ Villain was ennobled by the conferring the Order of Knighthood on him, who was thereby actually manumitted: But then it must be owned, that it hath been determined by the same Laws, that Knighthood is a ² Dignity and Parcel of the Name, whereas the Titles of Esquires and Gentlemen are only Names of Worship: But no Reasons at present occur, which tend to disable these latter from conveying down this Worship to their Descendants, that would not be equally applicable to any superior Titles, which confessedly transmit a Succession in their Dignities.

One should be apt to guess, that our Laws allow Gentry to be affixed to the Blood, because it hath been adjudged, that an Apprenticeship to a Trade doth not extinguish ³ Gentility, wherein most of the later Civilians agree, for which these assign the Reasons of their Opinions, because Gentry (as they say) cannot be separated from the Person, being appendant thereto, as the ⁴ Rays are to the Sun, and consequently though this Gentry should during an Apprenticeship, or the Exercise of a Trade suffer some Sort of Eclipse, or as others with more Caution express it, that the Effects and Privileges of Gentry are during such Interval only suspended, yet the Gentry will return to its former Splendour by the Desistance from the Exercise of the Trade, and that even without the Aid of Letters of Rehabilitation.

Probably the Case of Wives may add some Illustration to this Matter. The Husband and Wife are in the Law considered to be one and the same Person, and for this Reason a Woman born out of Wedlock is ⁵ ennobled by her Marriage with a Gentleman, and she shall retain that Honour during her Widowhood, because by a Presumption or Fiction in Law, the Matrimony is supposed to be still subsisting, but if she should remarry with a Yeoman, the adventitious Gentility would for the same Reason be extinguished; thus on the Reverse, when a Woman descended from a Race of Gentile Ancestors marries a Yeoman, yet she being one with her Husband, must follow his Condition, and if she should survive him, cannot resume her native Gentility during her Widowhood. And upon this Foundation it might be, that the ⁶ Widows of Heralds have been permitted to retain the Titles of their Husbands, which were personal Dignities in them, and being annexed to these Offices could not descend to their Heirs, but must of Course devolve upon their Successors.

It may then be proper to enquire, whether Gentry be not a ^b true and absolute Order inseparably vested in the Blood, and whenever it is conferred by any particular Symbol, or by Virtue of an Office, whether it doth not entirely purify the Blood, or be a bare Specifick, in the later Case which purges it only during the Continuance of the Office.

¹ Bracton l. 4. p. 198 b.

² Br. Nofme de dignite n. 33 Or.

³ Floppel n. 47.

⁴ See their Opinions collected in General. de Solier.

⁵ Of Wives see Jurist. Hærica vol. 1. c. 1. Art. 38 Or.

⁶ See above

^b Loitcau des Offices p. 151.

The^c Civilians are of this Judgement “ That of all Rights and Privileges “ of Officers, none of them pass to their Children, except the Nobility “ which Offices may give; for Nobility is principally granted for the “ Descendants, and even the Children born before the Nobility was ac“ quired, or even before the Admission to the Office are made Noble, “ as well as those born afterwards.”

Let us now enquire into the Reasons why Pursivants had not this Privilege of the Collar, or the Title of Esquires attributed to them, though they were Servants in the Royal Household. Upton upon the Question, what are those Offices which have Nobility annexed to them? Gives this true^d Resolution, that they are such Offices as are reputed to convey that Right in the Community, where that Enquiry shall be made; and as to the Case before us, he writes that^e Pursivants are not noble; and again that though they might be Knights, and wear Velvet and Cloth of Gold, yet they were not^f noble. It is true however, that in another Place he positively saith, that neither Heralds nor their^g Pursivants were Noble; but he takes Care to assign the Reason why they were not Noble in that particular Sense wherein he there uses that Word, because by their Offices they were obliged to execute all Requests made to them, though it was even by an Enemy; but if publick Duties derogated from Gentility, most of the greatest Officers as well of State, as in the Administration of Justice must fall under the same Circumstances. But though the Pursivants were admitted into the Royal Household, yet they were entertained there at the^b Table of the Vallets, and upon this Account it might be, that Holme while he was a Pursivant and the King's Servant, had the Title of Yeoman given him by Way of Addition in a^h Record, which was no Mark of Disparagement in the Signification it was then used to the Servants within the Royal Household. And thus^k Froissart saith the Earl of Montfort sent Notice of the Victory at Arroy par un varlet Pursuivant d'armes; but probably he might not intend any more than that he was Servant to that Earl. Besides Pursivants were only Candidates, Probationers, and Novices, and might renounce that School, and therefore might not be admitted to such Distinctions which were reserved to grace those who were (if it may be so termed) Professed, and thereby compleat Officers. It is true, there was in the Reigns of Hen. VI and of Hen. VII a Pursivant denominated Collar; but it is not reasonable to be presumed, that he had that Appellation given him, because he wore any Collar like to the Heralds, which must have differenced him from all the other Pursivants; but that this Title was imposed upon him with Respect only to the Name of the Badge or Devise of the Crown, in a Method not unlike to the Stiles of several ^c Ibid. but these are the Words of Domat les loix Publiques p. 578. in English Edition.

^d De re mil. p. 59, 60.

^e Ibid. p. 10.

^f Ibid. p. 20.

^g Ibid. p. 22 Et sciendum est, quod isti tamen Haraldi quamvis insigniis militaribus utantur, non tamen sunt nobiles, neq; sui Prosecutores, quia eorum Officium est Officium publicum, quod tenentur impendere unicuique hoc petenti, etiam hosti; quale etiam est Officium Notariorum Publicorum & Sutorum qui tenentur in festis laborare, & fotularis facere, si publica necessitas hoc exposcat.

^h See above p. 329 in the Note Art. 8.

ⁱ Pat. 37 H. 6. p. 2. m. 6. cum dilectus serviens noster Thomas Rougecroisse, alias dictus Thomas Holme de Walden in Comitatu Essex Yoman, alias dictus Thomas Rougecroisse Pursuivant ad Arma. A Procellion granted to him.

^k Froiss. vol. 1. c. 228.

other Pursivants, such as Antelope, Blanch Lion, Eagle, Faucon, Griffon, and of three of the Pursivants still subsisting; though indeed the Collector believes, that formerly these Pursivants on their Escutcheons (fixed to their left Shoulders) might bear the Impressions of the Badges, from whence their Denominations were taken, because Upton in the Vestres formerly quoted, calls the Escutcheon upon the Herald's Breast Fons titularum, the Original or Reason of his Title or Name: Now the wearing of an Escutcheon thus ensigned with a Collar, might as well give that Title to this particular Servant of the Crown, as that Manlius should procure to his Family the Surname of Torquatus for plucking a Collar from a Champion.

We find the Heralds petitioning for their Livery Clothing like to other Gentlemen, and like the Esquires in the King's Court, which was therefore called de Sella aliorum Scutiferorum ipsius Domini Regis; the Offices of the Kings of Arms and Heralds being Dignities, there was no Occasion of any other Additions to ascertain and distinguish their Persons, though sometimes we meet with these Titles of Esquires and Gentlemen attributed to them indiscriminately; for in legal Proceedings it was no Misnomer to stile an Esquire only Gentleman, or to name a Gentleman by the Title of an Esquire, though according to the strict Rules, there was, (as it hath been intimated) a Distinction between them.

But it is high Time to return to the Form of these Collars thus delivered to these Officers. Mr. Ashmole describes them in the following Words, "that they are composed of S. S. linked together, and in the Middle of the Breast is a Rose, and another in the Middle of the Back, at each of which hang three Dropps of Silver, the S. S. worn by the Kings of Arms are made bigger than the other, [for the Heralds]" and "in that part lying on either Shoulder is a Portcullis taken in between the S. S. which are wanting in the Rest [for the Heralds]."

He goes on to acquaint his Readers that Knights have Collars of Silver gilt, Esquires Silver only, and then adds "therefore he that is created an Herald, is also in Part of that Ceremony made an Esquire by putting on a Collar of S. S. of Silver about his Neck." There is no Doubt of his Exactness in the Description, Materials, and Forms of the Collars then worn, so that it seems the old Rules had been discontinued, since the ancient Treatise stiled Jura &c. which hath been supposed to be wrote before the 18th Hen. VI, assigns to the Heralds a white

1 See above p. 449, note c.

2 See above p. 449 note c.

3 See above p. 441 note f, g.

4 See above p. 449 note 2, 3.

5 See above p. 467 where Boys is stiled an Esquire and also a Gentleman, and he leved a Fair abereca he is stiled Will: Boys Armiger alius dicitur Exerece Herald Bucks 6 H. 5. n. 38. Garter King of Arms to 20 H. 6. is stiled the King's Servant and Squire. See above p. 349 note c.

6 William Teudale Chiefe Herald is stiled the King's wellloved Squire and Servant to a party Stat. 21 Hen. 2. Dec. 23 Hen. 6. There is a Licence granted to John Ham a Herald to travel for his Labour. 14 Hen. 6. abereca he is intailed dilectus serviens & Scutifer noster.

7 Brooke Add. 44.

8 H. p. of the Garter p. 225, 226.

9 In cap. Quando creatur Officiales Armorum. Item quando unus Professor fit, debet habere unam Tunicam Armorem, cum qua procedat Professor, & debet habere unam copam argenteam totam albam; Item unus Heraldus quando fit, debet habere unam copam argenteam auream sine coopertura, & debet habere unum Torcatum argenteum album; Item quando unus Rex Armorum fit, debet esse coronatus, & Rex sibi debet dare unam coronam argenteam auream, & unam copam argenteam auream cum coopertura, & unum Torcatum nigrum Gliscet, & medietatem auream & medietatem argenteam; & Principalis Rex Armorum debet habere tres partes aureas, & unam argenteam. MS. in Mus. Ashm. n. 377.

Collar; to the Kings of Arms one Moiety of the Collar gold and the other Silver; to the Principal King three Parts Gold, and the fourth Part Silver; there have been some Variations in these Collars since that Time; Mills, who published his Uncle Glover's Tract of Nobility, speaking of the Collars of Heralds and Sergeants at Arms saith expressly ' Collare ex S. S. argenteis nigrisque confiato, which Glover died Somerset Herald in 1588, and Joseph Holland in 1601 * writes that the Herald's Collar of S. S. was Argent and Sable alternately, but the Gold which according to the Jura was formerly in the Collars of the Kings of Arms hath been reduced to Silver, one S. being plain, the other gault, and that of Garter to Silver all gault. The Portcullis in the Collars of the Kings of Arms was doubtless an Addition by Hen. VII., who took that Badge by Reason of his Mother's Descent from the * Beauforts, and in Honour to it he instituted a 7 Pursivant by that Title. Instead of the Roses, which were in the middle of the Breast and Back in Mr. Astmole's Time, the Badges of the succeeding Sovereigns have been placed.

But whether Gentility was conferred upon our Kings and Heralds by the Fact of investing them with this Collar, or else barely by Virtue of their Offices, it appears by a ^c Certificate of Touison d'Or, that foreign Kings of Arms though of no Extraction are ennobled from the Day of their Creations, when they took their Oaths in Consequence of their Letters Patents, and in that it is their Duty to correct the Transgressions and Excesses committed in the bearing of Arms, a Power which ought not to be vested in Plebeians; and he farther attests that in Spain these Kings bear their Arms with Timbres, and at the Funerals of Princes and other publick Ceremonies they wear Swords in Sign of their Nobility, and in Virtue of their Offices: Timbre signifies the Cimier, Helmet, and Crest, with the Hatchments or Lambrequins, for what a Record termed Timbria, is by * Knighton englished a Crest; and to whom the Privilege of wearing Swords appertained in the Territories lately belonging to Spain, the Reader may find by consulting the Quotations in the ^b Margin. But this Certificate doth not intimate any Difference in the Swords of these Kings of Arms from the Swords of other Persons who had a Right to wear them, whereas antiently in our Kingdom, (as it hath been already ^c noted,) these Officers were prohibited to wear Swords with Points, and were to be unharnessed in War.

¹ De Nob. Polit. p. 148.

² Heurn's Antiq. p. 97.

³ Sandr. Geneal. Hist. p. 464.

⁴ Spelm. Gloss. v. Heralds.

⁵ Noblesse de Brabant en 1705. Le Jesph Astouin Hervart Conseiller du Roy 100 Premier Roy d'armes dit Touison d'or certifie a tous qu'il appartient, que les Roys d'armes de sa Majeste chez sa personne royale sont tenez & reputez pour annoblis, ores que point Nobles d'Extraction, des le jour, que sa Majeste les a crees, & establi Roys d'armes, & qu'ensuivite des leurs patens de leurs Comissions, ils ont presté le serment entendu que l'office d'armes est d'ancienete si noble, qu'il annoblit ceux, qui en sont pourvez, & doivent contraindre & reprimer les fauts & excequi se commettent ceux aux ports d'armes, memes en changeant la noblesse, ce que ne se put faire par gens roturiers; atendant en outre, qu'en consequence de ce, lesdits Roys d'armes en Effigies portent Armoiries timbres, & en l'exercion des maisons, chapelles, tombeaux, Verriers, & autres semblables peuvent mettre & apposer leurs Armes avec le meme timbre. Et que en outre les Roys d'armes d'Effigies portent aux funeraillies des Emperours, Roys, Princes, & autres ailes publicques leurs Effigies en signe de noblesse, & en vertu de leur Office 10 Avril 1639.

⁶ See above p. 276, 277.

⁷ Offices Essentials p. 149. Jarvis & Healey et c. p. 95.

⁸ See above p. 204 & 205.

It hath been also ^d observed that some Authors have remarked, that Heralds in Time of War should wear Boots, and Buskins in Time of Peace, which brings us to the Consideration of their Spurs. Herein a Dutch Author following ^e Gerard Leigh lays down a Rule, that the Pursivant when he rides must wear ^f black Spurs, and informs us, that the Heralds in England wear Silver Spurs. When black Spurs were brought to Rich. II after his Abdication, he ^g refused to put them on, alledging that he had never forfeited his Knighthood, so that at Length guilt Spurs were delivered to him, and Mr. Camden ^b acquaints us, that white Spurs became the Denomination of Esquires.

Thus the Editor hath collected several Fragments with Design to explain the true Signification of all the Terms in the Title of Garter, and endeavoured to settle the Date of his Institution, to deduce the Line of his Succession, and to describe the several Habits and Ensigns belonging to him, and he should have readily proceeded to publish a Commentary upon his Rights declared by the Constitutions in 14 Hen. VIII, and such other Privileges, as have been enjoyed by him from the Time of his Erection, and upon each Article would have likewise shewed the corresponding Practice in foreign Realms; if he could have induced himself to believe, that such a Discourse might have proved acceptable to the Reader.

It is indeed esteemed a ridiculous Vanity, when Families reduced to slender Circumstances in their Fortunes, make Ostentation of the Antiquity of their Race, with the Achievements and Rights of their Ancestors; and possibly at first Sight it might have been thought no less absurd, that Officers of Arms in their declining State, should pretend to trouble the Publick with tedious historical Details concerning the Rights of their Predecessors, intermixed with Narratives of the Veneration heretofore paid to their Persons and Characters; But such an Imputation of Vanity cannot justly be laid on any of them, who only assert the Rights, and vindicate the Properties legally vested in them. It is not to be denied, that the Society of Heralds for a long Time hath been sinking in its former Esteem, and like to some other Fraternities and Bodies Politick, hath been impaired in its Reputation by growing old, which is not singular in this Age, when even Religion it self appears so to do in the Opinion of weak and wicked Men. The Publisher could have easily assigned several Incidents, which have and still do concur towards the Decay of this Profession, (if he had any Inclination to search into Distempers, which he is unable to remedy;) He saith Incidents, because in his humble Opinion no tolerable Reasons can be assigned, why the Heralds, if they are endowed with the Qualifications requisite for their Functions, should suffer any Di-

^a Six above p. 294.

^e Accidents of Armies p. 76.

^f Rouc des Nederlanden Heralut p. 223, 225.

^g Du Frein. Observ. sur les Etablissements de S. Louis p. 86. Et quant le Roy Richard vit le roy Esperons, & tout lubit noir, adonc demanda, pouquoy me apportez ces noirs Espérons? Le varlet respondit, Treschier Seigneur c'est pour vous: Le Roy respondit, Va dire a Henri de Lancastre de par moy, que je suis loyal Chevalier, & que onques ne foris Chevalerie, & qu'il m'envoie es-perons de Chevalier, ou autrement je ne chancera point; adonc le varlet luy apporta les Espérons d'or.

^b Armigeri quarto ordine sunt, quibus Rex ipse cum titulo insignis datus, aut Armigeros creat, collum torque S. S. vel signatico argenteo, & candidi & argentatis calcaribus exornans, unde hodie in occidentibus regni partibus vocantur white Spurs ad discrimen Militum sive Equitum anatorum, qui auratis calcaribus uti solent. Camd. Britan. p. 13.

minution in their Characters; for notwithstanding several Branches formerly within the Sphere of their Professions, have in Tract of Time grown obsolete, by the Change of Customs, the Manner of Education; the Variety of Tempers, and Dispositions of Men in different Ages, and by the distinct Methods with Regard to the Intercourses between Nations; yet there are several Articles confessedly still within the Compass of their Faculties, and under their Cognizance at this Time, (though their Power hath been sensibly lessened in the Execution of them) wherein they are now as useful to the Common-Wealth in all such Respects, as they could be in former Ages.

It may not be foreign however to give Instances of some Particulars which are totally discontinued: Solemn Defiances and Denunciations of War made to Princes in Person are wholly antiquated, (though the empty Shadow is practised by Proclamations of War at Home,) which the renowned Founder of our Order, while he was ^a Vicar of the Empire, thought so consistent with the Rules of natural Reason, Justice, and the Niceties of Honour, that according to his Magnanimity he reinforced the Observation of such Indictions before any ^b Acts of Hostility were committed. This his Decree doth not indeed specify that these Defiances should be made by Heralds, though some of that Order were ^c present at the making of it, and in Truth the ^d Bishop of Lincoln was then sent to the King of France with Defiances drawn up in Writing, but the very next Year, Guelphes Herald was dispatched to that King to demand the Time and Place of Battle; however it soon became an universal Practice to employ Heralds solely to execute all such Defiances: No Officers of Arms now attend in military Expeditions, wherein they formerly transacted all Matters of Intercourse between the Armies, which it would be too large to rehearse; neither are they now sent in Embassies or Messages, or even permitted to wait upon Embassadors in Times of Peace; Tilts, Turnaments, and other martial Exercises of that Nature have been discontinued; and the Respect for their Characters may now be at so low an Ebb, that possibly, if Heralds in this Age should presume to reprehend Persons in exalted Stations for ^e vitious or

^a Froiss. vol. 1. c. 35. — Laurent leuva les lettres de l'Empereur, par lesquelles le Roy d'Angleterre estoit constitué & établi son Vicair & son lieutenant pour luy; — Et commandoit par ces lettres, que tous ceuz de son Empire & tous autres à luy subiects obéissent à son dit Vicair, comme à luy mesme. — Et fut la courtoise renouvelle un jugement et Sentin & afferme, qui avoit este fait à la Cour de l'Empereur le temps passe, qui estoit tel, que qui vouloit autre grever ou porter dommage, il le devoit desfer suffisamment trois jours devant son fait, & qui autrement le faisoit, il devoit estre r'estrainct de mauvais & vilain fait. The old Statute here referred to, might refer to the Constitution of Frederick the first mentioned by Urspersensis A. D. 1187, or the later one of Frederick the second mentioned by Alberto A. D. 1227. We find our Records since Ed. 3. the Title of Vicar-General, see Rymer vol. 5. p. 127, and the Words of the Account in the Copy of the Chamberlains of the Exchequer 12 E. 3. contain this Entry, Johanni Leuva decelerenti literas Regis Anglie & Vicarii facti Imperii Generalis sub magno sigillo Subani Duci Breviavit &c. The Word General might had Froissart's the Miracle touching the Excess of this Vicarage, which he thought crowned the whole Empire, which Dr. Birch copied Hist. of Ed. 3. p. 221. Villani only corrected Italy out of it. 1. 11. c. 83. The Pope described the Limits of it per totam Aconitaniam & Jerusalem ac universas easdem Provincia five partes. Rymer vol. 9. p. 87. 129. Walsingham continet it circa Coloniam Ypod. Neulius A. D. 1348, & 1349. Knighton expresses de Colonia & circa. Col. 257. The Writer of the Lives of the Popes at Avignon in partibus Gallie & nonnullis aliis terris p. 221. which the learned Baluzius in his Notes therein interprets of the Part of France then under the Empire, 1661 in Cambrai. The History of the Renovation of this Title, and Methods taken for it are foreign to the present Purpose; and of no Consequence in the Reputation of our magnificent Prince, who afterwards restored the Empire himself, to which he had been pleasantly called.

^b Knighton cont. 257.

^c Froiss. vol. 1. c. 35.

^d Ibid. c. 41.

^e Beccan Franc. l. 4. p. 95. De vortosis Fructuum monumentis (Genus in tibus) quondam Heraldus honore fouls, ut Regum mentis acumbentis, or dishonourable Actions, the former Rules which enjoined them that Duty, and rendered their Persons inviolable in it, might not protect them in the Execution of that ancient Branch, since that Liberty is not now easily born from Christian Priests. Thus when the Lord Drummond of Scotland struck the Lyon King of Arms during the Sitting of Parliament in 1515, his Patrimony and Goods were adjudged to be confiscated, and it was with great Difficulty that his Life and Honour was out of Favour indulged to him, since the Occasion of this his Impetuosity and Violence was, because this Officer had admonished him to relinquish his Follies. We ought without Doubt to continue a pious Contention with Antiquity in Matters, which concern Vertue and Arts, and should not out of a Spirit of mere Novelty sink or slight any of their Institutions, founded on clear Reasons, for the Service of the Publick, which will always have their Weight with Men of impartial and unprejudiced Minds. But let us descend to Subjects, which are still allowed to be within the Verge and Jurisdiction of this Society, and enquire, whether the Knowledge of them is not as beneficial to the State in the present, as it was in former Ages? Are we now so knowing in the critical Proprieties of Ceremonies relating to splendid Solemnities, that the Oeconomy of them may be left arbitrary? Should every Person walk in Processions according to his own Scheme and Model, and is there no Occasion for the Discretion of those, who by their Experience will direct an uniform Rule, consonant to the Precedents of former Times, answerable to the Customs of foreign Countries, and adapted to the Occasions, wherein for the Sake of Decency and Order some particular Rites by an universal Consent have been appropriated? That Rites are not promiscuously to be used is evident, for no one would dare to crown a Conqueror with Cyprus, or to offer Palms to a broken Army; and it will not be denied, that to prevent Disorders, Persons should be ranged in due Precedencies according to their Degrees and Offices; that the Marks of State and Digcontroversiarum inter summos Principes ortarum arbitrari essent, sibi denique honorum & delectorum pro se habere vel bene vel male gestis jussi haberentur distributores.

Epistola Aeneas Sylvii fontes arguere, laudare probos — Quicquid turpitudinis admiserint homines, et judioque propulatorum; timent, seu privati seu principis fuerint, which are according to the Roman's Honour of that Age ascribed to be the Institution of Bacchus and of Octavianus Augustus.

The Pat. 6 E. 6. p. 4. m. 2. is Barthol. Butler to the Usher in the Preamble recites the Duties of Herald, one of them is these Words: fortia virorum iusta extollere, vitia reprehendere. Rymer. vol. 15. p. 505.

Heretofore if the Nobility did not amend upon the Reports given them by their Officers, they were armed with Power to insult Centinels upon them, for they could not only hinder them from Entry into their and Turnaments. Anselme Palais d'honneur p. 8. Fiviu Theatre d'honneur l. 1. c. 4. but might put a lasting Mark of Reproach upon them: Thus Lathanus de congressu Fred. iii & Car. Burg. apud Preber. script. Germ. l. 2. p. 156. Audi adite mentas Regum & reliquissimum (summa et ignominia loco habebatur) panem apponere, & iurem quo mensa inferniter messum perfructura, & alia de decore notandi causa facere. See Hopson de jure Insign. p. 246, 247. and Lobineau in the Hist. of Bretagne p. 271 quoting Charter Quadrilogue intercal observex contraing Bert. De Guefflin, qui n'eut point a craindre, que l'on pratiquât son egard ce qu'il avoit mis en usage, pour faire honne a ceux, qui avoient marque de la lascivite dans quelque occasion; qui estoit que l'on coupoit la nappe devant eux quand ils estoient a table.

J. Lellius de gestis Scotorum p. 220 A. D. 1515. Hoc ipso Comitiorum tempore Ducis [Abertie] in iustitia administranda mens impium eluxit; nam quod Dominus Drummondus Leonem Feculium Principem pugno violasset. Dux omnia eius bona ac patrimonium, vita ac Dignitate eque concessit, sicut adixit; Verum paucis post diebus ipsa bona ac patrimonium Drummondo supplet integra restitit. This was in the Minority of James V. while the Duke of Albany was Governour. The Editor omits to determine, whether this was a Punishment inflicted by a particular Law made in Parliament for that Purpose. Aeneas Sylvius inserti a Doctore (said to be made by Alexander. Si quis hos [Heroldos] manu pulsasset, aut verbo lesisset, cum capitis reum esse, bonis; sive sicut debet).

The Office of Heraldrie by Sir James Eastour MS. in bibl. Advoc. Edinb. c. 1. Et quod Leonem Armorum Regem pugno violasset, cum eum de ineptia suis admoneret, for which forfeiture he had humble Submission and Satisfaction, at the earnest Livery of the Nobility, and Solicitation of the King to the Governour. He was restored.

nity should not be confounded in civil Life; that to keep up the Subordination necessary in Government the ceremonious Respects due to different Orders, should be known and practis'd; that Plebeians and Mechanics should not be permitted with Impunity to arrogate an Equality with ancient Families in all their Privileges, or to assume their Arms; that such hereditary Marks of Honour are proper Rewards of Vertue, and a Tribute due to meritorious Actions; that the Knowledge of the Antiquity, Nobility, and Genealogies of illustrious Families, and the Preservation of their Pedigrees in the direct and collateral Lines, will always be serviceable towards asserting the Truth of History, and Chronology; and that with Respect not only to the past, but to the present, and future Ages, and is likewise absolutely necessary to determine the legal Rights and Pretensions, both of Princes, and of private Persons; that decent Funerals in all Cases, (and in some Cases pompous Funerals) are Homages due to the Memory of the Dead, and proper to incite the Attendants to a lively Sense and Emulation of their heroick Vertues: Certainly it will not be alledged, that all Persons are indiscriminately entituled to have the same Honours paid to them in their Funerals, for even the Directory it self allowed Escutcheons and other Distinctions suitable to the Condition of the decess'd; and when Tuvero celebrated the Funeral of his Uncle Scipio Africanus with earthen Pots and Goats Skins, the Romans deposed him from the Pratorship; for these brave and wise People, however famous for their Temperance and Frugality, yet delighted in publick and national Magnificence, though they detested private Luxury. It would be tedious to go through the Circle of the Duties still incumbent on the Heralds; but if there had been no other than these Articles within the Purview of their Faculties, yet the Prudence and Circumspection of Antiquity had been visible in appointing select and separate Persons, endowed with Probity of Manners and liberal Educations, to be Guardians of these several Rites, who besides the Measure of Reason common to them with other Persons, must by their addicting themselves peculiarly to these Studies be capacitated to be more competent Judges; and if in these or any other Instances, these Officers can be made as serviceable to the Publick at this Time, as in former Centuries, it follows, that they seem in Justice to be entituled to the like Returns of Advantage with their Predecessors; for it is not reasonable to believe any Persons should undergo the Fatigue of acquiring Qualifications, which are not attended with any Motive of Wealth, Interest, Credit or Respect. But in Case the whole Society be useles to the Publick, or the Officers in it are too many, it could be no discommendable Management, as Vacancies shall happen in the present Freeholds, to sink the whole Fraternity, or to reduce the Number. This Discourse which hath been too prolix, shall be coucluded with a Passage from the Roman History (as it is recited by Le Feron in his Treatise concerning the Institution of Kings and Heralds of Arms) touching the Question, whether the Intention of the Senate to undertake a War being notified to the Garrisons of the Enemy in the Frontiers was a sufficient Declaration of War, without a formal Indiction of it by the Fecials, in which Debate that celebrated Consul and General Paulus Emilius expressed a true Roman Spirit in the following Words, which are of that Strength, that it is difficult to render

render them properly in English, or perhaps in any other Language. Multis ergo hic omnia pollui, & confundi, tolli feccialia jura, nullos esse fecciales? Fiat, pace Deum dixerim, jactura religionis, oblivio Deorum capiat corda vestra. Would you then by the Authority of the Senate have all Things without Distinction violated and profaned, and shall the Function and very Name of the Feccials be wholly abrogated? If this be your Intention, and I may speak it without Impiety, let there be an End of Religion it self, and from this Time let all the Characters of it be discharged out of your Minds.

INDEX

I N D E X

O F

SURNAMES and TITLES.

A

A Boute 108.
 Abrigecourt Sir Sanchot 105.
 Abrigecourt Sir John 14, 17.
 Abyndon Abbas of 50.
 Adgore 230.
 Adolphus 244.
 Albany Duke of 244.
 Alexander King of Scotland 106.
 Alexander Son of the King of Scotland 106.
 Albert Emperor 17.
 Albert of Bavaria 6, 28.
 Alfonso Duke of Calabria 64.
 Alfonso Duke of Arragon 41, 68, 190, 192.
 Alphonius d' Aragonia 287.
 Alfonso King of Arragon 21, 49, 68, 69.
 Alphonfus his Herald 452.
 Alfonso King of Portugal 52, 53, 181.
 Albert Duke of Austria 21, 465.
 Albert 26, 435.
 Albert Duke of Holland 27.
 Albert King of the Romans 48.
 Albemarle Duke of 13, 41.
 Albemarle Earl of 274, 323.
 Albany Duke of 486.
 Alençon Duke of 69, 82, 140, 142.
 Alençon Duke of his Herald 452.
 Alla King of Northumberland 207.
 Albro Valques Dalmaden (vid. Averence) 28.
 Alfry 351.
 Aldrydge 23, 24, 27.
 Allynton Sir William 213.
 Amanova 9.
 Anjou Duke of 98, 198, 245.
 Anjou Duke his King of Arms 445.
 Anjou Count 270.
 Andover Vifcount 273.
 Anstis John 424.
 Anderson 287.
 Antelope 482.
 Aquitain Duke and Dutcheffs of 12.
 Aquitain: King of Arms 440.
 Arragon King of 75, 180, 181, 189, 240, 311, 328, 395.

Arragon King of, his King at Arms 445, 451.
 Arragon King of his Herald 463.
 Arundell Earl of 11, 12, 13, 14, 16, 35, 117, 137, 188, 224, 271, 401, 407, 408.
 Arundell Countess of 14, 15.
 Arundell Sir William 26, 126, 169.
 Arundell Sir John 126, 154.
 Arundell Richard 380.
 Arthur King 92.
 Arthur Prince 40, 36, 106.
 Arthur de Bretagne 171.
 Artois King of Arms 311.
 Asteville 100.
 Areyne Earl of 383.
 Arnald de Pressaco 163.
 Arnold 367.
 Arragonois 75, 76.
 Arnald Garcia del Gout 163.
 Archembauld 10.
 Astley Sir John 51, 205, 353.
 Athefeild 220.
 Athely 280.
 Afinnelli Philip 106.
 Aspale 177.
 Afinnelli Albert 106.
 Affalide 9.
 Affmole 316, 322, 334, 345, 411, 414, 425, 452, 453, 463, 482, 483.
 Austria Duke of 189, 214, 364, 372.
 Austria Duke of his Herald 451, 466.
 Audley Lord 200, 227.
 Averence Earl of 38, 75, 183.
 Aubrey 125, 404.
 Auricher Sir James de 137.
 Aymery de Durfort 163.

B

B Acon 420.
 Bavaria Christopher King of Denmark 20.
 Bavaria Duke of 13, 15, 16, 26, 245.
 Bavaria William Earl of Leicester 33.
 Bavaria Robert 20.
 Bainton 381.
 Bath 111, 185.
 Bath Knight of 447.
 Barker Sir Christopher 327, 376, 384.
 Iiiii Barker

- Barker George 359.
 Barker 227, 378, 379, 380.
 Buffet Lord 11, 12.
 Buffet 123, 262.
 Barn Bishop 208.
 Barnes Lord 50, 51, 231.
 Barnes Jolhua 317.
 Barnes William 264.
 Baluzius 485.
 Barri 253.
 Bartram 358, 359.
 Barchelour an Herald 283.
 Baillet 207.
 Balliol King of Scotland 271.
 Bayard Peter 35.
 Balante 328.
 Balfour Sir James 146, 411, 457.
 Balfour Sir John 486.
 Barkley 209.
 Badlesmore 155.
 Barclay 470.
 Bawbrynney 359.
 Beal du Louis 341.
 Beaufort Marquess of Dorset 36.
 Beaufort Earl of Dorset 467.
 Beaufort Duke of Exeter 127.
 Beaufort Bishop of Winchester 322.
 Beaumont Lord 75, 174.
 Beauchamp Lord 11, 12, 13, 30, 143, 170, 215.
 Beauchamp Lady 13, 14, 15.
 Beauchamp Earl of Warwick 36, 124.
 Beauchamp Sir John 38.
 Beauchamp 262, 404.
 Beaugrant 239.
 Bedford Duke of 14, 16, 34, 76, 121, 131, 132, 134, 135, 137, 139, 170, 171, 189, 204, 217, 221, 322, 333, 379, 468.
 Bedford Dutehs of 15, 233.
 Bedford Lord 22, 39.
 Bedford & Soissons Earl of 72, 73.
 Bedfeld 280.
 Bel Arch Duke of Austria 86.
 Belfour Sir James King of Arms of Scotland 457, 146.
 Bellinger Walter 223, 324.
 Benoist Clarenceux 372, 472.
 Benoist 310, 314, 323, 363, 381.
 Bentivogli 106.
 Benwell 219.
 Beoche Lord Captain 6.
 Berkeley Earl of 277.
 Berkeley 111.
 Bernes Lord 127.
 Berry 328.
 Bertram 196.
 Bieberghes 381.
 Bigot Earl of Norfolk 270.
 Bigot 168.
 Bilhop William 354, 355.
 Bishe (vide Bysihe) 302.
 Bite 144.
 Black the Prince 47, 97, 106, 154, 160, 162, 168, 173, 223.
 Blanch Lyon 482.
 Black Rod 465.
 Blanch Lady of Lancaster 36, 126.
 Blakeburn 154.
 Blefensis 209.
 Blount 303.
 Blunt Sir Walter 430.
 Blunt Lord Montjoye 50.
 Blucemantle 446, 473.
 Bodin 434.
 Boethius 225.
 Bohemia King of 173.
 Bohemia his King of Arms 465.
 Bohemia his Herald 466.
 Bohun Earl of Northampton 42.
 Bohun 222.
 Bois 302, 467.
 Bolein 252, 257.
 Boleyn Queen Anne 444, 457, 460.
 Bombell 287.
 Bonfede 250.
 Bonkyll 359.
 Borough Sir John 323, 399, 400, 401, 403.
 Bordeaux 9.
 Borell 304.
 Boteler Lord Sudeley 204.
 Boteler John le 302.
 Bottelourt 209.
 Bothwell Earl 447.
 Bourgoigne 79.
 Bourne 354, 355, 399.
 Boucer Viscount 30.
 Bourghier 14, 53, 111.
 Bovile 222, 226.
 Boxfull Sir Allen 32, 126.
 Boys 278, 379, 380, 405.
 Boys Exeter Herald 482.
 Boys Robert King of Heralds in France 457.
 Brandenburgh Elector of 411.
 Brandon 108, 399.
 Brandon Sir Charles 121, 215, 376.
 Brandon Sir Thomas 238.
 Brabant Duke of 45, 65, 485.
 Brabant Herald 469.
 Brady Dr. 485.
 Bradeston Lady Blanch 14.
 Bracciano Duke of 80.
 Bret Lord 199.
 Bretagne Duke of (vid. Britain) 239, 277, 301, 318, 321, 334, 337, 338, 341.
 Brewer 159.
 Bretayne Arthur of 462.
 Bretilles 202.
 Bretagne 6.
 Breton Sir William 132.
 Brews 220, 221, 222, 228, 232, 233.
 Britain Duke of 13, 64, 68, 69, 77, 114, 116, 118, 140, 200, 208, 443, 451.
 Brian Sir Francis 259.
 Brian Sir Thomas 244.
 Briant 107.
 Briswood 229.
 Brient 302.
 Brimston the Lord 382.
 Bromswick Duke of 182.
 Brooke 23, 287, 399.
 Brook York Herald 266.
 Broke Lord 215.
 Bromflet Lord Vesci 125.
 Browe 292.
 Brown 223, 240, 241, 244, 262, 466.
 Crumfick

Brunswick Duke of 21, 75.
 Bruges Lord Grutuse 80.
 Bruges 312, 318, 321, 322, 324, 326,
 328, 330, 332, 334, 339, 340, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 350, 354, 355,
 379, 477.
 Brunswick Herald 445.
 Brugge 202, 227.
 Bruell 244.
 Bryan Guy 11, 12.
 Buch Capital 6, 7, 8, 9.
 Buckingham Duke of 37, 38, 55, 232, 236.
 Buckingham Earl of 10, 432.
 Buckingham Countess of 11.
 Bulenger 298.
 Burgundy Duke of 6, 35, 64, 67, 69, 76,
 81, 85, 85, 200, 311, 325, 331, 333,
 334, 353, 357, 364, 432, 442, 447,
 450, 457, 458, 460, 469.
 Burgundy Dutchess of 208, 326, 347, 348, 349.
 Burgundy Count D'Estempres 79.
 Burgundy Herald to the Emperor 435.
 Burgundy Bastard of 450.
 Huric Lord 11.
 Burgoyne Duke of 208, 280.
 Burgoyne Lady Margaret 214.
 Burgi 207.
 Burdeaux 381.
 Burdeaux Herald 440.
 Burrough Sir John 405, 408, 412, 420, 457.
 Burgos Bishop of 280.
 Burghell Lord Bartholomew 6, 42, 151.
 Burghell Bishop of Lincoln 151.
 Butley Sir Richard 44, 126, 314.
 Butnel Lord 14, 15, 260.
 Bourbon 6.
 Burley Sir Simon 118, 250.
 Butler Ulster Herald 486.
 Byshe 401, 404, 407, 418.
 Bythei 320.

C

Cade 297, 361, 428.
 Calabria Duke of 40.
 Calabria 296.
 Calverly Sir Hugh 315.
 Callabur 230.
 Caligula 322.
 Cambridge Earl of 47, 160, 318.
 Camoys Lord 15.
 Camden 320, 324, 325, 393, 399, 404, 423, 448, 457.
 Campes Nunn of 223.
 Campgnis 372.
 Cantacuzene Emperor 121.
 Canterbury Archbishop of 38, 151, 328, 333, 339, 340.
 Cant. I. 53.
 Cantebriq Earl of 6, 10.
 Cantebriq Countess of 11.
 Canley 381.
 Carew 241, 244, 249.
 Carlvill 378, 381.
 Cardinal 284.
 Carrell 166.

Carbonell 222.
 Carlisle Herald 473.
 Care 385.
 Caron 381.
 Carminow 175.
 Caringhell 383.
 Carnis Barth. 359.
 Carmelites Friars of Ipswich 223.
 Castile King of 87, 160, 161, 311, 424.
 Castells Earl of 383.
 Castell Sir John 101.
 Castile Isabel of 128.
 Castlecomb alias Dunitavil 367.
 Casimer King of Poland 21, 52.
 Cally 401.
 Castellan Gerald 255.
 Catesby 354.
 Cavendish 171.
 Cave 380.
 Caumont 198.
 Cellins 297.
 Champeney 361.
 Chamlet 240.
 Chabot 88.
 Chabut Earl of Newblanch 243.
 Chalons 341.
 Chandos Sir John 314, 315, 432.
 Chandos 229, 280.
 Chamberlaine Sir William 50, 224, 225.
 Champier 291, 451.
 Chastelain 3, 11, 327.
 Charolois 208.
 Charlois Herald 451.
 Charleton Lord 14, 15, 17, 31.
 Chartier 324.
 Chartemarle Sir Tarquin 101.
 Chaucer 124, 240, 302, 307, 308, 450, 456, 460.
 Chaule de 252, 254.
 Chauveau Marshal of Arms of France 469.
 Charles Nicholas 423.
 Chester Bishop of 321.
 Chester Earl of 257.
 Chester Herald 441, 446, 447, 473.
 Cheyne 320.
 Cheyne Sir Edmund 150.
 Chemin Plein an Officer of Arms 452.
 Chichester Bishop of 341.
 Christian King of Denmark 20.
 Christien Jean Baptisl 280.
 Chichele Archbishop of Canterbury 405.
 Chichele 327.
 Chiffet 311.
 Clarence Duke of 6, 14, 15, 16, 33, 118, 125, 186, 188, 189, 214, 215, 312,
 314, 322, 323, 324, 353, 461.
 Clarence Dutchess of 15.
 Clarenceux 435, 441, 444, 445, 446, 448,
 455, 460, 461, 464, 467, 473.
 Clarenceux 381.
 Clarendon 409, 411.
 Clarmont Count of 199.
 Claremault 202, 311, 334.
 Cleopatra 311, 337, 338.
 Cleves Duke of 385.
 Cleves Margarets of 349.
 Cleves Lord Ravelston 80, 85.
 Clement Pope 163.
 Clerk 280, 307.

- Clifford Lord 11, 12.
 Clifford 69, 446.
 Clinton 229, 262.
 Clopton 56, 415.
 Clivion 85, 98.
 Cobham 149, 255, 270, 390.
 Cockeran King of Herald: in Denmark 443.
 Coimber Duke of 29, 75.
 Coke Chief Justice 478.
 Coke 265.
 Cokerell 284.
 Columbier 280, 308, 343, 348.
 Coler 242.
 Coleyne Archbishop 326, 327.
 Colwell 378, 379.
 Comines 202, 295, 347, 452.
 Compton Sir William 242, 372.
 Comynre Duke of 184, 185.
 Comynres Herald of 451.
 Constance 11, 12, 442.
 Coote Ralph 229.
 Cornwall Duke of 459.
 Cornwall Lord John 14, 15, 16.
 Cornwall Sir John 237.
 Cornwall Herald 444.
 Cornwall 171.
 Cordell 266.
 Cortevill 56.
 Cotton Sir John 216.
 Cotton Sir Robert 423.
 Courtenay Earl of Devon 43.
 Courtenay Lord Peter 12, 13.
 Couley 255.
 Courtenay Sir Thomas 42.
 Courtney Sir Hugh 42, 105, 143.
 Courtney 259, 240.
 Coventry and Lichfield Bishop of 266.
 Courcy 14.
 Cowyn Sir Thomas 261.
 Crawford Earl of 325.
 Crawford David 259.
 Crauford 281.
 Crevecoeur Lord d'Elquerdes 79.
 Crioff de 254.
 Croke 422.
 Crowne 404, 407.
 Cromwell 223, 348.
 Crukenor 286.
 Cuthbert Bishop of London 232.
 Curtains 203.
 Cumberland Earl of 373.
 Culpeper 237.
- D
- Dabridgecourt 14.
 Dabridgecourt Sir Sanchet 105.
 Dacie King of 15.
 Dacie Queen of 15.
 Dallenton 324.
 Dalton 378.
 Dam 424.
 Damas Lord of Cleffy 79.
 Dampiere Earl of Flanders 46.
 Dampmartin Count of 199.
 Daniel 271.
 Darby Earl of (vid. Derby) 296.
 Darby Counts of 11, 12.
 Darby Herald 444.
 Dauphin 242.
 Davers 367.
 Daubenev Lord 215.
 Davarans Earl of 28, 75, 183.
 Dayrell Sir Thomas 403.
 Dees 380.
 Denmark King of 16, 18, 19, 20, 390, 394, 466. Queen 15.
 Declare 405.
 Delbrug 201.
 De la Bisse 405, 406.
 De la Marche 450.
 Denne 400.
 Denston 344.
 Derby Earl of 10, 11, 12, 87, 96, 100, 101, 106, 113, 117, 118, 119, 380, 451.
 Dering Sir Edward 309.
 Desmond Earl of 215.
 Dethick 292, 313, 381, 384, 386, 387, 389, 390.
 Dethick Sir William 291, 392, 394, 395, 396, 397, 398, 399, 400, 403, 408, 412, 415, 420.
 Dethyke Sir Gilbert 281, 385, 403, 415, 420, 425.
 Devon Earl of 12, 274, 350.
 Devanal Sir Percival 137.
 Digon 255.
 Dispenser Earl of Gloucester 124.
 Dispenser Lord 6, 128.
 Dispenser Lady 128.
 Dodderige Sir John 281.
 Dorset Margaret of 12, 41, 174, 252, 288, 459.
 Dorset Marchioness of 13, 127.
 Dorset Lord 14, 15, 16, 118, 137, 274, 327.
 Dorval Lord 199.
 Dormans Bishop of Beauvais 280.
 Douglas Earl of 50, 51, 301, 284, 348, 349, 350, 430, 451.
 Doughty 217.
 Drake Sir Francis 34.
 Dudley 118, 225, 241.
 Dugdale Sir William 324, 385, 403, 414, 415, 418, 420, 423.
 Dunstabil Sir Robert 29, 155.
 Dunois 78.
 Duncomb 385.
 Dupo 264.
 Duras Lord 50, 51, 74, 77, 191, 196.
 Durham Bishop of 28, 217, 254.
 Durand 209.
 Durward 228.
 Duroit 299, 301.
- E
- Eadmerd 459.
 Eagle 482.
 Eam Sir Henry 44, 45, 47.
 Earpingham Lord 14, 15, 16, 170, 171, 228. vide Erpingham & Herpingham.
 Ebor William 53.
 Echingham 228.
 Edom John 479.
 Edward Prince 17, 32.
 Eggerton Sir Ralph 243.
 Eggecombe 264.

Egremont Earl 250.
 Elbeuf Duke of 80.
 Ely 111.
 Emanuel King 29.
 England King of 16, 20.
 England Queen of 15.
 Erick 11, 18, 19, 20.
 Erskin 383.
 Espinette 432.
 Essex Earl of 50, 51, 258, 404.
 Estcourt 331, 332.
 Eugene Pope 49, 311.
 Eureux Earldome of 271.
 Eusebius St. Cardinal 322, 333.
 Exeter Duke of 13, 38, 135, 171, 174, 175, 185, 349.
 Exeter Dutchess of 13.
 Exeter Marquess of 259.
 Exeter Bishop of 352, 380.
 Exeter Herald 444.

F

Falstaff Sir John 49, 62, 121, 174.
 Falvese Sir John 204.
 Ferdinand (vide Ferdinand) 48, 49, 219.
 Farnaby 401.
 Farly 359.
 Fauchet 280, 298, 334.
 Fauconberge 53, 174, 361.
 Faustina 325.
 Favine 281.
 Faulcon Herald 440, 473, 482.
 Felbrigg Sir Simon 13, 14, 15, 16, 35, 39, 159, 174, 186.
 Fellowe 288, 383, 469.
 Felton Sir Thomas 35.
 Fenis 251.
 Ferdinand King of Spain 454.
 Ferdinand King of Naples and Castile 21, 41, 50.
 Feron 280, 293, 451.
 Ferrara Duke of 357.
 Feres Lord 51, 54.
 Ferrers Sir Ralph 261.
 Fespuch 197.
 Fettiplace (vide Fettiplace) 181, 182.
 Fettiplace 20, 125, 395.
 Feverham Earl of 202, 274.
 Fevre 292, 311.
 Fether 41.
 Fitz Alan Earl of Arundell 35.
 Fitz Herbert 354.
 Fitz Williams Sir William 249.
 Fitz Tancred 252.
 Fitz Warin Lord William 29, 42.
 Fitz Simon Sir Richard 105.
 Fitz Rauf 144.
 Fitz Walter Lord 125, 252, 253.
 Fitz Wauter Lady 13.
 Fitz Hugh Lord 14, 15, 16, 131, 171.
 Fitz Other 253.
 Fitz Lewis 227.
 Flanders Earl of 305.
 Flanders Sir Henry 44, 45, 46, 47.
 Fleur de Lis 460, 470.
 Fleming Lord 383.
 Foix Gaston Earl of Longueville 7, 8, 39, 77.

Foix Peter 9.
 Foix Earl of Kendall 8, 22, 77.
 Foix Earl and Sovereign of Bearn 8.
 Foix Blanche 10.
 Foix Bernard Duke of Esperon 7.
 Foix Count of 159.
 Fortescue 208.
 Foveis Francis 302.
 France King of 6, 339, 341, 385.
 Francis Sir Adam 125.
 Frederick the Roman Emperor 21, 283, 396.
 Frederick the Pacific 80.
 Frederick Son of the King of Denmark 389.
 Frederic Duke of Urbin 49.
 Frederic King of Denmark 80.
 Frederick 484.
 Frenes 304, 308, 320.
 Fresne 467.
 Froissart 45, 293, 314, 317, 430, 481, 451.
 Fronzac Marquess of 34.
 Fuller 326.
 Furnival 217.
 Fyningley Sir Henry 53.
 Fynglongy 351.

G

Gaguin Dr. 281.
 Gaillard de Preyslac Bishop of Thou- louse 163.
 Garter 441, 442, 443, 444, 445, 448, 453, 454, 455, 460, 461, 463, 464, 471,
 473, 476, 483.
 Garland 380.
 Gardineis 216, 385, 424.
 Gate 261.
 Gaunt John of 114, 118, 126, 127, 175, 184, 303.
 Gaufrid 304.
 Gaveston 296.
 Guy Marches 292.
 Geldre Duke of 13.
 Geldre Dutchess of 13.
 Gendale 42.
 Geneffe Herald 452.
 Getz 381.
 Gilford 111.
 Glancarn Earl of 383.
 Glanville Sir Gilbert 221.
 Glashinbury Abbot of 214.
 Glander 260.
 Glendale 42.
 Gloucester Duke of 11, 12, 14, 16, 40, 50, 51, 53, 56, 67, 101, 115, 116,
 117, 118, 134, 167, 171, 174, 205, 322.*
 Gloucester Dutchess of 11, 12.
 Gloucester Earl of 13, 22, 33, 39, 128, 195.
 Gloucester Countess of 13, 128.
 Gloucester Abbot 348.
 Glover 324, 325, 388, 389, 391, 483.
 Godolphin Earl of 274.
 Godscall 399.
 Golbolt 280.
 Goldenborough 373.
 Golden Fleece 453.
 K k k k k k

Gonneis Lady 13.
 Gonville 225.
 Gordyng 342.
 Gore 326.
 Gosfelet 283.
 Gotham 264.
 Gough 367.
 Gout Sir Bertrand 196.
 Goulaine 247.
 Gouff Sir Robert 224.
 Granada King of 211.
 Gray Lord 16, 383.
 Gray 479.
 Graystock 212, 349.
 Graily Sir John 6, 7, 8, 9, 10.
 Graily Katherine 10.
 Grey Lord 14, 15.
 Grey Earl of Kent 228, 397.
 Grey Sir John 42, 170.
 Grey 262.
 Grenade King of Arms of Spain 457.
 Grenade 381.
 Grene 177, 380.
 Gregory 209.
 Grek 273.
 Greyllye 6.
 Griffin 482.
 Grimaldi second Prince of Monaco 76.
 Grosvenour 175.
 Grosse 252.
 Grutuse Lord 80.
 Gruthuse Earl of Winchester 353, 459.
 Gryllin 280.
 Guelclm Herald 442.
 Gueldres Herald 442, 485.
 Guienne King of Arms (vide Weexworth)
 435, 441, 444, 459.
 Guet King of Heralds in Champaigne 455.
 Guildford John of 478.
 Guichard D'Angle 101.
 Guldeford 235, 257.
 Gumneis 11, 12.
 Gunneys 12.
 Gurto Countess of Armagaack 163.
 Guyenne 328.

H

Haddon 344, 345, 346.
 Hall Sir Richard 48.
 Hall Sir Edward 54.
 Hall 347, 354, 373.
 Halden 236.
 Haldenby 354.
 Haller 229.
 Halifax Earl of 273.
 Halliton 209.
 Hamilton Marquess of 269, 273.
 Hamilton Duke of 274, 350.
 Ham a Herald 482.
 Hanley 260, 263, 375.
 Hannes Purfwent 451.
 Hartcourt Sir Robert 5, 54, 119.
 Hartcourt Lady 128.
 Harling Dame 225.
 Harvey Sir Michael 223.
 Harvaft 341, 381.
 Hare Richmond Herald 363, 470.
 Haryngton Lord 15, 16, 171.

Hardell Sir Thomas 223.
 Harley 325, 324, 338, 341.
 Harvyt 371.
 Harling Sir Robert 224, 225.
 Harewell 214.
 Hardi 79.
 Harpeter 254.
 Hastings 176, 479.
 Hastings Lord 20, 34.
 Hastings Mary 168.
 Hastings Sir Edward 263, 264.
 Halyng 432.
 Hastings Sir Hugh 223.
 Harfield Dr. 233.
 Hawkelton 380.
 Hayward Lord 51.
 Haynalt William 433.
 Heliodorus 450.
 Henry de Lancaster 484.
 Henryche de Lynfanc 338.
 Heneage Sir Thomas 228.
 Hereford Duke of 175.
 Hereford Herald 444.
 Herbert Lord 86, 435.
 Herbert Sir William 623.
 Herbert 372.
 Herbert Sir Edward 411.
 Hervart Antoine 482.
 Heron Sir William 204.
 Herle 144.
 Heyborn 383.
 Heylin Dr. 452.
 Heyme 251.
 Hingons Sir Thomas 420.
 Holland Duke of 14, 15, 16, 23, 26, 27, 28, 29, 65, 261.
 Holland Dutchess of 15.
 Holland Earl of 44, 125.
 Holland Lord 11.
 Holland 11, 22, 442, 483.
 Holstein Duke of 385.
 Holebrooke Sir Thomas 145.
 Hollingsworth 266.
 Holme 321, 355, 280, 481.
 Holme Windfor Herald 467.
 Honfion Lord 385.
 Hoo 28, 223, 250, 252, 338, 339.
 Hortensius 427.
 Horn Sir William 137.
 Horton 267.
 Hotspur 114.
 Howeden 471.
 Howard Earl of Northampton 280.
 Howard Lord 51, 54, 269.
 Howard Sir Edward 121, 241.
 Hozier 470.
 Huet 108, 385.
 Huiffher Maccell 292.
 Hull Sir Edward 21, 48.
 Hull Alianor 48.
 Home Lord of Hayton 383.
 Huntington Earl of 12, 14, 15, 16, 149, 171.
 Huntington Countess of 12, 15, 171.
 Huntington 185, 269.
 Hungerford Lord 168.
 Hungerford Sir Walter 116, 171.
 Hungerford 129, 174, 323, 267.
 Hungary King of Arms 465, 466.

Huntein 257.
 Hunidon 269.
 Humings 176.
 Huskard 250, 251.
 Hyde Chief Justice 261.

I

I Arvn 117.
 Jaquet Duchess of Bedford 12, 233.
 Jaspis 101.
 Jchygme 237.
 Jokil 228, 237.
 Jerningham 277.
 Jnglofe Sir Henry 132.
 Innocent Pope 210.
 Inglesby 273.
 Joan Maid of Orleans 437.
 John King of France 430.
 Johnson Ken 204.
 Joinville 245, 252.
 Joyner 202.
 Jreland Duchess of 15.
 Jreland Herald 422.
 Irland 280.
 Jhaa Thomas 211.
 Jhibell Lady 12.
 Jus 225.
 Izabell Queen 463.

K

K Armins Lord 16.
 Kent Earl of 11.
 Kent Countess of 11.
 Kardal Earl of 7, 179.
 Karhill 248.
 Kent 52, 238.
 Kildare Earl of 17, 262, 278.
 Kinton 74, 246, 482, 487.
 Knolles St Robert 30, 31, 32, 70.

L

L Abunc 107.
 Lakenhith 144.
 Lslain 227, 211, 226, 445.
 Langley Duke of York 246.
 Langley 106, 115, 128, 208.
 Lant 449.
 Langport 248.
 Langton Earl of 10.
 Langtos 200.
 Langze Lord Edmund 42, 42.
 Langford 211.
 Lancaster Duke of 6, 10, 11, 12, 107, 106, 245, 217, 289, 300, 301, 322, 322, 323, 422.
 Lanceter Duchess of 11, 22, 227, 246.
 Lanceter Earl of 152, 152.
 Lanceter Earl of 152.
 Lanceter Herald and Color Pursuivant vide Thynne 441, 444, 459.
 Latymer Lord 318.
 Lau 200.
 Launcy 288.
 Lawfon 270.
 Lawton Sir John 421.

Lawnder 260.
 Le Bel Philip 420.
 Lee Clarencius 474.
 Lee 277.
 Leech 439.
 Legge 177.
 Leicester Earl of 70, 89, 198, 452.
 Leicester Herald 444.
 Leigh 280, 299, 307, 323, 381, 484, 449.
 Lenox Duchess of 269.
 Lennox Sir William 310, 404, 406.
 Leueva Peter 116, 177.
 Leon 90.
 Leonard Herald 444.
 Leonard 267, 280.
 Lisbon Portugal Herald 451.
 Lescrop Lord 14, 141.
 Lewney 451.
 Lewen 206.
 Leyndocker 286.
 Lincoln Bishop of 354, 375, 487.
 Lincoln Earl of 215, 278.
 Lincoln Countess of 433.
 Lincol 277.
 Lille Lord 205, 231.
 Lille 268, 219, 285, 422.
 Lisbon Herald 451.
 Lobocau 297, 312.
 Louisa Countess of 222.
 Loudon Bishop of 310, 327.
 Loudon 21, 111.
 Longueville Earl of 40, 274.
 Ludlow Duke of 221, 277.
 Luton Herald 41.
 Loring Sir Nel 25.
 Lovell John 6, 11, 12, 42.
 Lov Earl of 46.
 Lovensy 177.
 Lowell Earl of 207, 217, 260.
 Lacey Sir William 314.
 Luffham 257.
 Lyncagus 220.
 Lyon Lord King of Arms of Scotland 452, 477, 418, 446.
 Lyffe Vicomte 376.

M

Mack Williams 230.
 Machado Clarencius 269.
 Maclefield 13.
 Malot 48.
 Malloy 177.
 Malore 281.
 Male 45.
 Mantua Duke of 111.
 Mansyngny Lord 232.
 Manny Lord 45.
 Manny Sir Walter 42, 98, 101, 149.
 Mantua Marquess of 76.
 Mancelo 270.
 Mancelo 482.
 Mandevill 270.
 Mary Queen 24.
 Marchin Count 411.
 Marexall Countess of 11, 12.
 Marry Lord 6.
 Marjencan 281.
 Marche Earl of 56, 283, 297, 302.
 Marefoill

- Marefall Earl 11, 12, 117.
 Marefall 42.
 Martin King of the Heralds 300, 473.
 Marchmont Herald 447.
 Marche 280, 291, 308, 311, 319, 326,
 327, 328, 329, 380, 456.
 Marlborough 273.
 Mariscal Herald 467.
 Marca 320.
 Markise 247.
 Malham 14.
 Matar Sir Foulk 162.
 Mathieu 476.
 Mautravers Lord 71.
 Mauriffens 291.
 Maxwell Lord 392.
 Maximilian 84, 86, 121, 183, 316, 364, 474.
 Mayland 180.
 Melton 100.
 Menue Lord 41.
 Mendricer 391, 398, 330, 457.
 Mentcalto 270.
 Menage 307.
 Meru 237.
 Mesford 120.
 Mezerau 304, 414.
 Miché 291.
 Mills 248.
 Mills 48.
 Mohun Lord 7, 41, 42, 125.
 Mohun Lady 4, 12, 13.
 Moleyns 226, 73.
 Montfort Duke of Auvergne (vide Main-fect) 72.
 Montfort Earl of 481.
 Montfort Countess of 389.
 Montfort 32, 155, 316.
 Montmouth 273.
 Montault 247.
 Monthant 303.
 Montgomery 74, 555.
 Montrelet 226, 263.
 Montacute Earl of Salisbury 13, 39, 124, 128.
 Montagu Duke of 344.
 Montagu Earl of Salisbury 126.
 Montagu Marchioness 127.
 Montacute Viscount 263, 269.
 Montacute 176.
 Montjoy Lord 51, 52, 54, 208, 209.
 Montjoy 295, 315, 328, 329.
 Montjoy King of Arms in France 301, 442, 452, 458, 462, 470.
 Mountmorency 88, 385, 476.
 Montgrylon 48, 49, 50, 54.
 Montismer 276, 277.
 Mortimer Lord 100.
 Mortimer 225, 226, 306.
 Mosell 302, 319.
 Moreri 307, 300.
 Moreau 295, 299, 420, 449.
 Morle Lord 14, 15, 16, 17, 260, 261.
 Morlee 301, 302.
 More Norwy 380.
 Morkek 354, 355.
 Morell Nicholas 439.
 Molhou 302.
 Mountford Duke of Brittain 315.
 Monbray (vide Mowbray) 380.
 Mounhill 174.
 Mounketh Lord 382.
 Moulius 246.
 Mowbray Duke of Norfolk 224.
 Mowbray Earl of Nottingham 175.
 Mowbray Lady Ann 256.
 Mowbray Reginald 288.
 Mynne 267.

 N
 Nagaret de la Valette John Louis
Duke of Esperon 8.
 Namur Earl of 46, 97.
 Namur Countess of 46.
 Namur Sir Robert 46.
 Nanfant 168, 211.
 Naples King of 48, 49, 50, 325.
 Navarre King of 311.
 Navera 222.
 Naylor 135.
 Neapolitan Herald 447.
 Nederlantischen Herald 456.
 Nero 320.
 Nevill Duke of Bedford 32.
 Nevill Ralph Earl of Westmerland 128.
 Nevill Lord John 11, 160.
 Nevill 127, 188, 144, 217, 257, 277.
 Nevils Court of 59.
 Newburgh Lord Montagu 79, 104.
 Newburgh Earl of 249.
 Newpne 182.
 Newton
 Nicholas
 Nicholls
 Nicholas
 Nihilens
 124 see 74
 Nons
 Norfolk Duke of 20, 51,
 89, 140, 178, 205, 212, 231, 275, 288,
 445, 452, 474.
 Norfolk Countess of 257.
 Norfolk 272.
 Normandy Duke of 160.
 Normandy Herald 442, 443.
 Normandy & Guyenne Duchess 342.
 Norreia Sir William 127.
 Northampton Earl of 149.
 Northwiche St. John 261.
 Norbury 204, 208.
 Norden 266.
 Northumberland Earl of 10, 11, 12, 13,
 23, 117, 185, 250, 431.
 Northumberland Herald 358, 360.
 Northumberland 274.
 Norroy 428, 440, 442, 444, 448, 459, 461.
 Norroy Fellow 470.
 Norway King of Arms 265.
 Nottingham Earl of 11, 432.
 Nottingham Herald 444.
 Nottingham 354.

O
Olivieri Duke of Parma 89.
 Oldhall 331.
 Oldcastle Sir John 357.
 Olympia Lady 387.
 Orange Prince of 239, 410, 411.
 Orleans 67, 81, 106, 224, 316, 337, 338, 341, 349.
 Orleans Count of Engoulême 433.
 Ormond Earl of 259.
 Otchlake 288, 289, 297.
 Otrevaux Earl of 13, 46, 56, 69, 107, 109, 116, 112, 113.
 Othiene 202.
 Owen George Norroy 404, 473.
 Oxenbridge 272.
 Oxford Earl of 17, 16, 17, 35, 114, 117, 121, 122, 123, 221, 264.
 Oxon Countess of 11, 12, 13, 212.

P

P
 Page Sir William 265.
 Palatine Prince 407.
 Palatin Count of 287, 310.
 Palatin Robert Duke of Bavaria 19.
 Paillier 267.
 Palmedon Count of Parma 280. See Othier.
 Parker Archbishop of York.
 Parr 207.
 Paris 206, 276.
 Parson 141.
 Pater Patre.
 Pavley Count of 43.
 Paulus Emperor 43.
 Peche 277.
 Peltroff 222.
 Penhock Earl of 31, 32, 142, 180, 222, 223, 224.
 Penhock Countess of 31.
 Penhocke 177, 147.
 Penburg Sir Richard 44.
 Peshia King of 426.
 Percy Lord Henry 10, 11, 12, 13, 26.
 Percy Lord Thomas 10, 11, 14.
 Percy Richard 270.
 Percy Herald 432.
 Perrans 270.
 Peterfon 285.
 Petingale 228.
 Peverell 270, 277.
 Philippe Sir William 441.
 Philpot 329.
 Philpot, 281, 420.
 Phillip Sir John 124.
 Phillip Sir William 169, 171.
 Philippe de Valois 478.
 Philibert Emmanuel Duke of Savoy 78, 38.
 Pier 10, 27.
 Pius Pope 49, 213.
 Plantagenet 117.
 Pouchiers Earl of 420.
 Pointz 277.
 Poland King of 72, 77, 180.
 Pole de la, Michael Earl of Suffolk 8, 44, 220, 271, 272.
 Pole de la, Will. Earl of Suffolk 124, 222.

Pomfrevant 212.
 Pomyoy Lady 11, 12, 13.
 Poole Cardinal 212.
 Portugal King of 10, 12, 40, 51, 52, 53, 54, 124, 125, 126, 172, 182, 190, 212, 224, 225, 296, 460.
 Portugal Queen of 11, 17, 114.
 Portland Earl of 277.
 Poterellin Parliament 46, 469, 461.
 Pot Philip Lady Countess 28.
 Potton of Stretton 100.
 Pounie 277.
 Pover Count of 10, 11, 12.
 Pownall Count.
 Poyte Count.
 Prince de.
 Porellin Countess 22, 218.
 Pocherion.
 Poyman.
 Pynlowe 411.

Q
 Querles Countess 182.
 Quimble Countess of 110, 116, 171, 304.
 Quimble.

R
 Radell Sir Thomas 122.
 Rowington 277.
 Radboullet 20.
 Radell Sir Richard 21.
 Radwin Countess 13, 84.
 Ravensdale Countess of 150.
 Raye 187.
 Reave Countess 214.
 Rebuffus 227.
 Rele 100.
 Reginald Lord Gatham 77, 45.
 Reginald Sir Thomas 12.
 Reubens Sir Peter Paul 246.
 Rhys de Thomas 25.
 Rhys de Griffith 217.
 Richmond Duke of 125, 420, 417.
 Richmond Earl of 42, 115, 165, 220.
 Richmond Herald 182, 426, 477, 444, 446.
 Richard Northampton Herald 200.
 Richardson 302, 360.
 Richebourg 59.
 Rieux de, Margaret of Bostang 447.
 Rigby 278.
 Rigout 225.
 Rigmalden 108.
 Rimer 277.
 Rivers Berthelot 177.
 Rivers Earl of 14, 71, 217, 226, 228, 215.
 Robertson 214.
 Robart 182.
 Robertart 122, 171, 174.
 Rochester Earl of 274.
 Rochester 264, 269, 348.
 Rochecharan 207.
 Rois Sir Pann 330.
 Rolleston 321, 306.
 Romans the King of 382, 204.
 Ross Lord 14, 120, 224, 228, 225.
 Ross Lady 10, 15, 126.
 Ross Sir Robert 227.
 6.11111

Roque 303.
 Rodie Lord of Crayke 252.
 Rodol Earl of 12.
 Rotheman de Themas 397.
 Rother Earl of 13.
 Rouch de Themas 381.
 Rouch 321.
 Rowers Gu. Uvaldi Duke of Uskin 81.
 Rouze Duke 446, 471.
 Runger de 469.
 Ruxton 278.
 Rusler 101.
 Ruelle 163.
 Ruelle 183.
 Ruelle de 127.
 Russell 107, 441.
 Russell de 162, 378.
 Rutland Count of 354.
 Ryker 484.
 Rymer 321, 324, 325, 327, 330, 330, 334, 335, 336, 341, 347, 351.
 Rymic 259.
 Rivers 40, 50.

S

Saint 280.
 St. Sainet 76, 253.
 Saint-Pere de Abbas from France 351.
 Salarfield 185.
 Salisbury Earl of (de Sar) 21, 35, 47,
 106, 174, 217, 254, 271, 271, 274,
 274, 277, 345, 371, 372.
 Salisbury Count of 81, 109, 124, 125.
 Salisbury Bishop of 161, 320.
 Salisbury 57, 111.
 Salade 371.
 Sala 320.
 Salkeld 107.
 Sampson 177.
 Sandwich Earl of 41.
 Sandys Sir William 219, 232.
 Sandford 321.
 Sanch Johannis Prior 51, 111.
 Sarum Earl of 6, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 47, 174.
 Sarum Counts of 11, 12, 13, 14, 15.
 Sarisbury Count of 100.
 Sarnesfield Sir William 170.
 Sarnesfield 11, 12.
 Savoy Duke of 312, 485, 423.
 Savoye James Count of Romont 80.
 Savage 168, 305.
 Sault 22.
 Saxony Duke of 27, 410.
 Saxilly 45.
 Say 304.
 Scales Lord 19, 20, 75, 108, 139, 172, 194, 553, 600.
 Scrips Africanus 487.
 Scots King of 312, 349, 351, 447.
 Scotland Ambassador of 448.
 Scotland Officer of Arms 447.
 Scot 302.
 Scrope Lord 14, 16, 21, 125, 224, 225, 225, 209.
 Scrope Lady 116, 226, 209.
 Scrope the Lord third Son 141.
 Scrope 175, 175.
 Schunburg Duke of 274.

Sechevall 272.
 Segar William 320, 388, 289, 390, 393, 393, 399, 400, 401, 402, 402, 406,
 412, 415, 420.
 Selden 286, 215, 321, 401, 450, 478.
 Semichrun Lord of L'Esparre 165.
 Seton 282.
 Seymour Marquess of Hertford (vide So- merlet)
 Shertia 21.
 Sherrington Sir Henry 217.
 Sherrard 298.
 Sherrman 307, 308.
 Shirley 69, 70, 260.
 Shiresbury Earl of 53, 75, 109, 216, 217, 274, 251, 331, 446.
 Shubbert Earl of 216.
 Shrewsbury Lord of 287.
 Sicilian Herald 471, 476, 478.
 Sicily Aine of 319, 341.
 Sidney Sir Henry 269.
 Sigismund Emperor 16, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 110, 112, 116, 184, 239, 322, 341, 344.
 Silius Æneas 246, vide Pina.
 Sinct 318, 341, 345, 346, 347, 348, 348,
 350, 351, 352, 353, 354.
 Smith 318, 224, 292, 35.
 Smith 207.
 S. Perlet Duke of 37, 41, 76, 86, 174, 200, 222, 383.
 Sme Sir Charles 84, 121, 374, 386.
 Somers Earl of 583.
 Somers 78.
 Somptot 207.
 Somset Herald 349.
 Somset Baron of 402.
 Southfolk Count of 100.
 Spain King of 71, 89, 183.
 Spain Queen of 17.
 Spanish Herald 472.
 Spencer Earl of Gloucester 13.
 Spencer Lord 393, 394, 395, 397.
 Spencer 251.
 Speight Herald Marshal de South 400, 487.
 Sperley 376.
 Spelman Sir Henry 307, 315, 324, 376, 379, 326, 327, 401.
 Spitz 204.
 Squibb 404.
 St. Lewis of France 429.
 St. Paul Count of 42, 302.
 St. Paul Counts of 102.
 St. George Sir Henry 408, 403, 408, 412, 415, 419, 420, 421, 423, 424.
 St. George Sir Thomas 419, 420, 421, 422,
 St. George 452.
 St. Cler 282.
 St. Julian 280.
 St. Michael 372.
 St. Remy 311.
 Stafford Duke of Buckingham 319.
 Stafford Earl of 6, 11, 27, 42, 56, 174,
 Stafford 22, 27, 54, 254, 282, 378.
 Stavelton Milou 22.
 Stapelton Byran 11, 12.
 Stanley 14, 29, 207, 217.
 Steward 271.
 Stow 347, 351, 354.

Storton 107.
 Stouton 72, 83, 226, 248.
 Stout Saint Nicholas 309.
 Stratford Earl of 344, 373.
 Strange Lord 128, 217.
 Straw 261.
 Strongbow 274.
 Stryclande Herald 263.
 Sudeley Lord 30, 75, 174, 208.
 Sudeley 25.
 Suffolk Duke of 29, 75, 88, 111, 144, 213, 244, 268, 274, 376, 378, 380, 474.
 Suffolk Duchess of 127.
 Suffolk Earl of 6, 42, 51, 122, 149, 174, 185, 222, 273, 338, 380.
 Suffolk Countess of 124.
 Sully Sir John 11, 25, 261.
 Sundland Earl of 274, 278.
 Surrey Duke of 24.
 Surrey Earl of 121, 175, 248.
 Surienne Sir Francis 74, 77, 277.
 Swinford 27.
 Swinburn 209.
 Swynford Lady Katherine 11, 17, 472.
 Sylvius Erasmus 200. vide Silivius Poins.
 Sybil Queen 270.

T

Taunton 125.
 Tarquair 482.
 Tencale 277, 311.
 Tendale Cheshire Herald 172, 173, 482.
 Tefry 262.
 Thale Duke of 173.
 Thinne 246.
 Thorpe Sir George 168.
 Tholthinte 210.
 Thomlyn 353.
 Throckmorton Sir Nicholas 259.
 Thynne Lancaster Herald 460.
 Tibbetor Lord 141.
 Tindale 172, 173.
 Tiptoft Earl of Worcester 135.
 Tiptoft Lord 226, 337, 332, 333.
 Toison the King of Arms 452, 465, 482.
 Tonge Clarencieux 467.
 Totrick 259.
 Tozel 262.
 Teax Sir Soudan 27, 175.
 Trehearne 242, 267.
 Tremaine 114.
 Trefwell a Herald 476.
 Trivet Lady 19, 24.
 Trillet 304.
 Troutbeck 217.
 Tubero 487.
 Tuerd 244.
 Tuit 255.
 Tunstall Cuthbert Bishop of London 177.
 Turner 105.
 Tybbetor 153.
 Tyrol 281.

V

V Arche Lord 31, 32, 41.
 Vado Aureo John 476.
 Vaghan 267.
 Vailant Herald 440.
 Valence de 294.
 Valer 106.
 Valconimur Herald 433.
 Vantrale Sir Francis 48.
 Van Clux Sir Hertone 20.
 Vanhale Lord 8.
 Vankellam 110.
 Vallyr 259.
 Vaux Lord 258.
 Vaucher 23.
 Ubaldus Guizo 265.
 Veer Lady 11, 12, 13.
 Veson 245.
 Vere Earl of Oxford 33, 121.
 Verdun 217.
 Verucy 150.
 Verley 222.
 Ufford Robert Earl of Suffolk 97.
 Ufford William Earl of Suffolk 44.
 Uffete Sir Gerald 124.
 Ufford Earl Thomas 6, 42.
 Vienville Marynes of 80.
 Villars 217.
 Vincent 23.
 Vison Duke of 39, 53.
 Ullton 126.
 Ulton Earl of 42.
 Umfreville Earl of Angus 27.
 Umfreville Lord 14, 15, 16, 171.
 Volant 213, 316.
 Upton 241, 249, 459, 477, 478, 481, 482.
 Urbin Duke of 214, 50, 306, 365.
 Urlewike 40.
 Urlewike 296.
 Utreight Sir Thomas 47.

W

Wales Prince of 50, 51, 82, 87, 110, 105, 200, 207.
 Wall Sir Thomas 105, 268, 373, 380.
 Wall Garter 417.
 Wall Roger 375.
 Walker Sir Edward 404, 407, 409, 410, 411, 412, 413, 414, 415, 418, 419, 422, 454, 408.
 Waller 236, 409.
 Wallingham 223, 328, 388, 435.
 Wales Sir John 300.
 Wallingford 264, 369.
 Wallingford a Parliament 459.
 Walgrave 229, 265, 266, 381.
 Warwick Duke of 332.
 Warwick Earl of 11, 12, 14, 15, 16, 32, 33, 42, 43, 56, 117, 128, 132, 144, 173, 223, 224, 351, 352, 385, 421, 446.
 Warwick Countess of 124.
 Warren Earl of 223, 224.
 Warton Lady 14, 15.
 Warcop 373.
 Warbeck 251, 215.
 Wardelawe 264.

Warnet

- Wsnet 292
 Wals Dr 246
 Wals 284
 Watton 209
 Watton 272
 Wags 202
 Wells Filicant 22, 27, 29, 227, 257
 Welougar vide Willoughby 172
 Wenio's Lord 22
 Wentlow's King's Robens 175
 Wentworth's Philip 172
 Westmarch Earl of 14, 17, 16, 132, 446
 Westminster Countess of 27, 44
 Weh 27
 Wichon 217, 257
 Whover 125, 249
 Whithamsted 119
 Whitt 217
 Whitlocks 202
 Wigmore 227
 Wilmite Lord Sciller 9, 226
 Wilschire Earl Rivers 222
 Wiltshire Earl of 23, 53
 Wiltshire Sr John 227
 Willoughby Lord 34, 125, 140, 171
 Willoughby Sr 17
 Wilchy 22
 Winthor Lord 267
 Winchester Bishop of 11, 12, 12, 24, 121
 171, 222, 227, 390, 310, 391, 383
 Winchelsea 272
 Winton Earl 222, 262, 372
 Wingfield Sr Richard 215, 219, 277
 Wingfield 109, 212, 222, 288
 Wingfield and Wolfe 211
 Wintenberg Duke of 190, 201, 293, 294
 295, 277
 Wolley Sr John 70
 Wolley Comant 27258, 222, 249, 277
 Woodville Earl Rivers 217
 Wood 222, 202, 202, 204, 207, 267, 208
 Worcester Earl of 13, 23, 24
 Worcester Bishop of 222, 214
 Worcester William 144, 222
 Wolley Sr Robert 110
 Wotton Sr Robert 241, 244
 Wra 200
 Wren Bishop of Ely 27
 Wrexworth Guine King of Arms 475
 Wrexworth 259
 Wrixworth 233
 Writchley Lord Chancellor 263
 Wrothelley Sr Thomas 214, 222, 272, 272, 264
 Wrothelley Sr John 268, 270
 Wrothelley Sr John 24, 244, 255, 256, 260, 261, 262, 262, 267, 269, 260,
 266 Wrothelley Lord Hugh 6, 22
 Wrothelley Sr Hugh 27
 Wrothelley Elizabeth 217
 Wrothelley 217
 Wrothelley 260
 Wrothelley 222
 Wycheville 22, 222, 222
 Wycheville Sr 217, 27
 Wycheville Herold 260, 260, 260
 Wycheville 22
 Wycheville Sr 217
 Y YCOMES 260, 260, 260
 YCOMES Sr 260
 Y
 Y York
 York
 York Herold 260
 Ypre 277
 Z
 Z Are 272
 Zoll Duke of 221
 Zoube Lord 17, 16, 17
 Zouch 207

00081384

929.7 Reg/key 81384
T-α-7.
Order of The Garter.

B. 3151 4/2/59 ~ 6/2/60

Digitized with financial assistance from Observer Research Foundation
on 17 May, 2019

