All contracts and agreements heretofore entered into by the said Corporation, for the granting of leases of parts of the said land in the said First Schedule, shall be deemed and taken to be, and to have been, as valid and binding as if the said lands had been originally comprised in the said First Schedule of the said “Auckland City Endowments and Reserves Act, 1875,” notwithstanding that such contracts or agreements for leases may have been entered into without the lands comprised in such contracts and agreements having been put up to public auction.
